מֶלֶךְ אָסוּר בָּרְהָטִים — your King is bound in Naziritic tresses [lit., a king bound in tresses]. The crown of the King (God) is associated with the Nazirite's hair (see Numbers 6:7).

7:7. מַה יָּפִית וּמַה נָּעַמְתְּ אַהֲבָה בַּתַּעֲנוּגִים — How beautiful and pleasant are you, befitting the pleasures of spiritual love [lit., How beautiful you are, and how pleasant, love in delights]. The nations now praise Israel's lofty spiritual ideals.

7:8. זֹאת קוֹמָתֵךְ דָּמְתָה לְתָמָר — Such is your stature, likened to a towering palm tree [lit., This is your stature, like unto a palm tree]. We witnessed your lovely stature in the days of Nebuchadnezzar, when all the nations bowed down to the statue (see Daniel Ch. 3).

וְשָׁדַיִךְ לְאַשְׁכֹּלוֹת — from your teachers flow sustenance like wine-filled clusters [lit., and your breasts are like clusters]. "Your breasts," your sources of spiritual nourishment, i.e., Daniel and his companions Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, nurtured everyone with the knowledge that there is no fear of God like yours.

7:9. אָמַרְתִּי אֶעֱלֶה בְתָמָר — I boast on High that your deeds cause Me to ascend on your palm tree [lit., I said: I will of nobles. The rounded shafts for your libations' abysslike trenches, handiwork of the Master Craftsman. [3] At earth's very center your Sanhedrin site is a crescent basin of ceaseless, flowing teaching; your national center an indispensable heap of nourishing knowledge hedged about with roses. [4] Your twin sustainers, the Tablets of the Law, are like two fawns, twins of the gazelle. [5] Your Altar and Temple, erect and stately as an ivory tower; your wise men aflow with springs of complex wisdom at the gate of the many-peopled city; your face, like the tower of Lebanon, looks to your future boundary as far as Damascus.

[6] The Godly name on your head is as mighty as Carmel; your crowning braid is royal purple, your King is bound in Naziritic tresses. [7] How beautiful and pleasant are you, befitting the pleasures of spiritual love. [8] Such is your stature, likened to a towering palm tree, from your teachers flow sustenance like wine-filled clusters.

God to Israel [9] I boast on High that your deeds cause Me to ascend on your palm tree, I grasp onto your branches. I beg now your teachers that they may remain like clusters of grapes from which flow strength to your weakest ones, and the fragrance of your countenance like apples, [10] and may your utterance be like finest wine.

Israel to God. . . I shall heed Your plea to uphold my faith before my Beloved in love so upright and honest that my slumbering fathers will move their lips in approval.

ascend in the palm tree]. I boast about you among the Celestial Hosts, that I am elevated through your actions on earth.

אֹחֲזָה בְּסַנְסִנָּיו — I grasp onto your branches [lit., I will take hold of its branches]. I cleave to the branches, i.e., the children, of this palm tree, Israel.

וְיִהְיוּ נָא שָׁדַיִךְ כְּאֶשְׁכְּלוֹת הַגֶּפֶן וְרֵיחַ אַפֵּךְ כַּתַּפּוּחִים — I beg now your teachers that they may remain like clusters of grapes from which flow strength to your weakest ones, and the fragrance of your countenance like apples [lit., and let your breasts be like clusters of the vine, and the fragrance of your countenance like apples]. May the righteous and wise inspire the young to withstand the taunts of their heathen neighbors who wish to lead Israel astray.

7:10. וְחִכֵּךְ כְּיֵין הַטּוֹב — and may your utterance be like finest wine [lit., your palate is like choice wine]. May your response to the taunts of the heathens be as clear and potent as fine wine.

הוֹלֵךְ לְדוֹדִי לְמֵישָׁרִים — I shall heed Your plea to uphold my faith before my Beloved in love so upright and honest [lit., it goes to my Beloved in righteousness].

דוֹבֵב שִׂפְתֵי יְשֵׁנִים — that my slumbering fathers will move their lips in approval [lit., causing the lips of sleepers to speak]. My love is so intense that even my departed ancestors will rejoice in me and be thankful for their lot.

7:11. אֲנִי לְדוֹדִי וְעָלַי תְּשׁוּקָתוֹ — I am my Beloved's and He longs for my perfection [lit., I am my Beloved's and His longing is upon me].

7:12. לְכָה דוֹדִי נֵצֵא הַשָּׂדֶה — Come, my Beloved, let us go to the fields where Your children serve You in want [lit., Come, my Beloved, let us go forth into the field]. Do not judge me by the affluent people who indulge in robbery and immorality; come, let me show You scholars who study the Torah in poverty.

נָלִינָה בַּכְּפָרִים — there let us lodge with Esau's children who are blessed with plenty yet still deny [lit., let us lodge in the villages]. I will show You the children of Esau, upon whom You have bestowed much bounty, yet they do not believe in You.

7:13. נַשְׁכִּימָה לַכְּרָמִים — Let us wake at dawn in vineyards of prayer and study [lit., Let us rise early for the vineyards].

נִרְאֶה אִם פָּרְחָה הַגֶּפֶן פִּתַּח הַסְּמָדַר הֵנֵצוּ הָרִמּוֹנִים — Let us see if students of Writ have budded, if students of Oral Law have blossomed, if ripened scholars have bloomed [lit., Let us see if the vine has budded, if the blossom has opened, if the pomegranates are in bloom]. The stages of the ripening grape — budding, flowering, fruiting — symbolize the progress of the developing Torah scholars, from Scripture to Mishnah to Talmud.

שָׁם אֶתֵּן אֶת דֹּדַי לָךְ — there I will display my finest products to You [lit., there I will give my love to You]. I will show You my glory and my greatness, my sons and my daughters.

7:14. הַדּוּדָאִים נָתְנוּ רֵיחַ — All my baskets, good and bad, emit a fragrance [lit., The baskets yield fragrance]. "Good figs" are an allusion to the righteous; "bad figs," to the wicked. In time, even the wicked will seek out God.

וְעַל פְּתָחֵינוּ כָּל מְגָדִים חֲדָשִׁים גַּם יְשָׁנִים — all at our doors have the precious fruits of comely deeds, both the Scribes' new ordinances and the Torah's timeless wisdom [lit., and at our door are all precious fruits, both new and old].

דּוֹדִי צָפַנְתִּי לָךְ — for You, O Beloved, has my heart stored them [lit., I have hidden for You, my Beloved]. Your commandments are in the depths of my heart.

8:1. מִי יִתֶּנְךָ כְּאָח לִי יוֹנֵק שְׁדֵי אִמִּי — If only, despite my wrongs, You could comfort me as Joseph did, like a brother nurtured at my mother's breast [lit., If only You were as a brother to me, who had nursed at my mother's breast!]. If only You would comfort me as Joseph comforted his brothers (see Genesis 50:21).

אֶמְצָאֲךָ בַחוּץ אֶשָּׁקְךָ גַּם לֹא יָבֻזּוּ לִי — if in the streets I found Your prophets I would kiss You and embrace You through them, nor could anyone despise me for it [lit., (when) I would find You in the street I would kiss You and no one would scorn me]. I would find Your prophets speaking in Your Name and I would embrace and kiss them.

8:2. אֲנַהֲגְךָ אֲבִיאֲךָ אֶל בֵּית אִמִּי תְּלַמְּדֵנִי — I would lead You, I would bring You to my mother's Temple for You to teach me as You did in Moses' Tent [lit., I would lead You, I would bring You to my mother's house that You should instruct me].

אַשְׁקְךָ מִיַּיִן הָרֶקַח מֵעֲסִיס רִמֹּנִי — to drink I would give You spiced libations, wines like pomegranate nectar [lit., I would give You spiced wine to drink, of the juice of my pomegranate].

8:3. שְׂמֹאלוֹ תַּחַת רֹאשִׁי וִימִינוֹ תְּחַבְּקֵנִי — Despite my laments in exile, His left hand supports my head and His right hand embraces me in support [lit., His left hand is under my head and His right arm embraces me].

8:4. הִשְׁבַּעְתִּי אֶתְכֶם בְּנוֹת יְרוּשָׁלִַם מַה תָּעִירוּ וּמַה תְּעֹרְרוּ אֶת הָאַהֲבָה עַד שֶׁתֶּחְפָּץ — I adjure you, O nations who are destined to ascend to Jerusalem, if you dare provoke God to hate me or disturb His love for me while He still desires it [lit., I have adjured you O daughters of Jerusalem: should you wake or rouse the love until it pleases]. Your efforts will be of no avail! (see 2:6-7).

8:5. מִי זֹאת עֹלָה מִן הַמִּדְבָּר מִתְרַפֶּקֶת עַל דּוֹדָהּ — How worthy she is ascending from the wilderness bearing Torah and His Presence, clinging to her Beloved! [lit., Who is she that rises up from the wilderness leaning upon her Beloved?]. Israel ascended from the desert bearing wonderful gifts from God; there she rose spiritually by cleaving to the Divine Presence.

תַּחַת הַתַּפּוּחַ עוֹרַרְתִּיךָ — Under Sinai suspended above me, there I roused Your love [lit., Under the apple tree I roused You]. Remember, how, beneath Mount Sinai, which was suspended over my head like an apple ["and they stood beneath the mountain" (Deuteronomy 4:11)], I manifested my love for You.

שָׁמָּה חִבְּלָתְךָ אִמֶּךָ שָׁמָּה חִבְּלָה יְלָדָתְךָ — there was Your people born; a mother to other nations, there she endured the travail of her birth [lit., there Your mother was in travail for You; she who bore You was in travail].

8:6. שִׂימֵנִי כַחוֹתָם עַל לִבֶּךָ כַּחוֹתָם עַל זְרוֹעֶךָ — For the sake of my love, place me like a seal on Your heart, like a seal to dedicate Your strength for me [lit., Set me as a seal upon Your heart, as a seal upon Your arm]. And because of that love, seal me upon Your heart so that You do not forget me.

כִּי עַזָּה כַמָּוֶת אַהֲבָה — for strong till the death is my love [lit., that love is strong as death].

קָשָׁה כִשְׁאוֹל קִנְאָה — though their zeal for vengeance is hard as the grave [lit., jealousy is hard as the grave], i.e., the unjust complaints, rivalries and jealousies that the nations provoked against me because of You.

רְשָׁפֶיהָ רִשְׁפֵּי אֵשׁ שַׁלְהֶבֶתְיָהּ — its flashes are flashes of fire, the flame of God. Its flashes are of a fierce fire emanating from the flames of Gehinnom.

Israel interjects

Under Sinai suspended above me, there I roused Your love, there was Your people born; a mother to other nations, there she endured the travail of her birth. 6 For the sake of my love, place me like a seal on Your heart, like a seal to dedicate Your strength for me, for strong till the death is my love; though their zeal for vengeance is hard as the grave, its flashes are flashes of fire, the flame of God. 7 Many waters of heathen tribulation cannot extinguish the fire of this love, nor rivers of royal seduction or torture wash it away.

God replies to Israel

Were any man to offer all the treasure of his home to entice you away from your love, they would scorn him to extreme.

The Heavenly Tribunal reflects

8 Israel desires to cleave to us, the small and humble one, but her time of spiritual maturity has not come. What shall we do for our cleaving one on the day the nations plot against her?

9 If her faith and belief are strong as a wall withstanding incursions from without, we shall become her fortress and beauty, building her city and Holy Temple;

heathen tribulation cannot extinguish the fire of this love [lit., Many waters cannot extinguish the love]. "Many waters" refers to the heathen nations (see Isaiah 17:12,13).

וּנְהָרוֹת לֹא יִשְׁטְפוּהָ — nor rivers of royal seduction or torture wash it away [lit., and rivers cannot drown it]. Their leaders and kings cannot drown it, neither by force, nor by terror, nor by seductive enticement.

אִם יִתֵּן אִישׁ אֶת כָּל הוֹן בֵּיתוֹ בָּאַהֲבָה בוֹז יָבוּזוּ לוֹ — Were any man to offer all the treasure of his home to entice you away from your love, they would scorn him to extreme [lit., If a man would give all the substance of his house in exchange for love, he would be laughed to scorn]. God and His Tribunal bear witness to Israel's love for her Beloved.

8:8. אָחוֹת לָנוּ קְטַנָּה — Israel desires to cleave to us, the small and humble one [lit., We have a little sister]. The words אָח, "brother," and אָחוֹת, "sister," are linguistically related to the verb אחה, "to join together." The Heavenly Tribunal said, "One small, humble nation longs to join with us."

וְשָׁדַיִם אֵין לָהּ — but her time of spiritual maturity has not come [lit., but she has no breasts]. She is not yet ripe for Redemption (see Ezekiel 16:7).

מַה נַּעֲשֶׂה לַאֲחוֹתֵנוּ בַּיּוֹם שֶׁיְּדֻבַּר בָּהּ — What shall we do for our cleaving one on the day the nations plot against her? [lit., What shall we do for our sister on the day she is spoken for?]. How will we treat her when she seeks our protection?

8:9. אִם חוֹמָה הִיא נִבְנֶה עָלֶיהָ טִירַת כָּסֶף — If her faith and belief are strong as a wall withstanding incursions from without, we shall become her fortress and beauty, building her city and Holy Temple [lit., If she be a wall, we will build upon her a turret of silver]. Our response depends upon how she conducts herself in exile: If Israel will gird herself with faith and act toward the nations as if fortified with impenetrable "walls of copper" (Jeremiah 1:18), i.e., if she will neither intermarry nor intermingle with them, then we will rebuild the Holy City and Temple.

וְאִם דֶּלֶת הִיא נָצוּר עָלֶיהָ לוּחַ אָרֶז — but if she wavers like a door, succumbing to every alien knock, with fragile cedar panels shall we then enclose her [lit., But if she be a door we will enclose her with cedar panel]. If she is open to all blandishments, like a door that always swings open, then we will line her doors with wooden panels that will rot, thus exposing her to danger.

8:10. אֲנִי חוֹמָה וְשָׁדַי כַּמִּגְדָּלוֹת — My faith is firm as a wall, and my nourishing synagogues and study halls are strong as towers! [lit., I am a wall, and my breasts are like towers!]. I comport myself like a wall, strong in the love of my Beloved. My synagogues and study halls nurture Israel with words of Torah; they "are like towers."

אָז הָיִיתִי בְעֵינָיו כְּמוֹצְאַת שָׁלוֹם — Then, having said so, I become in His eyes like a bride found perfect [lit., Then I am in His eyes like one who found peace].

8:11. כֶּרֶם הָיָה לִשְׁלֹמֹה בְּבַעַל הָמוֹן — Israel was the vineyard of Him to Whom peace belongs in populous Jerusalem [lit., Solomon had a vineyard in Baal-hamon]. "Solomon" refers to God (see 1:1); "vineyard" to Israel (see Isaiah 5:7); "Baal-hamon" [lit., "the owner of the multitude"] to Jerusalem, the greatly populated city.

נָתַן אֶת הַכֶּרֶם לַנֹּטְרִים — He gave His vineyard to harsh, cruel guardians [lit., He gave over the vineyard to guardians]. He handed over His people to harsh rulers: Babylon, Media, Greece and Rome.

אִישׁ יָבֵא בִּפְרִיוֹ אֶלֶף כָּסֶף — each one came to extort his fruit, even a thousand silver pieces [lit., everyone would bring for its fruit a thousand silver pieces]. The "guardians" would impose exorbitant levies and taxes to feed their lusts.

8:12. כַּרְמִי שֶׁלִּי לְפָנָי — The vineyard is Mine! Your iniquities are before Me! [lit., My vineyard, which is Mine, is before but if she wavers like a door, succumbing to every alien knock, with fragile cedar panels shall we then enclose her.

Israel replies proudly . . .

10 My faith is firm as a wall, and my nourishing synagogues and study halls are strong as towers! Then, having said so, I become in His eyes like a bride found perfect.

. . . and reminisces

11 Israel was the vineyard of Him to Whom peace belongs in populous Jerusalem. He gave His vineyard to harsh, cruel guardians; each one came to extort his fruit, even a thousand silver pieces.

God to the nations, on judgment day

12 The vineyard is Mine! Your iniquities are before Me!

The nations will reply

The thousand silver pieces are Yours, You to Whom peace belongs, and two hundred more to the Sages who guarded the fruit of Torah from our designs.

God to Israel

13 O My beloved, dwelling in far-flung gardens, your fellows, the angels, hearken to your voice of Torah and prayer. Let Me hear it, that they may then sanctify Me.

Israel to God

14 Flee, my Beloved, from our common exile and be like a gazelle or a young hart in Your swiftness to redeem and rest Your Presence among us on the fragrant Mount Moriah, site of Your Temple.

Me!] Although I transferred My vineyard to you, I am still the sole owner. All your injustices against Israel are before Me; nothing eludes Me.

הָאֶלֶף לְךָ שְׁלֹמֹה — The thousand silver pieces are Yours, You to Whom peace belongs [lit., You, Solomon, can have Your thousand]. Whatever we stole from them will all be returned to You.

וּמָאתַיִם לְנֹטְרִים אֶת פִּרְיוֹ — and two hundred more to the Sages who guarded the fruit of Torah from our designs [lit., and two hundred to the tenders of its fruit]. We will recompense Israel's leaders and Sages (see Isaiah 60:17).

8:13. הַיּוֹשֶׁבֶת בַּגַּנִּים חֲבֵרִים מַקְשִׁיבִים לְקוֹלֵךְ — O My beloved, dwelling in far-flung gardens, your fellows, the angels, hearken to your voice of Torah and prayer [lit., O you who dwell in the gardens, companions are attentive to your voice]. The angels listen to the prayers of Israel in the Diaspora, tending the gardens of others, and who dwell in the synagogues and study halls.

הַשְׁמִיעֵנִי — Let Me hear it, that they may then sanctify Me [lit., let Me hear it]. Let Me hear your voice, for after you are finished, the ministering angels will commence to sanctify Me.

8:14. בְּרַח דּוֹדִי — Flee, my Beloved, from our common exile [lit., Flee, my Beloved]. Flee away with us, O God Who has accompanied us throughout every exile! And let us leave this exile together.

וּדְמֵה לְךָ לִצְבִי אוֹ לְעֹפֶר הָאַיָּלִים — and be like a gazelle or a young hart in Your swiftness to redeem and rest Your Presence among us [lit., and be like a gazelle or a young hart]. Hasten the Redemption.

עַל הָרֵי בְשָׂמִים — on the fragrant Mount Moriah, site of Your Temple [lit., upon the mountains of spices], may it be rebuilt speedily in our days. Amen.

Ruth רות

The Book of Ruth relates the story of a Moabite woman who left her homeland and came to the Land of Israel as a convert to Judaism. There she lived in abject poverty, searching for food for herself and her widowed, elderly mother-in-law. Subsequently she became the wife of Boaz, which, according to the Talmudic tradition, was another name for Ibzan, one of the Judges of Israel. Ruth and Boaz were an unlikely match. She was a Moabite princess who had fallen from honor and wealth to contempt and poverty. He was the Judge, the leader of the Jewish nation, venerable, wealthy, and revered. Much more than a hostile border separated Ruth from Boaz. He was two generations her senior. In background they were even further apart. Yet the two came together under the most implausible circumstances, to become the forebears of the royal family of Israel. The Talmud calls Ruth the mother of royalty, because her progeny includes David, Solomon, and the future King Messiah.

There are various reasons why the Book of Ruth is read on the festival of Shavuos. One of them is instructive and inspiring in our everyday lives. No one had more right to feel that she was a failure than Ruth, scrounging in the fields for her next meal. Boaz could not have attached much significance to his attempts to make her life easier. But God viewed them differently; He attached such importance to their deeds that He incorporated them into the sacred Scriptures.

As the Midrash puts it, had Boaz only known that the Holy One, Blessed is He, would consider his generosity to Ruth important enough to inscribe in Scripture, he would have given her a sumptuous banquet meal of stuffed calves!

It is true that in times past, a person would perform a commandment and a prophet would inscribe it for eternity in Scripture, but now that the sacred Books are written and sealed, how will our worthy deeds be inscribed and remembered? The Midrash responds that the prophet Elijah inscribes them and the King Messiah and the Holy One, Blessed is He, affix their signatures to them, as it is written: "Then those who fear HASHEM spoke to one another, and HASHEM listened and heard" (Malachi 3:16).

What a remarkable and inspiring teaching! No deed is ignored. No act is forgotten. This is the lesson of the Book of Ruth. Just as God gave His Torah on Shavuos, so He wants us to know that the deeds of mortals can become part of His plan. Ruth's story of triumph over adversity remains a historic teaching of man's potential for greatness.

1:1. The Talmud identifies Boaz (see 2:1) as Ibzan (Judges 12:8-10) who succeeded Jephthah as Judge (Bava Basra 91a).

1:2.. Elimelech was very wealthy and did not want every impoverished person to knock at his door for help. For this he was punished (Rashi).

1:3. Naomi is mentioned here in conjunction with Elimelech's death, because the death of a man is felt by no one as keenly and as deeply as by his wife (Sanhedrin 22b).

1:8. That Naomi encouraged the young widows to return to their idolatrous families suggests that they had never converted to Judaism; otherwise, how could she have sent them to, in effect, renounce their Jewish faith? Indeed, according to Rabbi Meir, they had not converted (Ruth Rabbah 1:4).

According to Zohar Chadash, they did convert when they married the brothers. Such conversions, however, involved a degree of coercion, since the parents of the brides had arranged the marriages, and the women of that society would not be free to refuse. Therefore, it would be only future fidelity to Judaism that could prove the conversions to have been sincere. Orpah, by leaving Naomi, showed that her conversion had never been valid. Ruth, however, gave the most eloquent proof that she was a Jewess of the highest order.

1:13. Realizing that they wanted to go with her, Naomi

1 Famine [1] And it happened in the days when the judges judged, that there was a famine in the land, and a man went from Beth-lehem in Judah to sojourn in the fields of Moab, he, his wife, and his two sons.* [2] The name of the man was Elimelech, the name of his wife Naomi, and the name of his two sons Mahlon and Chilion, Ephrathites of Beth-lehem in Judah. They came to the field of Moab and there they remained.*

Untimely deaths [3] Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died; and she was left with her two sons.* [4] They married Moabite women, the name of the one was Orpah, and the name of the second Ruth, and they lived there about ten years. [5] The two of them, Mahlon and Chilion, also died; and the woman was left of her two children and of her husband.

[6] She then arose along with her daughters-in-law to return from the fields of Moab, for she had heard in the fields of Moab that HASHEM had remembered His people by giving them food. [7] She left the place where she had been, her two daughters-in-law with her, and they set out on the road to return to the land of Judah.

Three widows [8] Then Naomi said to her two daughters-in-law, "Go, return, each of you to her mother's house. May HASHEM deal kindly with you, as you have dealt kindly with the dead and with me!* [9] May HASHEM grant that you may find security, each in the home of her husband." She kissed them, and they raised their voice and wept. [10] And they said to her, "No, we will return with you to your people." [11] But Naomi said, "Turn back, my daughters. Why should you come with me? Have I more sons in my womb who could become husbands to you? [12] Turn back, my Dissuasion daughters, go, for I am too old to have a husband. Even if I were to say, 'There is hope for me!' and even if I were to have a husband tonight — and even bear sons — [13] *would you wait for them until they were grown up? Would you tie yourselves down for them, not to marry anyone else? No, my daughters! I am very embittered on account of you, for the hand of HASHEM has gone forth against me."

[14] *They raised their voice and wept again. Orpah kissed her mother-in-law, but Ruth clung to her. [15] So she said, "Look, your sister-in-law has returned to her Sincerity people and to her gods; return after your sister-in-law." [16] But Ruth said, "Do not urge me to leave you, to turn back from following you. For where you go, I will go; where you lodge, I will lodge; your people are my people, and your God is my God; [17] where you die, I will die, and there I will be buried. Thus may HASHEM do to me, and so may He do more, if anything but death separates me from you."

[18] *When she saw that she was determined to go with her, she stopped arguing with her, [19] and the two of them went on until they came to Beth-lehem.

Naomi returns; Beth-lehem is astounded And it came to pass, when they arrived in Beth-lehem, the entire city was tumultuous over them, and the women said, "Could this be Naomi?" [20] She said to them, "Do not call me Naomi [pleasant one], call me Mara [embittered one], for the Almighty has dealt very bitterly with me. [21] I was full when I went away, but HASHEM has brought me back empty. Why shall you call me Naomi; HASHEM has testified against me, the Almighty has brought misfortune upon me!"

[22] And so Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabite, her daughter-in-law, with her

said, "I cannot bear to see you suffer on my account, for you are sinless; it was for my sins that God has been punishing me."

1:14. In Ruth's clinging to her, Naomi felt a spirit of holiness (Alshich).

1:18. From this verse the Talmud (Yevamos 47b) deduces that a convert is neither to be overly persuaded to nor overly dissuaded from accepting Judaism (Rashi).

2:1. Boaz was the son of one of Elimelech's brothers (Rashi). Naomi did not ask him for support because she still felt shame at having deserted her people during the famine, while Boaz stayed on and supported them (Alshich).

2:5. When Boaz noticed her modesty, he inquired about her (Midrash).

2:17. The verse stresses "gleaned" because, although Boaz had ordered his harvesters to drop large amounts for her, Ruth limited herself to the "gleanings" she was entitled to by law [i.e., a maximum of two stalks at a time], and did not avail herself of Boaz' charity (Iggeres Shmuel).

— who returned from the fields of Moab. They came to Beth-lehem at the beginning of the barley harvest.

2 [1] Naomi had a relative through her husband, a man of substance, from the family of Elimelech; his name was Boaz. *

Boaz of Beth-lehem; cousin to Elimelech

[2] Ruth the Moabite said to Naomi, "Let me go out to the field and glean among the ears of grain behind someone in whose eyes I shall find favor."

She said to her, "Go, my daughter." [3] So she went. She came and gleaned in the field behind the harvesters, and her fate made her happen upon a parcel of land belonging to Boaz, who was of the family of Elimelech.

[4] Behold, Boaz arrived from Beth-lehem. He said to the harvesters, "HASHEM be with you!" And they answered him, "May HASHEM bless you!" [5] Boaz then said to his servant who was overseeing the harvesters, "To whom does that young woman belong?"* [6] The servant who was overseeing the harvesters replied, "She is a Moabite girl, the one who returned with Naomi from the fields of Moab; [7] and she had said, 'Please let me glean and gather among the sheaves behind the harvesters.' So she came, and has stood since the morning until now; [except for] her resting a little in the hut."

"Do not go to glean in another field!"

[8] Then Boaz said to Ruth, "Hear me well, my daughter. Do not go to glean in another field, and don't leave here, but stay close to my maidens. [9] Keep your eyes on the field which they are harvesting and follow after them. I have ordered the servants not to molest you. Should you become thirsty, go to the jugs and drink from that which the servants have drawn."

[10] Then she fell on her face, bowing down to the ground, and said to him, "Why have I found favor in your eyes that you should take special note of me though I am a foreigner?"

[11] Boaz replied and said to her, "I have been fully informed of all that you have done for your mother-in-law after the death of your husband — how you left your father and mother and the land of your birth and went to a people you had not known yesterday or earlier. [12] May HASHEM reward your deed, and may your payment be full from HASHEM, the God of Israel, under Whose wings you have come to seek refuge."

[13] Then she said, "May I continue to find favor in your eyes, my lord, because you have comforted me, and because you have spoken to the heart of your maidservant, though I am not even [as worthy] as one of your maidservants."

[14] At mealtime, Boaz said to her, "Come over here and partake of the bread, and dip your morsel in the vinegar." So she sat beside the harvesters. He handed her parched grain, and she ate and was satisfied, and had some left over.

[15] Then she got up to glean, and Boaz ordered his servants, saying, "Let her glean even among the sheaves; do not embarrass her. [16] And even deliberately pull out some for her from the heaps and leave them for her to glean; don't rebuke her."

Ruth returns to Naomi

[17] So she gleaned* in the field until evening, and she beat out what she had gleaned; it was about an ephah of barley. [18] She carried it and came to the city. Her mother-in-law saw what she had gleaned, and she took out and gave her what she had left over after eating her fill.

[19] "Where did you glean today?" her mother-in-law asked her. "Where did you work? May the one that took [such generous] notice of you be blessed." So she told her mother-in-law by whom she had worked, and said, "The name of the man by whom I worked today is Boaz."

3:4. The Sages understood Ruth's conduct as being fully for the sake of Heaven. Two women, Tamar and Ruth, sacrificed themselves for the sake of the tribe of Judah.

Naomi decided that the best course of action — however daring and unconventional — was for Ruth herself to approach Boaz under the most intimate circumstances and remind him of his responsibility to his uncle's family. (See 3:9.) Then, convinced of her sincerity, his compassion for her bitter plight might be evoked (R' Meir Zlotowitz).

3:5. אֵלַי, to me, is read but not written. Although the advice seemed improper to her, nevertheless, Ruth would obey because Naomi had given it (Akeidas Yitzchak).

Naomi's approval

20 Naomi said to her daughter-in-law, "Blessed is he to HASHEM, Who has not failed in His kindness to the living or to the dead! Naomi then said to her, "The man is closely related to us; he is one of our redeeming kinsmen."

21 And Ruth the Moabite said, "What's more, he even said to me, 'Stay close to my servants, until they have finished all my harvest.'" 22 Naomi said to her daughter-in-law Ruth, "It is fine, my daughter, that you go out with his maidens, so that you will not be annoyed in another field."

23 So she stayed close to Boaz' maidens to glean, until the end of the barley harvest and of the wheat harvest. Then she stayed [at home] with her mother-in-law.

Naomi's plan

1 Naomi, her mother-in-law, said to her, "My daughter, I must seek security for you, that it may go well with you. 2 Now, Boaz, our relative, with whose maidens you have been, will be winnowing barley tonight on the threshing floor. 3 Therefore, bathe and anoint yourself, don your finery, and go down to the threshing floor, but do not make yourself known to the man until he has finished eating and drinking. 4 *And when he lies down, note the place where he lies, and go over, uncover his feet, and lie down. He will tell you what you are to do." 5 She replied "All that you say to me I will do."*

6 So she went down to the threshing floor and did everything as her mother-in-law instructed her. 7 Boaz ate and drank and his heart was merry. He went to lie down at the end of the grain pile, and she came stealthily, uncovered his feet, and lay down. 8 In the middle of the night the man was startled, and turned about — and behold! there was a woman lying at his feet!

Conversation at midnight

9 *He said, "Who are you?" And she answered, "I am your handmaid, Ruth. Spread your robe over your handmaid, for you are a redeemer."

10 And he said, "You are blessed of HASHEM, my daughter; you have made your latest act of kindness greater than the first, in that you have not gone after the younger men, be they poor or rich. 11 And now, my daughter, do not fear; whatever you say, I will do for you; for all the men in the gate of my people know that you are a worthy woman. 12 *Now while it is true that I am a redeemer, there is also another redeemer closer than I. 13 Stay the night, then in the morning, if he will redeem you, fine! Let him redeem. But if he does not want to redeem you, then [I swear that] as HASHEM lives, I will redeem you! Lie down until the morning."

14 So she lay at his feet until the morning and she arose before one man could recognize another, for he said, "Let it not be known that the woman came to the threshing floor." 15 And he said, "Hold out the shawl that is upon you and grasp it." She held it, and he measured out six measures of barley, and set it on her; then he went to the city.

16 She came to her mother-in-law who said, "Who are you, my daughter?" So she told her all that the man had done for her, 17 and she said, "He gave me these six measures of barley for he said to me, 'Do not go empty-handed to your mother-in-law.'"

18 Then she said, "Sit [patiently], my daughter, until you know how the matter will turn out, for the man will not rest unless he settles the matter today."

3:9. "As a close relative, you are obligated to redeem the estate of my husband in accordance with Leviticus 25:25, otherwise Naomi will be forced to sell it." Ruth added, "Take me, too, so that the name of the deceased will be perpetuated on his property" (Rashi).

3:12. Boaz agreed, but said that the privilege of redemption should be offered first to Elimelech's brother, a closer relative (Rashi).

4:1. Literally, "Unnamed, anonymous one." Since he did not fulfill his familial duty by marrying Ruth, Scripture hides his name.

4:3. Ploni Almoni was a brother; Boaz, a nephew.

4:5. Delicately, Boaz implied that the redeemer should marry Ruth, to which he replied, "Mahlon and Chilion died only because they married Moabite women; shall I then go and take her?" (Midrash).

4:7-8. The transfer of a shoe [or, "glove" (Targum)] symbolizes and finalizes the legal transfer of ownership [קִנְיָן].

Boaz acts

1 Boaz, meanwhile, had gone up to the gate, and sat down there. Just then, the redeemer of whom Boaz had spoken passed by. He said, "Come over, sit down here, Ploni Almoni," and he came over and sat down.* 2 He then took ten men of the elders of the city, and said, "Sit here," and they sat down.

3 Then he said to the redeemer, "The parcel of land which belonged to our brother, Elimelech, is being offered for sale by Naomi who has returned from the fields of Moab.* 4 I resolved that I should inform you to this effect: Buy it in the presence of those sitting here and in the presence of the elders of my people. If you are willing to redeem, redeem! But if it will not be redeemed, tell me, that I may know; for there is no one else to redeem it but you, and I am after you." And he said, "I am willing to redeem."

5 Then Boaz said, "The day you buy the field from the hand of Naomi, you must also buy it from Ruth the Moabite, wife of the deceased, to perpetuate the name of the deceased on his inheritance."* 6 The redeemer said, "Then I cannot redeem it for myself, lest I imperil my own inheritance. Take over my redemption responsibility on yourself for I am unable to redeem."

The transaction

7 *Formerly this was done in Israel in cases of redemption and exchange transactions to validate any matter: One would draw off his shoe, and give it to the other. This was the process of ratification in Israel. 8 So when the redeemer said to Boaz, "Buy it for yourself," he drew off his shoe.

9 And Boaz said to the elders, and to all the people, "You are witness this day, that I have bought all that was Elimelech's and all that was Chilion's and Mahlon's from the hand of Naomi. 10 And, what is more, I have also acquired Ruth the Moabite, the wife of Mahlon, as my wife, to perpetuate the name of the deceased on his inheritance, that the name of the deceased not be cut off from among his brethren, and from the gate of his place. You are witnesses today."*

11 Then all the people who were at the gate, and the elders, said, "[We are] witnesses! May HASHEM make the woman who is coming into your house like Rachel and like Leah, both of whom built up the House of Israel. May you prosper in Ephrath and be famous in Beth-lehem; 12 and may your house be like the house of Perez whom Tamar bore to Judah, through the offspring which HASHEM will give you by this young woman."

Boaz takes Ruth

13 And so, Boaz took Ruth and she became his wife; and he came to her. HASHEM let her conceive, and she bore a son. 14 And the women said to Naomi, "Blessed is HASHEM who has not left you without a redeemer today! May his name be famous in Israel. 15 He will become your life-restorer, to sustain your old age; for your daughter-in-law, who loves you, has borne him, and she is better to you than seven sons."

16 Naomi took the child, and held it in her bosom, and she became his nurse. 17 The neighborhood women gave him a name, saying, "A son is born to Naomi." They named him Obed; he was the father of Jesse, the father of David.*

The lineage of King David

18 Now these are the generations of Perez: Perez begot Hezron; 19 and Hezron begot Ram, and Ram begot Amminadab; 20 and Amminadab begot Nahshon, and Nahshon begot Salmah; 21 and Salman begot Boaz, and Boaz begot Obed; 22 and Obed begot Jesse, and Jesse begot David.

4:10. Boaz mentions his marriage separately and does not include Ruth with his newly acquired land. A wife is not a piece of property, but a beloved partner in the sacred task of building a home (R' Meir Zlotowitz).

4:17. Naomi brought him up; hence he was called after Naomi's name (Sanhedrin 19b).

Lamentations אֵיכָה

Jeremiah was a young prophet to whom God assigned a heartbreaking task. He was to tell Israel over and over again that destruction and exile were impending. Warnings of destruction and pleas for repentance — these were Jeremiah's message, but to no avail. Prophets of doom are not popular, and no one was more unpopular than Jeremiah. His written prophecies were burned, he was accused as a false prophet and a charlatan, and finally he was thrown into a dungeon.

Someone else might have become consumed with hatred for the people that spurned and humiliated him, but not Jeremiah. At the orders of King Nebuchadnezzar, the conquering Babylonian general Nebuzaradan released Jeremiah and treated him graciously, but he was not comforted by his vindication or his freedom. Jeremiah sought his suffering brothers. He found their bloody footprints and weepingly knelt to kiss the bloodstained ground. When he caught up with their famished, brutalized ranks, he embraced and kissed them. He tried to put his own head into their heavy, abrasive chains, but Nebuzaradan forced him away.

To his brethren, he cried out, "If only you had wept once [in remorse over your sins] when you were still in Zion, you would not have been exiled!" Alas, they had not wept, but he did — before, during, and after his personal and national ordeals. The Book of Lamentations is Jeremiah's personal elegy, his lament for his people, and it alludes to Jewish woe throughout history.

The Book is read on Tishah B'Av, the ninth day of the Hebrew month of Av, the quintessential day of Jewish tragedy. It was the day when the Jews in the Wilderness believed the libel of the Spies, and that generation lost its chance to enter the Land of Israel. Among other national calamities, both Temples were destroyed on Tishah B'Av. Nor was the catalogue of woe limited to ancient times. During the time of the Spanish Inquisition, Tishah B'Av 1492 was the deadline for the Jews to leave the country or face death. And in 1914, Tishah B'Av was the day when World War I was declared, thus ushering in the political and economic collapse that resulted in the Bolshevik Revolution and the Holocaust.

The Sages teach that the Messiah will be born on Tishah B'Av, meaning that a proper understanding of and reflection upon the causes of destruction reveal that contained within it are the seeds of redemption. We do not forget our tragedies; rather we retain our optimism, because "Had I not fallen, I could not have arisen; had I not sat in the darkness, God would not have been a light for me" (Midrash Tehillim Ch. 22).

1:1. Jeremiah originally wrote the first, second and fourth chapters of Lamentations on a scroll that was subsequently burnt by Jehoiakim (see Jeremiah 36:23). When he rewrote the Book, he added the third and fifth chapters (Rashi; Moed Katan 26a).

The Talmud explains that Jeremiah wrote the verses of the first four chapters in alphabetical order because the Jews transgressed the Torah from alef to tav, i.e., from the first to the last letter of the alphabet (Sanhedrin 104b).

The Talmud stresses that Jerusalem was only like a widow, because her bereavement would be temporary. She is like a woman whose husband went to a foreign country, albeit with the intention of returning to her (Sanhedrin 104b).

1:2. The "night" alludes to the night of Tishah B'Av (the Ninth of Av), when the Jewish people wept upon hearing the slanderous report of the spies (Numbers 14:1). God said to Israel: "You have wept without cause; therefore I will appoint [this date as a time of] weeping for you in future generations" (Sanhedrin 104b).

The paramours are those nations that feigned friendship (Rashi), i.e., the neighboring countries — Egypt, Moab, Ammon — with whom Judah had hoped to form an alliance.

1:8. Jeremiah attributes all of the suffering described above to Divine retribution for Jerusalem's grievous sins.

1:10. When the Babylonian conquerors entered the Temple, Ammonites and Moabites entered among them. While the others ran to plunder the silver and gold, the Ammonites and Moabites ran to plunder the Torah itself to expurge the verse "An Ammonite or Moabite shall not enter the congregation of Hashem" (Deuteronomy 23:4; Midrash).

[1] א Alas — she sits in solitude!* The city that was great with people has become like a widow. * The greatest among nations, the princess among provinces, has become a tributary.

[2] ב She weeps bitterly in the night* and her tear is on her cheek. She has no comforter from all her paramours;* all her friends have betrayed her, they have become her enemies.

[3] ג Judah has gone into exile because of suffering and great servitude. She dwelled among the nations, but found no rest; all her pursuers overtook her in dire straits.

[4] ד The roads of Zion are mourning for lack of festival pilgrims. All her gates are desolate, her priests sigh; her maidens are afflicted and she herself is embittered.

[5] ה Her adversaries have become [her] master, her enemies are at ease, for HASHEM has afflicted her for her abundant transgressions. Her young children have gone into captivity before the enemy.

[6] ו Gone from the daughter of Zion is all her splendor. Her leaders were like harts that found no pasture; they walked on without strength before the pursuer.

[7] ז Jerusalem recalled the days of her suffering and sorrow, all the treasures that were hers in the days of old. With the fall of her people into the enemy's hand and none to help her, her enemies saw her and gloated at her downfall.

[8] ח Jerusalem sinned greatly, she has therefore become a wanderer. * All who once respected her disparage her, for they have seen her disgrace. She herself sighs and turns away.

[9] ט Her impurity is on her hems, she was heedless of her end. She has descended astonishingly, there is no one to comfort her. "See, O HASHEM, my suffering, for the enemy has acted prodigiously!"

[10] י The enemy spread out his hand on all her treasures; indeed, she saw nations invade her Sanctuary, [nations] about whom You had commanded that they should not enter Your congregation. *

[11] כ All her people are sighing, searching for bread. They traded with their enemies for food to restore the soul. "See, O HASHEM, and behold what a glutton I have become!"

[12] ל May it not befall you,* all who pass by this road. Behold and see, if there is any pain like my pain which befell me; which HASHEM has afflicted me on the day of His burning wrath.

[13] מ From on high He sent a fire into my bones, and it overcame them. He spread a net for my feet; He hurled me backward. He made me desolate; sick throughout the day.

[14] נ The burden of my transgressions was accumulated in His hand; they were knit together and thrust upon my neck; He sapped my strength. * The Lord has delivered me into the hands of those I cannot withstand.

[15] ס The Lord has trampled all my heroes in my midst; He proclaimed a set time against me to crush my young men. As in a winepress the Lord has trodden the maiden daughter of Judah.

[16] ע Over these do I weep; my eye continuously runs with water because a comforter to restore my soul is far from me. My children have become forlorn, because the enemy has prevailed.

1:12. Jerusalem addresses the nations of the world.

1:14. Instead of constantly doling out a punishment whenever Zion transgressed, God was patient. Metaphorically, He knit her accumulated transgressions together into a heavy garment that He thrust upon her neck, weighing her down and sapping her strength.

1:18. Zion acknowledges that God is righteous and justified in what He has done.

2:1. "Daughter of Zion" refers to Jerusalem's populace. "His footstool" is the Holy Temple (Rashi).

2:6. "His booth" is His Temple; "His place of assembly," the Holy of Holies; "king and Kohen" are Zedekiah — whose children were slaughtered in his presence, and who was then blinded, bound in chains and led off to Babylon — and Seraiah, who were killed by Nebuchadnezzar himself [see II Kings 25:16,18-21] (Rashi).

2:9. There is no one to provide religious instruction (Rashi).

17 פ Zion spreads out her hands; there is none to comfort her. HASHEM commanded against Jacob that his enemies should surround him; Jerusalem has become as one unclean in their midst.

18 צ *HASHEM is righteous, for I disobeyed His utterance. * Listen, now, all you peoples and see my pain: My maidens and my youths have gone into captivity.*

19 ק I called for my paramours but they deceived me. My priests and my elders perished in the city as they sought food for themselves to restore their souls.

20 ר See, HASHEM, for I am in distress; my innards burn! My heart is turned over inside me for I rebelled grievously. Outside the sword bereaved, inside was deathlike.

21 ש They heard how I sighed, there was none to comfort me. All my enemies heard of my plight and rejoiced, for it was You Who did it. O bring on the day You proclaimed and let them be like me!

22 ת Let all their wickedness come before You, and inflict them as You inflicted me for all my transgressions. For my groans are many, and my heart is sick.

1 א *Alas — the Lord in His anger has clouded the daughter of Zion. * He cast down from heaven to earth the glory of Israel. He did not remember His footstool* on the day of His wrath.*

2 ב The Lord consumed without pity all the dwellings of Jacob; in His anger He razed the fortresses of the daughter of Judah down to the ground; He profaned the kingdom and its leaders.

3 ג He cut down, in burning anger, all the dignity of Israel; He drew back His right hand in the presence of the enemy. He burned through Jacob like a flaming fire, consuming on all sides.

4 ד He bent His bow like an enemy; His right hand poised like a foe, He slew all who were pleasant to the eye. In the tent of the daughter of Zion He poured out His wrath like fire.

5 ה The Lord became like an enemy. He consumed Israel; He consumed all her citadels; He destroyed its fortresses. He increased within the daughter of Judah agony and grief.

6 ו *He stripped His booth like a garden, He destroyed His place of assembly. * HASHEM made Zion oblivious of festival and Sabbath, and in His fierce anger He spurned king and Kohen. **

7 ז The Lord rejected His Altar, abolished His Sanctuary; He handed over to the hand of the enemy the walls of her citadels. They raised a clamor in the Temple of HASHEM as though it were a festival.

8 ח HASHEM resolved to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion. He stretched out the line and did not draw back His hand from consuming. Indeed, He made rampart and wall mourn; together they languished.

9 ט Her gates have sunk into the earth, He has destroyed and broken her bars; her king and her officers are among the nations, there is no Torah; her prophets, too, find no vision from HASHEM.*

10 י They sit on the ground, they are silent, the elders of the daughter of Zion; they have strewn ashes on their heads, they have girded themselves in sackcloth. The maidens of Jerusalem have bowed their heads to the ground.

11 כ My eyes fail with tears, my innards burn; my liver spills on the ground at the ruination of the daugher of my people, while babes and sucklings swoon in the streets of the city.

12 ל They say to their mothers, "Where is grain and wine?" as they swoon

2:13. In times of trouble one finds comfort in hearing of others who experienced similar tribulations, but Israel's suffering is beyond comparison (Rashi).

2:15. People will show astonishment at the disaster that befell the once-glorious city.

2:16. In the aleph-beis, the letter ע precedes the letter פ; nevertheless, in the aleph-beis acrostic of Chapters 2,3 and 4, the פ precedes the ע. The Talmud explains this as an allusion to the spies (see 1:2), who placed their פֶּה, "mouth," before their עַיִן, "eye," by reporting things they had not actually seen (Sanhedrin 104b).

2:20. A reference to Zechariah son of Jehoiada the Kohen who prophesied against King Joash and was stoned to death in the Temple Courtyard (II Chronicles 24:20-22).

3:1. The initials of the verses of this chapter form a threefold alphabet.

In a personal statement, Jeremiah laments that of all the prophets who foretold the Destruction of the Temple, it was he who actually saw it (Rashi).

like a dying man in the streets of the town; as their soul ebbs away in their mothers' laps.

13 מ With what shall I bear witness for you? To what can I compare you, O daughter of Jerusalem? To what can I liken you that I may comfort you, O maiden daughter of Zion? — Your ruin is as vast as the sea; who can heal you?*

14 נ Your prophets envisioned for you vanity and foolishness, and they did not expose your iniquity to bring you back in repentance; they envisioned for you oracles of vanity and deception.

15 ס *All who pass along the way clap hands at you; they whistle and wag their head at the daughter of Jerusalem, "Could this be the city that was called Perfect in Beauty, Joy of All the Earth?"

16 פ* All your enemies opened their mouths wide at you; they whistle and gnash their teeth. They say, "We have devoured her! Indeed, this is the day we longed for; we have found it, we have seen it!"

17 ע HASHEM has done what He has planned; He carried out His decree which He ordained from days of old; He devastated, and did not pity. He let the enemy rejoice over you; He raised the pride of your foes.

18 צ Their heart cried out to the Lord. O wall of the daughter of Zion, shed tears like a river, day and night; give yourself no respite, do not let the apple of your eye be still.

19 ק Arise, cry out at night in the beginning of the watches! Pour out your heart like water in the presence of the Lord; lift up your hands to Him for the life of your young children, who swoon from hunger at every street corner.

20 ר See, O HASHEM, and behold whom You have treated so. Should women eat their own offspring, the babes of their care? Should Kohen and prophet be slain in the Sanctuary of the Lord?*

21 ש Out on the ground, in the streets they lie, young and old; my maidens and my young men have fallen by the sword. You slew them on the day of Your wrath; You slaughtered them; You showed no mercy.

22 ת You invited, as on a festival time, my evil neighbors round about. So that, at the day of HASHEM's wrath, there was no survivor or escapee. Those I cherished and brought up, my enemy has wiped out.

1 א I am the man who has seen affliction by the rod of His anger. 2 He has led me and driven me into darkness and not light. 3 Only against me did He turn His hand all day long.*

4 ב He has worn away my flesh and skin; He has broken my bones. 5 He has besieged me and encircled [me] with bitterness and travail. 6 He has placed me in darkness like the eternally dead.

7 ג He has walled me in so I cannot escape; He has weighted down my chain. 8 Though I would cry out and plead, He shut out my prayer. 9 He has walled up my roads with hewn stones; He distorted my paths.

10 ד He is a lurking bear to me, a lion in hiding. 11 He has strewn my paths with thorns and made me tread carefully; He made me desolate. 12 He bent his bow and set me up as a target for the arrow.

13 ה He shot into my vitals the arrows of His quiver. 14 I have become a laughingstock to all my people; object of their jibes all day long. 15 He filled me with bitterness, sated me with wormwood.

16 ו He ground my teeth on gravel, He made me cower in ashes. 17 My soul despaired of having peace, I have forgotten goodness. 18 And I said, "Lost is 3:22. Jeremiah's expression of faith and hope continues until verse 39.

3:23. Your kindnesses are renewed from day to day (Rashi).

3:26-27. Since it is certain that God will not neglect His people eternally, it is prudent to accept His yoke in quiet resignation and silent anticipation for His ultimate salvation.

3:37-42. One should never ascribe his suffering to chance. Rather than complain, everyone should investigate his own sins and repent.

3:46. See 2:16.

3:64-66. May God mete out retribution to Israel's enemies, in kind, for all their evil.

4:1. The "gold" figuratively refers to the people of Jerusalem. Its external appearance and brilliance has become dimmed, but its essence is still pure (Midrash; Rashi; Ibn Yachya).

This elegy is the one spoken of in II Chronicles 35:25, as Jeremiah's lament for King Josiah.

4:3. Although jackals are vicious, they are warm and kind to their young. Jeremiah laments how compassionate Jewish mothers consumed whatever food was available while letting their children go hungry (Rashi).

4:6. Since the punishment of Zion was greater than that of Sodom, its iniquity must have been greater as well (Rashi).

4:9. A swift death is preferable to the slow agony of famine (Alshich).

4:13. She became vulnerable to such calamity because of the sins of her false prophets (Rashi) and idolatrous priests (Targum).

4:16. See 2:16.

4:17. In the last days of the siege, nearly everyone still hoped that outside help would arrive. The advancing Egyptian army caused the Babylonians to retreat from Jerusalem, but the relief was only temporary. The Egyptians never came to save them, and the Babylonians returned (Jeremiah 37:5-11).

4:20. This refers to King Josiah, who was killed by Egyptian archers [see II Chronicles 35:23-25] (Taanis 22b; Rashi).

4:21. Sarcastically, Jeremiah tells the enemy, rejoice while you can, because you too will drink from the cup of punishment (Midrash Lekach Tov).

[1] א *Alas — the gold is dimmed! * The finest gold is changed! Sacred stones are scattered at the head of every street!*

[2] ב The precious children of Zion, who are comparable to fine gold — alas, they are now treated like earthen jugs, work of a potter.

[3] ג Even jackals will offer the breast and suckle their young; the daughter of my people has become cruel, like ostriches in the desert.*

[4] ד The tongue of the suckling cleaves to its palate for thirst; young children plead for bread, no one extends it to them.

[5] ה Those who feasted extravagantly lie desolate in the streets; those who were brought up in scarlet clothing embrace garbage heaps.

[6] ו The iniquity of the daughter of my people is greater than the sin of Sodom, which was overturned in a moment, though no [mortal] hands were laid on her. *

[7] ז Her crowned ones who were purer than snow, whiter than milk, whose complexion was ruddier than rubies, whose build was [solid like] sapphire,

[8] ח Their appearance has become blacker than soot, they are not recognized in the streets; their skin has shriveled on their bones, it became dry as wood.

[9] ט *More fortunate were those slain by the sword than those slain by famine, * for they pine away, stricken, lacking the fruits of the field.*

[10] י The hands of compassionate women have boiled their own children; they became their food in the ruination of the daughter of my people.

[11] כ HASHEM vented His fury, He poured out His burning anger; He kindled a fire in Zion which consumed its foundations.

[12] ל The kings of the earth did not believe, nor did any of the world's inhabitants, that the adversary or enemy could enter the gates of Jerusalem.

[13] מ *It was for the sins of her prophets, the iniquities of her priests, * who had shed in her midst the blood of the righteous.*

[14] נ The blind wandered through the streets, defiled with blood, so that none could touch their garments.

[15] ס "Away, unclean one!" people shouted at them; "Away! Away! Don't touch! For they are loathsome and wander about." The nations had said, "They will no longer sojourn [here]."

[16] פ* The anger of HASHEM has divided them, caring for them no longer; they showed no regard for the Kohanim nor did they favor the elders.

[17] ע Our eyes still strained in vain for our deliverance; in our expectations we watched for a nation that could not save. *

[18] צ They dogged our steps so we could not walk in our streets; our end drew near, our days are filled, for our end has come.

[19] ק Our pursuers were swifter than eagles of the sky; they chased us in the mountains, ambushed us in the desert.

[20] ר *The breath of our nostrils, HASHEM's anointed, * was caught in their traps; he, under whose protection, we had said, we would live among the nations.*

[21] ש Rejoice and exult, O daughter of Edom, who dwells in the land of Uz; to you, too, will the cup pass, you will become drunk and you will vomit. *

[22] ת Your iniquity is expiated, O daughter of Zion, He will not exile you again; He remembers your iniquity, daughter of Edom, He will uncover your sins.

It is customary, during the public readings of Lamentations, to repeat the penultimate verse. This is done to end the reading on a positive note. The same custom is also followed at the conclusion of Isaiah, Malachi and Ecclesiastes (Rashi).

Ecclesiastes קֹהֶלֶת

The Book of Ecclesiastes begins on a note of gloom: "Futility of futilities ... All is futile! What profit does man have for all his labor which he toils beneath the sun?" (1:2-3). The Sages of the Talmud were so troubled by this blanket condemnation that — even though the author of the Book was King Solomon — they doubted that it should be included in the sacred works of Scripture. What tipped the scales in favor of Ecclesiastes was its concluding verse: "The sum of the matter when all has been considered: Fear God and keep His commandments, for that is man's whole duty" (12:13). The climax of the Book, the Sages recognized, proved that the treatise — all of it — was intended to lead people to the ultimate goal of fearing and serving God (Shabbos 30b).

What then of its gloomy passages? The Talmud explains that man's striving is futile only if his goal is for success in matters that are under the sun, but if he strives to advance in Torah and affairs of the spirit — which preceded and surpass the sun — then his activities are hardly futile. The Book of Ecclesiastes teaches that man should not be deceived by the dazzling splendor that blinds so many people to what really matters in life. Rather, one must maintain one's sense of values and always recognize that man, as the only creature with a Godly soul, must aspire to higher goals.

Ramban sets forth three themes of Ecclesiastes: (1) Solomon, the very wealthy king who knew what opulence was, proclaimed that the pleasures and allures of this world are fleeting and valueless. (2) Spirituality is eternal; man must recognize that his health and prosperity should be used to enable him to better serve God. (3) We are faced with the troubling question of why good people suffer and bad people prosper. We can know the answer only when we know and understand all the elements upon which God bases His decisions. Such intelligence is beyond our capacity, so our incomplete knowledge cannot be used as a basis to doubt God's justice. That level of understanding will come only when the Messiah leads the world to its future state of perfection. Until then, our faith must remain strong.

Because Ecclesiastes focuses man's aspirations on what is truly important, it is read publicly during the Succos festival, the time of joy and the prosperity of the harvest season, when man's purpose can easily be swamped by the thrill of success.

1:1. The author of this Book was King Solomon, who was also called "Koheles," because of the wisdom שֶׁנִּקְהֲלָה בּוֹ, "which was assembled within him" (Ibn Ezra), or because שֶׁקִּיהֵל חָכְמוֹת הַרְבֵּה, "he assembled many branches of wisdom" (Rashi).

1:2. Something empty of substance, utterly futile.

1:5. This verse refers allegorically to the wicked. Although the "sun" of wicked people shines and they prosper, ultimately their "sun" will set (Rashi).

1:7. The elements are unable to break away from their monotonous course. Since there is no lasting value to toil in this world, why should man strive aimlessly for material gain? (Ibn Ezra).

1:8. If one gives up Torah study to engage in idle talk, visual indulgence or aural gratification, he will find them "wearying" and unsatisfying (Rashi).

1:9. Whatever we view as new has already been provided for in God's infinite wisdom. He created the resources, conditions and concepts for all discoveries and inventions until the end of time.

1 [1] The words of Koheles son of David, king in Jerusalem:*
[2] Futility of futilities!* — said Koheles — futility of futilities! All is futile!
[3] What profit does man have for all his labor which he toils beneath the sun?
[4] A generation goes and a generation comes, but the earth endures forever.
[5] And the sun rises and the sun sets* — then to its place it rushes; there it rises again. [6] It goes toward the south and veers toward the north; the wind goes round and round, and on its rounds the wind returns. [7] All the rivers flow into the sea, yet the sea is not full; to the place where the rivers flow, there they flow once more.*

[8] All words are wearying, one becomes speechless; the eye is never sated with seeing, nor the ear filled with hearing.* [9] Whatever has been is what will be, and whatever has been done is what will be done. There is nothing new beneath the sun!* [10] Sometimes there is something of which one says: "Look, this is new!" — it has already existed in the ages before us. [11] As there is no recollection of the former ones, so too, of the latter ones that are yet to be, there will be no recollection among those of a still later time.

[12] I, Koheles, was king over Israel in Jerusalem. [13] I applied my mind to seek and probe by wisdom all that happens beneath the sky — it is a sorry task that God has given to the sons of man with which to be concerned. [14] I have seen all the deeds done beneath the sun, and behold all is futile and a vexation of the spirit. [15] A twisted thing cannot be made straight;* and what is not there cannot be numbered.

[16] I said to myself: Here I have acquired great wisdom, more than any of my predecessors over Jerusalem, and my mind has had much experience with wisdom and knowledge. [17] I applied my mind to know wisdom and to know madness and folly. I perceived that this, too, is a vexation of the spirit. [18] For with much wisdom comes much grief, and he who increases knowledge increases pain.*

2 [1] I said to myself: Come, I will experiment with joy and enjoy pleasure. That, too, turned out to be futile.* [2] I said of laughter, "It is mad!" and of joy, "what does it accomplish!"

[3] I ventured to stimulate my body with wine — while my heart is involved with wisdom* — and to grasp folly, until I can discern which is best for mankind to do under the heavens during the brief span of their lives. [4] I acted in grand style:* I built myself houses, I planted vineyards; [5] I made for myself gardens and orchards and planted in them every kind of fruit tree; [6] I constructed pools from which to irrigate a grove of young trees; [7] I bought slaves — male and female — and I acquired stewards; I also owned more possessions, both cattle and sheep, than all of my predecessors in Jerusalem; [8] I amassed even silver and gold for myself, and the treasure of kings and the provinces; I provided myself

1:15. If one had illicit relations and begot a mamzer, the result of his sin lives on, unlike one who steals and can always return the stolen item. Alternatively, the verse refers to a sage who abandoned the Torah — from a good beginning he became crooked (Rashi).

1:18. Increased knowledge of the futility of strivings will only increase the wise man's pain at this realization (Metzudos).

2:1. Because much evil is caused by light-hearted frivolity (Rashi), this obsession with worldly pleasure is itself futility (Sforno).

2:3. Having found pure wisdom a source of pain [1:18] and merriment futile [2:1], he resolves to combine pleasure with wisdom (Ibn Ezra).

2:4-10. Solomon relates his experiment with self-indulgence, only to conclude that "it was all futile" (v. 11).

2:10. My only reward for all my endeavors was fleeting satisfaction (Ibn Ezra).

2:12. Since the king's personal experience qualifies him to evaluate the difference between wisdom and folly, there is no need for anyone to repeat the experiment.

2:13. Just as one can appreciate light only by comparison with darkness, so folly helps one cherish wisdom.

2:16. How can one even suggest that the deaths of the wise man and the fool are similar! [The former's fame lives on; the latter leaves nothing worth remembering.] (Metzudos, Alshich).

2:18-23. Koheles is further distressed because man's strenuously acquired wealth will go to heirs, whose prudence and wisdom are questionable.

with various musical instruments, and with every human luxury — chests and chests of them. 9 Thus, I grew and surpassed any of my predecessors in Jerusalem; still, my wisdom stayed with me. 10 *Whatever my eyes desired I did not deny them; I did not deprive myself of any kind of joy. Indeed, my heart drew joy from all my activities, and this was my reward for all my endeavors. 11 Then I looked at all the things that I had done and the energy I had expended in doing them; it was clear that it was all futile and a vexation of the spirit — and there is no real profit under the sun.

12 *Then I turned my attention to appraising wisdom with madness and folly — for what can man who comes after the king do? It has already been done. 13*And I perceived that wisdom excels folly as light excels darkness. 14*The wise man has his eyes in his head, whereas a fool walks in darkness. But I also realized that the same fate awaits them all.* 15 So I said to myself: The fate of the fool will befall me also; to what advantage, then, have I become wise? But I concluded that this, too, was futility, 16 *for there is no comparison between the remembrance of the wise man and of the fool at all, for as the succeeding days roll by, is all forgotten? How can the wise man die like the fool?

17 So I hated life, for I was depressed by all that goes on under the sun, because everything is futile and a vexation of the spirit.

18 *Thus I hated all my achievements laboring under the sun, for I must leave it to the man who succeeds me 19 — and who knows whether he will be wise or foolish? — and he will have control of all my possessions for which I toiled and have shown myself wise beneath the sun. This, too, is futility. 20 So I turned my heart to despair of all that I had achieved by laboring under the sun, 21 for there is a man who labored with wisdom, knowledge and skill, yet he must give over his portion to one who has not toiled for it. This, too, is futility and a great evil. 22 For what has a man of all his toil and his stress in which he labors beneath the sun? 23 For all his days are painful, and his business is a vexation; even at night his mind has no rest. This, too, is futility!

24 Is it not good for man that he eats and drinks and shows his soul satisfaction in his labor? And even that, I perceived, is from the hand of God. — 25 *For who should eat and who should make haste except me? 26*To the man who pleases Him He has given wisdom, knowledge and joy; but to the sinner He has given the urge to gather and amass — that he may give it over to one who is pleasing to God. That, too, is futility and a vexation of the spirit.*

3 1 Everything has its season, and there is a time for everything under the heaven:

2 A time to be born — *and a time to die;
a time to plant — and a time to uproot the planted.
3 *A time to kill — and a time to heal;
a time to wreck — and a time to build.
4 A time to weep — and a time to laugh;

2:25. If all my property will eventually pass on to others, I should view my possessions as a Divine gift and perform lofty spiritual deeds with them while I am still alive.

3:2. Just as he was pure in the hour of his birth, so should he be pure in the hour of his death (Midrash).

3:3. In wartime (Midrash), or in the legal execution of criminals (Michlol Yofi).

3:7. "To rend" garments over the dead; "to mend" new clothes for a wedding (R' Saadiah Gaon).

3:10. I perceive that God caused man to toil in order to keep him subservient lest he rebel against Him (Sforno).

3:12. There is nothing better for people than to rejoice in their lot and do what is right in God's eyes while they

a time to wail and a time to dance.
5 A time to scatter stones and a time to gather stones;
a time to embrace and a time to shun embraces.
6 A time to seek and a time to lose;
a time to keep and a time to discard.
7 A time to rend *and a time to mend;
a time to be silent and a time to speak.
8 A time to love and a time to hate;
a time for war and a time for peace.

9 What gain, then, has the worker by his toil?

10 *I have observed the task which God has given the sons of man to be concerned with: 11 He made everything beautiful in its time; He has also put an enigma into their minds so that man cannot comprehend what God has done from beginning to end.

12 *Thus I perceived that there is nothing better for them than to rejoice and do good in his life. 13 Indeed every man who eats and drinks and finds satisfaction in all his labor — this is a gift of God.

14 I realized that whatever God does will endure forever: Nothing can be added to it and nothing can be subtracted from it, and God has acted so that [man] should stand in awe of Him. 15 *What has been, already exists, and what is still to be, has already been, and God always seeks the pursued.

16 Furthermore, I have observed beneath the sun: In the place of justice there is wickedness, and in the place of righteousness there is wickedness.* 17 I mused: God will judge the righteous and the wicked, for there is a time for everything and for every deed there.

18 *Then I said to myself concerning men: "God has chosen them, but only to see that they themselves are as beasts." 19 For the fate of men and the fate of beast — they have one and the same fate: As one dies, so dies the other, and they all have the same spirit. Man has no superiority over beast, for all is futile. 20 All go to the same place; all originate from dust and all return to dust. 21 Who perceives that the spirit of man is the one that ascends on high while the spirit of the beast is the one that descends down into the earth? 22 I therefore observed that there is nothing better for man than to be happy in what he is doing, for that is his lot. For who can enable him to see what will be after him?

4 1 I returned and contemplated all the acts of oppression that are committed beneath the sun: Behold! Tears of the oppressed with none to comfort them, and their oppressors have the power — with none to comfort them. 2 So I consider more fortunate the dead who have already died than the living who are still alive; 3 but better than either of them is he who has not yet been, and has never witnessed the evil that is committed beneath the sun.

4 And I saw that all labor and all skillful enterprise spring from man's rivalry are yet alive (Rashi).

3:15. History repeats itself. "And God always seeks [i.e., to be on the side of] the pursued," and to exact retribution from the pursuer. Ultimately man will be held to account for his deeds (Rashi).

3:16-22. Koheles now discusses corruption in the administration of justice, eventual Divine retribution against the wicked, and the seeming similarity between man and beast.

3:18. Although men are vain about their supposed superiority, God has selected the most eminent among them — kings and officers — to demonstrate that they can be as selfish and shortsighted as any other animal or beast.

4:5. I.e, the fool destroys himself (Ibn Ezra).

4:6. It is better for man to earn less, but with tranquility and quiet, than to earn much more through difficult labor and aggravation (Metzudos).

4:9. One should seek out companions with whom to toil and share (Ibn Ezra).

4:13. Solomon proceeds to extol the reign of wisdom, but concludes that it, too, is impermanent and ultimately futile.

4:15-16. Although people flocked around this new young king, he ultimately fell into disfavor because popularity is short-lived.

5:2. Dreams reflect an overabundance of thoughts during the day. Similarly, excessive chatter betrays the fool (Rashi).

5:8. Having discoursed on the fear of God, Solomon reverts to the theme of which occupation is best and most sin-free. Agriculture yields the most reward, for even a king is sustained by the soil.

with his neighbor. This, too, is futility and a vexation of the spirit! 5 The fool folds his hands and eats his own flesh. * 6 Better is one handful of pleasantness than two fistfuls of labor and vexation of the spirit. *

7 Then I returned and contemplated [another] futility beneath the sun: 8 a lone and solitary man who has neither son nor brother, yet there is no end to his toil, nor is his eye ever sated with riches, [nor does he ask himself,] "For whom am I toiling and depriving myself of goodness?" This, too, is futility; indeed, it is a sorry task.

