17:3. See Numbers 1:7.

17:8. The city of Tappuah belonged to Ephraim, but the countryside around it belonged to Manasseh.

17:16. They complained that Joshua's solution was untenable because the Canaanites were too well armed to be displaced.

17:18. Joshua countered that the large population of Manasseh would enable them both to clear a large forest and to defeat the Canaanites.

18:1. After seven years of conquest and seven years of allocation, the Tabernacle, which had been located in Gilgal, was moved to the city of Shiloh, in Ephraim's territory, where it would remain for 369 years as the focal point of the national service to God (see Tosefta, Zevachim 13:6). Whereas the portable Tabernacle in the Wilderness had been made of collapsible wooden walls and a roof of draperies, the Tabernacle at Shiloh was made of stone walls and a roof of draperies.

for the children of Shechem, for the children of Hepher, and for the children of Shemida. These were the male children of Manasseh son of Joseph according to their families.

Zelophehad's daughters

3 But Zelophehad, son of Hepher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, had no sons, only daughters; and these are the names of his daughters: Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. * 4 They approached before Elazar the Kohen, before Joshua son of Nun, and before the leaders, saying, "HASHEM commanded Moses to give us a heritage among our brethren"; and he gave them, according to the word of HASHEM, a heritage among their father's brothers. 5 Ten portions fell to Manasseh — besides the land of Gilead and the Bashan which are on the other side of the Jordan — 6 because the women of Manasseh received a heritage among his sons. The land of Gilead went to Manasseh's remaining sons.

Manasseh's territory

7 The border of Manasseh was from Asher to Michmethath which faces Shechem, and the border went to the south to the inhabitants of En-tappuah. 8 The land of Tappuah belonged to Manasseh, but Tappuah on the border of Manasseh belonged to the children of Ephraim. * 9 The border descended to the Brook of Kanah — south of the brook. These cities were Ephraim's, in the midst of the cities of Manasseh. The border of Manasseh was on the north of the brook, and its outlets were to the Sea. 10 The southern part [of Joseph's portion] was Ephraim's and the northern part was Manasseh's. The Sea was their [western] border; they met with Asher on the north and Issachar on the east. 11 There was unto Manasseh, within [the territory of] Issachar and within [the territory of] Asher: Beth-shean and its towns, Ibleam and its towns, the inhabitants of Dor and its towns, the inhabitants of En-dor and its towns, the inhabitants of Taanach and its towns, and the inhabitants of Megiddo and its towns — three provinces. 12 But the children of Manasseh were not able to drive out [the inhabitants of] these cities, and the Canaanite wished to dwell in this land. 13 It happened when the Children of Israel became strong that they imposed tribute on the Canaanite, but they did not drive them out.

Manasseh's separated cities

Joseph's demand . . .

14 The children of Joseph spoke to Joshua, saying, "Why have you given me an inheritance of [only] a single lot and a single portion, seeing that I am a numerous people, for HASHEM has blessed me to such an extent?"

15 Joshua said to them, "If you are such a numerous people, ascend to the forest and clear an area for yourselves there — in the land of the Perizzite and the Rephaim — since the mountain range of Ephraim is too confined for you."

*16 The children of Joseph said, "The mountain is insufficient for us, and all the Canaanite that dwell in the land of the valley — those in Beth-shean and its villages and those in the Valley of Jezreel — have iron chariots."

. . . and Joshua's response

*17 Joshua spoke to the House of Joseph, to Ephraim and to Manasseh, saying, "You are a numerous people and you have great strength. You should not have [only] one lot. 18 That mountain shall be yours because it is a forest; you can cut it down and its outskirts will be yours, for you shall drive out the Canaanite even though they have iron chariots and are strong."

18 THE REMAINING TRIBES' TERRITORIES 18:2-19:51

1 The entire assembly of the Children of Israel gathered at Shiloh and erected the Tent of Meeting there, * and the land had been conquered before them, 2 but there was left among the Children of Israel seven tribes that had not yet received their heritage. 3 Joshua said to the Children of Israel,

18:3. God had said long before this (13:1,7) that lots should be drawn to divide the land, and He would assist in the conquest, but the tribes had been lax in doing so (Malbim). They were afraid that if each tribe knew where it was to live, the united army would disperse, and the individual tribes would not be strong enough to conquer their assigned lands. The stronger tribes, such as Judah and Joseph, however, had no such fears and had occupied their portions (Abarbanel).

18:5. The emissaries would map the land into seven

"How long will you be lax in coming to possess the Land that HASHEM, the God of your fathers, has given you? [4] Appoint for yourselves three men for each tribe. I will dispatch them, and they will arise and traverse the land and describe it in writing according to their heritage; then they will come back to me.* [5] They will divide it into seven portions; Judah will remain at his border to the south and the House of Joseph will remain at their border to the north.* [6] You shall describe in writing seven portions of the land and bring it to me here. I will then draw lots for you here before HASHEM, our God.* [7] For there is no share for the Levites in your midst, since the service of HASHEM is their heritage. Gad, Reuben, and half the tribe of Manasseh have taken their heritage across the Jordan to the east, which Moses the servant of HASHEM gave them."*

[8] The men arose and went. Joshua commanded those who went to write about the land, saying, "Go walk through the land, describe it in writing, and return to me. I will cast a lottery for you here before HASHEM in Shiloh."

[9] The men went and passed through the land; they described it in writing, according to the cities, in seven portions, in a book; then they came to Joshua, to the encampment at Shiloh. [10] Joshua cast a lottery for them in Shiloh before HASHEM; there Joshua apportioned the land for the Children of Israel according to their portions.

[11] The lottery for the tribe of the children of Benjamin came up, according to their families; the boundary of their lot went out between the children of Judah and the children of Joseph. [12] Their northern border was from the Jordan, and it ascended to the flank of Jericho on the north and ascended the mountain to the west; its outlets were to the wilderness of Beth-aven. [13] From there the border passed toward Luz, to the southern flank of Luz which is Beth-el; and the border descended to Atroth-addar, to the mountain that is south of Lower Beth-horon. [14] The border curved and circled around the western side, going southward from the mountain that faces Beth-horon on the south. Its outlets were toward Kiriath-baal which is Kiriath-jearim, a city of the children of Judah. This was the western side. [15] The southern side [was] from the edge of Kiriath-jearim; and the border went out from the west and went out to the spring of the Waters of Nephtoah. [16] The border descended to the edge of the mountain that faces the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, which is north of the Valley of Rephaim, and descended to the Valley of Hinnom to the southern flank of the Jebusite, and descended to En-rogel. [17] It curved from the north and went out to En-shemesh; it went out to Geliloth which was across from Maaleh-adummim. It then descended toward the Stone of Bohan son of Reuben. [18] It passed to the northern flank opposite the plain, and it descended to the plain. [19] The border passed the northern flank of Beth-hoglah; the border's outlets were to the northern tip of the Salt Sea, to the southern end of the Jordan. This was the southern border. [20] The Jordan bordered it on the eastern side. This is the heritage of the children of Benjamin according to its borders all around, according to their families.

[21] These are the cities of the tribe of the children of Benjamin according to their families: Jericho, Beth-hoglah, and Emek Keziz, [22] Beth-haarabah, Zemaraim, portions and the Divinely guided lottery would match the portions with the appropriate tribes. Judah's position to the south and Joseph's to the north guaranteed the security of those borders, permitting the seven tribes in the central part of the land to concentrate on the conquest.

19:8. Whereas all the tribes received separate territories within the land, Simeon was not allocated any territory, but only scattered patches of land within the territory of Judah. Ramban explains that this was in fulfillment of Jacob's words, "I will divide them [i.e., Simeon and Levi] in Jacob and scatter them in Israel" (Genesis 49:7), implying that the tribes of Simeon and Levi would be given a series of cities, but not complete provinces.

Beth-el, [23] Avvim, Parah, Ophrah, [24] Cephar-ammonah, Ophni, Geba — twelve cities and their villages; [25] Gibeon, Ramah, Beeroth, [26] Mizpeh, Chephirah, Mozah; [27] Rekem, Irpeel, Taralah, [28] Zela, Eleph, the Jebusite [city] which is Jerusalem, Gibeath, [and] Kiriath — fourteen cities and their villages. This is the heritage of the children of Benjamin according to their families.

[1] The second lottery came out for Simeon, for the tribe of the children of Simeon according to their families. Their heritage was situated in the midst of the heritage of the children of Judah. [2] They received for their heritage: Beer-sheba [which is] Sheba, Moladah, [3] Hazar-shual, Balah, Ezem, [4] Eltolad, Bethul, Hormah, [5] Ziklag, Beth-marcaboth, Hazar-susah, [6] Beth-lebaoth, and Sharuhen — thirteen cities and their villages. [7] Ain, Rimmon, Ether, and Ashan — four cities and their villages — [8] *and all the villages that surrounded these cities until Baalath-beer and Ramah of the south; this is the heritage of the tribe of the children of Simeon according to their families. [9] *The heritage of the children of Simeon was from the portion of the children of Judah, because the lot of the children of Judah was too large for them. Therefore, the children of Simeon received their heritage within [Judah's] heritage.

Zebulun's territory

[10] The third lottery came up for the children of Zebulun according to their families; the border of their heritage extended to Sarid. [11] Their border ascended to the west and Maralah and reached to Dabbesheth; it reached the river that is alongside Jokneam. [12] It returned from Sarid eastward, toward the rising sun on the border of Chisloth-tabor, and it went out to Dobrath and ascended to Japhia. [13] From there it passed to the east, to Gath-hepher and to Ittah-kazin, and it went out to Rimmon, curving to Neah. [14] The border circled it, at the north of Hannathon, and its outlets were the Valley of Iphtah-el, [15] with Kattath, Nahalal, Shimron, Idalah, and Beth-lehem — twelve cities and their villages.* [16] This is the heritage of the children of Zebulun according to their families, these cities and their villages.

Issachar's territory

[17] The fourth lottery came out for Issachar, for the children of Issachar according to their families. [18] Their border was: Jezreel, Chesuloth, Shunem, [19] Hapharaim, Shion, Anaharath, [20] Rabbith, Kishion, Ebez, [21] Remeth, En-gannim, En-chaddah, and Beth-pazzez. [22] The border reached Tabor, Shahazim, Beth-shemesh; their border's outlets were to the Jordan — sixteen cities and their villages. [23] This is the heritage of the tribe of the children of Issachar according to their families, the cities and their villages.

Asher's territory

[24] The fifth lottery came out for the tribe of the children of Asher according to their families. [25] Their border was: Helkath, Hali, Beten, Achshaph, [26] and Alammelech, Amad, Mishal; and it reached Carmel at the sea and at Shihor-libnath. [27] It turned toward the rising sun, to Beth-dagon, and it reached Zebulun and the north of the Valley of Iphtah-el and Beth-haemek and Neiel. It then went out to the north of Cabul, [28] and to Ebron, Rehob, Hammon, and Kanah, until Great Sidon. [29] The border turned to Ramah and to the fortified city of Tyre; the border turned to Hosah, and its outlets were to the Sea from the portion of* 19:9. Judah conquered more than it required. Since Simeon was allied with the army of Judah (see Judges 1:3), Judah's excess cities were allocated to Simeon.

19:15. Some of the cities listed along the borders belonged to Zebulun; others were just across the border and belonged to the neighboring tribe.

19:29. Tyre belonged to Naphtali and is listed here only as a border landmark.

19:38. Some of the border cities listed above belonged to neighboring tribes.

20:2. See Numbers 35:9-34 for the background of the laws in this chapter.

20:6. If the killer is found to have exercised all reasonable care, he is acquitted and does not go into exile. If he is found guilty of carelessness, he is exiled to a city of refuge where he must remain until the death of the Kohen Gadol.

Achzib; [30] with Ummah and Aphek and Rehob — twenty-two cities and their villages. [31] This is the heritage of the tribe of the children of Asher according to their families, these cities and their villages.

[32] The sixth lottery came out for the children of Naphtali, for the children of Naphtali according to their families. [33] Their border was: from Heleph, from Elon-bezaanannim, Adami, Nekeb, and Jabneel until Lakkum, and its outlets were the Jordan. [34] The border turned westward to Aznoth-tabor and went out from there to Hukok; it reached Zebulun in the south, and reached Asher in the west, and Judah at the Jordan toward the rising sun. [35] The fortified cities were: Ziddim, Zer, Hammath, Rakkath, Kinnereth, [36] Adamah, Haramath, Hazor, [37] Kedesh, Edrei, En-hazor, [38] Iron, Migdal-el, Horem, Beth-anath, and Beth-shemesh — nineteen cities and their villages.* [39] This is the heritage of the tribe of the children of Naphtali according to their families, the cities and their villages.

[40] For the tribe of the children of Dan according to their families, the seventh lottery went out. [41] The border of their heritage was: Zorah, Eshtaol, Ir-shemesh, [42] Shaalabbin, Aijalon, Ithlah, [43] Elon, Timnah, Ekron, [44] Eltekeh, Gibbethon, Baalath, [45] Jehud, Bene-berak, Gath-rimmon, [46] Mei-jarkon, and Rakkon, with the border opposite Jaffa. [47] The boundary of the children of Dan was not sufficient for them, so the children of Dan ascended and battled with Leshem, and conquered it, smiting it by the edge of the sword. They took possession of it and dwelled there, and changed the name of Leshem to Dan, after the name of Dan their ancestor. [48] This is the heritage of the tribe of the children of Dan according to their families, these cities and their villages.

[49] Thus they finished apportioning the land according to its borders. The Children of Israel gave a heritage to Joshua son of Nun within their midst. [50] By the word of HASHEM they gave him the city that he requested, Timnath-serah in Mount Ephraim; and he built the city and dwelled there.

[51] These are the heritages that Elazar the Kohen, and Joshua son of Nun, and the heads of the ancestral [families] of the tribes of the Children of Israel apportioned by lottery, in Shiloh, before HASHEM, at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting. Thus they finished dividing the land.

THE CITIES OF REFUGE 20:1-9 (See Appendix D, map 5)

[1] HASHEM spoke to Joshua, saying, [2] *"Speak to the Children of Israel, saying, 'Prepare for yourselves the cities of refuge, about which I spoke to you through Moses, [3] where a killer may flee — one who kills a person through carelessness, unintentionally. They will be a refuge for you from the avenger of the blood. [4] He shall flee to one of these cities, stand at the entrance to the city gate, and speak his words into the ears of the elders of that city; they shall bring him into the city, to them, and provide him a place, and he shall dwell among them. [5] If the avenger of the blood chases after him, they shall not deliver the killer into his hand, for he struck his fellow unintentionally; he did not hate him from yesterday and before yesterday. [6] *He shall dwell in that city until he stands before the tribunal for judgment, until the death of the Kohen Gadol who will be in those days. Then the killer may return and go to his city and to his house, to the city from which he fled.' "

20:8. Although Moses designated the three cities to the east of the Jordan before his death (Deuteronomy 4:41-43), they did not assume their official status until Joshua designated the remaining three (Talmud).

21:2. The Levite cities were spread throughout the land in fulfillment of Jacob's utterance, "I will scatter them in Israel" (Genesis 49:7). The Torah granted the Levites cities, but not a tribal province in the land (Numbers 18:20), so that they would devote themselves to Divine service in the Holy Temple and teach the Torah to the other tribes and Shechem in the mountains of Ephraim, and Kiriath-arba which is Hebron

The six cities in the mountains of Judah. [8] *On the other side of the Jordan, by Jericho, to the east, they designated Bezer in the wilderness in the plain from the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth in Gilead from the tribe of Gad, and Golan in the Bashan from the tribe of Manasseh. [9] These were the cities appointed for all the Children of Israel and for the resident who dwells among them — to which any person who kills through carelessness may flee, and not die by the hand of the avenger of the blood before he stands before the tribunal.

[1] The heads of the ancestral [families] of the Levites approached Elazar the Kohen, Joshua son of Nun, and the heads of the fathers' [household] of the tribes of the Children of Israel. [2] *They spoke to them in Shiloh, in the land of Canaan, saying, "HASHEM commanded through Moses to give us cities in which to dwell and their open [surrounding] spaces for our animals." [3] So the Children of Israel gave to the Levites from their heritages, according to the word of HASHEM, these cities and their open spaces.

[4] The lottery came out for the families of the Kohathite: for the sons of Aaron the Kohen, [who were] of the Levites, [there were] from the tribe of Judah, from the tribe of the Simeonite, and from the tribe of Benjamin, by lottery, thirteen cities.

[5] For the remaining sons of Kohath: from the families of the tribe of Ephraim, from the tribe of Dan, and from half the tribe of Manasseh, by lottery, ten cities.

[6] To the sons of Gershon: from the families of the tribe of Issachar, from the tribe of Asher, from the tribe of Naphtali, and from half the tribe of Manasseh in the Bashan, by lottery, thirteen cities.

[7] For the sons of Merari according to their families: from the tribe of Reuben, from the tribe of Gad, and from the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.

[8] The Children of Israel gave these cities and their open spaces to the Levites, as HASHEM had commanded through Moses, by lottery.

The cities of the Kohanim — from Judah, Simeon, and Benjamin

[9] They gave — from the tribe of the children of Judah and from the tribe of the children of Simeon — these cities which will be mentioned by name, [10] and they belonged to the sons of Aaron from the Kohathite family of the children of Levi, for theirs was the first lottery. [11] They gave them Kiriath-arba, father of the giants, which is Hebron in Mount Judah, and its open spaces around it;* [12] but the fields of the city and its villages they gave to Caleb son of Jephunneh as his possession.

[13] To the sons of Aaron the Kohen they gave the city of refuge for killers, Hebron and its open spaces, Libnah and its open spaces, [14] Jattir and its open spaces, Eshtemoa and its open spaces, [15] Holon and its open spaces, Debir and its open spaces, [16] Ain and its open spaces, Juttah and its open spaces, and Beth-shemesh and its open spaces — nine cities from these two tribes.

[17] From the tribe of Benjamin: Gibeon and its open spaces, Geba and its open spaces, [18] Anathoth and its open spaces, and Almon and its open spaces — four cities. [19] All the cities of the sons of Aaron, the Kohanim, were thirteen cities and their open spaces.

[20] As for the families of the sons of Kohath, the Levites — those that were left (Rambam). They were supported by the tithes given them by their brethren, a process that was facilitated by their dispersion throughout the land. See Numbers 35:1-8.

from the sons of Kohath — the cities of their lottery were from the tribe of Ephraim. [21] They gave them the city of refuge for killers, Shechem and its open spaces in Mount Ephraim, Gezer and its open spaces, [22] Kivzaim and its open spaces, and Beth-horon and its open spaces — four cities.

The cities of Kohath — from Ephraim, Dan, and half of Manasseh

[23] From the tribe of Dan — Elteke and its open spaces, Gibbethon and its open spaces, [24] Aijalon and its open spaces, and Gath-rimmon and its open spaces — four cities.

[25] From half the tribe of Manasseh: Taanach and its open spaces and Gath-rimmon and its open spaces — two cities. [26] In all there were ten cities and their open spaces for the remaining families of the sons of Kohath.

The cities of Gershon — from half of Manasseh, Issachar, Asher, and Naphtali

[27] For the sons of Gershon of the families of the Levites: from half the tribe of Manasseh, the city of refuge for the killer, Golan in the Bashan and its open spaces, and Beeshterah and its open spaces — two cities.

[28] From the tribe of Issachar: Kishion and its open spaces, Dobrath and its open spaces, [29] Jarmuth and its open spaces, and En-gannim and its open spaces — four cities.

[30] From the tribe of Asher: Mishal and its open spaces, Abdon and its open spaces, [31] Helkath and its open spaces, and Rehob and its open spaces — four cities.

[32] From the tribe of Naphtali: the city of refuge for the killers, Kedesh in the Galilee and its open spaces, Hammoth-dor and its open spaces, and Kartan and its open spaces — three cities. [33] All the Gershonite cities according to their families were thirteen cities and their open spaces.

The cities of Merari — from Zebulun, Reuben, and Gad

[34] For the families of the sons of Merari, the remaining Levites: from the tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam and its open spaces, Kartah and its open spaces, [35] Dimnah and its open spaces, and Nahalal and its open spaces — four cities. *

[36] From the tribe of Gad: the city of refuge for the killers, Ramoth, in the Gilead, and its open spaces, Mahanaim and its open spaces, [37] Heshbon and its open spaces, and Jazer and its open spaces — all the cities four.

[38] All the cities for the sons of Merari according to their families, the remaining families of the Levites — their lot was twelve cities.

[39] All the cities of the Levites within the possession of the Children of Israel were forty-eight, and their open spaces. [40] Every single city of these cities shall be [given] with its open spaces all around it; so shall it be for all these cities.

DIVISION OF TERRITORIES CONCLUDED 21:41-22:34

God's promises fulfilled

[41] Thus HASHEM gave to Israel the entire land that He swore to their forefathers to give; they inherited it and dwelled in it. [42] HASHEM granted them rest from all around, according to all that He had sworn to their forefathers; no man from among all their enemies stood before them; HASHEM delivered all their enemies into their hands. [43] Nothing of all the good things of which HASHEM had spoken to the House of Israel was lacking; everything came to pass.

21:35. Some editions contain the following two verses after verse 35: From the tribe of Reuben: Bezer and its open spaces, Jahaz and its open spaces, Kedemoth and its open spaces, Mephaath and its open spaces — four cities. However, most Masoretic authorities maintain that although the information contained in these verses is recorded in I Chronicles 6:63-64, it is nevertheless not part of the original Masoretic text of Joshua (Radak).

22:1. The two-and-a-half tribes east of the Jordan were in a uniquely precarious position. Their separation from the bulk of their brethren created the danger that they would view themselves as a separate nation. This chapter deals with this fear and the entire nation's efforts to prevent it from happening.

22:7. This parenthetical verse explains why Joshua

Farewell to Reuben, Gad and Manasseh

1 Then Joshua summoned the Reubenite, and the Gadite and half of the tribe of Manasseh. * 2 He said to them, "You have observed all that Moses, the servant of HASHEM, has commanded you, and you have obeyed my voice, in all that I have commanded you. 3 You have not forsaken your brethren these many days — until this day; you have kept the charge of the commandment of HASHEM, your God. 4 And now HASHEM, your God, has granted rest to your brethren as He had told them; so now turn and go to your tents, to the land of your possession, which Moses, the servant of HASHEM, gave you across the Jordan. 5 Only be very careful to fulfill the commandment and the Torah that Moses, the servant of HASHEM, commanded you: to love HASHEM, your God, and to walk in all His ways and to observe His commandments and to cling to Him and to serve Him with all your heart and with all your soul." 6 Then Joshua blessed them and sent them forth, and they went to their tents.

7 To half the tribe of Manasseh, Moses had given [territory] in the Bashan, and to half of it, Joshua had given [territory] among their brothers on the western side of the Jordan. When Joshua sent them away to their dwellings he blessed them, as well. * 8 *And he said to them saying, "With much wealth return to your tents, and with very much cattle, with silver, gold, copper, and iron, and garments, very much. Divide the spoils of your enemies with your brothers."

9 They returned and went — the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh — from the Children of Israel, from Shiloh that is in the land of Canaan, to go to the land of Gilead, to the land of their possession, of which they took possession in accordance with the word of HASHEM through the hand of Moses. 10 They came to the regions of the Jordan that are in the land of Canaan. The children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh built an altar there, near the Jordan — a large altar as a showpiece.

The suspected rebellion

11 The Children of Israel heard, saying, "Behold, the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh have built the altar opposite the land of Canaan in the regions of the Jordan, across from the side of the Children of Israel." 12 When the Children of Israel heard, the entire assembly of the Children of Israel congregated at Shiloh to advance upon them with an army.

13 To the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh, the Children of Israel sent Phineas the son of Elazar the Kohen to the land of Gilead. 14 Ten leaders were with him, one head of an ancestral family for each tribe of Israel; each man was the head of his ancestral family of the thousands of Israel. 15 They came to the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh, to the land of Gilead, and they spoke with them, saying, 16 "Thus said the entire assembly of HASHEM: 'What is this treachery that you have committed against the God of Israel — to turn away from HASHEM this day, by building for yourselves an altar for your rebellion this day against HASHEM? 17 Is the sin of Peor not enough for us — from which we have not become cleansed until this day, and which resulted in the plague in the assembly of HASHEM?* 18 Yet today you would turn away from HASHEM? If you rebel against HASHEM today, tomorrow He will be angry with the entire assembly of Israel.

blessed half of Manasseh along with Gad and Reuben, the other eastern tribes (Radak).

22:8. Joshua applied the principle that the warriors should share the spoils with those who had remained behind to guard the women, children, and property (Rashi).

22:17. See Numbers 24:1-9.

22:19. If you consider the east bank of the Jordan to lack the sanctity of Eretz Yisrael because the Tabernacle is not there (Radak), then join your brethren in the west and we will redistribute the land to give you portions among us.

22:20. Achan's sin is recorded in Chapter 7.

22:22. They were addressing God, as it were, saying that if they were not sincere, He should not save them (Rashi).

22:31. Your explanation has prevented the calamity of future generations sinning in the manner you described (Metzudos), or an attack against innocent people.

19 But if the land of your possession is contaminated, * cross over to the land of HASHEM'S possession where the Sanctuary of HASHEM is, and take your possession among us; but do not rebel against HASHEM and do not rebel against us by building for yourselves an altar other than the Altar of HASHEM, our God. 20 Did not Achan son of Zerah commit treachery * regarding the consecrated property, and wrath fell upon the entire assembly of Israel? That man was not the only one to perish for his sin!' "

The explanation

21 The children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh responded and spoke to the heads of the thousands of Israel, 22 "Almighty, God, HASHEM; Almighty, God, HASHEM: He knows and Israel shall know. If it is in rebellion or in treachery against HASHEM, save us not this day. * 23 [If we meant] to build an altar for ourselves to turn away from following HASHEM, or to offer an elevation-offering or meal-offering upon it, or to offer peace-offerings upon it, let HASHEM Himself exact [retribution], 24 if we did not do this out of fear, saying [to ourselves]: In the future your children might say to our children, 'What have you to do with HASHEM the God of Israel? 25 HASHEM has established a border between us and you, O children of Reuben and children of Gad — the Jordan! You have no share in HASHEM*!' So your children will cause our children to stop fearing* HASHEM. 26 Therefore, we said, 'Let us do this for ourselves — to build the altar, not for elevation-offering and not for sacrifice, 27 but so that it will be a witness between us and you and our generations after us, to perform the service of HASHEM before Him with our elevation-offerings, and with our offerings and with our peace-offerings.' Then your children will not say to our children in the future, 'You have no share in HASHEM.' 28 So we said, 'When they say this to us or to our generations tomorrow, we will say, "See the structure of the altar of HASHEM that our fathers made — not for elevation-offering and not for offering, but as a testimony between us and you." ' 29 It would be sacrilegious for us to rebel against HASHEM and to turn away this day from following HASHEM, to build an altar for burnt-offering, meal-offering, and sacrifice — other than the Altar of HASHEM, our God, which is before His Sanctuary!"

The rest of the tribes approve

30 When Phineas the Kohen and the leaders of the assembly and the heads of the thousands of Israel that were with him heard the words that the children of Reuben, the children of Gad and the children of Manasseh spoke, it was good in their eyes. 31 And Phineas son of Elazar the Kohen said to the children of Reuben, the children of Gad, and the children of Manasseh, "Today we know that HASHEM is in our midst, since you did not commit this treachery against HASHEM. Now you have saved the Children of Israel from the hand of HASHEM."*

32 Then Phineas son of Elazar the Kohen and the leaders returned from the children of Reuben and the children of Gad, from the land of Gilead, to the land of Canaan, to the Children of Israel, and they gave them a report. 33 The matter was good in the eyes of the Children of Israel; and the Children of Israel blessed God and no longer spoke of advancing upon them with an army, to destroy the land in which the children of Reuben and the children of Gad dwelled. 34 The children of Reuben and the children of Gad named the altar ["Witness"], for "it is a witness between us that HASHEM is God."

23:2. At the end of his life, Joshua was acutely aware that many Canaanites still remained in the land. He knew that these idolaters were a threat to the existence of the Israelites, and that without his leadership, the Israelites might lose confidence in their worthiness of the Divine protection that had assured their previous

JOSHUA'S FAREWELL 23:1-24:33

Joshua encourages and admonishes the people

Do not deviate from the Torah and avoid mingling with the nations . . .

. . . or you will forfeit God's help

Otherwise you will be banished

A second assembly

1 It happened many days after HASHEM had given rest to Israel from all their surrounding enemies, and Joshua was old, well on in years: 2 Joshua summoned all of Israel — their elders, their heads, their judges, and their marshals — and said to them, "I have aged and am well on in years. 3 You have seen all that HASHEM, your God, has done to all these nations before you; that HASHEM, your God, has fought for you. 4 See, I have allotted to you [the territories of] these remaining nations as a heritage for your tribes, from the Jordan, including all the nations that I have destroyed, up to the Great Sea toward the setting of the sun. 5 HASHEM, your God, will push them out from your presence and drive them out from before you, and you will inherit their land, as HASHEM, your God, has spoken to you. 6 Strengthen yourselves very much to observe and to do all that is written in the book of the Torah of Moses, not to deviate from it to the right or to the left, 7 not to come into these nations, those who still remain with you; you shall not mention the name of their gods and you shall not cause others to swear by them, you shall not serve them and you shall not bow down to them. 8 Only cling to HASHEM, your God, as you have done up to this day. 9 HASHEM has driven out great and powerful nations from before you, and not a man has stood against you, to this day. 10 One of you chased a thousand, because HASHEM, your God, it is He Who fought for you, as He spoke to you.*

11 "You shall beware greatly for your souls, to love HASHEM, your God. 12 For if you should turn away and cling to the rest of these nations, these which remain with you, by intermarrying with them and coming into them and they into you, 13 you should know with certainty that HASHEM, your God, will not continue to drive these nations out from before you; they will be a snare and an obstacle to you, a lash in your sides and thorns in your eyes, until you are banished from this goodly land that HASHEM, your God, has given to you. 14 Behold, this day I am going the way of all the world. You know with all your heart and with all your soul that not one of all the good things that HASHEM your God has promised you has fallen short; all have come about for you, not one word of it has fallen short.

15 "But it shall be that just as every good thing that HASHEM, your God, has told you has come to you, so will HASHEM bring upon you every bad thing until He will have eliminated you from upon this goodly land that HASHEM, your God, has given you. 16 If you transgress the covenant of HASHEM, your God, that He has commanded you, and you go and serve gods of others and bow down to them, the wrath of HASHEM will burn against you, and you will perish swiftly from the goodly land that He has given you."

victories. He summoned the entire nation and explained to them that their success was dependent not on his presence, but rather upon their faithfulness to the Torah. If they would be scrupulous in their observance, then God would continue to make them victorious. If, however, they would fail in their observance, then the Canaanites would remain and be a thorn in their sides (v. 13).

24:1. Joshua convoked a second assembly of the Israelites before his death. He reviewed the panorama of Jewish history and recounted God's manifold kindness to the Jewish people. Then he urged them to remain loyal to God, and to destroy any gold and silver objects used for idol worship that were in their possession. Finally, just as Moses had done before his death, Joshua urged them to reaffirm their adherence to the Torah.

the God of Israel: 'Your forefathers — Terah, the father of Abraham and the father of Nahor — always dwelt beyond the [Euphrates] River and they served gods of others. 3 But I took your forefather Abraham from beyond the River and led him throughout all the land of Canaan; I multiplied his seed and I gave him Isaac. 4 To Isaac I gave Jacob and Esau. To Esau I gave Mount Seir to inherit, and Jacob and his sons went down to Egypt.

5 " 'I sent Moses and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt with all that I did in their midst, and afterwards I brought you out. 6 I brought your forefathers out of Egypt and you arrived at the sea. The Egyptians pursued your forefathers with chariot and horsemen to the Sea of Reeds. 7 They cried out to HASHEM, and He placed darkness between you and the Egyptians and brought the sea upon them and covered them — your own eyes saw what I did with the Egyptians — and then you dwelled in the Wilderness for many years. 8 I brought you to the land of the Amorite, who dwelled across the Jordan, and they battled with you, but I delivered them into your hand and you inherited their land; I destroyed them from before you. 9 Then Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, arose and battled against Israel. He sent and summoned Balaam son of Beor to curse you, 10 but I refused to listen to Balaam, and he pronounced a blessing upon you; thus I rescued you from his power.

11 " 'Then you crossed the Jordan and came to Jericho. The inhabitants of Jericho battled against you — the Amorite and the Perizzite and the Canaanite and the Hittite and the Girgashite, the Hivvite and the Jebusite — and I delivered them into your hand. 12 I sent the hornet-swarm ahead of you, and it drove them out before you — the two kings of the Amorite — not by your sword and not by your bow. 13 I gave you a land for which you did not labor and cities that you did not build, yet you occupied them; vineyards and olive groves that you did not plant, yet you are eating from them.'

Joshua's discourse

14 "And now, fear HASHEM and serve Him with wholeheartedness and truth; remove the gods that your forefathers served on the other side of the River and in Egypt, and serve HASHEM. 15 If it is evil in your eyes to serve HASHEM, choose today whom you will serve: the gods your forefathers served across the River, or the gods of the Amorite in whose land you dwell. But as for me and my house, we will serve HASHEM!"

16 The nation responded and said, "It would be sacrilegious for us to forsake HASHEM, to serve gods of others. 17 For it is HASHEM our God Who brought us and our fathers up from the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage, Who performed these great wondrous signs before our eyes; He safeguarded us on all the paths upon which we walked and among all the peoples in whose midst we passed. 18 HASHEM drove out all the peoples and the Amorite who inhabited the land from before us. We, too, will serve HASHEM, for He is our God!"

19 But Joshua said to the people, "You will not be able to serve HASHEM, for He is a holy God; He is a jealous God; He will not forgive your rebellious sins or your transgressions. 20 If you forsake HASHEM and serve gods of the foreigner, He will turn and act harshly toward you and destroy you after having done good with you."

21 The people said to Joshua, "No, we will serve only HASHEM!" 22 Joshua said

24:25. He reviewed the laws of the Torah (Rashi).

24:26. Joshua wrote the words he had just proclaimed, and placed the parchment together with the Torah scroll (Targum). At that time the Holy Ark, which the verse refers to as the Sanctuary, was in Shechem (Radak).

24:32. See Genesis 33:19.

your hearts to HASHEM, the God of Israel." 24 The people replied to Joshua, "We shall serve HASHEM, our God, and we shall heed His voice."

25 Joshua made a covenant with the people that day and he set down decrees and laws for them in Shechem. * 26 Joshua wrote these words [and placed them] with the Book of God's Torah. * He took a large stone and stood it there beneath the doorpost that was in the Sanctuary of HASHEM, 27 and Joshua declared to all the people, "Behold, this stone will be a witness for us, for it has heard all the words of HASHEM that He has spoken to us; it will be a witness against you if you ever deny your God." 28 Then Joshua sent the people forth, each man to his heritage.

Joshua's death and burial
(See Appendix A, timeline 3)
29 It was after these events that Joshua son of Nun, the servant of HASHEM, died at the age of one hundred and ten years. 30 They buried him in the border of his heritage in Timnath-serah, which is in Mount Ephraim, north of Mount Gaash.

31 Israel served HASHEM all the days of Joshua and all the days of the Elders whose days were lengthened after Joshua, and who had known all the deeds of HASHEM, which He had done for Israel.

Joseph's burial
32 Joseph's bones, which the Children of Israel had brought up from Egypt, they buried in Shechem, in the portion of the field that Jacob acquired from the children of Hamor, the father of Shechem, for a hundred kesitahs; * and it became a heritage for the children of Joseph.

Elazar's death and burial
33 Elazar son of Aaron died, and they buried him in the Hill of Phinehas his son, which was given to him on Mount Ephraim.

Judges שופטים

With the death of Joshua, the Jewish nation entered a new era. No longer was there a single national leader, a virtual king of the nation, as Moses and Joshua had been. True, there were courts in every town and city, as commanded by the Torah, so that there would be a system of justice, but there was no formally constituted national leader. There should have been a general acknowledgment that, as Samuel had insisted centuries later, "HASHEM your God is your king," and all questions of law and policy should have been decided by the national or tribal Sanhedrins. Instead, the tribes became involved in settling their respective provinces, setting up homes and farms and — because of their reluctance to eradicate all Canaanite influence from the land — often tended to adopt the corrupt practices of their neighbors.

As the Book of Judges notes all too sadly, "In those days there was no king in Israel; every man did what was proper in his own eyes" (17:6, 21:25). There were episodes of extreme sinfulness that caused God to remove His protective providence from Israel, and foreign oppressors would exercise predatory control over parts of the country. Nevertheless, the masses of the people never lost their faith in God and their basic allegiance to the Torah. God would choose a leader, known as a judge, who would rally the people to repent and thus deserve God's help once again. Then, generally, the judge would conquer and expel the oppressor and the nation would enjoy a long period of tranquility — until it slid downward again.

Sometimes the judge would be someone of great renown, such as Deborah or Othniel, who was one of Joshua's greatest contemporaries. Sometimes he would be a young man of enormous but unknown potential, such as Gideon. There was a time when the nation did not merit a leader as great as these historic figures, so Jephthah became their judge; or a time when they did not deserve to conquer their enemies, so God gave them Samson, whose individual exploits kept the brutal Philistines at bay.

In reading the Book of Judges, it is essential to note that the combined years of peace and righteousness far outnumbered the years of failure and persecution. Always, the judge was chosen by God, and whenever he or she called upon the people to repent, they responded. The nation had shortcomings, but it was essentially righteous and true to the Torah and its Giver.

1:1. Seeing that Joshua had died, the Canaanites would be emboldened, convinced that without its leader, Israel would be vulnerable. But if the very first battle were to end in a decisive Jewish victory, the Canaanites would become disheartened.Therefore, the nation inquired of the Urim VeTumim (see Exodus 28:30) which tribe should initiate the crucial first battle (Ralbag).

1:3. The tribe of Simeon received scattered cities within the boundaries of Judah, but had no separate, contiguous territory of its own (see Joshua 19:1).

1:6. Nowhere else do we find Jews mutilating their opponents, as they did to Adoni-bezek. God prompted them to do this in order to frighten the remaining Canaanite rulers and to punish Adoni-bezek measure for measure for the atrocities he had inflicted on his victims (Ralbag).

1:8. Scripture reviews the important areas taken in Judah's earlier wars under the leadership of Joshua, the conquests of Caleb and Othniel, and the request of Caleb's daughter Achsah. See Joshua 15:13-20,63.

1:16. Like their ancestor Jethro, the Kenites were loyal friends and allies of Israel, and the Jews reciprocated this friendship by evacuating the Kenite families whenever

CONQUEST OF CANAAN 1:1-36

1 It happened after the death of Joshua that the Children of Israel inquired of HASHEM, saying, "Who should go up for us first against the Canaanite, to wage war against him?"*

2 HASHEM said, "Judah should go up. Behold, I have delivered the land into his hand."

Simeon assists Judah

3 Judah said to Simeon his brother, "Go up [in battle] with me for my portion* and let us wage war against the Canaanite; then I, too, will go with you for your portion." So Simeon went with him. 4 Judah attacked and HASHEM delivered the Canaanite and the Perizzite into their hand; they struck them down at Bezek — ten thousand men.

5 They found Adoni-bezek in Bezek, and battled against him, and they struck down the Canaanite and the Perizzite. 6 Adoni-bezek fled and they chased after him. They seized him and cut off his thumbs and his big toes.* 7 Adoni-bezek said, "Seventy kings with their thumbs and big toes cut off used to glean under my table; as I did, so God requited me." They brought him to Jerusalem and he died there.

8 The children of Judah then waged war against Jerusalem.* They conquered it and struck it down by the edge of the sword, and they set the city on fire. 9 Afterward, the children of Judah descended to wage war against the Canaanite who inhabited the mountain, the South, and the lowland.

10 Judah had gone forth against the Canaanite who dwelled in Hebron — the name of Hebron in early times had been Kiriath-arba — and they struck down Sheshai, Ahiman, and Talmai. 11 From there he went [to fight] against the inhabitants of Debir, and the name of Debir in early times had been Kiriath-sefer.

Othniel marries Caleb's daughter

12 Caleb said, "Whoever smites Kiriath-sefer and conquers it — I shall give him my daughter Achsah as a wife." 13 Othniel son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother, conquered it; so he gave him his daughter Achsah as a wife.

14 When she came [to Othniel], she urged him to let her ask her father for a field. Then she slid off the donkey, and Caleb said to her, "What do you wish?"

15 She said to him, "Give me a [source of] blessing — for you have given me an arid land; give me springs of water." So Caleb gave her the upper springs and the lower springs.

The Kenites

16 The children of the Kenite,* Moses' father-in-law, ascended from the City of Date Palms with the children of Judah to the Wilderness of Judah that is south of Arad; they went and settled with the people. 17 Judah went with his brother Simeon and they struck down the Canaanite who dwelled in Zephath and destroyed it. He named the city Hormah [Destruction]. 18 Judah conquered Gaza and its territory, Ashkelon and its territory, and Ekron and its territory.

19 HASHEM was with Judah and he drove out the [inhabitants of the] mountains, but the inhabitants of the valley could not be driven out, because they had iron chariots. 20 They granted Hebron to Caleb, as Moses had spoken, and he drove the three sons of the giant from there.

Jerusalem

21 But the children of Benjamin did not drive out the Jebusite, inhabitant of Jerusalem,* so the Jebusite dwelt with the children of Benjamin, in Jerusalem, they might be caught in the crossfire of war. The Kenites had settled in Jericho (the City of Date Palms), and when the battle for the city took place, they left it and settled with the tribe of Judah (Radak).

1:21. Although Judah had captured and razed Jerusalem (v. 8), the Jebusite inhabitants took refuge in the city's citadel, from which Judah was unable to dislodge them (Abarbanel). Part of Jerusalem was in the province of Benjamin, and that part remained in the possession of the Jebusites.

1:27-36. Nearly all the tribes were derelict in not persevering to rid the land of its inhabitants. Indeed, had this pernicious seed of idol worship not been permitted to take root in the land, the spiritual degeneration that led to the destruction of the Temple more than eight hundred years later would not have occurred.

2:1. The word מַלְאָךְ means "emissary" and is used to describe both an angel and a prophet, as each is an emissary who carries out God's mission. Since the emissary speaks in God's name, he uses the first person.

2:3. See Numbers 33:55. Measure for measure, if Israel would choose to establish ties to the Canaanite nations, it until this day.

The tribes of Joseph . . .

22 The House of Joseph went up, as well, to Beth-el, and HASHEM was with them. 23 The House of Joseph spied out Beth-el — the name of the city in early times had been Luz. 24 The lookouts saw a man leaving the city and they said to him, "Show us the approach to the city and we shall deal kindly with you." 25 He showed them the approach to the city and they struck down the city by the edge of the sword, but they released the man and his entire family. 26 The man went to the land of the Hittites. He built a city and called it Luz; that is its name until this day.

. . . Manasseh . . .

*27 Manasseh did not drive out [the inhabitants of] Beth-shean and its towns, Taanach and its towns, the inhabitants of Dor and its towns, the inhabitants of Ibleam and its towns, and the inhabitants of Megiddo and its towns. The Canaanite were determined to dwell in this land. * 28 So it was that when Israel was strong, they imposed tribute upon the Canaanite, but did not drive him out.*

. . . and Ephraim

29 Ephraim did not drive out the Canaanite that was dwelling in Gezer, so the Canaanite dwelt in their midst in Gezer.

Zebulun

30 Zebulun did not drive out the inhabitants of Kitron and the inhabitants of Nahalol, so the Canaanite dwelt in their midst, and became tributary.

Asher

31 Asher did not drive out the inhabitants of Acco nor the inhabitants of Sidon, [nor of] Ahlab, Achzib, Helbah, Aphik, and Rehob. 32 So the Asherite dwelt amid the Canaanite, the inhabitants of the land, for they did not drive them out.

Naphtali

33 Naphtali did not drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and the inhabitants of Beth-anath, so they dwelt among the Canaanite, the inhabitants of the land. The inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and Beth-anath became tributary to them.

Dan

34 The Amorite forced the children of Dan up the mountain, for they did not let them descend to the valley. 35 The Amorite was determined to dwell in Har-heres, Aijalon, and Shaalbim, but the hand of the House of Joseph prevailed, so [the Amorite] became tributary. 36 The border of the Amorite was from Maaleh-akrabbim, from the rock upward.

THE PERIOD OF THE JUDGES: CYCLES OF IDOLATRY, CHASTENING AND DELIVERANCE 2:1-3:6

1 An emissary of HASHEM went up from Gilgal to Bochim. He said, "I brought you up from Egypt and I brought you to the land that I swore to your forefathers. And I said, 'I shall never annul My covenant with you, 2 but you shall not seal a covenant with the inhabitants of this land; you shall break apart their altars.' But you did not hearken to My voice! What is this that you have done? 3 So I also said, 'I shall not chase them out before you, and they will be unto you [as thorns in your] sides, * and their gods will be a trap for you.' "*

4 It happened that when the emissary of HASHEM spoke these words to all the Children of Israel, the people raised their voices and wept. 5 They named that place Bochim [Crying], and they brought offerings there to HASHEM.

6 Joshua had sent the people away and the Children of Israel had gone, every man to his heritage, to possess the land. 7 The people served HASHEM all the days of Joshua and all the days of the elders who outlived Joshua, who had seen all the great work of HASHEM, which He had done for Israel. **

would be saddled with them, as permanent challenges.

2:6. The rest of this chapter provides the background for the events of the entire period of the Judges, which began with Joshua's death.

2:7. Although the people erred in not continuing the wars of conquest, they did not turn to sin as long as they remembered the great leaders and the miracles they had witnessed (Radak).

2:11. As chronicled in the Book of Judges, Scripture outlines the pattern of events that continued repeatedly throughout the centuries. Thus, the translation they would do instead of the simple past "they did."

Baal is a generic term for idols; the word means master. Ashtaroth (v. 13) was a statue of a female sheep or goat [see Deuteronomy 7:13] (Radak), worshiped by the Canaanites as the goddess of fertility.

2:17. The root of their continual sinfulness was their failure to heed their leaders; this shortcoming served as an impediment to repentance (Alshich).

2:22. It was as if they had willed that their spiritual enemies should live among them, and if so their test was to prove that they would not be influenced by them.

3:2. Because they did not exert themselves to drive out the Canaanites, the next generation would not see the miraculous victories that their fathers saw. Rather, they would have to learn the art of warfare (Radak).

8 Joshua son of Nun, the servant of HASHEM, died at the age of a hundred and ten years. 9 They buried him within the borders of his heritage, in Timnath-heres in Mount Ephraim, north of Mount Gaash. 10 That entire generation, as well, was gathered in to its forefathers. A new generation arose after them that did not know HASHEM, nor the deeds that He had performed for Israel.

Idolatry

11 The Children of Israel would do what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, and would worship the Baalim. * 12 They would forsake HASHEM, the God of their forefathers, Who took them out of the land of Egypt, and follow the gods of others, from among the gods of the peoples that were around them; they would prostrate themselves to them and anger HASHEM. 13 They would forsake HASHEM and worship the Baal and the Ashtaroth.

Chastening

14 Then the wrath of HASHEM would flare against Israel and He would deliver them into the hands of plunderers and they would plunder them, and He would deliver them into the hands of their enemies all around, so that they could no longer stand before their enemies. 15 Wherever they would go out [in battle], the hand of HASHEM would be upon them for evil — as HASHEM had spoken and as HASHEM had sworn to them — and they would be very distressed.

16 Then HASHEM would set up judges who would save them from the hand of their plunderers. 17 But they would not hearken to their judges either, for they would stray after the gods of others and prostrate themselves to them. They would turn away quickly from the path that their forefathers had traveled, to hearken to the commandments of HASHEM; they did not do so. *

Deliverance

18 When HASHEM would set up judges for them, HASHEM would be with the judge and he would save them from the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge, for HASHEM would have relented because of their outcry before those who oppressed them and who crushed them.

19 But then it would happen that upon the death of the judge they would turn back and be even more corrupt than their forefathers, to follow the gods of others, to worship them, and to prostrate themselves before them. They would not omit any of their misdeeds or their stubborn way. 20 So the wrath of HASHEM would flare against Israel and He would say, "Because this nation has violated My covenant that I commanded their forefathers and they did not hearken to My voice, 21 I, too, shall no longer drive away any man from before them, from among the nations that Joshua left when he died, 22 in order to test Israel through them: Are they observing the way of HASHEM, to follow them as their forefathers observed, or not?" *

23 So HASHEM let those nations remain, without driving them out quickly, and He did not deliver them into Joshua's hand.

The remaining nations
(See Appendix D, map 4)

1 These are the nations that HASHEM let remain, to test Israel through them, all those who did not know all the Canaanite wars — 2 [they remained] only so that the generations of the Children of Israel would know, to teach them warfare; but those who preceded [them] did not [need to] know: * 3 the five governors of the Philistines, all the Canaanite, the Sidonite, and the Hivvite that dwell on Mount Lebanon, from the mountain of the plain of Hermon until the approach to Hamath. 4 They were [for God] to test Israel through them, to know whether they would hearken to the commandments of HASHEM, which He commanded their forefathers through the hand of Moses. 5 So the Children of

3:9. The generation that had never seen God's miracles may not have realized that their fate was inextricably tied to their degree of virtue and sin. Only when the persecution became unbearable did they pray for help.

3:11. This pattern would be repeated many times in the Book: National sinfulness would bring about foreign domination, until Israel would cry out to God and He would designate a judge to save them.

Though the Book's accounts of sin and war are lengthy, it records not a single event during the forty-year period

Israel dwelt among the Canaanite, the Hittite, the Amorite, the Perizzite, the Hivvite, and the Jebusite. 6 [The Israelites] took [the nations'] daughters for themselves as wives and gave their daughters to their sons, and they served their gods.

THE FIRST JUDGE: OTHNIEL SON OF KENAZ 3:7-11

7 The Children of Israel did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM and they forgot HASHEM, their God, and worshiped the Baalim and the Asherah-trees. 8 The wrath of HASHEM flared against Israel and He delivered them into the hand of Cushan-rishathaim, king of Aram-naharaim, and the Children of Israel served Cushan-rishathaim for eight years. 9 The Children of Israel cried out to HASHEM, * and HASHEM set up a savior for the Children of Israel and he saved them: Othniel son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother. 10 The spirit of HASHEM was upon him and he judged Israel. He went out to war and HASHEM delivered Cushan-rishathaim, king of Aram, into his hand; and his hand dominated Cushan-rishathaim. 11 The land was tranquil for forty years; * and Othniel son of Kenaz died.

EHUD SON OF GERA 3:12-30

12 The Children of Israel continued to do that which was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, and HASHEM strengthened Eglon, king of Moab, over Israel, because they had done that which was evil in the eyes of HASHEM. 13 He gathered to himself the Children of Ammon and Amalek, then he went and struck Israel and took possession of the City of Date Palms [Jericho]. 14 The Children of Israel served Eglon, king of Moab, for eighteen years.

Moabite oppression

15 The Children of Israel cried out to HASHEM, and HASHEM set up a savior for them: Ehud son of Gera, a Benjaminite, a man with a withered right hand. The Children of Israel sent a tribute with him to Eglon, king of Moab. 16 Ehud made himself a sword with two sharp edges, a cubit its length, and he girded it under his garments on his right thigh.

Ehud confronts Eglon, king of Moab . . .

17 He brought the tribute to Eglon, king of Moab. (Now Eglon was a very obese man.) 18 It happened that when he finished offering the tribute, he led away the people, the bearers of the tribute, 19 and then he returned from the quarries near Gilgal and said, "I have a secret matter for you, O king."

[The King] said, "Silence!" — and all who stood before him went out.

20 Then Ehud came to him as he was sitting alone in his cool upper chamber. Ehud said, "I have a word of God for you," so he stood up * from the chair.

21 Ehud then stretched out his left hand and took the sword from upon his right thigh and thrust it into [Eglon's] belly. 22 Even the hilt went in after the blade and the fat closed around the blade, for he did not pull the sword out of his belly; the excrement poured out.

23 Ehud went out to the porch, closed the doors of the upper chamber behind him, and locked [them]. 24 When he had left, [Eglon's] servants came and saw that — behold! the doors of the upper chamber were locked, they said, "He is but relieving himself in the cool chamber." 25 They waited for a long time, but behold, he was not opening the doors of the upper chamber. They took the key and opened them and — behold! their master was fallen on the ground, dead! 26 Ehud had escaped while they were waiting, and he passed the quarries and escaped to Seirah.

of tranquility. In the context of the narrative it is clear that it was a time when the nation maintained the high standard of righteousness that the Torah demands. In fact, of the nearly four hundred years spanned by the period of the Judges, the people were sinful during only one hundred and ten (Rashi to Ezekiel 4:5).

3:20. Eglon's respect for God was rewarded: Ruth, ancestress of the Davidic dynasty, descended from him (Rashi).

3:31. Shamgar, a Levite, was a judge for a period of only several months. His brief reign is included in the eighty years of tranquility mentioned in verse 30 (Seder Olam).

4:2. The people again lapsed into sinful conduct and were punished by the ascendancy of Canaan, in fulfillment of the prophecy (2:3) that God would cause the Canaanites to be a source of pain and irritation (Malbim).

4:4. Deborah was the first judge to be described as a prophet and as a decider of questions of law for the nation.

Literally, לַפִּידוֹת means torches. The phrase אֵשֶׁת לַפִּידוֹת then indicates that Deborah was either "a woman who made wicks" for the Tabernacle Menorah (Rashi), or "a fiery, energetic woman" (Ralbag). Alternatively, Lappidoth (Torches) was another name for Barak (v. 6), a name 27 It happened when he arrived that he sounded the shofar at Mount Ephraim. The Children of Israel descended with him from the mountain, and he was before them. 28 He said to them, "Give chase behind me, for HASHEM has delivered your enemies, Moab, into your hand!" They descended after him. They conquered the Jordan's crossings into Moab and did not let anyone cross. 29 They struck Moab at that time, about ten thousand men, every fearsome man and every mighty hero, not a man escaped.

SHAMGAR SON OF ANATH 3:31 (See Appendix A, timeline 3)

30 On that day Moab was subjugated under the hand of Israel, and the land was tranquil for eighty years.

31 After him was Shamgar son of Anath. He struck the Philistines, six hundred men, with a cattle goad; and he, too, saved Israel.*

DEBORAH THE PROPHETESS AND BARAK 4:1-5:31

1 The Children of Israel continued to do what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, once Ehud died. 2 HASHEM delivered them into the hand of Jabin, king of Canaan, who reigned in Hazor. The general of his army was Sisera, who dwelt in Harosheth-goiim.* 3 The Children of Israel cried out to HASHEM, for [Sisera] had nine hundred iron chariots, and he oppressed the Children of Israel forcefully for twenty years.

Canannite oppression: Jabin and Sisera

4 Deborah was a prophetess, the wife of Lappidoth;* she judged Israel at that time.* 5 She would sit under the date palm of Deborah, between Ramah and Beth-el on Mount Ephraim, and the Children of Israel would go up to her for judgment.* 6 She sent and summoned Barak son of Abinoam of Kedesh-naphtali and said to him, "Behold, HASHEM, the God of Israel, has commanded, 'Go and convince [the people to go] toward Mount Tabor, and take with you ten thousand men from the children of Naphtali and from the children of Zebulun! 7 I will draw toward you — to Kishon Brook — Sisera, the general of Jabin's army, with his chariot and his multitude; and I shall deliver him into your hand.' "

8 *Barak said to her, "If you go with me, I will go; but if you do not go with me, I will not go."

9 She said, "Indeed, I will go with you — but the path on which you have chosen to go will not be for your glory, for HASHEM will have delivered Sisera into the hand of a woman." Then Deborah got up and went with Barak to Kedesh.

Zebulun and Naphtali mustered

10 Barak mustered Zebulun and Naphtali to Kedesh, and ten thousand men ascended in his footsteps; and Deborah went up with him.

11 *(Heber the Kenite had become separated from the Kenites, from the children of Hobab, father-in-law of Moses, and pitched his tents as far as the Plain of Zaanannim, which is near Kedesh.)

12 They told Sisera that Barak son of Abinoam had gone up to Mount Tabor. 13 Sisera mustered all his chariots — nine hundred iron chariots — and all the people who were with him, from Harosheth-goiim to Kishon Brook.

14 Deborah said to Barak, "Arise! For this is the day when HASHEM has delivered Sisera into your hand — behold, HASHEM has gone forth before you!" So Barak descended from Mount Tabor with the ten thousand men behind him.

Sisera's flight

15 HASHEM panicked Sisera and all the chariots and the entire camp by the edge that means flash (Radak).

4:5. Named for an earlier Deborah who was buried in that area (see Genesis 35:8; Abarbanel).

4:8. Considering himself unworthy of such a momentous miracle, Barak felt that he needed the merit of the judge and prophetess to insure the success of his mission.

4:11. This sets the stage for the later heroics of Heber's wife (v. 17ff).

of the sword before Barak; Sisera dismounted from his chariot and fled on his feet. 16 Barak chased after the chariots and after the camp until Harosheth-goiim; and the entire camp of Sisera fell by the edge of the sword; not even one was left.

Jael lures Sisera ...

17 Sisera fled on his feet to the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite, for there was peace between Jabin, king of Hazor, and the House of Heber the Kenite. 18 Jael went out toward Sisera and said to him, "Turn aside, my lord, turn aside to me, do not fear." So he turned aside to her to the tent, and she covered him with a blanket.

19 He said to her, "Give me now a bit of water to drink, because I am thirsty." She opened a skin of milk, gave him to drink, and covered him. 20 He said to her, "Stand at the entrance of the tent, and it shall be that if any man will come and ask you and say, 'Is anyone here?' you shall say, 'No!' "

21 Jael, wife of Heber, took a tent peg, placed a hammer in her hand, came to him stealthily, and drove the peg into his temple and it went through into the ground — [while] he was sleeping deeply and exhausted — and he died. 22 Behold — Barak was pursuing Sisera, and Jael went out toward him and told him, "Come and I will show you the man whom you seek!" He came to her and behold — Sisera was fallen, dead, with the peg in his temple.

23 On that day God subjugated Jabin, king of Canaan, before the Children of Israel. 24 The hand of the Children of Israel became progressively harsh over Jabin, king of Canaan, until they destroyed Jabin, king of Canaan.

5 1 Deborah sang — as well as Barak son of Abinoam — on that day, saying:

The Song of Deborah

2 When vengeances are inflicted upon Israel and the people dedicates itself [to God] — bless HASHEM.

3 Hear, O kings; give ear, O princes! I, to HASHEM shall I sing; I shall sing praise to HASHEM, God of Israel!

4 *HASHEM, as You left Seir, * as You strode from the fields of Edom, the earth quaked and even the heavens trickled; even the clouds dripped water.*

5 Mountains melted before HASHEM — as did Sinai — before HASHEM, the God of Israel.

6 In the days of Shamgar son of Anath, in the days of Jael, highway travel ceased, and those who traveled on paths went by circuitous roads.

7 They stopped living in unwalled towns in Israel, they stopped; until I, Deborah, arose; I arose as a mother in Israel.

8 When it chose new gods, war came to its gates; was even a shield or a spear seen among forty thousand in Israel?

9 *My heart is with the lawgivers of Israel who are devoted to the people, [saying,] "Bless HASHEM."

The new situation after the war

10 O riders of white donkeys, [you] who sit in judgment, and you who walk

5:1. A Scriptural "song" is an unusual spiritual phenomenon. Just as music consists of a combination of notes and instruments so harmonious that every part is indispensable, similarly the spiritual experience that erupts into Scriptural song consists of a perception that all events — even those previously incomprehensible — are part of God's plan and were for the benefit of its players. As Deborah sets forth rapturously, even the forces of nature joined Israel in battle.

5:4. Poetically, Deborah depicts the Giving of the Torah at Mount Sinai (see Deuteronomy 33:2).

5:9. Deborah expresses her heartfelt gratitude to the devoted lawgivers, who circulated among the people tirelessly in their time of degradation, teaching them to bless HASHEM (Rashi).

the roads, speak up!

11 Rather than the sound of arrows [aimed] at the water-drawers, there they will recount the righteous deeds of HASHEM, the righteous deeds for His open cities in Israel. Then the people of HASHEM descended [again] to the [open] cities. *

12 Give praise, give praise, O Deborah! Give praise, give praise, utter a song! Arise, O Barak, and capture your prisoners, O son of Abinoam!

13 Now the survivor dominates the mightiest of the people; HASHEM has given me dominion over the strong ones.

The response of her fellow Jews

14 From Ephraim, whose root [fought] against Amalek;* after you came Benjamin with your peoples. From Machir descended lawgivers; and from Zebulun, those who ply the scribal quill.*

15 The leaders of Issachar were with Deborah, and so was [the rest of] Issachar with Barak; into the valley he was sent on his feet. But in the indecision of Reuben there was great deceit.

16 Why did you remain sitting at the borders to hear the bleatings of the flocks? The indecision of Reuben demands great investigation. *

17 Gilead dwelled across the Jordan; and Dan — why did he gather [his valuables] onto ships? But Asher lived by the shores of seas and remained [to protect] his open [borders].

18 Zebulun is a people that risked its life to the death, and so did Naphtali, on the heights of the battlefield.

The miraculous rout of Sisera's army

19 Kings came and fought — then the kings of Canaan fought, from Taanach to the waters of Megiddo, without accepting monetary reward.*

20 From heaven they fought, the very stars from their orbits did battle with Sisera. *

21 Kishon Brook swept them away — the ancient brook, Kishon Brook — but I myself trod it vigorously. *

22 Then the horses' heels were pounded by the gallopings, the gallopings of their mighty riders.

23 "Curse Meroz," said the angel of HASHEM, "Curse! Cursed are its inhabitants, for they failed to come to aid [the nation of] HASHEM, to aid [the nation of] HASHEM against the mighty."*

Jael: Blessed for her valor

24 Blessed by women is Jael, wife of Heber the Kenite; by women in the tent will she blessed.

25 He asked for water, she gave him milk; in a stately saucer she presented cream.

26 She stretched her hand to the peg and her right hand to the laborers' hammer. She hammered Sisera, severed his head, smashed and pierced his temple.

5:11. No longer need Jews fear ambushes at their wells. No longer need they flee their unwalled cities.

5:14. Deborah speaks of the varying Jewish responses to Barak's summons. Although Barak summoned only Zebulun and Naphtali (4:10), who were nearest to the battlefield, some but not all of the other tribes also responded nobly.

Ephraim's descendant, Joshua, fought Amalek (Exodus 17:9-10,13); Machir represents the tribe of his father Manasseh.

5:16. Incomprehensibly, the Reubenites remained on the sidelines, with their flocks (Radak).

5:19. Israel's foes came unselfishly to join Sisera, only to be vanquished by miraculous intervention.

5:20. The rout was so decisive that it was as if the very heavens fought Sisera (Radak).

5:21. The Canaanite army rode into Kishon, either to flee or to maneuver for an attack, and the shallow, lazy brook suddenly became a raging torrent. But when the Jews waded into the water, they were able to walk firmly and confidently (Radak; Ralbag).

5:23. Meroz was the name of a prominent person (Rashi) or a city (Radak) located near the battlefield, that did not join Barak's cause.

Sisera's mother yearns

28 Through the window she gazed; Sisera's mother peered through the window. "Why is his chariot delayed in coming? Why are the hoofbeats of his carriages so late?"

29 The wisest of her ladies answer her, and she, too, offers herself responses.

30 "Are they not finding [and] dividing loot? A comely [captive], two comely [captives], for every man; booty of colored garments for Sisera, booty of colored embroidery, colored, doubly embroidered garments for the necks of the looters."

31 So may all Your enemies be destroyed, O HASHEM! And let those who love Him be like the powerfully rising sun.

And the land was tranquil for forty years.

GIDEON [JERUBAAL] 6:1-8:35 (See Appendix A, timeline 3)

1 The Children of Israel did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, so HASHEM delivered them into the hand of Midian [for] seven years. 2 The hand of Midian grew powerful over Israel. In the face of Midian, the Children of Israel made themselves the dugouts that are in the mountains, and the caves and strongholds. 3 It happened that whenever Israel would sow, Midian would ascend — as well as Amalek and the people of the east — and they would overrun it. 4 They would encamp against them and destroy the produce of the land, until the approach to Gaza. They would leave no sustenance in Israel, [nor] sheep, [nor] ox, [nor] donkey. 5 For they and their livestock would ascend with their tents, and they would come as abundantly as a locust-swarm; they and their camels were countless, and they came into the land to destroy it.

Midianite oppression

6 Israel became very impoverished because of Midian, and the Children of Israel cried out to HASHEM. 7 So it happened that when the Children of Israel cried out to HASHEM concerning Midian, 8 that HASHEM sent a man, a prophet, to the Children of Israel, and he said to them, "Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel, 'I brought you up from Egypt and I took you out of the house of slavery. 9 I rescued you from the hand of Egypt and from the hand of all your oppressors and I drove them away before you and gave you their land. 10 I said to you: I am HASHEM, your God, you shall not fear the gods of the Amorite, in whose land you dwell — but you did not heed My voice!' "

Gideon is chosen

11 An angel of HASHEM came and sat under the elm tree in Ophrah, that belonged to Joash, the Abi-ezrite. His son Gideon was threshing wheat at the winepress, to hide it from Midian. 12 The angel of HASHEM appeared to him, and said to him, "HASHEM is with you, O mighty hero!"

13 Gideon said to him, "I beg you, my lord, if HASHEM is with us, why has all this happened to us? And where are all His wonders of which our forefathers told us, saying, 'Behold, HASHEM brought us up from Egypt'? For now HASHEM has deserted us, and He has delivered us into the grip of Midian."

14 Then HASHEM turned to him and said, "Go with this strength of yours and you shall save Israel from the grip of Midian. Behold I have sent you!"

The angel's sign

15 He said, "I beg of You, my Lord, with what shall I save Israel? Behold, my thousand is the most impoverished of Manasseh, and I am the youngest of my father's house."*

6:15. Gideon was referring to the administrative division of each of the twelve tribes into groups of one thousand men (see Exodus 18:17-26).

6:19. Gideon prepared matzos. This indicates that this event took place during Pesach (Rashi; see 7:13).

6:24. He did not build this altar for sacrificial use, since it was forbidden to bring offerings at personal altars [therefore God commanded explicitly to build another altar upon which he was to bring an offering (v. 26)]. Rather he built it to commemorate his gratitude for having been shown a degree of revelation (see Genesis 12:7, 35:7).

6:32. As a result of his father's successful argument, Gideon received the nickname Jerubaal, a contraction of יָרֵב בַּעַל, let Baal take up the grievance.

16 HASHEM said to him, "For I shall be with you, and you shall strike down Midian as if it were a single man."

17 He said to Him, "If I have now found favor in Your eyes, then perform a sign for me that it is You Who speaks with me. 18 Please do not depart from here until I return to You; I will bring forth my tribute and place it before You." He said, "I shall remain until your return."

19 So Gideon went inside and prepared a young goat, and matzos from an ephah of flour. He put the meat in a basket and put the broth in a pot. He brought it out to Him beneath the elm, and presented it.* 20 The angel of God said to him, "Take the meat and the matzos and place them on that rock, and pour out the broth," and he did so.

21 The angel of HASHEM stretched out the edge of the staff that was in his hand and touched the meat and the matzos. A flame went up from the rock and consumed the meat and the matzos. Then the angel of HASHEM left [from before] his eyes. 22 Gideon realized that it had been an angel of HASHEM! Gideon said, "Alas, my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, inasmuch as I have seen an angel of HASHEM, face to face . . .!"

23 HASHEM said to him, "Peace to you. Do not be afraid; you will not die!"

24 Gideon built an altar there to HASHEM, and called it, "HASHEM [is the source of our] Peace." Until this day it is at Ophrah of the Abi-ezrite.*

Gideon destroys his own people's idol

25 It happened that night that HASHEM said to him, "Take the young bull that belongs to your father and the second bull, which is seven years old, and break apart the altar of the Baal that belongs to your father, and cut down the Asherah-tree that is near it. 26 Then build an altar for HASHEM, your God, atop the strong rock, on a level place. Take the second bull and offer it up as an elevation-offering, using the wood of the Asherah-tree that you will cut down."

27 Gideon took ten men from among his servants and did as HASHEM spoke to him — but since he was afraid to do it by day, because of his father's household and the people of his city, he did it at night.

28 The people of the city arose early in the morning and behold — the altar of the Baal had been broken and the Asherah-tree that was near it had been cut down, and the second bull had been offered up on the newly built altar! 29 Each man said to his fellow, "Who did this thing?" They searched and sought, and they said, "Gideon son of Joash did this thing!" 30 The men of the city then said to Joash, "Bring out your son and he shall die, because he has broken the altar of the Baal and because he has cut down the Asherah-tree that was near it."

31 Joash said to all who were standing near him, "Will you take up the Baal's grievance? Will you save him? Whoever aggrieved him should die by morning; if [Baal] is a god, it will take up its grievance against him, for breaking its altar."

32 On that day [Joash] named him Jerubaal, saying, "Let the Baal take up the grievance against him, for breaking its altar."*

Midian and Amalek invade Israel

33 All of Midian, Amalek, and the people of the East gathered together. They crossed [the Jordan] and encamped in the Valley of Jezreel. 34 The spirit of HASHEM clothed Gideon. He blew the shofar, and [the family of] Abiezer was mustered after him. 35 He sent messengers throughout Manasseh, and it, too, was mustered after him. He sent messengers to Asher, Zebulun, and Naphtali, and they ascended to confront them.

6:36-37. Gideon asked God to perform two specific miracles for him, as proof that he was worthy of the miracles he would need to defeat Midian (Radak). Moreover, Gideon wanted proofs that he could present to his fellow Jews, in case they doubted him (Emek HaNetziv).

7:2. God wanted the conquest to be recognized without question as a miracle. Even though the initial Jewish force of thirty-two thousand would have been an underdog against the Midianite army of one hundred and thirty-five thousand (see 8:10), its size was such that a victory was conceivable, though unlikely.

7:3. The fearful men were to withdraw before the others awoke, so that they would not be embarrassed by a retreat visible to all their comrades (Abarbanel).

Gideon requests assurance from God

36 Gideon said to God, "If You wish to save Israel through my hand, as You spoke, 37 behold, I am spreading out a fleece of wool on the threshing floor. If there will be dew only on the fleece, and the entire ground will be dry, then I will *know that You will help Israel through my hand, * as You have spoken."* 38 And so it was. He arose the next morning and squeezed the fleece. He pressed dew from the fleece, a full bowl of water.

39 Then Gideon said to God, "Let Your wrath not flare against me and I will speak only this time. I will test but this time through the fleece: Let there be dryness only on the fleece, and let there be dew on the entire ground." 40 God did so that night, and there was dryness only on the fleece, and there was dew on the entire ground.

7 1 Jerubaal, who is Gideon, arose early with all the people who were with him and they encamped near En-harod; the camp of Midian was to his north, from the Hill of Moreh, in the valley.

God chooses those who will fight Midian

2 HASHEM said to Gideon, "The people that are with you are too numerous for Me to deliver Midian into their hand, lest Israel aggrandize itself over Me, saying,
'My own strength has saved me!' 3 So now call out in the ears of the people,* saying, 'Whoever fears and trembles, let him turn back and depart at dawn from Mount Gilead.' " Twenty-two thousand of the people withdrew, and ten* thousand remained. 4 Then HASHEM said to Gideon, "The people are still too numerous; bring them down to the water and I shall purge them for you there.
And it shall be, that of whomever I say to you, 'This one shall go with you,' he shall go with you, and of whomever I say to you, 'This one shall not go with you,' he shall not go."

5 He brought the people down to the water, and HASHEM said to Gideon,
"Everyone who laps from the water with his tongue as a dog laps, stand him *apart, and [so, too], everyone who kneels on his knees to drink."

6 It happened that the number of those who lapped with their hands to their mouth were three hundred men, and all the rest of the people knelt on their knees to drink water. 7 HASHEM said to Gideon, "Through the three hundred men who lap shall I save you and I shall deliver Midian into your hand — and let all the [other] people leave, each to his place." 8 And they took the provisions of the [other] people in their hands, as well as their shofars. And as for all the men of Israel, he sent them each to his home, and he kept the three hundred men. The camp of Midian was below him, in the valley.

Omen of the roasted barley bread

9 It happened that night that HASHEM said to him, "Arise and descend into the camp, for I have delivered it into your hand. 10 But if you are afraid to descend, go down to the camp, you and Purah your attendant. 11 Listen to what they will speak; then your hands will be strengthened, and you will descend into the camp." So he descended with Purah his attendant to the edge of the armed troops in the camp. 12 Midian, Amalek, and all the people of the East were encamping in the valley, as numerous as a locust-swarm; and their camels were countless, as numerous as the sand at the seashore.

13 Gideon arrived, and behold, a man was relating a dream to his fellow,

7:5. In order to thoroughly discredit the idea that idols had any power, God commanded Gideon to test his volunteers in a manner that would exclude anyone with even a tendency toward idolatry. Less than one percent of the original army was deemed worthy. Whether they lay prostrate on the ground to lap like dogs, or knelt to reach the water, their actions indicated that they were in the habit of making obeisance to idols (Rashi).

7:13. The omen of salvation was a barley bread, because this event took place on the second day of Pesach (see 6:19), the day on which the once-a-year omer-offering of barley is brought in the Tabernacle. In the merit of this offering, God was about to save Israel (Rashi).

7:23. Now that the battle was won with only three hundred men, thus proving that the salvation was a miracle, Gideon called upon thousands of others to come and complete the rout.

8:1. Gideon's original call to arms did not include Ephand said, "Behold, I dreamt a dream. Behold, a roasted barley bread was rolling in the Midianite camp. It came to the tent and struck it and it fell; it turned it upside down and the tent fell."*

14 His fellow answered and said, "This is none other than the sword of Gideon son of Joash, the man of Israel; God has delivered Midian and the entire camp into his hand!"

15 It happened that when Gideon heard the recounting of the dream and its interpretation, he prostrated himself. He returned to the camp of Israel and said, "Rise up, for HASHEM has delivered the camp of Midian into your hand!"

Gideon attacks...

16 He divided the three hundred men into three companies. Into the hand of them all he gave shofars and empty jugs, with torches inside the jugs. 17 He said to them, "See my example and do the same. Behold, when I arrive at the edge of the camp, then as I do, so shall you do. 18 I will sound the shofar — I and all who are with me — then you, too, shall sound shofars all around the entire camp, and you shall say, 'For HASHEM and for Gideon!' "

19 Gideon and the hundred men with him arrived at the edge of the camp at the beginning of the middle watch, when they had just barely set up the guards. They sounded the shofars and broke the jugs that were in their hand. 20 The three companies sounded the shofars and broke the jugs; in their left hand they grasped the torches and in their right hand the shofars to sound, and they called out, "The sword for HASHEM and for Gideon!" 21 Each of them stood in his place, all around the camp — and the entire camp ran, they shouted and fled. 22 They sounded the three hundred shofars and HASHEM set each man's sword against his fellow, and throughout the entire camp. The camp fled as far as Beth-shittah, toward Zererah, as far as the border of Abel-meholah, near Tabbath.

... and pursues Midian

23 The men of Israel were mustered from Naphtali and from Asher and from all of Manasseh, and they pursued Midian.* 24 Gideon sent messengers throughout Mount Ephraim, saying, "Come down toward Midian and secure the waterway to block them, until Beth-barah, and the Jordan." All the men of Ephraim were mustered and they occupied the water until Beth-barah, and the Jordan. 25 They captured two leaders of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb; they killed Oreb at the Rock of Oreb and they killed Zeeb at the Winepress of Zeeb, and they pursued Midian. They brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon across the Jordan.

Gideon mollifies Ephraim

1 The men of Ephraim said to [Gideon], "What is this thing that you have done to us, not summoning us when you went to fight with Midian?" and they contended with him vehemently.* 2 He said to them, "What have I now done compared to you? Are not the gleanings of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abiezer? 3 Into your hand did God give the leaders of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb, and what could I do compared to you?" Then their indignation against him abated, when he made this statement.

Insolence of the people of Succoth and Penuel

4 Gideon then arrived at the Jordan. He and the three hundred men who were with him were crossing, exhausted, yet pursuing. 5 He said to the people of Succoth, "Give now loaves of bread to the people that follow at my feet, for they are exhausted, and I am pursuing Zebah and Zalmunna, raim, apparently because the Midianites were blocking their way. The tribe of Ephraim, however, was insulted that Gideon ignored them until the war was all but won, as if he considered them to be inferior warriors (see 12:1).

8:7. The disheartening lack of gratitude and simple compassion shown by the residents of Succoth and Penuel was a traitorous act that Gideon had to punish.

8:14. Aware that the entire community was not responsible for the attitude of some leaders, Gideon seized one of the citizens to ascertain the identity of the guilty parties.

8:17. He killed only those who attacked him when he began to raze the tower (Radak).

8:21. They said, "Your son is not strong enough to kill us quickly. If he would smite us we would linger in a painful, drawn-out death. You can kill us with one blow."

8:24. Since Ishmael and Midian were brothers (see Genesis 16:16 and 25:1-2), Scripture sometimes identifies the Midianites as Ishmaelites (cf. Genesis 37:28).

the kings of Midian."

6 But the leaders of Succoth said, "Is the palm of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hand, that we should give bread to your legion?"

7 *So Gideon said, "Therefore, when God delivers Zebah and Zalmunna into my hand, I shall thrash your flesh with desert thorns and briers!"

8 He ascended from there to Penuel, and spoke similarly to them. The men of Penuel answered him as the men of Succoth had answered. 9 So he said also to the men of Penuel, saying, "When I return in peace, I shall break down this tower!"

Gideon captures the two Midianite kings . . .

10 Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor and their camps were with them, about fifteen thousand, all the survivors from the entire camp of the people of the East, for the fallen ones were a hundred and twenty thousand swordsmen. 11 Gideon ascended by way of the tent dwellers, east of Nobah and Jogbehah; he struck the camp while the camp was complacent. 12 Zebah and Zalmunna fled, and he chased after them. He captured the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna, and terrified the entire camp.

. . . punishes Succoth and Penuel . . .

13 Gideon son of Joash returned from the battle while the sun was high. 14 He seized a youth from among the men of Succoth and questioned him. He wrote for him the [names of the] leaders of Succoth and her elders, seventy-seven men.* 15 He came to the men of Succoth and said, "Here are Zebah and Zalmunna about whom you scorned me, saying, 'Is the palm of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hand, that we should give bread to your exhausted people?' " 16 He took the elders of the city and some desert thorns and briers, and with them he thrashed the men of Succoth. 17 *Then he broke down the tower of Penuel and killed the men of the city.

. . .then kills the two kings

18 He said to Zebah and Zalmunna, "What sort of men did you kill in Tabor?"

They said, "Your appearance is like theirs, identical, like the form of the king's sons."

19 He said, "They were my brothers, the sons of my mother. As HASHEM lives, had you let them live, I would not kill you!" 20 He said to Jether his firstborn, "Arise and kill them!" But the youth did not draw his sword, for he was afraid, since he was still a youth.

21 Zebah and Zalmunna said, "You arise and slay us, for as a man is, so is his strength." So Gideon arose and killed Zebah and Zalmunna, and took the crescents that were on the necks of their camels.*

Gideon declines rulership

22 The men of Israel said to Gideon, "Rule over us — you, your son, and your grandson, for you have saved us from the hand of Midian!"

23 But Gideon said to them, "I shall not rule over you, nor shall my son rule over you; HASHEM shall rule over you!"

24 Then Gideon said to them, "I shall make a request of you. Let each of you give me a nose ring from his booty" (for they had golden nose rings, since they were Ishmaelites).*

25 They said, "We shall surely give." They spread out a garment and every man threw into it a nose ring from his booty. 26 The weight of the nose rings that he requested was one thousand seven hundred gold [dinars], aside from the crescents and the pendants, and the purple wool garments worn by the kings of Midian, and aside from the chains on the necks of their camels.

8:27. He intended it to commemorate the miracle of deliverance, but later generations deified it.

9:7. Jotham, Gideon's orphan, pronounced a parable and a curse. The moral of his parable: Three great judges — Othniel, Deborah, and Gideon — could have claimed sovereignty but did not. Instead, the people of Shechem chose Abimelech, a person as inferior as a thorn, and they would pay a heavy price for their decision (Rashi).

27 Gideon made it into an ephod and hung it in his city, in Ophrah. [Eventually] all Israel strayed after it there, and it became a snare for Gideon and his household.*

Gideon's final years

28 Thus Midian was subdued before the Children of Israel, and they did not continue to raise their head; and the land was tranquil for forty years in the days of Gideon.

29 Jerubaal son of Joash went and settled in his home. 30 Gideon had seventy sons emerging from his loins, for he had many wives. 31 His concubine, who was in Shechem, also bore him a son and he called his name Abimelech. 32 Gideon son of Joash died at a good old age, and he was buried by the grave of Joash, his father, in Ophrah, of the Abi-ezrites.

Idolatry recurs

33 It happened when Gideon died that the Children of Israel once again went astray after the Baalim, and they set Baal-berith as a god for themselves. 34 The Children of Israel did not remember HASHEM, their God, Who rescued them from the hand of all their surrounding enemies. 35 Also, they did not perform kindness with the household of Jerubaal, [who is] Gideon, commensurate with all the goodness that he had done with Israel.

ABIMELECH SON OF GIDEON: KING IN SHECHEM 9:1-57 (See Appendix A, timeline 3)

1 Abimelech son of Jerubaal went to Shechem, to his mother's brothers, and spoke to them and to the entire family of his mother's father's household, saying, 2 "Speak now in the ears of all the inhabitants of Shechem: 'What is better for you — that seventy men rule over you, all the sons of Jerubaal, or that one man rule over you? And remember that I am your bone and flesh!' "

3 So his mother's brothers spoke all these words about him in the ears of all the inhabitants of Shechem. Their heart inclined after Abimelech, for they said, "He is our kinsman." 4 They gave him seventy pieces of silver from the temple of Baal-berith, and with them Abimelech hired boorish, impetuous men, and they followed him. 5 He came to his father's house, to Ophrah, and murdered his brothers, the sons of Jerubaal, seventy men, at one rock, but Jotham, Jerubaal's youngest son, was left, for he had hidden.

6 All the inhabitants of Shechem and all of Beth-millo gathered together, and they went and crowned Abimelech as king, by the Plain of the Monument, which was in Shechem.

Jotham's parable and curse

7 They told Jotham, so he went and stood atop Mount Gerizzim and raised his voice and cried out; he said to them, "Listen to me, O inhabitants of Shechem, so that God may listen to you!* 8 The trees went to anoint a king over themselves. They said to the olive tree, 'Reign over us!' 9 But the olive tree said to them, 'Shall I cause my richness to cease, whereby God and men honor themselves through me, and go to wave over the trees?' 10 Then the trees said to the fig tree, 'You go and reign over us!' 11 But the fig tree said to them, 'Shall I cause my sweetness and my goodly produce to cease, and go to wave over the trees?' 12 Then the trees said to the grapevine, 'You go and reign over us!' 13 But the grapevine said to them, 'Shall I give up my vintage that gladdens God and men, and go to wave over the trees?' 14 Then all the trees went to the thorn and said, 'You go and reign over us!' 15 The thorn said to the trees, 'If with honesty do you anoint me as king over you, then come and take shelter in my shade; but if not, then may a flame come forth from the thorn and consume the cedars of Lebanon!'

9:26. Gaal was a heathen (Rashi).

9:28. Gaal railed against Abimelech, saying that, as a son of Jerubaal, he was an Abiezrite, not a Shechemite, and his officer Zebul was unworthy of their respect. He urged them to choose a descendant of Hamor, Shechem's original ruler (see Genesis Ch. 34) in Jacob's days (Rashi).

16 "So now, if you have acted with honesty and sincerity and crowned Abimelech, and if you have done good with Jerubaal and his household, and if you have acted toward him corresponding to the kindness of his hands — 17 as my father went to war for you; as he cast his life aside and rescued you from the hand of Midian, 18 yet you rose up against my father's house today and murdered his sons, seventy souls, on one rock, and you crowned Abimelech son of his maidservant over the inhabitants of Shechem, because he is your kinsman — 19 so if you have acted with honesty and sincerity toward Jerubaal and toward his household this day, then rejoice with Abimelech and let him also rejoice with you. 20 But if not, may a fire go forth from Abimelech and consume the inhabitants of Shechem and Beth-millo, and may a fire go forth from the inhabitants of Shechem and Beth-millo and consume Abimelech!"

21 Then Jotham ran away. He fled and went to Beer and settled there because of Abimelech, his brother.

Discord between Abimelech and Shechem

22 Abimelech was master over Israel for three years. 23 Then God sent a spirit of ill will between Abimelech and the inhabitants of Shechem, and the inhabitants of Shechem betrayed Abimelech, 24 so that the violence against the seventy sons of Jerubaal would come [back] upon — and their blood would be placed upon — Abimelech their brother, who murdered them, and upon the inhabitants of Shechem, who strengthened his hands to murder his brothers.

25 The inhabitants of Shechem set up ambushes against him on the mountaintops and they robbed anyone who would pass them on the road. And this was told to Abimelech.

Gaal's challenge to Abimelech

26 Gaal son of Ebed* came with his kinsmen and they passed into Shechem; the inhabitants of Shechem had confidence in him. 27 They went out to the field, harvested their vineyards and trod [their grapes], and made celebrations. They came to the temple of their god, and they ate and drank, and cursed Abimelech.
28 Gaal son of Ebed said, "Who is Abimelech and who is Shechem that we should serve him? Is he not the son of Jerubaal, and is Zebul not his officer? Go, serve the people of Hamor* the father of Shechem! Why should we serve him?
29 If only someone would give this people into my hand, then I would depose Abimelech!" He said to Abimelech, "Reinforce your army and come out!"

30 Zebul, the leader of the city, heard the words of Gaal son of Ebed and his wrath flared. 31 He sent messengers to Abimelech stealthily, saying, "Behold, Gaal son of Ebed and his kinsmen are arriving in Shechem, and behold, they are fortifying the city against you. 32 So now, rise up at night, you and the people who are with you, and set an ambush in the field. 33 It shall be, in the morning, when the sun shines, you will arise early and spread out by the city. Then behold, just as he and the people with him are going out toward you, you will do to them whatever your strength permits."

Gaal's defeat

34 So Abimelech and all the people with him rose up at night and set an ambush against Shechem, of four companies. 35 Gaal son of Ebed went out and stood at the entrance of the city gate. Then Abimelech and the people with him rose up from the ambush.

36 Gaal saw the people and said to Zebul, "Behold! People are descending from the mountaintops!"

Zebul said to him, "You see the shadow of the mountains as people."

37 Gaal continued to speak and said, "Behold! People are descending from the navel of the land, and one company is coming by way of the Plain of Meonenim!"

38 Zebul said to him, "Where then is your mouth that would say, 'Who is Abimelech that we should serve him?' Is this not the people you scorned? Go out now, if you please, and battle it!"

39 Gaal went out before the inhabitants of Shechem and battled Abimelech. 40 Abimelech pursued him, and he fled before him. Many corpses fell up to the entrance of the gate. 41 Abimelech settled in Arumah, and Zebul drove out Gaal and his kinsmen from living in Shechem.

Abimelech destroys Shechem

42 It happened the next day that the people went out to the field, and they told [this] to Abimelech. 43 He took [his] people and divided them into three companies and he set an ambush in the field. He watched, and behold, as the people were leaving the city, he rose up against them and struck them. 44 Abimelech and the companies that were with him spread out and stood at the entrance of the city gate, and the [other] two companies spread out against all who were in the field and struck them. 45 Abimelech fought against the city all that day, and he occupied the city and killed the people who were in it. He tore down the city and sowed it with salt.

46 When all the inhabitants of the Tower of Shechem heard, they came to the citadel of Beth-el-berith. 47 Abimelech was told that all the inhabitants of the Tower of Shechem had gathered, 48 so Abimelech went up to Mount Zalmon, he and all the people that were with him. Abimelech took the axes in his hand and cut down a branch of the trees, lifted it and placed it on his shoulder, and said to the people that were with him, "What you have seen me do, hurry and do as I did!" 49 Each of the people also cut down a branch and they followed Abimelech. They placed them by the citadel and with them set the citadel on fire. All the people of the Tower of Shechem died, about a thousand men and women.

50 Then Abimelech went to Thebez, and encamped in Thebez and occupied it. 51 There was a strong tower in the midst of the city, and all the men and women and the inhabitants of the city fled and locked themselves in, and they climbed to the roof of the tower. 52 Abimelech reached the tower and fought against it. He approached the tower's entrance to burn it in fire.

53 A certain woman threw down part of an upper millstone on Abimelech's head, and crushed his skull. 54 He called quickly to the attendant who was his armor-bearer and said to him, "Draw your sword and kill me, lest they say of me, 'A woman killed him.'" His attendant stabbed him and he died. 55 The men of Israel saw that Abimelech had died, and each man went back to his place.

56 [Thus] God repaid the evil of Abimelech that he had done to his father [by] murdering his seventy brothers; 57 and all the evil of the men of Shechem, God brought back upon their heads, and the curse of Jotham son of Jerubaal came upon them.

TOLA SON OF PUAH 10:1-2

JAIR THE GILEADITE 10:3-5

(See Appendix A, timeline 3)

1 After Abimelech there arose to save Israel, Tola son of Puah son of Dodo, a man of Issachar; he dwelt in Shamir, in Mount Ephraim. 2 He judged Israel for twenty-three years; he died and was buried in Shamir.

3 After him there arose Jair the Gileadite, and he judged Israel for twenty-two years. 4 He had thirty sons riding thirty colts, and they owned thirty towns — they would call them the villages of Jair until this day — which were in the land of Gilead. 5 Jair died and was buried in Kamon.

10:6. During seven periods, the nation successively worshiped seven different idols. Each period of disloyalty to God was followed by a period of suffering, remorse and eventual salvation. Nevertheless, Israel was again disloyal to God (Talmud, Beitzah 25b).

10:8. The year of Jair's death (Rashi).

10:14. God answered, through His prophet, that this time a mere declaration of remorse would not suffice. Thoroughly chastened by God's rebuke, the people made a new plea and backed it with action, whereupon God commenced His salvation.

10:16. This incident shows that one may never despair even if a sharp sword is on his neck. Though God had said that the people had lost their chance to regain His favor, they continued to repent and to plead — and prevailed.

11:1. From this point until the rise of Samuel, God did not provide great leaders to bring Israel triumph and tranquility. There were leaders of lesser stature, victories of lesser magnitude, and even civil war and fractiousness among Israel. Now, as they sought a warrior to defeat Ammon, the people were forced to call upon Jephthah, who did not measure up to their usual standards.

A NEW CYCLE BEGINS 10:6-18

Idolatry

Chastening (See Appendix A, timeline 3)

6 The Children of Israel continued to do that which was evil in the eyes of HASHEM and they worshiped the Baalim, the Ashtaroth, the gods of Aram, the gods of Sidon, the gods of Moab, the gods of the Children of Ammon, and the gods of the Philistines; they forsook HASHEM and did not serve Him. * 7 The wrath of HASHEM flared against Israel and He delivered them into the hand of the Philistines and into the hand of the Children of Ammon. 8 They broke and crushed the Children of Israel [starting] that year, * for eighteen years — all the Children of Israel who were of the other side of the Jordan, in the land of the Amorite, which is in Gilead. 9 The Children of Ammon crossed the Jordan to make war even against Judah and Benjamin and the house of Ephraim. Israel was greatly distressed.

10 The Children of Israel cried out to HASHEM, saying, "We have sinned to You, for we have forsaken our God and we have worshiped the Baalim!"

Divine reprimand

11 Then HASHEM said to the Children of Israel, "Did [I] not [save you] from Egypt and from the Amorite and from the Children of Ammon and from the Philistines? 12 The Sidonians and Amalek and Maon oppressed you; and you cried out to Me, and I saved you from their hand. 13 But you forsook Me and worshiped the gods of others. Therefore I shall not continue to help you. 14 *Go and cry out to the gods that you have chosen — let them save you in your time of distress!" 15 The Children of Israel then said to HASHEM, "We have sinned! May You do with us whatever is good in Your eyes, but rescue us now, this day!" 16 They removed the foreign gods from their midst and they served HASHEM — then His spirit could not tolerate the travail of Israel. *

17 The Children of Ammon were mustered and they encamped in Gilead. The Children of Israel were gathered and they encamped in Mizpah. 18 The people — the princes of Gilead — said, each to his fellow, "Whichever man will begin to do battle against the Children of Ammon will become the leader of all the inhabitants of Gilead."

JEPHTHAH THE GILEADITE 11:1-12:7

(See Appendix A, timeline 3)

1 Jephthah the Gileadite was a mighty man of valor and he was the son of a concubine; * Gilead begat Jephthah. 2 Gilead's wife bore him sons, and when the wife's sons grew up they drove Jephthah away and said to him, "You will not inherit in the household of our father, for you are the son of another woman."

3 Jephthah fled because of his brothers and settled in the land of Tob. Boorish men collected around Jephthah, and ventured forth with him.

Jephthah's expulsion . . .

4 It happened after a period of time that the Children of Ammon made war with Israel. 5 And it happened when the Children of Ammon waged war against Israel that the elders of Gilead went to bring Jephthah [back] from the land of Tob.

. . . and recall

6 They said to Jephthah, "Come and be our chief, and we will do battle with the Children of Ammon."

7 But Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, "Was it not you who hated me and drove me away from my father's house? Why have you come to me now when you are in distress?"

8 The elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, "For this have we now returned to you

During this period, it was still considered unseemly for an heiress to marry out of her father's tribe (see Numbers 36:5-9). Having broken this tradition, Jephthah's mother was called a זוֹנָה, literally, harlot, even though she remained faithful to her husband Gilead (Radak; Ralbag). Though Jephthah's mother was called a harlot, the verse testifies that Gilead was his father to show that his brothers mistreated him (see below), because, as a son, he was fully entitled to share in Gilead's estate.

11:11. Where large numbers of Jews gather, the Shechinah (Immanent Presence of God) is manifest, and Jephthah used the occasion to have God bear witness, so to speak, to the nation's acceptance of the elders' promise to bestow leadership upon him (Rashi).

— that you go with us and do battle with the Children of Ammon, and that you become a leader over us, over all the inhabitants of Gilead!"

9 Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, "If you bring me back to do battle with the Children of Ammon and HASHEM delivers them before me, I will become your leader."

10 Then the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, "May HASHEM bear witness between us, if we do not do according to your word." 11 So Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people set him as a leader and a chief over them. Jephthah spoke all his words before HASHEM* in Mizpah.

Jephthah confronts the king of Ammon

12 Jephthah sent emissaries to the king of the Children of Ammon, saying, "What is there between you and me that you have come to me to make war in my land?"

13 The king of the Children of Ammon said to Jephthah's emissaries, "Because Israel took away my land when it ascended from Egypt, from Arnon to the Jabbok to the Jordan! So now return them in peace."

14 Jephthah once again sent emissaries to the king of the Children of Ammon, 15 and said to him, "So said Jephthah: Israel did not take away the land of Moab and the land of the Children of Ammon. 16 For when they ascended from Egypt, Israel went in the Wilderness until the Sea of Reeds, and then they arrived at Kadesh. 17 Israel sent emissaries to the king of Edom, saying, 'Let me now pass through your land,' but the king of Edom did not take heed. It sent also to the king of Moab, but he was not willing, so Israel dwelt in Kadesh. 18 It went through the Wilderness and went around the land of Edom and the land of Moab, and came to the land of Moab from the east, where they encamped across the Arnon; but they did not enter the border of Moab, for the Arnon is the border of Moab. 19 Then Israel sent emissaries to Sihon, king of the Amorite, the king of Heshbon, and Israel said to him, 'Let us now pass through your land until my place.' 20 But Sihon did not trust Israel to pass through his border. Rather, Sihon assembled his entire people and they encamped at Jahaz, and he made war against Israel. 21 Then HASHEM, God of Israel, delivered Sihon and his entire people into the hand of Israel and they struck them down. Israel took possession of the entire land of the Amorite, the inhabitants of that land. 22 They took possession of the entire territory of the Amorite, from Arnon to the Jabbok, and from the Wilderness to the Jordan.

23 "And now HASHEM, the God of Israel, has driven out the Amorite because of His people Israel — yet you would possess it? 24 Surely, whatever your god Chemosh lets you possess, that you shall possess; and whichever [people] God drives away before us, that [land] we shall possess. 25 And now, are you any better than Balak son of Zippor, king of Moab? Did he pursue any grievance against Israel, or did he make any war against them? 26 While Israel dwelt in Heshbon and its suburbs, in Aroer and its suburbs, and in all the cities that are near Arnon for three hundred years — why did you not recover [them] during that time? 27 I have not sinned against you; but you do me wrong to make war against me! Let HASHEM, the Judge, decide today between the Children of Israel and the Children of Ammon!"

28 But the king of the Children of Ammon did not heed the words of Jephthah, which he sent to him.

29 A spirit of HASHEM was upon Jephthah, and he passed through the Gilead

11:31. Jephthah acted improperly by vowing that he would make an altar offering of the first thing to emerge from his house — for how could he be certain that it would be an animal? (Talmud, Taanis 4b).

11:35. Under no circumstances was Jephthah permitted to sacrifice his daughter, nor could he obligate her to a course of behavior. Jephthah should have gone to Phinehas to have his vow annulled, but he felt that since he was the leader of the nation, Phinehas should come to him. Phinehas, however, felt that since he was a prophet and Kohen, Jephthah should come to him. Thus, the two never met, and the daughter's tragedy was sealed. God punished both of them. Phinehas lost his exalted position, and Jephthah contracted a disease that caused his limbs to atrophy (see 12:7).

11:36. Jephthah's daughter volunteered to submit and Jephthah carried out his vow figuratively, by having her live in seclusion, and devote herself to prayer.

11:37. Before the vow was carried out, she wanted to grieve with her friends, because she would remain a virgin, never to marry and bring children into the world.

12:1. A tragic civil war illustrates the lowered spiritual state of the nation. Jephthah had rallied his own kinsmen to defeat Ammon, and now the tribe of Ephraim came en masse to protest that he had slighted them. They felt that and Manasseh, and he passed through Mizpeh of Gilead, and from Mizpeh of Gilead he passed through [to] the Children of Ammon.

Jephthah's vow

30 Jephthah declared a vow to HASHEM, and said, "If You will indeed deliver the Children of Ammon into my hand, 31 then it shall be that whatever emerges — what will emerge from the doors of my house — toward me when I return in peace from the Children of Ammon, it shall belong to HASHEM *and I shall offer it up as an elevation-offering."

Jephthah defeats Ammon

32 Then Jephthah crossed to the Children of Ammon to do battle against them, and HASHEM delivered them into his hand. 33 He struck them from Aroer until your approach to Minnith, twenty cities, and until the plain of Cheramim — a very great blow — and the Children of Ammon were subdued before the Children of Israel.

His daughter's fate

34 Jephthah arrived at Mizpah, to his home, and behold! his daughter was coming out toward him with drums and dances — and she was an only child; he did not have [another] son or daughter of his own. 35 When he saw her, he tore his clothes and said, "Alas, my daughter! You have brought me to my knees, and you have joined those who trouble me. I have opened my mouth to HASHEM *and I cannot recant!"

36 She said to him, "My father, you have opened your mouth to HASHEM — do to me according to what has gone out of your mouth, * since HASHEM has wreaked vengeance for you against your enemies, against the Children of Ammon!" 37 *But she said to her father, "Let this thing be done for me: Let me be for two months, and I shall go and wail upon the mountains and weep over my virginity, I and my friends."

38 He said, "Go!" and he released her off for two months. She went with her friends and wept over her virginity upon the mountains. 39 At the end of two months she returned to her father. He carried out with her the vow that he had vowed, and she never knew a man. This became a practice in Israel: 40 From year to year the daughters of Israel would go to lament with the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite, four days of the year.

1 *The men of Ephraim were mustered and crossed to the north. They said to Jephthah, "Why did you cross over to make war against the Children of Ammon, and did not call on us to go with you? We shall burn down your house in fire upon you!"

2 Jephthah said to them, "A man of great strife was I — I and my people — against the Children of Ammon; I summoned you, but you did not save me from their hand. 3 I saw that you were not helping, so I placed my life in my hand and I crossed over to the Children of Ammon — and HASHEM delivered them into my hand. Now why have you come up to me this day to make war with me?"

Civil war

4 Jephthah assembled all the men of Gilead and warred against Ephraim, and the men of Gilead struck Ephraim, for [even] the rabble of Ephraim had said, "[Of what worth are] you Gilead? [You who dwell] in the midst of Ephraim, in the midst of Manasseh!"

5 Gilead occupied the crossings of the Jordan against Ephraim, so it was that when the "rabble of Ephraim" would say, "Let me cross," the men of Gilead by ignoring them, Jephthah had usurped the primacy that was legitimately theirs. They had done likewise to Gideon (8:1-3), but he, with modesty and tact, had mollified them (Malbim; Daas Soferim). Jephthah, however, would not, or could not, appease them; instead, he responded with violence (Ralbag).

12:6. The people of Gilead took advantage of an Ephraimite speech defect to identify who was from that tribe. The people of Ephraim could not pronounce a "sh" sound, and that was their undoing.

12:7. Jephthah "was buried in cities of Gilead" implies that he received more than one burial. According to the Midrash (see 11:3), his limbs atrophied and fell off one by one; each was buried in the city he was in at the time.

12:9. Scripture implies that Ibzan was a very virtuous man, for he became judge of his nation and merited to see all his sixty children happily married (Radak).

13:5. The people once more fell into sinfulness and God permitted the Philistines to take control of the country. Israel was not worthy of the complete salvation brought would say to him, "Are you an Ephrathite?" and he would answer, "No." 6 Then they would say to him, "Now say, 'Shibboleth,' " but he said, "Sibboleth" — for he could not enunciate properly. Then they would seize him and slaughter him by the crossings of the Jordan. During that time, forty-two thousand fell from Ephraim. *

7 Jephthah judged Israel for six years. Jephthah the Gileadite died and was buried in cities of Gilead. *

IBZAN 12:8-10 (See Appendix A, timeline 3)

8 After him, Ibzan of Beth-lehem judged Israel. 9 He had thirty sons and he sent out thirty daughters; he brought thirty daughters for his sons from without. * He judged Israel for seven years. 10 Ibzan died and was buried in Beth-lehem.

ELON THE ZEBULUNITE 12:11-12

11 After him, Elon the Zebulunite judged Israel; he judged Israel for ten years. 12 Elon the Zebulunite died and was buried in Aijalon, in the land of Zebulun.

ABDON SON OF HILLEL 12:13-15

13 After him, Abdon son of Hillel the Pirathonite judged Israel. 14 He had forty sons and thirty grandsons, riding on seventy colts. He judged Israel for eight years. 15 Abdon son of Hillel the Pirathonite died and was buried in Pirathon, in the land of Ephraim, on the Amalekite mountain.

SAMSON 13:1—16:31

1 The Children of Israel continued to do what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, and HASHEM delivered them into the hand of the Philistines for forty years.

An angelic visitation

2 There was a certain man of Zorah, of the family of the Danite, whose name was Manoah; his wife was barren and had not given birth. 3 An angel of God appeared to the woman and said to her, "Behold now — you are barren and have not given birth, but you shall conceive and give birth to a son. 4 And now, be careful not to drink wine or aged wine, and not to eat anything contaminated. 5 For you shall conceive and give birth to a son; a razor shall not come upon his head, for the lad shall be a nazirite of God from the womb, * and he will begin to save Israel from the hand of the Philistines."

6 The woman came and told her husband, saying, "A man of God came to me, and his appearance was like the appearance of an angel of God — very awesome! I did not ask him where he was from and he did not tell me his name. 7 He said to me, 'Behold, you shall conceive and give birth to a son. And now, do not drink wine or aged wine, and do not eat anything contaminated, for the lad shall be a nazirite unto God from the womb until the day of his death.' "

Manoah's prayer

8 Manoah prayed to HASHEM and said, "Please, my Lord, may the man of God whom you sent come now again to us and teach us what we should do with the lad who is to be born."

The angel's reappearance

9 God heeded the call of Manoah and the angel of God came again to the woman when she was sitting in the field, but Manoah her husband was not with her. 10 The woman hastened; she ran and told her husband; she said to him, "Behold, the man who came to me that day has appeared to me."

11 Manoah arose and went after his wife. He came to the man and said to him, "Are you the man who spoke to the woman?"

He said, "I am."

12 Manoah said, "Now, may your words come true! What should be the about in earlier times by such great judges as Deborah and Gideon, but God did not wish to let the Philistines go completely unpunished. So He sent Samson, whom He endowed with superhuman strength, to carry out sporadic attacks against the Philistines. Moreover, he was to do so as a lone "vigilante," so to speak, not as the leader of the people. As a symbol of his holiness, and the source of his strength, he was to be a nazirite from the womb, and even his very birth from a barren, infertile mother would be miraculous.

14:1. Samson's mode of operation was to find pretexts for the oppressors to wrong him, thus giving him plausible excuses to lash out against them.

In the beginning of his career as a savior, he entered into marriages with Philistine women purely for the sake of Heaven, so that he could manufacture justifications for his battles against the Philistines, and all his Philistine wives converted to Judaism before they were married. As time went on, however, his righteousness diminished, and he began to be attracted by physical beauty, which ultimately led to his downfall (Radak; Talmud, Sotah 10a).

14:4. Only he knew of this mission; he did not even tell his parents.

14:6. As a nazirite who is forbidden wine, Samson would not even walk through a vineyard (see Talmud, Pesachim 40b). Thus, he was separated from his parents at this time (Vilna Gaon).

conduct of the lad and his behavior?"

13 The angel of God said to Manoah, "Of everything that I spoke to the woman, she should beware. 14 Of anything that comes from the grapevine, she shall not eat; wine or aged wine, she shall not drink; anything contaminated, she shall not eat. Everything that I commanded her, she shall observe."

Manoah's offering

15 Manoah said to the angel of HASHEM, "Please let us detain you, and we shall prepare a goat kid for you."

16 The angel of HASHEM said to Manoah, "If you detain me, I shall not eat of your food. If you wish to prepare an elevation-offering, offer it up to HASHEM" — for Manoah did not know that he was an angel of HASHEM.

17 Manoah said to the angel of HASHEM, "What is your name, so that when your word comes about, we may honor you?"

18 The angel of HASHEM said to him, "Why is it that you ask for my name ? It is hidden!"

19 Manoah took the goat kid and the meal-offering and brought [them] up on the rock to HASHEM — and [the angel] performed a miracle, as Manoah and his wife watched. 20 It happened that as the flame rose up from atop the altar to the heavens, the angel of HASHEM went up in the flame of the altar. Manoah and his wife were watching and they fell upon their faces to the ground.

21 The angel of HASHEM no longer appeared to Manoah and his wife; then Manoah realized that he was an angel of HASHEM. 22 Manoah said to his wife, "We shall surely die, for we have seen a Godly angel!"

23 His wife said to him, "Had HASHEM wanted to put us to death, He would not have accepted from our hand an elevation-offering and a meal-offering, nor would He have shown us all this, nor would He let us hear such [tidings] at this time."

Blessing fulfilled

24 The woman gave birth to a son, and she called his name Samson; the lad grew and HASHEM blessed him. 25 The spirit of HASHEM began to resound in him in the camp of Dan, between Zorah and Eshtaol.

The woman of Timnah

1 Samson went down to Timnath, and in Timnath he saw a woman of the daughters of the Philistines. * 2 He went up and told his father and mother, and said, "I have seen a woman in Timnath, of the daughters of the Philistines. Now, take her for me as a wife." 3 His father and mother said to him, "Is there no woman among the daughters of your brothers and in all my people that you go to take a wife from the uncircumcised Philistines?" But Samson said to his father, "Take her for me, for she is fitting in my eyes." 4 His father and mother did not know that it was from HASHEM, for he was seeking a pretext against the Philistines; * at that time the Philistines were ruling in Israel.

The lion and the bees

5 So Samson and his father and mother descended to Timnath. They reached the vineyards of Timnath, and behold — a young lion was roaring toward him! 6 The spirit of HASHEM came over him and he tore it apart as one tears apart a kid, though he had nothing in his hand. He did not tell his father and mother what he had done. *

7 He went down and spoke with the woman, and she was fitting in the eyes of Samson. 8 He returned after some time to marry her, but he turned aside to see the fallen carcass of the lion, and behold, a swarm of bees was in the body of the lion, with honey. 9 He scraped it into his hands and went, walking and eating; he went to his father and mother and gave them, and 14:20. His wife's betrayal gave Samson an excuse to avenge himself. Then, the woman's father unwittingly set the stage for the next exploit by giving Samson's wife in marriage to another man.

15:3. His wife's marriage to one of his erstwhile "friends" provided him with a perfect pretext for vengeance.

15:7. Had you intervened against her family's treachery when it happened, I would have respected you, but you did nothing until I avenged myself — therefore I shall not rest until I exact more punishment from you (Radak).

they ate, but he did not tell them that he had scraped it from the body of the lion.

Samson's first marriage

10 His father went down to the woman and Samson made a feast there, for that was what the young men would do. 11 It happened when [the woman and her father] saw him that they took thirty companions to be with him. 12 Samson said to them, "Let me now pose you a riddle. If you tell me [its solution] during the seven days of feasting and you solve it, I will give you thirty sheets and thirty changes of clothing. 13 But if you cannot tell it to me, then you will give me thirty sheets and thirty changes of clothing."

They said to him, "Pose your riddle and let us hear it."

14 He said to them, "From the eater came forth food; and from the strong came forth sweetness." They could not tell [the solution of] the riddle for three days.

15 It was on the Sabbath day that they said to Samson's wife, "Entice your husband to tell [you] the riddle for us — lest we will burn you and your father's house with fire! Did you invite us here to impoverish us?"

Samson's wife's treachery

16 So Samson's wife wept near him and said, "You only hate me and do not love me! You posed the riddle to the sons of my people, but you did not tell me [the solution]."

He said to her, "Behold, I did not even tell my father and mother; shall I tell you?"

17 She wept near him for the [remainder of the] seven days that they had the feast. It happened on the seventh day that he told her, for she had distressed him. Then she told [the solution to the] riddle to the sons of her people.

18 So the men of the city said to [Samson] on the seventh day, before the sun had set, "What is sweeter than honey, and what is stronger than a lion?" He replied to them, "Had you not 'plowed with my calf,' you would not have solved my riddle!"

19 Then a spirit of HASHEM came over him, and he went down to Ashkelon and struck down thirty men of them; he took their garments and gave the changes [of clothing] to those who had told [the solution] of his riddle. His wrath flared, and he went up to his father's house. 20 Meanwhile, Samson's wife was [given in marriage] to his companion, whom he had befriended.*

15 1 It happened some time later, in the days of the wheat harvest, that Samson remembered his wife with a goat kid. He said, "I wish to come to my wife, to the chamber," but her father would not permit him to enter.

Samson's pretext

2 Her father said, "I thought that you surely hate her, so I gave her over to your companion. Behold, her younger sister is better than she; let her be yours, instead of her."

3 Samson said to them, "This time I will be blameless from the Philistines, when I do evil to them."*

Foxtails and torches

4 Samson went and caught three hundred foxes; he took torches and turned [the foxes] tail to tail, and put one torch between each pair of tails, in the middle. 5 He set fire to the torches, and sent [the foxes] off to the grain fields of the Philistines; thus he burnt down [everything] from grain stacks to standing grain to olive groves.

6 The Philistines said, "Who did this?"

And [others] answered, "Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite, because he took his wife and gave her to his companion." The Philistines then went and burned her and her father in fire.

7 Samson said to them, "If only you had done so [before]! Now I will avenge* 15:9. The place was given this name after the event described below.

15:11. By telling Samson that the Philistines were their rulers, they justified their decision to hand him over to the enemy. They implied that Samson had endangered the entire population by inciting the Philistines to take reprisals against helpless, innocent people.

15:16. I.e., heaps of slain Philistines. This is a play on words; חֲמוֹר is used for both "donkey" and "heap."

15:17. Alternatively, "Casting of the Jawbone."

15:19. The hollows from which the teeth grow (Rashi). Alternatively, the depression in a large rock in the place named Lehi (Radak).

15:20. Despite Samson's scattered victories over them, the Philistines maintained their control over the land.

16:1. To continue his provocations against the Philistines, Samson went to a public house in Gaza where his presence would quickly become known.

myself against you and afterwards I will stop." 8 Then Samson struck them calf upon thigh a great blow. Then he descended and dwelt in the cleft of the Rock of Etam.

9 *The Philistines went up [for war], and they encamped in Judah, spreading out at Lehi [Jawbone]. 10 The men of Judah said, "Why have you come up against us?"

They responded, "We have come up to arrest Samson, to do to him as he did to us!"

11 Three thousand men of Judah then went down to the cleft of the Rock of Etam, and they said to Samson, "Do you not know that the Philistines rule over us? What is this [that] you have done to us?"*

But he answered them, "As they did to me, so I did to them!"

Judah arrests Samson

12 They said to him, "We have come to arrest you, to hand you over into the hand of the Philistines."

Samson said to them, "Swear to me that you yourselves will not harm me."

13 They said to him, "No, rather we will only arrest you and give you over into their hand; but we will surely not put you to death." So they bound him with two new ropes and brought him up from the rock.

A donkey's jawbone; a thousand Philistines . . .

14 He came to Lehi and the Philistines shouted at him. A spirit of HASHEM came over him and the ropes that were on his arms became like flax that had been singed with fire; his bonds melted from upon his hands. 15 He found a fresh jawbone of a donkey, and stretched out his hand and took it. He struck down a thousand people with it. 16 Samson then said, "With the jawbone of a donkey, heap upon heaps; with the jawbone of a donkey I have struck down a thousand men!"* 17 *When he finished speaking he cast the jawbone from his hand. That place was called Ramath-lehi [Jawbone Hill].

18 He became very thirsty. He called out to HASHEM and said, "You have granted this great salvation through the hand of Your servant, and now, shall I die of thirst and fall into the hand of the uncircumcised?" 19 So God split open the hollow that was in the jawbone, and water came from it and he drank; his spirit returned to him and he was revived. Therefore that place is called En-hakkorei [Spring of the Caller], which is in Lehi — until this day.*

16 1 *Samson went to Gaza. He saw there a harlot and consorted with her. 2 It was said to the Gazites, "Samson has come here!" So they went around and lay in wait for him all night at the city gate. They remained silent all night, thinking, "By the dawn light, we will kill him." 3 Samson slept until midnight. He arose at midnight and grasped the doors of the city gate and the two doorposts and tore them out, with the crossbar, and placed them on his shoulders. He brought them to the top of the mountain that faces Hebron.

The gates of Gaza

Delilah's first treachery

4 It happened after this that he loved a woman from the Sorek Brook; her name was Delilah. 5 The governors of the Philistines went up to her and said to her, "Entice him and find out by what [means] his strength is so great, and by what [means] we may overpower him, so that we may bind him, to afflict him. Each one of us will give you eleven hundred [pieces of] silver."

6 So Delilah said to Samson, "Please tell me what makes your strength so great, and how you could be bound, to afflict you."

16:19. It was not simply hair that gave Samson his great strength. Rather, it was his obedience to the command that he be a nazirite. When he permitted that status to be desecrated by revealing his secret to please his wife — who had his hair shorn — he lost his strength. Later, when he repented [and resumed his nazirite observance (Kli Yakar)], his strength returned (Abarbanel).

16:21. Because Samson allowed his eyes to entice him (14:3), he suffered the loss of his eyes (Talmud, Sotah 10a).

7 Samson told her, "If they bind me with seven wet twines that have never been dried, I would become weak and be like any other man."

8 The governors of the Philistines then brought her seven wet twines that had never been dried, and she bound him with them; 9 and there was an ambush party sitting for her in the room. She said to him, "Philistines are upon you, Samson!" and he snapped the twines as flax straw snaps when it smells fire; and his [full] strength was not even apparent.

Delilah's second treachery

10 Delilah said to Samson, "Behold, you have mocked me and told me lies! Now tell me how you can be bound."

11 He said to her, 'If they bind me up with new ropes with which work was never done, then I would become weak and be like any other man."

12 So Delilah took new ropes and bound him with them and said to him, "Philistines are upon you, Samson!" and the ambush party was sitting in the room. [Samson] snapped them off his arms like a thread.

Delilah's third treachery

13 Then Delilah said to Samson, "Up to now you have mocked me and told me lies! Tell me how you can be bound!"

He told her, "If you weave the seven locks of my head onto a weaving rod."
14 She fastened [it] with the peg of the loom.

She said to him, "Philistines are upon you, Samson!" He awoke from his sleep and tore out the peg of the loom and the weaving rod.

15 She said to him, "How can you say, 'I love you,' when your heart is not with me? This makes three times that you have mocked me and not told me what makes your strength so great!"

Delilah finally succeeds

16 It happened that after she tormented him with her words every day and pressed him, he became exasperated to death. 17 So he told her all [that was in] his heart and said to her, "A razor has never gone up upon my head, for I am a nazirite unto God from my mother's womb. If I would be shaven, my strength would leave me; I would become weak and be like any [other] man."

18 Delilah saw that he had told her all [that was in] his heart, so she sent and summoned all the governors of the Philistines, saying, "Come up this time, for he has told me all [that was in] his heart." So the governors of the Philistines came up and brought up the money in their hands. 19 She lulled him to sleep on her knees, and she called over the man and had him shave off the seven locks of his head, thus beginning to afflict him, and his strength departed from him. *

20 She said, "Philistines are upon you, Samson!"

He awoke from his sleep and said [to himself], "I will go out [to fight] like every other time, and arouse myself!" But he did not know that HASHEM had departed from him.

21 The Philistines seized him and gouged out his eyes. * They brought him down to Gaza and bound him in copper fetters; he was made to grind [grain] in prison. 22 The hair of his head began to sprout after he had been shaven.

The Philistines celebrate . . .

23 The governors of the Philistines gathered to make a great sacrifice unto their god Dagon, and for a celebration. They said, "Our god has delivered Samson our enemy into our hand!" 24 The people saw him and praised their god, for they said, "Our god has delivered into our hand our enemy and the destroyer of our land, the one who increased the numbers of our slain."

25 It happened when their heart became merry that they said, "Summon Samson and let him entertain us!" They summoned Samson from the prison

17:1. From here to the end of Judges, the events described are not in their chronological place, for they occurred at the very beginning of the period of the Judges, soon after Joshua's death (Rashi, from Seder Olam).

17:3. Her original intention was to makes images that would serve either as intermediaries between her and God or as mediums with which to foretell the future (Ralbag).

17:4. Micajehu did not wish to make the images, so his mother paid two hundred silver pieces to the smith, and had the remaining silver melted down and fashioned into the images (Radak).

17:5. Micajehu and Micah are the same person.

17:6. The lack of a king, an authority to prevent such a sacrilege, was at the root of this tragedy. Because the same was true of the shocking incidents recorded in the succeeding chapters, this verse is repeated several times.

17:7. The lad was a Levite who lived in Beth-lehem, in and he sported before them. They stood him between the pillars.

26 Samson said to the boy who was holding his hand, "Let go of me and let me touch the pillars that the building rests upon, so that I may lean on them." 27 Now the building was full of men and women, and all the governors of the Philistines were there; and on the roof [there were] about three thousand men and women watching Samson's sport.

. . . and pay a heavy price

28 Samson called out to HASHEM and said, "My Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM! Remember me and strengthen me just this one time, O God, and I will exact vengeance from the Philistines for one of my two eyes." 29 Samson grasped the two central pillars upon which the building rested, and he leaned on them; one with his right hand and one with his left hand. 30 Samson said, "Let my soul die with the Philistines!" He leaned with force, and the building collapsed on the governors and on all the people inside it. The dead whom he killed at his own death were more than he had killed in his lifetime.

31 His brothers and all his father's household came and carried him away; they brought him up and buried him between Zoreah and Eshtaol, in the burial plot of Manoah, his father. He had judged Israel for twenty years.

MICAH'S [MICAJEHU'S] MOLTEN IMAGE

1 *There was a man from Mount Ephraim whose name was Micajehu. 2 He said to his mother, "The eleven hundred [pieces of] silver that were taken from you, and you cursed [whoever stole it] and even said [the curse] in my ears — behold, the money is with me! I took it!"

His mother said, "Blessed be my son to HASHEM!" 3 He returned the eleven hundred [pieces of] silver to his mother, but his mother said, "I had resolved to consecrate the money for HASHEM from my hand to my son to make a carved image and a molten image, so now I will give it back to you."*

4 He [again] returned the money to his mother, so his mother took two hundred [pieces of] silver and gave it to the silversmith, and he made it into a carved image and a molten image, and it remained in Micajehu's house.* 5 The man Micah had a house of idolatry; he made an ephod and icons, and he installed one of his sons to be his priest.* 6 (In those days there was no king in Israel; a man would do whatever seemed proper in his eyes.)*

Micah's Levite priest

7 *There was a lad from Beth-lehem of Judah, of the family of Judah; he was a Levite, but he lived there. 8 The man went from the city, from Beth-lehem of Judah, to sojourn where he would find [it suitable]. He came to Mount Ephraim, up to the house of Micah, to make his way.

9 Micah said to him, "From where do you come?"

He said to him, "I am a Levite from Beth-lehem of Judah, and I am traveling to sojourn where I will find [it suitable]."

10 Micah said to him, "Stay with me, and be a father and a priest for me. I will give you ten [pieces of] silver a year, a set of clothes and your livelihood." So the Levite went [in]. 11 The Levite desired to settle with the man, and the lad became to him like one of his own sons. 12 Micah installed the Levite, and the lad became his priest, and remained in Micah's house. 13 *Micah thought, "Now I know that HASHEM will be good to me, for this Levite has become my priest."

the territory of Judah (Radak).

17:13. Micah knew it had not been proper for his son, who was not a Levite, to be a priest. Now that he had a "qualified" priest, he felt assured of success.

18:1. See Joshua 19:47.

18:7. The people of Laish had no enemies, no conflicts and no dynasty to fight to retake the city if it fell. Furthermore, they were too isolated to summon help and had no allies to defend them. Consequently they were ripe for conquest.

The Danite spies

1 In those days [there was] no king in Israel. In those days the tribe of the Danite was seeking a heritage in which to dwell for an [adequate] heritage had not yet fallen to them up to that day among the tribes of Israel.* 2 The children of Dan sent five men from their families — from among their leaders — men of valor from Zorah and from Eshtaol, to spy out the land and to investigate it. They said to them, "Go, investigate the land."

They arrived at Mount Ephraim, to the house of Micah, and spent the night there. 3 When they were in Micah's house they recognized the voice of the Levite lad. They turned there and said to him, "Who brought you here? What are you doing here? What do you have here?"

4 He answered them, "Micah did such and such for me; he hired me and I became a priest for him."

5 They said to him, "Inquire please of God, so that we may know if our journey upon which we go will be successful."

6 The priest said to them, "Go in peace; the journey on which you go is in accord with HASHEM."

7 *So the five men went, and they arrived at Laish. They saw that the people who were in it were living securely, after the manner of the Sidonians, complacent and secure. No issue in the land could cause them embarrassment and there was no heir to the dynasty; they were far from the Sidonians and they had no alliance with any person.

The spies' report

8 [The Danites] went back to their brothers in Zorah and Eshtaol, and their brothers said to them, "What do you [say]?"

9 They said, "Arise, let us advance against them, for we have seen the land, and it is very good — yet you remain still! Do not be too lazy to go, to arrive and inherit the land! 10 When you arrive, you will come upon a trusting people, and the land is expansive, for God has delivered it into your hand. It is a place where there is no shortage of anything that is in the land!"

11 So they journeyed forth from there — from the family of the Danite, from Zorah and Eshtaol — six hundred men girded with weapons of war. 12 They ascended and encamped in Kiriath-jearim in Judah. (For this reason they called that place "the Camp of Dan," to this day — behold, it is west of Kiriath-jearim.) 13 They passed on from there to Mount Ephraim, and arrived near Micah's house. 14 The five men who had gone to spy out the land of Laish spoke up and said to their brothers, "Did you know that in these buildings there are an ephod and icons, a carved image and molten image? Now, you know what you should do!"

15 So they turned there and came to the house of the Levite lad, at the house of Micah, and they greeted him. 16 The six hundred men girded with their weapons of war were standing at the entrance of the gate; [they were] of the tribe of Dan. 17 The five men who had gone to spy out the land arrived there. They took the carved image, the ephod, the icons and the molten image. The priest was standing at the opening of the gate, as were the six hundred men girded with weapons of war.

Dan seizes Micah's image and priest . . .

18 And as these [men] entered Micah's house and took the carved image of the ephod, the icons and the molten image, the priest said to them, "What are you doing?"

19 They said to him, "Be quiet! Put your hand over your mouth and go with us, and be a father and a priest for us. Is it better for you to be a priest in the house

18:21. Expecting to be pursued from the rear by local people resisting their theft, they placed the children and livestock in front of them, out of harm's way.

18:27. They set the fire during the attack to terrify the potential defenders, and the fire went out of control. Alternatively, they burned the city because it was filled with idols. Although the people of Dan had brought the Levite with his idols, they wrongly considered those to be a means of serving God (Radak; see 17:13).

18:30. In the Masoretic text, the letter נ of מנשה, Manasseh, is suspended above the line. This implies that the remaining letters are to be read as an independent word, משה, Moshe/"Moses." The Talmud therefore identifies the Jonathan of our verse as the son of Gershom son of Moses (see Exodus 2:21:22), but out of respect for Moses a letter was added to mask his name.

19:1. This episode, like the preceding one, is not written in its chronological place. It occurred in the very beginning of the era of the Judges, shortly after the death of Joshua (Rashi).

Ramban (Genesis 19:8) explains at length how the incident in Gibeah, horrifying and inexcusable though it was, is not comparable to the seemingly identical conduct of Sodom (see Genesis Ch. 19). In Gibeah, a lawless band of thugs terrorized the decent majority, but in Sodom, as Scripture states explicitly, all elements of the city particiof one man or to be a priest for an [entire] tribe and a family in Israel?" [20] The priest was pleased, and he took the ephod, the icons and the carved image, and went along amid the people. [21] They turned away and left; they placed the children and the livestock and the possessions before them. *

[22] They had gone a distance from Micah's house, when the men who were in the houses near Micah's house were mustered, and they overtook the children of Dan. [23] They called out to the children of Dan, who turned to face them. They said to Micah, "What concerns you that you have been mustered?"

