27:1. Although the text of the prophecy was to be delivered to King Zedekiah (v. 3), who reigned some eleven years after his brother Jehoiakim, it was told to Jeremiah now so that he could let Jehoiakim know that the king of Egypt, who had placed him upon the throne (II Kings 23:34), would soon lose power, and that Israel should not depend on him (Radak).

27:2. He would wear these yokes until the fourth year of Zedekiah's reign, fifteen years later (see 28:10).

27:3. Rashi cites a tradition of the Sages that Jeremiah was prophesying that Nebuchadnezzar would place these five kings under Zedekiah's authority; and in the fourth year of Zedekiah's reign, this prophecy was fulfilled (see 28:1).

27:10. Their disastrous advice will cause you to be the Children of Ammon, to the king of Tyre and to the king of Sidon, by the hand of the messengers who come to Jerusalem to Zedekiah, king of Judah.* [4] Instruct them [with a message] to their masters, saying: Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Thus shall you say to your masters: [5] 'I made the earth — with the man and the animal that are on the face of the earth — with My great strength and with My outstretched hand, and I gave it to whomever was fitting in My eyes. [6] And now I have delivered all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylonia, My servant; I have even delivered the beast of the field to him to serve him. [7] All the nations will serve him and his son and his son's son, until the time [of reckoning] of his land comes, as well, and many nations and great kings will enslave him. [8] And it shall be that the nation or the kingdom that does not serve him, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia, and that does not put its neck into the yoke of the king of Babylonia, I will attend to that nation with the sword and with famine and with pestilence — the word of HASHEM — until I have annihilated them through [Nebuchadnezzar's] hand. [9] You should not listen to your prophets and to your magicians and to your dreamers and to your wizards and sorcerers, who are telling you, "Do not serve the king of Babylonia." [10] For they are prophesying falsehood to you, in order to distance you far from upon your homeland; for I shall then disperse you and you will be lost.* [11] But any nation that puts its neck into the yoke of the king of Babylonia and serves him — I shall allow them to stay upon their land — the word of HASHEM — and they will work it and live there.' "

Prophecy of Nebuchadnezzar's dominion: to the foreign kings . . .

. . . to the king of Judah . . .

[12] And to Zedekiah, king of Judah, I spoke the same words, saying, "Put your necks into the yoke of the king of Babylonia and serve him and his people, so that you may live. [13] Why should you and your people die by the sword, by famine and by pestilence as HASHEM spoke concerning the nation that will not serve the king of Babylonia? [14] Do not listen to the words of the prophets who tell you, saying, 'Do not serve the king of Babylonia,' for they are prophesying falsely to you. [15] For I did not send them — the word of HASHEM — and they prophesy falsely in My Name, in order that I should disperse you, so that you and your prophets who prophesy to you will be lost."

. . . and to Jeremiah's detractors

[16] And to the priests and to all this people I spoke, saying:

Thus said HASHEM: Do not listen to the words of your prophets who prophesy to you, saying, 'Behold, the articles of the Temple of HASHEM are being returned from Babylonia — now, soon!' for they are prophesying falsehood to you.* [17] Do not listen to them! Serve the king of Babylonia and live; why should this city become destroyed? [18] And if they are [really] prophets and if the word of HASHEM is [really] with them, let them now beseech HASHEM, Master of Legions, that the articles which remain in the Temple of HASHEM and in the palace of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem not be brought to Babylonia. [19] For thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, concerning the pillars and the sea and the stands and the rest of the articles that remain in this city,* [20] that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia did not take when he exiled Jeconiah son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, from Jerusalem to Babylonia, along with all the noblemen of exiled from your land.

27:16. These are the articles that Nebuchadnezzar had looted from the Temple when he exiled Jehoiachin, eleven years before the final Destruction (II Kings 24:13).

27:19. See I Kings 7:27-40.

28:1. The first part of this verse concludes the narrative that began in 27:12 — Jeremiah delivered his message to Zedekiah et al., during Zedakiah's first year as king. The remainder of the verse introduces the narrative that follows it (Kara).

Alternatively: The phrase "in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah" refers to the beginning of his reign over the five foreign kings (see 27:3), which was the fourth year of his reign over Judah (Rashi).

Judah and Jerusalem, [21] thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, the God of Israel, concerning the articles that remain in the Temple of HASHEM and in the palace of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem: [22] They will be brought to Babylonia and they will be there until the day that I attend to them — the word of HASHEM — when I shall bring them up and return them to this place.

28 [1] It happened in that year, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fourth year, in the fifth month, that Hananiah son of Azzur the [false] prophet from Gibeon said to me in the Temple of HASHEM, before the eyes of the priests and all the people, saying,* [2] "Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel, saying: 'I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylonia! [3] In another two years I shall return to this place all the articles of the Temple of HASHEM that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia took from this place and brought them to Babylonia. [4] And I am returning Jeconiah son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah; and all the exile of Judah who have gone to Babylonia I shall return to this place — the word of HASHEM — for I shall break the yoke of the king of Babylonia.' "

The charlatan prophecies

Jeremiah's rebuttal

[5] Jeremiah the prophet then spoke to Hananiah the prophet before the eyes of the priests and before the eyes of all the people standing in the Temple of HASHEM. [6] Jeremiah the prophet said, "Amen, may HASHEM do so! May HASHEM fulfill your words that you prophesied, to return the articles of the Temple of HASHEM and the entire exile from Babylonia to this place! [7] But hear now this statement that I am speaking in your ears and in the ears of all the people: [8] The prophets who were before me and before you, from ancient times, used to prophesy about many lands and about great kingdoms — for war and for evil and for pestilence. [9] *When a prophet speaks of peace, it is [only] when the word of that prophet comes true that it is known that that prophet was indeed sent by HASHEM."

The charlatan acts

[10] Hananiah the prophet took the bar from upon the neck of Jeremiah the prophet and broke it.* [11] Hananiah then said before the eyes of all the people, "Thus said HASHEM: This is how I will break off the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia from the neck of all the nations in another two years!" Jeremiah the prophet then went on his way.

God responds

[12] The word of HASHEM came to Jeremiah after Hananiah the prophet had broken off the bar from the neck of Jeremiah the prophet, saying: [13] "Go and say to Hananiah: Thus said HASHEM: You have broken wooden bars, but you will make metal bars in their place! [14] For thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: I have placed an iron yoke upon the neck of all these nations, to serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia, and they shall serve him; even the beast of the field have I given him."

The charlatan's end

[15] Jeremiah the prophet then said to Hananiah the prophet, "Hear now, Hananiah! HASHEM did not send you, and you have reassured this people with a lie. [16] Therefore, thus said HASHEM: Behold, I am casting you off from the face of the earth. You shall die this year, for you have spoken a falsehood in the name of HASHEM."

[17] Hananiah the prophet died that year, in the seventh month.

28:9. A prophecy of punishment can be rescinded if its subject repents; thus Jeremiah would not be discredited if Hananiah's prediction of goodness were to come true. But prophecies of peace and good fortune are never rescinded, even if the subject subsequently sins; thus Hananiah would be repudiated when his prophecy failed to come true.

28:10. The yoke mentioned in 27:2.

29 [1] These are the words of the letter that Jeremiah the prophet sent from Jerusalem to the rest of the elders of the exile, to the Kohanim, the prophets, and all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had exiled from Jerusalem to Babylonia, [2] after King Jeconiah and the queen mother and the servants, the officers of Judah and Jerusalem, and the artisans and the gatekeepers* left Jerusalem. [3] [He sent the letter] by the hand of Elasah son of Shaphan and Gemariah son of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylonia to Babylonia, saying:

Jeremiah's letter to the exiles in Babylonia

[4] Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel, to all of the exile whom I have exiled from Jerusalem to Babylonia: [5] Build houses and settle; plant gardens and eat their produce. [6] Take wives and beget sons and daughters; take wives for your sons and give your daughters to men, and let them give birth to sons and daughters. Multiply there; do not [let your numbers] diminish. [7] Seek the peace of the city to which I have exiled you and pray for it to HASHEM, for through its peace will you have peace. [8] For thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Do not let your prophets who are in your midst and your magicians delude you; do not listen to your dreamers whom you appoint to dream. [9] For it is falsehood that they prophesy to you in My Name; I did not send them — the word of HASHEM. [10] For thus said HASHEM: After seventy years for Babylonia have been completed I will attend to you and I will fulfill for you My favorable promise, to return you to this place. [11] For I know the thoughts that I am thinking for you — the word of HASHEM; thoughts of peace and not evil, to give you a future and a hope. [12] You will then call out to Me and follow [Me]; you will pray to Me and I will listen to You. [13] You will seek Me and you will find [Me], if you search for Me with all your hearts. [14] I will make Myself available to you — the word of HASHEM — and I will return your captivity and I will gather you in from all the nations and from all the places where I have dispersed you — the word of HASHEM — and I will return you to the place from which I exiled you.

The exile will last seventy years

Do not believe the false prophets of hope
(See Appendix A, timeline 5)

[15] If you will say, 'HASHEM has established prophets for us in Babylonia!'* — [16] rather, thus said HASHEM concerning the king who sits on the throne of David and concerning all the people who dwell in this city, your brethren who did not go with you into exile; [17] thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Behold, I am sending against them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and I shall make them like detestable figs, which are so bad they are inedible. [18] I shall chase after them with the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and I shall make them a horror for all the kingdoms of the earth, for a curse, for desolation, for a whistling, and for a shame among all the nations where I have dispersed them; [19] because they did not listen to My words — the word of HASHEM — which I sent to them with My servants the prophets, arising early and sending [them], but you did not listen — the word of HASHEM. [20] So you must listen [to] the word of HASHEM, the entire exile that I have sent out from Jerusalem to Babylonia.

Charlatans unmasked

[21] Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel, concerning Ahab son of Kolaiah and Zedekiah son of Maaseiah, who prophesy falsely to you in My Name: Behold, I am delivering them into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia, and he will strike them down before your eyes.

29:2. See II Kings 24:14.

29:15. Lest you counter that there are "prophets" in Babylonia who assure us of a hasty deliverance and return to Jerusalem – do not believe them; they are false.

29:32. That is, the return to Jerusalem.

30:3. This is the reason for writing down the prophecies: They are intended for the future (see v. 24), when the ultimate redemption will take place (Radak).

30:5. God is quoting the words of those people who will witness the momentous events of the future.

22 From them, a curse will be derived by all the exile of Judah that is in Babylonia, saying, 'May HASHEM make you like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the king of Babylonia roasted in fire.' 23 Because they committed an abomination in Israel: They committed adultery with the wives of their fellows and they spoke false words in My Name, which I did not command them, and I am the One who knows and bears Witness — the word of HASHEM.

Jeremiah answers his opponents

24 Concerning Shemaiah the Nehelamite speak, saying: 25 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel, saying: Since you sent letters in your name to all the people in Jerusalem and to Zephaniah son of Maaseiah the Kohen and to all the other Kohanim, saying: 26 'HASHEM made you a Kohen in place of Jehoiada the Kohen so that there should be officials in the Temple of HASHEM in charge of every man who is mad and who prophesies, to put them into the prison or into the stocks. 27 Why then have you not condemned Jeremiah of Anathoth, who prophesies to you, 28 on the grounds that he has sent [messages] to us in Babylonia, saying: "It will be a long [exile]; build houses and settle, plant gardens and eat their produce"?' 29 Zephaniah the Kohen read this letter in the ears of Jeremiah the prophet, 30 and the word of HASHEM [came] to Jeremiah, saying: 31 Send a message to the entire exile, saying: Thus said HASHEM concerning Shemiaiah the Nehelamite: Because Shemaiah has prophesied to you although I did not send him, and he reassured you falsely, 32 therefore, thus said HASHEM: Behold, I shall deal with Shemaiah the Nehelamite and with his descendants; he will not have a person [from among his descendants] dwelling in the midst of this people, and they will not see the goodness* that I will be doing for My people — the word of HASHEM — for he spoke perversion about HASHEM.

30 1 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from HASHEM, saying:

A prophecy of Messianic times

2 Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel, saying: "Write down for yourself all these things that I am telling you into a book. 3 For behold, days are coming* — the word of HASHEM — when I will return the captivity of My people Israel and Judah, said HASHEM, and I will return them to the land that I gave their forefathers, and they will possess it."

4 These are the things HASHEM spoke concerning Israel and concerning Judah:

5 For thus said HASHEM: 'A sound of terror have we* heard; of fear, and not peace.' 6 Ask now and see if a male has ever given birth. Why, [then], do I see that every man puts his hand upon his loins like a woman in childbirth, and all faces turn pallid? 7 Woe! For that day will be momentous, there is nothing like it; it will be a time of trouble for Jacob, but he shall be saved from it. 8 It shall be on that day — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — that I will break off the yoke [of the conqueror] from your neck and I will tear your straps, and foreigners will no longer enslave him. 9 They will serve HASHEM their God and David their king, whom I will establish over them.

Re-establishment of David's throne

10 But as for you, do not fear, My servant Jacob, the word of HASHEM, and do not be afraid, Israel; for behold, I am saving you from distant places, and your descendants from the land of their captivity, and Jacob will return and be at peace and tranquil, and none will make [him] afraid. 11 For I am with you — the word of HASHEM — to save you; for I will bring annihilation upon all the nations among whom I have dispersed you, but upon you I will not bring annihilation; I will chastise you with justice, but I will never eliminate you completely.

30:13. You were considered so hopelessly ill that no medications were prescribed; no one believed that you could be saved after so many years of neglect (Rashi).

30:21. Who would dare approach Me unless I Myself draw him near?

30:24. You may not appreciate the import of this prophecy now, but in the end of days, when it is realized, it will become clear to you (see 23:19-10).

31:1-2. The translation follows Radak. When God began to speak of the nation's early days, the people cried out, "You found favor with us in the past, but now You have removed Yourself from our presence!"

Alternatively: This clause is part of the prophecy. The prophet explains that when God speaks of the time when Israel left Egypt, it is to stress that His love for them never abated since it first began, despite the people's sins and His decision to exile them (Kara).

31:4. See Leviticus 19:24.

31:5. That is, prophets.

31:8. God refers to the nation as Ephraim, because ten of the twelve tribes had lived in the Northern Kingdom, which was led originally by Ephraimite kings. The entire nation is called God's firstborn, and Ephraim had the status of Joseph's firstborn (Radak).

When everything looks bleakest . . .

12 For thus said HASHEM*: Your injury is grave, your wound is acute.* 13 No one judges your wound to have a cure; medications or remedy do not exist for you. * 14 All your paramours have forgotten you, they do not inquire after you. For I struck you the blow of an enemy, with a cruel reproof, because of your many sins, your transgressions that were so numerous. 15 How can you cry out over your injury, over your pain that is grave? It is because of your many sins, your transgressions that were so numerous, that I inflicted these upon you! 16 Nevertheless, all who devoured you shall themselves be devoured; all who oppressed you will all go into captivity; who trampled you will be trampled; and all who despoiled you, I shall deliver to become spoils.

. . . God will heal you

17 For I will make a cure for you, and I will heal you from your wounds — the word of HASHEM*; for they called you 'Discarded!' [saying,] 'She is Zion — no one cares about her!'*

18 Thus said HASHEM*: Behold, I am returning the captivity of the tents of Jacob and I will have mercy on his abodes, and the City will be built upon its hill, and the Palace will sit in its proper place.* 19 The sound of thanksgiving and the sound of merrymakers will emanate from them; I will multiply them, and they will not be diminished; and I will make them heavy [of number], and they will not dwindle. 20 His sons will be [beloved] as in the past, and his assembly will be established before Me, and I shall deal with all his oppressors. 21 *His leader will be from his midst and his ruler will emerge from within him. I will bring him close and then he will be able to approach Me; for who then would embolden his heart to approach Me? — the word of HASHEM*.*

Israel unto God; God unto Israel

22 You will be a people unto Me, and I will be a God unto you.

23 Behold, the storm of HASHEM*: A rage shall go forth, a tempest shall seek rest; it will rest upon the head of the wicked.* 24 HASHEM*'s burning wrath will not recede until He has accomplished it, and until He has upheld the plans of his heart. In the end of days you will be able to understand it.* * 25 At that time — the word of HASHEM — I will be a God for all the families of Israel, and they will be a people for Me.

31 1 Thus said HASHEM*: "This people that survived the sword found favor in the wilderness, as I led Israel to its place of tranquility."*

2 [Israel interjects,] "From the distant past HASHEM *appeared to me."

Ingathering of the exiles

[God continues:] And I have loved you with an eternal love, therefore I have extended kindness to you. 3 I shall yet rebuild you and you shall be rebuilt, O Maiden of Israel; you will yet adorn yourself with drums and go forth in the dance of merrymakers. 4 You will yet plant vineyards in the mountains of Samaria; the planters will plant and redeem. * 5 *For there will be a day when watchmen will call out on Mount Ephraim, 'Arise, let us ascend to Zion, to HASHEM our God. 6 For thus said HASHEM*: Sing, O Jacob, with gladness, exult on the peaks of the nations; announce, laud [God], and say, "O* HASHEM*, save Your people, the remnant of Israel!" '* 7 Behold, I will bring them from the land of the North and gather them from the ends of the earth. Among them will be the blind and the lame, the pregnant and the birthing together; a great congregation will return here. 8 With weeping they will come and through supplications I will bring them; I will guide them on streams of water, on a direct path in which they will not stumble; for I have been a father to Israel, and Ephraim is My firstborn. *

31:14-16. The Midrash relates that all the Patriarchs and Matriarchs attempted to appease God when King Menasseh introduced idolatry into the Temple (II Kings 21:4-5). But He rejected all their pleas until Rachel recalled her own magnanimity to her sister Leah. When Leah was fraudulently married to Jacob in place of Rachel, Rachel did not let jealous resentment lead her to protest. Why, then, should God be so zealous in punishing His children for bringing idols into His Temple? God accepted her plea and promised that Israel would be redeemed eventually, in her merit (Rashi).

31:19. God wonders, as it were, why He feels such compassion for wayward Ephraim. Nevertheless, He does love him, and therefore pledges to redeem him.

31:20. As you go into exile, mark your route, for you will come back home.

31:21. God is often portrayed as Israel's "husband." Although the man commonly courts his mate, eventually Israel will repent and seek out God.

31:25. Jeremiah interjects a personal note. Unlike many other visions, in which he was shown prophecies of retribution and exile, this one reassuring vision allowed him to sleep peacefully.

31:28. In the perfect future, children will no longer suffer for the sins of their parents.

9 Hear the word of HASHEM, O nations, relate it in distant islands, and say,
'The One Who scattered Israel, He shall gather him in and guard him as a Redemption of Jacob shepherd [guards] his flock.' 10 For HASHEM will have redeemed Jacob and delivered him from a hand mightier than he. 11 And they will come and sing joyously on the height of Zion; they will stream to HASHEM*'s bounty — upon* grain, upon wine, upon oil, and upon young sheep and cattle; then their soul shall be like a well-watered garden, and they shall not continue to agonize any more. 12 Then the maiden shall rejoice with dance, and young men and old men [will rejoice] together; I shall transform their mourning into joy and I shall comfort them and gladden them from their grief. 13 I shall satisfy the desire of the Kohanim with the fat [of offerings], and My people will be sated with My bounty — the word of HASHEM.

God appeases Rachel

14 Thus said HASHEM: A voice is heard on high, wailing, bitter weeping, Rachel weeps for her children; she refuses to be consoled for her children,* for they are gone. 15 Thus said HASHEM: Restrain your voice from weeping and your eyes from tears; for there is reward for your accomplishment — the word of HASHEM — and they will return from the enemy's land. 16 There is hope for your future — the word of HASHEM — and your children will return to their border.

17 I have indeed heard Ephraim moaning, 'You have chastised me and I have become chastened, like an untrained calf; bring me back [to You] and I shall return, for You are HASHEM, my God. 18 For after my returning, I regretted; and after my being made aware [of my sinfulness], I slapped [my] thigh [in anguish]; I was ashamed and also humiliated, for I bore the disgrace of my youth.' 19 Is Ephraim My favorite son or a delightful child, that whenever I speak of him I remember him more and more? Therefore, My* inner self yearns for him; I will surely take pity on him — the word of HASHEM.

Remember the road home

20 Make road markers for yourself, set up landmarks for yourself; set [the *thoughts of] your heart upon the road, the route that you are walking.
Return, O Maiden of Israel, return to these cities of yours! 21 How long will you slip away, O wayward daughter? For HASHEM has created something *new in the world — that the woman will court the man.

22 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: People will again say this thing in the land of Judah and in its cities, when I return their captivity: 'May HASHEM bless you, O Abode of Righteousness, O Holy Mountain!' 23 Judah will dwell in it and in its cities together — plowmen and those who travel with the herd. 24 For I have quenched the thirsty soul and have replenished every distraught soul.

25 Because of this [vision], when I woke up after I saw it, my sleep was pleasant *to me!

26 Behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when I shall sow the House of Israel and the House of Judah — the seed of man and the seed of animal. 27 And it shall be that just as I was diligent concerning them, to uproot, to smash, to destroy, to annihilate and to bring evil, so will I be diligent concerning them to build and to plant — the word of HASHEM. 28 In those days it will no longer be said, 'The fathers ate sour grapes, but the teeth *of the sons are set on edge.' 29 Rather, every man will die for his own sin, and the man who eats the sour grapes, his own teeth will be set on edge.

32:1-15. The actual prophecy begins in verse 6. But the prophet interrupts his narrative with four verses that describe the circumstances under which Jeremiah received this message of hope from God.
32:5. That is, until Zedekiah dies (Rashi).
32:7. See Leviticus 25:25.

30 Behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when I will seal a new covenant with the House of Israel and with the House of Judah: 31 not like the covenant that I sealed with their forefathers on the day that I took hold of their hand to take them out of the land of Egypt, for they abrogated My covenant, although I became their Master — the word of HASHEM. 32 For this is the covenant that I shall seal with the House of Israel after those days — the word of HASHEM — I will place My Torah within them and I will write it onto their heart; I will be a God for them and they will be a people for Me. 33 They will no longer teach — each man his fellow, each man his brother — saying, 'Know HASHEM*!' For all of them will know Me, from their smallest to their greatest — the word of* HASHEM — when I will forgive their iniquity and will no longer recall their sin.

The Creator's promise

34 Thus said HASHEM*, Who gives the sun as a light by day and the laws of the moon and the stars as a light by night; Who agitates the sea so that its waves roar;* HASHEM*, Master of Legions, is His Name:* 35 If these laws could be removed from before Me — the word of HASHEM — so could the seed of Israel cease from being a people before Me forever. 36 Thus said HASHEM*: If the heavens above could be measured or the foundations of the earth plumbed below, so too would I reject the entire seed of Israel because of everything they did — the word of* HASHEM.

Rebuilt Jerusalem

37 Behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when the City will be built up unto HASHEM*, from the Tower of Hananel until the Corner Gate.* 38 The measuring line will once again be stretched out over Gareb Hill and around to Goah. 39 And all the valley of the corpses and the place of the ashes and all the fields up to the Kidron Valley until the corner of the Horses' Gate to the east will be holy unto HASHEM*; it will not be abandoned nor destroyed again forever.*

Prophecy from prison to Zedekiah

1 The word that came to Jeremiah from HASHEM*, * in the tenth year of Zedekiah, king of Judah, that year was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar:* 2 (At that time the army of the king of Babylonia was besieging Jerusalem, and Jeremiah the prophet was being detained in the Courtyard of Confinement that was at the palace of the king of Judah, 3 where Zedekiah king of Judah had imprisoned him, saying, "Why do you prophesy, saying, 'Thus said HASHEM*: Behold, I am giving this city into the hand of the king of Babylonia, and he will capture it;* 4 and Zedekiah, king of Judah, will not escape the hand of the Chaldeans, for he will certainly be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylonia, and he will speak with him mouth to mouth and see him eye to eye; 5 *and he will lead Zedekiah off to Babylonia, and he will remain there until I attend to him. * — the word of* HASHEM*. Even if you try to fight against the Chaldeans you will not succeed'?")*

The purchased field

6 Jeremiah said: The word of HASHEM came to me, saying: 7 *"Behold, Hanamel, the son of your uncle Shallum, is coming to you to say: 'Buy for yourself my field that is in Anathoth, for upon you is the law of redemption, * to buy it.' "*

8 My cousin Hanamel came to me, according to the word of HASHEM*, to the Courtyard of Confinement, and he said to me, "Please buy for yourself my field that is in Anathoth, that is in the territory of Benjamin, for yours is the law of inheritance and yours is the [law of] redemption; buy [it] for yourself." And I knew that it was the word of* HASHEM. 9 So I bought the field that was in Anathoth from Hanamel, my cousin. I weighed out the money for him: seven shekels and ten silver pieces. [10] I wrote out the deed and sealed [it], and I designated witnesses; I then weighed out the money on a scale. [11] *I took the bill of sale, the one that was sealed [according to] the ordinance and the decrees, and the unsealed [bill], [12] and I gave the bill of sale to Baruch son of Neriah son of Mahseiah before the eyes of Hanamel, [son of] my uncle, and before the eyes of the witnesses who signed the bill of sale and before the eyes of all the Jews who were sitting in the Courtyard of Confinement.

[13] I instructed Baruch before their eyes, saying, [14] "Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: 'Take these documents — this bill of sale, the sealed one and this unsealed document — and place them in an earthenware vessel, so that they will endure for many years.' [15] For thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: 'Houses, fields and vineyards will yet be bought in this land.'"

Jeremiah praises God; yet a question remains

[16] I then prayed to HASHEM, after giving the bill of sale to Baruch son of Neriah, saying: [17] "Alas, my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM! Behold, You made the heavens and the earth with Your great strength and Your outstretched arm, and nothing can be hidden from You; [18] You are the One Who deals kindly with thousands [of generations] and repays the sin of parents into the bosom of their children after them; the great and mighty God, His Name is HASHEM, Master of Legions; [19] great in counsel and mighty in deed, Your eyes are cognizant to all the ways of mankind, to grant each man according to his ways and the consequences of his deeds; [20] it is You Who placed signs and wonders in the land of Egypt [that are remembered] until this day, and among Israel and other people; You made a reputation for Yourself, to this very day; [21] You took Your people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signs and wonders, with a strong hand and an outstretched arm, and with great awe; [22] and You gave them this land that You swore to their forefathers to give them, a land flowing with milk and honey. [23] They came and possessed it, but they did not heed Your voice and did not follow Your teaching; everything that You commanded them to do, they did not do; so You caused all this evil to befall them! [24] Behold, the ramps, they have come to the city to capture it, and the city has been delivered into the hand of the Chaldeans who are attacking it, due to the sword, the famine and the pestilence. * What You declared has happened, and You see it! [25] Yet You said to me, my Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, 'Buy a field for yourself with money and designate witnesses.' Yet the city has been handed over to the Chaldeans!"

God's answer: Israel and Judah strayed after idolatry . . .

[26] Then the word of HASHEM came to Jeremiah, saying: [27] "Behold! I am HASHEM, the God of all flesh; can anything be hidden from Me? [28] Therefore, thus said HASHEM: Behold, I am delivering this city into the hand of the Chaldeans and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylonia, and he will capture it; [29] and the Chaldeans who are attacking this city will come and ignite this city with fire and burn it down, along with the houses upon whose roofs the people used to burn incense to the Baal and pour out libations to the gods of others, in order to anger Me. [30] For the Children of Israel and the Children of Judah have been doing only what is wrong in My eyes since their youth; for the Children of Israel only anger Me with their handiwork — the word of HASHEM. [31] For this city has aroused My anger and My wrath in Me from the day that they built it until this day, 32:11. Two documents were drawn up to attest to the sale: one, the sealed document that transferred ownership; the second, an unsealed document attesting that the sale was legal and uncontested (Metzudos).

32:24. See II Kings 25:3-4.

32:33. I sent My prophets to teach them, but to no avail.
33:2. That is, Jerusalem's Maker.
33:5. Their hopeless resistance is producing nothing but an abundance of corpses.

so that I should remove it from My presence, [32] because of all the evil of the Children of Israel and the Children of Judah that they committed to anger Me — they and their kings and their officers, their priests and their prophets, and the people of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. [33] To Me they turned their back and not their face, and, though I taught them, arising early and teaching, they do not listen to accept rebuke. [34] They placed their detestations into the Temple, upon which My Name is proclaimed, to contaminate it; [35] and they built the high places of the Baal that are in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, at which to pass their sons and their daughters to the Molech — which I never commanded them, nor did I ever contemplate performing this abomination — in order to cause Judah to sin.*

. . . turning their back on God . . .

[36] "And now, nevertheless, thus said HASHEM, God of Israel, concerning this city, which you say is given over into the hand of the king of Babylonia, due to the sword, the famine and the pestilence: [37] Behold, I shall gather them back from all the lands to which I have dispersed them in My anger, in My wrath and in great fury; and I shall return them to this place, and cause them to dwell in security. [38] They will be a people unto Me and I will be a God unto them; [39] and I will give them a single heart and a single path — to fear Me all the days, so that it will be well for them and their children after them. [40] I will seal an everlasting covenant with them: that I shall never depart from them, to bestow goodness upon them; and I will place My fear in their hearts, so that they not turn away from Me. [41] And I will rejoice over them, to bestow goodness upon them; and I will plant them steadfastly in this land, with all My heart and with all My soul.

. . . nevertheless, God will return them . . .

[42] "For thus said HASHEM: Just as I brought upon this people all this great evil, so will I bring upon them all the goodness that I speak of concerning them. [43] And fields will be bought in this land that you say is desolate without man or beast, delivered into the hand of the Chaldeans. [44] They will buy fields with money and write it in a document and seal [it] and designate witnesses — in the land of Benjamin, in the surroundings of Jerusalem, in the cities of Judah, in the cities of the mountain, in the cities of the lowland, and in the cities of the South — for I will return their captivity — the word of HASHEM!"

. . . to their fields and cities

33 [1] The word of HASHEM came to Jeremiah a second time, while he was still being detained in the Courtyard of Confinement, saying: [2] "Thus said HASHEM its Maker, HASHEM is fashioning it to establish it, HASHEM is His Name: [3] Call to Me and I will answer you; and I will tell you great and mighty things that you do not know. [4] For thus said HASHEM, God of Israel, concerning the houses of this city and concerning the palaces of the kings of Judah, which are being shattered by the ramps and by the sword, [5] because they are coming to fight the Chaldeans and to fill [their houses] with human corpses,* whom I have struck down in My anger and in My wrath, for I have concealed My Presence from this city because of all their wickedness: [6] Behold, I am bringing it a remedy and a cure, and I shall heal them, and I shall reveal to them an abundance of peace and truth. [7] I will return the captivity of Judah and the captivity of Israel, and will rebuild them as at first. [8] I will cleanse them of all their sins that they committed against Me, and I will forgive all their iniquities that they committed against Me, and that they transgressed before Me. [9] And this will be for Me for the sake of rejoicing, for praise and for splendor before all the nations of the earth*

Another prophecy from prison:

33:12. Shepherds and flocks are a metaphor for Israel and their leaders.

33:24. By claiming that God has rejected the Davidic and Levitic lines, individuals encourage their fellow Jews not to submit to the leadership of these two families (Radak).

who will hear about all the goodness that I will be doing for them, and who will fear and tremble over all the goodness and all the peace that I will do for it.

. . . gladness will return . . .

10 "Thus said HASHEM: There will again be heard in this place about which you say, 'It is destroyed, without man and without animal,' in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem that are desolate, without man and without inhabitant and without animal, 11 the sound of joy and the sound of gladness, the sound of groom and the sound of bride, the sound of people saying, 'Praise HASHEM, Master of Legions, for HASHEM is good, for His mercy is forever,' bringing thanksgiving offerings to the Temple of HASHEM; for I will return the captivity of the land as at first, said HASHEM.

12 "Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: There will yet again be in this place, which is desolate without man or animal, and in all its cities, a cote for shepherds who rest their flocks; * 13 in the cities of the mountain, in the cities of the lowland, in the cities of the South, in the land of Benjamin, in the surroundings of Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, the sheep will again pass before the hands of the one who counts them, says HASHEM.

. . . the Davidic dynasty will return . . .

14 "Behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when I will fulfill the favorable matter that I spoke concerning the House of Israel and the House of Judah. 15 In those days, at that time, I will cause a sprout of righteousness to sprout forth for David, and he will administer justice and righteousness in the land. 16 In those days Judah will be saved and Jerusalem will dwell in security; and this is what people will call [Jerusalem]: 'HASHEM Is Our Righteous One.' 17 For thus said HASHEM: There shall not be cut off from David a man who sits on the throne of the House of Israel. 18 And for the Kohanim, the Levites, there will never be cut off a man from before Me who offers elevation-offerings and burns meal-offerings and performs feast-offerings all the days."

. . . the Levites and Kohanim will return

19 The word of HASHEM came to Jeremiah, saying:

20 Thus said HASHEM: If you could annul My covenant with the day and My covenant with the night, so that day and night would not come in their proper times, 21 so too could My covenant be annulled with David, My servant, so that he would not have a descendant reigning on his throne, or [My covenant] with the Levites and the Kohanim, My attendants. 22 Just as the hosts of heaven cannot be counted nor the sand of the shore measured, so will I multiply the seed of My servant David and the Levites, My attendants.

23 The word of HASHEM came to Jeremiah, saying: 24 "Surely you have observed what this people have spoken, saying, 'The two families that HASHEM had chosen, He has rejected them,' thereby causing My people to renounce being a nation before them anymore. * 25 Thus said HASHEM: If My covenant with the night and with the day would not be; had I not set up the laws of heaven and earth, 26 so too would I reject the seed of Jacob and My servant David, from selecting from his descendants rulers over the seed of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob; for I will return their captivity, and I will show them mercy."

34:5. Although Zedekiah would be blinded and placed in chains by Nebuchadnezzar (II Kings 24:7), he is said to have died in peace. The Talmud (Moed Kattan 28b) interprets this to mean that Zedekiah outlived Nebuchadnezzar. Rashi cites a tradition that on the day Nebuchadnezzar died, all his prisoners were released. Zedekiah died on the next day and was buried with proper honors, including the burning of the king's bedding and private utensils at his funeral — so that no commoner could ever make use of these objects (Rashi) — and the burning of incense delivering this city into the hand of the king of Babylonia, and he will burn it in fire.

3 You will not escape from his hand, for you will certainly be captured and will be delivered into his hand; your eyes will see the eyes of the king of Babylonia and his mouth will speak to your mouth, and you shall come to Babylonia. 4 But hear the word of HASHEM, Zedekiah king of Judah! Thus said HASHEM concerning you: You will not die by the sword. 5 You will die peacefully, and like the burnings performed for your forefathers, the earlier kings who were before you, so will they burn for you; and they will lament for you, [saying,] 'Woe, master!' For I have spoken this word — the word of* HASHEM."

6 So Jeremiah the prophet spoke all these things to Zedekiah, king of Judah, in Jerusalem, 7 while the army of the king of Babylonia was besieging Jerusalem and all the remaining cities of Judah — Lachish and Azekah — for they remained of the fortified cities among the cities of Judah.

Covenant of emancipation sealed . . .

8 The word that came to Jeremiah from HASHEM, after King Zedekiah sealed a covenant with all the people who were in Jerusalem, to proclaim freedom for them, 9 that every man send forth his bondsman and his bondswoman — a Hebrew man or a Hebrew woman — as freemen, so that no man should enslave his fellow Jew. 10 All the leaders and all the people who entered into the covenant hearkened — that every man should send forth his bondsman and every man his bondswoman as freemen, not to enslave them further — they hearkened and they sent them off. 11 But they reneged after that and brought back the bondsmen and bondswomen whom they had sent forth as freemen and subjugated them as bondsmen and bondswomen.

12 The word of HASHEM then came to Jeremiah from HASHEM, saying:

13 Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: I sealed a covenant with your forefathers on the day I took them out of the land of Egypt, from the house of slaves, saying, 14 'At the outset of the seventh year, each of you shall send forth his Hebrew brother who will have been be sold to you; he shall serve you for six years and then you shall send him forth free from yourself'; but your forefathers did not hearken to Me, nor incline their ear.* 15 Today you repented and did what is just in My eyes, for every man to proclaim freedom for his fellow, and you sealed a covenant before Me in the Temple upon which My Name is proclaimed. 16 But then you reneged and desecrated My Name, and every man brought back his bondsman and every man his bondswoman whom you had sent forth free on their own, and you subjugated them to be bondsmen and bondswomen to you.

Punishment for violating the covenant

17 Therefore, thus said HASHEM: You did not hearken to Me to proclaim freedom, every man for his brother and every man for his fellow; behold, I proclaim you to be free — the word of HASHEM — for the sword, for pestilence and for famine; and I shall make you an object of horror for all the kingdoms of the earth. 18 *I shall deliver the people who violated My covenant, who did not uphold the words of the covenant that they sealed before Me through the calf that they cut in two and passed between its parts, 19 the leaders of Judah and the leaders of Jerusalem, the officers, the Kohanim and all the people of the land, who passed through the parts of 34:14. See Exodus 21:2 and Deuteronomy 15:12, where the Torah prescribes that a Jewish bondsman or bondswoman works for six years and then goes free. Thus, the deadline beyond which servitude may not continue is the start of the seventh year.

34:21. These events took place during the Babylonian retreat; see 37:5.

35:2. The Rechabites, descendants of Jehonadab (see II Kings 10:15), were Kenites (see I Chronicles 2:55), a tribe that converted to Judaism and which was known for its piety and loyalty to the Israelites.

35:7. A nomadic life-style enables one to relocate easily, in case of famine or other local calamity, and thus is conducive to long life.

the calf; [20] I shall deliver them into the hand of their enemies and into the hand of those who seek their soul; their corpses will be food for the bird of the heavens and the beast of the land. [21] And I shall deliver Zedekiah, king of Judah, and his leaders into the hand of their enemies and into the hand of those who seek their soul and into the hand of the army of the king of Babylonia, who have retreated from you. * [22] Behold, I am commanding — the word of HASHEM: I shall return them to this city and they shall make war against it, conquer it, and burn it in fire; and I shall make the cities of Judah desolate, without an inhabitant.

35 *[1] The word that came to Jeremiah from HASHEM, during the days of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, saying: [2] "Go to the house of the Rechabites and speak to them. Bring them to the Temple of HASHEM, to one of the chambers, and give them wine to drink."

[3] So I took Jaazaniah son of Jeremiah son of Habazziniah and his brothers and all his sons, and the entire house of the Rechabites, [4] and brought them to the Temple of HASHEM, to the Chamber of the Sons of Hanan son of Igdaliah the man of God, which is next to the Chamber of the Officers, which is above the Chamber of Maaseiah son of Shallum the Gatekeeper. [5] Before the members of the house of the Rechabites I placed drinking bowls full of wine and cups, and I said to them, "Drink wine!"

The Rechabites' loyalty to their ancestor

[6] But they said, "We do not drink wine, for Jehonadab son of Rechab, our ancestor, commanded us, saying, 'You shall not drink wine, you or your descendants, forever; [7] and a house you shall not build, seed you shall not sow, a vineyard you shall not plant, nor shall there [even] be [any] for you. Rather live in tents all your days, so that you may live many years upon the land in which you sojourn.' * [8] We heeded the voice of Jehonadab son of Rechab, our ancestor, according to all that he commanded us, not to drink wine all our days — we, our wives, our sons and our daughters; [9] and not to build houses as our dwellings; and there will not be for us vineyard or field or seed. [10] Rather, we live in tents, for we hearkened and acted according to everything that Jehonadab our ancestor commanded us. [11] But it happened that when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia attacked the land, we said, 'Come, let us go to Jerusalem because of the army of the Chaldeans and because of the army of Aram,' and we settled in Jerusalem."

[12] The word of HASHEM then came to Jeremiah, saying: [13] "Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, the God of Israel: Go and say to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem:

The lesson to be learned

Will you not learn a lesson, to hearken to My words? — the word of HASHEM. [14] Upheld were the words of Jehonadab son of Rechab, who commanded his children not to drink wine, and they have not drunk wine until this day, for they obey the commandment of their ancestor. Yet I have spoken to you, arising early and speaking, and you have not listened to Me. [15] I sent all My servants the prophets, arising early and sending [them], saying, 'Repent now, each of you from his evil way; improve your deeds! Do not go after the gods of others to worship them, so that you may settle upon the land that I have given to you and your forefathers.' But you did not incline your ear and you did not listen to Me. [16] For the children of Jehonadab son of Rechab have upheld the word of their ancestor that he commanded them, but this people have not listened to Me!

18 And to the house of the Rechabites Jeremiah said, "Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Because you have heeded the commandment of your ancestor Jehonadab, and you have kept all his commandments and have done according to all that he commanded you, 19 therefore, thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: There will not be cut off from Jehonadab son of Rechab's [descendants] a man who stands before Me all of the days."*

Jeremiah writes his prophecies in a scroll

1 It happened during the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, that this word came to Jeremiah from HASHEM, saying: 2 "Take a scroll book and write on it all the words that I have spoken to you concerning Israel, concerning Judah and concerning all the nations, from the day that I [first] spoke to you, from the days of Josiah, until this day. 3 Perhaps the House of Judah will hear of all the evil that I intend to do to them, so that they will repent, each man from his evil way, and then I can forgive their sin and transgression."

4 Jeremiah then summoned Baruch son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of HASHEM that He had spoken to him on a scroll book. 5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, "I am detained; I cannot go to the Temple of HASHEM.* 6 So you go and read from the scroll, on which you have written the words of HASHEM from my mouth, in the ears of the people in the Temple of HASHEM on a fast day; and also in the ears of all of Judah, who come from their cities, shall you read them. 7 Perhaps their supplication will fall before HASHEM and they will repent, each man from his evil way, for great is the anger and wrath that HASHEM spoke concerning this people."

Baruch reads Jeremiah's words in the Temple

8 Baruch son of Neriah did everything just as Jeremiah the prophet had commanded him, to read the words of HASHEM from the book, in the Temple of HASHEM. 9 It happened in the fifth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, in the ninth month, that a fast was declared before HASHEM in Jerusalem, all the people in Jerusalem and all the people coming from the cities of Judah into Jerusalem. 10 And Baruch read the words of Jeremiah from the book in the Temple of HASHEM, in the chamber of Gemariah son of Shaphan the scribe, in the Upper Courtyard, at the opening of the New Gate of the Temple of HASHEM, in the presence of all the people.* 11 Micaiah son of Gemariah son of Shaphan heard all the words of HASHEM being read from the book, 12 and he went down to the king's palace, to the scribe's chamber, and behold, all the officers were sitting there: Elishama the scribe, Delaiah son of Shemaiah, Elnathan son of Achbor, Gemariah son of Shaphan, Zedekiah son of Hananiah, and all the [other] officers. 13 Micaiah told them all the things that he had heard when Baruch was reading the book in the ears of the people.

14 All the officers then sent Jehudi son of Nethaniah son of Shelemiah son of Cushi to Baruch, saying, "The scroll from which you have read in the ears of the people — take it in your hand and go." So Baruch son of Neriah took the scroll in his hand and came to them. 15 They said to him, "Sit now and read it in our ears." So Baruch read it in their ears. 16 It happened when they heard all the words, they expressed fear to one another, and they said to Baruch, "We must tell the king all these things." 17 They asked Baruch, saying, "Tell us now how it is that you wrote down all these things from [Jeremiah's] mouth."

18 Baruch replied to them, "From his own mouth he would dictate all these words to me and I would write on the book with the ink."

19 *The officers then said to Baruch, "Go into hiding, you and Jeremiah, and let no man know where you are."

The king burns the scroll

20 They came to the king's courtyard, and deposited the scroll in the chamber of Elishama the scribe; and they related all its words into the the ears of the king. 21 The king sent Jehudi to get the scroll, and he took it from the chamber of Elishama the scribe; Jehudi then read it in the ears of the king and in the ears of all the officers who were standing before the king. 22 Now the king was sitting in his winter house, for it was the ninth month, * and the fireplace was burning before him. 23 It happened that whenever Jehudi would read three or four columns, [the king] would cut it out with a scribe's razor and throw it into the fire that was in the fireplace, until the entire scroll was burnt up by the fire that was in the fireplace. 24 The king and all his servants who heard all these words did not fear and they did not tear their clothes. 25 Elnathan and Delaiah and Gemariah even begged the king not to burn the scroll, but he did not listen to them. 26 The king commanded Jerahmeel, the king's son, and Seraiah son of Azriel and Shelemiah son of Abdeel to apprehend Baruch the scribe and Jeremiah the prophet, but HASHEM had hidden them.

27 The word of HASHEM came to Jeremiah, after the king had burned the scroll with the words that Baruch had written from the mouth of Jeremiah, saying:

Jeremiah rewrites the scroll

28 "Once again, take another scroll and write down on it all the original words that were on the first scroll that Jehoiakim king of Judah burned. 29 And to Jehoiakim king of Judah say: Thus said HASHEM*: You burned this scroll, saying, 'Why did you write in it, saying: The king of Babylonia will definitely come here, and he will destroy this land and eliminate man and beast from it?'* 30 Therefore, thus said HASHEM concerning Jehoiakim king of Judah: He will not have anyone who will sit upon the throne of David; and his corpse shall be cast out into the heat of the day and to the frost of the night. 31 I will recall their sin upon him and his descendants and his servants, and I will bring upon them and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem and upon the people of Judah all the evil that I have spoken concerning them, yet they would not listen."

32 *So Jeremiah took another scroll and gave it to Baruch son of Neriah the scribe, and he wrote upon it, from the mouth of Jeremiah, all the words of the book that Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned in the fire, and many more similar words were added to them.

37 1 King Zedekiah son of Josiah, whom Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylonia, enthroned in the land of Judah, reigned in place of Coniah son of Jehoiakim. 2 He did not listen, [neither] he [nor] his servants [nor] the people of the land, to the words of HASHEM*, which He spoke through Jeremiah the prophet.*

3 King Zedekiah sent Jehucal son of Shelemiah and Zephaniah son of Maaseiah

36:19. The officers respected Jeremiah and Baruch, and wanted to protect them in case the king would try to punish them for daring to voice these prophecies.

36:22. Kislev, corresponding roughly to December.

36:32. The original scroll contained Chapters 1, 2 and 4 of Lamentations. Each chapter comprises twenty-two verses whose initial letters form the aleph-beis. A new chapter (Ch. 3) was added, this one containing three verses for each letter of the alphabet (Rashi).

37:1. See 22:24.

37:4. Zedekiah had freed Jeremiah upon ascending the throne (Rashi), although he was incarcerated subsequently (see vv. 15-16).

37:5. To aid their allies, the Judeans (Rashi).

37:12. Taking advantage of the lull in the fighting to go to his home in the land of Benjamin, Jeremiah tried to slip out of the city undetected, with the throngs of people. Apparently his latest prophecy (vv. 6-10) had upset the authorities and he was afraid of being recognized and arrested (Radak).

*the Kohen to Jeremiah the prophet, saying, "Please pray on our behalf unto HASHEM, our God." 4 Now Jeremiah was coming and going among the people; they had not [yet] put him into prison. * 5 The army of Pharaoh had departed from Egypt;* the Chaldeans who were besieging Jerusalem heard the news about them and withdrew from Jerusalem.*

The Chaldeans withdraw

6 The word of HASHEM came to Jeremiah the prophet, saying, 7 "Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel: Say thus to the king of Judah, who sends you to Me to inquire of Me:

Prophecy that the Chaldeans would return

Behold, the army of Pharaoh that left to assist you is returning to its land, Egypt; 8 and the Chaldeans will return and fight against this city, and they will capture it and burn it [down].

9 Thus said HASHEM: Do not delude yourselves, saying, 'The Chaldeans will surely depart from us,' for they will not depart! 10 For even if you would strike the entire Chaldean army that is fighting against you, and only wounded men will remain of them, each man would rise up from his tent and burn [down] this city in fire."

Jeremiah arrested . . .

*11 It happened when the Chaldean army was withdrawn from Jerusalem because of Pharaoh's army: 12 Jeremiah left Jerusalem to go to the land of Benjamin, to slip out from there among the people. * 13 He was in the Benjamin Gate, but an official was there — his name, Irijah son of Shelemiah son of Hananiah — and he seized Jeremiah the prophet, saying, "You are deserting to the Chaldeans!"*

14 Jeremiah replied, "Falsehood! I am not deserting to the Chaldeans!" But he did not listen to him, and Irijah seized Jeremiah and brought him to the officers. 15 The officers became enraged with Jeremiah and struck him; and they put him into a house of confinement, in the house of Jonathan the scribe, which they had made into a prison. 16 So Jeremiah was put into the dungeon which was behind the shops, and Jeremiah stayed there many days.

. . . then brought before Zedekiah

17 Then King Zedekiah sent [a messenger] and took him out; and the king questioned him in his house, secretly, and said, "Is there word from HASHEM?"

Jeremiah answered, "There is!" And he said [further], "You will be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylonia!" 18 Jeremiah then said to King Zedekiah, "In what way have I sinned to you and to your servants and to this people, that you have put me into prison? 19 And where are your prophets that prophesied to you, saying, 'The king of Babylonia will not come upon you and upon this land'? 20 And now, please hear me, my lord, the king! Please let my supplication be acceptable before you, and do not return me to the house of Jonathan the scribe, and let me not die there."

21 So King Zedekiah issued a command, and they consigned Jeremiah to the Courtyard of Confinement, and gave him a loaf of bread every day from the bakers' market, until all the bread had been depleted from the city; and Jeremiah remained in the Courtyard of Confinement.

38 1 Shephatiah son of Mattan, Gedaliah son of Pashhur, Jehucal son of Shelemiah, and Pashhur son of Malchiah heard the things that Jeremiah was speaking to all the people, saying:

2 Thus said HASHEM: Whoever remains in this city will die by the sword, by the famine or by the pestilence, whereas whoever goes out [in surrender] to the Chaldeans will live; he will have his life as a booty, and he will live. 3 Thus said HASHEM: This city will surely be delivered into the hand of the army of the king of Babylonia, and he will capture it.

4 And the[se] officers said to the king, "Let this man be put to death now, because he is weakening the hands of the soldiers who remain in this city, and the hands of all the people, by speaking to them such things. For this man does not seek the welfare of this people, but rather [their] detriment."

Jeremiah cast into the pit

5 King Zedekiah then said, "Behold, he is in your hands; for the king has no word to dispute you." 6 So they took Jeremiah and threw him into the pit of Malchiah son of the king which was in the Courtyard of Confinement; they lowered Jeremiah with ropes. In the pit there was no water, only mud; and Jeremiah sank [partially] into the mud.

7 Ebed-melech the Cushite, a senior officer, who was in the king's house, heard that they had put Jeremiah into the pit, while the king was sitting at the Benjamin Gate. 8 So Ebed-melech left the king's house and spoke to the king, saying, 9 "My lord, the king, these men have acted wickedly in all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet, in that they have thrown him into the pit. He will die of hunger where he is now, for there is no more bread in the city."

10 So the king commanded Ebed-melech the Cushite, saying, "Take thirty men from here with you and raise Jeremiah the prophet from the pit before he dies!"

Ebed-melech rescues Jeremiah

11 So Ebed-melech took the men with him and went to the king's palace, under the treasury, and from there he took worn out rags and worn-out scraps, and sent them down with ropes to Jeremiah, into the pit. 12 Ebed-melech the Cushite then said to Jeremiah, "Put the worn-out rags and the scraps under your armpits, under the ropes," and Jeremiah did so. 13 They then pulled out Jeremiah with the ropes and raised him out of the pit; and Jeremiah remained in the Courtyard of Confinement.

14 King Zedekiah then sent [a messenger] and summoned Jeremiah the prophet [to come] to him, to the third entrance of the Temple of HASHEM. The king said to Jeremiah, "I am asking you something; do not withhold anything from me!"

15 Jeremiah answered Zedekiah, "If I answer you, will you not have me put to death? And if I give you advice, you will not listen to me!"

16 King Zedekiah swore to Jeremiah secretly, saying, "As HASHEM lives, Who created this soul, [I swear that] I shall not put you to death nor turn you over to those people who seek your soul!"

Prophecy to Zedekiah: Surrender and live

17 So Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "Thus said HASHEM, God of Legions, God of Israel: If you go forth [in surrender] to the officers of the king of Babylonia, your soul will live, and this city will not be burnt [down] in fire; rather you and your household will survive. 18 But if you do not go forth to the officers of the king of Babylonia, this city will be delivered into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they will burn it [down] in fire. And you will not escape from their hand!"

19 King Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "I fear the Jews who have deserted to the Chaldeans, lest they give me over into their hand and they abuse me."

20 But Jeremiah said, "They will not give you over; hearken to the voice of HASHEM, to what I am telling you, and it will be well for you and you will live. 21 But if you refuse to go forth [in surrender], this is the matter that HASHEM has shown me: 22 Behold, all the women who remain in the house of the king of Judah are being brought out to the officers of the king of Babylonia, and they are saying,

38:22. The advisers and false prophets, who encouraged you to rebel against Babylonian rule (see II Kings 24:20). Your position was immeasurably worsened by their advice — and then they abandoned you.

38:23. You are at fault for the burning of the city.

38:27. No one knew the content of the king's conversation with Jeremiah, so the officers believed Jeremiah's story.

38:28. What happened is told in 39:3.

The familiar numbered chapters of Scriptures are 'Your allies have persuaded you and overcome you; your feet have been sunken into the mire, they have retreated backwards.' [23] And all your wives and children are being brought out to the Chaldeans; you [yourself] will not escape from their hand, for you will be seized by the hand of the king of Babylonia; and you will burn this city [down] in fire."

The king swears Jeremiah to secrecy

[24] Zedekiah told Jeremiah, "Let no man know about this conversation, and you will not die. [25] But if the officers hear that I have spoken to you, and they come to you and ask you, 'Tell us now what you spoke to the king — do not withhold it from us and then we will not kill you — and what did the king speak to you?' [26] Say to them, 'I was pouring out my supplication before the king, that he not send me back to the house of Jonathan to die there.' "

[27] All the officers came to Jeremiah and asked him; he told them according to all these words that the king had commanded [him], and they left him alone, for the matter had not been heard.*

[28] Jeremiah remained in the Courtyard of Confinement until the day Jerusalem was captured.

Jerusalem falls
(See Appendix A, timelines 4-5)

It happened when Jerusalem was captured * [1] (in the ninth year of Zedekiah,* king of Judah, in the tenth month, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia and all his army came to Jerusalem and laid siege to it; [2] and in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, on the ninth of the month, the city was breached) [3] — all the officers of the king of Babylonia came and sat in the Middle Gate: Nargel-sarezer, Samgar-nebu, Sarsachim the chief captain, Nergal-sarezer the chief officer, and all the rest of the officers of the king of Babylonia. [4] It happened when Zedekiah king of Judah and all the men of war saw them: They fled and went forth from the city at night, by way of the king's garden, through the gate between the walls; [the king] went forth by way of the Arabah. [5] The Chaldean army pursued them and overtook Zedekiah at the plains of Jericho; they took him and brought him up to Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia at Riblah, in the land of Hamath, and he spoke [words of] judgment to him. [6] The king of Babylonia slaughtered Zedekiah's sons in Riblah before his eyes; and the king of Babylonia slaughtered all the noblemen of Judah. [7] He [also] blinded Zedekiah's eyes and bound him in leg-irons to bring him to Babylonia. [8] The Chaldeans burned [down] the king's palace and the houses of the people in fire, and they smashed the walls of Jerusalem. [9] The remainder of the people who were left in the city, the defectors who had surrendered to him, and the rest of the people who remained,* Nebuzaradan, the chief executioner, exiled to Babylonia. [10] But some of the poor people who owned nothing, Nebuzaradan the chief executioner left in the land of Judah, and he gave them vineyards and fields on that day.

Zedekiah is blinded and chained by Nebuchadnezzar

[11] Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia gave charge of Jeremiah in the hand of Nebuzaradan the chief executioner saying, [12] "Take him, keep your eyes on him, and do not do him any harm; rather, as he says to you, so shall you do for him." [13] So Nebuzaradan the chief executioner sent — as well as Nebushazban the chief captain and Nergal-sarezer the chief officer and all the officers of Babylonia —

Jeremiah in the hand of Nebuzaradan not of Jewish origin, but were devised by Christian Bible scholars and introduced into Hebrew editions by non-Jewish Venetian printers during the sixteenth century. Their use is limited to identification of verses, and is never considered authoritative regarding the beginning or ending of a topic in Scripture. Thus, despite the new chapter number, the second clause of 38:28 and verses 1-3 of Ch. 39 form one continuous sentence with verses 1 and 2 being parenthetic.

39:1-10. This passage is very similar to II Kings 25:1-12. See also 52:4-16 below.

39:9. Those remaining outside the city (Metzudos).

39:14. Though Nebuzaradan sent for Jeremiah, the prophet had already been removed from the Courtyard of Confinement and taken away in chains (40:1). Later, Nebuzaradan found him among the exiles and carried out Nebuchadnezzar's orders, as our verse states (Radak).

40:1. This prophecy is not related until 42:7. Until then, Scripture describes the historical background of the prophecy (Rashi).

Regarding Jeremiah's being bound in chains, see 39:14.

14 they sent [for him]; but [others] had already taken Jeremiah out of the Courtyard of Confinement. * They gave him over to Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan, to remove him to [Gedaliah's] house, and he dwelt among the people.

15 The word of HASHEM had come to Jeremiah while he was in the Courtyard of Confinement, saying, 16 "Go and say to Ebed-melech the Cushite, saying: Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, the God of Israel: Behold, I am bringing about the fulfillment of My words concerning this city, for evil and not for good, and they will [take place] before you on that day. 17 But I will rescue you on that day — the word of HASHEM — and you will not be given over into the hand of the men of whom you are afraid. 18 For I shall surely rescue you; you will not fall by the sword and you will have your life for booty, for you trusted in Me — the word of HASHEM."

Ebed-melech's reward

40 1 The word that came to Jeremiah from HASHEM, * after Nebuzaradan, the chief executioner, sent him off from Ramah, when he had taken him [from where he had been] bound in chains * among all the exile of Jerusalem and Judah who were being exiled to Babylonia:

2 *The chief executioner took Jeremiah [aside] and said to him, "*HASHEM, your God, foretold this evil concerning this place; 3 and HASHEM brought it about and did as He said, because you sinned to HASHEM and did not heed His voice, so this matter befell you. 4 Now, behold, I have released you today from the chains that were on your arm. If it is proper in your eyes to come with me to Babylonia, come, and I will set my eye on you; * but if it is improper in your eyes to come with me to Babylonia, refrain [from doing so]. See, the entire land is before you; to wherever it is good and proper in your eyes to go, there shall you go!" 5 He had not yet turned back [when he was told], * "Turn back to Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylonia has appointed over the cities of Judah, and stay with him among the people; or go to wherever it is proper in your eyes to go." The chief executioner then gave him a grant and a gift and sent him off. 6 Jeremiah came to Gedaliah son of Ahikam at Mizpah, and he settled with him, in the midst of the people who remained in the land.

Jeremiah unchained

Gedaliah appointed governor

7 All the officers of the army that were in the field — they and their men — heard that the king of Babylonia had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam over the land, and that he had entrusted him with men, women and children, and some of the poor people of the land who were not exiled to Babylonia, 8 so they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah, along with Ishmael son of Nethaniah, Johanan and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, Seraiah son of Tanhumeth, the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah son of the Maacathite, they and their men. 9 Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan swore to them and their men, saying, "Do not be afraid of serving the Chaldeans; settle in the land and serve the king of Babylonia and it will be well for you. 10 As for me, behold I will stay in Mizpah, standing before the Chaldeans * who will come to us; and as for you, gather wine, dried fruits, and oil and store it in your containers, and settle in your cities that you have occupied."

The people rally to Gedaliah

11 Also all the Jews who were in Moab and with the Children of Ammon and in Edom and in all the lands heard that the king of Babylonia had left a remnant 40:4. That is, I will look after you.

40:5. Though Jeremiah had not answered him, Nebuzaradan saw that he was inclined to return to Judah, and suggested that he join Gedaliah's community, though he was free to settle wherever he wished (Radak). According to the Sages, Jeremiah couldn't decide what would be best for the Jews, so God told him, "Go to Gedaliah."

40:10. I will deal with the Chaldean occupiers, while you reestablish your normal routines, beginning with the preparations for the winter.

for Judah, and that he had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan over them. 12 So the Jews returned from all the places where they had been dispersed; and they came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah in Mizpah, and they gathered together a great deal of wine and dried fruit.

Unheeded warning

13 Johanan son of Kareah and all the officers of the army that had been in the field came to Gedaliah at Mizpah. 14 They said to him, "Do you know that Baalis, king of the Children of Ammon, has sent Ishmael son of Nethaniah to assassinate you?" But Gedaliah son of Ahikam did not believe them.

15 Johanan son of Kareah spoke to Gedaliah secretly in Mizpah, saying, "Let me go and kill Ishmael son of Nethaniah, and no one will know! Why should he kill you, and then all of Judah who have gathered to you will be scattered, and the remnant of Judah lost?"

16 But Gedaliah son of Ahikam said to Johanan son of Kareah, "Do not do this thing, for you are speaking falsely about Ishmael!"

Gedaliah's assassination

1 It happened in the seventh month that Ishmael son of Nethaniah son of Elishama, who was of the royal family, came to Gedaliah son of Ahikam at Mizpah, and with him the king's captains and ten [other] men; and they ate a meal together there at Mizpah.* 2 Ishmael son of Nethaniah arose, along with the ten men who were with him, and struck Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan by the sword, and killed him, the one whom the king of Babylonia had appointed over the land. 3 And Ishmael struck down all the Jews who were with him, with Gedaliah in Mizpah and the Chaldeans who were found there, the men of war.

4 It happened on the second day after Gedaliah's assassination, when no one knew about it [yet], 5 that men came from Shechem, from Shiloh and from Samaria, eighty men, with shaven beards and torn clothing, and having cut [their flesh]; offering and frankincense were in their hand to bring to the Temple of HASHEM.* 6 Ishmael son of Nethaniah went out towards them from Mizpah, weeping as he went. When he met them he said to them, "Come to Gedaliah son of Ahikam!" 7 As soon as they came inside the city, Ishmael son of Nethaniah, he and the men who were with him, slaughtered them into the pit. 8 Ten men were found among them who said to Ishmael, "Do not kill us, for we have treasures hidden in the countryside — wheat, barley, oil, and honey." So [Ishmael] refrained from killing them along with their brethren. 9 (The pit into which Ishmael threw all the bodies of the men he had struck in the wake of Gedaliah's [murder] was the [same pit] that King Asa had made on account of Baasa king of Israel; Ishmael son of Nethaniah filled that one with corpses.)*

Ishmael's further treachery

10 Ishmael took captive all the remnant of the people who were in Mizpah, the king's daughters and all the people who remained in Mizpah, over whom Nebuzaradan, the chief executioner, had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam; Ishmael son of Nethaniah took them captive and went to cross over [the Jordan] to the Children of Ammon.

11 Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers who were with him heard of all the evil that Ishmael son of Nethaniah had done. 12 They took all the people and went to fight against Ishmael son of Nethaniah. They encountered him at the Great Water [Pool] that is in Gibeon. 13 It happened that as soon as all the captives

41:5. And on the way to Jerusalem they heard of the destruction of the Temple, which was the cause of their outward signs of deep anguish.

41:9. Asa had fortified Mizpah during the course of the unceasing warfare between these two kings. See I Kings 15:22.

who were with Ishmael saw Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers with him, they rejoiced. 14 And all the people whom Ishmael had taken captive from Mizpah turned back and went over to Johanan son of Kareah. 15 Ishmael son of Nethaniah escaped from Johanan with eight men, and he went to the Children of Ammon.

In the aftermath

16 Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers with him then took the entire remnant of the people, whom he had brought back from Ishmael son of Nethaniah, from Mizpah, after he had struck down Gedaliah son of Ahikam, men who were warriors, women, children, and officials whom he had brought back from Gibeon, 17 and they went and settled in Chimham's Dwelling, which is near Beth-lehem, intending to go on to Egypt, 18 away from the Chaldeans, for they feared them, for Ishmael son of Nethaniah had murdered Gedaliah son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylonia had appointed over the land.

Jeremiah is asked to pray

1 All the army officers and Johanan son of Kareah and Jezaniah son of Hoshaiah and all the people, from the smallest to the greatest, approached, 2 and said to Jeremiah the prophet, "May our supplication please be acceptable to you, and may you pray on our behalf, to HASHEM your God, on behalf of all this remnant, for we are left as few out of many, as your eyes see us. 3 And may HASHEM your God tell us the way in which we should go and the thing we should do."

4 Jeremiah the prophet said to them, "I have heard. Behold, I will pray to HASHEM your God, as you have said; and it shall be that whatever HASHEM will answer you, I will tell you; I will not withhold anything from you."

5 They said to Jeremiah, "Let HASHEM be a true and faithful witness against us, if we do not act according to everything that HASHEM your God tells you concerning us. 6 Whether for better or for worse, we will obey the voice of HASHEM our God, to Whom we are sending you, in order that it should be good for us when we listen to the voice of HASHEM our God."

7 It happened at the end of ten days, that the word of HASHEM came to Jeremiah. 8 He called Johanan son of Kareah, all the army officers who were with him and all the people, from the smallest to the greatest, 9 and he said to them: "Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel, before Whom you have sent me to pour forth your supplications:

Stay here; do not seek refuge in Egypt

10 If you stay in this land, I will build you [up] and I will not destroy, and I will plant you and not uproot; for I have relented of the misfortune that I have brought upon you. 11 Do not be afraid of the king of Babylonia of whom you are afraid; do not be afraid of him — the word of HASHEM — for I am with you to save you and rescue you from his hand. 12 I will show you mercy, and he will have mercy on you and return you to your land.* 13 But if you say, 'We shall not stay in this land,' not heeding the voice of HASHEM your God, 14 saying, 'No, but to the land of Egypt shall we go, so that we will not see war nor hear the sound of the shofar [in battle] nor hunger for bread, and there shall we settle' — 15 then hear now the word of HASHEM, O remnant of Judah! Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: If you would turn your face to go to Egypt and you will come to sojourn there, 16 the very sword of which you are afraid will reach you there in the land of Egypt, and the very hunger about which you worry will pursue you in Egypt, and there you will die. [17] And all the men who turn their faces to go to Egypt to live there will die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence; there will not be any remnant or survivor among them from the evil that I am bringing upon them. [18] For thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Just as My anger and My wrath were poured out against the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so will My wrath be poured out upon you if you go to Egypt, and you will be [an example for] an oath, an astonishment, a curse and a disgrace, and you will never see this place again."*

But you will not listen

[19] HASHEM has spoken to you, O remnant of Judah — do not go to Egypt! Know for certain that I have warned you today! [20] For you have deceived me about your true thoughts, for you sent me to HASHEM your God, saying, "Pray on our behalf to HASHEM our God, and whatever HASHEM our God says, tell us, and we will do it";* [21] and I told you this day, but you did not listen to the voice of HASHEM, your God, and to all that he has sent me to [tell] you. [22] Know now for certain that you will die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence in the place in which you desire to go to live.

43 [1] It happened when Jeremiah finished speaking all the words of HASHEM, their God, to all the people to whom HASHEM, their God, had sent him — [2] that Azariah son of Hoshaiah and Johanan son of Kareah and all the arrogant men said to Jeremiah, "You speak falsehood! HASHEM, our God, did not send you to say, 'Do not go to Egypt to sojourn there.' [3] Rather, Baruch son of Neriah is inciting you against us, in order to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, and to exile us to Babylonia." [4] So Johanan son of Kareah, all the army officers and all the people did not listen to the voice of HASHEM, to settle in the land of Judah. [5] Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers took all the remnant of Judah that had returned from all the countries to which they had been dispersed to sojourn in the land of Judah [6] (the men, the women, the children, the daughters of the king; all the people whom Nebuzaradan, the chief executioner, had left with Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan; and Jeremiah the prophet and Baruch son of Neriah) [7] and they came to the land of Egypt, for they did not listen to the voice of HASHEM; and they came to Tahpanhes.

[8] The word of HASHEM came to Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, saying, [9] "Take in your hand large stones and cover them with mortar at the brick kiln that is near the entryway to the palace of Pharaoh in Tahpanhes, in the presence of Jewish men, [10] and say to them: Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, the God of Israel: Behold, I am sending to take Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia, My servant, and I am placing his throne above these stones that I have covered, and he will spread his tent over them. [11] And he will come and strike the land of Egypt: Whoever is destined for death will go to death, for captivity to captivity, and for the sword to the sword. [12] And I shall set fire to all the temples of the gods of Egypt, and he will burn them and plunder them; he will wrap up [the booty of] the land of Egypt as a shepherd wraps [things in] his garment, and he will leave there in peace. [13] He will shatter the pillars of the temple of the sun that is in the land of Egypt,

42:18. When taking an oath, people will say, "May I be like these men if I am not telling the truth."

42:20. The people claimed to be seeking counsel; but Jeremiah saw in their reaction to his prophecy that what they really sought was an automatic endorsement of the course of action they had already decided upon.

44 [1] The word that came to Jeremiah, concerning all the Jews who were living in the land of Egypt — who were living in Migdol, in Tahpanhes, in Noph and in the land of Pathros — saying:

Jeremiah warns the Jews in Egypt against idolatry

[2] Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: You have seen all the misfortune that I have brought upon Jerusalem and upon all the cities of Judah, and behold, they are a ruin to this day, there is no inhabitant in them, [3] because of their evil that they did to anger Me, to go to burn incense to worship the gods of others, whom they did not know — they, you and your fathers. [4] I sent all My servants the prophets to you, arising early and sending, saying, 'Do not perform this act of abomination that I detest.' [5] But they did not listen nor incline their ear, to repent from their evil, not to burn incense to the gods of others. [6] So My wrath, My anger was poured out, and it burned in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, so that they became ruined and desolate, as this day. [7] And now, thus said HASHEM, the God of Legions, the God of Israel: Why are you doing great evil to your souls: to cut off from yourselves man and woman, child and infant, from the midst of Judah, not to leave yourselves a remnant; [8] to anger Me with the deeds of your hands, to burn incense to the gods of others in the land Egypt, where you have gone to sojourn; so that you will cut yourselves off, and so that you will be a curse and a disgrace among all the nations of the earth? [9] Have you forgotten the evils of your forefathers, the evils of [each of] the kings of Judah and the evils of his wives, your own evils and the evils of your wives, that they committed in the land of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? [10] They have not been subdued to this day; they have not feared and have not followed My teaching and My decrees that I placed before you and before your fathers. [11] Therefore, thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Behold, I am turning My attention to you for adversity, to cut off all of Judah. [12] And I will take the remnant of Judah, who have set their faces to come to the land of Egypt to sojourn there, and they will all perish; they will fall in the land of Egypt; they will perish by the sword and by the famine — from the smallest to the greatest — they will die by the sword and by the famine, and they will be an [example for an] oath, an astonishment, a curse, and a disgrace. [13] I shall deal with those who dwell in the land of Egypt as I dealt with Jerusalem — with the sword, with the famine and with the pestilence. [14] There will be no fugitive nor survivor from the remnant of Judah who have come to sojourn there in the land of Egypt, to return to the land of Judah, to where they lift their hopes to return to settle; for they will not return, except as fugitives.

The peole refuse to obey

[15] They answered Jeremiah — all the people who knew that their wives were burning incense to the gods of others, and all the women who stood in a great assembly, and all the people who dwelled in the land of Egypt, in Pathros — saying, [16] "Concerning the word that you have spoken to us in the name of HASHEM — we do not listen to you! [17] Rather, we will indeed continue to fulfill everything that came from our mouths, to burn incense to the queen of the heavens and pour out libations to her, as we did — we and our fathers, our kings and our officers — in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem,* 44:24. The women are singled out here for it was they who performed the incense service about which Jeremiah was berating the people.

44:26. Since they rejected Me, they will no longer be able to swear in My Name, because they will be annihilated.

when we were sated with food, lived well and saw no misfortune. [18] For ever since we stopped burning incense to the queen of the heavens and pouring out libations to her, we have lacked everything and we have perished by the sword and by the famine. [19] Furthermore, when we burn offerings to the queen of the heavens and pour out libations to her, is it without our husbands' [consent] that we make her delicacies to gladden her and pour out the libations?"

Jeremiah prophesies the destruction of Egypt and its Jewish population

[20] Jeremiah then spoke to the people — to the men and to the women and to all the people who had given him this answer — saying, [21] "Is it not [because of] the incense that you and your fathers and your kings and your officers and the general populace burned in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? They are what HASHEM recalled, and they came to His attention. [22] HASHEM could no longer forbear in the face of the wickedness of your deeds, in the face of the abominations that you had committed, so your land became a ruin and a desolation and a curse, without inhabitant, as this very day! [23] Because you burned incense and sinned to HASHEM and did not heed the voice of HASHEM, and you did not follow His teaching, His decrees and His testimonies, therefore this evil has befallen you, as this very day."

[24] Jeremiah then said to all the people and [especially] to all the women: *

Hear the word of HASHEM, all of Judah who are in the land of Egypt! [25] Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, the God of Israel: You and your wives have spoken with your mouths and have performed with your hands, saying, 'We will surely fulfill our vows that we have vowed to burn incense to the queen of the heavens and to pour out libations to her'; indeed, you continue to fulfill your vows and to carry out your vows. [26] Therefore, hear the word of HASHEM, all of Judah who dwelled in the land of Egypt: Behold, I swear by My great Name, said HASHEM, that My Name will no longer be mentioned in the mouths of any man of Judah, saying, 'As my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM lives,' in the entire land of Egypt. * [27] Behold I shall be diligent towards them for evil and not for good, and all the men of Judah who are in the land of Egypt will perish by the sword and by the famine, until they are annihilated. [28] And fugitives from the sword will return from the land of Egypt to the land of Judah, few in number; and all the remnant of Judah who have come to the land of Egypt to sojourn there will know whose word will prevail, Mine or theirs. [29] This will be the sign for you — the word of HASHEM — that I will attend to you in this place, in order that you may know that My words concerning you, for evil, will surely come about: [30] Thus said HASHEM: Behold, I am delivering Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies and into the hand of those who seek his soul, just as I delivered Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia, his enemy who sought his soul.