9 Two are better than one, for they get a greater return for their labor. * 10 For should they fall, one can lift the other; but woe to him who is alone when he falls and there is no one to lift him! 11 Also, if two sleep together they keep warm, but how can one be warm alone? 12 Where one can be overpowered, two can resist attack: A three-ply cord is not easily severed!

13 Better is a poor but wise youth than an old and foolish king who no longer knows how to take care of himself; * 14 because from the prison he emerged to reign, while even in his reign he was born poor. 15 I saw all the living that wander beneath the sun throng to the succeeding youth who steps into his place. * 16 There is no end to the entire nation, to all that was before them; similarly, the ones that come later will not rejoice in him. For this, too, is futility and a vexation of the spirit.

17 Guard your foot when you go to the House of God; better to draw near and hearken than to offer the sacrifices of fools, for they do not consider that they do evil.

5 1 Be not rash with your mouth, and let not your heart be hasty to utter a word before God; for God is in heaven and you are on earth, so let your words be few. 2 For a dream comes from much concern, * and foolish talk from many words.

3 When you make a vow to God, do not delay paying it, for He has no liking for fools; what you vow, pay. 4 Better that you do not vow at all than that you vow and not pay. 5 Let not your mouth bring guilt on your flesh, and do not tell the messenger that it was an error. Why should God be angered by your speech and destroy the work of your hands? 6 In spite of all dreams, futility and idle chatter, rather: Fear God!

7 If you see oppression of the poor, and the suppression of justice and right in the State, do not be astonished at the fact, for there is One higher than high Who watches and there are high ones above them.

8 The advantage of land is supreme; even a king is indebted to the soil. *

9 A lover of money will never be satisfied with money; * a lover of abundance has no wheat. This, too, is futility! 10 As goods increase, so do those who consume them; * what advantage, then, has the owner except what his eyes see? 11 Sweet is the sleep of the laborer, whether he eats little or much; the satiety of the rich does not let him sleep. *

5:9. Money will never still a rich man's hunger, for who can eat money? (Akeidas Yitzchak).

5:10. A wealthier household with its larger stock of supplies attracts more relatives, friends and paupers (Rav Yosef Kara).

5:11. A man who tills the ground to support his family has no large fortunes over which to worry constantly. He can sleep undisturbed by business worries (Rav Yosef Kara).

5:17-18. Since man must depart exactly as he came, let him involve himself in Torah pursuits (Rashi), and let him eat of God's bounty and be content (Ibn Yachya; Ibn Ezra).

According to the Midrash, the eating and drinking mentioned in this Book refer to Torah and good deeds. See 8:15.

6:8. Both the wise man and the fool must toil for what they achieve. The difference lies in how they utilize and appreciate the fruits of their labor.

6:12. Can anyone guarantee that unjustly gained fortune will endure for his children on this world? (Rashi).

The best course, therefore, is to store up spiritual fortunes which will definitely live on beyond him (Alshich) — as the next verse teaches, "a good name is better than good oil" (Midrash).

7:1. A fine reputation will preserve a deceased person's memory more effectively than precious oils will preserve

12 There is a sickening evil which I have seen under the sun: riches hoarded by their owner to his misfortune, 13 and he loses those riches in some bad venture.
If he begets a son, he has nothing in his hand. 14 As he emerged from his mother's womb, naked, will he return, as he had come; he can salvage nothing from his labor to take with him. 15 This, too, is a sickening evil: Exactly as he came he must depart, and what did he gain by toiling for the wind? 16 Indeed, all his life he eats in darkness; he is greatly grieved, and has illness and anger.
17 So what I have seen to be good is that it is suitable to eat and drink and enjoy pleasure with all one's labor that he toils beneath the sun during the brief span of his life that God has given him, for that is his lot. * 18 Furthermore, every man to whom God has given riches and possessions and has given him the power to enjoy them, possess his share and be happy in his work — this is the gift of God. 19 For he shall remember that the days of his life are not many, while God provides him with the joy of his heart.

6 1 There is an evil I have observed beneath the sun, and it is prevalent among mankind: 2 a man to whom God has given riches, wealth and honor, and he lacks nothing that the heart could desire, yet God did not give him the power to enjoy it; instead, a stranger will enjoy it. This is futility and an evil disease. 3 If a man begets a hundred children and lives many years — great being the days of his life — and his soul is not content with the good — and he is even deprived of burial, I say: The stillborn is better off than he. 4 Though its coming is futile and it departs in darkness, though its very name is enveloped in darkness, 5 though it never saw the sun nor knew it, it has more satisfaction than he. 6 Even if he should live a thousand years twice over, but find no contentment — do not all go to the same place?
7 All man's toil is for his mouth, yet his wants are never satisfied. 8 What advantage, then, has the wise man over the fool? * What [less] has the pauper who knows how to conduct himself among the living? 9 Better is what the eyes see than what is imagined. That, too, is futility and a vexation of the spirit.
10 What has been was already named, and it is known that he is but a man.
He cannot contend with one who is mightier than he. 11 There are many things that increase futility; how does it benefit man? 12 Who can possibly know what is good for man in life, * during the short span of his futile existence which he should consider like a shadow; who can tell a man what will be after him beneath the sun?

7 1 A good name is better than good oil, * and the day of death than the day of birth.
2 It is better to go to the house of mourning than to go to a house of feasting, * for that is the end of all man, and the living should take it to heart.
3 Grief is better than gaiety — for through a sad countenance the heart is improved. 4 The thoughts of the wise turn to the house of mourning, but the thoughts of a fool to the house of feasting.
5 It is better to listen to the rebuke of a wise man than for one to listen to the his body (Alshich).

7:2. Eulogies will stimulate one to think about the beauty of life, and inspire one to repent and realize that only a good reputation has lasting value.

7:11. If a scholar is self-supporting, he can immerse himself in his studies (Alshich).

7:13. God gave man life so that he can act righteously — for who can right his wrongs after death? (Tuv Taam).

7:14. I.e., all punishment is clearly in response to man's deeds (Rashi).

7:15. God deals strictly with the righteous to atone for their sins, so that they will not require punishment in the Hereafter. He defers punishment of the wicked because he is waiting for them to repent, or He may be rewarding their good deeds in This World so that song of fools, [6] for like the crackling of thorns under a pot, so is the laughter of the fool; and this, too, is futility; [7] for oppression makes the wise foolish, and a gift corrupts the heart.

[8] The end of a matter is better than its beginning; patience is better than pride. [9] Do not be hastily upset, for anger lingers in the bosom of fools.

[10] Do not say, "How was it that former times were better than these?" For that is not a question prompted by wisdom.

*[11] Wisdom is good with an inheritance, * and a boon to those who see the sun, [12] for to sit in the shelter of wisdom is to sit in the shelter of money, and the advantage of knowledge is that wisdom preserves the life of its possessors.*

[13] Observe God's doing! For who can straighten what He has twisted? [14] Be pleased when things go well, but in a time of misfortune reflect: God has made the one as well as the other so that man should find nothing after Him. **

*[15] I have seen everything during my futile existence: Sometimes a righteous man perishes for all his righteousness, and sometimes a wicked man endures for all his wickedness. * [16] Do not be overly righteous or excessively wise. Why be left desolate? [17] Be not overly wicked nor be a fool. Why die before your time? [18] It is best to grasp the one and not let go of the other; he who fears God performs them all. [19] Wisdom strengthens the wise more than ten rulers who are in the city. [20] For there is no man so wholly righteous on earth that he [always] does good and never sins.*

[21] Moreover, pay no attention to everything men say, lest you hear your own servant disparaging you, [22] for your own conscience knows that many times you yourself disparaged others.

[23] All this I tested with wisdom; I thought I could become wise, but it is beyond me. [24] What existed is elusive and so very deep. Who can fathom it? [25]So I turned my attention to study and probe and seek wisdom and reckoning, and to know the wickedness of folly, and the foolishness which is madness:

*[26] And I have discovered more bitter than death: the woman who is snares, whose heart is nets, whose arms are chains. * He who is pleasing to God escapes her but the sinner is caught by her.*

*[27] See, this is what I found, said Koheles, adding one to another to reach a conclusion, [28] which yet my soul seeks but I have not found. One man in a thousand I have found, but one woman among them * I have not found. [29] But, see, this I did find: God has made man simple, but they sought many intrigues.*

8 [1] Who is like the wise man? And who knows what things mean? A man's wisdom lights up his face, and the boldness of his face is transformed.

[2] I counsel you: Obey the king's command, and that in the manner of an oath of God. [3] Do not hasten to leave his presence, do not persist in an evil thing; for he can do whatever he pleases. [4] Since a king's word is law, who would dare say to him, "What are you doing?" [5] He who obeys the commandment will know no evil; and a wise mind will know time and justice. [6] For everything has its time and justice, for man's evil overwhelms him. [7] Indeed, he does not know what will happen, for when it happens, who will tell him?

they will not enjoy the bliss of the World to Come (Alshich).

7:26. Solomon gives lavish praise to God-fearing women in Proverbs 31:10-32. Here he refers only to licentious women, who entice men to evil.

7:28. Solomon regrets that his own thousand wives [700 wives, 300 concubines (I Kings 11:3)] led him into sin (Ibn Yachya).

8:8. Evildoers will not escape punishment for their deeds — their "wickedness" will not be their salvation (Kara).

8:10. The wicked are buried peacefully and they come into the world a second time (i.e., their children live on after them) . . . But the righteous who die without children become forgotten . . . (Ibn Ezra).

The "futility" is that the good deeds of the righteous are forgotten, but the wicked die peacefully and leave a legacy of evil.

8:11-13. Although a delay in retribution tends to strengthen the tendency toward evil, Koheles affirms his faith in God, Who rewards the righteous and punishes the sinner.

8:14. The following verses until 9:12 form a cohesive unit discussing the dilemma presented by the prosperity

8 Man is powerless over the spirit — to restrain the spirit; nor is there authority over the day of death; nor discharge in war; and wickedness cannot save the wrongdoer. *

9 All this have I seen; and I applied my mind to every deed that is done under the sun: There is a time when one man rules over another to his detriment.

10 And then I saw the wicked buried and newly come * while those who had done right were gone from the holy place and were forgotten in the city. This, too, is futility! 11 Because the sentence for wrongdoing is not executed quickly — that is why men are encouraged to do evil, * 12 because a sinner does what is wrong a hundred times and He is patient with him, yet nevertheless I am aware that it will be well with those who fear God, those that show fear before Him, 13 and that it will not be well with the wicked, and he will not long endure — like a shadow — because he does not fear God.

14 There is a futility that takes place on earth: * Sometimes there are righteous men who are treated as [if they had done] the deeds of the wicked; and there are wicked men who are treated as [if they had done] the deeds of the righteous. I declared: This, too, is vanity.

15 So I praised enjoyment, for man has no other goal under the sun but to eat, drink and be joyful; and this will accompany him in his toil * during the days of his life which God has given him beneath the sun.

16 When I set my mind to know wisdom and to observe the activity which takes place on earth — for even day or night its eyes see no sleep — 17 and I perceived all the work of God. Indeed, man cannot fathom the events that occur under the sun, inasmuch as man tries strenuously to search, but cannot fathom it. And even though a wise man should presume to know, he cannot fathom it.

9 1 For all this I noted and I sought to ascertain all this: that the righteous and the wise together with their actions are in the hand of God; whether love or hate man does not know; all preceded them.

2 All things come alike to all; the same fate awaits the righteous and the wicked, the good and the clean and the unclean, the one who brings a sacrifice and the one who does not. * As is the good man, so is the sinner; as is the one who swears, so is the one who fears an oath.

3 This is an evil about all things that go on under the sun: that the same fate awaits all. Therefore, the heart of man is full of evil; and madness is in their heart while they live; and after that, they go to the dead.

4 For he who is attached to all the living has hope, a live dog being better than a dead lion. 5 For the living know that they will die, but the dead know nothing at all; there is no more reward for them, * their memory is forgotten. 6 Their love, their hate, their jealousy have already perished — nor will they ever again have a share in whatever is done beneath the sun.

of the wicked and the suffering of the righteous.

8:15. The Midrash notes that all "eating and drinking" mentioned in this Book signify Torah and good deeds, which sustain the soul. Obviously, food and drink do not accompany one to the grave.

9:2. Though death awaits all men in this world, intelligent people realize that there is a distinction between good and evil people in the Hereafter (Rashi).

9:5. The dead can no longer perform mitzvos.

9:8. I.e., one should always be in a state of spiritual preparedness.

9:11. Solomon affirms his principle that this world is transitory and man is governed by God (Rashi).

9:14-15. According to the Talmud [Nedarim 32b] and Midrash, the story is an allegory: The puny human body is like a small town conquered by a mighty king, the Evil Inclination. Then the usually disparaged Good Inclination saves the town, but is often discarded (Nedarim 32b).

10:2. There follows a series of one-sentence proverbs.

10:8-9. A fool will place himself in danger, while a wise man will guard himself. Also, nothing in this world is acquired without toil and some inherent danger (Ibn Ezra).

7 Go, eat your bread with joy and drink your wine with a glad heart, for God has already approved your deeds. 8 Let your garments always be white, * and your head never lack oil.
9 Enjoy life with the wife you love through all the fleeting days of your life that He has granted you beneath the sun, all of your futile existence; for that is your compensation in life and in your toil which you exert beneath the sun. 10 What- ever you are able to do with your might, do it. For there is neither doing nor reckoning nor knowledge nor wisdom in the grave where you are going.
11 Once more I saw under the sun that the race is not won by the swift, * nor the battle by the strong, nor does bread come to the wise, riches to the intelligent, nor favor to the learned; but time and death will happen to them all. 12 For man does not even know his hour: Like fish caught in a fatal net, like birds seized in a snare, so are men caught in the moment of disaster when it falls upon them suddenly.
13 This, too, have I observed [about] wisdom beneath the sun, and it affected me profoundly:
14 There was a small town with only a few inhabitants; * and a mighty king came upon it and surrounded it, and built great siege works over it. 15 Present in the city was a poor wise man who by his wisdom saved the town. Yet no one remembered that poor man. 16 So I said: Wisdom is better than might, although a poor man's wisdom is despised and his words go unheeded.
17 The gentle words of the wise are heard above the shouts of a king over fools, 18 and wisdom is better than weapons, but a single rogue can ruin a great deal of good.

10 1 Dead flies putrefy the perfumer's oil; a little folly outweighs wisdom and honor.
2 A wise man's mind [tends] to his right, while a fool's mind [tends] to his left. *
3 Even on the road as the fool walks, he lacks sense, and proclaims to all that he is a fool.
4 If the anger of a ruler flares up against you, do not leave your place, for deference appeases great offenses.
5 There is an evil which I have observed beneath the sun as if it were an error proceeding from the ruler: 6 Folly is placed on lofty heights, while rich men sit in low places. 7 I have seen slaves on horses and nobles walking on foot like slaves.
8 He who digs a pit will fall into it, and he who breaks down a wall will be bitten by a snake. * 9 He who moves about stones will be hurt by them; he who splits logs will be endangered by them.
10 If an axe is blunt and one has not honed the edge, nevertheless it strength- ens the warriors. Wisdom is a more powerful skill.
11 If the snake bites because it was not charmed, then there is no advantage to the charmer's art.
12 The words of a wise man win favor, but a fool's lips devour him. 13 His talk begins as foolishness and ends as evil madness. 14 The fool prattles on and on, but man does not know what will be; and who can tell what will happen after him?
15 The toil of fools exhaust them, as one who does not know the way to town. *

10:15. A wise traveler asks directions, but a fool persists onward to the point of exhaustion.

10:16. Unconcerned with the welfare of the state, irresponsible leaders indulge in revelry when they should attend to the needs of the people (Ibn Latif).

10:19. Money is necessary and makes everything possible. The previous verse condemns slothfulness; this one encourages industry. Lazy people do not earn a living (Rashi).

Yalkut HaGershuni comments that יַעֲנֶה can be related to עינוי, affliction: "money afflicts all." Its abundance as well as its absence causes suffering.

11:1. Charity should be given even to strangers; generosity will not go unrewarded.

11:4. One who forever waits for ideal conditions will never get his work done (Ibn Latif). Similarly in matters of dispensing charity, one should not be too suspicious or prudent (Nachal Eshkol).

11:7. I.e., life, while man can still enjoy the light of day!

11:9. Solomon warns rebellious, pleasure-seeking youths: I know that fools tend to sin in their youth, but beware! Judgment is forthcoming (Midrash Lekach Tov).

12:1-7. Warning that people should use their youthful years wisely, Solomon metaphorically conjures the ravages of old age and physical decline.

16 Woe to you, O land, whose king acts as an adolescent, and whose ministers dine in the morning. * 17 Happy are you, O land, whose king is a man of dignity, and whose ministers dine at the proper time — in strength and not in drunkenness.
18 Through slothfulness the ceiling sags, and through idleness of the hands the house leaks.
19 A feast is made for laughter, and wine gladdens life, but money answers everything. *
20 Even in your thoughts do not curse a king, and in your bedchamber do not curse the rich, for a bird of the skies may carry the sound, and some winged creature may betray the matter.

11 1 Send your bread upon the waters, for after many days you will find it. *
2 Distribute portions to seven, or even to eight, for you never know what calamity will strike the land.
3 If the clouds are filled they will pour down rain on the earth; if a tree falls down in the south or in the north, wherever the tree falls, there it remains. 4 One who watches the wind will never sow, * and one who keeps his eyes on the clouds will never reap. 5 Just as you do not know the way of the wind, nor the nature of the embryo in a pregnant stomach, so can you never know the work of God Who makes everything. 6 In the morning sow your seed and in the evening do not be idle, for you cannot know which will succeed — this or that — or whether both are equally good.
7 Sweet is the light, * and it is good for the eyes to behold the sun! 8 Even if a man lives many years, let him rejoice in all of them, but let him remember that the days of darkness will be many. All that comes is futility. 9 Rejoice, young man, in your childhood; let your heart cheer you in the days of your youth; follow the path of your heart and the sight of your eyes — but be aware that for all these things God will call you to account. * 10 Rather, banish anger from your heart and remove evil from your flesh — for childhood and youth are futile.

12 1 So remember your Creator in the days of your youth, before the evil days come, * and those years arrive of which you will say, "I have no pleasure in them"; 2 before the sun, the light, the moon and the stars grow dark, and the clouds return after the rain; 3 in the day when the guards of the house will tremble, and the powerful men will stoop, and the grinders are idle because they are few, and the gazers through windows are dimmed; 4 when the doors in the street are shut; when the sound of the grinding is low; when one rises up at the voice of the bird, and all the daughters of song grow dim; 5 when they even fear a height and terror in the road; and the almond tree blossoms and the grasshopper becomes a burden and the desire fails — so man goes to his eternal home, while the mourners go about the streets.
6 Before the silver cord snaps, * and the golden bowl is shattered, and the pitcher is broken at the fountain, and the wheel is smashed at the pit. 7 Thus the 12:6. The body — near death — is likened to the malfunctioning machinery of a well. The cord (spine) snaps; the skull shatters; the stomach breaks; and the body is smashed.

12:8. Epilogue. Having discoursed on the life and trials of man, Koheles reiterates the recurring refrain of his conclusions: "All is futile" (Rashbam).

12:10. Solomon discovered that all his thoughts were already alluded to in the Word of Truth, i.e., the Torah (Rashi).

12:12. Lest you say, "If it is necessary to obey wise men, why are their words not published?" The answer is that it is not possible to commit everything to writing (Rashi).

12:13. Solomon sums up: Although I have expounded upon many concepts in this Book, nevertheless the dust returns to the ground, as it was, and the spirit returns to God Who gave it.

[8] *Futility of futilities — said Koheles — all is futile!

[9] And besides being wise, Koheles also imparted knowledge to the people; he listened, and sought out, and arranged many proverbs.

[10] Koheles sought to find words of delight and words of truth recorded properly.* [11] The words of the wise are like goads, and the nails well driven are the sayings of the masters of collections, coming from one Shepherd.

[12] Beyond these, my son, beware: The making of many books is without limit, and much study is weariness of the flesh.*

[13] The sum of the matter, when all has been considered: Fear God and keep His commandments, for that is man's whole duty.* [14] For God will judge every deed — even everything hidden — whether good or evil.

The sum of the matter, when all has been considered:*
Fear God and keep His commandments, for that is man's whole duty.

conclusion is obvious to all and unquestionable: "Fear God" with your every limb and organ, "for that is man's whole duty" (Derech Chaim). This is the essence of man (Ibn Ezra); and "the entire world was created only for such a person" (Shabbos 30b).

It is customary, during public readings of Ecclesiastes, to repeat the penultimate verse. This is done to end the reading on a positive note. The same custom is also followed at the conclusion of Isaiah, Malachi and Lamentations (Rashi).

BLESSINGS RECITED BEFORE READING MEGILLAS ESTHER

Before reading Megillas Esther on Purim [both at night and again in the morning], the reader recites the following three blessings. The congregation should answer Amen only [not בָּרוּךְ הוּא וּבָרוּךְ שְׁמוֹ] after each blessing, and have in mind that they thereby fulfill the obligation of reciting the blessings themselves. During the morning reading, they should also have in mind that the third blessing applies to the other mitzvos of Purim — shalach manos, gifts to the poor, and the festive Purim meal — as well as to the Megillah reading.

[These blessings are recited whether or not a minyan is present for the reading.]

בָּרוּךְ אַתָּה יהוה אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם, אֲשֶׁר קִדְּשָׁנוּ בְּמִצְוֹתָיו, וְצִוָּנוּ עַל מִקְרָא מְגִלָּה.

(קהל – אָמֵן.)

Blessed are You, HASHEM, our God, King of the universe, Who has sanctified us with His commandments and has commanded us regarding the reading of the Megillah. (Cong. – Amen.)

בָּרוּךְ אַתָּה יהוה אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם, שֶׁעָשָׂה נִסִּים לַאֲבוֹתֵינוּ, בַּיָּמִים הָהֵם, בַּזְּמַן הַזֶּה.

(קהל – אָמֵן.)

Blessed are You, HASHEM, our God, King of the universe, Who has wrought miracles for our forefathers, in those days at this season. (Cong. – Amen.)

בָּרוּךְ אַתָּה יהוה אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם, שֶׁהֶחֱיָנוּ, וְקִיְּמָנוּ, וְהִגִּיעָנוּ לַזְּמַן הַזֶּה.

(קהל – אָמֵן.)

Blessed are You, HASHEM, our God, King of the universe, Who has kept us alive, sustained us and brought us to this season. (Cong. – Amen.)

[The Megillah is read.]

Esther אסתר

The Talmudic Sages describe the events recorded in the Book of Esther as the last of the miracles to be written and canonized as part of Scripture. Clearly, the Prophets and Sages determined that this first attempt at genocide and the way it was thwarted were relevant to the Jewish people throughout the ages. The story of Esther is deceptively simple. If one were to hear it for the first time as an adult, it would be exciting and suspenseful, but it would seem to be without religious significance, for its plot seems to be a string of coincidences that come together to produce a happy ending. In fact, it is the only Book of Scripture where God's Name is never mentioned.

Precisely that phenomenon is what gives it profound significance, especially for Jews mired in an existence where God's hand seems to be absent. For that is the predicament in which Esther and her people found themselves. She was an unwilling queen to an anti-Semitic king; her husband was the same Ahasuerus who, as recorded in the Book of Ezra, had put a halt to the construction of the Second Temple. And she lived during the years of the Babylonian exile, a time when Jews feared that God had rejected them and they were no longer His Chosen People.

Into this time when God was concealed, Mordechai entered and convinced the doubting, fearful nation that God was indeed cognizant and concerned, and that repentance and reignited fervor for God's service were the keys to their salvation. And Mordechai prevailed upon Esther to throw reason to the wind and risk her life in order to turn her king away from Haman.

One can interpret events as coincidences — until they fit a pattern too well to be anything but part of a well-conceived plan. So it was in the Book of Esther. All the pieces fit, and the Jewish people suddenly realized that nothing had been left to chance, that God had been watchful all along, and that all that was wanting for their salvation was for them to recognize the Source of their existence. What Book could be more necessary for a nation in exile, a nation that would have to endure more exiles before the final Redemption would come? So the Book of Esther is the last one to be recorded — and one of the first that should come to mind when everything seems hopeless.

1:1. Ahasuerus was the successor to Cyrus, near the end of the seventy years of the Babylonian exile (Rashi).

Hodu and Cush are usually identified as India and Ethiopia, respectively.

1:3. According to the king's calculations, the prophetic seventy-year deadline for the end of the Jewish exile (Jeremiah 25:11-12; see Appendix A, timeline 5) had passed, yet Babylonia and its successors, Persia and Media, had not been desolated, and the Jews had not been returned to their land. Therefore, convinced that his throne was secure, he made this lavish feast (Megillah 11b).

1:10. See verse 5.

1:12. Vashti did not refuse out of modesty; she refused

THE ROYAL BANQUET

1 And it came to pass in the days of Ahasuerus* — he is the Ahasuerus who reigned from Hodu to Cush, * a hundred and twenty-seven provinces — 2 in those days, when King Ahasuerus sat on his royal throne which was in Shushan the capital, 3 in the third year of his reign, he made a feast for all his officials and his servants;* the army of Persia and Media; the nobles and officials of the provinces being present; 4 when he displayed the riches of his glorious kingdom and the honor of his splendrous majesty for many days, a hundred and eighty days. 5 And when these days were fulfilled, the king made a seven-day feast for all the people who were present in Shushan the capital, great and small alike, in the courtyard of the garden of the king's palace. 6 There were [hangings of] white, fine cotton, and turquoise wool, held with cords of fine linen and purple wool, upon silver rods and marble pillars; the couches of gold and silver were on a pavement of variegated marble. 7 The drinks were served in golden vessels — vessels of diverse form — and royal wine in abundance, in accordance with the king's wealth. 8 And the drinking was according to the law, there was no coercion, for so the king had established for every officer of his house to do according to each man's pleasure.

The king's lavish celebration

Queen Vashti's feast . . .

9 Queen Vashti also made a feast for the women in the royal house of King Ahasuerus. 10 On the seventh day, * when the heart of the king was merry with wine, he told Mehuman, Bizzetha, Harbona, Bigtha and Abagtha, Zethar and Carcas, the seven chamberlains who attended King Ahasuerus, 11 to bring Queen Vashti before the king [adorned] with the royal crown, to show off to the people and the officials her beauty, for she was beautiful of appearance. 12 But Queen Vashti refused to come* at the king's command [conveyed] by the hand of the chamberlains; the king therefore became very enraged and his wrath burned in him.

. . . and her defiance of the king

The king consults . . .

13 Then the king spoke to the wise men, those who knew the times (for such was the king's procedure [to turn] to all who knew law and judgment), 14 those closest to him — Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena and Memucan, the seven officers of Persia and Media, who had access to the king, who sat first in the kingdom: 15 "By the law, what should be done to Queen Vashti for not having obeyed the bidding of the King Ahasuerus [conveyed] by the hand of the chamberlains?"

. . . and his advisers call for her death . . .

16 Memucan declared before the king and the officials, "Not only against the king has Queen Vashti done wrong, but against all the officials and all the people in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus. 17 For the queen's deed will go forth to all women, making their husbands contemptible in their eyes, when they will say, 'King Ahasuerus said to bring Queen Vashti before him, but she did not come!'* 18 And this day the princesses of Persia and Media who have heard of the queen's deed will speak of it to all the king's officials, and there will be much contempt and rage. 19 If it pleases the king, let there go forth a royal edict from him, and let it be written into the laws of Persia and Media, that it not be revoked, that Vashti never again appear before King Ahasuerus; *

because God caused her to break out with leprosy. Thus was the way paved for her downfall (Megillah 12b).

1:17. When the word gets out that the queen acted contemptibly to the king, every woman will consider this as license to act likewise to her own husband (Rashi).

1:19. Well aware of Ahasuerus' vacillating moods, Memucan [whom the Talmud identifies as Haman (Megillah 12b)] was concerned that he would one day face the vengeance of a re-instated Vashti. Therefore he requested that the decree be irrevocable (Me'am Loez).

2:5. During the public reading of Megillas Esther on Purim, this verse is first recited aloud by the congregation, then repeated by the reader.

2:6. See II Kings 24:8ff.

2:10. Esther, a descendant of King Saul, did not declare her royal lineage. She had hoped the king would think that she was of humble origin and send her away (Rashi). Alternatively: She feared that had she declared her faith, she would have been forced to transgress the dictates of her religion (Ibn Ezra).

and let the king confer her royal estate upon another who is better than she.

. . . and a decree that wives be subservient

20 Then, the king's decree which he will proclaim shall be heard throughout all his kingdom — great though it be — and all the wives will show respect to their husbands, great and small alike." 21 This proposal was favorable in the eyes of the king and the officials, and the king did according to the word of Memucan; 22 and he sent letters into all the king's provinces, to each province in its own script, and to each people in its own language, [to the effect that] every man should rule in his own home, and speak the language of his own people.

THE SEARCH FOR A QUEEN

1 After these things, when the wrath of King Ahasuerus subsided, he remembered Vashti, and what she had done, and what had been decreed against her. 2 Then the king's attendants said, "Let there be sought for the king young maidens of beautiful appearance; 3 and let the king appoint commissioners in all the provinces of his kingdom, that they gather together every young maiden of beautiful appearance to Shushan the capital, to the harem, under the charge of Hegai the king's chamberlain, guardian of the women; and let their cosmetics be given them. 4 Then, let the girl who pleases the king reign in place of Vashti." The matter pleased the king, and he did so.

Mordechai and Esther

5 There was a Jewish man in Shushan the capital whose name was Mordechai son of Jair son of Shimei son of Kish, a Benjamite,* 6 *who had been exiled from Jerusalem along with the exiles who had been exiled with Jeconiah king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had exiled. 7 And he had reared Hadassah, she is Esther, his uncle's daughter; for she had neither father nor mother. The maiden was finely featured and beautiful of appearance, and when her father and mother had died, Mordechai adopted her as [his] daughter. 8 So it came to pass, when the king's bidding and decree were announced, and when many young maidens were being brought together to Shushan the capital,

Esther is brought to the competition . . .

under the charge of Hegai, that Esther was taken to the king's palace, under the charge of Hegai, guardian of the women. 9 The girl was pleasing in his eyes, and she found favor before him; he hurriedly prepared her cosmetics and her allowance of delicacies to present [to] her, along with the seven attendants from the king's palace, and he transferred her and her maidens to the best [quarters] in the harem. 10 *Esther had not told of her people or her kindred, for Mordechai had instructed her not to tell. 11 Day after day Mordechai would walk about in front of the courtyard of the harem to learn about Esther's well-being and what would become of her.

. . . but keeps her identity secret

The procession of candidates

12 Now when each maiden's turn arrived to come to King Ahasuerus, after having been treated according to the law prescribed for women for twelve months (for so was the prescribed length of their anointing accomplished: six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with perfumes and feminine cosmetics) — 13 and when the girl came in this manner to the king, she was given whatever she requested to accompany her from the harem to the king's palace. 14 In the evening she would come, and in the morning she would return to the second harem in the charge of Shaashgaz, the king's chamberlain, guardian of the concubines. She would never again come to the king unless the king desired her, and she was summoned by name.*

2:14. There were two harems: one for the maidens being groomed for the king, the other for those who already had their turn with the king (Rashi).

women, had advised. Esther would find favor in the eyes of all who saw her.

Esther pleases Ahaseurus . . .

16 Esther was taken to King Ahasuerus into his royal palace in the tenth month, which is the month of Teves, in the seventh year of his reign. 17 The king loved Esther more than all the women, and she found more favor and kindness before him than all the other maidens; so that he set the royal crown upon her head, and

. . . and becomes the queen *made her queen in place of Vashti. 18 Then the king made a great banquet for all his officers and his servants — it was Esther's banquet — and he proclaimed an amnesty for the provinces, and gave gifts worthy of the king's hand.

19 And when the maidens were gathered together the second time, and Mordechai sat at the king's gate, 20 Esther still told nothing of her kindred or her people as Mordechai had instructed her; for Esther continued to obey Mordechai, just as when she was reared by him.

21 In those days, while Mordechai was sitting at the king's gate, Bigthan and Teresh, two of the king's chamberlains of the guardians of the threshold, became enraged and sought to send [their] hand against King Ahasuerus. 22 The matter

Mordechai saves the king's life became known to Mordechai, who told it to Queen Esther, and Esther informed* the king in Mordechai's name. 23 The matter was investigated and found [to be true], and they were both hanged on a gallows. It was recorded in the book of chronicles in the king's presence.*

3 HAMAN'S RISE

1 After these things King Ahasuerus promoted Haman son of Hammedatha the Agagite and elevated him; he set his seat above all the officers who were* with him. 2 All the king's servants at the king's gate would bow down and prostrate themselves before Haman, for so had the king commanded concerning Mordechai defies Haman . . .

*him. But Mordechai would not bow and would not prostrate himself. 3 So the king's servants who were at the king's gate said to Mordechai, "Why do you disobey the king's command?" 4 Now it happened when they said this to him day after day and he did not heed them, they told Haman, to see whether Mor-dechai's words would prevail; for he had told them that he was a Jew. 5 When Haman, himself, saw that Mordechai did not bow down and prostrate himself before him, Haman was filled with wrath. 6 However, it seemed contemptible to him to send [his] hand against Mordechai alone, for they had told him of the

. . . who decides to kill all Jews people of Mordechai. So Haman sought to destroy all the Jews who were* throughout the entire kingdom of Ahasuerus — the people of Mordechai. 7 In the first month, which is the month of Nissan, in the twelfth year of King Ahasuerus, pur (that is, the lot) was cast in the presence of Haman from day to day, and* from month to month, to the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar.

Haman persuades the king . . .

8 Then Haman said to King Ahasuerus, "There is a certain people scat- tered abroad and dispersed among the peoples in all the provinces of your realm. Their laws are different from every other people's and they do not observe the king's laws; therefore it is not befitting the king to tolerate them.

refused to bow either because Haman had declared himself divine (Rashi) or because Haman's robes were decorated with idols (Ibn Ezra). In either of these cases, bowing to him would be an act of idolatry.

3:6. When Haman learned that Mordechai did not bow before him on religious grounds, he wished to take revenge upon all Jews.

3:7. The Persian word for "lottery" (Ibn Ezra).

10 So the king removed his signet ring from his hand, and gave it to Haman son of Hammedatha the Agagite, enemy of the Jews. * 11 Then the king said to Haman, "The silver is given to you, the people also, to do with as you see fit."

. . . and issues the decree of genocide

12 The king's scribes were summoned on the thirteenth day of the first month, and everything was written exactly as Haman had dictated, to the king's satraps, to the governors who were over every province, and to the officials of every people; [to] each province in its own script, and [to] each people in its own language; it was written in the name of King Ahasuerus, and it was sealed with the king's signet ring. 13 Letters were sent by courier to all the provinces of the king, to destroy, to slay and to exterminate all the Jews, from young to old, children and women, in one day, on the thirteenth of the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar, and to plunder their possessions. 14 Copies of the document were to be promulgated in every province, and be published to all peoples, for them to be prepared for that day. 15 The couriers went forth hurriedly by order of the king, and the edict was distributed in Shushan the capital. The king and Haman sat down to drink, but the city of Shushan * was bewildered.

Mordechai's lament

1 Mordechai learned of all that had been done; and Mordechai tore his clothes and donned sackcloth and ashes. He went out into the midst of the city, and cried a loud and bitter cry. 2 He came until the front of the king's gate for it was forbidden to enter the king's gate in a garment of sackcloth. 3 And in every province, any place the king's command and his decree extended, there was great mourning among the Jews, and fasting and weeping and lament; sackcloth and ashes were spread out for the masses.

Esther is informed . . .

4 And Esther's maidens came, as well as her chamberlains, and told her about it, and the queen was greatly distressed; she sent garments to clothe Mordechai, and to remove his sackcloth from upon him, but he would not accept [them].

5 Then Esther summoned Hathach, one of the king's chamberlains whom he had stationed before her, and ordered him [to go] to Mordechai, to learn what this was about and why. 6 So Hathach went out to Mordechai to the city square, which was in front of the king's gate. 7 And Mordechai told him of all that had happened to him, and all about the sum of money that Haman had promised to pay to the royal treasuries for the annihilation of the Jews. 8 He also gave him a copy of the text of the decree that was distributed in Shushan for their destruction, so that he might show it to Esther and inform her, and bid her to go to the king, to implore of him, and to plead with him for her people. *

. . . and urged to help

She demurs . . .

9 Hathach came and told Esther the words of Mordechai. 10 Then Esther told Hathach, and ordered him [to return] to Mordechai, [saying]: 11 "All the king's servants and the people of the king's provinces know that any man or woman who approaches the king in the inner court, who is not summoned, his law is one — to be put to death; except for the one to whom the king shall extend the gold scepter so that he may live. Now I, I have not been summoned to come to the king for these [past] thirty days."

5:1. The third day of the fast, which was the first day of Passover (Rashi).

5:4. To show that God protects Israel in hidden ways, His Name is not mentioned explicitly in this Book. However, in this verse it is alluded to, since the first Hebrew letters of the words יָבֹא הַמֶּלֶךְ וְהָמָן הַיּוֹם, let the king and Haman

. . . but Mordechai demands action

12 They related Esther's words to Mordechai. 13 Then Mordechai said to reply to Esther, "Do not imagine in your soul that you will be able to escape in the king's palace any more than the rest of the Jews. 14 For if you persist in keeping silent at a time like this, relief and deliverance will come to the Jews from another place, while you and your father's house will perish. And who knows whether it was just for such a time as this that you attained the royal position!"'

Esther asks for a fast

15 Then Esther said to reply to Mordechai: 16 "Go, assemble all the Jews that are to be found in Shushan, and fast for me; do not eat or drink for three days, night or day: And I, with my maids, will fast also. Thus I will come to the king though it is unlawful; and if I perish, I perish." 17 Mordechai then left and did exactly as Esther had commanded him.

Esther risks her life

1 Now it came to pass on the third day, Esther donned royalty and stood* in the inner courtyard of the king's palace facing the king's palace, while the king was sitting on his royal throne in the royal palace facing the entrance of the palace. 2 When the king noticed Queen Esther standing in the courtyard, she found favor in his eyes. The king extended to Esther the gold scepter that was in his hand, and Esther approached and touched the tip of the scepter.

The king is gracious

3 The king said to her, "What is it for you, O Queen Esther? And what is your petition? [Even if it be] until half the kingdom, it shall be granted you."

Esther's invitation

4 Esther said, "If it please the king, let the king and Haman come today to the* banquet that I have prepared for him."

5 Then the king commanded, "Hasten Haman to fulfill Esther's word." So the king and Haman came to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

What is your request?

6 The king said to Esther during the wine feast, "What is your request? It shall be granted you. And what is your petition? [Even if it be] until half the kingdom, it shall be fulfilled."

Another invitation

7 So Esther responded and said, "My request and my petition: 8 If I have found favor in the king's eyes, and if it pleases the king to grant my request and to fulfill my petition, let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for *them, and tomorrow I shall fulfill the king's word."

Haman's anger and arrogance

9 That day Haman went out joyful and exuberant. But when Haman noticed Mordechai in the king's gate and that he did not stand up and did not stir before him, Haman was filled with wrath at Mordechai. 10 [Nevertheless,] Haman re- strained himself and went home. He sent and summoned his friends and his wife, Zeresh. 11 Haman recounted to them the glory of his wealth and of his many sons, and all [the ways] in which the king had promoted him and elevated him above the officials and royal servants. 12 Haman said, "Moreover, Queen Esther brought no one but myself to accompany the king to the banquet that she had prepared, and tomorrow, too, I am invited by her along with the king. 13 Yet all this is worth nothing to me so long as I see Mordechai the Jew sitting at the king's gate."

The gallows

14 So his wife, Zeresh, as well as all his friends, said to him, "Let them make a gallows, fifty cubits high; and in the morning speak to the king and have them hang Mordechai on it. Then, accompany the king to the banquet in good spirits."
This suggestion pleased Haman, and he had the gallows made.

THE WHEEL TURNS

1 That night the king's sleep was disturbed* so he commanded to bring the book of records, the chronicles, and that they be read before the king. 2 And it was found written [there] that Mordechai had denounced Bigthana and Teresh,* two of the king's chamberlains of the guardians of the threshold, who had sought to send [their] hand against King Ahasuerus. 3 The king said, "What honor or majesty has been done for Mordechai for this?"

Was Mordechai honored?

The king's attendants, his ministrants, said, "Nothing has been done for him."

4 The king said, "Who is in the courtyard?" (Now Haman was [just] coming into the outer courtyard of the royal palace to speak to the king about hanging Mordechai on the gallows that he had prepared for him.)

Haman's arrival . . .

5 So the king's attendants said to him, "Behold! Haman stands in the courtyard."

And the king said, "Let him enter." 6 Haman entered and the king said to him, "What should be done for the man whom the king desires to honor?"

. . . and prescription for honor

Now Haman said in his heart, "Whom would the king especially want to honor more than me?" 7 So Haman said to the king, "For the man whom the king desires to honor, 8 have them bring royal attire that the king has worn and a horse upon which the king has ridden, one with a royal crown placed on his head. 9 Then let the attire and the horse be given over into the hand of one of the king's most noble officials, and let them dress the man whom the king desires to honor, and have him ride on the horse through the city square, and let them proclaim before him, 'This is what shall be done for the man whom the king desires to honor.' "

Do so for Mordechai the Jew!

10 Then the king said to Haman, "Hurry, take the attire and the horse as you have said, and do all this for Mordechai the Jew, who sits at the king's gate. Do not omit a single detail of all that you have suggested!"

11 So Haman took the garment and the horse and dressed Mordechai, and had him ride through the city square, and proclaimed before him, "This is what shall be done for the man whom the king desires to honor."

Despondent and doomed

12 Mordechai returned to the king's gate; but Haman hurried home, despondent and with his head covered. 13 Haman told his wife, Zeresh, and all his friends everything that had happened to him, and his wise men and his wife, Zeresh, said to him, "If Mordechai, before whom you have begun to fall, is of Jewish descent, you will not prevail against him, but will undoubtedly fall before him."* 14 While they were still talking with him, the king's chamberlains arrived, and they hurried to bring Haman to the banquet which Esther had prepared.

The second banquet

1 So the king and Haman came to feast with Queen Esther. 2 The king asked Esther again on the second day at the wine feast, "What is your request, Queen Esther? — it shall be granted you. And what is your petition? [Even if it be] until half the kingdom, it shall be fulfilled."

Esther's plea

3 So Queen Esther responded and said, "If I have found favor your eyes, O king, and if it pleases the king, let my life be granted to me as my request and my people as my petition. 4 For we have been sold, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slain and to be exterminated. Had we been sold as slaves and maidservants, I would have kept quiet, for the adversary is not worthy of the king's damage."

5 Thereupon, King Ahasuerus exclaimed and said to Queen Esther, "Who is this? Where is this one who dared to do so?"

Haman's downfall (Yosef Lekach; Malbim).

Esther accuses Haman

6 And Esther said, "A man who is an adversary and an enemy! This wicked Haman!" Haman trembled in terror before the king and queen.

7 The king rose in his wrath from the wine feast and went into the palace garden while Haman remained to beg Queen Esther for his soul, for he saw that evil had been determined against him by the king. 8 When the king returned from the palace garden to the hall of the wine feast, Haman had fallen onto the couch upon which Esther was; so the king exclaimed, "Would he actually assault the queen while I'm in the house?" As soon as the king uttered this, they covered Haman's face.

The king's fury

9 Then Harbonah, one of the chamberlains [in attendance] before the king, said,
"Furthermore, the gallows which Haman made for Mordechai — who spoke good for the king — is standing in Haman's house; it is fifty cubits high." And the king*

"Hang him on it" said, "Hang him on it." 10 So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordechai, and the king's anger abated.

8 1 That very day, King Ahasuerus gave the estate of Haman, the enemy of the

Mordechai becomes viceroy

Jews, to Queen Esther. Mordechai came before the king, for Esther had told [the king] what he was to her. 2 The king removed his signet ring, which he had taken away from Haman, and gave it to Mordechai; and Esther put Mordechai in charge of Haman's estate.

Esther's new plea

3 Esther yet again spoke to the king, she fell at his feet, and wept and implored him to avert the evil [intention] of Haman the Agagite, and his scheme that he had plotted against the Jews. 4 The king extended the gold scepter to Esther, and Esther arose and stood before the king. 5 She said, "If it pleases the king, and if I have found favor before him, and the proposal seems proper before the king, and I be pleasing in his eyes, let it be written to countermand those dispatches, the scheme of Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, [in] which he had written *to exterminate the Jews who are in all the king's provinces. 6 For how can I bear to witness the disaster which will befall my people?! How can I bear to witness the extermination of my kindred?!

Permission to write

7 Then King Ahasuerus said to Queen Esther and to Mordechai the Jew,
"Behold, I have given Haman's estate to Esther, and they have hanged him on the gallows because he sent [his] hand against the Jews. 8 You may write concerning the Jews whatever is favorable in your eyes, in the name of the king, and seal it with the king's signet, for an edict which is written in the king's name and sealed with the king's signet may not be revoked."

The revised decree

9 So they summoned the king's scribes at that time, in the third month, which is the month of Sivan, on its twenty-third [day], and it was written as Mordechai had dictated to the Jews and to the satraps, the governors and officials of the provinces from Hodu to Cush, a hundred and twenty-seven provinces, to each province in its own script, and each people in its own language, and to the Jews in their own script and language. 10 He wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus and sealed it with the king's signet. He sent dispatches by couriers on horseback, riders of swift mules bred of mares, 11 [to the effect] that the king had given [permission]

Jewish self-defense to the Jews of every city to organize and to defend themselves; to destroy, to slay and to exterminate every armed force of any people or province that threaten them, [along with their] children and women, and to plunder their possessions,

7:9. Harbonah's swift advice prevented Haman from bribing his way back into the king's good graces.

8:5. Since Haman's decree was still in effect, Esther proposed the recall of the sealed letters.

Another day in Shushan

13 Esther replied, "If it pleases the king, let tomorrow also be given to the Jews who are in Shushan to act as they did today, and let Haman's ten sons be hanged on the gallows." 14 The king ordered that this be done, and a decree was distributed in Shushan; and they hanged Haman's ten sons. 15 The Jews that were in Shushan assembled again on the fourteenth day of the month of Adar and slew three hundred men in Shushan; but they did not lay their hand on the spoils.

Destruction of foes — but no loot

16 The rest of the Jews that were in the king's provinces assembled and defended themselves gaining relief from their foes, slaying seventy-five thousand of their enemies, but they did not lay their hand on the spoils, 17 on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar. And they gained relief on its fourteenth [day], making it a day of feasting and gladness. 18 But the Jews that were in Shushan assembled on both its thirteenth [day] and its fourteenth, and they gained relief on its fifteenth, making it a day of feasting and gladness. 19 Therefore, Jewish villagers who live in unwalled towns celebrate the fourteenth day of the month of Adar as an occasion of gladness, feasting and festival, and for sending delicacies to one another.

Purim is proclaimed

20 Mordechai recorded these events and sent letters to all the Jews who were in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, the near ones and the distant ones, 21 [charging them] to observe annually the fourteenth day of the month of Adar and its fifteenth day, 22 *as the days on which the Jews gained relief from their enemies, and the month which had been turned about for them from one of sorrow to gladness, and from mourning to festival; to observe them as days of feasting and gladness, and sending delicacies to one another, and gifts to the poor. 23 The Jews undertook [to continue] that which they had begun, just as Mordechai had prescribed to them.*

Feasts and gifts

24 For Haman son Hammedatha the Agagite, enemy of all the Jews, had plotted to annihilate the Jews and had cast a pur (that is, the lot) to terrify and to annihilate them. 25 But when she appeared before the king, he commanded by means of letters that [Haman's] wicked scheme, which he had devised against the Jews, should recoil on his own head; and they hanged him and his sons on the gallows. 26 Therefore, they called these days "Purim" from the word "pur." Therefore, because of all that was written in this letter, and because of what they had seen concerning this, and what has happened to them,* 27 the Jews confirmed and undertook upon themselves, and their posterity, and upon all who might join them, without fail, to observe these two days, in their prescribed manner, and in their proper time each year. 28 And these days should be remembered and celebrated by every generation, every family, every province, and every city; and these days of Purim should never cease among the Jews, nor shall their remembrance perish from their descendants.

In every generation

The second letter of Purim

29 Then Queen Esther daughter of Abihail wrote, along with Mordechai the Jew, with full authority to ratify this second letter of Purim. 30 Dispatches were sent to all the Jews, to the hundred and twenty-seven provinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus — [with] words of peace and truth — 31 to establish these days of Purim

9:22. Eating and drinking and merry-making was instituted on Purim because the miracles occurred through feasting: the royal feast that led to the death of Vashti; the feast of Esther's coronation; and Esther's two feasts that led to Haman's downfall.

After the Megillah reading, each member of the congregation recites the following blessing.
[This blessing is not recited unless a minyan is present for the reading.]

Daniel דניאל

The ways of God are mysterious. When it seems that He is plowing under His treasures, He may be planting seeds that are undiscernible, until they take root and blossom, sometimes decades or even centuries later. So it was when King Nebuchadnezzar planned diabolically to enrich his own court while impoverishing Judah and assuring that it would have no rebirth. He picked the finest, most promising young men of Jerusalem, and carted them off to Babylon (442 B.C.E.), there to serve in his court and make him the beneficiary of their brilliance.

Among these young captives was Daniel. There, in a land of spiritual poverty, the young captives sanctified God's Name so undeniably that even Nebuchadnezzar had to acknowledge His greatness; and there they built the foundations of the flourishing Torah community that would eventually return to its land and build the Second Temple. Daniel was the leader of that generation, the inspiration of his peers, and the one who brought God's message to the heathen kings of Babylon.

Daniel became one of the leading figures in the royal court. Kings tried to intimidate him to follow their ways, but he refused and prevailed. His companions Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah were thrown into a flaming furnace, but they emerged unscathed. Daniel himself was flung into a lions' den, but he too came out unharmed. They proved that Israel remains loyal to God and that He remains its Protector. The kings of Babylon had no choice but to turn to Daniel to explain God's cryptic messages, and he brought them terrifying truths. When Belshazzar saw the "handwriting on the wall," only Daniel could interpret its frightening message for him.

In the concluding chapters of the book, Daniel saw visions that remain the subject of intense speculation, for he was shown prophetic scenes of the "Four Beasts" representing the "Four Monarchies" that will dominate Israel during its long series of exiles. And he was shown the calculations of the "End of Days," when Israel will be redeemed and the world will finally achieve the Divine goal for which it was created. What did the numbers mean? When and how will the events come about? These visions remain clothed in mysteries that will not be stripped away until the time of the final Redemption is at hand. Then we will know how God's seeds will sprout into the glorious fulfillment of the Scriptural prophecies.

1:1. According to Jeremiah (25:1), Nebuchadnezzar came to power in the fourth year of Jehoiakim. (Seder Olam therefore explains that our verse refers to the third year following Jehoiakim's rebellion against Nebuchadnezzar; see II Kings 24:1. [See Appendix A, timelines 4-5.])

1:2. See Genesis 11:2,9.

1:8. Daniel refrained from eating to avoid forming a social bond with his gentile masters, lest they lead him astray (see Avodah Zarah 36a).

1:21. When King Cyrus encouraged the Jews to return to Jerusalem (Ezra 1:3), Daniel did so (Ralbag).

According to Seder Olam, the chronology of the kings is as follows: Nebuchadnezzar of Babylonia; his son Evil-merodach; his son Belshazzar (see 5:1); Darius the Mede

(See Appendix A, timelines 4-5)

1 In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim* king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia came to Jerusalem and laid siege to it. 2 The Lord delivered Jehoiakim, king of Judah, into his hand, with some of the vessels of the Temple of God. He brought them to the land of Shinar* to the temple of his god, and the vessels he brought into the treasure-house of his god.

Quest for courtiers

3 The king told Ashpenaz, the chief of his officers, to bring from the children of Israel, from the royal seed and from the nobles, 4 youths in whom there was no blemish, who were good looking, skillful in all wisdom, discerning in knowledge and perceptive in learning, and who had the stamina to stand [and serve] in the king's palace, and to teach them the script and language of the Chaldeans.

5 The king provided for them a daily portion from the king's food and from his drinking-wine to nurture them for three years, at the conclusion of which they would stand [and serve] before the king. 6 Among them were, from the children of Judah: Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah. 7 The chief officer gave them names: to Daniel he gave [the name] Belteshazzar; to Hananiah, Shadrach; to Mishael, Meshach; and to Azariah, Abed-nego.

Daniel's resolve

8 Daniel set [the resolve] in his heart not to be defiled by the king's food* nor by his drinking-wine, so he requested of the chief officer that he not be defiled. 9 God granted Daniel favor and mercy before the chief officer, 10 and the chief officer said to Daniel, "I fear my lord the king, who has provided your food and your drinks, lest he see your faces more ill at ease than the other youths in your situation, and you will forfeit my head to the king!"

Daniel's proposal

11 So Daniel said to the steward whom the chief officer had assigned to Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, 12 "Please test your servants for ten days, and let them give us of the pulse and we will eat, and [give us] water and we will drink. 13 Then let our appearance and the appearance of the youths who eat the king's food be seen by you, and act toward your servants in accordance with what you see."

The test

14 He heeded them in this matter, and tested them for ten days. 15 At the end of ten days their appearance seemed better and they were of healthier flesh than all the youths eating the king's food. 16 Thereafter the steward would take away their food and their drinking-wine and give them pulse.

17 As for these youths, the four of them, God gave them learning and skill in every script and wisdom; and Daniel understood every kind of vision and dreams.

18 At the end of the years after which the king had said to bring them, the chief officer brought them before Nebuchadnezzar. 19 The king spoke with them, and there was not found among them all [anyone] like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah; so they stood [and served] before the king. 20 In every matter of the art of reasoning that the king asked of them, he found them ten times better than all the necromancers and astrologers that were in his entire kingdom.

Incomparable foursome

21 Daniel was [there] until the first year of King Cyrus.*

1 In the second year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign,* Nebuchadnezzar dreamt

(see 6:1 and 9:1); Cyrus the Persian (see 6:29 and 10:1); Ahasuerus (husband of Esther); their son, Darius the Persian (353-318 B.C.E.). [See Appendix A, timeline 5.]

2:1. Since Daniel was in training for three years before serving Nebuchadnezzar (see 1:5,18), this dating cannot be taken literally. Accordingly, it means the second year after Nebuchadnezzar destroyed the Temple (Seder Olam). Alternatively: Nebuchadnezzar's dream had been recurring since his second year and now he was sufficiently alarmed to seek an interpretation (R' Saadiah Gaon).

The king's dreams dreams; his spirit was agitated and his sleep was interrupted. 2 The king said to call the necromancers, the astrologers, the sorcerers and the Chaldean [stargazers], * to tell the king his dreams. They came and stood before the king. 3 The king said to them, "I have dreamt a dream and my spirit is agitated to know the dream."

4 The Chaldeans spoke to the king in Aramaic, * "May the king live forever! Tell your servants the dream and we will relate the interpretation."

5 The king responded and said to the Chaldeans, "The thing has escaped me!

The forgotten dream

If you do not make the dream and its interpretation known to me, you will be cut to bits, and your homes will be made a dunghill! 6 But if you do tell the dream and its interpretation, you will receive from me gifts, rewards and great honor; just tell me the dream and its interpretation!"

7 They answered a second time and said, "Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will relate the interpretation."

"Just tell me the dream"

8 The king responded and said, "I know for a certainty that you are buying time, because you have seen that the matter is firmly established by me 9 that if you do not make the dream known to me your sentence is unequivocal; thus you have arranged lying and corrupt words to speak before me, until the time changes! Just tell me the dream, and then I will know that you can relate its interpretation to me."

10 The Chaldeans responded before the king and said, "There is no man on earth who can relate the king's matter; that is why no king, leader or ruler has ever requested such a thing of any necromancer or astrologer or Chaldean. 11 The king's request is difficult, and there is no other who can relate it before the king, except the angels, whose dwelling is not with human beings!"

The king orders the sages killed

12 As a result of this the king grew upset and very angry, and he commanded to destroy all the sages of Babylonia. 13 As the decree was being implemented and the wise men slain, Daniel and his companions were sought to be slain.

14 Then Daniel gave counsel and advice to Arioch, the king's chief executioner, who had gone to slay the wise men of Babylonia. 15 He exclaimed and said to Arioch, the king's official, "Why is the king's decree so peremptory?" Then Arioch told Daniel the story. 16 Daniel went and requested of the king that he give him time to relate the interpretation to the king.

Revelation to Daniel

17 Then Daniel went to his house and made the matter known to his companions, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 18 and to pray for mercy from before the God of Heaven concerning this secret, so that Daniel and his companions should not be destroyed with the rest of the sages of Babylonia. 19 Then, in a nocturnal vision, the secret was revealed to Daniel. Daniel then blessed the God of Heaven.

Daniel thanks God

20 Daniel exclaimed and said, "May the Name of God be blessed forever and ever, for wisdom and might are His! 21 He alters times and seasons; He deposes kings and establishes kings; He gives wisdom to the wise and knowledge to those who know how to reason. 22 He reveals the deep and the mysterious; He knows what is in the darkness, and light dwells with Him. 23 To You, O God of my forefathers, I give thanks and praise, for You have given me wisdom and might, and now You have made known to me what we requested of You, for You have made known to us the matter of the king."

24 Consequently, Daniel came to Arioch, whom the king had appointed to

2:2. Alternatively translated as the demonists (R' Saadiah Gaon).

2:4. From this point until the end of Chapter 7 the text switches from Hebrew to Aramaic.

destroy the sages of Babylonia; he went and said thus to him, "Do not annihilate the wise men of Babylonia. Bring me before the king, and I will tell the interpretation to the king!"

Daniel before the king

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in haste, and said thus to him, "I have found a man from the people of the exile of Judah who will make known the interpretation to the king."

26 The king responded and said to Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, "Are you capable of making known to me the dream that I saw and its interpretation?"

27 Daniel answered before the king, and said, "The secret the king requests, no wise men, astrologers, necromancers or demonists are able to tell the king. 28 But there is a God in Heaven Who reveals secrets, and He has informed King Nebuchadnezzar what will be at the End of Days. Your dream, and the visions in your head on your bed, are these:

29 "You, O king, your thoughts came while you were on your bed about what would happen in the future, and the Revealer of secrets informed you what will be. 30 As for me, it is not because I possess more wisdom than any other being that this secret was revealed to me, but rather to make the interpretation known to the king, so that you may know what has occupied your thoughts.

This is the dream

31 "You, O king, were watching and behold! a huge statue; this statue, which was immense, and whose brightness was extraordinary, stood opposite you, and its appearance was fearsome. 32 This statue: its head of fine gold; its breast and arms of silver; its belly and thighs of copper; 33 its legs of iron; and its feet, partly of iron and partly of earthenware. 34 As you watched, a stone was hewn without hands and struck the statue on its feet of iron and earthenware, and crumbled them. 35 Then they crumbled together: the iron, the earthenware, the copper, the silver and the gold. They became like chaff from summer threshing floors, and the wind carried them away and no trace was found of them. And the stone that struck the statue became a great mountain and filled the entire earth. 36 This is the dream, and we will tell its interpretation before the king.

The Four Kingdoms

37 "You, O king — to whom the King of kings, Who is the God of Heaven, has given a strong kingdom, power, and honor, 38 and wherever people, beasts of the field and birds of the sky dwell, He has given them into your hand and made you ruler over them all — you are the head of gold. 39 And after you will arise another kingdom inferior to you, * and [then] another, a third kingdom, of copper, which will rule the whole earth. 40 The fourth kingdom * will be as strong as iron: Just as iron crumbles and flattens everything, and as iron shatters all these, it will crumble and shatter. 41 The feet and the toes that you saw, partly of potter's earthenware and partly of iron: It will be a divided kingdom * and will have some of the firmness of iron, just as you saw iron mixed with clay-like earthenware. 42 As for the toes, partly of iron and partly of earthenware: Part of the kingdom will be powerful and part of it will be broken. 43 That you saw iron mixed with clay-like earthenware:

2:39. Just as silver is inferior to gold, and the chest lower than the head, so will the kingdom that follows yours, that of the Persians and Medes, be inferior to yours.

Then will come the "copper kingdom," the Greek empire of Alexander the Great and his successors (Rashi).

2:40. The Roman empire.

2:41. The lands of the Roman empire came to be dominated by Edom and Ishmael, represented by Christianity and Islam. Both — one as strong as iron, the other as weak as pottery — comprise the latter day "fourth kingdom" (Abarbanel).

2:46. Nebuchadnezzar believed Daniel to be a Divine being.

3:1. Nebuchadnezzar's golden statue (and his command that all his subjects bow to it) was in reaction to Daniel's

They will mix with the offspring of men, but they will not cling to one another, just as iron does not mix with earthenware. 44 Then, in the days of these kingdoms, the God of Heaven will establish a kingdom that will never be destroyed nor will its sovereignty be left to another people; it will crumble and consume all these kingdoms, and it will stand forever. 45 Just as you saw that a stone was hewn from the mountain, not by human hands, and it crumbled the iron, the copper, the earthenware, the silver and the gold, so has the great God made known to the king what will happen in the future. The dream is true and its interpretation is reliable."

Nebuchadnezzar exalts Daniel

46 *Then King Nebuchadnezzar fell upon his face and prostrated himself to Daniel; and with offering and incense he wished to exalt him. 47 The king exclaimed to Daniel and said, "In truth I know that your God is the God over gods, Lord of kings and the Revealer of secrets, since you were able to reveal this secret." 48 Then the king promoted Daniel and gave him many great gifts. He empowered him as ruler over the entire land of Babylon and chief official over all the sages of Babylonia. 49 Daniel requested of the king, and he appointed Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego over the affairs of the land of Babylonia; and Daniel was at the king's gate.

Nebuchadnezzar's golden statue

1 *King Nebuchadnezzar made a statue of gold, its height sixty cubits and its width six cubits; he stood it in the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon. 2 Then King Nebuchadnezzar sent to assemble the satraps, the nobles, the governors, the judges, the treasurers, the advisers, the guards and all the provincial officials to come to the dedication of the statue that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

The king's command

3 Thereupon the rulers, the nobles, the governors, the judges, the treasurers, the advisers, the guards and all the provincial officials gathered together for the dedication of the statue that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up, and they stood facing the statue that Nebuchadnezzar had set up. 4 A herald cried aloud, "It is commanded to you, O peoples, nations, and languages: 5 When you hear the sound of the horn, the whistle, the tambourine, the drum, the cymbals, the flute and all kinds of music, you shall fall and prostrate yourselves to the golden statue that King Nebuchadnezzar has set up. 6 Whoever does not fall and prostrate himself will immediately be thrown into a fiery, burning furnace."

7 Therefore, as soon as all the peoples heard the sound of the horn, the whistle, the tambourine, the drum, the cymbals and all kinds of music, all the peoples, the nations and the languages fell and prostrated themselves to the golden statue that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

Slander

8 Thereupon, at that very time, some Chaldean men came forth and defamed the Jews. 9 They exclaimed and said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "May the king live forever! 10 You, O king, issued a decree that every person who hears the sound of the horn, the whistle, the tambourine, the drum, the cymbals, the flute and all kinds of music is to fall and prostrate himself to the golden statue, 11 and whoever does not fall and prostrate himself is to be thrown into a fiery, burning furnace. 12 There are Jewish men whom you have appointed over the affairs of the province interpretation of the dream. Nebuchadnezzar was sure that if he could coerce the Jewish people to engage in idolatry, the climax of the prophecy of the Four Kingdoms, Israel's dominance, would not be fulfilled (R' Saadiah Gaon). Alternatively: The king reasoned that since the golden head in the dream symbolized Babylonia, if the entire statue were made of gold rather than other metals and clay, his kingdom could never be toppled, and Babylonia would remain triumphant forever (Rabbeinu Tam; Abarbanel).

of Babylon, Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego. These men have not accepted your decree upon themselves, O king; your god they do not worship; and to the golden statue that you have set up they do not prostrate themselves."

Nebuchadnezzar's fury

13 Then King Nebuchadnezzar, in anger and fury, commanded to bring Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego; these men were then brought before the king. 14 Nebuchadnezzar exclaimed and said to them, "Is it true, Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-Nego, that you do not worship my god and that you do not prostrate yourselves to the golden statue that I have set up? 15 Now, behold, you must be prepared when you hear the sound of the horn, the whistle, the tambourine, the drum, the cymbals, the flute and all kinds of music, to fall and prostrate yourselves to the statue I have made; but if you do not prostrate yourselves, you will immediately be thrown into a fiery, burning furnace; and who is the god who can save you from my hands?"

"He is able to save us"

16 Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego responded and said to the king, "Nebuchadnezzar, we are not worried about replying to you about this matter. 17 Behold, our God Whom we worship is able to save us; He will rescue from the fiery, burning furnace and from your hand, O king. 18 But if [He does] not, let it be known to you, O king, that we do not worship your god, and to the golden statue that you have set up we shall not prostrate ourselves."

Into the flaming furnace

19 Then Nebuchadnezzar was filled with fury and the form of his face became contorted at Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego. He exclaimed and commanded [his men] to heat the furnace to seven times more than it was normally heated. 20 Then he commanded the strong men of his guard to bind Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, to throw them into the fiery, burning furnace. 21 Then these men were bound in their cloaks, their pants, their robes and their [other] clothing, and were thrown into the fiery, burning furnace. 22 Thereupon, because of the king's peremptory command and because the furnace was so overheated, those men who carried up Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego were killed by a flame of fire. 23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, fell bound into the fiery, burning furnace.

Four unbound men

24 Then King Nebuchadnezzar, bewildered, stood up in haste. He exclaimed to his ministers and said, "Did we not throw three bound men into the fire?"

They replied and said to the king, "True, O King!"

25 He exclaimed and said, "Behold, I see four unbound men walking in the fire, and there is no wound on them; and the appearance of the fourth [one] is like an angel's."

Ineffective fire

26 Then Nebuchadnezzar approached the opening of the fiery, burning furnace. He exclaimed and said, "Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, servants of the Supreme God, step out and come here!" Thereupon Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego stepped out of the fire. 27 The satraps, the nobles, the governors and the ministers of the king assembled and saw these men over whose bodies the fire had no effect, the hair of whose heads was not singed, whose cloaks were unaltered and who had not absorbed the smell of fire.