[24] He said, "You took my god that I made and the priest, and have gone away! What more do I possess? So how can you say to me, 'What concerns you?' "

[25] But the children of Dan said to him, "Let your voice not be heard among us, lest embittered men strike out at you, and you bring about the death of yourself and your household!"

[26] Then the children of Dan went on their way. Micah saw that they were stronger than he, so he turned and went back to his house. [27] Thus they took what Micah had made and the priest who had been his. They came upon Laish, upon a complacent and secure people, and they struck them down by the sword and burnt the city down. * [28] There was no one to save [them], for it was distant from Sidon, and they had no alliance with any person. It was situated in the valley which is near Beth-rehob. Then they built up the city and settled in it. [29] They named the city Dan, after the name of Dan their ancestor, who was born to Israel; but Laish was the name of the city at first. [30] The children of Dan set up for themselves the carved image, and Jonathan son of Gershom son of Manasseh * — he and his children — were priests for the tribe of the Danite, up until the day the land was exiled. [31] They accepted upon themselves Micah's carved image that he had made, all the days that the House of God was in Shiloh.

THE CONCUBINE AT GIBEAH 19:1-21:25

[1] And it was that in those days there was no king in Israel. * It happened that there was a Levite man who dwelled in the foothills of Mount Ephraim. He married a concubine wife from Beth-lehem of Judah. [2] His concubine deserted him and left him for her father's house in Beth-lehem of Judah, and she remained there for a period of four months. [3] Then her husband rose up and went after her, to cajole her, * to bring her back. His attendant was with him, as well as a pair of donkeys. She brought him into her father's house; the father of the girl saw him and greeted him gladly.

[4] His father-in-law, the father of the girl, detained him, and he stayed with him for three days. They ate and drank and lodged there. [5] It happened on the fourth day that they arose early in the morning and he rose up to leave, but the father of the girl said to his son-in-law, "Sustain yourself with some bread and go afterwards." [6] So they both sat and ate together and drank. The father of the girl then said to the man, "Please agree to stay overnight, so that your heart will be at ease." [7] The man rose up to leave, but his father-in-law pressed him, pated in the crime. The Sodomites had a concerted campaign to frighten all potential immigrants away, but in Gibeah there was no institutionalized cruelty, only a small, lustful mob that came to satisfy its appetite. Despite their viciousness, the sinners of Gibeah did not intend to commit murder; they released the concubine, apparently unaware that they had mortally injured her. Finally, in the aftermath of this atrocity, the entire nation rose up in organized, forceful protest, while no one made an effort to curb the constant brutality of Sodom.

19:3. Lit., he went "to speak upon her heart." Apparently, the man felt that his own conduct had provoked her to desert him, so he took the initiative of trying to win her back (Ralbag). Trying to cement the newly positive relationship, the woman's father went out of his way to be warm and gracious.

19:18. The sanctuary at Shiloh was in the foothills of Ephraim. The man planned to stop there to pray on his way home; or perhaps he lived in Shiloh.

19:24. The lawless mob wanted to sodomize the guest. Knowing that the mob would overpower them, the host tried to protect his guest by making a revolting offer: to give them his daughter and the concubine. [They rationalized that since the concubine was not legally married there was no death penalty in her case; thus, they thought, it would be preferable to turn her over, rather than let the mob sodomize the man, which is a capital sin (Ramban). Nevertheless, they were wrong, for it was forbidden to turn over one person to save another.] The rabble satisfied their lust with the concubine, and she died from the abuse.

and he spent the night there once again. [8] He arose early in the morning on the fifth day to go, but the father of the girl said, "Sustain yourself now and wait until afternoon," so the two of them ate. [9] When the man rose up to go — he and his concubine and his attendant — his father-in-law, the father of the girl, said to him, "See, now, the sun is waning and is about to set; please stay overnight. Behold, it is the time of day to set up camp; spend the night here so that your heart will be at ease, and tomorrow you can arise early for your journey and go to your tent."

The journey home

[10] But the man would not consent to stay overnight, and he rose up and left. He arrived as far as opposite Jebus, which is Jerusalem; with him were a pair of laden donkeys, and his concubine was with him. [11] They were near Jebus when the sun was very low, so the attendant said to his master, "Come, let us turn into this Jebusite city and spend the night in it."

[12] But his master said to him, "Let us not turn into a city of a foreign [people] who are not of the Children of Israel. Let us pass on to Gibeah." [13] So he said to his attendant, "Come, let us approach one of the [Jewish] places, and we will spend the night in Gibeah or in Ramah." [14] So they passed [Jebus] and went on, and the sun set upon them near Gibeah of Benjamin. [15] They turned there to come and spend the night in Gibeah. He entered and sat in the town square, but no one brought them into a home to spend the night.

Hospitality of the Ephraimite

[16] Just then an old man came from his work, from the field, in the evening. The man was from Mount Ephraim, but he was living in Gibeah; the local people were Benjamites. [17] When he raised his eyes and saw the traveler in the town square, the old man said, "Where are you headed? From where have you come?"

[18] He answered him, "We are passing from Beth-lehem of Judah to the foothills of Mount Ephraim; I am from there. I went to Beth-lehem of Judah, and I am headed for the House of HASHEM. * And no man is bringing me into his home. [19] We even have straw and fodder for our donkeys, and there is even bread and wine for me and your maidservant and the boy who is with your servants; not a thing is lacking."

[20] The old man said, "Peace be with you! However, all your provisions shall be upon me. Just don't spend the night in the [town] square!"

[21] He brought them to his house and prepared food for the donkeys; they washed their feet and ate and drank. [22] As they were feeling merry, behold — people of the city, lawless people, surrounded the house, banging on the door, and saying to the old man, the owner of the house, "Send out the man who came to your house, so that we may know him."

[23] The man who was the owner of the house went out to them. He said to them, "No, my brothers! Please do not be wicked! Since this man has come to my house, do not do this disgusting thing! [24] *Here are my virgin daughter and his concubine! I will bring them out and you may molest them and do to them whatever you please. But do not do this disgusting thing to this man!"

The concubine is violated

[25] But the men were not willing to listen to him. The man grabbed his concubine and thrust [her] outside to them. They knew her and they molested her all night long until the morning; they sent her away as the dawn began to break.

19:29. Again, the man did not act in accordance with Torah law, since the desecration of a body is forbidden. He took it upon himself to thus rouse the entire population to act against the perpetrators of the atrocity and to ensure that such an episde would never happen again.

20:1. Although no capital offense had been committed at Gibeah (since the concubine was not a married woman and her death was unintended), the nation was appalled at the unprecedented atrocity. They wished to exercise the right to act extralegally in an emergency situation. The Benjamites refused to cooperate, for several reasons: (a) The crime committed, heinous though it was, was not a capital offense; (b) the other tribes were acting high-handedly, without consulting Benjamin; and (c) the responsibility to take action lay exclusively in the hands of the high court of the tribe of Benjamin. All parties acted wrongly, and God allowed them to suffer heavy casualties as a result: The tribes should not have gone to war before

The Levite's reaction

29 When he arrived in his house, he took a knife and took hold of his concubine. He sliced her body limb by limb, into twelve pieces, and sent her [parts] throughout all the borders of Israel. * 30 It happened that whoever saw it said, "Such a thing has never happened nor been seen since the day the Children of Israel went up from the Land of Egypt to this day! You must contemplate this, take counsel and speak up!"

Israel gathers at Mizpah

1 All the Children of Israel went out * and the assembly gathered together as a single man, from Dan to Beer-sheba and the land of Gilead, to HASHEM, at Mizpah. 2 The chiefs of all the people, of all the tribes of Israel, stood in the congregation of the people of God, four hundred thousand sword-wielding foot soldiers.

3 The children of Benjamin heard that the Children of Israel had gone up to Mizpah. The Children of Israel said, "Tell us; how did this outrage happen?"

4 The Levite man, the husband of the murdered woman, answered and said, "I arrived with my concubine at Gibeah of Benjamin, to spend the night. 5 The inhabitants of Gibeah rose up against me and surrounded the house against me at night. They proposed to kill me, and they tormented my concubine so that she died. 6 I took hold of my concubine and cut her apart and sent her [body] throughout all the territory of the heritage of Israel, for they had done an indecent and disgusting thing in Israel. 7 Here you all are, O Children of Israel, produce a decision and counsel right here!"

All Israel respond as one

8 All the people arose as one man, saying, "No man will go to his tent and no man will turn away to his house! 9 Now, this is the thing that we should do to Gibeah: [We will advance] against it by lot; 10 we will choose ten men out of every hundred of all the tribes of Israel — and a hundred out of every thousand and a thousand out of every ten thousand — to obtain provisions for the people, so that they may act, when they go to Geba of Benjamin, in accordance with the disgusting act that was committed in Israel." 11 Then all the people of Israel gathered together at the city, as one man, as comrades.

Israel's demand

12 The tribes of Israel then sent men through all the clans of Benjamin, saying, "What is this outrage that occurred among you? 13 Now turn over the lawless men who are in Gibeah, and we will put them to death and eliminate the evil from Israel."

Benjamin's refusal

But the children of Benjamin refused to heed the voice of their brothers, the Children of Israel. 14 The children of Benjamin were gathered together from the cities to Gibeah, to go out to war with the Children of Israel. 15 The children of Benjamin from the cities were numbered that day at twenty-six thousand sword-wielding men, besides the inhabitants of Gibeah, who were numbered at seven hundred choice men. 16 Among all these people there were seven hundred consulting Benjamin, and Benjamin should not have turned a blind eye to the atrocity (Ramban).

20:16. Lit., "impaired in their right hands."

20:18. The people erred. They should have asked, "Should we go to war?" to which the answer would have been that they should seek an accommodation with Benjamin. Instead, they made their own decision to fight; their only question was who should lead them. They paid a heavy price for their pride (Ramban).

20:23. This time they asked God for permission to fight; but they lost again because they arrogantly trusted in their own superior numbers. The Benjamites, on the choice left-handed men, all of whom could sling a stone at a hair and not miss.*

17 Besides Benjamin, the men of Israel were numbered at four hundred thousand sword-wielding men, all these were warriors.

Divine guidance sought

18 *They got up and went to Beth-el and inquired of God. The Children of Israel said, "Who among us should advance first to [wage] war against the children of Benjamin?"

HASHEM answered, "Judah should be first."

First encounter: Benjamin victorious

19 The Children of Israel rose up in the morning and encamped against Gibeah. 20 The men of Israel went out to war against Benjamin, and the men of Israel arrayed themselves for war against Gibeah. 21 The children of Benjamin came out of Gibeah and on that day they destroyed twenty-two thousand men of Israel to the ground. 22 The people, the men of Israel, strengthened themselves and continued to array themselves for war in the place where they had arrayed themselves on the first day. 23 The Children of Israel went up and cried before HASHEM until evening. They inquired of HASHEM, saying, "Should I once again approach for war against the children of Benjamin, my brother?"

*HASHEM said, "Go up against him."

Second encounter: Benjamin victorious

24 So the Children of Israel advanced against the children of Benjamin on the second day. 25 Benjamin went out towards them from Gibeah on the second day, and they destroyed another eighteen thousand men of the Children of Israel to the ground, sword wielders all of them.

26 All the Children of Israel and all the people went up and came to Beth-el; they cried and remained there before HASHEM, and they fasted on that day until evening; they brought up elevation-offerings and peace-offerings before HASHEM. 27 The Children of Israel then inquired of HASHEM (the Ark of the Covenant of God was there in those days, 28 and Phinehas son of Elazar son of Aaron ministered before it in those days), saying, "Should I go out again to [make] war against the children of Benjamin my brother, or should I withdraw?"

*HASHEM said, "Go up, for tomorrow I shall deliver them into your hand."

Third encounter: Israel prevails

29 Israel then set up ambushes all around Gibeah. 30 The Children of Israel went up to war against the children of Benjamin on the third day, and they arrayed themselves against Gibeah, like the other times. 31 The children of Benjamin came out towards the people; they were drawn away from the city. They began to strike down casualties from the people as in the other times, on the roads in the field, of which one led up to Beth-el and the other to Gibeah, around thirty men of Israel. 32 So the children of Benjamin said, "They are being beaten before us, as before," but the Children of Israel said, "Let us retreat and cut them off from the city, into the roads." 33 So they arose, each man of Israel from his place, and they arrayed themselves in Baal-tamar. Meanwhile the Israelite ambush was withdrawing from its place, from the Plain of Gibeah. 34 They arrived opposite Gibeah, ten thousand choice men of all Israel, and the battle was intense. [The Benjamites] did not realize that evil was befalling them.

35 HASHEM then struck Benjamin before Israel, and the Children of Israel destroyed twenty-five thousand and one hundred men from Benjamin on that day, sword wielders all of them. 36 The children of Benjamin saw that they were other hand, acted improperly in pursuing the carnage so zealously, rather than merely defending themselves.

20:28. After the second defeat, the Israelites repented and prayed sincerely, and they prevailed on the third day.

21:2. Beth-el here refers to Shiloh, the site of the Tabernacle (see 20:26). Although the national Altar was there, the Jews built another altar to express their sense of the tragedy and to pray for God's help (Radak; Ralbag).

21:8. The people felt sure that one cause of the catastrophe that took the lives of so many of their number was that some segments of the nation had flouted the national oath that all communities must gather to deal with the atrocity in Gibeah (v. 5). Then, they used that defection as a means to rebuild the tribe of Benjamin (Malbim).

being beaten, and the men of Israel made way for Benjamin [to retreat], for they were relying on the ambush they had laid against Gibeah. 37 The ambushers hastened and spread out against Gibeah; the ambushers sounded [the shofar] and struck down the entire city by the edge of the sword.

Details of the battle

38 The signal between the men of Israel and the ambushers was that they would send up a thick column of smoke from the city. 39 The men of Israel had retreated in the battle, and Benjamin had begun to strike down casualties among the men of Israel, about thirty men, for they said [to themselves], "They are certainly being beaten before us, as in the first battle." 40 But as the column began to rise from the city, a pillar of smoke, [the army of] Benjamin looked behind itself and behold — the city in its entirety was going up to the sky! 41 Then the men of Israel turned around, and the men of Benjamin became terrified, because they realized that the evil had befallen them. 42 They turned before the men of Israel, [to flee] towards the desert, but [the army of] the battle[field] overtook them; and [the ambushers] of the cities destroyed them within it. 43 They surrounded [the army of] Benjamin and pursued it; they trampled it [where it sought] rest, until opposite Gibeah toward the east.

Benjamin in flight

44 Eighteen thousand men of Benjamin fell, all of them men of valor. 45 [Others] turned and fled to the desert, to the Rock of Rimmon. [The Children of Israel killed] the stragglers on the roads, five thousand men, and they overtook them until Gidom, where they struck down of them two thousand men. 46 All those who fell from Benjamin on that day were twenty-five thousand sword-wielding men, all of them men of valor.

47 Six hundred men turned and fled to the desert, to the Rock of Rimmon, and they stayed at the Rock of Rimmon for four months. 48 The men of Israel went back to the children of Benjamin and struck them down by the edge of the sword, from the populated cities to animals to everything else that was found. Also all the cities that they discovered, they set on fire.

The oath at Mizpah

1 The men of Israel had taken an oath at Mizpah, saying, "None of us will give his daughter as a wife to Benjamin." 2 The people came to Beth-el and remained there until evening before God. They raised their voices and wept in a loud lament.* 3 They said, "Why, O HASHEM, God of Israel, has this happened in Israel, that one tribe of Israel should be missing in Israel today?" 4 It happened on the following day that the people arose early and built an altar there, and they offered elevation-offerings and peace-offerings.

Remorse over Benjamin's fate

5 The Children of Israel then said, "From among all the tribes of Israel, who did not come up to the assembly to HASHEM?" For there had been a great oath against anyone who would not come up to HASHEM, to Mizpah, saying, "He shall surely be put to death." 6 For the Children of Israel had relented towards their brother Benjamin, and they said, "Today one tribe will be eliminated from Israel! 7 What can we do [to provide] wives for the survivors? For we have sworn by HASHEM not to give them our daughters for wives!" 8 *So they said, "Who is there of the tribes of Israel who did not come up to HASHEM at Mizpah?" And behold, no one had come to the camp, to the assembly, from Jabesh-gilead. 9 The people took an account and behold, there was no man there from the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead.

21:12. Jabesh-gilead was across the Jordan.
21:14. There were six hundred Benjamite men and only four hundred girls.
21:22. You are not guilty of violating the oath not to "give" your daughters to the Benjamites, because the brides were "taken," without your permission.

Jabesh-Gilead's recompense

10 The congregation sent twelve thousand men of valor there, and they commanded them, saying, "Go and strike down the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead by the edge of the sword, including women and children. 11 This is the thing that you shall do: Destroy all males, and all females who have had relations with males." 12 They found among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead four hundred virgin girls who had never had relations with a man, and they brought them to the camp at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan. *

Peace overtures

13 The entire congregation sent [messengers] and spoke to the children of Benjamin who were at the Rock of Rimmon, and they called to them in peace. 14 So Benjamin returned at that time. They gave them the women whom they had spared of the women of Jabesh-gilead; but they were not sufficient for them. *

15 The people had relented toward Benjamin, for HASHEM had made a breach in the tribes of Israel. 16 The elders of the congregation said, "What can we do [to provide] wives for the survivors? For the women of Benjamin have been destroyed." 17 They said, "The inheritance of the remnant of Benjamin [must survive], and let a tribe not be eliminated from Israel! 18 But we cannot give them wives from our daughters, for the Children of Israel have sworn, saying, 'Cursed be whoever gives a woman to Benjamin.' "

Brides from Shiloh

19 They said, "Behold, there is a yearly holiday unto HASHEM at Shiloh, which is north of Beth-el, east of the road going up from Beth-el to Shechem, and south of Lebonah." 20 So they directed the sons of Benjamin, saying, "Go and lie in wait in the vineyards. 21 And see; and behold, if the daughters of Shiloh go out to perform the dances, you shall emerge from the vineyards, and each of you grab his wife from the daughters of Shiloh, and go to the land of Benjamin. 22 It shall be that if their fathers or brothers come to protest to us, we will say to them, 'Be compassionate toward [the Benjamites], for we did not capture a wife for each man in the war [with Jabesh-gilead], and because you did not give the [wives] to them, so that you should incur guilt now.' " *

23 The children of Benjamin did so. They took wives according to their number from the dancers whom they abducted, and they went and returned to their heritage; they rebuilt the cities and settled in them.

24 At that time the Children of Israel went off from there, everyone to his tribe and his family; they left there, each man to his own heritage.

25 In those days there was no king in Israel; a man would do whatever seemed proper in his eyes.

שמואל Samuel

The Book of Samuel begins with the longing of a barren woman, who became one of history's models of prayer. In response to Hannah's entreaty from the heart, God made her the mother of Samuel, the greatest of all the judges, and a prophet who was of the stature of Moses and Aaron. Samuel became the nation's leader during one of its most dismal periods to date, and he raised it back to its earlier eminence. From his home in Ramah, he traveled the length and breadth of the land, teaching, adjudicating, and inspiring.

During his tenure, the people insisted that they needed a king, and Samuel inaugurated the era of Jewish monarchy, anointing both Saul and David. Although Saul towered head and shoulders over his peers, he failed as a leader. His tragedy cost him the throne, and he was succeeded by David, who became the epitome of royal greatness.

Most of this Book is the story of David: man of faith, unselfish leader, great warrior, loyal friend, compassionate in victory, humble in defeat, and model of repentance. Only by studying his life in the light of the Talmudic and Rabbinic commentaries can one begin to imagine his stature. Even a superficial reading of the episode of Bath-sheba shows David's humility and powerful conscience. When the prophet Nathan criticized him harshly, David did not defend himself — even though, as the Talmud explains, he was technically in the right. His remorse was so great that it became the textbook for repentance.

David consolidated the twelve often competing tribes into a single nation. He defeated external enemies and left his successor with a united, secure, prosperous kingdom. To the rest of us in all generations, he bequeathed legacies of pure faith, the seeds of the Messiah, and the Book of Psalms.

The Book of Samuel marks a historic transition in Jewish history in more ways than one, because the change from judges to kings also led to a change in the role of the prophets. Since the judges had been chosen by God because of their righteousness, there was no danger that they would defy Him or falsify His message. The monarchy, however, was hereditary, and — as seen in the sad history of the Books of Kings and Chronicles — many of the kings sinned grievously and ultimately brought the nation down. The kings could not be the moral leaders of the nation, as the judges had been. That role had to be assumed by prophets. Thus, after the Book of Samuel, we find the prophets assuming a new kind of authority and prominence, as the succeeding Books will show.

Elkanah and his family

1 There was a certain man from Ramathaim-zophim, from Mount Ephraim, whose name was Elkanah, son of Jeroham, son of Elihu, son of Tohu, son of Zuph, from the land of Ephraim. * 2 He had two wives; one's name was Hannah and the second's name was Peninnah. Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children. 3 This man would ascend from his city from year to year to prostrate himself and to bring offerings to HASHEM, Master of Legions, in Shiloh, where the two sons of Eli — Hophni and Phinehas — were Kohanim to HASHEM.

Hannah's suffering

4 It happened on the day that Elkanah brought offerings that he gave portions to Peninnah, his wife, and to all her sons and daughters. 5 But to Hannah he gave a double portion, for he loved Hannah and HASHEM had closed her womb. 6 Her rival [Peninnah] provoked her again and again in order to irritate her, for HASHEM had closed her womb. * 7 This is what he would do year after year, and whenever [Peninnah] would go up to the house of HASHEM, she would provoke her; she would cry and not eat. 8 Elkanah, her husband, said to her, "Hannah, why do you cry and why do you not eat? Why is your heart broken? Am I not better to you than ten children?"

(See Appendix A, timeline 3)

Hannah's prayer

9 Hannah arose after eating in Shiloh and after drinking; and Eli the Kohen was sitting on the chair, near the doorpost of the Sanctuary of HASHEM. 10 She was feeling bitter, and she prayed to HASHEM, weeping continuously. 11 She made a vow and said, "HASHEM, Master of Legions, if You take note of the suffering of Your maidservant, and You remember me, and do not forget Your maidservant, and give Your maidservant male offspring, then I shall give him to HASHEM all the days of his life, and a razor shall not come upon his head."*

Eli's misjudgment and blessing

12 It happened as she continued to pray before HASHEM that Eli observed her mouth. 13 Hannah was speaking to her heart — only her lips moved, but her voice was not heard — so Eli thought she was drunk. 14 Eli said to her, "How long will you be drunk? Remove your wine from yourself!" 15 Hannah answered and said, "No, my lord, I am a woman of aggrieved spirit. I have drunk neither wine nor strong drink, and I have poured out my soul before HASHEM. 16 Do not deem your maidservant to be a base woman — for it is out of much grievance and anger that I have spoken until now." 17 Eli then answered and said, "Go in peace. The God of Israel will grant the request you have made of Him." 18 She said, "May your maidservant find favor in your eyes."* Then the woman went on her way and she ate, and no longer had the same look on her face.

Samuel's birth

19 They arose early in the morning and prostrated themselves before HASHEM; then they returned and came to their home, to Ramah. Elkanah knew Hannah his wife and HASHEM remembered her. 20 And it happened with the passage of the period of days that Hannah had conceived, and she gave birth to a son. She named him Samuel, for [she said,] "I requested him from HASHEM."*

21 The man Elkanah ascended with his entire household to bring to HASHEM the annual offering and his vow. * 22 But Hannah did not ascend, as she told her husband, "When the child is weaned, then I will bring him, and he shall appear before HASHEM and shall settle there forever." 23 Elkanah her husband said to her, "Do what is good in your eyes; remain until you wean him — but may HASHEM fulfill His word."* So the woman remained and nursed her son until she weaned him.

birth (Radak).

1:23. Hannah had been told prophetically that Samuel would be the leader of Israel. Elkanah now prayed that the promise be fulfilled (Malbim).

1:28. Either Elkanah or Samuel prostrated himself in assent to Hannah's decision.

2:1-10. Hannah's lyrical expression of gratitude is regarded by the Sages as one of history's great prophetic songs. Its theme is the acknowledgment that triumph and defeat, wealth and poverty, grandeur and degradation are not permanent conditions. God apportions them according to what people deserve or need; therefore, good deeds and prayer can cause changes in the human condition.

2:5. Hannah alluded to Peninah's arrogant taunts (1:6). The end was that Hannah would bear many children, while most of Peninah's would die.

2:10. Her prayer was prophetic: May God crush Samuel's Philistine enemies, and bless Saul and David, the two kings he would anoint.

2:11. Samuel served Eli, yet the verse states that he "served HASHEM"; this teaches that serving righteous scholars is tantamount to serving God Himself (Rashi).

212:16. These lawless priests intimidated the people into giving them larger portions than those apportioned to them by the Torah.

Samuel's dedication as a servant of God

24 She brought him up with her when she weaned him, with three bulls, one ephah of flour, and a flask of wine; she brought him to the house of HASHEM in Shiloh, though the child was still tender. 25 They slaughtered the bull, and brought the child to Eli. 26 She said, "Please, my lord! By your life, my lord, I am the woman who was standing by you here praying to HASHEM. 27 This is the child that I prayed for; HASHEM granted me my request that I asked of Him. 28 Furthermore, I have dedicated him to HASHEM — all the days that he lives he is dedicated to HASHEM." He then prostrated himself to* HASHEM.

HANNAH'S SONG OF PRAYER 2:1-10

1 *Then Hannah prayed and said:

My heart exults in HASHEM, my pride has been raised through HASHEM;
my mouth is opened wide against my antagonists, for I rejoice in Your salvation.
2 There is none as holy as HASHEM, for there is none besides You, and there is no Rock like our God.
3 Do not abound in speaking with arrogance upon arrogance, let not haughtiness come from your mouth;
for HASHEM is the God of thoughts, and [men's] deeds are accounted by Him.

Man's shifting fortunes

4 The bow of the mighty is broken, while the foundering are girded with strength.
5 The sated ones are hired out for bread, while the hungry ones cease to be so;
while the barren woman bears seven,
*the one with many children becomes bereft.
6 HASHEM brings death and gives life, He lowers to the grave and raises up.
7 HASHEM impoverishes and makes rich, He humbles and He elevates.
8 He raises the needy from the dirt, from the trash heaps He lifts the destitute, to seat [them] with nobles and to endow them with a seat of honor — for HASHEM*'s are the pillars of the earth, and upon them He set the world.*
9 He guards the steps of his devout ones, but the wicked are stilled in darkness; for not through strength does man prevail.

A prayer for Samuel

10 HASHEM — may those that contend with him be shattered, let the heavens thunder against them.
May HASHEM judge to the ends of the earth;
*may He give power to his king and raise the pride of his anointed one.

SAMUEL'S YOUTH 2:11-3:21

11 Elkanah then went to Ramah, to his house, while the boy served HASHEM *before Eli the Kohen. 12 The sons of Eli were lawless men; they did not recognize HASHEM.

Shortcomings of Eli's sons

13 This was the practice of the Kohanim with the people: When any person would slaughter a sacrifice the Kohen's attendant would come while the meat was cooking, with a three-pronged fork in his hand. 14 He would thrust it into the pot or the cauldron or the pan or the kettle, and everything the fork would bring up the Kohen would take with it. This is what they would do with all the Israelites who would come there, to Shiloh. 15 Even before they would burn the fat [upon the Altar] the Kohen's attendant would come and say to the man who was bringing the offering, "Give some meat for roasting for the Kohen; he will not take cooked meat from you, but only raw [meat]." 16 *The man would say, "Let them first burn the fat [upon the altar] and then take for yourself whatever your soul desires." But [the attendant] would say, "No; give it now, or else I will take it by force."

2:20. Elkanah had asked Eli to bless him with more children from his wife Hannah.

2:22. According to the Midrash this phrase has a figurative meaning: They callously delayed bringing the women's bird-offerings (see Leviticus 12:8 and 15:29), so that the women could not return home to their husbands, but had to remain in Shiloh overnight. Scripture considers this breach of modesty as a form of adultery.

17 The sin of the attendants was very great before HASHEM, for the men had disgraced HASHEM*'s offering.*

18 Samuel was serving before HASHEM — a lad girded with a linen robe. 19 His mother would make him a small robe and bring it up to him from year to year,

Eli blesses Hannah

when she came up with her husband to slaughter the annual offering. 20 Then Eli would bless Elkanah and his wife and say, "May HASHEM grant you offspring from this woman," because of the request that he had made of HASHEM,* and they would return to [Elkanah's] place. 21 For HASHEM had remembered Hannah, and she conceived and gave birth to three sons and two daughters. And the boy Samuel grew up with HASHEM.

Eli's sons disobey him

22 Eli became very old. He heard about all that his sons were doing to all of Israel, and that they would lie with the women * who congregated at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, 23 so he said to them, "Why do you do such things? For I hear of your evil deeds from all these people. 24 No, my sons! — for the report that I hear HASHEM*'s people passing on is not good.* 25 If man sins against man, a judge tries him; but if he sins against HASHEM, who can speak in his defense?" But they would not listen to their father's voice, for HASHEM *desired to kill them. 26 But the boy Samuel kept growing and improving, both with HASHEM and with people.

Prophetic judgment against Eli

27 A man of God came to Eli and said to him: Thus said HASHEM, "Did I not appear to your ancestor's family when they were in Egypt [enslaved] to the house of Pharaoh, 28 and choose him from among all the tribes of Israel to be a Kohen to Me, to ascend My altar, to burn incense, to wear an Ephod * before me; and [didn't] I give your ancestor's family all the fire-offerings of the Children of Israel? 29 Why do you scorn My sacrifice and My meal-offering which I have commanded [to be brought in My] dwelling place, and you honor your sons more than Me, * to fatten yourselves from the choicest parts of all the offerings of Israel, before My people?" 30 Therefore, [this is] the word of HASHEM, God of Israel: "I had indeed said that your family and your father's family would walk before Me forever — but now," — the word of HASHEM — "far be it from Me [to do so]; for I honor those who honor Me, and those that scorn Me will be accursed. 31 Behold, days are coming when I shall cut off your arm and the arm of your father's family, from there being any old person in your family. 32 And you will see a rival [Kohen in My] dwelling place throughout all the good [times] that He will bring upon Israel, but there will be no old people in your family for all time. 33 But I will not [completely] cut off any of your men from upon My altar, to make your eyes pine and your soul sad; and all those raised in your house will die as [young] men. 34 This [will be] the sign for you: that which will befall your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas — they will both die on the same day. 35 And I will appoint for Myself a faithful Kohen, who will do as is in My heart and in My desire, and I will build for him a faithful house, and he will walk before My anointed one all the days. 36 And it shall be that anyone left over of your family will come to bow down to him for a small coin or a loaf of bread, and will say, 'Please attach me to one of the priestly divisions to eat a morsel of bread.' "

3 (See Appendix A, timeline 3)

1 The lad Samuel was serving HASHEM before Eli. The word of HASHEM *was scarce in those days; vision was not widespread. 2 It happened one day

2:25. Since they deserved to die, God influenced them to be stubborn and not repent.

2:28. One of Aaron's priestly garments. See Exodus 28:4.

2:29. Eli shared his sons' guilt because he did not chastise them sufficiently.

3:1. Since prophecy was not common then, Samuel did not realize that the voice he heard (vv. 5-8) was that of God.

3:13. This is a euphemism; the intent of the verse is "his sons were blaspheming Me," i.e., God.

3:17. "May unspoken punishments befall you if you do not tell me." According to the Midrash, "If you do not tell me, may whatever was said about me happen to you."

3:18. With these words, Eli accepted God's judgment.

3:19. God did not reject anything Samuel said; rather, He caused it all to come true.

Samuel's call to prophecy that Eli was lying in his place; his eyes had begun to become dim, he could not see. 3 The lamp of HASHEM had not yet gone out, and Samuel was lying in the Temple of HASHEM where the Ark of God was.

Samuel's bewilderment

4 HASHEM called to Samuel, and he said, "Here I am." 5 He ran to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me." But he said, "I did not call; go back and lie down," so he went and lay down. 6 HASHEM continued to call again, "Samuel!" so Samuel arose and went to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me." But he said, "I did not call, my son; go back and lie down." 7 Samuel had not yet known HASHEM, and the word of HASHEM had not yet been revealed to him. 8 HASHEM continued to call, "Samuel!" a third time, and he arose and went to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me." Then Eli realized that HASHEM was calling the lad.

9 Eli said to Samuel, "Go and lie down; and if He calls you, you should say, 'Speak, HASHEM, for Your servant is listening.' " Samuel went and lay down in his place. 10 HASHEM came and appeared, and called as the other times, "Samuel, Samuel!" and Samuel said, "Speak, for Your servant is listening."

The downfall of the house of Eli

11 HASHEM said to Samuel, "Behold, I am going to do [such] a thing in Israel that when anyone hears about it, both of his ears will ring. 12 On that day, I will fulfill for Eli all that I have spoken concerning his house, beginning to destroy. 13 I have told him that I am executing judgment against his house forever for the sin [he committed] that he was aware that his sons were blaspheming themselves and he did not censure them.* 14 Therefore I have sworn concerning the house of Eli that the sin of the house of Eli would never be atoned for by sacrifice or meal-offering."

Eli accepts the bitter decree

15 Samuel lay until the morning, when he opened the doors of the House of HASHEM; and Samuel was fearful of relating the vision to Eli. 16 Eli called Samuel and said, "Samuel, my son!" and he said, "Here I am." 17 He said, "What is the word that He spoke to you? Please do not withhold from me! Such shall God do to you and such shall He do further, if you withhold from me anything from the word that He spoke to you!"* 18 *Samuel told him all the words and did not withhold from him. [Eli] said, "He is HASHEM; He will do what is good in His eyes."

19 *Samuel grew up, and HASHEM was with him; He did not cast any of his words to the ground. 20 All of Israel, from Dan to Beer-sheba, knew that Samuel was faithful as a prophet to HASHEM.

THE ARK'S CAPTURE 4:1-5:12

1 The word of Samuel befell all of Israel.*

Israel went out to war against the Philistines. They encamped at Eben-ezer, while the Philistines encamped at Aphek. 2 The Philistines arrayed themselves opposite Israel and the battle spread. Israel was smitten before the Philistines; they slew about four thousand men in the battlefield.

The Philistines defeat Israel

3 The people came to the camp, and the elders of Israel said, "Why did HASHEM smite us today before the Philistines? Let us take with us from Shiloh the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM that He may come in our midst and save us from the hands of our enemies!"

4:1. The fearsome prophecy of 3:11-14.

4:16. Knowing how shocking the story would be to Eli, the man revealed it gradually.

4:21. The Hebrew term אִי כָבוד means there is no glory.

The Ark is brought to the front

4 So the people sent to Shiloh and carried from there the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM, Master of Legions, Who dwells atop the Cherubim, and the two sons of Eli — Hophni and Phinehas — were there along with the Ark of the Covenant of God. 5 When the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM arrived at the camp, all of Israel sounded a great shofar blast and the ground shook.

The Philistines are frightened

6 The Philistines heard the sound of the blast and they said, "What is the sound of this great blast in the camp of the Hebrews?" And they became aware that the Ark of HASHEM had come to the camp. 7 The Philistines were afraid, as they said, "God has come to the camp!" And they said, "Woe to us, for such a thing had not happened yesterday or the day before! 8 Woe to us! Who will save us from the hand of this mighty God? This is the God Who struck the Egyptians with all kinds of plagues in the wilderness! 9 Be strong; be men, O Philistines, lest you become enslaved to the Hebrews as they have been enslaved to you! Be men and fight!"

Israel is defeated and the Ark is captured

10 So the Philistines fought. Israel was smitten and they ran, every man to his tents. The blow was very great: Thirty thousand foot soldiers fell from Israel; 11 the Ark of God was taken; and the two sons of Eli — Hophni and Phinehas — died.

12 A Benjamite man ran from the battlefront and came to Shiloh that day, his clothing ripped and dirt upon his head. 13 When he came Eli was seated in a chair next to the road, looking out, for his heart was fearful about the Ark of God. The man arrived to inform the city, and the entire city cried out. 14 Eli heard the sound of the outcry and said, "What is the commotion of this multitude?" And the man hastened — he came and told Eli. 15 Now Eli was ninety-eight years old; his eyes had become motionless and he could not see.

Eli hears the tragic news and dies

16 The man said to Eli, "I am the one who came from the battlefront. And I ran from the battlefront today." [Eli] said, "What is the report, my son?"* 17 The bearer of the tidings answered him saying, "Israel ran from before the Philistines; and there was a great blow among the people; also, your two sons — Hophni and Phinehas — died; and the Ark of God was taken!" 18 As soon as he mentioned the Ark of God, [Eli] fell backwards off his chair, opposite the site of the city gate, breaking his neck, and he died, for the man was old and heavy. He had judged Israel for forty years.

The wife of Phinehas gives birth

19 His daughter-in-law, the wife of Phinehas, was soon to give birth, and when she hear the news about the capture of the Ark of God and [that] her father-in-law died, and her husband, she crouched down and gave birth, for her labor pains came upon her. 20 As she was about to die, those standing around her spoke to her, "Fear not, for you have borne a son!" But she did not answer, and she did not take it to her heart. 21 She called the boy Ichabod saying, "Glory has been exiled from Israel," because of the capture of the Ark of God and because of [the deaths of] her father-in-law and her husband.* 22 *And she said, "Glory has been exiled from Israel, for the Ark of God has been captured."

The Ark wreaks havoc in Ashdod

1 The Philistines had taken the Ark of God and brought it from Eben-ezer to Ashdod. 2 *The Philistines took the Ark of God and brought it to the House of Dagon, placing it next to Dagon. 3 The Ashdodites arose early the next day and behold, Dagon had fallen upon its face to the ground, before the Ark of HASHEM.

4:22. Despite their personal grief, both she and Eli (v. 18) were most affected by the capture of the Ark.

5:2. A Philistine idol with the body of a fish (דָּג) and the head and hands of a human.

5:4. The head and hand were severed; but the fish part — Dagon — was still intact.

6:1. The foregoing series of transfers and tribulations convinced the Philistines that the Ark must be returned. They consulted on how to do so in a way that would show their remorse, and thus assuage God's anger.

6:4. Because when the people would relieve themselves, mice would attack the bleeding hemorrhoids (Radak).

So they took Dagon and returned it to its place. 4 They arose early the next morning and [again] Dagon had fallen upon its face to the ground before the Ark of HASHEM, *and Dagon's head and the two palms of its hands were severed, [lying] upon the threshold; only Dagon's body remained intact. 5 (This is why the priests of Dagon and all those who come to the House of Dagon do not tread upon the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod to this day.)

6 The hand of HASHEM then became heavy against the Ashdodites, and He devastated them; He struck them — Ashdod and its surrounding areas — with hemorrhoids.

7 The men of Ashdod were frightened because of this, and they said, "Let the Ark of the God of Israel not stay with us, for its hand has been hard against us and against Dagon, our god." 8 They summoned and gathered all the governors of the Philistines to them, and they said, "What shall we do about the Ark of the God of Israel?" They replied, "Let the Ark of the God of Israel be transferred to Gath." So they transferred the Ark of the God of Israel.

Gath is inflicted

9 It was after they transferred it that the hand of HASHEM was [set] against the city [causing] a great commotion; He struck the people of the city, from small to great, and He afflicted them internally with hemorrhoids. 10 They then sent the Ark of HASHEM to Ekron. It happened when the Ark of God arrived in Ekron that the people of Ekron cried out saying, "They have transferred to me the Ark of the God of Israel, to kill me and my people!"

Ekron is punished in turn

11 So they summoned and gathered all the governors of the Philistines and said [to them], "Send away the Ark of the God of Israel. Let it return to its place and not kill me and my people!" For there was a panic of death in the whole city; the hand of God was very heavy there. 12 The people who did not die were stricken with hemorrhoids, and the cry of the city ascended to heaven.

6 1 The Ark of HASHEM *had been in the land of the Philistines for seven months.

THE ARK'S RETURN 6:1-7:1

2 The Philistines called upon the priests and the sorcerers, saying, "What shall we do about the Ark of HASHEM? Inform us how we should send it [back] to its place!"

The Philistines plan for the Ark's return

3 They replied, "If [you] are sending [back] the Ark of the God of Israel, you must not send it [back] empty-handed, but you must certainly send back a guilt-offering to Him. Then you will be healed, and you will realize why His hand would not turn away from against you."

A guilt-offering to accompany the Ark

4 So they said, "What is the guilt-offering that we should send back to Him?" They answered, "According to the number of Philistine governors — five golden [images of] hemorrhoids and five golden mice; for the same plague is upon all [of you] and upon your governors.* 5 Make your images of hemorrhoids and your images of mice, which are demolishing the country, and give them as homage to the God of Israel; perhaps He will alleviate His hand from upon you and your gods and your land. 6 Why should you harden your hearts as Egypt and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? Did it not happen that when He mocked them they had to send [the Israelites] forth, and they left?* 7 *So now, take [materials] and make one new wagon, and [take] two nursing cows upon whom a yoke was never placed, and tie the cows to the wagon, and send their calves back home from behind them. 8 Then take the Ark of HASHEM and place it onto the wagon,

6:6. See Exodus 7-10.

6:7. If the nursing cows would ignore their calves and follow the Ark, it would prove that God wanted the Ark brought back.

6:9. See Joshua 15:10.

6:18. This was the rock mentioned in verse 14. It was named "Mourning" after the event of the next verse.

6:19. Seventy elders and 50,000 of the common people (Targum). Or seventy men, each as worthy as 50,000; or 50,000, each worthy of being one of the seventy elders (Rashi).

6:21. See Joshua 15:9.

Proof that the Ark's return is God's will and put the golden objects that you are sending back to Him as a guilt-offering in a box at its side. Send it forth and it will go. 9 Then you will see: If it ascends by the road to its boundary, towards Beth-shemesh, then it was He Who brought upon us all this great evil; but if not, we will know that His hand did not afflict us, but it was all by chance that this befell us."*

10 The men did so — they took two nursing cows and tied them to the wagon, and secured their calves at home. 11 They placed the Ark of HASHEM onto the wagon, along with the box and the golden mice and their images of hemorrhoids. 12 The cows set out on the direct road — on the road to Beth-shemesh — on a single road did they go, lowing as they went, and they did not veer right or left. The governors of the Philistines went behind them until the border of Beth-shemesh.

The Ark arrives at Beth-shemesh

13 [The people of] Beth-shemesh were reaping the wheat harvest in the valley, when they raised their eyes and saw the Ark, and they rejoiced to see [it]. 14 The wagon came to the field of Joshua, a Beth-shemeshite, and stopped there, where there was a large rock. They chopped the boards of the wagon, and offered up the cows as an elevation-offering to HASHEM.

15 The Levites had unloaded the Ark of HASHEM and the box that was with it, in which were the golden objects, and placed them upon the large rock. The people of Beth-shemesh offered up elevation-offerings and slaughtered feast-offerings on that day to HASHEM. 16 The five Philistine governors saw all this and returned to Ekron on that day.

17 These are the golden hemorrhoids that the Philistines sent as a guilt-offering to HASHEM: for Ashdod one; for Gaza one; for Ashkelon one; for Gath one; for Ekron one; 18 and golden mice corresponding to the number of all Philistine cities of the five governors, [who ruled] from fortified city until the open village, until the Great Mourning [Stone], upon which they placed the Ark of* HASHEM, which to this day is in the field of Joshua the Beth-shemeshite.

The people are disrespectful

19 And He smote some of the men of Beth-shemesh because they peered [disrespectfully] into the Ark of HASHEM. He struck among them seventy men, fifty thousand men. The people mourned because* HASHEM had smitten the people with a great blow. 20 And the people of Beth-shemesh said, "Who can [possibly] stand before HASHEM, this Holy God? To whom among us can [the Ark] ascend?" 21 They then sent emissaries to the inhabitants of Kiriath-jearim, saying, "The Philistines have returned the Ark of* HASHEM. Come down and bring it up unto yourselves."

The Ark is transferred to Kiriath-jearim

1 So the men of Kiriath-jearim came and brought up the Ark of HASHEM, and they brought it to the house of Abinadab on the hill, and they designated Elazar his son to guard the Ark of HASHEM.*

SAMUEL THE JUDGE 7:2-8:3

2 From the time the Ark was stationed at Kiriath-jearim there ensued many days, they were twenty years, during which the entire House of Israel was drawn after HASHEM. 3 Samuel said to the entire House of Israel, saying, "If you are returning unto HASHEM with all your hearts, then remove the foreign gods and the Ashtaroth from your midst, and direct your hearts to HASHEM, serving Him alone; then He will rescue you from the hand of the Philistines." 4 So the Children of Israel removed the Baalim and the Ashtaroth, and served

7:1. Others were afraid to harbor the Ark, but to the people of Kiriath-jearim the honor of being host to the Tablets of the Law — the Torah of Israel — drove away all apprehension, and they harbored the Ark for twenty years.

7:6. In a symbolic gesture of pouring out their hearts in submission to God.

Samuel adjudicated disputes (Rashi), because God does not help those who mistreat others. Alternatively, Samuel punished sinners according to their misdeeds (Radak).

HASHEM alone.

The people repent

5 Then Samuel said, "Gather all of Israel to Mizpah, and I will pray to HASHEM for you." 6 So they gathered at Mizpah. They drew water and poured it out before HASHEM* and fasted on that day; they said there, "We have sinned to HASHEM!" And Samuel judged the Children of Israel at Mizpah. *

7 The Philistines heard that the Children of Israel had gathered together at Mizpah, and the governors of the Philistines came up against Israel. The Children of Israel heard and were afraid of the Philistines. 8 The Children of Israel said to Samuel, "Do not be silent from crying out on our behalf to HASHEM, our God, that He save us from the hands of the Philistines."

Salvation from the Philistines

9 Samuel took a suckling lamb and offered it up entirely as an elevation-offering to HASHEM; Samuel cried out to HASHEM on behalf of Israel and HASHEM answered him. 10 Samuel was offering up the elevation-offering when the Philistines approached for the battle with Israel. HASHEM then thundered with a great noise on that day against the Philistines and confounded them, so that they were defeated by Israel. 11 The men of Israel went out of Mizpah and pursued the Philistines, striking them down until beneath Beth-car. 12 Samuel then took one rock and placed it between Mizpah and the cliff and called it Eben-ezer (the Rock of Help), saying, "HASHEM helped us until here."

Israel's cities are liberated

13 The Philistines were humbled and no longer continued to enter the borders of Israel; and the hand of HASHEM was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel. 14 The cities that the Philistines had taken from Israel reverted to Israel from Ekron to Gath; and Israel rescued their surrounding areas from the hand of the Philistines. Furthermore, there was peace between Israel and the Amorite.

15 Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life. 16 He would travel year after year, circling to Beth-el, Gilgal, and Mizpah, and judging Israel in all these places. 17 Then he would return to Ramah, for his home was there, and there he would judge Israel. And there he built an altar to HASHEM.

Samuel's route

Samuel's sons prove disappointing

1 When Samuel became old, he appointed his sons judges over Israel. 2 The name of his firstborn son was Joel and the name of his second was Abijah; they were judges in Beer-sheba. 3 But his sons did not follow his ways. They were swayed by profit; they took bribes and they perverted justice. *

EVENTS LEADING TO THE MONARCHY 8:4-8:22

4 All the elders of Israel then gathered together and came to Samuel, to Ramah. 5 They said to him, "Behold! You are old, and your sons did not follow your ways. So now appoint for us a king to judge us, like all the nations."

6 It was wrong in Samuel's eyes that they said, "Give us a king to judge us," * and Samuel prayed to HASHEM.

Rejecting God by demanding a king

7 HASHEM said to Samuel, "Listen to the voice of the people in all that they say to you, for it is not you whom they have rejected, but it is Me whom they have rejected from reigning over them. 8 Like all their deeds that they have done from the day I brought them up from Egypt until this day — they forsook Me and worshiped the gods of others. So are they doing to you, as well. 9 And now, heed their voice, but be sure to warn them and tell them about the protocol of the king who

8:3. The Sages explain that these charges are figurative. Instead of traveling to all Jewish communities as Samuel had done, his sons remained in Ramah, so that their officials and scribes could earn fees from litigants. When great people make important decisions based on such financial considerations, it is tantamount to bribery.

8:6. For they wanted to be "like all the nations" (Rashi).

8:18. Some Sages understand that a king is entitled to do all of the above. Others maintain that Samuel meant to frighten the people by citing possible abuses of power.

8:20. Typically, those swept up by enthusiasm choose to see only advantages and close their eyes to danger.

9:2. That is, he was of attractive appearance (Targum).

9:7. Unfamiliar with Samuel, Saul and his servant thought he would not help them unless they brought him a gift.

9:9. The Hebrew word for prophet, נָבִיא, literally means "speaker." A prophet conveys the word of God; a seer will reign over them."

10 Samuel told all the words of HASHEM to the people who had requested a king of him. 11 He said, "This is the protocol of the king who will reign over you: He will Royal prerogatives take away your sons and place them in his chariots and cavalry, and they will run before his chariot; 12 he will appoint for himself captains of thousands and captains of fifty, to plow his furrow and to reap his harvest, and to produce his implements of battle and the furnishings of his chariot. 13 He will take your daughters to be perfumers, cooks, and bakers. 14 He will confiscate your best fields, vineyards, and olive trees, and present them to his servants. 15 He will take a tenth of your grain and vines, and present them to his officers and servants. 16 He will take your servants and maidservants and your best young men and your donkeys and press them into his service. 17 He will take a tenth of your sheep, and you will be his slaves. 18 On that day you will cry out because of your king whom *you have chosen for yourselves — but HASHEM will not answer you on that day."

19 But the people refused to listen to the voice of Samuel. They said, "No! There shall be a king over us, 20 and we will be like all the other nations; our king will *judge us, and go forth before us, and fight our wars!" 21 Samuel heard all the words of the people and repeated them to HASHEM.

God concurs 22 HASHEM told Samuel, "Listen to their voice, and crown a king for them."
Samuel told the men of Israel, "Go, each man to his city."

APPOINTMENT, ANOINTMENT AND ACCEPTANCE OF SAUL 9:1-10:27

1 There was a man of Benjamin whose name was Kish son of Abiel, son of Zeror, son of Becorath, son of Aphiah, son of a distinguished Benjamite — a mighty man of valor. 2 He had a son named Saul who was exceptional and goodly; * no one in Israel was handsomer than he. From his shoulders up, he was taller than any of the people.

3 [One day] the donkeys of Kish, Saul's father, were lost, and Kish said to Saul his son, "Please take one of the attendants with you, arise and go; search for the donkeys."

Saul seeks the lost donkeys 4 He passed through Mount Ephraim and he passed through the land of Shalishah, but they did not find [them]; they passed through the land of Shaalim, but they were not there; and he passed through the land of the Benjamite but they did not find them. 5 They came to the land of Zuph and Saul said to his attendant who was with him, "Come, let us return, lest my father stop thinking about the donkeys and worry about us!" 6 But [the attendant] said to him, "Behold now, there is a man of God in this city, and the man is esteemed; everything he says is certain to occur. Let us go there now; perhaps he will tell us [which is] our road upon which we should travel."

A tribute for the "seer" 7 Saul replied to his attendant, "Behold, if we go, what shall we bring to the man, for the bread is gone from our vessels and we have no gift to bring to the man of *God. What do we have with us?" 8 The servant spoke up once more to Saul, and said, "Behold! I have a quarter of a silver shekel with me. I will give it to the man of God and he will tell us about our way."

9 (Formerly in Israel, this is what someone said when he went to inquire of God: "Let us go to the seer"; for "the prophet" of today was formerly called "the seer.")

9:20. Samuel hinted to him that he would be king, as if to say: Why should the master of all the nation's wealth be concerned with mere donkeys?

9:21. Saul understood Samuel's hint.

Saul receives directions

10 Saul said to his attendant, "You have spoken well; come, let us go." So they went to the city where the man of God was. 11 As they were climbing the ascent to the city they encountered some maidens going out to draw water, and they said to them, "Is this where the seer is?" 12 They answered them saying, "It is. Behold, he is just ahead of you. Hurry now, for he came to the city today, for the people are bringing a feast-offering today at the High Place. 13 As you enter the city you will find him before he ascends to the High Place to eat, for the people will not eat before he comes, since he blesses the offering; only afterwards do the invited guests eat. Now go up, for you will find him as surely as it is day." 14 So they ascended to the city. As they were entering the city, behold, Samuel was coming out towards them, to go up to the High Place.

God prepares Samuel

15 Now HASHEM had revealed in Samuel's ear, one day before Saul had come, 16 saying, "At this time tomorrow I will send a man to you from the land of Benjamin; you shall anoint him to be ruler over My people Israel, and he will save My people from the hand of the Philistines — for I have seen [the distress] of My people, since its cry has come before Me."

Samuel honors Saul

*17 When Samuel saw Saul, HASHEM spoke up to him, "This is the man of whom I said to you, 'This one will rule over My people.' " 18 Saul approached Samuel inside the [city] gate and said, "Tell me, please, which is the house of the seer?" 19 Samuel answered Saul, saying, "I am the seer! Go up before me to the High Place and you shall eat with me today. I will send you away in the morning, and I will tell you whatever is in your heart. 20 As for your donkeys which have been lost to you now for three days — do not concern yourself over them, for they have been found. Besides, to whom does all the desirable property in Israel belong, if not to you and to all your father's family?"

*21 Saul answered, saying, "But I am only a Benjamite, and am from the smallest of the tribes of Israel, and furthermore my family is the youngest of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin; why, then, have you spoken to me in this way?"

22 Samuel then took Saul and his attendant and brought them into the chamber. He gave them a place at the head of the invited guests, who were some thirty men. 23 Samuel said to the cook, "Bring the portion that I gave you, about which I told you, 'Keep it with yourself.' " 24 So the cook lifted up the thigh piece with what was attached to it, and placed it before Saul. [Samuel] then said, "This is the set-aside [portion]. Put it before yourself — eat; for it was reserved for you for the [feast] time when I told [the cook about] the people I had invited." So Saul ate with Samuel on that day.

Samuel and Saul meet in the morning

25 When they descended from the High Place to the city, he spoke with Saul on the rooftop. 26 They arose early [the next morning], and at daybreak Samuel called Saul to the roof, saying, "Arise, I will send you off." So Saul arose and the two of them — he and Samuel — went outside. 27 As they were going down at the edge of town, Samuel said to Saul, "Tell the attendant to go on ahead of us"; so he passed ahead. "You stand here now and I will let you hear the word of God."

10 1 Then Samuel took a flask of oil and poured some onto [Saul's] head, and he kissed him. He said, "Indeed, HASHEM has anointed you as ruler over His heritage. 2 When you leave me today you will encounter two men near Rachel's Tomb, at the border of Benjamin, in Zelzah. They will tell you

10:5. Kiriath-jearim, where the Ark was located at the time (see 6:21-7:2; Targum).

10:12. It should not be surprising that Saul, who did not come from a family of prophets, joined in with the band, for — "Who is their father?" — the other prophets are also of undistinguished parentage. Prophecy does not that the donkeys that you went to seek were found, and that your father has abandoned the matter of the donkeys and has begun to worry about you, saying, 'What shall I do about my son?' 3 Then you will travel beyond there and come to the Plain of Tabor, where you will be encountered by three men on their way to [worship before] God at Beth-el — one carrying three kids, one carrying three loaves of bread, and one carrying a container of wine. 4 They will greet you and give you two breads, which you should take from them. 5 After that you will arrive at the Hill of God, where the Philistine commissioners are stationed. It shall be that when you arrive at the city you will encounter a band of prophets descending from the High Place, and before them [players of] lyre, drum, flute, and harp and they will be prophesying.* 6 The spirit of HASHEM will then pass over you, and you will prophesy with them, and you will be transformed into another person. 7 After these signs come upon you, do for yourself [to prepare for kingship] as best as you can, for God is with you. 8 Then you shall go down to Gilgal ahead of me; behold! I will go down to you, to offer elevation-offerings, to slaughter peace-offerings. You shall wait for seven days until I come to you and I will inform you what you are to do."

Samuel arranges a meeting

9 As soon as [Saul] turned away to depart from Samuel, God transformed him with a new heart and all these signs came about on that day.

Saul among the prophets

10 They arrived there at the Hill and behold! a band of prophets was opposite him. The spirit of God passed over him, and he prophesied among them. 11 All those who had known him from yesterday and before then saw that behold! he was prophesying along with the prophets, and they said one to another, "What is this that has happened to the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets?" 12 A man spoke up from there and said, "And who is their father?" It thus became an aphorism: "Is Saul also among the prophets?"* 13 Then he stopped prophesying and arrived at the High Place.

Saul conceals his royal status

14 Saul's uncle said to him and his attendant, "Where did you go?" He replied, "To look for the donkeys, but when we saw that they were gone we went to Samuel." 15 Saul's uncle said, "Tell me now what Samuel said to you." 16 Saul answered his uncle, "He told us that the donkeys had been found," but he did not tell him about the matter of the kingship of which Samuel had spoken.

Samuel summons the nation

17 Samuel gathered the people to HASHEM at Mizpah. 18 He said to the Children of Israel, "Thus said HASHEM, the God of Israel: 'I brought Israel up from Egypt. I rescued you from the hand of Egypt and from the hand of all the kingdoms that oppressed you. 19 Today you have rejected your God, Who saves you from all your calamities and troubles, and you said to Him, "Only place a king over us!" Now stand before HASHEM, according to your tribes and your thousands.' "

Saul is singled out

20 *Samuel then brought all the tribes of Israel near, and the tribe of Benjamin was singled out. 21 Then he brought the tribe of Benjamin near according to its families, and the Matrite family was singled out; [eventually] Saul son of Kish was singled out. They searched for him but he was not found. 22 They then asked HASHEM further, "Has the man arrived here as yet?"

*And HASHEM replied, "He is hidden among the baggage." 23 They ran and took him from there, and he stood in the midst of the people. He was taller than run in families (Rashi); God's spirit rests upon those who deserve it.

10:20. By lottery (Rashi), or by the Urim VeTumim (see 14:3; Radak).

10:22. In his modesty, Saul did not seek the honor, so he hid from the people.

10:27. Saul, still modest, ignored the slights of his detractors. This is a virtue in an ordinary person but a king must be a strong leader and demand the allegiance of his people. Early in his reign, Saul's humility proved to be his undoing (see 15:17).

11:2. Homiletically, the Midrash comments that Judaism's "right eye" is the Torah. Nahash wanted to burn a Torah scroll publicly (Rashi).

11:3. Nahash wanted the mutilation to testify to the helplessness of the nation. If so, the people of Jabesh argued, give us time to appeal for help. A failure to respond to us will indeed be the "sign of shame" you desire.

11:5. In his humility, Saul had not yet begun to function as official monarch, and had returned to his civilian any of the people from his shoulder upward. 24 Samuel said to all the people, "Have you seen [the one] whom HASHEM has chosen, that there is none like him among all the people?" And all the people shouted, saying, "May the king live!"

25 Samuel then told the people the protocol of the kingship. He wrote it in a book and placed it before HASHEM. Then Samuel sent away all the people, everyone to his home. 26 Saul, too, went to his home, to Gibeah, and with him went all the army of those whose heart was inspired by [fear of] God. 27 But base men said, "How can this person save us!" They ridiculed him and did not bring him a tribute, but he remained mute. *

SAUL PROVES HIMSELF 11:1-15

1 Then Nahash the Ammonite went up and besieged Jabesh-gilead, and all the people of Jabesh said to Nahash, "Seal a covenant with us, and we will serve you." 2 But Nahash the Ammonite replied to them, "On this [condition] I will seal [a covenant] with you: when each right eye of yours is put out. * It will be a sign of shame for all of Israel. 3 The elders of Jabesh replied to him, "Hold off from [attacking] us for seven days while we send messengers throughout all the Land of Israel. * If there is no one to save us, then we will go out to you [and submit]."

The Ammonite invasion

4 When the messengers arrived at Gibeath-shaul and reported these words to the people, all the people raised their voices and wept. 5 Just then Saul came in from the field, behind his oxen, * and Saul said, "Why are the people crying?" They told him the words of the men from Jabesh. 6 The spirit of God passed over Saul when he heard these things, and he became very angry. 7 He took a pair of oxen and cut them into pieces, which he sent with the messengers throughout the Land of Israel, saying, "Whoever does not go out after Saul and Samuel [to battle], so shall be done to his oxen." A dread of HASHEM fell upon the people and they went forth as one man.

Saul demands national mobilization

8 He counted them at Bezek, and the Children of Israel were three hundred thousand, and the men of Judah, thirty thousand. 9 They said to the messengers who had come, "So shall you tell the people of Jabesh-gilead: 'Tomorrow there will be a salvation for you by the time the sun gets hot.'" The messengers came and told the people of Jabesh, and they rejoiced. 10 So the people of Jabesh said [to Nahash], "Tomorrow we will go forth to you, and you may do to us whatever seems good in your eyes."

11 It was on the next day that Saul set the people into three companies, and they entered the camp [of the Ammonites] at the approach of dawn, and they struck down Ammon by the time the day became hot. There were survivors but they scattered; there did not remain of them two [men] together. 12 The people then said to Samuel, "Who is it that said, 'Will Saul reign over us?'* Give the men over and we will put them to death!"

13 But Saul said to them, "Let no man be put to death this day, for today HASHEM has wrought salvation in Israel."

Saul establishes his authority

14 Then Samuel said to the people, "Come and let us go to Gilgal, * and let us renew the kingdom there." 15 So all the people went to Gilgal: there they made Saul king before HASHEM in Gilgal, and there they slaughtered feast peace-offerings before HASHEM; and there Saul, as well as all the men of Israel,

Samuel rallies the people occupation, perhaps because of the opposition of the "base men" (10:27) and their followers (Radak).

11:12. The "base men" who refused to accept Saul.

11:14. Gilgal had been regarded as a sacred place from the time the Ark and Tabernacle were there, when Joshua entered the land (Joshua 4:19).

12:1. The Israelites' request for a king constituted an ungrateful rejection both of Samuel and of God Himself (cf. 8:7). Here Samuel chastises the people. First, he points out that he has derived no personal benefit from his lifelong, dedicated service to them — on the contrary, his hard service made him old before his time (he was only fifty). Then he criticizes them for having rejected God's mastery over them (Abarbanel, Malbim). Furthermore, by asserting his own moral authority and then chastising the people, he meant to stiffen the national resolve to remain loyal to God and Torah.

12:5. The singular verb וַיֹּאמֶר implies that they spoke in unison (Radak). Alternatively: A Heavenly voice testified that everything Samuel said was true (Rashi).

12:11. Jerubaal is Gideon (Judges 6-9); Bedan is the equivalent of ben dan, son of Dan, and refers to Samson (Targum) who was a Danite (Judges 13-16); for Jephthah, see Judges 11:1-12:7.

12:15. Their graves will be desecrated (Rashi). Alternatively: The kings, as heads of the nation, are referred to figuratively as their fathers (Radak).

12 SAMUEL'S ADMONITION 12:1-25

[1] Then Samuel said to all of Israel, * "Behold! I have hearkened to your voice, to everything that you have said to me, and I have crowned a king over you. [2] And now, behold! — the king goes before you, but I have become old and gray. As for my sons — here they are with you. And as for me, I have walked before you from my youth until this day. [3] Here I am; testify about me in the presence of HASHEM and in the presence of His anointed: Whose ox have I taken? Whose donkey have I taken? Whom have I robbed? Whom have I coerced? From whose hand have I taken redemption-money that I should avert my eyes from him? And I shall make restitution to you."

The people assert their faith in Samuel

[4] And they said, "You have not robbed us; you have not coerced us; and you have not taken anything from any person's hand."

[5] *So he said to them, "*HASHEM is your witness, and His anointed one is a witness this day, that you have not found anything in my hand." And they said as one, * "A witness!"

Samuel reviews God's historic kindness

[6] Samuel then said to the people, "[It is] HASHEM Who produced Moses and Aaron, and Who brought your forefathers up from the land of Egypt. [7] And now, stand erect, and I shall enter into judgment with you before HASHEM*, concerning all the righteous deeds of* HASHEM that He has done with you and with your forefathers. [8] When Jacob came to Egypt and your forefathers cried out to HASHEM*,* HASHEM sent Moses and Aaron, and they brought your forefathers out of Egypt, and settled them in this place. [9] But they forgot HASHEM*, their God, so He delivered them into the hand of Sisera, general of the army of Hazor, and into the hand of the Philistines, and into the hand of the king of Moab; and they battled them.* [10] Then they cried out to HASHEM*, and said, 'We have sinned! For we have forsaken* HASHEM*, and we have worshiped the Baalim and the Ashtaroth; but now, rescue us from the hand of our enemies, and we will worship You.'*

Unjustified fear

[11] So HASHEM sent Jerubaal and Bedan * and Jephthah and Samuel, and He rescued you from the hand of your enemies from all around, and you dwelt in security. [12] But when you saw that Nahash, king of the Children of Ammon, came upon you, you said to me, 'No, but a king shall reign over us!' But HASHEM*, your God, is your King!*

[13] "And now, here is the king whom you have chosen, whom you have requested; and behold, HASHEM has set a king over you. [14] If you will fear HASHEM and worship Him and hearken to His voice and not rebel against the word of HASHEM*, then you and the king who reigns over you will remain [following] after* HASHEM*, your God.* [15] But if you do not hearken to the voice of HASHEM*, and you rebel against the word of* HASHEM*, then the hand of* HASHEM shall be against you and against your fathers. *

A Divine warning

[16] "Even now, stand erect and see this great thing that HASHEM will do before your eyes. [17] Is today not the wheat harvest season? I shall call to HASHEM and He will set forth thunder and rain; * then you will recognize and see that your wickedness is great, that which you have perpetrated before the eyes of HASHEM*, in requesting a king for yourselves."*

[18] Then Samuel called to HASHEM*, and* HASHEM set forth thunder and rain

12:17. The wheat harvest season is in the summertime, when no rain normally falls in Israel. Rainfall then is harmful, as it prevents the harvested wheat from drying and can even ruin the crop. Samuel was proving to the people that God was displeased with their actions (Kara).

12:24. If you act properly, I will overlook the slights to me (8:8) and God will forgive your sin of demanding a king in an improper, sinful manner (Abarbanel).

13:1. Literally, a year-old Saul in his reign, i.e., the narrative of this chapter occurred during the first year of his two-year reign. As soon as his authority was accepted at Gilgal, he selected three thousand soldiers with whom he and Jonathan would repel the Philistines, who had occupied part of the country since the time of Eli (Ch. 4). Alternatively: When Saul became king, he was as free of on that day; and all the people greatly feared HASHEM and Samuel. 19 All the people then said to Samuel, "Pray on behalf of your servants to HASHEM, your God, that we not die; for we have added evil upon all of our sins, to request a king for ourselves."

Samuel reassures the people

20 Samuel said to the people, "Fear not. You have done all this evil — but do not turn away from following HASHEM, rather serve HASHEM with all your heart. 21 Do not turn away for [that would be to] pursue futilities that cannot avail and cannot rescue, for they are futile. 22 For HASHEM shall not forsake His people for the sake of His great Name; for HASHEM has sworn to make you for a people unto Him. 23 And I, also — far be it from me to sin against HASHEM and refrain from praying on your behalf; rather I shall instruct you in the good and proper path. 24 *Only fear HASHEM and serve Him faithfully, with all your hearts, for look at how much He has done for you. 25 But if you act wickedly, both you and your king will perish."

1 It was in the first year of Saul's reign (he reigned over Israel for two years)* 2 that Saul chose three thousand [troops] from Israel — two thousand were with Saul at Michmas and at Mount Beth-el, and one thousand were with Jonathan at Gibeath-benjamin — and the rest of the people he sent off, each man to his tent.

3 *Jonathan slew the Philistine commissioner in Geba, and the Philistines heard [about it]. Saul had the shofar blown throughout the land, announcing, "Let the Hebrews hear." 4 All Israel heard [the announcement], saying, "Saul has slain the Philistine commissioner, and Israel has become despicable in the eyes of the Philistines," and the people were summoned to Saul at Gilgal. 5 The Philistines gathered to wage war against Israel, with thirty thousand chariots, six thousand cavalry, and foot-soldiers as numerous as the sand of the seashore. They went up and encamped at Michmas, east of Beth-aven. 6 The men of Israel saw that they were in trouble, for the people were hard pressed; and the people hid in caves and in fortresses and in rocks and in towers and in pits. 7 Some Hebrews even crossed the Jordan to the land of Gad and Gilead. Saul was still in Gilgal, and all the people [who remained] hurried after him. 8 He waited seven days, for the time set by Samuel; but Samuel did not arrive at Gilgal, so the people began to disband from him.* 9 So Saul said, "Bring me the elevation-offering and the peace-offering!" and he offered up the elevation-offering. 10 It was just as he finished offering up the elevation-offering when behold! Samuel arrived, and Saul went forth to greet him.

Israel is terror-stricken and fails to heed Samuel

11 Samuel said, "What have you done?"

Saul said, "Because I saw that the people were disbanding from me and you had not arrived by the arranged day, and that the Philistines were gathering at Michmas, 12 and I thought, 'Now the Philistines will descend upon me to Gilgal and I have not supplicated before HASHEM,' so I fortified myself and offered up the elevation-offering."

Samuel admonishes Saul severely

13 Samuel said to Saul, "You have acted foolishly! You did not keep the commandment of HASHEM, your God, that He commanded you. [Until] now HASHEM would have established your kingdom over Israel forever, 14 but now sin as a one-year-old (Rashi).

13:3. And prepare themselves for Philistine retaliation.

13:8. See 10:8.

13:14. Saul's justification was logical, but not adequate for a king. A Jewish ruler must be strong enough to resist public opinion and, most of all, he must obey the word of God, as conveyed by His prophet, to the letter.

Samuel knew that God had chosen Saul's successor, but he did not know as yet who the next king would be (Radak).

13:21. The Jews used a file when they could not go to Philistine territory for this service.

14:3. The Ephod was one of the eight vestments of the High Priest. The Urim VeTumim affixed to it revealed the will of God in response to the Kohen Gadol's queries (see Exodus 28:30).

14:10. It will be an omen that we will "come up" and *your kingdom shall not endure. * HASHEM has sought a man after His own heart and appointed him as ruler over His people, * because you have not observed that which HASHEM has commanded you."* 15 Then Samuel arose and went up from Gilgal to Gibeath-benjamin.

Saul mobilizes his outnumbered, poorly armed soldiers

Saul counted the people who were [still] found with him: about six hundred men. 16 Saul and his son Jonathan and the people who were found with them were staying in Geba-benjamin, while the Philistines were encamped at Michmas. 17 A raiding party went forth from the Philistine camp in three companies — one company turned toward the road to Ophrah, to the land of Shual; 18 one company turned toward the road to Beth-horon; and one company turned toward the road of the border, which overlooks the Valley of the Zeboim, toward the desert.

19 Now there was no smith to be found anywhere in the entire Land of Israel, for the Philistines said, "Lest the Hebrews produce a sword or spear." 20 (So all the Israelites would have to go down to the Philistines, each man to sharpen his plow and his spade, his axe and his hoe. 21 There was a multi-grooved file that they used to [sharpen] hoes, spades, three-pronged pitchforks, and axes, and for setting the peg of an ox-goad.)* 22 Thus it was on the day of war that there was not to be found sword or spear in the possession of any of the people who were with Saul and Jonathan; but they could be found with Saul and his son Jonathan. 23 A Philistine garrison went forth towards the Michmas Pass.

14 1 It happened one day that Jonathan son of Saul said to the attendant who bore his armor, "Come, let us cross over to the Philistine garrison that is on the other side," but he did not tell his father.

Jonathan's secret foray

2 Saul was staying at the outskirts of Gibeah, under the pomegranate tree that is in Migron, along with the people who were with him, about six hundred men, 3 *and Ahijah, son of Ichabod's brother Ahitub, son of Phinehas, son of Eli the Kohen of HASHEM at Shiloh, who wore the Ephod. * The people did not know that Jonathan had gone.*

4 Between the passes that Jonathan wanted to cross to the Philistine garrison there was a rocky precipice on one side and a rocky precipice on the other side; one was named Bozez and the other was named Seneh. 5 One precipice jutted out on the north, facing Michmas, and the other was on the south, facing Geba.

6 Jonathan said to the attendant, his armor-bearer, "Come, let us cross over to the garrison of these uncircumcised ones. Perhaps HASHEM will act on our behalf, for nothing prevents HASHEM from saving, whether through many or through few." 7 His armor-bearer said to him, "Do whatever is in your heart. Choose your direction; I am with you as you desire." 8 Jonathan said, "Behold! — we are crossing over to the men, and we will show ourselves to them. 9 If they say this to us, 'Halt until we reach you!' we will stay where we are and not go up to them. 10 *But if they say this: 'Come up to us!' then we will go up, for HASHEM will have delivered them into our hand, and that will be our sign!"

Jonathan formulates an omen

The signal to advance

11 So the two of them showed themselves to the Philistine garrison, and the Philistines said, "Look! The Hebrews are emerging from the holes where they were hiding!" 12 The men of the garrison called out to Jonathan and his armor-bearer, they will fall down. The omen will thus give Jonathan and his armor-bearer encouragement and strength.

14:14. Although the Philistines were crowded together and should have been able to overpower him, Jonathan still managed to kill them all (Rashi).

14:18. Saul wanted Ahijah, the Kohen Gadol, to come with the Urim VeTumim, to seek Heavenly counsel in the presence of the Ark (Rashi). Then, seeing that there was no time for delay, Saul said it was not necessary (v. 19).

14:21. There were Jews who had sided with the Philistines out of fear (Rashi). Alternatively: They lived in Philistia and were forced to join its army (Radak).

saying, "Come up to us! We have something to tell you!" Jonathan then said to his armor-bearer, "Come up after me, for HASHEM has delivered them into the hand of Israel!" 13 Jonathan then climbed up on his hands and feet, with his armor-bearer behind him, and [the Philistines] fell before Jonathan, while his armor-bearer slew people behind him. 14 *The first blow that Jonathan and his armor-bearer dealt [killed] about twenty men within about [the area of] half a furrow of a pair [of oxen plowing] in the field. 15 Then a great terror took hold in the camp, on the field, and among all the people; the raiding party and the garrison, too, were terrified. The very ground trembled and a God-inspired terror took hold.

16 Saul's sentries at Gibeath-benjamin saw that, behold! the multitude [of Philistines] was scattering and approaching them. 17 Saul said to the people who were with him, "Check and see who has gone forth from us." They checked and behold! — Jonathan and his armor-bearer were not [there]. 18 Saul then said to Ahijah, "Bring near the Ark of God," for the Ark of God [was there] with the Children of Israel on that day.* 19 But as Saul was speaking to the Kohen, the tumult in the Philistine camp grew greater and greater, so Saul told the Kohen, "Stay your hand!"

20 Saul and the entire people with him mustered and came into the battle. And behold! every [Philistine] man's sword was turned against his colleague — a very great panic! 21 And the Hebrews who had sided with the Philistines from yesterday and earlier, who had come up with them in the camp all around, they, too, [joined] with the Israelites who were with Saul and Jonathan.* 22 All the men of Israel who were hiding in Mount Ephraim heard that the Philistines were running away, and they too gave chase after them in the battle.

All Israelites join the chase

23 So HASHEM saved Israel on that day and the battle passed by Beth-aven.

Saul decrees a fast

24 The people of Israel were hard pressed on that day, and Saul adjured the people, saying, "Cursed be the man who shall eat food until the evening, when I shall be avenged of my enemies." So the entire people did not taste food.* 25 Then all [the people of] the land came into the forest, where there was nectar on the surface of the field. 26 The people came to the forest and behold! there was an oozing of nectar, but no one put his hand to his mouth, for the people feared the oath.

Jonathan unwittingly transgresses the oath

27 But Jonathan had not heard when his father adjured the people, so he stretched out the edge of the staff that was in his hand, and dipped it into the nectar of the cane; he then brought his hand to his mouth and his eyes lit up. 28 Then one of the people called out and said, "Your father has adjured the people saying, 'Cursed be the man who eats food today,' and the people have become weary."

29 Jonathan said, "My father has distressed the land. See now how my eyes lit up when I tasted just a bit of this nectar; 30 surely if the people had eaten today of the spoils of their enemy that they have acquired, would there not now have been an even greater blow against the Philistines?"

31 The people smote the Philistines on that day, from Michmas to Aijalon, and the people were very weary. 32 *The people swooped down upon the spoils, and took sheep, cattle, and young cattle. They slaughtered them on the ground; and the people ate with the blood. 33 They told Saul, saying, "Behold! —

14:24. The people pursued the Philistines so ardently that Saul adjured them not to eat lest they be distracted from the rout (Rashi).

14:32. The people had consecrated the animals to be sacrificed, but were so famished that they did not wait until the required sprinkling of the blood before eating the meat (Talmud). Alternatively, since the people slaughtered the animals "on the ground" they could not properly drain the blood from the meat, transgressing the prohibition of eating blood (Radak).

14:33. This boulder was to serve either as a makeshift altar to facilitate the sprinkling of the blood, or as a convenient place for slaughter with adequate drainage.

14:36. Let us consult Him through the Urim VeTumim (Targum).

14:38-42. It was clear to Saul that God's refusal to respond implied that sin had soiled the nation. By means of the Urim VeTumim, it was determined that the guilt lay with Jonathan.

14:46. He did not continue the chase, since he had not received God's approval (Radak).

the people are sinning to HASHEM by eating with the blood!"

*He said, "You have transgressed. Roll over to me a large boulder today."

Saul forestalls a sin

34 Saul said, "Spread out among the people and say to them, 'Let each man bring to me his ox and each man his sheep, and you shall slaughter [them] here and eat them, so that you not sin unto HASHEM by eating with the blood.' " So each man of the people brought his ox with him that night, and they slaughtered them there. 35 Saul built an altar to HASHEM; this was the first of the altars that he built to HASHEM.

36 Saul said, "Let us go down after the Philistines at night and plunder them until the morning's light; let us not let any man of them remain."

And [the people] answered, "Whatever is good in your eyes, do!"

God does not respond

*The Kohen then said, "Let us approach God at this point." 37 So Saul asked of God: "Shall I go down after the Philistines? Will You deliver them into the hand of Israel?" But He did not answer him on that day.

38 *Saul said, "Draw near to here, all you captains of the people, and find out and see through whom this sin occurred today. 39 For as HASHEM, the Savior of Israel, lives, even if the sin is found to be with my son Jonathan, he shall surely die!" But no one of all the people answered him. 40 He then said to all Israel, "You will be on one side and I and my son Jonathan will be on the other side [and let the lot be conducted]."

The people said to Saul, "Do what is proper in your eyes."

Jonathan's error is revealed and the people save him

41 Saul said to HASHEM, "God of Israel, produce a flawless [verdict]!" [The side of] Jonathan and Saul was singled out, and the people were absolved. 42 Then Saul said, "Cast [a lot] between me and my son Jonathan," and Jonathan was singled out. 43 Saul said to Jonathan, "Tell me, what have you done?" And Jonathan told him, and he said, "I did indeed taste a bit of nectar from the tip of the staff that was in my hand; I am prepared to die."

44 So Saul said, "So shall HASHEM do and so shall He do further [if I do not carry out my oath], for you must surely die, Jonathan."

45 But the people said to Saul, "Shall Jonathan die, he who has achieved this great salvation for Israel? A sacrilege! — as HASHEM lives, not a hair of his head shall fall to the ground, for he has acted for God's sake this day!" So the people redeemed Jonathan and he did not die.

Saul consolidates his rule

46 Saul then went back up from [chasing] after the Philistines, and the Philistines went to their place.*

47 Saul consolidated the kingdom over Israel. He waged war against all his enemies all around — with Moab and with the Children of Ammon and with Edom and with the kings of Zobah and with the Philistines; wherever he turned he inspired terror. 48 He assembled an army and struck Amalek, and he rescued Israel from the hand of its oppressor.

49 And the sons of Saul were Jonathan, Ishvi, and Malchi-shua; and the names of his two daughters — the name of the older one [was] Merab, and the name of the younger one [was] Michal; 50 the name of Saul's wife [was] Ahinoam daughter of Ahimaaz; the name of the leader of his army [was] Abner, son of Saul's uncle Ner; 51 and Saul's father Kish and Abner's father Ner were sons of Abiel.

52 The war against the Philistines was intense all the days of Saul. Whenever 15:1. The Torah commanded Israel to do three things after completing the conquest of the land: to appoint a king, to eradicate Amalek, and to build the Temple (Talmud). Hence, Samuel introduced this commandment to battle Amalek by telling Saul that since he had been anointed as king (Radak), Amalek, as the leading force of evil in the world, was to be wiped out entirely. See verse 3.

15:4. In order to avoid counting Israel directly, each one took a lamb from Saul's flocks. These lambs were then counted to dertermine the census (Rashi).

15:6. The Kenites descended from Jethro, father-in-law of Moses, who was a valuable adviser in the Wilderness.

15:11. This chapter states that Saul lost his throne only because of his failure against Amalek, but his downfall

Saul saw any mighty warrior or military stategist, he would take him to himself [into his army].

SAUL'S ILL-FATED VICTORY OVER AMALEK 15:1-35

A command to destroy Amalek

[1] Samuel said to Saul: "HASHEM sent me to anoint you as king over His people, over Israel, so now hear the sound of HASHEM's words. * [2] So said HASHEM, Master of Legions: 'I have remembered what Amalek did to Israel — [the ambush] he emplaced against him on the way, as he went up from Egypt. [3] Now go and strike down Amalek and destroy everything he has. Have no pity on him — kill man and woman alike, infant and suckling alike, ox and sheep alike, camel and donkey alike.' "

[4] Saul had all the people summoned, and he counted them through lambs: * two hundred thousand infantrymen, and the men of Judah were ten thousand. [5] Saul came to the city of Amalek, and he fought [them] in the valley. [6] Saul said to the Kenite, * "Go, withdraw, descend from among the Amalekite, lest I destroy you with them; for you acted kindly to all the Children of Israel when they went up from Egypt." So the Kenite withdrew from among Amalek.

Amalek is conquered; King Agag is captured

[7] Saul struck down Amalek, from Havilah to the approach to Shur, which is alongside Egypt. [8] He captured Agag, king of Amalek, alive, and the entire people he destroyed by the edge of the sword. [9] Saul, as well as the people, took pity on Agag, on the best of the sheep, the cattle, the fatted bulls, the fatted sheep, and on all that was good; and they were not willing to destroy them; but the inferior and wretched livestock, that they did destroy.

Saul's weakness and God's wrath

[10] The word of HASHEM then came to Samuel, saying, [11] "I have reconsidered My having made Saul king, for he has turned away from Me and has not fulfilled My word!" * Samuel was aggrieved [by this] and he cried out to HASHEM the entire night.

[12] Samuel arose early in the morning to meet Saul. (It had been told to Samuel, saying, "Saul came to the Carmel and set up for himself a place [for an altar]. He turned and descended to Gilgal.") [13] When Samuel came to Saul, Saul said to him, "Blessed are you to HASHEM! I have fulfilled the word of HASHEM."

[14] Samuel said, "And what is this sound of the sheep in my ears and the sound of the cattle that I hear?"

[15] Saul said, "I have brought them from the Amalekite, for the people took pity on the best of the sheep and cattle in order to bring them as offerings to HASHEM, your God, but we have destroyed the remainder."

Samuel condemns Saul

[16] Samuel said to Saul, "Desist, and I shall tell you what HASHEM spoke to me last night."

He said to him, "Speak."

[17] Samuel said, "Is this not so? — Though you may be small in your own eyes, you are the head of the tribes of Israel; and HASHEM has anointed you to be king over Israel. * [18] HASHEM sent you on the way, and He said, 'Go, destroy the sinners, Amalek, and wage war with him until you have exterminated him.' [19] Why did you not obey the voice of HASHEM? You rushed after the spoils, * and you did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM."

[20] Saul said to Samuel, "But I did heed the voice of HASHEM, and I did walk had already been decreed above (13:13-14). Possibly he had repented and was forgiven. Alternatively, the earlier decree was that his son would not become king; the new failure caused his own reign to be terminated (Radak).

15:17. A leader must do the right thing, even if he must override popular opinion; humility is not a virtue if it interferes with duty.

15:19. Though Saul did not take loot for himself, he, as king, was responsible.

15:22-23. Samuel made three points: (a) Offerings and contributions are no substitute for obedience to God; (b) reliance on sorcery and omens is equivalent to rebellion against God; and (c) verbose rationalizations are as empty as the extravagant rituals of idol worship.

15:28. Prophets commonly use a physical act to symbolize the reality of a prophecy.

15:29. The decree is final; repentance will not rescind it.

16:2. For Samuel to anoint a new king could be considered a subversive act, which the reigning king may punish by death.

16:4. They feared that Samuel's unexpected arrival was prompted by a grievous sin.

Saul protests but Samuel persists

the path on which HASHEM sent me! I brought Agag, king of Amalek, and I destroyed Amalek! 21 The people took sheep and cattle from the spoils — the best of that which was to be destroyed — in order to bring offerings to HASHEM, your God, in Gilgal."

22 Samuel said, "Does HASHEM delight in elevation-offerings and feast-offerings as in obedience to the voice of HASHEM? Behold! — to obey is better than a choice offering, to be attentive than the fat of rams.* 23 For rebelliousness is like the sin of sorcery, and verbosity is like the iniquity of idolatry. Because you have rejected the word of God, He has rejected you as king!"

Saul confesses

24 Saul said to Samuel, "I have sinned, for I have transgressed the word of HASHEM and your word, for I feared the people and I hearkened to their voice. 25 But now, please forgive my sin and return with me, and I will prostrate myself to HASHEM."

26 Samuel said to Saul, "I will not return with you, for you have rejected the word of HASHEM and HASHEM has rejected you from being king over Israel!" 27 Samuel then turned away to leave, but [Saul] grabbed the hem of his tunic,

The omen of Saul's downfall and it tore. 28 *Samuel said to him, "HASHEM has torn the kingship of Israel from upon you this day, and has given it to your fellow who is better than you. 29 *Moreover, the Eternal One of Israel does not lie and does not relent, for He is not a human that He should relent."

30 He said, "I have sinned. Now, please honor me in the presence of the elders of my people and in the presence of Israel; return with me, and I shall prostrate myself to HASHEM, your God." 31 So Samuel returned after Saul, and Saul prostrated himself before HASHEM.

32 Samuel then said, "Bring me Agag, king of Amalek."

Samuel executes Agag

Agag went to him in chains, and Agag said, "Alas, the bitterness of death approaches."

33 Samuel said, "Just as your sword made women childless, so shall your mother be childless among women!" And Samuel severed Agag before HASHEM in Gilgal.

34 Samuel went to Ramah, and Saul went up to his home at Gibeath-shaul. 35 Samuel never again saw Saul until the day of his death, for Samuel mourned over Saul, but HASHEM had reconsidered His making Saul king over Israel.

THE RISE OF DAVID 16:1-23

God sends Samuel to anoint Saul's successor

1 HASHEM said to Samuel, "How long will you mourn over Saul, when I have rejected him from reigning over Israel? Fill your horn with oil and go forth — I shall send you to Jesse the Bethlehemite, for I have seen a king for Myself among his sons." 2 *But Samuel asked, "How can I go? If Saul finds out he will kill me."

So HASHEM said, "Take along a heifer, and say, 'I have come to bring an offering to HASHEM.' 3 Invite Jesse to the feast; I will then tell you what to do, and you shall anoint for Me the one whom I shall tell you."

4 *So Samuel did as HASHEM had spoken, and he arrived in Bethlehem. The elders of the city hurried nervously toward him, and one of them said, "Do you come in peace?" 5 And he answered, " Peace. To bring an offering to HASHEM have I come. Prepare yourselves and join me at the feast." And he invited Jesse and his sons, calling them to the feast.

6 And it was upon their arrival that Samuel saw Eliab; he said, "Surely, before HASHEM is His anointed one."

17:4. Lit., "the man of the middle," i.e., a mighty warrior who would leave his camp and stand alone between the warring armies, challenging the opposing force (Rashi).

He was 12-13 feet tall. A cubit is just under two feet, and a span is half a cubit.

Samuel seeks to identify God's anointed

7 But HASHEM said to Samuel, "Do not look at his appearance or at his tall stature, for I have rejected him. For it is not as man sees — man sees what his eyes behold, but HASHEM sees into the heart." 8 *Jesse then called Abinadab and brought him before Samuel, but he said, "*HASHEM has not chosen this one either." 9 *Then Jesse brought Shammah, but [Samuel] said, "*HASHEM has not chosen this one either." 10 *Jesse presented his seven sons before Samuel, but Samuel said to Jesse, "*HASHEM has not chosen these." 11 Samuel said, "Are these all the boys?" And he said, "The youngest one is still left; he is tending the sheep now." So Samuel said to Jesse, "Send and bring him, for we will not sit [to dine] until he arrives here."

12 He sent and brought him. He was ruddy, with fair eyes and a pleasing appearance. HASHEM then said, "Arise and anoint him, for this is he!" 13 Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him in the midst of his brothers, and the spirit of HASHEM passed over David from that day on. Then Samuel arose and went to Ramah.

Saul suffers melancholia

14 The spirit of HASHEM departed from Saul, and he was tormented by a spirit of melancholy from HASHEM. 15 Saul's servants said him, "Behold now! a spirit of melancholy from God torments you. 16 Let our lord tell your servants [who are] before you [that] they should seek a man who knows how to play the harp, so that when the spirit of melancholy from God is upon you, he will play [the harp] with his hand and it will be well with you." 17 So Saul said to his servants, "Seek now for me someone who plays well and bring him to me." 18 One of the young servants spoke up and said, "Behold! I have seen a son of Jesse the Bethlehemite, who knows how to play, is a mighty man of valor and a man of war, who understands a matter, and is a handsome man; and HASHEM is with him."

David comes to soothe Saul

19 Saul sent messengers to Jesse, and said, "Send me David your son who is with the sheep." 20 Jesse took a donkey [laden with] bread, a jug of wine, and one kid, and sent it with his son David, for Saul. 21 David came to Saul and stood before him. He loved him very much, and he became his armor-bearer. 22 Saul sent to Jesse, saying, "Let David stand before me, for he has found favor in my eyes." 23 And it happened that whenever the spirit [of melancholy] from God was upon Saul, David would take the harp and play [it] with his hand, and Saul would feel relieved and it would be well with him, and the spirit of melancholy would depart from him.

DAVID FACES GOLIATH 17:1-54

1 The Philistines assembled their camps for war, and assembled themselves at Socoh that is to Judah; they encamped between Socoh and Azekah, in Ephes-dammim. 2 So Saul and the people of Israel assembled themselves, they enacmped in the Terebinth Valley, and they arranged for war against the Philistines. 3 The Philistines were standing on the mountain on one side and Israel was standing on the mountain on the other side, and the valley was between them.

The Philistines invade again

4 A champion went forth from the Philistine camps, whose name was Goliath of Gath; his height six cubits and one span.* * 5 [He had] a copper helmet on his head, and was wearing armor of mail; the weight of the armor [was] five thousand copper shekels. 6 [He had] a copper shield on his legs and a copper neck-guard between his shoulders. 7 The shaft of his spear was like a weavers' beam and the blade of his spear [weighed] six hundred iron shekels. The shield-bearer walked before him. 8 He stood and called out to the battalions of Israel and said to them, "Why are you going forth to wage war? Am I not

17:8. Why fight a full-scale war? I challenge you to represent your king in a one-on-one duel (Kara). Alternatively: "I am an ordinary Philistine soldier, yet I have distinguished myself in battle; what has your king Saul done for you? Let him come and fight me!" (Rashi).

17:10. Seeing that no one was willing to duel him, Goliath taunted them as cowards.

17:12. Bethlehem, in the province of Judah, was in an area known as Ephrath. Scripture recapitulates Jesse's background because David is about to become the savior of the nation.

17:15. David would shuttle back and forth from the Philistine, while you are the servants of Saul? Choose yourselves a man and let him come down to me!* 9 If he can fight me and kill me, we will be slaves to you; and if I defeat him and kill him, you will be slaves to us and serve us." 10 *Then the Philistine said, "I have disgraced the battalions of Israel this day, [saying,] 'Give me a man and we will fight together.' " 11 Saul and all Israel heard these words of the Philistine, and they were terrified and greatly afraid.

12 David was the son of a certain Ephrathite man from Bethlehem [in] Judah; his name was Jesse and he had eight sons. In the days of Saul, the man was old, and would come among the elders.* 13 Jesse's three oldest sons left home and followed Saul to war. The names of his three sons who went to war were Eliab, the firstborn; the second to him, Abinadab; and the third, Shammah. 14 But David was the youngest; just the three oldest followed Saul. 15 *David would travel back and forth from Saul's presence to tend his father's flocks in Bethlehem.

16 The Philistine would approach [the Israelite camp] early morning and evening; he presented himself for forty days.

David brings provisions for his brothers

17 Jesse said to his son David, "Please take this ephah of toasted grain and these ten loaves of bread for your brothers and hurry to the camp to your brothers, 18 *and bring these ten cheeses to the captain of the thousand. Inquire after the welfare of your brothers, and obtain a report of their welfare."

19 Saul, they, and all the men of Israel were in the Terebinth Valley, fighting with the Philistines. 20 David arose early in the morning, left the sheep with a watchman, and set out as Jesse had commanded him. He came to the encirclement, and the army was going forth to the battle line, shouting battle cries. 21 Israel and the Philistines deployed, battalions facing battalion. 22 David left the baggage that was upon him with the keeper of the baggage and ran to the line. When he arrived he inquired after the welfare of his brothers.

David sees Israel's fear of Goliath

23 As he was speaking to them, behold — the champion went forth from the Philistine battalions, Goliath the Philistine of Gath was his name, and spoke the [above] words, and David heard. 24 All the men of Israel, when they saw the man, fled from him, and they were very frightened. 25 The men of Israel were saying, "Have you seen this man who goes forth? He goes forth to disgrace Israel! The king will enrich whoever kills him with great wealth and give his daughter to him [in marriage], and he will free his father's family [from royal service] in Israel."

He implies his readiness to fight

26 David spoke to the men standing with him, saying, "What will be done for the man who slays this Philistine and removes disgrace from Israel? For who is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he disgraces the battalions of the Living God?" 27 So the people told him regarding this matter, saying, "Such and such shall be done for the man who kills him."

28 Eliab, [his] older brother, heard as he was talking to the men, and Eliab became angry with David, and said, "Why did you come down [here]? And with whom did you leave those few sheep in the wilderness? I am aware of* Jesse's sheep to his duties as Saul's minstrel. At the time of Goliath's insolent challenge, David was at Bethlehem.

17:18. Following Targum. According to Kara and Radak, the meaning is, "redeem their pledges," for soldiers often are short of money and have to pawn items as security in order to buy provisions; Jesse gave David money to redeem these pledges.

17:28. Eliab lashed out because he sensed that David was thinking "unrealistically" of fighting the Philistine.

17:39. Having never worn armor, he felt too constricted to fight Goliath.

your willfulness and your evil thoughts, that you have come down here in order to watch the fighting!" 29 David replied, "What have I done now? Was it not mere talk?" 30 He then turned away from him toward someone else, and said the same thing to him; and the people answered him as before.

David volunteers to Saul, expressing faith in God

31 The words David was saying became heard; people related [them] to Saul, and he summoned [David]. 32 David said to Saul, "Let no man lose heart because of him. Your servant will go forth and fight this Philistine!" 33 But Saul said to David, "You cannot go forth to this Philistine to fight with him, for you are a lad, while he is a warrior from his youth."

34 David said to Saul, "Your servant was a shepherd for his father among the flocks; the lion or the bear would come and carry off a sheep from the flock, 35 and I would go after it, strike it down, and rescue [the sheep] from its mouth. If it would attack me I would grab onto its beard and strike it and kill it. 36 Your servant has slain even lion and bear; and this uncircumcised Philistine shall be like one of them, for he has disgraced the battalions of the Living God!" 37 Then David said, "HASHEM Who rescued me from the hand of the lion and from the hand of the bear, He will rescue me from this Philistine!"

David refuses armor

So Saul said to David, "Go, and may HASHEM be with you!" 38 Saul dressed David with his own battle garments; he put a copper helmet on his head and dressed him in armor. 39 David then girded his sword over his battle garments. But he was unwilling to go forth [that way], for he was not accustomed [to it], * so David said to Saul, "I cannot walk with these, for I am not accustomed [to them]," and David removed them from on himself. 40 He took his staff in his hand and picked out five smooth stones from the brook and put them in his shepherd's bag and in the knapsack, and his slingshot was in his hand. Then he approached the Philistine.

With his faith, David confronts Goliath

41 The Philistine walked, going closer and closer to David, and the man bearing his shield was before him. 42 The Philistine peered and saw David, and he derided him, for he was a youth, ruddy and handsome. 43 The Philistine said to David, "Am I a dog that you come after me with sticks?" and the Philistine cursed David by his gods. 44 Then the Philistine said to David, "Come to me, so that I may offer your flesh to the fowl of the heavens and to the beast of the field!"

45 David said to the Philistine, "You come to me with a sword, a spear, and a javelin — but I come to you with the Name of HASHEM, Master of Legions, the God of the battalions of Israel that you have ridiculed. 46 On this day HASHEM will deliver you into my hand. I shall smite you and I will remove your head from upon you; and I shall offer the carcass of the Philistine camp this day to the fowl of the heavens and to the beast of earth! Then the whole earth will know that there is a God in Israel, 47 and all this assembly will know that not through sword and spear does HASHEM grant salvation; for unto HASHEM is the battle, and He shall deliver you into our hands!"

David fells the giant and the Philistines flee

48 It happened that when the Philistine arose and moved closer towards David that David hurried and ran to the line, towards the Philistine. 49 David stretched his hand into the sack. He took a stone from there and slung it, and struck the Philistine in the forehead. The stone penetrated his forehead, and he fell upon his face, upon the ground. 50 Thus David overpowered the Philistine with the slingshot and stone, he smote the Philistine and killed him; there was no sword in David's hand. 51 David ran and stood by the Philistine; he took [Goliath's] sword and drew it from its sheath, having already killed him, and he cut off

17:54. He brought Goliath's weapons home to Bethlehem (Radak) as momentos of his triumph. Goliath's sword, however, was stored in the sanctuary at Nob, as related in 21:10.

17:55. By this time Saul knew David quite well (see 16:21); his question was if David came from a brave, heroic lineage (Radak). According to the Midrash, Saul wanted to know if David descended from the Peretz his head with it. The Philistines saw that their hero was dead, and they ran away. 52 The men of Israel and Judah rose up, and shouted exultantly, and pursued the Philistines up to the approach to the valley and to the gates of Ekron. Philistine corpses were strewn along the Shaaraim Road, until Gath and Ekron. 53 Then the Children of Israel returned from pursuing Philistines and plundered their camp. 54 David took the head of the Philistine, and [eventually] brought it to Jerusalem, and his weapons he put in his tent. *

SAUL, DAVID'S JEALOUS FATHER-IN-LAW 17:55-19:24

Saul inquires about David

55 When Saul had seen David going forth towards the Philistine, he said to Abner, the minister of the army, "Abner, whose son is this lad?" * And Abner replied, "By your life, O king, I do not know." 56 So the king instructed him, "You ask whose son this youth is." 57 So when David returned from smiting the Philistine, Abner took him and brought him before Saul, while the head of the Philistine was [still] in his hand. 58 Saul said to him, "Whose son are you, young man?" David replied, "The son of your servant Jesse, the Bethlehemite."

David and Jonathan become friends

1 It was after [David] finished speaking to Saul that Jonathan's soul became attached to David's soul, and Jonathan loved him as himself. 2 Saul conscripted him that day and did not permit him to return to his father's home. 3 Jonathan and David sealed a covenant, since each loved the other like himself. 4 And Jonathan took off the robe he was wearing and gave it to David; also his battle garments, down to his sword, his bow, and his belt. 5 David went forth, and in whatever Saul would send him to do he would be successful. Saul appointed him over the warriors, and it was good in the eyes of all the people and also in the eyes of Saul's servants.

6 It happened that when [the troops] came [back] — when David returned from slaying the Philistine — that the women from all the towns of Israel came out to sing with timbrels to greet King Saul, with drums, with gladness, and with cymbals.

Saul becomes morbidly jealous

7 The rejoicing women called out, and said, "Saul has slain his thousands, and David his tens of thousands." 8 Saul grew very angry, and this matter was disturbing in his eyes. He said, "They have attributed to David ten thousands, while to me they have attributed thousands! He is lacking only the kingship." 9 And Saul eyed David with suspicion from that day on.

10 It happened the next day that a spirit of melancholy from God came upon Saul and he raved incoherently in the house. David was playing [the harp] with his hand as [he did] every day, and the spear was in Saul's hand. 11 Then Saul hurled the spear, saying [to himself], "I will thrust it through David into the wall." But David eluded him twice.

12 Saul feared David, for HASHEM was with him, but He had turned away from Saul. 13 So Saul removed him from his presence and made him captain of a thousand, and he came and went before the people. 14 David was successful in all his ways, and HASHEM was with him. 15 Saul saw that he was very successful, and he was intimidated by him. 16 All of Israel and Judah loved David, for he came and went before them.

Saul plots against David

17 Saul said to David, "Here is my older daughter, Merab; I shall give her to you for a wife, but you must be a warrior for me and fight the wars of HASHEM." Saul said [to himself], "Let my hand not be against him; let the 18:21. Saul was confident that Michal would remain loyal to him and encourage David to endanger himself in battle with the Philistines.

18:22. Apparently, David had lost interest after the first marriage proposal was so callously broken, and needed to be persuaded anew (Radak).

18:26. Saul had requested the foreskins by a specific time.

18:28. Now Saul had two reasons to fear David — God was always with him, and Michal, who Saul had hoped hand of the Philistines be against him." 18 David said to Saul, "Who am I and what is my life, [or] my father's family in Israel that I should become a son-in-law to the king?" 19 But it happened that when the time came to give Merab daughter of Saul to David, she was given [instead] to Adriel the Meholathite as a wife.

20 But Michal daughter of Saul loved David. They told [this] to Saul and it was proper in his eyes. 21 Saul thought, "I will give her to him and she will be a snare to him, and the hand of the Philistines will act against him." So Saul said to David, "Through [one of] my two [daughters] you will become my son-in-law today."* 22 *Saul then commanded his servants, "Speak to David in secret, saying, 'Behold, the king desires you, and all his servants like you, so become now the king's son-in-law.' " 23 So Saul's servants spoke these words in David's ears. And David said, "Is it a trivial matter in your eyes to become a son-in-law to the king? I am a poor and simple person!"

24 Saul's servants told him saying, "David spoke these words." 25 Saul said, "So shall you say to David: 'The King desires no dowry, only one hundred Philistine foreskins to avenge the enemies of the King.' " Saul intended to have David fall at the hands of the Philistines.

David marries Michal

26 *His servants told these words to David, and the proposal was proper in David's eyes, to become the King's son-in-law. The days had not yet expired, 27 when David arose and went — he and his men — and slew two hundred Philistine men. David brought their foreskins and sent them all to the King in order to become the King's son-in-law. Then Saul gave him his daughter Michal for a wife. 28 *Saul saw and understood that HASHEM was with David, and that Michal, Saul's daughter, loved him. 29 So Saul continued to fear David even more; and Saul harbored enmity towards David all the days.

30 The officers of the Philistines would venture forth — and whenever they ventured forth, David was more successful than all the other servants of Saul, and his reputation became very outstanding.*

Jonathan makes peace between Saul and David

1 Saul spoke to Jonathan his son and to all his servants about killing David, but Jonathan son of Saul liked David very much. 2 So Jonathan told David, saying, "My father Saul is trying to kill you, so now be cautious tomorrow morning and stay in the secret place, and hide yourself. 3 I will go out and stand near my father in the field where you will be, and I will speak to my father about you. I will see what happens and tell you."

4 So Jonathan spoke favorably of David to his father Saul, saying to him, "Let the king not sin against his servant David, for he has not sinned against you, and because his deeds are very good for you. 5 He put his life in his hand and slew the Philistine and HASHEM granted a great salvation to all of Israel; you saw [it] and rejoiced — so why should you sin with innocent blood, to kill David for no reason?"

6 Saul listened to Jonathan's voice, and Saul swore, "As HASHEM lives, he shall not die." 7 So Jonathan called David, and Jonathan told him all these things. Jonathan brought David to Saul and he was before him as he had been yesterday and before.

8 And there was war again, and David went forth and fought against the Philistines. He smote them a great blow, and they ran from him.

19:10. Two events occurred: David fled from Saul, and during the night Michal arranged an escape that saved his life a second time (Radak).

19:11. Not wanting David to be killed in the presence of Michal, Saul wanted David to be kept from fleeing during the night so that he could be taken into custody the next

9 Then HASHEM'S spirit of melancholy befell Saul, while he was sitting in his house with his spear in his hand and David was playing [the harp] with his hand. 10 Saul tried to thrust the spear through David and the wall, but he slipped away from Saul and the spear hit the wall.

*David ran away and escaped that night.

Saul sets an ambush but Michal saves David

11 *Saul sent messengers to David's house to keep watch over him and kill him in the morning. His wife Michal told David, saying, "If you do not [act to] escape with your life tonight, you will be killed tomorrow." 12 So Michal lowered David through the window, and he left; he fled and escaped. 13 Michal then took mannequins and placed them in the bed, and she put a goat-skin at its head and covered it with a cloth.

14 Saul sent agents to take David, but she said, "He is ill."

15 *Then Saul sent the agents again to inquire after David, telling them, "Bring him up to me in the bed, to have him killed." 16 The agents came and behold! — the mannequins were in the bed and a goat-skin at its head!

17 *Saul asked Michal, "Why did you deceive me this way? You sent away my enemy so that he escaped." And Michal replied, "He said to me, 'Let me go or I will kill you.' "

David flees to Samuel and God protects him

18 David fled and escaped, and came to Samuel at Ramah. He told him all that Saul had done to him, so he and Samuel went and stayed at Naioth. 19 It was told to Saul, saying, "Behold! David is in Naioth, in Ramah." 20 *Saul sent messengers to arrest David. [When they arrived] they saw a group of prophets prophesying with Samuel standing erect, overseeing them, and a spirit of God came upon Saul's messengers and they, too, prophesied. 21 People told Saul and he sent other messengers, but they, too, prophesied. Saul persisted and sent a third group of messengers, but they, too, prophesied. 22 So he went to Ramah himself, arriving at the cistern in Secu. He inquired and said, "Where are Samuel and David?" Someone said, "They are in Naioth, in Ramah." 23 He went there, to Naioth in Ramah, and the spirit of God came upon him, as well; and he kept on prophesying until he arrived at Naioth in Ramah. 24 He too removed his [royal] raiment and he, too, prophesied before Samuel; he fell unclothed that entire day and night. Therefore there people say, "Is Saul also among the prophets?"

JONATHAN'S ALLEGIANCE TO DAVID 20:1-42

1 Then David fled from Naioth in Ramah. He came and said before Jonathan, "What have I done? What is my iniquity and my sin before your father, that he seeks my life?" 2 *He said to him, "It would be a sacrilege; you shall not die! Behold, my father does not do a major thing or a minor thing without revealing it to me, so why should my father conceal this matter from me? It is not so!" 3 But David swore to him again, and said, "Your father knows very well I have found favor in your eyes, so he said [to himself], 'Jonathan should not know about this, lest he be saddened.' However, as HASHEM lives, and by your life, there is but a footstep between me and death."

David pleads his case with Jonathan

4 Jonathan said to David, "Whatever your soul shall say I shall do for you."

morning (Radak).

19:15. They were to tell Michal that they had come to inquire after her sick husband, so that she should not resist them.

19:17. Lit., why should I [have to] kill you? Michal lied in self-defense.

19:20. See note to 10:5.

20:2. Although Saul had informed Jonathan of his intention to have David killed (19:1), Jonathan wholeheartedly believed his father's oath recanting it (19:6).

20:14-15. I know that when you become king, you will surely deal kindly with me. But if I die before then, I implore you to deal kindly with my descendants.

20:16. Jonathan promised that as long as Saul reigned, he would protect David's family from the king.

20:17. He asked David to repeat the oath of brotherhood because Jonathan cherished it as an expression of love.

20:19. Described above in 19:1-3.

A plan to test Saul's intention

5 David said to Jonathan, "Behold, tomorrow is the New Moon, when I would usually sit with the king to eat. Grant me leave and I will hide in the field until the third evening [of the month]. 6 If your father notices my absence, you shall say to him, 'David asked me to let him run to his hometown Bethlehem, for there is an annual feast-offering there for the entire family.' 7 If he says thus, 'Good!' then it is well for your servant. But if he gets very angry, then know that the evil [decree] has become final with him. 8 Do this favor for your servant, for you have brought your servant into a covenant of HASHEM with you. If I am guilty of an iniquity, kill me yourself; why bring me to your father?"*

9 Jonathan said, "Far be it from you! For if I knew that the evil [decree] has become final with my father, would I not tell it to you?"*

10 David then said to Jonathan, "Who will tell me [if your father answers favorably] or if your father answers you harshly?"

Jonathan's pledge and plea

11 So Jonathan said to David, "Come, let us go out to the field," and they both went out to the field.* 12 Jonathan said to David, "[I swear by] HASHEM the God of Israel that I will probe my father at this time on the third day from now, and behold, if it is good for David will I not then send for you and reveal it to you? 13 Such shall HASHEM do to Jonathan and such shall He do further — if it pleases my father to harm you I will reveal it to you, and I will send you away that you may go to peace; and may HASHEM be with you as He was with my father. 14 I need not [ask anything of you] if I will still be alive [when you become king], for would you not do with me the kindness of HASHEM, so that I will not die? 15 *But do not cut off your kindness from my descendants forever, not even when HASHEM cuts each of David's enemies from the face of the earth." 16 Jonathan also sealed [a covenant] regarding David's household, and added, "May HASHEM exact punishment from the enemies of David."* 17 Jonathan again adjured David because of his love for him, for he loved him as he loved himself.*

The signal

18 Jonathan said to him, "Tomorrow is the New Moon, and you will be missed because your seat will be empty. 19 For three days you are to remain far down and come to the place where you hid on the day of the incident, and stay near the marker stone.* 20 I will shoot three arrows in that direction as if I were shooting at a target. 21 Behold, I will then send the lad [saying], 'Go find the arrows.' If I say to the lad, 'Behold, the arrows are on this side of you!' then you yourself may take the arrows and return, for it is well with you and there is no concern, as HASHEM lives. 22 But if I say this to the boy: 'Behold, the arrows are beyond you!' then go, for [this is a signal that] HASHEM has sent you away. 23 *But this matter of which we have spoken, I and you — behold, HASHEM remains [witness] between me and you forever."

An uneventful day

24 David concealed himself in the field. It was the New Moon and the king sat at the meal to eat. 25 The king sat at his seat as at other times, at the seat by the wall; Jonathan stood up and Abner sat at Saul's side, and David's seat was empty.* 26 Saul said nothing on that day, for he thought, "It is a coincidence; he must be impure, for he has not been cleansed."

27 It was the day after the New Moon, the second [day of the month], and 20:23. Even if you are forced to flee, God is witness that our covenant of friendship remains eternal.

20:25. David usually sat between Jonathan and Saul. Since David was absent, Jonathan had been sitting next to his father, but then gave that place to Abner, as it was not considered respectful for a son to recline right next to his father (Rashi), or because he was apprehensive that Saul might become enraged (Radak).

20:42. Above, v. 23.

21:2. After the Philistines destroyed the Tabernacle at Shiloh, a new national altar was erected at Nob, and the communal sacrificial service was performed there.

21:4. David implied that five attendants awaited him in the secret place (Malbim).

21:5-7. The only bread Ahimelech had available was the show-bread (see Leviticus 24:5-9), which only Kohanim were allowed to eat and which must be kept in a state of the highest ritual purity. Since David's need for food was a life-or-death matter, the Kohen ruled that he could give

David's place was empty. So Saul said to Jonathan, his son, "Why did the son of Jesse not come to the meal either yesterday or today?"

28 Jonathan answered Saul, "David asked me for permission to go to Bethlehem. 29 He said, 'Please grant me leave, for we have a family feast-offering in the city, and he — my brother — summoned me; so now, if I have found favor in your eyes, please let me be excused that I may see my brothers.' That is why he did not come to the king's table."

Saul reveals his hatred

30 *Saul's anger flared up at Jonathan, and he said to him, "Son of a pervertedly rebellious woman! Do I not know that you choose the son of Jesse, to your own shame and the shame of your mother's nakedness? 31 For all the days that the son of Jesse is alive on the earth, you and your kingdom will not be established! And now send and bring him to me, for he is deserving of death!"

32 But Jonathan spoke up to his father Saul, and said to him, "Why should he die? What has he done?"

33 Saul hurled his spear at him to strike him. Jonathan then realized that his father had decided to kill David. 34 Jonathan arose from the table enraged; he did not partake of food on that second day of the month, for he was saddened over David, and because his father had humiliated him.

The dear friends' emotional parting

35 It happened the next morning that Jonathan went out to the field for the meeting with David, and a young attendant was with him. 36 He said to his attendant, "Please run and find the arrows that I shoot." The attendant ran, and he shot the arrow to go beyond him. 37 The attendant arrived at the place of the arrow that Jonathan had shot, and Jonathan called out after the attendant and said, "Is not the arrow beyond you?" 38 Jonathan then called out after the attendant, "Quickly, hurry, do not stand still!" Jonathan's attendant gathered the arrows and came to his master. 39 The attendant knew nothing; only Jonathan and David understood the matter. 40 Jonathan gave his equipment to his attendant and said to him, "Go, bring it to the city."

41 The attendant went and David stood up from near the south [side of the stone], and he fell on his face to the ground and prostrated himself three times. Each man kissed the other and they wept with one another, until David [wept] greatly. 42 Jonathan said to David, "Go to peace. What the two of us have sworn in the Name of HASHEM — saying, 'HASHEM shall be [a witness] between me and you, and between my offspring and your offspring' — shall be forever!"*

1 [David] arose and left, and Jonathan came back to the city. 2 David came to Nob, to Ahimelech the Kohen. Ahimelech hurried to greet David, and said to him, "Why are you alone, with no one accompanying you?"*

3 David said to Ahimelech the Kohen, "The king ordered me on a mission, and told me, 'No man may know anything about the matter for which I have sent you and commanded you.' Thus, I informed my attendants to be at a certain secret place. 4 And now, what do you have available? Five loaves of bread? Give them — or whatever there is — into my hand."*

A hungry David requests food

5 The Kohen answered David, saying, "I have no ordinary bread available; there is only sacred bread, provided that your attendants have kept themselves from women."

the breads to David, but they had to be kept ritually pure (Rashi). In response, David assured him that this would be done, and that he and his men would be even more careful now that they would have the sacred bread.

21:5. Had they been intimate, they would have become impure (see Leviticus 15:18).

21:8. Doeg, who resided in Edomite territory, had come to the Tabernacle to bring offerings or to worship. According to the Sages, he was chief of the shepherds who lead the nation's spiritual life, i.e. a chief judge.
21:16. David's ruse succeeded. Achish felt that this madman could not be the famed David (Metzudos).

6 David answered the Kohen, and said to him, "Women have been withheld from us yesterday and the day before; [moreover], when I left, the garments of the attendants were pure, even though this is a mundane mission — surely
The Kohen gives David both sacred bread and Goliath's sword today it will remain sacred in a [proper] vessel." 7 So the Kohen gave him sacred food, for there was no other bread there except for the show-bread that was being removed from before HASHEM, in order to place hot bread on the day it is taken off.

8 Now there on that day was one of Saul's servants, who lingered before HASHEM. His name was Doeg the Edomite; he was the chief of Saul's shepherds.*

9 David then said to Ahimelech, "Perhaps you have here under your hand a spear or a sword, for I did not take my sword and my weapons with me, since the king's mission was urgent."

10 The Kohen said, "The sword of Goliath, whom you slew in the Terebinth Valley, is wrapped up in a cloth behind the Ephod; if you want to take it, take it, for there is none other here except for it."

And David said, "There is none like it; give it to me."

11 David arose and fled from Saul on that day, and he came to Achish, king of Gath. 12 The servants of Achish said to him, "Is this not David, the king of the land? Is it not of him that they sing with the timbrels, saying, 'Saul has slain his thousands, and David his tens of thousands'?"

13 David took this matter to heart and was greatly afraid of Achish, king of Gath. 14 So he changed his demeanor in their eyes and feigned madness while in their presence; he scribbled on the doors of the gateway and let his saliva drip into his beard. 15 Achish said to his servants, "Behold — you see the man is mad; why do you bring him to me? 16 Do I lack madmen that you have brought this one to carry on madly before me? Should this person enter my house?"*

1 David went from there and escaped to the cave of Adullam. His brothers and all his father's house heard about this, and went down to him
The beleaguered gather around David there. 2 They gathered to him — every man in distress, every man with a creditor, and every man embittered of spirit — and he became their leader. With him were about four hundred men.

3 David went from there to Mizpeh of Moab, and he said to the king of Moab, "Let my father and mother come out here and be with you until I know what God will do with me." 4 So he escorted them to the king of Moab and they stayed with him all the days that David was in the fortress. 5 Gad the Prophet said to David, "Do not stay in the fortress; go and get yourself to the land of Judah." So David went and arrived at the forest of Hereth.

Saul appeals for loyalty

6 Saul heard that David and the men with him had been discovered. Saul was sitting in Gibeah under the tamarisk tree with his spear in his hand, with all his servants standing about him. 7 Saul said to his servants who were standing about him, "Listen now, [fellow] Benjamites. Is the son of Jesse going to give you all fields and vineyards, is he going to make you all captains of thousands and captains of hundreds, 8 that you have all organized against me and no one revealed to me that my son covenanted with the son of Jesse; and that none among you is distressed for me or reveals to me that my son has incited my Doeg's treachery servant to rise up and ambush me, [as clearly] as this day?"

9 Then Doeg the Edomite, who was appointed over Saul's servants, spoke up

22:15. Ahimelech was shocked at the accusation. He said that he had often inquired of God for David, since David was known to be a leading member of Saul's court, and he had no knowledge of the friction between Saul and David.

22:16. A king has the right to supersede the judicial process to put down a rebellion. Thus, since he was and said, "I saw the son of Jesse come to Nob, to Ahimelech son of Ahitub.

10 He inquired of HASHEM for him and gave him provisions, and he gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine."

Saul accuses Ahimelech

11 So the king sent for Ahimelech son of Ahitub the Kohen and all his father's house, the Kohanim of Nob, and they all came to the king. 12 Saul said, "Listen now, son of Ahitub!" And he said, "Here I am, my lord." 13 Saul said to him, "Why did you organize against me — you and the son of Jesse — by giving him food and a sword, and inquiring of God for him, so that he could arise and ambush me, [as clearly] as this day?"

*14 Ahimelech answered the king, and said, "Who among all your servants is as trustworthy as David? He is the king's son-in-law, obeys your bidding, and is honored in your household. 15 Did I begin today to inquire for him of God? It would be sacrilegious for me [to betray the king]! Let the king not accuse his servant or my father's entire household of anything, for your servant did not know anything small or great about all of this."

The annihilation of Nob's Kohanim

*16 But the king said, "You must die, Ahimelech, you and all your father's house!"

17 The king then said to the footmen who stood about him, "Surround and kill the Kohanim of HASHEM, because their hand is also with David, and because they knew that he was fleeing and did not inform me." But the servants of the king were not willing to send forth their hand to slay the Kohanim of HASHEM.
18 So the king said to Doeg, "You circle around and slay the Kohanim!" Doeg the Edomite circled around and he killed the Kohanim; on that day he killed eighty-five men, wearers of linen robes. 19 And Nob, the city of Kohanim, he killed by the blade of the sword: man and woman alike; child and suckling alike; ox, donkey and sheep.

David shelters the lone survivor

20 One son of Ahimelech son of Ahitub — his name was Abiathar — escaped, and he fled to David. 21 Abiathar told David that Saul had massacred the Kohanim of HASHEM. 22 David said to Abiathar, "I knew on that day that Doeg the Edomite was there and that he would certainly inform Saul. I am responsible for every life of your father's house! 23 Stay with me and fear not, for the man who seeks my life seeks your life, as well. You are safe with me."

David saves Keilah

1 They told David, saying, "Behold, the Philistines are battling against Keilah and they are pillaging the granaries." 2 David then inquired of HASHEM, saying, "Shall I go and strike down these Philistines?" And HASHEM replied to David, "Go, strike the Philistines and save Keilah." 3 But David's men said to him, "Behold, we are afraid [even] here in Judah; how much more so if we go to Keilah to the Philistine lines!" 4 So David inquired again of HASHEM, and HASHEM answered him, "Arise, go down to Keilah, for I am delivering the Philistines into your hand." 5 David and his men went to Keilah and battled the Philistines; he led away their livestock and struck them a great blow. Thus David saved the residents of Keilah.*

6 When Abiathar son of Ahimelech fled to David to Keilah, he brought the Ephod with him.

7 Saul was told that David had come to Keilah, and Saul said, "God has convinced that the Kohanim were out to depose or kill him, Saul could impose the death penalty.

23:2. Abiathar had brought the Urim VeTumim (see v. 6) through which the Kohen could make inquiries of God.

gates and bar." 8 So Saul summoned all the people for war, to go down to Keilah to besiege David and his men. 9 David learned that Saul was planning evil against him, and he said to Ebiathar the Kohen, "Bring forth the Ephod." 10 David said, "HASHEM, God of Israel, Your servant has heard that Saul seeks to come to Keilah to destroy the city on my account. 11 Will the inhabitants of Keilah give me over into his hand? Will Saul come down here, as Your servant has heard? HASHEM, God of Israel, please tell Your servant!" And HASHEM said, "He will come down." 12 David then said, "Will the inhabitants of Keilah give me and my men over into the hand of Saul?" And HASHEM replied, "They will give* [you] over." 13 So David and his men — about six hundred men — arose and left Keilah and went wherever they could go. When Saul was told that David had escaped from Keilah, he stopped advancing.

14 David then dwelled in the wilderness in strongholds, or he dwelt in the mountain, in the Wilderness of Ziph. Saul searched for him all the days, but God did not deliver him into his hand. 15 David saw that Saul had gone forth to seek his life, and David was in the Wilderness of Ziph, in the forest. 16 Jonathan son of Saul arose and went to see David in the forest, and he encouraged him with the word of God. 17 He said to him, "Fear not, for the hand of my father Saul will not find you; you will reign over Israel and I will be second to you, and even my father Saul knows it." 18 The two of them sealed a covenant before HASHEM. David stayed on in the forest, and Jonathan went to his home.*

The Ziphites betray David
*19 Some Ziphites went up to Saul in Gibeah, saying, "David is hiding among us in the strongholds in the forest in Hachilah Hill, south of Jeshimon. 20 So now, however your soul desires to come down, O king, come down — and we undertake to give him over into the hand of the king." 21 Saul said, "Blessed are you unto HASHEM, for you have shown me compassion! 22 Go now and prepare further, ascertain and observe his location, where he dwells, and who has seen him there, * for someone has told me he acts with great cunning. 23 Observe and ascertain all the hiding places where he conceals himself and come back to me with a precise report, and then I shall go with you. And it will be [that] if he is in the land, I will search him out from among all the thousands of Judah."*

24 So they arose and went back to Ziph ahead of Saul. David and his men were in the Wilderness of Maon in the Arabah, south of Jeshimon. 25 Saul and his men went to search, and people told David, so he descended to the Rock and stayed in the Wilderness of Maon. Saul heard and pursued David to the Wilderness of Maon. 26 Saul went on this side of the mountain while David and his men were on that side of the mountain; David hastened to go away from Saul, but Saul *and his men were surrounding David and his men, to capture them. 27 Then a messenger came to Saul saying, "Hurry and go — for the Philistines have spread out over the land!" 28 So Saul returned from chasing after David, and went toward the Philistines. This is why that place is called "the Rock of Divisions."

24 1 David ascended from there and dwelt in the strongholds of En-gedi. 2 When Saul returned from [chasing] after the Philistines, people told him, saying,

24:6. David felt that it was disrespectful for him to have damaged a garment of the king, so surely David rejected his men's contention that he should slay Saul.

24:8. They had been unanimous in their insistence that Saul be attacked, but David broke their ranks with his vehement verbal onslaught.

24:13. If God brings retribution upon you, it will not be through me.

Saul resumes his pursuit

"Behold, David is in the Wilderness of En-gedi." 3 So Saul took three thousand chosen men, from all of Israel, and went to seek David and his men over the rocks of the wild goats. 4 He came to sheep enclosures along the road, and there was a cave there, which Saul entered to relieve himself. David and his men were sitting at the far end of the cave.

David spares Saul's life

5 David's men said to him, "Behold, this is the day of which HASHEM said to you, 'Behold, I am delivering your enemy into your hand, and you may do to him as you please'!" So David arose and stealthily cut off a corner of Saul's robe. 6 Afterwards, however, David's conscience troubled him for having cut off the corner of Saul's [garment]. * 7 He said to his men, "It would be sacrilegious before HASHEM for me to do this thing to my lord, the anointed of HASHEM, to send forth my hand against him, for he is the anointed of HASHEM!" 8 And David sundered his men with rhetoric, * and did not permit them to rise up against Saul. Then Saul rose up from the cave and continued on the way.

A passionate declamation

9 After that David arose and stepped out of the cave, calling after Saul, saying, "My lord, the king!" Saul looked behind him, and David bowed down on his face to the ground, and he prostrated himself. 10 David said to Saul, "Why do you listen to the words of someone who says, 'Behold, David seeks to harm you'? 11 Behold! This day your eyes have seen that HASHEM delivered you into my hand in the cave today, and [although] someone said to kill you, [my soul] took pity on you, and I said, 'I shall not send forth my hand against my lord, for he is the anointed of HASHEM!' 12 See now, my father, indeed, see the corner of your coat that is in my hand, for since I have cut off the corner of your coat and have not killed you, you should know and see that there is no evil or rebellion in my hand, and that I have not sinned against you — yet you hunt my soul to take it! 13 May HASHEM judge between me and you, and may HASHEM avenge me from you — but my hand will not act against you. * 14 As the ancient proverb says, 'Wickedness issues from the wicked'; but my hand will not act against you. 15 After whom has the king of Israel gone out? Whom are you pursuing? After [someone as insignificant as] a dead dog, after a single flea! 16 May HASHEM be an arbiter, and judge between me and you; may He see and take up my grievance, and vindicate me from your hand."