45 Prophecy to Baruch

[1] The word that Jeremiah spoke to Baruch son of Neriah, when he wrote down all these prophecies into a book by the mouth of Jeremiah, * in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, saying: [2] "Thus said HASHEM, God of Israel, concerning you, Baruch: [3] You said, 'Woe is me, for HASHEM has added grief upon my pain. I have grown weary from my groaning, and have found no rest.' *

[4] Say thus to him: Thus said HASHEM: Behold, that which I built I am destroying,

45:1. See 36:1-4.

45:3. The Sages explain that Baruch was disappointed that despite his devotion to Jeremiah, he did not merit the prophetic spirit himself.

45:5. God informed Baruch that his lack of prophecy was not due to his own shortcoming but to the fact that the chaotic conditions prevailing among the Jewish people did not warrant it. In the words of the Sages, "If there are no sheep, is there a shepherd?" (Rashi).

46:9. Jeremiah sarcastically calls upon Pharaoh and his allies to charge into battle against the Babylonians.

46:10. There, at Carchemish, God would avenge Pharaoh's killing of the righteous King Josiah on the way to that place [see II Kings 23:29] (Radak).

46:13. This event took place several decades after Pharaoh Neco's defeat at Carchemish (Rashi).

46:17. The Chaldean army taunted Pharaoh for failing to confront Nebuchadnezzar's army when the challenge was issued.

46:21. When they realized that it was hopeless to fight Nebuchadnezzar's army, they fled, preferring their peaceful lives at home to honoring their commitment to Egypt.

and that which I have planted I am uprooting, and this is so throughout all the land; [5] yet you seek great things for yourself? Do not seek [them]! For behold, I am bringing misfortune upon all flesh — the word of HASHEM — and I will give you your soul as booty, in all the places where you go."*

46 [1] The word of HASHEM that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning the nations, [2] concerning Egypt, concerning the army of Pharaoh Neco king of Egypt, which was at the Euphrates River, in Carchemish, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia defeated in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah:

Prophecy of Pharaoh Neco's fall to Nebuchadnezzar

[3] Prepare the buckler and the shield, and approach the battle. [4] Harness the horses and mount [them], O cavalrymen; stand [ready] in helmets; sharpen the spears; don the mail-armor. [5] Why do I see them panicking and retreating, their strongmen crushed, fleeing in haste without turning around? There is terror all around — the word of HASHEM. [6] The swift cannot flee and the strongman cannot escape; up north, by the Euphrates, they stumble and fall. [7] Who is this who rises up like the Nile; like rivers, its waters would surge? [8] It is Egypt that rises like the Nile; and like rivers, its waters would surge. It said, 'I will rise up and cover the land, I will destroy city and those who inhabit it.' [9] Go up, O horses; drive in a frenzy, O chariot; let the strongmen go forth — [the men of] Cush and Put, graspers of the shield, and the Ludites, graspers and drawers of the bow! [10] That day will be a day of revenge for my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions, a day of vengance to avenge Himself of His enemies;* and the sword shall consume and be sated, [its thirst] quenched by their blood, for it is a slaughter for my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions, in the land of the North, on the Euphrates River. [11] You may go up to Gilead to get balm, O virgin daughter of Egypt, in vain have you increased remedies; there is no cure for you. [12] The nations hear of your debacle, and your outcry fills the land, for warrior will stumble over warrior; both of them will fall together.*

*[13] The word that HASHEM spoke to Jeremiah the prophet, that Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylonia, would come to strike the land of Egypt:

Another prophecy regarding Nebuchadnezzar's conquest of Egypt

[18] As I live, the word of the King, Whose Name is HASHEM, Master of Legions, [I swear that] like Tabor among the mountains and Carmel by the sea, so shall [Nebuchadnezzar] come! [19] Make yourself gear for exile, O daughter who dwells in Egypt, for Noph shall be a desolation and a wasteland without an inhabitant. [20] Egypt is a beautiful calf, but a slaughterer from the North is surely coming. [21] Even its mercenaries within it are like fatted calves, for they, too, have turned and fled together, they did not stand; for the day of their tragedy has come upon them, the time of their accounting. [22] [Egypt's] voice will travel like a snake's, for [the Babylonians]*

46:25. Amon is variously interpreted as: "multitude" (Targum); the name of the prince (Rashi) or king (Radak) of the city of No; or "metropolis" (Kara). Alternatively: Amon was originally a minor deity in No, but eventually became the chief god of Egypt.

47:1. Gaza, the main Philistine city, was first attacked by Pharaoh Hophra and then by the Chaldeans (Radak).

47:4. The progenitors of the Philistines and Caphtorites were brothers (see Genesis 10:14). The Philistine nation originated in Caphtorean territory (see Amos 9:7).

47:5. The baldness resulted from pulling out their hair in grief. Cutting the flesh is likewise a sign of grief.

48:1. Jeremiah now begins a series of prohecies (Chs. 48-51) concerning the final judgments of the nations: Moab, Ammon, Edom, Damascus, Keder, Elam, and Babylonia. The place names mentioned in the respective passages are usually cities in the land under discussion. Often cities in different countries would bear the same name; or a border city or a contested city may be spoken of in more than one passage.

48:1. Alternatively, the word הַמִּשְׂגָּב is not a proper noun, but means "the fortress" (as in Psalms 9:10, etc.).

48:6. Aroer was an isolated desert outpost. If you flee, you may be able to save yourself and be one of the few, isolated survivors (Targum). Alternatively: "Aroer" is a solitary desert shrub (see 17:6).

will come against them with an army; they arrive against her with axes, like woodcutters. 23 They will cut down her forest — the word of HASHEM — for they are beyond calculation, for they are more numerous than locusts, and there is no number for them. 24 The daughter of Egypt shall be humiliated, delivered into the hand of the Northern people.

25 HASHEM, Master of Legions, the God of Israel, said: Behold, I am attending to Amon of No, to Pharaoh, to Egypt and its gods and its kings; and to Pharaoh and to those who trust in him.* 26 And I shall deliver them into the hand of those who seek their souls, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia and into the hand of his servants; but thereafter you shall have rest, as in days of old — the word of HASHEM.

Words of hope

27 But as for you, do not be afraid, My servant Jacob, and do not be frightened, O Israel, for behold, I am saving you from afar, and your offspring from the land of their captivity; and Jacob shall return and be tranquil and complacent, and none will make [him] afraid. 28 You, do not be afraid, My servant Jacob — the word of HASHEM — for I am with you; though I shall make an end of all the nations where I have dispersed you, but of you I shall not make an end; I shall punish you with justice, but I shall not destroy you utterly.

47 1 The word of HASHEM *that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning the Philistines, before Pharaoh attacked Gaza:

The fate of Philistia

2 Thus said HASHEM: Behold, waters are rising from the North and will become a swift stream; they will sweep away the land and all that is in it, the city and all who dwell in it. The people will cry out and all the inhabitants of the land will wail. 3 Because of the sound of the galloping hooves of his mighty [steeds], because of the noise of his chariots and the tumult of his wheels, fathers will not attend to [their] children because of the feebleness of [their] hands, 4 on the day that is approaching for the plunder of all the Philistines, to cut off any remaining help from Tyre and Sidon, for HASHEM *is plundering the Philistines, the remnant of the isle of Caphtor. 5 Baldness comes to Gaza, and Ashkelon is demolished, the remnant of their lowland; how long will you cut your flesh?* 6 Alas, sword of HASHEM! How long will you not be quiet? Gather yourself into your scabbard; be at ease and be still! 7 But how could it be quiet, when HASHEM has sent it on a mission against Ashkelon and against the seashore, that is where He directed it?

48 1 *Concerning Moab:

The fate of Moab

Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Alas unto Nebo, for it has been plundered; shamed, captured was Kiriathaim; shamed was Misgab and devastated.* 2 The glory of Moab is no more; in Heshbon [its enemies] have devised evil against it: 'Let us go and eliminate it from nationhood.' Madmein, also be still, for the sword will come after you. 3 The sound of outcry comes from Horonaim, plunder and a great calamity. 4 Moab has been shattered; its youths have let out a cry. 5 For people will go up the ascent of Luhith with weeping, ascending weeping; for in the descent of Horonaim, adversaries heard the cries of calamity. 6 Flee, save yourselves; be like Aroer in the desert!* 7 For, because you put your trust in your accomplishments and in your treasures, you, too, will be conquered.

48:7. The Moabite deity.

48:11. Moab's tranquility and complacence is compared to a barrel of fine wine that has sat undisturbed in the same place for many years.

48:13. Moab will be as ashamed of its idol, Chemosh, as Israel was of its idol at Beth-el.

48:26-27. When Israel was defeated, the Moabites derided them as well as God, for not having saved His people (Radak).

48:29. In this verse, Jeremiah prophesies the reaction of other nations to Moab's defeat.

48:30. Abraham saved Lot, the ancestor of Moab, yet the Moabites showed gross ingratitude (Rashi).

48:33. See 25:30.

Chemosh will leave for exile, his priests and officials together.* [8] A plunderer will come to every city; no city will be spared. The valley will be lost and the plain laid waste, for HASHEM has spoken. [9] Give Moab a wing, for they will be flying away! Its cities will become desolate, without an inhabitant in them. [10] Cursed be the one who carries out the mission of HASHEM deceitfully! Cursed be the one who withholds his sword from bloodshed. [11] Moab was complacent from its youth, tranquil on its lees and not being poured from container to container, and did not go into exile; therefore its taste has stayed in it, and its scent was not diminished.*

Moabite and Israelite idolatry compared [12] Therefore, behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when I will send against it pourers and they will pour it out; they will empty [Moab's] containers and smash its barrels. [13] Moab will be ashamed of Chemosh, just as the House of Israel was ashamed of Beth-el, in which they trusted.* [14] How can you say, 'We are mighty men, brave men of war'? [15] Moab has been plundered and its cities obliterated; and its best young men have gone to the slaughter — the word of the King, HASHEM, Master of Legions, is His Name. [16] Moab's disaster is near to come; its misfortune hurries fast. [17] Mourn for it, all who are around it and all who know of its renown; say, 'How has the staff of strength, the rod of splendor, been shattered?' [18] Descend from glory and sit in thirst, O daughter who dwells in Dibon! For the despoiler of Moab has come upon you and has destroyed all your strongholds. [19] Stand and watch by the road, O dweller of Aroer! Ask him that flees and her that escapes; say, 'What happened?' [20] Moab has become ashamed, for they have been devastated. Wail and cry out! Announce in Arnon that Moab has been plundered.

The judgment of Moab

[21] Judgment is coming to the land of the plain; to Holon, to Jahzah and to Mephaath; [22] to Dibon, to Nebo and to Beth-diblathaim; [23] to Kiriathaim, to Beth-gamul and to Beth-meon; [24] to Kerioth, to Bozrah and to all the cities of the land of Moab, the far ones and the near ones. [25] The horn of Moab has been nipped, and its arm broken — the word of HASHEM.

[26] Get him drunk, for he has been arrogant to HASHEM; let Moab wallow in his vomit, and him too become a laughingstock. [27] *For, was Israel not a laughingstock to you? Was he found among thieves? Yet whenever you speak of him you wag your head. [28] Leave the cities and reside in the rock, O dwellers of Moab; be like a dove who nests in the sides of the pit.

[29] 'We have heard of the pride of Moab, it was excessively prideful: his conceit, his pride, his haughtiness and the arrogance of his heart.'*

[30] *I know his fury — the word of HASHEM — and it is unfounded; his heroes acted improperly.

[31] 'Therefore, for Moab will I wail, and for all of Moab will I cry out; moan for the men of Kir-heres.* [32] I will weep for you like the weeping of Jazer, O vine of Sibmah; your shoots have gone over the sea, reaching the sea of Jazer; upon your fruits and upon your grape harvest has the plunderer descended.'

[33] Joy and happiness will cease from the fertile field and from the land of Moab. I have abolished wine from the winepresses; they will no longer trample [the grapes with cries of] 'Hedad!' — no [more] 'Hedad!'* [34] An outcry from Heshbon to Elealeh, as far as Jahaz have they raised their voice;

48:34. A cow's third calf is considered its choicest offspring. The metaphor applies to either Moab in general (Metzudos), Horonaim (Kara) or Zoar (see Isaiah 15:5).

48:36. Once again, Jeremiah prophesies the words that the Moabites will speak when they meet their national doom.

48:39. The prophet quotes the reaction of the neighboring peoples who will witness the horrible fate of Moab, and who will first mock Moab and then be frightened that they might suffer the same way.

48:45. Sihon was the Amorite conqueror and rebuilder of Heshbon many centuries earlier (see Numbers 21:26).

49:1. The Ammonite deity was Malcam, and its followers annexed the territory of Gad after that tribe was driven from the land.

49:3. This prophecy describes Nebuchadnezzar's defeat of the Ammonites, before he conquered Moab and Judah. Jeremiah warns Moabite Heshbon to shudder when hearing of the fall of the Ammonite Ai, for Moab would soon meet the same fate (Radak).

[outcries come] from Zoar to Horonaim, a third-born calf; for even the waters of Nimrim will become desolate.* 35 I will abolish for Moab — the word of HASHEM — whoever sacrifices at high places and whoever burns incense to his god.

36 'Therefore, my heart moans for Moab like flutes, and my heart moans like flutes for the men of Kir-heres; therefore, the prosperity that they had amassed has been lost.'*

37 For every head is bald and every beard is plucked; on every hand there are cuts, and on the loins is sackcloth. 38 On every rooftop of Moab and in its streets there is lamenting everywhere; for I have shattered Moab like a useless vessel — the word of HASHEM. 39 'How have you been devastated!' they wailed. 'How has Moab, in shame, turned its back [in flight]?' For Moab will become a laughingstock and a source of fright for all those around it.*

Woe unto Moab

40 For thus said HASHEM: Behold, like an eagle [the enemy] will swoop down and spread its wings against Moab. 41 Kerioth is captured, and the strongholds seized; on that day the hearts of Moab's warriors will be like the heart of a woman in childbirth. 42 Moab shall be destroyed as a people, for they have been arrogant to HASHEM. 43 Terror and pit and snare be upon you, O dweller of Moab! — the word of HASHEM. 44 Whoever escapes the terror will fall into the pit, and whoever emerges from the pit will be caught in the trap, for I shall bring against Moab the year of their accounting — the word of HASHEM. 45 Those who flee stand in the shadow of Heshbon, without strength; but a fire has come forth from Heshbon, a flame from the city of Sihon, which consumes the uttermost corner of Moab and the skull of the tumultuous people.* 46 Woe to you, Moab! The people of Chemosh are lost! For your sons are taken into captivity and your daughters into captivity. 47 However, I will bring back the captivity of Moab in the end of days — the word of HASHEM.

Until this point is the judgment of Moab.

49 1 Concerning the Children of Ammon:

The fate of Ammon

Thus said HASHEM: Does Israel have no children? Does he have no heir? Why, then, has Malcam inherited Gad, his people dwelling in its cities?* 2 Therefore, behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when I will make the alarm of war heard in Rabbah [capital] of the Children of Ammon; it will become a heap of ruins and its surrounding towns will be burned down in fire; then Israel will inherit its inheritors, said HASHEM. 3 Wail, Heshbon, for Ai has been plundered! Cry out, you daughters of Rabbah; gird yourselves with sackcloth, lament and wander about in the sheepfolds; for Malcam will go out into exile, his priests and his officers together.* 4 Why do you pride yourselves on the valleys? Your valley flows [with blood], O wayward daughter, who trusts in her treasures, [saying,] 'Who could ever attack me?' 5 Behold, I am bringing a fright upon you from your entire surroundings — the word of my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions — you will scatter, everyone in his own direction, and there will be no one to bring together those who are wandering about. 6 But afterwards I will return the captivity of the Children of Ammon — the word of HASHEM.

7 Concerning Edom:

The fate of Edom

Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Is there no more wisdom in Teman?

49:9. But the Babylonians caused utter and complete devastation.

49:12. If the alien nations, who perhaps thought to justify their hostility to Israel because they viewed Israel as a foreign invader, were nevertheless made to drink from the cup of retribution, will you, Edom (Esau), brother of Israel (Jacob), be absolved?

49:14. This verse is Jeremiah's own comment.

49:20. The enemy, who was earlier compared to a ferocious lion (v. 19), is here likened to the youngest sheep, because Edom will be conquered by Israel, which is regarded lightly by all its enemies (Kara).

49:25. Jeremiah prophesies the words of the king of Damascus at its downfall.

49:28. These were nomadic tribes, like today's Bedouins (Rashi).

Counsel has been lost from the children; their wisdom has turned putrid.
8 Flee, be evacuated, dwell in the depths, O inhabitants of Dedan; for I have brought Esau's calamity upon him, the time when I will call him to account.
9 *If grape harvesters would come to you, would they not leave over gleanings? If thieves in the night, would they damage after they were satisfied?
10 For I have uncovered Esau; I have exposed his hidden places, and he cannot hide. Plundered were his offspring, his brothers and his neighbors, and there is no one [to say,] 11 'Leave your orphans; I will sustain [them]; your widows can depend on me.'

12 For thus said HASHEM: Behold, if those who did not deserve to drink of the cup have drunk, will you be absolved? You will not be absolved, but you shall most certainly drink!* 13 For I swear by Myself — the word of HASHEM — that Bozrah will be made desolate, a shame, a ruin and a curse; and all its towns will suffer eternal destruction.

14 I have heard the tidings from HASHEM, and a messenger has been sent among the nations: [saying,] "Gather together and come against it, and rise up to battle!"*

Edom's inferiority

15 For behold, I have made you inferior among the nations, despised among men. 16 Your awe-inspiring presence has misled you, the wickedness of your heart, [you] who dwells in the crags of the rock, who has seized the height of the hill. Even if you raise your nest as high as the eagle, I will bring you down from there — the word of HASHEM. 17 Edom shall be desolate; everyone who passes by it will be astonished and whistle over all its afflictions, 18 like the overturning of Sodom and Gomorrah and its neighbors — said HASHEM — where no man shall dwell and no human shall sojourn. 19 Behold, [the enemy] will ascend as a lion from the heights of the Jordan to a secure pasture land; for I shall bring [the enemy] suddenly and make him overrun her, and he who is chosen I shall charge against her. For who is like Me? Who can challenge Me? And who is the shepherd who can stand before Me?

20 Therefore, hear the counsel of HASHEM that He has devised against Edom, and His thoughts that he has conceived against the dwellers of Teman: the youngest of the flock will indeed drag them off; he will indeed devastate their pasture.* 21 From the sound of their fall the earth quakes; a cry, at the Sea of Reeds their voice is heard. 22 Behold, [the enemy] will ascend like an eagle and swoop down and spread out his wings over Bozrah. On that day, the hearts of the mighty men of Edom will be like the heart of a woman in travail.

23 Concerning Damascus:

Hamath and Arpad are ashamed, for they have heard an ominous report and have melted in fear. There is trouble in the sea, it cannot be calm.
24 Damascus is weakened; she has turned aside to flee and trembling has overpowered her; agony and pains have seized her like a woman in childbirth. 25 *'How was the city of glory not spared, the city of my delight?'
26 Indeed, her young men will fall in her streets, and all the soldiers will fall silent on that day — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions. 27 And I will set fire to the wall of Damascus, and it will consume the palaces of Ben-hadad.

28 Concerning Kedar and the kingdoms of Hazor, whom Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia struck:*

50:2. Bel and Merodach were principal Babylonian deities.

50:3. Persia and Medea came from the North to conquer Babylonia from Nebuchadnezzar's son (Rashi).

50:4. The Jews will cry with joy when the conquering Persians allow them to return to Eretz Yisrael (Radak).

50:8. Jeremiah urges the "flock" of Israel to escape from Babylonia, to avoid the slaughter that the invaders would inflict on anyone they would find.

The fate of Kedar and Hazor

Thus said HASHEM: Get up and attack Kedar; plunder the people of the East!
29 They will take away their tents and their flocks; their curtains and all their vessels and their camels they will carry off for themselves; there will be for them terror from all around. 30 Flee! Wander exceedingly! Go stay in deep, hidden places, you inhabitants of Hazor! — the word of HASHEM — for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia has devised counsel against you and has conceived a thought against you. 31 Get up and attack the tranquil nation that dwells securely — the word of HASHEM — it has no gates and no bolt, they live in isolation. 32 Their camels will become spoils and the multitude of their livestock will become booty. I will scatter them in all directions, the remotest corners; from all sides I will bring their calamity — the word of HASHEM. 33 And Hazor will be a lair of serpents, desolate forever, where no man will dwell and no human will sojourn.

34 The word of HASHEM that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning Elam, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, saying:

The fate of Elam

35 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Behold, I am breaking the bow of Elam, the apex of their might. 36 And I will bring upon Elam four winds from the four corners of the heavens, and I will scatter them to all these directions; there will be no nation where the exiles of Elam will not come. 37 I will devastate Elam before their enemies and before those who seek their soul, and I will bring upon them evil, My burning wrath — the word of HASHEM; I will send the sword after them, until I make an end of them. 38 I will place My throne in Elam; and I will cause king and officers to cease from there — the word of HASHEM. 39 But it will be, in the end of days, that I will return the captivity of Elam — the word of HASHEM.

50 1 The word that HASHEM spoke concerning Babylonia, concerning the land of the Chaldeans, through the hand of Jeremiah the prophet:

The fate of Babylonia

2 Proclaim it among the nations, announce it and hoist up a banner; make it heard, do not hold back. Say, 'Babylonia is captured! Bel is ashamed, Merodach is devastated; her idols are ashamed, her gods are devastated;* 3 for a nation from the North has attacked it.' They will lay their land waste and there will be no inhabitant in it; from man to beast, they have all wandered and gone off.*

4 In those days and at that time — the word of HASHEM — the Children of Israel will come, they together with the Children of Judah; they will walk along crying, they will seek out HASHEM, their God.* 5 They will ask about Zion; their faces will be turned toward it; [and they will say,] 'Come, be joined to HASHEM, with an eternal covenant, never to be forgotten.' 6 My people were [like] lost sheep; their shepherds caused them to go astray, aimless in the mountains. They went from mountain to hilltop, they forgot their pasture. 7 All who found them devoured them, and their enemies said, 'We feel no guilt; because they sinned against HASHEM, the Abode of righteousness, the Hope of their forefathers, HASHEM.'

Babylonia will be plundered

8 Now wander forth from amid Babylonia, and leave the land of the Chaldeans; be like male goats in front of the flock.* 9 For behold, I am arousing and raising up against Babylonia an assembly of great nations from the land of the North and they will array themselves for battle against her; from there they will be captured. His arrows are like a deadly warrior, 50:12. The end of the nations that constituted the Babylonian empire will be total ruin and desolation.

50:16. Upon the downfall of Babylonia, its foreign captives will be able to return to their native countries.

50:21. Babylonia is referred to as the rebellious land and as Pekod. Its conquerors are urged to carry out their Divinely assigned task with diligence.

50:27. The powerful government officers.

they will not return empty-handed. [10] The Chaldeans will become plunder; all its plunderers will be sated — the word of HASHEM. [11] because you are glad, because you exult, you tramplers of My heritage; because you fatten yourselves like a calf in the grass and neigh like mighty steeds; [12] *your mother is very shamed; the one who bore you is embarrassed; behold, the final outcome of the nations is as a wilderness, a wasteland and a desert. [13] Out of the rage of HASHEM it will not be inhabited, and all of it will be desolate; whoever passes Babylonia will be astonished and whistle over all its afflictions. [14] Array yourselves for battle against Babylonia all around, all you who draw the bow; shoot at her, do not spare arrows; for she has sinned to HASHEM. [15] Shout [the battle cry] against her, she puts her hand [out for help] all around. The foundations of her wall have fallen, her walls were cast down. Because it is the vengeance of HASHEM; be avenged against her! Do to her as she did! [16] *Eliminate the sower from Babylonia, as well as the bearer of a sickle at harvest time; from before the oppressor's sword, every man will turn toward his people and every man will flee to his country.

Like Assyria, Babylonia

[17] Israel is [like] scattered sheep — lions have dispersed them; the first one, the king of Assyria, devoured him, and this last one, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia, chewed up the bones. [18] Therefore, thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel: Behold, I will punish the king of Babylonia and his land, just as I punished the king of Assyria. [19] And I will return Israel to its abode, and he will graze in the Carmel and in the Bashan; and in Mount Ephraim and in the Gilead his soul will be satiated. [20] In those days and at that time — the word of HASHEM — the iniquity of Israel will be sought but it will not be there, and the transgressions of Judah, but they will not be found; for I will forgive those whom I will leave over.

[21] *Attack the rebellious land and the inhabitants of Pekod; destroy and demolish them, the word of HASHEM, and do according to all that I command you! [22] There is a sound of war in the land and a great disaster. [23] How has the hammer for the whole world been snapped and broken? How has Babylonia become desolate among the nations? [24] I laid a snare for you and you were trapped in it, O Babylonia, and you were unaware. You have been found and even seized, for you provoked HASHEM. [25] HASHEM has opened up His arsenal and has taken out the weapons of His wrath, for it is a task for my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions, in the land of the Chaldeans. [26] Come to her from [every] side; open up her storehouses, trample her like piles of grain and decimate her; leave her no remnant. [27] *Destroy all her bulls, let them go down to the slaughter; woe to them, for their day is coming, the time of their reckoning. [28] There is a sound of fleeing people and fugitives from the land of Babylonia to relate in Zion the revenge of HASHEM, our God, the revenge of His Sanctuary. [29] Mobilize against Babylonia, you marksmen, all who draw the bow, encamp against her all around; let her not have any survivor. Repay her according to her actions; do unto her according to all that she has done, for she has acted wickedly toward HASHEM, toward the Holy One of Israel. [30] Therefore, her young men will fall in her streets, and all her men of war will fall silent on that day — the word of HASHEM. [31] Behold, I am against you, O wicked one — the word of my Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions — for your day has arrived, the time for Me to punish you. [32] The wicked one will stumble and fall, and there will be no one to lift it up. And I will set fire to its cities, and it will consume all 50:37. The foreigners who joined in the Babylonian despotism and barbarism (Radak). Let them be as helpless in battle as women against well-armed, well-trained warriors.

51:1. Lit., "the heart of those who rise against Me," i.e., the Chaldean people. In the reversed alphabet code known as at-bash, לב קמי, Leb-kamei, is the coded form of כשדים, Chaldea (Rashi).

51:5. Despite the exile, God's people are not alone; He will surely rise to their aid.

God will redeem Israel

33 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: The Children of Israel and the Children of Judah are oppressed together; all their captors hold them fast and refuse to let them free. 34 Their mighty Redeemer, HASHEM, Master of Legions is His Name, will certainly take up their grievance, in order to calm the land and cause trembling for the inhabitants of Babylonia. 35 A sword against the Chaldeans — the word of HASHEM — and against the inhabitants of Babylonia and against its officers and against its wise men! 36 A sword against the sorcerers; let them be shown to be fools! A sword against its mighty men; let them be devastated! 37 A sword against its horses and chariots and against all the foreigners in its midst; let them be like women! A sword against its treasuries; let them be sacked!* 38 A dry heat against its waters; let them evaporate! For it is a land of graven idols, and they are mad over dread idols. 39 Therefore, the martens will inhabit it together with the cats, and owls will dwell there; and it will never again be settled, and it will not be inhabited for generation after generation, 40 like HASHEM*'s overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah and its neighbors — the word of* HASHEM — where no man shall live and no human shall sojourn. 41 Behold, a people is coming from the North; a great nation and many kings will arouse themselves from the ends of the earth. 42 They will be holding bow and spear; they are cruel and will show no mercy; their voice will roar like the sea, and they will ride upon horses. Armed, like a man [going] to war, against you, O daughter of Babylonia. 43 The king of Babylonia heard of their renown and his hands weakened; consternation seizes him, and pains like a woman in childbirth. 44 Behold, [the enemy] will ascend like a lion from the heights of the Jordan to a secure pasture land, for I shall bring [the enemy] suddenly and I shall make him overrun them, and I shall charge the designated [enemy] to deal with them. For who is like Me? Who can challenge Me? And who is the shepherd who can stand before Me? 45 Therefore, hear the counsel of HASHEM that He has devised against Babylonia, and His thoughts that he has conceived against the land of the Chaldeans: [The enemy] will indeed drag them off, the youngest of the flock; he will indeed destroy their abode. 46 The earth quakes from the sound of Babylonia's being seized, and the outcry is heard among the nations.

No mercy for Babylonia

51 1 Thus said HASHEM*: Behold, I am stirring up a spirit of destruction against Babylonia and against the inhabitants of Leb-kamai. 2 I shall send foreigners to Babylonia, who will scatter her and empty her land; for they will descend upon her from all around on the day of evil. 3 To the archer who draws his bow and to the one who goes forth boldly in his armor [I say]: 'Do not have compassion upon her young men; destroy all her legions!' 4 The slain will fall in the land of the Chaldeans, and the pierced in her streets. 5 For Israel is not widowed, [nor is] Judah, from his God, HASHEM, Master of Legions; for the [Chaldean] land is full of guilt toward the Holy One of Israel.* 6 Flee from the midst of Babylonia; everyone save his soul; do not be annihilated for their sin. For it is a time of vengeance for HASHEM*; He is paying [Babylonia] her due.*

The golden cup will be broken

7 A golden cup was Babylonia in the hand of HASHEM*, which intoxicated all the land; nations would drink from its wine, and the nations would thus become crazed.* 8 But suddenly Babylonia has fallen and become broken.

51:9. Babylonia's allies would say this when they saw that she could not be helped.

51:10. He has brought our cause to mind and wrought vengeance for us.

51:14. A common battle cry.

51:25. Babylonia is referred to as a "mountain" because of its great strength and apparent invincibility.

Babylonia will not be healed

Wail for her; get balm for her pain; perhaps she can be healed. [9] 'We tried to heal Babylonia, but she could not be healed; leave her, and let each of us go back to his land!' For her judgment reaches the very heavens, and rises to the highest heavens.* [10] HASHEM has brought out our [deeds of] righteousness; come let us relate in Zion the action of HASHEM our God.* [11] Prepare the arrows, fill the quivers; for HASHEM has stirred up the spirit of the kings of Medea, for His thoughts are directed against Babylonia, to destroy it; for it is the vengeance of HASHEM, vengeance for His Sanctuary. [12] Hoist up a banner against the walls of Babylon; strengthen the watch, set up guards, prepare the ambush, for HASHEM has also planned, and is also carrying out, what He had spoken concerning the inhabitants of Babylonia. [13] You who dwell upon many waters, who have many treasures, your end has come, the measure of your violence. [14] *HASHEM, Master of Legions, has sworn by Himself, 'I shall fill you with men as [numerous] as locusts, and they will call out against you, "Hedad!" '

The Creator

[15] He made the earth with His might, He established the world with His wisdom, and with His understanding spread out the heavens. [16] At the sound of His placement of a multitude of water in the heavens, He raised clouds from the end of the earth; He made lightning bolts for the rain and brings forth wind from His treassuries. [17] Every man is bereft of wisdom, every smith is shamed by [his] graven image, for his molten idol is false, and there is no life in it. [18] They are vanity, the work of deception; when they are called to account, they shall perish. [19] Unlike these is the Portion of Jacob, for He is the Molder of everything, and [Israel] is the tribe of His heritage; His Name is HASHEM, Master of Legions.

[20] You [Babylonia] were a mallet for Me, a tool of war; I smashed nations through you and destroyed kingdoms through you. [21] Through you I smashed the horse and its rider; through you I smashed the chariot and its rider; [22] through you I smashed man and woman, and through you I smashed elder and youth; through you I smashed young man and maiden; [23] through you I smashed the shepherd and his flock; through you I smashed the plowman with his yoke of oxen; through you I smashed governors and deputies. [24] Now I shall repay to Babylonia and to all the inhabitants of Chaldea all their evil that they did in Zion before your eyes — the word of HASHEM.

[25] Behold, I am against you, O Mount of Destruction — the word of HASHEM — that destroys the entire land; I shall stretch out My hand against you; I shall roll you down from the rocks and make you into a burnt mountain.* [26] They will not take from you a stone for a corner or a stone for foundations, for you will be an eternal wasteland — the word of HASHEM. [27] Raise a banner in the land, sound the shofar among the nations; summon nations against it, muster against it the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni and Ashkenaz; appoint a commander against it; bring up the horse, as the bristling locust.

Babylonia desolated

[28] Prepare nations against it: the kings of Media, its governors and all its deputies and the entire land of its dominion. [29] The land quaked and shuddered; for the thoughts of HASHEM arose against Babylonia, to lay the land of Babylonia desolate, without inhabitant. [30] The warriors of Babylonia have ceased to fight; they settled into the fortresses. Their might has slipped away; they have become [weak] like women. [The enemies] have set fire to its dwellings and its bolts have been broken. [31] Runner after runner will run, herald after herald to report to the king of Babylonia that his city has been taken 51:39. A reference to King Belshazzar's drunken orgy, huge royal banquet and assassination (Daniel Ch. 5).

51:41. In the reverse alphabet code known as at-bash, ששך, Sheshach, is the coded form of בבל, Babylonia (Rashi).

51:44. Bel was the chief deity of Babylonia. The metaphor means, "I will take away the wealth that Babylonia has accumulated from its vassal nations" (Kara).

51:46. There will be a report of the impending Persian invasion (Radak). After the Persian conquest, Darius, the conqueror, and Cyrus will reign in quick succession (Rashi).

51:50. Jeremiah urges the Jewish survivors in Babylonia to take advantage of Cyrus's future offer to rebuild the Temple.

51:51. Israel responds.

from end [to end]. [32] And the river crossings have been seized and the fortresses burned with fire; and the soldiers have become overwhelmed.

[33] For thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, the God of Israel: The daughter of Babylonia is like a threshing floor at the time of its threshing; in a little while the harvest time will have come for her.

[34] 'Nebuchadrezzar, the king of Babylonia, devoured me and demolished me; he left me like an empty vessel; he swallowed me like a serpent; he filled his stomach with my delicacies; he washed me out. [35] May the violence done against me and my sustenance be upon Babylonia,' says the inhabitant of Zion; 'and my blood upon the inhabitants of the Chaldeans,' says Jerusalem.

Babylonia will be a heap

[36] Therefore, thus said HASHEM: Behold, I take up your grievance and avenge your vengeance, and I will dry out its sea and I will dry up its source. [37] Babylonia will be a heap, a lair for jackals, desolate and a source of whistling, without inhabitant. [38] Together the [enemies] will roar like lion whelps; they growl like lion cubs. [39] *During their drunkenness I will spoil their drinking parties; I will intoxicate them so that they become merry; they will sleep an eternal sleep and never awaken — the word of HASHEM. [40] I will bring them down like fatted sheep for the slaughter, like rams and goats. [41] How has Sheshach been captured, and the glory of the whole world seized? How has Babylonia become a desolation among the nations?* [42] The sea has risen against Babylonia; she has been covered over by the multitude of its waves. [43] Its cities have become desolate, an arid land and a desert; a land in which no man lives and through which no human passes. [44] I will deal with Bel in Babylonia and I will remove from his mouth what he has swallowed, and nations will no longer be drawn to him; even the wall of Babylonia will tumble.*

[45] Go out from its midst, My people, and let each man save his soul from the burning anger of HASHEM. [46] *Lest you be disheartened and frightened by the report that will be heard in the land, a report will come that year and after it a report the next year: Violence in the land, and one ruler after another.

[47] Therefore, behold, days are coming when I will deal with the graven idols of Babylonia, and its entire land will be ashamed; and all its slain will fall in its midst. [48] Heaven and earth and all that is in them will rejoice over Babylonia, for the plunderers will come to it from the North — the word of HASHEM — [49] because Babylonia caused the slain of Israel to fall; and because of Babylonia the slain of the entire land fell. [50] O survivors of the sword — go forth, do not stand still; remember HASHEM from the distance and let Jerusalem come up in your hearts!*

Plundered from the north

[51] "We were shamed, for we heard words of disgrace; embarrassment covered our faces; for foreigners set upon the sanctuaries of HASHEM's Temple."*

[52] Therefore, behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when I will attend to their graven idols, and in all their land the mortally wounded will groan. [53] Even if Babylonia were to ascend to the heavens, and even if she were to fortify the height of her strongholds, pillagers would come to her from Me — the word of HASHEM. [54] A sound, a cry from Babylonia, and of a great calamity from the land of the Chaldeans, [55] for HASHEM is plundering Babylonia and He will end the loud sound from it; their waves roared like many waters; the din of their voices went forth.

52:1-27. Aside from a few minor differences, this passage is identical to II Kings 24:18-25:21.

52:3. Because of Israel's many sins, God decided to bring an end to the Jewish presence in the land. Therefore He incited Zedekiah to rebel against Nebuchadnezzar.

52:9. Nebuchadnezzar reprimanded Zedekiah for break-

56 For upon her, upon Babylonia, a plunderer is coming; her warriors will be captured and their bows will be smashed, for HASHEM is a God of retribution; He will surely exact recompense. 57 I will intoxicate her officers and her wise men, her governors, her deputies and her warriors; they will sleep an eternal sleep and never awaken — the word of the King, HASHEM, Master of Legions, is His Name.

58 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: The broad walls of Babylonia will be completely uprooted and her tall gates will be set on fire; the peoples will toil in great futility and nations shall become exhausted through much fire.

Jeremiah's charge to Seraiah

59 [This is] the word that Jeremiah the prophet commanded to Seraiah son of Neriah son of Mahseiah, when he went with Zedekiah king of Judah to Babylonia, in the fourth year of his reign. (Seraiah was in charge of tribute.) 60 Jeremiah wrote down all the misfortunes that were to come upon Babylonia in one book, all these prophecies that are written about Babylonia; 61 and Jeremiah said to Seraiah, "When you arrive in Babylonia, you shall see and read all these words, 62 and say, 'HASHEM, You have spoken of destroying this place, so that there should no longer be an inhabitant in it, from man to beast, for it shall be an eternal wasteland!' 63 And then, when you finish reading this book, tie a stone onto it and throw it into the midst of the Euphrates, 64 and say, 'Thus shall Babylonia sink and not rise, because of the evil that I am bringing against it; and they will grow exhausted.' "

Until this point are the prophecies of Jeremiah.

Zedekiah's reign
(See Appendix A, timelines 4-5)

1 * Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. 2 He did what was evil in the eyes of HASHEM, like everything that Jehoiakim had done. 3 It was because the wrath of HASHEM was upon Jerusalem and Judah, until He would cast them away from His presence, that Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylonia. *

The siege and breaching of the walls

4 It happened in the ninth year of [Zedekiah's] reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth of the month, that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia, he and his entire army, came [to wage war] against Jerusalem and encamped near it, and built a seige tower around it. 5 The city came under siege until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. 6 In the fourth month, on the ninth of the month, the famine in the city became critical; there was no food for the people of the land. 7 The city was breached, and all the men of war fled and left the city during the night, by way of the gate between the walls, which was near the king's garden, although the Chaldeans were upon the city all around; and they went by way of the Arabah.

Zedekiah's capture

8 The Chaldean army pursued the king and overtook Zedekiah at the plains of Jericho and his entire army dispersed from him. 9 *They seized the king and brought him up to the king of Babylonia at Riblah, in the land of Hamath, and he spoke [words of] judgment to him. 10 The king of Babylonia slaughtered Zedekiah's sons before his eyes; he also slaughtered the officers of Judah in Riblah; 11 and he blinded Zedekiah's eyes, then they bound him in copper chains; the king of Babylonia brought him to Babylonia, where he was put in the place of detention until the day of his death.

12 In the fifth month, on the tenth of the month, * which was the nineteenth year ing his pledge of loyalty to Babylonia (Rashi).

52:12-13. The Temple was actually set afire in the late afternoon of the ninth of the month, Tishah B'Av, but the fire did most of the damage on the tenth (Taanis 29a).

The city in flames of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia, Nebuzaradan, the chief executioner, [who] was in the service of the king of Babylonia, came to Jerusalem. 13 He burned the Temple of HASHEM, the king's palace and all the buildings of Jerusalem; and every great house he burned in fire.* 14 And all the walls of Jerusalem all around, the entire Chaldean army that was with the chief executioner smashed. 15 And some of the poor people, the remainder of the people who were left in the city, the defectors who had surrendered to the king of Babylonia, and the rest of the masses, Nebuzaradan, the chief executioner, sent into exile. 16 But the chief executioner left some of the poor people of the land, to be workers in vineyards and in fields.

Sack of the Temple

17 The copper pillars of the Temple of HASHEM, and the laver-stands and the copper sea that were in the Temple of HASHEM, the Chaldeans shattered and carried off their copper to Babylonia.* 18 The pots, the shovels, the musical instruments, the bowls, the spoons and all the copper utensils with which [the Kohanim] served, [the Chaldeans] took away. 19 The basins, the pans, the bowls, the pots, the candelabra, the spoons and the table-rods, whether of gold or of silver, the chief executioner took away. 20 The two pillars, the one sea, the twelve copper oxen that were near the laver-stands that King Solomon had made for the Temple of HASHEM — there was no weight [with which to measure] the copper of all these items. 21 [This is a description of] the pillars: eighteen cubits the height of the one pillar, a twelve-cubit line would encircle it, its thickness four finger-breadths, and [it was] hollow; 22 a copper capital upon it, the height of the single capital five cubits; and a netting and pomegranate figures upon the capital all around, all of copper; the same [ornaments] for the second pillar, with pomegranates. 23 There were ninety-six pomegranates facing outside; altogether there were one hundred pomegranates all around the netting.

Death and exile

24 The chief executioner took Seraiah the chief Kohen and Zephaniah the deputy Kohen and the three gatekeepers. 25 From the city he took one officer who was in charge of the men of war; seven men from those [advisers] who see the king's face, who were found in the city; the secretary of the general of the army, who would marshal the common people for war; and sixty men of the common people who were found inside the city. 26 Nebuzaradan, the chief executioner, took them and brought them to the king of Babylonia at Riblah, 27 and the king of Babylonia struck them down and killed them at Riblah, in the land of Hamath. And Judah was exiled from its land.

28 This is the people whom Nebuchadrezzar exiled: In the seventh year, three thousand and twenty-three Jews;* 29 in Nebuchadrezzar's eighteenth year, from Jerusalem, eight hundred and thirty-two souls;* 30 and in Nebuchadrezzar's twenty-third year, Nebuzaradan the chief executioner exiled seven hundred and forth-five Jewish souls — altogether four thousand and six hundred souls.

52:13. The Sages interpret that they burned the synagogues and study halls, which are the major buildings of the Jewish people (Rashi).

Ezekiel יְחֶזְקֵאל

The sins of Israel had become irreparable. The Temple would be destroyed, as the somber narratives of the later chapters of Kings and Chronicles detail. The people looked up the hill at their Temple, confident that it would protect itself and them from King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon and his conquering army. No human king could destroy the habitat of God's Presence! But, as the Talmud describes it, the Divine Presence was receding from the Temple, stage by stage, in ten stages. Holiness had been there because of the people; when they lost their merit, it lost its holiness. The building on the hill was no longer a "Temple," it was merely a grand edifice, a shell, devoid of its sanctity. And then, it was reduced to a flaming ruin, with its people dead or driven off to exile and slavery.

Such was the world of the prophet Ezekiel. His primary mission was directed not to the Jews of a dying Land of Israel, but to the Jews of Babylon, the exiled Jews who thought that they had lost their share in the God of Israel. They reasoned: Does a husband have a claim to his wife's loyalty after he divorced her? Does a master have a claim to his slave's services after he sent him away? And can God still claim us as His people after abandoning us to Nebuchadnezzar?

To these forlorn Jews, Ezekiel was a prophet of hope, as well as rebuke. Most of his prophecy was to the exiles, although he had much to say to the unheeding Jews of Jerusalem, as well. He showed them that he truly shared their suffering, becoming the very symbol of their plight — as he pounded his hand and stamped his foot in despair, and lost his own beloved wife in a plague, to symbolize for them that even one's most cherished possession — a wife, a Temple — could be stripped away.

But ultimately, Ezekiel is the prophet of hope and triumph. He foretells the time when God will pluck Israel from the nations and sprinkle purifying waters upon it, and replace its stubborn heart with a warm, feeling heart of flesh; when Israel — a humble, battered "vine" — would rise to dwarf the haughty cedars and redwoods. Ezekiel is the prophet who was shown the vision of the "dry bones" rising and coming back to life. In his prophecy, despair disappears; death turns to life; the "corpse" of Israel becomes a vibrant new nation. Judah and Ephraim are united again with a scion of David as their king, with the Land of Israel as their home, and with Hashem as their God.

The Book of Ezekiel is surely a book of tragedy, but not a book of despair, for Israel will rise again and return to its home. There, in Jerusalem, it will assume a new and eternal name: יְהוָה שָׁמָּה, HASHEM is there (48:35).

Chapter 1. This chapter is referred to by the Sages as Maaseh Merkavah, "The Account of the Chariot." The first three verses give the time and place of the vision, and the remaining verses describe the vision itself. In this account, Ezekiel speaks of the workings of the Heavenly Throne, a topic so far removed from human comprehension that even the Sages of the Talmud felt inadequate to interpret it, and sharply limited the permissibility of expounding its teachings. It describes supernatural concepts in human terms, but they cannot be understood literally nor are we equipped even to attempt a glimpse at their inner meaning.

1:1. This was in the thirtieth year of the fifty-year Jubilee cycle (Rashi), during the month of Tammuz; as explained in verse 2, this was the fifth year of King Jehoiachin's exile to Babylonia.

1:4. According to the Sages, the Chashmal is a type of angel that at times stands silent (חש) and at times speaks

EZEKIEL'S VISION OF THE MERKAVAH/ CHARIOT 1:1-3:13

1 It happened in the thirtieth year, in the fourth [month],* on the fifth of the month, as I was among the exile by the River Chebar; the heavens opened and I saw visions of God. 2 On the fifth of the month, which was in the fifth year of the exile of King Jehoiachin, 3 the word of HASHEM came to Ezekiel son of Buzi, the Kohen, in the land of the Chaldeans, by the River Chebar; and the hand of HASHEM came upon him there.

4 I saw, and behold! there was a stormy wind coming from the north, a great cloud with flashing fire and a brilliance surrounding it; and from its midst, like the color of the Chashmal* in the midst of the fire; 5 and in its midst there was a likeness of four Chayos.* This was their appearance: They had the likeness of a man; 6 each one had four faces, and each one of them had four wings; 7 their legs were a straight leg, and the sole of their feet was like the sole of a rounded foot, and they glittered with the color of burnished copper; 8 there were human hands under their wings on their four sides. Their faces and their wings [were alike] on the four of them; 9 their wings were joined to one another. They did not turn as they went; each in the direction of its faces would they go. 10 As for the likeness of their faces: There was a human face; and a lion's face to the right for the four of them; and an ox's face to the left for the four of them, and an eagle's face for the four of them. 11 As for their faces: Their wings extended upward [over them]; for each [face] two [wings] were joined to each other;* and two [wings] were covering their bodies. 12 Each in the direction of its faces would they go; toward wherever there was the spirit to go, they would go; they did not turn as they went. 13 As for the likeness of the Chayos: Their appearance was like fiery coals, burning like the appearance of torches; it* spread about among the Chayos; there was a brilliance to the fire, and from the fire went forth lightning. 14 The Chayos ran to and fro like the appearance of a flash. 15 I saw the Chayos — and behold! one Ofan* was on the surface near [each of] the Chayos by its four faces. 16 The appearance of the Ofanim and their nature were like the color of tarshish,* with the same likeness for the four of them; and their appearance and their works were as if there would be a wheel within a wheel. 17 When they went, they would go toward their four sides; they did not turn as they went.* 18 They had backs, and they were tall, and they were fearsome. Their backs were full of eyes surrounding the four of them. 19 When the Chayos would go, the Ofanim would go next to them, and when the Chayos were lifted from upon the surface, the Ofanim were lifted. 20 Toward wherever there was the spirit to go, they would go, [for] there was the spirit to go; the Ofanim were lifted facing them, for the spirit in the Chayah was [also] in the Ofanim. 21 When [the Chayos] would go, [the Ofanim] would go, and when they halted, they halted; and when they were lifted from upon the surface, the Ofanim were lifted facing them, for the spirit in the Chayah was [also] in the Ofanim. 22 There was a likeness of an expanse above the heads of the Chayah, like the color of the awesome ice, spread out over their heads from above. 23 And beneath the expanse, their wings were even one with the other;* for each [of them] two [wings] covered them, and for each [of them] two covered them, their bodies.

(קְלוֹל) God's praises (Chagigah 13a).

1:5. Lit., living beings (singular, Chayah). These were the angels who bore the Heavenly Chariot.

1:11. Two wings touched one another in front of their faces, so that they would not gaze at God's glory (Rashi).

1:13. The above appearance (Rashi); or the fire (Targum).

1:15. An Ofan (lit., wheel) is a type of celestial being.

1:16. Rock crystal or beryl.

1:17. See 10:11.

1:23. The wings of each Chayah were paired — two to cover its face and two to cover its body (Kara).

1:24. The Divine Name SHADDAI (usually translated "the Almighty") indicates God's might and His control over nature. See also 10:5.

1:27. See v. 4.

2:1. Throughout this Book, God addresses Ezekiel as "Son of Adam," i.e. of Man, and speaks of Israel collectively as "Adam" (34:31, 36:10). The reference is to Adam, the first man, and the mission for which he was created. By use of these names, God suggests to Ezekiel that he and his nation, despite their severe shortcomings, are still expected to live up to God's hopes for humanity, the mission that was originally given to Adam and then transferred to Abraham and his offspring (R' M. Eisemann).

24 I heard the sound of their wings, like the sound of great waters, like the sound of SHADDAI, * as they moved, the sound of a commotion, like the sound of a camp; when they would halt, they would release their wings. 25 There was a voice from above the expanse that was over their heads; when they would halt, they would release their wings. 26 Above the expanse that was over their heads was the appearance of sapphire stone in the likeness of a throne, and upon the likeness of the throne there was a likeness like the appearance of a man upon it, from above. 27 *And I saw the color of Chashmal, * like the appearance of fire inside it all around, from the appearance of his loins and upward; and from the appearance of his loins and downward I saw something like the appearance of fire, and a brilliance surrounding it.* 28 Like the appearance of a bow that would be in the clouds on a rainy day, so was the appearance of the brilliance all around. That was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of HASHEM!

When I saw, I fell upon my face, and I heard a voice speaking.

2 1 *Then He said to me, "Son of Man, * stand on your feet and I will speak to you."* 2 A spirit entered into me as He spoke to me and it stood me on my feet, and I heard that which was being spoken to me.

"Son of Man"

Ezekiel's Mission

3 *He said to me, "Son of Man, I send you to the Children of Israel, to the rebellious nations * that have rebelled against Me; they and their fathers have defiantly sinned against Me to this very day;* 4 and the children are brazen-faced and hard-hearted — I send you to them. You shall say to them, 'Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ ELOHIM.'* 5 *Now they, whether they will heed, whether they will refrain * — for a rebellious house are they — they will know that a prophet has been among them.*

6 "But you, Son of Man, fear not them and fear not their words, though they are thorns and thistles to you, and among scorpions do you dwell; fear not their words and be not intimidated before them, though they are a rebellious house. 7 Speak My words to them, whether they will obey, whether they will refrain — for they are rebellious!

8 "And you, Son of Man, heed that which I speak to you: Be not rebellious like the rebellious house. Open your mouth and eat that which I give you." 9 Then I saw, and behold! a hand was outstretched to me; and behold! in it was a scroll of parchment. 10 He spread it out before me; it was inscribed within and without, and in it was inscribed lamentations, moaning, and woe.

3 "Eat this scroll!"

1 *He then said to me, "Son of Man, that which you find, eat; eat this scroll * then go speak to the House of Israel!"* 2 So I opened my mouth and He fed me that scroll. 3 And He said to me, "Son of Man, feed your stomach and fill your innards with this scroll that I give to you." So I ate; and it was as sweet as honey in my mouth.

4 He said to me, "Son of Man, go and approach the House of Israel and speak to them with My words. 5 For not to a people of incoherent language and difficult speech are you being sent, [but] to the House of Israel. 6 It is not to numerous peoples of incoherent language and difficult speech whose words you cannot understand; surely, had I sent you to them they would have heeded you! 7 But the House of Israel will not wish to heed you for they do not wish

2:3. The tribes of Israel are called nations (Radak).

2:4. The combined Name HASHEM/ELOHIM represents God's love showing itself in justice, meaning that even when He denies or punishes, His underlying purpose is merciful. Since Ezekiel, more than any other, was the prophet of exile, he uses this Name far more than any other prophet (R' S. R. Hirsch).

2:5. From sinning (Targum); from obeying (Rashi).

3:1. This is a metaphor, meaning that he had internalized the mission with which he had been charged (Targum).

Haftarah for first day of Shavuos continues here: 3:12

3:8. I have given you greater fortitude than they have.
3:11. See 2:5.
3:13. Celestial beings described in Chapter 1.
3:17. You became responsible for the welfare of the people who will rely on you to warn them of danger.
3:24. Ezekiel was not to rebuke the people until he had received the complete prophecy (Radak).
4:1. God commanded Ezekiel to perform an act that would symbolize the impending siege of Jerusalem. Jeremiah had been foretelling it, but the people ignored to heed Me, for the entire House of Israel is hard-browed and brazen-hearted.

8 Behold, I have made your face hard against their face, and your brow hard against their brow. * 9 Like a metal stronger than flint have I made your brow; fear them not and be not intimidated before them, though they are a rebellious house."

10 Then He said to me, "Son of Man, all My words that I will speak to you, take into your heart and hearken with your ears; 11 *and go, come to the exile, to the children of your people, and speak to them. Say to them, 'Thus says the Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM' whether they will heed or whether they will refrain."

12 Then a wind lifted me and I heard behind me the sound of a great noise, [saying,] "Blessed be the glory of HASHEM from His place," 13 *and the sound of the wings of the Chayos *knocking against one another, and the sound of the Ofanim opposite them, and the sound of a great noise.

Among the exiles

14 Thus a wind lifted me and took me and I went in bitterness, in the wrath of my spirit, and the hand of HASHEM was strong upon me. 15 Then I came to the exiles, to Tel-abib, who were dwelling along the River Chebar, and I dwelt where they were dwelling. I dwelt there for a seven-day period, silently among them.

The prophet as sentinel

16 It happened at the end of [the] seven-day period that the word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 17 *"Son of Man, I have appointed you a sentinel for the House of Israel; when you hear a matter from My mouth, you shall warn them on My behalf. 18 When I say of a wicked one, 'You shall surely die!' and you do not warn him, and do not speak up to warn the wicked one concerning his evil way, to save his life, then he, the wicked one, will die for his iniquity and I will demand his blood from your hand. 19 But if you did warn the wicked one, yet he does not turn away from his wickedness and from his evil way, he will die for his iniquity. And as for you, you will have saved your soul.

20 "And when a righteous person turns from his righteousness and acts corruptly and I place a stumbling block before him, he will die. Because you did not warn him he will die for his sin, and his righteousness that he did will not be remembered, and I will demand his blood from your hand. 21 But you, if you did warn him, the righteous man, that the righteous man should not sin, and he did not sin; he will surely live because he was careful. And as for you, you will have saved your soul."

Another vision of God's glory

22 The hand of HASHEM came upon me there, and He said to me, "Arise and go out to the valley and there I will speak with you." 23 So I arose and went out to the valley and behold — the glory of HASHEM was standing there, like the glory that I saw by the River Chebar, and I fell upon my face. 24 *Then a spirit entered into me and stood me on my feet; and He spoke to me, and said to me, "Come, shut yourself inside your house. 25 And you, Son of Man, behold, [it is as if] they had put ropes upon you and bound you with them; you shall not go out among them. 26 I will make your tongue cleave to your palate and you will become mute, and you will not be a man of rebuke unto them, for they are a rebellious house. 27 But when I will have spoken to you I will open your mouth, and you will say to them, 'Thus said the Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM.' Whoever hears will hear and whoever refrains will refrain, for they are a rebellious house.

Acting out the siege

1 *"Now you, Son of Man, take for yourself a brick, place it before you, and engrave on it a city — Jerusalem. 2 Then lay siege against it — erect a siege tower against it, pour a ramp against it, place camps against it and set up his prophecies, deluding themselves that the Temple was immune to attack. Ezekiel would now try to convince them otherwise by symbolically besieging the city with his arm bared (v. 7), like a warrior.

4:4. Ezekiel would lie on his side for a long period — 390 days — to symbolize 390 years of Israel's general sinfulness, and another forty days because the Kingdom of Judah had continued to sin for forty years after the Ten Tribes had been exiled. His suffering would atone somewhat for Israel's sins, so that the people would not be eradicated entirely (Rashi).

4:10. This represented the severe rationing system that would be imposed during the siege (Rashi), twenty shekels weighing between two and three pounds for each 24-hour period.

4:11. Between twenty-five and thirty fluid ounces.

4:12. To emphasize the desperate nature of the siege, the people would eat barley, which was usually used as battering rams all around. [3] Now you, take for yourself an iron pan and place it as an iron wall between yourself and the city, and set your face against it; thus it will be under siege, for you will lay siege to it. It is a sign to the House of Israel.

[4] "Then lie upon your left side, and place the iniquity of the House of Israel upon it; * according to the number of days that you lie upon it you will bear their iniquity.

390 days and 40 days

[5] I have given you the years of their iniquity as a number of days — three hundred and ninety days — and you shall bear the iniquity of the House of Israel. [6] "When you complete these, then lie upon your right side a second time and bear the iniquity of the House of Judah for forty days; a day for a year, a day for a year have I assigned it for you. [7] Direct your face toward the siege of Jerusalem, with your arm bared; and you shall prophesy against it. [8] Behold, [it is as if] I had placed ropes upon you so that you not turn from your one side to your other side until you have completed the days of your siege.

The food of siege

[9] "Now you, take for yourself wheat, barley, beans, lentils, millet, and spelt; put them into one vessel and prepare them as food for yourself. According to the number of days that you lie on your side — three hundred and ninety days — are you to eat it. [10] Now, your food that you eat shall be twenty shekels per day by weight, * you shall eat [this amount] from this time [one day] to the same time [the next day]. [11] And water by measure shall you drink; a sixth of a hin * from this time to the same time shall you drink [it]. [12] You shall eat it as a barley cake, * and you shall bake it with pieces of human excrement, before their eyes."

[13] HASHEM said, "Thus will the Children of Israel eat their food: unclean, among the nations where I will banish them."

[14] But I said, "Alas, Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM! Behold, my soul has not been defiled; I have never eaten carrion nor meat from a wounded animal from my youth until now, nor has loathsome meat ever come into my mouth." *

[15] So He said to me, "See, I have permitted you the dung of cattle instead of human excrement; you may prepare your food upon them."

[16] Then He said to me, "Son of Man, behold, I am breaking the staff of bread in Jerusalem, and people will eat bread by weight and with worry, and drink water by measure and with consternation; [17] for they will lack bread and water, and every man and his brother will be confounded, and they will pine away in their iniquity."

5 [1] "You, Son of Man, take for yourself a sharp sword, take for yourself a barber's razor, and pass it over your head and over your beard; then take for yourself the scales of a balance and divide them. * [2] Burn one third in a fire inside the city * upon completion of the days of the siege, take one third and strike [it] with a sword all around it, and scatter one third to the wind, and I will unsheathe a sword after them. [3] Then take from there a numbered few and bind them into your hems. [4] Then take from them once again and throw them into the middle of the fire, and burn them in the fire; from it a fire will go forth to the entire House of Israel.

The sword, the fire, and the wind

[5] Thus said the Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM: This is Jerusalem! Among the nations have I placed her, and all around her are countries. [6] She exchanged fodder, and for fuel they would be forced to use human excrement.

4:14. I cannot bear to eat such repulsive food.

5:1. I.e., divide your hairs.

5:2. Burn it in the "city" etched into the brick (4:1).

5:4. That is, these symbolic acts that you perform will portend actual events in the real world, as described in v. 12, where God addresses Jerusalem.

5:7. Instead of following the decent practices of your neighbors, you copied those that are contemptible.

5:11. Just as you showed no compunction about desecrating My glory, I will show no compassion to you.

My laws for wickedness more than the nations did, and [exchanged] My decrees more than the countries that are around her; for they spurned My laws and did not follow My decrees. 7 *Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because you readied yourselves [for sin] more than the nations around you — you did not follow My decrees, you did not fulfill My laws; you did not even act according to the laws of the nations around you — 8 therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I too am against you, and I will execute judgments in your midst, before the eyes of the nations. 9 I will do with you what I have never done, and the likes of which I will never do again, because of all your abominations. 10 Therefore, fathers will eat sons in your midst, and sons will eat their fathers; and I will execute judgments among you and scatter your entire remnant to every direction. 11 Therefore, as I live — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — I swear that because you have defiled My Sanctuary with all your detestations and all your abominations, also I will diminish [you]; My eye will have no pity, and I, too, will show no compassion. * 12 One third of you will die by the plague and be consumed by the famine in your midst; one third will fall around you by the sword; and one third I will scatter to every direction, and I will unsheathe the sword after them. 13 My anger will be spent and I will put My wrath to rest through [punishing] them and so I will find consolation. Then they will know that I, HASHEM, have spoken in My zeal, when I spend My wrath upon them. 14 I will make you into a ruin and a disgrace among the nations that are around you, before the eyes of every passerby. 15 [Jerusalem] will be a disgrace and a taunt, a lesson and an astonishment to the nations that are around you when I execute judgments on you in anger, in wrath and with wrathful rebuke; I am HASHEM, I have spoken. 16 When I dispatch against them the evil arrows of famine that are for destruction, which I will dispatch to destroy you, then I will intensify the famine upon you and I will break your staff of bread; 17 I will send against you famine and harmful beast, and they will bereave you; and plague and bloodshed will pass among you; and I will bring the sword against you. I, HASHEM, have spoken."

6 1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man, direct your face toward the mountains of Israel and prophesy to them: 3 Say,

Mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM! Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM to the mountains and to the hills, to the ravines and to the valleys: Behold, I am bringing the sword against you and I will destroy your high places. 4 Desolate will your altars be, and broken will your sun-images be, and I will cast down your slain before your idols. 5 I will set the corpses of the Children of Israel before their idols, and I will scatter your bones around your altars. 6 In all your habitations the cities will be destroyed and the high places made desolate, so that your altars be destroyed and desolated, your idols broken and nullified, your sun-images cut down, and your deeds eradicated. 7 Corpses will fall in your midst, and you will know that I am HASHEM. 8 But I will leave a remnant, so that you will have some survivors from the sword among the nations when you become scattered among the lands; 9 and your survivors will remember Me among the nations where they were taken captive, how I was anguished by their straying heart that turned away from Me and by their eyes that strayed after their idols;

6:9. Realizing that it was their own fault that they had been exiled, they will be ashamed for not having heeded the exhortations of the prophets (Rashi).

7:10. The rod of punishment is ready to strike.

7:12-13. Whether or not a deal was profitable will be immaterial because total destruction is at hand. The seller will be exiled too far away from his former field to be reminded of its forfeiture (Rashi).

7:13. Morally or spiritually.

7:14. They will be overwhelmed by the enemy.

then they will be disgusted with themselves for the evils they did through all their abominations.* [10] Then they will know that I am HASHEM, that I did not speak in vain about doing this evil to them.

[11] Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Clap with your hand and stamp with your foot and say, 'Alas!' because of all the evil abominations of the House of Israel, who will fall by the sword, by the famine and by the plague. [12] He who is far [from the battlefield] will die by the plague, and he who is near will fall by the sword, and he that remains and is besieged will die by the famine; and I will spend My wrath upon them. [13] Then you will know that I am HASHEM, when their corpses will be among their idols around their altars, on every high hill, on all the mountaintops and under every leafy tree and under every thick elm — the place where they offered the savor of pleasing aroma to all their idols. [14] And I will stretch out My hand over them and lay the land waste and desolate, from the wilderness of Diblah throughout all their habitations; then they will know that I am HASHEM.

Retribution is inherent in the evil itself

[1] The word of HASHEM came to me, saying: [2] You, Son of Man, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM to [those who dwell upon] the soil of Israel: An end! The end has come upon the four corners of the land! [3] Now the end is upon you, and I will send My anger against you and I will judge you according to your ways, and I will place upon you [punishment for] all your abominations; [4] My eye will not spare you and I will not have compassion; for I will place upon you [punishment for] your ways and [punishment for] your abominations will be in your midst; then you will know that I am HASHEM.

[5] Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: An evil, a singular evil — behold, it is coming. [6] An end has come; the end has come! It is aroused against you. Behold, it comes.

[7] The dawn has come against you, O dweller of the land. The time has come; the day of tumult is near — and it is not the [joyous] shout of the mountains. [8] Now, speedily, I will pour My wrath upon you, and I will spend My anger against you, and I will judge you according to your ways; and I will place upon you [punishment for] all your abominations. [9] And My eye will not spare and I will not have compassion. I will place upon you [punishment for] your ways, and [punishment for] your abominations will be in your midst; then you will know that I am HASHEM Who smites. [10] Behold the day! Behold, it comes! The dawn has gone forth, the rod has sprouted fruit, wantoness has blossomed.* [11] Violence has arisen to become a rod of wickedness; there is not among them, nor among their multitude nor among their offspring, anyone among them who yearns [for Me].

[12] *The time has come, the day has arrived; let the buyer not be glad nor the seller mourn; for fury is upon her entire multitude. [13] *For the seller — he will not return to that which was sold as long as his soul is alive; for there was a prophetic vision for her entire multitude, it will not return. Each man — his very being remains with his iniquity; they will not fortify themselves.

[14] They will blow the horn and prepare everything, but no one will go to war, for My fury is upon all her multitude.* [15] The sword is outside and plague and famine are inside; whoever is in the field will die by the sword, and whoever is in the city, famine and plague will consume him. [16] Their fugitives will flee; and they will be in the mountains, all of them moaning like pigeons of the valleys, each man in his iniquity. [17] All hands will be weak and all knees will melt [like] water. [18] They will gird themselves in sackcloth

7:18. They will have pulled out their hair in grief.

7:20. The Temple.

7:22. When God turns away from Israel, the enemy will be enabled to enter and profane the Temple, where His Presence had been concealed.

7:23. Ezekiel was commanded to make a chain as a sign that the people would soon be led into exile in fetters.

8:1. This vision occurred in the month of Elul of the sixth year of Jehoiachin's exile, exactly fourteen months after the vision described in Chapter 1 (see 1:2). In this prophetic vision, Ezekiel is transported to Jerusalem and shown its destruction.

8:2. See note to 1:4.

8:3. This was the name of an idol.

8:8. Ezekiel enlarged the hole to symbolize that enemies would soon break down the walls of the Temple because of the sins that were taking place there (Radak).

and terror will cover them; on every face will be shame, and on all their heads baldness. * 19 They will throw their silver in the streets and their gold will become repulsive, for their silver and their gold will be unable to rescue them on the day of HASHEM*'s fury; they will not satisfy their souls and they will not fill their stomachs, for it was the stumbling block of their iniquity.* 20 *The beauty of His ornament He had set for majesty, yet they made their abominable and detestable images within it; therefore, I have made it into a repulsive thing for them. 21 And I will give it into the hand of strangers for plunder, and unto the wicked of the earth for spoils, and they will profane it. 22 I will turn My face away from them and they will profane the place where I am hidden, * and into it will come lawless people and profane it.

23 Make the chain, * for the land is full of blood guilt and the city is full of injustice. 24 So I will bring the wickedest nations and they will inherit their houses; and I will put an end to the pride of the mighty; and their holy places will be profaned.

25 A cutting off is coming; they will seek peace, but there will be none. 26 Disaster will come upon disaster, and report will be upon report; [in vain] will they seek vision from the prophet, and teaching will be lost from the Kohen, and counsel from the elders. 27 The king will mourn and the leader will be clothed with consternation, and the hands of the people of the land will be confounded; I will act with them according to their ways, and by the judgments they deserve I will judge them. Then they will know that I am HASHEM."

8 1 It happened in the sixth year, in the sixth [month], * on the fifth of the month, I was sitting in my house and the elders of Judah were sitting before me, and the hand of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM fell upon me there. 2 I saw and behold! there was a likeness like the appearance of fire; from the appearance of his loins and downward there was fire; from his loins and upward was like the appearance of a radiance like the color of the Chashmal. * 3 Then he stretched forth the form of a hand and took me by a lock of my head; and a wind carried me between the earth and the heavens and brought me to Jerusalem in Divine visions, to the entrance of the inner gate that faces northward, where the seat of the provocative Image of Provocation [stood]. * 4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there, like the appearance that I had seen in the valley.

Idolatry in the Temple itself

5 He said to me, "Son of Man, lift your eyes now to the way northward." So I lifted up my eyes to the way northward, and behold, north of the altar gate, this Image of Provocation [was] in the entryway. 6 Then He said to me, "Son of Man, do you see what they do? Great abominations are [the people of] the House of Israel committing here, to cause Me to distance Myself from My Sanctuary. And now you will yet again see great abominations."

7 He then brought me to the entrance of the courtyard. I saw that behold, there was a single hole in the wall. 8 *Then He said to me, "Son of Man, tunnel through the wall now." So I tunneled through the wall, and behold, [there was] an entrance. 9 Then He said to me, "Enter and see the evil abominations that they commit here!"

10 So I entered and I saw, and behold, every sort of image — disgusting creeping things and animals and all the idols of the House of Israel — were carved upon the wall all around. 11 And seventy men of the elders of the House of Israel, with Jaazaniah son of Shaphan standing among them, were standing before them, each man

8:12. I.e., paved surfaces for prostration and worship (see Leviticus 26:1).

8:14. The Tammuz was an idol made in such a way as to create the optical illusion that it was crying, as if begging for offerings (Rashi).

8:17. The scent of their incense is referred to derogatorily as the foul odor of expelled flatulence. In deference to God's honor, the odor is described as going into their nose, rather than into God's nose.

9:1. Ezekiel heard as God summoned the forces that were to destroy the city.

9:2. The man clothed in linen was the angel Gabriel, the angel of fire, who, in Ezekiel's vision, was to cast fire upon Jerusalem. From his loins hung scribal implements (rep-with his censer in his hand, with a thick cloud of incense rising.

12 Then He said to me, "Have you seen, O Son of Man, what the elders of the House of Israel do in the darkness, each man in his paved rooms? For they say, 'HASHEM does not see us,' [and] 'HASHEM has forsaken the land.' "* 13 And He said to me, "Now you will see yet again great abominations that they do."

14 *He then brought me to the entrance of the gate of the Temple of HASHEM that is to the north, and behold, there were women sitting, causing Tammuz to cry. 15 And He said to me, "Do you see, Son of Man? Now you will see yet again even greater abominations than these." 16 Then He brought me to the inner courtyard of the Temple of HASHEM, and behold, at the entrance of the Sanctuary of HASHEM, between the Entrance-hall and the Altar, were some twenty-five men, with their backs to the Sanctuary of HASHEM, with their faces turned eastward; they were bowing eastward to the sun. 17 *He said to me, "Do you see, Son of Man? Were [their other sins] too trivial for the House of Judah that they had to commit the abominations that they have committed here? For they have filled the Land with injustice, and yet they return to anger Me [in My own House], for here they are, they are sending their foul odor into their nose. 18 I, too, will react with wrath; My eye will not spare and I will not have compassion; though they cry in My ears with a loud voice, I will not hearken to them."

9 1 He then called within my earshot [with] a loud voice, saying, "Bring near those appointed over the city, each with his weapon of destruction in his hand."* 2 And behold, six men were coming from the direction of the Upper Gate that faces northward, each man with his sledgehammer in his hand; but one man among them was clothed in linen, with a scribe's slate at his loins. They came and stood by the Copper Altar.*

3 Then the glory of the God of Israel ascended from atop the Cherub on which it had been, going to the threshold of the Temple; and He called to the man clothed in linen, on whose loins was the scribe's slate. 4 *And HASHEM said to him, "Pass through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem, and mark a sign on the foreheads of the men who sigh and moan for all the abominations that are done within it."

5 Then He said to those within my earshot, "Pass through the city behind him and smite; let your eye not spare and do not have compassion. 6 Old man, young man and maiden, children and women, shall you slay, to utter destruction; but do not approach any man upon whom is the sign. Begin from My Sanctuary!" So they began with the elders who were before the Temple. 7 He said to them, "Defile the Temple and fill the courtyards with the slain. Go forth!" So they went forth and smote throughout the city.*

8 And it was while they were smiting: I remained and I fell upon my face and I cried out and said, "Alas, Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM! Are You destroying the entire remnant of Israel as You pour out Your wrath on Jerusalem?"

9 Then He said to me, "The iniquity of the House of Israel and Judah is very, very great — the land has been filled with bloodshed and the city has been filled with injustice, for they have said, 'HASHEM has forsaken the land,' and HASHEM does not see.' 10 So I, too, My eye will not spare nor will I have compassion; resented in the verse by the slate) with which to inscribe on the foreheads of the righteous the mark that would spare them from death (Radak).

9:4. The prophecy goes on to say that the sinners were about to be wiped out. This sign on the forehead of the righteous was to protect them from the fate of the sinners.

9:7. Do not be concerned that corpses will defile the Temple grounds.

9:10. I.e., the consequences of their sins.

10:1-2. Much of the vision here is similar to the Merkavah vision in Chapter 1, and is generally beyond human comprehension. The Cherubim here are called Chayos in that vision (see 1:5 and vv. 14-15 below), and the Galgalim here are called Ofanim there (see 1:15 and v. 13 below).

10:5. See 1:24.

10:14. The ox's face in the first vision (1:10) had been changed to a cherub's face. Ezekiel had entreated God not to have the ox remain as a constant reminder of the

I have placed their way upon their head."* [11] Just then the man clothed in linen, with the slate upon his loins, brought back an answer, saying, "I have done according to all that You have commanded me."