28 Nebuchadnezzar exclaimed and said, "Blessed is the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, Who sent His angel and saved His servants who relied on Him and disobeyed the king's order and offered their bodies in order not to

A frightening dream

2 I saw a dream that frightened me, and my thoughts upon my bed and the visions of my head bewildered me. 3 I issued a command to bring before me all the sages of Babylonia, so that they should make known to me the interpretation of the dream. 4 Then the necromancers, the astrologers, the Chaldean [stargazers] and the demonists came; I related the dream before them, but they could not make known its interpretation to me. 5 At last there came before me Daniel, whose name is Belteshazzar after the name of my god, and in whom is the spirit of the Holy God, and I related the dream before him:

6 'Belteshazzar, chief of the necromancers, since I know that the spirit of the Holy God is in you, and no secret is hidden from you, this is the vision of the dream that I saw; tell its interpretation. 7 [These were] the visions of my head upon my bed: I was watching and behold, a tree in the midst of the earth, the height of it was great. 8 The tree grew and became strong, its height reached to the heavens; it was visible to the end of the entire earth; 9 its foliage was beautiful and its fruit plentiful, and there was food for all in it; under it beasts of the field took shade, and the birds of heaven nested in its branches, and all flesh was fed from it. 10 In the visions of my head upon my bed, I was watching and behold! a holy angel came down from heaven. 11 He cried out loudly, and said thus, "Chop down the tree and cut off its branches; cast down its foliage and scatter its fruit; let the animals move away from under it, and the birds from its branches! 12 However, leave its major roots in the ground, [secured] with a band of iron and copper in the herbage of the field; let it be washed by the dew of heaven, and let its lot be together with the beasts, in the grass of the earth. 13 They will change its heart from that of a man, and a beast's heart will be given to it, and seven periods will pass over it. 14 The matter is by decree of the angels, and the sentence is by word of the holy ones; so that all living beings may know that the Supreme One rules over the kingdom of man, giving it to whomever He wishes and appointing the lowest of men over it."

The dream of the tree

A holy angel speaks

15 'This dream I saw, I, King Nebuchadnezzar. And you, Belteshazzar, tell its interpretation, because all the sages of my kingdom are unable to make the interpretation known to me; but you can, for the spirit of the Holy God is in you.'

Daniel interprets and advises

16 Then Daniel, whose name is Belteshazzar, was silent for a while, and his thoughts confounded him. The king exclaimed and said, 'Belteshazzar! Let the dream and its interpretation not bewilder you!'

Belteshazzar replied and said, 'My lord, may this dream be upon your foes, and its interpretation upon your enemies! [17] The tree that you saw, which grew and became strong, whose height reached the heavens and which was visible to the entire earth, [18] whose foliage was beautiful and whose fruit plentiful, with food for all in it, under which dwelled the beasts of the field, and in whose branches nested the birds of the heaven — [19] it is you, O king, who have grown and become powerful; your greatness has grown and reached the sky, and your dominion to the end of the earth. [20] And that which the king saw — a holy angel came down from heaven and said, "Chop down the tree and destroy it, but leave its major roots in the ground, [secured] with a band of iron and copper in the herbage of the field; it will be washed by the dew of heaven and its lot will be with the beasts of the field, until seven periods pass over it" — [21] this is the interpretation, O king: It is the decree of the Supreme One that befalls my lord the king. [22] They will drive you from mankind, and your dwelling will be among the beasts of the field; they will feed you grass like oxen, and wash you with the dew of heaven, and seven periods will pass over you, until you recognize that the Supreme One rules over the kingdom of man, and He gives it to whomever He wishes. [23] As to that which they said to leave the major roots of the tree: Your kingdom will remain for you, after you recognize that Heaven rules. [24] Nevertheless, O king, let my advice be acceptable to you: Redeem your sin through righteousness and your iniquities through kindness to the poor; perhaps there will be an extension to your tranquility.'

A historical aside: The dream is fulfilled

([25] All this befell King Nebuchadnezzar. [26] At the end of twelve months he was walking atop the royal palace of Babylon. [27] The king exclaimed and said, "Is this not the great Babylon, which I have built up into a royal house with my powerful strength for glorification of my splendor!"

[28] While the words were still in the king's mouth, a voice fell from heaven, "To you, King Nebuchadnezzar, we say: The kingdom has departed from you! [29] We are driving you from mankind, and your dwelling will be with the beasts of the field; they will feed you grass like oxen; and seven periods will pass over you, until you recognize that the Supreme One rules over the kingdom of man and He gives it to whomever He wishes." [30] At that moment the decree befell Nebuchadnezzar. He was driven from mankind, he ate grass like oxen, and his body was washed by the dew of heaven, until his hair grew like eagles' [feathers] and his nails like birds' [talons].)

More of the letter: "My senses returned to me"

[31] At the end of the [seven periods of] years, I, Nebuchadnezzar, raised my eyes to Heaven, and my senses returned to me. I blessed the Supreme One and I praised and glorified the Eternal One, Whose rule is an eternal rule and Whose kingship is for all generations. [32] All the inhabitants of the earth are reckoned as nothing; and He acts according to His will with the host of heaven and the inhabitants of the earth; there is no one who can stay His hand or say to Him, 'What have You done?'

[33] At that time, my senses returned to me and I returned to the glory of my kingdom; my appearance came back to me, and my ministers and nobles sought me; I was reestablished over my kingdom, and additional greatness was given to me.

[34] Now, I, Nebuchadnezzar, praise, extol and glorify the King of Heaven, Whose actions are all in truth, and Whose paths are in justice, and Who is able to humble those who walk proudly!

Belshazzar's great feast

1 King Belshazzar made a great feast for a thousand of his nobles and drank wine before the thousand [guests].* 2 While under the influence of wine, Belshazzar gave an order to bring the golden and silver vessels that Nebuchadnezzar, his [grand]father, had removed from the Sanctuary that was in Jerusalem, for the king and his nobles, his consorts and his concubines to drink from them. 3 So they brought the golden vessels that they had removed from the Sanctuary of the Temple of God in Jerusalem, and the king, his nobles, his consorts and his concubines drank from them. 4 They drank wine and praised the gods of gold and silver, copper, iron, wood and stone.

The handwriting on the wall

5 Just then fingers of a human hand came forth and wrote on the plaster of the wall of the king's palace, facing the candelabrum; and the king saw the palm of the hand that was writing. 6 The king's appearance thereupon changed and his thoughts bewildered him; the belt around his waist opened and his knees knocked one against the other.

Bewilderment and consternation

7 The king cried aloud to bring in the astrologers, the Chaldean [stargazers] and the demonists. The king exclaimed to the sages of Babylonia that any person who would read this writing and tell its interpretation would wear royal purple with a chain of gold on his neck, and would rule one third of the kingdom.

8 Then all the king's sages came in, but they could not read the writing and make its interpretation known to the king. 9 Then King Belshazzar was greatly bewildered and his appearance changed upon him, and his nobles were confounded.

"Let Daniel be called"

10 As a consequence of the words of the king and his nobles, the queen came into the banquet hall. The queen exclaimed and said, "May the king live forever! Do not be bewildered nor let your appearance be changed. 11 There is a man in your kingdom in whom is the spirit of the Holy God; and in your [grand]father's days, brilliance, understanding and wisdom like the wisdom of God were found in him; and King Nebuchadnezzar, your [grand]father, made him chief of the necromancers, astrologers, Chaldean [stargazers] and demonists. 12 Since extraordinary spirit, intelligence, understanding, interpreting of dreams, solving of riddles and resolving of difficulties have been found in Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar, let Daniel now be called and he will relate the interpretation."

"Read, interpret, and rule"

13 Then Daniel was brought before the king. The king spoke up and said to Daniel, "You are Daniel, from among the people of the exile of Judah, whom the king, my [grand]father, brought from Judah. 14 I have heard about you that the spirit of God is in you, and that brilliance, understanding and extraordinary wisdom are found in you. 15 The sages, the astrologers, were now brought before me to read this writing and make its interpretation known to me, but they could not tell the interpretation of the matter. 16 But I have heard about you that you are able to provide interpretations and to resolve difficulties. Now, if you will be able to read the writing and make its interpretation known to me, you will wear royal purple with a chain of gold on your neck, and you will rule one third of the kingdom."

"Keep your gifts"

17 Daniel then replied and said before the king, "Let your gifts remain yours, and give your rewards to others. But I will read the writing for the king and make its interpretation known to him.

5:1. Nebuchadnezzar was succeeded by his son Evil-merodach (II Kings 25:27), who reigned for twenty-three years. Evil-merodach was succeeded by his son Belshazzar, who reigned for three years (see note to 1:21; see Appendix A, timeline 5). The narrative thus skips at least twenty-five years at this point.

18 "You, O king! The Supreme God gave kingship, greatness, honor and majesty to Nebuchadnezzar, your [grand]father. 19 And because of the greatness that He gave him, all the peoples, nations and languages used to tremble and be frightened before him; whomever he wished he would kill, and whomever he wished he would keep alive; whomever he wished he would raise up, and Nebuchadnezzar knew that God rules whomever he wished he would put down. 20 But when his heart grew proud and his spirit was hardened to rebel, he was deposed from his royal throne, and honor was taken from him. 21 He was driven from mankind, and his heart was made like a beast's; his dwelling was with wild asses, and they fed him grass like oxen, and his body was washed with the dew of heaven, until he recognized that the Supreme God rules over the kingdom of men, and that whomever He wishes He appoints over it.

"But you exalted yourself" 22 "But you, his [grand]son Belshazzar, did not humble your heart, although you knew all this. 23 You exalted yourself against the Lord of Heaven, and the vessels of His House were brought before you, and you, your nobles, your consorts and your concubines drank wine from them, and you praised the gods of silver and gold, copper, iron, wood and stone, which do not see nor hear nor know; but the God in Whose hand is your soul, and to Whom all your ways belong, you did not glorify. 24 Thus the palm of a hand was sent from before Him, and it inscribed this writing.

"Your kingship is broken"
25 This is the writing that was inscribed: 'MENE MENE TEKEL UPHARSIN.'
26 This is the interpretation of the matter: 'MENE' (counted) — God has counted [the years of] your kingship and terminated it. 27 'TEKEL' (weighed) — you have been weighed in the scales and found wanting. 28 *'PERES' (broken up) — your kingdom has been broken and given to Media and Persia."

29 Then Belshazzar gave the command and they clothed Daniel in royal purple with a chain of gold on his neck, and they proclaimed about him that he would rule one third of the kingdom. 30 That very night Belshazzar, the Chaldean king, was slain.

6 1 Then Darius the Mede received the kingship at the age of sixty-two years. 2 It
Daniel appointed vizier pleased Darius to appoint over the kingdom one hundred and twenty satraps to be throughout the kingdom, 3 and over them three viziers — of whom Daniel was one — to whom these satraps would give advice, so that the king should suffer no harm. 4 Then this Daniel oversaw the viziers and satraps, because of the extraordinary spirit in him; and the king thought to appoint him over the whole kingdom.

Quest for a libel
5 Thereupon the viziers and the satraps tried to find a libel against Daniel with regard to the kingdom, but they could find neither fault nor corruption, because he was faithful and nor could error or corruption be found in him. 6 Then these men said, "We will not find any fault with this Daniel, unless we find it in him through the law of his God."

The king's prohibition
7 Thereupon these viziers and satraps assembled about the king, and said thus to him, "May King Darius live forever! 8 All the viziers of the kingdom, the nobles and the satraps, the advisers and the governors have conferred to affirm the king's

5:28. Daniel interpreted וּפַרְסִין (upharsin) as the plural of פְּרֵס (peres), as if the word פרס were written twice. The first פרס is a verb meaning "break up" or "divide"; the second, the name of the nation פָּרַס, "Persia." Thus the Babylonian rule will be broken and given over to a Persian conqueror (Rashi).

6:18. So that no one would try to rescue him — or harm him — by removing the stone.

law, and to strengthen his prohibition — that whoever will make a request of any god or man for thirty days, other than of you, O king, shall be thrown into the lions' pit. 9 Now, O king, approve the prohibition and inscribe the writing so that it cannot be abrogated, according to the law of Media and Persia, which shall never lapse." 10 As a result of this, King Darius inscribed the writing and the prohibition.

Daniel prays as usual

11 When Daniel learned that the writing had been inscribed, he went home. He had windows open in his upper story, facing Jerusalem, and three times a day he fell to his knees and prayed and gave thanks before his God, exactly as he used to do before this. 12 Then these men assembled and found Daniel praying and supplicating before his God.

13 So they approached and spoke before the king concerning the king's prohibition, "Did you not inscribe a prohibition that any person who would make a request of any god or person for thirty days, other than of you, O king, would be thrown into the lions' pit?"

The king replied and said, "The matter is true, according to the law of Media and Persia, which shall never lapse."

14 Then they exclaimed and said before the king, "That Daniel, who is one of the people of the exile of Judah, has not paid attention to you, O king, and to the prohibition that you have inscribed. Three times a day he prays his prayer!"

Darius struggles to save Daniel

15 Then the king, when he heard this statement, was deeply grieved, and he set his heart on Daniel to save him, and until sundown he strove to rescue him. 16 Then these men assembled around the king and said to the king, "Know, O king, that the law of Media and Persia is that any prohibition or statute that the king establishes cannot be altered."

Daniel in the lions' pit

17 Then the king commanded and they brought Daniel and threw him into the lions' pit. The king exclaimed to Daniel, "May your God, Whom you serve continually, save you!" 18 A stone was brought and was placed over the opening of the pit, and the king sealed it with his signet ring and with the signet rings of his nobles, so that his will regarding Daniel could not be changed. *

The king's concern

19 Then the king went to his palace and went to bed fasting, and had no table brought before him; and his sleep wandered from him. 20 The king arose in the darkness before dawn, and went in haste to the lions' pit. 21 When he drew near to the pit, to Daniel, he cried out in a sad voice; the king called out and said to Daniel, "Daniel, servant of the living God! Was your God, Whom you serve continually, able to save you from the lions?"

"They did not wound me"

22 Then Daniel spoke to the king: "May the king live forever! 23 My God sent His angel and shut the lions' mouths, and they did not wound me, because merit was found for me before Him. Also before you, O king, I have done no harm."

The defamers' end

24 Then the king was very pleased, and he commanded that Daniel be brought up from the pit. Daniel was brought up from the pit, and no wound was found on him, for he had trusted in his God. 25 The king gave the command and they brought those men who had slandered Daniel, and they threw them into the lions' pit, them, their children and their wives. They had not reached the floor of the pit when the lions overpowered them and crushed all their bones.

Darius' letter

26 Then King Darius wrote:

To all the peoples, nations and languages who dwell in the entire earth:

6:29. Cyrus succeeded Darius.

7:1. This occurred a year or two before the events in Chapters 5 and 6. Until this point, the "events" of Daniel's life were presented in chronological sequence; from this point on, Daniel's "visions" are presented, also in chronological order.

7:4. The lion represents the great power of the Babylonian empire (see Jeremiah 4:7). The high-flying eagle's wings symbolize its arrogance.

7:5. The bear represents the Persian empire (see Megillah 11a) — powerful and corpulent, but not speedy. It lacked the "eagle's wings" and the regal power of the lion (Abarbanel). The three ribs symbolized the three Persian kings: Cyrus, Ahasuerus and Darius (Rashi).

7:6. The ferocious, impudent leopard represents the Greek empire founded by Alexander, who conquered

May your peace be abundant! 27 An order is hereby issued by me that in all the dominion of my kingdom people shall tremble and be in fear before the God of Daniel, Who is the living God and endures forever, Whose kingdom will not be destroyed and Whose dominion is until the End, 28 Who saves and rescues and performs signs and wonders in heaven and on earth, Who has saved Daniel from the clutches of the lions.

29 This Daniel met with success in the reign of Darius and in the reign of Cyrus the Persian. *

7 1 In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylonia, Daniel saw a dream and visions in his head upon his bed; he then wrote down the dream, and told the major parts.* 2 Daniel began and exclaimed:

Daniel's vision of the four beasts

I saw in my vision at night that behold! the four winds of heaven were stirring up the Great Sea. 3 Four immense beasts came up from the sea, each different from the other. 4 The first was like a lion, and it had eagle's wings. * I was watching as its wings were plucked, and it was removed from the earth and stood upon two feet like a man, and it was given a human heart. 5 Then behold! another beast, a second one, similar to a bear; * it was placed on one side, and there were three ribs in its mouth between its teeth; and this is what they said to it, 'Arise, devour much flesh!' 6 After this I was watching and behold! another [beast], like a leopard, * with four bird's wings on its back; the beast had four heads, and it was given dominion.

The Babylonian lion

The Persian bear

The Greek leopard

The fourth beast

7 After this I was watching in night visions, and behold! a fourth beast, * exceedingly terrifying, awesome and strong. It had immense iron teeth, and it was devouring and crumbling, and trampling with its feet what remained. It was different from all the beasts that had preceded it, and it had ten horns. 8 As I was contemplating the horns, behold! another horn, a small one, came up among them, and three of the previous horns were uprooted before it. There were eyes like human eyes in this horn, and a mouth speaking haughty words. 9 I watched as thrones were set up, and the One of Ancient Days sat. * His garment was white as snow, and the hair of His head like clean wool; His throne was of fiery flames, its wheels blazing fire. 10 A stream of fire was flowing forth from before Him, a thousand thousands were serving Him and myriad myriads were standing before Him. The judgment was set, and the books were opened.

The judgment

11 I saw that after this, because of the sound of the haughty words which the horn spoke, I watched until the beast was slain and its body destroyed and consigned to a flame of fire. 12 As for the rest of the beasts, their dominion was taken away, yet an extension of life was given them until a season and a time.

most of Asia in one continuous advance; the wings symbolize his speedy conquests in all four directions, and the four heads allude to the four generals who divided the empire after Alexander's death (Abarbanel).

7:7-8. The fourth kingdom is the Roman empire, including its successor powers in the long exile. This exile, the current one, is called the exile of Edom, because, as the Sages taught, Edom was the progenitor of the ancient Romans. Although the individual symbols such as the horns are variously interpreted as particular historical events or personalities, the general picture is one of a far more terrifying and enduring exile than any of the previous three.

7:9-12. "The Ancient of Days," i.e., God, will set up two thrones, one of strict justice, and the other of mercy (Rashi). He will judge Edom/Esau at the "season and time," i.e., when the Messianic era arrives.

7:13. This is the King Messiah (Rashi).

7:15. The body is the receptacle for the spirit, just as a sheath is the receptacle for a sword.

7:18. Israel.

7:25. The meaning of this cryptic allusion to the time of the End [קץ], i.e., the Messianic era at the End of Days, is

One like a man

13 I was watching in night visions and behold! with the clouds of heaven, one like a man came; he came up to the One of Ancient Days, and they* brought him before Him. 14 He was given dominion, honor and kingship, so that all peoples, nations and languages would serve him; his dominion would be an everlasting dominion that would never pass, and his kingship would never be destroyed.

An angel interprets

15 As for me, Daniel, my spirit became uneasy in its sheath, and the* visions of my head bewildered me. 16 I approached one of the standing ones, and I asked him for the truth concerning all this. So he spoke to me, making the interpretation of the matters known to me: 17 'These immense beasts, which are four: Four kingdoms will arise from the earth. 18 But the holy supreme ones will receive the kingship, and they will inherit the kingship* forever, forever and ever.'

More about the fourth beast

19 Then I desired to know the truth about the fourth beast, which was different from them all — exceedingly terrifying, with teeth of iron and claws of copper, it devoured and crumbled, and trampled what remained with its feet — 20 and about the ten horns that were on its head, and the other one that came up as three fell before it, that horn had eyes and a mouth speaking haughty words, and an appearance greater than that of its fellows. 21 I had watched as that horn waged war with the holy ones and was prevailing over them, 22 until the One of Ancient Days came and the holy supreme ones were granted justice; and the time came, and the holy ones inherited the kingship.

The End — Daniel's prophetic allusion to the final Redemption

23 This is what he said, 'The fourth beast: There will be a fourth kingdom on the earth which will be different from all kingdoms; it will devour the entire earth, and trample and crumble it. 24 And the ten horns: From that kingdom ten kings will arise, and another one will rise up after these, who will be different from the former ones, and he will humble three kings. 25 He will speak words against the Supreme One, and he will exhaust the holy supreme ones, and he will plan to alter the seasons and the law; and they *will be given over into his hand until a time, and times, and half a time.
26 But judgment will be set, and they will take away his dominion to be

The everlasting kingdom annihilated and to be destroyed completely. 27 And the kingship, the domin- ion and the grandeur of the kingdoms under all the heavens will be given to the holy supreme nation. Its kingdom will be an everlasting kingdom, and all rulers will serve and obey it.'

28 Until here is the end of the description. I, Daniel — my thoughts frightened me greatly and my countenance changed; but I guarded the matter in my heart.

8 1 In the third year of King Belshazzar's reign, a vision appeared to me — I, Daniel

Another vision

— after that which had appeared to me at first. 2 I saw in the vision (when I saw it I was in Shushan, the capital, which is in the province of Elam):

I saw in the vision that I was at the Ulai Stream. 3 I raised my eyes and looked, and behold! a ram is standing before the stream, and it has horns.
The horns are high, but one is higher than the other, and the higher one is coming up last. 4 I saw the ram goring westward, northward and southward;
and no beasts could stand before it, nor could anyone rescue from its hand.
It did as it pleased, and it grew.

veiled in mystery. Indeed, the angel commanded Daniel to "obscure the matters and seal the book" (12:4), and the Sages warned against attempts to foretell the End (Sanhedrin 97b).

8:9. Most commentators interpret this vision as an allusion to the persecutions of King Antiochus, whose Seleucid Kingdom emerged from one of Alexander's four successors. He advanced to the south and invaded Egypt and conquered the Land of Israel, where he was eventually defeated by the Maccabees. Others relate the vision to Rome, Titus and Vespasian.

8:12. Israel's enemies will succeed in ending the daily Temple offerings and in denigrating the honor of the Torah.

8:13. A mute idol with which the conqueror will replace the daily Temple offering (Rashi).

8:14. Another cryptic allusion to the End of Days.

8:21. Alexander the Great, who conquered the Persians.

8:22. Four kingdoms will be carved out of Alexander's empire.

8:23. A reference to Antiochus (Ibn Ezra) or to Titus, who destroyed the Temple (Rashi).

8:25. The enemy will treacherously attack peoples with whom he had peace treaties. In the end, however, both Titus (Rashi) and Antiochus (Ibn Ezra) died through miraculous illnesses.

It smote the ram

5 I was contemplating [this] and behold! a he-goat comes from the west, across the surface of the entire earth, but not touching the ground; and the he-goat had a conspicuous horn between its eyes. 6 It came up to the two-horned ram that I had seen standing before the stream, and ran at it with the fury of its might. 7 I saw it reach the ram; it fought bitterly with it, and smote the ram and broke its two horns. The ram had no strength to stand before it; [the goat] threw it to the ground and trampled it, and there was no one to rescue the ram from its hand.

One little horn

8 Then the he-goat grew greatly. At its mightiest the great horn was broken, and a semblance of four [horns] came up in its place, [pointing] toward the four directions of the heavens. 9 Out of one of them came forth one little horn, which grew exceedingly southward and eastward and toward the [coveted] land. * 10 It grew up to the host of the heavens, and it threw some of the host and some of the stars to the ground and trampled them. 11 It exalted itself even up to the Master of the host; because of it the daily offering was removed and the foundation of His Sanctuary was thrown down. 12 A set time will be allotted for [the discontinuation of] the daily offering because of sin. It will throw truth to the ground, * and it will achieve and prosper.

13 I heard a holy one speaking; and the holy one said to the anonymous one who was speaking, 'Until when, this vision concerning the daily offering and the mute abomination, * allowing the trampling of the holy one and the host?' 14 And he said to me, 'Until nightfall, morning, two thousand and three hundred; and then the holy one will be rectified.' *

"Gabriel, explain the vision"

15 When I, Daniel, saw the vision I sought understanding, then, behold! there stood before me the likeness of a man. 16 I heard a human voice in the middle of the Ulai; he called out and said, 'Gabriel, explain the vision to that [man].'

17 So he came to where I was standing. When he came I was terrified, and I fell face down. He said to me, 'Understand, Son of Man, that the vision concerns the time of the End.' 18 As he spoke to me I fell into a deep sleep with my face to the ground; but he touched me and stood me up in my place. 19 He said, 'I am ready to inform you what will be after the fury, for at the appointed time will be the End. 20 The two-horned ram that you saw [symbolizes] the kings of Media and Persia. 21 The he-goat, the kingdom of Greece, and the large horn that is between its eyes is its first king. * 22 As for the broken one, in whose place four arose, four kingdoms will arise from one nation, * but lacking its strength.

A brazen-faced king

23 'At the end of their kingdom, when the sinners are annihilated, a brazen-faced king, * an understander of mysteries, will arise. 24 His power will grow, but not through his [own] power, and he will destroy mightily; he will succeed and accomplish, and will destroy mighty ones and the nation of holy ones, 25 because of his cunning, and [because] he will proceed with deceit in his hand, he will grow proud in his heart. He will destroy many in peace; but he will stand up against the Master of masters and he will be broken, not through a [human] hand. * 26 The vision of the nightfall and the morning which has been spoken is true. As for you, obscure the vision, for it [belongs] to many days hence.'

8:27. He attended to his official government duties.

9:1. This is Darius the Mede (see note to 1:21), not Darius the Persian whose parents were King Ahasuerus and Queen Esther. According to the Talmud, this vision took place in the seventieth year after Nebuchadnezzar's subjugation of Jehoiakim, eighteen years before the destruction of the Temple. [See Appendix A, timeline 5.]

9:2. See Jeremiah 29:10.

9:9. And He has not punished us accordingly.

27 I, Daniel, became disturbed and ill for days; then I arose and attended to the king's business. * I was upset by the vision, but no one perceived it.

9 1 In the first year of Darius son of Ahasuerus of the offspring of Media, * who was made king over the kingdom of the Chaldeans, 2 in the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, contemplated the calculations, the number of years about which the word of HASHEM had come to the prophet Jeremiah, to complete the seventy years since the ruin of Jerusalem. * 3 I set my face toward the Lord, God, to beseech [with] prayer and supplication, with fasting, sackcloth, and ashes.

Ours is the shamefacedness

4 I prayed to HASHEM, my God, and I confessed; I said:

I beg of You, O Lord, the Great and Awesome God, Who keeps the covenant and kindness for those who love Him and for those who keep His commandments: 5 We have sinned; we have been iniquitous; we have done evil; we have rebelled; and we have deviated from Your commandments and Your ordinances. 6 We did not heed Your servants the prophets, who spoke in Your Name to our kings, our officers and our forefathers, and to all the populace of the land. 7 To You, O Lord, is the righteousness, and to us is the shamefacedness, as of this very day — to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and to all of Israel, those near and those far, in all the lands to which You have driven them, because of their betrayal by which they have betrayed You. 8 HASHEM, to us is the shamefacedness — to our kings, to our officers and to our forefathers — for we have sinned against You.

God hastened the calamity

9 To the Lord our God [belong] compassion and forgiveness, for we have rebelled against Him, * 10 and we did not heed the voice of HASHEM our God, to follow His teachings which He put before us through the hand of His servants the prophets. 11 All Israel has transgressed Your Torah and has deviated, not heeding Your voice; so the curse and the oath that are written in the Torah of Moses, servant of God, have been poured out upon us, for we have sinned against Him. 12 He upheld His word that He spoke about us and about our judges who judged us, to bring upon us a great calamity; for under the entire heaven there has never been done as has been done in Jerusalem. 13 Just as it is written in the Torah of Moses, all this calamity has come upon us; yet we have not entreated the countenance of HASHEM our God, to repent from our iniquities and to comprehend Your truth. 14 HASHEM hastened the calamity and brought it upon us; for HASHEM our God is just in all His deeds that He has done, for we have not heeded His voice. 15 And now, O Lord our God, Who took Your people out of the land of Egypt with a strong hand, and gained Yourself renown as of this day — we have sinned and we have been wicked. 16 O Lord, [in keeping] with all Your righteousness, please let Your anger and Your wrath turn away from Your city Jerusalem, Your holy mountain; for because of our sins and the iniquities of our forefathers, Jerusalem and Your people have become the scorn of all those around us. 17 And now, pay heed, our God, to the prayer of Your servant and to his supplications, and let Your countenance shine upon Your desolate Sanctuary, for the Lord's sake. 18 Incline Your ear, my God, and listen; open Your eyes and see our desolations, and the city upon which Your Name is proclaimed; for not because of our righteousness do we pour out our supplications before You, but because of Your great compassion.

For Your sake, O God

9:24. Lit., "seventy weeks," this phrase refers to seventy times seven years, or 490 years. This refers to the seventy years of exile that have passed from the Destruction of the First Temple until this vision, and the entire 420 year period of the Second Temple (Rashi).

9:25. The "septets" refer to full seven-year periods. The prince of this verse is Cyrus, who gave permission to rebuild Jerusalem and the Temple. He ascended to the throne fifty-two years (seven full septets plus three years) after the exile had begun. From then until the second destruction of Jerusalem was 438 years, or sixty-two septets and four years (Rashi).

9:26. I.e., Agrippa, the last Jewish king, at the end of the Second Temple Era. After his death, the prince of this verse, the Roman Titus, would command the destruction of the Temple, which will not be rebuilt until after the War

19 O Lord, heed; O Lord, forgive; O Lord, be attentive and act, do not delay; for Your sake, my God, for Your Name is proclaimed upon Your city and Your people.

20 I was still speaking, praying and confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, and pouring out my supplication before HASHEM my God, for my God's holy mountain: 21 I was still speaking in prayer, when the man Gabriel, whom I had seen in the earlier vision, was lifted in flight approaching me, at about the time of the afternoon offering.

Gabriel clarifies

22 He made me understand and spoke with me. He said:

Daniel, I have gone forth now to teach you understanding. 23 At the beginning of your supplications a word went forth, and I have come to relate it, for you are beloved. Contemplate this matter and gain understanding in the vision. 24 Seventy septets have been decreed upon your people and upon your holy city to terminate transgression, to end sin, to wipe away iniquity, to bring everlasting righteousness, to confirm the visions and prophets, and to anoint the Holy of Holies.* 25 Know and comprehend: From the emergence of the word to return and to build Jerusalem until the anointment of the prince will be seven septets, and for sixty-two septets it will be rebuilt, street and moat, but in troubled times.* 26 Then, after the sixty-two septets, the anointed one will be cut off and will exist no longer; the people of the prince will come will destroy the city and the Sanctuary; but his end will be [to be swept away as] in a flood. Then, until the end of the war, desolation is decreed.* 27 He will forge a strong covenant with the great ones for one septet; but for half of that septet he will abolish sacrifice and meal-offering, and the mute abominations will be upon soaring heights, until extermination as decreed will pour down upon the mute [abomination].*

10 1 In the third year of Cyrus, king of Persia, a matter was revealed to Daniel, who was named Belteshazzar — the matter was true, but for a long time off — to understand the matter, and to explain it to him through a vision.* 2 In those days, I, Daniel, had been mourning for three weeks of days. 3 I ate no desirable bread; meat or wine did not enter my mouth, and I did not anoint myself, until the completion of three weeks of days.

Daniel's fast

The angel

4 *Then, on the twenty-fourth day of the first month, I was next to the great river, which is Hiddekel. 5 I raised my eyes and saw, behold! one man clothed in linen, his loins girded with fine gold.* 6 His body was like tarshish, his face like the appearance of lightning, his eyes like flaming torches, and his arms and legs like the color of burnished copper; the sound of his words [loud] as the sound of a multitude.* 7 I, Daniel, alone saw the vision; the people who were with me did not see the vision, but a great fear fell upon them and they fled into hiding.

A great vision is revealed

8 So I remained alone. I saw this great vision. No strength remained in me; my robustness changed to pallor, and I could retain no strength. 9 I heard the of Gog and Magog, in Messianic times (Rashi).

9:27. The Roman emperor would make a treaty with the Jewish nation for seven years; but for the second half of that term the Romans would violate that covenant and impede the Temple service. The "mute abomination," i.e., a temple of idolatry, was erected by the emperor Hadrian on the Temple Mount (Rashi).

10:1. See note to 1:21.

10:4. Usually identified as the Tigris.

10:5. Most commentators identify this "man" as Gabriel, who had spoken to Daniel previously (see 8:16 and 9:21).

10:6. Rock crystal or beryl.

10:13. That is, the angel that guides the destiny of Persia (Rashi).

10:17. How can I, a human being, speak with you, an angel?

10:20. After thwarting the designs of Persia, I must depart; Greek domination over Israel will then commence.

10:21. The angel Gabriel is the "heavenly prince" of Israel. Now, the angel was about to tell Daniel of the impending decree.

11:1. Gabriel (see 10:5) says that he stood up for Michael (see 10:21).

11:2. The three kings after Darius the Mede were Cyrus, Ahasuerus and Darius the Persian. The latter would be the fourth Median-Persian king (Rashi, from Seder Olam; see note to 1:21).

11:3. Alexander the Great, of Macedonia, Greece (ibid.).

11:4. After Alexander's death at an early age, his empire was divided among four of his generals, but they would not have his authority, and parts of the empire were split off and controlled by other rulers.

11:5. The classic commentators give widely varying interpretations of the historical personalities and events foretold in this vision. Unless otherwise noted, the remainder of this chapter has been interpreted acsound of his words, and when I heard the sound of his words I was in a deep sleep upon my face, with my face towards the ground. 10 Behold! a hand touched me and moved me onto my knees and the palms of my hands.

The angel has been delayed

11 He said to me, "Daniel, greatly beloved man, understand the words that I speak to you, and stand in your place, for I have been sent to you now." As he spoke these words to me, I stood atremble. 12 He said to me, "Do not fear, Daniel, for from the first day that you set your heart to understand and to fast before your God, your words have been heard; and I have come because of your words. 13 But the [heavenly] prince of the Persian kingdom stood opposed to me for twenty-one days, until Michael, one of the foremost [heavenly] princes, came to help me, for I had remained there [alone] beside the kings of Persia.* 14 I have come to make you understand what will befall your people in the End of Days, for there is yet a vision for [those] days."

Daniel's fright

15 As he spoke these words to me I set my face toward the ground, and was dumbfounded. 16 Then behold! [one] with the likeness of a human being touched my lips; I opened my mouth and spoke, and I said to the one standing opposite me, "My lord, during the vision my joints shuddered and I could retain no strength; 17 how can this servant of my lord speak with this lord of mine? From now on no strength will remain in me, and there is no breath left in me!"*

The angel strengthens Daniel

18 Then he — the likeness of a human being — touched me again and strengthened me. 19 He said, "Fear not, greatly beloved man. Peace to you! Grow stronger and stronger!"

As he spoke to me I strengthened myself, and I said, "Speak, my lord, for you have strengthened me."

20 He said:

*Do you know why I came to you? Now I will return to do battle with the [heavenly] prince of Persia; then I will depart. But behold — the [heavenly] prince of Greece approaches. 21 However, I will tell you what is inscribed in truthful writing. No one reinforces me against these, except your [heavenly] prince, Michael;* 1 *and I, in the first year of Darius the Mede, stood up as a support and stronghold for him.

11

2 Now, I will tell you the truth. Behold, three more kings will arise for Persia. The fourth will acquire the greatest wealth of them all; and when he grows strong with his riches he will arouse all [of his kingdom] against the kingdom of Greece.* 3 A mighty king will then arise; he will rule with great domination, and he will do as he pleases.* 4 But after he has arisen, his kingdom will be broken and will be divided into the four directions of the heaven — but not to his posterity; nor will it be like his dominion with which he ruled, for his kingdom will be uprooted, and for others besides these.* 5 The king of the South will grow stronger [than his enemy] and his nobles, and he will overpower him and rule; his dominion will be a great dominion.* 6 At the end of [many] years they will join together, and the daughter of the king of the South will come to the king of the North to establish uprightness, but she will not restrain the power of the [strong] arm, nor will [the king] nor his arm withstand; so she and those who brought her will be surrendered, as well as the one who fathered her and he who supported her in times [of need].* 7 A scion from her roots will stand [firmly] on his foundation.

cording to Rashi.

11:6. An attempt will be made to unite the two kingdoms through a royal marriage, but it will end in failure, and the Southerners will be defeated.

11:14. Rashi and Rambam take this as an allusion to the Nazarene and his disciples. "For is there a greater stumbling block than this? All the prophets foretold that the Messiah would redeem the Jews, help them, gather in the exiles and support their observance of the commandments. But he caused Jewry to be put to the sword, to be scattered and to be degraded; he tampered with the Torah and its laws; and he misled most of the world to serve something other than God" (Hil. Melachim 11:4).

11:15. In order to penetrate a walled city, the invaders would build a huge mound of dirt in front of the wall, which the soldiers would climb.

11:17. An epithet for the people of Israel (see v. 37). The king of the North will order his commanders to slaughter the defeated Jews. Verses 16-19 prophesy the persecutions of Antiochus IV and the Hasmonean revolt.

11:18-19. God (the Commander) will punish Antiochus, causing him to retreat in disgrace and to die on the way.

11:20. The Hasmonean dynasty will succeed Antiochus in Jerusalem, but it will eventually fall as a result of a battle of succession between the two brothers, Aristobulus and Hyrcanus.

11:21. The Roman empire.

11:22. The Jews, who had forged a covenant with the Romans, will also be crushed by them (see Avodah Zarah 8b).

11:23. By signing a "holy covenant" of friendship (see vv. 28,30) with the Hasmoneans, Rome will be able to conquer the countries surrounding the Land of Israel without fear of Hasmonean intervention.

11:24. Until the time would come when he would turn against them and conquer them.

He will confront the army of, and enter the stronghold of, the king of the North; he will succeed against them and overpower. [8] Also he will bring their gods and their princes, with their precious vessels of silver and gold, in captivity to Egypt; and he will stand [secure] for years against the king of the North. [9] He will enter the kingdom of the king of the South, but he will return to his soil. [10] Then [the Northern king's] sons will stir themselves up and gather a multitude of great armies; he will then launch an attack, inundate, and pass through. Then he will once again stir himself up, right up to [the South's] stronghold. [11] The king of the South will become embittered, and go out and battle with him, with the king of the North; he will raise a great multitude, but that multitude will be delivered into [the South's] hand. [12] Then the multitude will feel uplifted and their hearts will be proud; but, although they will cut down myriads [of their enemies], they will not prevail.

[13] The king of the North will once again raise a multitude greater than the first; at the end of the times, [several] years, he will launch an attack with a great army and with vast resources. [14] In those times, many will rise up against the king of the South; and sons of the lawless men of your people will exalt themselves to establish a vision, but they will stumble.* [15] The king of the North will come and pour out a mound and conquer a fortified city; the arms of the South will not hold out; his chosen warriors will have no strength to withstand [it].*

[16] The invader will then do to [the Southern king] as he pleases, and none will stand in his way; he will also stand in the Coveted Land with annihilation in his hand. [17] He will set his face to penetrate the strength of [the Southern king's] whole kingdom — and the upright ones who are with him — and he will succeed. He will give over to him the Daughter-among-women to destroy her, but it will not succeed, and she will not be his.* [18] Then he will turn his attention toward isles, and he will conquer many, but the Commander will cause his insolence to cease; for his insolence alone He will punish him.* [19] Then he will direct himself toward the strongholds of his homeland, and he will stumble and fall, and not be found.

[20] There will arise in his place one whose glory of kingship is the overthrow of the oppressor, yet in a few years it will be broken, but neither through [an enemy's] wrath nor through war.*

[21] Then in its place will stand a contemptible one, upon whom they did not confer the glory of kingship; he will come in peace, attaining kingship through treachery.* [22] *The powers that had swept away [others] will themselves be swept away before him and will be broken, as well as the prince of the covenant. [23] Through alliance with him he will act with deceit, and he will come up and gain power with a small nation.* [24] *He will come in peace, into the richest parts of the province will he come, and he will do what his fathers and forefathers did not do; [among his allies] he will distribute booty, spoils and wealth, and he will devise his plans against [their] fortresses until the time. [25] He will stir up his strength and his heart against the king of the South with a great army. The king of the South will confront him in war with an exceedingly great and powerful army, but he will not withstand, for they will devise plans against him, [26] for those who eat of his food will break him; he will then sweep away his army, and many slain will fall.*

11:26. Rome will sweep away the leaderless army of the slain king of the South.

11:27. Erstwhile enemies will conspire against Israel, but they will not succeed because the time of the exile has not yet come.

11:28. The king of Rome will head back to his homeland, enriched by the spoils of his successful campaign against the Southern king, and with no intention of keeping the pact he had made with the Hasmoneans.

11:30. Kittim is another name for the Romans. Rome will ignore its prior pact with the Hasmoneans (v. 23), and nullify the treaty. It will realize that Jewish disunity, brought about by their forsaking the Torah, "the Covenant of Sanctity," provides Rome the opportunity to conquer.

11:33. These sages will be subjected to severe persecution.

11:34. They will be able to bribe their enemies and thus help themselves.

11:35. They will err in their attempts to predict the End of the exile based on this prophecy.

11:37. An epithet for Israel (see v. 17 above and Song of Songs 5:9).

11:38. He will feign veneration for the gods of the fortified cities in his realm in order to cajole the people into submission (Metzudos).

12:1. Michael, the guardian angel of Israel, will stand in defense of his people at this time of catastrophe.

27 As for the two kings, their hearts will be to do harm; * at one table they conspire deceitfully, but it will not succeed, for there is yet an end for the appointed time. 28 He will return to his land with great wealth, with his heart opposed to the holy covenant; having succeeded, he will return to his land. *
29 At a set time he will come once again to the South; but he will not be [as successful] as the first [time], nor as the last [time]; 30 ships of Kittim will come against [the South] and he will be weakened; he will then return. Then he will be upset at the holy covenant, and act [accordingly]. Then he will return and contemplate those who have forsaken the Covenant of Sanctity. *
31 Arms will arise from him and will profane the fortified Sanctuary; they will abolish the daily offering and will install the mute abomination. 32 He will glibly flatter those who corrupt the Covenant, but the people who recognize their God will persevere and accomplish.

33 Wise men among the people will give understanding to the multitudes.
They will stumble by the sword and by flame, through captivity and through plunder for years. * 34 But when they stumble they will be helped with a little help, * for many will come to their aid through glibness. 35 Some of the wise men will stumble in clarifying [these words], * and in elucidating and interpreting when the time of the End will be, for it is not yet the designated time.

36 The king will do as he pleases, and he will glorify and exalt himself over every god; and he will utter fantastic things against the God of the mighty.
Yet he will succeed until [God's] fury is terminated, for that which was decreed will have been executed. 37 He will not give consideration to the God of [Israel's] ancestors nor to the Desirable-among-women; * nor will he give consideration to any god, for he will aggrandize himself above everything.
38 But he will honor the god of the fortresses when in his place; * and he will honor a god whom his ancestors did not know, with gold, with silver, with precious stones and with desirable objects; 39 and he will build strong fortresses in honor of a strange god. He will accord great honor to whomever he acknowledges; he will empower them over the multitudes, and he will apportion land at a price.

40 Then, at the time of the End, the king of the South will clash with him, and the king of the North will storm against him with chariot, horsemen and many ships; he will invade countries, flood [them] and pass through. 41 Then he will invade the coveted land. Many will stumble, but these will be saved from his hand: Edom, Moab and the choice parts of the Children of Ammon.
42 He will stretch forth his hand against lands, and the land of Egypt will not be a survivor. 43 He will gain control of the caches of gold and silver and all the desirables of Egypt, with Lubians and Cushites [crushed] in his footsteps. 44 But news from the east and the north will alarm him, and he will set out in great anger to destroy and annihilate many. 45 He will pitch the tents of his palace between the seas and the holy, coveted mountain; there he will 12 come to his end, and none will help him. 1 At that time Michael will stand, the great [heavenly] prince who stands in support of the members of your people, * and there will be a time of trouble such as there had never been since there was a nation until that time. But at that time your people will escape; everything that is found written in this book [will occur]. 2 Many of those who sleep in the dusty earth will awaken: these for everlasting life

12:4. Write the prophecies in an obscure manner so that their exact meaning remains unclear. People will have to investigate thoroughly and search hard to discern the true intent of these prophecies.

12:6. The angel who had been speaking to Daniel.

12:7. This mysterious time frame for the End is predicted above, 7:25.

Ezra / Nehemiah

עזרא / נחמיה

The Book of Ezra / Nehemiah brings us to a pivotal turning point in Jewish history. It begins an epoch that, in a sense, is still with us, because the glories of David and Solomon were never regained. Even after the Second Temple was rebuilt (349 B.C.E.), the level of holiness of the First Temple era did not return. The Jews were still under the domination of a foreign power, and so it was to remain during most of the years that the Second Temple stood. It was only due to the kindness and generosity of King Cyrus that the Temple could be built at all.

That the return to the land took place at all was thanks to the leadership of Ezra and Nehemiah. Ezra was so great that the Talmud describes him as worthy of having received the Torah, had not Moses preceded him. Nehemiah gave up a prominent position as a royal courtier for the sake of coming to the Land of Israel and rescuing the miniscule settlement from demoralization.

The nation was not worthy of a total redemption; that will come only at the end of the current exile. Even when the royal edict was issued allowing the Jews to return to their land, only 43,000 accepted the offer — a tiny fraction of the nation. Shocking? Most certainly. This was an indication of the sorry state of the nation under foreign domination.

But there was a blaze of greatness unrelated to temporal sovereignty. Ezra and Nehemiah were members of the Anshei Knesses HaGedolah, the Men of the Great Assembly, a council of one hundred and twenty men, many of whom were prophets, which functioned over several generations and rejuvenated the nation. They prayed, successfully, that the craving for idolatry be abolished (which is why the idea of such worship seems so outlandish to modern man); they composed the standard prayers; and — most important of all — brought about the dramatic flowering of the Oral Law, which was and remains the primary repository of Divine wisdom.

Ezra was one of the supreme teachers in Jewish history. He and the Men of the Great Assembly returned the crown of God's greatness to its former splendor by teaching successive generations to seek His beneficent hand behind the mists of history and the ephemeral ascendancy of the wicked. That teaching will illuminate the universe when the final Redemption is at hand.

1:1. The chronology of the kings of the Eastern Empires is as follows: Nebuchadnezzar of Babylonia; his son Evil-merodach; and his son Belshazzar. The Babylonian Empire was conquered by Darius the Mede (see Daniel 6:1, 9:1) and his son-in-law Cyrus the Persian of our verse; they were succeeded by Ahasuerus husband of Esther and his son, Darius the Persian (see 4:5-6 below).

This Book begins at the conclusion of the seventy-year period foretold in Jeremiah 29:10. The first two verses are almost identical with the last two verses of Chronicles.

1:4. Should any Jew be prevented by poverty from going to Jerusalem, let his gentile neighbors supply whatever he needs, so that he may go (Rashi).

1:8. A pseudonym either for Daniel (Rashi; Midrash) or

RETURN TO THE LAND 1:1-2:70

Cyrus' proclamation (See Appendix A, timeline 5)

1 In the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, upon the conclusion of HASHEM's prophecy by the mouth of Jeremiah, HASHEM aroused the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and he issued a proclamation throughout his kingdom — and in writing as well, saying:* 2 "Thus said Cyrus king of Persia: All the kingdoms of the earth has HASHEM, God of heaven, given to me and He has commanded me to build Him a Temple in Jerusalem, which is in Judah. 3 Whoever is among you of His entire people — may his God be with him — and let him go up to Jerusalem which is in Judah and build the Temple of HASHEM, God of Israel — He is the God! — which is in Jerusalem. 4 And whoever remains, in whatever place he dwells, let the inhabitants of that place bestow upon him gifts of silver and gold, of valuables and of animals; together with the contribution for the Temple of God which is in Jerusalem."*

The response

5 So the heads of the families of Judah and Benjamin and the Kohanim and the Levites — with all those whose spirits God had aroused — got up to ascend and build the Temple of HASHEM which is in Jerusalem. 6 And all the people around them strengthened their hands with silver utensils, with gold, with valuables and with animals and with fine goods, besides all that was contributed [for the Temple].

The Temple vessels

7 King Cyrus removed the vessels of the Temple of HASHEM that Nebuchadnezzar had removed from Jerusalem and placed in the temple of his gods. 8 Cyrus king of Persia removed them by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, who then counted them [over] to Sheshbazzar, the leader of Judah.* 9 This was their number: thirty golden utensils, one thousand silver utensils, twenty-nine slaughtering knives, 10 thirty golden bowls, four hundred and ten secondary silver bowls and one thousand other vessels; 11 all the vessels of gold and silver, five thousand four hundred. Sheshbazzar brought them all up with the ascension of the exile from Babylonia to Jerusalem.*

Returning Israelites by family . . .

1 These are the people of the country who ascended from the captivity of the exile that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia had exiled to Babylonia, who returned to Jerusalem and Judah, each man to his city,* 2 who came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Mordechai-bilshan, Mispar-bigvai, Rehum and Baanah, [who comprised] the sum of the dignitaries of the people of Israel:*

3 The children of Parosh, two thousand one hundred seventy-two; 4 the children of Shephatiah, three hundred seventy-two; 5 the children of Arah, seven hundred seventy-five; 6 the children of the Governor of Moab — of the children of Jeshua and Joab — two thousand eight hundred twelve;* 7 the children of Elam, one thousand two hundred fifty-four; 8 the children of Zattu, nine hundred forty-five; 9 the children of Zaccai, seven hundred sixty; 10 the children of Bani, six hundred forty-two; 11 the children of Bebai, six hundred twenty-three; 12 the children of Azgad, one thousand two hundred twenty-two; 13 the children of Adonikam, six hundred sixty-six; 14 the children of Bigvai, two thousand fifty-six; 15 the children of Adin, four hundred fifty-four;

Zerubbabel (Ibn Ezra).

1:11. Including many that were not enumerated in the previous verses.

2:1. That is, the Land of Israel (Rashi).

2:2. This was the Mordechai of the Book of Esther. The Talmud states that the appellation "Bilshan" [from בִּלְשׁוֹן, language] was added to his name because of his unusual mastery of many languages (Menachos 65a).

2:6. This family was descended from King David, or from his general and nephew, Joab (Taanis 28a). Both David and Joab were descendants of the Moabite princess Ruth, hence the family name "Governor of Moab" (Tosafos).

2:31. This Elam is a city; the one mentioned in verse 7 is a family. Nevertheless, the number of people is the same.

2:43. Descendants of the Gibeonites who were assigned menial tasks (woodcutting, water drawing) for the Temple. They were permitted to live among the Jews but not to intermarry with them (see Joshua Ch. 9).

2:55. The descendants of Solomon's slaves lived among the Jews, but never converted (see Rambam, Melachim 6:1).

2:61. See II Samuel 17:27 and 19:32-39. The family

. . . and by city

21 The people of Beth-lehem, one hundred twenty-three; 22 the people of Netophah, fifty-six; 23 the people of Anathoth, one hundred twenty-eight; 24 the people of Azmaveth, forty-two; 25 the people of Kiriath-arim, Chephirah and Beeroth, seven hundred forty-three; 26 the people of the Ramah and Geba, six hundred twenty-one; 27 the people of Michmas, one hundred twenty-two; 28 the people of Beth-el and Ai, two hundred twenty-three; 29 the people of Nebo, fifty-two; 30 the people of Magbish, one hundred fifty-six; 31 the people of a different Elam, one thousand two hundred fifty-four;* 32 the people of Harim, three hundred twenty; 33 the people of Lod, Hadid and Ono, seven hundred twenty-five; 34 the people of Jericho, three hundred forty-five; 35 the people of Senaah, three thousand six hundred thirty.

The Temple ministrants: Kohanim

. . . Levites . . .

. . . Nethinim and the descendants of Solomon's slaves

Those of dubious descent

59 These are the ones who went up from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, Addan and Immer, and could not declare their fathers' families and their descent, whether they were from Israel: 60 The children of Delaiah, the children of Tobiah and the children of Nekoda, six hundred fifty-two.

61 Of the children of the Kohanim: The children of Habaiah, the children of Hakkoz and the children of Barzillai, who took wives from the daughters of Barzillai of Gilead and were called by their name.* 62 These sought their genealogical records, but they could not be found, so they were disqualified from the priesthood.

2:63. In Nehemiah 8:9 this name, or title, is identified with Nehemiah. As a leader of the people, he had the authority to prohibit these Kohanim whose genealogy was suspect from eating the meat of offerings that was limited to Kohanim. The way to clarify their status would have been through the Urim VeTumim of the Kohen Gadol (see Exodus 28:30).

2:65. Marching choirs accompanied the returnees leading them in songs of praise, thanksgiving and joy.

3:1. The month of Tishrei.

3:2. The Kohen Gadol (Haggai 1:1).

3:3. They hoped that the daily continual sacrificial service (see Numbers 28:1-8) would help protect them from 63 Hattirshatha told them that they should not eat of the most-holy offerings until there would arise a Kohen to [inquire of] the Urim and the Tumim.*

The total

64 The entire congregation together numbered forty-two thousand three hundred sixty, 65 *besides their male slaves and female slaves, of which there were seven thousand three hundred thirty-seven. They also had two hundred male singers and female singers. 66 Their horses [numbered] seven hundred thirty-six; their mules, two hundred forty-five; 67 their camels, four hundred thirty-five; [their] donkeys, six thousand seven hundred twenty.

The leaders contribute

68 Some of the heads of the families, when they came to [the site of] the Temple of HASHEM that is in Jerusalem, made contributions to the Temple of God, to establish it on its foundation. 69 They gave according to their means to the work fund: of gold, sixty-one thousand darkemons; of silver, five thousand manehs; and one hundred priestly tunics. 70 The Kohanim and the Levites and some of the people, and the singers and the gatekeepers and the Nethinim, settled in their cities; and all of Israel in their cities.

BUILDING THE SECOND TEMPLE 3:1-6:22

1 The seventh month arrived and the children of Israel were [settled] in the cities. The people then assembled as one man to Jerusalem.* 2 Then Jeshua son of Jozadak arose, along with his brethren the Kohanim and Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and his brethren, and they built the Altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt-offerings upon it, as is written in the Torah of Moses, the man of God.* 3 They established the Altar on its foundations, for the fear of the peoples of the land was upon them, so they offered burnt-offerings upon it to HASHEM *— burnt-offerings for the morning and the evening. 4 *They then observed the festival of Succos as it is written, with the burnt-offerings of each day in its day according to the [required] amount, according to the law of each day in its day. 5 Afterwards [they offered] daily burnt-offerings as well as those of the New Moons and of all the sanctified festivals of HASHEM*; and [offerings] from anyone who dedicated a voluntary offering to* HASHEM. 6 From the first day of the seventh month they commenced offering burnt-offerings to HASHEM*, but the foundation of the Sanctuary of* HASHEM had not yet been laid. 7 They gave money to the quarriers and carpenters, and food, drink and oil to the Sidonians and to the Tyrians, to transport cedar wood from Lebanon to the Sea of Jaffa, as authorized for them by Cyrus, king of Persia.

The Altar and its offerings

Construction of the Temple's foundation begins

8 In the second year of their arrival at the [site of the] Temple of God, to Jerusalem, in the second month, Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and Jeshua son of Jozadak and the rest of their brethren, the Kohanim and the Levites and all those who came back from the captivity to Jerusalem commenced, and they stationed the Levites aged twenty years and older to direct the work of the Temple of HASHEM. 9 Then Jeshua, his sons and kinsmen, Kadmiel and his sons, [of] the children of Judah, arose as one, to direct the workers in the Temple of God; [as well as] the sons of Henadad, their sons and their brother Levites. 10 When the builders had laid the foundation of the Sanctuary of HASHEM they stationed the Kohanim, [elegantly] attired, with trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with cymbals, to praise HASHEM through [the psalms of] David, king of Israel. 11 They sang responsively with praise and thanksgiving to HASHEM*, for it is good* their enemies (Ibn Ezra). Alternatively, their prompt construction of the Altar demonstrated to the hostile populace that they had royal backing (Rashi).

3:11. Their words of praise are not recorded here (Rashi; Metzudos). Alternatively, the verse reads, "They sang responsively with praise and thanksgiving: 'To HASHEM, for He is good, for His benevolence towards Israel is eternal' " (Malbim).

3:12. Although the younger people justifiably rejoiced, the older ones were saddened, because the new Temple was of lesser magnitude in comparison with the Temple of Solomon (Haggai 2:3).

4:1. The foreign tribes installed in Samaria by Sennacherib (see II Kings 17:24-41). These newcomers adopted a distorted version of the Jewish religion, sacrificing to the God of Israel as well as to their own idols.

4:2. Sennacherib's son and successor (II Kings 19:37).

[to praise Him], for His benevolence towards Israel is eternal. All the people burst into a great shout of praise to HASHEM, upon the laying of the foundation of the*

Joy and grief

Temple of HASHEM. 12 But many of the elder Kohanim, Levites and heads of families, who had beheld the First Temple on its foundation, wept loudly [when] this Temple was before their eyes; while many [who had not seen the First Temple] raised their voices in shouting for joy.* 13 The people did not notice the sound of the joyful shouting because of the sound of the people's weeping, although the people shouted with a great shout and the noise was heard from afar.

4 1 The enemies of Judah and Benjamin heard that the people of the exile were building a Sanctuary for HASHEM, God of Israel.* 2 They approached Zerubbabel and the heads of families and said to them, "Let us build with you, for, like you, we will seek your God; it is to Him that we have been sacrificing since the days of Esar-haddon, king of Assyria, who brought us up here."*

The enemies offer assistance

3 But Zerubbabel, along with Jeshua and the rest of the family heads of Israel, said to them, "It is not for you together with us to build a Temple for our God; rather we, by ourselves, will build [it] for HASHEM, God of Israel, as King Cyrus* king of Persia has commanded us."* 4 Then, people of the land weakened the hands of the people of Judah and frightened them [from] building. 5 They hired advisers against them to disrupt their plans, all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, until the reign of Darius king of Persia. 6 During the reign of Ahasuerus, at the beginning of his reign, they wrote a calumny against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

Disruption

7 In the days of Artaxerxes, Mithredath-tabeel and the rest of his cohorts wrote a greeting to Artaxerxes king of Persia. The text of the letter was written in Aramaic script and in the Aramaic language.*

8* Rehum the counselor and Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter concerning Jerusalem to King Artaxerxes, as we will state. 9 Then Rehum the spokesman and Shimshai the scribe and the rest of their cohorts — the Dinites, the Apharesattechites, the Tarpelites, the Apharesites, the Archevites, the Babylonians, the Shusanchites, the Dehites, the Elamites, 10 and the rest of the nations whom the great and venerated Asenappar had exiled and settled in the cities of Samaria, along with the rest of the [residents of] the Trans-Euphrates region and [the city of] Cheeneth — [wrote this letter].* 11 This is the text of the letter that they dispatched to him, to King Artaxerxes:

The enemies' letter to King Artaxerxes

> [From] your servants the people of the Trans-Euphrates region on this date: 12 Let it be known to the king that the Jews who went up from you to us have arrived in Jerusalem. They are constructing a rebellious and villainous city; they have laid the foundations for the ramparts and are linking the walls. 13 Now let it be known to the king that should this city be built and the ramparts established they will no longer pay levy, tax and duty, and you will [thus] cause damage to the royal revenue. 14 Now, inasmuch as we are

4:3. They suspected that the Samaritans would try to sabotage their work.

4:3-6. For the chronology of the kings, see note to 1:1. King Cyrus was the first to give permission to rebuild the Temple, and Ahasuerus revoked it.

4:7. Artaxerxes was Cyrus; Artaxerxes was a generic term for "king" in Persian, like "Pharaoh" in Egyptian (Rosh Hashanah 3b).

4:8. The disputes, discussions and correspondence of the Jewish leaders, their gentile neighbors and the Persian monarch were carried out in Aramaic. Thus, from this verse through 6:18, the text uses that language instead of Hebrew.

4:10. King Sennacherib (Rashi etc.).

4:14. Alternatively, "of preserving the [king's] palace," i.e., we have the king's interest in mind.

4:24. A hiatus of eighteen years (Seder Olam).

5:1. At the end of the time period mentioned in the desirous of destroying the Sanctuary, * for it is not proper for us to witness the king's disgrace — therefore, we have dispatched and notified the king 15 that he should examine the book of records of his ancestors, and he will find in the book of records and become aware, that this city is a rebellious city, and damaging to kings and provinces, and they have made insurrection in it since ancient days; that is why this city was destroyed. 16 We notify the king that if this city is built and the foundations for its ramparts laid, in consequence of this you will have no part of the Trans-Euphrates region.

The king's reply

17 The king sent a message to Rehum the counselor and Shimshai the scribe and the rest of their cohorts living in Samaria and to the rest of the Trans-Euphrates region, [and the cities of] Shelam and Che[en]eth:

18 The letter that you dispatched to us has been read explicitly before me. 19 An order was given by me, and [my officials] investigated and discovered that this city has risen up against its kings since ancient days, and rebellion and insurrection have perpetrated in it. 20 Mighty kings once reigned over Jerusalem, who ruled over all of the Trans-Euphrates region, and levy, tax and duty were paid to them. 21 Now, issue a decree to halt these people; this city shall not be built until a decree is issued by me. 22 Take care not to be remiss in doing this, why should destruction increase, to the harm of kings.

The Temple construction is halted

23 Then, as soon as the text of King Artaxerxes' letter was read before Rehum, Shimshai the scribe and their cohorts, they went in haste to Jerusalem to the Jews and halted them with force and power.

24 The work of the Temple of God in Jerusalem was thus halted, and remained halted until the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia. *

5 (See Appendix A, timeline 5)

Haggai and Zechariah prophesy

1 Haggai the prophet and Zechariah son of Iddo the prophets prophesied * to the Jews who were in Judah and in Jerusalem, in the name of the God of Israel, about them. 2 Then Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and Jeshua son of Jozadak arose and began to build the Temple of God that was in Jerusalem, and with them were the prophets of God, assisting them.

Tattenai investigates . . .

3 At that time, Tattenai, governor of the Trans-Euphrates region, approached them, along with Shethar-bozenai and their accomplices. They said this to them, "Who issued you a decree to construct this building and to lay the foundation for these ramparts?" 4 Then they said the following to them, "What are the names of the persons constructing this building?" 5 But the eye of their God watched over the elders of the Jewish, and [Tattenai and his accomplices] did not halt them until the matter could be brought before Darius, when [Darius and his officials] would write a reply about it.

. . . and informs the king

6 [This is] the text of the letter which Tattenai, governor of the Trans-Euphrates region, along with Shethar-bozenai and his cohorts, the Apharesachites who were in the Trans-Euphrates region, sent to King Darius. 7 They sent a message to him, and this was written therein:

To King Darius, all peace! 8 Let it be known to the king that we have gone to the province of Judah, to the Temple of the great God; it is being built of marble stone, with wood reinforcing the walls. This work is proceeding rapidly and is succeeding in their hands. 9 Then we questioned these elders, previous verse — during the second year of Darius — Haggai and Zechariah prophesied that the Jews should resume the building of the Temple, even in the absence of official permission.

5:13-15. See Chapter 1.

6:6. Although this verse contains no introductory phrase, it is obviously not a continuation of the scroll text. Rather, it is Darius' reply to Tattenai.

saying thus to them: 'Who issued you a decree to construct this building and to lay the foundation for these ramparts?' 10 We also asked them for their names, in order to inform you, so that we could record the names of the men at their head. 11 This is the answer they replied to us, saying: 'We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are rebuilding a Temple that had been built these many years ago; a great king of Israel built it and laid its foundation. 12 However, because our ancestors had angered the God of heaven, He delivered them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia, the Chaldean, who destroyed this Temple and exiled the people to Babylonia. 13 However, in the first year of Cyrus king of Babylonia, King Cyrus gave an order to have this Temple of God rebuilt. 14 In addition, the vessels of gold and silver of the Temple of God which Nebuchadnezzar had removed from the Sanctuary in Jerusalem and brought to the temple in Babylon, King Cyrus removed them from the temple in Babylon and they were given to the one named Sheshbazzar, whom he had appointed governor. 15 And he said to him, "Take these vessels and go and put them in the Sanctuary that is in Jerusalem, and let the Temple of God be built on its place." 16 Then this Sheshbazzar came and set in place the walls of the Temple of God which is in Jerusalem. From then until now it has been under construction, but has not been completed.' 17 And now, if it pleases the king, let a search be made of the royal archives that are there in Babylon if it is true that a decree was issued by King Cyrus to build this Temple of God in Jerusalem; and let the king convey to us his will in this matter.*

Recollection of Cyrus' decree

6 1 Then King Darius issued a decree, and they searched in the library where the archives were stored in Babylonia. 2 A scroll was discovered in a pouch in the palace in the province of Media, and this was the record that was written in it:

3 In the first year of King Cyrus, King Cyrus issued a decree [concerning] the Temple of God in Jerusalem: The Temple shall be built, a place for the offering of sacrifices, with its walls strongly founded, its height sixty cubits and its width sixty cubits. 4 [There shall be] three rows of marble and one row of new wood, with the expenses provided for by the royal palace. 5 Also, the golden and silver vessels of the Temple of God, which Nebuchadnezzar removed from the Sanctuary in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, shall be returned and shall go to the Sanctuary that is in Jerusalem, to their place, and they shall be placed in the Temple of God.

The king's reply to Tattenai

The king's directive

*6 So now, Tattenai, governor of the Trans-Euphrates region, Shetharbozenai and their cohorts, the Apharesachites of the Trans-Euphrates region — keep a distance from that place. 7 Leave the work of this Temple of God alone; the governor of the Jews and the elders of the Jews shall rebuild this Temple of God in its place. 8 A decree is hereby issued by me that you should cooperate with these elders of the Jews to rebuild this Temple of God; and the expenses should be provided immediately to these people from the royal estate, from the Trans-Euphrates Region's taxes, so that [their work] not be halted. 9 And whatever they require — young bulls, rams, and sheep for burnt-offerings to the God of heaven, wheat, salt, wine and oil,

6:19. The text here reverts to Hebrew.
On the fourteenth of Nissan, they resumed bringing the pesach-offering in the Temple (see Exodus 12:3-10; Deuteronomy 16:1-3).

6:21. I.e., those who had converted to Judaism (Rashi).

7:6. Literally, "hand." Darius granted every request that God commanded Ezra to make (Rashi).

7:7. See 2:43.

according to the specifications of the Kohanim who are in Jerusalem — shall be supplied to them day by day, without fail, [10] so that they may offer pleasing offerings to the God of heaven and pray for the lives of the king and his children. [11] And a decree is hereby issued by me that any person who will deviate from this matter shall have a beam torn out of his house, upon which he shall be hanged, and his house shall be designated a dunghill for this. [12] And may the God Who has caused His Name to dwell there topple any king or people who may stretch out his hand to disobey [this decree], to damage this Temple of God that is in Jerusalem. I, Darius, have issued a decree; let it be implemented expeditiously!

[13] Then Tattenai, governor of the Trans-Euphrates region, Shethar-bozenai and their cohorts, in consideration of King Darius' dispatch, acted expeditiously according to what was stated. [14] The elders of the Jews built and were successful, through the prophecy of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah son of Iddo; they built and they established the foundations [of the Temple] by the decree of the God of Israel and by the decree of Cyrus, Darius and Artaxerxes king of Persia.

