And He said, "I will wait until you come back."

19 [y]So Gideon went in and prepared a young goat, and unleavened bread from an ephah of flour. The meat he put in a basket, and he put the broth in a pot; and he brought them out to Him under the terebinth tree and presented them. 20 The Angel of God said to him, "Take the meat and the unleavened bread and [z]lay them on this rock, and [a]pour out the broth." And he did so.

21 Then the Angel of the LORD put out the end of the staff that was in His hand, and touched the meat and the unleavened bread; and [b]fire rose out of the rock and consumed the meat and the unleavened bread. And the Angel of the LORD departed out of his sight.

22 Now Gideon [c]perceived that He was the Angel of the LORD. So Gideon said, "Alas, O Lord GOD! [d]For I have seen the Angel of the LORD face to face."

23 Then the LORD said to him, [e]"Peace be with you; do not fear, you shall not die." 24 So Gideon built an altar there to the LORD, and called it [6]The-LORD-Is-Peace. To this day it is still [f]in Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

25 Now it came to pass the same night that the LORD said to him, "Take your father's young bull, the second bull of seven years old, and [g]tear down the altar of [h]Baal that your father has, and [i]cut down the [7]wooden image that is beside it; 26 and build an altar to the LORD your God on top of this [8]rock in the proper arrangement, and take the second bull and offer a burnt sacrifice with the wood of the image which you shall cut down." 27 So Gideon took ten men from among his servants and did as the LORD had said to him. But because he feared his father's household and the men of the city too much to do it by day, he did it by night.

Gideon Destroys the Altar of Baal

28 And when the men of the city arose early in the morning, there was the altar of Baal, torn down; and the wooden image that was beside it was cut down, and the second bull was being offered on the altar which had been built. 29 So they said to one another, "Who has done this thing?" And when they had inquired and asked, they said, "Gideon the son of Joash has done this thing." 30 Then the men of the city said to Joash, "Bring out your son, that he may die, because he has torn down the altar of Baal, and because he has cut down the wooden image that was beside it."

31 But Joash said to all who stood against him, "Would you [9]plead for Baal? Would you save him? Let the one who would plead for him be put to death by morning! If he is a god, let him plead for himself, because his altar has been torn down!" 32 Therefore on that day he called him [j]Jerubbaal,[l] saying, "Let Baal plead against him, because he has torn down his altar."

33 Then all [k]the Midianites and Amalekites, the people of the East, gathered together; and they crossed over and encamped in [l]the Valley of Jezreel. 34 But [m]the Spirit of the LORD came upon Gideon; then he [n]blew the trumpet, and the Abiezrites gathered behind him. 35 And he sent messengers throughout all Manasseh, who also gathered behind him. He also sent messengers to [o]Asher, [p]Zebulun, and Naphtali; and they came up to meet them.

The Sign of the Fleece

36 So Gideon said to God, "If You will save Israel by my hand as You have said— 37 [q]look, I shall put a fleece of wool on the threshing floor; if there is dew on the fleece only, and it is dry on all the ground, then I shall know that You will save Israel by my hand, as You have said." 38 And it was so. When he rose early the next morning and squeezed the fleece together, he wrung the dew out of the fleece, a bowlful of water. 39 Then Gideon said to God, [r]"Do not be angry with me, but let me speak just once more: Let me test, I pray, just once more with the fleece; let it now be dry only on the fleece, but on all the ground let there be dew." 40 And God did so that night. It was dry on the fleece only, but there was dew on all the ground.

Gideon's Valiant Three Hundred

7 Then [a]Jerubbaal (that is, Gideon) and all the people who were with him rose early and encamped beside the well of Harod, so that the camp of the Midianites was on the north side of them by the hill of Moreh in the valley.

2 And the LORD said to Gideon, "The people who are with you are too many for Me to give the Midianites into their hands, lest Israel [b]claim glory for itself against Me, saying, 'My own hand has saved me.' 3 Now therefore, proclaim in the hearing of the people, saying, [c]'Whoever is fearful and afraid, let him turn and depart at once from Mount Gilead.' " And twenty-two thousand of the people returned, and ten thousand remained.

4 But the LORD said to Gideon, "The people are still too many; bring them down to the water, and I will test them for you there. Then it will be, that of whom I say to you, 'This one shall go with you,' the same shall go with you; and of whomever I say to you, 'This one shall not go with you,' the same shall not go." 5 So he brought the people down to the water. And the LORD said to Gideon, "Everyone who laps from the water with his tongue, as a dog laps, you shall set apart by himself; likewise everyone who gets down on his knees to drink." 6 And the number of those who lapped, putting their hand to their mouth, was three hundred men; but all the rest of the people got down on their knees to drink water. 7 Then the LORD said to Gideon, [d]"By the three hundred men who lapped I will save you, and deliver the Midianites into your hand. Let all the other people go, every man to his [1]place." 8 So the people took provisions and their trumpets in their hands. And he sent away all the rest of Israel, every man to his tent, and retained those three hundred men. Now the camp of Midian was below him in the valley.

9 It happened on the same [e]night that the LORD said to him, "Arise, go down against the camp, for I have delivered it into your hand. 10 But if you are afraid to go down, go down to the camp with Purah your servant, 11 and you shall [f]hear what they say; and afterward [2]your hands shall be strengthened to go down against the camp." Then he went down with Purah his servant to the outpost of the armed men who were in the camp. 12 Now the Midianites and Amalekites, [g]all the people of the East, were lying in the valley [h]as numerous as locusts; and their camels were [3]without number, as the sand by the seashore in multitude.

13 And when Gideon had come, there was a man telling a dream to his companion. He said, "I have had a dream: To my surprise, a loaf of barley bread tumbled into the camp of Midian; it came to a tent and struck it so that it fell and overturned, and the tent collapsed."

14 Then his companion answered and said, "This is nothing else but the sword of Gideon the son of Joash, a man of Israel! Into his hand [i]God has delivered Midian and the whole camp."

15 And so it was, when Gideon heard the telling of the dream and its interpretation, that he worshiped. He returned to the camp of Israel, and said, "Arise, for the LORD has delivered the camp of Midian into your hand." 16 Then he divided the three hundred men into three companies, and he put a trumpet into every man's hand, with empty pitchers, and torches inside the pitchers. 17 And he said to them, "Look at me and do likewise; watch, and when I come to the edge of the camp you shall do as I do: 18 When I blow the trumpet, I and all who are with me, then you also blow the trumpets on every side of the whole camp, and say, 'The sword of the LORD and of Gideon!' "

19 So Gideon and the hundred men who were with him came to the outpost of the camp at the beginning of the middle watch, just as they had posted the watch; and they blew the trumpets and broke the pitchers that were in their hands. 20 Then the three companies blew the trumpets

■ 6:36 If you will save. Even though the Spirit had come upon him, Gideon still struggled with faith (6:27 note).

■ 7:1–8 The drastic reduction of troops demonstrated God's power to save Israel and brought Him glory. It also challenged Gideon and encouraged Israel to trust him.

■ 7:17 Look at me. These words are similar to those of Gideon's son Abimelech (9:48–49).

and broke the pitchers—they held the torches in their left hands and the trumpets in their right hands for blowing—and they cried, "The sword of the LORD and of Gideon!" 21 And *j*every man stood in his place all around the camp; *k*and the whole army ran and cried out and fled. 22 When the three hundred *l*blew the trumpets, *m*the LORD set *n*every man's sword against his companion throughout the whole camp; and the army fled to *o*Beth Acacia, toward Zererah, as far as the border of *p*Abel Meholah, by Tabbath.

23 And the men of Israel gathered together from *q*Naphtali, Asher, and all Manasseh, and pursued the Midianites.

24 Then Gideon sent messengers throughout all the *r*mountains of Ephraim, saying, "Come down against the Midianites, and seize from them the watering places as far as Beth Barah and the Jordan." Then all the men of Ephraim gathered together and *r*seized the watering places as far as *s*Beth Barah and the Jordan. 25 And they captured *t*two princes of the Midianites, *u*Oreb and Zeeb. They killed Oreb at the rock of Oreb, and Zeeb they killed at the winepress of Zeeb. They pursued Midian and brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon on the *v*other side of the Jordan.

Gideon Subdues the Midianites

8 Now *a*the men of Ephraim said to him, "Why have you done this to us by not calling us when you went to fight with the Midianites?" And they reprimanded him sharply.

2 So he said to them, "What have I done now in comparison with you? Is not the *1*gleaning of the grapes of Ephraim better than *2*the vintage of *b*Abiezer? 3 *c*God has delivered into your hands the princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb. And what was I able to do in comparison with you?" Then their *d*anger toward him subsided when he said that.

4 When Gideon came *e*to the Jordan, he and *f*the three hundred men who were with him crossed over, exhausted but still in pursuit. 5 Then he said to the men of *g*Succoth, "Please give loaves of bread to the people who follow me, for they are exhausted, and I am pursuing Zebah and Zalmunna, kings of Midian."

6 And the leaders of Succoth said, h"Are[3] the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in your hand, that *i*we should give bread to your army?"

7 So Gideon said, "For this cause, when the LORD has delivered Zebah and Zalmunna into my hand, *j*then I will tear your flesh with the thorns of the wilderness and with briers!" 8 Then he went up from there *k*to Penuel and spoke to them in the same way. And the men of Penuel answered him as the men of Succoth had answered. 9 So he also spoke to the men of Penuel, saying, "When I *l*come back in peace, *m*I will tear down this tower!"

10 Now Zebah and Zalmunna were at Karkor, and their armies with them, about fifteen thousand, all who were left of *n*all the army of the people of the East; for *o*one hundred and twenty thousand men who drew the sword had fallen. 11 Then Gideon went up by the road of those who dwell in tents on the east of *p*Nobah and Jogbehah; and he *4*attacked the army while the camp felt *q*secure. 12 When Zebah and Zalmunna fled, he pursued them; and he *r*took the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna, and routed the whole army.

13 Then Gideon the son of Joash returned from battle, from the Ascent of Heres. 14 And he caught a young man of the men of Succoth and interrogated him; and he wrote down for him the leaders of Succoth and its elders, seventy-seven men. 15 Then he came to the men of Succoth and said, "Here are Zebah and Zalmunna, about whom you *s*ridiculed me, saying, 'Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in your hand, that we should give bread to your weary men?' " 16 *t*And he took the elders of the city, and thorns of the wilderness and briers, and with them he *5*taught the men of Succoth. 17 *u*Then he tore down the tower of *v*Penuel and killed the men of the city.

18 And he said to Zebah and Zalmunna, "What kind of men were they whom you killed at *w*Tabor?"

So they answered, "As you are, so were they; each one resembled the son of a king."

19 Then he said, "They were my brothers, the sons of my mother. As the LORD lives, if you had let them live, I would not kill you." 20 And he said to Jether his firstborn, "Rise, kill them!" But the youth would not draw his sword; for he was afraid, because he was still a youth.

■ 7:23—8:21 Israel's lack of unity is apparent in the difficulties between Gideon, Ephraim, Succoth, and Penuel.

■ 7:25 at the rock of Oreb. See Is. 10:26.

■ 8:1–3 The conflict here between Ephraim and Gideon is similar to the conflict between Ephraim and Jephthah; see 12:1–6.

■ 8:4–21 Gideon has problems with the men of Succoth and Penuel and ultimately punished both for failing to help him in his pursuit of the Midianite leaders.

21 So Zebah and Zalmunna said, "Rise yourself, and kill us; for as a man is, so is his strength." So Gideon arose and [x]killed Zebah and Zalmunna, and took the crescent ornaments that were on their camels' necks.

Gideon's Ephod

22 Then the men of Israel said to Gideon, [y]"Rule over us, both you and your son, and your grandson also; for you have [z]delivered us from the hand of Midian."

23 But Gideon said to them, "I will not rule over you, nor shall my son rule over you; [a]the LORD shall rule over you." 24 Then Gideon said to them, "I would like to [6]make a request of you, that each of you would give me the earrings from his plunder." For they had golden earrings, [b]because they were Ishmaelites.

25 So they answered, "We will gladly give them." And they spread out a garment, and each man threw into it the earrings from his plunder. 26 Now the weight of the gold earrings that he requested was one thousand seven hundred shekels of gold, besides the crescent ornaments, pendants, and purple robes which were on the kings of Midian, and besides the chains that were around their camels' necks. 27 Then Gideon [c]made it into an ephod and set it up in his city, [d]Ophrah. And all Israel [e]played the harlot with it there. It became [f]a snare to Gideon and to his house.

28 Thus Midian was subdued before the children of Israel, so that they lifted their heads no more. [g]And the country was quiet for forty years in the days of Gideon.

Death of Gideon

29 Then [h]Jerubbaal the son of Joash went and dwelt in his own house. 30 Gideon had [i]seventy sons who were his own offspring, for he had many wives. 31 [j]And his concubine who was in Shechem also bore him a son, whose name he called Abimelech. 32 Now Gideon the son of Joash died [k]at a good old age, and was buried in the tomb of Joash his father, [l]in Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

33 So it was, [m]as soon as Gideon was dead, that the children of Israel again [n]played the harlot with the Baals, [o]and made Baal-Berith their god. 34 Thus the children of Israel [p]did not remember the LORD their God, who had delivered them from the hands of all their enemies on every side; 35 [q]nor did they show kindness to the house of Jerubbaal (Gideon) in accordance with the good he had done for Israel.

Abimelech's Conspiracy

9 Then Abimelech the son of Jerubbaal went to Shechem, to [a]his mother's brothers, and spoke with them and with all the family of the house of his mother's father, saying, 2 "Please speak in the hearing of all the men of Shechem: 'Which is better for you, that all [b]seventy of the sons of Jerubbaal reign over you, or that one reign over you?' Remember that I am your own flesh and [c]bone."

3 And his mother's brothers spoke all these words concerning him in the hearing of all the men of Shechem; and their heart was inclined to follow Abimelech, for they said, "He is our [d]brother." 4 So they gave him seventy shekels of silver from the temple of [e]Baal-Berith, with

■ 8:22 Rule over us. Gideon was such an outstanding judge that the people wished to make him king.

■ 8:23 the LORD shall rule. This verse, like 1 Sam. 8:7–9, says that kingship in Israel was a mistake. Yet Judges demonstrates that it had become necessary. With no king, society disintegrated (21:25).

■ 8:24 give me the earrings. Though Gideon rejected kingship, he acted like a king (v. 30).

■ 8:27 ephod. The genuine ephod of the high priest was employed for seeking the Lord's will (1 Sam. 23:9–11; 30:7, 8).

played the harlot. Gideon, the greatest of the judges until Samuel, gave the people occasion to sin (2:17 and notes).

a snare to Gideon and to his house. Gideon's father had been an idolater (6:25), and now Gideon fell into the same sin.

■ 8:31 Abimelech. Gideon names the son of his concubine "Abimelech" ("my father is king") notwithstanding all Gideon's claims to the contrary. See vv. 23, 24.

■ 8:33—9:57 The Abimelech story demonstrates the disaster the wrong kind of king could be. Abimelech was an anti-deliverer, an oppressor of the people, and a breaker of the covenant. His story raises the question of who should be king (9:2, 8–20, 28, 29). In light of this question, it is significant that Abimelech and Saul resemble each other in important ways (9:23 note; 9:54 note). This would imply that Saul was the same sort of king that Abimelech was. The message to the readers of Judges was that they should no more want Ishbosheth the son of Saul to be their king, than Israel had wanted Abimelech, the son of Gideon.

■ 8:33 Baal-Berith. Lit. "Baal (lord) of the covenant." This god was a counterfeit of the God who truly was the Lord of the covenant. See 9:4 note.

■ 8:34 did not remember. Remembering God and His works of salvation is a first step in covenant obedience (2:10 note).

■ 8:35 nor did they show kindness. See 9:5, 16–19.

■ 9:1 Abimelech. See 8:31 note.

■ 9:4 Baal-Berith. See notes on v. 46; 8:33. The temple of Baal-Berith paid the wages of those who oppressed Israel under Abimelech.

which Abimelech hired [f]worthless and reckless men; and they followed him. 5 Then he went to his father's house [g]at Ophrah and [h]killed his brothers, the seventy sons of Jerubbaal, on one stone. But Jotham the youngest son of Jerubbaal was left, because he hid himself. 6 And all the men of Shechem gathered together, all of Beth Millo, and they went and made Abimelech king beside the terebinth tree at the pillar that was in Shechem.

The Parable of the Trees

7 Now when they told Jotham, he went and stood on top of [i]Mount Gerizim, and lifted his voice and cried out. And he said to them:

"Listen to me, you men of Shechem,
That God may listen to you!

8 "The[j] trees once went forth to anoint a king over them.
And they said to the olive tree,
[k]'Reign over us!'
9 But the olive tree said to them,
'Should I cease giving my oil,
[l]With which they honor God and men,
And go to sway over trees?'

10 "Then the trees said to the fig tree,
'You come and reign over us!'
11 But the fig tree said to them,
'Should I cease my sweetness and my good fruit,
And go to sway over trees?'

12 "Then the trees said to the vine,
'You come and reign over us!'
13 But the vine said to them,
'Should I cease my new wine,
[m]Which cheers both God and men,
And go to sway over trees?'

14 "Then all the trees said to the bramble,
'You come and reign over us!'
15 And the bramble said to the trees,
'If in truth you anoint me as king over you,
Then come and take shelter in my [n]shade;
But if not, [o]let fire come out of the bramble
And devour the [p]cedars of Lebanon!'

16 "Now therefore, if you have acted in truth and sincerity in making Abimelech king, and if you have dealt well with Jerubbaal and his house, and have done to him [q]as[r] he deserves— 17 for my [s]father fought for you, risked his life, and [t]delivered you out of the hand of Midian; 18 [u]but you have risen up against my father's house this day, and killed his seventy sons on one stone, and made Abimelech, the son of his [v]female servant, king over the men of Shechem, because he is your brother— 19 if then you have acted in truth and sincerity with Jerubbaal and with his house this day, then [w]rejoice in Abimelech, and let him also rejoice in you. 20 But if not, [x]let fire come from Abimelech and devour the men of Shechem and Beth Millo; and let fire come from the men of Shechem and from Beth Millo and devour Abimelech!" 21 And Jotham ran away and fled; and he went to [y]Beer and dwelt there, for fear of Abimelech his brother.

■ 9:5 on one stone. The men were in effect sacrificed to Baal-Berith (v. 53 note).

■ 9:7 Mount Gerizim. The mount of blessing (Deut. 27:12) was used for a curse. This reversal highlights the reversal theme that permeates the Abimelech story (8:33—9:57 note).

■ 9:14 bramble. The product of idolatry (v. 4), Abimelech's kingship would be a thorn to Israel (2:3 note).

■ 9:20 let fire. Jotham's curse is fulfilled in vv. 45–52.

Downfall of Abimelech

22 After Abimelech had reigned over Israel three years, 23 [y]God sent a [z]spirit of ill will between Abimelech and the men of Shechem; and the men of Shechem [a]dealt treacherously with Abimelech, 24 [b]that the crime done to the seventy sons of Jerubbaal might be settled and their [c]blood be laid on Abimelech their brother, who killed them, and on the men of Shechem, who aided him in the killing of his brothers. 25 And the men of Shechem set [2]men in ambush against him on the tops of the mountains, and they robbed all who passed by them along that way; and it was told Abimelech.

26 Now Gaal the son of Ebed came with his brothers and went over to Shechem; and the men of Shechem put their confidence in him. 27 So they went out into the fields, and gathered grapes from their vineyards and trod them, and [3]made merry. And they went into [d]the house of their god, and ate and drank, and cursed Abimelech. 28 Then Gaal the son of Ebed said, [e]"Who is Abimelech, and who is Shechem, that we should serve him? Is he not the son of Jerubbaal, and is not Zebul his officer? Serve the men of [f]Hamor the father of Shechem; but why should we serve him? 29 [g]If only this people were under my [4]authority! Then I would remove Abimelech." So [5]he said to Abimelech, "Increase your army and come out!"

30 When Zebul, the ruler of the city, heard the words of Gaal the son of Ebed, his anger was aroused, 31 And he sent messengers to Abimelech secretly, saying, "Take note! Gaal the son of Ebed and his brothers have come to Shechem; and here they are, fortifying the city against you. 32 Now therefore, get up by night, you and the people who are with you, and [6]lie in wait in the field. 33 And it shall be, as soon as the sun is up in the morning, that you shall rise early and rush upon the city; and when he and the people who are with him come out against you, you may then do to them [7]as you find opportunity."

34 So Abimelech and all the people who were with him rose by night, and [8]lay in wait against Shechem in four companies. 35 When Gaal the son of Ebed went out and stood in the entrance to the city gate, Abimelech and the people who were with him rose from lying in wait. 36 And when Gaal saw the people, he said to Zebul, "Look, people are coming down from the tops of the mountains!"

But Zebul said to him, "You see the shadows of the mountains as if they were men."

37 So Gaal spoke again and said, "See, people are coming down from the center of the land, and another company is coming from the [9]Diviners' Terebinth Tree."

38 Then Zebul said to him, "Where indeed is your mouth now, with which you [h]said, 'Who is Abimelech, that we should serve him?' Are not these the people whom you despised? Go out, if you will, and fight with them now."

39 So Gaal went out, leading the men of Shechem, and fought with Abimelech. 40 And Abimelech chased him, and he fled from him; and many fell wounded, to the very entrance of the gate. 41 Then Abimelech dwelt at Arumah, and Zebul [1]drove out Gaal and his brothers, so that they would not dwell in Shechem.

42 And it came about on the next day that the people went out into the field, and they told Abimelech. 43 So he took his people, divided them into three companies, and lay in wait in the field. And he looked, and there were the people, coming out of the city; and he rose against them and [2]attacked them. 44 Then Abimelech and the company that was with him rushed forward and stood at the entrance of the gate of the city; and the other two companies rushed upon all who were in the fields and killed them. 45 So Abimelech fought against the city all that day; [i]he took the city and killed the people who were in it; and he [j]demolished the city and sowed it with salt.

46 Now when all the men of the tower of Shechem had heard that, they entered the [3]stronghold of the temple [k]of the god Berith. 47 And it was told Abimelech that all the men of the tower of Shechem were gathered together. 48 Then Abimelech went up to Mount [l]Zalmon, he and all the people who were with him. And Abimelech took an ax in his hand and cut down a bough from the trees, and took it and laid it on his shoulder; then he said to the people who were with

■ 9:23 spirit of ill will. The historical parallel with Saul is significant. Both Abimelech and Saul had an evil spirit come against them as they began to lose their kingdoms (1 Sam. 16:14). This is the first mention of God's direct action in the story of Abimelech.

■ 9:26 Gaal. Gaal is another "Abimelech," a lost brother claiming the right to rule by right of his ancestry.

■ 9:28 Who is Abimelech. Note the similar speech at v. 2, also delivered in Shechem.

■ 9:45 sowed it with salt. This would ruin it for farming.

■ 9:46 the god Berith. Lit. "god of the covenant." El was the father of the gods in the Canaanite pantheon. This was probably the same temple as the one mentioned at 9:4, which supplied Abimelech money. Now he returned to destroy it.

■ 9:48 do as I have done. Abimelech's words, as he leads his men, resemble his father's (7:17).

him, "What you have seen me do, make haste and do as I have done." 49 So each of the people likewise cut down his own bough and followed Abimelech, put them against the [4]stronghold, and set the stronghold on fire above them, so that all the people of the tower of Shechem died, about a thousand men and women.

50 Then Abimelech went to Thebez, and he [5]encamped against Thebez and took it. 51 But there was a strong tower in the city, and all the men and women—all the people of the city—fled there and shut themselves in; then they went up to the top of the tower. 52 So Abimelech came as far as the tower and fought against it; and he drew near the door of the tower to burn it with fire. 53 But a certain woman [m]dropped an upper millstone on Abimelech's head and crushed his skull. 54 Then [n]he called quickly to the young man, his armorbearer, and said to him, "Draw your sword and kill me, lest men say of me, 'A woman killed him.' " So his young man thrust him through, and he died. 55 And when the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, they departed, every man to his [6]place.

56 [o]Thus God repaid the wickedness of Abimelech, which he had done to his father by killing his seventy brothers. 57 And all the evil of the men of Shechem God returned on their own heads, and on them came [p]the curse of Jotham the son of Jerubbaal.

Tola

10 After Abimelech there [a]arose to save Israel Tola the son of Puah, the son of Dodo, a man of Issachar; and he dwelt in Shamir in the mountains of Ephraim. 2 He judged Israel twenty-three years; and he died and was buried in Shamir.

Jair

3 After him arose Jair, a Gileadite; and he judged Israel twenty-two years. 4 Now he had thirty sons who [b]rode on thirty donkeys; they also had thirty towns, [c]which are called [1]"Havoth Jair" to this day, which are in the land of Gilead. 5 And Jair died and was buried in Camon.

Israel Oppressed Again

6 Then [d]the children of Israel again did evil in the sight of the LORD, and [e]served the Baals and the Ashtoreths, [f]the gods of Syria, the gods of [g]Sidon, the gods of Moab, the gods of the people of Ammon, and the gods of the Philistines; and they forsook the LORD and did not serve Him. 7 So the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel; and He [h]sold them into the hands of the [i]Philistines and into the hands of the people of [j]Ammon. 8 From that year they [2]harassed and oppressed the children of Israel for eighteen years—all the children of Israel who were on the other side of the Jordan in the [k]land of the Amorites, in Gilead. 9 Moreover the people of Ammon crossed over the Jordan to fight against Judah also, against Benjamin, and against the house of Ephraim, so that Israel was severely distressed.

10 [l]And the children of Israel cried out to the LORD, saying, "We have [m]sinned against You, because we have both forsaken our God and served the Baals!"

■ 9:49 set the stronghold on fire. This fulfilled Jotham's curse (v. 20).

■ 9:53 an upper millstone. A stone figured prominently in Abimelech's death, as it had in the murder of all his brothers (9:5 note).

■ 9:54 Draw your sword and kill me. Like Saul (1 Sam. 31:4), Abimelech sought to die proudly. This incident, like the presence of an evil spirit from God (9:23 and note), is a strong point of resemblance between Saul and Abimelech.

A woman killed him. He had to share this indignity with Sisera (4:9).

■ 9:56 Thus God repaid. God is not highly visible in this narrative (9:23 note). But He brought Abimelech to judgment.

■ 10:1–5 Two judges, Tola and Jair, are introduced with few details. Four other minor judges are described in similar fashion (3:31; 12:8–15).

■ 10:1 Tola. Tola is mentioned only here in Scripture.

■ 10:3 Jair. Like Tola, Jair is not mentioned anywhere else in the Bible.

■ 10:4 who rode on thirty donkeys. Thirty sons, thirty donkeys, and the control of thirty towns indicate great wealth and power (5:10).

■ 10:6–12:7 Cf. 1 Sam. 12:11. The list of idols Israel followed (10:6) and the internal chaos of Israel became more pronounced (12:1–7). Jephthah brought only six years of peace (12:7) instead of peace for a generation (3:11, 30; 5:31; 8:28). Finally, Jephthah rashly and sinfully sacrificed his daughter (11:30–40 note).

Many things about Jephthah are reminiscent of Gideon, Abimelech, or Saul. Jephthah like Gideon was a "mighty man of valor" (6:12; 11:1). Both men made the Ephraimites angry by not calling them out to participate in battle (8:1–3; 12:1–6). Jephthah and Abimelech were both outcast sons, one born to a concubine and the other to a harlot. They gathered to themselves bands of adventurers (9:4; 11:3). Both Jephthah and Saul were made leaders in Mizpah (11:11; 1 Sam. 10:17). Both men faced Ammonites as their first adversaries (11:12–29; 1 Sam. 11:1–11). Jepthah and Saul each made an unwise vow that returned to threaten their firstborn, and each offered an unlawful sacrifice (11:30–40; 1 Sam. 13:8–14; 14:24–25).

■ 10:6 gods. In previous accounts only the Baals and Ashtoreths were mentioned (2:11, 13; 3:7). This longer list of gods indicates a downward spiral in Israel's violations of the covenant. See also vv. 11–12 and note. The peoples mentioned surrounded Israel on its borders.

■ 10:10–16 This is the only account in the Book of Judges where Israel not only cries out to God, but also puts away their idols. Elsewhere, they simply cried out to the Lord and He delivered them (10:10; 2:19; 3:9). God saw through their superficial repentance but chose to deliver them anyway (cf. Deut. 32:15–38).

■ 10:10 forsaken our God and served the Baals. The same language is used in their indictment in v. 6.

11 So the LORD said to the children of Israel, "Did I not deliver you [n]from the Egyptians and [o]from the Amorites and [p]from the people of Ammon and [q]from the Philistines? 12 Also [r]the Sidonians [s]and Amalekites and [3]Maonites [t]oppressed you; and you cried out to Me, and I delivered you from their hand. 13 [u]Yet you have forsaken Me and served other gods. Therefore I will deliver you no more. 14 Go and [v]cry out to the gods which you have chosen; let them deliver you in your time of distress."

15 And the children of Israel said to the LORD, "We have sinned! [w]Do to us whatever seems

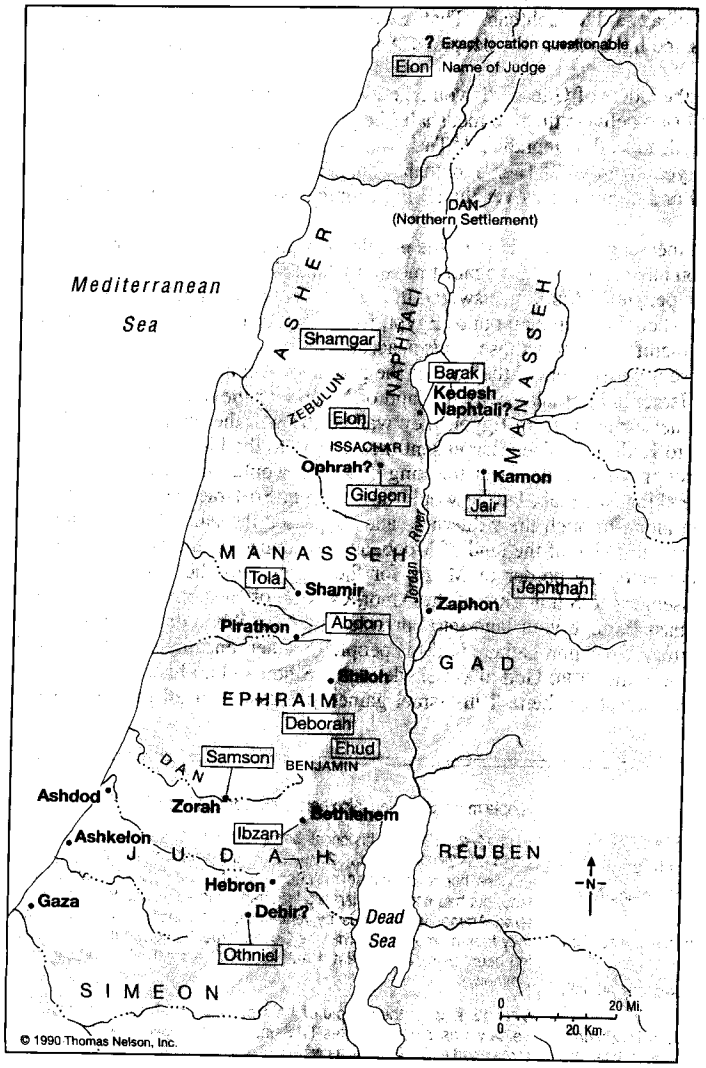
■ 10:12 oppressed you. The list of gods in v. 6 coincides almost identically with the list of oppressing nations. Israel rejected the God who had saved them, and instead followed the compassionless gods of their oppressors.

■ 10:13 no more. See Deut. 8:19–20; 31:16–17; Num. 33:55–56; Josh. 23:13; Judg. 2:3.

■ 10:14 cry out to the gods which you have chosen. See Deut. 32:37–38. The same taunt is made in Jer. 2:28; 11:12–13.

■ 10:15 deliver us. The desire to be delivered, rather than to serve the Lord, was Israel's true motive in repenting.



The Judges of Israel. The Book of Judges lists a total of twelve judges (Barak served as a military leader under the judgeship of Deborah and was not technically a judge himself) who served in a variety of roles during a 200-year era. While some of them are major figures about whom much is known, others are only minor figures, mentioned briefly without a geographical or tribal affiliation.

The significance of the era of the judges is that no one tribe or region seemed to dominate in producing these leaders. God called and equipped the necessary persons from throughout the land to lead Israel during this turbulent period.

best to You; only deliver us this day, we pray." 16 [x]So they put away the foreign gods from among them and served the LORD. And [y]His soul could no longer endure the misery of Israel.

17 Then the people of Ammon gathered together and encamped in Gilead. And the children of Israel assembled together and encamped in [z]Mizpah. 18 And the people, the leaders of Gilead, said to one another, "Who is the man who will begin the fight against the people of Ammon? He shall [a]be head over all the inhabitants of Gilead."

Jephthah

11 Now [a]Jephthah the Gileadite was [b]a mighty man of valor, but he was the son of a harlot; and Gilead begot Jephthah. 2 Gilead's wife bore sons; and when his wife's sons grew up, they drove Jephthah out, and said to him, "You shall have [c]no inheritance in our father's house, for you are the son of another woman." 3 Then Jephthah fled from his brothers and dwelt in the land of [d]Tob; and [e]worthless men banded together with Jephthah and went out raiding with him.

4 It came to pass after a time that the [f]people of Ammon made war against Israel. 5 And so it was, when the people of Ammon made war against Israel, that the elders of Gilead went to get Jephthah from the land of Tob. 6 Then they said to Jephthah, "Come and be our commander, that we may fight against the people of Ammon."

7 So Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, [g]"Did you not hate me, and expel me from my father's house? Why have you come to me now when you are in [1]distress?"

8 [h]And the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, "That is why we have [i]turned[2] again to you now, that you may go with us and fight against the people of Ammon, and be [j]our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead."

9 So Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, "If you take me back home to fight against the people of Ammon, and the LORD delivers them to me, shall I be your head?"

10 And the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, [k]"The LORD will be a witness between us, if we do not do according to your words." 11 Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him [l]head and commander over them; and Jephthah spoke all his words [m]before the LORD in Mizpah.

12 Now Jephthah sent messengers to the king of the people of Ammon, saying, [n]"What do you have against me, that you have come to fight against me in my land?"

13 And the king of the people of Ammon answered the messengers of Jephthah, [o]"Because Israel took away my land when they came up out of Egypt, from [p]the Arnon as far as [q]the Jabbok, and to the Jordan. Now therefore, restore those lands peaceably."

14 So Jephthah again sent messengers to the king of the people of Ammon, 15 and said to him, "Thus says Jephthah: [r]'Israel did not take away the land of Moab, nor the land of the people of Ammon; 16 for when Israel came up from Egypt, they walked through the wilderness as far as the Red Sea and [s]came to Kadesh. 17 Then [t]Israel sent messengers to the king of Edom, saying, 'Please let me pass through your land.' [u]But the king of Edom would not heed. And in like manner they sent to the [v]king of Moab, but he would not consent. So Israel [w]remained in Kadesh. 18 And they [x]went along through the wilderness and [y]bypassed the land of Edom and the land of Moab, came to the east side of the land of Moab, and encamped on the other side of the Arnon. But they did not enter the border of Moab, for the Arnon was the border of Moab. 19 Then [z]Israel sent messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, king of Heshbon; and Israel said to him, 'Please [a]let us pass through your land into our place.'" 20 [b]But Sihon did not trust Israel to pass through his territory. So Sihon gathered all his people together, encamped in Jahaz, and fought against Israel. 21 And the LORD God of Israel [c]delivered Sihon and all his people into the hand of Israel, and they [d]defeated[3] them. Thus Israel gained possession of all the land of the son of a harlot. Jephthah's heritage made him an outcast (v. 2).

■ 11:1 a mighty man of valor. This is what Gideon was called (6:12).

■ 11:3 worthless men. Another similarity between Jephthah and Abimelech was their followers (9:4).

■ 11:9 the LORD delivers. Jephthah showed his faith that it was God who gave him victory.

■ 11:10 The LORD will be a witness. The elders were swearing an oath in order to confirm a covenant.

■ 11:11 Jephthah spoke all his words before the LORD in Mizpah. The covenant is confirmed before the Lord in Mizpah. Years later the people made Saul king, also before the Lord, at Mizpah (1 Sam. 10:17).

■ 11:12–29 For the historical background to this conflict, see Num. 20:14–21; 21:10–35; Deut. 2:16—3:11. At the time of Jephthah, the Ammonites hoped to extend their territory into what once had been their land, but had now been Israel's for three hundred years. Jephthah countered Ammonite demands by rehearsing this history and showing that they took no more than what the God of Israel had given them and, having been instructed by Him (Deut. 2:18–19), did not take anything from Ammon.

■ 11:12 king of the people of Ammon. Like Saul, Jephthah's first adversary was the Ammonites (1 Sam. 11:1–11). Gilead was the region threatened in Saul's story as well.

Amorites, who inhabited that country. 22 They took possession of [e]all the territory of the Amorites, from the Arnon to the Jabbok and from the wilderness to the Jordan.

23 'And now the LORD God of Israel has [4]dispossessed the Amorites from before His people Israel; should you then possess it? 24 Will you not possess whatever [f]Chemosh your god gives you to possess? So whatever [g]the LORD our God takes possession of before us, we will possess. 25 And now, are you any better than [h]Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab? Did he ever strive against Israel? Did he ever fight against them? 26 While Israel dwelt in [i]Heshbon and its villages, in [j]Aroer and its villages, and in all the cities along the banks of the Arnon, for three hundred years, why did you not recover them within that time? 27 Therefore I have not sinned against you, but you wronged me by fighting against me. May the LORD, [k]the Judge, [l]render judgment this day between the children of Israel and the people of Ammon.' " 28 However, the king of the people of Ammon did not heed the words which Jephthah sent him.

Jephthah's Vow and Victory

29 Then [m]the Spirit of the LORD came upon Jephthah, and he passed through Gilead and Manasseh, and passed through Mizpah of Gilead; and from Mizpah of Gilead he advanced toward the people of Ammon. 30 And Jephthah [n]made a vow to the LORD, and said, "If You will indeed deliver the people of Ammon into my hands, 31 then it will be that whatever comes out of the doors of my house to meet me, when I return in peace from the people of Ammon, [o]shall surely be the LORD's, [p]and I will offer it up as a burnt offering."

32 So Jephthah advanced toward the people of Ammon to fight against them, and the LORD delivered them into his hands. 33 And he [5]defeated them from Aroer as far as [q]Minnith—twenty cities—and to [6]Abel Keramim, with a very great slaughter. Thus the people of Ammon were subdued before the children of Israel.

Jephthah's Daughter

34 When Jephthah came to his house at [r]Mizpah, there was [s]his daughter, coming out to meet him with timbrels and dancing; and she was his only child. Besides her he had neither son nor daughter. 35 And it came to pass, when he saw her, that he [t]tore his clothes, and said, "Alas, my daughter! You have brought me very low! You are among those who trouble me! For I [u]have [7]given my word to the LORD, and [v]I cannot [8]go back on it."

36 So she said to him, "My father, if you have given your word to the LORD, [w]do to me according to what has gone out of your mouth, because [x]the LORD has avenged you of your enemies, the people of Ammon." 37 Then she said to her father, "Let this thing be done for me: let me alone for two months, that I may go and wander on the mountains and [9]bewail my virginity, my [1]friends and I."

38 So he said, "Go." And he sent her away for two months; and she went with her friends, and bewailed her virginity on the mountains. 39 And it was so at the end of two months that she returned to her father, and he [y]carried out his vow with her which he had vowed. She [2]knew no man.

And it became a custom in Israel 40 that the daughters of Israel went four days each year to [3]lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite.

■ 11:23 the LORD God of Israel. Warfare was viewed as a battle between the gods of the opposing forces. If Israel won, it was because the God of Israel had done it, and no one could dispute the result (v. 24). See v. 21.

■ 11:27 May the LORD, the Judge, render judgment. See vv. 21, 23. Jephthah declared that God was the Judge over all peoples and gods. Here the word is used in a legal sense, as in handing down a decision, although God would ultimately be a deliverer as well (vv. 32–33). The Book of Judges affirms that God is the true King (8:23) and true Judge, who alone could solve Israel's woes.

■ 11:29 Spirit of the LORD. See 3:10 and note.

■ 11:30–40 Jephthah defeated the Ammonites, but in the process made a rash vow to the Lord and sacrificed his daughter as a burnt offering. God was not to be worshiped in the way the pagans worshiped their gods, namely, by human sacrifice (Deut. 12:31; 18:10; Ps. 106:37–38). As a deliverer, Jephthah did not show the people how to keep the covenant, despite giving evidence of his faith (vv. 10–11, 21, 23, 27). Like Jephthah, Saul also made a rash vow that turned out to be a threat to his own child (1 Sam. 14:24–45).

■ 11:35 tore his clothes. This was the sign of mourning over death.

given my word. Although vows were sacred (Deut. 23:21–23), Jephthah's action was wrong. Human sacrifice was absolutely forbidden in Israel (v. 39 note). It is evil to keep an evil vow. Unlawful oaths and vows must not be made or, if made, not kept (cf. Matt. 14:1–12).

■ 11:36 do to me according to what has gone out of your mouth. That is, "offer me as a sacrifice" (vv. 30–31).

■ 11:37 bewail my virginity. This probably means to lament that she would never marry or have children. (vv. 38, 39).

■ 11:39 carried out his vow. Though stated delicately, the text is clear: Jephthah sacrificed his daughter as a burnt offering. It is observed that she was a virgin, but this was not the content of the vow. Human sacrifice was sin, an imitation of pagan practice (11:30–40 note; Deut. 12:31; Ps. 106:38).

Jephthah's Conflict with Ephraim

12 Then [a]the men of Ephraim [f]gathered together, crossed over toward Zaphon, and said to Jephthah, "Why did you cross over to fight against the people of Ammon, and did not call us to go with you? We will burn your house down on you with fire!"

2 And Jephthah said to them, "My people and I were in a great struggle with the people of Ammon; and when I called you, you did not deliver me out of their hands. 3 So when I saw that you would not deliver me, I [b]took my life in my hands and crossed over against the people of Ammon; and the LORD delivered them into my hand. Why then have you come up to me this day to fight against me?" 4 Now Jephthah gathered together all the men of Gilead and fought against Ephraim. And the men of Gilead defeated Ephraim, because they said, "You Gileadites [c]are fugitives of Ephraim among the Ephraimites and among the Manassites." 5 The Gileadites seized the [d]fords of the Jordan before the Ephraimites arrived. And when any Ephraimite who escaped said, "Let me cross over," the men of Gilead would say to him, "Are you an Ephraimite?" If he said, "No," 6 then they would say to him, "Then say, [e]'Shibboleth'!"[2] And he would say, "Sibboleth," for he could not [3]pronounce it right. Then they would take him and kill him at the fords of the Jordan. There fell at that time forty-two thousand Ephraimites.

7 And Jephthah judged Israel six years. Then Jephthah the Gileadite died and was buried among the cities of Gilead.

Ibzan, Elon, and Abdon

8 After him, Ibzan of Bethlehem judged Israel. 9 He had thirty sons. And he gave away thirty daughters in marriage, and brought in thirty daughters from elsewhere for his sons. He judged Israel seven years. 10 Then Ibzan died and was buried at Bethlehem.

11 After him, Elon the Zebulunite judged Israel. He judged Israel ten years. 12 And Elon the Zebulunite died and was buried at Aijalon in the country of Zebulun.

13 After him, Abdon the son of Hillel the Pirathonite judged Israel. 14 He had forty sons and thirty grandsons, who [f]rode on seventy young donkeys. He judged Israel eight years. 15 Then Abdon the son of Hillel the Pirathonite died and was buried in Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, [g]in the mountains of the Amalekites.

The Birth of Samson

13 Again the children of Israel [a]did evil in the sight of the LORD, and the LORD delivered them [b]into the hand of the Philistines for forty years.

2 Now there was a certain man from [c]Zorah, of the family of the Danites, whose name was

■ 12:1–7 Following immediately on the sacrifice of his daughter (11:30–40), this story implies that Jephthah's struggle with Ephraim and his abbreviated judgeship (v. 7) were God's judgment on him for sacrificing his daughter. Ps. 78 (esp. vv. 9–11, 67) reflects on Ephraim's failure to fight and explains God's rejection of Ephraim as Israel's leader. Judah, the tribe of David, and not Ephraim would lead Israel (Ps. 78:68–72).

■ 12:1 men of Ephraim. Like Gideon, Jephthah had trouble with Ephraim (8:1–5); unlike Gideon, they brought it to civil war. Unity was sorely lacking in Israel.

Why. See 8:1 for an almost identical question put to Gideon.

■ 12:4 among the Ephraimites and . . . Manassites. The Gileadites were descended from Joseph, as were Ephraim and Manasseh.

■ 12:5 fords of the Jordan. Gilead was on the east side of the Jordan, Ephraim on the west.

■ 12:6 Shibboleth . . . Sibboleth. The Ephraimites could be recognized by the way certain words were pronounced in their dialect.

■ 12:7 Jephthah judged Israel six years. Previous judges led for forty or eighty years, and peace lasted a generation or two. Jephthah's abbreviated rule, the increased number of gods being worshiped, and the civil war with Ephraim contribute to a picture of Israel's downward spiral.

■ 12:8–15 Ibzan, Elon, and Abdon are briefly mentioned (10:1–5 note). Nothing more is known about these men. They bring the total of judges mentioned in the Book of Judges to twelve.

■ 12:14 seventy young donkeys. Abdon wielded virtually royal power and wealth (10:4).

■ 13:1—16:31 Samson's story is the last in the cycles of the judges. He had great promise. He was a Nazirite from the womb, and his birth was a supernatural gift to barren parents; like the great judge Gideon, the Angel of the Lord appeared at his calling; unlike any other judge, he was called from the womb; and more than any other judge, he experienced the Spirit coming upon him (13:25; 14:6, 19; 15:14). Yet, of all the judges, Samson was most clearly a rogue. Having taken the vow to be a Nazirite (13:4–5, 7, 14; 16:17; Num. 6:1–21), he kept only the part about not cutting his hair. He repeatedly broke God's covenant and his vow by seeking foreign wives, sleeping with prostitutes, touching dead things, and drinking wine. He showed no interest in delivering Israel. The fanfare of his calling and the circumstances surrounding his birth and life only heighten the tragedy of his life and emphasize the depths to which Israel had descended. But God had raised him up to deliver Israel from the Philistines (v. 5), and He used even the sins of Samson as an occasion against them (14:4).

Samson was not like Gideon or Samuel. Though the Spirit came upon him repeatedly, this had no impact on his character. Like Saul, Samson lost the Spirit's empowerment as a result of God's judgment. Yet the account of the end of his life (16:25–31) reflects a renewal of his faith while a prisoner of his (and God's) enemies. Heb. 11:32 lists Samson on the honor roll of faith.

■ 13:1 Again the children of Israel did evil. The usual introductory formula is especially abbreviated (cf. 2:11–19).

delivered . . . Philistines. See 2:14; 1 Sam. 12:9.

■ 13:2–25 Like Gideon (6:11–24), Samson's parents did not recognize the Angel of the Lord. They saw a miraculous fire, and then feared the Manoah; and his wife was barren and had no children. 3 And the [d]Angel of the LORD appeared to the woman and said to her, "Indeed now, you are barren and have borne no children, but you shall conceive and bear a son. 4 Now therefore, please be careful [e]not to drink wine or similar drink, and not to eat anything unclean. 5 For behold, you shall conceive and bear a son. And no [f]razor shall come upon his head, for the child shall be [g]a Nazirite to God from the womb; and he shall [h]begin to deliver Israel out of the hand of the Philistines."

6 So the woman came and told her husband, saying, [i]"A Man of God came to me, and His [j]countenance[l] was like the countenance of the Angel of God, very awesome; but I [k]did not ask Him where He was from, and He did not tell me His name. 7 And He said to me, 'Behold, you shall conceive and bear a son. Now drink no wine or similar drink, nor eat anything unclean, for the child shall be a Nazirite to God from the womb to the day of his death.' "

8 Then Manoah prayed to the LORD, and said, "O my Lord, please let the Man of God whom You sent come to us again and teach us what we shall do for the child who will be born."

9 And God listened to the voice of Manoah, and the Angel of God came to the woman again as she was sitting in the field; but Manoah her husband was not with her. 10 Then the woman ran in haste and told her husband, and said to him, "Look, the Man who came to me the other day has just now appeared to me!"

11 So Manoah arose and followed his wife. When he came to the Man, he said to Him, "Are You the Man who spoke to this woman?"

And He said, "I am."

12 Manoah said, "Now let Your words come to pass! What will be the boy's rule of life, and his work?"

13 So the Angel of the LORD said to Manoah, "Of all that I said to the woman let her be careful. 14 She may not eat anything that comes from the vine, [l]nor may she drink wine or similar drink, nor eat anything unclean. All that I commanded her let her observe."

15 Then Manoah said to the Angel of the LORD, "Please [m]let us detain You, and we will prepare a young goat for You."

16 And the Angel of the LORD said to Manoah, "Though you detain Me, I will not eat your food. But if you offer a burnt offering, you must offer it to the LORD." (For Manoah did not know He was the Angel of the LORD.)

17 Then Manoah said to the Angel of the LORD, "What is Your name, that when Your words come to pass we may honor You?"

18 And the Angel of the LORD said to him, [n]"Why do you ask My name, seeing it is wonderful?"

19 So Manoah took the young goat with the grain offering, [o]and offered it upon the rock to the LORD. And He did a wondrous thing while Manoah and his wife looked on— 20 it happened as the flame went up toward heaven from the altar—the Angel of the LORD ascended in the flame of the altar! When Manoah and his wife saw this, they [p]fell on their faces to the ground. 21 When the Angel of the LORD appeared no more to Manoah and his wife, [q]then Manoah knew that He was the Angel of the LORD.

22 And Manoah said to his wife, [r]"We shall surely die, because we have seen God!"

23 But his wife said to him, "If the LORD had desired to kill us, He would not have accepted a burnt offering and a grain offering from our hands, nor would He have shown us all these things, nor would He have told us such things as these at this time."

24 So the woman bore a son and called his name [s]Samson; and [t]the child grew, and the LORD blessed him. 25 [u]And the Spirit of the LORD began to move upon him at [z]Mahaneh Dan [v]between Zorah and [w]Eshtaol.

consequences of having seen the Angel of the Lord. These strong parallels pose the question whether Samson might not become as great a judge as Gideon (13:1—16:31 note). Three times the Nazirite requirements are spelled out even before Samson is born (vv. 4–5, 7, 14). This repetition heightens their importance.

■ 13:2 barren. Samson's mother was barren, like Sarah, Rebekah, Rachel (Gen. 16:1; 25:21; 29:31), and the mother of Samuel (1 Sam. 1:2, 5; Judg. 13:1—16:31 note).

■ 13:3 the Angel of the LORD. See 2:1; 6:11–24; 13:1—16:31 note; "Angels" at Zech. 1:9.

■ 13:5 Nazirite . . . from the womb. For background see Num. 6:1–21. Normally the Nazirite vow was taken for a set amount of time, and not from birth (13:1—16:31 note).

■ 13:6 like the countenance of the Angel of God. She failed to recognize that it really was the Angel of the Lord (6:22; 13:16).

■ 13:15 prepare a young goat. They repeated Gideon's hospitality (6:19).

■ 13:17 What is Your name. Jacob asked the same question (Gen. 32:29).

■ 13:19–22 The incidents here parallel those in Gideon's life (6:20–22).

■ 13:24 the child grew, and the LORD blessed him. In spite of God's blessing, Samson was weak in faith (13:1—16:31 note), in contrast to Samuel (1 Sam. 2:26; 3:19) or Jesus (Luke 2:52).

■ 13:25 the Spirit of the LORD. See 3:10 note.

Samson's Philistine Wife

14 Now Samson went down [a]to Timnah, and [b]saw a woman in Timnah of the daughters of the Philistines. 2 So he went up and told his father and mother, saying, "I have seen a woman in Timnah of the daughters of the Philistines; now therefore, [c]get her for me as a wife."

3 Then his father and mother said to him, "Is there no woman among the daughters of [d]your brethren, or among all my people, that you must go and get a wife from the [e]uncircumcised Philistines?"

And Samson said to his father, "Get her for me, for [f]she pleases me well."

4 But his father and mother did not know that it was [g]of the LORD—that He was seeking an occasion to move against the Philistines. For at that time [h]the Philistines had dominion over Israel.

5 So Samson went down to Timnah with his father and mother, and came to the vineyards of Timnah.

Now to his surprise, a young lion came roaring against him. 6 And [i]the Spirit of the LORD came mightily upon him, and he tore the lion apart as one would have torn apart a young goat, though he had nothing in his hand. But he did not tell his father or his mother what he had done.

7 Then he went down and talked with the woman; and she pleased Samson well. 8 After some time, when he returned to get her, he turned aside to see the carcass of the lion. And behold, a swarm of bees and honey were in the carcass of the lion. 9 He took some of it in his hands and went along, eating. When he came to his father and mother, he gave some to them, and they also ate. But he did not tell them that he had taken the honey out of the [j]carcass of the lion.

10 So his father went down to the woman. And Samson gave a feast there, for young men used to do so. 11 And it happened, when they saw him, that they brought thirty companions to be with him.

12 Then Samson said to them, "Let me [k]pose a riddle to you. If you can correctly solve and explain it to me [l]within the seven days of the feast, then I will give you thirty linen garments and thirty [m]changes of clothing. 13 But if you cannot explain it to me, then you shall give me thirty linen garments and thirty changes of clothing."

And they said to him, [n]"Pose your riddle, that we may hear it."

14 So he said to them:

"Out of the eater came something to eat,
And out of the strong came something sweet."

Now for three days they could not explain the riddle.

15 But it came to pass on the [q]seventh day that they said to Samson's wife, [o]"Entice your husband, that he may explain the riddle to us, [p]or else we will burn you and your father's house with fire. Have you invited us in order to take what is ours? Is that not so?"

16 Then Samson's wife wept on him, and said, [r]"You only hate me! You do not love me! You have posed a riddle to the sons of my people, but you have not explained it to me."

And he said to her, "Look, I have not explained it to my father or my mother; so should I explain it to you?" 17 Now she had wept on him the seven days while their feast lasted. And it happened on the seventh day that he told her, because she pressed him so much. Then she explained the riddle to the sons of her people. 18 So the men of the city said to him on the seventh day before the sun went down:

■ 14:1—15:20 Immediately after learning that the Lord was with Samson and that the Spirit began to stir in him (13:25), the reader is told that Samson sought a wife from among the Philistines (14:1–2). In this section, Samson's prodigious strength, poetic abilities, and intense pride and temper are revealed. The narrative revolves around the pursuit and loss of the Philistine wife and the consequences for both Philistia and Samson. In the course of these events, Samson broke the Nazirite vow by touching a dead thing (14:8–9) and by drinking wine (v. 10). All that remained was for him to cut his hair. Three times the Spirit of the Lord came on him and he killed his enemies. He led Israel for twenty years (15:20). Normally this would be the end of the narrative. But Samson continued to be distracted by foreign women, and the story concludes with the narrative of his consequent demise (ch. 16).

■ 14:2 a woman . . . of the Philistines. Israelites must not marry foreign wives (3:1–6; 14:3; Deut. 7:3–4; 1 Kin. 11:1–6; Ezra 9—10).

■ 14:4 that it was of the LORD. While Samson's desire was sinful, God used it for His own purposes to bring judgment on the Philistines.

■ 14:6 Spirit of the LORD. See 3:10 note.

■ 14:8, 9 the carcass of the lion. Part of the Nazirite vow was to avoid even approaching a dead body (Num. 6:6). Samson touched the carcass, which should have annulled his vow. He did not tell his parents. On the surface one is led to believe that he was silent for the sake of making his riddle, but he was also hiding the transgression of his vow.

■ 14:10 gave a feast. At such a feast wine was usual. Yet as a Nazirite, Samson was forbidden to drink wine (13:1—16:31 note; 13:2–25 note).

"What is sweeter than honey?
And what is stronger than a lion?"

And he said to them:

"If you had not plowed with my heifer,
You would not have solved my riddle!"

19 Then [q]the Spirit of the LORD came upon him mightily, and he went down to Ashkelon and killed thirty of their men, took their apparel, and gave the changes of clothing to those who had explained the riddle. So his anger was aroused, and he went back up to his father's house. 20 And Samson's wife [r]was given to his companion, who had been [s]his best man.

Samson Defeats the Philistines

15 After a while, in the time of wheat harvest, it happened that Samson visited his wife with a [a]young goat. And he said, "Let me go in to my wife, into her room." But her father would not permit him to go in.

2 Her father said, "I really thought that you thoroughly [b]hated her; therefore I gave her to your companion. Is not her younger sister better than she? Please, take her instead."

3 And Samson said to them, "This time I shall be blameless regarding the Philistines if I harm them!" 4 Then Samson went and caught three hundred foxes; and he took torches, turned the foxes tail to tail, and put a torch between each pair of tails. 5 When he had set the torches on fire, he let the foxes go into the standing grain of the Philistines, and burned up both the shocks and the standing grain, as well as the vineyards and olive groves.

6 Then the Philistines said, "Who has done this?"

And they answered, "Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite, because he has taken his wife and given her to his companion." [c]So the Philistines came up and burned her and her father with fire.

7 Samson said to them, "Since you would do a thing like this, I will surely take revenge on you, and after that I will cease." 8 So he attacked them hip and thigh with a great slaughter; then he went down and dwelt in the cleft of the rock of [d]Etam.

9 Now the Philistines went up, encamped in Judah, and deployed themselves [e]against Lehi. 10 And the men of Judah said, "Why have you come up against us?"

So they answered, "We have come up to [f]arrest Samson, to do to him as he has done to us."

11 Then three thousand men of Judah went down to the cleft of the rock of Etam, and said to Samson, "Do you not know that the Philistines [f]rule over us? What is this you have done to us?"

And he said to them, "As they did to me, so I have done to them."

12 But they said to him, "We have come down to arrest you, that we may deliver you into the hand of the Philistines."

Then Samson said to them, "Swear to me that you will not kill me yourselves."

13 So they spoke to him, saying, "No, but we will tie you securely and deliver you into their hand; but we will surely not kill you." And they bound him with two [g]new ropes and brought him up from the rock.

14 When he came to Lehi, the Philistines came shouting against him. Then [h]the Spirit of the LORD came mightily upon him; and the ropes that were on his arms became like flax that is burned with fire, and his bonds [2]broke loose from his hands. 15 He found a fresh jawbone of a donkey, reached out his hand and took it, and [i]killed a thousand men with it. 16 Then Samson said:

I have slain a thousand men!"

17 And so it was, when he had finished speaking, that he threw the jawbone from his hand, and called that place [3]Ramath Lehi.

18 Then he became very thirsty; so he cried out to the LORD and said, [i]"You have given this great deliverance by the hand of Your servant; and now shall I die of thirst and fall into the hand of the uncircumcised?" 19 So God split the hollow place that is in [4]Lehi, and water came out, and he drank; and [k]his spirit returned, and he revived. Therefore he called its name [5]En Hakkore, which is in Lehi to this day. 20 And [l]he judged Israel [m]twenty years [n]in the days of the Philistines.

Samson and Delilah

16 Now Samson went to [a]Gaza and saw a harlot there, and went in to her. 2 When the Gazites were told, "Samson has come here!" they [b]surrounded the place and lay in wait for him all night at the gate of the city. They were quiet all night, saying, "In the morning, when it is daylight, we will kill him." 3 And Samson lay low till midnight; then he arose at midnight, took hold of the doors of the gate of the city and the two gateposts, pulled them up, bar and all, put them on his shoulders, and carried them to the top of the hill that faces Hebron.

4 Afterward it happened that he loved a woman in the Valley of Sorek, whose name was Delilah. 5 And the [c]lords of the Philistines came up to her and said to her, [d]"Entice him, and find out where his great strength lies, and by what means we may overpower him, that we may bind him to afflict him; and every one of us will give you eleven hundred pieces of silver."

6 So Delilah said to Samson, "Please tell me where your great strength lies, and with what you may be bound to afflict you."

7 And Samson said to her, "If they bind me with seven fresh bowstrings, not yet dried, then I shall become weak, and be like any other man."

8 So the lords of the Philistines brought up to her seven fresh bowstrings, not yet dried, and she bound him with them. 9 Now men were lying in wait, staying with her in the room. And she said to him, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" But he broke the bowstrings as a strand of yarn breaks when it touches fire. So the secret of his strength was not known.

10 Then Delilah said to Samson, "Look, you have mocked me and told me lies. Now, please tell me what you may be bound with."

11 So he said to her, "If they bind me securely with [e]new ropes [f]that have never been used, then I shall become weak, and be like any other man."

12 Therefore Delilah took new ropes and bound him with them, and said to him, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" And men were lying in wait, staying in the room. But he broke them off his arms like a thread.

13 Delilah said to Samson, "Until now you have mocked me and told me lies. Tell me what you may be bound with."

And he said to her, "If you weave the seven locks of my head into the web of the loom"—

14 So she wove it tightly with the batten of the loom, and said to him, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" But he awoke from his sleep, and pulled out the batten and the web from the loom.

15 Then she said to him, [f]"How can you say, 'I love you,' when your heart is not with me?

■ 15:18 he cried out. This is one of only two times that Samson is mentioned as having spoken to the Lord (16:28).

shall I die of thirst. Like the Israelites who experienced miracle upon miracle in the wilderness, Samson complained to God. The parallel is marked by the cry for water and the miraculous manner in which God supplied it (v. 19; Ex. 17:1–7; Num. 20:1–13). Both Israel and Samson were complaining to God, but God in His mercy and compassion met their need (Judg. 10:10–16).

■ 15:20 twenty years. Normally this would signal the end of the story, but not so here (14:1—15:20 note). Like Jephthah (12:7), Samson did not lead Israel for a full generation (forty years), as had the earlier judges.

■ 16:1–22 This account contains two parallel stories showing Samson's desire for women, his prodigious strength, and the efforts the Philistines made to capture him. Samson's continual covenant breaking was judged by God; he was captured by the Philistines and blinded (vv. 21–22). Delilah's attempts to snare Samson reveal Samson to be a fool for remaining with her. It is even more strange that the Spirit of God leaves him only when his hair is cut, not at an earlier point of his covenant breaking. God was patient with Samson until the last sign of his vow was gone, and then God judged him.

■ 16:1 a harlot. Samson once again broke the covenant (14:2).

■ 16:11 new ropes. See 15:13.

■ 16:15 How can you say. See 14:16–17.

You have mocked me these three times, and have not told me where your great strength lies."
16 And it came to pass, when she pestered him daily with her words and pressed him, so that his soul was [2]vexed to death, 17 that he [g]told her all his heart, and said to her, [h]"No razor has ever come upon my head, for I have been a Nazirite to God from my mother's womb. If I am shaven, then my strength will leave me, and I shall become weak, and be like any other man."

18 When Delilah saw that he had told her all his heart, she sent and called for the lords of the Philistines, saying, "Come up once more, for he has told me all his heart." So the lords of the Philistines came up to her and brought the money in their hand. 19 [i]Then she lulled him to sleep on her knees, and called for a man and had him shave off the seven locks of his head. Then [3]she began to torment him, and his strength left him. 20 And she said, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" So he awoke from his sleep, and said, "I will go out as before, at other times, and shake myself free!" But he did not know that the LORD [j]had departed from him.

21 Then the Philistines took him and [4]put out his [k]eyes, and brought him down to Gaza. They bound him with bronze fetters, and he became a grinder in the prison. 22 However, the hair of his head began to grow again after it had been shaven.

Samson Dies with the Philistines

23 Now the lords of the Philistines gathered together to offer a great sacrifice to [l]Dagon their god, and to rejoice. And they said:

"Our god has delivered into our hands Samson our enemy!"

24 When the people saw him, they [m]praised their god; for they said:

"Our god has delivered into our hands our enemy,
The destroyer of our land,
And the one who multiplied our dead."

25 So it happened, when their hearts were [n]merry, that they said, "Call for Samson, that he may perform for us." So they called for Samson from the prison, and he performed for them. And they stationed him between the pillars. 26 Then Samson said to the lad who held him by the hand, "Let me feel the pillars which support the temple, so that I can lean on them." 27 Now the temple was full of men and women. All the lords of the Philistines were there—about three thousand men and women on the [o]roof watching while Samson performed.

28 Then Samson called to the LORD, saying, "O Lord GOD, [p]remember me, I pray! Strengthen me, I pray, just this once, O God, that I may with one blow take vengeance on the Philistines for my two eyes!" 29 And Samson took hold of the two middle pillars which supported the temple, and he braced himself against them, one on his right and the other on his left. 30 Then Samson said, "Let me die with the Philistines!" And he pushed with all his might, and the temple fell on the lords and all the people who were in it. So the dead that he killed at his death were more than he had killed in his life.

31 And his brothers and all his father's household came down and took him, and brought him up and [q]buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol in the tomb of his father Manoah. He had judged Israel [r]twenty years.

Micah's Idolatry

17 Now there was a man from the mountains of Ephraim, whose name was [a]Micah. 2 And he said to his mother, "The eleven hundred shekels of silver that were taken from you,

If I am shaven. Samson had always ignored the other aspects of his vow (13:1—16:31 note). His true strength was the Spirit of the Lord (v. 20).

■ 16:20 the LORD had departed from him. The Spirit of the Lord was not giving him strength (13:25; 14:6, 19; 15:14). Like Saul (cf. Js. 16:14 with 1 Sam. 15:23), Samson lost the power of the Spirit because he disobeyed. God was his power, not magic associated with long hair.

■ 16:23 Our god has delivered. God is the Judge who allowed oppressors to mistreat His people on account of their sin (v. 20); it was not the power of the gods of the nations that enabled them to overcome Israel (2:14–15).

■ 16:28 O Lord GOD. Samson's final plea is to take revenge for the loss of his sight. The writer does not comment on this motive. God in His grace answered the prayer and allowed Samson to kill the enemies of Israel (10:10–16; 15:18–19).

■ 16:30 more than he had killed in life. See 13:1—16:31 note.

■ 16:31 He had judged . . . twenty years. See 15:20 note.

■ 17:1—18:31 This section, recounting the Danite idolatry, is part of the conclusion to the Book of Judges. The phrases, "in those days there was and on which you [b]put a curse, even saying it in my ears—here is the silver with me; I took it."

And his mother said, "[c]May you be blessed by the LORD, my son!" 3 So when he had returned the eleven hundred shekels of silver to his mother, his mother said, "I had wholly dedicated the silver from my hand to the LORD for my son, to [d]make a carved image and a molded image; now therefore, I will return it to you." 4 Thus he returned the silver to his mother. Then his mother [e]took two hundred shekels of silver and gave them to the silversmith, and he made it into a carved image and a molded image; and they were in the house of Micah.

5 The man Micah had a [f]shrine, and made an [g]ephod and [h]household [i]idols; and he consecrated one of his sons, who became his priest. 6 In those days there was no king in Israel; [j]everyone did what was right in his own eyes.

7 Now there was a young man from [k]Bethlehem in Judah, of the family of Judah; he was a Levite, and [l]was staying there. 8 The man departed from the city of Bethlehem in Judah to stay wherever he could find a place. Then he came to the mountains of Ephraim, to the house of Micah, as he journeyed. 9 And Micah said to him, "Where do you come from?"

So he said to him, "I am a Levite from Bethlehem in Judah, and I am on my way to find a place to stay."

10 Micah said to him, "Dwell with me, [m]and be a [n]father and a priest to me, and I will give no king in Israel" (17:6; 18:1), and "everyone did what was right in his own eyes" (17:6) are repeated in the last section of the narrative cycles (19:1; 21:25). Without a king the people were miserable.

■ 17:2 The story starts abruptly with the return of stolen goods. The mother seems not to be surprised.

■ 17:3 dedicated . . . to the LORD . . . to make a carved image and a molded image. This statement is highly ironic. However well-intentioned, consecrating this silver in this way violates the second commandment (Deut. 5:8), an indication of the Spiritual ignorance of the period.

■ 17:5 an ephod. See 8:27 and note.

■ 17:6 In those days. See 18:1; 19:1; 21:25. The refrain comments on the ignorance of Micah and his mother that was typical of the time. They made idols in the name of the Lord, and appointed their own priest.

■ 17:7 Levite. The Levites' inheritance was to serve the Lord at His dwelling place, the tabernacle (Deut. 18:1–8; Josh. 13:14, 33; 14:3–4).

■ 17:10 be a father . . . to me. That is, in a religious sense.

you ten shekels of silver per year, a suit of clothes, and your sustenance." So the Levite went in. 11 Then the Levite was content to dwell with the man; and the young man became like one of his sons to him. 12 So Micah [o]consecrated[2] the Levite, and the young man [p]became his priest, and lived in the house of Micah. 13 Then Micah said, "Now I know that the LORD will be good to me, since I have a Levite as [q]priest!"

The Danites Adopt Micah's Idolatry

18 In [a]those days there was no king in Israel. And in those days [b]the tribe of the Danites was seeking an inheritance for itself to dwell in; for until that day their inheritance among the tribes of Israel had not fallen to them. 2 So the children of Dan sent five men of their family from their territory, men of valor from [c]Zorah and Eshtaol, [d]to spy out the land and search it. They said to them, "Go, search the land." So they went to the mountains of Ephraim, to the [e]house of Micah, and lodged there. 3 While they were at the house of Micah, they recognized the voice of the young Levite. They turned aside and said to him, "Who brought you here? What are you doing in this place? What do you have here?"

4 He said to them, "Thus and so Micah did for me. He has [f]hired me, and I have become his priest."

5 So they said to him, "Please [g]inquire [h]of God, that we may know whether the journey on which we go will be prosperous."

6 And the priest said to them, [i]"Go in peace. [j]The presence of the LORD be with you on your way."

7 So the five men departed and went to [k]Laish. They saw the people who were there, [l]how they dwelt safely, in the manner of the Sidonians, quiet and secure. There were no rulers in the land who might put them to shame for anything. They were far from the [m]Sidonians, and they had no ties [2]with anyone.

8 Then the spies came back to their brethren at [n]Zorah and Eshtaol, and their brethren said to them, "What is your report?"

9 So they said, [o]"Arise, let us go up against them. For we have seen the land, and indeed it is very good. Would you [p]do nothing? Do not hesitate to go, and enter to possess the land. 10 When you go, you will come to a [q]secure people and a large land. For God has given it into your hands, [r]a place where there is no lack of anything that is on the earth."

11 And six hundred men of the family of the Danites went from there, from Zorah and Eshtaol, armed with weapons of war. 12 Then they went up and encamped in [s]Kirjath Jearim in Judah. (Therefore they call that place [t]Mahaneh Dan[3] to this day. There it is, west of Kirjath Jearim.) 13 And they passed from there to the mountains of Ephraim, and came to [u]the house of Micah.

14 [v]Then the five men who had gone to spy out the country of Laish answered and said to their brethren, "Do you know that [w]there are in these houses an ephod, household idols, a carved image, and a molded image? Now therefore, consider what you should do." 15 So they turned aside there, and came to the house of the young Levite man—to the house of Micah—and greeted him. 16 The [x]six hundred men armed with their weapons of war, who were of the children of Dan, stood by the entrance of the gate. 17 Then [y]the five men who had gone to spy out the land

■ 17:11 like one of his sons. That the Levite was "content" with the arrangement shows complete insensitivity to apostasy. An appointed officer of the tabernacle was serving an idol.

■ 17:13 good to me. This is a foolish statement (v. 3 note; 17:1—18:31 note), further illustrating the darkened understanding of the time, descending to the level of superstition.

■ 18:1 In those days . . . in those days. The repetition (see also 17:6) subtly indicates from the very outset of the narrative that the Danites were doing what was right in their own eyes.

no king in Israel. See 17:6 note.

their inheritance . . . had not fallen to them. The Danites had failed to conquer the portion assigned to them (1:34–36). They were in violation of the covenant.

■ 18:2 to spy out the land. They were imitating their forefathers (Num. 13:2, 12).

■ 18:3 they recognized the voice. That is, the distinctive accent of the young man from the south of Israel (cf. 12:6).

■ 18:5 inquire of God. Priests apparently used an ephod to seek the will of the Lord (8:27 and note).

■ 18:6 The presence of the LORD be with you on your way. The tragic irony of this story—the Levite ministering to idols, Micah's absurd confidence (17:13)—cancels the validity of such a benediction uttered by unholy lips.

■ 18:7 quiet and secure. Their peaceful, defenseless nature is emphasized by repetition (vv. 10, 27–28).

■ 18:9 the land . . . is very good. Unlike the original spies that entered Canaan, these spies brought back a good report. Conquest would be easy because the people were unsuspecting and peaceful (vv. 7, 10).

■ 18:14 an ephod, household idols, a carved image, and a molded image. This whole list (17:5) is repeated three times in the next six verses (vv. 17, 18, 20) and is twice referred to more generally (vv. 27, 30–31).

■ 18:16 six hundred men armed . . . by the entrance. The Danites' action is a kind of parody of the conquest of the land begun earlier under Joshua. They go in the strength of overwhelming numbers against a single household, rather than in the strength of the Lord against a fierce enemy. The armed men are mentioned twice as standing outside the door.

went up. Entering there, they took [y]the carved image, the ephod, the household idols, and the molded image. The priest stood at the entrance of the gate with the six hundred men who were armed with weapons of war.

18 When these went into Micah's house and took the carved image, the ephod, the household idols, and the molded image, the priest said to them, "What are you doing?"

19 And they said to him, "Be quiet, [z]put your hand over your mouth, and come with us; [a]be a father and a priest to us. Is it better for you to be a priest to the household of one man, or that you be a priest to a tribe and a family in Israel?" 20 So the priest's heart was glad; and he took the ephod, the household idols, and the carved image, and took his place among the people.

21 Then they turned and departed, and put the little ones, the livestock, and the goods in front of them. 22 When they were a good way from the house of Micah, the men who were in the houses near Micah's house gathered together and overtook the children of Dan. 23 And they called out to the children of Dan. So they turned around and said to Micah, [b]"What ails you, that you have gathered such a company?"

24 So he said, "You have [c]taken away my [4]gods which I made, and the priest, and you have gone away. Now what more do I have? How can you say to me, 'What ails you?' "

25 And the children of Dan said to him, "Do not let your voice be heard among us, lest [5]angry men fall upon you, and you lose your life, with the lives of your household!" 26 Then the children of Dan went their way. And when Micah saw that they were too strong for him, he turned and went back to his house.

Danites Settle in Laish

27 So they took the things Micah had made, and the priest who had belonged to him, and went to Laish, to a people quiet and secure; [d]and they struck them with the edge of the sword and burned the city with fire. 28 There was no deliverer, because it was [e]far from Sidon, and they had no ties with anyone. It was in the valley that belongs [f]to Beth Rehob. So they rebuilt the city and dwelt there. 29 And [g]they called the name of the city [h]Dan, after the name of Dan their father, who was born to Israel. However, the name of the city formerly was Laish.

30 Then the children of Dan set up for themselves the carved image; and Jonathan the son of Gershom, the son of [6]Manasseh, and his sons were priests to the tribe of Dan [i]until the day of the captivity of the land. 31 So they set up for themselves Micah's carved image which he made, [j]all the time that the house of God was in Shiloh.

The Levite's Concubine

19 And it came to pass in those days, [a]when there was no king in Israel, that there was a certain Levite staying in the remote mountains of Ephraim. He took for himself a concu-

CHAPTER 19

1 [a]Judg. 17:6; 18:1; 21:25

■ 18:19 be a father and a priest. See 17:10 note.

■ 18:20 So the priest's heart was glad. He was happy for advancement.

he took the ephod . . . carved image. The priest was going to lead Dan in false worship as he had Micah's household.

■ 18:21 in front of them. That is, to protect them from an attack from behind.

■ 18:24 How can you say. Micah is a pathetic figure, believing that God would bless "obedience" in any way that he chose to offer it (17:13).

■ 18:27 they took the things Micah had made. See v. 14.

a people quiet and secure. The Israelites were to destroy only the seven proscribed Canaanite nations (Deut. 7:1). To other peoples they were first to offer peace (Deut. 20:10–18). Dan did not ask who these people were (Josh. 9:1–27) and may have destroyed an innocent population. Moreover, this was not the land God had allotted them (Josh. 19:47).

■ 18:30 set up for themselves the carved image. This is an example of what it meant for everyone to do what was right in his own eyes in the absence of a king (v. 14; 17:6).

Jonathan the son of Gershom, the son of Manasseh. This was the Levite Micah had hired (17:10, 13).

until the day. Since v. 31 specifies that Micah's idol was set up as long as "the house of God was in Shiloh," the captivity mentioned here would be the time of oppression that began with the Philistine victory near Shiloh, when the ark was removed from there (1 Sam. 4:4, 11). The captivity in Babylon occurred much later.

■ 18:31 house of God. That is, the tabernacle, which was at Shiloh up to the time of Samuel (Josh. 18:1; 1 Sam. 3:21; 4:3). This was before David's reign. The ark was taken by Eli's sons from Shiloh into battle and lost to the Philistines (1 Sam. 4:4–11). After that the ark was never in Shiloh again.

■ 19:1—21:25 The situation in Israel had deteriorated so much that some of God's people behaved like the people of Sodom and Gomorrah (Gen. 19:1–11). Civil war between the tribes was the result. This final story in the conclusion of Judges blames the misery of Israel on the lack of a king (19:1; 21:25; cf. 17:6; 18:1). Benjamin was the tribe that sinned. Even more, it was the men of Gibeah, Saul's hometown, that behaved like the people of Sodom. Saul's action in 1 Sam. 11:6–8 is clearly parallel to the Levites's desecration of his concubine (19:29 note). Finally, Judah, the tribe of David, was the Lord's choice to be the leader against Benjamin (note the similarity of wording between 1:1–2 and 20:18). The Benjamites had practically become Canaanites. No one was without fault, however. Each tribe was doing as it saw fit (21:25). The conclusion to be drawn is that a king was needed, a king from Judah and not Benjamin. David and not Saul would initially qualify. Yet, being a man, even David would prove unequal to the task, as later developments would show (2 Sam. 12:10, 11). The Lord whom the people had rejected (1 Sam. 8:7, 8) alone could be their true King (8:22, 23).

■ 19:1 Levite. This man was from the tribe that served the Lord as His priests.

bine from [b]Bethlehem in Judah. [2] But his concubine played the harlot against him, and went away from him to her father's house at Bethlehem in Judah, and was there four whole months. [3] Then her husband arose and went after her, to [c]speak [1]kindly to her and bring her back, having his servant and a couple of donkeys with him. So she brought him into her father's house; and when the father of the young woman saw him, he was glad to meet him. [4] Now his father-in-law, the young woman's father, detained him; and he stayed with him three days. So they ate and drank and lodged there.

[5] Then it came to pass on the fourth day that they arose early in the morning, and he stood to depart; but the young woman's father said to his son-in-law, [d]"Refresh your heart with a morsel of bread, and afterward go your way."

[6] So they sat down, and the two of them ate and drank together. Then the young woman's father said to the man, "Please be content to stay all night, and let your heart be merry." [7] And when the man stood to depart, his father-in-law urged him; so he lodged there again. [8] Then he arose early in the morning on the fifth day to depart, but the young woman's father said, "Please refresh your heart." So they delayed until afternoon; and both of them ate.

[9] And when the man stood to depart—he and his concubine and his servant—his father-in-law, the young woman's father, said to him, "Look, the day is now drawing toward evening; please spend the night. See, the day is coming to an end; lodge here, that your heart may be merry. Tomorrow go your way early, so that you may get [2]home."

[10] However, the man was not willing to spend that night; so he rose and departed, and came opposite [e]Jebus (that is, Jerusalem). With him were the two saddled donkeys; his concubine was also with him. [11] They were near Jebus, and the day was far spent; and the servant said to his master, "Come, please, and let us turn aside into this city [f]of the Jebusites and lodge in it."

[12] But his master said to him, "We will not turn aside here into a city of foreigners, who are not of the children of Israel; we will go on [g]to Gibeah." [13] So he said to his servant, "Come, let us draw near to one of these places, and spend the night in Gibeah or in [h]Ramah." [14] And they passed by and went their way; and the sun went down on them near Gibeah, which belongs to Benjamin. [15] They turned aside there to go in to lodge in Gibeah. And when he went in, he sat down in the open square of the city, for no one would [i]take them into his house to spend the night.

[16] Just then an old man came in from [j]his work in the field at evening, who also was from the mountains of Ephraim; he was staying in Gibeah, whereas the men of the place were Benjamites. [17] And when he raised his eyes, he saw the traveler in the open square of the city; and the old man said, "Where are you going, and where do you come from?"

[18] So he said to him, "We are passing from Bethlehem in Judah toward the remote mountains of Ephraim; I am from there. I went to Bethlehem in Judah; now I am going to [k]the house of the LORD. But there is no one who will take me into his house, [19] although we have both straw and fodder for our donkeys, and bread and wine for myself, for your female servant, and for the young man who is with your servant; there is no lack of anything."

[20] And the old man said, [l]"Peace be with you! However, let all your needs be my responsibility; [m]only do not spend the night in the open square." [21] [n]So he brought him into his house, and gave fodder to the donkeys. [o]And they washed their feet, and ate and drank.

Gibeah's Crime

[22] As they were [p]enjoying themselves, suddenly [q]certain men of the city, [r]perverted[3] men, surrounded the house and beat on the door. They spoke to the master of the house, the old man, saying, [s]"Bring out the man who came to your house, that we may know him carnally!" concubine. A concubine was usually a slave and had a lower legal status than a wife (8:31; 9:18).

Gibeah. When the Book of Judges was written, Gibeah would have been well known as the home town of Saul (19:1—21:25 note).

■ 19:14—20:48 The story of what happened to the Levite in Gibeah is similar to the story of Sodom and Gomorrah (Gen. 19:1–13). Gibeah's sin was like that of Sodom and Gomorrah, and the Benjamites were destroyed by the LORD's permission and assistance (20:18, 28, 35). Saul was from Benjamin, and it would not have helped him or his descendants for these events to be remembered.

23 But [t]the man, the master of the house, went out to them and said to them, "No, my brethren! I beg you, do not act so wickedly! Seeing this man has come into my house, [u]do not commit this outrage. 24 [v]Look, here is my virgin daughter and [4]the man's concubine; let me bring them out now. [w]Humble them, and do with them as you please; but to this man do not do such a vile thing!" 25 But the men would not heed him. So the man took his concubine and brought her out to them. And they [x]knew her and abused her all night until morning; and when the day began to break, they let her go.

26 Then the woman came as the day was dawning, and fell down at the door of the man's house where her master was, till it was light.

27 When her master arose in the morning, and opened the doors of the house and went out to go his way, there was his concubine, fallen at the door of the house with her hands on the threshold. 28 And he said to her, "Get up and let us be going." But [y]there was no answer. So the man lifted her onto the donkey; and the man got up and went to his place.

29 When he entered his house he took a knife, laid hold of his concubine, and [z]divided her into twelve pieces, [5]limb by limb, and sent her throughout all the territory of Israel. 30 And so it was that all who saw it said, "No such deed has been done or seen from the day that the children of Israel came up from the land of Egypt until this day. Consider it, [a]confer, and speak up!"

Israel's War with the Benjamites

20 So [a]all the children of Israel came out, from [b]Dan to [c]Beersheba, as well as from the land of Gilead, and the congregation gathered together as one man before the LORD [d]at Mizpah. 2 And the leaders of all the people, all the tribes of Israel, presented themselves in the assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand foot soldiers [e]who drew the sword. 3 (Now the children of Benjamin heard that the children of Israel had gone up to Mizpah.)

Then the children of Israel said, "Tell us, how did this wicked deed happen?"

4 So the Levite, the husband of the woman who was murdered, answered and said, "My concubine and [f]I went into Gibeah, which belongs to Benjamin, to spend the night. 5 [g]And the men of Gibeah rose against me, and surrounded the house at night because of me. They intended to kill me, [h]but instead they ravished my concubine so that she died. 6 So [i]I took hold of my concubine, cut her in pieces, and sent her throughout all the territory of the inheritance of Israel, because they [j]committed lewdness and outrage in Israel. 7 Look! All of you are children of Israel; [k]give your advice and counsel here and now!"

8 So all the people arose as one man, saying, "None of us will go to his tent, nor will any turn back to his house; 9 but now this is the thing which we will do to Gibeah: We will go up [l]against it by lot. 10 We will take ten men out of every hundred throughout all the tribes of Israel, a hundred out of every thousand, and a thousand out of every ten thousand, to make provisions for the people, that when they come to Gibeah in Benjamin, they may repay all the vileness that they have done in Israel." 11 So all the men of Israel were gathered against the city, united together as one man.

12 [m]Then the tribes of Israel sent men through all the tribe of Benjamin, saying, "What is this wickedness that has occurred among you? 13 Now therefore, deliver up the men, [n]the [7]perverted

■ 19:23 do not commit this outrage. Whatever else may be said, according to the customs of hospitality the host cannot contemplate surrendering his guest to violence. In the law, the sexual act contemplated is described as "abomination" (Lev. 18:22; 20:13).

■ 19:24 here is my virgin daughter. As Lot offered his daughters to protect his guests (Gen. 19:8), the host offers his daughter to protect the Levite. The author does not comment on the morality of this offer, but the whole story is presented as a final illustration of the evil consequences of forsaking God's rule and doing what is right in one's own eyes.

■ 19:28 But there was no answer. She was dead.

■ 19:29 twelve pieces. The original audience of Judges would have been well aware of how Saul later cut up oxen into twelve parts in order to summon Israel to fight against the Ammonites (1 Sam. 11:6–8).

■ 19:30 No such deed. This would be the grotesque use of the woman's body.

■ 20:1–48 The attack upon the Levite and his concubine resulted in civil war between all Israel and Benjamin (ch. 19). Repeated reference to Israel's oneness (vv. 1–2, 8, 11) makes an important point: Israel was united for the first time in the Book of Judges. Although their action was not unjust, it is sad that they were united only in order to punish one of their own number (v. 23). Judah was to lead against Benjamin as it had led against the Canaanites (v. 18; 1:1, 2 and notes).

■ 20:1 from Dan to Beersheba. The extreme north and south of Israel.

together as one man. For the first time Israel was united, but the purpose was to wage war against their brothers.

before the LORD at Mizpah. See 11:11 note. Saul was later made king at Mizpah.

■ 20:2 in the assembly of the people of God. After the repeated cycles of sin, judgment, and deliverance, it is an evidence of God's mercy that Israel was still called His people.

■ 20:5 they ravished my concubine. The Levite omits the details of how the concubine had been offered (19:23–24).

■ 20:8 as one man. See vv. 1, 11, and 20:1–48 note. The Israelites took an oath to see this through to the end.

■ 20:13 remove the evil. The Israelites did not see the evil that pervaded their community.

men who are in Gibeah, that we may put them to death and [o]remove the evil from Israel!" But the children of Benjamin would not listen to the voice of their brethren, the children of Israel. 14 Instead, the children of Benjamin gathered together from their cities to Gibeah, to go to battle against the children of Israel. 15 And from their cities at that time [p]the children of Benjamin numbered twenty-six thousand men who drew the sword, besides the inhabitants of Gibeah, who numbered seven hundred select men. 16 Among all this people were seven hundred select men who were [q]left-handed; every one could sling a stone at a hair's breadth and not miss. 17 Now besides Benjamin, the men of Israel numbered four hundred thousand men who drew the sword; all of these were men of war.

18 Then the children of Israel arose and [r]went up to [2]the house of God to [s]inquire of God. They said, "Which of us shall go up first to battle against the children of Benjamin?"

The LORD said, [t]"Judah first!"

19 So the children of Israel rose in the morning and encamped against Gibeah. 20 And the men of Israel went out to battle against Benjamin, and the men of Israel put themselves in battle array to fight against them at Gibeah. 21 Then [u]the children of Benjamin came out of Gibeah, and on that day cut down to the ground twenty-two thousand men of the Israelites. 22 And the people, that is, the men of Israel, encouraged themselves and again formed the battle line at the place where they had put themselves in array on the first day. 23 [v]Then the children of Israel went up and wept before the LORD until evening, and asked counsel of the LORD, saying, "Shall I again draw near for battle against the children of my brother Benjamin?"

And the LORD said, "Go up against him."

24 So the children of Israel approached the children of Benjamin on the second day. 25 And [w]Benjamin went out against them from Gibeah on the second day, and cut down to the ground eighteen thousand more of the children of Israel; all these drew the sword.

26 Then all the children of Israel, that is, all the people, [x]went up and came to [3]the house of God and wept. They sat there before the LORD and fasted that day until evening; and they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the LORD. 27 So the children of Israel inquired of the LORD ([y]the ark of the covenant of God was there in those days, 28 [z]and Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, [a]stood before it in those days), saying, "Shall I yet again go out to battle against the children of my brother Benjamin, or shall I cease?"

And the LORD said, "Go up, for tomorrow I will deliver them into your hand."

29 Then Israel [b]set men in ambush all around Gibeah. 30 And the children of Israel went up against the children of Benjamin on the third day, and put themselves in battle array against Gibeah as at the other times. 31 So the children of Benjamin went out against the people, and were drawn away from the city. They began to strike down and kill some of the people, as at the other times, in the highways [c](one of which goes up to Bethel and the other to Gibeah) and in the field, about thirty men of Israel. 32 And the children of Benjamin said, "They are defeated before us, as at first."

But the children of Israel said, "Let us flee and draw them away from the city to the highways." 33 So all the men of Israel rose from their place and put themselves in battle array at Baal Tamar. Then Israel's men in ambush burst forth from their position in the plain of Geba. 34 And ten thousand select men from all Israel came against Gibeah, and the battle was fierce. [d]But [4]the Benjamites did not know that disaster was upon them. 35 The LORD [5]defeated Benjamin before Israel. And the children of Israel destroyed that day twenty-five thousand one hundred Benjamites; all these drew the sword.

36 So the children of Benjamin saw that they were defeated. [e]The men of Israel had given ground to the Benjamites, because they relied on the men in ambush whom they had set against Gibeah. 37 [f]And the men in ambush quickly rushed upon Gibeah; the men in ambush spread out and struck the whole city with the edge of the sword. 38 Now the appointed signal between the men of Israel and the men in ambush was that they would make a great cloud of [g]smoke rise up from the city, 39 whereupon the men of Israel would turn in battle. Now Benjamin had begun [6]to strike and kill about thirty of the men of Israel. For they said, "Surely they are defeated before us, as in the first battle." [40] But when the cloud began to rise from the city in a column of smoke, the Benjamites [h]looked behind them, and there was the whole city going up in smoke to heaven. [43] They surrounded the Benjamites, chased them, and easily trampled them down as far as the front of Gibeah toward the east. [44] And eighteen thousand men of Benjamin fell; all these were men of valor. [45] Then [8]they turned and fled toward the wilderness to the rock of [i]Rimmon; and they cut down five thousand of them on the highways. Then they pursued them relentlessly up to Gidom, and killed two thousand of them. [46] So all who fell of Benjamin that day were twenty-five thousand men who drew the sword; all these were [9]men of valor.

[47] [j]But six hundred men turned and fled toward the wilderness to the rock of Rimmon, and they stayed at the rock of Rimmon for four months. [48] And the men of Israel turned back against the children of Benjamin, and struck them down with the edge of the sword—from every city, men and beasts, all who were found. They also set fire to all the cities they came to.

Wives Provided for the Benjamites

21 Now [a]the men of Israel had sworn an oath at Mizpah, saying, "None of us shall give his daughter to Benjamin as a wife." [2] Then the people came [b]to [1]the house of God, and remained there before God till evening. They lifted up their voices and wept bitterly, [3] and said, "O LORD God of Israel, why has this come to pass in Israel, that today there should be one tribe missing in Israel?"

[4] So it was, on the next morning, that the people rose early and [c]built an altar there, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. [5] The children of Israel said, "Who is there among all the tribes of Israel who did not come up with the assembly to the LORD?" [d]For they had made a great oath concerning anyone who had not come up to the LORD at Mizpah, saying, "He shall surely be put to death." [6] And the children of Israel grieved for Benjamin their brother, and said, "One tribe is cut off from Israel today. [7] What shall we do for wives for those who remain, seeing we have sworn by the LORD that we will not give them our daughters as wives?"

[8] And they said, "What one is there from the tribes of Israel who did not come up to Mizpah to the LORD?" And, in fact, no one had come to the camp from [e]Jabesh Gilead to the assembly. [9] For when the people were counted, indeed, not one of the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead was there. [10] So the congregation sent out there twelve thousand of their most valiant men, and commanded them, saying, [f]"Go and strike the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead with the edge of the sword, including the women and children. [11] And this is the thing that you shall do: [g]You shall utterly destroy every male, and every woman who has known a man intimately." [12] So they found among the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead four hundred young virgins who had not known a man intimately; and they brought them to the camp at [h]Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

[13] Then the whole congregation sent word to the children of Benjamin [i]who were at the rock of Rimmon, and announced peace to them. [14] So Benjamin came back at that time, and they gave them the women whom they had saved alive of the women of Jabesh Gilead; and yet they had not found enough for them.

[15] And the people [j]grieved for Benjamin, because the LORD had made a void in the tribes of Israel.

[16] Then the elders of the congregation said, "What shall we do for wives for those who remain, since the women of Benjamin have been destroyed?" [17] And they said, "There must be an inheritance for the survivors of Benjamin, that a tribe may not be destroyed from Israel. [18] However, we cannot give them wives from our daughters, [k]for the children of Israel have sworn an oath, saying, 'Cursed be the one who gives a wife to Benjamin.' " [19] Then they said, "In fact,

■ 20:48 struck them down with the edge of the sword. The Israelites treated the Benjamites like the Canaanites (1:8, 17). Moreover, the Benjamites' end was like that of the inhabitants of Sodom (19:14—20:48 note).

■ 21:1–25 The actions of Israel in this final episode of the book should be interpreted in light of the concluding comment: "In those days there was no king in Israel; everyone did what was right in his own eyes" (v. 25). The Israelites wondered why this evil had come upon them (vv. 3, 15; 6:13 note). As with Gideon (6:13), no answer was given. Yet the book's larger context gives the clear answer that Israel had sinned and continued to sin in horrible ways.

■ 21:8 Jabesh Gilead. Saul's first act as king was to defend Jabesh Gilead. Since he was a Benjamite from Gibeah, Saul may have descended from one of the women taken from Jabesh Gilead (v. 12).

■ 21:15 the LORD had made a void in the tribes of Israel. God did this to punish the Benjamites for their sin.

■ 21:19–23 Israel's degeneracy was now so complete that they even there is a yearly [l]feast of the LORD in [m]Shiloh, which is north of Bethel, on the east side of the [n]highway that goes up from Bethel to Shechem, and south of Lebonah."

20 Therefore they instructed the children of Benjamin, saying, "Go, lie in wait in the vineyards, 21 and watch; and just when the daughters of Shiloh come out [o]to perform their dances, then come out from the vineyards, and every man catch a wife for himself from the daughters of Shiloh; then go to the land of Benjamin. 22 Then it shall be, when their fathers or their brothers come to us to complain, that we will say to them, 'Be kind to them for our sakes, because we did not take a wife for any of them in the war; for it is not as though you have given the women to them at this time, making yourselves guilty of your oath.' "

23 And the children of Benjamin did so; they took enough wives for their number from those who danced, whom they caught. Then they went and returned to their inheritance, and they [p]rebuilt the cities and dwelt in them. 24 So the children of Israel departed from there at that time, every man to his tribe and family; they went out from there, every man to his inheritance.

25 [q]In those days there was no king in Israel; [r]everyone did what was right in his own eyes.

proposed and allowed the kidnapping of their own women to avoid breaking a rash vow. The nation was indeed acting, unchecked, in accord with their own sinful inclinations (v. 25; cf. 17:6).

■ 21:25 In those days. While Israel's only hope was in allegiance to her divine King, the nation rather settled for a human monarchy (1 Sam. 8:7, 22), which inevitably would fail them.

RUTH

Author The Book of Ruth, named after its principal character, is an anonymous short story. Rabbinic tradition held that the book, with Judges and Samuel, was written by the prophet Samuel. This is possible only if the book is dated early. Some would date Ruth as late as after the Jewish exile in Babylon, which took place during the sixth century B.C.

Date and Occasion The Book of Ruth can be dated in the time of Samuel (c. 1050 B.C., at the beginning of Israel's monarchy), the time of David (c. 1000 B.C.), or the century following the exile in Babylon (c. 450 B.C.). The reference to David in 4:17, the genealogy of 4:18–22, and the explanation of an apparently antiquated custom in 4:7 indicate a time after David had begun to reign. The book's portrayal of good relations between Moabites and Israelites suits best the early period of David's rule. All told, a time early in the monarchy may be affirmed as readily as any other.

This universally appealing narrative has evoked diverse conclusions concerning its purpose. Such a story does not need a moral to justify its popularity, but that it had a moral, or at least a theological purpose, is beyond doubt. Biblical interpreters have had no trouble finding a purpose; the challenge is to find a single, dominant theme.

Ruth has been understood to celebrate the following: (a) that a proselyte, even from Moab, can be faithful to the Lord and gain full membership in Israel; (b) that qualities of loyalty and covenant faithfulness in a foreigner can be a model for Israel's response to the Lord; (c) that the Lord as Redeemer will restore the exiled family of Israel to its land. In light of the epilogue (4:18–22), however, and assuming a date close to the time of David, the major purpose seems to include showing that David's kingship is legitimate. The primacy of the tribe of Judah (the father of Perez; 4:12, 18) had already been established in Israel, despite Tamar's strange act of desperation (Gen. 38). Now the primacy of David must be established, even though there is a Moabite in the line. Boaz is the model for the relative who redeems, while Ruth beautifully reflects God's faithful covenant-love, claiming refuge under the Lord's wings, and clinging to Naomi. If God has drawn together all these disparate strands so carefully to bless the line of David, is that not one more reason to affirm David's initially fragile claim to the throne?

Interpretive Difficulties The issues that have fascinated scholars arise directly from puzzling elements in the narrative. These may be divided into the following groups: (a) questions about purpose, related to difficulties in dating and origin; (b) questions about legal customs, especially the family obligations of a close relative of a deceased person; and (c) internal difficulties, such as the relationship between 4:12, 17 and the genealogy in 4:18–22. An abundant literature addresses each of these areas, with sometimes little agreement. It is one of the remarkable phenomena of biblical research that such debates leave unaffected the powerful impact this simple account has on every generation of readers.

Characteristics and Themes Though clearly an important historical document of its period, the narrative of Ruth is told with dramatic intensity and movement. The story moves quickly through its various stages, each part marked with elements of irony and suspense, all contributing to a symphony of divine providential fulfillment. The Lord inspires Naomi's return, Ruth's covenant faithfulness, and Boaz's righteous adherence to the law. The book closes with a genealogy of King David, the descendant of Boaz the Israelite and Ruth the Moabite, a young woman who took refuge under the Lord's wings (2:12) and was rewarded by God, who "gave her conception" (4:13).

Ruth and Boaz are part of a longer line that often shows God's grace combined with human frailty. One of David's ancestors was Perez (4:12, 18), son of an irregular union between Judah and his own daughter-in-law, Tamar, who was "more righteous" than the patriarch himself (Gen. 38:26). The closing few verses of Ruth (4:18–22) are commonly said to be a later addition to the book, but genealogies are not unusual in ancient narratives. Also, this genealogy underlines a particular value of Ruth, its revelation of the mixed ancestry of King David and through him, of Jesus Christ.

Looking beyond this witness to the legitimacy of David's kingship, we should note the significance of the book in the light of the gospel. Ruth follows the faith of Abraham, as she leaves home and family to go to a foreign land under the Lord's care. The universal scope of the gospel comes to light as Ruth the Moabite finds the blessing promised to all the nations in Abraham's descendants. Finally, Ruth becomes an ancestor of Christ, who in Himself will reconcile to God such different nations as Moab and Israel. □

NOW it came to pass, in the days when [a]the judges [1]ruled, that there was [b]a famine in the land. And a certain man of [c]Bethlehem, Judah, went to [2]dwell in the country of [d]Moab, he and his wife and his two sons. 2 The name of the man was Elimelech, the name of his wife was Naomi, and the names of his two sons were Mahlon and Chilion—[e]Ephrathites of Bethlehem, Judah. And they went [f]to the country of Moab and remained there. 3 Then Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died; and she was left, and her two sons. 4 Now they took wives of the women of Moab: the name of the one was Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth. And they [3]dwelt there about ten years. 5 Then both Mahlon and Chilion also died; so the woman survived her two sons and her husband.

Naomi Returns with Ruth

6 Then she arose with her daughters-in-law that she might return from the country of Moab, for she had heard in the country of Moab that the LORD had [g]visited[4] His people by [h]giving them

■ 1:1–5 The preface moves quickly through the necessary background (time, place, and source of conflict), setting the stage for the scenes that follow.

■ 1:1 Now it came to pass, in the days. In Hebrew this is a standard formula for opening a historical book. The period of the judges in Israel was infamous as a time of instability and apostasy.

a famine. Events in the Book of Ruth turn on the curse of famine, and its corresponding reversal in blessing. Famines were sometimes a sign of divine displeasure (1 Kin. 17:1). Naomi (1:21) bitterly acknowledges God's sovereign hand in her circumstances, and in any case, events are never outside His decree.

country of Moab. Lit. "fields of Moab." Moabites, who were related to Israel through Lot (Gen. 19:37), occupied parts of central Transjordan at various times. Although God protected them at first from the Israelite invaders (Deut. 2:9), the Moabites were subjugated by Saul (1 Sam. 14:47) and then by David (2 Sam. 8:2). See also Deut. 23:3. There were some periods of friendly relations, with considerable cultural and economic interchange, as shown by David's placement of his parents with the king of Moab while he was a fugitive (1 Sam. 22:3). Elimelech's sojourn in Moab takes place during one such period.

■ 1:2 Elimelech. Although the story might have climaxed with God's provision of an immediate heir for the deceased Elimelech, the drama emphasizes the role of the women in the family (4:14, 16) and the passing significance of Elimelech as a remote ancestor of David (4:17–22).

Naomi. Lit. "pleasant" (v. 20–21). Naomi's story is told first.

■ 1:4 women of Moab. This action was not forbidden, though Deut. 23:3–6 would prohibit the male descendants access to the temple. The irony is that an heir, and an ancestor of the great king David, would come through one of these foreigners.

■ 1:5 the woman survived. Naomi was an old, barren woman, in a foreign country, with two alien and childless daughters-in-law. She seems an unlikely prospect for any role in the Lord's covenantal history of redemption.

■ 1:6, 7 These verses set the stage for vv. 8–18. The women must decide what factors will determine their paths: finding a husband and having bread. 7 Therefore she went out from the place where she was, and her two daughters-in-law with her; and they went on the way to return to the land of Judah. 8 And Naomi said to her two daughters-in-law, [i]"Go, return each to her mother's house. [j]The LORD deal kindly with you, as you have dealt [k]with the dead and with me. 9 The LORD grant that you may find [l]rest, each in the house of her husband."

So she kissed them, and they lifted up their voices and wept. 10 And they said to her, "Surely we will return with you to your people."

11 But Naomi said, "Turn back, my daughters; why will you go with me? Are there still sons in my womb, [m]that they may be your husbands? 12 Turn back, my daughters, go—for I am too old to have a husband. If I should say I have hope, if I should have a husband tonight and should also bear sons, 13 would you wait for them till they were grown? Would you restrain yourselves from having husbands? No, my daughters; for it grieves me very much for your sakes that [n]the hand of the LORD has gone out against me!"

14 Then they lifted up their voices and wept again; and Orpah kissed her mother-in-law, but Ruth [o]clung to her.

15 And she said, "Look, your sister-in-law has gone back to [p]her people and to her gods; [q]return after your sister-in-law."

16 But Ruth said:

[r]"Entreat[5] me not to leave you,
Or to turn back from following after you;
For wherever you go, I will go;
And wherever you lodge, I will lodge;
[s]Your people shall be my people,
And your God, my God.
17 Where you die, I will die,
And there will I be buried.
[t]The LORD do so to me, and more also,
If anything but death parts you and me."

children, living in one's own country, being close to one's family, or finally, for Ruth, trusting in the Lord as sovereign God. Naomi's love for her daughters-in-law, and her reaction to bitter experiences at God's hand, dominate this scene. Ruth's decision, and her irrevocable vow of fidelity to Naomi's people and her God, says much about the impact of Naomi's character and faith on her daughter-in-law.

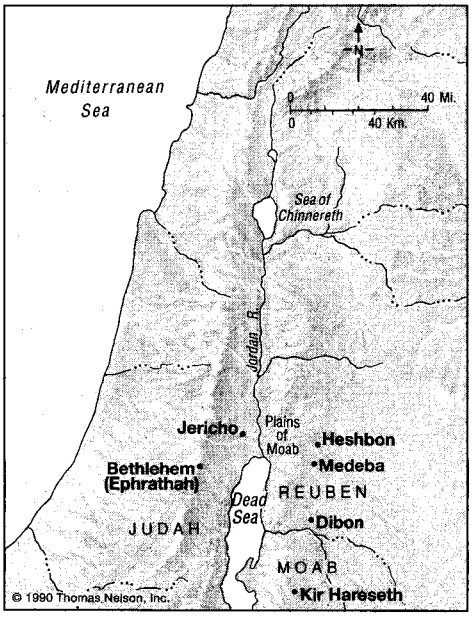
■ 1:6 the LORD had visited His people. A note of hope is sounded. Ruth's story never loses sight of God, whose faithful love determines history.

■ 1:9, 10 we will return with you. This initial declaration of both daughters heightens the dramatic tension.

■ 1:11 Are there still sons. Naomi's talk of raising up sons to replace the missing husbands only exaggerates her loss. The idea itself may refer to the law of levirate marriage. According to this law, if a man died leaving a widow his brother was obliged to marry the widow, taking his place and preserving the family lines (Deut. 25:5,6). There was also a custom that when someone died a close relative (or "kinsman") was supposed to buy (or "redeem") the deceased's estate. Just how these customs functioned in the history of Ruth and Boaz is a matter of continuing debate (2:20 note).

■ 1:15 her gods. A new element is introduced. Up to now it might have been assumed that the daughters had become worshipers of the Lord. Now it becomes clear that the choice of homeland is a choice for or against the true God. Against the background of Orpah's choice, the courage and beauty of Ruth's declaration (vv. 16–17) is all the more obvious.

From Outsider to Royal Ancestress. Elimelech, an Ephrathite from Bethlehem in Judah, took his wife Naomi and their two sons to Moab. Both sons married Moabite women, but after Elimelech and the sons had died, Naomi decided to return to Judah. Her Moabite daughter-in-law Ruth returned to Bethlehem with her. Ruth met and married Naomi's kinsman Boaz, eventually becoming the great-grandmother of David, king of Israel.



18 [u]When she saw that she [6]was determined to go with her, she stopped speaking to her.
19 Now the two of them went until they came to Bethlehem. And it happened, when they had come to Bethlehem, that [v]all the city was excited because of them; and the women said, [w]"Is this Naomi?"
20 But she said to them, "Do not call me [7]Naomi; call me [8]Mara, for the Almighty has dealt very bitterly with me. 21 I went out full, [x]and the LORD has brought me home again empty. Why do you call me Naomi, since the LORD has testified against me, and [9]the Almighty has afflicted me?"
22 So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabitess her daughter-in-law with her, who returned from the country of Moab. Now they came to Bethlehem [y]at the beginning of barley harvest.

Ruth Meets Boaz

CHAPTER 2

2 There was a [a]relative of Naomi's husband, a man of great wealth, of the family of [b]Elimelech. His name was [c]Boaz. 2 So Ruth the Moabitess said to Naomi, "Please let me go to the [d]field, and glean heads of grain after him in whose sight I may find favor."
And she said to her, "Go, my daughter."
3 Then she left, and went and gleaned in the field after the reapers. And she happened to come to the part of the field belonging to Boaz, who was of the family of Elimelech.
4 Now behold, Boaz came from [e]Bethlehem, and said to the reapers, [f]"The LORD be with you!"
And they answered him, "The LORD bless you!"
5 Then Boaz said to his servant who was in charge of the reapers, "Whose young woman is this?"
6 So the servant who was in charge of the reapers answered and said, "It is the young Moabite woman [g]who came back with Naomi from the country of Moab. 7 And she said, 'Please let me glean and gather after the reapers among the sheaves.' So she came and has continued from morning until now, though she rested a little in the house."
8 Then Boaz said to Ruth, "You will listen, my daughter, will you not? Do not go to glean in

■ 1:19–21 Naomi . . . empty. The women's question (v. 19) expresses their amazement that this woman, whose circumstances had once reflected her name ("pleasant"), should now have fallen upon such hard times. Naomi does not hesitate to say it was the Lord's doing. She does not give a reason, and the narrator does not suggest anything, about why she was suffering.

■ 1:22 Ruth the Moabitess. She is not just any Ruth. For the story it is crucial that she be remembered as the foreigner (1:4; 2:2, 6, 21; 4:5, 10; especially 2:10). Also, the reader may be prompted to think of Ruth's ancestor, Lot's daughter, and the incestuous beginnings of the Moabite nation (Gen. 19:30–38). In both cases the problem is childlessness or lack of a male heir.

barley harvest. Early calendars, like the Gezer Calendar from the tenth century B.C., associated months with the agricultural cycle. Barley was the first of the cereals to be harvested, in April; wheat was the last. In later tradition the barley and wheat harvests came to be identified with the festivals of Passover and Pentecost. The season of harvest was a time of celebration, rejoicing together before God, and remembering the poor. The narrative development is tied to this scheme. The women return home at the barley harvest, a time of God's favor and the beginning of fruitful restoration for Naomi.

■ 2:1–23 Chapter two introduces the last main character, Boaz, and the major theme, that of the close relative, or redeemer, who has certain responsibilities for the family and property of a relative who dies (2:20 note). The narrator, who already knows what is ahead, gives only a hint with the description of Boaz as "a relative" in v. 1. Only after the natural kindness of Boaz, and the natural winsomeness of Ruth, have taken their course, does Naomi reveal the key to the entire story: Boaz is "one of our close relatives" (2:20 with text note). Even then, no claims are made; there is no appeal to custom. Events must wait their time, while Naomi schemes, Ruth serves quietly, and Boaz finishes the harvest. However, God had already provided an answer through the law (Lev. 25).

■ 2:1 relative. Or "friend." The Hebrew text leaves the technical status of Boaz unclear, but the story unfolds as if he were the "redeeming relative" described in Lev. 25:25, whose responsibility relates primarily but not exclusively to the property of an impoverished relative (1:11; 2:20 and notes). Later on (e.g., 2:20; 3:9) Boaz will be identified as such a "redeeming relative," but at this point he is introduced to prepare the reader for the occurrence that places Ruth in his field.

of great wealth. The Hebrew usually means an outstanding fighter, but here it means someone powerful and important in society.

■ 2:2 let me go to the field. Ruth's initiative, on the surface, is simply to keep herself and Naomi alive, according to a custom codified in Leviticus (19:9–10; 23:22) and Deuteronomy (24:19). As poor people, Ruth and Naomi would receive some help, but much more is about to come their way. A hint of this provision is given in Ruth's plaintive request that she might glean "after him in whose sight I may find favor."

■ 2:3 she happened to come. It seems as if she came to the field of her relative by coincidence, yet God is causing the event.

■ 2:4 behold. Boaz's arrival satisfies the expectations raised in vv. 1–3.

■ 2:6, 7 The servant's answer establishes Ruth's character. She is faithful, having come while still in her youth to a foreign country for the sake of her relative. She is modest, asking permission for what might have been considered a right. She is hardworking, having been busy since morning.

■ 2:7 among the sheaves. Ruth's request seems not to go beyond what was her right as a widow (Deut. 24:19–21). But the response of Boaz will prove to go far beyond the legal requirement (v. 15).

has continued. This is usually taken to mean that she was working all morning, but it could mean that she had been waiting for her request to be granted by the owner of the field. It is more likely that it refers to work, since she interrupted the morning with a rest.

■ 2:8–12 Events unfold quickly as Boaz accedes to the request and offers his protection and provision (vv. 8–9). Ruth acknowledges his favor to her, an undeserving "foreigner" (v. 10). Only then (vv. 11–12) does the narrative give some inkling of God's providential working. Boaz has known already that Ruth is no ordinary foreigner. She has taken "refuge" under the "wings" of the Lord, and she will receive "a full reward" from Him (v. 12). Though a foreigner, Ruth's loyalty to God will become a key element in God's great plan of redemption. The plan will be worked out another field, nor go from here, but stay close by my young women. 9 Let your eyes be on the field which they reap, and go after them. Have I not commanded the young men not to touch you? And when you are thirsty, go to the vessels and drink from what the young men have drawn."

10 So she [h]fell on her face, bowed down to the ground, and said to him, "Why have I found [i]favor in your eyes, that you should take notice of me, since I am a foreigner?"

11 And Boaz answered and said to her, "It has been fully reported to me, [j]all that you have done for your mother-in-law since the death of your husband, and how you have left your father and your mother and the land of your birth, and have come to a people whom you did not know before. 12 [k]The LORD repay your work, and a full reward be given you by the LORD God of Israel, [l]under whose wings you have come for refuge."

13 Then she said, [m]"Let me find favor in your sight, my lord; for you have comforted me, and have spoken [l]kindly to your maidservant, [n]though I am not like one of your maidservants."

14 Now Boaz said to her at mealtime. "Come here, and eat of the bread, and dip your piece of bread in the vinegar." So she sat beside the reapers, and he passed parched grain to her; and she ate and [o]was satisfied, and kept some back. 15 And when she rose up to [2]glean, Boaz commanded his young men, saying, "Let her glean even among the sheaves, and do not [3]reproach her. 16 Also let grain from the bundles fall purposely for her; leave it that she may glean, and do not rebuke her."

17 So she gleaned in the field until evening, and beat out what she had gleaned, and it was about an ephah of [p]barley. 18 Then she took it up and went into the city, and her mother-in-law saw what she had gleaned. So she brought out and gave to her [q]what she had kept back after she had been satisfied.

19 And her mother-in-law said to her, "Where have you gleaned today? And where did you work? Blessed be the one who [r]took notice of you."

So she told her mother-in-law with whom she had worked, and said, "The man's name with whom I worked today is Boaz."

20 Then Naomi said to her daughter-in-law, [s]"Blessed be he of the LORD, who [t]has not forsaken His kindness to the living and the dead!" And Naomi said to her, "This man is a relation of ours, [u]one of [4]our close relatives."

21 Ruth the Moabitess said, "He also said to me, 'You shall stay close by my young men until they have finished all my harvest.' "

22 And Naomi said to Ruth her daughter-in-law, "It is good, my daughter, that you go out with his young women, and that people do not [5]meet you in any other field." 23 So she stayed close by the young women of Boaz, to glean until the end of barley harvest and wheat harvest; and she dwelt with her mother-in-law.

through David, the covenant king, and through Christ, David's greater Son. The reward of Ruth's faith far transcends local time and circumstances.

■ 2:14–16 Boaz's permission is clearly extraordinary.

■ 2:14 vinegar. This was a sour but refreshing drink or dip (cf. Num. 6:3).

■ 2:17 beat out . . . about an ephah. Beating out the grain, or threshing it, separated the kernels from the husks, chaff, and stalks. An ephah was about half a bushel, a large amount to have gleaned.

■ 2:18 what she had kept back. This would be what she had set aside from her noon meal (v. 14).

■ 2:20 who has not forsaken His kindness. God's love is faithful, and He will not forget the ones He loves. The blessings He promised will pass from Boaz to Ruth to Naomi, and eventually to all the elect.

one of our close relatives. See text note, and Introduction: Interpretive Difficulties. The law of redemption now comes into view. According to this law, the nearest male blood relative had the duty of preserving the family name and property. This duty could entail (a) avenging the death of a family member (Num. 35:19–21); (b) buying back family property that had been sold to pay debts (Lev. 25:25); (c) buying back a relative who had sold himself into slavery to pay debts (Lev. 25:47–49); and (d) marrying the widow of a deceased relative (Deut. 25:5–10). Apparently these duties could be renounced or declined under certain circumstances (cf. Ruth 3:12; 4:1–8). Boaz was such a "redeeming relative" (or "kinsman-redeemer") to Ruth, and this fact now determines the course of action (see 1:11; 2:1 and notes). Ruth's destiny will proceed according to law, unlike her ancestor, Lot's daughter, who committed incest (Gen. 19:30–38).

■ 2:23 until the end of . . . harvest. The two-month delay prepares for the threshing-floor incident (ch. 3).

■ 3:1–18 Now the narrative moves toward resolution. In a midnight visit, Ruth carries out and expands Naomi's plan, putting her own reputation and all her expectations at risk. She claims the protection of Boaz as a "close relative" (v. 9, text note). Her trust in his character is vindicated, and she is unharmed. God's activity behind the scenes continues without a break. But even at this moment, the engagement must be delayed; there is a closer relative (3:12), and Boaz, a man of outstanding honor, will not rest until this obstacle is removed.

not our relative? In fact, he is winnowing barley tonight at the threshing floor. 3 Therefore wash yourself and [d]anoint yourself, put on your best garment and go down to the threshing floor; but do not make yourself known to the man until he has finished eating and drinking. 4 Then it shall be, when he lies down, that you shall notice the place where he lies; and you shall go in, uncover his feet, and lie down; and he will tell you what you should do."

5 And she said to her, "All that you say to me I will do."

6 So she went down to the threshing floor and did according to all that her mother-in-law instructed her. 7 And after Boaz had eaten and drunk, and [e]his heart was cheerful, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of grain; and she came softly, uncovered his feet, and lay down.

8 Now it happened at midnight that the man was startled, and turned himself; and there, a woman was lying at his feet. 9 And he said, "Who are you?"

So she answered, "I am Ruth, your maidservant. [f]Take[2] your maidservant under your wing, for you are [g]a [3]close relative."

10 Then he said, [h]"Blessed are you of the LORD, my daughter! For you have shown more kindness at the end than [i]at the beginning, in that you did not go after young men, whether poor or rich. 11 And now, my daughter, do not fear. I will do for you all that you request, for all the people of my town know that you are [j]a virtuous woman. 12 Now it is true that I am a [k]close relative; however, [l]there is a relative closer than I. 13 Stay this night, and in the morning it shall be that if he will [m]perform the duty of a close relative for you—good; let him do it. But if he does not want to perform the duty for you, then I will perform the duty for you, [n]as the LORD lives! Lie down until morning."

14 So she lay at his feet until morning, and she arose before one could recognize another. Then he said, [o]"Do not let it be known that the woman came to the threshing floor." 15 Also he said, "Bring the [4]shawl that is on you and hold it." And when she held it, he measured six ephahs of barley, and laid it on her. Then [5]she went into the city.

16 When she came to her mother-in-law, she said, [6]"Is that you, my daughter?"

Then she told her all that the man had done for her. 17 And she said, "These six ephahs of barley he gave me; for he said to me, 'Do not go empty-handed to your mother-in-law.' "

18 Then she said, [p]"Sit still, my daughter, until you know how the matter will turn out; for the man will not rest until he has concluded the matter this day."

security for you. Lit. "rest." This means that Ruth should be married, a need that Naomi had taken to heart (1:9).

■ 3:3, 4 The instructions, presented to Ruth so precisely, have strong overtones of intrigue.

the threshing floor. This was a cleared area where grain was crushed or torn to separate the chaff, straw, and grains. The harvest was then winnowed, or thrown into the air for the wind to blow away the chaff and let the grains fall directly to the ground. All this took place in the spring at the time of the harvest festivals. The prophet Hosea refers to the threshing floor as a common site of sexual immorality (Hos. 9:1).

■ 3:4 uncover his feet. A comparison of this scene with the history of Lot's daughters (Gen. 19:30–38) is instructive. At Naomi's suggestion, Ruth was approaching Boaz with some boldness. But her purpose was to become engaged. Her answer (v. 9) shows that she was not thinking of becoming pregnant outside wedlock.

lie down. Ruth lies patiently at Boaz's feet until he wakes (vv. 8–9); nothing unseemly happens between them during the night (v. 11).

■ 3:7 cheerful. Boaz had been drinking, but was hardly drunk. After all the work and festivity of the day, Boaz went to "the far end of the heap of grain," a place where Ruth was able to meet him privately. God's providence was clearing a path for her.

■ 3:9 Take your maidservant under your wings. See text note. Ezek. 16:8 explains the idiom. Ruth asks directly for the favor of marriage, although Naomi's instructions were not quite so bold (v. 4).

close relative. See text note. The law does not specify marriage as the responsibility of such a person, though an extension of Lev. 25 can readily be envisioned. Mahlon's name and property will be preserved (4:10), suggesting the levirate marriage, but it is difficult to see how Deut. 25:5–6 could be strictly applied. See Introduction: Interpretive Difficulties and note on 2:20. Again, Ruth goes far beyond Naomi's specified plan.

■ 3:10 more kindness. Lit. "covenant love." Throughout the book, God's own covenant love (1:8; 2:20) is mirrored by that of Ruth (1:8, 16–17). Now her faithfulness is proved as (a) she invokes the duties of a close relative, and (b) she has declined to follow any of the young men. The "kindness" Boaz refers to is evidently Ruth's proposal to follow the custom that would provide an heir for Naomi.

at the beginning. That is, when she chose to accompany Naomi.

■ 3:11 a virtuous woman. This is the feminine equivalent of the Hebrew phrase translated "man of great wealth" in 2:1. Ruth has risen from being a Moabite and servant to becoming attractive to Boaz as a possible marriage partner.

■ 3:12 relative closer than I. Boaz suddenly mentions a complicating factor. If Naomi was thinking of a relative, why was this closer relative not introduced earlier? The custom of redemption seems to be leading to a solution, but now it creates a problem along the way. The engagement must be postponed.

■ 3:15 six ephahs of barley. This gift of barley shows Boaz's magnanimity toward Ruth (v. 17), and is a symbol of Naomi's changed estate (1:21). Ruth receives grain from Boaz as an emblem of her future fruitfulness.

■ 3:16 Is that you. The same Hebrew words are translated "Who are you?" in v. 9. Here the question seems to mean "How did it go with you?"

■ 3:18 Sit still. This is an ironic touch, for the time to wait will be very short. Naomi does not expect a conclusion to be long in coming.

Boaz Redeems Ruth

4 Now Boaz went up to the gate and sat down there; and behold, [a]the close relative of whom Boaz had spoken came by. So Boaz said, "Come aside, [1]friend, sit down here." So he came aside and sat down. 2 And he took ten men of [b]the elders of the city, and said, "Sit down here." So they sat down. 3 Then he said to the close relative, "Naomi, who has come back from the country of Moab, sold the piece of land [c]which belonged to our brother Elimelech. 4 And I thought to [2]inform you, saying, [d]'Buy it back [e]in the presence of the inhabitants and the elders of my people. If you will redeem it, redeem it; but if [3]you will not redeem it, then tell me, that I may know; [f]for there is no one but you to redeem it, and I am next after you.' "

And he said, "I will redeem it."

5 Then Boaz said, "On the day you buy the field from the hand of Naomi, you must also buy it from Ruth the Moabitess, the wife of the dead, [g]to [4]perpetuate the name of the dead through his inheritance."

6 [h]And the close relative said, "I cannot redeem it for myself, lest I ruin my own inheritance. You redeem my right of redemption for yourself, for I cannot redeem it."

7 [i]Now this was the custom in former times in Israel concerning redeeming and exchanging, to confirm anything: one man took off his sandal and gave it to the other, and this was a confirmation in Israel.

8 Therefore the close relative said to Boaz, "Buy it for yourself." So he took off his sandal. 9 And Boaz said to the elders and all the people, "You are witnesses this day that I have bought all that was Elimelech's, and all that was Chilion's and Mahlon's, from the hand of Naomi. 10 Moreover, Ruth the Moabitess, the widow of Mahlon, I have acquired as my wife, to perpetuate the name of the dead through his inheritance, [j]that the name of the dead may not be cut off from among his brethren and from [5]his position at the gate. You are witnesses this day."

11 And all the people who were at the gate, and the elders, said, "We are witnesses. [k]The LORD make the woman who is coming to your house like Rachel and Leah, the two who [l]built the house of Israel; and may you prosper in [m]Ephrathah and be famous in [n]Bethlehem. 12 May your house be like the house of [o]Perez, [p]whom Tamar bore to Judah, because of [q]the offspring which the LORD will give you from this young woman."

Descendants of Boaz and Ruth

13 So Boaz [r]took Ruth and she became his wife; and when he went in to her, [s]the LORD gave her conception, and she bore a son. 14 Then [t]the women said to Naomi, "Blessed be the LORD, who has not left you this day without a [6]close relative; and may his name be famous in Israel! 15 And may he be to you a restorer of life and a [7]nourisher of your old age; for your daughter-in-law, who loves you, who is [u]better to you than seven sons, has borne him." 16 Then Naomi took

■ 4:1–17 The fourth chapter brings out the divine purpose behind Ruth's original decision to follow Naomi and Naomi's God. The necessary arrangements seem to turn on a combination of levirate marriage (Deut. 25:5–10) and the laws for a redeeming relative (Lev. 25). Ruth is taken as a wife, and ancient blessings for fruitfulness are invoked. Naomi's bitterness turns to joy, and her grandson is to become the grandfather of King David. In these events the Lord's hidden providence is revealed.

■ 4:1 the gate. The entranceway to a city was a usual site of legal and commercial transactions.

friend. Boaz must have known the man's name. The narrator quotes Boaz with an indefinite phrase, something like the English expression "so and so." Perhaps he did not want to memorialize a selfish person in his story.

■ 4:2 took ten men. There is no recorded legal requirement for a particular number of men. The later Jewish tradition by which ten men make up a quorum for worship may derive from this incident. In a rural culture, where the use of writing is limited, it is important for a contract to be made with a number of official witnesses.

■ 4:3 sold the piece of land. This sale is a surprising new element, no hint of which has been given up to now. Details about the sale are not necessary for the story and are omitted.

■ 4:5 you must also buy it from Ruth. This association of Ruth and Naomi under the laws about the property and family of a deceased relative is an unusual application of the laws. But an understanding of these details is not essential to the purpose of the narrative.

■ 4:7 took off his sandal. Little is known about the symbolism of this custom. Its point clearly was to confirm the transaction legally. See Deut. 25:9–10 (a different setting) and Amos 8:6.

■ 4:10 to perpetuate the name of the dead. The disappearance of one's name was considered to be an extreme misfortune (1 Sam. 24:21; 2 Sam. 14:7).

■ 4:11 like Rachel and Leah. These are the two wives of Jacob (Israel), who were the mothers, either naturally or through their maids Zilpah and Bilhah, of all the sons of Israel, the heads of the twelve tribes.

Ephrathah . . . Bethlehem. As in 1:1–2, these place names, associated with David, are given special prominence.

■ 4:12 be like . . . Perez. In a much earlier time, Judah had become the father of Perez because Onan refused to carry out his obligation as a close relative (Gen. 38:29). Perez became a symbol of the fruitful offspring. Now in the same way Boaz becomes the father of Obed (v. 21) because another person refused to carry out the levirate obligation. Despite human failures, the messianic line was preserved (Matt. 1:3,5,16).

■ 4:14–17 The women's praises celebrate the fulfillment of God's covenant love to Naomi. Her daughter-in-law Ruth is more to her than seven sons would be (v. 15). Moreover, Naomi in effect has a son in her grandson Obed (v. 17). He will become the grandfather of David.

■ 4:16 Naomi took the child. Possibly this means that there was a formal adoption procedure. Whatever the case, this closing scene is the happy ending of what is truly "Naomi's Story." The sorrowful widow who the child and laid him on her bosom, and became a nurse to him. 17 [v]Also the neighbor women gave him a name, saying, "There is a son born to Naomi." And they called his name Obed. He is the father of Jesse, the father of David.

18 [w]Now this is the genealogy of Perez: [x]Perez begot Hezron; 19 Hezron begot Ram, and Ram begot Amminadab; 20 Amminadab begot [y]Nahshon, and Nahshon begot [z]Salmon;[s] 21 Salmon begot Boaz, and Boaz begot Obed; 22 Obed begot Jesse, and Jesse begot [a]David.

thought she had returned empty (1:21) has been filled beyond expectation (Ps. 126:5,6).

■ 4:18–22 The closing genealogy (Introduction: Characteristics and Themes) shifts the focus from Naomi back to Boaz, and fulfills a larger purpose of the narrative. The genealogy begins with Perez, someone who could "break through" (Gen. 38:29, text note), and whom the women in their blessing remembered as the vigorous son of Tamar (v. 12). Like Ruth, Tamar became an ancestor of David in an unexpected way. For New Testament readers, David is not the end of God's provisions for the people of His choice, His covenant bride. But for her own time, Ruth's journey had reached its divinely appointed goal.

SAMUEL

Author The books of Samuel do not directly name their author, and it seems likely that the association of Samuel's name with these books reflects the role he played in anointing Israel's first kings. Samuel is described as an old man in 8:1 and as having already died in 25:1, long before many of the events of 1 and 2 Samuel had even taken place. However, 1 Chr. 29:29 attaches the names of Samuel and his prophetic successors Nathan and Gad to certain written sources, portions of which may have been incorporated into the written history of Israel as it took shape. The books of Samuel were probably given their final form by someone deeply influenced by the theology of the Book of Deuteronomy ("Introduction to the Historical Books").

Date and Occasion As with authorship, the books of Samuel give no clear indication of the date they were written. Joshua, Judges, Samuel, and Kings all clearly contain information from sources contemporary with the events narrated in them, but their final form was not set until the time of Judah's exile in Babylon (see "Introduction to the Historical Books").

In the latter half of the eleventh century B.C., a time when the international powers of the ancient Near East were preoccupied with internal conflicts, Israel was transformed from a loosely knit tribal confederation into a united monarchy. The institution of the monarchy was a new stage in the political and religious history of Israel, although the idea of kingship itself would have been known to Israel from the practice of its neighbors (Judg. 3:12; 4:2; 8:5). What is remarkable is not that Israel eventually installed a king, but that it resisted doing so for so long. One cause of Israel's reluctance is revealed in the words of Gideon, "I will not rule over you, nor shall my son rule over you; the LORD shall rule over you" (Judg. 8:23). A fundamental tenet of Israel's faith was that the Lord Himself (Yahweh) was Israel's Sovereign, their Great King (8:7; 12:12; Num. 23:21; Ps. 5:2; Mal. 1:14). Nevertheless, the opening books of the Bible contain indications that Israel, in accordance with the divine will, would one day have a human monarch (Gen. 49:10; Num. 24:7, 17–19; cf. Gen. 17:6, 16; 35:11). Moses anticipated a time when Israel would be settled in the Promised Land and would desire a king, and he gave instructions to regulate kingship when it came (Deut. 17:14–20; cf. 28:36). As 1 Samuel opens, that time has almost arrived.

It is difficult to attach firm dates to most of the events recounted in Samuel. Although definite figures are given for the duration of David's reign over Judah and Israel (2 Sam. 5:4, 5), there is no clear indication of how long Saul reigned (13:1 note). The specific years of David's and Saul's reigns have to be established by working back from the dates of events recorded in Kings, which have their own chronological difficulties (see Introduction to 1 Kings). There is broad consensus that David had consolidated his rule over both Judah and Israel shortly before 1000 B.C. (Judah, c. 1010 B.C.; Israel, c. 1003 B.C.). David's lifetime can be dated about 1040 to 970 B.C. Samuel could have been born about 1100 B.C.

Characteristics and Themes

The books of 1 and 2 Samuel are masterpieces of literature. Their basic purpose is to give a historical account of the emergence and early development of the Israelite monarchy under Saul and David. The history is selective, and the nature of the selections reveals the theological concerns of the books. Kingship in Israel came into being through the mediation of a prophet, and the written history of this change has a prophetic point of view.

The narratives of 1 and 2 Samuel are written in an economical style, using a variety of narrative techniques: keywords (2:29 note); comparative characterizations (Saul and Jonathan, David and Uriah; see 13:22 note, 14:6 note, and 2 Sam. 11); repetition and variation (Saul's two confessions in 15:24, 25, 30); and analogy (Nabal compared with Saul, ch. 25). Sensitivity to such literary features can open the door to theological and historical understanding, and to a sense of the unity of the text.

The basic plot of 1 Samuel is Saul's rise to power and subsequent rejection. As noted above, the books of Samuel focus on an important innovation in Israel's religious and political life—having an earthly king. The subject of 1 Samuel is largely the intersecting careers of three figures: Samuel, Saul, and David. The key issue is how a human king can be accommodated in the framework of the covenant relationship existing between God and Israel. How can Israel have a king without compromising God's kingship?

In the Hebrew Bible, 1 Samuel follows the Book of Judges, which ends with the doleful refrain, "In those days there was no king in Israel; everyone did what was right in his own eyes" (21:25; cf. 17:6; 18:1; 19:1). This refrain can also describe the first chapters of 1 Samuel. As the book opens, Israel is without a human king, and the Israelites are unconcerned with honoring their divine King. Even the priests, the sons of Eli, simply do what is right in their own eyes (2:12–17).

The first unit relates the birth of Samuel and his call to be a prophet (chs. 1—3). In a famous song, Hannah praises God for the birth of Samuel (2:1–10). Her song introduces basic theological themes of the books—the sovereignty and holiness of God, divine reversal of human fortune, divine deliverance, and the futility of trusting human strength. Kingship is anticipated in a reference to the Lord's "anointed," "His king" (2:10). The story of the downfall of the priestly house of Eli introduces the theme of divine rejection and its causes.

The section 4:1—7:1 is often called "the ark narrative." In these chapters the Lord demonstrates His power, first against Israel's attempt to exploit the ark as if it were a magical talisman, and second in a devastating march through the Philistine cities. In 7:2–17 God's power to deliver Israel and defeat Israel's enemies is displayed through God's man, Samuel. Against this backdrop, the sinfulness of the people's demand for a human ruler (ch. 8) is clearly seen. It is not that Israel is never to have a human monarch, for a king has long been anticipated. What is objectionable is for the people to want a king "like all the nations" (8:5), because this desire is a rejection of the greatest King, God Himself (8:7). In spite of the folly of the people's request, God will grant it, provided the people are warned about the potential abuses of monarchy, and provided the king himself is willing to submit to God's rule.

Israel's first king proves to be a disappointment. Saul is introduced in 9:2 as an impressive person of striking proportion, presumably what the people wanted. The prophet Samuel told Saul that he would rule Israel, and then anointed him in the Lord's name (9:26—10:1). Soon afterward the Spirit of God overcame Saul and he prophesied with a company of prophets. He gathered a force from all Israel and led them to victory over the Ammonites. He was approved by the people, and Samuel publicly anointed him king (10:24; 11:14, 15). Clearly the kingship in Israel is conceived of as requiring the special direction of God.

On two important occasions Saul fell short of what God required. When he was instructed to wait for Samuel, Saul's patience expired and he offered a sacrifice that Samuel should have performed (13:8–14). Secondly, when God issued a commandment to destroy the Amalekites, Saul followed only half-way (ch. 15). He preserved the life of the king and many of the animals. Samuel denounced him sternly and took sword in hand himself to cut down the king. At this time Samuel prophesied that Saul had been rejected and that God had given the kingdom to someone else (15:28). God's favor was removed from Saul (28:17).

The fall of Saul's dynasty is coincident with the rise of David. David, like Saul, was chosen by God to be king. But in his case God's choice was somehow deeper. David was not without faults, but ultimately God promised him that He would not reject him on that account (2 Sam. 7:8–16). He would punish him, but He would preserve him. David married Saul's daughter Michal and became the intimate friend of his son Jonathan, yet even as he did so Saul's jealousy and suspicion fell on him. Saul became deranged and tried to kill both David and Jonathan (18:11; 19:1; 20:33). David was forced to flee from the court and become a fugitive in his own country.

At the last Saul's original calling to deliver his people from the Philistines was reawakened in him, and he fought a disastrous battle at Gilboa. Unwilling to be captured, King Saul committed suicide, opening David's path to the throne.

In many ways David's career typifies that of his greater Son, Jesus Christ. Both were sanctioned by a prophet, David by Samuel (3:20; 16:13) and Jesus by John the Baptist (Matt. 14:5; John 1:29–31; 5:31–35). The Spirit of the Lord came upon both (16:13; Mark 1:9–11). Both were rejected by jealous kings (18:9; Matt. 2:16) and were warned to flee for their lives (ch. 20; Matt. 2:13–15). Rejected also by their own people without cause (23:12; John 19:15), both learned in exile to depend on God.

Title The books of Samuel have had various titles. The Septuagint (the Greek translation of the Old Testament) and the Vulgate (a Latin translation of the whole Bible) group them with 1 and 2 Kings as First, Second, Third, and Fourth "Kingdoms" or "Kings." Jewish tradition distinguished Samuel and Kings, but did not divide Samuel into two books until the fifteenth century A.D. □

    5. Saul, Wounded on Mount Gilboa, Takes His Own Life (ch. 31)

The Family of Elkanah

NOW there was a certain man of Ramathaim Zophim, of the [a]mountains of Ephraim, and his name was [b]Elkanah the son of Jeroham, the son of [1]Elihu, the son of [2]Tohu, the son of Zuph, [c]an Ephraimite. 2 And he had [d]two wives: the name of one was Hannah, and the name of the other Peninnah. Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children. 3 This man went up from his city [e]yearly [f]to worship and sacrifice to the LORD of hosts in [g]Shiloh. Also the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, the priests of the LORD, were there. 4 And whenever the time came for Elkanah to make an [h]offering, he would give portions to Peninnah his wife and to all her sons and daughters. 5 But to Hannah he would give a double portion, for he loved Hannah, [i]although the LORD had closed her womb. 6 And her rival also [j]provoked her severely, to make her miserable, because the LORD had closed her womb. 7 So it was, year by year, when she went up to the house of the LORD, that she provoked her; therefore she wept and did not eat.

Hannah's Vow

8 Then Elkanah her husband said to her, "Hannah, why do you weep? Why do you not eat? And why is your heart grieved? Am I not [k]better to you than ten sons?"

9 So Hannah arose after they had finished eating and drinking in Shiloh. Now Eli the priest was sitting on the seat by the doorpost of [l]the [3]tabernacle of the LORD. 10 [m]And she was in bitterness of soul, and prayed to the LORD and [4]wept in anguish. 11 Then she [n]made a vow and said, "O LORD of hosts, if You will indeed [o]look on the affliction of Your maidservant and [p]remember me, and not forget Your maidservant, but will give Your maidservant a male child, then I will give him to the LORD all the days of his life, and [q]no razor shall come upon his head."

12 And it happened, as she continued praying before the LORD, that Eli watched her mouth. 13 Now Hannah spoke in her heart; only her lips moved, but her voice was not heard. Therefore

■ 1:1—7:17 God rules and delivers His people before the time of the monarchy. He does so by raising up Samuel (chs. 1—3), intervening directly against the Philistines (4:1—7:1), and giving Samuel victory over the Philistines (7:2–17).

■ 1:1 a certain man. This expression and the accompanying genealogy suggest that Elkanah was a man of standing. The reference to a barren wife (v. 2) resembles the introduction to the birth of Samson (Judg. 13:2).

Ramathaim. Possibly meaning "twin heights," the name occurs only here in the Old Testament. It may be the same as the New Testament Arimathea (northwest of Bethel). Samuel's hometown is usually called Ramah, about five miles north of Jerusalem (1:19; 2:11; 7:17; 8:4; 15:34; 19:18; 25:1).

of Zuph. "Zuph" is both a personal name (1 Chr. 6:35) and a territory (9:5).

Ephraimite. Ephraim was the place he was from, not necessarily the tribe of his ancestry (1 Chr. 6:16–30, 33–37).

■ 1:2 two wives. Polygamy is first mentioned in Gen. 4:19. It is recognized and regulated, though not endorsed, in Deut. 21:15–17.

no children. Hannah was childless and was provoked by her prolific rival (vv. 6, 7). A barren though favored wife who receives a special offspring from Yahweh is not uncommon in the Old Testament. See Gen. 18:1–15 (Sarah-Isaac); 25:21–26 (Rebekah-Esau and Jacob); 30:22–24 (Rachel-Joseph); Judg. 13:2–5 (Manoah's wife-Samson). In the New Testament see Luke 1:5–25 (Elizabeth-John).

■ 1:3 This man went up. Perhaps he was observing "the annual festival of the LORD in Shiloh" (Judg. 21:19), or perhaps he went for a family ceremony (20:6). In the Pentateuch (the five books of Moses, or Torah) reference is made to three annual pilgrim-festivals (Ex. 23:14–17; 34:18–23; Deut. 16:1–17).

LORD of hosts. This title occurs here for the first time in the Old Testament. "LORD" represents "Yahweh" in Hebrew, the personal name of the God of Israel, as distinct from the general designation "God." "Hosts" or "armies" is the traditional translation of the other word. Depending on the context, it could include the hosts of Israel (17:45), the cosmic hosts or celestial bodies (Deut. 4:19), and the angelic hosts (Josh. 5:14). As a whole the title expresses the Lord's sovereignty over all earthly and heavenly powers.

Shiloh. Halfway between Shechem and Bethel, Shiloh (modern Seilun) was an important Israelite religious center in the period before the monarchy (Josh. 18:1; Judg. 21:19). At least the sanctuary there (Jer. 7:12) may have been destroyed by the Philistines after the battle of Aphek (4:1–11).

Eli. As with some other well-known people in the Old Testament (Joshua, Ex. 17:9; and Jonathan, 1 Sam. 13:2), Eli is first introduced by name only.

■ 1:5 double portion. The Hebrew is difficult but has usually been interpreted as an especially honorable portion. Elkanah's attempts to lessen Hannah's sorrow by expressing his love for her (v. 8) were ineffective.

the LORD had closed her womb. Hannah's barrenness came not by chance nor as a form of punishment (2 Sam. 6:23), but was under the Lord's sovereign control.

■ 1:6 her rival. See note on 1:2.

■ 1:7 did not eat. Hannah refused to eat until the Lord answered her prayer; compare David's actions in 2 Sam. 12:16–20, and contrast Saul's in 1 Sam. 28:23–25. In the New Testament, fasting often accompanies serious dealings with the Lord (Acts 13:2–3; 14:23).

■ 1:9 tabernacle. The mention of "doorposts" here and "doors" in 3:15, as well as sleeping quarters in 3:2, 3, may suggest a more permanent structure than the tent of Moses' time. Other designations for the structure in Samuel are "the house of the LORD" (v. 7; 3:15) and "the tabernacle of meeting" (2:22). From 2 Sam. 7:6 it is clear that before the time of David the tabernacle or temple was a tent and not a permanent structure.

■ 1:11 vow. On the making of vows by married women, and the husbands' responsibility to confirm or nullify, see Num. 30:6–15.

remember me. Hannah asks not simply for the Lord to keep her in mind but for Him to do something special to help her.

no razor. Hannah's vow reflects elements of the Nazirite vow (Num. 6:1–21). Specifically, these are: abstaining from grapes or anything made from grapes, not cutting the hair, and avoiding all contact with anything dead. While such vows were generally made for a limited period of time, Hannah's was for "all the days" of her son's life (see Judg. 13:5 note).

■ 1:13 drunk. Eli's conclusion that Hannah was drunk is an unsettling element in the narrative because it suggests that he was unfamiliar with fervency in prayer.

Eli thought she was drunk. 14 So Eli said to her, "How long will you be drunk? Put your wine away from you!"

15 But Hannah answered and said, "No, my lord, I am a woman of sorrowful spirit. I have drunk neither wine nor intoxicating drink, but have [r]poured out my soul before the LORD. 16 Do not consider your maidservant a [s]wicked[5] woman, for out of the abundance of my complaint and grief I have spoken until now."

17 Then Eli answered and said, [t]"Go in peace, and [u]the God of Israel grant your petition which you have asked of Him."

18 And she said, [v]"Let your maidservant find favor in your sight." So the woman [w]went her way and ate, and her face was no longer sad.

Samuel Is Born and Dedicated

19 Then they rose early in the morning and worshiped before the LORD, and returned and came to their house at Ramah. And Elkanah [x]knew Hannah his wife, and the LORD [y]remembered her. 20 So it came to pass in the process of time that Hannah conceived and bore a son, and called his name [6]Samuel, saying, "Because I have asked for him from the LORD."

21 Now the man Elkanah and all his house [z]went up to offer to the LORD the yearly sacrifice and his vow. 22 But Hannah did not go up, for she said to her husband, "Not until the child is weaned; then I will [a]take him. that he may appear before the LORD and [b]remain there [c]forever."

23 So [d]Elkanah her husband said to her, "Do what seems best to you; wait until you have weaned him. Only let the LORD [7]establish [8]His word." Then the woman stayed and nursed her son until she had weaned him.

24 Now when she had weaned him, she [e]took him up with her, with [9]three bulls, one ephah of flour, and a skin of wine, and brought him to [f]the house of the LORD in Shiloh. And the child was young. 25 Then they slaughtered a bull, and [g]brought the child to Eli. 26 And she said, "O my lord! [h]As your soul lives, my lord, I am the woman who stood by you here, praying to the LORD. 27 [i]For this child I prayed, and the LORD has granted me my petition which I asked of Him. 28 Therefore I also have lent him to the LORD; as long as he lives he shall be [j]lent to the LORD." So they [j]worshiped the LORD there.

2 And Hannah [a]prayed and said:

1 [a]Phil. 4:6 [b]Luke 1:46–55 [c]Ps. 75:10; 89:17, 24; 92:10; 112:9 [d]Ps. 9:14; 13:5; 35:9 [1]Strength [2]Lit. My mouth is enlarged

■ 1:16 wicked. See text note and 2:12.

■ 1:18 her face was no longer sad. Hannah's actions in response to the benediction of v. 17 give evidence of her belief.

■ 1:20 Samuel. Various meanings of the name "Samuel" have been suggested, including "heard by God" (text note), "he who is from God," "name of God," and even "son of God" (as one "given" or "promised" by God). "Saul" is from the Hebrew verb "to ask," which occurs often in this section.

■ 1:21 vow. See Lev. 7:16 and note.

■ 1:22 weaned. In the ancient Near East a child was weaned later than is often customary today (2 Macc. 7:27; "I carried you nine months in my womb, and nursed you for three years"). Weaning may also have been celebrated with a feast (Gen. 21:8).

■ 1:23 His word. "Your word" (text note) is probably to be preferred here. Elkanah, as Hannah's husband (1:11 note), invokes the Lord's assistance in Hannah's fulfillment of her vow.

■ 1:24 three bulls . . . skin of wine. According to Num. 15:8–10, the fulfillment of a vow was to be accompanied by an offering of a young bull, fine flour, and wine. Hannah brings all three, but in larger measure than required.

■ 2:1–10 Her prayer for a son having been answered, Hannah offers a jubilant song of thanksgiving. Focusing on the Lord's sovereignty and grace to the humble, Hannah anticipates the major themes of the books of Samuel. The same themes of sovereignty, grace, and deliverance are reiterated in David's song of thanksgiving near the end of 2 Samuel (ch. 22). The two songs provide a poetic frame for 1 and 2 Samuel. Mary's briefer song of praise (the Magnificat, Luke 1:46–55) seems to have been modeled on Hannah's. Both songs open with rejoicing in the Lord's deliverance (v. 1; Luke 1:46–48), extol the Lord's uniqueness and holiness (v. 2; Luke 1:49, 50), condemn proud boasting (v. 3; Luke 1:51), point to reversals of human fortune as the result of interventions by the sovereign Lord (vv. 4–8; Luke 1:52, 53), and express the Lord's faithful care for His own (v. 9; Luke 1:54, 55). Hannah's song concludes with the assertion that the Lord Himself will give strength to His king, His anointed (vv. 9–10).

■ 2:1 horn. The word "horn" is used figuratively in the Old Testament to signify pride and strength. It is God who exalts the horns of the righteous but cuts off the horns of the wicked (Ps. 75:10). David extols the Lord as "my shield and the horn of my salvation" (v. 10 note; 2 Sam. 22:3).

2 "No[e] one is holy like the LORD,
For there is [f]none besides You,
Nor is there any [g]rock like our God.

3 "Talk no more so very proudly;
[h]Let no arrogance come from your mouth,
For the LORD is the God of [i]knowledge;
And by Him actions are weighed.

4 "The[j] bows of the mighty men are broken,
And those who stumbled are girded with strength.
5 Those who were full have hired themselves out for bread,
And the hungry have ceased to hunger.
Even [k]the barren has borne seven,
And [l]she who has many children has become feeble.

6 "The[m] LORD kills and makes alive;
He brings down to the grave and brings up.
7 The LORD [n]makes poor and makes rich;
[o]He brings low and lifts up.
8 [p]He raises the poor from the dust
And lifts the beggar from the ash heap,
[q]To set them among princes
And make them inherit the throne of glory.

[r]"For the pillars of the earth are the LORD's,
And He has set the world upon them.
9 [s]He will guard the feet of His saints,
But the [t]wicked shall be silent in darkness.

"For by strength no man shall prevail.
10 The adversaries of the LORD shall be [u]broken in pieces;
[v]From heaven He will thunder against them.
[w]The LORD will judge the ends of the earth.

[x]"He will give [y]strength to His king,
And [z]exalt the [3]horn of His anointed."

11 Then Elkanah went to his house at Ramah. But the child [4]ministered to the LORD before Eli the priest.

■ 2:2 rock. As a metaphor for God, this term is concentrated in poetic passages such as the song of Moses in Deut. 32; the song of David in 2 Sam. 22; Psalms; and Isaiah. The metaphor suggests God's strength and sovereignty, and the security of those who trust in Him. Here the focus is on the uniqueness of the one true God as opposed to false sources of security (compare the contrast with false gods, also called "rock," in Deut. 32:31, 37; Is. 44:8).

■ 2:5 has borne seven. The number seven represented ideal completeness (Ruth 4:15).

■ 2:9 For by strength no man shall prevail. The subsequent narratives confirm that it is not physical prowess but God's presence that brings success. In the ark narrative of chs. 4—6, the Lord makes His hand felt by the Philistines without the assistance of human agents (5:6). Other such examples are the Lord's victory through Samuel in ch. 7; the contrasting successes of Saul and Jonathan in chs. 13 and 14; the choice of David, the youngest of Jesse's sons, in ch. 16; and David's victory over Goliath in ch. 17.

■ 2:10 His king. The reference to the Lord's king here points forward to the central event of the books of Samuel, namely, the institution of a monarchy, and implies that the idea of kingship, properly conceived, is not wrong. That Israel would have a king is anticipated in various places in the Pentateuch (Gen. 49:10; Num. 24:7, 17–19; Deut. 17:14–20).

His anointed. Numerous objects and persons were subject to religious anointing in ancient Israel (Ex. 30:22–33), but it was the king ultimately who had the title of the "LORD's anointed" or simply "the anointed." Persons chosen for divine service were anointed to signify that this was their calling, that they were authorized to perform it, and that God would give them the help they needed. References to the king as the Lord's anointed are prevalent in the books of Samuel (v. 35; 12:3, 5; 16:6; 24:6) and Psalms (Ps. 2:2; 18:50). The present passage is the first reference to a king of Israel as God's "anointed," though the idea of anointing a king is found already in Jotham's fable (Judg. 9:8, 15). The English word "messiah" represents the Hebrew word meaning "anointed." In the New Testament, "Christ" represents the Greek word Christos, also meaning "anointed."

The Wicked Sons of Eli

12 Now the sons of Eli were [a]corrupt;[5] [b]they did not know the LORD. 13 And the priests' custom with the people was that when any man offered a sacrifice, the priest's servant would come with a three-pronged fleshhook in his hand while the meat was boiling. 14 Then he would thrust it into the pan, or kettle, or caldron, or pot; and the priest would take for himself all that the fleshhook brought up. So they did in [c]Shiloh to all the Israelites who came there. 15 Also, before they [d]burned the fat, the priest's servant would come and say to the man who sacrificed, "Give meat for roasting to the priest, for he will not take boiled meat from you, but raw."

16 And if the man said to him, "They should really burn the fat first; then you may take as much as your heart desires," he would then answer him, "No, but you must give it now; and if not, I will take it by force."

17 Therefore the sin of the young men was very great [e]before the LORD, for men [f]abhorred[6] the offering of the LORD.

Samuel's Childhood Ministry

18 [g]But Samuel ministered before the LORD, even as a child, [h]wearing a linen ephod. 19 Moreover his mother used to make him a little robe, and bring it to him year by year when she [i]came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice. 20 And Eli [j]would bless Elkanah and his wife, and say, "The LORD give you descendants from this woman for the [7]loan that was [k]given to the LORD." Then they would go to their own home.

21 And the LORD [l]visited[8] Hannah, so that she conceived and bore three sons and two daughters. Meanwhile the child Samuel [m]grew before the LORD.

Prophecy Against Eli's Household

22 Now Eli was very old; and he heard everything his sons did to all Israel, [9]and how they lay with [n]the women who assembled at the door of the tabernacle of meeting. 23 So he said to them, "Why do you do such things? For I hear of your evil dealings from all the people. 24 No, my sons! For it is not a good report that I hear. You make the LORD's people transgress. 25 If one man sins against another, [o]God[1] will judge him. But if a man [p]sins against the LORD, who will intercede for him?" Nevertheless they did not heed the voice of their father, [q]because the LORD desired to kill them.

26 And the child Samuel [r]grew in stature, and [s]in favor both with the LORD and men.

■ 2:12 corrupt. This Hebrew phrase (lit. "sons of Belial") connotes worthless and vile persons. It is used of those who incite to idolatry (Deut. 13:13) or insurrection (10:27; 2 Sam. 16:7; 20:1); who are sexually immoral (Judg. 19:22); or who are liars (1 Kin. 21:10, 13). Unfortunately the phrase could be applied to Eli's sons.

did not know. Use of the verb "know" here and in 3:7 sets up an ironic contrast between Eli's sons and Samuel (3:7 note).

■ 2:13 the priests' custom. The practice described in vv. 13, 14 is different from the prescriptions of Lev. 7:28–36 and Deut. 18:3. The greed of the sons of Eli caused the people to "abhor the offering of the LORD" (v. 17).

■ 2:15 before they burned the fat. Since the time of Abel's offering of the fat of the firstborn of his flock (Gen. 4:4), the fat portion was considered to be the best, and as such, to belong to the Lord. The priests had the duty of burning the fat on the altar as an offering to the Lord (Lev. 3:16; 7:31). Like blood, the fat was strictly forbidden for human consumption, and anyone who ate it would be expelled from the people (Lev. 3:17; 7:23–25).

■ 2:18 But Samuel. The behavior of Samuel, who ministers faithfully before the Lord, and also of Eli, who regularly blesses Elkanah and his wife (v. 20), is in sharp contrast with the abuses of Eli's sons.

linen ephod. A short inner garment of some sort, and associated with priestly service (22:18), the linen ephod was worn also by King David when he brought the ark to Jerusalem (2 Sam. 6:14). See also 2:28, note.

■ 2:19 robe. An outer garment to be worn over the linen ephod.

■ 2:20 loan that was given. Eli's words recall those of Hannah in 1:27, 28. Both "loan" and "given" in Hebrew derive from the same word as the name "Saul" (1:20 note).

■ 2:21 before the LORD. Or "with the LORD"; the same Hebrew expression is used in v. 26.

■ 2:22 Now Eli. Again as at v. 12, the focus shifts from the boy Samuel to the house of Eli.

heard. Eli had to be told about what he should have already observed and controlled on his own. But his offenses run much deeper than mere inattentiveness (v. 29).

lay with the women. On the "tabernacle," see note on 1:9; on "the women assembled," see Ex. 38:8. Though explicitly condemned by the Law (Deut. 23:17, 18), religious prostitution was practiced by the Canaanites and posed a constant danger to the Israelites (1 Kin. 15:12; 2 Kin. 23:7; Hos. 4:14).

■ 2:25 God will judge. Eli's point is that while there may be some mediation of disputes between people, when someone offends God there is no one who can intervene. Eli's sons sinned first and foremost against the Lord (v. 17), and they sealed their doom by refusing to hear Eli's warning.

the LORD desired to kill them. This clear statement of God's sovereignty over the destiny of the wicked does not diminish people's responsibility for their own actions. An example of the relation between divine sovereignty and human responsibility is found in the hardening of Pharaoh's heart in the early chapters of Exodus. About half the time Pharaoh is said to have hardened his own heart (Ex. 8:15); the rest of the time God is said to harden it (Ex. 4:21; Rom. 9:17, 18). God can punish persistent, willful sin by taking away the power to repent (Josh. 11:20; Rom. 1:24, 26, 28).

■ 2:26 in favor . . . with the LORD. The gravity of Eli's sons' refusal to listen to man or God is emphasized by the striking contrast with Samuel, who grows in favor with God and men. The emphasis on Samuel's

27 Then a [f]man of God came to Eli and said to him, "Thus says the LORD: [u]'Did I not clearly reveal Myself to the house of your father when they were in Egypt in Pharaoh's house? 28 Did I not [v]choose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be My priest, to offer upon My altar, to burn incense, and to wear an ephod before Me? And [w]did I not give to the house of your father all the offerings of the children of Israel made by fire? 29 Why do you [x]kick at My sacrifice and My offering which I have commanded in My [y]dwelling place, and honor your sons more than [z]Me, to make yourselves fat with the best of all the offerings of Israel My people?' 30 Therefore the LORD God of Israel says: [a]'I said indeed that your house and the house of your father would walk before Me forever.' But now the LORD says: [b]'Far be it from Me; for those who honor Me I will honor, and [c]those who despise Me shall be lightly esteemed. 31 Behold, [d]the days are coming that I will cut off your [2]arm and the arm of your father's house, so that there will not be an old man in your house. 32 And you will see an enemy in My dwelling place, despite all the good which God does for Israel. And there shall not be [e]an old man in your house forever. 33 But any of your men whom I do not cut off from My altar shall consume your eyes and grieve your heart. And all the descendants of your house shall die in the flower of their age. 34 Now this shall be [f]a sign to you that will come upon your two sons, on Hophni and Phinehas: [g]in one day they shall die, both of them. 35 Then [h]I will raise up for Myself a faithful priest who shall do according to what is in My heart and in My mind. [i]I will build him a sure house, and he shall walk before [j]My anointed forever. 36 [k]And it shall come to pass that everyone who is left in your house will come and bow down to him for a piece of silver and a morsel of bread, and say, "Please, [3]put me in one of the priestly positions, that I may eat a piece of bread." Samuel's First Prophecy

3 Now [a]the boy Samuel ministered to the LORD before Eli. And [b]the word of the LORD was rare in those days; there was no widespread revelation. 2 And it came to pass at that time, while Eli was lying down in his place, and when his eyes had begun to grow [c]so dim that he could not see, 3 and before [d]the lamp of God went out in the [1]tabernacle of the LORD where the growth as more than merely physical foreshadows a theme that is later developed in contrasting portraits of Saul and David. The expression of v. 6 is used by Luke to describe the childhood of Jesus (Luke 2:52; see Prov. 3:4).

■ 2:27–36 The words of the man of God to Eli exhibit features typical of prophetic judgment speeches. There is an accusation (expressed here through accusing questions that emphasize the contrast between the Lord's grace and Eli's disobedience) and an announcement of judgment confirmed by a sign. Other examples of prophetic speeches of this type are found in chs. 13; 15; and 2 Sam. 12:7–12.

■ 2:27 man of God. In the Old Testament this designation is often used interchangeably with "prophet" (9:8–11; 1 Kin. 13:15–18; 2 Kin. 5:8; 6:10–12).

house of your father . . . in Egypt. Although Eli's genealogy is nowhere recorded in the Old Testament, v. 28 implies that he was a descendant of Aaron. The assertion that the Lord revealed Himself and selected Eli's house as far back as the period of Israelite servitude in Egypt underscores the gross ingratitude of the house of Eli.

■ 2:28 wear an ephod. Or perhaps "carry" an ephod. The ephod mentioned here is not the garment mentioned in v. 18, but the high-priestly ephod bearing the "breastplate of judgment" and the "Urim and Thummim," through which the Lord's will could be determined (Ex. 28:4–30).

did I not give . . . the offerings. Both in the Old Testament (Num. 18:8; Deut. 18:1) and in the New (1 Cor. 9:13, 14; 1 Tim. 5:17, 18) God provides for the support of those who are in His service.

■ 2:29 honor. Though the offenses of his sons are more blatant, Eli himself does not escape blame. As father and high priest, he should have confronted his sons with more than words (vv. 23–25). His failure to take action amounts to honoring his sons above the Lord (v. 30). The Hebrew word for "honor" is a key word in the subsequent accounts of the fall of the family of Eli and the capture and return of the ark (chs. 4—7); see the notes on 4:21; 6:5, 6.

■ 2:30 forever. That is, continually or indefinitely.

■ 2:31 will not be an old man in your house. The decimation of Eli's house begins with the death of his sons (4:11) and himself (4:18). It is continued with Saul's massacre of the priests of Nob (22:17–19) and culminates in Solomon's removal of Abiathar from the priesthood (1 Kin. 2:26, 27).

■ 2:32 an enemy in My dwelling. The Hebrew is difficult and parts of vv. 31, 32 are lacking in the Septuagint and the Dead Sea Scrolls. If the translation "an enemy in My dwelling" is correct, the verse alludes to the capture of the ark (4:1–11), the destruction of the Lord's dwelling in Shiloh (Jer. 7:12–14), and its relocation to Nob (21:1).

■ 2:34 sign. Prophetic utterances were often confirmed by signs (2:27–36 note; cf. 10:7, 9; 1 Kin. 13:3, 5; 2 Kin. 19:29; 20:8, 9).

■ 2:35 faithful priest. While the statement in 3:20 that Samuel was "established" as a prophet of the Lord suggests Samuel may have been the fulfillment of this prediction, the clearer fulfillment comes in the person of Zadok, who served as high priest alongside Abiathar under David (2 Sam. 8:17 note) and came to preeminence under Solomon (1 Kin. 2:35). The descendants of Zadok held the high priesthood from the time of Solomon to the time of Antiochus Epiphanes and the Maccabees (for details see Introduction to the Intertestamental Period).

My anointed. This is the second allusion to the coming king in this chapter (v. 10 note).

■ 2:36 eat a piece of bread. Prophetic judgments were characterized by a correspondence of crime and punishment. The hunger threatened in this verse corresponds to the greedy satisfaction described in vv. 12–27 and 29.

■ 3:1 the word of the LORD was rare. The Lord's withholding His word is a sign of His displeasure (14:37; Ps. 74:9; Lam. 2:9; Amos 8:11, 12). Conversely, His communication to Samuel is a sign of favor.

revelation. Literally "vision." The Hebrew word often denotes an auditory encounter rather than a visual one. Such revelations were necessary for the well-being of God's people (Prov. 29:18).

■ 3:3 before the lamp of God went out. This notice may be simply a time reference (Ex. 27:20–21; Lev. 24:1–4). The use of "lamp" as a metaphor of hope and promise is very common (2 Sam. 21:17; 22:29; 1 Kin. 11:36; 15:4; Job 18:5; Ps. 132:17; Prov. 13:9), and is possible here. With Samuel on the scene, there is still a flicker of hope.

ark of God was, and while Samuel was lying down, 4 that the LORD called Samuel. And he answered, "Here I am!" 5 So he ran to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me."

And he said, "I did not call; lie down again." And he went and lay down.

6 Then the LORD called yet again, "Samuel!"

So Samuel arose and went to Eli, and said, "Here I am, for you called me." He answered, "I did not call, my son; lie down again." 7 (Now Samuel [e]did not yet know the LORD, nor was the word of the LORD yet revealed to him.)

8 And the LORD called Samuel again the third time. So he arose and went to Eli, and said, "Here I am, for you did call me."

Then Eli perceived that the LORD had called the boy. 9 Therefore Eli said to Samuel, "Go, lie down; and it shall be, if He calls you, that you must say, [f]'Speak, LORD, for Your servant hears.' " So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

10 Now the LORD came and stood and called as at other times, "Samuel! Samuel!"

And Samuel answered, "Speak, for Your servant hears."

11 Then the LORD said to Samuel: "Behold, I will do something in Israel [g]at which both ears of everyone who hears it will tingle. 12 In that day I will perform against Eli [h]all that I have spoken concerning his house, from beginning to end. 13 [i]For I have told him that I will [j]judge his house forever for the iniquity which he knows, because [k]his sons made themselves vile, and he [l]did not [2]restrain them. 14 And therefore I have sworn to the house of Eli that the iniquity of Eli's house [m]shall not be atoned for by sacrifice or offering forever."

15 So Samuel lay down until [3]morning, and opened the doors of the house of the LORD. And Samuel was afraid to tell Eli the vision. 16 Then Eli called Samuel and said, "Samuel, my son!"

He answered, "Here I am."

17 And he said, "What is the word that the LORD spoke to you? Please do not hide it from me. [n]God do so to you, and more also, if you hide anything from me of all the things that He said to you." 18 Then Samuel told him everything, and hid nothing from him. And he said, [o]"It is the LORD. Let Him do what seems good to Him."

19 So Samuel [p]grew, and [q]the LORD was with him [r]and let none of his words [4]fall to the ground. 20 And all Israel [s]from Dan to Beersheba knew that Samuel had been [5]established as a prophet of the LORD. 21 Then the LORD appeared again in Shiloh. For the LORD revealed Himself to Samuel in Shiloh by [t]the word of the LORD.

4 And the word of Samuel came to all [1]Israel.

ark of God. Elsewhere called "the ark of the Testimony" and "the ark of the covenant," this chest of acacia wood overlaid with gold is described in Ex. 25:10–22. The ark is important in chs. 4—6 and again in 2 Sam. 6.

■ 3:7 Samuel did not yet know the LORD. The repetition of terminology from 2:12 about "knowing" God only emphasizes the contrast in meaning. Eli's sons "did not know the LORD" because they wickedly disregarded Him. Samuel was a child and no revelation had yet come to him.

■ 3:8 Then Eli perceived. Eli's slowness to recognize that God was calling Samuel recalls earlier instances of misperception (1:12–16) and unawareness (2:22 note), contributing to the reader's impression of Eli as an aged priest whose eyes have grown dim (v. 2) in more ways than one.

■ 3:12 all that I have spoken. See 2:27–36. The repetition to Samuel of the oracle against Eli confirms the oracle itself and establishes Samuel as a prophet of the Lord (v. 20).

■ 3:13 made themselves vile. The Septuagint (the Greek Old Testament) reads "God" instead of "themselves." In the Hebrew text this represents a change of only one letter. If Eli's sons were cursing God they were committing an offense worthy of death (Lev. 24:15, 16).

did not restrain them. Eli, in view of his position as high priest, should have taken action to restrain his sons once verbal rebuke proved ineffective (2:29 note; 2 Sam. 13:21 note).

■ 3:14 not be atoned for by sacrifice or offering forever. While there was provision to atone for unintentional priestly sins (Lev. 4:1–12), the sins of Eli's house were clearly acts of open defiance (Num. 15:30–31). They had scorned the normal means of atonement, that is, sacrifice and offering (2:17, 29).

■ 3:18 It is the LORD. Let Him do what seems good to Him. Eli humbly accepts his rejection and confesses God's right to rule in the affairs of men. His words establish a benchmark by which later characters in the narrative should be judged: Saul (20:30, 31) and David (2 Sam. 15:25, 26).

■ 3:19 the LORD was with him. From the perspective of the books of Samuel, it is God's presence with someone that makes the difference between success and failure (16:18; 18:12, 14, 28).

let none of his words fall to the ground. See 9:6. Samuel thus passed the test of a true prophet (Deut. 18:21, 22).

■ 3:20 Dan to Beersheba . . . prophet of the LORD. While Samuel's responsibilities as judge would take him on a circuit of the central hill country (7:15–17), his reputation as a prophet spread throughout "all Israel" (2 Sam. 3:10; 17:11; 24:25; 1 Kin. 4:25).

■ 3:21 Shiloh. See note on 1:3.

■ 4:1 the word of Samuel came to all Israel. The episode that began with a notice of the rarity of the word of the Lord (3:1) concludes with a notice of the change brought by the selection of Samuel to be "a prophet of the LORD" (3:20 and note).

Philistines. The Philistines are one of the "Sea Peoples" named in Egyptian texts from the time of Rameses III. By the time of the judges (Judg. 3:31; 13–16), the Philistines had settled along the coastlands of southern Canaan in a league of five cities: Ashdod, Ashkelon, Ekron, Philistines encamped in Aphek. 2 Then the [b]Philistines put themselves in battle array against Israel. And when they joined battle, Israel was [2]defeated by the Philistines, who killed about four thousand men of the army in the field. 3 And when the people had come into the camp, the elders of Israel said, "Why has the LORD defeated us today before the Philistines? [c]Let us bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD from Shiloh to us, that when it comes among us it may save us from the hand of our enemies." 4 So the people sent to Shiloh, that they might bring from there the ark of the covenant of the LORD of hosts, [d]who dwells between [e]the cherubim. And the [f]two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there with the ark of the covenant of God.

5 And when the ark of the covenant of the LORD came into the camp, all Israel shouted so loudly that the earth shook. 6 Now when the Philistines heard the noise of the shout, they said, "What does the sound of this great shout in the camp of the Hebrews mean?" Then they understood that the ark of the LORD had come into the camp. 7 So the Philistines were afraid, for they said, "God has come into the camp!" And they said, [g]"Woe to us! For such a thing has never happened before. 8 Woe to us! Who will deliver us from the hand of these mighty gods? These are the gods who struck the Egyptians with all the plagues in the wilderness. 9 [h]Be strong and conduct yourselves like men, you Philistines, that you do not become servants of the Hebrews, [i]as they have been to you. [3]Conduct yourselves like men, and fight!"

10 So the Philistines fought, and [j]Israel was [4]defeated, and every man fled to his tent. There was a very great slaughter, and there fell of Israel thirty thousand foot soldiers. 11 Also [k]the ark of God was captured; and [l]the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, died.

Death of Eli

12 Then a man of Benjamin ran from the battle line the same day, and [m]came to Shiloh with his clothes torn and [n]dirt on his head. 13 Now when he came, there was Eli, sitting on [o]a seat [5]by the wayside watching, for his heart [6]trembled for the ark of God. And when the man came into the city and told it, all the city cried out. 14 When Eli heard the noise of the outcry, he said, "What does the sound of this tumult mean?" And the man came quickly and told Eli. 15 Eli was ninety-eight years old, and [p]his eyes were so [7]dim that he could not see.

16 Then the man said to Eli, "I am he who came from the battle. And I fled today from the battle line."

And he said, [q]"What happened, my son?"

17 So the messenger answered and said, "Israel has fled before the Philistines, and there has been a great slaughter among the people. Also your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead; and the ark of God has been captured."

18 Then it happened, when he made mention of the ark of God, that Eli fell off the seat backward by the side of the gate; and his neck was broken and he died, for the man was old and heavy. And he had judged Israel forty years.

Gath, and Gaza (6:17; Judg. 3:3). The Philistines often tried to expand their territory, and in the time of Samuel and the early monarchy they were in direct conflict with the Israelites to the north and east.

Ebenezer. This may be an archaeological site about two miles east of Aphek (cf. v. 6). Ebenezer (meaning, "Stone of Help") is mentioned again in 5:1. The Ebenezer of 7:12 recalls these earlier references (7:12 note), but it is a different place, near Mizpah.

Aphek. Aphek was at the southern end of the plain of Sharon, about five miles inland from the Mediterranean, near the source of the Yarkon River (29:1). It was among the cities conquered by Joshua (Josh. 12:18).

■ 4:3 Why has the LORD defeated us. The elders' question is appropriate insofar as it reflects the belief that "the battle is the LORD's" (17:47). They do not wait for an answer, however, but immediately take matters into their own hands.

Let us bring the ark. The elders' apparent conviction that the ark was a magical guarantee of the Lord's presence is similar to that of the Philistines (vv. 7–9). Salvation depends on God's free initiative and sovereign grace, not on human techniques or schemes (2 Sam. 15:25 and note).

■ 4:4 LORD of hosts. See note on 1:3.

Hophni and Phinehas. With his two wicked sons (2:12–17, 27–36) in charge of the ark, it is not surprising that Eli's "heart trembled for the ark of God" (v. 13).

■ 4:6 Hebrews. This word first occurs in Gen. 14:13 as a description of Abram. Extrabiblical documents of the second millennium B.C. mention a diverse and widespread people called "Habiru." This has caused considerable debate about whether the biblical Hebrews are the same as these people. The Habiru seem to have been a landless class of aliens or refugees, who survived either by hiring themselves out as soldiers or farmers, or by plundering.

■ 4:8 mighty gods . . . who struck the Egyptians. The Philistines' cry of woe betrays their polytheistic perspective but nevertheless leaves little doubt of the impact that event had on surrounding nations (6:6; Josh. 2:9–11).

■ 4:10 thirty thousand. Far from bringing relief, the Israelites' attempt to manipulate the Lord for their own ends resulted in even greater defeat (v. 2).

■ 4:11 the ark of God was captured. An event as astonishing as it was disastrous, the loss of the ark must surely have made "both ears . . . tingle" (3:11).

Hophni and Phinehas, died. In fulfillment of 2:34 and 3:12.

■ 4:13 his heart trembled for the ark of God. Earlier rebuked for honoring his sons more than the Lord (2:29), Eli now shows a concern for the ark of God that surpasses his concern for his own sons (vv. 17–18).

■ 4:18 mention of the ark. Not the news of heavy losses suffered by the Israelites, nor the news of the death of his own sons (v. 17), but the

Ichabod

19 Now his daughter-in-law, Phinehas' wife, was with child, due to be delivered; and when she heard the news that the ark of God was captured, and that her father-in-law and her husband were dead, she bowed herself and gave birth, for her labor pains came upon her. 20 And about the time of her death [r]the women who stood by her said to her, "Do not fear, for you have borne a son." But she did not answer, nor did she [s]regard it. 21 Then she named the child [t]Ichabod,[u] saying, [t]"The glory has departed from Israel!" because the ark of God had been captured and because of her father-in-law and her husband. 22 And she said, "The glory has departed from Israel, for the ark of God has been captured."

The Philistines and the Ark

5 Then the Philistines took the ark of God and brought it [a]from Ebenezer to Ashdod. 2 When the Philistines took the ark of God, they brought it into the house of [b]Dagon[f] and set it by Dagon. 3 And when the people of Ashdod arose early in the morning, there was Dagon, [c]fallen on its face to the earth before the ark of the LORD. So they took Dagon and [d]set it in its place again. 4 And when they arose early the next morning, there was Dagon, fallen on its face to the ground before the ark of the LORD. [e]The head of Dagon and both the palms of its hands were broken off on the threshold; only [g]Dagon's torso was left of it. 5 Therefore neither the priests of Dagon nor any who come into Dagon's house [f]tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod to this day.

6 But the [g]hand of the LORD was heavy on the people of Ashdod, and He [h]ravaged them and struck them with [i]tumors,[k] both Ashdod and its [j]territory. 7 And when the men of Ashdod saw how it was, they said, "The ark of the [k]God of Israel must not remain with us, for His hand is harsh toward us and Dagon our god." 8 Therefore they sent and gathered to themselves all the [l]lords of the Philistines, and said, "What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel?"

And they answered, "Let the ark of the God of Israel be carried away to [m]Gath." So they carried the ark of the God of Israel away. 9 So it was, after they had carried it away, that [n]the hand announcement that the ark of God had been captured prompted the reaction that resulted in Eli's own death.

he had judged Israel. There is no necessary contradiction in Eli's being described as both priest and judge (Deut. 17:8–12; 19:17; 1 Chr. 23:2–4; 2 Chr. 19:8; Ezek. 44:24). "Judged" associates him with the leaders God raised up between the death of Joshua and the institution of kingship.

forty years. Eli's forty-year tenure of leadership would have overlapped the exploits of Samson (Judg. 13—16) and possibly also with the activity of the judges mentioned in Judg. 12:8–15.

■ 4:21 Ichabod . . . The glory has departed. Phinehas's wife, as she dies, names their newborn son Ichabod, meaning either "No glory" or "Where is the glory?" (2:29 note). As v. 22 makes clear, the "glory" to which she refers is not primarily the house of Eli but the ark of God now lost. See also note on 14:3.

■ 5:1 Ebenezer. See 4:1 note.

Ashdod. One of the five main Philistine cities (4:1), Ashdod is about thirty miles south of Ebenezer and three miles inland from the Mediterranean. Philistine occupation of Ashod is attested archaeologically for the twelfth and eleventh centuries B.C. In the New Testament period, the site was called Azotus (Acts 8:40).

■ 5:2 Dagon. A prominent deity among the Philistines as well as in Mesopotamia, Syria, and Phoenicia from the middle of the third millennium B.C., Dagon was once thought to be a fish deity because of the similarity between the name Dagon and the Hebrew word for fish (dag). It now appears more likely that the name should be associated with the Hebrew word for grain (dagan), making Dagon an agricultural or fertility god. Dagon seems to have headed the Philistine pantheon (Judg. 16:23; 1 Chr. 10:10), which included the goddess Ashtoreth (31:8–10) and the god Baal-Zebul ("Baal the prince"). Baal-Zebul was worshiped at Ekron, and his name was intentionally distorted by the Israelites to Baal-Zebub ("lord of the flies"; 2 Kin. 1:1–6, 16). The worship of Dagon is attested as late as the Maccabean period (second century B.C.; 1 Macc. 10:83, 84).

set it by Dagon. In the ancient Near East the victorious army would carry off the gods of the vanquished and deposit them in the temple of their own gods as a sign of the inferiority and subordination of the captured gods. Though not an idol, the ark of God was treated that way by the Philistines.

■ 5:3 Dagon, fallen on its face. The supposedly victorious deity lies on his face doing homage to the ostensibly vanquished one (v. 2 note).

■ 5:4 head . . . hands were broken off. The specific damage to the idol is to be understood in light of the common practice in antiquity of removing the head and hands of the enemy dead (Judg. 7:25; 8:6; 1 Sam. 17:54; 31:9; 2 Sam. 4:12).

■ 5:5 tread on the threshold. Thresholds are often invested with special significance, and the practice of not stepping on the threshold of a sacred place was known, if not approved, in Israel (Zeph. 1:9). Linking the custom of the priests of Dagon with this humiliating incident may be intended more to ridicule them than to convey information about their ritual practice.

to this day. This phrase suggests a significant interval of time between the event and the account of it (cf. 6:18).

■ 5:6 the hand of the LORD was heavy. See v. 11 and notes on vv. 1, 4; 2:9. The Lord is not tamed by friend or foe. Refusing to be manipulated by Israel, God departed to the territory of Israel's enemies (4:21). There He demonstrated His sovereignty, causing the Philistines to feel the weight of His hand in judgment.

tumors. The most plausible explanation of the tumors is that they were symptoms of bubonic plague, transmitted by rodents.

■ 5:8 lords of the Philistines. The reference is apparently to the rulers of the Philistine league (4:1 note), who could cooperate in times of emergency.

Gath. The location of Gath is debated, but the best candidate is Tell es-Safi, about twelve miles east of Ashdod. Possibly the Philistine plan was to move the ark to another town in the hope that the plague would not break out there, showing that it had been a coincidence that a plague had broken out in Ashdod. This hope was dramatically dashed (v. 9).

of the LORD was against the city with a very great destruction; and He struck the men of the city, both small and great, [d]and tumors broke out on them.

10 Therefore they sent the ark of God to Ekron. So it was, as the ark of God came to Ekron, that the Ekronites cried out, saying, "They have brought the ark of the God of Israel to us, to kill us and our people!" 11 So they sent and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines, and said, "Send away the ark of the God of Israel, and let it go back to its own place, so that it does not kill us and our people." For there was a deadly destruction throughout all the city; the hand of God was very heavy there. 12 And the men who did not die were stricken with the tumors, and the [o]cry of the city went up to heaven.

The Ark Returned to Israel

6 Now the ark of the LORD was in the country of the Philistines seven months. 2 And the Philistines [a]called for the priests and the diviners, saying, "What shall we do with the ark of the LORD? Tell us how we should send it to its place."

3 So they said, "If you send away the ark of the God of Israel, do not send it [b]empty; but by all means return it to Him with [c]a trespass offering. Then you will be healed, and it will be known to you why His hand is not removed from you."

4 Then they said, "What is the trespass offering which we shall return to Him?"

They answered, [d]"Five golden tumors and five golden rats, according to the number of the lords of the Philistines. For the same plague was on all of [f]you and on your lords. 5 Therefore you shall make images of your tumors and images of your rats that [e]ravage the land, and you shall [f]give glory to the God of Israel; perhaps He will [g]lighten[2] His hand from you, from [h]your gods, and from your land. 6 Why then do you harden your hearts [i]as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? When He did mighty things among them, [j]did they not let the people go, that they might depart? 7 Now therefore, make [k]a new cart, take two milk cows [l]which have never been yoked, and hitch the cows to the cart; and take their calves home, away from them. 8 Then take the ark of the LORD and set it on the cart; and put [m]the articles of gold which you are returning to Him as a trespass offering in a chest by its side. Then send it away, and let it go. 9 And watch: if it goes up the road to its own territory, to [n]Beth Shemesh, then He has done [3]us this great evil. But if not, then [o]we shall know that it is not His hand that struck us—it happened to us by chance."

10 Then the men did so; they took two milk cows and hitched them to the cart, and shut up their calves at home. 11 And they set the ark of the LORD on the cart, and the chest with the gold rats and the images of their tumors. 12 Then the cows headed straight for the road to Beth

■ 5:10 the Ekronites cried out. After the failed experiment in Gath, the people of Ekron at least are no longer skeptical about the danger of keeping the ark (v. 8 note). Ekron was five miles due north of Gath and was the closest of the Philistines' major cities to Israelite territory.

■ 5:11 Send away the ark. Unable to bear up under the heavy "hand of the LORD" (v. 6 note), the Ekronites now plead that the ark be returned "to its own place."

■ 6:1 seven months. The events recorded in the previous chapter took place not in a matter of days but months. The number seven often signifies completeness.

■ 6:2 diviners. Together with witchcraft and sorcery (Num. 23:23), divination was explicitly condemned in Israel (Deut. 18:10, 14; Jer. 27:9; Ezek. 13:23). It was practiced by some of Israel's neighbors (Num. 22:7; Ezek. 21:21).

What shall we do. They had the same problem faced by the people of Ashdod (5:8). Moving the ark from place to place inside Philistine territory had failed, making it clear that the only solution was to return the ark to Israel.

■ 6:3 trespass offering. The offering is intended to acknowledge guilt and to compensate for the offense of taking the ark (v. 4).

■ 6:5 make images of your tumors. The procedure adopted by the Philistines had several purposes. The gold used for the models was a kind of compensation for having taken the ark (v. 4), while the images of tumors and rats were probably a form of sympathetic magic. The Philistines' stated purpose, however, was to "give glory" to Israel's God. With this announcement, the ark narrative comes almost full circle. It was for Israel's failure to honor the Lord and handle the ark properly that God had removed it from them.

from your gods. The Lord's oppressive treatment of the gods of the Philistines is like His treatment of "the gods of Egypt" (Ex. 12:12). As the next verse indicates, this comparison was not lost on the Philistines themselves.

■ 6:6 Why then do you harden your hearts. Forms of the Hebrew word translated "harden" in this sentence are encountered often in the story of the rejection of the priesthood of Eli's house and the loss of the ark. Elsewhere the word is translated "glory" (v. 5; 4:21), and "honor" (see 2:29 and note).

did mighty things among them. Or "toyed with them," "abused them." The same expression is used in 31:4; Ex. 10:2; Jer. 38:19.

■ 6:7–9 An ancient Hittite ritual text shows some parallels to the procedure described in these verses. In the Hittite ritual, relief from a plague thought to be caused by an enemy god is sought by ceremonially crowning a ram to pacify the enemy god, and then driving the ram down a road leading to enemy territory. In the Philistine version, the point of choosing cows that have never been yoked and of locking away their calves is apparently to make it certain that if the cows do head for Israel it will not be from natural causes nor by coincidence, but by the influence of Israel's God.

■ 6:9 Beth Shemesh. Lit. "House of the Sun." One of several places in Israel with this name, this Beth Shemesh has been identified with Tell er-Rumeileh, seven miles east of Ekron (5:10 note). Beth Shemesh was a border city (v. 12; Josh. 15:10) frequently in dispute between the Philistines and Israelites (2 Chr. 28:18).

■ 6:12 lowing as they went. Obviously not happy to be leaving their calves behind, the cows nevertheless do not deviate from their divinely directed path.

Shemesh, and went along the [p]highway, lowing as they went, and did not turn aside to the right hand or the left. And the lords of the Philistines went after them to the border of Beth Shemesh.

13 Now the people of Beth Shemesh were reaping their [q]wheat harvest in the valley; and they lifted their eyes and saw the ark, and rejoiced to see it. 14 Then the cart came into the field of Joshua of Beth Shemesh, and stood there; a large stone was there. So they split the wood of the cart and offered the cows as a burnt offering to the LORD. 15 The Levites took down the ark of the LORD and the chest that was with it, in which were the articles of gold, and put them on the large stone. Then the men of Beth Shemesh offered burnt offerings and made sacrifices the same day to the LORD. 16 So when [r]the five lords of the Philistines had seen it, they returned to Ekron the same day.

17 [s]These are the golden tumors which the Philistines returned as a trespass offering to the LORD: one for Ashdod, one for Gaza, one for Ashkelon, one for [t]Gath, one for Ekron; 18 and the golden rats, according to the number of all the cities of the Philistines belonging to the five lords, both fortified cities and country villages, even as far as the large stone of Abel on which they set the ark of the LORD, which stone remains to this day in the field of Joshua of Beth Shemesh.

19 Then [u]He struck the men of Beth Shemesh, because they had looked into the ark of the LORD. [4]He [v]struck fifty thousand and seventy men of the people, and the people lamented because the LORD had struck the people with a great slaughter.

The Ark at Kirjath Jearim

20 And the men of Beth Shemesh said, [w]"Who is able to stand before this holy LORD God? And to whom shall it go up from us?" 21 So they sent messengers to the inhabitants of [x]Kirjath Jearim, saying, "The Philistines have brought back the ark of the LORD; come down and take it up with you."

7 Then the men of [a]Kirjath Jearim came and took the ark of the LORD, and brought it into the house of [b]Abinadab on the hill, and [c]consecrated Eleazar his son to keep the ark of the LORD.

Samuel Judges Israel

2 So it was that the ark remained in Kirjath Jearim a long time; it was there twenty years. And all the house of Israel lamented after the LORD.

3 Then Samuel spoke to all the house of Israel, saying, "If you [d]return to the LORD with all your hearts, then [e]put away the foreign gods and the [f]Ashtoreths[1] from among you, and [g]prepare your hearts for the LORD, and [h]serve Him only; and He will deliver you from the hand of the Philistines." 4 So the children of Israel put away the [i]Baals and the [2]Ashtoreths, and served the LORD only.

put them on the large stone. The large rock was used as a pedestal for the ark and the gold objects, not as an impromptu altar.

■ 6:18 to this day. See note on v. 14.

■ 6:19 looked into the ark. See Num. 4:5, 20. Presumptuous handling of the ark led to its capture, and a similar offense must now be purged on the occasion of its return. The problem of handling the ark improperly will arise again in 2 Sam. 6.

■ 6:20 Who is able to stand. Cf. Ex. 9:11.

■ 6:21 Kirjath Jearim. Located nine miles northeast of Beth Shemesh, Kirjath Jearim is also called Kirjath Baal (Josh. 15:60; 18:14), Baalah (Josh. 15:9), and Baale Judah (2 Sam. 6:2).