10 [1] Then I saw that behold, on top of the expanse that was above the heads of the Cherubim something like a sapphire stone, like the appearance of the likeness of a throne, could be seen over them.*

[2] *Then He said to the man clothed in linen, "Come between the Galgal, * beneath the Cherub, and fill your cupped hands with fire-coals from among the Cherubim, and throw [them] upon the city!" He entered before my eyes.*

[3] The Cherubim were standing to the right of the Temple when the man came; and a cloud filled the inner courtyard. [4] Then the glory of HASHEM rose up from upon the Cherub [and rested] upon the threshold of the Temple; and the Temple was filled with the cloud, and the courtyard was filled with the glow of the Glory of HASHEM. [5] And the sound of the wings of the Cherubim was heard up to the outer courtyard, like the voice of EL SHADDAI when He speaks.*

[6] It happened when He commanded the man clothed in linen saying, "Take fire from between the Galgal, from between the Cherubim," that he came and stood near the Ofan. [7] The Cherub stretched out his hand from between the Cherubim to the fire that was between the Cherubim, and he carried [it] and put [it] into the cupped hands of the one clothed in linen. Then he took [it] and went out. [8] There could be seen on the Cherubim the form of a human hand, under their wings.

[9] Then I saw and behold, there were four Ofanim beside the Cherubim, one Ofan beside one Cherub, and another Ofan beside another Cherub; the appearance of the Ofanim was like the color of tarshish stone. [10] As for their appearances, there was one likeness for all four of them, as if there would be a wheel within a wheel. [11] When they went, they would go toward their four sides; they did not turn as they went; for whichever place the head faced, they went after it; they did not turn as they went, [12] with their whole body, and their backs and their hands and their wings. The Ofanim were full of eyes all around, for all four of the Ofanim. [13] As for the Ofanim, they were called "The Galgal" within my earshot. [14] Each one had four faces: the one face, the face of the Cherub; the second face, the face of a man; the third, the face of a lion; and the fourth, the face of an eagle.* [15] Then the Cherubim rose up; it was the Chayah that I had seen at the River Chebar. [16] When the Cherubim would go, the Ofanim would go next to them and when the Cherubim lifted their wings to rise from upon the surface, the Ofanim did not turn away from beside them. [17] When they stood still, they stood still, and when they rose, they rose with them; for the spirit in the Chayah was [also] in them.

[18] The glory of HASHEM then went forth from upon the threshold of the Temple and stood upon the Cherubim. [19] The Cherubim then lifted their wings and rose from the surface before my eyes as they went forth, with the Ofanim opposite them, and it stood at the entrance of the eastern gate of the Temple of HASHEM; and the glory of the God of Israel was upon them from above.* [20] *This was the Chayah that I had seen beneath the God of Israel at the River Chebar; I realized that they were Cherubim. [21] Each one had four faces, and each one had four wings, and there was the form of human hands beneath their wings. [22] As for the likeness of their faces: They were the faces which I saw by the River Chebar — their appearances were the same as theirs; each one went in the direction he faced.

Golden Calf [see Exodus Ch. 32]; (Chagigah 13b).

10:19. I.e., the Merkavah chariot.

10:20. When I heard them called by that name (Kara).

11:3. The false prophets likened Jerusalem to a pot in which meat is being cooked, as if to say: "Just as meat is not removed from the pot until it is fully cooked, so we shall not be forced to leave Jerusalem before our time. We will stay here until we die a natural death!"

11:5. Your metaphor of the pot and the meat will come true, not as you mean it, but as explained in v. 7 (Radak).

11:11. You will be "cooked" (beaten and attacked) in the city, but you will be taken out of it before you are "done," to be slaughtered elsewhere (Rashi). See II Kings 25:18.

11:15. The triple expression alludes to the three waves of exiles from the land: first the two tribes on the eastern bank of the River Jordan (II Kings 15:29-30), then the remainder of the Ten Tribes (II Kings 17:6), and finally Jehoiachin's exile to Babylon (Radak).

11:16. "I have given them small sanctuaries, in the form of synagogues, which are second to My Temple" (Tar-

11 [1] A wind then lifted me up and brought me to the East Gate of the Temple of HASHEM, which faces eastward; and behold, at the entrance of the gate, were twenty-five men; in their midst I saw Jaazaniah son of Azzur and Pelatiah son of Benaiah, the leaders of the people. [2] Then He said to me, "Son of Man, these are the men who connive iniquity and who give evil counsel in this city, [3] who say, '[The end] is not near! Build houses! [The city] is the caldron and we are the meat.'* [4] Therefore, prophesy against them! Prophesy, O Son of Man!"

The false prophets

False prophecy refuted

[5] Then the spirit of HASHEM fell upon me and He said to me, "Say:

Thus said HASHEM: This is what you have said, O House of Israel, and I know what thoughts enter your mind.* [6] You have multiplied your slain in this city and filled its streets with the slain. [7] Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Your slain that you have placed within it — they are the meat, and [the city] is the pot; but I will withdraw you from within it. [8] You have feared the sword, and the sword shall I bring against you — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. [9] I will take you out from within it and deliver you into the hands of foreigners, and I will execute judgments upon you. [10] You will fall by the sword; I will execute judgment against you on the border of Israel; then you will know that I am HASHEM. [11] [The city] will not be a pot for you, but you will be like meat within it;* I will execute judgment against you at the border of Israel. [12] Then you will know that I am HASHEM, Whose decrees you did not follow and Whose laws you did not carry out; for you acted according to the laws of the nations who are around you."

Their fate is Sealed

The prophet's plea

[13] As I was prophesying, Pelatiah son of Benaiah died; and I fell upon my face and I cried out in a loud voice, and said, "Alas, Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM! Are You making an end of the remnant of Israel?"

[14] The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, [15] "Son of Man, your brothers, your brothers, your kinsmen,* and the entire House of Israel, about whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem say, 'Distance yourselves from HASHEM; the Land is given to us for a heritage'; [16] therefore, say:

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Though I have removed them far away among the nations, and though I have scattered them among the lands, yet I have been for them a small sanctuary* in the lands where they arrived."

The exiles will return

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: I will assemble you from the nations and gather you in from the lands where you have been scattered, and give you the Land of Israel. [18] They will come there and remove all its detestations and all its abominations from it. [19] I will give them an undivided heart and I will place a new spirit in them; I will remove the heart of stone from their flesh and give them a heart of flesh,* [20] so that they may walk in My decrees and observe My laws and fulfill them. Then they will be a people unto Me, and I will be a God for them. [21] But those whose heart follows the heart of their detestations and abominations, I will place [the consequences of] their way upon their head — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

[22] Then the Cherubim raised their wings, with the Ofanim opposite them, gum); even in the darkest exile, the Jews can find the Divine Presence in their synagogues and study halls.

11:19. I will replace their tendency toward obstinacy with a frame of mind that is receptive to spiritual matters.

12:3. Ezekiel was to go into a symbolic exile, in the hope that it might shock the people out of their spiritual stupor (Radak).

12:6. Acting out the embarrassment of the refugee.

12:10. King Zedekiah.

12:13. He will not see the land because he will be blinded before he arrives (see II Kings 25:7).

12:19. This was to be said to the Jews remaining in Jerusalem, as opposed to those who were in exile in Babylonia (Metzudos).

The Divine Presence withdraws completely and the glory of the God of Israel was upon them from above. 23 And the glory of HASHEM ascended from over the midst of the city and stood upon the mountain that is east of the city. 24 Then a wind lifted me and brought me to Chaldea, to the exiles — in the vision, by the spirit of God — then the vision that I had seen departed from upon me.

25 Then I told the exiles all the things of HASHEM that He had shown me.

12 1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man, you dwell in the midst of the rebellious house, who have eyes to see but do not see, who have ears to hear but do not hear, for they are a rebellious house. 3 *And you, Son of Man, make for yourself implements of exile, and go into exile by day before their eyes; exile yourself from your place to another place before their eyes; perhaps they will understand, for they are a rebellious house. 4 Take out your implements, like implements of exile, during the day before their eyes. Then depart in the evening before their eyes, like the departures of an exile. 5 Before their eyes tunnel through the wall, and bring out [your implements] through it. 6 Before their eyes bear [them] on [your] shoulder; bring [them] out in the darkness; cover your face that you not see the ground; for I have made you a symbol to the House of Israel."*

7 I did so, as I was commanded. I brought out my implements as implements of exile by day; and in the evening I tunneled through the wall with my hand; in the darkness I brought [them] out, bearing them on [my] shoulder before their eyes.

8 The word of HASHEM came to me in the morning, saying, 9 "Son of Man, has not the House of Israel, the rebellious house, said to you, 'What are you doing?' 10 Say to them:

> Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM*: This prophecy concerns the prince* who is in Jerusalem and all the House of Israel that is in its midst.*

11 Say:

> I am a sign for you. As I have done, so shall be done to them. Into exile, into captivity, will they go. 12 The prince who is among them will bear [his belongings] on his shoulder in the darkness and go out; they will tunnel through the wall to bring out [their belongings] through it; he will cover his face so as not to see the ground with [his] eye. 13 I will spread My net over him and he will be caught in My snare; then I will bring him to Babylonia, the land of the Chaldeans, yet he will not see [it], and there he will die.* 14 Then I will scatter all who are around him, his aide and all his officers, in every direction, and I will unsheathe the sword after them. 15 Then they will know that I am HASHEM*, when I disperse them among the nations and scatter them among the countries.* 16 But from them I will leave over a few men from the sword, the famine, and the plague, so that they may relate all their abominations among the nations where they arrive; and they will know that I am HASHEM."*

17 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 18 "Son of Man, eat your bread with quaking, and drink your water with trembling and anxiety; 19 and say to the people of the land:

> Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM concerning the inhabitants of Jerusalem on the soil of Israel: They will eat their bread with anxiety and drink their water in desolation, because their land will be desolate of all that fills it, on account of the injustice of all who dwell in it.* 20 The inhabited cities will be laid waste, and the land will be a desolation; then you will know that I am HASHEM."*

12:22-25. God lashed out against the heretical parable which claimed that Ezekiel's prophecies would not come true. Instead, God assured him that the time would yet come when the facile visions of the false prophets would forever be discredited and silenced.

13:2. Ezekiel was now to discredit the false prophets, whose soothing lies were preventing repentance.

13:4. Who scurry off at the sound of any man's approach (Rashi).

13:5. You did not mend the breaches of the people's actions, which would have served them well in the day of God's wrath.

13:9. They will not be included with the rest of God's people when they receive their reward in the World to Come (Targum).

13:10. The false prophets are as destructive as someone who builds a flimsy partition and fortifies it with weak plaster instead of strong cement.

13:14. I.e., the verbal wall of false security with which you surrounded Jerusalem.

21 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 22 "Son of Man, what is this parable of yours regarding the soil of Israel, saying, 'The days will draw out and all the visions will become null'?* 23 Therefore, say to them:

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: I will put an end to this proverb and they will no longer say it as a proverb in Israel. Rather, say to them, 'The days are near for [the fulfillment of] the word of every vision. 24 For there will be no more vain vision nor smooth divination within the House of Israel. 25 For I am HASHEM; I speak whatever word I speak, and it is carried out; it will be delayed no longer; for in your days, O rebellious house, I will speak a word and carry it out — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.' "

26 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying: 27 "Son of Man, behold, the House of Israel says, 'The vision which he sees is many days off and he prophesies concerning distant times.' 28 Therefore, say to them:

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: No longer will [the fulfillment of] all My words be delayed; the word that I speak shall be done — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

Prophecy against false prophecy

1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel* who prophesy, and say to those who prophesy out of their own hearts:

Hear the word of HASHEM! 3 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Woe unto the foolish prophets, who follow their own spirit, and things they have not seen. 4 Like foxes among the ruins,* so are your prophets, O Israel. 5 You did not ascend into the breaches nor build a fence for the House of Israel, which could stand up in battle on the day of HASHEM.* 6 They saw a worthless [vision] and false divination; they say, 'The word of HASHEM!' but HASHEM did not send them, yet they expect that their word will be confirmed. 7 Have you not envisioned a worthless vision and uttered a false divination? You say, 'The word of HASHEM,' when I have not spoken!

8 Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because you have spoken worthless words and have seen a false vision, therefore, behold, I am against you — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM; 9 and My hand will be against the prophets who see worthless [visions] and who divine falsehood; they will not be among the counsel of My people, nor will they be inscribed in the record of the House of Israel,* nor will they enter upon the soil of Israel. Then you will know that I am the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. 10 Because — and again because — they led My people astray, saying, 'Peace,' but there is no peace; it is building a partition, and they are even smearing it with plaster.*

Wall of illusion; veneer of hope

11 Say to those who smear with plaster: 'It will collapse! There will be pouring rain.' And as for you, O huge hailstones, you shall fall and a stormy wind shall break forth. 12 Then behold, the wall will fall! Surely it will be said to you, 'Where is the daub that you smeared?' 13 Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: I will cause a stormy wind to break out in My wrath, and there will be pouring rain in My anger, with huge hailstones in My wrath, to cause annihilation; 14 and I will break down the wall that you smeared with plaster* and bring it down to the ground, and its foundation will be bared; it will fall and you will be annihilated within. Then you will know that I am HASHEM. 15 Thus I will spend My wrath upon the wall and upon those who smear it with plaster, and I will say to you, 'The wall is no more,

14:14. These three men had survived in the face of general collapse: Noah of the whole world, Daniel of his country, and Job of his family (Abarbanel). Ezekiel warns the nation not to rely on the merits of the few righteous people living in Jerusalem to save the populace at large.

14:22. When the Jews in Babylonia see the exiles coming to join them, they will realize that by right there should have been no survivors at all.

15:1. In this prophecy, Israel is likened to a vine, but not to a grapevine flourishing in the vineyard; rather, a fruitless vine growing among the trees of the forest. Unlike other barren trees that can be used for lumber, this vine has no practical use for man except as fuel for his fire. Similarly, if Israel produces no spiritual fruits, it is

House of Israel will no longer stray from following Me, and no longer be defiled by all their sins. Then they will be a people for Me and I will be a God for them — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

The prayers of the righteous

12 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 13 "Son of Man, when a country sins against Me, acting with treachery, and I stretch out My hand against it, and break its staff of bread, and dispatch famine against it, and eliminate man and beast from it, 14 then even if these three men would be in its midst — Noah, Daniel and Job — they, by their righteousness, would save [only] their own souls — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.*

15 "If I cause a ferocious beast to traverse a country and bereave it, and it becomes desolate, without wayfarers, because of the beast, 16 if these three men would be in its midst, as I live — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — [I swear] that they would save neither sons nor daughters; they alone would be saved, but the land would be desolate.

17 "Or if I bring the sword against that country, and I say, 'Let the sword traverse the land,' and I cut off from it man and animal, 18 if these three men would be in its midst, as I live — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — [I swear] that they would save neither sons nor daughters, for they alone would be saved.

19 "Or if I send pestilence to that country, and I pour My fury upon it in blood, to eliminate off from it man and animal, 20 even if Noah, Daniel and Job would be in it, as I live — says the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — [I swear] that they not save neither son nor daughter; they, in their righteousness, would save [only] their own souls.

21 "For thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: How much more when I send [all of] My four evil judgments — sword, hunger, ferocious beast, and pestilence — against Jerusalem, to cut off from it man and animal! 22 And yet behold, a remnant has been left in it, who are being taken out, sons and daughters; behold, they are coming out to you. You will see their way and their deeds and you will be consoled over the evil that I brought upon Jerusalem, over all that I brought upon it.* 23 They will be a comfort for you when you see their way and their deeds; and you will know that it is not for nothing that I did all that I did in it — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

God's vine

1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 *"Son of Man, what will become of the vine-tree compared to any [other] tree, the branch that was among the trees of the forest? 3 Can wood be taken from it to use for productive work? Can one take a peg from it upon which to hang any article? 4 *Behold, if it were put into the fire for fuel, and the fire consumed its two ends, * and its inside were charred — would it be useful for productive work?* 5 Behold, when it was whole it could not be used for productive work; how much more so when fire consumed it and it became charred — could it yet be put to productive work?

6 "Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Like a vine-tree [compared] to another tree of the forest, which I have put into the fire for fuel, so have I made the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 7 I will direct My attention against them; they have emerged from the fire, but [now] fire will consume them; then you will know that I am HASHEM, when I set My attention against them.* 8 I will make the 15:4. The two final phases of Jerusalem's destruction were the exiles of Jehoiakim (Daniel 1:2) and Jehoiachin (II Kings 24:14), which included the great Torah scholars (Rashi).

15:7. Though Jerusalem was saved from the destruction of Sennacherib, it will be consumed by the Babylonians (Metzudos).

16:3. You act as if you were Canaanites, born of heathen parents (Radak).

16:4-8. Allegorically, Israel is likened to a newborn baby girl, abandoned and neglected, who is saved by a benefactor. This refers to Israel's inception as a nation, when it was enslaved to Egypt and in a very downtrodden spiritual and physical state, but nevertheless had a miraculously high birth rate.

land desolate, because you have acted treacherously — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

Prophesy unto Jerusalem

*Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM to Jerusalem: Your dwelling place and your birthplace are of the land of the Canaanites; your father was an Amorite and your mother a Hittite. [4] And as for your birth: On the day you were born your umbilical cord was not cut, nor were you washed with water to smooth [your skin], nor were you salted,* nor were you swaddled.*

The neglected infant

[5] No eye pitied you to do any one of these things for you, to show you compassion; you were cast out upon the open field because of the loathsomeness of your being, on the day you were born. [6] Then I passed you and saw you wallowing in your blood, and I said to you, 'In your blood you shall live'; I said to you, 'In your blood you shall live.' [7] I made you as numerous as the plants of the field; you increased and grew, and you came to have great charm, breasts developed and your hair sprouting, but you were naked and bare. [8] I passed by you and saw you, and behold, your time was the time of love; and I spread the hems of My garment over you and covered your nakedness; and I took an oath to you and entered into a covenant with you — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — and you became Mine.* [9] *I bathed you with water and washed away your blood from upon you, and I anointed you with oil; [10] I clothed you in embroidered garments, I shod you in tachash leather, I bound you with linen, I covered you with silk,* [11] I decked you with ornaments, I put bracelets on your hands and a necklace on your neck, [12] and I placed a ring on your nose, earrings on your ears and a crown of beauty on your head. [13] You decked yourself with gold and silver, and your garments were linen, silk and embroidery; you ate fine flour, honey and oil. You became exceedingly beautiful, and you became fit for royalty. [14] Your fame went forth among the nations for your beauty, for it was perfect, through My splendor which I placed upon you — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.

Redemption

Idolatry as adultery

[15] But you trusted in your beauty, and you became licentious because of your fame; you poured forth your harlotries upon every passerby, to be his.* [16] So you took of your garments and made for yourself harlequin platforms, and were licentious upon them. This should not have been and shall not recur.* [17] Then you took your beautiful objects, from My gold and My silver that I gave you, and made for yourself male images and were licentious with them; [18] you took your embroidered garments and covered them; and My oil and My incense you placed before them; [19] My bread that I gave you — I had fed you fine flour, oil and honey — you placed before them for a satisfying aroma, and so it was! — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. [20] Then you took your sons and your daughters whom you begot for Me, and these you slaughtered for them to devour! Was your harlotry so trivial* [21] that you slew My children and gave them away by passing them over before [your idols]? [22] And with all your abominations and your harlotries you did not remember the days of your youth, when you were naked and bare, when you were wallowing in your blood.

24 You built for yourself an eminent place and made for yourself a lofty place in every street.* 25 At every crossroad you built your lofty place; you profaned your beauty and opened your legs to every passerby, and you multiplied your harlotries; 26 you were licentious with the sons of Egypt, your neighbors, great of flesh; and you multiplied your harlotry to provoke Me. 27 Then, behold, I stretched out My hand against you and diminished your allotment; then I delivered you to the whim of those who hate you, the daughters of the Philistines, who were ashamed of your lewd way.* 28 You were licentious with the sons of Assyria, because you were not sated; you were licentious with them, yet you were still not sated. 29 Then you multiplied your harlotry toward the land of the merchants, toward Chaldea; but even with this you were not sated. 30 How degenerate is your heart — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — when you do all these things, the deed of an aggressive, adulterous woman; 31 *when you build your eminent place at every crossroad and make your lofty place in every street. You were not like a harlot, who cherishes her fee; 32 O adulterous wife, who takes strangers in place of her husband! 33 To all [other] harlots gifts are given, but you — you have given your gifts to all your paramours, and bribed them to come to you from all around, with your harlotries. 34 So with you it was the opposite of other women in your harlotries, and after you will never be such harlotry, in that you gave a fee, and a fee was not given to you; thus have you become the opposite.

35 Therefore, O harlot, hear the word of HASHEM! 36 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because your shame was poured out and your nakedness was uncovered by all your harlotries with your paramours, and because of all your abominable idols, and in accordance with the blood of your children whom you gave to them; 37 therefore, behold, I will gather all your paramours to whom you have been pleasant, and all whom you love together with all whom you hate; I will gather them to you from all around and uncover your nakedness to them, and they will see all your nakedness. 38 I will administer upon you the judgments of adulteresses and spillers of blood, and deliver you to the blood of wrath and jealousy. 39 Then I will place you in their hand; they will tear down your eminent place and smash your lofty places; they will strip you of your clothes and take your beautiful vessels and leave you naked and bare. 40 They will bring up an assemblage against you; they will pelt you with stone and pierce you with their swords; 41 they will burn down your houses in fire; and they will execute judgments against you before the eyes of many women. I will stop you from being a harlot, and you will nevermore pay a fee. 42 Then I will relieve My fury [that had been] upon you, and My jealousy will turn away from you; then I will be at rest and not be angry any more.

43 [This will befall you] because you did not remember the days of your youth, but have angered Me with all these things; so, behold, I also will place your way upon [your] head — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM *— but you did not consider this, concerning all your abominations.

Like mother, like daughter

44 Behold, all those who speak in parables will use this parable about you, saying, 'Like mother, [so] her daughter.' 45 You are your mother's daughter, spewing forth her husband and her children; you are your sister's sister, who spewed forth their husbands and children, [as if] your mother was a Hittite

16:46. Lit., "your left." Compass directions in Scripture are oriented to the person facing east; thus, north is left, south is right, east is before, and west is behind.

Samaria and Sodom refer to the metropolises; their "daughters" are their surrounding villages.

16:53. In the case of Sodom, "returning her captivity" means again making her an inhabitable place (Rashi).

16:54. Israel was so sinful that Sodom and Samaria looked at her and felt comfort, thinking that they were not that bad after all (Rashi).

16:56. A "metaphor" for evil and the destruction it brings.

17:2. This chapter opens with a parable, then proceeds to explain it.

Worse than Sodom and Samaria and your father an Amorite. 46 Your older sister is Samaria — she and her daughters — who dwells to your north, and your sister who is younger than you, who dwells to your south, is Sodom and its daughters.* 47 If only you had gone in their ways, and acted like their abominations, it would have been a small trifle! But you were even more corrupt than they in all your ways. 48 As I live — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — [I swear that] Sodom, your sister — she and her daughters — have not done as you and your daughters did. 49 Behold, this was the sin of Sodom, your sister: She and her daughters had pride, surfeit of bread and peaceful serenity, but she did not strengthen the hand of the poor and the needy. 50 And they were haughty, and they committed an abomination before Me, so I removed them in accordance with what I saw. 51 And as for Samaria, she did not sin even half of your sins. For you have increased your abominations beyond them; you have vindicated your sisters with all your abominations that you have committed! 52 Now you, too, bear your humiliation that you had judged appropriate for your sister; through your sins by which you acted more abominably than they, they are more righteous than you! You, too, feel ashamed and bear your humiliation, as you vindicate your sisters.

53 And I will return their captivity, the captivity of Sodom and her daughters, and the captivity of Samaria and her daughters, and the captivity of your captives in their midst,* 54 *so that you bear your humiliation and be humiliated for all you have done by comforting them. 55 And your sisters, Sodom and her daughters, will return to their former state, and Samaria and her daughters, will return to their former state, and you and your daughters will return to your former state.

56 Was not your sister Sodom a saying in your mouth, in your day of pride,* 57 before your wickedness was revealed, as at the time of the disgrace of the daughters of Aram and all who are around her, and the daughters of the Philistines, who demean you from all around? 58 You have borne your scheming and your abominations — the word of HASHEM.

A renewed, eternal covenant

59 For thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: I will do to you as you have done, for you have scorned an oath, breaking [our] covenant. 60 But I will remember My covenant [made] with you in the days of your youth, and I will establish for you an everlasting covenant. 61 Then you will remember your [evil] ways and be humiliated, when you take your sisters who are older than you with those who are younger than you and I give them to you as daughters, but not because [you kept] your covenant. 62 Then I will establish My covenant with you, and you will know that I am HASHEM, 63 in order that you remember and be ashamed, and so that you no longer have an excuse because of your humiliation, when I forgive you for all that you have done — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

17 1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 *"Son of Man, propose a riddle and relate a parable to the House of Israel. 3 You shall say:

The eagles and the vine

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: The great eagle — great of wings and long of pinion, full of plumage — which has many colors, came to the Lebanon and took the crown of the cedar. 4 He cropped the top of the young twigs and brought it to the land of the merchants, placing it in the city of traders.

17:12. Nebuchadnezzar is the great eagle (v. 3); Jerusalem, the crown (v. 3); Jehoiachin, the young twigs (v. 4); Babylonia, the land of the merchants (v. 4; 16:29); and Babylonia's attack, the east wind (v. 10). The second eagle (v. 7) is Pharaoh.

17:13. Zedekiah, brother of Jehoiachin.

17:15. The subject is Zedekiah's rebellion against King Nebuchadnezzar, for which Zedekiah was blinded and exiled. This rebellion is mentioned very briefly in II Kings 24:20 and Jeremiah 52:3, and here in some detail.

17:18. Zedekiah had given his hand to Nebuchadnezzar to validate his oath.

17:19. Zedekiah had taken his oath in the Name of God.

17:22. In place of Zedekiah, God will give the throne to Zerubbabel, who led the people's return from the Babylonian exile (Radak).

17:23. All Israel will dwell securely under the protection of the new leader (Radak).

5 He then took from the seed of the land and placed it in a fertile field; he took [it to a place] of abundant waters; he set it up to be [as lush as] a mountain willow. 6 It sprouted and became a spreading vine, low of stature, with its tendrils turned inward with its roots underneath it; it became a vine and produced branches and sent out boughs.

7 There was a[nother] great eagle — great of wings and abundant of plumage. And behold, this vine's roots yearned toward him, and it extended its tendrils toward him from the furrows of its bed, that he should water it — 8 [though] it had been planted in a fertile field, by abundant waters, to produce branches and bear fruit, to become a stately vine.

9 "Say:

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Shall it prosper? Will [the first eagle] not tear out its roots and cut off its fruits so that it will wither and all its sprouting leaves wither? And no great arm nor multitude of people can prevent its being ripped out by the roots. 10 Behold, it had been firmly planted; can it prosper? When the east wind touches it, will it not completely wither? In the very furrows of its sprouting it will wither."

11 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 12 "Say now to the rebellious house: Do you not know what this [parable] represents?

Say:

The interpretation

Behold, the king of Babylonia came to Jerusalem, and he took its king and princes, and brought them to him to Babylonia.* 13 Then he took someone from the royal seed and sealed a covenant with him and had him take an oath, and he took away the mighty of the land,* 14 so that it would be a lowly kingdom that could not rise up, and so that it should keep his covenant, that it might endure. 15 But he rebelled against him, sending his agents to Egypt to provide them with horses and great multitude. Shall one who does such things succeed; shall he escape? Shall he annul a covenant and escape?* 16 As I live — the word of the Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM — [I swear] that at the place of the king who installed him, whose oath he spurned and whose covenant he broke — with him, in the midst of Babylonia, he shall die. 17 And Pharaoh will not aid him in war with a large army or a great assembly, when ramps are poured and siege towers built to cut down numerous lives. 18 And as for the one who spurned an oath to annul [his] covenant — behold, he had given his hand yet he did all of these [things]; he shall not escape!*

19 Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: As I live, [I swear that] I shall place on his head [the punishment for] My oath that he has spurned, and My covenant that he has broken.* 20 I will spread My net over him and he will be caught in My trap; I will bring him to Babylonia, and I will contend with him there for his treachery that he has committed against Me. 21 And all his fugitives together with all his officers will fall by the sword, and the remaining ones will spread out in every direction; then you will know that I, HASHEM, have spoken.

The redemption

22 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Then I will take from the crown of the lofty cedar and establish it; from the head of the young twigs I will crop a tender one and plant it on a high and eminent mountain.* 23 I will plant it on the mountain of the height of Israel, and it will bear branches and produce fruit and become a stately cedar; and every bird of every kind of wing will dwell under it; they will dwell in the shade of its tendrils.* 24 And all the trees

18:2. The people felt that they were being punished unfairly for the sins of their fathers, but Ezekiel rejected this contention (v. 4), saying that punishment is exacted only of those who deserve it.

18:7. See Exodus 22:25.

18:19. Since Ezekiel's listeners thought they were being punished only for the wickedness of such evil predecessors as King Manasseh, they would wonder why the righteous son of Ezekiel's parable went unscathed.

of the field will know that I, HASHEM, have lowered a high tree, and have raised a low tree; I have dried up a moist tree and made blossom a dry tree — I am HASHEM; I have spoken and I shall carry it out."

18 [1] The word of HASHEM came to me, saying:

Fathers and sons

[2] Why do you relate this parable upon the land of Israel, saying, 'The fathers eat sour grapes, but the teeth of the sons are set on edge!' [3] As I live — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — [I swear] that there will no longer be anyone among you who uses this parable in Israel. [4] Behold, all souls are Mine; like the soul of the father, so the soul of the son, they are Mine. The soul that sins — it shall die.*

The righteous father

[5] If a man is righteous and practices justice and righteousness: [6] he does not partake [of idolatrous sacrifices] upon the mountains; does not lift his eyes towards the idols of the House of Israel; does not defile his neighbor's wife nor approach an impure woman; [7] does not oppress any man; returns a collateral for a debt; does not rob any loot; gives his bread to the hungry and covers the naked with clothing; [8] does not give [loans] with usury nor take interest; withholds his hand from corruption; executes true justice between man and man; [9] goes according to My decrees and observes My ordinances to practice truth — he is a righteous man; he shall surely live — the word of the Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM.*

The violent son

[10] If he begets a violent son, who sheds blood, who does any of these [sins] to [his] brother, [11] who does not do all these [good deeds]: for he even partakes [of idolatrous sacrifices] upon the mountains; defiles his neighbor's wife; [12] oppresses the poor and the needy; robs loot; does not return collateral; lifts his eyes towards the idols; commits abomination; [13] gives [loans] with usury and takes interest — should he live? He shall not live! He has committed all these abominations; he shall surely die and his blood will be upon himself.

The righteous grandson

[14] Then if he begets a son who sees all the sins of his father that he had done; he sees, but does not do [acts] like them: [15] He does not partake [of idolatrous sacrifices] upon the mountains; does not lift his eyes towards the idols of the House of Israel; does not defile his neighbor's wife; [16] does not oppress any man; does not keep collateral; does not rob any loot; gives his bread to the hungry and covers the naked with clothing; [17] withholds his hand from [harming] the poor; does not take usury or interest; obeys My ordinances and follows My decrees — he shall not die for his father's iniquity; he shall surely live.

The soul that sins

[18] His father, because he has cruelly oppressed [others], has robbed loot from [his] brother and did that which is not good among his people — behold, he died for his sin. [19] Yet you say, 'Why did the son not bear the iniquity of the father?' But the son performed justice and righteousness, and observed all My decrees and performed them; he should surely live! [20] The soul that sins, it shall die! A son shall not bear the iniquity of [his] father and a father shall not bear the iniquity of [his] son; the righteousness of the righteous person shall be upon him and the wickedness of the wicked person shall be upon him.*

The penitent

[21] As for the wicked man, if he repents from all his sins that he committed, and he observes all My decrees and practices justice and righteousness, he shall surely live, he shall not die. [22] All his transgressions that he committed will not be remembered against him; he shall live because of the righteousness that he did. [23] Do I desire at all the death of the wicked man? — the word

18:24. If a sinner repudiates the good deeds of his past, he loses credit for them.

18:26. "Them" is plural: He deserves to die for regretting his good deeds and for committing sins (Radak).

19:2. The mother is the Congregation of Israel; her two cubs are Kings Jehoahaz and Jehoiakim, sons of Josiah.

19:3. Young King Jehoahaz betrayed and robbed from his fellow Jews (Rashi).

19:7. (Targum). Alternatively: He ravished their widows (Rashi). The ruinous policies of King Jehoiakim brought about the destruction of much of Judah at the hands of the surrounding nations (Radak; see II Kings 24:1-2).

19:10. Israel is likened to the reigns of David and Solomon, which were blessed with success (Radak).

19:12. See 17:10,12.

19:14. Now it is only prophecy, but soon it will be reality.

of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. Is it not rather his return from his ways, that he might live?

24 And when a righteous man turns away from his righteousness and practices corruption, shall he do like all the abominations that the wicked man did, and live? All his righteousness that he had done will not be remembered because of his treachery with which he betrayed and because of his sin that he sinned. Because of them, he shall die!*

25 And if you should say, 'The way of my Lord is not proper' — hear now, O House of Israel! Is My way not proper? Surely it is your ways that are not proper! 26 When the righteous man turns away from his righteousness and practices corruption, he shall die for them; for the corruption that he practiced he shall die.* 27 And if the wicked man turns away from his wickedness that he did and performs justice and righteousness, he will cause his soul to live. 28 Because he contemplated and repented from all his transgressions that he did he shall surely live; he shall not die. 29 Yet the House of Israel says, 'The way of my Lord is not proper.' Are My ways not proper, O House of Israel? Surely it is your ways that are not proper! 30 Therefore, I will judge you, each man according to his ways, O House of Israel — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. Return and bring [others] back from all your transgressions, so that they not be for you an obstacle of iniquity. 31 Cast off from upon yourselves all your transgressions through which you have transgressed, and make for yourselves a new heart and a new spirit. Why should you die, O House of Israel? 32 For I do not desire the death of the one who should die — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. Turn [yourselves] back and live!

19 1 "Now take up a lamentation for the princes of Israel, 2 and say:

Your mother, a lioness

Oh, how your mother was a lioness, crouching among lions, rearing her cubs among young lions.* 3 *She raised one of her cubs, and he became a young lion; he learned to tear prey, and he devoured men. 4 So the nations were mustered against him, and he was caught in their pit; and they brought him with hooks to the land of Egypt.

The first cub

The second cub

5 She saw herself disillusioned, her hope was lost; so she took another one of her cubs and made him into a young lion. 6 He roamed among the lions; he became a young lion. He learned to tear prey; he devoured men. 7 He destroyed their palaces and their cities he laid waste; the land and all that fills it then became desolate through the noise of his roar.* 8 So all the nations of the surrounding countries set themselves against him; they spread their net over him, and he was caught in their pit. 9 They put him in a collar with hooks and brought him to the king of Babylonia; they brought him into fortresses in order that his voice be no longer heard upon the mountains of Israel.

Your mother, a vine

10 You are likened to one whose mother was a vine planted by waters, that was fruitful and full-branched from the abundant waters.* 11 It had strong rods for scepters of sovereigns, and its stature grew high among the tallest branches, and it became visible by its height and by its many tendrils. 12 But then it was uprooted in wrath and cast down to the ground; the east wind withered its fruit; dismembered and withered were its strong rods; fire devoured it.* 13 And now it is planted in the desert, in a parched and thirsty land. 14 And a fire went forth from the rod of its branches and devoured its fruit; it no longer had in it a strong rod, a scepter to rule.

*It is a lamentation, and it will be a lamentation."

HAFTARAS KEDOSHIM Sephardim: 20:2-20

20:3. The elders were in shock that God had apparently spurned Israel, and they asked whether they still owed Him allegiance. If they were no longer His Chosen People, why couldn't they be like all the other nations? Ezekiel responded that they were wrong. Even their exile and oppression were functions of their chosenness; Israel was being punished because it had fallen short of its mission. But, as Ezekiel says in verses 32-33, Israel is not free to join the nations.

20:4. God instructed Ezekiel to tell the protesting elders of the national shortcomings over the course of history, in Egypt, the Wilderness, and in Eretz Yisrael.

20:13. They worshiped the Golden Calf and rebelled against the manna.

20:15. At the incident of the Spies (Numbers Chs. 13-14).

20:21. At Baal Peor (Numbers Ch. 25).

20 1 It was in the seventh year, in the fifth [month], on the tenth of the month: Some men of the elders of Israel came to inquire of HASHEM, and they sat
An inquiry of Ezekiel before me. 2 Then the word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 3 "Son of Man, speak to the elders of Israel and say to them:

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Is it to inquire of Me that you come?* As I live, [I swear] that I will not relate to your inquiries — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.' "

A rebuke 4 "Won't you rebuke them? Won't you rebuke, Son of Man? Inform them of the abominations of their fathers!* 5 Say to them:

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: On the day I chose Israel, I raised My hand [in oath] for the seed of the House of Jacob and made Myself known Mercy in Egypt . . . to them in the land of Egypt, I raised My hand for them, saying, 'I am HASHEM, your God.' 6 On that day I raised My hand for them, [swearing] to take them out from the land of Egypt to the Land that I had sought out for them — [a land that] flows with milk and honey, a splendor for all the lands. 7 And I said to them, 'Every man, cast away the detestable [idols] of his eyes; do not defile yourselves with the idols of Egypt; I am HASHEM, your God.'

. . . repaid with rebellion . . . 8 But they rebelled against Me and did not want to listen to Me; no man of them cast away the detestable [idols] of their eyes, and they did not forsake the idols of Egypt. So I had thought to pour out My wrath upon them, to spend My anger on them, in the midst of the land of Egypt. 9 But I acted for the sake of My Name, that it not be desecrated in the eyes of the nations in whose midst they were, before whose eyes I made Myself known to them, [promising] to take them out of the land of Egypt.

10 So I took them out of the land of Egypt and brought them to the Wilderness. 11 I gave them My decrees and My laws I made known to them, through which, if a man fulfills them, he will live through them. 12 I also gave them My Sabbaths, to be a sign between Me and them, to know that I am HASHEM Who sanctifies them.

13 But the House of Israel rebelled against Me in the Wilderness: They did not follow My decrees and they spurned My laws,* through which, if a man fulfills them, he will live through them; and they desecrated My Sabbaths
Even after the Exodus exceedingly. So I had thought to pour out My wrath upon them in the Wilderness, to make an end of them. 14 But I acted for the sake of My Name, that it should not be desecrated in the eyes of the nations before whose eyes I had taken them out. 15 I also raised My hand [in oath] against them in the Wilderness,* not to bring them to the land that I had given them — [a land that] flows with milk and honey, a splendor for all the lands. 16 [All this] because they spurned My laws and did not follow My decrees and they desecrated My Sabbaths, because their heart kept going after their idols. 17 But My eye pitied them, rather than destroying them, so I did not put an end to them in the Wilderness.

Warning to the children . . . 18 I said to their children in the Wilderness, 'Do not follow the practices of your fathers and do not observe their laws, and do not defile yourselves with their idols. 19 I am HASHEM your God; follow My decrees and observe My laws and fulfill them. 20 Sanctify My Sabbaths; and they shall be a sign between Me and you, for you to know that I am HASHEM, your God.'

21 But the children rebelled against Me:* They did not follow My decrees

20:25. In punishment, I let them be subjugated by the bitter, impossible decrees of their enemies (Radak).

20:29. The term "high place" should signify spiritual elevation, yet you give this title to a place of degradation.

20:35. You will be punished in a deserted area, so that your enemies do not witness your downfall (Radak).

20:37. I will force you to submit to My authority (Rashi).

20:39. You desecrate My Name when you come to My prophet, only to ignore his words, and when you bring Me your offerings, but continue worshiping your idols. There would be less desecration if you adopted idolatry completely and abandoned your hypocrisy! (Rashi; Radak).

...unheeded

and did not observe My laws, to fulfill them, through which, if a man fulfills them, he will live through them; and they desecrated My Sabbaths; so I spoke [to myself] to pour out My wrath upon them, to spend My anger on them in the Wilderness, 22 but I restrained My hand and acted for the sake of My Name, that it not be desecrated in the eyes of the nations before whose eyes I had taken them out.

An oath in the Wilderness

23 I also raised up My hand [in oath] against them in the Wilderness to scatter them among the nations and to disperse them among the lands, 24 because they did not fulfill My laws, they spurned My decrees, desecrated My Sabbaths, and their eyes went after the idols of their fathers. 25 So I too gave them decrees that were not good and laws by which they could not live.* 26 I profaned them because of their gifts — of passing every firstborn [before Molech] — so that I might destroy them, so that they should know that I am HASHEM."

Blasphemy in the land

27 "Therefore, speak to the House of Israel, Son of Man, and say to them: Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM*: Your fathers blasphemed Me further even with this, when they acted treacherously against Me.* 28 I had brought them to the land that I had raised up My hand [in oath] to give to them, and they saw every high hill and every thick-branched tree — they slaughtered their sacrifices there and they offered their offerings of provocation there; they placed their satisfying aromas there, and poured out their libations there. 29 Then I said to them, 'What is this high place to which only you come?' Yet it is called a high place until this day." *

Attempts at assimilation

30 "Therefore, say to the House of Israel: Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM*: Do you defile yourselves in the manner of your fathers and go astray after their abominations?* 31 And by giving your gifts — by passing your children through fire — you defile yourselves unto all your idols to this day, should I relate to your inquiries, O House of Israel? As I live — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — [I swear that] I will not relate to your inquiries! 32 As for what enters your minds — it shall not be! As for what you say, 'We will be like the nations, like the families of the lands, to worship wood and stone,' 33 as I live — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — [I swear that] I will rule over you with a strong hand and with an outstretched arm and with outpoured wrath. 34 I will take you out from the nations and gather you from the lands to which you were scattered, with a strong hand and with an outstretched arm and with outpoured wrath; 35 and I will bring you to the Wilderness of the Nations and I will contend with you there, face to face.* 36 Just as I contended with your forefathers in the Wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I contend with you — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. 37 I will make you pass under the rod and bring you into the bond of the covenant.* 38 I will separate from among you those who rebel and those who transgress against Me; I will take them out of the land of their sojourning, but they will not come to the soil of Israel; then you will know that I am HASHEM.

God will not permit it

Retribution

39 And you, O House of Israel, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM*: Let every man go serve his idols, since you do not listen to Me; and do not profane My holy Name any longer with your gifts and with your idols.* *

21:2. This parable (vv. 1-4) is explained later (vv. 7-10).

21:7. Jerusalem, the victim, is south of Babylonia, the fire, and is filled with both righteous and wicked people, as a forest has different types of trees (Rashi).

21:9. After destroying Israel, the sword will annihilate other peoples.

21:12. The report that Jerusalem has fallen.

21:14. The twice-mentioned sword alludes to the sword of Nebuchadnezzar against Jerusalem and the sword of Ammon against Gedaliah (Jeremiah 40:13-41:3).

21:15. The staff with which God punished the Jews is so lethal and strong that it scorns every type of wood. This being so, how can we ever rejoice again?

21:16. The staff took the form of the sword with which

You will come to My holy mountain

40 But on My holy mountain, on the mountain of the height of Israel — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — there the entire House of Israel, all of it, will serve Me in the land; there I will accept them favorably, and there I will seek your tributes and the finest of your offerings, with all your consecrated things. 41 Through a satisfying aroma I will accept you favorably, when I remove you from the peoples and gather you from the lands where you were scattered; and I will be sanctified through you in the eyes of the nations. 42 Then you will know that I am HASHEM, when I bring you to the soil of Israel, to the land about which I raised My hand [in oath] to give to your forefathers. 43 And there you will remember your ways and all your deeds by which you became defiled; and you will be disgusted with yourselves for all your evils that you have done. 44 Then you will know that I am HASHEM, when I act with you for My Name's sake, and not in accord with your evil ways and your corrupt deeds, O House of Israel — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

21

1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 *"Son of Man, direct your face toward the south and proclaim southward; prophesy against the forest-field of the south. 3 Say to the forest of the south, 'Hear the word of HASHEM! Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am igniting a fire within you that will consume within you every fresh tree and every dry tree, an intense flame that will not be extinguished, and every face from south to north will be singed by it. 4 Then all flesh will see that I, HASHEM, have kindled it; it shall not be extinguished.' "

5 I then said, "Ah, Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM! They say about me, 'Behold, he invents parables!' "

6 So the word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 7 "Son of Man, direct your face toward Jerusalem and proclaim to the Sanctuaries, and prophesy against the soil of Israel.* 8 Say to the soil of Israel, 'Thus said HASHEM: Behold, I am against you! I will draw My sword from its scabbard and I will cut off righteous and wicked from [among] you. 9 *Because I have cut off righteous and wicked from [among] you, therefore My sword will come out of its scabbard against all flesh from south [to] north. 10 Then all flesh will know that I, HASHEM, have drawn My sword from its scabbard; it will never again return.'

God's sword against Jerusalem

11 "And you, Son of Man, groan! With a shattering of the loins and with bitterness, groan before their eyes. 12 And it shall be that when they say to you, 'For what are you groaning?' you shall say, 'Because of the report that is coming, when every heart will melt, all hands will weaken, every spirit will grow faint and all knees will melt [like] water! Behold, it is coming; it will happen — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.' "*

The prophet's groan

13 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 14 "Son of Man, prophesy and say:

Prophecies of the swords

Thus said the Lord: Say: A sword, a sword has been sharpened and even burnished.* 15 *That it may make a slaughter has it been sharpened, and that it may have a flash has it been burnished. Can we rejoice? The staff [that beats] My son scorns every wood! 16 He gave it to be burnished, [the better] to hold in the hand; it is the sword that has been sharpened and burnished, to place in the killer's hand.*

17 "Cry out and wail, Son of Man, for it will come against My people, against all 21:17. A gesture of grief.

21:18. The burnished sword — a metaphor for the warnings of the prophets — was meant to frighten the people to repent. But what good would that be if the sword refrains from punishing the Jewish rod, i.e., nation? So, all the warnings will have been wasted (Radak).

21:19. After the two swords of verse 13, the people will be subjected to a third sword, which will be as powerful as the other two combined (Rashi).

20:20. It has been polished and sheathed to retain its sharpness.

21:21. You, Nebuchadnezzar's sword, are you headed south toward Judah or north toward Rabbah of Ammon?

21:26. Nebuchadnezzar shot arrows skyward to see whether they would turn towards Rabbah or Jerusalem, and looked to his magic charms for guidance.

21:27. See 4:2.

21:28. Despite the fact that all forty-nine divinations cast by Nebuchadnezzar pointed to Jerusalem as his target, the people of Judah attached no importance to those results (Rashi). Alternatively: The last phrase does not speak of numbers (שֶׁבַע, seven) but of oaths (שְׁבוּעָה, oath), and means: "[as if the Babylonians had] sworn oaths [not] to [harm] them" (Radak).

21:30. That is, the sin that finally brought about his ruination.

21:31. The crown of King Zedekiah will not remain with him much longer. King Jehoiachin, who has already been the princes of Israel; an assemblage with swords came against My people. Therefore, clap [hand] against thigh. * 18 For it is testing; what will be if [the sword] scorns even this rod? * It will not be — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.

19 "And you, Son of Man, prophesy and pound hand to hand: The third sword will be doubled, * the sword of the slain; it is the sword of the great massacre that will penetrate to them. 20 In order to melt heart and increase obstacles, I have brought the dread of the sword to all their gates. Alas! It is readied to flash; it is sheathed for the slaughter. * 21 Concentrate yourself to the south, set yourself to the north — which way is your face destined? * 22 I, too, will pound My hand upon My hand, and I will put My wrath to rest; I, HASHEM, have spoken."

Two roads

23 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 24 "You, Son of Man, depict for yourself two paths on which the king of Babylonia's sword may come; both should emerge from one land. And choose a place; choose it at the crossroad near the city. 25 Depict a road for the sword to go to Rabbah of the Children of Ammon, and to Judah, to the fortified Jerusalem. 26 For the king of Babylonia stood at the crossroads, at the head of the two roads, to practice divination — he shot arrows, * inquired of the teraphim and looked into the liver. 27 In his right hand the divination indicated Jerusalem, to set up battering rams, to give the order to murder, to raise the voice with shouting, to set up battering rams at the gates, to pour out a ramp, to build a siege tower. * 28 But it was for them a meaningless divination in their eyes, [even though they had cast] seven times seven [divinations, and all pointed] to them; * and this recalled [their] iniquity, that they might be captured.

29 Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Since you cause your iniquity to be recalled, as your sins are revealed, as your transgressions are seen through all your deeds, because you are recalled [for your evilness], you will be captured by the hand [of Nebuchadnezzar].

Zedekiah is castigated

30 And you, defiled and wicked one, prince of Israel, whose day has come, at the time of the final iniquity * — 31 thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Remove the turban, lift off the crown! This will not remain as such: The degraded will be exalted and the exalted will be degraded. * 32 Desolate, desolate, desolate will I make [Jerusalem]. Such a thing had never been, * until the coming of the executor of judgment, when I will deliver him [into his hands]."

33 "Now you, Son of Man, prophesy and say:

exiled, will be shown clemency (see II Kings 25:27-30), while Zedekiah, who currently occupies the throne, will be disgraced, being forced to watch all his sons slaughtered. Then he will be blinded and led off to Babylonia (Radak).

21:32. Although Zedekiah's predecessors were far from righteous, they were not punished with such degradation.

21:33. They rejoiced and taunted the Israelites when Nebuchadnezzar decided to attack Jerusalem instead of Rabbah.

The flashing sword would frighten its intended victims.

21:34. Despite the false prophecies that reassure you of your immunity to Nebuchadnezzar's sword, your turn for the slaughter will come soon after that of the Jews.

21:35. After the slaughter in Jerusalem.

The denunciation of Jerusalem

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: O city that sheds blood in her midst, hastening her time [of judgment], that fashioned idols within herself for contamination: [4] Through the blood that you shed have you become guilty, and through your idols that you fashioned you have become contaminated; [thus] you brought your [judgment] days near and reached the limit of your years. Therefore, I have made you a shame to the nations, and a disgrace for all the lands. [5] *Those near and those far from you will degrade you [as] 'contaminated of name, great of confusion.' [6] Behold, the princes of Israel: Each [acted] within you for the sake of his own power, in order to shed blood. [7] Father and mother have they disparaged within you; toward the stranger in your midst have they acted oppressively; orphan and widow have they wronged within you. [8] My sanctities have you scorned and My Sabbaths have you desecrated. [9] Talebearers were among you, in order to shed blood; they partook [of idolatrous sacrifices] upon the mountains within you; they plotted evil schemes in your midst.* [10] They uncovered a father's nakedness within you; they coerced women among you during their menstrual impurity.* [11] A man would commit abominations against his neighbor's wife; a man would defile his daughter-in-law with licentiousness; a man would coerce his sister, his father's daughter, within you.* [12] They took bribery within you in order to shed blood; you took usury and interest, and enriched your friends with extorted money. You have forgotten Me — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.

Pervasive immorality

[13] Now, behold, I have pounded My hand because of your robbery that you committed and because of your bloodshed that was in your midst.* [14] Will your heart endure, will your hands be strong, in the days when I shall deal with you? I am HASHEM; I have spoken and I shall carry it out. [15] I will scatter you among the nations and disperse you among the lands; and I will eliminate your contamination from you. [16] You will be caused to tremble before the eyes of the nations; then you will know that I am HASHEM."

[17] The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, [18] "Son of Man, the House of Israel has become dross to Me; they are all copper, tin, iron, and lead in the midst of a smelting furnace; they are the dross of silver.

Dross in the furnace

[19] Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because you have all become dross, therefore, behold, I am gathering you into the midst of Jerusalem, [20] like the gathering of silver, copper, iron, lead and tin into the midst of a smelting furnace, to fan the fire onto it to melt [it] down; so will I gather you in My anger and in My wrath, and I will emplace you and melt you down. [21] I will gather you and fan the fire of My fury upon you, and you will be melted down within it. [22] As silver is melted down in the midst of a furnace, so will you be melted down in its midst; then you will know that I, HASHEM, have poured out My wrath upon you."

[23] The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, [24] "Son of Man, say to her:

22:25. After a lion frightens his prey with a roar, he kills and devours it. Similarly the false prophets would shout out their false messages, which would lead to the deaths of those who heeded them (Radak).

22:26. The Kohanim had been charged with instructing the people in the ways of the Torah (see Leviticus 10:10-11), but they ignored their duty, thus depriving the people of the privilege of studying the Torah.

22:28. See 13:8-12.

23:3. In a slashing indictment of Israel's betrayal of Him, God likens the nation to prostitutes, whose infidelity earns the contempt of all, even their paramours.

Israel's two branches, Judah and Ephraim, began as a united nation in Egypt. But even there they were promiscuous, as described in the following metaphor, i.e., they learned from the idolatrous practices of Egypt.

23:8. King Hoshea's political alliance with Egypt [II Kings 17:4] maintained Israel's ancient affinity to Egypt (Rashi).

23:9. See II Kings 17:4-6.

23:10. She became an example of the consequences of disloyalty and the hatred it engenders among others.

23:12. King Ahaz of Judah ingratiated himself to Assyria, using the Temple treasury to purchase Assyria's military assistance [II Kings 16:7-8] (Rashi).

25 "There is a conspiracy of her prophets in her midst, like a roaring lion that tears [its] prey; they have devoured souls, they have taken away [Jerusalem's] treasure and worth, they have increased her widows in her midst.* 26 Her priests robbed My Torah and desecrated My sanctities; they did not distinguish between holy and profane, and they did not make known the difference between contaminated and purified; they hid their eyes from My Sabbaths, and I became profaned among them.* 27 Her officers within her are like wolves who tear prey — to shed blood, to destroy souls, for the sake of unjust gain. 28 And her prophets smeared plaster for them, for they see worthless [visions] and they divine falsehood for them. They say, 'Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM,' when HASHEM did not speak.*

29 "The people of the land have perpetrated oppression and robbed loot; they have wronged the poor and the needy and oppressed the stranger without justice. 30 From among them I sought a man who could build a fence and stand in the breach before Me, for the sake of the land, so that it might not be destroyed, but I did not find [anyone]. 31 So I poured out My wrath over them, and consumed them with the flame of My fury; I have placed [the consequences of] their [evil] way upon their head — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

23 1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man: There were two women, who were daughters of one mother. 3 They indulged in promiscuity in Egypt; they were promiscuous in their youth. There their bosoms were pressed and there their virgin breasts were squeezed.* 4 Their names were Oholah, the older one, and Oholibah, her sister. They became Mine and bore sons and daughters. As for their [true] names: Samaria is Oholah and Jerusalem is Oholibah.

The two sisters

Oholah's adulteries

5 "Now Oholah was adulterous under Me, for she lusted for her paramours, for neighboring Assyria, 6 [who were] clothed in royal blue, governors and rulers, pleasant young men all of them, horsemen riding horses. 7 And she bestowed her adulterous favors upon them, the choicest of Assyria's sons all of them; and for whomever she lusted, with all their idols she became defiled. 8 But she did not forsake her promiscuity with Egypt, for they had lain with her in her youth; they had squeezed her virgin breasts and they had poured their philandering upon her.* 9 *Therefore, I delivered her into the hand of her paramours, into the hands of Assyria's sons for whom she lusted. 10 *They uncovered her nakedness — they took her sons and daughters, and they killed her by the sword. Thus she became a byword among women, and they executed punishments against her.

Oholah's punishment

Oholibah's adulteries

11 "Now her sister Oholibah observed and was even more corrupt in her lusting than she, and in her adulteries more than her sister's adulteries. 12 She lusted for Assyria's sons, neighboring governors and rulers, clothed in splendor, horsemen riding horses, pleasant young men all of them.*

13 "Then I saw that she [also] had become defiled, the two of them [had taken] the same way, 14 and that she had even added to her adulteries — for she saw engraved men upon the wall, images of Chaldeans engraved in bright color, 15 girded with belts upon their loins, with hanging turbans upon their heads, all of them resembling captains, the likeness of Babylonia's children, the Chaldeans, [from] the land of their birth; 16 she lusted for them because of what her eyes had seen, sending emissaries to them, to Chaldea; [17] *and Babylonia's sons came to her for a bed of love, defiling her with their philandering; she became defiled through them, but then her soul became repulsed from them. [18] She revealed her harlotries, and she revealed her nakedness — so My soul became repulsed from her as My soul had become repulsed from her sister.

23:17. King Hezekiah enthusiastically received a Babylonian delegation (II Kings 20:12-13), but generations later the kings Jehoiachin and Zedekiah rebelled against Babylonia (Rashi).

23:19. Zedekiah sent to Egypt seeking military assistance [17:15] (Rashi).

23:25. The heathen nations punished unfaithful wives by mutilating their faces. This is used as a metaphor for Israel's high priesthood and the monarchy, which will cease as a result of the nation's sins (Rashi).

[19] *"Then she increased her adulteries, remembering the days of her youth, when she was promiscuous in the land of Egypt. [20] She lusted for the concubinage of those whose flesh is the flesh of donkeys and whose issue is the issue of horses.

Oholibah's punishment

[21] You recalled the licentiousness of your youth, when your breasts were squeezed by Egypt, for the sake of your youthful bosom. [22] Therefore, O Oholibah, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am inciting your paramours against you, those from whom your soul has become repulsed, and I will bring them against you from round about — [23] Babylonia's sons and all the Chaldeans, Pekod and Shoa and Koa, and all of Assyria's sons with them, pleasant young men, governors and rulers all of them; captains and appointees, all of them riding horses. [24] They will come against you with weaponry, with chariot and wheel, and with an assemblage of nations; with buckler, shield and helmet they will set upon you all around. I will place justice at their disposal and they will punish you with their judgments. [25] I will set My jealousy against you, and they will act upon you with fury — they will remove your nose and your ears * and your final remainder will fall by the sword; they will take your sons and daughters, and your final remainder will be consumed by fire; [26] they will strip you of your clothes and take your splendid articles. [27] I will cause you to cease your licentiousness and your Egyptian promiscuity; you will not raise your eyes to them, and you will no longer remember Egypt.

[28] For thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am delivering you into the hand of those you hated, into the hand of those from whom your soul was repulsed. [29] They will act toward you with hatred and take away all your toil, leaving you naked and bare, so that the shame of your adulteries, your licentiousness and your promiscuity will be uncovered. [30] These things will be done to you because of your straying after the nations, because you became defiled with their idols. [31] You followed the way of your sister; therefore I placed her cup in your hand.

The cup of desolation

[32] Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: You will drink of your sister's deep and wide cup; it will be a cause of scorn and derision [for you], of ample volume. [33] You will be filled with drunkenness and sadness [from] the cup of astonishment and bewilderment, the cup of your sister, Samaria. [34] You will drink it and suck it out and chew its shards, and you will tear at your bosom, for I have spoken — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. [35] Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because you have forgotten Me and cast Me behind your back, therefore you too will bear your licentiousness and your promiscuity."

[36] HASHEM said to me, "Son of Man, won't you rebuke Oholah and Oholibah and tell them of their abominations?

[37] For they have committed adultery and there is blood on their hands and they have committed adultery with their idols; and even their children, whom they had borne for Me, they passed before them to be consumed. [38] Moreover, they have done this to Me: They defiled My Sanctuary on that day,

23:40. To import their degenerate cultures to the people of Israel (Radak).

23:42. Many foreigners had been invited to Jerusalem, and Oholah and Oholibah made themselves attractive for the lovers they had summoned.

23:45. Compared to Oholah and Oholibah, the Babylonians were righteous, because Zedekiah had violated his oath of loyalty to Nebuchadnezzar.

24:3. The prophet describes the siege of Jerusalem in terms of a pot on the stove.

24:4. All the notables would stream to Jerusalem (the pot) to seek shelter from the invasion (Rashi).

24:5. The bones symbolize the warriors, who would take the brunt of the suffering to protect the rest of the and they desecrated My Sabbaths, [39] when they slaughtered their children for their idols they would come to My Sanctuary on that very day to defile it! Behold, they have done this in My Temple! [40] And even more, they sent for men who came from afar, to whom a messenger had been sent, and they came to where [you were waiting], having washed, daubed your eyes and donned ornaments. [41] You sat on a stately couch with a table prepared before it, and you set My incense and My oil upon it. [42] The sound of a peaceful multitude was within [Jerusalem], that of men, of many people, who were brought from the surrounding wilderness; they placed bracelets on their hands and splendid crowns upon their heads.* [43] And I thought of this one who had become worn out through adulteries, 'Now surely her harlotries will depart [from her]!' But she [is still the same]. [44] [People] came to her as one comes to a harlot; so they came to Oholah and to Oholibah, the women of licentiousness. [45] Righteous men* will judge them with the judgment of adulteresses and the judgment of those who spill blood; for they are adulteresses, and there is blood on their hands.*

[46] For thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: I will bring up an assemblage against them and make them into a horror and into plunder. [47] And the assemblage will pelt them with stones and cut them down with their swords; they will kill their sons and daughters and burn down their houses in fire.

[48] Then I will cause licentiousness to cease from the land, and all the women will be chastised, and they will not imitate your licentiousness. [49] They will place your licentiousness upon you and you will bear the sins of your idols; then you will know that I am the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

24 [1] The word of HASHEM came to me in the ninth year, in the tenth month, on the tenth of the month, saying, [2] "Son of Man, write for yourself the name of this day — this very day; the king of Babylonia has reached Jerusalem on this very day. [3] Tell a parable to the rebellious house. Say to them:

The tenth of Teves

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Set the pot, set it! And also pour water into it! [4] Gather its cuts into it, all the good cuts — thigh and shoulder;* fill [it] with the choicest bones. [5] Take the choicest of the flock; and also arrange the bones at its bottom;* then boil it well, so that even its bones become cooked within it.*

The seething blood

[6] Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Woe, O city of bloodshed, the pot in which there is filth, whose filth has not gone out of it! Empty it cut by cut; no lot has been cast over it. [7] For her blood was within her; she placed it upon a smooth rock. She did not pour it upon the ground to cover it with dirt.* [8] So that it might stir up [My] wrath to take vengeance, I have placed her blood upon the smooth rock, that it not be covered.*

Attempted cleansing

[9] Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Woe, O city of bloodshed! I too will enlarge the pyre, [10] increase the wood, kindle the fire, consume the meat, and mix the spices, so that the bones become scorched — [11] and then stand it empty upon its coals, so that its bottom becomes hot and scorched, its contamination melted within it, its filth consumed. [12] She has become weary with her deceptions, thus her abundant filth cannot come out of it; [only] by fire [can] her filth [be purged].

populace (Rashi).

24:6. The people will be killed gradually, through starvation, disease, battle, etc. Death will strike randomly, without any lots, i.e., systematic pattern (Radak).

24:7. People committed murder publicly, shamelessly, not trying to hide their heinous acts (Metzudos).

24:14. The nations who have attacked you, at My behest (Radak).

24:16. Ezekiel's own beloved wife would be among the victims.

24:17. Ezekiel was commanded to refrain from all the customary practices of mourners. Rashi (v. 22) explains that mourners find comfort only when there are others to console them, but the loss of the beloved Temple, now symbolized by Ezekiel's personal bereavement, was universal and beyond consolation.

24:26. See 33:21-22.

24:27. When the herald brings the disastrous news about Jerusalem, Ezekiel's audiences will no longer be unreceptive; the people will have complete faith in his words.

25:4. The Chaldeans and Arameans (Rashi).

13 [You remain] in your licentious contamination. Because I [tried to] cleanse you but you would not be cleansed, you will not again be cleansed of your contamination until I place My wrath upon you. 14 I, HASHEM, have spoken; it is coming, and I shall carry it out; I will not hinder, I will not pity, I will not relent; they have judged you according to your ways and according to your deeds — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."*

The prophet's bereavement

15 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 16 "Son of Man, behold, I am taking from you the darling of your eyes in a plague: You shall not lament and you shall not weep, and your tears shall not come forth.* 17 *Be silent from groaning; do not practice rites of mourning for the dead; don your headgear upon yourself and place your shoes upon your feet; do not veil yourself to the lips, and do not eat the bread of [other] people."

18 I told [this] to the people in the morning. In the evening my wife died, and in the morning I did as I had been commanded.

19 The people said to me, "Won't you tell us what these acts that you are doing [mean] for us?"

20 So I said to them, "The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 21 'Say to the House of Israel:

No overt grief

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am profaning My Sanctuary, the pride of your strength, the darling of your eyes, and the yearning of your soul; and your sons and daughters, whom you have left behind, will fall by the sword. 22 And you will do as I have done; you will not veil yourselves to the lips, and you will not eat the bread [of] other people; 23 your headgear will be upon your heads and your shoes upon your feet; you shall not lament and you shall not weep; and you will pine away because of your iniquities; and each of you will moan to his brother. 24 Ezekiel will be a sign for you; you will do according to everything that he has done; and when this comes [to pass], you will know that I am the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.'

25 And you, Son of Man, behold, on the day that I take their stronghold from them, the joy of their glory, the darling of their eyes, and the exaltation of their soul, their sons and their daughters — 26 on that day, a fugitive will come to you, to let your ears hear. 27 On that day, your mouth will be opened with the fugitive's [arrival], and you will speak and no longer be dumb; then you will be a sign to them, and they will know that I am HASHEM."*

25 1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man, direct your face towards the Children of Ammon and prophesy against them. 3 Say to the Children of Ammon:

Prophecy against Ammon

Hear the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM! Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because you said 'Hurrah!' of My Sanctuary when it was desecrated, and of the soil of Israel when it was laid waste, and of the House of Judah when they went into exile, 4 therefore, behold, I am delivering you to the people of the East as a heritage, and they will establish their palaces within you and place their dwelling places within you; they will eat your fruits and they will drink your milk.* 5 I will make Rabbah an abode for camels and the [land of the] Children of Ammon a resting place for flocks; then you will know that I am HASHEM.

6 For thus said the Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because you clapped [your] hand and stamped with [your] foot and rejoiced with all your rashness of soul over the soil of Israel, 7 therefore, behold, I will extend My hand against you

25:8. They have lost God's special favor; they share the fate of all other nations.

25:10. When the Babylonians go to attack the Ammonites they will invade Moab on the way (Rashi).

25:13. A major Edomite city.

25:16. An area of the Philistine nation (Rashi), situated along the Mediterranean coast (see Zephaniah 2:5).

26:1. The month is not specified. According to a responsum of Rashi, it was Tishrei, the beginning of the year. According to Radak, since this was the year of the Destruction, this was the month of Av, when the tragedy took place.

26:2. The gateways of commerce, which had heretofore been directed toward Jerusalem, will now turn to Tyre.

26:6. This refers to the surrounding villages that were under Tyre's domain (Rashi).

and present you as spoils to the nations; I will eliminate you from the peoples and make you perish from among the lands. I will destroy you; then you will know that I am HASHEM.

Prophecy against Moab and Seir

8 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because Moab and Seir say, 'Behold, the House of Judah is like all the nations'; * 9 therefore, behold, I will expose the flank of Moab, from the cities, from its cities at its border — the splendor of the land of Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim — 10 to the children of the East [as they march] against the Children of Ammon, * I will present it as a heritage, so that the Children of Ammon will not be remembered among the nations. 11 Then I will execute punishments against Moab; and they will know that I am HASHEM.

Prophecy against Edom

12 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because Edom acted in wreaking vengeance against the House of Judah, and has incurred guilt by taking vengeance against them, 13 therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: I will extend My hand against Edom and eliminate from it man and animal, and I will make it desolate from the south, and the inhabitants of Dedan * will fall by the sword. 14 Then I will place My vengeance in Edom by the hand of My people Israel, and they will deal with Edom in accordance with My anger and My wrath; then they will know My vengeance — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.

Prophecy against the Philistines

15 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because the Philistines have acted with vengeance, and they wreaked vengeance with rashness of soul, to destroy with everlasting hatred, 16 therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am extending My hand against the Philistines, and I will eliminate the Cherethites * and destroy the remnant by the seashore. 17 I will execute great vengeance against them with rebukes of wrath; and they will know that I am HASHEM, when I place My vengeance upon them.

26 1 It happened in the eleventh year, on the first of the month, * that the word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man: Because Tyre has said of Jerusalem, 'Hurrah! The gateways of the nations have been broken; it is turned toward me! * I will be filled, for she was destroyed!' — 3 therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am against you, O Tyre, and I will bring up many nations against you, as the sea brings up its waves. 4 They will destroy the walls of Tyre and break down her towers. I will scrape away her soil from her and make her into a bare rock. 5 She will be a spreading-place for nets, in the midst of the sea; for I have spoken — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — and she will become plunder for the nations. 6 Her daughters that are in the field * will be killed by the sword; then they will know that I am HASHEM.

Prophecy against Tyre

Nebuchadnezzar's siege

7 For thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am bringing Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylonia against Tyre from the north, a king of kings, with horse, with chariot and with riders, an assembly and a multitude of people. 8 He will kill your daughters in the field by the sword; he will build a siege tower against you and pour a ramp against you and set his buckler[ed warriors] against you. 9 He will set his catapults at your walls, and he will dismantle your towers with his swords. 10 From the abundance of his horses their dust will cover you; your walls will tremble from the noise of rider, wheel and chariot, when he enters your gates as people enter a breached city. 11 With the hooves of his horses he will trample all 26:12. The Babylonians will utterly demolish Tyre, so that it will figuratively fall into the Mediterranean.

26:15-18. Although Tyre was a relatively small city-state, its economic power was such that it had an influence over much larger countries. Thus, Ezekiel prophesies that its downfall would cause widespread tremors.

26:16. Having seen the fall of once-mighty Tyre, they will fear for their own safety.

26:20. I.e., the Land of Israel in contrast to Tyre's arrogant conviction (v. 2) that "[Tyre] will become filled for [Jerusalem] was destroyed" (Metzudos).

27:3. In its arrogance Tyre had taken for itself this title, which had formerly been applied to Jerusalem (Lamentations 2:15).

27:5. Since Tyre was known for its maritime enterprises, it is described here as a magnificent ship (Rashi).

27:8. The professional sailors were natives of Tyre, while the lowly oarsmen were from other nations.

27:9. The Gebalites were expert builders (see I Kings 5:32).

your streets; he will kill your people by the sword, and your pillars of strength will descend to the ground. 12 *Then they will plunder your wealth and despoil your merchandise; they will break down your walls and smash your houses of delight; and they will throw down your walls and dismantle the houses of your delight. Your stones, your wood and your dust they will place into the midst of the water . 13 I will put an end to the multitude of your songs, and the sound of your harps will be heard no more. 14 I will make you into a bare rock; you will be a spreading-place for nets, never to be rebuilt again, for I, HASHEM, have spoken — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.

15 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM to Tyre: Will not the islands tremble from the noise of your downfall, with the groan of the slain, as slaughter is perpetrated in your midst?* 16 Then all the princes of the sea will descend from their thrones, remove their robes, and remove their embroidered garments; they will garb themselves with trembling and sit on the ground; they will tremble for fear of destruction and be astonished because of you.* 17 They will take up a lament for you and say of you:

How have you perished, [you who are] settled by the seas,
The lauded city that was mighty in the sea, she and her inhabitants,
Who had set their terror upon all [the sea's] inhabitants.
18 Now the open places will tremble on the day of your downfall
And the islands of the sea will be confounded by your exile.

19 For thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: When I make you a devastated city, as cities that have never been inhabited, when I raise the depths of the sea over you and the abundant waters cover you, 20 *then I will bring you down with those who descend to the pit, to the people of antiquity, and I will settle you in the nethermost depths of the earth, like the cities that were devastated in antiquity, with those who descend to the pit, so that you will not be inhabited. But I will bestow splendor upon the Land of Life. 21 I will make you into a fright and you will be no more; you will be sought, but you will never be found again, forever! — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

27 1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying: 2 "Now you, Son of Man, take up
A lament for Tyre a lament for Tyre; 3 and say to Tyre, which dwells at the harbors of the sea, merchant of the peoples to many islands:

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM:
*Tyre, you have said, 'I am perfect in beauty.'
Tyre's beauty
4 In the heart of the seas are your borders;
Your builders perfected your beauty.
5 Of cypress wood from Senir they built you, all the planks;
*Cedar from Lebanon they took, to make a mast upon you.
6 Of oaks from Bashan they made your oars;
Your rudder they made of ivory-inlaid ebony from the Kittite isles.
7 Of embroidered Egyptian linen was your sail, to be an ensign for you;
Of turquoise and purple from the isles of Elishah was your awning.
8 The inhabitants of Sidon and Arvad were oarsmen for you;
Your wise men, O Tyre, were within you; they were your sailors.*
9 *The elders of Gebal and its wise men were within you, caulkers of your cracks.
All the ships of the sea and their rowers were within you, to provide your merchandise.

27:11. Another name for the Cappadocians (Targum). Metzudos renders this word as "dwarfs." They would be stationed as lookouts because they could hide more easily from the enemy.

27:12. Tarshish exported these raw materials to Tyre, which processed them and became wealthy selling them (Metzudos).

27:13. Nations engaged in the slave trade.

27:14. They brought valuable goods in boxes and chests.

27:25. Like an overloaded vessel heading for doom on the high seas, your pride and wealth brought about your downfall (Radak).

27:28-31. With the downfall of Tyre, the sailors will lose their livelihood and grieve.

27:29. All maritime commerce will stop when Tyre is destroyed.

10 Persia, Lud, and Put were in your army — your men of war;
They hung shield and helmet in you; they provided your beauty.
11 The sons of Arvad and your army, up on your walls all around;
And Gammadim were in your towers.*
They hung their shields upon your walls all around,
they perfected your beauty.