Successful construction

[15] This Temple was completed by the third day of the month of Adar, during the sixth year of the reign of King Darius. [16] The Children of Israel, the Kohanim and the Levites and the remainder of the people of the exile celebrated the inauguration of this Temple of God with joy. [17] They offered for the inauguration of this Temple of God: one hundred bulls, two hundred rams and four hundred sheep, and twelve young goats as sin-offerings for all of Israel, corresponding to the number of the tribes of Israel. [18] They established the Kohanim in their groups and the Levites in their divisions for the service of God in Jerusalem, as written in the Book of Moses.

The inauguration celebration

[19] *The people of the exile brought the pesach-offering on the fourteenth day of the first month. [20] For the Kohanim and the Levites had purified themselves as one; all of them were pure. They slaughtered the pesach-offering for all the people of the exile, and for their brethren the Kohanim, and for themselves. [21] The Children of Israel who had returned from the exile ate it, together with all those who had separated themselves from the defilement of the nations of the land to join them and to seek HASHEM, God of Israel.* [22] They celebrated the Festival of Matzos joyfully for a seven-day period, for HASHEM had brought them joy, for He turned the heart of the king of Assyria toward them, to strengthen their hands in the labor for the Temple of God, the God of Israel.

EZRA TAKES CHARGE 7:1-10:44

[1] After these things, during the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia, Ezra son of Seraiah son of Azariah son of Hilkiah [2] son of Shallum son of Zadok son of Ahitub [3] son of Amariah son of Azariah son of Meraioth [4] son of Zerahiah son of Uzzi son of Bukki [5] son of Abishua son of Phinehas son of Elazar son of Aaron, the first Kohen — [6] this Ezra ascended from Babylonia; he was a brilliant scholar of the Torah of Moses, which HASHEM, God of Israel, had given. The king granted him his every request, according to the command of HASHEM, His God, to him.* [7] And some of the Children of Israel and the Kohanim and the Levites, singers and gatekeepers, and the Nethinim, ascended to Jerusalem during the seventh year of King Artaxerxes.* [8] He arrived in Jerusalem in the fifth month of the seventh year of the king.* [9] For the first day of the first month was the beginning of the ascent from Babylonia, and on the first day of the fifth month he arrived in Jerusalem, by the benevolence of the hand of his God upon him.* 10 For Ezra set his heart to expound the Torah of HASHEM and to fulfill and to teach [its] statute and law in Israel.

The king's letter

11 This is the text of the letter that King Artaxerxes gave to Ezra the Kohen, the scholar of the commandments of HASHEM and His statutes to Israel:

Permission to return

12 Artaxerxes, king of kings, to Ezra the Kohen, scholar of the Law of the God of heaven and master of it, on this date:* 13 A decree is hereby issued by me that anyone in my kingdom among the people of Israel and their Kohanim and the Levites who volunteers to journey to Jerusalem with you may go. 14 Because you have been dispatched by the king and his seven counselors to investigate Judah and Jerusalem concerning the Torah of your God, which is in your hand, 15 and to transport the silver and gold that the king and his counselors have contributed to the God of Israel, whose dwelling place is in Jerusalem, 16 and all the silver and gold that you may find in the entire province of Babylonia, together with contributions that the people and the Kohanim contribute to the Temple of their God that is in Jerusalem —* 17 by means of this you shall immediately purchase with this money bulls, rams, sheep, and their meal-offerings and their libations, and offer them on the Altar of the Temple of your God that is in Jerusalem. 18 You may do with the remaining silver and gold whatever seems proper to you and your brethren, [and is] in accordance with the will of your God, you may do. 19 Furthermore, deliver the vessels that were given to you for the service of the Temple of your God before God in Jerusalem. 20 And any other needs of the Temple of your God that may arise for you to provide, you may provide from the king's treasury. 21 Furthermore, a decree is hereby issued by me — I, King Artaxerxes — to all the treasurers in the Trans-Euphrates region, that whatever Ezra the Kohen, scholar of the Law of the God of heaven, shall request of you, shall be granted expeditiously, 22 up to one hundred talents of silver, up to one hundred kors of wheat, up to one hundred baths* of wine, up to one hundred baths of oil and unlimited salt.* 23 Whatever is decreed by the God of Heaven shall be done by the [king's] seal for the Temple of God; lest [His] rage befall the king's realm and his children. 24 We also declare to you that concerning all the Kohanim and the Levites, the singers and gatekeepers, the Nethinim and whoever serves in this Temple of God — it shall not be lawful to impose upon them any levy, tax or duty. 25 *And you, Ezra, in accordance with the Divine wisdom that you possess, shall appoint judges and magistrates who will judge all the people who are in the Trans-Euphrates region; [appoint] men who know the Law of your God, or teach those who do not know. 26 Anyone who does not fulfill the Law of your God and the law of the king, judgment shall be swiftly executed against him, whether to be put to death or to be uprooted or to be punished with loss of property or with imprisonment.

Contributions for the Temple

The king finances the Temple services

Temple personnel exempted from taxes

Enforcement of Torah law

Ezra's thanksgiving praise

27 "Blessed is HASHEM,* God of our forefathers, Who has put such [thoughts] in the heart of the king, to glorify the Temple of HASHEM that is in Jerusalem, 28 Who extended kindness to me from before the king and his counselors and all of the king's powerful officers!"

7:27. Once again the text reverts to Hebrew. Ezra thanked God for causing the king to give such unstinting support to him and to the holy work in Jerusalem.

8:4. See 2:6.

8:16. Ezra wanted them to help find Levites and Nethinim who would join him in the journey to the Land of Israel.

8:17. The town of Casiphia, as opposed to the province of the same name (Malbim).

I then strengthened myself, in accordance with whatever the hand of HASHEM, my God, gave me the ability to do, and I assembled leaders from Israel to ascend with me.

8 [1] These are the heads of families and the genealogies of those who ascended with me from Babylon during the reign of King Artaxerxes: [2] Of the sons of

The family heads

Phinehas — Gershom; of the sons of Ithamar — Daniel; of the sons of David — Hattush; [3] of the sons of Shecaniah, of the sons of Pharosh — Zechariah, and with him one hundred fifty males traced their lineage; [4] of the sons of the Governor of Moab — Eliehoenai son of Zerahiah, and with him two hundred males;* [5] of the sons of Shecaniah — the son of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males; [6] of the sons of Adin — Ebed son of Jonathan, and with him fifty males; [7] of the sons of Elam — Jeshaiah son of Athaliah, and with him seventy males; [8] of the sons of Shephatiah — Zebadiah son of Michael, and with him eighty males; [9] of the sons of Joab — Obadiah son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred eighteen males; [10] of the sons of Shelomith — the son of Josiphiah, and with him one hundred sixty males; [11] of the sons of Bebai — Zechariah son of Bebai, and with him twenty-eight males; [12] of the sons of Azgad — Johanan the son of Hakkatan, and with him one hundred ten males; [13] of the sons of Adonikam, the last ones, and these were their names — Eliphelet, Jeiel and Shemaiah, and with them sixty males; [14] and of the sons of Bigvai — Uthai and Zaccur, and with them seventy males.

The missing Levites

[15] I assembled them at the flowing river, at the Ahava, and we encamped there for three days. I then scrutinized the people and the Kohanim, but I could find no Levites there. [16] So I dispatched the leaders Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah and Meshullam, and the sages Joiarib and Elnathan.* [17] I directed them to the leader Iddo, in the place Casiphia, and I gave them a message to convey to Iddo [and] his brother, who were settled in the place* Casiphia, to bring us ministers for the* Temple of our God. [18] By the benevolence of the hand of our God to us, they brought to us a wise man of the descendants of Mahli [grand]son of Levi son of Israel; and Sherebiah and eighteen of his sons and kinsmen; [19] and Hashabiah, and with him Isaiah of the sons of Merari, and twenty of his kinsmen and their sons; [20] and of the Nethinim, whom David and his officers had designated for the service of the Levites, two hundred twenty Nethinim, all of them designated by name.*

Ezra's fast

[21] I proclaimed a fast [there], on the River Ahava, to afflict ourselves before our God and beseech Him for favorable passage for us, for our young children and for all our possessions. [22] For I was embarrassed to request troops and horsemen of the king to assist us against an adversary along the way, since we had told the king that the hand of our God is benevolent to all who seek Him, and His might and anger befall all who forsake Him. [23] So we fasted and beseeched our God for this, and He granted our prayers. [24] I then set aside

Guardians for the valuables

twelve of the chiefs of the Kohanim: Sherebiah, Hashabiah and ten of their brethren with them. [25] I weighed out to them the silver and the gold and the vessels — contributions for the Temple of our God that were donated by the king

8:20. Originally, Joshua had set the Gibeonites up as servants (Joshua 9:21), and David confirmed and extended this status (see Yevamos 79a).

9:1. These are the ranking Jewish officials, not the foreign officers of the preceding verse or the lower echelon functionaries of the next verse.

9:9. We are still totally subservient to the powers in Persia.

and his counselors and his officers and all of Israel who were present. 26 I weighed out into their hand six hundred fifty talents of silver; one hundred silver vessels, each a talent; one hundred talents of gold; 27 twenty golden bowls, weighing one thousand darkons; and two vessels of fine golden-colored copper, as splendid as gold. 28 I said to them, "You are sacred to HASHEM, and the vessels are sacred; and the silver and the gold are contributions to HASHEM, God of your forefathers. 29 Be diligent and guard [them] until you weigh [them over] before the chiefs of the Kohanim and Levites and the heads of the families of Israel in Jerusalem for the chambers of the Temple of HASHEM." 30 The Kohanim and the Levites thus accepted the weight of the silver and the gold and the vessels, to bring to Jerusalem for the Temple of God.

The valuables delivered and weighed

31 We departed from the River Ahava on the twelfth of the first month to go to Jerusalem; and the hand of our God assisted us, and He saved us from the hand of [any] enemy and ambush along the way. 32 We arrived in Jerusalem, and remained there for three days. 33 On the fourth day, the silver and the gold and the vessels were weighed over at the Temple of our God by the hand of Meremoth son of Uriah the Kohen, along with Elazar son of Phinehas, and with them Jozabad son of Jeshua and Noadiah son of Binnui, the Levites, 34 with a count and with a weight for everything; and all the weight was recorded at that time.

Burnt-offerings

The royal decrees transmitted

35 The people of the exile returning from the captivity brought as burnt-offerings to the God of Israel, twelve bulls for all [the tribes of] Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven sheep; twelve goats as sin-offerings; brought up [on the Altar] in their entirety as offerings to HASHEM. 36 They delivered the royal decrees to the king's satraps and the governors of the Trans-Euphrates region, who then showed respect for the people and the Temple of God.

INTER-MARRIAGE 9:1-10:44

1 When these [matters] were concluded, the officers approached me, saying, "The people of Israel, the Kohanim and the Levites have not kept themselves apart from the peoples of the lands; [doing] like the abominations of the Canaanite, the Hittite, the Perizzite, the Jebusite, the Ammonite, the Moabite, the Egyptian and the Amorite.* 2 For they have taken of their daughters in marriage for themselves and for their sons, and the sacred offspring [of Israel] have intermingled with the peoples of the land. And the hand of the officers and the chiefs has been foremost in this transgression!"

Ezra's anguish

Ezra's public prayer

3 When I heard this thing I tore my garment and my cloak; tore hair from my head and my beard, and I sat down in silence. 4 Everyone who hastened at the word of the God of Israel then gathered around me concerning the transgression of the exile, while I sat in silence until [the time of] the afternoon offering. 5 At the afternoon offering I arose from my fast, with my garment and my cloak torn, and I fell upon my knees and spread out my palms to HASHEM, my God. 6 I said, "My God, I am embarrassed and ashamed to lift my face to You, my God; for our iniquities have multiplied over [our] head, and our sins extend up to the heavens! 7 From the days of our forefathers we have been in great guilt, until this day; and because of our iniquities we have been delivered — we, our kings and our Kohanim — into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity and to plunder and to shamefacedness, as of this very day. 8 And now, for a fleeting moment, favor has been bestowed by HASHEM, our God, to leave us a remnant and to grant us a stake in His sacred place for our God to enlighten our eyes, and to give us a slight revival in our servitude. 9 *For we are slaves,

10:2. Although only a small fraction of the people married alien wives [the list contains only one hundred twelve names], and Shecaniah was certainly not among them, he nevertheless said "we have transgressed." He included himself to minimize the embarrassment of the true culprits who would later confess (Talmud, Sanhedrin 116a).

but our God has not forsaken us in our servitude; and he has extended kindness over us before the kings of Persia to grant us a revival, to raise up the Temple of our God and to restore its ruins and to provide us with a fence in Judah and in Confession Jerusalem. [10] So now, what can we say, O our God, after this? For we have forsaken Your commandments [11] which You have commanded through Your servants the prophets, saying, 'The land that you are approaching to inherit is a land of repulsiveness, because of the repulsiveness of the peoples of the lands, because of their abominations with which they have filled it from end to end, with their defilement. [12] So now, do not give your daughters to their sons, and do not wed their daughters to your sons, and do not seek after their peace and their well-being forever, so that you may possess and eat of the goodness of the land, and bequeath it to your sons forever.' [13] After all that has befallen us for our evil deeds and great guilt — yet You, our God, have withheld [retribution] to less than our iniquities [deserve], and have granted us this remnant — [14] shall we again violate Your commandments and intermarry with the peoples of these abominations? Surely You would become enraged at us, until [our] destruction without remnant or survivor!

[15] "HASHEM, God of Israel, You are charitable, for we have survived as a remnant to this very day. Behold, we are before You in our guilt, for we are unworthy to stand before You because of this."

Assembly and remorse

[1] As Ezra prayed and as he confessed, weeping and prostrating himself before the Temple of God, there gathered near him an exceedingly large congregation from Israel — men, women and children — for the people wept profusely.

[2] Then, Shecaniah son of Jehiel of the sons of Elam spoke up and said to Ezra, "We have transgressed against our God and have taken in alien women of the* Covenant and oath peoples of the land! But now there is hope for Israel concerning this. [3] So now let us seal a covenant with our God to send away all of the women and those born from them, according to the counsel of the Lord and those who hasten at the commandment of our God; let it be done according to the Torah. [4] Arise, for the matter rests upon you and we are with you; be strong and act!"

[5] So Ezra arose and administered an oath to the chiefs of the Kohanim, the Ezra's grief Levites, and all of Israel to carry out this matter, and they swore. [6] Ezra then arose from before the Temple of God and went to the chamber of Johanan son of Eliashib; he went there, but he did not eat any bread and did not drink any water, for he was mourning over the faithlessness of the exiles.

Public assembly in Jerusalem [7] A proclamation was issued in Judah and Jerusalem to all of the people of the exile to assemble in Jerusalem, [8] and that if anyone failed to come within three days, in accordance with the counsel of the officers and the elders, all his property would be destroyed, and he would be isolated from the congregation of the exile.

[9] All the men of Judah and Benjamin assembled in Jerusalem within three days, which was in the ninth month, on the twentieth of the month; all the people sat in the plaza of the Temple of God trembling because of the matter*

Ezra's charge to the people and from the rains. [10] Ezra the Kohen arose and said to them, "You have been unfaithful and have taken in alien wives, adding to Israel's guilt. [11] So now, make confession before HASHEM, God of your forefathers, and perform His will, and separate yourselves from the peoples of the land and from 10:16. The month of Teves.

Nehemiah

Like the divisions of Samuel, Kings and Chronicles into two Books, the division of Ezra into the two Books of Ezra and Nehemiah is a Christian invention. It was introduced into Jewish Bibles by Italian printers early in the sixteenth century when Jews were not permitted to own printing presses. Like the chapter numbers, also a non-Jewish innovation, this usage has no halachic implications, and has been retained in virtually all editions of Scripture as the alien wives!"

The congregation's response

12 The entire congregation then called out and exclaimed in a loud voice, "It is true! We must do as you say! 13 But there are many people, and it is the rainy season and there is no strength to remain outdoors. This is not a task for one day or for two days, for we have sinned abundantly in this matter. 14 Let our chiefs now remain with the entire congregation, and let all those in our cities who have taken in alien wives appear at designated times, accompanied by the elders and judges of each city, until we cause the burning wrath of our God to recede from us, until this matter [is resolved]." 15 Only Jonathan son of Asahel and Jahzeiah son of Tikvah stood against this, and Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite supported them.

Minuscule opposition

Compliance of the assembled

16 *The people of the exile did so. Ezra the Kohen and the distinguished men who were the heads of the families — all of them renowned — separated themselves and convened on the first day of the tenth month * to investigate the matter.* 17 They finished dealing with all the men who had taken in alien wives, by the first day of the first month.

The repentant transgressors

18 Among the sons of the Kohanim who were found to have taken in alien wives were: of the sons of Jeshua son of Jozadak and his brethren — Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib and Gedaliah — 19 they gave their hand [in oath] to send away their wives and to offer a guilt-offering of a ram from the flock for their guilt; 20 and of the sons of Immer: Hanani and Zebadiah; 21 and of the sons of Harim — Maaseiah, Elijah, Shemaiah, Jehiel and Uzziah; 22 and of the sons of Pashhur — Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad and Elasah; 23 and from the Levites — Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah (he is Kelita), Pethahiah, Judah and Eliezer; 24 and from the singers — Eliashib; and from the gatekeepers — Shallum, Telem and Uri. 25 And of Israel: of the sons of Parosh — Ramiah, Izziah, Malchijah, Miamin, Eleazar, Malchijah and Benaiah; 26 and of the sons of Elam — Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jehiel, Abdi, Jeremoth and Elijah; 27 and of the sons of Zattu — Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Jeremoth, Zabad and Aziza; 28 and of the sons of Bebai — Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai and Athlai; 29 and of the sons of Bani — Meshullam, Malluch, Adaiah, Jashub, Sheal and Ramoth; 30 and of the sons of the governor of Moab — Adna, Chelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel, Binnui and Manasseh; 31 and the sons of Harim: Eliezer, Isshijah, Malchijah, Shemaiah, Shimeon, 32 Benjamin, Malluch and Shemariah; 33 of the sons of Hashum — Mattenai, Mattattah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh and Shimei; 34 of the sons of Bani — Maadai, Amram, Uel, 35 Benaiah, Bedeiah, Cheluhu, 36 Vaniah, Meremoth, Eliashib, 37 Mattaniah, Mattenai, Jaasai, 38 Bani, Binnui, Shimei, 39 Shelemiah, Nathan, Adaiah, 40 Machnadebai, Shashai, Sharai, 41 Azarel, Shelemiah, Shemariah, 42 Shallum, Amariah and Joseph; 43 of the sons of Nebo — Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, Jaddai, Joel and Benaiah. 44 All these had married alien wives, some of them wives by whom they had had children.

1 The words of Nehemiah son of Hacaliah:

*It was during the month of Kislev of the twentieth year, * and I was in the capital city of Shushan.* 2 Hanani, one of my brethren, came, he and men from Judah, and I inquired of them about the Jews who had survived, who

a matter of convenience.

The events in this Book took place fourteen years after the completion of the Second Temple (Ezra 6:15). Although the Temple now stood, the Jews in Jerusalem suffered from privation and the threat of attack (see Ch. 4). Nehemiah left his position in the Persian royal court to rejuvenate the Jerusalem community.

1:1. That is, the twentieth year of the reign of Artaxerxes (see 2:1), who is identified as Darius of Persia, the son of Ahasuerus and Esther (Rashi).

1:2. The Jews who left Babylonian captivity to return to the Land of Israel with Ezra (Metzudos).

1:8-9. See Deuteronomy 28:64 and 30:1-5.

1:11. King Darius.

2:4. Nehemiah prayed inwardly that his request be accepted by the king.

remained of the captivity, * and about Jerusalem.

3 They said to me, "The remaining ones, who remained of the captivity there in the province, are in great misery and humiliation; the wall of Jerusalem is breached, and its gates have been set afire."

Nehemiah's distress and prayer

4 It was when I heard these words that I sat and wept and grieved for days, and I fasted and prayed before the God of the heavens. 5 I said, "I beseech You, HASHEM, God of the heavens, the great and awesome God, Keeper of the covenant and of kindness for those who love Him and for those who observe His commandments. 6 Please, may Your ear be attentive and Your eyes open to listen to Your servant's prayer, which I pray before You today, day and night, for the Children of Israel, Your servants. I confess to the sins of the Children of Israel that we have sinned against You; I and my father's household have sinned. 7 We have been destructive toward You; we have not observed the commandments, the precepts and the laws that You commanded Your servant Moses. 8 Remember, please, the word that You commanded Your servant Moses, saying, 'If you will act with treachery, I will disperse you among the nations, 9 but when you return to Me and observe My commandments and perform them, even if the banished among you reach the ends of the heavens, I shall gather them from there and bring them to the place that I have chosen to rest My Name there.' * 10 For they are Your servants and Your people whom You redeemed with Your great strength and with Your powerful hand. 11 I beseech You, my Lord, please let Your ear be attentive to the prayer of Your servant, and to the prayer of Your servants who desire to fear Your Name, and grant Your servant success this day, and make him the object of compassion before this man." * I was the king's cupbearer.

2 1 It happened in the month of Nissan of the twentieth year of King Artaxerxes, that wine [was brought] before him. I carried the wine and gave it to the king. I had never before appeared downcast in his presence. 2 So the king said to me, "Why is your face downcast? You are not ill. This can only signify [that there is] evil [in your] heart!" I became very frightened.

Nehemiah before the king

3 I said to the king, "May the king live forever! Why should my face not be downcast, when the city of my ancestors' graves is in ruin, and its gates are consumed by fire?"

4 The king said to me, "What is it that you request?"

I then prayed to the God of Heaven; * 5 and I said to the king, "If it please the king, and if your servant is worthy before you, then send me to Judah, to the city of my ancestors' graves, that I may rebuild it."

6 The king said to me, with the queen sitting beside him, "When will you depart and when will you return?" It pleased the king and he gave me leave; and I gave him a time.

7 Then I said to the king, "If it please the king, let them give me letters for the governors of the Trans-Euphrates region, so that they will grant me passage until I arrive in Judah, 8 and a letter for Asaph, the keeper of the king's forest, that he should give me timber to roof the gates of the Temple complex, and for the walls of the city, and for the home into which I will enter." The king granted me [this], by the hand of my God which was benevolent to me.

9 I came to the governors of the Trans-Euphrates region and gave them the king's letters. The king had sent army officers and horsemen with me.

2:10. Sanballat the Horonite, an apostate Jew, was numbered among the adversaries of the Jews (Ri Mitrani).

2:12. The men who accompanied me walked on foot.

2:13. The translation follows Ibn Ezra and Ralbag. Rashi renders, "I broke the wall," i.e., Nehemiah made additional breaches to the already breached wall, in order to arouse the citizenry to rebuild it.

2:14. Because of all the debris from the wall at that point.

Enemies of Judah and Benjamin

10 Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah, the Ammonite slave, heard and they were extremely disturbed that someone had come to seek the welfare of the Children of Israel.*

11 I arrived in Jerusalem, and was there for three days. 12 *I arose during the night, I and a few people with me but I did not tell anyone what my God had set in my heart to do for Jerusalem. I had no animal with me, except the animal upon which I was riding. 13 I went out at night through the Gate of the Valley, towards the direction of the Serpent's Spring, to the Dung Gate; I contemplated the walls of Jerusalem which had been breached, and its gates consumed by fire.* 14 *I then passed on to the Spring Gate and the King's Pool, but there was no room for the animal under me to pass. 15 I went up the valley in the night, and I contemplated the wall; then I turned back and I entered by the Gate of the Valley and returned.

Nehemiah's nighttime excursion

16 The nobles did not know where I had gone nor what I was doing; for I had not as yet informed the Jews and the Kohanim and the aristocrats and the nobles and the others who did the work. 17 So I said to them, "You see the bad situation we are in, that Jerusalem is in ruin and its gates have been burned in fire. Come, let us build the wall of Jerusalem, so that we will no longer be a [source of] humiliation!" 18 I told them of the hand of my God which was benevolent to me, and also of the king's words that he had said to me.*

The people accept Nehemiah's plan

They said, "Let us get up and build!" and they strengthened their hands [in resolve] for the benefit [of the city].

The enemies' ridicule and Nehemiah's reply

19 Sanballat the Horonite, Tobiah the Ammonite slave, and Geshem the Arab heard; they ridiculed us and were contemptuous of us and said, "What is this thing you are doing? Are you rebelling against the king?"

20 I answered them a word; I said to them, "The God of Heaven will grant us success, and we, His servants, will arise and build — but you have no portion nor merit nor remembrance in Jerusalem!"

BUILDING JERUSALEM'S WALL 3:1-4:17; 6:1-6:19

1 Eliashib the Kohen Gadol arose, along with his brethren the Kohanim, and they rebuilt the Sheep Gate. They sanctified it and erected its doors; they sanctified [the wall] up to the Tower of Hammeah [and] up to the Tower of Hananel.* 2 Next to him, the men of Jericho built [the wall]; and next to him, Zaccur son of Imri built. 3 The children of Hassenaah built the Fish Gate; they roofed it and erected its doors, its locks and its bars. 4 Next to them, Meremoth son of Uriah son of Hakkoz reinforced [the wall]; next to them, Meshullam son of Berechiah son of Meshezabel reinforced; next to them, Zadok son of Baana reinforced. 5 Next to them, the Tekoites reinforced, but their dignitaries did not put their necks to the labor of their Lord. 6 Joiada son of Paseah and Meshullam son of Besodeiah reinforced the Old Gate; they roofed it and erected its doors, its locks and its bars. 7 Next to them, Melatiah the Gibeonite, Jadon the Meronothite [and] the men of Gibeon and Mizpah reinforced up to the seat of the governor of the Trans-Euphrates region. 8 Next to him, Uzziel son of Harhaiah [of the] goldsmiths reinforced; next to him, Hananiah son of the perfumers reinforced; they fortified Jerusalem up to the Broad Wall. 9 Next to them, Rephaiah son of Hur, the officer over half the district of Jerusalem, reinforced. 10 Next to them,

The eastern wall

The northern wall

2:18. For God had granted me grace in the eyes of the king.

3:1. They invested this area with the sanctity of the Holy City (Rashi).

3:2. Each person or group of people was assigned to build a section of the wall. The men of Jericho stood and built next to the last Kohen; Zaccur stood and built next to the last Jerichoite.

3:34. Can they finish it so quickly that we will not be able to disrupt the work? (Rashi).

4:4. The workers are exhausted and there is so much still to do! The work was beginning to overwhelm the people.

4:5. They planned a surprise attack.

these Jewish weaklings doing? Will they reinforce [the wall]? Will they bring offerings? Can they finish in a day? Can they restore the stones out of the mounds of dirt, when they have been charred?"*

35 Tobiah the Ammonite was next to him, and he said, "Even that which they build, if [even] a fox were to go up, he would breach their stone wall!"

Nehemiah's prayer

36 "Hear, our God, that we are an object of scorn! Return their humiliation upon their own heads! Make them despoiled in a land of captivity! 37 Do not cover up their sins, nor let their transgressions be eradicated from before You, for they have reviled the builders."

38 Yet we built the wall. When the entire wall was joined halfway, the people were heartened to accomplish!

Jerusalem's enemies conspire

1 It happened when Sanballat and Tobiah, and the Arabs and the Ammonites and the Ashdodites heard that the walls of Jerusalem were being healed, that the breaches had begun to be sealed, they grew extremely angry. 2 So they all banded together to come and do battle in Jerusalem, and to bring ruin upon it. 3 So we prayed to our God, and we set up a guard over [the workers], by day and by night against them.

4 Then [the men of] Judah said, "The strength of the bearer is failing and the earth is abundant; we are not able to build the wall!* 5 And our enemies said, 'They will not know [of us] nor see [us] before we come among them and kill them; and we halt the work!' "*

6 *But then, when Jews who lived near them came and told us ten times, "From all the places to which you return [they will come] against us!"

Defensive measures

7 I set up [defenders] beneath the site, behind the wall, on the cliffs; I set up the people by families with their swords, their spears, and their bows. 8 When I saw, I got up and said to the aristocrats and to the nobles, and to the rest of the people, "Do not fear them! Remember the great and awesome Lord, and fight for your brothers, your sons and daughters, your wives and your homes!"

9 It happened when our enemies heard that it had became known to us, that God annulled their scheme. We all then returned to the wall, each man to his work. 10 It happened from that day onward, that half of my youths did the work and half of them held the spears, the shields and the bows, and the armor, and the officers backed the entire House of Judah. 11 Those who built the walls and those who lifted and carried the burdens would do their work with one hand, while one [hand] held a weapon. 12 As for the builders, each man's sword was girded at his side as they built. The one who sounded the shofar was next to me.* 13 I said to the aristocrats and to the nobles, and to the rest of the people, "The work is great and extensive, and we are dispersed along the wall, distant from one another; 14 to the place where you hear the sound of the shofar, there you are to gather yourselves to us. Our God will fight for us!"

Workers and warriors

A full day's work

15 So we did the work, with half of them grasping the spears, from the rising of the dawn until the emergence of the stars. 16 Also, at that time I said to the people, "Let each man and his attendant spend the night in Jerusalem." Thus, the night was a watch for us and the day was [for] work.* 17 Thus, neither I nor my brethren nor my servants nor the men of the watch who were under me, none of us

4:6. They are planning to attack the workers as they return from work in the evening (Ibn Ezra).

4:12. To sound the alarm in event of emergency.

4:16. To help keep guard (Rashi).

5:9. If you do not act for the sake of righteousness, at least be sensitive to the humiliation that this situation causes us in the eyes of our enemies (Metzudos).

5:12. Nehemiah wanted the Kohanim to witness the oath, thus adding to its solemnity (Ibn Ezra).

5:14. As the next verse explains, a levy had been

ECONOMIC INEQUITY AND INIQUITY 5:1-5:19

1 Now, the outcry of the people and their wives concerning their Jewish brethren was great. 2 *There were those who said, "[With] our sons and our daughters, we are numerous, and we must buy grain that we may eat and remain alive." 3 And there were those who said, "We are mortgaging our fields and our vineyards and our homes to buy grain during the famine." 4 And there were those who said, "We have borrowed money [against] our fields and our vineyards for the king's tax. 5 Now, our flesh is as worthy as the flesh of our brethren and our sons are as worthy as their sons, yet we must press our sons and our daughters into being servants! Some of our daughters have been pressed into servitude, and our hands do not have the means [to redeem them]; and our fields and our vineyards are [held] by others!"

Nehemiah confronts the lords and sets the example

6 I became very angry when I heard their outcry and these matters. 7 Then my heart moved me and I confronted the aristocrats and the nobles and said to them, "Are you creditors of loans against your brothers?" and I gathered a large crowd around them. 8 I said to them, "We have ransomed our brother Jews who were sold to gentiles for as much as we could afford. Now will you sell your brothers again, only to be resold to us?" They were silent; they could not find a response.* 9 *Then I said, "The thing you are doing is not good; surely you should walk with the fear of our God, because of the scorn of the nations, our enemies! 10 I and my brethren and my servants, as well, have lent them money and grain; let us all now relinquish this debt. 11 Return to them now, this very day, their fields, their vineyards, their olive orchards and their homes, as well as the hundreds in money, and the grain, the wine, and the oil that you hold against them."

12 They replied, "We shall return [it all]; and we will make no demands of them. We shall do as you say."

Then I summoned the Kohanim, and I administered an oath upon them to act in accordance with this matter.* 13 I also shook the hem of my garment and said, "So may God shake out from his home and from his toil any man who does not fulfill this matter, and so may he remain, shaken out and empty!" The entire congregation said, "Amen," and they praised HASHEM; and the people acted in accordance with this matter.

14 *Moreover, from the day that [the king] appointed me as governor of the land of Judah, from the twentieth year until the thirty-second year of King Artaxerxes — twelve years — I and my brethren did not eat of the governor's food. 15 The former governors who were before me had imposed burdens upon the people and taken bread and wine from them, in addition to forty silver shekels, and also their servants domineered over the people; but I did not do so, because of [my] fear of God. 16 *Also, I supported the work of this wall, so we did not buy any field, and all of my servants were gathered there for work. 17 [Ordinary] Jews and nobles, a hundred and fifty men, in addition to those [proselytes] who came to us from the nations around us, were at my table. 18 That which was prepared for each day was one bull, six selected sheep and fowl prepared for me, and every ten days a multitude of all sorts of wine. Yet, despite this, I did not request the governor's food, for the labor weighed heavily upon this people.

Nehemiah's expenditure imposed by previous governors upon the local populace to provide the governor's food, but Nehemiah refused to make use of it.

5:16. I put all the manpower at my disposal towards the building of the wall, rather than applying them toward farming and my own personal income (Malbim).

6:5. Sanballat wanted his message to become public to frighten the people.

6:7. Let us plan how to conceal this matter from the king (Metzudos).

6:9. Your constant attempts to weaken our resolve have only achieved the opposite result (Ralbag).

6:10. Shemaiah was a false prophet who lived as an ascetic hermit. In an attempt to frame Nehemiah, Sanballat and Tobiah had hired Shemaiah to prophesy, "There is a king in Judah!" (v. 7). Nehemiah, who did not know whether Shemaiah was a true prophet, now went to question him about his statement.

6:11. Nehemiah gave two reasons for refusing the invitation: It is wrong for the leader of the people to go into

19 "Remember in my favor, O my God, all that I did for this people!"

6 1 Now, when it was reported to Sanballat and Tobiah, and to Geshem the Arab Sanballat's devious invitation and to the rest of our enemies that I had built the wall and no breach remained in it, and also that as of that time I had not [yet] erected doors in the gateways, 2 Sanballat and Geshem sent [word] to me, saying, "Come, let us meet at Chephirim in the valley of Ono." But [I understood that] they were planning to harm me.

3 I sent envoys to them, saying, "I am involved in a great work, and I am unable to come down; why should the work be halted when I leave it and come down to you?"

4 They sent me this message four times, and I replied to them the same way.
5 Then Sanballat sent me the same message a fifth time with his servant, with an Sanballat's charge and Nehemiah's reply open letter in his hand.* 6 In it was written these words: "It has been heard among the nations, and Geshem confirms it, [that] you and the Jews plan to rebel, and that is why you are building the wall; and [that] you are becoming their king, and similar things; 7 and [that] you have also set up prophets to proclaim about you in Jerusalem, saying, 'There is a king in Judah!' Now these things will be heard by the king! So now, come and let us take counsel together!"*

8 I sent [word] to him, saying, "These things that you say have never happened; you have fabricated them from your heart! 9 For you all try to frighten us, saying, 'Let [the resolve of] their hands for doing the work be weakened, so that it will not be done.' But now, you strengthen my hand!"*

False prophet detected
10 I then came to the home of Shemaiah son of Delaiah son of Mehetabel who was confined indoors.* He said, "Let us meet at the Temple of God, inside the Sanctuary, and let us close the Sanctuary doors, for they are coming to kill you. Tonight they are coming to kill you!"

11 But I said, "Can a man like me run away? And who, being like me, may enter the Sanctuary and live?* I will not come!" 12 Then I realized that, behold! God had not sent him, for he had spoken as if it was a prophecy for me!* Rather, Tobiah or Sanballat had hired him! 13 It was because he was a hireling, so that I would be frightened, comply, and sin — so that they would have a scandal with which to humiliate me.

14 "My God, recall for Tobiah or Sanballat these deeds of his; and also for Noadiah the prophetess and the rest of the [false] prophets who [tried to] intimidate me!"

Completion of the wall
15 The wall was completed on the twenty-fifth of Elul, after fifty-two days. 16 It happened when all our enemies heard [this], and all the nations around us saw, they fell greatly in their own eyes, for they realized that this work was accomplished by our God. 17 But even in those days the aristocrats of Judah wrote many Tobiah's Jewish friends
letters addressed to Tobiah, and Tobiah's came to them, 18 for many people in Judah had sworn allegiance to him, because he was the son-in-law of Shecaniah son of Arah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Meshullam son of Berechiah. 19 They also would recite his merits before me* and passed along my remarks to him, and Tobiah sent letters to intimidate me.

hiding; and, since he was not a Kohen, he was forbidden to enter the Sanctuary.

6:12. A wise counselor may, on occasion, advise a person to transgress a commandment in order to save his life; but a true prophet, particularly an unproven one, would never prophesy to transgress a prohibition stated in the Torah (Rashi, Metzudos).

6:19. To justify their support for him.

7:6. Although Nehemiah states that the document he found was written at the time of the original settlement, he updated the number of settlers to reflect the population of the Jewish community at the time of his writing, thirty-six years later. The sizes of the various families had changed through deaths and births. In general, the birth rate exceeded the death rate, so that the numbers in

7 1 It happened after the wall was built and I had erected its doors, that the POPULACE OF JUDAH 7:1-9:5 gatekeepers and the singers and the [other] Levites were designated. 2 I then appointed Hanani my brother and Hananiah, officer of the palace, over Jerusalem, for [Hananiah] was a man of truth, and had long been God-fearing. 3 I said to them, "Let the gates of Jerusalem not be opened until the heat of the day, and while they are standing there let them shut the doors and secure them. * Also, establish watches by the inhabitants of Jerusalem, each man at his watch, and each man opposite his home." 4 For the city had wide open spaces and was large, but there were few people in it, and houses had not been built. *

5 Then my God inspired me and I assembled the aristocrats and the nobles, and the people to trace their lineage. I found the Book of Lineage of those who had ascended at first * and found written in it:

The Book of Lineage

6 These * are the people of the country who ascended from the captivity of the exile that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia had exiled, who returned to Jerusalem and Judah, each man to his city, 7 who came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordechai-bilshan, Mispereth-bigvai, Nehum and Baanah; [who comprised] the sum of the dignitaries of the people of Israel:

7:63. See II Samuel 17:27 and 19:32-39, and Ezra 2:61.

7:65. See 8:9, where this name, or title, is identified with Nehemiah.

For Urim VeTumim see Exodus 25:30.

7:66-68. Unlike the earlier and later parts of this list, these totals were not updated by Nehemiah but taken directly from Ezra's record.

7:68. Some editions insert the following phrase at the beginning of verse 68: Their horses [numbered] seven hundred thirty-six; their mules, two hundred forty-five. However, various Masoretic notes indicate that, although that phrase appears in the parallel verse (2:66) in Ezra, it nine hundred seventy-three; 40 the children of Immer, one thousand fifty-two; 41 the children of Passhur, one thousand two hundred forty-seven; 42 the children of Harim, one thousand seventeen.

The Temple ministrants: Kohanim . . .

The Levites

The Nethinim and descendants of Solomon's slaves

Those of dubious descent

61 These are the ones who went up from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, Addon and Immer, and could not declare their fathers' families and their descent, whether they were from Israel; 62 the children of Delaiah, the children of Tobiah, the children of Nekoda, six hundred forty-two.

63 Of the Kohanim: The children of Habaiah, the children of Hakkoz, the children of Barzillai, who took wives from the daughters of Barzillai of Gilead and were called by their name.* 64 These sought their genealogical record but it could not be found, so they were disqualified from the priesthood. 65 Hattirshatha told them that they should not eat of the most holy offerings until there would arise a Kohen to [inquire of] the Urim and the Tumim.

The total

66 *The entire congregation together numbered forty-two thousand three hundred sixty, 67 besides their male slaves and female slaves, of which there were seven thousand three hundred thirty-seven. They also had two hundred forty-five male singers and female singers. 68 The camels [numbered] four hundred thirty-five; the donkeys, six thousand seven hundred twenty.*

The leaders contribute

69 Some of the family heads contributed for the work. Hattirshatha contributed to the treasury: of gold, one thousand golden darkemons, [and] fifty basins; [and] priestly robes, five hundred thirty.* 70 Some of the heads of the families contributed to the work fund: of gold, twenty thousand darkemons; and of silver, two thousand two hundred manehs. 71 What the rest of the people contributed was: of gold, twenty thousand darkemons; of silver, two thousand manehs; and sixty-seven priestly tunics.

is nevertheless not part of the original Masoretic text of Nehemiah (Minchas Shai).

7:69-71. Nehemiah only recorded the contributions given during his term, not those of the earlier collections.

7:72. The month of Tishrei.

8:2. These people helped explain the words of the Torah to the rest of the audience, the simple "men and women" (see v. 7).

This reading took place on the first of Tishrei, Rosh Hashanah.

8:9. Or, "who was the Tirshatha," that being a title of a Persian official (Ibn Ezra).

The listeners were weeping because they realized that they had been neglecting the laws of the Torah, but Ezra encouraged them, saying that they must not be sad on Rosh Hashanah. Rather, he insisted, fulfilling the commandments of the Torah with joy is more appropriate than mourning over past lapses.

72 The Kohanim and the Levites and the gatekeepers and the singers and some of the people and the Nethinim, and all of Israel settled in their cities. The seventh month arrived and the children of Israel were [settled] in their cities.*

8 1 Then all the people gathered together as one man at the plaza before the Water Gate and they asked Ezra the scholar to bring the scroll of the Torah of Moses, which HASHEM had commanded to Israel. 2 So Ezra the Kohen brought the Torah before the congregation — men and women, and all those who could listen with understanding — on the first day of the seventh month.* * 3 He read from it before the plaza that is before the Water Gate, from the [first] light until midday, in front of the [common] men and women and those who understood; and the ears of all the people were attentive to the Torah scroll. 4 Ezra the scholar stood on a wooden tower that they had made for the purpose; next to him stood Mattithiah, as well as Shema, Anaiah, Uriah, Hilkiah and Maaseiah on his right; and on his left, Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Hashum, Hashbaddanah, Zechariah and Meshullam.

The people request Torah

Ezra reads to them

5 Ezra opened the scroll before the eyes of all the people, for he was above all the people; and when he opened it, all the people stood silent. 6 Ezra blessed HASHEM, the great God, and all the people answered, "Amen! Amen!" with their hands upraised; then they bowed and prostrated themselves before HASHEM, faces to the ground. 7 Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah and the Levites helped the people understand the Torah, while the people [stood] in their place. 8 They read in the scroll, in God's Torah, clearly, with the application of wisdom, and they helped [the people] understand the reading.

The learned clarify for the unlearned

9 Then Nehemiah, who is Hattirshatha, as well as Ezra the Kohen, the scholar, and the Levites who were helping the people understand, said to all the people, "Today is sacred to HASHEM your God; do not mourn and do not weep." For all the people were weeping* as they heard the words of the Torah.* 10 He said to them, "Go, eat rich foods and drink sweet beverages, and send portions to those who have nothing prepared, for today is sacred to our Lord. Do not be sad; the enjoyment of HASHEM is your strength!"

11 And the Levites quieted all the people saying, "Be silent, for this day is sacred; do not be sad."

12 So all the people went to eat and to drink and to send portions [to the needy], and to engage in great rejoicing, for they had understood the matters of which they had informed them.

The Succos festival

13 On the second day, the heads of the families of all the people, the Kohanim and the Levites gathered together to Ezra the scholar, to delve into the words of the Torah. 14 They found written in the Torah that HASHEM had commanded through the hand of Moses that the Children of Israel should dwell in succos during the festival [that is] in the seventh month. 15 [They commanded] that they should announce it and make a proclamation in all their cities and in Jerusalem, saying, "Go out to the mountain and get [branches with] olive leaves, pine needles, myrtle leaves, palm leaves and leaves of the braided tree, to make succos, as written [in the Torah]."* 16 So the people went out and brought [these items]

8:15. The palm and myrtle branches were used with the esrog on the Succos festival (see Leviticus 23:40), irrespective of the building of the succos-booths. The other branches were used as roofing for the succos (Talmud).

8:17. They had not celebrated the Succos festival with such enthusiasm.

9:1. On the day after the Succos festival described above, a mass demonstration of repentance, an expression of national resolve not to repeat the shortcomings of the past, took place.

9:5. After instructing the masses to arise and bless God, the Levites turned to address God. They asked that he allow the people to compose and recite His praises even though He is exalted above anything they would say.

and made themselves succos, each man on his roof, and in their courtyards, in the courtyards of the Temple of God, in the plaza of the Water Gate and in the plaza of the Gate of Ephraim. 17 The entire congregation that had returned from the captivity made succos and dwelt in succos. The Children of Israel had not done so from the days of Joshua son of Nun until that day, and there was very great joy.* 18 [Ezra] read in the scroll of God's Torah day by day, from the first day until the last day. They observed the festival for seven days, and the assembly on the eighth day, according to the law.

9 1 On the twenty-fourth day of this month the Children of Israel gathered together, in fasting and [wearing] sackcloth, with earth upon them.* * 2 The offspring of Israel had separated themselves from all the alien people, and then they rose and confessed their sins and the iniquities of their fathers. 3 They stood in their place and read from the scroll of the Torah of HASHEM, their God, one quarter of the day, and [another] quarter they confessed and prostrated themselves before HASHEM their God.

Public penance

4 Then Jeshua stood upon the platform of the Levites, with Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani and Chenani, and they cried out in a loud voice to HASHEM their God. 5 The Levites Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah and Pethahiah said, "Rise up and bless HASHEM your God, from This World to the World to Come!"

"Let them bless Your glorious Name, which is exalted above every blessing and praise!"*

LEVITES' SONG OF PRAISE 9:6-10:1

6 You alone are HASHEM; You made the heavens, the most exalted heavens and all their legion, the earth and all that is upon it, the seas and all that is in them, and you give them all life; and the heavenly legion bows to You. 7 You are HASHEM the God, You selected Abram and brought him out of Ur of the Chaldees, and changed his name to Abraham. 8 You found his heart faithful before You, and You sealed the covenant with him to give the land of the Canaanite, the Hittite, the Amorite and the Perizzite and the Jebusite and the Girgashite — to give it to his offspring; and You affirmed Your word, for You are righteous. 9 You observed the suffering of our forefathers in Egypt, and You heard their outcry at the Sea of Reeds. * 10 You imposed signs and wonders upon Pharaoh and upon all his servants and upon all the people of his land, for you knew that they had sinned willfully against them; and You brought Yourself renown, as clear as this very day. 11 You split the sea before them and they crossed in the midst of the sea on dry land; but You hurled their pursuers into the depths, like a stone in turbulent waters. 12 You led them by day with a pillar of cloud and with a pillar of fire by night to illuminate for them the way they were to travel. * 13 You descended upon Mount Sinai and spoke to them from heaven; You gave them righteous laws and true teachings, and beneficial decrees and commandments.* 14 You made known Your sacred Sabbath to them; and You instructed them with commandments, decrees, and teaching through the hand of Your servant Moses. 15 You gave them bread from heaven for their hunger, and brought forth water from a rock for their thirst. * You told them to enter and inherit the land about which You had raised Your hand [in oath] to give to them.

9:17. See Exodus 34:6-7.

9:18. Exodus 32:4.

9:21. See Deuteronomy 8:4.

9:22. You separated the Jews from the surrounding nations (Rashi).

9:26. See I Kings 18:4; II Chronicles 24:20-21.

9:29. Even when they ostensibly obeyed Your laws, they did so only when it suited their selfish purposes, so that even their good deeds were considered sinful.

Rebellious nation: Golden Calf

16 But they and our forefathers sinned willfully; they stiffened their necks and did not listen to your commandments. 17 They refused to listen, and they did not remember Your marvels that You had performed for them; they stiffened their necks and, in their rebelliousness, appointed a leader to return to their bondage. But You are the God of forgiveness, Gracious and Compassionate, Slow to anger and Abundant in kindness, so You did not* forsake them, 18 even when they made themselves a molten calf and said,
'This is your god who brought you up from Egypt,' and they performed* great provocations. 19 But You, in Your great compassion, did not forsake them in the Wilderness; the pillar of cloud did not turn away from them by day to lead them on the way, nor the pillar of fire by night to provide illumination upon them and upon the way they were to travel. 20 You bestowed Your good spirit to make them understand. You did not withhold Your manna from their mouths, and You gave them water for their thirst.
21 For forty years You sustained them in the Wilderness and they lacked *nothing; their clothing did not wear out and their feet did not swell.

Nevertheless, Divine compassion

Conquest of Canaan

22 Then You gave them kingdoms and nations, and separated them into a corner; they took possession of the land of Sihon, the land of the king of* Heshbon and the land of Og, king of Bashan. 23 You multiplied their children like the stars of the heavens, and You brought them to the land about which You had spoken to their forefathers that they would come and take possession. 24 The children came and took possession of the land, and You subdued inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, before them, and delivered them into their hand, along with their kings and the peoples of the land, to do with them as they pleased. 25 They captured fortified cities and a fertile land; they took possession of houses filled with every good thing, chiseled cisterns, vineyards and olive trees, and abundant fruit trees; so they ate and became satiated and fattened and took delight in Your great bounty.

Recurrent rebellious-ness

26 Then they became recalcitrant and rebelled against You, casting Your Torah behind their backs. They killed Your prophets who had warned them* in order to make them return to You, and they committed great provocations. 27 So You delivered them into the hands of their enemies and they afflicted them. But at the time of their affliction they would cry out to You and You would hear from Heaven; and in Your abundant compassion You would send them saviors who would save them from the hand of their enemies. 28 But when it would ease for them they would revert to doing evil before You, so You would abandon them into the hand of their enemies, who would oppress them. Then they would once again cry out to You, and You would hear from Heaven and in Your compassion You would rescue them numerous times. 29 You warned them, to return them to Your Torah, but they acted wickedly and did not listen to Your commandments and transgressed through Your laws, which a man should do in order that he* may live through them. They turned a rebellious shoulder away and stiffened their necks and did not listen. 30 Yet You extended [grace] to them for many years, and You warned them by Your spirit, through the hand of Your prophets, but they did not give ear; so You delivered them into the hand of the peoples of the lands. 31 In Your abundant compassion You did not annihilate them and You did not abandon them, for You are a gracious and compassionate God.

Plea for mercy

32 And now, our God — the great, powerful and awesome God, Who observes the covenant and the kindness — let all the travails that have befallen us, our kings, our rulers and our Kohanim and our prophets and our forefathers and all Your people, from the days of the kings of Assyria until this day, not be considered lightly before You. 33 You are righteous in all that has come upon us, for You have acted truthfully, and we have been wicked, 34 with our kings, our officers, our Kohanim and our forefathers who did not fulfill Your Torah and did not heed Your commandments and Your warnings with which You warned them. 35 But they, in their kingdom — with Your abundant bounty that You granted them, and in the broad and fertile land that you placed before them — did not serve You, and they did not repent of their wicked deeds. 36 Behold, today we are slaves; and the land that You gave to our forefathers to eat of its fruit and its bounty, behold, we are slaves upon it.* 37 Its produce is abundant for [the benefit of] kings whom You have placed over us because of our sins; they rule over our bodies and over our animals as they please, and we are in great distress! 1 But, despite all this, we are establishing a lasting covenant and inscribing [it], and upon the sealed portion are our officers, our Levites, [and] our Kohanim.*

THE LASTING COVENANT
10:1-40

The signers: Kohanim . . .

2 [These are] the signatories: Nehemiah Hattirshatha son of Hacaliah and Zedekiah, 3 Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah, 4 Pashhur, Amariah, Malchijah, 5 Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch, 6 Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah, 7 Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch, 8 Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin, 9 Maaziah, Bilgai [and] Shemaiah — these were the Kohanim [who signed].

10 And the Levites: Vejeshua son of Azaniah, Binnui of the sons of Henadad, Kadmiel,* 11 and their brethren Shebaniah, Hodiah, Kelita, Pelaiah, Hanan, 12 Mica, Rehob, Hashabiah, 13 Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah, 14 Hodiah, Bani and Beninu.

. . . Levites . . .

15 The leaders of the people: Parosh the governor of Moab, Elam, Zattu, Bani, 16 Bunni, Azgad, Bebai, 17 Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin, 18 Ater, Hezekiah, Azzur, 19 Hodiah, Hashum, Bezai, 20 Hariph, Anathoth, Nebai, 21 Magpiash, Meshullam, Hezir, 22 Meshezabel, Zadok, Jaddua, 23 Pelatiah, Hanan, Anaiah, 24 Hoshea, Hananiah, Hasshub, 25 Hallohesh, Pilha, Shobek, 26 Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah, 27 Vaahiah, Hanan, Anan,* 28 Malluch, Harim and Baanah.

. . . others

29 The remainder of the people, the Kohanim, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, the Nethinim and everyone who had separated themselves from the peoples of the lands to [accept] God's Torah, their wives, their sons and their daughters, all those who had knowledge [and] understanding, 30 supported their brethren, their dignitaries, and entered into a curse and an oath to follow God's Torah, which was given through the hand of Moses, the servant of God, and to observe and fulfill all the commandments of HASHEM, our Lord, and His laws and His decrees; 31 and that we would not give our daughters [in marriage] to the peoples of the land, nor take their daughters for our sons; 32 *and that regarding the peoples of the land who bring [their] wares and all kinds of produce to sell on the Sabbath day, we would not buy from them on the Sabbath and on holy days; and that we would relinquish [the land] and all loans during the seventh year. 33 We also instituted commandments upon ourselves to give one third of a shekel yearly toward the service of the Temple of our God:* 34 for the arranged bread and the meal-offering*

The oath of allegiance to the Torah and its laws

Temple offerings

10:32. As commanded in Exodus 23:11; Leviticus Ch. 25, etc.

10:33. This amount was equal to the half-shekel commanded by the Torah in Exodus 30:13 (Ralbag).

10:34. As commanded in Numbers 15:2; Exodus 25:30; Numbers Chs. 28-29.

10:35. Leviticus 6:6.

10:36. See Deuteronomy 26:2.

10:37. "Animals" refers specifically to donkeys (Ibn Ezra); "cattle and flocks" to cows, sheep and goats (see Exodus 13:12-13).

10:38. Since there were many Kohanim who never left the Temple precincts, and they had to be guaranteed a share of the priestly offerings, the Kohanim would receive their gifts from the storage houses. The Levites would receive them directly from the field.

For the portions to be offered the Kohanim and the Levites, see Numbers 15:20 and 18:25-29.

10:39. The Levites were required to set aside a tenth of their tithe for the Kohanim (Numbers 18:26-28). To ensure that they would do so, a Kohen would supervise the tithing (Ralbag), and bring it to the Temple, where the Kohanim would come to receive it.

of the [daily] continual offering and the continual burnt-offering, the Sabbath offerings, the New Moon offerings; [and] for the festival offerings and for the holy things, and for the sin-offerings to atone for Israel; and all the work in the Temple of our God. 35 Then we cast lots for the wood-offering, [among] the Kohanim, the Levites and the people, to bring it to the Temple of our God, the Temple of our forefathers, at appointed times, year by year, to burn on the Altar of HASHEM our God,
Priestly offering as is written in the Torah. * 36 And [we accepted upon ourselves] to bring the first fruits of our ground and the first fruits of all the fruit of every required tree year by year to the Temple of HASHEM;* 37 and [to redeem] the firstborn of our sons and our animals, * as written in the Torah; and to bring the firstborn of our cattle and our flocks * to the Temple of our God, to the Kohanim who serve in the Temple of our God; 38 and that we would bring the first of our dough and our separated portions [of grain] and of the fruits of every tree, wine and olive oil, to the Kohanim, to the chambers of the Temple of our God; and a tithe of [the produce of] our land to the Levites, those Levites who receive the tithes being present in all the cities of our labor. * 39 A Kohen, a descendant of Aaron, shall be with the Levites at the Levites' tithing, * and the Levites shall bring up the tithe of the tithe to the Temple of our God, to the chambers of the storage house; 40 for the children of Israel and children of the Levites shall bring the separated portions of the grain, the wine and the oil to the chambers where the vessels of the Sanctuary and the ministering Kohanim and the gatekeepers and singers are, so that we not forsake the Temple of our God. *

Settlers of Jerusalem . . . 1 The officers of the people settled in Jerusalem, while the remainder of the people cast lots to bring one tenth [of them] to settle in Jerusalem, the Holy City, with nine parts [remaining] in the [other] cities. * 2 The people blessed all those who volunteered to settle in Jerusalem.

3 These are the heads of the provinces who settled in Jerusalem, while in the cities of Judah everyone settled on his ancestral property, in their cities — [the] Israel[ites], the Kohanim and the Levites and the Nethinim and the children of . . . Judah and Benjamin . . . Solomon's slaves. 4 In Jerusalem some of the children of Judah and some of the children of Benjamin settled.

Of the children of Judah: Athaiah son of Uzziah son of Zechariah son of Amariah son of Shephatiah son of Mahalalel, of the sons of Perez; * 5 and Maaseiah son of Baruch son of Col-hozeh son of Hazaiah son of Adaiah son of Joiarib son of Zechariah son of Hashiloni. 6 All of the children of Perez who settled in Jerusalem [numbered] four hundred sixty-eight warriors.

7 And these are the sons of Benjamin: * Sallu son of Meshullam son of Joed son of Pedaiah son of Kolaiah son of Maaseiah son of Ithiel son of Jeshaiah; 8 after him Gabbai-sallai, nine hundred twenty-eight. 9 Joel son of Zichri was the appointed official over them, and Judah son of Hassenuah was assistant over the city.
Kohanim . . . 10 Of the Kohanim: Jedaiah son of Joiarib, Jachin, 11 Seraiah son of Hilkiah son of Meshullam son of Zadok son of Meraioth son of Ahitub, the supervisor over the Temple of God, 12 with eight hundred twenty-nine of their brethren who performed the Temple service; Adaiah son of Jeroham son of Pelaliah son of Amzi son of 10:40. If the Kohanim had to circulate throughout the country to receive their gifts, their Temple service would be disrupted (Metzudos).

11:1. In order to strengthen the underpopulated, vulnerable city (see 7:1-4).

11:4-6. Judah's sons were Perez, Zerah and Shelah (see Genesis 38:5,29,30). Some commentators identify Hashiloni with Shelah.

11:7. Who settled in Jerusalem.

11:23. King Darius entrusted the Levite singers with responsibility for the finances he provided for the Temple and for the community of Jerusalem (Rashi).

11:30. That is, from the southernmost to the northernmost boundary of Judah.

12:1-7. The narrative reverts to the time recorded in Ezra 2:1. The first sixteen of the twenty-two Kohanim mentioned here are also listed (with some orthographic variation) in 10:2-9 as signers of the covenant. The remaining six on our list either died or had retired Zechariah son of Pashhur son of Malchijah, 13 with two hundred forty-two of his brethren, heads of families; and Amashsai son of Azarel son of Ahzai son of Meshillemoth son of Immer, 14 with one hundred twenty-eight of their brethren, mighty warriors. Appointed over them was Zabdiel, son of the great.

Levites . . .

15 Of the Levites: Shemaiah son of Hasshub son of Azrikam son of Hashabiah son of Bunni; 16 and Shabbethai and Jozabad who were in charge of the outward work of the Temple of God from among the leaders of the Levites; 17 Mattaniah son of Micah son of Zabdi son of Asaph, who was the leader of beginning the thanksgiving at prayer; Bakbukiah, the assistant, from among his brethren; and Abda son of Shammua son of Galal son of Jeduthun. 18 All the Levites in the Holy City [numbered] two hundred eighty-four.

19 The gatekeepers: Akkub, Talmon, and their brethren, who stood guard at the gates, one hundred seventy-two.

. . . others

20 The remainder of Israel, the Kohanim and the Levites [settled] in all the cities of Judah, each in his ancestral property. 21 The Nethinim settled in Ophel; Ziha and Gishpa were over the Nethinim.

22 The supervisor over the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzzi son of Bani son of Hashabiah son of Mattaniah son of Micah, of the children of Asaph, the singers, to supervise the work of the Temple of God. 23 For the king's commandment and trust was upon the singers, each day's affair in its day.*

24 And Pethahiah son of Meshezabel, of the descendants of Zerah son of Judah, was at the king's hand for every matter of the people. 25 Some of the children of Judah settled in the villages, in their open areas — in Kiriath-arba and its suburbs, in Dibon and its suburbs, in Jekabzeel and its villages, 26 in Jeshua, in Moladah, in Beth-pelet, 27 in Hazar-shual, in Beer-sheba and its suburbs, 28 in Ziklag, in Meconah and in its suburbs, 29 in En-rimmon, in Zorah, in Jarmuth, 30 *Zanoah, Adullam and their villages, Lachish and its open areas and Azekah and its suburbs, they encamped from Beer-sheba until the Valley of Hinnom.

Towns

Benjamites

31 The children of Benjamin [lived in the area] from Geba, [in] Michmas, Aijah, Beth-el and its suburbs, 32 Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah, 33 Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim, 34 Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat, 35 Lod, Ono and Ge-harashim. 36 Some of the Levites [lived in] portions [from] Judah to Benjamin.

FAMILIES OF THE KOHANIM AND LEVITES 12:1-26

1 These are the Kohanim and the Levites who ascended with Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and Jeshua: Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra,* 2 Amariah, Malluch, Hattush, 3 Shecaniah, Rehum, Meremoth, 4 Iddo, Ginnethoi, Abijah, 5 Mijamin, Maadiah, Bilgah, 6 Shemaiah; and Joiarib, Jedaiah, 7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah and Jedaiah; these were the heads of the Kohanim and their brethren in the days of Jeshua.

8 And the Levites: Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, Mattaniah — who was in charge of the thanksgiving — he and his brethren,* 9 Bakbukiah and Unni; their kinsmen, like them, were divided into watches.

Succession of High Priests

10 Jeshua [the Kohen Gadol] begot Joiakim; Joiakim begot Eliashib; Eliashib begot Joiada; 11 Joiada begot Jonathan; and Jonathan begot Jaddua.

Family heads of the Kohanim

12 In the days of Joiakim, the Kohanim who were heads of the families were: over [the family of] Seraiah, Meraiaih; over Jeremiah, Hananiah;* 13 over Ezra, from public life during the intervening years and were replaced as leaders by the six noted in 10:2-9 (Malbim).

12:8. The first five Levites on this list are identified with the first five Levite signers of the covenant (10:10-11).

12:12. These families are descended from and named for the Kohanim mentioned in verses 1-7. Assumedly, Hattush (v. 2) was still alive and the head of his family.

Family heads of the Levites

22 The Levites in the days of Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan and Jaddua were recorded as family heads, and the Kohanim [as well], during the reign of Darius the Persian. 23 The children of Levi who were the family heads were recorded in a book of chronicles down to the days of Johanan, the [grand]son of Eliashib.* 24 *The heads of the Levites were: Hashabiah, Sherebiah and Jeshua son of Kadmiel, with their brethren opposite them, to praise and give thanks according to the command of David, the man of God, one watch parallel to the other watch; 25 Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon and Akkub, who were guardians, gatekeepers at their watches at the gateposts. 26 These were in the days of Joiakim son of Jeshua son of Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah the governor and Ezra the Kohen, the scholar.

THE WALLS OF JERUSALEM DEDICATED 12:27-13:3

27 At the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem the Levites were sought from all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem to celebrate the dedication with rejoicing and with thanksgiving-offerings, and with song, cymbals, lyres and harps. 28 The singers were gathered [from Jerusalem] and from the plain around Jerusalem, from the villages of the Netophatite, 29 from Beth-gilgal and from the open areas of Geba and Azmaveth; for the singers had built themselves villages around Jerusalem. 30 The Kohanim and the Levites purified themselves, and they purified the people, and the gates and the wall.

The march begins

31 I then brought the officers of Judah alongside near the wall, and I emplaced two large thanksgiving loaves there; then the march [set out] towards the right,* alongside the wall, towards the Dung Gate.* 32 After them went Hoshaiah and half of the officers of Judah; 33 and Azariah, Ezra and Meshullam; 34 Judah and Benjamin and Shemaiah and Jeremiah. 35 Of the sons of the Kohanim, with trumpets: Zechariah son of Jonathan son of Shemaiah son of Mattaniah son of Micaiah son of Zaccur son of Asaph; 36 then his brethren Shemaiah and Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel and Judah [and] Hanani, with the musical instruments of David, the man of God, with Ezra the scholar before them. 37 Then, near the Spring Gate and in front of them, ascending upon the steps of the City of David, on the stair to the wall, over the house of David, up to the Water Gate to the east.

The Kohanim

The procession continues

38 The second thanksgiving-offering went alongside, and I followed with half the people alongside the wall, from near the Tower of the Ovens until the Broad Wall,* 39 *from near the Gate of Ephraim, near the Old Gate, near the Fish Gate and the Tower of Hananel and the Tower of the Hundred, up to the Sheep Gate; they stood still at the Prison Gate.

40 Then the two thanksgiving-offerings stopped at the Temple of God, and I, and half the leaders with me, 41 and the Kohanim Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Micaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah and Hananiah with trumpets; 42 and Maaseiah and Shemaiah and Elazar and Uzzi and Jehohanan and Malchijah and Elam and Azer.

12:44. The people wanted to insure that the Kohanim and Levites would be provided for in an organized manner.

12:45. Insuring that no impure thing or person entered the Temple grounds (Metzudos).

12:46. The ritual of Ezra and Nehemiah was patterned after those of David and Asaph.

13:1. Deuteronomy 23:4-6. The prohibition applies to Moabite and Ammonite men; women, however, may convert to Judaism, as did Ruth.

13:3. Alien men who had married Jewish women were removed from the nation.

13:4. See 2:10 and 13:28.

13:14. After recording each of his reforms, Nehemiah

The singers made their song heard with Jezrahiah, the supervisor. 43 They slaughtered a great number of sacrifices on that day, and they rejoiced; for God had caused them to rejoice, a great rejoicing; also the women and children rejoiced. The rejoicing of Jerusalem was heard from afar.

Portion of the Kohanim and Levites

44 *On that day men were appointed over the chambers that were for the storage of the terumah-offerings, the first-fruits and the tithes, in which to gather from the fields around the cities the portions ordained by the Torah for the Kohanim and for the Levites. For there was rejoicing in Judah over the Kohanim and Levites who were stationed [in the Temple], 45 *who kept the watch of their God and the watch of purity, and the singers and the gatekeepers, as the commandment of David [to] Solomon his son. 46 *For in the days of David and Asaph, in former times, there were leaders of the singers and songs of praise and thanksgiving to God. 47 All of Israel in the days of Zerubbabel and in the days of Nehemiah supplied portions of food for the singers and the gatekeepers, each day's need in its day. They also consecrated [the tithe] for the Levites, and the Levites consecrated [a portion] for the sons of Aaron.

NEHEMIAH'S REFORMS 13:1-31

1 *On that day the Book of Moses was read in the ears of the people, and it was found written in it that an Ammonite or Moabite shall not ever enter into the congregation of God, to eternity, 2 because they did not greet the Children of Israel with bread and with water, and [the Moabite king] hired Balaam against [Israel] to curse [Israel], but our God reversed the curse into a blessing. 3 *So it happened that when they heard the Torah, they separated all the assimilated ones from Israel.