Saul's remorse

17 And it was when David finished speaking these words to Saul, Saul said, "Is that your voice, my son David?" — and Saul raised his voice and wept. 18 He said to David, "You are more righteous than I, for you have repaid me with goodness while I have repaid you with wickedness. 19 You have proven today that you have done [only] good with me, for HASHEM delivered me into your hand but you did not kill me. 20 Does a man find his enemy and then send him off on a good way? May HASHEM repay you with beneficence for what you have done to me this day. 21 Now behold! I know that you will certainly reign, and the kingship over Israel shall be established in your hand. 22 So now, swear to me by HASHEM that you will not annihilate my descendants after me and that you will not destroy my name from my father's house."

23 David swore to Saul. Saul went to his house and David and his men ascended to the stronghold.

25 Samuel dies

1 Samuel died, and all of Israel gathered and eulogized him, and they buried him at his home in Ramah.

25:6. May the prosperity of this sheep-shearing be repeated as long as you live! (Rashi).

25:7. We fulfilled their every request and did not shame them with rejection (Rashi).

25:9. Though exhausted from the trip, they did not rest until they had delivered the message to Nabal.

25:22. "David's enemies" is a euphemism for David himself. He took an oath to punish Nabal's cruelty. Since it was known that David had been anointed as the future king, Nabal's insolence was tantamount to rebellion and punishable by death (Ralbag).

The term מַשְׁתִּין בְּקִיר, literally, one that urinates against

NABAL AND ABIGAIL 25:1-44

David arose and descended to the Wilderness of Paran.

2 There was a man in Maon whose business was in Carmel. The man was very wealthy; he owned three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. [The following once] happened at the shearing of his sheep in Carmel: 3 (The man's name was Nabal and his wife's name was Abigail; the woman was intelligent and beautiful, but the man was difficult and an evildoer; he was a descendant of Caleb.) 4 David heard in the wilderness that Nabal was shearing his sheep, 5 so David sent ten attendants, and David said to the attendants, "Go up to Carmel and approach Nabal, inquiring after his welfare, in my name. 6 And say: 'Such [success] for life! Peace be upon you, peace be upon your household, and peace be upon all that is yours!* 7 And now, I have heard that they are shearing for you. Now, your shepherds stayed with us, we did not shame them and they did not lack anything all the days they were in Carmel —* 8 ask your attendants and they will tell you [so]. [Therefore] let my attendants find favor in your eyes, for we have come because of [your] celebration — please give whatever you can to your servants and to your son, to David.' "

David asks for food

Nabal's insolent selfishness

9 *David's attendants came and spoke in accordance with all these words to Nabal in David's name, and then rested. 10 Nabal replied to David's servants, and said, "Who is David and who is the son of Jesse? These days the rebellious servants have increased, each against his master! 11 Should I take from my bread and my water and my meat that I have slaughtered for my shearers and give them to men about whose origin I do not know?"

12 David's attendants turned around to their way, and they went back, arrived and reported to him in accordance with all these words. 13 David said to his men, "Each man gird his sword!" Each man girded his sword, and David, too, girded his sword. About four hundred men went after David, and two hundred others stayed with the belongings.

14 One young man from the attendants told Abigail, Nabal's wife, saying, "Behold! David sent messengers from the wilderness to greet our master and he drove them off. 15 These men were very good to us; we were not shamed, nor were we lacking anything all the days that we traveled with them, when we were in the field. 16 They were a [protective] wall over us, both by night and by day, all the days we were with them tending the sheep. 17 And now be aware and determine what to do, for the evil [decree] has been made final against our master and against his entire household, and he himself is too base a person even to talk to."

Abigail's wisdom and courage saves her undeserving husband

18 So Abigail hurried and took two hundred breads, two containers of wine, five cooked sheep, five se'ahs of toasted grain, a hundred raisin-clusters, and two hundred cakes of pressed figs, and she put them on the donkeys. 19 She said to her attendants, "Go on ahead of me; behold, I am coming behind you." But she did not tell Nabal her husband. 20 Then it happened, as she was riding on the donkey, clandestinely descending the mountain, behold — David and his men were descending [the other mountain] toward her, and she met them.

21 Now David had said, "It was for naught that I guarded all of this man's possessions in the desert and there was not missing anything from all that belonged to him; yet he has repaid my kindness with evil. 22 Such shall God do to David's enemies and such shall He do further, if I leave over until morning of all that belongs to him so much as a dog!"

the wall, refers to males, and can be applied to either human beings or dogs. Thus, David says that no male offspring of Nabal's will remain (Metzudos); or, not even a dog of Nabal's will remain (Radak).

25:25. A play on words: The Hebrew name נָבָל, Nabal, is related to נְבָלָה, revulsion.

25:26. Though wealthy (v. 2), he is unimportant and powerless. May all your enemies be as weak and insignificant!

25:37. Nabal was distressed by her extravagant gift to David.

23 When Abigail saw David she hurried and dismounted from the donkey, and fell on her face before David and prostrated herself to the ground. 24 She fell at his feet and said, "With me myself, my lord, lies the sin. Let your maidservant please speak in your ears, and hear out the words of your maidservant. 25 Let my lord not set his heart against this base man — against Nabal — for he is as his name implies — Nabal is his name and revulsion is his trait;* and I, your maidservant, did not see my lord's attendants whom you sent. 26 Now, my lord, as HASHEM lives — and by your life — as HASHEM has prevented you from coming to bloodshed and from your own hand avenging you, may all your enemies and all those who wish evil upon my lord be like Nabal!* 27 And now, this homage that your maidservant has brought to my lord — let it be given to the attendants who are traveling with my lord. 28 Please forgive the sin of your maidservant, for HASHEM shall certainly make for my lord an enduring house, for my lord fights the wars of HASHEM; and no blame has been found in you in your days. 29 A man has risen up to pursue you and to seek your life! May my lord's soul be bound up in the bond of life, with HASHEM, your God, and may He hurl away the soul of your enemies as one shoots a stone from a slingshot. 30 And may it be that when HASHEM performs for my lord all the beneficence of which He has spoken regarding you, and appoints you as leader over Israel, 31 that this not be for you a stumbling block and a moral hindrance for my lord, to have shed innocent blood for my lord to have avenged himself! And may HASHEM act beneficently towards my lord, and may you [then] remember your maidservant."

David relents and expresses admiration for Abigail

32 David then said to Abigail, "Blessed is HASHEM, God of Israel, who sent you this day to meet me. 33 And blessed is your advice and blessed are you, who have restrained me from coming to bloodshed and avenging myself by my own hand. 34 Truly, as HASHEM, God of Israel, lives — Who has prevented me from harming you — had you not hurried and come to meet me, by morning's light there would not have remained to Nabal as much as a dog." 35 David then accepted from her what she had brought to him. He said to her, "Go up in peace to your house. See, I have heeded your advice, and I shall show you grace."

36 Abigail then came to Nabal and behold, he was having a feast in his house — a feast fit for the king. Nabal's heart was pleased about himself, and he was very drunk, so she did not tell him anything minor or major until the morning's light. 37 And it was in the morning, when Nabal had become sober, his wife told him of these matters, his heart [seemed to have] died within him, and he was stunned.*

Nabal dies and David marries Abigail

38 It happened after ten days that HASHEM struck Nabal and he died. 39 When David heard that Nabal had died, he said, "Blessed is HASHEM, Who has taken up the cause of my disgrace from the hand of Nabal, and has prevented His servant from wrongdoing; and HASHEM has returned Nabal's evil upon his head." Then David sent [agents] and spoke regarding Abigail to take her to himself as a wife.

40 David's servants came to Abigail to Carmel and spoke to her saying, "David has sent us to you, to take you for himself as a wife." 41 She arose and prostrated herself to the ground and said, "Your maidservant is merely a handmaid to wash the feet of the servants of my lord."

42 Abigail then hurried, arose and mounted the donkey, with her five maids traveling with her, and she followed David's messengers and became 25:44. Saul contended that David's betrothal of Michal was invalid, so he gave her to Palti. Palti, however, was righteous and did not cohabit with her (Sanhedrin 19b).

26:14-16. Abner berated David for disturbing Saul's his wife. 43 David also married Ahinoam of Jezreel, and both of them were his wives. 44 Saul had given his daughter Michal, David's [intended] wife, to Palti son of Laish of Gallim. *

DAVID SPARES SAUL AGAIN 26:1-25

The Ziphites reveal David's whereabouts

1 The Ziphites came to Saul at Gibeah, saying, "Is David not hiding himself in Hachilah Hill, which faces Jeshimon?" 2 So Saul arose and went down to the Wilderness of Ziph, with three thousand choice men of Israel, to search for David in the Wilderness of Ziph. 3 Saul encamped at Hachilah Hill, which faces Jeshimon, beside the road. David was staying in the wilderness, and he saw that Saul was coming after him, towards the wilderness. 4 David sent out scouts and ascertained that Saul was definitely coming.

David and Abishai come upon the defenseless Saul

5 David then arose and came to the place where Saul was encamped. David saw the place where Saul and Abner, the commander of his army, lay; Saul lay within the circle, with the people encamped all around him. 6 David spoke up and said to Ahimelech the Hittite and Abishai son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, saying, "Who will go down with me to Saul, to the camp?" And Abishai said, "I will go down with you." 7 So David and Abishai came to [Saul's] people at night, and behold — Saul lay asleep in the circle, his spear plunged into the ground by his head, and Abner and the people lay all around him!

David saves Saul again

8 Abishai said to David, "God has delivered your enemy into your hand this day! Now let me strike him with the spear, [driving it] into the ground with a single thrust — I will not need [to strike] a second time!" 9 But David said to Abishai, "Do not destroy him, for who can send forth his hand against the anointed one of HASHEM and be absolved?" 10 David said, "As HASHEM lives, HASHEM will strike him with illness, or his day will come and he will die, or he will go forth into battle and perish. 11 It would be sacrilegious before HASHEM for me to send forth my hand against HASHEM's anointed one. Now, please take the spear that is near Saul's head and the flask of water, and let us go."

12 So David took the spear and the flask of water from near Saul's head and they left. No one saw, no one knew, and no one awoke, for they were all asleep, for a deep sleep from HASHEM had fallen upon them.

13 David then crossed the ford and stood on a mountaintop from afar; there was considerable distance between them. 14 And David called out to the people and to Abner son of Ner, saying, "Won't you answer, Abner?" So Abner answered and said, "Who are you that you shout at the king!"*

15 David said to Abner, "Are you not a great man? Who is your equal in Israel? So why did you not guard your lord, the king? For someone from among the people came to assassinate the king, your master! 16 This thing that you have done is not proper! As HASHEM lives, you all deserve to die for you have not watched over your master, over the anointed one of HASHEM. Now, look — where are the king's spear and the flask of water that were near his head?"

17 Saul recognized David's voice and said, "Is that your voice, my son David?" David replied, "It is my voice, my lord, the king." 18 And he said [further], "Why is this, my lord pursuing his servant? For what have I done and what evil is in my hand? 19 And now, let my lord the king listen to the words of his servant: If it is HASHEM Who has incited you against me, then He will be appeased sleep by shouting, whereupon David accused Abner of neglecting his duty to guard Saul. By showing that he had had the opportunity to assassinate Saul, David wanted to prove yet again that he was not the King's enemy.

26:19. If your anger is God's punishment for me, then I can appease Him through repentance and an offering.

David was angered that people might have conspired to drive him from Eretz Yisrael, God's "heritage," for to leave the holiness of the Land of Israel and live among non-Jews is comparable to worshiping false gods (see Kesubos 110b).

26:20. May the constant threat to my life not go unnoticed by God. You are chasing me — an insignificant flea — as if I were an elusive, tempting partridge.

27:1. David did not accept Saul's assurance that he could return and feel secure. It was not the first time Saul had had short-lived regrets.

27:2. David had fled from Achish once before (see 21:11 ff.), but this time he apparently made a prior agreement with Achish noting, as implied by verse 12, that he had with an offering — but if it is men, may they be cursed before HASHEM, for they have driven me away this day from attaching myself to the heritage of HASHEM, [as if] to say, 'Go worship the gods of others!' 20 *And now, let my blood not be cast to the ground, away from HASHEM's attention, for the king of Israel has gone to seek out a single flea as one hunts the partridge in the mountains."

Saul pleads for reconciliation

21 Saul then said, "I have sinned! Come back, my son David, for I will no longer cause you harm, because my life has been precious in your eyes this day. Behold, I have been foolish and have very greatly erred." 22 David then spoke up and said, "Here is the spear of the King; let one of the attendants cross over and take it. 23 May HASHEM repay every man his righteousness and his faithfulness; for HASHEM delivered you into [my] hand today, but I had no desire to send forth my hand against the anointed one of HASHEM. 24 Behold, just as your life was important to me this day, so may my life be important in the eyes of HASHEM, and may He save me from all misfortune."

25 Saul then said to David, "Blessed are you, my son David. May you accomplish much and may you be very successful." Then David went on his way and Saul returned to his place.

DAVID IN THE "SERVICES" OF ACHISH 27:1-28:2

In desperation, David goes to Philistia

1 David said to himself, "Now I may well perish one day at the hand of Saul. There is nothing better for me than to escape to the land of the Philistines; then Saul will despair of searching for me again anywhere in the borders of Israel, and I will have escaped from his hand."* 2 So David arose and crossed over, with the six hundred men who were with him, to Achish son of Maoch, king of Gath.* 3 David dwelt with Achish in Gath, he and his men, each man with his household; David with his two wives, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail, the [former] wife of Nabal, the Carmelite. 4 It was told to Saul that David had fled to Gath, so he no longer searched for him.

David convinces Achish that he hates the Israelites . . .

5 David said to Achish, "If I have found favor in your eyes, let them give me a place in one of the towns of the countryside that I may settle there. Why should your servant dwell in the royal city with you?" 6 So Achish gave him Ziklag on that day; this is why Ziklag belongs to the kings of Judah to this day. 7 The number of days that David dwelled in the Philistine countryside was four months and two days.

. . . but David carries out raids on the Israelites' enemies

8 *David and his men went up and spread out against the Geshurite and the Gizrite and the Amalekite, for they were the original inhabitants of the land, from where you approach Shur until the land of Egypt. 9 David would smite the land, and would not leave a man or woman alive; he would take sheep and cattle and donkeys and camels and clothing, and would return and come to Achish. 10 Achish would ask, "Where did you raid today?" And David would say, "Against the south of Judah," or "against the south of the Jerahmeelite," or "against the south of the Kenite."* 11 And David would not leave alive any man or woman to bring back [captive] to Gath, saying [to himself], "Lest they inform about us, saying, 'This is what David did and this has been his practice all the days that he has been dwelling in the Philistine countryside.' " 12 And Achish believed David, thinking, "He has really come to abhor his people Israel, and he will be my servant always."

run afoul of Saul (Radak).

27:8. Thus they were subject to the command given to Israel (Deuteronomy 20:16-18) that they should be driven from the Land of Israel (Malbim) and, in fact, there had been a state of war between them and the people of Israel.

27:10. One of the families of Judah. David gained the confidence of Achish by convincing him that he was attacking his fellow Jews. (See 15:6 regarding the Kenite.)

28:2. David was deliberately vague in his reply; he certainly had no intention of fighting against his people. However, his answer was good enough to make Achish think, wishfully, that David was loyal enough to be his personal bodyguard.

28:3. Thus, Saul could not inquire of Samuel. Nor could he inquire of those who divined through the dead (see Leviticus 19:31; Deuteronomy 18:11) because he had banished them. This sets the stage for the ensuing narrative.

28:6. See Exodus 28:30.

28:11. Just as God gave great powers to the forces of holiness, as is plain from the exploits of patriarchs and prophets, so He gave great powers to the forces of profanity. This was in order to create tests of faith, so that

28 1 It happened in those days that the Philistines mobilized their camps to the army, to fight against Israel, and Achish said to David, "Know that you will go forth with me to the camp — you and your men." 2 David replied to Achish, "Therefore you shall see what your servant will do!" Achish then said to David, "Therefore I will appoint you as my permanent bodyguard."*

SAUL SEEKS A NECROMANCER 28:3-25

3 Samuel had died and all Israel eulogized him and buried him in Ramah, in his home town. Saul had banished the necromancers and the Yidoni-diviners* from the Land.

4 The Philistines mobilized, they came and encamped at Shunem, and Saul mobilized all Israel and they encamped at Gilboa. 5 When Saul saw the Philistine camp he was afraid and his heart trembled greatly. 6 Saul inquired of HASHEM, but HASHEM did not answer him; neither in a dream, nor through the Urim [VeTumim],* nor through the prophets. 7 So Saul said to his servants, "Seek out a woman who practices necromancy, and I will go to her and inquire through her." His servants said to him, "Behold, there is a woman who practices necromancy in En-dor."

8 So Saul disguised himself; he donned different clothing, and he went [taking] two men with him. They came to the woman at night, and he said to her, "Please divine for me through necromancy, and raise up whomever I shall tell you." 9 But the woman said to him, "Behold, you surely know what Saul has done — that he has eliminated the necromancers and Yidoni-diviner from the land — so why do you seek to entrap me, to have me killed?" 10 Saul then swore to her by HASHEM, saying, "As HASHEM lives, this thing will not be held against you as an iniquity."

She raises up the soul of Samuel

11 The woman asked, "Whom shall I raise up for you?" And he said, "Raise up Samuel for me."* 12 The woman then saw Samuel, and she screamed in a loud voice. The woman said to Saul, "Why did you deceive me? You are Saul!" 13 The king then said to her, "Fear not. What did you see?" The woman said to Saul, "I saw a great man ascending from the earth." 14 He then said to her, "What does he look like?" She said, "An elderly man is ascending, and he is garbed in a cloak." Saul realized that it was Samuel, and he bowed down upon his face to the ground and prostrated himself.

15 Samuel said to Saul, "Why did you disturb me, to raise me up?" Saul replied, "I am in great distress, and the Philistines are at war against me; God has turned away from me and does not answer me anymore, neither through the hand of the prophets nor in dreams — so I called upon you to inform me what I should do."

Samuel delivers a dire prediction

16 Samuel then said, "But why do you ask me, since HASHEM has turned away from you and has become your adversary, 17 and HASHEM has done for Himself that which He spoke through me,* for HASHEM has torn the kingship from your hand and given it to your fellow, to David? 18 Because you did not obey the word of HASHEM and did not carry out His wrath against Amalek, therefore HASHEM has done this thing to you this day. 19 And HASHEM will deliver Israel with you into the hand of the Philistines; tomorrow you and your sons will be with me, and also the Israelite camp will HASHEM deliver into the hand of the Philistines."

Saul is devastated by the news

20 Saul quickly fell his full height to the ground and he was exceedingly fright-people could choose between good and evil. Now, in his desperation for counsel, Saul resorted to this forbidden device to call upon the spirit of Samuel.

29:3. Achish meant to say that although David had been there for only a bit over four months (27:7), he felt as if he had known David for years (Radak).

30:2. The men were with David at the front, so the Amalekites could take the women and children without resistance or fatalities (Radak).

ened by Samuel's words; also he had no strength for he had not eaten any food all the day and all the night. 21 The woman came over to Saul and saw that he was greatly terrified, and she said to him, "Behold, your maidservant heeded your voice and I put my life in my hand, and I listened to your words that you spoke to me. 22 Now you, too, listen to the voice of your maidservant. I will place before you a piece of bread so that you may eat, so that you may have strength when you go on your way." 23 But he refused, and said, "I shall not eat." His servants, and also the woman, urged him strongly, and he listened to their voice. He arose from the ground and sat on the bed. 24 The woman had a fattened calf in her house, she hurried and slaughtered it; and she took flour and kneaded it and baked it into matzos. 25 She set it before Saul and before his servants and they ate; and they arose and left that night.

THE PHILISTINES DISMISS DAVID 29:1-11

1 The Philistines mobilized their entire army to Aphek, and Israel was encamped by the spring that is in Jezreel. 2 The governors of the Philistines were passing by with hundreds and thousands, and David and his men were passing at the rear with Achish. 3 The Philistine officers said, "What are these Hebrews [doing here]?" And Achish replied to the Philistine officers, "Is this not David, the servant of Saul, king of Israel, who has been with me for these days or these years, and I have found no fault with him from the day he encamped [with me] until this very day."* 4 But the Philistine officers were angry with him, and the Philistine officers said to him, "Send this man back, and let him return to the place that you assigned to him. Let him not go down to battle with us, so that he not be an antagonist to us in the battle. With what can this person ingratiate himself to his lord? Is it not with the heads of these [our] men? 5 Is this not David, of whom they sing with the timbrels, saying, 'Saul has slain his thousands and David his tens of thousands'?"

6 So Achish called David and said to him, "As HASHEM lives, you are an upright person, and your going forth and coming in with me in the camp would have been fine with me, for I have found nothing wrong with you from the day of your coming to me until this very day; but in the eyes of the governors you are not good. 7 So now, return, and go in peace, and do not do what is wrong in the eyes of the Philistine governors."

"Reluctantly" and protesting his innocence, David leaves the front

8 David then said to Achish, "But what have I done, and what [fault] have you found with your servant from the day I have been before you to this very day, that I should not come and fight against the enemies of my lord the king?"

9 So Achish answered, and said to David, "I know — for in my eyes you are as good as an angel of God — but the Philistine officers have said, 'He shall not go up with us into battle.' 10 So now, arise early in the morning along with the servants of your lord who came with you; all of you arise early in the morning, and, when it becomes light enough for you, go." 11 So David and his men arose early, to leave in the morning to return to the land of the Philistines, while the Philistines ascended to Jezreel.

DAVID AVENGES ZIKLAG 30:1-31

1 It happened that when David and his men arrived in Ziklag on the third day, that the Amalekite had spread out to the south and to Ziklag. They had attacked Ziklag and burned it with fire. 2 They had captured the women in it, from small to great, they did not kill a person but led them off and went their way.* 3 When David and his men arrived at the city — and, behold, it was 30:6. David did not despair, but trusted that God would enable him to recover the captives and the booty (Radak).

30:20. David returned the flocks and herds of Ziklag and Judah, but kept the Amalekite livestock as spoils of war.

burned in fire, and their wives and sons and daughters had been captured! —
The Amalekites abduct the women and children
4 David and the people who were with him raised their voices and wept, until they had no strength to weep. 5 Both of David's wives had been captured — Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail, the [former] wife of Nabal the Carmelite. 6 David was very distressed, for the people were ready to stone him, for the soul of all the people was embittered, each over his sons and his daughters; but David drew strength from HASHEM, his God. *

David seeks Divine sanction
7 David said to Ebiathar the Kohen, the son of Ahimelech, "Bring the Ephod to me now," so Ebiathar brought the Ephod to David. 8 David inquired of HASHEM, saying, "Shall I pursue this band? Will I overtake them?" And He said to him, "Pursue, for you will surely overtake them and you will surely rescue."

9 So David went, he and the six hundred men who were with him, and they came to the Besor Brook, where some men remained behind. 10 David pursued, he together with four hundred men, while two hundred men remained, who were too exhausted to cross the Besor Brook. 11 They found an Egyptian man in the field and took him to David; they gave him bread and he ate, and they gave him water to drink. 12 They gave him a cake of pressed figs and two raisin-clusters and he ate, and his spirit returned to him, for he had not eaten bread nor drunk water for three days and three nights. 13 David said to him, "To whom do you belong? And where are you from?" He replied, "I am an Egyptian youth, the slave of an Amalekite man. My master abandoned me because I became ill, three days ago. 14 We raided the south of the Cherethite and the territory of Judah and the south of Caleb, and we burned down Ziklag with fire." 15 So David asked him, "Will you lead me to that band?" And he replied, "Swear to me by God that you will not kill me nor hand me over to my master, and I will lead you to that band."

The chase succeeds
16 So he led him and there they were! — spread out across the face of the entire land, eating and drinking and celebrating with all the great spoils they had taken from the land of the Philistines and the land of Judah. 17 And David smote them from twilight until the evening of the next day; not a man of them survived, except four hundred youths who were riding camels, who fled. 18 So David rescued everything that Amalek had taken, and David rescued his two wives. 19 No one among them was missing, from small to great, sons and daughters, as well as the spoils, including everything they had taken for themselves; David returned everything. 20 David took all the [Amalekite] sheep and cattle; they led them before all that livestock and said, "This is the booty of David."*

21 David then came to the two hundred men who were too exhausted to go follow after David, whom he had stationed at the Besor Brook, and they went to meet David and to meet the people who were with him. David approached the people and inquired after their welfare. 22 Every mean-spirited and base person of the men who had gone with David spoke up and said, "Since they did not go with me, we will not give them of the spoils that we rescued, except to each man his wife and his children; let them take them and go." 23 But David said, "Do not act so, my brothers, with that which HASHEM has given us, for He has watched over us and delivered into our hands the band that had come upon us. 24 Who could hearken to you to such a thing!

* His men led these spoils ahead of the other livestock and announced that they were intended for David.

31:4. Although suicide is normally a grave transgression of Jewish law, the Sages explain that Saul's case was an exception. Radak suggests that this is because he knew that he would surely die anyway, as Samuel had prophesied, and reasoned that it was better to die by his own hand than to be killed in a mocking, disgraceful way by the Philistines.

31:5. Details of the narrative of Saul's death are in II Samuel 1:5-10.

31:12. According to most commentators, they burned Saul's belongings, in accord with the dictum that no one may use a king's possessions. Radak suggests that the bodies had become decomposed and infested, so the people burned the flesh, leaving the bones for burial.

The new decree: an equal division of spoils

Rather, like the portion of the one who went into battle, so is the portion of the one who remained with the baggage; they shall divide [it] equally." [25] And it was from that day on, that [David] made this a decree and a law in Israel, until this day.

[26] When David arrived at Ziklag, he sent some of the spoils to the elders of Judah, to his allies, saying, "Here is a gift for you, from the spoils of the enemies of HASHEM!" [27] [He sent] to those in Beth-el, to those in Ramot of the South, and to those in Jattir; [28] and to those in Aroer and to those in Siphmoth and to those in Eshtemoa; [29] and to those in Rachal and to those in the Jerahmeelite cities and to those in the Kenite cities; [30] and to those in Hormah and to those in Cor Ashan and to those in Athach, [31] and to those in Hebron; and to those in all the places where David had traveled — he and his men.

THE DEATH OF SAUL
31:1 — II-1:27
(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

[1] The Philistines were battling with Israel, and the men of Israel ran off from before the Philistines and fell slain upon Mount Gilboa. [2] The Philistines overtook Saul and his sons, and the Philistines slew Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchi-shua, the son's of Saul. [3] The battle then concentrated against Saul. The archers — the men with bows — found him, and Saul was terrified of the archers. [4] *Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword and stab me with it, lest these uncircumcised people come and stab me and make sport of me." But his armor-bearer did not consent, for he was very frightened, so Saul took the sword himself and fell upon it. [5] When the armor-bearer saw that Saul was dying he also fell upon his sword to die with him.* [6] So Saul and his three sons and his armor-bearer, as well as all of his men, died together on that day.

Jewish demoralization and Philistine plunder

[7] When the men of Israel, who were on the other side of the valley and on the other side of the Jordan, saw that the men of Israel had fled and that Saul and his sons had died, they abandoned their cities and fled, and the Philistines came and settled in them. [8] It happened the next day, when the Philistines came to plunder the corpses, that they found Saul and his three sons, fallen on Mount Gilboa. [9] They severed his head and stripped off his gear, and sent heralds all about the land of the Philistines to inform [those in] the temple of their idols and the people. [10] They placed his gear in the temple of Ashtaroth, and they hung up his remains upon the wall of Beth-shan.

A daring rescue of Saul's remains [11] The inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead heard about him — about what the Philistines had done to Saul — [12] *and all the daring men arose and went throughout the night, and took the remains of Saul and the remains of his sons from the wall of Beth-shan, and came back to Jabesh. They burned them there. [13] They then took their bones and buried them under the tamarisk tree in Jabesh, and they fasted seven days.

[1] It happened after the death of Saul, when David had returned from striking Amalek, and David had been living in Ziklag for two days — [2] it was on

II Samuel

According to the masoretic tradition, the "books" of I Samuel and II Samuel are actually one long book; their designation as two separate books is of non-Jewish origin. Thus, in the total of the twenty-four books of Tanach, all of Samuel is counted as a single book. The same applies to the "books" of Kings and Chronicles. However, for the convenience of the reader, we refer to chapters and verses in the familiar way, e.g. II Samuel 3:10.

1:9. Saul wanted to die before the Philistines could taunt and disgrace him (see I Samuel 31:4).

1:16. Although there were no witnesses and no legal process, David ordered the execution as an emergency measure [הוֹרָאַת שָׁעָה], lest anarchy displace respect for the throne. Halachically, the Amalekite had no right to kill Saul, despite his request.

1:18. The Torah, which alludes to Judah's prowess in archery (Genesis 49:8).

1:19. This refers to Saul (Kara); or the Land of Israel (Radak; see Daniel 11:16). Alternatively: צְבִי means "station, standing" and refers to Israel's stature that has fallen with Saul's death (Rashi).

1:21. Lit., fields of terumah, i.e., beautiful fields that yield abundant tithes.

Leather shields would be oiled so that arrows or spears would slide harmlessly off them.

the third day that, behold! a man came from the camp, from Saul, with his garments torn and with earth upon his head. When he reached David he fell to the ground and prostrated himself. [3] David said to him, "Where are you coming
The report of Saul's death from?" He said to him, "I escaped from the Israelite camp." [4] David then said to him, "What happened? Tell me now!" And he said, "The people fled from the battle, and also many of the people fell and died. And even Saul and Jonathan his son died."

[5] David then said to the young man who was telling him, "How do you know that Saul and Jonathan his son died?" [6] The young man who was telling him said, "I happened to be at Mount Gilboa, and Saul was leaning on his spear. And behold! the chariots and cavalry were overtaking him. [7] He turned around and saw me. He called out to me and I answered, 'Here I am.' [8] He asked me, 'Who are you?' and I told him, 'I am an Amalekite.' [9] *Then he said, 'Stand up over me and put an end to my life, for the throes of death have gripped me, while my soul is still within me.' [10] So I stood over him and ended his life, for I knew that he would not survive after he had fallen [on his sword]. I then took the crown that was on his head and a bracelet that was on his arm and brought them here to my lord."

David and his people mourn
[11] David took hold of his garments and tore them, as did all the people who were with him. [12] They lamented and wept and fasted until evening, over Saul, over Jonathan his son, over the nation of HASHEM, and over the House of Israel, for they had fallen by the sword.

[13] David then asked the young man who was telling him, "Where are you from?" And he replied, "I am the son of an Amalekite convert." [14] David then said to him, "How could you not be afraid to send forth your hand to destroy the anointed one of HASHEM*?"*

[15] David then called one of the attendants and said, "Approach and strike him down!" So he struck him and he died. [16] David said to him, "Your blood is on your own head, for your own mouth testified against you, saying, 'I put to death the anointed one of HASHEM*!' "

David's mournful dirge
[17] David lamented this dirge over Saul and Jonathan his son. [18] He said:

[We must] teach the Children of Judah the archer's bow,
*Behold, this is written in the Book of Uprightness.
[19] O precious One of Israel — upon your heights lie the slain!*
How have the mighty fallen!
[20] Do not tell [it] in Gath; do not spread the tidings
in the streets of Ashkelon — Lest the Philistine girls rejoice, lest the daughters of the uncircumcised jubilate.
[21] O mountains of Gilboa — let neither dew nor rain be upon you,
*nor fields of bounty,
For rejected there was the shield of the mighty ones, the shield of Saul,
*as if unanointed with oil.
[22] From the blood of the slain, from the fat of the mighty, the bow of Jonathan would not recoil,
the sword of Saul would not return empty.
[23] Saul and Jonathan, beloved and pleasant in their lives, and in their death not parted.
They were swifter than eagles, stronger than lions.

1:27. Saul and Jonathan were the weapons of Israel.

2:1. David would reign only with explicit Divine sanction.

2:10. Ish-bosheth reigned only two years during David's term in Hebron. Thus, Israel was without a king for about five-and-a-half years (Radak).

2:14. Gibeon, in the land of Benjamin, was only a few miles from Judean territory. Abner suggested a friendly duel, but the fighting got out of hand and ended in tragedy (Metzudos).

2:18. Zeruiah was David's sister (I Chronicles 2:15-16).

24 O daughters of Israel, weep over Saul, who would clothe you in scarlet with finery,
who would place golden jewelry upon your clothing.
25 How have [the] mighty fallen in the midst of the battle —
Jonathan, slain upon your heights?
26 I am distressed over you, my brother Jonathan;
you were so pleasant to me!
Your love was more wondrous to me than the love of women!
27 How have [the] mighty fallen and the weapons of war gone to waste?*

DAVID AND ISH-BOSHETH 2:1-4:12 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 It happened after this that David inquired of HASHEM, saying, "Shall I go up to one of the cities of Judah?" And* HASHEM answered him, "Go up!" David then asked, "To where shall I go up?" And He responded, "To Hebron." 2 So David went up there with his two wives — Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail, the [former] wife of Nabal the Carmelite. 3 David also brought up his men who were with him, each man with his household, and they settled in the towns around Hebron. 4 The men of Judah came and there they anointed David as king of the House of Judah.

David reigns in Hebron

It was told to David, saying, "[It was] the men of Jabesh-gilead who buried Saul." 5 So David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh-gilead, and said to them, "Blessed are you to HASHEM for you have performed this act of kindness for your lord, Saul, for you have buried him. 6 So now, may HASHEM perform acts of kindness and truth for you. I, too, shall repay you for this benevolence, because you have done this deed. 7 And now, may your hands be strong and may you be courageous, for your lord Saul has died; moreover the House of Judah has anointed me as king over them."

David blesses those who buried Saul

Ish-bosheth assumes Saul's kingship

8 Now Abner son of Ner, the commander of Saul's army, had taken Ish-bosheth son of Saul and brought him across to Mahanaim, 9 and made him king over Gilead, over the Asherite, over Jezreel, over Ephraim, over Benjamin and over all of Israel.

10 Ish-bosheth son of Saul was forty years old when he reigned over Israel, and he reigned for two years. (However, the House of Judah was loyal to David;* 11 the number of days that David was king over the House of Judah in Hebron was seven years and six months.)

A bloody duel

12 Abner son of Ner went forth with the servants of Ish-bosheth son of Saul, from Mahanaim to Gibeon. 13 Joab son of Zeruiah and David's servants went forth, and they met together at the Pool of Gibeon; these were sitting at one end of the pool and these were sitting at the other end of the pool. 14 Abner then said to Joab, "Let the young soldiers arise and duel before us!" And Joab answered, "Let them arise!"* 15 So they arose and crossed [the pool] according to a set number — twelve for Benjamin and Ish-bosheth son of Saul, and twelve of David's servants. 16 Each man grabbed his opponent's head, and then thrust his sword into his opponent's side, and they fell together. They called that place Helkat-hazzurim (Field of the Swords), which is in Gibeon.

17 A very intense battle ensued on that day, and Abner was defeated along with the men of Israel, by the servants of David. 18 The three sons of Zeruiah were there — Joab, Abishai and Asahel. Asahel was as swift on his feet as one of the deer that are in the field.* 19 Asahel pursued Abner; he did not

2:21. Not wanting to harm Asahel, Abner urged him to settle for stripping a minor soldier of his armaments.

2:27. If you had not issued your challenge for a duel, this whole tragic episode would never have happened!

3:3. The Sages tell us that Maacah was a war captive (see I Samuel 27:8) whom David married according to the law described in Deuteronomy 21:10-14 (Radak).

3:5. This was another name of Michal, daughter of Saul, David's first and most beloved wife (Rashi).

3:7. Both morally and halachically it is forbidden for a turn away — going to the right or to the left — from behind Abner. 20 Abner turned around and said, "Is that you, Asahel?" And he replied, "It is I." 21 *Abner then said to him, "Turn yourself away to your right or to your left and capture one of the young soldiers and his weapon for yourself." But Asahel would not agree to turn aside from after him. 22 So Abner once again said to Asahel, "Turn aside from behind me! Why should I strike you to the ground? How will I be able to show my face to your brother Joab?" 23 But he refused to turn aside, and

Abner kills Asahel in self-defense

Abner struck him with the back of his spear, into his fifth rib; and the spear came out of his back, and he fell there and died in his place. It happened that whoever came to the place where Asahel had fallen and died, stood still [in shock]. 24 Joab and Abishai chased after Abner. The sun was setting as they reached Ammah Hill which is alongside Giah, on the way to the Wilderness of Gibeon. 25 The children of Benjamin assembled themselves behind Abner and became a single group, and they stood atop a hill. 26 Abner then called out to Joab and said, "Must the sword consume forever? Do you not know that there will be a bitter ending to this? How long will you not tell the people to turn back from after their brethren?"

Abner convinces Joab to avoid civil war

27 *Joab then said, "As God lives, had you not spoken [first], already in the morning every one of the people would have gone back from going after his brother." 28 So Joab blew the shofar, and all the people halted, no longer chasing after [their fellow] Israelites, and they did not continue to fight. 29 Abner and his men traveled through the Arabah that entire night; they crossed the Jordan and went through the entire Bithron, and came to Mahanaim. 30 Joab thus withdrew from pursuing Abner and gathered together all the people. There were missing from David's subjects nineteen men and Asahel. 31 But David's subjects had slain [many] of Benjamin and of Abner's men; three hundred and sixty men died. 32 They carried Asahel and buried him in his father's burial plot in Bethlehem. Joab and his men walked all night, and light broke upon them at Hebron.

The combatants withdraw and bury their dead

3 1 The war was long between the House of Saul and the House of David; David grew continuously stronger, while the House of Saul grew continuously weaker.

David's sons

2 Sons were born to David in Hebron: his firstborn was Amnon, [born] to Ahinoam of Jezreel; 3 *his second [son] was Chileab, [born] to Abigail, the [former] wife of Nabal the Carmelite; the third was Absalom, the son of Maacah, daughter of Talmai, king of Geshur; 4 the fourth was Adonijah, the son of Hagith; the fifth was Shephatiah, the son of Abital; 5 the sixth was Ithream, [born] to Eglah, David's [main] wife. These were born to David in Hebron.*

6 And it happened while there was war between the House of Saul and the House of David, that Abner exerted himself on behalf of the House of Saul. 7 Now Saul had had a concubine, her name was Rizpah daughter of Aiah.

Ish-bosheth alienates Abner

*[Ish-bosheth] said to Abner, "Why were you intimate with my father's concubine?" 8 Abner was infuriated over the words of Ish-bosheth, and he said, "Am I the chief dog warden of Judah? Shall I perform acts of kindness today for the house of your father Saul, for his brothers and for his friends, when I have not commoner to live with a king's widow, so Ish-bosheth felt obligated to defend the honor of his late father. Abner, however, was furious. He felt that, as the defender of Saul and his family, he was entitled to gratitude and deference. So insulted was he, that he deserted Ish-bosheth and defected to David.

3:14. See I Samuel 18:25-27. David did not want it to appear as if Abner was abducting Michal without the consent of Ish-bosheth (Radak).

3:15. Paltiel (referred to in I Samuel 25:44 as Palti) had never cohabited with Michal; otherwise, she would have been forbidden to return to David (Talmud).

handed you over into the hand of David, yet today you accuse me of sinning with this woman? 9 So may God do to Abner and so may He do further to him [if he does not keep this oath] . . .; for just as HASHEM has sworn to David, so shall I do for him: 10 to remove the kingship from the House of Saul and to establish the throne of David upon Israel and upon Judah, from Dan to Beer-sheba!" 11 [Ish-bosheth] was no longer able to respond to Abner a word, because of his fear of him.

Abner defects and brings Michal back to David

12 Abner sent messengers to David from his place, saying, "Whose is the land [if not yours]?" and saying, "Seal your covenant with me and behold — my hand will be with you, to turn all of Israel to you."

13 [David] said, "Good. I shall seal a covenant with you — but I request one thing of you, that is, 'You shall not see my face, unless you bring Michal daughter of Saul when you enter to see my face.' "

14 *David then sent messengers to Ish-bosheth son of Saul, saying, "Give me my wife, Michal, whom I married to myself with one hundred Philistine foreskins." 15 So Ish-bosheth sent and took her away from her husband, from Paltiel son of Laish. * 16 Her husband accompanied her, constantly weeping for her, until Bahurim. Then Abner told him, "Go. Turn back," and he turned back.

Abner rallies Israel to David

17 Abner's message had been sent to all the elders of Israel, saying, "From yesterday and before yesterday you wanted David as king over you; 18 so now do it! For HASHEM has said of David, 'By the hand of My servant David I shall save My people Israel from the hand of the Philistines and from the hand of all their enemies.' "

19 Abner also spoke in the ears of Benjamin. Then Abner set out to speak in the ears of David in Hebron that it was all good in the eyes of Israel and in the eyes of the entire House of Benjamin. 20 Abner came to David in Hebron, and with him twenty men, and David made a feast for Abner and the men who were with him.

21 Abner said to David, "I shall arise and go to rally all of Israel behind my lord the king, so that they will seal a covenant with you so that you may reign over all that your soul desires." David sent Abner away, and he went in peace.

22 Just then behold — the servants of David and Joab were returning from a raid, and brought many spoils with them. Abner was no longer with David in Hebron, for he had already sent him away and he had left in peace. 23 When Joab and all the army that was with him arrived, they told Joab, saying, "Abner son of Ner came to the king, and he sent him away and he left in peace!" 24 So Joab came to the king and said, "What have you done? Behold — Abner came to you — why did you send him away and allow him to leave? 25 You know Abner son of Ner — that he has come to entice you and to learn of your comings and goings and to learn all that you do!"

Joab assassinates Abner

26 Joab then left David's presence and sent messengers after Abner. * They brought him back from Bor-hassirah, but David did not know. 27 When Abner returned to Hebron, Joab led him aside to the middle of the gateway [as if] to talk to him casually. He struck him there in the fifth rib, and he died [as revenge] for the blood of his brother Asahel.

28 When David heard afterwards, he declared, "I and my kingdom are guiltless before HASHEM forever, for the blood of Abner son of Ner! 29 [The guilt] shall rest

3:26. To inform Abner falsely that the king wanted to speak to him (Metzudos).

3:29-30. Knowing that Joab had conspired with his relatives, David cursed Joab and all his accomplices, but not the innocent, for their treachery. Abner had killed Asahel in self-defense, but Joab had committed unprovoked murder (Radak).

3:34. Normally the only way to overpower such a mighty warrior as yourself would be to capture him and render him defenseless before killing him. You, however, were not even granted this "dignity"; you were slain through a despicable act of trickery and deception (Kara).

3:38. A court could not act against Joab because he had not been given a formal warning and there were no witnesses; but as king, David had the authority to take extralegal action. Now he explained that he was not yet strong enough to act against the powerful Joab.

4:3. This parenthetical insertion informs us that these two captains were actually from Benjamin, Saul's tribe, although they lived in a "non-Jewish" city.

David condemns Joab

upon the head of Joab and upon all his father's house, * and may there never cease from Joab's house contaminated men, lepers, those who lean on crutches, who fall by the sword, and who lack food." 30 Joab and his brother Abishai had killed Abner because he had killed their brother Asahel in Gibeon, in the battle.

David leads the mourning for Abner . . .

31 David said to Joab and to all the people who were with him, "Tear your clothes and don sackcloth, and lament over Abner." King David himself walked behind the bier. 32 And they buried Abner in Hebron. The king raised his voice and wept at Abner's grave, and all the people wept. 33 The king lamented a dirge for Abner, and said,

"Should Abner have died the death of a knave?
34 Your hands were not bound and your feet were not placed in chains;
*as one who falls before villains have you fallen!"

And all the people wept even more over him.

35 All the people came to [comfort] David by bringing him a meal on that same day, but David swore, saying, "So shall God do to me and so shall He do further if I taste any bread or anything else before the sun sets!" 36 All the people recognized [David's sincerity] and it was well in their eyes; whatever the king did was well in the eyes of all the people. 37 And all the people and all of Israel realized on that day that it was not [ordered] by the king to kill Abner son of Ner.

. . . but feels too weak to punish Joab

38 The king said to his servants, "Surely you realize that an officer and a great man has fallen in Israel this day, 39 but today I am still weak and newly anointed as king, and these sons of Zeruiah are harder than I. * But may HASHEM repay the evildoer according to his evil!"

4 1 Saul's son heard that Abner had died in Hebron and he despaired, and all Israel was shocked.

2 Two men, heads of legions, were with Saul's son; the name of the one was Baanah and the name of the second was Rechab, sons of Rimmon the Beerothite of the tribe of Benjamin, since Beeroth was also considered part of Benjamin. 3 *The original Beerothites had fled to Gittaim, where they became sojourners, to this day.

4 (Jonathan son of Saul had a son who was lame. He had been five years old when word came from Jezreel about [the deaths of] Saul and Jonathan; his nursemaid had picked him up and fled, and in her hurry to flee she dropped him and he became lame. His name was Mephibosheth.)

5 The sons of Rimmon the Beerothite — Rechab and Baanah — went forth, and arrived in the heat of the day at the house of Ish-bosheth, while he was having his afternoon rest. 6 *Behold — they entered into the house [posing] as wheat merchants and struck him in the fifth rib; then Rechab and his brother Baanah escaped.

Traitors assassinate Ish-bosheth

7 After they had entered the house while he was asleep in his bed in his bedroom, and struck him, and killed him, they had severed his head. They then took his head and traveled through the Arabah all night. 8 They brought the head of Ish-bosheth to David in Hebron, and said to the king, "Here is the head of Ish-bosheth, son of Saul your enemy, who sought [to take] your life! HASHEM has

They try to ingratiate themselves to David . . .

4:6. Since, as Scripture had informed us, the only heir to Saul's throne, other than Ish-bosheth, was not fit to reign because of his lameness, this assassination was the deathblow to the House of Saul (Radak).

4:10. He had expected to be rewarded for bringing the "good news" of his crime, but instead David treated him as a murderer.

4:12. David took this drastic step in order to convince everyone that he had no part in, nor was he pleased with, the destruction of the House of Saul.

5:6. "This city is so well fortified that you could not conquer it even if it were guarded only by the blind and lame" (Abarbanel). According to the Midrash, the Jebusites alluded to the Patriarchs. Abraham had made a treaty of peace with Abimelech, a Jebusite ancestor (Genesis 21:23). To commemorate the binding nature of the treaty, the Jebusites set up statues of a blind man, alluding to the blind Isaac (see Genesis 27:1), and a granted my lord the king revenge from Saul and his offspring this day!"

. . . but David has them executed

9 David answered Rechab and his brother Baanah, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said to them, "As HASHEM lives, Who has redeemed my soul from all adversity, 10 if the one who informed me, saying, 'Behold! Saul is dead,' saw himself as a bearer of good tidings, yet I seized him and killed him in Ziklag, instead of giving him [reward for his] tidings, * 11 surely [this should be done] to wicked people who have killed an innocent man in his house upon his bed! Shall I not avenge his blood from your hand and eradicate you from the earth?" 12 David then commanded the soldiers and they killed them. They cut off their hands and feet, and hung them over the pool in Hebron. * Then they took the head of Ish-bosheth and buried [it] in Abner's tomb, in Hebron.

JERUSALEM, CITY OF DAVID 5:1-7:29

1 All the tribes of Israel came to David in Hebron and spoke, saying, "Behold, we are your bone and your flesh. 2 Even yesterday and before yesterday, when Saul was king over us, you were the one who brought Israel out and brought them in; and HASHEM had said of you, 'You shall shepherd My people Israel and you shall be ruler over Israel.' " 3 All the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and King David sealed a covenant with them in Hebron before HASHEM, and they anointed David as king over Israel.

The entire nation accepts David

4 David was thirty years old when he began to reign; he ruled for forty years — 5 in Hebron he ruled over Judah for seven years and six months, and in Jerusalem he ruled for thirty-three years over all of Israel and Judah.

6 The king and his men went to Jerusalem, to the Jebusite inhabitants of the land, and [one of them] spoke to David, saying, "You shall not enter here unless you remove the blind and the lame," * as if to say, "David will not enter here."

David occupies Jerusalem as his capital

7 David then captured Zion Fortress, which is [called] the City of David. 8 David declared on that day, "Whoever smites the Jebusite and reaches the stronghold, and the blind and the lame, that David detests . . .! * Therefore [people] say, "The blind and the lame [are here]; he shall not enter the house!" 9 David settled in the fortress and called it "The City of David." David built around [the city], from the Millo * and inward. 10 David kept becoming greater, and HASHEM, the God of Legions, was with him.

Hiram befriends David

11 Hiram, king of Tyre, sent a delegation to David, with cedar wood, * and carpenters, and masons of wall-stones, and they built a palace for David. 12 David realized that HASHEM had established him as king over Israel and that He had exalted his kingdom for the sake of His people Israel. *

David's family grows

13 David took additional concubines and wives from Jerusalem after his coming from Hebron, and more sons and daughters were born to David. 14 These are the names of those born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, 15 Ibhar, Elishua, Nepheg, Japhia, 16 Elishama, Eliada, and Eliphelet.

17 The Philistines heard that [all the tribes] had anointed David as king cripple, alluding to Jacob (see Genesis 32:26), and placed the words of the treaty in the statues' mouths.

5:8. The phrase is left unfinished [common practice for exclamations, curses and oaths in the Bible], but is quoted in full in I Chronicles 11:6: "Whoever strikes the Jebusites first will become a chief and an officer." David was no longer bound by Abraham's oath because more than 700 years had passed, ("my son and my grandson") and the term of the oath had expired.

5:9. The Millo was a landfill (Rashi), an open plaza for large gatherings (Radak), or a moat (Abarbanel).

5:11. Tyre is in Lebanon, famed for its cedar trees.

5:12. His great success and the homage of the powerful king of Tyre made David realize that he was indeed ordained to rule Israel, but he accepted it with the humility that typified his greatness: God had given him greatness only for the sake of Israel.

5:17. Hearing that all twelve tribes had accepted David as their king, the Philistines perceived him as a threat.

5:24. The rustling of the tree leaves would sound like a marching army, signifying that HASHEM's angels had come to fight for Israel (Rashi). By telling David to wait for this sign — and ignore the entreaties of his own men who were anxious to attack the Philistines — God was testing David to see if he would display the sort of impetuosity that had caused Saul to lose his throne (see I Samuel 10:8; 13:8-14).

6:2. Literally, Plain of Judah; another name for Kiriath-jearim (see Joshua 15:9), where the Ark had been located since its return by the Philistines (I Samuel 7:1-2).

6:7. The Sages explain that Uzzah committed a gross over Israel, * so all the Philistines came up to seek out David. David heard and went down to the fortress. 18 The Philistines had come and spread out in the Rephaim Valley. 19 David inquired of HASHEM, saying, "Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will You deliver them into my hand?" And HASHEM answered David,

David defeats the attacking Philistines

"Go up, for I shall indeed deliver the Philistines into your hand." 20 *David came to the Plain of Perazim, and David struck them there. He said, "*HASHEM breached my enemies as water breaches [a barrier]"; therefore he named that place the Plain of Perazim [Breaches]. 21 [The Philistines] had left their idols there, and David and his men burned them.

22 The Philistines came up once again and spread out in the Rephaim Valley. 23 So David inquired of HASHEM, and He said, "Do not go [directly] up; circle around to their rear, and approach them from opposite the mulberry trees. 24 It shall be that when you hear a sound like marching at the tops of the mulberry trees you shall shout [your battle cry], for then HASHEM *will have gone out before you to strike at the Philistine camp." 25 David did so, as HASHEM had commanded him, and he struck the Philistines from Geba until the approach to Gezer.

6 1 David again gathered all the chosen men of Israel, thirty thousand. 2 David and all the people that were with him arose and went forth from Baale-judah * to bring up from there the Ark of God, which is called by [its] name: "The Name of HASHEM, Master of Legions, Who is enthroned upon the Cherubim, is upon it." 3 They placed the Ark of God upon a new wagon and carried it from the house of Abinadab which was in Gibeah. Uzzah and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, guided the new wagon. 4 They carried it from Abinadab's house which was in Gibeah, with the Ark of God, and Ahio walked in front of the Ark. 5 David and the entire House of Israel were rejoicing before HASHEM with all kinds of cypress-wood instruments — with harps, lyres, drums, timbrels and cymbals.

David and his people retrieve the Ark

Uzzah dies and the Ark is diverted

6 They came to the threshing-floor of Nacon, and Uzzah reached out to the Ark of God and grasped it, for the oxen had dislodged it. 7 HASHEM became angry at Uzzah and God struck him there for the blunder; and Uzzah died there by the Ark of God. *

8 David was upset [with himself] because HASHEM had inflicted a breach against Uzzah; he named that place Perez-uzzah [Breach of Uzzah], [which is its name] to this day. 9 David feared HASHEM on that day, and he said, "How can the Ark of HASHEM come to me?" 10 So David refused to move the Ark of HASHEM *to himself to the City of David, and David diverted it to the house of Obed-edom the Gittite. 11 The Ark remained in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite for three months, and HASHEM blessed Obed-edom and his entire household.

David leads the celebration for the Ark

12 *King David was told, "*HASHEM has blessed the house of Obed-edom and everything he has because of the Ark of God." David then went and brought up the Ark of God from the house of Obed-edom to the City of David with joy. 13 Whenever the bearers of the Ark walked six paces, he slaughtered an ox and a fatted ox. 14 David danced with all [his] strength before HASHEM; David was girded in a linen tunic. 15 David and the entire House of error. The Ark was so holy that its customary bearers, the Levites, never felt its great weight; they were borne by it. How, then, could Uzzah think it was in danger of falling to the ground? (Rashi). David, on the other hand, was upset with himself for having failed to take the necessary precautions to avoid such a mishap (Malbim).

6:10. He was a Levite (I Chronicles 15:18) who had lived in Gath (Radak).

6:22. Unlike you, the maidservants of whom you have spoken so contemptuously will honor me for my humbleness before HASHEM.

6:23. As a punishment for her haughtiness, she bore no children after this incident, but she had given birth previously (see 3:5). The Sages interpret "no child until the day of her death" to mean that she died in childbirth (Rashi).

7:3. Nathan had assumed that David should build the Holy Temple, but God overruled him. For about 450 years since the Exodus, there had been no Temple, only a tent or a Tabernacle — nor had God requested one. The time was not yet ripe. Although God had given David unprecedented blessing and renown, the era of complete serenity would not be at hand until the reign of his son.

Israel brought up the Ark of HASHEM with loud, joyous sound, and the sound of the shofar.

16 And it happened as the Ark of HASHEM arrived at the City of David, that Michal daughter of Saul peered out the window and saw King David leaping and dancing before HASHEM, and she became contemptuous of him in her heart.

17 They brought the Ark of HASHEM and set it up in its place, within the tent that David had pitched for it; and David brought up elevation-offerings before HASHEM, and peace-offerings. 18 When David had finished bringing up the elevation-offering and the peace-offerings, he blessed the people with the Name of HASHEM, Master of Legions. 19 He distributed to all the people — to the entire multitude of Israel, man and woman alike — to each person: one loaf of bread, one portion of beef, and one container of wine. Then all the people left, everyone to his home.

Michal's contempt and David's rebuke

20 David returned to bless his household. Michal daughter of Saul went out to meet David and said, "How honored was the king of Israel today, who was exposed today in the presence of his servants' maidservants, as one of the boors would be exposed!"

21 David answered Michal, "In the presence of HASHEM, Who chose me over your father and over his entire house to appoint me as ruler over the people of HASHEM, over Israel — before HASHEM I shall rejoice! 22 *And I shall behave even more humbly than this, and I shall be lowly in my eyes; and among the maidservants of whom you spoke — among them will I be honored!"

23 *Michal daughter of Saul had no child until the day of her death.

7 1 It happened after the king was settled into his home and HASHEM had given him respite from his enemies all around, 2 that the king said to Nathan the prophet, "See now, I am living in a house of cedar while the Ark of God dwells within the curtain!"

David longs to build the Holy Temple

3 *Nathan said to the king, "Whatever is in your heart go and do, for HASHEM is with you."

4 It happened that night that the word of HASHEM came to Nathan, saying, 5 "Go and say to My servant, to David: 'Thus said HASHEM: Will you build Me a house for My dwelling?' 6 For I have not dwelt in a house from the day I brought the Children of Israel up from Egypt to this day; I have moved about in a tent and a Tabernacle. 7 Wherever I moved about among all the Children of Israel, did I say a word to one of the leaders of Israel, whom I have appointed to shepherd My people Israel, saying, 'Why have you not built Me a house of cedar?' 8 And now, so shall you say to My servant, to David: 'Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: I have taken you from the sheepfold, from following the flocks, to become ruler over My people, over Israel. 9 I was with you wherever you went — I cut down all your enemies before you and I gave you great renown, like the renown of the great men of the world. 10 I shall yet establish a place for My people, for Israel; I shall plant it there and it shall dwell in its place so that it shall be disturbed no more; iniquitous people will no longer afflict it as in early times, 11 and also from the day that I appointed judges over My people Israel — and I shall give you respite from all your enemies. And HASHEM informs you that

God does not request a Temple

God assured David that he would found a dynasty and that his son Solomon would build the Temple. God would be a loving Father to Solomon, even when it would be necessary to chastise him.

7:14. I will chastise him as a father would a son, but not too severely, never abandoning My affection for him and never abrogating My promise concerning the permanence of your dynasty.

7:19. Only a great man — not I — is deserving of such honor (Radak).

7:20. I need not praise You, for You know the deepest thoughts of my heart (Radak). Or, "What else could I request; You have granted all I could want" (Targum, Rashi).

7:23. Since You are the One and Only great God, how fortunate are Your people Israel that You have chosen (Metzudos).

7:27. Only because You have told me that You desire to create a dynasty from me have I dared to approach You with the request that my offspring rule forever (Kara).

8:1. Lit., "Harness of the Arm." The city was also known as Gath (I Chronicles 18:1), and was the capital of the Philistine confederation and the seat of the monarchy (Rashi).

God will establish David's dynasty, and his son will build the Temple

HASHEM will establish a dynasty for you. 12 When your days are complete and you lie with your forefathers, I shall raise up after you your offspring who will issue from your loins, and I shall make his kingdom firm. 13 He shall build a Temple for My sake, and I shall make firm the throne of his kingdom forever. 14 I shall be a Father unto him and he shall be a son unto Me, so that when he sins I will chastise him with the rod of men and with afflictions of human beings. * 15 But My kindness will not be removed from him as I removed [it] from Saul, whom I removed from before you. 16 Your dynasty and your kingdom will remain steadfast before you for all time; your throne will remain firm forever.'" 17 In accordance with all these words and this entire vision, so did Nathan speak to David.

David thanks God . . .

18 King David then came and sat down before HASHEM, and said, "Who am I, O my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, and who is my household, that You should have brought me this far? 19 And yet this was still insufficient in Your eyes, my Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, so You have spoken even of Your servant's household in the distant future — and that would be fitting for [great] men — O my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM. 20 What more can David say to You; You know Your servant, my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM.* * 21 It is because of Your word and Your desire that You have bestowed all this greatness [upon me], and informed Your servant of it; 22 because You are great, HASHEM, God, for there is none like You and there is no god besides You, according to all that we have heard with our ears. 23 And who is like Your people, like Israel, a unique nation on earth, whom God went forth to redeem unto Himself for a people — thus gaining Himself renown — and to perform great works for you [Israel] and wonders for Your Land, [driving out] nations and their gods from before Your people, whom You have redeemed for Yourself from Egypt. 24 You have established for Yourself Your people Israel as a people unto You forever, and You, HASHEM, have been a God for them. 25 And now, HASHEM, God, may You forever uphold the matter that You have spoken concerning Your servant and his house and do as You have spoken. 26 And may Your Name thereby be glorified forever, saying, 'HASHEM, Master of Legions, is God over Israel!' And may the house of Your servant David remain firm before You; 27 for You, HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel, have revealed to the ear of Your servant, saying, 'I shall create a dynasty for you'; therefore Your servant has found it proper in his heart to pray this prayer to You.* * 28 And now, O my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, You are God and Your words will come true, and You have spoken to Your servant of this benevolence. 29 And now, may You desire to bless the house of Your servant, that it may remain forever before You, for You, my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, have spoken; and from Your blessing may the House of Your servant be blessed forever."*

. . . and prays for Israel and his dynasty

8 1 It happened after this that David struck the Philistines and subdued them. David took Metheg-ammah * from the hands of the Philistines.

DAVID SUBDUES FOREIGN ENEMIES 8:1-18

2 He [also] struck Moab. He measured [his captives] with a rope, laying them down on the ground and measuring two ropes' length to be put to death and one rope's length to be kept alive. * The Moabites became subjects to David, bearers of tribute.

8:2. According to the Midrash, David punished the Moabites because they had murdered his parents and brothers after he had brought them to Moab for safekeeping (see I Samuel 22:3-5).

8:3. In the process of controlling the Euphrates, Hadadezer would have to overrun part of Eretz Yisrael (Radak).

8:11. For use in the construction of the Temple (see I Chronicles 18:8; I Kings 7:51).

8:13. Because he fought valiantly there (Kara). The Sages attribute his renown to his virtuous conduct in war: He had the slain enemy soldiers properly buried.

The Valley of Salt is located in Edom (see II Kings 14:7). As may be seen from Psalms 60:2 and as suggested here by the following verse, there was a war against Edom, which was apparently fought immediately after, or simultaneously with, the war with Aram. See also I Chronicles 18:12 (Radak).

3 David [also] struck Hadadezer son of Rehob, king of Zobah, as he was on the way to extend his control over the Euphrates River. * 4 David captured from him one thousand seven hundred horsemen, and twenty thousand foot soldiers; David hamstrung all the chariot [horses], while he left over of them one hundred chariot [horses]. 5 Aram of Damascus came to assist Hadadezer, king of Zobah, and David struck down twenty-two thousand men of Aram. 6 David appointed authorities in Aram of Damascus, and Aram became servants of David, bearers of tribute. HASHEM caused salvation for David wherever he went. 7 David took the golden shields of Hadadezer's servants and brought them to Jerusalem. 8 And from Betah and Berothai — cities of Hadadezer — King David took a great deal of copper.

King Toi pays tribute

9 Toi, king of Hamath, heard that David had struck down the entire army of Hadadezer. 10 So Toi sent his son Joram to King David to greet him and to wish him well for having fought and defeated Hadadezer, for Hadadezer was a battle foe of Toi; in his hand were silver vessels, gold vessels and copper vessels. 11 King David consecrated them also unto HASHEM, * along with the silver and gold of all the nations he had conquered, which he had already consecrated — 12 from Aram, from Moab, from the Children of Ammon, from the Philistines, from Amalek, and from the spoils of Hadadezer son of Rehob, king of Zobah.

David consolidates his reign

13 *David gained renown *upon returning from striking down Aram at the Valley of Salt: eighteen thousand [men]. 14 He appointed authorities in Edom — throughout Edom he appointed authorities — and all of Edom became subjects of David. HASHEM caused salvation for David wherever he went.

15 David reigned over all of Israel; David administered justice and kindness to his entire people. 16 Joab son of Zeruiah was in command of the army; Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud was the chronicler; 17 Zadok son of Ahitub and Ahimelech son of Ebiathar were Kohanim; Seraiah was the scribe; 18 Benaiahu son of Jehoiada was in charge of the archers and slingers, * and David's sons were senior ministers.

DAVID AND MEPHIBOSHETH 9:1-13

1 David inquired, "Is there anyone else who has survived of the House of Saul, so that I may deal kindly with him for the sake of Jonathan?" 2 The House of Saul had a servant named Ziba, and they summoned him to David. The king said to him, "Are you Ziba?" and he answered, "[I am] your servant." 3 The king said, "Is there any man at all left of the House of Saul, so that I may perform Godly kindness with him?" Ziba said to the king, "There remains a son of Jonathan, whose legs are crippled." 4 The king said, "Where is he?" and Ziba said to the king, "Behold, he is in the house of Machir son of Ammiel, in Lo-debar."

David learns of Jonathan's young surviving son . . .

5 King David sent and had him brought from the house of Machir son of Ammiel, from Lo-debar. 6 Mephibosheth son of Jonathan son of Saul came before David and fell upon his face and prostrated himself. David said, "[Are you] Mephibosheth?" and he said, "Behold! [I am] your servant." 7 David told him, "Fear not, for I shall surely deal kindly with you for the sake of your father Jonathan; I shall return to you the entire estate of your father Saul, * and you

8:18. The translation of וְהַכְּרֵתִי וְהַפְּלֵתִי follows Targum. Radak suggests the Cherethite and the Pelethite, two families loyal to David. The Talmud says that the two terms refer to the Urim VeTumim (see Exodus 28:30) or the Sanhedrin.

9:7. That is, your grandfather Saul. It is common in the Bible for grandsons to be referred to as "sons," as here, and as in vv. 9 and 10.

10:2. According to the Midrash, Hanun's father Nahash had protected David's brother after the king of Moab wiped out the rest of his family (see note to 8:2).

10:5. They could not shave off the rest of their beards, because Jews did not cut their beards in those days (Radak).

10:12. If we do not prevail, our people will be taken captive and our cities conquered by heathens (Radak).

shall eat bread at my table continually." [8] [Mephibosheth] prostrated himself and said, "What is your servant, that you should pay attention to a dead dog such as myself?"

[9] The king then called Ziba, Saul's attendant, and said to him, "I have given all that belonged to Saul and all of his family to your master's son. [10] *You shall work the land for him — you and your sons and your servants — and bring in [its produce] to be bread for [Mica] the son of your master [Mephibosheth] to eat; but Mephibosheth son of your master [Jonathan] shall always eat at my table." (Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants.) [11] And Ziba said to the king, "According to all that my lord the king commands his servant, so shall your servant do." [David repeated,] "Mephibosheth will be eating at my table, like one of the king's sons."

[12] Mephibosheth had a young son whose name was Mica, and all of Ziba's household were servants to Mephibosheth. [13] *Mephibosheth dwelled in Jerusalem, for he would always eat at the table of the king, and he was lame in both his legs.

DAVID DEFEATS AMMON 10:1-11:1

[1] It happened after this that the king of the Children of Ammon died, and his son Hanun reigned after him. [2] David thought, "I shall do an act of kindness for Hanun son of Nahash, just as his father acted with kindness for me." * So David sent [a message] to him by the hand of his servants to console him over his father; David's servants arrived in the land of the Children of Ammon. [3] The ministers of the Children of Ammon said to their master Hanun, "Do you think that David has sent consolers to you to honor your father in your eyes? Is it not in order to explore the city, to spy it out and to overthrow it that David has sent his servants to you?" [4] So Hanun took David's servants and shaved off half of their beards and cut their garments in half until their buttocks, and sent them away. [5] *They sent word to David, and he sent [messengers] to them, for the men were deeply humiliated. The king said, "Stay in Jericho until your beards grow back and then return."

Ammon's gratuitous cruelty

[6] The Children of Ammon realized that they had become repugnant to David, so the Children of Ammon sent and hired [from] Aram of Beth-rehob and Aram of Zoba, twenty thousand footmen; and [from] the king of Maacah, a thousand men; and [from] Ish-tob, twelve thousand men. [7] David heard and he dispatched Joab and all the mighty men of the army. [8] The Children of Ammon came out and waged war at the opening of the gateway, * while Aram of Zoba and Rehob, and Ish-tob, and Maacah were in the field by themselves. [9] Joab saw that the battlefield faced him from the front and from the rear, so he selected from among all the chosen ones of Israel, and deployed against Aram. [10] He placed the rest of the people in the hand of his brother Abishai, and he deployed against the Children of Ammon. [11] He said, "If Aram will overpower me, then you will be my salvation; and if the Children of Ammon will overpower you, I will go to save you. [12] Be strong and let us both be strong, for the sake of our people and for the sake of the cities of our God; * and HASHEM will do what is good in His eyes."

Ammon hires Aramean mercenaries

The allies surround Joab's force

Joab's successful strategy

[13] Then Joab, as well as the people who were with him, approached to do battle against Aram, and they fled from him. [14] When the Children of Ammon saw that Aram had fled, they also fled from Abishai, and entered the city. Joab then turned back from the Children of Ammon and came to Jerusalem.

11:1. I.e., summertime, when the abundance of food in the fields and orchards is conducive to the undertaking of expeditions (Rashi). Radak translates, "exactly a year after the aforementioned battle."

11:3. He was either a proselyte of Hittite descent or an Israelite who had dwelt in a Hittite area (Radak).

11:4. Technically, Bath-sheba could be considered an unmarried woman, for, as the Talmud (Shabbos 56b) states, David's troops always gave their wives conditional divorces, lest a soldier be missing in action leaving his wife unable to remarry. [Furthermore, the Talmud (Sanhedrin 107b) notes that David recognized that Bath-sheba was his Divinely intended mate.] Nevertheless, the Sages teach that he repented for many years. See Psalms 51:5.

15 Aram saw that they were beaten by Israel and they banded together.
16 Hadarezer sent and brought over Aram from the other side of the [Euphrates] River, and they came with their armies, and Shobach, the commander of Hadarezer's army, leading them. 17 This was told to David, and he gathered together all of Israel and crossed the Jordan, and came to Helam. Aram deployed against David and fought him. 18 Aram fled before Israel, and David slew of Aram seven hundred charioteers and forty thousand horsemen; he struck Shobach, commander of the army, and he died there. 19 When all the kings, the subjects of Hadarezer, saw that they were defeated by Israel, they made peace with Israel and became subservient to them. Aram became afraid to help the Children of Ammon any longer.

1 It happened at the turn of the year, at the time when kings go forth, that David had sent Joab along with his servants and all of Israel, and they destroyed the Children of Ammon and besieged Rabbah; and David was staying in Jerusalem.* 2 It happened towards evening that David arose from his bed and strolled on the roof of the king's house. From atop the roof he saw a woman bathing, and the woman was very beautiful. 3 *David sent to inquire about the woman, and someone said, "Is this not Bath-sheba daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite?" 4 David sent messengers and took her. She came to him and he lay with her; she had been cleansing herself from her impurity.* She then returned to her house.* 5 The woman conceived. She sent [a message in which] she told David; "I have conceived."

DAVID AND BATH-SHEBA 11:2-12:25

6 David sent [a message] to Joab: "Send me Uriah the Hittite," so Joab sent Uriah to David. 7 Uriah came to him, and David inquired after the welfare of Joab and the welfare of the people and the welfare of the warriors. 8 David then said to Uriah, "Go down to your house and wash your feet." So Uriah left the house of the king, and a royal feast was sent after him. 9 But Uriah lay down at the entrance to the king's house along with all of his lord's servants, and did not go down to his house.

Uriah disobeys David . . .

10 They told David, saying, "Uriah did not go down to his house"; so David said to Uriah, "Are you not coming from a journey? Why did you not go down to your house?" 11 Uriah said to David, "The Ark and Israel and Judah are staying in huts, and my lord Joab and the servants of my lord are camping out in the field — shall I then come to my house to eat and to drink and to lie with my wife? By your life and the life of your soul, I will not do such a thing!"*

. . . and explains why

12 David then said to Uriah, "Stay here today also, and tomorrow I will send you off." So Uriah stayed in Jerusalem that day and the next. 13 Then David summoned him, and he ate and drank before him; and he made him drunk. He went out in the evening to lie down in his place among his lord's servants, but did not go down to his house. 14 And it was in the morning that David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by Uriah's hand. 15 He wrote in the note, saying, "Place Uriah directly in front of the fierce fighting; then withdraw from behind him so that he shall be struck and die."

When David spied Bath-sheba, she was cleansing herself from her menstrual impurity; thus David did not transgress the prohibition of having relations with a menstruant woman (Radak). Moreover, Scripture means to show that she was not pregnant at that time. Thus, the conception of verse 5 must have issued from David (Kara).

11:11. By your life in this world and by your soul's life in the World to Come. Thus, Uriah swore that he would not obey David's command, making him liable to the death penalty for his insubordination and disrespect of the King.

11:21. Jerubbesheth is another name of Gideon. The story of Abimelech is in Judges 9:50-55.

11:27. Though this verse states clearly that David acted improperly, and Chapter 12 says so even more forcefully, the Sages explain that, while David was morally wrong, he did not commit adultery in the literal sense.

12:6. The payment of four sheep for the one he stole is in accordance with Exodus 21:37. There is no death penalty for theft, however; David's "death sentence" was a figurative condemnation of the rich man's depravity.

Uriah is sent to the front, and is killed

16 So it was that when Joab was besieging the city, he stationed Uriah in a place where he knew that the powerful warriors were. 17 The men of the city came out and fought against Joab, and some people from among David's servants fell; and Uriah the Hittite also died.

18 Joab sent and told David all the matters concerning the war. 19 He instructed the messenger, saying, "When you finish telling the king all the matters concerning the war, 20 if the king's ire flares up and he says to you, 'Why did you draw close to the city to fight? Did you not know that they shoot from atop the wall? 21 Who killed Abimelech son of Jerubbesheth — was it not a woman who threw a millstone over the wall so that he died in Thebez? Why, then, did you draw close to the wall?' Then you should say, 'Also your servant Uriah the Hittite died.' "*

David hears the news and encourages Joab

22 The messenger went and came and told David all that Joab had sent him [to say]. 23 The messenger told David, "When the men overpowered us and they came out to us in the field, we repulsed them up to the opening of the gate. 24 The archers shot at your servants from atop the wall, and some of the king's servants died; and your servant Uriah the Hittite also died."

25 David then told the messenger, "Say thus to Joab: 'Do not let this matter be deemed evil in your eyes, for the sword consumes one way or another. Strengthen your offense against the city and destroy it!' Then encourage him."

David marries Bath-sheba, but God is displeased

26 Uriah's wife heard that her husband Uriah had died, and she mourned over her husband. 27 The mourning passed, and David sent [for her] and brought her into his house, and she became his wife and bore him a son.

The deed that David had done was deemed evil in the eyes of HASHEM.*

Nathan's rebuke: A parable of selfish cruelty

1 HASHEM sent Nathan to David. He came to him and told him: "There were two men in one city; one rich and one poor. 2 The rich man had very many sheep and cattle, 3 but the poor man had nothing except one small ewe that he had acquired. He raised it and it grew up together with him and his children. It ate from his bread and drank from his cup and lay in his bosom; it became like a daughter to him. 4 A wayfarer came to the rich man. He was reluctant to take from his own sheep or cattle to prepare for the visitor who had come to him, so he took the poor man's ewe and prepared it for the man who had come to him."

5 David was very indignant about this man, and he said to Nathan, "As HASHEM lives, any man who does this deserves to die! 6 And he must pay fourfold for the ewe, because he did this deed and because he had no pity!"*

Nathan accuses David . . .

7 Nathan then said to David, "You are that man! Thus said* HASHEM, God of Israel: 'I anointed you as king over Israel and I saved you from Saul's hand. 8 I gave you the house of your lord, and the women of your lord into your bosom, and I gave over to you the house of Israel and Judah; and if this were not enough I would have increased for you this much and this much again.* 9 Why have you scorned the word of HASHEM, doing that which is evil in My eyes? You have struck Uriah the Hittite with the sword; his wife you have taken to yourself for a wife, while him you have killed by the sword of the Children of Ammon!

12:7. David is the rich man, Uriah is the poor man, and Bath-sheba is the ewe. The hungry wayfarer represents David's passion, which he could have satisfied through one of his wives (Radak).

12:8. God said that He had given Michal, Saul's daughter, to David as his wife (Rashi).

12:13. In response to your immediate admission of guilt (cf. Saul's reaction to Samuel's accusations in I Samuel 13:11 and 15:20 — Malbim), God has mitigated the severity of the punishment you really deserve. Sincere confession is the first step of repentance.

12:14. A euphemism for having blasphemed God Himself.

12:20. David had avoided these pleasures during his days of fasting and prayer. Although these pleasures are forbidden to a mourner, David was not obligated to mourn ["sit shivah" for] the baby, for halachic mourning is not required for a baby who died before it was thirty days old.

12:25. That is, "because of HASHEM's love for Solomon." The name Jedidiah, which means "Beloved of God," signified God's love. Indeed, God designated Solomon as David's successor.

12:27. Joab conquered the royal quarter of Rabbah, which was also known as the "City of Water." In verse 28,

10 And now, the sword shall not cease from your house forever, because you have scorned Me and have taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be a wife unto you.

. . . and prophesies David's punishment

11 "So says HASHEM: 'Behold! — I shall raise evil against you from your own household, I shall take your wives away in front of your eyes and give them to your fellowman, who will lie with them in the sight of this sun. 12 Though you have acted in secrecy, I shall perform this deed in the presence of all Israel and before the sun!' "

David confesses and repents

13 David said to Nathan, "I have sinned to HASHEM!"

Nathan responded to David, "So, too, HASHEM has commuted your sin; you will not die.* 14 However, because you have thoroughly blasphemed the enemies of HASHEM in this matter, the son that has been born to you shall surely die."*

Bath-sheba's baby is stricken; David prays and fasts

15 Nathan then went to his house; and HASHEM struck the child that Uriah's wife had borne to David, and he became gravely ill. 16 David pleaded with God on behalf of the boy; David undertook a fast, and when he came in for the night, he lay on the floor. 17 The elders of his house stood over him to raise him from the ground, but he would not consent; and he did not eat food with them.

18 It happened on the seventh day that the child died. David's servants were afraid to tell him that the baby had died, for they said, "Behold! — if when the baby was alive we spoke to him but he would not listen to us, how can we tell him the baby has died — he will do something terrible!" 19 David saw that his servants were whispering to themselves and David understood that the child had died. David said to his servants, "Is the child dead?" And they answered, "He is dead."

David ends his fast

20 David got up from the floor and bathed and anointed himself and changed his clothes, and he came to the House of HASHEM and prostrated himself. He then came to his house and, at his request, they served him food and he ate.* 21 His servants said to him, "What is this thing that you are doing? For the living baby you fasted and wept — and when the baby died you got up and ate a meal?" 22 He said, "While the baby was still alive I fasted and cried, for I thought, 'Who knows? Perhaps HASHEM will show me favor and the baby will live.' 23 But now that he is dead why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I will be going to him, but he will not return to me."

Bath-sheba gives birth to Solomon

24 David comforted his wife Bath-sheba, and he came to her and lay with her; she gave birth to a boy and called his name Solomon. HASHEM loved him; 25 *He sent word through Nathan the prophet and called his name Jedidiah, because of HASHEM.

DAVID CONQUERS AMMON 12:26-31

26 Joab fought against Rabbah of the Children of Ammon, and he captured the royal city. 27 *Joab sent messengers to David, saying, "I fought against Rabbah and have even captured the City of Water. 28 And now, you gather the rest of the people together and encamp against the city and capture it, lest I capture the city myself and my name will be attached to it."

29 So David gathered together all the people and he went to Rabbah; he battled it and captured it. 30 He removed their king's crown from his head — it weighed a talent of gold and had a precious stone — and it remained over David's head. He also took out a great deal of booty from the city.*

he urged David to lead the conquest of the rest of the city.

12:30. The crown was much too heavy (about 64 pounds) to be on the king's head; it was apparently suspended symbolically over the throne (Radak).

12:31. David felt that the gratuitous cruelty of the Ammonites — of which their treachery in 10:1-4 was a small example — had to be punished in a public manner that would be a deterrent to others.

13:1. Absalom and Tamar were children of David's wife Maacah (above 3:3) who, as noted there, was a captive of war. The Sages teach that Tamar was conceived before her mother converted. Therefore, Tamar was born as a convert and, halachically, was not a sister of her blood siblings. Consequently, Amnon's abhorrent deed did not fall 31 He took out the people of the city and punished them with saws, with iron threshing boards and with iron axes, and he had them dragged through muddy streets; and this is what he would do to all the cities of the Children of Ammon. * David and all the people then returned to Jerusalem.

AMNON LUSTS FOR TAMAR 13:1-13:22

1 This is what happened afterwards: Absalom son of David had a beautiful sister whose name was Tamar,* and Amnon son of David loved her. 2 Amnon lusted to the point of illness for his sister Tamar, for she was a virgin, but it seemed impossible for Amnon to do anything to her.

Amnon's plot

3 Amnon had a friend named Jonadab, the son of David's brother Shimeah, and Jonadab was a very cunning man. 4 He said to him, "Why are you so downtrodden, O son of the king, morning after morning? Will you not tell me?" So Amnon said to him, "I love Tamar, my brother Absalom's sister." 5 Jonadab said to him, "Lie on your bed and feign illness. When your father comes to visit you, say to him, 'Please, let my sister Tamar come and serve me some food. Let her prepare a light meal in my sight so that I may see and eat from her hand.' "

6 So Amnon lay down and feigned illness, and the king came to visit him. Amnon said to the king, "Please let my sister Tamar come and prepare two dumplings in my sight, so that I may eat from her hand." 7 David sent to Tamar, at the house, saying, "Go now to your brother Amnon's house and prepare a light meal for him."

Tamar serves the "sick" Amnon

8 Tamar went to her brother Amnon's house, where he was lying down. She took some dough and kneaded it and prepared it in his sight, and she cooked the dumplings. 9 She then took the pan and poured it before him, but he refused to eat. Amnon then said, "Remove everyone from before me"; and everyone went away from before him. 10 Amnon then said to Tamar, "Bring the light meal into the room, so that I may eat from your hand"; so Tamar took the [dish of] dumplings that she had made and brought it to her brother Amnon, into the room. 11 She was serving [them] to him, when he grabbed her and said to her, "Come lie with me, my sister!" 12 But she said to him, "No, my brother; do not violate me, for such things are not done in Israel. Do not commit this despicable act! 13 Where could I go with my shame? And you — you would be considered in Israel as one of the despicable men! So now, speak to the king, for he would not withhold me from you [in marriage]."* 14 But he refused to heed her voice. He overpowered her and violated her and lay with her.

He violates her. . .

. . . and expels her in disgrace

15 Afterwards Amnon despised her with a great hatred; his hatred was even greater than his love that he had felt for her. So Amnon said to her, "Get up and go away!" 16 But she said to him, "Do not do this greater evil than that which you have already done to me — to send me away!"* But he refused to listen to her. 17 He called in his attendant who ministered to him, and said, "Send this [person] out from me now, and lock the door behind her!" 18 (She was wearing a colorful tunic, for such robes were worn by the maidens among the king's daughters.) His minister took her out and locked the door behind her. 19 Tamar put dirt upon her head and tore the colorful tunic that was on her; she put her hand to her head and left, crying out as she went. 20 Her brother Absalom said to her, under the halachic definition of incest (see v. 13).

13:13. Since, as noted above, she and Amnon were not considered siblings, they could have married.

13:16. Tamar begged Amnon not to humiliate her publicly by throwing her out (Radak). Alternatively, she wanted him to marry her (Malbim).

Absalom's kindness to Tamar and hatred of Amnon

"Has your brother Aminon been with you? Be silent for now, my sister. He is your brother; do not concern your heart over this matter." So Tamar dwelled, devastated, in the house of her brother Absalom.*

21 King David heard about all these events, and he was very angry. 22 Absalom would not speak with Amnon — neither bad nor good — for Absalom hated Amnon because he had violated his sister Tamar.

ABSALOM'S REVENGE, FLIGHT AND RETURN 13:23-14:33

23 It happened two years later that they were shearing Absalom's [sheep] in the Plain of Hazor, which is in Ephraim; and Absalom invited all the king's sons. 24 Absalom came to the king and said, "Behold, they are shearing for your servant; let the king and his servants accompany your servant." 25 The king said to Absalom, "No, my son, let us not all go, so that we do not overburden you." He importuned but he would not consent to go, but he blessed him. 26 Absalom said, "If not, then let my brother Amnon go with us." But David said, "Why should he go with you?" 27 Absalom importuned him, so he sent Amnon and all the king's sons along with him.

28 Absalom instructed his servants, saying, "Take note when Amnon's heart is giddy with wine. Then, I will tell you, 'Strike down Amnon.' Kill him and fear not! Have I not commanded you? Be strong, and be brave men!"

Absalom has Amnon killed and David mourns

29 Absalom's servants did to Amnon as Absalom had commanded them. Then all the king's sons arose; each man mounted his mule and ran away. 30 While they were on the way a rumor reached David, saying, "Absalom has struck down all the king's sons; not one of them survived!" 31 The king arose and tore his garments and lay on the ground, and all his servants stood with torn clothing. 32 Jonadab, the son of David's brother Shimeah, spoke up and said, "Let my lord not think that they killed all the young men, the king's sons, for Amnon alone is dead; for Absalom had issued that order since the day [Amnon] violated his sister. 33 And now, let my lord the king not take the matter to his heart, saying, 'All the king's sons have died'; for only Amnon is dead."

34 Absalom fled. The lookout soldier raised his eyes and saw that — behold! — a large group of people was traveling on the road behind him, from the direction of the mountain. 35 Jonadab then said to the king, "Behold — the king's sons have arrived! Like your servant's word, so it was!" 36 Just as he finished speaking, the king's sons came; they raised up their voices and wept; also the king and all his servants wept a very great weeping.

Absalom goes into exile

37 Absalom had fled; he went to Talmai son of Ammihud, the king of Geshur. And [David] mourned for his son [Amnon] many years.* 38 Absalom had fled; he went to Geshur, and he remained there for three years. 39 Then [the soul of] King David pined for Absalom, for he had become consoled over Amnon, who had died.

Joab plans a reunion with Absalom

1 *Joab son of Zeruiah perceived that David's heart was set on Absalom. 2 So Joab sent to Tekoa and brought a wise woman from there. He said to her, "If you please, pretend to be a mourner. Wear garments of mourning and do not anoint yourself with oil; be like this for many days as a woman mourning over a dead person. 3 Then come before the king and speak these words to him . . ."

13:20. Absalom tried to comfort Tamar by saying that the outrage would have been even more humiliating had it been committed by an outsider. Furthermore, he urged her to try and forget the traumatic incident and get on with her life (Malbim). In his heart, however, Absalom was plotting revenge.

13:37. Talmai was Absalom's maternal grandfather (above 3:3).

14:1. Joab realized that David longed for a reconciliation with Absalom, but that he refrained from taking the initiative, lest he seem to condone Absalom's fratricide.

14:7. The family argued that it was immoral for the murderer, who was the slain brother's heir, to benefit from his crime.

14:9. Euphemistically interchanging herself and the king, she intimated that if something did happen to her son after David had guaranteed his safety, it would be the king's fault (Rashi).

14:13. Surely you realize that my story never happened, for God's people would never act so cruelly! My story was really a parable for Absalom and Amnon. Your own

And Joab put the words into her mouth.

The wise woman's predicament

4 The woman from Tekoa spoke to the king as she fell on her face to the ground and prostrated herself. She said, "Save [me], O king!" 5 The king said to her, "What [problem] do you have?" She said, "In truth, I am a widowed woman, my husband has died. 6 Your maidservant had two sons. They quarreled in the field, and there was no rescuer between them. One struck the other and killed him. 7 Now behold! the entire family rose up against your maidservant and said, 'Hand over the one who struck down his brother and we shall put him to death for the life of his brother whom he murdered; we shall also destroy [this] heir!' They would thus extinguish my last remaining coal, not leaving for my husband a name and a remnant on the face of the earth!"*

David promises to help her

8 The king said to the woman, "Go home, and I will issue a command concerning you."

9 *The woman of Tekoa said to the king, "The sin will be upon me and upon my father's family, my lord the king; the king and his throne are innocent!" 10 The king replied, "Whoever speaks [ill] to you, bring him to me, and he will no longer harm you." 11 She said, "May the king remember HASHEM, your God, [to protect me] from the many destructive blood-avengers, so that they not destroy my son!" And he said, "As HASHEM lives, not one hair of your son shall fall to the ground!" 12 The woman then said, "May your maidservant speak a word to my lord the king?" And he said, "Speak."

The woman turns the tables

13 *The woman said, "Why do you think such a thing about God's people? And let the king not say now about this matter that he was mistaken, in order for the king not to return his own banished one. 14 For we shall all die, like water flowing along the ground that cannot be collected, God spares no one. [Let the king, therefore,] ponder thoughts so that no one be banished from him. 15 And now, the reason I have come to speak to the king, my lord, in this manner is because the people frightened me; so your maidservant thought, 'I shall speak to the king and perhaps the king will carry out the word of his maidservant.* 16 For the king would listen, to save his maidservant from the clutches of "that man" [who wishes] to obliterate me and my son alike from the heritage of God.' 17 So your maidservant said, 'Let the word of my lord the king bring about tranquility [for his own son].' For like an angel of God, so is my lord, the king, listening to the good and the bad. May HASHEM your God be with you!"

David deduces Joab's involvement . . .

18 The king then spoke up and said to the woman, "Do not conceal from me anything of that which I ask of you"; and the woman said, "Let my lord, the king, speak." 19 The king asked, "Is Joab's hand [involved] with you in all this?" The woman spoke up and said, "As your soul lives, my lord, the king, one cannot veer right or left from all that my lord, the king, has spoken; for your servant Joab was the one who instructed me, and he put all these words into the mouth of your maidservant; 20 your servant Joab did this thing to lead up to the matter [of Absalom] in a roundabout way. My lord is wise like the wisdom of an angel of God, knowing everything in the land!"

. . . and sends Joab to bring Absalom back

21 The king then said to Joab, "Behold now! — I have done this thing, so go and bring back the lad, Absalom." 22 Joab then fell upon his face judgment requires that you reconcile with Absalom. Please do not retract your response to my parable in order to keep Absalom in exile.

14:15. I was warned not to broach the subject directly.

14:26. Being a nazirite, Absalom was permitted to cut his hair only annually, when it became uncomfortably heavy.

14:29. Joab refused because he felt that he would not be able to effect a full reconciliation between David and Absalom (Malbim).

14:30. Through this criminal act, Absalom was in effect telling Joab that it was a grave injustice to have brought him back to Jerusalem only to subject him to humiliating confinement (Malbim).

to the ground, and he prostrated himself and blessed the king. Joab said, "Today your servant realizes that I have found favor in your eyes, my lord, the king, for the king has carried out the request of your servant."

23 Joab then got up and went to Geshur, and brought Absalom to Jerusalem.
24 The king said, "Let him go around to his house, but let him not see my face!" So Absalom went around to his house and did not see the king's face.

Absalom's physical beauty

25 There was no one in all of Israel as praiseworthy for his beauty as Absalom; from the bottom of his foot to the top of his head there was no blemish in him.
26 When he would have his head barbered — at the end of every year he would have his hair barbered, because it became heavy upon him* and he had it barbered — the hair of his head weighed two hundred shekels by the king's weight. 27 To Absalom were born three sons and one daughter, named Tamar, who was a beautiful woman.

Absalom forces a reunion with David

28 Absalom lived in Jerusalem for two full years and did not see the king's face.
29 Absalom then sent for Joab, in order to send him to the king, but he refused to come. He sent again, but he refused to come.* 30 He then said to his servants, "Take note of Joab's field that is next to mine, where he has barley, and go and set it on fire."* So Absalom's servants set the field on fire. 31 Joab then arose and went to Absalom, into the house, and said to him, "Why did your servants set my field on fire?" 32 Absalom answered Joab, "Behold! — I sent for you, saying, 'Come here that I may send you to the king to say, "Why have I come from Geshur? It would be better for me if I were still there!" And now, let me see the king's face, and if I am guilty of a sin, let him put me to death!' "

33 So Joab came to the king and told him. He summoned Absalom and he came to the king, prostrating himself upon his face to the ground before the king, and the king kissed Absalom.

ABSALOM'S REBELLION 15:1-19:9

Absalom connives to gain a following

1 It happened after this that Absalom prepared for himself chariot and horses and fifty men to run before him.* 2 Absalom would arise early and stand by the way toward the gate; and it happened when any man who would have a dispute to bring to the king for judgment, Absalom called to him and said, "Which city are you from?" And he said, "Your servant is from such and such tribe of Israel." 3 Then Absalom said to him, "Look, your words are good and proper, but there is no one before the king to understand you." 4 Then Absalom said, "If only someone would appoint me judge in the land, and any man who had a dispute or a judgment could come to me — I would judge him fairly!" 5 And it was that whenever anyone came near him to prostrate himself before him, he would stretch out his hand and take hold of him and kiss him.* 6 Absalom did this sort of thing to all of Israel who would come for judgment to the king; and Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.

7 It happened at the end of forty years* that Absalom said to the king, "I would like to go now and pay my vow that I made to HASHEM, in Hebron.
8 For your servant took a vow, when I lived in Geshur in Aram, saying, 15:1. Absalom started to lay the groundwork for a rebellion against David. He began by projecting himself as the only committed friend of the common people.

15:5. By showing them lavish affection, agreeing with their grievances, and not letting them bow to him, Absalom slyly gained the trust and love of the masses.

15:7. That is, forty years since the institution of Saul's monarchy in Israel (Talmud), this being the thirty-seventh year of David's reign (Radak).

15:11. David had given Absalom the right to take dignitaries with him (Yalkut), and he took advantage of this offer to make it seem as if he enjoyed the widespread support of national leaders.

15:18. See note to 8:18.

15:19. "You have only recently settled in Jerusalem; how could I now dislocate you again by having you wander about with me? Return to your [new-found] place [in Jerusalem]" (Radak). Targum translates, "And even if you prefer exile [to serving Absalom], [go back] to your

'If HASHEM shall return me to Jerusalem, I shall worship unto HASHEM.' " 9 The king said to him, "Go in peace," and he arose and went to Hebron.

Absalom declares his rebellion

10 Absalom then sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel saying, "When you hear the sound of the shofar, announce, 'Absalom has become king in Hebron.' " 11 *With Absalom went two hundred men from Jerusalem, who were invited and went along innocently; they did not know anything [of Absalom's intention]. 12 And Absalom sent for Ahithophel the Gilonite, David's adviser, from his city, from Giloh, when he slaughtered the sacrifices. The conspiracy was powerful, and the people with Absalom continually increased.

David goes into exile

13 The bearer of news came to David saying, "The heart of [every] man of Israel has turned to Absalom." 14 David then said to all his servants who were with him in Jerusalem, "Arise, let us flee; for there will be no escape for us from before Absalom! Hurry to leave, lest he hurry and catch up to us and thrust evil upon us, and smite the city by the blade of the sword." 15 The king's servants said to the king, "Whatever my lord the king decides, your servants are ready!"

His servants prove their loyalty

19 *The king said to Ittai the Gittite, "Why should you also go with us? Go back and remain with the [new] king, for you are a foreigner and also an exile; [return] to your place. 20 You arrived just yesterday; shall I displace you today to take flight with us, while I go wherever I go? Return, and take your brethren back with you — [your offer is] kindness and truth." 21 But Ittai answered the king and said, "As HASHEM lives, and by the life of my lord the king, [I swear] that in whatever place my lord the king will be — whether for death or for life — there your servant will be."

22 David then said to Ittai, "Go, then, pass ahead." So Ittai the Gittite passed ahead with all his men and all the children who were with him. 23 The entire land was crying in a loud voice, and all the people were passing by. The king was passing through the Kidron Valley and all the people were passing along the road, toward the wilderness. 24 Behold, Zadok and all the Levites with him were carrying the Ark of the Covenant of God. * They set down the Ark of God — and Abiathar came up [as well] — until all the people of the city finished passing from the city.

The Ark is returned to Jerusalem

25 The king said to Zadok, "Return the Ark of God to the city. If I find favor in HASHEM's eyes He will bring me back and let me behold Him and His Abode. 26 And if He says thus, 'I desire you not,' then I am prepared; let Him do with me as He sees fit."

27 The king then said to Zadok the Kohen, "Do you agree? * Return to the city in peace, your son Ahimaaz and Jonathan son of Abiathar — your two sons going with you. 28 See, I am remaining in the Plains of the Wilderness, until

15:24. The Kohanim and Levites had thought to accompany David with the Ark so that it might afford him protection during his wanderings, but David believed that it would be disrespectful to carry the Ark about from place to place (Abarbanel).

15:27. Having already instructed Zadok to return the Ark to Jerusalem, David now proposes that Zadok himself should also remain there, in order to act as a spy and informant on behalf of David.

15:30. Going barefoot and wrapping one's head with a scarf are traditional symbols of mourning (Rashi).

15:31. The shrewd counsel of Ahithophel was one of Absalom's greatest assets. David now prayed that his advice would lead to Absalom's undoing.

15:32. The summit of the Mount of Olives overlooked the Tent of the Ark in Jerusalem. Whenever he approached Jerusalem, David would prostrate himself as soon as the Tent came into view (Rashi).

15:33. Hushai was elderly and unsuited to the rigors of word comes from you to inform me." 29 So Zadok and Abiathar returned the Ark of God to Jerusalem, and they stayed there.

30 David was going up on the ascent of [the Mount of] Olives, crying as he ascended, with his head covered, going barefoot. * And all the people with him wrapped their heads and went up, crying as they ascended. 31 It was told to David, saying, "Ahithophel is among the conspirators with Absalom." And David said, "Please confound the advice of Ahithophel, O HASHEM!" *

Ahithophel's treachery

32 David was approaching the summit where he would prostrate himself to God, * and there before him was Hushai the Archite, with his tunic torn and dirt upon his head. 33 David said to him, "If you pass over with me you will be a burden to me, * 34 but if you return to the city and say to Absalom, 'I shall be your servant, O king; I have always been your father's servant and now I am your servant,' you will be able to nullify Ahithophel's counsel for me. 35 Are not Zadok and Abiathar the Kohanim there with you? And it will be that anything you hear from the king's house, you will tell to Zadok and Abiathar the Kohanim. 36 Behold, their two sons are there with them — Zadok's Ahimaaz and Abiathar's Jonathan; send me by their hand any word you may hear." 37 So Hushai, David's friend, came to the city, as Absalom was about to enter Jerusalem.

Hushai becomes David's secret agent

16 1 David had just passed beyond the summit, and, behold, Ziba, Mephibosheth's servant, was in front of him, with a pair of donkeys laden with two hundred breads, a hundred [clusters of] raisins, a hundred [portions of] dried figs and a container of wine. 2 The king asked Ziba, "Why do you have these things?" And Ziba answered, "The donkeys are for the king's household to ride upon, the bread and the dried figs are for the youths to eat, and the wine is for the exhausted one in the desert to drink." 3 The king then said, "And where is your master's son [Mephibosheth]?" Ziba said to the king, "Behold, he is staying in Jerusalem, for he said, 'Today the House of Israel will restore my father's * kingdom to me.' " 4 The king then said to Ziba, "Behold — everything that Mephibosheth owns is now yours!" And Ziba said, "I prostrate myself; may I find favor in the eyes of my lord the king!"

Ziba condemns Mephibosheth

5 King David came until Bahurim, and behold — a man of Saul's family was coming out from there, named Shimei son of Gera, and he was cursing as he was coming out. 6 He pelted David and all of King David's servants with stones, as well as all the people and the soldiers, to his right and to his left. 7 And this is what Shimei said as he cursed, "Go out, go out, you man of bloodshed, you base man! 8 HASHEM is repaying you for all the blood of the House of Saul, * in whose stead you have reigned, and has given over the kingdom into the hand of Absalom your son. Behold — you are now afflicted because you are a man of bloodshed!" 9 Abishai son of Zeruiah said to the king, "Why should this dead dog curse my lord the king? I will go on ahead and take off his head!"

Shimei reviles David . . .

10 But the king said, "What does it matter to me or to you, O sons of Zeruiah? He is cursing because HASHEM has said to him, 'Curse David.' * Who can then say, 'Why have you done this?' " 11 David then said to Abishai and all his servants,

. . . but David shields him flight in rugged territory.

16:3. Mephibosheth referred to Saul, who was actually his grandfather (see 9:7 and the note there).

16:8. Shimei was accusing David of complicity in the assassinations of Ish-bosheth and Abner (Radak).

16:10. God, Who has ordained that I suffer this degrading exile as punishment for my sins, has invoked this man as His agent to augment my suffering (Radak). Alternatively, Shimei is the head of a sanhedrin, and such a personage would not have cursed me without Divine sanction (Rashi).

16:21. Until you do something to irrevocably break your ties to David, your followers might not support you wholeheartedly, fearing that you might become reconciled with your father and leave them branded as traitors (Rashi).

"Here my own son, who has issued from my innards, seeks my life, so what now of this Benjamite? Let him be; let him curse, for HASHEM has told him to. 12 Perhaps HASHEM will see [the tears in] my eye and HASHEM will repay me with goodness instead of his curse this day." 13 David and his men continued on the way, with Shimei walking along the side of the mountain opposite him; going, he cursed and flung stones in his direction, and threw dirt.

14 The king and all the people who were with him arrived [in Bahurim] exhausted, and they rested there.

15 Absalom and all the people, [every] man of Israel, came to Jerusalem, and Ahithophel with him. 16 When Hushai the Archite, David's friend, came to Absalom, he said, "May the king live! May the king live!" 17 Absalom then said to Hushai, "Is this your kindness to your friend? Why did you not go with your friend?" 18 Hushai said to Absalom, "No! Rather, he whom HASHEM — as well as this people and every man of Israel — has chosen, his shall I be and with him shall I stay! 19 Secondly, whom shall I be serving — is it not [my friend's] son? Just as I served before your father so shall I be before you!"

Hushai wins Absalom's trust

20 Absalom said to Ahithophel, "Give counsel; what should we do?" 21 *Ahithophel advised Absalom, "Consort with your father's concubines, whom he left to keep the house. All of Israel will hear that you have totally repudiated your father, and all who are with you will strengthen their resolve." 22 So they pitched a tent on the roof for Absalom, and Absalom consorted with his father's concubines in front of all of Israel.

Ahithophel's immoral counsel

23 Now the counsel of Ahithophel that he advised in those days was as if someone would inquire of the word of God; such was all the counsel of Ahithophel both to David and to Absalom.

17 1 Ahithophel told Absalom, "Let me please choose twelve thousand men, and I will arise and chase after David tonight! 2 I will come upon him while he is exhausted and weak-handed; I will frighten him so that all the people who are with him will flee, and I will strike down only the king. 3 *Then I will return all the people to you. When everyone will have returned, the man whom you are seeking [will be dead] and all the people will be at peace." 4 This proposal was proper in the eyes of Absalom and in the eyes of all the elders of Israel.

Ahithophel proposes a surprise attack on David . . .

5 Absalom then said, "Call now Hushai the Archite also; let us also hear what he says." 6 So Hushai came to Absalom. Absalom said to him, saying, "In this manner has Ahithophel spoken; shall we follow his word? If not, then you speak up." 7 Hushai said to Absalom, "This time the advice that Ahithophel suggested is not good." 8 Hushai said, "You know your father and his men, that they are mighty men and that they are as embittered as a bereaved bear in the field. Your father is a skilled warrior; he will not sleep with the people. 9 Behold, he is now hiding in one of the pits or in one of the [other hiding] places; when the first soldiers fall, whoever hears will say, 'There has been a calamity among the people who are with Absalom' — 10 *even if someone is a valiant man whose heart is like a lion's heart, it will certainly melt — for all of Israel knows that your father is a mighty man, as are the soldiers who are with him. 11 I would suggest

. . . but Hushai disputes him

17:3. Radak suggests that the reason Ahithophel turned so bitterly against David is because he was incensed at his conduct with Bath-sheba, Ahithophel's granddaughter (see 11:3 and 23:34).

17:10. Since David's military prowess is well known, the cries of the first victims will be attributed — rightly or wrongly — to casualties in Absalom's army, terrifying even your most courageous soldiers (Kara, Radak).

17:14. Unless God had decreed it, it would have been sheer folly to reject Ahithophel's plan of a surprise attack in favor of Hushai's unwieldy suggestion.

17:16. Hushai was afraid that Absalom would follow Ahithophel's plan after all, and destroy David and his army.

17:17. It would have appeared suspicious if the two young Kohanim had come into the city to meet with their fathers, and then dashed off in the direction of David's camp.

17:18-19. Knowing that they had been observed, Jonathan and Ahimaaz hurried into hiding. The woman covered their hiding place with groats, which are normally spread out to dry in the sun, to give the impression that all of Israel should be gathered unto you, from Dan to Beer-sheba, numerous as the sand upon the sea, and that you should personally lead the battle. 12 Then we will come upon him in one of the places where he is [hiding], and descend upon him as the dew falls upon the earth, and there will not be even one person left of him of all the men who are with him. 13 And if he will be brought into a city, all of Israel will muster battalions to that city, and we will drag [its wall] to the ravine, until not even a pebble will be found there!"

Absalom sides with Hushai

14 Absalom and all the men of Israel said, "Hushai the Archite's suggestion is better than Ahithophel's suggestion." For HASHEM had ordained to nullify the good advice of Ahithophel, in order for HASHEM to bring a calamity upon Absalom. *

Hushai sends informers to David

15 Hushai then told Zadok and Abiathar the Kohanim, "Such and such has Ahithophel advised Absalom and the elders of Israel, and such and such I myself advised. 16 *So now, send quickly and tell David saying, 'Do not spend the night in the Plains of the Wilderness, but you must cross over [the Jordan], lest the king — along with all the people who are with him — be swallowed up.' 17 *Jonathan and Ahimaaz are staying in En-rogel; let the maidservant go and tell them so that they may go and tell King David, for they will not be observed entering the city."

The informers elude capture and warn David

18 But a youth saw them and he told Absalom; so they both left quickly and came to the house of a man in Bahurim. He had a well in his courtyard, into which they descended. 19 *His wife took a curtain and spread it over the opening of the well and she scattered some crushed groats upon it, so that nothing could have been suspected. 20 When Absalom's servants came to the woman, into the house, and said, "Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?" the woman said to them, "They crossed the body of water." They searched but could not find them, so they returned to Jerusalem. 21 It happened that after their departure that they ascended from the well and they went and told King David. They said to David, "Arise and quickly cross the water, for such has Ahithophel advised concerning you." 22 So David arose — along with all the people who were with him — and they crossed the Jordan; by morning's light not one person was missing who had not crossed the Jordan.

Ahithophel's suicide

23 When Ahithophel saw that his advice was not carried out, he saddled the donkey and arose and went to his house, to his city. He instructed his family and strangled himself; * he died and was buried in his father's grave.

Absalom and David face off

24 David arrived at Mahanaim. Absalom crossed the Jordan, he and every man of Israel with him. 25 Absalom appointed Amasa over the army in place of Joab; Amasa was the son of a man named Ithra the Israelite, who consorted with Abigal daughter of Nahash, * the sister of Joab's mother Zeruiah. 26 Israel and Absalom encamped in the land of Gilead.

David's loyalists bring provisions

27 It happened that when David came to Mahanaim, Shobi son of Nahash from Rabbah the [capital] of the Children of Ammon and Machir son of Ammiel from Lo-debar and Barzillai of Gilead from Roglim 28 [took] bedding, that the curtain had been there for some time.

17:23. Certain that Hushai's plan would fail and that David would eventually regain power, Ahithophel knew he would be executed for treason. He therefore chose to die by his own hand (Radak).

17:25. As a Jew who lived in the land of the Ishmaelites (I Chronicles 2:17), Ithra was given the appellation "the Israelite" (Radak).

Since it does not say "who married Abigal," Radak conjectures that Amasa was conceived out of wedlock. At any rate, Amasa and Joab were first cousins, and nephews of David. Zeruiah and Abigal were sisters of David (I Chronicles 2:16), so "Nahash" must be another name for "Jesse" (Talmud).

18:3. Since it is only you that they seek, they will not fight as enthusiastically once they see that you are not with us, and will not bother to pursue us if we are forced to retreat or if our forces become severely weakened. It is thus to our advantage if you stay behind (Abarbanel). By remaining in the city, you can help us with your military advice bowls, pottery, wheat, barley, flour, toasted grain, beans, lentils, toasted legumes, [29] honey, butter, sheep, and cows' [milk] cheeses [and] they brought [them] to David and to the people with him to eat, for they said, "The people are hungry and exhausted and thirsty in the desert."

David plans his strategy . . .

[1] David counted the people who were with him and appointed over them officers of thousands and officers of hundreds. [2] David then sent the people away — a third under the hand of Joab, a third under the hand of Abishai son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and a third under the hand of Ittai the Gittite. The king then said to the people, "I shall also go forth with you." [3] *But the people said, "You should not go forth! For if we will have to flee they will not care about us. If half of us die they will not care about us, even if we would be ten thousand times as many as we are. Therefore it is better that you help us from the city." [4] The king replied to them, "Whatever is best in your eyes I shall do." So the king stayed near the gate, while all the people went forth by their hundreds and thousands. [5] The king commanded Joab and Abishai and Ittai, saying, "For my sake, be gentle with the boy Absalom"; and the people all heard as the king commanded all the officers concerning Absalom.

. . . and his army defeats Absalom's

[6] The people went out to the field, towards [the army of] Israel; the battle took place in the forest of Ephraim. [7] The people of Israel were defeated by David's servants; the casualties were heavy on that day — twenty thousand. [8] The battle spread out from there all across the land; the forest consumed more people than the sword consumed on that day.*

Absalom is spared at David's orders . . .

[9] Absalom chanced upon David's servants. Absalom was riding upon a mule, and the mule came under the thick branches of a large elm tree; his head became entangled in the elm, and he was suspended between the heavens and the earth, while the mule that was under him moved on.* [10] One man saw and told Joab; he said, "Behold I saw Absalom hanging from an elm!" [11] Joab then said to the man who had told him, "And if you saw this, why did you not strike him there down to the ground? I would have been obligated to reward you with ten silver pieces and one belt!" [12] The man said to Joab, "Even if I were holding a thousand silver pieces in my hands, I would not send forth my hand against the king's son, for in our own earshot the king commanded you and Abishai and Ittai saying, 'Whichever one of you [finds him], take care of the boy, of Absalom.' [13] *Even if I had acted deceitfully on my own, nothing remains hidden from the king — and you would stand aside."

. . . but then Joab kills him

[14] Joab then said, "I will not beg you any more!" He then took three staves in his hand and thrust them into Absalom's heart — yet he was still alive in the midst of the elm. [15] Ten soldiers, the armor-bearers of Joab, circled around and beat Absalom, and killed him. [16] Joab then blew the shofar, and the people refrained from chasing after Israel, for Joab restrained the people. [17] They took Absalom's [body] and threw it in the forest, into the great pit, and they erected a very large mound of stones. Meanwhile all of Israel fled, each man to his tent.

[18] (Absalom had undertaken in his lifetime and erected for himself the pillar

(Radak), or with your prayers (Targum).

18:8. The soldiers constantly became entangled in the thick branches of the trees (Radak), or they were attacked by the wild animals of the forest (Targum).

18:9. Absalom was a nazirite (see 14:26) and his long hair now became caught in the branches of the tree (Talmud).

18:13. Even if I had betrayed the king and killed Absalom, the king would learn what I did. When he would order me punished for the killing, you would not come to my aid.

18:18. Noting that Absalom had three sons (14:27), the Talmud offers two possible solutions: Either they had died, or Absalom meant that none of them was worthy of taking his place.

This parenthetical verse notes the ironic contradiction between Absalom's delusions of grandeur during his lifetime and his humiliating disgrace at death (Abarbanel).

18:21. The Cushite was either a proselyte from the land of Cush, or an Israelite who was as dark as a Cushite (Radak). Alternatively: The man's name was "Cushi" (Targum).

Absalom's monument that is in the Valley of the King; for he said, "I have no son; [this is] in order that my name should be remembered." He called the pillar by his name, and it is called "Absalom's Monument" until this day.)

Runners hurry to tell David

19 Ahimaaz son of Zadok said, "I shall run and tell the king the news — that HASHEM has granted him justice from his enemies!" 20 But Joab told him, "You should not be the bearer of news today. You can bring news another day; but do not bring news today, for the king's son is dead." 21 Joab then said to the Cushite, "Go tell the king what you have seen"; and the Cushite prostrated himself to Joab and ran off. 22 Ahimaaz son of Zadok continued to persist, and said to Joab, "Whatever happens — please let me also run after the Cushite." But Joab said, "Why should you run, my son? This news will not provide any [benefit] for you." 23 "Whatever happens — let me run!" So he said to him, "Run." Ahimaaz ran by the route of the plain and overtook the Cushite.

24 David was sitting between the two gates [of the city]. The lookout went up to the roof of the gate, to the wall; he raised his eyes and looked — and behold, a man running alone! 25 The lookout called out and told the king. The king said, "If he is alone, there is news in his mouth," and he kept drawing closer. 26 Then the lookout saw another man running; the lookout called out to the gatekeeper and said, "Behold, [another] man is running alone!" The king said, "This man is also a herald!" 27 The lookout said, "I recognize the first one's stride as the stride of Ahimaaz son of Zadok." And the king said, "He is a good man; he is coming with good news." 28 Ahimaaz called out and said to the king, "Peace!" and he prostrated himself to the king with his face to the ground. Then he said [further], "Blessed is HASHEM, your God, Who has delivered [into our hands] the men who lifted up their hand against my lord the king!" 29 *The king then asked, "Is it well with the boy Absalom?" Ahimaaz replied, "I saw the great commotion when Joab sent the [Cushite] servant of the king and [myself,] your servant, and I do not know what happened." 30 The king then said, "Move aside and stand here," so he moved aside and stood. 31 Then behold — at that point the Cushite arrived. The Cushite said, "Let my lord the king be informed that HASHEM has granted you justice today from all those who rose up against you!" 32 Then the king asked the Cushite, "Is it well with the boy Absalom?" The Cushite replied, "May the enemies of my lord the king be like the boy, as well as all others who rise up against you to do you harm!"

David hears the good news first . . .

. . . and then hears of the fate of Absalom

19 1 The king trembled. He ascended to the upper chamber of the gateway and wept; and thus he said as he went: "My son, Absalom! My son, my son, Absalom! If only I could have died in your place! Absalom, my son, my son!" 2 It was told to Joab, "Behold, the king is crying and lamenting over Absalom!"

The people join David's grief

3 The salvation of that day was transformed to mourning for all the people, for the people heard it said on that day, "The king is saddened over his son." 4 The people stole themselves into the city on that day, as those people who are ashamed would steal away when they run from the battle. 5 The king wrapped his face, and the king cried out in a loud voice, "My son, Absalom! Absalom, my son, my son!"

6 Joab then came to the king, into the chamber, and said, "Today you have

18:29. Ahimaaz understood how concerned the king was with Absalom's welfare; therefore, he did not break the news of Absalom's death at once. Rather he first hinted to it by speaking of the commotion.

19:5. A traditional gesture of mourning (see 15:30, and footnote there).

19:10. In this verse and in most of the remainder of the chapter, as in many other books of the Bible, "Israel" comprises ten tribes, the excluded tribes being Judah and Benjamin.

19:14. David dismissed Joab from his post for having killed Absalom (Radak). David appointed Amasa, who had led the mutinous army in its attack against David, as a sign that David sought reconciliation rather than retribution from the former insurgents (Ralbag).

19:21. The "House of Joseph" includes all of Rachel's humiliated the faces of all your servants who saved your soul and the soul of your sons and daughters and the soul of your wives and the soul of your concubines, 7 by expressing love for those who hate you and hatred for those who love you; for you have declared today that you do not have officers or servants, for today I know that were Absalom alive and all of us dead today, it would be preferable in your eyes! 8 So now, arise, and go out; speak to the heart of your servants, for I swear by HASHEM that if you do not go out, no man will stay to spend the night with you; and this will be worse for you than any harm that has ever come upon you from your youth until this day!" 9 So the king arose and sat at the [city] gate. They told all the people, saying, "Behold, the king is sitting at the gate"; and all the people came before the king. Meanwhile [the army of] Israel had run away, each man to his tents.

David accepts Joab's protest

DAVID'S RETURN TO JERUSALEM 19:10-44

10 Then it happened that all the people, among all the tribes of Israel, were reproachful [toward each other], saying, "The king rescued us from the hand of our enemies, and he delivered us from the hand of the Philistines. Now he has fled from the land, from before Absalom, 11 and Absalom, whom we had anointed over us, has died in the battle; and now, why are you silent regarding bringing back the king?"*

The people return to David . . .

12 King David then sent [a message] to Zadok and Abiathar, the Kohanim, saying, "Speak to the elders of Judah, saying, 'Why should you be last to return the king to his house? The word of all of Israel has come to the king, [to return him] to his house. 13 You are my brothers, you are my bone and my flesh — so why should you be last to return the king?' 14 And to Amasa say, 'Are you not my bone and my flesh? Such may God do to me and such may He do further, if I do not make you commander of the army before me always, in place of Joab.' " 15 [King David] thus turned the hearts of all the men of Judah as one man; and they sent [a message] to the king, "Return, you and all your servants."*

. . . and he regains Judah's loyalty

16 So the king returned, and he reached the Jordan, and [the people of] Judah came to Gilgal, to go and greet the king, to escort him across the Jordan. 17 Shimei son of Gera, the Benjamite who was from Bahurim, hastened and went down with the men of Judah to greet King David. 18 With him were a thousand men from Benjamin, and Ziba, the attendant of the House of Saul, with his fifteen sons and twenty servants, and they forded the Jordan [to go] before the king. 19 When the ferry crossed over to bring across the household of the king and to do whatever was proper in his eyes, Shimei son of Gera fell before the king, as he was crossing in the Jordan.

Shimei comes to beg for mercy

20 He said to the king, "Let my lord not consider it an iniquity for me, and do not remember that which your servant sinned on the day when my master the king left Jerusalem, that the king should take it to his heart. 21 For your servant knows that I have sinned, and here I have come today, first among all the House of Joseph, to come down and greet my master the king." 22 Abishai son of Zeruiah then spoke up and said, "Shall Shimei not be put to death, despite this [apology]? For he has cursed the anointed one of HASHEM!" 23 David then said, "What does it matter to me or to you, O sons of Zeruiah, that you should be* descendants, namely the tribes of Manasseh, Ephraim and Benjamin. Alternatively, it is a collective term for all of Israel (Radak).

Shimei was insinuating that, as the first non-Judean to greet the king, he would be considered a "test case" by all of Israel, and if he were not shown clemency, the other people, out of fear that they would all be dealt with harshly, would continue their insurrection (Rashi).

19:23. David said, "It is not appropriate for a king to sentence someone to death on the day of his ascension — or, in my case, reascencion — to the throne" (Malbim).

19:25. This passage is not in chronological order, since it took place in Jerusalem (v. 26), while the previous and following passages (vv. 32-45) took place at the Jordan. This passage is interpolated here because the lame Mephibosheth had been accused by his servant Ziba of disloyalty to David (16:3) and the obsequious Ziba had been among the first to greet the victorious David (v. 18).

David spares Shimei

an adversary unto me today? Shall a man of Israel be put to death today? For do I not know that today I am king over Israel?" [24] So the king said to Shimei, "You shall not die"; and the king swore to him.

Mephibosheth refutes Ziba's slander

[25] Mephibosheth son of Saul came down to greet the king. He had not bathed his feet and had not trimmed his mustache, he had not laundered his clothing from the day the king left until the day that he returned in peace. * [26] And it happened that when he came to Jerusalem to greet the king, that the king said to him, "Why didn't you go with me, Mephibosheth?" [27] He replied, "My lord the king, my servant [Ziba] tricked me; for your servant said, 'I shall saddle up the donkey and ride upon it and go with the king,' for your servant is crippled. [28] He then slandered your servant to my lord the king. My lord the king is like an angel of God; do what is proper in your eyes. [29] For my entire father's family was nothing but condemned men before my lord the king, and yet you placed your servant among those who eat at your table. So what further justification have I to cry out further to the king?" [30] The king then said to him, "Why do you still speak your words? I hereby declare that you and Ziba should divide the property." [31] Mephibosheth replied to the king, "Let him take it all, since my lord the king has arrived safely to his house."

David rewards Barzillai

[32] Barzillai of Gilead came down from Roglim, and he crossed the Jordan with the king, to see him off at the Jordan. [33] Barzillai was very old — eighty years of age. He had sustained the king when he dwelt in Mahanaim, for he was a very wealthy man. [34] The king said to Barzillai, "You cross over with me and I shall sustain you with me in Jerusalem." [35] But Barzillai said to the king, "How many are the days [remaining] of the years of my life that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem? [36] I am eighty years old today; can I distinguish good from bad; * does your servant taste what I eat or what I drink? Can I still hear the sound of male or female singers? Why then should your servant be a burden any longer on my lord the king? [37] I will accompany the king across the Jordan for a bit, but why should the king reward me with this benefit? [38] Let your servant return and I will die in my own city, near the grave of my father and my mother. Behold, your servant Chimham * will cross with my lord the king; do with him what is proper in your eyes." [39] The king said, "Chimham will cross with me, and I shall do for him what is proper in your eyes; anything you choose for me I shall do for you."

[40] All the people then crossed the Jordan, and the king crossed. The king kissed Barzillai and blessed him, and he returned to his place. [41] The king crossed over to Gilgal, and Chimham crossed over with him; all the people of Judah brought the king across, and also half of the people of Israel.

[42] Then behold! — all the men of Israel came to the king, and said to the king, "Why have our brethren, the men of Judah, abducted you? They have brought the king and his household across the Jordan, and all of David's men

Now we are told how Mephibosheth defended himself — and indeed, that he was telling the truth. The verse testifies to his grief over David's overthrow since abstention from bathing, haircutting, and laundering of clothes are symbols of mourning.

19:30. David was not sure whether to believe Mephibosheth or Ziba, so he silenced Mephibosheth and decreed a compromise. According to the Talmud, David was punished for believing Ziba's slanderous tale by having his own kingdom split in two during the days of his grandson Rehoboam (Radak).

19:36. I cannot even tell the difference between good food and bad (Rashi). Abarbanel interprets, "If you want me to live in Jerusalem in order to be your adviser, it will be of no use, for I do not know a good idea from a bad one."

19:38. Barzillai's son (Rashi).

19:42. You should have notified us of the king's arrival so that we could take part in the welcoming celebrations.

19:44. Even though this king is David, who is from your tribe, we are still the majority of the nation.

20:3. Having been violated by Absalom (see 16:21), they were no longer appropriate for the king; having been intimate with the king, they were forbidden to commoners. Thus, David could neither live with them, nor divorce them so that they could marry others.

20:7. For the explanation of these terms, see note to 8:18.

20:8. Joab was seized with jealous hatred for having been replaced by Amasa, and planned this opportunity to settle the score. He wore his scabbard horizontally so that the sword would slide out unnoticed when he leaned over. Thus, he would not alert Amasa to the danger by actually drawing his sword.

20:11. There were undoubtedly many men — especially from Amasa's force — who felt revulsion at Joab's treach-with him." * 43 And all the men of Judah [as one] answered the men of Israel, "Because the king is related to me. Why, then, are you angry over this matter? Have we partaken of the king's [food]? Has he granted us special portions?"

Israel protests that Judah slights them

44 But the men of Israel [as one] answered the men of Judah and said, "I have ten times as much share in the king — though he be David — I [have more] than you [do], so why do you slight me? Was it not my initiative to bring back my king?" But the words of the men of Judah were harsher than the words of the men of Israel.*

SHEBA SON OF BICHRI'S REBELLION 20:1-26

1 There happened to be there a certain base man by the name of Sheba son of Bichri, a Benjamite; he sounded the shofar and said, "We have no part in David and we have no heritage in the son of Jesse! Every man [back] to his tents, O Israel!" 2 So all the men of Israel went up from behind David, and followed Sheba son of Bichri. But the men of Judah clung to their king, from the Jordan to Jerusalem.

David returns home

3 David arrived at his house in Jerusalem. The king took the ten concubine wives whom he had left behind to keep the house, and put them up in a guarded house and sustained them, but he no longer lived with them; they were bound up in living widowhood until the day they died. *

David sends a force to subdue Sheba

4 The king then said to Amasa, "Muster for me the men of Judah within the next three days, and you [also] stand here [then]." 5 So Amasa went to muster [the men of] Judah; but he was late for the appointed time which [the king] had set for him. 6 David then said to Abishai, "Now Sheba son of Bichri will do us more harm than Absalom! So you take your lord's servants yourself and chase after him, lest he find himself some fortified cities and [secure his] rescue [before] our eyes." 7 Joab's men went after him, as well as the archers and the slingers and all the mighty men; they left Jerusalem to chase after Sheba son of Bichri.*

8 When they were at the Great Stone that is in Gibeon, Amasa was coming towards them. Joab was girded with his battle garments, and had a sword girded upon himself, which was fastened upon his loins in its scabbard; and as he moved forward, it fell out. * 9 Joab then said to Amasa, "Is all well with you, my brother?" And Joab's right hand grabbed hold of Amasa's beard, to kiss him. 10 Amasa was not vigilant of the sword in Joab's [left] hand, and he struck him with it, into his fifth rib, and spilled his innards out onto the ground; he did not [need to] repeat [the blow], and he died. Joab and his brother Abishai then took up the chase after Sheba son of Bichri.

Joab kills Amasa and assumes command

11 A man, one of Joab's attendants, stood over [Amasa] and said, "Whoever approves of Joab and whoever is for David, follow Joab." * 12 But Amasa was wallowing in blood in the middle of the road, and the man saw that all the people stood still; so he moved Amasa from the road into the field, and threw a garment over him, when he saw that everyone who came to it stood still. 13 Once he was removed from the road, all the men passed and followed Joab, to chase after Sheba son of Bichri.

14 He passed through all the tribes of Israel, to Abel and to Beth-maacah* erous behavior. This soldier of Joab announced that there was no time for quibbling now, and that all soldiers present, whether they were followers of Joab or simply loyal to King David, had to disregard what had happened and follow Joab into the battle against Sheba's insurrection.

20:14. Rashi understands "he" as a reference to Sheba who enlisted the citizens of all these towns in his rebellion. Radak understands "he" as a reference to Joab who passed through all the towns of Israel soliciting and gaining support for David.

20:15. The siege of a fortified city was carried out by pouring a huge mound, or ramp, of earth next to the wall until the besieging troops could ascend to the top of the wall and enter the city.

20:23. When he saw Joab's immense popularity after the victory (Malbim) and his spectacular handling of the Sheba affair (Radak), David felt he had no choice but to reinstate Joab as commander. Eventually, however, he saw to it that Joab would be punished for his barbaric and treacherous acts (I Kings 2:5-6).

20:26. Others translate, "a senior officer" (Targum).

Chapters 21-24. Each of the events described from here to the end of the Book is related in some way to the events recorded before and after it. However, they are not given in chronological order (see Rashi 21:18; Kara 21:15).

21:1. Saul's family is described as the "House of Blood" because they took part in his campaign against the Gibeonites. Exactly what Saul did is not stated explicitly in Scripture. The Sages teach that Gibeonites were wood-choppers and water drawers for the priestly city of Nob, and to all the Berites; they gathered together, and they too followed him. 15 They came and besieged him at Abel of Beth-maacah; they poured a ramp against the city until it stood even with the outer wall, and all the people who were with Joab began demolishing, to topple the main wall.*

A wise woman saves her city . . .