Tyre's trading partners

12 *Tarshish was your merchant because of the multitude of every richness:
With silver, iron, tin, and lead they provided your wares.
13 Javan, Tubal, and Meshech, they were your peddlers:*
With human soul and copper vessels, they provided your merchandise.
14 *From the house of Togarmah, horses, riders, and mules,
they provided your wares.
15 The men of Dedan were your peddlers; many islands traded with you;
Ivory tusks and peacocks they brought as your tribute.
16 Aram was your merchant because of your great wealth:
With carbuncle, purple wool, and embroidery,
Fine linen, coral, and pearl, they provided your wares.
17 Judah and the Land of Israel, they were your peddlers:
With wheat from Minnith, and balsam oil, honey, oil, and balm, they provided your merchandise.
18 Damascus was your merchant because of your great wealth,
Because of the multitude of every richness:
with wine from Helbon and white wool.
19 Vedan and Javan provided your wares with fine yarn,
Iron bars, cassia, and cane were among your merchandise.
20 Dedan was your peddler, with exquisite clothes for riding.
21 Arabia and all of Kedar's princes, they were your local merchants:
With fatted sheep, rams, and he-goats, with these they were your merchants.
22 The peddlers of Sheba and Raamah, they were your peddlers;
With the best of every spice, and every precious stone and gold,
they provided your wares.
23 Haran, Canneh, and Eden, the peddlers of Sheba, Asshur, and Media, were your peddlers.
24 They were your peddlers in objects of perfection:
In wraps of blue wool and embroidery; in treasures kept in chests, fastened with bands and cedar boxed, for your wares.
25 The ships of Tarshish were your caravans for your merchandise.
*Thus you were filled and made very heavy in the heart of the seas.

Tyre's downfall

26 Into many waters your oarsmen brought you;
The east wind has broken you in the heart of the seas.
27 Your riches, and your wares, your merchandise; your rowers and your sailors,
The caulkers of your cracks and the providers of your merchandise,
And all your men of war who are within you,
And with your entire assembly that is in your midst,
They will fall in the heart of the seas on the day of your downfall.
28 At the sound of your sailors' cries, the surrounding areas will tremble;*
29 They will descend from their boats: All who grasp an oar, *rowers and all sailors of the sea; they will stand upon the ground.
30 They will let their voices to be heard about you, and they will cry out bitterly.
They will put dust upon their heads and wallow in the ashes.
31 They will tear out their hair for you, and gird themselves in sackcloth;

27:36. In astonishment. According to Rashi, this was a passing phenomenon. After the initial astonishment at Tyre's downfall, its former trading partners forgot about it and found other ways to conduct their business.

28:3. The question is meant sarcastically. Nebuchadnezzar had wanted to proclaim Daniel to be a God, but Daniel refused (Rashi). See 14:14 above and Daniel 2:46.

28:10. This refers to those of uncircumcised heart, meaning that they persist in their wickedness and refuse to accept the truth. See 44:7.

28:12. Are you as perfect as the first man, Adam, the die from which all mankind was cast? (Midrash).

28:13. These precious stones formed a canopy over Adam's head in the Garden of Eden (Talmud; Bava Basra 75a). See note to Exodus 28:17-20 regarding the identity of these gemstones.

28:14. You were a leader of very great stature. God blessed you because your predecessor, King Hiram of Tyre, played a major role in the building of Solomon's Temple, upon the mountain of God (see I Kings Ch. 15), in cooperation with the fiery stones, i.e., David and Solomon, the great kings of Israel (Rashi).

They will weep for you with embittered soul, bitter lamentation.

The lament

32 They will take up for you a lament in their wailing, and lament over you:
'Who is like Tyre! Who can compare to her in the midst of the sea?'
33 When your wares went forth from the seas you satiated many peoples;
With your abundant riches and your merchandise, you enriched the kings of the earth.
34 When you were broken by the seas, in the depths of the waters, your merchandise and all your assembly fell in your midst.
35 All inhabitants of the islands became astonished over you.
Their kings shook with trembling; their faces showing anguish.
*36 Merchants among the peoples whistled over you;
You were a terror, but you shall be no more, forever."

28 1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man, say to the prince of Tyre:

Prophecy against the king of Tyre

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because your heart has grown proud and you have said, 'I am a god; I occupy the seat of God in the heart of the seas!' — but you are a man and not a god, though you set your heart like the heart of God! 3 Are you wiser than Daniel? Does no mystery perplex you? 4 Through your wisdom and discernment you have acquired wealth for yourself and amassed gold and silver in your treasuries. 5 Through your abundant wisdom in your commerce, you have increased your wealth, and your heart became proud with your wealth.*

6 Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because you have set your heart like the heart of God, 7 therefore, behold, I am bringing foreigners upon you, the fiercest of the nations, and they will draw their swords against the beauty of your wisdom, and they will defile your splendor. 8 They will bring you down to the grave, and you will die the death of the slain, in the heart of the seas. 9 Will you say, 'I am a God,' before your killer? You are a man and not a god in the hand of your slayer! 10 You will die the death of the uncircumcised by the hand of foreigners, for I have spoken — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.' "*

A lament over the king of Tyre

11 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 12 "Son of Man, take up a lamentation over the king of Tyre. Say of him:

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM:
*Are you [Adam] the culmination of perfection,
full of wisdom, perfect in beauty?
13 Were you in Eden, the garden of God;
Was your canopy of every precious stone —
Odem, pitedah and yahalom; tarshish, shoham and yashfeh;
*sapir, nophech and barkas — and gold?
The work of your drums and wind instruments was in you;
They were established on the day of your creation.
14 You were a great sheltering cherub, and it is I [who] granted you this;*
You were upon the holy mountain of God; you walked among fiery stones;
15 Perfect were you in your ways from the day of your creation — until wrongdoing was found in you.
16 Because of your abundant commerce, your midst filled with injustice and you sinned;
So I desecrated you from the mountain of God
And destroyed you, O sheltering cherub, from among the fiery stones.

28:18. You will be consumed because of your own sins (Targum).

28:24. A metaphor for menacing neighbors.

29:1. This prophecy came to Ezekiel on the twelfth of Teves, in the tenth year of Jehoiachin's exile and Zedekiah's reign.

29:3. Because Egypt is completely dependent upon the Nile, Pharaoh is compared to the largest and fiercest denizen of the Nile, and his people to fish (Rashi).

29:7. Egypt disappointed those who depended on its support. It broke like a reed, injuring those who relied upon it, or forcing them to stand erect without the needed aid.

17 Your heart became proud because of your beauty;
You corrupted your wisdom because of your splendor.
So I have thrown you to the ground
And I have set you before kings to gaze upon you.
18 By the multitude of your iniquities, by the dishonesty of your commerce,
You desecrated your sanctities; so I drew out a fire from within you.
It consumed you; thus I made you into ashes upon the earth in the eyes of all who see you.*

You were a terror, but you shall be no more, forever."

Prophecy against Zidon

20 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 21 "Son of Man, direct your face towards Sidon and prophesy against it. 22 Say:

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM*: Behold, I am against you, O Sidon; I will be honored within you, and they will know that I am* HASHEM*, when I execute judgments upon her and I become sanctified through her.* 23 I will send pestilence and blood into her, into her streets; and the slain will fall within her when the sword comes upon her from all around; then they will know that I am HASHEM. 24 Then there will no longer be for the House of Israel any harmful briar nor painful thorn among all their surroundings, who despoil them; and they will know that I am the Lord* HASHEM/ELOHIM.

The ingathering of Israel

25 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM*: When I gather in the House of Israel from the peoples among whom they were scattered, then I will be sanctified through them in the eyes of the nations, and they will dwell on their land that I gave to My servant, to Jacob.* 26 They will dwell upon it in security and build houses and plant vineyards and dwell in security, when I execute judgments upon all those who despoil them from all their surroundings; then they will know that I am HASHEM*, their God.*

29 1 In the tenth year, in the tenth [month], on the twelfth of the month, the word of* HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man, direct your face towards Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and prophesy concerning him and concerning all of Egypt. 3 Speak and say:

Prophecy against Pharaoh and Egypt

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM*: Behold, I am against you, Pharaoh, king of Egypt, the great serpent* that crouches within its rivers, who has said, 'Mine is my river, and I have made myself [powerful].'* 4 I will attach hooks to your cheeks, and I will cause the fish of your rivers to cling to your scales; I will draw you out from within your rivers, and all the fish of your rivers will cling to your scales, 5 and I will cast you into the wilderness, you and all the fish of your rivers. You will fall upon the surface of the open field; you will not be gathered in and not be collected together; I will present you as food to the beast of the land and to the bird of the heavens. 6 Then all the inhabitants of Egypt will know that I am HASHEM*, because they were a reed-like support for the House of Israel —* 7 *whenever they held you in their hand you would snap, piercing their every shoulder, and whenever they leaned upon you, you would break and make their loins stand upright.

8 Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM*: Behold, I am bringing a sword against you and I will eliminate from you man and animal.* 9 The land of Egypt will become desolate and a ruin; then they will know that I am HASHEM — because he said, 'The river is mine and I have made [it].' 10 Therefore, behold, I am against you and against your rivers, and I will make the 29:10. Ethiopia.

29:16. It was a sin for Israel to put its faith in Egypt, instead of turning to God.

29:17. Of Nebuchadnezzar's reign (Seder Olam), which was eight years after the Destruction of the Temple and the seventeenth year of Jehoiachin's exile. Thus, this prophecy was not recorded in its chronological setting.

29:18. From the immense amount of war materiel the soldiers hauled on their heads and shoulders. But the spoils of Tyre were not commensurate with the immense amount of labor invested in its siege.

29:20. Egypt's betrayal of Israel is considered a sin against God Himself.

29:21. When Egypt's forty-year exile is over (Rashi), land of Egypt into destroyed and desolate ruins, from Migdol to Aswan to the border of Cush. * 11 The foot of a man will not traverse it, and the foot of an animal will not traverse it; and it will not be inhabited for forty years. 12 I will make the land of Egypt desolate among desolate lands, and its cities will be desolate among destroyed cities for forty years; and I will scatter Egypt among the nations and disperse them through the lands.

13 For thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: At the end of forty years I will gather Egypt from the nations where they were scattered, 14 and I will return the captivity of Egypt and bring them back to the land of Pathros, upon their native land, and they will be a lowly kingdom there. 15 It will be the lowest of the kingdoms, and it will not exalt itself again above nations; and I will diminish them, so that they not dominate nations. 16 They will no longer be a guarantor for the House of Israel, recalling their iniquity, when they looked to them [for help]; * then they will know that I am the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.

Nebuchadrezzar's reward

17 It happened in the twenty-seventh year, * in the first [month], on the first of the month, that the word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 18 "Son of Man: Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylonia, has pressed his army to perform a difficult labor against Tyre; every head was made bald and every shoulder peeled; * and he and his army had no reward from Tyre for the labor that they had performed against her. 19 Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am giving the land of Egypt to Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylonia; he will carry off its multitude and seize its booty and take its plunder, and that will be the reward for his army. 20 In return for the labor that he did there, I have given him the land of Egypt, because of what they did to Me * — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.

21 "On that day * I will cause the might of the House of Israel to sprout, and I will thus grant you an opening of the mouth in their midst, * and they will know that I am HASHEM."

Prophecies against Egypt and her allies

1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man, prophesy and say: Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Wail, 'Woe for the day!' 3 For the day is close, the day of HASHEM is close, a cloudy day; it will be a time for the nations. 4 The sword will come against Egypt, and there will be a trembling in Cush when the slain fall in Egypt, * when they take away her multitude and her foundations are broken. 5 Cush, Put, Lud and all the people of mixed blood, and Cub and the inhabitants of [Egypt's] allied lands will fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus said HASHEM: The supporters of Egypt will fall and the pride of its power will collapse; from Migdol to Aswan they will fall by the sword in her — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. 7 They will become desolate among desolate lands; and its cities will be among ruined cities. 8 Then they will know that I am HASHEM, when I place a fire in Egypt and all its helpers are smashed. 9 On that day messengers from Me * will go out in ships to frighten secure Cush, and there will be a trembling among them on the day of Egypt, for it is coming!

10 For thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: I will cause the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylonia. 11 He Ezekiel's prophecy will be confirmed and he will be able to open his mouth to a receptive audience.

30:4. For they will fear for their own fate.

30:9. Since they are carrying out God's will, the destroyers are called God's messengers (Radak).

30:13. No Egyptian will rule over other lands (Radak).

30:20. The seventh of Nissan, in the eleventh year of Jehoiachin's exile and Zedekiah's reign, five months before Nebuchadnezzer destroyed the Temple.

30:21. Egypt had ceased to be a world power some eighteen years before this prophecy, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim's reign (Rashi).

31:1. The first of Sivan, in Zedekiah's eleventh year.

31:2. Despite your haughty delusions, you will fall as did Assyria, whose power is described in the following verses.

31:4. Nineveh, the Assyrian capital, flourished to the point where its rule spread over other nations (Targum).

Pharaoh defeated by Nebuchadrezzar and his people with him, the fiercest of nations, are being brought to destroy the land; they will draw their swords against Egypt and fill the land with slain. 12 I will make the rivers dry and deliver the land into the hand of evil people; and I will make the land and all that fills it desolate by the hand of foreigners. I, HASHEM, have spoken.

13 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: I will destroy the idols and cause the false gods to cease from Noph; there will never again be a ruler from the land of Egypt, and I will instill fear over the land of Egypt.* 14 I will make Pathros desolate and set a fire in Zoan, and I will execute punishments in No; 15 I will pour out My wrath upon Sin, the stronghold of Egypt; and I will cut off the multitudes of No. 16 I will set a fire in Egypt; Sin will tremble greatly, No will be split asunder and Noph beset by enemies daily. 17 The young men of Aven and Pi-beseth will fall by the sword, and [their wives] will go into captivity. 18 In Tehaphnehes the day will withhold [light], when I break the rods of Egypt there, and the pride of her power will cease in her; a cloud will cover it, and its daughters will go into captivity. 19 I will execute judgments in Egypt; then they will know that I am HASHEM."

Egypt's arms broken

20 It happened in the eleventh year, in the first [month], on the seventh of the month, that the word of HASHEM came to me, saying,* 21 "Son of Man: I have [already] broken an arm of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and behold, it has not been bound up to provide healing, to place a bandage, to bind it up, to strengthen it, so that it might grasp a sword.*

22 "Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am against Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and I will break his arms, the strong one and the broken one, and I will make the sword drop from his hand; 23 I will scatter Egypt among the nations and disperse them among the lands. 24 I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylonia and put My sword in his hand; and I will break the arms of Pharaoh, and he will groan before him with the groans of the slain. 25 I will support the arms of the king of Babylonia, but the arms of Pharaoh will drop; then they will know that I am HASHEM, when I put My sword in the hand of Babylonia's king and he stretches it out over the land of Egypt. 26 I will scatter Egypt among the nations and disperse them among the lands; then they will know that I am HASHEM."

Babylon's arms strengthened

31 1 It happened in the eleventh year, in the third [month], on the first of the month, that the word of HASHEM came to me, saying,* 2 "Son of Man, say to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and to his multitude:

Egypt, learn from Assyria, the giant of the forest

*To whom do you liken yourself in your greatness? 3 Behold Assyria, a cedar in the Lebanon [forest] with beautiful branches and a shady thickness, tall of stature, with its crown among the thick branches; 4 *water nourished it, the depths elevated it, its rivers flowed around its bed, and it sent forth its streams to all the trees of the field. 5 Thus its height surpassed all the trees of the field; its boughs multiplied and its branches grew long when it sent them forth, because of the abundant waters. 6 In its boughs every fowl of the heavens nested, and under its branches every beast of the field gave birth; in its shade dwelt all the many nations. 7 It became beautiful in its greatness, in the length of its tendrils, for its roots were upon abundant waters.

31:10-11. Scripture often shifts from second person to third and vice versa, even in the same verse. Thus, "you," "it," and "him" of this passage all refer to Assyria.

31:11. Assyria was conquered by Babylonia under the rule of Nebuchadnezzar.

31:15. Assyria.

31:16. When they saw that the great Assyria ultimately shared their fate.

31:18. Pharaoh; see verse 1.

32:1. On the first of Adar, in the twelfth year after the exile of Jechoniah and reign of Zedekiah, nineteen months after the Temple was destroyed.

32:2. A sea serpent has no dominion outside his marine habitat. So too, Pharaoh should never have gone out of Egypt to invade other lands (Rashi).

8 [Even] cedars could not obscure it in God's garden, cypresses could not compare to its boughs, and chestnut trees were nothing like its branches; no tree in God's garden could compare to it in its beauty. 9 I made it so beautiful with its abundant tendrils that it was envied by all the trees of Eden that were in God's garden.

The penalty for Assyria's haughtiness

10 Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because you grew haughty in stature and put its* crown among the thick branches, and its heart became proud of its height,* 11 I delivered him into the hand of the strongest of nations; who dealt freely with him, commensurate with his wickedness, and I drove him out.* 12 Strangers, the fiercest of the nations, cut it down and abandoned it; its tendrils fell upon the mountains and in all the valleys, and its branches lay broken in all the channels of the earth, and all the nations of the earth departed from its shade and forsook it. 13 Upon its ruins every bird of heaven rested, and upon its branches was every beast of the field. 14 [I did this] so that none of all the water-nourished trees should become haughty with their stature and they should not place their crown among the thick branches; and the elms, [as well as] all [other trees] that drink water, should not stand tall in their height, for they are all given over to death, into the nethermost earth, in the midst of the children of man, among those who descend to the pit.

15 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: On the day he descended to the grave I caused mourning; I constrained the depths because of him and withheld its rivers, and the abundant waters ceased; I darkened the Lebanon because of him, and all the trees of the field grew faint because of him.* 16 I made the nations tremble at the sound of his fall, when I brought him down to the grave with those who descend to the pit; then all the trees of Eden were comforted in the nethermost earth, the choicest and best of the Lebanon, all those that drink water.* 17 They, too, descended with him to the grave, to those slain by the sword, along with his supporter[s] who had dwelled in his protection among the nations.

18 To whom did you thus liken yourself in glory and size among Eden's trees? Now you will be brought down with Eden's trees into the nethermost earth; you will lay among the uncircumcised, with the slain of the sword; this is Pharaoh and all his multitude! — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."*

32 1 It happened in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, on the first of the month, the word of HASHEM came to me, saying,* 2 "Son of Man, take up a lament for Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and say to him:

A lament for Pharaoh and Egypt

You imagined yourself a young lion among the nations, but you are like a serpent in the seas. You emerged with your rivers and you churned waters with your feet and fouled their rivers.*

3 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: I will spread My net over you with an assemblage of many nations, and they will lift you in My web. 4 I will leave you abandoned upon the earth; I will hurl you upon the open field; I will cause all the fowl of the heavens to settle upon you, and I will sate every beast of the land with you. 5 I will place your flesh upon the mountains and fill the valleys with your decay. 6 The land where you swam I will inundate with your blood until the mountains, and the channels will be filled from you. 7 With [the smoke of] your extinguishment I will cover the heavens and I will darken their stars; I will cover the sun with a cloud and the moon will not who were laid, despite their might, with the victims of the sword; they will lie with the uncircumcised, together with those who descend to the pit.

. . . the princes of the North and Zidon

30 There are princes of the North, all of them, and every Sidonian, those who descended with the slain, when they were broken from their might in shame; they lie uncircumcised with those slain by the sword, bearing their shame with those who descend to the pit. 31 Pharaoh will see them and be consoled with all his multitude, Pharaoh and all his army, slain by the sword — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. 32 For I have instilled My terror in the Land of Life; and Pharaoh and all his multitude will be laid in the midst of the uncircumcised, with those slain by the sword — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.' Duties of the sentinel

1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man, speak to the children of your people and say to them:

When I bring the sword [of war] upon a land, the people of the land take one man from among them and set him as a sentinel for themselves. 3 If, when he sees the sword coming upon the land, he blows the shofar and warns the people, 4 and a listener hears the sound of the shofar but does not take heed and the sword comes and takes him, his blood will be upon his head. 5 He heard the sound of the shofar but did not take heed, so his blood will be upon him; had he taken heed, he would have saved his soul. 6 But if the sentinel saw the sword coming and he did not blow the shofar and the people were not warned, and a sword came and took a soul from among them — he was taken for his own iniquity, but I will seek his blood from the sentinel's hand."

7 "Now you, Son of Man, I have made you a sentinel for the House of Israel; when you hear a matter from My mouth, you must warn them for Me. 8 If I say of a wicked person, 'Wicked one, you shall surely die!' and you do not speak up to warn the wicked one concerning his way — he is wicked and will die for his iniquity, but I will demand his blood from your hand. 9 But you, if you did warn the wicked one concering his way to repent from it, but he did not repent from his way, he will die for his iniquity, and you will have saved your soul."

10 "Now you, Son of Man, say to the House of Israel,

*'Thus have you spoken, saying, 'Since our sins and our iniquities are upon us and we are wasting away because of them, how can we live?'

11 Say to them:

'As I live — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — [I swear] that I do not desire the death of the wicked one, but rather the wicked one's return from his way, that he may live. Repent, repent from your evil ways! Why should you die, O House of Israel?' "

The righteous one's regression

12 "Now you, Son of Man, say to the children of your people:

*The righteousness of the righteous person shall not rescue him on the day of his rebellious sin; and as for the wickedness of the wicked person — he shall not stumble over it on the day of his repentance from his wickedness; but the righteous person cannot live because of [his righteousness] on the day he sins. 13 If I say of a righteous person that he shall surely live, and he relies on his righteousness yet practices corruption, all his righteousness will not be recalled, rather because of his corruption that he practiced, for that he will die. 14 And if I say to a wicked person, 'You shall surely die,' and he repents from his sin and acts with justice and righteousness — 15 the wicked person returns a pledge, * repays for his theft, follows the life-giving decrees,*

The wicked one's return

33:21. Teves.

33:22. As foretold in 24:26-27.

33:24. Although the country has been conquered, we can rely on the Divine guarantee that the land is ours.

33:25. The reference is to an idolatrous ritual, in which the meat of a slaughtered animal was eaten near its blood (Radak). Alternatively, the reference is to the sin of murdering wealthy people in order to buy expensive food with their money (Rashi).

33:33. When they see your prophecies begin to materialize, as when the fugitive comes.

without practicing corruption — he will surely live; he will not die. 16 All his sins that he had committed will not be remembered for him; he has practiced justice and righteousness, he shall surely live.

17 Now the members of your people say, 'The way of the Lord is not proper'; but them, it is their ways that are not proper. 18 If a righteous person turns back from his righteousness and practices corruption, he shall die for [his acts]; 19 and if a wicked person turns back from his wickedness and acts with justice and righteousness, he shall live for [his acts]. 20 Yet you say, 'The way of the Lord is not proper'! I shall judge you, each man according to his ways, O House of Israel!"

The fugitive's report

21 *It happened in the twelfth year of our exile, in the tenth [month], * on the fifth of the month: A fugitive came to me from Jerusalem, saying, "The City has been conquered."* 22 *Now the hand of HASHEM had come upon me on the evening before the arrival of the fugitive, and He had opened my mouth before his coming to me in the morning; my mouth was opened and I was dumb no more. **

Shall you inherit?

23 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 24 *"Son of Man, the inhabitants of these ruins upon the ground of Israel speak, saying, 'Abraham was [but] one, yet he inherited the land; we are many, so the land is given us as a heritage.'

25 Therefore, say to them:

*Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: You eat over the blood, * you lift up your eyes to your idols and you shed blood; shall you then inherit the land?* 26 You relied upon your sword, you committed abomination, a man has defiled his fellow's wife; shall you then inherit the land?

27 Say thus to them:

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: As I live, [I swear] that those who are in the ruined cities will fall by the sword; and whoever is out in the open field I have given over to the beast to devour him; and those in the strongholds and in the caves will die by the plague. 28 I will make the land desolate and a waste, and its prideful power will cease; and the mountains of Israel will be desolate, without passerby. 29 Then they will know that I am HASHEM, when I make the land desolate and a waste because of all their abominations that they have committed."

Ignoring the prophet

30 "Now you, Son of Man, the children of your people who speak against you near the walls and in the entrances of the houses, and speak to one another, each man to his brother, saying, 'Come now and hear what is the word that comes forth from HASHEM.' 31 They come to you as a people comes, and My people sits before you and they hear your words, but they do not fulfill [them], for they relegate them to ridicule with their mouths, and their heart lusts for unjust gain. 32 You are like a love song to them, with a beautiful voice, skillfully sung; they hear your words, but do not fulfill them. 33 *But when it comes, * for it will come, they will know that a prophet was among them."*

34

1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel; prophesy and say to them, to the shepherds:

Woe to the shepherds/ kings

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Woe to the shepherds of Israel who have tended themselves! Is it not the flock that the shepherds should tend? 3 The choicest you eat; the wool you wear; and the healthiest you slaughter; [but] the [rest of the] flock you do not tend! 4 The frail you did not strengthen; the ill you did not cure; the broken you did not bind; the banished you did not retrieve; for the lost you did not search — rather, you subjugated them with force and with rigor. 5 Thus they became scattered for lack of a shepherd and became food for every beast of the field; they became scattered. 6 My sheep wander on all the mountains and upon every high hill; My sheep have scattered upon the whole face of the earth, but no one seeks and no one searches.

34:26. The Temple (Targum), or the Land of Israel (Metzudos).

7 Therefore, O shepherds, hear the word of HASHEM: 8 As I live — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — [I swear] that because My sheep have become spoils, and My sheep have become food for every beast of the field for lack of a shepherd, and My shepherds did not seek out My sheep, for the shepherds tended themselves, but did not tend My flock — 9 therefore, shepherds, hear the word of HASHEM!

I will seek My flock . . .

10 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am against the shepherds, and I will seek out My flock from their hand, and I will cause them to cease herding sheep, and the shepherds will no longer tend themselves; thus I will rescue My sheep from their mouths, and they will no longer be food for them. 11 For thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am here, and I will seek out My sheep and I will tend them. 12 As a shepherd tends his flock on the day he is among his separated sheep, so I will tend to My sheep and rescue them from all the places where they were scattered on the day of cloud and darkness. 13 I will remove them from the peoples and gather them from the lands and bring them to their soil, and I will tend them upon the mountains of Israel, in the streams and in all the land's habitations. 14 I will shepherd them upon a good pasture and their fold will be upon the heights of Israel's mountains; there they will lie down in a good fold and graze upon fat pastures, on the mountains of Israel. 15 I will care for My sheep and I will lay them down — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. 16 For the lost I will search; the banished I will retrieve; the broken I will bind; the ill I will strengthen; but the fat one and the strong one I will destroy. I will tend them with justice.

. . . and gather in My sheep

I will separate the guilty from the innocent

17 And as for you, My sheep, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am judging between lamb and lamb and the rams and the he-goats.* 18 Is it not enough for you that you graze in the good pasture, that you must also trample the rest of your pasture underfoot? [Is it not enough] that you drink settled waters, that you must also befoul the rest with your feet? 19 And My flock, must they graze the tramplings of your feet and drink the befoulment of your feet?

20 Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM to them: Behold, I am here, and I shall judge between the robust lamb and the famished lamb; 21 because you push with flank and shoulder and you gore all the frail ones with your horns until you have scattered them away. 22 So I will save My sheep, and they will no longer be for spoils, and I will judge between lamb and lamb. 23 I will establish over them a single shepherd and he will tend them — My servant David; he will tend them and he will be a shepherd unto them. 24 And I, HASHEM, I will be a God to them, and My servant David a prince among them. I, HASHEM, have spoken. 25 *I will seal a covenant of peace with them and abolish evil beast from the land; and they will dwell securely in the wilderness, and sleep in the forests. 26 Then I will make them and the surroundings of My hill into a blessing, and I will bring the rain*

A covenant of peace

34:29. I will plant them firmly in their land.

35:2. Seir was the home of Esau/Edom, so that this prophecy was directed against Israel's historic archenemy.

35:5. That is, the sin that finally brought about their ruination.

35:6. You hated the murderers who would try to kill you, but they will pursue and apprehend you.

35:10. The northern Kingdom of Israel and the Kingdom of Judah. However, since God's presence rests in the land, He would not permit you to succeed (Metzudos).

35:11. By repaying Seir in kind for its hatred and vengefulness against Israel, God will cause His greatness and justice to be acknowledged by Israel (Radak).

35:14. At the end of days (Rashi).

in its time; they will be rains of blessing. 27 The tree of the field will yield its fruit, and the earth will yield its produce, and they will be secure upon their land. Then they will know that I am HASHEM, when I break the rods of their yoke and rescue them from the hand of those who enslave them. 28 They will no longer be spoils for the nations, and the beast of the land will no longer devour them; they will dwell securely, and none will make [them] afraid. 29 I will establish for them a planting of renown, and they will no longer be decimated by famine in the land, and they will no longer bear the shame of the nations.* 30 Then they will know that I, HASHEM their God, am with them, and that they are My people, the House of Israel — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.

You are man

31 Now, you are My sheep, the sheep of My pasture, you are Man; I am your God — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

35 1 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 2 "Son of Man, direct your face toward Mount Seir and prophesy against it.* 3 Say to it:

Another prophecy against Edom . . .

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am against you, Mount Seir; I will stretch out My hand against you and make you desolate and a waste. 4 I will make your cities into ruins, and you will be desolate; then you will know that I am HASHEM. 5 *Because you have eternal hatred, and you caused the [blood of the] Children of Israel to stream forth by the sword at the moment of their disaster, at the time of the climactic sin, 6 therefore, as I live — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — [I swear] that I will turn you to blood, and blood will pursue you. Surely though you have hated bloodshed, bloodshed will pursue you.* 7 I will make Mount Seir desolate and a waste, and I will cut off from it those who come and go. 8 I will fill his mountains with his corpses; your hills and your valleys and all your streams. Those slain by the sword will fall in them. 9 I will make you an eternal desolation, that your cities will never be restored; then you will know that I am HASHEM.

10 Because you said, 'The two nations and the two lands shall be mine and we shall inherit them' — but* HASHEM was there! 11 Therefore, as I live — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — I will act according to your anger and according to your vengefulness, for what you have done because of your hatred of them; then I will become known among them, when I judge you.* 12 Then you will know that I am HASHEM. I have heard all your provocations that you have spoken against the mountains of Israel, saying, 'They are desolate; they are presented to us to devour.' 13 You have exalted yourselves against Me with your mouths and have spoken your words excessively against Me; I have heard!

14 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: When all the earth rejoices, I will make you desolate.* 15 In accordance with your rejoicing that the heritage of the House of Israel had become desolate, so will I do to you; you shall be desolate, Mount Seir and every bit of Edom! Then they will know that I am HASHEM.' "

36 1 "Now you, Son of Man, prophesy to the mountains of Israel and say:

Prophecy of renewal

Mountains of Israel, hear the word of HASHEM! 2 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because the enemy has said against you, 'Hurrah! The heights of the world have become a heritage for us!' — 3 therefore, prophesy and say, 'Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because, and again because,

HAFTARAS PARASHAS PARAH
Ashkenazim: 36:16-38
Sephardim: 36:16-36

36:13. The Canaanite nations were spewed out of the land, and now Israel has been driven from the land (Rashi).

36:17. She must be separated from her husband until the purification process is completed (Radak).

36:20. People assumed that God's people were forced into exile because He lacked the power to save them. When weakness can be ascribed to God, His Name is desecrated.

there was astonishment and craving for you from all around, for you to become a heritage for the rest of the nations, and you were taken up on [every] lip of each nation as the subject of the people's disparagement, 4 therefore, mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM! Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM to the mountains and to the hills, to the streams and to the valleys, to the desolate ruins and to the forlorn cities, which have become a scorn and a derision for the remaining nations all around — 5 therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: [I swear] that I have spoken in the fire of My vengefulness against the remaining nations and against all of Edom, who have arrogated My land to themselves as a heritage with the joy of all their heart, with contempt of soul, because of [Israel's] expulsion in scorn.

6 "Therefore, prophesy concerning the Land of Israel and say to the mountains and to the hills, to the streams and to the valleys,

'Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I have spoken in My vengefulness and in My wrath, because you bore the shame of the nations. 7 Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: I have lifted My hand, [swearing] that the nations surrounding you will bear their shame, 8 but you, O mountains of Israel, will give forth your branch and bear your fruit for My people Israel, for they are soon to come. 9 For behold, I am with you; and I will turn [My attention] to you, and you will be tilled and you will be sown. 10 I will make people numerous upon you — the entire House of Israel, all of it; the cities will be inhabited and the ruins will be rebuilt. 11 I will multiply man and animal upon you, and they will multiply and be fruitful; I will make you inhabited as in your earlier times, and I will make it better than it was at your beginning; then you will know that I am HASHEM. 12 I will cause man to walk upon you — My people Israel — and they will inherit you. Then you will be theirs for a possession, and you will no longer be bereaved of them.

13 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Because people say of you, 'You devour man, and you have become one who drives out your nations' —* 14 therefore, you will no longer devour people, and you will never again drive out your nations — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. 15 I will no longer allow the derision of nations to be heard about you, and you will no longer bear the shame of the peoples, and you will never again cause your nations to falter — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

What was . . .

16 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 17 "Son of Man, the House of Israel dwell on their land, and they have contaminated it with their way and with their acts; their way has become like the contamination of a menstruous woman before Me.* 18 So I poured My wrath upon them, because of the blood that they had shed in the land, and [because] they had defiled it with their idols. 19 I scattered them among the nations and they were dispersed among the lands; according to their way and according to their acts did I judge them. 20 *They came among the nations where they came, and they desecrated My holy Name when it was said of them, 'These are the people of HASHEM, but they departed His land.' 21 I took pity on My holy Name, which the House of Israel had desecrated among the nations where they came. 22 Therefore, say to the House of Israel:

. . . and what will be

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: It is not for your sake that I act, O House of Israel, but for My holy Name that you have desecrated

HAFTARAH SABBATH OF CHOL HAMOED PESACH 37:1-14

36:38. At festival times, huge numbers of animals were brought to Jerusalem for offerings.

37:1. That is, in a prophetic vision, not physically (Radak). There are two points of view in the Talmud as to whether this prophecy is a parable or whether the bones in the valley actually came to life (Sanhedrin 92b). In either among the nations where you came. [23] I will sanctify My great Name that is desecrated among the nations, that you have desecrated among them; then the nations will know that I am HASHEM — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — when I become sanctified through you before their eyes. [24] I will take you from [among] the nations and gather you from all the lands, and I will bring you to your own soil. [25] Then I will sprinkle pure water upon you, that you may become cleansed; I will cleanse you from all your contamination and from all your idols. [26] I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit within you; I will remove the heart of stone from your flesh and give you a heart of flesh. [27] I will put My spirit within you, and I will make it so that you will follow My decrees and guard My ordinances and fulfill them. [28] You will dwell in the land that I gave to your forefathers; you will be a people to Me, and I will be a God to you. [29] I will save you from all your contaminations; I will summon the grain and increase it, and I will not inflict famine upon you. [30] I will increase the fruit of the tree and the produce of the field, so that you will no longer be subject to the shame of hunger among the nations. [31] Then you will remember your evil ways and your deeds that were not good, and you will be disgusted with yourselves in your own sight because of your iniquities and because of your abominations. [32] Not for your sake do I act — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — let this be known to you! Be embarrassed and ashamed of your ways, O House of Israel!

A new heart and a new spirit

Rebuilding the desolate

[33] Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: On the day when I cleanse you from all your iniquities, I will cause the cities to be inhabited and the ruins will be built. [34] The desolated land will be tilled, instead of having been desolate in the eyes of every passerby. [35] People will say, 'This very land, which had been desolate, has become like the Garden of Eden; and the ruined, desolate and demolished cities have been fortified, inhabited!' [36] The nations that remain around you will know that I, HASHEM, have rebuilt the ruins and I have replanted the wasteland; I, HASHEM, have spoken and I shall act.

[37] Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: With this also I will relate to the inquiries of the House of Israel, to act for them. I will multiply them, the people, like sheep. [38] Like consecrated sheep, like the sheep of Jerusalem on her festivals, * so will the destroyed cities be filled with flocks of people; then they will know that I am HASHEM."

37 [1] The hand of HASHEM was upon me; it took me out by the spirit of HASHEM* and set me down in the midst of the valley — and it was filled with bones. [2] He passed me over them all around and around; and behold, they were very numerous upon the face of the valley, and behold, they were very dry. [3] Then He said to me: "Son of Man, can these bones come to life?"

The dry bones

And I said, "Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, You know!"

[4] He said to me, "Prophesy over these bones! Say to them, 'O dry bones, hear the word of HASHEM*!* [5] Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM to these bones: Behold, I bring a spirit into you, and you will come to life. [6] I will put sinews upon you, I will bring up flesh upon you, and I will coat you with skin; then I will put a spirit into you and you will come to life; then you will know that I am HASHEM.' "

[7] So I prophesied as I had been commanded. There was a sound as I was prophesying. Then behold, there was a noise, and the bones drew near, each bone case, it is understood by the commentators as a source of hope for Israel in its exile and as a reinforcement of the principle that the dead will come to life again in Messianic times.

37:16. The tribe of Benjamin, which had allied itself with the Judean Kingdom (see I Kings 12:21).

The bones come alive to its [matching] bone. 8 Then I looked, and behold, upon them were sinews, and flesh had come up and skin had covered them over; but there was no spirit in them. 9 Then He said to me, "Prophesy to the spirit! Prophesy, O Son of Man, and say to the spirit, 'Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Come from the four directions, O spirit, and blow into these slain people, that they may come to life!' " 10 I prophesied as I had been commanded and the spirit entered them and they came to life. They stood upon their feet, a very, very great legion.

11 He said to me, "Son of Man, these bones — they are the whole House of Israel. Behold, they are saying, 'Our bones are dried out and our hope is lost; we are doomed!' 12 Therefore, prophesy and say to them:

> Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am opening your graves and raising you up from your graves, My people, and I will bring you to the soil of Israel. 13 Then you will know that I am HASHEM, when I open your graves and when I raise you up from your graves, My people, 14 and when I put My spirit into you, and you come to life, and I set you on your soil. Then you will know that I HASHEM have spoken and I have fulfilled — the word of HASHEM."

Two tablets — Judah and Joseph

15 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 16 "Now you, Son of Man, take for yourself one piece of wood and write upon it, 'For Judah and for the Children of Israel, his comrades'; and take one piece of wood and write upon it, 'For Joseph, the wood of Ephraim and all the House of Israel, his comrades.' 17 Then bring them close to yourself, one to the other, like one piece of wood, and they will become united in your hand. 18 Now when the children of your people say to you, saying, 'Will you not tell us what these things are to you,' 19 say to them:*

> Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am taking the wood of Joseph which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel, his comrades, and I am placing them and him together with the wood of Judah; and I will make them into one piece of wood, and they will become one in My hand.

One tablet — one nation

20 The pieces of wood upon which you will write shall be in your hand, before their eyes. 21 Say to them,

> 'Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am taking the Children of Israel from among the nations to which they have gone; I will gather them from all around and I will bring them to their soil; 22 I will make them into one nation in the land, upon the mountains of Israel, and one king will be a king for them all; they will no longer be two nations, and they will no longer be divided into two kingdoms, ever again. 23 They will no longer be contaminated with their idols and with their abhorrent things and with all their sins. I will save them [taking them] from all their dwelling places in which they had sinned, and I will purify them; they will be a nation to Me, and I will be a God to them. 24 My servant David will be king over them, and there will be one shepherd for all of them; they will follow My ordinances and keep My decrees and fulfill them. 25 They will dwell on the land that I gave to My servant Jacob, within which your fathers dwelled; they and their children and their children's children will dwell upon it forever; and My servant David will be a leader for them forever. 26 I will seal a covenant of peace with them; it will be an eternal covenant with them; and I will emplace them and increase them, and I will place My Sanctuary among them forever. 27 My dwelling place will be among them; I will be a God to them and they will be a people to Me. 28 Then the nations will know that I am HASHEM Who sanctifies Israel, when My sanctuary will be among them forever.' "

An eternal covenant of peace

38:1. Chapters 38-39 foretell the climactic War of Gog and Magog, which will introduce the End of Days and the Messianic era. In it, Gog, from the land of Magog — allied with a multitude of nations — will advance to attack Israel in its own land. The war will end with the destruction of Israel's enemies and the promised Messianic era of bliss. Rambam cautions against attempting to pinpoint the time and identity of the kingdoms discussed in this prophecy.

38:7. Take responsibility for protecting them during the siege (Rashi).

38:8. Only recently had the land been resettled by its people.

38:12. The land of Israel is considered the navel, or center, of the world (Radak).

38 [1] The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, [2] "Son of Man, direct your face towards Gog of the land of Magog, the prince, leader of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesy concerning him. [3] Say:

Gog, prince of Magog, and his allies

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am against you, Gog, the prince, leader of Meshech and Tubal. [4] I will lead you astray, and I will place hooks into your cheeks and bring you out with your entire army, horses and riders, all of them clothed in splendor, a vast assembly with buckler and shield, all of them wielding swords. [5] Persia, Cush, and Put will be with them, all of them with shield and helmet; [6] Gomer and all her cohorts, the house of Togarmah in the uttermost parts of the north, and all its cohorts — many peoples will be with you. [7] Prepare and make ready for yourself, you and all your hordes that are mustered about you, and be a guardian for them.* [8] You will be repaid for [your sins] of ancient times; in the end of years you will come to a land restored from the sword, gathered from many nations, upon the mountains of Israel that had lain desolate continuously,* [to people] who had been brought out from the nations, all of them dwelling in security. [9] You will attack; like a storm you will come; you will be like a cloud covering the earth, you and all your cohorts and the many nations with you.

[10] Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: It shall be on that day that ideas will arise in your heart, and you will conceive a wicked design. [11] You will say, 'I will advance against a land of open towns, I will come up against the tranquil people who dwell securely, all of them living without a [protective] wall; they have neither bars nor doors' — [12] to seize booty and to take spoils, to turn your hand against resettled ruins, against a people gathered from the nations, which possesses livestock and property, who dwell upon the navel of the earth.* [13] Sheba, Dedan and the merchants of Tarshish and all its officers will say to you, 'Have you come to seize booty? Is it to take spoils that you have assembled your hordes, to carry off silver and gold, to take livestock and property, to seize great booty?'

[14] "Therefore, prophesy, Son of Man, and say to Gog:

The first war of Gog and Magog . . .

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Surely on that day, when My people Israel dwells securely, you will come to know, [15] when you come from your place in the uttermost parts of the north, you and many peoples with you, all of them riding horses, a vast horde, a mighty army, [16] and you advance against My people Israel like a cloud covering the earth. It will be at the End of Days that I will bring you upon My land, in order that the nations may know Me, when I become sanctified through you before their eyes, O Gog!

. . . had already ben prophesied

[17] Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Are you the one of whom I spoke in earlier days, through My servants, the prophets of Israel,* who prophesied in those days, years [ago], that I would bring you against them? [18] It shall be on that day that on the day that Gog comes against the soil of Israel — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — My raging anger will flare up; [19] for in My vengefulness, in the fire of My fury, I have spoken: [I swear] that on that day a great earthquake will take place upon the soil of Israel. [20] They will quake before Me — the fish of the sea, the bird of the heavens, the beast of the field, every creeping thing that creeps on the ground and every human being that is on the face of the earth; the mountains will be broken apart

38:17. The verse refers to this prophecy of Ezekiel and to that of Zechariah (14:2), among others. When Gog attacks the land of Israel, these prophecies will already have been uttered "in those days, years ago."

39:7. By allowing My people to be subjugated and humiliated.

39:11. There will be so many corpses that they will block passage through the valley.

39.13. Israel will be praised for according honor to the bodies of their mortal enemies.

39:14. After the corpses that are visible are buried, the people will search for corpses in hidden places (Rashi).

39:16. In the vicinity of the valley (Radak).

39:18. The named animals are metaphors for Gog's officers.

and the cliffs will topple, and every wall will topple to the ground. 21 I will summon the sword against him to all My mountains — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — each man's sword will be against his brother. 22 I will punish him with pestilence and with blood; torrential rain and hailstones, fire and sulfur will I rain down upon him and upon his cohorts and upon the many peoples who are with him. 23 I will be exalted and I will be sanctified, and I will make Myself known before the eyes of many nations; then they will know that I am HASHEM."

39 1 "Now you, Son of Man, prophesy against Gog. Say:

The second war of Gog and Magog

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Behold, I am against you, Gog, the prince, leader of Meshech and Tubal! 2 I will lead you astray and seduce you; I will cause you to ascend from the uttermost north and bring you upon the mountains of Israel. 3 I will strike your bow from your left hand, and cast down your arrows from your right hand. 4 You will fall upon the mountains of Israel, you and all your cohorts and the peoples that are with you; I will give you to the bird of prey, to every winged bird, and to the beast of the field as food. 5 You will fall upon the open field, for I have spoken — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. 6 I will dispatch a fire against Magog and against those who dwell confidently in the islands, and they will know that I am HASHEM. 7 I will make My holy Name known among My people Israel, and I will not desecrate My holy Name any longer; then the nations will know that I am* HASHEM, the Holy One in Israel. 8 Behold, it is coming and it will happen — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — that is the day of which I have spoken.

9 Then the inhabitants of the cities of Israel will go out and kindle fires and fuel them with their weaponry — shield and buckler, with bow and with arrows, with mace and with spear; they will fuel fires with them for seven years. 10 They will not carry wood from the field, and they will not cut it from the forests, for they will fuel fires with the weaponry. They will plunder those who had plundered them and despoil those who had despoiled them — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.

A grave for Gog

11 It shall be on that day that I will assign Gog a burial site there in Israel — the Valley of the Passersby, east of the Sea; it will block the passersby, and there they will bury Gog and all his multitude, and call it the Valley of Hamon-gog (Gog's Multitude).* 12 The House of Israel will bury them in order to cleanse the land, for seven months. 13 All the people of the land will bury, and it will bring them renown; on the day that I manifest My glory — the word of the Lord* HASHEM/ELOHIM. 14 *They will designate permanent officials to pass through the land, burying, together with the passersby, those that remain upon the open field, to cleanse [the land]. After seven months, they will [begin to] search. 15 The passersby will traverse the land and when they see a human bone, they will build a marker near it, until the buriers bury it in the Valley of Hamon-gog. 16 There will also be a city called Hamonah (Her Multitude). Thus they will cleanse the land.*

Feasting on Gog's multitude

17 Now you, Son of Man, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Say to every winged bird and to every beast of the field, 'Assemble and come, gather together from all around for My feast that I slaughter for you, a great feast upon the mountains of Israel; eat flesh and drink blood! 18 *Eat the flesh of warriors and drink the blood of the earth's princes — all of them like rams, lambs and he-goats, bulls [and] fatlings of Bashan. 19 Eat fat to satiety and drink

39:23. The fate of Gog will prove that Israel's weakness was not because of God's weakness.

Chapters 40-48 are unique in Scripture. At the very moment when Jerusalem lay in ruin and the nation was weeping in its Babylonian exile, Ezekiel proclaimed a very detailed plan for the construction of the future Temple, the laws that would govern it, and the respective roles of the Kohanim, king and people in the renewed Temple service. Thus, Ezekiel ends his dirges with concrete chapters of consolation.

40:1. The Talmud (Arachin 12a) explains that this vision took place in a Jubilee year [Yovel]. The special laws of Yovel take effect on the tenth of Tishrei [Yom Kippur]; the prophet therefore calls that day Rosh Hashanah, literally, "the beginning of the year."

40:2. Ezekiel saw a vision of the future city. In ancient times, most of Jerusalem was south of the Temple Mount.

40:3. This description of angelic beings also appears in 1:7.

blood to intoxication from My feast that I have slaughtered for you; [20] sate yourselves at My table with horse and rider, warrior and every man of war — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.'

[21] I will manifest My glory among the nations, and all the nations will see My judgment that I have executed and My hand that I have placed upon them. [22] Then the House of Israel will know that I am HASHEM, their God, from that day and onward. [23] Then the nations will know that because of their iniquity the House of Israel was exiled, because they betrayed Me and I hid My countenance from them; and I delivered them into the hand of their enemies, and they fell by the sword, all of them.* [24] I dealt with them in accordance with their contamination and their sins, and I hid My countenance from them.

The true cause of exile

Return of Jacob's captivity

[25] Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Now I will bring back the captivity of Jacob and show mercy to the entire House of Israel and be zealous for My holy Name. [26] They will bear their shame and all their betrayal that they committed against Me when they dwelt securely upon their soil, and none will make [them] afraid, [27] when I return them from the peoples and gather them in from the land of their enemies and I become sanctified through them in the eyes of the many nations. [28] Then they will know that I am HASHEM, their God, for I have exiled them to the nations, and I will bring them to their land, and will not leave any of them there. [29] Then I will not hide My countenance from them again, for I will pour out My spirit upon the House of Israel — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

40 [1] In the twenty-fifth year of our exile, at the beginning of the year, on the tenth of the month, in the fourteenth year after the City was conquered — on that very day the hand of* HASHEM came upon me and He brought me there. [2] *In a Divine vision He brought me to the Land of Israel; He set me down on a very high mountain, near which there was something like the structure of a city to the south. [3] He brought me there, and behold, there was a man whose appearance was like that of copper, with a linen cord and a measuring rod in his hand; he was standing by the gate.*

A new vision . . .

[4] The man said to me, "Son of Man, see with your eyes and hear with your ears and set your heart to all that I am showing you, for it was in order to show you that you have been brought here. Relate all that you see to the House of Israel."

. . . of the future Temple
(See Appendix C, illustration 19)

[5] Behold, there was a wall outside the Temple, surrounding it. In the man's hand was a measuring rod of six cubits, each [cubit] being a cubit and a handbreadth. He measured the thickness of the [wall's] structure as one [measuring] rod; and its height as one rod.* [6] Then he went to a gate that faced eastward and went up its steps; he measured the doorpost of the gate as one rod in width and the other doorpost as one rod in width. [7] Each cell [was] one rod in length and one rod in width; and between the cells [were walls of] five cubits. The doorpost of the gate, inside the hall of the gate, was one rod [thick].* [8] He measured the [walls of the] inside hall of the gate as one rod. [9] Then he measured the hall of the gate as eight cubits [long], and its pillars as two cubits. The hall of* 40:5. Not all Scriptural cubits are the same: Some are five handbreadths long, others are six (Keilim 7:10; Menachos 97a). The cubits of our passage were the longer ones; each was "a [five-handbreadth] cubit and a[n additional] handbreadth." A handbreadth is 3-4 inches.

40:7. Rooms — the cells mentioned here — were built along the outside of the courtyard wall, flanking the gate on either side.

40:9. Decorative columns, placed just outside of the eight-cubit long hall of the gate.

40:19. This was the eastern gate, the subject of the

The cells (See Appendix C, illustration 19)

the gate faced inward. [10] The cells of the eastern gate were three on the one side and three on the other, the same size for the three of them; and the same size for the pillars on the one side and on the other. [11] Then he measured the width of the opening of the gate as ten cubits; the length of the gate was thirteen cubits. [12] There was a space of one cubit before the cells [on the one side], and a space of one cubit on the other. The cell was six cubits on the one side and six cubits on the other side. [13] Then he measured the gate from the roof of the one cell to the roof of [the opposite cell] as twenty-five cubits in width; an entrance opposite an entrance.

Pillars

[14] Then he made pillars sixty cubits [high]; and so it was for every pillar of the courtyard, at the gates all around. [15] The height of the entry gate, as well as the height of the inner hall of the gate, was fifty cubits. [16] There were narrowing windows for the cells and for their side walls, facing inward towards the gate all around; also the halls had windows all around, facing inward. Each pillar had a date-palm capital.*

The outer courtyard

[17] Then he brought me into the outer courtyard, and behold, chambers and a balcony were provided for the courtyard all around; thirty chambers on the balcony. [18] The balcony was off to the sides of the gates; the bottom of the balcony was flush with the top of the gates. [19] Then he measured the width from the front of the lower gate to the front of the inner courtyard, on its outside, as one hundred cubits; [this was the distance] in the east and in the north.*

[20] Then he measured the gate of the outer courtyard that faced northward, its length and its width. [21] Its cells — three on the one side and three on the other side — its pillars and its hall were like the size of the first gate; its height was fifty cubits, and its width was twenty-five cubits. [22] *Its windows, its hall and its date-palm capitals were like the size of the gate that faced east. They would ascend to it by seven steps, its halls being before them.

[23] There was a gate to the inner courtyard opposite the gate to the north and to the east; he measured from [the outer] gate to [the inner] gate as one hundred cubits.

The southern gate

[24] *Then he took me towards the south, and behold, there was a gate at the south. He measured its pillars and halls; [they were] of the same dimensions as those. [25] There were windows for it and for its halls all around, like those windows; fifty cubits in height and twenty-five cubits in width.* [26] Its stairway was of seven steps, with its halls before them; it had date-palm capitals, one on the one side and one on the other, on its pillars. [27] There was a gate to the inner courtyard toward the south. He measured from [the outer] gate to [the inner] gate of the south as one hundred cubits.

The inner courtyard

[28] Then he brought me to the inner courtyard through the southern gate and he measured the southern gate; [it was] of the same dimensions as those. [29] Its cells, its pillars and its halls [were] of the same dimension as those, and there were windows for it and for its halls all around; fifty cubits in height and twenty-five cubits in width. [30] There were halls all around, twenty-five cubits in length and five cubits in width.* [31] Its halls faced toward the outer courtyard. There were date-palm capitals on its pillars, and its stairway was of eight steps.

discussion since the beginning of the chapter.

40:22. The halls of the gate were situated at the top of the stairway.

40:24-25. They had the same dimensions as those described earlier.

40:30. Along the inside of the inner courtyard's wall.

40:40. There was a recess on each side of the inner part of the gate, before it opened into the hall. These recesses are called "shoulders."

40:43. A slaughtered offering was hung on the hooks in order to flay it hide.

40:44. The text specifies neither the dimensions nor the exact location of these chambers.

40:45. Since verse 44 was speaking of the choristers, who were Levites, Rashi interprets that these kohanim [lit., "ministers"] were Levites who assisted the Kohanim in the Temple service.

40:46. The first high priest in Solomon's Temple.

41:1. The main Temple building was divided into two parts: the Sanctuary, which was forty cubits long, and the Inner Sanctum (Holy of Holies, or Most Holy), which was twenty cubits long. Besides these there was the 32 Then he brought me to the inner courtyard through the east [gate] and he measured the gate; [it was] of the same dimensions as those. 33 Its cells, its pillars and its halls [were] of the same dimensions of those, and there were windows for it and its halls all around; it was fifty cubits in height, and twenty-five cubits in width. 34 Its halls faced toward the outer courtyard. There were date-palm capitals on its pillars on the one side and on the other, and its stairway was of eight steps.

(See Appendix C, illustration 19)

The northern gate

35 Then he brought me to the northern gate and measured it; [it was] the same dimensions as those. 36 It had cells, pillars and halls, and windows for it all around; fifty cubits in height and twenty-five cubits in width. 37 Its halls faced the outer courtyard and there were date-palm capitals on its pillars on the one side and on the other; its stairway was of eight steps.

Washing chamber

38 There was a chamber there with its entrance facing the side walls of the gates; there they would rinse the burnt-offering. 39 In the hall of this gate were two tables on the one side and two tables on the other, near which to slaughter the burnt-offering, the sin-offering and the guilt-offering. 40 Along the shoulder [of the gate], outside [the hall], as one ascended into the opening of the northern gate, there were two tables; and along the other shoulder of the gate's hall were two tables —* 41 [altogether] four tables on the one side and four tables on the other side along the shoulder of the gate; eight tables near which they would slaughter. 42 There were also four tables for the burnt-offering, of hewn stone, one cubit and a half in length, one cubit and a half in width, and one cubit in height; upon them they would lay the implements with which they would slaughter the burnt-offering and [any other] sacrifice. 43 There were also hooks of one hand-breadth, set up inside [the inner courtyard] all around; and the flesh of the offerings [was prepared] upon the tables.*

44 Outside the inner gate were chambers for the choristers, in the inner courtyard, along the flank of the northern gate, facing towards the south, and there was also one [chamber]* along the flank of the eastern gate, facing towards the north.* 45 He said to me, "This chamber, which faces south, is for the kohanim, the guardians of the charge of the House;* 46 and the chamber that faces north is for the Kohanim, the guardians of the charge of the Altar. They, who are the descendants of Zadok, are the ones from among the sons of Levi who approach HASHEM, to serve Him."*

The Hall

47 Then he measured the [inner] courtyard; [it was] one hundred cubits in length and one hundred cubits in width, square. The Altar was before the Temple. 48 Then he brought me to the Hall of the Temple. He measured the [thickness of the] side wall of the Hall as five cubits on the one side and five cubits on the other, and the width of the gate was three cubits on the one side and three cubits on the other. 49 The length of the Hall was twenty cubits, and its width was eleven cubits. There were steps by which one ascended to [the Hall]; and there were pillars for the doorposts, one on the one side and one on the other.

41 1 Then he brought me to the Sanctuary. He measured the side walls [of the entrance] as six cubits wide on the one side and six cubits wide on the other — the width of the tent.* 2 The width of the entrance was ten cubits,

Hall in front of the Sanctuary that was eleven cubits long (see 40:49). All these components were twenty cubits wide.

The Sanctuary was entered from the Hall through a ten-cubit (v. 2) by six-cubit passageway, referred to here as "the tent."

41:5. Along the walls, there were three levels of cells, one on top of the other, each level consisting of eleven cells — five on the northern side of the Temple building, five on the south, and one on the west.

41:6. Although the cells were along the outer wall of the Temple building, they were not anchored to the wall by means of pegs; due to the sanctity of the Temple, no holes were bored into this wall to anchor the ceiling beams of the cells. (See also I Kings 6:6.)

41:7. There were three levels of cells, each level wider than the one below it, and a spiral staircase went from the lowest up to the highest.

41:9. Below ground-level the wall's foundation was six cubits (v. 8), but it narrowed to five cubits above the ground.

41:12. Counting from west to east: The back wall of the structure, which was the outer wall of the western cell, was 6 cubits thick (v. 8); the cell itself was 4 cubits wide (v. 5); the Temple wall was 6 cubits thick (v. 5); the Inner Sanctum's interior was 20 cubits (v. 4); the dividing wall between the Sanctuary and the Inner Sanctum was 2 cubits thick (v. 3); the Sanctuary was 40 cubits long (v. 2); the wall dividing the Sanctuary from the Hall was 6 cubits thick (v. 1); the Hall's interior was 11 cubits (40:49), and its front wall was 5 cubits thick (40:48). This yields a total of 100 (6 + 4 + 6 + 20 + 2 + 40 + 6 + 11 + 5 = 100) cubits (see next verse). In this verse, the easternmost 10 cubits are not counted — thus yielding a total of 90 — because, there, the otherwise straight wall jutted out considerably, as explained below.

41:14. At the front of the Temple building a structure jutted out to the north and south, fifteen cubits in each and [the walls on the] shoulders of the entrance were five cubits on the one side and five cubits on the other. He measured its length as forty cubits and [it was] twenty cubits in width.

The Inner Sanctum (See Appendix C, illustration 19)

3 Then he entered the Inner [Sanctum]. He measured the side walls of the entrance as two cubits [wide]; the entrance was six cubits [in height], and the width of the entrance was seven cubits. 4 He measured its length as twenty cubits, and its width as twenty cubits, along the Sanctuary. He said to me, "This is the Holy of Holies."

The Temple wall

5 Then he measured the [thickness of the] wall of the Temple as six cubits. The width of each cell was four cubits, surrounding the Temple all around. 6 The cells [were arranged] cell upon cell, thirty-three in number. They rested upon the inner wall of the cells all around, and were anchored there, but they were not anchored into the wall of the Temple building.* 7 [The cells] became broader and there was a spiral [stairway] for the [levels of] cells proceeding upward;* for the Temple was surrounded by successive levels, all around the [cell-]structure. Thus, the widest part of the [cell-]structure was at the top [level]. And thus one would ascend from the lowest to the highest through the middle [cells].*

8 I saw the height of the Temple all around.

The foundations of the cells were a full rod [thick], a six-cubit space. 9 The width of the cell's wall toward the outside was five cubits. There was also an open space at the end of the Temple's cells.*

10 Between the chambers [and the Temple building] there was a twenty-cubit-wide space around the Temple, all around.

The open space

11 The entrance to the cells-[structure] was by the open space; one entrance to the north and one entrance to the south. The width of the open space was five cubits, all around. 12 The [entire] structure that was built alongside the main Temple building was seventy cubits in width on its western side, the [outer] wall of the structure was five cubits in width all around; and its length was ninety cubits. 13 Then he measured the Temple building as one hundred cubits in length; the main Temple building, the [cell-]structure and its walls were one hundred cubits in length. 14 The width of the front of the building and the main Temple* building on the east was one hundred cubits. 15 He measured the length of the structure,* along the main Temple building, going towards its rear, including its corner structures on the one side and the other, as one hundred cubits. Now the Sanctuary [and] the Inner [Sanctum] and the halls of the courtyard — 16 there were doorposts, narrowing windows and square pillars all around for all three of the [areas]. Opposite the doorpost was wood paneling* all around, as well as [on the wall from] the ground to the windows — the windows were [partly] covered — 17 to above the doorway, and until the Inner Sanctum and outward, and to the entire wall all around, in the Inner [Sanctum] and in the outer [room], the panels were of [the same] dimensions. 18 [The panels] were engraved with cherubim and date palms, with a date palm between cherub and cherub. Each cherub had two faces: 19 There was the face of a person toward the date palm* direction and ten cubits wide. Adding these 30 cubits to the 70 of verse 12 and the ten to the 90 of verse 12 yields 100 cubits in each direction.

41:15. The measurement in verse 13 was taken on the northern side of the building, going from its back towards its front to the east, while this measurement was taken on the southern side, going towards its rear to the west (Rashi).

41:16. The wood paneling was a base on which to affix gold plating (see I Kings 6:14-22).

41:21. I saw the same appearance of God's Glory that I had seen in the Account of the Chariot [see Ch. 1] (Rashi). This first inkling of the return of God's Glory to the Temple took Ezekiel by suprise. He was filled with yearning to know if it was true, yet dared not confirm it to himself. Thus, he left his words dangling (R' Yosef Breuer).

41:25. This beam extended from the Sanctuary's eastern wall to the Hall's eastern wall. It helped secure the enormously high facade of the Hall (Rashi, from Middos 3:8).

41:26. See 40:48.

42:2. There were fifty cubits between the chamber and the end of the courtyard.

42:3. A balcony ran alongside the interior of the outer courtyard's wall (40:17).

42:6. The pillars that reinforced the courtyard walls (see 41:16) were not as thick or as numerous as the ones in the chamber complex. The lower stories required more supportive pillars than the uppermost story, which had on the one side and the face of a young lion toward the date palm on the other side; so it was engraved for the entire interior all around. 20 The cherubim and date palms were engraved from the ground until above the entrance; and [so it was for] the wall of the Sanctuary.

21 The Sanctuary had a square doorpost; and from the entrance to the Holy [of Holies] the appearance was like the appearance . . . *

The Inner Altar

22 The Altar was of wood, three cubits tall and its length was two cubits including its corners; its surface and its sides were of wood. He said to me, "This is the Table that is before HASHEM."

Doors

23 There were two doors to the Sanctuary and to the Holy [of Holies]. 24 Each set of doors had two doors, two swinging doors: two comprised one door and two doors comprised the other. 25 Engraved upon them, upon the doors of the Sanctuary, were cherubim and date palms, just as they were engraved on the walls. There was a thick wooden beam going into the front wall of the Hall, towards the outside. *

26 There were narrowing windows and date palms on the one side and on the other, on the shoulders of the Hall; * [he also showed me] the casings of the Temple and the beams.

Northern courtyard
(See Appendix C, illustration 19)

1 Then he took me out to the outer courtyard, in the direction going to the north, and he brought me to the chamber that was opposite the main Temple building and the structure to the north, 2 facing the hundred-cubit length by the northern entrance, and the [courtyard's] width was fifty cubits. * 3 It was opposite the twenty [cubits] of the inner courtyard and opposite the balcony of the outer courtyard; * pillar faced pillar in the three-storied [complex]. 4 In front of the chambers was a passageway ten cubits in width leading to the inner space, through a one-cubit path; and their entrances faced north. 5 The upper chambers were narrowed because the pillars took up space from them, from the lower and middle ones of the structure. 6 For they were three storied, so they did not have pillars like the pillars of the courtyards; * hence, the lower and middle [chambers] were deprived of floor space. 7 The wall that faced the outside, opposite the chambers, toward the direction of the outer courtyard in front of the chambers, its length was fifty cubits. 8 For the length of the chambers, which were adjacent to the outer courtyard, was fifty cubits, and there before the Temple building was a hundred cubits [long].

Holy chambers

9 Downhill from these chambers, as one comes from the east, coming towards them from the outer courtyard, 10 along the width of the eastern wall of the [inner] courtyard, opposite the main Temple building and the structure, were chambers. 11 There was a passage before them. [Theirs was] like the appearance of northern chambers: like their length, like their width, and [like] all their exits, their measurements, and their entrances, 12 and like the entrances of the chambers that were to the south. * There was an entrance at the main approach, an approach that led to the platform of the singers, the easterly path as they entered.

13 Then he said to me: "The northern chambers and southern chambers that face the main Temple building are the holy chambers where the Kohanim who approach HASHEM may eat the most-holy offerings; there they may put down the

to support only the roof.

42:12. There was a chamber complex on the south of the main Temple building, symmetrical to the one on the north (Rashi).

42:16. According to Rashi this was the same measuring rod that had been used in measuring the Temple's other dimensions, so that the Temple Mount enclosure was 3,000 cubits square. According to Radak the rod used here was only one cubit long, yielding an enclosure of 500 cubits square.

43:7. Several kings had been buried on the grounds of the royal residence, adjacent to the Temple (Rashi).

43:9. Because of the large perimeter of the sacred Temple Mount enclosure surrounding the Temple.

43:12. The laws mentioned in these passages.

43:13. Although for most purposes the Temple and its appurtenances were measured in cubits of six handbreadths (see 40:5), this verse now mentions some exceptions to that rule. Among them are certain parts of the Altar that were measured in five-handbreadth cubits: the base that jutted out one cubit at the bottom; a most-holy offerings, the meal-offering, the sin-offering and the guilt-offering, for the place is holy. 14 When the Kohanim arrive there, they shall not leave the holy place [directly] to the outer courtyard; [rather] they shall leave their garments in which they minister, for they are holy; they shall don other garments and then approach the domain of the people."

The eastern side
(See Appendix C, illustration 19)

15 When he finished the measurements of the inner House, he took me out by way of the gate that faced eastward, and then measured it all around. 16 He measured the eastern side with the measuring rod; it was five hundred rods with the measuring rod all around.* 17 He measured the northern side as five hundred rods with the measuring rod all around. 18 He measured the southern side as five hundred rods with the measuring rod. 19 Circling around to the western side he measured five hundred rods with the measuring rod. 20 On four sides he measured it — it had a wall all around it — five hundred [rods] in length and five hundred in width, to separate between the holy and the common [areas].

The Glory enters

1 Then he led me to the gate — a gate that faces east — 2 and behold, the glory of the God of Israel was coming from the east. Its sound was like the sound of a multitude of waters, and the earth shone with His glory. 3 It was a vision like the vision I had seen [before] — like the vision that I had seen when I came to [prophetically] destroy the city, and visions like the vision I had seen at the River Chebar — and I fell upon my face. 4 The glory of HASHEM then entered the Temple by way of the gate that faced east. 5 Then a wind lifted me up and brought me into the inner courtyard; and behold, the glory of HASHEM filled the Temple.

God speaks

6 I heard Him addressing Himself to me from the Temple; and there was a man standing next to me. 7 He said to me, "Son of Man, [this is] the place of My throne and the place of My footstool, where I will dwell amid the Children of Israel forever. The House of Israel will no longer defile My holy Name, they and their kings with their promiscuous idolatry, and with the corpses of their kings, and with their high places,* 8 by their placing their threshold near My threshold and their doorpost next to My doorpost, with but a wall between Me and them, whereby they defiled My holy Name with the abominations they committed, so that I consumed them in My anger. 9 Now they will distance their promiscuous idolatry and the corpses of their kings from Me, that I may dwell among them forever.*

Tell Israel

10 "You, Son of Man! Tell the House of Israel about the Temple, and let them be ashamed of their iniquities and calculate the [Temple's] design. 11 If they become ashamed of all that they have done, then make known to them the form of the Temple and its design, its exits and its entrances and all its [buildings'] forms, all its laws, all its designs and all its teachings, and write [all this] down before their eyes, so that they may safeguard its entire form and all its rules and fulfill them.

12 "This is the teaching regarding the Temple: Atop the mountain, its entire boundary all around, shall be most holy; behold, this is the teaching regarding the Temple.*

13 "Now these are the dimensions of the Altar in cubits, each cubit being a cubit and a handbreadth — except for the base of one cubit [wide]; the cubit of the* one-cubit ledge located six cubits above the ground; the border pieces upon its edge, i.e., the "horns," which were the four one-cubit cubic projections jutting up from the four corners of the Altar's roof. The Inner, or Golden, Altar was also measured with the shorter cubit.

The "horns" were measured from the midpoint of a side to its outer edge. This came to one zeres, or "span," i.e., half a cubit.

43:14. The Altar consisted of three large blocks, centered one on top of the other. The lowest block was 32 cubits square and two cubits high. The middle block was narrower by two cubits and so it covered the entire top of the lowest block, except for a one-cubit shelf that protruded all around; this block was called the base (v. 17) and was four cubits high. The top block was also four cubits high, and was two cubits narrower than the middle block; it thus left a second one-cubit shelf all around.

43:15. See verse 17.

43:16-17. It was 24 cubits squared, yielding four quadrants of 12x12 cubits. Circling the quadrants was a one-cubit walkway for the Kohanim, which was indented another cubit from the very edge of the Altar's top. Thus, the entire top of the Altar comprised four fourteen-cubit square quadrants for a total area of 28x28 cubits.

43:17. The uppermost shelf refers to the top of the Altar; from the border pieces to the horns (see v. 20). From the very center of each side of a horn to the center of each outer edge was a half-cubit, so that the full horn was a one-cubit cube.

[ledge's] width; and the border [pieces] upon its edge all around of one span each; and this [too] for the top of the [Inner] Altar. 14 From the foundation upon the ground up to the lower shelf is two cubits; [the shelf being] one cubit in width. From the smaller shelf to the larger shelf is four cubits; [the shelf being] one cubit in width.* 15 *The [block of the] hearth area is four cubits [high]; and from the hearth area four horns [project] upwards. 16 *The hearth area is twelve [cubits] long by twelve wide, square, for its four quadrants. 17 The [uppermost] shelf is fourteen cubits long by fourteen cubits wide, for its four quadrants. The border [pieces] all around it are a half-cubit. Its base is a cubit [wide] all around. [Whoever ascends] its ramp would face eastward."

Altar's inauguration

18 Then He said to me, "Son of Man, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: These are the laws of the Altar on the day that it is made, to offer a burnt-offering on it and to sprinkle blood on it. 19 You shall give to the Kohanim, the Levites, who are from the seed of Zadok, who approach Me — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — to serve Me, a young bull for a sin-offering. 20 You shall take some of its blood and place it upon its four horns and upon the four corners of the [uppermost] shelf and upon the border all around; thus you will cleanse it and purify it. 21 Then you shall take the bull of the sin-offering and burn it at the edge of the Temple, outside the Sanctuary. 22 On the second day you shall offer an unblemished he-goat for a sin-offering, and they shall cleanse the Altar as they had cleansed it with the bull.

23 "When you have finished cleansing, you shall offer an unblemished young bull, and an unblemished ram from the flock; 24 you shall offer them before HASHEM. The Kohanim shall throw salt upon them and offer them up as a burnt-offering to HASHEM. 25 For seven days you shall prepare a he-goat as a sin-offering for each day, and they shall prepare an unblemished young bull and ram from the flock. 26 For seven days they shall purify the Altar, and they shall cleanse it and inaugurate it. 27 When these days have passed, it shall be that from the eighth day onward the Kohanim may prepare on the Altar your burnt-offerings and your peace-offerings, and I will accept you with favor — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

44 1 Then He returned me towards the outer gate of the Sanctuary which faces eastward, and it was closed. 2 HASHEM said to me, "This gate shall be closed; it shall not be opened; no man may come through it, because HASHEM, the God of Israel, has come through it; it shall be closed.* 3 It is for the prince, he is the leader, so he will sit within it to eat food before HASHEM; he shall come in by way of the Hall of the [eastern] gate, and by that way he shall depart."*

The prince's gate

4 Then He brought me toward the northern gate, to the front of the Temple building and, behold, I saw that the glory of HASHEM filled the House of HASHEM! I fell upon my face.

5 HASHEM said to me, "Son of Man, set your heart and see with your eyes and hear with your ears all that I am saying to you about all the laws of the Temple

The ramp leading up to the Altar was on its south. Since the Temple practice was that one turned to the right rather than the left, anyone going up the ramp (facing north) would turn eastward when he reached the top of the Altar (Rashi).

44:2. Next to this small door, which would remain closed, was a larger one for the use of the Kohanim (Rashi).

44:3. The prince of this and the following chapters is either the Kohen Gadol (Rashi); the king (R' Menachem cited by Rashi to 45:17); or the Messiah (Metzudos). He may sit in the doorway of the sealed gate and eat the sacrificial foods.

44:7. People with impure, unholy hearts.

"Fat and blood" refers to the portions of sacrificial animals placed on the Altar fire or sprinkled on the Altar wall.

44:8. Your criteria for appointing officials in My Temple were not based on their fitness for the task, but on the benefits that would accrue to you as a result of those appointments (Rashi). Alternatively: You appointed those who had been priests "for yourselves," i.e., for your idolatrous worship, to be priests in My Temple (Radak).

44:11. Although these erstwhile wayward Kohanim have been disqualified from the priesthood, they nevertheless will retain their status as Levites. Thus, they may perform the Levitical duty of gatekeeping; they may also slaughter sacrificial animals, an act that may be performed by a non-Kohen.

44:12. In oath.

44:13. In those capacities that require a Kohen.

44:15. See v. 7.