■ 7:2 twenty years . . . lamented after the LORD. In light of Samuel's reference to "foreign gods" among the Israelites (v. 3), it seems that it was only at the close of these twenty years that Israel began to seek the Lord.

■ 7:3 prepare your hearts for the LORD . . . and He will deliver you. The cycle of apostasy, oppression, repentance, and deliverance so typical of the Book of Judges (Judg. 3:7–9) is repeated in the events of this chapter.

■ 7:4 the Baals and the Ashtoreths. See notes on 5:2; 31:10.

■ 7:5 Mizpah. A town in Benjamin seven miles north of Jerusalem and eight miles northeast of Kirjath Jearim, Mizpah played a prominent role in Israel before the monarchy (10:17; Judg. 20:1; 21:1, 5, 8). It was one of the regular stops in Samuel's circuit (v. 16). The name, meaning something like "place of watching," implies a high vantage point and was given to a number of sites (e.g., 22:3).

■ 7:6 drew water, and poured it out before the LORD. Although this action is not paralleled elsewhere in Scripture, it seems to signify sorrow and, along with fasting, a desire to seek God earnestly (cf. 1:15; Ps. 62:8; Lam. 2:19). David's action in 2 Sam. 23:16 occurs in a different context and has a different meaning.

We have sinned against the LORD. The words and actions (v. 4) of the Israelites give evidence of true repentance. The time is ripe for the Lord to deliver His people from their Philistine oppressors. The response of the Philistines to the convocation at Mizpah (v. 7) provides an opportunity for this deliverance.

they gathered together at Mizpah, [l]drew water, and poured it out before the LORD. And they [m]fasted that day, and said there, [n]"We have sinned against the LORD." And Samuel judged the children of Israel at Mizpah.

7 Now when the Philistines heard that the children of Israel had gathered together at Mizpah, the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel. And when the children of Israel heard of it, they were afraid of the Philistines. 8 So the children of Israel said to Samuel, [o]"Do not cease to cry out to the LORD our God for us, that He may save us from the hand of the Philistines."

9 And Samuel took a [p]suckling lamb and offered it as a whole burnt offering to the LORD. Then [q]Samuel cried out to the LORD for Israel, and the LORD answered him. 10 Now as Samuel was offering up the burnt offering, the Philistines drew near to battle against Israel. [r]But the LORD thundered with a loud thunder upon the Philistines that day, and so confused them that they were overcome before Israel. 11 And the men of Israel went out of Mizpah and pursued the Philistines, and [3]drove them back as far as below Beth Car. 12 Then Samuel [s]took a stone and set it up between Mizpah and Shen, and called its name [4]Ebenezer, saying, "Thus far the LORD has helped us."

13 [t]So the Philistines were subdued, and they [u]did not come anymore into the territory of Israel. And the hand of the LORD was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel. 14 Then the cities which the Philistines had taken from Israel were restored to Israel, from Ekron to Gath; and Israel recovered its territory from the hands of the Philistines. Also there was peace between Israel and the Amorites.

15 And Samuel [v]judged Israel all the days of his life. 16 He went from year to year on a circuit to Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpah, and judged Israel in all those places. 17 But [w]he always returned

■ 7:8 cry out to the LORD. In the Book of Judges, "crying out" to the Lord was answered through a deliverer whom the Lord would raise up (Judg. 3:9, 15). Here Samuel functions as intercessor and intermediary, while the victory is clearly the Lord's doing (v. 10).

■ 7:9 burnt offering. See note on 10:8.

■ 7:10 the LORD thundered . . . upon the Philistines. This statement dramatically recalls the earlier words of Hannah that "the adversaries . . . shall be broken in pieces; from heaven He will thunder against them" (2:10; cf. 2 Sam. 22:14). Hannah's words are immediately preceded by the statement that "by strength no man shall prevail" (2:9). Human strength is of little consequence when the Lord decides to act.

■ 7:11 Beth Car. Location not known.

■ 7:12 Ebenezer. A different site than that mentioned in 4:1 (note) and 5:1, this Ebenezer nevertheless recalls the earlier episode, when the Israelites tried to manipulate their God by carrying the ark into battle only to suffer a resounding defeat. Now God has given them a great victory over the same enemies. Samuel sets up a memorial stone with the name Ebenezer, "Stone of Help," not only to commemorate the victory but also as reminder of the different results brought about by presumption on the one hand and by repentance on the other.

Thus far the LORD has helped us. The saying means that the Lord had been with them all the way "to this place," or "to this hour."

■ 7:13 did not come anymore into the territory of Israel. The reference is to the tactical situation and not to the continuing history of Israel. The Philistines were convincingly defeated and attempted no counterattack (compare 2 Sam. 2:28 with 3:1; also 2 Kin. 6:23 with 6:24), but this does not rule out subsequent Philistine aggression (9:16; 10:5; 13:3; 14:52).

the hand of the LORD was against the Philistines. What God had done during the tenure of the ark in Philistine territory (5:4, 6; 6:5 and notes), He now continues through the leadership of Samuel. Throughout Samuel's lifetime God continued to give Israel victory, though the fighting at times was fierce (14:52). The defeat recounted in ch. 31 came only after Samuel's death (25:1).

The Ministry of Samuel. At Shiloh God called Samuel to be His servant and prophet. As judge, Samuel visited Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpah yearly. Also at Gilgal Samuel renewed the kingdom covenant with Israel and established Saul as king.

to Ramah, for his home was there. There he judged Israel, and there he [x]built an altar to the LORD.

CHAPTER 8

Israel Demands a King

8 Now it came to pass when Samuel was [a]old that he [b]made his [c]sons judges over Israel.
2 The name of his firstborn was Joel, and the name of his second, Abijah; they were judges in Beersheba. 3 But his sons [d]did not walk in his ways; they turned aside [e]after dishonest gain, [f]took bribes, and perverted justice.

4 Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah, 5 and said to him, "Look, you are old, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now [g]make us a king to judge us like all the nations."

6 But the thing [h]displeased Samuel when they said, "Give us a king to judge us." So Samuel [i]prayed to the LORD. 7 And the LORD said to Samuel, "Heed the voice of the people in all that they say to you; for [j]they have not rejected you, but [k]they have rejected Me, that I should not reign over them. 8 According to all the works which they have done since the day that I brought them up out of Egypt, even to this day—with which they have forsaken Me and served other gods—so they are doing to you also. 9 Now therefore, heed their voice. However, you shall solemnly forewarn them, and [l]show them the behavior of the king who will reign over them."

10 So Samuel told all the words of the LORD to the people who asked him for a king. 11 And he said, [m]"This will be the behavior of the king who will reign over you: He will take your [n]sons and appoint them for his own [o]chariots and to be his horsemen, and some will run before his chariots. 12 He will [p]appoint captains over his thousands and captains over his fifties, will set some to plow his ground and reap his harvest, and some to make his weapons of war and equipment for his chariots. 13 He will take your daughters to be perfumers, cooks, and bakers. 14 And [q]he will take the best of your fields, your vineyards, and your olive groves, and give them to his servants. 15 He will take a tenth of your grain and your vintage, and give it to his officers and servants. 16 And he will take your male servants, your female servants, your finest [l]young men, and your donkeys, and put them to his work. 17 He will take a tenth of your sheep. And you will be his servants. 18 And you will cry out in that day because of your king whom you have chosen for yourselves, and the LORD [r]will not hear you in that day."

19 Nevertheless the people [s]refused to obey the voice of Samuel; and they said, "No, but we will have a king over us, 20 that we also may be [t]like all the nations, and that our king may judge us and go out before us and fight our battles."

21 And Samuel heard all the words of the people, and he repeated them in the hearing of the LORD. 22 So the LORD said to Samuel, [u]"Heed their voice, and make them a king."

And Samuel said to the men of Israel, "Every man go to his city."

■ 8:5 Now make us a king. The reasons given by the elders for wanting a king, though acceptable in themselves (as confirmed by the narrator in vv. 1–3), are really a pretext; what they really wanted was to become like "all the nations" (cf. v. 20).

■ 8:7 they have not rejected you. Since the elders couch their request in terms of a "king to judge us" (v. 5 note), Samuel initially interprets their overture as an attack on his own leadership (v. 6). But the Lord points out to him that the affront is far graver than that.

they have rejected Me. The offense of the elders' request lies not in the concept of human kingship in itself, for kingship in Israel had long been anticipated (2:10 note), but in breaking their covenant relationship with God. Their sin was to reject God as their king and to take instead a human monarch (10:19; 12:12–20; and contrast Gideon's refusal in Judg. 8:23).

■ 8:10 who asked him for a king. For the second time in 1 Samuel an individual is "asked for." The individual given in response to the first request was Samuel (1:20 note), and it is Saul (whose name is based on the Hebrew root meaning "ask for") who will be given in response to the second request.

■ 8:11 This will be the behavior of the king. Israel's Canaanite neighbors and many of the Israelite kings were guilty of harsh practices like those described in vv. 11–17.

chariots. See 2 Sam. 8:4; 15:1; 1 Kin. 4:26; 10:26–29.

run before. Compare the actions of Absalom in 2 Sam. 15:1 with Adonijah in 1 Kin. 1:5.

■ 8:14 fields . . . vineyards. See note on 22:7.

■ 8:15–17 tenth. The demands of the king will either take from what belongs to the Lord (Lev. 27:30–32; Deut. 14:22, 28) or create a tax burden for his subjects.

■ 8:18 your king. See 12:13 and contrast 16:1.

the LORD will not hear you. Judging by the consequences, Israel's rejection of the Lord in favor of a human king is the moral and religious equivalent of forsaking the Lord to serve other gods (Judg. 10:10–14).

■ 8:20 like all the nations. See note on v. 5.

fight our battles. To be contrasted with "the LORD's battles" (18:17; 25:28).

■ 8:22 Heed their voice, and make them a king. The Lord's concession to the people's sinful request is, at this point in the account, perplexing. If their desire for a king is sinful, amounting to a rejection of God as king (vv. 7, 18 and notes), how can God grant it? One answer lies in the standards of acceptable kingship that the Lord will establish. God is graciously willing to give the people a king and even to bless him, although not the sort of king they envisage (10:1, 7, 8 and notes). At the same time, because they adopted kingship in unbelief, they came to suffer under kings like those of the nations.

Every man go to his city. Samuel's dismissal of the men of Israel implies that appointing a king will require some preparation. The course of that preparation will be related in the chapters that follow.

9 There was a man of Benjamin whose name was [a]Kish the son of Abiel, the son of Zeror, the son of Bechorath, the son of Aphiah, a Benjamite, a mighty man of [1]power. 2 And he had a choice and handsome son whose name was Saul. There was not a more handsome person than he among the children of Israel. [b]From his shoulders upward he was taller than any of the people.

3 Now the donkeys of Kish, Saul's father, were lost. And Kish said to his son Saul, "Please take one of the servants with you, and arise, go and look for the donkeys." 4 So he passed through the mountains of Ephraim and through the land of [c]Shalisha, but they did not find them. Then they passed through the land of Shaalim, and they were not there. Then he passed through the land of the Benjamites, but they did not find them.

5 When they had come to the land of [d]Zuph, Saul said to his servant who was with him, "Come, let [e]us return, lest my father cease caring about the donkeys and become worried about us."

6 And he said to him, "Look now, there is in this city [f]a man of God, and he is an honorable man; [g]all that he says surely comes to pass. So let us go there; perhaps he can show us the way that we should go."

7 Then Saul said to his servant, "But look, if we go, [h]what shall we bring the man? For the bread in our vessels is all gone, and there is no present to bring to the man of God. What do we have?"

8 And the servant answered Saul again and said, "Look, I have here at hand one-fourth of a shekel of silver. I will give that to the man of God, to tell us our way." 9 (Formerly in Israel, when a man [i]went [2]to inquire of God, he spoke thus: "Come, let us go to the seer"; for he who is now called a prophet was formerly called [j]a seer.)

10 Then Saul said to his servant, [3]"Well said; come, let us go." So they went to the city where the man of God was.

11 As they went up the hill to the city, [k]they met some young women going out to draw water, and said to them, "Is the seer here?"

12 And they answered them and said, "Yes, there he is, just ahead of you. Hurry now; for today he came to this city, because [l]there is a sacrifice of the people today [m]on the high place. 13 As soon as you come into the city, you will surely find him before he goes up to the high place to eat. For the people will not eat until he comes, because he must bless the sacrifice; afterward those who are invited will eat. Now therefore, go up, for about this time you will find him." 14 So they went up to the city. As they were coming into the city, there was Samuel, coming out toward them on his way up to the high place.

15 [n]Now the LORD had told Samuel in his ear the day before Saul came, saying, 16 "Tomorrow about this time [o]I will send you a man from the land of Benjamin, [p]and you shall anoint him

■ 9:1 a mighty man of power. The opening verse of the account of Saul's adventures is formally similar to the beginning of the birth narrative of Samuel (1:1). In both instances the father of the principal character is introduced with sufficient genealogical references to suggest a man of standing. In Samuel's introduction we are also told of the father's faithful religious observance (1:3–5), whereas in this account we are introduced immediately to Saul (v. 2), and the focus remains exclusively on external qualities.

■ 9:2 a choice and handsome son. The emphasis of this description is Saul's physical stature and impressive appearance. Compare the description of Absalom in 2 Sam. 14:25, 26.

■ 9:6 there is in this city a man of God. That Saul is unaware of the presence and reputation of the man of God or has not thought of consulting him reflects negatively on his judgment.

all that he says surely comes to pass. The man of God is Samuel, of whom it is said in 3:19 that the Lord "let none of his words fall to the ground."

■ 9:7 there is no present to bring to the man of God. Josephus (Antiquities 6.4.1) interprets Saul's words as a sign that he was ignorant that a true prophet would accept no reward. Israel's writing prophets express disdain for those who prophesy for money (Mic. 3:5, 11), although there are various references to goods being offered in return for prophetic favors (e.g., 1 Kin. 14:3; 2 Kin. 4:42; 8:8). In two instances payment is explicitly refused (1 Kin. 13:7–9; 2 Kin. 5:15, 16), and in one instance where goods are accepted, the payment does not benefit the prophet personally but is distributed among the people (2 Kin. 4:42).

■ 9:9 a prophet was formerly called a seer. The terms are synonymous.

■ 9:12 they answered. In the Hebrew, vv. 12, 13 convey excitement and animation as the girls urge Saul to hurry up to the city, where he will be just in time to meet Samuel.

high place. Although it was recognized that such high places (often sites of Canaanite worship) posed a clear danger to the purity of Israelite worship (e.g., Lev. 26:30; Num. 33:52; Deut. 12:2, 3; Jer. 2:20), it is apparent from passages such as this that worship of Yahweh was sometimes conducted there, especially during the early monarchy (10:5; 1 Kin. 3:2–4). Such worship may have been made necessary by the loss of the sanctuary at Shiloh (1:3 note). After the division of the kingdom, worship at "high places" was a serious problem both in the north (1 Kin. 12:31, 32; 13:32–34) and in the south (1 Kin. 14:22–24). Removal of the "high places" was a major goal of reform movements under southern kings like Hezekiah (2 Kin. 18:4) and Josiah (2 Kin. 23:5).

[4]commander over My people Israel, that he may save My people from the hand of the Philistines; for I have [q]looked upon My people, because their cry has come to Me."

17 So when Samuel saw Saul, the LORD said to him, [r]"There he is, the man of whom I spoke to you. This one shall reign over My people." 18 Then Saul drew near to Samuel in the gate, and said, "Please tell me, where is the seer's house?"

19 Samuel answered Saul and said, "I am the seer. Go up before me to the high place, for you shall eat with me today; and tomorrow I will let you go and will tell you all that is in your heart. 20 But as for [s]your donkeys that were lost three days ago, do not be anxious about them, for they have been found. And [5]on whom [t]is all the desire of Israel? Is it not on you and on all your father's house?"

21 And Saul answered and said, [u]"Am I not a Benjamite, of the [v]smallest of the tribes of Israel, and [w]my family the least of all the families of the [6]tribe of Benjamin? Why then do you speak like this to me?"

22 Now Samuel took Saul and his servant and brought them into the hall, and had them sit in the place of honor among those who were invited; there were about thirty persons. 23 And Samuel said to the cook, "Bring the portion which I gave you, of which I said to you, 'Set it apart.' " 24 So the cook took up [x]the thigh with its upper part and set it before Saul. And Samuel said, "Here it is, what was kept back. It was set apart for you. Eat; for until this time it has been kept for you, since I said I invited the people." So Saul ate with Samuel that day.

25 When they had come down from the high place into the city, [7]Samuel spoke with Saul on [y]the top of the house. 26 They arose early; and it was about the dawning of the day that Samuel called to Saul on the top of the house, saying, "Get up, that I may send you on your way." And Saul arose, and both of them went outside, he and Samuel.

Saul Anointed King

27 As they were going down to the outskirts of the city, Samuel said to Saul, "Tell the servant to go on ahead of us." And he went on. "But you stand here [8]awhile, that I may announce to you the word of God."

10 Then [a]Samuel took a flask of oil and poured it on his head, [b]and kissed him and said: "Is it not because [c]the LORD has anointed you commander over [d]His [1]inheritance? 2 When you have departed from me today, you will find two men by [e]Rachel's tomb in the territory of Benjamin [f]at Zelzah; and they will say to you, 'The donkeys which you went to look for have been found. And now your father has ceased caring about the donkeys and is worrying about [g]you, saying, "What shall I do about my son?" ' 3 Then you shall go on forward from there and come to the terebinth tree of Tabor. There three men going up [h]to God at Bethel will meet you, one carrying three young goats, another carrying three loaves of bread, and another carrying a skin of wine. 4 And they will [2]greet you and give you two loaves of bread, which you shall receive from their hands. 5 After that you shall come to the hill of God [i]where the Philistine garrison is. And it will happen, when you have come there to the city, that you will meet a group of commander. The word appears to be a title for "one designated to rule" (cf. its use with reference to Solomon as crown prince in 1 Kin. 1:35). Saul's assignment in the immediate context is to deliver Israel from the Philistines, and against the background of ch. 8 the logical assumption is that he will go on to become king.

Philistines. See note on 4:1.

■ 9:18 Saul drew near to Samuel. Saul's failure to recognize Samuel is a troubling hint of spiritual insensitivity and inattentiveness that will increasingly characterize Saul as the narrative progresses.

■ 9:20 all the desire of Israel. This expression may suggest that Saul is just the kind of king the people want in ch. 8.

■ 9:24 took up the thigh . . . set it before Saul. The special treatment given Saul illustrates not only his newly elevated status but also Samuel's divinely enabled anticipation of his arrival (vv. 15, 16).

■ 10:1 anointed you commander. See note on 9:16.

His inheritance. See 9:16 ("My people Israel"); 2 Sam. 20:19 and note; Deut. 32:9. The Lord's willingness to grant the people a human king does not mean that He forfeited His rule over His own people, Israel. The appointed king was always subordinate to God.

■ 10:2–6 Samuel's words will be confirmed to Saul as the sequence of events comes to pass in the order foretold. Finally, Saul will come under the power of the Spirit (vv. 5, 6).

■ 10:5 the Philistine garrison. The mention of a "Philistine garrison" foreshadows the task ahead for the one designated to deliver the people of God from the Philistines (9:16). On the stationing of garrisons in subject territories, see David's practice in 2 Sam. 8:6.

group of prophets. Samuel is associated with a group of prophets in 19:20, where he is described as their leader. Note the similar association of Elisha with the "sons of the prophets" in 2 Kin. 2; 6:1; 9:1; etc. These prophetic guilds appear to have been made up of defenders of true religion in times of widespread apostasy and spiritual indifference.

prophesying. Prophecy in the Old Testament is often, though not exclusively, associated with the giving of a message (see Aaron's role as Moses' "prophet" or spokesman in Ex. 7:1; and compare Ezek. 21:9; Amos 3:8). God's prophets were His messengers (2 Sam. 7:1–5; 12:1; 24:11–12). In some places, prophecy is associated with music (Ex. 15:20, 21; 1 Chr. 25:1). The prophesying in view here seems to be praising God and exhorting the people with musical accompaniment.

prophets coming down [j]from the high place with a stringed instrument, a tambourine, a flute, and a harp before them; [k]and they will be prophesying. 6 Then [l]the Spirit of the LORD will come upon you, and [m]you will prophesy with them and be turned into another man. 7 And let it be, when these [n]signs come to you, that you do as the occasion demands; for [o]God is with you. 8 You shall go down before me [p]to Gilgal; and surely I will come down to you to offer burnt offerings and make sacrifices of peace offerings. [q]Seven days you shall wait, till I come to you and show you what you should do."

9 So it was, when he had turned his back to go from Samuel, that God [3]gave him another heart; and all those signs came to pass that day. 10 [r]When they came there to the hill, there was [s]a group of prophets to meet him; then the Spirit of God came upon him, and he prophesied among them. 11 And it happened, when all who knew him formerly saw that he indeed prophesied among the prophets, that the people said to one another, "What is this that has come upon the son of Kish? [t]Is Saul also among the prophets?" 12 Then a man from there answered and said, "But [u]who is their father?" Therefore it became a proverb: "Is Saul also among the prophets?" 13 And when he had finished prophesying, he went to the high place.

14 Then Saul's [v]uncle said to him and his servant, "Where did you go?"

So he said, "To look for the donkeys. When we saw that they were nowhere to be found, we went to Samuel."

15 And Saul's uncle said, "Tell me, please, what Samuel said to you."

16 So Saul said to his uncle, "He told us plainly that the donkeys had been [w]found." But about the matter of the kingdom, he did not tell him what Samuel had said.

Saul Proclaimed King

17 Then Samuel called the people together [x]to the LORD [y]at Mizpah, 18 and said to the children of Israel, [z]"Thus says the LORD God of Israel: 'I brought up Israel out of Egypt, and delivered you from the hand of the Egyptians and from the hand of all kingdoms and from those who oppressed you.' 19 [a]But you have today rejected your God, who Himself saved you from all your adversities and your tribulations; and you have said to Him, 'No, set a king over us!' Now therefore, present yourselves before the LORD by your tribes and by your [4]clans."

20 And when Samuel had [b]caused all the tribes of Israel to come near, the tribe of Benjamin was chosen. 21 When he had caused the tribe of Benjamin to come near by their families, the family of Matri was chosen. And Saul the son of Kish was chosen. But when they sought him, he could not be found. 22 Therefore they [c]inquired of the LORD further, "Has the man come here yet?"

And the LORD answered, "There he is, hidden among the equipment."

■ 10:6 Spirit of the LORD will come upon you. See v. 10; 11:6 note. The activity of the Spirit with Samson is expressed in identical terms (Judg. 14:6, 19; 15:14). Whereas the Spirit was ultimately withdrawn from Saul (cf. 16:14; 18:10), David's endowment with the Spirit was permanent (16:13). Frequently in the Old Testament the bestowal of the Spirit is an empowerment by God of an individual for a particular task. Conversely, God can send a lying spirit (1 Kin. 22:23) or an evil ("distressing") spirit (16:14–16, 23; 18:10; 19:9; Judg. 9:23).

■ 10:7 do as the occasion demands. In the light of Saul's general commission to deliver Israel from the Philistines (9:16) and of Samuel's specific mention of a visible symbol of Philistine domination at the site of the third and final sign (v. 5), Samuel's words could be taken to imply that Saul should respond to his anointing by attacking the Philistine outpost. In the event, this possibility is not realized. Samuel's words can also be interpreted as an encouragement for Saul to submit to the prophetic influence mentioned in v. 6.

■ 10:8 go down before me to Gilgal. When Saul has done "as the occasion demands," he is to meet Samuel in Gilgal, so the latter can offer sacrifices and give Saul further instructions.

burnt offerings. A full description of the ritual of the burnt offering can be found in Lev. 1:3–17. Burnt offerings are also mentioned in 6:14, 15; 7:9, 10; 13:9, 12; 15:22; 2 Sam. 6:17, 18; 24:22–25.

peace offerings. The fellowship offering is described in Lev. 3 and is first mentioned in Ex. 20:24. Other references in Samuel to fellowship offerings are 11:15; 13:9; 2 Sam. 6:17, 18; 24:25.

■ 10:9 God gave him another heart. The language is similar to Ezek. 11:19; 36:26, if not John 3:3 (see also Jer. 31:31). But it is difficult to say what Saul's experience was precisely.

■ 10:11 Is Saul also among the prophets. Or, "Is even Saul among the prophets?" The proverb (v. 12) expresses surprise at something very improbable. The onlookers who knew Saul are surprised to find him associating with religious enthusiasts.

■ 10:12 who is their father. Since leaders of prophetic guilds were sometimes called "Father" (2 Kin. 2:12; 6:21), this question might be asking for the leader of this particular guild. If, on the other hand, the onlookers are contemptuous of prophecy, their surprise might be that a man like Saul, of good family and social standing, would associate with such "madmen" (cf. 2 Kin. 9:11), whose fathers were inferior to his. Still another possibility is that the question means that the "Father" or origin of the prophetic band does not follow normal rules, and Saul, unlikely as it may seem, has found a place with them. See "Prophets" at Deut. 18:18.

■ 10:14–16 The significance of this conversation has long puzzled commentators. Some have understood Saul's reluctance to mention the kingship (v. 16) as a sign of humility.

■ 10:17 Samuel called the people. The Lord's choice of Saul is now made public at Mizpah, apparently through casting a lot or using the Urim and Thummim (v. 20 and note).

■ 10:20 Benjamin was chosen. Casting lots was probably the method of selection (cf. Lev. 16:8–10; Num. 26:55), and it may have involved the Urim and Thummim (2:28; Ex. 28:30 note; Num. 27:21; Deut. 33:8).

■ 10:22 hidden among the equipment. The Lord singles out Saul even though he is not immediately present. Something similar occurs with David (16:11).

23 So they ran and brought him from there; and when he stood among the people, [d]he was taller than any of the people from his shoulders upward. 24 And Samuel said to all the people, "Do you see him [e]whom the LORD has chosen, that there is no one like him among all the people?"

So all the people shouted and said, [f]"Long[5] live the king!"

25 Then Samuel explained to the people [g]the behavior of royalty, and wrote it in a book and laid it up before the LORD. And Samuel sent all the people away, every man to his house. 26 And Saul also went home [h]to Gibeah; and valiant men went with him, whose hearts God had touched. 27 [i]But some [j]rebels said, "How can this man save us?" So they despised him, [k]and brought him no presents. But he [6]held his peace.

Saul Saves Jabesh Gilead

11 Then [a]Nahash the Ammonite came up and [l]encamped against [b]Jabesh Gilead; and all the men of Jabesh said to Nahash, [c]"Make a covenant with us, and we will serve you."

2 And Nahash the Ammonite answered them, "On this condition I will make a covenant with you, that I may put out all your right eyes, and bring [d]reproach on all Israel."

3 Then the elders of Jabesh said to him, "Hold off for seven days, that we may send messengers to all the territory of Israel. And then, if there is no one to [2]save us, we will come out to you."

4 So the messengers came [e]to Gibeah of Saul and told the news in the hearing of the people. And [f]all the people lifted up their voices and wept. 5 Now there was Saul, coming behind the herd from the field; and Saul said, "What troubles the people, that they weep?" And they told him the words of the men of Jabesh. 6 [g]Then the Spirit of God came upon Saul when he heard this news, and his anger was greatly aroused. 7 So he took a yoke of oxen and [h]cut them in pieces, and sent them throughout all the territory of Israel by the hands of messengers, saying, [i]"Whoever does not go out with Saul and Samuel to battle, so it shall be done to his oxen."

And the fear of the LORD fell on the people, and they came out [3]with one consent. 8 When he numbered them in [j]Bezek, the children [k]of Israel were three hundred thousand, and the men of Judah thirty thousand. 9 And they said to the messengers who came, "Thus you shall say to the men of Jabesh Gilead: 'Tomorrow, by the time the sun is hot, you shall have help.' " Then the messengers came and reported it to the men of Jabesh, and they were glad. 10 Therefore the men of Jabesh said, "Tomorrow we will come out to you, and you may do with us whatever seems good to you."

11 So it was, on the next day, that [l]Saul put the people [m]in three companies; and they came into the midst of the camp in the morning watch, and killed Ammonites until the heat of the day.

■ 10:25 the behavior of royalty. A similar expression in 8:9–11 refers to the negative consequences of having a king. Here it means the regulations that a king must follow (Deut. 17:14–20; 2 Kin. 11:12 note).

laid it up before the LORD. See Deut. 31:26; Josh. 24:26.

■ 10:27 How can this man save us. Those who pose this question are "rebels" because they call into question the Lord's process of selection.

■ 11:1 Nahash the Ammonite. Descended from Lot, the Ammonites were a Semitic people (Gen. 19:38; Deut. 2:19) whose kingdom was on the east side of the Jordan, south of the Jabbok River. While Ammon was sometimes on friendly terms with Israel (2 Sam. 10:2), the Ammonites often exerted pressure on Israel's eastern border (Judg. 3:13; 11:4–32), as the Philistines did on the west. According to the Dead Sea Scrolls and Josephus (Antiquities 6.5.1), the siege of Jabesh Gilead was part of a larger campaign by Nahash.

Jabesh Gilead. A principal city in what was probably the territory of Gad, Jabesh Gilead was east of the Jordan River, twenty-two miles south of the Sea of Chinnereth (Galilee).

■ 11:2 put out all your right eyes. While the stated reason for such treatment is to "bring reproach on all Israel," Josephus (Antiquities 6.5.1) remarks that the loss of the right eye would have made military service impossible, since the sight of the left eye would be hindered by the shield.

■ 11:3 we will come out to you. While the elders of Jabesh clearly intend Nahash to understand their words as a surrender, the Hebrew verb employed is often used in the sense of soldiers "going out" to battle (8:20; 18:30; 2 Sam. 18:2–4, 6). When in v. 10 the men of Jabesh again promise to "go out" to the Ammonites, it is with some irony, because the Ammonites are still thinking of "surrender," but the townspeople are planning to fight.

■ 11:6 Spirit of God came upon Saul. The phrase recalls the activity of the Spirit with Samson (10:6 note), except that here (as in 10:10) "God" is used in place of the personal name "LORD."

■ 11:7 cut them in pieces. Saul's action roughly parallels that of the Levite in Judg. 19. The Levite's sin was notorious and the comparison would not be at all complimentary.

and Samuel. See notes on 10:1, 7, 8.

■ 11:8 Bezek. Located nine miles west of the Jordan River, opposite Jabesh Gilead.

children of Israel . . . men of Judah. Even before the division of the kingdom (1 Kin. 12), a distinction was often made between the northern and southern tribes (17:52; 18:16; 2 Sam. 2:10; 3:10; 5:5; 11:11; 12:8; 19:11, 40–43; 20:2; 21:2; 24:1, 9).

■ 11:10 we will come out to you. See note on v. 3.

■ 11:11 three companies. See 13:17; Judg. 7:16; 9:43; 2 Sam. 18:2.

in the morning watch. Between 2:00 and 6:00 A.M., taking advantage of the cover of darkness.

And it happened that those who survived were scattered, so that no two of them were left together.

12 Then the people said to Samuel, [n]"Who is he who said, 'Shall Saul reign over us?' [o]Bring the men, that we may put them to death."

13 But Saul said, [p]"Not a man shall be put to death this day, for today [q]the LORD has accomplished salvation in Israel."

14 Then Samuel said to the people, "Come, let us go [r]to Gilgal and renew the kingdom there."

15 So all the people went to Gilgal, and there they made Saul king [s]before the LORD in Gilgal. [t]There they made sacrifices of peace offerings before the LORD, and there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly.

Samuel's Address at Saul's Coronation

12 Now Samuel said to all Israel: "Indeed I have [1]heeded [a]your voice in all that you said to me, and [b]have made a king over you. 2 And now here is the king, [c]walking before you; [d]and I am old and grayheaded, and look, my sons are with you. I have walked before you from my childhood to this day. 3 Here I am. Witness against me before the LORD and before [e]His anointed: [f]Whose ox have I taken, or whose donkey have I taken, or whom have I cheated? Whom have I oppressed, or from whose hand have I received any [g]bribe with which to [h]blind my eyes? I will restore it to you."

4 And they said, [i]"You have not cheated us or oppressed us, nor have you taken anything from any man's hand."

5 Then he said to them, "The LORD is witness against you, and His anointed is witness this day, [j]that you have not found anything [k]in my hand."

And they answered, "He is witness."

6 Then Samuel said to the people, [l]"It is the LORD who raised up Moses and Aaron, and who brought your fathers up from the land of Egypt. 7 Now therefore, stand still, that I may [m]reason with you before the LORD concerning all the [n]righteous acts of the LORD which He did to you and your fathers: 8 [o]When Jacob had gone into [2]Egypt, and your fathers [p]cried out to the LORD, then the LORD [q]sent Moses and Aaron, who brought your fathers out of Egypt and made them dwell in this place. 9 And when they [r]forgot the LORD their God, He sold them into the hand of [s]Sisera, commander of the army of Hazor, into the hand of the [t]Philistines, and into the hand of the king of [u]Moab; and they fought against them. 10 Then they cried out to the LORD, and said, [v]'We have sinned, because we have forsaken the LORD [w]and served the Baals and [3]Ashtoreths; but now deliver us from the hand of our enemies, and we will serve You.' 11 And the LORD sent

■ 11:12 Bring the men. The reference includes, but may not be limited to, the "rebels" of 10:27.

■ 11:13 the LORD has accomplished salvation in Israel. Saul interrupts a question directed to Samuel with a confession that marks a high point in his own life. His amnesty or pardon of those "rebels" (10:27) who rejected him can possibly be compared to his reluctance to kill Agag and the flocks of Amalek (15:9), if it is thought of as a failure to carry out the harsher aspects of a divine commission.

■ 11:14 let us go to Gilgal and renew the kingdom. On one level it is the process of Saul's accession to the throne that can now be resumed (v. 15 note), but on a deeper level it is the continued reign of the Lord that must be renewed (ch. 12).

Gilgal. See note on 13:4.

■ 11:15 made Saul king. A person's rise to leadership in ancient Israel can be analyzed as following a three-step process: (a) designation as the Lord's choice; (b) demonstration of valor and of having the Lord's power through performing a heroic feat; and (c) confirmation by the people. Saul was designated by Samuel, and he had a prophetic experience (ch. 10). Although he might immediately have attacked the Philistine garrison at Gibeah (10:5, 8), he soon after gains an important victory by delivering Jabesh Gilead (v. 13). He is then crowned at Gilgal.

peace offerings. See note on 10:8.

■ 12:1 have made a king over you. The process of accession to the throne has been completed, and Samuel's speech in ch. 12 marks the end of the period of the judges.

■ 12:3–15 Samuel advances a three-pronged argument to compel the people to recognize their guilt for requesting a king. First, he invites agreement from the people that his leadership has been blameless (vv. 4, 5). Second, he points out that in the past it was always the Lord who appointed leaders (v. 6), and these proved fully adequate (vv. 7, 8). Third, he emphasizes that even when Israel "forgot the LORD their God," the Lord was gracious to them. Although He subjected them to enemy oppression (v. 9), He heard their confessions of sin and cries for deliverance (v. 10) and raised up judges, among them Samuel himself (v. 11). Against this background of the sufficiency of the Lord's provision, the people's demand to have a human king, even though the Lord was their king (v. 12), can be seen for what it is (8:7). Nevertheless, kingship can succeed, if both king and people "fear the LORD and serve Him and obey His voice" (v. 14).

■ 12:3 His anointed. See note on 2:10. Saul's anointing is ordered in 9:16 and performed in 10:1.

Whose ox . . . whose donkey have I taken. Valuable possessions in biblical times, ox and donkey are mentioned in the tenth commandment as typical objects of covetousness (Ex. 20:17; Deut. 5:21).

■ 12:7 may reason with you. Samuel has taken the stand himself as a defendant and been acquitted (vv. 3–5); now he takes the role of prosecutor and the people become the defendants. Their crime is having desired a king in total disregard of all the "righteous acts of the LORD" throughout the time of the Exodus and the judges (vv. 7–11).

[4]Jerubbaal, [5]Bedan, [x]Jephthah, and [y]Samuel,[6] and delivered you out of the hand of your enemies on every side; and you dwelt in safety. 12 And when you saw that [z]Nahash king of the Ammonites came against you, [a]you said to me, 'No, but a king shall reign over us,' when [b]the LORD your God was your king.

13 "Now therefore, [c]here is the king [d]whom you have chosen and whom you have desired. And take note, [e]the LORD has set a king over you. 14 If you [f]fear the LORD and serve Him and obey His voice, and do not rebel against the commandment of the LORD, then both you and the king who reigns over you will continue following the LORD your God. 15 However, if you do [g]not obey the voice of the LORD, but [h]rebel against the commandment of the LORD, then the hand of the LORD will be against you, as it was against your fathers.

16 "Now therefore, [i]stand and see this great thing which the LORD will do before your eyes: 17 Is today not the [j]wheat harvest? [k]I will call to the LORD, and He will send thunder and [l]rain, that you may perceive and see that [m]your wickedness is great, which you have done in the sight of the LORD, in asking a king for yourselves."

18 So Samuel called to the LORD, and the LORD sent thunder and rain that day; and [n]all the people greatly feared the LORD and Samuel.

19 And all the people said to Samuel, [o]"Pray for your servants to the LORD your God, that we may not die; for we have added to all our sins the evil of asking a king for ourselves."

20 Then Samuel said to the people, "Do not fear. You have done all this wickedness; [p]yet do not turn aside from following the LORD, but serve the LORD with all your heart. 21 And [q]do not turn aside; [r]for then you would go after empty things which cannot profit or deliver, for they are nothing. 22 For [s]the LORD will not forsake [t]His people, [u]for His great name's sake, because [v]it has pleased the LORD to make you His people. 23 Moreover, as for me, far be it from me that I should sin against the LORD [w]in ceasing to pray for you; but [x]I will teach you the [y]good and the right way. 24 [z]Only fear the LORD, and serve Him in truth with all your heart; for [a]consider what [b]great things He has done for you. 25 But if you still do wickedly, [c]you shall be swept away, [d]both you and your king."

Saul's Unlawful Sacrifice

13 Saul [1]reigned one year; and when he had reigned two years over Israel, 2 Saul chose for himself three thousand men of Israel. Two thousand were with Saul in [a]Michmash and in the mountains of Bethel, and a thousand were with [b]Jonathan in [c]Gibeah of Benjamin. The rest of the people he sent away, every man to his tent.

■ 12:12 when you saw that Nahash king of the Ammonites came against you. Though it is not explicitly mentioned in ch. 8, it is possible that the Ammonite threat was already a concern at that time (11:1 note). Alternatively, Samuel may simply be citing the Ammonite episode as the most recent example of the people's faithless tendency to seek help from men rather than God. Saul himself gave the Lord credit for the victory (11:13).

■ 12:13 the king whom you have chosen. See 8:18 and contrast 16:1.

whom you have desired. See 8:10 note.

■ 12:14 fear the LORD. A fundamental prerequisite for covenant blessing in Moses' day (Deut. 6:2, 24; 10:12; 31:12, 13), in Joshua's (Josh. 4:24; 24:14), and now in the new era of the monarchy, "fear of the LORD" means standing in awe of Him and giving Him the honor and obedience that is His due as God and gracious Father.

■ 12:16–19 Having made his case against the people in vv. 3–15, Samuel now invokes a dramatic sign to drive home the point of the people's guilt. The sign achieves the desired result, and the people repent for having "added to all our sins the evil of asking a king" (v. 19). On signs accompanying prophetic utterances, see 2:34 note.

■ 12:17 wheat harvest. The wheat harvest probably took place in May and June, early in Israel's dry season.

■ 12:20–25 In response to the people's repentance, Samuel comforts them, "Do not fear," and challenges them to renewed commitment (v. 20).

■ 12:23 pray for you . . . teach you. Samuel's responsibilities in the kingdom will include intercession and instruction (12:1 note; for other duties of Samuel see 10:8).

■ 12:24 fear the LORD. See note on v. 14.

with all your heart. See v. 20; 16:7.

■ 13:1—14:52 Saul's reign officially begins. Compare the chronological notice of 13:1 with similar formulas in 2 Sam. 2:10; 5:4; 1 Kin. 14:21; 22:42). The narrative turns to Saul's first encounters with the Philistines, who were a continuing threat to Israel.

■ 13:1 The preservation of this verse in the manuscript tradition has some defect, since as it stands the Hebrew says that Saul was one year old when he began to rule. But Saul was already a soldier. Saul probably reigned about twenty years, and the number "forty" in Acts 13:21 would be a round figure meaning "a long time." See the chronology in Introduction: Date and Occasion.

■ 13:2 Michmash. Some four miles southeast of Bethel on the north side of the Wadi Suwenet, a seasonal river valley used for travel between the Jordan Valley and the central hill country.

Gibeah of Benjamin. This may be the Gibeah three miles north of Jerusalem, or possibly it was a village facing Michmash from the south side of the Wadi Suwenet.

3 And Jonathan attacked [d]the garrison of the Philistines that was in [e]Geba, and the Philistines heard of it. Then Saul blew the trumpet throughout all the land, saying, "Let the Hebrews hear!"
4 Now all Israel heard it said that Saul had attacked a garrison of the Philistines, and that Israel had also become [2]an abomination to the Philistines. And the people were called together to Saul at Gilgal.

5 Then the Philistines gathered together to fight with Israel, [3]thirty thousand chariots and six thousand horsemen, and people [f]as the sand which is on the seashore in multitude. And they came up and encamped in Michmash, to the east of [g]Beth Aven. 6 When the men of Israel saw that they were in danger (for the people were distressed), then the people [h]hid in caves, in thickets, in rocks, in holes, and in pits. 7 And some of the Hebrews crossed over the Jordan to the [i]land of Gad and Gilead.

As for Saul, he was still in Gilgal, and all the people followed him trembling. 8 [j]Then he waited seven days, according to the time set by Samuel. But Samuel did not come to Gilgal; and the people were scattered from him. 9 So Saul said, "Bring a burnt offering and peace offerings here to me." And he offered the burnt offering. 10 Now it happened, as soon as he had finished presenting the burnt offering, that Samuel came; and Saul went out to meet him, that he might [4]greet him.

11 And Samuel said, "What have you done?"

Saul said, "When I saw that the people were scattered from me, and that you did not come within the days appointed, and that the Philistines gathered together at Michmash, 12 then I said, 'The Philistines will now come down on me at Gilgal, and I have not made supplication to the LORD.' Therefore I felt compelled, and offered a burnt offering."

13 And Samuel said to Saul, [k]"You have done foolishly. [l]You have not kept the commandment of the LORD your God, which He commanded you. For now the LORD would have established your kingdom over Israel forever. 14 [m]But now your kingdom shall not continue. [n]The LORD has sought for Himself a man [o]after His own heart, and the LORD has commanded him to be commander over His people, because you have [p]not kept what the LORD commanded you."

15 Then Samuel arose and went up from Gilgal to Gibeah of [5]Benjamin. And Saul numbered the people present with him, [q]about six hundred men.

No Weapons for the Army

16 Saul, Jonathan his son, and the people present with them remained in [6]Gibeah of Benjamin. But the Philistines encamped in Michmash. 17 Then raiders came out of the camp of the Philistines in three companies. One company turned onto the road to [r]Ophrah, to the land of Shual, 18 another company turned to the road to [s]Beth Horon, and another company turned to the road of the border that overlooks the Valley of [t]Zeboim toward the wilderness.

19 Now [u]there was no blacksmith to be found throughout all the land of Israel, for the Philis-

Hebrews. See note on 4:6.

■ 13:4 Gilgal. Saul responds to the crisis precipitated by Jonathan (v. 3), gathering the people at Gilgal in accordance with Samuel's instructions (10:8). Gilgal's situation in the Jordan Valley near Jericho placed it outside immediate Philistine control, making it a strategic site for a general muster. Gilgal had figured prominently in Israel's earlier history (Josh. 4:19, 20; 5:10; 9:6; 10:6–15, 43; 1 Sam. 7:16; 11:14).

■ 13:7 all the people. These are the people summoned in v. 4, and not the troops already deployed in v. 2.

■ 13:8 the time set by Samuel. Samuel had previously specified seven days (10:8).

■ 13:9 burnt offering . . . peace offerings. See 10:8 note.

■ 13:11 What have you done. See note on 2:27–36.

When I saw. From a purely human perspective Saul's excuses would seem to carry some weight. But they do not take into account the freedom of God to act on behalf of His people, as Jonathan's testimony in 14:6 confirms.

■ 13:13 You have done foolishly. This Hebrew expression implies both intellectual and moral failure. For a similar confrontation between a prophet and a king, see 2 Chr. 16:7–9.

You have not kept the commandment. In this context, Saul had transgressed by offering sacrifices on his own authority.

■ 13:14 your kingdom shall not continue. Saul's hopes of establishing a dynasty are dashed, though Saul himself will not yet be deposed (15:23).

a man after His own heart. The phrase might also be rendered "a man of His own choosing," placing the accent on the Lord's sovereign election. Nevertheless, in the light of passages such as 2:35 and 16:7, the text is also saying that the Lord's chosen one, David, was "after God's heart" in the sense of being committed to His will and purposes.

■ 13:15 Then Samuel arose. Because of Saul's foolish action, Samuel apparently departed without giving Saul any further instructions (10:8). The longer reading of the Septuagint (the early Greek translation of the Old Testament; see text note) is probably correct, suggesting that after Samuel's departure Saul rejoined Jonathan at Geba (v. 2 note; v. 16 note).

■ 13:16 Gibeah. See text note. "Geba" is the more likely reading (v. 2 note).

■ 13:17 raiders came out . . . in three companies. Raiding parties would plunder and terrorize, as well as keep up military pressure by reconnoitering and controlling important routes.

■ 13:19–21 The Israelites were short of weapons and depended on the Philistines even for making their tools. Archaeological evidence suggests that the Philistines learned how to work iron earlier than their neighbors.

tines said, "Lest the Hebrews make swords or spears." 20 But all the Israelites would go down to the Philistines to sharpen each man's plowshare, his mattock, his ax, and his sickle; 21 and the charge for a sharpening was a [7]pim for the plowshares, the mattocks, the forks, and the axes, and to set the points of the goads. 22 So it came about, on the day of battle, that [v]there was neither sword nor spear found in the hand of any of the people who were with Saul and Jonathan. But they were found with Saul and Jonathan his son.

23 [w]And the garrison of the Philistines went out to the pass of Michmash.

Jonathan Defeats the Philistines

14 Now it happened one day that Jonathan the son of Saul said to the young man who [1]bore his armor, "Come, let us go over to the Philistines' garrison that is on the other side." But he did not tell his father. 2 And Saul was sitting in the outskirts of [a]Gibeah under a pomegranate tree which is in Migron. The people who were with him were about six hundred men. 3 [b]Ahijah the son of Ahitub, [c]Ichabod's brother, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eli, the LORD's priest in Shiloh, was [d]wearing an ephod. But the people did not know that Jonathan had gone.

4 Between the passes, by which Jonathan sought to go over [e]to the Philistines' garrison, there was a sharp rock on one side and a sharp rock on the other side. And the name of one was Bozez, and the name of the other Seneh. 5 The front of one faced northward opposite Michmash, and the other southward opposite Gibeah.

6 Then Jonathan said to the young man who bore his armor, "Come, let us go over to the garrison of these [f]uncircumcised; it may be that the LORD will work for us. For nothing restrains the LORD [g]from saving by many or by few."

7 So his armorbearer said to him, "Do all that is in your heart. Go then; here I am with you, according to your heart."

8 Then Jonathan said, "Very well, let us cross over to these men, and we will show ourselves to them. 9 If they say thus to us, 'Wait until we come to you,' then we will stand still in our place and not go up to them. 10 But if they say thus, 'Come up to us,' then we will go up. For the LORD has delivered them into our hand, and [h]this will be a sign to us."

11 So both of them showed themselves to the garrison of the Philistines. And the Philistines said, "Look, the Hebrews are coming out of the holes where they have [i]hidden." 12 Then the men of the garrison called to Jonathan and his armorbearer, and said, "Come up to us, and we will [2]show you something."

Jonathan said to his armorbearer, "Come up after me, for the LORD has delivered them into the hand of Israel." 13 And Jonathan climbed up on his hands and knees with his armorbearer after him; and they [j]fell before Jonathan. And as he came after him, his armorbearer killed them. 14 That first slaughter which Jonathan and his armorbearer made was about twenty men within about [3]half an acre of land.

15 And [k]there was [4]trembling in the camp, in the field, and among all the people. The garrison and [l]the raiders also trembled; and the earth quaked, so that it was [m]a very great trembling. 16 Now the watchmen of Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin looked, and there was the multitude, melting away; and they [n]went here and there. 17 Then Saul said to the people who were with him, "Now call the roll and see who has gone from us." And when they had called the roll, surpris-

■ 13:22 with Saul and Jonathan his son. This notice pins the hopes of Israel on two people in particular, and the following chapter compares them to the disadvantage of Saul.

■ 14:1 But he did not tell his father. Jonathan's decision not to tell his father of his daring plan may imply a lack of confidence in him (cf. Abigail's similar action in response to her husband Nabal in 25:19).

■ 14:3 son of Ahitub, Ichabod's brother. The presence of a member of the rejected priestly house of Eli (2:30) in Saul's camp is a reminder of the recent rejection of Saul's own royal house (13:14).

wearing an ephod. The presence in Saul's camp of the ephod useful for seeking God's will (2:28 note) encourages the expectation that he will use it to ask the Lord's guidance, as David does later (23:9–12; 30:7–8). In this instance however, Saul leaves it to Jonathan to discover the Lord's will (v. 10 note). In v. 19 (note) Saul shows a lack of respect for the ephod; later he savagely turns against those whose task it is to oversee its care and use (22:18; cf. 21:9). In the end, Saul's efforts to discover the Lord's will are met with silence (28:6 note).

■ 14:4 Bozez . . . Seneh. These names possibly mean "slippery" and "thorny" and so dramatize the challenge facing Jonathan.

■ 14:6 uncircumcised. The uncircumcised were people like the Philistines, who stood outside God's covenant (Gen. 17:14; Ex. 12:48; Judg. 14:3; 15:18).

nothing restrains the LORD from saving. Compare David's confidence in 17:47. Although the narrator does not offer a criticism of Saul's excuse in 13:11 (that "the people were scattered," and so forth), Jonathan's bold confession makes an indirect commentary on the inadequacy of that excuse.

■ 14:10 a sign to us. Jonathan is not willing to move ahead without the Lord's approval. In this regard he is more faithful than his father, who seems to show a declining commitment to obtaining divine guidance (13:8–15; 14:18, 19, 36 and notes).

■ 14:11 Hebrews. See note on 4:6.

ingly, Jonathan and his armorbearer were not there. [18] And Saul said to Ahijah, "Bring the [s]ark of God here" (for at that time the [s]ark of God was with the children of Israel). [19] Now it happened, while Saul [o]talked to the priest, that the noise which was in the camp of the Philistines continued to increase; so Saul said to the priest, "Withdraw your hand." [20] Then Saul and all the people who were with him assembled, and they went to the battle; and indeed [p]every man's sword was against his neighbor, and there was very great confusion. [21] Moreover the Hebrews who were with the Philistines before that time, who went up with them into the camp from the surrounding country, they also joined the Israelites who were with Saul and Jonathan. [22] Likewise all the men of Israel who [q]had hidden in the mountains of Ephraim, when they heard that the Philistines fled, they also followed hard after them in the battle. [23] [r]So the LORD saved Israel that day, and the battle shifted [s]to Beth Aven.

Saul's Rash Oath

[24] And the men of Israel were distressed that day, for Saul had [t]placed the people under oath, saying, "Cursed is the man who eats any food until evening, before I have taken vengeance on my enemies." So none of the people tasted food. [25] [u]Now all the people of the land came to a forest; and there was [v]honey on the ground. [26] And when the people had come into the woods, there was the honey, dripping; but no one put his hand to his mouth, for the people feared the oath. [27] But Jonathan had not heard his father charge the people with the oath; therefore he stretched out the end of the rod that was in his hand and dipped it in a honeycomb, and put his hand to his mouth; and his [6]countenance brightened. [28] Then one of the people said, "Your father strictly charged the people with an oath, saying, 'Cursed is the man who eats food this day.' " And the people were faint.

[29] But Jonathan said, "My father has troubled the land. Look now, how my countenance has brightened because I tasted a little of this honey. [30] How much better if the people had eaten freely today of the spoil of their enemies which they found! For now would there not have been a much greater slaughter among the Philistines?"

[31] Now they had [7]driven back the Philistines that day from Michmash to Aijalon. So the people were very faint. [32] And the people rushed on the [8]spoil, and took sheep, oxen, and calves, and slaughtered them on the ground; and the people ate them [w]with the blood. [33] Then they told Saul, saying, "Look, the people are sinning against the LORD by eating with the blood!"

So he said, "You have dealt treacherously; roll a large stone to me this day." [34] Then Saul said, "Disperse yourselves among the people, and say to them, 'Bring me here every man's ox and every man's sheep, slaughter them here, and eat; and do not sin against the LORD by eating with the blood.' " So every one of the people brought his ox with him that night, and slaughtered it there. [35] Then Saul [x]built an altar to the LORD. This was the first altar that he built to the LORD.

[36] Now Saul said, "Let us go down after the Philistines by night, and plunder them until the morning light; and let us not leave a man of them."

And they said, "Do whatever seems good to you."

Then the priest said, "Let us draw near to God here."

[37] So Saul [y]asked counsel of God, "Shall I go down after the Philistines? Will You deliver

■ 14:18 ark of God. See text note. The Septuagint (early Greek translation of the Old Testament) reads "ephod" and is probably correct since the ephod was clearly present in Gibeah (v. 3 note) and was used to inquire of the Lord (2:28 note). The Hebrew reading, "ark," is doubtful because the ark was in Kirjath Jearim at this time (7:1, 2); the ark is never said to have been used as a means of divine omen; and to touch the ark (cf. v. 19) resulted in death (6:19; 2 Sam. 6:6, 7).

■ 14:19 Withdraw your hand. In ordering the priest let go of the instrument by which the will of the Lord could have been determined, Saul takes matters back into his own hands (cf. 13:9).

■ 14:21 Hebrews. See note on 4:6.

■ 14:24 were distressed that day. This is an account of something that took place earlier the same day, that is, after Jonathan left to make an attack on the Philistines (vv. 13, 14) but before Saul joined the battle (v. 20).

for Saul. This can also be translated "so Saul," meaning that Saul placed the people under an oath as a response to their distress, and not by way of causing it.

■ 14:27 But Jonathan had not heard. Probably Jonathan did not hear because he had left the camp before the oath was imposed (v. 24 note).

■ 14:29 My father has troubled the land. The lack of confidence implicit in Jonathan's exclusion of his father from his plans (v. 1) now rises to an outright condemnation of his father's foolish action in binding the people under an oath. As in the case of Achan (Josh. 7:16–18, 25), a lot will be cast to uncover the guilty party, the "troubler" of the land. The lot reveals Jonathan as the one who violated the oath (v. 42), but the real troubler of Israel was Saul.

■ 14:31 Aijalon. About fifteen miles west of Michmash in the Valley of Aijalon, the route the Philistines seem to have followed back to their homeland.

■ 14:33 eating with the blood. Prohibitions against eating blood are recorded often in the Old Testament (Gen. 9:4; Lev. 3:17; 7:26, 27; 17:10, 12; 19:26; Deut. 15:23; Ezek. 33:25).

■ 14:35 the first altar. This is also the only altar to be mentioned.

■ 14:36 Then the priest said. It is unusual that the priest, probably Ahijah (v. 3), should take the initiative. But this agrees with the pattern of Saul's declining commitment to obtaining the Lord's guidance (v. 10 note).

them into the hand of Israel?" But [z]He did not answer him that day. 38 And Saul said, [a]"Come over here, all you chiefs of the people, and know and see what this sin was today. 39 For [b]as the LORD lives, who saves Israel, though it be in Jonathan my son, he shall surely die." But not a man among all the people answered him. 40 Then he said to all Israel, "You be on one side, and my son Jonathan and I will be on the other side."

And the people said to Saul, "Do what seems good to you."

41 Therefore Saul said to the LORD God of Israel, [c]"Give[g] a perfect lot." [d]So Saul and Jonathan were taken, but the people escaped. 42 And Saul said, "Cast lots between my son Jonathan and me." So Jonathan was taken. 43 Then Saul said to Jonathan, [e]"Tell me what you have done."

And Jonathan told him, and said, [f]"I only tasted a little honey with the end of the rod that was in my hand. So now I must die!"

44 Saul answered, [g]"God do so and more also; [h]for you shall surely die, Jonathan."

45 But the people said to Saul, "Shall Jonathan die, who has accomplished this great deliverance in Israel? Certainly not! [i]As the LORD lives, not one hair of his head shall fall to the ground, for he has worked [j]with God this day." So the people rescued Jonathan, and he did not die.

46 Then Saul returned from pursuing the Philistines, and the Philistines went to their own place.

Saul's Continuing Wars

47 So Saul established his sovereignty over Israel, and fought against all his enemies on every side, against Moab, against the people of [k]Ammon, against Edom, against the kings of [l]Zobah, and against the Philistines. Wherever he turned, he [l]harassed them. 48 And he gathered an army and [m]attacked[2] the Amalekites, and delivered Israel from the hands of those who plundered them.

49 [n]The sons of Saul were Jonathan, [3]Jishui, and Malchishua. And the names of his two daughters were these: the name of the firstborn Merab, and the name of the younger [o]Michal. 50 The name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam the daughter of Ahimaaz. And the name of the commander of his army was Abner the son of Ner, Saul's [p]uncle. 51 [q]Kish was the father of Saul, and Ner the father of Abner was the son of Abiel.

52 Now there was fierce war with the Philistines all the days of Saul. And when Saul saw any strong man or any valiant man, [r]he took him for himself.

Saul Spares King Agag

15 Samuel also said to Saul, [a]"The LORD sent me to anoint you king over His people, over Israel. Now therefore, heed the voice of the words of the LORD. 2 Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'I will punish Amalek for what he did to Israel, [b]how he ambushed him on the way when he came up from Egypt. 3 Now go and [c]attack[1] Amalek, and [d]utterly destroy all that they have, and do not spare them. But kill both man and woman, infant and nursing child, ox and sheep, camel and donkey.' "

4 So Saul gathered the people together and numbered them in Telaim, two hundred thousand

■ 14:39 But not a man . . . answered him. The people protected Jonathan.

■ 14:45 Certainly not. When forced by Saul's hardness (vv. 39, 44) to choose between Saul and Jonathan, the people choose Jonathan, whom they clearly recognize as the one the Lord used in the battle that day. Saul's foolish behavior has alienated him from everyone around him, even his own people. His isolation is not permanent, however, for Jonathan becomes his confidant again later (20:2), and the people show signs of renewed loyalty (23:19; 24:1). Even Samuel has further dealings with him (ch. 15).

■ 14:47–51 This gives a summary of Saul's military accomplishments (vv. 47, 48) and details about his family and Abner's (vv. 49–51). A comparison of this section with the longer summary of David's victories and officers in 2 Sam. 8 reveals a number of similarities, but also a telling difference: nowhere in the summation of Saul is there anything akin to the statement repeated about David, that "the LORD preserved David wherever he went" (2 Sam. 8:6, 14).

■ 14:52 fierce war. See notes on 7:13.

■ 15:1 The LORD sent me to anoint you. Samuel mentions his role in anointing Saul to set the context for his continuing service as mediator of God's orders to Saul (10:1 note).

heed the voice of the words of the LORD. The Hebrew words translated "heed" and "voice" are repeated several times in this chapter, underscoring the central theme of obedience ("heed," "hear," "obey," and "voice," "bleating," "lowing" in vv. 1, 14, 19, 20, 22, 24).

■ 15:2 Amalek. Descendants of Esau (according to Gen. 36:12, 16), the Amalekites were a nomadic desert people who lived in southern Judah and beyond, toward Egypt. They fought frequently with the Israelites. See side-column references; Judg. 3:13; 6:3–5, 33; 7:12; 10:12.

■ 15:3 utterly destroy. Lit. "place them under the ban." This meant to devote persons or things completely to the Lord. In war it usually required the total destruction of properties and execution of people. The inclusion of animals in this verse is especially striking. The ban was an element of "holy war" and could not be decreed by anyone but God.

man and woman, infant and nursing child. See 22:19 and note.

■ 15:4 Telaim. This is probably the Telem listed in Josh. 15:24 as one of the cities of Judah. The Septuagint (early Greek translation of the Old Testament) has Gilgal instead, which some have suggested was the site of Samuel's instructions to Saul (vv. 1–3).

foot soldiers and ten thousand men of Judah. 5 And Saul came to a city of Amalek, and lay in wait in the valley.

6 Then Saul said to [e]the Kenites, [f]"Go, depart, get down from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them. For [g]you showed kindness to all the children of Israel when they came up out of Egypt." So the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites. 7 [h]And Saul attacked the Amalekites, from [i]Havilah all the way to [j]Shur, which is east of Egypt. 8 [k]He also took Agag king of the Amalekites alive, and [l]utterly destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword. 9 But Saul and the people [m]spared Agag and the best of the sheep, the oxen, the fatlings, the lambs, and all that was good, and were unwilling to utterly destroy them. But everything despised and worthless, that they utterly destroyed.

Saul Rejected as King

10 Now the word of the LORD came to Samuel, saying, 11 [n]"I greatly regret that I have set up Saul as king, for he has [o]turned back from following Me, [p]and has not performed My commandments." And it [q]grieved Samuel, and he cried out to the LORD all night. 12 So when Samuel rose early in the morning to meet Saul, it was told Samuel, saying, "Saul went to [r]Carmel, and indeed, he set up a monument for himself; and he has gone on around, passed by, and gone down to Gilgal." 13 Then Samuel went to Saul, and Saul said to him, [s]"Blessed are you of the LORD! I have performed the commandment of the LORD."

14 But Samuel said, "What then is this bleating of the sheep in my ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?"

15 And Saul said, "They have brought them from the Amalekites; [t]for the people spared the best of the sheep and the oxen, to sacrifice to the LORD your God; and the rest we have utterly destroyed."

16 Then Samuel said to Saul, "Be quiet! And I will tell you what the LORD said to me last night."

And he said to him, "Speak on."

17 So Samuel said, [u]"When you were little in your own eyes, were you not head of the tribes of Israel? And did not the LORD anoint you king over Israel? 18 Now the LORD sent you on a mission, and said, 'Go, and utterly destroy the sinners, the Amalekites, and fight against them until they are [2]consumed.' 19 Why then did you not obey the voice of the LORD? Why did you swoop down on the [3]spoil, and do evil in the sight of the LORD?"

20 And Saul said to Samuel, [v]"But I have obeyed the voice of the LORD, and gone on the mission on which the LORD sent me, and brought back Agag king of Amalek; I have utterly destroyed the Amalekites. 21 [w]But the people took of the plunder, sheep and oxen, the best of the things which should have been utterly destroyed, to sacrifice to the LORD your God in Gilgal."

■ 15:6 For you showed kindness. Perhaps an allusion to the kindness of Moses' Kenite father-in-law (Judg. 1:16) recorded in Ex. 18.

■ 15:7 from Havilah . . . to Shur. See Gen. 25:18. Shur is mentioned in 27:8 as lying at the frontiers of the territory of the Amalekites, near the eastern border of Egypt. The location of Havilah remains uncertain, but the general sense of the reference is that Saul's victory was extensive.

■ 15:8 Agag. This is either a personal name or a title, like "Pharaoh"; see Num. 24:7; "Agagite" in Esth. 3:1.

all the people. This is not "all" without exception, but all who fell into Saul's hands (there are later references to Amalekites in 27:8; 30:1, 18). For this limited sense of "all," cf. 13:7; 31:6.

■ 15:9 Saul and the people spared. They went against the Lord's command (v. 3). A desire to profit from the victory may underlie the unwillingness to destroy anything that was good. Achan kept back goods that were devoted to destruction, apparently because he was greedy (Josh. 7:1). The reader is not told Saul's motive for sparing Agag, whether political, like Ahab's mercy to Ben-Hadad (1 Kin. 20:30–34), or pride, a desire to parade his captive as a trophy of war. Saul did set up a victory monument "for himself" (v. 12).

■ 15:11 greatly regret. See note on v. 29.

turned back. This is a serious indictment in view of 12:14, where obedience and following the Lord are named as the essential requirements for a successful reign.

grieved Samuel. Lit. "Samuel became angry." The same Hebrew expression is used in 18:8 and 2 Sam. 6:8.

he cried out to the LORD all night. Clearly Samuel takes no pleasure in Saul's rejection (v. 35; 16:1).

■ 15:12 Carmel. About seven miles south of Hebron (25:2; Josh. 15:55). This is not the Mount Carmel in the north.

monument for himself. The closest parallel is in 2 Sam. 18:18, where Absalom erects "a pillar for himself" to commemorate his name.

■ 15:14–23 These verses display the standard features of a prophetic judgment speech to an individual (2:27–36 note), but in this instance the accused, Saul, vigorously contests the charges.

■ 15:15 They have brought them . . . to sacrifice. In response to Samuel's accusation Saul offers two excuses: First, the people are responsible and not he; second, the animals will be killed as sacrifices. Samuel will answer these excuses.

■ 15:17 little in your own eyes. Whatever ideas Saul had about his role as king, Samuel rejects his attempt to avoid personal responsibility for what had happened.

■ 15:19 swoop down on the spoil. Samuel rejects Saul's claim that the animals were spared because they were needed for sacrifice. On the verb translated "swoop down," see 25:14 note.

■ 15:20, 21 Ignoring Samuel's refusal to accept his excuses, Saul repeats them adamantly.

CHAPTER 16

1 [a]1 Sam. 15:23, 35 [b]1 Sam. 9:16; 10:1 [c]Ruth 4:18–22 [d]Acts 13:22 [f]Lit. seen

22 So Samuel said:

[x]"Has the LORD as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices,
As in obeying the voice of the LORD?
Behold, [y]to obey is better than sacrifice,
And to heed than the fat of rams.
23 For rebellion is as the sin of [4]witchcraft,
And stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry.
Because you have rejected the word of the LORD,
[z]He also has rejected you from being king."

24 [a]Then Saul said to Samuel, "I have sinned, for I have transgressed the commandment of the LORD and your words, because I [b]feared the people and obeyed their voice. 25 Now therefore, please pardon my sin, and return with me, that I may worship the LORD."

26 But Samuel said to Saul, "I will not return with you, [c]for you have rejected the word of the LORD, and the LORD has rejected you from being king over Israel."

27 And as Samuel turned around to go away, [d]Saul seized the edge of his robe, and it tore. 28 So Samuel said to him, [e]"The LORD has torn the kingdom of Israel from you today, and has given it to a neighbor of yours, who is better than you. 29 And also the Strength of Israel [f]will not lie nor relent. For He is not a man, that He should relent."

30 Then he said, "I have sinned; yet [g]honor me now, please, before the elders of my people and before Israel, and return with me, that I may worship the LORD your God." 31 So Samuel turned back after Saul, and Saul worshiped the LORD.

32 Then Samuel said, "Bring Agag king of the Amalekites here to me." So Agag came to him cautiously.

And Agag said, "Surely the bitterness of death is past."

33 But Samuel said, [h]"As your sword has made women childless, so shall your mother be childless among women." And Samuel hacked Agag in pieces before the LORD in Gilgal.

34 Then Samuel went to [i]Ramah, and Saul went up to his house at [j]Gibeah of Saul. 35 And [k]Samuel went no more to see Saul until the day of his death. Nevertheless Samuel mourned for Saul, and the LORD regretted that He had made Saul king over Israel.

David Anointed King

16 Now the LORD said to Samuel, [a]"How long will you mourn for Saul, seeing I have rejected him from reigning over Israel? [b]Fill your horn with oil, and go; I am sending you to [c]Jesse the Bethlehemite. For [d]I have [f]provided Myself a king among his sons."

■ 15:22, 23 The poetic form of these two verses highlights their climactic importance in the episode.

■ 15:22 burnt offerings. See note on 10:8.

to obey is better than sacrifice. Although Samuel clearly disbelieves Saul's excuse (v. 19 note), he accepts it for the sake of argument, and makes the point that ritual performance is worthless when not accompanied by a sincere and submissive spirit. For similar denunciations of empty ritual by Israel's later prophets, see Is. 1:10–17; Jer. 6:19, 20; 7:21–26; Hos. 6:6; Amos 5:21–24; Mic. 6:6–8; also Ps. 51:16, 17; Prov. 15:8; 21:3, 27.

■ 15:23 rebellion . . . witchcraft . . . idolatry. Witchcraft and idolatry were especially serious sins.

Because you have rejected . . . He also has rejected. As Samuel comes to the announcement of judgment upon Saul, he expresses it in a manner that makes plain the justice of God's verdict. Offense and punishment correspond (2:27–36 note). While Saul's failure in ch. 13 meant the end of any hopes for his dynasty (13:14), his disobedience in the present context means the end of his personal right to be king. The next chapter recounts the anointing of David and the departure of the Spirit of the Lord from Saul (16:13, 14).

■ 15:24, 25 At last Saul begins to accept responsibility ("I have sinned"), though he still blames the people for initiating the unfortunate events ("I feared the people and obeyed their voice"). On the surface, Saul's confession sounds adequate, but against the background of Samuel's warnings in 12:14, 15, his admissions lead not so much to a possibility that there will be reconciliation as to the certainty that he will be "swept away" (12:25). Saul will offer a second, more candid confession in v. 30.

■ 15:26 I will not return with you. Samuel's refusal to return with Saul suggests Samuel is not satisfied with the sincerity of the confession as a whole (v. 30 note).

■ 15:28 torn the kingdom. Samuel seizes upon the tearing of the robe as a fitting symbol of the Lord's having "torn the kingdom" from Saul (cf. 24:4, 5; 1 Kin. 11:29–33).

■ 15:29 will not lie nor relent. Saul's rejection is final, and no attempt to mitigate its consequences will avail. There is no contradiction between this statement and the notices in vv. 11 and 35 that the Lord "regretted" having made Saul king, even though "regretted" represents the same Hebrew word as "relent" in this verse. As in Num. 23:19, the point is that when the Lord makes a pronouncement intended to be final, He cannot be talked out of it.

■ 15:30 honor me. Saul's real concern becomes clear in this his second confession (cf. vv. 24, 25 and note). As Samuel seems already to suspect (v. 26 note), Saul is less concerned with being reconciled to the Lord than with finding honor before the elders of "my people." In return for this honor, Saul offers to do obeisance before the Lord "your" God.

■ 15:31 Samuel turned back. Several reasons for Samuel's reversal of his earlier decision (v. 26) may be suggested: (a) Saul has at last issued a candid confession; (b) there is no danger after vv. 28, 29 that Saul might interpret Samuel's actions as a retraction of his judgment; (c) Samuel must still deal with Agag.

■ 15:35 Samuel mourned for Saul. See note on v. 11.

■ 16:1—31:13 These chapters narrate David's rise to power and Saul's

2 And Samuel said, "How can I go? If Saul hears it, he will kill me."
But the LORD said, "Take a heifer with you, and say, [e]'I have come to sacrifice to the LORD.'
3 Then invite Jesse to the sacrifice, and I will show you what you shall do; you shall anoint for Me the one I name to you."
4 So Samuel did what the LORD said, and went to Bethlehem. And the elders of the town [f]trembled at his coming, and said, [g]"Do you come peaceably?"
5 And he said, "Peaceably; I have come to sacrifice to the LORD. [h]Sanctify[2] yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice." Then he consecrated Jesse and his sons, and invited them to the sacrifice.
6 So it was, when they came, that he looked at [i]Eliab and [j]said, "Surely the LORD's anointed is before Him!"
7 But the LORD said to Samuel, [k]"Do not look at his appearance or at his physical stature, because I have [3]refused him. [l]For [4]the LORD does not see as man sees; for man [m]looks at the outward appearance, but the LORD looks at the [n]heart."
8 So Jesse called Abinadab, and made him pass before Samuel. And he said, "Neither has the LORD chosen this one." 9 Then Jesse made Shammah pass by. And he said, "Neither has the LORD chosen this one." 10 Thus Jesse made seven of his sons pass before Samuel. And Samuel said to Jesse, "The LORD has not chosen these." 11 And Samuel said to Jesse, "Are all the young men here?" Then he said, "There remains yet the youngest, and there he is, keeping the [o]sheep."
And Samuel said to Jesse, "Send and bring him. For we will not [5]sit down till he comes here."
12 So he sent and brought him in. Now he was [p]ruddy, [q]with [6]bright eyes, and good-looking.
[r]And the LORD said, "Arise, anoint him; for this is the one!" 13 Then Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him in the midst of his brothers; and [s]the Spirit of the LORD came upon David from that day forward. So Samuel arose and went to Ramah.

A Distressing Spirit Troubles Saul

14 [t]But the Spirit of the LORD departed from Saul, and [u]a distressing spirit from the LORD troubled him. 15 And Saul's servants said to him, "Surely, a distressing spirit from God is troubling you. 16 Let our master now command your servants, who are before you, to seek out a man who is a skillful player on the harp. And it shall be that he will [v]play it with his hand when the [7]distressing spirit from God is upon you, and you shall be well."
17 So Saul said to his servants, [8]"Provide me now a man who can play well, and bring him to me."
18 Then one of the servants answered and said, "Look, I have seen a son of Jesse the fall from power and his death. David's rise is marked by his anointing by Samuel and his time in Saul's service (chs. 16—18), his flight from Saul (chs. 19—23), his avoidance of bloodguilt (chs. 24—26), and his escape to the Philistines (chs. 27—31).

■ 16:1 Bethlehemite. First mentioned in Gen. 35:19, Bethlehem is David's hometown (17:12, 15). On the significance of this site for the Messiah ("the anointed one"), see Mic. 5:2; Matt. 2:5, 6; John 7:42.

I have provided Myself. The selection of a king for "Myself" (the Lord)," contrasts with the choice of a king for "them" (the people) in 8:22 (8:18; 12:13).

■ 16:2 I have come to sacrifice. While true insofar as it goes, this statement does not disclose the real reason for Samuel's journey to Bethlehem (v. 1). There may well be an ironic tone in the Lord's instruction to Samuel, coming as it does on the heels of Saul's claim to have spared animals only "to sacrifice" them (15:15, 21). Cases of deception like this one must be weighed in their particular circumstances (20:6; 21:2; 27:10; 2 Sam. 16:17–19; Josh. 2:4 and notes).

■ 16:3 anoint. See note on 2:10.

■ 16:4 the elders of the town trembled. See the similar response of Ahimelech upon David's arrival alone in Nob (21:1). No reason is given for the elders' trembling. It probably has to do with Samuel's prophetic function as an instrument of God's judgment.

■ 16:7 stature, because I have refused him. The reference to "stature" as a false measure of an individual's qualification to be king, along with the notice that this son of Jesse is "refused," is reminiscent of Saul, who was notable for his height (9:2; 10:23) but was rejected (15:23, 26).

the LORD looks at the heart. It is an axiom that God's standards are inward, not outward (13:14 note; Rom. 2:28, 29). See "God Sees and Knows: Divine Omniscience" at Prov. 15:3.

■ 16:13 in the midst of his brothers. It is likely that the elders also witnessed David's being anointed (vv. 4, 5). The emphasis on the brothers being present at the event may shed light on Eliab's behavior in 17:28.

Spirit of the LORD came upon David. See notes on 10:6; 11:6. David's endowment with the Spirit "from that day forward" sets him apart from Saul (and also Samson) upon whom the Spirit descended only sporadically.

■ 16:14 Spirit of the LORD departed from Saul. The empowering and validating presence of God's Spirit must have been removed from Saul at his definitive rejection as king in ch. 15 (cf. also v. 1).

distressing spirit. Cf. 1 Kin. 22:21–23. The Hebrew word may describe something that is troubling, annoying, or harmful.

■ 16:18 man of war. This speech may seem to conflict with Saul's statement in 17:33 that David, who is but a youth, will be no match for Goliath. In response one can say that the servant's recommendation of David is doubtless exaggerated, like a modern letter of reference. Saul for his part was comparing David to Goliath and was reluctant to take the risk of sending anyone against the Philistine giant.

the LORD is with him. This fact more than any human quality will account for David's persistent, if circuitous, rise to power, while Saul's increasing recognition that David is preferred to him will play no small part in his own psychological disintegration (3:19; 17:37; 18:12, 28, 29; 20:13; 2 Sam. 7:9 and notes).

Bethlehemite, who is skillful in playing, a mighty man of valor, a man of war, prudent in speech, and a handsome person; and [w]the LORD is with him."

19 Therefore Saul sent messengers to Jesse, and said, "Send me your son David, who is with the sheep." 20 And Jesse [x]took a donkey loaded with bread, a skin of wine, and a young goat, and sent them by his son David to Saul. 21 So David came to Saul and [y]stood before him. And he loved him greatly, and he became his armorbearer. 22 Then Saul sent to Jesse, saying, "Please let David stand before me, for he has found favor in my sight." 23 And so it was, whenever the spirit from God was upon Saul, that David would take a harp and play it with his hand. Then Saul would become refreshed and well, and the distressing spirit would depart from him.

David and Goliath

17 Now the Philistines gathered their armies together to battle, and were gathered at [a]Sochoh, which belongs to Judah; they encamped between Sochoh and Azekah, in Ephes Dammim. 2 And Saul and the men of Israel were gathered together, and they encamped in the Valley of Elah, and drew up in battle array against the Philistines. 3 The Philistines stood on a mountain on one side, and Israel stood on a mountain on the other side, with a valley between them.

4 And a champion went out from the camp of the Philistines, named [b]Goliath, from [c]Gath, whose height was six cubits and a span. 5 He had a bronze helmet on his head, and he was [f]armed with a coat of mail, and the weight of the coat was five thousand shekels of bronze. 6 And he had bronze armor on his legs and a bronze javelin between his shoulders. 7 Now the staff of his spear was like a weaver's beam, and his iron spearhead weighed six hundred shekels; and a shield-bearer went before him. 8 Then he stood and cried out to the armies of Israel, and said to them, "Why have you come out to line up for battle? Am I not a Philistine, and you the [d]servants of Saul? Choose a man for yourselves, and let him come down to me. 9 If he is able to fight with me and kill me, then we will be your servants. But if I prevail against him and kill him, then you shall be our servants and [e]serve us." 10 And the Philistine said, "I [f]defy the armies of Israel this day; give me a man, that we may fight together." 11 When Saul and all Israel heard these words of the Philistine, they were dismayed and greatly afraid.

12 Now David was [g]the son of that [h]Ephrathite of Bethlehem Judah, whose name was Jesse, and who had [i]eight sons. And the man was old, advanced in years, in the days of Saul. 13 The three oldest sons of Jesse had gone to follow Saul to the battle. The [j]names of his three sons who went to the battle were Eliab the firstborn, next to him Abinadab, and the third Shammah. 14 David was the youngest. And the three oldest followed Saul. 15 But David occasionally went and returned from Saul [k]to feed his father's sheep at Bethlehem.

16 And the Philistine drew near and presented himself forty days, morning and evening.

17 Then Jesse said to his son David, "Take now for your brothers an ephah of this dried grain and these ten loaves, and run to your brothers at the camp. 18 And carry these ten cheeses to the captain of their thousand, and [l]see how your brothers fare, and bring back news of them." 19 Now Saul and they and all the men of Israel were in the Valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistines.

20 So David rose early in the morning, left the sheep with a keeper, and took the things and went as Jesse had commanded him. And he came to the camp as the army was going out to the fight and shouting for the battle. 21 For Israel and the Philistines had drawn up in battle array,

■ 16:19 Send me your son David, who is with the sheep. Saul unwittingly invites his eventual replacement to enter his court. David's rise to power is providentially directed, and is not the result of human effort or grasping for power.

■ 16:21 he loved him greatly. It is unclear whether these words describe Saul's attitude toward David or David's toward Saul. Note Jonathan's response to David (18:1, 3; 20:17), as well as that of Michal (18:20, 28), the people (18:16), and possibly even Saul's other servants (18:22). The probable meaning is that "Saul loved David" (see v. 22).

■ 17:1 between Sochoh and Azekah, in Ephes Dammim. Sochoh was fifteen miles west of Bethlehem, near the Philistine border, and Azekah was two miles northwest of Sochoh.

■ 17:2 Valley of Elah. The valley descends from east to west, passing just north of Sochoh and Azekah.

■ 17:4 champion. Trial by single combat, where the outcome of a fight to the death between two champions is taken as the will of the gods, is rare in the Old Testament (compare 2 Sam. 2:14–16). It is well attested, however, among some of Israel's neighbors.

six cubits and a span. That is, nine feet, nine inches. The Septuagint (Greek Old Testament translation), Dead Sea Scrolls, and Josephus (Antiquities 6.9.1) all have four cubits instead of six, making Goliath six and a half feet tall, still a remarkable height by ancient standards.

■ 17:5–7 The detailed description of Goliath's armor and weapons is striking. David does not have to trust in equipment (vv. 39, 50).

■ 17:11 Saul. The Philistine challenge to the "servants of Saul" had been to "choose a man" (v. 8). The logical choice would have been Saul (9:2; 10:23, 24), but he was terrified like everyone else.

■ 17:12 Ephrathite. See Gen. 35:19; 48:7; Ruth 1:2; 4:11; 1 Chr. 4:4; Mic. 5:2.

■ 17:15 David occasionally went and returned from Saul. David's time was split between duties to his king (16:21–23) and to his father. David's whole family is introduced with him (vv. 12–14).

army against army. 22 And David left his supplies in the hand of the supply keeper, ran to the army, and came and greeted his brothers. 23 Then as he talked with them, there was the champion, the Philistine of Gath, Goliath by name, coming up from the armies of the Philistines; and he spoke [m]according to the same words. So David heard them. 24 And all the men of Israel, when they saw the man, fled from him and were dreadfully afraid. 25 So the men of Israel said, "Have you seen this man who has come up? Surely he has come up to defy Israel; and it shall be that the man who kills him the king will enrich with great riches, [n]will give him his daughter, and give his father's house exemption from taxes in Israel."

26 Then David spoke to the men who stood by him, saying, "What shall be done for the man who kills this Philistine and takes away [o]the reproach from Israel? For who is this [p]uncircumcised Philistine, that he should [q]defy the armies of [r]the living God?"

27 And the people answered him in this manner, saying, [s]"So shall it be done for the man who kills him."

28 Now Eliab his oldest brother heard when he spoke to the men; and Eliab's [t]anger was aroused against David, and he said, "Why did you come down here? And with whom have you left those few sheep in the wilderness? I know your pride and the insolence of your heart, for you have come down to see the battle."

29 And David said, "What have I done now? [u]Is[2] there not a cause?" 30 Then he turned from him toward another and [v]said the same thing; and these people answered him as the first ones did.

31 Now when the words which David spoke were heard, they reported them to Saul; and he sent for him. 32 Then David said to Saul, [w]"Let no man's heart fail because of him; [x]your servant will go and fight with this Philistine."

33 And Saul said to David, [y]"You are not able to go against this Philistine to fight with him; for you are a youth, and he a man of war from his youth."

34 But David said to Saul, "Your servant used to keep his father's sheep, and when a [z]lion or a bear came and took a lamb out of the flock, 35 I went out after it and struck it, and delivered the lamb from its mouth; and when it arose against me, I caught it by its beard, and struck and killed it. 36 Your servant has killed both lion and bear; and this uncircumcised Philistine will be like one of them, seeing he has defied the armies of the living God." 37 Moreover David said, [a]"The LORD, who delivered me from the paw of the lion and from the paw of the bear, He will deliver me from the hand of this Philistine."

And Saul said to David, [b]"Go, and the LORD be with you!"

38 So Saul clothed David with his [3]armor, and he put a bronze helmet on his head; he also clothed him with a coat of mail. 39 David fastened his sword to his armor and tried to walk, for he had not tested them. And David said to Saul, "I cannot walk with these, for I have not tested them." So David took them off.

40 Then he took his staff in his hand; and he chose for himself five smooth stones from the brook, and put them in a shepherd's bag, in a pouch which he had, and his sling was in his hand. And he drew near to the Philistine. 41 So the Philistine came, and began drawing near to David, and the man who bore the shield went before him. 42 And when the Philistine looked about and saw David, he [c]disdained[4] him; for he was only a youth, [d]ruddy and good-looking. 43 So the Philistine [e]said to David, "Am I a dog, that you come to me with sticks?" And the Philistine cursed

■ 17:26 uncircumcised Philistine. See note on 14:6.

■ 17:28 Eliab's anger was aroused. Eliab's sudden anger is the reaction of a man who was unable to meet a challenge and who resented being outdone by his little brother. David's having been anointed would only increase Eliab's jealousy. In Genesis 37, Joseph's older brothers react in the same way to the knowledge that he would one day be superior to them (Gen. 37:2–19).

with whom have you left those few sheep. Whatever his excitement about the battle, David had acted responsibly in regard to his more mundane duties (vv. 20, 22).

your pride. Or, "your presumptuousness," "your insolence."

the insolence of your heart. Contrast Eliab's judgment of David with God's, as indicated by statements like "a man after His own heart" (13:14), and "the LORD looks at the heart" (16:7).

■ 17:33–37 The conversation between Saul and David vividly illustrates the radical difference in perspective between them. Saul continues to think in terms of what is humanly possible ("You are not able," v. 33), while David is confident that "The LORD . . . will deliver me" (v. 37).

■ 17:36 uncircumcised Philistine. See 14:6 note.

■ 17:37 the LORD be with you. David's rise to power continues to be furthered, if unwittingly, by Saul. Having brought him into his court (16:19 note), Saul now sends him out to fight his battle. Most ironic of all, Saul invokes over David the benediction that most clearly distinguishes them and will account for David's ultimate success—"the LORD be with you" (16:18 and note).

■ 17:38, 39 David's rejection of Saul's armor and weapons supports the point of the narrative that "the LORD does not save with sword and spear; for the battle is the LORD's" (v. 47).

David by his gods. 44 And the Philistine [f]said to David, "Come to me, and I will give your flesh to the birds of the air and the beasts of the field!"

45 Then David said to the Philistine, "You come to me with a sword, with a spear, and with a javelin. [g]But I come to you in the name of the LORD of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, whom you have [h]defied. 46 This day the LORD will deliver you into my hand, and I will strike you and take your head from you. And this day I will give [i]the carcasses of the camp of the Philistines to the birds of the air and the wild beasts of the earth, [j]that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel. 47 Then all this assembly shall know that the LORD [k]does not save with sword and spear; for [l]the battle is the LORD's, and He will give you into our hands."

48 So it was, when the Philistine arose and came and drew near to meet David, that David hurried and [m]ran toward the army to meet the Philistine. 49 Then David put his hand in his bag and took out a stone; and he slung it and struck the Philistine in his forehead, so that the stone sank into his forehead, and he fell on his face to the earth. 50 So David prevailed over the Philistine with a [n]sling and a stone, and struck the Philistine and killed him. But there was no sword in the hand of David. 51 Therefore David ran and stood over the Philistine, took his [o]sword and drew it out of its sheath and killed him, and cut off his head with it.

And when the Philistines saw that their champion was dead, [p]they fled. 52 Now the men of Israel and Judah arose and shouted, and pursued the Philistines as far as the entrance of [5]the valley and to the gates of Ekron. And the wounded of the Philistines fell along the road to [q]Shaaraim, even as far as Gath and Ekron. 53 Then the children of Israel returned from chasing the Philistines, and they plundered their tents. 54 And David took the head of the Philistine and brought it to Jerusalem, but he put his armor in his tent.

55 When Saul saw David going out against the Philistine, he said to [r]Abner, the commander of the army, "Abner, [s]whose son is this youth?"

And Abner said, "As your soul lives, O king, I do not know."

56 So the king said, "Inquire whose son this young man is."

57 Then, as David returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, Abner took him and brought him before Saul [t]with the head of the Philistine in his hand. 58 And Saul said to him, "Whose son are you, young man?"

So David answered, [u]"I am the son of your servant Jesse the Bethlehemite."

Saul Resents David

18 Now when he had finished speaking to Saul, [a]the [1]soul of Jonathan was knit to the soul of David, [b]and Jonathan loved him as his own soul. 2 Saul took him that day, [c]and would not let him go home to his father's house anymore. 3 Then Jonathan and David made a [d]covenant, because he loved him as his own soul. 4 And Jonathan took off the robe that was on him and gave it to David, with his armor, even to his sword and his bow and his belt.

5 So David went out wherever Saul sent him, and [2]behaved wisely. And Saul set him over the men of war, and he was accepted in the sight of all the people and also in the sight of Saul's ser-

■ 17:45 in the name of the LORD of hosts. See note on 1:3. David comes "in the name" of God, that is, by the authority and power of God. On the significance of God's name as expressing His character, see, for example, Ex. 34:5–7.

■ 17:46 carcasses . . . of the Philistines. David outdoes Goliath's threat (v. 44) by extending his counterthreat to encompass the entire Philistine army.

■ 17:47 battle is the LORD's. See notes on vv. 38, 39; 14:6.

■ 17:50 killed. That is, dealt him the mortal wound (v. 51) note.

there was no sword. This verse marks the climax of the contest between Goliath, who physically speaking had all the advantages, and David, who had God on his side, and was able to triumph even without a sword (cf. vv. 45–47).

■ 17:51 killed. A different form of the Hebrew verb is used than in v. 50; the sense is "dispatched," as in 14:13.

■ 17:52 Gath and Ekron. See notes on 4:1; 5:8, 10.

■ 17:54 brought it to Jerusalem. Since Jerusalem was at this time in Jebusite hands (2 Sam. 5:6–9 and notes), this remark should be understood as referring to a later time.

■ 17:55 whose son is this youth. Saul's question and Abner's response appear to conflict with the events described in 16:18–22. At the same time a chronological relationship between chs. 16 and 17 seems to be warranted (v.15 and 18:2). Saul's question may have been prompted by concerns about the social status of someone who might receive the position promised in 17:25, including marriage to his daughter. The intensity of Saul's interest may also reflect his knowledge that the kingdom will ultimately be given to "a neighbor of yours, who is better than you" (15:28). See 18:8 and note.

■ 18:2 would not let him go home. See note on 17:15.

■ 18:3 covenant. The nature of the covenant is not explicitly stated, but see the note on v. 4. Further references to the covenant between Jonathan and David include 20:8, 13–17, 42; 22:8; 23:18.

■ 18:4 Jonathan took off the robe. As crown prince (20:31), Jonathan would have expected to succeed his father as king. In 13:22 Jonathan and Saul had been distinguished from the rest of the people by their possession of swords and spears. Here Jonathan's gifts of his robe and weapons to David not only signifies his loyalty but implies his recognition of David as God's choice for the next king. See Jonathan's explicit confession in 23:17; also 2 Sam. 1:10 note.

■ 18:5 Saul set him over the men of war. Military success continues to be David's hallmark, and Saul gives David a rank in the army commensurate with his accomplishments.

vants. 6 Now it had happened as they were coming home, when David was returning from the slaughter of the 3Philistine, that [e]the women had come out of all the cities of Israel, singing and dancing, to meet King Saul, with tambourines, with joy, and with musical instruments. 7 So the women [f]sang as they danced, and said:

[g]"Saul has slain his thousands,
And David his ten thousands."

8 Then Saul was very angry, and the saying [h]displeased him; and he said, "They have ascribed to David ten thousands, and to me they have ascribed only thousands. Now what more can he have but [i]the kingdom?" 9 So Saul [4]eyed David from that day forward.

10 And it happened on the next day that [j]the distressing spirit from God came upon Saul, [k]and he prophesied inside the house. So David [l]played music with his hand, as at other times; [m]but there was a spear in Saul's hand. 11 And Saul [n]cast the spear, for he said, "I will pin David to the wall!" But David escaped his presence twice.

12 Now Saul was [o]afraid of David, because [p]the LORD was with him, but had [q]departed from Saul. 13 Therefore Saul removed him from [5]his presence, and made him his captain over a thousand; and [r]he went out and came in before the people. 14 And David behaved wisely in all his ways, and [s]the LORD was with him. 15 Therefore, when Saul saw that he behaved very wisely, he was afraid of him. 16 But [t]all Israel and Judah loved David, because he went out and came in before them.

David Marries Michal

17 Then Saul said to David, "Here is my older daughter Merab; [u]I will give her to you as a wife. Only be valiant for me, and fight [v]the LORD's battles." For Saul thought, [w]"Let my hand not be against him, but let the hand of the Philistines be against him."

18 So David said to Saul, [x]"Who am I, and what is my life or my father's family in Israel, that I should be son-in-law to the king?" 19 But it happened at the time when Merab, Saul's daughter, should have been given to David, that she was given to [y]Adriel the [z]Meholathite as a wife.

20 [a]Now Michal, Saul's daughter, loved David. And they told Saul, and the thing pleased him. 21 So Saul said, "I will give her to him, that she may [6]be a snare to him, and that [b]the hand of the Philistines may be against him." Therefore Saul said to David a second time, [c]"You shall be my son-in-law today."

22 And Saul commanded his servants, "Communicate with David secretly, and say, 'Look, the king has delight in you, and all his servants love you. Now therefore, become the king's son-in-law.' "

23 So Saul's servants spoke those words in the hearing of David. And David said, "Does it seem to you a light thing to be a king's son-in-law, seeing I am a poor and lightly esteemed man?" 24 And the servants of Saul told him, saying, 7"In this manner David spoke."

25 Then Saul said, "Thus you shall say to David: 'The king does not desire any [d]dowry but one hundred foreskins of the Philistines, to take [e]vengeance on the king's enemies.' " But Saul [f]thought to make David fall by the hand of the Philistines. 26 So when his servants told David these words, it pleased David well to become the king's son-in-law. Now [g]the days had not expired; 27 therefore David arose and went, he and [h]his men, and killed two hundred men of the

■ 18:7 David his ten thousands. See 21:11; 29:5. It is a common feature of Hebrew poetry for one or more terms in the first half of a verse to be increased or intensified in the second half. For the thousand—ten thousand parallelism, see Deut. 32:30; Ps. 91:7; 144:13; Mic. 6:7. Whether the women's song praises Saul and David as equals or implies that David is better than Saul, Saul certainly takes offense to it (v. 8).

■ 18:8 what more can he have but the kingdom. Saul rightly senses that David may be the "neighbor" who will replace him (15:28; 17:55 note).

■ 18:10 distressing spirit. See note on 16:14.

prophesied. Ecstatic experiences could be caused by God's Spirit (10:6, 15), but also by evil spirits or false prophets (1 Kin. 18:29).

■ 18:12 the LORD was with him. See 16:18 and note.

had departed from Saul. See 16:14 and note.

■ 18:13–16 Saul's removal of David from the court, with an accompanying demotion in military rank, may be intended to decrease David's visibility and popularity, as well as to increase the risk of his dying in battle. The effect of Saul's scheming, however, is actually the reverse. David is brought into closer contact with the people, so that "all Israel and Judah loved David" (v. 16).

■ 18:17–19 In view of David's great popularity, Saul cannot continue to delay fulfilling his promise (17:25). Nevertheless, he adds a further condition, that David "fight the LORD's battles," in the hope that the Philistines would kill David for him (vv. 17, 21, 25). David says that he lacks the social standing to marry the king's daughter, a conventional protest in such circumstances (cf. 9:21). At the last minute, Saul reneges on his promise and gives Merab to someone else.

■ 18:20–27 When Saul's second daughter Michal falls in love with David, Saul offers David another chance to become his son-in-law (vv. 20, 21). He adds again to the conditions David must fulfill (v. 25). David wastes no time (v. 26) in meeting Saul's requirement twice over, and becomes the king's son-in-law (v. 27).

Philistines. And [h]David brought their foreskins, and they gave them in full count to the king, that he might become the king's son-in-law. Then Saul gave him Michal his daughter as a wife.

28 Thus Saul saw and knew that the LORD was with David, and that Michal, Saul's daughter, loved him; 29 and Saul was still more afraid of David. So Saul became David's enemy [g]continually. 30 Then the princes of the Philistines [j]went out to war. And so it was, whenever they went out, that David [k]behaved more wisely than all the servants of Saul, so that his name became highly esteemed.

Saul Persecutes David

19 Now Saul spoke to Jonathan his son and to all his servants, that they should kill [a]David; but Jonathan, Saul's son, [b]delighted greatly in David. 2 So Jonathan told David, saying, "My father Saul seeks to kill you. Therefore please be on your guard until morning, and stay in a secret place and hide. 3 And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where you are, and I will speak with my father about you. Then what I observe, I will tell [c]you."

4 Thus Jonathan [d]spoke well of David to Saul his father, and said to him, "Let not the king [e]sin against his servant, against David, because he has not sinned against you, and because his works have been very good toward you. 5 For he took his [f]life in his hands and [g]killed the Philistine, and [h]the LORD brought about a great deliverance for all Israel. You saw it and rejoiced. [i]Why then will you [j]sin against innocent blood, to kill David without a cause?"

6 So Saul heeded the voice of Jonathan, and Saul swore, "As the LORD lives, he shall not be killed." 7 Then Jonathan called David, and Jonathan told him all these things. So Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his presence [k]as in times past.

8 And there was war again; and David went out and fought with the Philistines, [l]and struck them with a mighty blow, and they fled from him.

9 Now [m]the distressing spirit from the LORD came upon Saul as he sat in his house with his spear in his hand. And David was playing music with his hand. 10 Then Saul sought to pin David to the wall with the spear, but he slipped away from Saul's presence; and he drove the spear into the wall. So David fled and escaped that night.

11 [n]Saul also sent messengers to David's house to watch him and to kill him in the morning. And Michal, David's wife, told him, saying, "If you do not save your life tonight, tomorrow you will be killed." 12 So Michal [o]let David down through a window. And he went and fled and escaped. 13 And Michal took [l]an image and laid it in the bed, put a cover of goats' hair for his head, and covered it with clothes. 14 So when Saul sent messengers to take David, she said, "He is sick."

15 Then Saul sent the messengers back to see David, saying, "Bring him up to me in the bed, that I may kill him." 16 And when the messengers had come in, there was the image in the bed, with a cover of goats' hair for his head. 17 Then Saul said to Michal, "Why have you deceived me like this, and sent my enemy away, so that he has escaped?"

And Michal answered Saul, "He said to me, 'Let me go! [p]Why should I kill you?' "

18 So David fled and escaped, and went to [q]Samuel at [r]Ramah, and told him all that Saul had done to him. And he and Samuel went and stayed in Naioth. 19 Now it was told Saul, saying, "Take note, David is at Naioth in Ramah!" 20 Then [s]Saul sent messengers to take David. [t]And

■ 18:28, 29 the LORD was with David. Saul's increasing fear of David is well-founded, since the Lord is with David (vv. 12, 14). David's success would not have distressed Saul so much if, like Jonathan, Saul had been able to accept his rejection with equanimity.

■ 19:1 they should kill David. Saul's covert attempts on David's life having come to nothing (ch. 18), he decides to take a direct approach.

■ 19:4 Jonathan spoke well of David. Jonathan's magnanimity towards David stands in stark contrast to Saul's malevolence, continuing the unfavorable comparison of father and son noted earlier (13:22; 14:1, 6, 10, 29 and notes). It seems likely that Jonathan's loyalty to David stems not from ignorance of David's destiny, but from a willing acceptance of it (18:4 note; 23:17 note).

■ 19:9 distressing spirit. See note on 16:14.

■ 19:10 Saul sought to pin David to the wall. Perhaps again galled by David's military success (v. 8; 18:8), Saul resorts to one of his old tricks (18:10, 11).

■ 19:11 Michal, David's wife, told him. As Saul's designs on David's life become increasingly intense and overt, David is warned first by Saul's son (v. 2) and then by his daughter.

■ 19:12 he . . . fled and escaped. Henceforth, David will be on the run from Saul.

■ 19:13 an image. The Hebrew same term is translated "household idols" in Gen. 31:19, 34, 35; Judg. 18:14. The Genesis references imply small objects, while the present reference suggests something larger.

■ 19:17 He said to me. Michal's deception here has an element of self-preservation. In light of Saul's later behavior (20:32, 33), Michal had reason to be afraid of him (cf. 16:2).

■ 19:18 Ramah. See note on 1:1.

Naioth. This word, which occurs only in this chapter, is associated with the place name Ramah. It is quite possibly not a proper noun at all, but a word meaning the "camps" in which the prophets at Ramah were active (compare the prophets' lodge in 2 Kin. 6:1, 2).

■ 19:20 group of prophets prophesying. See note on 10:5.

when they saw the group of prophets prophesying, and Samuel standing as leader over them, the Spirit of God came upon the messengers of Saul, and they also [u]prophesied. 21 And when Saul was told, he sent other messengers, and they prophesied likewise. Then Saul sent messengers again the third time, and they prophesied also. 22 Then he also went to Ramah, and came to the great well that is at Sechu. So he asked, and said, "Where are Samuel and David?"

And someone said, "Indeed they are at Naioth in Ramah." 23 So he went there to Naioth in Ramah. Then [v]the Spirit of God was upon him also, and he went on and prophesied until he came to Naioth in Ramah. 24 [w]And he also stripped off his clothes and prophesied before Samuel in like manner, and lay down [x]naked all that day and all that night. Therefore they say, [y]"Is Saul also among the prophets?"

Jonathan's Loyalty to David

20 Then David fled from Naioth in Ramah, and went and said to Jonathan, "What have I done? What is my iniquity, and what is my sin before your father, that he seeks my life?"

2 So Jonathan said to him, "By no means! You shall not die! Indeed, my father will do nothing either great or small without first telling me. And why should my father hide this thing from me? It is not so!"

3 Then David took an oath again, and said, "Your father certainly knows that I have found favor in your eyes, and he has said, 'Do not let Jonathan know this, lest he be grieved.' But [a]truly, as the LORD lives and as your soul lives, there is but a step between me and death."

4 So Jonathan said to David, "Whatever you yourself desire, I will do it for you."

5 And David said to Jonathan, "Indeed tomorrow is the [b]New Moon, and I should not fail to sit with the king to eat. But let me go, that I may [c]hide in the field until the third day at evening. 6 If your father misses me at all, then say, 'David earnestly asked permission of me that he might run over [d]to Bethlehem, his city, for there is a yearly sacrifice there for all the family.' 7 [e]If he says thus: 'It is well,' your servant will be safe. But if he is very angry, be sure that [f]evil is determined by him. 8 Therefore you shall [g]deal kindly with your servant, for [h]you have brought your servant into a covenant of the LORD with you. Nevertheless, [i]if there is iniquity in me, kill me yourself, for why should you bring me to your father?"

9 But Jonathan said, "Far be it from you! For if I knew certainly that evil was determined by my father to come upon you, then would I not tell you?"

10 Then David said to Jonathan, "Who will tell me, or what if your father answers you roughly?"

11 And Jonathan said to David, "Come, let us go out into the field." So both of them went out into the field. 12 Then Jonathan said to David: "The LORD God of Israel is witness! When I have [l]sounded out my father sometime tomorrow, or the third day, and indeed there is good toward David, and I do not send to you and tell you, 13 may [j]the LORD do so and much more to Jonathan. But if it pleases my father to do you evil, then I will report it to you and send you away, that you

13 [j]Ruth 1:17; 1 Sam. 3:17

■ 19:22 great well . . . at Sechu. Sechu is unknown, but it may be a site about two miles north of Ramah. Some have suggested reconstructing the difficult Hebrew on the basis of Septuagint (the Old Testament Greek translation) to read "well of the threshing floor on the bare height." This could have been a familiar landmark, such as are mentioned more than once in Samuel (20:19; 2 Sam. 20:8).

■ 19:23 the Spirit of God was upon him. Having set out to destroy David, Saul has been frustrated by Jonathan, Michal, Samuel, and now finally by God Himself.

■ 19:24 he also stripped off his clothes. Robes in the books of Samuel often seem to have a symbolic significance, frequently pertaining to the kingship (15:28; 18:4; 24:4–6 and notes). While Jonathan's gift of his robe to David in 18:4 was voluntary, Saul's action here is under the compulsion of God's Spirit.

■ 20:1 Naioth. See note on 19:18.

■ 20:2 By no means. Apparently Jonathan is unaware of the most recent attempts on David's life (19:9–24) and assumes that the oath of 19:6 still stands.

■ 20:5 the New Moon. This festival was a time of rejoicing at the beginning of each month. It was marked by the sounding of trumpets (Num. 10:10; Ps. 81:3) and special sacrifices (Num. 28:11–15). The festival is often mentioned in conjunction with the Sabbath (2 Kin. 4:23; 1 Chr. 23:31; Neh. 10:33; Is. 66:23; Ezek. 46:3) and may have been subject to similar regulations (Amos 8:5). The New Moon celebration is mentioned once in the New Testament (Col. 2:16).

■ 20:6 then say. Jonathan goes along with David's pretext in vv. 28, 29. In evaluating the ethics of such actions, one might compare the Lord's instructions to Samuel in 16:2 (note), although in that context the excuse was a half-truth and not an outright untruth, as it seems to be here.

Bethlehem. See note on 16:1.

yearly sacrifice. See note on 1:3; cf. 1:21.

■ 20:7 your servant. This address expresses humility and deference (1:11, 16; 3:10; 17:32; 22:15; 23:10; 25:24).

■ 20:8 covenant. See 18:3, 4 and notes. Pledges of friendship and loyalty are reiterated in vv. 13–17, 42.

■ 20:13 the LORD be with you as He has been with my father. This single reference to the Lord as being "with Saul" should be understood as referring to the kingship. Recognizing that David is now God's chosen king (18:4 note; 23:17 and note), Jonathan gives him allegiance over and above his allegiance to his own father (v. 16).

may go in safety. And [k]the LORD be with you as He has [l]been with my father. 14 And you shall not only show me the kindness of the LORD while I still live, that I may not die; 15 but [m]you shall not [2]cut off your kindness from my [3]house forever, no, not when the LORD has cut off every one of the enemies of David from the face of the earth." 16 So Jonathan made a covenant with the [4]house of David, saying, [n]"Let the LORD require it at the hand of David's enemies."

17 Now Jonathan again caused David to vow, because he loved him; [o]for he loved him as he loved his own soul. 18 Then Jonathan said to David, [p]"Tomorrow is the New Moon; and you will be missed, because your seat will be empty. 19 And when you have stayed three days, go down quickly and come to [q]the place where you hid on the day of the deed; and remain by the stone Ezel. 20 Then I will shoot three arrows to the side, as though I shot at a target; 21 and there I will send a lad, saying, 'Go, find the arrows.' If I expressly say to the lad, 'Look, the arrows are on this side of you; get them and come'—then, [r]as the LORD lives, there is safety for you and no harm. 22 But if I say thus to the young man, 'Look, the arrows are beyond you'—go your way, for the LORD has sent you away. 23 And as for [s]the matter which you and I have spoken of, indeed the LORD be between you and me forever."

24 Then David hid in the field. And when the New Moon had come, the king sat down to eat the feast. 25 Now the king sat on his seat, as at other times, on a seat by the wall. And [5]Jonathan arose, and Abner sat by Saul's side, but David's place was empty. 26 Nevertheless Saul did not say anything that day, for he thought, "Something has happened to him; he is unclean, surely he is [t]unclean." 27 And it happened the next day, the second day of the month, that David's place was empty. And Saul said to Jonathan his son, "Why has the son of Jesse not come to eat, either yesterday or today?"

28 So Jonathan [u]answered Saul, "David earnestly asked permission of me to go to Bethlehem. 29 And he said, 'Please let me go, for our family has a sacrifice in the city, and my brother has commanded me to be there. And now, if I have found favor in your eyes, please let me get away and see my brothers.' Therefore he has not come to the king's table."

30 Then Saul's anger was aroused against Jonathan, and he said to him, "You son of a perverse, rebellious woman! Do I not know that you have chosen the son of Jesse to your own shame and to the shame of your mother's nakedness? 31 For as long as the son of Jesse lives on the earth, you shall not be established, nor your kingdom. Now therefore, send and bring him to me, for he [6]shall surely die."

32 And Jonathan answered Saul his father, and said to him, [v]"Why should he be killed? What has he done?" 33 Then Saul [w]cast a spear at him to [7]kill him, [x]by which Jonathan knew that it was determined by his father to kill David.

34 So Jonathan arose from the table in fierce anger, and ate no food the second day of the month, for he was grieved for David, because his father had treated him shamefully.

35 And so it was, in the morning, that Jonathan went out into the field at the time appointed with David, and a little lad was with him. 36 Then he said to his lad, "Now run, find the arrows which I shoot." As the lad ran, he shot an arrow beyond him. 37 When the lad had come to the place where the arrow was which Jonathan had shot, Jonathan cried out after the lad and said, "Is not the arrow beyond you?" 38 And Jonathan cried out after the lad, "Make haste, hurry, do not delay!" So Jonathan's lad gathered up the arrows and came back to his master. 39 But the lad

■ 20:15 you shall not cut off your kindness. For the fulfillment of this request, see 2 Sam. 9:1–8; 21:7.

■ 20:16 David's enemies. See note on v. 13. Since it is David himself who will be accountable to keep covenant with Jonathan, "enemies" is probably a euphemistic reference to Saul, Jonathan's father (cf. 25:22; 2 Sam. 12:14).

■ 20:17 vow. See note on v. 8.

■ 20:18 New Moon. See note on v. 5.

■ 20:19 stone Ezel. The site is otherwise unknown. The Hebrew may mean something like "Departure Stone." The stone was possibly a familiar landmark on the way out of town; for other such landmarks mentioned in Samuel, see 19:22; 2 Sam. 20:8 and notes.

■ 20:23 LORD be between you and me. See Gen. 31:50, 53.

■ 20:24 New Moon. See note on v. 5.

■ 20:25 Abner. He was Saul's relative and military commander (14:50).

■ 20:26 unclean. See especially Lev. 7:19–21. Laws of cleanliness are covered most fully in Lev. 11—15, though references to "clean" and "unclean" are frequent throughout the Pentateuch (Gen. 7:2; Lev. 5:2; Num. 5:2; Deut. 14:3–21; etc.). The point is not physical but ritual or religious uncleanness.

■ 20:28, 29 See note on v. 6.

■ 20:30 son of a perverse, rebellious woman. As in similar modern expressions, the insult is meant for Jonathan and not necessarily his mother.

■ 20:31 you shall not be established, nor your kingdom. Despite Samuel's words in 13:14, Saul still clings to hope for his dynasty (cf. 18:8 note). Contrast Jonathan's ready acceptance of the Lord's will (v. 13; 18:4; 23:17 and notes). It may be inferred from Saul's words that Jonathan was his firstborn and thus in line for the throne.

■ 20:33 Saul cast a spear at him. Saul's and Jonathan's opposite reactions to David have driven a wedge between them. Saul's attempt on Jonathan's life matches his earlier attempts on David's (18:11; 19:10).

did not know anything. Only Jonathan and David knew of the matter. 40 Then Jonathan gave his [g]weapons to his lad, and said to him, "Go, carry them to the city."

41 As soon as the lad had gone, David arose from a place toward the south, fell on his face to the ground, and bowed down three times. And they kissed one another; and they wept together, but David more so. 42 Then Jonathan said to David, [y]"Go in peace, since we have both sworn in the name of the LORD, saying, 'May the LORD be between you and me, and between your descendants and my descendants, forever.' " So he arose and departed, and Jonathan went into the city.

David and the Holy Bread

21 Now David came to Nob, to Ahimelech the priest. And [a]Ahimelech was [b]afraid when he met David, and said to him, "Why are you alone, and no one is with you?"

2 So David said to Ahimelech the priest, "The king has ordered me on some business, and said to me, 'Do not let anyone know anything about the business on which I send you, or what I have commanded you.' And I have directed my young men to such and such a place. 3 Now therefore, what have you on hand? Give me five loaves of bread in my hand, or whatever can be found."

4 And the priest answered David and said, "There is no [1]common bread on hand; but there is [c]holy[2] bread, [d]if the young men have at least kept themselves from women."

5 Then David answered the priest, and said to him, "Truly, women have been kept from us about three days since I came out. And [3]the [e]vessels of the young men are holy, and the bread is in effect common, even though it was consecrated [f]in the vessel this day."

6 So the priest [g]gave him holy bread; for there was no bread there but the showbread [h]which had been taken from before the LORD, in order to put hot bread in its place on the day when it was taken away.

7 Now a certain man of the servants of Saul was there that day, detained before the LORD. And his name was [i]Doeg, an Edomite, the chief of the herdsmen who belonged to Saul.

8 And David said to Ahimelech, "Is there not here on hand a spear or a sword? For I have brought neither my sword nor my weapons with me, because the king's business required haste."

9 So the priest said, "The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom you killed in [j]the Valley of Elah, [k]there it is, wrapped in a cloth behind the ephod. If you will take that, take it. For there is no other except that one here."

And David said, "There is none like it; give it to me."

David Flees to Gath

10 Then David arose and fled that day from before Saul, and went to Achish the king of Gath. 11 And [l]the servants of Achish said to him, "Is this not David the king of the land? Did they not sing of him to one another in dances, saying:

> [m]'Saul has slain his thousands,
> And David his ten thousands'?"

12 Now David [n]took these words [4]to heart, and was very much afraid of Achish the king of Gath. 13 So [o]he changed his behavior before them, pretended [5]madness in their hands, [6]scratched

■ 21:1 Nob. Probably located less than two miles northeast of Jerusalem (Is. 10:32), Nob became "the city of the priests" (22:19) sometime after the disaster that came upon Shiloh (1:3 note; 2:32 note) at the hands of the Philistines (4:1–11).

Ahimelech. Either Ahijah's brother or simply another name for Ahijah (14:3), Ahimelech occupies the position of high priest once held by his great-grandfather Eli (1:9). See also Mark 2:26 and note.

■ 21:2 king has ordered me. Having employed a pretext to good advantage not long before (20:6 note), David does so again, with disastrous results for Ahimelech and the priests at Nob (22:6–19).

■ 21:4 holy bread. That is, "the showbread" (v. 6; Ex. 25:30; 35:13; Lev. 24:5–9; 1 Chr. 9:32). See Jesus' reference to this episode in Matt. 12:3, 4; Mark 2:25, 26; Luke 6:3, 4.

■ 21:6 showbread. See v. 4 and note.

■ 21:7 Doeg, an Edomite. The presence of Doeg at these transactions arouses apprehensions in the reader as it did in David (22:22). These apprehensions prove well founded as the narrative progresses (22:9, 10, 18, 19). Doeg is also mentioned in the title of Ps. 52.

on the doors of the gate, and let his saliva fall down on his beard. 14 Then Achish said to his servants, "Look, you see the man is insane. Why have you brought him to me? 15 Have I need of madmen, that you have brought this fellow to play the madman in my presence? Shall this fellow come into my house?"

David's Four Hundred Men

22 David therefore departed from there and [a]escaped [b]to the cave of Adullam. So when his brothers and all his father's house heard it, they went down there to him. 2 [c]And everyone who was in distress, everyone who was in debt, and everyone who was [f]discontented gathered to him. So he became captain over them. And there were about [d]four hundred men with him.

3 Then David went from there to Mizpah of [e]Moab; and he said to the king of Moab, "Please let my father and mother come here with you, till I know what God will do for me." 4 So he brought them before the king of Moab, and they dwelt with him all the time that David was in the stronghold.

5 Now the prophet [f]Gad said to David, "Do not stay in the stronghold; depart, and go to the land of Judah." So David departed and went into the forest of Hereth.

Saul Murders the Priests

6 When Saul heard that David and the men who were with him had been discovered—now Saul was staying in [g]Gibeah under a tamarisk tree in Ramah, with his spear in his hand, and all his servants standing about him— 7 then Saul said to his servants who stood about him, "Hear now, you Benjamites! Will the son of Jesse [h]give every one of you fields and vineyards, and make you all captains of thousands and captains of hundreds? 8 All of you have conspired against me, and there is no one who reveals to me that [i]my son has made a covenant with the son of Jesse; and there is not one of you who is sorry for me or reveals to me that my son has stirred up my servant against me, to lie in wait, as it is this day."

9 Then answered [j]Doeg the Edomite, who was set over the servants of Saul, and said, "I saw the son of Jesse going to Nob, to [k]Ahimelech the son of [l]Ahitub. 10 [m]And he inquired of the LORD for him, [n]gave him provisions, and gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine."

11 So the king sent to call Ahimelech the priest, the son of Ahitub, and all his father's house, the priests who were in Nob. And they all came to the king. 12 And Saul said, "Hear now, son of Ahitub!"

He answered, "Here I am, my lord."

13 Then Saul said to him, "Why have you conspired against me, you and the son of Jesse, in that you have given him bread and a sword, and have inquired of God for him, that he should rise against me, to lie in wait, as it is this day?"

14 So Ahimelech answered the king and said, "And who among all your servants is as [o]faith-

■ 22:5 prophet Gad. Later to serve as King David's seer (2 Sam. 24:11; 2 Chr. 29:25; cf. 1 Chr. 29:29), Gad's presence at this point is a reminder that David's destiny is divinely appointed and that he is under the Lord's protection. David will later be joined by a priest (vv. 20–23).

■ 22:6 spear in his hand. The mention of Saul's spear here may be a reminder of Saul's violent temper (18:10, 11; 19:10; 20:33), which comes to full expression in this episode.

■ 22:7 you Benjamites. Having apparently surrounded himself with members of his own tribe (9:1, 2; 10:21), Saul seeks to reinforce their loyalty with an appeal to self-interest: is David, of the tribe of Judah, likely to be fair to Benjamites?

16 And the king said, "You shall surely die, Ahimelech, you and all [p]your father's house!" 17 Then the king said to the guards who stood about him, "Turn and kill the priests of the LORD, because their hand also is with David, and because they knew when he fled and did not tell it to me." But the servants of the king [q]would not lift their hands to strike the priests of the LORD. 18 And the king said to Doeg, "You turn and kill the priests!" 19 [s]Josh. 21:1–45; 1 Sam. 22:9, 11

■ 22:17 would not . . . strike the priests. Saul's command that the priests of the Lord be slaughtered is so evil and irrational that his own men refuse to carry it out. At least once before, Saul's men found it necessary to go against him (14:45 and note).

■ 22:18 killed . . . eighty-five men. See note on 2:31.

linen ephod. See note on 2:18.

■ 22:19 men and women, children and nursing infants. It is an irony

Before David Became King. Near Sochoh David defeated the giant Goliath (1 Sam. 17). Once Saul's wrath was kindled against the shepherd-soldier, David fled Saul's presence.

His journey went first to Nob, where he deceived the priest Ahimelech into giving him bread and Goliath's sword. He then sought refuge with the Philistine King Achish in Gath.

The suspicions of the Philistines forced David to continue his flight, now to the cave of Adullam, where he was joined by his family. After taking his family to the safety of Moab, he established camp at the stronghold (1 Sam. 22:4) now known as Masada.

Saul's pursuit, however, would not allow David to remain in one place. Other stops included Keilah, En Gedi, and finally Ziklag, David's camp until he moved to Hebron and became king of Judah.

Nob, the city of the priests, he struck with the edge of the sword, both men and women, children and nursing infants, oxen and donkeys and sheep—with the edge of the sword.

20 [t]Now one of the sons of Ahimelech the son of Ahitub, named Abiathar, [u]escaped and fled after David. 21 And Abiathar told David that Saul had killed the LORD's priests. 22 So David said to Abiathar, "I knew that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would surely tell Saul. I have caused the death of all the persons of your father's [3]house. 23 Stay with me; do not fear. [v]For he who seeks my life seeks your life, but with me you shall be safe."

David Saves the City of Keilah

23 Then they told David, saying, "Look, the Philistines are fighting against [a]Keilah, and they are robbing the threshing floors."

2 Therefore David [b]inquired of the LORD, saying, "Shall I go and [1]attack these Philistines?"

And the LORD said to David, "Go and attack the Philistines, and save Keilah."

3 But David's men said to him, "Look, we are afraid here in Judah. How much more then if we go to Keilah against the armies of the Philistines?" 4 Then David inquired of the LORD once again.

And the LORD answered him and said, "Arise, go down to Keilah. For I will deliver the Philistines into your hand." 5 And David and his men went to Keilah and [c]fought with the Philistines, struck them with a mighty blow, and took away their livestock. So David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.

6 Now it happened, when Abiathar the son of Ahimelech [d]fled to David at Keilah, that he went down with an ephod in his hand.

7 And Saul was told that David had gone to Keilah. So Saul said, "God has delivered him into my hand, for he has shut himself in by entering a town that has gates and bars." 8 Then Saul called all the people together for war, to go down to Keilah to besiege David and his men.

9 When David knew that Saul plotted evil against him, [e]he said to Abiathar the priest, "Bring the ephod here." 10 Then David said, "O LORD God of Israel, Your servant has certainly heard that Saul seeks to come to Keilah [f]to destroy the city for my sake. 11 Will the men of Keilah deliver me into his hand? Will Saul come down, as Your servant has heard? O LORD God of Israel, I pray, tell Your servant."

And the LORD said, "He will come down."

12 Then David said, "Will the men of Keilah [2]deliver me and my men into the hand of Saul?"

And the LORD said, "They will deliver you."

13 So David and his men, [g]about six hundred, arose and departed from Keilah and went wherever they could go. Then it was told Saul that David had escaped from Keilah; so he halted the expedition.

David in Wilderness Strongholds

14 And David stayed in strongholds in the wilderness, and remained in [h]the mountains in the Wilderness of [i]Ziph. Saul [j]sought him every day, but God did not deliver him into his hand.

extremely damaging to Saul's image that the description of the total slaughter of the inhabitants of Nob, "the city of the priests," matches almost verbatim the order that had been given for the slaughter of the Amalekites (15:3) that Saul failed to carry out.

■ 22:20 Abiathar . . . fled after David. Support for David continues to build, chiefly as a result of Saul's own misguided attempts at self-preservation. David now has the support of both prophet (v. 5) and priest. Abiathar brings to David the ephod (23:6), which was a means of discerning the Lord's will (2:28 note; 14:3 note).

■ 22:22 I have caused. It would be easy for David to excuse himself for the massacre at Nob by simply condemning Saul. Instead, he readily admits his own share of responsibility for the disaster (21:2 note). In this admission the reader glimpses a major difference between David and his predecessor, the quality of their repentance (15:24–26, 30 and notes; 2 Sam. 12:13 note).

■ 23:1 Keilah. Located about three miles south of Adullam (22:1) near Philistine territory, Keilah is also mentioned in Josh. 15:44.

robbing the threshing floors. Cf. Judg. 6:3–6.

■ 23:6 ephod. Not the "linen ephod" traditionally worn by all priests (cf. 22:18), but the ephod associated with divine inquiry (2:28 note).

■ 23:7 God has delivered him into my hand. Saul's interpretation of events is without foundation, as the narrator's diametrically opposed assertion makes clear: "God did not deliver him into his hand" (v. 14).

■ 23:12 Will the men of Keilah deliver me. In view of Saul's ruthless treatment of the city of Nob, the behavior of the Keilahites probably reflects fear rather than ingratitude to David.

■ 23:13 men, about six hundred. The growth of David's company from four hundred (22:2) to six hundred is an indication of his increasing strength (22:20 note).

■ 23:14 strongholds in the wilderness. The term "strongholds" suggests a geographical area and not a single location (22:4; 2 Sam. 5:17; 23:14).

Wilderness of Ziph. The village of Ziph is thirteen miles southeast of Keilah and five miles southeast of Hebron. The wilderness would be the desert area south of Hebron. Ziph is mentioned in Josh. 15:55, along with Maon (v. 24) and Carmel (15:12; 25:2).

God did not deliver him into his hand. God is in sovereign control of David's destiny (v. 7; 22:20 and notes).

15 So David saw that Saul had come out to seek his life. And David was in the Wilderness of Ziph [3]in a forest. 16 Then Jonathan, Saul's son, arose and went to David in the woods and [4]strengthened his hand in God. 17 And he said to him, [k]"Do not fear, for the hand of Saul my father shall not find you. You shall be king over Israel, and I shall be next to you. [l]Even my father Saul knows that." 18 So the two of them [m]made a covenant before the LORD. And David stayed in the woods, and Jonathan went to his own house.

19 Then the Ziphites [n]came up to Saul at Gibeah, saying, "Is David not hiding with us in strongholds in the woods, in the hill of Hachilah, which is on the south of Jeshimon? 20 Now therefore, O king, come down according to all the desire of your soul to come down; and [o]our part shall be to deliver him into the king's hand."

21 And Saul said, "Blessed are you of the LORD, for you have compassion on me. 22 Please go and find out for sure, and see the place where his hideout is, and who has seen him there. For I am told he is very crafty. 23 See therefore, and take knowledge of all the lurking places where he hides; and come back to me with certainty, and I will go with you. And it shall be, if he is in the land, that I will search for him throughout all the [5]clans of Judah."

24 So they arose and went to Ziph before Saul. But David and his men were in the Wilderness [p]of Maon, in the plain on the south of Jeshimon. 25 When Saul and his men went to seek him, they told David. Therefore he went down [6]to the rock, and stayed in the Wilderness of Maon. And when Saul heard that, he pursued David in the Wilderness of Maon. 26 Then Saul went on one side of the mountain, and David and his men on the other side of the mountain. [q]So David made haste to get away from Saul, for Saul and his men [r]were encircling David and his men to take them.

27 [s]But a messenger came to Saul, saying, "Hurry and come, for the Philistines have invaded the land!" 28 Therefore Saul returned from pursuing David, and went against the Philistines; so they called that place [7]the Rock of Escape. 29 Then David went up from there and dwelt in strongholds at [t]En Gedi.

David Spares Saul

24 Now it happened, [a]when Saul had returned from following the Philistines, that it was told him, saying, "Take note! David is in the Wilderness of En Gedi." 2 Then Saul took three thousand chosen men from all Israel, and [b]went to seek David and his men on the Rocks of the Wild Goats. 3 So he came to the sheepfolds by the road, where there was a cave; and [c]Saul went in to [d]attend to his needs. ([e]David and his men were staying in the recesses of the cave.) 4 [f]Then the men of David said to him, "This is the day of which the LORD said to you, 'Behold, I will deliver your enemy into your hand, that you may do to him as it seems good to you.' " And David arose and secretly cut off a corner of Saul's robe. 5 Now it happened afterward that [g]David's heart troubled him because he had cut Saul's robe. 6 And he said to his men, [h]"The LORD forbid that I should do this thing to my master, the LORD's anointed, to stretch out my hand

■ 23:16 Jonathan, Saul's son . . . strengthened his hand in God. No longer ignorant of his father's malevolence toward David (contrast 20:2), Jonathan acts as a true friend by aiding David in finding strength where true strength can alone be found. See 30:6, where David once more "strengthened himself in the LORD his God."

■ 23:17 I shall be next to you. Though Jonathan will not survive to serve David (31:2), his readiness to let go of personal ambition for the sake of God's chosen king (18:4; 20:13) is a foil to Saul's desperate efforts to hang on to a kingdom that is no longer his (15:23).

Saul knows that. See 20:30, 31. Saul's refusal to accept his rejection (compare Eli's response in 3:18) cannot be excused on the grounds that he does not know to whom the kingdom should go.

■ 23:18 covenant. See notes on 18:3, 4.

■ 23:19 Ziphites. See note on v. 14; 26:1.

Gibeah. This was Saul's hometown (10:26).

■ 23:24 Wilderness of Maon. About eight miles south of Hebron, Maon is mentioned in 25:2 as the hometown of Nabal.

■ 23:27 Philistines having invaded the land. The providential timing of this Philistine incursion is obvious.

■ 23:28 Saul returned from pursuing David. Saul distinguishes himself by sacrificing personal concerns for the sake of national security.

■ 23:29 strongholds at En Gedi. En Gedi was a large spring on the steep western shore of the Dead Sea. Its vicinity afforded David provisions and protection in his flight from Saul.

■ 24:1 Wilderness of En Gedi. See note on 23:29.

■ 24:4 This is the day of which the LORD said to you. While it is providential that Saul should enter the very cave where David and his men are hidden, there has been no hint that God wanted David to lift a hand against Saul (cf. v. 6). The suggestion by David's men that he do so would be a mistaken conclusion of their own.

cut off a corner of Saul's robe. David restricts himself to a symbolic act (v. 5 note).

■ 24:5 David's heart troubled him. Although David later displays the corner of Saul's robe as evidence of his goodwill towards Saul (v. 11), his pangs of conscience (cf. 2 Sam. 24:10) suggest that a desire to secure such proof may not have been his only reason for going so close to Saul. In view of the royal significance of robes (15:28; 18:4; 19:24 and notes), David may have felt guilty of and an inappropriate grasping after the kingship and of an act of aggression against the Lord's anointed (v. 6). See theological note "Conscience and the Law."

■ 24:6 LORD's anointed. David recognizes and safeguards the sanctity of the Lord's anointed (26:9; cf. 2:10 note), leaving judgment and vengeance to the Lord (v. 12).

against him, seeing he is the anointed of the LORD." 7 So David [i]restrained his servants with these words, and did not allow them to rise against Saul. And Saul got up from the cave and went on his way.

8 David also arose afterward, went out of the cave, and called out to Saul, saying, "My lord the king!" And when Saul looked behind him, David stooped with his face to the earth, and bowed down. 9 And David said to Saul: [j]"Why do you listen to the words of men who say, 'Indeed David seeks your harm'? 10 Look, this day your eyes have seen that the LORD delivered you today into my hand in the cave, and someone urged me to kill you. But my eye spared you, and I said, 'I will not stretch out my hand against my lord, for he is the LORD's anointed.' 11 Moreover, my father, see! Yes, see the corner of your robe in my hand! For in that I cut off the corner of your robe, and did not kill you, know and see that there is [k]neither evil nor rebellion in my hand, and I have not sinned against you. Yet you [l]hunt my life to take it. 12 [m]Let the LORD judge between you and me, and let the LORD avenge me on you. But my hand shall not be against you. 13 As the proverb of the ancients says, [n]'Wickedness proceeds from the wicked.' But my hand shall not be against you. 14 After whom has the king of Israel come out? Whom do you pursue? [o]A dead dog? [p]A flea? 15 [q]Therefore let the LORD be judge, and judge between you and me, and [r]see and [s]plead my case, and deliver me out of your hand."

16 So it was, when David had finished speaking these words to Saul, that Saul said, [t]"Is this your voice, my son David?" And Saul lifted up his voice and wept. 17 [u]Then he said to David: "You are [v]more righteous than I; for [w]you have rewarded me with good, whereas I have rewarded you with evil. 18 And you have shown this day how you have dealt well with me; for when [x]the LORD delivered me into your hand, you did not kill me. 19 For if a man finds his enemy, will he let him get away safely? Therefore may the LORD reward you with good for what you have done to me this day. 20 And now [y]I know indeed that you shall surely be king, and that

Conscience is the built-in power of our minds to pass moral judgments on ourselves, approving or disapproving our actions, thoughts, and plans, and telling us, if what we have done is assessed as wrong, that we deserve to suffer for it. Conscience has in it two elements: an awareness of certain things as being right or wrong, and an ability to apply laws and rules to specific situations. Conscience insists on judging us, and insists on judging us by the highest standard we know. Hence we call it God's voice in the soul, and in a sense it is.

Paul says that God has written a certain knowledge of His law on every human heart (Rom. 2:14, 15), and experience confirms this. But conscience can be misinformed, or conditioned to regard evil as good, or become seared and dull through repeated sin (1 Tim. 4:2). The judgments of conscience are only to be received as God's voice when they match God's own truth and law in Scripture. The conscience must be educated to judge scripturally.

Superstition or scruple may lead a person to count as sinful an action that according to God's word is not sinful. But for such a "weak" conscience (Rom. 14:1, 2; 1 Cor. 8:7, 12) to go against itself and do what it mistakenly judges to be wrong would be sin (Rom. 14:23). Those whose conscience is "weak" should never be pressed or cajoled to do what destroys their good conscience.

The New Testament ideal is a conscience free from guilt and able to guide us in a holy direction. The conscience can only be freed from guilt by the power of Christ's blood. Once freed and protected in its freedom by the gift of justification, the conscience is able to grow through the teaching of Scripture and the means of grace in Christian life. □

■ 24:13 proverb. David's point seems to be like Jesus' teaching, "By their fruits you will know them" (Matt. 7:16, 20). David is known by his restraint, but Saul is known from his efforts to harm David.

■ 24:14 A dead dog. David abases himself before Saul, as Mephibosheth will later do before David (2 Sam. 9:8). The expression "dead dog" occurs only one other time in the Old Testament, 2 Sam. 16:9. "Dog" is usually an insult (17:43; 2 Sam. 3:8; 2 Kin. 8:13).

■ 24:17 You are more righteous than I. Having just escaped with his life, Saul experiences a rare moment of remorse. His testimony to David's righteousness recognizes David's right to rule; even Saul acknowledges that David did not rise to power by illicit means.

■ 24:20 you shall surely be king. Contrast Samuel's rebuke of Saul in 13:14, "But now your kingdom shall not continue." Yet in contrast to Jonathan's action in 18:4 (note), Saul gives no sign of being ready to give the throne to David (see 26:25 note).

the kingdom of Israel shall be established in your hand. 21 [z]Therefore swear now to me by the LORD [a]that you will not cut off my descendants after me, and that you will not destroy my name from my father's house."

22 So David swore to Saul. And Saul went home, but David and his men went up to [b]the stronghold.

Death of Samuel

25 Then [a]Samuel died; and the Israelites gathered together and [b]lamented for him, and buried him at his home in Ramah. And David arose and went down [c]to the Wilderness of [1]Paran.

David and the Wife of Nabal

2 Now there was a man [d]in Maon whose business was in [e]Carmel, and the man was very rich. He had three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. And he was shearing his sheep in Carmel. 3 The name of the man was Nabal, and the name of his wife Abigail. And she was a woman of good understanding and beautiful appearance; but the man was harsh and evil in his doings. He was of the house of [f]Caleb.

4 When David heard in the wilderness that Nabal was [g]shearing his sheep, 5 David sent ten young men; and David said to the young men, "Go up to Carmel, go to Nabal, and greet him in my name. 6 And thus you shall say to him who lives in prosperity: [h]'Peace be to you, peace to your house, and peace to all that you have! 7 Now I have heard that you have shearers. Your shepherds were with us, and we did not hurt them, [i]nor was there anything missing from them all the while they were in Carmel. 8 Ask your young men, and they will tell you. Therefore [2]let my young men find favor in your eyes, for we come on [j]a feast day. Please give whatever comes to your hand to your servants and to your son David.' "

9 So when David's young men came, they spoke to Nabal according to all these words in the name of David, and waited.

10 Then Nabal answered David's servants, and said, [k]"Who is David, and who is the son of Jesse? There are many servants nowadays who break away each one from his master. 11 [l]Shall I then take my bread and my water and my [3]meat that I have killed for my shearers, and give it to men when I do not know where they are from?"

12 So David's young men turned on their heels and went back; and they came and told him all these words. 13 Then David said to his men, "Every man gird on his sword." So every man girded on his sword, and David also girded on his sword. And about four hundred men went with David, and two hundred [m]stayed with the supplies.

14 Now one of the young men told Abigail, Nabal's wife, saying, "Look, David sent messengers from the wilderness to greet our master; and he [4]reviled them. 15 But the men were very good to us, and [n]we were not hurt, nor did we miss anything as long as we accompanied them, when we were in the fields. 16 They were [o]a wall to us both by night and day, all the time we were with them keeping the sheep. 17 Now therefore, know and consider what you will do, for [p]harm is determined against our master and against all his household. For he is such a [q]scoundrel[5] that one cannot speak to him."

18 Then Abigail made haste and [r]took two hundred loaves of bread, two skins of wine, five sheep already dressed, five seahs of roasted grain, one hundred clusters of raisins, and two

■ 25:1 the Israelites . . . lamented for him. The extent of mourning is a sign of Samuel's prominence as a leader. Compare the mourning that accompanied the deaths of Jacob (Gen. 50:10), Aaron (Num. 20:29), and Moses (Deut. 34:8).

Ramah. Samuel's hometown (1:1 note).

■ 25:2 Carmel. The same Carmel where Saul erected a monument in his own honor (15:12 notes). The setting of this incident near Carmel is the first of many reminders of Saul in this chapter.

■ 25:3 Nabal. In v. 25 Abigail explains the name as meaning "folly." If it seems unlikely that parents would name a child "fool," it may simply be that this is a disparaging play on a name which sounded like "fool."

the house of Caleb. On Caleb's tribal holdings, see Josh. 14:13; 15:13. The similarity of the name "Caleb" to the Hebrew word for "dog" (cf. 24:14 note) may account for the inclusion of this particular detail in the introduction of Nabal.

■ 25:8 your son David. Compare the attitude of respect and deference adopted by David in addressing Saul as "my father" in 24:11.

■ 25:14 he reviled them. Nabal's attack on David's messengers is vicious. The Hebrew verb translated "reviled" means "to shriek" or "to fly at" something and is closely related to the Hebrew noun for "birds of prey." The same verb is used of Saul in 15:19 to describe his unrestrained "swooping down" upon the Amalekite spoils (cf. 14:32).

■ 25:16 They were a wall to us. Not only did David's men refrain from inflicting harm (v. 7), their presence also gave protection to the shepherds of Nabal (v. 21).

■ 25:17 he is such a scoundrel that one cannot speak to him. Nabal's plight springs from his own wickedness. His lack of knowledge is a refusal to know.

hundred cakes of figs, and loaded them on donkeys. 19 And she said to her servants, [s]"Go on before me; see, I am coming after you." But she did not tell her husband Nabal.

20 So it was, as she rode on the donkey, that she went down under cover of the hill; and there were David and his men, coming down toward her, and she met them. 21 Now David had said, "Surely in vain I have protected all that this fellow has in the wilderness, so that nothing was missed of all that belongs to him. And he has [t]repaid me evil for good. 22 [u]May God do so, and more also, to the enemies of David, if I [v]leave [w]one male of all who belong to him by morning light."

23 Now when Abigail saw David, she [x]dismounted quickly from the donkey, fell on her face before David, and bowed down to the ground. 24 So she fell at his feet and said: "On me, my lord, on me let this iniquity be! And please let your maidservant [6]speak in your ears, and hear the words of your maidservant. 25 Please, let not my lord [7]regard this scoundrel Nabal. For as his name is, so is he: [8]Nabal is his name, and folly is with him! But I, your maidservant, did not see the young men of my lord whom you sent. 26 Now therefore, my lord, [y]as the LORD lives and as your soul lives, since the LORD has [z]held you back from coming to bloodshed and from [a]avenging[9] yourself with your own hand, now then, [b]let your enemies and those who seek harm for my lord be as Nabal. 27 And now [c]this present which your maidservant has brought to my lord, let it be given to the young men who follow my lord. 28 Please forgive the trespass of your maidservant. For [d]the LORD will certainly make for my lord an enduring house, because my lord [e]fights the battles of the LORD, [f]and evil is not found in you throughout your days. 29 Yet a man has risen to pursue you and seek your life, but the life of my lord shall be [g]bound in the bundle of the living with the LORD your God; and the lives of your enemies He shall [h]sling out, as from the pocket of a sling. 30 And it shall come to pass, when the LORD has done for my lord according to all the good that He has spoken concerning you, and has appointed you [i]ruler over Israel, 31 that this will be no grief to you, nor offense of heart to my lord, either that you have shed blood without cause, or that my lord has avenged himself. But when the LORD has dealt well with my lord, then remember your maidservant."

32 Then David said to Abigail: [j]"Blessed is the LORD God of Israel, who sent you this day to meet me! 33 And blessed is your advice and blessed are you, because you have [k]kept me this day from coming to bloodshed and from avenging myself with my own hand. 34 For indeed, as the LORD God of Israel lives, who has [l]kept me back from hurting you, unless you had hurried and come to meet me, surely [m]by morning light no males would have been left to Nabal!" 35 So David received from her hand what she had brought him, and said to her, [n]"Go up in peace to your house. See, I have heeded your voice and [o]respected your person."

36 Now Abigail went to Nabal, and there he was, [p]holding a feast in his house, like the feast of a king. And Nabal's heart was merry within him, for he was very drunk; therefore she told him nothing, little or much, until morning light. 37 So it was, in the morning, when the wine had gone from Nabal, and his wife had told him these things, that his heart died within him, and he became like a stone. 38 Then it happened, after about ten days, that the LORD [q]struck Nabal, and he died.

39 So when David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, [r]"Blessed be the LORD, who has [s]pleaded the cause of my reproach from the hand of Nabal, and has [t]kept His servant from evil! For the LORD has [u]returned the wickedness of Nabal on his own head."

And David sent and proposed to Abigail, to take her as his wife. 40 When the servants of Da-

■ 25:19 But she did not tell her husband Nabal. In refusing to confide in her husband, Abigail shows her lack of confidence in him. In view of Abigail's insight into the Lord's choice of David (v. 28 and note), her decision to go against her husband's wishes seems to fall under the category of obeying God rather than men (Acts 5:29).

■ 25:22 if I leave one male . . . by morning. Unrestrained by any special status of the man Nabal (contrast 24:9–12), David is intent upon exacting personal revenge.

■ 25:25 as his name is, so is he. See note on v. 3.

■ 25:28 an enduring house. Abigail's perception of David is as right as her husband's is wrong (vv. 10, 11; 2 Sam. 7:11–16).

fights the battles of the LORD. Abigail's words hint at the difference between David's proper military role and the personal vendetta he is now pursuing. Righteous engagement in conflict means standing boldly for God and leaving personal injuries to be dealt with by the Lord (24:12).

evil is not found in you. To have taken his own revenge on an enemy would have made David little better than Saul, and David later praises the Lord for sending Abigail to deter him from such a transgression (v. 32).

■ 25:29 bound . . . bundle . . . sling . . . sling. Note the poetic repetition in Abigail's speech.

■ 25:36 like the feast of a king. This phrase invites the thought that Nabal is somehow like another king, Saul.

■ 25:39 Blessed be the LORD. It would have been wrong for David to take matters into his own hands, but not because Nabal was innocent. Having heard of Nabal's death, David thanks the Lord for keeping him from personal wrongdoing while at the same time upholding his cause.

■ 25:40–44 Abigail . . . Ahinoam . . . Michal. David now has three wives: Michal, Saul's daughter, who has been given to someone else; Ahinoam; and Abigail. See also 2 Sam. 2:2; 3:2, 3.

vid had come to Abigail at Carmel, they spoke to her saying, "David sent us to you, to ask you to become his wife."

41 Then she arose, bowed her face to the earth, and said, "Here is your maidservant, a servant to [v]wash the feet of the servants of my lord." 42 So Abigail rose in haste and rode on a donkey, [l]attended by five of her maidens; and she followed the messengers of David, and became his wife. 43 David also took Ahinoam [w]of Jezreel, [x]and so both of them were his wives.

44 But Saul had given [y]Michal his daughter, David's wife, to [z]Palti the son of Laish, who was from [z]Gallim.

David Spares Saul a Second Time

26 Now the Ziphites came to Saul at Gibeah, saying, [a]"Is David not hiding in the hill of Hachilah, opposite Jeshimon?" 2 Then Saul arose and went down to the Wilderness of Ziph, having [b]three thousand chosen men of Israel with him, to seek David in the Wilderness of Ziph. 3 And Saul encamped in the hill of Hachilah, which is opposite Jeshimon, by the road. But David stayed in the wilderness, and he saw that Saul came after him into the wilderness. 4 David therefore sent out spies, and understood that Saul had indeed come.

5 So David arose and came to the place where Saul had encamped. And David saw the place where Saul lay, and [c]Abner the son of Ner, the commander of his army. Now Saul lay within the camp, with the people encamped all around him. 6 Then David answered, and said to Ahimelech the Hittite and to Abishai [d]the son of Zeruiah, brother of [e]Joab, saying, "Who will [f]go down with me to Saul in the camp?"

And [g]Abishai said, "I will go down with you."

7 So David and Abishai came to the people by night; and there Saul lay sleeping within the camp, with his spear stuck in the ground by his head. And Abner and the people lay all around him. 8 Then Abishai said to David, [h]"God has delivered your enemy into your hand this day. Now therefore, please, let me strike him [l]at once with the spear, right to the earth; and I will not have to strike him a second time!"

9 But David said to Abishai, "Do not destroy him; [i]for who can stretch out his hand against the LORD's anointed, and be guiltless?" 10 David said furthermore, "As the LORD lives, [j]the LORD shall strike him, or [k]his day shall come to die, or he shall [l]go out to battle and perish. 11 [m]The LORD forbid that I should stretch out my hand against the LORD's anointed. But please, take now the spear and the jug of water that are by his head, and let us go." 12 So David took the spear and the jug of water by Saul's head, and they got away; and no man saw or knew it or awoke. For they were all asleep, because [n]a deep sleep from the LORD had fallen on them.

13 Now David went over to the other side, and stood on the top of a hill afar off, a great distance being between them. 14 And David called out to the people and to Abner the son of Ner, saying, "Do you not answer, Abner?"

Then Abner answered and said, "Who are you, calling out to the king?"

15 So David said to Abner, "Are you not a man? And who is like you in Israel? Why then have you not guarded your lord the king? For one of the people came in to destroy your lord the king. 16 This thing that you have done is not good. As the LORD lives, you deserve to die, because you have not guarded your master, the LORD's anointed. And now see where the king's spear is, and the jug of water that was by his head."

17 Then Saul knew David's voice, and said, [o]"Is that your voice, my son David?"

David said, "It is my voice, my lord, O king." 18 And he said, [p]"Why does my lord thus pursue his servant? For what have I done, or what evil is in my hand? 19 Now therefore, please, let my lord the king hear the words of his servant: If the LORD has [q]stirred you up against me, let Him accept an offering. But if it is the children of men, may they be cursed before the LORD, [r]for they have driven me out this day from sharing in the [s]inheritance of the LORD, saying, 'Go, serve other gods.' [20] So now, do not let my blood fall to the earth before the face of the LORD. For the king of Israel has come out to seek [f]a flea, as when one hunts a partridge in the mountains."

[21] Then Saul said, [u]"I have sinned. Return, my son David. For I will harm you no more, because my life was precious in your eyes this day. Indeed I have played the fool and erred exceedingly."

[22] And David answered and said, "Here is the king's spear. Let one of the young men come over and get it. [23] [v]May the LORD [w]repay every man for his righteousness and his faithfulness; for the LORD delivered you into my hand today, but I would not stretch out my hand against the LORD's anointed. [24] And indeed, as your life was valued much this day in my eyes, so let my life be valued much in the eyes of the LORD, and let Him deliver me out of all tribulation."

[25] Then Saul said to David, "May you be blessed, my son David! You shall both do great things and also still [x]prevail."

So David went on his way, and Saul returned to his place.

David Allied with the Philistines

27 And David said in his heart, "Now I shall perish someday by the hand of Saul. There is nothing better for me than that I should speedily escape to the land of the Philistines; and Saul will [1]despair of me, to seek me anymore in any part of Israel. So I shall escape out of his hand." [2] Then David arose [a]and went over with the six hundred men who were with him [b]to Achish the son of Maoch, king of Gath. [3] So David dwelt with Achish at Gath, he and his men, each man with his household, and David [c]with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail the Carmelitess, Nabal's widow. [4] And it was told Saul that David had fled to Gath; so he sought him no more.

[5] Then David said to Achish, "If I have now found favor in your eyes, let them give me a place in some town in the country, that I may dwell there. For why should your servant dwell in the royal city with you?" [6] So Achish gave him Ziklag that day. Therefore [d]Ziklag has belonged to the kings of Judah to this day. [7] Now [2]the time that David [e]dwelt in the country of the Philistines was one full year and four months.

[8] And David and his men went up and raided [f]the Geshurites, [g]the [3]Girzites, and the [h]Amalekites. For those nations were the inhabitants of the land from [4]of old, [i]as you go to Shur, even as far as the land of Egypt. [9] Whenever David [5]attacked the land, he left neither man nor woman alive, but took away the sheep, the oxen, the donkeys, the camels, and the apparel, and returned and came to Achish. [10] Then Achish would say, "Where have you made a raid today?" And David would say, "Against the southern area of Judah, or against the southern area of [j]the Jerahmeelites, or against the southern area of [k]the Kenites." [11] David would save neither man nor

■ 26:20 a partridge. The partridge, whose name in Hebrew means "caller," is a cleverly chosen name for David, who stands on the crest of a mountain and "calls" (vv. 13, 14).

■ 26:21 I have sinned. Return. David's response to Saul's confession and invitation (v. 22) indicates he doubts Saul's sincerity; compare Samuel's response to a similar invitation by Saul in 15:24–26.

■ 26:25 May you be blessed, my son David. Saul's behavior is erratic, and David trusts neither his confessions nor his blessings (27:1; see note on 24:20).

■ 27:1 someday by the hand of Saul. Despite recently learned lessons of faith (26:10), David tires of being a fugitive in constant danger and gives in to the human fear that Saul will eventually succeed in destroying him. David's anxiety may be heightened since he and his men have their families with them (v. 3). For the second time (21:10), David seeks refuge among Israel's archenemies, the Philistines.

■ 27:2 Achish. Now that the rift between David and Saul is conspicuous and indisputable, Achish readily accepts David's presence, doubtless hoping to benefit from David's allegiance in his own struggles against Saul (29:6).

■ 27:3 his two wives. See note on 25:40–44.

■ 27:5 in the royal city with you. While David's request to be assigned to "some town in the country" is ostensibly based on a desire not to burden the royal city, it promises him a greater freedom of action by removing him from the eyes of Achish (vv. 8–11).

■ 27:6 Ziklag. Listed among the cities of Judah (Josh. 15:31; 19:5), ancient Ziklag may have been at Tell esh-Shariah, fifteen miles northwest of Beersheba. Once an Israelite possession, Ziklag was under Philistine control at this time.

kings of Judah. This expression is from the viewpoint of a time after the division of Israel into the northern and southern kingdoms (1 Kin. 12).

■ 27:8 Geshurites. Neighbors of the Philistines (Josh. 13:2), these people are not the same as the Geshurites from east of the Jordan (Josh. 13:11; 2 Sam. 15:8; 1 Chr. 2:23). David's wife, Absalom's mother (2 Sam. 3:3), was from the Geshurites east of the Jordan.

Girzites. Not identifiable; Gezer (see text note) is quite distant.

Amalekites. See note on 15:2.

Shur. See note on 15:7.

■ 27:9 he left neither man nor woman alive. David's practice would conceal his double-dealings from Achish (v. 11). Whether it was right is doubtful at best in the absence of any indication that the Lord had ordered his actions.

■ 27:10 David would say. This is not the first time David thinks it necessary to deceive (20:6; 21:2 and notes; cf. 16:2 note).

the southern area of Judah. See 2 Sam. 24:7; 2 Chr. 28:18. The large southern region of Israel, the Negev, extended from Beersheba south to the Gulf of Aqaba.

Jerahmeelites. 1 Chr. 2:9–15 mentions Jerahmeel as a descendant of Judah through Hezron and as a brother of Ram, an ancestor of David.

Kenites. Kenites and Jerahmeelites are mentioned together in 30:29.

woman alive, to bring news to Gath, saying, "Lest they should inform on us, saying, 'Thus David did.' " And thus was his behavior all the time he dwelt in the country of the Philistines. 12 So Achish believed David, saying, "He has made his people Israel utterly abhor him; therefore he will be my servant forever."

28 Now [a]it happened in those days that the Philistines gathered their armies together for war, to fight with Israel. And Achish said to David, "You assuredly know that you will go out with me to battle, you and your men."

2 So David said to Achish, "Surely you know what your servant can do."

And Achish said to David, "Therefore I will make you one of my chief guardians forever."

Saul Consults a Medium

3 Now [b]Samuel had died, and all Israel had lamented for him and buried him in [c]Ramah, in his own city. And Saul had put [d]the mediums and the spiritists out of the land.

4 Then the Philistines gathered together, and came and encamped at [e]Shunem. So Saul gathered all Israel together, and they encamped at [f]Gilboa. 5 When Saul saw the army of the Philistines, he was [g]afraid, and his heart trembled greatly. 6 And when Saul inquired of the LORD, [h]the LORD did not answer him, either by [i]dreams or [j]by Urim or by the prophets.

7 Then Saul said to his servants, "Find me a woman who is a medium, [k]that I may go to her and inquire of her."

And his servants said to him, "In fact, there is a woman who is a medium at En Dor."

8 So Saul disguised himself and put on other clothes, and he went, and two men with him; and they came to the woman by night. And [l]he said, "Please conduct a séance for me, and bring up for me the one I shall name to you."

9 Then the woman said to him, "Look, you know what Saul has done, how he has [m]cut off the mediums and the spiritists from the land. Why then do you lay a snare for my life, to cause me to die?"

10 And Saul swore to her by the LORD, saying, "As the LORD lives, no punishment shall come upon you for this thing."

11 Then the woman said, "Whom shall I bring up for you?"

And he said, "Bring up Samuel for me."

12 When the woman saw Samuel, she cried out with a loud voice. And the woman spoke to Saul, saying, "Why have you deceived me? For you are Saul!"

13 And the king said to her, "Do not be afraid. What did you see?"

And the woman said to Saul, "I saw [n]a [l]spirit ascending out of the earth."

14 So he said to her, "What is his form?"

■ 27:12 Achish believed David. Achish was deceived by David's pretense of raiding villages in Judah and its environs.

■ 28:1 You assuredly know. Achish points out that his benevolence to David has certain strings attached. The same Hebrew phrase is used in Solomon's warning to Shimei in 1 Kin. 2:37, 42.

■ 28:2 what your servant can do. The irony of David's ambiguous answer (will David fight for or against him?) has a counterpoint in the perhaps unconscious irony of Achish's reply.

one of my chief guardians forever. Presumably Achish's offer is contingent on David's performance in battle. The Hebrew term used by Achish for "chief guardian" means literally "keeper of my head," an unfortunate choice of words in view of David's treatment of Goliath (17:49–54).

■ 28:3 Samuel had died. The death of Samuel signals the passing of an era.

mediums and spiritists. Although Saul's expulsion of mediums and spiritists is fully in keeping with Mosaic law (Lev. 19:31; 20:6, 27; Deut. 18:11), it is only a partial proof of zeal for the religion of Israel. Saul's consultation of a medium is a clear indication of unfaithfulness and disobedience (1 Chr. 10:13), while Lev. 20:6 says that such a person is to be "cut . . . off from his people."

■ 28:4 Shunem. Located just southwest of the hill of Moreh and sixteen miles southwest of the Sea of Chinnereth (Galilee). Shunem was the site of the Philistine camp on the eve of the battle in which Saul died (ch. 31).

Gilboa. This is probably the mountain range that begins five miles south of Shunem and extends south along the eastern edge of the plain of Jezreel. It could also be a village located in the heart of the Gilboa range eleven miles south of Shunem. See 29:1 and note.

■ 28:5 his heart trembled greatly. See 17:11 and note.

■ 28:6 the LORD did not answer him. Saul's inquiry is prompted by anxiety (v. 5), not piety, and the Lord's refusal to answer is reminiscent of the threat of 8:18.

by dreams or by Urim or by the prophets. Saul rejected the Lord and as a consequence was rejected by the Lord (15:23 and note). This cut him off from the usual means of divine inquiry. Whereas David had the prophet Gad in his retinue (22:5), it is unlikely that a true prophet accompanied Saul. Moreover, the authentic ephod containing the Urim and Thummim (2:28 note) had come into David's possession through Abiathar (23:6).

■ 28:7 Find me a woman who is a medium. His purge of the land notwithstanding (v. 3 note), Saul seems to have no doubt that a medium can be found, and his attendants can name one immediately.

En Dor. Josh. 17:11, 12 attests to a persistent Canaanite influence at En Dor, which was about five miles north of Shunem (v. 4 note). Saul's recourse to En Dor took him behind Philistine lines.

■ 28:12 the woman saw Samuel. Probably this was Samuel, and not merely an apparition. The consternation of the medium shows that the figure was something outside her usual experience of magic arts. The narrator calls it simply "Samuel," and what the figure says is consistent with Samuel's pronouncements when alive (especially ch. 15). For some reason the Lord allowed Samuel to visit Saul. It is clear from the medium's reaction that she could not compel him to appear.

■ 28:14 Saul perceived that it was Samuel. Apparently Saul

And she said, "An old man is coming up, and he is covered with [o]a mantle." And Saul perceived that it was Samuel, and he stooped with his face to the ground and bowed down.

15 Now Samuel said to Saul, "Why have you [p]disturbed me by bringing me up?"

And Saul answered, "I am deeply distressed; for the Philistines make war against me, and [q]God has departed from me and [r]does not answer me anymore, neither by prophets nor by dreams. Therefore I have called you, that you may reveal to me what I should do."

16 Then Samuel said: "So why do you ask me, seeing the LORD has departed from you and has become your enemy? 17 And the LORD has done for [2]Himself [s]as He spoke by me. For the LORD has torn the kingdom out of your hand and given it to your neighbor, David. 18 [t]Because you did not obey the voice of the LORD nor execute His fierce wrath upon [u]Amalek, therefore the LORD has done this thing to you this day. 19 Moreover the LORD will also deliver Israel with you into the hand of the Philistines. And tomorrow you and your sons will be with [v]me. The LORD will also deliver the army of Israel into the hand of the Philistines."

20 Immediately Saul fell full length on the ground, and was dreadfully afraid because of the words of Samuel. And there was no strength in him, for he had eaten no food all day or all night.

21 And the woman came to Saul and saw that he was severely troubled, and said to him, "Look, your maidservant has obeyed your voice, and I have [w]put my life in my hands and heeded the words which you spoke to me. 22 Now therefore, please, heed also the voice of your maidservant, and let me set a piece of bread before you; and eat, that you may have strength when you go on your way."

23 But he refused and said, "I will not eat."

So his servants, together with the woman, urged him; and he heeded their voice. Then he arose from the ground and sat on the bed. 24 Now the woman had a fatted calf in the house, and she hastened to kill it. And she took flour and kneaded it, and baked unleavened bread from it. 25 So she brought it before Saul and his servants, and they ate. Then they rose and went away that night.

The Philistines Reject David

29 Then [a]the Philistines gathered together all their armies [b]at Aphek, and the Israelites encamped by a fountain which is in Jezreel. 2 And the [c]lords of the Philistines [1]passed in review by hundreds and by thousands, but [d]David and his men passed in review at the rear with Achish. 3 Then the princes of the Philistines said, "What are these Hebrews doing here?"

And Achish said to the princes of the Philistines, "Is this not David, the servant of Saul king of Israel, who has been with me [e]these days, or these years? And to this day I have [f]found no fault in him since he defected to me."

4 But the princes of the Philistines were angry with him; so the princes of the Philistines said to him, [g]"Make this fellow return, that he may go back to the place which you have appointed for him, and do not let him go down with us to [h]battle, lest [i]in the battle he become our adversary. For with what could he reconcile himself to his master, if not with the heads of these [j]men? 5 Is this not David, [k]of whom they sang to one another in dances, saying:

[l]"Saul has slain his thousands, recognized Samuel when the woman described his mantle. Robes have symbolized the fate of Saul's kingship in a variety of ways, and mention of Samuel's mantle recollects the devastating pronouncement of 15:28 (see also 18:4; 24:4–6).

■ 28:19 you and your sons will be with me. That is, among the dead (31:2–4).

■ 28:23 I will not eat. See note on 1:7.

■ 28:24 fatted calf. Much has changed since Saul's first encounter with Samuel, when he was designated as the one to deliver Israel from the Philistines (9:16) and was treated to a festal meal by the prophet (9:22–24). Now in his last encounter with Samuel, on the eve of his own death and the crushing Philistine defeat of Israel, Saul is treated to a fatted calf by a medium.

■ 29:1 The Philistines gathered. This notice resumes the account initiated in 28:1, 2 but suspended in order to relate Saul's visit with the medium (28:3–25).

Aphek. Probably the same Aphek mentioned in 4:1 (note), twenty-eight miles north of Gath. The Philistines assembled their forces at Aphek before continuing their northward march (v. 2).

Jezreel. North of Mount Gilboa, a few miles south of Shunem, and forty miles northeast of Aphek.

■ 29:3 Hebrews. See note on 4:6.

I have found no fault in him. This judgment is a measure of Achish's gullibility, not David's sincerity (27:8–12).

■ 29:4 lest in the battle he become our adversary. The other Philistine commanders are less gullible than Achish and perhaps still carry painful memories of mid-battle defection in an earlier war with Israel (14:21).

■ 29:5 Is this not David, of whom they sang. See note on 18:7; 21:11.

6 Then Achish called David and said to him, "Surely, as the LORD lives, you have been upright, and [m]your going out and your coming in with me in the army is good in my sight. For to this day [n]I have not found evil in you since the day of your coming to me. Nevertheless the lords do not favor you. 7 Therefore return now, and go in peace, that you may not displease the lords of the Philistines."

8 So David said to Achish, "But what have I done? And to this day what have you found in your servant as long as I have been with you, that I may not go and fight against the enemies of my lord the king?"

9 Then Achish answered and said to David, "I know that you are as good in my sight [o]as an angel of God; nevertheless [p]the princes of the Philistines have said, 'He shall not go up with us to the battle.' 10 Now therefore, rise early in the morning with your master's servants [q]who have come with [2]you. And as soon as you are up early in the morning and have light, depart."

11 So David and his men rose early to depart in the morning, to return to the land of the Philistines. [r]And the Philistines went up to Jezreel.

David's Conflict with the Amalekites

30 Now it happened, when David and his men came to [a]Ziklag, on the third day, that the [b]Amalekites had invaded the South and Ziklag, attacked Ziklag and burned it with fire, 2 and had taken captive the [c]women and those who were there, from small to great; they did not kill anyone, but carried them away and went their way. 3 So David and his men came to the city, and there it was, burned with fire; and their wives, their sons, and their daughters had been taken captive. 4 Then David and the people who were with him lifted up their voices and wept, until they had no more power to weep. 5 And David's two [d]wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail the widow of Nabal the Carmelite, had been taken captive. 6 Now David was greatly distressed, for [e]the people spoke of stoning him, because the soul of all the people was [1]grieved, every man for his sons and his daughters. [f]But David strengthened himself in the LORD his God.

7 [g]Then David said to Abiathar the priest, Ahimelech's son, "Please bring the ephod here to me." And [h]Abiathar brought the ephod to David. 8 [i]So David inquired of the LORD, saying, "Shall I pursue this troop? Shall I overtake them?"

And He answered him, "Pursue, for you shall surely overtake them and without fail recover all."

9 So David went, he and the six hundred men who were with him, and came to the Brook Besor, where those stayed who were left behind. 10 But David pursued, he and four hundred men; [j]for two hundred stayed behind, who were so weary that they could not cross the Brook Besor.

11 Then they found an Egyptian in the field, and brought him to David; and they gave him bread and he ate, and they let him drink water. 12 And they gave him a piece of [k]a cake of figs and two clusters of raisins. So [l]when he had eaten, his strength came back to him; for he had eaten no bread nor drunk water for three days and three nights. 13 Then David said to him, "To whom do you belong, and where are you from?"

And he said, "I am a young man from Egypt, servant of an Amalekite; and my master left me behind, because three days ago I fell sick. 14 We made an invasion of the southern area of [m]the ■ 29:8 But what have I done. A protest of genuine innocence when spoken to Saul (26:18), the question is now no more than a ruse. David has indeed done much (27:8–12), if Achish only could see it.

that I may not go and fight against the enemies of my lord the king. As in 28:2, David again deals in ambiguities apparent to the reader, if not to Achish. The ambiguity here is the identity of "my lord the king." It could be Achish, Saul, or possibly God Himself.

■ 29:9 you are as good in my sight as an angel of God. Achish's grossly misplaced confidence makes him appear practically a fool. On the expression "angel of God," see 2 Sam. 14:17, 20; 19:27.

■ 30:1 Ziklag. See note on 27:6.

the South. See note on 27:10.

■ 30:2 they did not kill anyone. A remarkable evidence of the Lord's providential protection of David (v. 19; 26:12), whose own practice had been quite different (27:9).

■ 30:3 their wives, their sons, and their daughters had been taken captive. This turn of events is especially troubling, inasmuch as concern for the safety of their families may have motivated the retreat of David and his men to Philistine territory in the first place (27:1 note).

■ 30:6 David strengthened himself in the LORD his God. See note on 23:16.

■ 30:7 Abiathar brought the ephod. See note on 22:20.

■ 30:9 Brook Besor. Seasonal rivers (or "wadis") from the vicinity of Beersheba and south converge to form the Brook Besor, which runs northwest to empty into the Mediterranean. David and his men would have come to the ravine some thirteen miles south of Ziklag.

■ 30:10 so weary. Their exhaustion is not surprising after a march of over sixty miles from Aphek (29:1–11) to the Brook Besor.

■ 30:14 southern area of the Cherethites. The Cherethites were probably from Crete. They are often mentioned alongside the Philistines (Ezek. 25:16; Zeph. 2:5). The "Cherethites and Pelethites" served under the command of Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, as professional troops loyal to David (2 Sam. 8:18; 15:18; 20:7, 23) and, for a short time at least, to Cherethites, in the territory which belongs to Judah, and of the southern area [n]of Caleb; and we burned Ziklag with fire."

15 And David said to him, "Can you take me down to this troop?"

So he said, "Swear to me by God that you will neither kill me nor deliver me into the hands of my [o]master, and I will take you down to this troop."

16 And when he had brought him down, there they were, spread out over all the land, [p]eating and drinking and dancing, because of all the great spoil which they had taken from the land of the Philistines and from the land of Judah. 17 Then David attacked them from twilight until the evening of the next day. Not a man of them escaped, except four hundred young men who rode on camels and fled. 18 So David recovered all that the Amalekites had carried away, and David rescued his two wives. 19 And nothing of theirs was lacking, either small or great, sons or daughters, spoil or anything which they had taken from them; [q]David recovered all. 20 Then David took all the flocks and herds they had driven before those other livestock, and said, "This is David's spoil."

21 Now David came to the [r]two hundred men who had been so weary that they could not follow David, whom they also had made to stay at the Brook Besor. So they went out to meet David and to meet the people who were with him. And when David came near the people, he [2]greeted them. 22 Then all the wicked and [s]worthless[3] men of those who went with David answered and said, "Because they did not go with us, we will not give them any of the spoil that we have recovered, except for every man's wife and children, that they may lead them away and depart."

23 But David said, "My brethren, you shall not do so with what the LORD has given us, who has preserved us and delivered into our hand the troop that came against us. 24 For who will heed you in this matter? But [t]as his part is who goes down to the battle, so shall his part be who stays by the supplies; they shall share alike." 25 So it was, from that day forward; he made it a statute and an ordinance for Israel to this day.

26 Now when David came to Ziklag, he sent some of the [4]spoil to the elders of Judah, to his friends, saying, "Here is a present for you from the spoil of the enemies of the LORD"— 27 to those who were in Bethel, those who were in [u]Ramoth of the South, those who were in [v]Jattir, 28 those who were in [w]Aroer, those who were in [x]Siphmoth, those who were in [y]Eshtemoa, 29 those who were in Rachal, those who were in the cities of [z]the Jerahmeelites, those who were in the cities of the [a]Kenites, 30 those who were in [b]Hormah, those who were in [5]Chorashan, those who were in Athach, 31 those who were in [c]Hebron, and to all the places where David himself and his men were accustomed to [d]rove.

The Tragic End of Saul and His Sons

31 Now [a]the Philistines fought against Israel; and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell slain on Mount [b]Gilboa. 2 Then the Philistines followed hard after Saul and his sons. And the Philistines killed [c]Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchishua, Saul's sons. 3 [d]The battle became fierce against Saul. The archers [1]hit him, and he was severely wounded by the archers.

4 [e]Then Saul said to his armorbearer, "Draw your sword, and thrust me through with it, lest [f]these uncircumcised men come and thrust me through and [2]abuse me."

southern area of Caleb. Caleb, son of Jephunneh, is first mentioned in Num. 13:6 as one of the spies chosen to scout out the land of Canaan. He is commended in Num. 14:24 as one who followed the Lord "fully" and who therefore would receive an inheritance in the Promised Land. His inheritance included Hebron (Josh. 14:13, 14; Judg. 1:20).

■ 30:19 nothing . . . was lacking. This is further, striking evidence of the Lord's watchful care over David's affairs (v. 2 note).

■ 30:21 Brook Besor. See note on v. 9.

■ 30:22 worthless men. See note on 2:12, where the same Hebrew expression (see text note) is used.

■ 30:23 what the LORD has given us. David recognizes that the successful rescue is not his doing, but the Lord's (vv. 2, 19 and notes). This leads him to reject the idea that the front line troops have a right to more spoil than those who stayed behind.

■ 30:26 spoil to the elders of Judah. Probably he was thanking them for the help he received in escaping from Saul (v. 31), though it was also in this area that David's kingship was first officially recognized (2 Sam. 2:1–4).

■ 30:27–31 As v. 31 says, these cities were within the range of David's roamings as a fugitive. All of them are in the south of Judah. This Bethel (v. 27), for example, should not be confused with the more northern city of the same name (7:16 note).

■ 31:1 Mount Gilboa. See note on 28:4.

■ 31:2 Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchishua, Saul's sons. See 14:49. For a listing of all four sons of Saul, see 1 Chr. 8:33. Chronicles gives the name Esh-Baal, which was probably altered later to Ishbosheth ("man of shame") to avoid any association with the Canaanite god Baal. Ishbosheth was the only son of Saul left alive after the defeat on Mount Gilboa.

■ 31:4 uncircumcised men. See note on 14:6.

But his armorbearer would not, [g]for he was greatly afraid. Therefore Saul took a sword and [h]fell on it. 5 And when his armorbearer saw that Saul was dead, he also fell on his sword, and died with him. 6 So Saul, his three sons, his armorbearer, and all his men died together that same day.

7 And when the men of Israel who were on the other side of the valley, and those who were on the other side of the Jordan, saw that the men of Israel had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead, they forsook the cities and fled; and the Philistines came and dwelt in them. 8 So it happened the next day, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, that they found Saul and his three sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. 9 And they cut off his head and stripped off his armor, and sent word throughout the land of the Philistines, to [i]proclaim it in the temple of their idols and among the people. 10 [j]Then they put his armor in the temple of the [k]Ashtoreths, and [l]they fastened his body to the wall of [m]Beth[3] Shan.

11 [n]Now when the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead heard what the Philistines had done to Saul, 12 [o]all the valiant men arose and traveled all night, and took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons from the wall of Beth Shan; and they came to Jabesh and [p]burned them there. 13 Then they took their bones and [q]buried them under the tamarisk tree at Jabesh, [r]and fasted seven days.

Saul took a sword and fell on it. While some praise Saul's action as worthy of a tragic hero, the tenor of the books of Samuel points in another direction. To be commended are those who like David in times of distress find strength in God (23:16; 30:6), and who like Jonathan yield fully to His will (18:4, 28, 29; 19:4; 20:31; 23:17 and notes).

■ 31:6 all his men died together. On the qualified sense of "all," see the note on 15:8.

■ 31:10 the Ashtoreths. These were the fertility goddesses of the Canaanites.

Beth Shan. Located in the Jordan Valley some sixteen miles south of the Sea of Chinnereth (Galilee), this border city of the territory of Manasseh is listed in Josh. 17:11, 16; Judg. 1:27 among those cities that resisted Israelite occupation and remained Canaanite and Philistine strongholds.

■ 31:11 Jabesh Gilead. See note on 11:1.

■ 31:12 took the body of Saul . . . from the wall. This courageous act of the "valiant men" of Jabesh Gilead is an expression of gratitude for their own rescue by Saul recounted in ch. 11. It was also regarded as extremely shameful for the dead to be unburied.

The Second Book of

SAMUEL

Author The author of 2 Samuel is unknown. Although some of the material recounted in 1 Samuel may have been derived from writings by the prophet Samuel (cf. 1 Chr. 29:29), all the events reported in 2 Samuel occurred after his lifetime.

Date and Occasion In their original form, 1 and 2 Samuel were a single book. This book was completed as part of the "Deuteronomic History" during the exile of Judah in Babylon (see "Introduction to the Historical Books"). The narratives are based on sources and traditions contemporary with the events themselves.

Characteristics and Themes With Saul now dead (1 Sam. 31), the way is open for David to take the throne without lifting his hand against "the LORD's anointed" (cf. 1 Sam. 24:5, 6). David became a king by stages, first over Judah and then over all Israel (1:1—5:5). Though his ascendancy over Judah proceeds smoothly, blood is spilled before he becomes king over the whole nation. The narratives emphasize that David is innocent of the deaths of Abner (Saul's former general) and Ishbosheth (Saul's only surviving son), as he was innocent of the deaths of Saul and Jonathan.

The attention of the narrative then shifts to the transactions, both political and theological, by which David's throne is established. David's acquisition of a capital city, his resounding defeat of the Philistines, and his transfer of the ark of God to his newly established capital, Jerusalem, are recounted in chs. 5 and 6. Then the Lord, after refusing David's offer to build a house for Him, makes a covenant with David that He will build a house or dynasty for David that will endure forever. This promise is the continuation and specification of the divine covenant with the patriarchs and is a major development of the messianic hope that will be fulfilled in Christ (7:4–17 note). David's principal achievements included his military victories (expanding Israel's borders to the limits promised to Abraham in Gen. 15:18) and his covenant faithfulness to Jonathan, which David expresses by showing kindness to Mephibosheth (chs. 6—8).

The Davidic covenant of ch. 7 establishes that the purposes of God for the house of David are sure. The promise does not make it impossible for David or his descendants to forfeit some of the temporal benefits of their privileged position if they should fall into sin. Domestic and political chaos followed David's sin against Uriah and Bathsheba (ch. 11). When confronted by Nathan (ch. 12), David's repentance is genuine, and God's forgiveness is immediate. Yet sin still has its consequences. With his ability to exercise proper authority impaired (perhaps by a sense of guilt), David witnesses his own sins replicated in the lives of his sons (13:21 note). Not until he has survived two rebellions, first by his own son Absalom and then by Sheba, son of Bichri (ch. 20), does David's reign regain a measure of equilibrium.

Thematic closure is provided for the books of Samuel by a kind of epilogue in chs. 21—24. The chapters are symmetrical in outline, and at the center are two poems celebrating the two fundamental reasons for David's blessedness. First, the Lord is his deliverer (22:2–51), and second, the Lord has made an "everlasting covenant" with him (23:1–7). Framing this poetic core are lists of David's champions (21:15–22; 23:8–39), the human agents of his success. Finally, the first and last sections are accounts of how David made atonement for Saul's sin against the Gibeonites (21:3), and then for his own sin of taking a census of the people (ch. 24). In the first case David averted a famine by handing over for death seven of Saul's family. In the second, he accepted the judgment of a plague upon the nation, but pleaded with God that it be cut short before Jerusalem was struck. David's prayer was heard. David was disqualified from building a temple because of the blood he had shed during his life (1 Chr. 22:8; 28:3), but these books reveal the fervency of his heart and how he valued his relationship with God above all else. □

Outline of 2 Samuel

The Report of Saul's Death

NOW it came to pass after the [a]death of Saul, when David had returned from [b]the slaughter of the Amalekites, and David had stayed two days in Ziklag, [2] on the third day, behold, it happened that [c]a man came from Saul's camp [d]with his clothes [f]torn and dust on his head. So it was, when he came to David, that he [e]fell to the ground and prostrated himself.

[3] And David said to him, "Where have you come from?"

So he said to him, "I have escaped from the camp of Israel."

[4] Then David said to him, [f]"How did the matter go? Please tell me."

And he answered, "The people have fled from the battle, many of the people are fallen and dead, and Saul and [g]Jonathan his son are dead also."

[5] So David said to the young man who told him, "How do you know that Saul and Jonathan his son are dead?"

[6] Then the young man who told him said, "As I happened by chance to be on [h]Mount Gilboa, there was [i]Saul, leaning on his spear; and indeed the chariots and horsemen followed hard after him. [7] Now when he looked behind him, he saw me and called to me. And I answered, 'Here I am.' [8] And he said to me, 'Who are you?' So I answered him, 'I am an Amalekite.' [9] He said to me again, 'Please stand over me and kill me, for [z]anguish has come upon me, but my life still remains in me.' [10] So I stood over him and [j]killed him, because I was sure that he could not live after he had fallen. And I took the crown that was on his head and the bracelet that was on his arm, and have brought them here to my lord."

[11] Therefore David took hold of his own clothes and [k]tore them, and so did all the men who were with him. [12] And they [l]mourned and wept and [m]fasted until evening for Saul and for Jonathan his son, for the [n]people of the LORD and for the house of Israel, because they had fallen by the sword.

[13] Then David said to the young man who told him, "Where are you from?"

And he answered, "I am the son of an alien, an Amalekite."

[14] So David said to him, "How [o]was it you were not [p]afraid to [q]put forth your hand to destroy the LORD's anointed?" [15] Then [r]David called one of the young men and said, "Go near, and execute him!" And he struck him so that he died. [16] So David said to him, [s]"Your blood is on your own head, for [t]your own mouth has testified against you, saying, 'I have killed the LORD's anointed.' "

The Song of the Bow

[17] Then David lamented with this lamentation over Saul and over Jonathan his son, [18] [u]and he told them to teach the children of Judah the Song of the Bow; indeed it is written [v]in the Book [3]of Jasher:

[19] "The beauty of Israel is slain on your high places!
[w]How the mighty have fallen!

■ 1:1 Ziklag. See 1 Sam. 30:1; note on 1 Sam. 27:6.

■ 1:2 clothes torn and dust on his head. In the wake of Israel's devastating defeat (1 Sam. 31:1), the messenger apparently thinks it appropriate to take on the appearance of mourning (cf. Josh. 7:6; 1 Sam. 4:12). His claim to have had a hand in Saul's death (v. 10), however, shows that he expects at least this item of news to please David.

■ 1:6 chariots and horsemen followed hard after him. Chariots often carried archers (cf. Saul's injury, 1 Sam. 31:3).

■ 1:10 I stood over him and killed him. The Amalekite must have happened upon Saul's body before the Philistines (1 Sam. 31:8). In the hopes of receiving a reward from David he fabricated a part for himself in Saul's death.

crown . . . bracelet. The crown in view is presumably a lighter version of the heavy state crown. The way in which Saul's regalia came into David's possession is a stark contrast to Jonathan's voluntary surrender of his robe and weapons to David (1 Sam. 18:4 and note). This contrast epitomizes the radically different responses of Saul and Jonathan to the divine will with respect to David and the house of Saul (e.g., 1 Sam. 18:28, 29; 19:4; 20:30, 31; 23:17, 18).

■ 1:14 the LORD's anointed. By not sharing David's conviction about the sacrosanct status of "the LORD's anointed" (1 Sam. 24:6; 26:9), the Amalekite signs his own death warrant (vv. 15, 16).

■ 1:15 Go near, and execute him. David's severe reaction to the Amalekite's story provides evidence that he was not involved in Saul's death (cf. 4:10).

■ 1:17 David lamented. The lament opens with an introduction presenting the refrain, "How the mighty have fallen!" The first section exhorts the people to mourn for Saul, and is marked by the references to "the daughters of the Philistines" (v. 20) and "the daughters of Israel" (v. 24). The second section (vv. 25, 26) expresses David's personal mourning for Jonathan. The lament closes with a final repetition of the mournful refrain.

■ 1:18 the Song of the Bow. "Bow" serves as the title for the lament and may refer to Jonathan, whose bow is mentioned in v. 22. "Weapons of war" (v. 27) probably stands for Saul and Jonathan. Compare the designation of Elijah and Elisha as "the chariots of Israel and their horsemen" (2 Kin. 2:12; 13:14).

Book of Jasher. See note on Josh. 10:13.

■ 1:19 How the mighty have fallen. This phrase, which refers to Saul and Jonathan (v. 17), is repeated as a refrain in vv. 25 and 27. "Mighty" occurs also in v. 21 in parallel to "Saul."

20 [x]Tell it not in Gath,
Proclaim it not in the streets of [y]Ashkelon—
Lest [z]the daughters of the Philistines rejoice,
Lest the daughters of [a]the uncircumcised triumph.

21 "O [b]mountains of Gilboa,
[c]Let there be no dew nor rain upon you,
Nor fields of offerings.
For the shield of the mighty is [d]cast away there!
The shield of Saul, not [d]anointed with oil.
22 From the blood of the slain,
From the fat of the mighty,
[e]The bow of Jonathan did not turn back,
And the sword of Saul did not return empty.

23 "Saul and Jonathan were beloved and pleasant in their lives,
And in their [f]death they were not divided;
They were swifter than eagles,
They were [g]stronger than lions.

24 "O daughters of Israel, weep over Saul,
Who clothed you in scarlet, with luxury;
Who put ornaments of gold on your apparel.

25 "How the mighty have fallen in the midst of the battle!
Jonathan was slain in your high places.
26 I am distressed for you, my brother Jonathan;
You have been very pleasant to me;
[h]Your love to me was wonderful,
Surpassing the love of women.

27 "How[i] the mighty have fallen,
And the weapons of war perished!"

David Anointed King of Judah

2 It happened after this that David [a]inquired of the LORD, saying, "Shall I go up to any of the cities of Judah?"
And the LORD said to him, "Go up."
David said, "Where shall I go up?"
And He said, "To [b]Hebron."
2 So David went up there, and his [c]two wives also, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail the widow of Nabal the Carmelite. 3 And David brought up [d]the men who were with him, every man with his household. So they dwelt in the cities of Hebron.

2 [c]1 Sam. 25:42, 43; 30:5

3 [d]1 Sam. 27:2, 3; 30:1; 1 Chr. 12:1

■ 1:20 Tell it not in Gath. David implores his listeners not to let the news be heard among the Philistine cities, lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice over Israel's defeat, as the daughters of Israel had earlier rejoiced over the defeat of the Philistines (1 Sam. 18:7).

■ 1:21 not anointed with oil. It was customary to condition and preserve leather shields by rubbing them with oil (Is. 21:5). It may be more than coincidental that the particular wording is associated with royalty. Not only were kings "anointed" (1 Sam. 2:10 note) for their office, but the word "shield" is sometimes used in the Old Testament as a figure for "sovereign" or "chieftain" (text note on Ps. 7:10). Beneath the literal meaning of the words is perhaps the implication, "sovereign Saul, no longer anointed with oil."

■ 1:22 the sword of Saul did not return empty. The intent of this line is to praise Saul's military prowess.

■ 1:26 Surpassing the love of women. David's praise of Jonathan's love (cf. 1 Sam. 18:3) does not mean that love between friends is inherently superior to marital love. Rather, the point seems to be the astonishingly selfless quality of Jonathan's love for David. David was himself not selfless in his relations with women (3:2 note).

■ 2:1 David inquired of the LORD. Though aware of his divine appointment to become Israel's next king, David seeks the Lord's guidance, as he has done so often before (e.g., 1 Sam. 23:2, 4, 9–12; 30:7, 8).

Hebron. Located nineteen miles southwest of Jerusalem, Hebron has the highest elevation of any town in Israel and was strategically well suited for the inauguration of David's rule over Judah. Hebron was a Canaanite royal city when the Israelites came from Egypt (Josh. 10:3), but its links with the people of God extend back to the patriarchs (e.g., Gen. 13:18; 23:2, 19; 35:27).

■ 2:2 Ahinoam . . . Abigail. See 1 Sam. 25:40–44 note.

Jezreelites. Listed in Josh. 15:56 as one of the hill country villages south of Hebron, this Jezreel is not the better-known Jezreel in the north (v. 9).

Carmelite. See notes on 1 Sam. 15:12; 25:2.

4 [e]Then the men of Judah came, and there they [f]anointed David king over the house of Judah.
And they told David, saying, [g]"The men of Jabesh Gilead were the ones who buried Saul." 5 So David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh Gilead, and said to them, [h]"You are blessed of the LORD, for you have shown this kindness to your lord, to Saul, and have buried him. 6 And now may [i]the LORD show kindness and truth to you. I also will repay you this kindness, because you have done this thing. 7 Now therefore, let your hands be strengthened, and be valiant; for your master Saul is dead, and also the house of Judah has anointed me king over them."

Ishbosheth Made King of Israel

8 But [j]Abner the son of Ner, commander of Saul's army, took [l]Ishbosheth the son of Saul and brought him over to [k]Mahanaim; 9 and he made him king over [l]Gilead, over the [m]Ashurites, over [n]Jezreel, over Ephraim, over Benjamin, and over all Israel. 10 Ishbosheth, Saul's son, was forty years old when he began to reign over Israel, and he reigned two years. Only the house of Judah followed David. 11 And [o]the [2]time that David was king in Hebron over the house of Judah was seven years and six months.

Israel and Judah at War

12 Now Abner the son of Ner, and the servants of Ishbosheth the son of Saul, went out from Mahanaim to [p]Gibeon. 13 And [q]Joab the son of Zeruiah, and the servants of David, went out and met them by [r]the pool of Gibeon. So they sat down, one on one side of the pool and the other on the other side of the pool. 14 Then Abner said to Joab, "Let the young men now arise and compete before us."

And Joab said, "Let them arise."

15 So they arose and went over by number, twelve from Benjamin, followers of Ishbosheth the son of Saul, and twelve from the servants of David. 16 And each one grasped his opponent by the head and thrust his sword in his opponent's side; so they fell down together. Therefore that place was called [3]the Field of Sharp Swords, which is in Gibeon. 17 So there was a very fierce battle that day, and Abner and the men of Israel were beaten before the servants of David.

■ 2:4 anointed David king. On anointing, see 1 Sam. 2:10 note. David had already been anointed by Samuel (1 Sam. 16:3, 12, 13) and is now anointed again, this time as king over Judah. He will be anointed a third time, as king over Israel (5:3).

■ 2:5 You are blessed of the LORD. David's commendation of the Jabeshites for their kindness to Saul accomplishes two things. It shows he has no malice towards the now deceased king, and it sets the stage for his own bid for leadership over the Gileadites east of the Jordan River.

■ 2:8–32 Abner's installation of Saul's son Ishbosheth as king over Israel results in war between the houses of Saul and David.

■ 2:8 Ishbosheth. See note on 1 Sam. 31:2. As will become apparent this last surviving son of Saul is little more than a pawn in the hand of Abner.

brought him over to Mahanaim. Abner brought Ishbosheth across the Jordan River, probably in an effort to escape Philistine pressure. Two sites near the Jabbok River have been suggested for Mahanaim, one seven miles and the other seventeen miles from the river.

■ 2:9 king over Gilead, . . . all Israel. The way specific parts are listed suggests that Ishbosheth's control of these areas was more complete than his control of Israel as a whole.

■ 2:11 seven years and six months. See note on 5:4, 5.

■ 2:12 Gibeon. Gibeon was a Benjamite town, now called el-Jib, about five miles north of Jerusalem.

■ 2:13 Joab the son of Zeruiah. See note on v. 18.

■ 2:14 Let the young men now arise and compete. Abner suggests a form of representative combat similar to the contest between David and Goliath (1 Sam. 17:4 note). Large-scale bloodshed was not averted either time (vv. 17, 31).

David's Triumphs (2:4)

David was a man after God's own heart (1 Sam. 13:14), that is, his will was completely committed to the will of his Lord. As a dedicated servant of God, he was used by God to perform mighty acts for the sake of His chosen people Israel.

- King of Judah (2:4)
- King of Israel (5:3)
- Conquers Jerusalem (5:7)
- Returns ark (6:12)
- Davidic covenant (7:16)
- Defeats Philistines (8:1)
- Defeats Moab (8:2)
- Defeats Syria (8:6)
- Defeats Ammon (11:1)

18 Now the [s]three sons of Zeruiah were there: Joab and Abishai and Asahel. And Asahel was [t]as fleet of foot [u]as a wild gazelle. 19 So Asahel pursued Abner, and in going he did not turn to the right hand or to the left from following Abner.