16 A wise woman called out from the city, "Listen! Listen! Please say to Joab, 'Come close to here, so that I may speak to you.' " 17 So he drew close to her, and the woman said, "Are you Joab?" He replied, "I am." She said, "Hear the words of your maidservant!" and he said, "I am listening." 18 She spoke [on], saying, "[Your men] should have spoken at the start, saying, 'Let them inquire in Abel [about surrender],' for they would have made peace. 19 I [represent] the loyal, faithful people of Israel. You are seeking to annihilate a metropolis in Israel! Why will you swallow up the heritage of HASHEM?" 20 Joab answered and said, "Far be it, far be it from me, that I should swallow up or destroy! 21 The matter is not so. Rather a man from Mount Ephraim, his name is Sheba son of Bichri, has raised up his hand against the king, against David. Turn over him alone, and I will go away from the city." The woman then said to Joab, "Behold, his head will be thrown to you over the wall!"

. . . by executing Sheba

22 In her wisdom, the woman then went to all the people and they cut off the head of Sheba son of Bichri and threw it to Joab. He sounded the shofar and they all disbanded from the city, every man to his tents. And Joab then returned to Jerusalem, to the king.

The leaders of David's court

23 Joab was [commander] of the entire army of Israel; with Benaiah son of Jehoiada over the archers and the slingers;* 24 Adoram over the tax; Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud the secretary; 25 Sheva the scribe; Zadok and Abiathar the Kohanim; 26 and also Ira the Jairite was a Kohen unto David.*

THE THREE-YEAR FAMINE 21:1-14

1 *In the days of David there was [once] a famine for three years, year after year. David inquired of HASHEM, and HASHEM said, "It is for Saul and for the House of Blood, for his having killed the Gibeonites."

2 So the king called the Gibeonites and spoke to them. (The Gibeonites were not of the Children of Israel, but from the remnant of the Amorite; the Children of Israel had sworn [not to harm] them, but Saul had tried to strike them down in his zeal for the Children of Israel and Judah.)* 3 *David said to the Gibeonites, "What can I do for you, and how can I atone [for this sin], so that you will bless the heritage of HASHEM?" 4 The Gibeonites replied to him, "We have no [claim of] silver or gold against Saul nor against his house, and we have no [innocent] man in Israel to put to death." He then said [to them], "Whatever you say I will do for you."

The Gibeonites cruel demand

5 They said to the king, "The man who annihilated us and who schemed against us that we be eliminated from remaining within the entire border of Israel — 6 let seven men of his sons be given to us and we will hang them for the sake of HASHEM in the Gibeah of Saul (the chosen one of HASHEM)." The king then and when Saul ordered the massacre of Nob (see I Samuel 22:17-19), seven Gibeonites were killed and the rest were left without a livelihood (Rashi). Kara and Radak suggest that Saul drove them from the country, killing many in the process, because the Gibeonites were members of the Hivvite nation, and as such were not entitled to remain in Eretz Yisrael. Saul held that Joshua's promise to them was invalid because the Gibeonites had acquired it through deception (see Joshua Ch. 9). Whatever Saul did, it was not justified, and his family incurred God's wrath because he, and they, had desecrated God's Name.

---

21:2. See Joshua Ch. 9.

21:3. David tried to appease the Gibeonites so that they would forgive Israel and pray that God end the drought (Rashi).

21:6. The hanging would show the justice of HASHEM, for He had punished the entire land for three years because of their cruelty to the Gibeonites (Radak). Scripture — not the Gibeonites — gave Saul the accolade, "the chosen one of HASHEM" (Talmud).

How could these seven people be executed for the sin of Saul? A court would not have the right to do so, but this was a Heavenly imposed penalty, since the seven were chosen by the Urim VeTumim; in God's judgment all of a person's deeds are considered. R' Yochanan declared that in order to end a desecration of the Name, which had been caused by Saul's treatment of the Gibeonites, a commandment of the Torah was set aside, so that the seven men were chosen to atone for Saul's sin (Radak). According to R' Saadyah Gaon, they participated in Saul's deed.

21:7. He prayed to HASHEM that Mephibosheth should not be among the men chosen by God to meet this fate (Rashi). R' Saadyah Gaon translates, "David rejoiced over Mephibosheth," meaning that David was relieved that Mephibosheth was not involved in the persecution of the Gibeonites and would not have to be handed over.

21:8. Actually Michal did not have so many children (6:23). Furthermore, her sister Merab was the one married to Adriel (I Samuel 18:19). The Talmud explains that Merab gave birth to these five children, but they were *said, "I will give [them to you]."

David designates seven victims

7 The king had mercy on Mephibosheth son of Jonathan son of Saul, because of the oath of HASHEM that was between them — between David and Jonathan son of Saul. 8 So the king took the two sons of Rizpah daughter of Aiah, whom she bore to Saul — Armoni and Mephibosheth — and the five sons of Michal* daughter of Saul, whom she bore to Adriel son of Barzillai the Meholathite. 9 He delivered them into the hand of the Gibeonites, and they hanged them on the mountain before HASHEM; all seven of them fell together. They were put to death during the first days of the harvest, at the beginning of the barley harvest.*

Rizpah's vigil

10 Rizpah daughter of Aiah took a sackcloth and spread it for herself over a rock, from the beginning of the harvest until water fell down on [the corpses] from heaven; she did not allow the birds of the heaven to descend upon them during the day, nor the beasts of the field during the night. 11 David was told what Rizpah daughter of Aiah, Saul's concubine, had done; 12 and David went* and took the bones of Saul and the bones of his son Jonathan from the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead, who had stolen them from the square of Beth-shan, where the Philistines had hanged them on the day that the Philistines defeated Saul at Gilboa. 13 He brought up from there the bones of Saul and the bones of his son Jonathan. They gathered together the bones of those who were hanged; 14 and they buried the bones of Saul and his son Jonathan in the land of Benjamin, in Zela, in the grave of [Saul's] father, Kish. They did all that the king commanded, and God answered the prayers of the land after that.*

THE GIANT'S CHILDREN 21:15-22

15 The Philistines again made war with Israel. David and his servants went down and fought with the Philistines, and David became faint. 16 Ishbi-benob — who was one of the children of the giant, and whose spear weighed three hundred copper weights and who was girded with a new [sword] — declared that he would strike down David. 17 Abishai son of Zeruiah came to his aid and he struck the Philistine, killing him. Then David's men swore to him, saying, "You shall not go out to war with us anymore, so that you not extinguish the lamp of Israel!"*

18 It happened after this that there was another war with the Philistines in Gob. It was then that Sibbecai the Hushathite struck down Saph, who was one of the children of the giant.

19 There was another war with the Philistines in Gob, and Elhanan son of Jaare-oregim the Bethlehemite struck down [the brother of] Goliath of Gath, who had a spear with a shaft like a weaver's beam.*

20 There was another war, in Gath. There was a man of huge dimensions, adopted and raised by Michal, so she was considered their mother.

21:10. Rizpah, mother of two of the victims, put up a sackcloth shelter for herself and protected the bodies, from the springtime harvest until the fall rainy season.

Although the Torah prohibits leaving a corpse unburied even for one night (Deut. 21:23), God decreed that the bodies should be left there for a lengthy time so that all would see that He condemns those who take advantage of the poor and powerless. Such a powerful impression did this sanctification of the Name make that 150,000 people converted to Judaism (Radak, quoting the Talmud).

21:12. The rainfall proved that Israel's sin had been atoned for. Having learned that the bodies had been preserved through Rizpah's devoted efforts, David now arranged that these remains together with those of Saul and Jonathan [see I Samuel 31:10-12] would receive a proper burial (Di Trani).

21:16. It was customary for a warrior to kill someone on his first day in battle, in order to become fully "initiated" into the army. Ishbi-benob chose the exhausted David as his victim (Rashi).

21:19. The reference is to Goliath's brother, Lahmi, as stated in I Chronicles 20:5 (Kara, Radak).

whose fingers and toes were six each, twenty-four in number; he, too, was born to the giant. [21] He ridiculed Israel, and Jonathan, the son of David's brother Shimea, struck him down.

[22] These four were born to the giant in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

SONG OF GRATITUDE 22:1-51

[1] David spoke to HASHEM the words of this song on the day that HASHEM delivered him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul.*

[2] He said:

HASHEM is my Rock, my Fortress, and my Rescuer.*

[3] God, my Rock in Whom I take shelter, my Shield,* and the Horn of my Salvation, my Stronghold and my Refuge.*
My Savior, You save me from violence.

[4] With praises I call unto HASHEM, and I am saved from my enemies.

[5] When the pains of death encircled me and torrents of godless men would frighten me,

[6] the pains of the grave surrounded me, the snares of death confronted me —

David prays . . .

[7] in my distress I would call upon HASHEM, and to my God I would call;
from His abode He heard my voice, and my cry was in His ears.

. . . and God answers him

[8] Then the earth quaked and roared, the foundations of the heavens shook;
they quaked when His wrath flared.

[9] *Smoke rose up in His nostrils, a devouring fire from His mouth, flaming coals blazed forth from Him.

[10] *He bent down the heavens and descended, with thick darkness beneath His feet.

[11] He mounted a cherub and flew, He appeared on the wings of the wind.

[12] He made darkness into shelters all around Him —
*the darkness of water, the clouds of heaven.

[16] The depths of the sea became visible,
*the foundations of the earth were laid bare,
by the rebuke of HASHEM, by the blowing of the breath of His nostrils.

Support against his enemies . . .

[17] He sent from on high and took me, He drew me out of deep waters.

[18] He saved me from my mighty foe, and from my enemies, when they overpowered me.

[19] They confronted me on the day of my misfortune, but HASHEM was a support unto me.

[20] He brought me out into a broad space; He released me, for He desired me.

22:1. This song also appears, with minor differences, as the eighteenth psalm. See commentary there.

22:2. Heb., סַלְעִי — that is, fortress (Rashi).

22:3. Heb., צוּר — that is, refuge, as a mountainside cave shelters one from the elements (Rashi).

"Horn" is a metaphor for strength, just as the horn of an animal is its "weapon" (Radak).

22:9. The word of God itself consumes the wicked, like a fire (Rashi).

22:10. God intervened in human affairs (Ralbag), and cast His enemies into despair.

22:12. Even when He intervenes, He conceals Himself in natural phenomena (Ibn Ezra).

22:16. A reference to the Splitting of the Sea after the Exodus (Rashi).

. . . in return for righteousness

21 HASHEM recompensed me according to my righteousness;
He repaid me befitting the cleanliness of my hands.
22 For I have kept the ways of HASHEM, and I have not departed wickedly from my God.
23 For all His judgments are before me; I do not remove myself from His decrees.
24 I have been perfectly innocent with Him, and I was vigilant against my sin.
25 HASHEM repaid me in accordance with my righteousness, according to my purity before His eyes.
26 With the devout You deal devoutly.
with the one who is strong in his wholeheartedness You act wholeheartedly.
27 With the pure You act purely, with the corrupt You act perversely.
28 You save the humble people,
while Your eyes are upon the haughty to lower them.
29 For You are my lamp, HASHEM; HASHEM illuminates my darkness.
30 For with You I smash a troop, with my God I leap over a wall. *

Only in God is there safety

31 The God! His way is perfect; the promise of HASHEM is flawless.
He is a shield for all who take refuge in Him.
32 For who is God besides HASHEM, and who is a Rock besides our God? 33 God!
My Fortress of strength; He cleared my way, with perfection.
34 Who straightened my feet like the hinds, and stood me upon my heights.
35 Who trained my hands for battle, so that a copper bow could be bent by my arms.

David defeats his enemies . . .

36 You have given me the shield of Your salvation, and Your humility made me great. *
37 You widened my stride beneath me; and my ankles have not faltered.
38 I pursued my foes and eradicated them,
and returned not until they were destroyed.
39 I destroyed them and struck them down so that they did not rise, and they fell beneath my feet.
40 You girded me with strength for battle;
You brought my adversaries to their knees beneath me.
41 And my enemies — you gave to me in retreat;
my antagonists, and I cut them down.
42 They cried out, but there was no savior;
[they turned] to HASHEM, but He answered them not.
43 I pulverized them like dust of the earth;
like the mud in the streets I crushed them and trampled them.

. . . and wins allegiance from friend and foe

44 You rescued me from the strife of my people; *
You preserved me to be the head of nations; a people I did not know serves me.
45 Foreigners dissemble to me;
at the ear's hearing, they become obedient to me. *

Gratitude to HASHEM

46 Foreigners are withered and terrified from within their fortified enclosures.
47 HASHEM lives! Blessed is my Rock!

22:30. With God by my side I have the strength to engage and conquer my enemies.

22:36. God's "humility," by which He deigns to bestow goodness upon human beings, was illustrated many times for me, through His miraculous acts of salvation.

22:44. You have delivered me from my foes in the Israelite camp — Saul, Doeg, Absalom, Sheba, etc.

22:45. Out of apprehension for me, they conceal the truth when they fear it will displease me, but the mere report that I have issued an order is enough to make them cower with obeisance.

23:1. These are the last words David uttered through Divine inspiration (Targum).

David was "established on high" when he was "taken from the sheepfold, from following the flocks, to become ruler over God's people, over Israel" (7:8).

23:4. Grass needs both rain and sunshine to grow. David likens his reign to a sunny morning after a night's rain, a time for optimism, growth and prosperity (Di Trani).

23:5. The glory of the kingdom of the house of David was not meant to be "clouded over" by constant subversion or lack of endurance, as other royal houses of Israel (the house of Saul, the houses of future kings, the Hasmonean dynasty, etc.).

23:7. Just as thistles and thorns must be removed with implements or burned in their place, lest they prick the one who gathers them, so too the wicked must be obliterated, either through mercenaries or by directly destroying them in the places where they lurk (Radak).

23:8. Adino once slew eight hundred men in one battle.

23:9. The three mighty men were Adino, Elazar and Shammah (Radak).

23:10. Elazar defeated the Philistine army singlehandedly; the people had nothing to do except to come afterwards to plunder the fallen soldiers.

23:11. Lit., "into a beast"; i.e., they formed into a raiding party that, like the wild beasts, would pillage the produce

Exalted is God, Rock of my salvation,
48 The God Who grants me vengeance and subdues nations beneath me, 49 and extricates me from my enemies!
You raised me above my adversaries; from the man of violence You rescued me.
50 Therefore, I shall give thanks to You, HASHEM, among the nations, and to Your Name I will sing.
51 He is a tower of His king's salvations, and does kindness to His anointed one, to David and his offspring, forever!

DAVID'S LAST PROPHETIC WORDS 23:1-7

1 These are the last words of David: The words of David son of Jesse,* *and the words of the man who was established on high, **
the anointed one of the God of Jacob,
and the pleasing [composer] of the songs of Israel:
2 The spirit of HASHEM spoke through me; His word is upon my tongue.
3 The God of Israel has said — the Rock of Israel has spoken to me —
"[Become a] ruler over men; a righteous one, who rules through the fear of God,
4 like the morning light when the sun shines — a morning without clouds, *from the shine out of the rain, grass [sprouts forth] from the earth."
5 *For was my house not [set up] thus with God;
for He has granted me an everlasting covenant, established for all [time] and secure;
for my entire salvation and desire [have been fulfilled], for He will not [allow other kingdoms to] sprout.

The command that he reign . . .

. . . and his enemies will be swept aside

6 But godless men are all like a wind-blown thistle, which they cannot take by hand.
7 [For] a man to touch them, he must equip himself with iron [tools] and the shaft of a spear,
*and they must be thoroughly burnt where they are. **

DAVID'S MIGHTY WARRIORS 23:8-39

8 *These are the names of David's warriors: One who sat in the assembly, a sagacious man, head of the captains — he is Adino the Eznite, [who stood] over eight hundred corpses at one time. **
9 After him was Elazar son of Dodo an Ahohite; [he was] among the three mighty men who were with David when they fought defiantly against the Philistines who had gathered there for war, and the men of Israel ran off.* 10 *He rose up and struck the Philistines until his hand tired and his hand stuck to the sword; and HASHEM performed a great salvation on that day. The people returned after him only to strip [the corpses]. **
11 After him was Shammah son of Age, from the mountain. The Philistines had gathered into a raiding party where there was a portion of the field full of lentils, and the people fled from the Philistines.* 12 So he stood in the middle of the portion and rescued it, and slayed the Philistines; and HASHEM performed a great salvation.
13 *Once three men, who were officers over the thirty men, went down and came to David at harvest, to the cave of Adullam, * and a Philistine raiding party* of the fields (Rashi, Ralbag).

23:13. The three heroes mentioned above (Di Trani), or perhaps "the three" referred to in v. 18 (Ralbag), had under their command the thirty men mentioned below. They were with David at the stronghold of Adullam, where he was hiding from Saul (I Samuel 22:1).

23:16. According to one Talmudic opinion, this event took place on Succos, the only time of the year when water libations are offered, so that David must have had an altar at Adullam. Radak suggests that the intent is figurative: David spilled out the water in a gesture of devotion to God.

23:18. These three are not the same as the three mighty men described above.

23:20. Unlike the previously described heroes, for whom only one daring deed is reported for each man, Benaiahu was a man of many deeds, as the verses go on to detail (Kara). The Sages interpret the account of his exploits as a metaphor for spiritual and scholarly successes.

23:22. I.e., the three who risked their lives to bring water for David.

23:39. There are many versions of how to arrive at the number of thirty-seven mighty men.

24:1. This episode continues the misfortunes listed in the was encamped in the Valley of Rephaim. 14 David was then in the stronghold, and there was a Philistine garrison in Bethlehem. 15 David had a craving and said, "If only someone could give me water to drink from the well of Bethlehem, which is in the city gate!" 16 So the three mighty men broke into the camp of the Philistines and drew water from the well of Bethlehem, which is at the gate, and they carried it and brought it to David. But he refused to drink it, and he poured it out unto HASHEM. * 17 He said, "Far be it from me, HASHEM, that I should do this! Is this not [tantamount to] the blood of the men who risked their lives to go?" And he refused to drink it. These are what the three mighty men did.

Abishai

18 Abishai, the brother of Joab son of Zeruiah — he was the head of the three; * he wielded his sword over three hundred corpses; he was the best known of the three. 19 Of the three, he was the most honored, and he became their leader, but he did not compare to the first three.

Benaiah

20 Benaiah son of Jehoiada was a valiant man of many achievements, * from Kabzeel; he struck down the two commanders of Moab, and he [also] went down and slew a lion in the middle of a well on a snowy day. 21 He also struck down an Egyptian man, a man of imposing appearance; in the hand of the Egyptian was a spear, and he came down upon him with a stick, and stole the spear from the hand of the Egyptian, and killed him with his own spear. 22 These [things] Benaiah son of Jehoiada did; he was well known among the three mighty men. * 23 He was more honored than the thirty, but he did not compare to the [first] three; and David set him as his confidant.

The rest of his heroic warriors

24 Asahel, the brother of Joab, was among the thirty, [who were]: Elhanan son of Dodo of Bethlehem, 25 Shammah the Harodite, Elika the Harodite, 26 Helez the Paltite, Ira son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, 27 Abiezer the Anathothite, Mebunnai the Hushathite, 28 Zalmon the Ahohite, Maharai the Netophathite, 29 Heleb son of Baanah the Netophathite, Ittai son of Ribai from Gibeah of the Children of Benjamin, 30 Benaiah a Pirathonite, Hiddai from Nahale-gaash, 31 Abi-albon the Arbathite, Azmaveth the Barhumite, 32 Eliahba the Shaalbonite; of the sons of Jashen, Jonathan; 33 Shammah from the mountain, Ahiam son of Sharar the Ararite, 34 Eliphelet son of Ahasbai son of the Maacathite, Eliam son of Ahithophel the Gilonite, 35 Hezrai the Carmelite, Paarai the Arbite, 36 Igal son of Nathan from Zobah, Bani the Gadite, 37 Zelek the Ammonite, Nahrai the Beerothite — who was Joab son of Zeruiah's armor-bearer — 38 Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite, 39 Uriah the Hittite. Altogether there were thirty-seven [mighty men].

DAVID'S WRONGFUL CENSUS 24:1-25

1 The anger of HASHEM again flared against Israel, and He enticed David because of them, to say, "Go count the people of Israel and Judah." * 2 So the king said to Joab, the commander of his army, "Travel around among all the previous chapters. Although Scripture does not specify which sin had precipitated God's anger against Israel, the Midrash asserts that the people sinned by not seeking a more active role in the building of the Temple, although David himself had made such an effort and was rebuffed (Ch. 7). [It is interesting to note that in fact the entire episode ends when an altar is built upon the threshing floor of Araunah, the future site of the Temple.]

Radak explains that all such calamities are the result of national sinfulness, but God brings about the punishments by means of natural and common phenomena such as political discord or droughts. In this case, David was enticed to conduct a national census. The verse does not necessarily mean that God commanded or caused David to do so. The parallel verse in I Chronicles (21:1) reads "A satan, i.e., an evil impulse (Radak), enticed David to count Israel."

Counting the population is improper, even sinful, because it is likely to be motivated by a vain desire to know the exact strategic potency of the nation, which in turn leads the people to believe that their salvation is in strength of numbers and not in God's desire for their well-being. Consequently, such a counting of the population is likely to bode ill for the people involved, which is why Joab tried to convince David not to do it (v. 3). To dispel the notion that salvation is in numbers, the Torah (Exodus 30:12-16) commands that a census always be done in such a way that there is another reason for it, e.g., the raising of funds. See Ralbag.

24:14. If there were seven years of famine, the people would be dependent on the mercies of the countries where they would wander in search of food. If there were a three-month military defeat, they would be at the mercy of the conquerors. But if there were a plague, God in His mercy would decide whom and how to punish. Also, in the case of war or famine, David himself would be perceived by his people as having an advantage, due to his military powers or wealth.

tribes of Israel, from Dan to Beer-sheba, and count the people, so that I may know the number of the people." [3] But Joab said to the king, "May HASHEM your God increase the number of the people over and over a hundred times, while the eyes of my lord the king [live to] see [it]; but why should my lord the king desire such a thing?" [4] But the king's word prevailed over Joab and the officers of the army; so Joab and the officers of the army who were before the king went to count the people, Israel.

A lengthy expedition

[5] They crossed the Jordan and encamped in Aroer, south of the city that was in the middle of the Valley of Gad, and [then] to Jazer. [6] They came to Gilead and to the land of Tahtim-hodshi, and they came to Dan-jaan, and went around to Sidon. [7] They came to the fortress of Tyre and to all the Hivvite and Canaanite cities, and they went to the south of Judah, to Beer-sheba. [8] They traveled around the entire land, coming back to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days. [9] Joab gave the sum of the number of people over to the king: [In] Israel were eight hundred thousand men of war — drawers of the sword — and the men of Judah, five hundred thousand men.

David chooses his punishment

[10] David's heart smote him after having counted the people, and David said to HASHEM, "I have sinned greatly in what I have done. Now, HASHEM, please remove the sin of Your servant, for I have acted very foolishly." [11] David arose the next morning; and the word of HASHEM had come to the prophet Gad, David's seer, saying, [12] "Go and say to David, 'Thus says HASHEM: I am holding three [things] upon you; choose for yourself one of them and I shall do it to you.'" [13] So Gad came to David and told him; he said to him, "[Would you rather have] seven years of famine come to your land, or three months of fleeing from your enemy while he pursues you, or three days' pestilence in your land? Now determine and consider what answer I should return to the One Who has sent me." [14] *David said to Gad, "I am exceedingly distressed. Let us fall into the hand of HASHEM, for His mercies are abundant; but let me not fall into human hands."

Early end to the pestilence

[15] *So HASHEM sent a pestilence in Israel, from the morning until the set time; there died from the people, from Dan to Beer-sheba, seventy thousand men. [16] *When the angel stretched out his hand against Jerusalem to destroy it, HASHEM relented of the evil and told the angel who was destroying among the people, "Enough! Now stay your hand!" The angel of HASHEM was at the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite.

Araunah's threshing floor

[17] David said to HASHEM when he saw the angel who was striking down the people, "Behold, I have sinned and I have transgressed; but these sheep — what have they done? Let Your hand be against me and my father's family."

[18] Gad came to David on that day and said to him, "Go up, erect an altar to HASHEM on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite." [19] So David went up as Gad had said, as HASHEM had commanded. [20] Araunah looked out and saw the king and his servants coming across to him, and Araunah went out and prostrated himself to the king, with his face to the ground.

He wanted to be no better off than his people (Radak, et al.).

24:15. Targum interprets this to be the time of the burning of the daily offering on the Altar, in mid-morning. Radak cites an opinion that it was noontime. Either way, the three-day time span mentioned by Gad (v. 13) was drastically reduced.

24:16. Araunah's property was on Mount Moriah (II Chronicles 3:1), the site of Abraham's intended sacrifice of Isaac (Genesis 22:2).

24:23. Araunah was the chieftain of the remaining Jebusites of Jerusalem (Rashi).
24:24. This was the site of the future Temple. The parallel verse in I Chronicles (21:25) has "six hundred silver shekels." The Talmud explains that David assessed each tribe fifty shekels.

21 Araunah asked, "Why has my lord the king come to his servant?" And David replied, "To buy the threshing floor from you in order to build an altar to HASHEM, so that the pestilence may cease from the people." 22 But Araunah said to David, "Let my lord the king take [it] and offer whatever is proper in his eyes.
See, the cattle are [available] for elevation-offerings, and the threshing tools and the implements of the cattle are [available] for firewood." 23 *Araunah the king gave all of it to the king, and Araunah said to the king, "May HASHEM your God accept your [offerings]."

David buys it and builds an altar

24 *But the king told Araunah, "No; I shall purchase it from you for a price, and I shall not offer up to HASHEM my God free elevation-offerings!" So David *bought the threshing floor and the cattle for fifty silver shekels. 25 David built an altar there to HASHEM, and he offered elevation-offerings and peace-offerings.
HASHEM then answered the prayers of the land, and the pestilence ceased from Israel.

Kings מלכים

The first part of the Book of Kings begins in glory and ends in disgrace; the second begins in turmoil and ends in disaster.

Twelve-year-old Solomon assumes the throne and makes only one request of God: that he be granted the wisdom to judge the people of Israel in accordance with the Divine will. Because Solomon asked for wisdom instead of power, security and wealth, God granted him wisdom — beyond precedent and imagination — as well as great wealth and respect. He built the Holy Temple and created a prosperous, righteous realm. But after his death, the kingdom split. Only Judah and Benjamin remained loyal to the Davidic dynasty, while the other ten tribes broke away, under King Jeroboam.

Jeroboam's wickedness became the Book's standard for measuring his sorry line of successors. Most imitated his evil ways; some even surpassed it. Although the Kingdom of Judah remained relatively loyal to God and the Torah — though with frequent lapses — the Kingdom of the Ten Tribes fell into a downward spiritual spiral.

Over the course of the Book's second part, both competing Jewish kingdoms decline. Wicked King Ahab of Israel is dead, Moab rebels against his successors, and King Ahaziah is badly hurt in an accidental fall — but instead of turning to the prophet Elijah, he asks the god of Ekron whether he will recover! This was typical of the disgraceful conduct that brought destruction and exile without a trace.

Judah had brighter moments. There were such kings as Hezekiah and Josiah, whose righteousness was comparable to that of their ancestors David and Solomon. But increasingly, there was deterioration, as some kings tried to institutionalize idolatry. Even the great Hezekiah, of whom the Sages say that he was worthy to have been the ultimate Messiah, was succeeded by his son Manasseh, whose wickedness rivaled that of the worst Samarian kings. Many of the historic events that took place during the era of Kings are detailed in Jeremiah and Chronicles. Indeed, the prophecies of such monumental figures as Isaiah, Hosea, Jeremiah, and Ezekiel, who were active during the period, fill over a hundred and fifty chapters in the Books of the Later Prophets. Thus, the events of this Book can be understood best in the context of the prophets whose messages dominated its spiritual life.

1:5. Adonijah was David's fourth son; Haggith was his mother (II Samuel 3:4).

1:6. That is, he was the oldest surviving son of David after his older brothers [Amnon (II Samuel 13:32), Chileab (apparently), and Absalom (II Samuel 18:15)] had died. This, together with his attractive appearance, led him to believe that he would be David's successor.

1:7. Joab knew that David would charge his successor to have him executed for his unsanctioned assassinations

DAVID'S LAST DAYS 1:1-2:11

An attendant for the aged king

1 King David was old, advanced in years. They covered him with garments, but he did not become warm. 2 His servants said to him, "Let there be sought for my lord the king a young virgin, who will stand before the king and be his attendant; she will lie in your bosom and it will be warm for my lord the king." 3 They sought a beautiful girl throughout the boundary of Israel, and they found Abishag the Shunammite and brought her to the king. 4 The girl was exceedingly beautiful, and she became the king's attendant and she served him, but the king was not intimate with her.

Adonijah proclaims himself crown prince. . .

5 Adonijah son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, "I shall reign!" He provided himself with chariot and riders, and fifty men to run before him.* 6 *All his days his father had never saddened him [by] saying, "Why have you done this?" Moreover, he was very handsome and [his mother] bore him after Absalom.

7 He discussed his intentions with Joab son of Zeruiah and Abiathar the Kohen, and they assisted, [following] after Adonijah.* 8 But Zadok the Kohen, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, Nathan the prophet, Shimei, Rei and David's mighty men were not with Adonijah. 9 Adonijah slaughtered sheep, cattle, and fatted bull at the Zoheleth stone which is near En-rogel, and he invited all his brothers, the sons of the king, and all the men of Judah, the king's servants. 10 But Nathan the prophet, Benaiah, the mighty men and his brother Solomon he did not invite.

. . . but excludes Solomon's supporters

11 Nathan spoke to Bath-sheba, Solomon's mother, saying, "Have you not heard that Adonijah son of Haggith has become king? But our lord David does not know. 12 *So now go, I will give you counsel now, so that you may save your soul and the soul of your son Solomon. 13 Go and come to King David and say to him, 'Have you not, my lord the king, sworn to your maidservant saying: Your son Solomon will reign after me and he will sit on my throne? Why has Adonijah become king?' 14 While you are still speaking there with the king, I will come in after you and supplement your words."

Nathan's plan

15 So Bath-sheba came to the king, into the chamber; the king was very old, and Abishag the Shunammite was serving the king. 16 Bath-sheba bowed and prostrated herself to the king, and the king said, "What concerns you?"

Bath-sheba pleads with David

17 She said to him, "My lord, you swore to your maidservant by HASHEM, your God, 'Only Solomon, your son, will reign after me, and he will sit on my throne.' 18 But now, behold, Adonijah has become king and now, my lord the king, you did not know! 19 He has slaughtered ox, fatted bull, and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the king's sons, as well as Abiathar the Kohen and Joab, the commander of the army; but he has not invited your servant Solomon. 20 And you, my lord the king, the eyes of all Israel are upon you, to tell them who will sit on the throne of my lord the king after him. 21 For it will happen that when my lord the king lies with his forefathers, I and my son Solomon will be [deemed] sinners."

22 Behold she was still speaking with the king, when Nathan the prophet arrived. 23 They told the king, saying, "Nathan the prophet is here."

Nathan supports Bath-sheba's claim

He came before the king and prostrated himself to the king with his face to the ground. 24 Nathan said, "My lord the king, have you said, 'Adonijah will reign after me and he will sit on my throne'? 25 For he has gone down today

(see 2:5-6) and hoped to thwart this plan by putting his own man on the throne (Rashi).

1:12. For Adonijah might eliminate Solomon and his mother to prevent a challenge to his authority. At the very least, they would suffer the humiliation of becoming subjects to Adonijah (Radak).

1:28. Apparently Bath-sheba had stepped away when the prophet came to speak with the King (Radak).

1:37. This wish is an illustration of the dictum that a father is not jealous if his son surpasses him. To wish that Solomon become greater then David was not disrespectful; it was an expression of David's own hope (Ralbag).

and slaughtered ox, fatted bull, and sheep in abundance, and he has invited all the king's sons, the generals of the army and Abiathar the Kohen; and behold, they are eating and drinking before him, and they have said, 'Long live King Adonijah!' [26] But me — I, your servant — Zadok the Kohen, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, and your servant Solomon he did not invite. [27] Can it be that this matter has come from my lord the king, and you have not informed your servant who will sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?"

David affirms his pledge . . .

[28] Then King David answered and said, "Summon Bath-sheba to me." She came before the king and stood before the king. [29] The king swore and said, "As HASHEM lives, Who has redeemed my life from every trouble, [30] [I swear] that as I have sworn to you by HASHEM, the God of Israel, saying, 'Solomon your son will reign after me and he will sit on my throne in my place,' so shall I fulfill it this very day."*

[31] Bath-sheba bowed down to the ground and prostrated herself to the king, and she said, "May my lord King David live forever!"

. . . and commands that it be executed

[32] King David then said, "Summon Zadok the Kohen, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah son of Jehoiada to me"; and they came before the king. [33] The king said to them, "Take with you your master's servants and mount my son Solomon upon my mule and take him down to Gihon. [34] There Zadok the Kohen and Nathan the prophet shall anoint him as king over Israel; sound the shofar and proclaim, '[Long] live King Solomon!' [35] Then come back up after him, and let him come and sit upon my throne, and he shall reign in my place, for it is he whom I have commanded to become prince over Israel and Judah."

*[36] Benaiah son of Jehoiada then answered the king, saying, "Amen! And so may HASHEM, God of my lord the king, say! [37] Just as HASHEM was with my lord the king, so may He be with Solomon, and may He make his throne even greater than the throne of my lord King David!"

Solomon is proclaimed the next king (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

[38] So Zadok the Kohen and Nathan the prophet and Benaiah son of Jehoiada and the archers and slingers went down and mounted Solomon upon King David's mule, and led him to Gihon. [39] Zadok the Kohen had taken the horn of oil from the Tent,* and he anointed Solomon; they sounded the shofar, and all the people proclaimed, "[Long] live King Solomon!" [40] All the people then ascended after him, and the people were playing flutes and rejoicing with great joy; the ground [virtually] burst from their noise.*

Adonijah hears the news . . .

[41] Adonijah and all the guests who were with him heard this just when they had finished eating. Joab heard the sound of the shofar, and said, "Why is the sound of the city [so] turbulent?" [42] He was still speaking, when Jonathan son of Abiathar the Kohen came.

Adonijah said, "Come, for you are a man of accomplishment and you will bring good tidings!"

[43] Jonathan answered and said to Adonijah, "To the contrary, our lord King David has made Solomon king! [44] The king sent with him Zadok the Kohen, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, and the archers and slingers, and they mounted him upon the king's mule. [45] Zadok the Kohen and Nathan the prophet anointed him as king at Gihon. They ascended from there rejoicing, and the city became turbulent; that is the noise that you heard. [46] Furthermore,

1:38. See note to II Samuel 8:18.

1:39. This refers either to the Tent that David had set up to house the Ark [II Samuel 6:17] (Rashi), or to the national Tabernacle in Gibeon (Radak).

He killed Amasa by fastening his sword onto his belt in an unusual manner (see II Samuel 20:8), and Amasa fell dead at Joab's feet (Abarbanel), so Joab is described as having placed blood on his belt and his shoes. David was too dependent on Joab's support to punish him for his

Solomon has sat upon the royal throne, [47] and the kings's servants have come to bless our lord King David, saying, 'May God grant Solomon a reputation even better than your own reputation, and may He make his throne even greater than your throne,' and the king prostrated himself on his bed. [48] Furthermore, the king said thus, 'Blessed is HASHEM, God of Israel, Who has granted today someone who sits upon my throne and my eyes can see it.' "

. . . his supporters disperse and he pleads for his life

*[49] All of Adonijah's guests were alarmed and arose; each man went on his way. * [50] Adonijah was afraid of Solomon, so he arose and went and took hold of the horns of the Altar. * [51] Solomon was told, saying, "Behold, Adonijah is afraid of King Solomon, and behold, he has taken hold of the horns of the Altar, saying, 'Let King Solomon swear to me this very day that he will not execute his servant by the sword!' "*

[52] Solomon said, "If he will be a loyal man, not a single hair of his will fall to the ground, but if any evil will be found in him, he shall die." [53] King Solomon sent messengers and they took him down from the Altar. He came and prostrated himself before King Solomon, and Solomon said to him, "You may go to your home."

2 [1] King David's days drew near to die, and he instructed his son Solomon, saying; [2] "I am going the way of all the earth; be strong and become a man.

David's charge to Solomon: Be loyal to the Torah

[3] Safeguard the charge of HASHEM, your God, to walk in His ways, to observe His decrees, commandments, ordinances and testimonies, as written in the Torah of Moses, so that you will succeed in all that you do and wherever you turn; [4] so that HASHEM will uphold His word that He spoke regarding me, saying, 'If your children will safeguard their way, to walk before Me sincerely, with all their heart and with all their soul,' saying, 'no man of yours will ever be cut off from upon the throne of Israel.'

Pass judgment on Joab

*[5] "Furthermore, you know what Joab son of Zeruiah did to me, what he did to two commanders of the armies of Israel — to Abner son of Ner and to Amasa son of Jether — whom he killed, shedding blood of war in peacetime, and placing the blood of war in the girdle that is on his loins and on his shoes that are on his feet. * [6] You shall act according to your wisdom, and do not allow his white hair to go down to the grave in peace.*

Gratitude to Barzillai

*[7] "Towards the children of Barzillai the Gileadite act with kindness, and they shall be among those who eat at your table, for in this way * they befriended me when I fled from Absalom your brother.*

Shimei's guilt

*[8] "Behold, with you is Shimei son of Gera, * the Benjamite from Bahurim. He cursed me with a powerful curse on the day I went to Mahanaim; but he came down to meet me at the Jordan, and I swore to him by HASHEM, saying, 'I will not put you to death by the sword.' [9] But now, you shall not hold him guiltless, for you are a wise man, and you will know what you are to do to him; and you shall bring his white hair to the grave in blood." [10] David lay with his forefathers and was buried in the City of David.*

2:22. Solomon understood that Adonijah, with the help of Abiathar and Joab, was still conspiring to seize the throne. His marrying Abishag, who had been David's companion, would lay the groundwork for another attempt (Rashi). Therefore, Solomon exercised the royal prerogative to execute those who rebel against the crown.

2:23. "If I do not carry out the following oath . . ." This is a common expression in the Bible.

2:26. Abiathar was guilty of treason, for having supported Adonijah against David's will, but because of his priestly service and his loyalty to David when he was hiding from Saul (I Samuel Ch. 23), Solomon limited his punishment to banishment from Jerusalem and demotion from the High Priesthood (see v. 35 and 4:4).

2:27. "You will see a rival Kohen in My dwelling place, etc." (I Samuel 2:31-36).

2:28. The fact that Joab had not joined Absalom's well-organized rebellion made his support of the upstart

SOLOMON'S REIGN 2:12-11:43

THE EARLY YEARS 2:13-5:14

12 Solomon sat on the throne of his father David, and his kingship was firmly established.

13 Adonijah son of Haggith came to Bath-sheba, Solomon's mother. She asked, "Do you come in peace?"

He replied, "[I come in] peace." 14 He said, "I have something to say to you."

She said, "Speak."

15 He said, "You know that the kingship was mine, and that all of Israel looked to me to reign, but the kingship was diverted [from me] and became my brother's, for it was his from HASHEM. 16 Now, I have one request to make of you; do not turn me away."

She said to him, "Speak."

Adonijah's request of Bath-sheba . . .

17 He said, "Please speak to King Solomon — for he will not turn you away — that he give me Abishag the Shunnamite as a wife."

18 Bath-sheba said, "Very well. I shall speak to the king on your behalf."

19 Bath-sheba came to King Solomon to speak to him concerning Adonijah. The king rose to greet her and prostrated himself to her. He then sat upon his throne and placed a chair for the king's mother, and she sat to his right. 20 She said, "I have one small request that I ask of you; do not turn me away."

The king said to her, "Ask, my mother, for I shall not turn you away."

21 She said, "Let Abishag the Shunnamite be given to your brother Adonijah for a wife."

. . . which Solomon recognizes as insurrection

22 *King Solomon answered, saying to his mother, "Why do you request Abishag the Shunnamite for Adonijah? Request for him rather the kingship, for he is my older brother, for him, for Abiathar the Kohen and for Joab son of Zeruiah!" 23 King Solomon then swore by HASHEM, saying, "So should HASHEM do to me and so should He do further . . . For Adonijah has spoken of this matter at the cost of his life.* 24 And now, as HASHEM lives — Who has established me and has set me upon the throne of my father David, and Who has made a dynasty for me as He had spoken — [I swear] that today Adonijah shall be put to death." 25 So King Solomon dispatched Benaiah son of Jehoiada and he struck him, killing him.

Solomon dismisses Abiathar

26 To Abiathar the Kohen the king said, "Go to Anathoth, to your fields. For you are deserving of death; but I shall not put you to death this day, because you have carried the Ark of my Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, *before my father David, and because you suffered in all that my father suffered." 27 Solomon then dismissed Abiathar from being a Kohen to HASHEM, to fulfill the word of HASHEM *that He had spoken concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh.

Joab flees for his life . . .

28 The news reached Joab [and he was frightened,] for Joab had sided with Adonijah (although he had not sided with Absalom). Joab fled to the Tent of* HASHEM *and took hold of the horns of the Altar. 29 It was told to King Solomon that Joab had fled to the Tent of HASHEM and that he was there next to the Altar; so Solomon sent Benaiah son of Jehoiada, saying, "Go, strike him down."

30 Benaiah then came to the Tent of HASHEM and said to [Joab], "Thus said the king: 'Go out!' "

But he replied, "No; for I shall die here."

Benaiah sent back word to the king, saying, "Thus spoke Joab, and thus did he answer me."

Adonijah even more poignant and insulting to Solomon (Abarbanel). Regarding the Tent and the Altar, see 1:39 and 1:50.

2:31. As long as I have not avenged the deaths of Abner and Amasa it is as if their blood is on my head and my father's.

2:44. What you did publicly was bad enough, but you know that there was more hatred in your heart than you expressed verbally (Radak).

2:45. Your curses were to no avail.

3:1. To further consolidate his reign, Solomon married a princess from the neighboring superpower (Malbim). During a period of general tranquility and well-being in Israel, the Sanhedrin (national beth din) does not accept converts to Judaism, for the court suspects that insincere persons might petition to convert for less than noble motives, such as a share in the nation's prosperity. Such was the case during the reigns of David and Solomon. Nevertheless, lesser beth dins or individual rabbinic authorities did accept converts whom they deemed sincere, and the Sanhedrin did not reject them out of hand. Rather, they waited to see how loyal the newcomers would remain over a period of time.

Solomon, as a Torah scholar, converted Pharaoh's

31 The king then said to him, "Do as he said — strike him down [there], and bury him; eliminate thereby the innocent blood which Joab spilled, from me and from my father's house. * 32 HASHEM will thus return his blood upon his head because he struck two men who were more righteous and good than he, and he killed them by the sword, yet my father David did not know — Abner son of Ner, commander of the army of Israel, and Amasa son of Jether, commander of the army of Judah. 33 Let their blood return upon the head of Joab and the head of his offspring forever, while for David and his offspring and his house and his throne there shall be peace forever from HASHEM."

. . . but Benaiah carries out the sentence

34 So Benaiah son of Jehoiada went up and struck him and killed him, and he was buried at his house in the desert. 35 The king appointed Benaiah son of Jehoiada in his place over the army, and the king appointed Zadok the Kohen in place of Abiathar.

Solomon puts Shimei on notice . . .

36 The king then sent a message summoning Shimei, and said to him, "Build yourself a house in Jerusalem and live there; you may not leave it [to go] anywhere. 37 It shall be that on the day that you leave it and cross over the Kidron Valley you should know well that you will certainly die; your blood will be upon your own head."

38 Shimei said to the king, "The word that my lord the king has spoken is good; so shall your servant do." So Shimei lived in Jerusalem for many days.

. . . but he causes his own undoing

39 It happened after three years that two of Shimei's servants fled to Achish son of Maacah, king of Gath. They told Shimei, saying, "Behold, your servants are in Gath!" 40 So Shimei got up and saddled his donkey and left for Gath, to Achish, to seek his servants. Shimei went and brought his servants from Gath. 41 It was told to Solomon that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath and returned. 42 The king sent a message summoning Shimei, and said to him, "Did I not adjure you by HASHEM and warn you, saying, 'On the day that you leave to go here or there, you should know well that you shall certainly die'? And you answered me, 'The word is good; I have heard.' 43 So why have you not kept the oath of HASHEM and the commandment that I commanded you?" 44 The king then said to Shimei, "You know of all the evil that your heart knows * that you did to my father David; HASHEM has now brought your evil upon your head. 45 *For King Solomon is blessed, and the throne of David shall be established before HASHEM forever." 46 The king then commanded Benaiah son of Jehoiada, and he went out and struck him and he died.

The kingdom was thus established in the hand of Solomon.

3 1 Solomon made a marriage alliance with Pharaoh, king of Egypt; he took Pharaoh's daughter in marriage * and brought her to the City of David until he finished building his house and the House of HASHEM and the wall of Jerusalem all around. 2 However, the people brought offerings upon high places, for a House for the Name of HASHEM had not yet been built in those days. * 3 Solomon loved HASHEM, acting in accordance with the decrees of his father David, only daughter (as well as each of his subsequent foreign wives) before he married her. However, since these foreign-born wives were not converted with the prior consent of the Sanhedrin, Scripture censures Solomon for marrying them. Moreover, in the end, the Sanhedrin's fears proved valid (see 11:1-10), as these wives never fully abandoned their idol worship (Rambam).

Solomon marries an Egyptian princess

3:2. Despite Solomon's efforts to consolidate his rule, the nation suffered due to the lack of a central Temple (Malbim). Although there was a national Altar at Gibeon, it was permissible to bring offerings on high places (private altars).

3:3. Although sacrificing at high places was permissible before the building of the Temple, David always tried to bring his offerings at the Great High Place at Gibeon or to the Tent of the Ark in Jerusalem, which were the preferable places of worship. In this respect Solomon did not follow the ways of his father (Radak).

3:4. This is the Altar built by Bezalel (Exodus 27:1-8) under the supervision of Moses (Rashi).

3:7. A metaphor for leadership; the king must be able to lead the people out in battle and back home in peace. See Numbers 27:17.

3:16. See Joshua 2:1.

upon high places he slaughtered and burned offerings. * 4 The king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, for that was the Great High Place. * Solomon offered up a thousand elevation-offerings on that Altar.

5 In Gibeon HASHEM appeared to Solomon in a dream of the night. God said to him, "Request what I should give to you."

Solomon prays for wisdom . . .

6 Solomon said, "You have done a great kindness with Your servant, David my father, because he walked before You with truth and justice and with uprightness of heart with You; and You have preserved for him this great kindness and have granted him a son who sits on his throne this very day. 7 And now, HASHEM, my God, You have crowned Your servant in place of David my father, but I am a young lad; I do not know how to go out and come in. * 8 Your servant is in the midst of Your people whom You have chosen, a large nation that can neither be counted nor numbered because of its abundance. 9 May You grant Your servant an understanding heart, to judge Your people, to distinguish between good and evil; for who can judge this formidable people of Yours?"

. . . and God grants him much more

10 It was good in the eyes of the Lord that Solomon had requested this thing. 11 God said to him, "Because you have requested this thing, and you have not requested length of days and have not requested riches and have not requested the life of your enemies, but you have requested understanding, to comprehend justice — 12 behold, I have acted in accordance with your words; behold, I have given you a wise and understanding heart, such that there has never been anyone like you before, nor will anyone like you ever arise. 13 Furthermore, even that which you did not request I have granted you — even riches and honor — all your days, such that there has never been any man among the kings like you. 14 If you walk in My ways, observing My decrees and commandments, as your father David walked, I shall prolong your days."

15 Solomon awoke, and behold, it had been a dream. When he came to Jerusalem, he stood before the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord and brought up elevation-offerings and offered peace-offerings; and he made a feast for all of his servants.

Two women claim the one living baby

16 Then two women, innkeepers, * came to the king and stood before him. 17 One woman said, "Please, my lord: I and this woman dwell in one house, and I gave birth while with her in the house. 18 On the third day after I gave birth, this woman gave birth as well. We [were] together; there was no outsider with us in the house; only the two of us were in the house. 19 The son of this woman died at night, because she lay upon him. 20 She arose during the night and took my son from my side while your maidservant was asleep, and laid him in her bosom, and her dead son she laid in my bosom. 21 When I arose in the morning to nurse my son, behold, he was dead! When I studied him in the morning, behold it was not the son to whom I had given birth."

22 But the other woman said, "It is not so! My son is the live one, and your son is the dead one!"

But this one said, "It is not so! Your son is the dead one, and my son is the live one!" And they went on speaking before the king.

23 The king said, "This one claims, 'This is my son, who is alive, and your son is the dead one,' and this one claims, 'It is not so! Your son is the dead one, and my son is the live one.' " 24 So the king said, "Fetch me a sword!" and they brought a sword before the king. 25 The king said, "Cut the living child

4:1. Awed at Solomon's insight and wisdom, the people unanimously accepted his reign. Radak contrasts this with David's reign, which was contested at its outset, and was continuously beset by insurrection and revolt.

4:3. See II Samuel 8:16.

4:4. Although Solomon had dismissed Abiathar from being the Kohen Gadol (2:26), he apparently retained some status as a major Kohen (Ralbag).

4:5. Those mentioned below, in vv. 8-19.

4:7. They collected the necessary funds from their re-

Solomon's decision . . .

in two and give half to one and half to the other."

26 The woman whose son was the live one spoke to the king — because her compassion was aroused for her son — and she said, "Please, my lord, give her the living newborn, and do not put it to death!"

But the other one said, "Neither mine nor yours shall he be. Cut!"

. . . proves his God-given wisdom

27 The king spoke up and said, "Give her [the first one] the living newborn and do not put it to death; she is his mother!"

28 All Israel heard the judgment that the king rendered and they were in awe of the king, for they saw that the wisdom of God was within him, to do justice.

1 So King Solomon was king over all Israel. *

Solomon's chief ministers

2 These were his ministers: Azariah son of Zadok the Kohen; 3 Elihoreph and Ahijah, sons of Shisha, scribes; Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud, the secretary; * 4 Benaiah son of Jehoiada, over the army; Zadok and Abiathar, * Kohanim; 5 Azariah son of Nathan, over the commissioners; * Zabud son of Nathan, a senior minister, a friend of the king; 6 Ahishar, the chamberlain; and Adoniram son of Abda, over the taxes.

Twelve regional commissioners

7 Solomon had twelve commissioners over all of Israel, who sustained the king and his household; * each one sustained [him] one month out of the year. 8 These were their names: The son of Hur at Mount Ephraim; 9 the son of Deker at Makaz, Shaalbim, Beth-shemesh, and Elon-beth-hanan; 10 the son of Hesed at Arubboth, he was in charge of Socoh and the entire land of Hepher; 11 the son of Abinadab [was in charge of] the entire Dor district, Taphath daughter of Solomon became his wife; 12 Baana son of Ahilud [at] Taanach and Megiddo and all of Beth-shean which is near Zarethan, below Jezreel, from Beth-shean until the Plain of Meholah, until beyond Jokmeam; 13 the son of Geber at Ramoth-gilead, he was in charge of the villages of Jair son of Manasseh in the Gilead, and he was in charge of the Argob region, which is in the Bashan, sixty great cities, with walls and copper bars; 14 Ahinadab son of Iddo at Mahanaim; 15 Ahimaaz in Naphtali, he also married Basemath daughter of Solomon; 16 Baana son of Hushai in Asher and in Aloth; 17 Jehoshaphat son of Paruah in Issachar; 18 Shimei son of Ela in Benjamin; 19 Geber son of Uri in the land of Gilead — the land of Sihon, king of the Amorite, and of Og, king of Bashan; and one [main] commissioner who was over the [entire] land. *

National joy and prosperity

20 Judah and Israel were numerous, like the sand that is by the sea for multitude, eating, drinking and rejoicing. *

5

1 Solomon ruled over all the kingdoms, from the [Euphrates] River [to] the land of the Philistines, until the border of Egypt; they brought tributes and served Solomon all the days of his life.

Extent of his kingdom

2 Solomon's provision for one day was: thirty kor of fine flour, sixty kor * of flour; 3 ten fattened oxen, twenty oxen, from the pasture, and a hundred sheep and goats, besides gazelle, deer, yachmur, and fattened fowl. 4 For he ruled over the entire area beyond the [Euphrates] River, from Tiphsah to Gaza, * over all the kings of the area beyond the [Euphrates] River; and he was at peace [with spective districts to keep the royal treasuries viable.

4:19. See v. 5.

4:20. This was a period of unprecedented peace and prosperity for the Israelites, and the tax that they paid to the royal treasury was not a burden for them (Malbim).

5:2. Opinions regarding the capacity of a kor range from 67.5 to 120 gallons. Thus, ninety kor of flour was enough to feed thousands of people.

5:4. From Tiphsah on the Euphrates in the northeast to Gaza on the Mediterranean in the southwest.

5:11. The identity of these people is not certain.

5:12. The vast majority of Solomon's proverbs and songs are not found in Scripture; apparently they were not preserved (Radak).

5:13. He instructed people about the scientific and medicinal properties of each species of flora and fauna (Rashi).

5:15. Hiram's good will towards David is described in the lands] on all sides, roundabout. 5 Judah and Israel dwelt in security, each man under his grapevine and under his fig tree, from Dan to Beer-sheba, all the days of Solomon.

Rotating providers

6 Solomon had forty thousand stables of horses for his chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen. 7 These commissioners sustained King Solomon, and all who came to King Solomon's table, each in his assigned month; they did not leave anything lacking.* 8 The barley and straw for the horses and the speedy mounts, they would bring to whatever place they were [quartered]; each one [providing it] according to his responsibility.

Solomon's vast wisdom

9 God gave wisdom and considerable understanding to Solomon, and breadth of heart as [immense as] the sand which is upon the seashore. 10 Solomon's wisdom surpassed the wisdom of all the people of the East and all the wisdom of Egypt. 11 He was wiser than all men — than Ethan the Ezrahite and Heman and Calcol and Darda, the sons of Mahol; his fame spread to all the nations around him.* 12 *He spoke three thousand proverbs, and his songs were one thousand and five. 13 He spoke of the trees, from the cedar which is in Lebanon down to the hyssop which grows out of the wall; he spoke of animal, of fowl, of crawling creature, and of fish.* 14 They came from all the nations to hear the wisdom of Solomon, [emissaries] from all the kings of the land who had heard of his wisdom.

SOLOMON ERECTS THE BEIS HAMIKDASH (HOLY TEMPLE) 5:15-7:51

15 *Hiram, king of Tyre, sent his servants to Solomon, for he had heard that he had been anointed king in place of his father, for Hiram had always been a friend of David. 16 Solomon sent [back] to Hiram, saying, 17 *"You knew that my father David was not able to build a house for the Name of HASHEM his God because of the war that surrounded him, until HASHEM would subdue [our enemies] under the soles of my feet. 18 And now HASHEM my God has granted me rest on all sides — there is no adversary and no misfortune. 19 Therefore I have decided to build a house for the Name of HASHEM my God, as HASHEM spoke to my father David, saying, 'Your son, whom I shall place upon your throne in your stead — he will build a house for My Name.' 20 And now, command [your servants] that they cut down cedars for me from Lebanon; my servants will be with your servants, and I will provide you with the wages of your servants according to whatever you say, for you know that we have no one who knows how to hew down trees like the Sidonians."

Solomon's proposal to Hiram

Hiram's acceptance

21 And it was when Hiram heard the words of Solomon he was very glad and said, "Blessed is HASHEM this day, Who has granted David a wise son [to rule] over this numerous people."

22 Hiram sent [a message] to Solomon saying, "I received what you sent me; I shall do all that you desire, with cedar wood and cypress wood. 23 My servants will bring [the logs] down from the Lebanon to the sea; I will make them into rafts on the sea, [to go] to the place that you shall appoint for me; I will dismantle them there, and you will carry them away. And you do what I desire, providing food [for] my household." 24 Hiram would give Solomon cedar wood and cypress wood, as much as he desired; 25 and Solomon would give Hiram twenty thousand kor of wheat as sustenance for his household, and twenty kor of squeezed oil — this is what Solomon would give Hiram year by year.*

5:32. The people of Gebal, a city in northern Lebanon, were known for their masonry skills (Rashi).

6:1. The spring month of Iyar.

6:2. These sixty cubits of length were divided into two chambers: the Hall (Sanctuary) which was forty cubits long, and the Inner Sanctum (Holy of Holies), which was twenty. The plans for the Temple had been drawn by David, who received his instructions and inspiration from God, through a prophet (I Chronicles 28:19). The Temple's basic format was basically similar to the Tabernacle of Moses (Exodus Chs. 25-27), but with various deviations.

6:4. The Talmud explains that, contrary to ordinary window frames which are wider on the inside of the building, in order to maximize the amount of light that is diffused in the room, the windows of the Temple became narrower on the inside, in order to show that the House of God did not require any light from the outside. According to the Midrash, it was to show that the outside world benefited from the "light" of the Temple.

26 HASHEM gave wisdom to Solomon, as He had spoken to him; there was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and the two of them sealed a covenant.

Armies of workers build the Temple

27 King Solomon imposed a levy from all of Israel; the levy consisted of thirty thousand men. 28 He sent them to Lebanon in shifts of ten thousand each month; for one month they would be in Lebanon and for two months each [would be] at home. Adoniram was in charge of the levy.

29 Solomon had seventy thousand who carried burdens and eighty thousand who hewed in the mountain, 30 in addition to Solomon's three thousand three hundred chief officers who were [appointed] over the work, who directed the people performing the work. 31 The king commanded and they quarried great stones, heavy stones, to lay the foundation of the Temple with hewn stones. 32 The builders of Solomon, the builders of Hiram and the Gebalites * carved the stones, and they prepared the wood and the stones to build the Temple.

Solomon commences building the Temple

1 In the four hundred and eightieth year after the Children of Israel's exodus from the land of Egypt — in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month of Ziv, * which is the second month — he built the Temple for HASHEM. 2 The Temple that Solomon built for HASHEM sixty cubits [was] its length, * twenty its width, and thirty cubits its height. 3 The Hall in front of the Sanctuary of the Temple: twenty cubits [was] its length across the width of the Temple; and ten cubits its width, in front of the Temple. 4 He made narrowing windows * for the Temple.

Chambers and materials

5 Against the wall of the Temple he built an annex all around, [built into] the walls of the Temple all around the Sanctuary and the Inner Sanctum, and he made side-chambers * all around. 6 The lowest [story] of the annex, its width [was] five cubits; the middle [story], six cubits its width, and the third [story], seven cubits its width; for he had provided recesses around the outside of the wall of the Temple, in order not to penetrate the walls of the Temple. *

7 When the Temple was being built, it was built of complete quarried stone; hammers, chisels, or any iron utensils were not heard in the Temple when it was being built. *

8 The entrance to the central [ground level] side-chamber was at the south side of the Temple, and they would ascend on winding stairs to the middle [story], and from the middle [story] to the third.

9 He built the Temple and completed it; he made the Temple ceiling of decorative [wooden] panels [under] cedar planks. 10 He built the annex along the entire Temple, five cubits was its height, and he covered the house with cedar wood. *

God's promise

11 The word of HASHEM then came to Solomon, saying, 12 "This Temple that you build — if you follow My decrees, perform My statutes, and observe all My commandments, to follow them, I shall uphold My word with you that I spoke to David your father. 13 I shall dwell among the Children of Israel, and I shall not forsake My people Israel."

6:5. To be used for storage and other needs of the Temple.

6:6. Rather than making large holes in the Temple wall for the beams that would support the annex's upper stories, Solomon indented the wall's thickness by one cubit at different levels, to form ledges upon which to place the beams.

6:7. Solomon did not use iron tools because "The Temple was constructed in order to prolong men's lives, and iron implements are used to shorten men's lives; it is not fitting that the thing that shortens should be given power over the thing that prolongs" (Mechilta).

6:10. He roofed the annex with cedar wood, which rested upon the highest ledge in the outer wall, as described above (6:6).

6:15. Since he wanted the interior of the Temple to be overlaid with gold (vv. 19-22), he had to first cover the walls with wood, as it is impossible to attach gold sheets to stone (Rashi).

6:16. The word דְּבִיר refers either to the entire Holy of Holies, or to the Inner Sanctum (as in v. 5), (as in this verse), or to the Partition separating the forty-cubit Sanctuary from the twenty-cubit Inner Sanctum.

6:20. The ceiling above the Inner Sanctum was apparently ten cubits lower than that of the rest of the Temple, whose height was given before as thirty cubits (v. 2) (Rashi); the Talmud, however, explains that the height of the Inner Sanctum was twenty cubits above the Cherubim, which were ten cubits tall (see v. 23).

The Altar mentioned here is the Incense Altar (see Exodus 30:6) that was in front of the Partition (Radak). Since the sixty-by-twenty-cubit Temple was twice the width and twice the length of the thirty-by-ten-cubit Tabernacle, Solomon enlarged the Incense Altar proportionately by adding cedar panels covered with gold (Vilna Gaon).

6:26. Unlike those made in the time of Moses (Exodus 25:18), these Cherubim stood on the floor.

6:27. The Cherubim stood alongside one another,

Walls and floor

14 Solomon built the Temple and finished it. 15 He built the walls of the Temple on the inside with cedar boards; from the Temple floor to the ceiling beams he overlaid it with wood on the inside. * He also overlaid the Temple floor with cypress boards. 16 He built [an overlay for] the twenty cubits at the rear of the Temple of cedar boards, from the floor to the beams; and he prepared this area inside the Partition * to be the Holy of Holies. 17 The Temple was forty cubits long — that is, the Sanctuary at the front. 18 The cedar upon the Temple on the inside was [decorated with] a network of designs of knobs and blossoming flowers. Everything was [covered with] cedar wood; stone was not visible.

The Inner Sanctum

19 He prepared an Inner Sanctum in the Temple towards the inside, there to place the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM. 20 Behind the Partition [was an area] twenty cubits in length and twenty cubits in width and twenty cubits its height. * He overlaid [the Partition] with fine gold; he also overlaid an altar with cedar wood. * 21 Solomon [then] overlaid the inner section of the Temple with fine gold; and he drew golden chains in front of the Partition, and he overlaid it with gold. 22 He [then] overlaid the whole Temple with gold, until the entire Temple was completely [overlaid]; the whole altar [that stood opposite the entrance] of the Inner Sanctum he overlaid with gold.

The Cherubim

23 In the Inner Sanctum he made two Cherubim out of olive wood, [each one,] its height ten cubits; 24 and five cubits the one wing of the Cherub, and five cubits the second wing of the Cherub, ten cubits from the edge of its [one] wing to the edge of its [other] wing. 25 The other Cherub was [also] ten cubits; one size and one form for the two Cherubim. 26 The height of one Cherub [was] ten cubits, * and so the second Cherub. 27 He put the Cherubim inside the inner chamber, and they spread out the Cherubim's wings; the wing of one touched the wall and the wing of the other touched the second wall, and their [other] wings, which were in the center of the chamber, were touching wing to wing. *

Walls and floor

28 He overlaid the Cherubim with gold. 29 All the walls of the Temple were surrounded by designs, an engraved network of figures of cherubim and palm trees and blossoming flowers, in the inside [chamber] and in the outside [chamber]. 30 He overlaid the floor of the House with gold also, in the inner [chamber] and in the outer [chamber].

Entrance doors

31 *For the entrance of the Inner Sanctum he made doors of olive wood — the door frame was five-sided — 32 and two doors of olive wood upon which he engraved designs of cherubim, palms and blossoming flowers, and he overlaid [them] with gold; he pressed the gold over the cherubim and the palms. 33 He also made door-posts of olive wood for the entrance of the Sanctuary, which were four-sided, 34 and two doors of cypress wood, with two rounded hinges for the one door and two rounded hinges for the second door. 35 He [then] engraved [on the doors] designs of cherubim and palms and blossoming flowers, and he overlaid [them] with gold, which was flattened over the engraved designs.

---

facing the Partition, with their wing spans spread out north to south. Thus the combined ten-foot wing spans covered the twenty-foot width of the Inner Sanctum, touching the northern and southern walls.

6:31. The doorposts were not square, but pentagonal in cross-section (Rashi). Alternatively, each doorpost was made of five boards, presumably for decoration (Rashi).

It was called "House of the Forest of Lebanon" because the numerous pillars (which were made of cedars imported from Lebanon) made it look like a forest (Rashi to v. 5). Alternatively, this royal summer home was built in the cool shade of the forest called Lebanon (Radak).

7:3. The four rows of pillars supported three rows of roofing planks.

7:4. (Radak). Alternatively, this refers not to windows, but to additional smaller roofing planks, because forty-

37 In [Solomon's] fourth year the foundation of the House of HASHEM was laid, in the month of Ziv. * 38 And in the eleventh year, in the month of Bul, * which is the eighth month, the House was completed according to all its particulars and all its specifications; he built it over seven years.

1 His own house Solomon built over thirteen years, and he finished his entire palace. * 2 He built the "House of the Forest of Lebanon," * one hundred cubits it length, fifty cubits its width, and thirty cubits its height; over four rows of cedar pillars, with cedar beams over the pillars. 3 It was roofed with cedar overhead, upon the boards that were atop the pillars; there were forty-five [boards], fifteen per row. * 4 There were also three rows of windows, * opening opposite opening, three times. 5 All the doorways and doorposts had four-sided frames; they were aligned, opening opposite opening, three times. 6 He made a portico of pillars for [this building], fifty cubits its length, and thirty cubits its width. * The portico was situated in front of [the doors of the building]; it had [its own] pillars with a thick beam upon them.

Solomon builds his palace

Hall of Justice

7 He made a hall for the throne where he would judge, a hall of judgment; it was covered with cedarwood from one end of the floor to the other.

8 His house where he dwelt, which was in another courtyard, beyond the hall, was of the same construction. He [also] made a house like this hall for the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Solomon had taken [as a wife].

Precious materials

9 All these were [built of] valuable stones, the size of hewn stones, filed smooth with a file, on the inside and on the outside and from the foundation to the ceiling — and outdoors until the great courtyard. 10 It was founded upon valuable stones, large stones — stones of ten cubits and stones of eight cubits. 11 But above ground, there were valuable stones the size of hewn stones, and cedar. * 12 The great courtyard all around [the king's buildings], its [walls] were made of three rows of hewn stone and a row of cedar boards, as was done for the Inner Courtyard of the Temple of HASHEM * and for the Hall of the Temple.

An imported coppersmith

13 King Solomon sent and took Hiram from Tyre. * 14 He was the son of a widowed woman, from the tribe of Naphtali; his father had been a Tyrian coppersmith. He was full of wisdom, insight and knowledge to do all sorts of work with copper; so he came to King Solomon and performed all his work.

Ornamental pillars; Jachin and Boaz

15 He designed the two pillars of copper; eighteen cubits the height of the one pillar, and a twelve-cubit string could go around [its circumference] — [and likewise for the] second pillar. 16 He made two capitals to place upon the tops of the pillars, of molten copper; five cubits the height of the one capital, and five cubits the height of the second capital. * 17 There were nettings of meshwork and ropes of chainwork on the capitals that were upon the pillars; seven [designs]

five planks could not cover the larger area of the house (Rashi).

7:6. The length of the portico ran along the fifty-cubit width of the building (Rashi).

7:11. Above ground level, the stones used for the walls were of the standard hewn-stone size, as mentioned just previously, and cedarwood was used for the ceiling (Abarbanel).

7:12. As described above, 6:36.

7:13. This Hiram was not the king of Tyre. In II Chronicles 2:12, he is called Huram.

7:16. The lower two cubits of the capitals were hollow and fit over the pillars; the upper three cubits were decorated as described below (Rashi; see II Kings 25:17).

7:18. Hundreds of brass pomegranates were attached to the capital, on top of the netting design. Two "rows" (of chains or lines) were strung around the capital, on which two rows of pomegranates were hung (Abarbanel).

7:19. The pillars were placed at the entrance to the Temple's hall, as mentioned below (Abarbanel).

7:20. The capitals consisted of two sections: an upper one, which was shaped like a bowl turned over, had the network and chain designs, and a lower one, which was shaped like a bowl, was unornamented. The seam where the lips of the two bowls were joined is referred to here as the bulge, since it was spherical.

7:21. Solomon gave them these names to symbolize his prayer that the Temple be firmly established and be for the one capital and seven for the second capital. [18] He made the pillars; [he placed] two rows going all around upon the one netting, to cover the capitals that were on top, with the pomegranates, and he did likewise for the second capital.* [19] [Over] the capitals, which were atop the pillars, was a molded flower — in the hall — four cubits high.* [20] [These molded flowers over] the capitals on the two pillars also extended over opposite the bulge which was at the edge of the netting. There were two hundred pomegranate figures, [arranged in] rows all around; [and likewise] for the second capital.* [21] *He erected the pillars by the hall of the Sanctuary; he erected the right pillar and called its name "Jachin" [Establish], and he erected the left pillar and called its name "Boaz" [Strength Is in It]. [22] Upon the top of the pillars [was placed] a flowered figure, and the work of the pillars was complete.

The "sea"

[23] He made the "sea" of cast [metal] ten cubits from its one lip to its [other] lip, circular all around, five cubits its height; a thirty-cubit line could encircle it all around. [24] Knobs under its lip surrounded it ten cubits [in length], girdling the sea all around, two rows of the knobs, which were cast with the casting [of the sea].* [25] It stood upon twelve oxen, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south and three facing east; the sea was on top of them, and their haunches were toward the center [of the sea]. [26] *Its thickness was one hand-breadth; its lip was like the lip of a cup, with a rose-blossom design; its capacity was two thousand bath-measures.

Ten stands for ten lavers

[27] *He then made ten copper stands, four cubits each stand, four cubits its width and three cubits its height. [28] This is the workmanship of the stands: They had frames, and [more] frames between the rods; [29] and on the frames which were between the rods [were engraved] lions, oxen and cherubim. There was a base upon the rods, above them. Under the lions and the oxen there were braces of hammered metal. [30] There were four copper wheels to each stand, and copper bars that had shafts at their four corners; the shafts were cast under the basin, opposite each brace. [31] The opening [of the stand] extended from inside the capital [of the stand] one cubit upward; its opening was round, like the workmanship of the stand, one and a half cubits [in diameter]. There were designs upon the rim also. The frames were square, not circular. [32] As for the four wheels that were under the frames — the axles of the wheels were [built] into the stand, and the height of each wheel was one and a half cubits. [33] The workmanship of the wheels was like the workmanship of the chariot's wheel; their axles, their hubs, their rims and their spokes were all made of cast [copper]. [34] [There were] four shafts at the four corners of each stand; from the stand its shafts came. [35] At the top of the stand there was a round [frame] half a cubit high surrounding [the opening], and on the top of the stand its rods and its frames were all from it. [36] And he engraved upon the tablets, upon its rods and upon its frames, cherubim, lions and palms, blessed with the strength of God forever (Radak).

7:23. The "sea" was a copper tank that was filled with water and used by the Kohanim for ritual immersion (II Chronicles 4:6).

Either the given numbers are approximations, or the ten-cubit diameter is measured outer lip to outer lip, while the thirty-cubit circumference is measured on the inner surface (Ralbag).

7:24. The Talmud explains that the upper two cubits of the sea were round, while the lower three cubits were in the form of a ten-cubit square. The knobs decorated the lower three cubits, ten cubits on each side (Rashi).

7:26. Opinions regarding the modern equivalent of a bath range between 6.75 and 12 gallon. Thus, the sea held 13,500-24,000 gallons.

7:27. The stands supported the lavers described in v. 38.

7:38. The Kohanim used the lavers to wash their hands and feet (see Exodus 30:18-19), and to rinse the parts of the sacrificial animals offered upon the Altar (II Chronicles 4:6).

7:39. "Opposite the south" means "in the north."

7:40. The pans and shovels were used in removing the accumulated ash from the surface of the Altar (Rashi).

all braced firmly roundabout. 37 Thus he did for the ten stands — one casting, one measure, one form for all of them.

38 He then made ten copper lavers.* Each laver had a capacity of forty bath-measures; each laver was four cubits [high]. There was one laver for each of the ten stands. 39 He placed the stands, five at the side of the Temple to the right and five at the side of the Temple to its left; and he placed the Sea at the right side of the Temple, eastward, opposite the south.*

The handiwork of Hiram the coppersmith

40 Hiram made the lavers, the shovels,* and the bowls; and Hiram finished doing all the work that he did for King Solomon for the Temple of HASHEM: 41 two pillars; the two basins of the capitals that were on top of the pillars; the two nettings to cover the two basins of the capitals that were on top of the pillars; 42 the pomegranates, four hundred for the two nettings, two rows of pomegranates for each netting to cover the two basins of the capitals that were on top of the pillars; 43 the ten stands and the ten lavers upon the stands; 44 the one sea and the twelve bulls under the sea; 45 the pots, the shovels, the bowls, and all these vessels that Hiram had made for King Solomon for the Temple of HASHEM — [all made from] pure copper. 46 The king cast them in the Plain of the Jordan, in firm clay, between Succoth and Zarethan. 47 Solomon set aside all the vessels because there were so very, very many; the weight of the copper could not be determined.

Solomon's gold furnishings

48 And Solomon made all the furnishings for the Temple of HASHEM: the golden Altar; the Table upon which was the showbread, of gold; 49 the candelabra, five on the right and five on the left, placed in front of the Inner Sanctum, of fine gold; with their flowers, lamps, and tongs of gold; 50 the jugs, musical instruments, bowls, spoons and pans were of fine gold; and the hinge-sockets of the doors of the inner House, the Holy of Holies, and those of the doors of the Temple, that is, the Hall, of gold.

David's sanctities

51 When all the work that King Solomon had done for the Temple of HASHEM was completed, Solomon brought that which his father David had sanctified, the silver, the gold and the articles — and placed them in the treasuries of the Temple of HASHEM.*

SOLOMON AND THE NATION DEDICATE THE TEMPLE 8:1-9:9

1 Then Solomon gathered together the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the leaders of the ancestral families of the Children of Israel, to King Solomon in Jerusalem, to bring up the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM from the City of David, which is Zion. 2 They gathered before King Solomon — every man of Israel — for the festival [of Succos],* in the month of Ethanim, which is the seventh month. 3 All the elders of Israel came, and the Kohanim bore the Ark. 4 They brought up the Ark of HASHEM, and the Tent of Meeting,* and all the sacred vessels that were in that Tent; the Kohanim and the Levites brought them up. 5 King Solomon and the entire assembly of Israel that had assembled with him were with him before the Ark, offering sheep and cattle, too abundant to be numbered or counted.

7:51. David had prepared vast amounts of silver, gold, building materials, etc., that had been used in the construction of the Temple (I Chronicles 22:2-19), and Solomon now stored the leftover materials for future use.

8:2. Actually the celebration began a week before the festival; see v. 65. Ethanim is the month of Tishrei.

8:4. After building the new Temple, Solomon stored the Tent of Meeting [the Tabernacle built by Moses] within the Temple precincts (Rashi).

8:7. See Exodus 25:13-15.

8:8. The doors of the Partition wall remained permanently open, and a curtain was hung in the doorway. The staves of the Ark pushed against this curtain, but did not go through it. As viewed from the Sanctuary, the tips of the staves appeared as two bumps in the curtain.

8:9. I.e., Sinai, where God gave Moses the Tablets, signifying His covenant with Israel.

8:10. The Divine Presence (שְׁכִינָה), as represented by the cloud, rested in the Temple as soon as the Ark was placed there.

8:18. See II Samuel, Ch.7.

8:22. Solomon stood before the Altar and then knelt while offering his inaugural prayer (see v. 54).

The Ark is emplaced

6 The Kohanim brought the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM to its place, to the Inner Sanctum of the Temple, to the Holy of Holies, to beneath the wings of the Cherubim. 7 For the Cherubim spread their wings over the place of the Ark; the Cherubim covered over the Ark and its staves from above.* 8 They extended the staves so that the tips of the staves were noticeable upon the Partition from the Sanctuary, but were not showing on the outside; and they remained there to this very day.* 9 Nothing was in the Ark but the two stone Tablets that Moses placed there in Horeb, by which* HASHEM covenanted with the Children of Israel when they left the land of Egypt. 10 And it was as the Kohanim left the Sanctuary, that the cloud filled the Temple of HASHEM.* 11 The Kohanim could not stand and minister because of the cloud, for the glory of HASHEM filled the Temple of HASHEM.

Solomon's declaration

12 *Then Solomon said, "*HASHEM said that He would dwell in the thick cloud. 13 I have surely built a house of habitation for You, the foundation for Your dwelling forever."

14 Then the king turned his face and blessed the entire congregation of Israel, while the entire congregation of Israel was standing. 15 He then said, "Blessed is HASHEM, God of Israel, Who spoke with His word to my father David — and fulfilled with His power, saying, 16 'From the day when I took My people Israel out of Egypt, I did not choose a city from among all the tribes of Israel in which to build a Temple where My Name would be; but I chose David to rule over My people Israel.'

David's desire fulfilled

17 "It was in the heart of my father David to build a Temple for the sake of the Name of HASHEM, God of Israel. 18 But HASHEM said to my father David, 'Inasmuch as it has been in your heart to build a Temple for My Name, you have done well by having this in your heart.* 19 You, however, shall not build the Temple. Rather, your son, who will emerge from your loins — he will build the Temple for My Name.' 20 Now HASHEM has fulfilled His word that He spoke, for I have risen in place of my father David, and I sit on the throne of Israel as HASHEM spoke, and I have built the Temple for the Name of HASHEM, God of Israel. 21 And I have set there a place for the Ark wherein is the covenant of HASHEM, which He made with our forefathers when He took them out of the land of Egypt."

A plea for the Davidic dynasty . . .

22 Solomon stood before the Altar of* HASHEM, in front of the entire congregation of Israel, and spread out his hands toward Heaven, 23 *and he said, "*HASHEM, God of Israel, there is none like You, O God, in the heavens above nor on the earth below, Who preserves the covenant and kindness for Your servants who walk before You with all their heart; 24 for You have preserved for Your servant, my father David, all that You have spoken to him. You spoke with Your mouth and with Your power fulfilled this very day. 25 And now, O HASHEM, God of Israel, preserve [Your promise] to Your servant, my father David, that You spoke to him, saying, 'There shall not cease from you a man to sit before Me upon the throne of Israel — provided that your children preserve their way, to go before Me, as you have gone before Me.' 26 So now, O God of Israel, cause Your word that You spoke to Your servant my father David to come true.

27 "Would God truly dwell on earth? Behold, the heavens and the highest

8:27. The purpose of this Temple was not to serve as a "residence" for God; that would be absurd. Rather, the Temple would be a conduit to God for the prayers of Israel — and of all mankind.

8:31-32. Solomon referred to sins involving property, and prayed that God treat monetary oaths — especially those sworn in the Temple precincts — with gravity, and that the reward and punishment of the parties heavens cannot contain You, and surely not this Temple that I have built! * 28 But, may You turn to the prayer of Your servant and to his supplication, O HASHEM my God, to hear the cry and the prayer that Your servant prays before You today: 29 that Your eyes be open toward this Temple night and day, to the place of which You said, 'My Name shall be there,' to hear the prayer that Your servant shall pray toward this place. 30 And may You hear the supplication of Your servant and of Your people Israel, which they shall pray toward this place; may You hear from the place of Your habitation in Heaven — may You hear and forgive.

. . . and that God heed Israel's prayers . . .

31 "If a man should wrong his fellow, who imposes an oath upon him and adjures him, and the oath comes before Your Altar in this Temple, 32 may You hear from Heaven, may You act and judge Your servants, condemning the wicked party, to place the [consequences of] his way upon his head, and vindicating the righteous party, to give him according to his righteousness. *

. . . vindicate the righteous . . .

33 "If Your people are defeated by an enemy, because they sinned against You, and then they return to You and praise Your Name, and pray and supplicate to You in this Temple, 34 may You hear from Heaven and forgive the sin of Your people Israel, and return them to the land * that You gave their forefathers.

. . . reverse their defeats . . .

35 "If the heavens are restrained and there be no rain, for they have sinned against You, and they pray toward this place and praise Your Name, and they repent from their sin so that You will respond to them, 36 may You hear from Heaven and forgive the sin of Your servants and Your people Israel, when You teach them the proper path in which they should walk, and may You give rain upon Your land, * which You gave to Your people as a heritage.

. . . send rain . . .

37 "If there be a famine in the land, if there be a pestilence, if there be windblast or withering or locust or grasshopper, if [Israel's] enemy oppresses it in the land of their cities — any plague, any disease — 38 for any prayer and any supplication that any person of Your entire people Israel may have — each man knowing the affliction of his heart — when he spreads out his hands [in prayer] toward this Temple, 39 may You hear from Heaven, the foundation of Your abode, and forgive and act, and recompense that man according to his ways as You know his heart, for You alone know the hearts of all people; 40 so that they may fear You all the days that they live upon the land that You gave to our forefathers.

May He hear the gentile's prayer

41 "Also a gentile who is not of Your people Israel, but will come from a distant land, for Your Name's sake 42 — for they will hear of Your great Name and Your strong hand and Your outstretched arm — and will come and pray toward this Temple — 43 may You hear from Heaven, the foundation of Your abode, and act according to all that the gentile calls out to You, so that all the peoples of the world may know Your Name, to fear You as [does] Your people Israel, and to know that Your Name is proclaimed upon this Temple that I have built.

Help Jews in war . . .

44 "When Your people goes to war against its enemy, along the course on which You shall send them, and they direct their prayers to HASHEM by way of the city that You have chosen and the Temple that I have built for Your Name, 45 from Heaven may You hear their prayer and their supplication, and carry out their judgment.

should be swift and noticeable, so that people would recognize the unique level of sanctity present in the Temple (Radak).

8:34. If the defeated Jews were forced into captivity or exile and their brethren come to the Temple to pray . . . (Radak).

8:36. Let them know which sin caused You to withhold the rain, so that they can repent (Radak).

8:51. The oppression the Israelites suffered in Egypt is likened to a furnace in which metal is purified.

8:56. A reference to the promise in Deuteronomy 12:10 that the nation will dwell securely in the Holy Land (Rashi).

46 "When they sin against You — for there is no man who never sins — and You become angry with them, and You deliver them to an enemy, and their captors take them captive to the enemy's land, faraway or nearby, 47 and they take it to heart in the land where they were taken captive and they repent and supplicate to You in the land of their captors, saying, 'We have sinned; we have been iniquitous; we have been wicked,' 48 and they return to You with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their enemies who had captured them, and pray to You by way of their land that You gave to their forefathers, and [by way of] the city that You have chosen and [through] the Temple that I built for Your Name — 49 may You hear their prayer and their supplication from Heaven, the foundation of Your abode, and carry out their judgment, 50 and forgive Your people who sinned against You, and all their transgressions that they transgressed against You, and let them inspire mercy before their captors, so that they will treat them mercifully.

51 "For they are Your people and Your heritage, whom You have taken out of Egypt, from the midst of the iron furnace; * 52 may Your eyes thus be open to the supplication of Your servant and the supplication of Your people Israel, to listen to them whenever they call out to You. 53 For You have separated them for Yourself as a heritage from all the peoples of the earth, as You spoke through Your servant Moses, when You took our forefathers out of Egypt, O my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM."

Solomon blesses the people

54 And it was when Solomon had finished praying to HASHEM this entire prayer and supplication, he stood up from having knelt on his knees before the Altar of HASHEM with his hands spread out heavenward. 55 He stood and blessed the entire congregation of Israel in a loud voice, saying, 56 "Blessed is HASHEM Who has granted rest to His people Israel, according to all that He has spoken; * not one word has gone unfulfilled from the entire gracious promise that He pronounced through the hand of His servant Moses. 57 May HASHEM, our God, be with us as He was with our forefathers, may He not forsake us nor cast us off, 58 to turn our hearts to Him, to walk in all His ways and to observe His commandments, decrees and statutes that He commanded our forefathers. 59 And may these words of mine that I have supplicated before HASHEM be near to HASHEM, our God, day and night, that He may grant the just due of His servant and the just due of His people Israel, each day's need in its day, 60 so that all the peoples of the earth shall know that HASHEM is God — there is no other. 61 May your hearts remain perfect with HASHEM our God, to follow His decrees and to observe His commandments as on this very day."

Solomon's offerings

62 The king and all Israel with him were bringing an offering before HASHEM. 63 Solomon brought the peace-offering that he offered to HASHEM: cattle, twenty-two thousand, and of the flock, one hundred and twenty thousand; and they dedicated the Temple of HASHEM — the king and all the Children of Israel.

64 On that day the king sanctified the interior of the Courtyard that was before the Temple of HASHEM, for there he performed the service of the elevation-offering, the meal-offering and the fats of the peace-offering; for the Copper Altar that was before HASHEM was too small to contain the elevation-offering, the meal-offering and the fats of the peace-offering.

65 At that time Solomon instituted the celebration — and all Israel was with him, a huge congregation, from the Approach of Hamath until the Brook of Egypt — before HASHEM our God, for seven days and seven [more] days,

8:65. II Chronicles 7:9 indicates that they held a seven-day inaugural celebration, followed by the seven-day festival of Succos, for a total of fourteen days of joy.

8:66. Solomon bade them farewell, but the people remained in Jerusalem one more day to observe the festival of Shemini Atzeres (Chronicles ibid.).

9:6. The Hebrew word for "you" here is in the plural [אַתֶּם]; thus the warning applies to all the people of Israel.

A fourteen-day celebration

*fourteen days. * 66 On the eighth day, he sent the people off, * and they blessed the king. They then went to their homes, joyous and good-hearted over all the goodness that HASHEM had shown to His servant David and to His people Israel.*

9 1 It happened when Solomon had finished building the Temple of HASHEM and the king's palace, and every luxury of Solomon that he had wished to make: 2 HASHEM appeared to Solomon a second time, as He had appeared to him at Gibeon. 3 HASHEM said to him, "I have heard your prayer and supplication that you supplicated before Me. I have sanctified this Temple that you have built, to place My Name there forever, and My eyes and My heart shall be there all the days. 4 And as for you — if you walk before Me as your father David walked, with wholeheartedness and with uprightness, to do in accordance with all that I have commanded you, and you will observe My decrees and My statutes; 5 then I shall uphold the throne of your kingdom over Israel forever, as I spoke about your father David, saying, 'No man of yours will be cut off from upon the throne of Israel.' 6 But if you and your children turn away from Me and will not observe My commandments, My decrees that I have placed before you, and you go and worship the gods of others and prostrate yourselves to them, 7 then I shall cut off Israel from upon the face of the land that I gave them, and the Temple that I have sanctified for My Name I shall dismiss from My presence, and Israel shall become a parable and a conversation piece among all the nations. 8 And this Temple, which should be so exalted — all who pass by it will be appalled and will whistle, and they will say, 'Why did HASHEM do such a thing to this land and to this Temple?' 9 And they will say, 'Because they forsook HASHEM, their God, Who brought their forefathers out of the land of Egypt, and they grasped the gods of others, and prostrated themselves to them and worshiped them; therefore HASHEM brought all this evil upon them.' "*

God repeats His pledge to Solomon . . .

. . . but on the condition that he and Israel obey the Torah

SOLOMON'S LATER YEARS 9:10-11:43

10 *It happened at the end of the twenty years during which Solomon built the two buildings, the Temple of HASHEM and the king's palace: 11 Hiram, king of Tyre, had supplied Solomon with cedar trees and cypress trees and gold according to his desire; then King Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in the Land of Galilee. * 12 Hiram left Tyre to see the cities that Solomon had given him, and they were not acceptable in his eyes. 13 He said, "What are these cities you have given me, my brother?" And he called them "the Land of Cabul,"* [which is its name] to this day. 14 Hiram sent the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold.*

Solomon repays Hiram

Solomon's tax and administrators

15 This is a description of the levy that King Solomon imposed to build the Temple of HASHEM; his own palace; the Millo * and the wall of Jerusalem; Hazor and Megiddo; Gezer 16 (Pharaoh, king of Egypt, had come up and conquered Gezer and burnt it in fire, and killed the Canaanite who lived in the city; he gave it as a wedding present to his daughter, Solomon's wife, 17 and Solomon then built up Gezer) and Lower Beth-horon; 18 Baalath and Tadmor in the desert, near the [populated] land; 19 and all the storage cities that Solomon had, and in the chariot cities and the cavalry cities; and every luxury of* 9:11. This was in addition to the handsome payments Solomon had been making to Hiram during the course of the twenty years (5:25). II Chronicles (8:2) implies that these twenty cities were exchanged for other cities from Hiram's territory (Radak), for it is unthinkable that Solomon would diminish the size of Eretz Yisrael (Ralbag).

9:13. Lit., Shackles. It was a marshland, where it was as difficult to walk as it is for a man in shackles (Rashi).

9:15. The levy is described in verses 20-23.

The Millo from מלא, to fill, has been variously explained as a landfill (Rashi), an open plaza for large gatherings (Radak) or a moat (Abarbanel). Following the Millo is a list of cities that Solomon built at various strategic locations throughout Israel.

9:24. Although Solomon's grandiose construction plans included a great royal palace, he did not have his queen live there, because [Solomon] thought, "I should not have a wife stay in the City of David, king of Israel, for it is a holy place, being that the Ark of HASHEM was brought there" (II Chronicles 8:11).

9:25. Having built the Temple, Solomon undertook to assure a supply of offerings and incense. Though our verse singles out those of the three pilgrimage festivals, Solomon also supplied the daily, Sabbath, and New Moon offerings as well (II Chronicles 8:13). He also completed [the arrangements] by setting up systems of rotations for the Kohanim and Levites (II Chronicles 8:14).

9:26. Also called Elath (Deut. 2:8), or Eilat.

Solomon that he wished to build in Jerusalem and in the Lebanon and in all the land of his dominion. 20 All the people who were left of the Amorite, the Hittite, the Perizzite, the Hivite and Jebusite, who were not of the Children of Israel — 21 their descendants who were left after them in the land, whom the Children of Israel were not able to eradicate — Solomon conscripted them as indentured laborers, until this day. 22 But Solomon did not enslave anyone of the Children of Israel, for they were the men of war, and they were his servants, commanders and officers, and the commanders of his chariots and his riders. 23 And these were the commanders of his commissioners who were in charge of the work for Solomon: five hundred and fifty [men] who directed the people doing the work.

The queen's palace

24 However Pharaoh's daughter went up from the City of David to her house that [Solomon] had built for her; then he built [up] the Millo.*

His Temple offerings

25 *Three times a year Solomon had burnt-offerings and peace-offerings brought upon the Altar that he had built for HASHEM, and had incense burned [on the other Altar that was] with it before HASHEM, and he completed [the arrangements of] the Temple.

His fleet

26 King Solomon made a fleet in Ezion-geber, which is near Eloth, on the coast of the Sea of Reeds, in the land of Edom.* 27 Hiram sent in the fleet his servants, shipmen who knew the sea, together with Solomon's servants; 28 they came to Ophir and took gold from there, four hundred and twenty talents, and brought them to King Solomon.*

10 1 The queen of Sheba heard of Solomon's fame, that it was for the Name of HASHEM, and she came to test him with riddles.* 2 She arrived in Jerusalem with a very large entourage, with camels bearing very large amounts of spices and gold, and precious stones. She came before Solomon, and she spoke to him about all that was in her heart. 3 Solomon told her [the solutions to] all her questions; there was not a thing hidden from the king that he could not tell her. 4 The queen of Sheba saw all the wisdom of Solomon: the palace that he had erected; 5 the food [served] at his table and the seating of his servants; the station of his attendants and their uniforms; his cupbearers; and his passageway by which he ascended to the Temple of HASHEM — and she was overwhelmed.*

The queen of Sheba arrives . . .

. . . and is overwhelmed

6 She said to the king, "True was the word that I had heard in my country about your words and your wisdom! 7 I had not believed the words until I came and my own eyes saw; and behold — even the half of it was not told to me! You have surpassed [in] wisdom and goodness the report that I had heard. 8 Fortunate are your men — fortunate are these servants of yours — who stand before you constantly, who hear your wisdom! 9 May HASHEM, your God, be blessed, Who has chosen you, to place you upon the throne of Israel; in HASHEM's everlasting love for Israel He has established you as king, to do justice and righteousness."

10 She then gave the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold, very many spices and precious stones; there has never again come such a large quantity of spice as that which the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

More magnificence

11 (In addition, Hiram's fleet, which had carried gold from Ophir, also brought a large amount of almog-trees, and precious stones from Ophir.* 12 The king made 9:28. A talent is approximately 64 pounds.

10:1. His wisdom was a gift of God and he used it to do God's will (Ralbag).

10:5. Solomon had built himself a ramp or stairway from his palace to the Temple (see II Chronicles 9:4).

10:11. Branching, tree-like coral (Rashi; Radak).

10:22. The term "Tarshish ship" refers to a large sturdy seafaring vessel. (Tarshish has been variously identified as a place in Turkey, Spain or North Africa.)

10:28. As Pharaoh's son-in-law, Solomon was able to obtain horses from Egypt without paying any duties or fees, but the horses that were brought from Keveh were much more expensive (Abarbanel).

10:29. Solomon's favorable arrangement with Egypt enabled him to develop a profitable international trading system (Abarbanel).

the almog-trees into a walkway for the Temple of HASHEM and the palace of the king, and into harps and lyres for the singers; there had never come such almog-trees before, nor was there seen [afterwards] to this day.)

The queen returns home

13 King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba whatever [answers] she desired to what she had asked, besides that which he gave according to the generosity of King Solomon, and she turned and went to her land, she and her servants.

Annual receipts of gold

14 The amount of gold that came to Solomon in one year was six hundred sixty-six talents of gold, 15 besides [tax income] from merchants and the commerce of the spice-peddlers, and from all the vassal kings and the governors of the land. 16 King Solomon made two hundred shields of beaten gold, he would put six hundred [measures] of gold into each shield; 17 and three hundred bucklers of beaten gold, he would put three maneh of gold into each buckler; and the king placed them in the "House of the Forest of Lebanon."

Solomon's magnificent throne

18 The king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with sparkling gold. 19 The throne had six steps; a rounded top to the throne at its back; arms on either side at the place of the seat, with two [figures of] lions standing next to the arms; 20 and twelve [figures of] lions standing there, on the six steps on either side. Nothing like it had ever been made for any of the kingdoms.

His unparalleled wealth

21 All of King Solomon's drinking vessels were gold, and all the fixtures of the "House of the Forest of Lebanon" were pure gold; there was no silver, [for silver] was not considered of any worth in the days of Solomon. 22 For the king had a Tarshish fleet in the sea with Hiram's fleet; once in three years the Tarshish fleet would arrive, carrying gold, silver, ivory, and monkeys and peacocks.*

23 King Solomon became greater than all the kings of the land in wealth and in wisdom. 24 And the whole world wanted to see Solomon to hear his wisdom, which God had put in his heart. 25 And each one of them would bring his gift — silver articles, golden articles, clothing, weapons, spices, horses, and mules — each year's due in its year.

His horses and chariots

26 Solomon assembled chariots and horsemen — he had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand riders; he kept them in chariot cities, and [left some] with the king in Jerusalem. 27 King Solomon made silver in Jerusalem [as common] as stones, and he made cedars as abundant as sycamores in the lowland. 28 *The source of Solomon's horses was from Egypt and Keveh; the king's traders bought them from Keveh for a [high] price. 29 *A chariot could be brought out of Egypt for six hundred [pieces of] silver and horses for a hundred and fifty; [Solomon's traders] would also export for all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Aram.

Solomon's many wives lead him astray

1 King Solomon loved many foreign women, in addition to the daughter of Pharaoh* — Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Sidonians and Hittites —* 2 from the nations of which HASHEM had said to the Children of Israel, "Do not come into [marriage with] them, and they shall not come into [marriage with] you; for they will surely sway your hearts after their gods." Solomon clung to them for love. 3 He had seven hundred wives who were noblewomen and three hundred concubines, and his wives swayed his heart. 4 So it was that when Solomon grew old his wives swayed his heart after the gods of others, 11:1. Although every one of Solomon's spouses converted (Rambam; see 3:1), he committed two offenses: A king should not marry many wives (Deut. 17:17); and, as mentioned in the following verse, even a commoner is not permitted to marry an idolater.

11:4. Since Solomon is criticized not as a sinner, but only as being less virtuous than David, the Sages of the Talmud infer that he was not personally involved in idolatry or in building altars to strange gods. Rather, he was responsible because he did not prevent his wives from carrying on their idolatrous practices freely, even though he himself did not participate in such worship. This imputation of guilt to Solomon follows two principles: A Jew is responsible for the behavior of those subject to his influence; and great people, such as Solomon, are held to more exacting standards than others. What may be tolerated in others is considered a grievous sin for them.

11:10. The Sages comment that Solomon was led astray by his unprecedented wisdom. The Torah forbade a king to have many wives lest they sway his heart, and to have too many horses, lest he establish too close a relationship with Egypt, the source of the finest horses (Deut. 17:16-17). Solomon was confident that his wisdom would enable him to avoid both snares. He was wrong; no human being may substitute his wisdom for God's word.

and his heart was not as complete with HASHEM his God as [had been] the heart of his father David. * 5 Solomon went after Ashtoreth, the god of the Sidonians, and after Milcom, the abomination of the Ammonites. 6 And Solomon did what was sinful in the eyes of HASHEM, and did not fulfill [his obligation of] following HASHEM as his father David had done.

. . . as if he were an idolater

7 Then Solomon built a high place for Chemosh, the abomination of Moab, on the Mount [of Olives] facing Jerusalem; and for Molech, the abomination of the Children of Ammon; 8 and he did likewise for all his foreign wives, they burned incense and sacrificed to their gods. 9 So HASHEM became angry with Solomon, for his heart had strayed from HASHEM, the God of Israel, Who had appeared to him twice, 10 and commanded him about this matter, not to go after the gods of others; but he did not heed that which HASHEM had commanded him. *

The kingdom will be split

11 So HASHEM said to Solomon, "Since this has happened to you, and you have not kept My covenant and My decrees that I have commanded you, I shall surely tear away the kingship from you and give it to your servant. 12 In your days, however, I will not do it, because of your father David; from the hand of your son will I tear it away. 13 Only I shall not tear away the entire kingdom from him; one tribe shall I give to your son, for the sake of David My servant and for the sake of Jerusalem, which I have chosen."

Hadad becomes Solomon's antagonist . . .

14 HASHEM then stirred up an antagonist against Solomon, Hadad the Edomite; he was a member of the royal family of Edom. 15 It had happened when David was in Edom, when Joab, the commander of the army, went up to bury the slain * (for he had killed all the males of Edom; 16 Joab and all of Israel stayed there for six months until he had destroyed all the males in Edom), 17 that Hadad, along with some other Edomite men of his father's servants, had fled to Egypt, while Hadad was a young boy. 18 They arose from Midian and came to Paran; they took men with them from Paran and came to Egypt, to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and he gave him a house, arranged food for him and gave him land. * 19 Hadad found much grace in Pharaoh's eyes, and [Pharaoh] gave him his wife's sister — the sister of Tahpenes the queen — for a wife. 20 The sister of Tahpenes bore him his son Genubath; Tahpenes weaned him in Pharaoh's house, and Genubath lived in Pharaoh's house, among Pharaoh's children. * 21 When Hadad heard in Egypt that David lay with his forefathers and that Joab, the commander of the army, had died, Hadad said to Pharaoh, "Grant me leave, and I shall go to my homeland."

22 Pharaoh said to him, "What do you lack with me, that you desire to go to your homeland?"

But he replied, "Nevertheless, grant me leave."

. . . and Rezon joins him

23 And God stirred up [another] antagonist against [Solomon] — Rezon son of Eliada, who had escaped from his master, Hadadezer, king of Zobah. 24 He gathered men to himself and became a captain of a force after David had decimated them; they went to Damascus and lived there, and they reigned in Damascus. 25 He was an antagonist against Israel all the [remaining]

11:15. See note to II Samuel 8:13.

11:18. After Hadad fled to Midian, he went to Paran and from there to Egypt, where the king made him governor of a province (Radak).

11:20. Scripture provides so much personal data about Hadad to show that his desire for revenge was so great that he gave up all his success in Egypt and sought to retaliate against Israel. Nevertheless, it was only because Solomon sinned that God allowed Hadad to become Israel's main adversary.

11:27. Jeroboam publicly criticized Solomon for blocking the Millo in order to build a palace for Pharaoh's daughter (9:24). Until then it had been an open area providing public access to the Temple. The next passage explains that Jeroboam was encouraged in this flagrant breach of protocol by his prior success and reputation, and by the prophecy of Ahijah.

11:32. Judah would remain with Solomon's family, and Benjamin, the twelfth tribe, was considered a part of Judah in this instance (see 12:21), because Jerusalem straddled the territory of both Judah and Benjamin [Joshua 15:8; 18:16] (Radak).

11:33. I.e. the House of Solomon.

11:39. God would afflict the Davidic dynasty by not allowing it to reign over the entire nation (Radak), but this punishment would not be permanent. The Messiah, scion of the House of David, will once again reign over a united Israel (Rashi).

days of Solomon, together with the evil Hadad; he despised Israel, and ruled over Aram.

Jeroboam protests

[26] Also Jeroboam son of Nebat, an Ephraimite from Zeredah — his mother's name was Zeruah, a widow — who was a servant to Solomon, raised his hand against the king. [27] *This is the matter [about] which he raised his hand against the king: Solomon had built [up] the Millo and closed up the breach left by his father David!

God ordains that Israel will split into two nations

[28] This man Jeroboam was a mighty man of valor. Solomon had seen in the young man that he was one who did his work [well], and he appointed him over all the taxation of the House of Joseph.

[29] It happened at that time, while Jeroboam was leaving Jerusalem, the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite found him on the way; he was clothed in a new garment, and the two of them were alone in the field. [30] Ahijah grabbed hold of the new garment that was upon him, and he tore it into twelve pieces. [31] He said to Jeroboam, "Take for yourself ten pieces, for so said HASHEM, God of Israel,'I am tearing the kingdom away from the hand of Solomon and I shall give the ten tribes to you. [32] But the one tribe shall remain for him, for the sake of My servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen of all the tribes of Israel.* [33] [This is] because they have forsaken Me and bowed down to Ashtoreth, the god of the Sidonians, to Chemosh, the god of Moab, and to Milcom, the god of the Children of Ammon, and they did not walk in My ways, to do what is proper in My eyes, My decrees and My statutes, as [did] David his father.* [34] But I shall not take away any of the kingdom from his own hand, for I shall set him as ruler all the days of his life, for the sake of My servant David whom I chose, who observed My commandments and My decrees. [35] Rather I shall take away the kingdom from the hand of his son and I shall give it to you — the ten tribes; [36] and to his son I shall give one tribe, so that there may remain a dominion for the House of David for all the days before Me in Jerusalem, the city that I have chosen for Myself to place My Name there. [37] But you I shall take, and you shall reign over all that you desire, and you will be king over Israel. [38] And it shall be that if you obey all that I will command you and walk in My ways, and you do that which is upright in My eyes, to observe My decrees and My commandments as David My servant did, then I shall be with you and I shall build an enduring dynasty for you, just as I built for David, and I shall give Israel to you. [39] *And I shall afflict the descendants of David for this — but not for all time.' "

[40] Solomon sought to put Jeroboam to death, so Jeroboam arose and ran away to Egypt, to Shishak, king of Egypt; and he stayed in Egypt until Solomon's death.*

Solomon dies

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

[41] *As for all the rest of the deeds of Solomon and all that he did and his wisdom — behold, they are written in the Book of the Words of Solomon. [42] The duration of Solomon's reign over Israel in Jerusalem was forty years. [43] Solomon lay with his forefathers, and was buried in the City of David his father. His son Rehoboam reigned in his place.

11:40. After recording the meeting of Jeroboam and the prophet Ahijah, the narrative returns to Solomon's reaction to Jeroboam's public criticism (see vv. 26-28).

11:41. This book is no longer extant (Abarbanel).

12:8. Rehoboam was forty-one years old (14-21); his peers were hardly youngsters. Scripture calls them "youths" as a comment on their immaturity.

12:15. See 11:31.

12:16. Rule over your own tribe, not over us! (Targum). Alternatively: The Temple that your father built is yours alone (Rashi).

12:18. Adoram and Adoniram were the same person (see 4:6, 5:28 and II Samuel 20:24; Rashi).

THE TWO KINGDOMS: REHOBOAM, KING OF JUDAH; JEROBOAM, KING OF ISRAEL
12:1-14:31
(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all of Israel had come to Shechem to make him king. 2 When Jeroboam son of Nebat heard this while he was still in Egypt (where he had fled from before King Solomon, and Jeroboam had settled in Egypt), 3 for [the people] sent for him and summoned him, Jeroboam came, along with all of the Congregation of Israel, and they spoke to Rehoboam, saying, 4 "Your father made our yoke [of taxation] difficult; now, you alleviate your father's difficult workload and his heavy yoke that he placed upon us, and we will serve you."

5 He said to them, "Go away for three more days and then come back to me." So the people left.

6 King Rehoboam took counsel with the elders, who had stood before his father Solomon while he was alive, saying, "How do you advise; what word to respond to this people?"

7 They spoke to him, saying, "If today you become a servant to this people and serve them, and respond [favorably] to them and speak kind words to them, they will be your servants all the days."

Rehoboam ignores the sage advice of his elders . . .

8 But he ignored the advice of the elders who had counseled him, and he took counsel with the youths* who had grown up with him, who ministered before him. 9 He said to them, "What do you advise; what word shall we respond to this people who have spoken to me, saying, 'Alleviate the yoke that your father placed upon us'?"

. . . and accepts the impetuous counsel of his friends

10 The young men who had grown up with him spoke to him, saying, "This is what you should say to this people who have spoken to you, saying, 'Your father made our yoke heavy; you alleviate it for us' — this is what you should say to them: 'My little finger is thicker than my father's loins! 11 So now, my father saddled you with a heavy yoke; I shall add to your yoke! My father chastised you with sticks; I shall chastise you with scorpions!' "

12 Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, as the king had spoken, saying, "Return to me on the third day." 13 The king responded harshly to the people; he ignored the advice of the elders who had counseled him. 14 He spoke to them according to the counsel of the youths, saying, "My father made your yoke heavy, and I shall add to your yoke! My father chastised you with sticks; I shall chastise you with scorpions!"

He antagonizes the populace and they rebel

15 The king did not listen to the people, for it was a design from HASHEM, in order to fulfill His word that HASHEM had spoken through the hand of Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam son of Nebat.* 16 All of Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, and the people gave their response to the king, saying, "What share have we in [the House of] David? [We have] no heritage in the son of Jesse! Back to your homes, O Israel! Now see to your own house, O [kingdom of] David!"* And [the men of] Israel left for home. 17 As for the Children of Israel who lived in the cities of Judah — Rehoboam ruled over them.

18 King Rehoboam dispatched Adoram, who was in charge of the tax* — and all of Israel pelted him with stones, and he died. King Rehoboam then hastened to mount his chariot to flee to Jerusalem. 19 Thus Israel rebelled against the House of David, to this day.

12:31. None of the Levites would cooperate with his villainous scheme (Radak), so Jeroboam expelled them from his kingdom (II Chronicles 11:14).

12:32. Jeroboam's eighth-month (Cheshvan) festival was to replace the seventh-month (Tishrei) festival of Succos.

Rehoboam mobilizes to fight . . . (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

20 It happened when all of Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned, that they sent and summoned him to the assembly, and they made him king over all of Israel; no one followed the house of David except the tribe of Judah alone. 21 Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, and gathered together the entire House of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin, one hundred eighty thousand choice warriors, to fight against the House of Israel, to return the kingship to Rehoboam son of Solomon.

. . . but obeys God's command to desist

22 The word of God then came to Shemaiah, the man of God, saying, 23 "Speak to Rehoboam son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all the House of Judah and Benjamin and to the rest of the people, saying,* 24 'Thus said HASHEM: Do not go up and fight with your brethren, the Children of Israel; let each man return to his home, for this matter was brought about by Me.' " They obeyed the word of HASHEM and turned back from going [to war], in accordance with the word of HASHEM.

Jeroboam establishes idol worship for political reasons

25 Jeroboam built [up] Shechem in the Mountain of Ephraim and dwelled in it; then he left there and built [up] Penuel. 26 Jeroboam then thought, "Now the kingship may revert to the house of David. 27 If this people will go up to bring offerings in the Temple of HASHEM in Jerusalem, the heart of this people will revert to their lord, to Rehoboam, king of Judah, and they will kill me and return to Rehoboam, king of Judah."

28 The king took counsel, and he made two golden calves; and he said to [the people], "It is too far for you to go up to Jerusalem. These are your gods, O Israel, who brought you up from the land of Egypt!" 29 He placed the one in Beth-el and the [other] one in Dan. 30 This matter became a sin, and the people traveled [all the way] to Dan [to worship] before one [of them]. 31 *He also made a temple of high places, and he appointed priests from the commoners of the people, who were not of the children of Levi. 32 Jeroboam also innovated a holiday in the eighth month, on the fifteenth day of the month, in imitation of the holiday in Judah, and brought offerings on the altar. He did the same in Beth-el, sacrificing to the calves that he had made; and in Beth-el he set up the priests of the high places that he had made.* 33 He ascended the altar that he had made in Beth-el on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, in the month that he had fabricated with his imagination; he made a holiday for the Children of Israel — he ascended the altar to burn incense.

A prophet denounces Jeroboam's idolatry

1 Just then a man of God came to Beth-el from Judah by the word of HASHEM, while Jeroboam was standing atop the altar to burn incense. 2 He called out to the altar, by the word of HASHEM, and said, "Altar, altar! Thus said HASHEM: Behold a son will be born to the house of David, — Josiah [will be] his name — and he will slaughter upon you the priests of the high places, who burn sacrifices upon you; human bones will be burnt upon you." 3 And he provided a proof on that day, saying, "This is the proof of which HASHEM spoke: Behold, the altar is split and the ashes upon it are spilled."

Jeroboam is punished and the prophet leaves him

4 It happened when the king heard the words of the man of God who had called out to the altar in Beth-el, that Jeroboam stretched out his hand from upon the altar, saying, "Seize him!" and his hand that he had stretched out towards him became paralyzed; he was not able to bring it back to himself.

13:11. He was a false prophet (Targum) who was originally from Samaria; see II Kings 23:18.

13:20. Had HASHEM's message not been transmitted to the false prophet beforehand, the people might not have taken the true prophet's admonishments seriously, because they would have thought that his unnatural death proved him to be a charlatan (Malbim).

13:22. The man of God should have ascertained if the false prophet was speaking in the Name of God (Radak).

13:23. This is the man of God.

5 The altar then split and the ashes spilled from the altar, in accordance with the proof that the man of God had given by the word of HASHEM. 6 The king then spoke up and said to the man of God, "Please entreat the presence of HASHEM your God and pray for me, so that my hand may return to me!" So the man of God entreated the presence of HASHEM*; [the use of] the king's hand returned to him, and it became as it had been before.* 7 The king then spoke to the man of God, "Come home with me and dine, and I shall give you a gift."

8 But the man of God said to the king, "Even if you give me half your house, I shall not come with you, I shall not eat bread, I shall not drink water in this place. 9 For thus has it been commanded to me by the word of HASHEM*, saying, 'Do not eat a meal and do not drink water, and do not return on the road by which you went.' "* 10 So he went on a different road, and did not return on the road by which he had come to Beth-el.

A false prophet pursues the man of God . . .

11 There was a certain old prophet who was living in Beth-el. His son came and told him all about the deed that the man of God had done that day in Beth-el, and the words he had spoken to the king. [His other sons] also told their father.* 12 Their father said to them, "By which road did he go?" His sons showed him the road by which the man of God, who had come from Judah, had gone. 13 He then said to his sons, "Saddle up the donkey for me!" They saddled up the donkey, and he mounted it.

. . . and deceives him

14 He went after the man of God and found him sitting under an elm tree. He said to him, "Are you the man of God who came from Judah?"

And he said, "I am."

15 He said to him, "Come home with me and eat a meal."

16 He replied, "I cannot return with you and come with you, and I shall not eat a meal nor drink water in this place! 17 For a decree [has come] to me by the word of HASHEM*, 'You shall not eat a meal nor drink water there, and you shall not return on the road by which you went.' "*

18 But he said to him, "I am also a prophet like you, and an angel spoke to me by the word of HASHEM*, saying, 'Bring him back with you to your house, so that he may eat a meal and drink water.' " (He lied to him.)* 19 So he returned with him and ate a meal in his house and drank water.

A dire prophecy . . .

20 As they were sitting at the table, the word of HASHEM came to the prophet who had brought back [the man of God].* 21 He called out to the man of God who had come from Judah, saying, "Thus said HASHEM*: Because you have rebelled against the word of* HASHEM*, and did not keep the commandment that* HASHEM your God commanded you, 22 *and you returned and ate a meal and drank water in the place where He told you, 'Do not eat a meal and do not drink water,' your corpse shall not reach your fathers' grave."

. . . and the true prophet is mauled to death

23 It happened after he had eaten a meal and after he had drunk [that] he saddled the donkey for the prophet whom he had brought back.* 24 *He went and a lion encountered him on the way and killed him, and his corpse was cast down on the road, and the donkey stood next to it, and the lion [also] stood next to the corpse. 25 Then behold — some people were passing, and they saw the corpse cast down on the road and the lion standing next to the corpse, and they came and related it in the city where the old prophet lived.

13:24. That the lion did not devour the corpse nor kill the donkey was a clear indication that the man's death had been a supernatural occurrence.

13:32. The prophecy that human bones would be burned on Jeroboam's altar (v. 2) would surely come about. To ensure that his remains would not be among them, the false prophet wanted his bones mingled with those of the true prophet. See II Kings 23:15-20, and especially v. 18.

14:10. Literally, one who urinates against the wall. See I Samuel 25:22.

26 The prophet who had brought back [the man of God] from the road heard, and he said, "It is the man of God, who rebelled against the word of HASHEM*; HASHEM gave him over to the lion, and it mauled him and killed him, like the word of* HASHEM that He had spoken to him."

The false prophet confirms the truth

27 He spoke to his sons, saying, "Saddle up the donkey for me," and they saddled it. 28 He went and found his corpse cast down on the road, and the donkey and the lion standing next to the corpse; the lion had not eaten the corpse, nor had it mauled the donkey. 29 The prophet then lifted up the corpse of the man of God, and placed it upon the donkey and brought it back; he came to the city of the old prophet to eulogize and to bury him. 30 He laid his corpse in his [own] grave, and they lamented over him, "Alas, my brother." 31 It happened after he buried him that he spoke to his sons, saying, "When I die, bury me in the grave in which the man of God is buried; next to his bones place my bones. 32 For the words that he proclaimed by the word of HASHEM to the altar in Beth-el shall certainly come about, * and [it will also come] upon all the houses of the high places that are in the cities of Samaria."

Jeroboam's evil persists

33 After this incident, Jeroboam did not repent from his evil way, and he again appointed commoners of the people as priests for the high places; whomever he desired he would appoint, and they would be priests for the high places. 34 This matter became a [source of] punishment for the house of Jeroboam, to eradicate it and destroy it from the face of the earth.

14 1 At that time Jeroboam's son Abijah became ill. 2 Jeroboam said to his wife,

Jeroboam's queen goes to Ahijah

"Get up now and disguise yourself so that people will not know that you are Jeroboam's wife, and go to Shiloh. Ahijah the prophet is there, the one who spoke of me as becoming king over this people. 3 Take with you ten breads, wafers, and a bottle of honey, and come to him; he will tell you what will happen to the boy."

4 Jeroboam's wife did so; she arose and went to Shiloh, and arrived at Ahijah's house. Now Ahijah could not see, for his eyes had stopped [functioning] because of his old age. 5 But HASHEM had told Ahijah, "Behold, Jeroboam's wife is coming to seek a pronouncement from you about her son, for he is sick. Such and such shall you say to her. When she comes she will be disguised."

Ahijah prophesies Jeroboam's horrible end . . .

6 It happened that when Ahijah heard the sound of her feet coming in the door, he said, "Enter, wife of Jeroboam! Why do you disguise yourself? I have a harsh message for you. 7 Go tell Jeroboam, 'Thus said HASHEM*, God of Israel: Inasmuch as I elevated you from the midst of the people and emplaced you as ruler over My people Israel,* 8 and I tore away the kingship from the house of David and gave it to you, but you were not like My servant David, who kept My commandments and who went after Me with all his heart, to do only what is proper in My eyes. 9 But you have acted more wickedly than any who were before you, and you went and made for yourself the gods of others and molten images to anger Me, and you have cast Me behind your back. 10 Therefore, behold — I am bringing evil upon the house of Jeroboam, and I shall eliminate [every] male offspring * from Jeroboam and all property, whether hidden or public in Israel, and I shall destructively pursue the House of Jeroboam, as one completely consumes food until it is waste. 11 Anyone [of the House] of Jeroboam who dies in the city, the dogs will eat; and whoever dies

14:13. Jeroboam had set up guards along the roads to prevent his people from making the festival pilgrimages to Jerusalem, but Abijah dismissed them (Talmud).

14:14. The tragedies of the House of Jeroboam will pale in comparison with the calamities that will befall the people of Israel, for HASHEM will smite . . . (Radak).

14:17. Apparently the royal capital, originally in Shechem and then in Penuel (12:25), had been moved to Tirzah (see 15:21; 16:15). When she returned to Tirzah, her son's condition worsened; when she arrived at her door, he died (Radak).

14:19. No longer extant. This book was the official Court history of the Kingdom of Israel, including its wars and internal affairs.

in the field, the birds of the heaven will eat — for HASHEM has spoken!' 12 And
. . . and the death of the child you — arise and go to your house; as your feet enter the city, the child shall die! 13 All of Israel will lament for him and bury him, for this one alone of Jeroboam's [House] will be brought to a grave, because something good for HASHEM, God of Israel, has been found in him of [all] the house of Jeroboam. * 14 Then, HASHEM will appoint for Himself a king over Israel who will eliminate the house of Israel, too, will suffer Jeroboam on that day. But of what does this matter now! * 15 For HASHEM will smite Israel as a reed lurches about in the water, and He will uproot Israel from upon this bountiful land that He gave to their forefathers, and He will scatter them beyond the [Euphrates] River — because they have made their Asherah-trees, angering HASHEM. 16 And He will give Israel over [to this curse], because of the sins of Jeroboam that he committed himself and which he caused Israel to commit."

The boy dies 17 Jeroboam's wife arose and left, and she came to Tirzah. * As she entered the threshold of the house, the boy died. 18 All of Israel buried him and lamented him, like the word of HASHEM which He spoke through the hand of His servant Ahijah the prophet.

Jeroboam dies (See Appendix A, timeline 4) 19 The rest of the deeds of Jeroboam — how he fought wars and how he reigned — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. * 20 The duration of Jeroboam's reign was twenty-two years; then he lay with his forefathers and Nadab his son reigned in his place.

Rehoboam's kingdom declines 21 Rehoboam son of Solomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king and he reigned for seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city that HASHEM chose of all the tribes of Israel to place His Name there. [Rehoboam's] mother's name was Naamah the Ammonite. * 22 [The people of] Judah did evil in the eyes of HASHEM, angering Him more than their ancestors had done with the sins they committed. 23 They, too, built for themselves high places and pillars and Asherah-trees on every lofty hill and under every leafy tree. 24 There was also prostitution in the land; they did all the abominations of the nations that HASHEM had driven out from before the Children of Israel.

Egypt loots the kingdom 25 It was in King Rehoboam's fifth year that Shishak, king of Egypt, ascended against Jerusalem. 26 He took away the treasures of the Temple of HASHEM and the treasures of the king's palace — he took everything. He also took all the golden shields that Solomon had made. *

27 King Rehoboam made copper shields in their place, and he placed them in the charge of the captains of the runners, who guarded the entrance to the king's palace; 28 and it would be that whenever the king would come to the Temple of HASHEM, the runners would bear them and then return them to the chamber of the runners.

Rehoboam dies 29 The rest of the deeds of Rehoboam and all that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. *

30 There was warfare between Rehoboam and Jeroboam, all the days.

31 Rehoboam lay with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers in the City of David. His mother's name was Naamah the Ammonite. Abijam his son reigned in his place.

14:21. Her non-Jewish origin may explain why Rehoboam was drawn after idolatry (Radak).

14:26. Described above in 10:16-17.

14:29. See II Chronicles 9:31-12:16.

15:5. See II Samuel, Ch. 11.

15:6. Although Rehoboam initially heeded the word of the prophet (12:22-24) not to do battle with Jeroboam, he later sent his son Abijam to do so (Ralbag; Abarbanel).

ABIJAM, KING OF JUDAH 15:1-8
(See Appendix A, timeline 4)
A short, flawed, battle-scarred reign

1 In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam son of Nebat, Abijam became king over Judah. 2 For three years he reigned in Jerusalem; his mother's name was Maacah daughter of Abishalom. 3 He went in [the way of] all the sins of his father that he had done before him; and his heart was not whole with HASHEM, his God, as the heart of his forefather David [had been]. 4 It was [only] for David's sake that HASHEM his God had given him dominion in Jerusalem, to raise up his son after him and to establish Jerusalem, 5 because David had done what is proper in the eyes of HASHEM, and did not veer from all that He had commanded him all the days of his life (except for the matter of Uriah the Hittite). *

6 There was warfare between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all the days of [Abijam's] life. * 7 The rest of the deeds of Abijam and all that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. * There was warfare between Abijam and Jeroboam. 8 Abijam lay with his forefathers, and they buried him in the City of David; Asa his son reigned in his place.

ASA, KING OF JUDAH 15:9-24
A righteous king

9 In the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Asa became king over Judah. 10 He reigned in Jerusalem for forty-one years, and his [grand]mother's name was Maacah daughter of Abishalom. 11 Asa did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM, like his forefather David. 12 He removed the prostitutes from the land, and removed all the idols that his forefathers had made. 13 And even his [grand]mother Maacah he deposed from being a queen for she had made an abomination unto an Asherah-tree; Asa chopped up the abomination and burned it in the Kidron Valley. 14 But they did not take away the high places;
nevertheless, Asa's heart was whole with HASHEM all his days. 15 He brought in *the consecrated goods of his father and his own consecrated goods to the Temple of HASHEM — silver and gold and articles.

BAASA, KING OF ISRAEL 15:16-22; 15:27-16:7
Asa seeks a foreign ally

16 There was warfare between Asa and Baasa, the king of Israel, all their days.
17 Baasa, king of Israel, attacked Judah and built up Ramah, in order to prevent Asa, king of Judah, from leaving or entering. * 18 Asa then took all the silver and gold remaining in the treasuries of the Temple of HASHEM and the treasuries of the king's palace and placed it in the hands of his servants. King Asa sent them to Ben-hadad son of Tabrimmon son of Hezion, the king of Aram, who dwelled in Damascus, saying, 19 "[There is] a treaty between me and you, between my father and your father. Behold, I have sent you an inducement of silver and gold; go, annul your treaty with Baasa king of Israel, so that he will depart from me."
20 Ben-hadad heeded King Asa, and he sent the officers of his soldiers against cities of Israel. He struck at Ijon, Dan and Abel-beth-maacah, and the whole Chinneroth area, together with the entire land of Naphtali. 21 When Baasa heard this he ceased his building of Ramah, and he settled in Tirzah. *

22 And King Asa called together all of Judah — no one was exempt — and they carried away the stones of Ramah and its wood, with which Baasa had built, and with them King Asa built up Geba of Benjamin and Mizpah. 23 All the rest of the deeds of Asa and all his heroic acts and all that he did and the cities that he built — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of Asa dies the Kings of Judah. * Only in his old age, his legs ailed. 24 Asa lay with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers, in the city of David his forefather;

his son Jehoshaphat reigned in his place.

NADAB, KING OF ISRAEL 15:25-27 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

25 Nadab son of Jeroboam became king over Israel in the second year of Asa, king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel for two years. 26 He did evil in the eyes of HASHEM, he went in the path of his father and his sins, by which he caused Israel to sin. 27 Baasa son of Ahijah of the house of Issachar conspired against him, and Baasa struck him down at Gibbethon of the Philistines, while Nadab and all of Israel were besieging Gibbethon. 28 Baasa killed him in the third year of Asa, king of Judah, and reigned in his place. 29 It happened that when he became king he struck down the entire house of Jeroboam; he did not leave a soul in [the house of] Jeroboam, until he annihilated it, according to the word of HASHEM, which He had spoken through the hand of His servant Ahijah the Shilonite, 30 for the sins of Jeroboam that he had committed and caused Israel to commit, with his provocations by which he angered HASHEM, God of Israel. 31 The rest of the deeds of Nadab and all that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. *

BAASA, KING OF ISRAEL 15:28-16:7

Baasa annihilates the House of Jeroboam . . .

32 There was warfare between Asa and Baasa king of Israel all their days. 33 In the third year of Asa, king of Judah, Baasa son of Ahijah became king over all of Israel at Tirzah, [and reigned] for twenty-four years. 34 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, he went in the way of Jeroboam and his sins that he caused Israel to sin.

. . . but proves to be a wicked king

1 The word of HASHEM came to Jehu son of Hanani concerning Baasa, saying, 2 "Inasmuch as I have elevated you from the dirt, and emplaced you as ruler over My people Israel, yet you have gone in the path of Jeroboam, and have caused My people Israel to sin, to anger Me with their sins, 3 therefore I shall destructively pursue Baasa and his house with annihilation, and I shall make your house like the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat. 4 Anyone [of the house] of Baasa who dies in the city, the dogs will eat; and whoever of his dies in the field, the birds of the heavens will eat."

Baasa's ignominious end

5 The rest of the deeds of Baasa and that which he did and his might — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. * 6 Baasa lay with his forefathers and was buried in Tirzah, and his son Elah reigned in his place. 7 And also through the hand of Jehu son of Hanani the prophet was the word of HASHEM concerning Baasa and his house, because of all the evil that he had done in the eyes of HASHEM, angering Him by his own handiwork, by being like the house of Jeroboam, and because he struck [Jeroboam] down.