44:17. The following series of verses seem to contradict the laws pertaining to the Kohanim that appear in Leviticus. The commentaries view these verses in two ways. According to Rashi, the prophet is describing, in cryptic form, the precise laws as stated in Leviticus; to under-of HASHEM and all its teachings; set your heart toward the entrance of the Temple, and to all the exits of the Sanctuary. 6 Then say to the [House of] Rebellion, to the House of Israel:

God's warning

Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: You have indulged too much in all your abominations, O House of Israel, 7 by bringing in strangers of uncircumcised heart and uncircumcised flesh to be in My Sanctuary to defile My Temple when you offer My food — fat and blood* — and they have violated My covenant, in addition to all your abominations.* 8 You did not safeguard the charge of My holy places; you set as guardians of My charge in My Sanctuary [those who were] for yourselves." *

Traitors stay away

9 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: Any estranged person of uncircumcised heart or uncircumcised flesh shall not enter My Sanctuary — any estranged person among the Children of Israel. 10 But those Levites who distanced themselves from Me during Israel's straying, when they strayed from Me after their idols, they shall bear their iniquity. 11 They may be attendants in My Sanctuary, responsible for the gates of the Temple, serving the Temple; they may slaughter the burnt-offering and feast-offering of the people, and they may stand before them to serve them.* 12 But because they ministered to [the people] before their idols, and they became a stumbling-block of iniquity for the House of Israel, therefore, I have raised My hand against them — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — and they shall bear their iniquity.* 13 They shall not approach Me to serve Me, or to approach My holy places, to the Holy of Holies; but they shall bear their shame and their abominations that they have committed.* 14 Yet I will make them guardians of the charge of the House, for all its service and for everything that is done in it.

Loyal ones draw near 15 "But the Kohanim, the Levites, descendants of Zadok, who safeguarded the charge of My Sanctuary when the Children of Israel strayed from Me, let them draw near to Me to serve Me; let them stand before Me to offer to Me fat and blood — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.* 16 They will come to My Sanctuary and they will draw near to My Table to serve Me, and they will safeguard My charge.

17 "It shall be that when they come to the gates of the inner courtyard, they shall wear linen clothes; wool shall not be upon them when they serve inside the gates of the inner courtyard, within.* 18 *Linen turbans shall be on their heads and linen breeches shall be on their loins. They shall not gird themselves where one perspires. 19 When they go out to the outer [part of the] courtyard — to the outer courtyard to the people — they shall remove the clothes in which they had ministered and leave them in the holy chambers, and they shall don other garments; they shall not mingle with the people while wearing their clothes.*

Laws of the Kohanim

20 "They shall not shave their heads, nor shall they allow them to grow wild; they shall keep their heads trimmed. 21 No Kohen shall drink wine when they enter the inner courtyard. 22 They shall not take a widow or a divorcee unto themselves stand these verses we cannot rely on the p'shat, simple meanings of the words, but must rely on derash, exegesis of a non-literal level. According to Radak the increased sanctity of both Israel and the Temple of future times will be reflected in higher standards imposed on the ordinary Kohanim; thus, the service described here will enhance the service ordained in Leviticus, but will not replace any of its components.

Although couched in the plural, this passage speaks of the Kohen Gadol entering the Inner Sanctum on Yom Kippur; he then wears garments of pure linen (Rashi).

44:18. The belt worn over the robe should be above the hips and below the armpits, at elbow level (Rashi).

44:19. When the Kohen Gadol would leave the section of the courtyard reserved for the Kohanim, he would remove his linen garments and don his regular garb (Rashi).

44:22. This prohibition applies to a sitting, acting, or former Kohen Gadol, and to the Kohen who addressed the troops before battle (see Deuteronomy 20:2). Other Kohanim may marry widows who are only widowed, i.e., they are not divorcees.

44:26. After which he becomes fully purified, as in Numbers Ch. 19.

44:27. As in Leviticus 6:13 (Rashi).

44:28. Kohanim did not receive land in Israel so that they could devote themselves to the service of God.

44:30. A portion of the produce that must be given to the Kohen (see Deuteronomy 18:4).

44:31. This refers to the meat of an animal that died without shechitah, ritual slaughter.

45:1. This "inheritance," i.e, the portions to be allotted to the tribes, is given in Chapter 48.

45:2-3. Verse 1 did not clarify in what unit the 25,000 x 10,000 area should be measured, but the area mentioned in verse 2 as the Sanctuary enclosure was in the six-cubit rods (see 40:5), as stated in 42:15-20. By stating in verse *for wives, * but only virgins from the offspring of the House of Israel; but a widow who is only widowed, some Kohanim may marry.* [23] They shall instruct My people concerning [the difference] between holy and ordinary, and they shall inform them of [the difference] between contaminated and clean. [24] Concerning a disagreement, they shall stand in judgment, and shall adjudicate them according to My laws; they shall safeguard My teachings and My decrees regarding all My appointed times and they shall sanctify My Sabbaths. [25] They shall not approach a human corpse to become contaminated, except that each of them may become contaminated to [the corpse of his] father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister who had never been married to a man. [26] *And then, after his cleansing, they shall count seven days for him. **

[27] "On the day of his entry into the Sanctuary, to the inner courtyard, to minister in the Sanctuary, he shall bring his sin-offering — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ ELOHIM.*

Heritage of the Kohanim

[28] *"[The priesthood] will be a heritage for them; I am their heritage. For you shall not give them a possession in Israel; I am their possession. **

[29] They shall eat the meal-offering, the sin-offering and the guilt-offering; and any consecrated property in Israel will be for them. [30] All the first fruits of every kind and all terumah of any kind, of all your terumah gifts, shall be for the Kohanim; and you shall give the first portion of your dough to the Kohen, to bring a blessing to rest upon your home.* [31] The Kohanim shall not eat any carrion nor meat from a fatally wounded animal, of fowl or of livestock."*

Division of the land

[1] "When you allot the land as an inheritance you shall set aside a sacred portion to HASHEM from the land, in length, twenty-five thousand long and in width ten thousand; it shall be holy within its entire boundary all around.* [2] From this shall come for the Sanctuary [enclosure] five hundred by five hundred square all around, and fifty cubits of open space all around [it].* [3] By this same measure you shall measure a length of twenty-five thousand and a width of ten thousand; within it shall be the Sanctuary, Holy of Holies. [4] It is a sacred portion from the land; for the Kohanim, the ministrants of the Sanctuary, shall it be, those who approach to minister before HASHEM; it shall be for them a place for houses, and as holy ground for the Sanctuary.*

Levite portion

[5] *"And [another strip] of twenty-five thousand long and ten thousand wide shall be for the Levites, the ministers of the Temple, as their possession — with twenty chambers. **

[6] As the possession of the city, you shall allot five thousand wide by a length of twenty-five thousand alongside the sacred portion; for the entire House of Israel shall it be.

Princely portion

[7] *"And [as the portion] for the prince, * on the one and the other sides of the sacred portion and the possession of the city, facing the sacred portion and facing the possession of the city, from the western side extending westward and from the eastern side extending eastward, the length corresponding to each of the [tribal] portions from the western border to the eastern border.* [8] *It shall be his as a possession in Israel, that My princes shall not again extort from My people, * rather they shall give the land to the House of Israel according to their tribes.*

3 that the large enclosure of verse 1 was in the same measure, Scripture informs us that the unit of all the measurements was the six-cubit rod.

45:4. I.e., the sacred portion of verse 1.

45:5. These chambers are left unexplained. Radak suggests that they were alongside the strip of the Kohanim, so that the Levites could be near the Temple area.

45:7. See 44:3.

45:8. Since he will have such a large estate, he will not be tempted to seize property unjustly from the people.

45:10-12. The prince must maintain societal honesty by enforcing honest weights. The ephah is a dry measure and the bas is a liquid measure, but both are the volume of a tenth of a chomer. Verse 12 gives three different shekel weights that add up to a maneh. Each of those weights is a separate commercial unit of weight and of coinage, since the value of ancient coins depended on their precious metal content.

45:13. This was a mandatory contribution toward the dedication ceremony of the Third Temple.

45:14. The kor and the chomer are of the same volume.

45:16. This refers either to the gift of land (vv. 7-8) to be given to the prince (Rashi); or to the gifts mentioned above (vv. 13-14) which were to be brought as a communal offering from which the prince was exempt (Radak) or were to be an additional gift for the prince (Malbim).

45:18. The offerings now enumerated were ordained

9 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: It is too much for you, O princes of Israel! Set aside lawlessness and rapine, and do justice and righteousness; desist from your evictions of My people — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM."

Honest dealings

10 "Honest scales, an honest ephah, and an honest bas shall you have.* 11 The ephah and the bas shall be the same volume: the bas shall contain a tenth part of a chomer, and the ephah is a tenth of a chomer; relative to the chomer shall their volume be. 12 The shekel shall be twenty gerah. Twenty shekels [plus] twenty-five shekels [plus] fifteen shekels shall comprise a maneh for you.

Contribution for the Temple

13 "This is the portion that you shall set aside: a sixth of an ephah from a chomer of wheat and you shall take a sixth of an ephah from a chomer of barley.* 14 The law of the oil: The bas [is the measure for] the oil; the bas shall be a tenth of the kor [which is] ten bas, a chomer, for ten bas are a chomer.* 15 And one lamb from the flock out of two hundred, from Israel's fatted animals. [These are all] for a meal-offering, a burnt-offering and a peace-offering to atone for you — the word of the Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM. 16 The entire people of the land shall join in this donation with the prince in Israel.*

17 "Upon the prince shall be [the responsibility for] the burnt-offerings, the meal-offering and the libation, on the festivals, on the New Moons, and on the Sabbaths, on all the appointed times of the House of Israel; he shall prepare the sin-offering, the meal-offering, the burnt-offering, and the peace-offering to atone on behalf of the House of Israel."

Inauguration offerings

18 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: "In the first [month], on the first of the month, you shall take an unblemished bull of the herd, and you shall cleanse the Sanctuary.* 19 The Kohen shall take from the blood of the sin-offering and put it on the doorpost of the Temple and on the four corners of the Altar's shelf and on the doorpost of the gate of the inner courtyard. 20 And so you shall do for a week in the month — [to atone for contamination caused by] an unwitting or ignorant person, you shall purify the House.* 21 In the first [month] on the fourteenth day of the month you shall have the pesach-offering; a festival of seven days, when unleavened bread shall be eaten. 22 On that day, the prince shall bring a bull sin-offering for himself and for the entire people of the land. 23 During the seven days of the festival he shall bring a burnt-offering for HASHEM: seven bulls and seven rams, unblemished, each day for the seven days, and a sin-offering, a goat for each day; 24 and he shall bring a meal-offering, an ephah for each bull and an ephah for each ram, and a hin of oil for each ephah. 25 In the seventh [month] on the fifteenth day of the month, during the [Succos] festival, he shall do the same for the seven days, like the sin-offering, like the burnt-offering, like the meal-offering and like the oil."

Sabbath and New Moon

1 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: "The gate of the inner courtyard that faces eastward shall be closed during the six days of labor, but on the Sabbath day it shall be opened, and on the day of the New Moon it shall be opened. 2 Then the prince shall enter by way of the hall of the gate from without, and stand before the doorpost of the gate; the Kohanim will prepare his burnt-offering and his peace-offerings, and he will then prostrate himself at the threshold of the gate and depart; but the gate shall not be closed until the evening.* 3 The people of the land shall prostrate themselves before HASHEM at the entrance of that gate on the Sabbaths and on the New Moons.

46:16. From the tract described in 45:7-8.

Prince's offerings

4 "And [this is] the burnt-offering that the prince shall bring for HASHEM: on the Sabbath day, six unblemished sheep and an unblemished ram, 5 and a meal-offering of one ephah for the ram and a meal-offering of whatever his hand gives for the sheep, with a hin of oil for each ephah; 6 on the day of the New Moon an unblemished bull from the herd and six sheep and a ram, they shall be unblemished, 7 and he shall make an ephah for the bull and an ephah for the ram as a meal-offering, and for the sheep according to his means, with a hin of oil per ephah.

8 "When the prince enters, he shall enter by way of the hall of the gate, and by the same way he shall leave. 9 *But when the populace comes before HASHEM on the appointed days, * whoever comes in by way of the northern gate to prostrate himself shall go out by way of the southern gate, and whoever comes in by way of the southern gate shall go out by way of the northern gate. He shall not return by way of the gate through which he came in; rather he shall go out opposite it.* 10 And the prince: He shall enter among them when they enter, and when they leave he shall leave. 11 On the festivals and at the appointed times, the meal-offering shall be an ephah for a bull and an ephah for a ram; and for the sheep, whatever his hand gives, with a hin of oil per ephah.

12 "When the prince makes a free-will offering, a burnt-offering or a peace-offering as a free-will offering for HASHEM, they shall open for him the gate that faces eastward, and he shall make his burnt-offering and his peace-offerings as he does on the Sabbath day, then he shall go out, and they shall close the gate after his departure.

13 *"You shall prepare a sheep in its first year, unblemished, as a daily burnt-offering for HASHEM; you shall make it every morning.  14 And you shall bring a meal-offering with it every morning, a sixth of an ephah, a third of a hin of oil with which to mix the flour; it is a meal-offering to HASHEM. As an eternal portion [to be offered] continually, 15 *they shall make the sheep and the meal-offering and the oil every morning as a continual burnt-offering. * "*

Prince's inheritance

16 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: "If the prince makes a gift to one of his sons, since it is his inheritance that will belong to his sons, it is their possession by inheritance.* 17 But if he makes a gift from his inheritance to any of his servants, it shall remain his until the Jubilee Year; then it shall revert to the prince; His inheritance shall be only for his sons. 18 The prince may not take from the inheritance of the people to extort their possession from them; he shall bequeath to his sons from his own possession, so that My people will not be scattered, each man from his possession."

Kohanim's chambers

19 Then he brought me through the passage that was at the side of the [western] gate, to the sacred chambers of the Kohanim that faced northward, and, behold, there was a place at its western ends. 20 He said to me, "This is the place where the Kohanim shall cook the guilt-offering and the sin-offering, and where they shall bake the meal-offering, so as not to bring [them] into the outer courtyard to mingle with the people."

Enclosures

21 Then he brought me out into the outer courtyard and led me past the four corners of the courtyard, and, behold, an enclosure at one corner of the courtyard [and] an enclosure at the other end of the courtyard. 22 At the four corners of the courtyard were open enclosures, forty [cubits] in length and thirty [cubits] in width; there was one measurement for the four of them situated in the corners.

46:23. The masonry functioned as stoves, and fires were lit under them.

23 There was a row [of masonry protruding] all around for the four of them, * and hearths were made beneath these rows all around. 24 He said to me, "These are the cooking places where the Temple ministers shall cook the sacrifice of the people."

47 1 Then he returned me to the entrance of the Temple and water was emerging from under the threshold of the Temple, [going] eastward — for the House faced eastward. The water ran down from under the right side of the Temple, south of the Altar. 2 Then he took me out through the northern gate and led me around the outside to the outer gate by the way [of the gate] that faced east, and there was water trickling out from the right side. 3 As the man left to the east with a measuring rod in his hand, he measured one thousand cubits and led me across the water, ankle-deep water; 4 he measured [another] thousand and led me across the water, knee-deep water; he measured [another] thousand and led me across waist-deep water. 5 He measured [another] thousand, [and it became] a stream that I could not cross, for the water had swollen into water for swimming, a stream that could not be crossed!

Water under the threshold

6 He said to me, "Have you seen, O Son of Man?" He then led me and returned me to the bank of the stream. 7 Upon my return, behold, along the bank of the stream were very many trees on one side and on the other. 8 He said to me, "These waters go out to the eastern region; they descend to the Arabah and go to the Sea, to the spreading sea, and the water will become sweetened. 9 And it will be that any living thing that will swarm, wherever these streams flow, will live, and the fish will be exceedingly abundant; for these waters will come there and they will become sweetened, so that [the fish] may live, wherever the stream comes. 10 It will happen that fisherman will stand by it, from En-gedi to En-eglaim; they will be spreading places for nets. Their fish will be of as many species as the fish of the Great Sea, exceedingly abundant. 11 But its swamps and pools will not become sweetened; they will be set aside to provide salt. 12 Along the stream will grow every [species of] food tree on its banks on one side and the other, its leaf will not wither and its fruit will not fail; every month it will yield new fruit. For its waters will go forth from the Sanctuary, so its fruit will be for food and its leaves for healing."

Streams from the Temple

13 Thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: "This is the boundary by which you shall allot the land for inheritance to the twelve tribes of Israel, two portions for Joseph. 14 You shall inherit [the land], each tribe equal to his brother, about which I raised My hand to give it to your forefathers; this land shall become yours as an inheritance.

Portions of the tribes

15 "This is the boundary of the land. On the north side: From the Great Sea, by way of Hethlon, to the approach to Zedad, 16 Hamath, Berothah, and Sibraim which is between the border of Damascus and the border of Hamath, [and] Hazer-hatticon which is on the border of Hauran. 17 The border shall thus go from the Sea to Hazar-enon by the border of Damascus, with the northern [border] extending northward to the border of Hamath. [This is] the northern side.

18 "The eastern side: Between Hauran and Damascus, between Gilead and the Land of Israel, the Jordan, you shall measure from the [northern] border to the Eastern Sea. [This is] the eastern side.

19 "The southern side southward: From Tamar until the waters of Meribothkadesh, to the stream, to the Great Sea. [This is] the southern side southward.

20 "And the western side: The Great Sea, from the [southern] border until opposite the approach to Hamath. This is the western side.

The Twelve Prophets תרי עשר

This Book contains the words of men whose prophecies spanned over three hundred and fifty years (beginning 700 B.C.E.), from the middle of the First Temple era to the the early years of the Second Temple. Since the prophecies of these disparate individuals were comparatively brief — some only a single chapter — they were collected in one Book, so that they would not be lost (Bava Basra 14b). As Rashi explains, seeing that the era of prophecy was ending and that they would be the last prophets, Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi wrote down their own prophecies and appended the other small books to them.

We should not be deceived by the brevity of these books, for, like all prophecies recorded in Scripture, they have a message for every generation. Non-Jewish Bibles refer to The Twelve Prophets as "The Minor Prophets," which is not only degrading, but a gross misnomer. In fact, Hosea, a contemporary of Isaiah, was, according to the Sages, the greatest prophet of his time.

The Book is a panorama of Jewish history. It begins at the time when there were two Jewish kingdoms, and the Ten Tribes of the North seemed to be by far the more powerful. It concludes with the Northern Kingdom in oblivion, and the tribes of the South, primarily Judah and Benjamin, on the way back to their land, to build the Second Temple. The intervening years were a time of strife and disappointment, as prophet after prophet begged and warned, foretold and chastised about the impending doom — all in vain.

The Book of Hosea is perhaps the starkest of the twelve. In admonishing his people, he called them God's "estranged wife." For his harshness, he incurred God's wrath. To demonstrate the eternal truth that Israel remains His Chosen People despite its major shortcomings, God commanded Hosea to undergo one of Scriptures most difficult ordeals, a personal torture that mirrored God's own anguish and loyalty.

Fittingly and inspiringly, The Twelve Prophets ends the era of prophecy with the exhortation:

> Remember the Torah of Moses My servant, which I commanded him at Horeb for all of Israel — [its] decrees and [its] statutes. Behold, I send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and awesome day of HASHEM. And he will turn back [to God] the hearts of fathers with [their] sons and the hearts of sons with their fathers ...

1:1. Uzziah (also called Azariah) reigned fifty-two years, beginning in the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam's forty-one-year reign; Jotham and Ahaz each reigned sixteen years; and Hezekiah reigned twenty-nine years. Their histories are recorded in II Kings Chs. 15-20 and II Chronicles Chs. 26-32. Hosea prophesied for ninety of those years (Seder Olam). According to the Talmud (Pesachim 87a) he was a greater prophet than any of his contemporaries, which included Isaiah, Amos and Micah. Nevertheless, Hosea's words were not accorded a book of their own, as were the prophecies of Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Ezekiel, because his prophecies were far fewer than theirs (Bava Basra 14b).

1:2. This prophecy was to depict Israel's unfaithfulness to God as the equivalent of a harlot's infidelity to her husband. There are two general views among the commentators: Either this command's implementation took place only in the prophetic vision, but not in real life; or, it was an actual command — הוֹרַאת שָׁעָה, a ruling for the moment — by which God overrode the law of the Torah, and the marriage and subsequent births actually took place.

1:4. The name Jezreel has a double meaning. First, as the verse states, it refers to the valley in which Jeroboam's ancestor Jehu spilled considerable blood (see II Kings Ch. 10). Although Jehu's killings marked the fulfillment of Elijah's prophecy against the house of Ahab and the destruction of the Baal worship, his motivation was not inspired by a desire to fulfill God's will, rather it was to intensify the calf worship (see 10:5) at Beth-el (Beth-aven) and Dan (Rashi). Second, the name Jezreel means "seeded by God" and is a reference to the exile by

1 The word of HASHEM that came to Hosea son of Beeri in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz [and] Hezekiah,* the kings of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam son of Joash, king of Israel.

2 The initial speech of HASHEM with Hosea:

A harlot and her children

HASHEM said to Hosea, "Go take unto yourself a wife of harlotry and [beget] children of harlotry.* For the land is straying completely from following HASHEM." 3 So he went and took Gomer daughter of Diblaim, and she conceived and bore him a son. 4 HASHEM said to him, "Call his name Jezreel,* for, in a short while, I will avenge the blood of Jezreel upon the house of Jehu, and I will terminate the monarchy of the House of Israel. 5 It will happen on that day that I will break the bow of Israel in the Valley of Jezreel."

6 She conceived again and bore a daughter, and [God] said to him, "Call her name Lo-ruhamah (Not Pitied); for I will no longer pity the House of Israel, that I should show them forbearance. 7 But upon the House of Judah I will have mercy and I will save them through HASHEM their God;* I will not save them with bow, with sword, with warfare, with steeds or with riders."

8 She weaned Lo-ruhamah, and she conceived and bore a son. 9 [God] said, "Call his name Lo-ammi (Not My People); for you are not My people, and I will not be yours. 1 Yet the number of the Children of Israel will be like the sand of the sea, which can neither be measured nor counted; and it will happen that in the place [of their exile] where it was said to them, 'You are not My people,' it will be said to them, 'Children of the living God.' 2 The Children of Judah and the Children of Israel will be assembled together, and they will appoint for themselves one head and ascend from the land, for the day of Jezreel is great.* 3 Say to your brothers 'Ammi' (My People) and your sisters 'Ruhamah' (Pitied).

Growth and unity

A disloyal wife . . .

4 Contend with your mother,* contend; for she is not My wife and I am not her husband; and have her remove her harlotries from her face and her adulteries from between her breasts; 5 lest I strip her bare and stand her as on the day she was born, and make her like a wilderness and render her like a parched land and cause her to die of thirst. 6 And upon her children I will not have mercy, for they are children of harlotry. 7 For their mother has committed harlotry; she who conceived them has shamed herself; for she said, 'I will go after my paramours, those who provide my bread and my water, my wool and my linen, my oil and my drink.'* 8 Therefore, behold, I will hedge your way with thorns, and I will hem her in with a fence, and she will not find her paths. 9 And she will pursue her paramours, but not reach them; she will seek them, but not find [them]. Then she will say, 'I will go and return to my first husband, for it was better for me then than it is now.' 10 For she did not realize that it was I who gave her the grain and the wine and the oil; I lavished silver and gold upon her, [but] they used it for the Baal.

which Israel will be strewn, like sown seeds, among the hostile nations.

1:7. God intervened to save Jerusalem from being overrun by Sennacherib (see II Kings 19:32-35).

2:2. The "day of Jezreel" (1:4-5) will ultimately result in a long exile, after which Israel will leave the lands of their dispersion and ascend to Israel (Radak). The name Jezreel also may be rendered "God will gather seed" (Rashi).

2:4. After tempering rebuke with words of love and comfort, the prophet returns to castigation and urges the righteous people of Israel to rebuke their "mother," the Congregation of Israel, for she had been unfaithful to God, just as Hosea's wife was unfaithful to him. Such a "wife" cannot expect her "husband" to be loyal.

2:7. Israel attributed its prosperity not to God, but to its false deities (Radak), as she is quoted in verse 14.

2:16. In exile, she will realize in her heart how wrong she had been (Rashi).

2:17. From the desert of exile, I will restore her to her fertile land. For Valley of Achor see Joshua 7:24-26 and Isaiah 65:10.

2:18. Ishi and Baali both mean "my husband," but with different connotations. Ishi, literally, "my man," implies a relationship based on love; but Baali, literally, "my master," can also refer to a relationship based on fear of a superior (Rashi).

2:20. That they no longer harm the people in the land (cf. Isaiah 11:9).

2:23. The heavens "desire," as it were, to provide their moisture; God will now accede to their "request" (Radak).

2:24. The exiles who had been strewn like sown seed (1:4) and gathered like grown seed (2:2).

3:2. A chomer is equal to ten ephah (or about 8 bushels), and a lesech is equal to five ephah.

3:4. Ephod refers to the Urim VeTumim (see Exodus

. . . but too late

11 Therefore, I will return and take My grain in its time and My wine in its season, and I will remove My wool and My linen [that I gave her] to cover her nakedness. 12 And now I will reveal her repulsiveness before the eyes of her paramours, and no man will save her from My hand. 13 I will terminate her every rejoicing, her festival, her New Moon, her Sabbath and her every appointed season. 14 I will lay waste her vine and her fig tree, [about] which she said, 'They are a payment for me that my paramours have given me'; and I will make them like a forest, and the beasts of the field will devour them. 15 And I will repay her for all the days of the Baalim to which she burns incense; and she adorned herself with her earrings and her jewelry and followed after her paramours, but Me she forgot — the word of HASHEM.

God will relent

16 Therefore, behold, I will seduce her, and I will lead her to the desert and I will speak to her heart. * 17 And I will give to her her vineyards from there, * and [make] the Valley of Achor (Troubling) * into a portal of hope; she will dwell * there as in the days of her youth, and as on the day of her ascent from the land of Egypt. 18 And it shall be on that day — the word of HASHEM — that you will call [Me] Ishi (my husband) and you will no longer call Me Baali (my master). * 19 I will remove the names of the Baalim from her mouth and they will not be mentioned again by their name. 20 And I will seal a covenant for them on that day with the beast of the field and the bird of the heavens and the creeping thing of the ground; * I will banish bow and sword and warfare from the land; and I will lay them down in safety. 21 I will betroth you to Me forever; and I will betroth you to Me with righteousness, with justice, with kindness and with mercy; 22 and I will betroth you to Me with fidelity, and you will know HASHEM. 23 And it shall be on that day that I will respond — the word of HASHEM — I will respond to the heavens, * and they will respond to the earth. 24 And the earth will respond with the grain and the wine and the oil, and they will respond to Jezreel. * 25 I will sow her for Myself in the land, and I will pity Lo-ruhamah (Not Pitied), and I will say to Lo-ammi (Not My People), 'You are Ammi (My People),' and he will say '[You are] my God.' "

Another faithless wife

1 HASHEM said to me, "Go again, love a woman who was the beloved of [her] companion, yet an adulteress — like HASHEM*'s love for the Children of Israel, yet they turn to the gods of others and cherish goblets of grape [wine]."*

2 So I acquired her for myself for fifteen [pieces of] silver and a chomer * of barley and a lesech * of barley. 3 And I said to her, "Wait for me for many days; do not act the harlot and do not marry a[nother] man, and so will I be [faithful] to you." 4 For many days the Children of Israel will sit with no king, no officer, no sacrifice, no pillar, and no ephod or teraphim. * 5 Afterward the Children of Israel will return and seek out HASHEM their God and David their king, and they will tremble for HASHEM and for His goodness in the end of days.

A chilling condemnation

1 Hear the words of HASHEM*, O Children of Israel! For* HASHEM has a grievance with the inhabitants of the land, for there is no truth nor kindness nor knowledge of God in the land. 2 [Rather,] swearing, lying, murdering, robbing, and adultery; they have breached [standards], and blood reaches [more] blood. * 3 Therefore, the land will be destroyed 28:30); Teraphim are among the divining tools of the sorcerers.

4:2. There is so much bloodshed that the blood of one victim mingles with the blood of the next (Rashi).

4:4. The wrongdoers forewarn the prophets not to rebuke them, yet they rebuke the righteous Kohanim who are supposed to teach them righteousness (Rashi). Alternatively: No one can rebuke the wrongdoers, because all are equally wicked (Radak).

4:5. Israel's "mother" is a metaphor for the nation. Individuals will be exiled and the "Congregation" of Israel will cease to exist (Radak).

4:6-9. Hosea turns his rebuke to the Kohanim, who not only failed to live up to their calling, but encouraged the sins of the masses.

4:8. Instead of discouraging sin, the Kohen eagerly anticipates it, in order to eat from additional sin-offerings (Radak).

4:9. The populace and the Kohanim were equally sinful, so they will be equally punished (Radak).

4:12. The people believe in idols made of wood and rods.

4:13. Because the men are disloyal to God, the women are disloyal to their husbands (Malbim).

4:15. Gilgal and Beth-el (House of God) — here contemptuously called "Beth-aven" (house of iniquity) — were centers of idol worship.

4:16. An untended lamb is helpless and panicky on an open range.

4:17. It is futile to rebuke Ephraim, the leading tribe of the Northern Kingdom.

4:19. Like a bird blown off course by a strong wind, you will be driven into exile (Rashi), ashamed that your gods could not save you.

5:1. God asked the Kohanim, "Why do you not offer sacrifices on the Altar?" They replied, "Because Israel does not bring us any." Then God said to Israel, "Why do you not bring offerings?" They replied, "Because the king has blockaded the roads to Jerusalem." So God rebuked the royal household, "The sentence of punishments is upon you" (Rashi; Kara). Alternatively: Instead of admin-and all who dwell in it will be enfeebled, along with the beast of the field and the bird of the heavens and even the fish of the sea will be annihilated. 4 *Indeed [you say,] 'Let no one contend; let no one reprimand!' Yet your people contends with the Kohen! 5 *You will stumble by day and the [false] prophet who is with you will also stumble, as if by night; and I will silence your mother.

Measure for measure

6 *My people has been eliminated for lack of knowledge; for you have spurned knowledge, and I will spurn you from serving Me; and as you have forgotten the Torah of your God, I, too, will forget your children. 7 As much as they have increased, so have they sinned against Me; [therefore] I will exchange their honor for disgrace. 8 *The sin-offerings of My people they consume; and for their iniquities, his soul yearns. 9 *So it shall be — like people, like Kohen; I will visit his ways upon him, and I will requite him for his deeds. 10 They will eat but not be sated; they will be promiscuous but will not proliferate, for they have abandoned HASHEM, [ceasing] to keep [His ways]. 11 Harlotry and wine and fresh wine capture the heart.

Saturated with idolatry

12 *My people asks of its wood, and its rod relates to it; for a spirit of harlotry has misled [them] and they have strayed from under their God. 13 *They slaughter sacrifices upon the mountaintops and they burn incense upon the hills, under oak and poplar, and elm, for their shade is good. Therefore, your daughters commit harlotry and your daughters-in-law commit adultery. 14 I will not punish your daughters when they commit harlotry, [nor] your daughters-in-law when they commit adultery, for [the men] are secluded with harlots and sacrifice with prostitutes; and the people that does not understand will stumble.

15 *If you have turned astray, O Israel, let Judah not become guilty! Do not come to Gilgal, do not ascend to Beth-aven, and do not swear [falsely, saying], 'As HASHEM lives.' 16 For Israel has strayed like a wayward cow; now HASHEM *will graze them like a lamb on the broad range. 17 *Ephraim is attached to idols; let him be.

18 Their adulterous drinking orgies have become foreign [to Me]; her rulers love to invite disgrace. 19 *The wind has bound her by her wings; they will be ashamed of their sacrifices.

The monarchy rebuked

1 *Hear this, O Kohanim. Hearken, O House of Israel. O royal house, give ear, for the judgment is yours; you have been a snare to Mizpah and a net extended over Tabor. 2 [By preventing] the slaughter [of offerings] the deviants deepened [iniquity], and I castigate them all. 3 I knew Ephraim, and Israel was not hidden from Me; for now you have committed harlotry, Ephraim; Israel has been defiled. 4 They will not abandon their deeds to return to their God, for a spirit of harlotries is in their midst, and HASHEM they do not know. 5 The pride of Israel will be humbled before Him, and Israel and Ephraim will stumble over their inquity, [and] Judah, too, will stumble with them. 6 *With their sheep and with their cattle they will go to seek HASHEM, but they will not find [Him]; He has withdrawn from them. 7 They betrayed HASHEM, *for they begot alien children; now a month will devour them istering justice you were a snare to the populace, who followed your example of corruption and perversion. Tabor and Mizpah were high mountains where hunters often set up traps and nets (Radak).

5:6. This refers to their sacrificial animals.

5:7. Because they begot gentile children through intermarriage, their downfall will come in the month of Av (Rashi).

5:9. In the Torah I informed them that they would be punished if they sinned (Radak).

5:10. See Deuteronomy 19:14.

5:11. The bidding of the idolatrous priests (Rashi) and the wicked kings (Radak).

5:12. A moth devours clothing and rot destroys timber, gradually, but thoroughly.

5:13. Literally, "king of Contention"; Jareb is another name for Assyria.

6:2. Even if our misfortune is prolonged and "incurable," He will heal us in a matter of days (Kara).

6:5. I sent a clear-cut message to you through My prophets; you heard and refused to repent, so My offer resulted in your death sentence. How could I vindicate you after such defiance? (Rashi).

6:7. In the magnificent land that I had given them (Radak).

6:11. Hearing Israel's remorse-filled statement (vv. 1-3), God considers ending their exile. But, by following Ephraim's example, and in doing so made God reconsider His plan to return them from their captivity (Ibn Ezra).

7:1. Whenever I want to bring salvation to the Northern Kingdom, the sins of Ephraim, its leader, and the other tribes of Samaria prevent Me from doing so.

7:3. Rather than protesting injustice, their king rejoices in it, because he, too, is corrupt (Radak).

7:4. The Inciter — the evil inclination — devises its plan and rests until the time is ripe to bring it to fruition.

Forewarned

*8 Sound a shofar in Gibeah, a trumpet in Ramah; shout in Beth-aven, '[The enemy is coming] after you, Benjamin!' 9 Ephraim will be bewildered on the day of rebuke; among the tribes of Israel I made the truth known. * 10 The officers of Judah were like those who shift the boundaries; * upon them I will pour out My wrath like water. 11 Ephraim is plundered, shattered by his judgment; for he has willingly followed after their bidding. * 12 I will be like a moth to Ephraim, like rot to the House of Judah. *

13 Ephraim saw his ailment and Judah his wound; and Ephraim went to Assyria and [Judah] sent [tribute] to the king of Jareb * — but he will not be able to cure you nor to heal your wound. 14 For I am like a lion to Ephraim and like a lion's whelp to the House of Judah. As for Me, Me, I will mangle and I will go; I will carry off and no one will rescue. 15 I will go, I will return to My place until they will acknowledge their guilt and seek My face; in their* *have healed Israel, the iniquity of Ephraim became revealed, along with the evils of Samaria; * for they have wrought falsehood — a thief comes, a gang spreads out outside. 2 They do not say in their hearts that I remember all their evils; now their deeds have surrounded them; they were before My face. 3 With their evil they gladden the king; * and with their falsehoods, officers. 4 They are all adulterers, [their passions burning] like an oven fired by a baker. The Inciter * rests from the kneading of the dough until its leavening. 5 On the day of our king, * the officers became ill from the heat of wine; and he withdrew his hand [to be] with scoffers. 6 For they have prepared their heart with their ambush-plot like an oven; all night their 'Baker' sleeps, and in the morning he burns like a blazing fire. * 7 They have all become heated like an oven and they have devoured their judges; all their kings have fallen, [yet] no one among them calls out to Me. **

7:5. On the day of the king's coronation, when he should have been concerned with the welfare of his people, he joined the revelry of his drunken officials.

7:6. Just as a baker goes to sleep after he fires the oven for the morning's work, so their Baker (called the Inciter in v.4) devises plans and rests until it is time to carry them out (Rashi).

7:7. Their passionate wickedness has brought Divine retribution upon their judges and kings, but they have not learned their lesson (Rashi).

7:8. Like a cake eaten before it is fully baked, they will be annihilated before their time (Targum).

7:9. Ephraim failed to realize that his ills were a punishment for his sins.

7:11. Like birds, they foolishly flew into the trap of reliance on foreign powers (Radak).

7:13. They denied that I direct and control events (Radak).

7:15. I afflicted them only to strengthen their resolve so that they would repent — but they do not realize this (Rashi).

7:16. Like a bow that seems to aim in one direction but shoots in another, Israel's fidelity to Me was mercurial and short-lived (Radak).

Their impudence in seeking help from Egypt caused their downfall, and made them a laughingstock in Egypt (Radak).

8:1. Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylonia (see Ezekiel 17:3, 12).

8:4. Their gold and silver (Rashi).

8:5. The calves worshiped by Samaria, the Northern Kingdom, did not help them (Radak). Alternatively: The verse reads, "He [i.e., God] has forsaken [you because of] your calf" (Rashi).

8:6. The calf was not merely commissioned by King Jeroboam; it was made of gold donated by the people (Rashi).

8:9. They tried to buy alliances with powerful nations (Radak).

8:10. Despite their faith in other nations, I will gather in the Jewish people, but first they will be humbled by the burdens of exile (Rashi).

8:11. Beyond the many altars built by their ancestors,

Foolish Ephraim . . .

8 Ephraim will be intermingled with the nations. Ephraim was like a cake that was not turned over. * 9 Strangers have consumed his strength, but he did not know; also old age was cast upon him but he did not know. * 10 The glory of Israel was humbled before him, but they did not turn back to HASHEM their God and they did not seek Him despite all this. 11 Ephraim was like a foolish dove * with no understanding: They have called to Egypt, they have gone to Assyria. 12 When they go, I will spread My net over them, I will bring them down like the birds of the sky; I will afflict them, as has been heard by their congregation.

13 Woe to them for they have moved away from Me; plunder upon them for they have rebelled against Me. I would redeem them, but they have spoken lies about Me. * 14 They did not cry out to Me in their hearts when they wailed on their beds. They gather together for grain and wine, yet they turn away from Me. 15 As for Me, I afflicted [them; I] strengthened their arms, * but they think evil of Me. 16 They turn, but not to the One Above; they are like a deceptive bow. * Their officers will fall by the sword because of the fury of their tongues; this was their derision in the land of Egypt. *

. . . is doomed

Instead of returning to God . . .

1 To your palate [put] a shofar; [the enemy swoops] like an eagle * upon the Temple of HASHEM, because they have violated My covenant, and they have rebelled against My Torah. 2 To Me Israel should cry out, 'My God, we acknowledge you!' 3 Israel has forsaken the Benevolent One; so the enemy will pursue him. 4 They enthroned kings, but not from Me; they ordained officers but I did not know. [From] their silver and gold they made themselves idols, for it * to be eliminated. 5 Your calf has forsaken [you], Samaria! * My anger burns against them; how long will they be incapable of cleansing? 6 For [it is] from Israel; * a craftsman made it, and it is not a god; for the calf of Samaria will be splinters. 7 For they sow wind and they will reap a tempest; it has no standing stalks, a sprout that will produce no flour; [and] if it should somehow produce, strangers will swallow it. 8 Israel has been swallowed up; now they have become among the nations like a useless vessel. 9 For they ascended to Assyria like a wild donkey on its own;

. . . Ephraim tried to buy allies

Ephraim has paid tribute for friendship. * 10 Although they pay tribute to the nations, now I will gather them; but [first] they will be humbled somewhat by the burden of the king and officers. * 11 For Ephraim has increased the [number of] altars * to sin, [even though] he had altars to sin! 12 I wrote for them the great principles of My Torah, but they were regarded as something alien. 13 The sacrifices for My burnt-offerings let them slaughter for meat and let them eat! * HASHEM does not desire them! Now He will remember their inquity and punish their sins, and they will return to Egypt. 14 Israel has forgotten his Maker and he has built temples, and Judah has proliferated fortified cities; I will send a fire into his cities and it will consume his palaces.

No reason to rejoice

1 Rejoice not, Israel, like the exultation of the peoples, for you have strayed from your God; you have loved a harlot's fee on all the threshing floors of grain. * 2 The threshing floor and wine pit will not provide food for them, and wine will betray them. 3 They will not dwell in the land of Ephraim built even more (Radak).

8:13. You try to appease God by bringing burnt-offerings, but you are insincere and God rejects them. Instead of bogus offerings, slaughter those animals for meat (Rashi).

9:1. Like a harlot taking her fee in grain, you have prostituted yourself before the nations.

9:4. Because they are brought without feelings of sincere contrition, God considers their offerings like food that is defiled by people who have had contact with the dead (Radak). They might as well save their money and eat the food themselves rather than offer it to God, Who does not accept it (Rashi).

9:5. A euphemism for the day He has set for a great slaughter (see Zephaniah 1:7).

9:6. An Egyptian city, usually identified as Memphis.

9:8. Ephraim set up prophets who claim that they were "with my God," but they were false prophets, as the verse goes on to explain (Abarbanel).

9:9. See Judges Chs. 19-20.

9:10. When Israel first became My people, I regarded them as enthusiastically as a traveler in the desert who encounters a rare grapevine. At Baal-peor (see Numbers 25:1-9), their love for the Midianite women drew them into idolatry.

9:11. That is, their progeny who are commanded to honor them [see Exodus 20:12] (Radak).

9:12. They will not live to reach manhood.

9:13. Tyre was once prosperous and secure, but it was destroyed. Ephraim, too, will send its young men out to defend the country, only to be slain in battle (Radak).

9:15. A center of idolatrous worship (see 4:15).

10:1. Israel was once a fruitful, bountiful nation, but lost its prosperity because they wasted their good fortune on idol worship (Rashi).

10:4. A poisonous plant.

HASHEM, but Ephraim will return to Egypt and eat unclean food in Assyria.
4 They should not pour out wine [libations] to HASHEM for they will not be pleasing to Him; their sacrifices will be to them like the bread of mourners, of which all who partake are defiled; rather, let their bread be for themselves, let it not come to the Temple of HASHEM. 5 What will you do on the appointed day, and on the day of HASHEM's feast?* 6 For behold, they have gone away because of plunder; Egypt will gather them in, Moph* will bury them. As for the treasure houses of their silver — thistles will inherit them; briars [will grow] in their tents. 7 The days of punishment have come; the days of requital have come; let Israel know — the [false] prophet is a fool; the man of spirit is mad — because of the abundance of your iniquity; the enmity is great. 8 The prophet of Ephraim is with my God;* the prophet is a net that ensnares [him] in all his ways and who causes enmity in the house of his God. 9 They deepened, they corrupted themselves as in the days of Gibeah;* He will remember their iniquity; He will punish their sins.*

False prophets

Frustrated hope

10 'I found Israel like grapes in the desert; like a ripe fruit on a fig tree in its beginning did I view your fathers; but they came to Baal-peor and dedicated themselves to shamefulness; and they became loathsome by their love. 11 [As for] Ephraim: their honor* will fly away like a bird, [perishing] from birth or from the womb or from conception. 12 For even if they rear their children I will bereave them before manhood,* for woe is to them, as well, when I turn away from them! 13 Ephraim is as I saw Tyre,* implanted in [its] dwelling place; but Ephraim will [seek] to take his children out to the slayer.'*
14 Give them, HASHEM, what You will give; give them a bereaving womb and shriveled breasts.
15 'All their evil is in Gilgal, where I hated them; for the evil of their deeds I will banish them from My house. I will not continue to love them; all their officers are rebellious. 16 Ephraim has been smitten; their root is withered, they will not produce fruit; even if they give birth I will slay the treasures of their wombs.'*
17 My God will spurn them, for they have not obeyed Him, and they will wander about among the nations.

Bitter fruit

1 Israel is [like] a vine that has shed the fruit that befits it; when his fruit was abundant, he increased altars; when his land was bountiful, they improved pillars. 2 Their hearts have become detached [from God]; now they will become desolate. He will destroy their altars and will lay waste to their pillars. 3 For now they will say, 'We have no king, for since we did not fear HASHEM, what can the king do for us?' 4 They have spoken words, swearing falsely, sealing covenants, so [their] judgment will sprout up like hemlock* on the furrows of the field. 5 Because of the calves of Beth-aven,* the inhabitants of Samaria will be frightened; for its people will mourn over it, as well as its priests who used to rejoice over its glory which has been exiled from it. 6 It, too, will be brought to Assyria, a gift to the king of Jareb;* Ephraim will take shame, and Israel will be ashamed for its counsel.* 7 Samaria's king has been silenced; he is like foam upon the water. 8 And the high places of* 10:5. The calves were idols set up by Jeroboam son of Nebat, first king of the Northern Kingdom (I Kings 12:26-29).

10:6. For Jareb, see 5:13.
Ephraim and Israel will be ashamed for having set up the calves for worship (Rashi).

ב רָד עִם־אֵל וְעִם־קְדוֹשִׁים נֶאֱמָן: אֶפְרַיִם רֹעֶה רוּחַ וְרֹדֵף קָדִים כָּל־הַיּוֹם

HAFTARAS VAYEITZEI Sephardim: 11:7-12:12; some continue until 13:6. Ashkenazim begin on p. 1346

10:8. Israel (Rashi), or the altars (Ibn Ezra), will beg to be covered, because of their great shame.

10:9. Idolatry was introduced to Israel at the time of the concubine at Gibeah (see Judges Chs. 19-20). Because of the idols, the campaign against the Gibeonites was not blessed with immediate success.

10:10. God used the nations to exact retribution against Israel. Both Ephraim and Judah were subjugated, like oxen plowing separate furrows.

10:11. Like a cow that would rather thresh than plow, because it can eat while it threshes, Ephraim preferred immediate pleasures to the "yoke" of the commandments. I took pity on its "neck," and gave it a Torah that was easily within its capability (Radak). If only the leaders of both Ephraim and Judah would carry out their responsibilities, the nation of Jacob would break up the clumps of soil that impede their spiritual progress.

10:12. Set aside time for Torah study, and God will help you harvest an abundant spiritual crop.

10:15. At dawn, when most people go about their business, the king of Israel will be silenced, stunned in powerlessness by the presence of the king of Assyria (Rashi).

11:1-3. God reviews Israel's beginnings, when the nation was but a "lad" in Egypt. He sent Moses to redeem them, but "Ephraim," representing the future idolaters, failed to recognize that it was God who had saved them.

11:2. The prophets.

11:4. The kind of rope one would use to gently prod a person, as opposed to an animal's leash, which forces it to move along (Rashi).

11:7. The prophets.

Aven — the sin of Israel — will be destroyed; thorn and thistle will sprout up on their altars; they will say to the mountains, 'Cover us!' and to the hills, 'Fall upon us!'*

Dividends of sin

9 *Since the days of Gibeah you have sinned, O Israel; there they stood. The war against men of iniquity did not overtake them in Gibeah. 10 *By My will I afflicted them, then the nations gathered against them when they bound them [to plow] two furrows. 11 Ephraim is a trained calf who loves to thresh; and I passed over the goodliness of her neck; I joined Ephraim to plow [with] Judah, that Jacob should harrow.* 12 [I said,] 'Sow for yourselves righteousness and you will reap according to kindness; till for yourselves a tilling and [set] a time to seek HASHEM* until He comes and teaches you righteousness.' 13 But you have plowed wickedness, and you have reaped iniquity and eaten the fruit of denial; for you relied on your [evil] way, on your many mighty men. 14 And there will arise a din among your people, and all your fortresses will be plundered, like Shalman plundered Beth-arbel on the day of war, [when] mother and children were torn asunder. 15 So has Beth-el done to you because of your greatest evil; at dawn, the king of Israel will be utterly silenced.*

God reached out . . .

1 When Israel was a lad I loved him, and since Egypt I have been calling out to My son.* 2 [As much as] they called to them, so did they turn away from them; they sacrificed to the Baalim and burnt incense to the idols.* 3 I sent [a leader] to Ephraim who took them upon his arms and they did not know that I healed them. 4 With the cords of man I drew them, with bonds of love, and I acted towards them like [farmers] who raise the yoke [from] upon their [animals'] jaws, and I provided food for them.* 5 He will not return to the land of Egypt, but now Assyria is his king, for they refused to repent. 6 The sword will alight upon his cities, and it will destroy and devour his villages, because of their own designs. 7 And yet My people waver about returning to Me; and [though] they call them to the Supreme One, they are together in not exalting [Him].*

. . . Ephraim spurned Him

8 How can I hand you over, Ephraim, or deliver you, Israel? How can I render you like Admah [or] make you like Zeboim? My heart has been overturned; My mercies have been kindled together.* 9 *I will not carry out My wrath; I will not recant and destroy Ephraim, for I am God and not a man; the Holy One is in your midst, and I will not enter a city. 10 They will follow after HASHEM, like a lion He will roar; for He will roar and [His] children will stir from the west,* 11 they will stir like a bird from Egypt and like a dove from the land of Assyria, and I will settle them in their homes — the word of HASHEM.

Judah remained loyal

1 Ephraim has surrounded Me with falsehood, and the House of Israel with deceit, but Judah still ruled with God and was faithful with the Holy One.* 2 Ephraim embraces the wind and pursues the east wind; all day*

11:8. Despite your sins, I cannot hand you over to the full punishments you deserve. I cannot destroy you like Admah and Zeboim (see Deuteronomy 29:22).

11:9. To destroy it like Admah and Zeboim (Kara). Alternatively: I will never choose another city over Jerusalem (Targum).

11:10. That is, He will declare His will — to gather in the exiles — plainly and clearly, through the prophets (Radak).

12:1. When the schism among the tribes of Israel originally took place, Judah remained loyal to God [see I Kings Ch. 12] (Radak).

12:2. "Wind," signifying nothingness, refers to Ephraim's idol worship.

HAFTARAS VAYEITZEI
Ashkenazim: 12:13-14:10

12:3. The entire nation, Ephraim and Judah together (Ibn Ezra).

12:4. See Genesis 25:26; 32:25-31.

12:5. Jacob did not release the angel until he promised him that God would appear in Beth-el and bless Jacob in person (Rashi).

12:6. He is remembered by His holy Name, the Tetragrammaton, which indicates His mastery over everything (Metzudos).

12:7. By dint of His promise and His support, you can return to Him (Rashi).

12:9. Instead of "hoping to God," they attribute their prosperity to their own doing and deny that wrongdoing had a part in amassing their fortunes.

12:10. Just as I provided your every need in the wilderness for forty years, I can do so today (Ibn Ezra).

12:12. Gilead was destroyed because the deeds of its people were vain and worthless.

12:14. During the forty years in the wilderness, God, through Moses, protected them from all their enemies. But instead of showing gratitude, Ephraim angered Him.

13:2. They made silver copies of Jeroboam's calf-idols, and the priests said that any parents who sacrifice their children will have the honor of kissing the calves, in reward for their devotion (Rashi).

13:6. The fruitful Land of Israel (Rashi).

13:8. I will force them to open their hearts to Me (Rashi).

13:13. A "wise" baby emerges from the womb quickly, he increases falsehood and plunder; they seal a covenant with Assyria and oil is transported to Egypt. 3 HASHEM has a contention with Judah, to visit upon Jacob according to his [evil] ways; He will requite him in accordance with his deeds.* 4 *In the womb he seized his brother's heel, and with his strength he struggled with [an angel of] God; 5 *he struggled with an angel and prevailed; [the angel] wept and beseeched him: 'In Beth-el He will find us and there He will speak with us.' 6 *HASHEM is the God of Legions; HASHEM is His remembrance. 7 And as for you, return by your God; observe kindness and justice, and always hope to your God.* 8 [But you are instead] a trader with scales of deceit in his hand, who loves to cheat.

Ephraim was arrogant

9 Ephraim said, 'Indeed I have become rich; I have found power for myself, for in all my toil they will not find for me any iniquity which [contains] sin.'* 10 *I am HASHEM your God since the land of Egypt; I will yet settle you in tents as in the days of [early] times. 11 I spoke with the prophets and provided numerous visions, and through the prophets I conveyed allegories. 12 If Gilead [suffered] destruction, they were but vanity, in Gilgal they slaughtered oxen; indeed, their altars are like heaps upon the furrows of the field.*

13 Jacob fled to the field of Aram; Israel worked for a wife, and for a wife he guarded [sheep]. 14 *And by a prophet HASHEM brought Israel up from Egypt, and through a prophet they were safeguarded. 15 Ephraim has angered [God] bitterly, and his blood guilt will be spread upon him, and his Lord will repay him for his scorn.

Plunging to their doom

1 When Ephraim spoke there was trembling; he was exalted in Israel, but he became guilty through Baal and he died. 2 *Now they continue to sin and they have made for themselves a molten image from their silver according to their design, idols, wholly the work of craftsmen. [The priests] say to them, 'Those who slaughter man shall kiss the calves.' 3 Therefore, they shall become like the morning cloud, like the early dew that departs, like chaff that is blown from the threshing floor, and like smoke from a skylight. 4 I am HASHEM your God since the land of Egypt, and you should not have known any god besides Me, for there is no savior but Me. 5 I knew you in the wilderness, in a parched land. 6 With their pasture they became sated; they were sated and their hearts grew haughty; therefore they forgot Me.* 7 I will be like a lion to them; like a leopard I will lurk on the road. 8 I will encounter them like a bereaved bear and rip open the enclosure of their heart; I will devour them there like a lion; the beast of the field will split them open.* 9 You have destroyed yourself, Israel! For [you rebelled] against Me, your help. 10 I will be; [but] where is your king, that he may save you in all your cities, and your judges, of whom you said, 'Give me a king and officers'? 11 I gave you a king in My anger, and I will take [him] away in My fury.

Ephraim's foolishness

12 Ephraim's iniquity is bound up; his sin is hidden away. 13 The pangs of childbirth will come upon him; he is an unwise child, for he should not stay long at the children's birthstool.* 14 From the clutches of the grave I would have ransomed them; I would have redeemed them from death; [but now,] I will be your words of death; I will be the One Who decrees the grave upon you; remorse will be hidden from My eyes. 15 For [though] he thus avoiding a lengthy trauma at birth. The people of Ephraim are "unwise," for by repenting they could shorten the pain that is imposed on them for their sins, but they refuse to do so (Radak).

HAFTARAS SHABBAS SHUVAH (ALSO HAFTARAH MINCHAH OF TISHAH B'AV FOR SEPHARDIM) 14:2-10

Haftarah continues: Ashkenazim on p. 1352, Sephardim on p. 1384

13:15. A metaphor for the kings of Assyria, who attacked, and eventually conquered, the Northern Kingdom.

14:3. An essential part of repentance is that one feel remorse for his past failings and sincerely resolve to improve. Thus the penitent begins by begging God to look favorably upon his good intentions and to accept the prayers, confession, and pledges of his lips in place of, and as more worthy than, fatted bulls as offerings, which may look superficially impressive but are lacking in inner content.

14:4. We will no longer put our faith in military might, flourishes among the marshes, an east wind will come, a wind of HASHEM ascending from the wilderness, and his fountainhead will become parched and his spring will dry up; and it will plunder the treasure of every splendid* article. [1] Samaria will be laid waste, for she has rebelled against her God. They will fall by the sword; their infants will be dashed and their pregnant women split open.

Appeal for repentance

*[2] Return, Israel, unto HASHEM your God, for you have stumbled in your iniquity. [3] Take words with you and return to HASHEM; say to Him, 'May You forgive all iniquity and accept good [intentions], and let our lips substitute for bulls. * [4] Assyria will not save us; we will not ride upon horses, * and we will no longer say, "O our gods!" to the work of our hands; for it is with You that an orphan finds mercy.'*

Ephraim's rejuvenation

[5] I will rectify their waywardness; I will love them gratuitously; for My anger has turned away from them. [6] I will be to Israel like the dew, and he will blossom like a rosebush, and his roots will strike out like the [cedars of] Lebanon. [7] His tender branches will go forth, and his glory will be like [that of] the olive tree and his fragrance like that of Lebanon. [8] Those who dwell in His shade will return; they will revive [like] grain and blossom like a vine; their repute [will be] like the wine of Lebanon. [9] Ephraim [will say], 'What more need have I of idols?' I will respond and I will gaze upon him. I am like an ever-fresh cypress tree; your fruit will be provided from Me.*

[10] Who is wise and will understand these things; [who is] understanding and will know them? For the ways of HASHEM are straight; the righteous walk in them and sinners will stumble over them.

for You alone are the champion of the oppressed, and the source of mercy.

14:5. God responds to Israel's contrition.

1:1. Scripture does not indicate when Joel prophesied. Rashi cites three opinions regarding his identity: He was the son of Samuel, see I Samuel 8:2 (Midrash Rabbah); he was a contemporary of Elisha (Taanis 5a); and Joel, Nahum and Habakkuk all prophesied during the reign of Manasseh (Halachos Gedolos; Seder Olam).

1:2. The Talmud (Taanis 5a) explains that Joel was sent to elaborate upon the seven-year famine foretold by Elisha (II Kings 8:1). Joel prophesied about a devastating plague of locusts, in the hope that the people would take the impending disaster to heart and avert it by repenting, as he exhorts them in the next chapter (Rashi).

1:6. The swarms of locusts are depicted as invading armies. Abarbanel interpets the four species of locusts as an allegory for the four conquerors of the land: Babylonia, Persia, Greece and Rome.

1:10. By the locusts.

1:17. Because they were not refilled.

1:19. The total destruction wrought by the locusts is compared to the ravages of a raging fire (Radak).

2:2. The swarms of locusts are depicted as an invading army.

2:3. The locusts will cause total destruction, as if they had been preceded and followed by raging fire.

2:4. The swarms.

1 The word of HASHEM, which came to Joel son of Pethuel:*

The terrible locust plague

2 Hear this, O elders, and give ear, all inhabitants of the land! Was there such a thing in your days or in the days of your forefathers?* 3 Tell your children about it, and your children to their children, and their children to another generation: 4 What remained from the cutting-locust the abundant-locust has devoured; what remained from the abundant-locust the chewing-locust has devoured; and what remained from the chewing-locust the demolishing-locust has devoured. 5 Awaken, you drunkards, and weep, and wail all you wine-drinkers, over the fine wine that has been eliminated from your mouths. 6 For a nation* has come up against My land, mighty and without number; its teeth are the teeth of a lion, and it has the molars of a lion cub. 7 It has rendered my vine desolate and my fig tree a source of despair; it has stripped it [of its bark] and discarded [it]; its branches have turned white. 8 Lament like a maiden girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth! 9 Meal-offering and libation have been eliminated from the Temple of HASHEM; the Kohanim, the ministers of HASHEM, mourn. 10 The field has been plundered,* the land destroyed; for the grain has been robbed, the wine dried up, and the oil devastated. 11 Be ashamed, O plowmen; wail, O vine dressers — over wheat and over barley, for the harvest of the field has been lost; 12 the vine has dried up and the fig tree has been devastated; the pomegranate tree as well as the date tree and the apple tree — all the trees of the field — have dried up, for rejoicing has dried up from among the sons of man.

Lament the plunder

Fast and wail

13 Gird yourselves [with sackcloth] and lament, O Kohanim; wail, O ministers of the Altar; come spend the night in sackcloth, O ministers of my God, for meal-offering and libation have been withheld from the Temple of your God. 14 Decree a fast; declare an assembly; gather the elders [and] all the inhabitants of the land to the Temple of HASHEM your God, and cry out to HASHEM. 15 Woe for that day! For the day of HASHEM is near, and like [sudden] plunder it will come from the Almighty. 16 Is not food cut off from before our eyes, and happiness and exultation from the Temple of our God? 17 Casks of wine have become moldy under their lids;* storehouses are laid desolate and silos destroyed, for the grain has withered. 18 How the animals groan; herds of cattle are bewildered, for there is no pasture for them; also flocks of sheep were made desolate. 19 To You, HASHEM, I call out, for fire* has consumed the dwellings of the wilderness, and flame has scorched the trees of the field. 20 Also the animals of the field cry out to You, for the springs of water have dried up and fire has consumed the dwellings of the wilderness.

1 Blow the shofar in Zion and sound the trumpet on My holy mountain! Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble; for the day of HASHEM has come; it is near — 2 a day of darkness and thick darkness, a day of cloud and mist, spreading over the mountains like the dawn — a numerous and mighty people;* its like has not been from eternity, and after it there will never again be, until the years of generation after generation. 3 Before it a fire consumes and after it a flame scorches;* before it the land was like the Garden of Eden, but after it a desolate desert; there is no remnant from it. 4 Like the appearance of horses is its* appearance; and like horsemen, so do they run. 5 With a noise like chariots they leap on the mountaintops,

Haftaras Shabbas Shuvah for Ashkenazim continues here: 2:11-27

Haftaras Shabbas Shuvah concludes on p. 1384

2:6. In consternation.

2:8. Even if the locusts were to fall upon swords, they would be unharmed; a sword is ineffectual against this enemy.

2:11. God's prophets forewarned the people of the impending disaster.

2:12. It is never too late to repent, even though God's decree has been issued (Metzudos).

2:14. There will be a blessing after the plague of locusts.

2:17. The Hall at the entrance of the Sanctuary building (see I Kings 6:3 and Ezekiel 40:48-49).

2:20. The northern one is the locust swarm; the Eastern Sea is either the Kinnereth or the Dead Sea; and the Western Sea is the Mediterranean (Radak).

2:23. A reference to the prophets (Targum).

3:1. In the End of Days, as explained in 4:1.

like the sound of a flaming fire consuming straw; like a mighty people arrayed for battle. 6 *Peoples tremble before it; all faces become blackened. 7 They run like mighty men; they scale the wall like men of war; everyone goes in his set way, and they do not corrupt their paths. 8 *A man does not press his fellow, each one walks his course; they fall upon the sword, but are not wounded. 9 They stride in the city; they run on the wall; they ascend into the houses; they come through the windows like a thief. 10 Before it the land trembles, the heavens quake; the sun and moon become blackened and the stars withdraw their shine.

God sent warnings

11 HASHEM has emitted His voice before [the advent of] His army, for His camp is very numerous, for those who carry out His word are mighty. For the day of HASHEM is great and very awesome; who will be able to bear it?* 12 'Even now — the word of HASHEM — return to Me with all your heart, with fasting, with weeping, and with lamentation.'* 13 Rend your hearts and not your garments, and return to HASHEM your God, for He is gracious and merciful, slow to anger and of great kindness, and He relents of evil. 14 Whoever knows, let him repent and regret, and it will leave a blessing behind it, for meal-offering and libation to HASHEM your God.*

Get the people to respond . . .

15 Blow the shofar in Zion; decree a fast; call an assembly; 16 gather the people; summon the congregation; assemble the elders; gather the young children and sucklings; let the bridegroom go forth from his chamber and the bride from her canopy. 17 Between the Hall and the Altar let the Kohanim, the ministers of HASHEM, weep; and let them say, 'Have pity, HASHEM, upon Your people, let not Your heritage be an object of scorn, for nations to dominate them. Why should they say among the peoples, "Where is their God?"'*

18 Then HASHEM will take up the cause of His land and take pity on His people. 19 HASHEM will reply and say to His people: Behold, I am sending you the grain and the wine and the oil, and you will be sated from it, and I will no longer make you a disgrace among the nations. 20 I will distance the northern one from you and I will banish it to an arid and desolate land, its face to the Eastern Sea* and its rear to the Western Sea;* its foul odor will ascend, and its stench will go out, for it has done great [evil].*

. . . and God will bless them

21 Fear not, O land; exult and be glad, for HASHEM has done great [kindness]. 22 Fear not, animals of the field, for the dwellings of the wilderness have become covered with grass; for the tree has borne its fruit; the fig tree and the vine have given forth their wealth. 23 Children of Zion, exult and be glad with HASHEM your God, for He has given you a teacher for righteousness, and He has brought down the rain for you — the early rain and the late rain — in the first [month].* 24 The granaries will be filled with grain, and the vats will overflow with wine and oil. 25 I will repay you for the years that the abundant-locust, the chewing-locust and the demolishing-locust and the cutting-locust — My great army that I sent among you — consumed. 26 And you will eat, eating and being satisfied, and you will praise the name of HASHEM your God who has acted wondrously with you; and My people will not be shamed evermore. 27 Then you will know that in the midst of Israel am I, and that I am HASHEM your God, there is none other; and My people will not be shamed evermore.

3 1 And it will happen after this, that I will pour out My spirit upon all flesh, and your sons and daughters will prophesy; your elders*

3:4. Perhaps a metaphor for the great cataclysms and upheavals of that day (Rambam).

4:2. Alternatively: "the Valley of God's Judgment" (Rashi).

4:4. Israel has done you no harm, so you cannot claim that you are repaying them (or Me) for past wrongs.

4:10. Even erstwhile weaklings will be strong enough to join the army.

4:13. God is speaking to His agents of destruction, who are now to "harvest the crops" of Divine vengeance.

4:18. See Ezekiel 47:1-12.

4:21. Though I will cleanse the nations by forgiving many of their sins, I will not forgive them for the bloodshed they perpetrated against Israel. When "HASHEM dwells in Zion," i.e., at the End of Days, they will be punished.

Those who repent will be safe will dream [prophetic] dreams, and your young men will see visions. 2 Even also upon the slaves and upon the maidservants in those days I will pour out My spirit. 3 I will set wonders in the heavens and on earth: blood and fire and pillars of smoke; 4 the sun will turn to darkness and the moon to blood [red], before the coming of the great and awesome Day of* HASHEM. 5 And it will be that anyone who calls in the Name of HASHEM will escape, for on the mountain of Zion and in Jerusalem there will be refuge as HASHEM said, and among the survivors whom HASHEM summons.

Ingathering of exiles

1 "For behold, in those days and at that time, when I will bring back the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem, 2 I will gather all of the nations and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat and I will contend with them there concerning My people and My possession, Israel, that they dispersed among the nations, and they divided up My land,* 3 and they cast lots upon My people; they gave boys for harlot's [fee], and they sold girls for wine and drank [it]. 4 Also, what are you to Me, O Tyre and Sidon and all the districts of Philistia? Are you paying requital to Me? And if you are requiting Me, swiftly and soon will I return your requital upon your head —* 5 for you have taken My silver and My gold and you have brought My desirable and good possessions to your palaces; 6 and you sold the children of Judah and the children of Jerusalem to the children of the Greeks in order to distance them from their border. 7 Behold, I will rouse them from the place to which you sold them, and I will return your requital upon your head. 8 And I will sell your sons and daughters into the hands of the children of Judah, and they will sell them to Sabaeans, to a distant people, for HASHEM has spoken.

Beat plows into swords . . .

9 Announce this among the nations; prepare for war; arouse the mighty men; let all the men of war approach and ascend. 10 *Beat your plows into swords and your pruning forks into spears; even the weak one will say, 'I am mighty.' 11 Let all the surrounding nations hurry and come, and let them gather together; there HASHEM will demolish your warriors. 12 Let the nations rouse themselves and go up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat, for there I will sit to judge all the nations from all around.

. . . bring on destruction

13 'Extend the sickle, for the harvest has ripened! Come and trample [the grapes], for the winepress is full, the vats have overflowed!' — for their evil is great.* 14 Multitudes upon multitudes [will fall] in the Valley of the [Final] Decision, for the day of HASHEM is near in the Valley of the [Final] Decision. 15 The sun and moon have become blackened, and the stars have withdrawn their shine. 16 And HASHEM will roar from Zion and will emit His voice from Jerusalem; and the heavens and earth will tremble. But HASHEM will be a shelter for His people and a stronghold for the Children of Israel. 17 Thus you will know that I am HASHEM your God, Who dwells in Zion, My holy mountain; Jerusalem will be holy, and aliens will no longer pass through her.

But Judah will ultimately triumph

18 And it shall be on that day that the mountains will drip with wine, the hills will flow with milk, and all the watercourses of Judah will flow with water, and a spring will go out from the House of HASHEM *and water the Valley of Shittim. 19 Egypt will become a desolation and Edom will become a desolate wilderness; because of the robbery of the children of Judah, for they shed innocent blood in their land. 20 Judah will exist forever, and Jerusalem from generation to generation. 21 Though I cleanse, their bloodshed I will not cleanse, when* HASHEM dwells in Zion.

1:1. Also known as Azariah (see II Kings 15:17; II Chronicles Ch. 26).

This earthquake is mentioned also in Zechariah 14:5.

1:2. This verse is an allegorical prophecy concerning the downfall of the wicked nations, and may be seen as an introduction to the series of prophecies that follow (Radak).

1:3. In each of the prophecies that follow, the three transgressions are: the three cardinal sins — idolatry, adultery and murder (Abarbanel); or three [or more] other incidents in the history of the nation being addressed (Radak).

1:3-4. Ben-hadad and Hazael, kings of Damascus (Aram), oppressed the residents of Gilead physically (Targum). See II Kings 8:12 and 10:32.

1:5. See II Kings 16:9.

1:9. The covenant of friendship between King Solomon and King Hiram of Tyre (I Kings 5:26, 9:13).

1:11. A reference to Numbers 20:14-21 (Rashi), or to the Roman destruction of the Second Temple and Jerusalem (Radak).

1 (See Appendix A, timeline 4)

1 The words of Amos, who was one of the herders of Tekoa, who saw visions concerning Israel, in the days of Uzziah* king of Judah and in the days of Jeroboam son of Joash king of Israel, two years before the earthquake.* 2 He said:

The four sins of Damascus . . .

HASHEM will roar from Zion and emit His voice from Jerusalem, and the pastures of the shepherds will wither and the best of the fertile fields will dry up.*

3 Thus said HASHEM: For three transgressions of Damascus [I have looked away], but for four I will not pardon them — for their threshing the Gilead with rods of iron.* 4 I will send fire into the house of Hazael and it will consume the palaces of Ben-hadad. 5 I will break the bolt of Damascus, and I will eliminate inhabitants from Bikath-aven and the one who holds the scepter from Beth-eden, and the nation of Aram will be exiled to Kir* — said HASHEM.

. . . of Gaza

6 Thus said HASHEM: For three transgressions of Gaza [I have looked away], but for four I will not pardon them — for their effecting a total exile by handing over [escapees] to Edom. 7 I will send fire into the wall of Gaza and it will consume its palaces. 8 I will eliminate inhabitants from Ashdod and the one who holds the scepter from Ashkelon; I will turn My hand repeatedly against Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines will perish — said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.

. . . of Tyre

9 Thus said HASHEM: For three transgressions of Tyre [I have looked away], but for four I will not pardon them — for their delivering a total exile to Edom, not remembering the covenant of brothers.* 10 I will send fire into the wall of Tyre, and it will consume its palaces.

. . . of Edom

11 Thus said HASHEM: For three transgressions of Edom [I have looked away], but for four I will not pardon them — for their pursuing his brother with the sword* and suppressing his mercy; his anger has slaughtered incessantly and he has kept his fury forever. 12 I will send fire into Teman and it will consume the palaces of Bozrah.

. . . of Ammon

13 Thus said HASHEM: For three transgressions of the Children of Ammon [I have looked away], but for four I will not pardon them — for their splitting open the pregnant women of the Gilead* in order to broaden their own border. 14 I will kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah and it will consume its palaces amidst trumpeting on the day of battle, with a whirlwind, on the day of the tempest. 15 Their king will go into exile, he and his officers together — said HASHEM.

The four sins of Moab . . .

1 Thus said HASHEM: For three transgressions of Moab [I have looked away], but for four I will not pardon them — for their burning the bones of the king of Edom into lime.* 2 I will send fire into Moab and it will consume the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab will die in a tumult, amidst trumpeting and the sound of the shofar. 3 I will eliminate any judge from its midst, and I will kill all of its officers along with them — said HASHEM.

. . . and of Judah

4 Thus said HASHEM: For three transgressions of Judah [I have looked away], but for four I will not pardon them — for their despising the Torah of HASHEM and not observing His statutes; their falsehoods that their fathers followed have corrupted them. 5 I will send fire into Judah and it will consume the palaces of Jerusalem.

1:13. So ruthless were they in their drive to eliminate the Jewish population there.

2:1. This gruesome act is not recorded in Scripture (Rashi).

2:6. Their judges accepted bribes to exonerate the highest bidder (Radak).

2:7. For immoral purposes.

2:11. People who would withdraw from physical pleasure in order to teach the Torah to others (Targum, Rashi).

3:1. The subject is God. The prophet often speaks of God in the first and third persons interchangeably.

3:3. The following prophecy, which begins with verse 9, is introduced by a series of rhetorical questions. Their theme is that just as events can be understood only if one knows their cause, so too, the calamities that befall Israel must be understood as punishment for sin, never as coincidence.

3:6. By the sentries.

3:7. So when you are warned of imminent punishment, why do you fail to repent?

The sins of Israel

6 Thus said HASHEM: For three transgressions of Israel [I have looked away], but for four I will not pardon them — for their selling a righteous man for money, and a poor man for shoes. * 7 They aspire [as they walk on] the dust of the earth for the head of the poor and they twist the judgment of the humble; a man and his father go to a maiden * in order to desecrate My holy Name. 8 They recline on pawned garments beside every altar and they drink the wine of victims they penalized in the temple of their gods. 9 Yet I destroyed the Amorite from before them — [the Amorite] whose height was like the height of cedar trees and who were mighty as oaks — and I destroyed his fruit from above and his roots from below. 10 I brought you up from the land of Egypt and I led you through the wilderness for forty years, to take possession of the land of the Amorite. 11 I established some of your sons as prophets and some of your young men as nazirites; * is this not also so, O Children of Israel? — the word of HASHEM. 12 But you gave the nazirites wine to drink and you commanded the prophets, saying, 'Do not prophesy.'

Ungrateful nation

13 Behold, I will encumber [you] in your place just as a wagon full of sheaves is encumbered. 14 Escape will elude the swift one; the strong one will not muster his strength; and the mighty one will not save his soul. 15 He who holds the bow will not stand; the swift of foot will not save himself; the rider of the horse will not save his soul; 16 and the bold-hearted among the mighty will flee naked on that day — the word of HASHEM.