Alien men

Eliashib and Tobiah

4 *Before this, Eliashib the Kohen, a relative of Tobiah's, had been stationed in a chamber of the Temple of our God. 5 He prepared a large chamber for [Tobiah], where they had formerly stored the meal-offering, the frankincense and the utensils and the tithe of the grain, the wine and the oil, which were ordained for the Levites and the singers and the gatekeepers, and the terumah-offerings for the Kohanim. 6 Now during all this, I was not in Jerusalem, for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes king of Babylonia, I had come to the king. Then, at the end of some time I requested [leave] of the king. 7 I arrived in Jerusalem and contemplated the evil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, by preparing a chamber for him in the courtyards of the Temple of God. 8 This was extremely distressing to me, and I threw all of Tobiah's household articles out of the chamber. 9 Then I gave the order, and they purified the chambers; I returned to it the utensils of the Temple of God, the meal-offering and the frankincense.

Levite portions

10 I then became aware that the Levites' portions had not been given; and the Levites — the singers and those who performed the services — had fled, each to his own field. 11 So I contended with the nobles, and I said, "Why is the Temple of God forsaken?" I then gathered [the Levites] together and established them in their stations. 12 All of Judah then brought the tithe of the grain and the wine and the oil to the storehouses. 13 I appointed as treasurers of the storehouses Shelemiah the Kohen, Zadok the scholar, and Pedaiah of the Levites, and to assist them, Hanan son of Zaccur son of Mattaniah, for they were considered trustworthy; and it was their duty to apportion [the shares] to their brethren.

14 *"Remember me, O my God, for this; do not disregard my kindnesses that inserts a short prayer that his action should be remembered (see 5:19 and 13:22,29,31).

13:19. In the late afternoon, just before the onset of the Sabbath, as the sun was setting.

13:20. They hoped that some Jews would come outside to buy from them.

I did for the Temple of my God and for its watches!"

Sabbath desecration

15 In those days I observed in Judah [people] treading on winepresses on the Sabbath and [people] bringing sheaves and loading them on the donkeys, as well as wine, grapes and figs and every burden, bringing them to Jerusalem on the Sabbath day. I warned them on the day they sold their provisions. 16 [Also,] the Tyrians who dwelled there would bring fish and every merchandise and sell [them] on the Sabbath to the people of Judah — and in Jerusalem! 17 So I contended with the aristocrats of Judah, and I said to them, "What is this wicked thing that you are doing, desecrating the Sabbath day? 18 Did not your ancestors do this, and then our God brought all this evil upon us and upon this city? And now you bring additional wrath against Israel by desecrating the Sabbath!"

19 It happened when the gates of Jerusalem cast shadows before the Sabbath, * that I spoke [the order] and the doors were closed, and I spoke [the order] not to open them until after the Sabbath. I stationed some of my servants at the gates, [so that] no burden could come in on the Sabbath. 20 So the merchants and the sellers of every merchandise lodged outside Jerusalem once and then a second time. * 21 I warned them, and said to them, "Why do you lodge across from the wall? If you repeat this, I will send a force against you!" From that time onward they did not come on the Sabbath. 22 Then I told the Levites that they should regularly purify themselves and come as guards of the gates, to sanctify the Sabbath day.

"This, too, remember for me, O my God, and be compassionate towards me according to Your abundant kindness!"

Gentile wives

23 Also in those days I observed the Jews who had married Ashdodite, Ammonite, and Moabite wives. 24 Half their children spoke Ashdodian and did not know how to speak the language of the Jews; and likewise with the language of each nation. 25 So I contended with them and I cursed them. I beat some of their men and tore their hair out. I made them swear by God, that "you not give your daughters over to their sons, nor marry their daughters to your sons or to yourselves." 26 [I said,] "Did not Solomon, king of Israel, sin with such [women]? Among the many nations there was never a king like him; he was beloved by his God, and God appointed him king over all of Israel. Yet the alien wives caused even him to sin! 27 Shall we then listen to you, to do all this great wickedness, to be unfaithful to our God by marrying alien wives?" 28 One of the sons of Joiada son of Eliashib the Kohen Gadol was a son-in-law of Sanballat the Horonite, so I drove him away from me.

29 "Remember them, O my God, for their desecrations of the priesthood and of the covenant of the priesthood and of the Levites!"

30 And so I cleansed them from all that is alien; and I established the watches of the Kohanim and of the Levites, each one according to its task; 31 and for the wood-offering at scheduled times and for the first fruits.

"Remember me, O my God, for good!"

13:31. Nehemiah had instituted both these services, as described in 10:35-36 (Ibn Ezra). Nehemiah emphasized his accomplishments so that others would learn from his example (Ralbag).

Chronicles דברי הימים

The Book of Chronicles was composed by Ezra, and the Sages of the Talmud canonized it as part of Scripture (Bava Basra 14a). By definition, therefore, it was composed under the guidance of the Divine Spirit.

However, Chronicles seems to be little more than a combination of long lists of names and royal records of events, most of which have already been enumerated in the Books of Samuel and Kings — or so it seems on the surface. Upon closer examination, the Book is even more mystifying. Many of the names in the genealogical lists are different from those found in the other Books of Tanach. Not all the events of the earlier Books are recorded here; many that are found here do not appear earlier; and often details are different. It is beyond the scope of this work to deal specifically with these problems, but we offer a general view of Chronicles, as discussed at length in the full ArtScroll edition of this Book.

The focus of the Book of Chronicles is to serve as the prelude to the eventual kingdom of the Messiah, who will be a descendant of King David. As such, the Book deals primarily with the Davidic dynasty. Indeed, much of our information about such great Judean kings as Hezekiah and Josiah comes from Chronicles. This explains a striking difference between the respective endings of the Books of Kings and Chronicles. Kings culminates with the destruction of the First Temple and the exile from Jerusalem. Chronicles ends with the return of the Jews from exile. For the theme of this Book is return, and even though the Second Commonwealth was but a pale shadow of the future Redemption, it kept Jewish hopes alive and proved that the prophecies of an end to the Babylonian Exile were not in vain. And if those prophecies were fulfilled, then we can be sure that the fulfillment of the prophecies for the future still awaits us.

The unfamiliar names in Chronicles represent allusions to the inner essence of people. For example, in the Book of Ruth (1:2), the sons of Elimelech are called Mahlon and Chilion, but in I Chronicles (4:22) they are called Joash and Saraph, Hebrew words that allude to despair and burning — because those two men doomed themselves by their callous behavior.

We are about to begin a Book that is a harbinger of the future and of the final Redemption — may it soon unfold.

1:1. Adam's son was Seth; Seth's son was Enosh, whose son was Kenan, and so on.

1:4. The verse lists Noah's three sons. Their own descendants are given in the following passages, begin-

GENEALOGY OF THE DAVIDIC DYNASTY 1:1-3:24

1 Adam, Seth, Enosh,* 2 Kenan, Mahalalel, Jared, 3 Enoch, Methuselah, Lamech. 4 Noah;* Shem, Ham and Japheth.

5 The sons of Japheth: Gomer, Magog, Madai, Javan, Tubal, Meshech and Tiras. 6 The sons of Gomer: Ashkenaz, Diphath and Togarmah. 7 The sons of Javan: Elishah, Tarshish, Kittim and Rodanim.

8 The sons of Ham: Cush, Mizraim, Put and Canaan. 9 The sons of Cush: Seba, Havilah, Sabta, Raamah and Sabtecha. The sons of Raamah: Sheba and Dedan. 10 And Cush begot Nimrod. He was the first to be a mighty man on earth. 11 Mizraim begot Ludim, Anamim, Lehabim, Naphtuhim, 12 Pathrusim, Casluhim, from whom the Philistines came forth, and Caphtorim. 13 Canaan begot Zidon his firstborn and Heth, 14 the Jebusite, the Amorite, the Girgashite, 15 the Hivite, the Arkite, the Sinite, 16 the Arvadite, the Zemarite and the Hamathite.

17 The sons of Shem: Elam, Asshur, Arphachshad, Lud and Aram;* Uz, Hul, Gether and Meshech. 18 Arphachshad begot Shelah, and Shelah begot Eber. 19 And to Eber were born two sons: The name of the [first] one was Peleg (Division), for in his days the earth was divided, and the name of his brother was Joktan. 20 Joktan begot Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, Jerah, 21 Hadoram, Uzal, Diklah, 22 Ebal, Abimael, Sheba, 23 Ophir, Havilah and Jobab; all these were the sons of Joktan.

24 Shem, Arphachshad, Shelah,* 25 Eber, Peleg, Reu, 26 Serug, Nahor, Terah, 27 Abram, who is Abraham.

Abraham' seed

28 The sons of Abraham: Isaac and Ishmael.

Ishmael

29 These are their generations: Ishmael's firstborn Nebaioth, Kedar, Adbeel, Mibsam, 30 Mishma, Dumah, Massa, Hadad, Tema, 31 Jetur, Naphish, and Kedem. These are the sons of Ishmael.

Sons of Keturah

32 The sons of Keturah, Abraham's concubine: She bore Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak and Shuah. The sons of Jokshan: Sheba and Dedan. 33 The sons of Midian: Ephah, Epher, Enoch, Abida and Eldaah. All these were the descendants of Keturah.

Isaac

Esau

(See Appendix B, chart 5)

34 Abraham begot Isaac. The sons of Isaac: Esau and Israel. 35 The sons of Esau: Eliphaz, Reuel, Jeush, Jalam and Korah. 36 The sons of Eliphaz: Teman, Omar, Zephi, Gatam, Kenaz, Timna and Amalek. 37 The sons of Reuel: Nahath, Zerah, Shammah and Mizzah.

Seir

38 The sons of Seir:* Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, Dishon, Ezer and Dishan. 39 The sons of Lotan: Hori and Homam. Lotan's sister was Timna. 40 The sons of Shobal: Alian, Manahath, Ebal, Shephi and Onam. The sons of Zibeon: Aiah and Anah. 41 The sons of Anah: Dishon. The sons of Dishon:* Hamran, Eshban, Ithran and Cheran. 42 The sons of Ezer: Bilhan, Zaavan and Jakan. The sons of Dishon:* Uz and Aran.

Edom's early kings

43 Now these are the kings who reigned in the land of Edom before a king reigned over the Children of Israel: Bela son of Beor, and the name of his city was Dinhabah. 44 Bela died, and Jobab son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his place. 45 Jobab died, and Husham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his place.

ning with Japheth.

1:17. The following are the sons of Aram (Genesis 10:23).

1:24. Shem's son was Arpachshad; Arpachshad's son was Shelah, and so on.

1:38. The progenitor of the original inhabitants of Mount Seir, whom Esau supplanted (ibid., 36:20).

1:41. The reference is to the Dishon of v. 38.

1:42. This man is called Dishan in v. 38.

2:7. Carmi was the son of Zimri (Radak). The entire story is related in Joshua Ch. 7, where Zimri is called Zabdi, and Achar is called Achan.

2:18. He is called Chelubai in v. 9.

2:19. According to the Sages, this was Caleb ben Jephunneh, a leader of the tribe of Judah in the Wilderness. His wife was Miriam, sister of Moses and Aaron (Sotah 11b). She was called Ephrath because Israel became fruitful [פרה, "to be fruitful"] through her (Tanchuma).

2:23. Although Segub's father Hezron was from the tribe

46 Husham died, and Hadad son of Bedad, who defeated Midian in the field of Moab, reigned in his place; and the name of his city was Avith. 47 Hadad died, and Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his place. 48 Samlah died, and Shaul of Rehoboth-nahar reigned in his place. 49 Shaul died, and Baal-hanan son of Achbor reigned in his place. 50 Baal-hanan died, and Hadad reigned in his place; and the name of his city was Pai. His wife's name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mei-zahab.

51 Hadad died. The chiefs of Edom were then: the chief of Timna, the chief of Alvah, the chief of Jetheth, 52 the chief of Oholibamah, the chief of Elah, the chief of Pinon, 53 the chief of Kenaz, the chief of Teman, the chief of Mibzar, 54 the chief of Magdiel and the chief of Iram. These were the chiefs of Edom.

THE GENEALOGY OF JUDAH 2:1-4:23 (See Appendix B, chart 4)

1 These were the sons of Israel: Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Zebulun, 2 Dan, Joseph, Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad and Asher.

3 The sons of Judah: Er, Onan and Shelah — the three who were born to him from the daughter of Shua the Canaanitess. Er, Judah's firstborn, was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, and He caused him to die. 4 Tamar, his daughter-in-law, bore [Judah] Perez and Zerah. All the sons of Judah [were thus] five.

Perez to David

5 The sons of Perez: Hezron and Hamul.

6 The sons of Zerah: Zimri, Ethan, Heman, Calcol and Dara — five in all. 7 And the sons of Carmi: Achar, the troubler of Israel, who transgressed the ban. * 8 The sons of Ethan: Azariah.

9 The sons of Hezron who were born to him: Jerahmeel, Ram and Chelubai.

10 Ram begot Amminadab; Amminadab begot Nahshon, the leader of the sons of Judah; 11 Nahshon begot Salma; Salma begot Boaz; 12 Boaz begot Obed; and Obed begot Jesse. 13 Jesse begot his firstborn Eliab, Abinadab the second, Shimea the third, 14 Nethanel the fourth, Raddai the fifth, 15 Ozem the sixth and David the seventh. 16 Their sisters were Zeruiah and Abigail. The sons of Zeruiah: Abishai, Joab and Asahel — three [in all]. 17 Abigail bore Amasa; the father of Amasa was Jether the Ishmaelite.

Other descendants of Hezron

18 *Caleb son of Hezron fathered children by Azubah [his] wife, and by Jerioth. These are her sons: Jesher, Shobab and Ardon. 19 When Azubah died, Caleb married Ephrath, * who bore him Hur. 20 Hur begot Uri, and Uri begot Bezalel.

21 Afterwards Hezron consorted with the daughter of Machir, Gilead's father, whom he married when he was sixty years old, and she bore him Segub. 22 Segub begot Jair, who had twenty-three cities in the land of Gilead. 23 But Geshur and Aram took Havvoth-jair from them — Kenath and its surrounding towns, sixty cities. All these [belonged to] the sons of Machir, Gilead's father. *

24 *After Hezron died, in Caleb-ephrathah, Hezron's wife bore him Ashhur, father of Tekoa.

25 The sons of Jerahmeel, Hezron's firstborn, were: Ram the firstborn, Bunah, Oren, Ozem and Ahijah. 26 Jerahmeel had another wife, whose name was of Judah, Segub and his son Jair were counted as descendants of Machir, Manasseh's son; see Numbers 32:41. A person's lineage is traced through his father only if his parents are actually married, but since Segub's mother was a concubine to Hezron, his lineage was traced through his mother, to Manasseh (Malbim).

2:24. In the context of Chronicles, the "father" of a town is the progenitor of the majority of the people who eventually settled there (Radak).

2:34. His son Ahlai (v. 31) apparently died young.
2:47. Jahdai was apparently a descendant of Caleb, but his lineage is not clear.
3:6. This son is also called Elishua (II Samuel 5:15). Malbim suggests that he was originally named Elishama, but when a younger brother was born and given that name Atarah; she was the mother of Onam.

27 The sons of Ram, Jerahmeel's firstborn, were Maaz, Jamin and Eker.

28 The sons of Onam were Shammai and Jada. The sons of Shammai: Nadab and Abishur. 29 The name of Abishur's wife was Abihail, and she bore him Ahban and Molid. 30 The sons of Nadab: Seled and Appaim. Seled died childless. 31 The sons of Appaim: Ishi. The sons of Ishi: Sheshan. The sons of Sheshan: Ahlai.

32 The sons of Jada, Shammai's brother: Jether and Jonathan. Jether died childless. 33 The sons of Jonathan: Peleth and Zaza. These were the sons of Jerahmeel.

34 Sheshan had no sons, but only daughters. Sheshan had an Egyptian servant, whose name was Jarha.* 35 Sheshan gave his daughter to his servant Jarha for a wife, and she bore him Attai. 36 Attai begot Nathan, Nathan begot Zabad, 37 Zabad begot Ephlal, Ephlal begot Obed, 38 Obed begot Jehu, Jehu begot Azariah, 39 Azariah begot Helez, Helez begot Eleasah, 40 Eleasah begot Sisamai, Sisamai begot Shallum, 41 Shallum begot Jekamiah, and Jekamiah begot Elishama.

Caleb son of Hezron

42 The sons of Caleb, Jerahmeel's brother: Mesha his firstborn, who was the father of Ziph; and the sons of Mareshah the father of Hebron. 43 The sons of Hebron: Korah, Tappuah, Rekem and Shema. 44 Shema begot Raham, the father of Jorkeam, and Rekem begot Shammai. 45 Shammai's son was Maon; Maon was the founder of Beth-zur. 46 Ephah, Caleb's concubine, bore Haran, Moza and Gazez; and Haran begot Gazez. 47 The sons of Jahdai: Regem, Jotham, Gesham, Pelet, Ephah and Shaaph.*

48 Maachah, Caleb's concubine, bore Sheber and Tirhanah. 49 She bore [also] Shaaph, the founder of Madmannah, and Sheva, the founder of Machbenah and the founder of Gibea. Caleb's daughter was Achsah.

50 These were the descendants of Caleb the son of Hur, the firstborn of Ephrathah: Shobal, father of Kiriath-jearim, 51 Salma, the founder of Bethlehem; Hareph, the founder of Beth-gader. 52 Shobal, the father of Kiriath-jearim, had sons: Haroeh and Hazi-hamenuhoth. 53 The families of Kiriath-jearim: the Ithrite, the Puthite, the Shumathite and the Mishraite; the Zorathite and the Eshtaolite were descended from them.

54 The sons of Salma: [the people of] Beth-lehem, Netophathite, Atroth-beth-Joab, half of the Manahathite, and the Zorite; 55 and the families of scribes who dwelt at Jabez — Tirathites, Shimeathites and Suchathites. These were the Kenites who descended from Hammath, the father of the house of Rechab.

King David's children

1 These were the sons of David, who were born to him in Hebron: The firstborn Amnon, by Ahinoam of Jezreel; the second, Daniel, by Abigail of Carmel; 2 the third, Absalom, the son of Maachah daughter of Talmai, king of Geshur; the fourth, Adonijah the son of Haggith; 3 the fifth, Shephatiah, by Abital; the sixth, Ithream, by his wife Eglah. 4 [These] six were born to him in Hebron. He reigned there seven years and six months, and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years.

5 These were born to him in Jerusalem: Shimea, Shobab, Nathan and Solomon — four [sons] by Bath-shua the daughter of Ammiel; 6 *and Ibhar, Elishama,

(v. 8), his name was changed to Elishua, so as to distinguish between the two sons.

3:8. How could David have given the name Eliphelet to two boys? The commentators suggest that the first Eliphelet died, and the second was named after him.

3:15. According to the Talmud this Johanan is Jehoahaz, who reigned after Josiah (II Kings 23:30 ff.).

3:18. This verse lists the sons of Shealtiel (Radak).

4:1. These were succeeding generations: Judah was the father of Perez, who was the father of Hezron, and so on. The Vilna Gaon identifies the Carmi of this verse as the Caleb of 2:19.

4:2-4. These verses are a repetition, with additional details, of the information given in 2:50 ff (Vilna Gaon), and Reaiah is identified with Haroeh of 2:52 (Radak).

4:9-10. The name Jabez [יַעְבֵּץ] contains the letters of עָצֵב, meaning "pain" and "sadness." The Sages identify Jabez with the great judge Othniel, who succeeded Eliphelet, 7 Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, 8 Elishama, Eliada and Eliphelet — nine [in all].*

9 These were all the sons of David, besides the sons of the concubines, and Tamar their sister.

King David's royal line (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

10 Solomon's son was Rehoboam; Abijah was his son; Asa was his son; Jehoshaphat was his son; 11 Joram was his son; Ahaziah was his son; Joash was his son; 12 Amaziah was his son; Azariah was his son; Jotham was his son; 13 Ahaz was his son; Hezekiah was his son; Manasseh was his son; 14 Amon was his son; Josiah was his son.

15 The sons of Josiah: the firstborn Johanan, the second Jehoiakim, the third Zedekiah, the fourth Shallum. 16 The sons of Jehoiakim: Jeconiah his son and Zedekiah his son.*

17 The sons of Jeconiah: Assir, Shealtiel his son; 18 Malchiram, Pedaiah, Shenazzar, Jekamiah, Hoshama and Nedabiah. 19 The sons of Pedaiah: Zerubbabel and Shimei. The sons of Zerubbabel: Meshullam and Hananiah, and Shelomith their sister; 20 and Hashubah, Ohel, Berechiah, Hasadiah, Jushab-hesed — five [in all]. 21 The sons of Hananiah: Pelatiah and Jeshaiah. His son was Rephaiah; his son was Arnan; his son was Obadiah; his son was Shechaniah. 22 The sons of Shechaniah: Shemaiah and the sons of Shemaiah: Hattush, Igal, Bariah, Neariah and Shaphat — six [in all]. 23 The sons of Neariah: Elioenai, Hezekiah and Azrikam — three [in all]. 24 The sons of Elioenai: Hodaviah, Eliashib, Pelaiah, Akkub, Johanan, Dalaiah and Anani — seven [in all].*

Other descendants of Judah

1 The sons of Judah: Perez, Hezron, Carmi, Hur and Shobal. 2 Reaiah* son of Shobal begot Jahath; and Jahath begot Ahumai and Lahad. These are the families of the Zorathites.*

3 These were the fathers of Etam: Jezreel, Ishma and Idbash; and the name of their sister was Hazlelponi.

4 Penuel was the father of Gedor, and Ezer was the father of Hushah. These were [all] descendants of Hur, the firstborn of Ephrathah, the father of Bethlehem.

5 Ashhur, the founder of Tekoa, had two wives, Helah and Naarah. 6 Naarah bore him Ahuzam, Hepher, Temeni and Haahashtari. These were the sons of Naarah. 7 The sons of Helah: Zereth, Zohar and Ethnan. 8 Koz begot Anub and Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel son of Harum. 9 Jabez was more honorable than his brothers. His mother called his name Jabez, saying, "because I bore him with pain." 10 Jabez called out to the God of Israel, saying, "If You bless me and expand my borders, and Your hand is with me, and You keep me from harm, that I not be saddened . . ." And God granted him that which he requested.*

*11 Chelub, the brother of Shuah, begot Mehir, who was the father of Eshton. 12 Eshton begot Beth-rapha, Paseah and Tehinnah, the father of the city of Nahash. These were the men of Rechah.

13 The sons of Kenaz: Othniel and Seraiah. The sons of Othniel: Hathath.

14 Meonothai begot Ophrah. Seraiah begot Joab, the founder of Ge-harashim (Valley of Artisans), [so called] because they were artisans.

Joshua (Temurah 16a). Radak suggests that the reason for Jabez' request was that he was concerned that his name (derived from "pain and sadness") would serve as a bad omen for him.

4:12. It is not known whether Rechah is the name of a place or a family.

4:17. Mered's wife Bithiah, as explained in the following verse (Radak).

4:18. As opposed to the first wife mentioned, Bithiah, an Egyptian.

Miriam, etc., mentioned in v. 17.

4:22. The personalities and events mentioned in the last several verses, although they are not found in other Books of Scripture, are based on reliable, ancient traditions.

4:25. Shallum's; and so on.

4:33. Each family group clustered around one of these cities, so that each family is associated with one of these places (Malbim).

Caleb son of Jephunneh

15 The sons of Caleb son of Jephunneh: Iru, Elah and Naam. The sons of Elah: Kenaz.

16 The sons of Jehalleleel: Ziph, Ziphah, Tiria and Asareel.

17 The sons of Ezrah: Jether, Mered, Epher and Jalon. [His wife] bore Miriam, Shammai and Ishbah, the father of Eshtemoa,* 18 while his Jewish wife bore Jered, the father of Gedor, and Heber, the father of Soco, and Jekuthiel, the father of Zanoah. These* are the sons of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered married.*

19 The sons of Hodiah's wife, Naham's sister: The father of Keilah the Garmite, and Eshtemoa the Maachathite.

20 The sons of Shimon: Amnon, Rinnah, Ben-hanan and Tilon. The sons of Ishi: Zoheth and Ben-zoheth.

21 The sons of Shelah son of Judah: Er, the father of Lecah, and Ladah, the father of Mareshah, the families of the linen factory of the house of Ashbea, 22 *Jokim, the men of Cozeba, Joash, Saraph, who had dominion over Moab, and Jashubi-lehem. These are ancient traditions. 23 They were the potters, who dwelled in Netaim and Gederah; they resided there in the service of the king.

GENEALOGIES OF THE OTHER TRIBES 4:24-8:40

Simeon

24 The sons of Simeon: Nemuel, Jamin, Jarib, Zerah and Shaul. 25 [Shaul's] son was Shallum; Mibsam was his son; Mishma was his son.* 26 The sons of Mishma: Hammuel his son, Zacchur his son and Shimei his son. 27 Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters; but his brothers did not have many children. Their whole family did not multiply as much as the children of Judah. 28 They dwelt at Beer-sheba, Moladah, Hazar-shual, 29 Bilhah, Ezem, Tolad, 30 Bethuel, Hormah, Ziklag, 31 Beth-marcaboth, Hazar-susim, Beth-biri and Shaaraim. These were their cities until David reigned.

32 Their villages were: Etam, Ain, Rimmon, Tochen, Ashan — five cities, 33 *with all their villages that were around these cities, up to Baal. These were their habitations and their relationships to them.

34 Meshobab, Jamlech, Joshah son of Amaziah, 35 Joel, Jehu son of Joshibiah, son of Seraiah, son of Asiel, 36 Elioenai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel, Benaiah, 37 Ziza son of Shiphi, son of Allon, son of Jedaiah, son of Shimri, son of Shemaiah — 38 these mentioned by name were leaders in their families, and their fathers' houses increased greatly. 39 So they went to the Approach of Gedor, to the east of the valley, to seek pasture for their flocks. 40 *They found rich and good pasture, and the land was wide open, quiet, and peaceful; because people of Ham had always lived there. 41 Then these people who have been recorded by name came, in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and attacked their tents and the dwellings that were found there, annihilating them to this day, and settling in their place; for there was pasture there for their flocks.

42 Also, some of them — of the sons of Simeon — five hundred men, went to Mount Seir, with Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi, at their head. 43 They smote the remnant of the Amalekites who had survived and dwelt there, up to this day.

4:40. They had never faced threats from any invaders (Vilna Gaon).

5:1-2. The double portion of inheritance, which normally is the right of the firstborn son, was given to Joseph over Reuben, and his descendants were split into two independent tribes, Ephraim and Manasseh. The privilege of royalty, however, which should have gone to the firstborn, was not conferred on Joseph. It was stripped from Reuben and given to Judah.

5:4-6. Joel was the son of Carmi, Shemaiah the son of Joel, and so on.

5:7. In the days of Jeroboam (v. 17).

5 [1] The sons of Reuben, the firstborn of Israel. (He was the firstborn, but when he Reuben defiled his father's bed his birthright was given to the sons of Joseph son of Israel, although not to receive the hereditary right of the firstborn, * [2] for Judah prevailed over his brothers, and the ruler was to come from him; but the firstborn's portion was Joseph's.) [3] The sons of Reuben, the firstborn of Israel: Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron and Carmi. [4] The sons of Joel: * Shemaiah was his son; Gog was his son; Shimei was his son; [5] Micah was his son; Reaia was his son; Baal was his son; [6] Beerah was his son, whom Tillegath-pilneser king of Assyria exiled. He was the leader of the Reubenites.

(See Appendix D, map 1) [7] His brothers, by their families, when their genealogy was recorded according to their generations: * Jeiel the chief, Zechariah [8] and Bela son of Azaz son of Shema son of Joel, who settled around Aroer, up to Nebo and Baal-meon, [9] and settled eastward up to the approach of the wilderness from the Euphrates River. For their flocks had become numerous in the land of Gilead; [10] so in the days of Saul they waged war against the Hagrites, who fell into their hands; and they occupied their tents all across the eastern side of Gilead.

Gad [11] And opposite them, the children of Gad settled in the land of Bashan, up to Salcah. [12] Joel was the leader, Shapham was second in command, and Jaanai and Shaphat [were] in Bashan. [13] Their kinsmen, of their fathers' families: Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jacan, Zia and Eber — seven [in all]. [14] [All] these were the sons of Abihail son of Huri, son of Jaroah, son of Gilead, son of Michael, son of Jeshishai, son of Jahdo, son of Buz. [15] Ahi son of Abdiel, son of Guni, was the leader of their fathers' family. [16] They settled in Gilead, in Bashan and in its towns, and in all the open areas of Sharon, in their far-flung territory.

[17] All these had their genealogies recorded in the days of Jotham king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam * king of Israel.

[18] The sons of Reuben, the Gadites and half the tribe of Manasseh — forty-four thousand, seven hundred sixty brave men of their warriors, men bearing shield and sword, who were archers and skillful in war — [19] waged war against the Hagrites, against Jetur, Naphish and Nodab. [20] They were helped * against them, and the Hagrites and all those who were with them were delivered into their hand, for they cried out to God in the battle; and He heard their prayers, because they put their trust in Him. [21] They plundered their livestock — fifty thousand of their camels, two hundred fifty thousand sheep and two thousand donkeys — and one hundred thousand men. [22] For many were slain, because the war was from God. They then settled in their place, until the exile. *

Half of Manasseh [23] The children of half the tribe of Manasseh lived in the land from Bashan up to Baal-hermon and Senir and Mount Hermon, for they were numerous. [24] These were the heads of their fathers' families: Epher, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah and Jahdiel — mighty warriors, men of fame, and heads of their fathers' families. [25] But they betrayed the God of their fathers and went astray after the gods of the peoples of the land whom God had destroyed before them. [26] So the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul king of Assyria, and the spirit of Tillegath-pilneser king of Assyria, and he led away the Reubenites, the Gadites and half the tribe of Manasseh into exile, transporting them to Halah, Habor and Hara, 5:17. Jeroboam II, who was a contemporary of Jotham.

5:20. By their brethren from other tribes.
5:22. Until the tribes who lived on the East Bank were exiled by the Assyrians. See II Kings 17:7ff.

6:35. The rest of the chapter deals with the towns that were apportioned by lottery (see Joshua Ch. 21) as the dwelling places of the Kohanim and the Levites. The first lottery was for the sons of Aaron mentioned here.
6:46. Those who were not descendants of Aaron, and were thus Levites.

Merari, son of Levi.

33 Their brother Levites were appointed over the entire service of the Tabernacle of the Temple of God. 34 Aaron and his sons offered sacrifices on the Altar of the Burnt-Offering, and on the Incense Altar, [caring] for all the labor of the Holy of Holies and atoning for Israel, according to all that Moses, the servant of God, had commanded.

Levite cities

35 These are the sons of Aaron: Elazar was his son; Phinehas was his son; Abishua was his son; 36 Bukki was his son; Uzzi was his son; Zerahiah was his son; 37 Meraioth was his son; Amariah was his son; Ahitub was his son; 38 Zadok was his son; Ahimaaz was his son.

(See Appendix D, map 5)

39 These are the dwelling places for the sons of Aaron of the Kohathite* family, according to their towns throughout their borders; for the lottery fell upon them. 40 They gave them Hebron in the land of Judah, and the outlying areas around it; 41 but the fields of the city and its villages were given to Caleb son of Jephunneh.

42 The sons of Aaron were given the cities of refuge: Hebron, Libnah with its outlying area, Jattir and Eshtemoa with their open areas, 43 Hilez with its open areas, Debir with its open areas, 44 Ashan with its open areas and Beth-shemesh with its open areas.

45 And from the tribe of Benjamin [they were given] Geba with its open areas, Alemeth with its open areas and Anathoth with its open areas. All their cities for their families were thirteen cities.

46 The remaining sons of Kohath, * of the family of that tribe, [were given] ten cities by lottery out of the half-portion of the half of the tribe of Manasseh.

47 The sons of Gershom, according to their families: thirteen cities from the tribe of Issachar, the tribe of Asher, the tribe of Naphtali and the tribe of Manasseh in Bashan.

48 The sons of Merari according to their families, from the tribe of Reuben, the tribe of Gad and the tribe of Zebulun, by lottery: twelve cities.

49 The Children of Israel gave these cities to the Levites with their open areas.
50 They gave by lottery these cities, which have been mentioned by name, from the tribe of the children of Judah, the tribe of the children of Simeon and the tribe of the children of Benjamin.

51 For some of the families of the sons of Kohath, the cities of their territory came from the tribe of Ephraim. 52 They gave them the cities of refuge Shechem in Mount Ephraim with its open areas and Gezer with its open areas; 53 and Jokmeam with its open areas, Beth-horon with its open areas, 54 Aijalon with its open areas and Gath-rimmon with its open areas. 55 And from half the tribe of Manasseh: Aner with its open areas and Bileam with its open areas for the remaining family of the sons of Kohath.

56 To the sons of Gershom, from the family of half the tribe of Manasseh: Golan in Bashan with its open areas and Ashtaroth with its open areas. 57 And from the tribe of Issachar: Kedesh with its open areas, Daberath with its open areas, 58 Ramoth with its open areas and Anem with its open areas. 59 And from the tribe of Asher: Mashal with its open areas, Abdon with its open areas, 60 Hukok with its open areas and Rehob with its open areas. 61 And from the tribe of Naphtali:

7:2. Besides the descendants of Uzzi, whose number is given in v. 4.

7:3. Izrahiah and his four sons (Metzudos).

7:4. This is why Uzzi's descendants so outnumbered those of his brothers.

7:12. Identified with Benjamin's grandson Iri of v. 7 (Radak).

Aher is Dan son of Jacob (see Genesis 46:23), who is otherwise not mentioned in these genealogical listings (Malbim).

7:13. Dan and Naphtali were sons of Bilhah, but the genealogy of Dan is not recorded here. Nor is Zebulun even mentioned in the lists.

7:14. Asriel was a great-grandson of Manasseh (see Kedesh in Galilee with its open areas, Hammon with its open areas and Kiriathaim with its open areas.

62 The remaining sons of Merari, from the tribe of Zebulun: Rimmono with its open areas and Tabor with its open areas. 63 And on the bank of the Jordan by Jericho east of the Jordan, from the tribe of Reuben: Bezer in the wilderness with its open areas, Jahzah with its open areas, 64 Kedemoth with its open areas and Mephaath with its open areas. 65 And from the tribe of Gad: Ramoth in Gilead with its open areas, Mahanaim with its open areas, 66 Heshbon with its open areas and Jazer with its open areas.

7 1 The sons of Issachar: Tola, Puah, Jashub and Shimrom — four [in all].

Issachar 2 The sons of Tola: Uzzi, Rephaiah, Jeriel, Jahmai, Ibsam and Shemuel — heads of their fathers' family, of Tola, mighty warriors throughout their generations — their number in the days of David was twenty-two thousand, six hundred. *

3 The sons of Uzzi: Izrahiah. The sons of Izrahiah: Michael, Obadiah, Joel and Isshiah — all five of them leaders. * 4 Among them, among their descendants, according to their fathers' families, were troops of an army for battle, thirty-six thousand men, for they had many wives and children. *

5 Their brothers, among all the families of Issachar, were mighty warriors, eighty-seven thousand; all had their genealogical lists.

Benjamin 6 Of Benjamin: Bela, Becher and Jediael — three [in all]. 7 The sons of Bela: Ezbon, Uzzi, Uzziel, Jerimoth and Iri — five [in all]; they were heads of their fathers' families, mighty warriors. Their genealogical lists showed twenty-two thousand, thirty-four.

8 The sons of Becher: Zemirah, Joash, Eliezer, Elioenai, Omri, Jerimoth, Abijah, Anathoth and Alameth. All these were the sons of Becher. 9 According to their genealogical lists of their descendants, there were twenty thousand, two hundred heads of fathers' families, mighty warriors.

10 The sons of Jediael: Bilhan. The sons of Bilhan: Jeush, Benjamin, Ehud, Chenaanah, Zethan, Tharshish and Ahishahar. 11 All these were the sons of Jediael, by the heads of their fathers' [families], mighty warriors: seventeen thousand, two hundred soldiers for battle.

12 Shuppim and Huppim were the sons of Ir. *

Naphtali Hushim the sons of Aher. *

The other half of Manasseh 13 The sons of Naphtali: Jahziel, Guni, Jezer and Shallum; the sons of Bilhah. * 14 The descendants of Manasseh: Asriel, * whom [Gilead's wife] bore. His Aramean concubine bore Machir, the father of Gilead. 15 Machir took a wife [from the family] of Huppim and Shuppim, whose sister's name was Maacah. *

The name of a second descendant [of Manasseh] was Zelophehad. Zelophehad had [only] daughters. 16 Maacah, Machir's wife, bore a son, whom she called Peresh, and his brother's name was Sheresh. His sons were Ulam and Rakem. 17 The sons of Ulam: Bedan. These were the sons of Gilead son of Machir, son of Manasseh.

18 His sister, the governor, * bore Ish-hod, Abiezer and Mahlah.

19 The sons of Shemida * were: Ahian, Shechem, Likhi and Aniam.

Numbers 26:29-31). The "concubine" was Manasseh's.

7:15. Machir married Maacah, who was a sister of Shuppim (see next verse).

7:18. Gilead's sister ruled a part of the land of Gilead at one time (Radak).

7:19. Shemida was another of Gilead's sons (Numbers 26:30-32).

7:20. Shuthelah, Bered and Tahath were sons of Ephraim. Eladah, Tahath, Zabad, etc. were sons of Bered (Radak).

7:21. During the Egyptian exile, large numbers of Ephraim's grandchildren escaped to the Land of Israel. They raided the area of Gath, where they were vanquished (Pirkei d'Rabbi Eliezer).

7:24. Beriah's (Metzudos).

7:25. They were Rephah's sons; Tahan was Telah's; and so on.

7:34. The Shomer of v. 32. Helem is identified with Hotham of v. 32 (Vilna Gaon).

7:38. To be identified with Ithran of v. 37 (Metzudos).

Ephraim

20 The sons of Ephraim: Shuthelah, his son Bered and his son Tahath; Eleadah was his son, Tahath was his son,* 21 Zabad was his son, Shuthelah was his son, as well as Ezer and Elead. The men of Gath, who were born in the Land, killed them, because they had come down to take away their flocks.* 22 Ephraim their father mourned [them] for many days, though his brothers came to comfort him. 23 He consorted with his wife, and she conceived and bore a son. He called his name Beriah (With Misfortune), because she was in his house at a time of misfortune.

24 His daughter was Sheerah. She built Lower and Upper Beth-horon and Uzzen-sheerah.*

25 Rephah was his son; Resheph and Telah were his sons; Tahan was his son;* 26 Ladan was his son; Ammihud was his son; Elishama was his son; 27 Non was his son; Joshua was his son.

28 Their homeland and dwelling places were: Beth-el and its towns, Naaran to the east, Gezer to the west and its towns, Shechem and its towns, up to Aiah and its towns — 29 adjacent to the children of Manasseh's [cities]: Beth-shean and its towns, Taanach and its towns, Megiddo and its towns and Dor and its towns. The children of Joseph son of Israel settled in them.

Asher

30 The sons of Asher: Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi and Beriah, and Serah their sister.

31 The sons of Beriah: Heber and Malchiel, who was the founder of Birzaith.

32 Heber begot Japhlet, Shomer and Hotham, and Shua their sister. 33 The sons of Japhlet: Pasach, Bimhal and Asvath. These were the children of Japhlet. 34 The sons of Shamer: Ahi, Rohgah, Hubbah and Aram.* 35 The sons of his brother Helem: Zophah, Imna, Shelesh and Amal. 36 The sons of Zophah: Suah, Harnepher, Shual, Beri, Imrah, 37 Bezer, Hod, Shamma, Shilshah, Ithran and Beera. 38 The sons of Jether: Jephunneh, Pispah and Ara.* 39 The sons of Ulla: Arah, Hanniel and Rizia.*

40 All these were the children of Asher, heads of their fathers' families, select mighty warriors, chiefs of the princes. According to their genealogical lists, the number of soldiers for battle was twenty-six thousand.

Genealogy of King Saul

1 Benjamin begot Bela his firstborn, Ashbel the second, Aharah the third, 2 Nohah the fourth and Rapha the fifth. 3 The sons of Bela were: Addar, Gera and Abihud; 4 Abishua, Naaman, Ahoah,* 5 Gera, Shephuphan and Huram. 6 Those were the sons of Ehud; those were the heads of families who drove out the inhabitants of Geba to Manahath —* 7 Naaman, Ahijah, and Gera drove them out. He begot Uzza and Ahihud.*

8 Shaharaim begot children in the field of Moab, after he had divorced Hushim and Baara, his wives.* 9 By his wife Hodesh he begot: Jobab, Zibia, Mesha, Malcam, 10 Jeuz, Sachiah and Mirmah. These were his sons, heads of families. 11 By Hushim he begot Abitub and Elpaal. 12 The sons of Elpaal: Eber; Misham; Shamed, who built Ono and Lod and their towns; 13 Beriah and Shema, who were heads of the families of the inhabitants of Aijalon, who drove away the inhabitants of Gath.

7:39. Apparently a descendant of Jether (Metzudos).

8:4. These were all sons of Abihud, as explained in v. 6 (Vilna Gaon).

8:6. To be identified with Abihud of v. 3 (Vilna Gaon).

8:7. Called Ahoah in v. 4 (Metzudos).

8:8. One of Benjamin's descendants (Radak), perhaps a son of Ahihud. After divorcing his wives, he remarried them and had children in Moab (Targum, Vilna Gaon).

8:27. To be identified with Jeremoth of v. 14 (Vilna Gaon).

8:29. In 9:35, he is identified as Jeiel (Radak).

8:33. More commonly known as Ish Bosheth.

8:34. More commonly known as Mephibosheth.

9:1. This chapter explains why only some of the tribal genealogies were given at length in the preceding chap-

14 Ahio, Shashak, Jeremoth, 15 Zebadiah, Arad, Eder, 16 Michael, Ispah and Joha were the sons of Beriah. 17 Zebadiah, Meshullam, Hizki, Heber, 18 Ishmerai, Izliah and Jobab were [also] the sons of Elpaal.

19 Jakim, Zichri, Zabdi, 20 Elienai, Zillethai, Eliel, 21 Adaiah, Beraiah and Shim- rath were the sons of Shimei. *

22 Ishpan, Eber, Eliel, 23 Abdon, Zichri, Hanan, 24 Hananiah, Elam, Antotiah, 25 Iphdeiah and Penuel were the sons of Shashak.

26 Shamsherai, Shehariah, Athaliah, 27 Jaaresiah, Eliah and Zichri were the sons of Jeroham. *

28 These were heads of families, leaders, by their generations. They settled in Jerusalem.

29 And in Gibeon settled the founder of Gibeon; * his wife's name was Maacah.
30 His firstborn son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Nadab, 31 Gedor, Ahio, Zecher 32 and Mikloth, [who] begot Shimeah. They also settled across from their royal family Saul begot Jonathan, Malchi-shua, Abinadab and Eshbaal. * 34 The son of Jonathan was Merib-baal; * Merib-baal begot Micah. 35 The sons of Micah:

Pithon, Melech, Tarea and Ahaz. 36 Ahaz begot Jehoaddah; Jehoaddah begot Alemeth, Azmaveth and Zimri. Zimri begot Moza; 37 Moza begot Binea. Raphah was his son; Eleasah was his son; Azel was his son. 38 Azel had six sons, and these were their names: Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel.

39 The sons of his brother Eshek: Ulam his firstborn, Jehush the second, and Eliphelet the third. 40 The sons of Ulam were men who were mighty warriors, archers, and had many sons and grandsons — a hundred and fifty.

All these were among the sons of Benjamin.

9 1 All of Israel registered their genealogies. They are recorded in the Book of the
THE RETURNING EXILES 9:1-38 Kings of Israel. Judah was exiled to Babylonia for their treachery. * 2 The first inhabitants to settle in [the lands of] their possession, * in their cities, were the Israelites, the Kohanim, the Levites and the Nethinim.

3 In Jerusalem there settled some of the children of Judah, some of the children of Benjamin and some of the children of Ephraim and Manasseh: 4 Uthai son of Ammihud, son of Omri, son of Imri, son of Bani, of the sons of Perez son of Judah. 5 Of the Shilonites: * Asaiah the firstborn and his sons. 6 Of the sons of Zerah: Jeuel, and six hundred ninety of their brethren.

7 Of the sons of Benjamin: Sallu son of Meshullam, son of Hodaviah, son of Hassenuah, 8 and Ibneiah son of Jeroham, and Elah son of Uzzi, son of Michri, and Meshullam son of Shephathiah, son of Reuel, son of Ibneiah, 9 and nine hundred fifty-six of their kinsmen according to their generations. All these men were heads of the family in their fathers' families.

10 Of the Kohanim: Jedaiah, Jehoiarib, Jachin, 11 Azariah son of Hilkiah, son of Meshullam, son of Zadok, son of Meraioth, son of Ahitub, the supervisor of the Temple of God; 12 Adaiah son of Jeroham, son of Pashur, son of Malchijah; and Maasiai son of Adiel, son of Jahzerah, son of Meshullam, son of ters. They were the ones who lived among the people of Judah, and returned with them from the Babylonian exile. The genealogy of the other people, as this verse relates, can be found in the Book of the Chronicles of Kings of Israel, which was still extant in Ezra's days (Ramban).

9:2. After the return from Babylonian exile. For the Nethinim, see Joshua Ch. 9.

9:5. The descendants of Shelah.

9:18. This same family had also stood guard at the King's Gate of Solomon's Temple (Radak).

9:19. The holiest area, the interior of the Temple building.

9:22. David and Samuel established which Levite families would be assigned to gatekeeping, which to singing, etc. (Vilna Gaon).

Meshillemith son of Immer; [13] and one thousand seven hundred sixty of their kinsmen, heads of their fathers' families, accomplished experts in the work of the service of the Temple of God.

[14] Of the Levites: Shemaiah son of Hasshub, son of Azrikam, son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari; [15] Bakbakkar, Heresh, Galal, Mattaniah son of Mica, son of Zichri, son of Asaph; [16] Obadiah son of Shemaiah, son of Galal, son of Jeduthun; and Berechiah son of Asa, son of Elkanah, who dwelled in the villages of the Netophathite.

[17] The gatekeepers: Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman and their kinsmen. Shallum was the chief. [18] As before, at the King's Gate in the east, they were gatekeepers for the Levite camps.* [19] Shallum son of Kore, son of Ebiasaph, son of Korah, and his kinsmen of his father's family, the Korahites, were in charge of the work of the service, guarding the doorways of the Tent [of Meeting]; as their fathers had been in charge of the camp of HASHEM, as guards of the entryway.* [20] Phinehas son of Elazar had been the supervisor over them in former times, for HASHEM was with him. [21] Zechariah son of Meshelemiah was gatekeeper of the entrance of the Tent of Meeting. [22] *All those who were chosen to be gatekeepers at the doorways were two hundred twelve [men]. All these were registered by their genealogies in their villages. They were the ones whom David and Samuel the Seer established in their permanent positions. [23] So they and their children were in charge of the gates of the Temple of HASHEM, the house of the Tent [of Meeting], in shifts. [24] The gatekeepers were to be at the four directions — east, west, north and south. [25] Their kinsmen in their villages were [also] to come for seven days, from time to time, with these.* [26] For these Levites, the four principal gatekeepers, were permanently established. They were [also] in charge of the chambers and treasuries of the Temple of God. [27] They slept in the environs of the Temple of God, for they were responsible to guard it, and they were in charge of opening the doors every morning. [28] Some of them were in charge of the ministering vessels, for they would put them in by number and bring them out by number. [29] Some of them were appointed over the [other] vessels, all the articles of the Sanctuary, and of the fine flour, the wine, the oil, the frankincense and the spices. [30] But those who blended the mixture of the spices were from among the Kohanim. [31] *Mattithiah, one of the Levites — he was the firstborn of Shallum the Korahite — had the permanent position over the offerings that were made in the pans. [32] Others of their kinsmen of the sons of the Kohathites were in charge of the bread of array, to prepare it every Sabbath.*

[33] *These were the singers, family heads of the Levites, in the Chambers of Peturim, for their work was upon them day and night. [34] These were the family heads of the Levites, heads over their descendants; they lived in Jerusalem.

[35] Jeiel, the founder of Gibeon, settled in Gibeon. His wife's name was Maacah. [36] His firstborn son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, [37] Gedor, Ahio, Zechariah and Mikloth. [38] Mikloth begot Shimeam. They also settled across from their kinsmen in Jerusalem, with their kinsmen.

MORE ABOUT KING SAUL 9:39-10:14

[39] Ner begot Kish. Kish begot Saul. Saul begot Jonathan, Malchi-shua, Abinadab and Eshbaal. [40] The son of Jonathan was Merib-baal; Meri-baal begot Micah.

9:32. I.e., the show-bread.

9:33. Their chamber was called Peturim, which means "exempt ones," because these Levites were excused from other responsibilities, since their singing duties kept them occupied "day and night" (Vilna Gaon).

9:43. Binea's; and so on.

10:5. See commentary to I Samuel 31:4.

10:14-15. Saul sinned in the matter of Amalek (I Samuel Ch. 15), in not waiting for Samuel at Gilgal (ibid. Ch. 13), and in consulting a necromancer (ibid. Ch. 28).

11:3. David promised that he would not punish the 41 The sons of Micah: Pithon, Melech, Taharea 42 and Ahaz, [who] begot Jarah. Jarah begot Alemeth, Azmaveth and Zimri. Zimri begot Moza; 43 Moza begot Binea. Rephaiah was his son; Eleasah was his son; Azel was his son.* 44 Azel had six sons, and these were their names: Azrikam, Bocru, Ishmael, Shearíah, Obadiah and Hanan. These were the sons of Azel.

10 1 The Philistines battled with Israel. The men of Israel fled from before the Philistines and fell slain upon Mount Gilboa. 2 The Philistines then caught up with Saul and with his sons, and the Philistines slew Jonathan, Abinadab and Malch-ishua, Saul's sons. 3 The battle then grew fierce against Saul, and the archers found him; he was terrified of the archers. 4 *Saul said to his armorbearer, "Draw your sword and stab me with it, lest these uncircumcised people come and make sport of me." But his armorbearer did not consent, for he was very frightened, so Saul took the sword and fell upon it. 5 When the armorbearer saw that Saul was dying he, too, fell upon his sword and died. 6 So Saul and his three sons died, and his entire household died together.

Death of King Saul

7 When all the men of Israel who were in the valley saw that they had fled and that Saul and his sons had died, they abandoned their cities and fled, and the Philistines came and settled in them. 8 It happened the next day, when the Philistines came to plunder the corpses, and they found [the bodies] of Saul and his sons, fallen on Mount Gilboa. 9 They stripped him and they removed his head and his gear, and sent [heralds] all about the land of the Philistines to inform [those in their temple of] their idols and the people. 10 They placed his gear in the temple of their gods, and they hung up his skull in Beth-dagon. 11 All [the inhabitants of] Yabesh-gilead heard about all that the Philistines had done to Saul, 12 and all the daring men arose, and they carried the remains of Saul and the remains of his sons and took them back to Yabesh. They then buried their bones under the terebinth tree in Yabesh, and they fasted seven days.

13 Thus Saul died because of the betrayal by which he betrayed HASHEM, because of the command of HASHEM that he did not keep, and also for consulting necromancy to seek out, 14 and not seeking out HASHEM,* so that He caused him to die and He transferred the kingship to David son of Jesse.

11 1 All of Israel gathered together to David in Hebron, saying, "Behold, we are your bone and your flesh. 2 Even yesterday and before yesterday, even when Saul was king, you were the one who led Israel out and led them in; and HASHEM your God has said of you, 'You shall shepherd My people Israel and you shall be ruler over My people Israel.' "

KING DAVID 11:1-29:30

3 All the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and David sealed a covenant with them in Hebron. They anointed David as king of Israel, in accordance with the word of* HASHEM through Samuel.

4 David and all of Israel went to Jerusalem, which is Jebus; the Jebusite, the inhabitants of the land, were there. 5 The inhabitants of Jebus told David, "You shall not enter here. . .!" But David captured the Zion Fortress, which is the City* supporters of Saul's son Ish Bosheth (Radak); or, that he would protect all of Israel as faithfully as he would his own tribe of Judah (Abarbanel).

11:5. The rest of their taunt is recorded in II Samuel 5:6.

11:8. For the meaning of Millo, see II Samuel 5:9. The "surrounding wall" of the fortress was inside the city (Radak).

11:11. This translation follows Radak, who equates this man with Adino the Eznite, described in II Samuel 23:8. Alternatively, the phrase should be translated Jashobeam of David. 6 David declared, "Whoever strikes the Jebusite first will become a chief and an officer." Joab son of Zeruiah was the first to go up, and he became a chief. 7 David settled in the fortress; therefore they called it the City of David. 8 He built up the city all around, from the Millo to the surrounding [wall], while Joab restored the rest of the city.* 9 David grew continuously greater, and HASHEM, Master of Legions, was with him.

David's leading warriors

10 These are the chief warriors of David, who strove for him in his kingship, along with all of Israel, to crown him, in accordance with the word of HASHEM concerning Israel. 11 This is the tally of David's warriors:

The one who sat in the assembly, a sagacious man, the head of the captains. He wielded his spear over three hundred slain men at one time.*

12 After him was Elazar son of Dodo the Ahohite. He was among the three mighty men.

13 One who was with David in Pas-dammim, where the Philistines had gathered for battle. There was a portion of the field full of barley, and the people had fled from before the Philistines.* 14 They stood in the middle of the portion and saved it, and smote the Philistines; and* HASHEM caused a great salvation.

15 Once three men of the thirty chiefs went down to the crag to David, to the cave of Adullam, and the Philistine camp was encamped in the Valley of Rephaim.* 16 David was then in the stronghold, at that time, and there was a Philistine garrison in Beth-lehem. 17 David had a craving and said, "If only someone could give me water to drink from the well of Beth-lehem, which is in the city gate!" 18 So the three broke into the camp of the Philistines and drew water from the well of Beth-lehem, which is at the gate, and they carried it and brought it to David. But David refused to drink it, and he poured it out unto HASHEM.* 19 He said, "Far be it from me before my God to do this! Shall I drink [what is tantamount to] the blood of these men, by their lives? For they risked their lives to bring it!" and he refused to drink it. These are what the three mighty men did.

20 Abishai, Joab's brother — he was the head of the three; he wielded his spear over three hundred slain men; he was well known among the three.* 21 Of the three, he was more honored than the other two, and he became their leader, but he did not compare to the [first] three.

22 Benaiah son of Jehoiada was a valiant man of many achievements, from Kabzeel; he struck down the two commanders of Moab, and he [also] went down and slew a lion in the middle of a well on a snowy day. 23 He also struck down the Egyptian man, a man of imposing size — five cubits tall. The Egyptian had a spear [as thick] as a weaver's beam. He came down upon him with a stick, stole the spear from out of the hand of the Egyptian, and killed him with his own spear. 24 These are the things that Benaiah son of Jehoiada did; he was well known among the three mighty men. 25 He was more honored than the thirty, but he did not compare to the [first] three; and David set him as his confidant.

26 The mighty warriors: Joab's brother Asahel; Elhanan son of Dodo of Beth-lehem; 27 Shammoth the Harorite; Helez the Pelonite; 28 Ira son of Ikkesh Tekoite; Abiezer the Anathothite; 29 Sibbecai the Hushathite; Ilai the Ahohite; 30 Mahrai son of Hachmoni, the head of the captains . . ."

11.13. In II Samuel 23:11, he is identified as Shammah son of Age (Radak).

11:14. Shammah and Elazar (Ralbag).

11:15. See II Samuel 23:13.

11:18. See II Samuel 23:16.

11:20. This triad was not the same as the one described above.

David's first loyalists

[1] These are [the men] who came to David at Ziklag, while he was still in hiding from Saul son of Kish. They were among the mighty men who helped in war, [2] armed with bows, both right-handed and left-handed in slinging stones or [shooting] arrows with a bow, of the kinsmen of Saul, from Benjamin:

[3] The chief was Ahiezer, and Joash, the sons of Shemaah the Gibeathite; Jeziel and Pelet, the sons of Azmaveth; Beraca; Jehu the Anathothite; [4] Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, who was [like] one of the thirty mighty [men], * and even superior to the thirty [men]; [5] Jeremiah; Jahaziel; Johanan; Jozabad; [6] Eluzai; Jerimoth; Bealiah; Shemariah; Shephatiah the Haruphite; [7] Elkanah, Isshiah, Azarel, Joezer and Jashobeam, the Korahites; [8] Joelah and Zebadiah, the sons of Jeroham of Gedud.

[9] Some men of the Gadites defected to David, to the stronghold in the wilderness — mighty warriors, soldiers, who wielded shields and bucklers; their faces were like the face of lion, and they were fleet as deer on the mountains:

[10] Ezer, the head; Obadiah, the second; Eliab, the third; [11] Mishmannah, the fourth; Jeremiah, the fifth; [12] Attai, the sixth; Eliel, the seventh; [13] Johanan, the eighth; Elzabad, the ninth; [14] Jeremiah, the tenth; Machbannai, the eleventh. [15] These were the heads of the army from the children of Gad, the least [was equal] to a hundred men and the greatest to a thousand men. [16] These were the ones who crossed the Jordan during the first month, when it was overflowing all of its banks, and they chased away all the [residents] of the valleys, to the east and to the west.

His camp grows

From Benjamin and Judah

[17] Some of the children of Benjamin and Judah came to David's stronghold. [18] David came out before them and spoke up, saying to them, "If you have come to me in peace, to assist me, then my will is to unite with you. But if you come to trick me for my enemies — though there is no injustice on my part — may the God of our fathers see it and pass judgment!" [19] A spirit then garbed Amasai, the head of the captains. "[We] are yours, David, and [we] are with you, son of Jesse! Peace! Peace unto you and peace unto those who assist you, for your God assists you!" David accepted them, and made them heads of troops.

From Menasseh

[20] Also, some [people] of Manasseh fell in with David, when he accompanied the Philistines to battle against Saul, * but he did not help [the Philistines], for the 12:22. They helped David attack the Amalekite marauders who had raided their camp (see ibid.).

12:23. An expression denoting an extremely large camp (Radak).

12.34. Lit., "without a heart and [another] heart" — i.e., without duplicity.

Philistine governors advised to send him away, saying, "With our heads he will fall in with his master Saul!" [21] When he went to Ziklag, people of Manasseh defected to him: Adnah, Jozabad, Jediael, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu and Zillethai, who were captains of thousands from Manasseh. [22] They helped David against the troop, for they were all mighty warriors, and they became officers in the army. [23] For constantly, day after day, people came to David to assist him, until there was a large camp, like a camp of God.

From the other tribes

[24] This is the count of the leaders of those mobilized for the army, who came to David at Hebron to transfer Saul's kingship over to him, in accordance with the word of HASHEM.

[25] The children of Judah, bearers of shields and spears — six thousand eight hundred mobilized for the army.

[26] Of the children of Simeon — seven thousand one hundred mighty warriors for the army.

[27] Of the children of Levi — four thousand six hundred; [28] and Jehoiada, the leader of Aaron's [descendants], and with him three thousand seven hundred; [29] and Zadok, a young man who was a mighty warrior, with twenty-two officers of his father's family.

[30] Of the children of Benjamin, Saul's kinsmen — three thousand [men], most of whom had been maintaining their loyalty to the house of Saul.

[31] Of the children of Ephraim — twenty thousand eight hundred mighty warriors, men of renown in their families.

[32] Of half the tribe of Manasseh — eighteen thousand men [who] had been designated by name to come and crown David king.

[33] Of the children of Issachar, men with understanding for the times, to know what Israel should do — two hundred chiefs, with all of their kinsmen following their counsel.

*[34] Of Zebulun — fifty thousand [men] going out in the army, who deployed themselves for war with all kinds of weapons of war, who arrayed themselves without hesitancy.

[35] Of Naphtali — one thousand officers, and with them thirty-seven thousand [men] with shields and spears.

[36] Of the Danites — twenty-eight thousand six hundred [men] who deployed themselves for war.

[37] Of Asher — forty thousand [men] who went out to the army to deploy themselves for war.

[38] From the other side of the Jordan: of the Reubenite, the Gadite and half of the tribe of Manasseh — a hundred twenty thousand [men] with all the weapons of a fighting army.

David becomes king

[39] All of these were men of war, who were arrayed in formation. They came to Hebron wholeheartedly, to crown David king over all of Israel. Furthermore, all the remainder of Israel had a united heart to crown David king. [40] They stayed there with David for three days, eating and drinking, for their kinsmen had prepared for them. [41] Furthermore, those close to them, up to Issachar and Zebulun and Naphtali, brought provisions by donkey, by camel, by mule and by ox — food of flour, dried figs, raisins, wine, oil and much cattle and sheep, for there was joy in Israel.

13 Unity and the Ark

[1] David consulted with the officers of thousands and of hundreds — with every leader. [2] David said to the entire congregation of Israel, "If it seems good to you and to HASHEM, our God, let us send out far and wide, to our remaining brethren

13:3. The Ark had been in Kiriath-jearim since it was returned by the Philistines (I Samuel 7:1-2). David now wanted to bring it to Jerusalem.

13:5. That is, from the far north to the far south of Israel.

13:6 Another name for Kiryath-jearim (Joshua 15:9).

*in all the lands of Israel, and with them to the Kohanim and Levites in their cities surrounded by their open areas, and let them gather together to us; [3] and let us transfer the Ark of our God to us, * for we did not seek it out in the days of Saul."*

[4] The entire congregation said to do so, for the matter met with the approval of the entire people.

*[5] David gathered all of Israel, from the approach of Hamath to the Shihor [River] of Egypt, * to bring the Ark of God from Kiriath-jearim. [6] David and all of Israel went up to Baalah, * to Kiriath-jearim of Judah, to bring up from there the Ark of God — HASHEM, Who is enthroned upon the Cherubim — which is called by [His] Name. [7] They placed the Ark of God upon a new wagon, from the house of Abinadab. Uzza and Ahio * guided the wagon. [8] David and all of Israel were rejoicing before God with all their might, with songs and with harps, lyres, drums, cymbals and trumpets.*

*[9] They came to the threshing-floor of Chidon, and Uzza sent out his hand to grasp the Ark, for the oxen had dislodged it. [10] HASHEM became angry at Uzza * and He struck him for sending out his hand to the Ark; and he died there before God.*

[11] David was upset [with himself] because HASHEM had inflicted a breach against Uzza; he called that place Perez-uzza (Breach of Uzzah), [which is its name] to this day. [12] David feared God on that day, saying, "How can I bring the Ark of God to myself?" [13] So David did not move the Ark to himself to the City of David, and he diverted it to the house of Obed-edom the Gittite. [14] The Ark of God remained at the house of Obed-edom, in his house, for three months, and HASHEM blessed Obed-edom's household and all that was his.

14 *[1] Huram, king of Tyre, sent a delegation to David, with cedarwood, wall artisans * and carpenters, to build him a palace. [2] David realized that HASHEM had established him as king over Israel — for his kingdom was greatly exalted — for the sake of His people Israel. **

The monarchy is established

[3] David married additional wives in Jerusalem [after he came there from Hebron], and David begot more sons and daughters. [4] These are the names of those born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, [5] Ibhar, Elishua, Elpelet, [6] Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, [7] Elishama, Beeliada and Eliphelet.

*[8] The Philistines heard that David had been anointed as king of Israel, so all the Philistines came up to seek out David. * David heard, and he went out before them. [9] The Philistines came and spread out in the Valley of Rephaim. * [10] David inquired of God, saying, "Shall I go up against the Philistines; will You deliver them into my hands?" And HASHEM answered David, "Go up, and I shall deliver them into your hands." [11] They came up to the Plain of Perazim, and David struck them there. David said, "God has broken down my enemies through my hand, as water breaches [a barrier]"; therefore that place is called the Plain of Perazim. [12] [The Philistines] had left their gods behind there; David gave the command and they were burned in fire.*

David defeats the Philistines ...

[13] The Philistines once again spread out in the Valley. [14] David inquired of God again, and God said to him, "Do not go up after them, but circle around from them, and approach them from opposite the mulberry trees. 15 And it shall be that when you hear a sound of marching at the tops of the mulberry trees, * then you shall go out to do battle, for HASHEM will have gone out before you to strike at the Philistine camp." 16 David did as God had commanded him, and he struck the Philistine camp from Gibeon until the approach to Gezer.

17 David's fame spread throughout all the lands, and HASHEM placed his fear upon all the nations.

15 1 He built houses for himself in the City of David. He also prepared a place for the Ark of God, pitching a tent for it.

The Ark arrives

2 At that time David gave the command that no one but the Levites was to carry

Preparations

the Ark of God, for it was them whom HASHEM had chosen to carry the Ark of God and to minister before Him forever. 3 David assembled all of Israel to Jerusalem, to bring up the Ark of God to its place that he had prepared for it. 4 David gathered together the sons of Aaron and the Levites:

The Ark's Levite bearers

5 Of the sons of Kohath: Uriel, the chief, and a hundred twenty of his kinsmen; 6 of the sons of Merari: Asaiah, the chief, and two hundred twenty of his kinsmen; 7 of the sons of Gershom: Joel, the chief, and a hundred thirty of his kinsmen; 8 of the sons of Elizaphan: Shemaiah, the chief, and two hundred of his kinsmen; 9 of the sons of Hebron: Eliel, the chief, and eighty of his kinsmen; 10 of the sons of Uzziel, Amminadab, the chief, and a hundred twelve of his kinsmen. 11 David called for Zadok and Ebiathar the Kohanim, and the Levites Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel and Amminadab, 12 and he said to them, "You, the family heads of the Levites — you and your kinsmen — sanctify yourselves and bring up the Ark of HASHEM, God of Israel, to [the place] that I have prepared for it. 13 For the first time, * it was not you; HASHEM our God dealt harshly with us, for we did not seek Him out as was proper." 14 So the Kohanim and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the Ark of HASHEM, God of Israel. 15 The sons of the Levites carried the Ark of God, as Moses had commanded * in accordance with the word of HASHEM — on their shoulders, by staffs upon them.

The musical accompaniment

16 David instructed the officers of the Levites to set up their kinsmen who made music with musical instruments — lyres, harps and cymbals — making themselves heard, to raise their voices in joy. 17 So the Levites appointed Heman son of Joel and one of his kinsmen, Asaph son of Berechiah; and of the sons of Merari their kinsmen, Ethan son of Kushaiah. 18 And with them were their kinsmen, next in rank: Zechariah, Ben, Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Eliphalehu, Mikneiah, Obed-edom and Jeiel, the gatekeepers. 19 The musicians Heman, Asaph and Ethan sounded the brass cymbals; 20 and Zechariah, Aziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah and Benaiah played the lyre, upon Alamoth. * 21 Mattithiah, Eliphalehu, Mikneiah, Obed-edom, Jeiel and Azaziah led the music of the harps, upon the eight-stringed instrument. 22 Cheneniah was the officer over the Levites for the pitch of the singing; he oversaw the pitch, because he was an expert. 23 Berechiah and Elkanah were gatekeepers for the Ark. * 24 Shebaniah, Joshapahat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah and Eliezer, the Kohanim, blew the trumpets before the Ark of God; and Obed-edom and Jehiah were gatekeepers for the Ark.

15:26. By granting them safe passage, without the calamity that had befallen Uzza (Radak).

15:29. See II Samuel 6:20-23.

16:4. Three types of psalms (Rashi).