20 Then Abner looked behind him and said, "Are you Asahel?"

He answered, "I am."

21 And Abner said to him, "Turn aside to your right hand or to your left, and lay hold on one of the young men and take his armor for yourself." But Asahel would not turn aside from following him. 22 So Abner said again to Asahel, "Turn aside from following me. Why should I strike you to the ground? How then could I face your brother Joab?" 23 However, he refused to turn aside. Therefore Abner struck him [v]in the stomach with the blunt end of the spear, so that the spear came out of his back; and he fell down there and died on the spot. So it was that as many as came to the place where Asahel fell down and died, stood [w]still.

24 Joab and Abishai also pursued Abner. And the sun was going down when they came to the hill of Ammah, which is before Giah by the road to the Wilderness of Gibeon. 25 Now the children of Benjamin gathered together behind Abner and became [4]a unit, and took their stand on top of a hill. 26 Then Abner called to Joab and said, "Shall the sword devour forever? Do you not know that it will be bitter in the latter end? How long will it be then until you tell the people to return from pursuing their brethren?"

27 And Joab said, "As God lives, [5]unless [x]you had spoken, surely then by morning all the people would have given up pursuing their brethren." 28 So Joab blew a trumpet; and all the people stood still and did not pursue Israel anymore, nor did they fight anymore. 29 Then Abner and his men went on all that night through the plain, crossed over the Jordan, and went through all Bithron; and they came to Mahanaim.

30 So Joab returned from pursuing Abner. And when he had gathered all the people together, there were missing of David's servants nineteen men and Asahel. 31 But the servants of David had struck down, of Benjamin and Abner's men, three hundred and sixty men who died. 32 Then they took up Asahel and buried him in his father's tomb, which was in [y]Bethlehem. And Joab and his men went all night, and they came to Hebron at daybreak.

3 Now there was a long [a]war between the house of Saul and the house of David. But David grew stronger and stronger, and the house of Saul grew weaker and weaker.

Sons of David

2 Sons were born [b]to David in Hebron: His firstborn was Amnon [c]by Ahinoam the Jezreelitess; 3 his second, [1]Chileab, by Abigail the widow of Nabal the Carmelite; the third, [d]Absalom the son of Maacah, the daughter of Talmai, king [e]of Geshur; 4 the fourth, [f]Adonijah the son of Haggith; the fifth, Shephatiah the son of Abital; 5 and the sixth, Ithream, by David's wife Eglah. These were born to David in Hebron.

4 [f]1 Kin. 1:5

■ 2:18 three sons of Zeruiah. According to 1 Chr. 2:16, Zeruiah was one of David's two sisters, which would make her sons his nephews.

Joab. Joab played an important role throughout David's reign, serving as commander of David's forces (8:16). Though an ardent supporter of David, Joab at times proved to be uncontrollable (3:39), acting in his own interests (3:26, 27) and even defying David's orders (18:5, 9–14). Joab was executed by King Solomon (1 Kin. 2:28–35).

Abishai. Abishai served alongside Joab in David's army (10:10; 18:2; 23:18).

Asahel. Also listed among David's mighty men (23:24), Asahel's relentless pursuit of Abner in this present episode will lead to a violent death (v. 23).

■ 2:22 How then could I face your brother Joab. Abner's attempts to avoid striking down Asahel may be motivated not simply by fear of reprisal from Joab, but also by a desire not to erect unnecessary barriers to eventual compromise with David. See note on v. 26.

■ 2:26 tell the people to return from pursuing their brethen. Abner's reference to "their brethren" may suggest a shift in a more conciliatory direction; perhaps Abner senses that David cannot be stopped. Abner would prefer truce to defeat, especially if he could remain autonomous.

■ 2:28 trumpet. See note on 1 Sam. 13:3.

■ 2:30, 31 The disparity between the number of casualties suffered by David's troops and by the Benjamites is a token of things to come.

■ 3:1 war between the house of Saul and the house of David. At least in the northern tribes, the transfer of power to David after the death of Saul was not unopposed. A key figure supporting Saul was Abner, Saul's military commander who had installed Saul's surviving son, Ishbosheth, as king in Mahanaim (2:8, 9). But the tide was running in David's favor (2:30, 31 note).

■ 3:2–11 The list of six sons born to David (vv. 2–5) amplifies the statement in v. 1 that "David grew stronger and stronger," while the wrangling between Abner and Ishbosheth over a concubine (vv. 6–11) dramatizes the final statement in v. 1 that "the house of Saul grew weaker and weaker."

■ 3:2 Sons were born to David in Hebron. As the list that follows reveals, David took additional wives in Hebron. In 5:13–16, after David's arrival in Jerusalem, yet more wives and concubines are added, and at least eleven more children will be born to David (see the cumulative list in 1 Chr. 3:1–9). While the narrator offers no explicit evaluation of David's behavior (ancient Near Eastern kings commonly multiplied wives and children), it violates the standards of Deut. 17:17.

■ 3:3 Maacah, the daughter of Talmai, king of Geshur. David's marrying a foreign wife from the small Aramean kingdom of Geshur may have been politically motivated, giving him an ally north of Ishbosheth's shaky realm.

Abner Joins Forces with David

6 Now it was so, while there was war between the house of Saul and the house of David, that Abner was strengthening his hold on the house of Saul.

7 And Saul had a concubine, whose name was [g]Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah. So Ishbosheth said to Abner, "Why have you [h]gone in to my father's concubine?"

8 Then Abner became very angry at the words of Ishbosheth, and said, "Am I [i]a dog's head that belongs to Judah? Today I show loyalty to the house of Saul your father, to his brothers, and to his friends, and have not delivered you into the hand of David; and you charge me today with a fault concerning this woman? 9 [j]May God do so to Abner, and more also, if I do not do for David [k]as the LORD has sworn to him— 10 to transfer the kingdom from the [2]house of Saul, and set up the throne of David over Israel and over Judah, [l]from Dan to Beersheba." 11 And he could not answer Abner another word, because he feared him.

12 Then Abner sent messengers on his behalf to David, saying, "Whose is the land?" saying also, "Make your covenant with me, and indeed my hand shall be with you to bring all Israel to you."

13 And David said, "Good, I will make a covenant with you. But one thing I require of you: [m]you shall not see my face unless you first bring [n]Michal, Saul's daughter, when you come to see my face." 14 So David sent messengers to [o]Ishbosheth, Saul's son, saying, "Give me my wife Michal, whom I betrothed to myself [p]for a hundred foreskins of the Philistines." 15 And Ishbosheth sent and took her from her husband, from [3]Paltiel the son of Laish. 16 Then her husband went along with her to [q]Bahurim, [4]weeping behind her. So Abner said to him, "Go, return!" And he returned.

17 Now Abner had communicated with the elders of Israel, saying, "In time past you were seeking for David to be king over you. 18 Now then, do it! [r]For the LORD has spoken of David, saying, 'By the hand of My servant David, [5]I will save My people Israel from the hand of the Philistines and the hand of all their enemies.' " 19 And Abner also spoke in the hearing of [s]Benjamin. Then Abner also went to speak in the hearing of David in Hebron all that seemed good to Israel and the whole house of Benjamin.

20 So Abner and twenty men with him came to David at Hebron. And David made a feast for Abner and the men who were with him. 21 Then Abner said to David, "I will arise and go, and [t]gather all Israel to my lord the king, that they may make a covenant with you, and that you may [u]reign over all that your heart desires." So David sent Abner away, and he went in peace.

Joab Murders Abner

22 At that moment the servants of David and Joab came from a raid and brought much [6]spoil with them. But Abner was not with David in Hebron, for he had sent him away, and he had gone in peace. 23 When Joab and all the troops that were with him had come, they told Joab, saying, "Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he sent him away, and he has gone in peace."

■ 3:7 Why have you gone into my father's concubine. Abner's appropriation of Saul's concubine would amount to a claim on the throne (12:8 note; 16:21 note; 1 Kin. 2:22). The reader is not told whether Ishbosheth's suspicion is well-founded or simple paranoia. Whatever the case, Abner uses the accusation as an occasion to shift his allegiance to David (vv. 8–10).

■ 3:9 as the LORD has sworn to him. See 5:2 note; 1 Sam. 13:14 note; 15:28; 24:20 note.

■ 3:10 Dan to Beersheba. A proverbial expression for "the whole country" (Judg. 20:1).

■ 3:11 he feared him. Ishbosheth's reaction indicates that Abner was in a position not only to make a threat but to carry it out.

■ 3:12 Whose is the land. Abner means that the land is his own, as one who controls it and can give it to David, or else that the land is David's by right, and that David should enlist Abner's help to secure it.

■ 3:13 bring Michal, Saul's daughter. Returning David's wife Michal to him (1 Sam. 18:27) would not only make right Saul's wrong of having given her to another in David's absence (1 Sam. 25:44), but would also strengthen David's claim to the throne over Saul's former realm. The restrictions of Deut. 24:1–4 do not apply in this situation, since David's separation from Michal was involuntary.

■ 3:14 David sent messengers to Ishbosheth. The insecurity of Ishbosheth's position is evident not only in his fear of Abner (v. 11) but also in his inability to resist David's orders.

a hundred foreskins of the Philistines. David refers to the bride-price that Saul had set for Michal (1 Sam. 18:25); his payment had actually been twice the amount (1 Sam. 18:27).

■ 3:16 Bahurim. Tentatively identified with a site about 1.5 miles east of Jerusalem in the territory of Benjamin. Bahurim was the hometown of Shimei, son of Gera (16:5; 1 Kin. 2:8).

weeping. A vivid glimpse of suffering caused by deeds outside the man's control.

■ 3:17 you were seeking for David to be king over you. See v. 1 note. Apparently Ishbosheth and Abner are all that have stood in the way of harmonious relations between David and Israel. Abner here steps aside, and Ishbosheth will not stand long without him (ch. 4).

■ 3:18 My servant David. David is now recognized as the recipient of a commission like the one first given to Saul (1 Sam. 9:16).

■ 3:21 that they may make a covenant with you. See 5:3.

in peace. The repetition of this phrase twice more in vv. 22, 23 underscores that David was not involved in Abner's death; see also vv. 26, 28, 29, 37.

24 Then Joab came to the king and said, "What have you done? Look, Abner came to you; why is it that you sent him away, and he has already gone? 25 Surely you realize that Abner the son of Ner came to deceive you, to know [v]your going out and your coming in, and to know all that you are doing."

26 And when Joab had gone from David's presence, he sent messengers after Abner, who brought him back from the well of Sirah. But David did not know it. 27 Now when Abner had returned to Hebron, Joab [w]took him aside in the gate to speak with him privately, and there [7]stabbed him [x]in the stomach, so that he died for the blood of [y]Asahel his brother.

28 Afterward, when David heard it, he said, "My kingdom and I are [8]guiltless before the LORD forever of the blood of Abner the son of Ner. 29 [z]Let it rest on the head of Joab and on all his father's house; and let there never fail to be in the [9]house of Joab one [a]who has a discharge or is a leper, who leans on a staff or falls by the sword, or who lacks bread." 30 So Joab and Abishai his brother killed Abner, because he had killed their brother [b]Asahel at Gibeon in the battle.

David's Mourning for Abner

31 Then David said to Joab and to all the people who were with him, [c]"Tear your clothes, [d]gird yourselves with sackcloth, and mourn for Abner." And King David followed the coffin. 32 So they buried Abner in Hebron; and the king lifted up his voice and wept at the grave of Abner, and all the people wept. 33 And the king sang a lament over Abner and said:

"Should Abner die as a [e]fool dies?
34 Your hands were not bound
Nor your feet put into fetters;
As a man falls before wicked men, so you fell."

Then all the people wept over him again.

35 And when all the people came [f]to persuade David to eat food while it was still day, David took an oath, saying, [g]"God do so to me, and more also, if I taste bread or anything else [h]till the sun goes down!" 36 Now all the people took note of it, and it pleased them, since whatever the king did pleased all the people. 37 For all the people and all Israel understood that day that it had not been the king's intent to kill Abner the son of Ner. 38 Then the king said to his servants, "Do you not know that a prince and a great man has fallen this day in Israel? 39 And I am weak today, though anointed king; and these men, the sons of Zeruiah, [i]are too harsh for me. [j]The LORD shall repay the evildoer according to his wickedness."

Ishbosheth Is Murdered

4 When Saul's [1]son heard that Abner had died in Hebron, [a]he[2] lost heart, and all Israel was [b]troubled. 2 Now Saul's son had two men who were captains of troops. The name of one was Baanah and the name of the other Rechab, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, of the children of Benjamin. (For [c]Beeroth also was [3]part of Benjamin, 3 because the Beerothites fled to [d]Gittaim and have been sojourners there until this day.)

■ 3:24 Joab's agitation at the thought of Abner's peaceful departure is apparent in his words to David.

■ 3:26 well of Sirah. A few miles north of Hebron.

But David did not know it. This note is another confirmation of David's innocence in the death of Abner (vv. 21–23, 28, 29, 37).

■ 3:27 for the blood of Asahel his brother. See also v. 30. In 2:18–23 Abner's slaying of Asahel is depicted as essentially a matter of self-defense, and the battle context of Abner's action makes it doubtful that Joab had the right to act as an "avenger of blood" (14:11; Num. 35:16–25; Deut. 19:11–13; Josh. 20:3). Joab may also have wanted to eliminate a potential rival in David's court (see his murder of Amasa in 20:10).

■ 3:28 My kingdom and I are guiltless. See vv. 21–23, 26, 37.

■ 3:29 Let it rest on the head of Joab. David's decision only to utter a curse upon Joab's house rather than take direct disciplinary action may have been a result of the ambiguous circumstances of Joab's crime. More likely, however, such factors as Joab's considerable power and reputation and his familial relationship with David influenced his decision. Ultimately Joab's crime did not go unpunished (1 Kin. 2:5, 6, 28–35).

■ 3:39 too harsh. That is, "too hard" or "ruthless." See v. 29 note; cf. 16:10; 19:22.

■ 4:1 Abner had died. The death of Abner affected Ishbosheth and "all Israel" the same way, but for different reasons. Ishbosheth "lost heart" because he knew that Abner's death meant the loss of the backbone of his government. Israel, on the other hand, "was troubled" by what may have appeared as a rejection of their friendly overture to David (3:17–21).

■ 4:2 of the children of Benjamin. The Benjamite origin of Ishbosheth's assassins is stressed (two verses are dedicated to establishing it), perhaps to show that disenchantment with the house of Saul extended even into his own tribe.

■ 4:3 the Beerothites fled to Gittaim. Although Beeroth was one of the four major cities of the Gibeonites (an Amorite people who duped Joshua into making a peace treaty with them; Josh. 9:17), Josh. 18:25 indicates that the town was allotted to Benjamin. King Saul had attempted to annihilate the Gibeonites (21:1, 2), and this aggression may explain the flight of the Beerothites to Gittaim.

6 [k]Judg. 1:21 [l]Josh. 15:63

4 [e]Jonathan, Saul's son, had a son who was lame in his feet. He was five years old when the news about Saul and Jonathan came [f]from Jezreel; and his nurse took him up and fled. And it happened, as she made haste to flee, that he fell and became lame. His name was [g]Mephibosheth.[4]

5 Then the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, set out and came at about the heat of the day to the [h]house of Ishbosheth, who was lying on his bed at noon. 6 And they came there, all the way into the house, as though to get wheat, and they [5]stabbed him [i]in the stomach. Then Rechab and Baanah his brother escaped. 7 For when they came into the house, he was lying on his bed in his bedroom; then they struck him and killed him, beheaded him and took his head, and were all night escaping through the plain. 8 And they brought the head of Ishbosheth to David at Hebron, and said to the king, "Here is the head of Ishbosheth, the son of Saul your enemy, [j]who sought your life; and the LORD has avenged my lord the king this day of Saul and his descendants."

9 But David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said to them, "As the LORD lives, [k]who has redeemed my life from all adversity, 10 when [l]someone told me, saying, 'Look, Saul is dead,' thinking to have brought good news, I arrested him and had him executed in Ziklag—the one who thought I would give him a reward for his news. 11 How much more, when wicked men have killed a righteous person in his own house on his bed? Therefore, shall I not now [m]require his [6]blood at your hand and [7]remove you from the earth?" 12 So David [n]commanded his young men, and they executed them, cut off their hands and feet, and hanged them by the pool in Hebron. But they took the head of Ishbosheth and buried it in the [o]tomb of Abner in Hebron.

David Reigns over All Israel

5 Then all the tribes of Israel [a]came to David at Hebron and spoke, saying, "Indeed [b]we are your bone and your flesh. 2 Also, in time past, when Saul was king over us, [c]you were the one who led Israel out and brought them in; and the LORD said to you, [d]'You shall shepherd My people Israel, and be ruler over Israel.' " 3 [e]Therefore all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, [f]and King David made a covenant with them at Hebron [g]before the LORD. And they anointed David king over Israel. 4 David was [h]thirty years old when he began to reign, and [i]he reigned forty years. 5 In Hebron he reigned over Judah [j]seven years and six months, and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years over all Israel and Judah.

The Conquest of Jerusalem

6 [k]And the king and his men went to Jerusalem against [l]the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land, who spoke to David, saying, "You shall not come in here; but the blind and the lame will Mephibosheth. Mephibosheth will appear again in 9:6–13; 16:1–4; 19:24–30; 21:7 (21:8 mentions a different Mephibosheth).

■ 4:9 who has redeemed my life from all adversity. Whereas Rechab and Baanah have tried to portray themselves as agents of the Lord's judgment against Saul (v. 8), David's response makes clear that with the Lord as his deliverer David has no need of human assistance.

■ 4:12 So David commanded. David shows none of the hesitation to act in this instance that he had shown in the case of Joab (3:29 note).

cut off their hands and feet. Mutilation of this sort was not uncommon in the ancient Near East.

■ 5:1 all the tribes of Israel. That is, their leaders; cf. "all the elders" in v. 3. It has been suggested that the Hebrew word here translated "tribes" may also mean "rulers."

your bone and your flesh. This is an expression of kinship (19:12–13; Gen. 29:14; Judg. 9:2) and the first of three reasons given by the Israelites in vv. 1, 2 for wanting to make David king.

■ 5:2 led Israel out and brought them in. An idiom for leading military campaigns (1 Sam. 18:13, 16). The second reason for wanting to make David king was his military success (1 Sam. 17:32, 45–47; 18:7; 25:28).

the LORD said to you. The third reason is David's divine appointment (1 Sam. 16:1 note).

shepherd. This designation is often used metaphorically in the Bible, either for God (Gen. 49:24; Ps. 23:1; 80:1; etc.), for His Son Jesus (John 10:11; Heb. 13:20; 1 Pet. 5:4; Rev. 7:17; etc.), or for divinely appointed human leaders (7:7; Num. 27:15–17; etc.). The image is one of intimate, caring leadership (v. 12 note).

ruler. The same word is rendered "commander" in 1 Sam. 9:16 (note).

■ 5:3 King David made a covenant. See 3:21. The covenant establishing David's rule over the northern tribes likely consisted of regulations for the kingship (cf. 1 Sam. 10:25), including their rights and responsibilities to one another and to the Lord (2 Kin. 11:17). That this covenant did not end the sense of separate identity felt by Israel and Judah is evident in the revolt of Sheba (20:1) and particularly in the dissolution of the united kingdom under Rehoboam (1 Kin. 12:16).

they anointed David. See note on 2:4.

■ 5:4, 5 In the Old Testament, a stereotyped formula often introduces the account of a king's official tenure in office (e.g., 1 Sam. 13:1; 2 Sam. 2:10; 1 Kin. 14:21; 22:42; etc.). In this case it appropriately marks David's assumption of power over all Israel.

■ 5:6 Jerusalem. A city of great antiquity (occupied as early as the third millennium B.C.), Jerusalem was in Benjamin, near the northern border of Judah. The city had earlier been conquered by Judah (Judg. 1:8), but neither Judah nor Benjamin had been successful in permanently dislodging its Jebusite inhabitants (Josh. 15:63; Judg. 1:21). David may well have thought that Jerusalem's strategic location and relatively independent status made the city well suited to the establishment of a national capital that would not imply favoritism to any particular region.

repel you," thinking, "David cannot come in here." 7 Nevertheless David took the stronghold of Zion [m] (that is, the City of David).

8 Now David said on that day, "Whoever climbs up by way of the water shaft and defeats the Jebusites (the lame and the blind, who are hated by David's soul), [n] he shall be chief and captain." Therefore they say, "The blind and the lame shall not come into the house."

9 Then David dwelt in the stronghold, and called it [o] the City of David. And David built all around from [1] the Millo and inward. 10 So David went on and became great, and [p] the LORD God of hosts was with [q] him.

11 Then [r] Hiram [s] king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, and carpenters and masons. And they built David a house. 12 So David knew that the LORD had established him as king over Israel, and that He had [t] exalted His kingdom [u] for the sake of His people Israel.

13 And [v] David took more concubines and wives from Jerusalem, after he had come from Hebron. Also more sons and daughters were born to David. 14 Now [w] these are the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem: [2] Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, [x] Solomon, 15 Ibhar, [3] Elishua, Nepheg, Japhia, 16 Elishama, Eliada, and Eliphelet.

Jebusites . . . spoke to David. The Jebusites' taunt, whether suggestive of overconfidence or simply of a determination to fight to the last man (even be he blind or lame), reflects the hostility between the Jebusites and David (see v. 8; 1 Sam. 17:54 note).

■ 5:7 stronghold of Zion. This marks the first occurrence of "Zion" in the Bible and the only one in Samuel. The name originally designated a fortified mound located at the southern end of the Ophel ridge. Eventually the name came to be used in an extended sense for all of Jerusalem (2 Kin. 19:21; Is. 2:3) and even for the entire nation of Israel (Ps. 149:2; Is. 46:13). The name occurs frequently in Israel's poetic and prophetic literature, where it is often presented as the place of God's mighty acts of salvation and judgment (e.g., Ps. 14:7; Is. 4:4; Lam. 4:11).

■ 5:10 became great. Just as chs. 3 and 4 detail how "the house of Saul grew weaker and weaker" (3:1; 3:2–11 note), so chs. 5—10 show David growing "stronger and stronger" (3:1). The fundamental reason for David's success is that the Lord was with him (see note on 1 Sam. 16:18).

■ 5:11 Hiram king of Tyre. Tyre was a Phoenician port city about thirty-five miles north of Mount Carmel and twenty-five miles south of Sidon. Hiram's generosity to David may have been motivated by the impressiveness of David's recent accomplishments, but it also involved an element of self-interest. Tyre needed the inland trade routes now controlled by David and the agricultural produce of central Palestine (cf. Ezra 3:7). Hiram's friendship with Israel continued well into Solomon's reign (1 Kin. 5:1–12; 9:11; etc.).

for the sake of His people Israel. David understands not only that his kingship is dependent entirely upon God, but also that it is intended for the benefit of God's people (v. 2; 8:15).

Jerusalem: David's City. David took the fortress called Jebus and renamed it the "City of David." This established his kingship militarily and politically. He then established his religious leadership by moving the ark of the covenant to the City of David. Solomon later expanded northward to Mt. Moriah and built the temple and the royal palace.

The Philistines Defeated

17 [y] Now when the Philistines heard that they had anointed David king over Israel, all the Philistines went up to search for David. And David heard of it [z] and went down to the stronghold. 18 The Philistines also went and deployed themselves in [a] the Valley of Rephaim. 19 So David [b] inquired of the LORD, saying, "Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will You deliver them into my hand?"

And the LORD said to David, "Go up, for I will doubtless deliver the Philistines into your hand."

20 So David went to [c] Baal Perazim, and David defeated them there; and he said, "The LORD has broken through my enemies before me, like a breakthrough of water." Therefore he called the name of that place [4] Baal Perazim. 21 And they left their [5] images there, and David and his men [d] carried them away.

22 [e] Then the Philistines went up once again and deployed themselves in the Valley of Rephaim. 23 Therefore [f] David inquired of the LORD, and He said, "You shall not go up; circle around behind them, and come upon them in front of the mulberry trees. 24 And it shall be, when you [g] hear the sound of marching in the tops of the mulberry trees, then you shall advance quickly. For then [h] the LORD will go out before you to strike the camp of the Philistines." 25 And David did so, as the LORD commanded him; and he drove back the Philistines from [i] Geba [6] as far as [j] Gezer.

The Ark Brought to Jerusalem

6 Again David gathered all the choice men of Israel, thirty thousand. 2 And [a] David arose and went with all the people who were with him from [1] Baale Judah to bring up from there the ark of God, whose name is called [2] by the Name, the LORD of Hosts, [b] who dwells between the cherubim. 3 So they set the ark of God on a new cart, and brought it out of the house of Abinadab, which was on [c] the hill; and Uzzah and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, drove the new [3] cart. 4 And they brought it out of [d] the house of Abinadab, which was on the hill, accompanying the ark of God; and Ahio went before the ark. 5 Then David and all the house of Israel [e] played music before the LORD on all kinds of instruments of fir wood, on harps, on stringed instruments, on tambourines, on sistrums, and on cymbals.

6 And when they came to [f] Nachon's threshing floor, Uzzah put out his [g] hand to the ark of God and [4] took hold of it, for the oxen stumbled. 7 Then the anger of the LORD was aroused against Uzzah, and God struck him there for his [5] error; and he died there by the ark of God. 8 And David became angry because of the LORD's outbreak against Uzzah; and he called the name of the place [6] Perez Uzzah to this day.

9 [h] David was afraid of the LORD that day; and he said, "How can the ark of the LORD come to stronghold. See 1 Sam. 23:14 note.

■ 5:18 Valley of Rephaim. This valley begins a few miles southwest of Jerusalem and descends in a westward direction toward Philistine territory (21:16 note; 23:13; Josh. 15:8; 18:16).

■ 5:19 David inquired of the LORD. See note on 2:1.

■ 5:20 Baal Perazim. See text note. Baal Perazim has been identified with a site three miles southwest of Jerusalem.

carried them away. See note on 1 Sam. 5:2; 1 Chr. 14:12 says that David burned them.

■ 5:24 the LORD will go out before you. The Lord is a warrior (Ex. 15:3) who goes before His people to fight for them (Ex. 14:14; Deut. 1:30).

■ 5:25 from Geba as far as Gezer. David's rout of the Philistines was far more decisive than Jonathan's (1 Sam. 14:31). Defeating the Philistines in particular (8:1) was of special significance (3:18; 19:9; 1 Chr. 14:17; cf. 1 Sam 9:16).

LORD of Hosts. See note on 1 Sam. 1:3.

■ 6:3 new cart. This mode of transporting the ark recalls the Philistine precedent set in 1 Sam. 6:7 but neglects the divine directive that the ark, equipped with rings and poles (Ex. 25:12–14; 37:5), is to be carried on the shoulders of priests (Num. 4:15, 19; 7:9; Deut. 10:8; Josh. 3:8; etc.).

house of Abinadab. See 1 Sam. 7:1.

Uzzah and Ahio. While attempts have been made to identify Uzzah with Eleazar in 1 Sam. 7:1, it is more likely that the two sons mentioned here were brothers of Eleazar, or possibly even grandsons of Abinadab. The Hebrew word "son" can also mean "descendant."

■ 6:7 for his error. The Hebrew here is difficult, but compare the explanation given in 1 Chr. 13:10, "because he put his hand to the ark." It may be that the punishment relates not only to Uzzah's touching the ark, but, more importantly, to the irregular way the ark was being carried (v. 3 note; 1 Chr. 15:13–15).

■ 6:8 David became angry. The reader is not told whether the main cause of David's anger was Uzzah's death, Uzzah's recklessness, or his own cavalier handling of the ark.

10 So David would not move the ark of the LORD with him into the [i]City of David; but David took it aside into the house of Obed-Edom the [j]Gittite. 11 [k]The ark of the LORD remained in the house of Obed-Edom the Gittite three months. And the LORD [l]blessed Obed-Edom and all his household.

12 Now it was told King David, saying, "The LORD has blessed the house of Obed-Edom and all that belongs to him, because of the ark of God." [m]So David went and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obed-Edom to the City of David with gladness. 13 And so it was, when [n]those bearing the ark of the LORD had gone six paces, that he sacrificed [o]oxen and fatted sheep. 14 Then David [p]danced[7] before the LORD with all his might; and David was wearing [q]a linen ephod. 15 [r]So David and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of the LORD with shouting and with the sound of the trumpet.

16 Now as the ark of the LORD came into the City of David, [s]Michal, Saul's daughter, looked through a window and saw King David leaping and whirling before the LORD; and she despised him in her heart. 17 So [t]they brought the ark of the LORD, and set it in [u]its place in the midst of the tabernacle that David had erected for it. Then David [v]offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the LORD. 18 And when David had finished offering burnt offerings and peace offerings, [w]he blessed the people in the name of the LORD of hosts. 19 [x]Then he distributed among all the people, among the whole multitude of Israel, both the women and the men, to everyone a loaf of bread, a piece of meat, and a cake of raisins. So all the people departed, everyone to his house.

20 [y]Then David returned to bless his household. And Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David, and said, "How glorious was the king of Israel today, [z]uncovering himself today in the eyes of the maids of his servants, as one of the [a]base fellows [8]shamelessly uncovers himself!"

21 So David said to Michal, "It was before the LORD, [b]who chose me instead of your father and all his house, to appoint me ruler over the [c]people of the LORD, over Israel. Therefore I will play music before the LORD. 22 And I will be even more undignified than this, and will be humble in my own sight. But as for the maidservants of whom you have spoken, by them I will be held in honor."

23 Therefore Michal the daughter of Saul had no children [d]to the day of her death.

God's Covenant with David

7 Now it came to pass [a]when the king was dwelling in his house, and the LORD had given him rest from all his enemies all around, 2 that the king said to Nathan the prophet, "See now, I dwell in [b]a house of cedar, [c]but the ark of God dwells inside tent [d]curtains."

3 Then Nathan said to the king, "Go, do all that is in your [e]heart, for the LORD is with you."

■ 6:10 Obed-Edom the Gittite. That is, a man of Gath. Whether the reference is to the Philistine city of Gath (1 Sam. 4:1 note; 5:8 note) or to Gath Rimmon (a Levitical city in Dan or Manasseh; Josh. 21:23–25) is uncertain. Obed-Edom is frequently referred to as a Levite in Chronicles (e.g., 1 Chr. 15:17–25; 16:5, 38; 26:4, 5, 8, 15; 2 Chr. 25:24).

he sacrificed. David's sacrifice is perhaps a symbol of thanksgiving and intercession—thanksgiving that the procession has begun with God's blessing, and intercession that it may so continue.

■ 6:14 linen ephod. See note on 1 Sam. 2:18.

■ 6:16 she despised him. Suggestions about the cause of Michal's displeasure are given only later, in vv. 20–22.

■ 6:17 burnt offerings and peace offerings. See note on 1 Sam. 10:8.

■ 6:20 How glorious was the king of Israel today. Michal's comment is heavy with sarcasm. She mentions his being king, his immodesty, and his other women. Her jealousy may have been aroused because her father had been displaced by David.

uncovering. David had taken off his robes and had worn only a linen ephod (v. 14).

■ 6:21 It was before the LORD. David will not accept Michal's indictment. It was not before the "maids" (that is, for their eyes) but "before the LORD" that he celebrated. David pointedly mentions that the Lord displaced Saul and chose him instead.

■ 6:22 I will be even more undignified than this. Or, "I will humble myself even more than this." Unlike Eli and his sons (1 Sam. 2:29, 30 and notes), and Michal's own father Saul (1 Sam. 15:12, 30 and notes), David is willing to be abased that the Lord may receive the honor due Him.

by them I will be held in honor. David replies that he has no reason to feel embarrassed before the maids. Michal's displeasure in him is wrong.

■ 6:23 Michal the daughter of Saul had no children. This was either because of the direct decision of the Lord, or because David excluded Michal from marital relations. It was a reproach to be childless (1 Sam. 1:5, 6).

■ 7:1 rest from all his enemies. See notes on vv. 6, 9. See also v. 11; Deut. 12:10; 25:19; Josh. 23:1.

■ 7:2 Nathan. Mentioned here for the first time, Nathan the prophet will also play a significant role in ch. 12 and 1 Kin. 1. See also 1 Chr. 29:29; 2 Chr. 9:29; 29:25.

inside tent curtains. David apparently views his palace as symbolic of his now-established rule (5:11, 12), and he proposes that God's rule should be similarly symbolized with a permanent dwelling.

■ 7:3 Go. David's plan seems reasonable to Nathan, but he is quick to reverse himself when ordered by the Lord (v. 4). Nathan is no flatterer (12:7–14).

4 But it happened that night that the word of the LORD came to Nathan, saying, 5 "Go and tell My servant David, 'Thus says the LORD: [f]"Would you build a house for Me to dwell in? 6 For I have not dwelt in a house [g]since the time that I brought the children of Israel up from Egypt, even to this day, but have moved about in [h]a tent and in a tabernacle. 7 Wherever I have [i]moved about with all the children of Israel, have I ever spoken a word to anyone from the tribes of Israel, whom I commanded [j]to shepherd My people Israel, saying, 'Why have you not built Me a house of cedar?' " ' 8 Now therefore, thus shall you say to My servant David, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: [k]"I took you from the sheepfold, from following the sheep, to be ruler over My people, over Israel. 9 And [l]I have been with you wherever you have gone, [m]and have [l]cut off all your enemies from before you, and have made you a great name, like the name of the great men who are on the earth. 10 Moreover I will appoint a place for My people Israel, and will [n]plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own and move no more; [o]nor shall the sons of wickedness oppress them anymore, as previously, 11 [p]since the time that I commanded judges to be over My people Israel, and have caused you to rest from all your enemies. Also the LORD [2]tells you [q]that He will make you a [3]house.

12 [r]"When your days are fulfilled and you [s]rest with your fathers, [t]I will set up your seed after you, who will come from your body, and I will establish his kingdom. 13 [u]He shall build a house for My name, and I will [v]establish the throne of his kingdom forever. 14 [w]I will be his Father, and he shall be [x]My son. If he commits iniquity, I will chasten him with the rod of men and with the [4]blows of the sons of men. 15 But My mercy shall not depart from him, [y]as I took it from Saul, whom I removed from before you. 16 And [z]your house and your kingdom shall be established forever before [5]you. Your throne shall be established forever." ' "

17 According to all these words and according to all this vision, so Nathan spoke to David.

David's Thanksgiving to God

18 Then King David went in and sat before the LORD; and he said: [a]"Who am I, O Lord GOD? And what is my house, that You have brought me this far? 19 And yet this was a small thing in Your sight, O Lord GOD; and You have also spoken of Your servant's house for a great while to come. [b]Is this the manner of man, O Lord GOD? 20 Now what more can David say to You? ■ 7:4–17 The theological and historical significance of the divine promise to David recorded in these verses (paralleled in 1 Chr. 17:3–15) can hardly be overestimated. Indeed, the promise of an enduring Davidic kingdom has been called the summit of the entire Old Testament. Looking back, it takes up the promises of blessing made to Abraham and his elect seed (Gen. 17:16) and brings them to rest on David (vv. 9, 10, 12). Looking forward, it prepares for the messianic hope that inspires Israel's faith before and after the exile in Babylon (Is. 11:1; Jer. 23:5, 6; Zech. 3:8; 6:12). The hope for a Messiah culminates in the coming of Jesus Christ (Is. 9:1–7; Luke 1:32, 33, 69, 70; Acts 2:30, 31; 13:22, 23; Rom. 1:1–4; 2 Tim. 2:8; Rev. 22:16).

■ 7:5 My servant David. Cf. 3:18; Ps. 89:3. The Lord's reference to David as "My servant" places him in a select company, which includes Abraham (Gen. 26:24), Moses (Num. 12:7, 8; Deut. 34:5), Caleb (Num. 14:24), and Joshua (Josh. 24:29).

■ 7:6 I have not dwelt in a house. God has accompanied His elect people throughout their wanderings (vv. 6, 7). Not until He has planted them in their place (v. 10) and they enjoy "rest" (v. 11) that exceeds what they already have under David (v. 1) will He allow a permanent house to be built for His name (v. 13).

■ 7:9 I have been with you. See note on 1 Sam. 16:18.

a great name. The declaration of a great name recalls the divine promise made to the patriarch Abraham in Gen. 12:2. Cf. 8;13, where David "made himself a name."

■ 7:11 He will make you a house. Having declined David's offer to build Him a house (temple; v. 5), the Lord counters with the gracious announcement that He will instead establish a dynasty for David.

■ 7:12 your seed. Solomon.

who will come from your body. The same words were spoken to Abraham in Gen. 15:4.

■ 7:13 for My name. It was "for His great name's sake" that the Lord refused to reject His people after their sinful request for a king (1 Sam. 12:22). Now He announces to David that his own son, who will succeed him as king, will build a temple "for My name." For an explication of the significance of God's name, see Ex. 34:5–7; and note on 1 Sam. 17:45.

■ 7:14–16 his Father . . . My son. The full significance of this promise, expressive of the special relationship that the Lord establishes with the Davidic kings (Ps. 2:7; 89:18–37), is ultimately realized in Christ (Mark 1:11; Acts 13:33; Heb. 1:5).

■ 7:14 I will chasten him. As a father, the Lord will discipline the royal son when he does wrong, but His covenantal love will never be taken away from him. Though the punishment is severe, extending even to the loss of land and temple (1 Kin. 9:6–9), God's promise to establish forever the throne of David cannot fail. This promise will increasingly come to be understood in messianic terms (Is. 9:7; 11:1–5; Jer. 33:14–26; Mic. 5:2–5).

■ 7:18 David went in and sat before the LORD. Presumably David sat in front of the ark, the symbol of the Lord's presence (Ex. 25:22; 30:6; Deut. 10:8; Josh. 6:8). It was not usual to sit while praying (Deut. 10:7).

Who am I. Having offered God a house, David is overwhelmed by the the Lord's declaration that He will build David a house. The humility evident in David's "Who am I" agrees with his recognition that it is the sovereign Lord who has been with him (1 Sam. 16:18 note) to bring him this far.

■ 7:19 Is this the manner of man. The Hebrew of this phrase is difficult. The parallel verse at 1 Chr. 17:17 reads quite differently: you "have regarded me according to the rank of a man of high degree."

great, [6]O Lord God. For [e]there is none like You, nor is there any God besides You, according to all that we have heard with our [f]ears. [23] And who is like Your people, like Israel, [g]the one nation on the earth whom God went to redeem for Himself as a people, to make for Himself a name—and to do for Yourself great and awesome deeds for Your land—before [h]Your people whom You redeemed for Yourself from Egypt, the nations, and their gods? [24] For [i]You have made Your people Israel Your very own people forever; [j]and You, LORD, have become their God.

[25] "Now, O LORD God, the word which You have spoken concerning Your servant and concerning his house, establish it forever and do as You have said. [26] So let Your name be magnified forever, saying, 'The LORD of hosts is the God over Israel.' And let the house of Your servant David be established before You. [27] For You, O LORD of hosts, God of Israel, have revealed this to Your servant, saying, 'I will build you a house.' Therefore Your servant has found it in his heart to pray this prayer to You.

[28] "And now, O Lord GOD, You are God, and [k]Your words are true, and You have promised this goodness to Your servant. [29] Now therefore, let it please You to bless the house of Your servant, that it may continue before You forever; for You, O Lord GOD, have spoken it, and with Your blessing let the house of Your servant be blessed [l]forever."

David's Further Conquests

8 After this it came to pass that David [1]attacked the Philistines and subdued them. And David took [2]Metheg Ammah from the hand of the Philistines.

[2] Then [a]he defeated Moab. Forcing them down to the ground, he measured them off with a line. With two lines he measured off those to be put to death, and with one full line those to be kept alive. So the Moabites became David's [b]servants, and [c]brought tribute.

[3] David also defeated Hadadezer the son of Rehob, king of [d]Zobah, as he went to recover [e]his territory at the River Euphrates. [4] David took from him one thousand chariots, [3]seven hundred horsemen, and twenty thousand foot soldiers. Also David [f]hamstrung all the chariot horses, except that he spared enough of them for one hundred chariots.

[5] [g]When the Syrians of Damascus came to help Hadadezer king of Zobah, David killed twenty-two thousand of the Syrians. [6] Then David put garrisons in Syria of Damascus; and the Syrians became David's servants, and brought tribute. So [h]the LORD preserved David wherever he went. [7] And David took [i]the shields of gold that had belonged to the servants of Hadadezer, and brought them to Jerusalem. [8] Also from [4]Betah and from [j]Berothai,[5] cities of Hadadezer, King David took a large amount of bronze.

[9] When [6]Toi king of [k]Hamath heard that David had defeated all the army of Hadadezer, [10] then Toi sent [7]Joram his son to King David, to [8]greet him and bless him, because he had fought against Hadadezer and defeated him (for Hadadezer had been at war with Toi); and Joram brought with him articles of silver, articles of gold, and articles of bronze. [11] King David also [l]dedicated these to the LORD, along with the silver and gold that he had dedicated from all the nations which he had subdued— [12] from [9]Syria, from Moab, from the people of Ammon, from the [m]Philistines, from Amalek, and from the spoil of Hadadezer the son of Rehob, king of Zobah.

■ 8:1 David attacked the Philistines and subdued them. In this summary of David's victories, pride of place is given to his defeat of the Philistines, Israel's archenemy (3:18; 1 Sam. 9:16) and against whom David's successes far surpass those of his predecessor, Saul (1 Sam. 14:52). See also 5:25 note.

Metheg Ammah. The name is otherwise unattested. The parallel in 1 Chr. 18:1 reads "Gath and its towns," and "Metheg Ammah" may refer in some way to the Philistine capitals (see text note).

■ 8:2 he measured them off. David executed two-thirds of his Moabite opponents and reduced the survivors to tributary status. The cause of David's ruthless treatment of a people whom he had earlier trusted (1 Sam. 22:3) is not stated.

Moabites. See notes on 1 Sam. 22:3.

■ 8:3 Hadadezer. This name appears to be a compound of "Hadad," the Syrian storm-god or Baal, and "ezer," meaning "help." Though defeated by David, Hadadezer later assists the Ammonites in their opposition to David (10:15–19).

Zobah. Already during Saul's reign there had been conflict between Israel and the "kings of Zobah" (1 Sam. 14:47), a Syrian region north of Israel.

■ 8:4 hamstrung all the chariot horses, except. According to Deut. 17:16, the kings of Israel were not to "multiply horses." Nevertheless, two of David's sons, Absalom and Adonijah, later dramatize their bids for the throne by preparing chariots and having fifty men run before them (15:1; 1 Kin. 1:5; cf. 1 Sam. 8:11). A third son, Solomon, will become well-known for his chariot (1 Kin. 4:26–28; 9:22; 10:26–29).

■ 8:6 the LORD preserved David wherever he went. This statement, repeated in v. 14, sets the summary of David's victories apart from that of Saul's (1 Sam. 14:47–51 note; 16:18 note).

■ 8:8 bronze. 1 Chr. 18:8 notes that Solomon used this bronze in the construction of the temple.

■ 8:11 King David also dedicated these to the LORD. David's action is perhaps in preparation for the temple to be built by Solomon (1 Chr. 22:1–5, 14; 29:1–5, 16–19).

■ 8:13 Syrians. See text note. The slaughter of eighteen thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt, south or southwest of the Dead Sea, is in [p] the Valley of Salt. [14] He also put garrisons in Edom; throughout all Edom he put garrisons, and [q] all the Edomites became David's servants. And the LORD preserved David wherever he went.

David's Administration

[15] So David reigned over all Israel; and David administered judgment and justice to all his people. [16] [r] Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army; [s] Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; [17] [t] Zadok the son of Ahitub and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar were the priests; [2] Seraiah was the [3] scribe; [18] [u] Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over both the [v] Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David's sons were [4] chief ministers.

David's Kindness to Mephibosheth

9 Now David said, "Is there still anyone who is left of the house of Saul, that I may [a] show him [1] kindness for Jonathan's sake?"

[2] And there was a servant of the house of Saul whose name was [b] Ziba. So when they had called him to David, the king said to him, "Are you Ziba?"

He said, "At your service!"

[3] Then the king said, "Is there not still someone of the house of Saul, to whom I may show [c] the kindness of God?"

And Ziba said to the king, "There is still a son of Jonathan who is [d] lame in his feet."

[4] So the king said to him, "Where is he?"

And Ziba said to the king, "Indeed he is in the house of [e] Machir the son of Ammiel, in Lo Debar."

[5] Then King David sent and brought him out of the house of Machir the son of Ammiel, from Lo Debar.

[6] Now when [f] Mephibosheth[2] the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, had come to David, he fell on his face and prostrated himself. Then David said, "Mephibosheth?"

And he answered, "Here is your servant!"

[7] So David said to him, "Do not fear, for I will surely show you kindness for Jonathan your credited to Abishai in 1 Chr. 18:12. It may be that Abishai received credit as one of David's generals. See also Ps. 60, title.

■ 8:15 David administered judgment and justice. As the prototypical theocratic king, David not only subjugated Israel's enemies (vv. 1–14), but also knew that his calling was to be just (23:3). His descendants did not always follow his example, despite prophetic exhortation (Jer. 22:3). Ultimately they saw the ruin of Jerusalem (foretold in, e.g., Jer. 22:5; cf. 52:12–14). But even before the fall of Jerusalem, there arose a hope for a "Branch of righteousness" from the line of David, "a King [who] shall reign and prosper, and execute judgment and righteousness in the earth" (Jer. 23:5; 33:15). On this messianic expectation, see note on 7:4–17.

to all his people. See note on 5:12.

■ 8:16 Joab. See note on 2:18.

recorder. The specific nature of this office is hard to determine. Conjectures include keeper of state records, secretary of state, and plausibly royal herald. Jehoshaphat continued to hold this office under the Solomonic administration (1 Kin. 4:3).

■ 8:17 Zadok the son of Ahitub. Zadok was a Levite priest descended from Aaron through Eleazar (1 Chr. 6:3–8, 50–53). Although he was one of two chief priests under David, he became the sole high priest in Solomon's administration (1 Kin. 2:35). From that time on, the Zadokite priests were one of the most important and influential priestly families (Ezra 7:1, 2; Ezek. 40:46; 44:15).

Ahimelech the son of Abiathar. According to 20:25 and 1 Kin. 4:4, Zadok and Abiathar were David's priests (see 15:24, 35; 19:11). It was earlier reported that Abiathar, "one of the sons of Abimelech," had joined David during his exile from Saul's court (1 Sam. 22:20). It seems likely, therefore, that the names of father and son have somehow been reversed here (as also in 1 Chr. 18:16). Abiathar was a descendant of Eli through a different Ahitub than Zadok's father (1 Sam. 14:3; 22:20). His removal by Solomon for having supported Adonijah's bid for the throne (1 Kin. 1:7, 8) brought to fulfillment the judgment on the house of Eli (1 Sam. 2:31 note; 1 Kin. 2:26, 27).

Seraiah was the scribe. Variations in the recording of this name (20:25; 1 Chr. 18:16; possibly 1 Kin. 4:3) may suggest a non-Israelite origin—perhaps Egypt, where the scribal tradition was well established. The scribe would have been among the highest ranking civil servants (2 Kin. 12:10; 18:18).

■ 8:18 Benaiah. A man of outstanding military credentials (23:20–22), Benaiah demonstrated his intense loyalty to David and Solomon (1 Kin. 1:8, 36, 37), and, after carrying out Solomon's order to execute Joab, became commander-in-chief of Solomon's army (1 Kin. 2:34, 35; 4:4).

Cherethites and the Pelethites. See note on 1 Sam. 30:14.

chief ministers. The Hebrew text reads "priests," an office for which they were not clearly eligible. The parallel at 1 Chr. 18:17 reads "chief ministers at the king's side." David and Solomon at least supervised sacrifices (6:17, 18; 1 Chr. 21:28; 2 Chr. 5:6).

■ 9:1 house of Saul. On the progressive decline of the "house of Saul," see note on 5:10.

kindness for Jonathan's sake. On the covenant between David and Jonathan, see 1 Sam. 18:3, 4; 20:15 and notes.

■ 9:4 Machir the son of Ammiel. Mentioned also in 17:27–29, Machir appears to have been a wealthy man in a good position to host a descendant of Israel's first king.

Lo Debar. This city has been tentatively located in Gilead about four miles northwest of Mahanaim, Ishbosheth's short-lived capital east of the Jordan River (2:8 note).

■ 9:6 Mephibosheth. See note on 4:4.

■ 9:7 land of Saul your grandfather. The property that David restored to Mephibosheth may well have been substantial (v. 10 note).

you shall eat bread at my table. David also offers Mephibosheth a place of honor at his own table (on the practice, see 2 Kin. 25:29). It has been suggested David was somewhat self-serving, since the arrangement would enable him to keep Mephibosheth under surveillance. But this suggestion seems unlikely for several reasons. The text offers no hint of such a motive; Mephibosheth's crippled condition made him less father's sake, and will restore to you all the land of Saul your grandfather; and you shall eat bread at my table continually."

8 Then he bowed himself, and said, "What is your servant, that you should look upon such [g]a dead dog as I?"

9 And the king called to Ziba, Saul's servant, and said to him, [h]"I have given to your master's son all that belonged to Saul and to all his house. 10 You therefore, and your sons and your servants, shall work the land for him, and you shall bring in the harvest, that your master's son may have food to eat. But Mephibosheth your master's son [i]shall eat bread at my table always." Now Ziba had [j]fifteen sons and twenty servants.

11 Then Ziba said to the king, "According to all that my lord the king has commanded his servant, so will your servant do."

"As for Mephibosheth," said the king, "he shall eat at [3]my table like one of the king's sons." 12 Mephibosheth had a young son [k]whose name was Micha. And all who dwelt in the house of Ziba were servants of Mephibosheth. 13 So Mephibosheth dwelt in Jerusalem, [l]for he ate continually at the king's table. And he [m]was lame in both his feet.

The Ammonites and Syrians Defeated

10 It happened after this that the [a]king of the people of Ammon died, and Hanun his son reigned in his place. 2 Then David said, "I will show [b]kindness to Hanun the son of [c]Nahash, as his father showed kindness to me."

So David sent by the hand of his servants to comfort him concerning his father. And David's servants came into the land of the people of Ammon. 3 And the princes of the people of Ammon said to Hanun their lord, "Do you think that David really honors your father because he has sent comforters to you? Has David not rather sent his servants to you to search the city, to spy it out, and to overthrow it?"

4 Therefore Hanun took David's servants, shaved off half of their beards, cut off their garments in the middle, [d]at their buttocks, and sent them away. 5 When they told David, he sent to meet them, because the men were greatly [1]ashamed. And the king said, "Wait at Jericho until your beards have grown, and then return."

6 When the people of Ammon saw that they [e]had made themselves repulsive to David, the people of Ammon sent and hired [f]the Syrians of [g]Beth Rehob and the Syrians of Zoba, twenty thousand foot soldiers; and from the king of [h]Maacah one thousand men, and from [i]Ish-Tob twelve thousand men. 7 Now when David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army of [j]the mighty men. 8 Then the people of Ammon came out and put themselves in battle array at the entrance of the gate. And [k]the Syrians of Zoba, Beth Rehob, Ish-Tob, and Maacah were by themselves in the field.

9 When Joab saw that the battle line was against him before and behind, he chose some of Israel's best and put them in battle array against the Syrians. 10 And the rest of the people he put under the command of [l]Abishai his brother, that he might set them in battle array against the people of Ammon. 11 Then he said, "If the Syrians are too strong for me, then you shall help me; but if the people of Ammon are too strong for you, then I will come and help you. 12 [m]Be of

of a threat; and David would surely have known from his own experience that it was dangerous for a rival to be at court. (see 16:3).

■ 9:8 dead dog. See note on 1 Sam. 24:14.

■ 9:10 fifteen sons and twenty servants. The number of men put to work farming the land shows that the properties were extensive. The number also indicates Ziba's own power and his potential threat to Mephibosheth (16:3; 19:26).

■ 9:12 a young son whose name was Micha. See also the genealogies of 1 Chr. 8:34, 35; 9:40, 41. David's beneficence "for Jonathan's sake" (v. 1) was not limited to Mephibosheth.

■ 10:1 the people of Ammon. See note on 1 Sam. 11:1.

■ 10:2 show kindness to Hanun son of Nahash. The Hebrew phrase translated "show kindness" suggests that there was a covenant between David and Nahash, even though Nahash's aggression towards Israel had helped Saul rise to power (1 Sam. 11:1–11; 12:12). The friendly relationship between David and Nahash may have been established during the period when David was a fugitive from Saul.

■ 10:3 the city. Presumably this is a reference to the capital city, Rabbah (11:1 note).

■ 10:4 shaved off half of their beards. Hanun humiliated the emissaries.

■ 10:5 Jericho. The first site west of the Jordan that would be reached by the delegation returning from Rabbah.

■ 10:6 the Syrians of Beth Rehob . . . and Zoba. See note on 8:3. Beth Rehob lay southwest of Zobah (cf. Num. 13:21; Judg. 18:28).

Maacah. Maacah was the region just north of Lake Huleh (Deut. 3:14; Josh. 13:11–13).

Ish-Tob. Probably Tob, a city east of the Jordan River and forty-eight miles north of Rabbah (11:1 note; Judg. 11:3, 5).

■ 10:10 Abishai. See note on 2:18.

■ 10:12 Be of good courage . . . may the LORD do what is good in His sight. Finding himself in the difficult military position of having to fight on two fronts, Joab urges courage but recognizes that the outcome of the conflict will depend ultimately on the Lord (cf. David's words in 15:26).

13 So Joab and the people who were with him drew near for the battle against the Syrians, and they fled before him. 14 When the people of Ammon saw that the Syrians were fleeing, they also fled before Abishai, and entered the city. So Joab returned from the people of Ammon and went to [p]Jerusalem.

15 When the Syrians saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they gathered together. 16 Then [2]Hadadezer sent and brought out the Syrians who were beyond [3]the River, and they came to Helam. And [4]Shobach the commander of Hadadezer's army went before them. 17 When it was told David, he gathered all Israel, crossed over the Jordan, and came to Helam. And the Syrians set themselves in battle array against David and fought with him. 18 Then the Syrians fled before Israel; and David killed seven hundred charioteers and forty thousand [q]horsemen of the Syrians, and struck Shobach the commander of their army, who died there. 19 And when all the kings who were servants to [5]Hadadezer saw that they were defeated by Israel, they made peace with Israel and [r]served them. So the Syrians were afraid to help the people of Ammon anymore.

David, Bathsheba, and Uriah

11 It happened in the spring of the year, at the [a]time when kings go out to battle, that [b]David sent Joab and his servants with him, and all Israel; and they destroyed the people of Ammon and besieged [c]Rabbah. But David remained at Jerusalem.

2 Then it happened one evening that David arose from his bed [d]and walked on the roof of the king's house. And from the roof he [e]saw a woman bathing, and the woman was very beautiful to behold. 3 So David sent and inquired about the woman. And someone said, "Is this not [1]Bath-

■ 10:14 So Joab returned. Apparently he did not capture the city of Rabbah on this occasion (11:1; 12:26–29).

■ 10:16 Hadadezer. See note on 8:3.

Helam. About twelve miles north of Tob (v. 6 note).

■ 10:19 the Syrians were afraid to help. The door was opened to a second campaign against the Ammonites.

■ 11:1 when kings go out to battle. See 1 Kin. 20:22, 26. In the Near East, springtime was a logical time for military campaigns, since the winter rains would have ceased and the labor-intensive harvest would not have begun.

David sent Joab. This is not the first time that David has sent Joab on a military expedition (10:7), but since it was the time when "kings go out to battle" and yet "David remained at Jerusalem," there may be some criticism of David for remaining behind.

besieged Rabbah. Called "Rabbah of the people of Ammon" in Deut. 3:11 and elsewhere (12:26; 17:27; Jer. 49:2; Ezek. 21:20), this city was the capital of Ammon (Amos 1:13–15). It is twenty-four miles east of the Jordan River opposite Jericho. In New Testament times it was called Philadelphia, and today it is Amman, Jordan. See also 10:14 and note.

■ 11:2 one evening . . . David arose from his bed. David's luxury is in marked contrast to the activities of Joab and his men (vv. 1, 11).

■ 11:3 Bathsheba. Not until 12:24 will the name "Bathsheba" be mentioned again; in the intervening verses the reference will be to "the woman" (v. 5) or to Uriah's "wife" (v. 26; 12:10, 15). The focus is not on Bathsheba herself so much as on her status as the wife of another man.

Eliam. If Bathsheba's father is the same as "Eliam the son of Ahithophel" (23:34), this might help to explain Ahithophel's later betrayal of David in favor of Absalom's conspiracy (15:12; 16:15), which ostensibly was motivated by a sense of David's injustice (15:4, 6). Notice especially the nature of Ahithophel's advice in 16:20, 21.

Uriah. Uriah is a Hebrew name, meaning "the LORD is my light."

The Troubles of David (11:4)

Adultery (11:4)	Bathsheba bears a son (11:5)
Murder of Uriah (11:17)	Accused, repents, but the child dies (12:10, 13, 19)
Amnon's incest (13:14)	Amnon murdered (13:28, 29)

Consistently illustrated in the life of David's household is the principle that a disobedient life is a troubled life.

sheba, the daughter of [2]Eliam, the wife [f]of Uriah the [g]Hittite?" [4] Then David sent messengers, and took her; and she came to him, and [h]he lay with her, for she was [i]cleansed from her impurity; and she returned to her house. [5] And the woman conceived; so she sent and told David, and said, "I am with child."

[6] Then David sent to Joab, saying, "Send me Uriah the Hittite." And Joab sent Uriah to David. [7] When Uriah had come to him, David asked how Joab was doing, and how the people were doing, and how the war prospered. [8] And David said to Uriah, "Go down to your house and [j]wash your feet." So Uriah departed from the king's house, and a gift of food from the king followed him. [9] But Uriah slept at the [k]door of the king's house with all the servants of his lord, and did not go down to his house. [10] So when they told David, saying, "Uriah did not go down to his house," David said to Uriah, "Did you not come from a journey? Why did you not go down to your house?"

[11] And Uriah said to David, [l]"The ark and Israel and Judah are dwelling in tents, and [m]my lord Joab and the servants of my lord are encamped in the open fields. Shall I then go to my house to eat and drink, and to lie with my wife? As you live, and as your soul lives, I will not do this thing."

[12] Then David said to Uriah, "Wait here today also, and tomorrow I will let you depart." So Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day and the next. [13] Now when David called him, he ate and drank before him; and he made him [n]drunk. And at evening he went out to lie on his bed [o]with the servants of his lord, but he did not go down to his house.

[14] In the morning it happened that David [p]wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by the hand of Uriah. [15] And he wrote in the letter, saying, "Set Uriah in the forefront of the [3]hottest battle, and retreat from him, that he may [q]be struck down and die." [16] So it was, while Joab besieged the city, that he assigned Uriah to a place where he knew there were valiant men. [17] Then the men of the city came out and fought with Joab. And some of the people of the servants of David fell; and Uriah the Hittite died also.

[18] Then Joab sent and told David all the things concerning the war, [19] and charged the messenger, saying, "When you have finished telling the matters of the war to the king, [20] if it happens that the king's wrath rises, and he says to you: 'Why did you approach so near to the city when you fought? Did you not know that they would shoot from the wall? [21] Who struck [r]Abimelech the son of [4]Jerubbesheth? Was it not a woman who cast a piece of a millstone on him from the wall, so that he died in Thebez? Why did you go near the wall?'—then you shall say, 'Your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.' "

[22] So the messenger went, and came and told David all that Joab had sent by him. [23] And the messenger said to David, "Surely the men prevailed against us and came out to us in the field; then we drove them back as far as the entrance of the gate. [24] The archers shot from the wall at your servants; and some of the king's servants are dead, and your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also."

[25] Then David said to the messenger, "Thus you shall say to Joab: 'Do not let this thing [5]displease you, for the sword devours one as well as another. Strengthen your attack against the city, and overthrow it.' So encourage him."

[26] When the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, she mourned for her

■ 11:4 her impurity. If the reference is to menstruation (Lev. 15:19–30), the point would be to remove all doubt that David is responsible for Bathsheba's pregnancy (v. 5).

■ 11:5 I am with child. Bathsheba leaves it to David to decide what to do.

■ 11:8 wash your feet. Uriah understands David to be suggesting that he sleep with his wife. This might make possible the deception that Uriah was the child's father.

a gift of food. David perhaps wanted to encourage the couple.

■ 11:9 But Uriah . . . did not go down to his house. Despite David's efforts, Uriah does not do what he considers wrong. It is not impossible that Uriah knew about David's relationship with Bathsheba (perhaps from the messengers of v. 4), but this is unlikely in view of his willingness to carry a letter from David to Joab (v. 14). Uriah explains his abstinence in v. 11.

■ 11:11 The ark and Israel and Judah. Uriah's insistence that he will not fare better than his fellow combatants again underscores by contrast the reprehensible nature of David's sin. Even though the Lord Himself (as symbolized by the presence of the ark) was on the field of battle, the king has been in Jerusalem (vv. 1, 2 and notes).

■ 11:13 made him drunk. See note on v. 8. Uriah still remained faithful to his duty and did not go home.

■ 11:15 Set Uriah in the forefront. Having failed to bend Uriah, David now feels compelled to take another course, and Joab, not surprisingly (2:18; 3:27; 20:10 and notes), is willing to help.

■ 11:21 Jerubbesheth. "Besheth," meaning "shame," was sometimes substituted for "Baal." See text note.

■ 11:22 all that Joab had sent by him. The Septuagint (the Greek translation of the Old Testament) has a longer reading in which this statement is followed by an angry response from David along the lines anticipated by Joab in vv. 20, 21.

■ 11:25 Do not let this thing displease you. David's answer is cynical. He pretends to console his accomplice in murder. Note the similar phrasing of v. 27.

husband. 27 And when her mourning was over, David sent and brought her to his house, and she [s]became his wife and bore him a son. But the thing that David had done [t]displeased[6] the LORD.

Nathan's Parable and David's Confession

12 Then the LORD sent Nathan to David. And [a]he came to him, and [b]said to him: "There were two men in one city, one rich and the other poor. 2 The rich man had exceedingly many flocks and herds. 3 But the poor man had nothing, except one little ewe lamb which he had bought and nourished; and it grew up together with him and with his children. It ate of his own food and drank from his own cup and lay in his bosom; and it was like a daughter to him. 4 And a traveler came to the rich man, who refused to take from his own flock and from his own herd to prepare one for the wayfaring man who had come to him; but he took the poor man's lamb and prepared it for the man who had come to him."

5 So David's anger was greatly aroused against the man, and he said to Nathan, "As the LORD lives, the man who has done this [t]shall surely die! 6 And he shall restore [c]fourfold for the lamb, because he did this thing and because he had no pity."

7 Then Nathan said to David, "You are the man! Thus says the LORD God of Israel: 'I [d]anointed you king over Israel, and I delivered you from the hand of Saul. 8 I gave you your master's house and your master's wives into your keeping, and gave you the house of Israel and Judah. And if that had been too little, I also would have given you much more! 9 [e]Why have you [f]despised the commandment of the LORD, to do evil in His sight? [g]You have killed Uriah the Hittite with the sword; you have taken his wife to be your wife, and have killed him with the sword of the people of Ammon. 10 Now therefore, [h]the sword shall never depart from your house, because you have despised Me, and have taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife.' 11 Thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will raise up adversity against you from your own house; and I will [i]take your wives before your eyes and give them to your neighbor, and he shall lie with your wives in the sight of this sun. 12 For you did it secretly, [j]but I will do this thing before all Israel, before the sun.' "

13 [k]So David said to Nathan, [l]"I have sinned against the LORD."

And Nathan said to David, "The LORD also has [m]put away your sin; you shall not die. 14 Howdispleased the LORD. Lit. "was evil in the eyes of the LORD"; see v. 25. David has broken at least four of the Ten Commandments (Ex. 20:2–17; Deut. 5:6–21), namely, murder, adultery, lying, and coveting his neighbor's wife.

■ 11:27 when her mourning was over. The customary period of mourning for her was probably seven days (Gen. 50:10; 1 Sam. 31:13). National leaders were sometimes mourned for longer periods. Aaron was mourned thirty days (Num. 20:29), likewise Moses (Deut. 34:8). The Egyptians mourned seventy days for Jacob (Gen. 50:3).

■ 12:1 the LORD sent Nathan. The prophets were servants of the word of God, which has authority even over kings. The prophets needed courage and were sometimes in sharp conflict with the kings (1 Kin. 22:8; 2 Kin. 1:3, 4; Mark 6:17; cf. Acts 7:52).

one rich and the other poor. The rich man is David and the poor man is Uriah. The parable was also fulfilled by Ahab and Jezebel against Naboth (1 Kin. 21:1–14).

■ 12:3 like a daughter to him. The verse ends with the Hebrew word for "daughter," not coincidentally also the first syllable of the name "Bathsheba."

■ 12:5 the man who has done this shall surely die. Nathan's parable has succeeded; in pronouncing judgment on the rich man, David has condemned himself. His response is an exclamation, not a legal decision. He mentions first death, then restitution.

■ 12:6 fourfold. Ex. 22:1 orders fourfold restitution for stolen sheep. Some commentators have detected here a hint of David's subsequent loss of four sons: the first son of Bathsheba (vv. 14, 18), Amnon (13:28, 29), Absalom (18:14, 15), and Adonijah (1 Kin. 2:24, 25).

■ 12:7–12 In a manner typical of prophetic judgment speeches (1 Sam. 2:27–36 note), Nathan begins with an accusation including a description of the Lord's providence (vv. 7, 8) and an accusing question and indictment (v. 9). He concludes by announcing the judgment and the penalties corresponding to the crime.

■ 12:7 I anointed you. Compare Samuel's indictment of Saul (1 Sam. 15:17).

■ 12:8 your master's wives. It is uncertain whether this statement is to be taken literally (only one wife and one concubine of Saul are mentioned, 3:7; 1 Sam. 14:50) or simply refers to the full extent of David's inheritance of Saul's kingdom. On the matter of kings acquiring their predecessors' harems, see 3:7 and note.

■ 12:9 evil in His sight. This same idiom appears in 11:25, 27.

You have killed Uriah. Because David causes Uriah to die in battle, he is as guilty as if he had murdered him with his own hand.

■ 12:10 the sword shall never depart from your house. As Uriah was killed by violence, the house of David will be plagued by violence. Absalom killed Amnon (13:28, 29); Joab killed Absalom (18:14, 15); and Solomon ordered the deaths of Adonijah (1 Kin. 2:24, 25) and Joab (1 Kin. 2:29–34).

■ 12:11 I will raise up adversity. The prophecy is fulfilled by the rebellion of Absalom (chs. 15—18).

lie with your wives in the light of this sun. This prediction is fulfilled in 16:21, 22.

■ 12:13 I have sinned against the LORD. When charged by God's prophet, David responds with an immediate and unqualified confession; contrast Saul's confessions in 1 Sam. 15:24, 25, 30 (notes). Ps. 51, according to its superscription, is a fuller picture of David's repentance.

you shall not die. See notes on 11:5; 12:5.

■ 12:14 the enemies of the LORD. On the basis of an ancient translation of this verse, some scholars think "enemies" should be omitted. Nathan's charge would then be that David has showed contempt directly for the Lord.

ever, because by this deed you have given great occasion to the enemies of the LORD [n]to blaspheme, the child also who is born to you shall surely die." [15] Then Nathan departed to his house.

The Death of David's Son

And the [o]LORD struck the child that Uriah's wife bore to David, and it became ill. [16] David therefore pleaded with God for the child, and David fasted and went in and [p]lay all night on the ground. [17] So the elders of his house arose and went to him, to raise him up from the ground. But he would not, nor did he eat food with them. [18] Then on the seventh day it came to pass that the child died. And the servants of David were afraid to tell him that the child was dead. For they said, "Indeed, while the child was alive, we spoke to him, and he would not heed our voice. How can we tell him that the child is dead? He may do some harm!"

[19] When David saw that his servants were whispering, David perceived that the child was dead. Therefore David said to his servants, "Is the child dead?"

And they said, "He is dead."

[20] So David arose from the ground, washed and [q]anointed himself, and changed his clothes; and he went into the house of the LORD and [r]worshiped. Then he went to his own house; and when he requested, they set food before him, and he ate. [21] Then his servants said to him, "What is this that you have done? You fasted and wept for the child while he was alive, but when the child died, you arose and ate food."

[22] And he said, "While the child was alive, I fasted and wept; [s]for I said, 'Who can tell whether [2]the LORD will be gracious to me, that the child may live?' [23] But now he is dead; why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go [t]to him, but [u]he shall not return to me."

Solomon Is Born

[24] Then David comforted Bathsheba his wife, and went in to her and lay with her. So [v]she bore a son, and [w]he[3] called his name Solomon. Now the LORD loved him, [25] and He sent word by the hand of Nathan the prophet: So [4]he called his name [5]Jedidiah, because of the LORD.

Rabbah Is Captured

[26] Now [x]Joab fought against [y]Rabbah of the people of Ammon, and took the royal city. [27] And Joab sent messengers to David, and said, "I have fought against Rabbah, and I have taken the city's water supply. [28] Now therefore, gather the rest of the people together and encamp against the city and take it, lest I take the city and it be called after my name." [29] So David gathered all the people together and went to Rabbah, fought against it, and took it. [30] [z]Then he took their king's crown from his head. Its weight was a talent of gold, with precious stones. And it was set on David's head. Also he brought out the [6]spoil of the city in great abundance. [31] And he brought out the people who were in it, and put them to work with saws and iron picks and iron axes, and made them cross over to the brick works. So he did to all the cities of the people of Ammon. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

Amnon and Tamar

13 After this [a]Absalom the son of David had a lovely sister, whose name was [b]Tamar; and [c]Amnon the son of David loved her. [2] Amnon was so distressed over his sister Tamar

CHAPTER 13

1 [a]2 Sam. 3:2, 3; 1 Chr. 3:2 [b]1 Chr. 3:9 [c]2 Sam. 3:2

■ 12:17 nor did he eat food with them. See note on 1 Sam. 1:7.

■ 12:20 worshiped. Like Eli, but unlike Saul, David humbly accepts the Lord's discipline (15:26; 16:11; 1 Sam. 3:18 and notes).

■ 12:23 I shall go to him. That is, in the place of the dead (1 Sam. 28:19 note; Gen. 37:35).

■ 12:24 his wife. Here for the first time Bathsheba is called David's wife (11:3 note).

Solomon. This name is usually considered to be derived from the Hebrew word for "peace" (cf. 1 Chr. 22:9). Another possibility is that it means "replacement"; the birth of Solomon compensates for the loss of the first child.

■ 12:25 Jedidiah. See text note. This name confirms that "the LORD loved him" (v. 24) and bodes well for the future of the Davidic house. Despite the sin of David and his descendants, the Lord's favor will not be withdrawn (7:14 note).

■ 12:26–31 The narrative once again returns to the Ammonite campaign (11:1 and note). This time it is not David who sends Joab, but Joab who sends for David (v. 27).

■ 12:28 called after my name. Joab's concern may have been prompted by an interest in David's reputation and the propriety of having the king receive the captive crown.

■ 12:30 their king's crown. A crown weighing as much as seventy-five pounds ("a talent") would have been too heavy to wear except for brief ceremonies. The crown could have been from a statue of Milcom or Molech. The same Hebrew letters translated as "their king's" could also be read as "Milcom's" (i.e., Molech, the chief god of the Ammonites; see 1 Kin. 11:5, 33).

■ 12:31 put them to work. Subjugation of defeated enemies was common practice for David (8:2) and in the culture of the ancient Near East generally (Ex. 1:11; Josh. 9:22–27; 1 Kin. 9:20, 21).

■ 13:1–39 David's sons follow their father's example of adultery (Amnon, vv. 1–22) and murder (Absalom, vv. 23–39).

that he became sick; for she was a virgin. And it was improper for Amnon to do anything to her.
3 But Amnon had a friend whose name was Jonadab [d]the son of Shimeah, David's brother. Now Jonadab was a very crafty man. 4 And he said to him, "Why are you, the king's son, becoming thinner day after day? Will you not tell me?"

Amnon said to him, "I love Tamar, my brother Absalom's sister."

5 So Jonadab said to him, "Lie down on your bed and pretend to be ill. And when your father comes to see you, say to him, 'Please let my sister Tamar come and give me food, and prepare the food in my sight, that I may see it and eat it from her hand.' " 6 Then Amnon lay down and pretended to be ill; and when the king came to see him, Amnon said to the king, "Please let Tamar my sister come and [e]make a couple of cakes for me in my sight, that I may eat from her hand."

7 And David sent home to Tamar, saying, "Now go to your brother Amnon's house, and prepare food for him." 8 So Tamar went to her brother Amnon's house; and he was lying down. Then she took flour and kneaded it, made cakes in his sight, and baked the cakes. 9 And she took the pan and placed them out before him, but he refused to eat. Then Amnon said, [f]"Have everyone go out from me." And they all went out from him. 10 Then Amnon said to Tamar, "Bring the food into the bedroom, that I may eat from your hand." And Tamar took the cakes which she had made, and brought them to Amnon her brother in the bedroom. 11 Now when she had brought them to him to eat, [g]he took hold of her and said to her, "Come, lie with me, my sister."

12 But she answered him, "No, my brother, do not [j]force me, for [h]no such thing should be done in Israel. Do not do this [i]disgraceful thing! 13 And I, where could I take my shame? And as for you, you would be like one of the fools in Israel. Now therefore, please speak to the king; [l]for he will not withhold me from you." 14 However, he would not heed her voice; and being stronger than she, he [k]forced her and lay with her.

15 Then Amnon hated her [z]exceedingly, so that the hatred with which he hated her was greater than the love with which he had loved her. And Amnon said to her, "Arise, be gone!"

16 So she said to him, "No, indeed! This evil of sending me away is worse than the other that you did to me."

But he would not listen to her. 17 Then he called his servant who attended him, and said, "Here! Put this woman out, away from me, and bolt the door behind her." 18 Now she had on [l]a robe of many colors, for the king's virgin daughters wore such apparel. And his servant put her out and bolted the door behind her.

19 Then Tamar put [m]ashes on her head, and tore her robe of many colors that was on her, and [n]laid her hand on her head and went away crying bitterly. 20 And Absalom her brother said to her, "Has Amnon your brother been with you? But now hold your peace, my sister. He is your brother; do not take this thing to heart." So Tamar remained desolate in her brother Absalom's house.

21 But when King David heard of all these things, he was very angry. 22 And Absalom spoke in my sight. This emphasis (also in vv. 5, 8) is suggestive of a lustful aspect in Amnon's request.

■ 13:6 make a couple of cakes. Both the words used for the "cakes" and their preparation ("make") are cognates of the Hebrew word for "heart" and may have an amorous connotation. A more common word for food is used by Jonadab in v. 5 and by David in v. 7. Unfortunately, David seems to have missed the innuendo in Amnon's overture.

■ 13:12–14 Tamar's desperate appeal to Amnon points first to the distinctive moral standards of Israel ("no such thing should be done in Israel," v. 12), then to the claims of human decency ("my shame"), then to Amnon's self-interest ("you would be like one of the fools"), and finally to marriage as a better means of fulfilling Amnon's desire (v. 13). But he does not listen (v. 14).

■ 13:12 do not force me. The verb translated "force" is also used elsewhere to describe acts of rape (Gen. 34:2; Deut. 22:24, 29) and sexual violence (Judg. 19:24; 20:5).

■ 13:13 he will not withold me from you. It is uncertain whether David would have allowed such a marriage (see Lev. 18:9, 11; 20:17; Deut. 27:22), or whether Tamar is simply trying every possible argument.

■ 13:15 the hatred . . . was greater than the love. With keen psychological insight, the narrator notes that Amnon no sooner violates Tamar than he is suddenly repulsed by the victim of his crime.

■ 13:16 This evil of sending me away is worse. See Ex. 22:16; Deut. 22:28, 29.

■ 13:17 this woman. This is a rude and abrupt way of referring to Tamar. Compare Amnon's terse dismissal of her (v. 15).

■ 13:18 robe of many colors. A garment of similar description was given to Joseph by his father Jacob (Gen. 37:3).

■ 13:20 Has Amnon your brother been with you. Absalom's ability to discern the wrong suffered by Tamar suggests that Amnon's infatuation with her was not a deep secret.

hold your peace . . . do not take this thing to heart. Though seeking to calm his sister, Absalom would soon seek revenge against Amnon (vv. 22, 32)

■ 13:21 David . . . was very angry. That David was furious at Amnon's violation of Tamar is understandable; that he took no disciplinary action is not (1 Sam. 3:13 and note). The Septuagint translation and the Dead Sea Scrolls add, "he would not hurt Amnon because he was his eldest son and he loved him." Whether original or not, the sentence accurately highlights a weakness in David's handling of his sons (14:24, 33; 1 Kin. 1:6 and notes). It was David's duty as father and as king to "administer judgment and justice to all his people" (8:15 and note). His failure to do this contributed to the greatest political crisis of his life, Absalom's rebellion. One of Absalom's complaints was that David withheld justice (15:4–6).

to his brother Amnon [o]neither good nor bad. For Absalom [p]hated Amnon, because he had forced his sister Tamar.

Absalom Murders Amnon

23 And it came to pass, after two full years, that Absalom [q]had sheepshearers in Baal Hazor, which is near Ephraim; so Absalom invited all the king's sons. 24 Then Absalom came to the king and said, "Kindly note, your servant has sheepshearers; please, let the king and his servants go with your servant."

25 But the king said to Absalom, "No, my son, let us not all go now, lest we be a burden to you." Then he urged him, but he would not go; and he blessed him.

26 Then Absalom said, "If not, please let my brother Amnon go with us."

And the king said to him, "Why should he go with you?" 27 But Absalom urged him; so he let Amnon and all the king's sons go with him.

28 Now Absalom had commanded his servants, saying, "Watch now, when Amnon's [r]heart is merry with wine, and when I say to you, 'Strike Amnon!' then kill him. Do not be afraid. Have I not commanded you? Be courageous and [3]valiant." 29 So the servants of Absalom [s]did to Amnon as Absalom had commanded. Then all the king's sons arose, and each one got on [t]his mule and fled.

30 And it came to pass, while they were on the way, that news came to David, saying, "Absalom has killed all the king's sons, and not one of them is left!" 31 So the king arose and [u]tore his garments and [v]lay on the ground, and all his servants stood by with their clothes torn. 32 Then [w]Jonadab the son of Shimeah, David's brother, answered and said, "Let not my lord suppose they have killed all the young men, the king's sons, for only Amnon is dead. For by the command of Absalom this has been determined from the day that he forced his sister Tamar. 33 Now therefore, [x]let not my lord the king take the thing to his heart, to think that all the king's sons are dead. For only Amnon is dead."

Absalom Flees to Geshur

34 [y]Then Absalom fled. And the young man who was keeping watch lifted his eyes and looked, and there, many people were coming from the road on the hillside behind [4]him. 35 And Jonadab said to the king, "Look, the king's sons are coming; as your servant said, so it is." 36 So it was, as soon as he had finished speaking, that the king's sons indeed came, and they lifted up their voice and wept. Also the king and all his servants wept very bitterly.

37 But Absalom fled and went to [z]Talmai the son of Ammihud, king of Geshur. And David mourned for his son every day. 38 So Absalom fled and went to [a]Geshur, and was there three years. 39 And [5]King David [6]longed to go to Absalom. For he had been [b]comforted concerning Amnon, because he was dead.

Absalom Returns to Jerusalem

14 So Joab the son of Zeruiah perceived that the king's heart was concerned [a]about Absalom. 2 And Joab sent to [b]Tekoa and brought from there a wise woman, and said to her, "Please pretend to be a mourner, [c]and put on mourning apparel; do not anoint yourself with oil, but act like a woman who has been mourning a long time for the dead. 3 Go to the king and speak to him in this manner." So Joab [d]put the words in her mouth.

4 And when the woman of Tekoa [f]spoke to the king, she [e]fell on her face to the ground and prostrated herself, and said, [f]"Help, O king!"

■ 13:23 Baal Hazor. Not the better known Hazor in Galilee, this site was some five miles from Bethel. It may have been chosen by Absalom to facilitate his imminent escape to relatives in Geshur, across the Jordan River (v. 37).

Absalom invited all the king's sons. The invitation was to participate in the feasting that accompanied the shearing of sheep (cf. 1 Sam. 25:4–8).

■ 13:26 let my brother Amnon go with us. Amnon was the oldest son and crown prince, but even so his being singled out by Absalom aroused suspicion. David questions the request—"Why should he go with you?"

■ 13:27 But Absalom urged him. David sends not only Amnon but the rest of his sons, perhaps to deter Absalom from taking revenge against Amnon.

■ 13:28 kill him. In one stroke Absalom will avenge his sister Tamar and move himself closer to the throne (3:3; 15:1–6). He will also become a murderer, repeating his father's sin as Amnon repeated David's sin of sexual immorality.

■ 13:29 his mule. See note on 18:9.

■ 13:32 only Amnon is dead. Jonadab seems to have known something about Absalom's plans.

■ 13:37 Talmai. Absalom's maternal grandfather (3:3).

5 Then the king said to her, "What troubles you?"

And she answered, [g]"Indeed I am a widow, my husband is dead. 6 Now your maidservant had two sons; and the two fought with each other in the field, and there was no one to part them, but the one struck the other and killed him. 7 And now the whole family has risen up against your maidservant, and they said, 'Deliver him who struck his brother, that we may execute him [h]for the life of his brother whom he killed; and we will destroy the heir also.' So they would extinguish my ember that is left, and leave to my husband neither name nor remnant on the earth."

8 Then the king said to the woman, "Go to your house, and I will give orders concerning you."

9 And the woman of Tekoa said to the king, "My lord, O king, let [i]the [2]iniquity be on me and on my father's house, [j]and the king and his throne be guiltless."

10 So the king said, "Whoever says anything to you, bring him to me, and he shall not touch you anymore."

11 Then she said, "Please let the king remember the LORD your God, and do not permit [k]the avenger of blood to destroy anymore, lest they destroy my son."

And he said, [l]"As the LORD lives, not one hair of your son shall fall to the ground."

12 Therefore the woman said, "Please, let your maidservant speak another word to my lord the king."

And he said, "Say on."

13 So the woman said: "Why then have you schemed such a thing against [m]the people of God? For the king speaks this thing as one who is guilty, in that the king does not bring [n]his banished one home again. 14 For we [o]will surely die and become like water spilled on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again. Yet God does not [p]take away a life; but He [q]devises means, so that His banished ones are not [3]expelled from Him. 15 Now therefore, I have come to speak of this thing to my lord the king because the people have made me afraid. And your maidservant said, 'I will now speak to the king; it may be that the king will perform the request of his maidservant. 16 For the king will hear and deliver his maidservant from the hand of the man who would destroy me and my son together from the [r]inheritance of God.' 17 Your maidservant said, 'The word of my lord the king will now be comforting; for [s]as the angel of God, so is my lord the king in [t]discerning good and evil. And may the LORD your God be with you.' "

18 Then the king answered and said to the woman, "Please do not hide from me anything that I ask you."

And the woman said, "Please, let my lord the king speak."

19 So the king said, "Is the hand of Joab with you in all this?" And the woman answered and said, "As you live, my lord the king, no one can turn to the right hand or to the left from anything that my lord the king has spoken. For your servant Joab commanded me, and [u]he put all these words in the mouth of your maidservant. 20 To bring about this change of affairs your servant Joab has done this thing; but my lord is wise, [v]according to the wisdom of the angel of God, to know everything that is in the earth."

21 And the king said to Joab, "All right, I have granted this thing. Go therefore, bring back the young man Absalom."

22 Then Joab fell to the ground on his face and bowed himself, and [4]thanked the king. And Joab said, "Today your servant knows that I have found favor in your sight, my lord, O king, in that the king has fulfilled the request of his servant." 23 So Joab arose [w]and went to Geshur, and

■ 14:7 the whole family has risen up against your maidservant. The tale which the wise women concocts raises not only the issue of blood revenge (v. 11; 3:27; Num. 35:16–25; Deut. 19:11–13; Josh. 20:3) but also the continuance of her family line on its ancestral property, for her enemies propose to execute the surviving son. As she points out, this would leave her with no name or descendant, something that Israelite law sought to avoid (Deut. 25:5–10). The woman skillfully introduces in her fictional story the same dilemma that David had. His duty to avenge the blood of Amnon conflicted with his anxiety that Absalom, now presumably his heir, not be cut off. Compare Nathan's parable in 12:1–4.

■ 14:9 let the iniquity be on me. The woman is either expressing her willingness to shoulder whatever blame might arise, or is requesting, in polite court language, permission to speak further (1 Sam. 25:24).

■ 14:11 remember the LORD your God. The woman requests and secures an oath from David, in the name of the Lord, that "the avenger of blood" shall not "destroy anymore." As was the case in Nathan's parable (12:1–6), a judgment is elicited from David's own mouth that will then be used to judge him (v. 13).

■ 14:14 God does not take away a life; but He devises means. The woman seems to mean that God does not desire to take away lives, but is ready to see the banishment ended. Some translations read that "God will not take away the life of someone who arranges for a banishment to end."

■ 14:15, 16 While the woman has accomplished her objective of pleading for Absalom, she now returns to the matter of her own son, perhaps hoping that David will continue to believe her story and not discover that she and Joab have conspired together (vv. 1–3).

■ 14:17 angel of God. The woman flatters David by praising his judgment. See also v. 20; 19:27; 1 Sam. 29:9.

■ 14:23 Geshur. See 13:37 note.

brought Absalom to Jerusalem. 24 And the king said, "Let him return to his own house, but [x]do not let him see my face." So Absalom returned to his own house, but did not see the king's face.

David Forgives Absalom

25 Now in all Israel there was no one who was praised as much as Absalom for his good looks. [y]From the sole of his foot to the crown of his head there was no blemish in him. 26 And when he cut the hair of his head—at the end of every year he cut it because it was heavy on him—when he cut it, he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred shekels according to the king's standard. 27 [z]To Absalom were born three sons, and one daughter whose name was Tamar. She was a woman of beautiful appearance.

28 And Absalom dwelt two full years in Jerusalem, [a]but did not see the king's face. 29 Therefore Absalom sent for Joab, to send him to the king, but he would not come to him. And when he sent again the second time, he would not come. 30 So he said to his servants, "See, Joab's field is near mine, and he has barley there; go and set it on fire." And Absalom's servants set the field on fire.

31 Then Joab arose and came to Absalom's house, and said to him, "Why have your servants set my field on fire?"

32 And Absalom answered Joab, "Look, I sent to you, saying, 'Come here, so that I may send you to the king, to say, "Why have I come from Geshur? It would be better for me to be there still." ' Now therefore, let me see the king's face; but [b]if there is iniquity in me, let him execute me."

33 So Joab went to the king and told him. And when he had called for Absalom, he came to the king and bowed himself on his face to the ground before the king. Then the king [c]kissed Absalom.

Absalom's Treason

15 After this [a]it happened that Absalom [b]provided himself with chariots and horses, and fifty men to run before him. 2 Now Absalom would rise early and stand beside the way to the gate. So it was, whenever anyone who had a [c]lawsuit[1] came to the king for a decision, that Absalom would call to him and say, "What city are you from?" And he would say, "Your servant is from such and such a tribe of Israel." 3 Then Absalom would say to him, "Look, your [2]case is good and right; but there is no [3]deputy of the king to hear you." 4 Moreover Absalom would say, [d]"Oh, that I were made judge in the land, and everyone who has any suit or cause would come to me; then I would give him justice." 5 And so it was, whenever anyone came near to bow down to him, that he would put out his hand and take him and [e]kiss him. 6 In this manner Absalom acted toward all Israel who came to the king for judgment. [f]So Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.

7 Now it came to pass [g]after [4]forty years that Absalom said to the king, "Please, let me go to [h]Hebron and pay the vow which I made to the LORD. 8 [i]For your servant [j]took a vow [k]while I dwelt at Geshur in Syria, saying, 'If the LORD indeed brings me back to Jerusalem, then I will serve the LORD.' "

9 And the king said to him, "Go in peace." So he arose and went to Hebron.

■ 14:24 do not let him see my face. David allows Absalom to return to Jerusalem, but the estrangement continues.

■ 14:25, 26 As was with Saul before him, Absalom is described in exclusively physical terms (1 Sam. 9:1, 2 and notes). The description of how his hair was cut and weighed not only hints at Absalom's vanity, but also foreshadows the way he was to die (18:9–15).

■ 14:27 three sons. See note on 18:18.

daughter whose name was Tamar. That only the daughter's name is recorded is sometimes taken to imply that Absalom's sons all died young, but the significance of this notice may lie elsewhere. The daughter's name was the same as the sister whose violation had brought Absalom into conflict with David.

■ 14:32 execute me. Absalom hopes to win David over, and whatever happens he does not expect to be executed. David had not taken any dire action so far in the affair, and Absalom had some justification for killing Amnon. In effect his request is that he should be completely punished or completely forgiven, and not be left in between.

■ 14:33 the king kissed Absalom. The narrative ends abruptly. Though David's action is sometimes referred to as the "kiss of reconciliation," it is doubtful that a real reconciliation was effected. Ironically, by giving kisses to those who approached him with petitions, Absalom was soon to steal away the hearts of the people and launch a rebellion against his father (15:5, 6).

■ 15:1 chariots and horses, and fifty men. See notes on 8:4; 1 Sam. 8:11.

■ 15:4 I would give him justice. See note on 13:21.

■ 15:7 after forty years. The reading "four years" found in the versions (see text note) is to be preferred. Four years from the meeting of v. 33 would be six years from Absalom's return to Jerusalem (14:28).

Hebron. See note on 2:1. Hebron was Absalom's birthplace (3:2, 3), but also the place where David was first anointed king over Judah (2:4) and subsequently also over Israel (5:3).

■ 15:8 Geshur. See note on 13:23.

■ 15:9 Go in peace. Though employing a standard expression (e.g., 1 Sam. 1:17; 20:42; 29:7), David's farewell to Absalom adds a touch of irony to the story, since Absalom planned to make war.

10 Then Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, "As soon as you hear the sound of the trumpet, then you shall say, 'Absalom [l]reigns in Hebron!' " 11 And with Absalom went two hundred men [m]invited from Jerusalem, and they [n]went along innocently and did not know anything. 12 Then Absalom sent for Ahithophel the Gilonite, [o]David's counselor, from his city—from [p]Giloh—while he offered sacrifices. And the conspiracy grew strong, for the people with Absalom [q]continually increased in number.

David Escapes from Jerusalem

13 Now a messenger came to David, saying, [r]"The hearts of the men of Israel are [5]with Absalom."

14 So David said to all his servants who were with him at Jerusalem, "Arise, and let us [s]flee, or we shall not escape from Absalom. Make haste to depart, lest he overtake us suddenly and bring disaster upon us, and strike the city with the edge of the sword."

15 And the king's servants said to the king, "We are your servants, ready to do whatever my lord the king commands." 16 Then [t]the king went out with all his household after him. But the king left [u]ten women, concubines, to keep the house. 17 And the king went out with all the people after him, and stopped at the outskirts. 18 Then all his servants passed [6]before him; [v]and all the Cherethites, all the Pelethites, and all the Gittites, [w]six hundred men who had followed him from Gath, passed before the king.

19 Then the king said to [x]Ittai the Gittite, "Why are you also going with us? Return and remain with the king. For you are a foreigner and also an exile from your own place. 20 In fact, you came only yesterday. Should I make you wander up and down with us today, since I go [y]I know not where? Return, and take your brethren back. Mercy and truth be with you."

21 But Ittai answered the king and said, [z]"As the LORD lives, and as my lord the king lives, surely in whatever place my lord the king shall be, whether in death or life, even there also your servant will be."

22 So David said to Ittai, "Go, and cross over." Then Ittai the Gittite and all his men and all the little ones who were with him crossed over. 23 And all the country wept with a loud voice, and all the people crossed over. The king himself also crossed over the Brook Kidron, and all the people crossed over toward the way of the [a]wilderness.

24 There was [b]Zadok also, and all the Levites with him, bearing the [c]ark of the covenant of God. And they set down the ark of God, and [d]Abiathar went up until all the people had finished crossing over from the city. 25 Then the king said to Zadok, "Carry the ark of God back into the city. If I find favor in the eyes of the LORD, He [e]will bring me back and show me both it and [f]His dwelling place. 26 But if He says thus: 'I have no [g]delight in you,' here I am, [h]let Him do to me as seems good to Him." 27 The king also said to Zadok the priest, "Are you not a [i]seer?[7] Return to the city in peace, and [j]your two sons with you, Ahimaaz your son, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar. 28 See, [k]I will wait in the plains of the wilderness until word comes from you to inform me." 29 Therefore Zadok and Abiathar carried the ark of God back to Jerusalem. And they remained there.

■ 15:10 Absalom reigns in Hebron. See note on v. 7.

■ 15:12 Ahithophel. See note on 11:3 ("Eliam").

Giloh. A town in the hill country of Judah (Josh. 15:48, 51), probably not far from Hebron.

■ 15:17 the outskirts. The Hebrew reads lit. "the last house" or "the Far House," perhaps denoting a well-known landmark on the outskirts of the city.

■ 15:18 Cherethites . . . Pelethites. See note on 1 Sam. 30:14.

Gittites. That is, from Gath. Perhaps David won the loyalty of these troops during his time in the Philistine region ruled by Achish of Gath (1 Sam. 27).

six hundred. This number, which occurs frequently in military contexts (e.g., Judg. 3:31; 18:11; 20:47; 1 Sam. 13:15), may designate a standard military unit.

■ 15:19 Ittai the Gittite. This foreigner became one of David's trusted military commanders, alongside Joab and Abishai (vv. 21, 22; 18:2, 5, 12).

■ 15:20 yesterday. Presumably this is to be understood figuratively and not literally.

■ 15:21 there also your servant will be. Ittai and his men were evidently mercenaries, but Ittai's loyalty was still outspoken.

■ 15:23 Brook Kidron. A valley running from north to south along the eastern side of Jerusalem and separating Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives.

■ 15:24 Zadok . . . Abiathar. See note on 8:17.

ark of the covenant of God. See notes on 1 Sam. 3:3; 4:3.

■ 15:25 Carry the ark of God back. David clearly resists any magical understanding of the ark's power (contrast the elders of Israel, 1 Sam. 4:3). Rather, he casts himself on the Lord's mercy.

■ 15:26 let Him do to me as seems good to Him. David humbly accepts the Lord's will (10:12 note; 1 Sam. 3:18), yet this does not prevent him from taking steps to secure his survival (vv. 28, 32–36).

■ 15:27 Return to the city. Zadok, Abiathar, and their sons will prove useful to David's cause in 17:15–21.

■ 15:28 plains of the wilderness. Probably the region along the western shore of the Dead Sea; see 17:16.

30 So David went up by the Ascent of the Mount of Olives, and wept as he went up; and he [l]had his head covered and went [m]barefoot. And all the people who were with him [n]covered their heads and went up, [o]weeping as they went up. 31 Then someone told David, saying, [p]"Ahithophel is among the conspirators with Absalom." And David said, "O LORD, I pray, [q]turn the counsel of Ahithophel into foolishness!"

32 Now it happened when David had come to the top of the mountain, where he worshiped God—there was Hushai the [r]Archite coming to meet him [s]with his robe torn and dust on his head. 33 David said to him, "If you go on with me, then you will become [t]a burden to me. 34 But if you return to the city, and say to Absalom, [u]'I will be your servant, O king; as I was your father's servant previously, so I will now also be your servant,' then you may defeat the counsel of Ahithophel for me. 35 And do you not have Zadok and Abiathar the priests with you there? Therefore it will be that whatever you hear from the king's house, you shall tell to [v]Zadok and Abiathar the priests. 36 Indeed they have there [w]with them their two sons, Ahimaaz, Zadok's son, and Jonathan, Abiathar's son; and by them you shall send me everything you hear."

37 So Hushai, [x]David's friend, went into the city. [y]And Absalom came into Jerusalem.

Mephibosheth's Servant

16 When[a] David was a little past the top of the mountain, there was [b]Ziba the servant of Mephibosheth, who met him with a couple of saddled donkeys, and on them two hundred loaves of bread, one hundred clusters of raisins, one hundred summer fruits, and a skin of wine. 2 And the king said to Ziba, "What do you mean to do with these?"

So Ziba said, "The donkeys are for the king's household to ride on, the bread and summer fruit for the young men to eat, and the wine for [c]those who are faint in the wilderness to drink."

3 Then the king said, "And where is your [d]master's son?"

[e]And Ziba said to the king, "Indeed he is staying in Jerusalem, for he said, 'Today the house of Israel will restore the kingdom of my father to me.' "

4 So the king said to Ziba, "Here, all that belongs to Mephibosheth is yours."

And Ziba said, "I humbly bow before you, that I may find favor in your sight, my lord, O king!"

Shimei Curses David

5 Now when King David came to [f]Bahurim, there was a man from the family of the house of Saul, whose name was [g]Shimei the son of Gera, coming from there. He came out, cursing continuously as he came. 6 And he threw stones at David and at all the servants of King David. And all the people and all the mighty men were on his right hand and on his left. 7 Also Shimei said thus when he cursed: "Come out! Come out! You [1]bloodthirsty man, [h]you [2]rogue! 8 The LORD has [i]brought upon you all [j]the blood of the house of Saul, in whose place you have reigned; and the LORD has delivered the kingdom into the hand of Absalom your son. So now you are caught in your own evil, because you are a [3]bloodthirsty man!"

9 Then Abishai the son of Zeruiah said to the king, "Why should this [k]dead dog [l]curse my lord the king? Please, let me go over and take off his head!"

10 But the king said, [m]"What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah? So let him curse, because [n]the LORD has said to him, 'Curse David.' [o]Who then shall say, 'Why have you done so?' "

■ 16:4 all that belongs to Mephibosheth is yours. While David appears to believe Ziba's tale of Mephibosheth's treachery, he will change his ruling after hearing Mephibosheth's side of the story (19:24–30).

■ 16:5 Bahurim. See note on 3:16.

Shimei. As a kinsman of Saul, Shimei may have held David responsible for the deaths of Abner and Ishbosheth (vv. 7, 8; on David's innocence, see 3:21, 26, 28; 4:9, 12 and notes). He may also have resented David's permitting seven of Saul's descendants to be executed by the Gibeonites (21:1 note). As a resident of Bahurim, moreover, Shimei may have been upset by David's treatment of Michal, Saul's daughter, for it was there that her second husband was ordered to cease following her as she was being taken back to David (3:16).

■ 16:8 The LORD has brought upon you. Shimei is correct that divine retribution plays a part in David's distress, but it is not because of any injustice to the house of Saul. It was the result of David's sin against Uriah and Bathsheba (12:11).

11 [n]2 Sam. 3:10 [o]Gen. 22:17

11 And David said to Abishai and all his servants, "See how [p]my son who [q]came from my own body seeks my life. How much more now may this Benjamite? Let him alone, and let him curse; for so the LORD has ordered him. 12 It may be that the LORD will look on [r]my affliction, and that the LORD will [s]repay me with good for his cursing this day." 13 And as David and his men went along the road, Shimei went along the hillside opposite him and cursed as he went, threw stones at him and [t]kicked up dust. 14 Now the king and all the people who were with him became weary; so they refreshed themselves there.

The Advice of Ahithophel

15 Meanwhile [u]Absalom and all the people, the men of Israel, came to Jerusalem; and Ahithophel was with him. 16 And so it was, when Hushai the Archite, [v]David's friend, came to Absalom, that [w]Hushai said to Absalom, "Long live the king! Long live the king!"

17 So Absalom said to Hushai, "Is this your loyalty to your friend? [x]Why did you not go with your friend?"

18 And Hushai said to Absalom, "No, but whom the LORD and this people and all the men of Israel choose, his I will be, and with him I will remain. 19 "Furthermore, [y]whom should I serve? Should I not serve in the presence of his son? As I have served in your father's presence, so will I be in your presence."

20 Then Absalom said to [z]Ahithophel, "Give advice as to what we should do."

21 And Ahithophel said to Absalom, "Go in to your father's [a]concubines, whom he has left to keep the house; and all Israel will hear that you [b]are abhorred by your father. Then [c]the hands of all who are with you will be strong." 22 So they pitched a tent for Absalom on the top of the house, and Absalom went in to his father's concubines [d]in the sight of all Israel.

23 Now the advice of Ahithophel, which he gave in those days, was as if one had inquired at the oracle of God. So was all the advice of Ahithophel [e]both with David and with Absalom.

17 Moreover Ahithophel said to Absalom, "Now let me choose twelve thousand men, and I will arise and pursue David tonight. 2 I will come upon him while he is [f]weary and weak, and make him [g]afraid. And all the people who are with him will flee, and I will [h]strike only the king. 3 Then I will bring back all the people to you. When all return except the man whom you seek, all the people will be at peace." 4 And the saying pleased Absalom and all the [i]elders of Israel.

The Advice of Hushai

5 Then Absalom said, "Now call Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear what he [j]says too." 6 And when Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom spoke to him, saying, "Ahithophel has spoken in this manner. Shall we do as he says? If not, speak up."

7 So Hushai said to Absalom: "The advice that Ahithophel has given is not good at this time. 8 For," said Hushai, "you know your father and his men, that they are mighty men, and they are enraged in their minds, like [k]a bear robbed of her cubs in the field; and your father is a man of war, and will not camp with the people. 9 Surely by now he is hidden in some pit, or in some other place. And it will be, when some of them are overthrown at the first, that whoever hears it will say, 'There is a slaughter among the people who follow Absalom.' 10 And even he who is valiant, whose heart is like the heart of a lion, will [l]melt completely. For all Israel knows that your father is a mighty man, and those who are with him are valiant men. 11 Therefore I advise that all Israel be fully gathered to you, [m]from Dan to Beersheba, [n]like the sand that is by the sea

■ 16:11 let him curse. David refuses to silence Shimei for several reasons. The Lord has prompted him to curse (v. 10); if his own son wants to kill him, how much more a kinsman of Saul; if the cursing is unjust, the Lord may repay David with good (v. 12). David's ready submission to God's judgment is consistent with his character (12:20–23; 15:26) and reminiscent of Eli (1 Sam. 3:18 note).

■ 16:15 Ahithophel. See note on 11:3 ("Eliam").

■ 16:16 Hushai the Archite. See note on 15:32.

■ 16:17–19 Absalom's suspicion of David's "friend" (v. 16; 15:37) elicits from him a clever reply that he will be loyal to the one whom the Lord and all Israel have chosen. Moreover, it is a natural thing for one who served a father to serve his son also.

■ 16:21 Go in to your father's concubines. To remove any thought among Absalom's followers of a reconciliation with David, Ahithophel counsels Absalom to lie with David's concubines who had been left behind (15:16). This would make clear Absalom's desire for the throne (3:7 note; 12:8 note; 1 Kin. 2:22). Whatever the motivation, such behavior was detestable to God (Lev. 18).

■ 16:22 Absalom went in. This action fulfills the judgment announced by Nathan in 12:11, 12.

■ 17:5 Hushai the Archite. See note on 15:32.

■ 17:6 this manner. Absalom explained Ahithophel's advice to Hushai.

■ 17:7–13 After declaring Ahithophel's advice "not good at this time" (v. 7), Hushai offers an alternative plan, emphasizing not quick action but overpowering numbers (vv. 11–13). The plan he suggested gained time for David to escape across the Jordan River. (vv. 16, 22).

■ 17:11 from Dan to Beersheba. See Judg. 20:1; 1 Sam. 3:20.

for multitude, and that you go to battle in person. 12 So we will come upon him in some place where he may be found, and we will fall on him as the dew falls on the ground. And of him and all the men who are with him there shall not be left so much as one. 13 Moreover, if he has withdrawn into a city, then all Israel shall bring ropes to that city; and we will [i]pull it into the river, until there is not one small stone found there."

14 So Absalom and all the men of Israel said, "The advice of Hushai the Archite is better than the advice of Ahithophel." For [j]the LORD had purposed to defeat the good advice of Ahithophel, to the intent that the LORD might bring disaster on Absalom.

Hushai Warns David to Escape

15 [k]Then Hushai said to Zadok and Abiathar the priests, "Thus and so Ahithophel advised Absalom and the elders of Israel, and thus and so I have advised. 16 Now therefore, send quickly and tell David, saying, 'Do not spend this night [l]in the plains of the wilderness, but speedily cross over, lest the king and all the people who are with him be swallowed up.' " 17 [m]Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz [n]stayed at [o]En Rogel, for they dared not be seen coming into the city; so a female servant would come and tell them, and they would go and tell King David. 18 Nevertheless a lad saw them, and told Absalom. But both of them went away quickly and came to a man's house [p]in Bahurim, who had a well in his court; and they went down into it. 19 [q]Then the woman took and spread a covering over the well's mouth, and spread ground grain on it; and the thing was not known. 20 And when Absalom's servants came to the woman at the house, they said, "Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?"

So [r]the woman said to them, "They have gone over the water brook."

And when they had searched and could not find them, they returned to Jerusalem. 21 Now it came to pass, after they had departed, that they came up out of the well and went and told King David, and said to David, [s]"Arise and cross over the water quickly. For thus has Ahithophel advised against you." 22 So David and all the people who were with him arose and crossed over the Jordan. By morning light not one of them was left who had not gone over the Jordan.

23 Now when Ahithophel saw that his advice was not followed, he saddled a donkey, and arose and went home to [t]his house, to his city. Then he [2]put his [u]household in order, and [v]hanged himself, and died; and he was buried in his father's tomb.

24 Then David went to [w]Mahanaim. And Absalom crossed over the Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him. 25 And Absalom made [x]Amasa captain of the army instead of Joab. This Amasa was the son of a man whose name was [3]Jithra, an [4]Israelite, who had gone in to [y]Abigail the daughter of Nahash, sister of Zeruiah, Joab's mother. 26 So Israel and Absalom encamped in the land of Gilead.

27 Now it happened, when David had come to Mahanaim, that [z]Shobi the son of Nahash from

■ 17:12 we will fall on him as the dew falls on the ground. Hushai's simile evokes a sense of the all-encompassing and power of a "blanketing" mass attack, and also tends, by its use of serene imagery, to lessen the sense of urgency and to suggest that the victory will be effortless.

■ 17:14 the LORD had purposed. Though the Lord does not openly intervene, He is far from inactive.

to defeat the good advice. This is an answer to David's prayer in 15:31.

■ 17:15 Zadok and Abiathar. In 15:27–29 David sent them, along with their sons Ahimaaz and Jonathan, back to Jerusalem in order to gather and convey information to him (15:35, 36). For general information on Zadok and Abiathar, see note on 8:17.

a female servant. Drawing water was a normal task for a young woman, and these visits to the spring would not be noticed.

■ 17:18 came to a man's house in Bahurim. From David's recent trip through Bahurim, the site of Shimei's cursing (16:5–14), he would know who his supporters were. On Bahurim, see note on 3:16.

■ 17:23 his city. See 15:12 and note.

hanged himself. Ahithophel's suicide was presumably prompted not only because his most recent advice was ignored, but also because he knew Absalom's chances of success had become slim. Neither could there be any reconciliation with David (16:21 and note).

■ 17:24 Mahanaim. See note on 2:8.

■ 17:25 Amasa. According to 1 Chr. 2:13–17, Amasa was David's nephew. This would make Amasa a cousin of both Absalom and Joab (2:18 note). Absalom appoints Amasa to replace Joab as commander of the army, and David will later do the same (19:13). Amasa's tenure will be short, however, for Joab was never slow in dealing with a competitor (20:9, 10).

Abigail. Amasa's mother was either David's sister (1 Chr. 2:15–17) or perhaps his half-sister since she is here described as "the daughter of Nahash, sister of Zeruiah."

Nahash. This is presumably a different Nahash than the Ammonite "Nahash from Rabbah" in v. 27.

■ 17:27 Shobi the son of Nahash. Like Hanun, Shobi was a member of the Ammonite royal family (10:1, 2), but unlike Hanun he was friendly towards David and may even have been David's appointee to govern the city of Rabbah after its capture (12:26–31).

Rabbah of the people of Ammon. See note on 11:1.

Machir. See note on 9:4.

Barzillai. For more on this benefactor of David and David's attempt to reward him, see 19:31–39; 1 Kin. 2:7.

Rabbah of the people of Ammon, [a]Machir the son of Ammiel from Lo Debar, and [b]Barzillai the Gileadite from Rogelim, [28] brought beds and basins, earthen vessels and wheat, barley and flour, parched grain and beans, lentils and parched seeds, [29] honey and curds, sheep and cheese of the herd, for David and the people who were with him to eat. For they said, "The people are hungry and weary and thirsty [c]in the wilderness."

Absalom's Defeat and Death

18 And David [f]numbered the people who were with him, and [a]set captains of thousands and captains of hundreds over them. [2] Then David sent out one third of the people under the hand of Joab, [b]one third under the hand of Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and one third under the hand of [c]Ittai the Gittite. And the king said to the people, "I also will surely go out with you myself."

[3] [d]But the people answered, "You shall not go out! For if we flee away, they will not care about us; nor if half of us die, will they care about us. But you are worth ten thousand of us now. For you are now more help to us in the city."

[4] Then the king said to them, "Whatever seems best to you I will do." So the king stood beside the gate, and all the people went out by hundreds and by thousands. [5] Now the king had commanded Joab, Abishai, and Ittai, saying, "Deal gently for my sake with the young man Absalom." [e]And all the people heard when the king gave all the captains orders concerning Absalom.

[6] So the people went out into the field of battle against Israel. And the battle was in the [f]woods of Ephraim. [7] The people of Israel were overthrown there before the servants of David, and a great slaughter of twenty thousand took place there that day. [8] For the battle there was scattered over the face of the whole countryside, and the woods devoured more people that day than the sword devoured.

[9] Then Absalom met the servants of David. Absalom rode on a mule. The mule went under the thick boughs of a great terebinth tree, and [g]his head caught in the terebinth; so he was left hanging between heaven and earth. And the mule which was under him went on. [10] Now a certain man saw it and told Joab, and said, "I just saw Absalom hanging in a terebinth tree!"

[11] So Joab said to the man who told him, "You just saw him! And why did you not strike him there to the ground? I would have given you ten shekels of silver and a belt."

[12] But the man said to Joab, "Though I were to receive a thousand shekels of silver in my hand, I would not raise my hand against the king's son. [h]For in our hearing the king commanded you and Abishai and Ittai, saying, [2]'Beware lest anyone touch the young man Absalom!' [13] Otherwise I would have dealt falsely against my own life. For there is nothing hidden from the king, and you yourself would have set yourself against me."

[14] Then Joab said, "I cannot linger with you." And he took three spears in his hand and thrust them through Absalom's heart, while he was still alive in the midst of the terebinth tree. [15] And ten young men who bore Joab's armor surrounded Absalom, and struck and killed him.

[16] So Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from pursuing Israel. For Joab held back the people. [17] And they took Absalom and cast him into a large pit in the woods, and [i]laid a very large heap of stones over him. Then all Israel [j]fled, everyone to his tent.

■ 18:1 thousands . . . hundreds. These are standard military units, (Ex. 18:21; Num. 31:14; Deut. 1:15; 1 Sam. 8:12; 22:7; 29:2).

■ 18:2 one third. It was a conventional practice to divide troops into three parts (1 Sam. 11:11).

Abishai. See note on 2:18.

■ 18:3 You shall not go out. In response to David's emphatic pronouncement in v. 2, the troops are adamant that he must not accompany them. Perhaps they fear that David's feelings for Absalom (v. 5; 18:33—19:7) or simply his advancing age (21:15–17) might prove a liability in the campaign. They recognize, moreover, that the death of David would mean sure defeat, as Ahithophel had earlier pointed out to Absalom (17:2, 3).

■ 18:4 beside the gate. That is, in Mahanaim (17:24, 27). See note on 19:8.

■ 18:6 the woods of Ephraim. Though the territory of Ephraim was west of the Jordan, the present context implies that "the woods of Ephraim" were east of the Jordan. Ephraim may have taken some territory in the east.

■ 18:8 the woods devoured more. The enemy would be lost in the unfamiliar, rough terrain. Some might take the opportunity to desert and others become easy prey for more experienced soldiers.

■ 18:9 rode on a mule. Mules were the royal mount of choice (13:29; 1 Kin. 1:33).

his head caught in the terebinth. The text does not say that Absalom's famous hair was caught in the branches, but it seems likely (14:25, 26 and note).

■ 18:11 I would have given you. Joab has no qualms about violating David's express command (v. 5).

■ 18:12, 13 The man obviously does not share Joab's cavalier attitude towards David's orders. Moreover, he astutely concludes that, if he killed Absalom, Joab would deny having any part in it and leave him to take the blame.

■ 18:16 blew the trumpet. See note on 1 Sam. 13:3.

■ 18:17 very large heap of stones over him. Such burial was often reserved for criminals or enemies (Josh. 7:26; 8:29).

18 Now Absalom in his lifetime had taken and set up a [3]pillar for himself, which is in [k]the King's Valley. For he said, [l]"I have no son to keep my name in remembrance." He called the pillar after his own name. And to this day it is called Absalom's Monument.

David Hears of Absalom's Death

19 Then [m]Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said, "Let me run now and take the news to the king, how the LORD has [4]avenged him of his enemies."

20 And Joab said to him, "You shall not take the news this day, for you shall take the news another day. But today you shall take no news, because the king's son is dead." 21 Then Joab said to the Cushite, "Go, tell the king what you have seen." So the Cushite bowed himself to Joab and ran.

22 And Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said again to Joab, "But [5]whatever happens, please let me also run after the Cushite."

So Joab said, "Why will you run, my son, since you have no news ready?"

23 "But whatever happens," he said, "let me run."

So he said to him, "Run." Then Ahimaaz ran by way of the plain, and outran the Cushite.

24 Now David was sitting between the [n]two gates. And the watchman went up to the roof over the gate, to the wall, lifted his eyes and looked, and there was a man, running alone. 25 Then the watchman cried out and told the king. And the king said, "If he is alone, there is news in his mouth." And he came rapidly and drew near.

26 Then the watchman saw another man running, and the watchman called to the gatekeeper and said, "There is another man, running alone!"

And the king said, "He also brings news."

27 So the watchman said, [6]"I think the running of the first is like the running of Ahimaaz the son of Zadok."

And the king said, "He is a good man, and comes with [o]good news."

28 So Ahimaaz called out and said to the king, [7]"All is well!" Then he bowed down with his face to the earth before the king, and said, [p]"Blessed be the LORD your God, who has delivered up the men who raised their hand against my lord the king!"

29 The king said, "Is the young man Absalom safe?"

Ahimaaz answered, "When Joab sent the king's servant and me your servant, I saw a great tumult, but I did not know what it was about."

30 And the king said, "Turn aside and stand here." So he turned aside and stood still.

31 Just then the Cushite came, and the Cushite said, "There is good news, my lord the king! For the LORD has avenged you this day of all those who rose against you."

32 And the king said to the Cushite, "Is the young man Absalom safe?"

So the Cushite answered, "May the enemies of my lord the king, and all who rise against you to do harm, be like that young man!"

David's Mourning for Absalom

33 Then the king was deeply moved, and went up to the chamber over the gate, and wept. And as he went, he said thus: [q]"O my son Absalom—my son, my son Absalom—if only I had died in your place! O Absalom my son, [r]my son!"

19 And Joab was told, "Behold, the king is weeping and [a]mourning for Absalom." 2 So the victory that day was turned into [b]mourning for all the people. For the people heard it

1 [a]Jer. 14:2

2 [b]Esth. 4:3

■ 18:18 pillar for himself. Compare Saul's action in 1 Sam. 15:12. In life Absalom had envisaged for himself a king's career and had erected a pillar of remembrance in his own honor; in death he was branded a traitor and buried under a pile of stones.

King's Valley. Probably near Jerusalem (Gen. 14:17).

no son. Absalom's three sons, mentioned but not named in 14:27, presumably were not yet born or were already deceased when Absalom erected his monument.

■ 18:19 Ahimaaz. Ahimaaz has previously served as a messenger for David (15:36; 17:15–21) and wishes to do so again.

■ 18:20 You shall not take the news this day. It can be inferred from v. 27 that there was a correlation between the messenger chosen and the content of the message. Joab's decsion not to send Ahimaaz may have been prompted by a desire not to appear as personally taking too much pleasure in Absalom's death.

■ 18:21 Cushite. Cush is the area south of Egypt.

■ 18:25 alone, there is news in his mouth. Were he fleeing the battlefield he would not likely be alone, nor would he be approaching so energetically and openly (compare 19:3, which speaks of "people who are ashamed . . . when they flee in battle" and so steal into the city).

■ 18:27 good man . . . good news. See note on v. 20.

■ 18:29 I saw a great tumult, but I did not know what it was about. Ahimaaz conceals his knowledge of Absalom's death (v. 20).

■ 18:32 like that young man. The Cushite offers a conventionally phrased response (1 Sam. 25:26), which David readily understands (v. 33).

said that day, "The king is grieved for his son." 3 And the people [f]stole back [c]into the city that day, as people who are ashamed steal away when they flee in battle. 4 But the king [d]covered his face, and the king cried out with a loud voice, [e]"O my son Absalom! O Absalom, my son, my son!"

5 Then [f]Joab came into the house to the king, and said, "Today you have disgraced all your servants who today have saved your life, the lives of your sons and daughters, the lives of your wives and the lives of your concubines, 6 in that you love your enemies and hate your friends. For you have declared today that you [2]regard neither princes nor servants; for today I perceive that if Absalom had lived and all of us had died today, then it would have pleased you well. 7 Now therefore, arise, go out and speak [3]comfort to your servants. For I swear by the LORD, if you do not go out, not one will stay with you this night. And that will be worse for you than all the evil that has befallen you from your youth until now." 8 Then the king arose and sat in the [g]gate. And they told all the people, saying, "There is the king, sitting in the gate." So all the people came before the king.

For everyone of Israel had [h]fled to his tent.

David Returns to Jerusalem

9 Now all the people were in a dispute throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, "The king saved us from the hand of our [i]enemies, he delivered us from the hand of the [j]Philistines, and now he has [k]fled from the land because of Absalom. 10 But Absalom, whom we anointed over us, has died in battle. Now therefore, why do you say nothing about bringing back the king?"

11 So King David sent to [l]Zadok and Abiathar the priests, saying, "Speak to the elders of Judah, saying, 'Why are you the last to bring the king back to his house, since the words of all Israel have come to the king, to his very house? 12 You are [m]my brethren, you are [m]my bone and my flesh. Why then are you the last to bring back the king?' 13 [n]And say to Amasa, 'Are you not my bone and my flesh? [o]God do so to me, and more also, if you are not commander of the army before me [4]continually in place of Joab.' " 14 So he swayed the hearts of all the men of Judah, [p]just as the heart of one man, so that they sent this word to the king: "Return, you and all your servants!"

15 Then the king returned and came to the Jordan. And Judah came to [q]Gilgal, to go to meet the king, to escort the king [r]across the Jordan. 16 And [s]Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite, who was from Bahurim, hurried and came down with the men of Judah to meet King David. 17 There were a thousand men of [t]Benjamin with him, and [u]Ziba the servant of the house of Saul, and his fifteen sons and his twenty servants with him; and they went over the Jordan before the king. 18 Then a ferryboat went across to carry over the king's household, and to do what he thought good.

Now Shimei the son of Gera fell down before the king when he had crossed the Jordan. 19 Then he said to the king, [v]"Do not let my lord [5]impute iniquity to me, or remember what [w]wrong your servant did on the day that my lord the king left Jerusalem, that the king should [x]take it to heart. 20 For I, your servant, know that I have sinned. Therefore here I am, the first to come today of all [y]the house of Joseph to go down to meet my lord the king."

■ 19:5 you have disgraced all your servants. What might, under different circumstances, be an understandable display of grief is totally unacceptable here. Joab forcefully declares to David the demoralizing effect his behavior is having on those who have just saved his life. If the actions of later usurpers is any guide, Absalom's success could have cost the lives of David and his whole household (1 Kin. 15:29; 16:11, 12; 2 Kin. 10:6, 7, 17).

■ 19:7 not one will stay with you. Joab practically threatens to lead a rebellion himself if David does not correct his behavior and show his troops proper honor.

■ 19:8 the king, sitting in the gate. Heeding Joab's words, David takes his place in the gate of Mahanaim (18:4 note), the same spot where he had earlier given orders concerning the treatment of Absalom (18:5). The two gateway scenes provide a frame for the account of the death of Absalom.

■ 19:13 Amasa. See note on 17:25.

commander of the army . . . in place of Joab. David's promotion of Amasa over Joab appears to be politically astute and magnanimous, since Amasa had sided with Absalom and was deserving of a traitor's death. But it turned out to be a mistake (20:8–10).

■ 19:15 Gilgal. See 1 Sam. 13:4 note.

■ 19:16 Shimei the son of Gera. See 16:5–14 and notes.

Bahurim. See note on 3:16.

■ 19:20 house of Joseph. Strictly speaking, the "house of Joseph" would include only the descendants of Joseph's two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh (Gen. 48:5, 20; Josh. 17:17). The expression is frequently used, however, to describe all the northern tribes (Josh. 18:5; 1 Kin. 11:28; Amos 5:6; Zech. 10:6). In the present context, even Benjamin, Shimei's tribe, is included.

21 But Abishai the son of Zeruiah answered and said, "Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, [z]because he [a]cursed the LORD's anointed?"

22 And David said, [b]"What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah, that you should be adversaries to me today? [c]Shall any man be put to death today in Israel? For do I not know that today I am king over Israel?" 23 Therefore [d]the king said to Shimei, "You shall not die." And the king swore to him.

David and Mephibosheth Meet

24 Now [e]Mephibosheth the son of Saul came down to meet the king. And he had not cared for his feet, nor trimmed his mustache, nor washed his clothes, from the day the king departed until the day he returned in peace. 25 So it was, when he had come to Jerusalem to meet the king, that the king said to him, [f]"Why did you not go with me, Mephibosheth?"

26 And he answered, "My lord, O king, my servant deceived me. For your servant said, 'I will saddle a donkey for myself, that I may ride on it and go to the king,' because your servant is lame. 27 And [g]he has slandered your servant to my lord the king, [h]but my lord the king is like the angel of God. Therefore do what is good in your eyes. 28 For all my father's house were but dead men before my lord the king; [i]yet you set your servant among those who eat at your own table. Therefore what right have I still to [6]cry out anymore to the king?"

29 So the king said to him, "Why do you speak anymore of your matters? I have said, 'You and Ziba divide the land.' "

30 Then Mephibosheth said to the king, "Rather, let him take it all, inasmuch as my lord the king has come back in peace to his own house."

David's Kindness to Barzillai

31 And [j]Barzillai the Gileadite came down from Rogelim and went across the Jordan with the king, to escort him across the Jordan. 32 Now Barzillai was a very aged man, eighty years old. And [k]he had provided the king with supplies while he stayed at Mahanaim, for he was a very rich man. 33 And the king said to Barzillai, "Come across with me, and I will provide for you while you are with me in Jerusalem."

34 But Barzillai said to the king, "How long have I to live, that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem? 35 I am today [l]eighty years old. Can I discern between the good and bad? Can your servant taste what I eat or what I drink? Can I hear any longer the voice of singing men and singing women? Why then should your servant be a further burden to my lord the king? 36 Your servant will go a little way across the Jordan with the king. And why should the king repay me with such a reward? 37 Please let your servant turn back again, that I may die in my own city, near the grave of my father and mother. But here is your servant [m]Chimham; let him cross over with my lord the king, and do for him what seems good to you."

38 And the king answered, "Chimham shall cross over with me, and I will do for him what seems good to you. Now whatever you request of me, I will do for you." 39 Then all the people went over the Jordan. And when the king had crossed over, the king [n]kissed Barzillai and blessed him, and he returned to his own place.

The Quarrel About the King

40 Now the king went on to Gilgal, and [7]Chimham went on with him. And all the people of Judah escorted the king, and also half the people of Israel. 41 Just then all the men of Israel came to the king, and said to the king, "Why have our brethren, the men of Judah, stolen you away and [o]brought the king, his household, and all David's men with him across the Jordan?"

42 So all the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, "Because the king is [p]a close relative of

■ 19:21 cursed the LORD's anointed. This was a grave offense. See note on 1 Sam. 2:10.

■ 19:22 Shall any man be put to death today in Israel. For a similar sentiment under similar circumstances, see 1 Sam. 11:13.

■ 19:23 You shall not die. Although David will remember his oath, he will not forget Shimei's offense, and on his deathbed will remind Solomon of it (1 Kin. 2:8, 9).

■ 19:24 Mephibosheth. See note on 4:4.

had not cared for his feet. Mephibosheth's neglect of personal hygiene signified his distress over David's predicament and may also have been intended to serve as evidence of his loyalty, when and if David should return.

■ 19:27 angel of God. See note on 14:17.

■ 19:29 divide the land. David either is unwilling to call Ziba to account for his betrayal or is uncertain of the truth of Mephibosheth's story, so he settles for a compromise arrangement.

■ 19:37 Chimham. In the light of the circumstances and of David's words in 1 Kin. 2:7, it is reasonable to assume that Chimham was a son of Barzillai. The later place name "habitation of Chimham, which is near Bethlehem" (Jer. 41:17) may suggest that a land grant was part of Chimham's reward.

ours. Why then are you angry over this matter? Have we ever eaten at the king's expense? Or has he given us any gift?"

43 And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, and said, "We have [q]ten shares in the king; therefore we also have more right to David than you. Why then do you despise us—were we not the first to advise bringing back our king?"

Yet [r]the words of the men of Judah were [s]fiercer than the words of the men of Israel.

The Rebellion of Sheba

20 And there happened to be there a [t]rebel, whose name was Sheba the son of Bichri, a Benjamite. And he blew a trumpet, and said:

[a]"We have no share in David,
Nor do we have inheritance in the son of Jesse;
[b]Every man to his tents, O Israel!"

2 So every man of Israel deserted David, and followed Sheba the son of Bichri. But the [c]men of Judah, from the Jordan as far as Jerusalem, remained loyal to their king.

3 Now David came to his house at Jerusalem. And the king took the ten women, [d]his concubines whom he had left to keep the house, and put them in seclusion and supported them, but did not go in to them. So they were shut up to the day of their death, living in widowhood.

4 And the king said to Amasa, [e]"Assemble the men of Judah for me within three days, and be present here yourself." 5 So Amasa went to assemble the men of Judah. But he delayed longer than the set time which David had appointed him. 6 And David said to [f]Abishai, "Now Sheba the son of Bichri will do us more harm than Absalom. Take [g]your lord's servants and pursue him, lest he find for himself fortified cities, and escape us." 7 So Joab's men, with the [h]Cherethites, the Pelethites, and [i]all the mighty men, went out after him. And they went out of Jerusalem to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri. 8 When they were at the large stone which is in Gibeon, Amasa came before them. Now Joab was dressed in battle armor; on it was a belt with a sword fastened in its sheath at his hips; and as he was going forward, it fell out. 9 Then Joab said to Amasa, "Are you in health, my brother?" [j]And Joab took Amasa by the beard with his right hand to kiss him. 10 But Amasa did not notice the sword that was in Joab's hand. And [k]he struck him with it [l]in the stomach, and his entrails poured out on the ground; and he did not strike him again. Thus he died.

Then Joab and Abishai his brother pursued Sheba the son of Bichri. 11 Meanwhile one of you despise us. The north-south hostility so much in evidence will fuel Sheba's revolt (ch. 20) and eventually bring about the division of the kingdom (1 Kin. 12). See note on 1 Sam. 11:8.

no share in David. See note on 19:43. Although the aggressive behavior of the men of Judah was certainly a factor, residual allegiance to Saul must have also played a part in the mass withdrawal of support from David among the northern tribes.

Every man to his tents. This archaic turn of phrase should not be taken to imply that the Israelites at this stage in their history were still tent-dwellers. See Judg. 19:9 where the NKJV renders the Hebrew word for "tent" simply as "home."

three days. This was a limited, though not impossible, amount of time for the task set by David.

■ 20:5 he delayed longer. The reason for Amasa's delay is not stated. Perhaps he did not entirely support David's cause or, alternatively, was unable to gain an immediate following among the Judahites, whose loyalties may still have been with Joab (v. 11 and note).

■ 20:6 said to Abishai. Though Amasa is proving unsatisfactory, David is still unwilling to reinstate Joab (19:13), so he addresses Joab's brother Abishai instead. By the end of the episode, however, Joab will have retaken his former position, regardless of David's wishes (vv. 13, 23).

mighty men. They are presumably the same as those listed in 23:8–39.

■ 20:8 the large stone. This was possibly a well-known landmark, on the order of those mentioned elsewhere in Samuel (15:17; 1 Sam. 19:22; 20:19). The large stone may have been an altar (cf. 1 Sam. 14:33, 34), and some have suggested a link with the "great high place" in Gibeon (1 Kin. 3:4).

Gibeon. See note on 2:12.

it fell out. Whether the sword fell to the ground, or into the folds of Joab's tunic (possibly girded up for marching), is not stated. See note on v. 10.

■ 20:9 took Amasa by the beard. This was a normal gesture in administering the kiss of greeting and was not likely to arouse suspicion.

■ 20:10 the sword that was in Joab's hand. It is unclear whether this is the sword that had fallen and so was retrieved, either from the ground or the folds of Joab's tunic (v. 8 note), or a second weapon that had been concealed on Joab's person (in which case the dropped sword was a decoy). At any rate, Joab is able to catch Amasa completely off guard and kill him, as he had killed Abner (3:27).

■ 20:11 Whoever favors Joab . . . David. Two things might be inferred from this summons. Joab continued to enjoy the personal loyalty of Joab's men stood near Amasa, and said, "Whoever favors Joab and whoever is for David—follow Joab!" 12 But Amasa wallowed in his blood in the middle of the highway. And when the man saw that all the people stood still, he moved Amasa from the highway to the field and threw a garment over him, when he saw that everyone who came upon him halted. 13 When he was removed from the highway, all the people went on after Joab to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri.

14 And he went through all the tribes of Israel to [m]Abel and Beth Maachah and all the Berites. So they were gathered together and also went after [2]Sheba. 15 Then they came and besieged him in Abel of Beth Maachah; and they [n]cast up a siege mound against the city, and it stood by the rampart. And all the people who were with Joab battered the wall to throw it down.

16 Then a wise woman cried out from the city, "Hear, hear! Please say to Joab, 'Come nearby, that I may speak with you.' " 17 When he had come near to her, the woman said, "Are you Joab?"

He answered, "I am."

Then she said to him, "Hear the words of your maidservant."

And he answered, "I am listening."

18 So she spoke, saying, "They used to talk in former times, saying, 'They shall surely seek guidance at Abel,' and so they would end disputes. 19 I am among the peaceable and faithful in Israel. You seek to destroy a city and a mother in Israel. Why would you swallow up [o]the inheritance of the LORD?"

20 And Joab answered and said, "Far be it, far be it from me, that I should swallow up or destroy! 21 That is not so. But a man from the mountains of Ephraim, Sheba the son of Bichri by name, has raised his hand against the king, against David. Deliver him only, and I will depart from the city."

So the woman said to Joab, "Watch, his head will be thrown to you over the wall." 22 Then the woman [p]in her wisdom went to all the people. And they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri, and threw it out to Joab. Then he blew a trumpet, and they withdrew from the city, every man to his tent. So Joab returned to the king at Jerusalem.

David's Government Officers

23 And [q]Joab was over all the army of Israel; Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites; 24 Adoram was [r]in charge of revenue; [s]Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; 25 Sheva was scribe; [t]Zadok and Abiathar were the priests; 26 [u]and Ira the Jairite was [3]a chief minister under David.

■ 20:14 Abel and Beth Maachah. This city is mentioned also in 1 Kin. 15:20; 2 Kin. 15:29. On the kingdom of Maacah, see 10:6 and note. Abel is usually identified with a site about twelve miles north of Lake Huleh and four miles west of Dan.

Berites. This name occurs nowhere else in the Old Testament, and some have suggested reading "Bichrites" (cf. "Sheba son of Bichri" in v. 1).

■ 20:19 a city and a mother in Israel. The phrase "a mother in Israel" is one of veneration and honor (Judg. 5:7). This "peaceable and faithful" city deserves to be treated with respect rather than destroyed as a rebellious traitor.

the inheritance of the LORD. That is, Israel—its land and its people, as a whole and in its parts (14:16; 21:3; 1 Sam. 10:1 and note; 26:19).

■ 20:21 mountains of Ephraim. This name may apply to a geographical area which extended into Benjamite territory, or else Sheba, although of Benjamite ancestry (v. 1), was living in Ephraim.

■ 20:23–26 This summary of David's officers parallels the list in 8:15–18, with several differences. The opening formula regarding "David's reign" (8:15) is lacking, as is any mention of David's sons (cf. 8:18). Seraiah (8:17) is here called Sheva (v. 25), and two new names are added to the list: Adoram and Ira (vv. 24, 26). 1 Kin. 4:1–6 indicates that many of David's officers continued in their duties during at least the early part of Solomon's reign.

■ 20:23 Joab was over all the army of Israel. See note on v. 6. Having regained his former position, apparently without protest from David, Joab retained it until he was executed by Solomon for treason (1 Kin. 1:7; 2:22, 28–35).

Benaiah . . . the Cherethites and the Pelethites. See 1 Sam. 30:14 note.

■ 20:24 Adoram. After serving not only under David but also under Solomon (1 Kin. 4:6 note), Adoram will be stoned by "all Israel" during the early days of King Rehoboam (1 Kin. 12:18).

revenue. The Hebrew word translated "revenue" here and in 1 Kin. 12:18 is used to describe the hard labor imposed on subjugated peoples like the Israelites in Egypt (Ex. 1:11), or the surviving Canaanites after the Israelite conquest (Josh. 16:10; Judg. 1:28). It also describes the labor done by conscripts from Israel itself on the building projects of Solomon (1 Kin. 9:15). Neither Adoram nor forced laborers are included in the first summary of David's government (8:15–18), which may suggest that forced labor was not introduced until later on in David's reign (see perhaps 12:31).

Jehoshaphat . . . recorder. That is, perhaps a "royal herald" (see 8:16 note).

■ 20:25 Sheva was scribe. He was a high ranking official, perhaps akin to "secretary of state" (see note on 8:17).

■ 20:26 Ira. Ira is not mentioned elsewhere in the Old Testament, unless he is "Ira son of Ikkesh" (23:26) or "Ira the Ithrite" (23:38), both listed among David's mighty men (23:24–39).

Jairite. Some have attempted to associate "Ira the Jairite" with the Levitical city of "Jattir" (Josh. 21:14). Others refer to "Jair, the son of Manasseh" (Num. 32:41; Deut. 3:14) or to "Jair, a Gileadite" (Judg. 10:3).

David Avenges the Gibeonites

21 Now there was a famine in the days of David for three years, year after year; and David [a]inquired of the LORD. And the LORD answered, "It is because of Saul and his [t]bloodthirsty house, because he killed the Gibeonites." 2 So the king called the Gibeonites and spoke to them. Now the Gibeonites were not of the children of Israel, but [b]of the remnant of the Amorites; the children of Israel had sworn protection to them, but Saul had sought to kill them [c]in his zeal for the children of Israel and Judah.

3 Therefore David said to the Gibeonites, "What shall I do for you? And with what shall I make atonement, that you may bless [d]the inheritance of the LORD?"

4 And the Gibeonites said to him, "We will have no silver or gold from Saul or from his house, nor shall you kill any man in Israel for us."

So he said, "Whatever you say, I will do for you."

5 Then they answered the king, "As for the man who consumed us and plotted against us, that we should be destroyed from remaining in any of the territories of Israel, 6 let seven men of his descendants be delivered [e]to us, and we will hang them before the LORD [f]in Gibeah of Saul, [g]whom the LORD chose."

And the king said, "I will give them."

7 But the king spared [h]Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, because of [i]the LORD's oath that was between them, between David and Jonathan the son of Saul. 8 So the king took Armoni and Mephibosheth, the two sons of [j]Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, whom she bore to Saul, and the five sons of [2]Michal the daughter of Saul, whom she [3]brought up for Adriel the son of Barzillai the Meholathite; 9 and he delivered them into the hands of the Gibeonites, and they hanged them on the hill [k]before the LORD. So they fell, all seven together, and were put to death in the days of harvest, in the first days, in the beginning of barley harvest.

10 Now [l]Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and spread it for herself on the rock, [m]from the beginning of harvest until the late rains poured on them from heaven. And she did not allow the birds of the air to rest on them by day nor the beasts of the field by night.

11 And David was told what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, the concubine of Saul, had done. 12 Then David went and took the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his son, from the men of [n]Jabesh Gilead who had stolen them from the street of [4]Beth Shan, where the [o]Philistines had hung them up, after the Philistines had struck down Saul in Gilboa. 13 So he brought up the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son from there; and they gathered the bones of those who had been hanged. 14 They buried the bones of Saul and Jonathan his son in the country of Benjamin in [p]Zelah, in the tomb of Kish his father. So they performed all that the king commanded. And after that [q]God heeded the prayer for the land.

■ 21:1 there was a famine. Not uncommon in the land of Canaan (Gen. 12:10; 26:1; Ruth 1:1), famine is often recognized in the Bible as a manifestation of God's judgment (e.g., 24:13; Deut. 32:24; 2 Kin. 8:1; Ps. 105:16; Is. 14:30; Jer. 11:22; Ezek. 14:21; Rev. 6:8).

in the days of David. The time frame is stated quite generally. Perhaps the famine should be placed about the time that Mephibosheth came to David's court (v. 7; ch. 9) and before Absalom's rebellion (16:5 note), but this is uncertain.

Saul and his bloodthirsty house. Saul had tried to annihilate the Gibeonites (v. 2; 4:3 note), though obviously with only partial success.

■ 21:2 the children of Israel had sworn. Israel's treaty with the Gibeonites is recorded in Josh. 9. Although Israel had been remiss in entering into such a treaty without inquiring of the Lord (Josh. 9:14), they still felt obliged to honor their word (Josh. 9:19).

in his zeal for the children of Israel and Judah. Saul's attempt to annihilate the Gibeonites was motivated by nationalistic, not religious, zeal. He may have wanted to rid his home tribe, Benjamin, of unwanted Amorite survivors. For Saul's ancestral association with Gibeon, see 1 Chr. 9:35–39.

■ 21:3 the inheritance of the LORD. See note on 20:19.

■ 21:6 seven. This number symbolizes completeness, not the number of Gibeonites slain by Saul.

Gibeah of Saul, whom the LORD chose. Some scholars think the text should read "Gibeon—on the mountain of the LORD"; cf. "on the hill before the LORD" in v. 9 and "the great high place" at Gibeon in 1 Kin. 3:4.

■ 21:7 spared Mephibosheth. See note on 9:1; ch. 9.

the LORD's oath . . . between David and Jonathan. See notes on 1 Sam. 18:3; 20:13.

■ 21:8 Mephibosheth. A son of Saul, not to be confused with Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan (4:4).

Rizpah. See vv. 10, 11; 3:7.

Michal . . . Adriel. "Merab" should be read in place of "Michal," as in some Hebrew and also Greek manuscripts (see text note; 1 Sam. 18:19). Adriel's father, Barzillai the Meholathite, is not to be confused with the Gileadite of the same name (17:27; 19:31; 1 Kin. 2:7).

■ 21:9 in the beginning of barley harvest. That is, in April.

■ 21:10 she did not allow the birds of the air to rest on them. It was considered a disgrace when the bodies of the slain were allowed to become carrion for birds and beasts (Deut. 28:26; 1 Sam. 17:44, 46; Ps. 79:2; Is. 18:6; Jer. 7:33; 16:4). Rizpah guarded the bodies until they could be buried (vv. 11–14).

■ 21:11–14 David is prompted by Rizpah's vigil to gather the bones of the recently slain (so the Septuagint Greek translation of v. 13) and of Saul and Jonathan as well, and to give them a proper burial in the tomb of Kish, Saul's father.

■ 21:14 God heeded the prayer for the land. An almost identical statement occurs in 24:25 after the lifting of the plague brought on by David's census.

Philistine Giants Destroyed

15 When the Philistines were at war again with Israel, David and his servants with him went down and fought against the Philistines; and David grew faint. 16 Then Ishbi-Benob, who was one of the sons of [5]the [r]giant, the weight of whose bronze spear was three hundred shekels, who was bearing a new sword, thought he could kill David. 17 But [s]Abishai the son of Zeruiah came to his aid, and struck the Philistine and killed him. Then the men of David swore to him, saying, [t]"You shall go out no more with us to battle, lest you quench the [u]lamp of Israel."

18 [v]Now it happened afterward that there was again a battle with the Philistines at Gob. Then [w]Sibbechai the Hushathite killed [6]Saph, who was one of the sons of [7]the giant. 19 Again there was war at Gob with the Philistines, where [x]Elhanan the son of [8]Jaare-Oregim the Bethlehemite killed [y]the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.

20 Yet again [z]there was war at Gath, where there was a man of great stature, who had six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number; and he also was born to [9]the giant. 21 So when he [a]defied Israel, Jonathan the son of [1]Shimea, David's brother, killed him.

22 [b]These four were born to [2]the giant in Gath, and fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

Praise for God's Deliverance

22 Then David [a]spoke to the LORD the words of this song, on the day when the LORD had [b]delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul. 2 And he [c]said:

[d]"The LORD is my rock and my [e]fortress and my deliverer;
3 The God of my strength, [f]in whom I will trust;
My [g]shield and the [h]horn[1] of my salvation,
My [i]stronghold and my [j]refuge;
My Savior, You save me from violence.
4 I will call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised;
So shall I be saved from my enemies.

5 "When the waves of death surrounded me,
The floods of ungodliness [2]made me afraid.
6 The [k]sorrows of Sheol surrounded me;
The snares of death confronted me.

6 [k]Ps. 116:3

■ 21:15–22 These verses describe briefly the defeat of four Philistine champions at the hands of David and his men. While it is difficult to locate these events chronologically with any precision, their literary placement provides a fitting preface to David's song of praise (ch. 22).

■ 21:16 sons of the giant. "Rapha" (see text note) is probably best understood as a collective noun for the Rephaim, pre-Israelite inhabitants of the land of Canaan (Gen. 14:5; 15:20) noted for their gigantic size (Deut. 2:20; 3:11; Josh. 17:15). The term "Rephaim" is sometimes applied to such peoples as the Emim, Zamzummim, and Anakim (Deut. 2:10, 11, 20, 21), all distinguished for their size and strength. According to Josh. 11:21, 22, the Anakim were driven from the hill country of Israel and Judah by Joshua, but remained in the Philistine cities of Gaza, Gath, and Ashdod.

three hundred shekels. That is, just over seven pounds. Goliath's spearhead had weighed twice as much (1 Sam. 17:7).

■ 21:17 Abishai. See note on 2:18.

lamp of Israel. This metaphor expresses the belief that Israel's hope and promise of blessing resided in David and his house (1 Sam. 3:3 note).

■ 21:18 giant. See note on v. 16.

■ 21:19 Elhanan . . . killed the brother of Goliath. The supplied words "the brother of" are not present in the Hebrew text or in the Septuagint, the early Greek translation of the Old Testament. However, the corresponding verse in 1 Chr. 20:5 does contain the words "brother of." It has been suggested that "Elhanan" is another name for David (as "Jedidah" for Solomon, 2 Sam. 12:24, 25). This would make 2 Sam. say that Elhanan (David) killed Goliath, but it makes 1 Chr. 20:5 difficult, unless Elhanan (David) killed both Goliath and Lahmi. Neither Samuel nor Chronicles supposes that anyone except David killed Goliath, and it remains unclear why they introduce the name Elhanan in two verses.

■ 21:20 giant. See note on v. 16.

■ 21:22 by the hand of David and . . . his servants. David was directly involved in the encounter with Ishbi-Benob (vv. 16, 17).

■ 22:1 this song. David's song of praise (which appears also in Ps. 18, with minor variations), together with the prayer of Hannah, forms a fitting frame for the books of 1 and 2 Samuel (1 Sam. 2:1–10 note). This song focuses on the Lord's deliverance of David. It may be outlined as follows: introductory praise of God as "Savior" (vv. 2–4); the psalmist's distress (vv. 5, 6); the psalmist's petition (v. 7); the Lord's response in cosmic demonstration (vv. 8–16) and personal rescue (vv. 17–20); the psalmist's innocence (vv. 21–25) and the Lord's faithfulness (vv. 26–30); the Lord's deliverance (vv. 31–37) and the psalmist's resultant victories (vv. 38–46); concluding praise of God as Savior (vv. 47–51). Ps. 144, also ascribed to David, shows many similarities in theme and language.

all his enemies. See 8:1–14; cf. 5:8; 7:1, 9, 11; 18:32.

from the hand of Saul. See 12:7; 1 Sam. 18—31 (especially 18:9–11; 19:2, 10–11, 15–16).

■ 22:2 rock. See also vv. 32, 47; note on 1 Sam. 2:2.

■ 22:3 horn. See notes on 1 Sam. 2:1, 10.

■ 22:5 waves . . . floods. See v. 17. The image of overflowing water recurs frequently in Old Testament poetry as a symbol of distress and destruction (Ps. 32:6; 69:1, 2, 14; 144:7; Is. 43:2; Jon. 2:5).

7 In my distress [l]I called upon the LORD,
And cried out to my God;
He [m]heard my voice from His temple,
And my cry entered His ears.

8 "Then [n]the earth shook and trembled;
[o]The foundations of [3]heaven quaked and were shaken,
Because He was angry.
9 Smoke went up from His nostrils,
And devouring [p]fire from His mouth;
Coals were kindled by it.
10 He [q]bowed the heavens also, and came down
With [r]darkness under His feet.
11 He rode upon a cherub, and flew;
And He [4]was seen [s]upon the wings of the wind.
12 He made [t]darkness canopies around Him,
Dark waters and thick clouds of the skies.
13 From the brightness before Him
Coals of fire were kindled.

14 "The LORD [u]thundered from heaven,
And the Most High uttered His voice.
15 He sent out [v]arrows and scattered them;
Lightning bolts, and He vanquished them.
16 Then the channels of the sea [w]were seen,
The foundations of the world were uncovered,
At the [x]rebuke of the LORD,
At the blast of the breath of His nostrils.

17 "He[y] sent from above, He took me,
He drew me out of many waters.
18 He delivered me from my strong enemy,
From those who hated me;
For they were too strong for me.
19 They confronted me in the day of my calamity,
But the LORD was my [z]support.
20 [a]He also brought me out into a broad place;
He delivered me because He [b]delighted in me.

21 "The[c] LORD rewarded me according to my righteousness;
According to the [d]cleanness of my hands
He has recompensed me.
22 For I have [e]kept the ways of the LORD,
And have not wickedly departed from my God.
23 For all His [f]judgments were before me;
And as for His statutes, I did not depart from them.
24 I was also [g]blameless before Him,
And I kept myself from my iniquity.

■ 22:7 In my distress. Being in a narrow or tightly confined space is a common figure for distress. In v. 20 (note) relief is described as being brought into a "broad place."

from His temple. This probably means God's heavenly sanctuary (1 Kin. 8:27, 38–39; Ps. 11:4; Is. 6:1; Jon. 2:7; Rev. 11:19; 14:17; 15:5).

■ 22:9 Smoke went up from His nostrils. Compare the imagery used to describe the awesome power of Leviathan in Job 41:18–21.

■ 22:11 rode upon a cherub, and flew. See Ex. 25:17–22; Num. 7:89; Ezek. 10:19; 11:22.

■ 22:14 The LORD thundered. See 1 Sam. 2:10; 7:10. The Lord's voice is often likened to thunder (Job 37:4, 5; 40:9; Ps. 29:3; Is. 33:3).

Most High. See Gen. 14:19 and notes.

■ 22:15 He sent out arrows. For similar imagery, see Deut. 32:23, 42; Job 6:4; Ps. 64:7. Lightning is sometimes described as the Lord's arrows (Ps. 77:17; cf. Hab. 3:11; Zech. 9:14).

■ 22:17 many waters. See v. 5 note.

■ 22:20 broad place. See v. 7 note.

■ 22:21–25 David is not laying claim to righteousness or sinlessness in any absolute sense. Rather he asserts his blamelessness with respect to his enemies and his confidence that the Lord rewards those who seek to be faithful to Him (v. 26; 1 Sam. 26:23). If this were not the case, David would surely be classed among "the haughty" (v. 28).

25 Therefore [h]the LORD has [5]recompensed me according to my righteousness,
According to [6]my cleanness in His eyes.

26 "With [i]the merciful You will show Yourself merciful;
With a blameless man You will show Yourself blameless;
27 With the pure You will show Yourself pure;
And [j]with the devious You will show Yourself shrewd.
28 You will save the [k]humble[7] people;
But Your eyes are on [l]the haughty, that You may bring them down.

29 "For You are my [m]lamp, O LORD;
The LORD shall enlighten my darkness.
30 For by You I can run against a troop;
By my God I can leap over a [n]wall.
31 As for God, [o]His way is perfect;
[p]The word of the LORD is proven;
He is a shield to all who trust in Him.

32 "For [q]who is God, except the LORD?
And who is a rock, except our God?
33 [8]God is my [r]strength and power,
And He [s]makes [9]my way [t]perfect.
34 He makes [l]my feet [u]like the feet of deer,
And [v]sets me on my high places.
35 He teaches my hands [2]to make war,
So that my arms can bend a bow of bronze.

36 "You have also given me the shield of Your salvation;
Your gentleness has made me great.
37 You [w]enlarged my path under me;
So my feet did not slip.

38 "I have pursued my enemies and destroyed them;
Neither did I turn back again till they were destroyed.
39 And I have destroyed them and wounded them,
So that they could not rise;
They have fallen [x]under my feet.
40 For You have [y]armed me with strength for the battle;
You have [3]subdued under me [z]those who rose against me.
41 You have also [4]given me the [a]necks of my enemies,
So that I destroyed those who hated me.
42 They looked, but there was none to save;
Even [b]to the LORD, but He did not answer them.
43 Then I beat them as fine [c]as the dust of the earth;
I trod them [d]like dirt in the streets,
And I [5]spread them out.

44 "You[e] have also delivered me from the [6]strivings of my people;
You have kept me as the [f]head of the nations.
[g]A people I have not known shall serve me.
45 The foreigners submit to me;

■ 22:27 shrewd. Lit. "And with the twisted you will deal tortuously." In the economy of God's justice, those who take "twisted" paths will find the way "tortuous" (Is. 59:8).

■ 22:28 humble . . . haughty. See the theme of divine reversal of fortunes in Hannah's prayer (1 Sam. 2:1–10 and note; especially v. 7).

■ 22:29 my lamp. Cf. notes on 21:17; 1 Sam. 3:3.

■ 22:32 rock. See v. 2 and note.

■ 22:44 my people. This is possibly a reference to the many perils that David experienced at the hands of Saul, Absalom, and others. The corresponding verse in Ps. 18:43 reads simply "the people," as does the Septuagint (Greek Old Testament translation) of this verse.

As soon as they hear, they obey me.
46 The foreigners fade away,
And [7]come frightened [h]from their hideouts.

47 "The LORD lives!
Blessed be my Rock!
Let God be exalted,
The [i]Rock of my salvation!
48 It is God who avenges me,
And [j]subdues the peoples under me;
49 He delivers me from my enemies.
You also lift me up above those who rise against me;
You have delivered me from the [k]violent man.
50 Therefore I will give thanks to You, O LORD, among [l]the Gentiles,
And sing praises to Your [m]name.

And shows mercy to His [o]anointed,
To David and [p]his descendants forevermore."

David's Last Words

23 Now these are the last words of David.

Thus says David the son of Jesse;
Thus says [a]the man raised up on high,
[b]The anointed of the God of Jacob,
And the sweet psalmist of Israel:

2 "The[c] Spirit of the LORD spoke by me,
And His word was on my tongue.
3 The God of Israel said,
[d]The Rock of Israel spoke to me:
'He who rules over men must be just,
Ruling [e]in the fear of God.
4 And [f]he shall be like the light of the morning when the sun rises,
A morning without clouds,
Like the tender grass springing out of the earth,
By clear shining after rain.'

5 "Although my house is not so with God,
[g]Yet He has made with me an everlasting covenant,
Ordered in all things and secure.
For this is all my salvation and all my desire;
Will He not make it increase?

■ 22:51 His king . . . anointed. The mention of the Lord's "king" and His "anointed" is reminiscent of the closing verse of Hannah's prayer in 1 Sam. 2:10. After the dynastic promise of 2 Sam. 7:5–16, David can speak confidently of God's unfailing mercy to his descendants forever. The dynastic theme is the transition to ch. 23, where David celebrates the "everlasting covenant" he has with the Lord (23:5).

■ 23:1 last words. That is, his last poem. See 1 Kin. 2:1–10 for David's final instructions to Solomon.

says. Or "utterance" (cf. Num. 24:3, 4). The Hebrew word is often, though not exclusively, associated with prophecy (e.g., 1 Sam. 2:30; 2 Kin. 9:26), an association not inappropriate for David (v. 2 and note; Acts 2:30).

the sweet psalmist of Israel. Another translation of the Hebrew is "the beloved of Israel's Protector."

■ 23:2–4 The Lord revealed to David the essential character and glorious benefits of the ideal theocratic king. Only in the Christ, the greater Son of David, will such qualities of character be fully displayed and such benefits fully realized (7:4–17 note).

■ 23:2 The Spirit of the LORD spoke by me. Other references to David acting or speaking under divine inspiration include 1 Chr. 28:11, 12; Matt. 22:43; Acts 1:16; 4:25. David's empowerment by the Spirit is recounted in 1 Sam. 16:13.

■ 23:3 Rock. See v. 32; notes on 22:2; 1 Sam. 2:2.

just. Righteous rule is possible only for one who lives in a right relationship with God. On what it means to "fear" God, see 1 Sam. 12:14 note.

■ 23:4 light of the morning . . . shining after rain. The benefits of righteous rule are enlightenment, fruitfulness, and refreshment. For a fuller development of similar themes, see Ps. 72.

■ 23:5 Although my house is not so with God. David's confidence rests not in his own righteousness but in the everlasting covenant made with him by a gracious God (7:11–16; 2 Chr. 13:5; 21:7; Ps. 89:3, 4, 28, 29; Is. 55:3; Ezek. 37:25, 26).

But the sons of rebellion shall all be as thorns thrust away,
Because they cannot be taken with hands.
7 But the man who touches them
Must be [1]armed with iron and the shaft of a spear,
And they shall be utterly burned with fire in their place."

David's Mighty Men

8 These are the names of the mighty men whom David had: [2]Josheb-Basshebeth the Tachmonite, chief among [3]the captains. He was called Adino the Eznite, because he had killed eight hundred men at one time. 9 And after him was [h]Eleazar the son of [4]Dodo, the Ahohite, one of the three mighty men with David when they defied the Philistines who were gathered there for battle, and the men of Israel had retreated. 10 He arose and attacked the Philistines until his hand was [i]weary, and his hand stuck to the sword. The LORD brought about a great victory that day; and the people returned after him only to [j]plunder. 11 And after him was [k]Shammah the son of Agee the Hararite. [l]The Philistines had gathered together into a troop where there was a piece of ground full of lentils. So the people fled from the Philistines. 12 But he stationed himself in the middle of the field, defended it, and killed the Philistines. So the LORD brought about a great victory.

13 Then [m]three of the thirty chief men went down at harvest time and came to David at [n]the cave of Adullam. And the troop of Philistines encamped in [o]the Valley of Rephaim. 14 David was then in [p]the stronghold, and the garrison of the Philistines was then in Bethlehem. 15 And David said with longing, "Oh, that someone would give me a drink of the water from the well of Bethlehem, which is by the gate!" 16 So the three mighty men broke through the camp of the Philistines, drew water from the well of Bethlehem that was by the gate, and took it and brought it to David. Nevertheless he would not drink it, but poured it out to the LORD. 17 And he said, "Far be it from me, O LORD, that I should do this! Is this not [q]the blood of the men who went in jeopardy of their lives?" Therefore he would not drink it.

These things were done by the three mighty men.

18 Now [r]Abishai the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was chief of [5]another three. He lifted his spear against three hundred men, killed them, and won a name among these three. 19 Was he not the most honored of three? Therefore he became their captain. However, he did not attain to the first three.

20 Benaiah was the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man from [s]Kabzeel, [6]who had done many deeds. [t]He had killed two lion-like heroes of Moab. He also had gone down and killed a lion in the midst of a pit on a snowy day. 21 And he killed an Egyptian, [7]a spectacular man. The Egyptian had a spear in his hand; so he went down to him with a staff, wrested the spear out of the Egyptian's hand, and killed him with his own spear. 22 These things Benaiah the son of Jehoiada did, and won a name among three mighty men. 23 He was more honored than the thirty, but he did not attain to the first three. And David appointed him [u]over his guard.

24 [v]Asahel the brother of Joab was one of the thirty; Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem, 25 [w]Shammah the Harodite, Elika the Harodite, 26 Helez the Paltite, Ira the son of Ikkesh the

■ 23:6 sons of rebellion. The Hebrew term is "Belial"; see note on 1 Sam. 2:12. The focus here may be on those who had opposed the rule of David.

■ 23:8–39 The presentation of David's "mighty men" in these verses forms a counterpart to the much shorter description of Davidic champions in 21:15–22. According to v. 39, the warriors listed should total thirty-seven. They are presented in two sets of three (vv. 8–12 and 13–17), plus Abishai (vv. 18, 19), Benaiah (vv. 20–23), and the thirty-one listed in vv. 24–39. However, the "three" of vv. 13–17 are apparently to be counted among "the thirty" (v. 13; v. 24 note) and not separately. Thus, this list would contain thirty-six mighty men, and Joab would make thirty-seven. A similar list is given in 1 Chr. 11:10–47 with more than fifteen additional names and no summary total.

■ 23:8 eight hundred. 1 Chr. 11:11 has "three hundred," probably a copyist's error.

■ 23:10 The LORD brought about a great victory that day. This statement, repeated in v. 12, serves as a reminder that, whatever the heroic qualities of the human agent, it is God who ultimately brings victory (8:6, 14; 1 Sam. 14:15, 23; 19:5).

■ 23:11 ground full of lentils. Destroying crops was a common tactic of war (Judg. 6:3–6, 11).

■ 23:13 Valley of Rephaim. See note on 5:18.

■ 23:14 stronghold. See note on 1 Sam. 23:14.

■ 23:16 poured it out to the LORD. The brave exploit of the three men is a testimony to their devotion to David, while David's refusal to drink (v. 17) what had been procured at such great risk to his loyal followers is testimony to his love for them.

■ 23:18 Abishai. See note on 2:18.

■ 23:20 Benaiah. See note on 8:18.

■ 23:23 guard. David's bodyguard presumably comprised Cherethites and Pelethites (1 Sam. 30:14 note).

■ 23:24 Asahel. See note on 2:18.

the thirty. "Thirty" may be a round number. Not surprisingly, more of David's men are from the tribe of Judah than from any other.

CHAPTER 24

David's Census of Israel and Judah

24 Again [a]the anger of the LORD was aroused against Israel, and He moved David against them to say, [b]"Go, [f]number Israel and Judah."

[2] So the king said to Joab the commander of the army who was with him, "Now go throughout all the tribes of Israel, [c]from Dan to Beersheba, and count the people, that [d]I may know the number of the people."

[3] And Joab said to the king, "Now may the LORD your God [e]add to the people a hundred times more than there are, and may the eyes of my lord the king see it. But why does my lord the king desire this thing?" [4] Nevertheless the king's word [2]prevailed against Joab and against the captains of the army. Therefore Joab and the captains of the army went out from the presence of the king to count the people of Israel.

[5] And they crossed over the Jordan and camped in [f]Aroer, on the right side of the town which is in the midst of the ravine of Gad, and toward [g]Jazer. [6] Then they came to Gilead and to the land of Tahtim Hodshi; they came to [h]Dan Jaan and around to [i]Sidon; [7] and they came to the stronghold of [j]Tyre and to all the cities of the [k]Hivites and the Canaanites. Then they went out to South Judah as far as Beersheba. [8] So when they had gone through all the land, they came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days. [9] Then Joab gave the sum of the number of the people to the king. [l]And there were in Israel eight hundred thousand valiant men who drew the sword, and the men of Judah were five hundred thousand men.

The Judgment on David's Sin

[10] And [m]David's heart condemned him after he had numbered the people. So [n]David said to the LORD, [o]"I have sinned greatly in what I have done; but now, I pray, O LORD, take away the iniquity of Your servant, for I have [p]done very foolishly."

■ 23:36 Zobah. See note on 8:3.

■ 23:37 Beerothite. See note on 4:3.

■ 23:39 Uriah the Hittite. By concluding the list of David's mighty men with Uriah, the victim of David's great sin in ch. 11, the chapter ends with a poignant reminder that David was, like all men, a sinner and in need of God's forgiveness (ch. 12). This theme is continued in the next chapter.

thirty-seven in all. See note on vv. 8–39.

■ 24:1–25 This chapter is a fitting conclusion to the books of Samuel. David is shown for what he is, a sinner, but a sinner who is ready to repent and to cast himself upon God's mercy (12:13 and note). Another appropriate note is the association of the threshing floor of Araunah (vv. 18–25) with Mount Moriah, the future site of (1 Chr. 22:1; 2 Chr. 3:1; Gen. 22:2).

■ 24:1 Again. If a specific occasion is in view, a probable one is the famine of 21:1.

He moved David. The antecedent of "He" is the Lord (cf. 1 Sam. 26:19). According to 1 Chr. 21:1, however, it was Satan who moved David. At issue here is the mystery of the presence and practice of evil. The Scripture is clear that God is not the author of evil (James 1:13–15), but it also teaches that the wicked acts of men and of Satan do not fall outside God's sovereign determination (Ex. 4:21; 1 Sam. 2:25 and note; 1 Kin. 22:20–23; Job 1:12; Ezek. 14:9; Acts 4:27, 28). Satan is a creature, absolutely subordinate to the sovereignty of God. Satan's activities and desires cannot create a space that is free from God's control or that escapes God's purposes.

number Israel and Judah. Taking a census does not appear to have been wrong in itself (Num. 1:1, 2; 4:1, 2; 26:1–4), but see Ex. 30:11, 12. This act of census may have pointed to a lack of trust in David's heart, or even to a desire to gain control of God's providence by making an inventory of His apparent resources. That the report (v. 9) emphasizes military strength may suggest that David wanted to take more territory than what the Lord had granted him.

■ 24:2 from Dan to Beersheba. A proverbial expression for all the land.

■ 24:3 But why. The reason for Joab's reluctance is not stated. It could as easily have been political as religious, since the people might have taken a census as a sign that David planned to raise taxes or to draft more soldiers.

■ 24:5–7 These verses indicate that the census was begun in the south, east of the Jordan River, and continued in a counterclockwise direction through the the land, finally arriving in Beersheba.

■ 24:8 nine months and twenty days. Most of this time was needed for taking the census; the travel itself could have been accomplished in a matter of weeks.

■ 24:9 in Israel eight hundred thousand . . . Judah were five hundred thousand. 1 Chr. 21:5 has "one million one hundred thousand" and "four hundred and seventy thousand," respectively. On this difference, see notes on 1 Chr. 21:5.

■ 24:10 take away the iniquity. David's plea for forgiveness may have been granted by God before the arrival of Gad (vv. 11–13). Nevertheless, as in the case of David's sin against Uriah and Bathsheba, forgiveness does not mean that sin will have no further consequences (v. 13; 12:13, 14).

11 Now when David arose in the morning, the word of the LORD came to the prophet [q]Gad, David's [r]seer, saying, 12 "Go and tell David, 'Thus says the LORD: "I offer you three things; choose one of them for yourself, that I may do it to you."' " 13 So Gad came to David and told him; and he said to him, "Shall [s]seven[3] years of famine come to you in your land? Or shall you flee three months before your enemies, while they pursue you? Or shall there be three days' plague in your land? Now consider and see what answer I should take back to Him who sent me."

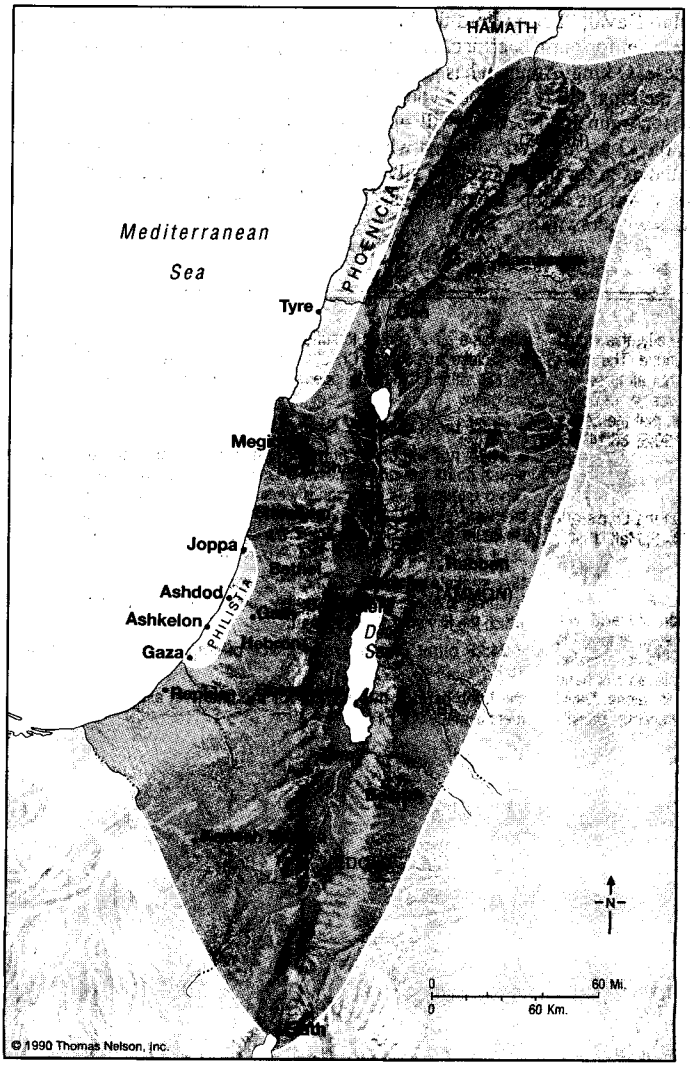
■ 24:12 Go and tell David. The Lord sends Gad to confront David, as He had earlier sent the prophet Nathan (12:1 and note).

■ 24:13 famine . . . enemies . . . plague. Implicit in the threat of pursuit by "enemies" is loss of life by the sword, as 1 Chr. 21:12 makes explicit. Famine, sword, and plague are the Old Testament's triad of woes regularly threatened for obdurate covenant-breaking (Lev. 26:23–26; Deut. 28:21–26; 32:24, 25; 1 Kin. 8:37; 2 Chr. 20:9; Is. 51:19; Jer. 14:12; Ezek. 6:11, 12).



The Davidic Kingdom. The military successes of David led to the unprecedented expansion of the borders of his kingdom. His victories against the Moabites and Edomites to the east and south of Jerusalem greatly expanded and solidified his control of those areas. Repelling frequent attacks from the west, he succeeded in isolating Philistine control to a few coastal cities. Victory against Zobah and the Arameans in the northeast greatly extended his borders in that direction, and the subsequent victory against the Ammonites cemented his control over the central regions. Joab's census, taken prior to David's death, confirms the vast extent of David's kingdom.

14 And David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Please let us fall into the hand of the LORD, [t]for His mercies are great; but [u]do not let me fall into the hand of man."

15 So [v]the LORD sent a plague upon Israel from the morning till the appointed time. From Dan to Beersheba seventy thousand men of the people died. 16 [w]And when the [4]angel stretched out His hand over Jerusalem to destroy it, [x]the LORD relented from the destruction, and said to the [4]angel who was destroying the people, "It is enough; now restrain your hand." And the [4]angel of the LORD was by the threshing floor of [5]Araunah the Jebusite.

17 Then David spoke to the LORD when he saw the angel who was striking the people, and said, "Surely [y]I have sinned, and I have done wickedly; but these sheep, what have they done? Let Your hand, I pray, be against me and against my father's house."

The Altar on the Threshing Floor

18 And Gad came that day to David and said to him, [z]"Go up, erect an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite." 19 So David, according to the word of Gad, went up as the LORD commanded. 20 Now Araunah looked, and saw the king and his servants coming toward him. So Araunah went out and bowed before the king with his face to the ground.

21 Then Araunah said, "Why has my lord the king come to his servant?"

[a]And David said, "To buy the threshing floor from you, to build an altar to the LORD, that [b]the plague may be withdrawn from the people."

22 Now Araunah said to David, "Let my lord the king take and offer up whatever seems good to him. [c]Look, here are oxen for burnt sacrifice, and threshing implements and the yokes of the oxen for wood. 23 All these, O king, Araunah has given to the king."

And Araunah said to the king, "May the LORD your God [d]accept you."

24 Then the king said to Araunah, "No, but I will surely buy it from you for a price; nor will I offer burnt offerings to the LORD my God with that which costs me nothing." So [e]David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver. 25 And David built there an altar to the LORD, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. [f]So the LORD heeded the prayers for the land, and [g]the plague was withdrawn from Israel.

■ 24:14 Let us fall into the hand of the LORD. Technically, this would allow either the first or third option, that is, famine or plague. The inference is sometimes made that David's choice is selfish, but all three options, including flight before enemies, would have cost lives (v. 13 note). David's motivation is entirely different, for he had learned that the Lord's mercy is great (v. 16; cf. Ex. 34:6, 7; Neh. 9:17; Ps. 30:5; 86:14–16; 103:8–10; Is. 54:7, 8; 60:10; Hos. 11:8, 9; Joel 2:13).

■ 24:15 Dan to Beersheba. See v. 2.

■ 24:16 angel of the LORD. See note on Gen. 16:7. On the Lord's angels as agents of judgment, see Ex. 33:2; Ps. 35:5, 6; 78:49; Matt. 13:41; Acts 12:23.

threshing floor of Araunah. See note on 24:1–25.

■ 24:17 Let Your hand . . . be against me. The heart of David, like the heart of God (v. 16), is grieved by the suffering he sees among his people, his "sheep." As their shepherd-king, he is moved to compassion and, not knowing that God in His mercy has already stayed His hand (vv. 16, 21), asks that the hand of judgment fall upon him alone. David deserved punishment for his sin and the people were innocent. David's offer as a guilty person to suffer in the place of innocent "sheep" is not a very close analogy of Christ's death for the sake of His sheep (John 10:11), although the language is similar. Christ was innocent and died for the guilty.

■ 24:22 burnt sacrifice. See note on 1 Sam. 10:8.

■ 24:24 nor will I offer burnt offerings to the LORD my God with that which costs me nothing. While God's grace and forgiveness are free, David understands that proper worship of God is never to be cheap or careless (cf. Mal. 1:6–14; 2 Cor. 8:1–5). The consistent testimony of Scripture is that God deserves our best, the "firstfruits" (Num. 18:12; Deut. 18:3–5; 26:10; Neh. 12:44; Prov. 3:9).

fifty shekels of silver. 1 Chr. 21:25 records a much larger sum of six hundred shekels of gold, possibly referring to a larger transaction of which the fifty shekels was a part.

the LORD heeded the prayers for the land. An almost identical statement is made in 21:14.

The First Book of the KINGS

Author

Jewish tradition held that Jeremiah wrote 1 and 2 Kings and Lamentations as well as the prophecy under his name. The points of view of Joshua, Judges, 1 and 2 Samuel, and 1 and 2 Kings, are very similar, and because they develop the theological ideas expressed in Deuteronomy, they are often called "the Deuteronomic History" by modern authors. But the author of 1 and 2 Kings is not identified in the books themselves, and his identity cannot be known with certainty.

Date and Occasion

Indications are that the books were compiled from historical sources during the time the Jews were exiles in Babylon. Second Kings ends while the last king of Judah, Jehoiachin, is detained in Babylon (2 Kin. 25:27–30). Since there is no mention of the return of the people from exile in 538 B.C., it is probable that the final edition of the work was completed at the midpoint of the Babylonian exile (560–550 B.C.).

Earlier materials are no doubt also present. First, the author clearly had access to a variety of sources, both administrative and prophetic. The names of his sources: "the book of the acts of Solomon" (1 Kin. 11:41), "the chronicles of the kings of Israel" (1 Kin. 14:19), and "the chronicles of the kings of Judah" (1 Kin. 14:29). Probably the author also had access to material recounting the lives and ministries of the prophets. Second, there are a number of statements in 1 and 2 Kings that describe conditions that prevailed before the time of the captivity, and yet say of them that they continue "to this day" (1 Kin. 8:8; 9:20, 21; 12:19; 2 Kin. 8:22). Such statements point to the existence of pre-exilic material that was subsequently included in Kings. Third, the final chapter of 2 Kings is distinguished by a detailed chronology by day, month, and year of events surrounding the final siege of Jerusalem and the destruction of the temple.

Second Kings has a somewhat unusual ending. The book seems to reach its climax with the reign of Josiah (2 Kin. 23:25), but this optimism is clouded by a prophecy of impending judgment (2 Kin. 23:26, 27). Moreover, the narrative stops abruptly with Judah in Babylon, with no theological summary or conclusion. For these reasons, some scholars believe that the main work of writing Kings was done before the time of the Exile. In this theory, the original book of Kings was composed during the reign of King Josiah, and someone living during the Exile updated this history with a brief record of Judah's final years. But whether one holds to this two-edition hypothesis or to a one-edition (exilic) hypothesis, the book has a unified perspective.

Characteristics and Themes

Kings as History. Characteristic of the author is a fondness for recording in detail many features of his nation's past. This genuine interest in the dates, figures, and institutions of the kingdom of Israel appears in his record of preparations for the temple (1 Kin. 5), its dimensions and decoration (1 Kin. 6), and its furniture and vessels (1 Kin. 7:13–51). The writer gives the length of reigns for monarchs in both kingdoms, and he synchronizes their reigns with each other.

The author organizes and presents Israel's experience with kingship in periods in order to provide a clear and meaningful account of his nation's past. Beginning with an evaluation of the united monarchy under Solomon (1 Kin. 1—11), the author carefully depicts its dissolution (1 Kin. 12:1–24) and the formation of two separate entities, Israel in the north and Judah in the south. He goes on to present the separate history of each realm, until the fall of the northern kingdom in 722 B.C. (2 Kin. 17). The alternation between the northern kingdom (usually called Israel) and the southern kingdom (usually called Judah) can be confusing, but it is central to the author's purpose of presenting a unified history of all the Israelite tribes.

In portraying the divided kingdom, the writer points out important differences between the two realms. Kingship in Judah was relatively stable, under the descendants of David, but kingship in Israel was unstable, and there was a succession of dynasties. Twenty kings from nine different families ruled over Israel in the northern kingdom during its existence of about two hundred years. In contrast, twenty kings from one family ruled over the southern kingdom for about three hundred fifty years. The writer concludes his coverage of the northern kingdom with a lengthy commentary on its major shortcomings (2 Kin. 17:7–34).

To consider Kings as no more than history of the monarchy would strip the book of its theological value, since the author is not a dispassionate observer, merely chronicling his nation's past. Nevertheless, the historical value of his work should not be underestimated. In composing a coherent and meaningful account of his nation's past, the biblical writer has provided an invaluable service to anyone who wants to understand this momentous era in Israelite history.

Kings as Theology. Kings is not only a history, but also a work of theology, a reflection on God's ways with His people Israel, whom He had delivered from the "iron furnace" of Egypt to be His own "inheritance" (1 Kin. 8:51–53). In composing a work of theological history, the writer takes lessons from the past to serve his people in the present and future. There are a number of central themes that inform his overall point of view and his evaluation of the monarchy.

1. The People as God's Elect. Israel was not in itself better than any of the other nations. Israel did not first choose God; rather, God "separated them from among all the peoples of the earth" according to His unfathomable grace (1 Kin. 8:53). Holiness results not from any intrinsic merit, but from God's election (Deut. 7:6; 26:18, 19).

Kings emphasizes the solidarity of Israel. The writer is concerned for all the tribes of Israel. Although he severely criticizes the northern kingdom and its monarchs because of their cultic apostasy, the writer still considers these tribes to be part of Israel, and he shows sustained interest in them. Even after the northern tribes are exiled by the Assyrians, the author does not forget them. He both documents and commends Josiah's reforms in Samaria (2 Kin. 23:15–20).

2. "My Servants the Prophets." Prophets play a major role during the Israelite monarchy. In writing about the prophets, the author is interested in their ministry as bearers of God's Word. The prophets passionately insist on undivided allegiance to the Lord, opposing any alliance or political posture that might jeopardize the distinctiveness of Israelite religion. Not surprisingly, this strict adherence to the covenant often pits the prophets against kings and queens who were willing to compromise in politics and religion with Israel's neighbors. Although the writer gives most of his attention to Elijah and Elisha, he mentions many other prophets: Nathan (1 Kin. 1:22), Ahijah (1 Kin. 11:29–39; 14:1–18), Shemaiah (1 Kin. 12:21–24), Micaiah (1 Kin. 22:8–28); Jonah (2 Kin. 14:25); Isaiah (2 Kin. 19:1–7, 20:14), and Huldah (2 Kin. 22:14–20).

3. One God, One Sanctuary. Yahweh is Lord of the cosmos and ruler over the kingdoms of the earth (2 Kin. 19:15). God leads His people into battle, answers their prayers, honors their sacrifices, and displays a special concern for the poor and oppressed. Undivided devotion to God is a hallmark of the covenant (1 Kin. 18:21, 39).

Related to the existence of the one supreme God is the author's contention that there can be only one central sanctuary (Deut. 12). The construction of the temple by Solomon is a major event in Israelite history. Accordingly, great attention is given in 1 Kings to the preparations for and construction of this edifice, including detailed descriptions of its dimensions and furnishings.

Consistent with this emphasis on one God and one temple is the prohibition of worshiping other gods or worshiping at other cult sites. As the books of Kings depict the deterioration in devotion toward God during the course of the divided kingdom, the problem is not so much a wholesale abandonment of Yahweh for other gods, but combining worship of Yahweh with worship of foreign gods. The influence of Canaanite worship was especially strong in northern Israel which, with the sponsorship of its monarchs, used Canaanite rituals, beliefs, and cult objects. This type of religious syncretism also affected Judah. The writer cites the worship of other gods as a major reason for the defeat and exile of both Israel and Judah (2 Kin. 17:7, 16, 19; 21:3–5).

4. Covenant and Kingship. Both the Mosaic and the Davidic covenants figure prominently in Kings. The writer evaluates the conduct of king and people alike on the basis of the covenant established at Mount Sinai.

Viewing the relationship between God and Israel as a covenant means that every human institution is subject to the authority of God. Thus, although the monarchy is God-ordained, its power is by no means absolute. King and people alike are responsible for remaining faithful to their covenant with God. Each king is evaluated according to whether he kept the Torah (or Law).

The author gives particular attention to loyalty toward God as manifested by justice and unwavering support of the temple in Jerusalem. Of the eight southern kings who receive positive estimations, only Hezekiah and Josiah are singled out for their devotion to Yahweh (2 Kin. 18:5; 23:25). Hezekiah is esteemed for removing the high places in Judah and for his unwavering trust in God during Sennacherib's invasion (2 Kin. 18:3–7). The author bestows high honor on Josiah for refurbishing the temple and carrying out sweeping reforms in both Judah and Samaria (2 Kin. 22:2; 23:25). Because Jehu purged Israel of Baal worship, he is the only one of the northern kings to receive a commendation (2 Kin. 10:30).

Chronology. The Book of Kings is filled with chronological data. The author dates the building of the temple 480 years after the Exodus (1 Kin. 6:1). He provides figures for the length of David's and Solomon's reigns, and he gives explicit information on the reigns of all of Judah's and Israel's kings. During the period of the divided kingdom, the author synchronizes the start of each king's reign with the regnal year of the king in the other kingdom. The author also lists the king's age upon accession and the name of his mother for the Judean kings.

Coordinating this data with Assyrian, Babylonian, and other extrabiblical records is a challenging task, since knowing how long a given king reigned does not establish precisely when he reigned. The dates of the fall of Israel and the fall of Judah are known with some certainty, and other major dates can be calculated from them. One scheme is as follows:

970 B.C.	End of David's Reign
970–930 B.C.	Solomon's Reign
930 B.C.	Division of the Kingdom
722 B.C.	Fall of Israel
586 B.C.	Fall of Judah

Title The books of Kings concern the history and demise of the monarchy in Israel from the last days of David (970 B.C.) to the exile in Babylon almost four centuries later (586 B.C.). The two books comprise one unit within a larger group of books—Joshua, Judges, 1 and 2 Samuel, and 1 and 2 Kings—traditionally called the "former prophets" and more recently known as the Deuteronomistic (or Deuteronomic) History. These books are a continuous narrative, and it is helpful to recognize their essential unity.

The two books of Kings were originally one book. In the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the Old Testament), the Vulgate (the Latin translation), and most other versions, the work is divided in two. This division was for convenience of copying or publication and was not based on content. The reigns of Ahaziah (1 Kin. 22:51–53; 2 Kin. 1) and Jehoshaphat (1 Kin. 22:41–50; 2 Kin. 3) overlap both books. In the same way the prophetic ministry of Elijah appears in both volumes (1 Kin. 17—19 and 2 Kin. 1; 2). □

Adonijah Presumes to Be King

NOW King David was [a]old, [1]advanced in years; and they put covers on him, but he could not get warm. [2] Therefore his servants said to him, "Let a young woman, a virgin, be sought for our lord the king, and let her [2]stand before the king, and let her care for him; and let her lie in your bosom, that our lord the king may be warm." [3] So they sought for a lovely young woman throughout all the territory of Israel, and found [b]Abishag the [c]Shunammite, and brought her to the king. [4] The young woman was very lovely; and she cared for the king, and served him; but the king did not know her.

[5] Then [d]Adonijah the [3]son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, "I will [4]be king"; and [e]he prepared for himself chariots and horsemen, and fifty men to run before him. [6] (And his father had not [5]rebuked him at any time by saying, "Why have you done so?" He was also very good-looking. [f]His mother had borne him after Absalom.) [7] Then he conferred with [g]Joab the son of Zeruiah and with [h]Abiathar the priest, and [i]they followed and helped Adonijah. [8] But [j]Zadok the priest, [k]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, [l]Nathan the prophet, [m]Shimei, Rei, and [n]the mighty men who belonged to David were not with Adonijah.

[9] And Adonijah sacrificed sheep and oxen and fattened cattle by the stone of [6]Zoheleth, which is by [o]En Rogel;[7] he also invited all his brothers, the king's sons, and all the men of Judah, the king's servants. [10] But he did not invite Nathan the prophet, Benaiah, the mighty men, or [p]Solomon his brother.

■ 1:1—2:11 Solomon succeeds David as king in spite of political turmoil and intrigue by Adonijah, Abiathar, Joab, and Shimei.

■ 1:1 old, advanced in years. As 1 Kings begins, David is about seventy years old (2 Sam. 5:4; 1 Kin. 2:11).

■ 1:3 Abishag the Shunammite. Shunem was sixteen miles southwest of the Sea of Chinneroth (Galilee), near Mount Gilboa (Josh. 19:18; 1 Sam. 28:4; 2 Kin. 4:8).

■ 1:4 the king did not know her. Since David did not have sexual relations with Abishag, Adonijah's later request to marry her (2:17) was not against the law of Deut. 22:30.

■ 1:5 Adonijah. Probably the oldest living son of David (2 Sam. 3:2–5; 13:28; 18:14). As such, he may have thought he would succeed his father. At this time, however, there was no custom or law dictating who would be David's successor, other than his own decision (vv. 13, 17, 20, 30).

chariots and horsemen. Like Absalom before him (2 Sam. 15:1), Adonijah signals his ambitions and positions himself to take the throne.

■ 1:6 had not rebuked. As in dealing with his other rebellious sons, David made no attempt either to question or discipline Adonijah. But his patience and forgiveness only seemed to invite further rebellion (2 Sam. 13:32, 39; 14:33; 18:5).

very good-looking. Handsome features were an asset for someone aspiring to the throne (1 Sam. 9:2; 16:12; 2 Sam. 14:25, 26).

■ 1:7 Joab the son of Zeruiah. Joab was the commander of the army of Israel and one of David's longstanding supporters (2 Sam. 2:13; 8:16; 18:2; 20:10, 23). His relationship with David was strained by his harsh actions in putting down rebellions (2 Sam. 18:5; 19:5–8, 13; 1 Kin. 2:5, 6).

Abiathar the priest. He and Zadok were the two high priests appointed by David (1 Sam. 22:20–22; 2 Sam. 8:17 note).

■ 1:8 Benaiah the son of Jehoiada. Benaiah was the commander of the Cherethites and Pelethites, mercenary forces who functioned in large measure as David's royal guard (2 Sam. 8:18; 20:7; 23:20; 1 Chr. 18:17).

Nathan the prophet. The most prominent prophet during David's reign (2 Sam. 7:1–17; 12:1–15).

Shimei. A different man than the one referred to in 2 Sam. 16:5–8; 1 Kin. 2:8, 36–46. Perhaps this person is the "Shimei the son of Elah" who was one of Solomon's governors (4:18).

mighty men. See 2 Sam. 23:8–39.

■ 1:9 sacrificed. Again, Adonijah follows the example of Absalom (2 Sam. 15:7–12; 1:5 note).

En Rogel. This spring was located south of the city. Because of their importance to the city, springs were considered to be an appropriate place for such activity (v. 33; cf. 2 Sam. 17:17).

11 Then Nathan spoke to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon, saying, "Have you not heard that Adonijah the son of [q]Haggith has become king, and David our lord does not know it? 12 Come, please, let me now give you advice, that you may save your own life and the life of your son Solomon. 13 Go immediately to King David and say to him, 'Did you not, my lord, O king, swear to your maidservant, saying, [r]"Assuredly your son Solomon shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne"? Why then has Adonijah become king?' 14 Then, while you are still talking there with the king, I also will come in after you and confirm your words."

15 So Bathsheba went into the chamber to the king. (Now the king was very old, and Abishag the Shunammite was serving the king.) 16 And Bathsheba bowed and did homage to the king. Then the king said, "What is your wish?"

17 Then she said to him, "My lord, [s]you swore by the LORD your God to your maidservant, saying, 'Assuredly Solomon your son shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne.' 18 So now, look! Adonijah has become king; and now, my lord the king, you do not know about it. 19 [t]He has sacrificed oxen and fattened cattle and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the sons of the king, Abiathar the priest, and Joab the commander of the army; but Solomon your servant he has not invited. 20 And as for you, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Israel are on you, that you should tell them who will sit on the throne of my lord the king after him. 21 Otherwise it will happen, when my lord the king [u]rests with his fathers, that I and my son Solomon will be counted as offenders."

22 And just then, while she was still talking with the king, Nathan the prophet also came in. 23 So they told the king, saying, "Here is Nathan the prophet." And when he came in before the king, he bowed down before the king with his face to the ground. 24 And Nathan said, "My lord, O king, have you said, 'Adonijah shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne'? 25 [v]For he has gone down today, and has sacrificed oxen and fattened cattle and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the king's sons, and the commanders of the army, and Abiathar the priest; and look! They are eating and drinking before him; and they say, [w]'Long[g] live King Adonijah!' 26 But he has not invited me—me your servant—nor Zadok the priest, nor Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, nor your servant Solomon. 27 Has this thing been done by my lord the king, and you have not told your servant who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?"