3 1 Hear this prophecy that HASHEM has spoken concerning you, Children of Israel, concerning the entire family that I * brought up from the land of Egypt, saying:

Not a coincidence

2 You alone did I know from among all the families of the earth; therefore I will hold you to account for all your inquities. 3 Do two people walk together, unless they had [so] arranged? * 4 Does a lion roar in the forest, if it has no kill? Does a young lion send forth his voice from his lair, unless he has captured [prey]? 5 Does a bird fall into a trap on the ground, if it does not have a snare? Does the trap rise from the ground, unless it has entrapped? 6 Is the shofar ever sounded * in a city and the people not tremble? Can there be misfortune in a city, if HASHEM had not brought it? 7 For the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM will not do anything unless He has revealed His secret to His servants the prophets. * 8 A lion has roared; who will not fear? The Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM has spoken; who will not prophesy? *

Observe the destruction

9 Announce atop the palaces of Ashdod and atop the palaces in the land of Egypt; say, 'Gather together on the mountains of Samaria and observe the great turmoils within it and the oppressed people in its midst.' 10 They do not know how to do right — the word of HASHEM — they store up violence and plunder in their palaces. 11 Therefore, thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: An enemy, encircling the land, and he will take your might down from you, and your palaces will be plundered. 12 Thus said HASHEM: Just as a shepherd can rescue from the mouth of a lion [but] two legs or the cartilage of an ear, so shall be rescued from the Children of Israel who dwell in Samaria [but] the corner of a bed and the edge of a couch.

13 Listen and testify in the House of Jacob * — the word of the 3:8. Just as one cannot ignore a lion's roar, so the prophets cannot ignore the command to prophesy (Rashi).

3:13. God commands the prophets to hear and convey His words to the people.

4:1. A reference to the wives of the nobles, whose desire for a luxurious life-style drove their husbands to unjust monetary practices (Rashi).

4:2. These were small boats that were shield-like in appearance and were used to transport slaves (Metzudos). Alternatively: The verse speaks not of boats, but of hooks: "You will be dragged off with grappling hooks, and your children with fish hooks" (Ibn Ezra).

4:3. The walls will be breached in so many places that the women will have many avenues of escape.

4:6. From lack of rich foods (Rashi).

4:10. When you sent your youths to buy food in Egypt, I brought death and pillage upon their caravans, but still you did not repent (Radak).

4:11. See Genesis 19:24-25.

4:13. Metaphorically, He humbles the haughty (Rashi).

5:2. The Talmud relates that this phrase may be repunctuated as a message of encouragement: She has fallen, but will no longer; rise up, O virgin of Israel! (Berachos 4b).

Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, the God of Legions. 14 For on the day that I visit the transgressions of Israel against them, I will avenge the altars of Beth-el; the corners of the altar will be cut off and they will fall to the ground. 15 I will strike the winter house along with the summer house; the houses of ivory will be lost, and many houses will be destroyed — the word of HASHEM.

4 1 Hear this prophecy, you cows of Bashan who are on the mountain of Samaria, who oppress the poor, who crush the destitute, who say to their lords, "Bring, so we may drink!"*

Warning to the women

2 The Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM has sworn by His Holiness that there are days coming upon you when you will be carried off on shields, and your posterity in fishing boats.* 3 Through breaches [in the wall] they flee, every woman straight ahead, and you will cast off your haughtiness — the word of HASHEM.*

4 Come to Beth-el and rebel; in Gilgal rebel greatly! Bring your sacrifices every morning, your tithes for three days; 5 burn thanksgiving-offerings of leavened bread, and announce and publicize voluntary offerings; for this is what you have loved to do, O Children of Israel — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. 6 Also, I have given you cleanness of teeth in all your cities and lack of bread in all your places; yet you have not returned to Me — the word of HASHEM.*

Blind to the truth

7 Also, I have withheld the rain from you three months before the harvest; and I brought down rain upon one city, but upon another city I did not bring rain; one area was rained upon, and the area that did not receive rain will wither. 8 And two or three cities traveled to one city to drink water, but they were not sated; yet you have not returned to Me — the word of HASHEM.

9 I have smitten your [crops] with wind blast and withering; the increase of your gardens and your vineyards and your fig trees and your olive trees the locusts will consume; yet you have not returned to Me — the word of HASHEM.

10 I have sent against you pestilence on the way to Egypt; I have killed your youths by the sword and carried away your horses; I have raised the stench of your camps even into your own nostrils; yet you have not returned to Me — the word of HASHEM.*

11 I have overturned among you as God overturned Sodom and Gomorrah; you were like a brand salvaged from burning; yet you did not return to Me — the word of HASHEM.*

12 Therefore, thus will I do to you, O Israel; [and] because I do this to you, prepare [to go] towards your God, O Israel.

13 For behold, He forms mountains and creates winds; He recounts to a person what were his deeds; He turns the dawn into darkness and tramples upon the heights of the earth; HASHEM, God of Legions, is His Name.*

5 1 Hear this pronouncement that I recite over you in lamentation, O House of Israel:

Final fall

2 She has fallen and will no longer rise — virgin of Israel; she has been abandoned upon her soil, with no one to lift her up.* 3 For thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM: The city from which a thousand [people] go forth will be left with a hundred, and one from which a hundred [people] go forth will be left with ten of the House of Israel.

5:13. Prudent people refrain from speaking out, for fear that you will harm them (Ibn Ezra).

5:16. He will mourn for his lost crops (Ibn Ezra).

5:18. The Day of Judgment.

5:19. So too, on the Day of Judgment one tragedy will come upon the heels of the other.

5:25. The Israelites were not required to bring personal offerings during their forty years in the Wilderness (except for one pesach offering; see Numbers Ch. 9). This shows that God desires righteousness and justice more than offerings (Rashi).

5:26. These were the names of idols.

6:1. Jews mingled with the nations and adopted their degenerate ways.

6:2. Were the cities of your neighbors better than those God gave you?

Seek Hashem and live

4 For thus said HASHEM to the House of Israel: Seek Me and live! 5 Do not seek Beth-el and do not go to Gilgal and do not traverse Beer-sheba, for Gilgal will be completely exiled and Beth-el will become nothingness. 6 Seek HASHEM and live, lest He burn through the house of Joseph like a fire and consume Beth-el, with none to extinguish it, 7 O you who turn justice to wormwood and lay righteousness upon the ground. 8 [He is] the One Who made Pleiades and Orion; Who turns blackness to morning and darkens the day into night; Who summons the waters of the sea and pours them upon the face of the earth, HASHEM is His Name. 9 [He is] the One Who grants a robbed one power over the mighty, and a robbed one will prevail over a fortress.

They hate the righteous

10 They despise the one who admonishes by the gate, and the one who speaks purely they detest. 11 Therefore, because you trample upon the poor and exact a burden of grain from him — you have built houses of hewn stone, but you will not dwell in them; you have planted delightful vineyards, but you will not drink their wine. 12 For I know that your transgressions are many and your sins are substantial, O oppressors of the righteous person, takers of ransom, who distort the [justice of] the destitute by the gate. 13 Therefore, the prudent man keeps silent at that time, * for it is a time of evil. 14 Seek good and not evil, so that you may live, and HASHEM, God of Legions, will indeed be with you as you said. 15 Despise evil and love good, and establish justice by the gate; then perhaps HASHEM, God of Legions, will grant favor to the remnant of Joseph.

16 Therefore, thus said HASHEM, God of Legions, the Lord:

God loathes insincere offerings

In all the plazas will be mourning and in all the streets they will exclaim, 'Woe! Woe!'; they will call the plowman to mourning * and those skilled in wailing to lamentation, 17 and in all the vineyards there will be lamentation, for I will pass through your midst, said HASHEM.

18 Woe to those who desire the day of HASHEM. * Why do you [seek] this day of HASHEM? It is darkness and not light — 19 as when a man flees from before the lion and a bear encounters him; and he comes home and leans his hand on the wall and a snake bites him. * 20 Behold, the day of HASHEM is darkness and not light, blackness without glimmer! 21 I hate and loathe your festive offerings, and I will not be appeased by your assemblies. 22 For even if you offer up to Me burnt-offerings and your meal-offerings, I will not be appeased, and I will not regard the peace-offering from your fatlings. 23 Remove from before Me the multitude of your songs, and the music of your lutes I will not hear. 24 Rather, let justice be revealed like water, and righteousness like a mighty stream. 25 Did you bring sacrifices and meal-offerings to Me for forty years in the Wilderness, * O House of Israel? 26 You will carry off Siccuth your king * and your images of Chiun, and the Kochav your god, which you made for yourselves; 27 and I will exile you to beyond Damascus, said HASHEM, God of Legions is His Name.

Woe to the overconfident

1 Woe to the serene people in Zion and the secure people in Mount Samaria! They are called the foremost of the nations, but the House of Israel came among them. * 2 Cross over to Calneh and see, and go from there to Great Hamath and descend to Gath of the Philistines — are they better than these kingdoms? * Is their border greater than your border? 3 [Woe to you] who spurn the day of evil, while you convene sessions of injustice;

6:8. The Temple in Jerusalem (Rashi).

6:9. Even if they survive the enemy onslaught, they will die of disease.

6:10. Having been told that there were no living survivors, the kinsman will order the corpses removed, and will declare that they died because they did not serve God.

7:1. The later growth is the regrowth that sprouted after the early growth had been cut for the king's animals' food (Targum).

7:2. The swarm.

7:4. The fire devoured the king's property, to indicate that the king is responsible for the social and religious shortcomings of the community.

7:8. Symbolizing strict, measured judgment.

7:10. From the site of his idolatrous temple (see I Kings 12:29), Amaziah complained that even the populace is upset with Amos' prophecies (Ibn Ezra).

4 who lie on ivory couches, stretched out on their beds, eating the fattened sheep of the flock and calves from inside the stall; 5 who sing along to the tune of the lute, considering themselves like David with [their] musical instruments; 6 who drink wine out of bowls, anoint themselves with choicest oils, and are not pained by the destruction of Joseph. 7 Therefore, they will now be exiled at the head of the exiles, and the banquets of the haughty will cease. 8 The Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM has sworn by Himself — the word of HASHEM the Lord of Legions — 'I loathe the Glory of Jacob and I detest his palaces; and I will deliver the city and its inhabitants.'* 9 *It will happen that even if ten men remain in one house, they will die. 10 *And his kinsman who saves him from burning will carry him to take the bones from the house, and he will say to the one who is at the far end of the house, 'Are there any more [live people] near you?' and he will say, 'None'; and he will say, 'Remove them, for [they] were not [wont] to mention the Name of HASHEM.' 11 For behold, HASHEM commands, and He will shatter the large house into fragments and small houses into chips.

God has come to hate them

12 Do horses gallop on a rock; can one plow [it] with cattle, that you have turned justice into hemlock and the fruit of righteousness into wormwood — 13 you who rejoice over nothingness, [you] who say, 'Behold, with our strength we have taken power for ourselves'? 14 For behold, I am bringing up a nation against you, O House of Israel — the word of HASHEM, God of Legions — and they will distress you, from the approach to Hamath to the Arabah Brook.

7 1 *Thus did the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM show me: Behold, He was forming [a swarm of] locusts as the later growth was beginning to sprout; and behold the later growth appeared after the king's reaping. 2 It was when it was finished devouring the grass of the earth, that I said, "Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, please forgive! How will Jacob survive, for he is small?"* 3 So HASHEM relented concerning this: "It shall not be," said HASHEM.

God relented

4 *Thus did the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM show me: Behold, the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM was summoning [His legions] to contend [with Israel] by fire; and it consumed the great depths and devoured the portion of land. 5 And I said, "Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, please refrain! How will Jacob survive, for he is small?" 6 So HASHEM relented concerning this: "It too shall not be," said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM.

7 Thus did He show me: Behold, the Lord standing on a plumbed wall with a plumb line in His hand. 8 And HASHEM said to me, "What do you see, Amos?" I said, "A plumb line." HASHEM then said, "Behold, I am placing a plumb line in the midst of My nation Israel; I will no longer continue to forbear them.* 9 The high places of Isaac will be made desolate and the sanctuaries of Israel destroyed; and I will rise up against the house of Jeroboam with the sword."

The end of forbearance

10 *Amaziah, the priest of Beth-el, sent word to Jeroboam, king of Israel, saying, "Amos has conspired against you in the midst of the House of Israel; the land cannot tolerate all his words. 11 For thus did Amos say, 'Jeroboam will die by the sword, and Israel will be exiled from upon its land.'"

Amaziah accuses Amos

12 *Amaziah then said to Amos, "Seer, go flee to the land of Judah! Eat bread there and there you may prophesy. 13 But do not continue to prophesy in Beth-el,

7:12. The people of Judah will be eager to hear your prophecies of doom against Jeroboam's Northern Kingdom, and they will even give you bread as your wage!

7:14. I do not profit from my prophecies as you insinuated; I am a cattleman and a timber consultant, as it were.

7:17. That is, outside the Land of Israel.

8:2. The prophecy is a play on the words קַיִץ, summer, and קֵץ, end.

8:4-6. The prophet mentions various ways that the unprincipled wealthy cheat the poor: withholding crops from the market, then charging exorbitant prices; hoarding crops until after the Sabbatical Year; falsifying weights; and demanding heavier coins.

8:8. When the Nile overflows its banks, it pushes the soil aside as it inundates the area around it.

8:9. A metaphor for sudden disaster, during prosperous times (Rashi).

8:11. Because the people spurned Amos' prophecies, the time will come when they will desperately seek prophecy, but not be able to find it (Radak).

for it is the sanctuary of the king and the seat of royalty!"

Amos responds

14 Amos replied and said to Amaziah, "I am not a prophet nor am I the son of a prophet, but I am a cattle herder and an examiner of sycamores. * 15 HASHEM took me from behind the flock, and HASHEM said to me, 'Go prophesy to My people, Israel.' 16 And now, hear the word of HASHEM! You say, 'Do not prophesy concerning Israel nor preach about the house of Isaac.' 17 Therefore, thus said HASHEM, 'Your wife will be promiscuous in the city and your sons and daughters will fall by the sword, and your land will be divided up by lot; you will die on contaminated soil, and Israel will surely be exiled from its land.' "*

8

A vision of fruit

1 Thus did the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM show me: Behold, a basket of summer fruits, 2 and He said, "What do you see, Amos?" I replied, "A basket of summer fruits." HASHEM then said to me, "The end has come for My people Israel; I will no longer continue to forbear them. 3 They will wail the songs of the banquet hall on that day — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM. There will be many corpses; in every place, 'Cast away! Remove!'*

Against those who persecute the poor

4 Hear this, you who devour the needy, decimating the poor of the land, 5 saying, 'When will the month pass, so that we can sell grain; the Sabbatical [Year], so we can open the [stores of] grain; reduce the ephah and increase the shekel, and distort scales of deceit, 6 to purchase the poor with silver and the destitute for shoes; and we will sell the refuse of grain?' 7 HASHEM has sworn by the Glory of Jacob, 'I will never forget all their deeds.' 8 Should not the land quake for this, and all its inhabitants will be destroyed? [Water] will rise like the river over all of it, and it will push aside and submerge [the land] as does the River of Egypt.

Sunset at midday

9 And it shall be on that day — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — that I will bring down the sun at midday and I will darken the land on a day of light. 10 I will turn your festivals into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation; and I will bring sackcloth upon all loins and baldness upon every head; and I will make [the land] as if in mourning for an only [son], and its end like a bitter day.*

Hunger for Hashem

11 Behold, days are coming — the word of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM — when I will send hunger into the land; not a hunger for bread nor a thirst for water, but to hear the words of HASHEM. * 12 [People] will travel from sea to sea, and from north to east; they will wander about to seek the word of HASHEM, but they will not find it. 13 On that day the beautiful virgins and the young men will faint from thirst — 14 those who swear by the idol of Samaria and say, 'By the life of your god, Dan,' and 'By the life of the Beer-sheba rites'; and they will fall and will not rise again."*

9

Vision against the Temple

1 I saw the Lord standing upon the Altar, and He said:

Strike the lintel and the side posts will quake; and shatter the head of them all, and the rest of them I will slay by the sword; no fugitive among them will flee and no refugee among them will escape. 2 If they dig down into the grave, from there My hand will take them; and if they ascend to the heavens, from there I will bring them down. 3 If they hide on the top of Carmel, from there I will seek [them] out and take them, and if they conceal themselves from My eyes on the floor of the sea, from there I will command*

8:14. Dan and Beer-sheba were the sites of idolatrous shrines, at both ends of the country.

9:1. God commanded an angel to strike at the Temple building and the leaders of the people.

9:5. When the Nile overflows its banks it completely inundates the area around it.

9:6. The living creatures.

9:7. I liberated you from Egypt to become My servants. Now that you have rebelled, you are no better than other nations (Kara).

9:9-10. Just as large items do not fall through the sieve, so the House of Israel, though they will be shaken from place to place, will never "fall to the ground" completely. The sinners, however, will perish.

9:11. The royal house of David (Targum), or the Temple, for which David made preparations (Kara).

the serpent and it will bite them. [4] If they go into captivity before their enemies, from there I will command the sword and it will slay them; and I will fix My eye upon them for evil and not for good.

[5] *The Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, the Master of Legions, He touches the land and it melts and all its inhabitants are destroyed, and [water] rises like the River over it and it becomes submerged, as [under] the River of Egypt; [6] Who built His strata in the Heavens and founded His group upon the earth; Who calls to the waters of the sea and pours them out upon the face of the earth — HASHEM is His Name.*

Like an alien people

[7] *Behold, you are like the children of the Cushites to me, O Children of Israel — the word of HASHEM. Did I not bring up Israel from the land of Egypt, as well as the Philistines from Caphtor and Aram from Kir? [8] Behold, the eyes of the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM are upon the sinful kingdom, and I will destroy it from upon the face of the earth; but I will not totally destroy the house of Jacob — the word of HASHEM. [9] *For behold, I decree that I will shake out the House of Israel among all the nations, as [grain] is shaken in a sieve, and not a pebble falls to the ground. [10] They will perish by the sword, all the sinners of My people, those who say, 'Not because of us will the evil approach any sooner.' [11] On that day I will raise up the fallen booth of David; I will repair their breaches and raise up its ruins, and I will build it up as in days of old,* [12] so that they upon whom My Name is called may inherit the remnant of Edom and all the nations — the word of HASHEM, Who shall do this.

Bountiful future

[13] Behold, days are coming — the word of HASHEM — when the plowman will meet the reaper, and the treader of grapes [will meet] the one who carries the seed; the mountains will drip juice and all the hills will melt.* [14] I will return the captivity of My people Israel, and they will rebuild desolate cities and settle them; they will plant vineyards and drink their wine; they will cultivate gardens and eat their fruits. [15] I will plant them upon their land and they will never again be uprooted from their land that I have given them, said HASHEM, your God.

9:13. The crops will be so bountiful that seasons will overlap, the plowing season and reaping season, and the grape-squeezing and planting. The fertile soil, softened by the rain, will look as if it is "melting" (Rashi).

Obadiah was a proselyte from Edom, who became a high official in the court of Ahab and Jezebel. When the latter set out to murder all the prophets of God, Obadiah, at great personal risk, hid and sustained one hundred and fifty of them (I Kings Ch. 18). In this merit, he was rewarded with this prophecy.

1:1. "We," quoting the nations; alternatively, quoting Obadiah and his fellow prophets (Radak).

1:2. Obadiah addresses Edom (see Jeremiah 49:14-16).

1:5-7. The prophet describes the disaster that will befall Edom/Esau. Ordinary robbers leave incidentals and gleanings behind, but Edom will be stripped bare, and betrayed by her allies.

1:7. Esau naively failed to realize that these dangers were imminent.

1:11-14. The prophet chastises Edom for joining Israel's enemies in looting and delighting in her misfortune.

1:12. Israel.

1:14. Into the hands of the enemy.

1 [1] The vision of Obadiah; thus said the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM concerning Edom:

Prophecy against Edom

We have heard tidings from HASHEM and a messenger has been sent among the nations [saying], 'Arise, and let us rise up against her for battle.'*

[2] 'Behold, I have made you inferior among the nations; you are very despised.* [3] The wickedness of your heart has misled you, [you] who dwells in the clefts of the rocks [in] his lofty abode, who says in his heart, 'Who can bring me down to earth?' [4] Even if you raise [your nest] like an eagle or if you place your nest among the stars, I will bring you down from there — the word of HASHEM. [5] If thieves had come upon you, if plunderers of the night — how utterly you are cut off! — would they not steal [only] until they had enough for themselves? If grape harvesters would come to you, would they not leave over gleanings?* [6] How has Esau been searched, his hoards revealed? [7] *All the men of your covenant escorted you until the border; the men at peace with you misled you [and] prevailed over you; [those who eat] your bread made a wound in your place. There is no understanding in him.

Esau is revealed . . .

[8] Behold, on that day — the word of HASHEM — I will eradicate wise men from Edom and understanding from the Mountain of Esau. [9] Your mighty ones to the south will be broken, so that every man will be cut off from the Mountain of Esau by the slaughter. [10] For the oppression of your brother Jacob, disgrace will envelop you and you will be cut off forever. [11] *On the day that you stood from afar, on the day that strangers captured his wealth, and foreigners came to his gates and cast a lottery on Jerusalem, you too were like one of them. [12] Gaze not on the day of your brother, the day of his estrangement; and rejoice not over the Children of Judah on the day of their destruction; and do not expand your mouth on the day of misfortune.*

. . . because he oppressed Jacob

[13] Enter not the gate of My people on the day of their calamity; gaze not, you too, upon his evil on the day of his calamity, and do not extend [your hands] to his wealth on his day of his calamity. [14] Stand not by the crossroads to cut off his fugitives; and deliver not his survivors on the day of misfortune.

Retribution is coming

[15] For the day of HASHEM upon all the nations is close; as you have done, [so] shall be done to you; your requital shall return upon your head. [16] For just as you drank on My holy mountain, so will all the nations drink ceaselessly; they will drink and be confounded, and become as if they never were.

[17] On Mount Zion there will be refuge, and it will be holy; and the house of Jacob will inherit those who had dispossessed them. [18] The house of Jacob will be fire, the house of Joseph a flame, and the house of Esau for straw; and they will ignite them and devour them. There will be no survivor to the house of Esau, for HASHEM has spoken. [19] And [those of] the southland will inherit the Mountain of Esau; and [those of] the lowlands [will inherit] the Philistines, and they will inherit the fields of Ephraim and the fields of Samaria; and Benjamin [will inherit] Gilead. [20] This exiled host of the Children of Israel who are among the Canaanites until Zarephath, and the exile of Jerusalem which is in Sepharad will inherit the cities of the South. [21] And saviors will ascend Mount Zion to judge the Mountain of Esau, and the kingdom will be HASHEM's.*

Israel's exiles will return

1:21. Messiah and his colleagues (see Micah 5:4) will exact retribution from the Edomites for their cruelty, and then God will be recognized as the Sovereign of the entire universe (Radak).

1:1. Jonah prophesied during the reign of Jeroboam son of Joash (II Kings 14:25); and (according to Seder Olam 19) was the prophet sent by Elisha to anoint Jehu (II Kings 9:1).

1:2. The capital of Assyria.

1:3. Tarshish is either a distant sea (Rashi) or city (Ibn Ezra), or is a generic term for the sea (Targum).

Jonah did not want to carry out God's command to prophesy. He was afraid that if the people of Nineveh repented, as indeed they did, it would be an implied condemnation of the people of Israel, who had defied the warnings and exhortations of the prophets.

1:13. The sailors were honorable people. Despite the lots and Jonah's own admission, they tried to row to safety without throwing him overboard.

1:16. They pledged to offer sacrifices when they would arrive on land (Targum); and they vowed to convert (Rashi), or to help the poor (Radak).

2:3. A figurative reference to the fish.

Go to Nineveh

1 And the word of HASHEM came to Jonah* son of Amittai saying: 2 "Arise! Go to Nineveh, * the great city, and call out against her, for their wickedness has ascended before Me." 3 But Jonah arose to flee to Tarshish* from before HASHEM. * He went down to Jaffa and found a ship bound for Tarshish; he paid its fare, and boarded it to travel with them to Tarshish from before HASHEM.

The tempest

4 Then HASHEM cast a mighty wind toward the sea; there was a great tempest in the sea and the ship threatened to be broken. 5 The sailors became frightened and they cried out, each to his god; they cast the wares that were on the ship into the sea to lighten it for them. But Jonah had descended to the ship's holds and he lay down and fell fast asleep.

6 The ship's master approached him, and said to him, "How can you sleep so soundly? Arise! Call to your God! Perhaps God will think of us and we will not perish."

Who is responsible?

7 Then they said one to another, "Come, let us cast lots that we may determine because of whom this calamity is upon us." So they cast lots and the lot fell on Jonah. 8 They said to him, "Tell us now, because of whom has this evil befallen us? What is your trade? And from where do you come? What is your land? And of what people are you?"

9 He said to them, "I am a Hebrew and I fear HASHEM, the God of the Heavens, Who made the sea and the dry land."

10 The men were frightened with great fear and they said to him, "What is this that you have done?" For the men knew that it was from before HASHEM that he was fleeing, for he had told them. 11 They said to him, "What must we do to you so that the sea will subside from upon us? — for the sea grows stormier!"

Jonah is heaved into the sea

12 He said to them, "Pick me up and heave me into the sea and the sea will calm down from upon you; for I know that it is because of me that this great tempest is upon you." 13 [Nevertheless,] the men rowed hard to return to the shore, but they could not, because the sea was growing stormier upon them.

14 They called out to HASHEM, and said, "Please, HASHEM, let us not perish now on account of this man's soul and do not reckon it against us as innocent blood, for You, HASHEM, as You wished, so have You done." 15 So they lifted Jonah and heaved him into the sea, and the sea stopped its raging. 16 Then the men felt a great fear of HASHEM; they slaughtered a sacrifice* to HASHEM and took vows. *

Prayer from the innards of the fish

1 HASHEM designated a large fish to swallow Jonah, and Jonah remained in the fish's innards for three days and three nights. 2 Jonah prayed to HASHEM, his God, from the fish's innards, 3 and said:

I called, in my distress, to HASHEM, and He answered me;
From the belly of the grave* I cried out — You heard my voice.
4 You cast me into the depth in the heart of the seas, the river surrounded me;
All Your breakers and your waves passed over me.
5 Then I said [to myself], 'I was driven from before Your eyes, but I will again gaze at Your Holy Temple!' *
6 Waters encompassed me to the soul, the deep whirled around me;
Reeds were tangled about my head.
7 I descended to the bases of the mountains;
The earth — its bars [were closed] against me forever. *
Yet, You lifted my life from the pit, O HASHEM, my God.

2:5. The miracle of the fish convinced Jonah that God wanted to save his life (Rashi).

2:7. While plunging deep into the water Jonah thought that he was "barred" from ever seeing dry land again.

Haftaras Yom Kippur Minchah continues on p. 1384

2:9. During the storm, the sailors had observed the futility of praying to their gods, so they vowed to turn to HASHEM, and no longer bestow their kindness on idols (Midrash).

3:3-4. So large was the city that it would have taken three days to walk across it. Jonah walked a third of the way into it and made his announcement (Radak).

3:10. The Talmud notes that the verse does not read "and God saw their sackcloth and their fasting," but that He saw "their deeds" — that they repented of their evil ways.

4:2-3. Jonah felt from the start that the Ninevites would repent, thus gaining God's mercy — and thus reflecting badly upon Israel (see note to 1:3). Now he prayed that he

I will fulfill my vows

8 When my soul was faint within me, I remembered HASHEM;
My prayer came to You, to Your Holy Temple.
*9 They watch false vanities, they forsake their kindness. **
10 And as for me, with a voice of thanksgiving I will make sacrifices to You.
What I have vowed I will fulfill for the salvation which is HASHEM's.

11 Then HASHEM addressed the fish and it spewed out Jonah onto dry land.

3 1 The word of HASHEM came to Jonah a second time, saying: 2 "Arise! Go to

The second prophecy

*Nineveh the great city, and call out against her the proclamation that I tell you." 3 So Jonah arose and went to Nineveh, in accordance with God's word. Now Nineveh was an enormously great city, a three-day journey. * 4 Jonah commenced to enter the city, a distance of one day's journey, then he called out and said, "Forty days more and Nineveh shall be overturned!"*

Nineveh heeds Jonah . . .

5 The people of Nineveh believed in God, so they proclaimed a fast and donned sackcloth, from their great to their small. 6 The matter reached the king of Nineveh; he rose from his throne, removed his robe from upon himself, covered himself with sackcloth and sat on the ashes, 7 and had it promulgated and declared in Nineveh by the counsel of the king and his nobles, saying: "The man and the animal, the herd and the flock shall not taste anything; they shall neither graze, nor drink water. 8 Both man and animal shall cover themselves with sackcloth; and they shall call out mightily to God. Every man shall turn back from his evil way, and from the robbery that is in their hands. 9 He who knows shall repent and God will relent; He will turn away from His burning wrath so that we not perish."

. . . and God sees their needs

*10 And God saw their deeds, * that they repented from their evil way; and God relented concerning the evil He had said He would bring upon them, and did not*

4 *do it. 1 And it displeased Jonah greatly and angered him. 2 He prayed to HASHEM, and said, "Please, HASHEM, was this not my contention when I was still on my own soil? Because of this I had hastened to flee to Tarshish for I knew that You are a gracious and merciful God, slow to anger, abundant in kindness, and relent from doing harm. 3 So now, HASHEM, please take my soul from me, for better is my death than my life."

*4 And HASHEM said, "Are you so deeply grieved?"

Jonah is grieved

5 Jonah left the city and sat at the east of the city. He made himself a booth there, and sat under it in the shade until he would see what would occur in the city.

*6 HASHEM, God, designated a kikayon, * which rose up above Jonah to form a shade over his head, to relieve him from his discomfort. Jonah rejoiced over the kikayon, a great joy. 7 Then God designated a worm at the dawn of the next day, and it attacked the kikayon so that it withered. 8 And it was when the sun shone that God designated a stifling east wind; the sun beat upon Jonah's head and he felt faint. He asked for his soul's death, and said, "Better is my death than my life!"*

*9 And God said to Jonah, "Are you so deeply grieved over the kikayon?"
And he said, "I am greatly grieved to death."

Misplaced pity

10 HASHEM said, "You took pity on the kikayon for which you did not labor, nor did you make it grow; it lived [one] night and perished after one night. 11 And I — shall I not take pity upon Nineveh the great city, in which there are more than a hundred and twenty thousand persons who do not know their right hand from their left, and many animals as well?"

not live to see Israel's destruction (Ibn Ezra; Radak).

4:4. A rhetorical question.

4:6. A leafy, shady plant (Rashi).

4:9-11. God showed Jonah how wrong he had been by being apathetic to the horrible fate that could have befallen a great city with its huge population.

1:1. See Hosea 1:1.

1:2. That you have been warned.

1:5. The rulers of Samaria and Jerusalem were responsible for the proliferation of idolatry in the Northern Kingdom and in Judah.

1:7. As a betrayal of God, idolatry is comparable to harlotry. Its lavish shrines, built with treasures collected for idolatry, will be looted by other idolaters (Radak).

1:9. After conquering the Northern Kingdom and most of Judah, the mighty Assyrian army reached the gates of Jerusalem, where it was miraculously decimated [see II Kings 18:9-19:35] (Ibn Ezra).

1:10-16. After expressing the hope that the Philistines of Gath not be given the opportunity to gloat over our downfall, the prophet gives poignant expression to the mourning of various Jewish cities.

1:11. When the residents of Beth-ezel are exiled, the people of Zaanan will not console them, for they will be awaiting the same fate. The conquerors of hapless, abandoned Beth-ezel will plunder its possessions as a "payment" for their protracted siege of the city (Radak).

1:13. Micah turns his anger to Lachish, urging its people to flee. Lachish was the first city in Judah that imported the Samarian worship of Baal (Radak).

1:14. Scornfully, Micah suggests that the people send gifts to the Philistines in Moresheth-gath, in the vain hope that they would come to Judah's defense against Assyria (Ibn Ezra).

1 [1] The word of HASHEM that came to Micah the Morashite, in the days of Jotham, Ahaz [and] Hezekiah, kings of Judah — that he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem:*

Samaria and Jerusalem — sinners both

[2] Hear, O peoples, all of them! Listen, O Land and its fullness! Let the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM be a witness against you, the Lord from His holy Sanctuary.* [3] For behold, HASHEM is going forth from His place; He will descend and trample the heights of the land. [4] The mountains will melt away under Him and the valleys will split open, like wax before a fire, like water flowing down a slope. [5] *All this because of the sin of Jacob, because of the transgressions of the House of Israel. Who [caused] the sin of Jacob; was it not Samaria? Who [caused] the high places of Judah; was it not Jerusalem? [6] I will make Samaria into a mound in the field, a place to plant vineyards. I will roll away its stones to the valley and lay bare its foundations. [7] *All of its graven images will be smashed and all of its [idolatrous] gifts will be burned in fire, and I will make all of its idols desolate. For they were collected as harlot's hire, and they will revert to harlot's hire.

The prophet's grief

[8] For this I will lament and wail; I will go about delirious and naked; I will make lamentation like the jackals and mourning like owls. [9] *For her wound is grievous; for it has come to Judah; it has extended to the gate of My people, up to Jerusalem. [10] Tell it not in Gath; weep not at all; in each house of Aphrah wallow in the dirt.* [11] Pass on [to exile], O inhabitant of Saphir, with nakedness uncovered. The inhabitant of Zaanan did not go forth in lamentation for Beth-ezel; [the enemy] will seize [the cost of] his stay from you.* [12] For the inhabitants of Maroth hoped for the best, but evil came down from before HASHEM, to the gate of Jerusalem.

No hope

[13] Fasten the chariot to the swift steed, O inhabitant of Lachish; that was the origin of sin for the people of Zion, for it was in you that the sins of Israel were found.* [14] Therefore, send gifts to Moresheth-gath! The houses of Achzib will become a lost cause to the kings of Israel.* [15] *I will yet bring a dispossessor against you, O inhabitant of Mareshah; the glory of Israel will withdraw to Adullam. [16] Make yourself bald and pull out your hair for the children of your delight; make your baldness broad like an eagle's, for they have departed from you.*

2 [1] Woe to those who devise iniquity and plan evil upon their beds; at the morning's light they carry it out, for there is power in their hand. [2] They covet fields and they rob [them], [they covet] houses and they take [them]; they oppress a man and his household, a person and his heritage.

[3] Therefore, thus said HASHEM:

False prophets are exposed

Behold, I am devising evil against this family, from which you will not extricate your necks; you will not walk erect, for it will be a bad time. [4] On that day he will recite a parable about you; he will lament, 'A lament has come to be!' He will say, 'We have been utterly plundered! [God] is exchanging the portion of my people! How could He return what was mine when our field is apportioned to the enemy?'*

[5] Therefore, there shall not be for you one who casts [the surveyor's] line for the lot in the congregation of HASHEM.*

1:15. The Assyrian conqueror will push the "glory of Israel" back from city after city.

1:16. A sign of mourning and distress.

2:4. A false prophet will lament, in the obscure wording of a parable, because his prophecies will not be fulfilled and his advice will come to naught (Radak).

2:5. Micah responds to the false prophet that he will not have any heirs to divide up his inheritance.

2:6. But the false prophets shout that the true agents of God should not preach to the people.

2:7. Is it proper to spurn God's word? Is God so impatient — "short-spirited" — that He cannot show us mercy as He did in the past (Rashi).

2:10. The Land of Israel, which is called "the Resting Place" (Deuteronomy 12:9), was not meant for you to contaminate with your degenerate actions.

2:11. The people deserved to be exiled, because they were so receptive to false prophets.

2:13. The Messiah will break through all the barriers that have been restraining Israel's return to its land (Kara).

3:1. You are responsible to know whether the law is being enforced (Radak).

3:2. When the enemy comes (Radak).

3:5. When they are well fed, i.e., paid to their satisfaction, they foretell peace; otherwise, they announce war.

3:7. A veiled face was the traditional sign of mourning and anguish. The "prophets" will have been revealed as charlatans, to whom God had never spoken.

False hope

6 'Do not preach!' they preach, 'They shall not preach to these [people], [so that] shame shall not overtake them.' 7 Should this be said by the House of Jacob?* Has HASHEM become short-spirited? Are these His deeds? Behold, My ways are benevolent with the one who walks with uprightness. 8 Yesterday My people arose as an enemy [to its fellows]; for the sake of a garment, a mantle, you would strip them, [making] innocent passersby fugitives of war. 9 You evict [each of] the women of My people from the home of her delight; from her young children you remove My glory forever. 10 Arise and go [into exile], because not for this [purpose] is the Resting Place* [given to you]. Because it has become defiled, it will destroy you absolutely. 11 If a man would be going about, deceiving with wind and falsehood, [and would say,] 'I will preach to you to [drink] wine and liquor,' he would be an [approved] preacher for this people!

12 I will surely gather all of you, O Jacob. I will surely assemble the remnant of Israel; I will place them together like a flock in a fold; like a herd in its pen, they will teem with people. 13 The one who breaks forth will go before them; they will break forth and pass through; they will go out through the gates; their king will pass in front of them, with HASHEM at their head.*

Indictment of oppressive rulers

1 I said, "Listen, now, you leaders of Jacob and officers of the House of Israel! Is it not up to you to know the law? 2 [But you] hate good and love evil; you rob [people's] skin from upon them and their flesh from upon their bones;* 3 [you] have eaten the flesh of My people, you have stripped their skin from upon them, you have broken open their bones; and you have sliced them like that which is in the pot and like meat in a cauldron. 4 Then they will cry out to HASHEM, but He will not answer them; He will hide His face from them at that time, just as they had done evil with their deeds."*

5 *Thus said HASHEM about the prophets who mislead My nation, who chew with their teeth and declare peace, but whoever does not put [food] into their mouths, they prepare war against him:

Misleading prophets

6 Therefore, it shall be night for you because of such vision, and it shall be dark for you because of such divination; the sun will set upon the prophets and the daylight will be blackened for them. 7 The seers will be ashamed and the diviners disgraced and all of them will wear veils over their lips, for [they] had no word of God.*

8 But as for me, I was filled with strength by the spirit of HASHEM, and [with] justice and might, to inform Jacob of his transgression and Israel of his sin.

9 Listen, now, to this, O leaders of the House of Jacob and officers of the House of Israel, who detest justice and who twist all that is straight, 10 who build Zion with blood and Jerusalem with iniquity:

Wholesale corruption

11 Her leaders judge for bribes and her Kohanim teach for a fee and her prophets divine for money — yet they rely on HASHEM, saying, 'Behold, HASHEM is in our midst; no evil can befall us!' 12 Therefore, because of you, Zion will be plowed over like a field; Jerusalem will become heaps of rubble and the Temple Mount will become like stone heaps in the forest.

Return to the Temple

1 It will be in the end of days that the mountain of the Temple of HASHEM will be firmly established as the most prominent of the mountains, and it will be exalted up above the hills, and peoples will stream to it. 2 Many nations will go and say, 'Come, let us go up to the Mountain of HASHEM and to the Temple

4:3. The judge who will preside at the Temple Mount, i.e., the Messiah (Ibn Ezra). Nations will accept his judgments, and never again resort to war (Radak).

4:8. Having compared the ingathering of the exiles to the collecting of lost sheep, the prophet refers to the "Ophel," one of Jerusalem's fortifications, as the "Tower of the Flock."

4:10. Having failed to serve God, you will be dragged off to Babylonian captivity, but God will redeem you from there.

4:11-13. At the time of the war of Gog and Magog, before the ultimate redemption, the conquerors will exult in Zion's obvious guilt, and the enemies of Israel will gloat over her degradation. However, they will not realize that God is bringing them together to be trampled.

4:14. This is addressed to the foreign invaders, who will attack Israel (Rashi).

5:1. Another name for Bethlehem of Judah (see Genesis 48:7). As the city of Ruth, a convert from Moab, Bethlehem was an unlikely source of leadership, but it produced David, the ancestor of the Messiah.

5:2. The hardships of exile will become as intense as labor pains, but it will end with the rebirth of the Jewish nation (Kara), and the return of the Messiah's brethren.

of the God of Jacob, and He will teach us of His ways and we will walk in His paths.' For from Zion shall go forth the Torah, and the word of HASHEM from Jerusalem. 3 He will judge between many peoples, and will settle the arguments of mighty nations from far away. They will beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning knives; nation will not lift sword against nation, nor will they learn war anymore.* 4 They will sit, each man under his vine and under his fig tree, and none will make them afraid, for the mouth of HASHEM, Master of Legions, has spoken. 5 For all the peoples will go forth, each man in the name of his god, but we go forth with the Name of HASHEM, our God, forever and ever.

Swords into plowshares

Even the handicapped

6 On that day — the word of HASHEM — I will assemble the lame one and gather in the one driven away and whomever I have harmed, 7 and I will make the lame one into a remnant and the one forced to wander into a mighty nation; and HASHEM will reign over them at Mount Zion, from now and forever. 8 And you, Migdal-eder (Tower of the Flock), Ophel of the daughter of Zion, they will come [back] to you; and the original kingdom will arrive, the kingdom of the daughter of Jerusalem.* 9 Now, why do you seek [foreign] alliance? Is there not a king in your midst? Has your counselor become lost, that pains have gripped you like a woman in childbirth?

Saved from the enemy

10 Be in pain and groan like a woman in childbirth, O daughter of Zion; for now you will leave the city and dwell in the field; you will come to Babylonia and there you will be rescued; there HASHEM will redeem you from the palms of your enemies.* 11 *And now, many nations have assembled against you; they say, 'Let her be [proclaimed] guilty, and let our eyes behold Zion!' 12 But they do not know the thoughts of HASHEM and do not understand His counsel — for He has gathered them like sheaves to the threshing floor. 13 Arise and thresh, O daughter of Zion! For I will make your horn [like] iron and I will make your hooves [like] copper, and you will grind many peoples. I will consecrate unto HASHEM all their ill-gotten riches, and their wealth unto the Lord of the entire land.

14 'Now, muster yourself, O daughter of the armed band!' He has laid siege against us; with a stick they strike on the cheek the judges of Israel.*

Jewish rulers emerge

1 Bethlehem — Ephratah — you are too small to be among the thousands of Judah, but from you someone will emerge for Me to be a ruler over Israel; and his origins will be from early times, from days of old.* 2 *Therefore, He will deliver them [to their enemies] until the time that a woman in childbirth gives birth; then the rest of his brothers will return with the Children of Israel. 3 He will stand up and lead with the strength of HASHEM, with the majesty of the Name of HASHEM his God. They will settle [in peace], for at that time he will be great to the ends of the earth, 4 and this will [assure] peace. If Assyria will come into our land, and if he will tread upon our palaces, we will set up seven shepherds or eight officers against him, 5 and they will pound the land of Assyria with the sword, and the land of Nimrod at its gateways; and he will rescue [us] from Assyria when they enter our land and when they tread onto our borders.* 6 The remnant of Jacob will be in the midst of many peoples like dew from HASHEM, like raindrops upon grass, which is not*

5:5. See Genesis 10:8-11.

5:6. When the redemption is imminent and the forces of Gog converge upon Jerusalem, the remnant of Israel will be among them. And that will be as God-given a phenomenon as dew and rain, because no human being would or could have brought it about (Radak).

5:9-10. There will be no need for weapons or defenses, for there will be no more wars (Radak).

6:5. To hire Balaam to pronounce a curse against Israel (see Numbers 22:1-25:9 and Joshua 4:19).

Balaam's plan to seduce Israel into immorality and idolatry met with a measure of success in Shittim. Nevertheless, God did not allow that waywardness to prevent the nation from entering the Land of Israel where they first encamped in Gilgal (Rashi).

6:7. Olive oil is a part of the meal-offering (Rashi).

6:8. God's definition of good is different from yours.

6:10. Even after the exhortations of the prophets, how can people behave wickedly and retain fraudulent weights which they use to cheat their customers?

6:13. Measure for measure, just as you have hurt the poor and defenseless, I have punished you.

6:16. Omri and his son Ahab were exceedingly wicked kings of Israel (see II Kings 16:23-34). Because Israel did not repudiate the precedent they set, people will whistle in amazement at the destruction you will suffer for defrauding the poor (vv. 10-11).

hoped for from man and not awaited from a human being.

Lion-like Jacob

7 And the remnant of Jacob will be among the nations, in the midst of many peoples, like a lion among the animals of the forest and like a lion's whelp among flocks of sheep, who, when he passes by, tramples and tears apart, and there is no rescuer. 8 Your hand will be raised over your enemies, and all your adversaries will be eliminated.

Danger eliminated

9 *It will be on that day — the word of HASHEM — I will eliminate your horses from your midst and I will destroy your chariots. 10 I will eliminate the [walled] cities from your land and I will tear down all your fortifications. 11 I will eliminate witchcraft from your domain, and there will be no diviners among you. 12 I will eliminate your graven idols and your pillars from your midst, and you will no longer prostrate yourselves to your own handiwork. 13 I will uproot your Asherah trees from your midst, and I will destroy those who hate you. 14 And with anger and wrath I will carry out revenge against the nations, because they did not listen.

6 1 Listen, now, what HASHEM says [to me]: "Arise and contend before the mountains, and let the hills hear your voice!" 2 Listen, you mountains, to the grievance of HASHEM, and you bedrock, the foundations of the earth! For HASHEM has a grievance with His people, and He will contend with Israel:

Defend your ingratitude

3 My people, what [wrong] did I do to you and how did I tire you? Testify against Me! 4 For I brought you up from the land of Egypt and redeemed you from the house of bondage; and I sent Moses, Aaron and Miriam before you. 5 My people, hear, now, what Balak, king of Moab, schemed, * and what Balaam son of Beor answered him, [and all the events] from Shittim to Gilgal * — in order to recognize the righteous acts of HASHEM.

6 [You ask,] With what shall I approach HASHEM, humble myself before God on high? Shall I approach Him with burnt-offerings, or with calves in their first year? 7 Will HASHEM be appeased by thousands of rams or with tens of thousands of streams of oil? * Shall I give over my firstborn [to atone for] my transgression, or the fruit of my belly [for] the sin of my soul?'

What does God ask?

8 He has told you, O man, what is good! * What does HASHEM require of you but to do justice, to love kindness and to walk humbly with your God?

How can you rebel?

9 The voice of HASHEM calls out to the [people of the] city; the [man of] wisdom recognizes Your Name: Listen [O Israel,] to the rod [of punishment] and to the One Who has ordained it! 10 Are there still stores of wickedness in the house of the wicked one, or a lean measure * that angers [God]? 11 Can I be judged righteous with scales of wickedness, or with a pouch of deceitful weights? 12 For its rich men are full of thievery, and its inhabitants speak falsehood; their tongue is guile in their mouth. 13 I have hurt you, * as well, by smiting you, bringing desolation for your sins. 14 You will eat but not be satisfied, and you will stoop over because of [sickness in] your innards; you will conceive but you will not deliver, and those you do deliver I will give to the sword. 15 You will sow, but not reap; you will trample olives, but not smear oil; [trample] wine-grapes, but not drink wine. 16 The decrees of Omri * and all the deeds of the house of Ahab are preserved, and you follow their counsels, so that I will give you over to [be an] astonishment, and its inhabitants [to be a cause for] whistling; and you will bear [the punishment of] the shame of My people.

Conclusion of Haftaros of Shabbas Shuvah and Yom Kippur Minchah: 7:18-20

7:1. That is, the leftover fruit after the yield has been harvested. Micah bemoans his role as a prophet to an unreceptive, unrighteous nation.

7:3. The official, the judge and the nobleman braid their strands of evil into a strong rope of iniquity (Rashi).

7:4. On the very day when you expect good fortune (Rashi), as predicted by your false prophets (Radak).

7:7. Despite the shortcomings of the people to whom I must prophesy, I remain steadfast in my allegiance to God.

7:8. Micah now prophesies the exchange that will take place between a contrite Israel and its oppressor nations (Rashi).

7:11. The oppressor chides Israel, "The day of your salvation will never come!" (Rashi).

7:12. The prophet replies on Israel's behalf, "That day is real! And on it your enemies will come against you" (Rashi).

7:14. The prophet now asks God's blessing and protection for Israel.

7:15-16. God responds with a pledge of great miracles.

7:17. The prophet describes the final humbling of the Goodness has vanished

1 *Woe is me, for I am like the last pickings of the summer fruits, * like the gleanings of the grape harvest; there is no cluster to eat; my soul yearns for a ripe fruit. 2 The devout one has disappeared from the land; and one upright among men is no more. They all lie in ambush [to shed] blood; they trap, each man his brother, with a net. 3 [They expect] to benefit from the evil of their hands: the official asks [for bribes]; the judge [has a share] in the payment; and the nobleman expresses his selfish desires; and they * plait them together. 4 The best of them is like a thorn, the upright one, like a hedge of thistles. On the day of your expectation, your punishment will come; * now you will become perplexed. 5 Do not trust a friend; do not rely on an official; guard the doorways of your mouth from the one who lies in your bosom. 6 For a son disparages [his] father; a daughter rises up against her mother, a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law; a man's enemies are the people of his household. 7 As for me, * I put my hope in HASHEM and await the God of my salvation; my God will hear me.*

Enemy — do not rejoice!

8 *'Do not rejoice over me, * my enemy, for though I fell, I will rise! Though I sit in the darkness, HASHEM is a light unto me! 9 I shall bear the fury of HASHEM for I have sinned unto Him, until He will take up my cause and execute judgment for me; He will bring me out into the light; I will behold His righteousness. 10 Then my enemy will see and shame will cover her, she who said to me, "Where is HASHEM your God?" My eyes will behold her: now she will be for trampling, like mud in the streets.'*

11 *'The day to rebuild your fences, that day is far away in a distant time.'

Your day will come . . .

12 'That day exists! And he will come against you: from Assyria to the fortified cities; from Egypt to the [Euphrates] River; from the Western (Mediterranean) Sea; and from mountain to mountain. 13 And the land will be desolate with its inhabitants, as the fruit of their actions.*

14 Shepherd Your people with Your staff, the flock of Your heritage; let them dwell [in secure] isolation, in forest as in fertile field; let them graze in Bashan and Gilead as in days of old.'*

. . . but Israel will be redeemed . . .

15 *'As in the days when you left the land of Egypt I will show it wonders. * 16 The nations will see and be ashamed of all their [unavailing] power; they will place a hand over [their] mouth; their ears will become deaf.'*

17 *'They will lick the dirt like the snake and like creatures that crawl on the ground; they will tremble from their places of confinement; they will fear HASHEM our God and be afraid of you.'

18 Who is a God like You, Who pardons iniquity and overlooks transgression for the remnant of His heritage? He does not maintain His wrath forever, for He desires kindness. 19 He will once again show us mercy, He will suppress our iniquities. You will cast all their sins into the depths of the sea. 20 Grant truth

. . . as of old

*to Jacob, * kindness to Abraham, as you swore to our forefathers in days of old.*

nations, and their awe and reverence for God and Israel (Radak).

7:20. Fulfill your promise to the Patriarchs to preserve their descendants and give them the Land of Israel.

1:1. Scripture does not indicate when Nahum prophesied. According to Seder Olam, Joel, Nahum and Habakkuk prophesied in the time of King Manasseh of Judah. Manasseh's name is omitted, however, because of his wickedness (Radak).

1:3. He administers justice swiftly, like a storm wind or a swiftly moving cloud (Ibn Ezra).

1:4-6. The verses are metaphorical: God destroys mighty nations and lays waste populated areas (Rashi).

1:7. Even when wrathful to His enemies, God shows kindness to those who trust in Him.

1:8. Nineveh, mentioned in verse 1.

1:9. Destruction will be total the first time.

1:10. Fully developed and firmly rooted; i.e., their downfall will come suddenly and swiftly (Rashi).

1:11. Sennacherib.

1:14. God scorns Sennacherib, saying that he will have no ruling descendants, and will die in his own temple (see II Kings 19:37).

2:1. Having foretold the downfall of Assyria, Nahum addresses the jubilant Judeans, who were miraculously delivered from the "lawless" Sennacherib (see II Kings, Chs. 18-19).

2:2. Eventually, the Assyrian Empire will be besieged and conquered by the Babylonians. Nahum exhorts the people of Judah to "look out" at the rout of the Assyrians, from which they will receive much satisfaction and strength (Rashi).

2:3. The Assyrians.

2:4. The fierce Babylonian army that conquered Assyria.

2:6. The king of Assyria at the time of the Babylonian onslaught.

The "covering" was a protective roof to shield the besiegers from the projectiles of the defenders (Radak).

[1] *A prophecy regarding Nineveh. The book of the vision of Nahum the Elkoshite:

Hashem is vengeful

[2] HASHEM is a jealous and vengeful God; HASHEM is vengeful and full of wrath; HASHEM is vengeful to His adversaries and reserves hostility for His enemies. [3] *HASHEM is slow to anger, but He has great power and He will not absolve [iniquity]. HASHEM — His path is in a storm and in a tempest, and clouds are the dust of His feet. [4] He rebukes the sea and makes it dry, and makes all the rivers parched. Bashan and Carmel become devastated, and the flower of Lebanon becomes devastated.* [5] Mountains quake because of Him and the hills melt; the earth smolders from before Him, the world and all who dwell in it. [6] Who can stand before His fury, and who can rise against His burning wrath? His wrath is poured out like fire and rocks become shattered because of Him. [7] HASHEM is beneficent, a stronghold on the day of distress, and mindful of those who take refuge in Him.* [8] With a sweeping flood, He puts an end to its place, and He pursues His enemies with darkness.* [9] *What can you devise against HASHEM? He is making an end [of you]; misfortune will not arise twice. [10] While they are still like tangled thorns and while they are drunk in their swilling, they will be consumed like fully grown dried straw.* [11] From you has come forth a plotter of evil against HASHEM, a lawless counselor.*

Terrible devastation

[12] Thus said HASHEM [to Nineveh]: Even if [your troops] are united and also numerous — even so they will be cut down and pass on. I will afflict you, and I will not [need to] afflict you again.

Israel will be freed

[13] And now, I will break his yoke from upon you, [O Israel,] and I will snap your bonds. [14] And HASHEM will decree upon you that your name will never again be sown. I will eliminate idol and molten image from the temple of your gods; I will make your grave [there], because you have become abhorrent [to Me].*

The herald proclaims

[1] Behold on the mountains the feet of the herald proclaiming peace! Celebrate your feasts, O Judah, fulfill your vows; for the lawless one will never pass by you again; he is completely cut off.* [2] *The scatterer has left your presence, he is beset with a siege. Look out at the road; gird your loins and gather much strength. [3] For HASHEM has restored the pride of Jacob like the [former] pride of Israel; for plunderers have laid them bare and have destroyed their vine branches.* [4] The shields of his warriors are reddened; his soldiers are colored scarlet; the chariots [glisten] with the fire of torches on the day he is readied; his cypress [spears] are poisoned.* [5] The chariots careen in the streets; they clang in the city squares; their appearance is like flames; they dash like lightning. [6] He will [then] remember his mighty men — but they will stumble as they go. They will hasten [to defend] its wall, but the covering* will have been set up.*

The evil flee from Nineveh

[7] The gates of the rivers have been opened, and the palace is melting.* [8] The queen has been exposed and carried off [into captivity]; her handmaids moan, like the sounding of doves, beating upon their hearts. [9] Nineveh had been like a pool of [still] water, from her [earliest] days — but now they flee! 'Halt! Halt!' but no one pays attention.*

2:7. Those of Nineveh's gates that opened to the banks of the Tigris River (Rashi).

2:9. Her officers try to stop their fleeing troops, but to no avail.

2:10. Nahum addresses Nineveh's Babylonian conquerors.

2:12. Nahum "laments" the downfall of the great and powerful Nineveh.

2:14. See II Kings 18:17-35.

3:1. Nineveh.

3:4. The Assyrians would seduce nations into making pacts with them, and then dishonor the treaty and conquer their unsuspecting allies (Rashi).

3:8. See Jeremiah 46:25.

3:9. The forebears of these nations were all relatives of Ashur, the founder of Nineveh and progenitor of Assyria (see Genesis 10:6-13).

3:11. From the "cup of God's wrath" (Radak), a common Scriptural metaphor.

3:13. They have become physically weak and defenseless against attack.

3:14. A city under siege must produce brick and mortar to repair breaches in its defenses.

3:16-19. Despite their abundance, in the end they fly away and are gone.

Babylon plunders Nineveh

10 'Plunder silver, plunder gold; the amount is limitless! To sweep [it] clean of every precious vessel!' 11 She is emptied, emptied and breached; with melted heart, buckled knees, pain in all the loins, and faces [there], and all their faces have gathered blackness. 12 Where is the lion's den,* which was the feeding place of the young lions, where the lion, the awesome lion, and lion whelp would go, with none to make them afraid? 13 The lion would tear prey to provide for his cubs, choking [prey] for his lionesses. He would fill up his lairs with prey and his dens with torn carcasses. 14 Behold, I am against you — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — I will burn your chariots in smoke, and the sword will devour your cubs. I will eliminate your prey from the earth, and the voice of your messengers* will be heard no more!*

Woe to Nineveh

1 Woe to the City of Blood; it is all deceit, full of robbery; prey departs not [from it]; 2 the sound of the whip and the sound of rattling wheel; galloping horse and bounding chariot; 3 the horseman raises flashing sword and glittering spear; numerous slain and heaps of corpses; there is no end to the bodies, and they stumble over their bodies. 4 [All this] because of the many harlotries of the harlot, rich in grace, practitioner of witchcraft, who sells nations through her harlotries* and families through her witchcraft.*

It will be humiliated

5 Behold, I am against you — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — and I will pull up your skirts over your face; and I will show the nations your nakedness and the kingdoms your shame. 6 I will cast repulsive things upon you and make you disgusting; I will make you like dung. 7 And it will be that all who see you will move away from you and say, 'Nineveh has been ravaged; who will bemoan her?' From where can I seek comforters for you?

8 Are you better than No-amon, which sits by the rivers, with water surrounding it, whose rampart was the sea, and whose wall of the sea? 9 Powerful Cush and endless Egypt, Put and Lubim were your helpers.

Its allies exiled

10 Yet each of them too went into exile in captivity, its babies were also smashed at the head of every street; they cast lots over her noblemen, and all her great men were bound in chains. 11 You, too, will become drunk; you will become unknown; you will also seek refuge from the enemy. 12 All your fortresses will be [like] fig trees with newly ripened fruit, when they are shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater. 13 Behold, your nation is [like] women* in your midst. The gates of your land have been opened wide to your enemies; fire has consumed your bolts. 14 Draw water for the siege, bolster your fortresses. Come into the clay and trample the mortar; grasp the brick mold.

It will be consumed

15 There fire will consume you; a sword will cut you down. It will consume you like the chewing-locust — you will be swept away as [by] the chewing-locust; you will be swept as [by] the abundant-locust. 16 You had more merchants than the stars of the sky, [like] the chewing-locust that spreads out and then flies away. 17 Your princes are like abundant-locusts and your captains were like a swarm of great locusts which settle on the fences on a cold day; when the sun shines they move away, and their place is unknown — Where are they? 18 Your shepherds are asleep, O king of Assyria, your mighty men are at rest. Your nation is scattered upon the mountains with no one to gather them. 19 There is no one in pain over your fracture [though] your wound is grievous. All who hear the report about you clap their hands over you; for over whom has your wickedness not passed constantly?*

1:1. According to Seder Olam, Habakkuk prophesied in the time of the very wicked King Manasseh of Judah (see Nahum 1:1). The prophet alternates between prayer on behalf of the persecuted Jews and prophecy of the downfall of their future Babylonian conqueror.

1:10. The Babylonian army builds a mound from which it storms the fortress.

1:12. The conqueror may attribute his success to an idol; we, however, know that You have allowed Babylonia to punish us; but let us not be wiped out!

1:16. He sacrifices to his idols, whom he credits with granting him the means ("nets") of his success.

2:1. Habakkuk anticipates an answer to those who challenge him with the questions he raised in Chapter 1.

2:4. The Babylonian king's.

2:5. Like a man whose confidence is bolstered by alcohol, Nebuchadnezzar continuously leaves home to embark on ambitious expeditions of conquest and pillage in foreign lands (Ibn Ezra).

2:6. His ill-gained fortune will prove to be nothing but a heavy burden of sin (Rashi).

Why do you distort justice?

1 The prophecy that Habakkuk the prophet saw: *
2 How long, O HASHEM, will I cry out and You not hear me; [how long] will I cry out to You [regarding] injustice and You not save? 3 Why do You allow me to see iniquity and You look at evil deeds, with robbery and injustice before me, while the one who carries strife and contention still remains? 4 That is why the Torah is weakened and justice never emerges. Since the wicked surround the righteous, therefore justice emerges distorted.

The terrible Chaldeans

5 Look among the nations and observe, and be utterly astounded; for [God] is bringing about an occurrence in your days that you will not believe when it is related. 6 For behold, I am establishing the Chaldeans, that bitter and impetuous nation that will go across the breadth of the earth to possess dwelling places that are not its own. 7 It is awesome and terrifying; its judgment and its burden go forth from it. 8 Its horses are swifter than leopards and fiercer than wolves of the evening, and its horsemen are fleet. Its horsemen will come from afar; they will fly like an eagle hastening to eat. 9 It comes entirely for plunder; the eagerness of their faces is like the east wind; and it will gather captives like the sand. 10 It scoffs at kings, and officers are its sport. It laughs at every stronghold; heaping up earth and capturing it. * 11 Then a spirit will come and pass over it, and it will incur guilt [by saying] that its god gave it strength.

A plea to God

12 Are You not from the beginning of time, O HASHEM my God, my Holy One? Let us not die! O HASHEM, You have ordained him for judgment; O Stronghold, You have established him to chasten [us]. * 13 [Your eyes] are too pure to see evil and You cannot look upon wrongdoing. Why, then, do You look upon betrayers? [Why do] You remain silent when a wicked man swallows up one more righteous than he? 14 You have made man like the [helpless] fish of the sea, like creeping things without a ruler. 15 He brings them all up with a fishhook; He catches them in his net and he gathers them in his trawl; therefore he rejoices and exults. 16 Therefore, he sacrifices to his net and burns incense to his trawl, for through them his portion is fat and his food is plentiful.* 17 Shall he therefore empty his net, to slay nations continuously, without compassion?

God answers

1 I will stand upon my watch and take my place at the siege, and I will wait to see what He will speak to me and what I can answer my reproof. *
2 And HASHEM answered me and said, "Write the vision and clarify it upon tablets, so that a reader may read it swiftly. 3 For there is yet another vision about the appointed time; it will speak of the End and it will not deceive. Though it may tarry, await it, for it will surely come; it will not delay.

Nebuchadnezzar advances

4 Behold, his soul is defiant; it is unsettled in him. But the righteous person shall live through his faith.* 5 The [man of] wine also acts treacherously; he is an arrogant man and does not stay at home. He has widened his soul like the grave and, like death, he is not satisfied. He gathered unto himself all the nations and assembled unto himself all the peoples.* 6 Shall all of these not take up a parable about him and a metaphor; [and] riddles regarding him? One will say, 'Woe to him who amasses that which is not his. How long [can he go on]? He burdens himself heavily with thick mud.' * 7 Will those who would bite you not rise up suddenly? And [will] those who would cause you to tremble [not] awaken? You will be plunder for them! 8 Because you have

2:8. Jerusalem (Targum).

2:11-12. The very stones and beams of your house testify that you built your house through bloodshed and plunder.

2:13. The retribution.

2:15-16. The enemy gained the friendship of Israel, and then treacherously "intoxicated" her with a potent brew of suffering. His intent was not for gain, but to gloat over the "shame" imposed upon Israel.

2:17. A poetic name for the Land of Israel (Radak) or the Temple (Targum).

3:1. Habakkuk had protested God's strict judgment against the sinners of Israel (1:4,14). Now he expresses his regret for those "erroneous utterances" (Rashi).

3:2. During the long years of exile, keep Israel alive, for the nation is Your "accomplishment" on earth. "Make known" Your promise to preserve them (Leviticus 26:44) no matter how grievously they may have sinned (Radak).

3:3. Mount Seir which is south of Israel. The verse speaks of the giving of the Torah at Sinai (see Deuteronomy 33:2).

3:5. When the Israelites entered their land, pestilence and disease helped them subdue the Canaanite nations (Ibn Ezra).

3:6. God assigned portions of the land to the Jews (Ibn Ezra).

3:7. See Judges 3:7-11 and Chs. 6-7.

3:8. A reference to the splitting of the Sea of Reeds (Exodus Ch. 14) and the Jordan (Joshua Ch. 3). God split the waters as if He were a Savior riding to save Israel.

3:9. In the Wilderness, God provided water to the Israelites.

pillaged many nations, all the remnants of the nations will pillage you, for the blood of men [that you spilt] and the robbery of the land, the city and all its inhabitants.*

Israel has earned its punishment

*9 Woe to him who gains evil profit for his house, so that he may set his nest up high to be rescued from the grasp of evil. 10 You have counseled shame for your house by cutting off many peoples, and you have sinned against your soul. 11 For a stone will cry out from the wall and a sliver will answer it from the beams.

12 Woe to him who builds a city with bloodshed and establishes a city with iniquity. 13 Behold, is it not from HASHEM, Master of Legions, that the peoples will toil for the fire, and the nations will weary themselves for nothingness? 14 For the earth will be filled with knowledge of HASHEM's glory, as the waters cover the seabed.*

Treacherous enemy

15 Woe to him who gives his fellow to drink: You gather your anger and intoxicate [them] so that you may look upon their nakedness. 16 You are sated more with shame than with glory. You too will drink and become confounded; the cup of HASHEM's right hand is turned upon you, and the vomit of shame will cover your glory. 17 For the robbery of Lebanon* will inundate you, and the plunder [done] by [your] animals will destroy you, because of the blood of men [that you spilt] and the robbery of the land, the city and all its inhabitants.*

18 Of what avail is the graven image that its maker has carved, the molten image or teacher of falsehood, that its maker should place his trust in it to make mute idols?

19 Woe to him who says to wood, 'Wake up!' and to silent stone, 'Arise!' Will it teach? Behold, it is coated with gold and silver and there is no spirit within it. 20 But HASHEM is in His holy Sanctuary; let all the world be silent before Him."

3 *1 A prayer of Habakkuk the prophet, for erroneous utterances:

Habakkuk's prayer

2 O HASHEM, I have heard Your news [of impending exile]; I was afraid.
O HASHEM, in the midst of the years, keep Your accomplishment alive;
*in the midst of the years, make it known.
In wrath, remember to be merciful.
*3 God came from the south; the Holy One from Mount Paran, Selah!
His glory covered the heavens His praise filled the earth.
4 A glow was like the light [of day]; rays of light [came] from His hand to [Israel]; and there His hidden strength [was revealed].

God's wrath

*5 Before Him went a plague; pestilence went forth as He advanced.
6 He stood and measured out the land; He looked and dispersed nations.*
Everlasting mountains were smashed, eternal hills were laid low;
for the ways of the world are His.
7 Because of [our] iniquity I saw the tents of Cushan;
*the curtains of the land of Midian trembled.
8 Was HASHEM angry with the rivers;
was Your wrath with the rivers, or Your fury against the Sea?
*Rather You rode upon Your horses, Your chariots were [our] salvation.
9 Your bow bared itself; the oaths to the tribes, an enduring word.
*You split open the earth with rivers.
10 Mountains saw You and shuddered; a stream of water flowed.

3:10. God's glorious deeds were praised on earth and in Heaven.

3:11. At Gibeon (see Joshua Ch. 10).

3:13. You toppled their walls and their tall "neck"-like towers.

3:16. About the events alluded to in the next verse.

The depth raised its voice, and the heights [of Heaven] raised their hands. *
11 The sun and the moon stood still in their abodes. *
[Israel] would travel by the light of Your arrows, by the lightning flash of Your spear.

God comes to save Israel . . .

12 In fury You trod the earth; in anger You trampled nations.
13 You went forth to save Your people, to save Your anointed one.
You crushed the head of the house of the wicked, laying bare from the foundation to the neck, * Selah!
14 With his own staffs You pierced the head of his outspread troops, who came storming to scatter me.
Their joy came when they could devour a poor man in secret.
15 You trampled [them] in the sea with Your steed-like [clouds], with mountains of abundant water.
16 I heard and my innards shuddered; my lips quivered at the report. *
Rot came into my bones and I shuddered in my place;
because the time I should have rested will become a day of distress, for a people to come up with its troops.
17 For the fig tree blossoms not; there is no fruit on the grapevines;
the labor of the olive trees has failed and the fields do not yield food; *
the sheep are cut off from the fold and no cattle are in the stall.

. . . and it will rejoice in Him

18 But as for me, in HASHEM will I rejoice;
I will exult in the God of my salvation.
19 HASHEM/ELOHIM, the Lord, is my strength.
He makes my legs [as swift] as harts;
and He leads me upon my high places.
To the conductor, [for accompaniment] with my songs.

3:17. This famine represents the distress that will prevail at the time described by Habakkuk. This is either the time of the downfall of Babylonia (Targum), or the Messianic-age war of Gog and Magog (Radak), or the Roman destruction of the Second Temple (Abarbanel).

1:1. During Josiah's reign (II Kings 21:24-22:30), Jeremiah prophesied in the public marketplaces, Zephaniah in the synagogues, and Huldah (see II Kings 22:14) for the women (Radak).

1:3. That is, their false deities (Rashi).

1:5. "Their king" refers to their idols, whose name they used to lend credence to their oath (Rashi).

1:8. In imitation of the ways of idolaters (Rashi).

1:9. An idolatrous ritual [see I Samuel 5:5] (Targum).

1:10. A gate in the wall of Jerusalem; the second gate was called the Birds' Gate (Rashi).

1:11. The Jews, who have adopted the degenerate practices of their Canaanite predecessors (Targum).

1:12. Like wine sitting tranquilly on its lees, complacent people sit around and say that God does not reward or punish.

1:17. They will wander aimlessly, vainly seeking shelter.

2:1. You lack desire to become closer to God.

1

[1] The word of HASHEM that came to Zephaniah, son of Cushi, son of Gedaliah, son of Amariah, son of Hezekiah, in the days of Josiah son of Amon, * king of Judah:

God threatens . . .

[2] I will utterly destroy everything from upon the face of the land — the word of HASHEM. [3] I will destroy man and animal; I will destroy the bird of the sky and the fish of the sea and the stumbling blocks of the wicked;* and I will cut off mankind from the face of the land — the word of HASHEM. [4] I will stretch out My hand against Judah and against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and I will cut off from this place any remnant of the Baal and the memory of the ministers with the priests; [5] and those who prostrate themselves on the roofs to the heavenly host, and those who bow down and swear to HASHEM and [then] swear by their king;* [6] and those who have turned back from following HASHEM and those who have not sought HASHEM nor inquired after Him.

. . . a day of destruction

[7] Be silent before the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, for the day of HASHEM is near! For HASHEM has prepared a slaughter; He has invited His guests. [8] And it will happen on the day of HASHEM's slaughter that I will deal with the officials and the king's sons and all who wear foreign garments.* [9] And I will deal with all those who leap over the threshold* on that day, [and with] those who fill the houses of their masters with injustice and deceit.

[10] On that day — the word of HASHEM — there will be a sound of an outcry from the Fish Gate* and a wail from the second gate, and of a great catastrophe from the hills. [11] Wail, O inhabitants of Maktesh, for the entire people of Canaan* has been destroyed; all those laden with silver have been cut off.

Searching out the sinners

[12] It will be at that time that I will search Jerusalem with candles and I will deal with the men who are settled on their lees,* who say in their heart, 'HASHEM will not do good, and will not do evil.' [13] Their wealth will give way to plunder and their houses to desolation; they will build houses, but will not dwell in them; they will plant vineyards, but not drink their wine. [14] The great day of HASHEM is near, it is near and hastens greatly, the sound of the day of HASHEM, when the mighty warrior cries out bitterly. [15] A day of fury is that day, a day of trouble and distress, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of darkness and blackness, a day of cloud and thick cloud, [16] a day of trumpet and battle cries against the fortified cities and against the high towers. [17] I will lay siege against the people, and they will go about like the blind* for they have sinned against HASHEM. Their blood will be spilled out like dust and their flesh like dung. [18] Even their silver, even their gold will not be able to rescue them on the day of HASHEM's fury; in the fire of His zeal the entire land will be consumed; for He will make an end, an abrupt one, of all the inhabitants of the land.

[1] Improve yourselves and improve each other, O nation without desire:*

Improve before it is too late

[2] before the decree is born, the day you will become like chaff; before HASHEM's burning wrath comes upon you; before the day of HASHEM's anger comes upon you. [3] Seek HASHEM, all you humble of the land who have fulfilled His law; seek righteousness, seek humility. Perhaps you will be concealed on the day of HASHEM's anger. [4] For Gaza will be deserted;

3:7. Jerusalem's Temple and all the other blessings God ordained for it.

3:8. Because of the sins listed above, salvation will not come for a long time, and you will have to wait for the day when God plunders the nations that oppressed Israel (Abarbanel).

3:9. They will no longer speak of idols (Radak). Alternatively, they will speak Hebrew, the pure and holy tongue (Ibn Ezra).

and Ashkelon become a wasteland; they will drive out Ashdod's residents at noon; and Ekron will be uprooted. *

God will uproot His enemies

5 Woe to the inhabitants of the seacoast, the nation of the Cherethites! The word of HASHEM is against you, O Canaan, land of the Philistines, * and I will destroy you, without an inhabitant. 6 The seacoast will be an abode for shepherds and sheepfolds. 7 It will be a portion for the remnant of the House of Judah; upon which they * will graze. In the houses of Ashkelon they will lie down in the evening, for HASHEM, their God, will remember them and will return their captivity.

8 I have heard the taunt of Moab and the jeers of the Children of Ammon who taunted My people, and expanded [their territory] along their border. 9 Therefore, as I live — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions, God of Israel — [I swear] that Moab will be like Sodom and the Children of Ammon like Gomorrah, a rustling thornbush, a salt mine, a desolate wasteland forever. The remnant of My people will loot them and the remainder of My nation will inherit them. 10 This they shall have in place of their haughtiness, for they taunted and boasted over the people of HASHEM, Master of Legions. 11 HASHEM will be fearsome unto them, for He will enfeeble all the powers of the earth. And they will prostrate themselves to Him, each man from his place, all the islands * of the nations.