16:8. David sang this psalm when he stationed the Ark in Jerusalem. The first section, vv. 8-22, is an abridgement of Psalm 105. The second section, vv. 23-36, is a slightly abbreviated version of Psalm 96, and ends with 106:1, 47,48.

Exuberant procession

25 David and the elders of Israel and the officers of thousands who went to bring up the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM from Obed-edom's house were exuberant. 26 It happened that because God helped the Levites who were carrying the Ark of the Covenant of* HASHEM, they offered as sacrifices seven bulls and seven rams. 27 David was clothed in a linen robe, as were all the Levites who carried the Ark, and the musicians and Cheneniah, the officer over the pitch of the singers. David had on him a linen tunic. 28 All of Israel brought up the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM with joyous shouts and the sound of the shofar, with trumpets and cymbals sounding among the lyres and harps.

Michal's dissonance

29 It happened as the Ark of HASHEM arrived at the City of David, Michal daughter of Saul peered out the window and saw King David dancing and cavorting before HASHEM, *and she became contemptuous of him in her heart.

16

Celebration and thanksgiving

1 They brought the Ark of God and set it up inside the tent that David had pitched for it; and David offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings before God. 2 When David had finished offering up the burnt-offering and the peace-offering, he blessed the people with the Name of HASHEM. 3 He distributed to all the people of Israel, to man and woman alike, a loaf of bread, a portion of beef and a container of wine for each person.

4 He stationed some of the Levites before the Ark of HASHEM as ministers, and to chant Remembrances, Thanksgivings and Praises to* HASHEM, God of Israel: 5 Asaph the chief, his second in command Zechariah, Jeiel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, Obed-edom and Jeiel, with instruments of lyres and harps, with Asaph sounding the cymbals, 6 and Benaiah and Jahaziel, the Kohanim, always being with the trumpets before the Ark of the Covenant of God. 7 Then, on that day, David placed the responsibility for thanksgiving to HASHEM into the hands of Asaph and his kinsmen.

David's song of praise

8 Give thanks to HASHEM, declare His Name; make His acts known among the nations. 9 Sing to Him, make music to Him, speak of all His wonders. 10 Glory in His holy Name; may the heart of those who seek HASHEM be glad. 11 Search out HASHEM and His might, seek His Presence always. 12 Remember His wonders that He wrought, His marvels and the judgments of His mouth. 13 O seed of Israel His servant, O children of Jacob, His chosen ones,

Remembering His covenant

14 He is HASHEM our God; over all the earth are His ordinances. 15 Remember His covenant forever, the word He commanded for a thousand generations — 16 that He covenanted with Abraham, and His oath to Isaac. 17 Then He established it for Jacob as a statute, for Israel as an everlasting covenant,

God's promise

18 saying, 'To you I shall give the land of Canaan, the lot of your heritage.' 19 When you were but few in number, hardly dwelling there, 20 and they wandered from nation to nation, and from one kingdom to another people, 21 He allowed no man to rob them, and He rebuked kings for their sake: 22 'Dare not touch My anointed ones, and to My prophets do no harm.'

Acknowledge His salvation

23 Sing to HASHEM, everyone on earth, announce His salvation daily. 24 Relate His glory among the nations, and His wonders among all the peoples — 25 that HASHEM is great and exceedingly lauded, awesome is He above all heavenly powers. 26 For all the gods of the nations are nothings, but HASHEM made the heavens. 27 Glory and majesty are before Him; might and joy are in His place. 28 Render unto HASHEM, O families of peoples — render unto HASHEM honor and might; 29 render unto HASHEM honor worthy of His Name.

16:30. If the people of the world would tremble in fear of God, calamities would not happen (Ralbag).

16:39. Even after the Ark was brought to Jerusalem, the communal offerings were still brought at the "High Place," i.e., the communal Altar in Gibeon.

17:11. Despite the above assurances to David, God now says that Israel had not yet achieved the absolute security and tranquility that are prerequisites to the building of the Temple (see Deuteronomy 12:10-11). That era would first arrive during the reign of Solomon (Abarbanel).

Take an offering and come before Him; prostrate yourselves before HASHEM in His intensely holy place. 30 *Tremble before Him, everyone on earth; let the world be fixed so that it cannot falter 31 The heavens will be glad and the earth will rejoice; let them declare among the peoples, 'HASHEM reigns!' 32 The sea and its fullness will roar; the field and everything in it will exult; 33 then all the trees of the forest will sing with joy — before HASHEM, for He will have come to judge the earth.

Rejoice in His reign

Thankful prayer

34 Give thanks to HASHEM for He is good; for his kindness endures forever! 35 Say, 'Save us, O God of our salvation; gather us and deliver us from the nations, to give thanks to Your holy Name, to glory in Your praise.' 36 Blessed is HASHEM, God of Israel, from This World to the World to Come!

And the entire nation said, "Amen" and "praise to HASHEM!"

Jerusalem and Gibeon

37 [David] left Asaph and his kinsmen there before the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM to minister before the Ark permanently, each day according to what was appropriate on that day, 38 along with Obed-edom and sixty-eight of their kinsmen; Obed-edom son of Jedithun and Hosah to be gatekeepers. 39 *Zadok the Kohen and his brethren the Kohanim served before the Tabernacle of HASHEM, at the High Place that was in Gibeon, 40 to bring up burnt-offerings to HASHEM upon the Altar of Burnt-Offerings continuously, morning and evening, according to all that is written in the Torah of HASHEM, which He had commanded Israel. 41 With them were Heman and Jeduthun and the rest of the chosen ones who were specified by name, to give thanks to HASHEM, for His mercy is forever. 42 With them, Heman and Jeduthun, were trumpets and cymbals for those who sounded them, and the musical instruments of God. Jeduthun's sons were in charge of the gate.

43 All the people then went back to their homes, and David turned to bless his [own] household.

David's rejected hope to build a Temple

1 It happened after David was settled into his home that David said to Nathan the prophet, "Behold, I am living in a house of cedar while the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM dwells under curtains!"

2 Nathan said to David, "Do whatever is in your heart, for God is with you."

3 It happened that night that the word of God came to Nathan, saying, 4 "Go and say to My servant David: Thus said HASHEM: [It is] not you who will build a house for Me to dwell in. 5 For I have not dwelled in a house from the day I brought Israel up to this day; I have moved from tent to tent and from tabernacle [to tabernacle]. 6 Wherever I moved about among all of Israel, did I say a word to one of the judges of Israel, whom I have appointed to shepherd My people Israel, saying, 'Why have you not built Me a house of cedarwood?' 7 And now, thus shall you say to My servant David: So says HASHEM, Master of Legions: I have taken you from the sheepfold, from following the flocks, to become ruler over My people, over Israel. 8 I was with you wherever you went — I cut down all your enemies before you and I gave you renown, like the renown of the great men of the land. 9 I shall yet secure a place for My people, for Israel; I shall plant it there and it shall dwell in its place so that it shall be disturbed no more; iniquitous people will no longer beleaguer it — as in early times, 10 and [also] from the day that I appointed judges over My people Israel — and I will subdue all your enemies. And I declare to you that HASHEM will establish a dynasty for you. 11 *When your days are complete to go to your forefathers, 17:18. "What more could David ask, for You have granted him all that he could possibly want" (Targum).

17:19. It is not due to my merit, but only the Divine will that has raised me to such lofty heights.

17:20. When we experience Your greatness, it confirms all the wonders of old of which we have heard from our forefathers.

17:21. Since You are the One and Only great God, how fortunate is Your people Israel whom You have chosen to cling to You (Metzudos).

17:23. May there never be any reason, such as excessive sin, that might cause Your promise to be nullified.

15 In accordance with all these words and this entire vision, so did Nathan speak to David.

David's gratitude 16 King David then came and settled before HASHEM, and said, "Who am I, O HASHEM, God, and who is my household, that You should have brought me this far? 17 And yet this was insufficient in Your eyes, O God, so You have spoken also of Your servant's household in the distant [future], and You have considered Me as befits a man of exalted stature, O HASHEM, God. 18 What more can David say to You to honor Your servant; for You know Your servant.* 19 O HASHEM, it is because of Your servant, and according to Your desire, that You have bestowed

For You, O HASHEM, have blessed; may it* be blessed forever."*

18 DAVID SUBDUES HIS ENEMIES 18:1-20:8

1 It happened after this that David struck the Philistines and subdued them. David took Gath and its suburbs from the hands of the Philistines. 2 He struck Moab. The Moabites became servants, bearers of tribute, to David.* 3 David Moab, Zobah and Aram smote Hadarezer king of Zobah, in Hamath, as he was on the way to assert his control over the Euphrates River.* 4 David captured from him a thousand chariots, seven thousand [horse]men and twenty thousand foot soldiers. David hamstrung all the chariot [horses], leaving over [enough for] one hundred chariots.* 5 Aram of Damascus came to assist Hadarezer, king of Zobah, and David smote twenty-two thousand men of Aram. 6 David set up [authorities] in Aram of Damascus, and Aram became servants unto David, bearers of tribute. HASHEM caused salvation for David wherever he went. 7 David took the golden shields

18:2. They were not actually enslaved to David, but were subjugated and had to pay taxes to him (Radak).
18:3. A Syrian kingdom. See II Samuel 8:3.
18:4. He did not kill the horses because it is forbidden to cause purposeless destruction (Deuteronomy 20:19); he removed their military potential (Radak).

of Hadarezer's servants and brought them to Jerusalem. 8 And from Tibhath and Cun — cities of Hadarezer — David took a great deal of copper. From it, Solomon made the copper sea and the pillars and the copper vessels [of the Temple].

9 Tou, king of Hamath, heard that David had smitten the entire army of Hadarezer, king of Zobah. 10 So [Tou] sent his son Hadoram to King David to greet him and to wish him well for having fought and defeated Hadarezer, for Hadarezer was a battle foe of Tou; and [he brought] all kinds of silver and gold and copper articles. 11 King David consecrated these [articles] also to HASHEM, * along with the silver and gold that he had taken from all the nations — from Edom and Moab, from the Children of Ammon and the Philistines and Amalek.

Edom

12 Abishai son of Zeruiah struck down eighteen thousand men of Edom in the Valley of Salt. 13 He appointed authorities in Edom, and all of Edom became subjects of David. HASHEM caused salvation for David wherever he went.

14 David reigned over all of Israel; he administered justice and kindness to all his people.

15 Joab son of Zeruiah was in command of the army. Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud was the secretary. * 16 Zadok son of Ahitub and Ahimelech son of Abiathar were Kohanim. Shavsha was the scribe. 17 Benaiah son of Jehoiada was in charge of the archers and slingers; * and David's sons were chief ministers at the king's side.

19 1 It happened after this that Nahash, the king of the Children of Ammon, died, and his son reigned in his place. 2 David thought, "I shall do an act of kindness for Hanun son of Nahash, for his father dealt kindly with me." * So David sent messengers to console him over his father. David's servants went to the land of the Children of Ammon, to Hanun, to console him. 3 The ministers of the Children of Ammon said to Hanun, "Do you think David is honoring your father by sending consolers to you? Surely it is in order to explore, overthrow and spy out the land that his servants have come to you!" 4 So Hanun took David's servants and shaved them, * and cut off half of their garments until their hips, and sent them off. 5 They went and sent word to David about the men, and he sent [messengers] to meet them, for the men were deeply humiliated. The king said, "Stay in Jericho until your beards grow back, and then return."

Ammonite atrocity

Ammon hires mercenaries

6 The Children of Ammon realized that they had made themselves repugnant to David, so Hanun and the children of Ammon sent a thousand talents of silver to hire chariots and horsemen from Aram-naharaim, Aram-maacah and Zobah; 7 they also hired thirty-two thousand chariots, as well as the king of Maacah and his people. They went and encamped before Medeba; the Children of Ammon gathered together from their cities and went there for battle. 8 David heard and he dispatched Joab and all the mighty men of the army. 9 The Children of Ammon came out and deployed themselves for battle at the opening of the city, while the [foreign] kings who had come were in the field by themselves. 10 Joab saw that the battlefield faced him from the front and from the rear, so he selected from all the chosen ones of Israel, and he deployed them against Aram. 11 He placed the rest of the people in the hand of his brother Abishai, and they deployed themselves against the Children of Ammon. 12 He said, "If Aram will overpower me, then you will be my salvation; and if the Children of Ammon overpower you, 19:19. According to II Samuel 10:19, these servants were the other kings who had been hired by Hadarezer.

20:1. See II Samuel 11:1.

20:2. See II Samuel 12:30.

20:3. David punished the gratuitous cruelty of the Ammonites publicly as a deterrent to others. There is an opinion that David did not torture the Ammonites but merely pressed them into forced labor — cutting and chopping wood and threshing grain — using these implements (Daas Mikra).

For the sake of God and Israel

I will save you. 13 Be strong and let us both be strong, for the sake of our people and for the sake of the cities of our God; and HASHEM will do what is good in his eyes." 14 Then Joab and the people who were with him approached to do battle against Aram, and they fled from him. 15 When the Children of Ammon saw that Aram had fled, they also fled from before Abishai, [Joab's] brother, entering into the city. Joab then returned to Jerusalem.

16 Aram saw that they were beaten by Israel, so they sent messengers and brought over the Arameans from the other side of the [Euphrates] River, with Shophach, the commander of Hadarezer's army, leading them. 17 This was told to David and he gathered together all of Israel and crossed over the Jordan. He came to them and deployed against them. David deployed for battle against Aram, and they fought against him. 18 Aram fled from before Israel, and David slew seven thousand charioteers and forty thousand foot soldiers; he also killed Shophach, the commander of the army. 19 When the servants of Hadarezer saw that they were defeated by Israel, they surrendered to David and became subservient to him. Aram was no longer willing to help the Children of Ammon.

Joab smashes Ammon

1 It happened at the time of the turn of the year, at the time when kings go forth, that Joab led the battalions of the army. He destroyed the land of the Children of Ammon. Then he came and besieged Rabbah, while David was settled in Jerusalem. Joab smote Rabbah and laid it waste. 2 David removed their king's crown from his head. He found its weight to be a talent of gold, and in it was a precious stone — and it remained over David's head.* He also took out a great deal of booty from the city. 3 He took out the people in it and cut them with saws, with iron threshing boards, and with axes;* and this is what David would do to all the cities of the Children of Ammon.*

The Philistines

4 It happened after this that a war with the Philistines ensued, at Gezer. It was then that Sibbecai the Hushathite smote Sippai, who was one of the children of the giants, and they were subdued.

5 There was another war with the Philistines, when Elhanan son of Jair smote Lahmi, the brother of Goliath the Gittite, who had a spear with a shaft like a weaver's beam.

6 There was another war, in Gath. There was a man of [huge] dimensions, whose digits were six for each [hand and foot], making twenty-four; he too was born to the giant. 7 He ridiculed Israel, and Jonathan, the son of David's brother Shimea, struck him down.

8 These were born to the giant in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

David's ill-fated census

1 An adversary stood against Israel, and enticed David to take a count of [the people of] Israel.* 2 So David said to Joab and to the officers of the people, "Go and make a tally of [the people of] Israel, from Beer-sheba to Dan, and bring it to me, so that I may know their number." 3 But Joab said, "May HASHEM increase the number of His people a hundred times over! Surely, my lord the king, they are all servants to my lord! Why should my lord desire such a thing? Why should this be a source of guilt for Israel?" 4 But the word of the king prevailed over Joab; so Joab went and traveled through Israel, and returned to Jerusalem.*

*5 Joab conveyed the sum of the tally of the people to David — all of Israel numbered one million one hundred thousand men — drawers of the sword;

21:1. Literally, "Satan." See II Samuel 24:1.

21:5. That is, able-bodied fighters.

and the men of Judah were four hundred seventy thousand men — drawers of the sword. 6 But [Joab] did not tally Levi and Benjamin among them, for the king's command was abhorrent to Joab.

David's confession

7 This matter was bad in God's eyes, and He smote Israel. 8 David said to God, "I have sinned greatly in having done this thing. Now, please remove the sin of Your servant, for I have acted very foolishly."

David's difficult decision

9 HASHEM spoke to Gad, David's seer, saying, 10 "Go and speak to David, 'Thus said HASHEM: I am offering you three [things]; choose one of them and I will do it to you.' " 11 So Gad came to David and said to him, "This is what HASHEM has said; accept [it] upon yourself: 12 whether three years of famine; or three months during which you will be vanquished before your enemies, your enemies' sword gaining the upper hand; or three days of the sword of HASHEM, a pestilence in the land, with an angel of God bringing destruction throughout all the borders of Israel. Now consider, what answer should I return to the One Who has sent me!" 13 David said to Gad, "I am exceedingly distressed. Let me fall into HASHEM's hand, for His mercies are abundant; but let me not fall into the hand of man."

14 So HASHEM sent a pestilence in Israel, and seventy thousand men of Israel fell. 15 God sent an angel to Jerusalem to destroy it, but as he was destroying, HASHEM saw and reconsidered the evil. He told the destroying angel, "Enough! Now stay your hand!" The angel of HASHEM was standing at the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. *

David's penitence

16 David raised his eyes and saw the angel of HASHEM standing between the earth and heaven, with his sword drawn in his hand, stretched out over Jerusalem, and David and the elders, who were covered in sackcloth, fell on their faces. 17 David said to God, "Surely, I have said to take the count of the people, and I am the one who has sinned and acted wickedly; but these flock — what have they done? HASHEM, my God, let Your hand be against me and my father's house, but against Your people there should not be a plague!" 18 The angel of HASHEM told Gad to say to David, that David should go up and erect an altar to HASHEM in the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. 19 So David went up as Gad had said, as HASHEM had commanded. 20 Ornan had turned back and seen the angel, and his four sons were with him, hiding. Ornan had been threshing wheat. 21 David approached Ornan. Ornan looked out and saw David; he came out of the threshing floor and prostrated himself to David, with his face to the ground. 22 David said to Ornan, "Give me the site of the threshing floor, so that I may build an altar to HASHEM in it. Give it to me for the full price, so that the plague will cease from the people." 23 But Ornan said to David, "Take [it] for yourself, and let my lord the king do whatever is proper in his eyes. See, I have given you the cattle for burnt-offerings, the threshing tools for firewood, and the wheat for a meal-offering — I have given everything!" 24 But King David said to Ornan, "No; I shall buy it for the full price, for I shall not offer to HASHEM that which is yours, nor offer up a free burnt-offering!" 25 So David gave Ornan for the place gold shekels weighing six hundred. * 26 David then built an altar there to HASHEM, and he offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings. He called out to HASHEM, and He responded to him with fire from heaven upon the Altar of burnt-offering. 27 HASHEM then said [the command] to the angel, and he returned his sword to its sheath.

21:30. Since the national altar was at Gibeon, it would have been logical for David to go there to bring his offerings of thanksgiving, but he was afraid to attempt the trip because of the sword-wielding angel. Once God responded to David's offering with the heavenly fire, David instituted regular offerings at Ornan's threshing floor, which later became the site of the Temple (Vilna Gaon).

22:1. This is the site where all of Israel should bring their offerings from now on.

22:2. Although David had been told that he would not build the Temple, he undertook all preparations for the eventual construction. These "strangers" were gentiles who had renounced idolatry (Radak), or the Gibeonites [see Joshua Ch. 9), from whom David drafted workers.

HASHEM, which Moses had made in the Wilderness, and the Altar of Burnt-offerings, were at the High Place in Gibeon at that time, 30 but David could not go before it to seek God, for he was terrified before the sword of the angel of 22 HASHEM. * 1 David said, "This is the House of HASHEM, God, and this is the Altar of Burnt-offering for Israel."*

2 David commanded to gather in the strangers who were in the Land of Israel. He designated masons [from among them] to carve hewn stones [from which] to build the Temple of God. * 3 David prepared an abundance of iron for nails for the doors of the gateways and for joints, an abundance of copper beyond weighing, 4 and an abundance of cedarwood, for the Zidonians and the Tyrians had brought an abundance of cedarwood to David.

5 David thought, "Solomon my son is young and tender, and the Temple that is to be built for HASHEM must be exceedingly grand, to be a source of fame and splendor throughout all the lands, so I will now prepare for him." So David prepared a great deal before his death.

David's charge to Solomon . . .

6 He summoned his son Solomon and charged him to build a Temple for HASHEM, God of Israel. 7 David said to Solomon, "My son, I had in mind to build a Temple for the Name of HASHEM, my God, 8 but the word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 'You have shed much blood and have made great wars; you shall not build a Temple for My Name's sake, for you have shed much blood upon the ground before Me. 9 Behold, a son will be born to you; he will be a man of rest, and I shall grant him rest from all his enemies all around. His name will be Solomon, * and I will bestow peace and tranquility upon Israel in his days. 10 He will build a Temple for My Name's sake; he will be a son to Me and I will be a Father to him. And I will establish the throne of his kingdom over Israel forever.' 11 Now, my son, may HASHEM be with you; may you be successful and build the Temple of HASHEM your God, as He said about you. 12 Only may HASHEM give you wisdom and understanding, and give you command over Israel, to keep the Torah of HASHEM, your God. 13 Then you will succeed, if you are careful to follow the statutes and ordinances which HASHEM commanded Moses concerning Israel. Be strong and courageous! Do not fear and do not lose resolve. 14 Now, behold, despite my inadequacy, * I have prepared for the Temple of HASHEM a hundred thousand talents of gold, a million talents of silver, and an amount of copper and iron which is not weighed because of its abundance, and I have prepared timber and stones; you should add to this. 15 With you, there will be an abundance of workmen — quarry workers, artisans of stone and wood, and people skilled at every manner of work. 16 The gold, silver, copper and iron is beyond calculation. Therefore, arise and act, and may HASHEM be with you!"

. . . and to the people

17 David commanded all the officers of Israel to help his son Solomon: 18 "Surely, HASHEM your God is with you; He will grant you rest all around you, for He has delivered the inhabitants of the land into my hand, and the land has been conquered before HASHEM and before his people. 19 Now apply your heart and soul to seek HASHEM, your God; get up and build the Sanctuary of HASHEM, God, to bring the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM and the sacred vessels of God into the Temple that will be built for the sake of HASHEM."

22:9. The name Solomon, Shelomoh, is derived from the word shalom, peace.

22:14. Or "poverty." In comparison with God, every human being is poor and inadequate (Yalkut).

23:1. He was satisfied with the days that God had given him, for the righteous are content with whatever God gives them.

23:5. The reference is to David.

23:7. More commonly known as Libni [Ch. 6; Exodus 6:17; Numbers 3:18] (Radak).

23:9. Not the Shimei of v. 7, but rather a son of Laadan (Radak).

23:10. This is the Shimei of v. 7 (Radak).

23:11. To be identified with Zina of v. 10.

23:27. Whereas the Levites had previously been counted from the age of thirty (v. 3), David reasoned that this was

23 [1] When David was old and fulfilled of days* he made his son Solomon king over Israel. [2] He gathered together all the officers of Israel, as well as the

Assignments of the Levites (See Appendix B, chart 12)

Kohanim and the Levites. [3] The Levites were counted from the age of thirty years and above, and their number by the head count of their men was thirty-eight thousand. [4] Of these, twenty-four thousand were to oversee the work of the Temple of HASHEM, six thousand were marshals and judges, [5] four thousand were gatekeepers, and four thousand gave praise to HASHEM with the instruments that I* made for giving praise.

[6] David divided them into divisions of Levites, according to [the families of] Gershon, Kohath and Merari.

Gershon

[7] Of the Gershonites: Laadan* and Shimei. [8] The sons of Laadan: the chief, Jehiel, and Zetham and Joel — [altogether] three. [9] The sons of Shimei:* Shelomith, Haziel and Haran — [altogether] three. These were the family heads of Laadan. [10] The sons of Shimei:* Jahath, Zina, Jeush and Beriah. These were the four sons of Shimei. [11] Jahath was the chief and Zizah* the second. Jeush and Beriah did not have many sons, so they became a single family, occupying one position.

Kohath

[12] The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel — [altogether] four. [13] The sons of Amram: Aaron and Moses. Aaron was set apart, to sanctify him as holy of holies, he and his sons forever, to burn [offerings] before HASHEM, to minister before Him, and to bless in His Name forever. [14] [Concerning] Moses the man of God — his sons would be reckoned as the tribe of Levi. [15] The sons of Moses: Gershom and Eliezer. [16] Of the sons of Gershom: Shebuel, the chief. [17] The sons of Eliezer: Rehabiah, the chief. Eliezer had no other sons, but the sons of Rehabiah proliferated greatly. [18] Of the sons of Izhar: Shelomith, the chief. [19] Of the sons of Hebron: Jeriah, the chief; Amariah, the second; Jahaziel, the third; and Jekameam the fourth. [20] Of the sons of Uzziel: Micah, the first; and Isshiah, the second.

Merari

[21] The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. The sons of Mahli: Elazar and Kish. [22] Elazar died having no sons but only daughters; their kinsmen, the sons of Kish, married them. [23] The sons of Mushi: Mahli, Eder and Jeremoth — [altogether] three.

[24] These were the sons of Levi, according to their fathers' house, the heads of the fathers' [families], according to their counts, by the number of names, by their head count, who did the work for the service of the Temple of HASHEM, from the age of twenty years and above. [25] For David said, "HASHEM, God of Israel, has granted rest to His people, and He has come to dwell in Jerusalem forever; [26] thus the Levites need no longer carry the Tabernacle and all the vessels for its service." [27] For the counting of the sons of Levi took place according to the latter words of David — from twenty years old and above.* [28] For their position was to stand at the side of the sons of Aaron for the service of the Temple of HASHEM, to be in charge of the courts and the chambers and the purifying of all holy things, and the work of the service of the Temple of God, [29] and of the bread of the stack and of the fine flour for meal-offerings and for the unleavened cakes, and of the pan-baked and scalded [meal-offerings], and for all matters of measures and sizes, [30] and to stand because the Levites had been the bearers of the heavy Ark, and a person's strength peaks from the age of twenty. From the time the Ark was placed permanently in Jerusalem, however, their tasks were limited to service in the Temple, so the minimum age was lowered (Metzudos).

23:32. Providing assistance to the Kohanim in the preparation and implementation of the sacrifices (Metzudos).

24:5. The men in charge of the Temple affairs, the descendants of Aaron through Elazar and Ithamar, drew lots to determine who would serve during which weeks of the year.

24:6. Originally, Elazar's and Ithamar's families had eight divisions each. Now, due to the discrepancy in their numbers; David expanded Elazar's family units into sixteen groups, while Ithamar's number of family units remained constant (Taanis 27a).

24:19. The concept of family units serving for a week at a time had been instituted by Aaron. David increased the number of shifts to twenty-four, so that each unit served approximately two weeks a year.

24:20. Scripture now lists the descendants of Levi who every morning to give thanks and praise to HASHEM, and in the evening, as well, 31 and over all the burnt-offerings that were offered to HASHEM on the Sabbaths, on the New Moons and on the Festivals, according to their number ordained for them, continually, before HASHEM. 32 And they would also maintain the watch over the Tent of Meeting and the watch over the holy place, and the watch over their kinsmen the sons of Aaron, in the service of the Temple of HASHEM.*

24 1 For the sons of Aaron, their divisions were:

Assignments of the Kohanim (See Appendix B, timeline 12)

The sons of Aaron: Nadab, Abihu, Elazar and Ithamar. 2 Nadab and Abihu died in the presence of their father, and they had no children; but Elazar and Ithamar became the Kohanim. 3 David, together with Zadok, of the descendants of Elazar, and Ahimelech, of the descendants of Ithamar, divided them according to their assignments in their service. 4 The chief men of the descendants of Elazar were found to be more numerous than those of the descendants of Ithamar, and they were divided accordingly: sixteen family heads for the sons of Elazar, and eight for the sons of Ithamar according to their families. 5 They divided [their shifts] by lots, with one another, for the officers of the Sanctuary and officers of God were of the sons of Elazar and of the sons of Ithamar. 6 Shemaiah son of Nethanel the scribe, one of the Levites, recorded them before the king and the officers and Zadok the Kohen and Ahimelech son of Abiathar, and the heads of families of the Kohanim and Levites — one [extra] unit for [each of] Elazar's, but one unit for one for Ithamar.

The lots

7 The first lot fell upon Jehoiarib; the second upon Jedaiah, 8 the third upon Harim, the fourth upon Seorim, 9 the fifth upon Malchijah, the sixth upon Mijamin, 10 the seventh upon Hakkoz, the eighth upon Abijah, 11 the ninth upon Jeshua, the tenth upon Shecaniah, 12 the eleventh upon Eliashib, the twelfth upon Jakim, 13 the thirteenth upon Huppah, the fourteenth upon Jeshebeab, 14 the fifteenth upon Bilgah, the sixteenth upon Immer, 15 the seventeenth upon Hezir, the eighteenth upon Happizzez, 16 the nineteenth upon Pethahiah, the twentieth upon Jehezekel, 17 the twenty-first upon Jachin, the twenty-second upon Gamul, 18 the twenty-third upon Delaiah, and the twenty-fourth upon Maaziah.

*19 These were their arrangements for their service, to come to the Temple of HASHEM, according to the order set for them by Aaron their ancestor, as HASHEM, God of Israel, commanded him.

The remaining Levites

20 As for the remaining sons of Levi: Of the sons of Amram, Shubael; of the sons of Shubael, Jehdeiah; for Rehabiah, of the sons of Rehabiah, Isshiah the chief; 22 of the Izharites, Shelomoth; of the sons of Shelomoth, Jahath; 23 of [the sons of Hebron,] Jeriah, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, Jekameam the fourth; 24 of the sons of Uzziel, Micah; of the sons of Micah, Shamir; 25 the brother of Micah was Isshiah; of the sons of Isshiah, Zechariah. 26 The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi; the sons of Jaaziah,* Beno; 27 the sons of Merari through Jaaziah: Beno, Shoham, Zaccur and Ibri; 28 of Mahli: Elazar, who had no sons; 29 of Kish: the son of Kish was Jerahmeel; 30 the sons of Mushi: Mahli, Eder and Jerimoth. These were the sons of the Levites* were not Kohanim. Altogether, the the Levites were divided into twenty-four shifts, corresponding to the twenty-four shifts of Kohanim.

24:27. A descendant of Merari.

according to their fathers' houses. 31 They also cast lots in conjunction with their kinsmen, the sons of Aaron, in the presence of King David, Zadok, Ahimelech and the heads of families of the Kohanim and Levites, the major families in conjunction with their lesser kinsmen. *

25 Singers

1 David and the officers of the service corps set aside the sons of Asaph, Heman and Jeduthun who prophesied while using harps, lyres, and cymbals. Their number, in accordance with the number of workmen required for their service, was:

2 Of the sons of Asaph: Zaccur, Joseph, Nethaniah and Asarelah, the sons of Asaph under the auspices of Asaph, who prophesied by authority of the king.

3 Of Jeduthun: the sons of Jeduthun: Gedaliah, Zeri, Jeshaiah, Hashabiah and Mattithiah — [altogether] six, * under the auspices of their father Jeduthun, at the harp, prophesying while giving thanks and praise to HASHEM.

4 Of Heman: The sons of Heman: Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shebuel, Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, Romamti-ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir and Mahazioth. 5 All these were sons of Heman, the king's seer for the words of God, to exalt [David's] prestige. * God gave to Heman fourteen sons and three daughters. 6 All these were under the auspices of their father for song in the Temple of HASHEM, with cymbals, lyres, and harps for the service of the Temple of God, under the auspices of the king, Asaph, Jeduthun and Heman. 7 Their number, along with their kinsmen who were trained in the singing of songs for HASHEM, all of them with skill, was two hundred eighty-eight. *

Twenty-four shifts by lot

8 The shifts cast lots with one another, minor and major alike, teacher as well as student. * 9 The first lot fell upon Asaph, upon Joseph; the second upon Gedaliah. He, his brothers and sons were twelve. 10 The third upon Zaccur; his sons and brothers were twelve. 11 The fourth upon Izri; his sons and brothers were twelve. 12 The fifth upon Nethaniah; his sons and brothers were twelve. 13 The sixth upon Bukkiah; his sons and brothers were twelve. 14 The seventh upon Jesarelah; his sons and brothers were twelve. 15 The eighth upon Jeshaiah; his sons and brothers were twelve. 16 The ninth upon Mattaniah; his sons and brothers were twelve. 17 The tenth upon Shimei; his sons and brothers were twelve. 18 The eleventh upon Azarel; his sons and brothers were twelve. 19 The twelfth upon Hashabiah; his sons and brothers were twelve. 20 The thirteenth upon Shubael; his sons and brothers were twelve. 21 The fourteenth upon Mattithiah; his sons and brothers were twelve. 22 The fifteenth upon Jeremoth; his sons and brothers were twelve. 23 The sixteenth upon Hananiah; his sons and brothers were twelve. 24 The seventeenth upon Joshbekashah; his sons and brothers were twelve. 25 The eighteenth upon Hanani; his sons and brothers were twelve. 26 The nineteenth upon Mallothi; his sons and brothers were twelve. 27 The twentieth upon Eliathah;

24:31. All the various families joined equally in the lottery.

25:3. Only five are named. The missing son was Shimei, as indicated by v. 17.

25:5. Heman would sing Divinely inspired psalms beseeching God to grant David dominion and glory (Ralbag).

25:7. Twelve members from each of the twenty-four divisions (Rashi).

25:8. Lots were cast to determine the order of the shifts and the individual assignments of each member. All shifts and Kohanim had equal opportunities in the lots.

26 1 Concerning the divisions of the gatekeepers:

Gatekeepers and their stations

Of the Korahites: Meshelemiah the son of Kore, of the sons of Asaph. 2 Meshelemiah had sons: Zechariah the firstborn, Jediael the second, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth, 3 Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth and Eliehoenai the seventh.

4 Obed-edom had sons: Shemaiah the firstborn, Jehozabad the second, Joah the third, Sacar the fourth, Nethanel the fifth, 5 *Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh and Peullethai the eighth, for God blessed him. 6 To Shemaiah his son were sons born who had dominion over their paternal family, for they were mighty warriors. 7 The sons of Shemaiah: Othni, with Rephael, Obed and Elzabad, his brothers were accomplished men, and Elihu and Semachiah. 8 All these [men] of the sons of Obed-edom — they and their sons and their brothers, accomplished men with strength for the service — were sixty-two for Obed-edom.

9 Meshelemiah had eighteen sons and brothers who were men of might.

10 Hosah, of the children of Merari, also had sons: Shimri the chief — although he was not the firstborn, his father made him the chief — 11 Hilkiah the second, Tebaliah the third and Zechariah the fourth — all of Hosah's sons and brothers were thirteen.

12 Among these were the divisions of the gatekeepers, among the chief men, who made groups opposite their kinsmen, to minister in the Temple of HASHEM. 13 They cast lots, minor ones and major ones alike, by their paternal families, for every gate. 14 The lot for the east fell upon Shelemiah. Then they cast lots for Zechariah his son, a wise counselor, and his lot came out for the north. 15 To Obed-edom [the lot] for the south, and to his sons the Asuppim House. 16 To Shuppim and Hosah [the lot] for the west, by the Shallecheth Gate, by the Path of Ascension, one watch opposite the other. 17 There were six Levites at the east, four each day at the north, four each day at the south, and two each for the Asuppim. 18 At the Parbar to the west: four at the path and two at the Parbar. 19 These were the divisions of the gatekeepers among the sons of Korah and among the sons of Merari.

the son of Zeruiah had consecrated — whoever had consecrated — was under the hand of Shelomith and of his kinsmen.

29 Of the Izharite: Chenaniah and his sons were in charge of the outside labor of Israel, as officers and judges.*

30 Of the Hebronite: Hashabiah and his kinsmen, one thousand seven hundred men of might, were in charge of Israel on the western side of the Jordan, for all the labor of HASHEM, and for the service of the king. 31 Of the Hebronite: Jerijah, the chief over the Hebronite, according to their generations by their families. In the fortieth year of the reign of David they were sought, and among them were found mighty warriors at Jazer of Gilead. 32 His kinsmen, men of might, [numbered] two thousand seven hundred heads of families; and King David appointed them over the Reubenite, the Gadite and half the tribe of the Manassites, for all matters of God and matters of the king.

OFFICERS OF THE REALM 27:1-34

1 As for the Children of Israel by their number — the heads of families, the captains of thousands and hundreds, and their marshals who served the king in all the matters of the divisions, who entered [service] and left, month by month, throughout all the months of the year, each division consisting of twenty-four thousand [men]:

Twenty-four monthly shifts

2 Jashobeam son of Zabdiel was in charge of the first division for the first month, and in his division were twenty-four thousand [men]. 3 [Being] from the descendants of Perez, he was the chief of all the officers of the force for the first month. 4 Dodai the Ahohite and his division and Mikloth the leader were in charge of the division of the second month; and in his division were twenty-four thousand [men]. 5 The third officer of the force, for the third month, was Benaiah son of Jehoiada the Kohen, who was the chief; and in his division were twenty-four thousand [men]. 6 This is the same Benaiah who was the mighty man among the thirty, and who was over the thirty; his son Ammizabad was in his division.* 7 The fourth [chief], for the fourth month, was Asahel, the brother of Joab, with Zebadiah his son after him; and in his division were twenty-four thousand men. 8 The fifth, for the fifth month, was the officer Shamhuth the Izrahite; and in his division were twenty-four thousand [men]. 9 The sixth, for the sixth month, was Ira son of Ikkesh the Tekoite; and in his division were twenty-four thousand [men]. 10 The seventh, for the seventh month, was Helez the Pelonite of the children of Ephraim; and in his division were twenty-four thousand [men]. 11 The eighth, for the eighth month, was Sibbecai the Hushathite, of the Zerahite; and in his division were twenty-four thousand [men]. 12 The ninth, for the ninth month, was Abiezer the Anathothite, of the Benjamite; and in his division were twenty-four thousand [men]. 13 The tenth, for the tenth month, was Mahrai the Netophathite, of the Zerahite: and in his division were twenty-four thousand [men]. 14 The eleventh, for the eleventh month, was Benaiah the Pirathonite; of the children of Ephraim; and in his division were twenty-four thousand [men]. 15 The twelfth, for the twelfth month, was Heldai the Netophathite, of Othniel's [descendants]: and in his division were twenty-four thousand [men].

Tribal leaders

16 In charge of the tribes of Israel: The ruler of the Reubenite was Eliezer son of Zichri; of the Simeonite, Shephatiah son of Maachah; 17 of Levi, Hashabiah son of Kemuel: of Aaron's [descendants], Zadok; 18 of Judah, Elihu, one of David's kinsmen; of Issachar, Omri son of Michael; 19 of Zebulun, Ishmaiah

26:29. Work done outside the Temple precincts (Radak). 27:6. As described above in 11:25.

27:23. God wished to increase the number of Jews so much that it would be impossible to count them, but there are times when this blessing was not fulfilled. To count the entire population would make it apparent that Israel had not been worthy of the blessing, and therefore David left all those under twenty years old uncounted. This extra son of Obadiah; of Naphtali, Jerimoth son of Azriel; [20] of the children of Ephraim, Hoshea son of Azaziah; of half the tribe of Manasseh, Joel son of Pedaiah; [21] of [half the tribe] of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo son of Zechariah; of Benjamin, Jaasiel son of Abner; [22] of Dan, Azarel son of Jeroham. These were the leaders of the tribes of Israel.

[23] But David did not count tally of those from twenty years of age and below, because HASHEM had said he would increase Israel like the stars of the heavens. * [24] Joab son of Zeruiah once began to count them, but he did not finish, because [God's] wrath came upon Israel for this, and the number was not entered among the numbers in King David's chronicles. *

Royal officers

[25] In charge of the king's treasuries was Azmaveth son of Adiel; in charge of the storehouses in the fields, in the cities and in the villages and in the towers was Jehonathan the son of Uzziah. [26] In charge of those who did labor in the field, working the ground was Ezri son of Chelub. [27] In charge of the vineyards was Shimei the Ramathite; in charge of that which was in the vineyards, for the wine storehouses was Zabdi the Shiphmite. [28] In charge of the olive trees and the sycamore trees that were in the lowlands was Baal-hanan the Gederite. In charge of the storehouses of oil was Joash. [29] In charge of the cattle that grazed in Sharon was Shitrai the Sharonite; in charge of the cattle that were in the valleys was Shaphat son of Adlai. [30] In charge of the camels was Obil the Ishmaelite, and in charge of the she-donkeys was Jehdeiah the Meronothite. [31] In charge of the flocks Jaziz the Hagrite. All these were the managers of King David's property.

Close advisers

[32] David's uncle Jonathan was an adviser; he was a wise man and a scribe. Jehiel son of Hachmoni was with the king's sons. * [33] Ahithophel was an adviser to the king. Hushai the Archite was the king's companion. [34] Succeeding Ahithophel was Jehoiada son of Benaiah and Abiathar. The king's commander of the army was Joab.

DAVID'S LAST DAYS 28:1-29:30

[1] David assembled to Jerusalem all the leaders of Israel: the leaders of the tribes, the leaders of the divisions that serve the king, the leaders of the thousands and the leaders of the hundreds, and the officers in charge of all the possessions and livestock of the king and his sons, along with the officers, the mighty men and the men of valor. [2] King David stood up on his feet and said:

"Hear me, my brothers and my people! I had in my heart to build a house of rest for the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM, as a footstool for our God, and I prepared to build. [3] But God said to me, 'You shall not build a Temple for My Name, because you are a man of wars and have shed blood.' [4] HASHEM, God of Israel, chose me from all my father's family to be king over Israel forever. For He chose Judah to be the ruler, and of the House of Judah [He chose] my father's house, and of the sons of my father it was me that He saw fit to make king over all Israel. [5] And from all my sons — for many sons has HASHEM given me — He has chosen Solomon my son to sit upon the throne of the kingdom of HASHEM, over Israel. [6] He said to me, 'Your son Solomon — he shall build My Temple and My courtyards; for I have chosen him to be a son for Me, and I will be a Father for him. [7] And I will establish his kingdom forever — if he will be firm in fulfilling My commandments and My laws, as on this day.'

David appoints Solomon as his successor precaution was especially proper in light of the tragedy engendered by Joab's census.

27:24. See Chapter 21. Since the census incurred the wrath of God and became a source of tragedy for Israel, its results were omitted from King David's official chronicles.

27:32. He was their pedagogue.

28:10. That is the Holy Ark, the most sacred item in the Temple.

28:11. David had drawn up detailed plans for the building and administration of the Temple, which had come to him by Divine inspiration.

28:15. Silver candelabra are not mentioned elsewhere in Scripture, and it is not clear what function they served.

28:16. The gold tables were for the stacks of show-bread. The silver tables are not mentioned elsewhere. However, Radak identifies them with the tables mentioned in Ezekiel 40:39-41.

28:17. Used as shelves for the tables of the show-bread (see Exodus 25:29).

28:18. The Cherubim represented the seat, or "Chariot" of God (Ralbag).

8 "So now, in the sight of all Israel, the congregation of HASHEM, and in the audience of our God: Observe and seek out all the commandments of HASHEM your God, so that you may possess the good land and bequeath it to your children after you forever.

David's charge to Solomon: Loyalty to God . . .

9 "And you, my son Solomon: Know the God of your father and serve Him with a perfect heart and with a willing soul, for HASHEM searches all hearts, and discerns every product of [one's] thoughts. If you seek Him, He will let Himself be found by you; but if you forsake Him, He will abandon you forever. 10 See now that HASHEM has chosen you to erect a building for the Holiness;* be strong, and act."

. . . the Temple plans . . .

11 David then gave to his son Solomon the plans* for the Hall and its structures, storage rooms, upper chambers and inner rooms, and for the Chamber of the Ark-Cover, 12 and the plans for all that he had with him by Divine inspiration — for the courtyards of the Temple of HASHEM, and for all the chambers all around, for the storage rooms of the Temple of God, and for the treasuries of the consecrated items, 13 as well as [the plan] for the divisions of the Kohanim and the Levites, and for all the work of the service of the Temple of HASHEM, and for all the vessels for the service of the Temple of HASHEM.

. . . and treasuries

14 Gold was by the weight of gold, for all the vessels of each kind of service; for all the silver vessels by weight, for all the vessels of each kind of service. 15 The weight of gold for the golden candelabra and their golden lamps was according to the weight for every candelabrum and its lamps; and so for the silver candelabra,* according to the weight for each candelabrum and its lamps, according to the function of each of the candelabra; 16 and gold by the weight for the tables of the stacks for each table, and likewise silver for the silver tables;* 17 and pure gold for the forks, the bowls and the tubes;* and for the golden basins according to the weight of each basin; and [silver] for the silver basins according to the weight of each basin; 18 and refined gold for the Altar of Incense by weight; and for the image of the Chariot,* the golden Cherubim that spread out [their wings] and covered the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM. 19 Everything is in writing, by the hand of HASHEM, which He gave me* understanding to know — all the works of the plan.

Exhortation to Solomon

20 David then said to his son Solomon, "Be strong and courageous — and act. Do not be afraid and do not be dismayed for HASHEM, God, my God, is with you; He will not release you nor will He forsake you, until the completion of all the labor of the work of the Temple of HASHEM. 21 Behold, here are the divisions of the Kohanim and the Levites, for all the service of the Temple of God. Assisting you in all the labor will be all those generous with their wisdom for all the work, the officers and all the people at your every word."

David's final charge to Israel

1 King David said to the entire congregation, "Solomon my son is [but] lone; God has chosen him although he is young and tender; and the work is great, for this palace is not for a man, but for HASHEM, God. 2 With all my might I have prepared for the Temple of my God — gold for golden things, silver for silver things, copper for copper things, iron for iron things and wood for wooden things; as well as shoham stones, [stones] for setting, emeralds, tapestries, and all kinds of 28:19. David announced to the throng that God had given him the understanding to know the Divine plan for the Temple.

precious stones and marble stones — in abundance. 3 Furthermore, because of my desire for a Temple of my God, I have treasures of gold and silver that I have given for the Temple of my God, beyond all that I had prepared for the Sacred House — 4 three thousand talents of gold, of Ophir gold, and seven thousand talents of refined silver, with which to overlay the walls of the buildings. 5 There is gold for gold[en things] and silver for silver [things], for all work done by artisans. Now who volunteers to consecrate himself for HASHEM today?"

The nation contributes

6 Then the leaders of the fathers' houses, the leaders of the tribes of Israel, the leaders of thousands and of hundreds, and the officers of the king's property offered donations, 7 giving for the work of the Temple of God five thousand talents and ten thousand darkons of gold, ten thousand talents of silver, eighteen thousand talents of copper and one hundred thousand talents of iron. 8 Whoever had [precious] stones gave of them to the treasury of the Temple of HASHEM, under the auspices of Jehiel the Gershonite.

9 The people rejoiced in their donations, for they donated wholeheartedly to HASHEM. King David also rejoiced with great gladness.

David's last blessing

10 And David blessed HASHEM in the presence of the entire congregation. David said, "Blessed are You, HASHEM, God of Israel our forefather, from This World to the World to Come. 11 Yours, HASHEM, is the greatness, the strength, the splendor, the triumph and the glory, even everything in heaven and earth. Yours, HASHEM, is the kingdom, and the sovereignty over every leader. 12 Wealth and honor come from You and You rule everything — in Your hand is power and strength and it is in Your hand to make anyone great or strong.* 13 So now, our God, we thank You and praise Your splendrous Name.

Everything is from You

14 "For who am I, and what is my people, that we should muster the strength to donate in this manner? For everything is from You, and from Your hand have we given to You. 15 For we are like sojourners before You, and like temporary residents, as were all our forefathers — our days on earth are like a shadow, and there is no hope [to escape death]. 16 HASHEM, our God, all this vast amount that we have prepared to build You a Temple for Your holy Name is from Your own hand, for everything is Yours. 17 I know [also], my God, that You examine the heart and desire integrity. I have offered all these donations in the uprightness of my heart, and now I see Your people, who are present here, to offer donations to You with gladness.

David's prayer

18 "HASHEM, God of our forefathers Abraham, Isaac and Israel, preserve this forever* to be the product of the thoughts of the hearts of Your people, and set their hearts towards You! 19 [Also] grant to Solomon my son a perfect heart, to keep Your commandments, Your testimonies and Your statutes, to carry out everything and to build the palace for which I have prepared."

Joyous response

20 David then said to the entire congregation, "Now bless HASHEM our God!" And all the congregation blessed HASHEM, the God of their forefathers, and they bowed down and prostrated themselves to HASHEM and to the king. 21 They slaughtered feast-offerings to HASHEM and offered burnt-offerings to HASHEM on the next day — a thousand bulls, a thousand rams and a thousand sheep, with their libations, an abundance of feast-offerings for all Israel. 22 They ate and drank before HASHEM on that day with great gladness. They crowned Solomon son of David as king a second time,* and anointed [him] to HASHEM to be the ruler, and Zadok to be the Kohen.

II Chronicles

According to the masoretic tradition, the "books" of I Chronicles and II Chronicles are actually one long book; their designation as two separate books is of non-Jewish origin. Thus, in the total of the twenty-four books of Tanach, all of Chronicles is counted as a single book. The

The mantle passes

23 Solomon sat upon the throne of HASHEM as king in place of his father David, and he was successful. All of Israel obeyed him. 24 All the officers and the mighty men, as well as all of King David's sons, gave their support to King Solomon. 25 HASHEM greatly exalted Solomon in the eyes of all Israel, and He bestowed upon him royal majesty such as had not been upon any king before him in Israel.

26 Thus, David son of Jesse reigned over all Israel. 27 The time that he reigned over Israel was forty years — in Hebron he reigned for seven years, and in Jerusalem he reigned for thirty-three years. 28 He died in a good old age, sated with years, wealth and honor; and Solomon his son reigned in his place.

29 The earlier and later events of King David — behold, they are written in the records of Samuel the Seer, the records of Nathan the prophet and the records of Gad the Seer, 30 with [details of] all his kingdom and his might, and the events that transpired with him and with Israel, and with all the kingdoms of the lands.

KING SOLOMON 1:1-9:31

1 Solomon son of David strengthened himself over his kingdom; HASHEM his God was with him, and He made him very great. 2 Solomon spoke to all of Israel — to officers of the thousands and the hundreds, to judges, to every ruler in all of Israel, and to the heads of families — 3 and Solomon, along with the entire congregation, went to the High Place at Gibeon, for God's Tent of Meeting, which Moses the servant of HASHEM had erected in the Wilderness, was there. 4 However, David had brought up the Ark of God from Kiriath-jearim to the [place] that David had prepared for it, for he had pitched a tent for it in Jerusalem. 5 But the Copper Altar that Bezalel son of Uri son of Hur had made was placed before the Tabernacle of HASHEM, so Solomon and the congregation sought it out. 6 Solomon brought up offerings there before HASHEM, on the Copper Altar that was before the Tent of Meeting — he brought upon it a thousand burnt-offerings.*

God is with Solomon

7 That night God appeared to Solomon and said to him, "Request what I should give to you." 8 Solomon said to God, "You have done a great kindness with David my father, and You have made me king in his place. 9 Now, HASHEM, God, may Your words with my father David be fulfilled, for You have made me king over a nation as numerous as the dust of the earth. 10 Now, grant me wisdom and knowledge, so that I may go out and come in before this people, for who can judge this great people of Yours?"

Solomon requests wisdom

11 God said to Solomon, "Because this is what you had in your heart, and you did not request riches, property, honor or the life of your enemies, nor did you request a long life, but you requested wisdom and knowledge so that you can judge My people over whom I have made you king — 12 the wisdom and knowledge are granted to you, and I will [even] grant you riches and property and honor, such as kings before you have never had, nor will there be such a thing after you."

13 Solomon, [who had gone] to the High Place in Gibeon, went to Jerusalem, from before the Tent of Meeting, and he began his reign over Israel.

Grandeur of his reign

14 Solomon assembled chariots and horsemen — he had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand riders; he kept them in chariot cities and [left some] with the king in Jerusalem. 15 And the king made

1:16-17. See II Kings 10:28-29.

2:3. Since the commandment of the Temple service is eternal, the structure must be large and sturdy (Radak).

2:7. Branching, treelike coral.

2:9. See I Kings 5:2. A kor is a dry measure; a bath is a liquid measure, which is one tenth of a kor (Metzudos).

silver and gold [as common] as stones in Jerusalem, and he made cedars as abundant as sycamores in the lowland. 16 *The source of Solomon's horses was from Egypt and from Keve — the king's traders bought them from Keve for a [high] price. 17 They went up and brought out a chariot from Egypt for six hundred [pieces of] silver and horses for a hundred and fifty; [Solomon's traders] would also export for all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Aram.

18 Solomon then proposed to build a Temple for the Name of HASHEM, and a royal palace for himself.

2 1 Solomon counted out seventy thousand men [who carried] burdens and eighty thousand men who hewed stone in the mountain, with three thousand six hundred [people] overseeing them.

Alliance with Huram

2 Solomon sent word to Huram king of Tyre, saying, "Just as you did for my father David, when you sent him cedars to build himself a house to live in — 3 *behold, I am building a Temple for the Name of HASHEM, my God, in which to sanctify Him, to burn incense of spices before Him, to [set] a permanent stack [of show-bread] and [to bring] burnt-offerings each morning and evening, and on Sabbaths and on New Moons and on the festivals of HASHEM, our God — a permanent duty upon Israel. 4 The Temple that I am building is large, for our God is greater than all gods, 5 and who can gather enough strength to build a Temple for Him? For the heavens and the highest heavens cannot contain Him, and who am I to build a Temple for Him, except to burn [offerings] before Him? 6 So now, send me a wise man to work with gold, silver, copper, and iron; and with purple, crimson and blue wool, and who knows how to cut engravings — along with the craftsmen who are with me in Judah and Jerusalem, whom my father David prepared. 7 Also, send me cedar trees, cypresses and almogs from Lebanon — for I know that your servants know how to cut down the trees of Lebanon. Behold, my servants will be with your servants —* 8 to prepare numerous trees for me, for the Temple that I am building will be great and extraordinary. 9 Behold, I have commissioned twenty thousand kors of wheat as sustenance for the lumbermen — for those who cut down the trees — for your servants, and twenty thousand kors of barley, twenty thousand baths* of wine and twenty thousand baths of oil."*

Request for Huram's help

Huram's generous offer

10 Huram king of Tyre responded in writing, sending to Solomon: "In HASHEM's love for His people He has placed you as king over them!" 11 Huram said, "Blessed is HASHEM, the God of Israel, Who made the heavens and the earth, Who gave King David a wise son who has intelligence and understanding, who will build a Temple for HASHEM and a royal palace!

12 "Now, I have sent an artisan who understands wisdom, [who has worked] for Huram, [and for] my father. 13 He is the son of a woman of the daughters of Dan, whose father is a man of Tyre, who knows how to work with gold, silver, copper, iron, stones and wood; and with purple, blue, linen and crimson fabrics, and how to cut all kinds of engravings and make all kinds of designs that might be presented to him, with your artisan and the artisans of my master, your father David. 14 And now, the wheat and the barley, the oil and the wine that my master has mentioned — let him send them to his servants. 15 We will cut down trees from the Lebanon according to all your needs, and we will bring them to you by rafts on the Sea of Jaffa, and you will bring them up to Jerusalem."

2:16. This is perhaps a reference to I Chronicles 22:2 (Radak).

3:3. The dimensions are given in a cubit of the same length as that used by Moses in the construction of the Tabernacle (Radak).

3:5. The Sanctuary building.

3:6. An especially beautiful variety of gold.

3:9. Used to fasten the golden sheets to the wood on the walls (Rashi).

3:13. See I Kings 6:27.

The work force

16 Solomon counted all the foreign men who lived in the Land of Israel, besides the census with which his father David had counted them, * and they were found to be one hundred fifty-three thousand six hundred. 17 He made seventy thousand of them [carriers of] burden and eighty thousand of them hewers in the mountain, with three thousand six hundred overseers to direct the people's work.

SOLOMON BUILDS THE TEMPLE 3:1-7:22

1 Solomon then began building the Temple of HASHEM in Jerusalem on Mount Moriah, where He had appeared to his father David. He established it at David's place, on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. 2 He began to build on the second [day] of the second month, in the fourth year of his reign.

3 These are [the dimensions] of the foundations laid by Solomon for building the Temple of God: The length — in cubits like the original measurement * — was sixty cubits, and the width was twenty cubits. 4 The Hall, whose length ran along the width of the front of the Temple, was twenty cubits [long], and its height was a hundred and twenty [cubits]. He overlaid it inside with pure gold. 5 He covered over the large chamber * with cypress wood, which he then overlaid with fine gold, and he drew palm trees and chains on it. 6 He overlaid the Temple with precious stones for splendor. The gold was Parvaim gold. * 7 He covered the Temple — the beams, the sideposts, its walls and its doors — with gold, and he engraved cherubim on the walls.

Holy of Holies

8 He then made the chamber of the Holy of Holies. Its length, along the width of the building, was twenty cubits, and its width was twenty cubits. He overlaid it with fine gold, using six hundred talents. 9 The weight of the nails * was fifty golden shekels. He also overlaid the upper story with gold.

10 In the chamber of the Holy of Holies, he made two Cherubim, with the appearance of children, and they overlaid them with gold. 11 The length of the Cherubim's wings was twenty cubits — the wing of one was five cubits, touching the wall of the Temple, with the other wing being five cubits, touching the wing of the other Cherub. 12 The other Cherub's wing was five cubits, reaching the [opposite] wall of the Temple, with the other wing being five cubits, touching the wing of the other Cherub. 13 The wings of these Cherubim thus spread out over twenty cubits. They stood upon their feet, facing the Temple. *

14 He made the Curtain out of blue, purple, crimson and linen fabric, and he embroidered cherubim upon it.

The pillars

15 He made two pillars in front of the Temple, thirty-five [cubits] in length, and the cover for its top was five cubits.

16 He made chains for the Partition; * he also put them on the tops of the pillars, and he made a hundred pomegranates, which he placed on the chains.

The Altar

1 He made a Copper Altar, its length twenty cubits, its width twenty cubits and its height ten cubits.

The "Sea"

2 He made a "Sea" of cast [metal], * ten cubits in diameter, circular in shape, five cubits high; a thirty-cubit line could go around it. 3 It had figures of bulls * under

3:16. The Partition divided the Sanctuary from the Holy of Holies (see ibid. vv. 16-21).

3:17. The names mean "Establish" and "Strength in It," respectively. These names symbolized Solomon's prayer that the Temple be firmly established and be blessed forever with Godly strength (Radak).

4:2. See I Kings 7:23.

4:3. In I Kings 7:24 these are described as "knobs under its lip." Apparently figures of bulls were etched into the oval-shaped decorations or knobs.

4:5. See I Kings 7:24.

4:7. The original Menorah of the Tabernacle was still in use, and these ten new candelabra were placed on its right and left, all along the southern wall of the Sanctuary. The same explanation is given concerning the ten tables of the following verse (Menachos 98b-99a).

it surrounding it all around, ten per cubit, circling the tank all around, two rows of bulls, which were cast with the casting [of the Sea]. 4 It stood upon twelve oxen, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south and three facing east; the Sea was on top of them, and their haunches were toward the center [of the Sea]. 5 Its thickness was a handbreadth; its lip was like the lip of a cup, with a rose-blossom design; its capacity was two thousand bath-measures. *

Lavers

6 He then made ten lavers, placing five on the right [of the Temple] and five on the left, from which to wash. They would rinse the parts of the burnt-offerings from them, while the Sea was for the Kohanim to wash with.

Candelabra

7 He then made the ten golden candelabra according to their specification, placing them in the Sanctuary, five on the right and five on the left. *

Tables

8 He then made ten tables, setting them in the Sanctuary, five on the right and five on the left. He also made a hundred golden basins.

Courtyards

9 He then made the Courtyard of the Kohanim and the Great Courtyard Area, with doors for the Courtyard Area, and he overlaid their doors with copper. 10 He placed the Sea at the right side [of the Temple], eastward, opposite the south. *

11 Huram also made the pots, the shovels * and the bowls; and Huram finished doing the work that he did for King Solomon for the Temple of God: 12 two pillars, the two bases and capitals * that were on top of the pillars, the two nettings to cover the two bases of the capitals that were on top of the pillars, 13 the pomegranates, four hundred for the two nettings, two rows of pomegranates for each netting to cover the two bases of the capitals that were on top of the pillars. 14 He made the stands, and he made the lavers upon the stands; 15 the one sea and the twelve bulls under it, 16 the pots, the shovels, the forks and all their vessels Huram made, [as] his father [would have], for King Solomon for the Temple of HASHEM, from pure copper. 17 The king cast them in the Plain of the Jordan, in firm clay, between Succoth and Zeredah. 18 Solomon made all these articles in vast number; the weight of the copper could not be determined.

Other utensils

19 Solomon made all the articles for the Temple of God; and the Golden Altar; * the tables with the show-bread upon them; 20 the candelabra and their lamps of fine gold for kindling as required in front of the Inner Sanctum, 21 with their flowers, lamps and tongs of gold — the finest gold; 22 the musical instruments and the bowls, spoons and pans, all of fine gold; and the doorway of the Temple, its inner doors for the Holy of Holies, and the doors of the Temple — that is, the Sanctuary — of gold.

The Temple is completed

1 When all the work that King Solomon had done for the Temple of HASHEM was completed, Solomon brought that which his father David had sanctified, and he placed the silver, the gold and all the articles in the treasuries of the Temple of God. *

2 Then Solomon gathered together the elders of Israel, all the heads of the 4:10. That is, in the north.

4:11. The pots and shovels were used to remove accumulated ash from the surface of the Altar (Rashi).

4:12. The capitals were made up of two parts: the base (which was plain) and the main part (which was decorated, as described in I Kings 7:17).

4:19. See Exodus 30:1-10, 25:23-30.

5:1. David had prepared immense amounts of silver, gold, building materials, etc., to be used in the construction of the Temple (I Chronicles 22:2-19). Solomon did not use these materials, however, depositing them instead in the Temple storehouses. Abarbanel suggests that Solomon interpreted Nathan's message (II Samuel 7:8-16) to mean that David should have no involvement at all, even indirect, in the building of the Temple.

5:3. Actually the celebration began a week before Succos; see 7:9-10.

5:5. Solomon brought Moses' Tabernacle to Jerusalem and stored it in the Temple precincts (Radak).

5:9. See I Kings 8:8.

5:11-14. These verses are all parenthetical. Scripture

The nation gathers tribes and the leaders of the ancestral families of the Children of Israel to Jerusalem, to bring up the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM from the City of David, which is Zion. 3 All the men of Israel gathered before the king on the festival [of Succos], which is [in] the seventh month.* 4 All the elders of Israel came, and the Levites bore the Ark. 5 They brought up the Ark and the Tent of Meeting, and all the sacred articles that were in that Tent; the Kohanim and the Levites brought them up.* 6 King Solomon and the entire assembly of Israel who had assembled with him before the Ark offered up sheep and cattle, too abundant to be numbered or counted.

The Ark is emplaced

7 The Kohanim brought the Ark of the Covenant of HASHEM to its place, to the Inner Sanctum of the Temple, to the Holy of Holies, to beneath the wings of the Cherubim. 8 For the Cherubim spread their wings over the place of the Ark; the Cherubim covered over the Ark and its staves from above. 9 They extended the staves so that the tips of the staves from the Ark were noticeable upon the Partition, but were not showing on the outside; they remained there to this very day.* 10 Nothing was in the Ark but the two [stone] Tablets that Moses placed there in Horeb, which HASHEM covenanted with the Children of Israel when they left Egypt. 11 And it was as the Kohanim left the Sanctuary (for all the Kohanim who* were present had sanctified themselves; the divisions were not observed. 12 The Levites, all of whom were singers: Asaph, Heman, Jeduthun and their sons and kinsmen were dressed in linen; with cymbals, lyres and harps, and stood to the east of the Altar. With them were a hundred twenty Kohanim blowing trumpets. 13 *There was unison among the trumpeters and the singers, sounding out in one voice to praise and give thanksgiving to HASHEM, and when the sound of the trumpets and cymbals and other musical instruments sounded out, with praise of HASHEM "for He is good, for His kindness is forever,") and the cloud filled the House — the Temple of HASHEM — 14 and the Kohanim could not stand and minister because of the cloud, for the glory of HASHEM filled the Temple of God.

Trumpeters and singers

SOLOMON'S PRAYER 6:1-41

1 Then Solomon said, "HASHEM said that He would dwell in the thick cloud. 2 I have built a house of habitation for You, and a foundation for Your dwelling forever."

Blessed is Hashem, Who was patient

3 Then the king turned his face and blessed the entire congregation of Israel, while the entire congregation of Israel was standing. 4 He then said: "Blessed is HASHEM, God of Israel, Who spoke with His word to my father David — and fulfilled with power — saying: 5 'From the day when I took My people Israel out of the land of Egypt, I did not choose a city from among all the tribes of Israel in which to build a Temple where My Name would be, nor did I choose a man to be a ruler over My people Israel, 6 but I chose Jerusalem for My Name to be there, and I chose David to rule over My people Israel.'

Solomon, not David

7 "It was in the heart of my father David to build a Temple for the sake of HASHEM, God of Israel. 8 But HASHEM said to my father David, 'Inasmuch as it has been in your heart to build a Temple for My Name, you have done well by having this in your heart. 9 You, however, shall not build the Temple. Rather, your son, who will emerge from your loins — he will build the Temple for My Name.' 10 Now HASHEM has fulfilled His word that He spoke; for I have risen in place of relates that because of the huge number of offerings brought during the inauguration of the Temple, all the Kohanim had to participate in the service, and the rotation of the twenty-four shifts of Kohanim was suspended (Radak).

---

5:13. As soon as the Ark was set in place, the Shechinah, the Divine Presence, appeared in the Temple.

6:18-23. It would be absurd to think of this Temple as a "residence" for God; rather it is to be a conduit for the prayers of Israel — and all mankind.

6:21-22. See I Kings 8:31-32.

6:26. Even if they repent only in order to receive God's mercy, may You respond to their prayers (Metzudos).

my father David, and I sit on the throne of Israel as HASHEM spoke, and I have built the Temple for the sake of HASHEM, God of Israel's Name. 11 And I have set there the Ark wherein is the covenant of HASHEM, which He made with the Children of Israel."

Solomon stands before God

12 He stood before the Altar of HASHEM, in front of the entire congregation of Israel, and spread out his hands. 13 For Solomon had made a copper laver five cubits long, five cubits wide and three cubits tall, and placed it in the midst of the Courtyard, and he now stood on it. Then he knelt on his knees in front of the entire congregation of Israel, and spread out his hands towards Heaven. 14 He said,

His prayer

"HASHEM, God of Israel, there is none like You, O God, in the heavens nor on the earth; Who preserves covenant and the kindness for Your servants who walk before You with all their heart, 15 for You have preserved for Your servant, my father David, all that You have spoken to him. You spoke with Your mouth and with Your power fulfilled this very day. 16 And now, O HASHEM, God of Israel, preserve [Your promise] to Your servant, my father David, that You spoke to him, saying, 'There shall not cease from you a man to sit before Me upon the throne of Israel — provided that your children preserve their way, to follow My Torah, as you have gone before Me.' 17 So now, HASHEM, God of Israel, cause Your word that You spoke to Your servant David to come true.