ELAH, KING OF ISRAEL 16:8-14

ZIMRI, KING OF ISRAEL 16:10-20

8 In the twenty-sixth year of Asa, king of Judah, Elah son of Baasa became king over Israel in Tirzah, [ruling] for two years. 9 His servant Zimri, commander of half the chariots, conspired against him. [Elah] was in Tirzah, drinking himself drunk, in the house of Arza, who was in charge of the palace in Tirzah. 10 Zimri came, struck [Elah] down and killed him, in the twenty-seventh year of Asa, king of Judah, and he reigned in his place. 11 It happened that when he became king, when he sat upon the throne, he struck down the entire house of Baasa — he did not leave over any male offspring * — and all his relatives and friends. 12 Zimri annihilated the entire house of Baasa, in accordance with the word of HASHEM, which He had spoken concerning Baasa through the hand of the prophet Jehu, 13 because of all the sins of Baasa and the sins of his son Elah, who sinned and caused Israel to sin, angering HASHEM, God of Israel, with their vanities.

14 The rest of the deeds of Elah and all that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. *

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

15 In the twenty-seventh year of Asa, king of Judah, Zimri reigned for seven days in Tirzah, while the people were encamped against Gibbethon of the Philistines. 16 The encamped people heard [the news], saying, "Zimri has conspired and has even struck down the king!" So all of Israel made Omri, the commander of the army, king over Israel on that day, in the camp. 17 Omri, and all of Israel with him, went up from Gibbethon and besieged Tirzah. 18 When Zimri saw that the city was being captured, he entered the hall of the king's palace, and he burned down the king's palace upon him in fire, and he died, 19 because of his sins that he committed, doing what is evil in the eyes of HASHEM, going in the way of Jeroboam and his sins that he committed, causing Israel to sin. 20 The rest of the deeds of Zimri, and his conspiracy that he organized — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. *

OMRI, KING OF ISRAEL 16:16-28

Tibni's rebellion

21 At that time the people of Israel became split into halves: half the people followed Tibni son of Ginath, to make him king, and the other half followed after Omri. 22 The half that followed after Omri prevailed over the half that followed Tibni son of Ginath; Tibni died, and Omri became king.

Omri consolidates his sinful reign

23 In the thirty-first year of Asa, * king of Judah, Omri became king over Israel for twelve years. In Tirzah he reigned for six years; 24 then he bought the Mountain of Samaria from Shemer for two talents of silver, and he built up the mountain, and he called the name of the city that he built after Shemer, the lord of the Mountain of Samaria. 25 Omri did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM; he was more wicked than all those who had preceded him. 26 He went in the entire path of Jeroboam son of Nebat and his sins that he caused Israel to commit, angering HASHEM, God of Israel, with their vanities. 27 The rest of the deeds of Omri that he did, and his acts of might that he performed — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. * 28 Omri lay with his forefathers and was buried in Samaria, and his son Ahab reigned in his place.

AHAB, KING OF ISRAEL 16:28-22:40

29 Ahab son of Omri became king over Israel in the thirty-eighth year of Asa, king of Judah. Ahab son of Omri ruled over Israel in Samaria for twenty-two years. 30 Ahab son of Omri did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, more than all who had preceded him. 31 The least [of his evils] was his going in [the way of] the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat. He took a wife, Jezebel daughter of Ethbaal, king of the Sidonians; and he went and worshiped the Baal and prostrated himself to it. 32 He erected an altar for the Baal, in the Temple of the Baal that he built in Samaria. 33 Ahab made an Asherah-tree; and Ahab did more to anger HASHEM, God of Israel, than all the kings of Israel who had preceded him.

Ahab and Jezebel become rulers

The curse of Jericho

34 In his days, Hiel the Beth-elite built [up] Jericho; with [the death of] Abiram, his firstborn, he laid its foundations; and with [the death of] Segub, his youngest, he installed its doors; like the word of HASHEM that He had spoken through the hand of Joshua son of Nun. *

ELIJAH THE PROPHET 17:1-II 2:14

1 Elijah the Tishbite, a resident of Gilead, said to Ahab, "As HASHEM, God of Israel, lives — before Whom I stand — [I swear that] there will not be dew nor rain during these years, except by my word."

16:14,20. See note to 14:19.

16:23. The civil war with Tibni lasted four years, until Asa's thirty-first year, so it was not until then that Omri's reign was secure.

HAFTARAS KI SISA
Ashkenazim: 18:1-39

א אֱמֶת: וַיְהִי יָמִים רַבִּים וּדְבַר־יְהוָה הָיָה אֶל־אֵלִיָּהוּ בַּשָּׁנָה
הַשְּׁלִישִׁית לֵאמֹר לֵךְ הֵרָאֵה אֶל־אַחְאָב וְאֶתְּנָה מָטָר עַל־פְּנֵי הָאֲדָמָה:

17:7. God dried up Elijah's source of water so that he would feel the suffering of his thirsty fellow men (Rashi).

17:10. Elijah tested the woman's kindness to determine if she was the widow of whom God had spoken. In doing so, Elijah followed the precedent of Eliezer in Genesis 24:12-15 (Rashi).

17:18. Your very presence in my house, with your impeccable standards of piety and Godliness, has caused God to take note of my sins and has brought this tragedy upon me (Ralbag).

Drought

2 The word of HASHEM came to him, saying, 3 "Go from here and turn eastward. You shall hide in the Cherith Brook, which faces the Jordan. 4 It shall be that you will drink from the brook; and I have commanded the ravens to supply you with food there." 5 So he went and acted according to the word of HASHEM*; he went and settled in the Cherith Brook, which faces the Jordan.* 6 The ravens would bring him bread and meat in the morning and bread and meat in the evening, and he would drink from the brook. 7 It happened at the end of a year that the brook dried up, for there was no rain in the land.*

The ravens bring food to Elijah

8 The word of HASHEM then came to him, saying, 9 "Arise, go to Zarephath, of [the territory of] Sidon, and settle there. Behold, I have commanded a widow to sustain you there."

A widow sustains him and is rewarded

10 *So he arose and went to Zarephath and arrived at the entrance to the city. Behold, a widow was gathering wood there; he called to her and said, "Please fetch me some water in a vessel, that I may drink." 11 She went to get it, and he called to her, saying, "Please fetch me [also] a piece of bread in your hand."

12 She said, "As HASHEM*, your God, lives, [I swear that] I have not so much as a cookie, but only a handful of flour in a jug, and a bit of oil in a cruse. Behold, I am gathering two pieces of wood; then I will go and prepare it for myself and my son. We will eat it and then we will die."* 13 But Elijah said to her, "Fear not! Go do as you have said; but first prepare a small cake from it for me, and bring it out to me. And prepare for yourself and your son, afterward. 14 For thus said HASHEM*, God of Israel: The jug of flour shall not run out and the flask of oil shall not lack, until the day that* HASHEM provides rain upon the face of the earth."

15 She went and did acording to the word of Elijah; and she ate — she and he and her household — for a year. 16 The jug of flour did not run out and the cruse of oil did not lack, in accordance with the word of HASHEM*, which He had spoken through Elijah.*

17 And it happened after these events: The son of the woman, the landlady, became ill. His illness became very serious, until there was no more breath left in him. 18 She said to Elijah, "What is there between me and you, O man of God, that you have come to me to call attention to my sins and to cause my son to die!"*

19 He said to her, "Give me your son." He took him from her bosom and brought him up to the upper story where he was dwelling, and laid him on his [own] bed. 20 He called out to HASHEM *and said, "HASHEM, my God, have You brought harm even upon the widow with whom I dwell, to cause her son to die?"* 21 He stretched himself out over the boy three times, and he called out to HASHEM and said, "O HASHEM*, my God, please let this boy's soul come back within him!"*

He restores her son to life

22 HASHEM hearkened to the voice of Elijah, and the soul of the boy came back within him, and he came to life. 23 Elijah took the boy and brought him down from the upper story to the house, and delivered him to his mother. Elijah said, "See, your son is alive!"

24 The woman said to Elijah, "Now I know [through] this that you are a man of God, and that the word of HASHEM in your mouth is true!"

18 1 It happened [after] many days: The word of HASHEM came to Elijah in the third year, saying, "Go, appear to Ahab; and I shall send rain upon the face of the land."*

8:1. In the third year of the drought, God sent Elijah to persuade the people to repent.

18:21. Apparently, they saw nothing wrong with combining the contradictory beliefs of Baalism and monotheism.

Ahab and Obadiah search for Elijah

2 So Elijah went to appear to Ahab, and the famine was severe in Samaria. 3 Ahab summoned Obadiah, who was in charge of the household. (Obadiah feared God greatly. 4 And it was when Jezebel had decimated the prophets of HASHEM, Obadiah took a hundred prophets and hid them, fifty men to a cave, and sustained them with food and water.) 5 Ahab said to Obadiah, "Go through the land, to every spring of water and to all the streams; perhaps we may find grass and keep horses and mules alive, so that we should not be deprived of animals."

6 They divided the land between them to traverse it; Ahab went alone on one road and Obadiah went alone on another road. 7 Obadiah was on the road, and behold! — Elijah was in front of him! He recognized him and fell on his face and said, "Is that you, my lord Elijah?"

Elijah appears to Obadiah and guarantees his safety

8 He said to him, "It is I. Go tell your lord: Elijah is here!"

9 [Obadiah] said, "What is my sin, that you deliver your servant into Ahab's hand to put me to death? 10 As HASHEM, your God, lives, [I swear that] there is not a nation or kingdom where my lord has not sent to seek you, and they have responded, '[He is] not [here]!' He had the kingdom and the nation swear that they could not find you. 11 And now you say, 'Go tell your lord: Elijah is here!' 12 As soon as I go from you, a spirit of HASHEM will carry you to where I will not know. I will have come to tell Ahab, and he will not find you — and he will kill me! But your servant has feared HASHEM since my youth! 13 Has it not been told to my lord what I did when Jezebel killed the prophets of HASHEM — that I hid a hundred men of the prophets of HASHEM, fifty men to each cave, and sustained them with food and water. 14 And now you say to me, 'Go tell your lord: Elijah is here'! He will kill me!"

15 Elijah said, "As HASHEM, Master of Legions, before Whom I have stood, lives, [I swear] that today I will appear to him!"

Elijah confronts Ahab

16 Obadiah went toward Ahab and told him, so Ahab went toward Elijah. 17 And it was when Ahab saw Elijah, Ahab said to him, "Is that you, the troubler of Israel?"

18 He said [to him], "Not I have troubled Israel, rather you and your father's house [have], by your forsaking the commandments of HASHEM; and you have gone after the Baalim! 19 And now, send and gather all of Israel to me at Mount Carmel, and also the four hundred and fifty prophets of the Baal and the four hundred prophets of the Asherah-tree, who eat at Jezebel's table."

Elijah's challenge to the false prophets

20 Ahab sent among all the Children of Israel and he gathered the prophets to Mount Carmel. 21 Elijah approached all the people and said, "How long will you dance between two opinions? If HASHEM is the God, go after Him! And if the Baal, go after it!"

But the people did not answer him at all. *

22 Elijah then said to the people, "I alone have remained as a prophet of HASHEM, and the prophets of the Baal are four hundred and fifty men. 23 Let us be given two bulls. Let them choose the one bull for themselves, cut it, and put it on the wood, but not apply fire; and I too will prepare the other bull and place it on the wood, and I will not apply fire. 24 You shall call out in the name of your gods and I shall call out in the Name of HASHEM, and whichever God responds with fire, He is the [true] God!"

All the people responded, "The proposal is good!"

18:29. Prescribed in Exodus 29:38-41 and Numbers 28:1-8.

18:31. Elijah's twelve stones symbolized that all twelve tribes actually comprise one unit. He mentioned Jacob's name of Israel because it was in Beth-el that God had appeared to Jacob and changed his name to Israel, promising him that his descendants would become a great nation (Genesis 35:9-15). Now Elijah reprimanded the people for having chosen that very location as the site of their idolatrous temple (Radak).

18:32. Opinions regarding modern-day equivalents range from 12,400 to 18,000 square feet.

18:42. Elijah prayed in this position (Rashi).

The prophets are exposed as frauds

25 Elijah said to the prophets of the Baal, "Choose for yourselves the one bull and prepare it first, for you are the many, and call out in the name of your god, but do not apply fire." 26 They took the bull that he gave them and prepared it, and called out in the name of the Baal from morning until noon, saying, "O Baal, answer us!" But there was neither sound nor response; and they danced by the altar that he had made.

27 And it was at noontime, Elijah ridiculed them, and said, "Cry out in a loud voice, for he is a god! Perhaps he is conversing, or pursuing [enemies], or relieving himself; perhaps he is asleep and he will awaken!"

28 They called out with a loud voice and cut themselves with swords and spears, according to their custom, until blood spurted on them. 29 When the noon hour passed they prophesied until the [time of] the afternoon-offering — but there was neither sound, nor response, nor listener.*

Elijah prepares his offering . . .

30 Elijah then said to all the people, "Draw near to me," and all the people drew near to him. He repaired the ruined altar of HASHEM. 31 *Elijah took twelve stones, corresponding to the number of the tribes of the children of Jacob (to whom the word of HASHEM came, saying, "Your name shall be Israel"). 32 He built the stones into an altar for the Name of HASHEM, and he made a trench large enough to plant two se'ahs of seed around the altar.* 33 He arranged the wood, he cut up the bull, and put it on the wood. 34 Then he said, "Fill four jugs with water and pour them over the elevation-offering and over the wood." He said, "Do it a second time!" and they did it a second time. He said, "Do it a third time!" and they did it a third time. 35 The water went all around the altar and the water even filled up the trench.

. . . and shows the people that Hashem is God

36 And it was at the time of the afternoon-offering, Elijah the prophet approached and said, "HASHEM, God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, today it will become known that You are God in Israel and I am Your servant, and that it is by Your word that I have done all these things. 37 Answer me, HASHEM, answer me! And let this people know that You, HASHEM, are the God; thus You will turn their hearts back."

38 A fire of HASHEM descended and consumed the elevation-offering and the wood, and the stones, and the earth; and it licked up the water in the trench. 39 The entire people saw and fell on their faces and exclaimed, "HASHEM — He is the God! HASHEM — He is the God!"

40 Elijah said to them, "Seize the prophets of Baal! Let none of them escape!" So they seized them. Elijah took them down to the Kishon Brook and slaughtered them there.

The drought ends

41 Elijah said to Ahab, "Go up and eat and drink, for a rumbling sound of rain [is coming]." 42 So Ahab went up to eat and drink; but Elijah went up to the summit of the Carmel, bent down to the ground, and put his face between his knees.* 43 He said to his attendant, "Go up now and gaze westward."

He went up and gazed, and he said, "There is nothing at all."

[Elijah] said seven times, "Go back!"

44 It was at the seventh time, and he said, "Behold, a cloud, as small as a man's hand is coming up from the west."

[Elijah] said, "Go up and tell Ahab, 'Harness [your chariot] and go down, so that the rain does not hold you back.' "

45 It happened that in the meantime the heavens had become darkened with 19:2. "... if I do not fulfill my word." This is a common expression of oath in the Bible.

19:4. After wandering for a day without food, water, or shelter, Elijah despaired and exclaimed that he had suffered enough. He was not more worthy than his forebears; why should he live longer than they? (Radak).

19:8. Horeb is another name for Mount Sinai (see Deut. 5:2ff).

19:10. Elijah intimated that God should take vengeance against the Israelites (Ralbag).

19:12. God taught Elijah that He does not administer indiscriminate, harsh justice to sinners. Rather, with silent restraint and patience, He awaits their repentance.

19:16. See II Kings, Chs. 9-10.

19:17. After showing him that he was wrong in his harsh attitude toward Israel, God commanded Elijah to set in motion the forces that would bring retribution to the sinners: Kings Hazael and Jehu who would implement the death penalty, and Elisha who would admonish the Jewish sinners so that those who ignored him would deserve punishment.

Additionally, the command to anoint Elisha as his clouds and [filled with] wind, and there was a great rain. Ahab rode off and went towards Jezreel. 46 The hand of HASHEM was upon Elijah, and he girded his loins and ran before Ahab until the approach to Jezreel.

Elijah flees from Jezebel's death threat

1 Then Ahab told Jezebel everything that Elijah had done and everything about how he had slain all the [false] prophets by the sword. 2 So Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah, saying, "Such may the gods do [to me] and such may they do further . . . * for at this time tomorrow I shall make your soul like the soul of one of them."

3 When he saw [the danger], he arose and fled for his life; he came to Beer-sheba which is in Judah, and left his attendant there. 4 He then went a day's journey into the wilderness; he went and sat under a solitary retem tree, and requested for his soul to die. He said, "It is enough! Now, HASHEM, *take my soul, for I am no better than my forefathers."

God sends food to Elijah

5 He lay down and slept under a solitary retem tree; and behold! — an angel was touching him and said to him, "Get up and eat!" 6 He looked up and behold, near his head [were] a coal-baked cake and a cruse of water; he ate and drank, then went back and lay down.

7 The angel of HASHEM returned to him a second time, and he touched him and said, "Get up and eat [more], for there is a long way ahead for you." 8 *So he arose, and ate and drank; he then walked on the strength of that meal for forty days and forty nights, until the Mountain of God, Horeb. 9 He arrived there at the cave and spent the night in it; then behold, the word of HASHEM came to him and said to him, "Why are you here, Elijah?"

10 He said, "I have acted with great zeal for HASHEM, *God of Legions, for the Children of Israel have forsaken Your covenant; they have razed Your altars and have killed Your prophets by the sword, so [that] I alone have remained, and they now seek to take my life."

Elijah's vision; the still, thin sound

11 [The word of God] then said, "Go out [of the cave] and stand on the mountain before HASHEM*." And behold,* HASHEM was passing, and a great, powerful wind, smashing mountains and breaking rocks, went before HASHEM*. "*HASHEM *is not in the wind!" [Elijah was told]. After the wind came an earthquake. "*HASHEM is not in the earthquake." 12 *After the earthquake came a fire. "*HASHEM *is not in the fire." After the fire came a still, thin sound.

13 It happened that when Elijah heard [this], he wrapped his face in his mantle, and he went out and stood by the cave's entrance; and behold, a voice [spoke] unto him, and said, "Why are you here, Elijah?"

14 He said, "I have acted with great zeal for HASHEM, God of Legions, for the Children of Israel have forsaken Your covenant; they have razed Your altars and have killed Your prophets by the sword, so [that] I alone have remained, and they now seek to take my life."

God sends Elijah to anoint kings and a prophet

15 Then HASHEM said to him, "Go, return on your way, and go to the Wilderness of Damascus. When you arrive, you shall anoint Hazael as king over Aram. 16 And you shall anoint Jehu son of Nimshi as king over Israel, * and anoint Elisha son of Shaphat from Abel-meholah as a prophet in your stead. 17 *And it shall happen that whoever escapes the sword of Hazael, Jehu will kill; and whoever escapes the sword of Jehu, Elisha will kill. 18 But I will leave over successor was an implied rebuke to Elijah for his demand that Israel be punished (Rashi).

19:20. Elijah thus tested Elisha's resolve (Radak).

20:5. Ahab had thought that Ben-hadad would demand tribute in the form of taxes and labor, to which Ahab meekly complied. Now Ben-hadad made it clear that he would actually carry women and children off to servitude in Aram (Radak).

20:6. Since Ahab had already agreed to relinquish his money, women, and children, what were these "precious" things that Ben-Hadad now demanded? The Sages (Sanhedrin 102b) explain that Ben-hadad now added that he would search for and confiscate the people's "precious" Torah scrolls. To this Ahab responded by summoning the elders (v. 7), for he felt that these treasures belonged to the nation, and he could not give them away without consulting the elders (Rashi; Radak).

20:8. Ben-hadad's newly clarified demand for the Torah scrolls was too outrageous. According to the Sages, the elders, though they were idolaters, would not surrender the Torah itself, which symbolizes the very essence of Israel.

20:11. A warrior may boast of his prowess when he removes his sword belt after a victorious battle, but not when he is just beginning to arm himself to go out to the battlefield!

20:13. According to the Sages, Micaiah son of Imlah (see Ch. 22) is meant each time our chapter mentions a prophet.

in Israel seven thousand [people], all the knees that did not kneel to the Baal and every mouth that did not kiss it."

Elisha follows Elijah

19 So he went forth from there and he came upon Elisha son of Shaphat while he was plowing, twelve pairs [of oxen] going before him, he being with the twelfth, so Elijah went over to him and cast his mantle upon him. 20 He left the oxen and ran after Elijah, and said, "Please let me kiss my father and mother, and then I shall go after you."

*But he said to him, "Go, return, for what have I done to you?"

21 [Elisha] turned back from following him; he took a pair of oxen and slaughtered them. He cooked the meat with the oxen's implements and gave [it] to the people, and they ate. He then arose and went after Elijah and ministered unto him.

Ahab cravenly submits to Ben-hadad

1 Ben-hadad king of Aram gathered together his whole army, and with him thirty-two kings, and horse and chariot; he went up and besieged Samaria and waged war against it. 2 He sent messengers to Ahab king of Israel, into the city, 3 and said to him, "Thus said Ben-hadad: 'Your silver and your gold are mine, and your best women and children are mine.' "

4 The king of Israel replied, saying, "Just as you say, my lord the king; I and all I own are yours."

Ben-hadad oversteps

5 *The messengers returned [to Ahab] and said, "Thus spoke Ben-hadad, saying: I sent [word] to you, saying, 'Your silver and your gold and your women and your sons you shall give to me,' 6 because at this time tomorrow, I shall send my servants to you, and they will search your house and the houses of your servants; and it shall be that everything precious in your eyes, they will place in their hands and take [away]."*

7 The king of Israel summoned all the elders of the land, and said, "Understand now and realize that this [man] is seeking evil, for he sent to me for my women and my children and my silver and my gold, and I did not withhold anything from him."

8 *All the elders and all the people said to him, "Do not listen and do not consent!"

9 So he said to Ben-hadad's messengers, "Tell my lord the king: Everything concerning which you sent word to your servant the first time I shall do, but this [second] thing I cannot do." The messengers left, and they brought back a reply.

Boast and defiance

10 Ben-hadad sent word to [Ahab], saying, "Such may the gods do to me and such may they do further, if the dust of Samaria will be sufficient to [cover] the soles of all the people who accompany me!"

11 *The king of Israel replied, saying, "Tell [Hadad]: Let one who girds [his sword] not boast like one who unfastens [it]!"

12 It happened when [Ben-hadad] heard this reply, he was drinking — he and the [other] kings — in huts; he said to his servants, "Set up!" And they set up [for the attack] against the city.

God promises victory

13 Then behold, a certain prophet approached Ahab, king of Israel, and said, "Thus said HASHEM: Have you seen all this great multitude [of people]? Behold, I shall deliver them into your hand today, and you will know that I am HASHEM."*

20:14. These youths had been sent to be educated and trained in the capital city.

20:15. Rashi explains that these were the people whose "knees did not kneel to the Baal" (see 19:18).

20:20. The scouts who had gone out to capture the youths were caught off guard by their daring, and were utterly routed.

20:22. Do not let your victory lead to complacency! Act righteously so that you will merit God's miraculous intervention the next time Ben-hadad attacks (Radak).

20:24. Soldiers from the lower ranks will fight harder in order to make a name for themselves (Rashi).

20:27. The verse compares the two armies. The Aramean force was immense while the Israelites consisted of two paltry groups: the two hundred thirty-

14 Ahab asked, "Through whom?"

*And he answered, "Thus said HASHEM: Through the young [sons] of the officers of the provinces."

[Ahab] then asked, "Who will lead the battle?"

And he answered, "You!"

Ahab's great triumph

15 *[Ahab] counted the young [sons] of the officers of the provinces, and they were two hundred and thirty-two. Afterwards he counted all the people — all the Children of Israel — [and they were] seven thousand.

16 They went forth [from the city] at noontime, while Ben-hadad was drinking himself drunk — he and the thirty-two kings who helped him — in [their] huts. 17 The young [sons] of the officers of the provinces went out first. Ben-hadad had sent out [scouts], who now told him, saying, "Some men have left Samaria!"

18 He said, "If they have come forth in peace, capture them alive; and if they have come forth for war, capture them alive."

19 But these — the young [sons] of the officers of the provinces — went forth from the city, with the army that was behind them; 20 and each man struck down his opponent. * Aram fled, and Israel chased after them; Ben-hadad, king of Aram, escaped on a horse, with horsemen. 21 The king of Israel then came out and struck down the horse and the chariot, and struck a severe blow in Aram.

22 The prophet approached the king of Israel and said to him, "Go and strengthen yourself; understand and realize what you should do, * for at the turn of the year the king of Aram will come up against you [again]."

Aram prepares a new attack

23 The servants of the king of Aram told him, "Their God is a God of mountains, and therefore they were stronger than us; but, let us fight them on the plain, [see] if we will not be stronger than them! 24 *This thing shall you do: Remove the kings, each one from his post, and replace them with captains. 25 And count out for yourselves an army like the army that fell from you, and horse like horse, and chariot like chariot; we will fight them on the plain, and [see] if we do not overpower them!" He hearkened to their voice and did so.

26 It happened at the turn of the year that Ben-hadad counted Aram, and he went up to Aphek to wage war against Israel. 27 *The Children of Israel were counted and outfitted, and they went towards them. The Children of Israel encamped opposite them like two groups of goats, while Aram filled the land.

A prophet assures Ahab

28 The man of God approached and spoke to the king of Israel and said, "Thus said HASHEM: Because Aram said, 'HASHEM is a God of mountains and not a God of lowlands,' I shall deliver all this great multitude into your hand, and you will know that I am HASHEM."

Aram is routed

29 They were encamped one opposite the other for a seven-day period. It happened on the seventh day that the battle was joined, and the Children of Israel struck down Aram — a hundred thousand foot soldiers in one day. 30 The remainder fled to Aphek, * into the city, and the [city] wall fell over upon the twenty-seven thousand surviving men. Ben-hadad fled, and entered into the city, [hiding] in a room within a room.

two youths, and the seven thousand soldiers (Metzudos).

20:30. Aphek was in the territory of the Kingdom of Judah, which had a peace treaty with Aram (see 15:18-20).

20:35. The same prophet who had brought God's word to Ahab several times in this chapter. Now he was to convey a new prophecy to the king: Ahab had been commanded prophetically to destroy the Arameans, yet he had chosen to be gracious and treat Ben-hadad like a brother. But mercy to the evil is in itself a manifestation of cruelty, for the surviving evildoer will cause others to suffer (Radak).

20:36. Since he was a known prophet, his command in God's Name (v. 35) had the force of a Divine command. Just as this man was punished for putting his own sense of propriety and leniency before the express command of God, so would Ahab meet a similar fate (Rashi).

Ahab's mercy to Ben-hadad — an alliance . . .

31 His servants said to him, "Behold, we have heard that the kings of the House of Israel are merciful kings; let us put sackcloth on our loins and ropes upon our heads and go forth to the king of Israel — perhaps he will let you live."

32 So they girded their loins with sackcloth and [put] ropes upon their heads, and they came to the king of Israel and said, "Your servant Ben-hadad said, 'Please let me live!' "

[Ahab] said, "Is he still alive? He is my brother!"

33 The men interpreted this as a [good] omen and seized upon the expression from him, and said, "Your brother Ben-hadad."

And [Ahab] said, "Go and bring him."

So Ben-hadad came out to him, and [Ahab] helped him onto the chariot. 34 [Ben-hadad] said to him, "The cities that my father took from your father, I shall return; and you may control markets in Damascus, just as my father did in Samaria."

[Ahab agreed,] "And with this covenant I shall send you off." So he sealed a covenant with him and sent him off.

The penalty for misplaced mercy

35 *One man, of the disciples of the prophets, * said to his fellow, "By the word of HASHEM, please hit me!" But the man refused to hit him.* 36 He then said to him, "Because you did not listen to the voice of HASHEM, behold, when you go away from me a lion will strike you down!" He went away from him, and a lion came upon him and struck him down.*

37 He then found another man and said, "Please hit me!" The man struck him, hitting [him] and wounding [him]. 38 The prophet then went and stood [awaiting] the king on the road, and disguised himself with a scarf over his eyes. 39 As the king passed by he cried out to the king; he said, "Your servant had gone out to the thick of the battle, when behold, one man turned aside, and brought to me a man, saying, 'Guard this man; if he will be missing, your soul will be instead of his soul, or you will weigh out [as a fine] a talent of silver.' 40 Your servant was busy going here and there, and [now] he is gone!"

So the king of Israel said to him, "The judgment against you is fair; you have decided it!"

41 Quickly he removed the scarf from his eyes, and the king of Israel recognized him, that he was one of the prophets. 42 [The prophet] said to him, "Thus said HASHEM: Because you sent forth from [your] hand the man whom I had condemned to destruction, your life shall be in place of his life, and your people instead of his people!" 43 The king of Israel went to his house angry and upset, and he came to Samaria.

21 1 It happened after these events: There was a vineyard [belonging] to Naboth the Jezreelite in Jezreel that was adjacent to the palace of Ahab, king of Samaria. 2 Ahab spoke to Naboth, saying, "Give me your vineyard, so that I may have it as an herb garden, for it is close by my house; in its place I will give you a better vineyard, or, if you prefer, I will give you its price in money."

Naboth rebuffs Ahab

3 But Naboth said to Ahab, "Far be it from me before HASHEM that I should give you my ancestors' heritage!"

4 Ahab came home sullen and angry over the matter that Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken to him, [when] he said, "I will not give you my ancestors' herit-

21:8. Although the people could not or would not control Ahab and Jezebel's idolatry, they would not tolerate royal injustice. Thus, Jezebel resorted to the only "legal" avenue available: to conspire with corrupt officials to convict Naboth of a capital offense, thus allowing the king to confiscate his property (Radak; see v. 15).

21:9. Fast days were proclaimed in order to assemble the people for collective prayer and to determine what sins had to be remedied (Rashi).

21:10. This is a euphemism for blasphemy and cursing. Both the one who blasphemes and the one who curses the king are liable to death.

21:15. The Talmud gives two opinions for Ahab's "right" to the property: (a) Naboth was put to death for age. He lay on his bed, turned his face [to the wall] and would not eat any food.

Jezebel to the rescue

5 His wife Jezebel came to him and spoke to him, "Why is it that your mood is so sullen and you do not eat any food?"

6 He said to her, "Because I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite, and said to him, 'Give me your vineyard for money, or, if you prefer, I will give you a[nother] vineyard in its place.' But he said, 'I will not give you my vineyard.' "

7 His wife Jezebel said to him, "Are you now exercising your sovereignty over Israel? Arise. Eat some food, and let your heart be. I shall present you with the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite!"

Jezebel's plan . . .

8 *She then wrote scrolls in Ahab's name, sealing them with his signet, and she sent scrolls to the elders and the officials who were in his city, who dwelt with Naboth. 9 She wrote in the scrolls, saying, "Declare a fast, and seat Naboth at the head of the people.* 10 Then seat two unscrupulous people opposite him, who will testify against him, saying, 'You blessed God and the king!' Then take him out and stone him, so he will die."*

. . . to kill an innocent man

11 The men of his city — the elders and the officials who dwelt in his city — did as Jezebel had sent [word] to them, as was written in the scrolls that she had sent them. 12 They declared a fast and seated Naboth at the head of the people. 13 Two unscrupulous men came and sat opposite him, and the unscrupulous men testified against Naboth in the presence of the people, saying, "Naboth has 'blessed' God and the king." Then they took him outside of the city and stoned him with stones, and he died.

14 They then sent word to Jezebel, saying, "Naboth has been stoned and has died."

Ahab occupies the vineyard

15 When Jezebel heard that Naboth had been stoned and had died, Jezebel said to Ahab, "Arise and inherit the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he had refused to give you for money; for Naboth is not alive, for he is dead."* 16 When Ahab heard that Naboth had died, Ahab arose to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, to inherit it.

Elijah rebukes him . . .

17 The word of HASHEM then came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying, 18 "Arise and go down to meet Ahab, king of Israel, who [lives] in Samaria; behold he is at the vineyard of Naboth, which he has gone down to inherit. 19 You shall speak to him, saying, 'Thus said HASHEM: Will you murder and also inherit?' Then you shall speak to him [further], saying, 'Thus said HASHEM: In the place where the dogs licked up the blood of Naboth, the dogs will lick up your blood as well.' "

20 Ahab said to Elijah, "Have you found me [guilty], my adversary?"

He said, "I have found [you guilty], because you have sold yourself to do what is evil in the eyes of HASHEM. 21 Behold! [says HASHEM] I am bringing evil upon you, and I shall annihilate after you, and I shall eliminate [every] male offspring from Ahab and all property, whether hidden or public, in Israel.* 22 And I shall set your house like the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat and like the house of Baasa son of Ahijah, because of the provocation with which you have provoked [Me], and because you caused Israel to sin.

. . . with a fearsome curse

sedition against the king and such a person forfeits his property to the royal estate; or (b) Ahab was Naboth's next of kin, and thus his legal heir.

22:2. After Ben-hadad was released (see 20:29-43).

22:3. The king of Aram had promised to return all the cities of Israel captured by his father (20:34), but apparently had retained his hold on Ramoth-gilead.

22:7. The Talmud explains that Jehoshaphat recognized these prophets as charlatans because they all proclaimed the same "prophecy" word for word; with true prophets, "no two prophets ever prophesy with the same words."

23 HASHEM has spoken also concerning Jezebel, saying, 'The dogs shall eat Jezebel in the Valley of Jezreel.' 24 Anyone [of the house] of Ahab who dies in the city, the dogs will eat; and whoever dies in the field, the birds of the heavens will eat."

25 (There had never been anyone like Ahab, who sold himself to do what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, because Jezebel his wife had incited him. 26 He became very depraved, going after idols, according to all that was done by the Amorite, whom HASHEM had driven out from before the Children of Israel.)

Ahab humbles himself

27 It happened that when Ahab heard these words, he tore his clothes and placed sackcloth upon his skin and fasted; he slept with the sackcloth, and he walked about slowly.

28 The word of HASHEM came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying, 29 "Have you seen that Ahab has humbled himself before Me? Since he has humbled himself before Me, I will not bring the evil during his days; I will rather bring the evil upon his house in the days of his son."

JEHOSHAPHAT, KING OF JUDAH 22:2-51
(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 They lived for three years [during which] there was not any war between Aram and Israel. 2 But it happened in the third year* [that] Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, came down to [visit] the king of Israel. 3 The king of Israel said to his servants, "Did you know that Ramoth-gilead belongs to us? Yet we have been lax in taking it [back] from the king of Aram."* 4 He then said to Jehoshaphat, "Will you go with me to do battle [for] Ramoth-gilead?"

Jehoshaphat travels to Samaria

Jehoshaphat answered the king of Israel, "I shall be like you, my people shall be like your people, my horses shall be like your horses." 5 Jehoshaphat then said to the king of Israel, "Inquire, please, today, of the word of HASHEM."

6 The king of Israel gathered the prophets, some four hundred men, and said to them, "Shall I go to war for Ramoth-gilead, or shall I refrain?"

They answered, "Go up, for my Lord will deliver it into the hand of the king."

7 Jehoshaphat said, "Is there no longer here a prophet of HASHEM of whom we may inquire?"*

8 The king of Israel answered Jehoshaphat, "There is one more man through whom to inquire of HASHEM; but I hate him, for he never prophesies good for me, only bad — Micaiahu son of Imlah."

Jehoshaphat said, "Let the king not speak this way!"

9 So the king of Israel summoned one officer and said, "Rush Micaiahu son of Imlah [here]."

10 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were sitting, each man on his throne, dressed in [royal] garb, at the threshing floor at the gateway of Samaria, and all the prophets were prophesying before them. 11 Zedekiah son of Chenaanah made himself iron horns and said, "Thus said HASHEM: With these you shall gore Aram, until they are obliterated!"

12 All the prophets were prophesying similarly, saying, "Go up to Ramoth-gilead and triumph, for HASHEM will deliver it into the hand of the king."

13 The messenger who had gone to summon Micaiahu spoke to him, saying, "Behold, the words of the prophets are unanimously favorable towards the king; please let your words be like the word of one of them, and speak favorably!"

22:15. This was not said in God's Name, but in cynical mimicry of the false prophets. Thus, Ahab insisted that he speak the truth.

22:17. Ahab would die in battle, but Israel would scatter and escape unharmed.

22:21. It was the "spirit" of Naboth, the victim of Ahab and Jezebel (Ch. 21; Rashi). All this was part of the prophetic vision (Radak).

22:25. Zedekiah would desperately hide from the returning vanquished army, which would seek to vent its anger at him for having encouraged the fiasco (Abarbanel).

22:28. That is, all the tribes of Israel (Metzudos).

22:30. Ahab knew that the Arameans would kill him immediately if they recognized him, but that Jehoshaphat was in no such danger.

22:31. He was not primarily concerned with the lives of the Israelite soldiers, only fearful that Ahab might escape if the fighting became fierce. He wanted to postone the decimation of the Israelite army until after Ahab was apprehended (Radak).

22:33. Seeing that only the soldiers of Judah came to Jehoshaphat's rescue, they understood that this was not Ahab (Metzudos).

14 But Micaiahu said, "As HASHEM lives, [I swear] that whatever HASHEM says to me, that shall I speak!"

Micaiahu is consulted

15 He came to the king, and the king said to him, "Micaiahu, shall we go to war for Ramoth-gilead or shall we refrain?"

He said to him, "Go up and triumph, for HASHEM will deliver it into the king's hand."*

16 The king then said to him, "I adjure you many times over that you speak to me nothing but the truth, in the name of HASHEM!"

17 [Micaiahu] then said, "I have seen all of Israel scattering to the mountains, like sheep that have no shepherd; and HASHEM saying, 'These have no masters; let each man go to his house in peace!' "*

18 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not I tell you that he never prophesies good for me, but only bad?"

Micaiahu prophesies disaster for Ahab

19 [Micaiahu] said [further], "Therefore listen to the word of HASHEM! I have seen HASHEM sitting upon His throne, with all the host of Heaven standing by Him, on His right and on His left. 20 And HASHEM said, 'Who will lure Ahab to go up [to war] that he may fall in Ramoth-gilead?' This one said, 'Like this!' and this one said, 'Like this!' 21 Then the spirit* came forward and stood before HASHEM and said, 'I shall lure him!' And HASHEM said, 'How?' 22 [The spirit] replied, 'I will go out and be a spirit of falsehood in the mouths of all his prophets.' And [HASHEM] said, 'You will lure him and you will succeed! Go forth and do so!' 23 And now, behold! HASHEM has put a spirit of falsehood in the mouths of all these prophets of yours, for HASHEM has decreed evil upon you."

The false prophet challenges him

24 Zedekiah son of Chenaanah then approached and struck Micaiahu on the cheek and said, "How is it that the spirit of HASHEM passed from me to speak to you?"

25 Micaiahu said, "Behold, you will see for yourself on that day, when you go inside a room within a room to be hidden!"*

26 The king of Israel said, "Take Micaiahu and turn him over to Amon, the minister of the city, and to Joash, the king's son, 27 and say, 'Thus said the king: Put this one in the prison and feed him a minimum of food and a minimum of water, until I return in peace.' "

28 Micaiahu said, "If you indeed return in peace, then HASHEM did not speak through me!" and he said [further], "Hear this, all the peoples!"*

The kings go to war, and Ahab is killed

29 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah then went up [to wage war] at Ramoth-gilead. 30 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "[I] will disguise [myself] when [I] come to the battle, but you wear your royal garments,"* so the king of Israel disguised himself and went out to battle. 31 The king of Aram commanded his thirty-two chariot commanders, saying, "Do not wage war with anyone weak or strong, but only with the king of Israel himself."* 32 It happened that when the chariot commanders saw Jehoshaphat, they said, "This must be the king of Israel!" — and they went towards him to fight him. Jehoshaphat cried out. 33 When the chariot commanders realized that he was not the king of Israel,* they turned away from him.

22:34. See II Kings 5:1.

22:35. Ahab had himself propped up so that his soldiers would not be demoralized and flee.

22:38. See 21:19.

22:39. See note to 14:19.

22:46. See II Chronicles 17:1-21:1.

22:48. See II Samuel 8:14. This fact is emphasized here because, under Jehoshaphat's son Jehoram, Edom rebelled and appointed their own king (see II Kings 8:20; Rashi).

22:49. See 10:22.

22:50. In punishment for allying himself with the wicked Ahaziah, Jehoshaphat's ships broke down (II Chronicles 20:37). For this reason Jehoshaphat refused Ahaziah's offer to join forces again.

34 A man [of Aram] drew his bow aimlessly, yet hit the king of Israel between the joints of his armor. [The king] said to his driver, "Reverse your hand and take me out of the camp, for I am wounded."* 35 The war intensified on that day, and the king was propped up in his chariot in the presence of Aram. He died in the evening, the blood of the wound spilling into the bosom of the chariot.*

36 The call went out in the camp as the sun was setting, saying, "Every man back to his city and his land!"

His ignominious end

37 The king had died and was brought to Samaria, and they buried the king in Samaria. 38 *[The driver] rinsed out the chariot at the pool of Samaria; the dogs licked up [the king's] blood, and the harlots bathed [in it] — like the word of HASHEM that He had spoken.

39 *The rest of the deeds of Ahab and all that he did, and the ivory house that he built, and all the cities which he built — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. 40 Ahab lay with his forefathers, and Ahaziah his son reigned in his place.

AHAZIAH, KING OF ISRAEL
22:40—II 1:18
(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

41 Jehoshaphat son of Asa had become king over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab, king of Israel. 42 Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah daughter of Shilhi. 43 He followed completely the way of his father Asa; he did not deviate from it, doing what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM. 44 But they did not remove the high places; the people still slaughtered and burnt sacrifices at the high places. 45 And Jehoshaphat made peace with the king of Israel.

Jehoshaphat's righteous reign

46 *The rest of the deeds of Jehoshaphat and the acts of might that he did, and how he waged wars — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. 47 Whatever prostitution was left from the days of his father Asa, he eradicated from the land. 48 *There was [still] no king in Edom; a commissioner [from Judah] ruled. 49 Jehoshaphat built Tarshish ships to travel to Ophir for gold, but he did not go, because the ships broke down at Etzion-geber.* 50 *Then Ahaziah son of Ahab said to Jehoshaphat, "Let my servants travel together with your servants in ships," but Jehoshaphat did not consent.

51 Jehoshaphat lay with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers in the city of David his forefather; his son Jehoram reigned in his place.

Ahaziah emulates Ahab

52 Ahaziah son of Ahab became king over Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel for two years. 53 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, and he went in the way of his father and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin. 54 He worshiped the Baal and prostrated himself to it, and he angered HASHEM, God of Israel, like all that his father had done.

ELIJAH THE PROPHET
1:1—2:11

1 *Moab rebelled against Israel after Ahab's death.

2 Ahaziah fell through the balustrade of his upper-chamber in Samaria, and took ill. He sent messengers, saying to them, "Go inquire of Baal-zebub

II Kings

According to the masoretic tradition, the "books" of I Kings and II Kings are actually one long book; their designation as two separate books is of non-Jewish origin. Thus, in the total of the twenty-four books of Tanach, all of Kings is counted as a single book. The same applies to the "books" of Samuel and Chronicles. However, for the convenience of the reader, we refer to chapters and verses in the familiar way, e.g. II Kings 3:10.

1:1. This provides the background for a punishment to be meted out to Ahaziah. It is discussed more fully in Chapter 3.

1:10. Though the captain addressed Elijah as Man of God, he spoke peremptorily and impudently, suggesting that his first loyalty was to the idol (see below). By calling for Heavenly assistance, Elijah left it to God to judge whether or not the men deserved to die.

1:15. Since the angel appeared for the first time at this juncture, it is clear that the first two troops intended to harm Elijah, thus explaining why they deserved to die.

1:18. See note to I Kings 14:19.

the god of Ekron, whether I will recover from this illness."

Elijah intercepts Ahaziah's messenger

3 An angel of HASHEM then said to Elijah the Tishbite, "Arise and go up towards the messengers of the king of Samaria and speak to them, 'Is there no God in Israel that you go to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? 4 Therefore, thus said HASHEM [of Ahaziah]: The bed onto which you have climbed — you shall never go down from it, for you shall surely die.' " Elijah then set off.

5 The messengers returned to [Ahaziah], and he asked them, "Why have you returned?"

6 They answered him, "A man came up toward us and said to us, 'Go and return to the king who sent you, and speak to him: Thus said HASHEM*: Is there no God in Israel that you send to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore, the bed onto which you have climbed — you shall never go down from it, for you shall surely die.' "*

Ahaziah identifies him

7 He asked them, "What is the appearance of the man who came up towards you, and spoke these words to you?"

8 They said to him, "He was a hairy man, with a leather belt girded on his waist." [Ahaziah] said, "He is Elijah the Tishbite!"

9 So [Ahaziah] dispatched to him a captain of fifty, along with his fifty [men]. He came up to [Elijah], and he was sitting at the top of a mountain; he said to him, "Man of God, the king has spoken: Come down!"

Elijah is saved from the pursuers

10 Elijah responded and spoke to the captain of the fifty, "If I am a 'Man of God' let a fire descend from Heaven and consume you and your fifty [men]!" A fire then descended from Heaven and consumed him and his fifty [men].* 11 [Ahaziah] repeated and sent another captain of fifty, along with his fifty [men], to him. He spoke up and said to [Elijah], "Man of God, thus said the king: Come down quickly!"

12 Elijah responded and spoke to them, "If I am a 'Man of God,' let a fire descend from Heaven and consume you and your fifty [men]!" The fire of God then descended from Heaven and consumed him and his fifty [men]. 13 [Ahaziah] repeated and sent a third captain of fifty [men], along with his fifty men. This third captain of fifty went up, arrived, and fell on his knees in front of Elijah and entreated him and spoke to him, "Man of God, please let my soul and the souls of these fifty servants of yours be worthy in your eyes! 14 Behold, a fire has descended from Heaven and consumed the [first] two captains of fifty, along with their [groups of] fifty; but now, may my soul be worthy in your eyes!"

Elijah faces Ahaziah

15 An angel of HASHEM then said to Elijah, "Go down with him; do not fear him." So he arose and went down with him to the king.*

16 [Elijah] said to [Ahaziah], "Thus said HASHEM*: Because you sent messengers to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron — is there no God in Israel of Whose word to inquire? Therefore, the bed onto which you have climbed — you shall never go down from it, for you shall surely die."*

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

17 [Ahaziah] died, in accordance with the word of HASHEM that Elijah had spoken. [His brother] Jehoram reigned in his place, in the second year of Jehoram son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, for [Ahaziah] had no son.

18 The rest of Ahaziah's deeds that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. *

2:2. Out of modesty, Elijah did not want anyone present when he was to ascend to Heaven.

2:10. If Elisha was spiritually elevated enough to see Elijah's miraculous ascent to Heaven, it would be an indication that his request would be granted.

2:14. Elisha meant, "Is He with me as He was with my master?" In reply, the river split for him, as it had for Elijah.

2:16. Although the disciples knew that Elijah was to be "taken away" on that day (vv. 3,5), they thought that he might merely have been transported to some other place (cf. I Kings 18:12), where he might yet be found (Radak).

2 [1] It happened when HASHEM took Elijah up to Heaven in a whirlwind: Elijah went Elijah's ascent to heaven with Elisha from Gilgal, [2] Elijah said to Elisha, "Please stay here, for HASHEM has sent me to Beth-el."*

But Elisha said, "[I swear] as HASHEM lives and by your life that I shall not leave you!" So they went down to Beth-el.

[3] The prophets' disciples who had been in Beth-el came out to Elisha and said to him, "Did you know that today HASHEM is taking your master from upon your head?"

He said, "I know also. Be silent!"

[4] Elijah then said to him, "Elisha, please stay here, for HASHEM has sent me to Jericho."

But he said, "[I swear] as HASHEM lives and by your life that I shall not leave you!" So they came to Jericho.

[5] The prophets' disciples who had been in Jericho approached Elisha and said to him, "Did you know that today HASHEM is taking your master from upon your head?"

He said, "I know also. Be silent!"

[6] Elijah then said to him, "Please stay here, for HASHEM has sent me to the Jordan."

Elijah and Elisha at the Jordan He said, "[I swear] as HASHEM lives and by your life that I shall not leave you!" So they both went. [7] Fifty men of the prophets' disciples went, standing opposite them at a distance, and the two of them stood at the Jordan.

[8] Elijah took his mantle and folded it over, and struck the water, which split apart this way and that, and they both crossed over on dry land. [9] As they were crossing, Elijah said to Elisha, "Request what I should do for you before I am taken away from you."

Elisha's request Elisha said, "May twice as much as your spirit be mine."

[10] [Elijah] said, "You have made a difficult request. If you see me taken from you, it shall be so for you; but if you do not, then it will not happen."*

Elijah ascends to Heaven [11] As they were walking and conversing, behold! — a chariot of fire and horses of fire [appeared] and separated between the two of them, and Elijah ascended to Heaven in the whirlwind. [12] Elisha was watching and shouting, "Father! Father! Israel's chariot and horsemen!" And then he saw him no more. He took hold of his garments and rent them into two pieces.

ELISHA THE PROPHET 2:12-13:21

[13] He picked up Elijah's mantle, which had fallen from him, and he returned and stood at the bank of the Jordan. [14] He took Elijah's mantle, which had fallen from him, and struck the water, and said, "Where is HASHEM, the God of Elijah?"* He too struck the water and it split apart this way and that, and Elisha crossed over.

The spirit rests upon Elisha [15] The prophets' disciples who were from Jericho saw him from a distance and said, "The spirit of Elijah has rested upon Elisha!" They came towards him and prostrated themselves to the ground before him. [16] They said to him, "Behold, among your servants there are fifty able-bodied men. Let them go and search for your master; perhaps a spirit of HASHEM has carried him off and hurled him onto one of the mountains or one of the valleys."*

A futile search But [Elisha] said, "Don't send them." [17] They badgered him until it was embarrassing [to refuse] so he said, "Send [them]"; they sent fifty men, who searched

2:24. The Talmud (Sotah 46b) explains that Elisha cursed them because he "saw" that they were degenerate and depraved, and he foresaw that no good would ever come out of them. Nevertheless, Elisha was later punished for treating them so harshly.

3:3. Jehoram maintained the worship of Jeroboam's golden calves, for fear that if he acknowledged the validity of the Temple in Jerusalem, his kingdom would disintegrate (Rashi).

3:5. The rebellion had begun earlier (1:1).

for three days but could not find him. 18 They returned to him — he was staying in Jericho — and he said to them, "Did I not say to you, 'Do not go!'?"

Supernatural powers

19 The people of the city told Elisha, "Behold, living in this city is pleasant, as my master can see, but the water is bad, making the land deadly." 20 He said, "Get me a new jar and put salt in it," and they brought it to him. 21 He went out to the source of the water and threw salt there, and he said, "Thus said HASHEM: I have cured this water; there shall no longer be from it death and bereavement." 22 So the water became cured, until this day, like the word of Elisha that he had spoken.

23 He went up from there to Beth-el. As he was going up on the road, some young lads came out from the city and mocked him, saying to him, "Go on up, Baldhead! Go on up, Baldhead!" 24 He turned around and saw them and cursed them in the name of HASHEM. Two bears then came out of the forest and tore apart forty-two of the lads.*

25 He went from there to Mount Carmel; and from there he returned to Samaria.

JEHORAM, KING OF ISRAEL 3:1-9:24
(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 Jehoram son of Ahab had become king over Israel in Samaria in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, and he reigned for twelve years. 2 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, albeit not like his father and mother; he removed the pillar of the Baal that his father had erected. 3 However, he clung to the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin; he did not deviate from them.*

4 Mesha, king of Moab, was a herdsman; he paid the king of Israel a hundred thousand fatted sheep and a hundred thousand woolly rams. 5 *It happened that when Ahab died, the king of Moab had rebelled against the king of Israel. 6 King Jehoram went out of Samaria that day and mobilized all of Israel.* 7 He went and sent to Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, saying, "The king of Moab has rebelled against me; will you go to war with me against Moab?" He said, "I will go up; I [will be] like you; my people [shall be] like your people, my horses [shall be] like your horses."

His alliance with Judah

8 He then asked, "By which route shall we go up?"

He replied, "By way of the Wilderness of Edom."

9 The king of Israel, the king of Judah, and the king of Edom then went and traveled round about for seven days; but there was no more water for the camp and for the animals that were with them. 10 The king of Israel then said, "Alas, HASHEM has summoned these three kings in order to deliver them into the hands of Moab!"

11 Jehoshaphat said, "Is there no prophet of HASHEM here, that we may inquire of HASHEM through him?"

One of the servants of the king of Israel spoke up and said, "Elisha son of Shaphat is here, who poured water over the hands of Elijah!"

Jehoshaphat consults Elisha . . .

12 Jehoshaphat said, "The word of HASHEM is [indeed] with him." So they went down to him — the king of Israel, Jehoshaphat, and the king of Edom.

13 Elisha said to the king of Israel, "What have we to do with one another? Go to your father's prophets or your mother's prophets!"

The king of Israel said to him, "Do not [speak thus]! For HASHEM has summoned these three kings to deliver them into the hand of Moab!"

14 Elisha said, "As HASHEM, Master of Legions, lives, before Whom I stand,

3:6. On the day Elisha arrived in Samaria (see 2:25; Metzudos).

3:15. Because Elisha had become agitated over Jehoram's hypocrisy, the prophetic spirit departed from him. The musician improved his mood, so that he could receive the Divine presence again (Rashi).

3:21. From the simplest soldier to the most skilled warriors.

3:22. Since that area had always been an arid ravine, it never dawned on the Moabites that they were looking at a reflection from water (Rashi).

3:25. They took so many stones from the walls to clutter up the land that the only part of the wall that was left was the mortar that had held its stones together. Then, the "shooters," who fling rocks by means of catapults, slingshots, etc., destroyed whatever was left of the wall (Rashi).

3:27. Mesha slew the firstborn of the Edomite king

[I swear] that were it not for the presence of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, whom I respect, I would not look at you nor see you! 15 And now, bring me a musician." It happened that as the musician played, the hand of* HASHEM came upon him.

16 He said, "Thus said HASHEM*: This valley shall be made into many pools.* 17 For thus said HASHEM*: You will not see wind and you will not see rain, but that valley will be filled with water, and you, your cattle, and your animals will drink.*

. . . who prophesies victory

18 But this is yet trivial in the eyes of HASHEM*; for He will [also] deliver Moab into your hands.* 19 You will smite every fortified city and every major city; you will fell every goodly tree and stop up all springs of water, and you will clutter up every goodly piece of land with stones." 20 It happened in the morning, when the meal-offering is brought up, that water began to come from the direction of Edom, and the land was filled with the water.

21 All of Moab heard that the kings had come up to wage war against them, and they were mustered — from everyone who girds a [sword-]belt and upward — and they stood at the border.* 22 *When they arose early in the morning, as the sun shone upon the water, from afar the Moabites saw the water as red as blood. 23 They exclaimed, "This is blood! The kings must have drawn swords and smitten one another! So now — Moab, to the spoils!" 24 So they entered the camp of Israel; the Israelites rose up and smote Moab, and they fled from them, they struck at them, repeatedly smiting Moab. 25 *They destroyed the cities; into every goodly piece of land, each man threw his stone and filled it; every spring of water they stopped up, and every goodly tree they felled; the only "stones" they left in the wall was the mortar. The shooters then went around and destroyed it. 26 When the king of Moab saw that the war was too difficult for him, he took seven hundred swordsmen with him to break through to [attack] the king of Edom, but they could not do so. 27 He then took his firstborn son, who was to reign after him, and sacrificed him as a burnt-offering upon the wall, and a great wrath took effect against Israel; so they turned away from [Mesha] and returned to the land.*

4 1 One woman from among the wives of the prophets' disciples cried out to Elisha, saying, "Your servant, my husband, has died, and you know that your servant feared God. But now the creditor has come to take my two sons to be his slaves."

A widow's plight

2 Elisha said to her, "What can I do for you? Tell me, what have you in the house?"

She said, "Your maidservant has nothing in the house except for a jar of oil."

An unending flow of oil

3 He said, "Go, borrow vessels for yourself from the outside, from all your neighbors — empty vessels; do not be sparing. 4 Then go in and shut the door behind you and behind your sons. Pour [oil] into all these vessels, and carry away the full ones."

5 She went from him and shut the door behind her and behind her children. They brought [vessels] to her and she poured. 6 When all the containers were full she said to her son, "Bring me another vessel."

He said to her, "There is not another vessel," and the oil stopped.

(whom he had apparently captured and for whose sake the Edomites joined Israel against Moab) and the Edomites were furious with their erstwhile Israelite allies for not having prevented this barbaric murder (Radak). Then the tide of war suddenly turned against the Israelite army and they abandoned the siege of Moab.

4:13. Elisha called her to express thanks for her hospitality (v. 12); after she left, he instructed Gehazi to put this question to her (Abarbanel). She said, "I have no trouble with anyone that requires intervention with the authorities" (Rashi).

4:23. It was customary to visit great men on such days, for inspiration and instruction (Ralbag).

7 She came and told the man of God, and he said, "Go sell the oil and pay your creditor, and you and your sons will live on the remainder."

8 It happened one day that Elisha traveled to Shunem. There was a prominent woman there and she importuned him to eat a meal; and so it was, whenever he passed by, he would turn in there to eat a meal. 9 She [once] said to her husband, "Behold, I now know that he is a holy man of God who passes by us regularly.

The Shunammite woman's hospitality

10 Let us now make a small, walled attic and place there for him a bed, a table, a chair, and a lamp, so that whenever he comes to us, he can turn in there."

11 It happened one day that he arrived there, and he turned in to the attic and lay down there. 12 He said to Gehazi his attendant, "Summon that Shunammite woman." He summoned her and she stood before him. 13 He then said to [Gehazi], "Please say to her, 'Behold, you have undertaken all this exertion on our behalf — what [favor] can be done for you? Can something be said on your behalf to the king or the army commander?' "

She replied, "I dwell among my people."*

14 So he said [to Gehazi], "What can be done for her?"

Gehazi said, "Actually, she has no child, and her husband is old."

Elisha's blessing of a son . . .

15 He said, "Summon her"; so he summoned her and she stood in the doorway. 16 [Elisha] said, "At this season next year you will be embracing a son."

She said, "Do not, my master, O man of God, do not disappoint your maidservant!"

17 The woman conceived and bore a son at that season the next year, as Elisha had told her.

18 The boy grew up. It happened one day, he went out to his father, to the reapers [in the field]. 19 He said to his father, "My head! My head!"

[His father] said to the attendant, "Carry him to his mother."

. . . who suddenly dies

20 He carried him and brought him to his mother; he sat in her lap until noon, and then he died. 21 She went up and laid him on the bed of the man of God, shut [the door] upon him and left.

22 She then called her husband and said, "Please send me one of the attendants and one of the donkeys, so that I can hurry to the man of God and return."

23 He said, "Why are you going to him today? It is not a New Moon or a Sabbath!"*

She replied, "It is well."

She goes to Elisha

24 She saddled the donkey and said to her attendant, "Lead and go, and do not impede me from riding unless I tell you." 25 She set out and came to the man of God at Mount Carmel.

When the man of God saw her from afar, he said to Gehazi, his attendant, "Behold — it is that Shunammite woman! 26 Now, please run toward her and say to her, 'Is it well with you? Is it well with your husband? Is it well with the boy?' "

She replied [to Gehazi], "It is well."

The prophet's compassion

27 She came before the man of God at the mountain and grasped his legs. Gehazi approached to push her away, but the man of God said, "Leave her, for her soul is bitter within her, HASHEM has hidden it from me and not told me."

28 She said, "Did I request a son of my master? Did I not say, 'Do not mislead me!'?"

29 He said to Gehazi, "Gird your loins; take my staff in your hand and go. If you meet a man, do not greet him, and if a man greets you, do not respond to him. Place my staff upon the lad's face."

הַזֶּה אֵלֶיךָ הִנֵּה שָׁלַחְתִּי אֵלֶיךָ אֶת־נַעֲמָן עַבְדִּי וַאֲסַפְתּוֹ מִצָּרַעְתּוֹ׃

4:39. They did not realize that the mushrooms were poisonous.

5:1. He was the unnamed archer who slew Ahab (see I Kings 22:34; Rashi).

Regarding the affliction of the מְצֹרָע (here rendered leper), see Leviticus, Ch. 13.

30 The lad's mother said, "[I swear] as HASHEM lives and [I swear] as you live, I will not leave you!" So he arose and went after her.

31 Gehazi went ahead of them and placed the staff on the lad's face, but there was no sound and nothing was heard. He returned toward [Elisha] and told him, saying, "The lad has not awakened."

32 Elisha came into the house and behold — the lad was dead, laid out on his bed. 33 He entered and shut the door behind them both, and prayed to HASHEM.

Elisha returns the child to life

34 Then he went up and lay upon the boy, placing his mouth upon his mouth, his eyes upon his eyes, and his palms upon his palms. He stretched himself out over him, and warmed the flesh of the boy. 35 He withdrew and walked through the house, once this way and once that way, then he went up and stretched himself over him. The lad sneezed seven times, and the lad opened his eyes.

36 [Elisha] called Gehazi and said, "Summon this Shunammite woman." He summoned her and she came to him; he said, "Pick up your son!" 37 She came and fell at his feet and bowed down to the ground; she then picked up her son and left.

Food for the starving prophets

38 Elisha then returned to Gilgal, and there was a famine in the land. The prophets' disciples were sitting before him. He said to his attendant, "Put up the large pot and cook a stew for the prophets' disciples."

39 *One of them went out to the field to gather herbs; he came across a vine in the field and picked [enough] from it [and from the] wild mushrooms [around it] to fill up his garment. He came and cut [them] into the pot of stew, for they did not recognize [these fruits]. 40 They poured it out for the men to eat, and it happened as they ate the soup, they shouted; they said, "There is death in the pot, O man of God!" and they could not eat.

41 Elisha said, "Get some flour!" and he threw it into the pot; and he said, "Pour for the people and let them eat"; and there was no longer anything harmful in the pot.

42 A man came from Baal-shalishah, and he brought to the man of God food from the first reaping: twenty loaves of barley bread — and some fresh kernels in their husks. [Elisha] said, "Give it to the people that they may eat."

43 His servant said, "How can I place this before a hundred people?"

But he said, "Give it to the people and let them eat, for thus said HASHEM*: Eat and leave over!"* 44 He placed it before them, and they ate and left over, as the word of HASHEM.

Naaman the leper seeks a cure in the Land of Israel

1 Naaman, the commander of the army of the king of Aram, was an eminent man before his master and well honored, for through him HASHEM *had granted victory to Aram. The man was a great warrior — a leper. 2 Aram had gone out in raiding parties, and had captured a young girl from the Land of Israel, and she was [serving] before Naaman's wife. 3 She said to her mistress, "My master's prayers [should be brought] before the prophet who is in Samaria; for then he will heal him from his leprosy."

4 So [Naaman] went and told his master, saying, "Such and such spoke the girl who is from the Land of Israel."

5 The king of Aram said, "Go and approach [him], and I will send a letter to the king of Israel." He went and took in his hand ten talents of silver, six thousand [pieces of] gold and ten changes of clothes.

6 He brought to the king of Israel the letter which said, ". . . and now, when this letter reaches you, behold I have sent my servant Naaman to you, that you should heal him from his leprosy."

5:17. Naaman requested permission to take a large amount of earth from Elisha's property (Ralbag) in order to build an altar to Elisha's God in his own town.

The Jewish king's fear

7 When the king of Israel read the letter, he rent his garments and said, "Am I God that I can take and give life, that this person sends me [instructions] to heal a man of his leprosy? Understand and realize that he seeks a pretext against me!"

Elisha sends for Naaman

8 When Elisha, the man of God, heard that the king of Israel had rent his garments, he sent word to the king, saying, "Why did you rend your garments? Let him come to me now, and he will realize that there is a prophet in Israel!"

9 Naaman came with his horses and chariot and stood at the entrance of Elisha's house. 10 Elisha sent him a messenger, saying, "Go and bathe seven times in the Jordan; your flesh will become normal again and you will be cleansed."

Arrogant Naaman . . .

11 Naaman was enraged and left. He said, "Behold, I said [to myself] that he would surely come out to me, and stand and call in the Name of HASHEM, his God, and wave his hand over the [diseased] area — and the leper would be healed! 12 Are not Amanah and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? Do I not always bathe in them? Have I become cleansed?" Then he turned and went in a fury.

. . . accedes and is cured

13 But his servants approached and spoke to him, and said, "My father, had the prophet told you to do a difficult thing, would you not have done it? How much more so [now] that he has told you 'bathe and become cleansed.' " 14 So he went down and immersed himself seven times in the Jordan, in accordance with the word of the man of God, and his flesh became like the flesh of a young boy, and he became cleansed.

Naaman's respect for Elisha

15 He returned to the man of God, he and his entire retinue. He arrived and stood before him and said, "Behold, now I know that there is no God in the whole world except in Israel! And now, please accept a tribute from your servant."

16 But [Elisha] answered, "As HASHEM before Whom I stood lives, [I swear that] I will not accept." He urged him to accept, but he refused.

17 *Naaman said, "At least, let there be given to your servant a mule-team's load of earth, * for your servant will never again offer a burnt-offering or any sacrifice to other gods, but only to HASHEM.* 18 May HASHEM forgive your servant for this [one] thing, however: When my master comes to the temple of Rimmon to bow down there, he leans on my arm, so I must bow in the temple of Rimmon; when I bow down in the temple of Rimmon, may HASHEM forgive your servant for this [one] thing."

19 He said to him, "Go to peace." And [Naaman] traveled a short distance from him.

Gehazi's greed . . .

20 Gehazi, the attendant of Elisha, the man of God, said to himself, "Behold, my master has spared this Aramean Naaman by not accepting from his hand what he had brought. As HASHEM lives, [I swear] that I shall run after him and take something from him."

21 So Gehazi chased after Naaman. Naaman saw him running after him, and he alighted from the chariot to greet him, and said, "Is [all] well?"

22 He said, "[All is] well. My master sent me saying, 'Just now two young men of the prophets' disciples have arrived to me from Mount Ephraim. Please give them a talent of silver and two changes of clothing.' "

23 Naaman said, "Please! Take two talents!" He prevailed upon him, and he wrapped up two talents of silver in two pouches, and [took] two changes of clothing, and gave [it] to his two attendants, who carried it before [Gehazi]. 24 When they came to a secluded place he took [it] from their hands and hid [it] in his house. He then sent off the men, and they went.

5:26. Through prophetic vision, my heart knew exactly what happened (Targum). Gehazi's greed had detracted from the sanctification of God's Name that had resulted from Elisha's unselfish aid to the ailing stranger.

5:27. Gehazi's children were apparently guilty of complicity in his deeds (Radak).

6:5. And I cannot afford to pay for it.

6:10. After the king's scouts verified Elisha's intelligence reports (Rashi), the Israelites eluded the ambush several times.

25 He then came and stood before his master. Elisha said to him, "Where are you coming from, Gehazi?"

He said, "Your servant did not go here or there."

. . . causes his expulsion

26 [Elisha] then said to him, "Did my heart not go along, * when a man turned aside from upon his chariot to greet you! Is this a [proper] time to accept money [with which] to buy clothing, olive trees, vineyards, sheep, cattle, slaves and maid-servants? 27 Naaman's leprosy shall therefore cleave to you and to your children * forever!" When [Gehazi] left his presence, he was [white] as snow with leprosy.

1 The prophets' disciples [once] said to Elisha, "Behold, the place where we are dwelling before you is too crowded for us. 2 Let us go to the Jordan and each one of us will take one beam, and there we will make ourselves a place to dwell."

[Elisha] replied, "Go."

3 One of them said, "Please agree to go with your servants." [Elisha] replied, "I will go."

The floating axehead

4 So he went with them, and they arrived at the Jordan and cut down the trees. 5 It happened as one of them was felling a beam that the iron [axehead] fell into the water. He cried out and said, "Woe is me, my master, it is borrowed!" *

6 The man of God asked him, "Where did it fall?" and he showed him the place. [Elisha] then cut a piece of wood and threw it there, and the blade floated up. 7 He said, "Pick it up for yourself!" and he stretched out his hand and took it.

Elisha warns against Aram's ambush

8 The king of Aram was fighting against Israel. He took counsel with his servants, saying, "My encampments will be in such and such a place." 9 The man of God sent [word] to the king of Israel, saying, "Beware of passing by this place, for that is where Aram is lurking." 10 The king of Israel sent [scouts] to the place about which the man of God had spoken to him and had warned him, and he took care [to avoid] that place. [This happened] not [just] once and not [just] twice. *

11 The heart of the king of Aram became perturbed over this matter. He summoned his servants and said to them, "Won't you tell me which of our people is [reporting] to the king of Israel?"

12 One of his servants said, "It is not so, my master the king! Rather, Elisha, the prophet who is in Israel, tells the king of Israel [even] the things that you discuss in your bedroom."

Aram seeks to capture him

13 He said, "Go and see where he is, and I will send [men] and capture him."

It was told to him, saying, "He is in Dothan." 14 He sent horses and chariot and a large army there; they came at night and surrounded the city.

15 The attendant of the man of God was early to arise and he set out, when behold — an army was surrounding the city, with horse and chariot. His attendant said to him, "Alas, my master, what shall we do?"

The disciple sees the heavenly army

16 [Elisha] said, "Fear not, for we have more [forces] with us than they have with them!" 17 Elisha then prayed and said, "HASHEM, please open up his eyes that he may see!" HASHEM then opened up the attendant's eyes and he saw that, behold, the mountain was full of horses and a chariot of fire, all around Elisha.

Elisha leads Aram to defeat

18 [The Arameans] then descended upon him; Elisha prayed to HASHEM, and said, "Please strike this nation with blindness!" And He struck them with blindness, according to the word of Elisha. 19 Elisha then said to them, "This is not the [right] way, and this is not the [right] city! Follow me and I will lead you to the man whom you seek," and he led them to Samaria. 20 It happened when they arrived at Samaria that Elisha said, "HASHEM, open the eyes of these [people] that they may see!" HASHEM opened up their eyes and they realized that there they were in 6:22. It is unscrupulous to kill unarmed prisoners of war (Rashi).

6:23. The Arameans abandoned their ambushes and terrorist forays. As the next verse attests, however, they later turned to conventional warfare (Ralbag).

6:25. A natural famine (see 4:38 and 8:1) was further aggravated by the siege (Abarbanel).

6:27. At first, he thought the woman was appealing to him for nonexistent food (Rashi).

6:30. The king was wearing sackcloth in a gesture of repentance and contrition, but the royal protocol required that this not be displayed in public. Then, when he tore his outer garment in grief upon hearing the woman's shocking story, the sackcloth was revealed.

6:31. Elisha could have ended the famine by praying to God, as Elijah had once done (I Kings, Ch. 18); the king felt that he deserved to die for ignoring the people's suffering (Rashi). Alternatively, the king blamed Elisha for not having allowed him to end the Arameans' threat by killing them when he had had the chance (v. 21).

6:32. Seeing prophetically that King Jehoram was stealthily following his messenger in order to hear what the prophet would say, Elisha instructed the elders to hold the door shut until the king arrived. Elisha wanted to address Jehoram directly (Abarbanel).

6:33. Despite his rage at Elisha (v. 31), Jehoram had an underlying faith in God; in verse 30, he was praying. Now he exclaimed that the tragedy, including the cannibalism, the midst of Samaria.

21 The king of Israel said to Elisha when he saw them, "Shall I strike [them] down? Shall I strike [them] down, my father?"

22 But he said, "Do not strike [them] down! Would you strike down people whom you have captured with your sword and your bow? Rather, place food and water before them. Let them eat and drink and then return to their masters."* 23 *So he prepared a large meal for them, and they ate and drank; and he sent them away and they went to their masters. And the bands of Arameans no longer came into the Land of Israel.

Siege, famine . . .

24 It happened after that that Ben-hadad, the king of Aram, gathered together his entire camp, and he went up and laid siege to Samaria. 25 *There was a great famine in Samaria, and — behold! — they were besieging it, until a donkey's head cost eighty silver pieces and a quarter of a kav of pigeon's dung cost five silver pieces.

26 The king of Israel was [once] passing on the [city] wall, and a woman called out to him, "Help, my lord the king!"

27 *He replied, "If HASHEM does not help you, how shall I help you? From the threshing floor or from the winepress?!" 28 The king then said to her, "What troubles you?"

and shocking cannibalism

She said, "This woman said to me, 'Give over your son and we will eat him today, and we will eat my son tomorrow.' 29 So we cooked my son and ate him, and I said to her on the next day, 'Give over your son and let us eat him' — but she has hidden her son!"

The king blames Elisha

30 *It happened when the king heard the woman's words that he rent his garments while he was passing on the wall, and the people saw that there was sackcloth upon his flesh underneath. 31 *He said, "Such may HASHEM do to me and such may He do further, if the head of Elisha son of Shaphat remains on him today!"

32 *Elisha was sitting in his house, and the elders were sitting with him, [when the king] sent a man ahead of him. Before the messenger had come to him, [Elisha] said to the elders, "Have you seen that this son of a murderer has sent to remove my head? See to it that when the messenger comes you close the door and push him out with the door; for surely the sound of his master's feet is behind him."

33 *As he was speaking with them behold, the messenger was coming down to him. Then [the king] said, "Behold, this misfortune is from HASHEM; what hope can I have from HASHEM?"

Elisha guarantees a surfeit of food

1 Elisha then said, "Hear the word of HASHEM! Thus said HASHEM: At this time tomorrow, a se'ah of fine flour [will be bought] for one shekel and two se'ahs of barley for one shekel at the gateway of Samaria!"*

2 The king's captain, upon whose arm he was leaning, answered the man of God and said, "Even if HASHEM were to make windows in the heavens, can this thing happen?"

[Elisha] replied, "You will see it with your own eyes, but you will not eat from it!"

3 There were four men who were lepers at the city gate. They said one to the other, "Why should we sit here until we die?* 4 If we propose to enter the city, was the result of his and his people's wickedness (see Deuteronomy 28:53). If so, he despaired, what hope could he have for salvation?

7:1. Six kav. Opinions of the modern equivalent of a kav range between 1.5 and 2.65 quarts.

7:3. For a discussion of this disease, see the introduction to Leviticus, Ch. 13. People thus afflicted may not enter any walled city in Israel (Leviticus 13:46).

7:13. The horsemen we send out will be in no greater danger from the Arameans than if they remain with the starving, dying multitudes in the city (Rashi). The king agreed to risk only two men.

8:1. See 4:8-37.

there is a famine in the city and we will die there; and if we remain here we will die. So let us now go and throw ourselves upon the camp of Aram; if they let us live we will live, and if they put us to death we will die."

Jewish lepers find an abandoned camp . . .

5 So they arose at twilight to go to the Aramean camp and they arrived at the edge of the Aramean camp, and behold — not a man was there! 6 HASHEM had caused the Aramean camp to hear the sound of chariot, the sound of horse, the sound of a great army; and they said to one another, "Behold, the king of Israel has hired against us the Hittite kings and the Egyptian kings to come upon us!" 7 So they arose and fled in the twilight; they abandoned their tents, their horses and their donkeys, [leaving] the camp just as it was, and they fled for their lives.

8 These lepers arrived at the edge of the camp. They came to one tent and ate and drank. They carried from there silver, gold and clothing, which they went and hid. Then they returned and went to another tent, and carried [loot] away from there, which they went and hid.

9 Then they said, one to the other, "We are not acting properly — today is a day of [good] tidings, yet we remain silent! If we wait until the light of dawn we will be considered sinful. So now come, let us go and report to the king's palace!"

. . . and report to their brethren

10 They came and called out to the gate patrol of the city and told them, saying, "We came to the Aramean camp and behold — not a man or a human sound is there; only each horse is tethered and each donkey is tethered, and the tents are [abandoned] as they were!" 11 The gatekeepers announced it, and it was related inside the king's palace.

The king suspects a trick

12 The king arose in the night and said to his servants, "Let me tell you what Aram has done to us. They knew that we are famished, so they left the camp to conceal themselves in the field, saying, 'When they leave the city we will capture them alive, and then we will enter the city.' "

13 One of his servants spoke up and said, "Let them take five of the remaining horses that are still in [the city] — behold, they are like the entire multitude of Israel that still survives within; behold, they are like the entire multitude of Israel that has perished. * Let us send [them] and we will see."

14 They chose two horsemen, and the king sent them after the Aramean camp, saying, "Go and see." 15 They followed their [tracks] until the Jordan and behold, the whole way was filled with clothing and gear that Aram had thrown away in their haste. The messengers returned and told the king. 16 The people went out and plundered the Aramean camp; a se'ah of fine flour cost a shekel and two se'ahs of barley cost a shekel, like the word of HASHEM.

Abundant food

17 The king had appointed the captain on whose arm he had leaned to be in charge of the gate, and the people trampled him to death in the gateway, just as the man of God had spoken — as he had spoken when the king had come down to him. 18 It had happened that when the man of God had spoken to the king, saying, "Two se'ahs of barley [will be bought] for a shekel and a se'ah of fine flour [will be bought] for a shekel at this time tomorrow in the gate of Samaria," 19 that captain had answered the man of God and said, "Even if HASHEM were to make windows in the heavens, could this thing happen?" And [Elisha] had replied, "You will see it with your own eyes, but you will not eat from it!" 20 And so it happened to him, for the people trampled him in the gate, and he died.

The doubter is trampled

8 1 Elisha had spoken to the woman whose son he had revived, * saying, "Arise and go forth, you and your household, and sojourn where you would sojourn,

8:3. Her property had apparently been usurped in her absence.

8:7. To carry out HASHEM's charge to Elijah which is found in I Kings 19:15 (Radak).

8:10. Elisha meant that under normal circumstances Ben-hadad would recover from this illness. However, he will die of other causes before he recovers.

8:11. Knowing what he was about to say, Elisha tried to hide his tears from Hazael.

8:15. Hazael told Ben-hadad that the wet blanket would lower his fever. But Hazael's true purpose was to assassinate the king (Radak).

8:16. In the fifth year of the close alliance between Jehoram son of Ahab and Jehoshaphat, (see 3:7), for HASHEM has called for a famine, and it is coming to the land for seven years.

2 So the woman arose and did as the man of God had told her, and she went with her household, and sojourned in the land of the Philistines [for] seven years. 3 *It happened at the end of seven years, the woman returned from the land of the Philistines, and she went to appeal to the king about her house and her field.

The Shunammite woman's property is stolen . . .

4 The king had been speaking with Gehazi, the attendant of the man of God, saying, "Please tell me about all the great deeds that Elisha has performed." 5 Just when [Gehazi] was telling him about how [Elisha] had revived the dead [boy], behold — the woman whose son he had revived was appealing to the king about her house and her field!

Gehazi exclaimed, "My lord, the king! This is the woman, and this is her son whom Elisha had revived!"

. . . and the king orders it returned

6 The king asked the woman, and she told him [that it was true]. The king then designated a certain servant for her, saying [to him], "Return everything that is hers, as well as all the produce of the land from the day she left the land to the present."

Ben-hadad's illness

7 Elisha went to Damascus, where Ben-hadad, king of Aram, was ill. It was told to [the king], saying, "The man of God has come here."*

8 The king said to Hazael, "Take a tribute with you and go to meet the man of God. Inquire of HASHEM through him, asking, 'Will I recover from this illness?' "

9 So Hazael went to meet [Elisha], taking as a tribute all the bounty of Damascus with him, forty camel-loads. He came and stood before him and said, "Your son Ben-hadad, the king of Aram, has sent me to you saying, 'Will I recover from this illness?' "

10 Elisha said to him, "Go say to him, 'You should indeed recover'; but in fact HASHEM has shown me that he will indeed die [from another cause]."*

11 [Elisha] turned his face aside for some time, and then the man of God cried.
12 Hazael asked him, "Why is my lord crying?"

Prophecy of Hazael's cruelty to Israel

And he replied, "Because I know what evil you will do to the Children of Israel: Their strongholds you will set on fire; their young men you will kill by the sword, their babies you will tear apart, and their pregnant women you will split open."

13 Hazael said, "But what is your servant, a dog, that he could do such a terrible deed?"

Elisha answered him, "HASHEM has shown me you as king of Aram."

14 He went from Elisha and came to his master, who said to him, "What did Elisha say to you?"

He said, "He said to me, 'You should indeed recover.' " 15 The next day [Hazael] took a cover, dipped it in water, and spread it over [Ben-hadad's] face, and he died. Hazael became king in his place.*

JEHORAM, KING OF JUDAH 8:16-24 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

16 In the fifth year of Jehoram son of Ahab king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat king of Judah — Jehoram, son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, became king.* 17 He was thirty-two years old when he reigned, and he reigned for eight years in Jerusalem. 18 He went in the way of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab had done, for Ahab's daughter had become his wife; he did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM. 19 But HASHEM did not wish to destroy Judah, for the sake of His servant David; in accordance with what He had said to him — that he would give dominion to his descendants all the days.

Jehoshaphat died. His son Jehoram succeeded as king of Judah (Ralbag).

8:20. Since the time of David, Edom had been ruled by a governor subservient to the kingdom of Judah (see II Samuel 8:14 and I Kings 22:48).

8:23. See II Chronicles, Ch. 21.

9:8. See I Samuel 25:22.

[20] In his days Edom rebelled against the rule of Judah, and they appointed a king over themselves.* [21] So Jehoram went to Zair, and [took] all his chariots with him; he rose in the night and smote Edom which had surrounded him and the chariot captains; then the people fled back to their tents. [22] But Edom rebelled against [being] under the hand of Judah to this day. Then Libnah rebelled at that time. [23] The rest of the deeds of Jehoram and all that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah.* [24] Jehoram lay with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers in the City of David; and his son Ahaziah reigned in his place.

Edom declares independence

AHAZIAH, KING OF JUDAH 8:25-9:29
(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

[25] In the twelfth year of Jehoram son of Ahab, king of Israel — Ahaziah, the son of Jehoram king of Judah, became king. [26] Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned for one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah, the [grand]daughter of Omri king of Israel. [27] He followed the way of the house of Ahab, and did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, like the house of Ahab, for he was [the son of] a [grand]son-in-law of the house of Ahab.

Jehoram is wounded in battle

[28] [Ahaziah] went with Jehoram son of Ahab to war against Hazael king of Aram at Ramoth-gilead, and the Arameans wounded Jehoram. [29] King Jehoram returned to convalesce in Jezreel from the wounds that the Arameans had inflicted upon him at Ramah as he battled against Hazael king of Aram. Ahaziah son of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to visit Jehoram son of Ahab in Jezreel, for he was ill.

Elisha sends a disciple to crown Jehu

[1] [At that time] Elisha the prophet called one of the prophets' disciples and said to him, "Gird your loins; take this jar of oil in your hand and go to Ramoth-gilead. [2] When you arrive there, find Jehu son of Jehoshaphat son of Nimshi; tell him to arise from among his colleagues and bring him into an inner chamber. [3] Then take the jar of oil and pour it on his head and say, 'Thus said HASHEM: I have anointed you king over Israel!' Then open the door and flee; do not delay."

JEHU, KING OF ISRAEL 9:4-10:36

[4] So the young man, the youthful prophet, went to Ramoth-gilead. [5] He arrived, and behold, the commanders of the army were sitting, and he said, "I have a message for you, O commander."

Jehu said, "For which of all of us?"

And he replied, "For you, O commander." [6] So he arose and went inside; [the prophet] poured the oil upon his head and said to him, "Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: I have anointed you king over the people of HASHEM, over Israel. [7] You shall strike down your masters, the house of Ahab; then I shall be avenged of the blood of My servants the prophets and the blood of all the servants of HASHEM, from the hand of Jezebel. [8] The entire house of Ahab shall perish; I shall obliterate male offspring* from Ahab, and anyone who survives or remains anywhere in Israel. [9] And I shall make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat and like the house of Baasha son of Ahijah. [10] And Jezebel shall be eaten by the dogs in the portion of Jezreel, and no one will bury [her]." He then opened the door and fled.

The disciple foretells the bloody end of Ahab's house

[11] Jehu went out to his master's servants, and one of them said to him, "Is all well? Why did this lunatic come to you?"

And he said to them, "You know that man and his prattle."

[12] But they said, "It's a lie! Tell us now!"

9:13. The garments formed a makeshift throne (Metzudos).

9:21. See I Kings 21:1-22.

He replied, "Such and such did he say to me, saying, 'Thus said HASHEM: I have anointed you king over Israel.' " 13 Hurriedly, each of them took his garment and put it underneath him, on the top of the steps; * they sounded the shofar and said, "Jehu has become king!"

Jehu embarks on his mission

14 Jehu son of Jehoshaphat son of Nimshi then organized against Jehoram. (Jehoram had been protecting Ramoth-gilead, he and all of Israel, against Hazael king of Aram; 15 and then King Jehoram returned to convalesce in Jezreel from the wounds that the Arameans had inflicted upon him when he was fighting Hazael king of Aram.) Jehu said, "If this is truly your will, let no refugee leave the city to go and tell [the news] in the Jezreelite."

16 Jehu rode and went to Jezreel, for Jehoram was lying there, and Ahaziah king of Judah had come down to visit Jehoram. 17 The watchman was standing on the tower in Jezreel, and he saw the company of Jehu as he approached, and he said, "I see a company."

Jehoram said, "Select a rider and send him to meet them and ask, '[Do you come] in peace?' "

18 So the horseman went toward him and said, "Thus said the king, '[Do you come] in peace?' "

Jehu said [to him], "What is it to you whether [it is] in for peace? Come around to my rear."

Jehoram's messengers defect

The watchman reported, saying, "The messenger reached them, but he did not return."

19 So he sent a second horseman, who came to them and said, "Thus said the king, '[Do you come in] peace?' "

Jehu said to him, "What is it to you whether [it is] for peace? Come around to my rear."

20 The watchman reported, saying, "He has reached them, but has not returned. The driving is like the driving of Jehu [grand]son of Nimshi, for he is driving [his chariot] recklessly."

21 Jehoram then said, "Harness [my chariot]!" and he harnessed his chariot. Jehoram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah then set out, each man in his chariot, going out towards Jehu, and they encountered him at the portion [of land] belonging to Naboth the Jezreelite. *

22 When Jehoram saw Jehu he said, "[Do you come] in peace, Jehu?"

And he replied, "What is the peace that it should extend to the harlotries of your mother Jezebel and to her abundant witchcraft!" 23 Jehoram then turned [the reins in] his hands and fled, and said to Ahaziah, "It is a trick, Ahaziah!"

Jehu kills Jehoram . . .

24 Jehu drew his bow fully and hit Jehoram between his shoulder blades; the arrow protruded from his heart, and he collapsed in his chariot. 25 [Jehu] then said to Bidkar his captain, "Pick [him] up and throw him into the portion of the field belonging to Naboth the Jezreelite, for remember that I and you were riding together behind his father Ahab when [the prophet of] HASHEM proclaimed this prophecy about him: 26 'Did I not see the blood of Naboth and the blood of his descendants last night? — the word of HASHEM. I shall therefore bring retribution upon you in this very portion — the word of HASHEM.' So now pick [him] up and throw him into the portion, according to the word of HASHEM."

. . . and throws his body into Naboth's field

Jehu kills Ahaziah . . .

27 Ahaziah king of Judah saw and he fled by way of the garden house; Jehu chased after him and said, "Strike him down also in the chariot." [They wounded him] in the ascent of Gur which is by Ibleam; he fled to Megiddo and died there.

28 His servants brought him by chariot to Jerusalem and buried him in his grave,

9:29. But 8:25 states that Ahaziah became king in the twelfth year of Jehoram. Actually, Ahaziah ruled for one year in the lifetime of his father, who was too ill to rule (see II Chronicles 21:18; Rashi).

9:30. Either Jezebel hoped to find favor or even seduce Jehu in a desperate attempt to save her life (Rashi; Radak), or she wanted to show scornful defiance of the murderous usurper (Ralbag).

9:31. A reference to Zimri (I Kings 16:9ff), who murdered his master, King Elah, and usurped the throne. Either she was trying to gain Jehu's favor by implying that what he had done had precedent and was acceptable, or she was being sarcastic and insolent.

9:34. He occupied the palace to symbolize that he was the new ruler.

9:36. See I Kings 21:23.

10:3. Jehu was challenging Ahab's followers to appoint a successor from Ahab's dynasty and defend it from the insurrection.

with his forefathers in the City of David.

29 And in the eleventh year of Jehoram son of Ahab, Ahaziah reigned over Judah. *

30 Jehu then came to Jezreel. Jezebel heard and she put mascara on her eyes and adorned her head, * and she looked out of the window. 31 Jehu was coming through the gate and she said, "Is all well, Zimri, murderer of his master?" *

. . . and then kills Jezebel and leaves her body for the dogs

32 He raised his face towards the window and said, "Who is with me? Who?"; and two or three officials looked out to him. 33 He said, "Push her out [of the window]!" They pushed her out, and some of her blood flowed to the wall and to the horses, and [Jehu] trampled her body. 34 He then came in and ate and drank. * Then he said, "Attend to this cursed woman and bury her, for she is the daughter of a king."

35 So they went to bury her, but they did not find anything left of her except the skull, the feet, and the palms of the hands. 36 They returned and told him; and he said, "It is the word of HASHEM that he spoke through the hand of his servant Elijah the Tishbite, * saying, 'In the portion of Jezreel, the dogs will devour the flesh of Jezebel. 37 *And Jezebel's carcass shall be like fertilizer spread over the face of the earth in the portion of Jezreel, so that they will not be able to say, This is Jezebel.' Jehu intimidates Ahab's loyalists . . .

1 Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. Jehu wrote scrolls and sent them to Samaria, to the elder officials of Jezreel, and to those who were rearing [the children of] Ahab saying, 2 ". . . and now, when this letter reaches you, since your master's children are with you, and with you the chariot force and the horses, fortified city and weapons — 3 see [who is] the best and most virtuous of your master's sons and place him upon his father's throne, and fight for the sake of your master's house." *

4 They were exceedingly frightened, for they said, "If even those two kings * could not stand against him, how can we stand?"

5 So the one in charge of the household, and the one in charge of the city, and the elders, and those who were rearing [the children] sent to Jehu, saying, "We are your servants, and everything you tell us, we will do. We will not appoint anyone as king; do whatever is good in your eyes."

6 [Jehu] wrote them a second scroll, saying, "If you are with me and you wish to listen to my voice, take the heads of the male offspring of your master and come to me at this time tomorrow, to Jezreel. Now the sons of the king number seventy men, and the great men of the city are raising them."

. . . and they annihilate Ahab's sons

7 And so it happened; when the scroll reached them they took the king's sons and slaughtered the seventy men; they put their heads in kettles and sent them to [Jehu], to Jezreel.

8 A messenger came and told him, saying, "They have brought the heads of the king's sons!"

And he said, "Place them in two piles at the gateway until the morning." 9 It happened in the morning that he went out and stood, and said to all the people, "You are righteous! * Behold, I organized a rebellion against my master and killed him, but who has struck down all of these [men]? 10 Know, therefore, that there shall not fall [unfulfilled] to the earth any word of HASHEM; for HASHEM spoke

10:4. Jehoram of Israel and Ahaziah of Judah (see 9:24,27).

10:9. Jehu was being sarcastic. The populace considered itself righteous and disdained Jehu's regicide as reprehensible. Now he showed them the heads and said, "The great men of Samaria terminated Ahab's dynasty; this is a clear indication that I have not sinned in killing Jehoram."

10:13. They did not realize that they were speaking to the murderer of the entire family. Jehu ordered that they be arrested and executed (Radak).

10:15. Jehonadab was a widely respected man, who is mentioned along with his descendants in Jeremiah (Ch. 35) as a paragon of righteousness and piety. Jehu asked Jehonadab if he wholeheartedly supported his zealous revolution against the House of Ahab and the cult of the Baal, just as Jehu wholeheartedly respected Jehonadab's sincerity and devoutness.

concerning the house of Ahab, and HASHEM has carried out all that He had spoken through the hand of His servant Elijah." 11 Jehu then struck down all those who remained of the house of Ahab in Jezreel, and all of his notables, acquaintances and priests, until he left him not a survivor.

12 He arose and came [home], then set out for Samaria. He was at a gathering-house for shepherds along the way, 13 and Jehu encountered some relatives of Ahaziah king of Judah, and he said, "Who are you?"

*They replied, "We are relatives of Ahaziah and have come for the welfare of the sons of the king and the sons of the queen."

He slaughters Ahaziah's brethren . . .

14 [Jehu] then said, "Capture them alive," and they captured them alive. He then slaughtered forty-two men into the pit of the gathering-house; he did not leave any of them alive.

15 [Jehu] went on from there and encountered Jehonadab son of Rechab coming towards him; he greeted him, and said to him, "Is your heart sincere as my heart is with your heart?"*

And Jehonadab said, "It is! It is! Give [me] your hand!"

[Jehu] gave him his hand and pulled him up to him into the chariot, 16 and he said, "Come with me and see my zealous vengeance for HASHEM!" And they drove [Jehonadab] in [Jehu's] chariot.

. . . and the remnant of Ahab's family

17 [Jehu] arrived at Samaria and struck down all those that remained of Ahab in Samaria, until he annihilated him; in accordance with the word of HASHEM, which He had spoken to Elijah.

Jehu feigns loyalty to the Baal . . .

18 Jehu then gathered together all the people and said to them, "Ahab worshiped the Baal just a bit; Jehu will worship it a great deal! 19 So now, all the prophets of the Baal and all its servants and all its priests, gather them unto me — let no man be absent — for I have a great sacrifice for the Baal, and anyone who is absent shall not live!" (Jehu was acting with cunning, in order to eliminate the worshipers of the Baal.) 20 Jehu said, "Convoke an assembly unto the Baal," and they declared it. 21 Jehu sent [messages] throughout all of Israel, and all the worshipers of the Baal came; there was no man left who did not come. They arrived at the Temple of the Baal, and the Temple of the Baal became filled from end to end.

22 [Jehu] then said to the one in charge of the wardrobe, "Bring out a vestment for each of the worshipers of the Baal," and he brought out the vestments for them. 23 Jehu and Jehonadab son of Rechab arrived at the Temple of the Baal, and he said to the worshipers of the Baal, "Search and ascertain, lest there be among you worshipers of HASHEM, for only worshipers of the Baal alone [may attend]." 24 They came to offer peace-offerings and burnt-offerings; Jehu posted eighty men outside and said, "If any one of these men whom I am putting under your charge escapes, your soul shall be in place of his soul!"

. . . and destroys its worshipers and idols

25 It happened when he finished performing the burnt-offering, that Jehu said to the runners and to the captains, "Come and strike them down! Let no man get away!" They struck them down by the sword. The runners and the captains threw themselves onward, as they advanced going to the city of the Temple of the Baal. 26 They removed the monuments of the Temple of the Baal and burned them. 27 They smashed the pillar of the Baal, and they demolished the Temple of the Baal and designated it for latrines, until today.

28 Thus Jehu eliminated the Baal from Israel, 29 but regarding the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin — the golden calves that were [in] Beth-el and in Dan — Jehu did not turn away from them.

10:34. See I Kings 14:19.

11:2. This was an upper chamber located above the Holy of Holies of the Temple in Jerusalem (Rashi). As the wife of Jehoiada the Kohen Gadol (II Chronicles 22:11), Jehosheba had access to the Temple. They bided their time until they felt it was opportune to overthrow Athaliah and place Joash on the throne.

11:5. In order to enlist the Kohanim and Levites, who could be trusted, Jehoiada now addressed their captains. The Kohanim and Levites were divided into twenty-four shifts, called watches, (see I Chronicles Chs. 24-25), which changed places on the Sabbath. Since both the incoming and outgoing shifts would be present, the additional numbers of loyalists made the Sabbath the best day to overcome Athaliah's supporters. Now Jehoiada gave them their assignments.

30 HASHEM said to Jehu, "Because you have done well, doing that which is proper in My eyes, for you have done to the house of Ahab according to all that was in My heart, four generations of your descendants will sit upon the throne of Israel for your sake."

His reign is partially righteous

31 But Jehu did not watch to follow the Torah of HASHEM, God of Israel, with all his heart; he did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam that he caused Israel to sin.

32 In those days HASHEM began to cut away at Israel: Hazael struck at them along the entire border of Israel: 33 from the Jordan toward the rising sun, all the land of Gilead of the Gadite, the Reubenite, and the Manassite — from Aroer which is on the Arnon Brook to Gilead and Bashan.

34 The rest of the deeds of Jehu and all that he did, and all of his might — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.* 35 Jehu lay with his forefathers and they buried him in Samaria. His son Jehoahaz reigned in his place. 36 The days that Jehu ruled over Israel were twenty-eight years, in Samaria.

Jehu is succeeded by Jehoahaz (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

ATHALIAH, QUEEN REGNANT OF JUDAH 11:1-20

1 When Athaliah, Ahaziah's mother, saw that her son had died, she arose and exterminated all the offspring of the royal family. 2 But Jehosheba, King Jehoram's daughter, Ahaziah's sister, took Joash son of Ahaziah and smuggled him from the midst of the king's sons who were being killed, [and put] him and his nursemaid in the bed chamber;* they hid him from Athaliah, so he was not put to death. 3 He remained with her in the Temple of HASHEM, hidden for six years, while Athaliah reigned over the land.

Jehoiada enlists allies . . .

4 In the seventh year Jehoiada sent for and took the captains of hundreds, who were over the mighty men and the foot soldiers, and he brought them to [meet with] him in the Temple of HASHEM. He made a covenant with them and adjured them in the Temple of HASHEM, and he showed them the king's son. 5 He commanded them, saying, "This is what you are to do: A third of those of you who are arriving on the Sabbath* will be in charge of the watch of the king's palace, 6 a third will be stationed at the Sur Gate, and a third will be stationed at the gate behind which is the Gate of the Infantry. Be careful to keep the watch of the palace diligently. 7 The other two groups among you will be joined by all those who are leaving on the Sabbath; they shall keep the guard of the Temple of HASHEM, for the king. 8 You will thus encircle the king all around, each man with his weapons in his hand; any [outsider] who breaks into [your] ranks should be put to death. You must remain with the king when he goes out and when he comes in."

9 So the captains of hundreds did according to all that Jehoiada the Kohen had commanded them; each [captain] took his men, those who were arriving on the Sabbath and those who were leaving on the Sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the Kohen. 10 The Kohen gave to the captains of hundreds the spear arsenal and the shields of King David,* which were in the Temple of HASHEM. 11 The infantry stood, each man with his weapons in his hand, from the right flank of the Temple to the left flank of the Temple, near the Altar and the Sanctuary, surrounding the king. 12 Then [Jehoiada] brought out the king's son and placed the crown and the 11:12. I.e., Jehoiada gave Joash a Torah scroll, which a king must have with him at all times, in accordance with Deuteronomy 17:18-19 (Rashi).

11:17. The covenant obligated the king and the people to be faithful to HASHEM, and uproot the cult of the Baal which had infiltrated Judah through the reign of Athaliah and her predecessors; and in addition it obligated the people to be loyal to Joash.

11:18. Jehoiada reinstituted the routine of the Temple service, which had apparently fallen into a degree of disarray under Athaliah's reign (Rashi).

12:5. The annual half-shekel contribution is described as "money of those who pass through" (Exodus 30:13) and, according to Leviticus 27:1-8, a person may undertake to dedicate the fixed value of himself or another person to the Temple.

12:9. Up to then, each Kohen was authorized to accept funds and use them, at his own discretion, for repairs.

. . . and crowns Joash

Divine testimony upon him; they declared him king and anointed him, and they clapped [their] hands and said, "Long live the king!"*

13 Athaliah heard the sound of the people who were rushing, and she came to the people in the Temple of HASHEM. 14 She looked, and there was the king standing at the position, in the royal manner, with the officers and the trumpets next to the king, and all the people of the land rejoicing and blowing trumpets. Athaliah tore her garments and shouted, "A rebellion! A rebellion!"

15 Jehoiada the Kohen commanded the captains of hundreds, the officers of the force, and said to them, "Take her away, but keep her within the ranks [of the guards], and anyone who comes after her slay with the sword!" For the Kohen said, "Let her not be put to death in the Temple of HASHEM." 16 They made place for her and she came by the way of the horses' entrance to the palace of the king, and there she was put to death.

Athaliah is executed

17 *Jehoiada then sealed the covenant between HASHEM and the king and the people, to be a people of HASHEM; and between the king and the people. 18 *All the people of the land came to the Temple of Baal and tore it down; they smashed its altars and images; and Mattan, priest of the Baal, they slew in front of the altars. [Jehoiada] the Kohen then established administrators over the Temple of HASHEM. 19 He took the captains of hundreds, the mighty men, the infantry and all the people of the land, and they escorted the king down from the Temple of HASHEM; they proceeded by way of the Gate of the Infantry to the royal palace, and he sat on the royal throne.

Joash assumes the throne

20 The entire people of the land rejoiced and the city was tranquil, for they had put Athaliah to death by the sword in the king's palace.

JEHOASH, KING OF JUDAH 12:1-22 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 Jehoash was seven years old when he became king. 2 In the seventh year of Jehu, Jehoash became king, and he reigned for forty years in Jerusalem; his mother's name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba. 3 Jehoash did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM all his days that Jehoiada the Kohen taught him. 4 However, the high places did not cease; the people continued to sacrifice and burn incense at the high places.

The child-king's devotion to the Temple

5 Jehoash said to the Kohanim, "All the money for holy purposes that is brought to the Temple of HASHEM — whether the money of 'those who pass through' or any man's money for his personal valuation or any money that a man's heart may move him to bring to the Temple of HASHEM —* 6 let the Kohanim take it, each man from his acquaintance, and let them repair the deterioration of the Temple, wherever deterioration will be found."

7 It was in the twenty-third year of King Jehoash: The Kohanim did not repair the deterioration of the Temple. 8 King Jehoash summoned Jehoiada the Kohen and the other Kohanim and said to them, "Why are you not repairing the deterioration of the Temple? [From] now [on], do not take money from your acquaintances; rather give it over [directly] for the deterioration [repair fund] of the Temple."

Jehoash imposes a new system of Temple maintenance

9 *The Kohanim agreed not to accept money from the people and not to [personally] repair the deterioration of the Temple; 10 Jehoiada the Kohen took one chest, bored a hole in its lid, and placed it near the Altar, on the right side*

Over the years, however, the system did not work, either because some Kohanim kept the money or because the system was inefficient. Now they agreed to forward the money directly to the repair fund, as Joash had ordained.

12:10. This was one of the thirteen collection chests mentioned in the Mishnah (Shekalim, Ch. 6; Malbim).

12:17. If money had been set aside for a guilt-offering or a sin-offering, and some was left over after the animal was purchased, this money was to be used for something that could bring personal benefit for the Kohanim. The Talmud explains that it was used to buy public elevation-offerings, the hides of which became the personal property of the Kohanim.

12:20. See II Chronicles Ch. 24.

13:5. That is, Jehoahaz' evil son Jehoash saved them from Aram (vv. 22-25). Jehoahaz was able to witness this salvation because Jehoash's reign began two years before his father's death (see v. 10).

13:7. After the parenthetical allusion to Jehoahaz' son Jehoash, the narrative returns to where it left off in as one enters the Temple of HASHEM, and the Kohanim who were the overseers of the threshold put into it all the money that was brought to the Temple of HASHEM. 11 Whenever they saw that there was much money in the chest, the king's scribe and the Kohen Gadol would come up and they bagged and counted the money that was found in the Temple of HASHEM. 12 They gave the counted money into the hands of the workmen, who were appointed [as overseers in] the Temple of HASHEM; and they paid it out to the carpenters and the builders who were working in the Temple of HASHEM, 13 and to the masons and the hewers of stone, and to purchase lumber and quarried stones to repair the deterioration of the Temple of HASHEM, and for any other expense that was spent for the Temple to repair it. 14 But there would not be made for the Temple of HASHEM silver musical instruments, basins, trumpets, or any implements of gold or silver from the money that was brought to the Temple of HASHEM, 15 for they gave it all to the workmen, and with it they repaired the Temple of HASHEM. 16 They did not make an accounting with the men into whose hand they gave the money to pay out to the workmen, for they acted with integrity.

17 The [leftover] money of guilt-offerings and the [leftover] money of sin-offerings was not brought to the Temple of HASHEM; they were for the Kohanim. *

Jehoash bribes an invader

18 Then Hazael king of Aram went up and did battle with Gath and conquered it; Hazael then set his face to come upon Jerusalem. 19 Jehoash king of Judah took all the sacred objects that Jehoshaphat and Jehoram and Ahaziah his forefathers, the kings of Judah, had consecrated, and his own consecrated objects, along with all the gold that was found in the treasuries of the Temple of HASHEM and the king's palace, and he sent them to Hazael king of Aram; and he arose and left Jerusalem.

Jehoash is assassinated

20 The rest of the deeds of Jehoash and all that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. * 21 His servants rose up and instigated a rebellion, and they killed Jehoash at Beth-millo, which is on the descent to Silla. 22 Jozacar son of Shimeath and Jehozabad son of Shomer, his servants, struck him and he died. They buried him with his forefathers in the City of David. His son Amaziah reigned in his place.

JEHOAHAZ, KING OF ISRAEL
13:1-9
(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 In the twenty-third year of Jehoash son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, Jehoahaz son of Jehu became king over Israel in Samaria, [and reigned] for seventeen years. 2 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM; he went after the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, that he caused Israel to sin; he did not turn aside from them. 3 So HASHEM became angry with Israel, and He delivered them into the hand of Hazael king of Aram, and into the hand of Hazael's son Ben-hadad, all the days [of Jehoahaz]. 4 Jehoahaz pleaded before HASHEM, and HASHEM hearkened to him, for He had seen the oppression of Israel, for the king of Aram had oppressed them. 5 So HASHEM supplied Israel with a savior, * and they escaped from under the rule of Aram; the Children of Israel dwelt securely in their homes as they had in the past. 6 Nevertheless, they did not turn away from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, that he caused Israel to sin, he went in that [path]; also, an Asherah-tree stood in Samaria. 7 For * [Aram] left no [armed] people to Jehoahaz, except for fifty horsemen, ten chariots, and ten thousand foot soldiers, for the king of Aram had destroyed [the rest],

A partial salvation from Aram verse 4: Aram had oppressed them, by leaving no [armed] people to Jehoahaz . . . (Radak).

13:8. See note to I Kings 14:19.

13:10. According to verse 1 of this chapter, Jehoahaz reigned from the middle of the twenty-third to the middle of the thirty-ninth year of Jehoash of Judah. Thus, the reign of Jehoash of Israel must have begun two years before his father's death (Rashi).

13:14. The same words with which Elisha lamented over Elijah (2:12).

13:19. In prophecy a simple physical sign is often used to symbolize a future event. Elisha wanted Jehoash to cast all his remaining arrows into the ground, which would symbolize the complete rout of Aram. By diminishing the scope of Elisha's intended sign, Jehoash diminished the future event it symbolized.

JEHOASH KING OF ISRAEL 13:10-14:16

[10] In the thirty-seventh year of Jehoash king of Judah, Jehoash son of Jehoahaz began to reign * over Israel in Samaria, [and reigned] for sixteen years. [11] He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM; he did not turn away from all the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat that he caused Israel to sin, he went in that [path].

Jehoash, another evil king (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

[12] The rest of the deeds of Jehoash and all that he did and his might — how he fought against Amaziah king of Judah — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. [13] Jehoash lay with his forefathers, and [his son] Jeroboam sat on his throne. Jehoash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.

[14] *Elisha became ill with the disease from which he was to die. Jehoash, king of Israel, went down to [visit] him, and he cried before him and said, "Father! Father! Israel's chariot and horsemen!"

Elisha's last miracle

[15] Elisha said to him, "Get a bow and arrows," so he took for himself a bow and arrows. [16] He then said to the king of Israel, "Position your hand upon the bow," and he positioned his hand. Elisha placed his hand upon the hands of the king. [17] He then said, "Open the window towards the east," and he opened [it]; Elisha said, "Shoot!" and he shot; [Elisha] said, "[It is] an arrow of salvation unto HASHEM, and an arrow of salvation against Aram; you shall strike Aram at Aphek to utter destruction!" [18] Then he said, "Take the arrows," and he took [them]; he said to the king of Israel, "Strike [them] to the ground!" and he struck three times and stopped. [19] The man of God became angry with him and said, "[Were you] to strike five or six times, you would have smitten Aram to utter destruction! * But now you will strike at Aram [only] three times."

[20] Then Elisha died and they buried him.

[It happened that] troops from Moab would come into the land at the start of the year. * [21] Some people were burying a man, and just then they saw the troop coming, so they threw the man into Elisha's grave. The man's body rolled over and touched the bones of Elisha, and [the man] came back to life and rose up on his feet.

[22] Hazael king of Aram oppressed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz. [23] But HASHEM showed them grace and had mercy on them, and He was attentive to them, because of His covenant with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and He did not wish to destroy them, so He did not cast them away from His presence up to now. [24] Hazael king of Aram died, and his son Ben-hadad reigned in his place.

Jehoash's victory over Aram

[25] Jehoash son of Jehoahaz returned and took back from Ben-hadad son of Hazael the cities that [Ben-hadad] had taken in battle from his father Jehoahaz. Jehoash struck him three times, and retrieved the cities of Israel.

AMAZIAH, KING OF JUDAH 14:1-22

[1] In the second year of Jehoash son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, Amaziah, son of Jehoash king of Judah, became king. [2] He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. [3] He did what was proper in the eyes of 13:20. The Moabites would raid at the beginning of the year, when there was plenty of vegetation on the ground for their animals (Rashi). Alternatively, "Troops from Moab came into the land that very year [when Elisha, the protector of Israel, died]" (Radak).

14:6. Deuteronomy 24:16. The final clause is a paraphrase.

14:7. Targum renders בִּרְנָא, large city, metropolis. Presumably, it alludes to Petra (Greek for "rock"), a well-known site in present-day Jordan.

14:8. Amaziah wanted to go to war against Jehoash because Israelite mercenaries had gone on a rampage and attacked several Judean cities (II Chronicles Ch. 25).

14:14. It was common for kings to have children of senior officers stay at their courts in a sort of "hostage"

Righteous to a point

*HASHEM, but not like his forefather David; he did everything as his father Jehoash had done. 4 However, the high places did not cease; the people continued to sacrifice and burn incense at the high places. 5 It happened when the kingship was firmly in his power that he struck down his servants who had assassinated the king, his father, 6 but he did not put to death the sons of the assassins, as it is written in the Book of the Torah of Moses, which HASHEM had commanded, saying, "Fathers shall not be put to death because of sons, and sons shall not be put to death because of fathers; rather a man should be put to death for his own sin."

7 He struck Edom at the Valley of Salt — ten thousand [men]; and captured the Rock in battle. He called its name "Joktheel" [which is its name] to this day.*

*8 Thereupon, Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash son of Jehoahaz son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, "Let us confront one another [in battle]."

9 Jehoash king of Israel sent [word back] to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, "The thornbush in Lebanon [once] sent [word] to the cedar of Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son for a wife'; the wild beast of Lebanon then came by and trampled the thornbush. 10 You have routed Edom, so your heart became arrogant. Maintain your honor and stay at your home; why should you provoke evil against yourself and be defeated, you and Judah with you?"

11 But Amaziah did not listen, so Jehoash, king of Israel, went up and they confronted one another — he and Amaziah king of Judah — in Beth-shemesh, which is in Judah. 12 Judah was defeated before Israel and they fled, each man to his home. 13 Jehoash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Jehoash son of Ahaziah, in Beth-shemesh; he then came to Jerusalem and he made a breach in the wall of Jerusalem, from the Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate, [a distance of] four hundred cubits. 14 And he took all the gold and silver and all the articles that were found in the Temple of HASHEM and in the treasuries of the king's palace, along with the "hostage children" and he returned to Samaria.*

15 The rest of the deeds of Jehoash that he did and his might, and how he went to war against Amaziah king of Judah — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. 16 Jehoash lay with his forefathers and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel. His son Jeroboam reigned in his place.*

17 Amaziah son of Jehoash, king of Judah, lived for fifteen years after the death of Jehoash son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel. 18 The rest of the deeds of Amaziah — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. 19 They organized a revolt against him in Jerusalem, so he fled to*

Lachish; but they sent after him to Lachish and killed him there. 20 They carried him with horses, and he was buried in Jerusalem, with his forefathers, in the City of David. 21 All the people of Judah then took Azariah, who was sixteen years old, and crowned him in place of his father Amaziah. 22 He built up Elath, after having retrieved it for Judah after the king lay with his forefathers.

arrangement, to ensure the loyalty of their influential fathers. Jehoash brought them to Samaria. According to Seder Olam, Jehoash died shortly after returning to Samaria and Amaziah escaped back to Jerusalem.

14:25. He is the prophet for whom the Book of Jonah is named. The prophecy referred to here is not recorded in Scripture (Radak).

14:28. Aram, including Damascus and Hamath, had originally been captured and administered by David (II Samuel Chs. 8,10), but subsequently freed itself. Jeroboam's army recaptured it and returned it to Judah (Abarbanel).

15:5. Lit., "house of freedom." As a leper he was forced to live in isolation, outside the city wall, and was not able to attend to his royal duties; he was thus "freed," or relieved, of his responsibilities. The reason he was punished this way is given in II Chronicles 26:16-20.

JEROBOAM, KING OF ISRAEL 14:23-29 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

23 In the fifteenth year of [the reign of] Amaziah son of Jehoash king of Judah, Jeroboam son of Jehoash king of Israel became king, in Samaria, [and reigned] for forty-one years. 24 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM; he did not turn away from all the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, that he caused Israel to sin. 25 He restored the boundary of Israel from the Approach of Hamath until the Sea of the Arabah, like the word of HASHEM, God of Israel, which He had spoken by the hand of His servant Jonah son of Amittai the prophet, who was from Gath-hepher.* 26 For HASHEM had seen that Israel's suffering was very severe, with none surviving and none remaining, and there was no helper for Israel. 27 But HASHEM did not say to erase the name of Israel from under the heavens, so He saved them through the hand of Jeroboam son of Jehoash.

28 The rest of the deeds of Jeroboam and all that he did, and his might that he performed in battle, and how he restored Damascus and Hamath to Judah with [the army of] Israel — behold, they are recorded in the Book of Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.* 29 Jeroboam lay with his forefathers, the kings of Israel; and his son Zechariah reigned in his place.

AZARIAH, KING OF JUDAH 15:1-7 A long, righteous, and uneventful reign

1 In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel — Azariah, son of Amaziah king of Judah, became king. 2 He was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned for fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecoliah of Jerusalem. 3 He did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM, entirely as his father Amaziah had done. 4 However, the high places did not cease; the people continued to sacrifice and burn incense at the high places. 5 HASHEM inflicted disease upon the king; he was a leper until the day of his death, and he dwelt in a place of asylum. Jotham, the king's son, was appointed over the palace, judging the people of the land.*

6 *The rest of the deeds of Azariah and all that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. 7 Azariah lay with his forefathers and they buried him with his forefathers in the City of David; his son Jotham reigned in his place.

ZECHARIAH, KING OF ISRAEL 15:8-12

8 In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah king of Judah, Zechariah son of Jeroboam became king over Israel, [and reigned] in Samaria for six months. 9 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, as his forefathers had done; he did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, that he caused Israel to sin. 10 Shallum son of Jabesh conspired against him, and he struck him in front of the people, killing him; and he reigned in his place. 11 The rest of the deeds of Zechariah — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. 12 *This was [the fulfillment of] the word of HASHEM that He had spoken to Jehu, saying, "Four generations [of your descendants] will sit upon the throne of Israel for your sake," and so it was.

SHALLUM, KING OF ISRAEL 15:10-15

MENAHEM, KING OF ISRAEL 15:14-22

13 Shallum son of Jabesh became king in the thirty-ninth year of Uzziah king of Judah, and reigned for one month in Samaria. 14 Menahem son of Gadi went up from Tirzah and came to Samaria, and he struck down Shallum son of Jabesh in Samaria, killed him, and he reigned in his place.

15 The rest of the deeds of Shallum, and his conspiracy that he organized —

15:6. See II Chronicles 26:16-21, where Azariah is called Uzziah, as in v. 13 below.

15:12. See 10:30. The assumption of the throne by Zechariah fulfilled that prophecy.

15:16. Tiphsah was an Aramite city that resisted Menahem's forces. He attacked it and committed atrocities against its women.

15:20. He did not honor his commitment to protect Menahem and Israel (Radak). Alternatively, he took the money and left in peace, not carrying out his original hostile and destructive plans (Targum).

15:25. Apparently there was a well-known sculpture of a lion near the mansion where the assassination took place (Rashi).

behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

Menahem, evil renegade king

16 At that time Menahem launched an attack from Tirzah, against Tiphsah — all that was in it and its outlying areas — because it would not capitulate, so he struck it down. He split open all its pregnant women. *

17 In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah king of Judah, Menahem son of Gadi became king over Israel, [and reigned] ten years in Samaria. 18 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM; he did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, that he caused Israel to sin, all his days.

19 Pul, king of Assyria, came upon the land, and Menahem gave Pul a thousand talents of silver that his hands should be with him, to secure the kingship in his hand. 20 Menahem exacted the money [with a tax] upon Israel, upon all the powerful men of the army, to give fifty shekels of silver per person for the king of Assyria. The king of Assyria then went back; he did not remain there in the land. *

21 The rest of the deeds of Menahem and all that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. 22 Menahem lay with his forefathers, and his son Pekahiah reigned in his place.

PEKAHIAH, KING OF ISRAEL 15:22-26 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

23 In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekahiah son of Menahem became king over Israel, [and reigned] in Samaria for two years. 24 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM; he did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, that he caused Israel to sin.

PEKAH, KING OF ISRAEL 15:25-31

25 His captain Pekah son of Remaliah conspired against him, striking him in Samaria in the hall of the king's palace, by the mansion and the lion * — with him were fifty men of the Gileadites — he killed him and reigned in his place.

26 The rest of the deeds of Pekahiah and all that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

27 In the fifty-second year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekah son of Remaliah became king over Israel, [and reigned] in Samaria for twenty years. 28 He did that which was evil in the eyes of HASHEM; he did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, that he caused Israel to sin.

Assyria begins its conquest

29 In the days of Pekah king of Judah, Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria came and took Ijon, Abel-beth-maacah, Janoah, Kedesh, Hazor, Gilead, and the Galilee — all of the land of Naphtali — and he exiled them to Assyria. 30 Hoshea son of Elah conspired against Pekah son of Remaliah, and he struck him, and killed him; and he reigned in his place, in the twentieth year of Jotham * son of Uzziah.

31 The rest of the deeds of Pekah and all that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

JOTHAM, KING OF JUDAH 15:32-38

32 In the second year of Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel, Jotham, son of Uzziah king of Judah, became king. 33 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerusha daughter of Zadok. 34 He did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM, just as his father Uzziah had done, he did. 35 However, the high places did not cease; the people continued to sacrifice and burn incense at the high places. He built the upper gate of the Temple of HASHEM.

A righteous king

36 The rest of the deeds of Jotham that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. * 37 In those days HASHEM began to incite Rezin, king of Aram, and Pekah son of Remaliah against Judah.

15:30. Although Jotham died after only sixteen years on the throne (v. 33), Scripture prefers to record dates according to the reign of the righteous Jotham, even after his death, rather than according to the reign of his wicked successor (Seder Olam).

38 Jotham lay with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers, in the City of David his forefather. His son Ahaz reigned in his place.

AHAZ, KING OF JUDAH 15:38-16:20 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 In the seventeenth year of Pekah son of Remaliah, Ahaz son of Jotham king of Judah, became king. 2 Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not do what is proper in the eyes of HASHEM, his God, as David his forefather [had done]. 3 He went the way of the kings of Israel; he even passed his son through the fire, like the abominations of the nations whom HASHEM had driven out before the Children of Israel. * 4 He [also] sacrificed and burned incense at the high places and upon the hilltops and under every leafy tree.

Rezin of Aram, a new regional power

5 After this Rezin king of Aram and Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel went up to do battle against Jerusalem; they besieged Ahaz, but could not defeat [him]. 6 At that time Rezin king of Aram restored Elath to Aram and he evicted the Jews from Eloth; * Edomites then came to Elath and dwelled there, to this day.

Ahaz bribes Assyria for help . . .

7 Ahaz sent messengers to Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, saying, "Your servant and your son am I. Come up and save me from the clutches of the king of Aram and from the clutches of the king of Israel, who are rising up against me." 8 Ahaz took whatever silver and gold was found in the Temple of HASHEM and in the treasuries of the king's palace, and he sent a bribe to the king of Assyria. 9 The king of Assyria heeded him. The king of Assyria went up to Damascus and seized it, exiling its [inhabitants] to Kir, and killed Rezin.

10 King Ahaz went to greet Tiglath-pileser in Damascus; he saw the altar that was in Damascus, and King Ahaz sent a model of the altar and its plans, according to all its workings, to Urijah the Kohen. * 11 Urijah the Kohen then built the altar; according to everything that King Ahaz had sent from Damascus, so Urijah the Kohen did, before King Ahaz arrived from Damascus. 12 When the king arrived from Damascus, the king saw the altar; the king approached the altar and offered upon it. 13 He burned his elevation-offering and his meal-offering, poured out his libations, and sprinkled the blood of his peace-offerings upon the altar. 14 And as for the Copper Altar * that was before HASHEM — he drew [the new altar] closer to the entrance of the Sanctuary, between the [true] Altar and the Temple of HASHEM and placed it upon the northern side of the Altar.

. . . and becomes an unctuous worshiper of the Assyrian idol

15 King Ahaz commanded Urijah the Kohen, saying, "Upon the great altar you shall burn the elevation-offering of the morning and the meal-offering of the evening, the elevation-offering of the king and his meal-offering, the elevation-offering of the general populace and their meal-offerings and libations, and the blood of all elevation-offerings and the blood of any sacrifice you shall sprinkle upon it; the Copper Altar will be for me to visit." 16 Urijah the Kohen did according to all that King Ahaz had commanded.

Ahaz violates the Temple

17 King Ahaz cut off the stands of the lavers * and removed the laver from them; he also took down the sea from upon the copper oxen that were under it and placed it upon a stone floor. 18 He removed the Sabbath awning that they had built they may help me."

16:18. This awning had been installed for the comfort of the outgoing shift of Kohanim (see 11:5-7), whose duties ended on Sabbath morning, but who could not travel to their homes until after the Sabbath. All of the deeds of Ahaz described here, as well as others described in II Chronicles (28:23-25), were intended to disrupt the Temple service and display his scorn and disdain for the religion of Israel.

Ahaz rerouted the royal entrance to the Temple out of concern for his personal security. Until then, he had used a public thoroughfare; now he made a passageway directly from the palace to the Temple.

16:19. See II Chronicles, Ch. 28.

17:1. Hoshea actually reigned in the fourth year of Ahaz (see 15:30), but the commentators explain that Hoshea was initially a vassal king under Assyria, and only in the twelfth year of Ahaz did he rebel and declare his independence (Ralbag).

HOSHEA, LAST KING OF ISRAEL 17:1-18:12

1 In the twelfth year of Ahaz * king of Judah, Hoshea son of Elah became king over Israel in Samaria, [and reigned] for nine years. 2 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, albeit not like the kings of Israel who were before him. * 3 Shalmaneser king of Assyria went up against him; and Hoshea became his vassal and sent him a tribute.

4 Then the king of Assyria discovered that Hoshea, had betrayed him, for he had sent messengers to So, the king of Egypt, and he did not send up his tribute to the king of Assyria as he had year by year; therefore the king of Assyria arrested him and incarcerated him in prison. 5 The king of Assyria then invaded the entire country; he went up to Samaria and besieged it for three years.

Assyria conquers the Ten Tribes and exiles the people

6 In the ninth year of [the reign of] Hoshea, the king of Assyria captured Samaria and exiled Israel to Assyria. He settled them in Halah, in Habor, by the Gozan River, and in the cities of Media.

Summary of the sad history of the Ten Tribes . . .

7 And so it was that the Children of Israel sinned to HASHEM their God, Who had taken them up out of the land of Egypt from under the oppression of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and they feared the gods of others. 8 They walked in the decrees of the nations whom HASHEM had driven out from before the Children of Israel, and [in the decrees] that the kings of Israel had enacted. 9 The Children of Israel imputed things that were not so to HASHEM their God and built themselves high places in all their cities, from the [solitary] watchtower to the fortified city. 10 They erected for themselves pillars and Asherah-trees upon every tall hill and under every leafy tree. 11 They burned incense there at all their high places, like the nations whom HASHEM had exiled before them; and they did wicked things, to anger HASHEM. 12 They worshiped the execrable idols, concerning which HASHEM had told them, "Do not do this thing." * 13 HASHEM had issued warning in Israel and in Judah through the hand of all prophets of any vision, saying, "Repent from your evil ways, and observe My commandments and My decrees in accordance with the entire Torah that I commanded your forefathers, and that I have sent you through My servants the prophets." 14 But they did not listen, and they stiffened their neck like the neck of their forefathers, who did not believe in HASHEM their God. 15 They rejected His decrees and His covenant that He had sealed with their forefathers, and His warnings that He had warned about them; and they went after the worthless, and became worthless; and after [the ways of] the nations that surrounded them, concerning whom HASHEM had commanded them not to do like them. 16 They forsook all the commandments of HASHEM, their God, and made a molten image for themselves — two calves; and they made Asherah-trees and prostrated themselves to all the hosts of the heavens and worshiped the Baal.

. . . their refusal to heed prophetic warnings . . .

. . . worsening rebellion . . .

17:2. Hoshea was the only king of Israel to let his people go to the Temple in Jerusalem for the three pilgrimage festivals (Seder Olam).

17:12. This is not a direct quote, but a paraphrase of various verses that forbid idolatry (e.g., Leviticus 18:3; 26:1).

17:18. That is, He exiled them from the Land of Israel (Targum).

17:28. Realizing that he could not uproot centuries of idolatry from these people, the Kohen allowed them to continue serving their idols, not as deities, but rather as intermediaries. Thus, he instructed them to direct their thoughts to God, even while performing the rituals of their old beliefs (Radak).

17:34. God changed Jacob's name to Israel only after he ordered his entourage to discard all their alien gods (Genesis 35:2-4,10), because a person cannot earn God's blessing unless his loyalty is complete and unequivocal

17 They passed their sons and their daughters through fire and practiced divinations and sorcery; and they dedicated themselves to do that which was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, to anger Him.