12 You, too, Cushites, you are slain by My sword.

13 He will stretch out His hand towards the north, and He will destroy Assyria; he will make Nineveh a wasteland, arid as the desert. 14 Herds will lie down in its midst, every nation's beasts; both owls and bitterns will lodge in its capitals, [their] voice will sing out in the window; desolation will be in its doorway, for the cedarwork will be removed. 15 This * is the exultant city that dwelt in security; that said in its heart, 'Only I, and besides me, nothing.' How did it become desolate, a resting place for the beast? Everyone who passes by it will whistle and wave his hand. *

Woe to Jerusalem

1 Woe to the filthy and polluted one, the City of Oppression. * 2 It did not listen to the voice [of the prophets]; it did not accept chastisement; it did not trust HASHEM; it did not draw near to its God. 3 Its princes in its midst are roaring lions; * its judges are wolves of the evening, they do not leave a bone for the morning; 4 its prophets are impetuous, men of rebellion; its priests have desecrated the sacred; they have robbed the Torah. * 5 HASHEM, the Righteous One, is within it; He commits no corruption. Morning after morning, He brings His judgment to light, it does not fail, but the corrupt one * knows no shame. 6 I have eliminated nations, their towers have become desolate; I have destroyed their streets without passerby; their cities have become ruins, without people, so there is no inhabitant. 7 I said, 'Just fear Me, accept chastisement,' so that her Abode * would not be terminated, despite all that I have ordained upon her. But [instead] they arose early and corrupted all their deeds.

Delayed salvation

8 Therefore, wait for Me * — the word of HASHEM — for the day when I will arise to plunder [them]. For My judgment will be to assemble nations, to gather kingdoms, to pour My fury upon them, all My burning wrath; for with the fire of My jealousy the entire earth will be consumed. 9 For then I will change the nations [to speak] a pure language, * so that they all will proclaim § Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi, the last three prophets, were among the one hundred and twenty members of the Great Assembly [אַנְשֵׁי כְנֶסֶת הַגְּדוֹלָה], the body that led the Jewish people during the early years of the Second Temple era. The Assembly was headed by Ezra and included other such Scriptural leaders as Zerubbabel and Joshua the Kohen Gadol (a nephew of Ezra); Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah and Mordechai-bilsham [see Ezra 2:2]; and Daniel, Chananiah, Mishael and Azariah [see Daniel 1:6] (Rambam, Intro.; Rashi, Avos 1:1).

1:1. Darius was the king of Persia (see Ezra 4:24-5:1). According to the Midrash, he was the son of Ahasuerus and Esther (Vayikra Rabbah 13:4). He sanctioned and encouraged the construction of the Second Temple, which had begun in the days of Cyrus (Ezra Ch. 3), but was subsequently discontinued for eighteen years. This Darius should not be confused with Darius the Mede, who conquered Babylonia and ended the dynasty of Nebuchadnezzar.

The sixth month is Elul.

1:3. The prophecy of verse 2 was intended solely for the

1 (See Appendix A, timeline 5)

1 In the second year of King Darius, * in the sixth month, * on the first day of the month, the word of HASHEM came by the hand of Haggai the prophet to Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, governor of Judea, and to Joshua son of Jehozadak, the Kohen Gadol, saying: 2 "Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: This nation has said, 'The time has not yet come!' [But I say] 'It is the time for the Temple of HASHEM to be rebuilt!' "

3 And the word of HASHEM came by the hand of Haggai the prophet, saying: *

Resume the construction . . .

4 Is this a time for you yourselves to sit in your paneled houses, while this House is in ruins?* 5 So now, thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Set your heart to [consider] your ways! 6 You have sown much but bring in little; eating without being satisfied, drinking without quenching thirst, dressing, yet no one is warmed; and whoever earns money earns it for a purse with a hole.

7 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Set your heart to your ways! 8 Go up to the mountain and bring wood and build the Temple; I will be pleased with it and I will be honored — said HASHEM. 9 You looked for much [produce] but, behold, it is little; you bring it home and I blow * upon it. Why is this?! — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — because of My Temple which is ruined, while you run, each to his own house. 10 Therefore, because of you,

. . . or suffer drought

the heavens withhold from [giving] dew, and the land withholds its produce. 11 I have declared a drought upon the land and upon the mountains and upon the grain and upon the wine and upon the oil and upon whatever the earth brings forth and upon the [many] people and upon the animal and upon all the toil of [your] hands.

Zerubbabel and Joshua obey

12 And so Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and Joshua son of Jehozadak, the Kohen Gadol, and the entire remnant of the people listened to the voice of HASHEM their God and to the words of Haggai the prophet, according to what HASHEM their God had sent him [to prophesy], and the people feared before HASHEM. 13 And Haggai, the agent of HASHEM, in the agency of HASHEM, spoke to the people, saying, "I am with you — the word of HASHEM."

14 HASHEM aroused the spirit of Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, the governor of Judea, and the spirit of Joshua son of Jehozadak, the Kohen Gadol, and the spirit of the entire remnant of the people, and they came and did work on the Temple of HASHEM, Master of Legions, their God, 15 on the twenty-fourth day of the month, in the sixth [month], in the second year of King Darius.

1 In the seventh [month], * on the twenty-first of the month, the word of HASHEM came through Haggai the prophet, saying: 2 "Speak, now, to Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, governor of Judea, and to Joshua son of Jehozadak, the Kohen Gadol, and to the rest of the people, saying:

Be encouraged

3 Who is left among you who remembers this Temple in its original glory, * and how do you view it now? Is it not like nothing in your eyes? 4 So now, be strong, O Zerubbabel — the word of HASHEM — and be strong, Joshua son of Jehozadak, the Kohen Gadol, and be strong, the entire people of the land — the word of HASHEM — and fulfill, for I am with you — the word of leaders. This prophecy is for the people.

1:4. Since the construction of the Temple had been stopped for a long time, the people had given up hope of reversing that status. Haggai's prophecy was meant to put an end to this lethargy.

1:9. I will scorch the grain with hot winds.

2:1. The month of Tishrei. The twenty-first of Tishrei is the seventh day of the Succos festival.

2:3. The First Temple, prior to its destruction by the Babylonians, seventy years ago.

2:6. One more nation will subdue you, the Greeks; but their domination will last only a short time (Rashi). During the Greek rule, I will cause a major upheaval in the land — a reference to the Hasmonean revolt against the Greeks and the miracle of Chanukah.

2:7. People of all nations will bring offerings to the Temple at that time.

2:10. The month of Kislev.

2:12-13. Since knowledge of the complex laws of ritually purity are essential to the functioning of the Temple, Haggai tested the Kohanim to see if they had forgotten the laws as a result of the exile in Babylonia, when many of the laws had not been relevant. Indeed, they did not answer all the questions correctly.

2:14. Haggai reprimanded the Kohanim for being insufficiently versed in the laws of ritual purity, thus causing defilement of sacrificial foods in the Temple.

2:15. Despite the above shortcoming, Haggai urged, consider what happened before you resumed construction of the Temple (Rashi).

2:16. Haggai repeats the description of the lack of prosperity, mentioned in 1:6 and 1:9 above.

HASHEM, Master of Legions — 5 the matter [of the covenant] that I sealed with you when you went forth from Egypt. My spirit remains in your midst; do not be afraid. 6 For thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: There will be one more; it is a small one.* I will shake the heavens and the earth and the sea and the dry land. 7 I will shake all the nations, and the precious things of all the nations will arrive here,* and I will fill this Temple with glory, said HASHEM, Master of Legions. 8 Mine is the silver and mine is the gold — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions. 9 The glory of this latter Temple will be greater than [that of] the first, said HASHEM, Master of Legions; and I will grant peace to this place — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions."

God will glorify the Temple

10 On the twenty-fourth of the ninth [month],* in the second year of Darius, the word of HASHEM came to Haggai the prophet, saying: 11 "Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Inquire, now, for a ruling from the Kohanim, saying, 12 'If a person carries ritually defiled flesh in the corner of his garment, and then he touches bread with his [garment's] corner, and [the bread touches] stew, and [the stew touches] wine or oil or any other food — does [that food] become defiled?' "*

Is it defiled?

The Kohanim answered and said, "No."

13 Haggai said, "If one who touched a dead person would touch all of these, would it become defiled?"

And the Kohanim answered and said, "It would become defiled."

14 Haggai spoke up and said:

So is this people and so is this nation before Me — the word of HASHEM — and so is all their handiwork: what they offer there will be defiled.* 15 But nevertheless,* consider [the situation] from this day and previously, before stone was placed upon stone in the Sanctuary of HASHEM, 16 when they would come to a grain heap of [what should have been] twenty [units] but was [only] ten;* [when one would] come to the winepress to draw out fifty [units] from the pit, but there were [only] twenty. 17 I had struck you with blast and blight and hail, upon all your handiwork, yet you are not [returning] to Me — the word of HASHEM. 18 Set now your heart [to consider] from this day and before, from the twenty-fourth of the ninth [month], [back] to the day when the foundations of the Sanctuary were laid;* set your heart [to consider]: 19 Is there any more seed in the silo? Even the grapevine and the fig tree and the pomegranate tree and the olive tree have not borne [their fruit]. But from this day on I will provide blessing.*

New beginning

Zerubbabel is chosen

20 The word of HASHEM came to Haggai a second time on the twenty-fourth of the month, saying, 21 "Speak to Zerubbabel, governor of Judea, saying:

I am shaking the heavens and the earth. 22 I will upset the thrones of kingdoms and destroy the strength of kingdoms of the nations;* I will turn over a chariot and its drivers, and horses and their riders will fall down, one by the sword of the other. 23 On that day — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — I will take you, Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, my servant — the word of HASHEM — and I will make you like [My] signet ring;* for you have I chosen — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions."

2:18. In the days of Cyrus — see note to 1:1.

2:19. Because you have resumed the building of the Temple.

2:22. Referring to the downfall of the Persian empire at the hands of the Greeks a few years after this prophecy (Rashi).

2:23. A signet ring never leaves the hand of its owner (Radak).

Zechariah was a contemporary of Haggai (see Haggai 1:1). Zechariah chastised the people for their lack of alacrity in rebuilding the Temple, even though King Darius of Persia had given his permission and even support to enable them to do so. His prophecies deal with the entire period from his own day until the End of Days. The commentaries agree that Zechariah's prophetic visions are so esoteric that many will not be fully understood until the coming of Elijah the Prophet.

1:1. The month of Cheshvan.

1:2. That is, the Jews who lived at the time of the destruction of the Temple.

1:5. When I ask you, "Where are your fathers now?" you may counter, "The prophets died, as well!" My answer is that the prophets died natural deaths. But your forefathers suffered brutal death and exile, exactly as the prophets had foretold (Rashi).

1:7. That is, he was "to say" (to relate) his vision to the people.

1:8-9. Either the "man" (v. 8) and the "angel" (v. 9) are

1 [1] In the eighth month,* in the second year of Darius, the word of HASHEM came to Zechariah son of Berechiah son of Iddo, the prophet, saying: [2] HASHEM became wrathful with your forefathers,* wrath. [3] Say to [the people]:

Return to God

Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Return unto Me — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — and I will return unto you, said HASHEM, Master of Legions. [4] Do not be like your fathers, to whom the prophets of old called out, saying, 'Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Return, now, from your evil ways and from your evil deeds,' but they did not listen nor pay attention to Me — the word of HASHEM. [5] Your forefathers, where are they? And as for the prophets, could they live forever?* [6] However, My words and My decrees, which I commanded My servants the prophets, did they not befall your fathers? They repented and said, 'Just as HASHEM, Master of Legions, thought to do to us, according to our ways and our deeds, so did He with us.'

A strange vision

[7] On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month, which is the month of Shevat, in the second year of Darius, the word of HASHEM came to Zechariah son of Berechiah son of Iddo, the prophet, saying.* [8] I saw [a vision in] the night. There was a man* riding upon a red horse, and he was standing among myrtle bushes that were in a pool of water; behind him were horses: red, sorrel and white. [9] I said, "What are these, my lord?"

The angel* who was speaking to me said to me, "I will show you what these are!" [10] And the man who was standing among the myrtles spoke up and said, "These are the ones whom HASHEM has sent to travel about the earth."

[11] Then they* spoke up to the angel of HASHEM who was standing among the myrtles and said, "We have traveled about the earth, and behold, all the earth sits still and is at rest."

Plea for Jerusalem

[12] The angel of HASHEM then spoke up and said, "HASHEM, Master of Legions, until when will You not have mercy upon Jerusalem and upon the cities of Judah, which You have spurned for these seventy years?" [13] HASHEM then answered favorable things to the angel who was speaking to me, words of comfort.*

[14] The angel who was speaking to me then said to me:

Reassurance

Call out, saying, 'Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: I have become zealous for Jerusalem and for Zion, a great zeal; [15] and I am wrathful, a great wrath against the complacent nations, who, when I became slightly wrathful, augmented the evil.* [16] Therefore, thus said HASHEM: I have returned to Jerusalem in mercy; My Temple will be rebuilt in it — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — and a plumb line* will be stretched out over Jerusalem.' [17] Call out again, saying, 'Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: My cities will once again spread out with bounty; HASHEM will have mercy on Zion once again and He will choose Jerusalem once again.'

2 [1] Then I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold four horns. [2] I said to the angel who was speaking to me, "What are these?"

one and the same (Kara; Ibn Ezra); or they are two different angels (Radak; Metzudos).

1:11. They, the other horsemen, told their leader who was standing among the myrtles that while Jerusalem and the Land of Israel were in ruins, the rest of the world was dwelling in tranquility.

1:13. That message is recorded in verses 14-17 (Radak).

1:15. When I decreed that a nation be a "rod of punishment" for My people, they exceeded their mandate and magnified the ordained punishment many times over.

1:16. References to builders' tools will be used throughout. The sense of the verse is that Jerusalem will be rebuilt.

2:4. The four horns represent the "Four Kingdoms" — Babylonia, Persia-Media, Greece, Rome — that would persecute Israel, until the final Messianic Redemption. The four carpenters are the successive conquerors who would conquer those kingdoms. The fourth and final carpenter will be King Messiah (Radak).

2:7. The "man" with the line (Rashi).

2:8-9. The "new" angel told the one with the rope to measure Jerusalem, and to explain to the young man, i.e., Zechariah, that there was no reason to know the city's dimensions, because its population would grow continuously, and expand beyond its walls. Instead of an actual wall, the people would be protected by a Divine wall of fire.

2:10. Babylonia (see Jeremiah 1:14).

2:12. After God gives you the glory described in verse 9, He will send His prophet to punish your former persecutors.

2:17. Be silent, all wicked nations, for HASHEM is coming to avenge your oppression of Israel.

3:1. The confrontation between Joshua and Satan represents the contention between the Jews who were trying to rebuild the Temple and the local chieftains, who tried to halt the construction, as described in the fourth chapter of Ezra (Radak).

3:2. Joshua survived the Babylonian exile and, against all odds, returned to Jerusalem. This is an indication of his holiness and righteousness, and hence you should not

Horns of dispersion

And he said to me, "These are the horns that dispersed Judah, Israel and Jerusalem."

3 HASHEM then showed me four carpenters. 4 I asked, "What are they coming to do?"

*And He spoke, saying, "These horns that dispersed Judah, [humiliating them] until no man could raise his head — so these [carpenters] have come to terrify them, to cast down the horns of the nations who raise a horn against the [populace of the] land of Judah, to disperse it."

Measuring Jerusalem . . .

5 Then I raised my eyes and looked, and behold, there was a man, and in his hand was a measuring line. 6 I asked, "Where are you going?"

And he answered me, "To measure Jerusalem, to see how wide its breadth and how long its length." 7 Just then the angel who was speaking to me was going forth, and another angel was going forth toward him. 8 He said to him, "Run, speak to that young man over there, saying:*

. . . growth beyond measure

Jerusalem will be settled beyond its walls, because of the multitude of people and livestock within it. 9 And I will be for it — the word of HASHEM — a wall of fire all around and for glory will I be in its midst. 10 Woe! Woe! Flee from the land of the north!* — the word of HASHEM — for I have scattered you like the four directions of the heavens — the word of HASHEM. 11 Woe! O [exiles of] Zion, Escape, O you who dwell with the daughter Babylonia! 12 For thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions, after glory,* He will send me to the nations who despoil you, for whoever touches you touches the pupil of his own eye. 13 For behold, I am waving My hand against them, and they will become spoils to those who had served them; then you will know that HASHEM, Master of Legions, has sent me.*

The nations will join in 14 Sing and be glad, O daughter of Zion! For behold, I am coming and I will dwell in your midst — the word of HASHEM. 15 Many nations will join themselves to HASHEM on that day, and they will become a people unto Me; and I will dwell in your midst. Then you will know that HASHEM, Master of Legions, has sent me to you. 16 HASHEM will take Judah as His heritage, His portion upon the Holy Land, and He will choose Jerusalem again. 17 Be silent, all flesh, before HASHEM, for He is aroused from His holy abode!"*

3 1 Then He showed me Joshua, the Kohen Gadol, standing before the angel of HASHEM, and the Satan was standing on his right to accuse him. 2 [The angel of] HASHEM said to the Satan, "May HASHEM denounce you, O Satan! May HASHEM, Who chooses Jerusalem, denounce you! Indeed, this [man] is like a firebrand saved from a fire!"* 3 But Joshua was dressed in filthy garments* as he stood before the angel. 4 [The angel] spoke up and spoke to those standing before him, saying, "Remove the filthy garments from upon him!" Then he said to [Joshua], "See, I have removed your iniquity from upon you, and dressed you with clean attire."* 5 Then I said, "Let them put a pure turban on his head." So they put a pure turban on his head and they dressed him in [clean] garments, while the angel of HASHEM [remained] standing. 6 The angel of HASHEM then warned* harass him (Rashi).

3:3. There was a "stain" on Joshua's family — his own sons had married non-Jewish wives [see Ezra 10:18] (Targum, Radak).

3:4. The angel commanded that Joshua's sons leave their forbidden wives; with the filthy garments removed from him, Joshua's innate righteousness was no longer blemished (Rashi).

3:7. You will be granted eternal life among the angels in the afterworld (Targum).

3:8. To Joshua and his great companions, the angel gave the welcome assurance that God's flourishing servant — either Zerubbabel (Ibn Ezra; Radak) or the Messiah (Targum) — will complete the rebuilding of the Temple.

3:9. When God brings about the construction of the Temple, its cornerstone will, figuratively, have all eyes upon it and be adorned with beautiful engravings.

3:10. An indication of the prosperity and tranquility that will prevail at that time.

4:2. The oil from the bowl flowed through seven ducts into each of the lamps.

4:6. Just as the olive trees in the vision produce oil because that is what God created them to do, so Israel would rebuild the Temple because that is what God wanted. They did not succeed because of their army or their strength, but because God inspired Darius with a spirit of kindness that provided the initiative for the construction and a major part of the needed supplies (Rashi).

4:7. All obstacles and opponents facing Zerubbabel will be cleared away, and the people will cheer him on as he puts his tools of construction to work (Rashi).

4:10. The Second Temple was a humble structure compared to the Temple of Solomon. Laying its foundation was a disappointing experience for those who

The Kohen Gadol at his post

Joshua, saying, [7] "Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: If you go in My ways, and if you will safeguard My watch, and you also administer My Temple, and you will also guard My courtyards, then I will grant you strides among these [angels] who stand here. [8] Listen, now, O, Joshua, the Kohen Gadol: you and your companions who are sitting before you, for they are men [worthy] of a miracle — for behold, I am bringing My servant, Zemah [the flourishing one].* [9] For behold, the [foundation] stone that I have placed before Joshua — seven eyes toward one stone;* behold I am engraving its adornment — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — and I will remove the iniquity of that land on one day. [10] On that day — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — each man will invite his fellow beneath the vine and beneath the fig tree."*

4 [1] Then the angel who was speaking with me returned and woke me, as a man is awakened from his sleep. [2] He said to me, "What do you see?"

Vision of the menorah

I said, "I see and behold — there is a menorah [made entirely] of gold with its bowl on its top; its seven lamps are upon it, and there are seven ducts for [each of] the lamps on its top. [3] There are two olive trees over it, one at the right of the bowl and one on its left." [4] I spoke up and said to the angel who was speaking to me, saying, "What are these, my lord?"

[5] The angel who was speaking to me answered, and said to me, "Do you not know what these are?"

And I said, "No, my lord!"

Only through My spirit

[6] He spoke up and said to me, saying, "This is the word of HASHEM to Zerubbabel, saying, 'Not through army and not through strength, but through My spirit, said HASHEM, Master of Legions.' [7] Who are you, O great mountain? Before Zerubbabel [you will] become a plain! He will bring out the cornerstone, with cheers of 'Grace! Grace!' for it."

[8] The word of HASHEM then came to me, saying, [9] "The hands of Zerubbabel laid the foundations of this Temple and his hands will complete it; then you will know that HASHEM, Master of Legions, has sent me to you. [10] For who is scornful on the day of small things? They will rejoice when they see the stone of the plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel, [building] seven times as much. The eyes of HASHEM — they scan the whole world!"*

[11] I then spoke up and said to him, "What are these two olive trees, on the right of the menorah and on its left?" [12] I spoke up a second time and said to him, "What are the two clusters of olives that are next to the two golden presses, which are pouring golden [oil] from themselves?"

[13] He spoke to me, saying, "Do you not know what these are?"

And I said, "No, my lord!"

The two anointed men

[14] *He said, "These are the two anointed men who are standing by the Lord of all the land."

5 [1] Once again I raised my eyes and looked, and behold, a scroll was flying. [2] He said to me, "What do you see?"

remembered the magnificence of the First Temple (see Ezra 3:12, Haggai 2:3), but eventually, the building would be seven times more imposing than it is now (Rashi).

And its builder is Zerubbabel, whom God has chosen from all people of the world, as the one fit to execute this task (Rashi).

4:14. Zerubbabel (scion of King David) and Joshua the Kohen Gadol. Originally, both a king and a Kohen Gadol were anointed.

5:2. These are the dimensions of the Sanctuary doorway, from which the scroll was emerging (Rashi).

5:3. Up to now, I have been lenient with sinners, but now I will begin to carry out the curses written in this scroll.

5:5. Something else was emerging from the Temple (Rashi).

5:6. A large measuring vessel, to measure out punishment to the wicked, because their greed has caused them to covet whatever they could see (Rashi).

5:7-11. The ephah and the lead symbolize the sin of false weights and measures that led to the exile, in which the people were carried off from their land to Babylonia [see v. 11] (Kara).

The woman of "Wickedness" symbolized the state of the nation. She would be carried off by an alliance of Babylonia and Chaldea, and her very sins would become the basis of her seventy-year Babylonian exile (Rashi).

5:11. Another name for Babylonia (see Genesis 10:10).

6:1. To carry the decrees of Heaven out to the four corners of the earth (Ibn Ezra). According to Targum and

*I answered, "I see a flying scroll: twenty cubits its width and ten cubits its length."

Retribution to the wicked

3 He said to me, "This is the curse that is going out over the surface of the whole land. For [heretofore] anyone who steals has been absolved of such a curse; and everyone who swears [falsely] has been absolved of such a curse.* 4 I have taken it out [the curse] — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — and it shall enter the house of the thief and the house of the one who swears falsely in My Name, and it shall lodge within his house and annihilate it, with its wood and stones."

5 *Then the angel who was speaking to me went forth and said to me, "Raise your eyes and see what this emerging thing is."

6 I said, "What is it?"

And he said, "This is an ephah that is emerging." And he said, "This, [because] their [greedy] eyes are in all the land." 7 Then, behold, a block of lead was being lifted,* and this one woman was sitting inside the ephah. 8 And he said, "This [woman] is Wickedness," and he threw her into the ephah and threw the lead weight into her mouth.*

9 Then I raised my eyes and looked, and behold two women were emerging with wind in their wings, for they had wings like a stork's wings, and they lifted the ephah between the earth and the heavens. 10 I said to the angel who was speaking to me, "Where are they taking the ephah?" 11 He said to me, "To build her a house in the land of Shinar; it will be established, and she will be set down there on her base."*

Vision of the chariots

1 Once again I raised up my eyes and saw, and behold, four chariots were emerging from between two mountains, and the mountains were mountains of copper.* 2 In the first chariot there were red horses, in the second chariot there were black horses, 3 in the third chariot there were white horses, and in the fourth chariot there were spotted, gray horses. 4 I spoke up and said to the angel who was speaking to me, "What are these, my lord?"

5 The angel answered and said to me, "These are going out [to] the four directions of the heavens, from standing before the Lord of all the earth. 6 [The chariot] within which are the black horses . . . they are going forth to the land of the north, and the white ones went forth after them; the spotted ones went forth to the land of the south. 7 The gray ones went forth and asked to go, to travel, through the world: He said, 'Go, travel through the world,' so they traveled through the world."

8 *He then summoned me and he spoke to me, saying, "See, the ones going out to the land of the north have allayed My anger in the land of the north."

Let the exiles contribute . . .

9 The word of HASHEM came to me, saying, 10 "Take from the exiles — from Heldai, from Tobijah and from Jedaiah. Come on that day; come to the household of Josiah son of Zephaniah, who have come from Babylonia, 11 and take silver and gold and make crowns, and place [one of them] on the head of Joshua son of Jehozadak, the Kohen Gadol. 12 Say to him, 'Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Behold, there is a man, his name is Zemah, and he will flourish in his place;*

many commentators, they represent the four kingdoms that had dominion over Israel after the destruction of the Temple — Babylonia, Persia-Media, Greece and Rome.

6:8. They brought punishment upon the land of the north, i.e., Babylonia, thus alleviating My anger against them. Then, Jews in that realm would be safe (Ibn Ezra).

6:10. All those mentioned in this verse come from Babylonia.

6:11. These men had contributed gold and silver for the Temple. Zechariah was to use it to make two crowns (Radak).

6:12. Lit., Flourishing (see 3:8).

6:13. Zerubbabel will wear the other crown (Ibn Ezra; Radak).

Though the governor and the Kohen Gadol will each have his own separate throne, there will not be animosity between them (Ibn Ezra; Radak).

6:14. The crowns were later placed inside the Sanctuary, where they memorialized the generosity of these men who had contributed the gold and silver from which they were fashioned (Radak).

7:2-3. These were righteous Jews in the diaspora who asked whether they were still required to observe the fast of the fifth month [i.e., the Ninth of Av; the question included the other fasts that commemorate the Destruction (see v. 5), but only the day of the worst tragedy is mentioned], to mourn the destruction of the First Temple. Since a new Temple was being built, was it still appropriate to fast? (Rashi). Alternatively: They doubted that the construction would be completed (Radak). Alternatively: Despite the new construction, they were still subjects of Persia (Metzudos).

Zechariah's answer, which continues until 8:19, is rather vague. The Talmud (Rosh Hashanah 18b) explains that when the Temple is functioning, then: (a) If the land is under oppressive foreign domination, all the fasts remain in force; (b) if the land is under benign foreign domination, the Ninth of Av remains a fast day, but the other fasts are voluntary; (c) if the land is free of foreign domination, the former fast days are celebrated as festive days.

7:3. From those pleasures prohibited by the mourning of that day.

7:5. The Fast of Gedaliah is on the third day of Tish-

. . . to build the Temple

he will build the Sanctuary of HASHEM. 13 He will build the Sanctuary of HASHEM; he will bear majesty, and he will sit and rule upon his throne. The Kohen will be upon his own throne, and there will be a disposition of peace between the two of them.* 14 The crowns will be a remembrance for Helem, for Tobijah, for Jedaiah and for Hen son of Zephaniah in the Sanctuary of HASHEM.'* 15 People from far away will come and build the Sanctuary of HASHEM, and then you will know that HASHEM, Master of Legions, has sent me to you. This will happen if you truly listen to the voice of HASHEM your God."*

Should we still mourn?

1 It happened in the fourth year of King Darius that the word of HASHEM came to Zechariah, on the fourth day of the ninth month, in Kislev. 2 Sarezer, as well as Regem-melech and his associates, had sent a message to Beth-el, to beseech HASHEM, 3 [and] to speak [their question] to the Kohanim of the Temple of HASHEM, Master of Legions, and to the prophets, saying, "Should I weep in the fifth month, abstaining [from pleasures],* as I have been doing for many years?"*

4 So the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions, came to me, saying:

Why did you fast?

5 Speak to all the people of the land and the Kohanim, saying, 'When you fasted and mourned in the fifth [month] and in the seventh for these seventy years, was the fasting that you fasted for My honor? [Was it] for Me?* 6 And when you eat and when you drink, is it not you who are the eaters and you who are the drinkers? 7 Behold, [consider] the prophecies that HASHEM pronounced through the earliest prophets, when Jerusalem and its surrounding cities were settled and peaceful, and the south and the lowlands were settled.'*

8 The word of HASHEM came to Zechariah, saying:

God demanded kindness . . .

9 Thus spoke HASHEM, Master of Legions, saying: 'Judge with truthful justice, and perform kindness and mercy towards one another. 10 Do not oppress the widow and the orphan, the stranger and the poor, and do not think in your hearts of wronging one another.' 11 But they refused to heed, and they turned a rebellious shoulder, they made their ears hard of hearing. 12 They made their hearts like hard iron, rather than hear the teaching and the words that HASHEM, Master of Legions, had sent by His spirit through the earliest prophets, and there was a great rage from HASHEM, Master of Legions.

. . . but they refused

13 And it happened that just as He had called, but they did not listen, 'So will they call out and I will not listen,' said HASHEM, Master of Legions; 14 'and I will cause them to be storm-tossed among all the nations that they did not know. After that the land became deserted from any who come and go; they made an exquisite land into a desolation.

8

1 The word of HASHEM, Master of Legions, came [to me], saying:

Zeal for Zion

2 *Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: I have become zealous with great zeal on behalf of Zion; I have become zealous with great wrath on its behalf.

3 Thus said HASHEM: I have returned to Zion, and I have made My dwelling rei, the seventh month. It commemorates the assassination of Gedaliah, whom Nebuchadnezzar had appointed as governor of the Jewish community after the Destruction. After Gedaliah was assassinated, the remnant still in Jerusalem was exiled (see Jeremiah, Chs. 40-41).

7:5-7. God replies that He did not decide that they should fast. They had to fast because of the disaster brought about by their sins, and because they ignored the exhortations of the prophets when the nation was still secure, when repentance could have saved them. If they would put an end to their sins, they would have no reason to fast (Radak).

8:2. This is a chapter of comfort. At the end of the exile, God will direct His zeal to the defense of Jerusalem and vengeance against its enemies.

8:6. The miracles that I will perform at that time will be greater than any I had ever done before (Ibn Ezra).

8:9,13. The word "hands" is a metaphor for "resolve."

8:10. Before Darius gave permission to resume construction of the Temple, there was a curse in the land; people had no earnings from their own labor or from their livestock. See Haggai 1:5-6, 1:9-11, 2:15-19.

8:19. The Babylonians breached the walls of Jerusalem in the fourth month [17 Tammuz] (see Jeremiah 39:2); they destroyed the Temple in the fifth month [9 Av]; in the midst of Jerusalem; Jerusalem will be called 'The City of Truth' and the mountain of HASHEM, Master of Legions, 'The Holy Mountain.'

Young and old will rejoice . . .

4 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Old men and old women will once again sit in the streets of Jerusalem, each with his staff in his hand because of advanced age; 5 and the streets of the city will be filled with boys and girls playing in its streets.

6 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Just as it will be wondrous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in those days, so will it be wondrous in My eyes — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions.*

7 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Behold, I am saving My people from the land of the east and from the land where the sun sets; 8 and I will bring them and they will dwell within Jerusalem. They will be a people unto Me, and I will be a God unto them, in truth and in righteousness.

. . . for God will bring prosperity

9 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Let your hands be strong, you who hear these days these words from the mouths of the prophets, which [were spoken] on the day that the foundation was laid for the Temple of HASHEM, Master of Legions — the Sanctuary — to be built. 10 For before those days, people had no earnings, * nor were there earnings from animals; those who travel back and forth had no peace because of the enemy; and I set everyone, man against his neighbor. 11 But now, not as in earlier days am I toward the remnant of this people — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions. 12 For [now] the seed is of peace: The vine gives forth its fruit, the land gives forth its produce, and the heavens give forth their dew. I have bestowed all these upon the remnant of this people. 13 And it will happen that just as you, O House of Judah and House of Israel, had been a curse for the nations, so will I save you and you will be a blessing. Do not fear, and let your hands* be strong! 14 For thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: Just as I had planned to bring misfortune upon you when your forefathers angered Me — said HASHEM, Master of Legions — and I did not relent [from doing so], 15 so have I turned back these days and planned to benefit Jerusalem and the House of Judah. Do not fear! 16 These are the things that you should do: Speak the truth with one another; and in your gates judge with truth, justice and peace. 17 Do not think evil toward one another in your hearts and do not love false oaths, for all these are what I hate — the word of HASHEM.*

18 The word of HASHEM, Master of Legions, came to me, saying:

Fast turned to joy . . .

19 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: The fast of the fourth [month], the fast of the fifth, the fast of the seventh and the fast of the tenth will be to the House of Judah for joy and for gladness and for happy festivals. [Only] love truth and peace!*

20 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: It will yet be that peoples will come, as well as inhabitants of many cities. 21 The dwellers of one [city] will go to [those of] the other, saying, 'Let us go and supplicate before HASHEM and seek out HASHEM, Master of Legions!' [They will answer,] 'I, too, will go!' 22 Many peoples and mighty nations will come to seek out HASHEM, Master of Legions, in Jerusalem, and to supplicate before HASHEM.

. . . and the nations will join

23 Thus said HASHEM, Master of Legions: In those days it will happen that ten men, of all the [different] languages of the nations, will take hold, Gedaliah was murdered in the seventh month [3 Tishrei] (see 7:5); and the siege began in the tenth month [10 Teves]. And those days became days of fasting and mourning.

9:1. The prophecy was given in Hadrach, near Damascus, and it would rest, i.e., occur, in Damascus (Ibn Ezra).

9:2. These places, even Tyre, which considered itself too wise to be conquered, will become part of the Land of Israel.

9:4. The sea will inundate Tyre and carry away all her possessions and merchandise [see Ezekiel 26:3,19; 27:34], and then a fire will destroy her buildings [Ezekiel 28:18] (Radak).

9:6. Namely Israel, whom the Philistines had derided as foreigners (Targum).

9:7. The Philistines will stop their bloodthirsty and idolatrous practices, and join the people of Israel in worshiping God. Then, even the Philistines will be like the leaders of Judah, and Ekron will be as Jewish as the former Jebusite city of Jerusalem.

9:9. The Messiah will be a humble man riding a donkey rather than an ostentatious horse (Rashi).

9:11. Not only the Messiah, but all Jews will be protected and snatched from the waterless pit of exile by merit of the blood of circumcision covenant (Radak) and the blood of the covenant of Sinai [Exodus 24:8] (Rashi).

9:12. Jerusalem (Ibn Ezra). Alternatively: Although you are in exile, return to your original strength and glory (Rashi). This is the first announcement (see v. 13).

9:13. God will use Judah and Ephraim as His weapons against their oppressor. He will "draw" Judah like a bow, pulling Ephraim taut to fire His arrow against the Greeks who will conquer Persia, thus gaining control of the Land of Israel. This is the second announcement (Rashi).

9:15. An appellation for the Greeks, whose warriors were skilled at directing stones against their enemies (Rashi).

9:16. The priestly Hasmoneans who will reclaim the land from the Greek oppressors (Rashi).

10:1. The time of which the prophet has been speaking will be a time of Divine favor. Even if at the end of the they will take hold of the corner of the garment of a Jewish man, saying, 'Let us go with you, for we have heard that God is with you!'

A prophecy against enemy cities

1 The prophecy of the word of HASHEM for the land of Hadrach, with Damascus its resting place: *

Toward HASHEM will be the eyes of mankind, and all the tribes of Israel. 2 Also Hamath will be in its borders, as well as Tyre and Sidon, though she is very wise. * 3 Tyre built herself a fortification; she amassed silver like dirt, and fine gold like the mud of the street. 4 Behold, the Lord will impoverish her, and He will strike her wealth with the sea, and it will be consumed by fire. * 5 Ashkelon will see this and fear, and Gaza [will see] and tremble greatly, and Ekron, for the one to whom she looked [for protection] has been humiliated. A king will perish from Gaza, and Ashkelon will not be inhabited. 6 A stranger * will dwell in Ashdod, and I will eliminate the pride of the Philistines. 7 I will remove his blood from his mouth and his abominations from between his teeth, and then he too will remain for our God. He will be like a master in Judah, and Ekron will be like the Jebusite. * 8 I will encamp at My home [to protect it] against any army and from any [enemy] who comes and goes, and an oppressor will never again pass through them; for now I have seen [their suffering] with My eyes.

Messiah comes to Zion

9 Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion! Shout for joy, O daughter of Jerusalem! For behold, your king will come to you, righteous and victorious is he, a humble man riding upon a donkey, * upon a foal, a calf of she-donkeys. 10 I will eliminate any [battle]-chariot from Ephraim and any [war] horse from Jerusalem, and the bow of warfare will be eliminated; and he will speak peace to the nations. His dominion will be from sea to sea and from the river to the ends of the earth.

Freedom, unity, celebration

11 Also you, * through the blood of your covenant I will have released your prisoners from the pit in which there is no water. 12 Return to the fortress, * O prisoners of hope! Today, too, a second announcement, 'I will return to you.' 13 For I will bend Judah [as a bow] for Me; * I will fill [the hand of] Ephraim with a bow; and I will stir up your children, O Zion, against your children, O Greece; and I will make you like the sword of a warrior. 14 HASHEM will appear to them, and His arrow will go forth like the lightning; and the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM will blow with a shofar and go forth in southern tempests. 15 HASHEM, Master of Legions, will protect them, and they will devour and conquer the 'stones of the slingshot.' * They will drink and be boisterous as from wine; they will be filled up like a bowl, and like the corners of the altar. 16 HASHEM their God will save His people like sheep on that day, for the 'stones of the crown' * will be exalted on His land. 17 How goodly and how beautiful will be the grain of young men and the wine that will make maidens sing.

False oracles and leaders

1 Request rain of HASHEM in the season of the late rains, [of] HASHEM Who makes rainclouds; and He will provide them a shower of rain, * for each man, herbage in the field. 2 For the teraphim * speak words of nothingness, the diviners see falsehoods, and dreamers speak lies; they comfort with meaningless words. Therefore, they have wandered off like sheep; they are humbled, for there is no shepherd.

season you pray for unusually heavy rain, God will provide it (Radak).

10:2. Oracles used by idolaters to divine the future.

10:3. A metaphor for the leaders of the community.

10:8. As one whistles to get the attention of a lost person (Rashi).

10:11. The nations are likened to the waves of the sea and turbulent rivers. God will quell them all (Radak).

11:1-3. These verses metaphorically portray the downfall of the mighty nations and their subordinates, who had oppressed Israel (Targum). Lebanon is the great forest in the north of the land.

11:4. A reference to the persecuted people of Israel.

11:5. The Jews are sold like animals; the seller is happy because he has received his money and the buyer is cruel to them.

11:7. "Hobelim" means "destroyers" and alludes to the Kingdom of Judah, whose first king, Rehoboam, ruled with a destructive iron hand (see I Kings Ch.12); "Noam" means "pleasantness" and alludes to the Northern Kingdom of Israel, whose first king, Jeroboam, used pleasant words to lure ten of the tribes into his camp (Rashi). Alternatively: The two staffs represent the two different manners by which God tended His flock: "pleasantness" when the kings were righteous and the people obedient to God; "destroyers" when their kings were wicked and the people were not obedient to God (Radak).

11:8. The three are King Jehoram, of the Northern Kingdom; King Ahaziah, of Judah; and Ahaziah's potential successors, all of whom were murdered at the same time [II Kings, Chs. 9,11] (Rashi). Alternatively: They are God will help the righteous fight . . .

3 *My anger is kindled against the shepherds, and I will punish the he-goats. * For* HASHEM, Master of Legions, has remembered his flock, the House of Judah, and He will make them like a horse whose glory is in war. 4 From themselves the cornerstone; from themselves the peg; from themselves the bow of war; — from themselves all the leaders will come forth together. 5 They will be like warriors trampling [their enemies] in the mud of the streets in war; they will wage war, for HASHEM will be with them; and the [enemy] riders of horses will be put to shame. 6 I will give power to the House of Judah and I will save the house of Joseph; I will settle them, for I will have mercy upon them, and they will be as if I had not rejected them; for I am HASHEM their God, and I will answer them. 7 Ephraim will be like a mighty warrior, and their heart will be glad as [with] wine. Their children will see and be glad; their heart will rejoice in HASHEM. 8 *I will whistle to them * and gather them, for I have redeemed them; and they will become as numerous as they had been numerous.* 9 I had sown them among the nations, and they remembered Me in faraway places; so they will live, with their children, and they will return.

. . . and bring them back

10 I will bring them back from the land of Egypt; I will gather them in from Assyria; I will bring them to the land of Gilead and Lebanon; there will not be enough [room] for them. 11 *Misfortune will pass through the sea, and [God] will strike the waves in the sea; * all the deep waters of the river will dry up; the pride of Assyria will be brought down, and the staff of Egypt will depart.* 12 I will give [Israel] power through HASHEM, and they will walk with His Name — the word of HASHEM.

Bemoan the enemy's fate

1 *Open your doors, O Lebanon, * and let fire consume your cedars!* 2 Wail, O cypress, for the cedar has fallen, for the mighty ones have been vanquished; wail, O oaks of Bashan, because the impregnable forest has come down. 3 There is a sound of the shepherds' wailing, for their power has been vanquished; there is a sound of young lions' roar, for the heights of the Jordan have been vanquished.

Israel's masters betrayed it

4 Thus said HASHEM, *My God: Tend the flock meant to be slain, * 5 whom their buyers slay and they are not guilty and those who sell them say, 'Blessed be* HASHEM! *Now I am rich!' and whose shepherds do not pity them. * 6 For I will no longer pity the inhabitants of the land — the word of* HASHEM. Behold, I am giving over the people, each one into the hand of his fellow and into the hand of his king; they will crush the land, and I will not save [them] from their hand. 7 I had tended the flock meant to be slain, because they were the meekest of the flock. I took for Myself two staffs — one I called "Noam" and the other I called "Hobelim." 8 *I removed the three shepherds in one month, * and My soul became impatient with them, for their soul also found Me repulsive.* 9 I said, 'I will not tend you! Let the dying one die and let the decimated one be decimated; and as for the remaining ones, let each devour the other's flesh!'

Israel did not deserve protection

10 *And I took My staff Noam and broke it, to annul My covenant that I had sealed with the peoples. * 11 So it became annulled on that day; and the meek of the flock, who paid heed to Me, recognized that it was so, that it was the word of* HASHEM. 12 I said to [the people], 'If it is proper in your eyes, give Me the three sons of Josiah who reigned after him: Jehoahaz, Jehoiakim and Zedekiah [II Kings, Chs. 23-25], who died within several years of each other. Accordingly, "one month" is figurative (Radak).]

11:10. God had made a covenant, as it were, with the nations that they should not harm Israel.

11:12. If you want Me to be your Shepherd, you must pay My fee, namely, you must righteously observe My laws. But, as the verse goes on, only thirty people were truly righteous (Rashi).

11:13. The Temple. By throwing the deeds of these thirty righteous people into the Temple, Zechariah symbolized that the Temple would be rebuilt because of their merits (Rashi).

11:14. A reference to the destruction of Judah, two centuries after that of the Northern Kingdom. The destruction of Judah ended the idolatrous practices that the Judeans had learned through their ties with their northern brethren (Rashi).

11:16. Edom (the Roman empire), in whose lands the exiled Jews would settle and be maltreated (Rashi). Alternatively: Herod, the notorious king, who reigned towards the end of the Second Temple period (Radak).

12:2. Before the End of Days, the nations will besiege Jerusalem, and even force Jews to join them, but the enemies will be destroyed instead (Targum).

12:3. A heavy stone that a taskmaster puts on a laborer's shoulders.

12:4. To protect the Jews who had been forced to join the siege.

12:6. When the Judeans compelled to fight their brethren see that they were miraculously spared, they will turn against their enemies who forced them to join their ranks. Then Jerusalem will be restored to its former status.

*My fee, * and if not, refrain.' So they weighed out My fee: thirty silver coins.*

13 *HASHEM said to me, "Throw it to the treasurer of the Precious Stronghold, * which I have divested from them." So I threw it into the Temple of HASHEM, to the treasurer.*

14 *Then I broke My second staff, Hobelim, to annul the brotherhood between Judah and Israel. **

15 HASHEM said to me:

An evil ruler

Again take for yourself the implement[s] of a foolish shepherd. 16 For behold, I am setting up a shepherd in the land: He will not pay attention to the decimated ones; he will not seek out the youth; he will not heal the broken one; and he will not nurture the weak one; but he will eat the flesh of the healthy one and break their hooves. 17 Woe to the worthless shepherd who abandons the flock! A sword upon his arm and upon his right eye! May his arm utterly wither and his right eye go completely blind!*

12 1 The prophecy of the word of HASHEM concerning Israel:

God will protect Jerusalem

*The word of HASHEM, Who stretches out the heavens and lays the foundation of the earth, and Who fashions the spirit of man within him: 2 Behold, I am making Jerusalem a cup of poison for all the peoples all around; * also Judah will take part in the siege of Jerusalem. 3 It shall be on that day that I will make Jerusalem for all the peoples a burdensome stone, * all whose bearers become lacerated; and all the nations of the world will gather against it. 4 On that day — the word of HASHEM — I will strike every horse with confusion and its rider with madness. But I will open My eyes to the House of Judah, * while I strike every horse of the peoples with blindness. 5 Then the captains of Judah will say in their hearts, 'The inhabitants of Jerusalem are a source of strength for me, [in their prayers] to HASHEM, Master of Legions, their God!'*

Jews will rebel against alien masters

*6 On that day I will make the captains of Judah like a stove, fire [burning] wood, and like a fiery torch [burning] sheaf, and they will consume on the right and on the left all the peoples all around; * and Jerusalem will again settle in its place, in Jerusalem. 7 HASHEM will save the tents of Judah first, so that the splendor of the house of David and the splendor of the inhabitants of Jerusalem should not overwhelm Judah. 8 On that day HASHEM will protect the inhabitant of Jerusalem; on that day even the weakest among them will be like David, and the house of David will be like divine beings, like an angel of HASHEM before them. 9 It shall be on that day that I will seek to destroy all the nations that come upon Jerusalem. 10 I will pour out upon the house of David and upon the inhabitant of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and supplications. They will look toward Me because of those whom they have stabbed; * they will mourn over him as one mourns over an only [child], and be embittered over him like the embitterment over a [deceased] firstborn. 11 On that day the mourning will become intense in Jerusalem, like the mourning of Hadadrimmon [and the mourning] at the Valley of Megiddon. **

12:10. The salvation will be so complete that people will be astonished if even one man is killed by the enemy (Radak).

12:11. According to Targum and the Talmud (Moed Katan 28b), two events are alluded to here: the mourning over Ahab son of Omri, king of Israel, who was killed in battle (I Kings Ch. 22) by Hadadrimmon son of Tabrimmon; and the mourning for Josiah, king of Judah, who was slain in the Valley of Megiddon (Megiddo; see II Chronicles 36:20-25).

HAFTARAH FIRST DAY SUCCOS 14:1-21

12:12-13. Nathan and Shimei were sons of David, whose descendants formed distinct groups within the royal family (Rashi).

13:1. The water will be used for purposes of ritual purification. According to some commentators, this prophecy is meant to be understood as a metaphor: People will become "cleansed" of their sins (Targum, Kara, etc.).

13:3. His parents will injure him to prevent him from prophesying falsely (Radak).

13:4. A garment signifying great piety, which false prophets wore to give their messages an aura of acceptability (Rashi).

13:5-6. He will be forced to admit that he was not a prophet but a mere shepherd, and that his parents tried to stop him (Kara).

13:7. The kings and leaders of the nations were the shepherds, God's colleagues, to whom He entrusted the fate of His "flock" Israel. When they harm instead of help, God will unleash the sword against them (Rashi). Then, the flock will be free to escape, and God will turn His vengeance against the subordinates who helped molest Israel (Kara).

14:1-3. At the End of Days, in the War of Gog and Magog, the nations will conquer Jerusalem and divide its spoils, but God will save the people, as He did when the Egyptians pursued them to the Sea of Reeds (Radak).

14:4. An anthropomorphism indicating the cataclysmic

12 The land will mourn each of the families by itself: the family of the house of David by itself, and their wives by themselves; the family of the house of Nathan by itself and their wives by themselves;* 13 the family of the house of Levi by itself and their wives by themselves; the family of Shimei by itself and their wives by themselves;* 14 and all the families who remain, each of the families by itself and their wives by themselves.

Removal of impurity

1 *On that day there will be a spring opened up for the house of David and for the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for cleansing and for purification. 2 It will happen on that day — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions — that I will eliminate the names of the idols from the land, and they will not be mentioned again; I will also remove the [false] prophets and the spirit of impurity from the land. 3 *It will happen when a man will prophesy [falsely] in the future, that his father and his mother, those who bore him, will say to him, 'You should not live, for you have spoken falsehood in the name of HASHEM!' His father and mother, those who bore him, will stab him when he prophesies. 4 It will happen on that day, the prophets will be ashamed, each one of his vision when he prophesies it, and they will no longer wear the fur cloak in order to declare their lies.* 5 *Rather, he will say, 'I am not a prophet! I am a worker of the land, for a person took me as a herdsman since my youth.' 6 And [if] someone will say to him, 'What are these scars between your arms?' He will say, 'It is from when I was beaten in the house of those who loved me.'

A sword turned against enemies

7 O sword, arouse yourself against My shepherd and against the man who is My colleague! — the word of HASHEM, Master of Legions. Strike the shepherd and let the flock disperse! And I will turn My hand against the lesser leaders.* 8 There will be in all the land — the word of HASHEM — two portions [of the population] will be cut off and perish, and the third will be left in it. 9 I will bring that third into fire and purify it as one purifies silver, and I will refine it as one refines gold; it will call out in My Name, and I will answer it. I have said, 'It is My people,' and it will say, 'HASHEM is my God.'

War against Jerusalem

1 Behold, a day is coming for HASHEM, when your spoils will be divided up in your midst.* 2 I will gather all the nations to Jerusalem for the war; the city will be captured, the houses will be pillaged and the women will be violated; half of the city will go out into exile, but the rest of the people will not be eliminated from the city. 3 HASHEM will go out and wage war with those nations, as He waged war on the day of battle. 4 His feet will stand on that day on the Mount of Olives, which faces Jerusalem on the east, and the Mount of Olives will split open at its middle, east to west, [forming] a very wide valley; half of the mountain will move to the north and half of it to the south.* 5 And you will flee to the valley of the mountains, for the valley of the mountains will reach to Azal, and you will flee as you fled from the earthquake that was in the days of Uzziah, king of Judah. And HASHEM, My God, will come; all of His Holy Ones will be with you.* 6 It will be on that day,

The Mount of Olives will split events that will occur. Radak suggests that the splitting of the Mount of Olives is to be understood as a metaphor for the total routing of the invading armies.

14:5. That is, you will flee in the valley created by the fissure of the Mount of Olives, all the way to a place called Azal, to escape the earthquake.

14:7. It will become famous as the unique day when God revealed His might and His wonders. When the tragedy of exile is about to begin (vv. 2-3), there will be great light, i.e., God's salvation, as described in the preceding verses.

14:8. The Dead Sea to the east, and the Mediterranean to the west.

14:9. There will be no more idolatry in the world.

14:10. Which was outside the city limits (Rashi); thus Jerusalem would expand beyond its present borders.

14:14. The verse refers to the war mentioned above (12:2ff), when Jerusalem will be plundered by an army that includes people of Judah.

14:15. When God strikes Jerusalem's attackers (v. 12), He will do the same to their army's animals.

14:16. The people who repented when they saw the catastrophe that was befalling their camp will mark the anniversary of the miracle on the Succos festival (Radak).

14:17. Because they spurned the Succos festival, which is a time of petition for rainfall for the coming year (Rashi).

14:18. Egypt is not irrigated by rainfall, rather the flooding Nile supplies its water; therefore, instead of being deprived of rainfall, Egypt will be deprived of the Nile's waters (Rashi).

14:20. Even the metal bells of the horses will be used to the light will not be either very bright or very dim. 7 It will be a unique day; it will be known as HASHEM's [day], neither day nor night, but it will happen towards evening time that there will be light. * 8 It shall be on that day, spring water will flow out of Jerusalem; half of it [will flow] to the Eastern Sea * and half of it to the Western Sea. * This will be in summer and in winter. 9 HASHEM will be the King over all the land; on that day HASHEM will be One and His Name will be One. * 10 The entire land will change to a plain, from Geba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem, and [Jerusalem] will become lofty and it will be settled in its place, from the Gate of Benjamin to the place of the first gate, to the Corner Gate, and [from] the Tower of Hananel up to the king's winery. * 11 People will live in it, and there will be no more devastation; and Jerusalem will settle in security.

Spring flowing from Jerusalem

Plague against the besiegers

12 This will be the plague with which HASHEM will strike all the peoples that have organized against Jerusalem: Each one's flesh will melt away while he is standing on his feet; each one's eyes will melt away in their sockets; and each one's tongue will melt away in their mouths. 13 It shall be on that day that there will be a great panic of HASHEM among them; each one will grab the hand of his fellow, and his hand will be raised up against the hand of his fellow. 14 Also Judah will wage war against Jerusalem; * and the wealth of all the nations all around will be gathered — gold, silver and garments in great abundance. 15 And similarly * will be the plague of the horse, the mule, the camel and the donkey, all the animals that will be in those camps, just like this plague.

Nations celebrating Succos

16 It shall be that all who are left over from all the nations who had invaded Jerusalem will come up every year to worship the King HASHEM, Master of Legions, and to celebrate the festival of Succos. * 17 And it shall be that whichever of the families of the land does not go up to Jerusalem to bow down before the King, HASHEM, Master of Legions, there will be no rain upon them. * 18 But if it is the family of Egypt that does not go up and does not come [to Jerusalem], there will be no [water] for them; * the same plague will come to pass with which HASHEM will strike the nations that do not go up to celebrate the festival of Succos. 19 This will be the punishment of the Egyptians and the punishment of all the nations that will not go up to celebrate the festival of Succos.

Multitudes of offerings

20 On that day will be [written] on the horse's bells, 'Holy unto HASHEM'; * and the pots in the Temple of HASHEM will be as [numerous] as the bowls before the Altar. 21 And it will happen that every pot in Jerusalem and in Judah will be holy unto HASHEM, Master of Legions; * all those who sacrifice will come and take from them and cook in them; and there will no longer be any merchants in the Temple of HASHEM, Master of Legions, on that day.

produce vessels with which to bring offerings to God and pots in which to cook them, so numerous will those sacrifices be (Rashi).

14:21. So many offerings will be brought that all the vessels of Jerusalem will be needed to cook them. And there will be so many vessels that there will be no need for merchants who sell cooking utensils.

Thus, Zechariah ends his prophecy with a vision of Jerusalem at the zenith of its redemption and holiness.

1:7. The people showed disrespect to the Altar by deriding it as full of blood and fats (Radak).

1:8. If a human governor would not accept such offerings, surely it is scornful to bring them to God!

1:10. I would rather have no sacrifices at all than invalid ones.

1:13. You bring an inferior offering and exclaim falsely how hard it is for you to afford it (Rashi).

2:2. I will send a curse instead of the blessings you currently enjoy (Radak).

2:3. God will command seeds not to sprout. In a further manifestation of God's anger, He will cast the filth of your invalid offerings in your faces, as it were, and all of this will be brought about by your own sins (Radak).

2:5. God made a covenant with the founders of the priestly line of Levi, Aaron and his great-grandson Phinehas. See Numbers 25:12-13 (Ibn Ezra).

1 [1] The prophecy of the word of HASHEM to Israel, by the hand of Malachi:

(See Appendix A, timeline 4)

Loving Jacob, not Esau

[2] I loved you, says HASHEM; but you say, 'How have You loved us?' Was not Esau the brother of Jacob — the word of HASHEM — yet I loved Jacob. [3] But I hated Esau; I made his mountains a desolation and [gave] his heritage to the desert serpents. [4] Though Edom will say, 'We have become destitute, but we will return and rebuild the ruins,' thus says HASHEM, Master of Legions: They may build, but I will tear down! They will be called 'the boundary of wickedness' and 'the people whom HASHEM has condemned forever.' [5] And your eyes will behold it, and you will say upon the territory of Israel, 'May HASHEM be glorified!'

National disrespect

[6] A son will honor his father and a servant his master. If I am a Father where is my honor? And if I am a Master where is My fear? says HASHEM, Master of Legions, to you, the Kohanim who scorn My Name. Yet you say, 'How have we scorned Your Name?' [7] *You present on My Altar loathsome food, and you say, 'How have we loathed You?' By your saying, 'The table of HASHEM is repulsive.' [8] When you present a blind animal for sacrifice, is nothing wrong? And when you present a lame or sick [animal], is nothing wrong? Present it, if you please, to your governor: Would he be pleased with you or show you favor? said HASHEM, Master of Legions.* [9] And now, if you now entreat God, will He be gracious unto us? This [sin] comes from your hand; will He show you favor? says HASHEM, Master of Legions.

Repulsive offerings

[10] If only there were someone among you who would shut the [Temple] doors, so that you could not kindle upon My Altar in vain! I have no desire for you, said HASHEM, Master of Legions, and I will not accept an offering from your hand.* [11] For from the rising of the sun to its setting, My Name is great among the nations, and in every place [where offerings] are presented to My Name, and also pure meal-offerings; for My Name is great among the nations, says HASHEM, Master of Legions. [12] But you defile it, by your saying, 'The table of the Lord is loathsome'; and by [your] description of it as 'Its food is repulsive.' [13] You say, 'Behold, this [offering] is so burdensome,' and so you vex Him, says HASHEM, Master of Legions. You bring the stolen and the lame, and the sick [animal], and bring [it] as an offering — shall I accept it from your hand? says HASHEM.* [14] Cursed be the charlatan who has a [superior] ram in his flock, but vows and sacrifices a blemished [animal] to the Lord! For I am a great King, says HASHEM, Master of Legions, and My Name is awesome among the nations.

2 [1] And now, this commandment is upon you, O Kohanim. [2] If you do not listen and do not take it to heart to render honor to My Name, says HASHEM, Master of Legions, I will send the curse among you and I will curse your blessings. Indeed I have already cursed it, for you do not take to heart.*

Obedience or curse

[3] Behold, I am suppressing the seed because of you; and I will scatter filth upon your faces, the filth of your festive offerings; [your sin] will carry you to this.*

Levi's covenant

[4] Know that I have sent this commandment to you, so that My covenant should be with Levi, says HASHEM, Master of Legions. [5] My covenant was with him, life and peace; I gave these to him for the sake of the fear with which he feared Me, for he was in awe of My Name.* [6] The teaching of truth was in his mouth, and injustice was not found on his lips;

HAFTARAS SHABBAS HAGADOL 3:4-24

2:9. When an important person brings an unacceptable offering, you defer to his status and allow it to be brought.

2:10. Malachi now addresses himself to the men of his day who betrayed their Jewish wives during the exile and married local heathen women.

2:11. By betraying the daughters of Israel.

2:12. If that man is a Kohen, may he have no children to serve in the Temple (Rashi).

2:13. Your additional sin of marrying heathen women compounds the sin of bringing inferior sacrifices to the Temple (Radak). Your betrayal of your Jewish wives caused them to flood the Altar with their tears.

2:15. An allusion to Abraham (see Ezekiel 33:24). The treacherous husbands retorted, "The exalted Abraham did the same thing: Did he not take Hagar while he was married to Sarah?" To this the prophet responded, "Abraham's motive was holy; he had not had any children with Sarah and his only reason for taking Hagar was to raise a family faithful to God. But you have no such higher purpose; how dare you betray your Jewish wives?" (Kara).

2:16. A man who insists on retaining the wife he hates is concealing his dislike, as if covering injustice with his garment. You should at least divorce the wives you dislike so that they would be free to remarry (Rashi).

2:17. You see that wicked people prosper and you conclude that either God loves the wicked or there is no justice in the world (Rashi).

3:1. The prophet Elijah, God's messenger of the he walked with Me in peace and with fairness, and turned many away from inquity.

Lips of the Kohen

*7 For the lips of the Kohen should safeguard knowledge, and people should seek teaching from his mouth; for he is an agent of HASHEM, Master of Legions. 8 But you have veered from the path; you have caused many people to stumble through [your] teaching. You have corrupted the covenant of Levi, says HASHEM, Master of Legions. 9 Therefore, I have also made you repulsive and lowly to all the people, because you do not observe My ways and you show favoritism in [your] teaching.

Denunciation of intermarriage

10 "Have we not all one Father? Did not one God create us [all]? Why, then, is one person betrayed by another, in order to defile the covenant of our forefathers? 11 Judah has betrayed, and an abomination has been done in Israel and in Jerusalem. For Judah has defiled the holy [nation]* of HASHEM, which He loved, and has taken in marriage the daughter of a foreign god. 12 May HASHEM eliminate from the man who does this any child and descendant from the tents of Jacob, and anyone who might present an offering* to HASHEM, Master of Legions. 13 And this is a second [sin] that you commit:* covering the altar of HASHEM with tears, crying and moaning, so that He will no longer turn to [your] offering, or take it with favor from your hand. 14 You say, "Why [is this]?" It is because HASHEM has testified between you and the wife of your youth whom you have betrayed, though she is your companion and the wife of your covenant. 15 [You ask,] "But did not the unique one* do [so], and he had an extraordinary spirit?" And what did the unique one seek? Godly offspring! However, you should guard your spirit and let it not betray the wife of your youth!*

16 For he who hates [his wife] should divorce [her], says HASHEM, God of Israel! He covers injustice with his garment, says HASHEM, Master of Legions! Guard your spirit and do not commit betrayal.*

Questioning God's justice

*17 You have wearied HASHEM with your words, but you say, "How have we wearied Him?" By your saying, "Everyone who does wrong is good in the eyes of HASHEM, and He favors them; or else where is the God of justice?"

God's messenger brings justice

1 Behold, I am sending My messenger, and he will clear a path before Me; suddenly the Lord Whom you seek will come to His Sanctuary, and the messenger of the covenant for whom you yearn, behold, he comes, says HASHEM, Master of Legions. 2 Who can bear the day of his coming and who can survive when he appears? For he will be like the smelter's fire and like the launderers' soap. 3 He will sit smelting and purifying silver; he will purify the children of Levi and refine them like gold and like silver, and they will be for HASHEM presenters of offerings in righteousness. 4 Then the offering of Judah and Jerusalem will be pleasing to HASHEM as in the days of old and in previous years. 5 I will draw near to you for the judgment, and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers; against the adulterers; against those who swear falsely; against those who extort the wage of the worker, the widow and the orphan; and [against] those who wrong the stranger and do not fear Me, says HASHEM, Master of Legions. 6 For I, HASHEM, have not changed;* and you, the sons of Jacob, you have not perished.*

covenant (Radak), will eliminate the wicked from the land in preparation for the Messianic era (Rashi).

3:6. Although I let the wicked prosper, it is not because I have changed (as you suggested in 2:17), but because I am merciful and patient with sinners (Rashi). So too, is your existence as a people guaranteed forever (Radak).

תְּהִלִּים Psalms

For nearly three thousand years, every situation in a Jew's life has been reflected in King David's Book of Psalms. Referring to this Book, God said to David, "One day of your songs and praises is more precious to Me than the thousands of offerings that will be brought by your son Solomon." In illness and in strife, in triumph and in success, the Jew opens his Book of Psalms and lets David become the harp upon which his own emotions sing or weep. Small wonder that when the Chofetz Chaim, as an old man, was presented with his mother's ancient Book of Psalms, its pages swollen with her lifetime of tears, he was overcome with emotion. Who can assess the worth of the little Book that has been the chariot bearing countless tears to the Heavenly Throne?

Upon reading of King David's many ordeals, one can begin to understand how he could compose the psalms that capture every person's joy and grief, thanksgiving and remorse, cries from the heart and songs of happiness. He was the Sweet Singer of Israel; more than that, however, he experienced the travail of every person, and that is why everyone can see himself mirrored in David's psalms.

Many of the psalms were composed to be sung by the Levites in the Temple, with musical accompaniment, and such psalms generally begin by naming the instrument upon which they would be played. Many of the psalms are attributed to authors other than David, but according to one view in the Talmud, he was the author of them all, presumably drawing upon ideas or texts and weaving them into his own compositions.

Whatever the authorship of the psalms, one thing is certain: Since the day it was composed, the Book of Psalms has become interwoven with the souls of countless Jews. The psalms are part of the daily prayers. They are recited at moments of illness and crisis. They are chanted joyously in times of good fortune and when heartfelt prayers have been answered. The last verse of the Book proclaims: "Let all souls [כֹּל הַנְּשָׁמָה] praise God, Hallelujah!" The Sages expound homiletically that the verse also means to teach: "Praise God for every breath [עַל כָּל נְשִׁימָה וּנְשִׁימָה] that you are privileged to take." This degree of gratitude that sees everything — even as automatic an act as drawing a breath — as a Divine gift is one of the countless teachings of David. It is the soul that permeates the entire Book of Psalms.

The Book of Psalms begins by asserting that the keys to good fortune are to shun evil influences and to study the Torah.

[1] Praiseworthy is the man who walked not in the counsel of the wicked, and stood not in the path of the sinful, and sat not in the session of scorners. [2] But his desire is in the Torah of HASHEM, and in His Torah he meditates day and night.* [3] He shall be like a tree deeply rooted alongside brooks of water, that yields its fruit in its season, and whose leaf never withers; and everything that he does will succeed. [4] Not so the wicked; rather [they are] like the chaff that the wind drives away. [5] Therefore the wicked shall not be vindicated in judgment, nor the sinful in the assembly of the righteous — [6] *for HASHEM attends the way of the righteous, while the way of the wicked will perish.

No matter how powerful the force, nothing can thwart God's will. Rashi comments that the psalm alludes to the encounter between the nations and the Messiah.

[1] Why do nations gather, and regimes talk in vain? [2] The kings of the earth take their stand and the princes conspire secretly, against HASHEM and against His anointed:* [3] "Let us cut their cords and let us cast off their ropes from ourselves." [4] He Who sits in heaven will laugh, the Lord will mock them. [5] Then He will speak to them in His anger, and in His wrath He will terrify them: [6] "I Myself have anointed My king, over Zion, My holy mountain!" [7] I am obliged to proclaim that HASHEM said to me, "You are My son, I have begotten you this day. [8] Ask of Me and I will make nations your inheritance, and the ends of the earth your possession. [9] You will smash them with an iron rod; you will shatter them like a potter's vessel." [10] And now, O kings, be wise; be disciplined, O judges of the earth.* [11] Serve HASHEM with awe that you may rejoice when there is trembling. [12] Yearn for purity, lest He grow wrathful and your way be doomed, for in a brief moment His anger will blaze; praiseworthy are all who trust in Him.

Despite the apparent hopelessness of one's situation, trust in God will bring peace and security.

[1] *A psalm by David, as he fled from Absalom his son. [2] HASHEM, how numerous are my tormentors! The great rise up against me! [3] *The great say of my soul, "There is no salvation for him from God, Selah!" [4] But You, HASHEM, are a shield for me, for my soul, and the One Who raises my head. [5] With my voice I call out to HASHEM, and He answers me from His holy mountain, Selah. [6] I lay down and slept, yet I awoke, for HASHEM supports me.* [7] I fear not the myriads of people deployed against me all around. [8] Rise up, HASHEM; save me, my God, for You struck all of my enemies on the cheek. You broke the teeth of the wicked. [9] Salvation is HASHEM's, upon Your people is Your blessing, Selah.

When sinners abandon the deceptiveness of temporary glory and recognize the truth, they will repent and find true happiness.

[1] For the conductor, on the neginos, a psalm by David.* [2] When I call, answer me, O God of my vindication. You have relieved me in my distress; be gracious to me and hear my prayer. [3] O sons of [great] men, how long will you put my honor to shame, love futility, and seek deception? Selah. [4] Be aware that HASHEM has set aside the devout one for Himself; so HASHEM will listen when I call to Him. [5] Tremble, and sin not; reflect in your hearts while on your beds and be utterly silent, Selah. [6] Slaughter offerings of righteousness, and trust in HASHEM. [7] Many say, "Who will show us good? Let the light of Your face shine upon us, HASHEM." [8] [But] You put gladness in my heart that is greater than theirs at the time that their grain and wine abound. [9] In peace, in harmony, I lie down and sleep; for You, HASHEM, will make me dwell solitary and secure.*

to the choristers to raise their voices (Radak); and a notation that directs one to reflect upon the preceding thought (R' Hirsch).

3:6. Crushed under a burden of worry and fear (Rashi).

4:1. Many psalms begin with a direction to the conductor of the Temple orchestra. The neginos is a type of musical instrument (see Radak).

4:9. Even when I am threatened by my enemies, I sleep calmly as if I were enveloped in peace and harmony, for God places me in safety and security (R' Hirsch).

5:1. A type of musical instrument (Rashi).

6:1. Neginos and Sheminis are types of musical instruments.

6:2. Even if I deserve to be punished, do so gradually, not in anger, for then it would be beyond my endurance (Radak).

6:4. How long will You let me suffer?

7:1. A type of musical instrument.

Kush ben Yemini was an enemy of David (see Rashi).

7:5. Without any expectation of reward, David restrained his followers from killing his pursuer, Saul (see I Samuel 24:8; 26:8-9).

7:8. An attack on Your anointed king is an attack against You (Radak).

7:10. God knows the true character of each person and metes out His justice accordingly.

When beset by enemies, pray for deliverance, not merely to alleviate physical suffering, but to be free to serve God without distraction.

[1] For the conductor, on the nechilos, * a psalm by David. [2] Hear my words, HASHEM, perceive my thoughts. [3] Hearken to the sound of my outcry, my King and my God, for to You do I pray. [4] HASHEM, at dawn hear my voice, at dawn as I arrange [my prayer] before You, and I wait expectantly. [5] For You are not a God who desires wickedness, no evil sojourns with You. [6] Roisterers cannot stand firm before Your eyes, You despise all evildoers. [7] May You doom the speakers of deception; HASHEM abhors a bloodthirsty and deceitful man. [8] But I, through Your abundant kindness I will enter Your house; I will prostrate myself toward Your Holy Sanctuary in awe of You. [9] HASHEM, guide me in Your righteousness, because of my watchful enemies; make Your way straight before me. [10] For there is no sincerity in the mouth of any of them, their inner [thought] is treacherous; their throat an open grave, their tongue is glib. [11] Declare them guilty, O God, may they fall short in their schemes; cast them away because of their many sins, for they have rebelled against You. [12] But all who take refuge in You will rejoice, they will sing joyously forever, You will shelter them; and those who love Your Name will exult in You. [13] When You will bless the righteous, HASHEM, You will envelop him with favor like a shield.

A prayer for when the community or individual suffers oppression and deprivation, sickness and distress.

[1] For the conductor, with the neginos; on the sheminis. * A psalm by David. [2] HASHEM, do not rebuke me in Your anger, nor chastise me in Your wrath. * [3] Favor me, HASHEM, for I am feeble; heal me, HASHEM, for my bones shudder with terror. [4] My soul is utterly terrified, and You, HASHEM, how long?* [5] Desist, HASHEM, release my soul; save me as befits Your kindness. [6] For in death there is no mention of You; in the grave who will praise You? [7] I am wearied with my sigh, every night I drench my bed with my tears, I soak my couch. [8] My eye is dimmed because of anger, aged by all my tormentors. [9] Depart from me, all evildoers, for HASHEM has heard the sound of my weeping. [10] HASHEM has heard my plea, HASHEM will accept my prayer. [11] Let all my foes be shamed and utterly confounded, they will regret and be shamed in an instant.

The righteous take heart in knowing that they will prevail over the wicked, while their enemies will fall victim to their own schemes.

[1] A [song of the] shiggayon, * by David; which he sang to HASHEM concerning Kush ben Yemini. * [2] HASHEM, my God, in You I seek refuge, save me from all my pursuers and rescue me — [3] lest, like a lion, he tear my soul asunder, dismembering with none to rescue. [4] HASHEM, my God, if I have done this, if there is injustice in my hands; [5] if I have paid with evil those who were at peace with me — I, who rescued my tormentors gratuitously: * — [6] then let the enemy pursue my soul and overtake it, let him trample my life to the ground, and lay my soul in the dust, Selah. [7] Rise up, HASHEM, in Your anger, be lifted in fury against my tormentors, and awaken on my behalf [according to] the decree You commanded. [8] When the assembly of nations surrounds You, * then rise above it — return to the heights. [9] HASHEM will punish the peoples; judge me, HASHEM, reward me according to my righteousness and my integrity. [10] Let the evil of the wicked destroy them, but You will sustain the righteous one; for the Searcher of hearts and minds is the righteous God. * [11] My protection lies with God Who saves the upright of heart. [12] God is a righteous Judge, and God is angered every day. * [13] If one does not repent, He will sharpen His sword; He has bent his bow and aimed it. [14] And for him He prepared the instruments of death, He will use His arrows

7:12-13. God is ever mindful of evil and holds the instruments of retribution in readiness.

8:1. A type of musical instrument.

8:3. With uncorrupted intelligence, even children can perceive God's hand in Creation. Such intelligence is the "strength" God has "established" for man, so that he can refute and silence enemies of truth.

9:1. An enemy of David.

10:4. Wicked people assume that God will not punish misdeeds.

against those in hot pursuit. 15 Behold, he conceives iniquity, is pregnant with evil schemes, but he gives birth to failure. 16 He has dug a pit, and dug it deep, only to fall into a trap of his making. 17 His mischief will recoil upon his [own] head, and upon his [own] skull will his violence descend. 18 [Then] I will thank HASHEM according to his righteousness, and sing praises to the Name of HASHEM the Supreme.

8

One with clarity of vision perceives God's handiwork everywhere and realizes that all man's accomplishments are His gifts.