Please accept our prayers

18 "Would God truly dwell on earth with man? Behold, the heavens and the highest heavens cannot contain You, and surely not this Temple that I have built! 19 But, may You turn to the prayer of Your servant and to his supplication, O HASHEM my God, to hear the cry and the prayer that Your servant prays before You today: 20 that Your eyes be open toward this Temple day and night, to the place of which You said that You would place Your Name there, to hear the prayer that Your servant shall pray in this place. 21 And may You hear the supplications of Your servant and of Your people Israel, which they shall pray in this place; may You hear [it] from the place of Your habitation, from Heaven — may You hear and forgive.*

Defend the righteous

22 "If a man should wrong his fellow, who imposes an oath upon him and adjures him, and the oath comes before Your Altar in this Temple, 23 may You hear from Heaven, may You act and judge Your servants, condemning the wicked party, to place the [consequences of] his way upon his head, and vindicating the righteous party, to give him according to his righteousness.

Forgive Your people

24 "If Your people are defeated by an enemy because they have sinned against You, and then they return [to You] and praise Your Name, and they pray and supplicate before You in this Temple, 25 may You hear from Heaven and forgive the sin of Your people Israel, and return them to the land that You gave to them and their forefathers.

Give rain

26 *"If the heavens are restrained and there be no rain, for they have sinned against You, and they pray toward this place and praise Your Name, and they repent from their sin so that You will respond to them, 27 may You hear from Heaven and forgive the sin of Your servants and Your people Israel, when You teach them the proper path in which they should walk, and may You give rain upon Your land, which You gave to Your people as a heritage.

Banish tragedy

28 "If there be a famine in the land, if there be a pestilence, if there be windblast or withering or locust or grasshopper, if [Israel's] enemy oppresses it in the land

ו אֶת־בֵּית הָאֱלֹהִים הַמֶּלֶךְ וְכָל־הָעָם: וְהַכֹּהֲנִים עַל־מִשְׁמְרוֹתָם עֹמְדִים

6:41. May You accept our wish that this place become Your permanent dwelling place. And may You always accept the offerings brought here by the Kohanim (Radak).

6:42. If not for our sake, dwell in this Temple for the sake of David, who planned its every detail.

of their cities — any plague, any disease — [29] for any prayer and any supplication that any person of Your entire people Israel may have — each man knowing his own afflictions and his own pain — when he spreads out his hands [in prayer] toward this Temple, [30] may You hear from Heaven, the foundation of Your abode, and forgive, and recompense every man according to his ways as You know his heart, for You alone know the hearts of people; [31] so that they may fear You, to follow Your ways, all the days that they live upon the land which You gave to our forefathers.

Hear the gentile

[32] "Also a gentile who is not of Your people Israel, but will come from a distant land, for Your great Name's sake and Your strong hand and Your outstretched arm, and [they] come to pray in this Temple — [33] may You hear from Heaven, the foundation of Your abode, and act according to all that the gentile calls out to You, so that all the nations of the world may know Your Name, to fear You as [does] Your people Israel and to know that Your Name is proclaimed upon this Temple that I have built.

Help in war

[34] "When Your people goes to war against their enemy, along the course on which You shall send them, and they direct their prayers to HASHEM by way of the city that You have chosen and the Temple that I have built for Your Name, [35] from heaven may You hear their prayer and their supplication, and carry out their judgment.

Release from captivity

[36] "When they sin against You — for there is no man who never sins — and You become angry with them, and You deliver them to an enemy, and their captors take them away to a faraway or nearby land, [37] and they take it to heart in the land where they were taken captive, and they repent and supplicate to You in the land of their captivity, saying, 'We have sinned; we have been iniquitous; we have been wicked,' [38] and they return to You with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their captivity — of those who had captured them — and they pray by way of their land that You gave to their forefathers, and [by way of] the city that You have chosen and through the Temple that I built for Your Name — [39] may You hear their prayer and their supplications from Heaven, the foundation of Your abode, and carry out their judgment, and forgive Your people who sinned against You. [40] Now, my God, may Your eyes be open and Your ears attentive to the prayers of this place!

Come to Your resting place

[41] "Now, arise HASHEM, God, to Your resting place, You and the Ark of Your might! May Your Kohanim, O* HASHEM, God, be clothed in salvation, and may your righteous ones rejoice in goodness! [42] HASHEM, *God, do not turn back the request of Your anointed one; remember the righteousness of Your servant David!"

The inauguration

Heavenly fire

[1] When Solomon finished praying, the fire came down from heaven and consumed the burnt-offering and the feast-offerings, and the glory of HASHEM filled the Temple. [2] The Kohanim could not enter the Temple of HASHEM, for the glory of HASHEM filled the Temple of HASHEM. [3] All the Children of Israel were watching when the fire and the glory of HASHEM descended upon the Temple, and they bowed down with their faces to the ground, upon the floor, and they prostrated themselves and were giving praise to HASHEM: "For He is good, for His mercy endures forever."

Lavish offering

[4] The king and the entire people were bringing an offering before HASHEM. [5] Solomon brought the cattle-offering of twenty-two thousand, and sheep of a hundred twenty thousand; and they dedicated the Temple of God — the king and all the people. [6] The Kohanim were standing at their watches,

7:7. The Altar could not accommodate all the offerings brought during the festivities, so Solomon temporarily sanctified the floor of the Courtyard as an altar (Ralbag).

7:9. Although Yom Kippur is one of the seven days preceding Succos, Radak suggests that they celebrated even though they were fasting. The Talmud, however, relates as well as the Levites, with HASHEM's musical instruments — which King David had made for giving "thanks to HASHEM for His mercy endures forever," for David's praises — in their hands, while the Kohanim were blowing trumpets opposite them, and all of Israel was standing. 7 Solomon sanctified the interior of the Courtyard that was before the Temple of HASHEM, * for there he performed the service of the burnt-offerings and the fats of the peace-offerings; for the Copper Altar that Solomon had made could not contain the burnt-offerings, the meal-offerings and the fats.

Joyous climax

8 At that time Solomon instituted the celebration for seven days, and all Israel was with him, a very huge congregation, from the Approach of Hamath until the Brook of Egypt. 9 On the eighth day they celebrated an assembly, for they celebrated the dedication of the Altar for seven days and the festival [of Succos] for seven days. * 10 On the twenty-third day of the seventh month [Solomon] sent the people off to their homes, joyous and good-hearted over the goodness that HASHEM had shown to David and to Solomon and to His people Israel.

God assures Solomon . . .

11 When Solomon finished the Temple of HASHEM and the king's palace, and succeeded in all that had entered Solomon's mind to make in the Temple of HASHEM and in his own house, 12 HASHEM appeared to Solomon at night and said to him, "I have heard your prayer, and I have chosen this place to be a Temple of offering for Me. 13 If I ever restrain the heavens so that there will be no rain, or if I ever command locusts to devour the land, or if I ever send a pestilence among My people, 14 and My people, upon whom My Name is proclaimed, humble themselves and pray and seek My presence and repent of their evil ways — I will hear from Heaven and forgive their sin and heal their land. 15 Now, My eyes will be open and My ears attentive to the prayers of this place. 16 And now, I have chosen and sanctified this Temple, that My Name should remain there forever,

. . . but with a condition . . .

and My eyes and My heart should remain there all the days. 17 And as for you — if you walk before Me as your father David walked, and do all that I have commanded you, and observe My decrees and My statutes; 18 then I shall uphold the throne of your kingdom, as I promised your father David, saying, 'No man of

. . . warning of exile and destruction

yours will be cut off as a ruler of Israel.' 19 But if you turn away and forsake My decrees and commandments that I have placed before you, and you go and worship the gods of others and prostrate yourselves to them, 20 then I will uproot them from upon My land that I gave them; and this Temple that I have sanctified for My Name I will dismiss from My presence, and I will make [Israel] a parable and a conversation piece among all the nations. 21 And this Temple — which should be so exalted — all who pass by it will be appalled, and say, 'Why did HASHEM do such a thing to this land and to this Temple?' 22 And they will say, 'Because they forsook HASHEM the God of their fathers, Who brought them out of Egypt, and they grasped the gods of others, and prostrated themselves to them and worshiped them; therefore He brought all this evil upon them.' "

8 OTHER DETAILS OF SOLOMON'S REIGN 8:1-9:31

1 It happened at the end of the twenty years during which Solomon built the Temple of HASHEM and his own palace. 2 Solomon built up the cities that Huram had given him, * and he settled people of Israel there.

that the people ate on Yom Kippur that year; this was undoubtedly done by authority of Divinely ordained instruction, as conveyed by prophecy (Abarbanel).

8:2. I Kings 9:11 relates that King Solomon gave to Huram twenty cities in the land of Galilee. The cities referred to here were given by Huram to Solomon. Apparently they exchanged gifts of cities to solidify the bond between them (Radak).

8:11. Solomon had married Pharaoh's daughter (see I Kings 3:1).

8:17. More commonly known as Eilat or Elath (Deuteronomy 2:8).

New cities

3 Solomon went to Hamath-zobah, and he subdued it. 4 He built up Tadmor in the wilderness and all the storage cites that he built in Hamath. 5 He also built up Upper Beth-horon and Lower Beth-horon as fortified cities with walls, gates and bars, 6 as well as Baalath and all the storage cities which Solomon had, and all the chariot cities and all the cavalry cities; and every luxury of Solomon that he wished to build in Jerusalem and in the Lebanon and in all the land of his dominion. 7 All the people who were left of the Hittite, the Amorite, the Perizzite,

Labor conscripts

the Hivite and the Jebusite, who were not of the Children of Israel — 8 of their descendants who were left after them in the land, whom the Children of Israel did not eliminate, Solomon conscripted them as laborers, until this day. 9 But Solomon did not enslave anyone of the Children of Israel for his labor, for they were men of war, and were commanders of his officers, and the commanders of his chariots and his riders. 10 And these were the commanders of the commissioners of King Solomon — two hundred and fifty [men] who directed the people.

Palace for the queen

11 Solomon brought up Pharaoh's daughter from the City of David, to her house that he had built for her, for he thought, "I should not have a wife dwell in the house of David, king of Israel, for they are holy [places], being that the Ark of* HASHEM had been brought there."

In the Temple:

12 At that time Solomon brought up burnt-offerings to HASHEM, upon the Altar of HASHEM that he had built before the Hall, 13 as well as what was required for each day on its day, to offer in accordance with the commandment of Moses, for Sabbaths and for New Moons and for the appointed festivals three times a year — the Festival of Matzos, the Festival of Shavuos and the Festival of

Divisions of Kohanim and Levites

Succos. 14 He set up the divisions of Kohanim according to the instructions of his father David for their service, and the Levites in their watches to praise and to minister opposite the Kohanim for each day's needs in its day, and the gatekeepers in their divisions for each gate, for this was the commandment of David, the man of God, 15 and they did not deviate from the king's command concerning the Kohanim and the Levites, concerning all matters and concerning the treasuries.

Imported wealth

16 All of Solomon's labor was firmly established, from the day of the laying of the foundations of the Temple of HASHEM to its finish; the Temple of HASHEM was complete. 17 At that time Solomon went to Ezion-geber and to Eloth, on the coast in the land of Edom.* 18 Huram sent him, with his servants, ships and servants who knew the sea. They came to Ophir with Solomon's servants and took from there four hundred and fifty talents of gold, and brought them to King Solomon.

The Queen of Sheba

1 The Queen of Sheba heard of Solomon's fame, and she came to test Solomon's [wisdom] with riddles in Jerusalem, with a very large entourage, and with camels bearing large amounts of spices and gold and precious stones. She came before Solomon, and she spoke with him about all that was in her heart. 2 Solomon told her [the solutions to] all her questions; there was not a thing hidden from Solomon that he could not tell her. 3 The Queen of Sheba saw the wisdom of Solomon: the palace that he had erected; 4 the food [served] at his table and the seating of his servants, the station of his attendants and their uniforms, his cupbearers and their uniforms, and his passageway by which he ascended to the Temple of HASHEM — and she was overwhelmed. 5 She said to 9:10. This account of the treasures brought by Huram's fleet is inserted in the middle of the story of the Queen of Sheba because it, too, involves a dazzling display of wealth. Alternatively, it provides a description of the passageway mentioned in v. 4, which so astounded the queen. Almog is branching, treelike coral (Rashi; Radak).

The queen is overwhelmed the king, "True was the word that I had heard in my country about your words and your wisdom! [6] I had not believed their words until I came and my own eyes saw; and behold — even half of your immense wisdom was not told to me! You have surpassed the report that I had heard! [7] Fortunate are your men — fortunate are these servants of yours — who stand before you constantly and hear your wisdom! [8] May HASHEM your God be blessed, Who has chosen you, to place you upon His throne as king, for HASHEM your God; because of your God's love for Israel, to establish it forever, He has made you king over them, to do justice and righteousness." [9] She then gave the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold and a large amount of spices and precious stones; there has never [again] been such a large quantity of spices as that which the Queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon. [10] (In addition, Huram's servants and Solomon's servants, who had brought gold from Ophir, also brought almog trees* and precious stones from Ophir. [11] The king made the almog wood into pathways for the Temple of HASHEM and the palace of the king, and into harps and lyres for the singers; such things had never been seen before in Judah.) [12] King Solomon gave the Queen of Sheba whatever [answers] she desired to what she had asked, besides [reciprocating the gifts] that she had brought to the king. Then she turned around and went to her land, she and her servants.*

Royal gifts

Solomon's wealth

*[13] The amount of gold that came to Solomon in one year was six hundred sixty-six talents of gold, [14] besides [the tax income] that merchants and spice-peddlers brought in; all the vassal kings and the governors of the land also brought gold and silver to Solomon. [15] King Solomon made two hundred shields of beaten gold; he would put six hundred [measures] of beaten gold into each shield; [16] and three hundred bucklers of beaten gold; he would put three hundred [measures] of gold into each buckler; and the king placed them in the "House of the Forest of Lebanon."

Solomon's throne

[17] The king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with pure gold. [18] The throne had six steps and a golden ramp attached to the throne. It had arms on either side, at the place of the seat, with two [figures of] lions standing next to the arms. [19] There were twelve [figures of] lions standing there, on the six steps on either side. Nothing like it had ever been made for any kingdom.

[20] All of King Solomon's drinking utensils were gold, and all the fixtures of the "House of the Forest of Lebanon" were pure gold; there was no silver, for [silver] was not considered of any worth in the days of Solomon. [21] For the king had ships that went to Tarshish with Huram's servants; once in three years the Tarshish ships would arrive, carrying gold, silver, ivory and monkeys and peacocks.

[22] King Solomon became greater than all the kings of the land in wealth and wisdom. [23] And all the kings of the world wanted to see Solomon, to hear his wisdom, which God had put in his heart. [24] And each one of them would bring his gift — silver vessels, golden vessles, clothing, weapons, spices, horses and mules — each year's due in its year.

Solomon's stables

[25] Solomon had four thousand stables of horses and chariots and twelve thousand riders; he kept them in chariot cities, and [left some] with* 9:29. Metzudos suggests that these three prophets wrote works that are no longer extant.

10:1. Although the seat of government was Jerusalem, the coronation took place in Shechem, the the king in Jerusalem. 26 He ruled over all the kings from the [Euphrates] River to the land of the Philistines, up to the border of Egypt. 27 The king made silver in Jerusalem [as common] as stones, and he made cedars as abundant as sycamores in the lowland. 28 They would export horses from Egypt to Solomon, and from all the lands.

29 The rest of the events of Solomon — earlier and later — behold, they are written in the records of Nathan the Prophet and in the prophecies of Ahijah the Shilonite and in the visions of Jedo the Seer concerning Jeroboam son of Nebat.*

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

30 Solomon reigned over all of Israel in Jerusalem for forty years. 31 Solomon lay with his forefathers, and they buried him in the city of David his father. His son Rehoboam reigned in his place.

KING REHOBOAM 10:1-12:16

1 *Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all of Israel had come to Shechem to make him king. 2 When Jeroboam son of Nebat heard this while he was in Egypt, where he had fled from before King Solomon, Jeroboam returned from Egypt,* 3 for [the people] sent for him and summoned him. Jeroboam came, along with all of Israel, and they spoke to Rehoboam, saying, 4 "Your father made our yoke [of taxation] difficult; now, you alleviate your father's difficult workload and his heavy yoke that he placed upon us, and we will serve you." 5 He said to them, "[Go away for] three more days and then come back to me." So the people left.

Jeroboam confronts the new king

The elders' sound advice is ignored

6 King Rehoboam took counsel with the elders, who had stood before his father Solomon while he was alive, saying, "How would you advise what word to respond to this people?" 7 They spoke to him, saying, "If you are good to this people and show them favor, and speak kind words to them, they will be your servants all the days." 8 But he ignored the advice of the elders who had counseled him, and he took counsel with the youths who had grown up with him, who ministered before him. 9 He said to them, "What would you advise; what word shall we respond to this people who have spoken to me, saying, 'Alleviate the yoke that your father placed upon us'?" 10 The young men who had grown up with him spoke with him, saying, "This is what you should say to the people who have spoken to you, saying, 'Your father made our yoke heavy; you alleviate it for us' — this is what you should say to them: 'My little finger is thicker than my father's loins! 11 So now, my father saddled you with a heavy yoke; I shall add to your yoke! My father chastised you with sticks; and I — with scorpions!' "

The king rebuffs his subjects . . .

12 Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, as the king had spoken, saying, "Return to me on the third day." 13 The king responded harshly to them; King Rehoboam ignored the advice of the elders. 14 He spoke to them according to the counsel of the youths, saying, "I shall make your yoke heavy and I shall add to it! My father chastised you with sticks; and I — with scorpions!" 15 The king did not listen to the people, for it was caused from God, in order that HASHEM should fulfill His word that He had spoken through the hand of Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam son of Nebat.

. . . and they respond in kind

16 *All of Israel [saw] that the king did not listen to them, and the people responded to the king, saying, "What share have we in [the house of] David? [We have] no heritage in the son of Jesse! Back to your homes, O Israel! Now see to your own house, O [Kingdom of] David!"

"capital" of Ephraim. Radak suggests that the northern tribes were seeking a pretext to rebel against Rehoboam and accept Jeroboam as the king, therefore they refused to come to Jerusalem.

12:9. Described in I Kings 10:16-17.

12:11. They would carry the shields in procession before the king (Rashi).

12:13. He had the maturity which enabled him to recover from his humiliation and have a reasonably long reign.

13:5. Lit. "a covenant of salt," i.e., permanent as salt.

12 Rehoboam's decline

1 It happened that as Rehoboam's kingdom became established and he became strong, he forsook the Torah of HASHEM, and all Israel with him.

Egypt advances

2 It was in King Rehoboam's fifth year that Shishak king of Egypt ascended against Jerusalem — because they had betrayed HASHEM — 3 with twelve hundred chariots and sixty thousand horsemen, and countless people who came with him from Egypt — Lubim, Sukkiim and Ethiopians. 4 He captured Judah's fortified cities and he approached up to Jerusalem.

The prophet's warning

5 Shemaiah the prophet came to Rehoboam and the officers of Judah who had gathered together in Jerusalem because of Shishak, and he said to them, "Thus said HASHEM: You have abandoned Me; so I, too, have abandoned you into the hands of Shishak!"

Israel repents; God relents

6 The officers of Israel and the king thereupon humbled themselves, and they said, "HASHEM is the rightous One!" 7 When HASHEM saw that they had humbled themselves, the word of HASHEM came to Shemaiah, saying, "They have humbled themselves; I will not destroy them. I will grant them a small portion as a remnant, and my wrath will not be poured out upon Jerusalem through Shishak. 8 Rather, they will become slaves to him, and they will recognize [the difference between] serving Me and serving the kingdoms of the lands!"

Egypt plunders

9 *When Shishak had ascended against Jerusalem, he took away the treasures of the Temple of HASHEM and the treasures of the king's palace — he took everything. He also took the golden shields that Solomon had made. 10 King Rehoboam made copper shields in their place, and he placed them in the charge of the captains of the runners, who guarded the entrance to the king's palace; 11 and it would be that whenever the king would come to the Temple of HASHEM, the runners would come and bear them and then return them to the Chamber of the Runners.*

Rehoboam falls short

12 But when he humbled himself, the anger of HASHEM turned back from him, not destroying [Judah] completely. Furthermore, in Judah things went well. 13 King Rehoboam strengthened himself in Jerusalem and reigned, for he was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned for seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city that HASHEM chose in which to place His Name, out of all the tribes of Israel. His mother's name was Naamah the Ammonite.*

14 He did evil, for he did not set his heart to seek out HASHEM. 15 The earlier and later events of Rehoboam — behold, they are written in the words of Shemaiah the Prophet and Iddo the Seer, with the genealogy. The wars between Rehoboam and Jeroboam were constant.

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

16 Rehoboam lay with his forefathers and was buried in the City of David. His son Abijah reigned in his place.

KING ABIJAH 13:1-23

1 In the eighteenth year of [the reign of] King Jeroboam, Abijah became king over Judah. 2 He reigned in Jerusalem for three years; his mother's name was Micaiah daughter of Uriel of Gibeah. There was a war between Abijah and Jeroboam. 3 Abijah led the battle with an army of mighty fighters — four hundred thousand chosen men, and Jeroboam set himself for war against him with eight hundred thousand chosen men, mighty warriors. 4 Abijah stood up on top of Mount Zemaraim which is in the hills of Ephraim and he said, "Hear me, Jeroboam and all of Israel! 5 *Surely, you should know that HASHEM, God of Israel, gave kingship over Israel to David forever, to him and his children for an everlasting covenant.

Jeroboam's disloyalty . . .

6 But Jeroboam son of Nebat, a servant of Solomon son of David, got up and rebelled against his master. 7 Worthless, lawless people gathered around him and they set themselves resolutely against Rehoboam son of Solomon, when Rehoboam was young and weak-hearted, and did not stand up firmly against them. 8 And now you intend to stand defiantly before the kingdom of HASHEM that is in the hands of David's descendants. You are a great multitude, and with you are the golden calves that Jeroboam has made for you as gods. 9 Have you not dismissed the Kohanim of HASHEM*, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and made for yourselves priests like the nations of the land? Anyone who comes forward to initiate himself with a young bull and seven rams becomes a priest to the non-god!*

. . . and hypocrisy

10 But as for us — HASHEM is our God, and we have not forsaken Him; the priests who minister to HASHEM are the sons of Aaron and the Levites do their work. 11 Also, they burn burnt-offerings to HASHEM every morning and every evening, as well as an incense of spices, and there is an array of bread upon the pure table, and a golden candelabrum and its lamps to kindle every evening, for we observe the charge of HASHEM*, our God, while you have forsaken Him.* 12 Behold, with us, at our head, are God and His Kohanim and the blasting-trumpets to blast against you. Children of Israel, do not wage war against HASHEM*, the God of your forefathers, for you will not succeed!"*

God is with us

A miraculous victory for Judah

13 Meanwhile, Jeroboam had moved an ambush party around, to approach from their rear, so that they were in front of Judah and the ambush was behind them. 14 Judah turned around and behold — the battle was in front and in the rear! They cried out to HASHEM*, while the Kohanim sounded the trumpets.* 15 The men of Judah shouted, and it happened that as the men of Judah shouted, God struck Jeroboam and all of Israel before Abijah and Judah. 16 The Children of Israel fled before Judah, and God delivered them into their hand. 17 Abijah and his people inflicted a very great blow against them, and five hundred thousand chosen men of Israel fell slain.

Abijah is not threathened again

18 The Children of Israel became humbled at that time, and the people of Judah gained strength, for they relied on HASHEM*, the God of their fathers.* 19 Abijah pursued Jeroboam, and he captured several cities from him — Beth-el and its villages, Jeshanah and its villages, and Ephrain and its villages. 20 Jeroboam did not again muster strength in the days of Abijah; HASHEM struck him and he died.

21 Abijah established himself. He married fourteen wives, begetting twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters. 22 The rest of the deeds of Abijah and his ways and records are written in the Narration of the prophet Iddo. 23 Abijah lay with his forefathers, and they buried him in the City of David. Asa his son reigned in his place. In his days the land was tranquil for ten years.

KING ASA 14:1-16:14

Asa destroys the idols

1 Asa did what was good and proper in the eyes of HASHEM his God. 2 He removed the alien altars and the high places, shattered the [idolatrous] pillars, and cut down the Asherah trees. 3 He told Judah to seek HASHEM*, the God of their forefathers, and to observe the Torah and the commandments.* 4 He removed the high places and sun images from all the cities of Judah, and the kingdom was tranquil before him. 5 He built fortified cities in Judah, for the land was tranquil and he had no wars during these years, for* HASHEM had granted him rest. 6 He said to Judah, "Let us build up these cities and surround them with walls

14:5. He took advantage of the years of tranquility to bolster his defenses.

15:3. This is the condition of the nation when, because of its rejection of God, it is exiled or dominated by its enemies (Radak).

Jeroboam's disloyalty . . .

6 But Jeroboam son of Nebat, a servant of Solomon son of David, got up and rebelled against his master. 7 Worthless, lawless people gathered around him and they set themselves resolutely against Rehoboam son of Solomon, when Rehoboam was young and weak-hearted, and did not stand up firmly against them. 8 And now you intend to stand defiantly before the kingdom of HASHEM that is in the hands of David's descendants. You are a great multitude, and with you are the golden calves that Jeroboam has made for you as gods. 9 Have you not dismissed the Kohanim of HASHEM*, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and made for yourselves priests like the nations of the land? Anyone who comes forward to initiate himself with a young bull and seven rams becomes a priest to the non-god!*

. . . and hypocrisy

10 But as for us — HASHEM is our God, and we have not forsaken Him; the priests who minister to HASHEM are the sons of Aaron and the Levites do their work. 11 Also, they burn burnt-offerings to HASHEM every morning and every evening, as well as an incense of spices, and there is an array of bread upon the pure table, and a golden candelabrum and its lamps to kindle every evening, for we observe the charge of HASHEM*, our God, while you have forsaken Him.* 12 Behold, with us, at our head, are God and His Kohanim and the blasting-trumpets to blast against you. Children of Israel, do not wage war against HASHEM*, the God of your forefathers, for you will not succeed!"*

God is with us

A miraculous victory for Judah

13 Meanwhile, Jeroboam had moved an ambush party around, to approach from their rear, so that they were in front of Judah and the ambush was behind them. 14 Judah turned around and behold — the battle was in front and in the rear! They cried out to HASHEM*, while the Kohanim sounded the trumpets.* 15 The men of Judah shouted, and it happened that as the men of Judah shouted, God struck Jeroboam and all of Israel before Abijah and Judah. 16 The Children of Israel fled before Judah, and God delivered them into their hand. 17 Abijah and his people inflicted a very great blow against them, and five hundred thousand chosen men of Israel fell slain.

Abijah is not threathened again

18 The Children of Israel became humbled at that time, and the people of Judah gained strength, for they relied on HASHEM*, the God of their fathers.* 19 Abijah pursued Jeroboam, and he captured several cities from him — Beth-el and its villages, Jeshanah and its villages, and Ephrain and its villages. 20 Jeroboam did not again muster strength in the days of Abijah; HASHEM struck him and he died.

21 Abijah established himself. He married fourteen wives, begetting twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters. 22 The rest of the deeds of Abijah and his ways and records are written in the Narration of the prophet Iddo. 23 Abijah lay with his forefathers, and they buried him in the City of David. Asa his son reigned in his place. In his days the land was tranquil for ten years.

KING ASA 14:1-16:14

Asa destroys the idols

1 Asa did what was good and proper in the eyes of HASHEM his God. 2 He removed the alien altars and the high places, shattered the [idolatrous] pillars, and cut down the Asherah trees. 3 He told Judah to seek HASHEM*, the God of their forefathers, and to observe the Torah and the commandments.* 4 He removed the high places and sun images from all the cities of Judah, and the kingdom was tranquil before him. 5 He built fortified cities in Judah, for the land was tranquil and he had no wars during these years, for* HASHEM had granted him rest. 6 He said to Judah, "Let us build up these cities and surround them with walls

14:5. He took advantage of the years of tranquility to bolster his defenses.

14:13. The men of Judah inspired great fear wherever they went.

and towers, double doors and bolts. The land is still before us because we have sought out HASHEM, our God — we have sought [Him] out and he has granted us rest all around." So they built and they succeeded.

To battle with arms and prayer

7 Asa had an army bearing shield and spear: from Judah three hundred thousand, and from Benjamin two hundred and eighty thousand who bore bucklers and drew bows, all these were mighty warriors. 8 Zerah the Ethiopian went out [to war] against them with an army of a million men and three hundred chariots, approaching up to Mareshah. 9 Asa went out before him, and they arrayed themselves for war in the Valley of Zephath, near Mareshah. 10 Asa called out to HASHEM, his God, saying, "HASHEM, there is none besides You to help [in battle] between the many and those with no strength. Help us, HASHEM, our God, for we depend on You, and we have come in Your Name against this great multitude! You are HASHEM, our God; let no human muster strength against You!"

Victory and plunder

*11 HASHEM struck the Ethiopians before Asa and before Judah, and the Ethiopians fled. 12 Asa and the people with him pursued them to Gerar, and the Ethiopians fell, for lack of vitality, for they were crushed before HASHEM and before His camp. They carried off very much booty. 13 They struck all the cities around Gerar, for the dread of HASHEM was upon them, * and they plundered all the cities, for there was much plunder in them. 14 They also struck tents of livestock and captured sheep in abundance and camels, and then they returned to Jerusalem.*

15 Azariah exhorts Asa to repent

*1 A spirit of God came over Azariah son of Oded, * 2 and he went out before Asa, saying to him, "Hear me, Asa and all of Judah and Benjamin! HASHEM is with you because you are with Him! If you seek Him He will make Himself accessible to you, but if you will abandon Him He will abandon you!*

*3 "Many days passed by for Israel without a true God * and without a Kohen to teach and without Torah. 4 But they returned to HASHEM, the God of Israel, when they were in trouble, and He made Himself accessible to them. 5 In those times * there had been no peace for people coming and going, for many disturbances affected all the inhabitants of the lands. 6 One nation was battered by the other, and one city by the other, for God confounded them with all kinds of trouble. 7 But you be strong, and do not lose resolve, for there is reward for your actions!"*

Asa obeys

*8 When Asa heard these words and the prophecy of [the son of] Oded the prophet, he was encouraged, and he removed the detestable things from all of the land of Judah and Benjamin and from the cities which he had conquered from Mount Ephraim, and he renewed the Altar of HASHEM that was before the Hall of HASHEM. 9 He gathered together all of Judah and Benjamin, and those from Ephraim and Manasseh and Simeon who dwelled among them — for many people of Israel defected to him when they saw that HASHEM his God was with him. 10 They were gathered in Jerusalem in the third month of the fifteenth year of Asa's reign. 11 They brought offerings to HASHEM on that day from the spoils that they had taken — seven hundred cattle and seven thousand sheep. 12 They entered into a covenant to seek out HASHEM, the God of their forefathers, with all their heart and with all their soul; 13 and anyone who would not seek HASHEM, God of Israel, * would be put to death, whether small or great, man or woman. 14 They swore to HASHEM in a loud voice and with shouts, with trumpets and with shofars. 15 All of Judah rejoiced over* the oath, for they had sworn with all their heart — they had sought Him with all their desire and He was accessible to them — and HASHEM had granted them rest all around them.

No favoritism

16 King Asa even deposed his [grand]mother Maacah from being a queen because she had made an abomination to asherah; Asa chopped up her abomination and ground it up and burned it in the Kidron Ravine. 17 The high places did not cease from Israel; nevertheless, Asa's heart was perfect all his days. 18 He brought in the consecrated goods of his father and his own consecrated goods to the Temple of HASHEM — silver and gold and vessels.*

16

*19 There was no war until the thirty-fifth year of Asa's reign. 1 In the thirty-sixth year of Asa's reign, Baasa king of Israel attacked Judah and built up Ramah, * in order to prevent Asa king of Judah from leaving or entering. 2 Asa removed silver and gold from the treasuries of the Temple of HASHEM and the king's palace and sent it to Ben-hadad, the king of Aram, who dwelled in Damascus, saying, 3 "[There is] a treaty between me and you, and between my father and your father. Behold I have sent you silver and gold; go, annul your treaty with Baasa king of Israel, * so that he will depart from me." 4 Ben-hadad heeded King Asa, and he sent the officers of his soldiers against cities of Israel. They struck at Ijon, Dan and Abel-maim, and all the storage cities among the cities of Naphtali. 5 When Baasa heard this he ceased his building of Ramah, and he halted his work. 6 And King Asa took all of Judah and they carried away the stones of Ramah and its wood, with which Baasa had built, and with them [King Asa] built up Geba and Mizpah.*

The Seer's rebuke

*7 At that time Hanani the Seer came to Asa king of Judah, and said to him, "Because you relied on the king of Aram and did not rely on HASHEM, your God — therefore the army of the king of Aram will slip out of your hands. * 8 Behold, the Ethiopians and the Lubim* constituted an immense army, with very many chariots and horsemen, yet when you relied on HASHEM He delivered them into your hand. 9 For HASHEM's eyes roam throughout the land, to strengthen those whose hearts are sincerely with Him. You have been foolish in this, for from now on you will have wars!"*

The king's anger

10 Asa became angry with the seer, and he put him in prison, for he was furious with him for this. Asa began to oppress some of the people at that time.

11 Behold, the earlier and latter events of Asa are recorded in the Book of Kings of Judah and Israel.

*12 Asa became ill in his legs in the thirty-ninth year of his reign, until his illness spread upwards. * Also in his illness he did not seek out HASHEM, but only doctors. 13 Asa lay with his forefathers. He died in the forty-first year of his reign. 14 They buried him in his grave that he had dug for himself in the City of David. They laid him down in a bed that he had filled with spices and perfumes, blended with an apothecary's art, and they made a very large pyre for him. * 1 His son Jehoshaphat reigned in his place, and he strengthened his reign over Israel. * 2 He placed forces in all the fortified cities of Judah, and he stationed garrisons in the land of Judah and in the cities of Ephraim* that his father Asa had captured.

God's approval

3 HASHEM was with Jehoshaphat, for he followed the original paths of his father David, and did not seek out the Baal idols, 4 but he sought out the God of his father and followed His commandments, unlike the deeds of [the Kingdom of] Israel. 5 So HASHEM established the kingdom in his hands and all of Judah brought tributes to Jehoshaphat, and he had much wealth and honor. 6 His heart was elevated in the ways of HASHEM; furthermore, he eliminated the high places and asherah-trees from Judah.

Teaching Torah

7 In the third year of his reign he sent his officers Ben-hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel, and Micaiah to give instruction * in the cities of Judah. 8 With them were Levites — Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah, and Tob-adonijah, the Levites; and with them were Elishama and Jehoram, the Kohanim. 9 They gave instruction in Judah, taking with them the Book of the Torah of HASHEM. They went around to all the cities of Judah, and they taught among the people.

Peace and respect

10 The dread of HASHEM was upon all the kingdoms of the lands that were around Judah; they did not make war against Jehoshaphat. 11 Some of the Philistines would bring tribute and loads of silver to Jehoshaphat. Also the Arabs would bring him flocks — seven thousand seven hundred rams and seven thousand seven hundred goats. 12 Jehoshaphat grew continuously ever greater. He built castles and storage cities in Judah.

Workers and warriors

13 He had a great work force in the cities of Judah, and soldiers — mighty warriors — in Jerusalem. 14 These were their number according to their familes: officers of thousands were from Judah, with Adnah as the leader; and three hundred thousand mighty warriors with him. 15 At his side was the officer Jehohanan, and two hundred eighty thousand with him. 16 At his side was Amasiah son of Zichri, who volunteered to HASHEM, and two hundred thousand mighty warriors with him. 17 Of Benjamin: Eliada, a mighty warrior, and with him two hundred thousand men armed with bows and shields. 18 At his side was Jehozabad, and a hundred eighty thousand, armed for the legion, with him. 19 These were [the men] who ministered to the king, besides those whom the king stationed in the fortified cities in all of Judah.

Alliance with Ahab

1 Jehoshaphat had much wealth and honor. He allied himself in marriage to Ahab. * 2 After several years he went down to Ahab, at Samaria. Ahab slaughtered a great many sheep and cattle for him and the people accompanying him, and he incited him to go up for war against Ramoth-gilead. * 3 He said to Jehoshaphat, "Will you go [to do battle] with me for Ramoth-gilead?" He answered him, "I shall be like you, my people shall be like your people, with you in war!"

Ahab's false prophets

4 Jehoshaphat then said to the king of Israel, "Inquire, please, today, of the word of HASHEM." 5 The king of Israel gathered the prophets, four hundred men, and said to them, "Shall we go to war for Ramoth-gilead, or shall I refrain?" They answered, "Go up, for God will deliver it into the hand of the king!" 6 Jehoshaphat said, "Is there no longer here a prophet of HASHEM of whom we may inquire?" * 7 The king of Israel answered Jehoshaphat, "There is one more man through whom to inquire of HASHEM; but I hate him, for he does not prophesy good for me, 18:14. He said this in cynical mimicry of the false prophets, but Ahab insisted that he speak the truth.

18:16. Ahab would die in battle, but Israel would scatter and escape unharmed.

18:24. See I Kings 18:24.

18:27. All the tribes of Israel (Metzudos).

Micah is summoned

but only bad all his life — that is Micaiah son of Imlah." Jehoshaphat said, "Let the king not speak this way!" 8 So the king of Israel summoned one officer and said, "Rush Micaiah son of Imlah [here]."

Zedekiah's charade

9 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were sitting, each man on his throne, dressed in [royal] garb, sitting at the threshing floor at the gateway of Samaria, and all the prophets were prophesying before them. 10 Zedekiah son of Chenaanah made himself iron horns and said, "Thus said HASHEM: With these you shall gore Aram, until they are obliterated!" 11 All the prophets were prophesying similarly, saying, "Go up to Ramoth-gilead and triumph, for HASHEM will deliver it into the hand of the king." 12 The messenger who had gone to summon Micaiah spoke to him, saying, "Behold, the words of the prophets are unanimously favorable towards the king; please let your words be like [those of] one of them, and speak favorably!" 13 But Micaiah said, "As HASHEM lives, [I swear] that whatever my God says to me, that shall I speak!"

Royal disobedience and defeat

14 *He came to the king and the king said to him, "Micah, shall we go to war for Ramoth-Gilead or shall I refrain?" He said, "Go up and triumph, and they will be delivered into your hand." 15 The king then said to him, "I adjure you many times over that you speak to me nothing but the truth in the Name of HASHEM!" 16 *[Micaiah] then said, "I have seen all of Israel scattering to the mountains, like sheep that have no shepherd; and HASHEM saying, 'These have no master; let each man go to his house in peace!'" 17 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you that he never prophesies good for me, but only bad?" 18 [Micaiah] said [further], "Therefore listen to the word of HASHEM! I have seen HASHEM sitting upon His throne, with all the host of Heaven standing on His right and His left. 19 And HASHEM said, 'Who will lure Ahab king of Israel to go up [to war] that he may fall in Ramoth-gilead?' This one said, 'Like this' and this one said 'Like this.' 20 Then the spirit came forward and stood before HASHEM and said, 'I shall lure him!' And HASHEM said, 'How?' 21 [The spirit] replied, 'I will go out and be a spirit of falsehood in the mouths of all his prophets.' And [HASHEM] said, 'You will lure him and you will succeed! Go forth and do so!' 22 And now, behold! HASHEM has put a spirit of falsehood in the mouths of these prophets of yours, for HASHEM has decreed evil upon you." 23 Zedekiah son of Chenaanah then approached and struck Micaiah on the cheek, and said, "In what way did the spirit of HASHEM pass from me to speak to you?" 24 *Micaiah said, "Behold, you will see for yourself on that day, when you go inside a room within a room to be hidden!" 25 The king of Israel then said, "Take Micaiah and turn him over to Amon, the minister of the city, and to Joash, the king's son, 26 and say, 'Thus said the king: Put this one in the prison and feed him a minimum of food and a minimum of water, until I return in peace!' " 27 *Micaiah said, "If you indeed return in peace, then HASHEM did not speak through me!" And he said [further], "Hear this, all the peoples!"

Micah's dire vision

Violent reaction to truth

The disguise

28 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah then went up [to wage war] at Ramoth-gilead. 29 *The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "[I] will disguise [myself] when [I] come to the battle, but you wear your royal garments."

18:29. Ahab knew that the Arameans would kill him immediately if they recognized him, and that Jehoshaphat was not in danger.

18:31. See I Kings 18:32-35.

19:4. He stopped pursuing political alliances with the Northern Kingdom.

19:8. This court was empowered to adjudicate cases beyond the capabilities of the lower courts in the other cities (Malbim).

19:10. That is, a case involving murder (Rashi).

19:11. Jehoshaphat appointed executives in charge of religious matters, temporal and political matters, and enforcement.

20:1. These were either foreigners who took up residence in Ammon, or Amelakites who disguised them-

So the king of Israel disguised himself and went out to battle. 30 The king of Aram commanded his chariot commanders, saying, "Do not wage war with anyone Jehoshaphat's escape . . . weak or strong, but only with the king of Israel himself." 31 It happened that when the chariot commanders saw Jehoshaphat, they said, "This is the king of Israel!" and they surrounded him to fight [him]. Jehoshaphat cried out, and HASHEM came to his aid; God induced them away from him. 32 When the chariot commanders
. . . and Ahab's death realized that he was not the king of Israel, they turned away from him.* 33 One man drew his bow aimlessly, yet hit the king of Israel between the joints of his armor. [The king] said to the driver, "Reverse your hand and take me out of the camp, for I am wounded." 34 The war intensified on that day, and the king forced himself to stand up in his chariot in the presence of Aram until the evening. He 19 died at the time of the setting of the sun. 1 But Jehoshaphat king of Judah returned safely to his house in Jerusalem.

Jehu's admonition 2 Jehu son of Hanani the Seer came out to greet him, and he said to King Jehoshaphat, "To aid the wicked? Will you love those who hate HASHEM*?! Because of this, fury from before* HASHEM is upon you! 3 However, good things are found in you, for you have destroyed the asherah-trees from the land and you have set your heart to seek out God."

Justice and peace 4 Jehoshaphat stayed in Jerusalem. He traveled back and forth among the people, from Beer-sheba to Mount Ephraim, and brought them back to* HASHEM*, God of their forefathers.* 5 He stationed judges in the land, in all the fortified cities of Judah, for each city. 6 He said to the judges, "Take care in what you do, for it is not for man's sake that you judge, but for HASHEM*'s, and He is with you in the matter of judgment.* 7 So now, let the fear of HASHEM be upon you; be careful when you act, for with HASHEM*, our God, there is no corruption nor favoritism nor acceptance of bribes."*

Solving quarrels 8 Also in Jerusalem Jehoshaphat stationed some Levites and Kohanim and some of the family heads of Israel to [attend to] HASHEM*'s judgment and to quarrels,* and they returned to Jerusalem.* 9 He commanded them saying, "Thus shall you act — with fear of HASHEM*, with trust and with sincere hearts.* 10 Any quarrel that may come before you from your kinsmen who dwell in your cities, whether it is between blood and blood, or regarding instruction concerning a commandment or decrees and statutes, you shall warn them so that they do not incur guilt before* HASHEM*, which would bring fury upon you and your brethren. So shall you do not to incur guilt!* 11 Behold, Amariah the chief Kohen is over you concerning all matters of HASHEM*,* and Zebadiah son of Ishmael, the ruler of the House of Judah, concerning all matters of the king, and the Levite officers are before you. Be strong and act; and may* HASHEM be with him who does good!"

20 1 It happened after this that the Children of Moab and the Children of Ammon,
God protects Jehoshaphat along with some Ammonites, went out to war against Jehoshaphat.* 2 [People] came and told Jehoshaphat, saying, "A great multitude is coming against you from the other side of the sea, from Aram! Behold, they are already in Hazazon-tamar, which is En-gedi!"*

3 He was afraid, so Jehoshaphat turned his attention to seek HASHEM*, and he proclaimed a fast upon all of Judah.* 4 Judah was gathered to beseech selves as Ammonites (Radak).

20:23. Believing that the ambush had come from the Seirites (Metzudos).

HASHEM; they came even from all the cities of Judah to beseech HASHEM.

The king's prayer

5 Jehoshaphat stood in the assembly of Judah and Jerusalem in the Temple of HASHEM, before the New Courtyard, 6 and he said, "O HASHEM, God of our fathers! Behold, You are God in Heaven, and You rule over all the kingdoms of the nations. In Your hand are power and might, and no one can stand up against You. 7 Surely, You are our God. You drove out the inhabitants of this land from before Your people Israel, and You gave it forever to the descendants of Abraham, who loved You. 8 They settled in it, and in it they built for You a Sanctuary for Your Name, saying, 9 'If misfortune should come upon us — war, judgment, plague or famine — we will stand before this Temple and before You, for Your Name is in this Temple, and we will cry out to You in our affliction, and You will hear us and save us.' 10 Now, behold, the people of Ammon and Moab and Mount Seir — whom you did not allow Israel to invade when they came out of Egypt;* rather they turned away from them and did not destroy them. 11 But behold they are repaying us — by coming to expel us from Your heritage that You have bequeathed to us! 12 Our God, will You not perform justice against them? For we have no strength before this great multitude that is invading us. We do not know what we should do; rather, our eyes are upon You!" 13 All of Judah were standing before HASHEM, including their little children, their wives and their sons.

Prophecy and salvation

14 The spirit of HASHEM then came upon Jahaziel son of Zechariah son of Jeiel son of Mattaniah the Levite, of the descendants of Asaph, in the midst of the congregation. 15 He said, "Pay attention, all of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and King Jehoshaphat! Thus said HASHEM concerning you: Do not fear and do not be intimidated before this great multitude, for the battle is not yours, but God's! 16 Tomorrow, go down against them; behold, they are advancing by the Ziz Ascent, and you will find them at the end of the ravine, facing the Wilderness of Jeruel. 17 It is not for you to do battle in this matter! Be erect, stand still and see the salvation of HASHEM for you, O Judah and Jerusalem! Do not fear and do not be broken! Tomorrow go out before them, and HASHEM will be with you!"

The nation's faith

18 Jehoshaphat bowed down with his face to the ground, and all [of] Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell down before HASHEM to prostrate themselves to HASHEM. 19 The Levites, of the children of the Kohathites and of the children of the Korahites, rose up to praise HASHEM, God of Israel, with an exceedingly loud voice.

The king exhorts his troops

20 [The people] arose early in the morning, and they went out to the Wilderness of Tekoa. As they were leaving, Jehoshaphat stood up and said, "Hear me, O Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem! Have faith in HASHEM your God, and show yourselves loyal; have faith in His prophets and be successful!" 21 He conferred with the people, and he set up men to sing to HASHEM and men to laud [His] majestic holiness; as they went out before the front-line troops, they said, "Give thanks to HASHEM, for His mercy endures forever!" 22 As soon as they began their exuberant song and praise, HASHEM set up ambushers against the Children of Ammon, Moab and Mount Seir who were attacking Judah, and they were struck down. 23 The people of Ammon and Moab then rose up against the inhabitants of Mount Seir* to destroy and annihilate them, and when they finished with the inhabitants of Seir they assisted in destroying one another. 24 When Judah reached the lookout over the wilderness, they turned to look at the multitude and saw that they were all corpses, fallen upon the ground, with no survivors. 25 Jehoshaphat and his people then went to plunder their spoils, and they found an abundance among them, riches and corpses with luxurious items — and they removed [it] from them until it could not be carried. They spent three days plundering the spoils, so abundant was it. 26 On the fourth day they gathered at Emek-berachah (Valley of Blessing) — for they blessed HASHEM there; hence they named that place Emek-berachah until this day.

Valley of Blessing

27 All the men of Judah and Jerusalem, with Jehoshaphat at their head, turned back, to return to Jerusalem in joy, for HASHEM had given them joy from [the downfall of] their enemy. 28 They came to Jerusalem with lyres and harps and trumpets, to the Temple of HASHEM.

29 A dread of God came upon all the kingdoms of the lands when they heard that HASHEM was doing battle with the enemies of Israel. 30 Jehoshaphat's reign was thus tranquil, for his God granted him respite from all around.

Jehoshaphat's successful reign

31 So Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah daughter of Shilhi. 32 He followed the way of his father Asa and did not deviate from it, doing what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM. 33 However, the high places did not cease; the people still did not dedicate their hearts to the God of their forefathers. 34 The rest of the earlier and the latter events of Jehoshaphat — behold they are recorded in the Words of Jehu son of Hanani, which was appended to the Book of the Kings of Israel.

Improper alliance

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

35 Afterwards Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, allied himself with Ahaziah, king of Israel, who had acted wickedly. 36 He joined forces with him to make a fleet to go to Tarshish, and they built ships in Ezion-geber. 37 Eliezer son of Dodavah of Mareshah prophesied about Jehoshaphat, saying, "Because you have allied yourself with Ahaziah, HASHEM has wrecked your undertakings!" The ships broke down and did not succeed in going to Tarshish.

KING JEHORAM 21:1-20

1 Jehoshaphat lay with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers in the City of David; his son Jehoram reigned in his place.

2 He had brothers, the sons of Jehoshaphat — Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Azariahu, Michael and Shephatiah. All these were the sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel. 3 Their father gave them many gifts of silver and gold and luxurious things, along with fortified cities in Judah, but he gave the kingship to Jehoram, for he was the firstborn. 4 Jehoram rose up over the kingdom of his father, and he strengthened himself in it. He killed all of his brothers by the sword, as well as some of the officers of Israel.

Jehoram sins

5 Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he reigned, and he reigned for eight years in Jerusalem. 6 He went in the way of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab had done, for Ahab's daughter had become his wife; he did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM. 7 But HASHEM did not wish to destroy the house of David, because of the covenant He had sealed with David; in accordance with what He had said — that He would give dominion to him and to his descendants all the days.

Edom's rebellion

8 *In his days Edom rebelled against the rule of Judah, and they appointed a king over themselves. 9 So Jehoram went with his officers and with all his chariots; he arose in the night and smote Edom which had surrounded him, and the chariot captains. 10 But Edom rebelled against [being] under the hand of Judah to this day. Then Libnah rebelled against his rule at that time, for he had forsaken HASHEM, the God of his fathers. 11 Furthermore, he erected high places

21:20. For his life was full of suffering.

22:1. See 21:16-17.

22:2. Athaliah was a granddaughter of Omri (see 21:6); it is common in Scripture for grandchildren to be referred to as children. According to II Kings 8:26, Ahaziah reigned at the age of twenty-two, not forty-two. The Sages (Seder Olam Rabbah Ch. 17) explain that it was now forty-two years since Jehoshaphat, the future king of Judah, had married Omri's daughter. Thus our verse alludes to the decree that Omri's line would be annihilated. Now, because of Judah's sinfulness, that decree would be applied to the Davidic line, which was descended from Omri's daughter.

22:6. Ahaziah was also known by this name.

in the mountains of Judah. He caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to go astray, and he induced Judah to sin. 12 A letter came to him from Elijah the prophet, Elijah's ominous letter saying, "Thus said HASHEM, the God of your forefather David: Because you did not follow the ways of your father Jehoshaphat and the ways of Asa, king of Judah, 13 but you followed the way of the kings of Israel, and you caused Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to go astray as the house of Ahab caused [people] to go astray, and you even murdered your brothers, your father's household, who were superior to you — 14 behold, HASHEM is inflicting a great plague upon your people, and upon your sons and your wives and all your wealth. 15 You will suffer many diseases in an intestinal illness, until your innards come out because of the illness, year after year."

Disaster strikes Judah
16 HASHEM aroused against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistines and the Arabs who were near the Ethiopians. 17 They attacked Judah and they breached its defenses; they seized all the wealth that was found in the king's palace, as well as his children and wives. There was no son left to him except Jehoahaz, the youngest of his sons. 18 After all this HASHEM struck him in his intestines with an incurable disease. 19 It plagued him for an entire year, and at the time when the deadline arrived, after two years, his intestines came out because of his disease, and he died of terrible illnesses. His people did not make a pyre for him like the pyre of his forefathers.

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)
20 He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he ruled for eight years in Jerusalem. He departed without enjoyment, * and they buried him in the City of David, but not in the graves of the kings.

KING AHAZIAH 22:1-12

1 The inhabitants of Jerusalem proclaimed Ahaziah, his youngest son, king in his place, for all the older ones were killed by the troops that came with the Arabs to the camp, * so Ahaziah son of Jehoram reigned as king of Judah.

destruction. 5 Moreover, upon their advice he went to war with Jehoram son of Ahab, king of Israel, to war against Hazael, king of Aram, at Ramoth-gilead, and the Arameans wounded Jehoram. 6 He returned to convalesce in Jezreel because of the wounds that they had inflicted upon him at the Ramah as he battled against Hazael king of Aram. Azariah * son of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to visit Jehoram son of Ahab in Jezreel, for he was ill. 7 It was God's decree for the ruination of Ahaziah that he should come to Jehoram, for when he was there he went out with Jehoram towards Jehu son of Nimshi, * whom HASHEM had anointed to eliminate the house of Ahab. 8 It happened when Jehu executed judgment against the house of Ahab, that he found the officers of Judah and Ahaziah's nephews attending to Ahaziah, and he killed them. 9 He looked for Ahaziah, and [his men] apprehended him while he was hiding in Samaria. They brought him to Jehu and they put him to death and buried him, * for they said, "He is the [grand]son of Jehoshaphat, who sought out HASHEM with all his heart."

22:7. For Jehu's story, see II Kings Ch. 9.

22:8. Contemptuously, Jehu had thrown Jehoram's body into a field (II Kings 9:25), but out of respect for Jehoshaphat, he allowed Ahaziah to be buried.

There was no one in Ahaziah's household who could muster the power to reign.

Athaliah's bloodshed

10 When Athaliah, Ahaziah's mother, saw that her son had died, she arose and exterminated all the offspring of the royal family of Judah. 11 But Jehoshabeath, the king's daughter,* took Joash son of Ahaziah and smuggled him from the midst of the king's sons who were being killed, and put him and his nursemaid in the bedchamber; Jehoshabeath, daughter of King Jehoram and wife of Jehoiada the Kohen — because she was Ahaziah's sister — hid him from Athaliah so she could not put him to death. 12 He remained with them in the Temple of God, hidden for six years, while Athaliah reigned over the land.

23 KING JOASH 23:1-24:27

1 In the seventh year Jehoiada strengthened himself and took the captains of hundreds — Azariah son of Jeroham, Ishmael son of Jehohanan, Azariah son of Obed, Maaseiah son of Adaiah and Elishaphat son of Zichri — into a covenant with him.* 2 They circulated in Judah and gathered the Levites from all the cities of Judah, and the family heads of Israel, and they came to Jerusalem. 3 The entire assembly sealed a covenant in the Temple of God with the king.* [Jehoiada] said to them, "Behold, the son of the king shall reign, as HASHEM spoke about the descendants of David! 4 This is what you are to do: a third of those of you, of the Kohanim and the Levites, who are arriving on the Sabbath* will be gatekeepers of the doorways; 5 a third will be stationed at the king's palace; and a third will be stationed at the Foundation Gate, while all the people will be in the Courtyards of the Temple of HASHEM. 6 No one is to enter the Temple of HASHEM except for the Kohanim and the ministers among the Levites; they may enter for they are holy.

Boy king

All the people are to keep the watch of HASHEM. 7 The Levites shall then encircle the king all around, each man with his weapons in his hand; anyone who enters the Temple shall be put to death. You must remain with the king when he goes out and when he comes in."

Marshaling forces

8 So the Levites and all of Judah did according to all that Jehoiada the Kohen had commanded them; each one took his men, those who were arriving on the Sabbath and those who were leaving on the Sabbath, for Jehoiada the Kohen had not dismissed the [outgoing] shifts. 9 Jehoiada the Kohen gave to the captains of hundreds the spears and the shields and the shields of King David,* which were in the Temple of God. 10 He stationed all the people, each man with his weapon placed the crown and the Divine testimony* upon him; they declared him king and anointed him, and they said, "Long live the king!"

12 Athaliah heard the sound of the people who were rushing and who were shouting praises to the king, and she came to the people in the Temple of HASHEM.

Athaliah is arrested . . .

13 She looked, and there was the king standing at his position,* at the entryway, with the officers and the trumpets next to the king, and all the people of the land rejoicing and blowing trumpets, and the singers with their musical instruments giving instructions to sing praises. Athaliah tore her garments and shouted, "A Rebellion! A Rebellion!" 14 Jehoiada the Kohen took aside the captains of hundreds, the officers of the force, and said to them, "Take her away, but keep her within the ranks [of the guards], and anyone who comes after her shall be slain by the sword!" For the Kohen said, "Do not put her to death in the Temple

23:18. The Temple service had apparently fallen into disarray under Athaliah and had to be reinstated (Rashi).

24:6. See Exodus 30:12-16, where Moses commanded all the Israelites to donate a half-shekel.

24:7. Apparently she had sons from a previous marriage, because she had already murdered all the descendants of of HASHEM." 15 They made place for her and she came to the entrance of the Horses' Gate, to the palace of the king, and they put her to death there.

Jehoiadah's covenant

16 Jehoiada then sealed a covenant between himself, between all the people and the king, to be the people of HASHEM. 17 All the people came to the temple of Baal and tore it down, they smashed its altars and images, and Mattan, priest of the Baal, they slew in front of the altars. 18 Jehoiada the Kohen established administrators over the Temple of HASHEM by the Kohanim and the Levites, whom David had divided into divisions for the Temple of HASHEM, to offer up the burnt-offerings of HASHEM — as is written in the Torah of Moses — through joy and through songs, [made] by the hands of David.* 19 He stationed the gatekeepers at the gates of the Temple of HASHEM, so that no impure person might enter for any purpose. 20 He took the captains of hundreds, the nobles and the rulers of the people, and all the people of the land, and he escorted the king down from the Temple of HASHEM; they proceeded by way of the Upper Gate to the royal palace, and sat the king upon the royal throne.

21 The entire people of the land rejoiced and the city was tranquil, for Athaliah had been put to death by the sword.

24 1 Joash was seven years old when he became king, and he reigned for forty years in Jerusalem; his mother's name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba. 2 Joash did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM all the days of Jehoiada the Kohen.

3 Jehoiada married two wives and fathered sons and daughters.

Joash renovates the Temple

4 It happened after this that it entered Joash's heart to renovate the Temple of HASHEM. 5 He gathered the Kohanim and the Levites and said to them, "Go out to the cities of Judah and collect money from all of Israel every year, to strengthen the Temple of your God. Now, you hurry in this matter." But the Levites did not hurry. 6 *So the king summoned Jehoiada, the chief, and said to him, "Why have you not demanded of the Levites to bring from Judea and Jerusalem the levy ordained by Moses, servant of God, upon the congregation of Israel for the Tent of the Testimony?" 7 (For Athaliah the evildoer [and] her sons had made breaches in the Temple of God. They also used all the consecrated objects of the Temple of HASHEM for the Baal idols.)*

The collection chest

8 The king issued an order, and they made a single chest and placed it at the gate of the Temple of HASHEM, on the outside. 9 They made an announcement throughout Judah and Jerusalem that people should bring to HASHEM the levy ordained by Moses, the servant of God, upon Israel in the Wilderness. 10 All the officers and all the people were glad; they brought [money] and dropped it into the chest until it was full. 11 It happened that whenever they would bring the chest to the administration of the king, in the charge of the Levites, when they saw that there was much money, the king's scribe and an official of the chief Kohen would come, empty out the chest, lift it up and return it to its place. So they did every day, and they collected a large amount of money. 12 The king and Jehoiada gave it to the overseers of the labor for the work on the Temple of HASHEM, who hired with it hewers and craftsmen to renovate the Temple of HASHEM, and also to craftsmen of iron and copper, to strengthen the Temple of HASHEM. 13 The workmen acted and the work flourished in their hands. They restored the Temple of God to its proper status, and they strengthened it. 14 When they finished, they brought 24:17. By ingratiating themselves to the king, the leaders influenced him to follow their advice and accept the idols of the neighboring peoples (Radak).

24:23. A year after Zechariah's murder.

24:25. The plural "sons" implies that after the murder of Zechariah, Joash ordered that Jehoiada's other sons be killed.

25:4. Deuteronomy 24:16.

25:5. To wage war against Edom.

the remaining money before the king and Jehoiada, who made it into utensils for the Temple of HASHEM — ministering vessels, mortars, pans, and golden and silver instruments. They continually offered burnt-offerings in the Temple of HASHEM all the days of Jehoiada.

15 Jehoiada grew old, sated with years, and he died. He was a hundred and thirty years old when he died. 16 They buried him in the City of David with the kings, for he had been benevolent towards Israel and towards God and His Temple.

Desertion of God

17 *After Jehoiada died, the leaders of Judah came and prostrated themselves to the king; from then on the king listened to them. 18 They forsook the Temple of HASHEM, the God of their fathers, and worshiped the asherah-trees and the idols; there was [Divine] fury against Judah and Jerusalem for this transgression of theirs. 19 He sent prophets among them to bring them back to HASHEM and they admonished them, but they did not listen.

Zechariah, Kohen and prophet, assassinated

20 A spirit of God came over Zechariah son of Jehoiada the Kohen. He stood above the people and said to them, "Thus said God: Why are you transgressing the commandments of HASHEM? You will not succeed, for you have forsaken HASHEM, so He has forsaken you!" 21 But they conspired against him and stoned him with rocks, by the command of the king, in the Courtyard of the Temple of HASHEM. 22 Thus King Joash did not remember the kindness that [Zechariah's] father Jehoiada had done for him, and he killed his son. As he was dying he said, "May God see this and demand redress!"

Aram invades

23 It happened at the turn of the year that the army of Aram attacked [Joash]. They invaded Judah and Jerusalem and destroyed all the officers of the people from among the people, and they sent all their spoils to the king of Damascus.* 24 For with a small force of men had the army of Aram come, but HASHEM delivered a great deal of wealth into their hands, for [Israel] had forsaken HASHEM, God of their fathers. They also executed judgment against Joash. 25 When they went away from him — for they left him with many wounds — his servants rebelled against him because of the blood of the sons of Jehoiada the Kohen, and they killed him on his bed and he died. They buried him in the City of David, although they did not bury him in the tombs of the kings.*

Joash assassinated

26 These are the men who rebelled against him: Zabad, son of Shimeath the Ammonite, and Jehozabad son of Shimrith the Moabite. 27 [The story of] his sons, the multitude of prophecies against him, and the establishment of the Temple of God — behold they are recorded in the Narration of the Book of Kings. His son Amaziah reigned in his place.

KING AMAZIAH 25:1-28

1 At twenty-five years of age Amaziah became king, and he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. 2 He did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM, but not with a perfect heart. 3 It happened that when the kingship became firmly established with him, he killed his servants who had assassinated his father, the king, 4 *but he did not put their sons to death, as it is written in the Torah — in the Book of Moses — which HASHEM had commanded, saying, "Fathers shall not be put to death because of sons, and sons shall not be put to death because of fathers; rather a man should be put to death for his own sin."

Amaziah avenges his father's death

5 Amaziah gathered Judah together and he organized them according to their paternal families, under officers of thousands and officers of hundreds, for all of Judah and Benjamin. He counted them from the age of twenty years and up,*

25:7. Since the Northern Kingdom had been established by Jeroboam of Ephraim, it is often called "Ephraim."

25:12. It may be that this barbaric mass execution was intended to convey to Edom in the manner they could best understand that they must become subservient to Judah. However, the Sages teach that God was enraged by this impermissible savagery, and said, "What are these people doing here? Let them go into exile!" Thus, although the exile of Judah was still two hundred years in the future, Amaziah's act set it in motion (see ArtScroll edition of the Book of Chronicles).

25:14-15. It may be that Amaziah did not suddenly come to believe in the divinity of idols. Nor did the prophet castigate him for wickedness, only for foolishness (v. 15); and found them to be three hundred thousand chosen men, ready to go out to war, bearing spear and shield. 6 He also hired a hundred thousand mighty warriors from Israel for a hundred talents of silver. 7 A man of God came to him saying, "O King, let the army of Israel not go with you, for HASHEM *is not with Israel, all the children of Ephraim. 8 For if you do go, readying yourself and strengthening yourself for war, God will cause you to fall before the enemy, for God has the power to aid or to bring defeat." 9 *Amaziah said to the man of God, "What should I do about the hundred talents that I have given to the Israelite troop?" The man of God replied, "*HASHEM can give you much more than that!"

The prophet's warning

Amaziah obeys and succeeds

10 So Amaziah separated the troop that had come to him from Ephraim, so that they could go to their place. Their wrath burned against Judah and they returned to their place in a rage. 11 Amaziah strengthened himself and led his people, going out to the Valley of Salt, where he struck ten thousand men of the children of Seir. 12 *The children of Judah also captured ten thousand men alive. They brought them to the top of the cliff and threw them off from the top of the cliff, and they all burst open.

13 Meanwhile, the people of the troop whom Amaziah had turned away from going to war with him spread out in the cities of Judah, from Samaria to Beth-horon, and struck down three thousand of them, plundering much booty.

Idolatry

14 *It happened that when Amaziah came back after killing the Edomites, and brought the deities of Edom with him, that he set them up for himself as gods. He would bow down to them and burn incense to them. 15 So God became angry with Amaziah. He sent a prophet to him, who said to him, "Why do you seek the gods of [another] nation, who did not save their people from your hands?!" 16 It happened that when he spoke to him, [Amaziah] said to him, "Did we appoint you as an adviser to the king? Desist, lest they strike you!" So the prophet desisted, but he said, "I know that God has made a plan to destroy you, for you have done this thing, and you have not heeded my counsel!"

Invitation to battle

17 *Amaziah, king of Judah, took counsel and sent messengers to Joash son of Jehoahaz son of Jehu king of Israel saying, "Let us confront one another [in battle]." 18 Joash king of Israel sent [word back] to Amaziah king of Judah saying, "The thornbush in Lebanon [once] sent [word] to the cedar of Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son for a wife'; the wild beast of Lebanon then came by and trampled the thornbush. 19 You think, 'Behold, I have struck Edom!' and your heart became arrogant to seek honor. Now stay at home; why should you provoke evil against yourself and be defeated, you and Judah with you?!'

20 But Amaziah did not listen, for it was [ordained] by God, in order to deliver them into [Israel's] hand, for they had sought out the gods of Edom. 21 So Joash king of Israel went up and they confronted each other — he and Amaziah king of Judah — in Beth-shemesh, which is in Judah. 22 Judah was defeated

Judah defeated

before Israel and they fled, each man to his home. 23 Joash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash son of Jehoahaz, in Beth-shemesh; he then brought him to Jerusalem and he made a breach in* he is even described in 15:3 as having been righteous. Rather, Amaziah may have erred in thinking that the "idols" represented God's intermediaries in ruling the earth, a common mistake of the early idolaters (see ibid.).