David Proclaims Solomon King

28 Then King David answered and said, "Call Bathsheba to me." So she came into the king's presence and stood before the king. 29 And the king took an oath and said, [x]"As the LORD lives, who has redeemed my life from every distress, 30 [y]just as I swore to you by the LORD God of Israel, saying, 'Assuredly Solomon your son shall be king after me, and he shall sit on my throne in my place,' so I certainly will do this day."

31 Then Bathsheba bowed with her face to the earth, and paid homage to the king, and said, [z]"Let my lord King David live forever!"

32 And King David said, "Call to me Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada." So they came before the king. 33 The king also said to them, [a]"Take with you the servants of your lord, and have Solomon my son ride on my own [b]mule, and take him down

■ 1:11 Bathsheba the mother of Solomon. Queen mothers could play an influential role in the affairs of state (2:19; 15:13; 2 Kin. 10:13). As Solomon's mother, Bathsheba had a major interest in seeing that Adonijah was thwarted in his plans to become king.

■ 1:12 save your own life and the life of your son. Since contenders for the throne in the ancient Near East sometimes sought to consolidate their own positions by eliminating all potential rivals, Nathan's advice conveys a sense of urgency (cf. 15:29; 2 Kin. 10:11; 11:1).

■ 1:13 Why then has Adonijah become king. Nathan's advice plays on the ambiguity and instability inherent during a coup attempt. Actually David is still king, but Nathan's words underscore the fact that Adonijah has also publicly claimed this status (vv. 5, 9). By having both Bathsheba and himself speak with David, Nathan underscores the gravity of the situation to the "very old" king (v. 15).

■ 1:17 you swore. In ancient Israel an oath taken in the Lord's name constituted a sacred obligation and, as such, was considered inviolable (Ex. 20:7; Lev. 19:12; Josh. 9:15, 18, 20; Judg. 11:30, 35; Eccl. 5:4–7).

■ 1:20 tell them who will sit on the throne. Only a public declaration that Solomon will succeed David as king will suffice to turn back Adonijah's revolt.

■ 1:24–27 have you said. Nathan incisively attacks the issue. Either David has privately affirmed Adonijah as heir apparent (and hence Nathan, Zadok, and Benaiah have been shunned), or David has not done so (and hence Adonijah has rebelled against his own father).

■ 1:30 Solomon your son shall be king after me. Solomon will be the "seed" through whom God will fulfill His promise of establishing "the throne of his kingdom forever" (2 Sam. 7:12, 13).

■ 1:33 Solomon . . . on my own mule. Mules and donkeys were used as mounts of royalty (Judg. 10:4; 2 Sam. 13:29; 18:9; Zech. 9:9). David is therefore making a public declaration that Solomon is the heir.

Gihon. The Gihon spring, located about one-half mile north of En Rogel (v. 9), was a major supply of water for Jerusalem (2 Chr. 32:30; 33:14). Due to topography, En Rogel is not visible from Gihon; however, the two are within earshot (v. 41).

to [c]Gihon.[g] 34 There let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet [d]anoint him king over Israel; and [e]blow the horn, and say, [1]'Long live King Solomon!' 35 Then you shall come up after him, and he shall come and sit on my throne, and he shall be king in my place. For I have appointed him to be ruler over Israel and Judah."

36 Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king and said, [f]"Amen! May the LORD God of my lord the king say so too. 37 [g]As the LORD has been with my lord the king, even so may He be with Solomon, and [h]make his throne greater than the throne of my lord King David."

38 So Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, [i]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the [j]Cherethites, and the Pelethites went down and had Solomon ride on King David's mule, and took him to Gihon. 39 Then Zadok the priest took a horn of [k]oil from the tabernacle and [l]anointed Solomon. And they blew the horn, [m]and all the people said, [2]"Long live King Solomon!" 40 And all the people went up after him; and the people played the flutes and rejoiced with great joy, so that the earth seemed to split with their sound.

41 Now Adonijah and all the guests who were with him heard it as they finished eating. And when Joab heard the sound of the horn, he said, "Why is the city in such a noisy uproar?" 42 While he was still speaking, there came [n]Jonathan, the son of Abiathar the priest. And Adonijah said to him, "Come in, for [o]you are a prominent man, and bring good news."

43 Then Jonathan answered and said to Adonijah, "No! Our lord King David has made Solomon king. 44 The king has sent with him Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the Cherethites, and the Pelethites; and they have made him ride on the king's mule. 45 So Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king at Gihon; and they have gone up from there rejoicing, so that the city is in an uproar. This is the noise that you have heard. 46 Also Solomon [p]sits on the throne of the kingdom. 47 And moreover the king's servants have gone to bless our lord King David, saying, [q]'May God make the name of Solomon better than your name, and may He make his throne greater than your throne.' [r]Then the king bowed himself on the bed. 48 Also the king said thus, 'Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, who has [s]given one to sit on my throne this day, while my eyes see [t]it!' "

49 So all the guests who were with Adonijah were afraid, and arose, and each one went his way.

50 Now Adonijah was afraid of Solomon; so he arose, and went and [u]took hold of the horns of the altar. 51 And it was told Solomon, saying, "Indeed Adonijah is afraid of King Solomon; for look, he has taken hold of the horns of the altar, saying, 'Let King Solomon swear to me today that he will not put his servant to death with the sword.' "

52 Then Solomon said, "If he proves himself a worthy man, [v]not one hair of him shall fall to the earth; but if wickedness is found in him, he shall die." 53 So King Solomon sent them to bring him down from the altar. And he came and fell down before King Solomon; and Solomon said to him, "Go to your house."

David's Instructions to Solomon

2 Now [a]the days of David drew near that he should die, and he [1]charged Solomon his son, saying: 2 [b]"I go the way of all the earth; [c]be strong, therefore, and prove yourself a man.

1 [a]Gen. 47:29 [1]commanded

2 [b]Josh. 23:14 [c]Deut. 31:7, 23

■ 1:34 anoint him king over Israel. Priests (Ex. 28:41; 29:4–9; Lev. 4:3, 5, 16), kings (1 Sam. 2:10; 9:16; 10:1), and occasionally prophets (1 Kin. 19:16), were anointed in ancient Israel. The Hebrew for "anointed" became a technical term for the Lord's anointed, usually with royal connotations. The title is usually transliterated "messiah." The Greek word for "anointed" is Christos (English "Christ," Matt. 1:17). Although Solomon received God's promises to David, those promises were fully realized only with the coming of Jesus Christ.

blow the horn, and say, 'Long live King Solomon!' A public celebration of Solomon's new status as crown prince (cf. 1 Sam. 10:24; 2 Sam. 15:10; 16:16; 2 Kin. 9:13; 11:12).

■ 1:35 Israel and Judah. Although made up of twelve tribes, the nation was composed of two major units, Israel in the north and Judah in the south. When David became king, he had to command assent from both Judah (2 Sam. 2:4) and Israel (2 Sam. 5:3). As heir to the Davidic dynasty, Solomon became king of both areas at once.

■ 1:38 Cherethites, and the Pelethites. See note on v. 8.

■ 1:39 Zadok the priest. In ancient Israel both priests and prophets could officiate at the anointing of a king (1 Sam. 9:16; 16:12; 2 Kin. 9:1–3; 11:12).

tabernacle. A reference to the tent David pitched (2 Sam. 6:17) to house the ark of the covenant (Ex. 37:1–9), not the same as the tabernacle of Moses (Ex. 35:4–29; 36:8–38; 1 Kin. 3:4; 1 Chr. 16:39; 21:29).

■ 1:41 Adonijah . . . heard it. See note on v. 33.

■ 1:47 the king bowed himself. David praises God (v. 48), because his prayer for succession has been granted (cf. Gen. 47:31).

■ 1:50 horns of the altar. These were projections resembling horns at the four corners on the top of the altar (Ex. 27:2; 29:12; Lev. 4:7; Ps. 118:27). The place of sacrifice was sacred, and Adonijah was seeking sanctuary there before God in the hope that he would not be killed (Ex. 21:12–14; 1 Kin. 2:28–34).

■ 1:52 If he proves himself. Solomon spares Adonijah on condition that he conduct himself as a loyal citizen of Solomon's kingdom.

■ 2:1 he charged Solomon. David, like Jacob (Gen. 49), Moses (Deut. 31:1–8), Joshua (Josh. 23), and Samuel (1 Sam. 12) before him, gives a final speech before his death. These speeches mark the transition from one era to another and the transfer of authority.

■ 2:2 the way of all the earth. That is, the grave (Josh. 23:14).

3 And keep the charge of the LORD your God: to walk in His ways, to keep His statutes, His commandments, His judgments, and His testimonies, as it is written in the Law of Moses, that you may [d]prosper in all that you do and wherever you turn; 4 that the LORD may [e]fulfill His word which He spoke concerning me, saying, [f]'If your sons take heed to their way, to [g]walk before Me in truth with all their heart and with all their soul,' He said, [h]'you shall not lack a man on the throne of Israel.'

5 "Moreover you know also what Joab the son of Zeruiah [i]did to me, and what he did to the two commanders of the armies of Israel, to [j]Abner the son of Ner and [k]Amasa the son of Jether, whom he killed. And he shed the blood of war in peacetime, and put the blood of war on his belt that was around his waist, and on his sandals that were on his feet. 6 Therefore do [l]according to your wisdom, and do not let his gray hair go down to the grave in peace.

7 "But show kindness to the sons of [m]Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be among those who [n]eat at your table, for so [o]they came to me when I fled from Absalom your brother.

8 "And see, you have with you [p]Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite from Bahurim, who cursed me with a malicious curse in the day when I went to Mahanaim. But [q]he came down to meet me at the Jordan, and [r]I swore to him by the LORD, saying, 'I will not put you to death with the sword.' 9 Now therefore, [s]do not hold him guiltless, for you are a wise man and know what you ought to do to him; but [t]bring his gray hair down to the grave with blood."

Death of David

10 So [u]David [2]rested with his fathers, and was buried in [v]the City of David. 11 The period that David [w]reigned over Israel was forty years; seven years he reigned in Hebron, and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years. 12 [x]Then Solomon sat on the throne of his father David; and his kingdom was [y]firmly established.

Solomon Executes Adonijah

13 Now Adonijah the son of Haggith came to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon. So she said, [z]"Do you come peaceably?"

And he said, "Peaceably." 14 Moreover he said, "I have something to say to you."

And she said, "Say it."

15 Then he said, "You know that the kingdom was [a]mine, and all Israel had set their expectations on me, that I should reign. However, the kingdom has been turned over, and has become my brother's; for [b]it was his from the LORD. 16 Now I ask one petition of you; do not [3]deny me."

And she said to him, "Say it."

17 Then he said, "Please speak to King Solomon, for he will not refuse you, that he may give me [c]Abishag the Shunammite as wife."

be strong, . . . prove yourself a man. These instructions were suitable either before a warrior went into battle or before a person undertook a difficult task (Deut. 31:7, 23; Josh. 1:6, 7, 9, 18; 1 Sam. 4:9).

■ 2:3 walk in His ways, to keep His statutes. David admonishes Solomon to be faithful to God and so experience blessing (cf. Deut. 4:40; 6:2; 8:6, 11; 10:12—11:1).

■ 2:4 If your sons take heed to their way. David's instructions to Solomon echo God's promises to David through the prophet Nathan in 2 Sam. 7:8–16 and reaffirmed in David's prayer in 2 Sam. 7:18–29. Here David underscores the need for covenant faithfulness (cf. 8:25, 26; 9:4, 5).

with all their heart and . . . soul. These words are an allusion to Deut. 4:29 and 6:5. When Jesus is asked what is the greatest commandment, He too quotes from Deut. 6:5 (Matt. 22:35–40).

■ 2:5 Joab the son of Zeruiah. Joab was the most successful, but also the most unscrupulous, of David's generals (1:7 note). David calls on Solomon to see to it that the crimes Joab committed against his rivals "Abner the son of Ner" (2 Sam. 3:22–30) and "Amasa the son of Jether" (2 Sam. 20:4–10) do not go unpunished. The way Joab tricked Abner and Amasa and murdered them was unlawful (Deut. 19:1–13; 21:1–9).

■ 2:7 eat at your table. That is, enjoy a position of honor at the court and share in the bounty of the state (2 Sam. 9:7; 19:28; 2 Kin. 25:29; Neh. 5:17).

■ 2:8 Shimei the son of Gera. He had cursed and stoned David when the latter was running from his son Absalom (2 Sam. 16:5–8). Shimei later begged for pardon and David promised that Shimei would not die (2 Sam. 19:16–23).

■ 2:9 do not hold him guiltless. Cursing a ruler violated God's law (Ex. 22:28; cf. 1 Kin. 21:10).

■ 2:10 the City of David. One of David's major accomplishments was to capture Jerusalem, which became the nation's capital. The city afterward bore the name of David in his honor (2 Sam. 5:7).

■ 2:11 David reigned . . . forty years. David ruled approximately 1010—970 B.C. During his last years he may have shared the throne with Solomon (1:38–40).

■ 2:15 all Israel . . . that I should reign. This was wishful thinking on Adonijah's part (1:7–10).

it was his from the LORD. Adonijah claims to recognize the sanctity of Solomon's reign, but his request for Abishag suggests otherwise.

■ 2:17 give me Abishag the Shunammite. In the ancient Near East, a large court and family was a sign of royal status. Abishag remained a virgin while she stayed with David (1:1–4) and so Adonijah would not be technically breaking the law by marrying her (Deut. 22:30). Nonetheless, should Adonijah prove successful in marrying Abishag from David's harem, this would constitute a claim to the throne and an open affront to Solomon's power (cf. 2 Sam. 3:6, 7; 12:7, 8; 16:20–24).

18 So Bathsheba said, "Very well, I will speak for you to the king."

19 Bathsheba therefore went to King Solomon, to speak to him for Adonijah. And the king rose up to meet her and [d]bowed down to her, and sat down on his throne and had a throne set for the king's mother; [e]so she sat at his right hand. 20 Then she said, "I desire one small petition of you; do not [4]refuse me."

And the king said to her, "Ask it, my mother, for I will not refuse you."

21 So she said, "Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah your brother as wife."

22 And King Solomon answered and said to his mother, "Now why do you ask Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? Ask for him the kingdom also—for he is my [f]older brother—for him, and for [g]Abiathar the priest, and for Joab the son of Zeruiah." 23 Then King Solomon swore by the LORD, saying, [h]"May God do so to me, and more also, if Adonijah has not spoken this word against his own life! 24 Now therefore, as the LORD lives, who has confirmed me and set me on the throne of David my father, and who has established a [5]house for me, as He [i]promised, Adonijah shall be put to death today!"

25 So King Solomon sent by the hand of [j]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada; and he struck him down, and he died.

Abiathar Exiled, Joab Executed

26 And to Abiathar the priest the king said, "Go to [k]Anathoth, to your own fields, for [6]you are deserving of death; but I will not put you to death at this time, [l]because you carried the ark of the Lord GOD before my father David, and because you were afflicted every time my father was afflicted." 27 So Solomon removed Abiathar from being priest to the LORD, that he might [m]fulfill the word of the LORD which He spoke concerning the house of Eli at Shiloh.

28 Then news came to Joab, for Joab [n]had defected to Adonijah, though he had not defected to Absalom. So Joab fled to the tabernacle of the LORD, and [o]took hold of the horns of the altar. 29 And King Solomon was told, "Joab has fled to the tabernacle of the LORD; there he is, by the altar." Then Solomon sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, saying, "Go, [p]strike him down." 30 So Benaiah went to the tabernacle of the LORD, and said to him, "Thus says the king, [q]'Come out!' "

And he said, "No, but I will die here." And Benaiah brought back word to the king, saying, "Thus said Joab, and thus he answered me."

31 Then the king said to him, [r]"Do as he has said, and strike him down and bury him, [s]that you may take away from me and from the house of my father the innocent blood which Joab shed. 32 So the LORD [t]will return his [7]blood on his head, because he struck down two men more righteous [u]and better than he, and killed them with the sword—[v]Abner the son of Ner, the commander of the army of Israel, and [w]Amasa the son of Jether, the commander of the army of Judah—though my father David did not know it. 33 Their blood shall therefore return upon the head of Joab and [x]upon the head of his descendants forever. [y]But upon David and his descendants, upon his house and his throne, there shall be peace forever from the LORD."

34 So Benaiah the son of Jehoiada went up and struck and killed him; and he was buried in his own house in the wilderness. 35 The king put Benaiah the son of Jehoiada in his place over the army, and the king put [z]Zadok the priest in the place of [a]Abiathar.

■ 2:18–21 Bathsheba accedes to Adonijah's request. It is unclear whether she was taken in by Adonijah's ruse, or whether she is merely playing along, confident of what Solomon's response will be.

■ 2:19 his right hand. The "right hand" was a position of high honor (Ps. 110:1; Matt. 20:21).

■ 2:24 confirmed. See v. 12.

a house for me, as He promised. According to 1 Kin. 11:42 and 14:21, Solomon's son Rehoboam was born about a year before Solomon came to power (cf. 1 Chr. 22:9, 10).

■ 2:26 Because Abiathar, as a holy priest, "carried the ark" (2 Sam. 15:24, 29) and shared David's hardships (1 Sam. 22:20–23; 23:6–9; 30:7; 2 Sam. 17:15; 19:11), Solomon tempers the penalty he metes out to Abiathar, banishing him to Anathoth (his ancestral home). Anathoth was four miles from Jerusalem.

■ 2:27 fulfill the word. The writer of Kings is fond of pointing out God's fulfillment of earlier promises (8:20; 12:15; 15:29; 16:12). In this case, the prophecy of a man of God concerning the demise and removal of Eli's descendants from priestly office (1 Sam. 2:30–36) is realized during the reign of Solomon.

■ 2:28 Having heard of Adonijah's execution and Abiathar's banishment, Joab flees to "the tabernacle of the LORD" (1:39 note), and grasps "the horns of the altar" (1:50 note) in the vain hope of escaping retribution.

■ 2:29 Go, strike him down. Joab could have found asylum at the altar only if he had accidentally caused the death of another (Ex. 21:14). Instead, Joab's role in Adonijah's sedition gave Solomon the opportunity to honor one of his father's last requests (vv. 5, 6; 1:7 note).

■ 2:32 Despite their earlier loyalties to Saul and Absalom, Abner became commander of the army of Israel (2 Sam. 2:8, 9) and Amasa commander of the army of Judah (2 Sam. 19:13; 20:4–10); hence, they were perceived by Joab as threats to his control of the military.

■ 2:35 Both Zadok and Abiathar previously had played leading roles in Israel as priests appointed by David (2 Sam. 8:17 note). Zadok and his descendants now become the sole high priestly family in Israel (1 Sam. 2:35).

Shimei Executed

36 Then the king sent and called for [b]Shimei, and said to him, "Build yourself a house in Jerusalem and dwell there, and do not go out from there anywhere. 37 For it shall be, on the day you go out and cross [c]the Brook Kidron, know for certain you shall surely die; [d]your [g]blood shall be on your own head."

38 And Shimei said to the king, "The saying is good. As my lord the king has said, so your servant will do." So Shimei dwelt in Jerusalem many days.

39 Now it happened at the end of three years, that two slaves of Shimei ran away to [e]Achish the son of Maachah, king of Gath. And they told Shimei, saying, "Look, your slaves are in Gath!" 40 So Shimei arose, saddled his donkey, and went to Achish at Gath to seek his slaves. And Shimei went and brought his slaves from Gath. 41 And Solomon was told that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath and had come back. 42 Then the king sent and called for Shimei, and said to him, "Did I not make you swear by the LORD, and warn you, saying, 'Know for certain that on the day you go out and travel anywhere, you shall surely die'? And you said to me, 'The word I have heard is good.' 43 Why then have you not kept the oath of the LORD and the commandment that I gave you?" 44 The king said moreover to Shimei, "You know, as your heart acknowledges, [f]all the wickedness that you did to my father David; therefore the LORD will [g]return your wickedness on your own head. 45 But King Solomon shall be blessed, and [h]the throne of David shall be established before the LORD forever."

46 So the king commanded Benaiah the son of Jehoiada; and he went out and struck him down, and he died. Thus the [i]kingdom was established in the hand of Solomon.

Solomon Requests Wisdom

3 Now [a]Solomon made [f]a treaty with Pharaoh king of Egypt, and married Pharaoh's daughter; then he brought her [b]to the City of David until he had finished building his [c]own house, and [d]the house of the LORD, and [e]the wall all around Jerusalem. 2 [f]Meanwhile the people sacrificed at the high places, because there was no house built for the name of the LORD until those days. 3 And Solomon [g]loved the LORD, [h]walking in the statutes of his father David, except that he sacrificed and burned incense at the high places.

4 Now [i]the king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, [j]for that was the great high place: Solomon offered a thousand burnt offerings on that altar. 5 [k]At Gibeon the LORD appeared to Solomon [l]in a dream by night; and God said, "Ask! What shall I give you?"

6 [m]And Solomon said: "You have shown great mercy to Your servant David my father, because he [n]walked before You in truth, in righteousness, and in uprightness of heart with You; You have continued this great kindness for him, and You [o]have given him a son to sit on his throne, as it is this day. 7 Now, O LORD my God, You have made Your servant king instead of my father David, but I am a [p]little child; I do not know how [q]to go out or come in. 8 And Your servant is in the midst of Your people whom You [r]have chosen, a great people, [s]too numerous to be numbered or counted. 9 [t]Therefore give to Your servant an [z]understanding heart [u]to judge Your people, that I may [v]discern between good and evil. For who is able to judge this great people of Yours?"

■ 2:39 Gath. One of the five major Philistine cities (Josh. 13:3; 1 Sam. 21:11; 27:2).

■ 3:1 a treaty with Pharaoh. The name of the pharaoh mentioned here is not known, but could be one of the last monarchs of the twenty-first Egyptian dynasty. This marriage alliance attests the international prominence of Israel during the period of the united monarchy.

■ 3:2 sacrificed at the high places. When the Israelites entered the land of Canaan, they were supposed to destroy all the hilltop shrines of the Canaanites (Num. 33:52; Deut. 7:5; 12:3) and build instead their own centers of worship at divinely approved sites (Ex. 20:24; Judg. 6:24; 13:19; 1 Sam. 7:17; 9:12, 13). Worship at these sites was acceptable until the central sanctuary discussed at length in Deut. 12 was built.

■ 3:3 the statutes. That is, the stipulations of the Mosaic covenant (2:3 note).

except that. The author will return to this exception later in Solomon's reign (11:1–13). Even after the temple was built, Solomon continued to worship indiscriminately at the high places.

■ 3:4 the great high place. Chronicles says that the tabernacle of Moses and the ancient bronze altar were located at Gibeon (1 Chr. 21:29; 2 Chr. 1:2–6).

burnt offerings. Used for thanksgiving and atonement, burnt offerings were the most common type of offering. The animal was burned completely except for the hide, which was taken by the priest (Lev. 7:8).

■ 3:5 dream. This dream sets the stage for the first major period in Solomon's tenure as king. For dreams as vehicles of revelation in the Bible, see Gen. 26:24; 28:12; 31:11; 46:2; Num. 12:6; Judg. 7:13; Dan. 2:4; 7:1; Matt. 1:20; 2:12, 19, 22.

■ 3:7 little child. Solomon was possibly about twenty years old at his accession. He was young and inexperienced, but was humble enough to admit it (cf. Jer. 1:6).

■ 3:8 a great people. Since the Exodus from Egypt, the Israelites had grown in population to the point that the promises to Abraham (Gen. 12:2; 13:16; 22:17, 18) and Jacob (Gen. 32:12) were now being realized. This large population faced its leader with considerable challenges.

10 The speech pleased the LORD, that Solomon had asked this thing. 11 Then God said to him: "Because you have asked this thing, and have [w]not asked long life for yourself, nor have asked riches for yourself, nor have asked the life of your enemies, but have asked for yourself understanding to discern justice, 12 [x]behold, I have done according to your words; [y]see, I have given you a wise and understanding heart, so that there has not been anyone like you before you, nor shall any like you arise after you. 13 And I have also [z]given you what you have not asked: both [a]riches and honor, so that there shall not be anyone like you among the kings all your days. 14 So [b]if you walk in My ways, to keep My statutes and My commandments, [c]as your father David walked, then I will [d]lengthen[3] your days."

15 Then Solomon [e]awoke; and indeed it had been a dream. And he came to Jerusalem and stood before the ark of the covenant of the LORD, offered up burnt offerings, offered peace offerings, and [f]made a feast for all his servants.

Solomon's Wise Judgment

16 Now two women who were harlots came to the king, and [g]stood before him. 17 And one woman said, "O my lord, this woman and I dwell in the same house; and I gave birth while she was in the house. 18 Then it happened, the third day after I had given birth, that this woman also gave birth. And we were together; [4]no one was with us in the house, except the two of us in the house. 19 And this woman's son died in the night, because she lay on him. 20 So she arose in the middle of the night and took my son from my side, while your maidservant slept, and laid him in her bosom, and laid her dead child in my bosom. 21 And when I rose in the morning to nurse my son, there he was, dead. But when I had examined him in the morning, indeed, he was not my son whom I had borne."

22 Then the other woman said, "No! But the living one is my son, and the dead one is your son."

And the first woman said, "No! But the dead one is your son, and the living one is my son."

Thus they spoke before the king.

23 And the king said, "The one says, 'This is my son, who lives, and your son is the dead one'; and the other says, 'No! But your son is the dead one, and my son is the living one.' " 24 Then the king said, "Bring me a sword." So they brought a sword before the king. 25 And the king said, "Divide the living child in two, and give half to one, and half to the other."

26 Then the woman whose son was living spoke to the king, for [h]she yearned with compassion for her son; and she said, "O my lord, give her the living child, and by no means kill him!"

But the other said, "Let him be neither mine nor yours, but divide him."

27 So the king answered and said, "Give the first woman the living child, and by no means kill him; she is his mother."

28 And all Israel heard of the judgment which the king had rendered; and they feared the king, for they saw that the [i]wisdom of God was in him to administer justice.

Solomon's Administration

4 So King Solomon was king over all Israel. 2 And these were his officials: Azariah the son of Zadok, the priest; 3 Elihoreph and Ahijah, the sons of Shisha, [1]scribes; [a]Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud, the recorder; 4 [b]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, over the army; Zadok and [c]Abiathar, the

CHAPTER 4

3 [a]2 Sam. 8:16; 20:24 [1]secretaries

4 [b]1 Kin. 2:35 [c]1 Kin. 2:27

■ 3:10 pleased the LORD. Solomon did not ask for the usual wishes of an oriental king: long life, wealth, or the death of his enemies (v. 11).

■ 3:12 not been anyone like you. Solomon's wisdom is incomparable in the history of Israel (4:29–34; 10:6–9).

■ 3:14 if you walk in My ways . . . I will lengthen your days. Unlike the other divine gifts, a long life is contingent upon Solomon's continuing faithfulness to God—a condition he will fail to fulfill (11:1–13).

■ 3:15 In gratitude to God, Solomon returns to Jerusalem, stands before the ark, the central symbol of God's presence (Ex. 37:1–9), and offers burnt offerings (v. 4 note) and peace offerings (Lev. 3).

■ 3:16 came to the king. In the ancient Near East it was expected of a king that he would hear special cases and appeals (2 Sam. 14:4–21; 15:1). In this way the monarch was directly responsible to the people.

■ 3:25 give half to one, and half to the other. A legal tradition in the ancient Near East stipulated that if a judge could not determine who owned a disputed piece of property, he should divide it evenly between the two contestants (cf. Ex. 21:35). Solomon's application of this tradition in this case is brilliant.

■ 3:28 they feared the king. Solomon's ruling demonstrated that God had indeed given him "wisdom . . . to administer justice" (cf. v. 11; Prov. 16:10).

■ 4:1 all Israel. Solomon, like David before him, ruled over a united kingdom (1:35 note).

■ 4:2 son. In Hebrew, the word "son" can mean "descendant" (Gen. 31:28, 43). In this case, Azariah is probably the son of Ahimaaz (1 Chr. 6:8, 9), and thus the grandson of Zadok the priest.

■ 4:4 Zadok and Abiathar. These were the two leading priests during the reign of David and the beginning of Solomon's reign. Solomon deposed Abiathar for joining Adonijah in his sedition (1:7; 2:27), while Azariah succeeded Zadok as priest during the reign of Solomon (v. 2).

priests; [5] Azariah the son of Nathan, over [d]the officers; Zabud the son of Nathan, [e]a priest and [f]the king's friend; [6] Ahishar, over the household; and [g]Adoniram the son of Abda, over the labor force.

[7] And Solomon had twelve governors over all Israel, who provided food for the king and his household; each one made provision for one month of the year. [8] These are their names: [2]Ben-Hur, in the mountains of Ephraim; [9] [3]Ben-Deker, in Makaz, Shaalbim, Beth Shemesh, and Elon

■ 4:5 Nathan. His identity is unclear. Possibilities include the prophet Nathan (2 Sam. 7:2–17, 12:1–15; 1 Kin. 1:11) and the son of David (2 Sam. 5:14).

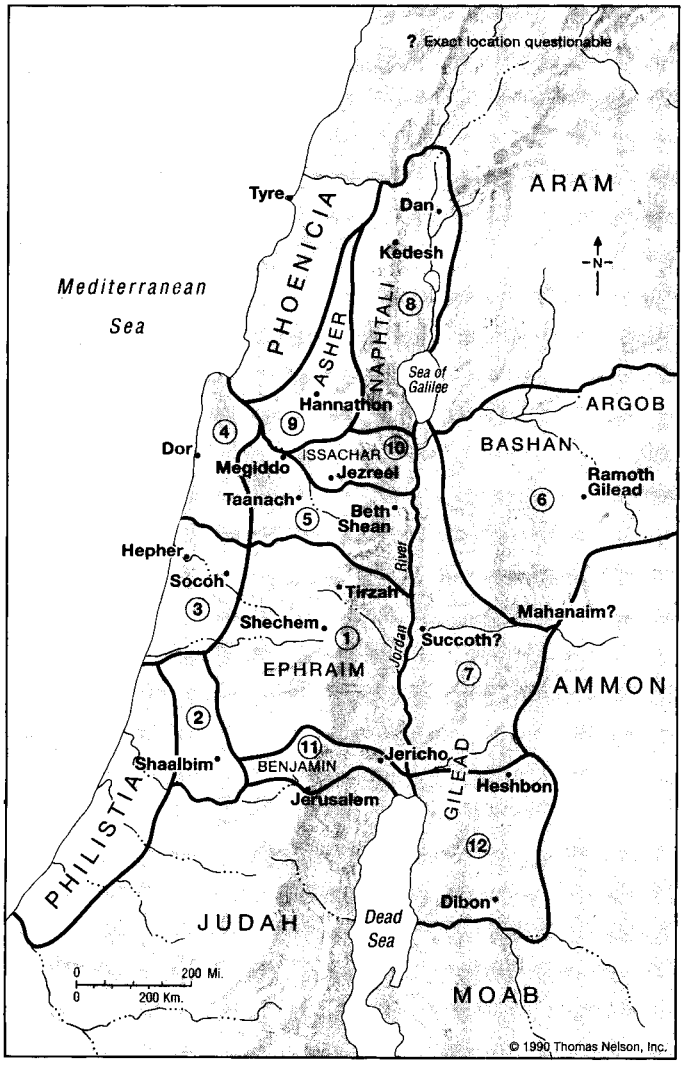
■ 4:6 over the household. This important post involved administering the palace and overseeing the king's properties (1 Kin. 16:9; 18:3; 2 Kin. 18:18, 37; 19:2).

Adoniram. Also known as "Adoram," he was in charge of forced labor during the reigns of David (2 Sam. 20:24), Solomon, and Rehoboam (12:18).

labor force. This conscripted labor was performed primarily, but not exclusively, by captives of war from defeated nations (5:13–16; 9:15, 23; Num. 31:25–47; Josh. 9:23).

■ 4:7 twelve governors. The new administrative districts overseen by these governors are not exactly the same as the old Israelite tribal areas, possibly because the tribes varied greatly in population and land holdings, and Solomon desired a steady monthly income for his government.

■ 4:19 Geber . . . Gilead. For Sihon see Num. 32:33; Deut. 2:24–37.



Solomon's Administrative Districts. The growth and extension of Israel's borders under Solomon's leadership required extensive military expenditures. Coupled with this were ambitious building and commercial projects throughout his expanding kingdom. As a result, Solomon faced an urgent need for ever-increasing revenues.

To address this need, Solomon divided Israel into twelve districts and appointed governors over each district. These governors were responsible for levying and collecting taxes to provide for the needs of Jerusalem and the royal palace. The increasingly heavy taxes upon Israel created major dissension because the region of Judah was exempted from these burdensome taxes. Furthermore, the divisions of the districts violated the old tribal boundaries.

Prosperity and Wisdom of Solomon's Reign

20 Judah and Israel were as numerous [n]as the sand by the sea in multitude, [o]eating and drinking and rejoicing. 21 So [p]Solomon reigned over all kingdoms from [q]the[7] River to the land of the Philistines, as far as the border of Egypt. [r]They brought tribute and served Solomon all the days of his life.

22 [s]Now Solomon's [8]provision for one day was thirty [9]kors of fine flour, sixty kors of meal, 23 ten fatted oxen, twenty oxen from the pastures, and one hundred sheep, besides deer, gazelles, roebucks, and fatted fowl.

24 For he had dominion over all the region on this side of [t]the River from Tiphsah even to Gaza, namely over [u]all the kings on this side of the River; and [v]he had peace on every side all around him. 25 And Judah and Israel [w]dwelt[2] safely, [x]each man under his vine and his fig tree, [x]from Dan as far as Beersheba, all the days of Solomon.

26 [y]Solomon had [3]forty thousand stalls of [z]horses for his chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen. 27 And [a]these governors, each man in his month, provided food for King Solomon and for all who came to King Solomon's table. There was no lack in their supply. 28 They also brought barley and straw to the proper place, for the horses and steeds, each man according to his charge.

29 And [b]God gave Solomon wisdom and exceedingly great understanding, and largeness of heart like the sand on the seashore. 30 Thus Solomon's wisdom excelled the wisdom of all the men [c]of the East and all [d]the wisdom of Egypt. 31 For he was [e]wiser than all men—[f]than Ethan the Ezrahite, [g]and Heman, Chalcol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol; and his fame was in all the surrounding nations. 32 [h]He spoke three thousand proverbs, and his [i]songs were one thousand and five. 33 Also he spoke of trees, from the cedar tree of Lebanon even to the hyssop that springs out of the wall; he spoke also of animals, of birds, of creeping things, and of fish. 34 And men of all nations, from all the kings of the earth who had heard of his wisdom, [j]came to hear the wisdom of Solomon.

Subsequent to the Israelite capture of Sihon's territory, the Israelites defeated King Og of Bashan and captured all his lands (east of the Sea of Chinneroth; see Num. 32:33; Deut. 3:1–11). Geber was therefore governor over a large district east of the Jordan.

■ 4:20 numerous as the sand by the sea. This is a fulfillment of the promises to the patriarchs (3:8 note; Gen. 22:17; 32:12).

■ 4:21 as far as the border of Egypt. The borders of Solomon's kingdom are in essence the borders promised to Abraham (Gen. 15:18; 17:8; Deut. 1:7; 11:24; Josh. 1:4). Hence, in the presentation of Kings, Solomon ruled over an empire representing the long-awaited fulfillment of the patriarchal promises (cf. vv. 24, 25).

■ 4:22 provision for one day. These were for Solomon's court, palace, and extended family.

■ 4:24 Tiphsah . . . Gaza. Tiphsah was located on the west bank of the Euphrates, and Gaza is located on the southeastern Mediterranean coast.

peace on every side. David had to fight many wars to secure the kingdom, and Solomon enjoyed the result. Conditions of peace were a prerequisite for building major projects such as the temple and palace (2 Sam. 7:10, 11; 1 Kin. 5:3–5).

■ 4:26 forty thousand stalls. There are variations in the versions as to how many stalls for chariot horses Solomon had (text note). If the "twelve thousand horsemen" means "twelve thousand horses" then each stall had three horses, the normal complement for a chariot being two primary horses and one reserve. According to 10:26, Solomon had fourteen hundred chariots. Solomon's chariot force and bureaucracy required ample, regular provisions (vv. 27, 28).

■ 4:30 the East. That is, Mesopotamia to the northeast (Gen. 29:1) and Arabia to the east (Jer. 49:28; Ezek. 25:4, 10).

Egypt. Examples of wisdom literature from both Mesopotamia and Egypt have been discovered and translated.

■ 4:32 proverbs . . . songs. Solomon was a lover and supporter of wisdom literature, and was himself an accomplished author.

■ 4:33 trees . . . animals . . . birds. Solomon took a special interest in nature. By writing proverbs Solomon gave order to social relations; by listing fauna and flora, he gave order to the elements of his kingdom.

■ 4:34 men of all nations. Solomon acquired an international reputation for wisdom. The monarchs of various nations sent emissaries to learn from Solomon's erudition. The Ebla texts from 2350 B.C. mention learned men from many nations "lecturing" in Ebla, showing how early such travel was possible.

Solomon Prepares to Build the Temple

5 Now [a]Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants to Solomon, because he heard that they had anointed him king in place of his father, [b]for Hiram had always loved David. 2 Then [c]Solomon sent to Hiram, saying:

3 [d]"You know how my father David could not build a house for the name of the LORD his God [e]because of the wars which were fought against him on every side, until the LORD put [1]his foes under the soles of his feet.

4 But now the LORD my God has given me [f]rest[2] on every side; there is neither adversary nor [3]evil occurrence.

5 [g]And behold, [4]I propose to build a house for the name of the LORD my God, [h]as the LORD spoke to my father David, saying, 'Your son, whom I will set on your throne in your place, he shall build the house for My name.'

6 Now therefore, command that they cut down [i]cedars for me from Lebanon; and my servants will be with your servants, and I will pay you wages for your servants according to whatever you say. For you know there is none among us who has skill to cut timber like the Sidonians."

7 So it was, when Hiram heard the words of Solomon, that he rejoiced greatly and said,

"Blessed be the LORD this day, for He has given David a wise son over this great people!"

8 Then Hiram sent to Solomon, saying:

"I have considered the message which you sent me, and I will do all you desire concerning the cedar and cypress logs.

9 My servants shall bring them down [j]from Lebanon to the sea; I will float them in rafts by sea to the place you indicate to me, and will have them broken apart there; then you can take them away. And you shall fulfill my desire [k]by giving food for my household."

10 Then Hiram gave Solomon cedar and cypress logs according to all his desire. 11 [l]And Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand [5]kors of wheat as food for his household, and [6]twenty kors of pressed oil. Thus Solomon gave to Hiram year by year.

12 So the LORD gave Solomon wisdom, [m]as He had promised him; and there was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and the two of them made a treaty together.

13 Then King Solomon raised up a labor force out of all Israel; and the labor force was thirty thousand men. 14 And he sent them to Lebanon, ten thousand a month in shifts: they were one month in Lebanon and two months at home; [n]Adoniram was in charge of the labor force. 15 [o]Solomon had seventy thousand who carried burdens, and eighty thousand who quarried stone in the mountains, 16 besides three thousand [7]three hundred from the [p]chiefs of Solomon's deputies, who supervised the people who labored in the work. 17 And the king commanded them to quarry large stones, costly stones, and [q]hewn stones, to lay the foundation of the [8]temple.

■ 5:1 Hiram king of Tyre. Tyre is a city on the Mediterranean coast, now in modern Lebanon. Since Hiram ruled about 980–947 B.C., his reign overlapped both David's and Solomon's.

Hiram had always loved David. Hiram supplied materials and workers when David built himself a palace (2 Sam. 5:11).

■ 5:3 the wars which were fought against him. Even though David wanted to build the temple himself, he spent much of his reign expanding and consolidating the kingdom (2 Sam. 7:10, 11). In a play on the Hebrew word for "house," the prophet Nathan told David that God would build a "house," or dynasty, for him, while David's offspring would build a "house," or temple, for God (2 Sam. 7:12–16). Through God's grace, Solomon is implementing the promise made to his father David.

■ 5:4 rest on every side. The rest that many of Israel's leaders had hoped for (Ex. 33:14; Deut. 25:19; Josh. 1:13, 15; 2 Sam. 7:11) is now a reality.

■ 5:5 the name of the LORD. In Semitic culture, a name was thought to reveal something of a person's character and identity (Gen. 17:5; 32:28; Ex. 3:13, 14; 34:6, 7; Deut. 12:5).

Your son. Solomon refers explicitly to God's promise in 2 Sam. 7:12, 13.

■ 5:6 cedars . . . from Lebanon. These trees were famous in the ancient Near East and often used in building royal palaces and temples.

none . . . has skill. The Israelites did not have the craftsmen and artisans needed to construct the temple by themselves.

Sidonians. Taken in a narrow sense, they were the residents of the port city of Sidon north of Tyre. Here the term probably refers to the inhabitants of Tyre, Gebal (Byblos), and Sidon, the people who were later called the Phoenicians.

■ 5:7 Blessed be the LORD this day. Even a foreign king acknowledges the accomplishments of Israel's God manifested through King Solomon (cf. 10:6–9).

■ 5:9 food for my household. In exchange for Hiram's help Solomon is expected to supply food for Hiram's court (v. 11) and wages for his workers (v. 6).

■ 5:12 the LORD gave Solomon wisdom. Solomon's administrative and political talents are again associated with God's gift of wisdom. (cf. Deut. 1:15; Is. 11:2–4).

■ 5:13 raised up a labor force out of all Israel. Solomon pressed some of his own people into service as forced laborers on his building projects. This policy was deeply resented and contributed in no small way to the division of the kingdom following Solomon's death (9:22; 12:4, 16 and notes).

■ 5:14 Adoniram. See note on 4:6.

18 So Solomon's builders, Hiram's builders, and the Gebalites quarried them; and they prepared timber and stones to build the [9]temple.

Solomon Builds the Temple

6 And [a]it came to pass in the four hundred and [1]eightieth year after the children of Israel had come out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month of [2]Ziv, which is the second month, [b]that he began to build the house of the LORD. 2 Now [c]the house which King Solomon built for the LORD, its length was sixty cubits, its width twenty, and its height thirty cubits. 3 The vestibule in front of the [3]sanctuary of the house was [4]twenty cubits long across the width of the house, and the width of [5]the vestibule extended [6]ten cubits from the front of the house. 4 And he made for the house [d]windows with beveled frames.

5 Against the wall of the [7]temple he built [e]chambers all around, against the walls of the temple, all around the sanctuary [f]and the [8]inner sanctuary. Thus he made side chambers all around it. 6 The lowest chamber was five cubits wide, the middle was six cubits wide, and the third was seven cubits wide; for he made narrow ledges around the outside of the temple, so that the support beams would not be fastened into the walls of the [9]temple. 7 And [g]the temple, when it was being built, was built with stone finished at the quarry, so that no hammer or chisel or any iron tool was heard in the temple while it was being built. 8 The doorway for the [1]middle story was on the right side of the temple. They went up by stairs to the middle story, and from the middle to the third.

9 [h]So he built the [2]temple and finished it, and he paneled the temple with beams and boards of cedar. 10 And he built side chambers against the entire temple, each five cubits high; they were attached to the temple with cedar beams.

11 Then the word of the LORD came to Solomon, saying: 12 "Concerning this [3]temple which you are building, [i]if you walk in My statutes, execute My judgments, keep all My commandments, and walk in them, then I will perform My [4]word with you, [j]which I spoke to your father David. 13 And [k]I will dwell among the children of Israel, and will not [l]forsake My people Israel."

14 So Solomon built the temple and finished it. 15 And he built the inside walls of the temple with cedar boards; from the floor of the temple to the ceiling he paneled the inside with wood; and he covered the floor of the temple with planks of cypress. 16 Then he built the twenty-cubit room at the rear of the temple, from floor to ceiling, with cedar boards; he built it inside as the inner sanctuary, as the [m]Most Holy Place. 17 And in front of it the temple sanctuary was forty cubits long. 18 The inside of the temple was cedar, carved with ornamental buds and open flowers. All was cedar; there was no stone to be seen.

■ 5:18 the Gebalites. Gebal (or Byblos) was known internationally for its trade in papyrus, the ancient form of paper made from pressed and dried cuttings of papyrus reed.

■ 6:1 four hundred and eightieth year. The author's chronology reflects how momentous the construction of the temple was for Israel's life under God. The building of the temple under Solomon was the culmination of a long series of events that began with the deliverance out of Egypt.

fourth year of Solomon's reign. Approximately 966 B.C., placing the Exodus in the year 1446 B.C. Some scholars date the Exodus in the thirteenth century B.C. They understand four hundred eighty years in one of two ways. Some take it as a figurative number representing twelve generations of forty years each. Others, on the basis of ancient Near Eastern custom, argue that the figure is the total of a sequence of periods, some of them overlapping.

■ 6:2 the house . . . for the LORD. There are a number of similarities between the tabernacle and the temple, although the temple was twice the size of the tabernacle (Ex. 26:15–30; 36:20–34). Both were divided into three main sections: a vestibule, a sanctuary (the Holy Place), and an inner sanctuary (the Most Holy Place). This three-part structure was common in other ancient Near Eastern temples. Israel's sanctuary differed radically from a pagan sanctuary because it had no idols. At its center was the ark of the covenant containing the Ten Commandments, the moral will of God that ordered Israel's life (Deut. 10:4, 5; 1 Kin. 8:6–9).

■ 6:4 windows with beveled frames. Wide on the inner side of the wall, these windows would gradually slope to form a slit on the outer wall.

■ 6:5 chambers. These rooms surrounded the Most Holy Place and the Holy Place but not the vestibule. They were used for storage.

■ 6:6 The lowest chamber. The total height of the three stories of side rooms was not as high as the main temple itself.

■ 6:8 doorway for the middle story. That is, of the side rooms (see text note).

■ 6:11 the word of the LORD came to Solomon. God characteristically speaks to Solomon, not through other prophets, but as a prophet himself (3:5, 11–14; 9:2–9; 11:11–13).

■ 6:12 if you walk in My statutes. With special reference to the building of the temple, God reminds Solomon that the promises to David require covenant fidelity on Solomon's part (2:3, 4 and notes).

■ 6:13 will not forsake My people. The existence of the temple did not in and of itself guarantee the presence of God with Israel. Loyalty to the Torah is the main issue in the people's relationship with God (2:3 note and 9:6–9).

■ 6:16 the inner sanctuary, as the Most Holy Place. The Most Holy Place, a perfect cube about 30 feet on a side (v. 20), was the most sacred area of the temple. It contained the ark of the covenant (v. 19) and the cherubim. Only the High Priest was allowed to enter this room and then only on one day a year, the Day of Atonement (Hebrew Yom Kippur; Lev. 16; 23:26–32; Num. 29:7–11). The tabernacle had such "a Most Holy Place" (Ex. 26:33; cf. Heb. 9:12, 14).

1 [a]1 Kin. 3:1; 9:10; 2 Chr. 8:1
2 [b]1 Kin. 10:17, 21; 2 Chr. 9:16 [1]About 150 feet [2]About 75 feet

19 And he prepared the [5]inner sanctuary inside the temple, to set the ark of the covenant of the LORD there. 20 The inner sanctuary was twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide, and twenty cubits high. He overlaid it with pure gold, and overlaid the altar of cedar. 21 So Solomon overlaid the inside of the temple with pure gold. He stretched gold chains across the front of the inner sanctuary, and overlaid it with gold. 22 The whole temple he overlaid with gold, until he had finished all the temple; also he overlaid with gold [n]the entire altar that was by the inner sanctuary.

23 Inside the inner sanctuary [o]he made two cherubim of olive wood, each ten cubits high. 24 One wing of the cherub was five cubits, and the other wing of the cherub five cubits: ten cubits from the tip of one wing to the tip of the other. 25 And the other cherub was ten cubits; both cherubim were of the same size and shape. 26 The height of one cherub was ten cubits, and so was the other cherub. 27 Then he set the cherubim inside the inner [6]room; and [p]they stretched out the wings of the cherubim so that the wing of the one touched one wall, and the wing of the other cherub touched the other wall. And their wings touched each other in the middle of the room. 28 Also he overlaid the cherubim with gold.

29 Then he carved all the walls of the temple all around, both the inner and outer sanctuaries, with carved [q]figures of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers. 30 And the floor of the temple he overlaid with gold, both the inner and outer sanctuaries.

31 For the entrance of the inner sanctuary he made doors of olive wood; the lintel and doorposts were [7]one-fifth of the wall. 32 The two doors were of olive wood; and he carved on them figures of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers, and overlaid them with gold; and he spread gold on the cherubim and on the palm trees. 33 So for the door of the [8]sanctuary he also made doorposts of olive wood, [9]one-fourth of the wall. 34 And the two doors were of cypress wood; [r]two panels comprised one folding door, and two panels comprised the other folding door. 35 Then he carved cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers on them, and overlaid them with gold applied evenly on the carved work.

36 And he built the [s]inner court with three rows of hewn stone and a row of cedar beams.

37 [t]In the fourth year the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid, in the month of [1]Ziv. 38 And in the eleventh year, in the month of [2]Bul, which is the eighth month, the house was finished in all its details and according to all its plans. So he was [u]seven years in building it.

Solomon's Other Buildings

7 But Solomon took [a]thirteen years to build his own house; so he finished all his house. 2 He also built the [b]House of the Forest of Lebanon; its length was [1]one hundred cubits, its width [2]fifty cubits, and its height thirty cubits, with four rows of cedar pillars, and cedar beams on the pillars. 3 And it was paneled with cedar above the beams that were on forty-five pillars, fifteen to a row. 4 There were windows with beveled frames in three rows, and window was opposite window in three tiers. 5 And all the doorways and doorposts had rectangular frames; and window was opposite window in three tiers.

■ 6:19 the ark of the covenant of the LORD. The central symbol of the Israelite's communion with God, the ark contained the two tablets of the covenant (Ex. 25:21; Deut. 9:9).

■ 6:20 overlaid it with pure gold. The temple was beautiful and costly. In its glory and beauty, this earthly temple was a symbol of God's heavenly temple (8:36, 39; Heb. 9:11).

■ 6:22 altar that was by the inner sanctuary. This was probably an incense altar (7:48; Ex. 30:1, 6; 37:25–28; Heb. 9:4).

■ 6:23 two cherubim. These were winged creatures with human faces (cf. Gen. 3:24; Ezek. 41:18, 19). The two cherubim stood as guardians on either side of the ark (8:6, 7; 2 Chr. 3:10–13). The tips of their unfolded wings reached ten cubits high, or half the height of the Most Holy Place itself (v. 16). In the ancient Near East, kings were sometimes depicted as sitting upon a throne supported by cherubim. The cherubim in the temple may have represented God's symbolic enthronement in the Most Holy Place. God was present with His people and associated Himself in a special way with this place of worship (1 Sam. 4:4; 6:2; 1 Kin. 8:10–13; 2 Kin. 19:15; Ps. 80:1; 99:1).

■ 6:29 palm trees, and open flowers. An image reminiscent of the Garden of Eden in Gen. 2. Though our first ancestors were expelled from paradise because of their rebellion against God (Gen. 3:24), and we share their expulsion, communion with God is still possible through His grace.

■ 6:36 the inner court. Part of the exterior courtyard surrounding the temple, where the great altar and the molten Sea were situated (cf. 7:23–26). Access to this area nearest the temple itself may have been restricted to the priests (2 Chr. 4:9).

three rows. Each layer of stone was separated by a layer of cedar beams (cf. Ezra. 6:4). Similar constructions have been unearthed at Megiddo.

■ 6:38 seven years. It took Solomon seven years to build the temple, whereas it took him thirteen years to build his palace (7:1).

■ 7:2 the House of the Forest of Lebanon. Probably so named because of the extensive use of Lebanon cedar inside. This complex was probably located immediately south of the temple.

length . . . one hundred cubits, its width fifty . . . and its height thirty. Although the same height as the temple, Solomon's palace was considerably longer and more than twice as wide (6:2).

He also made the Hall of Pillars: its length was fifty cubits, and its width thirty cubits; and in front of them was a portico with pillars, and a canopy was in front of them.

7 Then he made a hall for the throne, the Hall of Judgment, where he might judge; and it was paneled with cedar from floor to [3]ceiling.

8 And the house where he dwelt had another court inside the hall, of like workmanship. Solomon also made a house like this hall for Pharaoh's daughter, [c]whom he had taken as wife.

9 All these were of costly stones cut to size, trimmed with saws, inside and out, from the foundation to the eaves, and also on the outside to the great court. 10 The foundation was of costly stones, large stones, some ten cubits and some eight cubits. 11 And above were costly stones, hewn to size, and cedar wood. 12 The great court was enclosed with three rows of hewn stones and a row of cedar beams. So were the [d]inner court of the house of the LORD [e]and the vestibule of the temple.

Hiram the Craftsman

13 Now King Solomon sent and brought [4]Huram from Tyre. 14 [f]He was the son of a widow from the tribe of Naphtali, and [g]his father was a man of Tyre, a bronze worker; [h]he was filled with wisdom and understanding and skill in working with all kinds of bronze work. So he came to King Solomon and did all his work.

The Bronze Pillars for the Temple

15 And he [5]cast [i]two pillars of bronze, each one eighteen cubits high, and a line of twelve cubits measured the circumference of each. 16 Then he made two capitals of cast bronze, to set on the tops of the pillars. The height of one capital was five cubits, and the height of the other capital was five cubits. 17 He made a lattice network, with wreaths of chainwork, for the capitals which were on top of the pillars: seven chains for one capital and seven for the other capital. 18 So he made the pillars, and two rows of pomegranates above the network all around to cover the capitals that were on top; and thus he did for the other capital.

19 The capitals which were on top of the pillars in the hall were in the shape of lilies, four cubits. 20 The capitals on the two pillars also had pomegranates above, by the convex surface which was next to the network; and there were [j]two hundred such pomegranates in rows on each of the capitals all around.

21 [k]Then he set up the pillars by the vestibule of the temple; he set up the pillar on the right and called its name [6]Jachin, and he set up the pillar on the left and called its name [7]Boaz. 22 The tops of the pillars were in the shape of lilies. So the work of the pillars was finished.

The Sea and the Oxen

23 And he made [l]the Sea of cast bronze, ten cubits from one brim to the other; it was completely round. Its height was five cubits, and a line of thirty cubits measured its circumference.

24 Below its brim were ornamental buds encircling it all around, ten to a cubit, [m]all the way around the Sea. The ornamental buds were cast in two rows when it was cast. 25 It stood on [n]twelve oxen: three looking toward the north, three looking toward the west, three looking toward the south, and three looking toward the east; the Sea was set upon them, and all their back parts pointed inward. 26 It was a handbreadth thick; and its brim was shaped like the brim of a cup, like a lily blossom. It contained [8]two thousand baths.

■ 7:6 the Hall of Pillars. Half the length of the palace and about two-thirds of the width (7:2), this colonnade was probably an impressive entrance hall.

■ 7:7 the Hall of Judgment. The place where Solomon formally carried out his duties as administrator of God's holy kingdom (3:16 note).

■ 7:13–51 This part of the account is not placed chronologically; Solomon actually began making arrangements for equipping the temple prior to its actual completion (2 Chr. 2:7, 13, 14).

7:13 Huram. He should not be confused with Hiram, the king of Tyre, with whom Solomon ratified a treaty for the supply of materials and craftsmen (5:1–12).

■ 7:15 two pillars of bronze. One pillar was on each side of the temple's entrance (v. 21). It is unclear whether they were freestanding or whether they supported a roof which may have also covered the porch of the temple.

■ 7:18–20 the capitals. It was common in the ancient Near East to lavish capitals with ornate decoration.

■ 7:23 the Sea of cast bronze. A huge circular basin holding up to eight thousand gallons of water (2 Chr. 4:5 note). According to Chronicles, the priests used the Sea for cleansing (2 Chr. 4:6). Its symbolic significance is disputed. Some scholars highlight the positive attributes of water as life-giving, while others argue that the bronze Sea commemorates God's power over the forces of chaos, typified by the sea (cf. Rev. 21:1).

■ 7:25 twelve oxen. The Sea rested on four triads of oxen pointed in the four cardinal directions. In the ancient Near East, oxen symbolized physical and reproductive potency. Their arrangement is indicative of God's universal lordship.

The Carts and the Lavers

27 He also made ten [9]carts of bronze; four cubits was the length of each cart, four cubits its width, and three cubits its height. 28 And this was the design of the carts: They had panels, and the panels were between frames; 29 on the panels that were between the frames were lions, oxen, and cherubim. And on the frames was a pedestal on top. Below the lions and oxen were wreaths of plaited work. 30 Every cart had four bronze wheels and axles of bronze, and its four feet had supports. Under the laver were supports of cast bronze beside each wreath. 31 Its opening inside the crown at the top was one cubit in diameter; and the opening was round, shaped like a pedestal, one and a half cubits in outside diameter; and also on the opening were engravings, but the panels were square, not round. 32 Under the panels were the four wheels, and the axles of the wheels were joined to the cart. The height of a wheel was one and a half cubits. 33 The workmanship of the wheels was like the workmanship of a chariot wheel; their axle pins, their rims, their spokes, and their hubs were all of cast bronze. 34 And there were four supports at the four corners of each cart; its supports were part of the cart itself. 35 On the top of the cart, at the height of half a cubit, it was perfectly round. And on the top of the cart, its flanges and its panels were of the same casting. 36 On the plates of its flanges and on its panels he engraved cherubim, lions, and palm trees, wherever there was a clear space on each, with wreaths all around. 37 Thus he made the ten carts. All of them were of [1]the same mold, one measure, and one shape.

38 Then [o]he made ten lavers of bronze; each laver contained [2]forty baths, and each laver was four cubits. On each of the ten carts was a laver. 39 And he put five carts on the right side of the house, and five on the left side of the house. He set the Sea on the right side of the house, toward the southeast.

Furnishings of the Temple

40 [p]Huram[3] made the lavers and the shovels and the bowls. So Huram finished doing all the work that he was to do for King Solomon for the house of the LORD: 41 the two pillars, the two bowl-shaped capitals that were on top of the two pillars; the two [q]networks covering the two bowl-shaped capitals which were on top of the pillars; 42 [r]four hundred pomegranates for the two networks (two rows of pomegranates for each network, to cover the two bowl-shaped capitals that were on top of the pillars); 43 the ten carts, and ten lavers on the carts; 44 one Sea, and twelve oxen under the Sea; 45 [s]the pots, the shovels, and the bowls.

All these articles which [4]Huram made for King Solomon for the house of the LORD were of burnished bronze. 46 [t]In the plain of Jordan the king had them cast in clay molds, between [u]Succoth and [v]Zaretan. 47 And Solomon did not weigh all the articles, because there were so many; the weight of the bronze was not [w]determined.

48 Thus Solomon had all the furnishings made for the house of the LORD: [x]the altar of gold, and [y]the table of gold on which was [z]the showbread; 49 the lampstands of pure gold, five on the right side and five on the left in front of the inner sanctuary, with the flowers and the lamps and the wick-trimmers of gold; 50 the basins, the trimmers, the bowls, the ladles, and the [5]censers of pure gold; and the hinges of gold, both for the doors of the inner room (the Most Holy Place) and for the doors of the main hall of the temple.

51 So all the work that King Solomon had done for the house of the LORD was finished; and Solomon brought in the things [a]which his father David had dedicated: the silver and the gold and the furnishings. He put them in the treasuries of the house of the LORD.

■ 7:27 ten carts of bronze. These portable and highly decorated wagons held water basins (v. 38). The priests used the water to wash sections of animals that had been slaughtered for burnt offerings (Lev. 1:9, 13; 2 Chr. 4:6).

■ 7:40 shovels and the bowls. Priests used the shovels to remove ashes from the altar, and the bowls for rituals involving blood or water (Ex. 27:3; Jer. 52:18).

■ 7:46 Succoth. This center of metallurgy was located east of the Jordan, north of the Wadi Jabbok (Gen. 33:17; Josh. 13:27; Judg. 8:4, 5) Zarethan was nearby.

■ 7:48 the altar of gold . . . table. The same altar described in 6:22. The "showbread" or holy bread (1 Sam. 21:4, 6) arranged on the golden table was understood as an offering before God (Ex. 25:23–30; Lev. 24:5–9; Num. 4:7; 2 Chr. 13:11; Matt. 12:4).

■ 7:49 lampstands. There were ten lampstands in the temple, as compared to only one in the tabernacle (Ex. 25:31–40; 26:35).

■ 7:51 his father David. During his reign David accumulated booty from military campaigns and received tribute from a variety of states (2 Sam. 8:9–12; 1 Chr. 18:7–11; 2 Chr. 5:1).

treasuries of the house of the LORD. Depositories for the government's wealth, sometimes used as tribute by the kings to ward off foreign invaders (15:18; 2 Kin. 12:18; 18:13–16). The treasure was also the object of raids by opposing kings (14:25, 26; 2 Kin. 14:13, 14).

The Ark Brought into the Temple

8 Now [a]Solomon assembled the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the chief fathers of the children of Israel, to King Solomon in Jerusalem, [b]that they might bring [c]up the ark of the covenant of the LORD from the City of David, which is Zion. 2 Therefore all the men of Israel assembled with King Solomon at the [d]feast in the month of [1]Ethanim, which is the seventh month. 3 So all the elders of Israel came, [e]and the priests took up the ark. 4 Then they brought up the ark of the LORD, [f]the [2]tabernacle of meeting, and all the holy furnishings that were in the tabernacle. The priests and the Levites brought them up. 5 Also King Solomon, and all the congregation of Israel who were assembled with him, were with him before the ark, [g]sacrificing sheep and oxen that could not be counted or numbered for multitude. 6 Then the priests [h]brought in the ark of the covenant of the LORD to [i]its place, into the inner sanctuary of the temple, to the Most Holy Place, [j]under the wings of the cherubim. 7 For the cherubim spread their two wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubim overshadowed the ark and its poles. 8 The poles [k]extended so that the [3]ends of the poles could be seen from the holy place, in front of the inner sanctuary; but they could not be seen from outside. And they are there to this day. 9 [l]Nothing was in the ark [m]except the two tablets of stone which Moses [n]put there at Horeb, [o]when the LORD made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt.

10 And it came to pass, when the priests came out of the holy place, that the cloud [p]filled the house of the LORD, 11 so that the priests could not continue ministering because of the cloud; for the [q]glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD.

12 [r]Then Solomon spoke:

"The LORD said He would dwell [s]in the dark cloud.
13 [t]I have surely built You an exalted house,
[u]And a place for You to dwell in forever."

Solomon's Speech at Completion of the Work

14 Then the king turned around and [v]blessed the whole assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel was standing. 15 And he said: [w]"Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, who [x]spoke with His mouth to my father David, and with His hand has fulfilled it, saying, 16 'Since the day that I brought My people Israel out of Egypt, I have chosen no city from any tribe of Israel in which to build a house, that [y]My name might be there; but I chose [z]David to be over My people Israel.' 17 Now [a]it was in the heart of my father David to build a [4]temple for the name of the LORD God of Israel. 18 [b]But the LORD said to my father David, 'Whereas it was in your heart to build a temple for My name, you did well that it was in your heart. 19 Nevertheless [c]you shall not build the temple, but your son who will come from your body, he shall build the temple for My name.' 20 So the LORD has fulfilled His word which He spoke; and I have [5]filled the position of my father David, and sit on the throne of Israel, [d]as the LORD promised; and I have built a temple for the name of the LORD God of Israel. 21 And there I have made a place for the ark, in the city of David, which is Zion. This oldest section of Jerusalem was south of the temple. David had earlier brought the ark from the house of Obed-Edom to Zion (2 Sam. 6:1–19).

■ 8:1 the elders of Israel. Senior leaders who were in charge of local government and justice throughout Old Testament history (Ex. 18:13–26; Num. 11:16–30; Judg. 21:16–24; 1 Sam. 8:1–9).

■ 8:2 the feast. Solomon apparently waited eleven months to dedicate the temple (6:38) so that the ceremony could be part of the Feast of Tabernacles in the New Year, which was commemorated during the seventh month (Lev. 23:34; Deut. 16:13–15).

■ 8:4 the tabernacle of meeting. The tabernacle along with all its furnishings is brought, presumably from Gibeon (3:4 note), by the priests and the Levites.

■ 8:6 under the wings of the cherubim. See note on 6:23.

■ 8:8 to this day. Statements to this effect (9:13, 21; 10:12; 12:19) were written from the perspective of a writer who lived before the destruction of the temple (586 B.C.). See Introduction: Author.

■ 8:9 the two tablets of stone. The copy of the covenant (cf. v. 21; Ex. 25:16, 21; 40:20).

Horeb. Following the pattern established in Deuteronomy, the writers of the Deuteronomic History call the site where the covenant was made "Mount Horeb" and not "Mount Sinai." "Horeb" is used eleven times in Deuteronomy (cf. Deut. 5:2) and twice in the history (here and 19:8); "Sinai" occurs only once in each (Deut. 33:2; Judg. 5:5).

■ 8:10 the cloud filled the house of the LORD. After the Exodus from Egypt, God led His people through the desert with a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night (Ex. 13:21; 40:36–38). At Mount Sinai God revealed Himself in a cloud (Ex. 19:9; 24:15–18). When the tabernacle was constructed God covered it with the cloud of His glory (Ex. 40:34, 35; cf. Lev. 16:2). Now He shows His approval of the newly constructed sanctuary.

■ 8:12 dwell in the dark cloud. No one can see God and live, but God can reveal Himself and manifest His love toward His people in indirect ways (v. 10 note).

■ 8:13 a place for You to dwell in forever. The temple, as a divinely sanctioned place for prayer and sacrifice, was a special sign of God's presence among His people (Ps. 76:2; 132:13, 14; Is. 8:18; Amos 1:2).

which is [e]the covenant of the LORD which He made with our fathers, when He brought them out of the land of Egypt."

Solomon's Prayer of Dedication

22 Then Solomon stood before [f]the altar of the LORD in the presence of all the assembly of Israel, and [g]spread out his hands toward heaven; 23 and he said: "LORD God of Israel, [h]there is no God in heaven above or on earth below like You, [i]who keep Your covenant and mercy with Your servants who [j]walk before You with all their hearts. 24 You have kept what You promised Your servant David my father; You have both spoken with Your mouth and fulfilled it with Your hand, as it is this day. 25 Therefore, LORD God of Israel, now keep what You promised Your servant David my father, saying, [k]'You shall not fail to have a man sit before Me on the throne of Israel, only if your sons take heed to their way, that they walk before Me as you have walked before Me.' 26 [l]And now I pray, O God of Israel, let Your word come true, which You have spoken to Your servant David my father.

27 "But [m]will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, heaven and the [n]heaven of heavens cannot contain You. How much less this temple which I have built! 28 Yet regard the prayer of Your servant and his supplication, O LORD my God, and listen to the cry and the prayer which Your servant is praying before You today: 29 that Your eyes may be open toward this [o]temple night and day, toward the place of which You said, [p]'My name shall be [q]there,' that You may hear the prayer which Your servant makes [r]toward this place. 30 [s]And may You hear the supplication of Your servant and of Your people Israel, when they pray toward this place. Hear in heaven Your dwelling place; and when You hear, forgive.

31 "When anyone sins against his neighbor, and is forced to take [t]an oath, and comes and takes an oath before Your altar in this temple, 32 then hear in heaven, and act, and judge Your servants, [u]condemning the wicked, bringing his way on his head, and justifying the righteous by giving him according to his righteousness.

33 [v]"When Your people Israel are defeated before an enemy because they have sinned against You, and [w]when they turn back to You and confess Your name, and pray and make supplication to You in this temple, 34 then hear in heaven, and forgive the sin of Your people Israel, and bring them back to the land which You gave to their [x]fathers.

35 [y]"When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain because they have sinned against You, when they pray toward this place and confess Your name, and turn from their sin because You afflict them, 36 then hear in heaven, and forgive the sin of Your servants, Your people Israel, that You may [z]teach them [a]the good way in which they should walk; and send rain on Your land which You have given to Your people as an inheritance.

37 [b]"When there is famine in the land, pestilence or blight or mildew, locusts or grasshoppers; when their enemy besieges them in the land of their [c]cities; whatever plague or whatever sickness there is; 38 whatever prayer, whatever supplication is made by anyone, or by all Your people Israel, when each one knows the plague of his own heart, and spreads out his hands toward this temple: 39 then hear in heaven Your dwelling place, and forgive, and act, and give to everyone according to all his ways, whose heart You know (for You alone [d]know the hearts of all the

■ 8:22 spread out his hands. This gesture signified prayer (Ex. 9:29; Is. 1:15; 1 Tim. 2:8).

■ 8:23 there is no God . . . like You. The incomparability of God is a prominent theme throughout the Scriptures (Ex. 15:11; Deut. 4:39; Ps. 86:8; Mark 12:29; Eph. 4:6; Rev. 19:6). God's fidelity is not temporary (3:6; 8:16; Deut. 7:9, 12; Ps. 52:8; Heb. 13:8), nor is His power limited to a specific country (vv. 41–43; Jonah).

■ 8:25 only if your sons take heed. Solomon repeats the condition that his dynasty would continue to rule Israel if David's sons remained faithful to God (2:3, 4; 6:11–13; 9:4–9; 11:11–13).

■ 8:29 My name shall be there. God had promised that He would be present in a special way in the Jerusalem temple, and Solomon implores God to hear the prayers that are directed toward the temple (Dan. 6:10; 9:17; Jon. 2:4).

■ 8:31 an oath. In certain trials the suspect might be required to take an oath of innocence at the sanctuary to corroborate his defense (Ex. 22:7–12; Num. 5:11–31). Solomon prays that God, through His involvement in the suspects' lives, would condemn the guilty and declare the innocent not guilty (v. 32).

■ 8:33 because they have sinned against You. Defeat by an enemy was not a defeat by that enemy's god, but a defeat of Israel by God Himself due to Israel's own infidelity (Deut. 28:25; Josh. 7; 2 Chr. 36:15–19; Lam. 2:1–8).

■ 8:34 bring them back to the land. It was not unusual for the army and people defeated in war to be deported to another land. Solomon asks God to be merciful and restore those who ask His forgiveness.

■ 8:35 When the heavens are shut up. Just as God directs the fate of His people in war, so also God controls the world of nature. Drought was one of the curses of the covenant (17:1; Deut. 28:22–24; Amos 4:7, 8).

■ 8:37 famine . . . sickness. Solomon mentions a wide variety of afflictions: famine, pestilence, locusts, war, and sickness, all mentioned in Deut. 28.

■ 8:39 give to everyone according to all his ways. Solomon prays that God would use His infinite knowledge to establish justice among His people.

sons of men), 40 [c]that they may fear You all the days that they live in the land which You gave to our fathers.

41 "Moreover, concerning a foreigner, who is not of Your people Israel, but has come from a far country for Your name's sake 42 (for they will hear of Your great name and Your [d]strong hand and Your outstretched arm), when he comes and prays toward this temple, 43 hear in heaven Your dwelling place, and do according to all for which the foreigner calls to You, [e]that all peoples of the earth may know Your name and [f]fear You, as do Your people Israel, and that they may know that this temple which I have built is called by Your name.

44 "When Your people go out to battle against their enemy, wherever You send them, and when they pray to the LORD toward the city which You have chosen and the temple which I have built for Your name, 45 then hear in heaven their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their [g]cause.

46 "When they sin against You [g](for there is no one who does not sin), and You become angry with them and deliver them to the enemy, and they take them captive [h]to the land of the enemy, far or near; 47 [i]yet when they [j]come to themselves in the land where they were carried captive, and repent, and make supplication to You in the land of those who took them captive, [j]saying, 'We have sinned and done wrong, we have committed wickedness'; 48 and when they [k]return to You with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their enemies who led them away captive, and [l]pray to You toward their land which You gave to their fathers, the city which You have chosen and the temple which I have built for Your name: 49 then hear in heaven Your dwelling place their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their [l]cause, 50 and forgive Your people who have sinned against You, and all their transgressions which they have transgressed against You; and [m]grant them compassion before those who took them captive, that they may have compassion on them 51 (for [n]they are Your people and Your inheritance, whom You brought out of Egypt, [o]out of the iron furnace), 52 [p]that Your eyes may be open to the supplication of Your servant and the supplication of Your people Israel, to listen to them whenever they call to You. 53 For You separated them from among all the peoples of the earth to be Your inheritance, [q]as You spoke by Your servant Moses, when You brought our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord GOD."

Solomon Blesses the Assembly

54 [r]And so it was, when Solomon had finished praying all this prayer and supplication to the LORD, that he arose from before the altar of the LORD, from kneeling on his knees with his hands spread up to heaven. 55 Then he stood [s]and blessed all the assembly of Israel with a loud voice, saying: 56 "Blessed be the LORD, who has given [t]rest[2] to His people Israel, according to all that He promised. [u]There has not failed one word of all His good promise, which He promised through His servant Moses. 57 May the LORD our God be with us, as He was with our fathers. [v]May He not leave us nor forsake us, 58 that He may [w]incline our hearts to Himself, to walk in all His ways, and to keep His commandments and His statutes and His judgments, which He commanded our fathers. 59 And may these words of mine, with which I have made supplication before the LORD, be near the LORD our God day and night, that He may maintain the cause of His servant and the cause of His people Israel, as each day may require, 60 [x]that all the peoples of the earth may know that [y]the LORD is God; there is no other. 61 Let your [z]heart therefore be [3]loyal to the LORD our God, to walk in His statutes and keep His commandments, as at this day."

■ 8:43 that all peoples of the earth may know Your name. Solomon prays that one day all peoples will commit their lives to God, just as Israel does (cf. Is. 56:6–8; Zech. 8:23; Matt. 28:19).

■ 8:44 When Your people go out to battle. Solomon is referring to military endeavors taken at divine behest (20:13–30; Lev. 26:7; Deut. 20; 21:10; 1 Sam. 23:2, 4; 2 Sam. 5:19, 24).

■ 8:46 no one who does not sin. See "Original Sin and Total Depravity" at Ps. 51:5.

they take them captive. Exile from the land is one of the most severe curses in the Sinaitic covenant (v. 33 note; Lev. 26:33–45; Deut. 28:64–68; 30:1–5). Exile is also a curse in a number of ancient Near Eastern treaties.

■ 8:50 forgive Your people. Being outside the land of Israel does not mean that God's promises are no longer operative (Neh. 1:11). Solomon beseeches God to cause the exiles' captors to show mercy toward their captives (Ps. 106:46).

■ 8:53 For You separated them. Since God specifically chose Israel and liberated them from Egypt to become His own special inheritance (Ex. 19:3–6; Deut. 4:20; 9:26), Solomon prays that God will not forget this history of redemption when Israel finds itself in exile.

■ 8:56 the LORD, who has given rest to His people. After considerable upheaval in the period of wilderness wandering and conquest, Israel had experienced the fulfillment of the "good promise, which He promised through His servant Moses" (5:4 note; Ex. 33:14; Deut. 12:10). In the New Testament, Christians are exhorted to make every effort to enter God's rest (Heb. 4:11; cf. Rev. 14:13).

■ 8:60 there is no other. The other gods whom people worship are fictional; the only real God is the God of Israel (cf. Deut. 4:35).

Solomon Dedicates the Temple

62 Then [a]the king and all Israel with him offered sacrifices before the LORD. 63 And Solomon offered a sacrifice of peace offerings, which he offered to the LORD, twenty-two thousand bulls and one hundred and twenty thousand sheep. So the king and all the children of Israel dedicated the house of the LORD. 64 On [b]the same day the king consecrated the middle of the court that was in front of the house of the LORD; for there he offered burnt offerings, grain offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the [c]bronze altar that was before the LORD was too small to receive the burnt offerings, the grain offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings.

65 At that time Solomon held [d]a feast, and all Israel with him, a great assembly from [e]the entrance of Hamath to [f]the Brook of Egypt, before the LORD our God, [g]seven days and seven more days—fourteen days. 66 [h]On the eighth day he sent the people away; and they [4]blessed the king, and went to their tents joyful and glad of heart for all the good that the LORD had done for His servant David, and for Israel His people.

God's Second Appearance to Solomon

9 And [a]it came to pass, when Solomon had finished building the house of the LORD [b]and the king's house, and [c]all Solomon's desire which he wanted to do, 2 that the LORD appeared to Solomon the second time, [d]as He had appeared to him at Gibeon. 3 And the LORD said to him: [e]"I have heard your prayer and your supplication that you have made before Me; I have consecrated this house which you have built [f]to put My name there forever, [g]and My eyes and My heart will be there perpetually. 4 Now if you [h]walk before Me [i]as your father David walked, in integrity of heart and in uprightness, to do according to all that I have commanded you, and if you [j]keep My statutes and My judgments, 5 then I will establish the throne of your kingdom over Israel forever, [k]as I promised David your father, saying, 'You shall not fail to have a man on the throne of Israel.' 6 [l]But if you or your sons at all [1]turn from following Me, and do not keep My commandments and My statutes which I have set before you, but go and serve other gods and worship them, 7 [m]then I will [2]cut off Israel from the land which I have given them; and this house which I have consecrated [n]for My name I will cast out of My sight. [o]Israel will be a proverb and a byword among all peoples. 8 And as for [p]this house, which is exalted, everyone who passes by it will be astonished and will hiss, and say, [q]'Why has the LORD done thus to this land and to this house?' 9 Then they will answer, 'Because they forsook the LORD their God, who brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and have embraced other gods, and worshiped them and served them; therefore the LORD has brought all this [r]calamity on them.' "

Solomon and Hiram Exchange Gifts

10 Now [s]it happened at the end of twenty years, when Solomon had built the two houses, the house of the LORD and the king's house 11 [t](Hiram the king of Tyre had supplied Solomon with the bronze altar. This altar on which sacrifices were burned was located in front of the temple (vv. 22, 54) and is different from the incense altar inside the temple (6:22 note).

■ 8:63 twenty-two thousand bulls. Over the course of fourteen days of dedicatory festivities, Solomon and the great many people present in Jerusalem offer a multitude of sacrifices, far more than at the comparatively modest dedication of the second temple (Ezra 6:16–18).

■ 8:64 offerings. For burnt offerings, see note on 3:4. Grain offerings often accompanied animal sacrifices (Lev. 2; 7:11–14; 8:26; 9:4; 14:20; Num. 15:1–10) and were indications of the worshiper's gratitude and praise. For peace offerings, see Lev. 3.

■ 8:65 the entrance of Hamath. This area near the northern limit of the territory controlled by Israel was located about 20 miles south of Kadesh on the Orontes River (Josh. 13:5; 2 Kin. 14:25).

Brook of Egypt. Probably to be equated with Wadi El-Arish, in northeastern Sinai. People from the entire extent of Solomon's kingdom were present for these festivities (4:21).

■ 8:66 all the good that the LORD had done for His servant David, and for Israel His people. God graciously fulfilled His commitment to David that one of his offspring would build the temple he had wanted to build (2 Sam. 7:1–16). God also gave Israel a central sanctuary (Deut. 12) and rest from their enemies (1 Kin. 5:4).

■ 9:3 have consecrated. God made the temple holy by being present in a special way (8:10–13, 29).

■ 9:4 if you walk. The attention shifts to the conduct of Solomon and future kings. As stated previously (2:3, 4 and notes; 8:25), the future dominion of David's descendants over Israel is contingent on their fidelity to the Torah.

■ 9:7 cut off. The presence of the temple is not an unchangeable guarantee against the consequences of prolonged covenant infidelity (6:13 note). The covenant curses will come into effect if the king and people are unfaithful (Deut. 28:37; Jer. 19:8).

■ 9:9 forsook. Other peoples will understand the cause of the unusual spectacle of God destroying His own temple and exiling His people (Deut. 29:24–28).

■ 9:10—10:29 This section highlights Solomon's glory by summarizing his building projects (9:10–28), his fame (10:1–13), and his great riches (10:14–29).

■ 9:10 at the end of twenty years. Given the earlier chronological notices (6:1, 37, 38; 7:1), this would be around 946 B.C.

■ 9:11 Solomon then gave Hiram twenty cities. Although Solomon and Hiram had made an earlier agreement (5:1–12), it appears that Solomon was now in financial difficulty. In exchange for Hiram sending Solomon 120 talents (4½ tons) of gold (v. 14), Solomon granted Hiram the use of twenty cities in Galilee (cf. 2 Chr. 8:2 and note).

cedar and cypress and gold, as much as he desired), that King Solomon then gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee. 12 Then Hiram went from Tyre to see the cities which Solomon had given him, but they did not please him. 13 So he said, "What kind of cities are these which you have given me, my brother?" [u]And he called them the land of [3]Cabul, as they are to this day. 14 Then Hiram sent the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold.

Solomon's Additional Achievements

15 And this is the reason for [v]the labor force which King Solomon raised: to build the house of the LORD, his own house, [4]the [w]Millo, the wall of Jerusalem, [x]Hazor, [y]Megiddo, and [z]Gezer. 16 (Pharaoh king of Egypt had gone up and taken Gezer and burned it with fire, [a]had killed the Canaanites who dwelt in the city, and had given it as a dowry to his daughter, Solomon's wife.) 17 And Solomon built Gezer, Lower [b]Beth Horon, 18 [c]Baalath, and Tadmor in the wilderness, in the land of Judah, 19 all the storage cities that Solomon had, cities for [d]his chariots and cities for his [e]cavalry, and whatever Solomon [f]desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion.

20 [g]All the people who were left of the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, who were not of the children of Israel— 21 that is, their descendants [h]who were left in the land after them, [i]whom the children of Israel had not been able to destroy completely—[j]from these Solomon raised [k]forced labor, as it is to this day. 22 But of the children of Israel Solomon [l]made no forced laborers, because they were men of war and his servants: his officers, his captains, commanders of his chariots, and his cavalry.

23 Others were chiefs of the officials who were over Solomon's work: [m]five hundred and fifty, who ruled over the people who did the work.

24 But [n]Pharaoh's daughter came up from the City of David to [o]her house which [5]Solomon had built for her. [p]Then he built the Millo.

25 [q]Now three times a year Solomon offered burnt offerings and peace offerings on the altar which he had built for the LORD, and he burned incense with them on the altar that was before the LORD. So he finished the temple.

26 [r]King Solomon also built a fleet of ships at [s]Ezion Geber, which is near [6]Eloth on the shore of the Red Sea, in the land of Edom. 27 [t]Then Hiram sent his servants with the fleet, seamen who knew the sea, to work with the servants of Solomon. 28 And they went to [u]Ophir, and acquired four hundred and twenty talents of gold from there, and brought it to King Solomon.

CHAPTER 10

1 [a]Matt. 12:42 [b]Judg. 14:12

■ 9:14 one hundred and twenty talents of gold. At first glance, this seems like a huge amount of gold. Nevertheless, the gold Solomon received from Hiram is not as much as the 150 talents of gold Tiglath-Pileser III of Assyria claimed to have received from Tyre in about 730 B.C.

■ 9:15 the Millo. As the city of Jerusalem expanded northward along the Ophel ridge, it was necessary to build supporting earthworks for the city's fortifications. The "Millo" (lit. "filling") was apparently such a restraining structure constructed east of the palace to fill in a depression along the ridgetop (cf. v. 24; 11:27; 2 Sam. 5:9; 2 Kin. 12:20; 2 Chr. 32:5).

Hazor, Megiddo, and Gezer. These towns are strategically located along major trade routes. Hazor is ten miles north of the Sea of Chinneroth (Galilee); Megiddo is at the opening onto the Jezreel Valley of a strategic pass through the Carmel ridge. Gezer was twenty miles west of Jerusalem. Archaeological excavation has revealed identical Solomonic gates at each of these sites. By fortifying these three sites, Solomon consolidated his control of trade and commerce.

■ 9:16 Pharaoh . . . had gone up and taken Gezer. Gezer had remained in Canaanite hands, despite the Israelite conquest (Josh. 16:10; Judg. 1:29). The pharaoh captured Gezer, perhaps from the Philistines. Since Egypt and Israel had a treaty (3:1), it was in the interest of both countries not to have Gezer in hostile hands.

■ 9:17 Lower Beth Horon. Eleven miles northwest of Jerusalem (cf. Josh. 16:3) at the foot of a strategic pass controlling access to the Judean highlands.

■ 9:18 Baalath. Eight miles northeast of Ashdod, near the Mediterranean coast (cf. Josh. 19:44).

Tadmor. Probably the same as Tamar, sixteen miles southwest of the Dead Sea (Judg. 1:16. Tamar means "palm"; Ezek. 47:19; 48:28).

■ 9:20 the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites. When Israel entered the land of Canaan, they were to destroy completely the nations who were living there (Deut. 7:1; 20:17; Josh. 3:10; 9:1). The Israelites did not do this systematically in any systematic fashion (Josh. 16:10; Judg. 1—2; 3:5), and Solomon's policy was to conscript the descendants of these peoples permanently (v. 21).

■ 9:22 Solomon made no forced laborers. Solomon conscripted permanently foreign peoples living in the land, but the Israelite workers he conscripted served for fixed periods of time (5:13 note; 12:4 note).

■ 9:26 Ezion Geber. So as not to be dependent on the merchant navies and ports of other nations, Solomon built ships at Ezion Geber, his own port. This was a new venture for Israel, and Solomon enlisted the help of his ally, Hiram of Tyre, who supplied sailors to accompany Solomon's own (v. 27).

Red Sea. That is, the Gulf of Aqaba (Jer. 49:20, 21).

■ 9:28 Ophir. The location of Ophir is disputed (Job 28:16; Ps. 45:9; Is. 13:12). Suggestions include western Arabia, the Horn of Africa, and India.

■ 10:1 Sheba. Two main suggestions for this location are southwest Arabia (modern Yemen) and northern Arabia, the land of the Sabeans (Job 1:15; 6:19; Ps. 72:10).

very great [1]retinue, with camels that bore spices, very much gold, and precious stones; and when she came to Solomon, she spoke with him about all that was in her heart. 3 So Solomon answered all her questions; there was nothing [2]so difficult for the king that he could not explain it to her. 4 And when the queen of Sheba had seen all the wisdom of Solomon, the house that he had built, 5 the food on his table, the seating of his servants, the service of his waiters and their apparel, his cupbearers, [c]and his entryway by which he went up to the house of the LORD, there was no more spirit in her. 6 Then she said to the king: "It was a true report which I heard in my own land about your words and your wisdom. 7 However I did not believe the words until I came and saw with my own eyes; and indeed the half was not told me. Your wisdom and prosperity exceed the fame of which I heard. 8 [d]Happy are your men and happy are these your servants, who stand continually before you and hear your wisdom! 9 [e]Blessed be the LORD your God, who [f]delighted in you, setting you on the throne of Israel! Because the LORD has loved Israel forever, therefore He made you king, [g]to do justice and righteousness."

10 Then she [h]gave the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold, spices in great quantity, and precious stones. There never again came such abundance of spices as the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon. 11 [i]Also, the ships of Hiram, which brought gold from Ophir, brought great quantities of [3]almug wood and precious stones from Ophir. 12 [j]And the king made [4]steps of the almug wood for the house of the LORD and for the king's house, also harps and stringed instruments for singers. There never again came such [k]almug wood, nor has the like been seen to this day.

13 Now King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba all she desired, whatever she asked, besides what Solomon had given her according to the royal generosity. So she turned and went to her own country, she and her servants.

Solomon's Great Wealth

14 The weight of gold that came to Solomon yearly was six hundred and sixty-six talents of gold, 15 besides that from the [l]traveling merchants, from the income of traders, [m]from all the kings of Arabia, and from the governors of the country.

16 And King Solomon made two hundred large shields of hammered gold; six hundred shekels of gold went into each shield. 17 He also made [n]three hundred shields of hammered gold; three minas of gold went into each shield. The king put them in the [o]House of the Forest of Lebanon.

18 [p]Moreover the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with pure gold. 19 The throne had six steps, and the top of the throne was round at the back; there were armrests on either side of the place of the seat, and two lions stood beside the armrests. 20 Twelve lions stood there, one on each side of the six steps; nothing like this had been made for any other kingdom.

21 [q]All King Solomon's drinking vessels were gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were pure gold. Not one was silver, for this was accounted as nothing in the his cupbearers. The cupbearer was an important post in ancient Near Eastern governments (Gen. 40; 41:9; Neh. 1:11).

■ 10:9 Blessed be the LORD your God. The Queen of Sheba specifically mentions the personal name of the God of Israel in her statement to Solomon (vv. 6–9). Jesus cites the Queen of Sheba in His indictment against the people of His own day (Matt. 12:42; Luke 11:31).

almug wood. See text note. Suggestions about the nature of this wood include red sandalwood and juniper.

■ 10:12 harps and stringed instruments for singers. Israelite royalty probably sponsored musicians to compose appropriate hymns and psalms for worship.

■ 10:13 Solomon gave. They exchanged gifts (v. 10).

■ 10:14 came to Solomon yearly. Annual, steady tribute was necessary to support all of Solomon's major projects and outlays.

■ 10:15 from the traveling merchants . . . traders. Solomon controlled a large territory on the trade routes north to Mesopotamia and south to Egypt. Tariffs on the goods transported through Israel would have been substantial.

governors of the country. See 4:7–19.

■ 10:16, 17 large shields. These extremely heavy and valuable shields were made chiefly for ceremonial and aesthetic reasons. The use of such shields as a visible sign of a king's wealth and status is not unique to Solomon. After a campaign of about 714 B.C., King Sargon II claims to have taken "six shields of gold" from a temple.

■ 10:18 a great throne of ivory. Solomon used the great influx of tribute to support an extravagant lifestyle (vv. 18–21, 23–25). His throne was probably made of wood inlaid with ivory and gold. Ivory carvings plated with gold have been found in the Assyrian royal palaces at Nimrud. Solomon's desire for the finest in furnishings and buildings burdened his subjects (12:4).

■ 10:21 all the vessels of the House . . . were pure gold. Beautiful golden vessels from ancient times have been found in Egypt (thirteenth century B.C.), Ugarit (on the Mediterranean coast in modern Syria, thirteenth century B.C.), and Persia (sixth to fourth centuries B.C.).

days of Solomon. 22 For the king had [r]merchant[5] ships at sea with the fleet of Hiram. Once every three years the merchant [s]ships came bringing gold, silver, ivory, apes, and [6]monkeys. 23 So [t]King Solomon surpassed all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom.

24 Now all the earth sought the presence of Solomon to hear his wisdom, which God had put in his heart. 25 Each man brought his present: articles of silver and gold, garments, armor, spices, horses, and mules, at a set rate year by year.

26 [u]And Solomon [v]gathered chariots and horsemen; he had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he [7]stationed in the chariot cities and with the king at Jerusalem. 27 [w]The king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, and he made cedar trees as abundant as the sycamores which are in the lowland.

28 [x]Also Solomon had horses imported from Egypt and Keveh; the king's merchants bought them in Keveh at the current price. 29 Now a chariot that was imported from Egypt cost six hundred shekels of silver, and a horse one hundred and fifty; [y]and [8]thus, through their agents, they exported them to all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Syria.

Solomon's Heart Turns from the LORD

11 But [a]King Solomon loved [b]many foreign women, as well as the daughter of Pharaoh: women of the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Sidonians, and Hittites— 2 from the nations of whom the LORD had said to the children of Israel, [c]"You shall not intermarry with them, nor they with you. Surely they will turn away your hearts after their gods." Solomon clung to these in love. 3 And he had seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred concubines; and his wives turned away his heart. 4 For it was so, when Solomon was old, [d]that his wives turned his heart after other gods; and his [e]heart was not [1]loyal to the LORD his God, [f]as was the heart of his father David. 5 For Solomon went after [g]Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, and after [h]Milcom[2] the abomination of the [i]Ammonites. 6 Solomon did evil in the sight of the LORD, and did not fully follow the LORD, as did his father David. 7 [j]Then Solomon built a [3]high place for [k]Chemosh the abomination of Moab, on [l]the hill that is east of Jerusalem, and for Molech the abomination of the people of Ammon. 8 And he did likewise for all his foreign wives, who burned incense and sacrificed to their gods.

9 So the LORD became angry with Solomon, because his heart had turned from the LORD God of Israel, [m]who had appeared to him twice, 10 and [n]had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods; but he did not keep what the LORD had commanded. 11 Therefore the LORD said to Solomon, "Because you have done this, and have not kept My covenant and My statutes, which I have commanded you, [o]I will surely tear the kingdom away from you and give it to your [p]servant. 12 Nevertheless I will not do it in your days, for the sake of

■ 10:26 chariots and horsemen. The "law of the king" in Deut. 17:16 forbids the monarch to accumulate great numbers of chariots and horses.

■ 10:28 Egypt and Keveh. Keveh was in what is now Turkey. It may be that "Egypt" (Hebrew misrayim) has been confused with "Musri," also in Turkey (see also 2 Kin. 7:6). Solomon may have financed the buildup of his own military forces by his trading in the famous Cilician horses and the superior chariots of Egypt (v. 29).

■ 10:29 imported . . . they exported. Not only did Solomon amass chariots and horses, he also initiated substantial trade in these commodities through "the king's merchants" (v. 28). In doing this Solomon was exploiting Israel's strategic geographic location.

the kings of the Hittites. The Hittites lived in Anatolia (Asia Minor). During Solomon's reign they were no longer the unified empire they had been between 1375–1240 B.C. They were now ruled by a number of minor kings, each with his own domain.

■ 11:1 loved many foreign women. Whereas in the first part of his reign, "Solomon loved the LORD, walking in the statutes of his father David" (3:3), he later "loved many foreign women." Diplomatic marriages between the dynasties of various kingdoms were common in the ancient Near East as a means of ratifying treaties, but the multiplication of royal wives is forbidden in Deut. 17:17. Moreover, there were prohibitions against marrying foreign wives in the land Israel was to possess (Ex. 34:16; Deut. 7:1–4; Josh. 23:12, 13).

■ 11:2 turn away your hearts. The phrase alludes to the warning of Deut. 7:4.

■ 11:4 as was the heart of his father David. David is consistently presented as a model king (3:14; 9:4; 14:8; 15:3; 2 Kin. 8:19; 22:2). He was not without sins (2 Sam. 11; 12; 24:1–15; 1 Kin. 15:5), but when he sinned, his repentance was exemplary (2 Sam. 12:16, 17; 24:10–17). David's devotion to God was unparalleled.

■ 11:6 Solomon did evil. Solomon's many sins violated fundamental principles of Israelite religion: multiplying wives (v. 1 note), worshiping other gods (Ex. 20:3, 5), and building sanctuaries for the foreign gods (vv. 7, 8; Ex. 20:4).

■ 11:7 Chemosh. He was the national god of the Moabites (2 Kin. 3:26, 27). See "Syncretism and Idolatry" at Hos. 2:13.

■ 11:10 after other gods. See 3:14; 9:6–9.

■ 11:11 tear the kingdom away. See vv. 29–39.

■ 11:12 I will not do it in your days. God's great love for David causes Him to temper His judgment on Solomon in two respects: first, God postpones the division until the reign of Solomon's son; and second, God does not remove the entire kingdom from the Davidic dynasty (v. 13).

Adversaries of Solomon

14 Now the LORD [u]raised up an adversary against Solomon, Hadad the Edomite; he was a descendant of the king in Edom. 15 [v]For it happened, when David was in Edom, and Joab the commander of the army had gone up to bury the slain, [w]after he had killed every male in Edom 16 (because for six months Joab remained there with all Israel, until he had cut down every male in Edom), 17 that Hadad fled to go to Egypt, he and certain Edomites of his father's servants with him. Hadad was still a little child. 18 Then they arose from Midian and came to Paran; and they took men with them from Paran and came to Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, who gave him a house, apportioned food for him, and gave him land. 19 And Hadad found great favor in the sight of Pharaoh, so that he gave him as wife the sister of his own wife, that is, the sister of Queen Tahpenes. 20 Then the sister of Tahpenes bore him Genubath his son, whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaoh's house. And Genubath was in Pharaoh's household among the sons of Pharaoh.

21 [x]So when Hadad heard in Egypt that David [4]rested with his fathers, and that Joab the commander of the army was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, [5]"Let me depart, that I may go to my own country."

22 Then Pharaoh said to him, "But what have you lacked with me, that suddenly you seek to go to your own country?"

So he answered, "Nothing, but do let me go anyway."

23 And God raised up another adversary against him, Rezon the son of Eliadah, who had fled from his lord, [y]Hadadezer king of Zobah. 24 So he gathered men to him and became captain over a band of raiders, [z]when David killed those of Zobah. And they went to Damascus and dwelt there, and reigned in Damascus. 25 He was an adversary of Israel all the days of Solomon (besides the trouble that Hadad caused); and he abhorred Israel, and reigned over Syria.

Jeroboam's Rebellion

26 Then Solomon's servant, [a]Jeroboam the son of Nebat, an Ephraimite from Zereda, whose mother's name was Zeruah, a widow, [b]also [c]rebelled against the king.

27 And this is what caused him to rebel against the king: [d]Solomon had built the Millo and [6]repaired the damages to the City of David his father. 28 The man Jeroboam was a mighty man of valor; and Solomon, seeing that the young man was [e]industrious, made him the officer over all the labor force of the house of Joseph.

29 Now it happened at that time, when Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, that the prophet [f]Ahijah the Shilonite met him on the way; and he had clothed himself with a new garment, and the two were alone in the field. 30 Then Ahijah took hold of the new garment that was on him, and for the sake of Jerusalem. Jerusalem was God's chosen city, the site of Israel's central sanctuary anticipated in Deut. 12 and constructed by Solomon. Jerusalem is a central symbol of God's love for His people and the communion between God and His people throughout the Bible (Ps. 68:29; 122:2–6; 135:21; 137:5–7; Is. 62:1; Dan. 9:25; Rev. 3:12; 21:2, 10).

■ 11:15 when David was in Edom. See 2 Sam. 8:14. An earlier victory by Joab is reversed, as Hadad returns from exile in Egypt and successfully rebels against Solomon (v. 25).

gave him a house. Taking notice of the emerging power of David, Pharaoh was ready to shelter David's foes in the hope that one day they would curtail Israel's power (v. 21). Ancient treaties forbid providing asylum to political rebels.

■ 11:22 do let me go. Following David's death, Hadad wanted to return to his own land, despite the Pharaoh's objections, probably because he wanted to liberate it from Israelite domination (v. 25).

■ 11:23 another adversary. Formerly Solomon could boast that in his reign there was "neither adversary nor evil occurrence" (5:4), but now God afflicted him with a succession of enemies.

Hadadezer king of Zobah. On David's conquest of Hadadezer and Syria, see 2 Sam. 8:3–6; 10:15–19.

■ 11:26–43 Jeroboam rebels against Solomon and escapes to Egypt until Solomon's death.

■ 11:26 Jeroboam the son of Nebat . . . also rebelled. Whereas Hadad and Rezon are external enemies raised up by God, Jeroboam, an Ephraimite, is an internal foe.

■ 11:27 the Millo. See note on 9:15.

■ 11:28 over all the labor force of the house of Joseph. Jeroboam was in charge of the laborers Solomon drafted from the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh (5:13–16), and was well aware of the resentment these tribes felt toward Solomon (12:4).

■ 11:29 Shilonite. Shiloh was in Ephraim, about twelve miles east of Zeredah.

■ 11:30 tore it into twelve pieces. Ahijah performs a symbolic action,

[g]tore it into twelve pieces. 31 And he said to Jeroboam, "Take for yourself ten pieces, for [h]thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Behold, I will tear the kingdom out of the hand of Solomon and will give ten tribes to you 32 (but he shall have one tribe for the sake of My servant David, and for the sake of Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel), 33 [i]because [7]they have forsaken Me, and worshiped Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, Chemosh the god of the Moabites, and Milcom the god of the people of Ammon, and have not walked in My ways to do what is right in My eyes and keep My statutes and My judgments, as did his father David. 34 However I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand, because I have made him ruler all the days of his life for the sake of My servant David, whom I chose because he kept My commandments and My statutes. 35 But [j]I will take the kingdom out of his son's hand and give it to you—ten tribes. 36 And to his son I will give one tribe, that [k]My servant David may always have a lamp before Me in Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen for Myself, to put My name there. 37 So I will take you, and you shall reign over all your heart desires, and you shall be king over Israel. 38 Then it shall be, if you heed all that I command you, walk in My ways, and do what is right in My sight, to keep My statutes and My commandments, as My servant David did, then [l]I will be with you and [m]build for you an enduring house, as I built for David, and will give Israel to you. 39 And I will afflict the descendants of David because of this, but not forever.' "

40 Solomon therefore sought to kill Jeroboam. But Jeroboam arose and fled to Egypt, to [n]Shishak king of Egypt, and was in Egypt until the death of Solomon.

Death of Solomon

41 Now [o]the rest of the acts of Solomon, all that he did, and his wisdom, are they not written in the book of the acts of Solomon? 42 [p]And the period that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel was forty years. 43 [q]Then Solomon [s]rested with his fathers, and was buried in the City of David his father. And Rehoboam his son reigned in his [r]place.

The Revolt Against Rehoboam

12 And [a]Rehoboam went to [b]Shechem, for all Israel had gone to Shechem to make him king. 2 So it happened, when [c]Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard it (he was still in [d]Egypt, for he had fled from the presence of King Solomon and had been dwelling in Egypt), 3 that they sent and called him. Then Jeroboam and the whole assembly of Israel came and spoke to that is, he acts out a parable. Such colorful actions dramatize the reality of the spoken word and God's intervention in history (cf. 22:11; Is. 20; Jer. 13:1–11). In this case, the torn pieces of Ahijah's robe illustrate the impending division of the kingdom.

■ 11:31 Take for yourself ten pieces. On behalf of the Lord, Ahijah summons Jeroboam to take ten of the twelve pieces, symbolizing the ten northern tribes over which Jeroboam will shortly become king. As with the earlier rebellions of Hadad and Rezon, Jeroboam's insurrection is a divine judgment against Solomon.

■ 11:32 one tribe. See note on v. 13.

■ 11:34 I have made him ruler. See note on v. 12.

■ 11:35 out of his son's hand. That is, from Solomon's successor, Rehoboam (12:1–24).

■ 11:36 that My servant David may always have a lamp. The metaphor of a lamp signifies the permanence of the Davidic dynasty in the city of Jerusalem (15:4; 2 Sam. 21:17; 2 Kin. 8:19; 2 Chr. 21:7; Ps. 132:17).

■ 11:37 over all your heart desires. A similar promise is given to David (2 Sam. 3:21).

king over Israel. That is, over the ten northern tribes. During the period of the divided kingdom, the term "Israel" most often designates these ten tribes. "Judah" denotes the domain still ruled by David's descendants.

■ 11:38 if you heed all that I command you. Jeroboam will be subject to the same covenantal stipulations that were operative for Saul, David, and Solomon (2:3, 4 and notes).

I will be with you. These words are an assurance of God's presence and sustenance (Deut. 31:8; Judg. 2:18; 6:12, 16; 1 Sam. 3:19; 2 Sam. 5:10; 7:9). Ahijah hopes that Jeroboam will be more loyal to the covenant than Solomon.

■ 11:39 but not forever. This phrase looks forward to a restoration of Davidic power. Such a restoration was attempted by Josiah of Judah, but he could not complete it (2 Kin. 22; 23). The prophets also look for a renewal of Davidic rule (Jer. 30:9; Ezek. 34:23; 37:15–28; Hos. 3:5; Amos 9:11). These hopes are fulfilled in Jesus Christ, the Messiah (Matt. 1:1; Mark 1:1).

■ 11:40 Shishak. Shishak was the first king over the twenty-second dynasty and ruled from 945–924 B.C. (14:25, 26). Solomon was married to a daughter of a pharaoh from the twenty-first dynasty (3:1 note).

■ 11:41 the book of the acts of Solomon. One of the sources (no longer in existence) used by the writer of 1 and 2 Kings. Other official sources are mentioned in 14:19 and 29.

■ 11:42 forty years. Approximately 970 to 930 B.C.

■ 12:1–24 King Rehoboam's refusal to listen to the people's request to lighten their burden sparks secession by the northern tribes. From this point on the northern kingdom is usually referred to as Israel, and the southern kingdom as Judah.

■ 12:1 Shechem. This major Israelite center associated with the renewal of the covenant with the Lord (Josh. 24:1–33) was in northern Ephraim, thirty miles north of Jerusalem.

to make him king. Rehoboam traveled to Shechem to be made king by acclamation (see 1 Sam. 11:15 and the covenant the northern tribes made with David in 2 Sam. 5:1–3). As it turned out, the northern tribes did not accept Rehoboam.

■ 12:2 when Jeroboam . . . heard it. That is, about the death of Solomon (11:43).

Rehoboam, saying, 4 "Your father made our [e]yoke [1]heavy; now therefore, lighten the burdensome service of your father, and his heavy yoke which he put on us, and we will serve you."

5 So he said to them, "Depart for three days, then come back to me." And the people departed.

6 Then King Rehoboam consulted the elders who stood before his father Solomon while he still lived, and he said, "How do you advise me to answer these people?"

7 And they spoke to him, saying, [f]"If you will be a servant to these people today, and serve them, and answer them, and speak good words to them, then they will be your servants forever."

8 But he rejected the advice which the elders had given him, and consulted the young men who had grown up with him, who stood before him. 9 And he said to them, "What advice do you give? How should we answer this people who have spoken to me, saying, 'Lighten the yoke which your father put on us'?"

10 Then the young men who had grown up with him spoke to him, saying, "Thus you should speak to this people who have spoken to you, saying, 'Your father made our yoke heavy, but you make it lighter on us'—thus you shall say to them: 'My little finger shall be thicker than my father's waist! 11 And now, whereas my father put a heavy yoke on you, I will add to your yoke; my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with [2]scourges!' "

12 So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had directed, saying, "Come back to me the third day." 13 Then the king answered the people [3]roughly, and rejected the advice which the elders had given him; 14 and he spoke to them according to the advice of the young men, saying, "My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke; my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with [4]scourges!" 15 So the king did not listen to the people; for [g]the turn of events was from the LORD, that He might fulfill His word, which the LORD had [h]spoken by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

16 Now when all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, the people answered the king, saying:

[i]"What share have we in David?
We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse.
To your tents, O Israel!
Now, see to your own house, O David!"

So Israel departed to their tents. 17 But Rehoboam reigned over [j]the children of Israel who dwelt in the cities of Judah.

18 Then King Rehoboam [k]sent Adoram, who was in charge of the revenue; but all Israel stoned him with stones, and he died. Therefore King Rehoboam mounted his chariot in haste to flee to Jerusalem. 19 So [l]Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day.

20 Now it came to pass when all Israel heard that Jeroboam had come back, they sent for him and called him to the congregation, and made him king over all [m]Israel. There was none who followed the house of David, but the tribe of Judah [n]only.

21 And when [o]Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, he assembled all the house of Judah with the tribe of [p]Benjamin, one hundred and eighty thousand chosen men who were warriors, to fight against the house of Israel, that he might restore the kingdom to Rehoboam the son of Solomon.

■ 12:4 Your father made our yoke heavy. The expression "yoke" is characteristically used for the oppression of the Israelites by foreign rulers (Lev. 26:13; Deut. 28:48; Is. 9:4; 10:27; 14:25; Jer. 27:8, 11; Ezek. 34:27). Its use here is an indictment of Solomon for imposing harsh labor on his own people (5:13; 9:22; 11:28 and notes).

■ 12:6 the elders. These older and experienced advisors were well acquainted with the traditions of Israel and understood how the monarchy affected the lives of ordinary Israelites.

■ 12:7 If you will be a servant. Though entrusted with power, the Israelite king was to establish justice and so serve both God and His people (Deut. 17:14–20; Ps. 72).

■ 12:8 the young men. These young advisors, like Rehoboam himself, had grown up in the royal court. Apparently they thought that Rehoboam's privileges were inalienable like those of an oriental monarch.

■ 12:10 My little finger shall be thicker than my father's waist. These words are an arrogant and unwise boast about how much more oppressive Rehoboam's yoke will be than his father's (v. 11).

■ 12:15 from the LORD. The writer does not mention God's agency in order to excuse Rehoboam's foolishness. God is using Rehoboam's misguided actions as an instrument for fulfilling Ahijah's prophecy (11:31–39).

■ 12:16 see to your own house, O David. The northern tribes secede from Judah and from the authority of David's descendants. For an identical taunt against David himself, see 2 Sam. 20:1.

■ 12:17 children of Israel. That is, members of the northern tribes who had settled in the south.

■ 12:18 Adoram. Rehoboam unwisely sent out the chief of forced labor to quell the uprising (4:6; 5:14, where the name is spelled "Adoniram").

all Israel. That is, representatives of the northern tribes (12:1).

■ 12:19 to this day. See 8:8 note.

■ 12:20 to the congregation. Jeroboam does not seem to have played an active role in the assembly at Shechem. Once he is made king, however, He takes charge over Israelite affairs (vv. 25–33).

22 But [q]the word of God came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying, 23 "Speak to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, to all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the rest of the people, saying, 24 'Thus says the LORD: "You shall not go up nor fight against your brethren the children of Israel. Let every man return to his house, [r]for this thing is from Me." ' " Therefore they obeyed the word of the LORD, and turned back, according to the word of the LORD.

Jeroboam's Gold Calves

25 Then Jeroboam [s]built[5] Shechem in the mountains of Ephraim, and dwelt there. Also he went out from there and built [t]Penuel. 26 And Jeroboam said in his heart, "Now the kingdom may return to the house of David: 27 If these people [u]go up to offer sacrifices in the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, then the heart of this people will turn back to their lord, Rehoboam king of Judah, and they will kill me and go back to Rehoboam king of Judah."

28 Therefore the king asked advice, [v]made two calves of gold, and said to the people, "It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem. [w]Here are your gods, O Israel, which brought you up from the land of Egypt!" 29 And he set up one in [x]Bethel, and the other he put in [y]Dan. 30 Now this thing became [z]a sin, for the people went to worship before the one as far as Dan. 31 He made [6]shrines on the high places, [a]and made priests from every class of people, who were not of the sons of Levi.

32 Jeroboam [7]ordained a feast on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, like [b]the feast that was in Judah, and offered sacrifices on the altar. So he did at Bethel, sacrificing to the calves that he had made. [c]And at Bethel he installed the priests of the high places which he had made. 33 So he made offerings on the altar which he had made at Bethel on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, in the month which he had [d]devised in his own heart. And he [8]ordained a feast for the children of Israel, and offered sacrifices on the altar and [e]burned incense.

The Message of the Man of God

13 And behold, [a]a man of God went from Judah to Bethel [1]by the word of the LORD, [b]and Jeroboam stood by the altar to burn incense. 2 Then he cried out against the altar [2]by the word of the LORD, and said, "O altar, altar! Thus says the LORD: 'Behold, a child, [c]Josiah by name, shall be born to the house of David; and on you he shall sacrifice the priests of the high places who burn incense on you, and men's bones shall be [d]burned on you.' " 3 And he gave [e]a

3 [e]Is. 7:14; 38:7

■ 12:22 the man of God. This common expression designates a prophet (1 Sam. 2:27; 1 Kin. 13:1; 2 Kin. 4:7).

■ 12:23 the rest of the people. Probably a reference to members of the northern tribes who had settled in Judah (v. 17).

■ 12:24 return to his house, for this thing is from Me. The prophet Shemaiah reaffirms what the prophet Ahijah had earlier declared (11:29–39): the division of the kingdom conforms to the will of God. The existence of two realms is ordained by God, and each now has the opportunity to prove their loyalty to His covenant.

■ 12:25–33 In an effort to retain the people's loyalty, Jeroboam makes golden calves at Bethel and Dan and institutes a counter-system of worship for Israel.

■ 12:25 Penuel. Jeroboam consolidates his rule by fortifying Shechem and Penuel, two critical cities along the River Jabbok.

■ 12:27 If these people go up to offer sacrifices. Jeroboam fears that religious unity between north and south will lead to a return to political unity as well.

■ 12:28 two calves of gold. Canaanites characteristically depicted their gods standing on bulls, calves, or other animals. Jeroboam probably prepared his golden calves as a kind of throne platform for God, and not as images of the Lord. Nevertheless, his innovation was an invitation for Canaanite religious practices to enter the northern kingdom (cf. Ex. 32:4).

■ 12:29 Bethel, and . . . Dan. These sites are the centers farthest south and north in Jeroboam's kingdom. Bethel (lit. "house of God") was a historic Israelite worship center (Gen. 12:8; 28:11–19; 35:6, 7; Judg. 20:26–28; 1 Sam. 7:16).

■ 12:30 this thing became a sin. The establishment of national religious centers in competition with the one in Jerusalem is repeatedly referred to in the books of Kings as the sin of Jeroboam (13:34; 14:16; 15:26, 30; 16:2; 2 Kin. 3:3; 10:29; 13:2; 17:22). Unfortunately, every northern king followed the path first blazed by Jeroboam. None of them tried to institute a thorough reform. Without determined opposition the sin of Jeroboam brought about the deterioration and demise of Israel (2 Kin. 17:22, 23).

■ 12:31 shrines on the high places. See note on 3:2. By promoting worship at the high places, Jeroboam introduced further innovations into his cult.

priests from every class of people. Jeroboam created his own priesthood, without regard to their priestly qualifications or Levitical genealogy (Deut. 18:1–8; Judg. 17:10–13).

■ 12:32 ordained a feast. Perhaps he imitated the Feast of Tabernacles (Lev. 23:34; 1 Kin. 8:2).

■ 12:33 the month which he had devised. That is, one not sanctioned by God. By instituting his own religious centers, festival, and priesthood, Jeroboam deliberately wished to disassociate himself and his people from the Jerusalem temple and the worship practiced there. This clearly goes against the intent of Jeroboam's commission from God as described in 11:36–39 and 12:15, which mandated a political but not a religious separation between Israel and Judah. Loyalty to the covenant (11:38) requires loyalty to the temple established for God's honor and to its priests, festivals, and sacrifices.

■ 13:1 man of God. See note on 12:22.

from Judah. God sent a southern prophet to denounce Jeroboam's northern cult.

■ 13:2 Josiah. He ruled Judah 640–609 B.C., three hundred years after Jeroboam.

sacrifice the priests of the high places. This prophecy is realized during Josiah's reign (2 Kin. 23:15–20). By burning human bones on the altar, Josiah desecrated it and made it unfit for continued use as a sacred precinct.

sign the same day, saying, "This is the sign which the LORD has spoken: Surely the altar shall split apart, and the ashes on it shall be poured out."

4 So it came to pass when King Jeroboam heard the saying of the man of God, who cried out against the altar in Bethel, that he stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, "Arrest him!" Then his hand, which he stretched out toward him, withered, so that he could not pull it back to himself. 5 The altar also was split apart, and the ashes poured out from the altar, according to the sign which the man of God had given by the word of the LORD. 6 Then the king answered and said to the man of God, "Please [f]entreat the favor of the LORD your God, and pray for me, that my hand may be restored to me."

So the man of God entreated the LORD, and the king's hand was restored to him, and became as before. 7 Then the king said to the man of God, "Come home with me and refresh yourself, and [g]I will give you a reward."

8 But the man of God said to the king, [h]"If you were to give me half your house, I would not go in with you; nor would I eat bread nor drink water in this place. 9 For so it was commanded me by the word of the LORD, saying, [i]'You shall not eat bread, nor drink water, nor return by the same way you came.' " 10 So he went another way and did not return by the way he came to Bethel.

Death of the Man of God

11 Now an [j]old prophet dwelt in Bethel, and his [3]sons came and told him all the works that the man of God had done that day in Bethel; they also told their father the words which he had spoken to the king. 12 And their father said to them, "Which way did he go?" For his sons [4]had seen which way the man of God went who came from Judah. 13 Then he said to his sons, "Saddle the donkey for me." So they saddled the donkey for him; and he rode on it, 14 and went after the man of God, and found him sitting under an oak. Then he said to him, "Are you the man of God who came from Judah?"

And he said, "I am."

15 Then he said to him, "Come home with me and eat bread."

16 And he said, [k]"I cannot return with you nor go in with you; neither can I eat bread nor drink water with you in this place. 17 For [5]I have been told [l]by the word of the LORD, 'You shall not eat bread nor drink water there, nor return by going the way you came.' "

18 He said to him, "I too am a prophet as you are, and an angel spoke to me by the word of the LORD, saying, 'Bring him back with you to your house, that he may eat bread and drink water.' " (He was lying to him.)

19 So he went back with him, and ate bread in his house, and drank water.

20 Now it happened, as they sat at the table, that the word of the LORD came to the prophet who had brought him back; 21 and he cried out to the man of God who came from Judah, saying, "Thus says the LORD: 'Because you have disobeyed the word of the LORD, and have not kept the commandment which the LORD your God commanded you, 22 but you came back, ate bread, and drank water in the [m]place of which the LORD said to you, "Eat no bread and drink no water," your corpse shall not come to the tomb of your fathers.' "

23 So it was, after he had eaten bread and after he had drunk, that he saddled the donkey for him, the prophet whom he had brought back. 24 When he was gone, [n]a lion met him on the road and killed him. And his corpse was thrown on the road, and the donkey stood by it. The lion also stood by the corpse. 25 And there, men passed by and saw the corpse thrown on the road, and the lion standing by the corpse. Then they went and told it in the city where the old prophet dwelt.

the ashes on it shall be poured out. The altar was thereby profaned (Lev. 6:10–13).

■ 13:5 The altar also was split apart. This sign (v. 3) confirms the prophecy about Josiah and shows God's condemnation of Jeroboam's religious system.

■ 13:6 the king's hand was restored. God, in generously healing Jeroboam's hand, reaffirms the authority of His prophet.

■ 13:8 eat bread nor drink water. For the prophet to accept this hospitality would imply his approval of Jeroboam's policies.

■ 13:9 You shall not eat . . . nor drink . . . nor return. The prophet has explicit instructions from God about his personal conduct (v. 17).

■ 13:11 dwelt in Bethel. The old prophet is from the north, unlike the man of God from Judah.

■ 13:18 He was lying to him. The man of God from Judah could not have known this, except that the new revelation violated his own orders from God.

■ 13:20 the word of the LORD. Ironically, God uses the old "lying" prophet of Bethel to deliver a true prophecy (v. 18).

■ 13:22 your corpse shall not come to the tomb of your fathers. It was considered important to be buried along with one's ancestors in the family burial plot (1:21; Gen. 47:30; Josh. 24:32; 2 Sam. 2:32; 17:23).

■ 13:24 the donkey . . . lion. The strange behavior of the animals is understood to be miraculous, and when news of it reaches the old prophet he immediately understands its significance.

26 Now when the prophet who had brought him back from the way heard it, he said, "It is the man of God who was disobedient to the word of the LORD. Therefore the LORD has delivered him to the lion, which has torn him and killed him, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke to him." 27 And he spoke to his sons, saying, "Saddle the donkey for me." So they saddled it. 28 Then he went and found his corpse thrown on the road, and the donkey and the lion standing by the corpse. The lion had not eaten the corpse nor torn the donkey. 29 And the prophet took up the corpse of the man of God, laid it on the donkey, and brought it back. So the old prophet came to the city to mourn, and to bury him. 30 Then he laid the corpse in his own tomb; and they mourned over him, saying, [o]"Alas, my brother!" 31 So it was, after he had buried him, that he spoke to his sons, saying, "When I am dead, then bury me in the tomb where the man of God is buried; [p]lay my bones beside his bones. 32 [q]For the [6]saying which he cried out by the word of the LORD against the altar in Bethel, and against all the [7]shrines on the high places which are in the cities of [r]Samaria, will surely come to pass."

33 [s]After this event Jeroboam did not turn from his evil way, but again he made priests from every class of people for the high places; whoever wished, he consecrated him, and he became one of the priests of the high places. 34 [t]And this thing was the sin of the house of Jeroboam, so as [u]to exterminate and destroy it from the face of the earth.

Judgment on the House of Jeroboam

14 At that time Abijah the son of Jeroboam became sick. 2 And Jeroboam said to his wife, "Please arise, and disguise yourself, that they may not recognize you as the wife of Jeroboam, and go to Shiloh. Indeed, Ahijah the prophet is there, who told me that [a]I would be king over this people. 3 [b]Also take [1]with you ten loaves, some cakes, and a jar of honey, and go to him; he will tell you what will become of the child." 4 And Jeroboam's wife did so; she arose [c]and went to Shiloh, and came to the house of Ahijah. But Ahijah could not see, for his eyes were [2]glazed by reason of his age.

5 Now the LORD had said to Ahijah, "Here is the wife of Jeroboam, coming to ask you something about her son, for he is sick. Thus and thus you shall say to her; for it will be, when she comes in, that she will pretend to be another woman."

6 And so it was, when Ahijah heard the sound of her footsteps as she came through the door, he said, "Come in, wife of Jeroboam. Why do you pretend to be another person? For I have been sent to you with bad news. 7 Go, tell Jeroboam, 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: [d]"Because I exalted you from among the people, and made you ruler over My people Israel, 8 and [e]tore the kingdom away from the house of David, and gave it to you; and yet you have not been as My servant David, [f]who kept My commandments and who followed Me with all his heart, to do only what was right in My eyes; 9 but you have done more evil than all who were before you, [g]for you have gone and made for yourself other gods and molded images to provoke Me to anger, and [h]have cast Me behind your back— 10 therefore behold! [i]I will bring disaster on the house of Jeroboam, and [j]will cut off from Jeroboam every male in Israel, [k]bond and free; I will take away the remnant of the house of Jeroboam, as one takes away refuse until it is all gone. 11 The dogs shall eat [l]whoever belongs to Jeroboam and dies in the city, and the birds of the air shall eat whoever dies in the field; for the LORD has spoken!" ' 12 Arise therefore, go to your own house. [m]When your feet enter the city, the child shall die. 13 And all Israel shall mourn for him and bury him, for he is the only one of Jeroboam who shall [3]come to the grave, because in him [n]there is found something good toward the LORD God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam.

14 [o]"Moreover the LORD will raise up for Himself a king over Israel who shall cut off the house of Jeroboam; [4]this is the day. What? Even now! 15 For the LORD will strike Israel, as a ■ 13:30 Alas, my brother. This lament is appropriate for an equal and not for a superior (cf. Jer. 22:18).

■ 13:31 lay my bones beside his bones. The old prophet identifies himself with the prophecy of the man from Judah by having himself buried in the same tomb. When Josiah later desecrates the Bethel altar, he does not disturb the bones out of respect for the prophet from Judah (2 Kin. 23:17, 18).

■ 13:34 the sin of the house of Jeroboam. See note on 12:30.

■ 14:1 Abijah the son of Jeroboam became sick. People in Old Testament times sometimes looked to prophets to heal diseases (2 Kin. 4:18–22; 5:1–14) or to predict the fate of someone who was ill (2 Kin. 1:2–4; 8:8).

■ 14:2 disguise yourself. Jeroboam evidently feared the prophet and thought his son would be treated better if he was not associated with him.

■ 14:3 take . . . ten loaves. Jeroboam's wife is to carry these gifts fit for a commoner but not for royalty (1 Sam. 9:6–8; 2 Kin. 5:15; 8:8), to ingratiate herself with Ahijah.

■ 14:11 dogs shall eat . . . the birds of the air. See Deut. 28:26. Such curses are typical of the ancient world, including Homer (Iliad 1.4).

■ 14:15 He will uproot Israel from this good land. The possibility of exile for apostasy is raised in the Mosaic covenant (Deut. 28:63, 64; 29:28), in Joshua's farewell speech (Josh. 23:15, 16), and in Solomon's temple prayer (8:33, 34, 46–53).

reed is shaken in the water. He will [p]uproot Israel from this [q]good land which He gave to their fathers, and will scatter them [r]beyond [5]the River, [s]because they have made their [6]wooden images, provoking the LORD to anger. [16] And He will give Israel up because of the sins of Jeroboam, [t]who sinned and who made Israel sin."

[17] Then Jeroboam's wife arose and departed, and came to [u]Tirzah. [v]When she came to the threshold of the house, the child died. [18] And they buried him; and all Israel mourned for him, [w]according to the word of the LORD which He spoke through His servant Ahijah the prophet.

Death of Jeroboam

[19] Now the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, how he [x]made war and how he reigned, indeed they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel. [20] The period that Jeroboam reigned was twenty-two years. So he rested with his fathers. Then [y]Nadab his son reigned in his place.

Rehoboam Reigns in Judah

[21] And Rehoboam the son of Solomon reigned in Judah. [z]Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king. He reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city [a]which the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, to put His name there. [b]His mother's name was Naamah, an Ammonitess. [22] [c]Now Judah did evil in the sight of the LORD, and they [d]provoked Him to jealousy with their sins which they committed, more than all that their fathers had done. [23] For they also built for themselves [e]high[7] places, [f]sacred pillars, and [g]wooden images on every high hill and [h]under every green tree. [24] [i]And there were also [8]perverted persons in the land. They did according to all the [j]abominations of the nations which the LORD had cast out before the children of [k]Israel.

[25] [l]It happened in the fifth year of King Rehoboam that Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem. [26] [m]And he took away the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king's house; he took away everything. He also took away all the gold shields [n]which Solomon had made. [27] Then King Rehoboam made bronze shields in their place, and [9]committed them to the hands of the captains of the [1]guard, who guarded the doorway of the king's house. [28] And whenever the king entered the house of the LORD, the guards carried them, then brought them back into the guardroom.

[29] [o]Now the rest of the acts of Rehoboam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? [30] And there was [p]war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam wooden images. Probably carved figures of the Canaanite goddess Asherah, a consort of Baal (Ex. 34:13; Deut. 12:3; Judg. 3:7).

■ 14:17 Tirzah. Tirzah was fourteen miles west of the Jordan River, about halfway between Jerusalem and the Sea of Chinneroth (Galilee). It was Jeroboam's place of residence and later the capital of Israel (15:33) until Omri built the city of Samaria (16:24).

sacred pillars. Basically stones set up on the ground. Many of these sacred stones were used by the Canaanites in their worship. Such pillars were forbidden in Israel's law (Ex. 23:24; Lev. 26:1; Deut. 12:3; 16:22).

under every green tree. Religious activities carried out near certain trees in Old Testament times were considered of special significance (Deut. 12:2; 2 Kin. 17:10; Is. 57:5; Jer. 2:20; Ezek. 6:13; Hos. 4:13).

■ 14:24 perverted persons. The Canaanites believed that ritual prostitution (see text note) helped to ensure the fertility of land, flocks, and people. It was forbidden in Israel (Deut. 23:17, 18; 1 Kin. 15:12; 22:46; 2 Kin. 23:7; Hos. 4:14).

■ 14:25 Shishak. He founded the twenty-second dynasty over Egypt and began to rule around 945 B.C. According to Egyptian sources, including a fragment of a stele from Shishak's campaign, Shishak also invaded Israel and inflicted widespread destruction.

■ 14:26 he took away the treasures. That is, treasures stored in the temple by King Solomon (7:51).

■ 14:27 bronze shields. The independent kingdom of Judah was too small and too poor to be able to replace Solomon's shields exactly.

■ 14:29 book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah. See note on 11:41.

■ 14:30 war . . . all their days. Minor border skirmishes and full-fledged wars between Israel and Judah characterized the early history of the divided monarchy (12:24; 14:19; 15:6; 2 Chr. 13:1–20).

all their days. 31 [q]So Rehoboam [2]rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. [r]His mother's name was Naamah, an Ammonitess. Then [s]Abijam[3] his son reigned in his place.

Abijam Reigns in Judah

15 [a]In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam the son of Nebat, Abijam became king over Judah. 2 He reigned three years in Jerusalem. [b]His mother's name was [c]Maachah the granddaughter of [d]Abishalom. 3 And he walked in all the sins of his father, which he had done before him; [e]his heart was not [1]loyal to the LORD his God, as was the heart of his father David. 4 Nevertheless [f]for David's sake the LORD his God gave him a lamp in Jerusalem, by setting up his son after him and by establishing Jerusalem; 5 because David [g]did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, and had not turned aside from anything that He commanded him all the days of his life, [h]except in the matter of Uriah the Hittite. 6 [i]And there was war between [2]Rehoboam and Jeroboam all the days of his life. 7 [j]Now the rest of the acts of Abijam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? And there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam.

8 [k]So Abijam [3]rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the City of David. Then Asa his son reigned in his place.

Asa Reigns in Judah

9 In the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Asa became king over Judah. 10 And he reigned forty-one years in Jerusalem. His grandmother's name was Maachah the granddaughter of Abishalom. 11 [l]Asa did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, as did his father David. 12 [m]And he banished the [4]perverted persons from the land, and removed all the idols that his fathers had made. 13 Also he removed [n]Maachah his grandmother from being queen mother, because she had made an obscene image of [5]Asherah. And Asa cut down her obscene image and [o]burned it by the Brook Kidron. 14 [p]But the [6]high places were not removed. Nevertheless Asa's [q]heart was loyal to the LORD all his days. 15 He also brought into the house of the LORD the things which his father [r]had dedicated, and the things which he himself had dedicated: silver and gold and utensils.

16 Now there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days. 17 And [s]Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah, and built [t]Ramah, [u]that he might let none go out or come in to Asa king of Judah. 18 Then Asa took all the silver and gold that was left in the treasuries of Brook Kidron. This wadi (seasonal stream bed) runs through the valley that marks the eastern boundary of Jerusalem.

■ 15:14 high places. Such rural centers of worship could be devoted to the Lord, to one of the Canaanite deities, or to some combination of both (3:2 note).

■ 15:15 brought into the house of the LORD. Asa tries to replace some of the treasures lost during Shishak's invasion (14:25, 26).

■ 15:16 war . . . all their days. The reference is most likely not to a full-fledged war, but to a continuing series of skirmishes and battles (14:30 note).

■ 15:17 Ramah. This town was in Benjamin, only six miles north of Jerusalem. Since Ramah was strategically located at the junction of several routes leading into the Judean highlands, the Israelite king could limit access to Jerusalem. Moreover, Israel was much larger than Judah. Baasha's campaign and blockade was a serious threat.

■ 15:18 sent them to Ben-Hadad. Asa used the temple money to bribe the Syrians to help him against the Israelites under Baasha. The Syrians would have to breach a treaty to do this, as Asa himself acknowledges.

the house of the LORD and the treasuries of the king's house, and delivered them into the hand of his servants. And King Asa sent them to [v]Ben-Hadad the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezion, king of Syria, who dwelt in [w]Damascus, saying, 19 "Let there be a treaty between you and me, as there was between my father and your father. See, I have sent you a present of silver and gold. Come and break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel, so that he will withdraw from me."

20 So Ben-Hadad heeded King Asa, and [x]sent the captains of his armies against the cities of Israel. He attacked [y]Ijon, [z]Dan, [a]Abel Beth Maachah, and all Chinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali. 21 Now it happened, when Baasha heard it, that he stopped building Ramah, and remained in [b]Tirzah.

22 [c]Then King Asa made a proclamation throughout all Judah; none was exempted. And they took away the stones and timber of Ramah, which Baasha had used for building; and with them King Asa built [d]Geba of Benjamin, and [e]Mizpah.

23 The rest of all the acts of Asa, all his might, all that he did, and the cities which he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? But [f]in the time of his old age he was diseased in his feet. 24 So Asa [7]rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David his father. [g]Then [h]Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his place.

Nadab Reigns in Israel

25 Now [i]Nadab the son of Jeroboam became king over Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel two years. 26 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in [j]his sin by which he had made Israel sin.

27 [k]Then Baasha the son of Ahijah, of the house of Issachar, conspired against him. And Baasha killed him at [l]Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines, while Nadab and all Israel laid siege to Gibbethon. 28 Baasha killed him in the third year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned in his place. 29 And it was so, when he became king, that he killed all the house of Jeroboam. He did not leave to Jeroboam anyone that breathed, until he had destroyed him, according to [m]the word of the LORD which He had spoken by His servant Ahijah the Shilonite, 30 [n]because of the sins of Jeroboam, which he had sinned and by which he had made Israel sin, because of his provocation with which he had provoked the LORD God of Israel to anger.

31 Now the rest of the acts of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 32 [o]And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.

Baasha Reigns in Israel

33 In the third year of Asa king of Judah, Baasha the son of Ahijah became king over all Israel in Tirzah, and reigned twenty-four years. 34 He did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in [p]the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin by which he had made Israel sin.

16 Then the word of the LORD came to [a]Jehu the son of [b]Hanani, against [c]Baasha, saying: 2 [d]"Inasmuch as I lifted you out of the dust and made you ruler over My people Israel,

■ 15:25–32 These verses summarize the reign of Nadab, king of Israel, but give more attention to the subsequent actions of his assassin and successor, Baasha. As soon as he becomes king, Baasha kills Jeroboam's whole family in fulfillment of Ahijah's prophecy (14:10, 11).

■ 15:25 two years. That is, 909–908 B.C.

■ 15:26 his sin by which he had made Israel sin. See note on 12:30.

■ 15:27 Gibbethon. This city was assigned to the tribe of Dan but usually controlled by the Philistines (Josh. 19:44). It was west of Jerusalem and five miles north of Ekron.

■ 15:29 he killed all the house of Jeroboam. In order to consolidate his position as king, Baasha disposes of all potential claimants to the throne in Jeroboam's family. This fulfills the prophecy of Ahijah to Jeroboam (14:10–11). The author does not commend Baasha's actions; on the contrary, he later condemns him (16:7).

and [e]you have walked in the way of Jeroboam, and have made My people Israel sin, to provoke Me to anger with their sins, 3 surely I will [f]take[f] away the posterity of Baasha and the posterity of his house, and I will make your house like [g]the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat. 4 The dogs shall eat [h]whoever belongs to Baasha and dies in the city, and the birds of the air shall eat whoever dies in the fields."

5 Now the rest of the acts of Baasha, what he did, and his might, [i]are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 6 So Baasha [2]rested with his fathers and was buried in [j]Tirzah. Then Elah his son reigned in his place.

7 And also the word of the LORD came by the prophet [k]Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha and his house, because of all the evil that he did in the sight of the LORD in provoking Him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the house of Jeroboam, and because [l]he killed them.

Elah Reigns in Israel

8 In the twenty-sixth year of Asa king of Judah, Elah the son of Baasha became king over Israel, and reigned two years in Tirzah. 9 [m]Now his servant Zimri, commander of half his chariots, conspired against him as he was in Tirzah drinking himself drunk in the house of Arza, [n]steward[3] of his house in Tirzah. 10 And Zimri went in and struck him and killed him in the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned in his place.

11 Then it came to pass, when he began to reign, as soon as he was seated on his throne, that he killed all the household of Baasha; he [o]did not leave him one male, neither of his relatives nor of his friends. 12 Thus Zimri destroyed all the household of Baasha, [p]according to the word of the LORD, which He spoke against Baasha by Jehu the prophet, 13 for all the sins of Baasha and the sins of Elah his son, by which they had sinned and by which they had made Israel sin, in provoking the LORD God of Israel to anger [q]with their [4]idols.

14 Now the rest of the acts of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Zimri Reigns in Israel

15 In the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, Zimri had reigned in Tirzah seven days. And the people were encamped [r]against Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines. 16 Now the people who were encamped heard it said, "Zimri has conspired and also has killed the king." So all Israel made Omri, the commander of the army, king over Israel that day in the camp. 17 Then Omri and all Israel with him went up from Gibbethon, and they besieged Tirzah. 18 And it happened, when Zimri saw that the city was [5]taken, that he went into the citadel of the king's house and burned the king's house [6]down upon himself with fire, and died, 19 because of the sins which he had committed in doing evil in the sight of the LORD, [s]in walking in the [t]way of Jeroboam, and in his sin which he had committed to make Israel sin.

20 Now the rest of the acts of Zimri, and the treason he committed, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Omri Reigns in Israel

21 Then the people of Israel were divided into two parts: half of the people followed Tibni the son of Ginath, to make him king, and half followed Omri. 22 But the people who followed Omri reigned in Tirzah seven days. The history of Israel, the northern kingdom, was plagued by frequent coups and coup attempts. Judah, the southern kingdom, was somewhat more stable, perhaps because their kings continued to be descendants of David. But the instability of Israel in the north can also be blamed on their kings' disregard for the covenant. Political upheaval was God's way of disciplining and renewing Israel's leadership (11:29–39; 14:7–11; 16:1–4; 21:19–22; 22:17; 2 Kin. 1:2–4).

So Tibni died and Omri reigned. 23 In the thirty-first year of Asa king of Judah, Omri became king over Israel, and reigned twelve years. Six years he reigned in [u]Tirzah. 24 And he bought the hill of Samaria from Shemer for two talents of silver; then he built on the hill, and called the name of the city which he built, [v]Samaria,[7] after the name of Shemer, owner of the hill. 25 [w]Omri did evil in the eyes of the LORD, and did worse than all who were before him. 26 For he [x]walked in all the ways of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in his sin by which he had made Israel sin, provoking the LORD God of Israel to anger with their [y]idols.[8] 27 Now the rest of the acts of Omri which he did, and the might that he showed, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

28 So Omri rested with his fathers and was buried in Samaria. Then Ahab his son reigned in his place.

Ahab Reigns in Israel

29 In the thirty-eighth year of Asa king of Judah, Ahab the son of Omri became king over Israel; and Ahab the son of Omri reigned over Israel in Samaria twenty-two years. 30 Now Ahab the son of Omri did evil in the sight of the LORD, more than all who were before him. 31 And it came to pass, as though it had been a trivial thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [z]that he took as wife Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal, king of the [a]Sidonians; [b]and he went and served Baal and worshiped him. 32 Then he set up an altar for Baal in [c]the temple of Baal, which he had built in Samaria. 33 [d]And Ahab made a [9]wooden image. Ahab [e]did more to provoke the LORD God of Israel to anger than all the kings of Israel who were before him. 34 In his days Hiel of Bethel built Jericho. He laid its foundation [f]with Abiram his firstborn, and with his youngest son Segub he set up its gates, [f]according to the word of the LORD, which He had spoken through Joshua the son of Nun.

Elijah Proclaims a Drought

17 And Elijah the Tishbite, of the [a]inhabitants of Gilead, said to Ahab, [b]"As the LORD God of Israel lives, [c]before whom I stand, [d]there shall not be dew nor rain [e]these years, except at my word."

2 Then the word of the LORD came to him, saying, 3 "Get away from here and turn eastward, and hide by the Brook Cherith, which flows into the Jordan. 4 And it will be that you shall drink from the brook, and I have commanded the [f]ravens to feed you there."

5 So he went and did according to the word of the LORD, for he went and stayed by the Brook and reigned twelve years. That is, 885–874 B.C.

■ 16:24 Samaria. Like David (2 Sam. 5:6–12), Omri founded his own capital, Samaria. It was halfway between the Jordan River and the Mediterranean Sea, about thirty-seven miles north of Jerusalem. Samaria was easily defended and became the permanent capital of Israel (20:1; 2 Kin. 6:24; 10:17; 13:6; 18:9, 10). "Samaria" sometimes refers to the northern kingdom as a whole (2 Kin. 17:24; Amos 3:9, 12).

■ 16:26 the ways of Jeroboam. See note on 12:30.

■ 16:27 the might that he showed. Politically and militarily Omri was quite successful. The Moabite stone, an inscription from one of Israel's neighbors, states that Omri subjugated Moab and captured Medeba. Much later, the annals of the Assyrian king Tiglath-Pileser III (c. 732 B.C.) still speak of Israel as the "house of Omri."

■ 16:33 wooden image. See note on 14:15.

■ 16:34 Hiel of Bethel built Jericho. After its earlier destruction (Josh. 5:13—6:27), Jericho had been inhabited as a settlement (Josh. 18:21; 2 Sam. 10:5). Hiel's wish to turn the site of Jericho into a full-fledged city brought on the curse of Josh. 6:26, which prohibited rebuilding the city and outlined the consequences of doing so.

■ 17:1 Elijah. The name means "Yah is God." "Yah" or "Jah" is a short form of the divine name "Yahweh," translated as "LORD" (cf. Ex. 3:14, 15). Elijah's name corresponds to the theme of his ministry: the Lord is God and there is no other. Elijah was the major prophet of Yahweh when Ahab and Jezebel were promoting Baal worship in Israel.

except at my word. The drought will demonstrate to a wayward Israel who truly is God.

■ 17:4 ravens to feed you. Although Elijah was in the wilderness, the Lord could provide for him, much as He had for the nation of Israel centuries earlier during the Exodus (Ex. 16:4–36). Ironically, Israel is in the Promised Land, but has forgotten who sustains her.

■ 17:5 Brook Cherith. This brook probably flowed into the Jordan from the east. It may have been in northern Gilead, toward the Sea of Chinneroth (Galilee).

Cherith, which flows into the Jordan. 6 The ravens brought him bread and meat in the morning, and bread and meat in the evening; and he drank from the brook. 7 And it happened after a while that the brook dried up, because there had been no rain in the land.

Elijah and the Widow

8 Then the word of the LORD came to him, saying, 9 "Arise, go to [g]Zarephath, which belongs to [h]Sidon, and dwell there. See, I have commanded a widow there to provide for you." 10 So he arose and went to Zarephath. And when he came to the gate of the city, indeed a widow was there gathering sticks. And he called to her and said, "Please bring me a little water in a cup, that I may drink." 11 And as she was going to get it, he called to her and said, "Please bring me a morsel of bread in your hand."

12 So she said, "As the LORD your God lives, I do not have bread, only a handful of flour in a bin, and a little oil in a [1]jar; and see, I am gathering a couple of sticks that I may go in and prepare it for myself and my son, that we may eat it, and [i]die."

13 And Elijah said to her, "Do not fear; go and do as you have said, but make me a small cake from it first, and bring it to me; and afterward make some for yourself and your son. 14 For thus says the LORD God of Israel: 'The bin of flour shall not be used up, nor shall the jar of oil run dry, until the day the LORD sends rain on the earth.' "

15 So she went away and did according to the word of Elijah; and she and he and her household ate for many days. 16 The bin of flour was not used up, nor did the jar of oil run dry, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke by Elijah.

Elijah Revives the Widow's Son

17 Now it happened after these things that the son of the woman who owned the house became sick. And his sickness was so [2]serious that [3]there was no breath left in him. 18 So she said to Elijah, [j]"What have I to do with you, O man of God? Have you come to me to bring my sin to remembrance, and to kill my son?"

19 And he said to her, "Give me your son." So he took him out of her arms and carried him to the upper room where he was staying, and laid him on his own bed. 20 Then he cried out to the LORD and said, "O LORD my God, have You also brought tragedy on the widow with whom I lodge, by killing her son?" 21 [k]And he stretched himself out on the child three times, and cried out to the LORD and said, "O LORD my God, I pray, let this child's soul come back to him." 22 Then the LORD heard the voice of Elijah; and the soul of the child came back to him, and he [l]revived.

23 And Elijah took the child and brought him down from the upper room into the house, and gave him to his mother. And Elijah said, "See, your son lives!"

24 Then the woman said to Elijah, "Now by this [m]I know that you are a man of God, and that the word of the LORD in your mouth is the truth."

Elijah's Message to Ahab

18 And it came to pass after [a]many days that the word of the LORD came to Elijah, in the third year, saying, "Go, present yourself to Ahab, and [b]I will send rain on the earth."

2 So Elijah went to present himself to Ahab; and there was a severe famine in Samaria. 3 And Ahab had called Obadiah, who was [1]in charge of his house. (Now Obadiah feared the LORD greatly. 4 For so it was, while Jezebel [2]massacred the prophets of the LORD, that Obadiah had widow. The word is practically synonymous with "poor," because in the ancient Near East widows were largely unprotected by the law and were easily exploited (Deut. 14:29; 16:11; 24:20; 26:12; Ps. 94:6; Is. 47:8, 9). This particular widow was not an Israelite.

■ 17:12 As the LORD your God lives. This is an oath formula (1:17 note) taken in the name of Elijah's God. The widow may have been deferring to Elijah, or she may have had a genuine interest in the God of Israel.

■ 17:13 make me a small cake . . . first. Elijah presents her with a test of faith, demanding complete commitment. Despite the scarcity of food, she is to feed God's prophet before she takes care of herself and her son.

taken one hundred prophets and hidden them, fifty to a cave, and had fed them with bread and water.) [5] And Ahab had said to Obadiah, "Go into the land to all the springs of water and to all the brooks; perhaps we may find grass to keep the horses and mules alive, so that we will not have to kill any livestock." [6] So they divided the land between them to explore it; Ahab went one way by himself, and Obadiah went another way by himself.

[7] Now as Obadiah was on his way, suddenly Elijah met him; and he [c]recognized him, and fell on his face, and said, "Is that you, my lord Elijah?"

[8] And he answered him, "It is I. Go, tell your master, 'Elijah is here.' "

[9] So he said, "How have I sinned, that you are delivering your servant into the hand of Ahab, to kill me? [10] As the LORD your God lives, there is no nation or kingdom where my master has not sent someone to hunt for you; and when they said, 'He is not here,' he took an oath from the kingdom or nation that they could not find you. [11] And now you say, 'Go, tell your master, "Elijah is here" '! [12] And it shall come to pass, as soon as I am gone from you, that [d]the Spirit of the LORD will carry you to a place I do not know; so when I go and tell Ahab, and he cannot find you, he will kill me. But I your servant have feared the LORD from my youth. [13] Was it not reported to my lord what I did when Jezebel killed the prophets of the LORD, how I hid one hundred men of the LORD's prophets, fifty to a cave, and fed them with bread and water? [14] And now you say, 'Go, tell your master, "Elijah is here." ' He will kill me!"

[15] Then Elijah said, "As the LORD of hosts lives, before whom I stand, I will surely present myself to him today."

[16] So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him; and Ahab went to meet Elijah.

Miracles

Scripture has no single word for miracle. The concept includes thoughts expressed by several terms: "wonder," "mighty work," and "sign."

"Wonder" calls attention to the impression made by miracles. "Miracle," from the Latin miraculum, means something that evokes wonder. A miracle is an event beyond the normal, triggering awareness of God's presence and power. Striking providences and coincidences, as well as the phenomena of nature, can communicate a similar awareness, as they give evidence of God's "eternal power and Godhead" (Rom. 1:20).

"Mighty work" points to the presence in biblical history of supernatural acts of God involving the power that created the world from nothing. Raising the dead to life, which Jesus did more than once (Luke 7:11–17; 8:49–56; John 11:38–44), and Elijah, Elisha, Peter, and Paul did also (1 Kin. 17:17–24; 2 Kin. 4:18–37; Acts 9:36–41; 20:9–12), is a work of such creative power; it is not chance or coincidence, and cannot be explained from the course of nature.

"Sign" is a term regularly used for miracles in the Gospel of John, where seven key miracles are recorded, indicating that miracles point to something; they carry a message. The miracles in Scripture are nearly all clustered in the time of the Exodus, of Elijah and Elisha, and of Christ and His apostles. They authenticate the miracle-workers themselves as God's representatives and messengers (cf. Ex. 4:1–9; 1 Kin. 17:24; John 10:38; 14:11; 2 Cor. 12:12; Heb. 2:3, 4), and beyond this, they show God's power bringing about salvation and executing judgment, despite all opposition. The miracles of the Bible are not absurd, irrational, or mere displays of power undertaken for their own sake. They directly fulfill God's purposes and are consistent with His majesty and holiness.

Belief in the miraculous is integral to Christianity. Jesus' incarnation and resurrection are the two supreme miracles of Scripture, defining the Christian faith. No one can refuse Jesus' life or His resurrection without refusing the faith itself. There is nothing irrational about believing that God who made the world can intervene creatively in it at any time; in truth, it would be irrational to believe in any other God. Not faith in the Biblical miracles, but doubt about them, is unreasonable in the end. □

■ 18:5 horses and mules. The drought threatened Ahab's government because the army depended on these animals, for example, in the chariot forces. Ahab's reaction to the drought was practical, to find water, and did not reach the heart of the issue: who is sovereign over nature and life.

■ 18:12 the Spirit of the LORD will carry you. Earlier Elijah had disappeared across the Jordan only to emerge in Zarephath.

17 Then it happened, when Ahab saw Elijah, that Ahab said to him, [e]"Is that you, O [f]troubler of Israel?"

18 And he answered, "I have not troubled Israel, but you and your father's house have, [g]in that you have forsaken the commandments of the LORD and have followed the Baals. 19 Now therefore, send and gather all Israel to me on [h]Mount Carmel, the four hundred and fifty prophets of Baal, [i]and the four hundred prophets of [j]Asherah, who [k]eat at Jezebel's table."

Elijah's Mount Carmel Victory

20 So Ahab sent for all the children of Israel, and [l]gathered the prophets together on Mount Carmel. 21 And Elijah came to all the people, and said, [m]"How long will you falter between two opinions? If the LORD is God, follow Him; but if Baal, [n]follow him." But the people answered him not a word. 22 Then Elijah said to the people, [o]"I alone am left a prophet of the LORD; [p]but Baal's prophets are four hundred and fifty men. 23 Therefore let them give us two bulls; and let them choose one bull for themselves, cut it in pieces, and lay it on the wood, but put no fire under it; and I will prepare the other bull, and lay it on the wood, but put no fire under it. 24 Then you call on the name of your gods, and I will call on the name of the LORD; and the God who [q]answers by fire, He is God."

So all the people answered and said, [5]"It is well spoken."

25 Now Elijah said to the prophets of Baal, "Choose one bull for yourselves and prepare it first, for you are many; and call on the name of your god, but put no fire under it."

26 So they took the bull which was given them, and they prepared it, and called on the name of Baal from morning even till noon, saying, "O Baal, [6]hear us!" But there was [r]no voice; no one answered. Then they [7]leaped about the altar which they had made.

27 And so it was, at noon, that Elijah mocked them and said, "Cry [8]aloud, for he is a god; either he is meditating, or he is busy, or he is on a journey, or perhaps he is sleeping and must be awakened." 28 So they cried aloud, and [s]cut themselves, as was their custom, with [9]knives and lances, until the blood gushed out on them. 29 And when midday was past, [t]they prophesied until the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice. But there was [u]no voice; no one answered, no one paid attention.

30 Then Elijah said to all the people, "Come near to me." So all the people came near to him. [v]And he repaired the altar of the LORD that was broken down. 31 And Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob, to whom the word of the LORD had come, saying, [w]"Israel shall be your name." 32 Then with the stones he built an altar [x]in the name of the LORD; and he made a trench around the altar large enough to hold two seahs of seed. 33 And he [y]put the wood in order, cut the bull in pieces, and laid it on the wood, and said, "Fill four waterpots with water, and [z]pour it on the burnt sacrifice and on the wood." 34 Then he said, "Do it a second time," and they did it a second time; and he said, "Do it a third time," and they did it a third time. 35 So the water ran all around the altar; and he also filled [a]the trench with water.

36 And it came to pass, at the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, that Elijah the prophet came near and said, "LORD [b]God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, [c]let it be known this day

■ 18:24 the God who answers by fire. Since Baal's followers believed that Baal controlled thunder, lightning, and storms, Elijah's challenge struck at the core of his alleged power (16:31 note).

■ 18:26 they leaped about the altar. The Baal prophets engaged in a ritual dance (text note) to arouse the unresponsive Baal.

■ 18:27 Cry aloud. Myths of Baal portray him traveling, fighting war, visiting the underworld, and even dying and coming back to life. Elijah knows these beliefs and plays on them when he taunts Baal's followers.

busy. The word is probably a euphemism for relieving oneself.

■ 18:28 as was their custom. They cut themselves to provoke Baal. Self-laceration was prohibited in Old Testament law (Lev. 19:28; Deut. 14:1), but nevertheless was practiced by some (Jer. 41:5; 47:5).

■ 18:29 they prophesied. This description probably indicates a trance or ecstatic state.

■ 18:31 twelve stones. Elijah emphasizes the oneness of the people, despite the division of the kingdom. In this way he also underscores that the contest at Mount Carmel is not significant for the northern tribes only, but for the southern tribes as well (Ex. 20:25; 24:4; Josh. 4).

Israel shall be your name. The words are a quotation of Gen. 35:10, where God affirmed the special name He had earlier given Jacob.

■ 18:36 Elijah . . . came near and said. In contrast to the elaborate and frantic activities of the Baal prophets, Elijah's prayer is simple and direct.

38 Then [c]the fire of the LORD fell and consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood and the stones and the dust, and it licked up the water that was in the trench. 39 Now when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces; and they said, [d]"The LORD, He is God! The LORD, He is God!"

40 And Elijah said to them, [e]"Seize the prophets of Baal! Do not let one of them escape!" So they seized them; and Elijah brought them down to the Brook [f]Kishon and [g]executed them there.

The Drought Ends

41 Then Elijah said to Ahab, "Go up, eat and drink; for there is the sound of abundance of rain." 42 So Ahab went up to eat and drink. And Elijah went up to the top of Carmel; [h]then he bowed down on the ground, and put his face between his knees, 43 and said to his servant, "Go up now, look toward the sea."

So he went up and looked, and said, "There is nothing." And seven times he said, "Go again."

44 Then it came to pass the seventh time, that he said, "There is a cloud, as small as a man's hand, rising out of the sea!" So he said, "Go up, say to Ahab, [i]'Prepare your chariot, and go down before the rain stops you.' "

45 Now it happened in the meantime that the sky became black with clouds and wind, and there was a heavy rain. So Ahab rode away and went to Jezreel. 46 Then the [j]hand of the LORD came upon Elijah; and he [k]girded[2] up his loins and ran ahead of Ahab to the entrance of Jezreel.

Elijah Escapes from Jezebel

19 And Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, also how he had [a]executed all the prophets with the sword. 2 Then Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah, saying, [b]"So let the gods do to me, and more also, if I do not make your life as the life of one of them by tomorrow about this time." 3 And when he saw that, he arose and ran for his life, and went to Beersheba, which belongs to Judah, and left his servant there.

4 But he himself went a day's journey into the wilderness, and came and sat down under a [l]broom tree. And he [c]prayed that he might die, and said, "It is enough! Now, LORD, take my life, for I am no better than my fathers!"

5 Then as he lay and slept under a broom tree, suddenly an [m]angel touched him, and said to him, "Arise and eat." 6 Then he looked, and there by his head was a cake baked on [n]coals, and a jar of water. So he ate and drank, and lay down again. 7 And the [o]angel of the LORD came back the second time, and touched him, and said, "Arise and eat, because the journey is too great for you." 8 So he arose, and ate and drank; and he went in the strength of that food forty days and [d]forty nights as far as [e]Horeb, the mountain of God.

9 And there he went into a cave, and spent the night in that place; and behold, the word of the LORD came to him, and He said to him, "What are you doing here, Elijah?"

10 So he said, [f]"I have been very [g]zealous for the LORD God of hosts; for the children of Israel have forsaken Your covenant, torn down Your altars, and [h]killed Your prophets with the sword. [i]I alone am left; and they seek to take my life."

■ 18:37 You have turned their hearts back. The human act of repentance is not possible without divine grace.

■ 18:40 Brook Kishon. This brook runs toward the north in the plain below Mount Carmel.

executed them there. Israel was a theocracy, a society founded by and constituted under God. Deut. 13:1–5 mandates the death of false prophets; Deut. 13:13–18 and 17:2–7 prescribe death to anyone embracing idolatry or inciting others to it.

■ 18:41 eat and drink. Ahab's austerity can end, because the famine will soon be over (cf. James 5:17, 18).

■ 18:45 Ahab rode away and went to Jezreel. Ahab used the town of Jezreel (located near Mount Gilboa) as a second residence (in addition to Samaria; 20:43; 21:1).

■ 19:1 Ahab told Jezebel. Jezebel plays a major role in governing Israel (18:4 note). Together with Ahab, she wants to punish Elijah for killing the prophets of Baal (v. 2).

■ 19:2 So let the gods do to me. Jezebel's oath calls down a penalty on herself if she should fail to kill Elijah within a day's time (1:17 note).

■ 19:3 Beersheba. In the southern territory of Judah, 130 miles south of Jezreel. As he did before, Elijah flees outside the borders of the northern kingdom (17:3–6, 9).

■ 19:4 broom tree. This desert bush grows as high as nine feet and provides some shade.

It is enough. After waging and winning a titanic struggle with God's help against the prophets of Baal, Elijah is discouraged and depressed. Although the Lord had defeated Baal, Elijah, has become a fugitive from Ahab and Jezebel. Because of the incongruity between the visible (the promoters of Baal who still govern Israel) and the invisible (the lordship of Yahweh), Elijah wants to die.

■ 19:7 the journey is too great for you. Elijah is to travel all the way to Mount Horeb (that is, Mount Sinai), the original site of God's revelation to Moses. Horeb was in the arid Sinai Peninsula between Israel and Egypt, but the exact location is unknown (Ex. 3:1; 17:6; 33:6; Deut. 1:2, 6, 19; 4:10, 15).

God's Revelation to Elijah

11 Then He said, "Go out, and stand [j]on the mountain before the LORD." And behold, the LORD [k]passed by, and [l]a great and strong wind tore into the mountains and broke the rocks in pieces before the LORD, but the LORD was not in the wind; and after the wind an earthquake, but the LORD was not in the earthquake; 12 and after the earthquake a fire, but the LORD was not in the fire; and after the fire [s]a still small voice.

13 So it was, when Elijah heard it, that [m]he wrapped his face in his mantle and went out and stood in the entrance of the cave. [n]Suddenly a voice came to him, and said, "What are you doing here, Elijah?"

14 [o]And he said, "I have been very zealous for the LORD God of hosts; because the children of Israel have forsaken Your covenant, torn down Your altars, and killed Your prophets with the sword. I alone am left; and they seek to take my life."

15 Then the LORD said to him: "Go, return on your way to the Wilderness of Damascus; [p]and when you arrive, anoint Hazael as king over Syria. 16 Also you shall anoint [q]Jehu the son of Nimshi as king over Israel. And [r]Elisha the son of Shaphat of Abel Meholah you shall anoint as prophet in your place. 17 [s]It shall be that whoever escapes the sword of Hazael, Jehu will [t]kill; and whoever escapes the sword of Jehu, [u]Elisha will kill. 18 [v]Yet I have reserved seven thousand in Israel, all whose knees have not bowed to Baal, [w]and every mouth that has not kissed him."

Elisha Follows Elijah

19 So he departed from there, and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen before him, and he was with the twelfth. Then Elijah passed by him and threw his [x]mantle on him. 20 And he left the oxen and ran after Elijah, and said, [y]"Please let me kiss my father and my mother, and then I will follow you."

And he said to him, "Go back again, for what have I done to you?"

21 So Elisha turned back from him, and took a yoke of oxen and slaughtered them and [z]boiled their flesh, using the oxen's equipment, and gave it to the people, and they ate. Then he arose and followed Elijah, and became his servant.

Ahab Defeats the Syrians

20 Now [a]Ben-Hadad the king of Syria gathered all his forces together; thirty-two kings were with him, with horses and chariots. And he went up and besieged [b]Samaria, and made war against it. 2 Then he sent messengers into the city to Ahab king of Israel, and said to him, "Thus says Ben-Hadad: 3 'Your silver and your gold are mine; your loveliest wives and children are mine.' "

4 And the king of Israel answered and said, "My lord, O king, just as you say, I and all that I have are yours."

■ 19:11, 12 the LORD passed by. God summons Elijah to prepare for a divine revelation, in much the same way He prepared Moses at Mount Sinai (Ex. 33:30–33; 34:2).

wind . . . earthquake . . . fire. These phenomena were indications of God's presence on Mount Sinai (Ex. 19:18, 19; 20:18; 24:17; Deut. 4:11, 12; 5:22–25), but God does not reveal Himself to Elijah through them.

a still small voice. The Lord answers Elijah in an unexpected way. God is present in near silence. Contrary to the notions of Elijah, divine silence does not mean divine inactivity.

■ 19:13 wrapped his face. Moses was covered by God's "hand" before He passed by (Ex. 33:20–23), and Elijah covers his face upon hearing the "still small voice." No one can see God and live (1 Tim. 6:16).

■ 19:15 anoint Hazael as king over Syria. Although it was common for prophets to anoint kings, it was most unusual for them to anoint foreign kings. God's purpose was to use this king from Damascus to bring His judgment against the house of Ahab (2 Kin. 8:7–15, 28, 29; 10:32; 12:17, 18; 13:3, 22).

■ 19:16 anoint Jehu. Jehu was a military commander under both Ahab and his son, Joram (2 Kin. 9:5, 6). At the behest of Elisha, Jehu would launch a complete purge of the house of Ahab (2 Kin. 9:1—10:17).

Elisha the son of Shaphat. The name "Elisha" means "God is salvation" or "God saves" and is an apt characterization of Elisha's mission. There are many parallels between the work of Elijah and that of Elisha. Both uphold the standards of the covenant of Sinai despite the opposition of kings (18:17–46; 21:19–22; 2 Kin. 3:13; 9:1–10).

■ 19:18 seven thousand. Elijah had thought he was the only one left.

every mouth that has not kissed him. That is, has kissed the image of Baal (cf. Hos. 13:2).

■ 19:20 what have I done to you. With this elliptic and enigmatic statement, Elijah apparently permits Elisha to make a visit to his home, because what has happened to him was great, and will not lose its effectiveness through such a delay.

■ 19:21 slaughtered them. Elisha makes a total commitment to his new prophetic calling by ending his old way of life. The call of Jesus to His disciples is a comprehensive claim (Mark 1:16–20; 2:14). The same can be said for Jesus' demands upon any who would follow Him (Mark 8:34–38).

servant. Elisha does not begin as an equal with Elijah, but as his apprentice or aide. Moses also had Joshua as his servant, and trained him to be his successor (Ex. 24:13; 33:11).

■ 20:1 Ben-Hadad the king of Syria. This is probably Ben-Hadad II, grandson of the Ben-Hadad mentioned in 15:18–20.

thirty-two kings. Ben-Hadad II assembled a coalition of thirty-two kings of client city-states and tribal chieftains to campaign against Ahab.

■ 20:4 My lord, O king. Ahab addresses Ben-Hadad as an inferior to a superior. Ahab hoped that by surrendering he could preserve his own life and prevent his city from being destroyed.

6 [1]pleasing

5 Then the messengers came back and said, "Thus speaks Ben-Hadad, saying, 'Indeed I have sent to you, saying, "You shall deliver to me your silver and your gold, your wives and your children"; 6 but I will send my servants to you tomorrow about this time, and they shall search your house and the houses of your servants. And it shall be, that whatever is [1]pleasant in your eyes, they will put it in their hands and take it.' " 7 So the king of Israel called all the elders of the land, and said, "Notice, please, and see how this man seeks trouble, for he sent to me for my wives, my children, my silver, and my gold; and I did not deny him."
8 And all the elders and all the people said to him, "Do not listen or consent."
9 Therefore he said to the messengers of Ben-Hadad, "Tell my lord the king, 'All that you sent for to your servant the first time I will do, but this thing I cannot do.' "

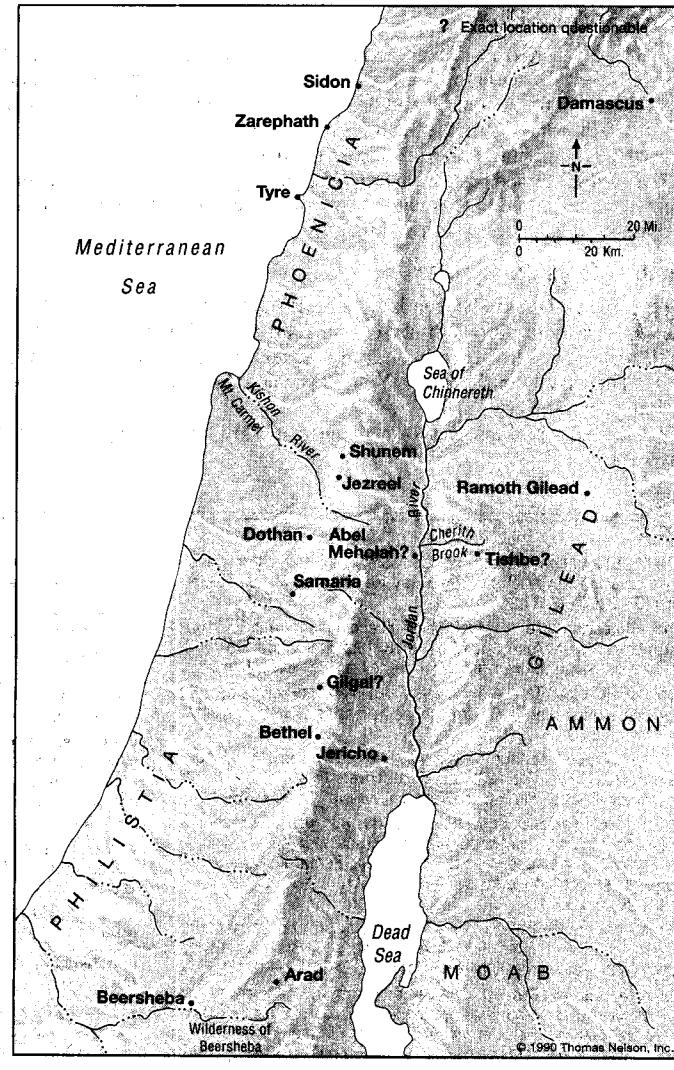
■ 20:9 this thing I cannot do. In his surrender (v. 4) Ahab did not contemplate actually handing over women and children, at least not those in his own palace and retinue.

Elijah and Elisha. Elijah's victory on Mt. Carmel ended with the slaying of 450 prophets of Baal (1 Kin. 18:20–40). His ministry spanned Canaan from the Brook Cherith near his birthplace (1 Kin. 17:1–7) to Zarephath where he performed the miracle that sustained the widow and her son, and to as far south as Mt. Horeb (not shown). In Samaria Elijah denounced King Ahab's injustice against Naboth of Jezreel (1 Kin. 21:17–29). Near Jericho Elijah separated the waters of the Jordan River to cross over and subsequently was carried to heaven in a chariot of fire (2 Kin. 2:1–12).

Elisha healed Naaman of leprosy in the Jordan River (2 Kin. 5:1–19) and led the blinded Syrians to their defeat at Samaria (2 Kin. 6:8–23). In Damascus, Elisha prophesied the death of King Ben-Hadad of Syria and the succession of Hazael as king of Syria.



And the messengers departed and brought back word to him.

10 Then Ben-Hadad sent to him and said, [c]"The gods do so to me, and more also, if enough dust is left of Samaria for a handful for each of the people [2]who follow me."

11 So the king of Israel answered and said, "Tell him, 'Let not the one who puts on his armor [d]boast like the one who takes it off.' "

12 And it happened when Ben-Hadad heard this message, as he and the kings were [e]drinking at the [3]command post, that he said to his servants, "Get ready." And they got ready to attack the city.

13 Suddenly a prophet approached Ahab king of Israel, saying, "Thus says the LORD: 'Have you seen all this great multitude? Behold, [f]I will deliver it into your hand today, and you shall know that I am the LORD.' "

14 So Ahab said, "By whom?"

And he said, "Thus says the LORD: 'By the young leaders of the provinces.' "

Then he said, "Who will set the battle in order?"

And he answered, "You."

15 Then he mustered the young leaders of the provinces, and there were two hundred and thirty-two; and after them he mustered all the people, all the children of Israel—seven thousand.

16 So they went out at noon. Meanwhile Ben-Hadad and the thirty-two kings helping him were [g]getting drunk at the command post. 17 The young leaders of the provinces went out first. And Ben-Hadad sent out a patrol, and they told him, saying, "Men are coming out of Samaria!" 18 So he said, "If they have come out for peace, take them alive; and if they have come out for war, take them alive."

19 Then these young leaders of the provinces went out of the city with the army which followed them. 20 And each one killed his man; so the Syrians fled, and Israel pursued them; and Ben-Hadad the king of Syria escaped on a horse with the cavalry. 21 Then the king of Israel went out and attacked the horses and chariots, and killed the Syrians with a great slaughter.

22 And the prophet came to the king of Israel and said to him, "Go, strengthen yourself; take note, and see what you should do, [h]for [4]in the spring of the year the king of Syria will come up against you."

The Syrians Again Defeated

23 Then the servants of the king of Syria said to him, "Their gods are gods of the hills. Therefore they were stronger than we; but if we fight against them in the plain, surely we will be stronger than they. 24 So do this thing: Dismiss the kings, each from his position, and put captains in their [5]places; 25 and you shall muster an army like the army [6]that you have lost, horse for horse and chariot for chariot. Then we will fight against them in the plain; surely we will be stronger than they."

And he listened to their voice and did so.

26 So it was, in the spring of the year, that Ben-Hadad mustered the Syrians and went up to [i]Aphek to fight against Israel. 27 And the children of Israel were mustered and given provisions, and they went against them. Now the children of Israel encamped before them like two little flocks of goats, while the Syrians filled the [j]countryside.

28 Then a [k]man of God came and spoke to the king of Israel, and said, "Thus says the LORD: 'Because the Syrians have said, "The LORD is God of the hills, but He is not God of the valleys," therefore [l]I will deliver all this great multitude into your hand, and you shall know that I am the LORD.' " 29 And they encamped opposite each other for seven days. So it was that on the seventh day the battle was joined; and the children of Israel killed one hundred thousand foot soldiers of the Syrians in one day. 30 But the rest fled to Aphek, into the city; then a wall fell on twenty-seven thousand of the men who were left.

And Ben-Hadad fled and went into the city, into an inner chamber.

Ahab's Treaty with Ben-Hadad

31 Then his servants said to him, "Look now, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful kings. Please, let us [m]put sackcloth around our waists and ropes around our heads, and go out to the king of Israel; perhaps he will spare your life." 32 So they wore sackcloth around their waists and put ropes around their heads, and came to the king of Israel and said, "Your servant Ben-Hadad says, 'Please let me live.' "

And he said, "Is he still alive? He is my brother."

33 Now the men were watching closely to see whether any sign of mercy would come from him; and they quickly grasped at this word and said, "Your brother Ben-Hadad."

So he said, "Go, bring him." Then Ben-Hadad came out to him; and he had him come up into the chariot.

34 So Ben-Hadad said to him, [n]"The cities which my father took from your father I will restore; and you may set up marketplaces for yourself in Damascus, as my father did in Samaria."

Then Ahab said, "I will send you away with this treaty." So he made a treaty with him and sent him away.

Ahab Condemned

35 Now a certain man of [o]the sons of the prophets said to his neighbor [p]by the word of the LORD, "Strike me, please." And the man refused to strike him. 36 Then he said to him, "Because you have not obeyed the voice of the LORD, surely, as soon as you depart from me, a lion shall kill you." And as soon as he left him, [q]a lion found him and killed him.

37 And he found another man, and said, "Strike me, please." So the man struck him, inflicting a wound. 38 Then the prophet departed and waited for the king by the road, and disguised himself with a bandage over his eyes. 39 Now [r]as the king passed by, he cried out to the king and said, "Your servant went out into the midst of the battle; and there, a man came over and brought a man to me, and said, 'Guard this man; if by any means he is missing, [s]your life shall be for his life, or else you shall [t]pay a talent of silver.' 40 While your servant was busy here and there, he was gone."

Then the king of Israel said to him, "So shall your judgment be; you yourself have decided it."

41 And he hastened to take the bandage away from his eyes; and the king of Israel recognized him as one of the prophets. 42 Then he said to him, "Thus says the LORD: [u]'Because you have let slip out of your hand a man whom I appointed to utter destruction, therefore your life shall go for his life, and your people for his people.' "

43 So the king of Israel [v]went to his house sullen and displeased, and came to Samaria.

■ 20:31 the kings of . . . Israel are merciful. Certain powers in the Near East, such as Assyria, were brutal toward the vanquished.

sackcloth . . . ropes. The Syrians were dramatizing their humility and submission to the Israelites.

■ 20:32 Your servant. Earlier, Ahab had addressed Ben-Hadad as a superior (vv. 4, 9); now the tables are turned.

He is my brother. Ahab's surprising response depicts Ben-Hadad as an equal in a treaty relationship (9:13), a concession Ben-Hadad's men were quick to exploit (v. 33).

■ 20:34 you may set up marketplaces. International trade could bring substantial income (10:23–29), and the guarantee of a market in another country would afford a distinct economic advantage for the merchants of Israel.

this treaty. The two kings formalize their negotiations by ratifying a covenant or treaty.

■ 20:35 sons of the prophets. This designation does not mean physical children, but members of a prophetic guild or association. Elijah and Elisha were probably leaders of such groups (2 Kin. 2:3, 15; 4:1, 38; 6:1; 9:1).

■ 20:36 Because you have not obeyed the . . . LORD. This highly unusual incident needs to be understood in the context of the previous story in which Ahab did not obey the dictates of holy war. Aware of Ahab's treaty with Ben-Hadad II, the prophet is dramatizing the consequences of refusing to heed the word of God.

a lion shall kill you. The old prophet from Bethel uttered a similar decree of judgment against the man of God from Judah (13:20–25).

■ 20:39 a talent of silver. This was a huge quantity (about 75 pounds), more than a common soldier could afford.

■ 20:40 So shall your judgment be. Ahab shows no mercy, and so passes judgment on himself (v. 42; 2 Sam. 12:7).

■ 20:42 whom I appointed to utter destruction. See Lev. 27:28; Josh. 6:17; 7:1, 20–26. The wars were campaigns fought and won by God Himself, using the Israelites as His agents. In fighting these wars Israel was to conduct itself in a prescribed manner, observing stipulations of holy conduct. Ahab was willing to accept divine victory, but he violated the rules for the holy war by making a treaty with Ben-Hadad and yoking Israel to a foreign power (Deut. 7:1–6; 20:16–18).

your life shall go for his life, and your people for his people. Even though each person is responsible for his own conduct before God, the actions of each person inevitably affect the lives of others for good or ill.

Naboth Is Murdered for His Vineyard

21 And it came to pass after these things that Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard which was in [a]Jezreel, next to the palace of Ahab king of Samaria. 2 So Ahab spoke to Naboth, saying, "Give me your [b]vineyard, that I may have it for a vegetable garden, because it is near, next to my house; and for it I will give you a vineyard better than it. Or, if it seems good to you, I will give you its worth in money."

3 But Naboth said to Ahab, "The LORD forbid [c]that I should give the inheritance of my fathers to you!"

4 So Ahab went into his house sullen and displeased because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken to him; for he had said, "I will not give you the inheritance of my fathers." And he lay down on his bed, and turned away his face, and would eat no food. 5 But [d]Jezebel his wife came to him, and said to him, "Why is your spirit so sullen that you eat no food?"

6 He said to her, "Because I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite, and said to him, 'Give me your vineyard for money; or else, if it pleases you, I will give you another vineyard for it.' And he answered, 'I will not give you my vineyard.' "

7 Then Jezebel his wife said to him, "You now exercise authority over Israel! Arise, eat food, and let your heart be cheerful; I will give you the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite."

8 And she wrote letters in Ahab's name, sealed them with his seal, and sent the letters to the elders and the nobles who were dwelling in the city with Naboth. 9 She wrote in the letters, saying, > Proclaim a fast, and seat Naboth [f]with high honor among the people; 10 and seat two men, scoundrels, before him to bear witness against him, saying, You have [e]blasphemed God and the king. Then take him out, and [f]stone him, that he may die.

11 So the men of his city, the elders and nobles who were inhabitants of his city, did as Jezebel had sent to them, as it was written in the letters which she had sent to them. 12 [g]They proclaimed a fast, and seated Naboth with high honor among the people. 13 And two men, scoundrels, came in and sat before him; and the scoundrels [h]witnessed against him, against Naboth, in the presence of the people, saying, "Naboth has blasphemed God and the king!" [i]Then they took him outside the city and stoned him with stones, so that he died. 14 Then they sent to Jezebel, saying, "Naboth has been stoned and is dead."

15 And it came to pass, when Jezebel heard that Naboth had been stoned and was dead, that Jezebel said to Ahab, "Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give you for money; for Naboth is not alive, but dead." 16 So it was, when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, that Ahab got up and went down to take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.

The LORD Condemns Ahab

17 [j]Then the word of the LORD came to [k]Elijah the Tishbite, saying, 18 "Arise, go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, [l]who lives in Samaria. There he is, in the vineyard of Naboth, where he has gone down to take possession of it. 19 You shall speak to him, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: "Have you murdered and also taken possession?" ' And you shall speak to him, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: [m]"In the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth, dogs shall lick your blood, even yours." ' "

■ 21:1 Jezreel. About twenty-four miles north of Samaria. Ahab maintained a palace here in addition to one in the capital (18:45).

■ 21:2 Give me your vineyard. In Canaanite nations a king could seize property and personal belongings at pleasure, because in theory all the property was owned by the royal family and only entrusted to their subjects. In Israel, God owned the land (Ex. 19:3–8; Lev. 25:23) and the people held it as His stewards (Num. 14:8; 35:34; Deut. 1:8). The powers of an Israelite monarch were limited in contrast to the powers of a Canaanite king (Deut. 17:14–20; 1 Sam. 8:9–19; 10:25). When Ahab wanted his neighbor's vineyard, his thought was to negotiate a purchase (cf. 16:24).

■ 21:3 The LORD forbid. Naboth's reaction was quick, because his land was a sacred inheritance from the Lord. When the land was distributed following the conquest (Josh. 13—21), each family received its own inheritance as a divine gift and a trust. Since Naboth's vineyard was his portion of his family's inheritance, to sell it would mean cutting off his own descendants (Lev. 25:23; Num. 27:1–11; 36:1–12).

■ 21:8 she wrote letters . . . to the elders and the nobles. Jezebel used the royal power to have Naboth falsely accused and executed.

■ 21:9 Proclaim a fast. Jezebel, with Ahab's complicity, fosters apprehensiveness among the town's inhabitants, because fasting was a characteristic response to a crisis or major transgression (Judg. 20:26; 1 Sam. 7:5, 6; 2 Chr. 20:3; Jon. 3:5, 7–9).

■ 21:10 two men, scoundrels. The law of Israel stipulated that at least two witnesses were required to convict a person of a capital offense (Num. 35:30; Deut. 17:5, 6; 19:15).

blasphemed God and the king. The penalty for cursing God was death (Ex. 22:28; Lev. 24:10–16).

■ 21:13 outside the city. In accordance with the Law, the murderers avoided ritual impurity (Lev. 24:14; Num. 15:35, 36). Second Kin. 9:26 adds that Naboth's sons were also killed, eliminating any possible heirs.

20 So Ahab said to Elijah, [n]"Have you found me, O my enemy?"

And he answered, "I have found you, because [o]you have sold yourself to do evil in the sight of the LORD: 21 'Behold, [p]I will bring calamity on you. I will take away your [q]posterity, and will cut off from Ahab [r]every male in Israel, both [s]bond and free. 22 I will make your house like the house of [t]Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of [u]Baasha the son of Ahijah, because of the provocation with which you have provoked Me to anger, and made Israel sin.' 23 And [v]concerning Jezebel the LORD also spoke, saying, 'The dogs shall eat Jezebel by the [2]wall of Jezreel.' 24 The dogs shall eat [w]whoever belongs to Ahab and dies in the city, and the birds of the air shall eat whoever dies in the field."

25 But [x]there was no one like Ahab who sold himself to do wickedness in the sight of the LORD, [y]because Jezebel his wife [3]stirred him up. 26 And he behaved very abominably in following idols, according to all [z]that the Amorites had done, whom the LORD had cast out before the children of Israel.

27 So it was, when Ahab heard those words, that he tore his clothes and [a]put sackcloth on his body, and fasted and lay in sackcloth, and went about mourning.

28 And the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying, 29 "See how Ahab has humbled himself before Me? Because he [b]has humbled himself before Me, I will not bring the calamity in his days. [c]In the days of his son I will bring the calamity on his house."

Micaiah Warns Ahab

22 Now three years passed without war between Syria and Israel. 2 Then it came to pass, in the third year, that [a]Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went down to visit the king of Israel.

3 And the king of Israel said to his servants, "Do you know that [b]Ramoth in Gilead is ours, but we hesitate to take it out of the hand of the king of Syria?" 4 So he said to Jehoshaphat, "Will you go with me to fight at Ramoth Gilead?"

Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, [c]"I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses." 5 Also Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, [d]"Please inquire for the word of the LORD today."

6 Then the king of Israel [e]gathered [f]the prophets together, about four hundred men, and said to them, "Shall I go against Ramoth Gilead to fight, or shall I refrain?"

So they said, "Go up, for the Lord will deliver it into the hand of the king."

7 And [f]Jehoshaphat said, "Is there not still a prophet of the LORD here, that we may inquire of [2]Him?"

■ 21:24 dogs . . . birds of the air shall eat. See 14:11 and note.

■ 21:25 there was no one like Ahab. See 16:30–33 and notes.

■ 21:26 Amorites. The word here refers to the pre-Israelite inhabitants of Canaan (Gen. 15:16; Deut. 1:7; 2 Sam. 21:2).

■ 21:27 tore his clothes and put sackcloth on. God's judgment, uttered through Elijah, changes Ahab's attitude. Tearing clothes and wearing sackcloth were marks of mourning and repentance (Gen. 37:34; 2 Sam. 3:31; 2 Kin. 6:30; Lam. 2:10; Joel 1:13).

■ 21:29 I will not bring the calamity in his days. God revises the punishment He gave in vv. 21–24. The penalty was not rescinded but delayed a generation due to God's mercy.

his son. That is, Joram (2 Kin. 9:25, 26). Though Ahab would not live to see the end of his dynasty, he and Jezebel died shameful deaths (22:37, 38; 2 Kin. 9:10, 34–37).

■ 22:1 three years. Israel had peace for three years following the two-year war between Syria and Israel described in 20:1–34. During this peace, Hadadezer (Ben-Hadad II) of Syria, Ahab of Israel, and ten other kings formed a coalition to ward off an Assyrian invasion led by Shalmaneser III. Assyrian records report that in the major battle of this campaign fought at Qarqar, Syria, on the Orontes River (853 B.C.), Ahab contributed two hundred chariots and ten thousand soldiers. Assyria's claim to have won a great victory seems to be an exaggeration, because the Assyrians withdrew and did not try to invade again for about four years.

■ 22:2 Jehoshaphat the king of Judah. On his reign, see vv. 41–50 and 2 Kin. 3:7–27.

■ 22:3 Ramoth in Gilead. Located about twenty-eight miles east of the Jordan River, near a tributary to the Yarmuk River, Ramoth in Gilead became Israel's possession during the conquest (Deut. 4:43; Josh. 20:8; cf. 1 Kin. 4:13), and Ahab thought it was time to retrieve it from the Syrians (v. 4).

■ 22:4 I am as you are. This diplomatic language signifies Jehoshaphat's agreement to join the campaign against the Syrians. Jehoshaphat seems to be a junior partner in this coalition rather than an equal of Ahab, because Ahab tells him what to do (v. 30). Since formerly Judah was allied with the Syrians against Israel (15:16–21), this new arrangement marks a change in the foreign policies of both Israel and Judah. At some point in Ahab's reign, he formalized his relationship with Judah by giving his daughter Athaliah in marriage to Jehoram the son of the king of Judah (2 Kin. 8:18, 26). Athaliah was a devoted Baal worshiper, and the diplomatic marriage introduced state-sponsored Baal worship to Judah, corrupting the worship of Yahweh (2 Kin. 11).

■ 22:5 inquire for the word of the LORD. It was usual to consult with God or His prophets before embarking on a major campaign (1 Sam. 23:1–4; 2 Sam. 2:1; 2 Kin. 3:11; 2 Chr. 20:3–17).

■ 22:6 prophets . . . about four hundred men. The prophets whose words are recorded in the Scriptures are only a fraction of the total number of people who called themselves prophets in those times (18:19; 2 Kin. 3:13; Jer. 28). Prophets were also common in other societies of the ancient Near East.

they said, "Go up." Most of the Israelite prophets were eager to please their patrons, usually the kings, by pronouncing flatteries and agreeable messages (Jer. 28:1–4; Amos 7:10–13).

■ 22:7 Is there not still a prophet of the LORD. Jehoshaphat is skeptical of his prophets.

[8] So the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "There is still one man, Micaiah the son of Imlah, by whom we may inquire of the LORD; but I hate him, because he does not prophesy good concerning me, but evil."

And Jehoshaphat said, "Let not the king say such things!"

[9] Then the king of Israel called an officer and said, "Bring Micaiah the son of Imlah quickly!"

[10] The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, having put on their robes, sat each on his throne, at a threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria; and all the prophets prophesied before them. [11] Now Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah had made [g]horns of iron for himself; and he said, "Thus says the LORD: 'With these you shall [h]gore the Syrians until they are destroyed.' " [12] And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, "Go up to Ramoth Gilead and prosper, for the LORD will deliver it into the king's hand."

[13] Then the messenger who had gone to call Micaiah spoke to him, saying, "Now listen, the words of the prophets with one accord encourage the king. Please, let your word be like the word of one of them, and speak encouragement."

[14] And Micaiah said, "As the LORD lives, [i]whatever the LORD says to me, that I will speak."

[15] Then he came to the king; and the king said to him, "Micaiah, shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall we refrain?"

And he answered him, "Go and prosper, for the LORD will deliver it into the hand of the king!"

[16] So the king said to him, "How many times shall I make you swear that you tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?"

[17] Then he said, "I saw all Israel [j]scattered on the mountains, as sheep that have no shepherd. And the LORD said, 'These have no master. Let each return to his house in peace.' "

[18] And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you he would not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?"

[19] Then Micaiah said, "Therefore hear the word of the LORD: [k]I saw the LORD sitting on His throne, [l]and all the host of heaven standing by, on His right hand and on His left. [20] And the LORD said, 'Who will persuade Ahab to go up, that he may fall at Ramoth Gilead?' So one spoke in this manner, and another spoke in that manner. [21] Then a spirit came forward and stood before the LORD, and said, 'I will persuade him.' [22] The LORD said to him, 'In what way?' So he said, 'I will go out and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' And the LORD said, [m]'You shall persuade him, and also prevail. Go out and do so.' [23] [n]Therefore look! The LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these prophets of yours, and the LORD has declared disaster against you."

[24] Now Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah went near and [o]struck Micaiah on the cheek, and said, [p]"Which way did the spirit from the LORD go from me to speak to you?"

[25] And Micaiah said, "Indeed, you shall see on that day when you go into an [q]inner chamber to hide!"

[26] So the king of Israel said, "Take Micaiah, and return him to Amon the governor of the city and to Joash the king's son; [27] and say, 'Thus says the king: "Put this fellow in [r]prison, and feed him with bread of affliction and water of affliction, until I come in peace." ' "

[28] But Micaiah said, "If you ever return in peace, [s]the LORD has not spoken by me." And he said, "Take heed, all you people!"

Ahab Dies in Battle

29 So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth Gilead. 30 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will disguise myself and go into battle; but you put on your robes." So the king of Israel [f]disguised himself and went into battle.

31 Now the [u]king of Syria had commanded the thirty-two [v]captains of his chariots, saying, "Fight with no one small or great, but only with the king of Israel." 32 So it was, when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, that they said, "Surely it is the king of Israel!" Therefore they turned aside to fight against him, and Jehoshaphat [w]cried out. 33 And it happened, when the captains of the chariots saw that it was not the king of Israel, that they turned back from pursuing him. 34 Now a certain man drew a bow at random, and struck the king of Israel between the joints of his armor. So he said to the driver of his chariot, "Turn around and take me out of the battle, for I am wounded."

35 The battle increased that day; and the king was propped up in his chariot, facing the Syrians, and died at evening. The blood ran out from the wound onto the floor of the chariot. 36 Then, as the sun was going down, a shout went throughout the army, saying, "Every man to his city, and every man to his own country!"

37 So the king died, and was brought to Samaria. And they buried the king in Samaria. 38 Then someone washed the chariot at a pool in Samaria, and the dogs licked up his blood while [3]the harlots bathed, according [x]to the word of the LORD which He had spoken.

39 Now the rest of the acts of Ahab, and all that he did, [y]the ivory house which he built and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 40 So Ahab [4]rested with his fathers. Then [z]Ahaziah his son reigned in his place.