. . . and total downfall

18 Then HASHEM became very angry with Israel and removed them from His Presence; none remained except the tribe of Judah alone.* 19 (And even Judah did not observe the commandments of HASHEM their God, and they walked in the decrees of Israel, which they had enacted.) 20 So HASHEM rejected the entire offspring of Israel, and oppressed them; He delivered them into the hands of plunderers, until He had cast them away from His Presence. 21 For Israel had torn [itself] away from the house of David, crowning Jeroboam son of Nebat [over themselves], and Jeroboam pushed Israel away from following HASHEM and caused them to commit a grave sin. 22 The Children of Israel went in [the way of] all the sins of Jeroboam, which he committed, they did not turn away from them, 23 until HASHEM removed Israel from His Presence, as He had spoken through the hand of all His servants the prophets. So Israel went into exile from their land to Assyria, to this day.

Assyria settles foreigners in Samaria

24 The king of Assyria brought [people] from Babylonia and Cuthah and Avva and Hamath and Sepharvaim, and settled [them] in the cities of Samaria in place of the Children of Israel; they took possession of Samaria and dwelled in its cities. 25 It happened that at the beginning [of the period] of their dwelling there they did not fear HASHEM, and HASHEM incited lions against them, and they were killing among them. 26 They spoke to the king of Assyria, saying, "The nations that you have exiled and settled in the cities of Samaria do not know the law of the God of the land. He has incited lions against them, and they are now killing them because they do not know the law of the God of the land."

The newcomers are frightened into serving Hashem . . .

27 The king of Assyria issued a command, saying, "Bring to there one of the Kohanim whom you exiled from there and let them go and settle there and teach them the law of the God of the land."

28 One of the Kohanim whom they had exiled from Samaria came and settled in Beth-el, and he would teach them how to fear HASHEM. 29 They would make — each nation — its own god, and they set up [their idols] in the high place temples that the [Israelite] Samaritans had built — each nation in their cities, where they dwelled.* 30 The people of Babylonia made Succoth-benoth; the people of Cuthah made Nergal; the people of Hamath made Ashima, 31 the Avvites made Nivhaz and Tartak; and the Sepharvites burned their children in fire unto Adrammelech and Anammelech, the gods of Sepharvaim. 32 They feared HASHEM, and they appointed some from among themselves as priests for the high places, and they would perform [the rituals] for them in the high place temples.

. . . but they continue their idolatry

33 They feared HASHEM, but they worshiped their own gods [as well], according to the practice of the nations from which they had been exiled. 34 Until this day they act according to the original practice; they do not fear HASHEM sincerely; they do not act according to their customs and practices, or according to the Torah and the commandments that HASHEM *had commanded the Children of Jacob, whose name He had changed to Israel.

(Radak). But the Samaritans could not bring themselves to do so. They adopted Jewish practices out of fear of the lions, but they retained their idols as well.

18:4. "A thing of copper," a pejorative term. Regarding the copper serpent, see Numbers 21:4-9. Although Moses made it for a noble purpose, in later centuries it began to be looked upon by some as a deity. Therefore, Hezekiah destroyed it.

18:13. This passage, until 20:19, appears with minor

35 (For HASHEM had made a covenant with [Israel], and had commanded them, saying, "You shall not fear the gods of others; and you shall not bow down to them, and you shall not worship them, and you shall not slaughter to them. 36 Rather, only HASHEM Who brought you up from the land of Egypt, with great force and with an outstretched arm — Him shall you fear, and to Him shall you bow down, and to Him shall you slaughter. 37 And the decrees and the laws, and the Torah and the commandment that He wrote for you, you shall observe to do all the days, and you shall not fear the gods of others. 38 And the covenant that I sealed with you, you shall not forget; and you shall not fear the gods of others. 39 Rather, you shall fear HASHEM your God, and He will save you from the hand of your enemies.")

40 But they did not obey, rather they act according to their original practice. 41 So these nations feared HASHEM, yet worshiped their graven images. Also their children and children's children, as their forefathers had done, so do they do, to this day.

HEZEKIAH, KING OF JUDAH 18:1-20:21 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 It was in the third year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel: Hezekiah, son of Ahaz king of Judah, became king.* 2 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abi daughter of Zechariah. 3 He did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM, just as his forefather David had done. 4 *He removed the high places, shattered the pillars, and cut down the Asherah-trees; he [also] ground up the copper serpent that Moses had made — for until those days the Children of Israel used to burn incense before it; he called it Nehushtan. 5 He trusted in HASHEM, the God of Israel; after him there was not anyone like him among all the kings of Judah, nor among those who preceded him. 6 He clung to HASHEM and did not turn aside from [following] after Him; he observed His commandments, which HASHEM had commanded Moses. 7 HASHEM was with him; wherever he ventured he was successful. He rebelled against the king of Assyria and did not serve him. 8 He struck the Philistines until Gaza and its environs, from the [solitary] watch-tower to the fortified city.

Hezekiah's historic righteousness

9 It was in the fourth year of King Hezekiah, it was the seventh year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel: Shalmaneser king of Assyria invaded Samaria and besieged it. 10 They captured it after three years — in the sixth year of Hezekiah, it was the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel — Samaria was captured. 11 The king of Assyria exiled Israel to Assyria, placing them in Halah, in Habor, by the Gozan River, and in the cities of Media. 12 [This was] because they did not heed the voice of HASHEM their God, and they transgressed His covenant — all that Moses, the servant of HASHEM, had commanded, they did not heed and they did not fulfill.

Assyria, which had destroyed Samaria . . .

13 In the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib king of Assyria attacked all the fortified cities of Judah, and captured them. 14 Hezekiah king of Judah sent [word] to the king of Assyria, to Lachish, saying, "I have sinned. Withdraw from me, and whatever you impose upon me I will bear." So the king of Assyria imposed upon Hezekiah king of Judah a levy of three hundred talents*

. . . turns on Judah, and Hezekiah pays tribute differences in Isaiah 36:1-38:8, 39:1-8.

18:14. Lachish was one of the main fortified cities of Judah, which Assyrian King Shalmaneser had apparently captured and made his base.

18:20. You fooled your people with false promises, assuring them that you had the military capabilities to back up your rebellion against Assyria.

18:23. Rabshakeh offered to call off the siege for a price. If Hezekiah would provide a bond to guarantee his loyalty — which would be forfeited if he rebelled again — then As-of silver and thirty talents of gold. 15 Hezekiah gave all the money that was found in the Temple of HASHEM and in the treasuries of the king's palace. 16 At that time Hezekiah stripped the [golden overlay of] the doors of the Sanctuary of HASHEM and the thresholds, which Hezekiah king of Judah had overlaid, and he gave them to the king of Assyria.

But Assyria wants conquest

17 The king of Assyria sent Tartan and Rabsaris and Rabshakeh from Lachish with a great army to King Hezekiah, to Jerusalem. They came up and arrived at Jerusalem; they came up and arrived and stood at the channel of the upper pool, which is in the road of the launderer's field. 18 They called out for the king, and Eliakim son of Hilkiah, who was in charge of the palace, went out to them, with Shebnah the scribe, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder.

Assyria's spokesman's ultimatum . . .

19 Rabshakeh said to them, "Say now to Hezekiah: Thus said the great king, the king of Assyria: What is this confidence of which you are so confident? 20 You have spoken but [idle] word of the lips [claiming that you had] strategy and power for battle! Now — upon whom have you placed your trust, that you have rebelled against me?* 21 Now, behold! You have relied upon the support of this splintered cane, upon Egypt, which, if a man leans on it, it will enter his palm and puncture it; so is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who rely on him. 22 And if you will tell me, 'We trust in HASHEM our God' — is He not the One Whose high places and altars Hezekiah has removed; and he said to Judah and Jerusalem, '[Only] before this Altar may you prostrate yourselves, in Jerusalem'? 23 *So now, provide a security guarantee to my master the king of Assyria, and I will give you two thousand horses — if you can put riders on them! 24 How dare you turn away even a single minor captain from among the servants of my master, and depend on Egypt for chariot and horsemen! 25 Now, is it without [the consent of] HASHEM that I have come up to this place to destroy it? HASHEM told me, 'Go up against this land and destroy it!' "

26 Eliakim son of Hilkiah, as well as Shebnah and Joah, then said to Rabshakeh, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic, for we understand it, and do not speak Hebrew with us within earshot of the people on the wall."

. . . is intended to terrorize the people

27 *But Rabshakeh said to them, "Is it to your master and to you that my master has sent me to speak these words? It is not to the people sitting on the wall, who will eat their own excrement and drink their own urine with you!"

28 Rabshakeh then stood up and called out in a loud voice in Hebrew; he spoke and said, "Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria! 29 Thus said the king: Let not Hezekiah delude you, for he cannot save you from [Assyria's] hand! 30 And let not Hezekiah reassure you with HASHEM, saying, 'HASHEM will surely save us, and this city shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria!' 31 Do not listen to Hezekiah, for thus said the king of Assyria: Make peace with me and come out to me, and each man will be able to eat [the fruits of] his grapevine and each man [the fruits of] his fig tree, and each man will drink the water of his well, 32 until I come and I bring you to a land like your land — a land of grain and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of oil-laden olives and date-honey —* syria would provide two thousand horses for Hezekiah's government. Rabshakeh added a sarcastic comment implying that Hezekiah would not even have enough riders for the horses, much less to mount a rebellion (Ralbag).

18:27. So severe will be the prolonged siege that will ensue if you do not capitulate to us.

18:32. The Assyrian practice was to deport all conquered populations to faraway lands in order to thwart any future attempts at regaining independence (see 17:6,24). The only alternative, Rabshakeh threatened, would be certain death, either during the prolonged siege or after the disastrous defeat that was sure to follow.

18:37. They were in grief and consternation over the seemingly hopeless situation and over the shocking blasphemy uttered by Rabshakeh.

19:3. The battle for Jerusalem is about to begin, but we are powerless.

19:8. This began the fulfillment of Isaiah's prophecy. Sennacherib had broken camp to advance against Jerusalem, and then (v. 9) went back to Assyria to repel an attack by Tirhakah.

19:9. Cush is usually identified as Ethiopia.

and you will live and not die. Do not listen to Hezekiah when he tries to entice you, saying, 'HASHEM will save us!' 33 Did the gods of the nations save any person in his land from the hand of the king of Assyria? 34 Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena and Ivvah; did they save Samaria from my hand? 35 Which among all the gods of the lands saved their land from my hand, that HASHEM should save Jerusalem from my hand?"

Grief-stricken report to Hezekiah

36 The people remained silent and did not answer him a word, for there was a command from the king, saying, "Do not answer him." 37 Eliakim son of Hilkiah, who was in charge of the palace, came, as well as Shebna the scribe and Joah son of Asaph the recorder, to Hezekiah with rent garments, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.*

19 1 It happened when King Hezekiah heard this: He rent his garments; he donned sackcloth and went to the Temple of HASHEM. 2 He sent Eliakim, who was in charge of the palace, and Shebna the scribe and the elders of the Kohanim, all dressed in sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz. 3 They said to him, "Thus said Hezekiah: Today is a day of distress, rebuke, and sacrilege. [We are like] babies who have entered the birth canal, but [the mother] has no strength to give birth. 4 If only HASHEM, your God, will hear all the words of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Assyria, his master, sent to insult the living God, and He will punish him for those words that HASHEM your God heard. And may you offer a prayer for the remnant [of the people] that is still here!"*

The distressed Hezekiah asks Isaiah to pray

Isaiah promises victory

5 King Hezekiah's servants came to Isaiah, 6 and Isaiah said to them, "Thus shall you say to your master: Thus said HASHEM: Do not be frightened by the words that you have heard, by which the attendants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed Me. 7 Behold, I am instilling a desire within him. He will hear a report and return to his land, and I will strike him down by the sword in his own land."

Sennacherib withdraws to fight a war . . .

8 Rabshakeh went back and found the king of Assyria fighting against Libnah, because [Rabshakeh] had heard that he had journeyed from Lachish. 9 Then [Sennacherib] heard a report about Tirhakah, the king of Cush*, saying, "He has gone out to do battle against you."*

. . . but sends an abusive threat to Hezekiah

But he once again sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, 10 "Thus shall you speak unto Hezekiah king of Judah, saying: Do not let your God, in Whom you trust, persuade you, saying, 'Jerusalem will not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria.' 11 Behold, you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the lands, laying them waste; will you be spared? 12 Did the gods of the nations rescue those whom my fathers destroyed — Gozan, Haran, Rezeph, and people of Eden who are in Telassar? 13 Where is the king of Hamath or the king of Arpad or the king of the city of Sepharvaim, or [of] Hena, or [of] Ivvah?"*

14 Hezekiah took the letters from the hand of the messengers and read them, and he went up to the Temple of HASHEM and Hezekiah spread out each [of them] before HASHEM. 15 Hezekiah then prayed before HASHEM, and said, "HASHEM, God of Israel, Who dwells atop the Cherubim: You alone are God of all the kingdoms of the world; You made heaven and earth. 16 Incline Your ear, HASHEM, and hear; open Your eyes, HASHEM, and see! Hear the words of Sennacherib that he has sent to insult the living God! 17 Indeed, HASHEM, the kings of Assyria have destroyed*

Hezekiah beseeches God

Before leaving to repel advances by the Cushites, Sennacherib sent another intimidating message to Hezekiah.

19:23. In his prophecy, Isaiah poetically likened the Land of Israel, Jerusalem, and the Temple to majestic forests and stately trees.

19:24. So vast were my armies of foot soldiers, that they had their pack animals drink up all the known water sources of the countries they have invaded, so I was forced to dig deep for unknown sources of water.

19:25-26. God rebukes the arrogant Sennacherib, saying: Your remarkable military victories are not your own doing. All your acts of destruction were foreordained by Me as punishment for the wickedness of your victims; you were merely the messenger who delivered the preordained blow. Your hubris and contemptuousness are totally unjustified.

19:28. Isaiah prophesied that God would bring Sennacherib back to Jerusalem, where his army would be destroyed.

19:29. Isaiah now prophesied to Hezekiah that unimagined prosperity would come in the wake of Assyria's downfall. There would be an abundance of wild grain, and fruit would grow from the stumps of the trees that Sennacherib had chopped down. This would symbolize the recovery of the decimated remainder of Judah into a strong, vibrant nation (Rashi).

19:35. Although Scripture does not say so explicitly, it is clear that Sennacherib had now resumed his siege of Jerusalem.

the nations and their land, [18] and have placed their gods into the fire — for they are not gods, but the work of man's hands, wood and stone — so they destroyed them. [19] So now, HASHEM, our God, save us please from his hand, then all the kingdoms of the world shall know that You alone are HASHEM, God."

[20] Isaiah son of Amoz sent [word] to Hezekiah, saying: Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: Regarding what you prayed to Me concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria. [21] This is the word that HASHEM has spoken about him:

Isaiah's encouraging prophecy . . .

She scorns you, she mocks you, [she] the maiden daughter of Zion;
she shakes her head at you, [she] the daughter of Jerusalem.
[22] Whom have you insulted and blasphemed;
against Whom have you raised a voice, and lifted your eyes on high?
Against the Holy One of Israel!
[23] By the hand of your messengers you have insulted my Lord, and said,
'With my multitude of chariots I climbed the highest mountains,
[to] the ends of the Lebanon [forest];
I shall cut down its tallest cedars, its choicest cypresses, and I shall enter His ultimate abode, the forest of His fruitful field. *
[24] I dug and drank unknown waters,
for the soles of my feet dried up all the rivers of the besieged area.' *
[25] Have you not heard from the distant [past that] I have done it?
From earliest days [that] I have formed it?
Now I have brought it about,
to raze [into] desolate heaps [your] fortified cities. *
[26] Their inhabitants were short of power, crushed and ashamed;
they were [like] herbage of the field and grassy vegetation,
like grass on rooftops, like stalks wind-blasted, before standing [full].
[27] Your sitting [in counsel], your going forth, and your coming in —
I know [them]; and [also] your provocation against Me.
[28] Because you provoked Me, and your arrogance has risen unto My ears,
I shall place My hook into your nose and My bridle into your lips, and I shall make you return by the route on which you came. *

. . . about Hezekiah's success . . .

[29] And this shall be the sign for you: * You will eat this year of the aftercrop; the second year, fruits from tree stumps; and in the third year — sow and harvest, and plant vineyards and eat their fruits. [30] And the survivors that remained of the House of Judah shall take root below and produce fruit above. [31] For from Jerusalem shall emerge a remnant, and survivors from Mount Zion. The zeal of HASHEM, Master of Legions, shall do this!

. . . and Sennacherib's downfall

[32] Therefore, thus says HASHEM about the king of Assyria: He will not enter this city, and will not shoot there an arrow; he will not approach it with a shield, and will not pour a ramp against it. [33] On the route by which he came he will retreat, but he will not enter this city — the word of HASHEM. [34] And I shall protect this city, to save it, for My sake and for the sake of My servant David.

The fateful night

[35] And it was that [very] night: * An angel of HASHEM went out and struck down one hundred eighty-five thousand [people] of the Assyrian camp. The rest arose [early] in the morning and behold — they were all dead corpses!

20:1. As implied by verse 6, these events happened just before the abortive Assyrian invasion of the previous chapter. According to the Talmud, they took place three days before.

20:8. Hezekiah suspected that Isaiah was not relating the true word of God, but was only trying to console him after seeing how upset he was by the prophecy that he would die (Radak).

20:9. Ahaz had built a sun-clock (v. 11), which consisted of a tall pillar with a number of indentations etched out on it at regular intervals, with the time indicated by the location of the shadow cast by the rising and setting sun. Isaiah gave Hezekiah a choice of two miraculous signs — the shade would suddenly move by ten notches, either

36 So Sennacherib king of Assyria journeyed forth, went and returned; and he settled in Nineveh. 37 It happened that he was worshiping in the temple of his god Nisroch: His sons Adrammelech and Sarezer struck him down by the sword; they then fled to the land of Ararat, and Esar-haddon his son reigned in his place.

Hezekiah's illness

1 In those days Hezekiah became deathly ill. * Isaiah son of Amoz, the prophet, came to him and said to him, "Thus said HASHEM*: Instruct your household, for you shall die; and you shall not live."*

2 [Hezekiah] then turned his face to the wall and prayed to HASHEM*, saying,* 3 "Please, HASHEM*, remember now that I have walked before You faithfully and wholeheartedly, and I have done what is good in Your eyes." And Hezekiah wept an intense weeping.*

Isaiah prophesies recovery . . .

4 And it was when Isaiah had not yet left the middle courtyard: The word of HASHEM came to him, saying, 5 "Go back and tell Hezekiah, the ruler of My people, 'Thus said HASHEM*, the God of your forefather David: I have heard your prayer; I have seen your tears. Behold, I am healing you; on the third day you will go up to the Temple of* HASHEM. 6 I will add fifteen years to your life and I will rescue you and this city from the grip of the king of Assyria. I will protect this city for My sake and for the sake of My servant David.' "

7 Then Isaiah said, "Take a cake of figs." They took it and placed it on [Hezekiah's] boil, and it was healed.

8 Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "What sign [can you show me] that HASHEM will heal me, and that I will go up on the third day to the Temple of HASHEM*?"

. . . and proves it with a sign

9 Isaiah said, "This is the sign for you from HASHEM that HASHEM *will do the deed of which He spoke: Shall the shade move ten degrees ahead [on the clock], or shall it go back ten degrees?"

10 Hezekiah said, "It is easier for the shade to be extended by ten degrees. No — rather let the shade turn backwards ten degrees."

11 Isaiah the prophet called out unto HASHEM*, and He turned the shade backward by ten degrees from the levels where it had descended [on the sun-clock] of Ahaz.*

Hezekiah flatters the king of Babylonia . . .

12 At that time Berodach-baladan son of Baladan, the king of Babylonia, sent letters and a gift to Hezekiah, for he had heard that Hezekiah was ill. 13 *Hezekiah hearkened to them and showed them his whole treasure house — the silver, the gold, the spices, the fine oil, his warehouse, and everything that was found in his treasuries; there was nothing that Hezekiah did not show them in his palace and in all his realm.

14 Isaiah the prophet came to King Hezekiah and said to him, "What did these men say, and from where did they come to you?"

Hezekiah said, "They came from a faraway land, from Babylonia."

15 He said, "And what did they see in your house?"

Hezekiah said, "They saw everything in my house; there was nothing that I did not show them in my treasuries."

. . . and God rebukes him

16 Isaiah then said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of HASHEM*:* * 17 'Behold, the days are coming when everything in your house, and that which your forefathers have accumulated until this day, will be carried off to Babylonia. Not a thing will be left,' forward or backwards.

20:13. The parallel verse in Isaiah (39:2) reads, "He rejoiced over them . . ."

20:16. The reason for God's anger at Hezekiah is explained in II Chronicles (32:31): The king of Babylonia had sent this delegation because he had heard of the miraculous sign that God had performed for Hezekiah. Hezekiah should not have distracted them from the glory of God to impress them with his own wealth and grandeur.

20:18. This prophecy found fulfillment in the appointment of Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, descendants of Hezekiah, to the court of Nebuchadnezzar (see Daniel 1:1-6; Rashi; Radak).

20:19. Humbly, Hezekiah accepted Isaiah's rebuke. Then he turned to the "bright side" of Isaiah's prophecy — that the punishment would not be meted out until some time in the future, after his death.

20:20. See II Chronicles 29:1-32:33.

21:13. The destruction of Jerusalem will be just as thorough and meticulous as the destruction of Samaria and the family of Ahab. Jerusalem will be "wiped clean" of its inhabitants and then "turned over," i.e., destroyed (Radak), so that it will no longer be habitable.

said HASHEM. [18] *'And they will also take some of your children who will issue from you, whom you will beget, and they shall become officers in the palace of the king of Babylonia.' "

[19] *Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "The word of HASHEM that you have spoken is good"; and he said [to himself], "Is it not true that there will be peace and truth in my days?"

[20] *The rest of the deeds of Hezekiah and all his might, and how he made the pool and the channel, bringing the water source into the city — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. [21] Hezekiah lay with his forefathers, and his son Manasseh reigned in his place.

MANASSEH, KING OF JUDAH 20:21-21:18

Manasseh reigns and is appallingly evil

[1] Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned for fifty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hephzi-bah. [2] He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, like the abominations of the nations that HASHEM had driven out before the Children of Israel. [3] He rebuilt the high places that his father Hezekiah had destroyed. He erected altars to Baal. He made an Asherah [idol] as Ahab king of Israel had done; he bowed down to the entire host of the heaven and worshiped them. [4] He built altars in the Temple of HASHEM — about which HASHEM had said, "I shall place My Name in Jerusalem" — [5] he built altars to the entire host of the heaven in the two courtyards of the Temple of HASHEM. [6] He passed his son through the fire, practiced astrology and read omens, and performed necromancy and conjured up spirits; he was profuse in doing what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, to anger [Him]. [7] The Asherah idol that he had made he placed in the Temple, concerning which HASHEM said to David and his son Solomon, "In this Temple and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen from among all the tribes of Israel, I shall place My Name forever. [8] And I shall no longer cause the feet of Israel to wander from the land that I have given to their forefathers — provided they are careful to act according to all that I have commanded them, and to the entire Torah that My servant Moses commanded them." [9] But they did not listen; Manasseh led them astray to do more evil than the nations that HASHEM had destroyed from before the Children of Israel.

Manasseh is the cause of destruction

[10] HASHEM spoke through His servants the prophets, saying, [11] "Because Manasseh king of Judah has committed these abominations, he did worse than all that the Amorite who was before him had done, and he caused even Judah to sin with his idols — [12] therefore, thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: Behold, I am bringing such evil upon Jerusalem and Judah, that both ears of anyone who hears of it will ring! [13] *I will stretch out upon Jerusalem the level of Samaria and the plumbline of the house of Ahab; I will wipe out Jerusalem, as one would wipe a plate thoroughly, and then turn it upside down. [14] I shall abandon the remnant of My heritage and deliver them into the hands of their enemies, where they will be plundered and trampled by all their enemies, [15] because they did what is evil in My eyes, and angered Me, from the day that their forefathers left Egypt and to this day."

[16] Manasseh also shed very much innocent blood, until he filled Jerusalem

21:17. See II Chronicles 33:1-20.

22:5. The last extensive repairs had been carried out in the days of Joash more than two centuries earlier (Ch. 12).

22:8. Manasseh had systematically destroyed all the Torah Scrolls and alienated the nation so thoroughly from the Torah that the people were completely unfamiliar with its contents. Sixty-seven years had elapsed since the beginning of Manasseh's reign, so that this discovery was a surprising revelation to everyone (Radak).

22:11. Josiah was deeply distressed at what he heard.

[from] end to end [with it]; aside from his sin of causing Judah to sin, to do what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM.

17 The rest of the deeds of Manasseh and all that he did and his sins that he committed — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. * 18 Manasseh lay with his forefathers and was buried in the garden of his palace, in the garden of Uzza. His son Amon reigned in his place.

AMON, KING OF JUDAH 21:18-26 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

19 Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned for two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Meshullemeth daughter of Haruz, from Jotbah. 20 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, as Manasseh his father had done. 21 He went the same way as his father had gone; he worshiped the idols that his father had worshiped and he prostrated himself to them. 22 He forsook HASHEM, the God of his forefathers, and he did not follow the way of HASHEM. 23 Amon's servants conspired against him, and they killed the king in his palace, 24 but the people of the land struck down all the conspirators against King Amon; the people of the land crowned Josiah his son in his place.

Amon walks in Manasseh's footsteps . . .

JOSIAH, KING OF JUDAH 21:24-23:30

. . . and is assassinated

25 The rest of the deeds of Amon that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. 26 They buried him in his grave in the garden of Uzza, and his son Josiah reigned in his place.

22 1 Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned for thirty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jedidah daughter of Adaiah, of Bozkath. 2 He did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM, following the ways of his forefather David; he did not veer right or left.

The righteous King Josiah

3 It happened in the eighteenth year of King Josiah that the king sent Shaphan son of Azaliah son of Meshullam, the scribe, to the Temple of HASHEM, saying, 4 "Go up to Hilkiah the Kohen Gadol, and [tell him] that he should collect all the money that is brought to the Temple of HASHEM, which the gatekeepers have collected from the people, 5 and they should give it over to the workmen-in-charge in the Temple of HASHEM, and they should give it to the workmen in the Temple of HASHEM, to repair the deterioration of the Temple, * 6 for the carpenters, the builders, and the stonemasons, and for buying wood and quarried stones to repair the Temple. 7 However, no accounting shall be made with them for the money given over into their hand, for they act with integrity."

Josiah and the Temple maintenance

8 Hilkiah, the Kohen Gadol, said to Shaphan the scribe, "I have found a Scroll of the Torah in the Temple of HASHEM." * Hilkiah gave the Scroll to Shaphan, and he read it. 9 Shaphan the scribe came to the king and brought a report to the king, and he said, "Your servants have counted the money that was found in the Temple, and have given it into the hand of the workmen-in-charge in the Temple of HASHEM." 10 Shaphan the scribe then told the king, saying, "Hilkiah the Kohen has given me a Scroll." Shaphan then read it before the king. 11 It happened that when the king heard the words of the Scroll of the Torah, he rent his garments. * 12 The king commanded Hilkiah the Kohen, Ahikam son of Shaphan, Achbor son of Micaiah, Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah, the king's servant, saying, 13 "Go and inquire of HASHEM on my behalf, and on behalf of the people and on behalf of all of Judah, concerning the words of this Scroll that was found; for great is the wrath

The "Book" is discovered

According to the Talmud, the selection was from the Admonition of Deuteronomy, Chapter 28; verse 36 of that chapter especially affected the king.

23:4. Josiah had the ashes scattered on the site of Jeroboam's temple, which he would soon defile (v. 15). He wanted even the ashes that remained of these idolatrous objects to be disposed of in an unclean place.
23:8. These were true Kohanim who had sinned by serving as priests to the idols.

of HASHEM that has been incited against us, because our fathers have not listened to the words of this Scroll, to fulfill all that was written for us."

14 So Hilkiah the Kohen, Ahikam, Achbor, Shaphan and Asaiah went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum son of Tikvah son of Harhas, the keeper of the [royal] garments, who dwelled in Jerusalem, in the study house, and they spoke to her.

Hulda's ominous prophecy

15 She said to them, "Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: Say to the man who sent you to me, 16 'Thus said HASHEM: Behold, I am bringing evil upon this place and upon its inhabitants — [namely] all the words of the Scroll that the king of Judah read — 17 because they have forsaken Me and burned offerings to the gods of others, in order to anger Me with all their handiwork; My wrath has been incited against this place, and it will not be extinguished.' 18 And concerning the king of Judah who sent you to inquire of HASHEM, thus should you say to him: 'Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: [Regarding] the words that you have just heard — 19 because your heart is soft and you humbled yourself before HASHEM when you heard that which I have spoken about this place and its inhabitants, that they would become a desolation and a curse; and you rent your garments and cried before Me, and I, too, have heard — the word of HASHEM. 20 Therefore, behold, I will gather you in to your forefathers — you will be gathered to your grave in peace — and your eyes will not see all the evil that I am bringing upon this place.' "

They brought this report back to the king.

Josiah seals a covenant . . .

1 The king sent out and gathered to himself all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. 2 The king went up to the Temple of HASHEM, and all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with him, as well as the Kohanim and the prophets and all the people, from small to great, and he read in their ears all the words of the Book of the Covenant that had been found in the Temple of HASHEM.

3 The king then stood at his place and sealed a covenant before HASHEM, to follow HASHEM and to observe His commandments and His testimonies and His decrees with all [his] heart and all [his] soul, to uphold the words of this covenant written in this book; and the entire people accepted the covenant.

. . . cleanses the land of idolatry . . .

4 *The king then instructed Hilkiah the Kohen Gadol, the Kohanim of the second rank, and the gatekeepers to remove from the Temple of HASHEM all the articles that had been made for the Baal, for the Asherah, and for all the hosts of the heavens. He had them burned outside Jerusalem, in the plains of Kidron, and their ashes carried away to Beth-el. 5 He also dismissed the priests whom the kings of Judah had appointed to burn offerings at the high places in the cities of Judah and in the surrounding areas of Jerusalem, as well as those who burned offerings to the Baal, to the sun and to the moon and to the constellations and to all the heavenly hosts. 6 He removed the Asherah from the Temple of HASHEM to the Kidron Valley outside Jerusalem; he burned it in the Kidron Valley and ground it to dust, and then scattered its dust over the graves of the [idolatrous] common people. 7 He demolished the rooms of the idolaters that were in the Temple of HASHEM, where the women would weave curtains for the Asherah.

. . . and destroys the idols

8 He brought all the priests from the cities of Judah, and he defiled the high places where these priests used to burn offerings from Geba to Beer-sheba; he smashed the high places at the gates and the one that was at the entrance of*

Haftarah continues below, v. 21

Haftarah of second day Pesach continues here: 23:21-25

23:9. These Kohanim who had served as priests were not permitted to participate in the actual Temple service, but they were allowed to partake of the sacrificial foods that were distributed among their fellow Kohanim. All meal-offerings were prepared in an unleavened state, as matzos (Lev. 2:10-11).

23:11. The worship of the sun consisted in racing out towards the east at daybreak, in horse-drawn chariots, to "greet" the rising sun.

23:14. As a graphic illustration of his disdain for the idols, he exhumed their worshipers and scattered their bones over the ruins of the idols.

the gate of Joshua the governor of the city, which was situated at one's left [when entering] the city gate. 9 But, the priests of the high places were not permitted to ascend the Altar of HASHEM in Jerusalem; rather they would only eat unleavened bread among their brethren. *

10 He also defiled the Topheth, which was in the Valley of Ben Hinnom, so that no man could pass his son or daughter through the fire for the Molech. 11 He also abolished the horses that the kings of Judah had designated for [worship of] the sun, * [which would race] from the entrance to the Temple of HASHEM to the office of Nethan-melech, the officer in the outlying area of the city. He burned the chariots of the sun in fire. 12 And the altars that were on the roof of the upper story built by Ahaz, which the kings of Judah had set up, and the altars that Manasseh had set up in the two courtyards of the Temple of HASHEM, the king smashed; he eliminated [them] from there and threw their dust into the Kidron Valley. 13 And the high places facing Jerusalem, south of the Mount of Olives, which Solomon king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the abomination of the Sidonians, for Chemosh the abomination of Moab, and for Milcom the abomination of the Children of Ammon, the king defiled. 14 He shattered the pillars and cut down the Asherah-trees, and he filled up their places with human bones. *

15 Also the altar that was in Beth-el — the high place that Jeroboam son of Nebat built, with which he caused Israel to sin — also that altar and its high place he demolished; he burned the high place and ground it into dust, and burned the Asherah-tree. 16 Josiah then turned and saw the graves that were there on the mountain and he sent [men] to take the bones out of the graves, and he burned them upon the altar and defiled it; in accordance with the word of HASHEM, which the man of God who had prophesied about these events, * had proclaimed.

17 [Josiah] then said, "What is this tombstone that I see?"

The people of the city said to him, "It is the grave of the man of God who came from Judah and prophesied about these deeds that you have done upon the altar of Beth-el." 18 He said, "Leave it alone. Let no man move those bones." His bones saved the bones of the prophet who came from Samaria. *

19 Furthermore, all the temples of the high places in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had built to anger [HASHEM], Josiah removed and he did to them like all the deeds that he had done at Beth-el. 20 He slaughtered all the priests of the high places who were there upon the altars, and burned human bones upon them, and he returned to Jerusalem.

Unprecedented Pesach

21 The king then commanded the people, saying, "Perform the pesach-offering unto HASHEM your God, as written in this Book of the Covenant." 22 For such a pesach-offering had not been celebrated since the days of the Judges who judged Israel, and all the days of the kings of Israel and the kings of Judah; * 23 but in the eighteenth year of King Josiah this Passover was celebrated unto HASHEM in Jerusalem.

24 Furthermore, the necromancers and conjurers of spirits, the teraphim, the execrable-idols and all the abominations that had been seen in the land of Judah and Jerusalem, Josiah removed in order to uphold the words of the Torah that

23:22. There was an unprecedented magnitude of participation by the people, partly because it was the first time in centuries that the Israelites of the northern tribes participated in the observance of Passover at Jerusalem.

23:29. Although Pharaoh Neco informed Josiah that he was using the Land of Israel only for passage to Assyria, and had no belligerent intentions towards him, Josiah went to prevent him from crossing through the land (II Chronicles 35:20-24). When Pharaoh saw that Josiah insisted on a confrontation, he killed him (Radak).

23:34. The change of name, like the peremptory appointment of a new king, was to demonstrate that were written in the Scroll that Hilkiah the Kohen found in the Temple of HASHEM.

Unprecedented king

25 Before him there had never been a king like him who returned to HASHEM with all his heart, with all his soul, and with all his resources, in accordance with the entire Torah of Moses, and after him no one arose like him. 26 Nevertheless, HASHEM did not relent from His great flaring anger, for His anger had flared up against Judah because of all the provocations with which Manasseh had angered Him. 27 So HASHEM said, "Judah, as well, will I remove from My presence, as I removed Israel; and I will reject this city which I have chosen, Jerusalem, and the Temple of which I had said, 'My Name would remain there.' "

But God's decree stands

28 The rest of the deeds of Josiah and all that he did — behold, they are recorded in the Book of Chronicles of the Kings of Judah.* 29 In his days Pharaoh Neco the king of Egypt, went up to wage war against the king of Assyria by the Euphrates River; King Josiah went to confront him, and [Pharaoh] killed him in Megiddo when he saw him.* 30 His servants drove him, dead from Megiddo in a chariot, brought him to Jerusalem and buried him in his grave. The common people took Jehoahaz son of Josiah, anointed him, and crowned him king in place of his father.

JEHOAHAZ, KING OF JUDAH 23:30-34

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

31 Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned for three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. 32 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, like everything that his forefathers had done. 33 Pharaoh Neco imprisoned him at Riblah in the land of Hamath, [to prevent him] from reigning in Jerusalem, and he levied a fine upon the land — a hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold. 34 Pharaoh Neco then crowned Eliakim son of Josiah in place of his father Josiah, and changed his name to Jehoiakim.* [Pharaoh] took Jehoahaz and returned to Egypt; and [Jehoahaz] died there. 35 Jehoiakim delivered the silver and the gold to Pharaoh; but he assessed upon the populace to pay the money that Phararoh had demanded; he imposed upon the populace, each man according to his means, the silver and gold [that he had] to give to Pharaoh Neco.

JEHOIAKIM, KING OF JUDAH 23:34-24:6

36 Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zebudah daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah. 37 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, like everything that his forefathers had done.

24 1 In his days Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylonia, invaded; Jehoiakim became a vassal to him for three years, but then he reneged and rebelled against him. 2 HASHEM incited against him troops of Chaldeans, troops of Aram, troops of Moab and troops of the Children of Ammon, and sent them against Judah* to annihilate it, in accordance with the word of HASHEM that He had spoken through His servants the prophets. 3 Indeed, the [decree] was issued against Judah by the word of HASHEM, to remove them from His presence, for the sins of Manasseh, for everything that he had done, 4 and also [for] the innocent blood that he had shed; he had filled Jerusalem with innocent blood, and HASHEM did not want to forgive.

24:17. Mattaniah was the brother of the former kings Jehoahaz and Jehoiakim; they were all sons of Josiah.

24:18-25:21. Aside from a few minor differences, this passage is identical to Jeremiah 52:1-27.

24:20. In his great wrath against the people, God incited Zedekiah to rebel against Nebuchadnezzar, in order that He might thereby bring an end to the

with his forefathers, and his son Jehoiachin reigned in his place. 7 The king of Egypt no longer left his country, for the king of Babylonia had occupied from the Brook of Egypt to the Euphrates River, all [the land] that had belonged to the king of Egypt.

JEHOIACHIN, KING OF JUDAH 24:8-16 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

8 Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he became king, and he reigned for three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Nehushta daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem. 9 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, like everything that his father had done.

Nebuchadnezzar besieges and pillages Jerusalem

10 At that time, the servants of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia came up to wage war against Jerusalem, and the city came under siege. 11 Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia came upon the city while his servants were besieging it. 12 Jehoiachin, king of Judah, went out to the king of Babylonia — he, his mother, his servants, his ministers, and his officers — and the king of Babylonia took him [captive], in the eighth year of his reign. 13 He also removed from there all the treasures of the Temple of HASHEM and the treasures of the king's palace, and he dismantled all the golden articles that Solomon king of Israel had made in the Sanctuary of HASHEM, as HASHEM had said. 14 He exiled all of Jerusalem — all the officers and all the men of war, ten thousand exiles, as well as all the artisans and the gatekeepers — there was no one left except for the poorest of the common people.* 15 He exiled Jehoiachin to Babylonia; and the king's mother, the king's wives, his officers, and the noblemen of the land he brought into exile from Jerusalem to Babylonia. 16 All of the men of war, seven thousand; and the artisans and the gatekeepers; one thousand, all of them mighty men, warriors — the king of Babylonia brought them to exile, to Babylonia. 17 The king of Babylonia then crowned Mattaniah, [Jehoiachin's] uncle, in his place, and changed his name to Zedekiah.*

ZEDEKIAH, KING OF JUDAH 24:17-25:7

His mother's name was Hamutal daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.* 19 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, like everything that Jehoiakim had done. 20 *It was because the wrath of HASHEM was upon Jerusalem and Judah until He would cast them away from His presence that Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylonia.

The last battle

1 It happened in the ninth year of [Zedekiah's] reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth of the month, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia, he and his entire army, came [to wage war] against Jerusalem and encamped near it, and built a siege tower around it.* 2 The city came under siege until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. 3 On the ninth [day] of the [fourth] month the famine in the city became critical; there was no food for the people of the land. 4 The city was breached, and all the men of war [fled] during the night, by way of the gate between the walls, which was near the king's garden, although the Chaldeans were upon the city all around; and [the king] went [into flight] by way of the Arabah. 5 The Chaldean army pursued the king and overtook him at the plains of Jericho, and his entire army dispersed from him. 6 They seized the king and brought him up to the king of Babylonia at Riblah, and they spoke [words of] judgment to him. 7 They slaughtered Zedekiah's sons before his eyes; [Nebuchadnezzar] blinded Zedekiah's eyes, then he bound him in leg-irons and brought him to Babylonia.

25:8. Nebuzaradan arrived on the seventh of Av (the fifth month), and set the Temple afire on the ninth of the month, Tishah B'Av (cf. Jeremiah 52:12).

25:13-17. These parts of the Temple are described in I Kings, Ch. 7. A more detailed description of the pillars appears in Jeremiah 52:21-23.

25:22. Gedaliah was to be the governor of the remnant of Judah, completely subservient to the Babylonian con-

The Temple is burned and the people exiled

8 In the fifth month, on the seventh of the month, * which was the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia, Nebuzaradan, the chief executioner, servant of the king of Babylonia, came to Jerusalem. 9 He burned the Temple of HASHEM, the king's palace and all the buildings of Jerusalem; and every great house he burned in fire. 10 And the walls of Jerusalem all around, the entire Chaldean army that was with the chief executioner smashed. 11 The remainder of the people who were left in the city and the defectors who had surrendered to the king of Babylonia, and the rest of the masses, Nebuzaradan the chief executioner sent into exile. 12 But some of the poor people of the land the chief executioner left to be workers in vineyards and in fields.

The remnant destroyed

13 The copper pillars of the Temple of HASHEM, and the laver-stands and the copper sea * that were in the Temple of HASHEM, the Chaldeans shattered and carried off their copper to Babylonia. 14 The pots, the shovels, the musical instruments, the spoons and all the copper utensils with which [the Kohanim] served, they took away. 15 The pans and the bowls, whether of gold or of silver, the chief executioner took away. 16 The two pillars, the one sea, and the laver-stands that Solomon had made for the Temple of HASHEM — there was no weight [with which to measure] the copper of all these items; 17 eighteen cubits the height of the one pillar; [there was] a copper capital upon it, the height of the capital [extended] three cubits [above the pillar]; and [there were] a netting and pomegranate figures upon the capital all around, all of copper; the second pillar had the same [ornaments] upon the netting.

Arrest, execution, exile

18 The chief executioner took Seraiah the chief Kohen and Zephaniah the deputy Kohen and the three gatekeepers. 19 From the city he took one officer who was in charge of the men of war; five men from those [advisors] who see the king's face, who were found in the city; the secretary of the general of the army, who would marshal the common people for war; and sixty men of the common people who were found in the city. 20 Nebuzaradan, the chief executioner, took them and brought them to the king of Babylonia at Riblah, 21 and the king of Babylonia struck them down and killed them at Riblah, in the land of Hamath. And Judah was exiled from its land.

Gedaliah, governor of Judah

22 As for the people who remained in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia allowed to remain — he appointed over them Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan. * 23 All the officers of the army [who were in hiding], they and their men, heard that the king of Babylonia had appointed Gedaliah, and they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah, along with Ishmael son of Nethaniah, Johanan son of Kareah, Seraiah son of Tanhumeth of Netophah and Jaazaniah son of the Maacathite, they and their men. 24 Gedaliah swore to them and to their men and said to them, "Do not fear the servants of the Chaldeans; settle in the land and serve the king of Babylonia and all will be well for you."

Gedaliah, the last hope, assassinated

25 And it was in the seventh month: There came Ishmael son of Nethaniah son of Elishama, [who was] of the royal family, and with him ten men; they struck down Gedaliah, and he died, as well as the Jews and the Chaldeans who were with him at Mizpah. 26 All the people, from small to great, as well as the army officers, arose and came to Egypt, for they feared the Chaldeans. *

querors. A fuller account of this episode is found in Jeremiah, Chs. 40-43.

25:26. The Jewish remnant fled the land out of fear that they would be punished for the slaughter carried out by Ishmael. The day of the assassination was designated as a national fast day, the Fast of Gedaliah. Ishmael's crime was the final step of the Destruction, since it caused the land to be denuded of its remaining children.

ישעיה Isaiah

Isaiah was a member of the Judean aristocracy and his long career as a prophet spanned eighty-six years (619-533 B.C.E.), a period during which he uttered some of the most stirring and lyrical prophecies in all of Scripture. Far more Haftaros are taken from the Book of Isaiah than from any other Book. Isaiah lashes out at the wicked among his people and warns them of dire destruction, but he also consoles and comforts. Interestingly, this Book is the source both of the chilling "Vision of Isaiah" that is read on the Sabbath before the Ninth of Av and of the seven prophecies of consolation that follow it. He foretold the exile that took place during his lifetime, as the powerful Assyrian army under Sennacherib conquered the Northern Kingdom and scattered its people around the Assyrian kingdom, so that they would lose their Jewish identity. Then the seemingly invincible Assyrian ruler moved against Judah, but Isaiah prophesied that this time the army would be wiped out.

Isaiah's contemporary, Hosea, prophesied to the Northern Kingdom at the time Isaiah prophesied to the Kingdom of Judah. Like the other prophets of that era, he railed against idolatry — indeed, as soon as the notorious idolater, King Manasseh, assumed the throne, he had Isaiah murdered. The prophet stressed the holiness of the people and the sanctity of the Temple service. He condemned hypocrisy and the attitude that habitually performed commandments were satisfactory, and taught that a Judaism empty of sincerity and striving is not Judaism. Could anyone think that lip service without content would satisfy God? It is ironic that the secular scholars praise Isaiah for his cadences and lyricism. People speak of Isaiah as a "poet" — he, the prophet who so condemned empty talk and insincere service! He also offered hope and encouragement to the downtrodden, the forlorn, and the childless.

His prophecies have yet to be fulfilled; they clearly await the final Redemption, when the earth will be filled with the purity and holiness he demanded. This could have happened in his day. It could have happened when the Second Temple was built. It could have happened at any time, had people heeded his message and been worthy of its realization. But it did not, because they did not. Not yet. But because we know, as he said in his final stirring declaration, that no word of God goes back unless it has accomplished what He desired, we can read Isaiah's words as harbingers of a future better than anyone has ever known. And this has always been Israel's consolation, no matter how dreadful the circumstances.

1:1. Uzziah (also called Azariah) reigned fifty-two years, Jotham and Ahaz each reigned sixteen years, and Hezekiah reigned twenty-nine years. Their histories are recorded in II Kings Chs. 15,16,18 and II Chronicles Chs. 26-32.

1:5. These harsh punishments should have made you realize that you should cease your evildoing! (Rashi).

1:8. Those appointed to guard the crop until it is gathered abandon their temporary shelters in the field as soon as the growing season is over. Similarly, the tents of the attacking army are deserted when the siege is lifted.

1:18. Let us honestly discuss and decide who wronged whom, and you will admit that you were at fault. That will lead to repentance, and I will forgive your sins ... (Radak).

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

[1] The vision of Isaiah son of Amoz, which he saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem, in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah: * [2] Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth, for HASHEM has spoken:

A rebellious people . . .

"Children have I raised and exalted, but they have rebelled against Me. [3] An ox knows his owner, and a donkey his master's trough; but Israel does not know, My people does not comprehend."

[4] Woe! [They are] a sinful nation, a people weighed down by iniquity, evil offspring, destructive children! They have forsaken HASHEM; they have angered the Holy One of Israel, and have turned their back [to Him]. [5] For what have you been smitten, since you continue to act perversely? Each head [is smitten] with sickness; each heart [with] infirmity. * [6] From the sole of the foot to the head, nothing in him is whole; [only] injury, bruise, and festering wound: They have not been treated and they have not been bandaged, and [the wound] has not been softened with oil. [7] Your country is desolate; your cities are burned with fire; as for your land — strangers consume its [yield] in your presence; it is desolate as if overturned by foreigners. [8] The daughter of Zion is left like a booth in a vineyard, like a shed in a field of gourds, like a city besieged. * [9] Had not HASHEM, Master of Legions, left us a trace of a remnant, we would have been like Sodom; we would have resembled Gomorrah!

. . . and their chastisement

[10] Hear the word of HASHEM, O chiefs of Sodom; give ear to the teaching of our God, O people of Gomorrah:

Worthless offerings

[11] Why do I need your numerous sacrifices? says HASHEM. I am sated with elevation-offerings of rams and the fat of fatlings; the blood of bulls, sheep and goats I do not desire. [12] When you come to appear before Me, who sought this from your hand, to trample My courtyards? [13] Bring your worthless meal-offering no longer, it is incense of abomination to Me. [As for] the New Moon and Sabbath, and your calling of convocations, I cannot abide mendacity with solemn assembly. [14] My soul detests your New Moons and your appointed times; they have become a burden upon Me; I am weary of bearing [them]. [15] When you spread your hands [in prayer], I will hide My eyes from you; even if you were to intensify your prayer, I will not listen; your hands are replete with blood. [16] Wash yourselves, purify yourselves, remove the evil of your deeds from before My eyes; cease doing evil. [17] Learn to do good, seek justice, vindicate the victim, render justice to the orphan, take up the grievance of the widow.

Repent!

[18] Come, now, let us reason together, says HASHEM. * If your sins are like scarlet they will become white as snow; if they have become red as crimson, they will become [white] as wool. [19] If you are willing and obey, you will eat the goodness of the land. [20] But if you refuse and rebel, you will be devoured by the sword — for the mouth of HASHEM has spoken.

[21] How the faithful city has become a harlot! — she had been full of justice, righteousness lodged in her, but now murderers! [22] Your silver has become dross, your heady wine diluted with water. [23] Your princes are rebellious and associates of thieves; each of them loves bribery and pursues payments. They do not render justice to the orphan; the grievance of the widow does not come to them.

Divine punishment . . .

[24] Therefore — the word of the Lord, HASHEM, Master of Legions, Mighty One of Israel:

Oh, I shall be relieved of My adversaries, and I shall avenge Myself of My enemies! [25] I will turn My hand against you, until I refine your dross as with lye

1:31. Flax is highly combustible, but its fire burns out very quickly. The idols and those who erect them will perish in an instant at the time of judgment.

2:4. "He" refers to the King Messiah, who will judge disputes between nations; they will accept his decisions, and no longer resort to war for settling disputes (Radak).

2:5. Either the prophet is interjecting his own message to Israel (Radak) or this verse is a continuation of the words of the "many peoples" of verse 3 (Rashi).

2:6-8. The prophet addresses God, saying that He forsook Israel because, after becoming wealthy, the people absorbed the sorcery of other nations, and traded the ancient wisdom of the Torah for modern, fashionable notions, i.e., the children of foreign philosophies. This theme echoes Deuteronomy 32:14-18; see also Hosea 2:10 (Radak). Alternatively: "they content themselves with the children of foreigners" refers to the children of sinful intermarriage with non-Jewish women (Rashi).

2:9. When the nations will attempt to battle the King Messiah, they will eventually capitulate and realize the folly of their ways. Nevertheless, You will exact retribution from them for all the physical and spiritual havoc they wreaked upon Israel (Radak).

2:10-21. Isaiah warns the arrogant sinners, whom he and I remove all your base metal. [26] Then I will restore your judges as at first, and your counselors as at the beginning; after that you will be called 'City

. . . and redemption of Righteousness,' 'Faithful City.' [27] Zion will be redeemed through justice, and those who return to her through righteousness; [28] but calamity [awaits] rebels and sinners together, and those who forsake HASHEM will perish; [29] for they will become ashamed of the idolatrous elms that you desired, and you will be embarrassed over the gardens that you chose. [30] For you will be like an elm tree with withered leaves, and like a garden without water. [31] The mighty will be like flax and its maker like a spark; and the two of them will* burn together, with no one to extinguish it.

2 [1] The prophecy that Isaiah son of Amoz saw, concerning Judah and Jerusalem:

In Messianic times [2] It will happen in the end of days: The mountain of the Temple of HASHEM will be firmly established as the head of the mountains, and it will be exalted above the hills, and all the nations will stream to it. [3] Many peoples will go and say, 'Come, let us go up to the Mountain of HASHEM, to the Temple of the God of Jacob, and He will teach us of His ways and we will walk in His paths.' For from Zion will the Torah come forth, and the word of HASHEM from Jerusalem. [4] He will judge among the nations, and will settle the* arguments of many peoples. They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation will not lift sword against nation and they will no longer study warfare.

[5] O House of Jacob: Come, let us walk by the light of HASHEM!*

[6] For You have abandoned Your people, the House of Jacob, because they* were filled with [sorceries] of the East and divinations, like the Philistines; and they content themselves with the children of foreigners. [7] Its land became full of silver and gold, with no end to its treasures; its land became full of horses, with no end to its chariots. [8] Then its land became full of false gods; each one of them bows to his own handiwork, to what his fingers have made.

[9] Humankind will have bowed and man will have humbled himself; yet You will *not forgive them.

The Day of Judgment [10] Enter the rock and be hidden in the ground, because of the fear of HASHEM,* and from the glory of His greatness. [11] Humankind's haughty eyes will be brought low and men's arrogance will be humbled; and HASHEM alone will be exalted on that day. [12] For HASHEM, Master of Legions, has a day [for retribution] against every proud and arrogant person and against every exalted person — and he will be brought low; [13] and against all the lofty and exalted cedars of Lebanon and against all the oaks of the Bashan; [14] and against all the lofty mountains, and against all the exalted hills; [15] and against every tall tower and against every fortified wall; [16] and against all the ships of Tarshish and against all the splendid palaces.
[17] Humankind's haughtiness will be humbled and men's arrogance will be brought down; and HASHEM alone will be exalted on that day. [18] And the false gods will perish completely, [19] and [idolaters] will enter caves in the rocks and tunnels in the ground, because of the fear of HASHEM and from the glory of His greatness, when He arises to break the land. [20] On that day man will throw away his false gods* of silver and his false gods of gold, which they made for him to prostrate himself, likens to trees and hills, that their presumed power and wealth brought from foreign lands will not avail them against God's judgment.

2:20. Isaiah uses the expression בַּיּוֹם הַהוּא, on that day, as a reference to the Day of Judgment that will take place in Messianic times (Radak).

3:1. This explains why Israel should distance themselves from evil, arrogant people (2:22): because God will depose men of power and influence, by depriving them of food and water (Ibn Ezra).

3:6-7. The poverty will be so overwhelming that even family members will be unable to help their less fortunate relatives when requested to do so (Kara).

3:10. Tell him that his deeds are good (Metzudos); or, that a goodly reward awaits him (Kara). Alternatively: Tell the world about the rewards enjoyed by the righteous in the World to Come (Radak).

3:12. The people have become so driven to satisfy their lusts, that they do anything to please their immoral women (Radak).

3:18. See 2:20.

3:25. The prophet is still addressing "the daughters of Zion" (Ibn Ezra; Radak).

3:26. This verse alludes to the razing of Jerusalem's buildings (Radak).

Dire prophecy of the siege of Jerusalem

*[1] For behold, the Lord, HASHEM, Master of Legions, is removing from Jerusalem and from Judah support of men and support of women, every support of bread and every support of water; * [2] hero and man of war, judge, prophet, diviner and elder; [3] captain of fifty, respected person, adviser, teacher of the wise and comprehender of mysteries. [4] I shall make youngsters their leaders, and mockers will rule them. [5] The people will be oppressed, man by man and man by his fellow; they will domineer, the youngster over the elder and the base over the respectable. [6] When a man will grasp his relative, a member of his father's house, [saying,] 'You have a garment! Become a benefactor for us; and let this obstacle [of poverty] be under [the control of] your hand!'* — [7] he will swear on that day, saying, 'I cannot become a patron, for in my house there is neither bread nor garment. Do not make me a benefactor of the people!' [8] [All this has come about] because Jerusalem has stumbled and Judah has fallen; for their speech and their actions are against HASHEM, rebelling before the eyes of His glory. [9] Their brazen countenance testifies against them; their sins, like Sodom's, speak out and do not withhold [anything]. Woe to their souls, for they have brought evil upon themselves! [10] Tell [each] righteous man that it is good;* for they shall eat the fruit of their deeds. [11] But woe to the wicked person who does evil, for the recompense of his hands will be dealt to him. [12] My people — their oppressors are mockers and women dominate them.* O My people, your leaders mislead you, and they have corrupted the direction of your ways.*

[13] HASHEM stands erect to contend, and stands to judge peoples. [14] HASHEM will enter into judgment with the elders and officers of His people, [saying,] 'You have consumed the vineyard; what you have robbed from the poor man is in your houses. [15] What has become of you that you crush My people and grind the faces of the poor?' — the word of My Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions.

[16] HASHEM said:

Fate of the immoral women

Because the daughters of Zion are haughty, walking with outstretched necks and winking eyes; walking with dainty steps, jingling with their feet, [17] [therefore] the Lord will afflict the heads of the daughters of Zion with lesions, and HASHEM will bare their private parts. [18] On that day the Lord will remove the splendor of the shoe-bells, the head scarves, the moon-shaped ornaments, [19] the necklaces, the bracelets, the veils, [20] the bonnets, the leg bands, the hair-ties, the brooches, the earrings, [21] the rings, the nose rings, [22] the robes, the shawls, the kerchiefs, the pouches, [23] the mirrors, the linens, the turbans and the clasps. [24] And it shall be that in the place of fragrance there will be rot; and in the place of the belt, abrasion; and in the place of coiffure, baldness; and in the place of the ornamental belt, a belt of sackcloth; a burn in the place of beauty. [25] Your men* will fall by the sword and your might in war. [26] Her doorways will mourn and lament; she will be wiped out; she will sit on the ground.

4:1. In a graphic illustration of the downfall described in the previous chapter, Isaiah says that there will be so many widows that women will far outnumber men, and they will offer themselves in marriage without any promise of support.

4:2. Once the above punishments have been carried out, providing atonement for Israel's sins, the Messianic era will begin. The Messiah is referred to as a sprout and fruit of the land (Radak).

4:3. Only holy and righteous people will survive and be inscribed for life.

4:6. That is, there will be Divine protection afforded to those who remain in Jerusalem, to protect them from the destruction that will "rain down" upon the wicked.

5:2. A winepress (Rashi); a watchtower (Ibn Ezra; Radak).

5:5. A vineyard had two fences around it: a stone wall to keep out animals, and a hedge of sharp thorns outside or on top of the stone wall to prevent people from climbing over it. The removal of the hedge would allow people to come in and eat its produce; the removal of the wall would let animals in to trample it (Kara; Radak).

5:7. Instead of producing justice and righteousness, God's "vineyard" produced the affliction and outcry of persecuted and victimized people.

5:8. If a rich man wanted to enlarge his house or field, he would simply encroach on the adjacent property of a poor, defenseless owner.

5:10. The volumes of the liquid measure bath and the dry

[1] *And seven women will grasp one man on that day, * saying, 'We will eat our own food and wear our own clothes; just let us be called by your name, and end our disgrace!'*

[2] On that day HASHEM's sprout will come forth for splendor and honor; and the fruit of the land will be for pride and glory for the survivors of Israel.*

Zion cleansed

[3] *Of every remnant that will be in Zion and every remaining one in Jerusalem, 'Holy' will be said of him, * everyone who is inscribed for life in Jerusalem.* [4] When my Lord will have washed the filth of the daughters of Zion and rinsed the blood of Jerusalem from her midst, with a spirit of judgment and a spirit of purging. [5] And HASHEM will create over every structure of Mount Zion and over those who assemble in it a cloud by day, and smoke and a glow of flaming fire by night, for this will be a canopy over all the honor. [6] *And there will be a tabernacle as a shade from heat in the daytime, as a protection and refuge from storm and from rain. **

[1] I will now sing on behalf of my Beloved, my Beloved's song concerning His vineyard:

Song of the vineyard

My Beloved had a vineyard in a fertile corner. [2] He fenced it around and cleared it of stones; He planted it with choice shoots and built a tower inside it; He even hewed a wine vat in it. He hoped to produce [fine] grapes, but it produced only inferior grapes.*

[3] [So my Beloved said,] 'Now, O inhabitant of Jerusalem and people of Judah, judge between Me and My vineyard. [4] What more could have been done for my vineyard that I did not do for it? Why — though I had hoped to produce [fine] grapes — did it produce only inferior grapes? [5] *So now, I will tell you what I am doing to my vineyard: I will remove its hedge and it will be consumed; I will breach its fence and it will trampled. [6] I will make it a wasteland; it will not be pruned, and it will not be hoed; thorns and weeds will grow. And I will command the clouds not to pour rain upon it.

[7] *Now, the vineyard of HASHEM, Master of Legions, is the House of Israel, and the people of Judah are the shoot of His delight; He had hoped for justice, but behold, affliction! For righteousness, but behold, an outcry! **

Fate of the selfish . . .

[8] *Woe to you who caused house to encroach against house, * and make field approach field, until there is no more place; are you the only ones to be settled in the midst of the land?* [9] '[It has entered] into My ears,' [said] HASHEM, Master of Legions, 'I swear that many houses, great and splendid ones, will be laid ruin, without inhabitant. [10] *For ten portions of vineyard will produce only one bath, and a homer of seeds will produce only one ephah.'

. . . the drunk . . .

[11] Woe to those who arise early in the morning to pursue liquor, who stay up late at night while wine inflames them. [12] There are harp and lyre and drum and flute, and wine at their drinking parties; but they would not contemplate the deed of HASHEM, and would not look at the work of His hands. [13] Therefore, my people is being exiled because of ignorance; its honored ones dying of starvation, and its multitude parched from thirst. [14] Therefore, the netherworld has enlarged its appetite and opened its mouth wide without limit; and [into it] will descend her glory and her multitude and her horde, and whosoever revels within her.* [15] Man will be humbled and people will be brought

. . . the ignorant . . .

. . . and the haughty

measure ephah are the same, one-tenth of a homer. Not only would the yield be less than usual, each field would produce only a tenth of the seed with which it was sown.

5:14. "Her" refers to Jerusalem.

5:16. When God punishes the wicked He becomes exalted and feared.

5:17. The sheep and sojourners are the righteous and downtrodden, who will live peacefully after God punishes the wicked. The fattened animals are the greedy wicked, whose destroyed property will revert to their victims.

5:25-6. Because the people did not take their punishments to heart (Rashi), God will signal foreign nations to come and attack.

5:30. The translation follows Radak. According to Rashi, the end of the verse reads ". . . but there will be darkness; the distressed one (Israel) and the [would-be] light (its allies) become darkened by the thick clouds [of doom]."

6:1. According to a tradition of the Midrash, "death" here refers to the leprous disease contracted by Uzziah (see II Chronicles 26:16-19) sometime after he consolidated his kingdom (Targum; Rashi). Others understand "death" literally (Ibn Ezra; Radak).

6:5. Isaiah was sure he would die, because no human can see [God's] face and live (Exodus 33:20).

lower, and the eyes of the haughty will be brought low. 16 *HASHEM, Master of Legions, will become exalted through judgment, and the Holy God will be sanctified through justice. 17 *Then the sheep will graze in their usual way, and sojourners will eat of the ruins of the fattened animals.

Woe to the deceitful

18 Woe to those who pull iniquity upon themselves with cords of falsehood, and sin like the ropes of a wagon. 19 Those who say, 'Let Him hurry, let Him hasten His action, so that we may see it; let the plan of the Holy One of Israel approach and take place, so that we may know it.'

20 Woe to those who speak of evil as good and of good as evil; who make darkness into light and light into darkness; they make bitter into sweet and sweet into bitter!

21 Woe to those who are wise in their own eyes, and in their own view, understanding. 22 Woe to those who are mighty in drinking wine and are men of accomplishment in pouring liquor. 23 They acquit the wicked one because of a bribe, and strip the righteous one of his innocence.

God's wrath

24 Therefore, just as a tongue of fire consumes straw, and a flame destroys stubble, so will their root become rot and their flower will be blown away like dust; for they have abhorred the Torah of HASHEM, Master of Legions, and they have scorned the word of the Holy One of Israel. 25 Therefore, HASHEM's wrath has flared up against His people and He has stretched forth His hand against them and stricken them; the mountains have quaked, and their corpses are like refuse in the middle of the streets. Yet still His wrath has not ceased and His hand is still stretched out. 26 He will raise a banner for far-off nations and He will whistle for [the enemy to come] from the ends of the earth; and then, behold, he will come with quickness, with alacrity.* 27 None among him is tired or stumbles; he neither sleeps nor slumbers; the belt around his waist will not be opened, and the laces of his shoes will not be untied. 28 His arrows are sharpened and all his bows are drawn; his horses' hooves are considered like flint, and his [chariots'] wheels like a storm. 29 His roar is like a lion's; he will roar like young lions, growl, seize prey and pull it away, and none can save it. 30 *He will growl at [Israel] on that day like the rumble of the sea; [Israel] will peer across the land, but there will be only the darkness of the enemy; the light [of day] has darkened in the sky.

6 1 In the year of King Uzziah's death, I saw the Lord sitting upon a high and lofty throne, and its legs filled the Temple.* 2 Seraphim were standing above, at His service. Each one had six wings: with two it would cover its face, with two it would cover its legs, and with two it would fly. 3 And one would call to another and say, "Holy, holy, holy is HASHEM, Master of Legions; the whole world is filled with His glory." 4 The doorposts moved many cubits at the sound of the calling, and the Temple became filled with smoke.

Isaiah's vision of the Heavenly Court

5 Then I said, "Woe is me, for I am doomed: for I am a man of impure lips and I dwell among a people with impure lips, for my eyes have seen the King, HASHEM, Master of Legions."*

6 One of the Seraphim flew to me and in his hand was a coal; he had taken it with tongs from atop the altar. 7 He touched it to my mouth and said, "Behold, this has touched your lips; your iniquity has gone away and your sin shall be atoned for."

8 I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, "Whom shall I send, and who shall go for us?"

6:10. They adamantly refuse to heed the prophets' words, as if to prevent an improvement in their situation.

6:12. The area of abandonment will be vast (Rashi) and its duration (Radak) will be lengthy.

6:13. From the time of Uzziah, when Isaiah received this prophecy and when the Ten Tribes were exiled, there would be ten more kings of Judah, and then it, too, would be exiled and the Temple destroyed (Radak). Alternatively: "A tenth will still be in it," i.e., when the wicked ones among them have been killed, only one-tenth of the people will remain (Targum; Rashi).

When a tree loses its leaves it gives the appearance of being completely dead, but the truth is that in the spring its leaves sprout once again. So too the Land of Israel, although it appears to have been completely emptied of its inhabitants, will once again be populated by the "holy seed" — the righteous of Israel.

7:1. Lit., "could not wage war against it." The phrase in singular refers to Pekah (Ibn Ezra). Jerusalem was militarily weak and Ahaz was a wicked king, but God protected the city in the merit of Ahaz' righteous predecessors (Rashi; Radak).

7:6. Our siege will cause Jerusalem so much distress that it will surrender (Radak); then we will annex it (Rashi).

7:8-9. Rezin has no business in Jerusalem, and Ephraim belongs in its capital of Samaria. The exile of the Ten

Call to prophecy

And I said, "Here I am! Send me!"

9 *He said, "Go and say to this people, 'Surely you hear, but you do not comprehend; and surely you see, but you fail to know.' 10 This people is fattening its heart, hardening its ears, and sealing its eyes, lest it see with its eyes, hear with its ears and understand with its heart, so that it will repent and be healed."

11 I then asked, "How long, my Lord?"

And He said, "Until the cities become desolate without inhabitant, the houses without a person, and the land becomes desolate, wasted; 12 and HASHEM will drive the people far away, and abandonment will be great amid the land. 13 There will be ten more [kings] in it,* then it shall regress and become barren — like an elm and an oak which, when shedding [their leaves], still have vitality in them, so will the holy seed be the vitality of [the land]."

Aram and Israel attack Jerusalem
(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 It happened in the days of Ahaz son of Jotham son of Uzziah, king of Judah: Rezin, king of Aram, and Pekah son of Remaliah, king of Israel, went up to wage war against Jerusalem, but he could not triumph over it. 2 It was told to the House of David, saying, "Aram has joined with Ephraim"; and his heart shuddered, and the heart of his people, like the shuddering of the trees of the forest in the wind.*

3 HASHEM said to Isaiah, "Go out and meet Ahaz, you and your son Shear-jashub [A Remainder Will Return], at the edge of the channel of the Upper Pool, at the road of the Launderer's Field, 4 and say to him, 'Be calm and still; fear not. Let your heart not grow faint before these two smoldering spent firebrands: before the burning wrath of Rezin and Aram, and [before] the son of Remaliah. 5 Because Aram, along with Ephraim and the son of Remaliah, has counseled evil against you, saying, 6 "Let us attack Judah and vex it and annex it to ourselves, and crown the son of Tabeel as king within it" — 7 thus said my Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: It shall not endure and it shall not be! 8 For the capital of Aram is Damascus and the head of Damascus is Rezin; in sixty-five more years, Ephraim will cease to be a people.* 9 And the capital of Ephraim is Samaria and the head of Samaria is the son of Remaliah. If you do not believe this, it is because you lack faith.'"*

They will not succeed

10 HASHEM spoke further to Ahaz, saying, 11 "Request a sign for yourself from HASHEM your God; request it in the depths, or high, above."

12 *But Ahaz said, "I will not request; I will not test HASHEM."

13 [Isaiah] responded, "Hear now, O House of David: Is it not enough for you that you scorn human [prophets], that you scorn even my God? 14 Therefore, my Lord Himself will give you a sign: Behold, the maiden will become pregnant and bear a son, and she will name him Immanuel. 15 He will eat cream and honey as soon as he knows to abhor evil and choose good.* 16 For before the child will know to abhor evil and choose good, the land of the two kings whom you fear will be abandoned. 17 [Later] HASHEM will bring upon you and upon your people and upon your father's family* days such as have not come since the day Ephraim turned*

A sign, a son

Tribes, led by Ephraim (as prophesied in Amos 7:11 and 17), will take place in sixty-five years.

7:11-12. Isaiah told Ahaz to ask for a sign [from the depths, i.e., to revive a dead person, or from the heavens (Rashi)] to prove the veracity of the prophecy, but Ahaz answered contemptuously, as if to say, "I do not believe that HASHEM can supply any sign" (Ibn Ezra).

7:14. Either Isaiah's (Rashi) or Ahaz' (Radak) young wife will bear a son and, through prophetic inspiration, will give him the name Immanuel, which means "God is With Us," thus in effect prophesying that Judah will be saved from the threat of Rezin and Pekah.

7:15. Although the land is now impoverished, there will be such prosperity that from an early age the child will be pampered with the richest delicacies. This prophecy is explained in verses 16 and 22.

7:17. The reference is to Ahaz's son, the righteous King Hezekiah. In his time, God will signal to the armies of Egypt and Assyria, which will swarm like flies and bees, to swoop down upon the Land of Israel.

7:20. The hair of the head represents the king; of the legs, his soldiers; and of the beard, his officials. All will be shorn, i.e., perish (Targum).

7:21-25. After the defeat of the Assyrian invaders, there will be miraculous prosperity in the desolate land. A minimum of animals will produce abundant dairy products. People will forsake wine because they will be on a lofty spiritual level; the neglected wine region will become filled with wild animals and too treacherous for an unarmed man to traverse (Rashi). The remaining land will be so fertile that people will let animals use much of it for grazing (Radak).

8:1. To strengthen the message of his prophecy, Isaiah was commanded to inscribe it in an easily and universally understandable manner (Rashi). He was to inform the people that Sennacherib's plunder of the Ten Tribes was at hand, and that Nebuchadnezzar's spoil of Jerusalem, though years away, was already approaching.

8:3. Isaiah speaks of his wife as the prophetess.

8:6. The humble and unassuming House of David (Targum) is likened to the Shiloah, Jerusalem's water sup-away from Judah: the king of Assyria's invasion.

Assyria's attack and defeat

18 "It shall be on that day that HASHEM will whistle to the fly that is at the far end of Egypt's rivers and to the bee that is in the land of Assyria. 19 They will come and all will encamp in the desolate valleys, in the crags of the rocks and upon all the brushes and all the bushes. 20 On that day the Lord will shave with a large razor those who crossed the [Euphrates] River with the king of Assyria; the head, the hair of the legs, and the beard, as well, will be destroyed. *

21 "It shall be on that day that each man will raise a heifer and two sheep, 22 but it shall be that from the abundant production of milk he will eat cream, and whoever is left in the midst of the land will eat cream and honey. 23 It will happen on that day: Where there had been a thousand vines, worth a thousand silver pieces, it will become thorns and weeds. 24 One will be able to enter there [only] with arrows and a bow, for all the land will be thorns and weeds. 25 *But all the mountains that are hoed with a hoe — the fear of thorns and weeds will not come there, but they will be for the grazing of oxen and the roaming of sheep."

8 1 *HASHEM said to me, "Take a large scroll and write on it in clear script: 'Plunder hastens; spoil quickens.'" 2 I appointed trustworthy witnesses for myself: Uriah the Kohen and Zechariah son of Jeberechiah. 3 *I approached the prophetess, * and she conceived and bore a son; and HASHEM said to me: "Name him Maher-shalal-hash-baz [Plunder Hastens; Spoil Quickens].* 4 For before the child knows how to say 'My father' and 'My mother,' the wealth of Damascus and the spoils of Samaria will be carried off before the king of Assyria."

Maher-shalal-hash-baz

5 HASHEM spoke further to me, saying:

The Shiloah and the Euphrates

6 *Because this people has rejected the gently flowing water of the Shiloah, * and has rejoiced with Rezin and the son of Remaliah,* 7 therefore, behold, the Lord is bringing upon them the mighty and abundant waters of the [Euphrates] River, the king of Assyria and all his glory, and it will rise above all its channels and overflow all its banks. 8 It will pass through Judah, flooding as it passes, and reaching to the neck; and its wingspread will be the full breadth of your land, O Immanuel.

9 Destroy, O you peoples, and then be devastated yourselves; hear this, all you faraway parts of the world: Gird yourselves, and then be shattered! Gird yourselves, and then be shattered! 10 Plan a conspiracy and it shall be annulled; speak your piece and it shall not stand, for God is with us!

11 For thus said HASHEM to me with a strong hand; He admonished me not to follow the way of this people, [but] to say:

Castigation of the defectors

12 *Do not speak of a cabal, for everything this people speaks of is a cabal; * do not fear what they fear and do not be overwhelmed by it.* 13 HASHEM, Master of Legions, Him shall you sanctify; He is Your reverence and He is your strength. 14 *He shall be a sanctuary, but also a striking stone and a stumbling rock, for the two houses of Israel; * a trap and a snare for the inhabitants of Jerusalem.* 15 And many people will stumble over them; they will fall down

---

ply. There were people in Judah who preferred the rule of Aram and the Ten Tribes to that of the Davidic dynasty. This chapter refers to them as "the people."

8:12. The majority wanted to conspire against Ahaz (Radak) or Hezekiah (Rashi), and surrender to the enemy. Isaiah warned the loyalists not to think that such a cabal had any legitimacy.

8:14. God will be a fortress of protection for the loyalists in Jerusalem, and a stumbling rock for the rebels (Radak).

8:17-18. Isaiah interrupts his prophecy to declare which of the two groups he will join.

8:18. My actions, such as the writing on the scroll (v. 1), and the names of my children — Maher-shalal-hash-baz, Shear-jashub, Immanuel — are Divinely ordained signs for events that will befall the people of Israel.

8:20. I am telling you for certain that the people will indeed try to entice you [v. 19] with arguments that have no substance (Radak).

8:21. Realizing that his king and gods cannot save him, he will look to Heaven and pray to the true God.

8:23. The Assyrians exiled the Ten Tribes in three stages (see II Kings Chs. 15, 17). The first time the people were not so severely shocked and alarmed, but when Sennacherib would return and uproot the remaining population of the Northern Kingdom, the distress would be felt much more intensely. The land is called region of the nations, because so many peoples desired it.

9:1-6. Isaiah again interrupts his prophecy to address God. The salvation to which he refers is the miraculous end of Sennacherib's siege of Jerusalem [see Chs. 36-37] (Rashi).

9:3. The rout of the Assyrian army will be reminiscent of the miracle granted Gideon and his small force against Midian (Judges Chs. 7-8).

9:5. This wondrous salvation took place in the days of the child of Ahaz, the righteous King Hezekiah, whom God — the Wondrous Adviser, Mighty God, Eternal and be broken, trapped and ensnared. [16] Fasten this warning and seal the teaching onto [the hearts of] My students.

God will conceal Himself

[17] I shall await HASHEM, Who has concealed His face from the House of Jacob, and I will hope to Him.* [18] Behold, I and the children whom HASHEM has given me are signs and symbols for Israel, from HASHEM, Master of Legions, Who dwells in Mount Zion.*

Tripartite exile

[19] If people say to you, 'Enquire of the necromancers and the diviners who chirp and snort,' [respond:] 'Should not a people inquire of their own God? [Should we inquire] of the dead for the living?!' [20] *[I swear] by the Torah and the teaching that they will make this statement to you, which has no light of dawn. [21] *Through [the land] will pass the troubled and hungry. When he will be hungry he will be angry and curse his king and his gods, and direct his face on high. [22] He will gaze throughout the land; but behold — misfortune and darkness, the weariness of distress! He will be buffeted to darkness. [23] For he was not wearied the first time [the land] was distressed, when [Assyria] exiled the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, but the last time [Assyria] will be severe, by the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan, the region of the nations.*

Isaiah praises God's salvation

[1] The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light; those who dwelled in the land of the shadow of death, light has shone upon them.* [2] You exalted the nation; You increased its joy. They rejoiced before You like the joy of harvest time, as they would exult when they divide spoils. [3] For the yoke of its burden and the staff on its shoulder, the rod that oppressed them, You smashed like the day of Midian. [4] For all tumultuous battles are fought with an uproar, and the garments wallow in blood, but [Sennacherib] became a blaze and was consumed by fire. [5] For a child has been born to us, a son has been given to us, and the dominion will rest on his shoulder; the Wondrous Adviser, Mighty God, Eternal Father, called his name Sar-shalom [Prince of Peace];* [6] upon the one with the greatness in dominion and the boundless peace that will prevail on the throne of David and on his kingdom, to establish it and sustain it through justice and righteousness, from now to eternity. The zealousness of HASHEM, Master of Legions, will accomplish this!

His anger has not subsided from Ephraim . . .

[7] *The word [that] the Lord has sent for Jacob will befall Israel. [8] Then the entire people will realize, Ephraim and the inhabitants of Samaria, who had said with pride and with arrogant heart, [9] "Bricks have fallen, we will rebuild with hewn stone; sycamores have been cut down, we will replace them with cedars." [10] HASHEM set Rezin's enemies over him, and roused his adversaries; [11] Aram from the east and the Philistines from the west, they have consumed Israel with every mouth. Yet despite all this, His anger has not subsided and His hand is still outstretched.

. . . from those who mislead . . .

[12] But the people has not returned to the One Who smites it; they do not seek HASHEM, Master of Legions. [13] HASHEM will cut off from Israel the head and the tail, the canopied tree and the reed, in one day.* [14] The elder and the distinguished man, he is the head; and the prophet who teaches falsehood, he is the tail.

Father — called "Prince of Peace."

9:7. After praising God for the miraculous future salvation of Jerusalem, Isaiah turns to the people and warns them of the disaster awaiting the arrogant and overconfident Northern Kingdom. Assyria will defeat Aram. Then, Aram and Philistia will viciously attack Israel from east and west, but the people will still refuse to acknowledge their dependence on God.

9:13. I.e., all the greater and lesser leaders of the people, and the major and minor members of society.

9:16. Despite the disaster, Israel did not repent, so God's anger persisted.

9:18-19. Just as one burning log ignites the next, so too the people, out of panic and starvation, will act cruelly toward one another (Radak). They will steal provisions, but will not find enough to satisfy their hunger (Rashi).

10:1. Isaiah addresses dishonest judges and others who use the judicial process to enrich themselves unlawfully.

10:4. The slaughter and exile will be so complete that even the wealthiest people will be doomed. The only hope will be to pretend to be one of the prisoners or to feign death among the corpses (Kara). But even then, the people will not repent, so God will not relent.

10:6-7. God sent Assyria to punish hypocritical Israel, which had angered Him, but the Assyrian king thinks his conquests are due to his own strength.

10:12-14. After using the Assyrians as His "rod of anger," God will punish them for their arrogance.

15 The guides of this people mislead, and the guided ones are devoured.
16 Therefore, my Lord shall not rejoice over their young men, and He shall not pity their orphans and widows, for they are all hypocritical and evil, and every mouth utters degeneracy. Yet despite all this, * His anger has not subsided and His hand is still outstretched.

. . . from the cruel . . .

17 For [their] wickedness will burn [within them] like the fire; it will consume thorns and weeds, and will kindle the branches of the forest; they will be overcome by the intensity of the smoke. 18 By the wrath of HASHEM, Master of Legions, the land is charred. The people has become like fuel for a fire; * they have no mercy one for another. 19 He snatched from his right and remains hungry; he consumed on his left, but they are not sated; everyone will eat the flesh of his own arm.
20 Manasseh is against Ephraim, Ephraim is against Manasseh, [but] they are both together against Judah. Yet despite all this, His anger has not subsided and His hand is still outstretched.

. . . and from the unjust

1 Woe to those * who inscribe inscriptions of falsehood and who write fraudulent documents, 2 to deprive the destitute of justice and to rob the justice of the poor of My people, so that widows be their spoil; and they plunder orphans.
3 What will you do about the day of retribution, about catastrophe that comes from afar? To whom will you run for help? Where will you leave your wealth?
4 [You will not survive] unless you kneel in the prisoner's place or fall down in the place of the slain. Yet despite all this, His anger has not subsided, and His hand is still outstretched. *

Assyria's conceit

5 Woe to Assyria, the rod of My anger; My wrath is a staff in their hand.
6 Against a hypocritical people * shall I send them, and against a people that angers Me shall I charge them, to take spoils and to plunder booty, and to make them trampled like the mire of the streets. 7 But he does not imagine this, and his heart does not think this way; for his heart is set to destroy, and to cut off nations, without leaving even a bit. 8 For he says, 'Are not all my officers [like] kings? 9 Is not Calno like Carchemish; is not Hamath like Arpad; is not Samaria like Damascus? 10 Just as my hand has overpowered the kingdoms of the false god — and their graven images are from Jerusalem and Samaria — 11 surely, just as I have done to Samaria and its false gods, so shall I do to Jerusalem and its idols!'

12 But it will be that after the Lord completes all His work, at Mount Zion and Jerusalem, I will deal with the fruits of the Assyrian king's conceit, and with the glory of his arrogant eyes. * 13 For he said, 'With the strength of my hand have I accomplished, and with my wisdom, for I am understanding; I have removed the boundaries of peoples and have plundered their treasures; I have brought down dwellers in strongholds. 14 My hand has found the wealth of the peoples like a nest; as one gathers abandoned eggs, so have I gathered the whole world, and no one shook a wing or opened a mouth and chirped [in protest].'

15 Can a hatchet glory over the one who chops with it? Can a saw be greater than the one who wields it? It is as if a rod could shake those who lift it; as if a stick could lift one who is not wood!

Parable of the forest fire

16 Therefore, the Lord, HASHEM, Master of Legions, will send a leanness among his fatted ones, and instead of his glory a burning will burn like a blaze of fire. 17 And the Light of Israel will be like fire and his Holy One will be like 10:17-18. Sennacherib's captains and officers are likened to plants and fields.

10:22. The prophecy addresses Hezekiah. Since the Ten Tribes will have been exiled, even the large populace under Hezekiah will be reckoned as a remnant of the total (Radak).

10:24. Do not fear that Assyria will exterminate you. There will be persecution as in ancient Egypt, but the nation will survive (Radak).

10:26. See Judges Ch. 7. God will defeat Sennacherib as He did Midian, and as He wiped away Egypt at the sea, by means of Moses' staff.

10:27. An ox's neck is usually oiled to keep the yoke from tearing its skin (Kara). The Sages comment that Hezekiah earned the miracle of the destruction of the Assyrian forces because of the copious amounts of oil that he used to keep lamps burning in the study halls so that the people could learn Torah late into the night.

10:34. I.e., the angel mentioned in 37:36.

11:1. The Ten Tribes, which were exiled by the Assyrians, will also be redeemed by the future Messiah, who will descend from the son of Jesse i.e., David (Rashi).

11:6. A metaphor for the abundant peace of Messianic times (Rambam; Ibn Ezra). Radak cites a view that the a flame; it will burn and consume his thorns and weeds in a single day; 18 and his glorious forest and his fertile field, it will annihilate from soul to flesh, and they will be like a termite's chewings.* 19 The tree-remnant of his forest will be few; a child will record them.

Israel's remnant will return . . .

20 It will be on that day that the remnant of Israel and the survivors of the House of Jacob will no longer rely on its attacker, but will rely on HASHEM, the Holy One of Israel, in truth. 21 The remnant will return, the remnant of Jacob, to the mighty God. 22 For even if your people Israel will be like the sand of the sea, only a remnant of it will return; [for] an intense destruction will surge forth, with justification.* 23 For an intense devastation does the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions, carry out in the midst of the land.

24 Therefore, thus said My Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, *Master of Legions: Do not be afraid of Assyria, O My people who dwell in Zion, though he will strike you with a staff and raise his rod over you in the manner of Egypt. 25 For in a very short while, My fury and My anger will destroy [them] for their sacrilege. 26 HASHEM, *Master of Legions, will arouse a rod upon him like the defeat of Midian at the rock of Oreb, and His staff [as] at the Sea [of Reeds], and carry him away, in the manner of Egypt. 27 *It will be on that day that He will lift [Assyria's] affliction from your shoulders, and his yoke from upon your neck, and the yoke will be broken because of the oil.

28 [Sennacherib] has come to Ayyath and passed through Migron; he deposits his belongings at Michmas. 29 They passed by the river crossing, they lodged at Geba; Ramah trembled, Gibeath-shaul fled. 30 Let out your voice, Bath-gallim! Hear, O Laish! Anathoth is wretched. 31 Madmenah has moved away; the inhabitants of Gebim have mustered themselves. 32 Yet today he will stand in Nob; he will wave his hand [contemptuously] at the mountain of the daughter of Zion, at the hill of Jerusalem. 33 Behold, the Lord, HASHEM, Master of Legions, will chop off branches with an ax; those of lofty stature will be severed, and the haughty ones brought low. 34 *Forest thickets will be hewn by iron, and the Lebanon will fall by a mighty one.

. . . and Assyria's forest will be cut down

The Davidic Messiah

1 A staff will emerge from the stump of Jesse and a shoot will sprout from his roots.* 2 The spirit of HASHEM will rest upon him — a spirit of wisdom and understanding, a spirit of counsel and strength, a spirit of knowledge and fear of HASHEM. 3 He will be imbued with a spirit of fear for HASHEM; and will not need to judge by what his eyes see nor decide by what his ears hear. 4 He will judge the destitute with righteousness, and decide with fairness for the humble of the earth. He will strike [the wicked of] the world with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips he will slay the wicked. 5 Righteousness will be the girdle round his loins, and faith will be the girdle round his waist.

6 The wolf will live with the sheep and the leopard will lie down with the kid; and a calf, a lion whelp and a fatling [will walk] together, and a young child will lead them.* 7 A cow and bear will graze and their young will lie down together; and a lion, like cattle, will eat hay. 8 A suckling will play by a viper's hole; and a newly weaned child will stretch his hand toward an adder's lair. 9 They will neither injure nor destroy in all of My sacred mountain; for the earth will be as filled with knowledge of HASHEM prophecy means literally that even animals will coexist in harmony. Radak's own view is that the prophecy applies to Eretz Yisrael, where the righteous people will be protected from the violence of nature (see v. 9).

12:1. The punishment of exile afforded me atonement for my sin so that complete forgiveness is now possible (Rashi).

12:3. Salvation will be as inexhaustible as water from a spring.

12:6. That is, He has wrought many great miracles for you.

13:2. These are all ways to summon multitudes of people, in this case for war against Babylonia.

13:3. God made the Persians and Medes His agents to overthrow the wicked Babylonians.

13:10. These are metaphors for the dismal and gloomy conditions that will prevail when Babylonia is invaded.

as water covering the sea bed.

10 It shall be on that day that the descendant of Jesse who stands as a banner for the peoples, nations will seek him, and his resting place will be glorious.

Ingathering of the exiles

11 It shall be on that day that the Lord will once again show His hand, to acquire the remnant of His people, who will have remained, from Assyria and from Egypt and from Pathros and from Cush and from Elam and from Shinar and from Hamath and from the islands of the sea. 12 He will raise a banner for the nations and assemble the castaways of Israel; and He will gather in the dispersed ones of Judah from the four corners of the earth.

13 The jealousy of Ephraim shall stop and the oppressors of Judah shall be cut off; Ephraim will not be jealous of Judah and Judah will not harass Ephraim. 14 They will fly in unison against the Philistine to the west, and together they will plunder the people of the East; their hand will extend over Edom and Moab, and their discipline over the Children of Ammon. 15 HASHEM will dry up the gulf of the Sea of Egypt and He will wave His hand over the [Euphrates] River with the power of His breath; He will break it into seven streams and lead [the people] across in [dry] shoes. 16 There will be a road for the remnant of His people that will remain from Assyria, as there was for Israel on the day it went up from the land of Egypt.

1 You will say on that day, 'I thank You, HASHEM, for You were angry with me, and now Your wrath has subsided and You have comforted me.*

Thanksgiving

2 Behold, God is my salvation; I shall trust and not fear. For God is my might and my praise — HASHEM! — and He is a salvation for me.'

3 *You can draw water with joy from the springs of salvation. 4 And you will say on that day, 'Give thanks to HASHEM, declare His Name, make His acts known among the peoples; declare that His Name is exalted.' 5 Make music for HASHEM, for He has acted with grandeur; make this known throughout the world. 6 *Exult and shout for joy, O inhabitant of Zion, for the Holy One of Israel is great in your midst!

1 A prophecy concerning Babylonia, which Isaiah son of Amoz envisioned:

PROPHECIES REGARDING THE NATIONS 13:1-23:18

2 Upon the high mountain hoist a banner; raise a voice to them; wave a hand, and let them come to the doors of the nobles.* 3 I have commanded My dedicated ones; I have also summoned My warriors to [execute] My wrath, to be exuberant over My grandeur.* 4 The sound of commotion is in the mountains, like that of an enormous people, the crescendo of the kingdoms of gathering nations; HASHEM, Master of Legions, is assigning officers for the legion of war. 5 They come from a faraway land, from the end of the heavens — HASHEM and His weapons of anger, to devastate the entire land.

Downfall of Babylonia

6 Wail, for the day of HASHEM is near; it will come like a sudden attack from the Almighty. 7 Therefore, all hands will grow weak and every human heart will melt. 8 They will be terrorized; aches and pains will seize them; they will be in travail like a woman in childbirth. Each man will be astonished at his friend; their faces are faces of flame. 9 Behold, the day of HASHEM is coming: [a day] of cruelty, rage and burning anger, to make the land desolate; and He will annihilate its sinners from it. 10 *For the stars of the heavens and their constellations will not radiate their light; the sun will be dark when it rises, and the moon will not shine forth its light. 11 I will visit evil upon the earth and upon the wicked their iniquity; and I will end the pride of the wanton 13:12. The Persians and Medes will not accept ransom to spare their Babylonian captives (Radak).

13:13. I.e., because the evil of Babylonia caused Me to decree its destruction.

14:1-2. The first part of this verse refers to the great kindness that God will cause Cyrus the Persian, the conqueror of Babylonia, to show the Jews. The prophet then goes on to speak of the Messianic era (Rashi; Radak).

14:2. Non-Jews will volunteer to become servants in the Land of Israel (Ibn Ezra).

14:11. Instead of the fine bed linens you were pampered with in your lifetime (Radak).

14:13. The Mountain of Meeting refers to the Temple Mount. The northern side was the holiest area of the Temple Courtyard (Rashi). Alternatively: The Temple was on the north side of Jerusalem (Radak).

and bring low the haughtiness of the mighty. 12 I will make man more valuable than rare gold, * and people more than the precious gold of Ophir. 13 Therefore * I will make the heavens tremble and the earth will rumble from its place at the fury of HASHEM, Master of Legions, on the day of His burning wrath. 14 They will be like a chased-away deer and like sheep with no one to gather [them]; each person will turn to his people and each person will flee to his land. 15 Anyone found will be pierced, and anyone who is gathered in will fall by the sword. 16 Their babies will be sundered before their eyes; their houses will be pillaged and their women ravished. 17 Behold, I shall arouse Medea against them, who will not value silver and will not desire gold. 18 Their bows will sunder young men; they will show no mercy for the fruit of the womb, and their eyes will not have pity on children. 19 And Babylonia, the choicest of the kingdoms, the splendor of the glory of the Chaldeans, will be like God's overturning of Sodom and Gomorrah. 20 It will not be inhabited forever and it will not be settled from generation to generation; no Arab will pitch tent there, and shepherds will not make their flocks lie there. 21 Martens will lie there and their houses will be full of ferrets; owls will live there and demons will dance there; 22 cats will howl in their mansions, and jackals in their palaces of delight. Her time is soon to come; her days will not long endure!

Israel will return from Babylonia

1 For HASHEM will show mercy to Jacob. * He will choose Israel again and grant them rest upon their land. The proselyte will join them and be attached to the House of Jacob. 2 The nations will take them and bring them to their place, and the House of Israel will possess them as slaves and maidservants upon the land of HASHEM;* they will be captors over their captors and they will rule over their oppressors.

3 It shall be on the day when HASHEM grants you relief from your distress and your anxiety and from the hard labor with which you were worked: 4 You will recite this parable about the king of Babylonia:

The parable about the king of Babylonia

How has the oppressor come to an end, the arrogance been ended? 5 HASHEM has broken the staff of the wicked, the rod of rulers 6 who would strike peoples with fury, with unrelenting blows, who would oppress nations with wrath, [the nations] were pursued [by them] without respite. 7 'The entire land is at rest and tranquil,' they broke out in glad song. 8 Even the cypresses rejoice over you, the cedars of Lebanon, [saying,] 'From the time that you were laid low, the woodcutter would not come up against us.' 9 The nether-world from below trembles for you to greet your arrival; it has awakened the giants for you, all the leaders of the world, it has roused all the kings of the land out of their thrones. 10 They will all proclaim and say to you, 'You also have been stricken as we were; you are compared to us. 11 Brought down to the nether-world were your pride and the tumult of your stringed instruments; maggots are spread out under you, and worms are your covers. * 12 How have you fallen from the heavens, O glowing morning star; been cut down to the ground, O conqueror of nations? 13 You had said in your heart, "I will ascend to the heavens; higher than the stars of God I shall raise my throne; I will sit at the Mountain of Meeting, on the northern side; * 14 I will ascend over the tops of the clouds; I will liken myself to the Most High!" 15 But to the nether-world have you been lowered, to the bottom of the pit!' 16 Those who see you will take note, they will contemplate you carefully;

14:18-20. Lit., in his home; i.e., Nebuchadnezzar will not rest in peace like other dead kings who lie peacefully in their graves (Rashi), for his body will be exhumed and desecrated by his own people (Seder Olam). Moreover, his dynasty will end with his grandson.

14:24-27. This prophecy concerns Assyria. Rashi connects it to the previous prophecy against Babylonia: "When you, Nebuchadnezzar, see God's word come true against Assyria, you will realize that His prophecy concerning you will come about, as well."

14:29. The Philistines should not rejoice over a death in the Davidic dynasty, which always triumphed over them, for from David and Uzziah, who defeated them (II Samuel 8:1; II Chronicles 26:6), will emerge Hezekiah, who will deal them a severe blow (II Kings 18:8).

14:31. Hezekiah will swoop down from the north upon the Philistine capital, Gaza, every one of his troops in full formation.

15:2. Pulling out the hair of the head and of the beard are signs of intense grief and consternation.

15:5. The prophets of Israel feel compassion even for their enemies (Rashi).

"Third-born calf" was a common expression used to denote prime quality and value, since the third calf born to a cow is considered the strongest and healthiest of her offspring (see Jeremiah 48:34).

15:7. This refers to Babylonia (see Psalms 137:1-2; Rashi).

*'Is this the man who made the land tremble, who made kingdoms quake; [17] who made the world like a wilderness and tore down its cities; who never released his captives to go home?' [18] All the kings of the nations, all of them, lie in honor, each in his place, * [19] but you have been flung from your grave like a detested tree shoot; like the garment of corpses pierced by the sword, which are lowered into the stones of the pit, like a trampled carcass. [20] You will not join them in burial, for you have destroyed your land and killed your people; your evil offspring will not be called [by your name] for long. [21] Prepare a slaughter for his sons for their father's iniquity; let them not arise and inherit the land, lest the world become full of enemies.*

[22] I will rise up against them — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — and I will cut off for Babylonia name and remnant, child and grandchild — the word of HASHEM. [23] And I will make it an inheritance for the hedgehog and marshes of water, and I will sweep it clean with the broom of destruction — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions.

God's plan for Assyria is fulfilled

*[24] HASHEM, Master of Legions, has sworn, saying: * 'Surely as I have conceived, so shall come about; and as I have devised, so shall be established: [25] To break Assyria in My land; I will trample him on My mountains; his yoke will be removed from upon [Israel] and his burden will be removed from upon [Israel's] shoulder. [26] This is the plan that is devised against all the land, and this is the hand that is outstretched against all the nations.' [27] For HASHEM, Master of Legions, has devised, and who can annul? His hand is outstretched, and who can turn it back?*

[28] In the year of King Ahaz' death, this prophecy came:

Warning to Philistia

*[29] Do not rejoice, O Philistia, all of you, because the staff that beat you has been broken; for from the root of the snake will emerge a viper, and his progeny will be a flying fiery serpent. * [30] The foremost of the poor will then graze, and the destitute will lie down in security; and I will kill your root with famine, and he will slay your remnant. [31] Wail, O gate! Cry out, O city! Melt [in fear], O Philistia, all of you! For smoke comes from the North, and no one is isolated among his appointed troops. * [32] What will the messengers of the nation say? That HASHEM has established Zion and in it the poor of His people take shelter.*

15 [1] A prophecy concerning Moab:

Downfall of Moab

*On the night Ar of Moab was pillaged, it was silenced; on the night that Kir of Moab was pillaged, it was silenced. [2] [Its populace] went up to the temple, and Dibon went up to the high places to weep; Moab wails for Nebo and for Medeba. On all of its heads there is baldness; every beard is diminished. * [3] In their streets they have donned sackcloth; upon their rooftops and in their plazas every one wails and laments with weeping. [4] Heshbon cries out, and Elealeh, their voice is heard until Jahaz. Therefore, the armed soldiers of Moab shout; its soul shouts for it. [5] My heart cries out for Moab! * Her refugees flee until Zoar, the third-born calf; * for they ascend the Luhith ascent with weeping, for on the road of Horonaim they howl with the cry of catastrophe. [6] For the waters of Nimrim will be laid waste; for the grass is withered, the herbage is finished; the greenery is gone. [7] For the wealth they had accrued and their possessions will be carried off to the Willow Brook. **

15:9. A play on words: The name of the river דימון, "Dimon," is cognate with דם, "blood" (Rashi).

16:1. In earlier times, these Moabite areas would submit a yearly tribute of fatted sheep to their Israelite overlords (II Kings 3:4). Thus, the formerly subordinate Moabites are being reprimanded for their arrogance.

16:3-4. Isaiah chastises Moab for not helping the fugitive Jews even after Nebuchadnezzar's army had departed. This was a lack of gratitude, for Abraham had risked his life to rescue Lot, Moab's ancestor. Moab should have provided hiding places, as if making the noontime become dark, so as to hinder Assyrian pursuit (Radak).

16:9-10. "Hedad" is a battle cry and also the cry of wine pressers (see Jeremiah 25:30 and 51:14).

16:14. A hired man counts the days and will not work a single extra day; i.e., the prophecy will come about in exactly three years, without delay (Radak).

17:1. The prophecy concerns Aram, of which Damascus was the capital.

17:2-3. By the time this prophecy was uttered the tribes of Reuben and Gad had already been exiled from their lands. Isaiah warns Aram that it would be exiled by Sennacherib, just as he had exiled the Jewish city of Aroer and then the rest of the Ten Tribes (Rashi).

8 For the outcry envelops the boundary of Moab; until Eglaim is her wailing, until Beer-elim is her wailing. 9 For the waters of Dimon are filled with blood, for I will pour more [of it] into Dimon. * Upon the survivors of Moab there will come a lion, upon the remnant of the land.

16

1 Send fatted sheep, O ruler of the land, from the Rock of the Wilderness to the Mountain of the Daughter of Zion. * 2 Like a wandering bird, chased from the nest, will the daughters of Moab be at the crossings of the Arnon. 3 Render counsel, execute justice; during the noontime make your shade [as dark] as the night, hide the refugees; * do not reveal the wanderer. 4 Let My refugees live among you, O Moab; be a shelter for them from the pillager, for the oppressor is gone, the persecutor is finished, the tramplers are terminated from the land.

Moab's death throes

5 The throne [of Hezekiah] will then be established with kindness, and he will sit upon it in truthfulness in the tent of David, judging and striving for justice and being zealous for righteousness. 6 We have heard of Moab's pride — exceedingly proud — his haughtiness and pride and scorn are untrue deceptions. 7 Therefore, Moab will wail for Moab; everyone will wail; moan for the foundations of Kir-hareseth, O distressed ones, 8 for the fields of Heshbon are enfeebled; as for the vine of Sibmah — the kings of the nations have beaten down their shoots; they have reached until Jazer and become lost in the wilderness; her branches have spread out and crossed the sea. 9 Therefore, I cry with the weeping of Jazer, the vine of Sibmah; I will drench you with my tears, O Heshbon and Elealeh; for the cry of 'Hedad' * has descended over your summer fruits and harvest. 10 Gladness and joy will cease from fertile field, and in the vineyards there will be no rejoicing nor shouting for joy. The treader will not tread out wine in the winepresses; I have ended 'Hedad.'

11 Therefore, my insides moan like a harp for Moab, and my innards for Kir-heres. 12 And it shall be when Moab seems to be weary of the high place, and they will come to their sanctuary to pray, they will not be able. 13 This is the prophecy that HASHEM had spoken for Moab before, 14 but now HASHEM has spoken, saying:

In three years, like the term of a hired hand, * the honor of Moab will turn to disgrace, and there will be a very small remainder, not many.

17

1 A prophecy concerning Damascus: *

Breakup of Ephramite-Aramean alliance

Behold, Damascus will be negated from being a city, and it will be a heap of rubble. 2 Deserted will be the cities of Aroer; they will be for flocks, that will lie down with none to disturb them. 3 The stronghold will cease from Ephraim, and monarchy from Damascus and the rest of Aram; * they will be like the glory of the Children of Israel — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions.

4 It shall be on that day that the honor of Jacob will diminish and the fatness of his flesh grow lean. 5 He will be as when the harvester gathers grain and his arm cuts the ears, * and he will be as when one gleans ears in the Valley of Rephaim. 6 Only gleamings will remain on him, like a picked olive tree, with but two or three olives on the top of the highest branch, or four or five

17:5. Israel will be as uninhabited as a field that has been harvested and then gleaned by the poor. The Valley of Rephaim was near Jerusalem; thus, Sennacherib's butchery would extend up to Jerusalem (Rashi).

17:9. The desertion of the country in the wake of Sennacherib will be reminiscent of the evacuation of many of the Canaanite cities when Moses and Joshua conquered the land (Rashi).

17:10. You had illustrious ancestors, but you fall short of their standard.

18:1. Isaiah envisions the onset of the Messianic era, and speaks to the nations involved in the wars of "Gog and Magog." The prophet refers to their country as a land of clamorous wings, because its warm climate attracts migratory birds (Rashi).

Alternatively: This prophecy concerns Sennacherib (Kara).

18:2-3. The nations send agents to see if it is true that Israel has been returned to its ancestral land, but God says that when that time comes, the banner and shofar that will muster the scattered Israelites will be manifest for all to see (Rashi).

18:4. Though God will not be at ease as long as Israel is in exile (see 62:1), the salvation will yet come, and the Foundation, i.e., the Temple, will be rebuilt (Radak). He will refresh His nation just as pleasant weather refreshes people.

18:5. The aggressors against Israel will flourish temporarily, but before their evil designs come to fruition, God will stop them.

18:7. Having been punished by God, the peoples of the world will bring Him an offering; the offering will be the on its flourishing boughs — the word of HASHEM, God of Israel.

Abandonment of idolatry

7 On that day, man will turn to his Maker and his eyes will look to the Holy One of Israel. 8 He will not turn to the altars of his own handiwork; and to what his fingers made he will not look, nor [to] the Asherah-trees or the sun-images.

9 On that day his fortified cities will be like the abandonment of forests and woodlands, which they abandoned before the Children of Israel; and it will be desolate. 10 For you have forgotten the God of your salvation, and have not remembered the Rock of your stronghold; because you had been planted as pleasant saplings, but you sow strange shoots.* 11 On the day you were planted you flourished, and at dawn your seed flowered; but your branch is removed, on a day of affliction and acute pain.*

Rebuke for the nations

12 Woe to the tumult of the many nations, who are as tumultuous as the tumult of the seas; and to the uproar of the nations, who roar like the uproar of powerful waters. 13 Nations roar like the roar of many waters, but He will rebuke them and they will flee far away; they will be pursued like the chaff of mountains before the wind, and like pollen before a stormy wind. 14 At evening time, behold there is fright; before the morning dawn, he is no more. This is the lot of our assailants and the due of our spoilers!

Trans-Cushite emissaries

1 Woe to the land of clamorous wings, on the other side of the rivers of Cush, 2 which sends agents into the sea, in papyrus vessels upon the surface of the water. 'Go, fleet messengers, to the nation that is dragged and plucked, to the people that inspired awe from the day it came into being and onward, the nation that is detested and trampled, whose land was ravished by kings.' 3 All you inhabitants of the world and dwellers of the earth — you will see when the banner is hoisted up upon the mountains, and when the shofar sounds you will hear!* 4 For thus said HASHEM to me: 'I will be at ease* and I will look after My Place of Foundation; like crisp warmth after the rain, like a mist of dew in the heat of the harvest.' 5 For before the harvest, when the flower is finished and the bud turns to grapes approaching ripeness, He will cut down the young branches with pruning hooks and He will remove and chop off all the twigs.* 6 They will be left together for the bird of prey of the mountains and for the beast of the earth; and the bird of prey will [feast in the] summer on them, and every beast of the earth will [feast in the] winter on them.*

7 At that time an offering will be brought to HASHEM, Master of Legions — [namely,] the people that is dragged and plucked, and some of the people that inspired awe from the day it came into being and onward, the nation that is oppressed and trampled, whose land was ravished by rivers;* to the place [wherein rests] the Name of HASHEM, Master of Legions — Mount Zion.*

Downfall of Egypt

1 A prophecy concerning Egypt:

Behold, HASHEM is riding upon a swift cloud and coming to Egypt; the Egyptian false gods will tremble before Him, and the heart of Egypt will melt within it. 2 I will cause Egyptians to fight Egyptians; each one will battle his brother and each his fellow; city against city; kingdom against kingdom. 3 The spirit of Egypt will be emptied within it, and I will confound their counsel;

Jewish people (see 66:20) which is described here in the same terms as those used in verse 2 where the nation was described at the time of its degradation.

Rivers is a metaphor for foreign invaders (Targum).

19:5. Lit., "the river." Arid Egypt depends on the Nile for its sustenance; therefore the drying of the Nile is a metaphor for the country's downfall (Rashi).

19:9. Since fishing will come to a standstill, those whose livelihood depends on it will be chagrined.

19:10. Fishermen used to dam the waters to trap fish in calm pools. Now all that will be useless (Rashi).

19:11. A royal Egyptian city (see 30:4).

19:13. Another Egyptian city, identified by Targum as Memphis.

19:15. The "head" and "tail" refer to the major and minor government advisers, as do the "canopied tree" and the "reed"; that is, the strong, self-assured advisers and the weaker, more pliant ones (Radak).

19:17. When Egypt hears that the army of Sennacherib, its conqueror, was miraculously wiped out at the gates of Jerusalem, the Egyptians will realize that both their defeat and Judah's salvation were Divinely ordained, and they will fear God.

19:18. I.e., Hebrew. Egyptian eyewitnesses to the miracle in Jerusalem will set up, in Egypt, communities of people who are faithful to God.

One of those five communities was called City of the Sun (Kara); it was later destroyed (Targum; Rashi; see Jeremiah 43:13).

they will inquire of the false gods, of the sorcerers, of the necromancers, and of the diviners.

The Nile will dry up

4 I will deliver Egypt into the hands of a harsh master, and a strong king will rule them — the word of the Lord, HASHEM, Master of Legions. 5 The waters of the sea will recede, and the Nile will dry out and be parched.* 6 The rivers will become foul and [waters in] the moats will be diminished and dry up; the reeds and the bulrushes will wither. 7 The vegetation near the Nile, on the bank of the Nile, and everything planted alongside the Nile, will dry up, wither, and be no more. 8 The fishermen will mourn, and all those who cast their hooks into the Nile will lament; those who spread nets on the water will be bereaved. 9 *Ashamed will be those who work at combing flax and weaving nets. 10 *The foundations of its fish pools will be battered, all who dammed calm pools will be depressed in spirit.

11 The officers of Zoan are but fools, Pharaoh's wisest advisers offer boorish counsel. How can you tell Pharaoh, 'I am the son of wise men, the descendant of the kings of yore'?* 12 Where are they? Where are your wise men? Let them tell you now, let them try to know what HASHEM, Master of Legions, has planned for Egypt. 13 The officers of Zoan have become foolish, the officers of Noph have become misguided. The cornerstones of her tribes have caused Egypt to stray.* 14 HASHEM has poured out into her midst a spirit of insanity and they have caused Egypt to stray in all their actions, as a drunkard strays into his vomit. 15 There will be nothing that the Egyptians can do — the 'head' or the 'tail,' the 'canopied tree' or the 'reed.'* 16 On that day Egypt will be like women; it will tremble and fear before the wave of the hand of HASHEM, Master of Legions, which He will wave at it. 17 The land of Judah will be a source of fright for Egypt; when anyone mentions it to [Egypt], it will fear, because of the counsel of HASHEM, Master of Legions, that He devises against it.*

Egypt's worship of the true God, and its deliverance

18 On that day, there will be five cities in Egypt that speak the language of Canaan and that swear by [the Name of] HASHEM, Master of Legions; one of them will be called 'the City of the Sun.'

19 On that day there will be an altar [dedicated] to HASHEM in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar [dedicated] to HASHEM near its border; 20 and it will be a sign and a witness to HASHEM, Master of Legions, in the land of Egypt, that when they cry out to HASHEM because of oppressors, He will send them a savior and a leader and deliver them. 21 And HASHEM will become known to Egypt, for the Egyptians will know HASHEM on that day; and they will worship with sacrifice and meal-offering, and they will make a vow to HASHEM and fulfill it. 22 HASHEM will strike Egypt, striking and healing; they will repent to HASHEM, He will be appeased to them and heal them.

23 *On that day there will be a road from Egypt to Assyria; Assyrian will come into Egypt and Egyptian into Assyria, and Egypt will serve [HASHEM] with Assyria.

24 On that day Israel will be the third party with Egypt and with Assyria, a blessing in the midst of the land, 25 for HASHEM, Master of Legions, will bless 19:23-25. Egypt and Assyria will make peace when they realize that God controls their fate. Israel will be their third partner in the worship of God (Radak).

Malbim cites three views of when this prophecy will take place: It will be in the future; it happened at the time of Simeon the Righteous during the early years of the Second Temple; it happened in Hezekiah's time, after the miracle at Jerusalem.

20:1. The commentators note that Sargon was Sennacherib. The conquest of Ashdod mentioned in this verse took place either the year he besieged Jerusalem or three years before.

20:2. I.e., he was wearing only sackcloth.

20:6. A reference to the people of Judah [which was like an island surrounded by Assyrian forces, yet] relying on Egypt (Rashi). Radak renders coastland, since Judah was on the Mediterranean.

21:1. This prophecy is addressed to Babylonia, as seen from v. 9. The prophet calls it Wilderness of the West, because he foretells a destruction that will come like a windstorm from the Persians and Medes, Babylonia's eastern neighbors (Radak).

21:2. Babylonia will be so vulnerable that anyone will be able to attack her (Ibn Ezra). God will end all the sighs of those who were mistreated by Babylonia, because the tyrant will be vanquished (Rashi).

21:3-5. The prophet laments as he empathizes with the fallen Babylonians. Alternatively: The prophet now speaks for the last Babylonian king, Belshazzar, who was killed during the course of a lavish banquet (Daniel Ch. 5). The feast (v. 5) was interrupted by the invasion of the Persians and Medes.

21:5. Shields were greased so that arrows would glance off rather than pierce them.

21:8. Understanding the lookout (v. 6) to refer to himself, Isaiah longs to be shown a vision concerning the wicked Babylonians (Ibn Ezra).

21:11. The name Duma is a reference to Edom (Rashi). In this prophecy, God says that Israel cries out to God, its Watchman, because of the oppression of the night, i.e., exile, inflicted by Edom, whose homeland was Seir.

21:12. Deliverance is at hand, but the night will continue for the wicked. Only repentance will bring the long-awaited salvation.

them, saying, 'Blessed is My people, Egypt; and the work of My hands, Assyria; and My heritage, Israel.'

20 [1] In the year that Tartan came to Ashdod, when Sargon, king of Assyria, sent him, and he fought against Ashdod and captured it, * [2] at that time HASHEM spoke through Isaiah son of Amoz, saying, [3] "Go and don sackcloth upon your loins and remove your shoe from your foot." He did so, going unclothed * and barefoot.

[3] HASHEM said:

Exile of Egypt and Cush

Just as My servant Isaiah has gone unclothed and barefoot for three years, as a sign and a symbol for Egypt and Cush, [4] so will the king of Assyria lead away the captivity of Egypt and the exile of Cush — young and old — unclothed and barefoot, with exposed buttocks, the nakedness of Egypt. [5] Devastated and ashamed will be those whose longing was for Cush and whose splendor was from Egypt. [6] The inhabitant of this island * will say on that day, 'Behold, if such [was the defeat of] the one for whom we longed — to where we ran for help to be rescued from the king of Assyria — how can we hope to escape?'

21 [1] A prophecy concerning the Wilderness of the West: *

Downfall of Babylonia . . .

Like windstorms sweeping through the desert, it will come from the wilderness, from a fearful land. [2] A harsh vision has been told to me: The treacherous one may act treacherously, * and the pillager may pillage. 'Go up, O Elam! Besiege, O Media!' I have brought an end to every sigh.

[3] Therefore, my * loins are full of anguish; pains have gripped me like the pains of a woman in childbirth. I have become confounded from hearing it; terrified from seeing it. [4] My heart has become disoriented; panic has terrorized me. He has turned my festive evening into a horror. [5] Setting the table, lighting the candelabrum, eating and drinking, 'Arise, O officers; anoint the shield.' *

[6] For thus said my Lord to me: Go, station the lookout, and let him tell what he sees. [7] He will see a chariot, a pair of horsemen, a donkey chariot, a camel chariot; and he will listen intently, with much to hear, [8] and he will call out like a lion.

My Lord, I stand on the lookout constantly * during the day, and I am stationed at my post all the nights. [9] Behold, it is coming: a chariot with a man, a pair of horsemen. Each says loudly, 'It has fallen! Babylonia has fallen! All the statues of its gods have been shattered on the ground! [10] It is [like] grain of the threshing floor, for me to thresh!'

What I have heard from HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel, I have told you.

. . . Duma [Edom] . . .

[11] A prophecy concerning Duma: *

He calls out to Me because of Seir: 'Watchman, what of the night? Watchman, what of the night?' [12] The Watchman said, 'Morning is coming, but also night. * If you really desire it, repent and come.'

. . . and Arabia

[13] A prophecy concerning Arabia:

In the forest in Arabia shall you lodge, [you] caravans of Dedanites. *

21:13. The Dedanites, who had availed themselves of the hospitality of the Arabs whenever they traveled through the desert, would now lodge in the forests, because the Arabs would be driven from their land.

21:14. The Arabs, who will be captured and led into exile, will be starving and thirsty, dependent on the good will of their neighbors for survival.

21:16. The timing will be exact, just as a wage earner does not work a moment longer than he is required to.

The Arab nation is called Kedar after Ishmael's second son (see Genesis 25:13).

22:1. I.e., Jerusalem, where many prophetic visions were seen (Rashi). Though it is on a hilltop, its sins brought it down to a spiritual valley.

The people went to the roofs to seek shelter from invaders, or to fight from a vantage point (Radak).

22:4. The prophet rejected his comforters.

22:5. Alternatively: "Kir breaching [the wall] and Shoa upon the mountain" (Kara). Among the allies of Babylonia were Kir (see II Kings 16:9), Shoa (see Ezekiel 23:23), and Elam (v. 6).

22:7. Isaiah now speaks to Jerusalem's inhabitants.

22:8-11. Isaiah decries the misplaced confidence of the Jews. They were sure that the Temple — the shelter of Judah — would protect them. When the enemy prevailed anyway, the people turned to a building called the House of the Forest [of Lebanon] (see I Kings 10:16) where King Solomon had stored shields and armaments. Seeing that the enemy had breached the wall, they gathered water to make mortar and tore down houses to acquire building blocks for repairs. The people drew the wrong conclusions. They trusted in external protection, but failed to turn to the only One Who could help them.

22:12. God called upon the people, through the agency of His prophets, to repent, bemoan their shortcomings and return to Him.

22:15-25. Isaiah condemns Shebna, a deputy of King Hezekiah (see II Kings Chs. 18,19), who led a rebel

14 Bring forth water for the thirsty! Those who dwell in the land of Tema* greeted the wanderer with food. 15 For they will wander because of swords; because of the outstretched sword, because of the drawn bow and because of the severity of the war. 16 For thus said my Lord to me: In one more year, like the years of a wage earner, all the glory of Kedar* will be ended;* 17 and the remainder of the numbers of archers, the mighty heroes of the sons of Kedar, will be diminished, for HASHEM, the God of Israel, has spoken.

22 1 *A prophecy concerning the Valley of Vision:

Downfall of Jerusalem

*What happened to you now, that you have all gone up to the roofs, 2 you who had been full of commotion, a tumultuous city, an exuberant town?
Your slain are not slain by the sword, nor did they die in war. 3 All of your officers wandered off together, but were confined by the bow; all those found within you were confined together, [as well as] those who had fled afar.

4 I said, therefore, 'Leave me alone; I will weep bitterly; do not insist on* comforting me for the calamity of my people.' 5 For it is a day of turmoil and trampling and confusion unto my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions, in the Valley of Vision, of breaching [the] wall and of crying out upon the *mountain. 6 Elam has taken up its quiver, with chariots of men and horsemen, and Kir bared its shield.

7 The choicest of your valleys became filled with chariots, and horsemen* positioned themselves toward your gate. 8 He uncovered the shelter of Judah, but on that day you looked to the armaments in the House of the Forest. 9 You saw that the breaches of the City of David were numerous, so you collected the waters of the Lower Pool. 10 You counted the houses of Jerusalem, and you demolished the houses to reinforce the wall. 11 You made a water reservoir between the two walls, by the water of the Old Pool.
But you did not look towards the One Who made this happen, nor did you *consider the One Who formed it in the distant past. 12 My Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions, declared that day to be for crying and lament- ing, for baldness and for the donning of sackcloth;* 13 yet behold! there is joy and gladness, slaying of cattle and slaughtering of sheep, eating meat and drinking wine, [saying,] 'Eat and drink, for tomorrow we die.'

14 This became revealed in My ears, [I,] HASHEM, Master of Legions, that this sin will never be atoned for you until you die — said my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions.

Shebna's degradation

15 Thus said my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions: Go and ap- proach that manager, Shebna, who is in charge of the [king's] house.*
16 [Tell him:] What have you here and whom have you here, that you have hewn yourself a grave here, you who digs his grave on high and carves out* in the rock an abode for himself? 17 Behold, HASHEM is going to make you wander an intense wandering, and He will send you circling afar. 18 He will wind you around like a turban, [and hurl you like] a ball to a land without obstacles; there you will die and there [will die] your chariots of honor —*
O shame of your master's house. 19  I will oust you from your position,* party that wanted to capitulate to Sennacherib.

22:16. So sure was Shebna that he was irreplaceable, that he hewed out a grave for himself in the royal section [on high] of the burial ground (Radak).

22:18. Where the ball would keep rolling endlessly, with nothing to stop it (Metzudos).

22:19-23. Until now the prophet has been speaking in his own voice, referring to God in the third person. In verse 19 he speaks in God's voice using the first person, then switches back to the third person. For the remainder of the passage he reverts to the first person. This shifting of person and voice is not uncommon in prophecy (Radak).

22:22. I.e., the affairs of the royal house will be arranged through him.

22:24. Continuing the metaphor of the sturdy peg, Isaiah says that Eliakim will be trusted by all classes of people, who will rely (hang) on him for all their needs.

23:1. Tarshish ships are long-distance cargo vessels. The impending destruction of Tyre and Sidon would deprive the Tarshish ships of their principal destinations, and the ships' other ports of call would lack the merchandise that used to fill their docks and stores.

23:3. The Tyrians would import fine Egyptian grain.

23:4. The fortress is Tyre. Sidon, which was dependent on Tyre, will be ashamed when it hears vanquished Tyre lament, "All my children are gone forever, as if I had never borne or raised them."

23:5. When Egypt hears what Babylonia did to Tyre, they will tremble, as Tyre had when it learned that Nebuchadnezzar's forces were on the way (Radak).

23:6. You inhabitants of Tyre, flee for your lives to Tarshish (Targum).

23:8-9. Who could have devised a plan to destroy such a thriving, distinguished city? The answer follows: God decreed it and, as it were, ordered Tyre's citizens to flee into exile.

23:11. God decreed that ships with lucrative cargo would not reach Tyre (Radak). He also decreed destruc-

Eliakim's elevation and He will bring you down from your post. [20] It shall be on that day that I will call upon My servant, upon Eliakim son of Hilkiah; [21] I will dress him with your tunic and gird him with your belt, and I will deliver your dominion into his hand; and he will be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and to the House of Judah. [22] I will place the key to the House of David on his shoulder; he will open and no one will close, he will close and no one will open.* [23] I will affix him as a peg in a secure place, and he will be like a throne of honor for his father's house. [24] *They will hang upon him the entire honor of his father's house, the sons and the daughters, every small article, from various bowls to all kinds of stringed instruments.

[25] On that day — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — the peg [of Shebna] that is affixed in a secure place will move away, and the load that is upon it will be plucked off and fall and be destroyed, for HASHEM has spoken.

23 [1] A prophecy concerning Tyre:

Downfall of Tyre . . .

Wail, O ships of Tarshish, for [Tyre] has been too sacked from within to be able to enter it. From the land of Kittim has [the invader] been revealed to it.* [2] Fall silent, you island dwellers, [for] the seafaring merchants of Sidon used to fill you. [3] Through many waters [came] the seed of the Nile, the harvest of the river as her produce; she was the marketplace for all the nations.* [4] Be ashamed, O Sidon, for the sea has spoken, the fortress on the sea, saying, 'I have not gone into labor and I have not given birth, nor have I raised youths or reared maidens.'* [5] *When the news reaches Egypt, they will tremble, as when Tyre heard the news. [6] Move on to Tarshish! Wail, O dwellers of the island!* [7] Is this happening to you, O exultant one, whose origins were in ancient days, but whose legs lead her to dwell in far-off [exile]? [8] Who devised this against Tyre, the magnificent, whose merchants were princes and whose traders were the elite of the land?* [9] HASHEM, Master of Legions, devised it, to defile pride in every delight, to suppress all the elite of the land. [10] Pass away from your land, like a [flowing] river, O daughter of Tarshish; you have no more power. [11] [God] stretched out His hand over the sea, He incited kingdoms; HASHEM has issued a command against Canaan, to destroy its source of strength.* [12] And He said, 'Exult no longer, O oppressed virgin daughter of Sidon, get up and cross over to Kittim; but even there there will be no rest for you.' [13] Behold, this is the land of the Chaldeans, for this nation never used to be [here]. Assyria founded it for its fleets, they erected its towers; [now] they destroyed its palaces, it has been made a ruin.* [14] Wail, O ships of Tarshish, for your source of strength has been sacked!

. . . and its restoration

[15] It shall be on that day that Tyre will be forgotten for seventy years, like the lifetime of a unique king; at the end of seventy years there will be for Tyre something like the song of a harlot.* [16] Take a harp and circle the city, O forgotten harlot; play well, sing a lot, so that you may be remembered. [17] And it shall be at the end of seventy years that HASHEM will remember Tyre, and she will resume her harlot's hire, and she will engage in harlotry with all tion on the Phoenician coast, which was inhabited by Canaanites (Genesis 10:19).

23:13. Tyre was founded by Chaldeans and Assyrians. The Phoenicians (Canaanites) who now populated the area arrived only afterwards (Radak). The newcomers should not be surprised now when they are driven from this land.

23:15. I.e., King David, who lived for seventy years. Then, Tyre will be like a harlot past her prime, who sings a seductive song to call attention to herself.

23:17. Tyre will again be a prosperous trader. Its profits and commerce are contemptuously referred to as "harlot's wages" and "harlotry."

24:1. This prophecy concerns the end of days (Rashi).

24:5. Because the people had been unfaithful to God, the land will act in kind; it will not bring forth produce when they cultivate it.

24:13. Few people will remain in the land, as few as the remaining olives or grapes after the harvest.

24:16. Upon seeing the vision that the wicked would be vanquished, Isaiah expresses consternation, for he knows that many Jews will perish for their unfaithfulness to God (Radak). Alternatively, Isaiah's words mean, "My secret is with me! My secret is with me!" God has revealed two secrets to the prophet: the secret of Israel's downfall and the secret of Israel's salvation. "Woe is me!" for I have been shown that five periods of subjugation will precede the final salvation [alluded to by the fivefold mention of treachery] (Rashi).

24:18. Misfortunes will follow one another as swiftly as if tragedy is raining down from the windows of Heaven (Radak).

24:21. The guardian angels of the nations (see Daniel 10:13) will be eliminated, and their earthly constituencies will follow them to oblivion (Rashi).

24:23. They will no longer be worshiped once the glory of God becomes clear for all to see (Targum).

the kingdoms of the land on the face of the earth. * 18 And her merchandise and harlot's wages will [one day] become holy to HASHEM; it shall not be stored nor accumulated, for her merchandise will belong to those who sit before HASHEM, to eat and be sated and for elegant clothing.