25:17. Amaziah wanted to avenge that rampage of the Israelite mercenaries, described above, v. 13.

25:23. Jehoahaz was another name for Ahaziah. In Hebrew both names mean "One who holds fast to God."

25:24. Obed-edom, an influential Levite family (see I Chronicles Ch. 26), was apparently in charge of the Temple treasury at the time. According to Seder Olam, Joash died shortly after returning to Samaria, and Amaziah escaped (Radak). The "hostage children" were children of senior officers who were kept at the palace to the wall of Jerusalem, from the Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate, [a distance of] four hundred cubits. 24 And [he took] all the gold and silver and all the articles that were found in the Temple of God with Obed-edom, and the treasuries of the king's palace, along with the "hostage children" and he returned to Samaria. *

25 Amaziah son of Joash king of Judah lived for fifteen years after the death of Joash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel. 26 The rest of the earlier and later deeds of Amaziah — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. 27 From the time that Amaziah turned away from HASHEM, they organized a revolt against him in Jerusalem, so he fled to Lachish; but they sent after him to Lachish and killed him there. 28 They carried him with horses, and they buried him in Jerusalem, with his forefathers, in the City of Judah.

26 KING UZZIAH 26:1-23 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 All the people of Judah then took Uzziah, who was sixteen years old, and crowned him in place of his father Amaziah. 2 He built up Eloth, after having retrieved it for Judah * after King [Amaziah] lay with his forefathers.

3 Uzziah was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned for fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecoliah of Jerusalem. 4 He did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM, entirely as his father Amaziah had done. 5 He used to seek out God in the days of Zechariah, a man who had understanding in visions of God, and during the years that he sought out HASHEM, God granted him success. 6 He went out and did battle against the Philistines, breaching the wall of Gath, the wall of Jabneh and the wall of Ashdod; and he built cities in Ashdod and among the Philistines. 7 God helped him against the Philistines, against the Arabs who dwelt in Gur-baal, and [against] the Meunim. 8 The Ammonites presented a tribute to Uzziah. His fame went as far as the approach to Egypt, for he became exceedingly powerful.

Victory against Philistines

Uzziah's towers

9 Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem, at the Corner Gate, at the Valley Gate and at the Edge, and he fortified them. 10 He also built towers in the wilderness. He dug many wells, for he had much livestock in the lowlands and in the plains, as well as field workers and vine dressers in the hills and in the Carmel, for he was a lover of agriculture.

Offensive and defensive weaponry

11 Uzziah had an army of warriors, men going out to battle in troops, who were counted according to their number by Jeiel the scribe and Maaseiah the officer, through Hananiah, one of the king's officers. 12 The total number of the heads of families among the mighty warriors was two thousand six hundred. 13 Along with them was an army for battle of three hundred seven thousand five hundred, who would wage war with valiant strength, to help the king against the enemy. 14 Uzziah equipped all the army with shields, spears, helmets, armor, bows and catapults to sling stones. 15 He installed devices in Jerusalem, designed by creative people, to be stationed on the towers and on the corners [of the wall], to shoot arrows and large rocks. His fame spread far and wide, for he had fortified himself extraordinarily, until he was very strong.

Destructive haughtiness

16 But as he became strong, his heart became haughty to the point of destructiveness, and he betrayed HASHEM his God — he entered the Sanctuary of HASHEM to burn incense upon the Incense Altar. 17 Azariah the Kohen went after him, 28:3. An idolatrous practice (Deuteronomy 18:10).

The Kohanim remonstrate along with eighty strong Kohanim of HASHEM. 18 They stood next to King Uzziah and said to him, "It is not for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to HASHEM, but it is for the Kohanim, the descendants of Aaron, who are consecrated, to burn incense. Leave the Temple, for you have been treacherous, and this will not bring you honor from HASHEM, God!" 19 Uzziah became enraged, and he already had a censer in his hand for burning incense. As he was becoming enraged with the

Uzziah's punishment: Leprosy

Kohanim, a leprous growth appeared on his forehead in the presence of the Kohanim in the Temple of HASHEM, near the Incense Altar. 20 Azariah, the chief Kohen, and all the other Kohanim turned to him, and behold he was leprous on his forehead! So they rushed him away from there; he, too, hastened to leave, for HASHEM had afflicted him. 21 King Uzziah was a leper until the day of his death. He dwelt in his leprosy in a place of asylum for he was banished from the Temple of HASHEM. His son Jotham took charge of the royal house and judged the people of the land.*

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

22 Isaiah son of Amoz the Prophet recorded the rest of the earlier and later deeds of Uzziah. 23 Uzziah lay with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers in the burial field of the kings, for they said, "He is a leper." His son Jotham ruled in his place.*

27 KING JOTHAM 27:1-9

1 Jotham was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerushah daughter of Zadok. 2 He did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM, just as his father Uzziah had done, except that he did not enter the Sanctuary of HASHEM. The people were still acting corruptly. 3 He built the Upper Gate of the Temple of HASHEM, and he built up the wall of the Ophel* a great deal. 4 He also built cities in the Judean Hills, and he built castles and towers in the forests.*

Defeat Ammon

5 He waged war with the king of the Children of Ammon and overpowered them. The Children of Ammon gave him a hundred talents of silver, ten thousand kors of wheat and ten thousand of barley that year. This is what the Children of Ammon paid him in the second and third year also.

6 Jotham became strong, for he acted properly before HASHEM his God. 7 The rest of the deeds of Jotham and all his wars and actions — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah. 8 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. 9 Jotham lay with his forefathers and was buried in the City of David. His son Ahaz ruled in his place.

28 KING AHAZ 28:1-27

1 Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not do what is proper in the eyes of HASHEM as David had done. 2 He went in the ways of the kings of Israel; he even made molten idols for Baal. 3 He also burned incense in the Valley of Ben-hinnom and set his sons aflame, like the abominations of the nations whom HASHEM had driven out before the Children of Israel. 4 He also sacrificed and burned incense at the high places and upon the hilltops and under every leafy tree.*

Struck by kings of Aram and Israel

5 HASHEM his God delivered him into the hand of the king of Aram; [the Arameans] struck him and took a large number of captives from him, taking them to Damascus. He was also delivered into the hand of the king of Israel, who delivered a great blow to him. 6 Pekah son of Remaliah killed a hundred twenty thousand people in Judah in one day, all of them mighty men, for they had forsaken* 28:15. In v. 12.

28:15. Anointing one's skin with oil was an important facet of personal grooming in those days.

28:16. He sent a large bribe of gold and silver, which he confiscated from the Temple (II Kings 16:8).

28:21. His bribe was unsuccessful, because Assyria

HASHEM, God of their fathers. [7] Zichri, a warrior from Ephraim, killed Maaseiah, the king's son, Azrikam, the chamberlain of the palace, and Elkanah, the deputy to the king. [8] The Children of Israel also captured two hundred thousand boys and girls. They also plundered much booty from them, and brought the booty to Samaria.

A prophet warns Samaria

[9] There was a prophet of HASHEM there by the name of Oded. He went out before the army that was arriving in Samaria and said to them, "Behold, because of the wrath of HASHEM, God of your fathers, against Judah, He delivered them into your hands, and you killed among them with a rage that reached the very heavens. [10] And now you propose to subjugate the people of Judah and Jerusalem as slaves and maidservants for yourselves — behold, this will only bring guilt upon you to HASHEM, your God. [11] So now, listen to me and return the captives whom you have captured from your brothers, for the burning wrath of HASHEM is upon you!"

Ephraimites obey the prophet

[12] Some men of the heads of the children of Ephraim — Azariah son of Jehohanan, Berechiah son of Meshillemoth, Jehizkiah son of Shallum and Amasa son of Hadlai — stood up over those who had returned from the battle, [13] and they said to them, "Do not bring the captives here, for you are thus proposing to incur guilt from God upon us, to add onto our sins and our guilt, for we have much guilt, and burning wrath is against Israel." [14] Then the fighters released their captives and the spoils before the officers and the entire congregation. [15] The men who had been mentioned by name* then got up and gave assistance to the captives — they dressed all their unclothed people from the spoils. They dressed them, gave them shoes, fed them, gave them to drink, anointed them,* and led all the faint ones on donkeys. They brought them to Jericho, the city of palms, to their kinsmen, and then returned to Samaria.

Ahaz suffers at hands of Edomites, Philistines . . .

[16] At that time King Ahaz sent* to the kings of Assyria to come to his aid. [17] Furthermore, the Edomites came and struck Judah and captured captives, [18] and the Philistines spread out in the cities of the lowland and the south of Judah and captured Beth-shemesh, Aijalon, Gederoth, Soco and its villages, Timnah and its villages, and Gimzo and its villages, and they settled there. [19] For HASHEM had humbled Judah because of Ahaz king of Israel, for he had led Judah to disgrace and betrayed HASHEM.

. . . and Assyria

[20] Tillegath-pilneser, king of Assyria, attacked him and besieged him, but he was not able to overcome him. [21] Although Ahaz had taken a portion from the Temple of HASHEM and from the palaces of the king and the officers, sending it to Assyria, it did not help him.*

Further idolatry

[22] In the midst of his misfortunes he — King Ahaz — added to his betrayal of HASHEM: [23] He sacrificed to the gods of Damascus, who were attacking him, saying, "The gods of the kings of Aram are helping them; I will sacrifice to them so they will help me." But they were a cause of downfall for him and for all of Israel. [24] Ahaz also gathered together the articles of the Temple of God; he cut up the articles of the Temple of God; he shut the doors of the Temple of HASHEM; and he made himself altars at every corner in Jerusalem. [25] In every city in Judah he made high places to burn incense to other gods, angering HASHEM, God of his fathers.

attacked him anyway.

29:8. People who hear about us or see our desolation

26 The rest of his deeds and all of his earlier and later ways — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. 27 Ahaz lay with his fore-(See Appendix A, timeline 4) fathers and they buried him in the city, in Jerusalem, but they did not bring him into the tombs of the kings of Israel.* His son Hezekiah reigned in his place.

KING HEZEKIAH 29:1-32:33

1 Hezekiah was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abijah daughter of Zechariah. 2 He did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM, just as his forefather David had done.

Hezekiah exhorts Kohanim and Levites to cleanse the Temple of idolatry

3 In the first year of his reign, in the first month, he opened up the doors of the Temple of HASHEM* and restored them. 4 He then brought the Kohanim and the Levites and assembled them in the eastern plaza. 5 He said to them, "Hear me, O Levites! Sanctify yourselves now, and sanctify the Temple of HASHEM, God of your fathers, removing all the contamination* from the Sanctuary. 6 For our fathers have been treacherous, doing evil in the eyes of HASHEM, our God, and they have forsaken Him; they turned their faces away from the Tabernacle of HASHEM and turned their backs [to it]. 7 They also shut the doors of the [Sanctuary's] Hall and extinguished the lamps; they did not burn incense, nor did they bring up burnt-offerings to the God of Israel in the Sanctuary. 8 And the rage of HASHEM was upon Judah and Jerusalem, and He caused them to be a horror, a desolation and a cause for whistling,* as you see with your own eyes. 9 Behold, our fathers have fallen by the sword, and our sons, our daughters and our wives are in captivity because of this! 10 Now it is in my heart to seal a covenant to HASHEM, the God of Israel, so that His burning wrath may recede from us. 11 My sons, do not be negligent, for HASHEM has chosen you to stand before Him to serve Him and to be ministers and to burn incense." 12 So the Levites* stood up — Mahath son of Amasai and Joel son of Azariah of the sons of the Kohathites; Kish son of Abdi and Azariah son of Jehallelel of the sons of Merari; Joah son of Zimmah and Eden son of Joah of Gershonites; 13 Shimri and Jeiel of the sons of Elizaphan; Zechariah and Mattaniah of the sons of Asaph; 14 Jehiel and Shimei of the sons of Heman, and Shemaiah and Uzziel of the sons of Jeduthun — 15 and gathered their kinsmen together, and they sanctified themselves. They then went, according to the command of the king, by the word of HASHEM, to purify the Temple of HASHEM. 16 The Kohanim went to the innermost part of the Temple of HASHEM to purify it; they moved out all the impure things that they found in the Sanctuary of HASHEM to the Courtyard of the Temple of HASHEM, where the Levites received them to take them outside to the Kidron Ravine.

The consecration

17 They began to consecrate on the first [day] of the first month, and on the eighth day of the month they entered the Hall of HASHEM's [Temple] and sanctified the Temple of HASHEM for eight days; on the sixteenth day of the first month they finished.

18 They then came to the inner chamber to King Hezekiah and said, "We have purified the entire Temple of HASHEM, the Altar of Burnt-Offerings and all its utensils, and the Table of the Stacks and all its utensils; 19 we have also restored and sanctified all the articles that King Ahaz had caused to be abandoned during his reign, in his treachery, and behold, they are before the Altar of HASHEM."

20 King Hezekiah arose early and gathered all the leaders of the city and ascended to the Temple of HASHEM. 21 They brought seven bulls, seven rams whistle in amazement.

29:12. But not the Kohanim (see v. 34).

29:25. The divisions of Levites into twenty-four family groups was ordained by David, in accordance with the dictates of these two prophets. See I Chronicles Chs. 24-25.

29:26. David designed special musical instruments for the Temple (see I Chronicles 23:5, and above 7:6).

29:31. It was only the people with "generous hearts" who brought burnt-offerings, which, unlike other offerings, are completely burned and not eaten.

29:35. This explains why the Kohanim needed so much help; everything mentioned here had to be brought to the top of the Altar, which only they could do (Ralbag).

29:36. All this was done at the start of Hezekiah's reign, and was possible only because God had assisted them.

30:2. That is, they decided to declare a leap year, so that the previous month would become Adar II of the previous year, and the current month would be Nissan of the new and seven sheep — and seven he-goats for a sin-offering for the kingdom, for the Temple and for Judah. He told the sons of Aaron, the Kohanim, to offer them up on the Altar of HASHEM. 22 So the bulls were slaughtered and the Kohanim collected the blood and threw it onto the Altar; the rams were slaughtered and they threw the blood upon the Altar; and the sheep were slaughtered and they threw the blood upon the Altar. 23 The goats of the sin-offering were then brought forth before the king and the congregation, and they leaned their hands upon them. 24 The Kohanim then slaughtered them and smeared their blood on the Altar, to atone for all of Israel, for the king said, "The burnt-offering and the sin-offering are for all of Israel." 25 *He stationed the Levites in the Temple of HASHEM with cymbals, lyres and harps, according to the designations of David and Gad, the Seer of King [David], and Nathan the Prophet, * for it was from HASHEM that these designations were given, through His prophets.* 26 *The Levites stood with the [musical] instruments of David, * and the Kohanim with the trumpets.* 27 Hezekiah gave the command to offer the burnt-offering upon the Altar, and as the offering of the burnt-offering began, the song to HASHEM began, with the trumpets and with the instruments of David, king of Israel. 28 All the congregation were bowing down, the song was being sung and the trumpets were blowing — all this until the burnt-offering was finished. 29 When it was finished being offered up, the king and all those who were with him knelt down and prostrated themselves. 30 King Hezekiah and the leaders then gave the command to the Levites to sing praises to HASHEM with the words of David and Asaph the Seer, so they sang praises until the point of exultation, and they bowed down and prostrated themselves.

The musicians

Additional offerings

31 *Hezekiah spoke up and said, "Now you have consecrated yourselves to HASHEM; approach and bring [peace-]offerings and thanksgiving-offerings to the Temple of HASHEM." So the congregation brought [peace-]offerings and thanksgiving-offerings, and all those with generous hearts brought burnt-offerings. **
32 The number of burnt-offerings that the congregation brought was: seventy bulls, a hundred rams and two hundred sheep — all these for a burnt-offering to HASHEM. 33 And the [other] sacrifices: Six hundred bulls and three thousand sheep.
34 However, the Kohanim were too few, and they could not flay all the burnt-offerings, so their kinsmen the Levites assisted them until the work was done, until the Kohanim could sanctify themselves, for the Levites had been more upright of heart about sanctifying themselves than the Kohanim were. 35 *Also, there was an abundance of burnt-offerings, along with fats of peace-offerings and libations for offering up. **

The service in the Temple of HASHEM was thus re-established. 36 *Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced that God had enabled the people to prepare, for the matter was undertaken suddenly. **

30 1 Hezekiah then sent word to all of Israel and Judah, and also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh to come to the Temple of HASHEM in Jerusalem to perform the pesach-offering to HASHEM, God of Israel. 2 *For the king and his officers and all the congregation had conferred and decided to perform the pesach-offering in the second month, *
3 for they had not been able to perform it at its [proper] time, for the Kohanim had not yet sanctified themselves in sufficient numbers,

The pesach-offering

30:5. It had been many years since they had fulfilled the Torah's commandment to bring the offering.

30:6. Although the Ten Tribes had not yet been exiled, they were under Assyrian dominion, and their overlords often took groups of people into exile.

30:15. Not believing that Hezekiah could transform the people so completely in such a short time, many Kohanim and Levites had not purified themselves until they saw the immense turnout at the Passover celebration.

30:16. The Levites slaughtered the offerings, since slaughter may be performed by a non-Kohen, and the Kohanim then performed the blood service and the people had not been gathered to Jerusalem by then. 4 The matter was deemed proper by the king and all of the congregation. 5 They established the matter to make an announcement throughout all of Israel, from Beer-sheba to Dan, to come and perform the pesach-offering unto HASHEM, God of Israel, in Jerusalem, because for a long time they had not done in accordance with what was written. *

Letters urging return . . .

6 The runners went throughout all of Israel and Judah with the letters from the hand of the king and his leaders, and by order of the king, saying, "Return to HASHEM, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, and He will return to the remnant of you that still remains from the hands of the kings of Assyria. * 7 Do not be like your fathers and brothers who betrayed HASHEM, the God of their forefathers, so that He made them into a desolation, as you see. 8 Do not stiffen your necks now as your fathers did! Reach out to HASHEM and come to His Sanctuary, which He has sanctified forever, and worship HASHEM, your God, so that His burning wrath may turn away from you! 9 For when you return to HASHEM, your brothers and sons will be regarded with mercy by their captors, and [will be allowed] to return to this land, for HASHEM your God is gracious and merciful, and He will not turn His face away from you if you return to Him!"

. . . are mocked by majority of Ephraim and Manasseh

10 The runners passed from city to city in the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, up to Zebulun, but people laughed at them and mocked them. 11 However, some people from Asher, Manasseh and Zebulun humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem. 12 Also in Judah the hand of God was upon them, instilling them all with a united heart to follow the commandment of the king and the leaders regarding the word of HASHEM.

The Festival of Matzos

13 So a great crowd assembled in Jerusalem to observe the Festival of Matzos in the second month — a very large congregation. 14 They got up and removed the altars that were in Jerusalem; they also removed all the incense altars and threw them into the Kidron Ravine. 15 They slaughtered the pesach-offering on the fourteenth of the second month, and the Kohanim and Levites felt humiliated and sanctified themselves and brought burnt-offerings to the Temple of HASHEM. 16 They stood at their ordained positions, in accordance with the Torah of Moses, the man of God — the Kohanim threw the blood [on the Altar], [taking it] from the hands of the Levites. * 17 For there were many in the congregation who had not sanctified themselves, and the Levites took charge of slaughtering the pesach-offering for anyone who was not pure, to sanctify it to HASHEM. 18 For many of the people — many from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar and Zebulun — had not purified themselves, and they ate the pesach-offering not in accordance with that which is written; * but Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, "May the benevolent HASHEM grant atonement for 19 whoever sets his heart to seek out God, HASHEM, the God of his forefathers, though without the purity required for the sacred." 20 HASHEM listened to Hezekiah and absolved the people.

21 The Children of Israel who were present in Jerusalem observed the Festival of Matzos for seven days with great joy, with the Levites and the Kohanim singing praises to HASHEM each day, playing their instruments with great fervor before HASHEM. 22 Hezekiah spoke words of encouragement to all the Levites who taught the good knowledge of HASHEM. * They ate the festival [offerings] for seven days, 30:22. He encouraged them to continue instructing the huge congregation in the Torah throughout the holiday period (Ralbag).

30:26. Such a display of unity had not been seen since the Ten Tribes had seceded after Solomon's death (Malbim).

31:4. By being scrupulous in giving tithes to the Kohanim and Levites, the people would enable them to devote themselves completely to their task of studying and disseminating the knowledge of the Torah throughout the population (Metzudos).

31:6. Produce that belonged to the Temple treasury was exempt from tithes, but the people voluntarily made contributions equivalent to the tithes of whatever they had contributed to the Temple (Radak).

31:9. Seeing the immense size of the heaps, he suspected that the Kohanim and Levites were not taking brought peace offerings and confessed to HASHEM, God of their fathers.

An added seven days

*23 The entire congregation conferred and decided to celebrate another seven days, so they made seven days of celebration. 24 For Hezekiah, king of Judah, donated to the congregation a thousand bulls and seven thousand sheep, and the leaders donated to the congregation a thousand bulls and ten thousand sheep, and a great number of Kohanim sanctified themselves. 25 The entire congregation of Judah rejoiced, along with the Kohanim and the Levites, and all the congregation who had come from Israel, and the proselytes who had come from the land of Israel and those who lived in Judah. 26 There was great joy in Jerusalem, for such a thing had not taken place in Jerusalem since the days of Solomon son of David, king of Israel. *****

27 The Kohanim and the Levites got up and blessed the people, and He hearkened to their voice, and their prayers reached His holy abode in Heaven.

Destruction of idolatry

1 When all this was finished all the people of Israel who were present went out to the cities of Judah and smashed the pillars, cut down the asherah-trees and dismantled the high places and the altars from out of all of Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim and Manasseh, until they were completely eradicated. Then all the Children of Israel returned, each man to his property, to their cities.

2 Hezekiah stationed the groupings of the Kohanim and the Levites according to their divisions, each one according to its job, for the Kohanim and the Levites, for the burnt-offerings and peace-offerings, and to minister and to give thanks and praises [and stand guard] at the gates of the camps of HASHEM.

3 A grant from the king, from his own possessions, paid for the burnt-offerings — for the burnt-offerings of the morning and the afternoon and the burnt-offerings of Sabbaths, New Moons and Festivals, as written in the Torah of HASHEM.

The priestly and levitical portions

4 He told the people, the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to give the portions of the Kohanim and the Levites, so that they could strengthen themselves in the Torah of HASHEM.  5 As this observance became widespread, the Children of Israel brought an abundance of the first-portions of grain, oil, date-honey and all the produce of the field; they also brought tithes of everything, in abundance. 6 As for the Children of Israel and Judah who lived in the cities of Judah, they also brought tithes of cattle and sheep, as well as tithes of consecrated things that had been consecrated to HASHEM their God.  Everything was piled into heaps. 7 In the third month they began to lay foundations for the heaps, and in the seventh month they were finished. 8 When Hezekiah and the leaders came and saw the heaps, they blessed HASHEM and His people Israel. 9 Hezekiah questioned the Kohanim and the Levites about the heaps.  10 Azariah, the chief Kohen, of the house of Zadok, said to him, "Since they began to bring the terumah-offering to the Temple of HASHEM, there has been enough to eat and be satisfied and still leave over a great deal, for HASHEM has blessed His people. What is left over is this great amount."

11 Hezekiah then gave the command to prepare chambers in the Temple of HASHEM,  and they were prepared. 12 They brought the terumah-offerings, the tithes and the consecrated items faithfully; the supervisor who was over them was Cononiah the Levite, with his kinsman Shimei second in command. 13 Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, Mahath their shares from them (Rashi).

31:11. To store these enormous quantities of food.

31:16. The distribution of the priestly portions in their cities was in addition to the portions received by those who served in the Temple.

31:18. The families of the Kohanim were also given portions because they could be trusted to treat it with the required degree of sanctity (Metzudos).

and Benaiah were officials under Cononiah and his kinsman Shimei, by the command of King Hezekiah and Azariah, the director of the Temple of God.

14 Kore son of Imnah the Levite, the gatekeeper at the east, was in charge of the donations to God, to distribute the terumah-offerings of HASHEM and the most holy sacrificial portions. 15 With him faithfully were Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah and Shecaniah in the cities of the Kohanim, to distribute to their kinsmen according to their divisions, large and small alike. 16 This was besides those males from the age of three years and up who gave their lineage — all those who came to the Temple of HASHEM for its daily functions, to do their service in their shifts according to their divisions — 17 when the Kohanim gave their lineage according to their fathers' families, as well as the Levites from the age of twenty years and up, in their shifts according to their divisions, 18 as this entire congregation came with their young children, wives, sons and daughters to give their lineage, for they were trustworthy to keep the consecrated items holy.* 19 The men who were mentioned by name* gave portions to the sons of Aaron the Kohanim, to all the males among the Kohanim, as well as to all the Levites who gave their lineage, also in the fields of the open spaces around their cities, in each city — 20 Hezekiah had this done in all of Judah. He did what was good and proper and truthful before HASHEM his God. 21 With all of his deeds that he undertook in the service of the Temple of God, in the Torah and the commandments, to seek out his God, he acted with all his heart, and he succeeded.*

Preparations for war

1 After these events and show of faith, Sennacherib king of Assyria came. He arrived in Judah and encamped against all the fortified cities of Judah, intending to breach them for himself. 2 When Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib had come and was headed for battle against Jerusalem, 3 he conferred with his leaders and warriors and decided to stop up the waters of the springs that were outside the city, and they helped him — 4 a great crowd assembled and stopped all the wells and the brook that flowed in the midst of the land, saying, "Why should the kings of Assyria come and find ample water?" 5 He also strengthened himself and rebuilt all the broken sections of the wall, raising it above the towers. [He erected] another wall outside of it, and he fortified the Millo,* in the City of David. He also prepared much weaponry and shields. 6 He appointed war officers over the people. He gathered them to himself to the plaza at the city gate, and he spoke encouragingly to them, saying, 7 "Be strong and courageous; do not be afraid and do not be dismayed in the face of the king of Assyria and in the face of the entire multitude that is with him, for we have more with us than he has with him. 8 With him is human might, but with us is HASHEM, our God, to help us and to fight our wars!" The people were reassured by the words of Hezekiah, king of Judah.*

Sennacherib's blasphemous threats

9 After this Sennacherib king of Assyria sent his servants to Jerusalem, while he was besieging Lachish and his entire force was with him, saying, 10 "Thus said Sennacherib, king of Assyria: On what do you trust as you sit under siege in Jerusalem? 11 Behold, Hezekiah is enticing you, only to deliver you to death by hunger and thirst, saying, 'HASHEM, our God, will rescue us from the clutches of the king of Assyria!' 12 Is this not the same Hezekiah who removed* 32:18. Instead of Aramaic, the diplomatic language of the time, the officers shouted their taunts in Hebrew, to frighten the common people (see II Kings 18:26-27).

32:24. The events described here happened just before the abortive Assyrian invasion. See II Kings Ch. 20.

32:26. God's rage was postponed until later (see II Kings 20:16-19).

32:30. The Gihon Spring was east of Jerusalem. Hezekiah dug a long tunnel diverting the water westward, [HASHEM's] high places and altars, telling Judah and Jerusalem, 'You must prostrate yourselves before only one Altar and burn offerings upon it'? 13 Do you not know what I and my fathers did to all the peoples of the lands? Were the gods of the nations of the lands at all able to save their countries from my hands? 14 Of all the gods of those nations whom my fathers annihilated, which was able to rescue his people from my hand, that your God should be able to rescue you from my hand? 15 So now, do not let Hezekiah delude you and entice you this way, and do not believe him, for no god of any nation or kingdom can save his people from my hand or the hand of my fathers, and neither will your God save you from my hand!" 16 And his servants continued to speak against HASHEM, God, and against Hezekiah His servant. 17 He also wrote notes blaspheming HASHEM, God of Israel, speaking against Him, saying: "Just as the gods of the nations of the lands did not rescue their people from my hand, so will the God of Hezekiah not save His people from my hand." 18 They called out in a loud voice in the language of the Jews to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall, in order to frighten them and terrify them, so that they would be able to capture the city. 19 They spoke about the God of Jerusalem as about the gods of the peoples of the land, which are the handiwork of man.*

Hezekiah and Isaiah pray and are answered

20 King Hezekiah and the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz prayed about this, and they cried out to Heaven. 21 Then HASHEM sent an angel who destroyed every mighty warrior, captain and officer in the camp of the king of Assyria. [Sennacherib] then returned in shame to his land, and he entered the temple of his god; there some of his own offspring struck him down by the sword.

22 Thus HASHEM saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib king of Assyria and from the hand of everyone, and He guided them all around. 23 Many [people] brought tributes to HASHEM to Jerusalem, and luxurious gifts to Hezekiah. From then on he was exalted in the eyes of all the nations.

Hezekiah's near-fatal illness

*24 In those days Hezekiah became deathly ill. He prayed to HASHEM, and He answered Him and gave him a sign.

*25 But Hezekiah did not reciprocate the benevolence that he was shown, for his heart became haughty. [God's] rage then came against him and against Judah and Jerusalem. 26 But Hezekiah humbled himself from the haughtiness of his heart — he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem — so the rage of HASHEM did not come against them in the days of Hezekiah.

Hezekiah's wealth

27 Hezekiah had very many riches and honor. He made himself treasure houses for silver, gold, precious stones, spices, shields and all sorts of precious objects; 28 silos for produce of grain, wine and oil; and stables for all sorts of various animals, and accommodations for herds. 29 He made himself cities and he had an abundance of flocks of sheep and cattle, for God had granted him very much wealth. 30 He, Hezekiah, stopped up the upper source of the waters of Gihon, diverting them underground westward, to the City of David. Hezekiah was successful in all his endeavors.*

31 So, too, in the matter of the emissaries of the Babylonian officers who were sent to him to inquire of the miracle that had happened in the land, God left him* into the city itself, so that the Assyrians would not have access to it.

32:31. The story of Hezekiah's inappropriate reaction to the emissaries is told in II Kings 20:12-19.

alone, to test him, to know all that was in his heart.

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

32 The rest of the deeds of Hezekiah and his kindnesses — behold, they are recorded in The Visions of the Prophet Isaiah son of Amoz and in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. 33 Hezekiah passed away and was buried in the choicest section of the tombs of the children of David. All of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem paid tribute to him when he died. His son Manasseh reigned in his place.

KING MANASSEH 33:1-20

1 Menasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned for fifty-five years in Jerusalem. 2 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, like the abominations of the nations that HASHEM had driven out before the Children of Israel. 3 He rebuilt the high places that his father Hezekiah had broken down. He erected altars to Baal. He made asherah-trees; and he bowed down to the entire host of the heaven and worshiped them. 4 He built altars in the Temple of HASHEM — about which HASHEM had said, "My Name shall be in Jerusalem forever." 5 He built altars to the entire host of the heaven in the two Courtyards of the Temple of HASHEM. 6 He passed his sons through the fire in the Valley of Ben-(the son of) hinnom, practiced astrology, read omens, did sorcery, performed necromancy and conjured up spirits; he was profuse in doing what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, to anger Him. 7 He placed the graven image that he had made in the Temple of God, concerning which God had said to David and his son Solomon, "In this Temple and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen from among all the tribes of Israel, I shall place My Name forever. 8 And I shall no longer remove Israel's feet from on the land that I have established for your forefathers, provided they are careful to act according to all that I have commanded them — all the Torah, statutes and ordinances — through Moses." 9 But Manasseh led Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem astray to do more evil than the nations that HASHEM had destroyed from before the Children of Israel.

Builder of idolatry

Manasseh leads Judah astray

10 HASHEM spoke to Manasseh and his people, but they did not listen. 11 So HASHEM brought against them the officers of the king of Assyria's army, and they captured Manasseh with hunting hooks, bound him in chains and led him off to Babylonia. 12 But in his distress he beseeched HASHEM, His God, and he humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers. 13 He prayed to Him, and He was entreated by him and heard his supplication, and He returned him to Jerusalem, to his kingship. Then Manasseh realized that HASHEM is God.

God sends Assyria; Manasseh repents

14 After this he built an outer wall for the City of David, to the west of the Gihon Brook, approaching the Fish Gate, and going around to the Ophel, * and he raised it to a great height. He also placed army officers in all the fortified cities of Judah. 15 He removed the strange gods and the image from the Temple of HASHEM and all the altars that he had built on the Mountain of the Temple of HASHEM and in Jerusalem, discarding them outside the city. 16 He rebuilt the Altar of HASHEM and slaughtered peace-offerings and thanksgiving-offerings on it, and he commanded Judah to worship HASHEM, the God of Israel. 17 However, the people still brought offerings at the high places, albeit to HASHEM their God.

Manasseh fortifies Jerusalem, removes idols, and rebuilds God's Altar

18 The rest of the deeds of Manasseh, his prayer to his God and the words of the seers who spoke to him in the name of HASHEM, God of Israel — behold, they are in the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. 19 And his prayer and that [HASHEM] was entreated by him, and all his sins and his treachery, and the places in which he built high places and erected asherah-trees and idols before he was humbled — behold, they are recorded in the words of the seers. 20 Manasseh lay with his forefathers and was buried at his palace. His son Amon reigned in his place.

KING AMON 33:21-25

21 Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned for two years in Jerusalem. 22 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, as his father had done, and he sacrificed to all the idols that his father Manasseh had made, and he worshiped them. 23 He did not humble himself before HASHEM as his father Manasseh had humbled himself, for he, Amon, incurred much guilt. 24 His servants conspired against him and killed him in his palace. 25 The people of the land struck down all the conspirators against King Amon; the people of the land crowned Josiah his son in his place.

34

KING JOSIAH 34:1-35:27

1 Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned for thirty-one years in Jerusalem. 2 He did what was proper in the eyes of HASHEM, following the ways of his forefather David; he did not veer right or left.

Seeker of God; destroyer of idols

3 In his eighth year, when he began to reign, while he was still a youngster, he began to seek out the God of his forefather David. In the twelfth year he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem of the high places and the asherah-trees, the idols and the molten images. 4 They broke down the altars of Baal before him, and he cut down the sun images that were on top of them. He smashed and ground up the asherah-trees, the idols and the molten images and threw them over the graves of the people who had sacrificed to them. 5 He burned the bones of priests upon their altars, and he cleansed Judah and Jerusalem, 6 and the cities of Manasseh and Ephraim and Simeon, up to Naphtali, with their hatchets all around. 7 He smashed the altars, he ground up the asherah-trees and the graven images into dust, and he cut down the sun images in all the Land of Israel, and then returned to Jerusalem.

8 In the eighteenth year of his reign, when he had purified the land and the Temple, he sent Shaphan son of Azaliah, Maaseiah the city officer, and Joah son of Joahaz the secretary to reinforce the Temple of HASHEM, his God.

The Temple is repaired

9 They went to Hilkiah, the Kohen Gadol, and delivered the money that had been brought for the Temple of God — which the Levite gatekeepers had collected from Manasseh and Ephraim and from the rest of the remnant of Israel, and from Judah and Benjamin, and then returned to Jerusalem — 10 they gave it over to the workmen who were in charge in the Temple of HASHEM, and they gave it to those who did the work, who acted in the Temple of HASHEM to repair and reinforce the Temple. * 11 They gave it to the carpenters and the builders, to buy quarried stones and wood for joints and to lay beams for the buildings that the kings of Judah had destroyed. 12 The men did their work with integrity. * The Levites Jahath and Obadiah of the children of Merari and Zechariah and Meshullam of the children of the Kohathites were appointed to oversee them. Of the Levites were all those who were experts in musical instruments, 13 those who were in charge of the porters and the overseers of every kind of work; and some of the Levites were also scribes, officers, and gatekeepers.

14 As they were removing the money that had been brought to the Temple of 34:10. The last extensive repairs had been carried out in the days of Joash (see II Kings Ch. 12), over two centuries earlier.

34:12. The honesty of the workers was such that no financial accounting was necessary.

34:15. So thoroughly had Manasseh and Amon purged the Torah from national life that the people were unfamiliar with its contents. Sixty-seven years had elapsed since the beginning of Manasseh's reign.

The newly-found Torah Scroll

HASHEM, Hilkiah the Kohen found the Book of the Torah of HASHEM by Moses.
15 So Hilkiah spoke up and said to Shaphan the scribe, "I have found a Book of the Torah in the Temple of HASHEM." Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan.*
16 Shaphan the scribe brought the book to the king and also brought back a report to him, saying, "Your servants are fulfilling everything that they have been charged with — 17 they have counted the silver that was found in the Temple of HASHEM, and they have given it to those who are in charge and to the workers."

The Torah is read to the king

18 Shaphan the scribe then told the king, saying, "Hilkiah the Kohen has given me a Scroll." Shaphan then read from it before the king. 19 *It happened that when the king heard the words of the Torah, he rent his garments. 20 The king commanded Hilkiah, Ahikam son of Shaphan, Abdon son of Micah, Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah, the king's servant, saying, 21 "Go and inquire of HASHEM on my behalf and on behalf of the remnant of Israel and Judah concerning the words of this Scroll that was found; for great is the wrath of HASHEM that is poured out against us, because our fathers did not observe the word of HASHEM, to fulfill all that was written in this Scroll."

Huldah the prophetess

22 So Hilkiah and those [sent] by the king went to Huldah the prophetess — the wife of Shallum son of Tokhath son of Hasrah, the keeper of the [royal] garments — who dwelled in Jerusalem, in the study house, and they spoke to her accordingly. 23 She said to them, "Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: Say to the man who

26 And concerning the king of Judah who sent you to inquire of HASHEM, thus should you say to him: 'Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: [Regarding] the words that you have just heard — 27 because your heart is soft and you humbled yourself before God when you heard His words about this place and its inhabitants — you humbled yourself before Me and rent your garments and cried before Me — and

They brought this report back to the king. 29 The king sent out and gathered all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. 30 The king went up to the Temple of HASHEM, [with] all the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem and the Kohanim and the Levites and all the people from great to small, and he read in their ears all the words of the Book of the Covenant that had been found in the Temple of HASHEM.

The king reads the Scroll in public

31 The king then stood at his place and sealed the Covenant before HASHEM, to follow HASHEM and to observe His commandments and His testimonies and His decrees with all his heart and with all his soul, to uphold the words of the Covenant written in this book.

32 He made all those who were present in Jerusalem and Benjamin accept it, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem acted in accordance with the Covenant of 34:19. A sign of deep distress. Verse 21 implies that the selection dealt with the harsh punishments that would come upon the people for not observing the words of the Torah. There is a tradition in the Talmud that the selection was from Deuteronomy Ch. 28 (especially v. 36).

35:3. Apparently Josiah's wicked predecessors had removed the Ark and replaced it with some form of idolatrous image, and Josiah now ordered it returned. After carrying the Ark on their shoulders (see Numbers 7:9), its designated bearers would return to their service as described below. According to the Talmud (and many commentators) our verse refers not to the Temple, but to a secret vault area that Solomon had prepared for hiding away the Ark in case of emergency. Based on Huldah's dire prophecy of 34:24-25, Josiah decided that that time had now come.

35:4. See I Chronicles 28:19.

35:5. Due to the huge numbers of Israelites who will be in the Temple to bring the pesach-offering, all the Levites were to be ready to assist them in addition to the Levites whose turn it was to be there that week (Ralbag).

35:7. For peace-offerings.

35:12. Not until the required parts were placed on the God, the God of their fathers. 33 King Josiah removed all the abominations from all the lands that belonged to the Children of Israel, and he impressed all who were present in Israel to worship HASHEM, their God; all his days they did not veer from following HASHEM, the God of their fathers.

35 1 Josiah made the pesach-offering to HASHEM. They slaughtered the pesach-offering on the fourteenth day of the first month.

Josiah's pesach-offering

2 He set up the Kohanim according to their divisions, and he encouraged them in the service of the Temple of HASHEM. 3 He then said to the Levites, who taught all of Israel, who were consecrated to HASHEM, "Place the Holy Ark in the Temple* that Solomon son of David, the king of Israel, built. Then you will no longer have any carrying on your shoulder; so now serve HASHEM your God and His people Israel. 4 Organize yourselves by your fathers' families, according to your divisions, in accordance with the written instructions of David king of Israel and the written instructions of his son Solomon.* 5 Stand in the Sanctuary according to the groupings of your fathers' families near your kinsmen, the populace, and the Levites' fathers' family division.* 6 Slaughter the pesach-offering; sanctify yourselves and prepare your kinsmen to act in accordance with the word of HASHEM, through Moses."

The king supplies the animals

7 Josiah donated animals of the flock — sheep and goats — to the populace, all of them for pesach-offerings for those who were present, in the amount of thirty thousand, in addition to three thousand [head of] cattle;* all this was from the personal property of the king. 8 His officers also contributed voluntarily to the populace, to the Kohanim and to the Levites. Hilkiah, Zechariah and Jehiel, the managers of the Temple of God, gave two thousand six hundred [sheep] to the Kohanim for pesach-offerings, and three hundred [head of] cattle. 9 Cononiah, together with his brethren Shemaiah and Nethanel, and Hashabiah, Jeiel and Jozabad, officers of the Levites, donated five thousand [sheep] for pesach-[offerings] for the Levites, and five hundred [head of] cattle.

The sacrificial service

10 Thus the service was in order. The Kohanim were stationed at their positions and the Levites in their divisions, in accordance with the king's orders. 11 They slaughtered the pesach-offering, and the Kohanim threw [the blood, which they had taken] from their hands, while the Levites were flaying. 12 They removed the parts that were to be offered up — in order to give [flesh of the pesach-offering] to the family groups of the populace* — to offer them up before HASHEM, as is written in the Book of Moses; and similarly for the cattle. 13 They cooked the pesach-offering over the fire according to the law, and they cooked the [other] sacrificial meat in pots and cauldrons and pans, and distributed it quickly to all the populace. 14 Afterwards they prepared [the pesach-offering] for themselves and for the Kohanim, because the Kohanim — the descendants of Aaron — were busy burning burnt-offerings and fats until nighttime, so now the Levites prepared for themselves and for the Kohanim, the descendants of Aaron.

15 The singers, the descendants of Asaph, stood at their positions — according to the decree of David, Asaph, Heman and Jeduthun the king's seer — with the gate-keepers at every gate; they did not have to leave their own tasks, for their brother Levites had prepared for them. 16 The entire service of HASHEM was thus well organized on that day, to perform the pesach-offering and to bring up burnt-offerings upon the Altar of HASHEM, in accordance with the command of King Josiah.

Altar were the people permitted to eat the meat of their offerings.

35:18. There had not been such a magnitude of participation by the people. One factor was that for centuries the Israelites of the northern tribes had not observed the pesach-offering in Jerusalem.

35:21. Radak suggests that the prophet Jeremiah may have conveyed God's word to Neco.

36:10. The anniversary of Jehoiakim's removal from the 17 So the Children of Israel who were present performed the pesach-offering at that time, and then the Festival of Unleavened Bread for seven days. 18 Such a pesach-offering had not been celebrated since the days of Samuel the Prophet. * None of the kings of Israel performed like the pesach-offering that Josiah did with the Kohanim, the Levites, all of Judah and Israel who were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 19 It was in the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign that this pesach-offering was performed.

Josiah confronts Neco king of Egypt . . .

20 After all this, when Josiah had set up the Temple, Neco king of Egypt went up to wage war at Carchemish on the Euphrates, * and King Josiah went to confront him. 21 [Neco] sent messengers to him saying, "What is there between me and you, O King of Judah? It is not against you [that I advance] but to the site of my war, and God* has told me to hurry. Refrain from [provoking] God Who is with me, so that He does not destroy you!" 22 But Josiah would not turn his attention away from him, but rather he disguised himself to go to war against him; he did not heed the words of Neco from God's mouth, and he came to make war in the Valley of Meggido. 23 The archers shot at King Josiah. The king said to his servants, "Remove me, for I am gravely wounded!" 24 His servants moved him from the chariot and drove him in his second chariot and they brought him to Jerusalem. He died and was buried in the graves of his forefathers. All of Judah and Jerusalem mourned over Josiah. Jeremiah lamented over Josiah. * All the men and women singers mentioned Josiah in their lamentations until this day; they made these [dirges] a firm custom in Israel, and behold, they are inscribed in the lamentations.

. . . and is killed

(See Appendix A, timelines 4-5)

26 The rest of the deeds of Josiah and his kindnesses in accordance with what is written in the Torah of HASHEM, 27 and his earlier and later deeds — behold, they are recorded in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah.

KING JEHOAHAZ 36:1-4

1 The common people then took Jehoahaz son of Josiah and crowned him in place of his father in Jerusalem.

2 Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned for three months in Jerusalem. 3 The king of Egypt deposed him in Jerusalem, and he levied a fine upon the land — a hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold. 4 The king of Egypt then enthroned [Jehoahaz's] brother Eliakim over Judah and Jerusalem, and he changed his name to Jehoiakim. As for his brother Joahaz, Neco took him and brought him to Egypt.

KING JEHOIAKIM 36:4-8

5 Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM his God. 6 Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylonia, [came up and] invaded against him; bound him in chains, to take him away to Babylonia. 7 Nebuchadnezzar also brought some of the vessels of the Temple of HASHEM to Babylonia, placing them in his palace in Babylon.

8 The rest of the deeds of Jehoiakim and all the abominations that he committed and the [charges] that were discovered against him — behold, they are recorded in the Book of Chronicles of the Kings of Israel and Judah. His son Jehoiachin reigned in his place.

KING JEHOIACHIN 36:9-10

9 Jehoiachin was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned for three months and ten days in Jerusalem. He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM. 10 At the turn of the year, * King Nebuchadnezzar sent and had him brought throne (Rashi).

36:21. Most of Jeremiah's fifty-two chapters warned of the impending Destruction and Exile. Leviticus 26:34-35 foretells that in retribution for Israel's failure to observe the Sabbatical years properly, the land would rest because its inhabitants would be banished. The Sages teach that seventy such years were violated, and this exile lasted for seventy years.

to Babylonia, together with the precious articles of the Temple of HASHEM, and he made Zedekiah, his brother, king over Judah and Jerusalem.

KING ZEDEKIAH 36:11-20 (See Appendix A, timelines 4-5)

11 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned for 12 eleven years in Jerusalem. He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM his God, and he did not humble himself before Jeremiah the Prophet, who spoke for 13 HASHEM. He also rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him swear allegiance by God. He stiffened his neck and hardened his heart against repenting to HASHEM, God of Israel. 14 Also, all the officers among the Kohanim and the people were exceedingly treacherous, like all the abominations of the nations, and they contaminated the Temple of HASHEM, which He had sanctified, in Jerusalem. 15 HASHEM, God of their fathers, had addressed them through His messengers, sending them from early morning, for he had pity on His people and on His Abode. 16 But they only insulted the messengers of God and scorned His words and taunted His prophets, until the wrath of HASHEM rose up against His people beyond remedy.

17 So He brought up against them the king of the Chaldeans, who killed their young men by the sword in their Sanctuary. He had no pity on lad or maiden, nor on elderly and aged men — [God] delivered everyone into his hand. 18 All the articles of the Temple of God, large and small, the treasures of the Temple of HASHEM and the treasures of the king and his officers — he brought everything to Babylonia. 19 They burned the Temple of God, broke down the wall of Jerusalem, and burned down all its palaces and destroyed all its precious articles. 20 Those who survived the sword he exiled to Babylonia, where they became slaves to him and his sons, until the kingdom of Persia began to reign. 21 This was in fulfillment of the word of HASHEM spoken by Jeremiah, until the land would be appeased of its Sabbatical years — all the years of its desolation it rested, to the completion of seventy years. *

Seventy years later

22 In the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, upon the expiration of HASHEM's prophecy spoken by Jeremiah, * HASHEM aroused the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and he issued a proclamation throughout his kingdom — and in writing as well — saying:

23 "Thus said Cyrus king of Persia: HASHEM, God of Heaven, has given to me all the kingdoms of the earth, and He has commanded me to build Him a Temple in Jerusalem, which is in Judah. Whoever there is among you of His entire people — may HASHEM his God be with him, and let him go up!"

36:22. Jeremiah 29:10: "Thus said HASHEM: After seventy years for Babylonia have passed I will attend to you and I will fulfill for you My favorable promise, to return you to this place."

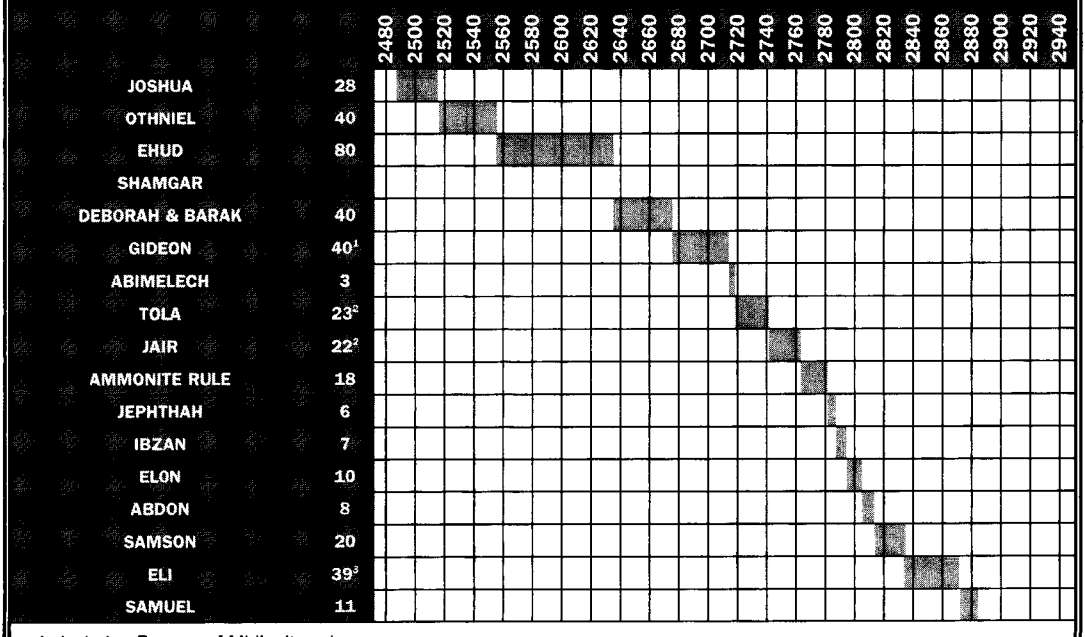
3. THE ERA OF THE JUDGES

[ACCORDING TO THE GAON OF VILNA]



1. Includes 7 years of Midianite rule.
2. There is one year which counts for both Tola and Jair.
3. While the verse (II Samuel 4:18) refers to Eli having led Israel for 40 years, the last year was incomplete and is therefore not counted for the purposes of the chronology.

1. THE SEVENTY NATIONS[1]

1. The eighty descendants of Noah (Song of Songs 6:8) include the 74 named on this chart (including both Nimrod and Pelishtim), as well as: Peleg's son Reu, his son Serug, his son Nahor, his son Terah, his sons Nahor and Haram.

2. Some omit Nimrod from the count of seventy and instead include Pelishtim [Philistines].

3. THE TEN TRIALS OF ABRAHAM

Although the Sages state clearly that Abraham was tested ten times (Avos 5:3), there are several versions of what the tests were. Following are the lists of tests given by Rashi and Rambam in their commentaries to the above Mishnah:

	RASHI	RAMBAM
1	Abraham hid underground for thirteen years from King Nimrod, who wanted to kill him.	Abraham's exile from his family and homeland.
2	Nimrod flung Abraham into a burning furnace.	The hunger in Canaan after God had assured him that he would become a great nation there.
3	Abraham was commanded to leave his family and homeland.	The corruption in Egypt that resulted in the abduction of Sarah.
4	Almost as soon as he arrived in Canaan, he was forced to leave to escape a famine.	The war with the four kings.
5	Sarah was kidnaped by Pharaoh's officials.	His marriage to Hagar after having despaired that Sarah would ever give birth.
6	The kings captured Lot, and Abraham was forced to go to war to rescue him.	The commandment of circumcision.
7	God told Abraham that his offspring would suffer under four monarchies.	Abimelech's abduction of Sarah.
8	At an advanced age, he was commanded to circumcise himself and his son.	Driving away Hagar after she had given brth.
9	He was commanded to drive away Ishmael and Hagar.	The very distasteful command to drive away Ishmael.
10	The binding of Isaac on the altar.	The binding of Isaac on the altar.

4. JACOB'S FAMILY / THE SEVENTY WHO DESCENDED TO EGYPT

The Torah lists only 69 persons. The inclusion of Jochebed, who was born at the entrance to Egypt as the 70th descendant although she is not specifically listed in the Torah, follows the Midrash and Rashi. Others include Jacob himself in the count of 70. There is also a view that the Divine Presence, which accompanied the Israelites into Exile, is included in the count.*

6. LISTING OF ALL THE ANIMAL OFFERINGS

The following chart lists all the circumstances that call for animal offerings, and details what type of animal is used for each, whether it is a male or female (M/F), communal or personal offering (C/P), and obligatory or voluntary (O/V). These are all grouped according to their general classifications, such as chatas, olah, etc.

lamb, כֶּבֶשׂ — from the eighth day[1] after birth until the first birthday kid, שְׂעִיר עִזִּים — from the eighth day[1] after birth until the first birthday[2] calf, עֵגֶל — from the eighth day[1] until the second birthday ram, אַיִל — from the beginning of the fourteenth month until the second birthday bull, פַּר בֶּן בָּקָר — from the first birthday until the third birthday goat, עֵז — from the eighth day[1] after birth until the second birthday cattle, בָּקָר — from the eighth day[1] after birth until the third birthday

7. PROCEDURE FOR ANIMAL OFFERINGS

The category of זְבָחִים, slaughtered offerings, consists of animals slaughtered in the Temple and offered either partially or totally on the Altar. All such offerings share essential common features; the different types are distinguished from one another by certain details of their offering, such as where in the Courtyard the animal may be slaughtered, where and how its blood is applied to the Altar and in how many applications, whether or not it is eaten, by whom, and for how long. The following chart delineates these distinctions.

1. This represents the combined total for both the bull and the he-goat of Yom Kippur. According to one opinion there were 47.
2. There is a question whether this offering was made in the Wilderness (see Menachos 4:3).
3. When the Temple was built, it could be eaten anywhere in Jerusalem.
4. The נְזִיר אֵיל, nazir's ram, is identical to the todah except that its right front leg [זְרוֹעַ] is also given to the Kohen (Numbers 6:19, 20).
5. There is a dispute whether the bechor offering was applied in the Wilderness (Bechoros 4b).
6. Any wall of the Altar which is above the יְסוֹד, base, is valid.
7. In the Wilderness, the pesach was offered only the first year.
8. When the Temple was built, it was burned outside of Jerusalem.

8. PROCEDURE FOR BIRD OFFERINGS

In contrast to the animal offerings, bird offerings are slaughtered by the procedure known as melikah, in which the Kohen punctures the back of the bird's neck with his thumbnail and cuts through to the front. In another departure, the blood is not caught in a vessel but is applied to the Altar directly from the bird's body. The following chart highlights the difference between the bird chatas and the bird olah.

© 1996 MPL, Reproduction prohibited

	חַטָּאת — CHATAS	עוֹלָה — OLAH
CLASSIFICATION	קָדְשֵׁי קָדָשִׁים — MOST-HOLY	קָדְשֵׁי קָדָשִׁים — MOST-HOLY
PLACE OF MELIKAH	FLOOR OF THE COURTYARD NEAR SOUTHWEST CORNER OF ALTAR[1]	TOP OF THE ALTAR: SOUTHEAST OR SOUTHWEST CORNER
TYPE OF MELIKAH	EITHER WINDPIPE OR ESOPHAGUS[2]	BOTH WINDPIPE AND ESOPHAGUS
SITE OF BLOOD APPLICATIONS	LOWER PART OF SOUTHWEST CORNER OF ALTAR	UPPER WALL OF ALTAR
TYPE OF BLOOD APPLICATIONS	הַזָּאָה, SPRINKLING,[3] AND מִצּוּי, DRAINING[4]	מִצּוּי, DRAINING
DISPOSITION OF MEAT	EATEN BY KOHANIM	BURNED ON THE ALTAR
PLACE FOR EATING	COURTYARD	NOT EATEN
TIME FOR EATING	1 DAY AND NIGHT	NOT EATEN

1. However, it is valid even if he slaughters it near another area of the Altar.
2. Cutting both invalidates the bird chatas; by contrast, the bird olah is not valid unless both are cut.
3. The sprinkling is done directly from the neck of the bird, not by finger.
4. This is a procedure in which the neck of the bird is pressed against the Altar wall to drain the blood.

9. MINCHAH OFFERINGS

Minchah-offerings come in many forms, but they all share certain features. All consist primarily of flour, all have at least a part offered on the Altar, while some are burned in their entirety on the Altar. Of those not entirely burned, the part removed from the minchah and burned is known as the kometz; the remainder of the minchah is eaten by Kohanim. Most have added to them a measure of substance called levonah (frankincense) which is also burned on the Altar. Some minchah-offerings are fried or baked before being offered; the resulting loaves are then crumbled [פְּתִיתָה] and the kometz is taken from the pieces. A minchah may be either a communal or personal offering [C/P], voluntary or obligatory.

	TYPE OF MINCHAH	TYPE OF FLOUR	QUANTITY OF FLOUR	QUANTITY OF OIL	LEVONAH	PREPARATION	OFFERING	C/P

1. A person donates as much flour for a voluntary minchah as he wants, but the quantity must always be in multiples of an issaron. A maximum of 60 issaron may be offered in one vessel as a single minchah-offering.
2. This is subject to a dispute of Tannaim: According to the Tanna Kamma, one log is required for each issaron; according to R' Eliezer ben Yaakov, up to 60 issaron receive only one log of oil.
3. The flour, however, was neither fried nor baked.

10. NON-ALTAR BAKED OFFERINGS

Of the regular minchah-offerings delinated in the previous chart, at least a part of them are burned on the Altar. There are also four kinds of baked products which figure in the sacrificial service of which no part is burned on the Altar. These are all joined to some other substance or offering, whose avodah serves for them as well, and permits them for consumption. All of these are made of wheat flour, but only one (לֶחֶם הַפָּנִים) has levonah, though this is kept separately from the breads. All are baked in an oven.

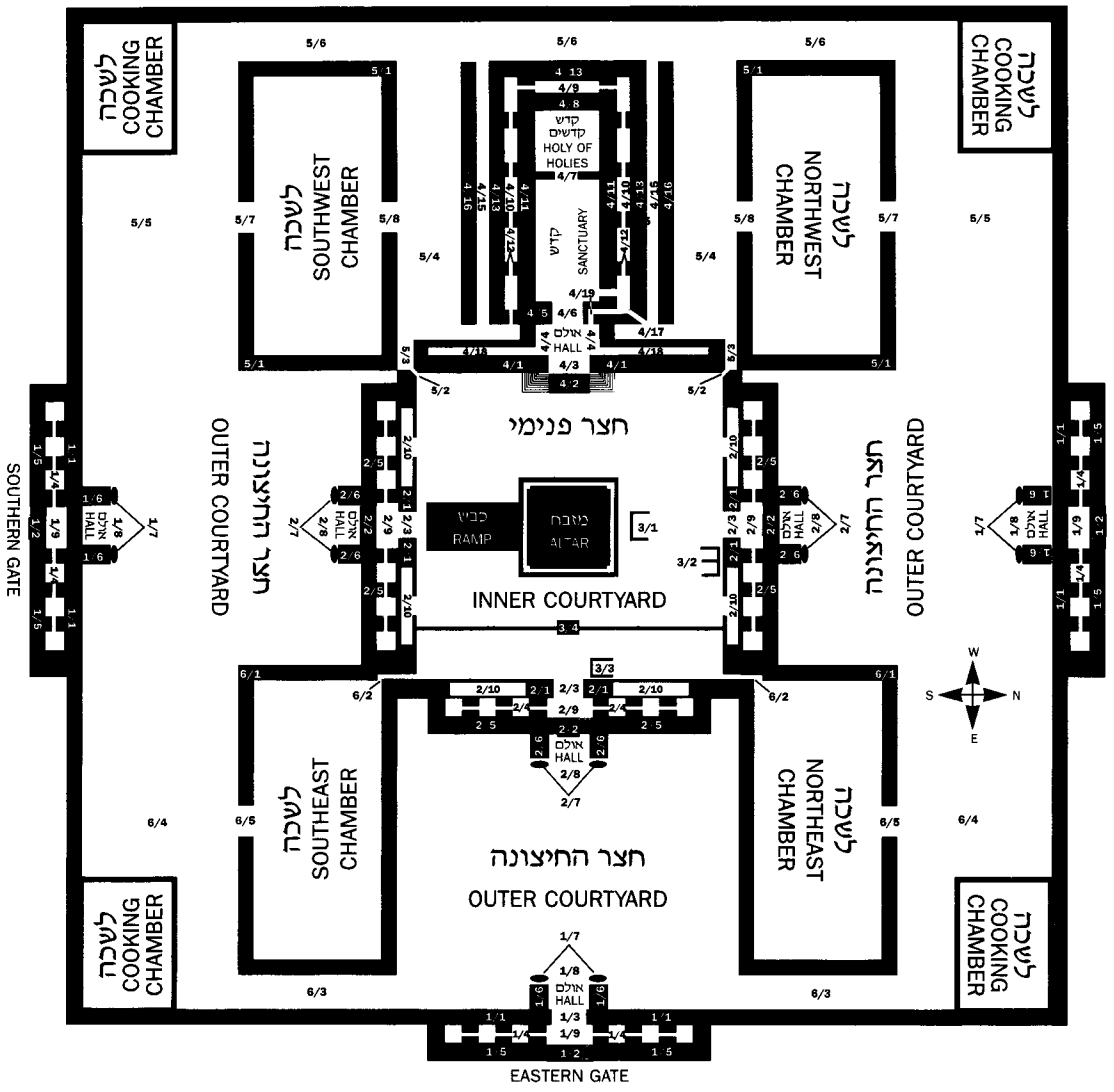
19. THE THIRD TEMPLE

As set forth in Ezekiel Chapters 40-43

© 1996 MPL, Reproduction prohibited



This diagram attempts to present the layout of Ezekiel's Temple as closely as possible to the way Rashi must have understood it.

For a comprehensive analysis of the Temple's design and detailed descriptions of its elements, as well as details regarding the design of this diagram, see ArtScroll Yechezkel/Ezekiel, by Rabbi Moshe Eisemann.

LEGEND FOR THE DIAGRAM OF THE THIRD TEMPLE (facing page)

Numbers after each item refer to chapter and verse where mentioned (e.g. 1/1 is mentioned in chapter 40, verse 5).

1/x Outer Courtyard Gateway Complex

1/1 Wall surrounding the outer courtyard (40:5)
1/2 Steps leading to the outer courtyard (40:6)
1/3 Gateway to the outer courtyard (40:6, 16)
1/4 Cells (40:7,10,12,13)
1/5 Walls between the cells and their outer wall (40:7 and see Metzudos)
1/6 Walls of the hall (40:8-9)
1/7 Pillars (40:9,14,16)
1/8 Inner (hall) gate (40:11,16)
1/9 Vestibule (40:12)

2/x Inner Courtyard Gateway Complex

2/1 Wall surrounding the inner courtyard [Not explicated in text. See Rashi 42:5 and Tzuras HaBayis 22.]
2/2 Steps leading from the outer courtyard to the inner courtyard (40:31)
2/3 Gateway leading to the inner courtyard (40:28)
2/4 Cells (40:29)
2/5 Walls between the cells and the outer wall [implied in 40:29; see above at (1/5)]
2/6 Walls of the hall (40:29,31)
2/7 Pillars (40:29,31)
2/8 Outer hall gate (40:30)
2/9 Vestibule (40:39)
2/10 Chambers built into the walls of the inner courtyard (40:30)

3/x Inner Courtyard

3/1 Chamber for skinning and washing the sacrifices (40:38, 42-43)
3/2 Two chambers for the choristers (40:44)
3/3 Chamber for the Tzadokite Kohanim (40:44,46)
3/4 Platform (42:12)

4/x Temple Structure

4/1 Eastern wall of the Temple structure (40:48)
4/2 Steps leading from the inner courtyard to the Temple structure (40:49)
4/3 Gateway to the entrance hall of the Sanctuary (41:1-2)
4/4 Pillars in the entrance hall (40:49)
4/5 Walls creating gateway from hall to Sanctuary (41:1-2)
4/6 Gateway from the hall into the Sanctuary (41:1-2)
4/7 Walls between Sanctuary and Holy of Holies (41:5)
4/8 Western wall of the Holy of Holies (41:5)
4/9 Cell in the west, behind Holy of Holies (41:5)
4/10 Cells on the northern and southern sides (41:6,7,8,9,11);
4/11 Northern and southern walls of the Temple [The width of these walls is not explicated in the text — although the text assumes the existence of these walls (41:6). Middos 4:7 assigns a width of 6 cubits and that is implied in the measurements given at 41:12 (see comm. there). Perhaps a width of 6 cubits is assumed since these two walls are one with the western wall (4/8) to which 41:5 assigns a width of 6 cubits.]
4/12 Walls between cells [These walls are not explicated in the text.]
4/13 Northern, southern and western walls on the outside of the cells [The northern and southern walls are described in 41:8-9. The western wall is not explicated in the text but Rashi to 41:13 assumes it to have the same dimensions as the northern and southern walls.]
4/14 Access ramp leading upward from east to west [This ramp is not mentioned in the text but its existence is assumed at 41:12. It is mentioned in Middos 4:5.]
4/15 Western drainage ramp leading down from west to east [See 4/14 above.]
4/16 Outer walls of the Temple on northern and southern sides [See 4/14 above. Middos 4:7 assigns a thickness of 5 cubits to this wall. But 41:12 assumes a thickness of 6 cubits. The assumption is that it was 6 cubits at ground level but narrowed to 5 cubits above ground level and is therefore counted as 6 cubits.]
4/17 Open space (41:9,11)
4/18 The knife depository [This is not explicated in the text but assumed at 41:14 (see comm. there). It is mentioned in Middos 4:7.]
4/19 Wicket for entry into cells (4/10) and access ramp (4/14) (41:11)

5/x Western Chambers

5/1 Walls of the northwestern and southwestern chambers (42:1-3)
5/2 Gap in wall (42:4)
5/3 Walkway (42:4)
5/4 Space between chamber and Sanctuary (41:10)
5/5 Space between chamber and northern [or southern] wall of outer courtyard (42:2)
5/6 Space between chamber and western wall of outer courtyard (42:9)
5/7 Gate to the north [or south] (42:2,4)
5/8 Gate to the south [or north] [This gate is not explicated in the text but is assumed by Rashi to 46:19.]

6/x Eastern Chambers

According to Rashi (42:9) these chambers may not have existed.
6/1 Walls of northeastern and southeastern chambers (42:9)
6/2 Gateway into inner courtyard toward the platform (3/4), (42:12)
6/3 Space between chamber and eastern wall of outer courtyard (42:9)
6/4 Space between chamber and northern [or southern] wall of outer courtyard (42:9)
6/5 Gate to the north [or south] (see 5/8 above)

Altar (43:13-17)
Ramp (43:18)
Cooking Chambers (46:22-23)