Jehoshaphat Reigns in Judah

41 [a]Jehoshaphat the son of Asa had become king over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel. 42 Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi. 43 And [b]he walked in all the ways of his father Asa. He did not turn aside from them, doing what was right in the eyes of the LORD. Nevertheless [c]the high places were not taken away, for the people offered sacrifices and burned incense on the high places. 44 Also [d]Jehoshaphat made [e]peace with the king of Israel.

45 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, the might that he showed, and how he made war, are they not written [f]in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 46 [g]And the rest of the [5]perverted persons, who remained in the days of his father Asa, he banished from the land. 47 [h]There was then no king in Edom, only a deputy of the king.

48 [i]Jehoshaphat [j]made [6]merchant ships to go to [k]Ophir for gold; [l]but they never sailed, for the

The Second Book of the KINGS

Author

The two books of Kings were originally one book that has been divided for the convenience of scribes or printers. Although Jeremiah was traditionally considered the author of Kings, most scholars now believe that it was the work of an unknown writer or group of writers who finished compiling it during the Judean Exile (see "Introduction to 1 Kings: Author").

Characteristics and Themes

Second Kings begins during the reign of Ahaziah in Israel and Jehoshaphat in Judah. It carries the history through the exile of King Jehoiachin in Babylon. One of the high points of the book is the reign of Hezekiah, the first great reformer of worship at the temple (18:4). After the fall of Samaria, the northern kingdom of Israel, Hezekiah began the process of reunifying the people of the divided kingdom. The climax of the book is the reign of Josiah, the second reformer of the temple (22:3—23:24). Both Hezekiah and Josiah are singled out for their incomparable devotion to the Lord (18:5; 23:25). See "Introduction to 1 Kings: Characteristics and Themes."

Date and Occasion

In the concluding chapters of the book, Jerusalem is captured by the Babylonians. The account of the fall emphasizes the rapid sequence of events culminating in the theft of the temple furniture and treasures. The ending of the book is abrupt and has led scholars to propose that the last two chapters were written during the exile in Babylon. See "Introduction to 1 Kings: Date and Occasion." □

God Judges Ahaziah

CHAPTER 1

MOAB [a]rebelled against Israel [b]after the death of Ahab.
2 Now [c]Ahaziah fell through the lattice of his upper room in Samaria, and was injured; so he sent messengers and said to them, "Go, inquire of [d]Baal-Zebub,[1] the god of [e]Ekron, whether I shall recover from this injury." 3 But the [2]angel of the LORD said to Elijah the Tishbite, "Arise, go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria, and say to them, 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are going to inquire of Baal-Zebub, the god of Ekron?' 4 Now therefore, thus says the LORD: 'You shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.' " So Elijah departed.
5 And when the messengers returned to [3]him, he said to them, "Why have you come back?"
6 So they said to him, "A man came up to meet us, and said to us, 'Go, return to the king who sent you, and say to him, "Thus says the LORD: 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are sending to inquire of Baal-Zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.' " ' "

7 Then he said to them, "What kind of man was it who came up to meet you and told you these words?"

8 So they answered him, [f]"A hairy man wearing a leather belt around his waist."

And he said, [g]"It is Elijah the Tishbite."

9 Then the king sent to him a captain of fifty with his fifty men. So he went up to him; and there he was, sitting on the top of a hill. And he spoke to him: "Man of God, the king has said, 'Come down!' "

10 So Elijah answered and said to the captain of fifty, "If I am a man of God, then [h]let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men." And fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty. 11 Then he sent to him another captain of fifty with his fifty men.

And he answered and said to him: "Man of God, thus has the king said, 'Come down quickly!' "

12 So Elijah answered and said to them, "If I am a man of God, let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men." And the fire of God came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty.

13 Again, he sent a third captain of fifty with his fifty men. And the third captain of fifty went up, and came and [4]fell on his knees before Elijah, and pleaded with him, and said to him: "Man of God, please let my life and the life of these fifty servants of yours [i]be precious in your sight. 14 Look, fire has come down from heaven and burned up the first two captains of fifties with their fifties. But let my life now be precious in your sight."

15 And the [5]angel of the LORD said to Elijah, "Go down with him; do not be afraid of him." So he arose and went down with him to the king. 16 Then he said to him, "Thus says the LORD: 'Because you have sent messengers to inquire of Baal-Zebub, the god of Ekron, is it because there is no God in Israel to inquire of His word? Therefore you shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.' "

17 So Ahaziah died according to the word of the LORD which Elijah had spoken. Because he had no son, [j]Jehoram[6] became king in his place, in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah.

18 Now the rest of the acts of Ahaziah which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Elijah Ascends to Heaven

2 And it came to pass, when the LORD was about to [a]take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, that Elijah went with [b]Elisha from Gilgal. 2 Then Elijah said to Elisha, [c]"Stay here, please, for the LORD has sent me on to Bethel."

But Elisha said, "As the LORD lives, and [d]as your soul lives, I will not leave you!" So they went down to Bethel.

3 Now [e]the sons of the prophets who were at Bethel came out to Elisha, and said to him, "Do you know that the LORD will take away your master [7]from over you today?"

And he said, "Yes, I know; keep silent!"

4 Then Elijah said to him, "Elisha, stay here, please, for the LORD has sent me on to Jericho."

But he said, "As the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you!" So they came to Jericho.

5 Now the sons of the prophets who were at Jericho came to Elisha and said to him, "Do you know that the LORD will take away your master from over you today?"

So he answered, "Yes, I know; keep silent!"

■ 1:8 A hairy man . . . a leather belt. In his appearance, his ascetic life, and his prophetic boldness, John the Baptist resembles Elijah (Matt. 3:4). Both prophets carried out a ministry of judgment and repentance (Matt. 3:1–12; Luke 3:2–17).

■ 1:9 Man of God, the king has said, 'Come down!' For Ahaziah, Elijah's prophecy constituted interference in the affairs of state, and he should therefore be held accountable to the king for his actions. Ahaziah's response reveals a characteristically Canaanite understanding of the unbridled powers of kingship (1 Sam. 8:11–17; 1 Kin. 21:2 note; cf. Deut. 17:14–20).

■ 1:17 Jehoram. Jehoram, like Ahaziah, was a son of Ahab (3:1; 1 Kin. 22:51). This Jehoram of the northern kingdom of Israel should not be confused with Jehoram (or Joram), the son and successor to Jehoshaphat (see 8:16, 23), who ruled in the southern kingdom (Judah) at about the same time.

■ 1:18 book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel. See note on 1 Kin. 11:41.

■ 2:1 into heaven by a whirlwind. In the Bible only Elijah and Enoch (Gen. 5:24) are privileged not to die but to be directly taken up to heaven.

Gilgal. Located west of the Jordan near Jericho.

■ 2:2 Bethel. Bethel is a major Israelite city in the central highlands (1 Kin. 12:29 note).

6 Then Elijah said to him, "Stay here, please, for the LORD has sent me on to the Jordan."

But he said, "As the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, I will not leave you!" So the two of them went on. 7 And fifty men of the sons of the prophets went and stood facing them at a distance, while the two of them stood by the Jordan. 8 Now Elijah took his mantle, rolled it up, and struck the water; and [f]it was divided this way and that, so that the two of them crossed over on dry [g]ground.

9 And so it was, when they had crossed over, that Elijah said to Elisha, "Ask! What may I do for you, before I am taken away from you?"

Elisha said, "Please let a double portion of your spirit be upon me."

10 So he said, "You have asked a hard thing. Nevertheless, if you see me when I am taken from you, it shall be so for you; but if not, it shall not be so." 11 Then it happened, as they continued on and talked, that suddenly [h]a chariot of fire appeared with horses of fire, and separated the two of them; and Elijah [i]went up by a whirlwind into heaven.

12 And Elisha saw it, and he cried out, [j]"My father, my father, the chariot of Israel and its horsemen!" So he saw him no more. And he took hold of his own clothes and tore them into two pieces. 13 He also took up the mantle of Elijah that had fallen from him, and went back and stood by the bank of the Jordan. 14 Then he took the mantle of Elijah that had fallen from him, and struck the water, and said, "Where is the LORD God of Elijah?" And when he also had struck the water, [k]it was divided this way and that; and Elisha crossed over.

15 Now when the sons of the prophets who were [l]from[2] Jericho saw him, they said, "The spirit of Elijah rests on Elisha." And they came to meet him, and bowed to the ground before him. 16 Then they said to him, "Look now, there are fifty strong men with your servants. Please let them go and search for your master, [m]lest perhaps the Spirit of the LORD has taken him up and cast him upon some mountain or into some valley."

And he said, "You shall not send anyone."

17 But when they urged him till he was [n]ashamed, he said, "Send them!" Therefore they sent fifty men, and they searched for three days but did not find him. 18 And when they came back to him, for he had stayed in Jericho, he said to them, "Did I not say to you, 'Do not go'?"

Elisha Performs Miracles

19 Then the men of the city said to Elisha, "Please notice, the situation of this city is pleasant, as my lord sees; but the water is bad, and the ground barren."

20 And he said, "Bring me a new bowl, and put salt in it." So they brought it to him. 21 Then he went out to the source of the water, and [o]cast in the salt there, and said, "Thus says the LORD: 'I have [3]healed this water; from it there shall be no more death or barrenness.' " 22 So the water remains [p]healed to this day, according to the word of Elisha which he spoke.

23 Then he went up from there to Bethel; and as he was going up the road, some youths came from the city and mocked him, and said to him, "Go up, you baldhead! Go up, you baldhead!"

■ 2:8 struck the water. Elijah, like Moses and Joshua before him, witnesses a division of waters that allows God's chosen to pass through safely on dry ground (Ex. 14:21, 22; Josh. 3:14–17).

■ 2:9 a double portion. In Israel the oldest son received a double share of the family inheritance and with it the right of succession (Deut. 21:17). Elisha's desire for "a double portion of your spirit" was therefore a bold request to carry on Elijah's ministry.

■ 2:10 You have asked a hard thing. It was not up to Elijah but to God to determine whether Elisha's daring request would be met.

■ 2:11 chariot of fire . . . with horses of fire. God's heavenly attendants escort Elijah to heaven "by a whirlwind." Fire appears several times in Elijah's ministry as a sign of God's all-consuming power (1:10, 12, 14; 1 Kin. 18:38; cf. 1 Kin. 19:12).

■ 2:12 My father, my father. This title of respect for a person of authority (Gen. 45:8; Judg. 17:10; Matt. 23:9) will later be used for Elisha (6:21; 13:14). The prophet Malachi declared that Elijah would return before the coming of the "day of the LORD" (Mal. 4:5 and note). Elijah would prepare the people for the Lord's ministry (1:8 note).

■ 2:13 took up the mantle. Earlier Elijah had cast his cloak upon Elisha as a sign that Elisha would be his successor (1 Kin. 19:19). Now what was promised takes place.

■ 2:14 it was divided . . . and Elisha crossed over. God designated Joshua as the approved successor to Moses (Num. 27:12–23; Deut. 31:1–8; 34:9; Josh. 1:1–9) by having Joshua lead the people across the Jordan River into the Promised Land, much as Moses led the people through the Red Sea (Ex. 14; 15; Josh. 3). Now God designates Elisha as the successor to Elijah by dividing the Jordan for him as He did for Elijah (v. 8).

■ 2:15 the sons of the prophets . . . bowed to the ground before him. See note on 1 Kin. 20:35.

■ 2:19 the men of the city. These men are probably the leaders of Jericho (v. 18).

■ 2:20 new bowl. A new vessel would be free from any ceremonial pollution.

put salt in it. Salt is a preservative, and is an appropriate symbol for how God is faithful to His promises and maintains His people (Lev. 2:13; Num. 18:19; 2 Chr. 13:5; Ezek. 43:24; Matt. 5:13; Mark 9:49, 50).

■ 2:23 baldhead. It may be that the youths were sarcastically comparing Elisha with his teacher Elijah, who was "hairy" (1:8), and taunting him to "go up" to heaven as Elijah had done (v. 11).

24 So he turned around and looked at them, and [q]pronounced a curse on them in the name of the LORD. And two female bears came out of the woods and mauled forty-two of the youths.
25 Then he went from there to [r]Mount Carmel, and from there he returned to Samaria.

Moab Rebels Against Israel

3 Now [a]Jehoram the son of Ahab became king over Israel at Samaria in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned twelve years. 2 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, but not like his father and mother; for he put away the sacred pillar of Baal [b]that his father had made. 3 Nevertheless he persisted in [c]the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin; he did not depart from them.

4 Now Mesha king of Moab was a sheepbreeder, and he [d]regularly paid the king of Israel one hundred thousand [e]lambs and the wool of one hundred thousand rams. 5 But it happened, when [f]Ahab died, that the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel.

6 So King Jehoram went out of Samaria at that time and mustered all Israel. 7 Then he went and sent to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, saying, "The king of Moab has rebelled against me. Will you go with me to fight against Moab?"

And he said, "I will go up; [g]I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses." 8 Then he said, "Which way shall we go up?"

And he answered, "By way of the Wilderness of Edom."

9 So the king of Israel went with the king of Judah and the king of Edom, and they marched on that roundabout route seven days; and there was no water for the army, nor for the animals that followed them. 10 And the king of Israel said, "Alas! For the LORD has called these three kings together to deliver them into the hand of Moab."

11 But [h]Jehoshaphat said, "Is there no prophet of the LORD here, that we may inquire of the LORD by him?"

So one of the servants of the king of Israel answered and said, "Elisha the son of Shaphat is here, who [i]poured[j] water on the hands of Elijah."

12 And Jehoshaphat said, "The word of the LORD is with him." So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom [l]went down to him.

13 Then Elisha said to the king of Israel, [k]"What have I to do with you? [l]Go to [m]the prophets of your father and the [n]prophets of your mother."

But the king of Israel said to him, "No, for the LORD has called these three kings together to deliver them into the hand of Moab."

14 And Elisha said, [o]"As the LORD of hosts lives, before whom I stand, surely were it not that I regard the presence of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, I would not look at you, nor see you. 15 But now bring me [p]a musician."

Then it happened, when the musician [q]played, that [r]the hand of the LORD came upon him. 16 And he said, "Thus says the LORD: [s]'Make this valley full of [2]ditches.' 17 For thus says the LORD: 'You shall not see wind, nor shall you see rain; yet that valley shall be filled with water, so that you, your cattle, and your animals may drink.' 18 And this is a simple matter in the sight of the LORD; He will also deliver the Moabites into your hand. 19 Also you shall attack every for-

■ 2:24 pronounced a curse. Elisha in his ministry is characteristically compassionate toward the repentant and hard on the unresponsive and obstinate. The mauling of the Bethel youths becomes another public manifestation of the power of God present in His spokesman, Elisha (vv. 14, 21).

■ 3:1 in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat. Probably Jehoram of Judah and his father Jehoshaphat ruled together as co-regents for approximately five years (853–848 B.C.). "The second year of Jehoram" (1:17) would be the same as "the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat" (3:1).

twelve years. That is, 852–841 B.C.

■ 3:2 sacred pillar of Baal. See note on 1 Kin. 14:23. Jehoram initiates a minor reform, attempting to undo some of the damage of his parents.

■ 3:3 sins of Jeroboam. See note on 1 Kin. 12:30. Jehoram's reform was not thoroughgoing; he did not address the fundamental flaw in the worship of the northern kingdom.

■ 3:4 Mesha king of Moab. According to the Moabite Stone, Mesha acknowledged that, like his predecessors, he also was a vassal to Israel. He claimed to have freed his land from subjection to Israel and boasted that "Israel has perished forever."

he regularly paid the king. Part of Mesha's obligations as a vassal would be to pay tribute regularly to his superior.

■ 3:9 king of Edom. The ruler of Edom was likely a vassal to the king of Judah and therefore obliged to assist him (cf. 8:20; 1 Kin. 22:47).

■ 3:11 Is there no prophet of the LORD here. Jehoshaphat posed a similar question to Ahab (1 Kin. 22:7).

■ 3:14 regard the presence of Jehoshaphat. Elisha consents to prophesy for the coalition, but only for the sake of Jehoshaphat, whose reign was viewed positively (1 Kin. 22:43).

■ 3:15 bring me a musician. The musician was employed to provide an atmosphere suitable for the reception of divine revelation (cf. 1 Sam. 10:5, 6; 19:20–24).

the hand of the LORD. The phrase is a symbol of prophetic inspiration (Ezek. 1:3; 8:1; 13:9).

■ 3:16 this valley. This is usually identified as the Valley of Zered, a wadi (seasonal stream) that flows into the southern end of the Dead Sea and formed the border between Edom and Moab (Deut. 2:13).

tified city and every choice city, and shall cut down every good tree, and stop up every spring of water, and ruin every good piece of land with stones."

20 Now it happened in the morning, when [t]the grain offering was offered, that suddenly water came by way of Edom, and the land was filled with water.

21 And when all the Moabites heard that the kings had come up to fight against them, all who were able to bear arms and older were [3]gathered; and they stood at the border. 22 Then they rose up early in the morning, and the sun was shining on the water; and the Moabites saw the water on the other side as red as blood. 23 And they said, "This is blood; the kings have surely struck swords and have killed one another; now therefore, Moab, to the spoil!"

24 So when they came to the camp of Israel, Israel rose up and attacked the Moabites, so that they fled before them; and they entered their land, killing the Moabites. 25 Then they destroyed the cities, and each man threw a stone on every good piece of land and filled it; and they stopped up all the springs of water and cut down all the good trees. But they left the stones of [u]Kir Haraseth intact. However the slingers surrounded and attacked it.

26 And when the king of Moab saw that the battle was too fierce for him, he took with him seven hundred men who drew swords, to break through to the king of Edom, but they could not. 27 Then [v]he took his eldest son who would have reigned in his place, and offered him as a burnt offering upon the wall; and there was great [4]indignation against Israel. [w]So they departed from him and returned to their own land.

Elisha and the Widow's Oil

4 A certain woman of the wives of [a]the sons of the prophets cried out to Elisha, saying, "Your servant my husband is dead, and you know that your servant feared the LORD. And the creditor is coming [b]to take my two sons to be his slaves."

2 So Elisha said to her, "What shall I do for you? Tell me, what do you have in the house?" And she said, "Your maidservant has nothing in the house but a jar of oil."

3 Then he said, "Go, borrow vessels from everywhere, from all your neighbors—empty vessels; [c]do not gather just a few. 4 And when you have come in, you shall shut the door behind you and your sons; then pour it into all those vessels, and set aside the full ones."

5 So she went from him and shut the door behind her and her sons, who brought the vessels to her; and she poured it out. 6 Now it came to pass, when the vessels were full, that she said to her son, "Bring me another vessel."

And he said to her, "There is not another vessel." So the oil ceased. 7 Then she came and told the man of God. And he said, "Go, sell the oil and pay your debt; and you and your sons live on the rest."

Elisha Raises the Shunammite's Son

8 Now it happened one day that Elisha went to [d]Shunem, where there was a [1]notable woman, and she [2]persuaded him to eat some food. So it was, as often as he passed by, he would turn in there to eat some food. 9 And she said to her husband, "Look now, I know that this is a holy man of God, who passes by us regularly. 10 Please, let us make [3]a small upper room on the wall; and let us put a bed for him there, and a table and a chair and a lampstand; so it will be, whenever he comes to us, he can turn in there."

11 And it happened one day that he came there, and he turned in to the upper room and lay down there. 12 Then he said to [e]Gehazi his servant, "Call this Shunammite woman." When he had called her, she stood before him. 13 And he said to him, "Say now to her, 'Look, you have been concerned for us with all this care. What can I do for you? Do you want me to speak on your behalf to the king or to the commander of the army?' "

■ 3:20 water came by way of Edom. Flash floods in the mountains of Edom flowed rapidly through the stream bed in the direction of the Dead Sea.

■ 3:22 the water . . . as red as blood. The water was colored by Edom's red sandstone (cf. Gen. 25:30).

■ 3:25 Kir Haraseth. Probably this was the capital of Moab (Is. 16:7, 11; Jer. 48:31, 36), about eleven miles east of the Dead Sea and fourteen miles north of the Valley of Zered.

■ 3:27 his eldest son. This grisly act was meant to induce the god Chemosh to deliver the Moabites from certain defeat. Child sacrifice was expressly forbidden in Israel (Ex. 34:20; Deut. 18:10); nevertheless, two later kings of Judah (Ahaz and Manasseh) apparently practiced it (16:3; 21:6).

■ 4:1 sons of the prophets. See note on 1 Kin. 20:35.

my two sons to be his slaves. The Mosaic law allows taking children as bond servants (or slaves) for a limited period of time (Ex. 21:2, 7; Lev. 25:39–46; Deut. 15:12–18). Unfortunately, this provision was often abused (Neh. 5:5–8; Jer. 34:8–22; Amos 2:6; 8:6).

■ 4:8 Shunem. In northern Canaan, outside Israel (1 Kin. 1:3 note).

■ 4:12 Gehazi. Elisha's personal attendant (5:20–27; 6:15).

She answered, "I dwell among my own people."

14 So he said, "What then is to be done for her?"

And Gehazi answered, "Actually, she has no son, and her husband is old."

15 So he said, "Call her." When he had called her, she stood in the doorway. 16 Then he said, [4]"About this time next year you shall embrace a son."

And she said, "No, my lord. Man of God, [f]do not lie to your maidservant!"

17 But the woman conceived, and bore a son when the appointed time had come, of which Elisha had told her.

18 And the child grew. Now it happened one day that he went out to his father, to the reapers. 19 And he said to his father, "My head, my head!"

So he said to a servant, "Carry him to his mother." 20 When he had taken him and brought him to his mother, he sat on her knees till noon, and then died. 21 And she went up and laid him on the bed of the man of God, shut the door upon him, and went out. 22 Then she called to her husband, and said, "Please send me one of the young men and one of the donkeys, that I may run to the man of God and come back."

23 So he said, "Why are you going to him today? It is neither the [g]New Moon nor the Sabbath."

And she said, [5]"It is well." 24 Then she saddled a donkey, and said to her servant, "Drive, and go forward; do not slacken the pace for me unless I tell you." 25 And so she departed, and went to the man of God [h]at Mount Carmel.

So it was, when the man of God saw her afar off, that he said to his servant Gehazi, "Look, the Shunammite woman! 26 Please run now to meet her, and say to her, 'Is it well with you? Is it well with your husband? Is it well with the child?' "

And she answered, "It is well." 27 Now when she came to the man of God at the hill, she caught him by the feet, but Gehazi came near to push her away. But the man of God said, "Let her alone; for her soul is in deep distress, and the LORD has hidden it from me, and has not told me."

28 So she said, "Did I ask a son of my lord? [i]Did I not say, 'Do not deceive me'?"

29 Then he said to Gehazi, [j]"Get[6] yourself ready, and take my staff in your hand, and be on your way. If you meet anyone, [k]do not greet him; and if anyone greets you, do not answer him; but [l]lay my staff on the face of the child."

30 And the mother of the child said, [m]"As the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, I will not [n]leave you." So he arose and followed her. 31 Now Gehazi went on ahead of them, and laid the staff on the face of the child; but there was neither voice nor hearing. Therefore he went back to meet him, and told him, saying, "The child has [o]not awakened."

32 When Elisha came into the house, there was the child, lying dead on his bed. 33 He [p]went in therefore, shut the door behind the two of them, [q]and prayed to the LORD. 34 And he went up and lay on the child, and put his mouth on his mouth, his eyes on his eyes, and his hands on his hands; and [r]he stretched himself out on the child, and the flesh of the child became warm. 35 He returned and walked back and forth in the house, and again went up [s]and stretched himself out on him; then [t]the child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes. 36 And he called Gehazi and said, "Call this Shunammite woman." So he called her. And when she came in to him, he said, "Pick up your son." 37 So she went in, fell at his feet, and bowed to the ground; then she [u]picked up her son and went out.

■ 4:14 she has no son, and her husband is old. An heir was of great importance because the family name and possessions would be passed on to the children. Without a son, a family's home and goods would be given to others. Moreover, living as a widow, a real prospect for this woman, would be very difficult (1 Kin. 17:9 note).

■ 4:17 bore a son. Throughout the Bible, God's grace to childless women, such as Sarah (Gen. 17:16–19), Rebekah (Gen. 25:21–26), Rachel (Gen. 29:31; 30:22–24), and Elizabeth (Luke 1:5–25), shows His love and compassion for the poor and downtrodden.

■ 4:21 laid him on the bed of the man of God. She refuses to accept the death of her son and conceals his body in Elisha's room so that the ritual of mourning will not begin (Gen. 50:10; 2 Chr. 35:25; Job 2:12, 13; Dan. 10:2; Mark 5:38; John 11:33).

■ 4:23 It is neither the New Moon nor the Sabbath. Ancient Israel had a lunar calendar, and a festival was celebrated at each New Moon (Num. 10:10; 28:11–15; Ezra 3:5; Neh. 10:33; Is. 1:13, 14; Amos 8:5). The law did not permit work on the Sabbath, and possibly not on the New Moon either (Ex. 16:23; 20:8–10; 1 Sam. 20:5; 1 Chr. 23:31).

■ 4:27 caught him by the feet. Doing this was a sign of respect (John 11:32).

for the sons of the prophets." [39] So one went out into the field to gather herbs, and found a wild vine, and gathered from it a lapful of wild gourds, and came and sliced them into the pot of stew, though they did not know what they were. [40] Then they served it to the men to eat. Now it happened, as they were eating the stew, that they cried out and said, "Man of God, there is [y]death in the pot!" And they could not eat it.

[41] So he said, "Then bring some flour." And [z]he put it into the pot, and said, "Serve it to the people, that they may eat." And there was nothing harmful in the pot.

Elisha Feeds One Hundred Men

[42] Then a man came from [a]Baal Shalisha, [b]and brought the man of God bread of the firstfruits, twenty loaves of barley bread, and newly ripened grain in his knapsack. And he said, "Give it to the people, that they may eat."

[43] But his servant said, [c]"What? Shall I set this before one hundred men?"

He said again, "Give it to the people, that they may eat; for thus says the LORD: [d]'They shall eat and have some left over.' " [44] So he set it before them; and they ate [e]and had some left over, according to the word of the LORD.

Naaman's Leprosy Healed

5 Now [a]Naaman, commander of the army of the king of Syria, was [b]a great and honorable man in the eyes of his master, because by him the LORD had given victory to Syria. He was also a mighty man of valor, but a leper. [2] And the Syrians had gone out [c]on[f] raids, and had brought back captive a young girl from the land of Israel. She [2]waited on Naaman's wife. [3] Then she said to her mistress, "If only my master were with the prophet who is in Samaria! For he would heal him of his leprosy." [4] And Naaman went in and told his master, saying, "Thus and thus said the girl who is from the land of Israel."

[5] Then the king of Syria said, "Go now, and I will send a letter to the king of Israel."

So he departed and [d]took with him ten talents of silver, six thousand shekels of gold, and ten changes of clothing. [6] Then he brought the letter to the king of Israel, which said,

> Now be advised, when this letter comes to you, that I have sent Naaman my servant to you, that you may heal him of his leprosy.

[7] And it happened, when the king of Israel read the letter, that he tore his clothes and said, "Am I [e]God, to kill and make alive, that this man sends a man to me to heal him of his leprosy? Therefore please consider, and see how he seeks a quarrel with me."

[8] So it was, when Elisha the man of God heard that the king of Israel had torn his clothes, that he sent to the king, saying, "Why have you torn your clothes? Please let him come to me, and he shall know that there is a prophet in Israel."

[9] Then Naaman went with his horses and chariot, and he stood at the door of Elisha's house. [10] And Elisha sent a messenger to him, saying, "Go and [f]wash in the Jordan seven times, and your flesh shall be restored to you, and you shall be clean." [11] But Naaman became furious, and went away and said, "Indeed, I said to myself, 'He will surely come out to me, and stand and call on the name of the LORD his God, and wave his hand over the place, and heal the leprosy.' [12] Are not the [3]Abanah and the Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? Could I not wash in them and be clean?" So he turned and went away in a rage. [13] And his

15 And he returned to the man of God, he and all his aides, and came and stood before him; and he said, "Indeed, now I know that there is jno God in all the earth, except in Israel; now therefore, please take ka gift from your servant."

16 But he said, l"As the LORD lives, before whom I stand, mI will receive nothing." And he urged him to take it, but he refused.

17 So Naaman said, "Then, if not, please let your servant be given two mule-loads of earth; for your servant will no longer offer either burnt offering or sacrifice to other gods, but to the LORD. 18 Yet in this thing may the LORD pardon your servant: when my master goes into the temple of Rimmon to worship there, and nhe leans on my hand, and I bow down in the temple of Rimmon—when I bow down in the temple of Rimmon, may the LORD please pardon your servant in this thing."

19 Then he said to him, "Go in peace." So he departed from him a short distance.

Gehazi's Greed

20 But oGehazi, the servant of Elisha the man of God, said, "Look, my master has spared Naaman this Syrian, while not receiving from his hands what he brought; but as the LORD lives, I will run after him and take something from him." 21 So Gehazi pursued Naaman. When Naaman saw him running after him, he got down from the chariot to meet him, and said, "Is all well?"

22 And he said, "All is pwell. My master has sent me, saying, 'Indeed, just now two young men of the sons of the prophets have come to me from the mountains of Ephraim. Please give them a talent of silver and two changes of garments.' "

23 So Naaman said, "Please, take two talents." And he urged him, and bound two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of garments, and handed them to two of his servants; and they carried them on ahead of him. 24 When he came to qthe citadel, he took them from their hand, and stored them away in the house; then he let the men go, and they departed. 25 Now he went in and stood before his master. Elisha said to him, "Where did you go, Gehazi?"

And he said, "Your servant did not go anywhere."

26 Then he said to him, "Did not my heart go with you when the man turned back from his chariot to meet you? Is it rtime to receive money and to receive clothing, olive groves and vineyards, sheep and oxen, male and female servants? 27 Therefore the leprosy of Naaman sshall cling to you and your descendants forever." And he went out from his presence tleprous, as white as snow.

The Floating Ax Head

6 And athe sons of the prophets said to Elisha, "See now, the place where we dwell with you is too small for us. 2 Please, let us go to the Jordan, and let every man take a beam from there, and let us make there a place where we may dwell."

So he answered, "Go."

3 Then one said, b"Please consent to go with your servants."

And he answered, "I will go." 4 So he went with them. And when they came to the Jordan, they cut down trees. 5 But as one was cutting down a tree, the iron ax head fell into the water; and he cried out and said, "Alas, master! For it was cborrowed."

6 So the man of God said, "Where did it fall?" And he showed him the place. So dhe cut off a

■ 5:15 there is no God in all the earth, except in Israel. Naaman was not merely saying that the Lord was more powerful than the Syrian gods; he was confessing that there is only one God, the Lord. In saying this, Naaman adopts the faith of Israel as his own (1 Kin. 18:39).

■ 5:16 As the LORD lives. The words are an oath (1 Kin. 1:17 note).

■ 5:17 two mule-loads of earth. People in the ancient Near East believed that the gods were tied to the lands they ruled. Naaman asks for dirt from the Lord's land to sanctify the altar he plans to build for Him in another country.

■ 5:18 Rimmon. The word "Rimmon" (lit. "pomegranate") is a parody of the name Ramanu, the Syrian storm god corresponding to Baal. This chief deity of Syria was also known by the name Hadad (Zech. 12:11).

■ 5:22 sons of the prophets. See note on 1 Kin. 20:35.

■ 5:26 money. The word refers not to coins (which were probably not yet in use), but to quantities of gold or silver.

■ 5:27 to you and your descendants. Sin is not only individual, but corporate (Ex. 20:5).

■ 6:1 the sons of the prophets. See note on 1 Kin. 20:35.

■ 6:5 iron ax head. This tool was expensive and relatively rare in Israel at this time. Because the prophet borrowed the ax head from a friend, its loss was a problem.

stick, and threw it in there; and he made the iron float. 7 Therefore he said, "Pick it up for yourself." So he reached out his hand and took it.

The Blinded Syrians Captured

8 Now the [e]king of Syria was making war against Israel; and he consulted with his servants, saying, "My camp will be in such and such a place." 9 And the man of God sent to the king of Israel, saying, "Beware that you do not pass this place, for the Syrians are coming down there." 10 Then the king of Israel sent someone to the place of which the man of God had told him. Thus he warned him, and he was watchful there, not just once or twice.

11 Therefore the heart of the king of Syria was greatly troubled by this thing; and he called his servants and said to them, "Will you not show me which of us is for the king of Israel?"

12 And one of his servants said, "None, my lord, O king; but Elisha, the prophet who is in Israel, tells the king of Israel the words that you speak in your bedroom."

13 So he said, "Go and see where he is, that I may send and get him."

And it was told him, saying, "Surely he is in [f]Dothan."

14 Therefore he sent horses and chariots and a great army there, and they came by night and surrounded the city. 15 And when the servant of the man of God arose early and went out, there was an army, surrounding the city with horses and chariots. And his servant said to him, "Alas, my master! What shall we do?"

16 So he answered, [g]"Do not fear, for [h]those who are with us are more than those who are with them." 17 And Elisha prayed, and said, "LORD, I pray, open his eyes that he may see." Then the LORD [i]opened the eyes of the young man, and he saw. And behold, the mountain was full of [j]horses and chariots of fire all around Elisha. 18 So when the Syrians came down to him, Elisha prayed to the LORD, and said, "Strike this people, I pray, with blindness." And [k]He struck them with blindness according to the word of Elisha.

19 Now Elisha said to them, "This is not the way, nor is this the city. Follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom you seek." But he led them to Samaria.

20 So it was, when they had come to Samaria, that Elisha said, "LORD, open the eyes of these men, that they may see." And the LORD opened their eyes, and they saw; and there they were, inside Samaria!

21 Now when the king of Israel saw them, he said to Elisha, "My [l]father, shall I kill them? Shall I kill them?"

22 But he answered, "You shall not kill them. Would you kill those whom you have taken captive with your sword and your bow? [m]Set food and water before them, that they may eat and drink and go to their master." 23 Then he prepared a great feast for them; and after they ate and drank, he sent them away and they went to their master. So [n]the bands of Syrian raiders came no more into the land of Israel.

Syria Besieges Samaria in Famine

24 And it happened after this that [o]Ben-Hadad king of Syria gathered all his army, and went up and besieged Samaria. 25 And there was a great [p]famine in Samaria; and indeed they besieged it until a donkey's head was sold for eighty shekels of silver, and one-fourth of a [l]kab of dove droppings for five shekels of silver.

26 Then, as the king of Israel was passing by on the wall, a woman cried out to him, saying, "Help, my lord, O king!"

27 And he said, "If the LORD does not help you, where can I find help for you? From the war against Israel. Despite the ratification of a treaty between Israel and Syria (1 Kin. 20:34; 22:1), the two nations continued to fight.

■ 6:8 king of Syria. As in ch. 5, the kings of Syria and Israel (v. 9) are unnamed. They are most likely Ben-Hadad II (8:7; 13:3; 1 Kin. 20:1) and Jehoram (1:17; 3:1; 9:24).

■ 6:16 those who are with us. Elisha is referring to God's heavenly "host" or army (cf. Josh. 5:13–15; 2 Chr. 32:7, 8; Dan. 10:20; 12:1). In fighting wars for God, the Israelites believed that they were not fighting alone, but with the power of God (Ex. 15:1–12; Deut. 20:1–4; 2 Sam. 22:7–16, 31–51). See also Matt. 26:53.

■ 6:17 open his eyes. Elisha prays that the servant would see something that does not appear to the naked eye: God's heavenly armies waiting to do battle with the Syrians.

■ 6:21 My father. The kings called Elisha "father" by way of respect (2:12 note; 13:14).

■ 6:22 Would you kill. Elisha's point is twofold. First, the captives do not belong to the king because the victory was God's. Second, captives who are at the mercy of their captors were not normally killed (Deut. 20:11; 2 Sam. 8:2).

■ 6:24 Ben-Hadad. Most likely Ben-Hadad II (8:7; 1 Kin. 20:1 note).

■ 6:25 a donkey's head was sold for eighty shekels of silver. An undesirable part of an unclean animal (Lev. 11:2–7; Deut. 14:4–8) was selling for two pounds of silver.

threshing floor or from the winepress?" 28 Then the king said to her, "What is troubling you?"

And she answered, "This woman said to me, 'Give your son, that we may eat him today, and we will eat my son tomorrow.' 29 So [q]we boiled my son, and ate him. And I said to her on the next day, 'Give your son, that we may eat him'; but she has hidden her son."

30 Now it happened, when the king heard the words of the woman, that he [r]tore his clothes; and as he passed by on the wall, the people looked, and there underneath he had sackcloth on his body. 31 Then he said, [s]"God do so to me and more also, if the head of Elisha the son of Shaphat remains on him today!"

32 But Elisha was sitting in his house, and [t]the elders were sitting with him. And the king sent a man ahead of him, but before the messenger came to him, he said to the elders, [u]"Do you see how this son of [v]a murderer has sent someone to take away my head? Look, when the messenger comes, shut the door, and hold him fast at the door. Is not the sound of his master's feet behind him?" 33 And while he was still talking with them, there was the messenger, coming down to him; and then the king said, "Surely this calamity is from the LORD; [w]why should I wait for the LORD any longer?"

7 Then Elisha said, "Hear the word of the LORD. Thus says the LORD: [a]'Tomorrow about this time a [1]seah of fine flour shall be sold for a shekel, and two seahs of barley for a shekel, at the gate of Samaria.' "

2 [b]So an officer on whose hand the king leaned answered the man of God and said, "Look, [c]if the LORD would make windows in heaven, could this thing be?"

And he said, "In fact, you shall see it with your eyes, but you shall not eat of it."

The Syrians Flee

3 Now there were four leprous men [d]at the entrance of the gate; and they said to one another, "Why are we sitting here until we die? 4 If we say, 'We will enter the city,' the famine is in the city, and we shall die there. And if we sit here, we die also. Now therefore, come, let us surrender to the [e]army of the Syrians. If they keep us alive, we shall live; and if they kill us, we shall only die." 5 And they rose at twilight to go to the camp of the Syrians; and when they had come to the outskirts of the Syrian camp, to their surprise no one was there. 6 For the LORD had caused the army of the Syrians [f]to hear the noise of chariots and the noise of horses—the noise of a great army; so they said to one another, "Look, the king of Israel has hired against us [g]the kings of the Hittites and the kings of the Egyptians to attack us!" 7 Therefore they [h]arose and fled at twilight, and left the camp intact—their tents, their horses, and their donkeys—and they fled for their lives. 8 And when these lepers came to the outskirts of the camp, they went into one tent and ate and drank, and carried from it silver and gold and clothing, and went and hid them; then they came back and entered another tent, and carried some from there also, and went and hid it.

9 Then they said to one another, "We are not doing right. This day is a day of good news, and we remain silent. If we wait until morning light, some [2]punishment will come upon us. Now therefore, come, let us go and tell the king's household." 10 So they went and called to the gatekeepers of the city, and told them, saying, "We went to the Syrian camp, and surprisingly no one was there, not a human sound—only horses and donkeys tied, and the tents intact." 11 And the gatekeepers called out, and they told it to the king's household inside.

12 So the king arose in the night and said to his servants, "Let me now tell you what the Syrians have done to us. They know that we are [i]hungry; therefore they have gone out of the camp to [3]hide themselves in the field, saying, 'When they come out of the city, we shall catch them alive, and get into the city.' "

13 And one of his servants answered and said, "Please, let several men take five of the remaining horses which are left in the city. Look, they may either become like all the multitude of Israel that are left in it; or indeed, I say, they may become like all the multitude of Israel left from those

■ 6:28 Give your son, that we may eat him. The curses of the Sinai covenant envision exactly this sort of cannibalism (Lev. 26:29; Deut. 28:52–57; cf. Lam. 2:20; 4:10; Ezek. 5:10).

■ 6:30 tore his clothes. Doing this was a sign of distress (1 Kin. 21:27 note).

underneath he had sackcloth on his body. It became known that even the king was in a state of mourning (Gen. 37:34; 1 Kin. 21:27; Jon. 3:5, 6).

■ 6:32 the elders were sitting with him. The leaders of the city were conferring with Elisha, not with the king (1 Kin. 8:1 note).

■ 7:1 a seah of fine flour shall be sold for a shekel. Elisha prophesies a sudden reversal of the famine; seven quarts of flour will sell for less than one-half ounce of silver (cf. 6:25).

■ 7:3 at the entrance of the gate. The Mosiac law prohibited people with skin diseases from living in the community (Lev. 13:46; Num. 5:1–4; 12:14, 15).

■ 7:6 the Hittites and . . . Egyptians. The Hittites lived in Asia Minor (Num. 13:29). Egypt (Hebrew misrayim) may have been confused with a minor state next to the Hittites whose name is similar to the Hebrew name for Egypt (cf. 1 Kin. 10:28, 29 notes).

who are consumed; so let us send them and see." [14] Therefore they took two chariots with horses; and the king sent them in the direction of the Syrian army, saying, "Go and see." [15] And they went after them to the Jordan; and indeed all the road was full of garments and weapons which the Syrians had thrown away in their haste. So the messengers returned and told the king.
[16] Then the people went out and plundered the tents of the Syrians. So a seah of fine flour was sold for a shekel, and two seahs of barley for a shekel, *j*according to the word of the LORD.

[17] Now the king had appointed the officer on whose hand he leaned to have charge of the gate. But the people trampled him in the gate, and he died, just *k*as the man of God had said, who spoke when the king came down to him. [18] So it happened just as the man of God had spoken to the king, saying, l"Two seahs of barley for a shekel, and a seah of fine flour for a shekel, shall be sold tomorrow about this time in the gate of Samaria."

[19] Then that officer had answered the man of God, and said, "Now look, if the LORD would make windows in heaven, could such a thing be?"

And he had said, "In fact, you shall see it with your eyes, but you shall not eat of it." [20] And so it happened to him, for the people trampled him in the gate, and he died.

The King Restores the Shunammite's Land

8 Then Elisha spoke to the woman *a*whose son he had restored to life, saying, "Arise and go, you and your household, and stay wherever you can; for the LORD *b*has called for a *c*famine, and furthermore, it will come upon the land for seven years." [2] So the woman arose and did according to the saying of the man of God, and she went with her household and dwelt in the land of the Philistines seven years.

[3] It came to pass, at the end of seven years, that the woman returned from the land of the Philistines; and she went to make an appeal to the king for her house and for her land. [4] Then the king talked with *d*Gehazi, the servant of the man of God, saying, "Tell me, please, all the great things Elisha has done." [5] Now it happened, as he was telling the king how he had restored the dead to life, that there was the woman whose son he had *e*restored to life, appealing to the king for her house and for her land. And Gehazi said, "My lord, O king, this is the woman, and this is her son whom Elisha restored to life." [6] And when the king asked the woman, she told him.

So the king appointed a certain officer for her, saying, "Restore all that was hers, and all the proceeds of the field from the day that she left the land until now."

Death of Ben-Hadad

[7] Then Elisha went to Damascus, and *f*Ben-Hadad king of Syria was sick; and it was told him, saying, "The man of God has come here." [8] And the king said to *g*Hazael, h"Take a present in your hand, and go to meet the man of God, and *i*inquire of the LORD by him, saying, 'Shall I recover from this disease?' " [9] So *f*Hazael went to meet him and took a present with him, of every good thing of Damascus, forty camel-loads; and he came and stood before him, and said, "Your son Ben-Hadad king of Syria has sent me to you, saying, 'Shall I recover from this disease?' "

[10] And Elisha said to him, "Go, say to him, 'You shall certainly recover.' However the LORD has shown me that *k*he will really die." [11] Then he *l*set his countenance in a stare until he was ashamed; and the man of God *l*wept. [12] And Hazael said, "Why is my lord weeping?"

He answered, "Because I know *m*the evil that you will do to the children of Israel: Their strongholds you will set on fire, and their young men you will kill with the sword; and you *n*will dash their children, and rip open their women with child."

■ 8:1 a famine. The writer does not state how much time had elapsed between the events of ch. 4 and this incident.

■ 8:2 in the land of the Philistines. That is, on the southwestern plain, where rainfall was quite adequate for agriculture.

■ 8:3 to make an appeal. In his capacity as overseer of the nation's judicial system, the king hears special cases (1 Kin. 3:16 note).

■ 8:4 the king. He is unnamed, but if this king is Jehoram (1:17; 3:13), it is surprising that he knows nothing of Elisha's activities. Either this incident took place soon after the events of 4:8–37 or the king referred to here is Jehu (ch. 9).

Gehazi. He was Elisha's personal attendant (4:12 note; 5:27 note).

■ 8:7 Elisha went to Damascus. It was unusual for prophets to visit foreign capitals, but Elisha was on an unusual mission: to implement the first of the three commands God had given to Elijah on Mount Horeb (1 Kin. 19:15, 16).

Ben-Hadad. Probably Ben-Hadad II (6:24; 1 Kin. 20:1 note).

■ 8:8 Hazael. The Lord had told Elijah that he should anoint Hazael as king over Syria, to be part of God's judgment against the house of Ahab (1 Kin. 19:15).

■ 8:9 every good thing of Damascus. The city of Damascus had an international reputation as a trade center of the ancient Near East.

Your son Ben-Hadad. This is a diplomatic indication of the high regard Ben-Hadad held for Elisha (6:21; 13:14).

■ 8:12 set on fire . . . rip open. Such atrocities were common in ancient wars (Gen. 34:29; Ps. 137:9; Is. 13:16; Hos. 10:14; 13:16; Amos 1:13; Nah. 3:10). Elisha does not approve of such actions; he mourns them.

13 So Hazael said, "But what [o]is your servant—a dog, that he should do this gross thing?"
And Elisha answered, [p]"The LORD has shown me that you will become king over Syria."
14 Then he departed from Elisha, and came to his master, who said to him, "What did Elisha say to you?" And he answered, "He told me you would surely recover." 15 But it happened on the next day that he took a thick cloth and dipped it in water, and spread it over his face so that he died; and Hazael reigned in his place.

Jehoram Reigns in Judah

16 Now [q]in the fifth year of Joram the son of Ahab, king of Israel, Jehoshaphat having been king of Judah, [r]Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat began to reign as [2]king of Judah. 17 He was [s]thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. 18 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab had done, for [t]the daughter of Ahab was his wife; and he did evil in the sight of the LORD. 19 Yet the LORD would not destroy Judah, for the sake of His servant David, [u]as He promised him to give a lamp to him and his sons forever.

20 In his days [v]Edom revolted against Judah's authority, [w]and made a king over themselves. 21 So [3]Joram went to Zair, and all his chariots with him. Then he rose by night and attacked the Edomites who had surrounded him and the captains of the chariots; and the troops fled to their tents. 22 Thus Edom has been in revolt against Judah's authority to this day. [x]And Libnah revolted at that time.

23 Now the rest of the acts of Joram, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 24 So Joram [4]rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Then [y]Ahaziah[5] his son reigned in his place.

Ahaziah Reigns in Judah

25 In the twelfth year of Joram the son of Ahab, king of Israel, Ahaziah the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, began to reign. 26 Ahaziah was [z]twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah the granddaughter of Omri, king of Israel. 27 [a]And he walked in the way of the house of Ahab, and did evil in the sight of the LORD, like the house of Ahab, for he was the son-in-law of the house of Ahab.

28 Now he went [b]with Joram the son of Ahab to war against Hazael king of Syria at [c]Ramoth Gilead; and the Syrians wounded Joram. 29 Then [d]King Joram went back to Jezreel to recover from the wounds which the Syrians had inflicted on him at [6]Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Syria. [e]And Ahaziah the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to see Joram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was sick.

■ 8:13 your servant—a dog. This expression of self-deprecation before a superior occurs in a number of extrabiblical documents (the Lachish and Amarna letters) from early sixth century Judah (see also a similar formula in 1 Sam. 17:43; 24:14; 2 Sam. 3:8). Assyrian inscriptions refer to Hazael as "the son of a nobody," that is, a commoner.

■ 8:15 he took a thick cloth. Hazael takes Elisha's prophecy as a license to commit murder, an indication of Hazael's ruthlessness.

■ 8:16 Jehoram. Jehoram probably reigned together with his father Jehoshaphat for five years before becoming the sole monarch of Judah (1:17; 1 Kin. 22:42). This verse marks the death of Jehoshaphat and the beginning of Joram's independent rule (848–841 B.C.).

■ 8:18 walked in the way of the kings of Israel. Usually Judah's kings are evaluated with reference to their own predecessors. Jehoram is purposely contrasted with the "house of Ahab" because he imitated their policies. Ahab introduced and sanctioned Baal worship in the northern kingdom of Israel, and now Jehoram does the same in Judah.

the daughter of Ahab. The ruling dynasties of north and south were now linked by ideology and by blood (v. 26; 2 Chr. 21:6). Athaliah promoted Baal worship in the south much as her mother Jezebel promoted Baal religion in the north (1 Kin. 16:31; 18:4; 19:2).

■ 8:26 Athaliah. See note on v. 18.

■ 8:27 he walked in the way of the house of Ahab, and did evil. Like his father Jehoram, Ahaziah imitated the religious policies of Ahab, sanctioning the worship in Judah of the Canaanite god Baal (1 Kin. 16:31 note).

■ 8:28 he went with Joram the son of Ahab to war. Earlier Jehoshaphat of Judah aligned himself with Ahab of Israel in a campaign against the Syrians at Ramoth Gilead (1 Kin. 22). This campaign, like the earlier one, ends in disaster (1 Kin. 22:32–37).

■ 8:29 King Joram went back to Jezreel. A royal residence for the northern kings was maintained at Jezreel (1 Kin. 18:45 note). It was also the site of Ahab's and Jezebel's horrendous crime against Naboth (1 Kin. 21).

Ramah. That is, Ramoth Gilead.

Jehu Anointed King of Israel

9 And Elisha the prophet called one of [a]the sons of the prophets, and said to him, [b]"Get[1] yourself ready, take this flask of oil in your hand, [c]and go to Ramoth Gilead. 2 Now when you arrive at that place, look there for Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, and go in and make him rise up from among [d]his associates, and take him to an inner room. 3 Then [e]take the flask of oil, and pour it on his head, and say, 'Thus says the LORD: "I have anointed you king over Israel." ' Then open the door and flee, and do not delay."

4 So the young man, the servant of the prophet, went to Ramoth Gilead. 5 And when he arrived, there were the captains of the army sitting; and he said, "I have a message for you, Commander."

Jehu said, "For which one of us?"

And he said, "For you, Commander." 6 Then he arose and went into the house. And he poured the oil on his head, and said to him, [f]"Thus says the LORD God of Israel: 'I have anointed you king over the people of the LORD, over Israel. 7 You shall strike down the house of Ahab your master, that I may [g]avenge the blood of My servants the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the LORD, [h]at the hand of Jezebel. 8 For the whole house of Ahab shall perish; and [i]I will cut off from Ahab all [j]the males in Israel, both [k]bond and free. 9 So I will make the house of Ahab like the house of [l]Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of [m]Baasha the son of Ahijah. 10 [n]The dogs shall eat Jezebel on the plot of ground at Jezreel, and there shall be none to bury her.' " And he opened the door and fled.

11 Then Jehu came out to the servants of his master, and one said to him, "Is all well? Why did [o]this madman come to you?"

And he said to them, "You know the man and his babble."

12 And they said, "A lie! Tell us now."

So he said, "Thus and thus he spoke to me, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: "I have anointed you king over Israel." ' "

13 Then each man hastened [p]to take his garment and put it [2]under him on the top of the steps; and they blew trumpets, saying, "Jehu is king!"

Joram of Israel Killed

14 So Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, conspired against [q]Joram. (Now Joram had been defending Ramoth Gilead, he and all Israel, against Hazael king of Syria. 15 But [r]King [3]Joram had returned to Jezreel to recover from the wounds which the Syrians had inflicted on him when he fought with Hazael king of Syria.) And Jehu said, "If you are so minded, let no one leave or escape from the city to go and tell it in Jezreel." 16 So Jehu rode in a chariot and went to Jezreel, for Joram was laid up there; [s]and Ahaziah king of Judah had come down to see Joram.

17 Now a watchman stood on the tower in Jezreel, and he saw the company of Jehu as he came, and said, "I see a company of men."

And Joram said, "Get a horseman and send him to meet them, and let him say, [4]'Is it peace?' "

18 So the horseman went to meet him, and said, "Thus says the king: 'Is it peace?' "

And Jehu said, "What have you to do with peace? [5]Turn around and follow me."

So the watchman reported, saying, "The messenger went to them, but is not coming back."

19 Then he sent out a second horseman who came to them, and said, "Thus says the king: 'Is it peace?' "

And Jehu answered, "What have you to do with peace? Turn around and follow me."

20 So the watchman reported, saying, "He went up to them and is not coming back; and the driving is like the driving of Jehu the son of Nimshi, for he drives furiously!"

21 Then Joram said, [6]"Make ready." And his chariot was made ready. Then [t]Joram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah went out, each in his chariot; and they went out to meet Jehu, and [7]met him [u]on the property of Naboth the Jezreelite. 22 Now it happened, when Joram saw Jehu, that he said, "Is it peace, Jehu?"

So he answered, "What peace, as long as the harlotries of your mother Jezebel and her witchcraft are so many?"

23 Then Joram turned around and fled, and said to Ahaziah, "Treachery, Ahaziah!" 24 Now Jehu [8]drew his bow with full strength and shot Jehoram between his arms; and the arrow came out at his heart, and he sank down in his chariot. 25 Then Jehu said to Bidkar his captain, "Pick him up, and throw him into the tract of the field of Naboth the Jezreelite; for remember, when you and I were riding together behind Ahab his father, that [v]the LORD laid this [w]burden upon him: 26 'Surely I saw yesterday the blood of Naboth and the blood of his sons,' says the LORD, [x]'and I will repay you [9]in this plot,' says the LORD. Now therefore, take and throw him on the plot of ground, according to the word of the LORD."

Ahaziah of Judah Killed

27 But when Ahaziah king of Judah saw this, he fled by the road to [1]Beth Haggan. So Jehu pursued him, and said, [2]"Shoot him also in the chariot." And they shot him at the Ascent of Gur, which is by Ibleam. Then he fled to [y]Megiddo, and died there. 28 And his servants carried him in the chariot to Jerusalem, and buried him in his tomb with his fathers in the City of David. 29 In the eleventh year of Joram the son of Ahab, Ahaziah had become king over Judah.

Jezebel's Violent Death

30 Now when Jehu had come to Jezreel, Jezebel heard of it; [z]and she put paint on her eyes and adorned her head, and looked through a window. 31 Then, as Jehu entered at the gate, she said, [a]"Is it peace, Zimri, murderer of your master?"

32 And he looked up at the window, and said, "Who is on my side? Who?" So two or three eunuchs looked out at him. 33 Then he said, "Throw her down." So they threw her down, and some of her blood spattered on the wall and on the horses; and he trampled her underfoot. 34 And when he had gone in, he ate and drank. Then he said, "Go now, see to this accursed woman, and bury her, for [b]she was a king's daughter." 35 So they went to bury her, but they found no more of her than the skull and the feet and the palms of her hands. 36 Therefore they came back and told him. And he said, "This is the word of the LORD, which He spoke by His servant Elijah the Tishbite, saying, [c]'On the plot of ground at Jezreel dogs shall eat the flesh of Jezebel; 37 and the corpse of Jezebel shall be [d]as refuse on the surface of the field, in the plot at Jezreel, so that they shall not say, "Here lies Jezebel." ' "

Ahab's Seventy Sons Killed

10 Now Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. And Jehu wrote and sent letters to Samaria, to the rulers of [1]Jezreel, to the elders, and to [2]those who reared Ahab's sons, saying:

2 Now as soon as this letter comes to you, since your master's sons are with you, and you have chariots and horses, a fortified city also, and weapons, 3 choose the [3]best qualified of your master's sons, set him on his father's throne, and fight for your master's house.

■ 9:22 What peace. Jehu's question addresses the heart of the issue. There can be no true peace where there is idolatry and witchcraft (cf. 17:17; 21:6; Judg. 2:17; 8:33; Hos. 2; 3; Nah. 3:4).

■ 9:25 the LORD laid this burden upon him. See 1 Kin. 21:21–24.

■ 9:27 Ahaziah king of Judah . . . died. Jehu was not authorized to kill the descendants of David who were related to the house of Ahab through his daughter Athaliah (cf. vv. 8–10). Jehu was too zealous in carrying out his commission. Hosea criticizes him for "the bloodshed of Jezreel" (Hos. 1:4).

■ 9:29 In the eleventh year. This figure may count only the whole years of his reign, leaving out the year he took the throne. This would agree with the figures given in 8:25.

■ 9:30 Jezreel. Again the scene of action ominously returns to the site of Naboth's murder.

■ 9:31 Zimri. In referring to Jehu in this way, Jezebel is sarcastically alluding to Zimri's bloody purge almost half a century earlier (1 Kin. 16:9–15).

■ 9:32 eunuchs. This word could refer to men who were employed as guards and attendants of royal harems in the ancient Near East (as here) or to officials who served in the royal court (20:18; Is. 39:7; Jer. 29:2; 34:19; 38:7; Dan. 1:3, 7–10).

■ 9:34 a king's daughter. Jehu does not dignify Jezebel with the title, Queen of Israel, but refers to her as the daughter of Ethbaal, the Sidonian king (1 Kin. 16:31).

■ 9:36 dogs shall eat the flesh of Jezebel. The judgment oracle Jezebel so contemptuously scorned in her life is now fulfilled in her death (1 Kin. 21:23). Dogs were also present at Ahab's death (1 Kin. 22:38).

■ 10:1 seventy sons. This figure probably included grandsons. How many wives (1 Kin. 20:5) Ahab had is not known.

elders. See note on 1 Kin. 8:1.

those who reared. These guardians (see text note) were responsible for bringing up and educating children in the royal household. The king was dead and Jehu addressed various lesser figures.

4 But they were exceedingly afraid, and said, "Look, [a]two kings could not [4]stand up to him; how then can we stand?" 5 And he who was in charge of the house, and he who was in charge of the city, the elders also, and those who reared the sons, sent to Jehu, saying, "We are your servants, we will do all you tell us; but we will not make anyone king. Do what is good in your sight." 6 Then he wrote a second letter to them, saying:

> If you are for me and will obey my voice, take the heads of the men, your master's sons, and come to me at Jezreel by this time tomorrow.

Now the king's sons, seventy persons, were with the great men of the city, who were rearing them. 7 So it was, when the letter came to them, that they took the king's sons and [b]slaughtered seventy persons, put their heads in baskets and sent them to him at Jezreel.

8 Then a messenger came and told him, saying, "They have brought the heads of the king's sons."

And he said, "Lay them in two heaps at the entrance of the gate until morning."

9 So it was, in the morning, that he went out and stood, and said to all the people, "You are righteous. Indeed [c]I conspired against my master and killed him; but who killed all these? 10 Know now that nothing shall [d]fall to the earth of the word of the LORD which the LORD spoke concerning the house of Ahab; for the LORD has done what He spoke [e]by His servant Elijah." 11 So Jehu killed all who remained of the house of Ahab in Jezreel, and all his great men and his close acquaintances and his priests, until he left him none remaining.

Ahaziah's Forty-two Brothers Killed

12 And he arose and departed and went to Samaria. On the way, at [5]Beth Eked of the Shepherds, 13 [f]Jehu met with the brothers of Ahaziah king of Judah, and said, "Who are you?"

So they answered, "We are the brothers of Ahaziah; we have come down to greet the sons of the king and the sons of the queen mother."

14 And he said, "Take them alive!" So they took them alive, and [g]killed them at the well of [6]Beth Eked, forty-two men; and he left none of them.

The Rest of Ahab's Family Killed

15 Now when he departed from there, he [7]met [h]Jehonadab the son of [i]Rechab, coming to meet him; and he greeted him and said to him, "Is your heart right, as my heart is toward your heart?"

And Jehonadab answered, "It is."

Jehu said, "If it is, [j]give me your hand." So he gave him his hand, and he took him up to him into the chariot. 16 Then he said, "Come with me, and see my [k]zeal for the LORD." So they had him ride in his chariot. 17 And when he came to Samaria, [l]he killed all who remained to Ahab in Samaria, till he had destroyed them, according to the word of the LORD [m]which He spoke to Elijah.

Worshipers of Baal Killed

18 Then Jehu gathered all the people together, and said to them, [n]"Ahab served Baal a little, Jehu will serve him much. 19 Now therefore, call to me all the [o]prophets of Baal, all his servants, and all his priests. Let no one be missing, for I have a great sacrifice for Baal. Whoever is missing shall not live." But Jehu acted deceptively, with the intent of destroying the worshipers of Baal. 20 And Jehu said, [8]"Proclaim a solemn assembly for Baal." So they proclaimed it. 21 Then Jehu sent throughout all Israel; and all the worshipers of Baal came, so that there was not a man in charge of the city. This position is similar to the "governor of the city" in 1 Kin. 22:26.

■ 10:6 take the heads of the men, your master's sons. Jehu's demand takes the form of a pun. In Hebrew "head" can mean part of the body or it can mean "leader" or "chief." It is uncertain whether Jehu is asking for the death of all Ahab's male descendants, or for the leaders among the royal princes.

■ 10:7 slaughtered seventy persons. The leaders of Samaria take no chances; they carry out Jehu's command literally. In this way another component of Elijah's prophecy comes to pass (1 Kin. 21:21–24).

■ 10:8 Lay them in two heaps. Assyrian kings, like Ashurbanipal and Shalmaneser III, intimidated populations by leaving heaps of heads by the city gates.

■ 10:11 Jehu killed all. Jehu's actions went far beyond the mandate of Elijah's oracle (1 Kin. 21:21–24) and the oracle delivered personally to Jehu (9:7–10).

■ 10:12 Beth Eked of the Shepherds. Probably located a few miles northeast of Jenin.

■ 10:13 brothers of Ahaziah. These relatives do not realize that a coup has taken place.

■ 10:15 Jehonadab the son of Rechab. He was from a family or clan in Israel that led a life of austerity and abstinence. Following their convictions about worshiping God, the Rechabites did not plant fields or drink wine (Jer. 35).

■ 10:18 Ahab served Baal a little, Jehu will serve him much. Jehu's ruse was designed to entice Baal supporters to reveal their allegiance publicly. Having utterly destroyed the house of Ahab (v. 17), Jehu now begins his purge of Baal worship in Israel.

left who did not come. So they came into the [9]temple of Baal, and the [p]temple of Baal was full from one end to the other. 22 And he said to the one in charge of the wardrobe, "Bring out vestments for all the worshipers of Baal." So he brought out vestments for them. 23 Then Jehu and Jehonadab the son of Rechab went into the temple of Baal, and said to the worshipers of Baal, "Search and see that no servants of the LORD are here with you, but only the worshipers of Baal." 24 So they went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings. Now Jehu had appointed for himself eighty men on the outside, and had said, "If any of the men whom I have brought into your hands escapes, whoever lets him escape, it shall be [q]his life for the life of the other."

25 Now it happened, as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt offering, that Jehu said to the guard and to the captains, "Go in and kill them; let no one come out!" And they killed them with the edge of the sword; then the guards and the officers threw them out, and went into the [r]inner room of the temple of Baal. 26 And they brought the [s]sacred pillars out of the temple of Baal and burned them. 27 Then they broke down the sacred pillar of Baal, and tore down the [2]temple of Baal and [s]made it a refuse dump to this day. 28 Thus Jehu destroyed Baal from Israel.

29 However Jehu did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin, that is, from [t]the golden calves that were at Bethel and Dan. 30 And the LORD [u]said to Jehu, "Because you have done well in doing what is right in My sight, and have done to the house of Ahab all that was in My heart, [v]your sons shall sit on the throne of Israel to the fourth generation." 31 But Jehu [3]took no heed to walk in the law of the LORD God of Israel with all his heart; for he did not depart from [w]the sins of Jeroboam, who had made Israel sin.

Death of Jehu

32 In those days the LORD began to cut off parts of Israel; and [x]Hazael conquered them in all the territory of Israel 33 from the Jordan eastward: all the land of Gilead—Gad, Reuben, and Manasseh—from [y]Aroer, which is by the River Arnon, including [z]Gilead and Bashan.

34 Now the rest of the acts of Jehu, all that he did, and all his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 35 So Jehu [4]rested with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. Then [a]Jehoahaz his son reigned in his place. 36 And the period that Jehu reigned over Israel in Samaria was twenty-eight years.

Athaliah Reigns in Judah

11 When [a]Athaliah [b]the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was [c]dead, she arose and destroyed all the royal heirs. 2 But [1]Jehosheba, the daughter of King Joram, sister of [d]Ahaziah, took [2]Joash the son of Ahaziah, and stole him away from among the king's sons who were being murdered; and they hid him and his nurse in the bedroom, from Athaliah, so that he was not killed. 3 So he was hidden with her in the house of the LORD for six years, while Athaliah reigned over the land.

■ 11:1–21 Jehoiada the priest leads a coup against the usurper Athaliah, mother of Ahaziah, and installs young Jehoash, son of Ahaziah, as rightful king of Judah.

■ 11:1 Athaliah. A daughter of Ahab, she was dedicated to seeing Baal worship flourish in Judah (8:18; 11:18). Athaliah's attempted purge of the royal house of Judah brought the dynasty of David to the brink of extinction.

■ 11:2 Jehosheba. Probably not a daughter of Athaliah, Jehosheba would be a half-sister of Ahaziah. In 2 Chr. 22:11, she is identified as the wife of Jehoiada the priest (cf. vv. 4, 9).

for six years. The writer acknowledges that Athaliah had control over Judah for at least six years, but because he regards her reign as illegitimate, he does not dignify it with the usual introduction and conclusion (cf. vv. 1, 20 with 11:21—12:3, 19–21). Her years as Judah's head of state are counted as part of Joash's reign.

Joash Crowned King of Judah

4 In [e]the seventh year Jehoiada sent and brought the captains of hundreds—of the bodyguards and the [3]escorts—and brought them into the house of the LORD to him. And he made a covenant with them and took an oath from them in the house of the LORD, and showed them the king's son. 5 Then he commanded them, saying, "This is what you shall do: One-third of you who [4]come on duty [f]on the Sabbath shall be keeping watch over the king's house, 6 one-third shall be at the gate of Sur, and one-third at the gate behind the escorts. You shall keep the watch of the house, lest it be broken down. 7 The two [5]contingents of you who go off duty on the Sabbath shall keep the watch of the house of the LORD for the king. 8 But you shall surround the king on all sides, every man with his weapons in his hand; and whoever comes within range, let him be put to death. You are to be with the king as he goes out and as he comes in."

9 [g]So the captains of the hundreds did according to all that Jehoiada the priest commanded. Each of them took his men who were to be on duty on the Sabbath, with those who were going off duty on the Sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest. 10 And the priest gave the captains of hundreds the spears and shields which had belonged to King David, [h]that were in the temple of the LORD. 11 Then the escorts stood, every man with his weapons in his hand, all around the king, from the right [6]side of the temple to the left side of the temple, by the altar and the house. 12 And he brought out the king's son, put the crown on him, and gave him the [i]Testimony;[7] they made him king and anointed him, and they clapped their hands and said, [j]"Long live the king!"

Death of Athaliah

13 [k]Now when Athaliah heard the noise of the escorts and the people, she came to the people in the temple of the LORD. 14 When she looked, there was the king standing by [l]a pillar according to custom; and the leaders and the trumpeters were by the king. All the people of the land were rejoicing and blowing trumpets. So Athaliah tore her clothes and cried out, "Treason! Treason!"

15 And Jehoiada the priest commanded the captains of the hundreds, the officers of the army, and said to them, "Take her outside [8]under guard, and slay with the sword whoever follows her." For the priest had said, "Do not let her be killed in the house of the LORD." 16 So they seized her; and she went by way of the horses' entrance into the king's house, and there she was killed.

17 [m]Then Jehoiada [n]made a covenant between the LORD, the king, and the people, that they should be the LORD's people, and also [o]between the king and the people. 18 And all the people of the land went to the [p]temple of Baal, and tore it down. They thoroughly [q]broke in pieces its altars and [9]images, and [r]killed Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars. And [s]the priest appointed [t]officers over the house of the LORD. 19 Then he took the captains of hundreds, the bodyguards, the escorts, and all the people of the land; and they brought the king down from the house of the LORD, and went by way of the gate of the escorts to the king's house. Then he sat on the throne of the kings. 20 So all the people of the land rejoiced; and the city was quiet, for

■ 11:4 the bodyguards. That is, the royal guard (cf. the Cherethites in 2 Sam. 8:18; 20:23). They are of uncertain origin, although some scholars depict them as mercenaries from Caria in southeast Asia Minor.

■ 11:6 the gate behind the escorts. This gate was probably in the southern wall separating the temple from the palace.

■ 11:10 spears and shields. These articles may have been part of the booty David captured from King Hadadezer of Zobah (2 Sam. 8:3–11). Dedicated by David to the Lord (2 Sam. 8:7, 11), these spears and shields were stored in the temple. Another explanation is that they are David's personal spears and shields.

■ 11:12 the Testimony. This refers either to the Sinaitic covenant as a whole (Ex. 25:16; cf. 23:3) or to a more limited document that specifies the duties and limitations of kingship (Deut. 17:14–20).

killed in the house of the LORD. Bloodshed within the temple precincts was sacrilege.

■ 11:17 a covenant. Jehoiada leads the people and Joash in renewing their allegiance to the Mosaic covenant. Other covenant renewals had taken place in Israel's past (Deut. 29:1; Josh. 8:30–35; 24:1–28). Chronicles mentions a number of covenant renewals during the course of the monarchy (2 Chr. 15:12; 23:16; 29:10; 34:31). Considering the influx of Baal worship in Judah's recent past, it was appropriate for all parties to make a new beginning by rededicating themselves to the Lord.

CHAPTER 12

Jehoash Repairs the Temple

12 In the seventh year of Jehu, [a]Jehoash[1] became king, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba. 2 Jehoash did what was right in the sight of the LORD all the days in which [b]Jehoiada the priest instructed him. 3 But [c]the [2]high places were not taken away; the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

4 And Jehoash said to the priests, [d]"All the money of the dedicated gifts that are brought into the house of the LORD—each man's [e]census[3] money, each man's [f]assessment money—and all the money that [4]a man [g]purposes in his heart to bring into the house of the LORD, 5 let the priests take it themselves, each from his constituency; and let them repair the [5]damages of the temple, wherever any dilapidation is found."

6 Now it was so, by the twenty-third year of King Jehoash, [h]that the priests had not repaired the damages of the temple. 7 [i]So King Jehoash called Jehoiada the priest and the other priests, and said to them, "Why have you not repaired the damages of the temple? Now therefore, do not take more money from your constituency, but deliver it for repairing the damages of the temple." 8 And the priests agreed that they would neither receive more money from the people, nor repair the damages of the temple.

9 Then Jehoiada the priest took [j]a chest, bored a hole in its lid, and set it beside the altar, on the right side as one comes into the house of the LORD; and the priests who [6]kept the door put [k]there all the money brought into the house of the LORD. 10 So it was, whenever they saw that there was much money in the chest, that the king's [l]scribe[7] and the high priest came up and [8]put it in bags, and counted the money that was found in the house of the LORD. 11 Then they gave the money, which had been apportioned, into the hands of those who did the work, who had the oversight of the house of the LORD; and they [9]paid it out to the carpenters and builders who worked on the house of the LORD, 12 and to masons and stonecutters, and for buying timber and hewn stone, to [m]repair the damage of the house of the LORD, and for all that was paid out to repair the temple. 13 However [n]there were not made for the house of the LORD basins of silver, trimmers, sprinkling-bowls, trumpets, any articles of gold or articles of silver, from the money brought into the house of the LORD. 14 But they gave that to the workmen, and they repaired the house of the LORD with it. 15 Moreover [o]they did not require an account from the men into whose hand they delivered the money to be paid to workmen, for they dealt faithfully. 16 [p]The money from the trespass offerings and the money from the sin offerings was not brought into the house of the LORD. [q]It belonged to the priests.

Hazael Threatens Jerusalem

17 [r]Hazael king of Syria went up and fought against Gath, and took it; then [s]Hazael set his face to [t]go up to Jerusalem. 18 And Jehoash king of Judah [u]took all the sacred things that his fathers, Jehoshaphat and Jehoram and Ahaziah, kings of Judah, had dedicated, and his own sacred things, and all the gold found in the treasuries of the house of the LORD and in the king's house, and sent them to Hazael king of Syria. Then he went away from Jerusalem.

Death of Joash

19 Now the rest of the acts of [2]Joash, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

20 And [a]his servants arose and formed a conspiracy, and killed Joash in the house of [3]the Millo, which goes down to Silla. 21 For [4]Jozachar the son of Shimeath and Jehozabad the son of [5]Shomer, his servants, struck him. So he died, and they buried him with his fathers in the City of David. Then [r]Amaziah his son reigned in his place.

Jehoahaz Reigns in Israel

13 In the twenty-third year of [a]Joash[1] the son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, [b]Jehoahaz the son of Jehu became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned seventeen years. 2 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and followed the [c]sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. He did not [2]depart from them.

3 Then [d]the anger of the LORD was aroused against Israel, and He delivered them into the hand of [e]Hazael king of Syria, and into the hand of [f]Ben-Hadad the son of Hazael, all their days. 4 So Jehoahaz [g]pleaded with the LORD, and the LORD listened to him; for [h]He saw the oppression of Israel, because the king of Syria oppressed them. 5 [i]Then the LORD gave Israel a deliverer, so that they escaped from under the hand of the Syrians; and the children of Israel dwelt in their tents as before. 6 Nevertheless they did not depart from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, who had made Israel sin, but walked in them; [j]and the [3]wooden image also remained in Samaria. 7 For He left of the army of Jehoahaz only fifty horsemen, ten chariots, and ten thousand foot soldiers; for the king of Syria had destroyed them [k]and made them [l]like the dust at threshing.

8 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoahaz, all that he did, and his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 9 So Jehoahaz [4]rested with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. Then [5]Joash his son reigned in his place.

Jehoash Reigns in Israel

10 In the thirty-seventh year of Joash king of Judah, [6]Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned sixteen years. 11 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel sin, but walked in them.

12 [m]Now the rest of the acts of Joash, [n]all that he did, and [o]his might with which he fought against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 13 So Joash [p]rested[7] with his fathers. Then Jeroboam sat on his throne. And Joash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.

Death of Elisha

14 Elisha had become sick with the illness of which he would die. Then Joash the king of Israel came down to him, and wept over his face, and said, "O my father, my father, [q]the chariots of Israel and their horsemen!"

So he put his hand on it, and Elisha put his hands on the king's hands. 17 And he said, "Open the east window"; and he opened it. Then Elisha said, "Shoot"; and he shot. Israel Recaptures Cities from Syria 22 And uHazael king of Syria oppressed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz. 23 But the LORD was vgracious to them, had compassion on them, and wregarded them, xbecause of His covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and would not yet destroy them or cast them from His presence.

24 Now Hazael king of Syria died. Then Ben-Hadad his son reigned in his place. 25 And 9Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz recaptured from the hand of Ben-Hadad, the son of Hazael, the cities which he had taken out of the hand of Jehoahaz his father by war. yThree times Joash defeated him and recaptured the cities of Israel.

Amaziah Reigns in Judah

14 In athe second year of Joash the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, bAmaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, became king. 2 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. 3 And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, yet not like his father David; he did everything cas his father Joash had done. 4 dHowever the 1high places were not taken away, and the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

5 Now it happened, as soon as the kingdom was established in his hand, that he executed his servants ewho had murdered his father the king. 6 But the children of the murderers he did not execute, according to what is written in the Book of the Law of Moses, in which the LORD commanded, saying, f"Fathers shall not be put to death for their children, nor shall children be put to death for their fathers; but a person shall be put to death for his own sin."

7 gHe killed ten thousand Edomites in hthe Valley of Salt, and took 2Sela by war, iand called its name Joktheel to this day.

8 jThen Amaziah sent messengers to 3Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, king of Is-

■ 13:18 and stopped. Somehow Jehoash failed to perceive the inner meaning of what the prophet was urging him to do. Elisha considered that Jehoash was clearly guilty for his lack of enthusiasm.

■ 13:20 Elisha died. Presumably Elisha died of old age.

■ 14:4 the high places were not taken away. Amaziah is one of several kings of Judah praised by the author, but his praise is qualified because Amaziah tolerated worship at the hilltop shrines (1 Kin. 3:2 note).

■ 14:5 executed his servants. See 12:20, 21.

Sela. The Septuagint (Old Testament Greek translation) identifies Sela (meaning "rock" in Hebrew) as Petra (meaning "rock" in Greek), located along the Rift Valley about fifty miles south of the Dead Sea. Some modern scholars place it in northern Edomite territory near Bozrah (Judg. 1:36).

rael, saying, "Come, let us face one another in battle." 9 And Jehoash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, [k]"The thistle that was in Lebanon sent to the [l]cedar that was in Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son as wife'; and a wild beast that was in Lebanon passed by and trampled the thistle. 10 You have indeed defeated Edom, and [m]your heart has [4]lifted you up. Glory in that, and stay at home; for why should you meddle with trouble so that you fall—you and Judah with you?"

11 But Amaziah would not heed. Therefore Jehoash king of Israel went out; so he and Amaziah king of Judah faced one another at [n]Beth Shemesh, which belongs to Judah. 12 And Judah was defeated by Israel, and every man fled to his tent. 13 Then Jehoash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Jehoash, the son of Ahaziah, at Beth Shemesh; and he went to Jerusalem, and broke down the wall of Jerusalem from [o]the Gate of Ephraim to [p]the Corner Gate—[5]four hundred cubits. 14 And he took all [q]the gold and silver, all the articles that were found in the house of the LORD and in the treasuries of the king's house, and hostages, and returned to Samaria.

15 [r]Now the rest of the acts of Jehoash which he did—his might, and how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah—are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 16 So Jehoash [6]rested with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel. Then Jeroboam his son reigned in his place.

17 [s]Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, lived fifteen years after the death of Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel. 18 Now the rest of the acts of Amaziah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 19 And [t]they formed a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to [u]Lachish; but they sent after him to Lachish and killed him there. 20 Then they brought him on horses, and he was buried at Jerusalem with his fathers in the City of David.

21 And all the people of Judah took [v]Azariah,[7] who was sixteen years old, and made him king instead of his father Amaziah. 22 He built [w]Elath[8] and restored it to Judah, after [9]the king rested with his fathers.

Jeroboam II Reigns in Israel

23 In the fifteenth year of Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, Jeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel, became king in Samaria, and reigned forty-one years. 24 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart from all the [x]sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. 25 He [y]restored the [1]territory of Israel [z]from the entrance of Hamath to [a]the[2] Sea of the Arabah, according to the word of the LORD God of Israel, which He had spoken through His servant [b]Jonah the son of Amittai, the prophet who was from [c]Gath Hepher. 26 For the LORD

■ 14:9 The thistle. The northern kingdom was larger and more powerful than the southern kingdom (1 Kin. 14:30; 15:16, 17 and notes). In this fable (cf. Judg. 9:8–15) the little thistle (Amaziah) thinks it is equal to a cedar of Lebanon (Jehoash) only to be trampled underfoot.

■ 14:24 the sins of Jeroboam. See note on 1 Kin. 12:30. Politically and economically, Jeroboam II was one of the most successful monarchs in the entire history of the northern kingdom (v. 25). He forced the Syrians to retreat from Damascus into central Syria. He also expanded Israelite territory toward the Dead Sea.

28 Now the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, and all that he did—his might, how he made war, and how he recaptured for Israel, from [g]Damascus and Hamath, [h]what had belonged to Judah—are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 29 So Jeroboam [3]rested with his fathers, the kings of Israel. Then [i]Zechariah his son reigned in his place.

Azariah Reigns in Judah

15 In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel, [a]Azariah the son of Amaziah, king of Judah, [b]became king. 2 He was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecholiah of Jerusalem. 3 And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father Amaziah had done, 4 [c]except that the [f]high places were not removed; the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places. 5 Then the LORD [d]struck the king, so that he was a leper until the day of his [e]death; so he [f]dwelt in an isolated house. And Jotham the king's son was over the royal house, judging the people of the land.

6 Now the rest of the acts of Azariah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 7 So Azariah [2]rested with his fathers, and [g]they buried him with his fathers in the City of David. Then Jotham his son reigned in his place.

Zechariah Reigns in Israel

8 In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah king of Judah, [h]Zechariah the son of Jeroboam reigned over Israel in Samaria six months. 9 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, [i]as his fathers had done; he did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. 10 Then Shallum the son of Jabesh conspired against him, and [j]struck and killed him in front of the people; and he reigned in his place.

11 Now the rest of the acts of Zechariah, indeed they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

12 This was the word of the LORD which He spoke to Jehu, saying, [k]"Your sons shall sit on the throne of Israel to the fourth generation." And so it was.

Shallum Reigns in Israel

fifty-two years. That is, 792–740 B.C. Azariah, like Jeroboam II in the north, enjoyed a long reign, though in the end he suffered from a skin disease (v. 5).

■ 15:3 he did what was right in the sight of the LORD. He followed the dictates of the covenant (1 Kin. 2:3 note).

■ 15:4 the high places were not removed. Azariah, like his father Amaziah (14:3, 4), is praised, but the praise is qualified because Azariah did not stop worship at the hilltop shrines (1 Kin. 3:2 note).

■ 15:5 leper. Azariah suffered from some form of skin disease distinct from Hansen's disease (2 Chr. 26:16–21).

Jotham . . . was over the royal house. He held the highest post in the government of Judah (18:18; Is. 22:15–23). Jotham acted as the king when Azariah became incapacitated and became king when Azariah died (vv. 32–38).

■ 15:9 the sins of Jeroboam. See note on 1 Kin. 12:30.

■ 15:10 Shallum . . . killed him. Zechariah's death precipitated a long struggle for power that involved a series of revolutions and counter-revolutions. Including Zechariah, Israel had four different kings (Shallum, Menahem, Pekahiah) in only thirteen years. These kings did not have the prophetic sanction (cf. Hos. 8:4).

Because they did not surrender, therefore he attacked it. All [n]the women there who were with child he ripped open.

Menahem Reigns in Israel

17 In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah king of Judah, Menahem the son of Gadi became king over Israel, and reigned ten years in Samaria. 18 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart all his days from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. 19 [o]Pul[5] king of Assyria came against the land; and Menahem gave Pul a thousand talents of silver, that his [6]hand might be with him to [p]strengthen the kingdom under his control. 20 And Menahem [q]exacted[7] the money from Israel, from all the very wealthy, from each man fifty shekels of silver, to give to the king of Assyria. So the king of Assyria turned back, and did not stay there in the land.

21 Now the rest of the acts of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? 22 So Menahem [8]rested with his fathers. Then Pekahiah his son reigned in his place.

Pekahiah Reigns in Israel

23 In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekahiah the son of Menahem became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned two years. 24 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. 25 Then Pekah the son of Remaliah, an officer of his, conspired against him and [9]killed him in Samaria, in the

Pekah Reigns in Israel

27 In the fifty-second year of Azariah king of Judah, [s] Pekah the son of Remaliah became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned twenty years. 28 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. 29 In the days of Pekah king of Israel, [t] Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria [u] came and took [u] Ijon, Abel Beth Maachah, Janoah, Kedesh, Hazor, Gilead, and Galilee, all the land of Naphtali; and he [v] carried them captive to Assyria. 30 Then Hoshea the son of Elah led a conspiracy against Pekah the son of Remaliah, and struck and killed him; so he [w] reigned in his place in the twentieth year of Jotham the son of Uzziah.

Jotham Reigns in Judah

36 Now the rest of the acts of Jotham, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 37 In those days the LORD began to send [b] Rezin king of Syria and [c] Pekah the son of Remaliah against Judah. 38 So Jotham [4] rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David his father. Then Ahaz his son reigned in his place.

Ahaz Reigns in Judah

16 In the seventeenth year of Pekah the son of Remaliah, Ahaz the son of Jotham, king of Judah, began to reign. 2 Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem; and he did not do what was right in the sight of the LORD his God, as his father David had done. 3 But he walked in the way of the kings of Israel; indeed [a] he

■ 15:37 Rezin. He was the last king of Syria. Syria and Israel had forged an alliance to combat the Assyrians and were prepared to force the king of Judah to join them by invading Judah (v. 29 note; 16:5–12 and notes).

■ 16:1 In the seventeenth year of Pekah. That is, 735 B.C. Scholars disagree over the precise chronology of Ahaz's reign (cf. 15:33, 37; 17:1; 18:1; and also Introduction to 1 Kings: Characteristics and Themes).

■ 16:2 sixteen years. That is, 732–715 B.C. This figure would represent the length of his reign from his official recognition as king of Judah by the Assyrians.

■ 16:3 he walked in the way of the kings of Israel. The sin of Jeroboam I (1 Kin. 12:26–33), continued by all subsequent Israelite kings, was the construction of ritual religious centers in Bethel and Dan. These northern cult sites were conduits for bringing foreign religions into the made his son pass through the fire, according to the [b]abominations of the nations whom the LORD had cast out from before the children of Israel. 4 And he sacrificed and burned incense on the [c]high places, [d]on the hills, and under every green tree.

5 [e]Then Rezin king of Syria and Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, came up to Jerusalem to make war; and they besieged Ahaz but could not overcome him. 6 At that time Rezin king of Syria [f]captured [1]Elath for Syria, and drove the men of Judah from Elath. Then the [2]Edomites went to Elath, and dwell there to this day.

7 So Ahaz sent messengers to [g]Tiglath-Pileser[3] king of Assyria, saying, "I am your servant and your son. Come up and save me from the hand of the king of Syria and from the hand of the king of Israel, who rise up against me." 8 And Ahaz [h]took the silver and gold that was found in the house of the LORD, and in the treasuries of the king's house, and sent it as a present to the king of Assyria. 9 So the king of Assyria heeded him; for the king of Assyria went up against [i]Damascus and [j]took it, carried its people captive to [k]Kir, and killed Rezin.

10 Now King Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria, and saw an altar that was at Damascus; and King Ahaz sent to Urijah the priest the design of the altar and its pattern, according to all its workmanship. 11 Then [l]Urijah the priest built an altar according to all that King Ahaz had sent from Damascus. So Urijah the priest made it before King Ahaz came back from Damascus. 12 And when the king came back from Damascus, the king saw the altar; and [m]the king approached the altar and made offerings on it. 13 So he burned his burnt offering and his grain offering; and he poured his drink offering and sprinkled the blood of his peace offerings on the altar. 14 He also brought [n]the bronze altar which was before the LORD, from the front of the [4]temple—from between the new altar and the house of the LORD—and put it on the north side of the new altar. 15 Then King Ahaz commanded Urijah the priest, saying, "On the great new altar burn [o]the morning burnt offering, the evening grain offering, the king's burnt sacrifice, and his grain offering, with the burnt offering of all the people of the land, their grain offering, and their drink offerings; and sprinkle on it all the blood of the burnt offering and all the blood of the sacrifice. And the bronze altar shall be for me to inquire by." 16 Thus did Urijah the priest, according to all that King Ahaz commanded.

17 [p]And King Ahaz cut off [q]the panels of the carts, and removed the lavers from them; and he took down [r]the Sea from the bronze oxen that were under it, and put it on a pavement of stones. 18 Also he removed the Sabbath pavilion which they had built in the temple, and he removed the king's outer entrance from the house of the LORD, on account of the king of Assyria.

19 Now the rest of the acts of Ahaz which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 20 So Ahaz rested with his fathers, and [s]was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Then Hezekiah his son reigned in his place.

made his son pass through the fire. The atrocity of child sacrifice was practiced by some of Judah's neighbors, although it was outlawed by the law of Moses (Lev. 18:21; Deut. 18:10; cf. 2 Kin. 3:27). Ahaz was not the only Judean king who disobeyed this law (21:6; 23:10; Jer. 7:31; 32:35).

the abominations of the nations. In its behavior, Judah was becoming indistinguishable from the nations that God drove out of Canaan so that the Israelites could inhabit the land. The people were betraying their sacred calling to be "a kingdom of priests and a holy nation" (Ex. 19:6).

■ 16:5 Rezin . . . and Pekah. The Israelite and Syrian kings wanted to bring Judah forcibly under their control so that they could make a united front against Assyria (15:19, 25, 37). Into this crisis stepped the prophet Isaiah, who counseled the irresolute Ahaz (Is. 7:1–17).

A list from Assyria of rulers who brought tribute to Tiglath-Pileser in 734 B.C. includes the name of "Jehoahaz of Judah" (Ahaz).

■ 16:9 carried its people captive to Kir. The destruction of Syria fulfilled prophecies of both Isaiah (Is. 7:16) and Amos (Amos 1:5). The exact location of Kir is not known (Is. 22:6; Amos 9:7).

■ 16:13 peace offerings. See Lev. 7:11–21. Most of these sacrifices were also offered at the dedication of the temple under Solomon (1 Kin. 8:64). Ahaz considered the construction of this foreign altar to be of great importance for his kingdom.

Hoshea Reigns in Israel

17 In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, [a]Hoshea the son of Elah became king of Israel in Samaria, and he reigned nine years. 2 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, but not as the kings of Israel who were before him. 3 [b]Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against him; and Hoshea [c]became his vassal, and paid him tribute money. 4 And the king of Assyria uncovered a conspiracy by Hoshea; for he had sent messengers to So, king of Egypt, and brought no tribute to the king of Assyria, as he had done year by year. Therefore the king of Assyria shut him up, and bound him in prison.

Israel Carried Captive to Assyria

5 Now [d]the king of Assyria went throughout all the land, and went up to Samaria and besieged it for three years. 6 [e]In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria took Samaria and [f]carried Israel away to Assyria, [g]and placed them in Halah and by the Habor, the River of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

7 For [h]so it was that the children of Israel had sinned against the LORD their God, who had brought them up out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and they had [i]feared other gods, 8 and [j]had walked in the statutes of the nations whom the LORD had cast out from before the children of Israel, and of the kings of Israel, which they had made. 9 Also the children of Israel secretly did against the LORD their God things that were not right,

■ 17:1–6 This section narrates the reign of Hoshea, the last king of Israel. In 722 B.C. the king of Assyria conquered Samaria and deported the people of Israel to Assyria.

■ 17:1 Ahaz. The synchronism with Ahaz's reign is difficult to unravel. See 16:1 and note.

Hoshea . . . reigned nine years. That is, 732–723 B.C., ending with his imprisonment for three years preceding the fall of Samaria (vv. 4, 5).

■ 17:3 Shalmaneser. Shalmaneser V, who succeeded Tiglath-Pileser III as king of Assyria, ruled from 727–722 B.C. Hoshea, unlike his predecessor Pekah (15:27–31 and notes), was a vassal of Assyria.

■ 17:4 So, king of Egypt. "So" may be the name of a place in the eastern delta of Egypt, where the king of Egypt was. Switching his allegiance, Hoshea hoped that Egypt would protect him from any Assyrian reprisals. The prophet Hosea condemns this diplomacy as "without sense" (Hos. 7:11).

brought no tribute to the king of Assyria. Withholding tribute from a suzerain (overlord) was tantamount to rebellion.

■ 17:5 besieged it for three years. The Assyrian campaign followed the arrest of Hoshea in 724/23 B.C. During this long siege, Shalmaneser V died and was succeeded by Sargon II (Is. 20:1), who exiled the inhabitants of Samaria (v. 6).

■ 17:6 In the ninth year of Hoshea. That is, 722/21 B.C. The figure given ("ninth year") counts his reign from 730, perhaps because his having the Assyrians as sponsors delayed his official recognition. Another possibility is that it leaves out the three years he was in prison.

the king of Assyria. Sargon II, who ruled Assyria 722–705 B.C.

carried Israel away. Sargon II claims in his annals to have deported 27,290 inhabitants to distant locations. The capture of Samaria marked the end of the northern kingdom (1 Chr. 5:25, 26). It never rose again (vv. 7–23 and notes). Archaeological evidence suggests that many people fled Israel during the succession of Assyrian attacks on the north and settled in Judah. This influx of northern refugees significantly increased the population of Jerusalem during the late eighth and early seventh century B.C.

Gozan. This Assyrian provincial capital was near the Habor River, a northern tributary of the Euphrates.

cities of the Medes. Though not identified by name, they were probably in the area northeast of the Tigris River and south of the Caspian Sea.

■ 17:8 statutes. Not only did Israel imitate the practices of its pagan neighbors (Ex. 34:15; Deut. 18:9; Judg. 2:13), but it also followed the cultic innovations of its wayward kings (1 Kin. 12:26–33; 16:30–34).

■ 17:9 high places. See note on 1 Kin. 3:2.

Assyrian Campaigns Against Israel (725 B.C.). In 725 B.C. Shalmaneser V invaded Israel and marched on Samaria. After a three-year siege Samaria finally fell in 722 B.C. Sargon II, successor to Shalmaneser, claimed the credit for the Assyrian victory.

and they built for themselves [l]high places in all their cities, [k]from watchtower to fortified city. 10 [l]They set up for themselves sacred pillars and [m]wooden images[2] [n]on every high hill and under every green tree. 11 There they burned incense on all the high places, like the nations whom the LORD had carried away before them; and they did wicked things to provoke the LORD to anger, 12 for they served idols, [o]of which the LORD had said to them, [p]"You shall not do this thing."

13 Yet the LORD testified against Israel and against Judah, by all of His [q]prophets, [r]every seer, saying, [s]"Turn from your evil ways, and keep My commandments and My statutes, according to all the law which I commanded your fathers, and which I sent to you by My servants the prophets." 14 Nevertheless they would not hear, but [t]stiffened their necks, like the necks of their fathers, who [u]did not believe in the LORD their God. 15 And they [v]rejected His statutes [w]and His covenant that He had made with their fathers, and His testimonies which He had testified against them; they followed [x]idols, [y]became idolaters, and went after the nations who were all around them, concerning whom the LORD had charged them that they should [z]not do like them. 16 So they left all the commandments of the LORD their God, [a]made for themselves a molded image and two calves, [b]made a wooden image and worshiped all the [c]host of heaven, [d]and served Baal. 17 [e]And they caused their sons and daughters to pass through the fire, [f]practiced witchcraft and soothsaying, and [g]sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the LORD, to provoke Him to anger. 18 Therefore the LORD was very angry with Israel, and removed them from His sight; there was none left [h]but the tribe of Judah alone.

19 Also [i]Judah did not keep the commandments of the LORD their God, but walked in the statutes of Israel which they made. 20 And the LORD rejected all the descendants of Israel, afflicted them, and [j]delivered them into the hand of plunderers, until He had cast them from His [k]sight. 21 For [l]He tore Israel from the house of David, and [m]they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king. Then Jeroboam drove Israel from following the LORD, and made them commit a great sin. 22 For the children of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam which he did; they did not depart from them, 23 until the LORD removed Israel out of His sight, [n]as He had said by all His servants the prophets. [o]So Israel was carried away from their own land to Assyria, as it is to this day.

Assyria Resettles Samaria

24 [p]Then the king of Assyria brought people from Babylon, Cuthah, [q]Ava, Hamath, and from Sepharvaim, and placed them in the cities of Samaria instead of the children of Israel; and they took possession of Samaria and dwelt in its cities. 25 And it was so, at the beginning of their dwelling there, that they did not fear the LORD; therefore the LORD sent lions among them, which killed some of them. 26 So they spoke to the king of Assyria, saying, "The nations whom you made them commit a great sin. The reference is to Jeroboam's fashioning of two calves at Bethel and Dan (1 Kin. 12:25–33; 14:7–16 and notes).

■ 17:24 king of Assyria. This king was most likely Sargon II. As the Assyrians deported people from Israel, they imported people from other countries. This policy was intended to ensure that the defeated nation would not reassert itself. Assyrian records attest that later Assyrian kings brought more foreign immigrants to Samaria.

Babylon, Cuthah. At this point Babylon was under Assyrian control. Cuthah was about eight miles northeast of Babylon.

Ava, Hamath, and . . . Sepharvaim. Ava or "Ivah" and Sepharvaim were probably in Syria (18:34; 19:13). Hamath was on the Orontes River (cf. 14:25 note).

Samaria. After its fall to the Assyrians, the region of the former northern kingdom of Israel is usually called "Samaria" (1 Kin. 16:24 note).

■ 17:25 lions among them. Lions were often used by God as an instrument of judgment (1 Kin. 13:24; 20:36; Amos 3:12).

■ 17:26 the rituals of the God of the land. The Assyrians, like many other peoples in the ancient Near East, believed that the gods of a particular land would trouble the people who lived there if they failed to perform the appropriate rituals for those gods.

have removed and placed in the cities of Samaria do not know the rituals of the God of the land; therefore He has sent lions among them, and indeed, they are killing them because they do not know the rituals of the God of the land." 27 Then the king of Assyria commanded, saying, "Send there one of the priests whom you brought from there; let him go and dwell there, and let him teach them the rituals of the God of the land." 28 Then one of the priests whom they had carried away from Samaria came and dwelt in Bethel, and taught them how they should fear the LORD.

29 However every nation continued to make gods of its own, and put them [r]in the shrines on the high places which the Samaritans had made, every nation in the cities where they dwelt. 30 The men of [s]Babylon made Succoth Benoth, the men of Cuth made Nergal, the men of Hamath made Ashima, 31 [t]and the Avites made Nibhaz and Tartak; and the Sepharvites [u]burned their children in fire to Adrammelech and Anammelech, the gods of Sepharvaim. 32 So they feared the LORD, [v]and from every class they appointed for themselves priests of the [3]high places, who sacrificed for them in the shrines of the high places. 33 [w]They feared the LORD, yet served their own gods—according to the rituals of the nations from among whom they were carried away.

34 To this day they continue practicing the former rituals; they do not fear the LORD, nor do they follow their statutes or their ordinances, or the law and commandment which the LORD had commanded the children of Jacob, [x]whom He named Israel, 35 with whom the LORD had made a covenant and charged them, saying: [y]"You shall not fear other gods, nor [z]bow down to them nor serve them nor sacrifice to them; 36 but the LORD, who [a]brought you up from the land of Egypt with great power and [b]an outstretched arm, [c]Him you shall fear, Him you shall worship, and to Him you shall offer sacrifice. 37 And the statutes, the ordinances, the law, and the commandment which He wrote for you, [d]you shall be careful to observe forever; you shall not fear other gods. 38 And the covenant that I have made with you, [e]you shall not forget, nor shall you fear other gods. 39 But the LORD your God you shall fear; and He will deliver you from the hand of all your enemies." 40 However they did not obey, but they followed their former rituals. 41 [f]So these nations feared the LORD, yet served their carved images; also their children and their children's children have continued doing as their fathers did, even to this day.

Hezekiah Reigns in Judah

18 Now it came to pass in the third year of [a]Hoshea the son of Elah, king of Israel, that [b]Hezekiah the son of Ahaz, king of Judah, began to reign. 2 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was [c]Abi[1] the daughter of Zechariah. 3 And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father David had done.

4 [d]He removed the [2]high places and broke the sacred pillars, cut down the [3]wooden image and broke in pieces the [e]bronze serpent that Moses had made; for until those days the children of Israel burned incense to it, and called it [4]Nehushtan. 5 He [f]trusted in the LORD God of Israel, [g]so the children of Jacob, whom He named Israel. The relationship between God and the people He elected was the covenant ratified on Mount Sinai (v. 35; Ex. 19—24) and renewed on the plains of Moab (Deuteronomy). ■ 17:41 to this day. See note on 1 Kin. 8:8. Despite the Assyrian conquest and its aftermath, some of the "Samaritans" and their descendants continued to embrace monotheism and to follow the Sinaitic covenant throughout the biblical period and even into modern times.

his father David. On David's reign as the standard by which all other reigns are judged, see note on 1 Kin. 11:4.

■ 18:4 He removed the high places. Hezekiah, unlike earlier Judean kings of Judah, reformed the people's worship by destroying the local shrines (1 Kin. 3:2 note).

the bronze serpent. Originally preserved to commemorate God's mercy to the Israelites when they were in the wilderness (Num. 21:6–9), this bronze serpent had become in itself an object of worship, hence an idol (cf. John 3:14, 15).

that after him was none like him among all the kings of Judah, nor who were before him. 6 For he [h]held fast to the LORD; he did not depart from following Him, but kept His commandments, which the LORD had commanded Moses. 7 The LORD [i]was with him; he [j]prospered wherever he went. And he [k]rebelled against the king of Assyria and did not serve him. 8 [l]He [5]subdued the Philistines, as far as Gaza and its territory, [m]from watchtower to fortified city.

9 Now [n]it came to pass in the fourth year of King Hezekiah, which was the seventh year of Hoshea the son of Elah, king of Israel, that Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against Samaria and besieged it. 10 And at the end of three years they took it. In the sixth year of Hezekiah, that is, [o]the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel, Samaria was taken. 11 [p]Then the king of Assyria carried Israel away captive to Assyria, and put them [q]in Halah and by the Habor, the River of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes, 12 because they [r]did not obey the voice of the LORD their God, but transgressed His covenant and all that Moses the servant of the LORD had commanded; and they would neither hear nor do them.

13 And [s]in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib king of Assyria came up against all the fortified cities of Judah and took them. 14 Then Hezekiah king of Judah sent to the king of Assyria at Lachish, saying, "I have done wrong; turn away from me; whatever you impose on me I will pay." And the king of Assyria assessed Hezekiah king of Judah three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold. 15 So Hezekiah [t]gave him all the silver that was found in the house of the LORD and in the treasuries of the king's house. 16 At that time Hezekiah stripped the gold from the doors of the temple of the LORD, and from the pillars which Hezekiah king of Judah had overlaid, and gave [6]it to the king of Assyria.

■ 18:7 he rebelled against the king of Assyria and did not serve him. Hezekiah's father Ahaz had been a vassal of Assyria and modified temple arrangements to reflect this fact (16:7–18). Hezekiah's rebellion against the Assyrians probably involved withholding tribute from them.

■ 18:8 He subdued the Philistines. During Ahaz's reign the Philistines were able to capture Judean territory (2 Chr. 28:18).

Gaza and its territory. Gaza was near the Mediterranean coast; Hezekiah had penetrated far into Philistine territory.

■ 18:9–37 The Assyrians invade Judah and, advancing to Jerusalem, demand Judah's surrender.

■ 18:9–12 The writer provides a summary of the fall of Samaria narrated and commented upon more fully in ch. 17. In so doing, he underscores the threat Assyria poses to Judah.

■ 18:13—20:19 The story of Sennacherib's campaign and its aftermath is found also in Is. 36—39, with a few additions and omissions.

■ 18:13 In the fourteenth year. 701 B.C., dated from the beginning of his independent reign (vv. 1, 2 and notes).

Sennacherib king of Assyria. Sennacherib succeeded Sargon II in 705 B.C.

came up against all the fortified cities of Judah. The annals of Sennacherib record his campaign against Phoenicia, Judah, the Philistine cities, and Egypt. He claims to have taken forty-six cities and "countless small villages." He also boasts of having shut up Hezekiah in Jerusalem "like a bird in a cage." His annals, however, do not claim that Sennacherib captured Jerusalem (Mic. 1:9 and note).

■ 18:14–16 Hezekiah attempts to convince Sennacherib to withdraw by offering a huge tribute payment (v. 7 note). In using temple and palace treasuries to influence the actions of a foreign king, Hezekiah follows the example of Asa (1 Kin. 15:18) and his own father Ahaz (16:8, 9). The annals of Sennacherib confirm that Hezekiah sent tribute at this time.

■ 18:17 the king of Assyria sent. Some scholars believe that this refers to a second campaign of Sennacherib against Hezekiah about Assyrian Campaign Against Judah (701 B.C.). In 701 B.C. Sennacherib moved southward along the coastal plains, defeated an Egyptian army, and overturned a plot against Assyria. Using Lachish as his camp, he then moved against Jerusalem, but did not capture the city.

Jerusalem. When they had come up, they went and stood by the [u]aqueduct from the upper pool, [v]which was on the highway to the Fuller's Field. 18 And when they had called to the king, [w]Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, Shebna the [1]scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came out to them. 19 Then the Rabshakeh said to them, "Say now to Hezekiah, 'Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria: [x]"What confidence is this in which you trust? 20 You speak of having plans and power for war; but they are [2]mere words. And in whom do you trust, that you rebel against me? 21 [y]Now look! You are trusting in the staff of this broken reed, Egypt, on which if a man leans, it will go into his hand and pierce it. So is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who trust in him. 22 But if you say to me, 'We trust in the LORD our God,' is it not He [z]whose [3]high places and whose altars Hezekiah has taken away, and said to Judah and Jerusalem, 'You shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem'?" ' 23 Now therefore, I urge you, give a pledge to my master the king of Assyria, and I will give you two thousand horses—if you are able on your part to put riders on them! 24 How then will you repel one captain of the least of my master's servants, and put your trust in Egypt for chariots and horsemen? 25 Have I now come up without the LORD against this place to destroy it? The LORD said to me, 'Go up against this land, and destroy it.' "

26 [a]Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, Shebna, and Joah said to the Rabshakeh, "Please speak to your servants in [b]Aramaic, for we understand it; and do not speak to us in [4]Hebrew in the hearing of the people who are on the wall."

27 But the Rabshakeh said to them, "Has my master sent me to your master and to you to speak these words, and not to the men who sit on the wall, who will eat and drink their own waste with you?"

28 Then the Rabshakeh stood and called out with a loud voice in [5]Hebrew, and spoke, saying, "Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria! 29 Thus says the king: [c]'Do not let Hezekiah deceive you, for he shall not be able to deliver you from his hand; 30 nor let Hezekiah make you trust in the LORD, saying, "The LORD will surely deliver us; this city shall not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria." ' 31 Do not listen to Hezekiah; for thus says the king of Assyria: 'Make peace with me [6]by a present and come out to me; and every one of you eat from his own [d]vine and every one from his own fig tree, and every one of you drink the waters of his own cistern; 32 until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, [e]a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olive groves and honey, that you may live and not die. But do not listen to Hezekiah, lest he persuade you, saying, "The LORD will deliver us." 33 [f]Has any of the gods of the nations at all delivered its land from the hand of the king of Assyria? 34 Where are the gods of [g]Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim and Hena and [h]Ivah? Indeed, have they delivered Samaria from my hand? 35 Who among all the gods of the lands have delivered their countries from my hand, [i]that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem from my hand?' "

36 But the people held their peace and answered him not a word; for the king's commandment was, "Do not answer him." 37 Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Hezekiah [j]with their clothes torn, and told him the words of the Rabshakeh.

twelve to thirteen years after the first. While this view is possible, there is no solid evidence to support it and, in any event, it is unnecessary. Sennacherib's annals consistently report that Sennacherib not only demanded tribute from kings who "did not bow in submission to my yoke," but also insisted on deposing such rebellious kings and replacing them with monarchs of his own choosing. Hezekiah only sends tribute; he does not abdicate (vv. 14–16).

Lachish. This Judean fortress was located twenty-eight miles southwest of Jerusalem (cf. Mic. 1:13).

■ 18:18 The three Assyrian officials confer with three Judean officials: the palace administrator (cf. 1 Kin. 4:6), the secretary (cf. 2 Sam. 8:17), and the recorder (cf. 2 Sam. 8:16).

■ 18:26 Please speak to your servants in Aramaic. Aramaic (the language of ancient Syria) had become by this time the international language of diplomacy. By asking the Assyrian officials to use Aramaic, the official hoped to prevent the inhabitants of Jerusalem from understanding the field commander's speech.

■ 18:31 vine . . . fig tree, and . . . cistern. The description is indicative of normal, peaceful everyday life (1 Kin. 4:25; Mic. 4:4; Zech. 3:10).

■ 18:32 take you away to a land. These words are a parody of God's gift of the promised land to the Israelites. The Assyrian king thereby offers to replace the Lord's promises with his own. Hezekiah will later refer to these claims as blasphemous (19:1–6).

■ 18:33 In the Bible the Lord is utterly distinct from other gods. The Assyrian field commander, however, makes no distinction. In the field commander's opinion, if the gods of the nations could not defeat Assyria, neither will the Lord.

■ 18:34 Hamath . . . Sepharvaim . . . and Ivah. See note on 17:24.

Arpad. Located near Hamath in Syria, Arpad was captured in 740 B.C.

■ 18:36 the people held their peace. The Assyrian effort to rouse the populace against their king (vv. 29, 31, 32) was a total failure.

■ 18:37 with their clothes torn. The torn clothes indicate emotional duress (1 Kin. 21:27 note).

Isaiah Assures Deliverance

19 And [a]so it was, when King Hezekiah heard it, that he tore his clothes, covered himself with [b]sackcloth, and went into the house of the LORD. 2 Then he sent Eliakim, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz. 3 And they said to him, "Thus says Hezekiah: 'This day is a day of trouble, and rebuke, and blasphemy; for the children have come to birth, but there is no strength to [l]bring them forth. 4 [c]It may be that the LORD your God will hear all the words of the Rabshakeh, whom his master the king of Assyria has sent to [d]reproach the living God, and will [e]rebuke the words which the LORD your God has heard. Therefore lift up your prayer for the remnant that is left.' "

5 So the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah. 6 [f]And Isaiah said to them, "Thus you shall say to your master, 'Thus says the LORD: "Do not be [g]afraid of the words which you have heard, with which the [h]servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed Me. 7 Surely I will send [i]a spirit upon him, and he shall hear a rumor and return to his own land; and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land." ' "

Sennacherib's Threat and Hezekiah's Prayer

8 Then the Rabshakeh returned and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah, for he heard that he had departed [j]from Lachish. 9 And [k]the king heard concerning Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, "Look, he has come out to make war with you." So he again sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, 10 "Thus you shall speak to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying: 'Do not let your God [l]in whom you trust deceive you, saying, "Jerusalem shall not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria." 11 Look! You have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands by utterly destroying them; and shall you be delivered? 12 [m]Have the gods of the nations delivered those whom my fathers have destroyed, Gozan and Haran and Rezeph, and the people of [n]Eden who were in Telassar? 13 [o]Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah?' "

14 [p]And Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the messengers, and read it; and Hezekiah went up to the house of the LORD, and spread it before the LORD. 15 Then Hezekiah prayed before the LORD, and said: "O LORD God of Israel, the One [q]who dwells between the cherubim, [r]You are God, You alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth. You have made heaven and earth. 16 [s]Incline Your ear, O LORD, and hear; [t]open Your eyes, O LORD, and see; and hear the words of Sennacherib, [u]which he has sent to reproach the living God. 17 Truly, LORD, the kings of Assyria have laid waste the nations and their lands, 18 and have cast their gods into the fire; for they were [v]not gods, but [w]the work of men's hands—wood and stone. Therefore they destroyed them. 19 Now therefore, O LORD our God, I pray, save us from his hand, [x]that all the kingdoms of the earth may [y]know that You are the LORD God, You alone."

The Word of the LORD Concerning Sennacherib

20 Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, "Thus says the LORD God of Israel: [z]'Because you have prayed to Me against Sennacherib king of Assyria, [a]I have heard.' 21 This is the word which the LORD has spoken concerning him:

'The virgin, [b]the daughter of Zion,
Has despised you, laughed you to scorn;
The daughter of Jerusalem
[c]Has shaken her head behind your back!

22 'Whom have you reproached and blasphemed?
Against whom have you raised your voice,
And lifted up your eyes on high?
Against [d]the Holy One of Israel.
23 [e]By your messengers you have reproached the Lord,
And said: [f]"By the multitude of my chariots
I have come up to the height of the mountains,
To the limits of Lebanon;
I will cut down its tall cedars
And its choice cypress trees;
I will enter the extremity of its borders,
To its fruitful forest.
24 I have dug and drunk strange water,
And with the soles of my feet I have [g]dried up
All the brooks of defense."

25 'Did you not hear long ago
How [h]I made it,
From ancient times that I formed it?
Now I have brought it to pass,
That [i]you should be
For crushing fortified cities into heaps of ruins.
26 Therefore their inhabitants had little power;
They were dismayed and confounded;
They were as the grass of the field
And the green herb,
As [j]the grass on the housetops
And grain blighted before it is grown.

27 'But [k]I know your dwelling place,
Your going out and your coming in,
And your rage against Me.
28 Because your rage against Me and your tumult
Have come up to My ears,
Therefore [l]I will put My hook in your nose
And My bridle in your lips,
And I will turn you back
[m]By the way which you came.

29 'This shall be a [n]sign to you:

■ 19:21 The virgin, the daughter of Zion. The phrase refers affectionately to Jerusalem (Is. 1:8).

Has shaken her head behind your back. The words describe a gesture of mocking as Assyria runs away (Jer. 18:16).

■ 19:25 Did you not hear. The Assyrians mistakenly believe that their great victories stem from their own might. They do not recognize that God is ultimately responsible for their success (cf. Is. 10:5–12; 14:24–27).

■ 19:28 I will put My hook in your nose And My bridle in your lips. This reference is to the Assyrian custom of treating captured enemies like animals in a caravan (2 Chr. 33:11; cf. Ezek. 19:4, 9). God will turn the tables on Assyria.

■ 19:29 sign. That is, a verification of a future event (1 Kin. 13:3 note).

You shall eat this year such as grows [2]of itself,
And in the second year what springs from the same;
Also in the third year sow and reap,
Plant vineyards and eat the fruit of them.
30 [o]And the remnant who have escaped of the house of Judah Shall again take root downward,
And bear fruit upward.
31 For out of Jerusalem shall go a remnant,
And those who escape from Mount Zion.
[p]The zeal of the LORD [3]of hosts will do this.'

32 "Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria:

'He shall [q]not come into this city,
Nor shoot an arrow there,
Nor come before it with shield,
Nor build a siege mound against it.
33 By the way that he came,
By the same shall he return;
And he shall not come into this city,'
Says the LORD.
34 'For [r]I will [s]defend this city, to save it
For My own sake and [t]for My servant David's sake.' "

Sennacherib's Defeat and Death

35 And [u]it came to pass on a certain night that the [4]angel of the LORD went out, and killed in the camp of the Assyrians one hundred and eighty-five thousand; and when people arose early in the morning, there were the corpses—all dead. 36 So Sennacherib king of Assyria departed and went away, returned home, and remained at [v]Nineveh. 37 Now it came to pass, as he was worshiping in the temple of Nisroch his god, that his sons [w]Adrammelech and Sharezer [x]struck him down with the sword; and they escaped into the land of Ararat. Then [y]Esarhaddon his son reigned in his place.

Hezekiah's Life Extended

20 In [a]those days Hezekiah was sick and near death. And Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, went to him and said to him, "Thus says the LORD: 'Set your house in order, for you shall die, and not live.' "

2 Then he turned his face toward the wall, and prayed to the LORD, saying, 3 [b]"Remember now, O LORD, I pray, how I have walked before You in truth and with a loyal heart, and have done what was good in Your sight." And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

4 And it happened, before Isaiah had gone out into the middle court, that the word of the LORD came to him, saying, 5 "Return and tell Hezekiah [c]the leader of My people, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father: [d]"I have heard your prayer, I have seen [e]your tears; surely I will heal you. On the third day you shall go up to the house of the LORD. 6 And I will add to your struck him down. Assyrian documents record that in a struggle for the throne in 681 B.C. one of Sennacherib's sons killed him. The author of Kings has telescoped the events surrounding Sennacherib's shameful defeat (701 B.C.) and his assassination (681 B.C.).

Ararat. The word is another name for Urartu, present day Armenia (Gen. 8:4).

Esarhaddon. He ruled Assyria from 681–669 B.C.

■ 20:1 In those days. There is good reason to believe that this incident and the reception of the Babylonian envoys (vv. 12–19) occurred before the Assyrian invasion of Judah in 701 B.C., because according to Babylonian documents, Merodach-Baladan (v. 12) died in 703 B.C. Since God added fifteen years to Hezekiah's life (v. 6), he would have been ill in 702 B.C. or before.

■ 20:5 I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears. God compassionately adds fifteen years (v. 6) to Hezekiah's life. Hezekiah's reforms (18:4, 5), together with his abiding trust in God during the Assyrian invasion (18:7, 22, 32; 19:4), reveal a consistency of character. In this respect Hezekiah's conduct is exemplary. Not only does this passage underscore the importance of prayer, but also divine freedom, compassion, and omnipotence (cf. 1 Kin. 21:27–29).

days fifteen years. I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria; and [f]I will defend this city for My own sake, and for the sake of My servant David." ' "

7 Then [g]Isaiah said, "Take a lump of figs." So they took and laid it on the boil, and he recovered.

8 And Hezekiah said to Isaiah, [h]"What is the sign that the LORD will heal me, and that I shall go up to the house of the LORD the third day?"

9 Then Isaiah said, [i]"This is the sign to you from the LORD, that the LORD will do the thing which He has spoken: shall the shadow go forward ten degrees or go backward ten degrees?"

10 And Hezekiah answered, "It is an easy thing for the shadow to go down ten [1]degrees; no, but let the shadow go backward ten degrees."

11 So Isaiah the prophet cried out to the LORD, and [j]He brought the shadow ten [2]degrees backward, by which it had gone down on the sundial of Ahaz.

The Babylonian Envoys

12 [k]At that time [3]Berodach-Baladan the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah, for he heard that Hezekiah had been sick. 13 And [l]Hezekiah was attentive to them, and showed them all the house of his treasures—the silver and gold, the spices and precious ointment, and [4]all [5]his armory—all that was found among his treasures. There was nothing in his house or in all his dominion that Hezekiah did not show them.

14 Then Isaiah the prophet went to King Hezekiah, and said to him, "What did these men say, and from where did they come to you?"

So Hezekiah said, "They came from a far country, from Babylon."

15 And he said, "What have they seen in your house?"

So Hezekiah answered, [m]"They have seen all that is in my house; there is nothing among my treasures that I have not shown them."

16 Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD: 17 'Behold, the days are coming when all that is in your house, and what your fathers have accumulated until this day, [n]shall be carried to Babylon; nothing shall be left,' says the LORD. 18 'And [o]they shall take away some of your sons who will [6]descend from you, whom you will beget; [p]and they shall be [q]eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.' "

19 So Hezekiah said to Isaiah, [r]"The word of the LORD which you have spoken is good!" For he said, "Will there not be peace and truth at least in my days?"

Death of Hezekiah

20 [s]Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah—all his might, and how he [t]made a [u]pool and a [7]tunnel and [v]brought water into the city—are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 21 So [w]Hezekiah [8]rested with his fathers. Then Manasseh his son reigned in his place.

sent letters and a present to Hezekiah. Assyria was the dominant world empire at this time, and it is likely that Merodach-Baladan, together with the king of Egypt, was seeking to encourage Hezekiah's independence from the Assyrians.

■ 20:13 his armory—all that was found among his treasures. This display probably occurred before Hezekiah sent his treasures as tribute to the Assyrians (v. 1 note; 18:14–16 note). Hezekiah was attempting to impress his Babylonian visitors with his nation's wealth and power. Hezekiah was receptive to the idea of an alignment with Egypt and Babylon. Isaiah opposed Ahaz's treaty with Assyria (Is. 7:1–17), and he opposed this attempt to make a treaty with Babylon and Egypt (vv. 16–18; Is. 30; 31).

■ 20:17 shall be carried to Babylon. Isaiah rebukes a naive Hezekiah. The same treasures which might induce a treaty, might also attract an invasion. This prophecy was fulfilled by a Babylonian invasion in 598 B.C. and by the Babylonian exile of 586 B.C. Having sought refuge with the Babylonians, Hezekiah discovers that the Babylonians will ultimately be Judah's ruin.

■ 20:18 your sons who will descend from you. Hezekiah's son Manasseh was exiled by the Assyrians and held captive in Babylon (2 Chr. 33:11). Other descendants followed later (24:15; 25:7).

■ 20:20 a pool and a tunnel and brought water into the city. Hezekiah made improvements in Jerusalem's water supply in advance of the Assyrian invasion. An inscription in the Siloam Tunnel celebrates the completion of an impressive engineering feat. The conduit runs from the Gihon spring outside the city wall (cf. 1 Kin. 1:33 note) through seventeen hundred feet of solid rock to the Pool of Siloam inside the city.

Manasseh Reigns in Judah

21 Manasseh [a]was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hephzibah. 2 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, [b]according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD had cast out before the children of Israel. 3 For he rebuilt the [1]high places [c]which Hezekiah his father had destroyed; he raised up altars for Baal, and made a [2]wooden image, [d]as Ahab king of Israel had done; and he [e]worshiped all [3]the host of heaven and served them. 4 [f]He also built altars in the house of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, [g]"In Jerusalem I will put My name." 5 And he built altars for all the host of heaven in the [h]two courts of the house of the LORD. 6 [i]Also he made his son pass through the fire, practiced [j]soothsaying, used witchcraft, and consulted spiritists and mediums. He did much evil in the sight of the LORD, to provoke Him to anger. 7 He even set a carved image of [4]Asherah that he had made, in the [5]house of which the LORD had said to David and to Solomon his son, [k]"In this house and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put My name forever; 8 [l]and I will not make the feet of Israel wander anymore from the land which I gave their fathers—only if they are careful to do according to all that I have commanded them, and according to all the law that My servant Moses commanded them." 9 But they paid no attention, and Manasseh [m]seduced them to do more evil than the nations whom the LORD had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 And the LORD spoke [n]by His servants the prophets, saying, 11 [o]"Because Manasseh king of Judah has done these abominations (*p*he has acted more wickedly than all the [q]Amorites who were before him, and [r]has also made Judah sin with his idols), 12 therefore thus says the LORD God of Israel: 'Behold, I am bringing such calamity upon Jerusalem and Judah, that whoever hears of it, both [s]his ears will tingle. 13 And I will stretch over Jerusalem [t]the measuring line of Samaria and the plummet of the house of Ahab; [u]I will wipe Jerusalem as one wipes a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down. 14 So I will forsake the [v]remnant of My inheritance and deliver them into the hand of their enemies; and they shall become victims of plunder to all their enemies, 15 because they have done evil in My sight, and have provoked Me to anger since the day their fathers came out of Egypt, even to this day.' "

■ 21:1–18 These verses summarize the evil reign of Manasseh, king of Judah. Manasseh leads Judah into sin by reintroducing idolatry into Judah; he is also guilty of shedding "much innocent blood" (v. 16). So great is Manasseh's sin that God pronounces disaster on Judah and Jerusalem.

■ 21:1 twelve years old. Manasseh most likely began his reign as co-regent with his father, Hezekiah.

fifty-five years. That is, 697–642 B.C., including a ten-year co-regency with Hezekiah. Manasseh's reign was the longest of any Judean king. Assyrian records say that Manasseh was a vassal of both Esarhaddon (681–669 B.C.) and Ashurbanipal (669–627 B.C.).

■ 21:2 he did evil. Manasseh presided over the worst period of infidelity in Judah's history. The reforms instituted by Hezekiah were reversed by his son. Manasseh also introduced pagan elements into Judean worship that were unprecedented during the entire period of the monarchy (vv. 3–11 notes).

■ 21:3 the high places which Hezekiah his father had destroyed. See 18:4 and note on 1 Kin. 3:2.

as Ahab king of Israel had done. Manasseh imitated the policies of the worst king of the northern kingdom (1 Kin. 16:30–33).

worshiped all the host of heaven. In Babylon and other nations, the sun, moon, and stars were personified as gods (17:16; 23:5). Star worship was forbidden in Israel (Deut. 4:19; 17:3).

■ 21:6 made his son pass through the fire. On the gruesome practice of child sacrifice, see note on 16:3 and Deut. 12:29–31.

consulted spiritists and mediums. See note on 16:15.

■ 21:7 to David and to Solomon his son. David wished to build the temple himself (2 Sam. 7:1–3), but the Lord instead promised David that He would build David a dynasty and that his son (Solomon) would build the temple (2 Sam. 7:8–16). That promise was fulfilled during Solomon's reign, and God blessed the temple as the divinely ordained place for sacrifice and prayer (1 Kin. 9:1–3; cf. Deut. 12:5).

■ 21:8 if they are careful to do. The land was a gift, and its possession was predicated upon Israelite fidelity (Deut. 1:8; 3:18; 4:1, 25–28; 1 Kin. 9:4–9).

My servant Moses. See note on 1 Kin. 2:3.

■ 21:11 Amorites. Here a general designation of the original inhabitants of Canaan (1 Kin. 21:26 note).

■ 21:13 measuring line . . . the plummet. Both Samaria (17:5, 6) and the house of Ahab (10:10, 11) were destroyed. Yahweh uses for destruction the tools normally employed for construction (Is. 34:11; Lam. 2:8; Amos 7:7–9).

■ 21:14 I will forsake. The time for patience and forbearance is over. Jerusalem and Judah will not be defeated by a superior people or a superior god. On the contrary, God is abandoning what is left of the original twelve tribes (the "remnant") to their enemies as punishment (Is. 1:5). The exile to Babylon of 586 B.C. is in view (25:1–17).

■ 21:15 since the day. After liberating His people from slavery in Egypt, God made a covenant with Israel at Mount Sinai (Ex. 19:1—Num. 10:10). Although both God and Israel made promises in this covenant, only God remained faithful. Israel's history was characterized by constant rebellion.

■ 21:16 shed very much innocent blood. This expression refers to oppression and persecution of the weak (Jer. 7:6; 22:3, 17; Ezek. 22:6–31).

end to another, besides his sin by which he made Judah sin, in doing evil in the sight of the LORD.

17 Now [x]the rest of the acts of [y]Manasseh—all that he did, and the sin that he committed—are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 18 So [z]Manasseh [6]rested with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his own house, in the garden of Uzza. Then his son Amon reigned in his place.

Amon's Reign and Death

19 [a]Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Meshullemeth the daughter of Haruz of Jotbah. 20 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, [b]as his father Manasseh had done. 21 So he walked in all the ways that his father had walked; and he served the idols that his father had served, and worshiped them. 22 He [c]forsook the LORD God of his fathers, and did not walk in the way of the LORD.

23 [d]Then the servants of Amon [e]conspired against him, and killed the king in his own house. 24 But the people of the land [f]executed all those who had conspired against King Amon. Then the people of the land made his son Josiah king in his place.

25 Now the rest of the acts of Amon which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 26 And he was buried in his tomb in the garden of Uzza. Then Josiah his son reigned in his place.

Josiah Reigns in Judah

22 Josiah [a]was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jedidah the daughter of Adaiah of [b]Bozkath. 2 And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, and walked in all the ways of his father David; he [c]did not turn aside to the right hand or to the left.

Hilkiah Finds the Book of the Law

3 [d]Now it came to pass, in the eighteenth year of King Josiah, that the king sent Shaphan the scribe, the son of Azaliah, the son of Meshullam, to the house of the LORD, saying: 4 "Go up to Hilkiah the high priest, that he may count the money which has been [e]brought into the house of the LORD, which [f]the doorkeepers have gathered from the people. 5 And let them [g]deliver it into the hand of those doing the work, who are the overseers in the house of the LORD; let them give it to those who are in the house of the LORD doing the work, to repair the damages of the house— 6 to carpenters and builders and masons—and to buy timber and hewn stone to repair the house. 7 However [h]there need be no accounting made with them of the money delivered into their hand, because they deal faithfully."

8 Then Hilkiah the high priest said to Shaphan the scribe, [i]"I have found the Book of the Law in the house of the LORD." And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan, and he read it. 9 So Shaphan the scribe went to the king, bringing the king word, saying, "Your servants have [7]gathered the money that was found in the house, and have delivered it into the hand of those who do the work, who oversee the house of the LORD." 10 Then Shaphan the scribe showed the king, saying, "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book." And Shaphan read it before the king.

Josiah instituted the most thoroughgoing reforms of any king (23:1–24). The prophet Jeremiah also spoke well of Josiah's reign (Jer. 22:15, 16).

did not turn aside. His actions were wholly in accord with the mandate of the covenant (Deut. 5:32; 17:11, 20; 28:14; Josh. 1:7; Prov. 4:27).

the scribe. For "scribes," see 2 Sam. 8:17; Ezra 7:6 and notes. By the time of Josiah's reign, the Assyrian Empire was in a state of decline. Josiah, unlike Manasseh, asserted Judah's independence from Assyria. Josiah was able to gain control over at least part of the former northern kingdom (23:4, 15–20).

■ 22:4 Hilkiah. Probably not the same man who is mentioned as the father of Jeremiah (Jer. 1:1), this Hilkiah was the grandfather of the high priest Seraiah who was exiled to Babylon (25:18–20).

which the doorkeepers have gathered from the people. King Joash earlier had used the same technique for collecting funds to refurbish the temple (12:4, 5). Josiah was restoring the temple after its neglect in the days of Manasseh and Amon.

■ 22:8 the Book of the Law. Actually a scroll, this document was probably a version of the Book of Deuteronomy (Deut. 28:61; 31:24, 26). The reforms which Josiah initiates (23:1–24) follow Deuteronomy.

[11] Now it happened, when the king heard the words of the Book of the Law, that he tore his clothes. [12] Then the king commanded Hilkiah the priest, [j]Ahikam the son of Shaphan, [z]Achbor the son of Michaiah, Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah a servant of the king, saying, [13] "Go, inquire of the LORD for me, for the people and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book that has been found; for great is [k]the wrath of the LORD that is aroused against us, because our fathers have not obeyed the words of this book, to do according to all that is written concerning us."

[14] So Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam, Achbor, Shaphan, and Asaiah went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of [l]Tikvah, the son of Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe. (She dwelt in Jerusalem in the Second Quarter.) And they spoke with her. [15] Then she said to them, "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, 'Tell the man who sent you to Me, [16] "Thus says the LORD: 'Behold, [m]I will bring calamity on this place and on its inhabitants—all the words of the book which the king of Judah has read— [17] [n]because they have forsaken Me and burned incense to other gods, that they might provoke Me to anger with all the works of their hands. Therefore My wrath shall be aroused against this place and shall not be quenched.' " ' [18] But as for [o]the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD, in this manner you shall speak to him, 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: "Concerning the words which you have heard— [19] because your [p]heart was tender, and you [q]humbled yourself before the LORD when you heard what I spoke against this place and against its inhabitants, that they would become [r]a desolation and [s]a curse, and you tore your clothes and wept before Me, I also have heard you," says the LORD. [20] Surely, therefore, I will [3]gather you to your fathers, and you [t]shall [4]be gathered to your grave in peace; and your eyes shall not see all the calamity which I will bring on this place." ' " So they brought back word to the king.

Josiah Restores True Worship

23 Now [a]the king sent them to gather all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem to him. [2] The king went up to the house of the LORD with all the men of Judah, and with him all the inhabitants of Jerusalem—the priests and the prophets and all the people, both small and great. And he [b]read in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant [c]which had been found in the house of the LORD.

[3] Then the king [d]stood by a pillar and made a [e]covenant before the LORD, to follow the LORD and to keep His commandments and His testimonies and His statutes, with all his heart and all his soul, to perform the words of this covenant that were written in this book. And all the people took a stand for the covenant. [4] And the king commanded Hilkiah the high priest, the [f]priests of the second order, and the doorkeepers, to bring [g]out of the temple of the LORD all the articles that were made for Baal, for [1]Asherah, and for all [2]the host of heaven; and he burned them outside Jerusalem in the fields of Kidron, and carried their ashes to Bethel. [5] Then he removed the idolatrous priests whom the kings of Judah had ordained to burn incense on the high places in the cities of Judah and in the places all around Jerusalem, and those who burned incense to Baal, to the sun, to the moon, to the [3]constellations, and to [h]all the host of heaven. ■ 22:11 he tore his clothes. See note on 1 Kin. 21:27. Josiah was disturbed because the Law was not being kept, and he realized that this displeased God (v. 13; Deut. 6:10–19; 28:15–68).

■ 22:12 Ahikam the son of Shaphan. Ahikam was the father of Gedaliah, who was later appointed by Nebuchadnezzar to be governor of Judah (25:22; Jer. 26:24).

■ 22:13 Go, inquire of the LORD. Josiah, like a number of kings before him, in a dire situation consults a prophet or prophetess in a dire situation (19:2; 20:1–5; 1 Kin. 14:1–18; 20:13, 14).

■ 22:14 Huldah the prophetess. She was probably a court prophet, consulted on matters of state (Deut. 18:14–22).

the Second Quarter. Probably a recently developed quarter on the western hill of Jerusalem (cf. 2 Chr. 33:14; Zeph. 1:10).

■ 23:1 elders. See 1 Kin. 8:1 note.

■ 23:2 Book of the Covenant. Scholars debate the precise contents of this book or scroll. Although Ex. 20—23 is called the "Book of the Covenant" (Ex. 24:7), it is unlikely that only these chapters in Exodus are meant. Judging from the kinds of reform Josiah pursues in vv. 4–24, the book was a version of Deuteronomy (22:8 note) or a larger group of laws including Deuteronomy.

■ 23:3 by a pillar. See 11:14 note; 1 Kin. 7:15 note.

made a covenant. Josiah, like Moses (Ex. 24:1–8; Deut. 29:1), Joshua (Josh. 24:1–28), and Jehoiada (2 Kin. 11:17) before him, leads the people in renewing their commitment to God. During the liturgy, the people pledged themselves to "keep His commandments and His testimonies and His statutes."

with all his heart and all his soul. See Deut. 6:5, and Jesus' summary of the law in Matt. 22:36–40.

■ 23:4 Baal. See note on 1 Kin. 16:32.

ashes to Bethel. Bethel was one of the two original places where Jeroboam I used golden calves in a rival cult (1 Kin. 12:26–33). By depositing ashes at Bethel, Josiah desecrates Jeroboam's religious center (cf. vv. 15–20).

■ 23:5 idolatrous priests. See Hos. 10:5; Zeph. 1:4.

high places. See note on 1 Kin. 3:2.

■ 23:6 burned it . . . and ground it to ashes. This is like what Moses did after the Israelites worshiped a golden calf (Ex. 32:20; Deut. 9:21).

on the graves of the common people. Josiah does this to desecrate out the [i]wooden[4] image from the house of the LORD, to the Brook Kidron outside Jerusalem, burned it at the Brook Kidron and ground it to [j]ashes, and threw its ashes on [k]the graves of the common people. 7 Then he tore down the ritual [5]booths [l]of the [6]perverted persons that were in the house of the LORD, [m]where the [n]women wove hangings for the wooden image. 8 And he brought all the priests from the cities of Judah, and defiled the high places where the priests had burned incense, from [o]Geba to Beersheba; also he broke down the high places at the gates which were at the entrance of the Gate of Joshua the governor of the city, which were to the left of the city gate. 9 [p]Nevertheless the priests of the high places did not come up to the altar of the LORD in Jerusalem, [q]but they ate unleavened bread among their brethren.

10 And he defiled [r]Topheth, which is in [s]the Valley of the [7]Son of Hinnom, [t]that no man might make his son or his daughter [u]pass through the fire to Molech. 11 Then he removed the horses that the kings of Judah had [8]dedicated to the sun, at the entrance to the house of the LORD, by the chamber of Nathan-Melech, the officer who was in the court; and he burned the chariots of the sun with fire. 12 The altars that were [v]on the roof, the upper chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Judah had made, and the altars which [w]Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the LORD, the king broke down and pulverized there, and threw their dust into the Brook Kidron. 13 Then the king defiled the [9]high places that were east of Jerusalem, which were on the [1]south of [2]the Mount of Corruption, which [x]Solomon king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the abomination of the Sidonians, for Chemosh the abomination of the Moabites, and for Milcom the abomination of the people of Ammon. 14 And he [y]broke in pieces the sacred pillars and cut down the wooden images, and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Moreover the altar that was at Bethel, and the [3]high place [z]which Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel sin, had made, both that altar and the high place he broke down; and he burned the high place and crushed it to powder, and burned the wooden image. 16 As Josiah turned, he saw the tombs that were there on the mountain. And he sent and took the bones out of the tombs and burned them on the altar, and defiled it according to the [a]word of the LORD which the man of God proclaimed, who proclaimed these words. 17 Then he said, "What gravestone is this that I see?"

So the men of the city told him, "It is [b]the tomb of the man of God who came from Judah and proclaimed these things which you have done against the altar of Bethel."

18 And he said, "Let him alone; let no one move his bones." So they let his bones alone, with the bones of [c]the prophet who came from Samaria.

19 Now Josiah also took away all the [4]shrines of the [5]high places that were [d]in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to provoke [6]the LORD to anger; and he did to them according to all the deeds he had done in Bethel. 20 [e]He [f]executed all the priests of the [7]high places the wooden image, not to contaminate the graves of the poor (Num. 19:16; Jer. 26:23).

■ 23:7 perverted persons. See note on 1 Kin. 14:24.

23:8 from Geba to Beersheba. Geba was at the far north of Judah and Beersheba at the far south. Josiah is centralizing the worship of the southern kingdom in accord with the prescriptions of Deut. 12.

■ 23:9 did not come up to at the altar of the LORD. Deut. 18:6–8 allows local priests the option of joining the staff of the central sanctuary. However, the uncertain ancestry of these priests may have rendered them unfit for this task (1 Kin. 12:31; 13:33). They could aspire to a secondary role in the temple service.

ate unleavened bread. The priests from the high places were allowed a portion of the priestly provisions (Lev. 2:10; 6:16–20).

■ 23:10 Topheth. Child sacrifice occurred at this location in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom outside Jerusalem (16:3; 21:6; Is. 30:33; Jer. 7:31, 32; 19:5, 6).

Molech. See note on 1 Kin. 11:5.

■ 23:11 horses . . . dedicated to the sun. The sun was regarded as divine by some of Israel's neighbors (17:16), and the Assyrian sun-god was known by the title "chariot-rider." Miniature clay horses with solar disks on their foreheads have been found in excavations near the temple area. See also Ezek. 8:16.

■ 23:12 broke down. By tearing down the altars used for astral worship, Josiah reversed the policies of Ahaz (16:3, 4, 10–16), Manasseh (21:3), and Amon (21:21).

■ 23:13 the high places . . . which Solomon king of Israel had built. Of all the Judean kings, only Josiah was bold enough to tear down the high places Solomon built for the gods of his foreign wives (1 Kin. 11:1–8, 33).

■ 23:14 broke . . . cut down. Josiah defiles sacred precincts dating to the time of Rehoboam, where there were "sacred pillars" and "wooden images" (1 Kin. 14:23).

■ 23:15 the altar that was at Bethel. See 1 Kin. 12:32, 33. It is unclear whether Josiah defiled the cult center Jeroboam I established at Dan (1 Kin. 12:29, 30) or whether this cult center was still functioning.

■ 23:16 tombs. These tombs belonged to the Bethel priests appointed by Jeroboam I (1 Kin. 12:31, 32; 13:2).

according to the word of the LORD. See the prophecy of 1 Kin. 13:2, 32 and the story of which it is a part (1 Kin. 13).

■ 23:18 Samaria. The name here probably designates the former northern kingdom (v. 19 and 17:24; 1 Kin. 13:32) and not the city. The northern prophet was from Bethel (1 Kin. 13:11), and Omri built the city of Samaria sometime after this prophecy (1 Kin. 16:24 and note).

■ 23:19 in the cities of Samaria. Josiah began his northern reforms at Bethel and extended them into the former northern kingdom.

■ 23:20 executed all the priests. See the statutes dealing with those advocating the worship of other gods, Deut. 13:6–18; 17:2–7.

who were there, on the altars, and [g]burned men's bones on them; and he returned to Jerusalem.

21 Then the king commanded all the people, saying, [h]"Keep the Passover to the LORD your God, [i]as it is written in this Book of the Covenant." 22 [j]Such a Passover surely had never been held since the days of the judges who judged Israel, nor in all the days of the kings of Israel and the kings of Judah. 23 But in the eighteenth year of King Josiah this Passover was held before the LORD in Jerusalem. 24 Moreover Josiah put away those who consulted mediums and spiritists, the household gods and idols, all the abominations that were seen in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, that he might perform the words of [k]the law which were written in the book [l]that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the LORD. 25 [m]Now before him there was no king like him, who turned to the LORD with all his heart, with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the Law of Moses; nor after him did any arise like him.

Impending Judgment on Judah

26 Nevertheless the LORD did not turn from the fierceness of His great wrath, with which His anger was aroused against Judah, [n]because of all the provocations with which Manasseh had provoked Him. 27 And the LORD said, "I will also remove Judah from My sight, as [o]I have removed Israel, and will cast off this city Jerusalem which I have chosen, and the house of which I said, [p]'My name shall be there.' "

Josiah Dies in Battle

28 Now the rest of the acts of Josiah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 29 [q]In his days Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt went [s]to the aid of the king of Assyria, to the River Euphrates; and King Josiah went against him. And Pharaoh Necho killed him at [r]Megiddo when he [s]confronted him. 30 [t]Then his servants moved his body in a chariot from Megiddo, brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own tomb. And [u]the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah, anointed him, and made him king in his father's place.

The Reign and Captivity of Jehoahaz

31 [v]Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was [w]Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. 32 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his fathers had done. 33 Now Pharaoh Necho put him in prison [x]at Riblah in the land of Hamath, that he might not reign in Jerusalem; and he imposed on the land a tribute of one hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold. 34 Then [y]Pharaoh Necho made Eliakim the son of Josiah king in place of his father Josiah, and [z]changed his name to [a]Jehoiakim. And Pharaoh took Jehoahaz [b]and went to Egypt, and [g]he died there.

Jehoiakim Reigns in Judah

35 So Jehoiakim gave [c] the silver and gold to Pharaoh; but he taxed the land to give money according to the command of Pharaoh; he exacted the silver and gold from the people of the land, from every one according to his assessment, to give it to Pharaoh Necho. 36 [d] Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zebudah the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah. 37 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his fathers had done.

Judah Overrun by Enemies

24 In [a] his days Nebuchadnezzar king of [b] Babylon came up, and Jehoiakim became his vassal for three years. Then he turned and rebelled against him. 2 [c] And the LORD sent against him raiding [1] bands of Chaldeans, bands of Syrians, bands of Moabites, and bands of the people of Ammon; He sent them against Judah to destroy it, [d] according to the word of the LORD which He had spoken by His servants the prophets. 3 Surely at the commandment of the LORD this came upon Judah, to remove them from His sight [e] because of the sins of Manasseh, according to all that he had done, 4 [f] and also because of the innocent blood that he had shed; for he had filled Jerusalem with innocent blood, which the LORD would not pardon.

5 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? 6 [g] So Jehoiakim rested with his fathers. Then Jehoiachin his son reigned in his place.

7 And [h] the king of Egypt did not come out of his land anymore, for [i] the king of Babylon had taken all that belonged to the king of Egypt from the Brook of Egypt to the River Euphrates.

The Reign and Captivity of Jehoiachin

8 [j] Jehoiachin [2] was eighteen years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months. His mother's name was Nehushta the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem. 9 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father had done.

10 [k] At that time the servants of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up against Jerusalem, and the city [3] was besieged. 11 And Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came against the city, as his servants were besieging it. 12 [l] Then Jehoiachin king of Judah, his mother, his servants, his princes, and his officers went out to the king of Babylon; and the king of Babylon, [m] in the eighth year of his reign, took him prisoner.

The Captivity of Jerusalem

13 [n] And he carried out from there all the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king's house, and he [o] cut in pieces all the articles of gold which Solomon king of Israel had made in the temple of the LORD, [p] as the LORD had said. 14 Also [q] he carried into captivity all

■ 23:35 exacted the silver and gold from the people of the land. Jehoiakim taxes the very people who had brought Jehoahaz to the throne (v. 30).

■ 23:36—24:7 The writer makes it clear that the disasters befalling Judah at the hands of foreign invaders are in fulfillment of God's word of judgment against Judah for Manasseh's sin (21:10–15; 24:2–4).

■ 23:36 eleven years. That is, 609–598 B.C.

Rumah. The town was located about fourteen miles west of the Sea of Chinneroth (Galilee).

■ 24:1 Nebuchadnezzar. Nebuchadnezzar II was king of Babylon from 605–562 B.C. Babylon defeated Necho of Egypt in a major battle at Carchemish (Jer. 46:2), and Judah was now ruled by Babylon instead of Egypt.

came up. According to Babylonian records, Nebuchadnezzar II subdued the "Hatti land," including the "city of Judah" (that is, Jerusalem).

three years. That is, 604–602 B.C.

he turned and rebelled. Going against Jeremiah's counsel (Jer. 27:9–11), Jehoiakim's decision to rebel may have been influenced by Egypt's successful defense against Nebuchadnezzar in 601 B.C.

■ 24:2 the LORD sent . . . raiding bands. God's reaction against Judah's rebellion was swift. The Syrians, Moabites, and Ammonites were vassals of Babylon, and were probably compelled to participate in the invasion of Judah.

■ 24:4 innocent blood that he had shed. See note on 21:16. The violation of the covenant was so reprehensible that the Lord "would not pardon" it.

■ 24:5 book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin. 11:41.

■ 24:7 Brook of Egypt. See 1 Kin. 8:65 note.

■ 24:8 three months. According to Babylonian records Jerusalem fell March 16, 597 B.C. The reign of Jehoiachin must have begun in December, 598.

■ 24:13 all the articles of gold. See 1 Kin. 7:51.

■ 24:14 ten thousand captives. Jer. 52:28 gives a figure of "three thousand and twenty-three" deportees, but that may not include women and children.

except the poorest. The Babylonians deported the upper classes and leaders from captured lands. In this way they crippled the economies of those societies.

Jerusalem: all the captains and all the mighty men of valor, [r]ten thousand captives, and [s]all the craftsmen and smiths. None remained except [t]the poorest people of the land. 15 And [u]he carried Jehoiachin captive to Babylon. The king's mother, the king's wives, his officers, and the mighty of the land he carried into captivity from Jerusalem to Babylon. 16 [v]All the valiant men, seven thousand, and craftsmen and smiths, one thousand, all who were strong and fit for war, these the king of Babylon brought captive to Babylon.

Zedekiah Reigns in Judah

17 Then [w]the king of Babylon made Mattaniah, [x]Jehoiachin's[4] uncle, king in his place, and [y]changed his name to Zedekiah.

18 [z]Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was [a]Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. 19 [b]He also did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that Jehoiakim had done. 20 For because of the anger of the LORD this happened in Jerusalem and Judah, that He finally cast them out from His presence. [c]Then Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

The Fall and Captivity of Judah

25 Now it came to pass [a]in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army came against Jerusalem and encamped against it; and they built a siege wall against it all around. 2 So the city was besieged until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. 3 By the ninth day of the [b]fourth month the famine had become so severe in the city that there was no food for the people of the land.

4 Then [c]the city wall was broken through, and all the men of war fled at night by way of the gate between two walls, which was by the king's garden, even though the Chaldeans were still encamped all around against the city. And [d]the king[1] went by way of the [2]plain. 5 But the army of the Chaldeans pursued the king, and they overtook him in the plains of Jericho. All his army was scattered from him. 6 So they took the king and brought him up to the king of Babylon [e]at

■ 24:19 according to all that Jehoiakim had done. The biblical writer does not tell all of the evil Zedekiah committed during his reign. God's judgment had already been decreed and Judah was sliding into oblivion (20:17, 18; 21:12–15; 22:16, 17). Further information on Zedekiah's reign can be found in Jer. 21; 24; 27; 29; 32; 37—39; Ezek. 17:11–21.

■ 24:20 Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon. Despite being a vassal appointed by Nebuchadnezzar, Zedekiah plotted with Egypt and other nations against the Babylonians (Jer. 27:3–8; Ezek. 17:11–21). Zedekiah's ill-fated decision to rebel against Babylon may have been encouraged by Pharaoh Hophra (Apries), who came to power in 589 B.C.

Nebuchadnezzar's Campaigns Against Judah (605–586 B.C.). Nebuchadnezzar became king of Babylon in 605 B.C. and conducted several campaigns in Palestine. He squelched Jehoiakim's rebellion in about 602 B.C., deported Jehoiachin in 597 B.C., and destroyed Jerusalem in 586 B.C.

Riblah, and they pronounced judgment on him. 7 Then they killed the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes, [f]put[3] out the eyes of Zedekiah, bound him with bronze fetters, and took him to Babylon.

8 And in the fifth month, [g]on the seventh day of the month (which was [h]the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon), [i]Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, a servant of the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. 9 [j]He burned the house of the LORD [k]and the king's house; all the houses of Jerusalem, that is, all the houses of the great, [l]he burned with fire. 10 And all the army of the Chaldeans who were with the captain of the guard [m]broke down the walls of Jerusalem all around.

11 Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive [n]the rest of the people who remained in the city and the defectors who had deserted to the king of Babylon, with the rest of the multitude. 12 But the captain of the guard [o]left some of the poor of the land as vinedressers and farmers. 13 [p]The bronze [q]pillars that were in the house of the LORD, and [r]the carts and [s]the bronze Sea that were in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke in pieces, and [t]carried their bronze to Babylon. 14 They also took away [u]the pots, the shovels, the trimmers, the spoons, and all the bronze utensils with which the priests ministered. 15 The firepans and the basins, the things of solid gold and solid silver, the captain of the guard took away. 16 The two pillars, one Sea, and the carts, which Solomon had made for the house of the LORD, [v]the bronze of all these articles was beyond measure. 17 [w]The height of one pillar was [4]eighteen cubits, and the capital on it was of bronze. The height of the capital was three cubits, and the network and pomegranates all around the capital were all of bronze. The second pillar was the same, with a network.

18 [x]And the captain of the guard took [y]Seraiah the chief priest, [z]Zephaniah the second priest, and the three doorkeepers. 19 He also took out of the city an officer who had charge of the men of war, [a]five men of [5]the king's close associates who were found in the city, the chief recruiting officer of the army, who mustered the people of the land, and sixty men of the people of the land who were found in the city. 20 So Nebuzaradan, captain of the guard, took these and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. 21 Then the king of Babylon struck them and put them to death at Riblah in the land of Hamath. [b]Thus Judah was carried away captive from its own land.

Gedaliah Made Governor of Judah

22 Then he made Gedaliah the son of [c]Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, governor over [d]the people who remained in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had left. 23 Now when all the [e]captains of the armies, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah governor, they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah—Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, Johanan the son of Careah, Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and [6]Jaazaniah the son of a Maachathite, they and their men. 24 And Gedaliah took an oath before them and their men, and said to them, "Do not be afraid of the servants of the Chaldeans. Dwell in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you."

25 But [f]it happened in the seventh month that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the son of took him to Babylon. Zedekiah ignored the counsel of Jeremiah (Jer. 38:14–28). Jeremiah had urged the king to surrender to Babylon because the Lord's judgment was inevitable. Through a peaceful surrender, Jerusalem could be spared destruction. Zedekiah's stubborn resistance brought only horrible results for both his family and the people. Zedekiah himself died in Babylon (Jer. 52:11).

■ 25:8 in the fifth month. That is, August, 586 B.C.

■ 25:9 all the houses of the great. The terrible carnage and destruction was deliberate. Nebuchadnezzar did not rebuild Judah with Jerusalem as a Babylonian provincial capital. ■ 25:21 put them to death. The Babylonian forces eliminated all the remaining leaders, not all of whom were soldiers.

■ 25:22 Gedaliah. Having abolished the monarchy, Nebuchadnezzar appointed Gedaliah as governor. Gedaliah's father Ahikam supported Jeremiah (Jer. 26:24). Nebuchadnezzar chose a well-known citizen of Judah as governor to bring stability to the land (Jer. 40:9–12).

Ahikam. Gedaliah's father had been a close advisor of Josiah (22:12).

Ishmael . . . of the royal family. Ishmael's grandfather, Elishama, was royal secretary under Jehoiakim (Jer. 36:12; 41:1). Ishmael was part of a faction in Judah which viewed Gedaliah as a collaborator and wanted to resist the Babylonians (see the detailed account in Jer. 40:13—41:18). Ishmael probably had set his sights on reestablishing the throne of Judah with himself as king.

Elishama, of the royal family, came with ten men and struck and killed Gedaliah, the Jews, as well as the Chaldeans who were with him at Mizpah. 26 And all the people, small and great, and the captains of the armies, arose [g] and went to Egypt; for they were afraid of the Chaldeans.

Jehoiachin Released from Prison

27 [h] Now it came to pass in the thirty-seventh year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, that [7] Evil-Merodach king of Babylon, in the year that he began to reign, [i] released Jehoiachin king of Judah from prison. 28 He spoke kindly to him, and gave him a more prominent seat than those of the kings who were with him in Babylon. 29 So Jehoiachin changed from his prison garments, and he [j] ate [8] bread regularly before the king all the days of his life. 30 And as for his [9] provisions, there was a [9] regular ration given him by the king, a portion for each day, all the days of his life.

(Jer. 44:1–14). The exiles considered Gedaliah's death a great loss. They instituted fast days to mourn his death as well as the destruction of Judah and Jerusalem (Zech. 7:5; 8:19).

■ 25:26 went to Egypt. Fearing reprisals from the Babylonians, these coup leaders sought refuge in Egypt where an anti-Babylonian pharaoh ruled (24:20 note). The law of the king in Deut. 17:14–20 forbids any king in Israel to lead the people back to Egypt (Deut. 17:16). Ironically, these coup leaders in their quest for power enact one of the curses of the covenant—returning to Egypt, the land of bondage and slavery (Deut. 28:68).

■ 25:27–30 The writer of Kings ends his work on a hopeful note by calling attention to the mercy shown to Jehoiachin, king of Judah, while in exile in Babylon.

Evil-Merodach . . . began to reign. Evil-Merodach was the son and successor of Nebuchadnezzar (24:1 note).

released Jehoiachin . . . from prison. Administrative texts from Babylonia mention payment of rations in oil and barley to Jehoiachin, king of Judah, and five of his sons. Evil-Merodach may have initiated this act of mercy on the occasion of his enthronement.

■ 25:28 a more prominent seat. Deut. 4:25–31; 30:1–10 and King Solomon's temple prayer (1 Kin. 8:46–53) all address conditions of exile. These texts urge repentance (Deut. 4:30; 30:2; 1 Kin. 8:47). Solomon's prayer that the exiles might find compassion at the hands of their captors is realized in the kind treatment of Jehoiachin. Deut. 30:3–5 promises restoration to the people of God, and in 538 B.C. the Jews were allowed to return home (Ezra 1:1–4; Is. 44:24–28; 45:1–6). Christians understand the promise of Deut. 30:6, that God will circumcise the hearts of His people so that they will obey Him, to be fulfilled by the coming of the Holy Spirit (Acts 2:14–21; 2 Cor. 3:1–6).

■ 25:29 ate bread regularly before the king. See note on 1 Kin. 2:7. The preferential treatment of Jehoiachin is a glimmer of hope for the continuance of the promises to David (2 Sam. 7:8–16). The somber final chapters of Kings emphasize the divine judgment on Judah (21:10–15; 23:26, 27; 24:3, 4, 20; 25:21), but they also reveal in the last few verses that the destruction of Judah and Jerusalem did not cut off the line of David. There is reason to look to the future with trust in God.

The First Book of the

CHRONICLES

Author Jewish tradition regarded Ezra as the primary author of Chronicles, Ezra, and Nehemiah. At least two reasons make this identification plausible: the book was written following the Babylonian exile of the Jews, near the time of Ezra's ministry (Date and Occasion below), and many passages in Chronicles sympathize with the priestly concerns of Ezra (Characteristics and Themes below).

Other considerations cast doubt on the traditional view of authorship. The date of composition for Chronicles cannot be limited to Ezra's lifetime (Date and Occasion); the focus on kingship characteristic of Chronicles is not present in Ezra's teaching; and Ezra's distress over the apostasy associated with intermarriage is not a prominent theme in Chronicles. In other words, historical and scriptural evidence does not point decisively to Ezra. By convention, the anonymous author is known as "the Chronicler."

The Chronicler had more than one written source. He depended on a number of biblical texts, especially Samuel and Kings, but also the Pentateuch, Judges, Ruth, Psalms, Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Zechariah. There are specific citations of several royal sources not otherwise known, such as "the account of the chronicles of King David" (27:24), "the book of the kings" (2 Chr. 24:27), "the book of the kings of Israel" (9:1; 2 Chr. 20:34), "the book of the kings of Judah and Israel" (2 Chr. 16:11; 25:26; 28:26; 32:32), and "the book of the kings of Israel and Judah" (2 Chr. 27:7; 35:27; 36:8). The Chronicler used prophetic sources, including the writings of Samuel (29:29), Nathan (29:29; 2 Chr. 9:29), Gad (29:29), and others (9:29; 12:15; 13:22; 26:22; 32:32). Variations of style and content in the work suggest that there may have been still other unspecified sources.

Date and Occasion The final verses of 2 Chronicles indicate that it was written after the release of the exiles from Babylon in 538 B.C. The absence of Hellenistic influences suggests that the history was composed before the Alexandrian period (that is, before 331 B.C.). Nevertheless, opinions vary over the precise date of composition.

Some interpreters have proposed that the Chronicler wrote as early as the reconstruction of the temple under Zerubbabel (c. 520–515 B.C.). At least three pieces of evidence support this view. First, the Chronicler consistently presents the temple and its personnel in close partnership with the royal line of David. This emphasis suggests a date near the time of Zerubbabel, when expectations of royal and priestly partnership were high (Zech. 4). Second, there is close attention to the details of priestly and Levitical duties (1 Chr. 6:1–53 note). This suggests a connection with the time when the new temple order was being established. Third, the writer's omission of Solomon's downfall due to intermarriage with pagan women (1 Kin. 11:1–40; Neh. 13:26) suggests that Chronicles may have been written before intermarriage had become a major issue in the community following the exile in Babylon.

The majority of interpreters have dated Chronicles during or shortly after the ministries of Ezra and Nehemiah, in the latter half of the fifth century or the early decades of the fourth century B.C. It is reasonable to locate the book during the period from about the time of Zerubbabel to soon after the ministries of Ezra and Nehemiah. The major themes of the book fit well within these boundaries (between 515 and 400 B.C.).

The Chronicler wrote for historical and theological reasons. His extensive use of historical documents and devotion to numerical and chronological details (e.g., 1 Chr. 5:18; 2 Chr. 14:1, 9; 16:1, 12, 13) indicate that he intended to give his readers an accurate historical record. But he did not merely offer information about the past; he also wrote to convey a relevant theological message. Comparing the Chronicles with Samuel and Kings reveals that this account of Israel's past is shaped to address the needs of the community recently returned from Babylonian exile. It was written to encourage and guide the readers as they sought the full restoration of the kingdom.

The people who had returned from the exile faced many difficulties. The restoration had not brought about the dramatic changes for which many had hoped. Instead, they had to endure discouraging economic hardship, foreign opposition, and internal conflict. These difficulties raised many questions. Who are the legitimate heirs to the promises God gave His people? What political and religious institutions should be embraced? Was there hope for a new Davidic king? The historian who wrote Chronicles addressed these and similar questions.

Characteristics and Themes The theological message of Chronicles may be summarized in many ways, but three concerns are prominent. These are the people of God, the king and temple, and divine blessing and judgment.

First, the people of God. Throughout his history the writer identifies the people who should be counted as heirs of God's covenant promises. The prominence of this theme appears in his frequent use of the expression "all Israel" (1 Chr. 11:1; 2 Chr. 10:1; 29:24). On the one hand, the author considered those who had been released from Babylonian exile to be the people of God. Representatives of Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasseh, who had returned to the land were the chosen people (1 Chr. 9:3 note). On the other hand, the author considered the restoration of Israel to be incomplete as long as any of the tribes remained outside the land, separated from the Davidic king and the Jerusalem temple. As a result, the Chronicler is careful to include both the northern and southern tribes in his genealogies (2:3—9:1), to present the picture of the united monarchy under David and Solomon extending to all the people (11:1 note), and to depict the reunification of the northern and southern kingdoms in the days of Hezekiah. The returned exiles were the remnant of God's people, but they looked forward to the restoration of all the people of God. As Hezekiah put it, "For if you return to the LORD, your brethren and your children will be treated with compassion by those who lead them captive, so that they may come back to this land; for the LORD your God is gracious and merciful" (2 Chr. 30:9).

Second, the king and temple. Chronicles presents the people of God as organized around two central institutions, the Davidic throne and the Jerusalem temple. The genealogies give special attention to David's lineage (1 Chr. 2:10–17; ch. 3) and to the organization of priests and Levites (1 Chr. 6). David's line had been chosen by God as the permanent dynasty over the nation (1 Chr. 17; 2 Chr. 13:5; 21:7; 23:3), and the establishment of David's throne was a demonstration of divine love and blessing for Israel (1 Chr. 14:2; 2 Chr. 2:11). The historian also focuses on the temple as the place where God's name resides (2 Chr. 7:12, 16; 33:7). The joy and splendor of music in temple worship is revealed (6:31–47; 9:15–16, 33; 13:8; 15:16–24, 28; 23:5; ch. 25; 2 Chr. 5:1–13; 7:6; 23:13; 29:25–30; 34:12; and notes).

The full restoration of the kingdom could not take place apart from the Davidic king and the Jerusalem temple. As the Lord said to David, "I will set up your seed after you, who will be of your sons; and I will establish his kingdom. He shall build Me a house, and I will establish his throne forever" (1 Chr. 17:11, 12).

The third concern is divine blessing and judgment. The author shows his readers how to receive God's blessings in their day. He stresses the close connection between fidelity and blessing, infidelity and judgment (1 Chr. 28:9; 2 Chr. 6:14; 7:2–22; 15:2; 16:7–9; 21:12–15; 24:20; 28:9; 34:24–28). The king and the temple could not in themselves secure God's blessing for Israel; there had to be obedience to the Mosaic law and to prophetic and priestly instruction. The Lord blessed those who upheld the purity of temple worship and relied on Him alone (1 Chr. 5:20; 2 Chr. 13:18; 14:7; 32:20, 21). When the people or the kings turned to sin, an immediate retribution of illness and military defeat often followed (1 Chr. 10; 2 Chr. 13:1–16; 16:12; 28:1–5; 33:1–11). Even so, the people could be restored to blessing by seeking God in repentance and prayer (1 Chr. 21:1—22:1; 2 Chr. 7:13–15; 12:1–12; 33:10–13). The Chronicler shows that the full restoration of God's people would come only as they lived in fidelity to the Lord. Azariah says it well: "If you seek Him, He will be found by you; but if you forsake Him, He will forsake you" (2 Chr. 15:2).

The book's treatment of the people of God, the kingship and temple, and divine blessing and judgment, has immediate reference to the Jewish community in reconstruction following the Babylonian exile. The New Testament reveals that the kingdom will ultimately be restored in Christ, the promised Son of David.

The book's concept of the people of God becomes a reality in Christ. Like the community of the restoration, those who follow Christ are the heirs of Israel's promises (Gal. 3:14, 29; 4:28; Eph. 2:11–22; 3:6). The church extends beyond Israel to include the Gentiles (Luke 2:32; Acts 9:15; 11:1, 18), and in the end all of God's elect "the Israel of God" (Gal. 6:16), will be united under the lordship of Christ.

The hope for David's throne to be restored was fulfilled in Christ. He was born the Son of David, the heir to the Davidic covenant (Luke 1:32; Rom. 1:3; Rev. 22:16). Christ met all the conditions of obedience placed on David's line (Rom. 5:19; Phil. 2:8; Heb. 5:7–10). In the Resurrection, Christ took His throne in heaven (Acts 2:33–35; Eph. 1:20–23; Phil. 2:9; Rev. 3:21), from which He leads His people into blessing and victory (Rom. 8:37; Eph. 4:7–13). He will reign until all His enemies are defeated (1 Cor. 15:24–26).

The purposes of the temple are fulfilled in Christ. Christ was Himself the perfect sacrifice for sin (Heb. 9:11–28; 1 Pet. 3:18; 1 John 2:2). He mediates our prayers and intercedes on our behalf in heaven (Heb. 3:1; 4:14–16; 6:20; 7:26; 8:1). As our High Priest and Captain, He will bring all His people into the presence of God (John 14:1–4; 1 Thess. 4:16–17).

Finally, the book's revelation of divine blessing and judgment is realized in Christ. Jesus bore the judgment of God on sin and set His people free to follow the path of obedience (Rom. 3:21–26). He gives His people new life and makes them citizens of God's kingdom (John 3:16; Phil. 3:20).

As the outline below indicates, the book may be divided into four sections. Each part contributes specific elements to the overall theological purpose. The first concerns genealogies and is discussed below. The united monarchy, its division, and its reunion, are discussed in the Introduction to 2 Chronicles.

Genealogies in the Ancient Near East had a variety of forms and functions. Some of the passages in Chronicles trace a single family line through many generations (2:34–41). Others sketch several family lines together (6:1–3). The genealogies sometimes skip generations without notice, emphasizing significant persons and events (6:4–15). Ancient genealogies often included brief narratives highlighting important events, and the writer of Chronicles pauses on occasion to tell a story (1 Chr. 4:9–10; 5:18–22).

Ancient genealogies set out not only family relations, but political, geographical, and social connections. The Chronicles contain an assortment of lists, including families (e.g., 1 Chr. 3:17–24), political relations (e.g., 1 Chr. 2:24, 42, 45, 49–52), and trade guilds (e.g., 1 Chr. 4:14, 21–23).

An essential purpose of the extensive genealogies is to establish that the returned exiles are the legitimate continuation of God's elect people. The writer works this out by reporting the election of Israel from all peoples (1 Chr. 1:2—2:2), the arrangement of the tribes of Israel (1 Chr. 2:3—9:1), and the representation of the tribes that returned from Babylon (1 Chr. 9:16–34).

The genealogies focus on the order of the tribes of Israel, especially the role of the families of David and Levi. If the people were to receive the blessings of God, they must observe carefully the divinely ordained arrangements. Their responsibility for obeying is established by their designation as God's elect people.

The Book of Chronicles, now in two parts as 1 and 2 Chronicles, was originally without title. The words of its traditional Hebrew name appear often in the books of Kings as part of longer phrases (e.g., 1 Kin. 14:29), and in other places by themselves (Neh. 12:23; Esth. 2:23; 6:1). Jerome in the fourth century, and Luther in the sixteenth, called the book "The Chronicle of the Entire Sacred History." The modern English title is from this tradition. □

The Family of Adam—Seth to Abraham

ADAM,[a] [b]Seth, Enosh, [2]Cainan, Mahalalel, Jared, [3]Enoch, Methuselah, Lamech, [4][c]Noah,[1] Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

[5][d]The sons of Japheth were Gomer, Magog, Madai, Javan, Tubal, Meshech, and Tiras. [6]The sons of Gomer were Ashkenaz, [2]Diphath, and Togarmah. [7]The sons of Javan were Elishah, [3]Tarshishah, Kittim, and [4]Rodanim.

[8][e]The sons of Ham were Cush, Mizraim, Put, and Canaan. [9]The sons of Cush were Seba, Havilah, [5]Sabta, [6]Raama, and Sabtecha. The sons of Raama were Sheba and Dedan. [10]Cush [f]begot Nimrod; he began to be a mighty one on the earth. [11]Mizraim begot Ludim, Anamim, Lehabim, Naphtuhim, [12]Pathrusim, Casluhim (from whom came the Philistines and the [g]Caphtorim). [13][h]Canaan begot Sidon, his firstborn, and Heth; [14]the Jebusite, the Amorite, and the Girgashite; [15]the Hivite, the Arkite, and the Sinite; [16]the Arvadite, the Zemarite, and the Hamathite.

[17]The sons of [i]Shem were Elam, Asshur, [j]Arphaxad, Lud, Aram, Uz, Hul, Gether, and [7]Meshech. [18]Arphaxad begot Shelah, and Shelah begot Eber. [19]To Eber were born two sons: the name of one was [8]Peleg, for in his days the [9]earth was divided; and his brother's name was Joktan. [20][k]Joktan begot Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, Jerah, [21]Hadoram, Uzal, Diklah, [22][l]Ebal, Abimael, Sheba, [23]Ophir, Havilah, and Jobab. All these were the sons of Joktan.

[24][l]Shem, Arphaxad, Shelah, [25][m]Eber, Peleg, Reu, [26]Serug, Nahor, Terah, [27]and [n]Abram, who is Abraham. [28][o]The sons of Abraham were [p]Isaac and [q]Ishmael.

The Family of Ishmael

[29]These are their genealogies: The [r]firstborn of Ishmael was Nebajoth; then Kedar, Adbeel, Mibsam, [30]Mishma, Dumah, Massa, [2]Hadad, Tema, [31]Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah. These were the sons of Ishmael.

The Family of Keturah

[32]Now [s]the sons born to Keturah, Abraham's concubine, were Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah. The sons of Jokshan were Sheba and Dedan. [33]The sons of Midian were Ephah, Epher, Hanoch, Abida, and Eldaah. All these were the children of Keturah.

The Family of Isaac

[34]And [t]Abraham begot Isaac. [u]The sons of Isaac were Esau and Israel. [35]The sons of [v]Esau were Eliphaz, Reuel, Jeush, Jaalam, and Korah. [36]And the sons of Eliphaz were Teman, Omar, [3]Zephi, Gatam, and Kenaz; and by [w]Timna, Amalek. [37]The sons of Reuel were Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah.

29 [r]Gen. 25:13–16

■ 1:1—9:34 The writer establishes the election and arrangement of the people of God from the beginning of history until the return of Judah from the Babylonian exile of the sixth century B.C. This election is the basis of the privileges and responsibilities of the readers as the continuing people of God.

■ 1:4–27 Beginning with Noah, the account shows how God chose some nations over others. The sons of Noah are treated separately: Japheth (1:5–7), Ham (1:8–16), and Shem (1:17–27). Relying selectively on Gen. 10:1–32 (Gen. 10 note), the Chronicler places the chosen line last. From the descendants of Noah, the Shemites (Semitic peoples) alone were in special covenant relationship with God.

■ 1:5 sons. In ancient Near Eastern genealogies, the terms "sons" and "fathers" are often used literally. But they may be used more loosely, referring to relatively distant family relations or other social or geographical connections. Here "sons" points to cultural and geographical relationships. Compare the geographical focus of 2:42–55; 4:1–23; 28:43; 6:54–81; 7:20–29; 9:2; 11:10–47.

■ 1:8 sons of Ham. More attention is given to the Hamites than the Japhethites because Israel had more dealings with them. The list begins with all four sons of Ham, but records only the descendants of Cush, Mizraim, and Canaan. "Cush" is the Hebrew for "Ethiopia," meaning the remote areas south of Egypt. "Mizraim" means "Egypt."

■ 1:17 sons of Shem. Divine election narrows within the Shemites to Abraham's family. The writer follows Gen. 10:21–31 closely and adds a brief summary of Gen. 11:10–27 to extend the genealogy to Abraham.

■ 1:28 Abraham. The plan of sovereign election is shown in the descendants of Abraham. As before, the writer deals first with those not chosen (1:29–33) and then with the chosen line in Isaac (1:34—2:2).

■ 1:31 sons of Ishmael. Following Genesis, the account distinguishes Ishmael's descendants from the covenant line.

Ishmael. He was promised great blessings from God (Gen. 16:11, 12), but he was not the heir of the covenant of grace God made with Abraham (Gen. 17:18–21).

■ 1:32 sons born to Keturah. See note on Gen. 25:1–4. Abraham's descendants through Keturah were not from the line of promise in Isaac.

■ 1:34 sons of Isaac. That is, Esau and Jacob. See Gen. 25:27–34; 27:1–40.

■ 1:35 sons of Esau. See Gen. 36:10–43.

The Family of Seir

38 [x]The sons of Seir were Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan. 39 And the sons of Lotan were Hori and [4]Homam; Lotan's sister was Timna. 40 The sons of Shobal were [5]Alian, Manahath, Ebal, [6]Shephi, and Onam. The sons of Zibeon were Ajah and Anah. 41 The son of Anah was [y]Dishon. The sons of Dishon were [7]Hamran, Eshban, Ithran, and Cheran. 42 The sons of Ezer were Bilhan, Zaavan, and [8]Jaakan. The sons of Dishan were Uz and Aran.

The Kings of Edom

43 Now these were the [z]kings who reigned in the land of Edom before a king reigned over the children of Israel: Bela the son of Beor, and the name of his city was Dinhabah. 44 And when Bela died, Jobab the son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his place. 45 When Jobab died, Husham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his place. 46 And when Husham died, Hadad the son of Bedad, who [9]attacked Midian in the field of Moab, reigned in his place. The name of his city was Avith. 47 When Hadad died, Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his place. 48 [a]And when Samlah died, Saul of Rehoboth-by-the-River reigned in his place. 49 When Saul died, Baal-Hanan the son of Achbor reigned in his place. 50 And when Baal-Hanan died, [1]Hadad reigned in his place; and the name of his city was [2]Pai. His wife's name was Mehetabel the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab. 51 Hadad died also. And the chiefs of Edom were Chief Timnah, Chief [3]Aliah, Chief Jetheth, 52 Chief Aholibamah, Chief Elah, Chief Pinon, 53 Chief Kenaz, Chief Teman, Chief Mibzar, 54 Chief Magdiel, and Chief Iram. These were the chiefs of Edom.

The Family of Israel

2 These were the [a]sons of [1]Israel: [b]Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Zebulun, 2 Dan, Joseph, Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher.

From Judah to David

3 The sons of [c]Judah were Er, Onan, and Shelah. These three were born to him by the daughter of [d]Shua, the Canaanitess. [e]Er, the firstborn of Judah, was wicked in the sight of the LORD; so He killed him. 4 And [f]Tamar, his daughter-in-law, [g]bore him Perez and Zerah. All the sons of Judah were five.

5 The sons of [h]Perez were Hezron and Hamul. 6 The sons of Zerah were [2]Zimri, [i]Ethan, Heman, Calcol, and [3]Dara—five of them in all.

7 The son of [j]Carmi was [4]Achar, the troubler of Israel, who transgressed in the [k]accursed[5] thing.

8 The son of Ethan was Azariah.

9 Also the sons of Hezron who were born to him were Jerahmeel, [6]Ram, and [7]Chelubai. 10 Ram [l]begot Amminadab, and Amminadab begot Nahshon, [m]leader of the children of Judah; 11 Nahshon begot [8]Salma, and Salma begot Boaz; 12 Boaz begot Obed, and Obed begot Jesse; 13 [n]Jesse begot Eliab his firstborn, Abinadab the second, [9]Shimea the third, 14 Nethanel the fourth, Raddai the fifth, 15 Ozem the sixth, and David the [o]seventh.

16 Now their sisters were Zeruiah and Abigail. [p]And the sons of Zeruiah were Abishai, Joab, and Asahel—three. 17 Abigail bore Amasa; and the father of Amasa was [1]Jether the Ishmaelite.

■ 2:1 sons of Israel. This list follows Gen. 35:23–26 except for the position of Dan.

■ 2:3—9:1 The writer has presented the twelve tribes of Israel as the goal of divine election. Now he describes the extent and order of the covenant nation, covering prominent figures in all the tribes except Dan and Zebulun. The lists involve not only people but also tribal territories. This is suggestive of a hope that the community of those returned from exile would eventually grow to include all the tribes and their territories (1:5 note).

■ 2:3—4:23 Judah is placed first, a departure from the order of names announced in 2:1, 2. The priority of Judah reflects the importance of the throne of David for the hope of the returned exiles.

■ 2:3–9 sons of Judah. These were Er, Onan, Shelah (by a Canaanite woman, Gen. 38:2), Perez, and Zerah (by Tamar, Judah's daughter-in-law, Gen. 38:11–30). Perez and Hezron were ancestors of David.

■ 2:6 Ethan, Heman, Calcol, and Dara. These are traditional wise men compared with Solomon in 1 Kin. 4:31. Ethan and Heman probably should be distinguished from David's musicians having the same names (15:19 and Ps. 88; 89).

■ 2:7 Carmi. A son of Zimri, who is mentioned in 2:6 (Josh. 7:1).

■ 2:10 Ram. Departing from the order of Hezron's sons presented in 2:9, Ram is placed first, as part of the line of David (2:3—4:23 note). This genealogical information is probably from the Book of Ruth (Ruth 4:18–22).

■ 2:15 David the seventh. According to 1 Sam. 17:12–14, David was Jesse's eighth son. Elihu is omitted here, although he is mentioned in 27:18. Perhaps Elihu is omitted because he had no children.

The Family of Hezron

18 Caleb the son of Hezron had children by Azubah, his wife, and by Jerioth. Now these were her sons: Jesher, Shobab, and Ardon. 19 When Azubah died, Caleb [2]took [q]Ephrath[3] as his wife, who bore him Hur. 20 And Hur begot Uri, and Uri begot [r]Bezalel.

21 Now afterward Hezron went in to the daughter of [s]Machir the father of Gilead, whom he married when he was sixty years old; and she bore him Segub. 22 Segub begot [t]Jair,[4] who had twenty-three cities in the land of Gilead. 23 [u](Geshur and Syria took from them the towns of Jair, with Kenath and its towns—sixty towns.) All these belonged to the sons of Machir the father of Gilead. 24 After Hezron died in Caleb Ephrathah, Hezron's wife Abijah bore him [v]Ashhur the father of Tekoa.

The Family of Jerahmeel

25 The sons of Jerahmeel, the firstborn of Hezron, were Ram, the firstborn, and Bunah, Oren, Ozem, and Ahijah. 26 Jerahmeel had another wife, whose name was Atarah; she was the mother of Onam. 27 The sons of Ram, the firstborn of Jerahmeel, were Maaz, Jamin, and Eker. 28 The sons of Onam were Shammai and Jada. The sons of Shammai were Nadab and Abishur.

29 And the name of the wife of Abishur was Abihail, and she bore him Ahban and Molid.
30 The sons of Nadab were Seled and Appaim; Seled died without children. 31 The son of Appaim was Ishi, the son of Ishi was Sheshan, and [w]Sheshan's son was Ahlai. 32 The sons of Jada, the brother of Shammai, were Jether and Jonathan; Jether died without children. 33 The sons of Jonathan were Peleth and Zaza. These were the sons of Jerahmeel.

34 Now Sheshan had no sons, only daughters. And Sheshan had an Egyptian servant whose name was Jarha. 35 Sheshan gave his daughter to Jarha his servant as wife, and she bore him At-
tai. 36 Attai begot Nathan, and Nathan begot [x]Zabad; 37 Zabad begot Ephlal, and Ephlal begot [y]Obed; 38 Obed begot Jehu, and Jehu begot Azariah; 39 Azariah begot Helez, and Helez begot Eleasah; 40 Eleasah begot Sismai, and Sismai begot Shallum; 41 Shallum begot Jekamiah, and Jekamiah begot Elishama.

The Family of Caleb

42 The descendants of Caleb the brother of Jerahmeel were Mesha, his firstborn, who was the father of Ziph, and the sons of Mareshah the father of Hebron. 43 The sons of Hebron were Ko-rah, Tappuah, Rekem, and Shema. 44 Shema begot Raham the father of Jorkoam, and Rekem begot Shammai. 45 And the son of Shammai was Maon, and Maon was the father of Beth Zur.

46 Ephah, Caleb's concubine, bore Haran, Moza, and Gazez; and Haran begot Gazez. 47 And the sons of Jahdai were Regem, Jotham, Geshan, Pelet, Ephah, and Shaaph.

48 Maachah, Caleb's concubine, bore Sheber and Tirhanah. 49 She also bore Shaaph the father of Madmannah, Sheva the father of Machbenah and the father of Gibea. And the daughter of Caleb was [z]Achsah.[5]

50 These were the descendants of Caleb: The sons of [a]Hur, the firstborn of [6]Ephrathah, were Shobal the father of [b]Kirjath Jearim, 51 Salma the father of Bethlehem, and Hareph the father of Beth Gader.

52 And Shobal the father of Kirjath Jearim had descendants: [7]Haroeh, and half of the [8]families of Manuhoth. 53 The families of Kirjath Jearim were the Ithrites, the Puthites, the Shumathites, and the Mishraites. From these came the Zorathites and the Eshtaolites.

54 The sons of Salma were Bethlehem, the Netophathites, [9]Atroth Beth Joab, half of the Ma-nahethites, and the Zorites.

■ 2:18–24 This Caleb is not "Caleb the son of Jephunneh" (Num. 13:6; 1 Chr. 4:15), but "Chelubai" (v. 9).

■ 2:20 Bezalel. The line of Ram (v. 10) leads to Jesse, David's father, and the line of Caleb leads to Bezalel, supervisor of the tabernacle construction in the days of Moses (Ex. 31:1–5; 35:30—36:7). The proximity of the royal family (2:10–17) to the family of Bezalel reflects the association of the throne of David with temple worship following the exile (6:1 note).

■ 2:25 Jerahmeel. This is the only place where the Bible gives genealogical information about the family of Jerahmeel, who lived in southern Judah (1 Sam. 27:10; 30:27–29).

■ 2:34 Sheshan. This additional information about the family of Jerahmeel concentrates on the line from Sheshan 2:31) to Elishama (2:41). It is possible that Elishama was a contemporary of David (the twenty-third generation of Judah), but he may have been the scribe of King Jehoiakim (Jer. 36:12, 20).

■ 2:42 father of Ziph . . . father of Hebron. When the word "father" is associated with the name of a town or village, it probably means "founder" or "head" (1:5 note). The inclusion of settlements lying outside the control of the community would encourage readers of the time to consider regaining all the territories once occupied by the people of God (2:3—9:1 note).

55 And the families of the scribes who dwelt at Jabez were the Tirathites, the Shimeathites, and the Suchathites. These were the [c]Kenites who came from Hammath, the father of the house of [d]Rechab.

4 These six were born to him in Hebron. [h]There he reigned seven years and six months, and [i]in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years. 5 [j]And these were born to him in Jerusalem: [2]Shimea, Shobab, Nathan, and [k]Solomon—four by [3]Bathshua the daughter of [4]Ammiel. 6 Also there were Ibhar, [5]Elishama, [6]Eliphelet, 7 Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, 8 Elishama, [7]Eliada, and Eliphelet—[l]nine in all. 9 These were all the sons of David, besides the sons of the concubines, and [m]Tamar their sister.

The Family of Solomon

10 Solomon's son was [n]Rehoboam; [8]Abijah was his son, Asa his son, Jehoshaphat his son, 11 [9]Joram his son, [1]Ahaziah his son, [2]Joash his son, 12 Amaziah his son, [3]Azariah his son, Jotham his son, 13 Ahaz his son, Hezekiah his son, Manasseh his son, 14 Amon his son, and Josiah his son. 15 The sons of Josiah were Johanan the firstborn, the second [4]Jehoiakim, the third Zedekiah, and the fourth [5]Shallum. 16 The sons of [o]Jehoiakim were [6]Jeconiah his son and [7]Zedekiah his son.

The Family of Jeconiah

17 And the sons of [8]Jeconiah [9]were Assir, Shealtiel [p]his son, 18 and Malchiram, Pedaiah, Shenazzar, Jecamiah, Hoshama, and Nedabiah. 19 The sons of Pedaiah were Zerubbabel and Shimei. The sons of Zerubbabel were Meshullam, Hananiah, Shelomith their sister, 20 and Hashubah, Ohel, Berechiah, Hasadiah, and Jushab-Hesed—five in all.

21 The sons of Hananiah were Pelatiah and Jeshaiah, the sons of Rephaiah, the sons of Arnan, the sons of Obadiah, and the sons of Shechaniah. 22 The son of Shechaniah was Shemaiah. The sons of Shemaiah were [q]Hattush, Igal, Bariah, Neariah, and Shaphat—six in all. 23 The sons of Neariah were Elioenai, Hezekiah, and Azrikam—three in all. 24 The sons of Elioenai were Hodaviah, Eliashib, Pelaiah, Akkub, Johanan, Delaiah, and Anani—seven in all.

■ 2:55 Kenites. These were foreigners related by marriage to Moses and adopted by Judah (Judg. 1:16; 4:11). They are included as legitimate members of the people of God.

■ 3:1 sons of David. This material on the line of Ram, David's ancestor (2:3—4:23 note), shows that Zerubbabel (3:19) is the legitimate heir of the Davidic line. The record of David's family covers his children born in Hebron and Jerusalem (3:1–9); Solomon's descendants (3:10–16); and the descendants of Jehoiachin (3:17–24). The list of these sons is from 2 Sam. 3:2–5; 5:13–16; 13:1.

■ 3:10 Solomon's son. David's other sons are passed over to focus on Solomon, the chosen descendant. The royal line moves unchallenged from David to Solomon (23:1 note). Azariah (3:12) is the same person later called Uzziah (2 Chr. 26:1 note).

■ 3:15 sons of Josiah. Josiah's firstborn, Johanan (otherwise unknown), did not succeed him. Shallum (Jehoahaz) followed Josiah (2 Chr. 36:1, 2; 2 Kin. 23:30, 31). Pharaoh Necho removed Shallum from power and replaced him with his brother, Eliakim (Jehoiakim, 2 Chr. 36:3, 4; 2 Kin. 23:32–34). Jehoiakim was succeeded by his son Jehoiachin (2 Chr. 36:9, 10; 2 Kin. 24:8–16), but Nebuchadnezzar replaced Jehoiachin with Josiah's third son Zedekiah (2 Chr. 36:10–14; 2 Kin. 24:18–20).

■ 3:17 Jeconiah. Also called Jehoiachin or Coniah (text note). The prophet Jeremiah, whose life and words were known to the writer (2 Chr. 35:25; 36:12, 21, 22), announced that God would remove Jeconiah's family from the throne (Jer. 22:30 note). In His mercy, however, God withdrew this curse and established Jeconiah's line once again. Jeconiah was released from prison in Babylon (2 Kin. 25:27–30). Sheshbazzar (spelled Shenazzar in 3:18) brought temple treasures back to Judah (Ezra 1:11; 5:14–16). Zerubbabel (3:19) was governor over the restored community following the exile in Babylon and rebuilt the temple (Ezra 3:1–13). God declared Zerubbabel His "signet ring" (Hag. 2:23), reversing the curse on Jeconiah (Jer. 22:24). Zerubbabel never became king, but his line represented the royal hopes of the community. Both Matthew (Matt. 1:12, 13) and Luke (Luke 3:27) identify Jesus, the supreme King, with this lineage.

■ 3:19 Pedaiah . . . Zerubbabel. Zerubbabel is called the son of Shealtiel (3:17) elsewhere (Ezra 3:2, 8; Neh. 12:1; Hag. 1:12, 14; 2:2, 23; Matt. 1:12; Luke 3:27). This may mean that Zerubbabel succeeded Pedaiah. Alternatively, Pedaiah may have become the head of the family at Shealtiel's death, adopting Zerubbabel as his own.

■ 3:21 sons of Rephaiah . . . Shechaniah. Probably not descendants of Zerubbabel, but other Davidic families contemporary with Zerubbabel. If this is correct, the genealogy goes only two generations beyond Zerubbabel (Introduction: Date and Occasion).

■ 3:22 six in all. The verse mentions only five. One name may have been lost as the text was copied later. It is also possible that "six" includes Shemaiah with the five sons as the descendants of Shechaniah.

The Family of Judah

4 The sons of Judah were [a]Perez, Hezron, [1]Carmi, Hur, and Shobal. 2 And [2]Reaiah the son of Shobal begot Jahath, and Jahath begot Ahumai and Lahad. These were the families of the Zorathites. 3 These were the sons of the father of Etam: Jezreel, Ishma, and Idbash; and the name of their sister was Hazelelponi; 4 and Penuel was the father of Gedor, and Ezer was the father of Hushah.

These were the sons of [b]Hur, the firstborn of Ephrathah the father of Bethlehem.

5 And [c]Ashhur the father of Tekoa had two wives, Helah and Naarah. 6 Naarah bore him Ahuzzam, Hepher, Temeni, and Haahashtari. These were the sons of Naarah. 7 The sons of Helah were Zereth, Zohar, and Ethnan; 8 and Koz begot Anub, Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel the son of Harum.

9 Now Jabez was [d]more honorable than his brothers, and his mother called his name [3]Jabez, saying, "Because I bore him in pain." 10 And Jabez called on the God of Israel saying, "Oh, that You would bless me indeed, and enlarge my [4]territory, that Your hand would be with me, and that You would keep me from evil, that I may not cause pain!" So God granted him what he requested.