24

The desolation of the land

1 Behold, * HASHEM is emptying the land and making it deserted; He will distort its appearance and scatter its inhabitants: 2 as with the people, so with the priest; as with the slave, so with his master; as with the maidservant, so with her mistress; as with the buyer, so with the seller; as with the lender, so with the borrower; as with the creditor, so with the one who owes him. 3 The land will be utterly emptied and utterly despoiled, for HASHEM has spoken this word. 4 The land will become desolate and withered; the world will be wretched and withered; the exalted of the people of the land will be wretched. 5 The land will be unfaithful because of its inhabitants, * for they have transgressed commandments and have violated laws; they have abrogated the everlasting Covenant. 6 Because of [false] oath, the land is consumed and those who inhabit it have become decimated; for this, the inhabitants of the land have become parched, and few people remain. 7 The grapes are desolate, the vine is forlorn; all glad-hearted people groan. 8 Rejoicing with timbrels has ceased; the noise of revelers has stopped; the joy of the harp has ceased. 9 They do not drink wine with song; liquor has become bitter to those who drink it. 10 The chaotic city has been broken; every house has been closed against entry. 11 There was crying for wine in the streets; all gladness is dimmed; the joy of the land has been exiled. 12 Desolation has remained in the city, and the gate is stricken with desertion. 13 For thus shall it be in the midst of the land, among the nations: as [after] the beating of an olive tree, * like solitary grapes when the harvest is completed. 14 They will yet raise their voice, they will shout; over the greatness of HASHEM, they will shout [with] greater [joy] than at the Sea [of Reeds]. 15 Therefore, honor HASHEM in the valleys, in the islands of the sea, [honor] the Name of HASHEM, the God of Israel.

Expectant exuberance

16 From the edge of the earth we have heard songs, "Glory for the righteous." But I say, "My lot is to waste away! My lot is to waste away! Woe is me! The treacherous have dealt with treachery; with the treachery of the treacherous have they dealt treacherously!" *

God's judgment

17 Fear and pitfall and snare [will be] upon you, O inhabitant of the land; 18 it shall be that whoever flees the sound of the fear will fall into the pit, and whoever rises from within the pit will be trapped in the snare; for windows will be opened from above, * and the foundations of the earth will quake. 19 Broken, broken will be the land; crumbled, crumbled will be the land; trembling, trembling will be the land; 20 tottering, the land will totter like a drunkard, and sway like a shack; and its sins will weigh heavily upon it, and it will fall, never to rise again.

21 It shall be on that day that HASHEM will deal with the hosts of heaven in heaven, * and with the kings of the earth on the earth. 22 They will be gathered together in a gathering, a captive in a dungeon, and they will be imprisoned in a prison; and [their sins] of many days will be recalled. 23 The moon will be humiliated and the sun will be shamed, * for HASHEM, Master of Legions, will have reigned in Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, and there will be honor for His elders.

25:1. When he received the prophecy of salvation, Isaiah burst forth with praise (Ibn Ezra). Alternatively: These are the words of those who will witness God's salvation described in Chapter 24 (Radak).

25:4. A reference to Israel, which suffered tribulations from the mighty during their exile.

25:5. God in His mercy protected Israel from the oppressive heat of their persecutors.

25:6. On Mount Zion, the final judgment of the nations will take place. God will serve a rich repast of retribution, like a feast of concentrated, potent, filling and intoxicating foods and spirits.

25:7. That is, He will take away their protection of veils and masks, and allow them to be routed.

25:8. Jews will no longer be killed by their persecutors, but death from natural causes will of course continue to occur (Radak). Alternatively: All death will be eliminated (Rashi).

26:1. The day of the future deliverance.

26:5. I.e., the fortified cities of Israel's enemies.

26:8. Even when You punished us for our sins, we kept faith and turned to You for assistance (Radak).

26:11. They believe that everything occurs by chance, not by God's intervention.

Praise for God's salvation

1 HASHEM, You are my * God; I will exalt You, I will give thanks to Your Name, for You have done wondrously; [Your] plans from the distant [past were kept] with firm faithfulness. 2 For You have made [the oppressor's] city into a heap, [his] fortified town into a ruin; the palace of foreigners [removed] from each city, not to be rebuilt. 3 Therefore, [even] a strong people will honor You; the city of mighty nations will fear You. 4 For You were a stronghold for the meek, * a stronghold for the destitute when he was in distress; a shelter from downpour, a shade from the scorching heat, when the fury of the mighty was like a downpour against a wall. 5 [Though they were] like a scorching heat in the wasteland, You diminished the tumult of the foreigners; * [like] a scorching heat [is] shaded by a cloud, [so] the breaking of the mighty humbled [them].

A triumphal feast

6 HASHEM, Master of Legions, will make for all the nations on this mountain * a feast of fats, a feast of lees — rich fats and concentrated lees. 7 On this mountain He will eliminate the faces [wearing] veils, that are veiled, of all the nations, and the masks that mask all the nations. * 8 He will eliminate death forever, * and my Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM will erase tears from all faces; He will remove the shame of His nation from upon the entire earth, for HASHEM has spoken.

9 And they will say on that day, 'Behold, this is our God; we hoped to Him that He would save us; this is HASHEM to Whom we hoped, let us exult and be glad in His salvation.' 10 For the hand of HASHEM will descend upon this mountain, and Moab will be crushed in its place, as straw is crushed into a pile of refuse. 11 And He will stretch out His hand in its midst, as a swimmer stretches out to swim, and He will put down its pride, with its places of ambush. 12 And the stronghold of your powerful walls He will topple, He will lower; it will reach the ground, until the dust.

A song of thanksgiving

1 On that day * this song will be sung in the land of Judah:

The City is a stronghold for us;
He will grant salvation to its high walls and outer wall.
2 Open the gates, so the righteous nation, keeper of the faith, may enter!
3 The being that relied [on You], protect him with peace, peace;
for in You did he trust.
4 Trust in HASHEM forever, for in God, HASHEM, is the strength of the worlds.
5 For He has brought down those who dwell on high, [in] an exalted city; *
He has lowered it, He has lowered it to the ground;
He has brought it down to the dust.
6 It is trampled underfoot: the feet of the poor, the soles of the meek.

Righteousness

7 The way of uprightness is for the righteous;
O Upright One, straighten the circuit of the righteous!
8 Even on the path of Your judgments, HASHEM, we put our hopes in You; *
Your Name and Your mention, the yearning of [our] soul.
9 My soul desired You during the night;
as long as my spirit is within me I seek You out, for when Your judgments are against the land,
the inhabitants of the world learn righteousness.
10 Shall grace be granted the wicked one who did not learn righteousness?
He acts with corruption in the land of the upright;
and does not see the exaltedness of HASHEM.
11 HASHEM, when Your hand is raised, [the wicked] do not see it. *

HAFTARAS SHEMOS Ashkenazim: 27:6-28:13; 29:22-23

26:13. Although we were often pressed to renounce our faith and worship the gods of other nations, we remained steadfast in our dedication to You (Radak).

26:15. Israel honors You even when its sins force You to exile them to the ends of the earth (Rashi; Radak).

26:17-18. Our pain may be compared to that of a woman in false labor. She is not relieved when the pain subsides, because she knows she will repeat the ordeal when she goes into true labor. So, too, in our exile, we hoped each persecution would be the final one, only to realize that the ordeal was not over (Rashi).

26:19. The dead among Your [God's] righteous people and the corpses of my [Isaiah's] people, Israel. This is an allusion to the resurrection of the dead (Ibn Ezra).

Just as Your dew revives plants, so You will send a "dew" that will revive the dead (Radak).

26:21. In the Biblical idiom, murder that goes unavenged is described as "blood covered up by the earth." Now, when God punishes evildoers, all the innocent blood will be "uncovered" by the earth (Radak).

27:1. Leviathan, the giant, earth-girdling serpent-fish symbolizes the great world powers. Isaiah uses the death of the Leviathan to allude to the eventual downfall of all the enemies of Israel (Radak). The three descriptions — bar-like, twisting, in the sea — allude to the different natures of the world powers (Rashi).

27:4. God says that He withholds His total wrath from the nations — the weeds and thorns — because Israel, too, is sinful; if He were to punish the nations as they deserved, justice would dictate that He do the same to Israel. In order to save Israel from fearsome punishment, God relaxes His Attribute of Justice for everyone (Rashi).

27:5. If only Israel would hold fast to My Torah!

27:7. God does not punish Israel as severely as He punishes its enemies, such as Pharaoh or Sennacherib, as set forth in v. 4 (Radak).

27:10. The cities of Israel's enemies (Rashi).

May they see vengeance for [Your] people and be ashamed; and also the fire that will consume Your enemies.
12 HASHEM, arrange peace for us,
even as You brought about whatever happened to us.
Evildoers are dead
13 HASHEM, our God, lords other than You have ruled over us.
*But it is only You Whose Name we mention.
14 [They are] dead, never to live; lifeless, never to arise.
Therefore You punished and destroyed them,
and eradicated any memory of them.
15 You have exalted [Your] nation, HASHEM;
You have exalted the nation by whom You are honored
*[even] when You distanced them to the edges of the earth.
16 HASHEM, in their trouble they turned to You;
they poured out their silent prayer when You reproached them.
17 Like a pregnant woman close to giving birth — she is in travail,* she screams in her pangs. So were we before You, HASHEM.
18 We have conceived and gone into travail, as if we had borne wind.
Salvations were not performed in the land and the [wicked] who dwell on the earth did not fall.
Resurrection of the dead
19 May Your dead come to life, may my corpses arise.*
Awake and shout for joy, you who rest in the dirt!
For Your dew is like the dew that [revives] vegetation.*
May You topple the lifeless [wicked] to the ground!
20 Go, my people, enter your rooms and close your door behind you; hide for a brief moment until the wrath has passed. 21 *For behold, HASHEM is going forth from His place, to bring punishment for the sin of the inhabitant of the world upon him; and the land will reveal its blood, and no longer cover over its slain.

27

1 On that day HASHEM will bring punishment with His harsh, great, mighty sword, upon Leviathan, the bar-like serpent, and upon Leviathan, the twisting serpent, and He will kill the great fish that is in the sea.*
God's vineyard
2 On that day [people] will sing about [Israel], 'A vineyard of fine wine.' 3 I am HASHEM, Who guards it; I water it frequently; lest [an enemy] attack it, night and day I will guard it. 4 I have no wrath; if only I were at war with the weeds and thorns, I would then trample it and set it altogether afire.* 5 If [Israel] would grasp My stronghold, then he would make peace with Me; peace would he make with Me.* 6 [Days] are coming when Jacob will take root; Israel will bud and blossom and fill the face of the earth like fruit.
7 Did He strike him as He struck those who struck him? Was he slain like the slaying of his [enemies]?* 8 According to its measure [of sin] He contended against her farmland, stripping it with His harsh wind on the day of the east wind. 9 Therefore, through this shall Jacob's iniquity be atoned for, and this shall be the fruit of his sin's removal: When he makes all the altar stones like ground chalk stones, and Asherah-trees and sun-idols arise no more. 10 For the fortified city will be lonely, habitations depopulated and forlorn like the wilderness; there a calf will graze, there it will lie and consume its branches.* 11 When its boughs wither they will break; women will come and set it aflame, for it is not a nation of understanding;

27:12-13. Lit., beat, as one beats an olive tree to release its fruit; i.e., the Israelites will be gathered together like an olive harvest. God will "beat" the "trees" from Assyria to Egypt, to release the Jews (Rashi).

27:13. A figure of speech. The sounding of the shofar was used to assemble a town's population (Radak).

28:1. Speaking of his own time, Isaiah condemns the hedonism of Ephraim, the Northern Kingdom of Israel. Their glory is a delusion. Oil cannot undo the battering suffered by a drunkard.

28:4. The occasional fig that ripens before the season is snatched and eaten by passersby. So too, the opulence of Ephraim would be consumed swiftly by the enemy.

28:5-13. After the Ten Tribes are defeated and exiled, God will turn to the deficiencies of King Hezekiah's subjects, the tribes of Judah and Benjamin (Radak).

28:9. Given the general state of degeneracy, only small children are pure enough to hear the prophet's message.

28:10. The people can be taught only one message at a time, since they lack the sense to comprehend anything more complex than that. A mason uses a taut line to assure that his bricks are horizontally aligned; and he must reset his line for every new row of bricks. So must the prophet teach his message one step at a time (Radak).

28:11. To boors, the prophet's message is unintelligible, as if he were talking incoherently.

28:12-13. Though the prophet's teachings were for their own good, his words fell on deaf ears; therefore, the tragedies foretold by God would befall them one at a

The great ingathering

12 It shall be on that day that HASHEM will thresh, from the surging [Euphrates] River to the Brook of Egypt, and you will be gathered up one by one, O Children of Israel.*

13 It shall be on that day that a great shofar will be blown, and those who are lost in the land of Assyria and those cast away in the land of Egypt will come [together], and they will prostrate themselves to* HASHEM on the holy mountain in Jerusalem.

28

1 Woe to the crown of pride of Ephraim's drunkards; the delight of his glory is a fading blossom; it is [like] a valley of oil upon the head of those battered by wine.* 2 Behold, my Lord has a strong and powerful [wind], like a downpour of hail, a destructive tempest; like a downpour of mighty, surging waters He will lay [that crown] to the ground with [His] hand. 3 Trodden underfoot will be the crown of pride of Ephraim's drunkards; 4 *and the withering blossom, the delight of his glory that is like a valley of oil upon [his] head, will be like a fig that ripens before summer: as soon as an observer sees it, while it is yet in his hand, he swallows it.

A lesson for the debauched

5 On that day, HASHEM, Master of Legions, will be the crown of delight and a diadem of glory for the remnant of His people,* 6 and a spirit of judgment for he who sits in judgment, and a source of strength for those who return from war to the gate. 7 For they, too, have erred because of wine and strayed because of liquor; the Kohen and the [false] prophet have erred because of liquor and were corrupted by wine; they have strayed because of liquor, erred in vision, perverted justice. 8 For all tables are full of vomit, filth, with no [clean] place. 9 *To whom shall one teach knowledge? To whom shall one explain a message? [To] those weaned from [mother's] milk, removed from the breasts? 10 *For it is commandment by commandment, commandment by commandment; line by line, line by line; a bit here and a bit there. 11 For as if with unintelligible speech and in another tongue does one speak to this nation.* 12 Though he tells them, 'This is the [true] rest, "Give rest to the weary"; and this is the [true] satisfaction!' yet they would not consent to listen. 13 The word of HASHEM shall befall them commandment by commandment, commandment by commandment; line by line, line by line; a bit here and a bit there; so that they will go and stumble backward and be broken, and be tripped up and caught.*

Covenant with Death

14 Therefore, hear the word of HASHEM, O scoffing men, O rulers of this people who are in Jerusalem. 15 For you say, 'We have sealed a covenant with Death and made a compact with the Grave; when the surging staff [of punishment] passes through it will not come to us, for we have made Deceit our shelter and taken refuge in Falsehood.'

16 Therefore, thus said my Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: *Behold, I am laying a stone for a foundation in Zion: a sturdy stone, a precious cornerstone, a secure foundation. Let the believer not expect it soon. 17 I shall use judgment as a [measuring] line, and righteousness as a plumb bob. Hail will sweep away the shelter of Deceit, and water will wash away the refuge [of False-* time, in punishment for their refusal to heed the prophecies that were given them one at a time (Radak).

28:16. Hezekiah (Radak) or the Messiah (Rashi) — will weed out the wicked, but it will not happen in the immediate future.

28:17. Idolatry will be swept away by invaders.

28:20. A metaphor. When the Assyrians invade, the Jews will be left with only the city of Jerusalem (Radak).

28:21. David defeated the Philistines that attacked him at Perazim (II Samuel 5:17-21); Joshua defeated a confederation of five Amorite kings at Gibeon (Joshua 10:8-11).

28:23-29. The prophet gives a parable and explains it. God's admonitions are likened to plowing, and His punishments to sowing. Just as a farmer will not plow continuously without planting, so God will not warn unless He is ready to carry out His threats. However, the purpose of punishment is to prompt repentance, and its degree varies according to the receptivity of the sinner. Some sinners are like cumin and caraway seeds; they require a minimum of "threshing," i.e., punishment, to achieve results. Others are like wheat, and require more "threshing" to make them repent. But even wheat is not threshed endlessly, for threshing alone can damage the grain without producing flour, so the threshing must have reasonable limits. So too, even though God may punish Israel harshly. His purpose is to improve, not destroy (Rashi).

28:29. God created this difference between herbs and grains and the way in which they must be threshed in order to teach Israel the lesson implied by their differing natures.

29:1-3. Ariel is a name for the Temple Altar (see Ezekiel Ch. 43). Here it is used to symbolize the entire city of Jerusalem, saying that Assyria will besiege it (see II Kings, Chs. 18,19), and that the multitudes of slain people will be reminiscent of the Altar, which is surrounded by slaughtered animals (Rashi).

hood]. [18] And your covenant with Death will be annulled, and your compact with the Grave will not be binding; when the surging staff passes through, you will be crushed by it. [19] Whenever it passes through it will take you, for it will pass through every morning, by day and by night; understanding of this report will bring sheer horror. [20] For the mat will be too short for stretching out, and the cover too small for getting into. *

[21] For HASHEM will rise up as at the mountain of Perazim; He will become enraged as at the valley in Gibeon; * to perform His deed, unusual is His deed — and doing His work, strange is His work. [22] So now, do not scoff, lest your affliction become more severe, for of total annihilation have I heard from my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions, concerning the entire land.

Parable of the farmer

[23] Give ear and listen to my voice; be attentive and hear my speech: * [24] If one plows to sow, does he plow all day, [endlessly] opening and furrowing his land? [25] Surely, when he smooths its surface he will scatter black caraway and throw around cumin; he will place wheat by measure and barley where designated and spelt at its border! [26] [So too] one will be rebuked with judgment by his God Who teaches him. [27] For not with a threshing board is black caraway threshed, nor does a wagon wheel roll over cumin; rather it is with a staff that black caraway is beaten, and cumin with a stick. [28] [Wheat for] bread is pounded; but not forever does one thresh it, for even if he rolls his wagon wheel with its implements until they fall apart, he will not have milled the wheat. [29] This, too, has issued from HASHEM, Master of Legions; His counsel is wondrous and His wisdom abundant. *

Chastisement and deliverance of Jerusalem

[1] Oh, Ariel, Ariel, * city where David encamped! You add [sins] year after year, until your holidays will be terminated. [2] I will bring distress to Ariel; there will be agony and grief, and it will be for Me like Ariel. [3] I will encamp against you like a ring, and I will lay siege against you with a scaffold and set up a mound against you. [4] You will sink down; from the ground will you speak; downtrodden from the dust will your speech be; like a ghost from the ground will your voice be; and from the dust your speech will chirp. *

[5] Then * your multitude of foreigners will become like fine dust, and the multitude of powerful ones will be like passing chaff; it will happen with quick suddenness. [6] By HASHEM, Master of Legions, will you be remembered, with thunder and with earthquake and loud sound, storm and tempest and consuming flame of fire. [7] Like a dream, * a vision of the night will be, the multitude of all the nations who muster themselves against Ariel along with all those who besiege her and beleaguer her and cause her distress. [8] It will be as when the hungry man dreams and, behold, he is eating, but he wakes up and his soul is empty; and as when the thirsty man dreams and, behold, he is drinking, but he wakes up and, behold, he is weary and his soul craves drink. So will be the multitude of all the nations that muster themselves against Mount Zion.

*[9] Ponder it and be astonished * — they have been utterly blinded; they were drunk, but not from wine; they staggered, but not from liquor. [10] For HASHEM has 29:4. In a series of similar metaphors, the prophet speaks of defeated Israel as if it had sunken into the earth, and its prayers of contrition sounded as if they were emerging from underground.

29:5. Hearing your contrite prayers, God will wipe away the attackers and they will vanish.

29:7-8. In retrospect, the frightening Assyrian invasion will prove to be no more than a fleeting dream.

29:9-12. Isaiah reprimands the people for rejecting the word of God and following false prophets (Rashi).

29:11-12. Isaiah illustrates the futility of the situation: Intelligent people would not try to decipher the prophecy, saying that the message was sealed, i.e., too vague. Unintelligent people were truly incapable of understanding the message. Thus no one paid attention to the prophecy (Radak).

29:17-18. The Lebanon is a forest with great cedar trees. When God judges people, the haughty will be brought down and the meek elevated, all to their appropriate places. Then, those who had been blind and deaf to God's word will see and hear (Metzudos).

29:22. Jacob will be able to face Abraham proudly when he sees his descendants following the way of God (Rashi).

30:1. The prophet chastises King Hoshea of Israel (Rashi) or King Hezekiah of Judah (Radak), both of whom sought to ally with Egypt against Assyria (II Kings 17:4; 18:21).

30:4. Israel's emissaries were in Zoan and Hanes, two major Egyptian cities.

Lip service

13 The Lord said: Inasmuch as this people has drawn close, with its mouth and with its lips it has honored Me, yet it has distanced its heart from Me — their fear of Me is like rote learning of human commands — 14 therefore, behold, I will continue to perform more wonders against this people — wonder upon wonder; the wisdom of its wise men will be lost and the understanding of its sages will become concealed.

15 Woe to those who try to hide in depths to conceal counsel from HASHEM, and their deeds are [done] in darkness; they say, 'Who sees us and who knows of us?' 16 Shall your contrariness be considered like the potter's clay? Can a product say of its maker, 'He did not make me'? Or a molded thing say of its molder, 'He does not understand'? 17 Behold, in just a little while the Lebanon will become farmland and the farmland will be considered like forest. 18 *On that day the deaf will hear the words of a book and from darkness and blackness the eyes of blind people will see. 19 The meek will increase their joy in HASHEM, and the poor among the people will rejoice in the Holy One of Israel; 20 for the fierce man is no more and the scoffer has ceased to be; and all who strive for iniquity will be cut off:* 21 those who with a word cause man to sin and ensnare the one who gives rebuke at the city gate, and mislead the righteous with falsehood.

Judgment

Redemption

22 Therefore, thus said HASHEM, Who redeemed Abraham, to the House of Jacob: Jacob will not be ashamed now, and his face will not pale now,* 23 when he sees his children, My handiwork in their midst, who will sanctify My Name, they will sanctify the Holy One of Jacob and revere the God of Israel! 24 Those of misguided spirit will attain understanding, and complainers will learn [God's] instruction.

Castigating Israel for its reliance on Egypt

1 Woe, O wayward sons — the word of HASHEM — who take counsel, but not from Me, and who accept a ruler, but not of My spirit, in order to add sin upon sin;* 2 who are going to descend to Egypt but did not inquire of My mouth, to seek strength in Pharaoh's stronghold and to take shelter in Egypt's shade. 3 Pharaoh's stronghold will be a shame for you and the shelter in Egypt's shade will be a humiliation! 4 For its officers were in Zoan; its messengers have reached Hanes.* 5 Everyone has been shamed by this people who cannot benefit them; not of assistance and not of benefit, but for shame and even for disgrace. 6 They load animals [to travel] to the south, through a land of affliction and adversity, mature lion and young lion, among them, viper and flying serpent; they carry their wealth upon the shoulder of young donkeys and their riches upon the camels' hump, to a people who cannot provide benefit.* 7 As for Egypt, they will help with vanity and emptiness; therefore I say of this, 'They are arrogant, sitting idle.'

8 Now, go and write this [prophecy] on a tablet in their presence, and for unavailing protection (Targum; Rashi). Alternatively: מַשָּׂא means "prophecy," as in 22:1, and נֶגֶב means "dry, arid." Thus, "A prophecy regarding animals in the desert" which will attack them on the way to Egypt (Radak).

30:8-14. God commanded Isaiah to inscribe this prophecy in order to bear witness that although Israel had been warned of the consequences of their misdeeds, they nevertheless depended on dishonest gains to buy security from Egypt, but Egypt was like a high wall — filled with cracks (Radak).

30:15-16. If you had followed My will, you would have been safeguarded from your enemies without recourse to foreign alliances. You preferred to have horses for flight in case of war; your punishment will be that you will indeed be forced to flee!

30:19. This prophecy refers to the end of days (Rashi).

30:20. You will stop craving a hedonistic life-style and be content with simple necessities, being attuned, instead, to spiritual pursuits (Rashi).

30:21. Unlike your present scornful attitude towards the word of God (vv. 10-11), you will be so anxious to obey Him that you will avidly heed even an overheard prophecy that is addressed to others (Rashi).

30:25. In the end of days, or at the time of Sennacherib's downfall (Ibn Ezra). The "great ones" refers to the lofty defense towers (Kara) or the leaders (Targum).

30:27. God will come to fulfill His ancient promise (Rashi).

inscribe it in a book; * and let it remain until the final day, forever, for eternity. 9 For it is a rebellious people, dishonest children; children who are not willing to hear the teaching of HASHEM; 10 who say to the seers, "Do not see," and to the prophets, "Do not see true visions for us! Speak pleasant things to us; see fantasies for us. 11 Veer from the way, stray from the path. Remove from our presence [the word of] the Holy One of Israel!"

Like a fallen wall

12 Therefore, thus said the Holy One of Israel: Since you have despised this word and you trusted in robbery and waywardness, and have depended on it — 13 therefore, this sin will be for you like the breach of a fallen [wall], like a bulge in a lofty wall, whose collapse comes with quick suddenness. 14 [God] will break it as one breaks the potters' flask into fragments, He will have no pity; there will not be found among the fragments a shard to scrape a burning coal from a fire or to scoop water from a cistern.

15 For thus said my Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, the Holy One of Israel: 'In stillness and peacefulness will you be saved, in quiet and in confidence will be your might,' but you did not consent. 16 And you said, 'Not so! We will flee on a horse,' * therefore you will flee; and, 'We will ride upon swift animals,' therefore your pursuers will be swifter. 17 One thousand [will flee] from the shout of one, and from the shout of five you will [all] flee; until you will be left like a mast on the top of a mountain and like a pole atop a hill. 18 Therefore, HASHEM will delay in showing you grace, and therefore He will be aloof from showing you mercy. For HASHEM is a God of justice; praiseworthy are those who yearn for Him.

Another prophecy about the end of days

19 For a people will dwell in Zion, in Jerusalem. * You will not have to weep; He will surely show you grace at the sound of your outcry, when He hears, He will answer you. 20 The Lord will give you meager bread and scant water; * your Teacher will no longer be hidden behind His garment, and your eyes will behold your Teacher. 21 And your ears will listen [even] to a word spoken from behind you, * saying, 'This is the path; walk in it, whether you go to your right or to your left.' 22 You will contaminate the coating of your silver graven idols and the embellishment of your golden molten images; you will cast them away like someone unclean; you will tell it, 'Be gone!'

23 [God] will give rain for your seed that you will sow in the ground, and bread from the produce of the ground; it will be fat and rich; your livestock will graze in a broad pasture on that day. 24 The oxen and the young donkeys that work the land will eat enriched fodder, which has been winnowed with a shovel and a fan. 25 On every high mountain and on every exalted hill there will be pools, rivulets of water, on the day of the great killing, when great ones fall. * 26 The light of the moon will be like the light of the sun, and the light of the sun will be seven times as strong, like the light of seven days, on the day that HASHEM bandages the injury of His people and heals the wound of His blow.

God's mighty vengeance

27 Behold, the Name of HASHEM is coming from afar; * His anger is flaring, and the burden is heavy; His lips are full of rage and His tongue is like a consuming fire. 28 His breath is like a raging stream that reaches up to the neck, to sift the nations in a faulty sieve, * and to be a diverting bridle

30:28. The sinful actions will not deserve mercy, so God will pour them all into a faulty sieve that lets everything slip through the holes, so that none of the nations will be spared. So too, He will put upon them a bridle that will direct them toward the course of their own destruction (Radak).

30:29. I.e., the night of the first Passover.

30:32. When the wicked perish there is joy (Proverbs 11:10). The war will be fought as a conductor waves his hand to maintain the correct musical beat (Radak).

30:33. Isaiah describes the Hell that will accommodate all the wicked who would perish on that day.

31:2. Sarcastically, Isaiah tells his fellow Jews that they thought they could avert Divine punishment by seeking aid from foreign powers, but God is "also" wise and can easily circumvent their plans (Metzudos; Malbim).

31:5. Like birds appearing from nowhere, so will God's help arrive suddenly (Radak). As in the plague of the firstborn in Egypt, God will pass over the camp of Israel and decimate that of Assyria.

31:9. When the hand of God is displayed so manifestly through the miraculous defeat of Assyria, its king will flee and the rock of his confidence will disintegrate in fright, for he will realize that there is no escape from God's wrath.

32:1-8. Isaiah describes the noble goals of King Hezekiah and the sort of behavior that made him stand out and which elevated the people of his realm. He established a reign of justice and righteousness, and his kingdom was protected because of it. Justice and fairness were the rule in his days and people had no need to ingratiate themselves with degenerate overlords.

upon the cheeks of the nations. [29] The song will be yours like the night of the festival's consecration, and heartfelt gladness like one who walks with a flute, to come onto the mountain of HASHEM, to the Rock of Israel.* [30] HASHEM will make heard the majesty of His voice, and He will show the potency of His arm, with raging anger and with the flame of a consuming fire, with smashing, torrent, and hailstone. [31] For Assyria will become devastated by the voice of HASHEM, as if He struck with the stick. [32] *And it shall be that with every passage of the firm staff that HASHEM will place upon him there will be timbrels and harps, and He will fight wars against them like a waving of the hand. [33] For Hell has been prepared from yesterday; it has been readied even for the king; [God] has deepened and widened it; its inferno has much fire and wood, and the breath of HASHEM is like a stream of sulfur burning within it.*

The inferno of Hell

[1] Woe to those who go down to Egypt for help and who rely on horses; they trust in chariots because they are many and in horsemen because they are very strong, and they did not turn to the Holy One of Israel and did not seek out HASHEM. [2] But He is also wise, and He has brought calamity, and He did not retract His words; He will rise up against the house of evildoers and against the assistance of those who commit sin.* [3] Egypt is man and not god, and their horses are of flesh and not of spirit! HASHEM will stretch out His hand and the helper will stumble and the helped will fall; they will all perish together. [4] For thus said HASHEM to me: Just as when a lion or a lion cub roars over his prey and a gathering of shepherds assembles against him, it is not frightened by their voice and is not humbled by their noise, so shall HASHEM, Master of Legions, descend to do battle upon Mount Zion and upon its hill. [5] Like flying birds, so will HASHEM, Master of Legions, protect Jerusalem, protecting and rescuing, passing over and delivering.* [6] Return to the One from Whom you have profoundly turned away, O Children of Israel. [7] For on that day everyone will despise his false gods of silver and his false gods of gold, which your hands have made for you in sin, [8] when Assyria will fall by the sword of one who is not a man, and the sword of one who is not human will devour him. He will flee from the sword and his young men will become bondsmen. [9] His rock will pass away in terror and his officers will be devastated by a miracle — the word of HASHEM — Who has a fire in Zion and a furnace in Jerusalem!*

Egypt versus God

God, Defender of Jerusalem

32

[1] Behold, the king will rule for the sake of righteousness and the officers will govern for justice.* [2] Man will be like a hideout from the wind and a cover from a downpour, like pools of water in an arid area, like the shade of a large rock in a thirsty land. [3] The eyes of seeing people will no longer be closed and the ears of the hearing people will pay heed. [4] The heart of the impetuous will understand knowledge and the tongue of stammerers will hasten to speak fluently. [5] A vile person will no longer be called generous, and it will not be said that a miser is magnanimous. [6] For the vile person speaks villainy and his heart plans iniquity, to act with hypocrisy and to speak falsehood about HASHEM, to empty the soul of the hungry and to diminish the drink of the thirsty.* [7] *As for the miser, his implements are evil;

Righteousness versus corruption

32:6. To say that God does not know or care about his evil deeds (Radak).

32:7. He cheats his customers by using false weights and measures (Radak).

32:9. The women and daughters are metaphors for nations and city-states (Targum).

32:10. Their confidence will be shattered when the enemy robs them of their grape vintage and their grain harvest (Rashi).

32:13. I.e., Jerusalem (Rashi).

32:19. God will protect the peace of populated areas by letting hail fall only on the forests and by making the people so secure that houses will be built even in the vulnerable lowlands (Ibn Ezra).

33:1. This verse is addressed to Sennacherib (Kara).

33:2-3. This is Israel's prayer for God's help. The chapter then continues with God's response.

33:4. The spoils from the defeated Assyrian army.

33:7-9. Isaiah now describes the frightening situation when messengers brought the news that Sennacherib had overrun Judah and was headed for Jerusalem (Radak).

33:11. Isaiah tells the Assyrians that they have conceived and given birth to plans that are as worthless as stubble and straw (Radak), and that their own spirit, i.e., plans, would rebound against them.

33:12. Sennacherib's allies will be as quickly and easily destroyed as lime in a blazing furnace and as dry thorns.

he plans schemes to destroy the poor with words of falsehood and when the destitute speaks justly. [8] But a generous man plans generous acts, and stands for generous acts.

Parable of the complacent women

[9] O complacent women, rise up and hear my voice! O confident daughters, give ear to my speech!* [10] *Days upon years the confident women will shudder, when the vintage is finished, the harvest does not come in. [11] Tremble, O complacent women; shudder, O confident women; disrobe and bare yourselves, and don [sackcloth] on your loins. [12]Beating upon [their] breasts in mourning over the lovely fields, over the fruitful vine. [13] *Over the land of my people, thistles and weeds will sprout; over all the houses of merrymaking, over the exultant city. [14] For the palace has been abandoned, the city's multitude forsaken; the fortification and stronghold have become ruins forever, a joy for wild asses, pasture for flocks; [15] until a spirit from on high will be poured out upon us, and the desert will become a fertile field and the fertile field will be reckoned like forest. [16] Justice will dwell in the wilderness and righteousness will live in the fertile field. [17] The product of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness, quiet and security forever. [18] My people will live in a peaceful domain and in secure dwellings and in tranquil resting places. [19] Hail will come down on the forest and the city will extend down to the valley.* [20] You will be so fortunate to sow upon all waters, sending the ox and the donkey to roam freely.

33 [1] Woe to you, pillager but you have not been pillaged! Traitor, who has not been betrayed! When you finish pillaging, you will be pillaged; when you end your treachery, they will be treacherous with you.*

Israel's prayer

[2] "HASHEM, grant us favor; we have hoped for You! Be their [strong] arm every morning, also our salvation in time of distress.* [3] At the noise of [Your] tumult, peoples have wandered; from Your exaltedness, nations have scattered."

The enemy will fall

[4] Your spoils will be gathered like the gathering of locusts, as the march of grasshoppers shall he march in it.* [5] HASHEM is exalted, for He dwells on high; He has filled Zion with justice and righteousness. [6] The faith of your times will be the strength of your salvations, wisdom and knowledge; fear of HASHEM — that is [man's] treasure.

[7] Behold, their herald cried out outside; messengers of peace wept bitterly:* [8] 'Roads are desolate, wayfarer has ceased! He has annulled the treaty, despised cities, respected no man. [9] The land is mournful and forlorn; Lebanon is shamed and cut down; Sharon has become a desert; Bashan and Carmel have become denuded.'

[10] Now I shall arise — HASHEM will say — now I shall ascend; now I shall be exalted! [11] Conceive stubble and give birth to straw; your spirit is a fire that will consume you.* [12] Nations will be like burnings for lime; like cut thorns set aflame.* [13] Hear, O faraway people, what I have done; and you who are close by, recognize My might.*

[14] Sinners were afraid in Zion; trembling seized hypocrites. 'Which of us can live with the consuming fire? Which of us can live with the eternal conflagration?' [15] One who walks with righteousness and speaks with truthful-

33:13. Those who hear how God demolished Assyria's army and caused its downfall will wonder who can live in the presence of such a powerful, terrifying force (Targum). Alternatively: The Jews will wonder who can stand up to Assyria (Radak). Either way, the answer is given in verse 15.

33:15. He does not let unsubstantiated talk incite him to bloodshed (Radak).

33:17-22. Isaiah addresses the righteous people described above, even those in faraway lands (Rashi).

33:23. Isaiah likens the Assyrian foe to a disabled ship.

34:5. The sword has slain the Heavenly advocates of the nations God has condemned (Rashi).

34:6-7. The animals are metaphors for the kings and officers of God's enemy nations (Targum).

34:9. I.e., the land of Edom.

34:11. Commentaries differ widely regarding the identifications of the birds and animals mentioned here.

The line and the plumb bob are builder's tools used to ensure the horizontality and verticality of layers of stones or bricks (see 28:10). The metaphor means that Edom's total destruction will be thoroughly planned and executed.

34:14. The name of a female demon (Rashi) or a nocturnal bird (Ibn Ezra).

ness, who spurns extortionate profit and shakes off his hands from holding a bribe, who seals his ears from hearing of bloodshed and shuts his eyes from seeing evil.* 16 He shall dwell in heights; in rocky fortresses is his stronghold; his bread will be granted, his water assured.

Consolation for Israel

17 *Your eyes will behold the King in His splendor; they will see Him from a faraway land. 18 Your heart will muse in dread, 'Where is the one who counts? Where is the one who weighs? Where is the one who counts the towers?' 19 You will not see bold people, the people whose speech is too difficult to understand, of garbled tongue, without comprehension. 20 Behold Zion, the city of our festivals; your eyes will see Jerusalem, the tranquil abode, the tent that will not be displaced, whose stakes will not be uprooted forever, and none of whose ropes will be severed. 21 For only there will HASHEM be our Mighty One; [it will be like] a place of wide rivers and channels; a boat cannot traverse it, and a mighty vessel cannot cross it. 22 For HASHEM is our Judge; HASHEM is our Lawgiver; HASHEM is our King; He will save us. 23 Your ropes have been abandoned; they will not firmly secure their mast; they will not spread sail. Then abundant spoils and plunder will be distributed; [even] the lame will take booty.* 24 A dweller [of Jerusalem] will not say, 'I am sick'; the people dwelling there shall be forgiven of sin.

An end to the ungodly nations

1 Come close, O nations, to hear, and regimes be attentive; let the earth and its fullness hear, the world and all its offspring. 2 For HASHEM has a fury against all the nations and a wrath against all their legions; He has destroyed them, He has delivered them to the slaughter. 3 Their slain will be thrown aside and their corpses will bring up stench; the mountains will melt from their blood. 4 All the host of the heavens will dissolve and the heavens will be rolled up like a scroll; all their host will shrivel as a leaf of a grapevine shrivels and like a shriveled leaf of a fig tree. 5 For my sword has been sated in the heavens; behold, it shall descend upon Edom and for judgment upon the people of My destruction.* 6 The sword of HASHEM is full of blood, greased with fat, with the blood of fatted sheep and he-goats, with the fat of the kidneys of rams; for* HASHEM is making a sacrifice at Bozrah and a great slaughter in the land of Edom. 7 The wild oxen will go down [to the slaughter] with them, and bulls and fatted bulls; their land will be sated with blood and their soil enriched with fat. 8 For it is a day of vengeance for HASHEM*; a year of retribution for the grievance of Zion.* 9 Its rivers will turn to tar and its soil to sulfur; its land will become burning tar.* 10 Night and day it will not be extinguished; its smoke will ascend forever. From generation to generation [the land] will be desolate, for all eternity no one traverses it. 11 Owls and bitterns will occupy it, great owls and ravens will dwell in it; and He will draw against it a line* of emptiness and plumb bobs of void.* 12 Their noblemen would call out, 'There is no dominion [except us]'; but all its leaders will become nothingness. 13 Its palaces will sprout weeds, thorns and thistles in its fortresses. It will be an abode for jackals, a place for ostriches. 14 Martens will encounter cats, and one satyr will call out to another; there Lilith also will relax and find rest for herself.* 15 There the bittern will nest and lay her eggs, gathering them together under her shade and hatching them; there kites also will congregate with one another.

34:16. I.e., this book of prophecies. All the creatures mentioned above will prowl in the destroyed city (Radak).

35:1. Having concluded the prophecy of Edom's downfall, Isaiah turns to the Land of Israel. It had been desolate and forsaken, but now it will rejoice over Edom's fate as a precursor of its own rejuvenation (Rashi).

35:3. Isaiah urges faithful Jews to encourage one another's faith that salvation will come.

35:8. The road will be for the use of Israel (Radak; Kara), or for the lame and mute mentioned in vv. 5-6 (Rashi).

16 Search in the Book of HASHEM and read it — not one of them is lacking; not one is missing its fellow. For My mouth has commanded it and its spirit has gathered them together.* 17 He has cast lots for them, and His hand has distributed [the land] for them with a [measuring] line; they will inherit it forever, they will dwell in it from generation to generation.

35

The return to Jerusalem

1 The wilderness and the wasteland will rejoice over them; the desert will be glad and blossom like a lily.* 2 It will blossom abundantly and will rejoice, with joyousness and glad song; the glory of Lebanon has been given to her, the majesty of the Carmel and the Sharon; they will see the glory of HASHEM, the majesty of our God.

3 Strengthen weak hands and give support to failing knees.* 4 Say to those of impatient heart, 'Be strong; do not fear. Behold, your God will come with revenge, with Divine retribution; He will come and save you.' 5 Then the eyes of the blind will be opened and the ears of the deaf will be unstopped. 6 Then the lame man will skip like a gazelle and the tongue of the mute will sing glad song; for water will have broken out in the wilderness, and streams in the desert. 7 The scorched place will become a pond and the parched place springs of water; the abode where jackals rested will become grassland with reeds and bulrushes. 8 There will be a path and a road there; it will be called 'The Road of Holiness,' and no impure person will traverse it. It will be for them; the wayfarer, even ignorant ones, will not go astray [there].* 9 There will be no lion there; the boldest of animals will not ascend it, will not be found there; the redeemed will walk there. 10 Then the redeemed of HASHEM will return and come to Zion with glad song, with eternal gladness on their heads. They will attain joy and gladness, and sadness and sighing will flee.

1 It happened in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah that Sennacherib king of Assyria attacked all the fortified cities of Judah, and captured them. 2 The king of Assyria sent Rabshakeh from Lachish to Jerusalem, to King Hezekiah, with a great army. He stood at the channel of the upper pool, in the road of the launderer's field.* 3 Eliakim son of Hilkiah, who was in charge of the palace, went out, with Shebna the scribe, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder.

Assyria wants conquest

4 Rabshakeh said to them, "Say now to Hezekiah: Thus said the great king, the king of Assyria: What is this confidence of which you are so confident? 5 I say [that you have spoken] but [idle] word of the lips, [claiming that you had] strategy and power for battle! Now — upon whom have you placed your trust, that you have rebelled against me? 6 Behold! You have relied upon the support of this splintered cane, upon Egypt, which, if a man leans on it, it will enter his palm and puncture it; so is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who rely on him. 7 And if you will tell me, 'We trust in HASHEM our God' — is He not the One Whose high places and altars Hezekiah has removed; and he said to Judah and Jerusalem, '[Only] before this Altar may you prostrate yourselves'? 8 So now, provide a security guarantee to my master the king of Assyria, and I will give you two thousand horses — if you can put riders on them! 9 How dare you turn away even a single minor captain from among the servants of my master, and depend on Egypt for chariots and horsemen! 10 And now, is it without [the consent of] HASHEM that I have come up to this land to destroy it? HASHEM told me, 'Go up against this land and destroy it!' "

Assyria's ultimatum . . .

This way to Zion will be accessible to all deserving people, even to those who are unfamiliar with it.

36:2. With minor differences, 36:1-38:8 is a restatement of II Kings 18:13-20:9. See commentary there.

37:3. Referring to Rabshakeh's rebuke of Hezekiah for betraying Assyria. Alternatively, this dreadful situation is God's rebuke to us because of our sins (Radak).

11 Eliakim son of Hilkiah as well as Shebna and Joah, then said to Rabshakeh, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic, for we understand it, and do not speak Hebrew with us within earshot of the people on the wall."

12 But Rabshakeh said, "Is it to your master and to you that my master has sent me to speak these words? Is it not to the people sitting on the wall, who will eat their own excrement and drink their own urine with you?"

13 Rabshakeh then stood up and called out in a loud voice in Hebrew; he said,

. . . is intended to terrorize the people

"Hear the words of the great king, the king of Assyria! 14 Thus said the king: Let not Hezekiah delude you, for he cannot save you! 15 And let not Hezekiah reassure you with HASHEM, saying, 'HASHEM will surely save us, and this city shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria!' 16 Do not listen to Hezekiah, for thus said the king of Assyria: Make peace with me and come out to me, and each man will be able to eat [the fruits of] his grapevine and each man [the fruits of] his fig tree, and each man will drink the water of his well, 17 until I come and I bring you to a land like your land — a land of grain and wine, a land of bread and vineyards — 18 lest Hezekiah tries to entice you, saying, 'HASHEM will save us!' Did the gods of the nations save any person in his land from the hand of the king of Assyria? 19 Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Did they save Samaria from my hand? 20 Which among all the gods of the lands saved their land from my hand, that HASHEM should save Jerusalem from my hand?"

21 The people remained silent and did not answer him a word, for there was a command from the king, saying, "Do not answer him." 22 Eliakim son of Hilkiah, who was in charge of the palace, came, as well as Shebna the scribe and Joah son of Asaph the recorder, to Hezekiah with rent garments, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

Grief-stricken report to Hezekiah

37 1 It happened when King Hezekiah heard this: He rent his garments; he donned sackcloth and went to the Temple of HASHEM. 2 He sent Eliakim, who was in charge of the palace, and Shebna the scribe and the elders of the Kohanim, all dressed in sackcloth, to Isaiah son of Amoz, the prophet. 3 They said to him, "Thus said Hezekiah: Today is a day of distress, rebuke, and sacrilege. [We are like] babies who have entered the birth canal, but [the mother] has no strength to give birth.* 4 If only HASHEM, your God, will hear all the words of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Assyria, his master, sent to insult the living God, and He will punish him for those words that HASHEM your God heard. And may you offer a prayer for the remnant [of the people] that is still here!"

A distressed Hezekiah asks Isaiah to pray

5 King Hezekiah's servants came to Isaiah, 6 and Isaiah said to them, "Thus shall you say to your master: Thus said HASHEM: Do not be frightened by the words that you have heard, by which the attendants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed Me. 7 *Behold, I am instilling a desire within him. He will hear a report and return to his land, and I will strike him down by the sword in his own land."

Isaiah promises victory

Sennacherib withdraws to fight a war . . .

8 Rabshakeh went back and found the king of Assyria fighting against Libnah, because [Rabshakeh] had heard that he had journeyed from Lachish. 9 Then [Sennacherib] heard a report about Tirhakah, the king of Cush saying, "He has gone out to do battle against you."

. . . but sends an abusive threat

But he heard and he sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, 10 "Thus shall you speak unto Hezekiah king of Judah, saying: Do not let your God, in Whom you trust, persuade you, saying, 'Jerusalem will not be delivered into the hand of

We must act swiftly and decisively, for even a short delay is certain to have tragic consequences.

attacking Assyria, so he went to defend Assyria, after which he returned to his siege of Jerusalem. After the miracle that saved Jerusalem, Sennacherib returned to his land, where he was killed.

37:16. Hezekiah refutes Sennacherib; Hashem is not the God of only Israel.

37:24. I.e., having conquered the rest of Judah, I will now take the ultimate prize — Jerusalem and the Holy Temple.

37:25. I.e., my armies and their animals are so vast that they have depleted the known water sources of the countries they have invaded.

37:26. God says that Sennacherib's remarkable victories were not his own doing. It was Divinely ordained that he destroy the fortified cities of sinful nations, leaving them as deserted heaps of debris, from which vegetation would eventually grow (Rashi).

37:30. God now addresses Hezekiah saying that the the king of Assyria.' 11 Behold, you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the lands, laying them waste; will you be spared? 12 Did the gods of the nations rescue those whom my fathers destroyed — Gozan, Haran, Rezeph, and people of Eden who are in Telassar? 13 Where is the king of Hamath or the king of Arpad or the king of the city of Sepharvaim, or [of] Hena, or [of] Ivvah?"

Hezekiah sends the letters to Isaiah

14 Hezekiah took the letters from the hand of the messengers and read each [of them], and he went up to the Temple of HASHEM, and Hezekiah spread out each [of them] before HASHEM. 15 Hezekiah then prayed before HASHEM, and said, 16 *"*HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel, Who dwells atop the Cherubim: You alone are God of all the kingdoms of the world; You made heaven and earth.* 17 Incline Your ear, HASHEM, and hear; open Your eyes, HASHEM, and see! Hear all the words of Sennacherib that he has sent to insult the living God! 18 Indeed, HASHEM, the kings of Assyria have destroyed all the countries and their land, 19 and placed their gods into the fire — for they are not gods, but the work of man's hands, wood and stone — so they destroyed them. 20 So now, HASHEM, our God, save us from his hand, then all the kingdoms of the world shall know that You alone are HASHEM."

Isaiah's encouraging prophecy . . .

21 Isaiah son of Amoz sent [word] to Hezekiah saying, "Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: [Regarding] what you prayed to Me concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria, 22 this is the word that HASHEM has spoken about him:

The maiden daughter of Zion — she scorns you, she mocks you;
the daughter of Jerusalem — she shakes her head at you.
23 Whom have you insulted and blasphemed;
against Whom have you raised a voice, and lifted your eyes on high?
Against the Holy One of Israel!
24 By the hand of your servants you have insulted my Lord, and said,
'With my multitude of chariots I climbed the highest mountains,
[to] the ends of the Lebanon [forest];
I shall cut down its tallest cedars, its choicest cypresses,
*and I shall enter His ultimate height, the forest of His fruitful field.
25 I dug and drank waters,
*for the soles of my feet dried up all the rivers of the besieged area.'
26 Have you not heard from the distant [past that] I have done it?
From earliest days [that] I have formed it?
Now I have brought it about,
*to raze [into] desolate heaps [your] fortified cities.
27 Their inhabitants were short of power, crushed and ashamed;
they were [like] herbage of the field and grassy vegetation,
like grass on rooftops, like stalks wind-blasted, before standing [full].

. . . about Hezekiah's success . . .

28 Your sitting [in counsel], your going forth, and your coming in —
I know [them]; and [also] your provocation against Me.
29 Because you provoked Me, and your arrogance has risen unto My ears,
I shall place My hook into your nose and My bridle into your lips, and I shall make you return by the route on which you came.

. . . and Sennacherib's downfall

30 And this shall be the sign for you: You will eat this year of the after-crop; the second year fruits from tree stumps; and in the third year — sow and harvest, and plant vineyards and eat their fruits.* 31 And the survivors that remained of the House of Judah shall take root below and produce fruit above. 32 For from Jerusalem shall emerge a remnant, and survivors from Mount Zion. The zeal of HASHEM, Master of Legions, shall do this!

Assyrian downfall will be a portent of another miracle: The siege had prevented the people from plowing and sowing, thus threatening the starving populace with wholesale famine. This year, God said, there would be sufficient aftergrowth, i.e., wild growth, to feed them all, and the same would happen the following year, until the nation's agricultural capability recovered fully. This would symbolize the recovery of Judah into a strong, vibrant nation (Rashi).

38:8. The sun-clock built by Hezekiah's father, King Ahaz, is described at II Kings 20:9.

38:10. Hezekiah was thirty-nine years old when he took sick.

38:11. One "sees" God when he recognizes Divine kindness and thanks Him — but the dead are prevented from doing so (Radak).

38:12-13. Like a weaver cutting off the rough edges of his fabric. Hezekiah was in such pain that he was sure he would die before evening; and when he survived the night, he thought he would die during the next day (Radak).

38:16. God has declared that the dead will return to life.

The fateful night

33 Therefore, thus says HASHEM about the king of Assyria: He will not enter this city, and will not shoot there an arrow; he will not approach it with a shield, and will not pour a ramp against it. 34 On the route by which he came he will retreat, but he will not enter this city — the word of HASHEM. 35 And I shall protect this city, to save it, for My sake and for the sake of My servant David."

36 An angel of HASHEM went out and struck down one hundred eighty-five thousand [people] of the Assyrian camp. The rest arose [early], in the morning and behold — they were all dead corpses!

37 So Sennacherib king of Assyria journeyed forth, went and returned; and he settled in Nineveh. 38 It happened that he was worshiping in the Temple of his god Nisroch: His sons Adrammelech and Sarezer struck him down by the sword; they then fled to the land of Ararat, and Esar-haddon his son reigned in his place.

38

Hezekiah's illness

1 In those days Hezekiah became deathly ill. Isaiah son of Amoz, the prophet, came to him, and he said to him, "Thus said HASHEM: Instruct your household, for you shall die; and you shall not live."

2 [Hezekiah] then turned his face to the wall and prayed to HASHEM. 3 He said, "Please, HASHEM, remember now that I have always walked before You faithfully and wholeheartedly, and I have done what is good in Your eyes." And Hezekiah wept an intense weeping.

Isaiah prophesies recovery, and gives a sign

4 The word of HASHEM then came to Isaiah, saying, 5 "Go and tell Hezekiah: Thus said HASHEM, the God of David, your forefather: I have heard your prayer; I have seen your tears. Behold, I am going to add fifteen years to your days. 6 I will also rescue you and this city from the grip of the king of Assyria, and I will protect this city. 7 And this is the sign for you from HASHEM that HASHEM will do the deed of which He spoke: 8 Behold, I shall turn back the shade over the degrees which it had already descended on the degrees of the sun-clock of Ahaz, ten degrees backwards." And the sun went back ten degrees, over the degrees that it had already descended.*

9 A composition written by Hezekiah, the king of Judah, when he was sick and recuperated from his illness:

Hezekiah's song of thanksgiving

10 *I had said [to myself]: 'With my days cut short,
I will go to the gates of the Grave deprived of the rest of my years.'
11 I had said, 'I will not see God — God is in the land of the living;*
I will not again behold a man with the inhabitants of the earth.
12 My dwelling was removed and exiled from me like a shepherd's tent;
*like a weaver I have shortened my life.
He will end [my life] with sickness;
from morning to night You will put an end to me.'
13 I waited until morning — as [if it] were a lion, so [my sickness] would shatter all my bones;
from morning to night You will put an end to me.
14 Like a swallow and a crane, so do I chirp; I moan like a pigeon.
My eyes were raised on high:
'My Lord, snatch away my [illness], be my surety.'
15 What can I say? He said to me [that He would heal me] and He did!
All my sleep had left me because of my soul's bitterness!
16 *My Lord, about them [You said], 'They shall live';

38:17. During my illness, the more I longed for peace, the more my suffering was intensified (Radak).

38:19. Since only the living can praise You and pass on Your tradition, You should let man live and raise a family.

38:21-22. Chronologically, these two verses belong after verse 7 (see II Kings 20:7-11).

39:1. With minor word differences, Chapter 39 is a restatement of II Kings 20:12-19.

39:6. The reason for God's anger at Hezekiah is explained in II Chronicles (32:31): The king of Babylonia had sent this delegation because he had heard of the miraculous sign that God had performed for Hezekiah. Since they came to inquire about the glory of God, Hezekiah should not have seized this opportunity to distract his guests from the purpose of their mission by trying to impress them with his own personal wealth and grandeur.

40:1. God speaks to the prophets of Israel, commanding them to comfort the suffering people (Targum). Until this point, Isaiah's prophecies have been mostly visions of retribution and destruction. The remaining ones speak words of consolation, and future Messianic redemption. This passage serves as a divider between the two types of prophecy (Rashi).

40:2. Double punishment cannot mean that Israel was punished more than it deserved. Various interpretations are offered: Her punishment was two pronged, she sufand therein is the life of my spirit, may You heal me and cure me.

17 Behold, [my longing] for peace, bitterness intensified against me. *
But You desired that my soul not waste away in the netherworld, for You have cast all my sins behind Yourself.
18 For the Grave cannot thank You nor can Death laud You;
those who descend to the pit cannot hope for Your truth.
19 A living person, a living person, he shall thank you, as I do today!
A father can make Your truth known to children. *
20 HASHEM [said] he would save me;
let us play my songs all the days of our lives, in the Temple of HASHEM.

21 Isaiah said, * "Let them lift a cake of figs and smear it on the abscess, and it will heal." 22 Hezekiah said, "What is the sign that I will [ever be able to] go up to the Temple of HASHEM?"

39

1 At that time Merodach-baladan son of Baladan, the king of Babylonia, sent letters and a gift to Hezekiah, for he had heard that he was ill and had recuperated. 12 Hezekiah rejoiced with them and showed [the messengers] his whole treasure house — the silver, the gold, the spices, the fine oil, his entire warehouse, and everything that was found in his treasuries; there was nothing that Hezekiah did not show them in his palace and in all his realm.

Hezekiah flatters the king of Babylonia . . .

3 Isaiah the prophet came to King Hezekiah and said to him, "What did these men say, and from where did they come to you?"
Hezekiah said, "They came to me from a faraway land, from Babylonia."
4 He said, "And what did they see in your house?"
Hezekiah said, "They saw everything in my house; there was nothing that I did not show them in my treasuries."

. . . and God rebukes him

5 Isaiah then said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions: 6 Behold, the days are coming when everything in your house, and whatever your forefathers have accumulated until this day, will be carried off to Babylonia. Not a thing will be left, said HASHEM. * 7 And they will also take some of your children who will issue from you, whom you will beget, and they shall become officers in the palace of the king of Babylonia."
8 Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "The word of HASHEM that you have spoken is good"; and he said [to himself], "For there shall be peace and truth in my own days."

Prophecy of the end of the exile

1 'Comfort, comfort My people,' * says your God. 2 'Speak consolingly of Jerusalem and proclaim to her that her period [of exile] has been completed, that her iniquity has been forgiven; for she has received double for all her sins * from the hand of HASHEM.'
3 A voice * calls out in the wilderness, 'Clear the way of HASHEM; make a straight path in the desert, a road for our God.' 4 Every valley will be raised, and every mountain and hill will be lowered; the crooked will become straight and heights will become valley. 5 The glory of HASHEM will be revealed, and all flesh together will see that the mouth of HASHEM has spoken.
6 A voice says, 'Proclaim!' and [the prophet] asks, 'What shall I proclaim?'

fered two exiles (Radak); she embraced her ancestors' sins as her own, thus doubling her iniquity (Rashi to Jeremiah 16:18); God's consolation was as great as if she had suffered double what she actually had (Targum).

40:3. The voice proclaims that the return to Jerusalem is imminent and the road should be cleared and prepared. It is "the way of HASHEM," that leads to His holy city (Ibn Ezra).

40:6-8. The veracity of God's promise is contrasted with the unreliability of human promises (Rashi).

40:12-17. The prophet lyrically depicts God's greatness and absolute power.

40:12. The One Who created such a perfectly balanced natural order can surely fulfill His promises to His people.

40:15. "Islands" is often used as a metaphor for all of humanity, including even those living in remote places.

40:18-26. Isaiah asks incredulously how the idolaters could mistake their man-made toys for the omnipotent God. How can anyone fail to realize that the world in all its grandeur must have a Creator?

40:20. The poor man, who cannot afford the ornate idol of v. 19, chooses wood (Radak). Others interpret: "The expert (Rashi) or the curator (Ibn Ezra) makes a selection"; and "The laurel is selected" (Targum).

40:26. "By number" and "by name" mean that God assigns a specific purpose to each of the heavenly bodies (Radak).

40:27-31. Jews should never despair, thinking that God ignores or forsakes them. If He withholds His help, it is because His wisdom decrees that to be the best course.

40:31. All these metaphors mean that when God wills it, the return to Zion will be swift and without obstacle.

— 'All flesh is [like] grass, and all its kindness like a blossom in the field.*
7 Grass withers and blossom fades when the breath of HASHEM blows upon it; indeed the people is grass. 8 Grass withers and blossom fades, but the word of our God shall stand forever.'

The herald of Zion

9 Ascend upon a high mountain, O herald of Zion; raise your voice with strength, O herald of Jerusalem! Raise it, fear not; say to the cities of Judah, 'Behold, your God!' 10 Behold, my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, will come with [a] strong [arm], and His arm will dominate for Him; behold, His reward is with Him, and His wage is before Him. 11 [He is] like a shepherd who grazes his flock, who gathers the lambs in his arm, who carries them in his bosom, who guides the nursing ewes.

God, the Creator

12 Who measured the waters in His palm, gauged the Heavens with a span, measured in a huge vessel the dust of the earth, and weighed mountains with a scale and hills with a balance? 13 Who can appraise the spirit of HASHEM, His man of counsel who informs Him? 14 From whom did He seek counsel? [Who] gave Him insight? [Who] taught Him about the path of justice? [Who] taught Him wisdom? [Who] explained the way of knowledge to Him? 15 *Behold, all the nations are like a drop from a bucket and are reckoned like the dust rubbing off a scale; behold, He will cast away the islands like dust. 16 The Lebanon is insufficient kindling, and its beasts are insufficient elevation-offerings. 17 All the nations are like nothing before Him; as nothingness and emptiness are they reckoned by Him.

Foolishness of idolatry

18 To whom can you liken God, and what likeness can you attribute to Him?* 19 [To] the idol cast by a blacksmith, [which] a goldsmith overlays with gold and a silversmith with silver chains? 20 The poor man [makes a] selection; he chooses wood that will not rot, he seeks for himself a wise woodworker to prepare an idol that will not fall apart.* 21 Do you not realize? Have you not heard? Has it not been told to you from the beginning? Have you not contemplated the foundations of the earth? 22 It is He Who sits on the circumference of the earth, with its inhabitants like grasshoppers; Who spreads the heavens like a thin curtain, and stretches them like a tent to dwell in; 23 Who turns governors into nothingness; Who makes judges of the land into naught — 24 as if they were not even planted, as if they were not even sown, as if their stock was not even rooted in the ground; even if He were to blow on them they would wither, and a storm wind would carry them away like stubble. 25 'To whom can you liken Me that I should be [his] equal?' says the Holy One. 26 Raise your eyes on high and see Who created these [things]! He brings forth their legions by number; He calls to each of them by name; by the abundance of His power and by vigor of His strength, not one is missing!*

God, the Master of nature and history

27 Why do you say, O Jacob, and declare, O Israel, — 'My way is hidden from HASHEM, *and my cause has passed by my God'? 28 Did you not know? Did you not hear? HASHEM is the eternal God, the Creator of the ends of the earth; He does not weary, He does not tire; there is no calculating His understanding. 29 He gives strength to the weary, and grants abundant might to the powerless. 30 Youths may weary and tire and young men may constantly falter, 31 but those whose hope is in HASHEM will have renewed strength; they will grow wings like eagles; they will run and not grow tired, they will walk and not grow weary.*

41:2. A reference to Abraham who came to Canaan from Aram to the east. His war against the kings is discussed in Genesis Ch. 14 (Rashi based on Taanis 21a). Although the Hebrew verbs in this passage are in the future tense, prophecy is often spoken in a mixture of tenses. Such usage implies that just as God helped Abraham in the past, so will He help Abraham's offspring in the future (Radak).

41:4. God chose Abraham for He knew that his progeny would be worthy of this calling (see Genesis 18:19). Since He knows about all generations, past and future, Israel may feel assured that He will come to its salvation.

41:5-7. Despite Abraham's greatness, other nations opposed him and called upon their artisans to make more and better idols (Radak). So will some nations refuse to acknowledge Israel's pre-eminence in the future (Rashi).

41:14. I will transform you from the lowly worm that you are now into a mighty, formidable force.

41:18. Another metaphor depicting the transformation of Israel from a wretched band of exiles into a thriving, vibrant community (Abarbanel).

41:21. The prophet invites the enemies of Israel to present their grievances against God and His people.

41

TRIAL OF THE NATIONS 41:1-29

The lesson of Abraham

1 Be silent to [hear] Me, O islands, and let regimes renew strength. Let them approach, then let them speak; together let us approach for judgment. 2 Who inspired [the one] from the east, at whose [every] footstep righteousness attended? [Who] delivered nations to him, and subdued kings [before him]? [Who] made [his enemies] like dust [before] his sword; like straw blown about [before] his bow?* 3 He pursued them and emerged unhurt, on a path where his feet had never gone. 4 Who brought about and accomplished [this]? He Who proclaimed the generations from the beginning: I, HASHEM, am the first, and I am He Who will be with the last [generations].* 5 The islands saw and feared, the ends of the earth shuddered; they approached and came.* 6 Each man would help his fellow [worship idols] and to his brother he would say 'Be strong!' 7 The woodworker would encourage the goldsmith, the finishing hammerer [would encourage] the one who pounds from the start; he would say of the glue, 'This is good,' and he would strengthen it with nails so that it should not loosen.

Israel is My servant

8 But you, O Israel, My servant, Jacob, you whom I have chosen, offspring of Abraham who loved Me — 9 you whom I shall grasp from the ends of the earth and shall summon from among all its noblemen, and to whom I shall say, 'You are my servant' — I have chosen you and not rejected you. 10 Fear not for I am with you; be not dismayed, for I am your God; I have strengthened you, even helped you, and even sustained you with My righteous right hand. 11 Behold, all who become angry with you will be shamed and humiliated; those who fight with you shall be like nothingness and shall perish. 12 The men who struggle with you, you shall seek them but not find them; the men who fight you, they shall be like nothingness and naught. 13 For I am HASHEM, your God, Who grasps your right hand, Who says to you: 'Fear not, [for] I help you!'

Fear not, O Jacob

14 Fear not, O worm of Jacob, O men of Israel, [for] I help you — the word of HASHEM and your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel.* 15 Behold, I have made you like a new, sharp threshing iron with many blades; you will thresh and pulverize mountains, and you will make the hills like chaff. 16 You will winnow them and the wind will carry them off, a storm will scatter them — but you will rejoice in HASHEM; in the Holy One of Israel you will glory!

Parable of the thirsty

17 The poor and the destitute beg for water but there is none, their tongue withers from thirst; I, HASHEM, will answer them; the God of Israel, I will not forsake them. 18 *I will open up rivers upon the hilltops and springs in the midst of valleys; I will turn the desert into a pond of water and a parched land into sources of water. 19 In the wilderness I will set cedar, acacia, myrtle and pine tree; I will place cypress, fir and box tree together in a desert, 20 so that they should see and know and consider and understand together that the hand of HASHEM has done this, and the Holy One of Israel has brought it about.

Appeal to history

21 'Bring your quarrel forward,' says HASHEM. 'Present your accusations,' says the King of Jacob.* 22 Let them bring forth [their prophets] and let them tell us what will happen, what primeval events signified. Tell it, that we may take to heart and know their end; or inform us about the future. 23 Tell us the signs that will come in later times, and then we will know that you are gods and that you can do good or evil; together we will discuss and decide.

HAFTARAS BEREISHIS
Ashkenazim: 42:5-43:10
Sephardim: 42:5-21

41:25. A savior will arise from the northeast. According to most commentators it was Cyrus, the benevolent king of Persia, who initiated the return to Zion in the days of Ezra. According to some, the reference is to the Messiah, who will gather together the exiled Ten Tribes, who had inhabited mostly the northeast of Israel.

41:27. The first Jews who return to Zion will announce that the rest of the exiles are returning.

41:28. Who can respond to the challenge of vv. 21-23.

42:1. The Messiah (Targum).

42:2-3. He will be accepted by all and will have no need to proclaim his judgments loudly or demonstrate his power (Radak).

42:5. Isaiah refutes those who claim that the universe came into being without a Creator (Radak). Literally, the verse is in the present tense, because God renews His Creation constantly.

42:8. By not punishing the wicked, God indirectly encourages idolaters to believe in the potency of their gods. That will soon change (Radak).

42:15. Metaphorically, God will destroy the mighty kings and their followers (Rashi).

42:16. That is, the redeemed Jewish nation, which had been "blinded" by its suffering (Radak).

24 But behold, you are made from nothing and your deeds are naught; [only] an abominable one would choose you.

Judgment

25 I have inspired someone from the north, and he has come; he calls out in My Name from where the sun rises. He will come upon rulers as [one treads on] mortar, as a potter trampling clay.* 26 Who [of the pagans] has told anything in advance that we may know; from beforehand, that we may say he was right? There is no one who tells, nor anyone who informs, nor is there anyone who hears your words! 27 The first ones to come to Zion [will announce], 'Behold! They are here!' and I will send a herald for Jerusalem.* 28 I see that there is no man, and that among them there is no counselor whom I may ask and who can respond with a word.* 29 Behold, all of them: Their deeds are worthless and naught; their molten images are but wind and nothingness.

42

The Messiah, God's servant

1 Behold My servant, whom I shall uphold; My chosen one, whom My soul desired; I have placed My spirit upon him so he can bring forth justice to the nations.* 2 He will not shout nor raise his voice, nor make his voice heard in the street.* 3 He will not break [even] a bruised reed nor extinguish even flickering flax; but he will administer justice in truth. 4 He will not slacken nor tire until he sets justice in the land and islands will long for his teaching.

A light to the nations

5 Thus said the God, HASHEM, Who created the heavens and stretched them forth; Who firmed the earth and its produce, Who gave a soul to the people upon it, and a spirit to those who walk on it:* 6 I am HASHEM; I have called you with righteousness; I will strengthen your hand; I will protect you; I will set you for a covenant to the people, for a light to the nations; 7 to open blind eyes; to remove a prisoner from confinement, dwellers in darkness from a dungeon. 8 *I am HASHEM; that is My Name; I shall not give My glory to another, nor My praise to graven idols. 9 Behold, the early [prophecies] have come about; now I relate new ones; before they sprout I shall let you hear [them].

Hymn of redemption

10 Sing to HASHEM a new song, His praise from the end of the earth, those who go down to the sea and those that fill it,
the islands and their inhabitants.
11 The wilderness and its cities will lift [their voices],
the open cities where Kedar dwells;
those who dwell on bedrock will sing out,
they will shout from mountain peaks.
12 They will render glory to HASHEM, and relate His praise in the islands.
13 HASHEM will go forth like a mighty warrior,
He will arouse vengeance like a man of war;
He will shout triumphantly, even roar; He will overpower his enemies.

God's intervention

14 I have long kept silent, I have been still, I have restrained myself; [but now] I will cry out like a woman in childbirth; I will both lay waste and swallow up. 15 I will destroy mountains and hills; I will wither all their herbage; I will turn rivers into islands and I will dry up marshes.* 16 I will lead the blind on a way they never knew; on paths they did not know I will have them walk; I will turn darkness into light before them, and make the crooked places straight. These are the things I shall have done and not have neglected them.* 17 They will withdraw to the rear and be deeply shamed, 42:18-20. Those who were formerly blind and deaf to God's will will repent and become His servants and messengers (Targum). Alternatively: The Jews in exile turn a blind eye and a deaf ear to those who taunt and persecute them (Kara). Alternatively: The prophet is repeating the words of those whom he is admonishing. "[You deride the prophets and the righteous, saying,] 'Who is blinder than God's servants and messengers!' " (Ibn Ezra, Radak).

42:21. Israel's suffering in exile was ordained by God to cleanse them of their sins, just as the Torah was given to them for that purpose (Kara).

42:22-25. Isaiah describes the depredations of the exile, and criticizes the people for not returning to God to alleviate their frightful situation.

43:1. Isaiah now speaks of Jerusalem's delivery from Sennacherib (Radak).

43:3. Sennacherib went to war with Cush and put off attacking Jerusalem (37:9).

43:12. I told Israel of My salvation before it occurred (Radak) because they shunned idol-worship.

43:14. I sent Cyrus to conquer Babylonia, several decades after the Jews had been exiled there, to release you from your Babylonian captors (Rashi). According to Targum, the verse is addressed to the Jewish exiles themselves: "Because of your [sins] I sent [you] to Babylonia."

those who trust in graven idols; those who say to molten idols, 'You are our gods.'

The deaf and the blind

18 *O deaf ones, listen; and blind ones, gaze to see! 19 Who is blind but My servant and deaf as My messenger whom I send? Who is blind like the perfected man? Blind like the servant of HASHEM? 20 Seeing much, but heeding not; opening ears, but hearing not? 21 HASHEM desired for the sake of [Israel's] righteousness that the Torah be made great and glorious.*

Israel's degradation in exile

22 But it is a looted, downtrodden people, all of them trapped in holes, and hidden away in prisons; they are looted and there is no rescuer; plundered with none to say, 'Give it back!'* 23 Who among you will give ear to this, will hearken and hear the outcome? 24 Who delivered Jacob to plunder and Israel to looters? Was it not HASHEM, He against Whom we have sinned? They did not wish to go in His ways and did not listen to His Torah. 25 So He poured out His fiery wrath upon him, and the power of war; it burned him from all around, but he would not know; it burned within him, but he did not take it to heart.

Redeemed by God

1 And now, thus says HASHEM, your Creator, O Jacob; the One Who fashioned you, O Israel: Fear not, for I have redeemed you; I have called [you] by name; you are Mine.* 2 When you pass through water, I am with you; through rivers, they will not wash you away; when you walk through fire, you will not be singed, and no flame will burn you. 3 For I am HASHEM your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Savior; I gave Egypt as your ransom, and Cush and Seba in your place.* 4 Because you were precious in My eyes you were honored and I loved you; I put people in your place and regimes in place of your soul.

The ingathering of the righteous

5 Fear not, for I am with you; from the East I will bring your offspring and from the West I will gather you. 6 I will say to the North, 'Give [them] over!' and to the South, 'Do not withhold! Bring My sons from afar and My daughters from the ends of the earth, 7 everyone who is called by My Name and whom I have created for My glory, whom I have fashioned, even perfected'; 8 to liberate the people who are blind though they have eyes, and deaf though they have ears.

9 Were all the nations gathered together and all the regimes assembled, who among them could have declared this and let us hear the early [prophecies]? Let them bring their witnesses and they will be vindicated; or else let them hear them say, 'It is true.' 10 You are My witnesses — the word of HASHEM — and My servant whom I have chosen, so that you will know and believe in Me, and understand that I am He; before Me nothing was created by a god nor will there be after Me!

"You are My witnesses . . .

11 I, only I, am HASHEM, and there is no deliverer aside from Me. 12 I have foretold and brought salvation and informed you; there was no strange [god] in your midst. You are my witnesses — the word of HASHEM — and I am God.* 13 Even before there was a day, I was He, and there is none who can save from My hand; when I act, who can reverse it?

. . I am HASHEM"

14 Thus said HASHEM, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: Because of you I sent [him] to Babylonia and I took down all of their bolted gates and the Chaldeans [fled] in boats amid their shouting.* 15 I am HASHEM, your holy One; the Creator of Israel, your King.

43:16-18. God recalls the Splitting of the Sea (Exodus 14:15-15:21), but says that the miracles of the future redemption will eclipse those of the Exodus.

43:20. Even the beasts of the field will rejoice over the bountiful greening of the desert, which will take place when My people returns.

43:23. Spoken sarcastically. Since you brought your sacrifices to your idols and not to Me, I was not a burden to you (Radak).

43:26. Of all your merits, if you think I have assessed you unfairly (Radak).

43:28. I.e., the Kohanim of the Temple (Ibn Ezra), or the religious leaders. Even the righteous suffer when God punishes the wicked (Radak).

44:2. This name for Israel, from יָשָׁר, upright, appears only here and in Deuteronomy 32:15 and 33:5, 26.

44:5. The prophet describes the enthusiastic attitude the redeemed people of Israel will assume.

44:8. No power can operate without My sanction (Targum).

44:9. Their worshipers.

44:12-20. Isaiah derides the foolish zeal of idolaters. So enthusiastic were people to create idols that they would even make carpenter's tools and work to the point of exhaustion (Radak). He goes on to describe their strenuous efforts to plant trees to be fashioned into useless idols.

The redemption from Egypt and the future redemption

16 Thus said HASHEM, He Who made a way through the Sea and a path* amid the mighty waters, 17 Who brought out chariot and horse, army and force, which all lie together, never to rise, extinguished and snuffed out like a piece of [burning] flax: 18 Do not recall former occurrences and do not contemplate earlier events. 19 [For] behold, I am bringing forth a new [miracle]! Now it will sprout, you will surely know it: I will make a road in the desert and in the wilderness rivers. 20 The beasts of the field will honor
Me — the jackals and the ostriches — for I have put water in the desert* and rivers in the wilderness, to provide drink for My chosen people, 21 this people which I fashioned for Myself that they might declare My praise.

Israel is accused . . .

22 But you did not call out to Me, O Jacob, for you grew weary of Me, O Israel. 23 You did not bring Me sheep for your elevation-offerings, nor did you honor Me with your peace-offerings; I did not burden you with meal-offering, nor did I weary you with frankincense.* 24 You spent no money buying Me fragrant cane, nor did you satiate Me with the fat of your offerings — rather, you burdened Me with your sins, you wearied Me with your iniquities. 25 I, only I, am He Who wipes away your willful sins for My sake, and I shall not recall your sins. 26 Remind Me; let us go together for* judgment; tell your [side first] that you may be vindicated. 27 Your first ancestor sinned, and your advocates betrayed Me. 28 Therefore I have profaned the holy princes; I handed Jacob over to devastation and Israel* to rebukes.

44

. . . but remains the Chosen People

1 But hear now, Jacob, My servant, and Israel, whom I have chosen!
2 Thus said HASHEM Who made you and fashioned you from the *womb, Who will help you: Fear not, My servant Jacob and Jeshurun, whom I have chosen. 3 Just as I pour out water upon the thirsty [land] and flowing water upon the dry ground, so shall I pour out My spirit upon your offspring and My blessing upon your progeny, 4 and they will flourish among the grass like willows by streams of water. 5 This one will say: 'I am HASHEM*'s,'* and the other one will call [himself] by the name of Jacob; this* one will sign his allegiance to HASHEM*, and adopt the name of Israel.*

6 Thus said HASHEM*, King of Israel and its Redeemer,* HASHEM*, Master of* Legions: I am the first and I am the last, and aside from Me there is no God.
7 Whoever will declare that he is like Me, let him proclaim it and set forth [all the events] since I emplaced the people of antiquity! And let them tell us coming events and what is yet to happen. 8 Be not afraid and be not terrified!
Did I not make you hear of yore and tell you; and you are My witnesses: Is *there a god aside from Me? There is no rock I do not know!

The futility of idols

9 All who fashion statues are empty, and the objects of their adoration will not avail; they bear witness on themselves, for they see not and they know not, so that they should be ashamed.* 10 Who fashioned a god or a molten idol? It is to no avail! 11 Behold, all who join it will be shamed; and the artisans, they are but human! Let them all gather together and stand; let them be frightened and ashamed together! 12 The ironsmith [makes] an adze; he works with charcoal and fashions it with hammers. He works on it with his strong arm, though he is hungry and without strength, though *he drinks no water and grows faint. 13 The woodworker stretches a line and marks [the wood] with chalk; he works on it with planes and marks it with a compass; he makes it like a man's form, like human splendor, 44:27. A metaphor for Babylonia, which was known for its many waterways (Rashi).

44:28. Cyrus was the Persian conqueror of Babylonia, who generously allowed his Jewish subjects to rebuild the Temple. Although these events occurred two centuries after Isaiah's time, such is the gift of prophecy that he was able to foretell future events and even to mention the names of those who would be involved in them.

45:1-7. God, through Isaiah, addresses Cyrus (the anointed king of Persia), who will be His agent in bringing Israel back to its land (Radak). According to the Talmud, "His anointed one" refers to the Messiah to whom God complained about Cyrus, "I commanded him to rebuild My Temple in Jerusalem (see Ezra 1:2), but instead of building it himself, he merely allowed those who wished to build it to do so (Ezra 1:3). Had he built it himself it would have stood forever and you, Messiah, would have been revealed now for the final redemption. However, because he did not follow My word exactly, this Temple will also be destroyed and the nation will once again go into exile" (Megillah 12a, as explained by Rashba).

Wood: god or fuel?

to stay inside a house. 14 Cutting cedars for it; he takes laurel and oak and reinforces it with trees of the forest; he plants a fir tree and the rain makes it grow. 15 It will be fuel for man; he will take from it and warm himself, or even kindle a fire and bake bread. Yet he also makes a god and prostrates himself; he makes it a graven idol and bows to them! 16 He burns half of it in fire, or with half [he prepares] meat to eat, roasting it and sating himself, or he warms himself and says, 'Ah, I have warmed myself, I see the flame.' 17 Then the rest of it he makes into a god as his graven image; he will bow to it and prostrate himself and pray to it, and say, 'Rescue me, for you are my god!' 18 They do not know and they do not understand; for their eyes are smeared, [prevented] from seeing and their hearts from comprehending. 19 He does not take it to his heart; [he has] neither wisdom nor insight to say, 'I have burned half of it in the fire and I have baked bread on its coals; I have roasted meat and eaten it. Shall I make the remainder into an abomination? Shall I bow to stock of a tree?' 20 The shepherd is but ash! A foolish heart deceived him, and he does not save his soul, and he does not say: 'Is there not falsehood in my right hand?!'

God grants forgiveness

21 Remember these things, Jacob and Israel, for you are My servant: I fashioned you to be My servant; Israel, do not forget Me! 22 I will have wiped away your willful sins like a thick mist and your transgressions like a cloud; return to me, for I will have redeemed you! 23 Sing glad song, O heavens, for HASHEM has done [wonders]; shout for joy, O foundations of the earth; break out with glad song, O mountains, O forest and all its trees; for HASHEM has redeemed Jacob, and He will glorify Himself through Israel.

The Temple shall be established

24 Thus said HASHEM, your Redeemer and the One Who formed you from the womb: I am HASHEM, Who has made everything; Who spread out the heavens by Myself, and firmed the earth of My own accord; 25 Who abrogates the omens of the stargazers and makes fools of the astrologers; Who makes wise men retreat and makes their knowledge foolish; 26 Who confirms the words of His servant, and fulfills the counsel of His messengers; Who says of Jerusalem, 'It shall be settled,' and of the cities of Judah, 'They shall be built up, and I will rebuild its ruins'; 27 Who says to the depths, * 'Dry up' and 'I shall dry out your rivers'; 28 Who says of Cyrus, * 'He is My shepherd, He will fulfill all My desires,' to say of Jerusalem, 'It shall be built,' and of the Temple, 'It shall be established.'

45

Cyrus is made God's agent

1 Thus said HASHEM to His anointed one, to Cyrus, * whose right hand I have grasped, to subdue nations before him, that I might loosen the loins of kings, * to open doors before him, and that gateways not be shut. 2 "I will go before you and straighten the twisting paths; I will smash copper doors and sever iron bolts; 3 and I will grant you the treasures of darkness * and hidden riches of secret places, in order that you should know that I am HASHEM Who has proclaimed your name — [I,] the God of Israel — 4 for the sake of My servant Jacob and Israel, My chosen one; I have proclaimed you by name; I dubbed you, though you did not know Me. 5 I am HASHEM and there is no other; other than Me there is no God; I will gird you, though you did not know Me, 6 in order that those from east and west would know that there is nothing besides Me; I am HASHEM, and there is no other.

45:1. Just as "girding the loins" implies mustering strength or courage, "loosening the loins" denotes the loss of courage.

45:3. That is, riches that the Babylonians had hidden in dark places.

45:11. Let the nations of the world ask Me what I have in store for My people!

45:14. This begins a prophecy. It refers to Sennacherib's attack on Jerusalem (Rashi), and reverts to the theme of 43:1-4. Sennacherib would bring hoards of spoils and prisoners when he returns to Jerusalem from an expedition to Cush (see Ch. 37). When God ends the siege, the Jews would take the property and set the captives free.

45:19. I did not keep My prophecies a secret; My prophets revealed them to the peoples of the world (Ibn Ezra).

45:21. Who prophesied the salvation of Israel from Sennacherib or the Babylonians (Radak).

46:1. Bitingly and sarcastically, the chapter contrasts the omnipotence of God with the helplessness of idols and the foolishness of idolaters in general. It begins by speaking figuratively of Bel and Nebo, the Babylonian deities, which double over and collapse when their country is conquered, and are then ignominiously carted off by the victors.

7 [I am the One] Who forms light and creates darkness; Who makes peace and creates evil; I am HASHEM, Maker of all these.

8 "Pour out, O heavens, from above, and let the upper heights drip righeousness; let the earth open up and salvation and goodness will flourish; let it make them sprout together; I am HASHEM, Who created this.

God is sovereign

9 "Woe to him who argues with his Creator, a shard among the shards of the earth! Does clay say to the one who forms it, 'What are you doing? Your creation is without [skilled] hands'? 10 Woe to he who says to a father, 'What have you begotten?' or to a woman, 'For what have you gone into labor?' 11 Thus said HASHEM, the Holy One of Israel and the One Who formed it: Ask Me about the future events, about My sons and about the actions of My hands shall you command Me. * 12 I made the earth and I created mankind upon it; it is I, My hands spread out the heavens and I commanded all its hosts [to come into existence]. 13 I aroused [Cyrus] with righteousness and smoothed out all his paths; he will build My city and set My exiles free, not with a price and not with a bribe, said HASHEM, Master of Legions."

The nations will confess

14 Thus said HASHEM:* The toil of Egypt and the merchandise of Cush and the Sabeans, men of stature, will pass to you and will become yours; they will follow after you and pass in chains. They will prostrate themselves before you; they will pray before you, 'Only with you [Jerusalem] is God, and there is none other, except for God'; 15 [and before God,] 'Indeed, You are a God Who conceals Himself, the God of Israel is the Savior!' 16 They will all be ashamed and humiliated; together the artisans of idolatrous forms will walk in shame. 17 But Israel is saved through HASHEM, an eternal salvation; you will not be ashamed nor humiliated for all eternity.

God, the Creator

18 For thus said HASHEM, Creator of the heavens; He is the God, the One Who fashioned the earth and its Maker; He established it; He did not create it for emptiness; He fashioned it to be inhabited: I am HASHEM and there is no other. 19 I did not speak in secrecy, some place in a land of darkness; * I did not tell the descendants of Jacob to seek Me for nothing; I am HASHEM Who speaks righteousness, Who declares upright things. 20 Gather yourselves, come and approach together, O survivors of the nations, who do not know, who carry about the wood of their graven image, and pray to a god who cannot save. 21 Proclaim and approach; even let [your leaders] take counsel together: Who let this be heard from aforetimes, or related it from of old? * Is it not I, HASHEM? There is no other god besides Me; there is no righteous god besides Me and no savior other than Me. 22 Turn to Me and be saved, all ends of the earth, for I am God and there is no other. 23 I swear by Myself, righteousness has gone forth from My mouth, a word that will not be rescinded: that to Me shall every knee kneel and every tongue swear.

24 Only in HASHEM, Who spoke to me, is there righteousness and strength; all those who anger Him will come to Him and be ashamed. 25 All the seed of Israel will be vindicated and will glory in HASHEM.

Collapse of the idols

1 Bel * is kneeling; Nebo is doubled over. Their idols [were loaded] on the beast and animal; your bearers are overloaded, it is a burden on the weary [beast]. 2 They have doubled over and fallen on their knees together; they could not escape being carried off; and have themselves gone into captivity. 3 Listen to me, O House of Jacob, and all the remnant of the House

46:4. In contrast to the helpless idols, which are hauled off as looted baggage, God is not borne but bears His people and rescues them from all their difficulties (Rashi).

46:11. A reference to Cyrus, who would swoop down upon Babylonia from Persia (Ibn Ezra), and be the instrument to carry out God's plan.

46:12. The prophet is addressing the Babylonians who cruelly oppressed the Jews (Radak).

47:2. As a slave would. Your days as a member of the nobility are over; you will cross your river and go into exile.

47:4. The prophet interjects that all this will be caused by God (Rashi).

of Israel, who are borne [by Me] from birth, who are carried from the womb.
4 Until [your] old age I am unchanged, and until [your] hoary years I will carry [you]; I made [you] and I will bear [you], I will carry [you] and I will rescue [you]. * 5 To whom can you liken Me, or consider equal, or compare Me that we should seem alike? 6 — to those who pour gold from the purse and weigh silver in a balance-scale; who hire a goldsmith to make it into a god; who bow and even prostrate themselves; 7 who carry it on their shoulders and bear it; and when they set it down, it remains in its place, it does not budge from its place? He even cries out to it, but it does not answer; it does not save him from his distress.

God of history

8 Remember this and strengthen yourselves; take it to heart, O evildoers: 9 Recall the early events of ancient times, [see] that I am God and there is no other; [I am] God and there is none like Me. 10 From the beginning I foretell the outcome; and from earlier times, what has not yet been; [but] I say and My plan will stand, and I will carry out My every desire. 11 I have summoned the vulture * from the east, from a distant land, [he is] the man of My counsel. I also spoke; I also will carry out. I formed [it]; I also will accomplish it.
12 Listen to Me, O fierce-hearted ones, * who are far from righteousness: 13 I have brought My righteousness close, it will not be far; and My salvation, it will not delay; I will establish My salvation in Zion, My splendor for Israel.

The exile of the Babylonians

1 Get down and sit on the dirt, O virgin daughter of Babylonia; sit on the ground without a chair, O daughter of Chaldeans; for they will no longer call you 'delicate and dainty.' 2 Get a millstone and grind flour; * expose your hair and bare a leg; expose a thigh to cross through rivers. 3 Your nakedness will be exposed and your embarrassment will be seen; I will take revenge and I will not be entreated by man.

4 Our Redeemer, * Whose Name is HASHEM, Master of Legions, the Holy One of Israel!

5 Sit silently, then go into the darkness, O daughter of Chaldeans, for they will no longer call you 'the mistress of kingdoms.' 6 I became angry at My people; I degraded My heritage and delivered them into your hand. You showed them no compassion; you made your yoke very heavy upon the aged. 7 You said [to yourself], 'Forever will I be a mistress!' so you did not take these upon your heart; you did not remember [My heritage's] end.

From security to tragedy

8 Now, hear this, O pampered one, who dwells securely, who says in her heart, 'Only I and none but me! I shall not sit as a widow, and I shall not know bereavement': 9 Both of these will come upon you in a moment, on the same day — bereavement and widowhood; in their fullness will they come upon you, despite the abundance of your witchcraft and the great intensity of your enchantments. 10 You trusted in your evil; you said, 'No one sees me.' Your wisdom and your knowledge — that is what emboldened you; you said in your heart, 'Only I and none but me!' 11 Misfortune will befall you, you will not know how to pray; tragedy will befall you, you will be unable to remove it; there will come upon you a sudden disaster such as you have never known. 12 Stand fast now with your enchantments and with the abundance of your witchcraft, with which you have toiled from your youth; perhaps you will be able to avail, perhaps you will gain strength! 13 You have wearied yourself with your many counselors; let them stand up for you now and save you — the astrologers, the stargazers, who foretell by new moons —

47:14. Your obsession with astrology was as useless as straw, which leaves nothing of benefit after it is burned.

47:15. All the foreigners with whom you had had business dealings will desert you and flee for home when you come under attack (Radak).

48:1-3. They profane God's Name by using it to swear falsely (Rashi), or they hypocritically swear by His Name, but do not do His will (Radak, Ibn Ezra). Nevertheless, I shall redeem them, for they are known as "the people of the Holy City," and they rely on Me to save them. Thus, if I would not save them, My glory would be profaned. Therefore, God prophesied that He would save Hezekiah's kingdom from Sennacherib (Rashi).

48:6. Will you not proclaim that God carried out His promise to destroy the Assyrian army?

48:10. I will punish you, but not with the full severity you deserve, as one would smelt silver over the flaming fire, for then there would be nothing left of you.

48:11. If God permitted Israel to be vanquished, the victor would credit his own prowess or his gods.

48:14. Having proclaimed God's omnipotence, the prophet calls upon the idolaters to gather and declare that He has made Cyrus, the one "whom HASHEM loves," carry out His will against Babylonia.

48:16. The prophet declares that he had spoken his prophecy regarding Sennacherib's downfall for all to hear from the very first time it was revealed to him (Radak). He then issues a new prophecy.

48:19. Your descendants will be as numerous as the fish in the ocean (Rashi).

from what will happen to you! 14 Behold, they have become like straw: fire burned them, they could not save themselves from the power of the flame; no coal remains by which to warm up; no fire by which to sit —* 15 so were [those advisers] with whom you toiled. The merchants with whom you dealt since your youth have scattered, each one in his own direction; there is no one to save you.*

Retrospective of prophecy

1 Hear this, O House of Jacob, who are called by the name of Israel, and who emerged from the fount of Judah, who swear by the Name of HASHEM and make mention of the God of Israel — but not in truth and not in righteousness —* 2 rather because they are called after the Holy City and they rely on the God of Israel, HASHEM, Master of Legions, is His Name. 3 I foretold the earliest events beforehand; they emerged from My mouth and I announced them; I acted with suddenness and they came about. 4 Because of My knowledge that you are difficult, and that your neck is an iron sinew and your forehead is brazen, 5 I told you beforehand, and when it had not yet happened I informed you, lest you say, 'My deity accomplished them; my graven image and my molten idol have ordained them.' 6 You have heard it; now see it all [happen]! Now you — will you not tell it? Now I will inform you of new events, hidden things that you did not know about.* 7 They were created just now, not long ago and not before today, and you have never heard of them — lest you say, 'Behold, I already know them.' 8 You have neither heard nor have you known, nor was your ear opened to them from before. For I know that you would deal very treacherously, and you have been called a rebel from birth. 9 For My Name's sake I shall restrain My wrath; for My praise I shall withhold My anger from you, not to cut you down. 10 *Behold, I refine you, but not like silver; I have chosen for you the crucible of hardship. 11 *For My sake, for My sake I will do [it], for how can I let [My Name] be profaned? I will not cede My glory to another!

12 Listen to Me, O Jacob, and Israel, as he was called by Me: I am He; I am the first, also I am the last. 13 Also, My hand has laid the foundation of the earth, and My right hand has measured out the heavens; I call to them and they stand together. 14 Gather together, all of you, and listen, who among them has related these things: HASHEM loves him who does His will in Babylonia, and [shows] His arm against the Chaldeans.* 15 I, only I, have spoken and even summoned him; I have brought him, and his path is successful.

16 Approach me, hear this: I did not speak in secrecy at first; from the time [the decree] was issued I was there. And now, My Lord,* HASHEM/ELOHIM, has sent me with His spirit.

Reward for obedience

17 Thus said HASHEM, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: I am HASHEM, your God, Who instructs you for [your] benefit, Who guides you in the way you should follow. 18 If you had hearkened to My commandments, your peace would [flow] like a river and your righteousness like the waves of the sea. 19 Your offspring would be like the sand and those that emerge from your innards like [the sea's] innards. Its name will not be cut off and will not be destroyed before Me.*

20 Go forth from Babylonia; hurry from Chaldea. With glad song relate, announce this; bring forth [the message] to the ends of the earth; say, 'HASHEM has redeemed His servant Jacob.' 21 They did not thirst, 48:22. The Babylonian victims of Cyrus's conquest.

49:1. As he prepares to prophecy regarding many countries, Isaiah stresses that God selected him for this purpose.

49:4. I was frustrated when I saw that people ignored my preaching, but God knows that I put all my effort into it, and that the failure was not my fault.

49:7. According to most commentators, this verse begins a new prophecy: When God redeems Israel, which has been "despised . . . loathed . . . a servant," its disgrace will be ended and it will be honored by kings and rulers, who will recognize that the redemption came about "because of HASHEM." Alternatively: The prophet is still speaking of himself and the contempt with which his prophecies have been treated (Ibn Ezra).

49:10-11. When the exiles return, they will find ample provisions; highlands and lowlands along the way will be leveled and easily traversed.

49:21. With its children driven from her, Zion regards herself as an exile.

though He led them through parched deserts; He made water flow for them from a rock; He split a rock and water gushed. 22 '[But] there is no peace for the wicked,' said HASHEM.*

49 1 *Listen to me, O islands, and hearken, O distant regimes: HASHEM summoned me from the belly; He mentioned my name from my mother's womb. 2 He made my mouth like a sharp sword; in the shadow of His hand He hid me; He made me like a smooth arrow, in His quiver He concealed me. 3 He said to me: "You are my servant, Israel, in whom I take glory." 4 But I said, "I have toiled in vain and used up my strength for nothingness and naught; however, my judgment is with HASHEM and [the reward for] my accomplishment is with My God."* 5 And now HASHEM, Who formed me from the belly to be a servant to Him, said [I should] return Jacob to Him, so that Israel would be gathered to Him; so I was honored in God's eyes and my God was my strength. 6 He said: It is insufficient that you be a servant for Me [only] to raise up the tribes of Jacob and to restore the ruins of Israel; I will make you a light for the nations, so that My salvation may extend to the ends of the earth.

Designated a prophet from the womb

A light for the nations

7 Thus said HASHEM, the Redeemer of Israel and their Holy One, to the despised soul, to the one loathed by nations, to the servant of rulers: Kings will see [you] and arise; officers will prostrate themselves, because of HASHEM, Who is faithful, and the Holy One of Israel, Who has chosen you.*

8 Thus said HASHEM: In a time of favor I answer you, and on a day of salvation I assist you; I will protect you, and I will make you the people of the covenant, to restore the land and to cause you to inherit desolate heritages, 9 to say to prisoners 'Go out' and to those in the darkness, 'Be revealed'; they will graze along the roads, and upon all the hilltops will be their pasture. 10 They will not hunger and they will not thirst; heat and sun will not afflict them, for their Merciful One will lead them, and along streams of water will He guide them. 11 *I will make all My mountains into roads, and all My paths will be uplifted. 12 Behold, these [will come] from afar; and behold, these [will come] from the north and from the west, and these from the land of the Sinites. 13 Sing glad song, O heavens, and rejoice, O earth; O mountains, break out in glad song; for HASHEM will have comforted His people and been merciful to His meek ones.

Return from exile

God did not forget

14 Zion said, 'HASHEM has forsaken me; my Lord has forgotten me.' 15 Can a woman forget her baby, or not feel compassion for the child of her womb? Even these may forget, but I would not forget you. 16 Behold, I have engraved you upon My palms; your walls are before Me always. 17 Your children will hasten [to return], and your ruiners and your destroyers will leave you. 18 Raise your eyes all around and see: They have all gathered, they have come to you. As I live — the word of HASHEM — [I swear] that you will clothe yourself with them all like jewelry and adorn yourself like a bride.

Jerusalem rebuilt and resettled

19 As for your ruins and desolations and your devastated land — you will now become crowded with inhabitants, and those who would devour you will be distanced. 20 The children from whom you had been bereaved will yet say in your ears, 'The place is too crowded for me; move aside for me that I may dwell.' 21 And you will say in your heart, 'Who has begotten me these? For I have been bereaved and alone, an exile and a wanderer — so who has reared these? Behold, I had been left by myself; where are these from?'*

49:22. As signals that they should release the Jews in their midst.

49:24-26. The nations argue that they were justified in conquering and exiling Israel as a fair punishment for their sins, but God rejects their claim.

50:1. God says that even though He exiles the mother, i.e., the congregation of Israel, His relationship with her is intact because He never gave her a figurative bill of divorce.

50:2. Why do you not respond when I call upon you to repent? (Radak).

50:3. A reference to dark rain clouds (Ibn Ezra).

50:4-9. Isaiah speaks of both his own readiness to be God's spokesman and God's readiness to inspire him. Every morning, God inspires him anew with teachings and prophecies, and does it in such a way that he can understand them clearly (Radak).

50:11. Isaiah rebukes those whose sins have ignited the fire of God's rage, and tells them that they will suffer the consequences.

51:1. Isaiah speaks to the righteous ones, those who believe the words of the prophet (Ibn Ezra).

The captives returned

22 For thus said my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold I will raise My hand toward nations, and I will hoist my banner towards peoples, and they will* bring your children in [their] arms, and your daughters will be carried on [their] shoulder. 23 Kings will be your nurturers and their princesses your wet nurses. With faces to the ground they will prostrate themselves to you; they will lick the dust of your feet. Then you will know that I am HASHEM, and those Who put their hopes in Me shall not be ashamed.

24 [The nations ask,] 'Should loot be retrieved from a warrior? Should a* justly captured person be allowed to escape?' 25 Yet thus said HASHEM: Even the captives of a warrior can be retrieved, and the booty of fierce men can escape; I Myself will take up your cause, and I Myself will save your children.
26 And I will feed your tormentors their own flesh, and they will become drunk on their own blood as on sweet wine; then all flesh will know that I am HASHEM, your Savior and your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

50

Encouraged to repent

1 Thus said HASHEM: What is your mother's bill of divorce by which I sent her away? Or to which of My creditors have I sold you? Behold, it is* for your iniquities that you have been sold, and for your rebellious sins that your mother has been sent away. 2 Why is it that I have come and there is no man? [Why is it that] I have called and there is no one who answers?*
Is My hand too limited to grant redemption? Is there no strength in Me to rescue? Behold, by My rebuke I dry the sea; I make rivers into a desert; their fish become putrid for lack of water and die of thirst. 3 I clothe the heavens *in blackness and make sackcloth their garment!

The prophet's sacrifice

4 My Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, has granted me a tongue for teaching, to under- stand the need of the times in conveying matters to those who thirst [for knowledge]; He arouses [me] morning after morning; He arouses [my] ear for me to *understand as disciples are taught. 5 My Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, has opened [my] ear for me, and I did not resist; I did not retreat to the rear. 6 I submitted my body to those who smite and my cheeks to those who pluck; I did not hide my face from humiliation and spit. 7 For my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, helps me; there- fore, I was not humiliated; therefore, I made my face [as hard] as flint and knew that I would not be ashamed. 8 My Champion is near; whoever would contend with me, let us stand together; whoever is my adversary, let him approach me.
9 Behold, my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, will help me; who is he that will condemn me? Behold, they will all wear out like a garment; a moth will devour them.

10 Who among you fears HASHEM, listening to the voice of His servant?
Though he may have walked in darkness with no light for himself, let him trust in the Name of HASHEM, and rely upon his God. 11 Behold, all of you are igniters of fire, kindlers of sparks. Go in the flame of your fire, and in the* sparks you have lit; from My hand has this [decree] come upon you, that you should die in sorrow.

51

Zion comforted

1 Listen to me, O pursuers of righteousness, O seekers of HASHEM: Look to the* rock from which you were hewn, and at the hollow of the pit from which you were dug; 2 look to Abraham your forefather and to Sarah who bore you, for when he was yet one alone did I summon him and bless him and make him many.
3 For HASHEM will comfort Zion, He will comfort all her ruins; He will make her wilderness like Eden and her wasteland like a garden of HASHEM; joy and gladness will be found there, thanksgiving and the sound of music.

51:9. This is Isaiah's prayer to God that He display His strength in aid of Israel, as He did when He destroyed "the haughty one," i.e., Egypt (see 30:7), and "the sea serpent," i.e., Pharaoh (Ezekiel 29:3).

51:13. The enemy's fury has vanished with its perpetrator!

51:16. I.e., to prophesy that Israel will be restored to its land (Ibn Ezra).

Israel's return from exile will be tantamount to a new creation (Radak).

51:19. No other nation has suffered so much that I could use its example to comfort you (Rashi).

51:21. Your senses have been dulled through endless suffering, not by alcohol.

4 Pay attention to Me, my people; give ear to Me, My nation; for instruction will come forth from Me and My judgment will be a light for peoples, to whom I will give rest. 5 My righteousness is near; My salvation has gone forth; My arms will chastise nations; the islands will put their hope in Me and will trust in My arm. 6 Lift up your eyes to the heavens, look at the earth below — for the heavens will dissipate like smoke, and the earth will wear out like a garment and its inhabitants will die, as well; but My salvation will be forever and My righteousness will not be broken.

7 Listen to Me, you who know righteousness, the nation with My Torah in its heart: Do not fear from the disparagement of man, and do not be broken by their insults; 8 for like a garment, a moth will eat them, and like wool, a worm will eat them; but My righteousness will be forever, and My salvation for all generations.

A call for God to intervene

9 Awaken! Awaken! Don strength, O arm of HASHEM! Awaken as in the days of old, as in previous generations. Are You not the One Who decimated the haughty, Who terrified the sea serpent?* 10 Are You not the One Who dried up the sea, the waters of the great deep; Who made the depths of the sea a path for the redeemed ones to cross? 11 Then the redeemed of HASHEM will return and come to Zion with glad song, with eternal gladness upon their head. They will attain joy and gladness; sadness and sighing will flee.

The Creator, God of Israel

12 I, only I, am He Who comforts you; who are you that you should be afraid of mortal humans and of men who will be made as grass? 13 *You have forgotten HASHEM, your Maker, Who spread out the heavens and set the foundations of the earth, and you are terrified continually, all day long, because of the oppressor's fury when he prepares to destroy — but where is the oppressor's fury? 14 The wanderer will soon be released, and will not die in the pit, nor will his bread be lacking. 15 I am HASHEM, your God, Who stirs up the sea and its waves rage, Whose Name is HASHEM, Master of Legions. 16 And I have placed My words in your mouth — and with the shade of My hand have I covered you — to implant the heavens and to set a foundation for the earth and to say unto Zion, "You are My people!"*

The cup of bewilderment

17 Awaken yourself! Awaken yourself! Arise, O Jerusalem, you who have drunk from the hand of HASHEM the cup of His fury. You have drunk from and drained the sediments of the cup of bewilderment. 18 Among all the children she has borne there is no one to guide her; among all the children she has reared there is no one to hold her hand. 19 *There are two [calamities] that have befallen you — who will bewail you? — the plunder and the calamity, the hunger and the sword. With whom can I comfort you? 20 Your children have fainted, they lie at the head of all the streets like a wild bull trapped in a net; they are full of HASHEM's fury, with your God's rebuke.

21 *Therefore, hear this now, O afflicted one, drunk, but not from wine. 22 Thus said your Lord, HASHEM, and your God, Who will defend His people: Behold, I have removed the cup of bewilderment from your hand; from the sediments of the cup of My fury shall you no longer drink any more. 23 But I will put it into the hand of your tormentors, who have said to your soul, 'Prostrate yourself so that we may pass over you,' for whom you have made your body like the ground and like a street for passersby.

The final redemption

1 Awaken, awaken! Don your strength, O Zion; don your garments of splendor, O Jerusalem, the holy city, for uncircumcised and defiled people will no longer enter you. 2 Shake the dust from yourself; arise and sit, O Jeru-

52:3. You were sold to your enemies only in punishment for your sins, and you can be redeemed from their subjugation through repentance.

52:4-5. Egypt's guilt was not so great, because the Jews arrived there of their own accord and were given permission to live there. But Assyria oppressed and exiled the Israelites without any justification. Therefore, God asks, why should He permit Himself and His children to remain there? (Rashi).

52:6. When I redeem them.

52:11. Leave the lands of your dispersion. The redeemed Jews should cleanse themselves spirtually, for their armor must be their dedication to God and the Torah (Ibn Ezra, Radak).

52:13. I.e., God's servant, the people of Israel (Rashi).

52:15. Just as Israel had once been astonishingly degraded, so it will astonish the nations by its exaltedness when the time of redemption arrives.

53:1-3. This is a prophecy foretelling what the nations and their kings will exclaim when they witness Israel's rejuvenation. The nations will contrast their former scornful attitude toward the Jews (vv. 1-3) with their new realization of Israel's grandeur (vv. 4-7).

53:5. We brought suffering upon Israel for our own selfish purposes; it was not, as we had claimed, that God was punishing Israel for its own evil behavior.

53:6. We sinned by inflicting punishment upon Israel. Such oppression is often described as "HASHEM's punish-salem; undo the straps on your neck, O captive daughter of Zion. [3] For thus said HASHEM: For naught were you sold, and without money will you be redeemed. *

[4] For thus said my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM: As for Egypt, My people went down originally to sojourn there. But Assyria oppressed them without justification; * [5] so now, why should I [remain] here? — the word of HASHEM — where My people was taken for naught? Their rulers glorify themselves — the word of HASHEM — and constantly, all day, My Name is blasphemed. [6] Therefore, My people shall know My Name — therefore, on that day, * that it is I Who speaks, here I am!

"Your God has reigned!"

[7] How pleasant are the footsteps of the herald upon the mountains announcing peace, heralding good tidings, announcing salvation, saying unto Zion, 'Your God has reigned!' [8] The voice of your lookouts, they raise their voice, they sing glad song in unison; with their own eyes they will see that HASHEM returns to Zion. [9] Burst out, sing glad song in unison, O ruins of Jerusalem, for HASHEM will have comforted His people; He will have redeemed Jerusalem. [10] HASHEM has bared His holy arm before the eyes of all the nations; all ends of the earth will see the salvation of our God!

[11] Turn away! Turn away! Get out from there! * It is defiled; do not touch it! Get out from inside it! Cleanse yourselves, O bearers of HASHEM's armor. [12] You will not leave in chaos, nor will you go in flight; for HASHEM will go before you, and the God of Israel will be your rear guard.

Success of the righteous

[13] Behold, My servant * will succeed; he will be exalted and become high and exceedingly lofty. [14] Just as multitudes were astonished over you, [saying,] 'His appearance is too marred to be a man's, and his visage to be human,' [15] so will the many nations exclaim about him, * and kings will shut their mouths [in amazement], for they will see that which had never been told to them, and will perceive things they had never heard.

53

The nations' wonderment at Israel's redemption

[1] Who would believe what we have heard! * For whom has the arm of HASHEM been revealed! [2] Formerly he grew like a sapling or like a root from arid ground; he had neither form nor grandeur; we saw him, but without such visage that we could desire him. [3] He was despised and isolated from men, a man of pains and accustomed to illness. As one from whom we would hide our faces; he was despised, and we had no regard for him. [4] But in truth, it was our ills that he bore, and our pains that he carried — but we had regarded him diseased, stricken by God, and afflicted! [5] He was pained because of our rebellious sins and oppressed through our iniquities; the chastisement upon him was for our benefit, * and through his wounds, we were healed. [6] We have all strayed like sheep, each of us turning his own way, and HASHEM inflicted upon him the iniquity of us all. * [7] He was persecuted and afflicted, but he did not open his mouth; like a sheep being led to the slaughter or a ewe that is silent before her shearers, he did not open his mouth. [8] Now that he has been released from captivity and judgment, who could have imagined such a generation? For he had been removed from the land of the living, an affliction upon them that was my people's sin. * [9] He submitted himself to his grave like wicked men; and ment" (see 10:5, Habakkuk 1:12), for He decreed that it should happen (Abarbanel).

53:8. When Israel's exile is finally ended, the nations will marvel that such a generation could have survived the expulsion from "the land of the living," i.e., the Land of Israel, that the nations had sinfully inflicted upon it.

53:9. Ordinary Jews chose to die like common criminals, rather than renounce their faith; and wealthy Jews were killed for no reason other than to enable their wicked conquerors to confiscate their riches (Radak).

53:10. That is, Israel. God replies to the nations that Israel's suffering was a punishment for its own sins; and when the people realize this and repent, they will be redeemed and rewarded.

53:11. Israel will teach the nations of God's righteousness.

53:12. In exile, Jews prayed for the welfare of their host nations.

54:4. At the time of your final redemption, there will be none of the humiliations your ancestors encountered when they returned from exile in the days of Ezra (Radak).

54:6. You are not like a widow, but like an unfaithful woman whose husband has left her, but eventually returns to her (Radak).

54:16. You need not fear weapons, for I am the One Who created the producers of those weapons, and I have also created the power to annihilate them (Radak).

the wealthy [submitted] to his executions, for committing no crime and with no deceit in his mouth. *

God's will was done

10 HASHEM desired to oppress him and He afflicted him; if his soul would acknowledge guilt, he would see offspring and live long days and the desire of HASHEM would succeed in his hand. 11 He would see [the purpose] and be satisfied with his soul's distress. With his knowledge My servant will vindicate the Righteous One to multitudes;* it is their iniquities that he will carry. 12 Therefore, I will assign him a portion from the multitudes and he will divide the mighty as spoils — in return for having poured out his soul for death and being counted among the wicked, for he bore the sin of the multitudes, and prayed for the wicked.*

The many children of the barren one

1 Sing out, O barren one who has not given birth; break into glad song and be jubilant, you who have not been in birth travail. For the children of the desolate [Jerusalem] will outnumber the children of the inhabited one, said HASHEM. 2 Broaden the place of your tent and let the curtains of your dwellings stretch out, stint not; lengthen your cords and strengthen your pegs. 3 For you will burst out to the right and to the left; your offspring will inherit nations, and they will settle desolate cities. 4 Fear not, for you will not be shamed;* do not feel humiliated, for you will not be disgraced; for you will forget the shame of your youth and you will no longer recall the disgrace of your widowhood. 5 For your Master is your Maker, HASHEM, Master of Legions, is His Name; your Redeemer is the Holy One of Israel; God of all the world will He be called. 6 For like a wife who had been forsaken and melancholy has HASHEM called you,* and like a wife of one's youth who had become despised, said your God. 7 For but a brief moment have I forsaken you, and with abundant mercy will I gather you in. 8 With a slight wrath have I concealed My countenance from you for a moment, but with eternal kindness shall I show you mercy, said your Redeemer, HASHEM.*

Eternal mercy and kindness

9 For [like] the waters of Noah this shall be to Me: Just as I swore that the waters of Noah would never again pass over the earth, so have I sworn not to be wrathful with you nor to rebuke you. 10 For the mountains may be moved and the hills may falter, but My kindness shall not be removed from you and My covenant of peace shall not falter, said the One Who shows you mercy, HASHEM.

The new glory of Jerusalem

11 O afflicted, storm-tossed one, who has not been consoled: Behold, I will set down gems as your [flooring] stones and lay your foundation with sapphires. 12 I will set your window [frames] with ruby and [make] your gates of carbuncle stones, and your entire boundary of precious stones. 13 All your children will be students of HASHEM, and your children's peace will be abundant. 14 Establish yourself through righteousness, distance yourself from oppression, for you need not fear it, and from devastation, for it will not come near you. 15 Behold, they may indeed gather together, but it is without My consent. Whoever will gather against you will fall because of you. 16 Behold, I created the smith, who fans his charcoal flame and withdraws a tool for his labor, but I have [also] created the destroyer to demolish. 17 Any weapon sharpened against you will not succeed, and any tongue that will rise against you in judgment, you will condemn. This is the heritage of the servants of HASHEM, and their righteousness from Me — the word of HASHEM.*

Come, study Torah!

[1] Ho, everyone who is thirsty, go to the water, even one with no money, go, buy and eat; go and buy wine and milk without money and without price. * [2] Why do you weigh out money without getting bread and [exert] your efforts for that which does not satisfy? Listen well to Me and you will eat well, and your soul will delight in rich food. [3] Incline your ear and come to Me; listen, and your soul will be rejuvenated; I will make an eternal covenant with you, the enduring kindnesses [promised to] David. * [4] Behold, I have appointed him as a witness over the regimes, a prince and a commander to the regimes. [5] Behold, you will summon a nation you had not known, and a nation that had not known you will run to you, for the sake of HASHEM, your God, for the Holy One of Israel, Who has glorified you.

Davidic covenant

Seek God and return to Him

[6] Seek HASHEM when He can be found; * call upon Him when He is near. [7] Let the wicked one forsake his way and the iniquitous man his thoughts; let him return to HASHEM and He will show him mercy; to our God, for He is abundantly forgiving. [8] For My thoughts are not your thoughts and your ways are not My ways * — the word of HASHEM. [9] As high as the heavens over the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts. [10] For just as the rain and snow descend from heaven and will not return there, rather it waters the earth and causes it to produce and sprout, and gives seed to the sower and food to the eater, [11] so shall be My word that emanates from My mouth, it will not return to Me unfulfilled unless it will have accomplished what I desired and brought success where I sent it. * [12] For in gladness shall you go out and in peace shall you arrive, the mountains and hills will break out in glad song before you, and all the trees of the field will clap hands. * [13] In place of the thornbush, a cypress will rise; and in place of the nettle, a myrtle will rise. * This will be a monument to HASHEM, an eternal sign never to be cut down.

Keep the law

[1] Thus said HASHEM: Observe justice and perform righteousness, for My salvation is soon to come and My righteousness to be revealed. [2] Praiseworthy is the man who does this and the person who grasps it tightly: who guards the Sabbath against desecrating it and guards his hand against doing any evil.

The foreigner, the barren one . . .

[3] Let not the foreigner, who has joined himself to HASHEM, speak, saying, 'HASHEM will utterly separate me from His people'; and let not the barren one say, 'Behold I am a shriveled tree.' [4] For thus said HASHEM to the barren ones who observe My Sabbaths and choose what I desire, and grasp My covenant tightly: [5] In My house and within My walls I will give them a place of honor and renown, which is better than sons and daughters; eternal renown will I give them, which will never be terminated. [6] And the foreigners who join themselves to HASHEM to serve Him and to love the Name of HASHEM to become servants unto Him, all who guard the Sabbath against desecration, and grasp My covenant tightly — [7] I will bring them to My holy mountain, and I will gladden them in My house of prayer; their elevation-offerings and their feast-offerings will find favor on My Altar, for My House will be called a house of prayer for all the peoples. [8] The word of my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, Who gathers in the dispersed of Israel: I shall gather to him even more than those already gathered to him. *

HAFTARAS YOM KIPPUR SHACHARIS 57:14-58:14

56:9. "Beasts of the field" is a metaphor for the converts, while "beasts in the forest" is a metaphor for their more powerful enemies, the opponents of Israel. At the time of the redemption, the erstwhile weaklings will devour those who try to deter them from joining Israel (Rashi).

56:10. In contrast to those who seek God (55:6), the "watchmen" – leaders – are too blind to see and too mute to arouse the people from their spiritual slumber (Rashi).

56:12. This is what the gluttonous men of power would say to each other (Rashi).

57:1-2. Isaiah addresses the wicked people of his generation, and explains that at a time when righteous people are not respected, they may die so that they should not witness the evil that is about to come upon the world.

57:4. How dare you take delight in deriding the prophets of God, as the verse now describes? (Radak).

57:5. Idols were often located under trees or on hilltops.

57:6. The prophet often speaks in the first person as if God were speaking.

57:9-11. In addition to putting your spiritual trust in idols, you sought to ingratiate yourself with foreign powers, such as Assyria, going to great lengths to woo them, and never losing hope despite their failure to help you. God showed forbearance, but you ignored him (Radak).

57:12. You ignore My teachings (Metzudos).

9 All beasts of the field, come to eat all the beasts in the forest. *

The blind, greedy leaders

10 Their watchmen * are all blind; they do not comprehend. They are all dumb dogs who cannot bark, who doze off and lie down and love to sleep. 11 And the dogs are greedy; they do not know satiation. These are the shepherds who cannot understand; they have all gone off on their own ways, each from his own corner, for his own dishonest gain, [saying:] 12 "Come, * I will get wine and we will guzzle liquor together; and tomorrow will also be like this, and even much greater!"

57 1 The righteous one perishes, and no man takes it to heart; men of kindness are gathered in with no one understanding that because of the impending evil the righteous one was gathered in. * 2 He will come in peace; they will rest on their resting places — he who walks in his integrity.

The righteous one will rest

3 And now come near to here, you children of the astrologer, seed of the adulterer and the adulteress. 4 Against whom do you take delight; * against whom do you open wide a mouth [and] stick out a tongue? Are you not children of sin, seed of falsehood, 5 you who indulge your lusts at the elm trees, * under every leafy tree, who slaughter children in the valleys, under the crags of the rocks? 6 Smooth stones of the valley are your portion, only they are your lot. Even to them have you poured out libation and offered up meal-offering. Can I * relent regarding these deeds? 7 On the high, lofty mountain you have set up your bed; even there you went up to slaughter a sacrifice. 8 Behind the door and the doorpost you placed your remembrance[-idol]; for you exiled yourself from Me and went up [to those hills]; you expanded your bed and you made covenants with [the idols] for yourself; you loved their bed in every place you saw. 9 You sent a tribute of oil to the king * and prepared numerous spice mixtures [for him]; you dispatched your agents afar, and you demeaned yourself as low as the grave. 10 You wearied yourself with the length of your journey; you did not say, "I am discouraged"; you found your source of strength and therefore did not become ill. 11 Whom did you dread and fear, that you should have been deceitful [to Me]? You did not remember Me; you did not take [Me] to your heart. Behold, I have been silent, as always — but you did not fear Me. 12 I proclaim how you should be righteous and what deeds you should do, but they shall not avail you. * 13 When you cry out let your cohorts rescue you! But the wind will carry them all off; nothingness will take them. But the one who trusts in Me will have a portion in the earth and will inherit My holy mountain. 14 He will say, "Pave, pave! Clear the road! Remove the obstacle from My people's path." *

Adulterous idolaters

God's abode

15 For thus said the exalted and uplifted One, Who abides forever and Whose Name is holy: I abide in exaltedness and holiness, but I am with the despondent and lowly of spirit, to revive the spirit of the lowly and to revive the heart of the despondent. 16 For not forever will I contend, nor will I be eternally wrathful, when the spirit that envelops [them] is from Me, and I made [their] souls. 17 I became angry because of his sinful thievery; I struck him, I hid Myself * and became angry, because he continued waywardly in the path of his heart. 18 But when I see his [contrite] ways, I will heal him; I will guide him and recompense him and his mourners with consolations. 19 I create the speech of the lips: 'Peace, peace, for the far and near,' * said HASHEM, 'and I will heal him.' 20 But the wicked will be like the driven sea that cannot rest,

Contrition, healing, consolation

57:14. Remove the Evil Inclination that prevents us from repenting (Rashi), or remove the physical obstacles that prevent My people's return from exile (Ibn Ezra).

57:17. Not coming to their aid in times of need.

57:19. People will no longer know war in the Messianic era.

58:1. God addresses Isaiah.

58:2. Why the wicked prosper and the righteous (among whom they count themselves) suffer (Abarbanel).

58:3. God tells Isaiah to give the following reply to the nation's question.

58:8. Your good deeds will be a source of merit throughout your life and also when you are gathered in, i.e., when you die (Abarbanel).

58:10. Take a genuine interest in his plight (Radak).

58:11. He will give you good health.

59:1. In the previous chapter, the prophet elaborated on the proper behavior that will save Israel; he reverts to chastising them for their previous actions (Radak).

59:4. Spiritual leaders do not rebuke the people, their judges are unjust, and people are deceitful with one another; hence they always rely on empty promises (Ibn Ezra).

and whose waters disgorge mire and mud. [21] 'There is no peace,' said my God, 'for the wicked.'

58 [1] Cry out vociferously, do not restrain yourself; raise your voice like a shofar — proclaim to My people their willful sins, to the House of Jacob their transgressions.* [2] They [pretend to] seek Me every day and to desire to know My ways, like a nation that acts righteously and has not forsaken the justice of its God; they inquire of Me about the laws of justice, as if they desire the nearness of God, [asking,]* [3] "Why did we fast and You did not see? Why did we afflict our souls and You did not know?"

Insincere fasting

Behold on your fast day you seek out personal gain and you extort all your debts.* [4] Because you fast for grievance and strife, to strike [each other] with a wicked fist; you do not fast as befits this day, to make your voice heard above. [5] Can such be the fast I choose, a day when man merely afflicts himself? Can it be merely bowing one's head like a bulrush and spreading [a mattress of] sackcloth and ashes? Do you call this a fast and a day of favor to HASHEM? [6] Surely, this is the fast I choose: To break open the shackles of wickedness, to undo the bonds of injustice, and to let the oppressed go free, and annul all perversion. [7] Surely you should break your bread for the hungry, and bring the moaning poor [to your] home; when you see a naked person, clothe him; and do not hide yourself from your kin. [8] *Then your light will burst out like the dawn and your healing will speedily sprout; your righteous deed will precede you and the glory of HASHEM will gather you in. [9] Then you will call and HASHEM will respond; you will cry out and He will say, 'Here I am!' If you remove from your midst perversion, finger-pointing, and evil speech, [10] and offer your soul to the hungry and satisfy the afflicted soul; then your light will shine [even] in the darkness, and your deepest gloom will be like the noon.* [11] Then HASHEM will guide you always, sate your soul in times of drought and strengthen your bones; and you will be like a well-watered garden and a spring of water whose waters never fail.* [12] Ancient ruins will be rebuilt through you, and you will restore generations-old foundations; and they will call you, 'repairer of the breach' and 'restorer of paths for habitation.'

Sincere fasting

The Sabbath and its reward

[13] If you restrain your foot because it is the Sabbath; refrain from accomplishing your own needs on My holy day; if you proclaim the Sabbath 'a delight,' and the holy [day] of HASHEM 'honored,' and you honor it by not engaging in your own affairs, from seeking your own needs or discussing the forbidden — [14] then you will delight in HASHEM, and I will mount you astride the heights of the world; I will provide you the heritage of your forefather Jacob, for the mouth of HASHEM has spoken.

59 [1] Surely, the hand of HASHEM is not short, [preventing Him] from saving, nor is His ear heavy, [preventing Him] from hearing;* [2] rather, your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your transgressions have caused [Him] to hide [His] countenance from you, from hearing [you]. [3] For your palms are stained with blood and your fingers with iniquity; your lips speak falsehood, your tongues utter wickedness. [4] No one calls out in righteousness and no one is judged truthfully; trusting in emptiness and speaking vanity, conceiving wrongdoing and giving birth to wickedness.* [5] They hatch adder's eggs and weave spider webs: Whoever eats of their eggs will die, and when [the eggs] are squeezed a viper is hatched. [6] Their webs will not become a garment, and people will not

59:9. Isaiah now speaks the thoughts of the chastened and contrite nation (Radak).

59:16. When God sees that His people are not worthy on their own, He relies on His attribute of benevolence to bring about their redemption.

59:18. Just as He meted out retribution to Pharaoh, Sennacherib and others of their ilk, so shall He mete out retribution to the oppressor nation when He returns Israel from its final exile (Radak).

59:21. No matter how bitter the tribulations of exile and oppression, the Torah will never be forgotten from the Jewish people (Rashi).

60:1. Isaiah addresses Jerusalem, assuring her that the redemption is at hand, and that never again will she be deprived of her children.

60:4. They will be cared for by the kings mentioned in verse 3 (see 49:23).

clothe themselves with their work; their work is the work of wickedness and an act of corruption is in their palms. 7 Their feet run to evil, and they rush to shed innocent blood; their thoughts are thoughts of wickedness; plunder and calamity are in their roads. 8 They know not the way of peace and there is no justice in their circuits; they have made their paths crooked; all who walk them do not know peace.

Israel's lament and confession

9 "That is why justice has become distant from us and righteousness has not reached us; we hope for light, but, behold, there is darkness; for brightness, but we walk in deep darkness.* 10 We grope the wall like the blind; and like the eyeless we grope; we stumble at noon as in the dark of night; as if in graves like the dead. 11 We all growl like bears and moan like doves. We hope for justice, but there is none; for salvation, but it is distant from us. 12 For our willful sins have increased before You and our transgressions have testified against us; for our willful sins are with us and we are aware of our iniquities: 13 defiance and denial of HASHEM and withdrawal from after our God, speaking of oppression and rebellion, conceiving and contemplating words of falsehood from the heart. 14 Thus justice has been withdrawn and righteousness stands at a distance; because truth has stumbled in the street, and integrity cannot enter. 15 Truth became lacking and refraining from evil seemed foolish. HASHEM saw all this and it was evil in His eyes that there is no justice."