11 Chelub the brother of [e]Shuhah begot Mehir, who was the father of Eshton. 12 And Eshton begot Beth-Rapha, Paseah, and Tehinnah the father of [5]Ir-Nahash. These were the men of Rechah.

13 The sons of Kenaz were [f]Othniel and Seraiah. The sons of Othniel were [6]Hathath, 14 and Meonothai who begot Ophrah. Seraiah begot Joab the father of [g]Ge Harashim,[7] for they were craftsmen. 15 The sons of [h]Caleb the son of Jephunneh were Iru, Elah, and Naam. The son of Elah was [8]Kenaz. 16 The sons of Jehallelel were Ziph, Ziphah, Tiria, and Asarel. 17 The sons of Ezrah were Jether, Mered, Epher, and Jalon. And [9]Mered's wife bore Miriam, Shammai, and Ishbah the father of Eshtemoa. 18 ([1]His wife Jehudijah bore Jered the father of Gedor, Heber the father of Sochoh, and Jekuthiel the father of Zanoah.) And these were the sons of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered took.

19 The sons of Hodiah's wife, the sister of Naham, were the fathers of Keilah the Garmite and of Eshtemoa the [i]Maachathite. 20 And the sons of Shimon were Amnon, Rinnah, Ben-Hanan, and Tilon. And the sons of Ishi were Zoheth and Ben-Zoheth.

21 The sons of [j]Shelah [k]the son of Judah were Er the father of Lecah, Laadah the father of Mareshah, and the families of the house of the linen workers of the house of Ashbea; 22 also Jokim, the men of Chozeba, and Joash; Saraph, who ruled in Moab, and Jashubi-Lehem. Now the [2]records are ancient. 23 These were the potters and those who dwell at [3]Netaim and [4]Gederah; there they dwelt with the king for his work.

The Family of Simeon

24 The [l]sons of Simeon were [5]Nemuel, Jamin, [6]Jarib, [7]Zerah, and Shaul, 25 Shallum his son, Mibsam his son, and Mishma his son. 26 And the sons of Mishma were Hamuel his son, Zacchur his son, and Shimei his son. 27 Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters; but his brothers did not have many children, [m]nor did any of their families multiply as much as the children of Judah.

28 They dwelt at Beersheba, Moladah, Hazar Shual, 29 [8]Bilhah, Ezem, [9]Tolad, 30 Bethuel, Hormah, Ziklag, 31 Beth Marcaboth, [1]Hazar Susim, Beth Biri, and at Shaaraim. These were their cities until the reign of David. 32 And their villages were [2]Etam, Ain, Rimmon, Tochen, and

■ 4:1–23 Judah. In this section, personal and clan names are mixed with place-names, some of them outside the boundaries of the territory of the returned exiles (2:42 note).

■ 4:1 Carmi. Probably this refers to Caleb (2:9). If so, the verse gives a linear genealogy from Judah to Shobal (2:4, 5, 9, 50).

■ 4:9 Jabez was more honorable. This is a brief example of extraordinary piety in the line of Judah. Blessing through prayer and trust in God is a major theme in Chronicles (1 Chr. 5:18–22; 17:16–27; 21:1—22:1; 2 Chr. 6:12–42; 7:12–16; 13:14–16; 14:11–13; 18:31; 20:5–30; 30:18–20; 32:20–24; 33:11–13). In line with the geographical references in this chapter, the focus is on territorial expansion (1:5 note), victory, and safety through prayer (2 Chr. 6:34 note).

■ 4:13 Othniel. Israel's first judge (Josh. 15:17; Judg. 1:13; 3:9–11).

■ 4:18 Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh. Mered's marriage to Pharaoh's daughter is otherwise not recorded. It suggests a time when Israelites were prominent in Egypt, possibly during the days of Joseph.

■ 4:21–23 Shelah. Judah's oldest surviving son (2:3). The record of Shelah includes personal names, place-names, and trade guilds (linen workers, potters, and royal servants; see note on 1:5).

■ 4:24 Simeon. The tribe of Simeon was closely associated with the tribe of Judah (Josh. 19:1–9; Judg. 1:3). This material is of several types: genealogies (4:24–27, 34–38), geography (4:28–33), and historical notes on territorial expansion (4:39–43). For other genealogical records of the tribe of Simeon, see Gen. 46:10; Ex. 6:15; Num. 26:12–14.

■ 4:28 Beersheba. This list of settlements in Simeon is drawn from Josh. 19:2–8 (cf. Josh. 15:26–32, where several of these villages are given to Judah). Knowledge of territories held before the Babylonian exile would instill hopes for geographical expansion after the people returned (2:3—9:1 note).

Ashan—five cities— [33] and all the villages that were around these cities as far as [3]Baal. These were their dwelling places, and they maintained their genealogy: [34] Meshobab, Jamlech, and Joshah the son of Amaziah; [35] Joel, and Jehu the son of Joshibiah, the son of Seraiah, the son of Asiel; [36] Elioenai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel, and Benaiah; [37] Ziza the son of Shiphi, the son of Allon, the son of Jedaiah, the son of Shimri, the son of Shemaiah— [38] these mentioned by name were leaders in their families, and their father's house increased greatly.

[39] So they went to the entrance of Gedor, as far as the east side of the valley, to seek pasture for their flocks. [40] And they found rich. good pasture, and the land was broad, quiet, and peaceful; for some Hamites formerly lived there.

[41] These recorded by name came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah; and they [n]attacked[4] their tents and the Meunites who were found there, and [o]utterly destroyed them, as it is to this day. So they dwelt in their place, because there was pasture for their flocks there. [42] Now some of them, five hundred men of the sons of Simeon, went to Mount Seir, having as their captains Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah, and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi. [43] And they [5]defeated [p]the rest of the Amalekites who had escaped. They have dwelt there to this day.

The Family of Reuben

5 Now the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel—[a]he was indeed the firstborn, but because he [b]defiled his father's bed, [c]his birthright was given to the sons of Joseph, the son of Israel, so that the genealogy is not listed according to the birthright; [2] yet [d]Judah prevailed over his brothers, and from him came a [e]ruler, although [1]the birthright was Joseph's— [3] the sons of [f]Reuben the firstborn of Israel were Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi.

[4] The sons of Joel were Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, Shimei his son, [5] Micah his son, Reaiah his son, Baal his son, [6] and Beerah his son, whom [2]Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria [g]carried into captivity. He was leader of the Reubenites. [7] And his brethren by their families, [h]when the genealogy of their generations was registered: the chief, Jeiel, and Zechariah, [8] and Bela the son of Azaz, the son of Shema, the son of Joel, who dwelt in [i]Aroer, as far as Nebo and Baal Meon. [9] Eastward they settled as far as the [3]entrance of the wilderness this side of the River Euphrates, because their cattle had [4]multiplied [j]in the land of Gilead.

[10] Now in the days of Saul they made war [k]with the Hagrites, who fell by their hand; and they dwelt in their tents throughout the entire area east of Gilead.

The Family of Gad

[11] And the [l]children of Gad dwelt next to them in the land of [m]Bashan as far as [n]Salcah: [12] Joel was the chief, Shapham the next, then Jaanai and Shaphat in Bashan, [13] and their brethren of their father's house: Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jachan, Zia, and Eber—seven in all. [14] These were the children of Abihail the son of Huri, the son of Jaroah, the son of Gilead, the son of Michael, the son of Jeshishai, the son of Jahdo, the son of Buz; [15] Ahi the son of Abdiel, the son of Guni, was chief of their father's house. [16] And the Gadites dwelt in Gilead, in Bashan and in its villages, and in all the [5]common-lands of [o]Sharon within their borders. [17] All these were registered by genealogies in the days of [p]Jotham king of Judah, and in the days of [q]Jeroboam king of Israel.

[18] The sons of Reuben, the Gadites, and half the tribe of Manasseh had forty-four thousand

■ 4:34 Meshobab. The writer lists some prominent leaders from Simeon (4:34–38) and then describes how they expanded their territories in several directions (4:39–43). Neh. 11:26–29 indicates that some of these cities (Moladah, Hazar Shual, Beersheba, Ziklag, and En Rimmon) were resettled after the Babylonian exile. The point is to tell the readers how far the Promised Land extends.

■ 4:41 to this day. Also v. 43. The expression "today" or "this day" in Chronicles may refer to the writer's own time (5:26; 2 Chr. 20:26; 35:25), or it may refer to the earlier days of the sources being quoted. At times, it may even indicate the times of the sources used by the sources (13:11; 2 Chr. 5:9; 8:8; 10:19; 21:10). Sometimes the expression is an idiom for "from then on" or "in perpetuity."

■ 5:1–26 The tribes east of the Jordan River are discussed. This material is in four sections: Reuben (vv. 1–10); Gad (vv. 11–17); a brief narrative (vv. 18–22); and the half-tribe of Manasseh (vv. 23–26). The hope is that these tribes will be included in the nation after the return from exile in Babylon (2:42 note).

■ 5:1 he was indeed the firstborn. The writer explains why Reuben the firstborn is given so little prominence among the tribes. He defiled his father's bed (Gen. 35:22; 49:4) and lost his right as firstborn to the double portion of the inheritance (Deut. 21:15–17). Instead, Joseph received Reuben's double portion through his sons Ephraim and Manasseh, who were treated as separate tribes (Gen. 48:1–22).

■ 5:2 from him came a ruler. The ruler mentioned here is David, and by implication Zerubbabel, his descendant (2 Sam. 5:2; 6:21; 1 Chr. 11:2; 17:7).

■ 5:6 Tiglath-Pileser. A king of Assyria (745–727 B.C.), also called Pul (v. 26). He invaded Israel (2 Kin. 15:29) and required Ahaz to pay tribute (2 Chr. 28:21 note). See the introductions to Amos, Isaiah, Hosea, and Micah.

■ 5:8 Aroer . . . Baal Meon. This geographical information comes from Num. 32:37, 38 and Josh. 13:15–23.

■ 5:18–22 Reuben, the Gadites, and half the tribe of Manasseh.

seven hundred and sixty valiant men, men able to bear shield and sword, to shoot with the bow, and skillful in war, who went to war. 19 They made war with the Hagrites, [r]Jetur, Naphish, and Nodab. 20 And [s]they were helped against them, and the Hagrites were delivered into their hand, and all who were with them, for they [t]cried out to God in the battle. He [6]heeded their prayer, because they [u]put their trust in Him. 21 Then they took away their livestock—fifty thousand of their camels, two hundred and fifty thousand of their sheep, and two thousand of their donkeys—also one hundred thousand of their men; 22 for many fell dead, because the war [v]was God's. And they dwelt in their place until [w]the captivity.

The Family of Manasseh (East)

23 So the children of the half-tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the land. Their numbers increased from Bashan to Baal Hermon, that is, to [x]Senir, or Mount Hermon. 24 These were the heads of their fathers' houses: Epher, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah, and Jahdiel. They were mighty men of valor, famous men, and heads of their fathers' houses.

25 And they were unfaithful to the God of their fathers, and [y]played the harlot after the gods of the peoples of the land, whom God had destroyed before them. 26 So the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of [z]Pul king of Assyria, that is, [a]Tiglath-Pileser[7] king of Assyria. He carried the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh into captivity. He took them to [b]Halah, Habor, Hara, and the river of Gozan to this day.

The Family of Levi

6 The sons of Levi were [a]Gershon,[1] Kohath, and Merari. 2 The sons of Kohath were Amram, [b]Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. 3 The children of Amram were Aaron, Moses, and Miriam. And the sons of Aaron were [c]Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. 4 Eleazar begot Phinehas, and Phinehas begot Abishua; 5 Abishua begot Bukki, and Bukki begot Uzzi; 6 Uzzi begot Zerahiah, and Zerahiah begot Meraioth; 7 Meraioth begot Amariah, and Amariah begot Ahitub; 8 [d]Ahitub begot [e]Zadok, and Zadok begot Ahimaaz; 9 Ahimaaz begot Azariah, and Azariah begot Johanan; 10 Johanan begot Azariah (it was he [f]who ministered as priest in the [g]temple[2] that Solomon built in Jerusalem); 11 [h]Azariah begot [i]Amariah, and Amariah begot Ahitub; 12 Ahitub begot Zadok, and Zadok begot [3]Shallum; 13 Shallum begot Hilkiah, and Hilkiah begot Azariah; 14 Azariah begot [j]Seraiah, and Seraiah begot Jehozadak. 15 Jehozadak went into captivity [k]when the LORD carried Judah and Jerusalem into captivity by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar.

16 The sons of Levi were [l]Gershon,[4] Kohath, and Merari. 17 These are the names of the sons of Gershon: Libni and Shimei. 18 The sons of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. 19 The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. Now these are the families of the Levites according to their fathers: 20 Of Gershon were Libni his son, Jahath his son, [m]Zimmah his son, 21 [5]Joah his son, [6]Iddo his son, Zerah his son, and [7]Jeatherai his son. 22 The sons of Kohath were [8]Amminadab his son, [n]Korah his son, Assir his son, 23 Elkanah his son, Ebiasaph his son, Assir his

This brief narrative concerns all three tribes from east of the Jordan River (cf. 4:9, 10). The story illustrates the importance of prayer and reliance on God in battle, a theme appearing frequently in this history (2 Chr. 6:34 note).

■ 5:21 one hundred thousand. The Israelites overcame an army much larger than their own (v. 18; 19:7 and note).

■ 5:22 until the captivity. This remark refers to the deportation of the tribes east of the Jordan River by the Assyrians in 734 B.C. (vv. 6, 26).

■ 5:23–26 The tribes east of the Jordan River suffered exile because the infidelity of the half-tribe of Manasseh invited divine retribution. These events stand in contrast to the preceding narrative of prayer and blessing (vv. 18–22; cf. 4:9, 10).

■ 5:25 played the harlot. See note on 2 Chr. 21:11.

■ 5:26 to this day. See note on 4:41.

■ 6:1 Levi. A lengthy account of the tribe of Levi provides the background for the arrangement of the temple personnel in the restored community following the exile in Babylon. The writer connects the Davidic monarchy with temple worship in his conception of a restored people. The discussion covers people and territories (1:5; 2:3—9:1 note). The attention given to Levi reveals the importance of the temple and priesthood. If the returning exiles are to see God's blessing, then the royal family (Judah) and the temple personnel also (Levi) must carry out their proper functions (29:22 note). The material covers the priests descended from Aaron, a survey of three clans of Levi, the temple musicians appointed by David (6:31–47), and the duties of the sons of Aaron and other families. These materials provide a rationale for ordering the tribe of Levi in the period after the exile in Babylon.

■ 6:8 Zadok. See note on 15:11.

■ 6:10 Azariah. An interest in Solomon's temple arrangement as a model for the community returning from the exile explains the relevance of a comment on Azariah (1 Kin. 4:2 and Introduction: Characteristics and Themes).

■ 6:14, 15 Jehozadak. The high-priestly line is traced to Jehozadak, father of Jeshua (usually spelled Joshua), who was high priest in the early period following the exile to Babylon (Ezra 3:2; 5:2; 10:18; Hag. 1:1; 2:2; Zech. 3:1; 6:11).

son, [24] Tahath his son, Uriel his son, Uzziah his son, and Shaul his son. [25] The sons of Elkanah were [o] Amasai and Ahimoth. [26] As for Elkanah, the sons of Elkanah were [p] Zophai his son, [1] Nahath his son, [27] [2] Eliab his son, Jeroham his son, and Elkanah his son. [28] The sons of Samuel were [3] Joel the firstborn, and Abijah [4] the second. [29] The sons of Merari were Mahli, Libni his son, Shimei his son, Uzzah his son, [30] Shimea his son, Haggiah his son, and Asaiah his son.

Musicians in the House of the LORD

[31] Now these are [p] the men whom David appointed over the service of song in the house of the LORD, after the [q] ark came to rest. [32] They were ministering with music before the dwelling place of the tabernacle of meeting, until Solomon had built the house of the LORD in Jerusalem, and they served in their office according to their order.

[33] And these are the ones who [5] ministered with their sons: Of the sons of the [r] Kohathites were Heman the singer, the son of Joel, the son of Samuel, [34] the son of Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of [6] Eliel, the son of [7] Toah, [35] the son of Zuph, the son of Elkanah, the son of Mahath, the son of Amasai, [36] the son of Elkanah, the son of Joel, the son of Azariah, the son of Zephaniah, [37] the son of Tahath, the son of Assir, the son of [s] Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, [38] the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, the son of Israel. [39] And his brother [t] Asaph, who stood at his right hand, was Asaph the son of Berachiah, the son of Shimea, [40] the son of Michael, the son of Baaseiah, the son of Malchijah, [41] the son of [u] Ethni, the son of Zerah, the son of Adaiah, [42] the son of Ethan, the son of Zimmah, the son of Shimei, [43] the son of Jahath, the son of Gershon, the son of Levi.

[44] Their brethren, the sons of Merari, on the left hand, were [8] Ethan the son of [9] Kishi, the son of Abdi, the son of Malluch, [45] the son of Hashabiah, the son of Amaziah, the son of Hilkiah, [46] the son of Amzi, the son of Bani, the son of Shamer, [47] the son of Mahli, the son of Mushi, the son of Merari, the son of Levi.

[48] And their brethren, the Levites, were appointed to every [v] kind of service of the tabernacle of the house of God.

The Family of Aaron

[49] [w] But Aaron and his sons offered sacrifices [x] on the altar of burnt offering and [y] on the altar of incense, for all the work of the Most Holy Place, and to make atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of God had commanded. [50] Now these are the [z] sons of Aaron: Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son, Abishua his son, [51] Bukki his son, Uzzi his son, Zerahiah his son, [52] Meraioth his son, Amariah his son, Ahitub his son, [53] Zadok his son, and Ahimaaz his son.

Dwelling Places of the Levites

[54] [a] Now these are their dwelling places throughout their settlements in their territory, for they were given by lot to the sons of Aaron, of the family of the Kohathites: [55] [b] They gave them Hebron in the land of Judah, with its surrounding [1] common-lands. [56] [c] But the fields of the city and its villages they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh. [57] And [d] to the sons of Aaron they gave one of the cities of refuge, Hebron; also Libnah with its common-lands, Jattir, Eshtemoa with its common-lands, [58] [2] Hilen with its common-lands, Debir with its common-lands, [59] [3] Ashan with its common-lands, and Beth Shemesh with its common-lands. [60] And from the tribe of Benjamin: Geba with its common-lands, [4] Alemeth with its common-lands, and Anathoth with its common-lands. All their cities among their families were thirteen.

[61] [e] To the rest of the family of the tribe of the Kohathites they gave [f] by lot ten cities from half the tribe of Manasseh. [62] And to the sons of Gershon, throughout their families, they gave thirteen cities from the tribe of Issachar, from the tribe of Asher, from the tribe of Naphtali, and from the tribe of Manasseh in Bashan. [63] To the sons of Merari, throughout their families, they gave [g] twelve cities from the tribe of Reuben, from the tribe of Gad, and from the tribe of Zebu-

■ 6:26, 27 Zophai . . . Nahath . . . Eliab. Probably alternative names for Zuph, Toah, and Eliel (vv. 34, 35).

■ 6:27, 28 Elkanah . . . Samuel. 1 Sam. 1:1 traces Elkanah and his ancestors back to Zophia (Zuph) as Ephraimites. This designation may have indicated the location of his home, not his tribe (1 Sam. 1:1 note).

■ 6:31 David appointed. David appointed groups from each of the three clans of Levi as musicians (15:16–26; 2 Chr. 35:3): the family of Heman from Kohath (vv. 33–38), the family of Asaph from Gershon (vv. 39–43), and the family of Ethan from Merari (vv. 44–47). The importance of music in worship is stressed (15:16 note), and what is said also gives a basis for the functions of these clans in the period following the exile in Babylon.

■ 6:49 all that Moses . . . had commanded. See note on 16:40.

■ 6:53 Zadok. Discussion of the Levitical families concludes with the exclusive right of the Zadokites to offer sacrifices because of their direct descent from Aaron. There may have been some controversy about this among the Levitical families at the time of writing (15:11 note).

■ 6:60 common-lands. Areas of countryside used for pasture.

lun. 64 So the children of Israel gave these cities with their [5]common-lands to the Levites. 65 And they gave by lot from the tribe of the children of Judah, from the tribe of the children of Simeon, and from the tribe of the children of Benjamin these cities which are called by their names.

66 Now [h]some of the families of the sons of Kohath were given cities as their territory from the tribe of Ephraim. 67 [i]And they gave them one of the cities of refuge, Shechem with its common-lands, in the mountains of Ephraim, also Gezer with its common-lands, 68 [j]Jokmeam with its common-lands, Beth Horon with its common-lands, 69 Aijalon with its common-lands, and Gath Rimmon with its common-lands. 70 And from the half-tribe of Manasseh: Aner with its common-lands and Bileam with its common-lands, for the rest of the family of the sons of Kohath.

71 From the family of the half-tribe of Manasseh the sons of Gershon were given Golan in Bashan with its common-lands and [6]Ashtaroth with its common-lands. 72 And from the tribe of Issachar: [7]Kedesh with its common-lands, Daberath with its common-lands, 73 Ramoth with its common-lands, and Anem with its common-lands. 74 And from the tribe of Asher: Mashal with its common-lands, Abdon with its common-lands, 75 Hukok with its common-lands, and Rehob with its common-lands. 76 And from the tribe of Naphtali: Kedesh in Galilee with its common-lands, Hammon with its common-lands, and Kirjathaim with its common-lands.

77 From the tribe of Zebulun the rest of the children of Merari were given [8]Rimmon with its common-lands and Tabor with its common-lands. 78 And on the other side of the Jordan, across from Jericho, on the east side of the Jordan, they were given from the tribe of Reuben: Bezer in the wilderness with its common-lands, Jahzah with its common-lands, 79 Kedemoth with its common-lands, and Mephaath with its common-lands. 80 And from the tribe of Gad: Ramoth in Gilead with its common-lands, Mahanaim with its common-lands, 81 Heshbon with its common-lands, and Jazer with its common-lands.

The Family of Issachar

7 The sons of Issachar were [a]Tola, [1]Puah, [2]Jashub, and Shimron—four in all. 2 The sons of Tola were Uzzi, Rephaiah, Jeriel, Jahmai, Jibsam, and Shemuel, heads of their father's house. The sons of Tola were mighty men of valor in their generations; [b]their number in the days of David was twenty-two thousand six hundred. 3 The son of Uzzi was Izrahiah, and the sons of Izrahiah were Michael, Obadiah, Joel, and Ishiah. All five of them were chief men. 4 And with them, by their generations, according to their fathers' houses, were thirty-six thousand troops ready for war; for they had many wives and sons.

5 Now their brethren among all the families of Issachar were mighty men of valor, listed by their genealogies, eighty-seven thousand in all.

The Family of Benjamin

6 The sons of [c]Benjamin were Bela, Becher, and Jediael—three in all. 7 The sons of Bela were Ezbon, Uzzi, Uzziel, Jerimoth, and Iri—five in all. They were heads of their fathers' houses, and they were listed by their genealogies, twenty-two thousand and thirty-four mighty men of valor.

8 The sons of Becher were Zemirah, Joash, Eliezer, Elioenai, Omri, Jerimoth, Abijah, Anathoth, and Alemeth. All these are the sons of Becher. 9 And they were recorded by genealogy according to their generations, heads of their fathers' houses, twenty thousand two hundred mighty men of valor. 10 The son of Jediael was Bilhan, and the sons of Bilhan were Jeush, Benjamin, Ehud, Chenaanah, Zethan, Tharshish, and Ahishahar.

11 All these sons of Jediael were heads of their fathers' houses; there were seventeen thousand two hundred mighty men of valor fit to go out for war and battle. 12 [3]Shuppim and [4]Huppim were the sons of [5]Ir, and Hushim was the son of [6]Aher.

The Family of Naphtali

13 The [d]sons of Naphtali were [7]Jahziel, Guni, Jezer, and [8]Shallum, the sons of Bilhah.

The Family of Manasseh (West)

14 The [e]descendants of Manasseh: his Syrian concubine bore him [f]Machir the father of Gilead, the father of Asriel. 15 Machir took as his wife the sister of [9]Huppim and [1]Shuppim, whose name was Maachah. The name of Gilead's [2]grandson was [g]Zelophehad, but Zelophehad begot only daughters. 16 (Maachah the wife of Machir bore a son, and she called his name Peresh. The name of his brother was Sheresh, and his sons were Ulam and Rakem. 17 The son of Ulam was [h]Bedan.) These were the descendants of Gilead the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh.

18 His sister Hammoleketh bore Ishhod, [3]Abiezer, and Mahlah.

19 And the sons of Shemida were Ahian, Shechem, Likhi, and Aniam.

The Family of Ephraim

20 [i]The sons of Ephraim were Shuthelah, Bered his son, Tahath his son, Eladah his son, Tahath his son, 21 Zabad his son, Shuthelah his son, and Ezer and Elead. The men of Gath who were born in that land killed them because they came down to take away their cattle. 22 Then Ephraim their father mourned many days, and his brethren came to comfort him.

23 And when he went in to his wife, she conceived and bore a son; and he called his name [4]Beriah, because tragedy had come upon his house. 24 Now his daughter was Sheerah, who built Lower and Upper [j]Beth Horon and Uzzen Sheerah; 25 and Rephah was his son, as well as Resheph, and Telah his son, Tahan his son, 26 Laadan his son, Ammihud his son, [k]Elishama his son, 27 [5]Nun his son, and [l]Joshua his son.

28 Now their [m]possessions and dwelling places were Bethel and its towns: to the east [6]Naaran, to the west Gezer and its towns, and Shechem and its towns, as far as [7]Ayyah and its towns; 29 and by the borders of the children of [n]Manasseh were Beth Shean and its towns, Taanach and its towns, [o]Megiddo and its towns, Dor and its towns. In these dwelt the children of Joseph, the son of Israel.

The Family of Asher

30 [p]The sons of Asher were Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, Beriah, and their sister Serah. 31 The sons of Beriah were Heber and Malchiel, who was the father of [8]Birzaith. 32 And Heber begot Japhlet, [9]Shomer, [1]Hotham, and their sister Shua. 33 The sons of Japhlet were Pasach, Bimhal, and Ashvath. These were the children of Japhlet. 34 The sons of [q]Shemer were Ahi, Rohgah, Jehubbah, and Aram. 35 And the sons of his brother Helem were Zophah, Imna, Shelesh, and Amal. 36 The sons of Zophah were Suah, Harnepher, Shual, Beri, Imrah, 37 Bezer, Hod, Shamma, Shilshah, [2]Jithran, and Beera. 38 The sons of Jether were Jephunneh, Pispah, and Ara. 39 The sons of Ulla were Arah, Haniel, and Rizia.

40 All these were the children of Asher, heads of their fathers' houses, choice men, mighty men of valor, chief leaders. And they were recorded by genealogies among the army fit for battle; their number was twenty-six thousand.

The Family Tree of King Saul of Benjamin

8 Now Benjamin begot [a]Bela his firstborn, Ashbel the second, [1]Aharah the third, 2 Nohah the fourth, and Rapha the fifth. 3 The sons of Bela were [2]Addar, Gera, Abihud, 4 Abishua, Naaman, Ahoah, 5 Gera, [3]Shephuphan, and Huram.

6 These are the sons of Ehud, who were the heads of the fathers' houses of the inhabitants of [b]Geba, and who forced them to move to [c]Manahath: 7 Naaman, Ahijah, and Gera who forced them to move. He begot Uzza and Ahihud.

8 Also Shaharaim had children in the country of Moab, after he had sent away Hushim and

■ 7:14 Manasseh. See 5:23–26 note. Much of the data here is taken from Num. 26:29–34 and Josh. 17:1–13. The focus on women in this line may stem from the importance of Zelophehad's daughters in Num. 26:33.

■ 7:20 Ephraim. Matters of lineage and geography appear again (2:3—9:1 note).

■ 7:30 Asher. The genealogy of Asher is drawn from Gen. 46:17 and Num. 26:44–46. For the numbers of fighting men, see note on 12:23.

■ 8:1 Benjamin. The survey of the tribes of Israel concludes with a second, more extensive treatment of Benjamin (cf. 7:6–12). The genealogy of Benjamin is comparable in length to the treatment of Judah (2:3—4:23) and Levi (6:1–81). The tribe of Benjamin is of special importance because of its close association with Judah in the days before and after the Babylonian exile (1 Kin. 12:20, 21; 1 Chr. 9:4–9). Saul, the first king of Israel, was from the tribe of Benjamin (1 Sam. 9:1—10:27; 1 Chr. 9:35–44). This chapter is arranged according to geography: Geba (vv. 1–7), Moab (vv. 8–13), Jerusalem (vv. 14–28), and Gibeon (8:29–40).

■ 8:1–7 Compare the various lists in 7:6–12; Gen. 46:21; Num. 26:38–41.

■ 8:8–13 Moab. For Israelites living in Moab (v. 8), see 1 Sam. 22:3–5 and Ruth 1:1, 2.

Baara his wives. 9 By Hodesh his wife he begot Jobab, Zibia, Mesha, Malcam, 10 Jeuz, Sachiah, and Mirmah. These were his sons, heads of their fathers' houses.

11 And by Hushim he begot Abitub and Elpaal. 12 The sons of Elpaal were Eber, Misham, and Shemed, who built Ono and Lod with its towns; 13 and Beriah and [d]Shema, who were heads of their fathers' houses of the inhabitants of Aijalon, who drove out the inhabitants of Gath. 14 Ahio, Shashak, Jeremoth, 15 Zebadiah, Arad, Eder, 16 Michael, Ispah, and Joha were the sons of Beriah. 17 Zebadiah, Meshullam, Hizki, Heber, 18 Ishmerai, Jizliah, and Jobab were the sons of Elpaal. 19 Jakim, Zichri, Zabdi, 20 Elienai, Zillethai, Eliel, 21 Adaiah, Beraiah, and Shimrath were the sons of [4]Shimei. 22 Ishpan, Eber, Eliel, 23 Abdon, Zichri, Hanan, 24 Hananiah, Elam, Antothijah, 25 Iphdeiah, and Penuel were the sons of Shashak. 26 Shamsherai, Shehariah, Athaliah, 27 Jaareshiah, Elijah, and Zichri were the sons of Jeroham.

28 These were heads of the fathers' houses by their generations, chief men. These dwelt in Jerusalem.

29 Now [5]the father of Gibeon, whose [e]wife's name was Maacah, dwelt at Gibeon. 30 And his firstborn son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Nadab, 31 Gedor, Ahio, [6]Zecher, 32 and Mikloth, who begot [7]Shimeah. They also dwelt [8]alongside their [9]relatives in Jerusalem, with their brethren. 33 [f]Ner[1] begot Kish, Kish begot Saul, and Saul begot Jonathan, Malchishua, [2]Abinadab, and [3]Esh-Baal. 34 The son of Jonathan was [4]Merib-Baal, and Merib-Baal begot [8]Micah. 35 The sons of Micah were Pithon, Melech, [5]Tarea, and Ahaz. 36 And Ahaz begot [6]Jehoaddah; Jehoaddah begot Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begot Moza. 37 Moza begot Binea, [7]Raphah his son, Eleasah his son, and Azel his son.

38 Azel had six sons whose names were these: Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel. 39 And the sons of Eshek his brother were Ulam his firstborn, Jeush the second, and Eliphelet the third.

40 The sons of Ulam were mighty men of valor—archers. They had many sons and grandsons, one hundred and fifty in all. These were all sons of Benjamin.

9 So [a]all Israel was [1]recorded by genealogies, and indeed, they were inscribed in the book of the kings of Israel. But Judah was carried away captive to Babylon because of their unfaithfulness. 2 [b]And the first inhabitants who dwelt in their possessions in their cities were Israelites, priests, Levites, and [c]the Nethinim.

Dwellers in Jerusalem

3 Now in [d]Jerusalem the children of Judah dwelt, and some of the children of Benjamin, and of the children of Ephraim and Manasseh: 4 Uthai the son of Ammihud, the son of Omri, the son of Imri, the son of Bani, of the descendants of Perez, the son of Judah. 5 Of the Shilonites: Asaiah the firstborn and his sons. 6 Of the sons of Zerah: Jeuel, and their brethren—six hundred and ninety. 7 Of the sons of Benjamin: Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Hodaviah, the son of Hassenuah; 8 Ibneiah the son of Jeroham; Elah the son of Uzzi, the son of Michri; Meshullam the son of Shephatiah, the son of Reuel, the son of Ibnijah; 9 and their brethren, according to their generations—nine hundred and fifty-six. All these men were heads of a father's house in their fathers' houses.

■ 8:29–40 Much of this list is repeated in 9:35–44. It traces the Benjamites in Gibeon to Saul (8:33) and many generations after him.

■ 8:33 Esh-Baal. This is probably his original name, meaning "man of Baal." He is also called Jishui, or "man of the LORD" (1 Sam. 14:49), and Ishbosheth, "man of shame" (2 Sam. 2:8).

■ 8:34 Merib-Baal. This name for Mephibosheth was probably first spelled Meri-Baal ("hero of Baal" or "loved of Baal") and later changed to Merib-Baal (perhaps "opponent of Baal"). "Mephibosheth" itself means "from the mouth of shame" (2 Sam. 4:4; 9:6).

■ 9:1–34 This chapter contains a selective summary of Israelites who made up the early community of those returning from exile in Babylon. Much of this material also appears in Neh. 11.

■ 9:1 all Israel. The lists of the tribes of Israel represent the entire nation. The historical people of God and their territories are presented as a model for the community of those returning from exile in Babylon (11:1; 2 Chr. 10:1; 29:24 and notes).

■ 9:2 their possessions. The account emphasizes that the returnees took possession of land that was rightfully theirs.

Israelites, priests, Levites, and the Nethinim. The lists that follow (9:4–34) cover each of these categories except the "Nethinim," or temple servants, who may have been descendants of the Gibeonites (Josh. 9:23) pressed into the mundane work required for maintaining the tabernacle (Ezra 8:20).

■ 9:3 Judah . . . Benjamin . . . Ephraim and Manasseh. The northern and southern kingdoms are considered to have been reunited under Hezekiah (2 Chr. 29:1 note). Representatives of the entire nation went into the Babylonian exile and returned to the land. For this reason, the writer does not overlook Ephraim and Manasseh among those returning. Yet Judah and Benjamin are given special attention because they represent the southern kingdom, the home of the line of David and the location of the temple.

■ 9:4–6 Those belonging to the tribe of Judah are traced to Judah's sons: Perez (9:4), Shelah (9:5—"Shilonites" probably stands for "Shelanites"; cf. 2:3; 4:21–23; and Num. 26:20), and Zerah (9:6).

The Priests at Jerusalem

10 [e]Of the priests: Jedaiah, Jehoiarib, and Jachin; 11 [2]Azariah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the [f]officer over the house of God; 12 Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pashur, the son of Malchijah; Maasai the son of Adiel, the son of Jahzerah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Meshillemith, the son of Immer; 13 and their brethren, heads of their fathers' houses—one thousand seven hundred and sixty. They were [3]very able men for the work of the service of the house of God.

The Levites at Jerusalem

14 Of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari; 15 Bakbakkar, Heresh, Galal, and Mattaniah the son of Micah, the son of [g]Zichri, the son of Asaph; 16 [h]Obadiah the son of [i]Shemaiah, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun; and Berechiah the son of Asa, the son of Elkanah, who lived in the villages of the Netophathites.

The Levite Gatekeepers

17 And the gatekeepers were Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman, and their brethren. Shallum was the chief. 18 Until then they had been gatekeepers for the camps of the children of Levi at the King's Gate on the east.

19 Shallum the son of Kore, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, and his brethren, from his father's house, the Korahites, were in charge of the work of the service, [4]gatekeepers of the tabernacle. Their fathers had been keepers of the entrance to the camp of the LORD. 20 And [j]Phinehas the son of Eleazar had been the officer over them in time past; the LORD was with him. 21 [k]Zechariah the son of Meshelemiah was [5]keeper of the door of the tabernacle of meeting.

22 All those chosen as gatekeepers were two hundred and twelve. [l]They were recorded by their genealogy, in their villages. David and Samuel [m]the seer had appointed them to their trusted office. 23 So they and their children were in charge of the gates of the house of the LORD, the house of the tabernacle, by assignment. 24 The gatekeepers were assigned to the four directions: the east, west, north, and south. 25 And their brethren in their villages had to come with them from time to time [n]for seven days. 26 For in this trusted office were four chief gatekeepers; they were Levites. And they had charge over the chambers and treasuries of the house of God. 27 And they lodged all around the house of God because [6]they had the [o]responsibility, and they were in charge of opening it every morning.

Other Levite Responsibilities

28 Now some of them were in charge of the serving vessels, for they brought them in and took them out by count. 29 Some of them were appointed over the furnishings and over all the implements of the sanctuary, and over the [p]fine flour and the wine and the oil and the incense and the spices. 30 And some of the sons of the priests made [q]the ointment of the spices.

31 Mattithiah of the Levites, the firstborn of Shallum the Korahite, had the trusted office [r]over the things that were baked in the pans. 32 And some of their brethren of the sons of the Kohathites [s]were in charge of preparing the showbread for every Sabbath.

33 These are [t]the singers, heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites, who lodged in the chambers, and were free from other duties; for they were employed in that work day and night. 34 These heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites were heads throughout their generations. They dwelt at Jerusalem.

The Family of King Saul

35 Jeiel the father of Gibeon, whose wife's name was [u]Maacah, dwelt at Gibeon. 36 His firstborn son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, 37 Gedor, Ahio, [7]Zechariah, and Mikloth. 38 And Mikloth begot [8]Shimeam. They also dwelt alongside their relatives in Jerusalem,

■ 9:15, 16, 33 Asaph . . . Jeduthun. Levites in charge of music (6:39; 9:33; 16:41, 42). Their prominence in this list reflects the importance of music in worship (15:16 note).

■ 9:16 Netophathites. Netophah was a town about three miles south of Bethlehem (Neh. 7:26; 12:28).

■ 9:17 gatekeepers. There is a list of gatekeepers in 26:1–19. This list reaches to the time of David (vv. 23, 24). The cycles of duty of the gatekeepers is described, evidently as a model for the new generation. David's tabernacle required twenty-four guards. Assignments and rotations were made by lot (26:12–18).

■ 9:28–34 The Levites performed a variety of functions in the temple. Special exemption was made for the musicians (15:16 note).

with their brethren. 39 [v]Ner begot Kish, Kish begot Saul, and Saul begot Jonathan, Malchishua, Abinadab, and Esh-Baal. 40 The son of Jonathan was Merib-Baal, and Merib-Baal begot Micah. 41 The sons of Micah were Pithon, Melech, [g]Tahrea, [w]and[l] Ahaz. 42 And Ahaz begot [2]Jarah; Jarah begot Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begot Moza; 43 Moza begot Binea, [3]Rephaiah his son, Eleasah his son, and Azel his son.

44 And Azel had six sons whose names were these: Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Shearíah, Obadiah, and Hanan; these were the sons of Azel.

Tragic End of Saul and His Sons

10 Now [a]the Philistines fought against Israel; and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell slain on Mount Gilboa. 2 Then the Philistines followed hard after Saul and his sons. And the Philistines killed Jonathan, [1]Abinadab, and Malchishua, Saul's sons. 3 The battle became fierce against Saul. The archers hit him, and he was wounded by the archers. 4 Then Saul said to his armorbearer, "Draw your sword, and thrust me through with it, lest these uncircumcised men come and abuse me." But his armorbearer would not, for he was greatly afraid. Therefore Saul took a sword and fell on it. 5 And when his armorbearer saw that Saul was dead, he also fell on his sword and died. 6 So Saul and his three sons died, and all his house died together. 7 And when all the men of Israel who were in the valley saw that they had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead, they forsook their cities and fled; then the Philistines came and dwelt in them.

8 So it happened the next day, when the Philistines came to [2]strip the slain, that they found Saul and his sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. 9 And they stripped him and took his head and his armor, and sent word throughout the land of the Philistines to proclaim the news in the temple of their idols and among the people. 10 [b]Then they put his armor in the [3]temple of their gods, and fastened his head in the temple of Dagon.

11 And when all Jabesh Gilead heard all that the Philistines had done to Saul, 12 all the [c]valiant men arose and took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons; and they brought them to [d]Jabesh, and buried their bones under the tamarisk tree at Jabesh, and fasted seven days.

13 So Saul died for his unfaithfulness which he had [4]committed against the LORD, [e]because he did not keep the word of the LORD, and also because [f]he consulted a medium for guidance. 14 But he did not inquire of the LORD; therefore He killed him, and [g]turned the kingdom over to David the son of Jesse.

David Made King over All Israel

11 Then [a]all Israel came together to David at Hebron, saying, "Indeed we are your bone and your flesh. 2 Also, in time past, even when Saul was king, you were the one who led

CHAPTER 11

1 [a]2 Sam. 5:1

■ 9:39 Saul. The writer has now established the identity, order, and territory of the people of God by lists and genealogies. His next task, occupying many chapters, is to give a portrait of the united monarchy. The united monarchy is presented as an ideal for the community of returned exiles engaged in restoring the kingdom in their own day. Unlike the lengthy record of Saul's rise and fall in the books of Samuel, Chronicles simply reports Saul's genealogy (9:35–44) and the transfer of power from Saul to David (10:1–14) before turning to the history of David (chs. 11—29) and Solomon (2 Chr. 1—9).

■ 10:1 fell slain. The soldiers (10:1), Saul (10:4, 6–8, 12–14), his sons (10:2, 6–8, 12), and his armorbearer (10:5) all died, indicating that Saul was under severe divine judgment (10:13). The writer follows 1 Sam. 31 in his report of Saul's suicide, defilement, and burial. He adds vv. 13, 14 to give the reason for these tragic events.

■ 10:6 all his house. Saul's three sons (10:2) and his chief officers died, but Ishbosheth (also called Esh-Baal) survived (8:33; 9:39; 2 Sam. 2:8). Saul's ruling house had come to an abrupt end, unlike David's house (dynasty) which God established permanently over Israel (17:1–15 note).

■ 10:9 took his head. See the parallel with David and Goliath (1 Sam. 17:54). The treatment of Saul's body by his enemies highlights the dishonor of his defeat and death.

■ 10:13 unfaithfulness. In 10:1–12, Saul's demise is seen to be the result of divine judgment. Saul died because he had been unfaithful to the Lord by failing to "keep the word" and to "inquire" of God. Saul's consultation with the medium at En Dor (strictly forbidden in Deut. 18:9–14) was the climax of his failures (1 Sam. 28).

■ 10:14 inquire of the LORD. See note on 2 Chr. 7:14.

David. The reign of David is central to the history of this period. David is a model monarch for the generation returning from exile in Babylon. The books of Chronicles acknowledge that David had faults (13:7–11; 21:1–7), but did not record the major failures and troubles recorded in Samuel (2 Sam. 11:1—21:14). The account of David's reign focuses on two major concerns: David's great popularity (chs. 11—12) and his preparations for the temple (chs. 13—29). The section is arranged primarily by topic rather than chronology. The enthusiastic support for David from all over Israel should be an encouragement and model for the returned exiles.

■ 11:1 all Israel. This and similar expressions are used in the narrative about the united monarchy to refer to the nation as a whole under the rule of David and Solomon (11:10; 12:38; 14:8; 15:3, 28; 18:14; 19:17; 21:5; 28:4, 8; 2 Chr. 1:2; 7:8; 9:30). Although there still was hope for an inclusive, unified kingdom under a new Davidic king, this hope could not be realized until the coming of Christ, the Son of David and messianic King (2 Chr. 10:1 note; 29:24 note; also Introduction: Characteristics and Themes).

■ 11:2 your God said. On several occasions in this section it is explained that the popular support David received was the result of God's sovereign decree (11:3, 9, 10; 12:18, 23). A legitimate king of Israel had to be chosen by God, not merely by popular sentiment (Deut. 17:14, 15). David met this qualification (2 Chr. 6:6).

Israel out and brought them in; and the LORD your [b]God said to you, 'You shall [c]shepherd My people Israel, and be ruler over My people Israel.' " [3] Therefore all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and David made a covenant with them at Hebron before the LORD. And [d]they anointed David king over Israel, according to the word of the LORD [f]by [e]Samuel.

The City of David

[4] And David and all Israel [f]went to Jerusalem, which is Jebus, [g]where the Jebusites were, the inhabitants of the land. [5] But the inhabitants of Jebus said to David, "You shall not come in here!" Nevertheless David took the stronghold of Zion (that is, the City of David). [6] Now David said, "Whoever attacks the Jebusites first shall be [2]chief and captain." And Joab the son of Zeruiah went up first, and became chief. [7] Then David dwelt in the stronghold; therefore they called it [3]the City of David. [8] And he built the city around it, from [4]the Millo to the surrounding area.

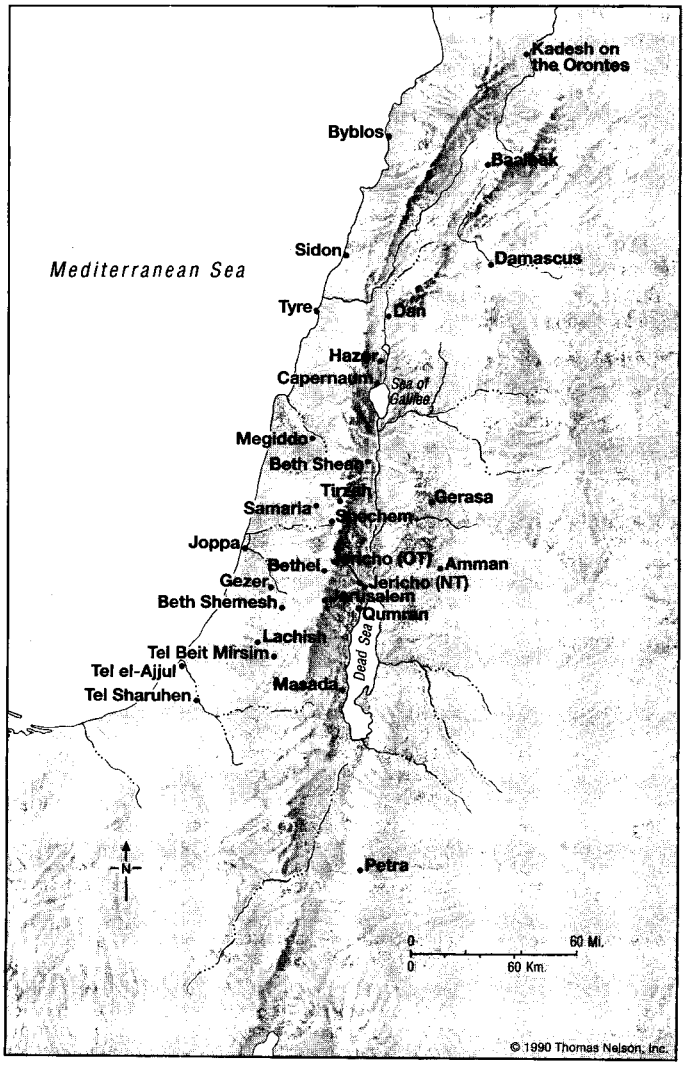
■ 11:5 Nevertheless David took the stronghold. David's success is demonstrated by reporting the conquest and fortification of his capital city. Successful building projects often displayed the blessing of God on a king. See notes on 2 Chr. 2:1—8:16; 11:5–12; 14:6, 7; 17:12; 26:9; 27:3, 4; 32:27–29.



Sites of Major Archaeological Excavations. In many areas of Palestine, archaeological work has been underway for the past several decades. Many Palestinian cities were built on a slight hill, one after another atop the ruins of previous cities in the same location. Over several centuries, these hilly mounds or tels continued to grow in elevation. Modern archaeologists have been able to dig down through the various layers of these sites to discover relics from the cultures of previous ages. Work continues at the sites indicated on the map, constantly shedding additional light upon the customs and practices of the peoples living during biblical times.

Joab [5]repaired the rest of the city. [9] So David [h]went on and became great, and the LORD of hosts was with [i]him.

The Mighty Men of David

[10] Now [j]these were the heads of the mighty men whom David had, who strengthened themselves with him in his kingdom, with all Israel, to make him king, according to [k]the word of the LORD concerning Israel.

[11] And this is the number of the mighty men whom David had: [l]Jashobeam the son of a Hachmonite, [m]chief of [6]the captains; he had lifted up his spear against three hundred, killed by him at one time.

[12] After him was Eleazar the son of [n]Dodo, the Ahohite, who was one of the three mighty men. [13] He was with David at [7]Pasdammim. Now there the Philistines were gathered for battle, and there was a piece of ground full of barley. So the people fled from the Philistines. [14] But they [8]stationed themselves in the middle of that field, defended it, and killed the Philistines. So the LORD brought about a great victory.

[15] Now three of the thirty chief men [o]went down to the rock to David, into the cave of Adullam; and the army of the Philistines encamped [p]in the Valley of [9]Rephaim. [16] David was then in the stronghold, and the garrison of the Philistines was then in Bethlehem. [17] And David said with longing, "Oh, that someone would give me a drink of water from the well of Bethlehem, which is by the gate!" [18] So the three broke through the camp of the Philistines, drew water from the well of Bethlehem that was by the gate, and took it and brought it to David. Nevertheless David would not drink it, but poured it out to the LORD. [19] And he said, "Far be it from me, O my God, that I should do this! Shall I drink the blood of these men who have put their lives in jeopardy? For at the risk of their lives they brought it." Therefore he would not drink it. These things were done by the three mighty men.

[20] [q]Abishai the brother of Joab was chief of another [1]three. He had lifted up his spear against three hundred men, killed them, and won a name among these three. [21] [r]Of the three he was more honored than the other two men. Therefore he became their captain. However he did not attain to the first three.

[22] Benaiah was the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man from Kabzeel, who [2]had done many deeds. [s]He had killed two lion-like heroes of Moab. He also had gone down and killed a lion in the midst of a pit on a snowy day. [23] And he killed an Egyptian, a man of great height, [3]five cubits tall. In the Egyptian's hand there was a spear like a weaver's beam; and he went down to him with a staff, wrested the spear out of the Egyptian's hand, and killed him with his own spear. [24] These things Benaiah the son of Jehoiada did, and won a name among three mighty men. [25] Indeed he was more honored than the thirty, but he did not attain to the first three. And David appointed him over his guard.

[26] Also the mighty warriors were [t]Asahel the brother of Joab, Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem, [27] [4]Shammoth the Harorite, [u]Helez the [5]Pelonite, [28] [v]Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, [w]Abiezer the Anathothite, [29] [6]Sibbechai the Hushathite, [7]Ilai the Ahohite, [30] [x]Maharai the Netophathite, [8]Heled the son of Baanah the Netophathite, [31] [9]Ithai the son of Ribai of Gibeah, of the sons of Benjamin, [y]Benaiah the Pirathonite, [32] [1]Hurai of the brooks of Gaash, [2]Abiel the Arbathite, [33] Azmaveth the [3]Baharumite, Eliahba the Shaalbonite, [34] the sons of [4]Hashem the Gizonite, Jonathan the son of Shageh the Hararite, [35] Ahiam the son of [5]Sacar the Hararite, [6]Eliphal the son of [7]Ur, [36] Hepher the Mecherathite, Ahijah the Pelonite, [37] [8]Hezro the Carmelite, [9]Naarai the son of Ezbai, [38] Joel the brother of Nathan, Mibhar the son of Hagri, [39] Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai the [1]Berothite (the armorbearer of Joab the son of Zeruiah), [40] Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite, [41] [z]Uriah the Hittite, [2]Zabad the son of Ahlai, [42] Adina the son of Shiza the Reubenite (a chief of the Reubenites) and thirty with him, [43] Hanan the son of Maachah, Joshaphat the

34 [4]Jashen, 2 Sam. 23:32

■ 11:10–47 On the whole, this list of chiefs and mighty men is derived from 2 Sam. 23:8–39. The purpose is stated in the opening verse: these leaders supported David's kingship with "all Israel . . . according to the word of the LORD." The mighty acts of David's men highlight their outstanding qualities, placing David himself in a duly favorable light.

■ 11:10 all Israel. See note on 11:1.

■ 11:15–19 David's mighty men displayed skill and courage by fetching water for him from behind enemy lines. In response, David showed humility by offering the water as a drink offering to the Lord (Gen. 35:14; 2 Kin. 16:13; Jer. 7:18).

■ 11:41–47 The Chronicler adds to the list of David's supporters recorded in 2 Sam. 23:39. Repeated references to tribes and locations illustrates the diverse and widespread support David enjoyed.

Mithnite, 44 Uzzia the Ashterathite, Shama and Jeiel the sons of Hotham the Aroerite, 45 Jediael the son of Shimri, and Joha his brother, the Tizite, 46 Eliel the Mahavite, Jeribai and Joshaviah the sons of Elnaam, Ithmah the Moabite, 47 Eliel, Obed, and Jaasiel the Mezobaite.

The Growth of David's Army

12 Now [a]these were the men who came to David at [b]Ziklag while he was still a fugitive from Saul the son of Kish; and they were among the mighty men, helpers in the war, 2 armed with bows, using both the right hand and [c]the left in hurling stones and shooting arrows with the bow. They were of Benjamin, Saul's brethren.

3 The chief was Ahiezer, then Joash, the sons of [1]Shemaah the Gibeathite; Jeziel and Pelet the sons of Azmaveth; Berachah, and Jehu the Anathothite; 4 Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, a mighty man among the thirty, and over the thirty; Jeremiah, Jahaziel, Johanan, and Jozabad the Gederathite; 5 Eluzai, Jerimoth, Bealiah, Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite; 6 Elkanah, Jisshiah, Azarel, Joezer, and Jashobeam, the Korahites; 7 and Joelah and Zebadiah the sons of Jeroham of Gedor.

8 Some Gadites [2]joined David at the stronghold in the wilderness, mighty men of valor, men trained for battle, who could handle shield and spear, whose faces were like the faces of lions, and were [d]as swift as gazelles on the mountains: 9 Ezer the first, Obadiah the second, Eliab the third, 10 Mishmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth, 11 Attai the sixth, Eliel the seventh, 12 Johanan the eighth, Elzabad the ninth, 13 Jeremiah the tenth, and Machbanai the eleventh. 14 These were from the sons of Gad, captains of the army; the least was over a hundred, and the greatest was over a [e]thousand. 15 These are the ones who crossed the Jordan in the first month, when it had overflowed all its [f]banks; and they put to flight all those in the valleys, to the east and to the west.

16 Then some of the sons of Benjamin and Judah came to David at the stronghold. 17 And David went out [3]to meet them, and answered and said to them, "If you have come peaceably to me to help me, my heart will be united with you; but if to betray me to my enemies, since there is no [4]wrong in my hands, may the God of our fathers look and bring judgment." 18 Then the Spirit [5]came upon [g]Amasai, chief of the captains, and he said:

"We are yours, O David;
We are on your side, O son of Jesse!
Peace, peace to you,
And peace to your helpers!
For your God helps you."

So David received them, and made them captains of the troop.

19 And some from Manasseh defected to David [h]when he was going with the Philistines to battle against Saul; but they did not help them, for the lords of the Philistines sent him away by agreement, saying, [i]"He may defect to his master Saul and endanger our heads." 20 When he went to Ziklag, those of Manasseh who defected to him were Adnah, Jozabad, Jediael, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu, and Zillethai, captains of the thousands who were from Manasseh. 21 And they helped David against [j]the bands of raiders, for they were all mighty men of valor, and they were captains in the army. 22 For at that time they came to David day by day to help him, until it was a great army, [k]like the army of God.

David's Army at Hebron

23 Now these were the numbers of the [6]divisions that were equipped for war, and [l]came to David at [m]Hebron to [n]turn over the kingdom of Saul to him, [o]according to the word of the LORD:

■ 12:8–19 At David's desert stronghold (cf. 1 Sam. 22:14, 29; 24:1), Israelites from various locations joined him. There were supporters from Gad, Benjamin, Judah, and Manasseh. See note on 11:10–47.

■ 12:8 faces of lions . . . swift as gazelles. Animal metaphors are common for warriors and leaders, and the men from Gad were swift and fierce.

■ 12:15 had overflowed. In March and April, northern melting snows frequently swell the rivers of Palestine, making the Jordan River particularly treacherous to cross. This detail emphasizes the superior courage of David's supporters from Gad.

■ 12:18 the Spirit. By mentioning the Holy Spirit, the writer explains that the defection of men from Benjamin, the tribe of Saul, to David was not misguided. The Spirit of God directed David's supporters.

■ 12:19 they did not help them. While significantly abbreviating the account of 1 Sam. 29, the writer is clear that David did not fight against his fellow Israelites.

■ 12:20 Ziklag. David received further support at Ziklag (12:8–19 note).

■ 12:22 like the army of God. The writer gives high praise to David's army by comparing it to the innumerable heavenly army.

■ 12:23 Hebron. David found other supporters at Hebron, with repre-

[24] of the sons of Judah bearing shield and spear, six thousand eight hundred [7]armed for war; [25] of the sons of Simeon, mighty men of valor fit for war, seven thousand one hundred; [26] of the sons of Levi four thousand six hundred; [27] Jehoiada, the leader of the Aaronites, and with him three thousand seven hundred; [28] [p]Zadok, a young man, a valiant warrior, and from his father's house twenty-two captains; [29] of the sons of Benjamin, relatives of Saul, three thousand (until then [q]the greatest part of them had remained loyal to the house of Saul); [30] of the sons of Ephraim twenty thousand eight hundred, mighty men of valor, [8]famous men throughout their father's house; [31] of the half-tribe of Manasseh eighteen thousand, who were designated by name to come and make David king; [32] of the sons of Issachar [r]who had understanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to do, their chiefs were two hundred; and all their brethren were at their command; [33] of Zebulun there were fifty thousand who went out to battle, expert in war with all weapons of war, [s]stouthearted men who could keep ranks; [34] of Naphtali one thousand captains, and with them thirty-seven thousand with shield and spear; [35] of the Danites who could keep battle formation, twenty-eight thousand six hundred; [36] of Asher, those who could go out to war, able to keep battle formation, forty thousand; [37] of the Reubenites and the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh, from the other side of the Jordan, one hundred and twenty thousand armed for battle with every kind of weapon of war.

[38] All these men of war, who could keep ranks, came to Hebron with a loyal heart, to make David king over all Israel; and all the rest of Israel were of [t]one mind to make David king. [39] And they were there with David three days, eating and drinking, for their brethren had prepared for them. [40] Moreover those who were near to them, from as far away as Issachar and Zebulun and Naphtali, were bringing food on donkeys and camels, on mules and oxen—provisions of flour and cakes of figs and cakes of raisins, wine and oil and oxen and sheep abundantly, for there was joy in Israel.

The Ark Brought from Kirjath Jearim

13 Then David consulted with the [a]captains of thousands and hundreds, and with every leader. [2] And David said to all the assembly of Israel, "If it seems good to you, and if it is of the LORD our God, let us send out to our brethren everywhere who are [b]left in all the land of Israel, and with them to the priests and Levites who are in their cities and their commonlands, that they may gather together to us; [3] and let us bring the ark of our God back to us, [c]for we have not inquired at it since the days of Saul." [4] Then all the assembly said that they would do so, for the thing was right in the eyes of all the people.

[5] So [d]David gathered all Israel together, from [e]Shihor in Egypt to as far as the entrance of Hamath, to bring the ark of God [f]from Kirjath Jearim. [6] And David and all Israel went up to [g]Baalah,[1] to Kirjath Jearim, which belonged to Judah, to bring up from there the ark of God the LORD, [h]who dwells between the cherubim, where His name is proclaimed. [7] So they [2]carried the ark of God [i]on a new cart [j]from the house of Abinadab, and Uzza and Ahio drove the cart.

sentatives coming from each tribe. The numbers appear very high. Several explanations of these large numbers are possible. The Hebrew word translated "thousand" may be a technical term referring to a military unit of considerably smaller size. In that case, v. 24 would read "men of Judah, carrying shield and spear, six units with eight hundred armed for war." Second, the Hebrew consonants translated "thousand" could also be read with other vowel points, to mean "chiefs." On this account, v. 24 would read "six chiefs with eight hundred armed for war." Finally, it is possible that there is a figurative or rhetorical exaggeration (12:22 note).

■ 12:38–40 The report of David's widespread support closes with the observation that the people at Hebron, and the rest of the nation, were of "one mind" in their support of David. They celebrated their new king with joy and feasting. This happy event would have been a model for the community returning from exile in Babylon.

■ 12:38 all Israel. See note on 11:1.

■ 13:1—29:30 The second essential component of David's model kingdom, his enthusiastic preparations for the temple, is recounted here. The account has two parts: centralization of worship in Jerusalem (chs. 13—16) and temple preparations (chs. 17—29). Comparison with 2 Sam. 5 and 6 indicates that the materials in Samuel and Chronicles are arranged topically and not in strict chronological order. The Chronicles account is in three parts: the failed attempt to transfer the ark to Jerusalem (ch. 13); David's blessings (ch. 14); and the successful recovery of the ark (chs. 15; 16).

■ 13:1–4 This introduction does not appear in 2 Sam. 5 and 6. It focuses on the support of "all the assembly" for worship centralized at Jerusalem (13:4–8; also 11:1 note).

■ 13:2 good to you . . . of the LORD. The harmony between David and the people as they seek to obey God is a model for the returned exiles (2 Chr. 30:4, 5).

■ 13:3 we have not inquired at it. The Chronicler contrasts David and Saul (11:2). David was concerned for the ark, while Saul neglected it.

■ 13:6 who dwells between the cherubim. The ark of the covenant represented the presence of God among His people.

His name is proclaimed. The "name" of God indicates the nearness of God, the divine power dwelling in the temple and accessible through prayer and sacrifice (16:10; 22:7, 8, 10, 19; 28:3; 29:16; 2 Chr. 2:1, 4; 6:5–10, 20, 32–38; 7:16, 20; 12:13; 20:8, 9; 33:4, 7). The New Testament teaches Christians to pray "in the name" of Jesus, meaning "by authority of" Jesus (John 12:28; 14:13, 14; 16:24).

■ 13:7 on a new cart. The Israelites did not observe the law of God about transporting the ark with poles on the priests' shoulders (Ex. 25:12–15). Instead, they handled it with disregard for the holiness of God and the divine regulation of worship (15:2, 11–15).

CHAPTER 15

1 [a]1 Chr. 16:1

2 [b][Num. 4:15] [c]Deut. 10:8; 31:9

8 Then [k]David and all Israel played music before God with all their might, with [3]singing, on harps, on stringed instruments, on tambourines, on cymbals, and with trumpets.

9 And when they came to [4]Chidon's threshing floor, Uzza put out his hand to hold the ark, for the oxen [5]stumbled. 10 Then the anger of the LORD was aroused against Uzza, and He struck him [l]because he put his hand to the ark; and he [m]died there before God. 11 And David became angry because of the LORD's outbreak against Uzza; therefore that place is called [6]Perez Uzza to this day. 12 David was afraid of God that day, saying, "How can I bring the ark of God to me?"

13 So David would not move the ark with him into the City of David, but took it aside into the house of Obed-Edom the Gittite. 14 [n]The ark of God remained with the family of Obed-Edom in his house three months. And the LORD blessed [o]the house of Obed-Edom and all that he had.

David Established at Jerusalem

14 Now [a]Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, with masons and carpenters, to build him a house. 2 So David knew that the LORD had established him as king over Israel, for his kingdom was [b]highly exalted for the sake of His people Israel.

3 Then David took more wives in Jerusalem, and David begot more sons and daughters. 4 And [c]these are the names of his children whom he had in Jerusalem: [1]Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, 5 Ibhar, [2]Elishua, [3]Elpelet, 6 Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, 7 Elishama, [4]Beeliada, and Eliphelet.

The Philistines Defeated

8 Now when the Philistines heard that [d]David had been anointed king over all Israel, all the Philistines went up to search for David. And David heard of it and went out against them. 9 Then the Philistines went and made a raid [e]on the Valley of [5]Rephaim. 10 And David [f]inquired of God, saying, "Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will You deliver them into my hand?"

The LORD said to him, "Go up, for I will deliver them into your hand."

11 So they went up to Baal Perazim, and David defeated them there. Then David said, "God has broken through my enemies by my hand like a breakthrough of water." Therefore they called the name of that place [6]Baal Perazim. 12 And when they left their gods there, David gave a commandment, and they were burned with fire.

13 [g]Then the Philistines once again made a raid on the valley. 14 Therefore David inquired again of God, and God said to him, "You shall not go up after them; circle around them, [h]and come upon them in front of the mulberry trees. 15 And it shall be, when you hear a sound of marching in the tops of the mulberry trees, then you shall go out to battle, for God has gone out before you to strike the camp of the Philistines." 16 So David did as God commanded him, and they drove back the army of the Philistines from [7]Gibeon as far as Gezer. 17 Then [i]the fame of David went out into all lands, and the LORD [j]brought the fear of him upon all nations.

The Ark Brought to Jerusalem

15 David built houses for himself in the City of David; and he prepared a place for the ark of God, [a]and pitched a tent for it. 2 Then David said, "No one may carry the [b]ark of God but the Levites, for [c]the LORD has chosen them to carry the ark of God and to minister before

■ 13:8 played music before God. See note on 15:16.

■ 13:10 He struck him. Uzzah demonstrated a disregard for the sanctity of worship by touching the ark (Num. 4:15). Although seemingly a minor offense, Uzzah's violation involved carelessness for the holiness of God, which called for judgment that would be a warning to all (v. 7 note).

■ 13:11 to this day. See note on 4:41.

■ 13:13 Obed-Edom. A Levite (15:18, 21, 24) who was blessed with many sons (26:4, 5) presumably because he cared properly for the ark. Chronicles often mentions numerous children as a sign of divine approval and blessing (14:3; 2 Chr. 11:18–23; 13:21).

■ 14:1 This account illustrates that despite David's failure (ch. 13), God established and blessed him. Three items appear: palace preparations (14:1, 2), David's children in Jerusalem (14:3–7), and David's victory over the Philistines (14:8–17).

■ 14:2 the LORD had established . . . exalted for the sake of His people. David recognized that the establishment of his kingdom was a blessing for the people. Following their exile in Babylon, readers would be encouraged by these remarks in their hope for a new Davidic king (2 Chr. 2:11 note).

■ 14:8–12 David's victory over the Philistines contrasts with Saul's defeat (10:1–7). David inquired of the Lord (14:10, 14); Saul had consulted a medium (10:13). This event also contrasts with David's failed attempt to retrieve the ark (13:1–14). While David had been angered by the Lord's "outbreak" against Uzzah (13:11), he now declares that "God has broken through" against the Philistines (14:11).

■ 14:8 all Israel. See note on 11:1.

■ 14:12 they were burned with fire. David followed Mosaic regulations in these actions (Deut. 7:5, 25).

■ 14:17 fear of him upon all nations. This verse is in addition to the account of 2 Sam. 5, highlighting David's international fame (v. 1 note). David stood strong against his enemies. Other nations saw the power of God in the king's victory and feared (Josh. 2:11; 2 Chr. 17:10; 20:29). Readers of the book are encouraged to hope for a new David who would overthrow secular worldly powers (Hag. 2:6, 7, 20–23; Zech. 9:1–13).

■ 15:1—16:43 This account of the successful recovery of the ark explains David's order for the Levites and worship. Eight verses (15:25—16:3) are like 2 Sam. 6:12–19.

Him forever." 3 And David [d]gathered all Israel together at Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the LORD to its place, which he had prepared for it. 4 Then David assembled the children of Aaron and the Levites: 5 of the sons of Kohath, Uriel the chief, and one hundred and twenty of his [1]brethren; 6 of the sons of Merari, Asaiah the chief, and two hundred and twenty of his brethren; 7 of the sons of Gershom, Joel the chief, and one hundred and thirty of his brethren; 8 of the sons of [e]Elizaphan, Shemaiah the chief, and two hundred of his brethren; 9 of the sons of [f]Hebron, Eliel the chief, and eighty of his brethren; 10 of the sons of Uzziel, Amminadab the chief, and one hundred and twelve of his brethren.

11 And David called for [g]Zadok and [h]Abiathar the priests, and for the Levites: for Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel, and Amminadab. 12 He said to them, "You are the heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites; [2]sanctify yourselves, you and your brethren, that you may bring up the ark of the LORD God of Israel to the place I have prepared for it. 13 For [i]because you did not do it the first time, [j]the LORD our God broke out against us, because we did not consult Him [3]about the proper order."

14 So the priests and the Levites [4]sanctified themselves to bring up the ark of the LORD God of Israel. 15 And the children of the Levites bore the ark of God on their shoulders, by its poles, as [k]Moses had commanded according to the word of the LORD.

16 Then David spoke to the leaders of the Levites to appoint their brethren to be the singers accompanied by instruments of music, stringed instruments, harps, and cymbals, by raising the voice with resounding joy. 17 So the Levites appointed [l]Heman the son of Joel; and of his brethren, [m]Asaph the son of Berechiah; and of their brethren, the sons of Merari, [n]Ethan the son of Kushaiah; 18 and with them their brethren of the second rank: Zechariah, [5]Ben, Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Elipheleh, Mikneiah, Obed-Edom, and Jeiel, the gatekeepers; 19 the singers, Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, were to sound the cymbals of bronze; 20 Zechariah, [6]Aziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah, and Benaiah, with strings according to [o]Alamoth; 21 Mattithiah, Elipheleh, Mikneiah, Obed-Edom, Jeiel, and Azaziah, to direct with harps on the [p]Sheminith; 22 Chenaniah, leader of the Levites, was instructor in charge of the music, because he was skillful; 23 Berechiah and Elkanah were doorkeepers for the ark; 24 Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah, and Eliezer, the priests, [q]were to blow the trumpets before the ark of God; and [r]Obed-Edom and Jehiah, doorkeepers for the ark.

25 So [s]David, the elders of Israel, and the captains over thousands went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD from the house of Obed-Edom with joy. 26 And so it was, when God helped the Levites who bore the ark of the covenant of the LORD, that they offered seven bulls and seven rams. 27 David was clothed with a robe of fine [t]linen, as were all the Levites who bore the ark, the singers, and Chenaniah the music master with the singers. David also wore a linen ephod. 28 [u]Thus all Israel brought up the ark of the covenant of the LORD with shouting and with the sound of the horn, with trumpets and with cymbals, making music with stringed instruments and harps.

29 And it happened, [v]as the ark of the covenant of the LORD came to the City of David, that Michal, Saul's daughter, looked through a window and saw King David whirling and playing music; and she despised him in her heart.

CHAPTER 16

1 [a]2 Sam. 6:17; 1 Chr. 15:1

■ 15:1 pitched a tent. The tabernacle was still in Gibeon (16:39). David constructed a new tabernacle for the ark.

■ 15:2 This verse and vv. 13–15 show that David transferred the ark in compliance with Mosaic law (Ex. 25:12–15; Deut. 10:8; 18:5).

■ 15:4–10 All three divisions of the tribe of Levi (Kohathites, Merarites, and Gershonites) were included in David's worship organization, providing a model for Levitical orders following the nation's exile in Babylon (6:1–53 and notes).

■ 15:11 Zadok and Abiathar. The two high priests during David's reign. Zadok served at the tabernacle in Gibeon (16:39) and Abiathar served in Jerusalem (18:16; 27:34 and notes). Solomon later excluded Abiathar because of his support of Adonijah's bid for the throne (1 Kin. 1:7; 2:26, 27). This left Zadok and his descendants as the high priestly family in Jerusalem (6:1, 53 and notes).

■ 15:15 as Moses had commanded. See note on 16:40.

■ 15:16 An interest in the music of worship is apparent in 1 and 2 Chronicles; see 1 Chr. 6:31–47; 9:15–16, 33; 13:8; 15:28; 16:4–6; 23:5; 25:1–7; 2 Chr. 5:12, 13; 7:6; 23:13; 29:25–30; 34:12. This emphasis is doubtless related to a concern for the restoration of proper worship in the period following the return from exile in Babylon (6:1 note).

■ 15:27 a robe of fine linen. The robe of fine linen and the linen ephod were the usual clothing of priests (1 Sam. 2:18; 22:18).

■ 15:28 all Israel. See note on 11:1.

■ 15:29 Michal, Saul's daughter. Attention is drawn to the hardened heart of Saul's daughter. In contrast to the people, the Levites, and David, Michal was disgusted by the enthusiastic worship. Michal's sarcastic rebuke (2 Sam. 6:20) is not repeated here, perhaps to avoid casting doubt on the purity of David's worship.

when David had finished offering the burnt offerings and the peace offerings, [b]he blessed the people in the name of the LORD. [3] Then he distributed to everyone of Israel, both man and woman, to everyone a loaf of bread, a piece of meat, and a cake of raisins.

[4] And he appointed some of the Levites to minister before the ark of the LORD, to [c]commemorate, to thank, and to praise the LORD God of Israel: [5] Asaph the chief, and next to him Zechariah, then [d]Jeiel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, and Obed-Edom: Jeiel with stringed instruments and harps, but Asaph made music with cymbals; [6] Benaiah and Jahaziel the priests regularly blew the trumpets before the ark of the covenant of God.

David's Song of Thanksgiving

[7] On that day [e]David [f]first delivered this psalm into the hand of Asaph and his brethren, to thank the LORD:

8 [g]Oh, give thanks to the LORD!
Call upon His name;
Make known His deeds among the peoples!
9 Sing to Him, sing psalms to Him;
Talk of all His wondrous works!
10 Glory in His holy name;
Let the hearts of those rejoice who seek the LORD!
11 Seek the LORD and His strength;
Seek His face evermore!
12 Remember His marvelous works which He has done,
His wonders, and the judgments of His mouth,
13 O seed of Israel His servant,
You children of Jacob, His chosen ones!

14 He is the LORD our God;
His [h]judgments are in all the earth.
15 Remember His covenant forever,
The word which He commanded, for a thousand generations,
16 The [i]covenant which He made with Abraham,
And His oath to Isaac,
17 And [j]confirmed it to [k]Jacob for a statute,
To Israel for an everlasting covenant,
18 Saying, "To you I will give the land of Canaan
As the allotment of your inheritance," 19 When you were [l]few in number,
Indeed very few, and strangers in it.

20 When they went from one nation to another,
And from one kingdom to another people,
21 He permitted no man to do them wrong;
Yes, He [m]rebuked kings for their sakes,
22 Saying, [n]"Do not touch My anointed ones,
And do My prophets no harm."

23 [o]Sing to the LORD, all the earth;
Proclaim the good news of His salvation from day to day.

to commemorate, to thank, and to praise. These correspond to the three principal kinds of psalms.

■ 16:5 stringed instruments and harps. See note on 15:16.

■ 16:7–36 psalm . . . to thank the LORD. There is a psalm of celebration not found in Samuel. The passage is similar to portions of several psalms (compare vv. 8–22 with Ps. 105:1–15; vv. 23–33 with Ps. 96; vv. 34–36 with Ps. 106:1, 47, 48). David celebrated the entry of the ark into Jerusalem as a mighty act of God, and his words had continuing value for those returning to Jerusalem from the exile in Babylon. David calls for the praise of God (vv. 8–13). He remembers the promise of the land and the protection of God in the wanderings of the past (vv. 15–22). Later readers experienced similar blessings in their return to the land. David invites the people to cry out for further protection and deliverance (v. 35). Those returned from Babylon needed the same help from God. Finally, the people responded with praise and joy at the blessings of God (v. 36), just as the later readers should praise God in their day.

■ 16:11 Seek. See note on 2 Chr. 7:14.

24 Declare His glory among the nations,
His wonders among all peoples.

25 For the LORD is great and greatly to be praised;
He is also to be feared above all gods.
26 For all the gods [p]of the peoples are [l]idols,
But the LORD made the heavens.
27 Honor and majesty are before Him;
Strength and gladness are in His place.

28 Give to the LORD, O families of the peoples,
Give to the LORD glory and strength.
29 Give to the LORD the glory due His name;
Bring an offering, and come before Him.
Oh, worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness!
30 Tremble before Him, all the earth.
The world also is firmly established,
It shall not be moved.

31 Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad;
And let them say among the nations, "The LORD reigns."
32 Let the sea roar, and all its fullness;
Let the field rejoice, and all that is in it.
33 Then the [q]trees of the woods shall rejoice before the LORD,
For He is [r]coming to judge the earth.

34 [s]Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His mercy endures forever.
35 [t]And say, "Save us, O God of our salvation;
Gather us together, and deliver us from the Gentiles,
To give thanks to Your holy name,
To triumph in Your praise."

36 [u]Blessed be the LORD God of Israel
From everlasting to everlasting!

And all [v]the people said, "Amen!" and praised the LORD.

37 So he left [w]Asaph and his brothers there before the ark of the covenant of the LORD to minister before the ark regularly, as every day's work [x]required; 38 and [y]Obed-Edom with his sixty-eight brethren, including Obed-Edom the son of Jeduthun, and Hosah, to be gatekeepers; 39 and Zadok the priest and his brethren the priests, [z]before the tabernacle of the LORD [a]at the [2]high place that was at Gibeon, 40 to offer burnt offerings to the LORD on the altar of burnt offering regularly [b]morning and evening, and to do according to all that is written in the Law of the LORD which He commanded Israel; 41 and with them Heman and Jeduthun and the rest who were chosen, who were designated by name, to give thanks to the LORD, [c]because His mercy endures forever; 42 and with them Heman and Jeduthun, to sound aloud with trumpets and cymbals and the musical instruments of God. God's Pattern for Worship Biblical worship is the due response of rational creatures to the self-revelation of their Creator. It honors and glorifies God by gratefully offering back to Him all the good gifts, and all the knowledge of His greatness and graciousness, that He has given. His servants praise Him for what He is, thank Him for what He has done, desire Him to increase in glory through continuing acts of mercy, judgment, and power, and trust Him with their prayers for their own and others' well-being. Learning from God is worship too: attention to His word of instruction honors Him, while inattention is an offense. Acceptable worship requires "clean hands and a pure heart" (Ps. 24:4), and a willingness to express devotion in works of service as well as words of adoration.

The basis of worship is the covenant relationship whereby God has bound Himself to those whom He has saved and claimed (see "God's Covenant of Grace" at Gen. 12:1). This grounding in covenant was true of Old Testament worship, as it is now of Christian worship. The spirit of covenant worship, as the Old Testament reveals it, is a blend of awe and joy at the privilege of drawing near to the mighty Creator, with radical self-humbling and honest confession of sin and need. Since God is holy and man is fallen, it must always be so in this world. Worship will be central in the life of heaven (Rev. 4:8–11, 5:9–14; 7:9–17; 11:15–18; 15:2–4; 19:1–10), and so it must be central in the life of the church on earth. It should already be the main activity, both private and corporate, in each believer's life (Col. 3:17).

In the Mosaic law God gave His covenant people a pattern for their worship. All the elements of true worship were included in it, though some of them were typical, pointing forward to Christ and ceasing to be valid after He came. The Book of Psalms provided hymns and prayers for use in Israel's worship; Christians use the psalms in worship today, distinguishing between the demands of the Old and New Testament administrations of the one covenant of grace.

The main features in the pattern for public worship that God gave to Israel were:

(a) The Sabbath, the seventh day following each six days of work: a holy day of rest, to be observed as a memorial of creation (Gen. 2:3; Ex. 20:8–11) and redemption (Deut. 5:12–15). God required sabbath-keeping (Ex. 16:21–30; 20:8–9; 31:12–17; 34:21; 35:1–3; Lev. 19:3, 30; 23:3; cf. Is. 58:13–14) and made sabbath-breaking a capital offense (Ex. 31:14; Num. 15:32–36).

(b) Three annual feasts were held (Ex. 23:14–17; 34:23; Deut. 16:16) at which the people gathered at God's sanctuary and offered sacrifices celebrating His bounty. They sought and acknowledged reconciliation and fellowship with Him, and ate and drank together as an expression of joy. The Passover was held on the fourteenth day of the first month and commemorated the Exodus (Ex. 12; Lev. 23:5–8; Num. 28:16–25; Deut. 16:1–8). The Feast of Weeks, also called the Feast of Harvest, Firstfruits, or Pentecost, was held fifty days after Passover and marked the end of the grain harvest (Ex. 23:16; 34:22; Lev. 23:15–22; Num. 28:26–31; Deut. 16:9–12). The Feast of Tabernacles (or "Booths") was held in the seventh month and celebrated the end of the agricultural year, as well as reminded the people how God had led them through the desert (Lev. 23:39–43; Num. 29:12–38; Deut. 16:13–15).

(c) The Day of Atonement was held on the tenth day of the seventh month. Once each year the high priest took blood into the innermost room of the sanctuary to atone for Israel's sins, and a scapegoat was sent into the desert as a sign that those sins were taken away (Lev. 16).

(d) The regular sacrificial system required daily and monthly burnt offerings (Num. 28:1–15), as well as certain personal sacrifices. The common features of these sacrifices were that the offering must be flawless, and the blood of the sacrifice must be poured out on the altar to make atonement (Lev. 17:11).

Rituals of personal purification (Lev. 12—15; Num. 19) and devotion (e.g., consecration of the firstborn, Ex. 13:1–16) were also part of the God-given pattern.

Under the new covenant, in which Old Testament types have given way to their antitypes, Christ's priesthood, sacrifice, and intercession supersede the entire Mosaic system for putting away sin (Heb. 7—10). Baptism (Matt. 28:19) and the Lord's Supper (Matt. 26:26–29; 1 Cor. 11:23–26) replace circumcision (Gal. 2:3–5; 6:12–16) and Passover (1 Cor. 5:7, 8); the Jewish festal calendar no longer applies (Gal. 4:10; Col. 2:16); ceremonial defilement and rites of purification have passed away (Mark 7:19; 1 Tim. 4:3, 4); and the Sabbath is renewed, with the day changed from the last to the first day of the week. The apostles and the early Christians worshiped on the first day of the week (Acts 20:7; 1 Cor. 16:2), celebrating the day Jesus rose from the dead, "the Lord's day" (Rev. 1:10), and regarding it as the Christian Sabbath. These changes from old to new were momentous, but the pattern of true worship, with its essential elements, continues unchanged to this day. □

God's Covenant with David

17 Now [a]it came to pass, when David was dwelling in his house, that David said to Nathan the prophet, "See now, I dwell in a house of cedar, but the ark of the covenant of the LORD is under tent curtains."

2 Then Nathan said to David, "Do all that is in your heart, for God is with you."

3 But it happened that night that the word of God came to Nathan, saying, 4 "Go and tell My servant David, 'Thus says the LORD: "You shall [b]not build Me a house to dwell in. 5 For I have not dwelt in a house since the time that I brought up Israel, even to this day, but have gone from tent to tent, and from one tabernacle to another. 6 Wherever I have moved about with all Israel, have I ever spoken a word to any of the judges of Israel, whom I commanded to shepherd My people, saying, 'Why have you not built Me a house of cedar?' " ' 7 Now therefore, thus shall you say to My servant David, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "I took you [c]from the sheepfold, from following the sheep, to be [1]ruler over My people Israel. 8 And I have been with you wherever you have gone, and have cut off all your enemies from before you, and have [2]made you a name like the name of the great men who are on the earth. 9 Moreover I will appoint a place for My people Israel, and will [d]plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own and move no more; nor shall the sons of wickedness oppress them anymore, as previously, 10 since the time that I commanded judges to be over My people Israel. Also I will subdue all your enemies. Furthermore I tell you that the LORD will build you a [3]house. 11 And it shall be, when your days are [e]fulfilled, when you must [4]go to be with your fathers, that I will set up your [f]seed after you, who will be of your sons; and I will establish his kingdom. 12 [g]He shall build Me a house, and I will establish his throne forever. 13 [h]I will be his Father, and he shall be My son; and I will not take My mercy away from him, [i]as I took it from him who was before you. 14 And [j]I will establish him in My house and in My kingdom forever; and his throne shall be established forever." ' "

■ 17:1—29:30 David made a most important contribution to Israel's history by preparing for the temple. This account has six major sections: being commissioned by God (ch. 17); making military preparation (chs. 18—20); discovering the temple site (21:1—22:1); commissioning the builders (22:2–19); arranging personnel (chs. 23—27); and leading national celebration and exhortation (chs. 28; 29).

■ 17:1–27 David's commission from God to prepare for the temple is in two parts: Nathan's dynastic oracle (17:1–15) and David's prayer of acceptance (17:16–27). The writer follows 2 Sam. 7 closely.

■ 17:1–15 The word "house" lies at the heart of this passage. David saw his own house ("palace") and desired to build a "house" (a temple) for God. But God declared that He would build a "house" (a dynasty, v. 10) for David. David's son would build a "house" (a temple, v. 12) for the Lord.

■ 17:1, 10 The Chronicler does not repeat the references to David's rest from enemies found in 2 Sam. 7:1, 11. The emphasis is that David was a man of war (but see 17:8; 22:18), and therefore unqualified to build the temple (22:6–10 note).

■ 17:7–14 Nathan announces the dynastic promises associated with the Davidic covenant. The covenant with David is also celebrated in Ps. 89 and 132. God promised that David's descendants would become a dynasty ruling always over Israel. Individual kings were subject to severe chastisement (2 Sam. 7:14; Ps. 89:30–32), but the line of David would never be permanently rejected from the throne (2 Sam. 7:15, 16; 2 Chr. 6:16; Ps. 89:33–37; 132:11, 12). This covenant was a basis for hope that Israel could be fully restored (Introduction: Characteristics and Themes). The New Testament reveals that the promises to David were fulfilled in Christ. Christ kept the conditions of the covenant perfectly (Heb. 4:15); He serves as the Mediator of the covenant of grace (Acts 2:25–36; Heb. 9:15); and He promised to return as conquering King (Matt. 24:29–31; Mark 13:24–27; Luke 21:25–28).

■ 17:13 his Father . . . My son. This language indicates a special adoption of the chosen king, not a belief in the divinity of the king as in other ancient Near Eastern cultures (Ps. 2:7; 45:6; 89:27 and note). New Testament writers understand these words about Solomon as a foreshadowing of Christ, the final Davidic King (Mark 1:11; Luke 1:32, 33; Heb. 1:5). Christ was the Son of David, but He was also the Son of God. He was conceived by the Holy Spirit (Luke 1:35) and is the Second Person of the Godhead (John 1:1–18; 17:1).

■ 17:14 his throne shall be established forever. God designated David's line as the permanent dynasty over His people. When David's descendants failed they were chastised (2 Sam. 7:14), but God always raised up another son of David to continue the line. This promise gave hope to the community following the exile of the sixth century B.C., and came to fulfillment in Jesus, who reigns on the throne of David forever (vv. 7–14 note; 2 Chr. 21:7).

15 According to all these words and according to all this vision, so Nathan spoke to David.

16 [k]Then King David went in and sat before the LORD; and he said: "Who am I, O LORD God? And what is my house, that You have brought me this far? 17 And yet this was a small thing in Your sight, O God; and You have also spoken of Your servant's house for a great while to come, and have regarded me according to the rank of a man of high degree, O LORD God. 18 What more can David say to You for the honor of Your servant? For You know Your servant. 19 O LORD, for Your servant's sake, and according to Your own heart, You have done all this greatness, in making known all these great things. 20 O LORD, there is none like You, nor is there any God besides You, according to all that we have heard with our ears. 21 [l]And who is like Your people Israel, the one nation on the earth whom God went to redeem for Himself as a people—to make for Yourself a name by great and awesome deeds, by driving out nations from before Your people whom You redeemed from Egypt? 22 For You have made Your people Israel Your very own people forever; and You, LORD, have become their God.

23 "And now, O LORD, the word which You have spoken concerning Your servant and concerning his house, let it be established forever, and do as You have said. 24 So let it be established, that Your name may be magnified forever, saying, 'The LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, is Israel's God.' And let the house of Your servant David be established before You. 25 For You, O my God, [5]have revealed to Your servant that You will build him a house. Therefore Your servant has found it in his heart to pray before You. 26 And now, LORD, [6]You are God, and have promised this goodness to Your servant. 27 Now You have been pleased to bless the house of Your servant, that it may continue before You forever; for You have blessed it, O LORD, and it shall be blessed forever."

David's Further Conquests

18 After this [a]it came to pass that David [1]attacked the Philistines, subdued them, and took Gath and its towns from the hand of the Philistines. 2 Then he [2]defeated [b]Moab, and the Moabites became David's [c]servants, and brought tribute.

3 And [d]David [3]defeated [4]Hadadezer king of Zobah as far as Hamath, as he went to establish his power by the River Euphrates. 4 David took from him one thousand chariots, [5]seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand foot soldiers. Also David [6]hamstrung all the chariot horses, except that he spared enough of them for one hundred chariots.

5 When the [e]Syrians of Damascus came to help Hadadezer king of Zobah, David killed twenty-two thousand of the Syrians. 6 Then David put garrisons in Syria of Damascus; and the Syrians became David's servants, and brought tribute. So the LORD preserved David wherever he went. 7 And David took the shields of gold that were on the servants of Hadadezer, and brought them to Jerusalem. 8 Also from [7]Tibhath and from [8]Chun, cities of [9]Hadadezer, David brought a large amount of [f]bronze, with which [g]Solomon made the bronze [1]Sea, the pillars, and the articles of bronze.

9 Now when [2]Tou king of Hamath heard that David had [3]defeated all the army of Hadadezer king of Zobah, 10 he sent [4]Hadoram his son to King David, to greet him and bless him, because he had fought against Hadadezer and [5]defeated him (for Hadadezer had been at war with Tou); and Hadoram brought with him all kinds of [h]articles of gold, silver, and bronze. 11 King David also dedicated these to the LORD, along with the silver and gold that he had brought from all these nations—from Edom, from Moab, from the [i]people of Ammon, from the [j]Philistines, and from [k]Amalek.

■ 17:16 Who am I. David's sincere expression of humility sets an attractive and valuable example (29:14–16; 2 Chr. 2:6).

■ 17:24 name. See note on 13:6.

■ 18:1—20:8 This section concerns David's military and political accomplishments. Relying on 2 Sam. 8; 10; 11; and 21, it is organized in four sections: a survey of victories (18:1–13); a list of officials (18:14–17); victory over the Ammonites (19:1—20:3); and victory over the Philistines (20:4–8). This material demonstrates how David established the political security necessary for temple construction in Solomon's day (18:13 note; 22:17–19). Second, it offers the background for David's enormous contributions to the temple construction (18:8, 11 note). Third, it anticipates David's disqualification from temple building because of his warfare (22:6–10 note; 28:3). Fourth, David's victories inspired the readers to hope for victory over the enemies of their day (19:1—20:3 note). David's involvement with Mephibosheth (2 Sam. 9; 21:1–14) is omitted, as is his adultery with Bathsheba and its aftermath (2 Sam. 11—20; see 10:14 note).

■ 18:1–13 See 2 Sam. 8:1–14 and notes. The only noteworthy omission in the account is David's severe treatment of the Moabites (2 Sam. 8:2).

■ 18:4 seven thousand. According to the parallel text in 2 Sam. 8:4, David captured "seven hundred." However, an ancient translation of 2 Sam. agrees with 1 Chr. in reading "seven thousand," and it may be that the Hebrew text of 2 Sam. was miscopied at some point (see 19:18 note).

■ 18:8, 11 Solomon made . . . David also dedicated. David devoted the spoils of warfare to temple construction, preparing the way for Solomon to build.

■ 18:11 Edom . . . Amalek. This list of enemies covers most of the armies mentioned in chs. 18—20.

12 Moreover [l]Abishai the son of Zeruiah killed [m]eighteen thousand [6]Edomites in the Valley of Salt. 13 [n]He also put garrisons in Edom, and all the Edomites became David's servants. And the LORD preserved David wherever he went.

David's Administration

14 So David reigned over all Israel, and administered judgment and justice to all his people. 15 Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army; Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; 16 Zadok the son of Ahitub and [7]Abimelech the son of Abiathar were the priests; [8]Shavsha was the scribe; 17 [o]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David's sons were [9]chief ministers at the king's side.

The Ammonites and Syrians Defeated

19 It[a] happened after this that Nahash the king of the people of Ammon died, and his son reigned in his place. 2 Then David said, "I will show kindness to Hanun the son of Nahash, because his father showed kindness to me." So David sent messengers to comfort him concerning his father. And David's servants came to Hanun in the land of the people of Ammon to comfort him.

3 And the princes of the people of Ammon said to Hanun, [1]"Do you think that David really honors your father because he has sent comforters to you? Did his servants not come to you to search and to overthrow and to spy out the land?"

4 Therefore Hanun took David's servants, shaved them, and cut off their garments [2]in the middle, at their [b]buttocks, and sent them away. 5 Then some went and told David about the men; and he sent to meet them, because the men were greatly ashamed. And the king said, "Wait at Jericho until your beards have grown, and then return."

6 When the people of Ammon saw that they had made themselves repulsive to David, Hanun and the people of Ammon sent a thousand talents of silver to hire for themselves chariots and horsemen from [3]Mesopotamia, from Syrian Maacah, [c]and from [4]Zobah. 7 So they hired for themselves thirty-two thousand chariots, with the king of Maacah and his people, who came and encamped before Medeba. Also the people of Ammon gathered together from their cities, and came to battle.

8 Now when David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army of the mighty men. 9 Then the people of Ammon came out and put themselves in battle array before the gate of the city, and the kings who had come were by themselves in the field.

10 When Joab saw that the battle line was against him before and behind, he chose some of Israel's best, and put them in battle array against the Syrians. 11 And the rest of the people he put under the command of Abishai his brother, and they set themselves in battle array against the people of Ammon. 12 Then he said, "If the Syrians are too strong for me, then you shall help me; but if the people of Ammon are too strong for you, then I will help you. 13 Be of good courage, and let us be strong for our people and for the cities of our God. And may the LORD do what is good in His sight."

14 So Joab and the people who were with him drew near for the battle against the Syrians, and they fled before him. 15 When the people of Ammon saw that the Syrians were fleeing, they also fled before Abishai his brother, and entered the city. So Joab went to Jerusalem.

16 Now when the Syrians saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they sent messengers and brought the Syrians who were beyond [5]the River, and [6]Shophach the commander of

■ 18:13 the LORD preserved David. David's victories provided a secure political environment that allowed Solomon to concentrate on building (19:1—20:3 note).

■ 18:14 David reigned over all Israel. David's domestic arrangements also contributed to the political stability necessary for building projects (18:1—20:8 note).

all Israel. The Chronicler carries this expression over from 2 Sam. 8:15.

■ 18:16 Zadok . . . Abimelech the son of Abiathar. See note on 15:11.

■ 18:17 Cherethites . . . Pelethites. Foreign mercenaries among the king's guards (1 Sam. 30:14 note).

chief ministers. The Hebrew word translated "chief ministers" in 2 Sam. 8:18 is the normal word for "priests." Chronicles uses a word more definitely referring to high political office. David and his sons were not technically priests, and the writer is being more precise about the proper ordering of royalty and priesthood (6:1 note).

■ 19:1—20:3 Compare 2 Sam. 10:1–19; 11:1; 12:29–31 and notes. For the omission of David's sin with Bathsheba and the ensuing troubles in the Davidic house (2 Sam. 11:1—21:14) see note on 18:1—20:8.

■ 19:1 the people of Ammon. The Ammonites were longstanding enemies of Israel (Judg. 10:7–9; 10:17—11:40; 1 Sam. 11:1–11; 14:47). They also troubled the community following the return from exile in Babylon (Neh. 2:19; 4:3, 7, 8).

■ 19:6 Mesopotamia. Chronicles replaces the less familiar Beth Rehob with Mesopotamia and omits the reference to Ish-Tob (2 Sam. 10:6).

■ 19:7 thirty-two thousand. Israel's victory is frequently highlighted by reporting the numbers of the opposing army (15:18–22; 2 Chr. 12:2–4; 13:3; 14:9).

18 [7]seven hundred, 2 Sam. 10:18 [8]horsemen, 2 Sam. 10:18

Hadadezer's army went before them. [17] When it was told David, he gathered all Israel, crossed over the Jordan and came upon them, and set up in battle array against them. So when David had set up in battle array against the Syrians, they fought with him. [18] Then the Syrians fled before Israel; and David killed [7]seven thousand charioteers and forty thousand [8]foot soldiers of the Syrians, and killed Shophach the commander of the army. [19] And when the servants of Hadadezer saw that they were defeated by Israel, they made peace with David and became his servants. So the Syrians were not willing to help the people of Ammon anymore.

20 It[a] happened [f]in the spring of the year, at the time kings go out to battle, that Joab led out the armed forces and ravaged the country of the people of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabbah. But [b]David stayed at Jerusalem. And [c]Joab defeated Rabbah and overthrew it. [2] Then David [d]took their king's crown from his head, and found it to weigh a talent of gold, and there were precious stones in it. And it was set on David's head. Also he brought out the [2]spoil of the city in great abundance. [3] And he brought out the people who were in it, and [3]put them to work with saws, with iron picks, and with axes. So David did to all the cities of the people of Ammon. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

Philistine Giants Destroyed

[4] Now it happened afterward [e]that war broke out at [4]Gezer with the Philistines, at which time [f]Sibbechai the Hushathite killed [5]Sippai, who was one of the sons of [6]the giant. And they were subdued.

[5] Again there was war with the Philistines, and Elhanan the son of [7]Jair killed Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's [g]beam.

[6] Yet again [h]there was war at Gath, where there was a man of great stature, with twenty-four fingers and toes, six on each hand and six on each foot; and he also was born to [8]the giant. [7] So when he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of [9]Shimea, David's brother, killed him.

[8] These were born to the giant in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

The Census of Israel and Judah

21 Now [a]Satan stood up against Israel, and moved David to [f]number Israel. [2] So David said to Joab and to the leaders of the people, "Go, number Israel from Beersheba to Dan, [b]and bring the number of them to me that I may know it."

[3] And Joab answered, "May the LORD make His people a hundred times more than they are. But, my lord the king, are they not all my lord's servants? Why then does my lord require this thing? Why should he be a cause of guilt in Israel?"

[4] Nevertheless the king's word prevailed against Joab. Therefore Joab departed and went throughout all Israel and came to Jerusalem. [5] Then Joab gave the sum of the number of the peo-

■ 19:17 all Israel. See note on 11:1.

■ 19:18 seven thousand. 2 Sam. 10:18 reads "seven hundred." It is possible that the higher number in Chronicles is due to a copyist's error in transmission of the text.

■ 20:1 in the spring. Armies typically advanced after the first spring harvest when food was more abundant (2 Sam. 11:1; 1 Kin. 20:22, 26).

■ 20:2 spoil . . . in great abundance. See note on 18:8, 11.

■ 20:4 were subdued. Not found in 2 Sam. 21:18. The sentence indicates that the promise of 17:10 was fulfilled (2 Chr. 13:18; and contrast 28:19).

■ 21:1—22:1 The history continues with David's discovery of the temple site (17:1—29:30 note). The theme of military victory (19:1—20:8) leads to an account of David's census. With two major exceptions, the account follows 2 Sam. 24 closely (21:1; 21:28—22:1 and notes). Second Samuel reports how David brought trouble on the nation but successfully interceded on its behalf. In Chronicles the point of the story is to tell how God led David to discover the holy site for the temple.

■ 21:1 Satan. When the Hebrew word satan is used with a definite article, it means lit. "the adversary" (Job 1:6; Zech. 3:1). Here satan is used for the first time without a definite article, probably as a proper name. See "Satan" at Job 1:6.

Satan stood up. According to 1 Sam. 24:1, it was God who moved David. God Himself tempts no one (James 1:13), but He employs created means under His sovereign control. Chronicles identifies Satan as the instrument by which David was led astray. The two passages together remind us that God is sovereign over all events, not excepting temptation and sin (11:4; 25:20 note; Ex. 4:21 note; Josh. 11:20; 1 Kin. 22:22–23; 2 Chr. 10:15 note; Job 1:12; 2:10; Ezek. 3:20; 14:9; Matt. 6:13; Acts 4:27, 28).

■ 21:3 a cause of guilt in Israel. Taking a census was not prohibited by Old Testament law, though there were specific regulations (Ex. 30:12; Num. 1:2; 26:2). David's desire for a count of his military personnel may have been an indication of reliance on human might rather than on divine power (2 Chr. 13:18 and note). In the light of Joab's response (21:6; 27:24), David may have insisted that the tribe of Levi be counted for military service as well (v. 6 note).

■ 21:5 All Israel. 2 Sam. 24:9 reads simply "Israel." See note on 11:1.

one million. The differences of these numbers from those in 2 Sam. 24:9 are problematic. It may be that the number of men from Judah is included in the total for "all Israel" (that is, including Judah with 470,000 not "and Judah"). The Book of Chronicles may exclude some elements, such as Levi and Benjamin, from its count (21:6 note). Or the numbers may be ple to David. All Israel had one million one hundred thousand men who drew the sword, and Judah had four hundred and seventy thousand men who drew the sword. 6 [c]But he did not count Levi and Benjamin among them, for the king's [2]word was abominable to Joab.

7 And [3]God was displeased with this thing; therefore He struck Israel. 8 So David said to God, [d]"I have sinned greatly, because I have done this thing; [e]but now, I pray, take away the iniquity of Your servant, for I have done very foolishly."

9 Then the LORD spoke to Gad, David's [f]seer, saying, 10 "Go and tell David, [g]saying, 'Thus says the LORD: "I offer you three things; choose one of them for yourself, that I may do it to you." ' "

11 So Gad came to David and said to him, "Thus says the LORD: 'Choose for yourself, 12 [h]either [4]three years of famine, or three months to be defeated by your foes with the sword of your enemies overtaking you, or else for three days the sword of the LORD—the plague in the land, with the [5]angel of the LORD destroying throughout all the territory of Israel.' Now consider what answer I should take back to Him who sent me."

13 And David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Please let me fall into the hand of the LORD, for His [i]mercies are very great; but do not let me fall into the hand of man."

14 So the LORD sent a [j]plague upon Israel, and seventy thousand men of Israel fell. 15 And God sent [6]an [k]angel to Jerusalem to destroy it. As [7]he was destroying, the LORD looked and [l]relented of the disaster, and said to the angel who was destroying, "It is enough; now restrain [8]your hand." And the angel of the LORD stood by the [m]threshing floor of [9]Ornan the Jebusite.

16 Then David lifted his eyes and [n]saw the angel of the LORD standing between earth and heaven, having in his hand a drawn sword stretched out over Jerusalem. So David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, fell on their faces. 17 And David said to God, "Was it not I who commanded the people to be numbered? I am the one who has sinned and done evil indeed; but these [o]sheep, what have they done? Let Your hand, I pray, O LORD my God, be against me and my father's house, but not against Your people that they should be plagued."

18 Therefore, the [p]angel of the LORD commanded Gad to say to David that David should go and erect an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. 19 So David went up at the word of Gad, which he had spoken in the name of the LORD. 20 Now Ornan turned and saw the angel; and his four sons who were with him hid themselves, but Ornan continued threshing wheat. 21 So David came to Ornan, and Ornan looked and saw David. And he went out from the threshing floor, and bowed before David with his face to the ground. 22 Then David said to Ornan, [1]"Grant me the place of this threshing floor, that I may build an altar on it to the LORD. You shall grant it to me at the full price, that the plague may be withdrawn from the people."

23 But Ornan said to David, "Take it to yourself, and let my lord the king do what is good in his eyes. Look, I also give you the oxen for burnt offerings, the threshing implements for wood, and the wheat for the grain offering; I give it all."

24 Then King David said to Ornan, "No, but I will surely buy it for the full price, for I will not take what is yours for the LORD, nor offer burnt offerings with that which costs me nothing." 25 So [q]David gave Ornan six hundred shekels of gold by weight for the place. 26 And David built there an altar to the LORD, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings, and called on the LORD; and [r]He answered him from heaven by fire on the altar of burnt offering.

27 So the LORD commanded the angel, and he returned his sword to its sheath.

■ 21:6 he did not count. Joab did not carry through completely the census David had ordered (v. 3 note).

Levi and Benjamin. These tribes were not included in the census. The tribe of Levi was to be excluded from any military census, according to Mosaic Law (Num. 1:49; 2:33). Benjamin may have been excluded because the tabernacle was in Gibeon at the time (v. 29).

■ 21:13 His mercies are very great. Despite the severity of divine chastisement, David trusts in the abundant mercy of God. Undoubtedly, the promises to David in 17:1–14 supply a background to David's confident trust in God's mercy.

■ 21:16 This verse is not found in the traditional Hebrew text of 2 Sam. 24. However, recently discovered texts of Samuel (Dead Sea Scrolls) and other witnesses suggest that the verse was probably originally in Samuel.

■ 21:20, 21 Although these verses about Ornan (spelled "Araunah" in 2 Sam. 24) do not appear in the traditional Hebrew text of 2 Sam. 24:20, recently discovered texts of Samuel (Dead Sea Scrolls) and other witnesses suggest that the information was originally in Samuel.

■ 21:22 at the full price. This portion of the account is reminiscent of Abraham's purchase of the burial site for Sarah (Gen. 23). David purchased the site at full price. As a result, the future temple site (21:28—22:1 note) was a royal possession devoted to the temple.

■ 21:25 six hundred shekels . . . for the place. 2 Sam. 24:24 reads "the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver." It has been suggested that Samuel focuses on the threshing floor with its oxen, while Chronicles gives the value of the whole site.

■ 21:26 He answered him . . . by fire. A rare occurrence, indicating God's special approval of David's actions (Lev. 9:24; 1 Kin. 18:37, 38). This event anticipates Solomon's temple dedication later at this same site (2 Chr. 7:1).

28 At that time, when David saw that the LORD had answered him on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, he sacrificed there. 29 [s]For the tabernacle of the LORD and the altar of the burnt offering, which Moses had made in the wilderness, were at that time at the high place in [t]Gibeon. 30 But David could not go before it to inquire of God, for he was afraid of the sword of the angel of the LORD.

David Prepares to Build the Temple

22 Then David said, [a]"This is the house of the LORD God, and this is the altar of burnt offering for Israel." 2 So David commanded to gather the [b]aliens who were in the land of Israel; and he appointed masons to [c]cut hewn stones to build the house of God. 3 And David prepared iron in abundance for the nails of the doors of the gates and for the joints, and bronze in abundance [d]beyond measure, 4 and cedar trees in abundance; for the [e]Sidonians and those from Tyre brought much cedar wood to David.

5 Now David said, [f]"Solomon my son is young and inexperienced, and the house to be built for the LORD must be exceedingly magnificent, famous and glorious throughout all countries. I will now make preparation for it." So David made abundant preparations before his death.

6 Then he called for his son Solomon, and [1]charged him to build a house for the LORD God of Israel. 7 And David said to Solomon: "My son, as for me, [g]it was in my mind to build a house [h]to the name of the LORD my God; 8 but the word of the LORD came to me, saying, [i]'You have shed much blood and have made great wars; you shall not build a house for My name, because you have shed much blood on the earth in My sight. 9 [j]Behold, a son shall be born to you, who shall be a man of rest; and I will give him [k]rest from all his enemies all around. His name shall be [2]Solomon, for I will give peace and quietness to Israel in his days. 10 [l]He shall build a house for My name, and [m]he shall be My son, and I will be his Father; and I will establish the throne of his kingdom over Israel forever.' 11 Now, my son, may [n]the LORD be with you; and may you prosper, and build the house of the LORD your God, as He has said to you. 12 Only may the LORD [o]give you wisdom and understanding, and give you charge concerning Israel, that you may keep the law of the LORD your God. 13 [p]Then you will prosper, if you take care to fulfill the statutes and judgments with which the LORD [3]charged Moses concerning Israel. [q]Be strong and of good courage; do not fear nor be dismayed. 14 Indeed I have taken much trouble to prepare for the house of the LORD one hundred thousand talents of gold and one million talents of silver, and bronze and iron [r]beyond measure, for it is so abundant. I have prepared timber and stone also, and you may add to them. 15 Moreover there are workmen with you in abundance: woodsmen and stonecutters, and all types of skillful men for every kind of work. 16 Of gold and silver and bronze and iron there is no limit. Arise and begin working, and [s]the LORD be with you."

■ 21:28—22:1 These verses are not found in 2 Sam. 24. They show an interest in sacrifice (21:28), and possibly help explain David's neglect of the tabernacle (21:29, 30). The main point is that David recognized the threshing floor of Ornan as the site for the future temple (22:1). This remarkable ending with its clear account of moral failure in David's life indicates vividly the place to which the community must turn for sacrifice, forgiveness, and answered prayer (2 Chr. 3:1; 6:12–42 and notes).

■ 22:2—29:20 This is the longest section about David's life found only in Chronicles. The history of how David completed temple preparations begins and ends with descriptions of royal assemblies (22:2–19 and 28:1—29:20) that are similar at several points (compare 22:8 with 28:3; 22:13 with 28:20; and 22:17 with 28:21).

■ 22:2–19 This is the first assembly in which David gave commissions to foreign laborers (22:2–4), Solomon (22:5–16), and the Israelite leaders (22:17–19) to construct the temple of God.

■ 22:2 aliens. David and Solomon used conscripted labor made up primarily of foreigners (1 Kin. 5:13–18; 9:15–23; 11:28; 2 Chr. 2:2, 17–18; 8:7–10). The mention of "aliens" participating in the construction of the first temple corresponds to the participation of foreigners in the reconstruction of the temple following the Babylonian exile of the Jews (Is. 60:10–12).

■ 22:3 iron. Presumably taken from the Philistines whom David had conquered (1 Sam. 13:19–22).

bronze. Taken from the spoils of war (18:8, 11 note).

■ 22:5 young and inexperienced. Solomon was not experienced enough to handle the responsibility of preparing for the temple (cf. 29:1; 2 Chr. 13:7).

abundant preparations. The central theme of this section is how David provided virtually everything for the temple built by Solomon, including plans, materials, workers, work assignments, political stability, and popular support. In effect, the temple was a joint project of David and Solomon (22:2—29:20; 2 Chr. 2:3 and notes). See Introduction: Characteristics and Themes.

■ 22:6–10 The writer explains why David himself could not build the temple. 1 Kin. 5:3–5 states that David was preoccupied with warfare, and this passage states specifically that David was ritually defiled by bloodshed so that he could not be directly involved in the building (2 Chr. 6:9).

■ 22:7, 8, 10, 19 name. See note on 13:6.

■ 22:9 rest . . . peace and quietness. On several occasions peace and rest from warfare are seen as God's reward to His faithful people (v. 18; 2 Chr. 14:6, 7; 15:15; 20:30; 23:21). This blessing was held out to those returned from Babylonian exile as a basis for hope in their troubled days.

■ 22:12, 13 keep the law of the LORD. See note on 16:40.

■ 22:13 Be strong and of good courage. David's commission to Solomon (22:12, 13) is reminiscent of Joshua's commission from God (cf. 28:20 and Josh. 1:6–9).

17 David also commanded all the [t]leaders of Israel to help Solomon his son, saying, 18 "Is not the LORD your God with you? [u]And has He not given you rest on every side? For He has given the inhabitants of the land into my hand, and the land is subdued before the LORD and before His people. 19 Now set your heart and your soul to seek the LORD your God. Therefore arise and build the sanctuary of the LORD God, to [v]bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD and the holy articles of God into the house that is to be built [w]for the name of the LORD."

The Divisions of the Levites

23 So when David was old and full of days, he made his son [a]Solomon king over Israel. 2 And he gathered together all the leaders of Israel, with the priests and the Levites. 3 Now the Levites were numbered from the age of [b]thirty years and above; and the number of individual males was thirty-eight thousand. 4 Of these, twenty-four thousand were to [c]look after the work of the house of the LORD, six thousand were [d]officers and judges, 5 four thousand were gatekeepers, and four thousand [e]praised the LORD with musical instruments, f"which I made," said David, "for giving praise."

6 Also [g]David separated them into [1]divisions among the sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

7 Of the [h]Gershonites: [2]Laadan and Shimei. 8 The sons of Laadan: the first Jehiel, then Zetham and Joel—three in all. 9 The sons of Shimei: Shelomith, Haziel, and Haran—three in all. These were the heads of the fathers' houses of Laadan. 10 And the sons of Shimei: Jahath, [3]Zina, Jeush, and Beriah. These were the four sons of Shimei. 11 Jahath was the first and Zizah the second. But Jeush and Beriah did not have many sons; therefore they were assigned as one father's house.

12 [i]The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel—four in all. 13 The sons of [j]Amram: Aaron and Moses; and [k]Aaron was set apart, he and his sons forever, that he should [4]sanctify the most holy things, [l]to burn incense before the LORD, [m]to minister to Him, and [n]to give the blessing in His name forever. 14 Now [o]the sons of Moses the man of God were reckoned to the tribe of Levi. 15 [p]The sons of Moses were [5]Gershon and Eliezer. 16 Of the sons of Gershon, [q]Shebuel[6] was the first. 17 Of the descendants of Eliezer, [r]Rehabiah was the first. And Eliezer had no other sons, but the sons of Rehabiah were very many. 18 Of the sons of Izhar, [s]Shelomith was the first. 19 [t]Of the sons of Hebron, Jeriah was the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth. 20 Of the sons of Uzziel, Michah was the first and Jesshiah the second.

21 [u]The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The sons of Mahli were Eleazar and [v]Kish. 22 And Eleazar died, and [w]had no sons, but only daughters; and their [7]brethren, the sons of Kish, [x]took them as wives. 23 [y]The sons of Mushi were Mahli, Eder, and Jeremoth—three in all.

24 These were the sons of [z]Levi by their fathers' houses—the heads of the fathers' houses as they were counted individually by the number of their names, who did the work for the service of the house of the LORD, from the age of [a]twenty years and above.

25 For David said, "The LORD God of Israel [b]has given rest to His people, that they may dwell in Jerusalem forever"; 26 and also to the Levites, "They shall no longer [c]carry the tabernacle, or any of the articles for its service." 27 For by the [d]last words of David the Levites were numbered from twenty years old and above; 28 because their duty was to help the sons of Aaron in the service of the house of the LORD, in the courts and in the chambers, in the purifying of all holy things and the work of the service of the house of God, 29 both with [e]the showbread and [f]the fine he made his son Solomon king over Israel. Apparently assuming his readers' knowledge of the Book of Kings, the writer of Chronicles says little about the checkered history of David's rise to power (11:1–9 note). He also does not discuss Solomon's struggle for kingship (1 Kin. 1; 2), presenting a smooth transition of power from David to Solomon. See 3:10–16 note, and Introduction: Characteristics and Themes.

■ 23:2—27:34 David's organization of religious (23:2—26:32) and civil (ch. 27) personnel established arrangements for Solomon's administration, and it also provided a model for the reorganization of the people in the community after the return from exile in Babylon.

■ 23:2–32 the priests and the Levites. Between introductory (23:2–6) and concluding remarks (23:24–32) comes the list of divisions of Levites into Gershonites (23:7–11), Kohathites (23:12–20), and Merarites (23:21–23). See note on 6:1.

■ 23:3 age of thirty years. Apparently the age at which Levites began service was adjusted according to need: thirty years (Num. 4:1–3), twenty-five years (Num. 8:23–25), and twenty years (1 Chr. 23:24, 27). A period of apprenticeship may be in view in some passages.

■ 23:5 musical instruments. See note on 15:16.

■ 23:6–23 Compare similar lists in 6:16–30; 24:20–30.

■ 23:24, 27 twenty years. See note on v. 3.

flour for the grain offering, with [g]the unleavened cakes and [h]what is baked in the pan, with what is mixed and with all kinds of [i]measures and sizes; [30] to stand every morning to thank and praise the LORD, and likewise at evening; [31] and at every presentation of a burnt offering to the LORD [j]on the Sabbaths and on the New Moons and on the [k]set[8] feasts, by number according to the ordinance governing them, regularly before the LORD; [32] and that they should [l]attend to the [m]needs of the tabernacle of meeting, the needs of the holy place, and the [n]needs of the sons of Aaron their brethren in the work of the house of the LORD.

The Divisions of the Priests

24 Now these are the divisions of the sons of Aaron. [a]The sons of Aaron were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. [2] And [b]Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and had no children; therefore Eleazar and Ithamar ministered as priests. [3] Then David with Zadok of the sons of Eleazar, and [c]Ahimelech of the sons of Ithamar, divided them according to the schedule of their service.

[4] There were more leaders found of the sons of Eleazar than of the sons of Ithamar, and thus they were divided. Among the sons of Eleazar were sixteen heads of their fathers' houses, and eight heads of their fathers' houses among the sons of Ithamar. [5] Thus they were divided by lot, one group as another, for there were officials of the sanctuary and officials of the house of God, from the sons of Eleazar and from the sons of Ithamar. [6] And the scribe, Shemaiah the son of Nethanel, one of the Levites, wrote them down before the king, the leaders, Zadok the priest, Ahimelech the son of Abiathar, and the heads of the fathers' houses of the priests and Levites, one father's house taken for Eleazar and one for Ithamar.

[7] Now the first lot fell to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah, [8] the third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim, [9] the fifth to Malchijah, the sixth to Mijamin, [10] the seventh to Hakkoz, the eighth to [d]Abijah, [11] the ninth to Jeshua, the tenth to Shecaniah, [12] the eleventh to Eliashib, the twelfth to Jakim, [13] the thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Jeshebeab, [14] the fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer, [15] the seventeenth to Hezir, the eighteenth to [f]Happizzez, [16] the nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to [g]Jehezekel, [17] the twenty-first to Jachin, the twenty-second to Gamul, [18] the twenty-third to Delaiah, the twenty-fourth to Maaziah.

[19] This was the schedule of their service [e]for coming into the house of the LORD according to their ordinance by the hand of Aaron their father, as the LORD God of Israel had commanded him.

Other Levites

[20] And the rest of the sons of Levi: of the sons of Amram, [3]Shubael; of the sons of Shubael, Jehdeiah. [21] Concerning [f]Rehabiah, of the sons of Rehabiah, the first was Isshiah. [22] Of the Izharites, [4]Shelomoth; of the sons of Shelomoth, Jahath. [23] Of the sons [5]of [g]Hebron, Jeriah [5]was the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth. [24] Of the sons of Uzziel, Michah; of the sons of Michah, Shamir. [25] The brother of Michah, Isshiah; of the sons of Isshiah, Zechariah. [26] [h]The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi; the son of Jaaziah, Beno. [27] The sons of Merari by Jaaziah were Beno, Shoham, Zaccur, and Ibri. [28] Of Mahli: Eleazar, [i]who had no sons. [29] Of Kish: the son of Kish, Jerahmeel.

[30] Also [j]the sons of Mushi were Mahli, Eder, and Jerimoth. These were the sons of the Levites according to their fathers' houses.

[31] These also cast lots just as their brothers the sons of Aaron did, in the presence of King David, Zadok, Ahimelech, and the heads of the fathers' houses of the priests and Levites. The chief fathers did just as their younger brethren.

■ 24:1, 2 The account follows the traditional division of the sons of Aaron (cf. 6:3; Ex. 6:23; Num. 3:2–4). The descendants of Eleazar and Ithamar alone served as priests (6:1 note; Lev. 10:1–3).

■ 24:3 Zadok. See notes on 6:53 and 15:11.

■ 24:5 divided by lot. Casting lots in careful accord with revealed standards was designed to ensure that decisions were made according to divine direction rather than human prejudice (Prov. 16:33; Luke 1:8, 9; Acts 1:26).

■ 24:6 Ahimelech the son of Abiathar. See note on 18:16.

■ 24:7–18 Twenty-four divisions were established to provide for regular rotation of duty among the priestly families. See the similar practice in New Testament times (Luke 1:8, 9).

■ 24:7 Jehoiarib. The father of the Maccabees (Matthaias) was in the division of Jehoiarib (cf. 1 Macc. 2:1).

■ 24:10 Abijah. The father of John the Baptist (Zacharias) was in the division of Abijah (Luke 1:5).

■ 24:31 Zadok. See notes on 6:53 and 15:11.

just as their younger brethren. The equal treatment of all the families was a model to be followed by the readers in the period following the Babylonian exile (24:5 note). Possibly there was a controversy that required emphasis on this fairness.

The Musicians

25 Moreover David and the captains of the army separated for the service some of the sons of [a]Asaph, of Heman, and of Jeduthun, who should prophesy with harps, stringed instruments, and cymbals. And the number of the skilled men performing their service was: [2] Of the sons of Asaph: Zaccur, Joseph, Nethaniah, and [1]Asharelah; the sons of Asaph were [2]under the direction of Asaph, who prophesied according to the order of the king. [3] Of [b]Jeduthun, the sons of Jeduthun: Gedaliah, [3]Zeri, Jeshaiah, [4]Shimei, Hashabiah, and Mattithiah, [5]six, under the direction of their father Jeduthun, who prophesied with a harp to give thanks and to praise the LORD. [4] Of Heman, the sons of Heman: Bukkiah, Mattaniah, [6]Uzziel, [7]Shebuel, [8]Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, Romamti-Ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, and Mahazioth. [5] All these were the sons of Heman the king's seer in the words of God, to [9]exalt his [c]horn. For God gave Heman fourteen sons and three daughters.

[6] All these were under the direction of their father for the music in the house of the LORD, with cymbals, stringed instruments, and [d]harps, for the service of the house of God. Asaph, Jeduthun, and Heman were [e]under the authority of the king. [7] So the [f]number of them, with their brethren who were instructed in the songs of the LORD, all who were skillful, was two hundred and eighty-eight.

[8] And they cast lots for their duty, the small as well as the great, [g]the teacher with the student.

[9] Now the first lot for Asaph came out for Joseph; the second for Gedaliah, him with his brethren and sons, twelve; [10] the third for Zaccur, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [11] the fourth for [1]Jizri, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [12] the fifth for Nethaniah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [13] the sixth for Bukkiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [14] the seventh for [2]Jesharelah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [15] the eighth for Jeshaiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [16] the ninth for Mattaniah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [17] the tenth for Shimei, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [18] the eleventh for [3]Azarel, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [19] the twelfth for Hashabiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [20] the thirteenth for [4]Shubael, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [21] the fourteenth for Mattithiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [22] the fifteenth for [5]Jeremoth, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [23] the sixteenth for Hananiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [24] the seventeenth for Joshbekashah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [25] the eighteenth for Hanani, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [26] the nineteenth for Mallothi, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [27] the twentieth for Eliathah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [28] the twenty-first for Hothir, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [29] the twenty-second for Giddalti, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [30] the twenty-third for Mahazioth, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [31] the twenty-fourth for Romamti-Ezer, his sons and his brethren, twelve.

The Gatekeepers

26 Concerning the divisions of the gatekeepers: of the Korahites, [1]Meshelemiah the son of [a]Kore, of the sons of [2]Asaph. [2] And the sons of Meshelemiah were [b]Zechariah the firstborn, Jediael the second, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth, [3] Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, Eliehoenai the seventh.

[4] Moreover the sons of [c]Obed-Edom were Shemaiah the firstborn, Jehozabad the second, Joah the third, Sacar the fourth, Nethanel the fifth, [5] Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, Peulthai the eighth; for God blessed him.

[6] Also to Shemaiah his son were sons born who governed their fathers' houses, because they were men of great ability. [7] The sons of Shemaiah were Othni, Rephael, Obed, and Elzabad, whose brothers Elihu and Semachiah were able men.

[8] All these were of the sons of Obed-Edom, they and their sons and their brethren, [d]able men with strength for the work: sixty-two of Obed-Edom.

■ 25:1–31 The music of worship is mentioned many times in this chapter (15:16 note).

■ 25:1 captains of the army. The name of David together with his captains recommends their assignments (11:10; 12:32) as a model for the organization of the community.

prophesy. Temple personnel are seen in prophetic roles on several occasions (2 Chr. 20:14–17; 24:19–22; 29:30; 35:15; cf. 2 Kin. 23:2 with 2 Chr. 34:30). This theme suggests the role of priests as guides for the restoration of the community after the return from exile in Babylon (Zech. 6:9–15).

■ 25:8 cast lots for their duty. See note on 24:5.

■ 25:9–31 first . . . twenty-fourth. See note on 24:7–18.

■ 26:1–19 gatekeepers. The specific duties of gatekeepers are described in 9:22–29.

■ 26:4 Obed-Edom. See note on 13:13.

■ 26:5 for God blessed him. Numerous children are a sign of divine blessing (13:13 note).

9 And Meshelemiah had sons and brethren, eighteen able men.

10 Also [e]Hosah, of the children of Merari, had sons: Shimri the first (for though he was not the firstborn, his father made him the first), 11 Hilkiah the second, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth; all the sons and brethren of Hosah were thirteen.

12 Among these were the divisions of the gatekeepers, among the chief men, having duties just like their brethren, to serve in the house of the LORD. 13 And they [f]cast lots for each gate, the small as well as the great, according to their father's house. 14 The lot for the East Gate fell to [3]Shelemiah. Then they cast lots for his son Zechariah, a wise counselor, and his lot came out for the North Gate; 15 to Obed-Edom the South Gate, and to his sons the [4]storehouse. 16 To Shuppim and Hosah the lot came out for the West Gate, with the Shallecheth Gate on the [g]ascending highway—watchman opposite watchman. 17 On the east were six Levites, on the north four each day, on the south four each day, and for the [5]storehouse two by two. 18 As for the [6]Parbar on the west, there were four on the highway and two at the Parbar. 19 These were the divisions of the gatekeepers among the sons of Korah and among the sons of Merari.

The Treasuries and Other Duties

20 Of the Levites, Ahijah was [h]over the treasuries of the house of God and over the treasuries of the [i]dedicated[7] things. 21 The sons of [8]Laadan, the descendants of the Gershonites of Laadan, heads of their fathers' houses, of Laadan the Gershonite: [9]Jehieli. 22 The sons of Jehieli, Zetham and Joel his brother, were over the treasuries of the house of the LORD. 23 Of the [j]Amramites, the Izharites, the Hebronites, and the Uzzielites: 24 [k]Shebuel the son of Gershom, the son of Moses, was overseer of the treasuries. 25 And his brethren by Eliezer were Rehabiah his son, Jeshaiah his son, Joram his son, Zichri his son, and [l]Shelomith his son.

26 This Shelomith and his brethren were over all the treasuries of the dedicated things [m]which King David and the heads of fathers' houses, the captains over thousands and hundreds, and the captains of the army, had dedicated. 27 Some of the [l]spoils won in battles they dedicated to maintain the house of the LORD. 28 And all that Samuel [n]the seer, Saul the son of Kish, Abner the son of Ner, and Joab the son of Zeruiah had dedicated, every dedicated thing, was under the hand of Shelomith and his brethren.

29 Of the Izharites, Chenaniah and his sons [o]performed duties as [p]officials and judges over Israel outside Jerusalem.

30 Of the Hebronites, [q]Hashabiah and his brethren, one thousand seven hundred able men, had the oversight of Israel on the west side of the Jordan for all the business of the LORD, and in the service of the king. 31 Among the Hebronites, [r]Jerijah was head of the Hebronites according to his genealogy of the fathers. In the fortieth year of the reign of David they were sought, and there were found among them capable men [s]at Jazer of Gilead. 32 And his brethren were two thousand seven hundred able men, heads of fathers' houses, whom King David made officials over the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, for every matter pertaining to God and the [t]affairs of the king.

The Military Divisions

27 And the children of Israel, according to their number, the heads of fathers' houses, the captains of thousands and hundreds and their officers, served the king in every matter of the military divisions. These divisions came in and went out month by month throughout all the months of the year, each division having twenty-four thousand.

2 Over the first division for the first month was [a]Jashobeam the son of Zabdiel, and in his division were twenty-four thousand; 3 he was of the children of Perez, and the chief of all the cap-

CHAPTER 27

2 [a]1 Chr. 11:11

■ 26:13–16 cast lots. For the casting of lots see note on 24:5.

■ 26:14 East Gate. The main entrance to the temple with six gatekeepers (26:17).

■ 26:15 to Obed-Edom the South Gate. The South Gate was the main entrance for the king. Obed-Edom was highly honored by this assignment.

■ 26:20 Levites. The Levites were given responsibilities in the temple (26:20–28) and away from Jerusalem (26:29–32).

treasuries. The temple was a storehouse of great wealth (29:6–9; 2 Chr. 4; 34:9–11; 36:7–19). The Levites were in charge of collecting and managing its extensive resources.

■ 26:26–28 David . . . Samuel . . . Saul . . . Abner . . . Joab. Apparently, special attention was given to temple donations made by important figures.

■ 26:29–32 Legal and administrative functions for Levites were established in Mosaic legislation (Deut. 17:8–13). See notes on 2 Chr. 17:7, 8 and 19:5–11.

■ 27:1–34 The writer turns to questions of military order (27:1–15), tribal heads (27:16–24), royal overseers (27:25–31), and royal counselors (27:32–34). David's extensive organization of his kingdom laid the groundwork for Solomon's temple project (22:5 note).

■ 27:1 month by month. Military duties rotated much as did priestly responsibilities (24:7–18 note).

■ 27:2 twenty-four thousand. See note on 12:23. Many officers listed here appear in a similar list in 11:11–47 (cf. 2 Sam. 23:8–39).

tains of the army for the first month. 4 Over the division of the second month was [1]Dodai an Ahohite, and of his division Mikloth also was the leader; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 5 The third captain of the army for the third month was [b]Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada the priest, who was chief; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 6 This was the Benaiah who was [c]mighty among the thirty, and was over the thirty; in his division was Ammizabad his son. 7 The fourth captain for the fourth month was [d]Asahel the brother of Joab, and Zebadiah his son after him; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 8 The fifth captain for the fifth month was [2]Shamhuth the Izrahite; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 9 The sixth captain for the sixth month was [e]Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 10 The seventh captain for the seventh month was [f]Helez the Pelonite, of the children of Ephraim; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 11 The eighth captain for the eighth month was [g]Sibbechai the Hushathite, of the Zarhites; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 12 The ninth captain for the ninth month was [h]Abiezer the Anathothite, of the Benjamites; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 13 The tenth captain for the tenth month was [i]Maharai the Netophathite, of the Zarhites; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 14 The eleventh captain for the eleventh month was [j]Benaiah the Pirathonite, of the children of Ephraim; in his division were twenty-four thousand. 15 The twelfth captain for the twelfth month was [3]Heldai the Netophathite, of Othniel; in his division were twenty-four thousand.

Leaders of Tribes

16 Furthermore, over the tribes of Israel: the officer over the Reubenites was Eliezer the son of Zichri; over the Simeonites, Shephatiah the son of Maachah; 17 over the Levites, [k]Hashabiah the son of Kemuel; over the Aaronites, Zadok; 18 over Judah, [l]Elihu, one of David's brothers; over Issachar, Omri the son of Michael; 19 over Zebulun, Ishmaiah the son of Obadiah; over Naphtali, Jerimoth the son of Azriel; 20 over the children of Ephraim, Hoshea the son of Azaziah; over the half-tribe of Manasseh, Joel the son of Pedaiah; 21 over the half-tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo the son of Zechariah; over Benjamin, Jaasiel the son of Abner; 22 over Dan, Azarel the son of Jeroham. These were the leaders of the tribes of Israel.

23 But David did not take the number of those twenty years old and under, because [m]the LORD had said He would multiply Israel like the [n]stars of the heavens. 24 Joab the son of Zeruiah began a census, but he did not finish, for [o]wrath came upon Israel because of this census; nor was the number recorded in the account of the chronicles of King David.

Other State Officials

25 And Azmaveth the son of Adiel was over the king's treasuries; and Jehonathan the son of Uzziah was over the storehouses in the field, in the cities, in the villages, and in the fortresses. 26 Ezri the son of Chelub was over those who did the work of the field for tilling the ground. 27 And Shimei the Ramathite was over the vineyards, and Zabdi the Shiphmite was over the produce of the vineyards for the supply of wine. 28 Baal-Hanan the Gederite was over the olive trees and the sycamore trees that were in the lowlands, and Joash was over the store of oil. 29 And Shitrai the Sharonite was over the herds that fed in Sharon, and Shaphat the son of Adlai was over the herds that were in the valleys. 30 Obil the Ishmaelite was over the camels, Jehdeiah the Meronothite was over the donkeys, 31 and Jaziz the [p]Hagrite was over the flocks. All these were the officials over King David's property.

32 Also Jehonathan, David's uncle, was a counselor, a wise man, and a [4]scribe; and Jehiel the [5]son of Hachmoni was with the king's sons. 33 [q]Ahithophel was the king's counselor, and [r]Hushai the Archite was the king's companion. 34 After Ahithophel was Jehoiada the son of Benaiah, then [s]Abiathar. And the general of the king's army was [t]Joab.

Solomon Instructed to Build the Temple

28 Now David assembled at Jerusalem all [a]the leaders of Israel: the officers of the tribes and [b]the captains of the divisions who served the king, the captains over thousands and

CHAPTER 28

1 [a]1 Chr. 27:16 [b]1 Chr. 27:1, 2

■ 27:16–22 tribes of Israel. Gad and Asher are omitted, perhaps because Ephraim and the two halves of Manasseh are counted. The total remains twelve.

■ 27:23, 24 These verses refer to David's census in 21:1—22:1 (2 Sam. 24). Because of God's reaction to the census, the count never became part of the official court record.

■ 27:25–31 This is probably a partial list indicating how much property and wealth David had acquired in preparation for Solomon's construction of the temple (22:5 note).

■ 27:32–34 A list of David's closest advisers (18:14–17) highlights the organizational preparations David made for Solomon's construction of the temple.

■ 28:1—29:20 The writer describes David's final assembly in which he charged the officials of Israel and Solomon (ch. 28), collected contributions captains over hundreds, and [c]the stewards over all the substance and [f]possessions of the king and of his sons, with the officials, the valiant men, and all [d]the mighty men of valor.

2 Then King David rose to his feet and said, "Hear me, my brethren and my people: [e]I had it in my heart to build a house of rest for the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and for [f]the footstool of our God, and had made preparations to build it. 3 But God said to me, [g]'You shall not build a house for My name, because you have been a man of war and have shed [h]blood.' 4 However the LORD God of Israel [i]chose me above all the house of my father to be king over Israel forever, for He has chosen [j]Judah to be the ruler. And of the house of Judah, [k]the house of my father, and [l]among the sons of my father, He was pleased with me to make me king over all Israel. 5 [m]And for the temple (29:1–9), and offered praise and petitions (29:10–20). See note on 22:2—29:20.

Palestine: Physical Regions. Enormous variety characterizes the geography of Palestine. Two steep mountain ranges in the north, with major majestic peaks such as Mt. Hermon dominating the landscape, are divided by the upper Jordan River, which flows into the Sea of Galilee. The Jordan rift valley extends southward from the Sea of Galilee to the Dead Sea, being cut ever deeper by the Jordan River. The coastal plains extend along the Mediterranean from below Mt. Carmel to the Gaza strip and beyond. East of the Jordan River, the Transjordan plateau dominates the landscape from the Sea of Galilee southward to the Dead Sea and beyond. East of the Transjordan plateau and south of the Dead Sea stretch vast expanses of desert, providing a natural barrier to the region.

of all my sons (for the LORD has given me many sons) [n]He has chosen my son Solomon to sit on the throne of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel. [6]Now He said to me, 'It is [o]your son Solomon who shall build My house and My courts; for I have chosen him to be My son, and I will be his Father. [7]Moreover I will establish his kingdom forever, [p]if he is steadfast to observe My commandments and My judgments, as it is this day.' [8]Now therefore, in the sight of all Israel, the assembly of the LORD, and in the hearing of our God, be careful to seek out all the commandments of the LORD your God, that you may possess this good land, and leave it as an inheritance for your children after you forever.

[9]"As for you, my son Solomon, [q]know the God of your father, and serve Him [r]with a loyal heart and with a willing mind; for [s]the LORD searches all hearts and understands all the intent of the thoughts. [t]If you seek Him, He will be found by you; but if you forsake Him, He will [u]cast you off forever. [10]Consider now, [v]for the LORD has chosen you to build a house for the sanctuary; be strong, and do it."

[11]Then David gave his son Solomon [w]the plans for the vestibule, its houses, its treasuries, its upper chambers, its inner chambers, and the place of the mercy seat; [12]and the [x]plans for all that he had by the Spirit, of the courts of the house of the LORD, of all the chambers all around, [y]of the treasuries of the house of God, and of the treasuries for the dedicated things; [13]also for the division of the priests and the [z]Levites, for all the work of the service of the house of the LORD, and for all the articles of service in the house of the LORD. [14]He gave gold by weight for things of gold, for all articles used in every kind of service; also silver for all articles of silver by weight, for all articles used in every kind of service; [15]the weight for the [a]lampstands of gold, and their lamps of gold, by weight for each lampstand and its lamps; for the lampstands of silver by weight, for the lampstand and its lamps, according to the use of each lampstand. [16]And by weight he gave gold for the tables of the showbread, for each [b]table, and silver for the tables of silver; [17]also pure gold for the forks, the basins, the pitchers of pure gold, and the golden bowls—he gave gold by weight for every bowl; and for the silver bowls, silver by weight for every bowl; [18]and refined gold by weight for the [c]altar of incense, and for the construction of the chariot, that is, the gold [d]cherubim that spread their wings and overshadowed the ark of the covenant of the LORD. [19]"All this," said David, [e]"the LORD made me understand in writing, by His hand upon me, all the [2]works of these plans."

[20]And David said to his son Solomon, [f]"Be strong and of good courage, and do it; do not fear nor be dismayed, for the LORD God—my God—will be with you. [g]He will not leave you nor forsake you, until you have finished all the work for the service of the house of the LORD. [21]Here are [h]the divisions of the priests and the Levites for all the service of the house of God; and [i]every willing craftsman will be with you for all manner of workmanship, for every kind of service; also the leaders and all the people will be completely at your command."

Offerings for Building the Temple

29 Furthermore King David said to all the assembly: "My son Solomon, whom alone God has [a]chosen, is [b]young and inexperienced; and the work is great, because the [1]temple is not for man but for the LORD God. [2]Now for the house of my God I have prepared with all my might: gold for things to be made of gold, silver for things of silver, bronze for things of bronze, iron for things of iron, wood for things of wood, [c]onyx stones, stones to be set, glistening stones

God was the essential requirement for a legitimate Israelite king (Deut. 17:15).

■ 28:6 My son. See note on 17:13.

■ 28:7 to observe My commandments and My judgments. See note on 16:40.

■ 28:9 If you seek Him . . . if you forsake Him. Basic covenantal conditions apply to the promises given to David and his line. Though the Davidic dynasty itself would not be rejected, individual kings and the nation could suffer severely under God's judgment for apostasy. For similar expressions of this principle see 2 Chr. 6:14, 16; 7:17–22; 15:2; 16:7–9; 19:2, 3; 21:12–15; 24:20; 34:23–28. See also Introduction: Characteristics and Themes.

■ 28:12 plans . . . by the Spirit. Although David actively planned for the temple, his efforts were directed by the Holy Spirit. This underlines the need for the community after the Babylonian exile to follow the patterns established for the temple by David and Solomon.

■ 28:20 Be strong and of good courage. The language resembles Joshua's commission (22:13 note).

■ 28:21 will be with you . . . at your command. David's organization of the priests, Levites, and artisans was for the sake of building Solomon's temple (22:5 note).

■ 29:1–9 David followed Moses' example in asking for contributions to the temple project (Ex. 25:1–8; 35:4–9, 20–29). These directions would remind the exiles returned from Babylon of the importance of continuing contributions to the new temple (Hag. 1:2–11; Mal. 3:8–10). See notes on 2 Chr. 24:10–12.

■ 29:1 young and inexperienced. See note on 22:5.

■ 29:2–5 David declared the purpose behind his previous accomplishments. All was done to prepare for Solomon's temple (22:5; 27:1–34 and notes).

of various colors, all kinds of precious stones, and marble slabs in abundance. 3 Moreover, because I have set my affection on the house of my God, I have given to the house of my God, over and above all that I have prepared for the holy house, my own special treasure of gold and silver: 4 three thousand talents of gold, of the gold of [d]Ophir, and seven thousand talents of refined silver, to overlay the walls of the houses; 5 the gold for things of gold and the silver for things of silver, and for all kinds of work to be done by the hands of craftsmen. Who then is [e]willing to [2]consecrate himself this day to the LORD?"

6 Then [f]the leaders of the fathers' houses, leaders of the tribes of Israel, the captains of thousands and of hundreds, with [g]the officers over the king's work, [h]offered willingly. 7 They gave for the work of the house of God five thousand talents and ten thousand darics of gold, ten thousand talents of silver, eighteen thousand talents of bronze, and one hundred thousand talents of iron. 8 And whoever had precious stones gave them to the treasury of the house of the LORD, into the hand of [i]Jehiel[3] the Gershonite. 9 Then the people rejoiced, for they had offered willingly, because with a loyal heart they had [j]offered willingly to the LORD; and King David also rejoiced greatly.

David's Praise to God

10 Therefore David blessed the LORD before all the assembly; and David said:

"Blessed are You, LORD God of Israel, our Father, forever and ever.
11 [k]Yours, O LORD, is the greatness,
The power and the glory,
The victory and the majesty;
For all that is in heaven and in earth is Yours;
Yours is the kingdom, O LORD,
And You are exalted as head over all.
12 [l]Both riches and honor come from You,
And You reign over all.
In Your hand is power and might;
In Your hand it is to make great
And to give strength to all.

13 "Now therefore, our God,
We thank You
And praise Your glorious name.
14 But who am I, and who are my people,
That we should be able to offer so willingly as this?
For all things come from You,
And [4]of Your own we have given You.
15 For [m]we are [5]aliens and [6]pilgrims before You,
As were all our fathers;
[n]Our days on earth are as a shadow,
And without hope.

16 "O LORD our God, all this abundance that we have prepared to build You a house for Your holy name is from Your hand, and is all Your own. 17 I know also, my God, that You [o]test the heart and [p]have pleasure in uprightness. As for me, in the uprightness of my heart I have willingly offered all these things; and now with joy I have seen Your people, who are present here to

■ 29:3 I have given . . . my own special treasure. David gave from his own wealth in addition to the spoils of war (18:8, 11; 2 Chr. 30:24 and notes). David served as an example of generous contribution to the temple (29:18 note).

■ 29:7 darics. The daric was a Persian coin used in the Chronicler's day. He uses this terminology for the sake of his readers (Introduction: Author).

■ 29:10–19 David praises God for what has been accomplished (29:10–13) and asks for continued empowerment of the people and of Solomon (29:14–19).

■ 29:11 Yours, O LORD. This is probably the source of the longer ending of the Lord's prayer (Matt. 6:13; cf. Luke 11:4). See theological note "The Greatness of God."

■ 29:14–16 Although David worked hard to prepare for Solomon's temple, he acknowledged that all of his accomplishments came from the sovereign hand of God. David saw himself as powerless and hopeless apart from God's blessing (2 Chr. 1:9; 20:6, 12).

■ 29:14 who am I. See note on 17:16; 2 Chr. 2:6.

offer willingly to You. 18 O LORD God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, our fathers, keep this forever in the intent of the thoughts of the heart of Your people, and fix their heart toward You. 19 And [q]give my son Solomon a loyal heart to keep Your commandments and Your testimonies and Your statutes, to do all these things, and to build the [r]temple for which [s]I have made provision."

20 Then David said to all the assembly, "Now bless the LORD your God." So all the assembly blessed the LORD God of their fathers, and bowed their heads and prostrated themselves before the LORD and the king.

Solomon Anointed King

21 And they made sacrifices to the LORD and offered burnt offerings to the LORD on the next day: a thousand bulls, a thousand rams, a thousand lambs, with their drink offerings, and [s]sacrifices in abundance for all Israel. 22 So they ate and drank before the LORD with great gladness on

The Greatness of God

God is great (Deut. 7:21; Neh. 4:14; Ps. 48:1; 86:10; 95:3; 145:3; Dan. 9:4), greater than we can grasp. Theology states this truth by describing Him as "incomprehensible"—not that He is irrational or illogical, so as to prevent us from following His thoughts at all, but that our minds cannot contain Him, because He is infinite and we are finite. Scripture portrays God not only as dwelling in thick and impenetrable darkness, but also as dwelling in unapproachable light (Ps. 97:2; 1 Tim. 6:16). These two images express the same thought: our Creator is above us, and it is beyond our power to take His measure.

God tells us in the Bible that creation, providence, the Trinity, the incarnation, the regenerating work of the Spirit, union with Christ in His death and resurrection, and the inspiration of Scripture—to go no further—are facts, and we accept them on the strength of His word, without knowing how they can be. As creatures, we are unable fully to comprehend either the being or the actions of the Creator.

As it would be wrong, however, to suppose ourselves to know everything about God (and so in effect to imprison Him in the box of our own limited notion of Him), so it would be wrong to doubt that our concept of God constitutes real knowledge of Him. One of the consequences of being made in God's image is that we are able both to know about Him and to know Him relationally, in a true if limited way. Calvin speaks of God as condescending to our weakness and accommodating Himself to our incapacity, both in the inspiration of the Scriptures and the incarnation of the Son, in order to give us genuine understanding of Himself. By analogy, the form and substance of a parent's baby-talk bears no comparison with the full contents of the parent's mind, which might be expressed in conversation with another adult; but still the child receives true information about the parent from the baby-talk, and responds with growing love and trust.

This is why the Creator presents Himself to us anthropomorphically, as having a face (Ex. 33:11), ears (Neh. 1:6), and eyes (Job 28:10); or as having feet (Nah. 1:3), sitting on a throne (1 Kin. 22:19), flying on the wind (Ps. 18:10), or fighting in battle (2 Chr. 32:8; Is. 63:1–6). These are not descriptions of what God is in Himself, but of what He is to us: the transcendent Lord who relates to His people as Father and Friend. God comes to us in this way to draw us out in love and trust, even though in a way we are always like little children who understand only in part (1 Cor. 13:12).

We should never forget that the purpose of theology is doxology; we study in order to praise. The truest expression of trust in God will always be worship, and it will always be proper worship to praise God for being greater than we know.□

■ 29:18 keep this forever. David's words speak directly to the readers of a later time, who must continue to give freely to temple worship.

■ 29:19 keep Your commandments. See note on 16:40.

■ 29:21–25 The transfer of power to Solomon culminates in a grand celebration of sacrifice (v. 21), feasting (v. 22), and national harmony (vv. 22–25). See note on 23:1.

■ 29:22 the second time. This phrase is omitted from some ancient translations, possibly because its exact reference is hard to determine. It may be that 1 Kin. 1:32–36 is the first anointing, accomplished in private and followed by the more public one. Both Saul (1 Sam. 10:1; 11:14–15) and David (1 Sam. 16:13; 2 Sam. 2:4; 5:3) received more than one anointing.

that day. And they made Solomon the son of David king the second time, and [t]anointed him before the LORD to be the leader, and Zadok to be priest. 23 Then Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD as king instead of David his father, and prospered; and all Israel obeyed him. 24 All the leaders and the mighty men, and also all the sons of King David, [u]submitted[s] themselves to King Solomon. 25 So the LORD exalted Solomon exceedingly in the sight of all Israel, and [v]bestowed on him such royal majesty as had not been on any king before him in Israel.

The Close of David's Reign

26 Thus David the son of Jesse reigned over all Israel. 27 [w]And the period that he reigned over Israel was forty years; [x]seven years he reigned in Hebron, and thirty-three years he reigned in Jerusalem. 28 So he [y]died in a good old age, [z]full of days and riches and honor; and Solomon his son reigned in his place. 29 Now the acts of King David, first and last, indeed they are written in the [9]book of Samuel the seer, in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the seer, 30 with all his reign and his might, [a]and the events that happened to him, to Israel, and to all the kingdoms of the lands.

■ 29:24 submitted themselves. The writer omits discussion of the attempted rebellion of Adonijah (1 Kin. 1), apparently counting it as a failed attempt that does not color the unanimity of support for Solomon.

■ 29:25 had not been on any king before him. Especially in the building of the temple, Solomon's reign was more glorious than his father David's.

■ 29:29, 30 the book of. The writer of Chronicles refers to several sources for David's reign, in addition to the books of Samuel and Kings (see Introduction).

The Second Book of the

CHRONICLES

Author

Early Jewish tradition regarded Ezra as the author of the Chronicles, but it is doubtful that the work can be decisively dated within his lifetime (see "Date and Occasion"). The book is widely considered to be by an anonymous author, usually called "the Chronicler," who composed his history of Israel and Judah by drawing on a number of biblical (e.g., Samuel and Kings) and extra-biblical sources (e.g., the no longer extant writings of Nathan, Ahijah, and Iddo, 9:29). See "Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author."

Date and Occasion

Chronicles was written to encourage and guide the community that had returned from exile in Babylonia as they sought to reestablish their lives as the people of God in the land He had promised to the patriarchs. Exactly when in this period of restoration the book was completed, however, is difficult to ascertain. Although some evidence points to the social and political situation among the first groups of returnees, the genealogies in the early part of the book (see especially 1 Chr. 3:17–24 and notes) suggest a date shortly after the ministries of Ezra and Nehemiah, c. 400 B.C. (see "Introduction to 1 Chronicles").

Characteristics and Themes

The Chronicler retells the history of Israel and Judah in order to provide theological answers to three fundamental questions which arose after the Jews returned from exile in Babylonia. How can it be known who are the heirs to God's covenant promises after the dislocation of exile and return? What was to become of their central political and religious institutions, the Davidic throne and the Jerusalem temple, and how would they be related to one another in the restored community? Thirdly, how were the people to understand the experience of exile and restoration in the light of God's law and grace, His judgment and forgiveness? The discussion of these themes begun in the Introduction to 1 Chronicles is continued here with respect to 2 Chronicles.

The United Monarchy under Solomon (1:1—9:31). The opening section of 2 Chronicles depicts Solomon as the divinely blessed successor of David. The Chronicler passes over Solomon's struggle for power (1 Chr. 23:1 note) and his later downfall due to intermarriage (1 Kin. 11:1–40). He shows Solomon as the king of "all Israel" (1 Chr. 11:1 note), and as the prime instrument for constructing the temple in Jerusalem (2:1—8:16). There is a brief notice of his death (9:29–31).

Solomon's reign is narrated in a topical and symmetrical form, opening and closing with passages describing the king's wisdom and wealth (ch. 1; 9:13–28). Just inside these passages are sections about his international relations (ch. 2; 8:17—9:12). Inserted between these passages are sections about the building of the temple and Solomon's other projects throughout Israel (3:1—5:1; 8:1–16), and in the center is the description of the temple dedication (5:2—7:10) and the divine response to it (7:12–22). A concentric outline of this kind emphasizes the topics in the middle, in this case the dedication of the temple.

The Divided Kingdom (10:1—28:26). The record of Israel's history from Rehoboam to Ahaz focuses on events in the southern kingdom of Judah. Although the Book of Kings is the source of much of the information, Chronicles omits large blocks of material dealing with the northern kingdom of Israel. The focus of Chronicles is Judah and its capital Jerusalem, the place of the Davidic king and the temple of God.

The kings of the period are measured by the ideal of the united monarchy. The king must be faithful to the Law of Moses; he must support the temple order established by David and Solomon; and he must listen to prophetic and priestly instruction. Some kings are evaluated negatively (Jehoram, 21:4–20; Ahaziah, 22:1–9; Ahaz, 28:1–27), others positively (Abijah, 13:1—14:1; Jotham, 27:1–9). For the most part the records are mixed (Rehoboam, 10:1—12:16; Asa, 14:2—16:14; Jehoshaphat, 17:1—21:3; Joash, 22:10—24:27; Amaziah, 25:1–28; Uzziah, 26:1–23).

God blessed His people when they were faithful, and chastised them when they turned away from Him. Victory, security, and prosperity came to those who sought the Lord. Defeat, trouble, and illness came upon those who forgot Him.

The Reunited Kingdom (29:1—36:23). Beginning with Hezekiah, Israel entered a new phase of her history. Like David and Solomon, Hezekiah was able to unite the faithful of Israel and Judah around the Davidic throne through worship and celebration at the temple (29:1 note and 29:24 note). This reunited people experienced periods of failure: Manasseh's apostasy (33:1–10), the reign of Amon (33:21–25), and the kings of Judah just before the Babylonian exile (36:2–14). But each failure was followed by God's gracious renewal of the people: Manasseh's restoration (33:11–17), Josiah's reforms (34:3—35:19), and the return from exile in Babylonia (36:22–23).

Despite the failures of the reunited kingdom, God continued to grant blessings to His repentant people. He extended His mercy to them, offering them His blessing. At the same time, the events of the period demonstrate the requirements placed on those who longed for the full restoration of the kingdom. The nation must turn to the Lord in humility and live faithfully before Him. □

NOW [a]Solomon the son of David was strengthened in his kingdom, and [b]the LORD his God was with him and [c]exalted him exceedingly.

2 And Solomon spoke to all Israel, to [d]the captains of thousands and of hundreds, to the judges, and to every leader in all Israel, the heads of the fathers' houses. 3 Then Solomon, and all the assembly with him, went to [1]the high place that was at [e]Gibeon; for the tabernacle of meeting with God was there, which Moses the servant of the LORD had [f]made in the wilderness. 4 [g]But David had brought up the ark of God from Kirjath Jearim to the place David had prepared for it, for he had pitched a tent for it at Jerusalem. 5 Now [h]the bronze altar that [i]Bezalel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, had made, [2]he put before the tabernacle of the LORD; Solomon and the assembly sought Him there. 6 And Solomon went up there to the bronze altar before the LORD, which was at the tabernacle of meeting, and [j]offered a thousand burnt offerings on it.

7 [k]On that night God appeared to Solomon, and said to him, "Ask! What shall I give you?"

8 And Solomon said to God: "You have shown great [l]mercy to David my father, and have made me [m]king in his place. 9 Now, O LORD God, let Your promise to David my father be established, [n]for You have made me king over a people like the [o]dust of the earth in multitude. 10 [p]Now give me wisdom and knowledge, that I may [q]go out and come in before this people; for who can judge this great people of Yours?"

11 [r]Then God said to Solomon: "Because this was in your heart, and you have not asked riches or wealth or honor or the life of your enemies, nor have you asked long life—but have asked wisdom and knowledge for yourself, that you may judge My people over whom I have made you king— 12 wisdom and knowledge are granted to you; and I will give you riches and wealth and honor, such as [s]none of the kings have had who were before you, nor shall any after you have the like."

Solomon's Military and Economic Power

13 So Solomon came to Jerusalem from [3]the high place that was at Gibeon, from before the tabernacle of meeting, and reigned over Israel. 14 [t]And Solomon gathered chariots and horsemen; he had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he stationed in the chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem. 15 [u]Also the king made silver and gold as common in Jerusalem as stones, and he made cedars as abundant as the sycamores which are in the lowland. 16 [v]And Solomon had horses imported from Egypt and Keveh; the king's merchants bought them in Keveh at the current price. 17 They also acquired and imported from Egypt a chariot for six hundred shekels of silver, and a horse for one hundred and fifty; thus, [4]through their agents, they exported them to all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Syria.

■ 1:1–17 This section is balanced by a parallel section on Solomon's wisdom and wealth (9:13–28).

■ 1:1 was strengthened. The historian frequently uses expressions like this to indicate success after difficulty (12:13; 13:21; 17:1; 25:11; 27:6). Indirectly he acknowledges that Solomon's rise to power was tumultuous, although he omits the details given in 1 Kin. 2 (1 Chr. 23:1 note).

God was with him. Solomon's success was the result of God's sovereign blessing in fulfillment of David's hopes (1 Chr. 22:11, 16; 28:20).

■ 1:2–13 This passage roughly follows 1 Kin. 3:4–15, but the account is expanded somewhat, emphasizing the theme of Solomon's reign over "all Israel" (v. 2) and explaining why Solomon went to Gibeon to sacrifice (vv. 3–6).

■ 1:2 all Israel. See note on 1 Chr. 11:1.

■ 1:5 Bezalel. In the course of building the temple, Solomon emerges as a kind of counterpart of Bezalel who had helped construct the tabernacle. See notes on 1 Chr. 2:20 and Ex. 31:1–11.

■ 1:7 appeared . . . said. As does the Book of 1 Kings, Chronicles reports that God spoke directly to Solomon in dreams (7:12). Solomon, like David, was an instrument of revelation for Israel (1 Chr. 22:8; 28:6, 19).

■ 1:9 let Your promise to David my father be established. This request ties the reign of Solomon to David (1 Chr. 17:1–15 note; 22:5 note). Solomon depended fully on God for the ability to carry out his role as king (cf. 1 Chr. 29:14–16 note).

like the dust . . . in multitude. Solomon recognized the multiplication of Israel as fulfillment of God's promise to Abraham (Gen. 13:16; 22:17). The promise would encourage readers in the time following the Babylonian exile to hope for successful repopulation of the Promised Land in their own day (Neh. 1:8, 9; Zech. 8:7, 8).

■ 1:10 wisdom. The splendor and power of Solomon's reign was the result of divinely bestowed wisdom. In his wisdom Solomon foreshadowed Christ, who is the Wisdom of God incarnate (Is. 11:1, 2; Col. 2:3).

■ 1:13 The account in Kings ends with Solomon's sacrifice in Jerusalem (1 Kin. 3:15). Passing over this as well as Solomon's judgment between the two mothers (1 Kin. 3:16–28), Chronicles focuses on Solomon's temple construction as a demonstration of his wisdom.

■ 1:14–17 God kept His promise to make Solomon wealthy (v. 12). This passage is connected with its parallel (9:13–28) in the overall narrative by the repetition of the topic of horse trade (compare 1:14, 16, 17 with 9:25–28) and abundance of "silver and gold" like "stones" and "cedars" as common as sycamore trees (1:15; 9:27).

Solomon Prepares to Build the Temple

2 Then Solomon [a]determined to build a temple for the name of the LORD, and a royal house for himself. 2 [b]Solomon selected seventy thousand men to bear burdens, eighty thousand to quarry stone in the mountains, and three thousand six hundred to oversee them.

3 Then Solomon sent to [1]Hiram king of Tyre, saying:

> [c]As you have dealt with David my father, and sent him cedars to build himself a house to dwell in, so deal with me. 4 Behold, [d]I am building a temple for the name of the LORD my God, to dedicate it to Him, [e]to burn before Him [2]sweet incense, for [f]the continual showbread, for [g]the burnt offerings morning and evening, on the [h]Sabbaths, on the New Moons, and on the [3]set feasts of the LORD our God. This is an ordinance forever to Israel.
>
> 5 And the temple which I build will be great, for [i]our God is greater than all gods. 6 [j]But who is able to build Him a temple, since heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain Him? Who am I then, that I should build Him a temple, except to burn sacrifice before Him?
> 7 Therefore send me at once a man skillful to work in gold and silver, in bronze and iron, in purple and crimson and blue, who has skill to engrave with the skillful men who are with me in Judah and Jerusalem, [k]whom David my father provided. 8 [l]Also send me cedar and cypress and algum logs from Lebanon, for I know that your servants have skill to cut timber in Lebanon; and indeed my servants will be with your servants, 9 to prepare timber for me in abundance, for the [4]temple which I am about to build shall be great and wonderful.

■ 2:1–18 Solomon's most prominent work in the Chronicles is the building of the temple. The mention of the temple and palace (v. 1) and Hiram (v. 3) connects this passage with the parallel account in 8:1–16.

■ 2:1 name. See note on 1 Chr. 13:6.

royal house for himself. Solomon's palace is mentioned on several occasions (2:12; 7:11; 8:1; 9:3, 11), but there is no description of its elaborate construction as in 1 Kin. 7:1–12. Attention is focused on the temple.

■ 2:2 selected seventy thousand men. See note on 1 Chr. 22:2.

■ 2:3 David my father. This account of Solomon's message to Hiram makes it clear that David laid the foundation on which Solomon is building (v. 7; and cf. 1 Kin. 5:3–5). See note on 1 Chr. 22:5.

■ 2:4 name. See note on 1 Chr. 13:6.

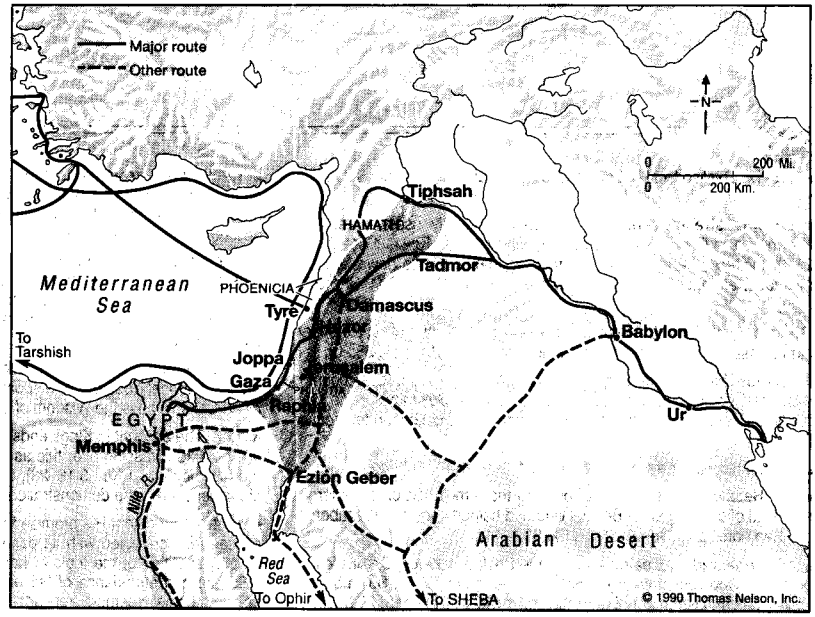
an ordinance forever to Israel. This is a reminder that Solomon's temple services were to be observed in their day.

■ 2:6 cannot contain Him. Solomon recognized that his temple was incapable of containing the omnipresent Creator (6:18). Nevertheless, the splendor of the temple must reflect the greatness of God.

Who am I then. Solomon recognized he was unworthy of God's blessing, as his father had been before him (1 Chr. 17:16 note).

The Spread of Solomon's Fame. Solomon's influence in economic and political affairs was enhanced by the transportation and trade routes that intersected his kingdom. That Solomon acquired much through trade is suggested by the response of the queen of Sheba on her visit to Solomon, and by the mention of traders and merchants (2 Chr. 9:14) in the account of his wealth. Solomon's fortification of Tadmor (2 Chr. 8:4) may have provided a safe and direct trade route from Asia Minor to Damascus.



10 [m]And indeed I will give to your servants, the woodsmen who cut timber, twenty thousand kors of ground wheat, twenty thousand kors of barley, twenty thousand baths of wine, and twenty thousand baths of oil.

11 Then Hiram king of Tyre answered in writing, which he sent to Solomon:

[n]Because the LORD loves His people, He has made you king over them.

12 [5]Hiram also said:

[o]Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, [p]who made heaven and earth, for He has given King David a wise son, endowed with prudence and understanding, who will build a temple for the LORD and a royal house for himself!

13 And now I have sent a skillful man, endowed with understanding, [6]Huram my [7]master craftsman 14 [q](the son of a woman of the daughters of Dan, and his father was a man of Tyre), skilled to work in gold and silver, bronze and iron, stone and wood, purple and blue, fine linen and crimson, and to make any engraving and to accomplish any plan which may be given to him, with your skillful men and with the skillful men of my lord David your father.

15 Now therefore, the wheat, the barley, the oil, and the wine which [r]my lord has spoken of, let him send to his servants. 16 [s]And we will cut wood from Lebanon, as much as you need; we will bring it to you in rafts by sea to [8]Joppa, and you will carry it up to Jerusalem.

17 [t]Then Solomon numbered all the aliens who were in the land of Israel, after the census in which [u]David his father had numbered them; and there were found to be one hundred and fifty-three thousand six hundred. 18 And he made [v]seventy thousand of them bearers of burdens, eighty thousand stonecutters in the mountain, and three thousand six hundred overseers to make the people work.

Solomon Builds the Temple

3 Now [a]Solomon began to build the house of the LORD at [b]Jerusalem on Mount Moriah, where [1]the LORD had appeared to his father David, at the place that David had prepared on the threshing floor of [c]Ornan[2] the Jebusite. 2 And he began to build on the second day of the second month in the fourth year of his reign.

3 This is the foundation [d]which Solomon laid for building the house of God: The length was sixty cubits (by cubits according to the former measure) and the width twenty cubits. 4 And the [e]vestibule that was in front of [3]the sanctuary was twenty cubits long across the width of the house, and the height was [4]one hundred and twenty. He overlaid the inside with pure gold. 5 [f]The larger [5]room he [g]paneled with cypress which he overlaid with fine gold, and he carved palm trees and chainwork on it. 6 And he decorated the house with precious stones for beauty, and the gold was gold from Parvaim. 7 He also overlaid the house—the beams and doorposts, its walls and doors—with gold; and he carved cherubim on the walls.

8 And he made the [h]Most Holy Place. Its length was according to the width of the house, twenty cubits, and its width twenty cubits. He overlaid it with six hundred talents of fine gold. 9 The weight of the nails was fifty shekels of gold; and he overlaid the upper [i]area with gold. 10 [j]In the Most Holy Place he made two cherubim, fashioned by carving, and overlaid them with gold. 11 The wings of the cherubim were twenty cubits in overall length: one wing of the one

■ 2:11 Because the LORD loves His people. The establishment of the Davidic line was an act of divine love toward Israel (1 Chr. 14:2 note).

■ 2:12 wise son. This verse makes it explicit that Solomon's wisdom was visible in his construction of the temple (1:13 note).

■ 2:14 Dan. 1 Kin. 7:14 reports that Huram's mother was from Naphtali. She may have been from Dan but living in Naphtali.

■ 2:17, 18 aliens . . . bearers of burdens . . . stonecutters . . . overseers to make the people work. See note on 1 Chr. 22:2.

■ 3:1 Mount Moriah . . . the threshing floor of Ornan. The place of Solomon's temple is holy, corresponding to the site where Abraham was tried (Gen. 22:2–14). David purchased this site after his census (1 Chr. 21:1—22:1), securing the place for Solomon to work (1 Chr. 22:5 note).

■ 3:3–17 Compared to the account of temple construction in 1 Kin. 6:4–20, this account gives more details of ornamentation (3:4–9), including the decorations of the main hall ("the larger room," 3:4–7), the Most Holy Place (3:8–14), and the vestibule (3:15–17).

■ 3:4 vestibule. The vestibule of the temple brought the length of the entire structure to eighty cubits (120 feet).

■ 3:5 The larger room. That is, the holy place.

■ 3:10 cherubim. These decorations were free-standing statues (vv. 11–18), much larger than the cherubim on the cover of the ark of the covenant itself (Ex. 25:18–20).

cherub was five cubits, touching the wall of the room, and the other wing was five cubits, touching the wing of the other cherub; 12 one wing of the other cherub was five cubits, touching the wall of the room, and the other wing also was five cubits, touching the wing of the other cherub. 13 The wings of these cherubim spanned twenty cubits overall. They stood on their feet, and they faced inward. 14 And he made the [k]veil of blue, purple, crimson, and fine linen, and wove cherubim into it.

15 Also he made in front of the [6]temple [l]two pillars [7]thirty-five cubits [8]high, and the capital that was on the top of each of them was five cubits. 16 He made wreaths of chainwork, as in the inner sanctuary, and put them on top of the pillars; and he made [m]one hundred pomegranates, and put them on the wreaths of chainwork. 17 Then he [n]set up the pillars before the temple, one on the right hand and the other on the left; he called the name of the one on the right hand [9]Jachin, and the name of the one on the left [1]Boaz.

2 [b]1 Kin. 7:23–26 [1]Great laver or basin

4 Moreover he made [a]a bronze altar: twenty cubits was its length, twenty cubits its width, and ten cubits its height.

2 [b]Then he made the [1]Sea of cast bronze, ten cubits from one brim to the other; it was completely round. Its height was five cubits, and a line of thirty cubits measured its circumference.

■ 3:14 veil. Solomon's temple was according to the pattern of Moses' tabernacle but twice the size (Ex. 26:31–35). In Solomon's temple also a veil separated the Most Holy Place from the holy place ("the larger room"). The veil prohibited access to the Most Holy Place. It symbolized restriction of access to God's presence, a restriction done away with in the mediating work of Christ's death (Matt. 27:51 note; Heb. 9:1–14 note; 10:11–22 note).

■ 3:15 thirty-five cubits high. 1 Kin. 7:15 reads "each one eighteen cubits" (cf. 2 Kin. 25:17; Jer. 52:21). It has been suggested that "thirty-five" represents the sum of the lengths of the two pillars (eighteen plus eighteen) or the sum of the dimensions given (eighteen in height, twelve around, and five for the capital). It is also possible that a later copyist has introduced an error.

■ 4:1 bronze altar. Mentioned also in 1 Kin. 8:64; 2 Kin. 16:14. The bronze altar was the main altar. The large measurements are the dimensions of the base, from which steps went to the altar (Ezek. 43:13–17).

■ 4:2 Sea of cast bronze. See text note. Solomon's version of the "laver of bronze" in Moses' tabernacle (Ex. 30:18). The water of this basin was used for rituals of cleansing (4:6; 1 Kin. 7:23 note).

The Plan of Solomon's Temple (3:1)

Solomon constructed the temple on Mount Moriah, north of the ancient City of David. The temple was built according to plans that David received from the Lord and passed on to Solomon (1 Chr. 28:11–13, 19). The division into a sanctuary and inner sanctuary corresponds to the division of the tabernacle into the holy place and Most Holy Place.

3 [c] And under it was the likeness of oxen encircling it all around, ten to a cubit, all the way around the Sea. The oxen were cast in two rows, when it was cast. 4 It stood on twelve [d] oxen: three looking toward the north, three looking toward the west, three looking toward the south, and three looking toward the east; the Sea was set upon them, and all their back parts pointed inward. 5 It was a handbreadth thick; and its brim was shaped like the brim of a cup, like a lily blossom. It contained [2] three thousand baths.

6 He also made [e] ten lavers, and put five on the right side and five on the left, to wash in them; such things as they offered for the burnt offering they would wash in them, but the [3] Sea was for the [f] priests to wash in. 7 [g] And he made ten lampstands of gold [h] according to their design, and set them in the temple, five on the right side and five on the left. 8 [i] He also made ten tables, and placed them in the temple, five on the right side and five on the left. And he made one hundred [j] bowls of gold.

9 Furthermore [k] he made the court of the priests, and the [l] great court and doors for the court; and he overlaid these doors with bronze. 10 [m] He set the Sea on the right side, toward the southeast.

11 Then [n] Huram made the pots and the shovels and the bowls. So Huram finished doing the work that he was to do for King Solomon for the house of God: 12 the two pillars and [o] the bowl-shaped capitals that were on top of the two pillars; the two networks covering the two bowl-shaped capitals which were on top of the pillars; 13 [p] four hundred pomegranates for the two networks (two rows of pomegranates for each network, to cover the two bowl-shaped capitals that were on the pillars); 14 he also made [q] carts and the lavers on the carts; 15 one Sea and twelve oxen under it; 16 also the pots, the shovels, the forks—and all their articles [r] Huram his [4] master craftsman made of burnished bronze for King Solomon for the house of the LORD.

17 In the plain of Jordan the king had them cast in clay molds, between Succoth and [5] Zeredah. 18 [s] And Solomon had all these articles made in such great abundance that the weight of the bronze was not determined.

19 Thus [t] Solomon had all the furnishings made for the house of God: the altar of gold and the tables on which was [u] the showbread; 20 the lampstands with their lamps of pure gold, to burn [v] in the prescribed manner in front of the inner sanctuary, 21 with [w] the flowers and the lamps and the wick-trimmers of gold, of purest gold; 22 the trimmers, the bowls, the ladles, and the censers of pure gold. As for the entry of the [6] sanctuary, its inner doors to the Most Holy Place, and the doors of the main hall of the temple, were gold.

5 So [a] all the work that Solomon had done for the house of the LORD was finished; and Solomon brought in the things which his father David had dedicated: the silver and the gold and all the furnishings. And he put them in the treasuries of the house of God.

The Ark Brought into the Temple

2 [b] Now Solomon assembled the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the chief fathers of the children of Israel, in Jerusalem, that they might bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD up [c] from the City of David, which is Zion. 3 [d] Therefore all the men of Israel assembled with the king [e] at the feast, which was in the seventh month. 4 So all the elders of Israel came, and the [f] Levites took up the ark. 5 Then they brought up the ark, the tabernacle of meeting, and all the holy furnishings that were in the tabernacle. The priests and the Levites brought them up. 6 Also King Solomon, and all the congregation of Israel who were assembled with him before the ark, were sacrificing sheep and oxen that could not be counted or numbered for multitude. 7 Then the

■ 4:3 oxen. 1 Kin. 7:24 reads "ornamental buds." The basin rested on twelve "oxen," and the ornamental border was probably buds or gourds of some kind.

■ 4:4 twelve oxen. See note on 1 Kin. 7:25. The twelve bulls pointed to the four directions of the compass (cf. Num. 2 on the encampment of the tribes; Rev. 21:12–14).

■ 4:5 three thousand baths. 1 Kin. 7:26 reads "two thousand baths." These are round numbers and not exact statement of volume.

■ 4:9 court of the priests, and the great court. Both courtyards are mentioned in Kings (1 Kin. 6:36; 7:12). The large court was for the laity.

■ 4:11 Huram. The artisan sent by Hiram of Tyre (2:13; 4:16).

■ 4:11–22 The text follows 1 Kin. 7:40–50 in the description of Huram's work.

■ 5:1 his father David. The historian ties Solomon's temple directly to David's preparations (2:3 note).

■ 5:2—7:10 The text closely follows the account of temple dedication in 1 Kin. 8. The report is in four balanced sections: an opening celebration of the transfer of the ark (5:2—6:2); Solomon's blessing (6:3–11); Solomon's prayer (6:12–42); and concluding celebrations (7:1–10).

■ 5:3 all the men of Israel. Like David, Solomon received widespread support from Israel (1 Chr. 11:1 note).

seventh month. This was Tishri, when the Feast of Tabernacles was celebrated. Since the temple was completed in the eighth month of Solomon's eleventh year (1 Kin. 6:38), the ark would have been brought in eleven months later.

■ 5:5 priests . . . Levites. Repeated references to priests and Levites in this account indicates that Solomon observed carefully the tabernacle and temple regulations (1 Chr. 6 notes).

priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the Lord to its place, into the [g]inner sanctuary of the [f]temple, to the Most Holy Place, under the wings of the cherubim. 8 For the cherubim spread their wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubim overshadowed the ark and its poles. 9 The poles extended so that the ends of the [h]poles of the ark could be seen from the holy place, in front of the inner sanctuary; but they could not be seen from outside. And [2]they are there to this day. 10 Nothing was in the ark except the two tablets which Moses [i]put there at Horeb, [3]when the Lord made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they had come out of Egypt.

11 And it came to pass when the priests came out of the Most Holy Place (for all the priests who were present had [4]sanctified themselves, without keeping to their [j]divisions), 12 [k]and the Levites who were the singers, all those of Asaph and Heman and Jeduthun, with their sons and their brethren, stood at the east end of the altar, clothed in white linen, having cymbals, stringed instruments and harps, [l]and with them one hundred and twenty priests sounding with trumpets— 13 indeed it came to pass, when the trumpeters and singers were as one, to make one sound to be heard in praising and thanking the Lord, and when they lifted up their voice with the trumpets and cymbals and instruments of music, and praised the Lord, saying:

> [m]"For He is good,
> For His mercy endures forever,"

that the house, the house of the Lord, was filled with a cloud, 14 so that the priests could not [5]continue ministering because of the cloud; [n]for the glory of the Lord filled the house of God.

6 Then [a]Solomon spoke:

"The Lord said He would dwell in the [b]dark cloud.
2 I have surely built You an exalted house,
And [c]a place for You to dwell in forever."

Solomon's Speech upon Completion of the Work

3 Then the king turned around and [d]blessed the whole assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel was standing. 4 And he said: "Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who has fulfilled with His hands what He spoke with His mouth to my father David, [e]saying, 5 'Since the day that I brought My people out of the land of Egypt, I have chosen no city from any tribe of Israel in which to build a house, that My name might be there, nor did I choose any man to be a ruler over My people Israel. 6 [f]Yet I have chosen Jerusalem, that My name may be there, and I [g]have chosen David to be over My people Israel.' 7 Now [h]it was in the heart of my father David to build a [i]temple for the name of the Lord God of Israel. 8 But the Lord said to my father David, 'Whereas it was in your heart to build a temple for My name, you did well in that it was in your heart. 9 Nevertheless you shall not build the temple, but your son who will come from your body, he shall build the temple for My [j]name.' 10 So the Lord has fulfilled His word which He spoke, and I have filled the position of my father David, and [k]sit on the throne of Israel, as the Lord promised; and I have built the temple for the name of the Lord God of Israel. 11 And there I have put the ark, [l]in which is the covenant of the Lord which He made with the children of Israel."

■ 5:9 there to this day. See note on 1 Chr. 4:41.

■ 5:10 Nothing . . . except the two tablets. In the tabernacle of Moses' time the ark also contained Aaron's staff (Num. 17:10, 11) and the jar of manna (Ex. 16:32–34).

■ 5:11–13 See 1 Kin. 8:10, 11. The books of Chronicles emphasize the use of music in worship (1 Chr. 15:16 note).

■ 5:13 He is good . . . forever. A familiar line of descriptive praise honoring God for His enduring goodness and mercy (7:3, 6; Ps. 106:1; 107:1; 136).

■ 5:13, 14 cloud . . . glory. God blessed Solomon's temple with His presence as He had blessed the tabernacle (Ex. 40:34–38). The prophets hoped for God's glory to return to the temple after the exile in Babylonia (Ezek. 43:1–5; Hag. 2:7–9; Zech. 2:10; 8:3).

■ 6:1, 2 Solomon expresses his hope for the permanence of the presence of God in the temple. This was a keen concern for the community seeking to reestablish itself after returning from exile in Babylonia in the sixth century B.C. (5:13, 14 note).

■ 6:5–10, 20, 32–34, 38 name. See note on 1 Chr. 13:6; "This Is My Name': God's Self-disclosure" at Ex. 3:15.

18 "But will God indeed dwell with men on the earth? [r]Behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain You. How much less this [3]temple which I have built! 19 Yet regard the prayer of Your servant and his supplication, O LORD my God, and listen to the cry and the prayer which Your servant is praying before You: 20 that Your eyes may be [s]open toward this temple day and night, toward the place where You said You would put Your name, that You may hear the prayer which Your servant makes [t]toward this place. 21 And may You hear the supplications of Your servant and of Your people Israel, when they pray toward this place. Hear from heaven Your dwelling place, and when You hear, [u]forgive.

22 "If anyone sins against his neighbor, and is forced to take an [v]oath, and comes and takes an oath before Your altar in this temple, 23 then hear from heaven, and act, and judge Your servants, bringing retribution on the wicked by bringing his way on his own head, and justifying the righteous by giving him according to his [w]righteousness.

24 "Or if Your people Israel are defeated before an [x]enemy because they have sinned against You, and return and confess Your name, and pray and make supplication before You in this temple, 25 then hear from heaven and forgive the sin of Your people Israel, and bring them back to the land which You gave to them and their fathers.

26 "When the [y]heavens are shut up and there is no rain because they have sinned against You, when they pray toward this place and confess Your name, and turn from their sin because You afflict them, 27 then hear in heaven, and forgive the sin of Your servants, Your people Israel, that You may teach them the good way in which they should walk; and send rain on Your land which You have given to Your people as an inheritance.

28 "When there [z]is famine in the land, pestilence or blight or mildew, locusts or grasshoppers; when their enemies besiege them in the land of their cities; whatever plague or whatever [a]sickness there is; 29 whatever prayer, whatever supplication is made by anyone, or by all Your people Israel, when each one knows his own burden and his own grief, and spreads out his hands to this temple: 30 then hear from heaven Your dwelling place, and forgive, and give to everyone according to all his ways, whose heart You know (for You alone [b]know the [c]hearts of the sons of men), 31 that they may fear You, to walk in Your ways as long as they live in the land which You gave to our fathers.

court. That is, the "great court" outside the temple proper (4:9 note).

■ 6:14 Your covenant and mercy. Solomon's words of praise touch on both sides of the covenant relationship between God and His people. God keeps His covenant, and the people must walk in it "with all their hearts." Violation of the covenant invites divine retribution (Deut. 7:9–12; 30:15–20). This idea of the covenant is central in the books of the Chronicles (1 Chr. 28:9 note).

■ 6:16, 17 Solomon refers to the promise given through Nathan of a permanent dynasty (1 Chr. 17:7–14 notes).

■ 6:16 only if your sons take heed. The responsibility to persevere is emphasized.

walk in My law. See note on 1 Chr. 16:40.

■ 6:18–39 Solomon turns to the heart of his concern. He prays that the temple will be the national center for effective prayer. He begins with a general request to God to hear the people's prayers (vv. 18–21) listing seven specific situations in which prayers may be offered in or toward the temple (vv. 22–39). This aspect of Solomon's prayer would encourage readers in the time of restoration following the exile in Babylonia to make the restored temple the center of prayer in that time.

■ 6:18 the heaven of heavens cannot contain You. See note on 2:6.

■ 6:19–21 prayer . . . pray. See note on 7:14.

■ 6:21 Hear from heaven Your dwelling place. Solomon uses this expression four times in his prayer (vv. 21, 30, 33, 39). The temple was the earthly place that provided access to the heavenly court through the sacrifices offered there and the promise of God's gracious presence (1 Chr. 13:6 note).

■ 6:22 forced to take an oath. For the kinds of legal procedures in mind here, see Ex. 22:10, 11; Lev. 6:1–7.

■ 6:24 defeated . . . because they have sinned. Military defeat is often listed as a consequence of violating the covenant (Lev. 26:14–17; Deut. 28:25, 26, 47–52).

■ 6:24, 26, 38 return . . . turn. See note on 7:14.

■ 6:24, 26, 32, 34, 38 pray. See note on 7:14.

■ 6:26 no rain. Rain and drought are presented as covenant blessings and curses (Lev. 26:3, 4; Deut. 11:13, 14; Jer. 3:3; Joel 2:23–27; Hag. 1:9–11).

■ 6:28 famine . . . locusts. Famines and plagues of various sorts are often listed as covenant curses (Lev. 26:16, 20, 25, 26; Deut. 28:20–22, 27, 28, 35, 42).

32 "Moreover, concerning a foreigner, [d]who is not of Your people Israel, but has come from a far country for the sake of Your great name and Your mighty hand and Your outstretched arm, when they come and pray in this temple; 33 then hear from heaven Your dwelling place, and do according to all for which the foreigner calls to You, that all peoples of the earth may know Your name and fear You, as do Your people Israel, and that they may know that [4]this temple which I have built is called by Your name.

34 "When Your people go out to battle against their enemies, wherever You send them, and when they pray to You toward this city which You have chosen and the temple which I have built for Your name, 35 then hear from heaven their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their cause.

And let Your saints [k]rejoice in goodness.

Solomon Dedicates the Temple

7 When [a]Solomon had finished praying, [b]fire came down from heaven and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices; and [c]the glory of the LORD filled the [1]temple. 2 [d]And the priests could not enter the house of the LORD, because the glory of the LORD had filled the LORD's house. 3 When all the children of Israel saw how the fire came down, and the glory of the LORD on the temple, they bowed their faces to the ground on the pavement, and worshiped and praised the LORD, saying:

[e]"For He is good,
[f]For His mercy endures forever."

4 [g]Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices before the LORD. 5 King Solomon offered a sacrifice of twenty-two thousand bulls and one hundred and twenty thousand sheep. So the

■ 6:32, 33 foreigner. Solomon asked that foreigners would also receive answers to prayer at the temple. The prophets looked forward to the inclusion of Gentiles among the people of God (Is. 56:6–8; Zech. 8:20–23; 14:16–21). The form of the petition emphasizes the centrality of the temple even as the kingdom expands to other nations. The inclusion of many Gentiles in the kingdom was ultimately fulfilled in Christ (Rom. 3:29; Gal. 3:14; Eph. 2:14–22).

■ 6:34 go out to battle. The writer frequently reports how God answered prayer offered in battle (1 Chr. 5:18–22 note; 2 Chr. 13:14 note; 14:11 note; 18:31 note; 32:20 note).

■ 6:36–39 take them captive . . . maintain their cause. Exile and captivity are often listed as curses for violating the covenant (Deut. 28:36, 37, 64). Solomon's request was realized twice within the history of Chronicles itself. First Manasseh (33:10–13) and later the entire remnant of Israel (36:20–23) suffered exile in Babylonia and were restored to the Promised Land.

■ 6:37 repent. See note on 7:14.

■ 6:38 toward their land . . . city . . . temple. See the practice of Daniel (Dan. 6:10) and Jonah (Jon. 2:4).

■ 6:40 Now, my God. Solomon's prayer ends with an adaptation of Ps. 132:8–10 about the joy of worship in the place chosen by God. The concluding words of the prayer given in 1 Kin. 8:50, 51 specify that the people were chosen by God and brought out of Egypt. Solomon asks God to remember the people and the place that He chose, and there to receive graciously all who turn to Him. Solomon's appeal is based on God's initiative in election.

glory. See "The Glory of God" at Ezek. 1:28.

■ 7:2, 3 The repetition of elements from 5:13, 14 balances the initial celebration with the closing celebration. Note especially the praise for God's enduring mercy (7:3, 6; 5:13 and note).

king and all the people dedicated the house of God. 6 [h]And the priests attended to their services; the Levites also with instruments of the music of the LORD, which King David had made to praise the LORD, saying, "For His mercy endures forever," whenever David offered praise by their [2]ministry. [i]The priests sounded trumpets opposite them, while all Israel stood.

7 Furthermore [j]Solomon consecrated the middle of the court that was in front of the house of the LORD; for there he offered burnt offerings and the fat of the peace offerings, because the bronze altar which Solomon had made was not able to receive the burnt offerings, the grain offerings, and the fat.

8 [k]At that time Solomon kept the feast seven days, and all Israel with him, a very great assembly [l]from the entrance of Hamath to [m]the[3] Brook of Egypt. 9 And on the eighth day they held a [n]sacred assembly, for they observed the dedication of the altar seven days, and the feast seven days. 10 [o]On the twenty-third day of the seventh month he sent the people away to their tents, joyful and glad of heart for the good that the LORD had done for David, for Solomon, and for His people Israel. 11 Thus [p]Solomon finished the house of the LORD and the king's house; and Solomon successfully accomplished all that came into his heart to make in the house of the LORD and in his own house.

God's Second Appearance to Solomon

12 Then the LORD [q]appeared to Solomon by night, and said to him: "I have heard your prayer, [r]and have chosen this [s]place for Myself as a house of sacrifice. 13 [t]When I shut up heaven and there is no rain, or command the locusts to devour the land, or send pestilence among My people, 14 if My people who are [u]called by My name will [v]humble themselves, and pray and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, [w]then I will hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin and heal their land. 15 Now [x]My eyes will be open and My ears attentive to prayer made in this place. 16 For now [y]I have chosen and [4]sanctified this house, that My name may be there forever; and [5]My eyes and [6]My heart will be there perpetually. 17 [z]As for you, if you walk before Me as your father David walked, and do according to all that I have commanded you, and if you keep My statutes and My judgments, 18 then I will establish the throne of your kingdom, as I covenanted with David your father, saying, [a]'You shall not fail to have a man as ruler in Israel.'

19 [b]"But if you turn away and forsake My statutes and My commandments which I have set before you, and go and serve other gods, and worship them, 20 [c]then I will uproot them from My land which I have given them; and this house which I have [7]sanctified for My name I will cast out of My sight, and will make it a proverb and a [d]byword among all peoples.

21 "And as for [e]this [8]house, which [9]is exalted, everyone who passes by it will be [f]astonished and say, [g]'Why has the LORD done thus to this land and this house?' 22 Then they will answer, 'Because they forsook the LORD God of their fathers, who brought them out of the land of Egypt, and embraced other gods, and worshiped them and served them; therefore He has brought all this calamity on them.' " all Israel. The whole nation was involved (1 Chr. 11:1 note).

■ 7:8 feast. The Feast of Tabernacles (5:3 note).

■ 7:10 for David, for Solomon. 1 Kin. 8:66 simply reads "David." The writer of Chronicles regards the temple construction as a joint effort of David and Solomon (1 Chr. 22:5 note).

■ 7:13–15 These verses do not appear in Kings. They report God's response to several requests mentioned in Solomon's prayer (6:14–42). Readers of the time following the return of exiles from Babylonia were looking to God to help them restore or "heal" the land (Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Date and Occasion).

■ 7:13 rain . . . locusts . . . pestilence. Refers directly to 6:26–31.

■ 7:14 if My people. God promised that the nation would receive relief from the hardships caused by their sin if the people would turn to Him in humility and prayer. This promise was especially relevant to the restored community following the Babylonian exile. A number of events in the divided and reunited kingdoms illustrate the principles of this passage (12:6; 13:14; 14:8–15; 18:31; 20:5–19; 32:20; 33:12, 13 and notes). Many times in Chronicles the concepts in this passage appear as the decisive factor for divine blessing and curses.

humble. An attitude of contrition and dependence on God (12:6, 7, 12; 30:11; 33:12, 19, 23; 34:27).

■ 7:16, 20 name. See note on 1 Chr. 13:6.

■ 7:17–22 The promise that the dynasty founded by David would remain forever, gave hope to those seeking to restore the nation following their return from exile in Babylonia. While the promise to David's line was irrevocable, the nation always faced the threat of punishment if they should be unfaithful (1 Chr. 17:7–14 note; and 28:9 note).

■ 7:17 keep My statutes and My judgments. See note on 1 Chr. 16:40.

■ 8:1–16 This account of Solomon's building projects and temple arrangements balances with 3:1—5:1. Its content follows 1 Kin. 9:10–28.

■ 8:2 Hiram had given to Solomon. Solomon gave these cities to Hiram, who later returned them (1 Kin. 9:10–14).

them; and he settled the children of Israel there. 3 And Solomon went to Hamath Zobah and seized it. 4 [c]He also built Tadmor in the wilderness, and all the storage cities which he built in [d]Hamath. 5 He built Upper Beth Horon and [e]Lower Beth Horon, fortified cities with walls, gates, and bars, 6 also Baalath and all the storage cities that Solomon had, and all the chariot cities and the cities of the cavalry, and all that Solomon [f]desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion.

7 [g]All the people who were left of the Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, who were not of Israel— 8 that is, their descendants who were left in the land after them, whom the children of Israel did not destroy—from these Solomon raised forced labor, as it is to this day. 9 But Solomon did not make the children of Israel [2]servants for his work. Some were men of war, captains of his officers, captains of his chariots, and his cavalry. 10 And others were chiefs of the officials of King Solomon: [h]two hundred and fifty, who ruled over the people.

11 Now Solomon [i]brought the daughter of Pharaoh up from the City of David to the house he had built for her, for he said, "My wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, because the places to which the ark of the LORD has come are holy."

12 Then Solomon offered burnt offerings to the LORD on the altar of the LORD which he had built before the vestibule, 13 according to the [j]daily rate, offering according to the commandment of Moses, for the Sabbaths, the New Moons, and the [k]three appointed yearly [l]feasts—the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the Feast of Weeks, and the Feast of Tabernacles. 14 And, according to the [3]order of David his father, he appointed the [m]divisions of the priests for their service, [n]the Levites for their duties (to praise and serve before the priests) as the duty of each day required, and the [o]gatekeepers by their divisions at each gate; for so David the man of God had commanded. 15 They did not depart from the command of the king to the priests and Levites concerning any matter or concerning the [p]treasuries.

16 Now all the work of Solomon was well-ordered [4]from the day of the foundation of the house of the LORD until it was finished. So the house of the LORD was completed.

17 Then Solomon went to [q]Ezion Geber and [5]Elath on the seacoast, in the land of Edom. 18 [r]And Hiram sent him ships by the hand of his servants, and servants who knew the sea. They went with the servants of Solomon to [s]Ophir, and acquired four hundred and fifty talents of gold from there, and brought it to King Solomon.

The Queen of Sheba's Praise of Solomon

9 Now [a]when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, she came to Jerusalem to test Solomon with hard questions, having a very great retinue, camels that bore spices, gold in abundance, and precious stones; and when she came to Solomon, she spoke with him about all that was in her heart. 2 So Solomon answered all her questions; there was nothing so difficult for Solomon that he could not explain it to her. 3 And when the queen of Sheba had seen the wisdom of Solomon, the house that he had built, 4 the food on his table, the seating of his servants, the service of his waiters and their apparel, his [b]cupbearers and their apparel, and his entryway by which he went up to the house of the LORD, there was no more spirit in her.

5 Then she said to the king: "It was a true report which I heard in my own land about your words and your wisdom. 6 However I did not believe their words until I came and saw with my own eyes; and indeed the half of the greatness of your wisdom was not told me. You exceed the fame of which I heard. 7 Happy are your men and happy are these your servants, who stand continually before you and hear your wisdom! 8 Blessed be the LORD your God, who delighted in you, setting you on His throne to be king for the LORD your God! Because your God has [c]loved Israel, to establish them forever, therefore He made you king over them, to do justice and righteousness."

9 And she gave the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold, spices in great abundance, and precious stones; there never were any spices such as those the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

to this day. See note on 1 Chr. 4:41.

■ 8:11 the places . . . are holy. Solomon moved his Egyptian wife out of regard for the holiness of the ark and the places associated with it. Unlike the books of Kings (1 Kin. 11:1–13) and Nehemiah (Neh. 13:26, 27), Chronicles reserves negative comment on Solomon's international marriages. These sad facts were well known.

■ 8:12–16 Again the account of details concerning worship, Levites, and priests, is more full than that in Kings (cf. 1 Kin. 9:25; 1 Chr. 6:1 note).

■ 9:8 to establish them forever. The Queen of Sheba recognized Solomon's wise rule as God's provision for the well-being of Israel. Solomon's wealth and wisdom (2:13–28), like the international favor he enjoyed (v. 23), was a high point for the covenant community. The generation that returned from the distress of exile in Babylonia looked to it for inspiration and courage in their work of rebuilding.

10 Also, the servants of Hiram and the servants of Solomon, [d]who brought gold from Ophir, brought [1]algum wood and precious stones. 11 And the king made walkways of the [2]algum wood for the house of the LORD and for the king's house, also harps and stringed instruments for singers; and there were none such as these seen before in the land of Judah.

12 Now King Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all she desired, whatever she asked, much more than she had brought to the king. So she turned and went to her own country, she and her servants.

Solomon's Great Wealth

13 [e]The weight of gold that came to Solomon yearly was six hundred and sixty-six talents of gold, 14 besides what the traveling merchants and traders brought. And all the kings of Arabia and governors of the country brought gold and silver to Solomon. 15 And King Solomon made two hundred large shields of hammered gold; six hundred shekels of hammered gold went into each shield. 16 He also made three hundred shields of hammered gold; [3]three hundred shekels of gold went into each shield. The king put them in the [f]House of the Forest of Lebanon.

17 Moreover the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with pure gold. 18 The throne had six steps, with a footstool of gold, which were fastened to the throne; there were [4]armrests on either side of the place of the seat, and two lions stood beside the armrests. 19 Twelve lions stood there, one on each side of the six steps; nothing like this had been made for any other kingdom.

20 All King Solomon's drinking vessels were gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were pure gold. Not one was silver, for this was accounted as nothing in the days of Solomon. 21 For the king's ships went to [g]Tarshish with the servants of [5]Hiram. Once every three years the [6]merchant ships came, bringing gold, silver, ivory, apes, and [7]monkeys.

22 So King Solomon surpassed all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom. 23 And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Solomon to hear his wisdom, which God had put in his heart. 24 Each man brought his present: articles of silver and gold, garments, [h]armor, spices, horses, and mules, at a set rate year by year.

25 Solomon [i]had four thousand stalls for horses and chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen whom he stationed in the chariot cities and with the king at Jerusalem.

26 [j]So he reigned over all the kings [k]from [8]the River to the land of the Philistines, as far as the border of Egypt. 27 [l]The king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, and he made cedar trees [m]as abundant as the sycamores which are in the lowland. 28 [n]And they brought horses to Solomon from Egypt and from all lands.

Death of Solomon

29 [o]Now the rest of the acts of Solomon, first and last, are they not written in the book of Nathan the prophet, in the prophecy of [p]Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of [q]Iddo the seer concerning Jeroboam the son of Nebat? 30 [r]Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years. 31 Then Solomon [9]rested with his fathers, and was buried in the City of David his father. And Rehoboam his son reigned in his place.

The Revolt Against Rehoboam

10 And [a]Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had gone to Shechem to make him king. 2 So it happened, when Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard it (he was in Egypt, [b]where he

■ 9:29 written in the book of. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author.

■ 10:1—28:27 The Divided Kingdom. In this section the writer makes use of 1 Kin. 12—2 Kin. 17. His record of the period of the divided monarchy does not rehearse the harsh condemnation of the northern tribes found in Kings, focusing instead on events in Judah where the temple was and the Davidic king lived. Throughout this section, the writer reports how the conditions in the kingdom depended on the nation's faithfulness to God. As readers considered these events, they could see clearly the choices for blessing and curse in their own day.

In telling about Rehoboam's kingship, the writer makes broad use of Kings (cf. 10:1—11:4 with 1 Kin. 12:1–24; 12:9–16 with 1 Kin. 14:21, 25–31), while presenting the material in accord with his own theological understanding and emphasis. The account is presented in two parts (chs. 10; 11 and 12:1–14), each part narrating a problematic situation, prophetic encounter, and divine blessing. The conclusion is a notice of his wars with Jeroboam and his death (12:15, 16). The chapters impress on the readers God's curse against pride and infidelity and the benefits of living in humility and obedience to the prophetic word (20:20 note).

■ 10:1—11:23 The first section recounting Rehoboam's reign focuses on his first three years as king (11:17), in which there is conflict (ch. 10), obedience to the prophetic word (11:1–4), and divine blessing (11:5–23).

8 [c]1 Kin. 12:8–11 had fled from the presence of King Solomon), that Jeroboam returned from Egypt. 3 Then they sent for him and called him. And Jeroboam and all Israel came and spoke to Rehoboam, saying, 4 "Your father made our yoke heavy; now therefore, lighten the burdensome service of your father and his heavy yoke which he put on us, and we will serve you."

5 So he said to them, "Come back to me after three days." And the people departed.

6 Then King Rehoboam consulted the elders who stood before his father Solomon while he still lived, saying, "How do you advise me to answer these people?"

7 And they spoke to him, saying, "If you are kind to these people, and please them, and speak good words to them, they will be your servants forever."

8 [c]But he rejected the advice which the elders had given him, and consulted the young men who had grown up with him, who stood before him. 9 And he said to them, "What advice do you all Israel. In the discussion of the period of the divided monarchy, this expression and others like it can refer to: the southern kingdom alone (11:3; 12:1; 24:5; 28:23); the northern kingdom alone (10:16; 11:13; 13:4, 15); or both kingdoms together (18:16; cf. 1 Chr. 11:1 note; 2 Chr. 29:24 note).

10:1—11:4 is derived from 1 Kin. 12:1–24 (notes); the Chronicler adds 11:5–23.

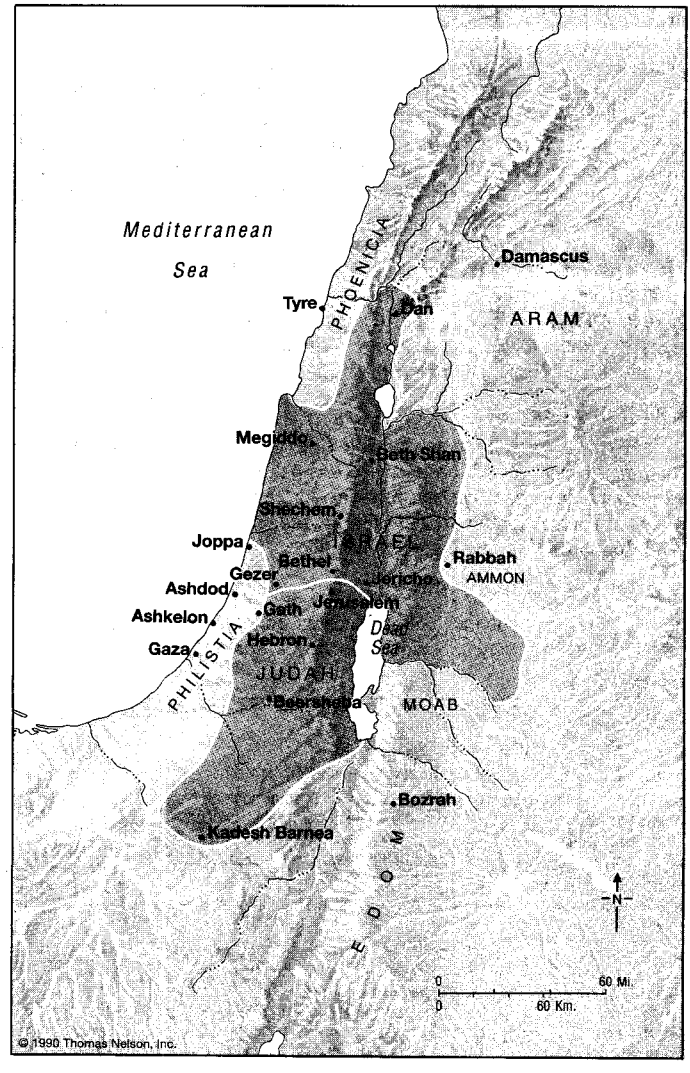
A Kingdom Divided. The glory of the united kingdom faded at the death of Solomon. Bitter feelings had been aroused by some of the harsh policies of Solomon's rule. The system of forced labor for building projects (1 Kin. 5:13) and the administrative districts which cut across old tribal boundaries (1 Kin. 4:7–19) were not popular with the people.

When Solomon's son Rehoboam ascended the throne, he inherited an internal tension between north and south that had to be addressed if the kingdom were to remain united. At Shechem the people, with Jeroboam as their leader, asked for change. Rehoboam's harsh rejection of their demands led to the people's rebellious response: "Every man to your tents, O Israel! Now see to your own house, O David!" The kingdom split. Rehoboam reigned over Judah to the south, but Jeroboam became king of Israel to the north.



give? How should we answer this people who have spoken to me, saying, 'Lighten the yoke which your father put on us'?"

10 Then the young men who had grown up with him spoke to him, saying, "Thus you should speak to the people who have spoken to you, saying, 'Your father made our yoke heavy, but you make it lighter on us'—thus you shall say to them: 'My little finger shall be thicker than my father's waist! 11 And now, whereas my father put a heavy yoke on you, I will add to your yoke; my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with [f]scourges!' "

12 So [d]Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, as the king had directed, saying, "Come back to me the third day." 13 Then the king answered them roughly. King Rehoboam rejected the advice of the elders, 14 and he spoke to them according to the advice of the young men, saying, [2]"My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to it; my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with [f]scourges!" 15 So the king did not listen to the people; [e]for the turn of events was from God, that the LORD might fulfill His [g]word, which He had spoken by the hand of Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

16 Now when all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, the people answered the king, saying:

"What share have we in David?
We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse.
Every man to your tents, O Israel!
Now see to your own house, O David!"

So all Israel departed to their tents. 17 But Rehoboam reigned over the children of Israel who dwelt in the cities of Judah.

18 Then King Rehoboam sent Hadoram, who was in charge of revenue; but the children of Israel stoned him with stones, and he died. Therefore King Rehoboam mounted his chariot in haste to flee to Jerusalem. 19 [g]So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day.

11 Now [a]when Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, he assembled from the house of Judah and Benjamin one hundred and eighty thousand chosen men who were warriors, to fight against Israel, that he might restore the kingdom to Rehoboam.

2 But the word of the LORD came [b]to Shemaiah the man of God, saying, 3 "Speak to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all Israel in Judah and Benjamin, saying, 4 'Thus says the LORD: "You shall not go up or fight against your brethren! Let every man return to his house, for this thing is from Me." ' " Therefore they obeyed the words of the LORD, and turned back from attacking Jeroboam.

Rehoboam Fortifies the Cities

5 So Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and built cities for defense in Judah. 6 And he built Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa, 7 Beth Zur, Sochoh, Adullam, 8 Gath, Mareshah, Ziph, 9 Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah, 10 Zorah, Aijalon, and Hebron, which are in Judah and Benjamin, fortified cities. 11 And he fortified the strongholds, and put captains in them, and stores of food, oil, and wine. 12 Also in every city he put shields and spears, and made them very strong, having Judah and Benjamin on his side.

Priests and Levites Move to Judah

13 And from all their territories the priests and the Levites who were in all Israel took their stand with him. 14 For the Levites left [c]their common-lands and their possessions and came to

1 [a]1 Kin. 12:21–24

2 [b]1 Chr. 12:5; 2 Chr. 12:15

14 [c]Num. 35:2–5

■ 10:15 from God, that the LORD might fulfill His word. The author points out that Rehoboam's reaction must be seen in the light of God's sovereign purposes. Ahijah's prophecy concerning Jeroboam (1 Kin. 11:29–39) was fulfilled by this turn of events. Divine sovereignty extends over the sinful actions of human beings (1 Chr. 21:1 note).

■ 10:16 all Israel. See note on 10:1.

■ 10:19 to this day. See note on 1 Chr. 4:41.

■ 11:2 Shemaiah. The prophet appears twice in Rehoboam's reign (cf. 12:5–8). To his credit and benefit, both times Rehoboam listened to the prophet's word.

■ 11:3 all Israel in Judah. See note on 10:1.

■ 11:4 this thing is from Me. See note on 10:15.

■ 11:5–23 The writer gives three illustrations of divine blessing to demonstrate the wisdom of Rehoboam's response to the prophetic warning (20:20 note). The text mentions fortifications and military strength in Judah and Benjamin (11:5–12), the defection of Levites from the northern kingdom (11:13–17), and the increase of his family (11:18–23).

■ 11:5 built cities for defense. See note on 1 Chr. 11:5.

■ 11:13 all Israel. See note on 10:1.

■ 11:14 Jeroboam . . . had rejected them. The historian does not repeat the account found in 1 Kings about how Jeroboam established

Judah and Jerusalem, for [d]Jeroboam and his sons had rejected them from serving as priests to the LORD. 15 [e]Then he appointed for himself priests for the [f]high places, for [g]the demons, and [g]the calf idols which he had made. 16 [h]And [2]after the Levites left, those from all the tribes of Israel, such as set their heart to seek the LORD God of Israel, [i]came to Jerusalem to sacrifice to the LORD God of their fathers. 17 So they [j]strengthened the kingdom of Judah, and made Rehoboam the son of Solomon strong for three years, because they walked in the way of David and Solomon for three years.

The Family of Rehoboam

18 Then Rehoboam took for himself as wife Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth the son of David, and of Abihail the daughter of [k]Eliab the son of Jesse. 19 And she bore him children: Jeush, Shamariah, and Zaham. 20 After her he took [l]Maachah the [3]granddaughter of [m]Absalom; and she bore him [n]Abijah, Attai, Ziza, and Shelomith. 21 Now Rehoboam loved Maachah the granddaughter of Absalom more than all his [o]wives and his concubines; for he took eighteen wives and sixty concubines, and begot twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters. 22 And Rehoboam [p]appointed [q]Abijah the son of Maachah as chief, to be leader among his brothers; for he intended to make him king. 23 He dealt wisely, and [4]dispersed some of his sons throughout all the territories of Judah and Benjamin, to every [r]fortified city; and he gave them provisions in abundance. He also sought many wives for them.

Egypt Attacks Judah

12 Now [a]it came to pass, when Rehoboam had established the kingdom and had strengthened himself, that [b]he forsook the law of the LORD, and all Israel along with him. 2 [c]And it happened in the fifth year of King Rehoboam that Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, because they had transgressed against the LORD, 3 with twelve hundred chariots, sixty thousand horsemen, and people without number who came with him out of Egypt—[d]the Lubim and the Sukkiim and the Ethiopians. 4 And he took the fortified cities of Judah and came to Jerusalem.

5 Then [e]Shemaiah the prophet came to Rehoboam and the leaders of Judah, who were gathered together in Jerusalem because of Shishak, and said to them, "Thus says the LORD: 'You have forsaken Me, and therefore I also have left you in the hand of Shishak.' "

6 So the leaders of Israel and the king [f]humbled themselves; and they said, [g]"The LORD is righteous."

7 Now when the LORD saw that they humbled themselves, [h]the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah, saying, "They have humbled themselves; therefore I will not destroy them, but I will grant them some deliverance. My wrath shall not be poured out on Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak. 8 Nevertheless [i]they will be his servants, that they may distinguish [j]My service from the service of the kingdoms of the nations."

9 [k]So Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, and took away the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king's house; he took everything. He also carried idolatrous worship centers at Dan and Bethel (1 Kin. 12:25–33), but he assumes that the reader knows it. Jeroboam rejected priests and Levites who were faithful to Jerusalem as the proper site for worship. Jeroboam's animosity drove these priests to Rehoboam. The theme of faithful Israelites defecting to Judah appears several times in the periods of the divided and reunited kingdoms (13:8–11; 15:9; 30:10–12). Following the return of the remnant from exile in Babylonia, these accounts were a precedent for Israelites from the northern kingdom, since the restoration was centered in Jerusalem (1 Chr. 9:3 note; see Introduction: The Divided Kingdom).

■ 11:17 three years, because they walked in the way of David and Solomon. Rehoboam enjoyed God's blessing because he imitated the faithfulness of David and Solomon for the early years of his reign.

■ 11:18–23 The historian frequently mentions the increase of family to demonstrate God's blessing (1 Chr. 13:13 note).

■ 11:20 Maachah. See 13:2 note.

■ 12:1–12 For the second major portion of the account of Rehoboam's reign (chs. 10—12 note) the historian expands the account of 1 Kin. 14:25–28. He reports Rehoboam's disobedience in his fourth year and the divine retribution by Shishak's invasion in the fifth year (12:2).

■ 12:1, 2 forsook the law . . . transgressed against the LORD. See 1 Kin. 14:22–24 for more details on this apostasy. See also note on 1 Chr. 16:40.

■ 12:1 all Israel. See note on 10:1.

■ 12:2 Shishak. The founder of the twenty-second dynasty of Egypt (c. 945–924 B.C.), whose military campaign extended to the plains of Jezreel and Megiddo.

■ 12:3–9 The author adds these verses to complete the parallel with Rehoboam's previous encounter with Shemaiah (cf 11:2–4; 10:1—11:23 note).

■ 12:3 twelve hundred . . . sixty thousand . . . without number. See note on 1 Chr. 19:7.

■ 12:6 humbled themselves. See also vv. 7, 12. This event illustrates God's response to Solomon's prayer (7:14 note).

■ 12:7, 8 Although Shemaiah modified his first warning, God's sovereign plan was not overturned. Prophetic warnings were designed to stir repentance. If they succeeded in this, the threat of judgment was often removed, postponed, or softened (Jer. 18:1–12; Joel 2:12–14; Jon. 3).

away the gold shields which Solomon had [l]made. 10 Then King Rehoboam made bronze shields in their place, and committed them [m]to the hands of the captains of the guard, who guarded the doorway of the king's house. 11 And whenever the king entered the house of the LORD, the guard would go and bring them out; then they would take them back into the guardroom. 12 When he humbled himself, the wrath of the LORD turned from him, so as not to destroy him completely; and things also went well in Judah.

The End of Rehoboam's Reign

13 Thus King Rehoboam strengthened himself in Jerusalem and reigned. Now [n]Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king; and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, [o]the city which the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, to put His name there. His mother's name was Naamah, an [p]Ammonitess. 14 And he did evil, because he did not prepare his heart to seek the LORD.

15 The acts of Rehoboam, first and last, are they not written in the book of Shemaiah the prophet, [q]and of Iddo the seer concerning genealogies? [r]And there were wars between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all their days. 16 So Rehoboam [l]rested with his fathers, and was buried in the City of David. Then [s]Abijah[2] his son reigned in his place.

Abijah Reigns in Judah

13 In [a]the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam, Abijah became king over [b]Judah. 2 He reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was [l]Michaiah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah.

And there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam. 3 Abijah set the battle in order with an army of valiant warriors, four hundred thousand choice men. Jeroboam also drew up in battle formation against him with eight hundred thousand choice men, mighty men of valor.

4 Then Abijah stood on Mount [c]Zemaraim, which is in the mountains of Ephraim, and said, "Hear me, Jeroboam and all Israel: 5 Should you not know that the LORD God of Israel [d]gave the dominion over Israel to David forever, to him and his sons, [e]by a covenant of salt? 6 Yet Jeroboam the son of Nebat, the servant of Solomon the son of David, rose up and [f]rebelled against his lord. 7 Then [g]worthless rogues gathered to him, and strengthened themselves against Rehoboam the son of Solomon, when Rehoboam was [h]young and inexperienced and could not withstand them. 8 And now you think to withstand the kingdom of the LORD, which is in the hand of the sons of David; and you are a great multitude, and with you are the gold calves which Jeroboam [i]made for you as gods. 9 [j]Have you not cast out the priests of the LORD, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and made for yourselves priests, like the peoples of other lands, [k]so that whoever comes to consecrate himself with a young bull and seven rams may be a priest of [l]things that are not gods? 10 But as for us, the LORD is our [m]God, and we have not forsaken Him; and the priests who minister to the LORD are the sons of Aaron, and the Levites attend to their

10 [m]Josh. 24:15

■ 12:12 went well in Judah. While Rehoboam continued to suffer for his sins, God graciously established his kingdom and blessed the nation.

■ 12:14 he did evil. Probably a reference to the sins of Rehoboam's fourth year (vv. 1, 2 note). 1 Kin. 14:29–31 does not include this observation.

■ 12:15 written in the book. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author.

■ 13:1—14:1 The account of Abijah's reign in Chronicles (13:2–21) differs considerably from that in Kings (1 Kin. 15:3–5). Chronicles emphasizes the positive side of Abijah's reign while the writer of Kings focuses on the negative side (1 Kin. 15:3). Chronicles reports Abijah's speech against the northern kingdom (13:4–12) and his prayerful reliance on God in battle (13:14).

■ 13:1 Abijah. He reigned 913–910 B.C. while Jeroboam I ruled the northern kingdom (930–909 B.C.).

■ 13:2 Michaiah. A variant spelling of "Maachah" (see 11:20; 1 Kin. 15:2). Maachah was apparently the granddaughter of Absalom through his daughter Tamar and her husband Uriel of Gibeah.

war between Abijah and Jeroboam. 1 Kin. 15:6, 7 mentions this war, but Chronicles has more details including the drawing of battle lines, Abijah's speech, the battle itself, and its outcome.

■ 13:3 four hundred thousand . . . eight hundred thousand. Judah was greatly outnumbered, highlighting the power of God at work on behalf of faithful Judah (1 Chr. 12:23 note; 19:7 note).

■ 13:4–12 Abijah's speech against the northern kingdom makes clear that David's dynasty was approved by God, and that the temple worship in Jerusalem was established by God.

■ 13:4 Mount Zemaraim. This was in the border regions between Judah and Israel, probably in the territory of Benjamin (cf. Josh. 18:22).

■ 13:6 Jeroboam . . . rebelled. Abijah appeals to the northern army by blaming Jeroboam for the rebellion against Rehoboam.

■ 13:7 young and inexperienced and could not withstand them. Abijah explains that Rehoboam's offense against the northern tribes (10:1–17) was the result of his youth and inexperience (cf. 1 Chr. 22:5; 29:1; 2 Chr. 12:13).

■ 13:8 kingdom of the LORD. Despite Rehoboam's offense, to oppose David's dynasty was to resist God Himself.

■ 13:9 cast out the priests . . . and the Levites. The writer of Chronicles has already mentioned the defection of these Levites as an indication of God's blessing on Rehoboam (11:13–17 and notes).

■ 13:10 we have not forsaken. In contrast with the northern kingdom, Judah had remained fundamentally loyal to the temple, priests, and Levites (but see 12:1, 2). This assessment of Judah's condition is reversed later in Hezekiah's day (29:4–11 note; 30:6–9 note).

duties. 11 [n]And they burn to the LORD every morning and every evening burnt sacrifices and sweet incense; they also set the [o]showbread in order on the pure gold table, and the lampstand of gold with its lamps [p]to burn every evening; for we keep the command of the LORD our God, but you have forsaken Him. 12 Now look, God Himself is with us as our [q]head, [r]and His priests with sounding trumpets to sound the alarm against you. O children of Israel, do not fight against the LORD God of your fathers, for you shall not prosper!"

13 But Jeroboam caused an ambush to go around behind them; so they were in front of Judah, and the ambush was behind them. 14 And when Judah looked around, to their surprise the battle line was at both front and rear; and they [s]cried out to the LORD, and the priests sounded the trumpets. 15 Then the men of Judah gave a shout; and as the men of Judah shouted, it happened that God [t]struck Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah. 16 And the children of Israel fled before Judah, and God delivered them into their hand. 17 Then Abijah and his people struck them with a great slaughter; so five hundred thousand choice men of Israel fell slain. 18 Thus the children of Israel were subdued at that time; and the children of Judah prevailed, [u]because they relied on the LORD God of their fathers.

19 And Abijah pursued Jeroboam and took cities from him: Bethel with its villages, Jeshanah with its villages, and [v]Ephrain[2] with its villages. 20 So Jeroboam did not recover strength again in the days of Abijah; and the LORD [w]struck him, and [x]he died.

21 But Abijah grew mighty, married fourteen wives, and begot twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters. 22 Now the rest of the acts of Abijah, his ways, and his sayings are written in [y]the [3]annals of the prophet Iddo.

14 So Abijah rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the City of David. Then [a]Asa his son reigned in his place. In his days the land was quiet for ten years.

Asa Reigns in Judah

2 Asa did what was good and right in the eyes of the LORD his God, 3 for he removed the altars of the foreign gods and [b]the [1]high places, and [c]broke down the sacred pillars [d]and cut down the wooden images. 4 He commanded Judah to [e]seek the LORD God of their fathers, and to observe the law and the commandment. 5 He also removed the [2]high places and the incense altars from all the cities of Judah, and the kingdom was quiet under him. 6 And he built fortified cities in Judah, for the land had rest; he had no war in those years, because the LORD had given him [f]rest. 7 Therefore he said to Judah, "Let us build these cities and make walls around them, and towers, gates, and bars, while the land is yet before us, because we have sought the LORD our God; we have sought Him, and He has given us rest on every side." So they built and prospered. 8 And

5 [2]Places for pagan worship

6 [f]2 Chr. 15:15

■ 13:11, 12 Abijah's speech refers to his care for proper worship. The original readers of Chronicles were reestablishing worship in Jerusalem following the return of the Jews from exile in Babylonia.

■ 13:12 God Himself is with us. See Is. 7:14 notes; Num. 14:9; Ps. 46:7; Matt. 1:23. The presence of God with the army of Judah secured victory. Abijah asserted that God was with Judah, even in a fight against the northern kingdom.

■ 13:14 cried out to the LORD. In his dedicatory prayer Solomon had spoken of praying to God in battle (6:34 note). Prayer appears as the decisive factor in the battle (1 Chr. 4:9 note).

■ 13:15 all Israel. In this context, the northern kingdom.

■ 13:18 were subdued. See note on 1 Chr. 20:4.

because they relied on the LORD. Reliance on the power of the Lord instead of human strength is a dominant theme in 1 and 2 Chronicles (16:2 note).

■ 13:20, 21 The outcomes for Jeroboam and Abijah indicate whether God approved or disapproved of them. Jeroboam never recovered from his defeat. Abijah, however, grew stronger and had many children (1 Chr. 13:13 note).

■ 13:22 annals of the prophet Iddo. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author.

■ 14:1 the land was quiet. See note on 1 Chr. 22:9.

■ 14:2—16:14 This account of Asa's reign is considerably longer than that of 1 Kin. 15:9–24. Asa's reign is presented in two parts: years of fidelity and blessing (14:2—15:19) and later years of infidelity and curse (ch. 16). These two parts form a pattern of contrasting parallels. Asa's growing prosperity (14:2–7) is balanced by the concluding section on his illness and death (16:11–14). The main section concerns warfare, prophetic encouragement, and the royal response (14:8—15:19 and 16:1–10). The historian contrasts the results of relying on God (15:8–19) with the results of relying on human power (16:2 note; 20:20 note).

■ 14:2 Asa. Reigned from 911 to 870 B.C.

■ 14:3 removed . . . the high places. Asa removed pagan high places from both Jerusalem and "all the cities of Judah" (14:5), but 15:17 (1 Kin. 15:14) indicates that these initial efforts were not continued throughout his life. A similar explanation holds for the descriptions of Jehoshaphat's removal of high places (cf. 17:6; 20:33).

■ 14:4 seek the LORD. See note on 7:14.

observe the law and the commandment. See note on 1 Chr. 16:40.

■ 14:6 he had no war. Apparently, this means that there were no major wars in this period. The writer says later that Asa had captured some towns in Ephraim during this time (15:8).

the LORD had given him rest. Chronicles presents peace in Asa's reign as a blessing for devotion and obedience to God (14:2—16:14 note; 1 Chr. 22:9 note).

■ 14:6, 7 he built . . . Let us build. God also assisted Asa's building projects (1 Chr. 11:5 note).

■ 14:7 because we have sought the LORD. Asa plainly said that his success came from having sought God (v. 4).

■ 14:8–15 When Zerah attacked, Asa sought the Lord and gained victory, fulfilling Solomon's request in his prayer (6:34 note). This battle directly contrasts with Asa's later battle against Baasha (16:1–6; see note on 14:2—16:14).

Asa had an army of three hundred thousand from Judah who carried [3]shields and spears, and from Benjamin two hundred and eighty thousand men who carried shields and drew [g]bows; all these were mighty men of [h]valor.

9 [i]Then Zerah the Ethiopian came out against them with an army of a million men and three hundred chariots, and he came to [j]Mareshah. 10 So Asa went out against him, and they set the troops in battle array in the Valley of Zephathah at Mareshah. 11 And Asa [k]cried out to the LORD his God, and said, "LORD, it is [l]nothing for You to help, whether with many or with those who have no power; help us, O LORD our God, for we rest on You, and [m]in Your name we go against this multitude. O LORD, You are our God; do not let man prevail against You!"

12 So the LORD [n]struck the Ethiopians before Asa and Judah, and the Ethiopians fled. 13 And Asa and the people who were with him pursued them to [o]Gerar. So the Ethiopians were overthrown, and they could not recover, for they were broken before the LORD and His army. And they carried away very much [4]spoil. 14 Then they defeated all the cities around Gerar, for [p]the fear of the LORD came upon them; and they plundered all the cities, for there was exceedingly much [5]spoil in them. 15 They also [6]attacked the livestock enclosures, and carried off sheep and camels in abundance, and returned to Jerusalem.

The Reforms of Asa

15 Now [a]the Spirit of God came upon Azariah the son of Oded. 2 And he went out [1]to meet Asa, and said to him: "Hear me, Asa, and all Judah and Benjamin. [b]The LORD is with you while you are with Him. [c]If you seek Him, He will be found by you; but [d]if you forsake Him, He will forsake you. 3 [e]For a long time Israel has been without the true God, without a [f]teaching priest, and without [g]law; 4 but [h]when in their trouble they turned to the LORD God of Israel, and sought Him, He was found by them. 5 And in those times there was no peace to the one who went out, nor to the one who came in, but great turmoil was on all the inhabitants of the lands. 6 [i]So nation was [2]destroyed by nation, and city by city, for God troubled them with every adversity. 7 But you, be strong and do not let your hands be weak, for your work shall be rewarded!"

8 And when Asa heard these words and the prophecy of [3]Oded the prophet, he took courage, and removed the abominable idols from all the land of Judah and Benjamin and from the cities [j]which he had taken in the mountains of Ephraim; and he restored the altar of the LORD that was before the vestibule of the LORD. 9 Then he gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and [k]those who dwelt with them from Ephraim, Manasseh, and Simeon, for they came over to him in great numbers from Israel when they saw that the LORD his God was with him.

10 So they gathered together at Jerusalem in the third month, in the fifteenth year of the reign of Asa. 11 [l]And they offered to the LORD [4]at that time seven hundred bulls and seven thousand sheep from the [5]spoil they had brought. 12 Then they [m]entered into a covenant to seek the LORD God of their fathers with all their heart and with all their soul; 13 [n]and whoever would not seek the LORD God of Israel [o]was to be put to death, whether small or great, whether man or woman. 14 Then they took an oath before the LORD with a loud voice, with shouting and trumpets and rams' horns. 15 And all Judah rejoiced at the oath, for they had sworn with all their heart and [p]sought Him with all their soul; and He was found by them, and the LORD gave them [q]rest all around.

we rest on You. Reliance on the Lord's power was the key to Asa's victory (16:2 note).

■ 15:1–7 Azariah proclaims the principle of retribution so often illustrated in this account of the divided monarchy. Faithfulness to God will bring blessing; disloyalty will result in chastisement.

■ 15:2 If you seek Him. See notes on 7:14 and 1 Chr. 28:9.

■ 15:4 turned to the LORD. See note on 7:14.

■ 15:8–19 Asa responded to the prophets with further reforms (v. 8) and an assembly of covenant renewal (vv. 9–15); he went so far as to depose Maachah, his relative, because of her religious apostasy (vv. 16–19).

■ 15:9 came over to him. Israelites from the northern tribes (11:14 note) defected and joined Asa as he suppressed idolatry and reestablished worship in Jerusalem.

■ 15:12 entered into a covenant. Covenant renewal here continues God's relationship with His people through the generations. Asa (15:12), Jehoiada (23:16), Hezekiah (29:10), and Josiah (34:30–32) lead the nation in such renewals.

■ 15:13 put to death. The Law of Moses prescribed capital punishment for those who sought other gods (Ex. 22:20; Deut. 13:6–16).

16 Also he removed [r]Maachah, the [6]mother of Asa the king, from being queen mother, because she had made an obscene image of [7]Asherah; and Asa cut down her obscene image, then crushed and burned it by the Brook Kidron. 17 But [s]the [8]high places were not removed from Israel. Nevertheless the heart of Asa was loyal all his days.

18 He also brought into the house of God the things that his father had dedicated and that he himself had dedicated: silver and gold and utensils. 19 And there was no war until the thirty-fifth year of the reign of Asa.

Asa's Treaty with Syria

16 In the thirty-sixth year of the reign of Asa, [a]Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah and built Ramah, [b]that he might let none go out or come in to Asa king of Judah. 2 Then Asa brought silver and gold from the treasuries of the house of the LORD and of the king's house, and sent to Ben-Hadad king of Syria, who dwelt in Damascus, saying, 3 "Let there be a treaty between you and me, as there was between my father and your father. See, I have sent you silver and gold; come, break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel, so that he will withdraw from me."

4 So Ben-Hadad heeded King Asa, and sent the captains of his armies against the cities of Israel. They attacked Ijon, Dan, Abel Maim, and all the storage cities of Naphtali. 5 Now it happened, when Baasha heard it, that he stopped building Ramah and ceased his work. 6 Then King Asa took all Judah, and they carried away the stones and timber of Ramah, which Baasha had used for building; and with them he built Geba and Mizpah.

Hanani's Message to Asa

7 And at that time [c]Hanani the seer came to Asa king of Judah, and said to him: [d]"Because you have relied on the king of Syria, and have not relied on the LORD your God, therefore the army of the king of Syria has escaped from your hand. 8 Were [e]the Ethiopians and [f]the Lubim not a huge army with very many chariots and horsemen? Yet, because you relied on the LORD, He delivered them into your [g]hand. 9 [h]For the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to show Himself strong on behalf of those whose heart is loyal to Him. In this [i]you have done foolishly; therefore from now on [j]you shall have wars." 10 Then Asa was angry with the seer, and [k]put him in prison, for he was enraged at him because of this. And Asa oppressed some of the people at that time.

Illness and Death of Asa

11 [l]Note that the acts of Asa, first and last, are indeed written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. 12 And in the thirty-ninth year of his reign, Asa became diseased in his feet, and his malady was severe; yet in his disease he [m]did not seek the LORD, but the physicians.

13 [n]So Asa [l]rested with his fathers; he died in the forty-first year of his reign. 14 They buried

■ 15:17 all his days. See note on 14:3.

■ 15:19 no war. See note on 14:6.

■ 15:19—16:1 thirty-fifth year . . . thirty-sixth year. Kings reports that Elah succeeded Baasha in Asa's 26th year (1 Kin. 15:33; 16:8), Zimri in Asa's 27th year (1 Kin. 16:10, 15) and Omri in Asa's 31st year (1 Kin. 16:23). Consequently, this battle could not have taken place in the 36th year of Asa (16:1) since Baasha would have been dead for ten years. No simple solution to this difficulty has been found.

■ 16:1–6 Asa's battle with Baasha of Israel began his downfall. He sought the assistance of Ben-Hadad of Syria, in sharp contrast with his battle against Zerah when he relied on the Lord (14:2—16:14 note).

■ 16:2 treasuries of the house of the LORD . . . to Ben-Hadad. Asa's actions were wrong on two counts. He took from the temple treasuries, showing disregard for the temple and its worship (cf. 28:21). Second, he allied himself with a foreign power instead of relying on the Lord. The historian demonstrates the benefits of relying on God many times (1 Chr. 5:20; 2 Chr. 13:18; 14:11–15; 16:7, 8; 32:20–22). He also deplores foreign alliances and points to their dire consequences (18:1; 19:2; 20:35–37; 22:3–9; 25:7; 28:16–21; 35:21 note), a suitable warning to those engaged in rebuilding the nation following the return from exile in Babylonia.

■ 16:7–10 In contrast to the earlier episode of Azariah's encouragement and Asa's reforms (ch. 15), Hanani now rebuked King Asa, who reacted negatively (14:2—16:14 note).

■ 16:7 escaped from your hand. Baasha deserted his position before the arrival of Asa and Ben-Hadad, cutting short Asa's victory (16:5).

■ 16:8 Were the Ethiopians. Hanani referred directly to the contrast with Asa's victory over Zerah (14:8–15). "Ethiopians" means people from south of Egypt. The "Lubim" (Libyans) were from north Africa.

■ 16:9 from now on you shall have wars. Hanani threatens divine judgment because of Asa's infidelity (1 Chr. 28:9 note; 2 Chr. 14:6 note).

■ 16:10 some of the people. Presumably those who agreed with Hanani the prophet.

■ 16:11–14 Asa's rejection of the prophetic word led to his disease and death (14:2—16:14 note).

■ 16:12 physicians. Asa continued to turn away from the Lord and rely on human strength. The Old Testament does not hesitate to prescribe medical treatment for physical maladies (2 Kin. 20:5–7 and the use of balm in Jer. 8:22; 51:8), but it never divorces natural remedies from seeking divine assistance (Deut. 32:39).

■ 16:14 made a very great burning for him. These fires were not cremations, but memorials honoring deceased kings. Contrast the honor bestowed on Asa with the response to Jehoram's death (21:19).

him in his own tomb, which he had [2]made for himself in the City of David; and they laid him in the bed which was filled [o]with spices and various ingredients prepared in a mixture of ointments. They made [p]a very great burning for him.

Jehoshaphat Reigns in Judah

17 Then [a]Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his place, and strengthened himself against Israel. 2 And he placed troops in all the fortified cities of Judah, and set garrisons in the land of [b]Judah and in the cities of Ephraim [c]which Asa his father had taken. 3 Now the LORD was with Jehoshaphat, because he walked in the former ways of his father David; he did not seek the Baals, 4 but sought [1]the God of his father, and walked in His commandments and not according to [d]the acts of Israel. 5 Therefore the LORD established the kingdom in his hand; and all Judah [e]gave presents to Jehoshaphat, [f]and he had riches and honor in abundance. 6 And his heart took delight in the ways of the LORD; moreover [g]he removed the [2]high places and wooden images from Judah.

7 Also in the third year of his reign he sent his leaders, Ben-Hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel, and Michaiah, [h]to teach in the cities of Judah. 8 And with them he sent Levites: Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah, and Tobadonijah—the Levites; and with them Elishama and Jehoram, the priests. 9 [i]So they taught in Judah, and had the Book of the Law of the LORD with them; they went throughout all the cities of Judah and taught the people.

10 And [j]the fear of the LORD fell on all the kingdoms of the lands that were around Judah, so that they did not make war against Jehoshaphat. 11 Also some of the Philistines [k]brought Jehoshaphat presents and silver as tribute; and the Arabians brought him flocks, seven thousand seven hundred rams and seven thousand seven hundred male goats.

12 So Jehoshaphat became increasingly powerful, and he built fortresses and storage cities in Judah. 13 He had much property in the cities of Judah; and the men of war, mighty men of valor, were in Jerusalem.

14 These are their numbers, according to their fathers' houses. Of Judah, the captains of thousands: Adnah the captain, and with him three hundred thousand mighty men of valor; 15 and next to him was Jehohanan the captain, and with him two hundred and eighty thousand; 16 and next to him was Amasiah the son of Zichri, [l]who willingly offered himself to the LORD, and with him two hundred thousand mighty men of valor. 17 Of Benjamin: Eliada a mighty man of valor, and with him two hundred thousand men armed with bow and shield; 18 and next to him was Jehozabad, and with him one hundred and eighty thousand prepared for war. 19 These served the king, besides [m]those the king put in the fortified cities throughout all Judah.

■ 17:1—21:3 The account of Jehoshaphat's reign incorporates most of the record in Kings (cf. 1 Kin. 22:1–35 with 2 Chr. 18:2–34; 1 Kin. 22:41–46, 49 with 2 Chr. 20:31–36), adding some material and a summary of his reign.

■ 17:1 Jehoshaphat. He reigned 872–848 B.C. Jehoshaphat was probably co-regent with Asa for three years (872–869 B.C.) because of Asa's illness (16:11–14; cf. 20:31 note).

■ 17:2 cities of Ephraim. See note on 14:6.

■ 17:6 high places. See note on 14:3.

■ 17:7 in the third year. This teaching mission probably took place just after Asa's death (17:1 note).

■ 17:7, 8 leaders . . . Levites. The royal officials were accompanied by Levites whom Moses had ordained to be teachers of the people (1 Chr. 26:29–32 note; 2 Chr. 19:5–11 note).

■ 17:9 the Book of the Law of the LORD. The identity of this book is uncertain. It may have included the entire Pentateuch, but in light of the nature of Jehoshaphat's reforms (19:4–11), it may have been limited to the Book of Deuteronomy.

■ 17:10 fear of the LORD. Fear of the divine power displayed in Jehoshaphat's military strength gave him peace with other nations (1 Chr. 14:17 note).

■ 17:12 he built fortresses and storage cities. See note on 1 Chr. 11:5.

■ 17:14–18 For these large numbers see note on 1 Chr. 12:23.

■ 18:1—19:3 In contrast with his early years, Jehoshaphat came under God's curse because he ignored the prophetic warning and made an alliance with the northern kingdom (16:2 note; 20:20 note).

■ 18:1 by marriage he allied himself. The author refers to the marriage of Jehoshaphat's son, Jehoram, to Athaliah, daughter of Ahab (21:6; 22:2). In Kings, Ahab represents the depths of apostasy in the northern kingdom (1 Kin. 16:30). Cf. 19:1–3 and see note on 16:2.

■ 18:2 persuaded him. The Hebrew expression can have the connotation of enticing to apostasy (Deut. 13:6; 1 Chr. 21:1).

Ramoth Gilead. A city thirty miles east of the Jordan River, closer to the Sea of Galilee than the Dead Sea. It had belonged to Israel since the time of Moses (Deut. 4:43; Josh. 20:8). Ben-Hadad failed to return the city to Israel as he had agreed (1 Kin. 20:34).

go up with him to Ramoth Gilead. 3 So Ahab king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, "Will you go with me against Ramoth Gilead?"

And he answered him, "I am as you are, and my people as your people; we will be with you in the war."

4 Also Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, [e]"Please inquire for the word of the LORD today."

5 Then the king of Israel gathered the prophets together, four hundred men, and said to them, "Shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?"

So they said, "Go up, for God will deliver it into the king's hand."

6 But Jehoshaphat said, "Is there not still a prophet of the LORD here, that we may inquire of [f]Him?"[1]

7 So the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "There is still one man by whom we may inquire of the LORD; but I hate him, because he never prophesies good concerning me, but always evil. He is Micaiah the son of Imla."

And Jehoshaphat said, "Let not the king say such things!"

8 Then the king of Israel called one of his officers and said, "Bring Micaiah the son of Imla quickly!"

9 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah, clothed in their robes, sat each on his throne; and they sat at a threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria; and all the prophets prophesied before them. 10 Now Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah had made [g]horns of iron for himself; and he said, "Thus says the LORD: 'With these you shall gore the Syrians until they are destroyed.' "

11 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, "Go up to Ramoth Gilead and prosper, for the LORD will deliver it into the king's hand."

12 Then the messenger who had gone to call Micaiah spoke to him, saying, "Now listen, the words of the prophets with one accord encourage the king. Therefore please let your word be like the word of one of them, and speak encouragement."

13 And Micaiah said, "As the LORD lives, [h]whatever my God says, that I will speak."

14 Then he came to the king; and the king said to him, "Micaiah, shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?"

And he said, "Go and prosper, and they shall be delivered into your hand!"

15 So the king said to him, "How many times shall I make you swear that you tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?"

16 Then he said, "I saw all Israel [i]scattered on the mountains, as sheep that have no [j]shepherd. And the LORD said, 'These have no master. Let each return to his house in peace.' "

17 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you he would not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?"

18 Then Micaiah said, "Therefore hear the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting on His [k]throne, and all the host of heaven standing on His right hand and His left. 19 And the LORD said, 'Who will persuade Ahab king of Israel to go up, that he may fall at Ramoth Gilead?' So one spoke in this manner, and another spoke in that manner. 20 Then a [l]spirit came forward and stood before the LORD, and said, 'I will persuade him.' The LORD said to him, 'In what way?' 21 So he said, 'I will go out and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' And the LORD said, 'You shall persuade him and also prevail; go out and do so.' 22 Therefore look! [m]The LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of these prophets of yours, and the LORD has declared disaster against you."

23 Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah went near and [n]struck Micaiah on the cheek, and said, "Which way did the spirit from the LORD go from me to speak to you?"

24 And Micaiah said, "Indeed you shall see on that day when you go into an inner chamber to hide!"

25 Then the king of Israel said, "Take Micaiah, and return him to Amon the governor of the city and to Joash the king's son; 26 and say, 'Thus says the king: [o]"Put this fellow in prison, and feed him with bread of affliction and water of affliction, until I return in peace." ' "

27 But Micaiah said, "If you ever return in peace, the LORD has not spoken by [p]me." And he said, "Take heed, all you people!"

27 [p]Deut. 18:22

■ 18:18 I saw the LORD. Micaiah's vision of heavenly deliberations (cf. Job 1:6–12; Is. 6:1–8; Zech. 3) demonstrates that the sovereignty of God extends over evil events (1 Chr. 21:1 note).

Ahab Dies in Battle

28 So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth Gilead. 29 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will [q]disguise myself and go into battle; but you put on your robes." So the king of Israel disguised himself, and they went into battle.

30 Now the king of Syria had commanded the captains of the chariots who were with him, saying, "Fight with no one small or great, but only with the king of Israel."

31 So it was, when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, that they said, "It is the king of Israel!" Therefore they surrounded him to attack; but Jehoshaphat [r]cried out, and the LORD helped him, and God diverted them from him. 32 For so it was, when the captains of the chariots saw that it was not the king of Israel, that they turned back from pursuing him. 33 Now a certain man drew a bow at random, and struck the king of Israel between the [2]joints of his armor. So he said to the driver of his chariot, "Turn around and take me out of the battle, for I am wounded." 34 The battle increased that day, and the king of Israel propped himself up in his chariot facing the Syrians until evening; and about the time of sunset he died.

19 Then Jehoshaphat the king of Judah returned safely to his house in Jerusalem. 2 And Jehu the son of Hanani [a]the seer went out to meet him, and said to King Jehoshaphat, "Should you help the wicked and [b]love those who hate the LORD? Therefore the [c]wrath of the LORD is upon you. 3 Nevertheless [d]good things are found in you, in that you have removed the [1]wooden images from the land, and have [e]prepared your heart to seek God."

The Reforms of Jehoshaphat

4 So Jehoshaphat dwelt at Jerusalem; and he went out again among the people from Beersheba to the mountains of Ephraim, and brought them back to the LORD God of their [f]fathers. 5 Then he set [g]judges in the land throughout all the fortified cities of Judah, city by city, 6 and said to the judges, "Take heed to what you are doing, for [h]you do not judge for man but for the LORD, [i]who is with you [2]in the judgment. 7 Now therefore, let the fear of the LORD be upon you; take care and do it, for [j]there is no iniquity with the LORD our God, no [k]partiality, nor taking of bribes."

8 Moreover in Jerusalem, for the judgment of the LORD and for controversies, Jehoshaphat [l]appointed some of the Levites and priests, and some of the chief fathers of Israel, [3]when they returned to Jerusalem. 9 And he commanded them, saying, "Thus you shall act [m]in the fear of the LORD, faithfully and with a loyal heart: 10 [n]Whatever case comes to you from your brethren who dwell in their cities, whether of bloodshed or offenses against law or commandment, against statutes or ordinances, you shall warn them, lest they trespass against the LORD and [o]wrath come upon [p]you and your brethren. Do this, and you will not be guilty. 11 And take notice: [q]Amariah the chief priest is over you [r]in all matters of the LORD; and Zebadiah the son of Ishmael, the ruler of the house of Judah, for all the king's matters; also the Levites will be officials before you. Behave courageously, and the LORD will be [s]with the good."

Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir Defeated

20 It happened after this that the people of [a]Moab with the people of [b]Ammon, and others with them besides the [c]Ammonites,[1] came to battle against Jehoshaphat. 2 Then some came and told Jehoshaphat, saying, "A great multitude is coming against you from beyond the sea, from [2]Syria; and they are [d]in Hazazon Tamar" (which is [e]En Gedi). 3 And Jehoshaphat feared, and set [3]himself to [f]seek the LORD, and [g]proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah. 4 So

■ 18:28 In contrast with Rehoboam (11:4) and Asa after his first battle (15:1–8), Jehoshaphat paid no attention to the prophet's warning. As a result, Jehoshaphat barely escaped with his life (18:31). See note on 20:20.

■ 18:31 Jehoshaphat cried out. The writer adds to the words of 1 Kings 22:32 the explicit statement that "the LORD helped him," recalling the request of Solomon's dedicatory prayer (6:34 note; 7:14 note).

■ 18:34 he died. The writer does not repeat the details of Ahab's death found in 1 Kin. 22:36–40.

■ 19:1–3 Jehoshaphat escaped death after crying out to the Lord (18:31). Even so, Jehu rebukes him for his sin. God had chastised Jehoshaphat for depending on a foreign alliance (16:7–10 note; 1 Chr. 28:9 note).

■ 19:5–11 Jehoshaphat established a system of courts throughout Judah to enforce Mosaic law (1 Chr. 26:20–32). He had earlier sent out leaders, Levites, and priests to teach (17:7–9).

■ 19:6 who is with you. This does not mean that their decisions were inspired, but that God approved of the work of the courts in general, and wanted their decisions to be made according to His law first of all.

■ 20:1–30. This battle is not found in Kings. Jehoshaphat responded to a serious military threat with exemplary reliance on the Lord (contrast his approach to the battle in 18:1—19:3).

■ 20:1 people of Moab . . . Ammon. The descendants of these enemies were still a threat to Israel after the return from exile in Babylonia (Neh. 2:19; 4:1–3; 13).

■ 20:2 A great multitude . . . against you. See note on 1 Chr. 19:7.

■ 20:3, 4 proclaimed a fast. Jehoshaphat responded immediately by calling Judah to fast and seek the Lord; these actions recall Solomon's dedicatory prayer (see notes on 6:34).

Judah gathered together to ask [h]help from the LORD; and from all the cities of Judah they came to seek the LORD.

5 Then Jehoshaphat stood in the assembly of Judah and Jerusalem, in the house of the LORD, before the new court, 6 and said: "O LORD God of our fathers, are You not [i]God in heaven, and [j]do You not rule over all the kingdoms of the nations, and [k]in Your hand is there not power and might, so that no one is able to withstand You? 7 Are You not [l]our God, who [m]drove out the inhabitants of this land before Your people Israel, and gave it to the descendants of Abraham [n]Your friend forever? 8 And they dwell in it, and have built You a sanctuary in it for Your name, saying, 9 [o]'If disaster comes upon us—sword, judgment, pestilence, or famine—we will stand before this temple and in Your presence (for Your [p]name is in this temple), and cry out to You in our affliction, and You will hear and save.' 10 And now, here are the people of Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir—whom You [q]would not let Israel invade when they came out of the land of Egypt, but [r]they turned from them and did not destroy them— 11 here they are, rewarding us [s]by coming to throw us out of Your possession which You have given us to inherit. 12 O our God, will You not [t]judge them? For we have no power against this great multitude that is coming against us; nor do we know what to do, but [u]our eyes are upon You."

13 Now all Judah, with their little ones, their wives, and their children, stood before the LORD.

14 Then [v]the Spirit of the LORD came upon Jahaziel the son of Zechariah, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah, a Levite of the sons of Asaph, in the midst of the assembly. 15 And he said, "Listen, all you of Judah and you inhabitants of Jerusalem, and you, King Jehoshaphat! Thus says the LORD to you: [w]'Do not be afraid nor dismayed because of this great multitude, [x]for the battle is not yours, but God's. 16 Tomorrow go down against them. They will surely come up by the Ascent of Ziz, and you will find them at the end of the [4]brook before the Wilderness of Jeruel. 17 [y]You will not need to fight in this battle. Position yourselves, stand still and see the salvation of the LORD, who is with you, O Judah and Jerusalem!' Do not fear or be dismayed; tomorrow go out against them, [z]for the LORD is with you."

18 And Jehoshaphat [a]bowed his head with his face to the ground, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem bowed before the LORD, worshiping the LORD. 19 Then the Levites of the children of the Kohathites and of the children of the Korahites stood up to praise the LORD God of Israel with voices loud and high.

20 So they rose early in the morning and went out into the Wilderness of Tekoa; and as they went out, Jehoshaphat stood and said, "Hear me, O Judah and you inhabitants of Jerusalem: [b]Believe in the LORD your God, and you shall be established; believe His prophets, and you shall prosper." 21 And when he had consulted with the people, he appointed those who should sing to the LORD, [c]and who should praise the beauty of holiness, as they went out before the army and were saying:

[d]"Praise the LORD,
[e]For His mercy endures forever."

22 Now when they began to sing and to praise, [f]the LORD set ambushes against the people of Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir, who had come against Judah; and they were defeated. 23 For the people of Ammon and Moab stood up against the inhabitants of Mount Seir to utterly kill and destroy them. And when they [5]had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, [g]they helped to destroy one another.

24 So when Judah came to a place overlooking the wilderness, they looked toward the multitude; and there were their dead bodies, fallen on the earth. No one had escaped.

25 When Jehoshaphat and his people came to take away their spoil, they found among them an abundance of valuables on the [6]dead bodies, and precious jewelry, which they stripped off for

■ 20:5–19 Jehoshaphat's assembly followed the liturgical pattern often associated with prayers of lament: corporate prayer is offered (20:5–13); there is an oracle of deliverance from God (20:14–17); and the people respond with praise (20:18, 19).

■ 20:9 Jehoshaphat applied Solomon's dedicatory prayer explicitly to his situation (6:12–42 and notes).

■ 20:12 we have no power. Confession of human impotence, humility, and reliance on divine power also appear in Asa's prayer (14:11 note).

■ 20:15 not yours, but God's. Human effort in Israel's warfare was overshadowed by divine power. The prophet reminded Jehoshaphat that human responsibility depends on the sovereignty of God (v. 17).

■ 20:20–30 The strategy and outcome of this battle form a striking contrast to Jehoshaphat's previous battle (18:28–34 and notes).

■ 20:20 believe His prophets, and you shall prosper. 2 Chronicles frequently emphasizes the importance of trusting and obeying the prophetic word (chs. 10—12 note; 14:2—16:14 note; 18:1—19:3 note; 24:19 note; 25:1–13 note; 25:15, 16 note; 28:5–15 note; 36:15 note; see also Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Characteristics and Themes). Jehoshaphat's instruction contrasts with his earlier rejection of Micaiah (18:1–32).

themselves, more than they could carry away; and they were three days gathering the spoil because there was so much. 26 And on the fourth day they assembled in the Valley of [7]Berachah, for there they blessed the LORD; therefore the name of that place was called The Valley of Berachah until this day. 27 Then they returned, every man of Judah and Jerusalem, with Jehoshaphat in front of them, to go back to Jerusalem with joy, for the LORD had [h]made them rejoice over their enemies. 28 So they came to Jerusalem, with stringed instruments and harps and trumpets, to the house of the LORD. 29 And [i]the fear of God was on all the kingdoms of those countries when they heard that the LORD had fought against the enemies of Israel. 30 Then the realm of Jehoshaphat was quiet, for his [j]God gave him rest all around.

The End of Jehoshaphat's Reign

31 [k]So Jehoshaphat was king over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi. 32 And he walked in the way of his father [l]Asa, and did not turn aside from it, doing what was right in the sight of the LORD. 33 Nevertheless [m]the [8]high places were not taken away, for as yet the people had not [n]directed their hearts to the God of their fathers.

34 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, first and last, indeed they are written in the book of Jehu the son of Hanani, [o]which is mentioned in the book of the kings of Israel.

35 After this [p]Jehoshaphat king of Judah allied himself with Ahaziah king of Israel, [q]who acted very [r]wickedly. 36 And he allied himself with him [s]to make ships to go to Tarshish, and they made the ships in Ezion Geber. 37 But Eliezer the son of Dodavah of Mareshah prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, "Because you have allied yourself with Ahaziah, the LORD has destroyed your works." [t]Then the ships were wrecked, so that they were not able to go [u]to Tarshish.

Jehoram Reigns in Judah

21 And [a]Jehoshaphat [1]rested with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Then Jehoram his son reigned in his place. 2 He had brothers, the sons of Jehoshaphat: Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Azaryahu, Michael, and Shephatiah; all these were the sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel. 3 Their father gave them great gifts of silver and gold and precious things, with fortified cities in Judah; but he gave the kingdom to Jehoram, because he was the firstborn.

4 Now when Jehoram [2]was established over the kingdom of his father, he strengthened himself and killed all his brothers with the sword, and also others of the princes of Israel.

5 [b]Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. 6 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab had done, for he had the daughter of [c]Ahab as a wife; and he did evil in the sight of the LORD. 7 Yet the LORD would not destroy the house of David, because of the [d]covenant that He had made with David, and since He had promised to give a lamp to him and to his [e]sons forever.

8 [f]In his days Edom revolted against Judah's authority, and made a king over themselves. 9 So Jehoram went out with his officers, and all his chariots with him. And he rose by night and attacked the Edomites who had surrounded him and the captains of the chariots. 10 Thus Edom has

- 20:34 written in the book. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author.
- 20:35–37 The text includes a brief notice of another time Jehoshaphat received a prophetic rebuke for making an alliance with the northern kingdom (16:2 note).
- 20:37 Eliezer . . . prophesied. See note on 20:20.
- 21:2–20 The historian supplements the record of Jehoram's reign in Kings (2 Kin. 8:16–24); in Kings the assessment is negative. Jehoram reigned as co-regent with Jehoshaphat 853–848 B.C. (2 Kin. 1:17; 3:1), and by himself 848–841 B.C. He murdered his brothers (21:2–7); Edom and Libnah rebelled against him (21:8–10); he fell into idolatry (21:11); and Elijah prophesied an impending judgment (21:12–20).
- 21:2 brothers. The murder of Jehoram's brothers recorded here is additional to the account in Kings (2 Kin. 8:16–22). On the other side, Kings describes how Solomon disposed of Adonijah, an event omitted from Chronicles (1 Kin. 2:24).
- 21:4 Israel. See note on 10:1.
- 21:5 eight years. As sole monarch (21:2–20 note).
- 21:7 would not destroy the house of David. The house of David was on the brink of annihilation. Jehoram deserved to die, but God preserved his life to fulfill His promise of a permanent dynasty to David. Despite the sins of individual descendants of David, the Davidic line would never be entirely rejected (1 Chr. 17:7–14 note).
- 21:8–10 God's displeasure toward Jehoram became evident when these two nations subject to Judah successfully rebelled against him.
- 21:8 Edom. Jehoshaphat had subjugated Edom through righteous dependence on God (20:1–30). Jehoram, however, failed in his attempt.

been in revolt against Judah's authority to this day. At that time Libnah revolted against his rule, because he had forsaken the LORD God of his fathers. 11 Moreover he made [3]high places in the mountains of Judah, and caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to [g]commit harlotry, and led Judah astray.

12 And a letter came to him from Elijah the prophet, saying,

> Thus says the LORD God of your father David:
> Because you have not walked in the ways of Jehoshaphat your father, or in the ways of Asa king of Judah, 13 but have walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and have [h]made Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to [i]play the harlot like the [j]harlotry of the house of Ahab, and also have [k]killed your brothers, those of your father's household, who were better than yourself, 14 behold, the LORD will strike your people with a serious affliction—your children, your wives, and all your possessions; 15 and you will become very sick with a [l]disease of your intestines, until your intestines come out by reason of the sickness, day by day.

16 Moreover the [m]LORD [n]stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistines and the [o]Arabians who were near the Ethiopians. 17 And they came up into Judah and invaded it, and carried away all the possessions that were found in the king's house, and also [p]his sons and his wives, so that there was not a son left to him except [4]Jehoahaz, the youngest of his sons.

18 After all this the LORD struck him [q]in his intestines with an incurable disease. 19 Then it happened in the course of time, after the end of two years, that his intestines came out because of his sickness; so he died in severe pain. And his people made no [5]burning for him, like [r]the burning for his fathers.

20 He was thirty-two years old when he became king. He reigned in Jerusalem eight years and, to no one's sorrow, departed. However they buried him in the City of David, but not in the tombs of the kings.

Ahaziah Reigns in Judah

22 Then the inhabitants of Jerusalem made [a]Ahaziah his youngest son king in his place, for the raiders who came with the [b]Arabians into the camp had killed all the [c]older sons. So Ahaziah the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, reigned. 2 Ahaziah was [1]forty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was [d]Athaliah the [2]granddaughter of Omri. 3 He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab, for his mother advised him to do wickedly. 4 Therefore he did evil in the sight of the LORD, like the house of Ahab; for they were his counselors after the death of his father, to his destruction. 5 He also followed their advice, and went with [3]Jehoram the son of Ahab king of Israel to war against Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth Gilead; and the Syrians wounded Joram. 6 [e]Then he returned to Jezreel to recover from the wounds which he had received at Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Syria. And [4]Azariah the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to see Jehoram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was sick.

7 His going to Joram [f]was God's occasion for Ahaziah's [5]downfall; for when he arrived, [g]he went out with [6]Jehoram against Jehu the son of Nimshi, [h]whom the LORD had anointed to [7]cut off the house of Ahab. 8 And it happened, when Jehu was [i]executing judgment on the house of

■ 21:11–20 This episode illustrating the depths of Jehoram's sin is additional to the account in Kings.

■ 21:11 made high places. While Asa and Jehoshaphat failed to rid the land of all high places (14:3 note), Jehoram actively built them (cf. 28:25).

to commit harlotry. Perhaps literally through involvement with prostitution in pagan worship rituals, or metaphorically through spiritual infidelity (1 Chr. 5:25).

■ 21:12 Elijah. The only mention of the prophet in Chronicles; compare the lengthy account of his prophetic activities in 1 Kin. 17—2 Kin. 2.

■ 21:14–19 The judgment against Jehoram was twofold. God promises "a serious affliction" on the people and on Jehoram's family, a threat fulfilled by the attacks of Philistines and Arabs. Second, Jehoram becomes terminally ill, as promised. The emphasis is on immediate retribution (1 Chr. 28:9 note).

■ 21:19 made no burning. Contrast with the response to Asa's death (16:14). Jehoram (21:20), Joash (24:25), Ahaz (28:27), and Manasseh (33:20) died in ignominy. Amon was disgracefully assassinated (cf. 33:24).

■ 21:20 Chronicles supplements the record given in 2 Kin. 8:24 of Jehoram's death and burial with details that reveal his utter disgrace.

eight years. See note on v. 5.

■ 22:1–9 The record of Chronicles ties Ahaziah (841 B.C.) closely to his father Jehoram (21:4–20). Both kings were deeply influenced by Athaliah and so are evaluated negatively (21:6; 22:3, 4). In both reigns, the Davidic dynasty barely escaped annihilation (21:16, 17; 22:7–9).

■ 22:2 forty-two. This would make Ahaziah older than his father, who died at age forty (21:5, 20). 2 Kin. 8:26 reads "twenty-two," probably indicating a copyist's error in the text of 2 Chronicles.

■ 22:3–9 Chronicles presents Ahaziah's rapid downfall as divine chastisement for his alliance with the northern kingdom (16:2 note).

■ 22:5 Hazael. See 1 Kin. 19:15 and 2 Kin. 8:7–15.

■ 22:8 Jehu was executing judgment. Kings reports that Elisha Ahab, and [j]found the princes of Judah and the sons of Ahaziah's brothers who served Ahaziah, that he killed them. 9 [k]Then he searched for Ahaziah; and they caught him (he was hiding in Samaria), and brought him to Jehu. When they had killed him, they buried him, "because," they said, "he is the son of [l]Jehoshaphat, who [m]sought the LORD with all his heart."

So the house of Ahaziah had no one to assume power over the kingdom.

Athaliah Reigns in Judah

10 [n]Now when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the royal heirs of the house of Judah. 11 But [s]Jehoshabeath, the daughter of the king, took [o]Joash the son of Ahaziah, and stole him away from among the king's sons who were being murdered, and put him and his nurse in a bedroom. So Jehoshabeath, the daughter of King Jehoram, the wife of Jehoiada the priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah), hid him from Athaliah so that she did not kill him. 12 And he was hidden with them in the house of God for six years, while Athaliah reigned over the land.

Joash Crowned King of Judah

23 In [a]the seventh year [b]Jehoiada strengthened himself, and made a covenant with the captains of hundreds: Azariah the son of Jeroham, Ishmael the son of Jehohanan, Azariah the son of [c]Obed, Maaseiah the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the son of Zichri. 2 And they went throughout Judah and gathered the Levites from all the cities of Judah, and the [d]chief fathers of Israel, and they came to Jerusalem.

3 Then all the assembly made a covenant with the king in the house of God. And he said to them, "Behold, the king's son shall reign, as the LORD has [e]said of the sons of David. 4 This is what you shall do: One-third of you [f]entering on the Sabbath, of the priests and the Levites, shall be keeping watch over the doors; 5 one-third shall be at the king's house; and one-third at the Gate of the Foundation. All the people shall be in the courts of the house of the LORD. 6 But let no one come into the house of the LORD except the priests and [g]those of the Levites who serve. They may go in, for they are holy; but all the people shall keep the watch of the LORD. 7 And the Levites shall surround the king on all sides, every man with his weapons in his hand; and whoever comes into the house, let him be put to death. You are to be with the king when he comes in and when he goes out."

8 So the Levites and all Judah did according to all that Jehoiada the priest commanded. And each man took his men who were to be on duty on the Sabbath, with those who were going off duty on the Sabbath; for Jehoiada the priest had not dismissed [h]the divisions. 9 And Jehoiada the priest gave to the captains of hundreds the spears and the large and small [i]shields which had belonged to King David, that were in the temple of God. 10 Then he set all the people, every man with his weapon in his hand, from the right side of the temple to the left side of the temple, along by the altar and by the temple, all around the king. 11 And they brought out the king's son, put the crown on him, [j]gave him the [l]Testimony, and made him king. Then Jehoiada and his sons anointed him, and said, "Long live the king!"

Death of Athaliah

12 Now when [k]Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she came to the people in the temple of the LORD. 13 When she looked, there was the king standing by his anointed Jehu to destroy the house of Omri (2 Kin. 9:1—10:31). The death of Ahaziah was part of this judgment.

■ 22:9 they buried him. Ahaziah received an honorable burial, not because of his own character, but because of his grandfather Jehoshaphat.

■ 22:10—24:27 Compare 2 Kin. chs. 11 and 12 on the record of Joash. This portion of Chronicles illustrates the close association between king and priest. The Davidic line was preserved by Jehoshabeath and her husband, the priest Jehoiada (22:10—23:21); the Davidic king served faithfully under the influence of Jehoiada (24:1–16); the king failed when he rejected the instruction of Jehoiada's son, and put him to death (24:17–27). Cooperation of king and priest was essential. See also Zech. 3; 4; 6:9–15.

■ 22:10–12 Jehoshaphat's marriage alliance (18:1 note) finally yielded its worst result. Athaliah nearly destroyed the Davidic line in her quest to establish herself as queen.

■ 22:11 Joash. Reigned 835–796 B. C.

■ 22:12 Athaliah. Athaliah was the only queen to rule in Judah (841–835 B.C.).

■ 23:1–11 The Zadokite priest Jehoiada resisted Queen Athaliah and gained the military support necessary for temple and political reform.

■ 23:2 throughout Judah . . . all the cities. This verse expands the account in Kings depicting Joash's widespread support in Judah (1 Chr. 11:1 note).

pillar at the entrance; and the leaders and the trumpeters were by the king. All the people of the land were rejoicing and blowing trumpets, also the singers with musical instruments, and [l]those who led in praise. So Athaliah tore her clothes and said, [m]"Treason! Treason!"

14 And Jehoiada the priest brought out the captains of hundreds who were set over the army, and said to them, "Take her outside under guard, and slay with the sword whoever follows her." For the priest had said, "Do not kill her in the house of the LORD."

15 So they seized her; and she went by way of the entrance [n]of the Horse Gate into the king's house, and they killed her there.

16 Then Jehoiada made a [o]covenant between himself, the people, and the king, that they should be the LORD's people. 17 And all the people went to the [2]temple of Baal, and tore it down. They broke in pieces its altars and images, and [p]killed Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars. 18 Also Jehoiada appointed the oversight of the house of the LORD to the hand of the priests, the Levites, whom David had [q]assigned in the house of the LORD, to offer the burnt offerings of the LORD, as it is written in the [r]Law of Moses, with rejoicing and with singing, as it was established by David. 19 And he set the [s]gatekeepers at the gates of the house of the LORD, so that no one who was in any way unclean should enter.

20 [t]Then he took the captains of hundreds, the nobles, the governors of the people, and all the people of the land, and brought the king down from the house of the LORD; and they went through the Upper Gate to the king's house, and set the king on the throne of the kingdom. 21 So all the people of the land rejoiced; and the city was quiet, for they had slain Athaliah with the sword.

Joash Repairs the Temple

24 Joash [a]was seven years old when he became king, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba. 2 Joash [b]did what was right in the sight of the LORD all the days of Jehoiada the priest. 3 And Jehoiada took two wives for him, and he had sons and daughters.

4 Now it happened after this that Joash set his heart on repairing the house of the LORD. 5 Then he gathered the priests and the Levites, and said to them, "Go out to the cities of Judah, and [c]gather from all Israel money to repair the house of your God from year to year, and see that you do it quickly."

However the Levites did not do it quickly. 6 [d]So the king called Jehoiada the chief priest, and said to him, "Why have you not required the Levites to bring in from Judah and from Jerusalem the collection, according to the commandment of [e]Moses the servant of the LORD and of the assembly of Israel, for the [f]tabernacle of witness?" 7 For [g]the sons of Athaliah, that wicked woman, had broken into the house of God, and had also presented all the [h]dedicated things of the house of the LORD to the Baals.

8 Then at the king's command [i]they made a chest, and set it outside at the gate of the house of the LORD. 9 And they made a proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem to bring to the LORD [j]the collection that Moses the servant of God had imposed on Israel in the wilderness. 10 Then all the leaders and all the people rejoiced, brought their contributions, and put them into the chest until all had given. 11 So it was, at that time, when the chest was brought to the king's official by the hand of the Levites, and [k]when they saw that there was much money, that the king's scribe and the high priest's officer came and emptied the chest, and took it and returned it to its place. Thus they did day by day, and gathered money in abundance.

12 The king and Jehoiada gave it to those who did the work of the service of the house of the

■ 23:16 made a covenant. See note on 15:12.

■ 23:17 temple of Baal. Probably a shrine to Baal erected for Athaliah (cf. 1 Kin. 11:1–8).

■ 23:18, 19 This account emphasizes more than 2 Kin. 11:18 that the new temple order under Jehoiada and Joash was according to Mosaic and Davidic design. The books of Chronicles were written in the time of reconstruction following the return of the Jews from exile in Babylonia, and such encouragement was appropriate.

■ 23:21 quiet. See note on 1 Chr. 22:9.

■ 24:1–22 This account should be compared with 2 Kin. 12. Note that vv.15–22 are a lengthy supplement.

■ 24:2 all the days of Jehoiada. Joash's positive accomplishments were the result of the influence of Jehoiada (24:14). After Jehoiada's death, Joash turned away from the Lord (24:17–19; cf. 26:5). The historian illustrates the importance of mutual support between king and priest (22:10—24:27 note).

■ 24:5 priests and the Levites. Chronicles more than 2 Kin. 12:1–3 emphasizes the need for proper Levitical order (23:18, 19 note).

money . . . from year to year. This requirement was the half-shekel tax of Ex. 30:11–16; 38:24–26 (see 24:9).

■ 24:6, 9 commandment of Moses . . . Moses . . . had imposed. See note on 1 Chr. 16:40.

■ 24:10–12 The generous and joyful giving of the officials and people was a good example for those engaged in restoring temple worship following the return from exile in Babylonia (1 Chr. 29:1–9 note).

LORD; and they hired masons and carpenters to [l]repair the house of the LORD, and also those who worked in iron and bronze to restore the house of the LORD. 13 So the workmen labored, and the work was completed by them; they restored the house of God to its original condition and reinforced it. 14 When they had finished, they brought the rest of the money before the king and Jehoiada; [m]they made from it articles for the house of the LORD, articles for serving and offering, spoons and vessels of gold and silver. And they offered burnt offerings in the house of the LORD continually all the days of Jehoiada.

Apostasy of Joash

15 But Jehoiada grew old and was full of days, and he died; he was one hundred and thirty years old when he died. 16 And they buried him in the City of David among the kings, because he had done good in Israel, both toward God and His house.

17 Now after the death of Jehoiada the leaders of Judah came and bowed down to the king. And the king listened to them. 18 Therefore they left the house of the LORD God of their fathers, and served [n]wooden images and idols; and [o]wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem because of their trespass. 19 Yet He [p]sent prophets to them, to bring them back to the LORD; and they testified against them, but they would not listen.

20 Then the Spirit of God [1]came upon [q]Zechariah the son of Jehoiada the priest, who stood above the people, and said to them, "Thus says God: [r]'Why do you transgress the commandments of the LORD, so that you cannot prosper? [s]Because you have forsaken the LORD, He also has forsaken you.' " 21 So they conspired against him, and at the command of the king they [t]stoned him with stones in the court of the house of the LORD. 22 Thus Joash the king did not remember the kindness which Jehoiada his [2]father had done to him, but killed his son; and as he died, he said, "The LORD look on it, and [u]repay!"

Death of Joash

23 So it happened in the spring of the year that [v]the army of Syria came up against him; and they came to Judah and Jerusalem, and destroyed all the leaders of the people from among the people, and sent all their [3]spoil to the king of Damascus. 24 For the army of the Syrians [w]came with a small company of men; but the LORD [x]delivered a very great army into their hand, because they had forsaken the LORD God of their fathers. So they [y]executed judgment against Joash. 25 And when they had withdrawn from him (for they left him severely wounded), [z]his own servants conspired against him because of the blood of the [4]sons of Jehoiada the priest, and killed him on his bed. So he died. And they buried him in the City of David, but they did not bury him in the tombs of the kings.

26 These are the ones who conspired against him: [5]Zabad the son of Shimeath the Ammonitess, and Jehozabad the son of [6]Shimrith the Moabitess. 27 Now concerning his sons, and [a]the many oracles about him, and the repairing of the house of God, indeed they are written in the [7]annals of the book of the kings. [b]Then Amaziah his son reigned in his place.

Amaziah Reigns in Judah

25 Amaziah [a]was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. 2 And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, [b]but not with a loyal heart.

3 [c]Now it happened, as soon as the kingdom was established for him, that he executed his servants who had murdered his father the king. 4 However he did not execute their children, but did as it is written in the Law in the Book of Moses, where the LORD commanded, saying, [d]"The

The writer of Chronicles shows how foreign alliances, response to prophetic instruction, and idolatry affect Israel's military security. The account describes fidelity and infidelity, much as in the accounts of Joash and Uzziah (22:10—24:27 note).

fathers shall not be put to death for their children, nor shall the children be put to death for their fathers; but a person shall die for his own sin."

The War Against Edom

5 Moreover Amaziah gathered Judah together and set over them captains of thousands and captains of hundreds, according to their fathers' houses, throughout all Judah and Benjamin; and he numbered them [e]from twenty years old and above, and found them to be three hundred thousand choice men, able to go to war, who could handle spear and shield. 6 He also hired one hundred thousand mighty men of valor from Israel for one hundred talents of silver. 7 But a [f]man of God came to him, saying, "O king, do not let the army of Israel go with you, for the LORD is not with Israel—not with any of the children of Ephraim. 8 But if you go, be gone! Be strong in battle! Even so, God shall make you fall before the enemy; for God has [g]power to help and to overthrow."

9 Then Amaziah said to the man of God, "But what shall we do about the hundred talents which I have given to the troops of Israel?"

And the man of God answered, [h]"The LORD is able to give you much more than this." 10 So Amaziah discharged the troops that had come to him from Ephraim, to go back home. Therefore their anger was greatly aroused against Judah, and they returned home in great anger.

11 Then Amaziah strengthened himself, and leading his people, he went to [i]the Valley of Salt and killed ten thousand of the people of Seir. 12 Also the children of Judah took captive ten thousand alive, brought them to the top of the rock, and cast them down from the top of the rock, so that they all were dashed in pieces.

13 But as for the soldiers of the army which Amaziah had discharged, so that they would not go with him to battle, they raided the cities of Judah from Samaria to Beth Horon, killed three thousand in them, and took much [j]spoil.

14 Now it was so, after Amaziah came from the slaughter of the Edomites, that [k]he brought the gods of the people of Seir, set them up to be [l]his gods, and bowed down before them and burned incense to them. 15 Therefore the anger of the LORD was aroused against Amaziah, and He sent him a prophet who said to him, "Why have you sought [m]the gods of the people, which [n]could not rescue their own people from your hand?"

16 So it was, as he talked with him, that the king said to him, "Have we made you the king's counselor? Cease! Why should you be killed?"

Then the prophet ceased, and said, "I know that God has [o]determined to destroy you, because you have done this and have not heeded my advice."

Israel Defeats Judah

17 Now [p]Amaziah king of Judah asked advice and sent to [q]Joash the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, "Come, let us face one another in battle."

18 And Joash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, "The thistle that was in Lebanon sent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son as wife'; and a wild beast that was in Lebanon passed by and trampled the thistle. 19 Indeed you say that you have defeated the Edomites, and your heart is lifted up to [r]boast. Stay at home now; why should you meddle with trouble, that you should fall—you and Judah with you?"

20 But Amaziah would not heed, for [s]it came from God, that He might give them into the hand of their enemies, because they [t]sought the gods of Edom. 21 So Joash king of Israel went out; and

■ 25:13 Samaria. An unidentified town in Judah, not the better-known capital of the northern kingdom.

■ 25:14 brought the gods. In contrast with Amaziah's earlier obedience (v. 12), he now disobeyed Mosaic instructions (Ex. 20:3; Deut. 7:25) and David's example (1 Chr. 14:12), bringing the Edomite gods to Jerusalem. He eventually worshiped these gods.

■ 25:15, 16 In contrast with his earlier repentance at the prophetic word (25:7–10), Amaziah rebuffed the prophet and received a stern warning (20:20 note).

■ 25:16 God has determined to destroy you. See note on 1 Chr. 28:9.

■ 25:20 it came from God. The sovereignty of God includes hardening the hearts of sinners so that they no longer respond to warnings (1 Chr. 21:1 note; cf. Ex. 3:19; 4:12; 7:3, 4).

he and Amaziah king of Judah faced one another at [s]Beth Shemesh, which belongs to Judah. 22 And Judah was defeated by Israel, and every man fled to his tent. 23 Then Joash the king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash, the son of [t]Jehoahaz, at Beth Shemesh; and he brought him to Jerusalem, and broke down the wall of Jerusalem from the Gate of Ephraim to the Corner Gate—four hundred cubits. 24 And he took all the gold and silver, all the articles that were found in the house of God with [u]Obed-Edom, the treasures of the king's house, and hostages, and returned to Samaria.

Death of Amaziah

25 [v]Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, lived fifteen years after the death of Joash the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel. 26 Now the rest of the acts of Amaziah, from first to last, indeed are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel? 27 After the time that Amaziah turned away from following the LORD, they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish; but they sent after him to Lachish and killed him there. 28 Then they brought him on horses and buried him with his fathers in [3]the City of Judah.

Uzziah Reigns in Judah

26 Now all the people of Judah took [1]Uzziah, who was sixteen years old, and made him king instead of his father Amaziah. 2 He built [2]Elath and restored it to Judah, after the king rested with his fathers.

3 Uzziah was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecholiah of Jerusalem. 4 And he did what was [a]right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father Amaziah had done. 5 [b]He sought God in the days of Zechariah, who [c]had understanding in the [3]visions of God; and as long as he sought the LORD, God made him [d]prosper.

6 Now he went out and [e]made war against the Philistines, and broke down the wall of Gath, the wall of Jabneh, and the wall of Ashdod; and he built cities around Ashdod and among the Philistines. 7 God helped him against [f]the Philistines, against the Arabians who lived in Gur Baal, and against the Meunites. 8 Also the Ammonites [g]brought tribute to Uzziah. His fame spread as far as the entrance of Egypt, for he became exceedingly strong.

9 And Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem at the [h]Corner Gate, at the Valley Gate, and at the corner buttress of the wall; then he fortified them. 10 Also he built towers in the desert. He dug many wells, for he had much livestock, both in the lowlands and in the plains; he also had farmers and vinedressers in the mountains and in [4]Carmel, for he loved the soil.

11 Moreover Uzziah had an army of fighting men who went out to war by companies, according to the number on their roll as prepared by Jeiel the scribe and Maaseiah the officer, under the hand of Hananiah, one of the king's captains. 12 The total number of [5]chief officers of the mighty men of valor was two thousand six hundred. 13 And under their authority was an army of three hundred and seven thousand five hundred, that made war with mighty power, to help the king against the enemy. 14 Then Uzziah prepared for them, for the entire army, shields, spears, helmets, body armor, bows, and slings to cast stones. 15 And he made devices in Jerusalem, invented by [i]skillful men, to be on the towers and the corners, to shoot arrows and large stones. So his fame spread far and wide, for he was marvelously helped till he became strong.

- 25:22–24 The defeat of Amaziah contrasts with his earlier victory (vv. 11–13).
- 25:26 book of the kings. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author.
- 26:1–23 The historian who composed Chronicles adds a long section (vv. 5–20) to the brief notices about Uzziah in 2 Kings 14 and 15. His account is in four stages: rise to power (vv. 1–2), obedience and blessing (vv. 3–15), disobedience and curse (vv. 16–20), and summary and death (vv. 22, 23).
- 26:1 Uzziah. Uzziah reigned 792/91–740/39 B.C. In 2 Kings he is frequently, but not always, called Azariah.
- 26:4 according to . . . his father Amaziah. The historian compares Uzziah with his father, whose reign was also divided between blessing and curse.
- 26:5 sought God . . . sought the LORD. See note on 7:14.
- in the days of Zechariah. An unknown royal advisor. It is unlikely that this is the person named in Is. 8:2, since "in the days of" suggests that Zechariah died during Uzziah's reign and could not have been an advisor to his grandson. Joash was obedient as long as Jehodiah was alive, and Uzziah did well under Zechariah's tutelage (24:2 note).
- 26:6–15 Uzziah was blessed in international conflict (vv. 6–8), domestic affairs (vv. 9, 10), and military strength (vv. 11–15).
- 26:7 Meunites. Uzziah's blessing recalls Jehoshaphat's victory (20:1–30).
- 26:8 Ammonites. See note on 1 Chr. 19:1.
- 26:9 Uzziah built. A reversal of the destruction in Amaziah's defeat (25:23). See note on 1 Chr. 11:5.

The Penalty for Uzziah's Pride

16 But *i*when he was strong his heart was *k*lifted up, to his destruction, for he transgressed against the LORD his God *l*by entering the temple of the LORD to burn incense on the altar of incense. 17 So *m*Azariah the priest went in after him, and with him were eighty priests of the LORD—valiant men. 18 And they withstood King Uzziah, and said to him, "*It n*is not for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to the LORD, but for the *o*priests, the sons of Aaron, who are consecrated to burn incense. Get out of the sanctuary, for you have trespassed! You shall have no honor from the LORD God."

19 Then Uzziah became furious; and he had a censer in his hand to burn incense. And while he was angry with the priests, *p*leprosy broke out on his forehead, before the priests in the house of the LORD, beside the incense altar. 20 And Azariah the chief priest and all the priests looked at him, and there, on his forehead, he was leprous; so they thrust him out of that place. Indeed he also *q*hurried to get out, because the LORD had struck him.

21 *r*King Uzziah was a leper until the day of his death. He dwelt in an *s*isolated house, because he was a leper; for he was cut off from the house of the LORD. Then Jotham his son was over the king's house, judging the people of the land.

22 Now the rest of the acts of Uzziah, from first to last, the prophet *t*Isaiah the son of Amoz wrote. 23 *u*So Uzziah *v*rested with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of burial which belonged to the kings, for they said, "He is a leper." Then Jotham his son reigned in his place.

Jotham Reigns in Judah

27 Jotham *a*was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name *was w*Jerushah the daughter of Zadok. 2 And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father Uzziah had done (although he did not enter the temple of the LORD). But still *b*the people acted corruptly.

3 He built the Upper Gate of the house of the LORD, and he built extensively on the wall of *c*Ophel. 4 Moreover he built cities in the mountains of Judah, and in the forests he built fortresses and towers. 5 He also fought with the king of the *d*Ammonites and defeated them. And the people of Ammon gave him in that year one hundred talents of silver, ten thousand kors of wheat, and ten thousand of barley. The people of Ammon paid this to him in the second and third years also. 6 So Jotham became mighty, *e*because he prepared his ways before the LORD his God.

7 Now the rest of the acts of Jotham, and all his wars and his ways, indeed they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. 8 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. 9 *f*So Jotham *z*rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the City of David. Then *g*Ahaz his son reigned in his place.

■ 26:16–20 This episode shows God's judgment against Uzziah's pride. As with Rehoboam (12:1), initial success led to disregard for God and His law. Uzziah's leprosy is mentioned only briefly in 2 Kin. 15:5.

■ 26:16 when he was strong. Moses warned Israel to be careful not to let success make them proud and rely on themselves rather than on God (Deut. 8:10–18).

■ 26:17 Azariah. An otherwise unknown priest. He and eighty courageous priests delivered God's judgment to Uzziah. The writer of Chronicles highlights the role of priests as instructors of royalty for a third time (24:2 and note).

■ 26:18 for the priests. Burning incense was restricted to the priests in Mosaic legislation (Ex. 30:7–9; Num. 16:39, 40). See "Christians and Civil Government" at Rom. 13:1.

■ 26:21 cut off from the house of the LORD. Uzziah was quarantined and kept out of the temple, in agreement with the Law of Moses (Lev. 13:46; Num. 5:1–4).

■ 26:22 the prophet Isaiah . . . wrote. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author.

■ 26:23 in the field. Uzziah was buried away from the royal family in relative dishonor because of the curse of leprosy.

■ 27:1–9 In contrast to the records from Joash to Uzziah, where each reign has a balance of obedience and disobedience (22:10—24:27 note), the writer's evaluation of Jotham is fully positive. This is followed with a negative treatment of Ahaz (ch. 28). Chronicles points out that faithfulness to God is the way to success in construction projects and military conflict.

■ 27:1 Jotham . . . sixteen years. Reigned 750–732 B.C. Jotham reigned during the period of his father Uzziah's leprosy (750–740 B.C.), and had co-regency with his son Ahaz (735–732 B.C.). For six years he was the sole monarch. The figure "sixteen years" here and in v. 8 probably refers to his co-regency with his father and his independent reign. Adding his four years with Ahaz brings the total to twenty years (2 Kin. 15:30).

■ 27:2 did not enter the temple. Jotham did not violate priestly regulations as Uzziah had done (26:18 note).

the people acted corruptly. The historian explains that the people and not Jotham were guilty of continuing corruption. (cf. 2 Kin. 15:35).

■ 27:5, 6 This record of victory over the Ammonites highlights God's approval of Jotham.

■ 27:7 in the book of the kings. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author.

Ahaz Reigns in Judah

28 Ahaz [a]was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem; and he did not do what was right in the sight of the LORD, as his father David had done. [2] For he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, and made [b]molded images for [c]the Baals. [3] He burned incense in [d]the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, and burned [e]his children in the [f]fire, according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD had [g]cast out before the children of Israel. [4] And he sacrificed and burned incense on the [i]high places, on the hills, and under every green tree.

Syria and Israel Defeat Judah

[5] Therefore [h]the LORD his God delivered him into the hand of the king of Syria. They [i]defeated him, and carried away a great multitude of them as captives, and brought them to Damascus. Then he was also delivered into the hand of the king of Israel, who defeated him with a great slaughter. [6] For [j]Pekah the son of Remaliah killed one hundred and twenty thousand in Judah in one day, all valiant men, [k]because they had forsaken the LORD God of their fathers. [7] Zichri, a mighty man of Ephraim, killed Maaseiah the king's son, Azrikam the officer over the house, and Elkanah who was second to the king. [8] And the children of Israel carried away captive of their [l]brethren two hundred thousand women, sons, and daughters; and they also took away much [2]spoil from them, and brought the spoil to Samaria.

Israel Returns the Captives

[9] But a [m]prophet of the LORD was there, whose name was Oded; and he went out before the army that came to Samaria, and said to them: "Look, [n]because the LORD God of your fathers was angry with Judah, He has delivered them into your hand; but you have killed them in a rage that [o]reaches up to heaven. [10] And now you propose to force the children of Judah and Jerusalem to be your [p]male and female slaves; but are you not also guilty before the LORD your God? [11] Now hear me, therefore, and return the captives, whom you have taken captive from your brethren, [q]for the fierce wrath of the LORD is upon you."

[12] Then some of the heads of the children of Ephraim, Azariah the son of Johanan, Berechiah the son of Meshillemoth, Jehizkiah the son of Shallum, and Amasa the son of Hadlai, stood up against those who came from the war, [13] and said to them, "You shall not bring the captives here, for we already have offended the LORD. You intend to add to our sins and to our guilt; for our guilt is great, and there is fierce wrath against Israel." [14] So the armed men left the captives and the [3]spoil before the leaders and all the assembly. [15] Then the men [r]who were designated by name rose up and took the captives, and from the [4]spoil they clothed all who were naked among them, dressed them and gave them sandals, [s]gave them food and drink, and anointed them; and they let all the feeble ones ride on donkeys. So they brought them to their brethren at Jericho, [t]the city of palm trees. Then they returned to Samaria.

Assyria Refuses to Help Judah

[16] [u]At the same time King Ahaz sent to the [5]kings of Assyria to help him. [17] For again the [v]Edomites had come, attacked Judah, and carried away captives. [18] [w]The Philistines also had invaded the cities of the lowland and of the South of Judah, and had taken Beth Shemesh, Aijalon, Gederoth, Sochoh with its villages, Timnah with its villages, and Gimzo with its villages; and they dwelt there. [19] For the LORD [6]brought Judah low because of Ahaz king of [x]Israel, for he had [y]encouraged moral decline in Judah and had been continually unfaithful to the LORD. [20] Also

■ 28:1–27 The account of Ahaz in 2 Kin. 16 is supplemented in 2 Chronicles. Ahaz's reign contrasts sharply with his father's kingdom (ch. 27 note), and the account focuses on how infidelity leads to military defeat.

■ 28:1 Ahaz. Ahaz reigned together with Jotham 735–732 B.C., and then as sole monarch for sixteen years, 732–716 B.C. If he was twenty when he took office, he was thirty-six when he died, and he would have been only eleven when his son Hezekiah was born (29:1). Some ancient sources give the figure "twenty-five" instead of "twenty" for his age at succession.

■ 28:3 burned his children. Ahaz's apostasy was so complete that he practiced human sacrifice. See Lev. 18:21; Deut. 12:31; 18:10; 2 Kin. 16:3; 17:17; 21:6; 23:10; 2 Chr. 33:6; Ps. 106:37, 38; Is. 57:5; Jer. 7:30, 31; 19:5; 32:35; Ezek. 16:20, 21; Mic. 6:7.

■ 28:5–15 Ahaz is defeated in battle as a divine judgment on his flagrant apostasy (v. 5).

■ 28:5 king of Syria . . . king of Israel. Rezin (king of Syria) and Pekah (king of Israel) joined forces against Ahaz (2 Kin. 16:5, 6; Is. 7:1–17).

■ 28:9 Samaria. Turning from his usual focus on the southern kingdom (Judah), the historian reports that citizens of Samaria, capital of the northern kingdom, obeyed when a prophet spoke to them. This obedience was an instructive contrast to the apostasy of Judah, the southern kingdom.

[z]Tiglath-Pileser[7] king of Assyria came to him and distressed him, and did not assist him. [21] For Ahaz took part of the treasures from the house of the LORD, from the house of the king, and from the leaders, and he gave it to the king of Assyria; but he did not help him.

Apostasy and Death of Ahaz

[22] Now in the time of his distress King Ahaz became increasingly unfaithful to the LORD. This is that King Ahaz. [23] For [a]he sacrificed to the gods of Damascus which had defeated him, saying, "Because the gods of the kings of Syria help them, I will sacrifice to them [b]that they may help me." But they were the ruin of him and of all Israel. [24] So Ahaz gathered the articles of the house of God, cut in pieces the articles of the house of God, [c]shut up the doors of the house of the LORD, and made for himself altars in every corner of Jerusalem. [25] And in every single city of Judah he made [8]high places to burn incense to other gods, and provoked to anger the LORD God of his fathers.

[26] [d]Now the rest of his acts and all his ways, from first to last, indeed they are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. [27] So Ahaz [9]rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the city, in Jerusalem; but they [e]did not bring him into the tombs of the kings of Israel. Then Hezekiah his son reigned in his place.

Hezekiah Reigns in Judah

29 Hezekiah [a]became king when he was twenty-five years old, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was [1]Abijah the daughter of Zechariah. [2] And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father David had done.

Hezekiah Cleanses the Temple

[3] In the first year of his reign, in the first month, he [b]opened the doors of the house of the LORD and repaired them. [4] Then he brought in the priests and the Levites, and gathered them in the East Square, [5] and said to them: "Hear me, Levites! Now [2]sanctify yourselves, [c]sanctify the house of the LORD God of your fathers, and carry out the rubbish from the holy place. [6] For our fathers have trespassed and done evil in the eyes of the LORD our God; they have forsaken Him, have [d]turned their faces away from the [3]dwelling place of the LORD, and turned their backs on Him. [7] [e]They have also shut up the doors of the vestibule, put out the lamps, and have not burned incense or offered burnt offerings in the holy place to the God of Israel. [8] Therefore the [f]wrath of the LORD fell upon Judah and Jerusalem, and He has [g]given them up to trouble, to desolation, and to [h]jeering, as you see with your [i]eyes. [9] For indeed, because of this [j]our fathers have fallen by the sword; and our sons, our daughters, and our wives are in captivity.

[10] "Now it is in my heart to make [k]a covenant with the LORD God of Israel, that His fierce wrath may turn away from us. [11] My sons, do not be negligent now, for the LORD has [l]chosen you to stand before Him, to serve Him, and that you should minister to Him and burn incense."

[12] Then these Levites arose: [m]Mahath the son of Amasai and Joel the son of Azariah, of the did not help him. Tiglath-Pileser of Assyria (745–727 B.C.) gave some temporary relief to Judah from the threats of Syria and Israel (2 Kin. 16:7–9), but Judah became subservient to Assyria.

■ 28:26 the book of the kings. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author.

■ 28:27 not . . . tombs. See note on 21:19.

■ 29:1 Hezekiah. The reign of Hezekiah (716–687 B.C.) begins a new era in the history of Israel and Judah. The northern kingdom had been destroyed by the Assyrians and only Judah remained. Hezekiah brought together representatives from both kingdoms to form a single, reunited kingdom with one king and one temple in Jerusalem. The writer of Chronicles devotes more attention to Hezekiah than any other king except David and Solomon. He uses material from 2 Kin. 18—20, but he supplements it broadly, including an extensive account of Hezekiah's temple reforms and Passover celebration (29:3—31:1). Hezekiah's reign appears as a return to the glory of Solomon's kingdom.

■ 29:3 opened the doors . . . and repaired them. Hezekiah overturns the actions of his father Ahaz (28:25 note) and restores the gold ornamentation stripped from the temple doors (2 Kin. 16:8, 9).

■ 29:4 Chronicles normally gives attention to matters concerning the priests and Levites (1 Chr. 6:1 note).

■ 29:4–11 Hezekiah's speech stands in contrast with Abijah's earlier assessments (13:6–12 notes). Judah is no longer different from Israel; both have forsaken God. Judah must repent as well.

■ 29:7 shut up the doors. As Ahaz did (28:24).

■ 29:8 upon Judah and Jerusalem. Hezekiah asserts that Judah and Jerusalem were under the curse of God for their neglect of the temple.

■ 29:9 in captivity. During the reign of Ahaz, many people from Judah were taken into exile by the Syrians (28:5–8) and Edomites (28:17). These events foreshadowed the Babylonian captivity to come (36:15–23), making the reign of Hezekiah a persuasive example for restoration after exile.

■ 29:10 in my heart. The anger of God turned Hezekiah toward Him in repentance, not away from Him in fear.

make a covenant. See note on 15:12.

■ 29:12–14 The historian mentions representatives of the three divisions of the tribe of Levi (v. 12) and the three families of singers (vv. 13, 14). Hezekiah's reforms were widely supported by the Levites and in accordance with the order established under David and Solomon (1 Chr. 6:1 note).

sons of the [n]Kohathites; of the sons of Merari, Kish the son of Abdi and Azariah the son of Jehallelel; of the Gershonites, Joah the son of Zimmah and Eden the son of Joah; [13] of the sons of Elizaphan, Shimri and Jeiel; of the sons of Asaph, Zechariah and Mattaniah; [14] of the sons of Heman, Jehiel and Shimei; and of the sons of Jeduthun, Shemaiah and Uzziel.

[15] And they gathered their brethren, [o]sanctified[4] themselves, and went according to the commandment of the king, at the words of the LORD, [p]to cleanse the house of the LORD. [16] Then the priests went into the inner part of the house of the LORD to cleanse it, and brought out all the debris that they found in the temple of the LORD to the court of the house of the LORD. And the Levites took it out and carried it to the Brook [q]Kidron.

[17] Now they began to [5]sanctify on the first day of the first month, and on the eighth day of the month they came to the vestibule of the LORD. So they sanctified the house of the LORD in eight days, and on the sixteenth day of the first month they finished.

[18] Then they went in to King Hezekiah and said, "We have cleansed all the house of the LORD, the altar of burnt offerings with all its articles, and the table of the showbread with all its articles. [19] Moreover all the articles which King Ahaz in his reign had [r]cast aside in his transgression we have prepared and [6]sanctified; and there they are, before the altar of the LORD."

Hezekiah Restores Temple Worship

[20] Then King Hezekiah rose early, gathered the rulers of the city, and went up to the house of the LORD. [21] And they brought seven bulls, seven rams, seven lambs, and seven male goats for a [s]sin offering for the kingdom, for the sanctuary, and for Judah. Then he commanded the priests, the sons of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the LORD. [22] So they killed the bulls, and the priests received the blood and [t]sprinkled it on the altar. Likewise they killed the rams and sprinkled the blood on the altar. They also killed the lambs and sprinkled the blood on the altar. [23] Then they brought out the male goats for the sin offering before the king and the assembly, and they laid their [u]hands on them. [24] And the priests killed them; and they presented their blood on the altar as a sin offering [v]to make an atonement for all Israel, for the king commanded that the burnt offering and the sin offering be made for all Israel.

[25] [w]And he stationed the Levites in the house of the LORD with cymbals, with stringed instruments, and with harps, [x]according to the commandment of David, of [y]Gad the king's seer, and of Nathan the prophet; [z]for thus was the commandment of the LORD by His prophets. [26] The Levites stood with the instruments [a]of David, and the priests with [b]the trumpets. [27] Then Hezekiah commanded them to offer the burnt offering on the altar. And when the burnt offering began, [c]the song of the LORD also began, with the trumpets and with the instruments of David king of Israel. [28] So all the assembly worshiped, the singers sang, and the trumpeters sounded; all this continued until the burnt offering was finished. [29] And when they had finished offering, [d]the king and all who were present with him bowed and worshiped. [30] Moreover King Hezekiah and the leaders commanded the Levites to sing praise to the LORD with the words of David and of Asaph the seer. So they sang praises with gladness, and they bowed their heads and worshiped.

[31] Then Hezekiah answered and said, "Now that you have consecrated yourselves to the LORD, come near, and bring sacrifices and [e]thank offerings into the house of the LORD." So the assembly brought in sacrifices and thank offerings, and as many as were of a [f]willing heart brought burnt offerings. [32] And the number of the burnt offerings which the assembly brought was seventy bulls, one hundred rams, and two hundred lambs; all these were for a burnt offering to the LORD. [33] The consecrated things were six hundred bulls and three thousand sheep. [34] But the priests were too few, so that they could not skin all the burnt offerings; therefore [g]their brethren the Levites helped them until the work was ended and until the other priests had [7]sanctified themselves, [h]for the Levites were [i]more diligent in [j]sanctifying themselves than the

■ 29:13 Elizaphan. A prominent leader of the Kohathites (Num. 3:30).

■ 29:16 priests went into the inner part. The historian offers these details to demonstrate that Hezekiah's renovation strictly accorded with Mosaic legislation.

■ 29:20–36 Hezekiah's dedication of the temple is reported in three parts: sacrifices brought by the leaders (vv. 20–24), arrangement of music (vv. 25–30), and sacrifices brought by the people (vv. 31–36).

■ 29:21 for the kingdom . . . sanctuary, and . . . Judah. Sacrifices were made on behalf of the royal family, the priests and Levites, and the people. All three groups were involved in the apostasy under Ahaz (2 Kin. 16).

■ 29:24 all Israel. In connection with the reunited kingdom (chs. 29—36), the expression "all Israel" (30:1; 31:1; 35:3) refers to both Judah together with the refugees from the northern tribes (1 Chr. 11:1 note; 2 Chr. 10:1 note). Hezekiah ordered sacrifices to be offered, not for Judah only (v. 21), but for all the descendants of Israel. This desire to unite is clearly expressed in his arrangements for the Passover (30:1–6).

■ 29:25 cymbals . . . stringed instruments . . . harps. See note on 1 Chr. 15:16.

■ 29:32–35 These sacrifices were fewer in number, but still a reminder of what Solomon had offered when the temple was dedicated (7:4–6).

priests. 35 Also the burnt offerings were in abundance, with [k]the fat of the peace offerings and with [l]the drink offerings for every burnt offering.

So the service of the house of the LORD was set in order. 36 Then Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced that God had prepared the people, since the events took place so suddenly.

30 And Hezekiah sent to all Israel and Judah, and also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, to keep the Passover to the LORD God of Israel. 2 For the king and his leaders and all the assembly in Jerusalem had agreed to keep the Passover in the second [a]month. 3 For they could not keep it [b]at [1]the regular time, [c]because a sufficient number of priests had not consecrated themselves, nor had the people gathered together at Jerusalem. 4 And the matter pleased the king and all the assembly. 5 So they [2]resolved to make a proclamation throughout all Israel, from Beersheba to Dan, that they should come to keep the Passover to the LORD God of Israel at Jerusalem, since they had not done it for a long time in the prescribed manner.

6 Then the [d]runners went throughout all Israel and Judah with the letters from the king and his leaders, and spoke according to the command of the king: "Children of Israel, [e]return to the LORD God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel; then He will return to the remnant of you who have escaped from the hand of [f]the kings of [g]Assyria. 7 And do not be [h]like your fathers and your brethren, who trespassed against the LORD God of their fathers, so that He [i]gave them up to [j]desolation, as you see. 8 Now do not be [k]stiff-necked,[3] as your fathers were, but yield yourselves to the LORD; and enter His sanctuary, which He has sanctified forever, and serve the LORD your God, [l]that the fierceness of His wrath may turn away from you. 9 For if you return to the LORD, your brethren and your children will be treated with [m]compassion by those who lead them captive, so that they may come back to this land; for the LORD your God is [n]gracious and merciful, and will not turn His face from you if you [o]return to Him."

10 So the runners passed from city to city through the country of Ephraim and Manasseh, as far as Zebulun; but [p]they laughed at them and mocked them. 11 Nevertheless [q]some from Asher, Manasseh, and Zebulun humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem. 12 Also [r]the hand of God was on Judah to give them singleness of heart to obey the command of the king and the leaders, [s]at the word of the LORD.

13 Now many people, a very great assembly, gathered at Jerusalem to keep the Feast of [t]Unleavened Bread in the second month. 14 They arose and took away the [u]altars that were in Jerusalem, and they took away all the incense altars and cast them into the Brook [v]Kidron. 15 Then they slaughtered the Passover lambs on the fourteenth day of the second month. The priests and the Levites [4]were [w]ashamed, and [5]sanctified themselves, and brought the burnt offerings to the house of the LORD. 16 They stood in their [x]place [6]according to their custom, according to the Law of Moses the man of God; the priests sprinkled the blood received from the hand of the Levites. 17 For there were many in the assembly who had not [7]sanctified themselves; [y]therefore the Levites had charge of the slaughter of the Passover lambs for everyone who was not clean, to sanctify them to the LORD. 18 For a multitude of the people, [z]many from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar, and Zebulun, had not cleansed themselves, [a]yet they ate the Passover contrary to what

■ 29:36 took place so suddenly. The restoration of the temple took less than three weeks (vv. 3, 17), an evidence that God was working in the people.

■ 30:1 the Passover. The writer of Kings emphasizes the Passover under Josiah (2 Kin. 23:21–23) without discussing the celebration arranged by Hezekiah. The writer of Chronicles exalts this celebration that reunited the northern and southern tribes in temple worship. Such reunion was of striking relevance for those who were working for the restoration of Israel in the time following the return of the exiles from Babylon (Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Characteristics and Themes).

■ 30:2 king . . . leaders . . . all the assembly. Hezekiah followed the good example of David (1 Chr. 13:1).

the second month. Normally, the Unleavened Bread and Passover feasts were to be observed in the first month (Ex. 12:2, 6; Deut. 16:1–8; cf. 2 Chr. 35:1). However, exceptions were made for those who were traveling or were unclean (Num. 9:9–13). Hezekiah applied the exception generously to the entire nation (v. 3).

■ 30:6–9 Hezekiah sent the same letter to both Israel and Judah (v. 6). His letter contrasts with Abijah's speech to the northerners (13:4–12). By Hezekiah's day, Judah and Israel were both in need of repentance and renewal.

■ 30:6 return to the LORD. See note on 7:14.

the remnant of you who have escaped. The historian uses this terminology in a technical sense, meaning those who had been spared by God to represent the continuation of the nation.

■ 30:9 compassion . . . come back to this land. Hezekiah recalls Solomon's dedicatory prayer (6:36–39). His concern for the return of those who had been taken into exile was instructive for anyone hoping to see the nation restored in the time following the Babylonian exile (Zech. 8:7, 8).

■ 30:11 Nevertheless some. The presence of some was important, even if all would not come.

■ 30:16 Law of Moses. See note on 1 Chr. 16:40.

■ 30:17–20 The failure of some to be ritually cleansed threatened the reunification of the tribes. Hezekiah interceded for the offenders, and God made the reunification of the nation possible (cf. Ex. 32:30–32).

was written. But Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, "May the good LORD provide atonement for everyone 19 who [b]prepares his heart to seek God, the LORD God of his fathers, though he is not cleansed according to the purification of the sanctuary." 20 And the LORD listened to Hezekiah and healed the people.

21 So the children of Israel who were present at Jerusalem kept [c]the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days with great gladness; and the Levites and the priests praised the LORD day by day, singing to the LORD, accompanied by loud instruments. 22 And Hezekiah gave encouragement to all the Levites [d]who taught the good knowledge of the LORD; and they ate throughout the feast seven days, offering peace offerings and [e]making confession to the LORD God of their fathers.

23 Then the whole assembly agreed to keep the feast [f]another seven days, and they kept it another seven days with gladness. 24 For Hezekiah king of Judah [g]gave to the assembly a thousand bulls and seven thousand sheep, and the leaders gave to the assembly a thousand bulls and ten thousand sheep; and a great number of priests [h]sanctified[8] themselves. 25 The whole assembly of Judah rejoiced, also the priests and Levites, all the assembly that came from Israel, the sojourners [i]who came from the land of Israel, and those who dwelt in Judah. 26 So there was great joy in Jerusalem, for since the time of [j]Solomon the son of David, king of Israel, there had been nothing like this in Jerusalem. 27 Then the priests, the Levites, arose and [k]blessed the people, and their voice was heard; and their prayer came up to [l]His holy dwelling place, to heaven.

The Reforms of Hezekiah

31 Now when all this was finished, all Israel who were present went out to the cities of Judah and [a]broke the sacred pillars in pieces, cut down the wooden images, and threw down the [1]high places and the altars—from all Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasseh—until they had utterly destroyed them all. Then all the children of Israel returned to their own cities, every man to his possession.

2 And Hezekiah appointed [b]the divisions of the priests and the Levites according to their divisions, each man according to his service, the priests and Levites [c]for burnt offerings and peace offerings, to serve, to give thanks, and to praise in the gates of the [2]camp of the LORD. 3 The king also appointed a [3]portion of his [d]possessions[4] for the burnt offerings: for the morning and evening burnt offerings, the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths and the New Moons and the set feasts, as it is written in the [e]Law of the LORD.

4 Moreover he commanded the people who dwelt in Jerusalem to contribute [f]support[5] for the priests and the Levites, that they might devote themselves to [g]the Law of the LORD.

5 As soon as the commandment was circulated, the children of Israel brought in abundance [h]the firstfruits of grain and wine, oil and honey, and of all the produce of the field; and they brought in abundantly the [i]tithe of everything. 6 And the children of Israel and Judah, who dwelt in the cities of Judah, brought the tithe of oxen and sheep; also the [j]tithe of holy things which were consecrated to the LORD their God they laid in heaps.

7 In the third month they began laying them in heaps, and they finished in the seventh month. 8 And when Hezekiah and the leaders came and saw the heaps, they blessed the LORD and His people Israel. 9 Then Hezekiah questioned the priests and the Levites concerning the heaps. 10 And Azariah the chief priest, from the [k]house of Zadok, answered him and said, [l]"Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the LORD, we have had enough to eat and have plenty left, for the LORD has blessed His people; and what is left is this great [m]abundance."

11 Now Hezekiah commanded them to prepare [n]rooms[6] in the house of the LORD, and they prepared them. 12 Then they faithfully brought in the offerings, the tithes, and the dedicated things; [o]Cononiah the Levite had charge of them, and Shimei his brother was the next. 13 Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, Mahath, and Benaiah were

■ 30:23–27 Just as Solomon's temple celebration was extended (7:8, 9), Hezekiah's feast continued for another week.

■ 30:24 Hezekiah . . . gave. Hezekiah followed the example of David in supporting the temple at his own expense (1 Chr. 29:3 note; 2 Chr. 35:7, 8 note).

■ 30:27 His holy dwelling place, to heaven. Note the similar language in Solomon's prayer (6:21, 30, 33, 39).

■ 31:2–21 Apart from 31:20, 21 (cf. 2 Kin. 18:5–7), this material is not in Kings. The author of Chronicles writes in a time when temple worship was being reestablished, and the provisions of Hezekiah would have been of obvious relevance for that task.

■ 31:2 appointed the divisions of the priests and the Levites. Hezekiah returned to the order of Solomon (8:14), who followed David's design (1 Chr. 6:1 note).

■ 31:3, 4 the Law of the LORD. See note on 1 Chr. 16:40.

his possessions . . . he commanded the people. As David had done, Hezekiah gave from his own treasury before appealing to the people (1 Chr. 29:3 note).

overseers under the hand of Cononiah and Shimei his brother, at the commandment of Hezekiah the king and Azariah the [p]ruler of the house of God. 14 Kore the son of Imnah the Levite, the keeper of the East Gate, was over the [q]freewill offerings to God, to distribute the offerings of the LORD and the most holy things. 15 And under him were [r]Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shecaniah, his faithful assistants in [s]the cities of the priests, to distribute [t]allotments to their brethren by divisions, to the great as well as the small.

16 Besides those males from three years old and up who were written in the genealogy, they distributed to everyone who entered the house of the LORD his daily portion for the work of his service, by his division, 17 and to the priests who were written in the genealogy according to their father's house, and to the Levites [u]from twenty years old and up according to their work, by their divisions, 18 and to all who were written in the genealogy—their little ones and their wives, their sons and daughters, the whole company of them—for in their faithfulness they [7]sanctified themselves in holiness.

19 Also for the sons of Aaron the priests, who were in [v]the fields of the common-lands of their cities, in every single city, there were men who were [w]designated by name to distribute portions to all the males among the priests and to all who were listed by genealogies among the Levites.

20 Thus Hezekiah did throughout all Judah, and he [x]did what was good and right and true before the LORD his God. 21 And in every work that he began in the service of the house of God, in the law and in the commandment, to seek his God, he did it with all his heart. So he [y]prospered.

Sennacherib Boasts Against the LORD

32 After [a]these deeds of faithfulness, Sennacherib king of Assyria came and entered Judah; he encamped against the fortified cities, thinking to win them over to himself. 2 And when Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib had come, and that his purpose was to make war against Jerusalem, 3 he consulted with his leaders and [1]commanders to stop the water from the springs which were outside the city; and they helped him. 4 Thus many people gathered together who stopped all the [b]springs and the brook that ran through the land, saying, "Why should the [2]kings of Assyria come and find much water?" 5 And [c]he strengthened himself, [d]built up all the wall that was broken, raised it up to the towers, and built another wall outside; also he repaired [3]the [e]Millo in the City of David, and made [4]weapons and shields in abundance. 6 Then he set military captains over the people, gathered them together to him in the open square of the city gate, and [f]gave them encouragement, saying, 7 [g]"Be strong and courageous; [h]do not be afraid nor dismayed before the king of Assyria, nor before all the multitude that is with him; for [i]there are more with us than with him. 8 With him is an [j]arm of flesh; but [k]with us is the LORD our God, to help us and to fight our battles." And the people were strengthened by the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

9 [l]After this Sennacherib king of Assyria sent his servants to Jerusalem (but he and all the forces with him laid siege against Lachish), to Hezekiah king of Judah, and to all Judah who were in Jerusalem, saying, 10 [m]"Thus says Sennacherib king of Assyria: 'In what do you trust, that you remain under siege in Jerusalem? 11 Does not Hezekiah persuade you to give yourselves over to die by famine and by thirst, saying, [n]"The LORD our God will deliver us from the hand of the king of Assyria"? 12 [o]Has not the same Hezekiah taken away His high places and His altars, and commanded Judah and Jerusalem, saying, "You shall worship before one altar and burn incense on [p]it"? 13 Do you not know what I and my fathers have done to all the peoples of other lands? [q]Were the gods of the nations of those lands in any way able to deliver their lands out of my hand? 14 Who was there among all the gods of those nations that my fathers utterly destroyed that could deliver his people from my hand, that your God should be able to deliver you from my [r]hand? 15 Now therefore, [s]do not let Hezekiah deceive you or persuade you like this, and do not believe him; for no god of any nation or kingdom was able to deliver his people from my hand or the hand of my fathers. How much less will your God deliver you from my hand?' "

■ 31:16 three years old. Perhaps this refers to the inclusion of children in the distribution of food (see also v. 18). However, "three" could be a copyist's error for "thirty," the age of active service in the temple (1 Chr. 23:3 note).

■ 31:21 So he prospered. The Lord rewarded Hezekiah for his faithfulness and obedience. He delivered him from invasion (32:1), healed his illness (32:24), forgave his pride (32:26), and gave him wealth (32: 27–31).

■ 32:1–23 In Kings the account of Sennacherib's invasion is the most prominent episode of Hezekiah's reign (2 Kin. 18:17—19:37). Chronicles gives a shorter account, using it to illustrate the divine blessing granted because of fidelity, trust, and prayer.

■ 32:7, 8 Hezekiah's speech demonstrated his full reliance on divine power to overcome his great enemy.

■ 32:9 The writer of Chronicles does not repeat what 2 Kings says about Hezekiah's payment of tribute to Sennacherib from the treasures of the temple, or the Assyrian's charge that Hezekiah had an alliance with Egypt (2 Kin. 18:14–27). He emphasizes Hezekiah's virtues.

16 Furthermore, his servants spoke against the LORD God and against His servant Hezekiah.
17 He also wrote letters to revile the LORD God of Israel, and to speak against Him, saying, [t]"As the gods of the nations of other lands have not delivered their people from my hand, so the God of Hezekiah will not deliver His people from my [u]hand." 18 [v]Then they called out with a loud voice in [5]Hebrew to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall, to frighten them and trouble them, that they might take the city. 19 And they spoke against the God of Jerusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth—[w]the work of men's hands.

Sennacherib's Defeat and Death

20 [x]Now because of this King Hezekiah and [y]the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amoz, prayed and cried out to heaven. 21 [z]Then the LORD sent an angel who cut down every mighty man of valor, leader, and captain in the camp of the king of Assyria. So he returned [a]shamefaced to his own land. And when he had gone into the temple of his god, some of his own offspring struck him down with the sword there.
22 Thus the LORD saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib the king of Assyria, and from the hand of all others, and [6]guided them on every side. 23 And many brought gifts to the LORD at Jerusalem, and [b]presents[7] to Hezekiah king of Judah, so that he was [c]exalted in the sight of all nations thereafter.

Hezekiah Humbles Himself

24 [d]In those days Hezekiah was sick and near death, and he prayed to the LORD; and He spoke to him and gave him a sign. 25 But Hezekiah [e]did not repay according to the favor shown him, for [f]his heart was lifted up; [g]therefore wrath was looming over him and over Judah and Jerusalem. 26 [h]Then Hezekiah humbled himself for the pride of his heart, he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the wrath of the LORD did not come upon them [i]in the days of Hezekiah.

Hezekiah's Wealth and Honor

27 Hezekiah had very great riches and honor. And he made himself treasuries for silver, for gold, for precious stones, for spices, for shields, and for all kinds of desirable items; 28 storehouses for the harvest of grain, wine, and oil; and stalls for all kinds of livestock, and [8]folds for flocks. 29 Moreover he provided cities for himself, and possessions of flocks and herds in abundance; for [j]God had given him very much property. 30 [k]This same Hezekiah also stopped the water outlet of Upper Gihon, and [9]brought the water by tunnel to the west side of the City of David. Hezekiah [l]prospered in all his works.
31 However, regarding the ambassadors of the princes of Babylon, whom they [m]sent to him to inquire about the wonder that was done in the land, God withdrew from him, in order to [n]test him, that He might know all that was in his heart.

Death of Hezekiah

32 Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah, and his goodness, indeed they are written in [o]the vision of Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, and in the [p]book of the kings of Judah and Israel. 33 [q]So Hezekiah [r]rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the upper tombs of the sons of David; and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem [s]honored him at his death. Then Manasseh his son reigned in his place.

CHAPTER 33

1 [a]2 Kin. 21:1–9
2 [b][Deut. 18:9–12]; 2 Chr. 28:3; [Jer. 15:4]

■ 32:20 Hezekiah and . . . Isaiah . . . prayed. There is a more detailed account of these events in 2 Kin. 19:1–34. On the value of prayer in battle, see 6:34 note.

■ 32:24–26 There is a fuller account of this illness and prayer in 2 Kin. 20:1–11.

■ 32:25 heart was lifted up. See note on 26:16.

■ 32:27–29 very great riches. Hezekiah's wealth recalls the wealth of Solomon's kingdom (ch. 1; 9:13–28).

■ 32:31 The historian abbreviates the record of 2 Kin. 20:12–19 (cf. Is. 39) in which Isaiah told Hezekiah that his treasures would be taken to Babylon. The author, apparently assuming that his readers are familiar with the account in Kings, leaves out Isaiah's harsh rebuke.

ambassadors . . . of Babylon. The Babylonian ambassadors came to investigate reports of Hezekiah's "sign" (v. 24; cf. 2 Kin. 20:8–11). Apparently, they desired a military alliance with Hezekiah against Assyria.

to test him. Hezekiah was tested to see whether he would form an alliance with Babylon against Assyria. As the Book of Kings reports, Hezekiah failed the test (2 Kin. 20:12–19).

■ 32:32 written in the vision of Isaiah the prophet. The historian may be referring to the canonical Book of Isaiah (called a "vision," Is. 1:1).

■ 33:1–20 This portrait of Manasseh forms a striking contrast with 2 Kin. 21:1–18. The harsh condemnation of Manasseh (2 Kin. 21:10–16) is the nations whom the LORD had cast out before the children of Israel. 3 For he rebuilt the [1]high places which Hezekiah his father had [c]broken down; he raised up altars for the Baals, and [d]made wooden images; and he worshiped [e]all [2]the host of heaven and served them. 4 He also built altars in the house of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, [f]"In Jerusalem shall My name be forever." 5 And he built altars for all the host of heaven [g]in the two courts of the house of the LORD. 6 [h]Also he caused his sons to pass through the fire in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom; he practiced [i]soothsaying, used witchcraft and sorcery, and [j]consulted mediums and spiritists. He did much evil in the sight of the LORD, to provoke Him to anger. 7 [k]He even set a carved image, the idol which he had made, in the [3]house of God, of which God had said to David and to Solomon his son, [l]"In this house and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put My name forever; 8 [m]and I will not again remove the foot of Israel from the land which I have appointed for your fathers—only if they are careful to do all that I have commanded them, according to the whole law and the statutes and the ordinances by the hand of Moses." 9 So Manasseh seduced Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to do more evil than the nations whom the LORD had destroyed before the children of Israel.

Manasseh Restored After Repentance

10 And the LORD spoke to Manasseh and his people, but they would not [4]listen. 11 [n]Therefore the LORD brought upon them the captains of the army of the king of Assyria, who took Manasseh with [5]hooks, [o]bound him with [6]bronze fetters, and carried him off to Babylon. 12 Now when he was in affliction, he implored the LORD his God, and [p]humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers, 13 and prayed to Him; and He [q]received his entreaty, heard his supplication, and brought him back to Jerusalem into his kingdom. Then Manasseh [r]knew that the LORD was God.

14 After this he built a wall outside the City of David on the west side of [s]Gihon, in the valley, as far as the entrance of the Fish Gate; and it [t]enclosed Ophel, and he raised it to a very great height. Then he put military captains in all the fortified cities of Judah. 15 He took away [u]the foreign gods and the idol from the house of the LORD, and all the altars that he had built in the mount of the house of the LORD and in Jerusalem; and he cast them out of the city. 16 He also repaired the altar of the LORD, sacrificed peace offerings and [v]thank offerings on it, and commanded Judah to serve the LORD God of Israel. 17 [w]Nevertheless the people still sacrificed on the [7]high places, but only to the LORD their God.

Death of Manasseh

18 Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh, his prayer to his God, and the words of [x]the seers who spoke to him in the name of the LORD God of Israel, indeed they are written in the [8]book of the kings of Israel. 19 Also his prayer and how God received his entreaty, and all his sin and trespass, and the sites where he built [9]high places and set up wooden images and carved images, be-omitted, and there is instead an account of his exile, repentance, return, and reforms (vv. 11–17). The writer of Kings blames Manasseh for the downfall of Jerusalem (2 Kin. 21:11–15). Knowing this, the historian of Chronicles encourages his readers by demonstrating that even the worst of sinners can be forgiven and restored through repentance, humility, and prayer.

■ 33:1 Manasseh . . . fifty-five years. Manasseh reigned 696–642 B.C., the longest reign of any king in Judah.

■ 33:2 abominations of the nations. Note the repetition of this theme in v. 9. See the similar evaluation of Ahaz (28:3). Manasseh's sins were so great that he deserved destruction as much as the Canaanites whom God destroyed during the conquest (Gen. 15:16).

■ 33:4 My name. See v. 7 and note on 1 Chr. 13:6.

■ 33:6 his sons to pass through the fire. This is another terrible similarity between Manasseh and Ahaz (28:3 note; 33:2 note).

■ 33:8 Moses. See note on 1 Chr. 16:40.

■ 33:10 the LORD spoke. The historian abbreviates the fuller description in 2 Kin. 21:10–15.

■ 33:11–13 The author adds a report of Manasseh's exile, repentance, and return.

■ 33:11 the king of Assyria. Either Esarhaddon (681–669 B.C.) or Ashurbanipal (669–627 B.C.).

to Babylon. It is possible that Manasseh was involved in the rebellion (652–648 B.C.) of Shamash-Shum-Ukin of Babylon against the Assyrian king, Ashurbanipal. Manasseh's captivity in Babylon and his return to the Promised Land might remind the readers of their own deportation to Babylon and their recent restoration.

■ 33:12, 13 Manasseh's prayer and restoration were in line with Solomon's temple dedication (6:36–39) and God's response to it (7:14 note).

■ 33:14–16 For similar reforms see 17:1–6.

■ 33:14 The historian notes Manasseh's building projects as a sign of God's blessing.

■ 33:15 all the altars. The writer of Kings notes that Josiah had to destroy altars Manasseh had erected (2 Kin. 23:12). Apparently, Manasseh's reforms were incomplete.

■ 33:18, 19 the book of the kings of Israel . . . sayings of Hozai. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author.

fore he was humbled, indeed they are written among the sayings of [l]Hozai. 20[y]So Manasseh rested with his fathers, and they buried him in his own house. Then his son Amon reigned in his place.

Amon's Reign and Death

21 [z]Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. 22 But he did evil in the sight of the LORD, as his father Manasseh had done; for Amon sacrificed to all the carved images which his father Manasseh had made, and served them. 23 And he did not humble himself before the LORD, [a]as his father Manasseh had humbled himself; but Amon trespassed more and more.

24 [b]Then his servants conspired against him, and [c]killed him in his own house. 25 But the people of the land executed all those who had conspired against King Amon. Then the people of the land made his son Josiah king in his place.

Josiah Reigns in Judah

34 Josiah [a]was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem. 2 And he did what was right in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the ways of his father David; he did not turn aside to the right hand or to the left.

3 For in the eighth year of his reign, while he was still [b]young, he began to [c]seek the God of his father David; and in the twelfth year he began [d]to purge Judah and Jerusalem [e]of the [f]high places, the wooden images, the carved images, and the molded images. 4 [f]They broke down the altars of the Baals in his presence, and the incense altars which were above them he cut down; and the wooden images, the carved images, and the molded images he broke in pieces, and made dust of them [g]and scattered it on the graves of those who had sacrificed to them. 5 He also [h]burned the bones of the priests on their [i]altars, and cleansed Judah and Jerusalem. 6 And so he did in the cities of Manasseh, Ephraim, and Simeon, as far as Naphtali and all around, with [2]axes. 7 When he had broken down the altars and the wooden images, had [j]beaten the carved images into powder, and cut down all the incense altars throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem.

Hilkiah Finds the Book of the Law

8 [k]In the eighteenth year of his reign, when he had purged the land and the [3]temple, he sent [l]Shaphan the son of Azaliah, Maaseiah the [m]governor of the city, and Joah the son of Joahaz the recorder, to repair the house of the LORD his God. 9 When they came to Hilkiah the high priest, they delivered [n]the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites who kept the doors had gathered from the hand of Manasseh and Ephraim, from all the [o]remnant of Israel, from all Judah and Benjamin, and which they had brought back to Jerusalem. 10 Then they put it in the hand of the foremen who had the oversight of the house of the LORD; and they gave it to the workmen who worked in the house of the LORD, to repair and restore the house. 11 They gave it to the craftsmen and builders to buy hewn stone and timber for beams, and to floor the houses which the kings of Judah had destroyed. 12 And the men did the work faithfully. Their overseers were Jahath and Obadiah the Levites, of the sons of Merari, and Zechariah and Meshullam, of the sons of the Kohathites, to supervise. Others of the Levites, all of whom were skillful with instruments of music, 13 were [p]over the burden bearers and were overseers of all who did work in any kind of service. [q]And some of the Levites were scribes, officers, and gatekeepers.

14 Now when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the LORD, ■ 34:1 Josiah . . . thirty-one years. Josiah reigned 640–609 B.C.

■ 34:3—35:19 The historian bases his account of Josiah's reforms on 2 Kin. 22:3—23:23, but the order of events differs. Broadly speaking, in 2 Kings Josiah's reforms are summarized geographically: discovery of the book in the temple (2 Kin. 22:3—23:3), reformation of city and nation (2 Kin. 23:4–20), and Passover celebration at the temple (2 Kin. 23:21–23). The historian of Chronicles orders the events chronologically: reforming the city and nation (34:3–7), discovering the book in the temple (34:8–33), and celebrating the Passover (35:1–19). References to the eighth and twelfth years (34:3) and the eighteenth year (34:8; 35:19) indicate that the reforms began before the discovery of the book.

■ 34:3 while he was still young. Josiah began to reverse the policies of Amon at an early age.

he began to purge. Josiah's removal of idolatry is reported more completely in 2 Kin. 23:4–20.

■ 34:12 the Levites. The involvement of the Levites would ensure that Josiah's reforms were according to the patterns established by David (1 Chr. 6), Solomon (2 Chr. 7:6; 8:14) and Hezekiah (29:2–19).

Hilkiah the priest [r]found the Book of the Law of the LORD given by Moses. 15 Then Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the scribe. "I have found the Book of the Law in the house of the LORD." And Hilkiah gave the [s]book to Shaphan. 16 So Shaphan carried the book to the king, bringing the king word, saying, "All that was committed to your servants they are doing. 17 And they have [t]gathered the money that was found in the house of the LORD, and have delivered it into the hand of the overseers and the workmen." 18 Then Shaphan the scribe told the king, saying, "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book." And Shaphan read it before the king.

19 Thus it happened, when the king heard the words of the Law, that he tore his clothes. 20 Then the king commanded Hilkiah, [u]Ahikam the son of Shaphan, [5]Abdon the son of Micah, Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah a servant of the king, saying, 21 "Go, inquire of the LORD for me, and for those who are left in Israel and Judah, concerning the words of the book that is found; for great is the wrath of the LORD that is poured out on us, because our fathers have not [v]kept the word of the LORD, to do according to all that is written in this book."

22 So Hilkiah and those the king had appointed went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of [6]Tokhath, the son of [7]Hasrah, keeper of the wardrobe. (She dwelt in Jerusalem in the Second Quarter.) And they spoke to her to that effect.

23 Then she answered them, "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, 'Tell the man who sent you to Me, 24 "Thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will [w]bring calamity on this place and on its inhabitants, all the curses that are written in the [x]book which they have read before the king of Judah, 25 because they have forsaken Me and burned incense to other gods, that they might provoke Me to anger with all the works of their hands. Therefore My wrath will be poured out on this place, and not be quenched.' " ' 26 But as for the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD, in this manner you shall speak to him, 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: "Concerning the words which you have heard— 27 because your heart was tender, and you humbled yourself before God when you heard His words against this place and against its inhabitants, and you humbled yourself before Me, and you tore your clothes and wept before Me, I also have heard you," says the [y]LORD. 28 "Surely I will gather you to your fathers, and you shall be gathered to your grave in peace; and your eyes shall not see all the calamity which I will bring on this place and its inhabitants." ' " So they brought back word to the king.

Josiah Restores True Worship

29 [z]Then the king sent and gathered all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. 30 The king went up to the house of the LORD, with all the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem—the priests and the Levites, and all the people, great and small. And he [z]read in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant which had been found in the house of the LORD. 31 Then the king [a]stood in [b]his place and made a [c]covenant before the LORD, to follow the LORD, and to keep His commandments and His testimonies and His statutes with all his heart and all his soul, to perform the words of the covenant that were written in this book. 32 And he made all who were present in Jerusalem and Benjamin take a stand. So the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of God, the God of their fathers. 33 Thus Josiah removed all the [d]abominations from all the country that belonged to the children of Israel, and made all who were present in Israel [8]diligently serve the LORD their God. [e]All his days they did not depart from following the LORD God of their fathers.

Josiah Keeps the Passover

35 Now [a]Josiah kept a Passover to the LORD in Jerusalem, and they slaughtered the Passover lambs on the [b]fourteenth day of the first month. 2 And he set the priests in their [c]duties and [d]encouraged them for the service of the house of the LORD. 3 Then he said to the Levites [e]who taught all Israel, who were holy to the LORD: [f]"Put the holy ark [g]in the house which Solomon the son of David, king of Israel, built. ■ 34:15 the Book of the Law . . . of the LORD. Probably Deuteronomy (2 Kin. 22:8 note). The priests delivered the book to Josiah, who accepted it as the guide for his reforms (cf. Ezra 7:6–10; Neh. 8; 9).

■ 34:23–28 Huldah the prophetess announced divine judgment because of the violation of God's law, but Josiah's humility had the effect of postponing disaster (1 Chr. 28:9 note).

■ 34:30 the Covenant. Josiah promulgated the law of God to the people and swore himself to obey it. He required the people to join him in this public renewal of God's relationship with them (v. 32).

■ 35:1 Passover. The Passover celebrated in Josiah's eighteenth year is mentioned briefly in 2 Kin. 23:21–23, but described here in detail. Like Hezekiah before him (30:1 note), Josiah enthusiastically observed this national celebration in the temple at Jerusalem (see also Ezra 6:19–22).

first month. See note on 30:2.

■ 35:3 all Israel. This includes people from the northern and southern kingdoms. Like Hezekiah, Josiah presided over a reunion of the people (30:1 note).

ders. Now serve the LORD your God and His people Israel. 4 Prepare yourselves [i]according to your fathers' [j]houses, according to your divisions, following the [k]written instruction of David king of Israel and the [l]written instruction of Solomon his son. 5 And [m]stand in the holy place according to the divisions of the fathers' houses of your brethren the lay people, and according to the division of the father's house of the Levites. 6 So slaughter the Passover offerings, [n]consecrate yourselves, and prepare them for your brethren, that they may do according to the word of the LORD by the hand of Moses."

7 Then Josiah [o]gave the lay people lambs and young goats from the flock, all for Passover offerings for all who were present, to the number of thirty thousand, as well as three thousand cattle; these were from the king's [p]possessions. 8 And his [q]leaders gave willingly to the people, to the priests, and to the Levites. Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, rulers of the house of God, gave to the priests for the Passover offerings two thousand six hundred from the flock, and three hundred cattle. 9 Also [r]Conaniah, his brothers Shemaiah and Nethanel, and Hashabiah and Jeiel and Jozabad, chief of the Levites, gave to the Levites for Passover offerings five thousand from the flock and five hundred cattle.

10 So the service was prepared, and the priests [s]stood in their places, and the [t]Levites in their divisions, according to the king's command. 11 And they slaughtered the Passover offerings; and the priests [u]sprinkled the blood with their hands, while the Levites [v]skinned the animals. 12 Then they removed the burnt offerings that they might give them to the divisions of the fathers' houses of the lay people, to offer to the LORD, as it is written [w]in the Book of Moses. And so they did with the cattle. 13 Also they [x]roasted the Passover offerings with fire according to the ordinance; but the other holy offerings they [y]boiled in pots, in caldrons, and in pans, and divided them quickly among all the lay people. 14 Then afterward they prepared portions for themselves and for the priests, because the priests, the sons of Aaron, were busy in offering burnt offerings and fat until night; therefore the Levites prepared portions for themselves and for the priests, the sons of Aaron. 15 And the singers, the sons of Asaph, were in their places, according to the [z]command of David, Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun the king's seer. Also the gatekeepers [a]were at each gate; they did not have to leave their position, because their brethren the Levites prepared portions for them.

16 So all the service of the LORD was prepared the same day, to keep the Passover and to offer burnt offerings on the altar of the LORD, according to the command of King Josiah. 17 And the children of Israel who were present kept the Passover at that time, and the Feast of [b]Unleavened Bread for seven days. 18 [c]There had been no Passover kept in Israel like that since the days of Samuel the prophet; and none of the kings of Israel had kept such a Passover as Josiah kept, with the priests and the Levites, all Judah and Israel who were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 19 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah this Passover was kept.

Josiah Dies in Battle

20 [d]After all this, when Josiah had prepared the temple, Necho king of Egypt came up to fight against [e]Carchemish by the Euphrates; and Josiah went out against him. 21 But he sent messengers to him, saying, "What have I to do with you, king of Judah? I have not come against you this day, but against the house with which I have war; for God commanded me to make haste. Refrain from meddling with God, who is with me, lest He destroy you." 22 Nevertheless Josiah would not turn his face from him, but [f]disguised himself so that he might fight with him, and did not heed the words of Necho from the mouth of God. So he came to fight in the Valley of Megiddo.

23 And the archers shot King Josiah; and the king said to his servants, "Take me away, for I am severely wounded." 24 [g]His servants therefore took him out of that chariot and put him in the

■ 35:4 written instruction of David . . . and . . . Solomon. Josiah's celebration could stand as an example to future generations because it was conducted according to the recognized standards of David and Solomon.

■ 35:6 the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses. See note on 1 Chr. 16:40.

■ 35:7, 8 Josiah followed a pattern similar to David (1 Chr. 29:3 note) and Hezekiah (30:24 note). His own contributions were followed by enthusiastic contributions from others.

■ 35:18 no Passover . . . like that since the days of Samuel. The writer makes a similar observation about Hezekiah's Passover (30:26).

■ 35:20 Even a king who "had prepared the temple" would suffer divine retribution if he ignored the word of God. Josiah fell in battle because he refused to obey the divinely directed words of Pharaoh Necho (v.22).

■ 35:21 house with which I have war. It is not clear why Josiah wanted to impede the progress of Pharaoh Necho. He may have been entangled in an alliance with Necho's enemies (cf. 2 Kin. 23:29).

■ 35:22 from the mouth of God. In some way God had conveyed His purposes to the foreign king, as He had to Ahimelech through a dream (Gen. 20:3), but Josiah would not listen.

■ 35:24 Jerusalem mourned. Despite his final weakness, Josiah was an honorable king of Judah (21:19 note).

second chariot that he had, and they brought him to Jerusalem. So he died, and was buried in one of the tombs of his fathers. And [g] all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah.

25 Jeremiah also [h] lamented for [i] Josiah. And to this day [j] all the singing men and the singing women speak of Josiah in their lamentations. [k] They made it a custom in Israel; and indeed they are written in the Laments.

26 Now the rest of the acts of Josiah and his goodness, according to what was written in the Law of the LORD, 27 and his deeds from first to last, indeed they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

The Reign and Captivity of Jehoahaz

36 Then [a] the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah, and made him king in his father's place in Jerusalem. 2 [1] Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. 3 Now the king of Egypt deposed him at Jerusalem; and he imposed on the land a tribute of one hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold. 4 Then the king of Egypt made [2] Jehoahaz's brother Eliakim king over Judah and Jerusalem, and changed his name to Jehoiakim. And Necho took [3] Jehoahaz his brother and carried him off to Egypt.

The Reign and Captivity of Jehoiakim

5 [b] Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. And he did [c] evil in the sight of the LORD his God. 6 [d] Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up against him, and bound him in [4] bronze fetters to [e] carry him off to Babylon. 7 [f] Nebuchadnezzar also carried off some of the articles from the house of the LORD to Babylon, and put them in his temple at Babylon. 8 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, the abominations which he did, and what was found against him, indeed they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. Then [5] Jehoiachin his son reigned in his place.

The Reign and Captivity of Jehoiachin

9 [g] Jehoiachin was [6] eight years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months and ten days. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD. 10 At the turn of the year [h] King Nebuchadnezzar summoned him and took him to Babylon, [i] with the costly articles from the house of the LORD, and made [j] Zedekiah, [7] [8] Jehoiakim's brother, king over Judah and Jerusalem.

Zedekiah Reigns in Judah

11 [k] Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. 12 He did evil in the sight of the LORD his God, and [l] did not humble himself before Jeremiah the prophet, who spoke from the mouth of the LORD. 13 And he also [m] rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him swear an oath by God; but he [n] stiffened his neck and hardened his heart against turning to the LORD God of Israel. 14 Moreover all the leaders of the priests and the people transgressed more and more, according to all the abominations of the nations, and defiled the house of the LORD which He had consecrated in Jerusalem.

■ 35:25 Jeremiah also lamented. This passage has been taken to show that Jeremiah wrote the Book of Lamentations, but the identification is uncertain.

to this day. See note on 1 Chr. 4:41.

■ 35:27 the book of the kings. See the introduction to 1 Chronicles.

■ 36:2–14 The historian quickly traces the reigns of Josiah's three sons (Jehoahaz, Jehoiakim, and Zedekiah) and his grandson (Jehoiachin). His account is shorter than Kings (2 Kin. 23:31—24:20); he reports the failures and disobedience leading to exile in Babylonia (1 Chr. 3:15 note; 3:17 note).

■ 36:2 Jehoahaz. Reigned for three months in 609 B.C.

■ 36:3 king of Egypt. After Josiah's defeat by Necho (609 B.C.), Egypt dominated Judah.

■ 36:4 changed his name. To change another king's name demonstrated political dominance.

■ 36:5–8 An abbreviation of 2 Kin. 23:36—24:7.

■ 36:5 Jehoiakim. Reigned 609–598 B.C.

■ 36:6 Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. After Egypt was defeated by the Babylonians at Carchemish (605 B.C.), Judah was subjected to Babylonian power.

■ 36:9 Jehoiachin. Reigned for just over three months in 597 B.C. This capture and release is reported in 2 Kin. 24:8–12; 25:27–30. Chronicles passes over his release from Babylon, electing instead to end with the edict of Cyrus permitting the exiles to return to Jerusalem.

■ 36:11 Zedekiah. Reigned 597–586 B.C. Zedekiah sought help from Egypt, but to no avail. The Babylonians laid siege to Jerusalem for two years and finally took the city in 586 B.C.

■ 36:14 all the leaders. Not only the kings, but the priests and the people also committed sins that subjected them to the retribution of exile in Babylonia.

The Fall of Jerusalem

15 [o]And the LORD God of their fathers sent warnings to them by His messengers, rising up early and sending them, because He had compassion on His people and on His dwelling place.
16 But [p]they mocked the messengers of God, [q]despised His words, and [r]scoffed at His prophets, until the [s]wrath of the LORD arose against His people, till there was no remedy.
17 [t]Therefore He brought against them the king of the Chaldeans, who [u]killed their young men with the sword in the house of their sanctuary, and had no compassion on young man or virgin, on the aged or the weak; He gave them all into his hand. 18 [v]And all the articles from the house of God, great and small, the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king and of his leaders, all these he took to Babylon. 19 [w]Then they burned the house of God, broke down the wall of Jerusalem, burned all its palaces with fire, and destroyed all its precious possessions.
20 And [x]those who escaped from the sword he carried away to Babylon, [y]where they became servants to him and his sons until the rule of the kingdom of Persia, 21 to fulfill the word of the LORD by the mouth of [z]Jeremiah, until the land [a]had enjoyed her Sabbaths. As long as she lay desolate [b]she kept Sabbath, to fulfill seventy years.

The Proclamation of Cyrus

22 [c]Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the LORD by the mouth of [d]Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the LORD stirred up the spirit of [e]Cyrus king of Persia, so that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and also put it in writing, saying,

23 [f]Thus says Cyrus king of Persia:
All the kingdoms of the earth the LORD God of heaven has given me. And He has commanded me to build Him a [g]house at Jerusalem which is in Judah. Who is among you of all His people? May the LORD his God be with him, and let him go up!

■ 36:15 His messengers. The warnings of prophets appear often in Chronicles (20:20 note). Jeremiah was active during the reign of Zedekiah (Jer. 1; 21; 34; 37; 38; 52).

■ 36:16 no remedy. Compare Heb. 6:4–6.

■ 36:21 land had enjoyed her Sabbaths. This observation shows that God had His own purposes in allowing the Babylonian exile of the Jews. During it the land could enjoy the Sabbath rests it had been denied (Lev. 26:40–45).

seventy years. See Jer. 25:1–14 and Dan. 9. Chronicles takes the end of the seventy years to be the first year of Cyrus (538 B.C.). Perhaps the calculation is from the first deportation (605 or 604 B.C.) under Jehoiakim. Zech. 1:12–17 may indicate that the seventy years was measured from the destruction of the temple in 586 B.C. to its rededication in 516 B.C.

■ 36:22, 23 This passage is repeated with some variation in Ezra 1:1–4. Cyrus exercised a liberal policy toward many people deported by the Babylonians. Israel's release recalls Solomon's prayer of dedication (6:36–39 note).

■ 36:23 commanded me to build Him a house at Jerusalem. God caused Cyrus to return the people to Israel with the specific purpose of rebuilding the temple. In the course of his work the writer of Chronicles has given due emphasis to the temple and its services, showing how its renewal could be accomplished under God's guidance.

The Book of

EZRA

Author It is not known who wove together into their present form all the documents included in Ezra and Nehemiah (Characteristics and Themes below). Despite an earlier view that a single author wrote the books of Chronicles, Ezra, and Nehemiah, the consensus among scholars is that the historian who wrote Chronicles ("the Chronicler") was probably not the author of Ezra and Nehemiah (Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author). Ezra kept a journal or "memoirs" (7:28 note), as Nehemiah did also. Given his literary skills (7:6 and note), Ezra may well have been the compiler of the books of Ezra and Nehemiah, as is held by Jewish tradition.

Date and Occasion Ezra and Nehemiah can be dated in the period 430–400 B.C. The narratives were written to encourage the Jews who had returned from exile by revealing to them that though Israel was still under Persian rule, their sovereign God was continuing His redemptive work and reestablishing true worship among them.

Characteristics and Themes Although modern Bibles treat Ezra and Nehemiah as two separate books, they were originally a single work. They are treated as one composition in the Hebrew Bible, the Talmud, Josephus (c. A.D. 37–100), and the oldest manuscripts of the Septuagint (the Old Testament Greek translation). Origen (A.D. 185–253) was the first to separate Ezra and Nehemiah into two books.

Ezra-Nehemiah is a historical narrative composed of numerous originally separate documents, woven together to form a beautiful and powerful whole. Lists play a significant role in Ezra and Nehemiah. There are lists regarding (a) the temple articles (1:9–11), (b) those who initially returned from exile (2:3–70, repeated in Neh. 7:8–73), (c) the leaders who returned with Ezra (8:2–14), (d) those involved in mixed marriages (10:18–43), (e) those who rebuilt the wall (Neh. 3), (f) those who sealed the covenant (Neh. 10:1–27), (g) new residents in Jerusalem and those in the villages (Neh. 11), and (h) the priests and Levites who returned with Zerubbabel (Neh. 12:1–26).

Much official correspondence has also been included. These letters were written in Aramaic, the language of international diplomacy at that time. There is (a) the letter of Rehum to Artaxerxes (4:11–16), (b) the reply of Artaxerxes (4:17–22), (c) the letter of Tattenai to Darius (5:7–17), (d) the memorandum regarding the decree of Cyrus (6:2–5), (e) the reply of Darius to Tattenai (6:6–12), and (f) the letter of Artaxerxes on behalf of Ezra (7:12–26).

In addition, the decree of Cyrus (1:2–4) and materials from Ezra and Nehemiah themselves have been included (7:27—9:15; Neh. 1:1—7:5; 12:27–43; 13:14–31).

Three themes of Ezra and Nehemiah can be found in the decree of Cyrus (1:2–4). First, rebuilding the temple in Jerusalem is God's objective in the history of redemption at this point; second, the people of God as a whole, and not merely the great leaders, are vital for accomplishing this purpose. Third, the written word is a powerful tool used by God to accomplish His objective.

Cyrus commissioned the return from exile for the express purpose of rebuilding "the house of the LORD God of Israel" (1:3). Cyrus's commission was directed toward the people of God as a whole, not toward this or that leader. The long lists of otherwise unknown people testify that the people of God as a whole are responsible for rebuilding.

Cyrus's written decree was the human instrument generating the action in Ezra and Nehemiah. Written documents play a major role in the subordinate actions as well. Letters stop and start the work on the temple (4:23; 6:6–7). A letter gives Ezra authority to carry out reforms (7:25–26). The written word of God is a moving force in the narrative (3:2; 10:3; Neh. 8:1; 9:13). This theme is significant, since the era involved is that of the last Old Testament prophets (Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi). There was to be a period of silence after them, during which the people of God would be governed exclusively by the written word. The silence was broken by John the Baptist, the forerunner of Christ.

The overall purpose of Ezra and Nehemiah is to affirm that God works sovereignly through responsible human agents to accomplish His redemptive objective. Cyrus issued his decree because the Lord had moved his spirit (1:1). Those who returned came back because the Lord had moved their spirits (1:5). Ezra succeeded because the good hand of God was upon him (7:9). Artaxerxes supported the work of rebuilding because the Lord had put it in his spirit (7:27). Human beings acted freely and responsibly under the providence of God to bring His plans to fruition (see "God Reigns: Divine Sovereignty" at Dan. (4:34). □

End of the Babylonian Captivity

CHAPTER 1

NOW in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the LORD [a]by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, [b]so that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and also put it in writing, saying,

1 [a]2 Chr. 36:22, 23; Jer. 25:12; 29:10 [b]Ezra 5:13, 14; Is. 44:28—45:13

2 Thus says Cyrus king of Persia:

■ 1:1–3 The same words, with minor differences, close 2 Chronicles. Ezra picks up the history of redemption where Chronicles leaves off.

■ 1:1 first year. 538 B.C., the first year of Cyrus's reign. He conquered Babylon in October 539 and reigned over Persia from 550 to 530.

that the word of the LORD . . . might be fulfilled. Jeremiah had prophesied seventy years of captivity in Babylon (Jer. 25:11–12; 29:10; see Dan. 9:2). From 605 when the first captives were deported, to 538 when the decree to return was issued, is sixty-seven years. Other prophecies may also be in view (Jer. 16:14–15; 27:22). The Lord was sovereignly bringing to pass the word He had spoken over half a century before.

the LORD stirred up the spirit. This phrase expresses the main theme of the book: God works sovereignly through responsible human agents to accomplish His redemptive plan (6:22; 7:27). In the words of Prov. 21:1, the Lord directed Cyrus's spirit "like the rivers of water; He turns it wherever He wishes."

■ 1:2–4 The decree may have been written with the help of Jewish advisers.

■ 1:2 the LORD God of heaven. A title identifying the Lord as the supreme authority and power (5:12; 6:9, 10; 7:12, 21, 23; Neh. 1:4, 5; 2:4, 20; Dan. 2:18, 19, 37, 44; Jon. 1:9).

has given me . . . has commanded me. Cyrus's testimony to the sovereignty of God was probably a formality for him, since the Cylinder of Cyrus says similar things about other gods (1:3 note).

a house at Jerusalem. This "house" refers in the first place to the temple, but in the end will include the city of God and the people of God. The rebuilding of the "house" of God is a dominant theme in Ezra and Nehemiah (Introduction: Characteristics and Themes).

8 [i]Ezra 5:14, 16

All the kingdoms of the earth the LORD God of heaven has given me. And He has [c]commanded me to build Him a [f]house at Jerusalem which is in Judah. [3] Who is among you of all His people? May his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem which is in Judah, and build the house of the LORD God of Israel [d](He is God), which is in Jerusalem. [4] And whoever is left in any place where he dwells, let the men of his place help him with silver and gold, with goods and livestock, besides the freewill offerings for the house of God which is in Jerusalem.

[5] Then the heads of the fathers' houses of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and the Levites, with all whose spirits [e]God [2]had moved, arose to go up and build the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem. [6] And all those who were around them [3]encouraged them with articles of silver and gold, with goods and livestock, and with precious things, besides all that was [f]willingly offered.

[7] [g]King Cyrus also brought out the articles of the house of the LORD, [h]which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from Jerusalem and put in the [4]temple of his gods; [8] and Cyrus king of Persia brought them out by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and counted them out to [i]Sheshbazzar the prince of Judah. [9] This is the number of them: thirty gold platters, one thousand silver platters, twenty-nine knives, [10] thirty gold basins, four hundred and ten silver basins of a similar kind, and of all His people. Cyrus's commission is directed to all the people, not the leaders, expressing a major theme of the book (Introduction: Characteristics and Themes): the people of God as a whole are vital to the accomplishing of God's redemptive plan.

■ 1:3 Cyrus treated Israel in the same way as his other subject peoples. His purpose was to enlist the gods of these peoples in his own service (note the motivation of Darius in 6:10 and of Artaxerxes in 7:23). The Lord's controlling purpose, however, is to continue the progress of redemption.

■ 1:4 whoever is left in any place. This phrase refers to Jews who stayed in Babylon, and perhaps to Gentiles.

help him. In the Exodus from Egypt, the Egyptians sent Israel out with gifts (Ex. 12:35–36).

■ 1:5 The response is described in language parallel to the decree, emphasizing the immediate response of the people to Cyrus's decree and God's prompting.

heads of the fathers' houses. These were the patriarchs of extended families.

the priests and the Levites. Restoration of the temple service required their return (8:15–17).

God had moved. The same Hebrew phrase as in v. 1 (see text note). God's sovereign power generated the decree and the response.

■ 1:8 Mithredath. A Persian official.

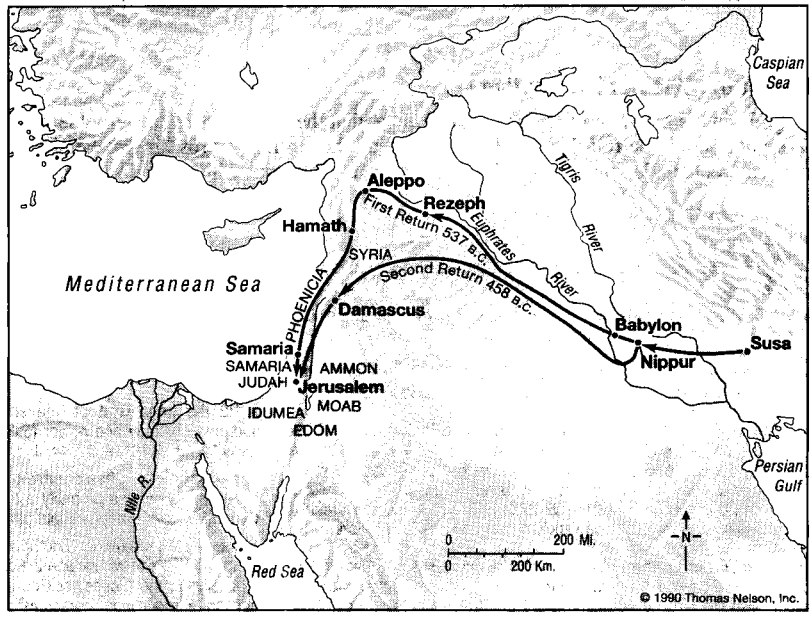
Sheshbazzar. Identified by some as Zerubbabel. However, Sheshbazzar seems to be a somewhat unknown figure in 5:14–16, whereas Zerubbabel is well-known (5:2–3). Probably Sheshbazzar was the official leader, perhaps a Persian, designated by Cyrus, while Zerubbabel was the popular leader.

■ 1:9–11 The total of the numbers in vv. 9–10 is 2,499, not 5,400 as reported in v. 11. The reason for this discrepancy is not known. The difficulty is compounded by not knowing exactly what the "platters" and "basins" were. The production of these treasures must have encouraged the spirits of God's people, since Jeremiah had prophesied that they would be preserved and carried back to Jerusalem (Jer. 27:22).

The Return from Exile. When Cyrus the Persian captured Babylon in 539 B.C., the way was opened for captive Judah to begin the return to her homeland. The edict of Cyrus in 538 B.C. allowed Jewish exiles not only to return to Judah, but also to rebuild the temple. While there were probably several caravans of returning exiles, two major expeditions are reported. The first led by Sheshbazzar occurred soon after the edict, possibly in 537 B.C. The traditional date of the second return led by Ezra is 458 B.C. Other possibilities are 428 or 398 B.C.



one thousand other articles. 11 All the articles of gold and silver were five thousand four hundred. All these Sheshbazzar took with the captives who were brought from Babylon to Jerusalem.

The Captives Who Returned to Jerusalem

2 Now [a]these are the people of the province who came back from the captivity, of those who had been carried away, [b]whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away to Babylon, and who returned to Jerusalem and Judah, everyone to his own city.

2 Those who came with Zerubbabel were Jeshua, Nehemiah, [1]Seraiah, [2]Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilshan, [3]Mispar, Bigvai, [4]Rehum, and Baanah. The number of the men of the people of Israel: 3 the people of Parosh, two thousand one hundred and seventy-two; 4 the people of Shephatiah, three hundred and seventy-two; 5 the people of Arah, [c]seven hundred and seventy-five; 6 the people of [d]Pahath-Moab, of the people of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and twelve; 7 the people of Elam, one thousand two hundred and fifty-four; 8 the people of Zattu, nine hundred and forty-five; 9 the people of Zaccai, seven hundred and sixty; 10 the people of [5]Bani, six hundred and forty-two; 11 the people of Bebai, six hundred and twenty-three; 12 the people of Azgad, one thousand two hundred and twenty-two; 13 the people of Adonikam, six hundred and sixty-six; 14 the people of Bigvai, two thousand and fifty-six; 15 the people of Adin, four hundred and fifty-four; 16 the people of Ater of Hezekiah, ninety-eight; 17 the people of Bezai, three hundred and twenty-three; 18 the people of [6]Jorah, one hundred and twelve; 19 the people of Hashum, two hundred and twenty-three; 20 the people of [7]Gibbar, ninety-five; 21 the people of Bethlehem, one hundred and twenty-three; 22 the men of Netophah, fifty-six; 23 the men of Anathoth, one hundred and twenty-eight; 24 the people of [8]Azmaveth, forty-two; 25 the people of [9]Kirjath Arim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, seven hundred and forty-three; 26 the people of Ramah and Geba, six hundred and twenty-one; 27 the men of Michmas, one hundred and twenty-two; 28 the men of Bethel and Ai, two hundred and twenty-three; 29 the people of Nebo, fifty-two; 30 the people of Magbish, one hundred and fifty-six; 31 the people of the other [e]Elam, one thousand two hundred and fifty-four; 32 the people of Harim, three hundred and twenty; 33 the people of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, seven hundred and twenty-five; 34 the people of Jericho, three hundred and forty-five; 35 the people of Senaah, three thousand six hundred and thirty.

36 The priests: the sons of [f]Jedaiah, of the house of Jeshua, nine hundred and seventy-three; 37 the sons of [g]Immer, one thousand and fifty-two; 38 the sons of [h]Pashhur, one thousand two hundred and forty-seven; 39 the sons of [i]Harim, one thousand and seventeen.

■ 1:11 The exiles returned to Jerusalem with the articles for the temple according to the decree of Cyrus. The Lord kept His promise that after chastening His people for breaking the covenant He would bring them back to the Promised Land (Deut. 30:1–5).

■ 2:1–70 This list of exiles who returned may not appear theologically important, but the repetition of the same list, with some variations, in Neh. 7 would suggest otherwise. First, the Lord knows His people personally. The covenant relation between the Lord and His people is a bond of intimate friendship. Second, common people are vital to the accomplishing of God's redemptive plan (Introduction: Characteristics and Themes). Not only are the religious and political leaders important in rebuilding the house of God, but so are the common people. In fact, "the rest of the people" contributed more to the rebuilding than did "the heads of the fathers' houses" and the governor (Neh. 7:70–72). Third, the enumeration resembles those found in Numbers and Joshua (Num. 1; 26; Josh. 18; 19). As the Lord formed the covenant community following the Exodus from Egypt, so He re-creates it following the return from Babylon.

■ 2:2 Zerubbabel. A descendant of David and a grandson of King Jehoiachin, he was the leader responsible for laying the temple's foundation (3:8–10).

Jeshua. He was high priest at the time of the restoration (Hag. 1:1; Zech. 3:1).

Nehemiah. Not the same Nehemiah who later oversaw the reconstruction of Jerusalem's walls.

Mordecai. Not the same Mordecai who was Esther's cousin.

■ 2:2–35 The first group listed is the laity. The list is in two parts: part one (vv. 3–20) gives the family names of the returnees, and part two (vv. 21–35) lists their towns. The laity are mentioned ahead of the clergy, in keeping with the emphasis in Ezra and Nehemiah on the significance of the common people in rebuilding the kingdom (2:1–70 note).

■ 2:36–58 The next groups were officially associated with the temple service: priests (vv. 36–39), Levites (v. 40), singers (v. 41), gatekeepers (v. 42), temple servants ("Nethinim," vv. 43–54), and Solomon's servants (vv. 55–57). Solomon's servants probably served in the temple, since they are counted together with the temple servants in v. 58.

Harhur, 52 the sons of [d]Bazluth, the sons of Mehida, the sons of Harsha, 53 the sons of Barkos, the sons of Sisera, the sons of Tamah, 54 the sons of Neziah, and the sons of Hatipha.

55 The sons of [k]Solomon's servants: the sons of Sotai, the sons of [l]Sophereth, the sons of [5]Peruda, 56 the sons of Jaala, the sons of Darkon, the sons of Giddel, 57 the sons of Shephatiah, the sons of Hattil, the sons of Pochereth of Zebaim, and the sons of [6]Ami. 58 All the [m]Nethinim and the children of [n]Solomon's servants were three hundred and ninety-two.

59 And these were the ones who came up from Tel Melah, Tel Harsha, Cherub, [7]Addan, and Immer; but they could not [8]identify their father's house or their [9]genealogy, whether they were of Israel: 60 the sons of Delaiah, the sons of Tobiah, and the sons of Nekoda, six hundred and fifty-two; 61 and of the sons of the priests: the sons of [o]Habaiah, the sons of [1]Koz, and the sons of [p]Barzillai, who took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called by their name. 62 These sought their listing among those who were registered by genealogy, but they were not found; [q]therefore they were excluded from the priesthood as defiled. 63 And the [2]governor said to them that they [r]should not eat of the most holy things till a priest could consult with the [s]Urim and Thummim.

64 [t]The whole assembly together was forty-two thousand three hundred and sixty, 65 besides their male and female servants, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven; and they had two hundred men and women singers. 66 Their horses were seven hundred and thirty-six, their mules two hundred and forty-five, 67 their camels four hundred and thirty-five, and their donkeys six thousand seven hundred and twenty.

68 [u]Some of the heads of the fathers' houses, when they came to the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem, offered freely for the house of God, to erect it in its place: 69 According to their ability, they gave to the [v]treasury for the work sixty-one thousand gold drachmas, five thousand minas of silver, and one hundred priestly garments.

70 [w]So the priests and the Levites, some of the people, the singers, the gatekeepers, and the Nethinim, dwelt in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

Worship Restored at Jerusalem

3 And when the [a]seventh month had come, and the children of Israel were in the cities, the people gathered together as one man to Jerusalem. 2 Then [1]Jeshua the son of [b]Jozadak[2] and his brethren the priests, [c]and Zerubbabel the son of [d]Shealtiel and his brethren, arose and built the altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings on it, as it is [e]written in the Law of Moses the man of God. 3 Though fear had come upon them because of the people of those countries, they set the altar on its [3]bases; and they offered [f]burnt offerings on it to the LORD, both the morning and evening burnt offerings. 4 [g]They also kept the Feast of Tabernacles, [h]as it is written, and [i]offered the daily burnt offerings in the number required by ordinance for each day. 5 Afterwards they offered the [j]regular burnt offering, and those for New Moons and for all the

■ 2:59–63 The final group of returnees is made up of those who could not prove that they were Israelites. Again, the laity is listed first (v. 60), then the priests (v. 61).

■ 2:62 excluded . . . as defiled. A man had to be descended from Aaron in order to be a priest (Ex. 29:44; Num. 3:3).

■ 2:63 the most holy things. Only a priest or a member of his household could eat the portion of the sacrifice allotted to the priests (Lev. 22:10).

the Urim and Thummim. A device for making decisions (Ex. 28:30), needed in this case to determine the ancestry of these priests.

■ 2:64 forty-two thousand three hundred and sixty. This is the same total as in Neh. 7:66. The sum of the figures in the list in Ezra is, however, only 29,818, while the sum of the list in Neh. 7 is 31,089. Certain groups may have been counted without being listed, or an error might have occurred in copying manuscripts.

■ 2:68 offered freely. The first temple was also built with freewill offerings (1 Chr. 29:1–9), not with the tithe. The principle of giving beyond the tithe willingly and according to one's ability is still at work in building the kingdom under the new covenant (2 Cor. 8:11).

■ 2:70 This final verse closes off the section by echoing v. 1. In v. 1 they "came back" and "returned"; in v. 70 they have "dwelt in their cities." The Lord had returned the people of promise to the Land of Promise.

■ 3:1—6:22 The people rebuild the altar, resume the sacrifices (3:1–6), and then rebuild the temple itself (3:7—6:22). Spurred on by the prophets Haggai and Zechariah (5:1–2) and blessed by God (5:5), they succeed in spite of opposition from the peoples around them (ch. 4) and the governor of Trans-Euphrates, "the region beyond the River," (5:3—6:12).

■ 3:1 the seventh month. This was Tishri (September-October), the month of the Feast of Tabernacles (Lev. 23:33–44). The desire to celebrate this feast (3:4) no doubt provided the stimulus needed to rebuild the altar.

■ 3:2 burnt offerings. Burnt offerings were the primary offerings (Lev. 1), but others are also in view (v. 5). The burnt offering was the continuing basis on which a sinful people could live in the presence of a holy God (Ex. 29:42), looking forward as it did to the sacrifice of Christ, as the final sacrifice that brings sinners into the presence of God (Heb. 10:19–20).

as it is written. The written word was a powerful tool used by God to accomplish His redemptive plan.

■ 3:3 Though fear had come upon them. They had the courage to build the altar and lay the foundation of the temple. But their courage would soon be tested (4:4–5), and the work would be stopped (4:24).

■ 3:4–6 Not only was the Feast of Tabernacles celebrated, but the entire sacrificial system was set in motion, because the sacrifices were a part of maintaining the covenant relationship (Heb. 9:22). So important were the sacrifices that they were started before the temple itself was finished.

appointed feasts of the LORD that were consecrated, and those of everyone who willingly offered a freewill offering to the LORD. 6 From the first day of the seventh month they began to offer burnt offerings to the LORD, although the foundation of the temple of the LORD had not been laid. 7 They also gave money to the masons and the carpenters, and [k]food, drink, and oil to the people of Sidon and Tyre to bring cedar logs from Lebanon to the sea, to [l]Joppa, [m]according to the permission which they had from Cyrus king of Persia.

Restoration of the Temple Begins

8 Now in the second month of the second year of their coming to the house of God at Jerusalem, [n]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, Jeshua the son of [4]Jozadak, and the rest of their brethren the priests and the Levites, and all those who had come out of the captivity to Jerusalem, began work [o]and appointed the Levites from twenty years old and above to oversee the work of the house of the LORD. 9 Then Jeshua with his sons and brothers, Kadmiel with his sons, and the sons of [5]Judah, arose as one to oversee those working on the house of God: the sons of Henadad with their sons and their brethren the Levites.

10 When the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the LORD, [p]the[6] priests stood in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with cymbals, to praise the LORD, according to the [q]ordinance[7] of David king of Israel. 11 [r]And they sang responsively, praising and giving thanks to the LORD:

[s]"For He is good,
[t]For His mercy endures forever toward Israel."

Then all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the LORD, because the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid.

12 But many of the priests and Levites and [u]heads of the fathers' houses, old men who had seen the first temple, wept with a loud voice when the foundation of this temple was laid before their eyes. Yet many shouted aloud for joy, 13 so that the people could not discern the noise of the shout of joy from the noise of the weeping of the people, for the people shouted with a loud shout, and the sound was heard afar off.

Resistance to Rebuilding the Temple

4 Now when [a]the [1]adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard that the descendants of the captivity were building the temple of the LORD God of Israel, 2 they came to Zerubbabel and the heads of the fathers' houses, and said to them, "Let us build with you, for we seek your God as you do; and we have sacrificed to Him [b]since the days of Esarhaddon king of Assyria, who brought us here." 3 But Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the rest of the heads of the fathers' houses of Israel said to them, [c]"You may do nothing with us to build a [2]house for our God; but we alone will build to the LORD God of Israel, as [d]King Cyrus the king of Persia has commanded us." 4 Then [e]the people of the land tried to discourage the people of Judah. They troubled them in the second year. 536 B.C.

■ 3:7 Provisions were made immediately to begin rebuilding the temple. The language of v. 7 recalls the materials assembled for Solomon's temple (1 Chr. 22:2–4; 2 Chr. 2:8–16).

■ 3:8 the second month. This is Ziv (or Iyar, April-May), the same time of year that Solomon began building the original temple (2 Chr. 3:2).

to oversee the work of the house of the LORD. This phrasing is virtually identical to the language used about Solomon's temple (1 Chr. 23:4).

■ 3:10 When the builders laid the foundation. The focus of the narrative is the response of the people rather than the mechanics of construction. If the return of the temple articles encouraged the spirits of the people (1:9–11 note), much more did the laying of the foundation confirm their faith in God, who had promised restoration after exile (Deut. 30:1–5). Their expression of praise echoes exactly the dedication of Solomon's temple (2 Chr. 5:13).

■ 3:12 But many . . . wept. The tears of the older members of the community were not tears of joy, but tears of disappointment because of the contrast between this small beginning (cf. Zech. 4:10) and the splendor of Solomon's temple. Similar disappointment would later call for rebuke (Hag. 2:1–5), but for the moment the joy of the Lord was the strength of many.

■ 4:1 the adversaries. Though these people came with apparently good intentions, they are referred to as "adversaries," since they later tried to undermine the work of restoration. There was some political motivation in this conflict, because only returnees had authorization from Cyrus to undertake construction (1:2–4). But ultimately the trouble was religious. The "adversaries" were people from various places who had been transplanted into Samaria, the area north of Judah, after the destruction of the northern kingdom of Israel in 722 B.C. (4:9–10 note). They worshiped many gods and incorporated worship of the Lord into their polytheism (2 Kin. 17:24–41). The animosity between the Jews and the Samaritans who descended from these "adversaries" forms part of the background of the New Testament (cf. John 4:1–42).

■ 4:3 we alone will build. The discrimination was not racial or political, but religious. From the early days of living in the Promised Land (Judg. 3:6) and throughout their history (2 Kin. 17:7–17), alliances with foreigners led the Israelites into idolatry and ultimately to exile from the land (2 Kin. 17:18–23). The failure of the returnees to separate themselves from the indigenous population became a problem before long (Ezra 9; 10). The same principle of religious separation is still operative under the new covenant (2 Cor. 6:14—7:1).

■ 4:4 the people of the land. The "adversaries" of v. 1.

Rebuilding of Jerusalem Opposed

[6] In the reign of Ahasuerus, in the beginning of his reign, they wrote an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

[7] In the days of [g]Artaxerxes also, [3]Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabel, and the rest of their companions wrote to Artaxerxes king of Persia; and the letter was written in [h]Aramaic script, and translated into the Aramaic language. [8] [4]Rehum the commander and Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to King Artaxerxes in this fashion:

[9] [5]From Rehum the commander, Shimshai the scribe, and the rest of their companions—representatives of [i]the Dinaites, the Apharsathchites, the Tarpelites, the people of Persia and Erech and Babylon and [6]Shushan, the Dehavites, the Elamites, [10][j]and the rest of the nations whom the great and noble Osnapper took captive and settled in the cities of Samaria and the remainder beyond [7]the River—[k]and[8] so forth.

[11] (This is a copy of the letter that they sent him)

To King Artaxerxes from your servants, the men of the region beyond the River, [9]and so forth:

[12] Let it be known to the king that the Jews who came up from you have come to us at Jerusalem, and are building the [l]rebellious and evil city, and are finishing its [m]walls and repairing the foundations. [13] Let it now be known to the king that, if this city is built and the walls completed, they will not pay [n]tax, tribute, or custom, and the king's treasury will be diminished. [14] Now because we receive support from the palace, it was not proper for us to see the king's dishonor; therefore we have sent and informed the king, [15] that search may be made in the book of the records of your fathers. And you will find in the book of the records and know that this city is a rebellious city, harmful to kings and provinces, and that they have incited sedition within the city in former times, for which cause this city was destroyed.

[16] We inform the king that if this city is rebuilt and its walls are completed, the result will be that you will have no dominion beyond the River.

[17] The king sent an answer:

To Rehum the commander, to Shimshai the scribe, to the rest of their companions who dwell in Samaria, and to the remainder beyond the River:

■ 4:5 hired counselors. Perhaps these were Persian officials who could be bribed. The obstructive efforts of the adversaries caused a delay in the work from the time of Cyrus (550–530 B.C.) until the second year of Darius (522–486 B.C.).

■ 4:6–23 This material is a separate section, describing opposition to rebuilding the wall after Darius and during the reigns of Xerxes (486–465 B.C.) and Artaxerxes I (465–424 B.C.). The narrative justifies calling the neighboring peoples in v. 1 "adversaries." Second, it shows that opposition was not a brief and passing problem, but a foretaste of prolonged opposition to the people of God in rebuilding God's "house"—the temple, but also the city and the nation.

■ 4:6 Ahasuerus. Ahasuerus (Xerxes) succeeded Darius and was king of Persia from 486 to 465 B.C.

they wrote an accusation. The subject of the verb is not specified, but the context shows that the troublemakers were a later generation of the "adversaries" of v. 1. Nothing is said about the nature of the accusation.

■ 4:7 Artaxerxes. Artaxerxes I, successor to Ahasuerus (Xerxes) and king of Persia from 465 to 424 B.C.

wrote to Artaxerxes. There is no information about the content of this letter, but considering the context it was doubtless an effort to prevent rebuilding the wall.

Aramaic. This was the language of international diplomacy in the ancient Near East.

■ 4:8—6:18 This section is written not in Hebrew, but Aramaic, the language of the original documents. The correspondence expresses the concern of various Gentile officials about the progress of the Jews' work.

■ 4:8 scribe. Scribes were high officials who wrote official correspondence and kept archival records for the provincial government (7:6 note).

■ 4:9 the rest of their companions. The opposition did not come from a few, but was broadly based.

■ 4:10 Osnapper. Probably Ashurbanipal, the last successful king of Assyria (668–627 B.C.), who transplanted various peoples into Samaria. This practice was begun after the fall of Samaria in 722 B.C., probably by Sargon II (2 Kin. 17:24).

beyond the River. The area west of the Euphrates, including Aram, Phoenicia, and Palestine.

■ 4:12 finishing its walls. See note on 4:6–23.

■ 4:14 we receive support from the palace. Lit. "we have salted with the salt of the palace." Probably this is a way of referring to the covenantal obligation of a vassal to his overlord (cf. Lev. 2:13; Num. 18:19; 2 Chr. 13:5).

■ 4:15 book of the records. The various Aramaic documents used in writing this section of Ezra would have been kept in a similar archive.

a rebellious city . . . was destroyed. See 2 Kin. 18:7; 24:1.

■ 4:16 have no dominion. Obviously an exaggeration, these words were intended to sway Artaxerxes.

Peace, [1] and so forth.

18 The letter which you sent to us has been clearly read before me. 19 And [2]I gave the command, and a search has been made, and it was found that this city in former times has revolted against kings, and rebellion and sedition have been fostered in it. 20 There have also been mighty kings over Jerusalem, who have [o]ruled over all the region [p]beyond the River; and tax, tribute, and custom were paid to them. 21 Now [3]give the command to make these men cease, that this city may not be built until the command is given by me.

22 Take heed now that you do not fail to do this. Why should damage increase to the hurt of the kings?

23 Now when the copy of King Artaxerxes' letter was read before Rehum, Shimshai the scribe, and their companions, they went up in haste to Jerusalem against the Jews, and by force of arms made them cease. 24 Thus the work of the house of God which is at Jerusalem ceased, and it was discontinued until the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Restoration of the Temple Resumed

5 Then the prophet [a]Haggai and [b]Zechariah the son of Iddo, prophets, prophesied to the Jews who were in Judah and Jerusalem, in the name of the God of Israel, who was over them. 2 So [c]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and Jeshua the son of [1]Jozadak rose up and began to build the house of God which is in Jerusalem; and [d]the prophets of God were with them, helping them.

3 At the same time [e]Tattenai the governor of the region beyond [2]the River and Shethar-Boznai and their companions came to them and spoke thus to them: [f]"Who has commanded you to build this [3]temple and finish this wall?" 4 [g]Then, accordingly, we told them the names of the men who were constructing this building. 5 But [h]the eye of their God was upon the elders of the Jews, so that they could not make them cease till a report could go to Darius. Then a [i]written answer was returned concerning this matter. 6 This is a copy of the letter that Tattenai sent:

The governor of the region beyond the River, and Shethar-Boznai, [j]and his companions, the Persians who were in the region beyond the River, to Darius the king.

7 (They sent a letter to him, in which was written thus)

To Darius the king:

All peace.

8 Let it be known to the king that we went into the province of Judea, to the [4]temple of the great God, which is being built with [5]heavy stones, and timber is being laid in the walls; and this work goes on diligently and prospers in their hands.

9 Then we asked those elders, and spoke thus to them: [k]"Who commanded you to build this temple and to finish these walls?" 10 We also asked them their names to inform you, that we might write the names of the men who were chief among them.

■ 4:18 has been clearly read. The king was not given a summary of the letter; it was read to him word for word.

■ 4:20 Israel once received tribute from other nations, under David and Solomon. Now, even though they have returned to the Land of Promise, God's people must submit to the rule of the ungodly (9:9 and note).

■ 4:24 After the section dealing with opposition to the rebuilding of the wall (vv. 6–23), the author returns to the topic of vv. 1–5, rebuilding the temple.

■ 5:1, 2 The year Haggai and Zechariah began to prophesy was the same year referred to in 4:24, the second year of Darius (Hag. 1:1; Zech. 1:1). Work on the temple did not resume because of a decree from Darius, but because of the preaching of God's prophets and the obedient response of God's people (Hag. 1:14, 15).

■ 5:1 over them. Both the people (Deut. 28:10) and the prophets (Jer. 15:16) belonged to God.

■ 5:2 helping them. The help took the form of courageous preaching and constant encouragement (as in the books of Haggai and Zechariah).

■ 5:3, 4 As soon as the work on the temple was renewed, the Persian officials of the area renewed their opposition to it.

■ 5:5 This time God chose to intervene, and the officials permitted the work to continue until they should hear from Darius. Here, as throughout Ezra and Nehemiah, God intervened through the actions of people (cf. note on 1:1).

■ 5:8 province of Judea. Judea was a province in the Persian Empire, not an independent political state.

prospers in their hands. It prospered due to the care of God (v. 5), the preaching of the prophets (vv. 1, 2), and the leadership of Zerubbabel and Jeshua (v. 2).

■ 5:9 Who commanded you. The question underscores Judah's lack of independence.

11 And thus they returned us an answer, saying: "We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are rebuilding the [6]temple that was built many years ago, which a great king of Israel built [l]and completed. 12 But [m]because our fathers provoked the God of heaven to wrath, He gave them into the hand of [n]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the Chaldean, who destroyed this temple and [o]carried the people away to Babylon. 13 However, in the first year of [p]Cyrus king of Babylon, King Cyrus issued a decree to build this [7]house of God. 14 Also, [q]the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple that was in Jerusalem and carried into the temple of Babylon—those King Cyrus took from the temple of Babylon, and they were given to [r]one named Sheshbazzar, whom he had made governor. 15 And he said to him, 'Take these articles; go, carry them to the temple site that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be rebuilt on its former site.' 16 Then the same Sheshbazzar came and [s]laid the foundation of the house of God which is in Jerusalem; but from that time even until now it has been under construction, and [t]it is not finished."

17 Now therefore, if it seems good to the king, [u]let a search be made in the king's treasure house, which is there in Babylon, whether it is so that a decree was issued by King Cyrus to build this house of God at Jerusalem, and let the king send us his pleasure concerning this matter.

The Decree of Darius

6 Then King Darius issued a decree, [a]and a search was made in the [1]archives, where the treasures were stored in Babylon. 2 And at [2]Achmetha, in the palace that is in the province of [b]Media, a scroll was found, and in it a record was written thus:

3 In the first year of King Cyrus, King Cyrus issued a [c]decree concerning the house of God at Jerusalem: "Let the house be rebuilt, the place where they offered sacrifices; and let the foundations of it be firmly laid, its height sixty cubits and its width sixty cubits, 4 [d]with three rows of heavy stones and one row of new timber. Let the [e]expenses be paid from the king's treasury. 5 Also let [f]the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple which is in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, be restored and taken back to the temple which is in Jerusalem, each to its place; and deposit them in the house of God"—

6 [g]Now therefore, Tattenai, governor of the region beyond the River, and Shethar-Boznai, and your companions the Persians who are beyond the River, keep yourselves far from there. 7 Let the work of this house of God alone; let the governor of the Jews and the elders of the Jews build this house of God on its site.

8 Moreover I issue a decree as to what you shall do for the elders of these Jews, for the building of this [3]house of God: Let the cost be paid at the king's expense from taxes on

■ 5:11–16 The reply of the Jewish leaders to the questions of the Persian officials (vv. 3–4) is included in the letter to Darius.

■ 5:11 God of heaven and earth. This was a fuller form of the more frequent title "God of heaven" (1:2 note).

a great king of Israel. Solomon built the original temple in the years 966–959 B.C. (1 Kin. 6:1, 38).

■ 5:12 gave them into the hand. God gave Israel into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar to punish them for breaking the covenant. Those who trust in Christ are safe from God's righteous anger (1 John 4:17–18), because God the Father gave Christ into the hands of wicked men, and Christ endured God's wrath on behalf of the elect (Mark 9:31; Luke 9:44; 24:7; Rom. 8:32).

Chaldean. The Chaldeans lived in southern Mesopotamia and established the Neo-Babylonian Empire by overthrowing the Assyrians in 612 B.C. The new empire continued until overthrown by the Persians in 539.

■ 5:13 issued a decree. Here is the answer, on the human level, to the question posed in 5:3.

■ 5:14 Sheshbazzar. See note on 1:8.

■ 5:16 from that time . . . under construction. The work was not done continuously, but with a break of about seventeen years (4:24 note).

■ 5:17 let a search be made. This is the second reference to an archival search, underscoring the theme of the power of written documents (Introduction: Characteristics and Themes). The first search (4:15) had stopped the building of the wall. The second search would result in the completion of the temple.

■ 6:1, 2 Darius responded to Tattenai's request. The search began in the treasury at Babylon, but the decree was found in Achmetha (Ecbatana, see text note), a city almost three hundred miles northeast of Babylon, and probably the city from which Cyrus issued the decree.

■ 6:3–5 This copy of the decree differs somewhat from that in 1:2–4; for example, God's name is not used ("LORD"). The copy in 1:2–4 is what the heralds proclaimed to the Jews, while this copy is the minutes kept as an official record.