16 *But He saw that there was no [worthy] man and was astounded that there was no one to entreat, so His arm wrought salvation to him and it was His benevolence that was his support. 17 He donned righteousness like armor and a helmet of salvation on His head; and He donned garments of vengeance as His attire and clothed Himself in zealousness like a coat. 18 Just as [His earlier] retributions, so shall He repay wrath to His enemies, retribution to His adversaries; He will pay retribution to the islands.* 19 From the west [people] will fear the name of HASHEM, and from the rising of the sun His glory; for travail will come like a river, the spirit of HASHEM will gnaw at them.

Israel's redeemer will come

20 A redeemer will come to Zion, and to those of Jacob who repent from willful sin — the word of HASHEM. 21 *And as for Me, this is My covenant with them, said HASHEM, My spirit which is upon you and My words that I have placed in your mouth will not be withdrawn from your mouth nor from the mouth of your offspring nor from the mouth of your offspring's offspring, said HASHEM, from this moment and forever.

God's glory arrives

1 Arise! Shine! for your light has arrived, and the glory of HASHEM shines upon you.* 2 For, behold, darkness may cover the earth and a thick cloud [may cover] the kingdoms, but upon you HASHEM will shine, and His glory will be seen upon you. 3 Nations will walk by your light and kings by the brilliance of your shine. 4 *Lift up your eyes all around and see, they are all assembling and coming to you; your sons will arrive from afar and your daughters will be raised at [their] side. 5 Then you will see and be radiant, your heart will be startled and broadened, for the affluence of the West will be turned over to you, and the wealth of nations will come to you. 6 An abundance of camels will envelop you, camel colts of Midian and Ephah, and all of them will come from Sheba; gold and frankincense will they bear, and the praises of HASHEM will they proclaim. 7 All the flocks of Kedar will be gathered unto you, the rams of Nebaioth will serve you; they will be brought up with favor upon My Altar, and I will glorify the House of My Splendor.

The wealth of nations

60:8. This question will be asked by the startled and astonished city of Jerusalem.

60:9. As in the days of Solomon (see I Kings 10:22).

60:13. The Temple is called the "place of God's feet," as if God sits on His throne in heaven and His feet reach the earth at this holy site (Radak).

60:16. You will have the possessions of the nations and the spoils of kings.

60:17. Whatever was plundered from you years ago will be returned many times over, as if copper is being replaced with gold.

60:18. You will not need walls and gateways for defense; instead you will rely on God.

60:22. Tribe or family (Radak).

61:2. "Favor" for His people and "vengeance" for their enemies.

61:6. For they will bring you lavish gifts, as described several times in this and preceding chapters.

8 'Who are these, who fly like a cloud, like doves to their cote-windows?'*

9 For the islands will place their hope in Me, with the ships of Tarshish in earlier times, to bring your children from afar with their gold and silver with them, for the Name of HASHEM, your God, and for the Holy One of Israel, for He will have glorified you.* 10 Then the sons of foreigners will build your walls and their kings will serve you. Though I struck you in My indignation, in My favor have I been compassionate to you. 11 Your gates will be opened continuously, day and night they will not be closed; for [them] to bring you the wealth of nations, and their kings under escort. 12 For the nation and kingdom that does not serve you will perish, and those nations will be utterly destroyed. 13 *The glory of the Lebanon [forest] will come to you — cypress, fir, and box tree together — to glorify the place of My Sanctuary; and I will bring honor to the place of My feet. 14 The sons of your oppressors will go to you submissively, and all who scorned you will prostrate themselves at the soles of your feet; they will call you 'City of HASHEM, Zion of the Holy One of Israel.'

The Temple will be rebuilt

15 Instead of your being forsaken and despised, without wayfarers, I will make you into an eternal pride, a joy for generation after generation. 16 You will nurse from the milk of the nations and from the breast of kings will you nurse; then you will realize that I, HASHEM, am your Savior and your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.* 17 In place of the copper I will bring gold; and in place of the iron I will bring silver; in place of the wood, copper; and in place of the stones, iron. I will designate your appointed officials for peace and your overlords for righteousness.* 18 *No longer will violence be heard of in your land, nor plunder and calamity in your borders. You will call [God's] salvation your protective walls, and [His] praise to be your gateways. 19 The sun will no longer be for you the light of day and brightness and the moon will not illuminate for you. HASHEM will be an eternal light for you, and your God will be your splendor. 20 Never again will your sun set, and your moon will not be withdrawn; for HASHEM will be unto you an eternal light, and the days of your mourning will be ended. 21 Your people will all be righteous; they will inherit the land forever; a shoot of My planting, My handiwork, in which to glory. 22 The smallest will increase a thousandfold, and the youngest into a mighty nation. I am HASHEM, in its time I will hasten it.*

Zion, eternal city

The splendor of God

61 1 The spirit of my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, is upon me, because HASHEM has anointed me to bring tidings to the humbled; He has sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim freedom for captives and release from bondage for the imprisoned, 2 to proclaim a year of favor unto HASHEM and a day of vengeance for our God, to comfort all mourners,* 3 to bring about for the mourners of Zion to give them splendor instead of ashes, oil of joy instead of mourning, a cloak of praise instead of a dim spirit. They will then be called "elms of righteousness, the planting of HASHEM in which to glory." 4 They will rebuild the ancient ruins, the wastelands of former times they will restore; they will renew ruined cities, generations-old wastelands. 5 Foreigners will stand and tend your flocks and the sons of the stranger will be your plowmen and your vineyard workers. 6 And you will be called "priests of HASHEM"; "ministers of our God" will be said of you. You will eat of the wealth of nations and will pride yourselves in their glory.* 7 Instead of your shame which was double and disgrace which they would bemoan as their portion; therefore, they will inherit a double portion in their land, and eternal gladness will be theirs.

Joyful tidings to the humbled

61:10. Zion responds to the words of comfort spoken to her thus far.

62:6. You need not fear that I have forgotten you. I encourage those who mourn and pray for the restoration of Zion's ruined walls and exhort the guardians never to stop their prayers for Zion (Radak).

62:10. Enter the gates of other cities to proclaim the ingathering of the exiles (Ibn Ezra), and raise a banner to signal the scattered Jews to return to their land (Rashi).

62:11. To apportion reward to those who deserve it.

63:1. God's vengeance for Edom's persecution of His people is described through a dialogue between an anonymous onlooker and God Himself, as if He were a warrior coming from a destructive attack on the Edomite city of Bozrah.

63:5. To save Israel from Edom.

8 For I am HASHEM, Who loves justice and hates a burnt-offering [bought] with robbery; and I will repay their deeds in truth and I will seal an eternal covenant with them. 9 Their offspring will be known among the nations, and their descendants amid the peoples; all who see them will recognize them, that they are the seed that HASHEM has blessed.

Hymn of thanksgiving

10 "I will rejoice intensely with HASHEM, my soul will exult with my God, for He has dressed me in the raiment of salvation, in a robe of righteousness has He cloaked me, like a bridegroom who exalts [himself] with splendor, like a bride who bedecks herself with her jewelry.* 11 For, as the earth sends forth its growth and as a garden sprouts forth its seedlings, so will my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, cause righteousness and praise to sprout in the presence of all the nations."

62

1 For Zion's sake I will not be silent, and for Jerusalem's sake I will not be still, until her righteousness emanates like bright light, and her salvation blazes like a torch. 2 Nations will perceive your righteousness and all the kings your honor; and you will be called by a new name, which the mouth of HASHEM will pronounce. 3 Then you will be a crown of splendor in the hand of HASHEM and a royal diadem in the palm of your God. 4 It will no longer be said of you "Forsaken One," and of your land it will no longer be said "Desolate Place"; for you will be called "My Desire Is In Her," and your land "Inhabited," for HASHEM's desire is in you, and your land will become inhabited. 5 As a young man takes a maiden in marriage, so will your children settle in you; and like a bridegroom's rejoicing over his bride, so will your God rejoice over you.

The guardians on the walls

6 Upon your walls, O Jerusalem, have I posted guardians; all the day and all the night, continuously, they will never be silent. 'You who remind HASHEM, be not silent!* 7 Do not give Him silence, until He establishes and until He makes Jerusalem a source of praise in the Land.' 8 HASHEM has sworn by His right hand and by His powerful arm: 'I will no longer give your grain as food for your enemies; and the sons of strangers will not drink your wine for which you have toiled. 9 For those who have harvested it will eat it, and will praise HASHEM; and those who have gathered it in will drink it in My holy courtyards.'

The Holy People

10 Go through, go through the gates; clear the way for the people; pave, pave the road; clear it of stones; raise a banner over the peoples.* 11 *Behold, HASHEM has announced to the ends of the earth: Say to the daughter of Zion, 'Behold, your Savior has come!' Behold, His reward is with Him, and His wage is before Him. 12 People will call them, 'the Holy People, the Redeemed of HASHEM'; and you will be called, 'Sought After,' 'The City Not Forsaken.'

63

The Conqueror of Edom

1 'Who is this coming from Edom, with sullied garments, from Bozrah? This One Who is majestic in His raiment, girded with His abundant strength?'*

'It is I, Who speaks with righteousness, abundantly able to save!'

2 'Why is there red on Your raiment, and [why are] Your garments like those of someone treading in a wine vat?'

3 'I alone have trodden a winepress, not a man from the nations was with Me; I trod on them in My anger and trampled them in My wrath, and their lifeblood spurted out on My garments, so I soiled all My garments. 4 For a day of vengeance is in My heart, and the year of My redemption has come. 5 I looked, but there was no helper; I was astounded that there was no*

63:7. This commences a prayer of the prophet, which continues until the end of Chapter 64.

63:10. By enabling Israel's enemies to subjugate them, and it was as if God Himself were fighting against them (Radak).

63:13. A horse gallops easily in the desert, where there are few natural impediments to block its path (Rashi). So too, the bed of the split sea was dry and easy to traverse.

63:14. That is, slowly and with great care (Ibn Ezra).

63:17. Although we are unworthy, return to us for the sake of your faithful servants, the Patriarchs and the progenitors of the twelve tribes (Radak).

64:1-2. The verses refer to the revelation at Mount Sinai (see Exodus 19:18).

64:4. We had always been redeemed thanks to the prayers of the righteous, but now You have taken them away and we are left helpless (see 57:1, 59:16).

supporter; so My arm wrought salvation for Me and My wrath was a support for Me. 6 I stepped on peoples in My anger and made them drunk with My wrath, and I threw their lifeblood to the ground.'

The prophet praises God

7 HASHEM's kindnesses will I proclaim as the praises of HASHEM, in accordance with all that HASHEM has bestowed upon us and the abundant goodness to the House of Israel that He has bestowed upon them in His compassion and in His abundant kindness.* 8 For He said, "Indeed they are My people, children who will not be false," and He became their Savior. 9 In all their troubles He was troubled, so an angel from before Him saved them. With His love and with His compassion He redeemed them; He lifted them and bore them all the days of the world.

10 *But they rebelled and distressed His holy spirit; so He changed toward them into an enemy; He fought them. 11 They [then] remembered the days of old, of Moses [with] His people: Where is the One Who brought [the Israelites] out of the Sea together with the shepherds of His flock? Where is the One who infused His holy spirit in their midst? 12 Who caused His splendrous arm to go at Moses' right side? Who split the Sea before them to make Himself eternal renown? 13 Who led them through the depths as a horse in the desert, so they would not falter?* 14 As an animal descends into a valley, so the spirit of HASHEM led them; thus did You guide Your people along, to make a splendrous Name for Yourself.* 15 Look down from Heaven and see, from Your abode of holiness and splendor! Where is Your zealousness and Your might? Your inner yearning and Your mercy have been held back from me! 16 For You are our Father; though Abraham may not know us and Israel may not recognize us, You, HASHEM, are our Father; "our Eternal Redeemer" is Your Name. 17 Why, HASHEM, do You let us stray from Your paths, letting our heart become hardened from fearing You? Return [to us] for the sake of Your servants, the tribes of Your heritage!* 18 For but a short time did Your holy people possess [it]; our enemies have trampled Your Temple. 19 We have become as if You had never ruled over them, as if Your Name had not been called upon them.

Kindness through the centuries

Return!

If only you would tear open the heavens and descend, the mountains would melt before You! 1 As a melting fire burned — a fire that caused water to bubble — to make Your Name known to Your enemies, so that nations would tremble before You,* 2 when You performed awesome wonders that we had not expected, You descended and the mountains melted because of You. 3 [People] had never heard, never observed, no eye had ever seen a god — except for You — that acted for those who trust in Him.

64

Knowledge of God

4 *You have eliminated those who rejoiced in doing righteousness, who would invoke Your ways [in prayer]; You became enraged because we had sinned. We had always [relied] on them and been saved. 5 We have all become defiled and all our righteousness is like a worn-out garment; we all wither like a leaf; and like a wind, our sins carry us off. 6 There is no one to call out in Your Name, who arouses himself to hold fast to You when You hide Your face from us and melt us away because of our iniquities.

Confessed guilt

7 So now, HASHEM, You are our Father. We are the clay and You are our Potter, and we are all Your handiwork. 8 O HASHEM, do not become greatly enraged and do not remember iniquity forever; behold, see now, all of us are Your people. 9 Your holy cities have become a wilderness; Zion has become a wilderness, Jerusalem a wasteland. 10 The Temple of our holiness and our splendor, where our fathers praised you, has become a fiery conflagration, and all that we desired has become a ruin. 11 Will You restrain Yourself in the face of all these, HASHEM, and be silent and let us suffer so much?

65:1. Here begins God's reply to Israel's just concluded prayer. He was accessible even to those who neither called to Him nor wished to be called by His Name (Rashi).

65:3. By setting up idols even in Jerusalem, and even in the Temple itself (Radak).

65:4. To communicate with spirits, which, they believe, frequent such places (Radak).

65:5. After defiling themselves, they have the audacity to say that they are purer than others who do not follow their practices.

65:6. Their sin is inscribed before Me and I will not delay their punishment till a future generation; the punishment will fall into their own bosoms.

65:10. Lit., the "Valley of Repugnance," so called because of the abhorrent events that took place there (see Joshua 7:24). Even this place will now become lush grazing land.

God is accessible

1 I* was accessible to those who did not ask; I could be found by those who did not seek Me. I said, 'Here I am! Here I am!' to a nation not called by My Name. 2 I stretched out My hands all day to a straying people, who walk the road that is not good, following after their own thoughts; 3 the people who continually anger Me to My face;* who sacrifice in their gardens and burn incense on the bricks; 4 who sit in graves and sleep with corpses;* who eat the flesh of the swine and have the sauce of forbidden foods in their utensils; 5 who say, 'Keep to yourself; do not come near me, for I am holier than thou.'* These are the smoke of My wrath, like a fire burning all the day. 6 Behold, it is inscribed before Me; I will not be silent until I repay; I will repay into their bosom.* 7 for your sins and the sins of your fathers together, said HASHEM, who burned incense on the mountains and blasphemed Me on the hills. First I will mete out the payment of their actions into their bosom.

Idolatry punished

Reward . . .

8 Thus said HASHEM: Just as when the wine is found in a cluster, and someone says, 'Do not destroy it, for there is blessing in it,' so will I do for My servants, not to destroy everything. 9 I will bring forth offspring from Jacob, and from Judah the heir of My mountains; My chosen ones will inherit it and My servants will dwell there. 10 The Sharon will become a fold for the sheep and the Valley of Achor* will become fit for cattle to lie down,

. . . and punishment

for My people who have sought Me out. 11 But you who have forsaken HASHEM, who have forgotten My holy mountain, who set a table for Gad,* who fill a libation to Meni* — 12 I will consign you to the sword and all of you will slump down in slaughter, because I called and you did not answer; I spoke and you did not hear; you did what is evil in My eyes, and what I did not desire you chose.

13 Therefore, thus said my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, My servants will eat and you will starve; behold, My servants will drink and you will thirst; behold, My servants will rejoice and you will be ashamed; 14 behold, My servants will exult from goodheartedness, and you will cry out from pain of heart and wail from a broken spirit. 15 You will leave your name as an oath for My chosen ones, and the Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, will put you to death; but He will call His servants a different name.*

16 Whoever blesses himself in the land will bless himself by the God of Truth, and whoever takes an oath in the land will take an oath by the God of Truth, for the earlier travails will have been forgotten and concealed from My eyes. 17 For behold, I am creating new heavens and a new earth; the former [events] will no longer be recalled and will not be taken to heart. 18 Only rejoice and be happy forever for what I am creating; for behold, I am recreating Jerusalem as 'Gladness,' and its people as 'Joy'; 19 for I will rejoice over Jerusalem and exult with My people, and there will no longer be heard in it the sound of weeping and the sound of outcry. 20 Never again will come from there a young child or old man who will not fill his days; for the youth of one hundred years will die and a sinner at the age of one hundred years will be cursed.* 21 They will build houses and inhabit [them], they will plant vineyards and eat their fruit; 22 they will not build and have another inhabit,

An age of peace

---

65:11. Gad and Meni are either names of deities (Kara); the planets Jupiter and Mercury (R' Moshe HaKohen); or general names for the stars and constellations (Ibn Ezra).

65:15. Your name will become a curse, but His servants will be recalled as a blessing (Rashi).

65:20. People will have such longevity that dying at the age of one hundred will be considered as dying young, or it will be considered as a punishment to die at that age.

65:22. They will outlive that which they produce.

66:1. This prophecy admonishes the Israelites for their belief that they could do whatever evil deeds they wished and then gain atonement by bringing a gift to the Temple.

66:2-3. It is obedience to My words that is important to Me, not perfunctory acts of sacrifice without remorse and contrition.

66:5. They believe that they are the ones who truly bring glory to God (Rashi).

66:7. Zion's redemption will come quickly and painlessly.

66:9. When the process of redemption begins, you may be sure that it will be carried through to its culmination.

66:11-12. Jerusalem and Israel are likened to a mother nursing her child. Just as a baby is nursed without any effort on his part, so will you enjoy the endless prosperity that will be bestowed upon you (Radak).

66:17. Where their idols were set up for worship (Rashi).

they will not plant and have another eat. For the lifetime of My people will be like the lifetime of the tree, and My chosen ones will wear out their handiwork. * 23 They will not struggle in vain nor produce for futility; for they are the offspring of the blessed ones of HASHEM, and their descendants will be with them. 24 It will be that before they call I will answer; while they yet speak I will hear. 25 Wolf and lamb will graze as one, a lion — like cattle — will eat straw, a snake's food will be dirt; they will not inflict harm nor destruction in all My holy mountain, says HASHEM.

Corrupt offerings

1 Thus said HASHEM: The Heaven is My throne and the earth is My footstool; what house could you build for Me, and what place could be My resting place?* 2 My hand created all these things and thus all these things came into being — the word of HASHEM — but it is to this that I look: to the poor and broken-spirited person who is zealous regarding My word. * 3 He who slaughters an ox [is as if he] slays a man; he who offers a sheep [is as if he] breaks a dog's neck; he who brings up a meal-offering [is as if he offers] a swine's blood; he who brings a frankincense remembrance [is as if he] brings a gift of wickedness. They have even chosen their ways and their souls have desired their abominations.

4 I, too, will choose to mock them and what they dread I will bring upon them — because I called but no one answered; I spoke but they did not hear. They did what is wrong in My eyes and what I did not desire, they chose.

The sound of retribution

5 Listen to the word of HASHEM, you who are zealous regarding His word: Your brethren, who hate you and shun you, say, 'HASHEM is glorified because of my reputation.' * — but we will see your gladness, while they will be shamed! 6 The sound of tumult comes from the city, a sound from the Sanctuary: the sound of HASHEM dealing retribution to His enemies. 7 Before she * even feels her labor pains she will give birth; before any travail comes to her she will deliver a son! 8 Who has heard such as this? Who has seen such as these? Has a land ever gone through its labor in one day? Has a nation ever been born at one time, as Zion went through her labor and gave birth to her children? 9 Shall I bring [a woman] to the birthstool and not have her give birth? * says HASHEM. Shall I, Who causes birth, hold it back? says your God.

Repopulated Zion

10 Be glad with Jerusalem and rejoice in her, all you who love her; exult with her in exultation, all you who mourned for her; 11 so that you may nurse and be sated from the breast of her consolations; * so that you may suck and delight from the glow of her glory. 12 For thus said HASHEM: Behold, I will extend peace to her like a river and the wealth of nations like a surging stream, and you will suckle; you will be carried on the side and dandled on the knees. 13 Like a man whose mother consoled him, so will I console you, and in Jerusalem will you be consoled. 14 You will see and your heart will exult, and your bones will flourish like grass; the hand of HASHEM will be known to His servants, and He will show anger to His enemies. 15 For behold, HASHEM will arrive in fire and His chariots like the whirlwind, to vent His anger with wrath, and His rebuke with flaming fire. 16 For HASHEM will enter into judgment with fire and with His sword against all mankind; there will be many who will be slain by HASHEM. 17 Those who prepare and purify themselves [to go] to the gardens, * going one [group] after another to its midst, and those who eat the flesh of the swine, the abominable creature,

Jeremiah ירמיה

Of all the prophets charged to remonstrate with the Jewish people to stop their plunge to destruction, none had a more difficult task than Jeremiah. He was still a young man when he was given his mission, and he spent the rest of his life gamely and vainly trying to persuade a people convinced of its rectitude and the invincibility of its Temple to change their ways. Jeremiah began his prophetic career under Josiah, one of the most righteous of all the kings of Judah, the one who restored the Temple and its service to their previous glory. Ironically, that made Jeremiah's task even harder, because the people insisted that the Temple would save them — despite their private worship of idols.

Jeremiah was opposed by false prophets who insisted that night was day and day was night. Nebuchadnezzar had conquered and sacked Jerusalem — could there be greater proof of God's wrath? But charlatans "prophesied" that the conqueror would soon return the Temple's looted treasures and go down to defeat. The mendacious priests of the Temple, in the service of their supporters rather than of the truth, disputed him at every turn. The masses, always hungry for reassurance and outraged at Jeremiah's refusal to say the popular thing, demanded that he be put to death, as the prophet Uriah had been. King Jehoiakim disobeyed him and burned the scroll of his prophecies. When Jeremiah refused to be silenced, King Zedekiah had him hurled into a dungeon, where he remained until the sun set on Jerusalem.

Ultimately Jeremiah had the bitter taste of vindication, as Jerusalem was destroyed and he was set free, not by his own people but by the plunderers. Consumed by his love for Israel, Jeremiah wept and grieved for his tormented brethren as they were led into exile. He encouraged them, telling them that they should bear their ordeal in a hostile, foreign land with fortitude, because they would become the foundation upon which the new commonwealth would be built.

Jeremiah bemoaned his own fate. Why had he been the one chosen to not only foretell the horrors but to witness them, and even to be at the mercy of the brethren he had been trying to save? But there is no doubt that the exiles in Babylon found strength in his prophecy that there would be redemption and glory seventy years after the Destruction. Jeremiah did not live to see his prophecy fulfilled, but many of those who had heard his prophecies were among the ones who returned with Ezra and Nehemiah to inaugurate the Second Temple.

1:5. Knowing that Jeremiah would protest that he was not worthy of his prophetic mission, God began by saying that Jeremiah had been destined for this calling even before he was born. Furthermore, for a person to have the potential to be a great prophet, his parents would have had to conduct themselves in a pure and holy manner even before he was conceived (Radak; Rambam).

1:12. The almond tree symbolizes swift, efficient action because it blossoms well before other trees in the spring. This is a play on words: The Hebrew words for "almond" (שָׁקֵד) and "hasten" (שקד) are linguistically related.

Call to prophecy (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 The words of Jeremiah son of Hilkiah, of the Kohanim who were in Anathoth, in the land of Benjamin, 2 to whom the word of HASHEM came in the days of Josiah son of Amon, king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign. 3 [The word of HASHEM] came to him [also] in the days of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, until the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah son of Josiah, king of Judah, until Jerusalem was exiled in the fifth month.

4 *The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 5 "Before I formed you in the belly I knew you, and before you left the womb I sanctified you; I established you as a prophet unto the nations."

6 But I said, "Alas, my Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, see, I do not know how to speak, for I am just a youth!"

7 Then HASHEM said to me, "Do not say, 'I am just a youth'; rather, wherever I shall send you, you shall go, and whatever I shall command you, you shall speak. 8 Do not fear them, for I am with you to rescue you — the word of HASHEM." 9 Then HASHEM extended His hand and touched my mouth, and HASHEM said to me, "Behold! I have placed My words in your mouth. 10 See, I have appointed you this day over the nations and over the kingdoms, to uproot and to smash, and to destroy and to overthrow, to build and to plant."

Vision of the almond

11 The word of HASHEM then came to me, saying, "What do you see, Jeremiah?"

And I said, "I see a staff of an almond tree."

12 HASHEM said to me, "You have seen well, for I hasten to fulfill My word."*

Vision of the bubbling pot

13 The word of HASHEM came to me a second time, saying, "What do you see?"

And I said, "I see a bubbling pot, and its spout is facing north."

14 HASHEM said to me, "From the North the evil will be released upon all the inhabitants of the land. 15 For behold, I am calling all the families of the kingdoms of the North — the word of HASHEM — and they shall come and each of them shall place his throne at the entrance of Jerusalem's gates and by all its walls roundabout, and by all the cities of Judah. 16 I shall pronounce My judgments against [Judah] for all their evil, for they have forsaken Me and burned incense to the gods of others and prostrated themselves to their own handiwork.

17 *"And as for you, you shall gird your loins, and get up and speak to them all that I command you; do not be frightened of them, lest I let you be broken before them. 18 For behold, I have set you this day as a fortified city, an iron pillar and copper walls against the entire land — against the kings of Judah, against its leaders, against its priests and against the people of the land. 19 They will wage war against you, but will be unable to [defeat] you, for I am with you — the word of HASHEM — to rescue you!"

Your early loyalty . . .

1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Go and call out in the ears of Jerusalem, saying:

*Thus said HASHEM: I recall for you the kindness of your youth, the love of your nuptials, your following Me into the Wilderness, into an unsown land. 3 Israel is holy to HASHEM, the first of His crop; all who devour it will be held guilty; evil shall come upon them — the word of HASHEM.

4 Hear the word of HASHEM, O House of Jacob and all families of the House of Israel: 5 Thus said HASHEM: What wrong did your forefathers find people that the heartrending prophecies of Jeremiah would not be fulfilled if the people returned to their earlier faith. God's love for Israel remains intact, and He longs to forgive them, but only if they repent.

Haftaras Masei for Ashkenazim continues below; for Sephardim on p. 1078

Haftaras Masei for Ashkenazim continues here: 3:4

2:33. Like an immodest woman, you beautify yourself to seek the approval and companionship of other nations, and you adopt their worst practices.

2:34. You cannot justify such murders on the grounds of self-defense. (See Exodus 22:1.)

2:36. See II Chronicles 28:16-21.

3:1. See Deuteronomy 24:1-2.

Throughout Scripture, the prophets use adultery as a metaphor for idolatry.

3:2. An Arab merchant in the desert constantly awaits passing caravans with whom to trade.

3:6. This refers to the wayward Ten Tribes of the Kingdom of Israel (Samaria), who had been conquered and exiled by Assyria more than a century earlier.

3:7. Alternatively: "And I said [to Myself], 'Even after she has done all these things, she would return to Me.' "

3:9. Judah committed "adultery" by betraying God and worshiping idols made of stone and wood.

and to the stone, 'You have borne us.' To Me they turned their backs and not their faces; but in their time of distress they will say, 'Arise and save us!' 28 Now where are your gods that you made for yourself? Let them arise if they can save you in the time of your distress; for as the number of your cities were your gods, O Judah.

Wasted castigation

29 Why should you contend with Me? You have all rebelled against Me — the word of HASHEM. 30 In vain did I strike your children, for they did not accept rebuke; your sword has devoured your prophets like a destructive lion. 31 O generation, contemplate the word of HASHEM. Have I been a wilderness to Israel, or a land of deep darkness? Why have My people said, 'We separate ourselves [from You]; we will no longer come to You'? 32 Can a maiden forget her jewelry? A bride her adornments? Yet My people have forgotten Me for days without number. 33 How you adorned your way to seek love! Indeed, to the [greatest] evils have you accustomed your ways.* 34 Even on your hems is found the blood of poor, innocent souls; you did not discover them in a break-in! For all these [I condemn you]:* 35 that you say, 'No, I am pure; His anger will subside from me!' Behold, I am [entering] into judgment with you because of your saying, 'I have not sinned.' 36 *How very much you demean yourself to change your way! You will be shamed even by Egypt, as you were shamed by Assyria; 37 from this [alliance] also you will emerge clapping your hands to your head; for HASHEM has rejected your guarantors — you will not succeed with them — 3:1 saying: If a man divorces his wife, and she goes from him and marries another man, can he return to her again? Would that not bring profound guilt upon the land? Yet you have committed adultery with many lovers and would now return to Me — the word of* HASHEM. 2 Lift your eyes to the hilltops and see; where have you not been lain with? On the roads you awaited [your lovers], like an Arab in the desert. You have brought guilt upon the land with your adultery and with your evil;* 3 the raindrops have been withheld and the late rain did not happen; yet you had the boldness of a harlot woman, you refused to be ashamed. 4 If only from now on you would call Me 'My Father! You are the Master of my youth.' 5 Would He bear a grudge forever, or keep it in mind eternally? Nevertheless — behold, you spoke and carried out evil deeds, as much as you could."

Idolatry equals adultery

6 HASHEM said to me in the days of King Josiah, "Have you seen what rebellious Israel did? She went onto every high mountain and under every leafy tree, and committed adultery there.* 7 I said, even after she had done all these things, 'Return to Me!' but she did not return. And her unfaithful sister, Judah, saw [what befell her],* 8 and I saw that despite the fact that I divorced wayward Israel because of her adultery and gave her bill of divorce to her, unfaithful Judah, her sister, was not afraid; she, too, went and committed adultery. 9 *So it happened that with the frivolity of her adultery she brought guilt upon the land, because she committed adultery with stone and wood [idols]. 10 Despite all this, the unfaithful one, her sister Judah, did not return to Me with all her heart, but only falsely — the word of* HASHEM."

Judah did not learn from Israel

11 And HASHEM said to me, "Wayward Israel was more virtuous than unfaithful

3:10. Although King Josiah thoroughly purged all idolatrous practices (II Kings Ch. 23), the common people were less enthusiastic about his religious reforms (Radak).

Haftaras Masei for Sephardim continues here: 4:1-2

3:11. The ten exiled tribes of Israel had no previous example of the sentence of exile being carried out, but Judah should have taken Israel's exile to heart.

3:12. God sent Jeremiah to the lands of the North where the Israelite exiles were taken.

3:16-17. The entire people will be so imbued with a spirit of sanctity that God's Presence will rest upon them collectively, as if the congregation itself was the Ark of the Covenant (Rashi).

3:19. I did not want to place Israel, My special son, among the other nations, so I gave him a unique land as a heritage (Rashi). All I asked was your loyalty and your recognition that I am your Father and Protector.

3:21. As a result of their infidelity, they were severely punished, and cried out to God.

4:1. If you repent I will accept you; the decree of exile can still be averted.

4:2. Jeremiah urges his brethren to take a sincere oath to repent, and if they would do so, they would enjoy such good fortune that people would bless each other, "May

Judah. * [12] Go and proclaim these words towards the North, * and say:

God's reproach . . .

Return, O wayward Israel — the word of HASHEM — I will not cast down My anger upon you, for I am the Beneficent One — the word of HASHEM — and I will not bear a grudge forever. [13] But [you must] recognize your sin, that you have rebelled against HASHEM, your God, and that you have spread out your ways to [seek] strange gods, under every leafy tree, and you did not heed My voice — the word of HASHEM. [14] Return, O wayward sons — the word of HASHEM — for I shall be your master. I shall take you, [even] one from a city and two from a family, and I shall bring you to Zion. [15] I shall appoint shepherds for you according to My own heart, and they will care for you with knowledge and wisdom. [16] And it shall be that when you multiply and become fruitful in the land, in those days — the word of HASHEM — they will no longer say, 'The Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM,' and it will not come to mind; * they will not mention it and will not recall it, and it will not be used any more. [17] At that time people will call Jerusalem 'The Throne of HASHEM,' and all the nations will be gathered to her in the Name of HASHEM — to Jerusalem; they will no longer follow the visions of their evil heart.

. . . and Messianic prophecy

[18] In those days the House of Judah will walk with the House of Israel, and they will come together from the land of the North to the land that I have given as a possession to your fathers. [19] I had said, 'How can I place you among the other children?' So I gave you a cherished land, the heritage coveted by the multitudes of nations. And I said, 'Call me "my Father," and do not turn away from behind Me.' * [20] But, like a woman who was unfaithful to her mate, you have been unfaithful to Me, O House of Israel — the word of HASHEM. [21] A voice is heard on the hilltops, the crying of the Children of Israel's supplications, * for they have corrupted their ways, they have forgotten HASHEM, their God. [22] [But I say to them,] 'Return, O wayward sons, and I will heal your waywardness. [Say,] "Behold, we come to You, for You are HASHEM, our God. [23] Truly it was falsehood [that we worshiped] from the hills, the multitude of mountains, for truly in HASHEM, our God, is the salvation of Israel. [24] But the shameful idolatry has devoured the toil of our fathers from our youth — their sheep and their cattle, their sons and their daughters. [25] We lie down in our shame and our humiliation covers us, for we have sinned to HASHEM our God, we and our forefathers, from our youth until this very day, and we have not heeded the voice of HASHEM, our God." '

Call to repentance

4 [1] If you repent, O Israel — the word of HASHEM — you will return to Me; * if you remove your abominations from before Me, then you will not [have to] wander. [2] If you swear, 'As HASHEM lives!' in truth, in justice, and in righteousness, the nations will bless themselves through [Israel], and will praise themselves through it."

It is not too late . . .

[3] For thus said HASHEM to the people of Judah and to Jerusalem:

Plow for yourselves a furrow, and do not sow upon thornbushes. [4] Circumcise yourselves unto HASHEM — remove the barriers of your hearts * — O people of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem, lest My wrath go forth like fire and burn with none to extinguish [it], because of the wickedness of your deeds.

. . . but you must listen . . .

you be like an Israelite."

4:3-4. Just as a farmer plows to uproot all the unwanted weeds and thorns that would ruin his crop, so too, Jews must circumcise their hearts, i.e., remove the impediments to total commitment to God's will, lest sinful thoughts ruin the efficacy of their supplications (Rashi).

4:10. Jeremiah interjected a plea in defense of Israel: "By not preventing the false prophets from deceiving the people with vain assurances of peace, it is as if You agreed with them." But God did not reply; He just continued the prophecy.

4:11. The invading enemy will be like a fierce wind in the desert, where there are no obstacles to impede its force. It will not be a useful wind, such as one used for winnowing grain to rid it of its chaff, but a totally destructive one.

4:19-21. Again Jeremiah interrupts his prophecy to express his own feelings.

4:20. The stately buildings of Jerusalem fell as easily and swiftly as if they were mere tents or canopies (Radak).

5 Relate [it] in Judah and let [it] be heard in Jerusalem. Say, 'Sound the shofar in the land!' Call out, 'Assemble together!' Say, 'Gather together and let us go to the fortified cities!' 6 Hoist a banner over Zion; gather together, do not stand still, for I am bringing evil from the North, and great destruction.

. . . for the Babylonian lion is ready

7 The lion has left his den; the destroyer of nations has set out, has gone forth from his place, to lay your land waste; your cities will be desolate, without inhabitant. 8 For this, don sackcloth, lament and mourn; for the burning wrath of HASHEM has not receded from us!

9 And it shall be on that day — the word of HASHEM — that the heart of the king and the heart of the ministers will be lost, the Kohanim will be astounded and the prophets will be amazed.

10 I then said, "Alas, my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, in truth, You have certainly misled this people and Jerusalem, saying, 'You will have peace,' and yet the sword has reached the very soul!"*

God's warning

11 *At that time it will be said of this people and of Jerusalem: '[Like] a dry wind over the hilltops of the wilderness, so is the way of My people; not [a wind] for winnowing and not for separating chaff.' 12 One of those intense winds will come [upon them] for Me. Now, I will also speak words of judgment against them. 13 Behold, [the enemy] will rise up like the clouds, and his chariots like the storm, swifter than eagles are his horses.

'Woe to us, for we are vanquished!'

14 Cleanse your heart of evil, O Jerusalem, so that you may be saved; how long will you lodge your iniquitous thoughts within yourself? 15 For the voice of the herald comes from Dan, and announces misfortune from Mount Ephraim. 16 Mention to the nations, behold, let it be heard regarding Jerusalem: 'Besiegers are coming from a distant land; they raise their voice against the cities of Judah!' 17 Like watchmen of a field they are all around [Jerusalem], for she has rebelled against Me — the word of HASHEM. 18 Your path and your deeds have done these to you; this is your wickedness — it is bitter, for it has touched upon your heart.

The prophet laments

19* My innards, my innards — I shudder; the walls of my heart — my heart murmurs within me; I cannot be silent, for you have heard the sound of the shofar, O my soul, the shofar blast of war. 20 *Disaster upon disaster has occurred, for the entire land has been vanquished; suddenly my tents were vanquished, my canopies in an instant. 21 How long will I see the banner [of the enemy] and hear the sound of the shofar?

22 For My people are stupid; they have not recognized Me. They are foolish children, and they are not discerning; they are wise at doing evil, but know not how to do good.

23 I saw the land, and behold, it was void and empty; [I looked] to the heavens and their light was gone. 24 I saw the mountains, and behold, they were trembling, and all the hills had crumbled. 25 I saw, and behold, there was no man, and all the birds of the heavens had moved away. 26 I saw, and behold, the fertile field had become a wilderness, and all its cities had been decimated before HASHEM, before His burning wrath.

The land will mourn

27 For thus said HASHEM: The entire land will become a wasteland, although I will not annihilate [the people]. 28 For this the land will mourn, and the heavens above will become black — because I decreed and I planned; I did not

5:4. Jeremiah tried to justify the stubbornness of those who spurned his admonitions. At first he thought that the recalcitrants must be intellectually and spiritually impoverished. But, as he later saw, leaders and commoners alike refused to accept God's yoke.

5:10. God now addresses the invading enemy, instructing them on how to do battle with Judah.

5:13. The false prophecies of peace and prosperity will not come to pass; the prophecies of invasion and destruction will.

relent, and I will not turn back from it. 29 From the sound of horseman and archer the entire city is fleeing; they have come into the thick forests and have gone up into the rocks. The whole city is abandoned; not a man dwells in it. 30 And you, O plundered one, what will you do? If you wear scarlet, if you don a golden ornament, if you paint your eyes with mascara, you will be beautifying yourself in vain; your lovers have come to detest you, they seek your life. 31 For I have heard an outcry like that of a woman in labor, in pain like a woman giving birth for the first time. It is the voice of the daughter of Zion, [for] she will wail, she will wring her hands, 'Woe is me, now, for my soul has been wearied by the killers.'

5 1 Walk about in the streets of Jerusalem, see now and know, and seek in its plazas; if you will find a man [of authority], if there is one who dispenses justice and seeks truth, then I will forgive her. 2 And even if they say, 'As HASHEM lives!' they will surely be swearing falsely!

The prophet's advocacy

3 HASHEM, are Your eyes not toward truth?! [Therefore] You have stricken them, but they have not felt sickened; You have [nearly] annihilated them, but they have refused to accept discipline. They made their countenances harder than rock; they refused to repent. 4 And as for me, I had said [to myself], "They must only be the impoverished ones; they act foolishly, for they do not know the way of HASHEM, the law of their God.* 5 I will go to the leaders and speak to them, for they know the way of HASHEM, the law of their God!" But [I saw that] together they have broken the yoke, snapped the straps. 6 Therefore the lion of the forest struck them, the wolf of the deserts vanquishes them; the leopard stalks their cities — whoever leaves them will be torn apart, for their sins are abundant and their waywardness is intense.

God is not appeased

7 Why should I forgive you for this? Your children have forsaken Me; they swear by non-gods. I made them affluent, but they acted adulterously; they converged upon a brothel. 8 They were like well-fed horses rising early, each man neighing to the wife of his acquaintance. 9 Shall I not punish for these things? — the word of HASHEM. And from a nation such as this, shall My soul not exact vengeance?

10* Attack her plains and destroy — but do not completely annihilate; remove her shoots, for they are not [faithful] to HASHEM. 11 For they have completely betrayed Me, the House of Israel and the House of Judah — the word of HASHEM. 12 They have denied [the providence of] HASHEM and they have said, 'It is not so! No harm will come upon us, and we will never see sword or famine.' 13 *The [false] prophets will become like the wind, for the word [of God] is not with them — so will be done with them!

14 Therefore, thus said HASHEM, God of Legions, [to me,] because you [the people] have spoken these words: Behold, I am making My words in your mouth into fire, and this people will be like wood that it will consume. 15 Behold, I am bringing upon you a nation from afar, O House of Israel — the word of HASHEM. It is a powerful nation, an ancient nation, a nation whose language you will not know, so you will not understand what they say. 16 Their quiver is like an open grave; they are all mighty men. 17 They will consume your harvest and your bread; they will consume your sons and your daughters; they will consume your sheep and your cattle; they will consume your vines and your fig trees; it will impoverish your fortified cities on which you depend, by the sword. 18 But even in those days — the word of HASHEM — I will not annihilate you.

5:19. God addresses Jeremiah.

5:21. I.e., "without understanding." Scripture refers to the heart as the seat of the intellect.

5:22. Just as God established the beaches as boundaries of the seas so the raging waves cannot flood the continents, so too the rebellious people of Jerusalem should realize that they cannot succeed in defying Him.

5:24. Jeremiah reprimands the people for not recognizing the hand of God in the laws He has established for the agricultural cycle in the Land of Israel. For He does not allow rain to fall during the harvest season; thus, the grain can dry in the field for many weeks so that it can be processed and ground easily.

5:31. The prophets lulled the people into thinking that all was well; their false prophecies conferred authority upon avaricious priests; and the people were content, refusing to realize that eventually they would have to face reality.

6:1. Jerusalem bordered the provinces of Benjamin and Judah; thus, Jeremiah was addressing its citizens, telling them that they would be forced to flee the invasion from the North.

6:4-5. The "shepherds" debate when to attack. Some say to wait until high noon of the next day, while others want

19 * And it shall be, when they will say, "Because of what has HASHEM, our God, done all these things to us?" you shall say to them, "Just as you deserted Me and worshiped alien gods in your land, so will you serve foreigners in a land not your own."

20 Proclaim this in the House of Jacob; announce it in Judah, saying:

21 *Hear this, O nation that is foolish and without a heart. * They have eyes, but cannot see; they have ears, but cannot hear!* 22 Will you not fear Me? — the word of HASHEM — Will you not tremble before Me? For I have set sand as boundary against the sea, as a permanent law that cannot be broken. Its waves rage forth but cannot succeed, they roar but cannot cross it. * 23 But this people has a wayward and rebellious heart; they have turned astray and left, 24 and they did not say in their hearts, 'Let us fear HASHEM our God, Who supplies rain — early rain and late rain — in its proper time, and Who preserves for us the weeks appointed for the harvest.' * 25 Your sins have overturned these, and your transgressions have kept goodness away from you. 26 For wicked men are found among My people, who lie in ambush like a trap that snaps shut; they set a snare; they trap people. 27 Like a cage full of fowl, so their houses are full of deceit; thereby they have grown great and wealthy. 28 They have grown fat and corpulent, and also transgressed through wicked deeds; they did not rule justly — [even] the claim of the orphan — to enable them to prosper; and they did not judge the judgment of the poor. 29 Shall I not punish for [these] things? — the word of HASHEM. From a nation such as this shall My soul not exact vengeance?

A litany of sin

30 Astonishing and disgraceful things have taken place in the land: 31 *The prophets prophesied falsely and the priests dominated [the people] by their hands — and My people liked it that way! But what will you do upon its climax?

6

1 Come together, O sons of Benjamin, out of the midst of Jerusalem; sound the shofar in Tekoa and hoist a flag over Beth-cherem, for evil can be espied from the North, and a major disaster. * 2 I had compared the daughter of Zion to the beautiful and delicate woman. 3 Now shepherds come to her with their flocks; they have pitched tents roundabout her, each one grazing in his place, [saying,] 4 'Devote yourselves to war against [Zion]; arise, let us attack at noon; woe to us for the day draws to a close, for the shadows of late afternoon grow longer!' 5 *'Arise, let us attack at night; let us destroy its palaces!'

Take heed, O Benjamites

6 For thus said HASHEM, *Master of Legions: Cut down wood, pour out a ramp against Jerusalem; * she — the city — is being brought to account, for oppression is in her midst.* 7 As a spring issues forth its waters, so she issues forth her evil; corruption and thievery are heard in her before Me continuously — [hence] disease and affliction. 8 Be chastened, O Jerusalem, lest My soul become alienated from you, lest I make you a wasteland, [like] an uninhabited land.

9 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: They will glean bare the remnant of Israel like a grapevine. [Tell the besiegers,] 'Send out your hand again, like a grape harvester over the shoots!'

to invade immediately, at night.

6:6. God calls upon the enemy, as it were, to build towers and scaffolds for the siege, and to pour a ramp against its wall (Radak).

6:24. The prophet describes his reaction to the prophecy of doom that he was charged to deliver.

6:27. Here, God responds to Jeremiah's interjection by reiterating the theme of 1:17-19, that He would protect Jeremiah from those who would threaten him because of his scathing criticisms and bitter prophecies.

6:29. The task of the prophets is compared to the process of refining silver, which is purified by heating the ore (and fanning the fire with bellows) and adding bits of lead, which absorb much of the dross. But the prophetic attempt to purify the Israelites had become futile, as if the bellows were ruined and the lead depleted.

The people are unmoved

10 To whom shall I speak and warn, that they will take heed? Behold, their ear is blocked and they are unable to listen! Behold, the word of HASHEM has become an object of ridicule to them; they have no desire for it. 11 And I am filled with [prophecies of] the wrath of HASHEM*; I am too weary to contain them!*

Pour [this wrath] onto little children in the street and onto the gathering of youths, for men and women alike will be captured, the elders with the very aged. 12 Their houses will be turned over to others, [and their] fields and women, at once, for I will stretch out My hand against the inhabitants of the land — the word of HASHEM. 13 For from their simplest to their greatest people, they all extort booty; from prophet to priest, all deal in falsehood. 14 They relieved the [impending] disaster of My people by making light of it, saying, 'Peace! Peace!' But there is no peace. 15 Were they ashamed that they had committed abominations? They will never feel shame; they will not know humiliation! Therefore, they will fall among the fallen; at the time I punish them they will stumble, said HASHEM.

16 Thus said HASHEM*: Stand on the roads and see; ask about the various paths of history, which path is best, and walk on it and find solace for your soul.*

We will not walk nor hearken

But they said, 'We will not walk.'

17 I appointed watchmen over you [who warned], 'Hearken to the sound of the shofar!'

But they said, 'We will not hearken.'

18 Therefore, hear, O nations; know, O congregation, [the evil] that is in them. 19 Listen, O Land: Behold, I am bringing evil upon this nation, the fruits of their schemes, for they did not hearken to My words or My teaching — they rejected it. 20 Why do I need frankincense that comes from Sheba or the aromatic cane from a distant land? Your burnt-offerings do not find favor and your sacrifices are not pleasant to Me. 21 Therefore, thus said HASHEM*: Behold, I am putting stumbling blocks before this people and they will stumble over them, fathers and sons together, as well as the neighbor and his acquaintance, and they will perish.*

The Babylonian bow and spear

22 Thus said HASHEM*: Behold, a people is coming from the land of the North, a great nation will rouse itself from the ends of the earth.* 23 They will grasp bow and spear; it is [a] cruel [nation] and they will not have pity. Their sound will rage like the sea. They will be riding horses, equipped like a man setting out to battle — against you, O daughter of Zion.

24 [When] we heard of its reputation, our hands grew weak, * anxiety took hold of us, pains like those of a woman in childbirth. 25 Do not go out into the field, and do not venture forth on the road, for the enemy has a sword; [there is] terror all around! 26 O daughter of my people, don sackcloth and wallow in the dust; mourn as if for an only child, make yourself a bitter lament, for the plunderer will come upon us suddenly.

27 I have made you a fortress among My people, a stronghold; * you shall observe and test their ways. 28 They are all the ultimate rebels, gossipmongers, [brazen as] copper and iron; they are all destroyers. 29 The bellows are singed by fire, the lead is spent. The smelter smelts in vain, for the dross is not removed. * 30 People call them 'Rejected Silver,' for HASHEM has rejected them.

Rejected Silver

7 1 The word that came to Jeremiah from HASHEM*, saying:* 2 Stand in the gateway of the Temple of HASHEM and proclaim this message there. Say:

7:4. Reiterating over and over that the Temple buildings were the Sanctuary of HASHEM, the false prophets would assure the people that no harm could befall the Temple. Surely God would preserve it!

7:10. Jeremiah railed against a common human failing. People often act as if they can commit every manner of sin, but expect Divine help because they mouth empty commitments to their faith.

7:13. Lit., "arising early and speaking"; i.e., I sent My prophets to remonstrate with you, at all times of the day.

Hear the word of HASHEM, all [people of] Judah who come through these gates to prostrate themselves before HASHEM.

Another call to repentance

3 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Improve your ways and your deeds and I will cause you to dwell in this place. 4 *Do not trust the false statements that say, 'The Sanctuary of HASHEM, the Sanctuary of HASHEM, the Sanctuary of HASHEM are they!' 5 Only if you truly improve your ways and your deeds; if you truly do justice between man and his fellow; 6 do not oppress stranger, orphan and widow; and do not shed innocent blood in this place; and do not go after the gods of others, to your own harm — 7 then I will cause you to dwell in this place, in the land that I gave to your forefathers, forever and ever. 8 Behold, you trust the false statements that are of no use. 9 Can one steal, murder, and commit adultery and swear falsely and burn incense to the Baal and go after the gods of others that you never knew, 10 *and then come and stand before Me in this Temple, upon which My Name is proclaimed, and say, 'We are saved!' — in order to [continue] committing all these abominations? 11 Has this Temple, upon which My Name is proclaimed, become a cave of criminals in your eyes? Moreover — behold, I have seen it — the word of HASHEM.

Learn from Shiloh

12 For go to My shrine that is in Shiloh, where I caused My Name to dwell there at first, and see what I did to it because of the wickedness of My people Israel. 13 So now, since you do all these deeds — the word of HASHEM — and I have spoken to you, speaking repeatedly, * but you have not listened; I have called out to you but you did not respond, 14 I shall do to the Temple — upon which My Name is proclaimed, upon which you place your trust — and to the place that I have given to you and to your fathers, as I did to Shiloh. 15 *I shall cast you from My presence, as I cast out all your brethren, all the seed of Ephraim.

Jeremiah, do not intercede

16 And you, [Jeremiah] — do not pray for this people; do not speak up for them with a cry and a prayer, and do not entreat Me, for I will not listen to you. 17 Do you not see what they do in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? 18 *The sons gather wood, the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead dough — to make pastries in honor of the queen of heaven and to pour out libations to the gods of others, in order to provoke Me. 19 Is it Me they are provoking? — the word of HASHEM. Is it not themselves, bringing shame upon themselves?

20 Therefore, thus said my Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, My anger and wrath will be poured out upon this place — upon the people and upon the animals, upon the trees of the field and upon the fruits of the earth; it shall burn and not be extinguished.

21 *Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Add your burnt-offerings to your peace-offerings and eat [their] meat! 22 For I did not speak with your forefathers, nor did I command them, on the day I took them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt- or peace-offerings. 23 Rather, it was only this thing that I commanded them, saying: 'Hearken

7:15. The prophets often refer to the Ten Tribes of the Northern Kingdom, whose inhabitants had been exiled by Assyria over a century before, by the collective name "Ephraim," because its first king, Jeroboam, was from that tribe (Radak).

7:18. That is, the sun.

7:21. Burnt-offerings are completely burned on the Altar, while the flesh of peace-offerings is eaten. God scathingly tells the people that they may as well not waste meat by bringing burnt-offerings — they should be brought rather as peace-offerings — because they are not acceptable to Him in any event (Rashi).

7:29. Tearing out one's hair is an expression of grief. Here God addresses the Congregation of Israel.

7:31. It cannot be said that the Israelites abandoned the service of God because they found it to be too heavy a burden, for they have adopted religions which make demands such as child sacrifice, which God never commanded, nor even considered.

8:1. I.e., the invading enemy.

Backward, not foward to My voice, that I will be your God and you will be My people; and you will go on the entire way that I command you, so that it will be well for you.'

24 But they did not listen, and they did not incline their ear, but followed [their own] counsels and the visions of their evil heart; they went backward and not forward. 25 From the day your forefathers left the land of Egypt until this day, I sent to you all My servants, the prophets, daily, rising early and sending forth. 26 But they would not listen to Me, and they would not incline their ear; they stiffened their neck, and became worse than their forefathers.

27 You will tell them all these things, but they will not listen to you; you will call out to them, but they will not answer you. 28 Say unto them:

'This is the nation that would not listen to the voice of HASHEM, its God; and they would not accept rebuke! Faith is lost; it is detached from their speech.'

29 Tear out your hair and throw it away, proclaim lament from the hilltops; for* HASHEM has rejected and forsaken the generation of His wrath. 30 For the children of Judah have done what is evil in My eyes — the word of HASHEM*; they have placed their abominations in the Temple upon which My Name is proclaimed, to contaminate it.* 31 *They have built the high places of the Topheth that are in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, to burn their sons and their daughters in fire — which I had not commanded and had not entered My mind.

32 Therefore, behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when it will no longer be called the Topheth and the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, but the Valley of Killing, for they will bury in Topheth until there is no more room.

Disappearance of joy

33 The corpses of this people will become food for the birds of the heavens and the animals of the earth, and none will make them afraid. 34 I will eliminate from the cities of Judah and from the streets of Jerusalem the sound of joy and the sound of gladness, the sound of groom and the sound of bride; for the land will become ruin.

8

1 At that time — the word of HASHEM — they will remove the bones of the kings of Judah, the bones of its leaders, the bones of the priests,*

Posthumous punishment

the bones of the prophets and the bones of Jerusalem's inhabitants from their graves, 2 and spread them out under the sun and the moon and all the heavenly legion, which they loved and which they worshiped and which they followed and which they sought out, and to which they prostrated themselves. They will not be gathered together nor buried; they will be like dung upon the face of the earth. 3 Yet death will be preferable to life for the surviving remnant of this evil family, in all the places of the survivors where I will have driven them — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions.

4 You shall say unto them:

Thus said HASHEM*: Will they fall out and not rise? If he would repent, would He not return [to them]?* 5 Then why is this rebellious people of Jerusalem eternally rebellious? They hold fast to guile; they refuse to repent. 6 I have listened and heard. They speak untruth; no man relents of his evil, saying, 'What have I done?' They all follow their course like a horse racing headlong in war. 7 Even the stork in the heavens knows its [migration] seasons, and the turtledove, the swift, and the crane keep the time of their arrival; but My people do not know the law of HASHEM.

8:22. Are there no merits or acts of righteousness that can advocate favorably on behalf of my people?

9:2. They use their tongue as a weapon to entrap others.

9:6. I will punish them to refine them of their impurities, for I cannot let My people continue their unabated wrongdoing.

Lives of lies

8 How can you say, 'We are wise, and HASHEM's Torah is with us'? Indeed, they made the quill for falsehood, the scribes are false. 9 The wise men are ashamed, they are distraught and trapped; behold, they have rejected the word of HASHEM, so what wisdom is in them? 10 Therefore, I will give their wives to others and their fields to usurpers, for from the simplest to the most distinguished, they all extort booty; from prophet to priest, all deal in falsehood. 11 They relieved the [impending] disaster of the daughter of My people by making light [of it], saying, 'Peace! Peace!' But there is no peace. 12 Were they ashamed that they had committed abominations? They are not ashamed, nor do they know how to feel humiliated! Therefore they will fall among the fallen; at the time I attend to them they will stumble, said HASHEM.

13 I shall utterly destroy them — the word of HASHEM; there will be no grapes on the vine and no figs on the fig-tree; the leaf will wither, and what I have given to them will pass away. 14 'Why do we remain [here]? Let us gather together and go to the fortified cities, there to be silent; for HASHEM, our God, has caused us to be silent and has given us poisonous water to drink, for we have sinned to HASHEM. 15 We may hope for peace, but there is no goodness; [we hope] for a time of healing, but behold, there is terror.'*

16 From Dan is heard the snorting of his steeds; at the sound of his mighty ones' footsteps the whole land quakes. They will come and devour the land and its fullness, the city and those who dwell in it. 17 For behold, I am inciting against you venomous serpents that cannot be charmed, and they will sting you — the word of HASHEM.

18 I seek strength to withstand the sorrow, but my heart is sick within me. 19 Behold, the sound of the cry of the daughter of my people from a distant land: "Is HASHEM not in Zion, is its king not within it?"

[But He replies,] "Why have they angered Me with their idols, with their alien vanities?"

20 The harvest has passed, the summer has ended, but we have not been saved.

Jeremiah laments

21 Over the disaster of the daughter of my people have I been shattered; I am blackened; desolation has gripped me. 22 Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no healer there? Why has the health of the daughter of my people not recovered?*

23 If only my head would be water and my eyes a spring of tears, so that I could *cry all day and night for the slain of the daughter of my people! 1 If only someone would give me a travelers' lodge in the wilderness, then I would forsake my people and leave them, for they are all adulterers, a band of traitors. 2 They draw their tongues, [but] their bow is falsehood.

Not for good faith have they grown strong in the land, for they go forth from evil to evil, but Me they do not know — the word of HASHEM. 3 Let each man beware of his fellow; do not trust any kin! For every kinsman acts perversely and every acquaintance mongers slander. 4 Each man mocks his fellow and they do not speak truth; they train their tongue to speak falsehood, striving to be iniquitous. 5 Your dwelling is amid deceit; because of their deceit they refuse to know Me — the word of HASHEM.

Their deceit breeds their punishment

6 Therefore, thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Behold, I shall purge them and I shall test them — for what [else] can I do for the daughter of My people? 7 Their tongue is like a drawn arrow, speaking deceit; with his mouth one speaks peace with his fellow, but inside of him he lays his ambush. 8 Shall I not punish them for these [things]? — the word of HASHEM.*

Haftaras Tzav continues here: 9:22-23

9:16. Contemplate your dire situation and you will realize that it is time to call the professional dirge-women, who would cry and wail at funerals.

9:23. To know God is to imitate His ways by dealing with others with kindness, justice and righteousness, for such is "My desire" (Radak).

9:25. The circumcised Jews will be punished along with all their uncircumcised neighbors, because the physical sign of the covenant of circumcision is not enough — a Jew must be spiritually distinct as well. But the Jews to whom Jeremiah was speaking left their hearts uncircumcised — i.e., unpurified.

From a nation such as this, shall My soul not exact vengeance?

9 For the mountains I will raise [My voice] in weeping and wailing, and for the pastures of the wilderness a dirge, for they are parched, without a person passing by; and they will not hear the sound of cattle; from bird of heaven to animal, they have wandered off and gone. 10 I shall make Jerusalem heaps of rubble, a serpent's lair; the cities of Judah I shall make a wasteland, without inhabitant.

11 Who is the wise man who will understand this? Who is he to whom the mouth of HASHEM speaks, that he may explain this? 'For what reason did the land perish and become parched like the desert, without a passerby?'

. . . for forsaking the Torah

12 But HASHEM has said: Because of their forsaking My Torah that I put before them; moreover, they did not heed My voice nor follow it. 13 They followed the vision of their heart and [they followed] the Baalim, as their fathers taught them.

14 Therefore, thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Behold, I am feeding this people wormwood and giving them poisonous water to drink. 15 I shall scatter them among nations that neither they nor their fathers have known; I shall send the sword after them until I annihilate them.

16 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Contemplate; call upon the dirge-women to come, and send for the wise women to come.* 17 Let them come quickly and raise up a lament for us; let our eyes run with tears and our eyelids flow with water, 18 for the sound of wailing is heard [coming] from Zion: 'How we have been plundered? How greatly we have been shamed, for we have forsaken the land, for our own dwellings have cast us out!'

19 Therefore, hearken, O women, to the word of HASHEM and let your ear absorb the word of His mouth; teach a lament to your daughters, each woman a dirge to her friend. 20 For death has ascended through our windows, it has entered our palaces, to cut down the infant from the street, young men from the plazas.

21 Speak: Thus is the word of HASHEM: Human corpses will fall like dung on the open field, and like a sheaf behind the harvester, but there is none to gather.

22 Thus said HASHEM: Let not the wise man glorify himself with his wisdom, and let not the strong man glorify himself with his strength, let not the rich man glorify himself with his wealth. 23 For only with this may one glorify himself — contemplating and knowing Me, for I am HASHEM Who does kindness, justice and righteousness in the land, for in these is My desire — the word of* HASHEM.

Idle glory

24 Behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when I shall deal with everyone who is circumcised for [his] uncircumcision: 25 *with Egypt, with Judah, with Edom, with the Children of Ammon and with Moab, and with all those who dwell in the remotest corners of the wilderness; for all the nations are uncircumcised, and the House of Israel is of uncircumcised heart.

10 1 Hear the word that HASHEM has spoken concerning you, O House of Israel. 2 Thus said HASHEM:

Foolishness of idolatry

Do not learn from the way of the nations; do not be frightened by the signs of the heavens, though the nations are frightened by them. 3 For the practices

10:5. Kara translates: like a scarecrow.

10:9. The silver and gold idols are clothed in precious royal garments.

10:11. This (vv. 11-16) is the text of a letter Jeremiah sent to the Jewish exiles in Babylonia, telling them what to answer the captors who would try to persuade them to worship their heathen gods (Targum).

The first verse of the letter is written in Aramaic, the language of Babylonia, to indicate that the response must be understood clearly by the oppressors (Radak).

10:22. I.e., news of the impending Babylonian invasion from the North, which will devastate the land.

10:23-24. Jeremiah acknowledges that Nebuchadnezzar's siege and destruction of Jerusalem must have been Divinely ordained (Rashi), and that man cannot control his fate, but he pleads that judgment be tempered with mercy and that Israel be spared.

of the nations are foolish; [for one takes] wood that he cut down from the forest, fashioned by an artisan with an adze, [4] embellishes it with silver and gold, fastens it with nails and with hammers so that it does not come apart. [5] They are like a sculpted palm tree — they do not speak; they are carried about for they cannot walk. Do not fear them; for they can do no harm, nor can they do good.*

Jeremiah speaks God's praises

[6] There is none like You, O HASHEM! You are great and Your Name is great in might. [7] Who would not fear You, O King of the nations? For [kingship] befits You; for among all the wise men of the nations and in all their kingdoms [it is known that] there is none like You. [8] They are uniformly foolish and stupid, the vain [idols] for which they are punished; it is [but] wood. [9] Beaten silver is imported from Tarshish and gold from Uphaz, the work of an artisan and the hands of a goldsmith; turquoise and purple are their raiment, all of them the work of skilled craftsmen.* [10] But HASHEM, God, is True; He is the Living God and the Eternal King; from His anger the earth quakes, and nations cannot bear His wrath.

[11] *Tell them this:

Only the Creator is God

The gods who did not make the heavens and the earth shall vanish from the earth and from under these heavens! [12] [But HASHEM] made the earth with His might, He established the world with His wisdom, and with His understanding spread out the heavens. [13] At the sound of His placement of a multitude of water in the heavens, He raised clouds from the end of the earth; He makes lightning bolts for the rain and brings forth wind from His treasuries. [14] Every man is bereft of wisdom, every smith is shamed by his graven image, for his molten idol is false, and there is no life in them. [15] They are vanity, the work of deception; when they are dealt with, they shall perish. [16] Unlike these is the Portion of Jacob, for He is the Molder of everything, and Israel is the tribe that is His heritage; His Name is HASHEM, Master of Legions.

[17] Gather your possessions from the land, you who live under siege. [18] For thus said HASHEM:

Behold, this time I am slinging out the dwellers of the land, and I shall beleaguer them so that they may find [their just punishment].

Jerusalem's lament

[19] "Woe is me for my disaster; my wound is acute. I said [to myself], 'It is but an ailment, I can bear it' — [20] but my tent has been plundered and all my cords have been snapped. My sons have left me and are no more; there is no longer anyone to pitch my tent, to set up my curtains. [21] For the shepherds have been foolish and did not seek out HASHEM; therefore they did not succeed and all their flock was dispersed. [22] The news of a report — behold, it comes, and a resounding noise from a land of the North, which will make the cities of Judah a wasteland, a serpents' lair."*

[23] I know, HASHEM, that a man's path is not his own [doing]; nor can a man who walks direct his own steps. [24] *Chastise me, HASHEM, but with justice, not with Your anger, lest You diminish me. [25] Pour out Your wrath upon the nations that know You not and upon the families that do not call out in Your Name, for they have consumed Jacob — they have consumed him and annihilated him — and have devastated his abode.

11 [1] The word that came to Jeremiah from HASHEM, saying: [2] "Hear the words of this covenant, and speak them to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants

11:8. Whenever Jews sinned against God, He brought upon them whatever punishments they deserved, as related in the Admonition of Deuteronomy (Ch. 28). Now, too, Jeremiah was to warn them that their failure to obey the covenant would result in punishment; but this time, commensurate with the degree of their sins, the retribution would be more severe.

11:10. Radak suggests that this prophecy was spoken after the death of Josiah, when the effects of that king's immense spiritual revival quickly dissipated and the spiritual state of the people reverted to its previous sorry state (see II Kings Ch. 23).

11:15. God says, "Israel, My formerly cherished nation, should stop coming to My Temple, for even the leaders among her exult in their sinful schemes, going so far as to ignore the laws of circumcision which make their flesh sacred." Then he said to the people, "When you do evil . . ." (Rashi).

of Jerusalem. [3] Say to them:

Obey the covenant . . .

Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: Cursed is the man who will not listen to the words of this covenant [4] that I commanded your forefathers on the day I took them out from the land of Egypt, from the iron crucible, saying: Listen to My voice and fulfill [the commandments], according to all that I command you, so that you will be a people for Me and I will be a God for you, [5] in order to fulfill the oath that I swore to your forefathers to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as this very day.

And I responded, saying, "Amen, HASHEM."

[6] HASHEM then said to me, "Proclaim all these words in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, saying:

. . . or it will turn against you

Hear the words of this covenant and fulfill them. [7] For I have repeatedly warned your forefathers on the day I brought them up from the land of Egypt, and until this very day, arising early and warning [them], saying: 'Listen to My voice!' [8] But they did not listen and did not incline their ear, and each man went after the vision of his evil heart; so I brought upon them all the words of this covenant that I had commanded them to fulfill, but they did not fulfill."*

[9] HASHEM said to me, "A conspiracy can be found among the people of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. [10] They reverted to the sins of their forefathers, the earlier ones, who refused to listen to My words, and they followed the gods of others to worship them; the House of Israel and the House of Judah have abrogated My covenant that I sealed with their forefathers.*

[11] Therefore, thus said HASHEM: Behold, I bring against them an evil from which they will not be able to escape; and they will cry out to Me, but I will not listen to them. [12] The [inhabitants of the] cities of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem will then go and cry out to the gods to whom they burn offerings, but they will not save them at all at the time of their misfortune. [13] For the number of your cities was [the number of] your gods, O Judah, and like the number of streets in Jerusalem have you made altars to the shameful idol — altars to sacrifice to the Baal.

[14] As for you [Jeremiah]: Do not pray for this people, and do not raise [your voice] in outcry and prayer on their behalf, for I do not listen when they call to Me because of their misfortune.

The broken olive tree

[15] What has My beloved [nation] to do in My Temple, while she — [her] great ones — carries out her evil schemes, while the sacred flesh is passed away from you? When you do evil, only then do you rejoice!* [16] HASHEM had called your name, 'A leafy olive tree, beautiful with shapely fruit'; [but now,] amid the sound of a great commotion He has set fire to it and its branches were broken. [17] And HASHEM, Master of Legions, the One Who planted you, has declared evil upon you, because of the evil of the House of Israel and the House of Judah, which they committed in order to anger Me, by sacrificing to the Baal."

[18] HASHEM informed me, so I would know — then You showed me their deeds.

Threatened prophet

[19] I am like a choice sheep led to the slaughter; I did not know that they devised schemes against me: "Let us destroy [him by placing] tree-poison in his food

11:19. Jeremiah's townspeople plotted to kill him for his constant rebukes and prophecies of doom.

11:20. Literally, "kidneys and heart," an oft-used metaphor for thoughts and feelings.

12:1-4. Jeremiah is troubled by the age-old problem of why the wicked prosper while the righteous suffer. He prefaces his words by saying that he does not question God's justice; he wishes only to understand why such things are happening. Then he contrasts the insincerity of those who falsely proclaim homage to God with his own loyalty, and asks, "Why are they tranquil while I am persecuted? Furthermore, why are the sinners permitted to drag the country down to destruction?"

12:2. Lit., "kidneys"; see 11:20. Jeremiah accuses the betrayers of paying lip service, but not bringing God into their thoughts and emotions.

12:5-6. God responds to Jeremiah's query (Targum) with two metaphors to show Jeremiah that the answer to his question is beyond human comprehension. (a) An ordinary person becomes tired if he runs with faster people; surely he cannot keep up with horses. (b) Jeremiah should have expected to be safest with his kinsmen in Anathoth, yet they tried to poison him — how much more would the prophet be in danger from the antagonistic nobles of Jerusalem or the conquering Nebuchadnezzar (Radak).

and cut him off from the land of the living, so that his name will not be remembered any more." * [20] But HASHEM, Master of Legions, righteous Judge, Who examines innermost thoughts and feelings, * let me see Your vengeance against them, for I have revealed my grievance to You.

[21] Therefore, thus said HASHEM, concerning the men of Anathoth who seek your life, saying: "Do not prophecy in the Name of HASHEM, so that you not die at our hand" — [22] Therefore, thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: "Behold, I shall punish them; the young men will die by the sword, their sons and their daughters will die in the famine. [23] There will be no remnant of them, for I shall bring evil upon the men of Anathoth [in] the year of their punishment."

12 [1] You are righteous, O HASHEM, though I may express a grievance to You; but I will speak with You of judgments: * Why does the way of the wicked prosper, and [why are] all the betrayers tranquil? [2] You have planted them and they have even taken root; they even produce fruit. You are close to their mouths, but distant from their thoughts. * [3] You, HASHEM, know me; You see me and You have determined that my heart is with You. Bring them out like sheep to the slaughter; prepare them for the day of killing! [4] How long must the land mourn and the vegetation of the entire field become withered? Because of the wickedness of its inhabitants even animals and birds have ceased [to live], because they said, "[God] sees not our end."

Why prosperity for the wicked?

God replies . . .

[5] If when you race with footmen they exhaust you, how can you compete with horses? [If] in peaceful territory, where you are secure, [you are endangered,] how will you cope in the heights of the Jordan? [6] Even your brothers and your father's household — even they have betrayed you! Even they called out against you in a full assemblage. Do not trust them, [even] when they speak kindnesses to you! *

[7] I have forsaken My Temple, * I have abandoned My heritage; I have delivered the love of My soul into the palm of her enemies. [8] To Me, My heritage was like a lion in the forest; she raised up her voice * against Me; therefore I hated her. [9] Has My heritage become for Me like a bloodstained bird of prey which the other birds of prey surround [proclaiming]: "Go gather all the beasts of the field, let them come to eat"? [10] Many shepherds * have ravaged My vineyard; they have trampled My portion and turned the portion of My desire into a barren wasteland. [11] He made it a wasteland, the wasteland mourns before Me; the entire land has been laid waste, for no man took it to heart. [12] On all the wilderness hilltops have pillagers come, for HASHEM's sword consumes from one end of the land to the [other] end of the land; there is no peace for any flesh. [13] They sowed wheat but reaped thorns; they ached without relief. Be ashamed of your produce, [which is stricken] by the burning wrath of HASHEM!

. . . and describes the impending repercussions

But eventually Israel will return

[14] Thus said HASHEM: Concerning all My evil neighbors * who damage the inheritance that I have caused My people Israel to inherit: Behold, I am uprooting them from their land, and I will uproot the House of Judah from among them. [15] And it shall be that after I uproot them I will pity them again, and I will return each man of them to his heritage and each man to his land.

12:7-13. These verses speak of the impending tragedy. God likens Himself to a man who has left everything dear to him because he was betrayed.

12:8. The raised voice refers to the cries and prayers of the oppressed Jews of Jerusalem (Radak).

12:10. "Shepherds" is a metaphor for kings.

12:14-17. Israel's antagonistic neighbors — e.g., Tyre, Egypt, Moab, etc. — will also be exiled by the Babylonians' conquest. The Jews who had been exiled among them will be uprooted from their homes and returned to the Land of Israel. If the nations learn from Israel to mend their ways, they, too, will be returned to their homelands (Radak).

13:1. God commanded Jeremiah to perform a symbolic act that would lend force to his prophecy about Israel's imminent downfall. By absorbing the sweat of his loins and not being laundered, the girdle would decay faster.

13:13-14. The jugs are the dignitaries of Jerusalem, who will be "drunk" with calamity and misfortune, i.e., they will be so overwhelmed by troubles that they will be helpless as a drunkard to deal with them. And these crises will cause strife among the leaders, and they will be like earthenware jugs that shatter when they strike

16 It shall be if they learn well the ways of My people, to swear in My Name, 'As HASHEM lives,' just as they taught My people to swear by the Baal, then they shall be restored along with My people. 17 But if they do not listen, I shall uproot that nation, uprooting and destroying it — the word of HASHEM.

13 1 *Thus said HASHEM to me: "Go and buy for yourself a linen belt and place it on your loins, but do not bring it into water." 2 So I bought the belt, in accordance with the word of HASHEM, and placed it on my loins.

The parable of the linen belt

3 The word of HASHEM came to me once again, saying, 4 "Take the belt that you bought, which is upon your loins; arise and go to the Euphrates, and conceal it there in a crag of the rock." 5 So I went and concealed it by the Euphrates, as HASHEM had commanded me. 6 It was at the end of many days, and HASHEM said to me: "Arise, go to the Euphrates and from there take the belt that I had commanded you to conceal there." 7 So I went to the Euphrates and I dug and took the belt from the place where I had concealed it, and behold the belt was ruined; it was not of any use.

8 The word of HASHEM then came to me, saying, 9 "Thus said HASHEM: So shall I destroy the pride of Judah and the immense pride of Jerusalem — 10 this evil nation, who refuse to hear My words, who follow the vision of their heart, who went after the gods of others, to worship them, to prostrate themselves to them — it will become like this belt, which is not of any use. 11 For just as a belt is fastened to a man's loins, so I fastened to Myself the entire House of Israel and the entire House of Judah — the word of HASHEM — to be unto Me a people, and for renown, for praise, and for splendor, but they would not listen [to Me].

The parable of the wine jug

12 "Tell them this declaration: Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: 'Every wine jug should be filled with wine.' And when they say to you, 'Don't we know that every wine jug should be filled with wine?' 13 *you will say to them, Thus said HASHEM: Behold, I am filling all the inhabitants of this land, as well as the kings who sit on the throne of David and the priests and the prophets and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, with drunkenness. 14 And I will smash them, each man against his brother, and fathers and sons together — the word of HASHEM; I shall not show mercy nor shall I pity nor shall I have compassion [to stop Me] from destroying them.

15 Listen and be attentive, do not be haughty; for HASHEM has spoken.

Honor God!

16 Give honor to HASHEM your God, before it gets dark, and before your feet stub themselves upon the mountains of night; you will then hope for light, but He will place deep darkness and will make it thickly clouded. 17 And if you do not heed this, my soul will cry in [its] hidden chambers because of [your] haughtiness; and if tears will flow freely, my eye will drip tears, for the flock of HASHEM will have been captured.

Honor yourself!

18 Say to the king and to the queen mother, 'Humble yourselves, sit, for your dominions have collapsed, the crown of your glory.'* 19 The cities of the South are shut, with no one to open [them]; all of Judah has been exiled — exiled completely.

20 Lift your eyes and see those who are coming from the North; where is the flock that was given you, the sheep of your glory? 21 *What will you say when He punishes you? You yourself have trained them as rulers over you;

one another (Radak).

13:18. This refers to King Jehoiachin and his mother, who were among the first to be exiled by the Babylonians (see II Kings 24:12).

13:21. The kings of Judah invited trouble by seeking alliances with foreign powers.

surely pains will seize you like a woman in childbirth! 22 And if you say in your heart, 'Why have these things happened to me?' — through your multitude of sin the bottoms of your garments have been revealed, your heels have been uncovered. * 23 Can a Cushite change his skin [color], or a leopard its spots? So too, can you — in whom evil is ingrained — do good? 24 Therefore I shall scatter them, like chaff blown about by a desert wind. 25 This is your lot, your portion measured out by Me — the word of HASHEM — for you have forgotten Me and relied on falsehood. 26 I have even exposed the bottoms of your garments, [throwing them] upon your face, so your shame is revealed. 27 Your adultery and your exultant neighings, your fantasies of immorality — upon the hills in the field I have seen your abominations. Woe to you, Jerusalem; you will not become purified after so long!"*

Can a leopard change his spots?

14 1 The word of HASHEM that came to Jeremiah concerning the droughts: *

Prophecy concerning the droughts

2 Judah mourns; her cities are devastated, they are blackened like the ground; and the cry of Jerusalem has gone up. 3 Their officers send out their youngsters for water. They go to cisterns, but do not find water; they bring back their containers empty; they are embarrassed and ashamed and cover their head. 4 Because the ground is parched, for there has been no rain in the land, plowmen are embarrassed; they cover their head. 5 Even the hind in the field gives birth and then abandons [her young], for there is no vegetation. 6 The wild donkeys stand on the hilltops; they suck in the air like serpents; their eyes pine away because there is no herbage.

Jeremiah's supplication

7 If our sins testify against us, O HASHEM, act for Your Name's sake; * for our rebelliousness is great; we have sinned to You. 8 O Hope of Israel, its Redeemer in time of trouble, why should You be like a stranger in the land, like a wayfarer who turns off [the road] to sleep over for the night? 9 Why should You be like a man in shock, like a hero who cannot save? But You are in our midst, O HASHEM, and Your Name is proclaimed upon us; do not abandon us.*

10 Thus said HASHEM concerning this people, "Indeed they liked to move about, they did not spare their legs; * so HASHEM found them undesirable. Now He will recall their iniquity, and He will punish [them for] their transgressions."*

Pray not for them; blame the false prophets

11 And HASHEM said to me, "Do not pray for beneficence on behalf of this people. 12 If they fast, I will not listen to their call; if they sacrifice a burnt-offering or meal-offering I will not accept them. For I am going to annihilate them by the sword, by famine and by pestilence."

13 Then I said, "Alas, my Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM! Behold, the [false] prophets say to them, 'You will not see a sword, and famine will not befall you; for I will present you a true peace in this place!' "

14 But HASHEM said to me, "These prophets prophesy falsehood in My Name! I did not send them nor command them nor speak to them. A false vision, divination, emptiness, and the deception of their heart are they prophesying to you.

15 "Therefore, thus said HASHEM concerning the prophets who prophesy in My Name though I did not send them, yet they say, 'Sword and famine will never visit this land!': Those prophets shall perish by sword and by famine! 16 And the people to whom they prophesy will be strewn about in the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine and sword, and there will be no one to bury them — they, their wives and their sons and daughters — for I will have poured out their [own] evil upon allies; now let them wander in search of food and refuge (Radak).

14:17. The virgin daughter of Israel represents the nation before it was ravished by the enemy (Radak).

15:1. Though Moses and Samuel prayed for Israel, they did so only after chastising them and convincing them to repent (Rashi).

15:4. See II Kings Ch. 21.

15:10. Jeremiah moans that he is hated for having proclaimed the word of God, and wishes he had never been born.

15:11. Lit., "If I do not make your end good. . .; if I will not make your enemy. . .!" This is an oath, and, in the manner of Scripture, the conclusion is left unstated. God assures Jeremiah that the destruction will not be total and that his opponents will beg him to pray for them (Rashi).

15:12. The iron weapons of Israel cannot beat the powerful invader from the North (Rashi; Radak).

them. [17] Tell them this thing:

My eyes drip tears night and day, and do not stop, for the virgin daughter of my people is broken by a great disaster, a very sickening blow.* [18] If I go out to the field, behold, there are the slain of the sword! And if I enter the city, behold, there are those ill from famine! For prophet and priest alike have mongered [falsehood] throughout the land, for they did not know [the word of God]."

Jeremiah supplicates again

[19] Do You totally despise Judah; do You loathe Zion? Why did You strike us so that we have no cure? [We may] hope for peace, but there is no goodness; for a time of healing, but [instead] there is terror. [20] We know, O HASHEM, of our wickedness, the transgression of our forefathers, for we have sinned against You. [21] Do not reject [us], for Your Name's sake; do not abominate the Throne of Your Glory. Remember, do not annul Your covenant with us. [22] Are there rainmakers among the follies of the nations? Will the heavens issue raindrops? Surely it is You, HASHEM, our God, and we place our hope in You, for You do all these [things].

15 [1] *HASHEM said to me, "Even if Moses and Samuel were to stand before Me, I would have no desire for this people. * Send [them] away from My Presence and let them go!* [2] And if they tell you, 'Where shall we go?' say to them, 'Thus said HASHEM: Whoever is [destined] for death, to death; whoever for the sword, to the sword; whoever for famine, to famine; and whoever for captivity, to captivity. [3] I shall appoint over them four families [of punishment] — the word of HASHEM: the sword to kill; the dogs to drag off [corpses]; and the bird of the heavens and the animal of the earth to devour and destroy [the corpses]. [4] *I shall make them a horror for all the kingdoms of the earth, because of Manasseh son of Hezekiah, king of Judah, for what he did in Jerusalem. [5] Who will pity you, O Jerusalem, and who will shake [his head] for you, and who will turn aside to inquire after your welfare? [6] You abandoned Me — the word of HASHEM — you retreated; I shall stretch out My hand against you and I shall destroy you; I am weary of relenting. [7] I shall scatter them with a winnowing fork throughout the cities of the world; I bereaved and annihilated My people, but they did not turn back from their ways. [8] Their widows were more numerous before Me than the sand of the seas; I brought upon them — upon the mother-city — a youthful band that pillages at [high] noon; I cast this down upon her suddenly, an [enemy] city and turmoil. [9] She who gave birth to seven [children] is distressed, her soul is distraught; her sun set while it was still daytime; she was shamed and disgraced. Now I shall deliver their remnant to the sword before their enemies — the word of HASHEM."

Death, sword, famine, captivity

[10] Woe is me, Mother, that you gave birth to me, a man of strife and a man of controversy for all the land; I did not lend money nor did anyone lend to me, yet everyone curses me.*

[11] *HASHEM replied, "A remnant will remain for good; good for you in the end; I will make your enemy entreat you at a time of distress and a time of travail. [12] *Can ordinary iron smash northern iron alloyed with copper? [13] I shall deliver your fortune and your treasuries as spoils, without payment, because of all your sins throughout your borders. [14] And I shall cause you to pass over to your enemies, into a land you do not know, for a fire has been kindled in My wrath, and it burns against you."

15:19. God tells Jeremiah that he has spoken irreverently to Him (v. 18) and must atone for his sacrilege (Radak); then he will continue to be God's prophet. If he succeeds in transforming people from figurative gluttons into righteous penitents, his wishes will be fulfilled, as if they had been spoken by God's own mouth, and people will seek him out, instead of him having to pursue them.

16:2. Like other actions Jeremiah was commanded to take, this was meant as a symbolic act to impart a lesson to the people. When asked why he did not marry, Jere-

Persecution of Jeremiah

15 You know, HASHEM! Remember me, think of me, and avenge me of my pursuers; in Your patience [with them] do not take my life. Know that I have borne disgrace for You. 16 As soon as Your words come [to me] I devour them, for me Your word was the joy and gladness of my heart, for Your Name was proclaimed upon me, O HASHEM, God of Legions. 17 I did not sit in the company of revelers and celebrate; because of Your mission I sat alone, for You filled me with [prophecies of] fury. 18 Why has my pain become everlasting and my wound acute? It refuses to be healed. You have become like a disillusionment to me, like unfaithful waters.

God's reply

19 Therefore, thus said HASHEM: "If you repent I will bring you back, let you stand before Me; if you bring forth an honorable person from a glutton, then you will be like My own mouth. They will return to you, and you will not have to return to them.* 20 And I shall make you like a fortified copper wall against this people; they will battle you but they will not be able to overcome you, for I am with you to save you and to rescue you — the word of HASHEM. 21 I shall rescue you from the hand of the wicked, and shall redeem you from the grip of the powerful."

16 1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying: 2 "Do not take for yourself a wife, so that you do not have sons and daughters in this place.

Disassociate from the people . . .

3 For thus said HASHEM concerning the sons and daughters who are born in this place, and concerning their mothers who give birth to them and their fathers who beget them in this land: 4 They will die as victims of diseases. They will not be eulogized nor buried; like dung upon the face of the earth will they be. By the sword and by famine will they perish, and their carcasses will be food for the bird of the heavens and the animal of the earth. 5 For thus said HASHEM: Do not go to a house of mourning and do not go to eulogize nor to shake [your head] for them; for I have revoked My peace and kindness and mercy from this people — the word of HASHEM.* 6 *Great and small will die in this land and will not be buried; no one will eulogize them nor cut himself nor tear out his hair for them. 7 No one will break bread for their bereavement to comfort them for the dead; no one will offer them a cup of consolations for their father and for their mother.

. . . do not grieve . . .

. . . or make merry with them

8 "Also, do not go to a house of merrymaking, to sit with them, to eat and to drink. 9 For thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Behold, I am abolishing from this place, before your eyes and in your days, the sound of joy and the sound of gladness, the sound of groom and the sound of bride. 10 And it shall be that when you tell all these things to this people, they will say to you, 'Why has HASHEM spoken all this great evil against us? What is our iniquity, what is our transgression that we have transgressed before HASHEM our God?' 11 Say to them:

They will be exiled . . .

It is because your forefathers have forsaken Me — the word of HASHEM — and they followed the gods of others; they worshiped them and prostrated themselves before them; but Me, they forsook; and My Torah they did not observe. 12 And you have acted worse than your forefathers, for each one of you follows the vision of his evil heart, in order not to listen to Me. 13 So I shall hurl you from upon this land into a land that you did not know — you or your forefathers — and there you will serve the gods of others, miah would say that he did not wish to bring children into the world only to face a certain tragic end (Abarbanel).

16:5. Another symbolic act: When asked why he refused to comfort mourners, Jeremiah was to say because the time was coming when death would be so commonplace that the few survivors would not bother to mourn (Rashi).

16:6. These acts of mourning are forbidden by the Torah (Deuteronomy 14:1); part of Jeremiah's rebuke was that some people did not heed this prohibition of the Torah (Radak).

16:13. According to Targum, "You will serve the worshipers of other gods day and night."

16:14. The redemption from the new exile will be so much greater than the miracles of the Exodus from Egypt that people will take oaths by the new redemption.

16:16. After an interlude of consolation, God resumes His rebuke and prophecy of doom. The passage begins by saying that there will be no escape from the coming retribution; God will seek out the Jews wherever they may be.

17:10. See 11:20.

17:11. A person with ill-gotten gains is like a partridge, which sits on eggs laid by other birds. When the chicks hatch, they soon leave the nest, and there is no attachment between them and the bird that is not their real mother (Radak; Kara). So too, a dishonest person may prosper, but he will eventually lose it all.

17:12. God's Presence is as immanent on earth as in heaven; He knows man's actions and thoughts (Radak).

day and night, for I will not grant you leniency.*

. . . but will be redeemed

[14] However, behold — days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when it will no longer be said, 'As HASHEM lives, Who took out the Children of Israel from the land of Egypt,' [15] but rather, 'As HASHEM lives, Who took out the Children of Israel from the land of the North and from all the lands where He had scattered them'; and I shall return them to their land, which I gave to their forefathers.*

Further rebuke

[16] Behold, I shall send many fishermen — the word of HASHEM — and they will fish them out, and afterwards I shall send many trappers and they will trap them from atop every mountain and every hill and from the crevices in the rocks. [17] For My eyes are upon all their ways; they are not hidden from before Me, and their sin is not concealed from before My eyes. [18] I shall repay them first for the repetition of their [forefathers'] sin and transgression, for having desecrated My land; with their disgusting abominations and their detestations they have filled up My heritage."*

[19] HASHEM, my Strength, my Stronghold and my Refuge on the day of distress! To You nations will come from the ends of the earth and say: "It was all falsehood that our ancestors inherited, futility that has no purpose. [20] Can a man make gods for himself? — they are not gods!"

[21] Therefore, behold, I inform them at this time, I shall let them know of My hand and My strength; and they shall know that My Name is HASHEM!

The cursedness of idolatry

[1] The sin of Judah is inscribed with an iron pen, with a hard metal fingernail; etched onto the tablet of their heart and into the corners of your altars. [2] As they remember their children, [so they remember] their altars and their Asherah-trees, beside leafy trees and upon lofty hills. [3] O [idolaters] on mountains in the field: Your wealth, all your treasures, shall I make into booty, because of your high places [made] in sin throughout your boundaries. [4] You will be forced to withdraw from your heritage that I have given you, and I will enslave you to your enemies in a land that you knew not; for you have ignited a fire in My wrath, and it will burn forever.

[5] Thus said HASHEM: Accursed is the man who trusts in people and makes flesh [and blood] his strength and turns his heart away from HASHEM. [6] He will be like a lone tree in the desert, and will not see when goodness comes; it dwells in parched lands in the wilderness, in an salty, uninhabited land.

The blessedness of faith in God

[7] Blessed is the man who trusts in HASHEM, then HASHEM will be his security. [8] He will be like a tree planted near water, which spreads out its roots along a brook and does not see when heat comes, whose foliage is ever fresh; it will not worry in a year of drought and will not stop producing fruit. [9] The heart is the most deceitful of all, and it is fragile — who can know it? [10] I, HASHEM, plumb the feelings and test the innermost thoughts, to give to man according to his ways, the fruit of his deeds.*

*[11] [Like] a partridge summoning together [chicks] it did not bear, so is one who amasses wealth unjustly; in the middle of his days it will leave him, and at his end he will be considered a scoundrel.

[12] Like the Throne of Glory, primevally exalted, is the place of our Sanctuary. [13] O HASHEM, Hope of Israel! May all who forsake You be ashamed; may those who turn aside from my [teachings] be inscribed [for burial] in the earth; for they have forsaken HASHEM, the Source of fresh water.*

17:16. I did not seek to be a prophet, and I asked You (1:6) not to select me (Radak). Although the people accuse me of hating them, You know that I appealed to You on their behalf (Rashi).

Jeremiah prays for an end to his torment

14 Heal me, HASHEM, and I will be healed; save me, and I will be saved; for You are my praise. 15 Behold, they say to me, "Where is the word of HASHEM? Let it come true!" 16 I was not anxious to become a shepherd for You and I did not lust for a day of distress; You know [this]! The words of my lips were directed to Your presence. * 17 May You not cause me dismay, for You are my shelter on a day of evil. 18 Let my pursuers be shamed, and let me not be shamed; let them be dismayed, but let me not be dismayed; bring upon them a day of evil and devastate them with double disaster.

19 Thus said HASHEM to me: "Go and stand in the Gate of the Children of the People, through which the kings of Judah enter and through which they exit, and in all the gates of Jerusalem. 20 Say to them:

Castigate the desecrators of the Sabbath!

Hear the word of HASHEM, O kings of Judah and all of Judah and all inhabitants of Jerusalem who enter through these gates: 21 Thus said HASHEM: 'Beware for your souls; do not carry a burden on the Sabbath day to bring it into the gates of Jerusalem. 22 And do not bring a burden out from your houses on the Sabbath day; you shall not do any [manner of] work.
Sanctify the Sabbath day as I commanded your forefathers.' 23 But they did not listen and did not incline their ear; they stiffened their neck, in order not to hear and in order not to accept rebuke. 24 And it shall be that if you truly listen to Me — the word of HASHEM — not to bring a burden into the gates of this city on the Sabbath day, and to sanctify the Sabbath day, not to do any [manner of] work on it, 25 then, kings and princes who sit upon the throne of David will enter the gates of this city, riding chariots and horses — they and their officers, the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem — and this city will be inhabited forever; 26 and [people] will come from the cities of Judah and from the environs of Jerusalem, from the land of Benjamin, from the lowland, from the mountain, and from the South, bringing burnt-offerings, peace-offerings, meal-offerings and frankincense, and bringing thanksgiving-offerings to the Temple of HASHEM. 27 But if you do not listen to Me, to sanctify the Sabbath Day and not to carry a burden and enter the gates of Jerusalem on the Sabbath day, then I shall set a fire to its gates, which will consume the palaces of Jerusalem and not be extinguished."

18 1 The word which came to Jeremiah from HASHEM, saying: 2 "Arise and go down to the potter's shop, and there I will let you hear My words." 3 So I went down to a potter's shop, and behold, he was working on the [potter's] wheels.
4 The vessel that he was making of the clay became ruined in the potter's hand, so he began again and made it into a different vessel, to do as was fitting in the eyes of the potter.

The parable of the potter

5 The word of HASHEM then came to me, saying: 6 "Can I not do to you, O House of Israel, what this potter does? — the word of HASHEM. Behold, just as clay is in the hand of the potter, so are you in My hand, O House of Israel. 7 One moment
I may speak concerning a nation or a kingdom, to destroy, demolish or annihilate
[it], 8 but if that nation repents of its evil deed of which I had spoken, then I relent of the evil [decree] that I had planned to carry out against it. 9 Or, one moment I may speak concerning a nation or a kingdom, to build and establish [it], 10 but if they do what is wrong in My eyes, not heeding My voice, then I relent of the goodness that I had said to bestow upon it. 11 So now, please say to the people of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem saying:

18:13. God says that it is unprecedented that Israel should reject Him. If any rational person will welcome much-needed water though it comes from a distant unknown source, surely Israel should revere God! The people's defection happened only because the evil ways of the false prophets (v. 15) deceived them and led them astray.

18:18. Jeremiah once again beseeches God to spare him from the machinations of his opponents, who say that they should use slander to remove him from a position of influence. No one will suffer from his absence, since there are many other people just as wise, but whose messages will be more popular.

19:2. Later known as the Dung Gate.

Thus said HASHEM: Behold, I am fashioning evil against you, and I am devising a plan against you. Repent now, each man from his evil way; improve your ways and your deeds. 12 But they will say, 'It is hopeless! For we shall follow our own ideas and each one of us will act according to the evil vision of his heart.'

The land will be desolate

13 *Therefore, thus said HASHEM: Inquire now of the nations whether anyone has heard such a thing; very often has the virgin of Israel done disgraceful things! 14 Does one decline melting snows of Lebanon that flow over the rocks in the fields? Are refreshing, cool, flowing waters rejected? 15 Yet My people have forgotten Me; they burn incense to the nothings. They have been made to stumble in their ways, eternal paths, to walk in byways, an untrodden road; 16 to cause their land to become a wasteland, an eternal whistling; every passerby will be astonished and shake his head. 17 Like an east wind, I shall scatter them before the enemy: the back of [My] neck, and not [My] face will I show them on the day of their calamity."

Hashem, protect me from adversity

18 They say, "Come and let us devise plans against Jeremiah, * for instruction will never be lost from the priest, nor advice from the wise man, nor prophecy from the prophet; come, let us assault him verbally, and let us not hear his many words." 19 Be attentive to me, HASHEM, and hear the voice of my adversaries! 20 Should good be repaid with evil? Yet they have dug a pit for my soul. Remember my standing before You to speak well of them, to turn Your anger away from them! 21 Therefore, give their sons over to hunger and fell them by the sword. Let their wives be bereaved [of children] and widowed; let their men be killed by a plague and their young men struck down by the sword in war. 22 Let a cry be heard from their houses when You bring a sudden troop upon them, for they have dug a pit to ensnare me, and concealed traps for my feet. 23 You, HASHEM, know all their counsel against me for death; do not pardon their sin and do not erase their transgression from before You. May they be caused to stumble before You. At the time of Your anger, act against them!

19 1 Thus said HASHEM: "Go, and buy a potter's earthenware bottle; and [take with you] some of the elders of the people and some of the elders of the Kohanim. 2 Then go out to the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, which is at the opening of the Potsherd Gate, * and proclaim there the words that I shall speak to you. 3 Say:

The parable of the earthenware bottle

Hear the word of HASHEM, O kings of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem! Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Behold, I am bringing such evil upon this place, that whoever hears of it, his ears will ring. 4 Because they forsook Me and estranged this place [from Me]; and they burned incense in it to the gods of other that they had not known — they and their forefathers and the kings of Judah; and they filled this place with the blood of innocent people; 5 and they built the high places of the Baal, [at which] to burn their sons in fire as burnt-offerings to the Baal, which I never commanded, nor spoke of, nor even considered in My heart. 6 Therefore, behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when this place will no longer be called Topheth and the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, but the Valley of the Killing. 7 In this place I shall make void the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem, and I shall make them fall by the sword before 19:12. Like Topheth, Jerusalem will be filled with corpses.

20:2. The jail was called Mahpechah (Rashi). Alternatively, the word means stocks or pillory (Radak).

20:3. Pashhur understood his name as a hybrid of פַּשׁ חוּר, great noble. But God considered it a contraction of פָּשַׁח מָגוֹר מִסָּבִיב, which means the same as מָגוֹר מִסָּבִיב, a multitude [of marauders gathered] roundabout (Rashi).

20:7. I did not wish to accept the mission of being a prophet, but You prevailed upon me to do so (see 1:4-10).

their enemies and at the hand of those who seek their lives; and I shall lay out their carcasses as food for the bird of the heavens and for the animal of the land. 8 I shall make this city a place of astonishment and whistling; anyone who passes it will be astonished and whistle over its calamities. 9 I shall feed them the flesh of their sons and the flesh of their daughters, and everyone will eat the flesh of his fellow, in the siege and in the misery that their enemies, and those who seek their lives, will suppress them with."

Break the bottle!

10 "Then break the bottle before the eyes of the men who go with you, 11 and say to them:

Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: So shall I shatter this people and this city, just as one breaks a potter's vessel, which cannot be fixed any more; and they will bury in Topheth until there is no [more] room to bury. 12 *Thus shall I do to this place — the word of HASHEM — and to its inhabitants; and I shall make this city like Topheth. 13 And the houses of Jerusalem and the houses of the kings of Judah — the contaminated ones — will be like the shrine of Topheth; all the houses upon whose rooftops they burnt incense to the entire host of the heavens, and poured libations to the gods of others."

14 Jeremiah then came from Topheth, where HASHEM had sent him to prophesy, and he stood in the courtyard of the Temple of HASHEM and said to all the people:

15 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Behold I am bringing upon this city — and upon all its [surrounding] cities — all the evil that I spoke concerning it, for they have stiffened their necks, not listening to My words.

Imprisoned, Jeremiah rails at his jailer

1 Pashhur son of Immer the Kohen, who was the chief official of the Temple of HASHEM, heard Jeremiah prophesying these words; 2 Pashhur struck Jeremiah the prophet and put him in the prison that was at the Upper Gate of Benjamin which was in the Temple of HASHEM.* 3 *It was on the next day; Pashhur released Jeremiah from the prison, and Jeremiah said to him, "HASHEM did not call your name Pashhur, rather, Magor-missabib. 4 For thus said HASHEM: Behold, I am delivering you to a [marauding] troop, you and all your loved ones, and they will fall by the sword of their enemies and your own eyes will see [it]; and I will deliver all of Judah into the hand of the king of Babylonia, who will exile [some] to Babylonia and strike down [others] by the sword. 5 And I shall deliver all the wealth of this city, all [the fruits of] its labor, and all its precious items; all the treasures of the kings of Judah I shall deliver into the hand of their enemies, and they will plunder them and take them away, and bring them to Babylonia. 6 And you, Pashhur, and all who dwell in your house, will go into captivity; you will come to Babylonia and there you will die and and there you will be buried, you and all your loved ones, to whom you prophesied falsehood."

Jeremiah complains of his role

7 You persuaded me, HASHEM, and I was persuaded; You were more forceful than I and You prevailed. I have become a laughingstock all day long, and everyone ridicules me. 8 Whenever I speak [to them], I shout; "Corruption! Robbery!" do I proclaim, for the word of HASHEM has become a source of shame and derision to me all day long. 9 Yet if I would say, "I will not mention Him and not speak in His Name any more" — [His word] would be like a burning fire in my heart, stored in my bones, and though I might struggle to contain it, I could not. 10 For I have heard the slander of the many, the multitude gathered roundabout, 20:10. Jeremiah's detractors would surround him, urging each other to denounce him to the government because of his unpopular prophecies (see 18:18).

20:12. See 11:20.

20:13. Certain that God will help him, Jeremiah thanks Him now.

20:15. How could Jeremiah curse a man who surely meant well? The Sages had a tradition that it was the wicked Pashhur son of Immer who had delivered the message of Jeremiah's birth to his father (Radak).

21:2. This variant spelling of Nebuchadnezzar appears only in the Books of Jeremiah and Ezekiel.

21:4. The Jews thought that their secret weapon was God, Who would surely help them — but they did not [saying,] "Tell it; let us tell about him!" All the men [that I thought were] at peace with me wait for me to become hobbled; [they say,] "Perhaps he can be enticed, so that we will be able to overcome him and take our revenge against him."* [11] But HASHEM is with me like a mighty hero, and therefore my pursuers stumble and cannot overcome [me]; they are exceedingly shamed for they did not succeed — with lasting disgrace that is not forgotten. [12] O HASHEM, Master of Legions, Who discerns the righteous one, for He sees innermost thoughts and feelings, may I see Your vengeance against them, for I have revealed my grievance to You.*

[13] *Sing unto HASHEM, praise HASHEM for He will have saved the life of the destitute from the hand of evildoers!

He cursed the day of his birth

[14] Cursed be the day on which I was born; may the day on which my mother bore me be not blessed; [15] *cursed be the man who brought the news to my father, saying, "A boy has been born to you," causing him to be gladdened. [16] May that man be like cities that HASHEM overturned without relenting; may he hear moaning in the morning and wailing at noontime — [17] because no one killed me in the womb, so that my mother would be my grave and her womb a place of eternal gestation. [18] Why is it that I left the womb, only to see distress and grief and have my days end in shame?

21 [1] The word that came to Jeremiah from HASHEM when King Zedekiah sent Pashhur son of Malchiah and Zephaniah son of Maaseiah the Kohen to him, saying, [2] "Please inquire of HASHEM on our behalf, for Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylonia, is making war against us; perhaps HASHEM will act toward us in accordance with all of His [past] wonders, and [the king] will withdraw from us."*

Zedekiah's plea

[3] Jeremiah replied to them: Say thus to Zedekiah: [4] "Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: Behold, I am turning about the weapons in your hands, with which you [presume to] fight the king of Babylonia and the Chaldeans who are besieging you from outside the wall, and I shall gather [the invader] into this city.* [5] And I Myself shall fight you with an outstretched hand and a strong arm, and with anger and wrath and great rage. [6] I shall strike down the inhabitants of this city — the people and the animals; they will all die in a great pestilence. [7] After this — the word of HASHEM — I will deliver Zedekiah, king of Judah, and his servants and the people and whoever in this city has survived the pestilence, the sword and the famine, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylonia, into the hand of their enemies and into the hand of those who seek their lives. He will strike them down by the edge of the sword; he will not take pity, he will not show compassion, and he will not have mercy."

The city is doomed

[8] And to this people, you shall say: "Thus said HASHEM: Behold, I place before you the path of life and the path of death: [9] *Whoever remains in this city will die by the sword or by famine or by pestilence; but whoever leaves and surrenders to the Chaldeans who are besieging you will live, and his life will be his spoils. [10] For I have directed My attention to this city, for evil and not for good — the word of HASHEM — and it shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylonia, and he will burn it down in fire."

Let the citizenry capitulate

O House of David, repent

[11] And to the house of the king of Judah [say]: "Hear the word of HASHEM: [12] O House of David, thus said HASHEM: Administer justice diligently and save the robbed from the hand of an oppressor, lest My anger rage forth like a fire, deserve His help. God told them that He would assist not them — but their enemies.

21:9. Those who surrender will be destitute, but they will be content to escape with their lives.

21:13. Jeremiah addresses the people of Jerusalem, which is surrounded by valleys and is itself on a mountain. Its topography and defenses made its people confident that they were safe from attack (Metzudos).

21:14. Forest is a metaphor for Jerusalem's main buildings, the Temple, or the towns that surround it like a forest.

22:6. Even if you were as magnificent and attractive as the lush and fertile Gilead and Lebanon, I will transform you into a desolate, arid desert because of your sins (Malbim). Alternatively: Gilead, known for its healing balm, and Lebanon, which means "whitener," are metaphors for the Temple which, through the service and worship performed there, cures and whitens the effects of sinfulness (see Rashi).

22:11. See I Chronicles 3:15. There is no other mention in Scripture of Shallum inheriting Josiah's it will burn, but there will be no one to extinguish it, due to the wickedness of your deeds.

13 "Behold, I am against you, O dweller [near] the valley, on the mountain of the plain — the word of HASHEM — [you] who say, 'Who can attack us? Who can enter our abodes?'* 14 *I shall repay you according to the fruits of your deeds — the word of HASHEM — and I shall set fire to its forest, * which will consume all around it."*

22 1 Thus said HASHEM: "Go down to the palace of the king of Judah and speak this matter there. 2 Say: Hear the word of HASHEM, O king of Judah, who sits upon the throne of David — you and your servants and your people who come through these gates. 3 Thus said HASHEM: Administer justice and righteousness, and save the robbed from the hand of the oppressor; do not taunt and do not cheat the stranger, the orphan and the widow; and do not spill innocent blood in this place. 4 For if you carry out this matter, then there will [continue to] come through the gates of this palace kings of [the line of] David sitting on his throne, riding chariot and horses — he and his servants and his people. 5 But if you do not heed these words, I swear by Myself — the word of HASHEM — that this palace will become a ruin.

Dire prophecy to Jehoiakim, king of Judah

6 "For thus said HASHEM concerning the palace of the king of Judah: [Even if] you are like Gilead to me, or the summit of Lebanon, I would transform you into a desert, like uninhabited cities. * 7 I would designate destroyers against you, each man with his implements, and they will cut down your choice cedars and fell them into the fire. 8 Many nations will pass by this city, and each man will say to his fellow, 'For what reason did HASHEM do this to this great city?' 9 And they will reply, 'It is because they forsook the covenant of HASHEM their God and prostrated themselves to the gods of others and worshiped them.'

10 "Do not weep for a dead man, and do not shake your head for him; weep rather for the one who went away, for he will never again return and see the land of his birthplace. 11 *For thus said HASHEM of Shallum son of Josiah, * who reigns in place of his father Josiah, who has left this place: He shall never again return there,* 12 for in the place where they exiled him, there he will die, and this land he will never again see.

A house of injustice

13 "Woe to him who builds his house without righteousness and his upper stories without justice; who works his fellow without payment, and does not give him his wages;* 14 who says, 'I shall build myself a house of large dimensions and spacious upper stories,' and he breaks open windows for himself, and it is paneled with cedar and painted with bright colors. 15 Shall you reign just because you flaunt your cedar? Behold, your father ate and drank, and practiced justice and righteousness — then it went well for him. * 16 If one does justice to the poor and destitute, then it is good; is this not 'knowing Me'? — the word of HASHEM. 17 But your eyes and heart focus on nothing but your profit, and upon innocent blood to shed, and to practice oppression and persecution. 18 Therefore, thus says HASHEM concerning Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah: They will not lament for him: 'Woe, my brother!' or 'Woe, sister!' They will not lament for him, 'Woe, throne. Therefore, the Sages (Horayos 11b) identify Shallum [lit., wholesome] as Zedekiah [lit., righteous of God] (Rashi). Alternatively, Shallum is Josiah's son Jehoiakim (see v. 18), or his grandson Jehoiachin (Coniah of v. 24). [See Appendix A, timeline 4.]

22:13. This begins a prophecy concerning King Jehoiakim, who is mentioned specifically in v. 18.

22:15. Josiah was successful because he was righteous.

22:20. This prophecy concerns King Jeconiah (see vv. 24-30), and is addressed to the royal house and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem. Their lovers, i.e., the nations they always relied on, Assyria and Egypt, had already been conquered by Babylonia.

22:24. Coniah is a derisive nickname for Jehoiakim's son Jeconiah (also known as Jehoiachin).

23:1. The kings of Judah are the shepherds; Israel is God's flock.

23:9. That is, because of the prophecies of doom that He has shown me (Rashi). Alternatively: Jeremiah castigates the liars and hypocritical leaders whose falsehoods have profaned and cheapened God's Name and His word among the people (Radak).

master!' or 'Woe, his majesty!' [19] With the burial of a donkey will he be buried — dragged and thrown beyond the gates of Jerusalem."

Foreign allies will not avail; Jeconiah will be exiled

[20] *Go up to Lebanon and cry out, in Bashan raise your voice; cry out from [all] sides, for all your paramours have been crushed. [21] I spoke to you while you were tranquil; you said, 'I will not listen.' This was your way since your youth — not to listen to My voice. [22] All your shepherds will be blasted by the wind, and your paramours will go into captivity; for then you will be embarrassed and ashamed because of all your wickedness. [23] You dwell in Lebanon, you have nested in the cedars; what will all this charm avail you when pains come to you, [like] the travail of childbirth? [24] As I live — the word of HASHEM — even if you, Coniah son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, would be a signet ring on My right hand, I would pull you off it.* [25] I will deliver you into the hand of those who seek your soul, into the hand of those you fear — into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylonia, and into the hand of the Chaldeans. [26] I shall cast you and your mother who bore you into an alien land where you were not born, and there you shall die. [27] And to the land, there to where their soul yearns to return — they shall not return there.

[28] Is this man Coniah a despised, shattered statue, or an unwanted vessel? Why have he and his descendants been displaced and thrown into a land they did not know? [29] O land, land, land! Hear the word of HASHEM! [30] Thus said HASHEM: Inscribe this man to become childless, a man who will not suceed in his life; for none of his descendants will ever succeed in being a man who sits on the throne of David, and ever to rule over Judah.

The wicked shepherd kings are castigated

[1] Woe to the shepherds who lose and scatter My sheep of pasture — the word of HASHEM.* [2] Therefore, thus said HASHEM, God of Israel, concerning the shepherds who tend My people: You scattered My sheep and dispersed them, and you did not pay attention to them; behold, therefore, I visit upon you the wickedness of your deeds — the word of HASHEM. [3] And I shall gather together the remnant of My sheep from all the lands wherein I had dispersed them, and I shall bring them back to their cotes, and they will be fruitful and multiply. [4] I will establish shepherds for them who will tend them, and they will no longer be afraid nor be terrified nor suffer losses — the word of HASHEM.

The righteous Messiah

[5] Behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when I will establish a righteous sprout from David; a king will reign and prosper and he will administer justice and righteousness in the land. [6] In his days Judah will be saved, and Israel will dwell securely. This is the name people will call him: HASHEM is our righteousness.

[7] Therefore, behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when people will no longer swear, 'As HASHEM lives, Who brought the Children of Israel up from the land of Egypt,' [8] but rather, 'As HASHEM lives, Who brought up and brought back the offspring of the House of Israel from the land of the North and from all the lands wherein He had dispersed them'; and they will dwell in their [own] land.

[9] *Because of the [false] prophets My heart is broken within me, all my bones tremble; I am like a drunken man, like a man overcome by wine — because of HASHEM and because of His holy words.

23:16. Jeremiah now addresses the populace, urging them to ignore the false prophets who mislead them.

23:20. You will fully appreciate the import of this prophecy only in the end of days, when it is realized.

The false prophets are castigated

10 For the land is full of adulterers; for due to [false] oaths the land has become desolate, and the pastures of the wilderness withered; their course is evil and their might is in untruth. 11 For even the prophet and the priest are insincere; even in My Temple I find their evil — the word of HASHEM.
12 Therefore, their way shall be for them like a slippery path in the dark; they will be pushed and fall on it; for I shall bring evil upon them, [it is] the year of their reckoning — the word of HASHEM.

13 I saw fraudulence in the prophets of Samaria; they prophesied by the Baal and misled My people Israel, 14 and I see disgrace among the prophets of Jerusalem, adultery and continuing falsehood; they encouraged the evil-doers so that they not repent, each man of his wickedness; they were all like Sodom to me, and [Jerusalem's] inhabitants were like Gemorrah. 15 There- fore, thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, concerning these prophets: Be- hold, I shall feed them wormwood and give them poisonous water to drink, for deceit has spread out over all the land from the prophets of Jerusalem.

16 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: * Pay no heed to the words of the prophets who prophesy to you; they are deluding you. They speak the vision of their own heart, not of the mouth of HASHEM. 17 They always tell those who anger Me, 'HASHEM has spoken: There will be peace for you'; and to all who follow the vision of his heart they say, 'No evil shall befall you.' 18 But which
[of them] was exposed to the mystery of HASHEM, who has seen or heard His word? Who obeyed His word and heeded it? 19 Behold, the storm of HASHEM:
A fury shall go forth; a tempest shall seek rest; it will rest upon the head of the wicked. 20 HASHEM*'s wrath will not recede until He has accomplished it* and upheld the plans of His heart. In the end of days you will have an understanding of it. * 21 I did not send those prophets, yet they ran; I did not speak to them, yet they prophesied. 22 If they were exposed to My mystery, let them proclaim My words to My people and bring them back from their evil way and from the wickedness of their deeds.

Can one hide from God?

23 Am I a God [only] from nearby — says HASHEM — and not a God from afar? 24 Can a man hide in concealments and that I not see him? — the word of HASHEM*! Do I not fill the heaven and the earth? — the word of* HASHEM.
25 I have heard what is said by the prophets who prophesy falsely in My Name, saying: 'I had a dream! I had a dream!' 26 How long! Is anything in the heart of the prophets who prophesy falsehood, the prophets of their heart's deceit, 27 who think to make My people forget My Name through their dreams that they tell to each other, just as their fathers forgot My Name through [worshiping] the Baal. 28 The prophet with a dream tells [his] dream, but the one with My word speaks My word of truth. How can the chaff compare to the kernel? — the word of HASHEM. 29 Behold, My word is like fire
— the word of HASHEM — and like a hammer that shatters a rock.

30 Therefore, behold I am [acting] against the prophets — the word of HASHEM — who steal My word, one from the other. 31 Behold, I am [acting] against the prophets — the word of HASHEM — who train their tongues and deliver an oration. 32 Behold, I am [acting] against those who prophesy with false dreams — says HASHEM — who tell them and mislead My people with their lies and with flippancy. I did not send them nor command them. They were of no benefit to this people — the word of HASHEM.

33 If this people — or a prophet or a priest — should ask you, saying, 'What

23:33. These people refer to Jeremiah's prophecy sarcastically and insolently as a burden and an annoyance.

23:36. Although true prophets, the men of His word, are indeed privileged to receive the burden of God's prophecy and consider it an honor, you have turned

Those who reject the true prophet are castigated is the burden of HASHEM?' Tell them, 'What is the burden? I shall reject you! — the word of HASHEM!'* [34] And any prophet or priest or one of the populace who says 'burden of HASHEM,' I shall deal with that person and with his household. [35] So shall you say to one another, and each man to his brother: 'What did HASHEM pronounce?' 'What did HASHEM speak?' [36] Never again mention 'burden of HASHEM,' for although a burden comes to a man of His word, you have perverted the words of the living God — HASHEM, Master of Legions, our God.* [37] Say thus to the [true] prophet: 'What did HASHEM pronounce to you?' 'What did HASHEM speak?' [38] And if you still say 'burden of HASHEM' — therefore, thus said HASHEM: Because you said this thing, 'burden of HASHEM!' — when I sent to you, saying, 'Do not say burden of HASHEM' — [39] therefore, behold, I am [acting], and I shall completely forget you, and I shall discard you and the city that I gave to you and to your fathers, from My presence. [40] And I shall place upon you an everlasting disgrace and everlasting humiliations, which will not be forgotten.

24 [1] HASHEM showed me [a vision] and behold, two baskets of figs were prepared before the Sanctuary of HASHEM — after Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia had exiled Jeconiah son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and the officers of Judah and the artisans and gatekeepers from Jerusalem, and brought them to Babylonia —* [2] one basket [contained] very good figs, like early-ripening figs, and one basket [contained] very bad figs, which were so bad they were inedible. [3] HASHEM said to me, "What do you see, Jeremiah?"

Vision of the good figs and the bad figs

And I said, "Figs. The good figs are very good, and the bad figs are so bad that they are inedible."

[4] The word of HASHEM then came to me, saying, [5] "Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: Like these good figs, so shall I recall the exile of Judah, whom I expelled from this place to the land of the Chaldeans, for goodness. [6] I shall set My eye upon them for goodness, and return them to this land, and I shall rebuild them and not destroy; I shall replant them and not uproot. [7] And I shall grant them the heart to know Me, that I am HASHEM, and they will be a people unto Me, and I shall be a God for them; for they will return to Me with all their heart.* [8] And like the bad figs, which are so bad that they are inedible — thus said HASHEM: So shall I give over Zedekiah king of Judah and his officers and the remnant of Jerusalem who remain in this land and who dwell in the land of Egypt, [9] I shall give them over to all the kingdoms of the earth for horror and for evil, and they will be a [paradigm of] shame and a parable and a lesson and a curse, in all the places to which I will disperse them. [10] And I shall send after them the sword and famine and pestilence until they are annihilated from upon the land which I gave them and their forefathers."

25 [1] The word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, which was the first year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia, [2] that Jeremiah the prophet spoke to all the people of Judah and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying: [3] "From the thirteenth year of Josiah son of Amon, king of Judah, until this day — this was twenty-three years — the word of HASHEM has been coming to me, and I have spoken to you, speaking from early [morning], but you have not listened. [4] HASHEM has sent you all His servants the prophets, sending them from early [morning] — but you did not listen, and you did not incline your ear to hear — [5] saying, 'Repent now, each man from his evil way and from the wickedness of your deeds, so that you may remain on the land that HASHEM gave you and your fathers for ever and ever. [6] Do not follow the gods of others, worshiping them and prostrating yourselves to them, and do not anger Me with your handiwork, so that I not bring evil upon you.' [7] But you did not listen to Me — the word of HASHEM — in order to anger Me with your handiwork, to your own harm."

The Babylonian king is coming

[8] Therefore, thus says HASHEM, Master of Legions: Because you have not heeded My words, [9] behold I am sending and will take all the families of the North — the word of HASHEM — and [am sending] to Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia, My servant; and I shall bring them upon this land and upon its inhabitants and upon all these surrounding nations, and I shall destroy them and make them places of desolation and whistling and eternal ruins.* [10] *I shall eliminate from them the sound of joy and the sound of gladness, the sound of the groom and the sound of the bride, the sound of the mill and the light of the candle. [11] This entire land shall be a ruin and desolation, and these nations will serve the king of Babylonia for seventy years. [12] Then, upon the completion of seventy years, I shall make an account of their sin for the king of Babylonia and for that nation — the word of HASHEM — and for the land of the Chaldeans; and I shall make it into eternal desolations. [13] And I shall bring upon that land all My words that I have spoken concerning it, all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah prophesied concerning all the nations. [14] For many nations and great kings will enslave [Babylonia] also; I shall repay them according to their action and according to their handiwork.

Seventy-year exile (See Appendix A, timeline 5)

The cup of wrath

[15] For thus said HASHEM, God of Israel, to me: "Take this cup of the wine of wrath from My hand, and make all the nations to whom I shall send you drink from it.* [16] They will drink and they will quiver and become deranged, because of the sword that I am sending among them." [17] So I took the cup from the hand of HASHEM, and I made all the nations whom HASHEM had sent me drink from it — [18] Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, along with its kings and its officers — to turn them into places of ruin and of desolation, of whistling and of curse, as it is this very day; [19] and to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and his servants and his officers and all his people, [20] and all his allies; all the kings of the land of Uz; all the kings of the land of the Philistines: Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod; [21] Edom, Moab and the Children of Ammon; [22] all the kings of Tyre and all the kings of Sidon; the kings of the island that is on the other side of the sea; [23] Dedan, Tema and Buz and all the inhabitants of the remotest areas; [24] all the kings of Arabia and all the kings of the allies, who dwell in the desert; [25] all the kings of Zimri and all the kings of Elam and all the kings of Medea; [26] and all the kings of the North, whether they are near or far from another, along with all the kingdoms of the land that are on the face of the earth; and the king of Sheshach will drink after them.*

25:9. Nebuchadnezzar was God's servant in the sense that he would carry out God's decree against Israel.

25:10. So complete will the desolation be that even everyday sights and sounds will be discontinued.

25:15. A metaphor for dire prophecy.

25:26. Sheshach is another name for Babylonia.

25:30. Grape tramplers would chant "Hedad!" to urge each other on in their arduous task. Similarly, God will summon the nations to come and destroy the Temple (Radak).

25:38. Just as a young lion leaves the den of his birth when it can no longer provide him with sufficient food, so God leaves His Temple because it has been emptied of its spirituality.

26:6. The Tabernacle at Shiloh was destroyed by the Philistines (I Samuel 4:10-11).

27 "You shall say unto them:

Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Drink, become intoxicated and vomit; fall down and do not rise up again — because of the sword that I am sending against you.

28 "And it shall be if they refuse to take the cup from your hand to drink, that you shall say to them:

Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: You will surely drink! 29 For behold, even in the city upon which My Name is proclaimed I have begun to bring evil — will you be exonerated? You will not be exonerated, for I am summoning the sword against all the inhabitants of the land — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions.

30 "So you, prophesy to them all these words, and say to them:

HASHEM roars from on high and sends out His voice from His holy Abode; He is roaring over His Lodging, He shouts 'Hedad' — like those who trample the grapes at the winepress* — to all the inhabitants of the land. 31 The commotion reaches the end of the world, for HASHEM is contending with the nations, He is passing judgment on all flesh; He has delivered the wicked to the sword — the word of HASHEM.

Babylonia will dominate the entire world

32 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Behold, evil is going out from nation to nation, and a great storm will be aroused from the edges of the earth. 33 The slain of HASHEM on that day will cover from one end of the land to the other; they will not be eulogized nor gathered nor buried; they will remain like dung on the face of the earth. 34 Wail, O shepherds, and shout! Wallow in the dirt, O leaders of the flock! For your days before slaughter are completed, and your dispersions, and you will fall [and shatter] like a precious vessel. 35 Flight will be foreclosed from the shepherds, and escape from the leaders of the flock. 36 The sound of the shepherds' outcry and the wailing of the leaders of the flock — for HASHEM is plundering their pasture! 37 The peaceful cottages shall be destroyed before the burning wrath of HASHEM. 38 Like a young lion, [God] has forsaken His Tabernacle,* for their land has become a desolation, because of the oppressor's anger, and because of His burning wrath.

26 1 In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came from HASHEM, saying:

Prophecy in the Temple Courtyard

2 Thus said HASHEM: "Stand in the Courtyard of the Temple of HASHEM and speak to all the cities of Judah who come to prostrate themselves in the Temple of HASHEM all the words that I shall command you to speak to them; do not omit a word. 3 Perhaps they will listen and repent, each man from his evil way, then I will relent of the evil that I am planning to do to them because of the wickedness of their deeds. 4 Say to them:

Thus said HASHEM: If you do not listen to Me, to follow My Torah that I have placed before you, 5 to listen to the words of My servants the prophets whom I send to you, sending them from early [morning] — but you did not listen! 6 So I shall make this Temple like Shiloh,* and I will make this city [the epitome of] a curse for all the nations of the land."

7 The priests and the [false] prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the Temple of HASHEM. 8 It happened that as Jeremiah finished speaking everything that HASHEM had commanded him to speak to all the people, 26:10. When Jehoiachin was exiled by Nebuchadnezzar, his troops broke down the East Gate. When Zedekiah subsequently rebuilt it, he called it the New Gate (Rashi).

26:18. Micah 3:12.
26:20-23. The false prophets and priests respond to the priests and the prophets and all the people seized him, saying, "You shall die! 9 Why have you prophesied in the Name of HASHEM, saying, 'This Temple will be like Shiloh, and this city will be destroyed, without an inhabitant'?" And all the people congregated around Jeremiah in the Temple of HASHEM.

10 The ministers of Judah heard these things and they went up from the king's palace to the Temple of HASHEM, and they sat at the entrance of the New Gate [of the Temple] of HASHEM. 11 The priests and the prophets said to the officers and to all the people, saying, "A death judgment should be upon this man, for he has prophesied against this city as you have heard with your own ears."*

12 Jeremiah said to all the ministers and all the people, saying, "HASHEM has sent me to prophesy about this Temple and about this city all the things that you have heard. 13 So now, correct your ways and your deeds and heed the voice of HASHEM your God, and HASHEM will relent of the evil that He has spoken about you. 14 As for me, here I am in your hand; do to me whatever is right and proper in your eyes! 15 But you must surely know that if you put me to death you will be putting innocent blood upon yourselves and upon this city and upon all its inhabitants, for in truth HASHEM sent me to you to speak all these things in your ears."

The people defend Jeremiah

16 The ministers and all the people then said to the priests and to the prophets, "This man does not deserve death judgment, for he has spoken to us in the Name of HASHEM our God!"

17 Then some of the elders of the land arose and said to the entire congregation of the people, 18 "Micah the Morashtite used to prophesy in the days of Hezekiah, king of Judah, and he said to all the people of Judah: 'Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Zion will be plowed over like a field; Jerusalem will become ruins and the Temple Mount will become like heaps [of rubble] in the forest.' 19 Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all of Judah put him to death? Behold, he feared HASHEM and supplicated before HASHEM, and HASHEM relented of the evil that He had spoken concerning them! So we would be bringing great evil upon ourselves [if we would kill Jeremiah].*

But what about Uriah?

20 "Now there was another man who prophesied in the Name of HASHEM — Uriah son of Shemaiah of Kiryath-jearim. He prophesied concerning this city and concerning this land exactly like all the words of Jeremiah. 21 When King Jehoiakim and all his soldiers and all the officers heard his words, the king attempted to have him killed; Uriah heard and became afraid and fled, going to Egypt. 22 King Jehoiakim sent men to Egypt — he sent Elnathan son of Achbor and some men with him to Egypt. 23 They removed Uriah from Egypt and brought him to King Jehoiakim, who struck him down by the sword and threw his body into the graves of the common people."*

24 However, the power of Ahikam son of Shaphan was with Jeremiah, not to deliver him into the hand of the people to kill him.

27 1 In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from HASHEM, saying:*