■ 6:3 its height sixty cubits and its width sixty cubits. These dimensions are larger than those of Solomon's temple (1 Kin. 6:2). They may give the maximum size allowed rather than the size planned.

■ 6:6–12 Having found Cyrus's decree, Darius issued a second decree reinforcing it. In God's providence the opposition of Tattenai and his associates turned out for the good of the project (cf. Gen. 50:20).

the region beyond the River; this is to be given immediately to these men, so that they are not hindered. 9 And whatever they need—young bulls, rams, and lambs for the burnt offerings of the God of heaven, wheat, salt, wine, and oil, according to the request of the priests who are in Jerusalem—let it be given them day by day without fail, 10 [h]that they may offer sacrifices of sweet aroma to the God of heaven, and pray for the life of the king and his sons.

11 Also I issue a decree that whoever alters this edict, let a timber be pulled from his house and erected, and let him be hanged on it; [i]and let his house be made a refuse heap because of this. 12 And may the God who causes His [j]name to dwell there destroy any king or people who put their hand to alter it, or to destroy this [4]house of God which is in Jerusalem. I Darius issue a decree; let it be done diligently.

The Temple Completed and Dedicated

13 Then Tattenai, governor of the region beyond the River, Shethar-Boznai, and their companions diligently did according to what King Darius had sent. 14 [k]So the elders of the Jews built, and they prospered through the prophesying of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the son of Iddo. And they built and finished it, according to the commandment of the God of Israel, and according to the [5]command of [l]Cyrus, [m]Darius, and [n]Artaxerxes king of Persia: 15 Now the temple was finished on the third day of the month of Adar, which was in the sixth year of the reign of King Darius. 16 Then the children of Israel, the priests and the Levites and the rest of the descendants of the captivity, celebrated [o]the dedication of this [6]house of God with joy. 17 And they [p]offered sacrifices at the dedication of this house of God, one hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs, and as a sin offering for all Israel twelve male goats, according to the number of the tribes of Israel. 18 They assigned the priests to their [q]divisions and the Levites to their [r]divisions, over the service of God in Jerusalem, [s]as it is written in the Book of Moses.

The Passover Celebrated

19 [7]And the descendants of the captivity kept the Passover [t]on the fourteenth day of the first month. 20 For the priests and the Levites had [u]purified themselves; all of them were ritually clean. And they [v]slaughtered the Passover lambs for all the descendants of the captivity, for their brethren the priests, and for themselves. 21 Then the children of Israel who had returned from the captivity ate together with all who had separated themselves from the [w]filth[8] of the nations of the land in order to seek the LORD God of Israel. 22 And they kept the [x]Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days with joy; for the LORD made them joyful, and [y]turned the heart [z]of the king of Assyria toward them, to strengthen their hands in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

The Arrival of Ezra

7 Now after these things, in the reign of [a]Artaxerxes king of Persia, Ezra the [b]son of Seraiah, [c]the son of Azariah, the son of [d]Hilkiah, 2 the son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of

■ 6:10 pray for the life of the king. See note on 1:3.

■ 6:11 whoever alters this edict. It was customary to pronounce curses on anyone who changed an official document (cf. Rev. 22:18–19). As a result of the opposition, God's people were granted irrevocable support to rebuild the temple.

■ 6:13 diligently did according to what King Darius had sent. Darius had ordered that his decree be "done diligently" (6:12), and it was.

■ 6:14 the prophesying of Haggai . . . and Zechariah. The preaching of the prophets moved the people to start the work again (5:1–2) and to complete it.

God . . . Cyrus. The same word is used for the command of God and the decrees of the Persian kings. God's sovereign decree does not negate human responsibility, but rather establishes it. The reference to Artaxerxes may seem to be out of place, since the temple proper was completed before he became king. However, the temple is not explicitly mentioned in the Aramaic text of v. 14, so the reference could be a preview to the finishing of the rebuilding of the entire "house of God," including the community and the wall that were rebuilt under the authority of Artaxerxes (7:11–26; Neh. 2:1, 8).

■ 6:15 the temple was finished. The date was March 12, 515 B.C., four years after the work was renewed (Hag. 1:15), twenty years after the work was begun (3:8), and almost exactly seventy years after the Solomonic temple was destroyed in 586.

■ 6:16 the dedication of this house of God. With the dedication of the temple a major milestone has been reached. The parenthetical section of 4:6–23 has already given a preview of trouble to come. The dedication of the wall (Neh. 12:27) and the final reforms (Neh. 13) will complete the restoration of the Jewish community.

■ 6:17 they offered. The number of offerings is small in comparison to those of Solomon (1 Kin. 8:62, 63). Reference to a sin offering shows an awareness of sin and faith in God who keeps His covenant of love (Deut. 7:9).

■ 6:18 written in the Book of Moses. The written text prescribed the temple duties and ensured that they would be carried out. The first Aramaic section of Ezra ends with this verse.

■ 7:1 Now after these things. About sixty years passed between the

The king granted him all his request, [f]according to the hand of the LORD his God upon him. 7 [g]Some of the children of Israel, the priests, [h]the Levites, the singers, the gatekeepers, and [i]the Nethinim came up to Jerusalem in the seventh year of King Artaxerxes. 8 And Ezra came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, which was in the seventh year of the king. 9 On the first day of the first month he began his journey from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month he came to Jerusalem, [j]according to the good hand of his God upon him. 10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to [k]seek[l] the Law of the LORD, and to do it, and to [l]teach statutes and ordinances in Israel.

The Letter of Artaxerxes to Ezra

11 This is a copy of the letter that King Artaxerxes gave Ezra the priest, the scribe, expert in the words of the commandments of the LORD, and of His statutes to Israel:

12 [2]Artaxerxes, [m]king of kings,

To Ezra the priest, a scribe of the Law of the God of heaven:

Perfect peace, [n]and[3] so forth.

13 I issue a decree that all those of the people of Israel and the priests and Levites in my realm, who volunteer to go up to Jerusalem, may go with you. 14 And whereas you are being sent [4]by the king and his [o]seven counselors to inquire concerning Judah and Jerusalem, with regard to the Law of your God which is in your hand; 15 and whereas you are to carry the silver and gold which the king and his counselors have freely offered to the God of Israel, [p]whose dwelling is in Jerusalem; 16 [q]and whereas all the silver and gold that you may find in all the province of Babylon, along with the freewill offering of the people and the priests, are to be [r]freely offered for the [5]house of their God in Jerusalem— 17 now therefore, be careful to buy with this money bulls, rams, and events at the end of ch. 6 and those at the beginning of ch. 7. The only information we have on this period from Ezra and Nehemiah concerns opposition in the days of Ahasuerus (4:6 note)—the events in the Book of Esther occurred during this period (Esth. 1:1).

Artaxerxes. Artaxerxes I, king of Persia from 465–424 B.C.

Ezra. The lengthy introduction of Ezra (vv. 1–10) signals his importance for what follows. The first information given about Ezra is his ancestry. The genealogy is full but not complete; the phrase "son of" is often used to mean "descendant." Ezra's line goes back to Aaron, establishing his priestly authority for his subsequent actions.

■ 7:6 came up from Babylon. Not all the pious exiles had returned with Sheshbazzar in 538 B.C. Ezra's family had not. Ezra had probably not been born at the time of the first return. He grew up in Babylon, where most of the exiles lived.

a skilled scribe. In the Old Testament, scribes were often government officials who composed official documents (4:8 note; 2 Sam. 8:17; 1 Kin. 4:3), administered temple treasuries (2 Kin. 12:10, 11; 22:3, 4, 9; Neh. 13:13), served as court emissaries (2 Kin. 18:18–37), and provided literary functions like taking dictation (Jer. 36:32). Ezra had governmental authority (v. 25), but his most important qualification was as a teacher of God's law (vv. 10, 11, 14; Neh. 8:1–9).

which the LORD . . . had given. The "Law of Moses" is divine in origin (2 Tim. 3:16). The reference here may be to the first five books of the Bible.

The king granted . . . his request. The actions of responsible human beings are traced back to the sovereign action of God: Ezra asked and Artaxerxes complied because God favored Ezra.

■ 7:7 Some . . . came up. Ezra was not alone, but leading a second group of returning exiles.

the seventh year. 458 B.C.

■ 7:9 he came to Jerusalem. The trip took place in the spring, when there would have been ample water along the way. It took about four months.

the good hand of his God. Success is attributed to God's providence.

■ 7:10 For. Ezra's goal in going to Jerusalem is now given. As a diligent hearer and doer of the Word (James 1:22), Ezra's goal was to teach others to do the same.

■ 7:11–26 A copy of a letter from King Artaxerxes records his commission of Ezra to return to Jerusalem to inquire about the spiritual state of the people (v. 14), to provide supplies for the temple (vv. 15–24), and to arrange for the administration of justice (vv. 25, 26).

■ 7:11 letter. The letter (vv. 12–26), written in Aramaic (4:7 note), gives Ezra the authority to carry out the reforms recorded in the following chapters. The letter may have been written by Ezra and then signed by Artaxerxes, or Artaxerxes may have had Jewish advisers help compose the letter, as some of the details seem to indicate.

■ 7:12 king of kings. A title used by Persian monarchs to indicate their supremacy over all subject kings. That God is the true King of kings is implicit in the Book of Ezra (1:1 note) and explicit elsewhere in Scripture (Rev. 17:14; 19:16).

scribe. See note on v. 6.

■ 7:13 This permission to return extends to all who are willing, as did the original decree of Cyrus in 1:3.

■ 7:14 to inquire. Whereas Cyrus commissioned the first returnees "to build" a temple, Artaxerxes commissioned Ezra to inquire about the spiritual condition of the people. His efforts would help rebuild the community of God's people, God's "house" (Num. 12:7).

■ 7:15–17 Artaxerxes' knowledge of the details of Israelite worship indicates that Ezra or Jewish advisers wrote the letter themselves or assisted in writing it (1:2–4 note).

lambs, with their [s]grain offerings and their drink offerings, and [t]offer them on the altar of the house of your God in Jerusalem.

18 And whatever seems good to you and your brethren to do with the rest of the silver and the gold, do it according to the will of your God. 19 Also the articles that are given to you for the service of the house of your God, deliver in full before the God of Jerusalem. 20 And whatever more may be needed for the house of your God, which you may have occasion to provide, pay for it from the king's treasury.

21 And I, even I, Artaxerxes the king, issue a decree to all the treasurers who are in the region beyond the River, that whatever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the Law of the God of heaven, may require of you, let it be done diligently, 22 up to one hundred talents of silver, one hundred kors of wheat, one hundred baths of wine, one hundred baths of oil, and salt without prescribed limit. 23 Whatever [6]is commanded by the God of heaven, let it diligently be done for the [7]house of the God of heaven. For why should there be wrath against the realm of the king and his sons?

24 Also we inform you that it shall not be lawful to impose tax, tribute, or custom on any of the priests, Levites, singers, gatekeepers, Nethinim, or servants of this house of God. 25 And you, Ezra, according to your God-given wisdom, [u]set magistrates and judges who may judge all the people who are in the region beyond the River, all such as know the laws of your God; and [v]teach those who do not know them. 26 Whoever will not observe the law of your God and the law of the king, let judgment be executed speedily on him, whether it be death, or [8]banishment, or confiscation of goods, or imprisonment.

27 [w]Blessed[9] be the LORD God of our fathers, [x]who has put such a thing as this in the king's heart, to beautify the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem, 28 and [y]has extended mercy to me before the king and his counselors, and before all the king's mighty princes.

So I was encouraged, as [z]the hand of the LORD my God was upon me; and I gathered leading men of Israel to go up with me.

Heads of Families Who Returned with Ezra

8 These are the heads of their fathers' houses, and this is the genealogy of those who went up with me from Babylon, in the reign of King Artaxerxes: 2 of the sons of Phinehas, Gershom; of the sons of Ithamar, Daniel; of the sons of David, [a]Hattush; 3 of the sons of Shecaniah, of the sons of [b]Parosh, Zechariah; and registered with him were one hundred and fifty males; 4 of the sons of [c]Pahath-Moab, Eliehoenai the son of Zerahiah, and with him two hundred males; 5 of [1]the sons of Shechaniah, Ben-Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males; 6 of the sons of Adin, Ebed the son of Jonathan, and with him fifty males; 7 of the sons of Elam, Jeshaiah the son of Athaliah, and with him seventy males; 8 of the sons of Shephatiah, Zebadiah the son of Michael, and with him eighty males; 9 of the sons of Joab, Obadiah the son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eighteen males; 10 of [2]the sons of Shelomith, Ben-Josiphiah, and with him one hundred and sixty males; 11 of the sons of [d]Bebai, Zechariah the son of Bebai, and with him twenty-eight males; 12 of the sons of Azgad, Johanan [3]the son of Hakkatan, and with him one hundred and ten males; 13 of the last sons of Adonikam, whose names are these—Eliphelet, Jeiel, and

■ 7:18 the will of your God. Conformity to God's will is a major theme in the rest of the book.

■ 7:20 whatever more may be needed. The generosity of Artaxerxes was like that of Darius (6:9).

■ 7:23 why should there be wrath. See note on 1:3.

■ 7:25 Ezra's role was twofold: exercising governmental authority and teaching the law of God (7:6 note).

all the people . . . beyond the River. This means the Jews who had returned to Judah and Jerusalem.

■ 7:26 the law of your God and the law of the king. The two are not identical. The distinction between religious and civil law was more important for the Jews in exile under a foreign civil power, than during the monarchy, when the state was of the same religion as the people. The second Aramaic section of Ezra ends with this verse.

let judgment be executed. Ezra himself is not given the authority to punish in this verse; the "leaders and elders" exercise it in 10:8.

■ 7:27 put such a thing . . . in the king's heart. The actions of Artaxerxes are traced to the sovereign action of God.

■ 7:28 extended mercy. "Mercy" represents the Hebrew word hesed, which refers to God's covenant loyalty. The same word occurs in 9:9. Artaxerxes' favor toward Ezra is owing to God's covenant loyalty to His people.

the hand of the LORD. Ezra's awareness of God's providential control was a source of encouragement for the tasks that lay ahead.

■ 8:1–14 Not all the exiles returned in response to the decree of Cyrus in 538 B.C. A second but significantly smaller group returned with Ezra about eighty years after the first return.

Shemaiah—and with them sixty males; [14] also of the sons of Bigvai, Uthai and [d]Zabbud, and with them seventy males.

Servants for the Temple

[15] Now I gathered them by the river that flows to Ahava, and we camped there three days. And I looked among the people and the priests, and found none of the [e]sons of Levi there. [16] Then I sent for Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah, and [f]Meshullam, leaders; also for Joiarib and Elnathan, men of understanding. [17] And I gave them a command for Iddo the chief man at the place Casiphia, and [5]I told them what they should say [6]to Iddo and his brethren the Nethinim at the place Casiphia—that they should bring us servants for the house of our God. [18] Then, by the good hand of our God upon us, they [g]brought us a man of understanding, of the sons of Mahli the son of Levi, the son of Israel, namely Sherebiah, with his sons and brothers, eighteen men; [19] and [h]Hashabiah, and with him Jeshaiah of the sons of Merari, his brothers and their sons, twenty men; [20] [i]also of the Nethinim, whom David and the leaders had appointed for the service of the Levites, two hundred and twenty Nethinim. All of them were designated by name.

Fasting and Prayer for Protection

[21] Then I [j]proclaimed a fast there at the river of Ahava, that we might [k]humble ourselves before our God, to seek from Him the [l]right way for us and our little ones and all our possessions. [22] For [m]I was ashamed to request of the king an escort of soldiers and horsemen to help us against the enemy on the road, because we had spoken to the king, saying, [n]"The hand of our God is upon all those for [o]good who seek Him, but His power and His wrath are [p]against all those who [q]forsake Him." [23] So we fasted and entreated our God for this, and He [r]answered our prayer.

Gifts for the Temple

[24] And I separated twelve of the leaders of the priests—Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them— [25] and weighed out to them [s]the silver, the gold, and the articles, the offering for the house of our God which the king and his counselors and his princes, and all Israel who were present, had offered. [26] I weighed into their hand six hundred and fifty talents of silver, silver articles weighing one hundred talents, one hundred talents of gold, [27] twenty gold basins worth a thousand drachmas, and two vessels of fine polished bronze, precious as gold. [28] And I said to them, "You are [t]holy[7] to the LORD; the articles are [u]holy also; and the silver and the gold are a freewill offering to the LORD God of your fathers. [29] Watch and keep them until you weigh them before the leaders of the priests and the Levites and [v]heads of the fathers' houses of Israel in Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of the LORD." [30] So the priests and the Levites received the silver and the gold and the articles by weight, to bring them to Jerusalem to the house of our God.

■ 8:15 none of the sons of Levi. Ezra wanted more Levites for service in the temple (v. 17), and perhaps to help with the sacrifices mentioned in v. 35. He may also have wanted Levites to be part of the caravan to the Promised Land, as they had been at the time of the Exodus from Egypt and the first return from Babylon (1:2 note).

■ 8:16 Then I sent for. Ezra selected a group of influential men to persuade some Levites to return with him.

■ 8:17 the chief man at the place Casiphia. The location is not certain, but it could be Ctesiphon on the Tigris River north of Babylon. Since in earlier (Deut. 12:5; Jer. 7:2–3) and later times, "the place" refers to a holy place, it seems that Casiphia was the site of a sanctuary. There was a Jewish sanctuary at Elephantine, Egypt, at this same time. Levites would have been concentrated at such a sanctuary, explaining why Ezra sent the delegation to Casiphia. Iddo would have been the leader at the sanctuary.

■ 8:18–20 the good hand of our God. Ezra did not weary of ascribing his success to God's providential control (7:6 note). Thirty-eight Levites were persuaded to return along with three key levitical leaders and 220 temple servants ("Nethinim"). Just as the Lord had stirred the spirits of Cyrus (1:1), the first returnees (1:5), and Artaxerxes (7:27), so His good hand moved these Levites to accept Ezra's call.

■ 8:21 a fast. Fasting is an aspect of "humbling ourselves" for the purpose of requesting something from God (2 Chr. 20:3).

right way. Safety from bandits, among other dangers, is in view (v. 31).

■ 8:22 I was ashamed. Ezra had testified to God's providential control, not only before the saints but also before Artaxerxes. It would have seemed inconsistent with this testimony to ask for a military escort in addition. See note on Neh. 2:7–9 for a contrast between Ezra and Nehemiah on this point.

■ 8:23 He answered our prayer. Not then and there with words, but throughout the journey with actions (vv. 31, 32).

■ 8:24 twelve. Twelve priests and twelve Levites, perhaps as representatives of all Israel (cf. v. 35).

■ 8:25 the king . . . had offered. The total contribution listed in v. 26 is enormous, such that critics have doubted the authenticity of the list. However, the Persian kings were known for their great wealth and generosity toward the religions of subject peoples. There were also wealthy Jewish families in Babylon by this time.

■ 8:28 holy to the LORD. Holiness is an attribute of God (Lev. 19:2) and, by extension, of anyone or anything belonging to Him, especially priests (Lev. 21:6), Levites (Num. 3:11–13, where "sanctified" means dedicated to God), and temple articles (Ex. 30:22–29). Ezra's strict command arises from the spiritual threat that contact with the profane represented for the holy.

The Return to Jerusalem

31 Then we departed from the river of Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month, to go to Jerusalem. And [w]the hand of our God was upon us, and He delivered us from the hand of the enemy and from ambush along the road. 32 So we [x]came to Jerusalem, and stayed there three days.

33 Now on the fourth day the silver and the gold and the articles were [y]weighed in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the son of Uriah the priest, and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinehas; with them were the Levites, [z]Jozabad the son of Jeshua and Noadiah the son of Binnui, 34 with the number and weight of everything. All the weight was written down at that time.

35 The children of those who had been [a]carried away captive, who had come from the captivity, [b]offered burnt offerings to the God of Israel: twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, and twelve male goats as a sin offering. All this was a burnt offering to the LORD.

36 And they delivered the king's [c]orders to the king's satraps and the governors in the region beyond [d]the River. So they gave support to the people and the [e]house of God.

Intermarriage with Pagans

9 When these things were done, the leaders came to me, saying, "The people of Israel and the priests and the Levites have not [a]separated themselves from the peoples of the lands, [b]with respect to the abominations of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites. 2 For they have [c]taken some of their daughters as wives for themselves and their sons, so that the [d]holy seed is [e]mixed with the peoples of those lands. Indeed, the hand of the leaders and rulers has been foremost in this [f]trespass." 3 So when I heard this thing, [f]I tore my garment and my robe, and plucked out some of the

He delivered us. Again Ezra attributes his success to God's providential control. The fasting and prayer for a safe journey was answered with the arrival of people and possessions in Jerusalem (vv. 21, 32).

■ 8:32 stayed there three days. Compare the similar rest of Nehemiah in Neh. 2:11 (cf. Josh. 3:2).

■ 8:35 offered burnt offerings. Just as the provisions had been made (7:17), so the sacrifices were offered. This is a picture of complete success.

the peoples of the lands. Of those listed, only the Ammonites, Moabites, and Egyptians were present in the days of Ezra. The others were in the land during the Conquest under Joshua, and the mention of them could have brought to mind the original prohibitions against intermarriage (Ex. 34:10–16; Deut. 7:1–4).

■ 9:2 the holy seed is mixed. The problem was not intermarriage of different ethnic groups, but the confusion of those set apart as holy by covenant with the Lord with those who were outside the covenant and therefore unclean (8:28, 29 note; 9:11–12 note).

the leaders. The word for "leaders" here is the same as in v. 1. Not all the leaders led people to sin; some led the way to reform.

■ 9:3 I tore my garment and my robe. This action was a typical way of expressing grief (2 Sam. 13:19).

plucked out some of the hair of my head and beard. This action is unusual. Some years later, Nehemiah would encounter the same sin, but rather than pulling out his own hair, he would pull out the hair of the offenders (Neh. 13:25).

The Times of Ezra, Nehemiah, and Esther (8:36) hair of my head and beard, and sat down [g]astonished. 4 Then everyone who [h]trembled at the words of the God of Israel assembled to me, because of the transgression of those who had been carried away captive, and I sat astonished until the [i]evening sacrifice.

5 At the evening sacrifice I arose from my fasting; and having torn my garment and my robe, I fell on my knees and [j]spread out my hands to the LORD my God. 6 And I said: "O my God, I am too [k]ashamed and humiliated to lift up my face to You, my God; for [l]our iniquities have risen higher than our heads, and our guilt has [m]grown up to the heavens. 7 Since the days of our fathers to this day [n]we have been very guilty, and for our iniquities [o]we, our kings, and our priests have been delivered into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the [p]sword, to captivity, to plunder, and to [q]humiliation,[2] as it is this day. 8 And now for a little while grace has been shown from the LORD our God, to leave us a remnant to escape, and to give us a peg in His holy place, that our God may [r]enlighten our eyes and give us a measure of revival in our bondage. 9 [s]For we were slaves. [t]Yet our God did not forsake us in our bondage; but [u]He extended mercy to us in the sight of the kings of Persia, to revive us, to repair the house of our God, to rebuild its ruins, and to give us [v]a wall in Judah and Jerusalem. 10 And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? For we have forsaken Your commandments, 11 which You commanded by Your servants the prophets, saying, 'The land which you are entering to possess is an unclean land, with the [w]uncleanness of the peoples of the lands, with their abominations which have filled it from one end to another with their impurity. 12 Now therefore, [x]do not give your daughters as wives for their sons, nor take their daughters to your sons; and [y]never seek their peace or prosperity, that you may be strong and eat the good of the land, and [z]leave it as an inheritance to your children forever.' 13 And after all that has come upon us for our evil deeds and for our great guilt, since You our God [a]have punished us less than our iniquities deserve, and have given us such deliverance as this, 14 should we [b]again break Your commandments, and [c]join in marriage with the people committing these abominations? Would You not be [d]angry with us until You had [3]consumed us, so that there would be no remnant or survivor? 15 O LORD God of Israel, [e]You are righteous, for we are left as a remnant, as it is this day. the evening sacrifice. Mid-afternoon, a time of prayer as well as sacrifice (Ps. 141:2).

■ 9:5 fell on my knees and spread out my hands. See 1 Kin. 8:54. Kneeling expresses humility before the majestic Lord (Ps. 95:6), and spreading the hands often accompanies petitions (Ps. 28:2).

■ 9:6 ashamed and humiliated. Previously, Ezra had been ashamed to ask Artaxerxes for protection on the return trip (8:22). Now his shame is of a different kind, a shame joined with the guilt that results from sin.

our iniquities . . . our guilt. Ezra is acutely aware of the people's sin and guilt before God. Note also the sudden shift from "my" to "our." Though Ezra was not guilty of marrying into paganism, he identified himself with the people in their sin, as did the Suffering Servant of Isaiah (Is. 53:12; 2 Cor. 5:21).

■ 9:7 Since the days of our fathers. There was a sense of corporate solidarity and mutual responsibility that spanned the generations.

■ 9:8 a little while. The status of the returnees as the recipients of God's favor was in jeopardy.

grace has been shown from the LORD . . . a remnant. Justice demanded the absolute end of the people of God, but grace preserved a remnant. Through this remnant the Messiah would come and redemption would be accomplished.

a peg. A "peg" is a stake that holds a tent in position (Judg. 4:21) or a nail that holds up objects that are hung on it (Is. 22:23–25). The Lord had given Israel a place in His temple, like the peg of a tent, and had made Ezra someone who could be trusted with burdens.

enlighten our eyes. An idiom for increased vigor (Ps. 13:3).

■ 9:9 we were slaves. Though restored to their land, the people of God were not politically independent, as they had been during the monarchy (4:19–23 note).

God did not forsake us. God's promise not to forsake the nation was, in its outer, typological aspect, conditional (10:5 note). If Israel forsook God and the covenant by disregarding the law, she would forfeit the blessings and experience the curses (Deut. 28:20; 29:24–25; 31:16–17). But even so God would never finally desert Israel, through whom Christ would come. See Lev. 26:44, 45; Ps. 89:30–37; Is. 54:7; Rom. 11.

the kings of Persia. Specifically, Cyrus (550–530 B.C.), who issued the decree to return, Darius (522–486 B.C.), who confirmed the decree, and Artaxerxes (465–424 B.C.), who commissioned Ezra to teach the people.

a wall in Judah and Jerusalem. This phrase does not refer to the wall built later by Nehemiah, but is a figure for the protection afforded the returnees (note the other figurative language in v. 8, and that the wall of Nehemiah was not built around all of Judah).

■ 9:10 forsaken Your commandments. Forsaking the commandments meant that covenant curses could fall upon the people at any time (v. 9 note on "forsake us").

■ 9:11 You commanded . . . saying. Moses was the prophet who gave the command initially (Deut. 7:1–3). The words are not a quotation of a single text, but a summary of the theology of separation taken from numerous texts, such as Lev. 18:25; Deut. 4:5; 7:3; 18:9; 27:3; 2 Kin. 21:16. The separation was not ethnic or racial but religious. Intermarriage with people outside the covenant introduced a relentless temptation to corrupt or abandon worship of the true and living God (cf. Deut. 7:3, 4; Judg. 14:1–4; 1 Kin. 11:1–4; 2 Cor. 6:14).

■ 9:13 less than our iniquities deserve . . . deliverance. The restoration was on the basis of grace and the promise of the Abrahamic covenant (Deut. 4:25–31). So also was the initial entrance into the land (Deut. 9:5).

■ 9:14 no remnant. Ezra fears that the current covenant breach might result in ultimate judgment. Though judgment would later come upon the nation (Luke 20:9–19), even then there would be a remnant according to grace (Rom. 11:1–5).

■ 9:15 Ezra's conclusion is that even now the people live only because of God's grace.

Confession of Improper Marriages

10 Now [a]while Ezra was praying, and while he was confessing, weeping, and bowing down [b]before the house of God, a very large assembly of men, women, and children gathered to him from Israel; for the people wept very [c]bitterly. 2 And Shechaniah the son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, spoke up and said to Ezra, "We have [d]trespassed[1] against our God, and have taken pagan wives from the peoples of the land; yet now there is hope in Israel in spite of this. 3 Now therefore, let us make [e]a covenant with our God to put away all these wives and those who have been born to them, according to the advice of my master and of those who [f]tremble at [g]the commandment of our God; and let it be done according to the [h]law. 4 Arise, for this matter is your responsibility. We also are with you. [i]Be of good courage, and do it."

5 Then Ezra arose, and made the leaders of the priests, the Levites, and all Israel [j]swear an oath that they would do according to this word. So they swore an oath. 6 Then Ezra rose up from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Jehohanan the son of Eliashib; and when he came there, he [k]ate no bread and drank no water, for he mourned because of the guilt of those from the captivity.

7 And they issued a proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem to all the descendants of the captivity, that they must gather at Jerusalem, 8 and that whoever would not come within three days, according to the instructions of the leaders and elders, all his property would be confiscated, and he himself would be separated from the assembly of those from the captivity.

9 So all the men of Judah and Benjamin gathered at Jerusalem within three days. It was the ninth month, on the twentieth of the month; and [l]all the people sat in the open square of the house of God, trembling because of this matter and because of heavy rain. 10 Then Ezra the priest stood up and said to them, "You have [2]transgressed and [3]have taken pagan wives, adding to the guilt of Israel. 11 Now therefore, [m]make confession to the LORD God of your fathers, and do His will; [n]separate yourselves from the peoples of the land, and from the pagan wives."

12 Then all the assembly answered and said with a loud voice, "Yes! As you have said, so we must do. 13 But there are many people; it is the season for heavy rain, and we are not able to stand outside. Nor is this the work of one or two days, for there are many of us who have transgressed in this matter. 14 Please, let the leaders of our entire assembly stand; and let all those in our cities who have taken pagan wives come at appointed times, together with the elders and judges of their cities, until [o]the fierce wrath of our God is turned away from us in this matter." 15 Only Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahaziah the son of Tikvah opposed this, and [p]Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite gave them support.

■ 10:1 Ezra . . . weeping. Other leaders had set the pace for sin (9:2). Now Ezra set the pace for repentance, not by exhorting the people to mourn, but by mourning himself.

■ 10:2 Ezra's confession in 9:13, 14 became the confession of the people through one of their leaders, Shechaniah.

there is hope. Shechaniah encouraged Ezra that all was not lost.

■ 10:3 make a covenant. This was not an entirely new covenant, but the renewal of the Mosaic covenant in terms of an oath (v. 5) to keep the stipulation regarding intermarriage (Deut. 7:3; cf. Jer. 34:8–22 for a similar covenant renewal).

to put away. This is not the usual Hebrew phrase for divorce, and is used only here for putting away a wife. The Hebrew expression in v. 2 ("have taken . . . wives") is not the usual phrase for marriage, and is used in the same way only in Neh. 13, in an analogous situation. The author's choice of language seems to indicate that he did not regard the unions as legitimate marriages, nor the sending away as actual divorce.

according to the law. The law does not provide explicitly for this exact situation. The phrase may refer to sending a woman away with her children, some provisions (Gen. 21:14), and certain legal rights (Deut. 21:10–14).

■ 10:5 Ezra arose. Ezra responded to the encouragement of Shechaniah and put his advice into practice.

trembling because of this matter. Ezra's distress had spread throughout the populace (v. 1 note).

■ 10:12 all the assembly answered. Not only had all the men assembled and expressed their distress (v. 9), but they also agreed with Ezra as to their sin and guilt.

■ 10:13 But. This was not an attempt to escape the responsibility to repent, but an expression of genuine concern that the repentance be carried out well.

■ 10:15 opposed this. They probably opposed the delay, though they may have opposed the sending away of the foreign women.

16 Then the descendants of the captivity did so. And Ezra the priest, with certain [q]heads of the fathers' households, were set apart by the fathers' households, each of them by name; and they sat down on the first day of the tenth month to examine the matter. 17 By the first day of the first month they finished questioning all the men who had taken pagan wives.

Pagan Wives Put Away

18 And among the sons of the priests who had taken pagan wives the following were found of the sons of [r]Jeshua the son of [t]Jozadak, and his brothers: Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib, and Gedaliah. 19 And they [s]gave their promise that they would put away their wives; and being [t]guilty, they presented a ram of the flock as their [u]trespass offering.

20 Also of the sons of Immer: Hanani and Zebadiah; 21 of the sons of Harim: Maaseiah, Elijah, Shemaiah, Jehiel, and Uzziah; 22 of the sons of Pashhur: Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad, and Elasah.

23 Also of the Levites: Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah (the same is Kelita), Pethahiah, Judah, and Eliezer.

24 Also of the singers: Eliashib; and of the gatekeepers: Shallum, Telem, and Uri.

25 And others of Israel: of the [v]sons of Parosh: Ramiah, Jeziah, Malchiah, Mijamin, Eleazar, Malchijah, and Benaiah; 26 of the sons of Elam: Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jehiel, Abdi, Jeremoth, and Eliah; 27 of the sons of Zattu: Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Jeremoth, Zabad, and Aziza; 28 of the [w]sons of Bebai: Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, and Athlai; 29 of the sons of Bani: Meshullam, Malluch, Adaiah, Jashub, Sheal, and [5]Ramoth; 30 of the [x]sons of Pahath-Moab: Adna, Chelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel, Binnui, and Manasseh; 31 of the sons of Harim: Eliezer, Ishijah, Malchijah, Shemaiah, Shimeon, 32 Benjamin, Malluch, and Shemariah; 33 of the sons of Hashum: Mattenai, Mattattah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh, and Shimei; 34 of the sons of Bani: Maadai, Amram, Uel, 35 Benaiah, Bedeiah, [6]Cheluh, 36 Vaniah, Meremoth, Eliashib, 37 Mattaniah, Mattenai, [7]Jaasai, 38 Bani, Binnui, Shimei, 39 Shelemiah, Nathan, Adaiah, 40 Machnadebai, Shashai, Sharai, 41 Azarel, Shelemiah, Shemariah, 42 Shallum, Amariah, and Joseph; 43 of the sons of Nebo: Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, [8]Jaddai, Joel, and Benaiah.

44 All these had taken pagan wives, and some of them had wives by whom they had children.

■ 10:18–44 From this list of those guilty of intermarriage it is evident that the individual who sins cannot find sanctuary within the larger community (Deut. 29:19–21). But for those who will avail themselves of the sacrifice provided by God there is always forgiveness (v. 19).

The Book of

NEHEMIAH

Author

Ezra and Nehemiah were originally a single book composed from a variety of historical sources, including the personal memoirs of Ezra and Nehemiah. According to Jewish tradition, Ezra was responsible for compiling these sources into their current form (see "Introduction to Ezra: Author").

Date and Occasion

Assuming the traditional view of authorship, these narratives were written during the period 430–400 B.C. to encourage the Judeans who had returned from exile in Babylon and were reestablishing their community in and around Jerusalem (see "Introduction to Ezra: Date and Occasion").

Characteristics and Themes

The major theme of Ezra and Nehemiah is that God works sovereignly through responsible human agents to accomplish His redemptive purpose. The author develops this theme in Nehemiah with particular attention to the rebuilding and dedication of the defensive walls of Jerusalem (1:1—7:3; 12:27–43) and the reconstitution of the whole people called "Israel" in their covenant relationship with God (7:4—13:31). See "Introduction to Ezra: Characteristics and Themes" for further discussion of the themes of Ezra and Nehemiah as a whole. □

Outline of Nehemiah

I. Return of Nehemiah and Rebuilding of the Wall (1:1—7:3)
  A. Return of Nehemiah (1:1—2:10)
    1. Preparations for the Return (1:1—2:8)
      a. Report from Judah (1:1–3)
      b. Response of Nehemiah (1:4–11)
      c. Request Before the King (2:1–8)
    2. The Trip and the Beginning of the Conflict (2:9, 10)
  B. Rebuilding the Wall (2:11—7:3)
    1. Inspection and Proposal (2:11–18)
    2. First Escalation of the Conflict (2:19, 20)
    3. Rebuilding Begun (ch. 3)
    4. Second Escalation of the Conflict (4:1–6)
    5. Rebuilding Continued (4:7–23)
    6. Internal Problems Threaten the Rebuilding (ch. 5)
    7. Climax of the Conflict (6:1–14)
    8. End of the Conflict (6:15—7:3)

II. Return of the Exiles and Rebuilding the Community (7:4—13:31)
  A. Return of the Exiles (7:4–73)
    1. The Need to Repopulate Jerusalem (7:4, 5)
    2. Record of Returnees (7:6–73)
  B. Rebuilding the Community (7:73—13:31)
    1. Renewing the Covenant (7:73—10:39)
      a. Reading of the Law (7:73—8:18)
      b. Confession of Sin (9:1–37)
      c. Ratification of the Oath (9:38—10:39)
    2. Dedication of the Wall (chs. 11; 12)
      a. Listing of Residents (ch. 11)
      b. Listing of Priests and Levites (12:1–26)
      c. The Dedication Proper (12:27–43)
      d. Provisions for Clergy (12:44–47)

3. Reformation of the People (ch. 13)
   a. Exclusion of Foreigners (13:1–3)
   b. Attention to the Temple (13:4–14)
   c. Observance of the Sabbath (13:15–22)
   d. The End of Intermarriage (13:23–31)

Nehemiah Prays for His People

THE words of [a]Nehemiah the son of Hachaliah.

It came to pass in the month of Chisley, in the [b]twentieth year, as I was in [c]Shushan[1] the [2]citadel, [2] that [d]Hanani one of my brethren came with men from Judah; and I asked them concerning the Jews who had escaped, who had survived the captivity, and concerning Jerusalem. [3] And they said to me, "The survivors who are left from the captivity in the [e]province are there in great distress and [f]reproach. [g]The wall of Jerusalem [h]is also broken down, and its gates are burned with fire."

[4] So it was, when I heard these words, that I sat down and wept, and mourned for many days; I was fasting and praying before the God of heaven.

[5] And I said: "I pray, [i]LORD God of heaven, O great and [j]awesome God, [k]You who keep Your covenant and mercy with those who love [3]You and observe [4]Your commandments, [6] please let Your ear be attentive and [l]Your eyes open, that You may hear the prayer of Your servant which I pray before You now, day and night, for the children of Israel Your servants, and [m]confess the sins of the children of Israel which we have sinned against You. Both my father's house and I have sinned. [7] [n]We have acted very corruptly against You, and have [o]not kept the commandments, the statutes, nor the ordinances which You commanded Your servant Moses. [8] Remember, I pray, the word that You commanded Your servant Moses, saying, [p]'If you [5]are unfaithful, I will scatter you among the nations; [9] [q]but if you return to Me, and keep My commandments and do them, [r]though some of you were cast out to the farthest part of the heavens, yet I will gather them from there, and bring them to the place which I have chosen as a dwelling for My name.' [10] [s]Now these are Your servants and Your people, whom You have redeemed by Your great power, and by Your strong hand. [11] O Lord, I pray, please [t]let Your ear be attentive to the prayer of Your servant, and to the prayer of Your servants who [u]desire to fear Your name; and

■ 1:1 The words of. The introductory phrase does not mean that the Book of Nehemiah was originally separate. It may indicate the beginning of personal records or memoirs by Nehemiah (Introduction: Author).

Nehemiah. The name means "the LORD has comforted."

Chislev . . . twentieth year. November-December 446 B.C., the twentieth year of Artaxerxes I (2:1; Ezra 7:1).

Shushan. This city was a winter residence of the Persian kings (Esth. 1:2 note).

■ 1:2 Hanani. A short form of Hananiah, it means "the LORD is gracious." A certain Hananiah who was head of Jewish affairs is mentioned in the Elephantine papyri, and is believed by some to have been the brother of Nehemiah (7:2).

■ 1:3 its gates are burned with fire. Perhaps this destruction was the result of the events recorded in Ezra 4:7–23, but the reference to "gates" makes the destruction by Nebuchadnezzar in 586 B.C. more likely.

■ 1:4 fasting and praying. Fasting is here connected with mourning (1 Sam. 31:13) as well as with making a request of God (Ezra 8:21 note). Nehemiah was a man of prayer (2:4; 4:4, 9; 5:19; 6:9, 14; 13:14, 22, 29, 31).

the God of heaven. See notes on Ezra 1:2; Dan. 4:37.

■ 1:5 In this address Nehemiah captures both the transcendence of God and His immanence. The true God is not only far above His people as the God of heaven (v. 4 note); He is near His people as the God of the covenant (Deut. 4:7).

mercy. See note on Ezra 7:28.

■ 1:6 now, day and night. The reference is to the prayer of one particular day (v. 11), after four months of prayer and fasting (1:4; 2:1 note). "Day and night" means "continually" (Josh. 1:8; Ps. 1:2).

■ 1:7 The Mosaic covenant was conditional: the Lord would keep His promises if Israel obeyed His commands (v. 5). Israel failed to obey His commands and the result was exile (Ezra 9:9 note).

■ 1:8 Remember. A common petition (Deut. 9:27; Ps. 132:1; Jer. 14:21), particularly in Nehemiah (5:19; 6:14; 13:14, 22, 29, 31).

■ 1:9 I will gather them. The Mosaic covenant promised restoration of a remnant after exile (Deut. 30:1–5) on the basis of the covenant made with Abraham (Deut. 4:25–31).

dwelling for My name. The name of God symbolizes God Himself, as He reveals Himself to His people. A place for His name to dwell is a place for Him to be with the people and to receive their worship (Deut. 12:5 note).

■ 1:10 redeemed. The reference is to the Exodus (Ex. 32:11; Mic. 6:4).

■ 1:11 who desire to fear Your name. The fear of the Lord is the proper response to God's self-revelation. To fear God is to know Him (Prov. 9:10), to trust Him (Ps. 34:11, 22), to obey Him (Prov. 8:13), and to show Him reverence.

cupbearer. A member of the royal court, whose responsibility was to choose wine (2:1) and safeguard it from poison. The steward's access to the king secured prestige and influence at court.

let Your servant prosper this day, I pray, and grant him mercy in the sight of this man."
For I was the king's [v]cupbeare[r].

Nehemiah Sent to Judah

2 And it came to pass in the month of Nisan, in the twentieth year of [a]King [1]Artaxerxes, when wine was before him, that [b]I took the wine and gave it to the king. Now I had never been sad in his presence before. [2]Therefore the king said to me, "Why is your face sad, since you are not sick? This is nothing but [c]sorrow of heart."

So I became [2]dreadfully afraid, [3]and said to the king, [d]"May the king live forever! Why should my face not be sad, when [e]the city, the place of my fathers' tombs, lies waste, and its gates are burned with [f]fire?"

[4]Then the king said to me, "What do you request?"

So I [g]prayed to the God of heaven. [5]And I said to the king, "If it pleases the king, and if your servant has found favor in your sight, I ask that you send me to Judah, to the city of my fathers' tombs, that I may rebuild it."

[6]Then the king said to me (the queen also sitting beside him), "How long will your journey be? And when will you return?" So it pleased the king to send me; and I set him [h]a time.

[7]Furthermore I said to the king, "If it pleases the king, let letters be given to me for the [i]governors of the region beyond [3]the River, that they must permit me to pass through till I come to Judah, [8]and a letter to Asaph the keeper of the king's forest, that he must give me timber to make beams for the gates of the [4]citadel which pertains [j]to the [5]temple, for the city wall, and for the house that I will occupy." And the king granted them to me [k]according to the good hand of my God upon me.

[9]Then I went to the governors in the region beyond the River, and gave them the king's letters. Now the king had sent captains of the army and horsemen with me. [10]When [l]Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite [6]official heard of it, they were deeply disturbed that a man had come to seek the well-being of the children of Israel.

■ 2:1 Nisan . . . twentieth year. The date was March-April 445 B.C., four months after Nehemiah received the report about Jerusalem. The Persian New Year or another holiday may be indicated by the use of wine (cf. 1:11 note).

King Artaxerxes. See note on Ezra 4:7.

■ 2:2 dreadfully afraid. Nehemiah feared the king's wrath (Prov. 16:14) because he was sad on a festive occasion, or because he was about to ask the king to reverse a previous decision (Ezra 4:21). Nehemiah may also have feared that he would be refused the permission he sought.

■ 2:5 that I may rebuild it. Rebuilding the city is one aspect of rebuilding the "house of God" (cf. Num. 12:7), a major theme in Ezra and Nehemiah (Introduction to Ezra: Characteristics and Themes). It is the focus of Neh. 1:1—7:3.

■ 2:6 How long . . . I set him a time. It may seem doubtful that Nehemiah requested the twelve-year absence presumed in 5:14, but his request to rebuild his personal residence (v. 8) seems to indicate that more than a brief leave was in view from the beginning.

■ 2:7 Furthermore I said. Nehemiah now makes his specific requests.

letters. The two references to letters in vv. 7, 8 are part of a major theme in Ezra and Nehemiah: the written word is an effective instrument used by God to accomplish His redemptive purpose (Introduction to Ezra: Characteristics and Themes).

■ 2:8 timber . . . for the gates. The scope of the building project becomes clear: fortress, walls, governor's residence.

the good hand of my God. Nehemiah acts as a responsible human agent in making the request, but the success is from God's sovereign good pleasure (Ezra 7:6). This theme expresses the overarching message of Ezra and Nehemiah (Introduction to Ezra: Characteristics and Themes).

■ 2:10 Sanballat. A Babylonian name, meaning "Sin (the moon god) gives life." Sanballat and his descendents served for more than a century as the governors of Samaria, the area north of Judah. He may have worshiped the God of Israel in some fashion (2 Kin. 17:24–41), since the names of his sons, Deliah and Shelemiah, end with a short form of "Yahweh."

Tobiah. Probably the governor of Ammon, east of Judah. The name means "the LORD is good," indicating that he, too, may have worshiped the God of Israel (6:17, 18; 13:4).

Nehemiah Views the Wall of Jerusalem

11 So I [m]came to Jerusalem and was there three days. 12 Then I arose in the night, I and a few men with me; I told no one what my God had put in my heart to do at Jerusalem; nor was there any animal with me, except the one on which I rode. 13 And I went out by night [n]through the Valley Gate to the Serpent Well and the [7]Refuse Gate, and [8]viewed the walls of Jerusalem which were [o]broken down and its gates which were burned with fire. 14 Then I went on to the [p]Fountain Gate and to the [q]King's Pool. but there was no room for the animal under me to pass. 15 So I went up in the night by the [r]valley,[9] and [t]viewed the wall; then I turned back and entered by the Valley Gate, and so returned. 16 And the officials did not know where I had gone or what I had done; I had not yet told the Jews, the priests, the nobles, the officials, or the others who did the work.

17 Then I said to them, "You see the distress that we are in, how Jerusalem lies [2]waste, and its gates are burned with fire. Come and let us build the wall of Jerusalem, that we may no longer be [s]a reproach." 18 And I told them of [t]the hand of my God which had been good upon me, and also of the king's words that he had spoken to me.

So they said, "Let us rise up and build." Then they [u]set[3] their hands to this good work.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, Tobiah the Ammonite official, and Geshem the Arab heard of it, they laughed at us and despised us, and said, "What is this thing that you are doing? [v]Will you rebel against the king?"

20 So I answered them, and said to them, "The God of heaven Himself will prosper us; therefore we His servants will arise and build, [w]but you have no heritage or right or memorial in Jerusalem."

Rebuilding the Wall

3 Then [a]Eliashib the high priest rose up with his brethren the priests [b]and built the Sheep Gate; they consecrated it and hung its doors. They built [c]as far as the Tower of [1]the Hundred, and consecrated it, then as far as the Tower of [d]Hananel. 2 [2]Next to Eliashib [e]the men of Jericho built. And next to them Zaccur the son of Imri built.

3 Also the sons of Hassenaah built [f]the Fish Gate; they laid its beams and [g]hung its doors with its bolts and bars. 4 And next to them [h]Meremoth the son of Urijah, the son of [3]Koz, made repairs. Next to them [i]Meshullam the son of Berechiah, the son of Meshezabel, made repairs. Next to them Zadok the son of Baana made repairs. 5 Next to them the Tekoites made repairs; but their nobles did not put their [4]shoulders to [j]the work of their Lord.

6 Moreover Jehoiada the son of Paseah and Meshullam the son of Besodeiah repaired [k]the Old heard. References to the enemies "having heard" will punctuate the rest of 1:1—7:3 like a refrain (v. 19; 4:1, 7, 15; 6:1, 16). The conflict escalates until it is resolved in 6:16.

deeply disturbed. The opposition had a political aspect, but was religious at its root (v. 20; Ezra 4:13 notes).

■ 2:11–18 Soon after returning to Jerusalem, Nehemiah conducts a nighttime inspection of the walls and, aware of God's blessing upon him, advises the officials of the city to rebuild them.

■ 2:11–16 Nehemiah's three-day wait after arriving in Jerusalem invites a comparison with Ezra (Ezra 8:32). Ezra acted publicly, Nehemiah secretly (that Nehemiah had "told no one" is emphasized in v. 12; cf. v. 16).

■ 2:17 waste. The city had lain in ruins for almost 150 years (1:3 note). An earlier attempt to rebuild the wall had been stopped (Ezra 4:7–23). Nehemiah's presence would change all that.

build the wall. See note on v. 5.

■ 2:18 also of the king's words. Nehemiah's acknowledgment of God's sovereignty as the ultimate source of his plan does not exclude the providentially ordered actions of the king (v. 8 note).

Let us rise up. Nehemiah's initiative met with wholehearted support on the part of the leaders of Judah; by now the reader knows that this response, too, is governed by God's purpose (Ezra 1:5 note).

■ 2:19 Sanballat . . . Tobiah. See v. 10 and note.

Geshem the Arab. This third opponent of Nehemiah was probably an Arab chief controlling the area south of Judah. Nehemiah is pictured as virtually surrounded by enemies—Sanballat to the north, Tobiah to the east, and Geshem to the south (4:7, 8 note).

■ 2:20 God of heaven. See note on 1:4.

prosper. Nehemiah had requested success from God in 1:11. Now he expresses confidence that the sovereign God will prosper the people.

you have no heritage. On this religious exclusivity, see the note on Ezra 4:3.

■ 3:1–32 This chapter underscores an important theme of Ezra and Nehemiah: the people of God as a whole and not just the great leaders are vital for accomplishing God's redemptive purpose. All of God's people worked together to rebuild the wall: clergy and laity, craftsmen and tradesmen, by town and by family, each contributing to the completion of the whole (cf. Eph. 4:16).

■ 3:1 Eliashib. He was the grandson of Jeshua, the High Priest during the days of Zerubbabel.

Sheep Gate. This gate was at the northeast corner of the city (cf. John 5:2). The description in the following verses moves counterclockwise until the Sheep Gate is mentioned again in v. 32.

Tower of the Hundred. This would have been somewhere on the north side, the side with the poorest natural defenses.

Tower of Hananel. A tower on the north side.

■ 3:3 Fish Gate. A main gate on the north side (2 Chr. 33:14; Zeph. 1:10), this was probably the gate used by merchants (cf. 13:16).

■ 3:5 their nobles did not. Though the text presents an amazing picture of unanimity, it notes realistically that not all of God's people were in harmony with what the Lord was doing through Nehemiah.

■ 3:6 the Old Gate. A gate on the northwest corner of the city.

Gate; they laid its beams and hung its doors, with its bolts and bars. 7 And next to them Melatiah the Gibeonite, Jadon the Meronothite, the [l]men of Gibeon and Mizpah, repaired the [m]residence[5] of the governor of the region [6]beyond the River. 8 Next to him Uzziel the son of Harhaiah, one of the goldsmiths, made repairs. Also next to him Hananiah, [7]one of the perfumers, made repairs; and they [8]fortified Jerusalem as far as the [n]Broad Wall. 9 And next to them Rephaiah the son of Hur, leader of half the district of Jerusalem, made repairs. 10 Next to them Jedaiah the son of Harumaph made repairs in front of his house. And next to him Hattush the son of Hashabniah made repairs.

11 Malchijah the son of Harim and Hashub the son of Pahath-Moab repaired another section, [o]as well as the Tower of the Ovens. 12 And next to him was Shallum the son of Hallohesh, leader of half the district of Jerusalem; he and his daughters made repairs.

13 Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah repaired [p]the Valley Gate. They built it, hung its doors with its bolts and bars, and repaired a thousand cubits of the wall as far as [q]the Refuse Gate.

14 Malchijah the son of Rechab, leader of the district of [r]Beth Haccerem, repaired the Refuse Gate; he built it and hung its doors with its bolts and bars.

15 Shallun the son of Col-Hozeh, leader of the district of Mizpah, repaired [s]the Fountain Gate; he built it, covered it, hung its doors with its bolts and bars, and repaired the wall of the Pool of [t]Shelah[9] by the [u]King's Garden, as far as the stairs that go down from the City of David. 16 After him Nehemiah the son of Azbuk, leader of half the district of Beth Zur, made repairs as far as the place in front of the [l]tombs of David, to the [v]man-made pool, and as far as the House of the Mighty.

17 After him the Levites, under Rehum the son of Bani, made repairs. Next to him Hashabiah, leader of half the district of Keilah, made repairs for his district. 18 After him their brethren, under [2]Bavai the son of Henadad, leader of the other half of the district of Keilah, made repairs. 19 And next to him Ezer the son of Jeshua, the leader of Mizpah, repaired another section in front of the Ascent to the Armory at the [w]buttress.[3] 20 After him Baruch the son of [4]Zabbai carefully repaired the other section, from the [5]buttress to the door of the house of Eliashib the high priest. 21 After him Meremoth the son of Urijah, the son of [6]Koz, repaired another section, from the door of the house of Eliashib to the end of the house of Eliashib.

22 And after him the priests, the men of the plain, made repairs. 23 After him Benjamin and Hasshub made repairs opposite their house. After them Azariah the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ananiah, made repairs by his house. 24 After him [x]Binnui the son of Henadad repaired another section, from the house of Azariah to [y]the [7]buttress, even as far as the corner. 25 Palal the son of Uzai made repairs opposite the [8]buttress, and on the tower which projects from the king's upper house that was by the [z]court of the prison. After him Pedaiah the son of Parosh made repairs.

26 Moreover [a]the Nethinim who dwelt in [b]Ophel made repairs as far as the place in front of [c]the Water Gate toward the east, and on the projecting tower. 27 After them the Tekoites repaired another section, next to the great projecting tower, and as far as the wall of Ophel.

28 Beyond the [d]Horse Gate the priests made repairs, each in front of his own house. 29 After them Zadok the son of Immer made repairs in front of his own house. After him Shemaiah the son of Shechaniah, the keeper of the East Gate, made repairs. 30 After him Hananiah the son of Shelemiah, and Hanun, the sixth son of Zalaph, repaired another section. After him Meshullam the son of Berechiah made repairs in front of his [9]dwelling. 31 After him Malchijah, [1]one of the goldsmiths, made repairs as far as the house of the Nethinim and of the merchants, in front of the

■ 3:8 Broad Wall. A wall on the west side of the northern half of the city.

■ 3:10 in front of his house. Probably others too, like Jedaiah, worked on the sections near their homes.

■ 3:11 Tower of the Ovens. A tower on the west side of the city, perhaps midway.

■ 3:12 he and his daughters. This phrase is an extraordinary testimony to the dedication of the whole community to the task of rebuilding (5:1 note; 12:43 note).

■ 3:13 Valley Gate. On the west side of the city facing the Tyropean Valley.

Refuse Gate. On the southwest corner of the city facing the Hinnom Valley.

■ 3:15 Fountain Gate. On the southeast corner of the city facing the Kidron Valley.

City of David. Though in disrepair, it was still the city David established to be the political and religious capital of the theocracy. There is continuity between the past and present generations (Ezra 2:1–70 note).

■ 3:26 Ophel. Ophel has usually been located south of the temple mount, but more probably it included also the southern part of the city below the Water Gate.

Water Gate. About halfway up the east side of the city, this gate faced the Kidron Valley and the main water source, the Gihon Spring.

■ 3:28 Horse Gate. On the northeast side of the city.

■ 3:29 East Gate. Just north of the Horse Gate.

■ 3:31 Miphkad Gate. Between the East Gate and the Sheep Gate.

The Wall Defended Against Enemies

4 But it so happened, [a]when Sanballat heard that we were rebuilding the wall, that he was furious and very indignant, and mocked the Jews. 2 And he spoke before his brethren and the army of Samaria, and said, "What are these feeble Jews doing? Will they fortify themselves? Will they offer sacrifices? Will they complete it in a day? Will they revive the stones from the heaps of rubbish—stones that are burned?"

3 Now [b]Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and he said, "Whatever they build, if even a fox goes up on it, he will break down their stone wall."

4 [c]Hear, O our God, for we are despised; [d]turn their reproach on their own heads, and give them as plunder to a land of captivity! 5 [e]Do not cover their iniquity, and do not let their sin be blotted out from before You; for they have provoked You to anger before the builders.

6 So we built the wall, and the entire wall was joined together up to half its height, for the people had a mind to work.

7 Now it happened, [f]when Sanballat, Tobiah, [g]the Arabs, the Ammonites, and the Ashdodites heard that the walls of Jerusalem were being restored and the [1]gaps were beginning to be closed, that they became very angry, 8 and all of them [h]conspired together to come and attack Jerusalem and create confusion. 9 Nevertheless [i]we made our prayer to our God, and because of them we set a watch against them day and night.

10 Then Judah said, "The strength of the laborers is failing, and there is so much rubbish that we are not able to build the wall."

11 And our adversaries said, "They will neither know nor see anything, till we come into their midst and kill them and cause the work to cease."

12 So it was, when the Jews who dwelt near them came, that they told us ten times, "From whatever place you turn, they will be upon us."

13 Therefore I positioned men behind the lower parts of the wall, at the openings; and I set the people according to their families, with their swords, their spears, and their bows. 14 And I looked, and arose and said to the nobles, to the leaders, and to the rest of the people, [j]"Do not be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, [k]great and awesome, and [l]fight for your brethren, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your houses."

15 And it happened, when our enemies heard that it was known to us, and [m]that God had brought their plot to nothing, that all of us returned to the wall, everyone to his work. 16 So it was, from that time on, that half of my servants worked at construction, while the other half held the spears, the shields, the bows, and wore armor; and the leaders [z]were behind all the house of Judah. 17 Those who built on the wall, and those who carried burdens, loaded themselves so that with one hand they worked at construction, and with the other held a weapon. 18 Every one of the builders had his sword girded at his side as he built. And the one who sounded the trumpet was beside me.

■ 3:32 Sheep Gate. The counterclockwise description has come full circle (v. 1 note).

■ 4:1–3 when Sanballat heard. The conflict between Israel and their Gentile rulers is escalating (2:10 note). The intent of the mockery is to stop the work.

■ 4:4, 5 This is the first of three such imprecatory prayers (6:14; 13:29). An imprecatory prayer is one that calls for the enemy to be cursed (e.g., Ps. 79:12; 94:1–3; 137:7–9). See Introduction to Psalms: "The Curses of the Psalms."

■ 4:7 when Sanballat . . . heard. One more group, the Ashdodites, is added to the list of enemies. Nehemiah is now completely encircled by the enemy, as Ashdod lies on the Philistine plain to his west (2:19 note).

■ 4:10 Judah said. A collective term is used, emphasizing that discouragement was widespread.

The strength . . . the wall. Perhaps this poetic couplet was chanted by the people. Part of the reason that they were discouraged was simply that the work was hard.

■ 4:12 told us ten times. Ten is a symbolic number for completeness. The fear of violence was growing in the minds of the people.

■ 4:13 I positioned men. Nehemiah's first action was to station additional guards at the most vulnerable points. The tension continues to rise as the people of Judah take up arms for the first time.

■ 4:14 great and awesome. See "The Greatness of God" at 1 Chr. 29:11.

■ 4:15 God had brought their plot to nothing. In Ezra 4:5, 24 the enemy frustrated the plan to build the temple; now God responds in kind by frustrating the plan to stop building.

all of us returned to the wall. Nehemiah responded successfully to the tide of discouragement by adding guards and exhorting the people.

■ 4:16 spears . . . armor. The arms first mentioned in v. 13 are supplemented here with shield and armor (a breastplate of metal).

■ 4:17 those who carried . . . held a weapon. The porters had a hand free to hold a weapon, which may have been no more than a stone for throwing.

■ 4:18 Every one of the builders had his sword. The builders needed two hands to work, so they wore swords at their sides.

the trumpet. The trumpet, or shofar, had numerous functions in the Old Testament. Here as in Judg. 3:27 it would rally the troops.

19 Then I said to the nobles, the rulers, and the rest of the people, "The work is great and extensive, and we are separated far from one another on the wall. 20 Wherever you hear the sound of the trumpet, rally to us there. [n]Our God will fight for us."

21 So we labored in the work, and half of [3]the men held the spears from daybreak until the stars appeared. 22 At the same time I also said to the people, "Let each man and his servant stay at night in Jerusalem, that they may be our guard by night and a working party by day." 23 So neither I, my brethren, my servants, nor the men of the guard who followed me took off our clothes, except that everyone took them off for washing.

Nehemiah Deals with Oppression

5 And there was a great [a]outcry of the people and their wives against their [b]Jewish brethren. 2 For there were those who said, "We, our sons, and our daughters are many; therefore let us get grain, that we may eat and live."

3 There were also some who said, "We have mortgaged our lands and vineyards and houses, that we might buy grain because of the famine."

4 There were also those who said, "We have borrowed money for the king's tax on our lands and vineyards. 5 Yet now [c]our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren, our children as their children; and indeed we [d]are forcing our sons and our daughters to be slaves, and some of our daughters have been brought into slavery. It is not in our power to redeem them, for other men have our lands and vineyards."

6 And I became very angry when I heard their outcry and these words. 7 After serious thought, I rebuked the nobles and rulers, and said to them, [e]"Each of you is [1]exacting usury from his brother." So I [2]called a great assembly against them. 8 And I said to them, "According to our ability we have [f]redeemed our Jewish brethren who were sold to the nations. Now indeed, will you even sell your brethren? Or should they be sold to us?"

Then they were silenced and found nothing to say. 9 Then I said, "What you are doing is not good. Should you not walk [g]in the fear of our God [h]because of the reproach of the nations, our enemies? 10 I also, with my brethren and my servants, am lending them money and grain. Please, let us stop this [3]usury! 11 Restore now to them, even this day, their lands, their vineyards, their olive groves, and their houses, also a hundredth of the money and the grain, the new wine and the oil, that you have charged them."

12 So they said, "We will restore it, and will require nothing from them; we will do as you say."

Then I called the priests, [i]and required an oath from them that they would do according to this promise. 13 Then [j]I shook out [4]the fold of my garment and said, "So may God shake out each man from his house, and from his property, who does not perform this promise. Even thus may he be shaken out and emptied."

And all the assembly said, "Amen!" and praised the LORD. [k]Then the people did according to this promise.

■ 4:21 until the stars appeared. This shows how strong their dedication was, since work usually ended at sundown.

■ 5:1–13 This section leaves the main topic of opposition by outsiders to consider the difficulties that arose from within. Probable causes of the economic stress mentioned are that Judah was cut off from trading with neighbors; farmers were away from their fields, because they stayed in Jerusalem, (4:22); there was a famine (v. 3); and previous administrators had burdened the people (v. 15). Times were so bad that children were sold into slavery, houses and vineyards were mortgaged, and money was borrowed at interest. The crushing realization for Nehemiah was that not foreigners but the people themselves were forcing these intolerable measures on each other.

■ 5:1 and their wives. Since women play a minor role in Ezra and Nehemiah, mentioning them here emphasizes how severe the crisis was (3:12 note; 12:43 note).

■ 5:3 famine. Famines were often signs of God's judgment (Deut. 11:16, 17; 1 Chr. 21:12; Hag. 1:7–11). Perhaps this famine was God's judgment upon the leaders' failure to do what was right.

■ 5:5 slavery. According to Lev. 25:39–43, a man who became poor could sell himself, along with his family, to a fellow Israelite in order to get back on his feet financially; he was to be treated as a hired worker, not as a slave. The error in Nehemiah's day seems to be twofold: (a) only the children were being sold, resulting in the breakup of family units; (b) the children were being treated as slaves, not as hired workers.

■ 5:7 rebuked the nobles. A bold step on Nehemiah's part.

usury. The law prohibited not only usury, but interest of any kind (Ex. 22:25–27; Lev. 25:35–37; Deut. 23:20).

■ 5:10 I also, with my brethren. Nehemiah too seems to have made interest-bearing loans. He includes himself in the call to repent.

■ 5:11 the grain, the new wine and the oil. This familiar triad is in the order of the agricultural harvests: first grain, then grapes, and finally olives ripened.

■ 5:12 required an oath. This act was a renewal of their commitment to keep the law of Moses concerning lending and debt-slavery. See theological note "Honest Speech, Oaths, and Vows."

■ 5:13 shook out the fold. In this covenant renewal Nehemiah dramatized the curses for failing to keep the oath (cf. Jer. 34:8–22).

The Generosity of Nehemiah

14 Moreover, from the time that I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah, from the twentieth year *l*until the thirty-second year of King Artaxerxes, twelve years, neither I nor my brothers *m*ate the governor's provisions. 15 But the former governors who were before me laid burdens on the people, and took from them bread and wine, besides forty shekels of silver. Yes, even their servants bore rule over the people, but *n*I did not do so, because of the *o*fear of God. 16 Indeed, I also continued the *p*work on this wall, and *5*we did not buy any land. All my servants were gathered there for the work.

17 And *q*at my table were one hundred and fifty Jews and rulers, besides those who came to us from the nations around us. 18 Now that *r*which was prepared daily was one ox and six choice sheep. Also fowl were prepared for me, and once every ten days an abundance of all kinds of

Honest Speech, Oaths, and Vows

Truth in relationships, especially between Christians, is divinely commanded (Eph. 4:25; Col. 3:9), and truth-telling is integral to authentic godliness (Ps. 15:1–3). God forbids lying, deception, and malicious misrepresentation (Ex. 20:16; Lev. 19:11). Jesus traces lying back to Satan (John 8:44). Those who, like Satan, lie in order to deceive and harm others are sternly condemned in Scripture (Ps. 5:9; 12:1–4; 52:2–5; Jer. 9:3–6; Rev. 22:15). One way of acknowledging the dignity of our neighbors, who bear God's image, is to recognize that they have a right to the truth. Telling the truth shows proper respect for our neighbor and for God, and is fundamental to true religion and the love of one's neighbor.

In the ninth commandment God prohibits false witness (Ex. 20:16). Using the principle that the commandments require what is good as they forbid what is evil, the Westminster Larger Catechism (Q. 144) observes that the ninth commandment requires:

> the preserving and promoting of truth between man and man, and the good name of our neighbor, as well as our own; appearing and standing for the truth; and from the heart, sincerely, freely, clearly, and fully, speaking the truth, and only the truth, in matters of judgment and justice, and in all other things whatsoever.

Oaths are solemn declarations invoking God as a witness to statements and promises, inviting Him to punish anything false. Scripture approves oaths as appropriate on solemn occasions (Gen. 24:1–9; Ezra 10:5; Neh. 5:12; cf. 2 Cor. 1:23; Heb. 6:13–17). During the Reformation, the Anabaptists refused to take oaths as part of their rejection of involvement in the life of the secular world. They understood Jesus' condemnation of oaths as if it were a rejection of oath-taking as such, rather than a condemnation of false or improper oaths, used to create a false impression, to manipulate, or to deceive (Matt. 5:33–37; cf. James 5:12).

Vows to God are the devotional equivalent of oaths, and must be treated with equal seriousness (Deut. 21:23; Eccl. 5:4–6). What one swears or vows to do must at all costs be done (Ps. 15:4; cf. Josh. 9:15–18). God requires us to take His words seriously, and our own as well. However, "no man may vow to do anything forbidden in the Word of God, or what would hinder any duty therein commanded" (Westminster Confession, XXII. 7). □

■ 5:14 twentieth year . . . thirty-second year. 445 B.C. to 433 B.C. This twelve-year period was Nehemiah's first term as governor; after it he was recalled to the Persian court (13:6, 7), and then he returned to Jerusalem for a second term of unknown length.

the governor's provisions. A governor had the right to collect taxes for his personal support. Nehemiah waived this right for the benefit of the people (v. 18; cf. 1 Cor. 9:4, 12; 2 Thess. 3:8, 9).

■ 5:15 former governors . . . laid burdens. Sheshbazzar (Ezra 5:14) and Zerubbabel (Hag. 1:1) were former governors, but their terms were almost one hundred years earlier. The oppressive governors were Nehemiah's more immediate predecessors, whose policies had been harmful (5:1–13 note).

fear of God. See note on 1:11.

■ 5:16 Nehemiah's reason for being governor was service, not personal advancement, corresponding to his reason for going to Judah in the first place (2:5).

■ 5:17 at my table. According to Persian custom, Nehemiah as governor had to entertain the officials under his authority as well as visiting dignitaries from other countries.

■ 5:18 daily. The food listed could have fed hundreds of people. Nehemiah was as generous as he was rich.

Conspiracy Against Nehemiah

6 Now it happened [a]when Sanballat, Tobiah, [1]Geshem the Arab, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had rebuilt the wall, and that there were no breaks left in it [b](though at that time I had not hung the doors in the gates), 2 that Sanballat and [2]Geshem [c]sent to me, saying, "Come, let us meet together [3]among the villages in the plain of [d]Ono." But they [e]thought to do me harm.

3 So I sent messengers to them, saying, "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down. Why should the work cease while I leave it and go down to you?"

4 But they sent me this message four times, and I answered them in the same manner.

5 Then Sanballat sent his servant to me as before, the fifth time, with an open letter in his hand. 6 In it was written:

> It is reported among the nations, and [4]Geshem says, that you and the Jews plan to rebel; therefore, according to these rumors, you are rebuilding the wall, [f]that you may be their king. 7 And you have also appointed prophets to proclaim concerning you at Jerusalem, saying, "There is a king in Judah!" Now these matters will be reported to the king. So come, therefore, and let us consult together.

8 Then I sent to him, saying, "No such things as you say are being done, but you invent them in your own heart."

9 For they all were trying to make us afraid, saying, "Their hands will be weakened in the work, and it will not be done."

Now therefore, O God, strengthen my hands.

10 Afterward I came to the house of Shemaiah the son of Delaiah, the son of Mehetabel, who was a secret informer; and he said, "Let us meet together in the house of God, within the [5]temple, and let us close the doors of the temple, for they are coming to kill you; indeed, at night they will come to kill you."

11 And I said, "Should such a man as I flee? And who is there such as I who would go into the temple to save his life? I will not go in!" 12 Then I perceived that God had not sent him at all, but that [g]he pronounced this prophecy against me because Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him. 13 For this reason he was hired, that I should be afraid and act that way and sin, so that they might have cause for an evil report, that they might reproach me.

14 [h]My God, remember Tobiah and Sanballat, according to these their works, and the [i]prophetess Noadiah and the rest of the prophets who would have made me afraid.

■ 5:19 Remember me. The second use of "remember" in a prayer (1:8 note) and the first of four prayers in the form "remember me" (13:14, 22, 31).

■ 6:1 when Sanballat . . . heard. The phrase continues the series of similar phrases (2:10 note) and brings the reader back to the main topic of Neh. 1:1—7:3, from which ch. 5 was a digression (5:1–13 note). The conflict that has been steadily escalating here reaches its climax, as the wall is virtually complete. This final attempt to stop the work is threefold: to harm (vv. 2–4), to frighten (vv. 5–9), and to discredit (vv. 10–13) Nehemiah.

■ 6:2 Ono. Ono was in the northwestern corner of Judah, as far from the safety of Jerusalem as is possible without leaving the country.

to do me harm. A vague phrase, perhaps referring to murder (v. 10) or to a later allegation that Nehemiah's trip to Ono was to enlist others in revolt against Persia (v. 6).

■ 6:3 Why should the work cease. Nehemiah saw that the basic purpose of the plot was to stop the work on the wall.

■ 6:4 four times. Both sides are persistent as the conflict reaches its climax.

■ 6:5 open letter. Letters were normally sealed, but Sanballat wanted this letter to be public, so as to stop the work.

■ 6:6, 7 The accusation was plausible: the wall was being rebuilt, Judah had a history of rebellion against her overlords, and Nehemiah was a skillful leader with a passion for his homeland.

■ 6:9 Now . . . strengthen my hands. Another of the brief prayers so characteristic of Nehemiah (1:4 note).

■ 6:10 Shemaiah. He may have been not only a prophet (v. 12) but a priest, giving him access to the temple.

in the house of God. The final ploy now unfolds. Nehemiah might have sought asylum in the courtyard of the temple (Ex. 21:12–14), but he was not allowed to enter the temple itself since he was not a priest (Num. 18:7).

■ 6:11 Nehemiah's courage shines through again (5:7 note).

■ 6:13 I should be afraid . . . reproach me. The idea was to make Nehemiah behave like a coward and a lawbreaker, so that his reputation would be ruined and he could not finish the wall.

■ 6:14 remember. The third use of "remember" in a prayer (1:8 note) and the second imprecatory prayer (4:4, 5 note), as the "remembering" here is unto judgment.

The Wall Completed

15 So the wall was finished on the twenty-fifth day of Elul, in fifty-two days. 16 And it happened, *i*when all our enemies heard of it, and all the nations around us saw these things, that they were very disheartened in their own eyes; for *k*they perceived that this work was done by our God.

17 Also in those days the nobles of Judah sent many letters to Tobiah, and the letters of Tobiah came to them. 18 For many in Judah were pledged to him, because he was the *l*son-in-law of Shechaniah the son of Arah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of *m*Meshullam the son of Berechiah. 19 Also they reported his good deeds before me, and reported my *6*words to him. Tobiah sent letters to frighten me.

7 Then it was, when the wall was built and I had *a*hung the doors, when the gatekeepers, the singers, and the Levites had been appointed, 2 that I gave the charge of Jerusalem to my brother *b*Hanani, and Hananiah the leader *c*of the *1*citadel, for he was a faithful man and *d*feared God more than many.

3 And I said to them, "Do not let the gates of Jerusalem be opened until the sun is hot; and while they stand guard, let them shut and bar the doors; and appoint guards from among the inhabitants of Jerusalem, one at his watch station and another in front of his own house."

The Captives Who Returned to Jerusalem

4 Now the city was large and spacious, but the people in it *were e*few, and the houses were not rebuilt. 5 Then my God put it into my heart to gather the nobles, the rulers, and the people, that they might be registered by genealogy. And I found a register of the genealogy of those who had come up in the first return, and found written in it:

6 *f*These are the people of the province who came back from the captivity, of those who had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away, and who returned to Jerusalem and Judah, everyone to his city.

7 Those who came with *g*Zerubbabel were Jeshua, Nehemiah, *2*Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, *3*Mispereth, Bigvai, Nehum, and Baanah.

The number of the men of the people of Israel: 8 the sons of Parosh, two thousand one hundred and seventy-two;
9 the sons of Shephatiah, three hundred and seventy-two;
10 the sons of Arah, six hundred and fifty-two;
11 the sons of Pahath-Moab, of the sons of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and eighteen;
12 the sons of Elam, one thousand two hundred and fifty-four;
13 the sons of Zattu, eight hundred and forty-five;
14 the sons of Zaccai, seven hundred and sixty;
15 the sons of *4*Binnui, six hundred and forty-eight;
16 the sons of Bebai, six hundred and twenty-eight;
17 the sons of Azgad, two thousand three hundred and twenty-two;
18 the sons of Adonikam, six hundred and sixty-seven;

■ 6:15 So the wall was finished. This verse actually forms the conclusion to the section that began in v. 1, with v. 16 opening the final episode of Neh. 1:1—7:3. The last of six attempts to stop the work had failed.

Elul. August-September 445 B.C.

■ 6:16—7:3 Although opposition to rebuilding the walls ceases with their completion (v. 16), attempts to intimidate Nehemiah continue (6:17–19). Nehemiah takes measures to secure the gates of the city against possible continued aggression by Israel's enemies (7:1–3).

■ 6:17–19 Tobiah's relation by marriage to those at work on the wall would have provided a natural channel for the transfer of information about the circumstances in Jerusalem to Nehemiah's opponents.

■ 7:1 hung the doors. This showed that the wall was now complete (6:1).

■ 7:2 gave the charge. Leaders were appointed to oversee the security of the city.

feared God. See note on 1:11.

■ 7:3 until the sun is hot. Guards were appointed to secure the gates at night. The gates were usually opened at dawn; waiting until later was a security measure for the city.

■ 7:4–73 Nehemiah prepares to meet the need to repopulate Jerusalem (vv. 4, 5) by consulting a genealogical record of exiles who had returned earlier (vv. 5–73).

59 the sons of Shephatiah,
the sons of Hattil,
the sons of Pochereth of Zebaim, and the sons of [8]Amon.
60 All the Nethinim, and the sons of Solomon's servants, were three hundred and ninety-two.

61 And these were the ones who came up from Tel Melah, Tel Harsha, Cherub, [9]Addon, and Immer, but they could not identify their father's house nor their lineage, whether they were of Israel: 62 the sons of Delaiah, the sons of Tobiah,
the sons of Nekoda, six hundred and forty-two;
63 and of the priests: the sons of Habaiah,
the sons of [1]Koz,
the sons of Barzillai, who took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called by their name.
64 These sought their listing among those who were registered by genealogy, but it was not found; therefore they were excluded from the priesthood as defiled. 65 And the [2]governor said to them that they should not eat of the most holy things till a priest could consult with the Urim and Thummim.

66 Altogether the whole assembly was forty-two thousand three hundred and sixty, 67 besides their male and female servants, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven; and they had two hundred and forty-five men and women singers. 68 Their horses were seven hundred and thirty-six, their mules two hundred and forty-five, 69 their camels four hundred and thirty-five, and donkeys six thousand seven hundred and twenty.

70 And some of the heads of the fathers' houses gave to the work. [m]The [3]governor gave to the treasury one thousand gold drachmas, fifty basins, and five hundred and thirty priestly garments. 71 Some of the heads of the fathers' houses gave to the treasury of the work [n]twenty thousand gold drachmas, and two thousand two hundred silver minas. 72 And that which the rest of the people gave was twenty thousand gold drachmas, two thousand silver minas, and sixty-seven priestly garments.

73 So the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, some of the people, the Nethinim, and all Israel dwelt in their cities.

CHAPTER 8

1 [a]Ezra 3:1 [b]Neh. 3:26 [c]Ezra 7:6

■ 7:73—13:31 The covenant community itself is rebuilt as Israel renews the covenant with God (7:73—10:39), dedicates the walls of the city (chs. 11; 12), and obeys other aspects of the law (ch. 13).

which the LORD had commanded Israel. 2 So Ezra the priest brought [d]the Law before the assembly of men and women and all who could hear with understanding [e]on the first day of the seventh month. 3 Then he [f]read from it in the open square that was in front of the Water Gate [l]from morning until midday, before the men and women and those who could understand; and the ears of all the people were attentive to the Book of the Law.

4 So Ezra the scribe stood on a platform of wood which they had made for the purpose; and beside him, at his right hand, stood Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiah, Urijah, Hilkiah, and Maaseiah; and at his left hand Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Hashum, Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam. 5 And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people, for he was standing above all the people; and when he opened it, all the people [g]stood up. 6 And Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God.

Then all the people [h]answered, "Amen, Amen!" while [i]lifting up their hands. And they [j]bowed their heads and worshiped the LORD with their faces to the ground.

7 Also Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodijah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Levites, [k]helped the people to understand the Law; and the people [l]stood in their place. 8 So they read distinctly from the book, in the Law of God; and they gave the sense, and helped them to understand the reading.

9 [m]And Nehemiah, who was the [2]governor, Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Levites who taught the people said to all the people, [n]"This day is holy to the LORD your God; [o]do not mourn nor weep." For all the people wept, when they heard the words of the Law.

10 Then he said to them, "Go your way, eat the fat, drink the sweet, [p]and send portions to those for whom nothing is prepared; for this day is holy to our Lord. Do not sorrow, for the joy of the LORD is your strength."

11 So the Levites quieted all the people, saying, "Be still, for the day is holy; do not be grieved." 12 And all the people went their way to eat and drink, to [q]send portions and rejoice greatly, because they [r]understood the words that were declared to them.

The Feast of Tabernacles

13 Now on the second day the heads of the fathers' houses of all the people, with the priests and Levites, were gathered to Ezra the scribe, in order to understand the words of the Law. 14 And they found written in the Law, which the LORD had commanded by Moses, that the children of Israel should dwell in [s]booths[3] during the feast of the seventh month, 15 and [t]that they should announce and proclaim in all their cities and [u]in Jerusalem, saying, "Go out to the mountain, and [v]bring olive branches, branches of oil trees, myrtle branches, palm branches, and branches of leafy trees, to make booths, as it is written."

16 Then the people went out and brought them and made themselves booths, each one on the [w]roof of his house, or in their courtyards or the courts of the house of God, and in the open square of the [x]Water Gate [y]and in the open square of the Gate of Ephraim. 17 So the whole assembly of those who had returned from the captivity made [4]booths and sat under the booths; for since the days of Joshua the son of Nun until that day the children of Israel had not done so. And there was very [z]great gladness. 18 Also [a]day by day, from the first day until the last day, he read all the people stood up. By standing they expressed their reverence for the Law (cf. v. 6).

■ 8:3 he read from it in the open square. For the public reading of the Law in the context of covenant ratification or renewal, see Ex. 24:7; Josh. 8:30–35; 2 Kin. 23:1–3.

■ 8:6 Amen, Amen. The people concurred in the praise offered by Ezra; the repetition expresses the emphatic degree of assent.

lifting up their hands. Lifting the hands often accompanies prayer and praise to God (Ps. 28:2; 63:4; 134:2; 1 Tim. 2:8).

■ 8:8 gave the sense. The Law was not only read but explained, to ensure that the people grasped the meaning. There may also have been translation from Hebrew to Aramaic. The doctrine of the perspicuity ("clarity") of Scripture is that the things necessary for salvation can be understood from the Bible without special techniques or higher education. This truth does not eliminate the need for faithful exposition of the Scriptures by persons trained for this (Ezra 7:6–10).

■ 8:9 Nehemiah . . . Ezra . . . Levites. There was unity among all the leaders on this occasion.

This day is holy . . . do not mourn. Holiness and mourning are not mutually exclusive (Lev. 23:26–32; Is. 6:3–5), but it was clear that on this occasion sorrow would be inappropriate.

■ 8:10 those for whom nothing is prepared. Those who had plenty to eat were to share with those who did not (cf. Ps. 22:26). This incident provides an illustration for understanding the sin in 1 Cor. 11:17–34.

■ 8:14 dwell in booths. This temporary living arrangement was a reminder of life in the wilderness after the redemption from Egypt and before entering the Promised Land (Lev. 23:42, 43).

The People Confess Their Sins

9 Now on the twenty-fourth day of [a]this month the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, in sackcloth, [b]and with [f]dust on their heads. 2 Then [c]those of Israelite lineage separated themselves from all foreigners; and they stood and [d]confessed their sins and the iniquities of their fathers. 3 And they stood up in their place and [e]read from the Book of the Law of the LORD their God for one-fourth of the day; and for another fourth they confessed and worshiped the LORD their God.

4 Then Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani stood on the [z]stairs of the Levites and cried out with a loud voice to the LORD their God. 5 And the Levites, Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabniah, Sherebiah, Hodijah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah, said:

"Stand up and bless the LORD your God
Forever and ever!

"Blessed be [f]Your glorious name,
Which is exalted above all blessing and praise!
6 [g]You alone are the LORD;
[h]You have made heaven,
[i]The heaven of heavens, with [j]all their host,
The earth and everything on it,
The seas and all that is in them,
And You [k]preserve them all.
The host of heaven worships You.

7 "You are the LORD God,
Who chose [l]Abram,
And brought him out of Ur of the Chaldeans,
And gave him the name [m]Abraham;
8 You found his heart [n]faithful before You,
And made a [o]covenant with him
To give the land of the Canaanites,
The Hittites, the Amorites,
The Perizzites, the Jebusites,
And the Girgashites—
To give it to his descendants.
You [p]have performed Your words,
For You are righteous.

9 "You[q] saw the affliction of our fathers in Egypt,
And [r]heard their cry by the Red Sea.
10 You [s]showed signs and wonders against Pharaoh,
Against all his servants,
And against all the people of his land.
For You knew that they [t]acted [3]proudly against them.
So You [u]made a name for Yourself, as it is this day.

■ 9:1 were assembled. In 8:1 the people had gathered to hear the Law; here they gather to confess their sins in response to it (v. 3).

■ 9:2 their sins . . . their fathers. See note on Ezra 9:7.

■ 9:3 Law of the LORD. The Law calls for at least two responses: confession and worship.

■ 9:5–37 In this prayer of praise, the Levites (vv. 4, 5) address God on behalf of the people, extolling Him as Creator (v. 6) and Redeemer (vv. 7–12), Lawgiver and Disciplinarian, Savior and Judge (vv. 13–31). On the basis of His character and covenant, they petition God to take notice of their distress (vv. 32–37) in preparation for their covenant renewal (9:38—10:39 and note).

■ 9:7, 8 The people praise God for choosing Abraham and giving him the covenant of promise (Gen. 12—22).

■ 9:8 made a covenant. This covenant with Abraham (Gen. 15) is the basis upon which God's grace is extended time and again to His unfaithful people, as is brought out in the remainder of this prayer of praise.

You have performed Your words. God's promise to Abraham was conditioned only upon God's righteous oath (Gen. 15:9–21; Deut. 9:4–6).

■ 9:9–12 God is praised for redeeming Israel from Egypt (Ex. 1—19).

11 [v]And You divided the sea before them,
So that they went through the midst of the sea on the dry land;
And their persecutors You threw into the deep,
[w]As a stone into the mighty waters.
12 Moreover You [x]led them by day with a cloudy pillar,
And by night with a pillar of fire,
To give them light on the road
Which they should travel.

13 "You[y] came down also on Mount Sinai,
And spoke with them from heaven,
And gave them [z]just ordinances and true laws,
Good statutes and commandments.
14 You made known to them Your [a]holy Sabbath,
And commanded them precepts, statutes and laws,
By the hand of Moses Your servant.
15 You [b]gave them bread from heaven for their hunger,
And [c]brought them water out of the rock for their thirst,
And told them to [d]go in to possess the land
Which You had [4]sworn to give them.

16 "But[e] they and our fathers acted [5]proudly,
[f]Hardened[6] their necks,
And did not heed Your commandments.
17 They refused to obey,
And [g]they were not mindful of Your wonders
That You did among them.
But they hardened their necks,
And [7]in their rebellion
They appointed [h]a leader
To return to their bondage.
But You are God,
Ready to pardon,
[i]Gracious and merciful,
Slow to anger,
Abundant in kindness,
And did not forsake them.

18 "Even[j] when they made a molded calf for themselves,
And said, 'This is your god
That brought you up out of Egypt,'
And worked great provocations,
19 Yet in Your [k]manifold mercies
You did not forsake them in the wilderness.
The [l]pillar of the cloud did not depart from them by day,
To lead them on the road;
Nor the pillar of fire by night,
To show them light,
And the way they should go.

just ordinances . . . Good statutes. The Law was not perceived to be a burden, but a delight (Ps. 119:5–16; Rom. 7:12).

■ 9:15 sworn. The reference is to God's oath to Abraham (Ex. 6:8).

■ 9:16, 17 The first confession of sin.

■ 9:17 appointed a leader. See Num. 14:1–4. In contrast to the unfaithfulness of Israel is the faithfulness of God to His oath to Abraham (vv. 8, 15; Ezra 9:13 note).

■ 9:18 Even when. God's grace shines all the more brightly when juxtaposed against Israel's sin (Rom. 9:22–24).

■ 9:19–21 God's continual care in the wilderness was not due to Israel's obedience, but to His own compassion, stemming from His promise to Abraham (vv. 7, 8).

20 You also gave Your [m]good Spirit to instruct them,
And did not withhold Your [n]manna from their mouth,
And gave them [o]water for their thirst.
21 [p]Forty years You sustained them in the wilderness;
They lacked nothing;
Their [q]clothes did not wear out
And their feet did not swell.

22 "Moreover You gave them kingdoms and nations,
And divided them into [s]districts.
So they took possession of the land of [r]Sihon,
[t]The land of the king of Heshbon,
And the land of Og king of Bashan.
23 You also multiplied [s]their children as the stars of heaven,
And brought them into the land
Which You had told their fathers
To go in and possess.
24 So [t]the [1]people went in
And possessed the land;
[u]You subdued before them the inhabitants of the land,
The Canaanites,
And gave them into their hands,
With their kings
And the people of the land,
That they might do with them as they wished.
25 And they took strong cities and a [v]rich land,
And possessed [w]houses full of all goods,
Cisterns already dug, vineyards, olive groves,
And [2]fruit trees in abundance.
So they ate and were filled and [x]grew fat,
And delighted themselves in Your great [y]goodness.

26 "Nevertheless they [z]were disobedient
And rebelled against You,
[a]Cast Your law behind their backs
And killed Your [b]prophets, who [3]testified against them
To turn them to Yourself;
And they worked great provocations.
27 [c]Therefore You delivered them into the hand of their enemies,
Who oppressed them;
And in the time of their trouble,
When they cried to You,
You [d]heard from heaven;
And according to Your abundant mercies
[e]You gave them deliverers who saved them
From the hand of their enemies.

28 "But after they had rest,
[f]They again did evil before You.
Therefore You left them in the hand of their enemies,
So that they had dominion over them;
Yet when they returned and cried out to You,
You heard from heaven;
And [g]many times You delivered them according to Your mercies,

■ 9:22–25 God enabled the Israelites to conquer the land of Canaan in keeping with His promise to Abraham (vv. 7–8).

■ 9:26–28 Israel responded to God's faithfulness with disobedient rebellion during the days of the judges. For the pattern of rebellion, oppression, petition, and salvation, see Judg. 2:10–19.

■ 9:28 many times . . . Your mercies. Where sin abounded grace abounded all the more (Rom. 5:20).

29 And [4]testified against them,
That You might bring them back to Your law.
Yet they acted [5]proudly,
And did not heed Your commandments,
But sinned against Your judgments,
[h]'Which if a man does, he shall live by them.'
And they shrugged their shoulders,
[6]Stiffened their necks,
And would not hear.
30 Yet for many years You had patience with them,
And [7]testified [i]against them by Your Spirit [j]in Your prophets.
Yet they would not listen;
[k]Therefore You gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands.
31 Nevertheless in Your great mercy
[l]You did not utterly consume them nor forsake them;
For You are God, gracious and merciful.

32 "Now therefore, our God,
The great, the [m]mighty, and awesome God,
Who keeps covenant and mercy:
Do not let all the [8]trouble seem small before You
That has come upon us,
Our kings and our princes,
Our priests and our prophets,
Our fathers and on all Your people,
[n]From the days of the kings of Assyria until this day.
33 However [o]You are just in all that has befallen us;
For You have dealt faithfully,
But [p]we have done wickedly.
34 Neither our kings nor our princes,
Our priests nor our fathers,
Have kept Your law,
Nor heeded Your commandments and Your testimonies,
With which You testified against them.
35 For they have [q]not served You in their kingdom,
Or in the many good things that You gave them,
Or in the large and rich land which You set before them;
Nor did they turn from their wicked works.

36 "Here [r]we are, servants today!
And the land that You gave to our fathers,
To eat its fruit and its bounty,
Here we are, servants in it!
37 And [s]it yields much increase to the kings
You have set over us,
Because of our sins;
Also they have [t]dominion over our bodies and our cattle
At their pleasure;
And we are in great distress.

■ 9:29–31 The praise of God continues with mention of His patience during the monarchy.

■ 9:29 he shall live by them. The Mosaic covenant offered life for obedience (Lev. 18:5; Rom. 10:5). Israel's failure to merit life in the land testifies to the universal need for a Substitute through whom the righteous requirements of the law might be fully met on behalf of those who could not meet these terms on their own (Rom. 8:3, 4).

kings of Assyria. These are the Neo-Assyrian kings of the late tenth century B.C. After them came the Neo-Babylonian kings in the late seventh century, and then the Persian kings in the mid-sixth century.

■ 9:33 You are just. The execution of the covenant curses throughout Israel's history was in perfect harmony with the principle of divine justice, which lay at the foundation of the Mosaic covenant (Ezra 9:9 note).

■ 9:34, 35 The leaders are singled out as particularly responsible.

■ 9:36 servants. See note on "we were slaves" at Ezra 9:9.

■ 9:37 we are in great distress. Implicit in this statement is a request for aid (v. 32 note).

CHAPTER 10

The People Who Sealed the Covenant

10 Now those who placed their seal on the document were:
Nehemiah the [1]governor, [a]the son of Hacaliah, and Zedekiah, 2 [b]Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah, 3 Pashhur, Amariah, Malchijah, 4 Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch, 5 Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah, 6 Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch, 7 Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin, 8 Maaziah, Bilgai, and Shemaiah. 10 Their brethren: Shebaniah, Hodijah, Kelita, Pelaiah, Hanan, 11 Micha, Rehob, Hashabiah, 12 Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah, 13 Hodijah, Bani, and Beninu.

14 The leaders of the people: [c]Parosh, Pahath-Moab, Elam, Zattu, Bani, 15 Bunni, Azgad, Bebai, 16 Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin, 17 Ater, Hezekiah, Azzur, 18 Hodijah, Hashum, Bezai, 19 Hariph, Anathoth, Nebai, 20 Magpiash, Meshullam, Hezir, 21 Meshezabel, Zadok, Jaddua, 22 Pelatiah, Hanan, Anaiah, 23 Hoshea, Hananiah, Hasshub, 24 Hallohesh, Pilha, Shobek, 25 Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah, 26 Ahijah, Hanan, Anan, 27 Malluch, Harim, and Baanah.

The Covenant That Was Sealed

28 [d]Now the rest of the people—the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, the Nethinim, [e]and all those who had separated themselves from the peoples of the lands to the Law of God, their wives, their sons, and their daughters, everyone who had knowledge and understanding— 29 these joined with their brethren, their nobles, [f]and entered into a curse and an oath [g]to walk in God's Law, which was given by Moses the servant of God, and to observe and do all the commandments of the LORD our Lord, and His ordinances and His statutes: 30 We would not give [h]our daughters as wives to the peoples of the land, nor take their daughters for our sons; 31 [i]if the peoples of the land brought [2]wares or any grain to sell on the Sabbath day, we would not buy it from them on the Sabbath, or on a holy day; and we would forego the [j]seventh year's produce and the [k]exacting[3] of every debt.

32 Also we made ordinances for ourselves, to exact from ourselves yearly [l]one-third of a shekel for the service of the house of our God: 33 for [m]the showbread, for the regular grain offering, for the [n]regular burnt offering of the Sabbaths, the New Moons, and the set feasts; for the holy things, for the sin offerings to make atonement for Israel, and all the work of the house of our God. 34 We cast lots among the priests, the Levites, and the people, [o]for bringing the wood offering into the house of our God, according to our fathers' houses, at the appointed times year by year, to burn on the altar of the LORD our God [p]as it is written in the Law.

35 And we made ordinances [q]to bring the firstfruits of our ground and the firstfruits of all fruit of all trees, year by year, to the house of the LORD; 36 to bring the [r]firstborn of our sons and our

■ 9:38—10:39 The people not only prayed for aid, but also renewed their obligations under the Mosaic covenant. From the beginning, the Mosaic covenant had to be renewed after periods of covenant violation (Ex. 34; 1 Sam. 12; 2 Kin. 23).

■ 9:38 write it. When the law was written down and sealed it could become an effective instrument in the redemptive purposes of God (Introduction to Ezra: Characteristics and Themes).

■ 10:1–27 The leaders who renewed the covenant are listed. Surprisingly Ezra is absent. He played a significant role in ch. 8, but has now quietly disappeared from the scene. His job was successfully completed when the people themselves were reading from the Law and understanding it on their own.

■ 10:1 those who placed their seal. This list of people, who for the most part are not known elsewhere, reinforces one of the major themes of Ezra and Nehemiah: the people of God as a whole, not just the great leaders, are vital for the accomplishing of God's redemptive plan (Introduction to Ezra: Characteristics and Themes).

■ 10:28 Nethinim. These were temple servants, together with the priests, Levites, and others (1 Chr. 9:2 note).

■ 10:29 entered into . . . an oath. The swearing of the oath by the people (9:15; Ezra 10:5 note) emphasizes the distinctively legal nature of the Mosaic covenantal arrangement, as compared to the Abrahamic covenant of grace (Gen. 12:1–3), in which the oath is taken by God alone. As the apostle Paul would later reveal, the Mosaic covenant was a kind of "tutor" whose introduction would not annul the covenant of promise already made with Abraham (Gal. 3:17, 24). Throughout the history of redemption, all of God's covenantal arrangements call for an obedience springing from faith in God and willing to observe the terms of the covenant.

■ 10:30–39 Particular pledges of obedience are elaborated.

■ 10:30 give . . . as wives. Intermarriage with people outside the covenant was a recurring problem in the history of Israel (cf. Ezra 4:3 note).

■ 10:31 Sabbath. See Ex. 20:8–11; Deut. 5:12–15. See note on 9:14.

■ 10:32 one-third of a shekel. Ex. 30:13, 14 prescribes half a shekel. The difference could be from the use of a new monetary system under the Persians, or it could be a concession to the hard economic times.

■ 10:33 offerings. See Lev. 1—7.

cattle, as it is written in the Law, and the firstborn of our herds and our flocks, to the house of our God, to the priests who minister in the house of our God; 37 [s]to bring the firstfruits of our dough, our offerings, the fruit from all kinds of trees, the new wine and oil, to the priests, to the storerooms of the [t]house of our God; and to bring [u]the tithes of our land to the Levites, for the Levites should receive the tithes in all our farming communities. 38 And the priest, the descendant of Aaron, shall be with the Levites [v]when the Levites receive tithes; and the Levites shall bring up a tenth of the tithes to the house of our God, to [w]the rooms of the storehouse.

39 For the children of Israel and the children of Levi [x]shall bring the offering of the grain, of the new wine and the oil, to the storerooms where the articles of the sanctuary are, where the priests who minister and the gatekeepers [y]and the singers are; and we will not [z]neglect the house of our God.

The People Dwelling in Jerusalem

11 Now the leaders of the people dwelt at Jerusalem; the rest of the people cast lots to bring one out of ten to dwell in Jerusalem, [a]the holy city, and nine-tenths were to dwell in other cities. 2 And the people blessed all the men who [b]willingly offered themselves to dwell at Jerusalem.

3 [c]These are the heads of the province who dwelt in Jerusalem. (But in the cities of Judah everyone dwelt in his own possession in their cities—Israelites, priests, Levites, [d]Nethinim, and [e]descendants of Solomon's servants.) 4 Also [f]in Jerusalem dwelt some of the children of Judah and of the children of Benjamin.

The children of Judah: Athaiah the son of Uzziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel, of the children of [g]Perez; 5 and Maaseiah the son of Baruch, the son of Col-Hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zechariah, the son of Shiloni. 6 All the sons of Perez who dwelt at Jerusalem were four hundred and sixty-eight valiant men.

7 And these are the sons of Benjamin: Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeshaiah; 8 and after him Gabbai and Sallai, nine hundred and twenty-eight. 9 Joel the son of Zichri was their overseer, and Judah the son of [1]Senuah was second over the city.

10 [h]Of the priests: Jedaiah the son of Joiarib, and Jachin; 11 Seraiah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, was the leader of the house of God. 12 Their brethren who did the work of the house were eight hundred and twenty-two; and Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malchijah, 13 and his brethren, heads of the fathers' houses, were two hundred and forty-two; and Amashai the son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer, 14 and their brethren, mighty men of valor, were one hundred and twenty-eight. Their overseer was Zabdiel [2]the son of one of the great men.

15 Also of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni; 16 [i]Shabbethai and [j]Jozabad, of the heads of the Levites, had the oversight of [k]the business outside of the [3]house of God; 17 Mattaniah the son of [4]Micha, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, the leader who began the thanksgiving with prayer; Bakbukiah, the second among his brethren; and Abda the son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun. 18 All the Levites in [l]the holy city were two hundred and eighty-four.

19 Moreover the gatekeepers, Akkub, Talmon, and their brethren who kept the gates, were one hundred and seventy-two.

20 And the rest of Israel, of the priests and Levites, were in all the cities of Judah, everyone in his inheritance. 21 [m]But the Nethinim dwelt in Ophel. And Ziha and Gishpa were over the Nethinim.

■ 10:39 not neglect the house of God. Rebuilding the house of God is a major theme in Ezra and Nehemiah (Introduction to Ezra: Characteristics and Themes).

■ 11:1 cast lots. This phrase ties this list to the pledges in 10:30–39 (cf. 10:34) and shows the quick implementation of those pledges.

one out of ten. Populating the city by means of a tithe (a tenth) of the people is the first step in not neglecting the house of God, as pledged in 10:39.

the holy city. A rare phrase, used elsewhere only in v. 18; Is. 48:2; 52:1. Holiness has been expanding—from holy vessels (Ezra 1:7; cf. 8:28) to priests (Ezra 8:28), people (Ezra 9:2), the holy place (Ezra 9:8), the gates (3:1), the Sabbaths (9:14)—the entire city is now holy. The city with all that is in it has become holy, a "house of God," which the Lord purposed to build (Heb. 3:1–6).

■ 11:2 who willingly offered. This probably does not refer to a second group in addition to the tenth chosen by lot, but to a willing spirit in those who were chosen.

■ 11:4 Judah . . . Benjamin. See note on Ezra 1:5.

22 Also the overseer of the Levites at Jerusalem was Uzzi the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micha, of the sons of Asaph, the singers in charge of the [5]service of the [6]house of God. 23 For [n]it was the king's command concerning them that a [7]certain portion should be for the singers, a quota day by day. 24 Pethahiah the son of Meshezabel, of the children of [o]Zerah the son of Judah, was [p]the[8] king's deputy in all matters concerning the people.

The People Dwelling Outside Jerusalem

25 And as for the villages with their fields, some of the children of Judah dwelt in [q]Kirjath Arba and its villages, Dibon and its villages, Jekabzeel and its villages; 26 in Jeshua, Moladah, Beth Pelet, 27 Hazar Shual, and Beersheba and its villages; 28 in Ziklag and Meconah and its villages; 29 in En Rimmon, Zorah, Jarmuth, 30 Zanoah, Adullam, and their villages; in Lachish and its fields; in Azekah and its villages. They dwelt from Beersheba to the Valley of Hinnom.

31 Also the children of Benjamin from Geba dwelt in Michmash, Aija, and Bethel, and their villages; 32 in Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah; 33 in Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim; 34 in Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat; 35 in Lod, Ono, and [r]the Valley of Craftsmen. 36 Some of the Judean divisions of Levites were in Benjamin.

The Priests and Levites

12 Now these are the [a]priests and the Levites who came up with [b]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua: [c]Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra, 2 Amariah, [1]Malluch, Hattush, 3 [2]Shechaniah, [3]Rehum, [4]Meremoth, 4 Iddo, [5]Ginnethoi, [d]Abijah, 5 [6]Mijamin, [7]Maadiah, Bilgah, 6 Shemaiah, Joiarib, Jedaiah, 7 [8]Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, and Jedaiah.

These were the heads of the priests and their brethren in the days of [e]Jeshua.

8 Moreover the Levites were Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and Mattaniah [f]who led the thanksgiving psalms, he and his brethren. 9 Also Bakbukiah and Unni, their brethren, stood across from them in their duties.

10 Jeshua begot Joiakim, Joiakim begot Eliashib, Eliashib begot Joiada, 11 Joiada begot Jonathan, and Jonathan begot Jaddua.

12 Now in the days of Joiakim, the priests, the [g]heads of the fathers' houses were: of Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah; 13 of Ezra, Meshullam; of Amariah, Jehohanan; 14 of [9]Melichu, Jonathan; of [1]Shebaniah, Joseph; 15 of [2]Harim, Adna; of [3]Meraioth, Helkai; 16 of Iddo, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meshullam; 17 of Abijah, Zichri; the son of [4]Minjamin; of [5]Moadiah, Piltai; 18 of Bilgah, Shammua; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan; 19 of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi; 20 of [6]Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, Eber; 21 of Hilkiah, Hashabiah; and of Jedaiah, Nethanel.

22 During the reign of Darius the Persian, a record was also kept of the Levites and priests who had been [h]heads of their fathers' houses in the days of Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan, and Jaddua. 23 The sons of Levi, the heads of the fathers' houses until the days of Johanan the son of Eliashib, were written in the book of the [i]chronicles.

24 And the heads of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeshua the son of Kadmiel, with their brothers across from them, to [j]praise and give thanks, [k]group[7] alternating with group, [l]according to the command of David the man of God. 25 Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub were gatekeepers keeping the watch at the storerooms of the gates. 26 These lived in the days of Joiakim the son of Jeshua, the son of [8]Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah [m]the governor, and of Ezra the priest, [n]the scribe.

Nehemiah Dedicates the Wall

27 Now at [o]the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem they sought out the Levites in all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem to celebrate the dedication with gladness, [p]both with

■ 11:23 the king's command. The reference may be to David (12:24; 1 Chr. 25) or to King Artaxerxes (Ezra 7:21–24).

■ 11:25–36 This list is of those who resettled the surrounding area. It links with Ezra 2:21–35, binding Ezra and Nehemiah into a whole.

■ 12:1–10 This list of priests and Levites who returned under Zerubbabel connects the end of Nehemiah to the beginning of Ezra, uniting the whole work.

■ 12:1 Zerubbabel . . . Jeshua. See note on Ezra 2:2.

Ezra. This is not the same Ezra as the leading figure of Ezra and Nehemiah. That Ezra returned eighty years after Zerubbabel (Ezra 7:6 note).

■ 12:9 across from them. For antiphonal singing, see v. 24.

■ 12:10 Eliashib. See 3:1 and note.

■ 12:12–21 This list is repeated with certain variations from vv. 1–7.

■ 12:22–26 This is a list of heads of Levitical families.

■ 12:22 Darius the Persian. This is Darius II (423–404 B.C.) or more probably Darius III (336–331).

■ 12:27–43 The dedication ceremony is for the wall surrounding God's thanksgivings and singing, with cymbals and stringed instruments and harps. 28 And the sons of the singers gathered together from the countryside around Jerusalem, from the [q]villages of the Netophathites, 29 from the house of Gilgal, and from the fields of Geba and Azmaveth; for the singers had built themselves villages all around Jerusalem. 30 Then the priests and Levites [r]purified themselves, and purified the people, the gates, and the wall.

31 So I brought the leaders of Judah up on the wall, and appointed two large thanksgiving choirs. [s]One went to the right hand on the wall [t]toward the Refuse Gate. 32 After them went Hoshaiah and half of the leaders of Judah, 33 and Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam, 34 Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, Jeremiah, 35 and some of the priests' sons [u]with trumpets—Zechariah the son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Michaiah, the son of Zaccur, the son of Asaph, 36 and his brethren, Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani, with [v]the musical [w]instruments of David the man of God. And Ezra the scribe went before them. 37 [x]By the Fountain Gate, in front of them, they went up [y]the stairs of the [z]City of David, on the stairway of the wall, beyond the house of David, as far as [a]the Water Gate eastward.

38 [b]The other thanksgiving choir went the opposite way, and I was behind them with half of the people on the wall, going past the [c]Tower of the Ovens as far as [d]the Broad Wall, 39 [e]and above the Gate of Ephraim, above [f]the Old Gate, above [g]the Fish Gate, [h]the Tower of Hananel, the Tower of [i]the Hundred, as far as [j]the Sheep Gate; and they stopped by [j]the Gate of the Prison.

40 So the two thanksgiving choirs stood in the house of God, likewise I and the half of the rulers with me; 41 and the priests, Eliakim, Maaseiah, [k]Minjamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, and Hananiah, with trumpets; 42 also Maaseiah, Shemaiah, Eleazar, Uzzi, Jehohanan, Malchijah, Elam, and Ezer. The singers [l]sang loudly with Jezrahiah the director.

43 Also that day they offered great sacrifices, and rejoiced, for God had made them rejoice with great joy; the women and the children also rejoiced, so that the joy of Jerusalem was heard [k]afar off.

Temple Responsibilities

44 [l]And at the same time some were appointed over the rooms of the storehouse for the offerings, the firstfruits, and the [m]tithes, to gather into them from the fields of the cities the portions specified by the Law for the priests and Levites; for Judah rejoiced over the priests and Levites who [3]ministered. 45 Both the singers and the gatekeepers kept the charge of their God and the charge of the purification, [n]according to the command of David and Solomon his son. 46 For in the days of David [o]and Asaph of old there were chiefs of the singers, and songs of praise and thanksgiving to God. 47 In the days of Zerubbabel and in the days of Nehemiah all Israel gave the portions for the singers and the gatekeepers, a portion for [p]each day. [q]They also [4]consecrated holy things for the Levites, [r]and the Levites consecrated them for the children of Aaron.

Principles of Separation

13 On that day [a]they read from the Book of Moses in the hearing of the people, and in it was found written [b]that no Ammonite or Moabite should ever come into the assembly of God, 2 because they had not met the children of Israel with bread and water, but [c]hired Balaam

"house," the temple as such and the community, which is now complete. In this section Nehemiah writes in the first person (v. 31).

■ 12:27 sought out the Levites. The dedication could not take place without the help of the Levites, who are included in the preceding lists (vv. 1–26).

■ 12:28, 29 the singers gathered. Hence the list in 11:22, 23.

■ 12:30 purified. Ritual purification was a representation or symbol of moral purity (Lev. 16:30).

■ 12:31–39 A grand procession took place, apparently beginning at the Valley Gate (3:13). Part of the procession, led by Ezra (v. 36), moved counterclockwise (v. 31), passing the Refuse Gate, the Fountain Gate, and the Water Gate before proceeding to the temple. The other part of the procession, accompanied by Nehemiah (v. 38), moved clockwise (v. 38), passing the gates on the north side of the city before going to the temple. For the locations, see ch. 3 and notes.

the women and the children. Including women and children underlines the great size of the celebration (3:12 note; 5:1 note).

■ 12:44–47 These verses show that the people had honored their pledge (10:39) and not neglected the house of God.

■ 12:45 command of David and Solomon. See 1 Chr. 25; 2 Chr. 8:14.

■ 12:47 all Israel. The people of God as a whole, not just the great leaders, are vital for accomplishing God's redemptive plan.

■ 13:1–3 The pledge of general obedience to the Law of Moses (10:28, 29) included separation from neighboring peoples (10:28). The people did not conform to this aspect of the law (Deut. 23:3–6). The exclusion of the "mixed multitude" was in keeping with the pledge in 10:28, 29. It was religious separation, not racial or political (Ezra 4:3 note).

■ 13:1 On that day. This was during Nehemiah's second term as governor, as indicated by the chronological references in vv. 4, 6.

against them to curse them. [d]However, our God turned the curse into a blessing. [3] So it was, when they had heard the Law, [e]that they separated all the mixed multitude from Israel.

The Reforms of Nehemiah

[4] Now before this, [f]Eliashib the priest, having authority over the storerooms of the house of our God, was allied with [g]Tobiah. [5] And he had prepared for him a large room, [h]where previously they had stored the grain offerings, the frankincense, the articles, the tithes of grain, the new wine and oil, [i]which were commanded to be given to the Levites and singers and gatekeepers, and the offerings for the priests. [6] But during all this I was not in Jerusalem, [j]for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon I had returned to the king. Then after certain days I obtained leave from the king, [7] and I came to Jerusalem and discovered the evil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in [k]preparing a room for him in the courts of the [l]house of God. [8] And it grieved me bitterly; therefore I threw all the household goods of Tobiah out of the room. [9] Then I commanded them to [l]cleanse the rooms; and I brought back into them the articles of the house of God, with the grain offering and the frankincense.

[10] I also realized that the portions for the Levites had [m]not been given them; for each of the Levites and the singers who did the work had gone back to [n]his field. [11] So [o]I contended with the rulers, and said, [p]"Why is the house of God forsaken?" And I gathered them together and set them in their place. [12] [q]Then all Judah brought the tithe of the grain and the new wine and the oil to the storehouse. [13] [r]And I appointed as treasurers over the storehouse Shelemiah the priest and Zadok the scribe, and of the Levites, Pedaiah; and next to them was Hanan the son of Zaccur, the son of Mattaniah; for they were considered [s]faithful, and their task was to distribute to their brethren.

[14] [t]Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and do not wipe out my good deeds that I have done for the house of my God, and for its services!

[15] In those days I saw people in Judah treading wine presses [u]on the Sabbath, and bringing in sheaves, and loading donkeys with wine, grapes, figs, and all kinds of burdens, [v]which they brought into Jerusalem on the Sabbath day. And I warned them about the day on which they were selling provisions. [16] Men of Tyre dwelt there also, who brought in fish and all kinds of goods, and sold them on the Sabbath to the children of Judah, and in Jerusalem.

[17] Then I contended with the nobles of Judah, and said to them, "What evil thing is this that you do, by which you profane the Sabbath day? [18] [w]Did not your fathers do thus, and did not our God bring all this disaster on us and on this city? Yet you bring added wrath on Israel by profaning the Sabbath."

[19] So it was, at the gates of Jerusalem, as it [x]began to be dark before the Sabbath, that I commanded the gates to be shut, and charged that they must not be opened till after the Sabbath. [y]Then I posted some of my servants at the gates, so that no burdens would be brought in on the Sabbath day. [20] Now the merchants and sellers of all kinds of [2]wares [3]lodged outside Jerusalem once or twice.

[21] Then I warned them, and said to them, "Why do you spend the night [4]around the wall? If you do so again, I will lay hands on you!" From that time on they came no more on the Sabbath.

■ 13:3 heard the Law. Though Ezra is not on the scene, his labor is still bearing fruit (10:1–27 note).

■ 13:4–14 The final pledge, not to neglect the house of God (10:39), had been violated during Nehemiah's absence (v. 11), as had the pledges regarding the storerooms and the tithes (10:37–39). Reform was needed.

■ 13:4 Eliashib. This Eliashib was possibly the high priest (3:1 note), but more likely another priest with the same name; the high priest would probably not have been put in charge of the storerooms.

king of Babylon. The Persian kings bore this title after the conquest of the Babylonian Empire (Ezra 5:13).

■ 13:8 threw. Compare Matt. 21:12, 13.

■ 13:10 portions for the Levites. These words link this section to the pledge in 10:37. The Levites possessed no land (Num. 18:20–24; Deut. 14:29; 18:1), though some may have had private income (Deut. 18:8). The dependence of the Levites on the support of the people may explain the reluctance of many Levites to leave Babylonia (Ezra 8:15–20).

■ 13:11 I contended. See note on 5:7.

forsaken. The pledge not to neglect the house of God (10:39) had been violated.

■ 13:12 brought the tithe. They did so in keeping with the pledge in 10:37.

■ 13:13 faithful. Cf. Acts 6:1–5; 2 Cor. 8:16–21.

■ 13:14 Remember me. The fourth use of "remember" in a prayer (1:8 note), and the second of four prayers by Nehemiah in the specific form "remember me" (5:19 note).

■ 13:15 Sabbath . . . bringing . . . selling. Three links with the pledge in 10:31 that had been violated.

■ 13:16 Men of Tyre. These men were one of the "peoples of the land" in view in 10:31.

■ 13:19 began to be dark. The Israelites usually counted days from sunset to sunset (Lev. 23:32; Esth. 4:16; Dan. 8:14 text note).

22 And I commanded the Levites that [z]they should cleanse themselves, and that they should go and guard the gates, to sanctify the Sabbath day.

Remember me, O my God, concerning this also, and spare me according to the greatness of Your mercy!

23 In those days I also saw Jews who [a]had married women of [b]Ashdod, Ammon, and Moab. 24 And half of their children spoke the language of Ashdod, and could not speak the language of Judah, but spoke according to the language of one or the other people.

25 So I [c]contended with them and [5]cursed them, struck some of them and pulled out their hair, and made them [d]swear by God, saying, "You shall not give your daughters as wives to their sons, nor take their daughters for your sons or yourselves. 26 [e]Did not Solomon king of Israel sin by these things? Yet among many nations there was no king like him, [f]who was beloved of his God; and God made him king over all Israel. [g]Nevertheless pagan women caused even him to sin. 27 Should we then hear of your doing all this great evil, [h]transgressing against our God by marrying pagan women?"

28 And one of the sons [i]of Joiada, the son of Eliashib the high priest, was a son-in-law of [j]Sanballat the Horonite; therefore I drove him from me.

29 [k]Remember them, O my God, because they have defiled the priesthood and [l]the covenant of the priesthood and the Levites.

30 [m]Thus I cleansed them of everything pagan. I also [n]assigned duties to the priests and the Levites, each to his service, 31 and to bringing [o]the wood offering and the firstfruits at appointed times.

■ 13:26 even him. The argument is from the greater to the less: "If Solomon was not spared, how much less will we be spared."

■ 13:28 son-in-law. His marriage was doubly grievous, first, because a high priest in particular was not to marry a foreigner (Lev. 21:14), and second, because Sanballat was an enemy (2:19; 4:1; 6:1).

■ 13:29 Remember them. The sixth use of "remember" in a prayer (1:8 note), and the third imprecatory prayer (4:4, 5 note).

■ 13:31 wood. Contributions of wood are made in keeping with the pledge in 10:34.

Remember me. See note on v. 14. The book does not end on the high note of 12:27–47, but on the note of failure to carry out the pledges of 10:30–39 and the continuing need for reform. The people of God had not arrived at a resting place. Ezra and Nehemiah show the devotion of the faithful to the temple of God and the community surrounding it, a devotion that comes to maturity in Christ and the church (1 Cor. 3:5–17; Eph. 2:21, 22; 4:16; Heb. 3:1–6).

The Book of

ESTHER

Author Although the author of the Book of Esther is unknown, his interest in the origin and observance of the festival of Purim, his intense nationalism, and his intimate knowledge of the Persian court, customs, and geography suggest that he was a Persian Jew living in Susa.

Date and Occasion The earliest possible date for the book is sometime after the events described in it, that is, the fifth century B.C. The latest possible date is during the first century B.C. A late fifth- or fourth-century dating is now generally preferred by scholars, who point to linguistic evidence as well as the author's favorable attitude toward the Persian king and Gentiles in general as evidence for an early date.

The writer of Esther clearly intended his book to explain the origin of the celebration of Purim, to establish Purim as a festival celebrated by each new generation of Jews, and to regulate its observance (9:20–32).

Interpretive Difficulties The question of whether the Book of Esther belongs in the canon of Scripture has been raised from an early period by both Jews and Christians, though the book's commendation of the popular festival of Purim argued strongly in favor of its inclusion in the Jewish canon. Objections voiced by some Christians to Esther's canonicity included its absence from some of the earliest lists of canonical books, its lack of citation in the New Testament, its lack of overt references to God and to religious practices, its excessive Jewish nationalism, and its spirit of vengeance. Some of these objections were alleviated when the early church adopted an expanded version of the Book of Esther found in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the Old Testament). This Septuagint text contains over one hundred verses, not found in the Hebrew text, that made the book more religiously acceptable to some. These additions include a dream of Mordecai about the coming destruction of the Jews and prayers of Mordecai and Esther for deliverance. However, when the Protestant churches judged the shorter Hebrew version of Esther to be the authoritative version, objections to the book's canonicity resurfaced.

The violence in the Book of Esther is a kind of civil war, which Cicero called the worst of all calamities. The author of Esther shows the relief of the people when justice triumphs, and does not criticize the means employed, such as the hanging of Haman's sons. But it would be a mistake to consider these events as models for behavior. The extreme situation and threat under which they happened limits what can be concluded from them. The author does not engage in moral reflection about the massive killing and the motives of avengers. The reader struggling with some of the questions that arise needs to go to other places, such as the prophets, Job, or Revelation, where the discussion includes them and answers may be found. Positively, the Book of Esther testifies clearly to the invisible hand of Providence, which will not allow the covenant people to be utterly destroyed.

Characteristics and Themes The Book of Esther is renowned for the high quality of its literary artistry, which functions as the principal vehicle for its religious meaning. The author skillfully uses narrative tensions created by reversals or sharp contrasts of fortunes and expectations, and by roles that are often highly ironic in nature. Notice the two descriptions of banquets of Ahasuerus and his wife, the first described in full detail and the second presented tersely (1:1–8, 9); the striking contrast between the initial portrait of the king as powerful and pompous (1:1–8) and the subsequent revelation of his incompetence and weakness; the effective contrast between the king's response when Vashti failed to appear before him and when Esther appeared unannounced (1:11–21; 5:1–3); the ironic reversal of Haman's career (6:4–12); the pathetic scene in which Haman pleads for Esther's mercy, only to be accused of attempted rape (7:7–9); and the poetic justice of hanging Haman on his own gallows. The last is an example of the ironic reversals in the fortunes and position of Haman and Mordecai (7:9–10; 8:1–2; 9:25). Such reversals, when compared with those of the Exodus, the Babylonian exile, and even the Crucifixion and Resurrection, subtly reveal God's hand in the salvation history of His people.

The writer also uses repetition or duplication to weave the various parts of the story together. For example, notice the three references to official records ("chronicles") located at significant turning points in the narrative (2:23; 6:1; 10:2). There are three sets of paired banquets marking the beginning, middle, and end of the book: the banquets of Ahasuerus (1:3–4, 5–8), Esther (5:4–8; 7:1–10), and the two celebrations of Purim (9:18–32). See also the banquet theme in 1:9; 2:18; 3:15; 8:17; 9:17; the threefold mention of the size of Ahasuerus's empire (1:1; 8:9; 9:30); the repeated promise to Esther of "up to half the kingdom" (5:3, 6; 7:2; cf. 9:12); the repeated insistence that the Hebrews did not plunder their enemies (9:10, 15–16); the two accounts of Esther's hidden identity (2:10, 20); the double assembling of virgins (2:8, 19); Haman's two interchanges with his wife and friends (5:10–14; 6:13–14); the two veilings of Haman's head (6:12; 7:8); the two references to the subsiding of Ahasuerus's anger (2:1; 7:10); and the two reminders that the laws of the Medes and Persians cannot be altered (1:19; 8:8). The use of the number "seven" is noteworthy (1:5, 10, 14), as is Esther's repeated request and reception of favor (2:9, 15, 17; 5:2, 8; 7:3; 8:9).

The literary technique of foreshadowing is also employed in the Book of Esther. Most striking is the prediction of Haman's wife that he would "surely fall" because Mordecai was a Jew (6:13). The author is a master of suspense and paces the speed of the narrative well. The constant references to time not only present the events as history (1:1, 2) and underscore the theme of God's providential working in history, but also keep the story moving (e.g., 2:1, 15, 19, 21; 3:1).

The writer of Esther creatively builds upon the symbolic or typical aspects of the names of two of the main characters to show how the personal antagonism between Haman, the archenemy of the Jews, and Mordecai, the faithful Jew, was part of the historic conflict between Israel and the Amalekites. This conflict provides the foundation for the plot against all the Jews (2:5 note; 3:1 note). Similarities in phrasing, setting, story line, and emphasis also suggest that the Joseph story was an important model for the writer of Esther (note the similarities between 2:2–4 and Gen. 41:34–37; 3:10 and Gen. 41:42; 8:6 and Gen. 44:34).

A number of important themes are intertwined in the book. The theme of feasting or banquets establishes the setting of the main action of the narrative, culminating with the celebration of Purim, and contrasting with the theme of fasting (4:3, 16; 9:31). A contrast of obedience and disobedience also runs through the book. The initial disobedience of Vashti in ch. 1 sets the stage for the challenges facing Esther about obeying Mordecai (2:10, 20; 4:8–16) and standing up against the king's law (4:11, 16; 5:1, 2). The stage is also set for Mordecai's refusal to obey Haman's command, and his contrary willingness to carry out Esther's instructions (4:17) and to serve both the Persian king and the best interests of the Jews (10:3). The theme of providential protection of the Jews, as indicated in 4:14, is basic to the narrative and is a reason for the book's continuing significance among the community of faith. Related to this theme is that of rest and relief from enemies, which the feast of Purim commemorates (9:16, 22, cf. Deut. 25:19). Though God is not explicitly mentioned in this book, the reader nevertheless learns through the narrative that God is always, if invisibly, present with His people. He continues to guide and protect them today, even as He defended them in ancient Persia. □

The King Dethrones Queen Vashti

NOW it came to pass in the days of [a]Ahasuerus[f] (this was the Ahasuerus who reigned [b]over one hundred and twenty-seven provinces, [c]from India to Ethiopia), [2] in those days when King Ahasuerus [d]sat on the throne of his kingdom, which was in [e]Shushan[2] the [3]citadel, [3] that in the third year of his reign he [f]made a feast for all his officials and servants—the powers of Persia and Media, the nobles, and the princes of the provinces being before him— [4] when he showed the riches of his glorious kingdom and the splendor of his excellent majesty for many days, one hundred and eighty days in all.

[5] And when these days were completed, the king made a feast lasting seven days for all the people who were present in [4]Shushan the [5]citadel, from great to small, in the court of the garden of the king's palace. [6] There were white and blue linen curtains fastened with cords of fine linen and purple on silver rods and marble pillars; and the [g]couches were of gold and silver on a mosaic pavement of alabaster, turquoise, and white and black marble. [7] And they served drinks in golden vessels, each vessel being different from the other, with royal wine in abundance, [h]according to the [6]generosity of the king. [8] In accordance with the law, the drinking was not compulsory; for so the king had ordered all the officers of his household, that they should do according to each man's pleasure.

[9] Queen Vashti also made a feast for the women in the royal palace which belonged to King Ahasuerus.

[10] On the seventh day, when the heart of the king was merry with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, [i]Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, seven eunuchs who served in the presence of King Ahasuerus, [11] to bring Queen Vashti before the king, wearing her royal crown,

■ 1:1 Ahasuerus. Also known as Xerxes (486–465 B.C.), Ahasuerus was the Persian king mentioned in Ezra 4:6. He was renowned for consolidating his father Darius's empire, for his successful building projects, and for his wars against the Greeks from 480–470 B.C.

one hundred and twenty-seven provinces. The reference here to the large number of divisions within the twenty larger administrative districts, or satrapies, in the Persian Empire is intended to impress.

Ethiopia. In Hebrew, "Cush," the region south of Egypt, now part of northern Sudan.

■ 1:2 Shushan the citadel. This acropolis, a fortified palace 120 feet above the surrounding city of Susa, was one of the three Persian capitals and the royal winter residence. It has been excavated several times since 1851.

■ 1:3 in the third year. 483 B.C.

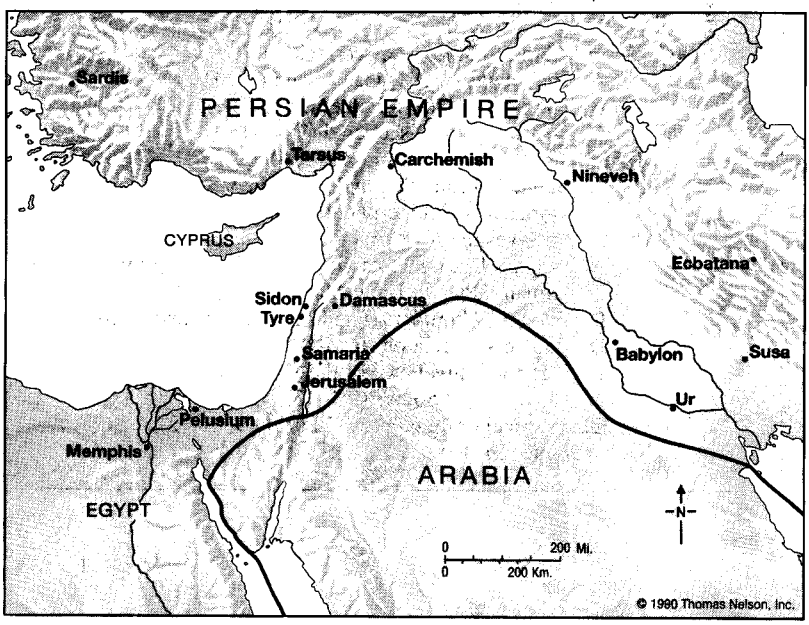
■ 1:4–7 For 180 days the king ostentatiously displayed the royal wealth. The extravagant seven-day outdoor feast was the climax of the celebrations. The elaborate details about the drinking vessels and the abundance of the wine stress the king's lavish generosity.

■ 1:9 Vashti. This name, not found elsewhere, may be related to the Persian word meaning "the beloved" or "the best." Extrabiblical sources name Ahasuerus's queen as Amestris. He may have had other queens.

Persian Empire (500 B.C.). The rise of Persia was rapid. In 550 B.C. Cyrus the Persian inherited the kingdom of the Medes. In 546 B.C. he captured the Lydian capital of Sardis. In 539 B.C. he took Babylon without a fight. In 538 B.C. he permitted the Jews to begin returning to Palestine and supported their cause in rebuilding their homeland. By 500 B.C. the Persian Empire stretched from India in the east through Asia Minor to Greece in the west, and included Egypt and some of coastal Africa to the south.



in order to show her beauty to the people and the officials, for she was beautiful to behold. 12 But Queen Vashti refused to come at the king's command brought by his eunuchs; therefore the king was furious, and his anger burned within him.

13 Then the king said to the [j]wise men [k]who understood the times (for this was the king's manner toward all who knew law and justice, 14 those closest to him being Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan, the [l]seven princes of Persia and Media, [m]who had access to the king's presence, and who [7]ranked highest in the kingdom): 15 "What shall we do to Queen Vashti, according to law, because she did not obey the command of King Ahasuerus brought to her by the eunuchs?"

16 And Memucan answered before the king and the princes: "Queen Vashti has not only wronged the king, but also all the princes, and all the people who are in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus. 17 For the queen's behavior will become known to all women, so that they will [n]despise their husbands in their eyes, when they report, 'King Ahasuerus commanded Queen Vashti to be brought in before him, but she did not come.' 18 This very day the noble ladies of Persia and Media will say to all the king's officials that they have heard of the behavior of the queen. Thus there will be excessive contempt and wrath. 19 If it pleases the king, let a royal [8]decree go out from him, and let it be recorded in the laws of the Persians and the Medes, so that it will [o]not [9]be altered, that Vashti shall come no more before King Ahasuerus; and let the king give her royal position to another who is better than she. 20 When the king's decree which he will make is proclaimed throughout all his empire (for it is great), all wives will [p]honor their husbands, both great and small."

21 And the reply pleased the king and the princes, and the king did according to the word of Memucan. 22 Then he sent letters to all the king's provinces, [q]to each province in its own script, and to every people in their own language, that each man should [r]be master in his own house, and speak in the language of his own people.

Esther Becomes Queen

2 After these things, when the wrath of King Ahasuerus subsided, he remembered Vashti, [a]what she had done, and what had been decreed against her. 2 Then the king's servants who attended him said: "Let beautiful young virgins be sought for the king; 3 and let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom, that they may gather all the beautiful young virgins to [1]Shushan the [2]citadel, into the women's quarters, under the custody of [3]Hegai the king's eunuch, custodian of the women. And let beauty preparations be given them. 4 Then let the young woman who pleases the king be queen instead of Vashti."

This thing pleased the king, and he did so.

5 In [4]Shushan the [5]citadel there was a certain Jew whose name was Mordecai the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of [b]Kish, a Benjamite. 6 [c]Kish[6] had been carried away from Jerusalem with the captives who had been captured with [7]Jeconiah king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away. 7 And Mordecai had brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther,

■ 1:12 Reasons for Vashti's disobedience are not given in the Hebrew text, though early Jewish interpreters explained that she was commanded to appear naked, wearing only her crown, or that she had some disfigurement. The queen's refusal to obey introduces the theme of obedience and disobedience.

■ 1:13, 14 the times. This expression usually refers to astrology, though in this context it probably means "the proper course to follow" (cf. 1 Chr. 12:32). The satirical flavor of the narrative is evident as the king, who has just displayed all the power and glory of his magnificent kingdom, has to consult experts on matters of law and justice, and to go to the nobles (cf. Ezra 7:14) for advice on how to deal with his wife's behavior.

■ 1:19 laws of the Persians . . . will not be altered. The permanency of royal law is an important feature in the development of the story (4:11; 8:8). The plan to banish Vashti and to give her position to someone better, more beautiful or more obedient, had to be carried out.

■ 1:21, 22 letters to all the king's provinces. The Persian postal system, renowned for its efficiency, was used to publish the irrevocable royal edicts (3:12–14; 8:9, 10; cf. 9:20, 30).

■ 2:1 subsided. The use of the same rare verb in 7:10 suggests a parallel between the dismissal of Vashti and the hanging of Haman.

he remembered Vashti. The king may have regretted his actions, but it was too late; the legislation had made his actions permanent.

■ 2:5 Mordecai. A name derived from Marduk, the Babylonian city-god. Mordecai, like Esther (Hadassah), may also have had a Jewish name. The discovery in ancient texts (including one dated about 485 B.C.) of the Babylonian personal name, Mardukaya, and the discovery of an archive of texts in Nippur containing the names of Jews from the time of Artaxerxes I and Darius, point to the authenticity of Mordecai's name and to the historicity of the events behind the story. Mordecai was a Jew living in the citadel, which may imply that he was a Persian official.

Jair . . . Shimei . . . Kish. The names in his genealogy may refer to his remote rather than immediate genealogy (Shimei, 2 Sam. 16:5–14; Kish, 1 Sam. 9:1–2; 1 Chr. 8:33). Kish may well have been an earlier ancestor, rather than the one carried into exile (v. 6 text note). That Mordecai's family was "carried away . . . with Jeconiah" (King Jeholachin) may mean that his family was among the Judean nobility (v. 6; 2 Kin. 24:6–17; 25:27–30). Mordecai's connection with Saul, who was also a Benjamite, takes on great significance when we encounter Haman, Mordecai's enemy, who was a distant relative of Agag, the Amalekite, Saul's enemy (3:1 note; Introduction: Characteristics and Themes).

■ 2:7 Hadassah. Esther's Hebrew name meaning "myrtle."

Esther. Perhaps derived from the Persian word for "star," or a form of Ishtar, a Babylonian goddess.

[d]his uncle's daughter, for she had neither father nor mother. The young woman was lovely and beautiful. When her father and mother died, Mordecai took her as his own daughter.

8 So it was, when the king's command and decree were heard, and when many young women were [e]gathered at [g]Shushan the [g]citadel, under the custody of Hegai, that Esther also was taken to the king's palace, into the care of Hegai the custodian of the women. 9 Now the young woman pleased him, and she obtained his favor; so he readily gave [f]beauty preparations to her, besides [f]her allowance. Then seven choice maidservants were provided for her from the king's palace, and he moved her and her maidservants to the best place in the house of the women.

10 [g]Esther had not [2]revealed her people or family, for Mordecai had charged her not to reveal it. 11 And every day Mordecai paced in front of the court of the women's quarters, to learn of Esther's welfare and what was happening to her.

12 Each young woman's turn came to go in to King Ahasuerus after she had completed twelve months' preparation, according to the regulations for the women, for thus were the days of their preparation apportioned: six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with perfumes and preparations for beautifying women. 13 Thus prepared, each young woman went to the king, and she was given whatever she desired to take with her from the women's quarters to the king's palace. 14 In the evening she went, and in the morning she returned to the second house of the women, to the custody of Shaashgaz, the king's eunuch who kept the concubines. She would not go in to the king again unless the king delighted in her and called for her by name.

15 Now when the turn came for Esther [h]the daughter of Abihail the uncle of Mordecai, who had taken her as his daughter, to go in to the king, she requested nothing but what Hegai the king's eunuch, the custodian of the women, advised. And Esther [i]obtained favor in the sight of all who saw her. 16 So Esther was taken to King Ahasuerus, into his royal palace, in the tenth month, which is the month of Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign. 17 The king loved Esther more than all the other women, and she obtained grace and favor in his sight more than all the virgins; so he set the royal [j]crown upon her head and made her queen instead of Vashti. 18 Then the king [k]made a great feast, the Feast of Esther, for all his officials and servants; and he proclaimed a holiday in the provinces and gave gifts according to the [3]generosity of a king.

Mordecai Discovers a Plot

19 When virgins were gathered together a second time, Mordecai sat within the king's gate. 20 [l]Now Esther had not revealed her family and her people, just as Mordecai had charged her, for Esther obeyed the command of Mordecai as when she was brought up by him.

21 In those days, while Mordecai sat within the king's gate, two of the king's eunuchs, [4]Bigthan and Teresh, doorkeepers, became furious and sought to lay hands on King Ahasuerus. 22 So the matter became known to Mordecai, [m]who told Queen Esther, and Esther informed the king in Mordecai's name. 23 And when an inquiry was made into the matter, it was confirmed, and both were hanged on a gallows; and it was written in [n]the book of the chronicles in the presence of the king.

Haman's Conspiracy Against the Jews

3 After these things King Ahasuerus promoted Haman, the son of Hammedatha the [a]Agagite, and [b]advanced him and set his seat above all the princes who were with him. 2 And all the

■ 2:9 favor. A secular use of the Hebrew word for covenant loyalty (hesed, Ex. 15:13 note). Pleasing the king and gaining his favor, so necessary for survival in Ahasuerus's empire, can be seen as signs of God's providential care and leading of Esther (cf. v. 17; 5:2; contrast the more explicit references to God's providence in Dan. 1:9).

her allowance. See text note. Esther's reception of special portions of food contrasts with her intentional fast in 4:16. Unlike Daniel, Esther did not follow Jewish dietary laws (v. 10).

■ 2:12 The elaborate preparations are in keeping with the other excesses of the court (1:4–8).

■ 2:18 Esther's accession to the throne, which is celebrated with a banquet, contrasts with Vashti's banquet in 1:9.

a holiday. Lit. "a giving of rest," a celebration that may have included remission of taxes, giving gifts (probably food), and other favors. These celebrations foreshadow the great banquet and rest for the Jews in 9:16–18, 22. See Introduction: Characteristics and Themes.

■ 2:19 within the king's gate. This expression (cf. v. 21; 3:2; 5:9, 13; 6:10, 12) may imply that Mordecai had been made a palace official, a position that not only enabled him to discover the conspiracy to assassinate the king (v. 21), but also may have incited Haman's jealousy (5:13).

■ 2:23 on a gallows. Lit. "on a tree." This refers to impalement on wooden stakes, a Persian and Assyrian form of execution. To the Jews, this would be a sign that the two officials were under God's curse (Deut. 21:22, 23 and note), confirming the appropriateness of Mordecai's loyalty to the pagan king.

written in the book of the chronicles. Mordecai was not rewarded at this time (6:1–11); instead, the account of Haman's promotion is given (3:1).

■ 3:1 Haman . . . the Agagite. Although the names "Haman" and "Hammedatha" may be Persian, the identification of Haman as "the Agagite" suggests an important association with Agag, the king of the Amalekites, the archenemies of Israel, who were opposed by Saul (Ex. 17:8–16; Deut. 25:17–19; 1 Sam. 14:47—15:35).

■ 3:2 Mordecai would not bow or pay homage. Mordecai's refusal to king's servants who were [c]within the king's gate bowed and paid homage to Haman, for so the king had commanded concerning him. But Mordecai [d]would not bow or pay homage. 3 Then the king's servants who were within the king's gate said to Mordecai, "Why do you transgress the [e]king's command?" 4 Now it happened, when they spoke to him daily and he would not listen to them, that they told it to Haman, to see whether Mordecai's words would stand; for Mordecai had told them that he was a Jew. 5 When Haman saw that Mordecai [f]did not bow or pay him homage, Haman was [g]filled with wrath. 6 But he disdained to lay hands on Mordecai alone, for they had told him of the people of Mordecai. Instead, Haman [h]sought to destroy all the Jews who were throughout the whole kingdom of Ahasuerus—the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first month, which is the month of Nisan, in the twelfth year of King Ahasuerus, [i]they cast Pur (that is, the lot), before Haman [1]to determine the day and the [2]month, [3]until it fell on the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar.

8 Then Haman said to King Ahasuerus, "There is a certain people scattered and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of your kingdom; [j]their laws are different from all other people's, and they do not keep the king's laws. Therefore it is not fitting for the king to let them remain. 9 If it pleases the king, let a decree be written that they be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver into the hands of those who do the work, to bring it into the king's treasuries."

10 So the king [k]took [l]his signet ring from his hand and gave it to Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the [m]enemy of the Jews. 11 And the king said to Haman, "The money and the people are given to you, to do with them as seems good to you."

12 [n]Then the king's scribes were called on the thirteenth day of the first month, and a decree was written according to all that Haman commanded—to the king's satraps, to the governors who were over each province, to the officials of all people, to every province [o]according to its script, and to every people in their language. [p]In the name of King Ahasuerus it was written, and sealed with the king's signet ring. 13 And the letters were [q]sent by couriers into all the king's provinces, to destroy, to kill, and to annihilate all the Jews, both young and old, little children and women, [r]in one day, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar, and [s]to plunder their [4]possessions. 14 [t]A copy of the document was to be issued as law in every province, being published for all people, that they should be ready for that day. 15 The couriers went out, hastened by the king's command; and the decree was proclaimed in [5]Shushan the [6]citadel. So the king and Haman sat down to drink, but [u]the city of Shushan was [7]perplexed.

Esther Agrees to Help the Jews

4 When Mordecai learned all that had happened, [1]he [a]tore his clothes and put on sackcloth [b]and ashes, and went out into the midst of the city. He [c]cried out with a loud and bitter cry. 2 He went as far as the front of the king's gate, for no one might enter the king's gate clothed with sackcloth. 3 And in every province where the king's command and decree arrived, there was great mourning among the Jews, with fasting, weeping, and wailing; and many lay in sackcloth and ashes.

4 So Esther's maids and eunuchs came and told her, and the queen was deeply distressed. Then she sent garments to clothe Mordecai and take his sackcloth away from him, but he would honor Haman cannot be explained on the basis of Old Testament law, since Jews did not regard bowing before kings and other honored persons as a violation of the first and second commandments (Ex. 20:3–6; 1 Sam. 25:23; 2 Sam. 18:28; 2 Kin. 4:37). Haman and Mordecai are best understood as representatives of two hostile nations—Israel and its enemy Amalek, a nation under divine curse (v. 1 note). Mordecai's refusal to bow down to his hereditary enemy because he (Mordecai) "was a Jew" is understandable (v. 4). Similarly, Haman's seemingly excessive passion to destroy the entire Jewish nation for Mordecai's insolence is explained (v. 6).

■ 3:7 Pur (that is, the lot). Haman used the ancient practice of casting lots (1 Sam. 14:41–42; Prov. 16:33) to determine the most propitious time to set in motion his plan to destroy the Jews. The plural form of Pur, Purim, is the name of the celebration that commemorates the death of Haman, "the enemy of all the Jews" (9:23–32).

■ 3:9 ten thousand talents of silver. This enormous bribe is calculated to have been about two-thirds the annual revenue of the Persian Empire under King Darius.

■ 3:10 signet ring. Yet another of the king's impulsive responses authorized Haman to issue royal edicts (cf. Gen. 41:42). The repetition of Haman's full name together with the added phrase, "the enemy of the Jews," underlines the terrible predicament of the Jews at this point.

■ 3:12–14 Haman's plans were set in motion. The elaborate descriptive language (e.g., the multiple verbs in the edict "to destroy, to kill, and to annihilate") highlights the painfulness of the senseless edict and emphasizes the extreme danger to God's covenant people. See Introduction: Characteristics and Themes.

to plunder their possessions. To be compared with the Jews' refusal to plunder (9:10, 15–16).

■ 4:1–3 tore his clothes . . . bitter cry . . . fasting . . . ashes. These responses by Mordecai (vv. 1, 2) and by Jews in every province (v. 3), are conventional signs of intense grief and horror at the reception of bad news (cf. Gen. 37:29, 34; Dan. 9:3; Jon. 3:6). The Persians responded similarly after their defeat by the Greeks at the battle of Salamis.

■ 4:4 sent garments. Esther may have wanted Mordecai to be attired properly so that she could speak with him in person (v. 2).

not accept them. [5] Then Esther called Hathach, one of the king's eunuchs whom he had appointed to attend her, and she gave him a command concerning Mordecai, to learn what and why this was. [6] So Hathach went out to Mordecai in the city square that was in front of the king's gate. [7] And Mordecai told him all that had happened to him, and [d]the sum of money that Haman had promised to pay into the king's treasuries to destroy the Jews. [8] He also gave him [e]a copy of the written decree for their destruction, which was given at [2]Shushan, that he might show it to Esther and explain it to her, and that he might command her to go in to the king to make supplication to him and plead before him for her people. [9] So Hathach returned and told Esther the words of Mordecai.

[10] Then Esther spoke to Hathach, and gave him a command for Mordecai: [11] "All the king's servants and the people of the king's provinces know that any man or woman who goes into [f]the inner court to the king, who has not been called, [g]he has but one law: put all to death, except the one [h]to whom the king holds out the golden scepter, that he may live. Yet I myself have not been [i]called to go in to the king these thirty days." [12] So they told Mordecai Esther's words.

[13] And Mordecai told them to answer Esther: "Do not think in your heart that you will escape in the king's palace any more than all the other Jews. [14] For if you remain completely silent at this time, relief and deliverance will arise for the Jews from another place, but you and your father's house will perish. Yet who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this?"

[15] Then Esther told them to reply to Mordecai: [16] "Go, gather all the Jews who are present in [3]Shushan, and fast for me; neither eat nor drink for [j]three days, night or day. My maids and I will fast likewise. And so I will go to the king, which is against the law; [k]and if I perish, I perish!"

[17] So Mordecai went his way and did according to all that Esther commanded [4]him.

Esther's Banquet

5 Now it happened [a]on the third day that Esther put on her royal robes and stood in [b]the inner court of the king's palace, across from the king's house, while the king sat on his royal throne in the royal house, facing the entrance of the [1]house. [2] So it was, when the king saw Queen Esther standing in the court, that [c]she found favor in his sight, and [d]the king held out to Esther the golden scepter that was in his hand. Then Esther went near and touched the top of the scepter.

[3] And the king said to her, "What do you wish, Queen Esther? What is your request? [e]It shall be given to you—up to half the kingdom!"

[4] So Esther answered, "If it pleases the king, let the king and Haman come today to the banquet that I have prepared for him."

[5] Then the king said, "Bring Haman quickly, that he may do as Esther has said." So the king and Haman went to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

[6] At the banquet of wine [f]the king said to Esther, [g]"What is your petition? It shall be granted you. What is your request, up to half the kingdom? It shall be done!"

[7] Then Esther answered and said, "My petition and request is this: [8] If I have found favor in

■ 4:5 Hathach. His name may mean "the good one," or perhaps "courier."

■ 4:8 decree. Mordecai made sure that Esther not only was given a copy of the edict but had it explained to her (perhaps translated) before he charged her to entreat the king for mercy for her people. Mordecai's previous command that Esther conceal her identity as a Jew is reversed (2:10).

■ 4:12–14 Mordecai subtly alludes to his belief that God, in His sovereignty, has providentially ordered the events of Esther's life to put her in a position where she can act to deliver all the Jews. Mordecai believed that the sovereign God would bring relief and deliverance to the Jews, that Esther could be the means through which that deliverance would come, and that God was not restricted to this plan if Esther decided to remain quiet.

■ 4:16 Go, gather . . . fast for me. With conviction, faith, and fear, Esther directs that a fast (prayer always accompanied religious fasting, Deut. 9:9; Judg. 20:26, 27; Ezra 8:21–23; 2 Sam. 12:16; Dan. 9:3) be undertaken on her behalf. God honored the faith of the Jews at this time by saving them from destruction.

three days, night or day. Fasts generally were prescribed for only one day. This unusually long fast points to the seriousness of the situation and effectively contrasts with the feasts that stand at the beginning and end of the book (1:3, 5, 9; 2:18; 9:17–18).

against the law. Esther's dilemma reintroduces the theme of obedience, since obedience to Mordecai meant disobeying the law.

if I perish, I perish. Courage, rather than passive resignation, is seen here (cf. Gen. 43:14).

■ 5:1, 2 Wearing royal robes that undoubtedly enhanced her beauty (contrast the mourning attire in 4:15–16), Esther approached the king, who granted her request for an audience.

■ 5:3 half the kingdom. This generous offer reflects a courtly convention and should not be taken literally (v. 6; cf. Mark 6:23). Esther's first request is that the king and Haman attend a banquet (v. 4). Her second response (v. 8) effectively obliges the king to grant her petition. But it is not until 7:2–6 that Esther finally answers the king's question. Esther's delaying tactics not only demonstrate her wisdom and sense of control, but also raise the suspense in the story.

the sight of the king, and if it pleases the king to grant my petition and [2]fulfill my request, then let the king and Haman come to the [h]banquet which I will prepare for them, and tomorrow I will do as the king has said."

Haman's Plot Against Mordecai

9 So Haman went out that day [i]joyful and with a glad heart; but when Haman saw Mordecai in the king's gate, and [j]that he did not stand or tremble before him, he was filled with indignation against Mordecai. 10 Nevertheless Haman [k]restrained himself and went home, and he sent and called for his friends and his wife Zeresh. 11 Then Haman told them of his great riches, [l]the multitude of his children, everything in which the king had promoted him, and how he had [m]advanced him above the officials and servants of the king.

12 Moreover Haman said, "Besides, Queen Esther invited no one but me to come in with the king to the banquet that she prepared; and tomorrow I am again invited by her, along with the king. 13 Yet all this avails me nothing, so long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the king's gate."

14 Then his wife Zeresh and all his friends said to him, "Let a [n]gallows[3] be made, [4]fifty cubits high, and in the morning [o]suggest to the king that Mordecai be hanged on it; then go merrily with the king to the banquet."

And the thing pleased Haman; so he had [p]the gallows made.

The King Honors Mordecai

6 That night [1]the king could not sleep. So one was commanded to bring [a]the book of the records of the chronicles; and they were read before the king. 2 And it was found written that Mordecai had told of [2]Bigthana and Teresh, two of the king's eunuchs, the doorkeepers who had sought to lay hands on King Ahasuerus. 3 Then the king said, "What honor or dignity has been bestowed on Mordecai for this?"

And the king's servants who attended him said, "Nothing has been done for him."

4 So the king said, "Who is in the court?" Now Haman had just entered [b]the outer court of the king's palace [c]to suggest that the king hang Mordecai on the gallows that he had prepared for him.

5 The king's servants said to him, "Haman is there, standing in the court."

And the king said, "Let him come in."

6 So Haman came in, and the king asked him, "What shall be done for the man whom the king delights to honor?"

Now Haman thought in his heart, "Whom would the king delight to honor more than [d]me?"

7 And Haman answered the king, "For the man whom the king delights to honor, 8 let a royal robe be brought which the king has worn, and [e]a horse on which the king has ridden, which has a royal [3]crest placed on its head. 9 Then let this robe and horse be delivered to the hand of one of the king's most noble princes, that he may array the man whom the king delights to honor. Then [4]parade him on horseback through the city square, [f]and proclaim before him: 'Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor!' "

10 Then the king said to Haman, "Hurry, take the robe and the horse, as you have suggested, and do so for Mordecai the Jew who sits within the king's gate! Leave nothing undone of all that you have spoken."

11 So Haman took the robe and the horse, arrayed Mordecai and led him on horseback through the city square, and proclaimed before him, "Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor!"

12 Afterward Mordecai went back to the king's gate. But Haman [g]hurried to his house, mourning [h]and with his head covered. 13 When Haman told his wife Zeresh and all his friends everything that had happened to him, his wise men and his wife Zeresh said to him, "If Mordecai, before whom you have begun to fall, is of Jewish descent, you will not prevail against [i]him but will surely fall before him."

■ 6:6–9 The identity of the one to be honored is concealed (cf. Haman's intentional veiling of the identity of the people to be destroyed, 3:8). Assuming that he himself was the man to be honored, Haman unveiled his personal dream list, which focused not on material gain or position, but rather on public acclaim and adulation (cf. Gen. 41:42, 43).

14 While they were still talking with him, the king's eunuchs came, and hastened to bring Haman to [j]the banquet which Esther had prepared.

Haman Hanged Instead of Mordecai

7 So the king and Haman went to dine with Queen Esther. 2 And on the second day, [a]at the banquet of wine, the king again said to Esther, "What is your petition, Queen Esther? It shall be granted you. And what is your request, up to half the kingdom? It shall be done!"

3 Then Queen Esther answered and said, "If I have found favor in your sight, O king, and if it pleases the king, let my life be given me at my petition, and my people at my request. 4 For we have been [b]sold, my people and I, to be destroyed, to be killed, and to be annihilated. Had we been sold as [c]male and female slaves, I would have held my tongue, although the enemy could never compensate for the king's loss."

5 So King Ahasuerus answered and said to Queen Esther, "Who is he, and where is he, who would dare presume in his heart to do such a thing?"

6 And Esther said, "The adversary and [d]enemy is this wicked Haman!"

So Haman was terrified before the king and queen.

7 Then the king arose in his wrath from the banquet of wine and went into the palace garden; but Haman stood before Queen Esther, pleading for his life, for he saw that evil was determined against him by the king. 8 When the king returned from the palace garden to the place of the banquet of wine, Haman had fallen across [e]the couch where Esther was. Then the king said, "Will he also assault the queen while I am in the house?"

As the word left the king's mouth, they [f]covered Haman's face. 9 Now [g]Harbonah, one of the eunuchs, said to the king, "Look! [h]The [i]gallows, fifty cubits high, which Haman made for Mordecai, who spoke [i]good on the king's behalf, is standing at the house of Haman."

Then the king said, "Hang him on it!"

10 So [j]they [k]hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then the king's wrath subsided.

Esther Saves the Jews

8 On that day King Ahasuerus gave Queen Esther the house of Haman, the [a]enemy of the Jews. And Mordecai came before the king, for Esther had told [b]how he was related to her. 2 So the king took off [c]his signet ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it to Mordecai; and Esther appointed Mordecai over the house of Haman.

3 Now Esther spoke again to the king, fell down at his feet, and implored him with tears to counteract the evil of Haman the Agagite, and the scheme which he had devised against the Jews. 4 And [d]the king held out the golden scepter toward Esther. So Esther arose and stood before the king, 5 and said, "If it pleases the king, and if I have found favor in his sight and the thing seems right to the king and I am pleasing in his eyes, let it be written to revoke the [e]letters devised by Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, which he wrote to annihilate the Jews who are in all the king's provinces. 6 For how can I endure to see [f]the evil that will come to my people? Or how can I endure to see the destruction of my countrymen?"

7 Then King Ahasuerus said to Queen Esther and Mordecai the Jew, "Indeed, [g]I have given Esther the house of Haman, and they have hanged him on the gallows because he tried to lay his hand on the Jews. 8 You yourselves write a decree concerning the Jews, [h]as you please, in the

■ 6:14 hastened to bring Haman. The affairs of the court were always carried out in haste. It was oriental custom for servants to escort guests to special functions.

the enemy could never compensate. The Hebrew is somewhat difficult to translate. Esther seems to argue that Haman's financial offer (3:9) would not compensate for the king's damages (i.e., lost revenue from the Jews).

■ 7:8 fallen across the couch. Haman's violations of etiquette seal his fate.

covered Haman's face. The court attendants understood the implications of the king's word (v. 8). As always, the king welcomed the advice of others—here, the eunuch, Harbonah (1:10; cf. the speech in 5:14). The order to hang Haman on the gallows intended for Mordecai is the great ironic reversal of the story. See Introduction: Characteristics and Themes.

■ 8:1 gave Queen Esther the house of Haman. According to Persian custom, the property of a traitor was confiscated by the crown.

Mordecai came before the king. Mordecai was given official status (1:14) and effectively took over Haman's official and personal position.

■ 8:7, 8 Although the king is not able to revoke the decree formally (1:19), he authorizes Esther and Mordecai to issue another decree that will effectively nullify the first edict.

king's name, and seal it with the king's signet ring; for whatever is written in the king's name and sealed with the king's signet ring [h]no one can revoke."

9 [i]So the king's scribes were called at that time, in the third month, which is the month of Sivan, on the twenty-third day; and it was written, according to all that Mordecai commanded, to the Jews, the satraps, the governors, and the princes of the provinces [j]from India to Ethiopia, one hundred and twenty-seven provinces in all, to every province [k]in its own script, to every people in their own language, and to the Jews in their own script and language. 10 [l]And he wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus, sealed it with the king's signet ring, and sent letters by couriers on horseback, riding on royal horses [2]bred from swift steeds.

11 By these letters the king permitted the Jews who were in every city to [m]gather together and protect their lives—to [n]destroy, kill, and annihilate all the forces of any people or province that would assault them, both little children and women, and to plunder their possessions, 12 [o]on one day in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month of [3]Adar. 13 [p]A copy of the document was to be issued as a decree in every province and published for all people, so that the Jews would be ready on that day to avenge themselves on their enemies. 14 The couriers who rode on royal horses went out, hastened and pressed on by the king's command. And the decree was issued in [4]Shushan the [5]citadel.

15 So Mordecai went out from the presence of the king in royal apparel of [6]blue and white, with a great crown of gold and a garment of fine linen and purple; and [q]the city of [7]Shushan rejoiced and was glad. 16 The Jews had [r]light and gladness, joy and honor. 17 And in every province and city, wherever the king's command and decree came, the Jews had joy and gladness, a feast [s]and a holiday. Then many of the people of the land [t]became Jews, because [u]fear of the Jews fell upon them.

The Jews Destroy Their Tormentors

9 Now [a]in the twelfth month, that is, the month of Adar, on the thirteenth day, [b]the time came for the king's command and his decree to be executed. On the day that the enemies of the Jews had hoped to overpower them, the opposite occurred, in that the Jews themselves [c]overpowered those who hated them. 2 The Jews [d]gathered together in their cities throughout all the provinces of King Ahasuerus to lay hands on those who [e]sought their harm. And no one could withstand them, [f]because fear of them fell upon all people. 3 And all the officials of the provinces, the satraps, the governors, and all those doing the king's work, helped the Jews, because the fear of Mordecai fell upon them. 4 For Mordecai was great in the king's palace, and his fame spread throughout all the provinces; for this man Mordecai [g]became increasingly prominent. 5 Thus the Jews defeated all their enemies with the stroke of the sword, with slaughter and destruction, and did what they pleased with those who hated them.

6 And in [h]Shushan[1] the [2]citadel the Jews killed and destroyed five hundred men. 7 Also Parshandatha, Dalphon, Aspatha, 8 Poratha, Adalia, Aridatha, 9 Parmashta, Arisai, Aridai, and Vajezatha— 10 [i]the ten sons of Haman the son of Hammedatha, the enemy of the Jews—they killed; [j]but they did not lay a hand on the [3]plunder.

11 On that day the number of those who were killed in [4]Shushan the [5]citadel [6]was brought to the king. 12 And the king said to Queen Esther, "The Jews have killed and destroyed five hundred men in Shushan the citadel, and the ten sons of Haman. What have they done in the rest of the king's provinces? Now [k]what is your petition? It shall be granted to you. Or what is your further request? It shall be done."

13 Then Esther said, "If it pleases the king, let it be granted to the Jews who are in Shushan to do again tomorrow [l]according to today's decree, and let Haman's ten sons [m]be hanged on the gallows."

■ 8:9–14 The new decree, issued two months and ten days after the first (3:12), is almost identical to Haman's first decree (3:12–15).

■ 8:17 many of the people . . . became Jews. The conversion of those from other nations who feared the Jews marks a climax in the story (cf. Josh. 2:9; Ex. 15:14–16; Ps. 105:38).

■ 9:1 the opposite occurred. The theme of ironic reversal is again stressed. See Introduction: Characteristics and Themes.

■ 9:2 fear of them. Fear of the God of the Jews was behind the Persians' pervasive fear of the Jews (cf. Ex. 15:14–16). The reversal (v. 1 note) was so complete that all the officials who were to have enforced the extermination of the Jews aided them.

■ 9:5 did what they pleased. The extent of the killing is emphasized (vv. 6–11), but so is the Jews' not plundering their enemies (v. 10). Their refusal to plunder recalls the plundering of the Amalekites that led to Saul's demise (1 Sam. 15:17–19). This contrast (cf. 8:11) suggests the propriety of their conduct in this final encounter with the Amalekites, despite the extent of the killing.

■ 9:12–15 Esther's requests for further vengeance (v. 13), which may have been due to the great degree of anti-Semitism in that city, led to a second day of bloodshed in Susa (v. 15). Notably, the emphasis in the narrative is on killing enemies and not just on winning a victory. The two days of bloodshed have led to differences among Jews over which day to observe Purim (vv. 17–19).

14 So the king commanded this to be done; the decree was issued in Shushan, and they hanged Haman's ten sons.

15 And the Jews who were in [7]Shushan [n]gathered together again on the fourteenth day of the month of Adar and killed three hundred men at Shushan; [o]but they did not lay a hand on the plunder.

16 The remainder of the Jews in the king's provinces [p]gathered together and protected their lives, had rest from their enemies, and killed seventy-five thousand of their enemies; [q]but they did not lay a hand on the plunder. 17 This was on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar. And on the fourteenth of [8]the month they rested and made it a day of feasting and gladness.

The Feast of Purim

18 But the Jews who were at [9]Shushan assembled together [r]on the thirteenth day, as well as on the fourteenth; and on the fifteenth of [t]the month they rested, and made it a day of feasting and gladness. 19 Therefore the Jews of the villages who dwelt in the unwalled towns celebrated the fourteenth day of the month of Adar [s]with gladness and feasting, [t]as a holiday, and for [u]sending presents to one another.

20 And Mordecai wrote these things and sent letters to all the Jews, near and far, who were in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, 21 to establish among them that they should celebrate yearly the fourteenth and fifteenth days of the month of Adar, 22 as the days on which the Jews had rest from their enemies, as the month which was turned from sorrow to joy for them, and from mourning to a holiday; that they should make them days of feasting and joy, of [v]sending presents to one another and gifts to the [w]poor. 23 So the Jews accepted the custom which they had begun, as Mordecai had written to them, 24 because Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews, [x]had plotted against the Jews to annihilate them, and had cast Pur (that is, the lot), to consume them and destroy them; 25 but [y]when [2]Esther came before the king, he commanded by letter that [3]this wicked plot which Haman had devised against the Jews should [z]return on his own head, and that he and his sons should be hanged on the gallows.

26 So they called these days Purim, after the name [4]Pur. Therefore, because of all the words of [a]this letter, what they had seen concerning this matter, and what had happened to them, 27 the Jews established and imposed it upon themselves and their descendants and all who would [b]join them, that without fail they should celebrate these two days every year, according to the written instructions and according to the prescribed time, 28 that these days should be remembered and kept throughout every generation, every family, every province, and every city, that these days of Purim should not fail to be observed among the Jews, and that the memory of them should not perish among their descendants.

29 Then Queen Esther, [c]the daughter of Abihail, with Mordecai the Jew, wrote with full authority to confirm this [d]second letter about Purim. 30 And Mordecai sent letters to all the Jews, to [e]the one hundred and twenty-seven provinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus, with words of peace and truth, 31 to confirm these days of Purim at their appointed time, as Mordecai the Jew and Queen Esther had prescribed for them, and as they had decreed for themselves and their descendants concerning matters of their [f]fasting and lamenting. 32 So the decree of Esther confirmed these matters of Purim, and it was written in the book.

■ 9:14 they hanged Haman's ten sons. The bodies of the dead sons (v. 12) were displayed as a warning and a sign of ultimate dishonor (2:23 note).

■ 9:16, 17 The slaughter of a further seventy-five thousand enemies emphasizes the extent of the antagonism towards the Jews throughout the empire, which in turn explains the celebrations that followed.

■ 9:16 rest from their enemies. The rest granted to the Jews at this time became the basis for the annual celebration of Purim (also v. 22).

■ 9:19 sending presents to one another. The exchange of gifts, usually food (v. 22), enabled even the poorest Jew to join in the celebrations (Neh. 8:10, 12; Deut. 16:11, 14) and is a further instance of providential care for the oppressed, here within the Jewish community itself.

■ 9:20–32 These verses clarify that the purpose of the book is to establish Purim as a festival to be celebrated by each new generation of Jews, and to give instructions for its observance.

■ 9:20 Mordecai wrote these things. He sent the letters of instruction regarding the festival.

■ 9:24, 25 This brief summary of the events of the preceding chapters focuses, not on Esther and Mordecai, but on the king and Haman, and presents Haman as the archetypal adversary of all Jews, past and present (3:10; 8:1; 9:10).

■ 9:29–32 Esther and Mordecai sent a final official letter regarding Purim that carefully places the feast within the setting of the more established Israelite practices of fasting and lamentation (v. 31). In this way Purim was made an official religious celebration of the Jews, a task the writer of Esther seemed to view as important because of the non-Mosaic origin of the feast.

Mordecai's Advancement

10 And King Ahasuerus imposed tribute on the land and on [a]the islands of the sea. [2]Now all the acts of his power and his might, and the account of the greatness of Mordecai, [b]to which the king [1]advanced him, are they not written in the book of the [c]chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia? [3]For Mordecai the Jew was [d]second to King Ahasuerus, and was great among the Jews and well received by the multitude of his brethren, [e]seeking the good of his people and speaking peace to all his [2]countrymen.

■ 10:1–3 This postscript to the book focuses attention on King Ahasuerus and Mordecai and directs the reader to the book of the official records ("chronicles") of the kings of Media and Persia for further information (cf. 1 Kin. 14:19, 29). For some reason Esther's name is not included in the postscript.

■ 10:3 Mordecai is esteemed as an ideal Jewish statesman. His importance as a model for the Jews and in the establishment of the Feast of Purim was acknowledged in the apocryphal Book of Maccabees, where Purim is called "the Day of Mordecai" (2 Macc. 15:36).

The Book of

JOB

Author

The relationship between the opening narrative of the book (the prologue, chs. 1; 2) and the content of Job's discussions with his friends (the dialogue, chs. 3—27) make it clear that Job was not the author of this book. Had he known what took place in the divine council, there would have been no point to the debate over whether Job had brought on his sufferings by sinful conduct. Rather, God used a skilful poet from the covenant community to write this remarkable book. The language presents many challenges to the translator because of its poetic grammar and its rich vocabulary. We know that the author was an Israelite since he refers to God by the covenant name "Yahweh," while Job and his companions (see 1:1) use such terms as "God" and "the Almighty" (12:9 is the only exception). The probability is that the poet used sources from patriarchal times, including some from Job himself, in composing the book.

Date and Occasion

We do not know exactly when the author of Job lived and wrote, but the classical Hebrew of the prologue places him after 1500 B.C. The final form of the book may not have appeared until the era of Solomon or somewhat later when Hebrew wisdom literature reached its zenith. The discovery of fragments from Job among the Dead Sea scrolls has ruled out attempts to date Job as late as the second century B.C.

Among the wisdom writings of the Old Testament the Book of Job stands with Ecclesiastes as a kind of anti-wisdom. It counters the traditional wisdom as it wrestles with the difficult question of suffering along with the affirmation that God is just and good. The book deals with this subject with a frankness that is often baffling. The book does not suggest that there is an evil deity, or that God's power is limited. Instead it praises the Creator's sovereignty, wisdom, and glory. That the God of Job is neither evil nor limited is seen in two portrayals of Job's relationship with God.

The first is taken from the book's prologue and epilogue. The prologue depicts Job's submission to the divine will in the midst of suffering. There Job appears as a good man trusting the goodness of his God. Finally, in the epilogue (42:7–17), God honors his trust by restoring him.

The second portrait shows Job's indignation over his plight. He thinks that God has become his enemy and is unjustly afflicting him. Job comes to this conclusion because he knows that God is sovereign. Had he believed in a limited deity, he would have had no problem with God's justice or goodness, since then he could not hold God responsible for every event, including his misfortune.

The church has often emphasized only the message of the prologue and epilogue because it is easier to understand. The reference of James 5:11 to the "patience" or "perseverance" of Job is not based on a shallow interpretation that ignores the central section of dialogues. James is not stressing Job's passivity, but his "perseverance" and, with it, God's compassion and mercy in accomplishing His purposes. God's purpose in Job's suffering is the key to understanding the seeming discrepancy between the tranquil Job of the prologue (chs. 1; 2) and the raging Job of the central section. God's purpose is complex, involving more than one question of faith.

Characteristics and Themes

Compositions similar to the Book of Job appear in Mesopotamian and Egyptian sources from Old Testament times. One ("A Dialogue About Human Misery") is about a counselor who criticizes a sufferer for his impiety while the sufferer struggles over the character of the gods. The literary format of Job is not unique among documents from the ancient Near East, consisting of a prose prologue, a poetic dialogue, and finally a prose epilogue. But there is no other work dealing with the problem of human suffering in light of the transcendence and goodness of God that approaches the theological depth, literary sophistication, and practical application of the Book of Job.

The book's exploration of the themes associated with God's purpose in human suffering unfolds in the following manner. In the prologue we view the God-Job relationship from the divine perspective. God chose Job to be one of His suffering servants, an instrument through whom to accomplish a spiritual triumph: "Have you considered My servant Job?" (1:8, 2:3). Satan falsely accuses Job of serving God for the sake of material blessings (1:9–11). Job is given the high calling of remaining true to God even when everything is taken away, and grim suffering becomes his daily lot. Will Job do as the Adversary predicts, and curse God to His face? This is the question that drives the moving drama of the book as Job loses his initial confidence and sinks into despair. If Job remains faithful, God through Job will show that the Adversary is a liar.

While the prologue gives us the divine perspective, the central section of speeches presents the human perspective. As a human being he is ignorant of what took place in the divine council. He struggles with a traditional view, a perversion of Proverbs, that all suffering is an immediate punishment of human sins. Job's counselors, like many others, considered the depth of Job's suffering to be adequate evidence that his sin was great (cf. John 9:2).

As Job confronts the heartless counselors used by Satan to accuse him falsely, he says things for which he must later repent (42:5, 6). He knows the counselors are wrong, but he cannot understand how a pious person like himself should suffer so much when the godless enjoy prosperity and health (12:6).

Like the psalmists, Job often complains to God in the language of legal disputes. Some of what Job says shocks his friends. While they say all the right things about God, they never say anything to Him. Job wrestles with God and tells Him every doubt and fear. His relationship with God is vital while theirs consists of dead aphorisms. It is not so much what they say, as how they apply it to Job, that shows the arrogance of their insisting that they know why Job is suffering. They are insensitive (13:4, 5; 16:2; 19:21), as well as shallow and presumptuous regarding divine things. Job has been falsely accused; he is not suffering for his sins, though he cannot avoid wondering about this. But even though he imagines God is angry with him, in his better moments he still believes God is just and will provide a Redeemer (16:19–21; 19:23–27).

This hope becomes a reality when Job finally has the face-to-face audience with God that he requested (13:15–18; 31:35–37). When God appears in the storm (chs. 38—41), Job is not rebuked as one suffering for his sins, but is humbled before the Lord as one whose ill-advised speech had obscured God's purpose (38:2; 42:2, 3). God reveals Himself as Job's friend, bringing him before the astonishing works of creation to show him that the One he has reproached is sovereign in goodness and power. Job recognizes that God is and remains his friend.

When his eyes have seen the Lord and he has repented in dust and ashes, Job has come to understand that God on His throne is sovereign, and rewards those who belong to Him despite times of pressure and pain. The reader learns that Job suffered, not because he was one of the worst of men, but because he was one of the best, and that his ordeal glorified his God. □

Job and His Family in Uz

THERE was a man [a]in the land of Uz, whose name was [b]Job; and that man was [c]blameless and upright, and one who [d]feared God and [f]shunned evil. [2] And seven sons and three daughters were born to him. [3] Also, his possessions were seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen, five hundred female donkeys, and a very large household, so that this man was the greatest of all the [2]people of the East.

[4] And his sons would go and feast in their houses, each on his appointed day, and would send and invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them. [5] So it was, when the days of feasting had run their course, that Job would send and [3]sanctify them, and he would rise early in the morning [e]and offer burnt offerings according to the number of them all. For Job said, "It may be that my sons have sinned and [f]cursed[4] God in their hearts." Thus Job did regularly.

Satan Attacks Job's Character

[6] Now [g]there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and [5]Satan also came among them. [7] And the LORD said to [6]Satan, "From where do you come?"

■ 1:1–5 The prologue (1; 2) begins with a depiction of Job blessed by and devoted to his God.

■ 1:1 Uz. Uz was an extended region east of Judah, perhaps on the edge of the desert, but conducive to raising crops (v. 14) and livestock (v. 3). Job was not a nomad but an elder in a major town (29:7).

blameless and upright. This is ordinary language and does not mean that Job was sinless.

■ 1:3 sheep . . . camels . . . oxen . . . donkeys. Patriarchal wealth was measured by amount of livestock (cf. Gen. 30:43).

■ 1:5 sanctify them. Job was rightly concerned for the spiritual welfare of his children.

offer burnt offerings. By this means of grace the patriarch Job, like Abraham (Gen. 15:9, 10), filled the role of priest for the family, consecrating his children to the Lord.

cursed God in their hearts. The Hebrew reads lit. "blessed God," but that is a euphemism. Cursing God was a sin about which Job himself would be tested (v. 11).

■ 1:6—2:13 The writer reveals the developments in heaven and their consequences on earth that led to Job's suffering.

■ 1:6–12 This is the first of two scenes in heaven depicting the divine council and focusing on the encounter between God (Yahweh) and Satan. Satan is more than prosecutor. He opposes the will of God, in keeping with the role of the serpent in Gen. 3. In v. 9 he questions Job's religious motive. The use of "Yahweh," the covenant name of God, throughout chs. I and 2 (also in 38:1; 40:1; and ch. 42) indicates that God was in a covenant relation with Job in love and mercy from first to last.

■ 1:6 Satan. See theological note "Satan."

So Satan answered the LORD and said, "From [h]going to and fro on the earth, and from walking back and forth on it."

8 Then the LORD said to Satan, "Have you [7]considered My servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a blameless and upright man, one who fears God and [8]shuns evil?"

9 So Satan answered the LORD and said, "Does Job fear God for nothing? 10 [i]Have You not [9]made a hedge around him, around his household, and around all that he has on every side? [j]You have blessed the work of his hands, and his possessions have increased in the land. 11 [k]But now, stretch out Your hand and touch all that he has, and he will surely [l]curse[1] You to Your face!"

12 And the LORD said to Satan, "Behold, all that he has is in your [2]power; only do not lay a hand on his person."

So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD.

Job Loses His Property and Children

Satan

Satan is the leader of the fallen angels, and like them he comes into full view only in the New Testament. His name means "adversary" (opponent of God and His people), and the Old Testament introduces him as such (1 Chr. 21:1; Job 1; 2; Zech. 3:1, 2. The New Testament gives him revealing titles: Devil (diabolos), meaning "accuser" (that is, of God's people; Rev. 12:9, 10); Apollyon, meaning "destroyer" (Rev. 9:11); tempter (Matt. 4:3; 1 Thess. 3:5); and wicked one (1 John 5:18, 19). "Ruler of this world" (John 12:31; 14:30; 16:11) and "god of this age" (2 Cor. 4:4) point to Satan as presiding over mankind's anti-God lifestyles (cf. Eph. 2:2; 1 John 5:19; Rev. 12:9). Jesus said that Satan was always a murderer, and is the father of lies. As such, he is both the original liar and the sponsor of all subsequent falsehood and deceits (John 8:44). Finally, he is identified as the serpent who fooled Eve in Eden (Rev. 12:9; 20:2). The picture is one of malice, fury, and cruelty, directed against God, against God's truth, and against those whom God loves.

Satan's deceptive cunning is highlighted by Paul's statement that he becomes an angel of light, disguising evil as good (2 Cor. 11:14). His destructive ferocity comes out in the description of him as a roaring, devouring lion (1 Pet. 5:8) and as a dragon (Rev. 12:9). As he was Christ's sworn foe (Matt. 4:1–11; 16:23; Luke 4:13; cf. Luke 22:3), so now he opposes the Christian, always probing for weaknesses, misdirecting strengths, and undermining faith, hope, and love (Luke 22:32; 2 Cor. 2:11; 11:3–15; Eph. 6:16). Satan's malice and cunning should be taken seriously, but the Christian should not lapse into abject terror of him, for he is a defeated enemy. Satan is stronger than human beings, but Christ has triumphed over him (Matt. 12:29), and Christians will triumph over him as well, resisting him with the resources Christ supplies (Eph. 6:10–18; James 4:7; 1 Pet. 5:9, 10). "He who is in you is greater than he who is in the world" (1 John 4:4).

Acknowledging Satan's reality, taking his opposition seriously, noting his strategy, and reckoning on continual war with him, is not a lapse into a dualistic concept of two gods, one good, one evil, fighting it out. Satan is a creature, superhuman but not divine; he has much knowledge and power, but he is neither omniscient nor omnipotent; he is not omnipresent; and he is an already defeated rebel, having no more power than God allows him and being destined for the lake of fire (Rev. 20:10). □

■ 1:8 Job is honored by God, who approves of him as a true and faithful servant, i.e., one keeping the solemn oaths of the covenant relationship. It is God, not Satan, who singles out Job for testing.

■ 1:11 Will Job, who was so sensitive to the possibility of his children cursing God, now sin that way himself?

■ 1:12 The Adversary is allowed to test Job, but at this point, only with regard to his possessions and family. His power is restricted to what is permitted by the Lord.

■ 1:13–22 Despite Satan's divinely-permitted (and divinely-limited) assaults on his possessions, servants, and children, Job remains steadfast in his belief that God is good.

16 While he was still speaking, another also came and said, "The fire of God fell from heaven and burned up the sheep and the servants, and [5]consumed them; and I alone have escaped to tell you!"

17 While he was still speaking, another also came and said, "The Chaldeans formed three bands, raided the camels and took them away, yes, and killed the servants with the edge of the sword; and I alone have escaped to tell you!"

18 While he was still speaking, another also came and said, [n]"Your sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their oldest brother's house, 19 and suddenly a great wind came from [6]across the wilderness and struck the four corners of the house, and it fell on the young people, and they are dead; and I alone have escaped to tell you!"

20 Then Job arose, [o]tore his robe, and shaved his head; and he [p]fell to the ground and worshiped. 21 And he said:

> [q]"Naked I came from my mother's womb,
> And naked shall I return there.
> The LORD [r]gave, and the LORD has [s]taken away;
> [t]Blessed be the name of the LORD."

22 [u]In all this Job did not sin nor charge God with wrong.

Satan Attacks Job's Health

2 Again [a]there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan came also among them to present himself before the LORD. 2 And the LORD said to Satan, "From where do you come?"

[b]Satan answered the LORD and said, "From going to and fro on the earth, and from walking back and forth on it."

3 Then the LORD said to Satan, "Have you considered My servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, [c]a blameless and upright man, one who fears God and shuns evil? And still he [d]holds fast to his integrity, although you incited Me against him, [e]to [f]destroy him without cause."

4 So Satan answered the LORD and said, "Skin for skin! Yes, all that a man has he will give for his life. 5 [f]But stretch out Your hand now, and touch his [g]bone and his flesh, and he will surely [z]curse You to Your face!"

6 [h]And the LORD said to Satan, "Behold, he is in your hand, but spare his life."

7 So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD, and struck Job with painful boils [i]from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head. 8 And he took for himself a potsherd with which to scrape himself [j]while he sat in the midst of the ashes.

9 Then his wife said to him, "Do you still hold fast to your integrity? [y]Curse God and die!"

10 But he said to her, "You speak as one of the foolish women speaks. [k]Shall we indeed accept good from God, and shall we not accept adversity?" [l]In all this Job did not [m]sin with his lips.

■ 1:20–22 Job utters a wisdom poem that portrays the wisdom of quiet submission to the secret will of God. Everything belongs to the Creator who gave it. God's people must praise Him for whatever he does with what is His. The word "blessed," (or "praised," v. 21) is the same used in v. 11 for "cursed." By using it here, the author is stressing how Job has frustrated Satan's predictions in v. 11. But v. 22 implies the testing is not yet over.

■ 2:1–6 Further developments in heaven—another round of accusations from Satan—precede more suffering for Job on earth.

■ 2:3 holds fast to his integrity . . . without cause. The sudden change from the words of 1:6–8 at the end of 2:1–3 shows how the Adversary, who has lost the first round, is humiliated by God through a bit of irony. The same word Satan had used to accuse Job is used here, translated "without cause." It is the Adversary who has done wrong, not Job.

■ 2:4 Skin for skin. Satan is suggesting that even Job's statement of faith in 1:21 is nothing but a ploy. He is willing to sacrifice anything for his own skin. If God will only stretch out His hand and strike Job's body, then he would curse God to His face.

■ 2:6 spare his life. God permits the Adversary to be used as His instrument to strike Job. This brings up the problem of evil. Satan, as a creature, is reined in. He is allowed to go only as far as God permits. The word translated "spare" can be translated "safeguard"; it would appear that Satan is being held responsible for Job's life.

■ 2:7–10 Despite Satan's divinely-permitted (and divinely-limited) attacks on his body, Job holds firmly committed to his conviction that God is praiseworthy.

■ 2:7 painful boils. We have no way of knowing the exact nature of Job's disease.

■ 2:8 sat in the midst of the ashes. Perhaps by trial and error the ancients learned that the ashes were a place where disease would not spread. Or it may simply have been a way of lamenting.

■ 2:9 Job's wife was unaware of God's guarantee that Job's life would not be taken.

■ 2:10 foolish. The Hebrew word for "foolish" or "fool" has to do with faithlessness and religious apostasy, as in Ps. 14:1 (cf. 53:1). It is more an ethical judgment than an intellectual one.

Job did not sin with his lips. This stress on the purity of Job's speech is an anticipation of the contrast that will come in the dialogue, where Job's words are less pure.

Job's Three Friends

11 Now when Job's three friends heard of all this adversity that had come upon him, each one came from his own place—Eliphaz the [n]Temanite, Bildad the [o]Shuhite, and Zophar the Naama-thite. For they had made an appointment together to come [p]and mourn with him, and to comfort him. 12 And when they raised their eyes from afar, and did not recognize him, they lifted their voices and wept; and each one tore his robe and [q]sprinkled dust on his head toward heaven. 13 So they sat down with him on the ground [r]seven days and seven nights, and no one spoke a word to him, for they saw that his grief was very great.

Job Deplores His Birth

3 After this Job opened his mouth and cursed the day of his birth. 2 And Job [1]spoke, and said:

3 "May[a] the day perish on which I was born,
And the night in which it was said,
'A male child is conceived.'
4 May that day be darkness;
May God above not seek it,
Nor the light shine upon it.
5 May darkness and [b]the shadow of death claim it;
May a cloud settle on it;
May the blackness of the day terrify it.
6 As for that night, may darkness seize it;
May it not [2]rejoice among the days of the year,
May it not come into the number of the months.
7 Oh, may that night be barren!
May no joyful shout come into it!
8 May those curse it who curse the day,
Those [c]who are ready to arouse Leviathan.
9 May the stars of its morning be dark;
May it look for light, but have none,
And not see the [3]dawning of the day;
10 Because it did not shut up the doors of my mother's womb,
Nor hide sorrow from my eyes.

11 "Why[d] did I not die at birth?
Why did I not [4]perish when I came from the womb?
12 [e]Why did the knees receive me?
Or why the breasts, that I should nurse?
13 For now I would have lain still and been quiet,
I would have been asleep;
Then I would have been at rest
14 With kings and counselors of the earth,
Who [f]built ruins for themselves,
15 Or with princes who had gold,
Who filled their houses with silver;
16 Or why was I not hidden [g]like a stillborn child,
Like infants who never saw light?

■ 2:11–13 Job's friends arrive to comfort him in the midst of his terrible suffering.

■ 2:13 they sat down with him on the ground seven days and seven nights, and no one spoke a word to him. This behavior, tied to the number of completeness (seven), expresses the most intense form of grief they could display. Near Eastern protocol demanded that Job should be the first to speak. For the practice of mourning seven days over the dead, see Gen. 50:10.

■ 3:1—27:23 In three cycles of speeches, the writer explores human perspectives on Job's suffering.

■ 3:1–26 Job breaks the silence with a fiercely emotional lamentation. He expresses the same kind of depression that overtook the psalmist (Ps. 88) and also Jeremiah (Jer. 20:14, 15), whose bitter lament is, in language, similar to Job's.

■ 3:3–10 Job does not curse God, but he goes so far as to question God's wisdom in giving him life.

■ 3:11–26 Vv. 3–10 were set in the form of curses, while these are rhetorical questions. Job gives vent to his frustration, asking why he was not stillborn (vv. 11, 12, 16). Since that did not happen, his frustration moves on to ask rhetorically why he should not have experienced premature death (vv. 20, 23).

17 There the wicked cease from troubling,
And there the [5]weary are at [h]rest.
18 There the prisoners [6]rest together;
[i]They do not hear the voice of the oppressor.
19 The small and great are there,
And the servant is free from his master.

20 "Why[j] is light given to him who is in misery,
And life to the [k]bitter of soul,
21 Who [l]long[7] for death, but it does not come,
And search for it more than [m]hidden treasures;
22 Who rejoice exceedingly,
And are glad when they can find the [n]grave?
23 Why is light given to a man whose way is hidden,
[o]And whom God has hedged in?
24 For my sighing comes before [8]I eat,
And my groanings pour out like water.
25 For the thing I greatly [p]feared has come upon me,
And what I dreaded has happened to me.
26 I am not at ease, nor am I quiet;
I have no rest, for trouble comes."

Eliphaz: Job Has Sinned

4 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2 "If one attempts a word with you, will you become weary?
But who can withhold himself from speaking?
3 Surely you have instructed many,
And you [q]have strengthened weak hands.
4 Your words have upheld him who was stumbling,
And you [b]have strengthened the [l]feeble knees;
5 But now it comes upon you, and you are weary;
It touches you, and you are troubled.
6 Is not [c]your reverence [d]your confidence?
And the integrity of your ways your hope?

7 "Remember now, [e]who ever perished being innocent?
Or where were the upright ever cut off?
8 Even as I have seen,
[f]Those who plow iniquity
And sow trouble reap the same.
9 By the blast of God they perish,
And by the breath of His anger they are consumed.
10 The roaring of the lion,
The voice of the fierce lion,
And [g]the teeth of the young lions are broken.
11 [h]The old lion perishes for lack of prey,
And the cubs of the lioness are scattered.

12 "Now a word was secretly brought to me,
And my ear received a whisper of it.

11 [h]Job 29:17; Ps. 34:10

■ 4:1—5:27 Eliphaz begins the first cycle of speeches (chs. 4—14) in which Job and his friends debate the reasons for his predicament.

■ 4:2–6 Eliphaz is the least caustic of Job's three friends, at least in his first speech. These opening words, which assume Job is innocent (v. 7), should be compared with 22:1–11, where he is fully convinced Job is getting what he deserves. Job is complimented for being a wisdom teacher (vv. 3, 4), but in v. 5 he is warned lest he fail to apply to himself what he has taught others.

■ 4:6 your reverence. Lit. "your fear," i.e., the fear you have of God, which is the Old Testament way of referring to true worship.

■ 4:8 sow trouble reap the same. This is a wisdom truth that cannot be denied, but is Job guilty of this? That the innocent never perish (v. 7) is not true, nor has it ever been since the death of Abel (cf. Gen. 4:8–11).

13 [i]In disquieting thoughts from the visions of the night,
When deep sleep falls on men,
14 Fear came upon me, and [j]trembling,
Which made all my bones shake.
15 Then a spirit passed before my face;
The hair on my body stood up.
16 It stood still,
But I could not discern its appearance.
A form was before my eyes;
There was silence;
Then I heard a voice saying:
17 'Can a mortal be more righteous than God?
Can a man be more pure than his Maker?
18 If He [k]puts no trust in His servants,
If He charges His angels with error,
19 How much more those who dwell in houses of clay,
Whose foundation is in the dust,
Who are crushed before a moth?
20 [l]They are broken in pieces from morning till evening;
They perish forever, with no one regarding.
21 Does not their own excellence go away?
They die, even without wisdom.'