1 For the conductor, on the gittis, a psalm by David.* 2 HASHEM, our Master, how mighty is Your Name throughout the earth, [You] Who places Your majesty on the heavens. 3 *Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings You have established strength, because of Your enemies, to silence foe and avenger. 4 When I behold Your heavens, the work of Your fingers, the moon and the stars that You have set in place, [I think,] 5 "What is frail man that You should remember him, and the son of mortal man that You should be mindful of him?" 6 Yet, You have made him but slightly less than the angels, and crowned him with soul and splendor. 7 You give him dominion over Your handiwork, You placed everything under his feet: 8 sheep and cattle, all of them, even the beasts of the field; 9 the birds of the sky and the fish of the sea; for [man] even traverses the lanes of the sea. 10 HASHEM, our Master, how mighty is Your Name throughout the earth!

Despite their dazzling successes, the wicked will fade into oblivion; only the Godly will prevail.

1 For the conductor, upon the death of Labben, a psalm by David.* 2 I will thank HASHEM with all my heart, I will proclaim all Your wondrous deeds. 3 I will rejoice and exult in You, I will sing praise to Your Name, Most High. 4 When my enemies turn backward, they stumble and perish from before You. 5 For You executed my judgment and my cause; You sat on the throne, O righteous Judge. 6 You destroyed nations and doomed the wicked; You blotted out their name for all eternity. 7 The enemy, [his] ruins are forever gone; and the cities that You uprooted, their memory is lost. 8 For HASHEM is enthroned forever, He prepares His throne for judgment. 9 And He will judge the world in righteousness, He will judge the regimes with fairness. 10 HASHEM will be a fortress for the oppressed, a fortress in times of distress. 11 And those who know Your Name will trust in You, for You have not forsaken those who seek You, HASHEM. 12 Sing to HASHEM Who dwells in Zion, proclaim His deeds among the peoples. 13 That the Avenger of blood has remembered them, He has not forgotten the cry of the humble. 14 Have mercy on me, O HASHEM, see my affliction by my foes, You Who raises me above the gates of death; 15 so that I may proclaim all Your praises, in the gates of the daughter of Zion, I will rejoice in Your salvation: 16 "The nations sank in their self-made pit, in the very trap they concealed, their own foot was ensnared. 17 HASHEM became known through the judgment that He executed; through his own handiwork was the wicked person entrapped, reflect on this, Selah." 18 The wicked will return to the depths of the grave, all the nations that forget God; 19 for the pauper shall not be forgotten eternally, nor the hope of the afflicted forever perish. 20 Arise, HASHEM, let not frail man feel invincible! Let the peoples be judged before You. 21 HASHEM, place [Your] mastery over them, that the peoples may know they are but frail men, Selah!

God punishes the wicked and champions the downtrodden.

1 Why, HASHEM, do You stand aloof, do You conceal Yourself in times of distress? 2 In the wicked one's haughtiness, he hunts down the poor, who are caught in the schemes they have contrived. 3 [Why do You stand aloof] when the wicked man glories in his personal desire, and the robber praises himself that he has blasphemed HASHEM? 4 *The wicked man, in the pride of his countenance, [says]: "He will not avenge!" All his schemes are: "There is no Divine Judge."

10:15. When you will break the power of the wicked, those tempted to emulate them will repent.

10:17. Life's hardships make it difficult to pray properly. Therefore, we entreat God to guide our heart in prayer, so that we will be worthy of His attentiveness (Radak).

11:1. David confronts the scoffers who urge him to abandon his trust in God (Malbim).

11:4. This answers the scoffers: Although God is infinitely exalted, He is thoroughly cognizant of human affairs.

11:5. It is specifically the righteous whom God chastises in order to purify them (Rashi).

12:3. Literally, with two hearts. Outwardly they display friendship, but their hearts harbor animosity.

12:8. The aforementioned poor and needy.

13:2. David speaks prophetically on behalf of Israel in exile.

13:3. How long must I continue to devise schemes to extricate myself from my distress?

5 His ways are always successful, Your judgments are far removed from him; all his foes — he puffs at them! 6 He says in his heart: "I shall not falter, throughout generations I will be without adversity." 7 His mouth is filled with [false] oaths, with deception and malice; under his tongue are mischief and iniquity. 8 He waits in ambush near open cities, in hidden places he murders the innocent, his eyes spy on the helpless. 9 He lurks in hiding like a lion in his lair, he lurks to seize the poor; then he seizes the poor when he draws his net. 10 He lowers himself; he crouches; and the helpless fall prey to his mighty limbs. 11 He says in his heart: "God has forgotten, He has hidden His face, He will never see."

12 Arise, O HASHEM! O God, raise Your hand, do not forget the humble! 13 Why does the wicked man blaspheme God? Because he says in his heart: "You will not avenge." 14 But You do see! For You observe mischief and vexation, to dispense [punishment] is in Your power; the helpless rely upon You. The orphan — You were the helper. 15 *Break the power of the wicked; and the bad one — You will search for his wickedness and find it not. 16 HASHEM is King forever and ever, when the nations have perished from His earth. 17 *The desire of the humble You have heard, HASHEM; guide their heart; let Your ear be attentive: 18 to champion the orphan and the downtrodden, so that he shall no longer be terrified of an earthly mortal.

The righteous suffer to atone for sin, but are rewarded in the World to Come. Evildoers are rewarded in This World.

1 For the conductor, by David. In HASHEM I have taken refuge. How dare you say to me, "Flee from your mountain like a bird!* 2 For, behold, the wicked bend the bow, ready their arrow on the bowstring, to shoot in the dark at the upright of heart. 3 When the foundations are destroyed, what has the righteous man accomplished?"

4 *HASHEM is in the abode of His holiness, HASHEM's Throne is in heaven; His eyes behold, His eyelids scrutinize mankind. 5 HASHEM examines the righteous one, but He despises the wicked and the lover of violence.* 6 He will rain down coals upon the wicked; fire and brimstone and a burning blast is their allotted portion. 7 For HASHEM is righteous, He loves those of righteous deeds — those whose faces behold uprightness.

Human friendship and loyalty are often suspect; but God's assurances are pure and enduring.

1 For the conductor, on the sheminis, a psalm by David. 2 Save, O HASHEM, for the devout one is no more, for truthful people have vanished from mankind. 3 Each man speaks untruth to his neighbor; a lip of smooth talk, with an insincere heart do they speak.* 4 May HASHEM excise all lips of smooth talk, the tongue which speaks boastfully. 5 Those who have said, "Because of our tongues we shall prevail, our lips are with us, who is master over us?" 6 Because of the plundering of the poor, because of the cry of the needy — "Now I will arise!" HASHEM will say. "I will grant safety," He will speak regarding him. 7 The words of HASHEM are pure words; like purified silver, clear to the world, refined sevenfold. 8 You, HASHEM, will guard them, You will preserve each one forever from such a generation,* 9 [in which] the wicked walk on every side, when baseness is exalted among the sons of men.

Exile is like a long, dark, seemingly endless night.

1 For the conductor, a psalm by David. 2 How long, HASHEM, will You endlessly forget me? How long will You hide Your countenance from me? 3 How long must I set schemes within myself? My heart is melancholy even by day. How long will my enemy triumph over me?* 4 Look! Answer me, HASHEM, my God! Enlighten my eyes, lest I sleep the sleep of death. 5 Lest my enemy boast, 14:3. No one from among the nations protests the atrocities perpetrated by his leaders against Israel (Rashi).

15:4. He does not insincerely flatter those who are contemptible (Metzudos).

16:1. A musical instrument.

16:2. David addresses his soul: You, my soul, have said . . .

16:3. You have given me everything in the merit of my righteous ancestors (Rashi).

17:3. You examined my thoughts at night, when, free from distraction, a person can think, but You found nothing improper in me (Ibn Ezra).

"I have overcome him!"; lest my tormentors rejoice when I falter. [6] But as for me, I trust in Your kindness; my heart will exult in Your salvation. I will sing to HASHEM, for He has dealt kindly with me.*

The entire world may have gone astray, but God will yet redeem His nation and Israel will rejoice.

[1] For the conductor, by David. The degraded one says in his heart, "There is no God!" They have acted corruptly and abominably [in their] action; there is no doer of good. [2] From heaven HASHEM gazed down upon mankind, to see if there exists a reflective person who seeks out God. [3] Everyone has gone astray, together they have become depraved; there is no doer of good, there is not even one.* [4] Do they not realize — all those evildoers, who devour my people as they would devour bread, who do not call upon HASHEM — [5] [that] there they will be struck with terror, for God is with the righteous generation? [6] You shame the poor man's counsel, that HASHEM is his refuge. [7] O, that out of Zion would come Israel's salvation! When HASHEM restores the captivity of His people, Jacob will exult, Israel will rejoice.

The way to come closer to God is to be generous and honest toward man.

[1] A psalm by David. HASHEM, who may sojourn in Your Tent? Who may dwell on Your Holy Mountain? [2] One who walks in perfect innocence, and does what is right, and speaks the truth from his heart; [3] who has no slander on his tongue, who has done his fellow no evil, nor cast disgrace upon his close one; [4] in whose eyes a contemptible person is repulsive, but who honors those who fear HASHEM; who can swear to his detriment without retracting;* [5] who lends not his money on interest; and takes not a bribe against the innocent. The doer of these shall not falter forever.

Talent and external forces are merely the Creator's tools in guiding history.

[1] A [song of the] michtam by David. Protect me O God, for I have sought refuge in You.* [2] You have said to HASHEM, "You are my Master, I have no claim to Your benefit."* [3] For the sake of the holy ones who are [interred] in the earth and for the mighty — all my desires are fulfilled because of them.* [4] Their sorrows will multiply, those who rush after other [gods]; I shall not pour their libations of blood; I shall not carry their names upon my lips. [5] HASHEM is my allotted portion and my share, You guide my destiny. [6] Portions have fallen to me in pleasant places, even the inheritance is beautiful to me. [7] I will bless HASHEM Who has advised me, also in the nights my intellect instructs me. [8] I have set HASHEM before me always; because He is at my right hand I shall not falter. [9] For this reason my heart rejoices and my soul is elated; my flesh, too, rests in confidence: [10] Because You will not abandon my soul to the grave, You will not allow Your devout one to witness destruction. [11] You will make known to me the path of life, the fullness of joys in Your Presence, the delights that are in Your right hand for eternity.

The righteous person beseeches God to examine his deeds, to protect him from his enemies, and to allow him to enjoy God's glory.

[1] A prayer of David: Hear, HASHEM, what is righteous, be attentive to my entreaty; give ear to my prayer, which is from lips without deceit. [2] May my judgment go out from before You, Your eyes behold uprightness. [3] You examined my heart, You searched at night; You tested me — You found not; my thoughts do not transgress the words of my mouth.* [4] So that [my] human deeds would accord with the word of Your lips, I guarded myself from the paths of the lawless; [5] supporting my strides in Your pathways, my footsteps did not falter. [6] I have called out to You, because You will answer me, O God; incline Your ear to me, hear my utterance. [7] Demonstrate clearly Your kindnesses, [You] Who saves with Your right hand those who seek refuge [in You] from those who arise [against 17:10. Their prosperity has blocked their hearts and eyes from any awareness and fear of God.

17:13. The wicked are merely God's tools to execute His judgments.

17:15. I will enjoy the true bliss of perceiving God when I awake to the life and clarity of the World to Come (R' Hirsch).

18:1. With minor differences this psalm appears as Chapter 22 of II Samuel.

18:8-16. These verses contain allegorical depictions of the disasters that God visited upon Israel's mighty enemies (Radak).

18:10. God intervened in the course of human affairs (Ralbag).

18:11. God's punishment of the enemy came swiftly (Ibn Ezra).

18:22. If I did sin, it was unintentional (Radak).

them]. [8] Guard me like the apple of the eye; shelter me in the shadow of Your wings, [9] from the wicked who have plundered me, my mortal enemies who surround me. [10] In their fat they enclose themselves; their mouths speak with arrogance. [11] As we step forth they immediately surround us, they fix their gaze to spread over the land. [12] His appearance is like a lion that yearns to tear asunder; and like a young lion lurking in hiding. [13] Rise up, HASHEM, confront him and bring him to his knees; rescue my soul from the wicked one, who is Your sword.* [14] O to be among those who die by Your hand, HASHEM, who die of old age — whose portion is eternal life, and whose belly You fill with Your concealed treasure; they are sated with sons and they bequeath their abundance to their babes. [15] And I — in righteousness I shall behold Your face; upon awakening I will be sated by Your image.

David earned the right to sing God's praises by perceiving the Divine hand in all the trials and triumphs of his long and varied career.

[1] For the conductor; by the servant of HASHEM, by David; who spoke the words of this song to HASHEM, on the day that HASHEM delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul. [2] He said: I will love You, HASHEM, my Strength. [3] HASHEM is my Rock, my Fortress, and my Rescuer; my God, my Rock in Whom I take shelter, my Shield, and the Horn of my Salvation, my Stronghold. [4] With praises I call unto HASHEM, and I am saved from my enemies. [5] The pains of death encircled me, and torrents of godless men would frighten me. [6] The pains of the grave surrounded me, the snares of death confronted me. [7] In my distress I would call upon HASHEM, and to my God I would cry [for salvation]. From His abode He would hear my voice, my cry to Him would reach His ears. [8] And the earth quaked and roared,* the foundations of the mountains shook; they quaked when His wrath flared. [9] Smoke rose up in His nostrils, a devouring fire from His mouth, flaming coals blazed forth from Him. [10] He bent down the heavens and descended,* with thick darkness beneath His feet. [11] He mounted a cherub and flew; He swooped on the wings of the wind.* [12] He made darkness His concealment, around Him His shelter — the darkness of water, the clouds of heaven. [13] From out of the brilliance that is before Him, His clouds passed over, with hail and fiery coals. [14] And HASHEM thundered in the heavens, the Most High gave forth hail and fiery coals. [15] He sent forth His arrows and scattered them; many lightning bolts, and He terrified them. [16] And the depths of the water became visible, the foundations of the earth were laid bare; by Your rebuke, HASHEM, by the blowing of the breath of Your nostrils. [17] He sent from on high and took me, He drew me out of deep waters. [18] He saved me from my mighty foe, and from my enemies when they overpowered me. [19] They confronted me on the day of my misfortune, but HASHEM was a support unto me. [20] He brought me out into a broad space, He released me for He desired me. [21] HASHEM recompensed me according to my righteousness; He repaid me befitting the cleanliness of my hands. [22] For I have kept the ways of HASHEM, and I have not departed wickedly* from my God. [23] For all His judgments are before me, and I shall not remove His decrees from myself. [24] I was perfectly innocent with Him, and I was vigilant against my sin. [25] HASHEM repaid me in accordance with my righteousness, according to the purity of my hands before His eyes. [26] With the devout You act devoutly, with the wholehearted man You act wholeheartedly. [27] With the pure You act purely, and with the crooked You act perversely. [28] For it is You Who saves a humble people, and haughty eyes You bring down. [29] For it is You Who will light my lamp, HASHEM, my God, illuminates my darkness. [30] For with You* 18:36. You condescended to pay special attention to me, although I am unworthy.

19:3. Each day brings to light more and more of the Divine wisdom in Creation (Malbim).

19:4. Yet man's soul discerns their message clearly.

19:8. God's Torah directs man to his true place in the scheme of Creation.

19:14. Do not let my evil inclination overpower me. God assists those who yearn to do what is right and proper (Yoma 38b).

20:3. David prayed that his aid come from the Sanctuary, based in holiness, and not from unholy sources such as the hands of gentile kings and armies.

I smash a troop, and with my God I leap over a wall. 31 The God! His way is perfect; the promise of HASHEM is flawless, He is a shield for all who take refuge in Him. 32 For who is God besides HASHEM, and who is a rock except for our God? 33 The God Who girds me with strength and Who made my way perfect, 34 Who straightened my feet like the hinds, and stood me upon my heights, 35 Who trained my hands for battle so that a copper bow could be bent by my arms. 36 You have given me the shield of Your salvation; and Your right hand has sustained me, and Your humility made me great.* 37 You have widened my stride beneath me, and my ankles have not faltered. 38 I pursued my foes and overtook them, and returned not until they were destroyed. 39 I struck them down and they could not rise, they fell beneath my feet. 40 You girded me with strength for battle, You brought my adversaries to their knees beneath me. 41 And my enemies — You gave to me in retreat; and my antagonists — I cut them down. 42 They cried out, but there was no savior; to HASHEM, but He answered them not. 43 I pulverized them like dust in the face of the storm, like mud of the streets I poured them out. 44 You rescued me from the strife of the people; You have made me the head of the nations, a people I did not know serves me. 45 At the ear's hearing they obey me, foreigners lie to me. 46 Foreigners are withered and terrified [even] from within their fortified enclosures. 47 HASHEM lives! Blessed is my Rock, and the God of my salvation is exalted! 48 The God Who grants me vengeance, and subjugates nations beneath me; 49 You rescue me from my foes; even above my adversaries You raise me; from the man of violence You rescue me. 50 Therefore, I shall give thanks to You among the nations, HASHEM, and to Your Name I will sing. 51 Who magnifies the salvations of His king, and does kindness to His anointed one, to David and his offspring, forever.

Contemplation of nature and study of Torah will teach man to relate to God and to achieve spiritual fulfillment.

1 For the conductor, a psalm by David. 2 The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament tells of His handiwork. 3 Day following day utters speech, and night following night declares knowledge.* 4 *There is no speech and there are no words; their sound is not heard. 5 [But] their precision goes forth throughout the earth, and their words reach the end of the inhabited world. In their midst He has set up a tent for the sun, 6 which is like a groom emerging from his bridal chamber, it rejoices like a powerful warrior to run the course. 7 Its source is the end of the heavens and its circuit is to their end; nothing is hidden from its heat. 8 The Torah of HASHEM is perfect, restoring the soul; the testimony of HASHEM is trustworthy, making the simple one wise;* 9 the orders of HASHEM are upright, gladdening the heart; the command of HASHEM is clear, enlightening the eyes; 10 the fear of HASHEM is pure, enduring forever; the judgments of HASHEM are true, altogether righteous. 11 They are more desirable than gold, than even much fine gold; and sweeter than honey, and drippings from the combs. 12 Also, when Your servant is scrupulous in them, in observing them there is great reward. 13 Who can discern mistakes? Cleanse me from unperceived faults. 14 Also from intentional sins, restrain Your servant; let them not rule me, then I shall be perfect; and I will be cleansed of great transgression.* 15 May the expressions of my mouth and the thoughts of my heart find favor before You, HASHEM, my Rock and my Redeemer.

God responds in times of distress.

1 For the conductor, a psalm by David. 2 May HASHEM answer you on the day of distress; may the Name of Jacob's God make you impregnable. 3 May He dispatch your help from the Sanctuary, and support you from Zion.* 4 May He remember all your offerings, and consider your burnt-offerings generous, Selah. 5 May He grant you your heart's [desire], and fulfill your every plan. 6 May we sing

21:2. David speaks of himself in the third person: "I do not rejoice in my own strength, but in Yours."

21:5. Even if the chain of Jewish sovereignty is interrupted, the monarchy will be restored to the seed of David (Meiri).

21:7. People will bless each other with the wish, "May God make you like him" (Radak).

22:1. Aiyeles hashachar is a musical instrument.

22:13. Powerful empires.

22:17. Frenzied mobs comprised of the base people.

22:19. They wish to take my mantle of royalty for themselves (Ibn Ezra).

22:22. The reimim are exceptionally powerful, horned beasts (see below 29:6), variously identified as buffaloes, rhinoceroses, unicorns, etc.

for joy at your salvation, and raise our banner in the Name of our God; may HASHEM fulfill all your requests. [7] Now I know that HASHEM has saved His anointed one; He will answer him from His sacred heaven, with the omnipotent victories of His right arm. [8] Some with chariots, and some with horses; but we, in the Name of HASHEM, our God, call out. [9] They slumped and fell, but we arose and were invigorated. [10] HASHEM save! May the King answer us on the day we call.

More than anyone else, kings and powerful people must set an example by acknowledging God's kindness.

[1] For the conductor, a psalm by David. [2] HASHEM, in Your might the king rejoices, and in Your salvation how greatly does he exult.* [3] You have granted him his heart's desire, and the utterance of his lips You have not withheld, Selah! [4] For You anticipate him with blessings of good; You place on his head a crown of pure gold. [5] *Life he requested of You, You gave it to him; length of days forever and ever. [6] Great is his glory in Your salvation; majesty and splendor You confer upon him. [7] For You set him for blessings forever; You gladden him with the joy of Your Presence.* [8] For the king trusts in HASHEM, and in the kindness of the Most High, that he will not falter. [9] Your hand will suffice for all Your foes, Your right hand will find Your enemies. [10] You will make them like a fiery furnace at the time of Your anger; may HASHEM consume them in His wrath, and let a fire devour them. [11] Wipe their progeny from the earth, and their offspring from mankind. [12] For they have directed evil against You, they have concocted a scheme they cannot carry out. [13] For You shall place them as a portion [apart]; with Your bowstrings You will aim at their faces. [14] Be exalted, HASHEM, in Your might; we shall sing and chant the praise of Your omnipotence.

Speaking as an individual, the Jew prays for a final end to Israel's long exile from its land and its Temple.

[1] For the conductor, on the aiyeles hashachar, a psalm by David.* [2] My God, my God, why have You forsaken me; why so far from saving me, from the words of my roar? [3] O my God! I call out by day, but You answer not; and by night, but there is no respite for me. [4] Yet You are the Holy One, enthroned upon the praises of Israel! [5] In You our fathers trusted, they trusted and You delivered them. [6] To You they cried out and they were rescued; in You they trusted and they were not shamed. [7] But I am a worm and not a man, scorn of humanity, despised of people. [8] All who see me, deride me; they open wide with [their] lip, they wag [their] head. [9] If one commits himself to HASHEM, He will deliver him! He will rescue him, for He desires him! [10] For You are the One Who drew me forth from the womb, and made me secure on my mother's breasts. [11] I was cast upon You from birth, from my mother's womb You have been my God. [12] Be not aloof from me for distress is near, for there is none to help. [13] Many bulls surround me, Bashan's mighty ones encircle me.* [14] They open their mouths against me like a tearing, roaring lion. [15] I am poured out like water, and all my bones became disjointed; my heart is like wax, melted within my innards. [16] My strength is dried up like baked clay, and my tongue cleaves to my palate; in the dust of death You set me down. [17] For dogs have surrounded me; a pack of evildoers has enclosed me, like [the prey of] a lion are my hands and my feet.* [18] I can count all my bones; they look on and gloat over me. [19] *They divide my garments among themselves, and cast lots for my clothing. [20] But You, HASHEM, be not far. O my Strength, hasten to my assistance! [21] Rescue my soul from the sword, my essence from the grip of the dog. [22] *Save me from the lion's mouth as You have answered me from the horns of the reimim. [23] I will proclaim Your Name to my brethren; in the midst of the congregation I will praise You. [24] You who fear

22:30. The prosperous nations, who were all destined for the grave and for mortality, will return to God [and their repentance will be accepted] (Meiri). But there are those among them who will descend to the grave and whose souls He will not revive even though they now kneel before Him. These are the ones whose hands are stained with Jewish blood (Radak).

22:31. Even though all of mankind will eventually return to God, Israel will remain foremost among them (Radak; Meiri).

23:4. The morbid "valley" is a characterization of all exiles. Alternatively, it is a place so dangerous that it is as dark and forbidding as the grave.

24:3-4. One who wishes to enjoy spiritual elevation must refine his behavior.

24:4. Honest in his dealings with man; reverent in his attitude toward God.

HASHEM, praise Him! All of you, seed of Jacob, glorify Him! Be in awe of Him, all you seed of Israel. [25] For He has neither despised nor loathed the supplication of the poor, nor has He concealed His face from him; but when he cried to Him, He heard. [26] From You is my praise in the great congregation; I will fulfill my vows before those who fear Him. [27] The humble will eat and be satisfied, those who seek HASHEM will praise Him — your hearts will live forever. [28] All the ends of the earth will remember and turn back to HASHEM; all the families of nations will bow before You. [29] For the kingship belongs to HASHEM, and He rules the nations. [30] All the fat ones of the earth will eat and bow down; all who descend to the dust will kneel before Him, but He will not revive each one's soul. * [31] About the seed of those who have served Him, * it will be told of the Lord to the latter generation. [32] They will come and relate His righteousness, to the newborn nation that which He has done.

Whether in a verdant meadow or a parched desert, God provides man's every need.

[1] A psalm by David. HASHEM is my shepherd, I shall not lack. [2] In lush meadows He lays me down, beside tranquil waters He leads me. [3] He restores my soul. He leads me on paths of righteousness for His Name's sake. [4] Though I walk in the valley overshadowed by death, * I will fear no evil, for You are with me. Your rod and Your staff, they comfort me. [5] You prepare a table before me in view of my tormentors. You anointed my head with oil, my cup overflows. [6] May only goodness and kindness pursue me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in the House of HASHEM for long days.

More than the land, brick and mortar, only the personal qualities of the worshipers can build God's Temple.

[1] By David, a psalm. HASHEM's is the earth and its fullness, the inhabited land and those who dwell in it. [2] For He founded it upon seas, and established it upon rivers. [3] Who may ascend the mountain of HASHEM, * and who may stand in the place of His sanctity? [4] One with clean hands and pure heart; who has not sworn in vain by My soul, and has not sworn deceitfully. * [5] He will receive a blessing from HASHEM and just kindness from the God of his salvation. [6] This is the generation of those who seek Him, those who strive for Your Presence, [the nation of] Jacob, Selah. [7] Raise up your heads, O gates, and be uplifted, you everlasting entrances, so that the King of Glory may enter. [8] Who is this King of Glory? HASHEM, the mighty and strong; HASHEM, the strong in battle. [9] Raise up your heads, O gates, and raise up, you everlasting entrances, so that the King of Glory may enter. [10] Who is He, this King of Glory? HASHEM, Master of Legions, He is the King of Glory, Selah!

The righteous person seeks closeness to God and salvation from distress by repenting and extolling God's kindness to those who seek Him.

[1] By David: To You HASHEM I lift up my soul. * [2] My God, in You I have trusted, let me not be shamed; let not my enemies exult over me. [3] Also, let none who hope in You be shamed; let those who betray without cause be shamed. [4] Make Your ways known to me, HASHEM; teach me Your paths. [5] Lead me in Your truth and teach me, for You are the God of my salvation, to You I have hoped all the day. [6] Remember Your mercies, * HASHEM, and Your kindnesses, for they are eternal. [7] Remember not the sins of my youth and my rebellions; may You remember for me [the deeds] worthy of Your kindness, because of Your goodness, HASHEM. [8] Good and upright is HASHEM, therefore He guides sinners on the way. * [9] He leads the humble with justice, and teaches His way to the humble. [10] All the ways of HASHEM are kindness and truth, to those who guard His covenant and testimonies. [11] For Your Name's sake, HASHEM, pardon my guilt for it is great. [12] Whosoever is 25:1. I dedicate it to Your service (Ibn Ezra).

25:6. To bestow them upon me now as You have always done previously.

25:8. Toward repentance.

26:3. I have been loyal to You because my goal was not to ingratiate myself to men, only to be worthy of Your kindness (see Radak; R' Hirsch).

26:6. I come to worship God not sullied by sin but in true repentance.

27:4. This request embodies all of my desires: to serve God and understand His ways (Malbim).

27:10. After my adolescence, they sent me out on my own (Sforno).

27:13. The conclusion of this exclamation is implied: If not for my faith, the relentless attacks of such false witnesses would have overwhelmed me long ago (Rashi; Radak). The "land of life" is the World to Come (Berachos 4a).

the man who fears HASHEM, He will teach him the way that he should choose. 13 His soul will repose in goodness, and his offspring will inherit the land. 14 The secret of HASHEM is to those who fear Him, and His covenant to inform them. 15 My eyes are constantly toward HASHEM, for He will remove my feet from the snare. 16 Turn to me and show me favor, for I am alone and afflicted. 17 The troubles of my heart have broadened, release me from my distresses. 18 See my afflictions and my toil, and forgive all my sins. 19 See my foes, that they have become many, and they hate me with violent animosity. 20 Protect my soul and rescue me; let me not be ashamed, for I take refuge in You. 21 Perfect innocence and uprightness will guard me, for I hope to You. 22 Redeem Israel, O God, from all its distresses.

A righteous person walks in purity and vigilance, and prays for Divine help in avoiding life's pitfalls.

1 By David. Judge me, HASHEM, for I — I have walked in my perfect innocence; and I have trusted in HASHEM, I shall not waver. 2 Examine me, HASHEM, and test me; scrutinize my intellect and my heart. 3 For Your kindness is before my eyes, and I have walked in Your truth.* 4 I did not sit with dishonest people, nor did I associate with hypocrites. 5 I hated the gathering of evildoers, and I did not sit with the wicked. 6 I wash my hands in purity and circle around Your altar, HASHEM.* 7 To proclaim thanksgiving in a loud voice and to recount all Your wondrous deeds. 8 HASHEM, I love the shelter of Your House and the place of Your glory's residence. 9 Gather not my soul with sinners; nor my life with men of bloodshed, 10 in whose hands is conspiracy, and whose right hand is full of bribery. 11 As for me, I will walk in my perfect innocence, redeem me and show me favor. 12 My foot is set on the straight path, in assemblies I will bless HASHEM.

The House of God provides the sole island of constancy amid life's swirling waters of pain and disappointment. To dwell in it is David's constant goal.

1 By David. HASHEM is my light and my salvation, whom shall I fear? HASHEM is my life's strength, whom shall I dread? 2 When evildoers approach me to devour my flesh, my tormentors and my foes against me, it is they who stumble and fall. 3 Though an army would besiege me, my heart would not fear; though war would arise against me, in this I trust. 4 One thing I asked of HASHEM, that shall I seek: Would that I dwell in the House of HASHEM all the days of my life, to behold the sweetness of HASHEM and to contemplate in His Sanctuary.* 5 Indeed, He will hide me in His Shelter on the day of evil; He will conceal me in the concealment of His Tent; He will lift me upon a rock. 6 Now my head is raised above my enemies around me, and I will slaughter offerings in His Tent accompanied by joyous song; I will sing and chant praise to HASHEM. 7 HASHEM, hear my voice when I call, be gracious toward me and answer me. 8 In Your behalf, my heart has said, "Seek My Presence." Your Presence, HASHEM, do I seek. 9 Conceal not Your Presence from me, repel not Your servant in anger. You have been my Helper, abandon me not, forsake me not, O God of my salvation. 10 Though my father and mother have forsaken me, HASHEM will gather me in.* 11 Teach me Your way, HASHEM; and lead me on the path of integrity, because of my watchful foes. 12 Deliver me not to the wishes of my tormentors, for there have arisen against me false witnesses who breathe out violence. 13 *Had I not trusted that I would see the goodness of HASHEM in the land of life! 14 Hope to HASHEM; strengthen yourself and He will give you courage, and hope to HASHEM.

1 By David. To You, HASHEM, I call, my Rock, be not deaf to me; for should You be silent to me I would be likened to those who descend to the grave. 2 Hear the sound of my supplications when I cry to You; when I lift my hands towards 28:6. Such was David's trust that he speaks as if he had already been answered (Meiri).

29:1. Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, who were "powerful" in their righteousness.

29:6. See 22:22.

29:7. When God pronounced the Ten Commandments, the very words sprang forth like fire, so to speak, and seared their way into the Tablets of the Law (Midrash).

29:8. "Kadesh," cognate with kadosh, "holy," is another name for the Wilderness of Sinai, where Israel became sanctified by accepting the Torah.

29:10. In Messianic times God's reign will be as absolute as it was during the Flood, when nearly all life was washed away.

30:4. The flames of frustration, anguish, and melancholy are the equivalent of the fires of Gehinnom, "the netherworld." Thus, the Talmud (Nedarim 22a) teaches, "Whoever becomes angry is subjected to all types of Gehinnom" (R' Yerucham Levovitz).

31:2. David composed this psalm while in flight from Saul's relentless pursuit. Time and again his whereabouts

When He favors the righteous and rejects those unmindful of Him, God assists man in remaining on His chosen path.

Your Holy Sanctuary. [3] Do not cause me to be drawn with the wicked and with the doers of iniquity, who speak peace with their companions though evil is in their hearts. [4] Give them according to their deeds and according to the evil of their actions; according to their handiwork give them, render their recompense to them. [5] For they do not contemplate the deeds of HASHEM or His handiwork; may He tear them down and not rebuild them. [6] Blessed is HASHEM, for He has heard the sound of my supplications. [7] HASHEM is my strength and my shield, in Him my heart trusted and I was helped; and my heart exulted, with my song I praise Him: [8] "HASHEM is strength to them; and the stronghold of salvations for His anointed is He." [9] Save Your nation, and bless Your inheritance; tend them and elevate them forever.*

God's power and glory pervade all of creation. It functions solely according to His will, as has been manifested by His intervention in history.

[1] A psalm of David: Render unto HASHEM, you sons of the powerful, render unto HASHEM honor and might. [2] Render unto HASHEM the honor due His Name, bow to HASHEM in the beauty of holiness. [3] The voice of HASHEM is upon the waters, the God of Glory thunders; HASHEM is upon vast waters. [4] The voice of HASHEM [comes] in power! The voice of HASHEM [comes] in majesty! [5] The voice of HASHEM breaks the cedars, HASHEM shatters the cedars of Lebanon! [6] He makes them prance about like a calf; Lebanon and Siryon like young re'eimim.* [7] The voice of HASHEM cleaves with shafts of fire.* [8] The voice of HASHEM convulses the wilderness; HASHEM convulses the wilderness of Kadesh.* [9] The voice of HASHEM frightens the hinds, and strips the forests bare; while in His Temple all will proclaim, "Glory!" [10] HASHEM sat enthroned at the Flood;* HASHEM sits enthroned as King forever. [11] HASHEM will give might to His nation, HASHEM will bless His nation with peace.*

As darkness precedes dawn, so travail should be accepted as a prerequisite for success.

[1] A psalm, a song for the inauguration of the Temple, by David. [2] I will exalt You, HASHEM, for You have drawn me up, and not let my foes rejoice over me. [3] HASHEM, my God, I cried out to You and You healed me. [4] HASHEM, You have raised up my soul from the lower world; You have preserved me from my descent to the pit. [5] Sing to HASHEM, His devout ones, and give thanks to His holy Name. [6] For His anger endures but a moment; life results from His favor. In the evening one lies down weeping, but with dawn — a cry of joy! [7] I had said in my serenity, "I would never falter." [8] But, HASHEM, all is through Your favor — You supported my greatness with might; should You but conceal Your face, I would be confounded. [9] To You, HASHEM, I would call and to the Lord I would appeal. [10] What gain is there in my death, in my descent to the pit? Will the dust acknowledge You? Will it declare Your truth? [11] Hear, HASHEM, and favor me; HASHEM, be my Helper! [12] You have transformed my lament into dancing for me, You undid my sackcloth and girded me with gladness. [13] So that my soul might sing to You and not be stilled, HASHEM, my God, forever will I thank You.*

[1] For the conductor, a song by David. [2] In You, HASHEM, I have taken refuge, let me not be shamed ever; in Your righteousness liberate me. [3] Incline to me Your ear, quickly rescue me; be for me a stronghold rock, a fortress to save me. [4] For my Rock and my Fortress are You, for Your Name's sake guide me and lead me. [5] Remove me from this net that they have hidden for me, for You are my stronghold. [6] In Your hand I entrust my spirit; You redeemed* were betrayed to Saul, and time and again God rescued him (see I Samuel Chs. 22-24).

31:7. By relying upon diviners and soothsayers (Ibn Ezra).

31:12. So many enemies have risen up against me that people have come to question my character (R' Hirsch).

31:21. "Countenance" is used in Scripture to denote God's attention to man, whether for reward or for punishment (Radak).

32:1. Literally, "a wise man." A psalm introduced in this way was explained by a wise orator, who would retell it in the vernacular for the benefit of the unlearned of the congregation (Pesachim 117a).

32:6. Let the devout one pray at the first intimation of misfortune, so that a flood of suffering not overtake him (Sforno).

32:9. When ornaments are placed on an animal it reacts by biting, not understanding that they are intended for its benefit (Metzudos).

32:10. To one who trusts in Hashem, "kindness surrounds him," i.e., he knows the pain of his suffering is relieved by his awareness that the suffering is intended for his benefit (Malbim).

David was relentlessly pursued, but always rescued. So too, we should entrust ourselves to God's mercy.

me, O HASHEM, God of truth. 7 I despise those who await worthless vanities; as for me, I trust HASHEM! 8 I will exult and rejoice in Your kindness; that You have seen my affliction, You have known of the troubles of my soul; 9 and You have not delivered me into the hand of the foe, but stood my feet in a broad place. 10 Favor me, HASHEM, for I am distressed; my eyes are wasted away in grief, my soul and my belly. 11 For my life is spent in sorrow and my years in sighing; because of my iniquity my strength has failed and my bones are wasted away. 12 Because of all my tormentors I have become a disgrace,* especially to my neighbors, and a fright to those who know me; those who see me outside move away from me. 13 I have become forgotten as the dead from the heart, I have become like a decaying vessel. 14 For I have heard the slander of the multitude, terror all around; when they conspired together against me, they have plotted to take my soul. 15 But as for me, in You have I trusted, HASHEM. I have said, "You are my God." 16 In Your hand are my times, rescue me from the hand of my foes and from my pursuers. 17 Shine Your face upon Your servant, save me in Your kindness. 18 O HASHEM, let me not be ashamed, for I have called upon You! Let the wicked ones be shamed, let them be stilled to the grave. 19 May the lying lips be silenced, which speak falsehood about a righteous one with arrogance and contempt. 20 How abundant is Your goodness that You have stored away for those who fear You, that You have performed for those who seek refuge in You in the presence of men. 21 Shelter them in the cover of Your countenance* from the haughtiness of man; protect them in a shelter from the strife of tongues. 22 Blessed is HASHEM, for He has been wondrously kind to me in the besieged city. 23 I had said in my panic, "I am cut off from before Your eyes!" But in truth, You heard the sound of my supplications when I cried to You. 24 Love HASHEM, all His devout ones! HASHEM safeguards the faithful, but He repays the haughtiness on one who acts with arrogance. 25 Be strong, and let your hearts take courage, all who wait longingly for HASHEM.*

God sends suffering and misfortune to help man reach the state of true repentance and its accompanying joy.

1 By David, a maskil. Praiseworthy is one whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered over. 2 Praiseworthy is the man to whom HASHEM does not ascribe iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no deceit. 3 When I was silent my bones deteriorated because of my anguished roar all day long. 4 For day and night Your hand was heavily upon me; my freshness was transformed [as] by summer droughts, Selah. 5 My sin I make known to You, my iniquity I do not hide. I said, "I will confess my transgression to HASHEM," and You have [always] forgiven my iniquitous sin, Selah. 6 For this let every devout one pray to You at a time when [misfortune] befalls: Only that the flooding, mighty waters not overtake him.* 7 You are a shelter for me, from distress You preserve me; with glad song of rescue You envelop me, Selah! 8 I will educate you and enlighten you in which path to go, I will advise you with [what] my eye [has seen]. 9 Be not like a horse, like a mule, uncomprehending; to restrain it with muzzle and bridle when it is adorned,* so that it not approach you. 10 Many are the agonies of the wicked, but as for one who trusts in HASHEM, kindness surrounds him.* 11 Be glad in HASHEM and rejoice, O righteous. Cry out in joy, all upright of heart.*

33:5. Though God loves righteousness and justice, He tempers it with merciful kindness.

33:7. God set limits for the powerful seas so that they would not flood the dry land.

34:1. When forced to flee from King Saul, David found refuge with the Philistines. But when some of them threatened him with death, he pretended to be insane, and King Abimelech, disgusted by David's lunatic behavior, drove him out (see I Samuel 21:11-16).

34:7. In his humility, David looks upon himself as poor and undeserving (Radak).

Just as God created the physical world to function according to consistent laws, so His moral demands are constant and inviolable.

1 Sing joyfully, O righteous, because of HASHEM; for the upright, praise is fitting. 2 Give thanks to HASHEM with a harp, with a ten-stringed lyre make music to Him. 3 Sing Him a new song, play well with sounds of deep emotion. 4 For the word of HASHEM is upright, and all His deeds [are done] with faithfulness. 5 He loves righteousness and justice; the kindness of HASHEM fills the earth. * 6 By the word of HASHEM the heavens were made, and by the breath of His mouth all their host. 7 He assembles the waters of the sea like a mound, He places the deep waters in vaults. * 8 Fear HASHEM, all the earth; be in dread of Him all inhabitants of the world. 9 For He spoke and it came to be, He commanded and it stood firm. 10 HASHEM annuls the counsel of nations, he thwarts the designs of peoples. 11 The counsel of HASHEM will endure forever, the designs of His heart from generation to generation. 12 Praiseworthy is the nation whose God is HASHEM, the people He chose for His own heritage. 13 From heaven HASHEM looks down, He sees all mankind. 14 From His dwelling place He oversees all inhabitants of the earth, 15 He Who fashions their hearts together, Who comprehends all their deeds. 16 A king is not saved by a great army, nor is a hero rescued by great strength. 17 Illusory is the horse for salvation; despite its great strength it provides no escape. 18 Behold, the eye of HASHEM is on those who fear Him, upon those who await His kindness. 19 To rescue their soul from death, and to sustain them in famine. 20 Our soul longed for HASHEM; He is our help and our shield. 21 For in Him will our hearts be glad; for in His Holy Name we trusted. 22 May Your kindness, HASHEM, be upon us, just as we awaited You.

David conquered despair by composing this alphabetical hymn, to show that our every faculty, from aleph to tav, should be dedicated to God.

1 By David: When he disguised his sanity before Abimelech, * who drove him out and he left. 2 א I shall bless HASHEM at all times, always shall His praise be in my mouth. 3 ב In HASHEM does my soul glory, may humble ones hear and be glad. 4 ג Declare the greatness of HASHEM with me, and let us exalt His name together. 5 ד I sought out HASHEM and He answered me, and from all my terrors He delivered me. 6 ה Those who looked to Him became radiant, ו and their faces will not be shamed. 7 ו This poor man * calls and HASHEM hears, and from all his troubles He saves him. 8 ח The angel of HASHEM encamps around His reverent ones and he releases them. 9 ט Contemplate and see that HASHEM is good; praiseworthy is the man who takes refuge in Him. 10 י Fear HASHEM, O [you] His holy ones, for there is no deprivation for His reverent ones. 11 כ Young lions may want and hunger, but those who seek HASHEM will not lack any good. 12 ל Go, O sons, heed me, I will teach you the fear of HASHEM. 13 מ Who is the man who desires life, who loves days of seeing good? 14 נ Guard your tongue from evil, and your lips from speaking deceit. 15 ס Turn from evil and do good, seek peace and pursue it. 16 ע The eyes of HASHEM are toward the righteous, and His ears to their cry. 17 פ The face of HASHEM is against evildoers, to cut off their memory from earth. 18 צ They [the righteous] cried out and HASHEM heeds, and from all their troubles He rescues them. 19 ק HASHEM is close to the brokenhearted; and those crushed in spirit, He saves. 20 ר Many are the mishaps of the righteous, * but from them all HASHEM rescues him. 21 ש He guards all his bones, even one of them was not broken. 22 ת The death blow of the wicked is evil, * and the haters of the righteous will be condemned. 23 HASHEM redeems the soul of His servants, and all those who take refuge in Him will not be condemned.

34:20. No one becomes truly righteous and great without his share of mishaps (Sfas Emes).

34:22. Wicked people will be destroyed by the very evil they set in motion (Radak).

35:11. David now describes the machinations of his enemies.

35:17. See 22:21.

35:19. In gleeful mockery of my downfall.

36:2. The Evil Inclination is personified as "Transgression." It claims that God is unconcerned with this world, so man is free to do as he pleases (Rashi).

35

David appeals for help against friends turned traitors; so too, Israel in exile appeals against nations that repay Israel's contributions with oppression.

[1] By David: O HASHEM, fight my adversaries, battle those who do battle with me. [2] Take hold of shield and buckler, and rise up in my defense. [3] And draw the spear, and bar the way before my pursuers; say to my soul, "I am your salvation." [4] May they be shamed and disgraced, those who seek my life; let them retreat and be humiliated, those who plot my harm. [5] May they be like chaff before the wind, with the angel of HASHEM thrusting away. [6] May their way be dark and exceedingly slippery, with the angel of HASHEM pursuing them. [7] For without cause they have hidden for me the snare of their net, without cause they have dug [pits] to kill me. [8] May disaster come upon each of them unawares; and may his own net which he concealed ensnare him, may he fall into it in disaster. [9] Then my soul will exult in HASHEM, rejoice in His salvation. [10] All my limbs will say, "HASHEM, who is like You? Deliverer of the poor from one mightier than he, of the poor and the destitute from the one who robs him." [11] False witnesses rise up, * for that of which I know nothing they call me to account. [12] They repay me evil for good, bereavement for my soul. [13] But as for me, when they were ill, my clothing was sackcloth, and I afflicted myself with fasting, may my prayer return upon my own bosom. [14] As for a friend, as for my own brother, I went about; like a mother in mourning, I bent over in gloom. [15] But when I limped they rejoiced and gathered; the wretched gathered against me — I know not why, they tore at me and would not be silenced. [16] With flattery and mockery, for the sake of a loaf, they gnash their teeth at me. [17] O Lord, how long will You look on? Rescue my soul from their destruction, my essence * from the young lions. [18] [Then] I will thank You in a great congregation, before a mighty throng I will praise You. [19] Let them not rejoice over me, those who oppose me for false cause, nor those who hate me without reason wink an eye. * [20] For it is not peace that they speak; rather against the broken people of the earth they scheme deceitful matters. [21] They opened their mouths broadly against me; they said, "Aha! Aha! Our own eyes have seen [his misfortune]!" [22] You have seen, HASHEM, do not be mute; O Lord be not far from me. [23] Arouse Yourself and awaken to my judgment; my God and the Lord to my cause. [24] Judge me according to Your righteousness, HASHEM, my God, and let them not rejoice over me. [25] Let them not say in their hearts, "Aha! Our souls!" Let them not say, "We have swallowed him." [26] May they be shamed and humiliated together, those who are glad over my misfortune; may they be clothed in shame and disgrace, those who lift themselves up haughtily over me. [27] May they sing in joy and be glad, those who desire my vindication; let them always say, "Be glorified, HASHEM, Who desires the peace of His servant!" [28] Then my tongue will express Your righteousness; Your praise all day long.

Sin entices with false illusions; man can dispel them only with the objective light of truth.

[1] For the conductor, by the servant of HASHEM, by David. [2] Transgression's * word to the wicked is in my heart, that there should be no dread of God before his eyes. [3] For it smoothed the way before him in his eyes, that He should find his iniquity to hate [him]. [4] The words of his mouth are iniquity and deceit; he has ceased contemplating to do good. [5] On his bed he devises iniquity; he stations himself on a path of no good, he does not disdain evil. [6] HASHEM, unto the heavens is Your kindness; Your faithfulness is till the upper heights; [7] Your righteousness is like the mighty mountains; Your judgments are like the vast deep waters; You save both man and beast, O HASHEM. [8] How precious is Your kindness, O God! Mankind takes refuge in the shelter of Your wings. [9] They will be sated from the abundance of Your house; and from the stream of Your delights You give them to drink. [10] For with You is the source of life; by Your light may we see light.

36:13. In prophetic vision, future events are described as having already transpired (Radak).

37:1. Do not try to achieve prosperity through the sinful ways of the wicked (Rashi).

37:16. More enjoyable are the meager resources of the righteous than the fabulous wealth of the wicked, for they are never satisfied (Ibn Ezra).

37:33. Regarding the false charges that the wicked schemer has brought against him.

11 Extend Your kindness to those who know You, and Your charity to the upright of heart. 12 Let not the foot of arrogance come to me, and let not the hand of the wicked move me. 13 There they fell, the practitioners of iniquity; they were thrust down and unable to rise. *

37

Do not be lured by the external trappings of prosperity of the wicked, for it is God's blessed ones who will inherit the earth.

1 By David: Do not compete with the evildoers, * be not envious of the doers of injustice, 2 for like grass will they be cut down swiftly, and like green vegetation they will wither. 3 Trust in HASHEM and do good; dwell in the land and nourish [yourself] with faithfulness. 4 And rely upon HASHEM for your enjoyments, for He will grant you the desires of your heart. 5 Commit your way to HASHEM, rely on Him and He will act. 6 He will bring forth your righteousness like a light, and your justice like the high noon. 7 Wait silently for [the salvation of] HASHEM and wait longingly for Him; do not compete with him who prospers, with the man who executes malicious plans. 8 Desist from anger and forsake wrath; do not compete, it brings but harm. 9 For the evildoers shall be cut off, but those who hope to HASHEM, they shall inherit the earth. 10 Just a little longer and there will be no wicked one; you will contemplate his place and he will not be there. 11 But the humble shall inherit the earth, and delight in abundant peace. 12 The wicked man plots against the righteous person and gnashes his teeth at him; 13 The Lord laughs at him, for He has seen that his day approaches. 14 The wicked drew a sword and bent their bows, to bring down the poor and the destitute, to slaughter those of upright ways. 15 Their sword will pierce their own heart, and their bows will be broken. 16 Better is the little of the righteous than the multitude of the wicked. * 17 For the arms of the wicked will be broken, but the support of the righteous is HASHEM. 18 HASHEM knows the days of the perfect, their inheritance will be forever. 19 They will not be shamed in time of calamity; and in days of famine they will be satisfied. 20 For the wicked will perish, and the foes of HASHEM are like the glory of fattened sheep: Consumed! In smoke they are consumed. 21 The wicked one borrows but repays not, while the righteous one is generous and gives. 22 For His blessed ones shall inherit the earth, while His accursed ones will be cut off. 23 By HASHEM are a man's footsteps established, and He shall favor his way. 24 Should he totter, he will not be cast down, for HASHEM supports his hand. 25 I have been a youth and also aged; but I have not seen a righteous man forsaken, nor his children begging for bread. 26 All the day he is gracious and lends, and his children are a blessing. 27 Turn from evil and do good, that you may dwell forever. 28 For HASHEM loves justice and does not forsake His devout ones; they will be eternally protected, but the offspring of the wicked are cut off. 29 The righteous will inherit the earth and dwell forever upon it. 30 The mouth of the righteous man utters wisdom, and his tongue speaks justice. 31 The Torah of his God is in his heart; his footsteps will not falter. 32 The wicked one watches for the righteous and seeks to kill him. 33 But HASHEM will not forsake him to his hand, nor let him be condemned when he is judged. * 34 Hope to HASHEM and safeguard His way, and He will raise you high to inherit the earth; you will witness the excision of the wicked. 35 I have seen a wicked man powerful, well rooted like a native evergreen. 36 Yet he vanished, and behold! he was no more; and I sought him, but he was not to be found. 37 Guard the perfect and watch the upright, for there is a destiny for the man of peace. 38 But the sinners are destroyed together, the destiny of the wicked is to be cut off. 39 And the salvation of the righteous is from HASHEM, their Might in time of distress. 40 HASHEM helped them and caused them to escape; He will cause them to escape from the wicked and He will save them, for they took refuge in Him.

38:2. Although I deserve punishment, do not send upon me the full intensity of Your wrath.

39:1. A leader of the Temple choristers; also the name of a musical instrument (Rashi).

39:2. I will not question God's ways, even while the wicked one inflicts pain and suffering (Rashi).

39:3. I refrained even from saying comforting things, lest my pain cause me to let slip a word of complaint.

39:14. Only in this world can man earn reward. The World to Come is solely for receiving the fruits of the deeds performed in life (Radak).

40:3. The critical illness which engulfed me and threatened to kill me (Radak).

Suffering must be recognized as chastisement for sin. One must repent and look to God for salvation.

[1] A psalm by David, to proclaim: [2] HASHEM, do not rebuke me in Your rage, nor chasten me in Your wrath. * [3] For Your arrows have been shot into me, and Your hand has come down upon me. [4] There is no soundness in my flesh because of Your fury, no peace in my bones because of my sin. [5] For my iniquities have inundated me; like a heavy load, they are burdensome beyond me. [6] Putrid and rotted are my sores, because of my folly. [7] I am bent and exceedingly bowed, all day long in bleakness I go about. [8] For my loins are full of a loathsome affliction and there is no soundness in my flesh. [9] I am faint and exceedingly crushed. I roar from the groaning of my heart. [10] O Lord, before You is all my yearning, my sighing is not concealed from You. [11] My heart is engulfed, my strength has forsaken me; and the light of my eyes, they, too, are no longer with me. [12] My friends and companions stand aloof from my affliction, and my close ones stand at a distance. [13] And the seekers of my life have laid snares, those who seek my harm speak treacheries, all day long they contemplate deceit. [14] But I am like a deaf man, I do not hear, like a mute who does not open his mouth. [15] I was like a man who does not hear, and in whose mouth there are no rebuttals. [16] Because for You, HASHEM, do I wait; You will answer, O Lord, my God. [17] For I said, "Lest they will be glad about me, at the faltering of my foot they will magnify themselves over me!" [18] For I am prone to crippling pain, and my ache is always before me. [19] Because I admit my iniquity, I worry because of my sin. [20] But my foes abound with life, and those who hate me without cause grow great. [21] Those who repay evil for good harass me for my pursuit of good. [22] Forsake me not, O HASHEM, my God, be not far from me. [23] Hasten to my assistance, O Lord, my Salvation.

Suffering makes man aware of human frailty and transience. One should pray for the ability to devote oneself to Torah and mitzvos.

[1] For the conductor, for Jeduthun, * a psalm by David. [2] *I said, "I will guard my ways from sinning with my tongue, I will guard my mouth with a muzzle, even while the wicked one stands before me." [3] I became mute with stillness, I was silent [even] from good, though my pain was intense. * [4] My heart grew hot within me, in my contemplations a fire blazed; then I spoke out with my tongue: [5] "Let me know my end, O HASHEM, and the measure of my days, what it is; that I may know when I will cease." [6] Behold, like handbreadths have You made my days, and my lifetime is as naught before You; all is but total futility — all human existence, Selah. [7] Only in shadowy darkness does man make his way, it is but futility for which they are in turmoil; he amasses [riches], but he knows not who will harvest them. [8] And now, for what do I hope, O Lord? My longing is to You. [9] From all my transgressions rescue me; do not make me a disgrace before the degenerate! [10] I am mute, I open not my mouth, because it is You Who has done it. [11] Remove from me Your plague; from the attack of Your hand am I devastated. [12] With rebukes for iniquity You have chastened man, You have worn away like a moth his precious health. All mankind is but futility, Selah. [13] Hear my prayer, HASHEM, give ear to my outcry, be not mute to my tears; for I am a sojourner with You, a settler like all my forefathers. [14] Turn [Your punishment] from me that I may recover my strength, before I depart and I am no more. *

[1] For the conductor, by David, a psalm. [2] I have greatly hoped for HASHEM; He inclined to me, and heard my cry. [3] He raised me from the pit of raging waters, from the slimy mud. * He set my feet upon a rock, firmly establishing my steps.

40:4. I sing praise for every new kindness (Radak).

40:8-10. I show my gratitude not with offerings, but I present myself holding the Torah, resolved to obey everything in it (Ibn Ezra).

40:18. Although I am a king, I am totally dependent upon God's constant care and attention (Radak).

41:2. To learn what assistance to offer (Rashi), or to see from their experiences how God helps the poor and sick (Ibn Ezra).

41:5. A person should pray that his spiritual shortcoming be cured, not only its physical symptoms (Radak).

41:11. My vengeance against them will be that You disappoint their hopes for my downfall (R' Hirsch).

A righteous person shows gratitude for God's help by affirming his allegiance to the Torah and proclaiming His wonders to the world.

4 He put a new song into my mouth, a hymn to our God; multitudes shall see and be awed, and they shall trust in HASHEM. 5 Praiseworthy is the man who has made HASHEM his trust, and turned not to the arrogant, and to strayers after falsehood. 6 Much have You done, O You HASHEM, my God, Your wonders and Your thoughts are for us — none can compare to You — were I to relate or speak [of them], they are too overwhelming to recount. 7 Neither feast-offering nor meal-offering did You desire, but You opened ears for me; burnt-offering and sin-offering You did not request. 8 Then I said, "Behold I have come!" with the Scroll of the Book that is written for me.* 9 To fulfill Your will, my God, do I desire, and Your Torah is in my innards. 10 I proclaimed [Your] righteousness in a vast assembly, behold I will never restrain my lips; HASHEM, You know [it]. 11 Your righteousness I have not concealed within my heart, of Your faithfulness and Your salvation have I spoken; I have not concealed Your kindness and Your truth from the vast assembly. 12 You, HASHEM, do not withhold Your mercy from me; may Your kindness and Your truth always protect me. 13 For innumerable evils have encircled me, my sins have overtaken me and I am unable to see; they have become more numerous than the hairs on my head and my courage has abandoned me. 14 May it be Your will, HASHEM, to rescue me; HASHEM, hasten to my assistance. 15 May they be put to shame and disgrace, all together, those who seek my soul to put an end to it; may they draw back and be humiliated, those who desire my misfortune. 16 May they be desolate as a result of their shaming, those who say about me, "Aha! Aha!" 17 May they rejoice and be glad in You, all who seek You; may they always say, "HASHEM be magnified!" those who love Your salvation. 18 As for me, I am poor and destitute,* the Lord will think of me. You are my Help and my Rescuer, my God, do not delay.*

By contemplating the experiences of the poor and the sick, one becomes aware of God's loving closeness to man, even in the most hopeless circumstances.

1 For the conductor, a psalm by David. 2 Praiseworthy is he who contemplates the needy, on the day of evil HASHEM will deliver him. 3 HASHEM will preserve him and restore him to life, and he will be happy on earth, and You will not give him over to the desire of his foes. 4 HASHEM will fortify him on the bed of misery, even when You have upset all his restfulness by his illness. 5 As for me [when I was sick], I said, "O HASHEM, show me favor! Heal my soul* for I have sinned against You!" 6 My foes speak evil of me, "When will he die and his name perish?" 7 And if one comes to visit, insincerely does he speak, his heart gathers iniquity for himself; upon going out he speaks [it]. 8 Together, all my enemies whisper against me, against me they devise my harm [saying], 9 "The result of his lawlessness is poured over him; and now that he lies ill, he will rise no more!" 10 Even my ally in whom I trusted, who ate my bread, has raised his heel to trample me. 11 But as for You, HASHEM, show me favor and raise me up, then I shall repay them.* 12 By this I shall know that You desire me; that You will not let my foe shout gleefully over me. 13 And I, because of my integrity You have supported me, and You have stood me erect before You forever. 14 Blessed is HASHEM, the God of Israel, from all times past to all times to come, Amen and Amen!*

42:1. Twelve psalms (42-49, 84-85, 87-88) were "by the sons of Korah." They were either the sons of the Korah who rebelled against Moses (Numbers Ch. 16) or his descendants, who were Levite choristers during David's reign.

42:3. "When will I return to the Land of Israel and go up to Jerusalem for the Three Pilgrimage Festivals?"

42:8. One misfortune follows another in rapid succession.

42:9. "Day" represents redemption; "night," exile.

44:3. The first "them" refers to "our fathers"; the second to the Canaanite nations.

BOOK TWO

42

The exiled individual or nation calls longingly to God to be brought home.

[1] For the conductor, a maskil by the sons of Korah.* [2] As the deer longs for brooks of water, so my soul longs for You, O God. [3] My soul thirsts for God, for the living God, "When shall I come and appear before God?"* [4] For me my tears were sustenance day and night, when [they] say to me all day long, "Where is your God?" [5] These do I recall and pour out my soul for [what has befallen] me: how I passed with the throng, walking slowly with them up to the Temple of God; with joyous song and thanks, a celebrating multitude. [6] Why are you downcast, my soul, and why are you disturbed on my account? Hope to God! For I shall yet thank Him for the salvations of His countenance. [7] O my God, my soul is downcast over me, because I remember You from the land of Jordan and Hermon's peaks, from Mount Mizar. [8] Watery deep calls out to watery deep* to the roar of Your water channels, all Your breakers and Your waves have swept over me. [9] In the day* HASHEM will command His lovingkindness, even by night His resting place is with me; a prayer to the God of my life! [10] I will say to God, my Rock, "Why have You forgotten me? Why must I walk in gloom under the foe's oppression?" [11] With a murderous dagger in my bones have my tormentors taunted me, when they say to me all day long, "Where is your God?" [12] Why are you downcast, my soul, and why are you disturbed on my account? Hope to God! For I shall yet thank Him for the salvations of my countenance and because He is my God.

When God sends forth His light, the exiles will return to their land.

[1] Avenge me, O God, and champion my cause against an unkind nation; deliver me from a man of deceit and iniquity. [2] For You are the God of my strength, why have You abandoned me? Why must I walk in gloom because of the foe's oppression? [3] Dispatch Your light and Your truth, they will guide me, they will bring me to Your holy mountain and to Your dwellings. [4] That I may come to the altar of God, to God, the gladness of my joy; and praise You on the harp, O God, my God. [5] Why are you downcast, my soul, and why are you disturbed on my account? Hope to God, for I shall yet thank Him for the salvations of my countenance and because He is my God.

Vividly portraying the recurring oppressions and persecutions of exile, Israel pleads for strength to endure until it is redeemed.

[1] For the conductor, by the sons of Korah, a maskil. [2] God, with our ears we have heard, our fathers have recounted to us, the work that You wrought in their days, in days of old. [3] You, with Your own hand, drove out nations, and You implanted them;* You afflicted regimes and banished them.* [4] For not by their sword did they possess the land, nor did their own arm help them; but by Your right hand, Your arm, and the light of Your Countenance — for You favored them. [5] It is You Who are my King, O God; command the salvations of Jacob! [6] Through You we shall gore our foes; by Your Name we will trample our opponents. [7] For I do not trust in my bow, nor does my sword save me. [8] For You have saved us from our oppressors, and You shamed those who hate us. [9] In God we glory all the day, and Your Name we forever thank, Selah! — [10] Even though You abandon and disgrace us, and You do not go forth with our armies; [11] You cause us to retreat from the oppressor, and our haters plunder for themselves; [12] You deliver us like sheep to be eaten, and have scattered us among the nations; [13] You sell Your nation for no fortune, and You did not inflate their price; [14] You make us a disgrace to our neighbors, the mockery and scorn of those around us; [15] You make us a byword among the nations, a cause for the regimes to shake their heads. [16] All day long my humiliation is before me and my shamefacedness 44:23. When one performs the mitzvos in the face of jeers and humiliation that cause one's face to blanch, it is as if one is sacrificing his life for God's commandments (R' Yehudah HaChasid).

45:4. Although the Messianic era will bring peace, it will begin with the war of Gog and Magog (Radak).

45:10-16. These verses describe with vivid imagery the subservience of the nations to the Messiah.

45:11. Repudiate false religions and sincerely embrace the Torah (Meiri).

45:15. The secondary nations who are in the spheres of influence of the "princesses," the primary nations (Meiri).

46:1. A musical instrument.

46:3. The violent upheavals of powerful nations are described in the imagery of natural calamities.

46:6. The dawn of the final redemption (Radak).

*covers me — [17] at the voice of the reviler and blasphemer, because of the enemy and avenger. [18] All this came upon us yet we have not forgotten You, and we have not been false to Your covenant. [19] Our heart has not turned back, nor have our footsteps strayed from Your path, [20] even when You crushed us in the place of serpents and shrouded us in the shadow of death. [21] Have we forgotten the Name of our God and extended our hands to a strange god? [22] Is it not so that God can examine this, for He knows the secrets of the heart? [23] Because for Your sake we are killed all the time, * we are considered as sheep for slaughter. [24] Awaken, why do You seem to sleep, O Lord? Arouse Yourself, forsake not forever! [25] Why do You conceal Your face, do You forget our affliction and oppression? [26] For prostrated to the dust is our soul, stuck to the earth is our belly. [27] Arise! Assist us! And redeem us for the sake of Your kindness!*

A song of praise, describing the splendor and sovereignty of the king Messiah.

[1] For the conductor, on the shoshannim, by the sons of Korah, a Maskil, a song of endearment. [2] My heart is astir with a good theme, I say, "My works are for a king, my tongue is like the pen of a skillful scribe." [3] You are beautiful beyond other men, charm is poured upon your lips, therefore God has blessed you for eternity. [4] Gird your sword upon [your] thigh, O mighty one, your majesty and your splendor. [5] And with your splendor, overcome and ride [over your enemies], for the sake of truth and righteous humility; may your right hand guide you to awesome deeds. [6] Your arrows are sharp — nations fall beneath you, in the heart of the foes of the king. [7] Your throne is from God, it is forever and ever, [for] the scepter of fairness is the scepter of your kingdom. [8] You love righteousness and hate wickedness; therefore has God, your God, anointed you, with oil of joy from among your peers. [9] Myrrh, aloes, and cassia, are [the fragrance of] all your garments — from ivory palaces, from those which have gladdened you. [10] *Daughters of kings are your visitors, the queen stands erect at your right in the golden jewelry of Ophir. [11] Hear, O daughter, and see, and incline your ear; forget your people and your father's house, * [12] then the king will desire your beauty; for he is your master, so bow to him. [13] And daughter of Tyre, you whose favor has been sought with homage by the richest of the nation; [14] [as well as] every honorable princess dwelling within, whose raiment is of golden settings; [15] in embroidered apparel she will be brought to the king; the virgins in her train, * her companions, are [also] led to you. [16] They are brought with gladness and joy, they enter the palace of the king. [17] Succeeding your fathers will be your sons; you will appoint them leaders throughout the land. [18] I will make your name remembered in all generations, therefore the nations will acknowledge you forever and ever.*

In the upheavals of the Messianic era, God will shield Israel, as He shields all distraught people who seek His support.

*[1] For the conductor, by the sons of Korah, on the alamos, * a song. [2] God is a refuge and strength for us, a help in distress, very accessible. [3] Therefore, we shall not be afraid when the earth is transformed, and at mountains' collapse in the heart of the seas; * [4] when its waters rage and are muddied, mountains quake in His majesty, Selah. [5] A river: Its streams will gladden the City of God, the most sacred of the dwellings of the Most High. [6] God is in its midst, it shall not falter; God will help it towards morning. * [7] Nations are in turmoil, kingdoms totter; He has raised His voice, the earth dissolves. [8] HASHEM, Master of Legions, is with us, a stronghold for us is the God of Jacob, Selah. [9] Go and see the works*

47:2. The nations will blow the shofar when they acknowledge God as their sovereign (Malbim).

47:10. Gentiles who converted or otherwise made sacrifices for the sake of God will be gathered under His protection. Like Abraham they left their family and heritage to follow God (Rashi).

48:5-7. Whenever kings assembled to attack Jerusalem, they saw that God was its "stronghold." They were astounded and fled (Radak).

48:8. A major seaport, Tarshish represents invading fleets that were dispatched against the Land of Israel.

49:6. If I misuse my limited time in this world, I will feel pain and anguish "in days of evil" — when I will have to account for "the injunctions that I trod upon."

of HASHEM, Who has wrought devastation in the land. [10] He causes wars to cease to the end of the earth; He will break the bow, and cut the spear, He will burn chariots in fire. [11] Desist and know that I am God; I shall be exalted among the nations; I shall be exalted upon the earth. [12] HASHEM, Master of Legions, is with us, a stronghold for us is the God of Jacob, Selah.

God's sovereignty will ultimately be recognized and accepted by all mankind.

[1] For the conductor, by the sons of Korah, a psalm. [2] All you nations, join hands; sound the shofar to God with a cry of joy.* [3] For HASHEM is supreme, awesome; a great King over all the earth. [4] He shall lead nations under us and regimes beneath our feet. [5] He will choose our heritage for us, the pride of Jacob that He loves, Selah. [6] God has ascended with the blast; HASHEM, with the sound of the shofar. [7] Make music for God, make music; make music for our King, make music. [8] For God is King of all the earth; make music, O enlightened one! [9] God reigns over the nations; God sits upon His holy throne. [10] The nobles of the peoples gathered, the people of the God of Abraham; for the protectors of the earth are God's, He is exceedingly exalted.*

Jerusalem is eternally beautiful and glorious because God chose it for the abode of His Presence.

[1] A song, a psalm, by the sons of Korah. [2] Great is HASHEM and much praised, in the city of our God, mount of His Holiness, [3] fairest of sites, joy of all the earth, Mount Zion, by the northern side of the great king's city. [4] In her palaces God is known as the Stronghold. [5] For behold the kings assembled, they came together.* [6] They saw and were indeed astounded, they were confounded and fled in haste. [7] Trembling gripped them there, convulsions like a woman in birth travail. [8] *With an east wind You smashed the ships of Tarshish. [9] As we heard, so we saw in the city of HASHEM, Master of Legions, in the city of our God, may God establish it to eternity, Selah! [10] We hoped, O God, for Your kindness in the midst of Your Sanctuary. [11] Like Your Name, O God, so is Your praise: to the ends of the earth. Righteousness fills Your right hand. [12] May Mount Zion be glad, may the daughters of Judah rejoice, because of Your judgments. [13] Walk about Zion and encircle her, count her towers. [14] Mark well in your hearts her ramparts, raise up her palaces, that you may recount it to the succeeding generation. [15] For this is God, our God, forever and ever, He will guide us forever.

Man should use his sojourn on earth to enhance his spiritual development and prepare for the World to Come.

[1] For the conductor, by the sons of Korah, a psalm. [2] Hear this all you peoples, give ear all you dwellers of decaying earth; [3] sons of Adam and sons of man alike; rich and poor together. [4] My mouth will speak wisdom, and the meditations of my heart are insightful. [5] I will incline my ear to the parable; with a harp I will solve my riddle. [6] *Why should I be fearful in days of evil, when the injunctions that I trod upon will surround me? [7] Those who rely on their possessions, and they are boastful of their great wealth — [8] yet a man cannot redeem a brother, he cannot give his ransom to God. [9] Too costly is their soul's redemption and unattainable forever. [10] Can one live eternally, never to see the pit? [11] Though he sees that wise men die, that the foolish and boorish perish together and leave their possessions to others, [12] [nevertheless,] in their imagination their houses are forever, their dwellings for generation after generation; they have proclaimed their names throughout the lands. [13] But as for man: In glory he shall not repose, he is likened to the silenced animals. [14] This is their way, folly is theirs, yet of their destiny their mouths speak soothingly, Selah! [15] Like sheep, they are destined for the Lower World, death shall consume them; and the upright shall dominate them at daybreak, their form

49:19. The greedy are confident that they are above criticism, but sincere praise is earned if you "improve" yourself (Rashi).

49:20. The soul of the evildoer, as the souls of his wicked ancestors, will not see the light of redemption (Rashi).

50:1. Asaph was the leading Levite musician of David's time and, like David, he composed while endowed with a spirit of prophecy (I Chronicles 16:5-7, 25:2). In all, he wrote twelve psalms, this one and Psalms 73-83.

Although couched in the past tense, this psalm refers to the era of the final redemption when God will judge all of mankind.

50:5. Devout Jews — learned and simple — have renewed this covenant through the sacrifice of their own lives and that of their children, rather than repudiate God and His Torah (Mahara Azulai).

50:14. Sincerely repent your misdeeds; only then will God favorably accept "your vows" (Rashi).

50:21. Because I let you go unpunished, you thought I sanctioned your behavior.

51:2. This incident is found in II Samuel Chs. 12-13.

is doomed to rot in the grave, each from his dwelling. 16 But God will redeem my soul from the hand of the Lower World, for He will take me, Selah! 17 Fear not when a man grows rich, when he increases the glory of his house, 18 for upon his death he will not take anything, his glory will not descend after him. 19 *Though he may bless himself in his lifetime, others will praise you if you improve yourself. 20 *It shall come to the generation of its fathers; unto eternity they shall see no light. 21 Man is glorious but [if he] understands not, he is likened to the silenced animals.

God desires not only external adherence to His commandments, but purity of spirit.

1 *A song by Asaph. O Almighty God, HASHEM, spoke and called to the earth from the rising of the sun to its setting. 2 Out of Zion, consummation of beauty, God appeared. 3 Our God will come and not be silent; a fire will consume before Him, and His surroundings are exceedingly turbulent. 4 He will call to the heavens above and to the earth to avenge His people. 5 *Gather My devout ones unto me, sealers of My covenant through sacrifice. 6 Then the heavens proclaimed His righteousness, for God is the Judge, Selah! 7 Pay heed, My people, and I shall speak; Israel, and I shall bear witness against you; God, your God, am I. 8 I shall not rebuke you for your sacrifices,nor are your burnt-offerings my constant concern. 9 I take not from your household any bull, nor from your pens any goats. 10 For Mine is every beast of the forest, the cattle of a thousand mountains. 11 I know every bird of the mountains, and what creeps upon My fields is with Me. 12 Even were I hungry I would not tell you, for Mine is the world and its fullness. 13 Do I eat the flesh of bulls or drink the blood of goats? 14 Offer God confession, * then redeem your vows to the Most High. 15 And call upon Me in the day of distress, I will release you and you will honor Me. 16 But to the wicked, God said, "To what purpose do you recount My decrees and bear My covenant upon your lips?" 17 For you hate discipline and you threw My words behind you. 18 If you saw a thief you agreed to be with him, and with adulterers was your lot. 19 You dispatched your mouth for evil, and your tongue adheres to deceit. 20 You sit and speak against your brother, you slander your mother's son. 21 These have you done and I kept silent, You thought that I was like you; * I will rebuke you and lay it clearly before your eyes! 22 Understand this now, you who have forgotten God, lest I tear you asunder and there be none to rescue. 23 He who offers confession honors Me; and one who orders [his] way, I will show him the salvation of God.

David's psalm of remorse includes the principles of repentance. Thus, it is a fitting prayer for any penitent.

1 For the conductor, a song by David. 2 *When Nathan the Prophet came to him, when he came to Bath-sheba. 3 Show me favor, O God, according to Your kindness, according to Your vast compassion erase my transgressions. 4 Abundantly cleanse me from my iniquity, and from my sin purify me. 5 For I recognize my transgressions, and my sin is before me always. 6 Against You alone did I sin, * and that which is evil in Your eyes did I do; therefore, You are justified when You speak, and faultless when You judge. 7 Behold, in iniquity was I fashioned, * and in sin did my mother conceive me. 8 Behold, the truth which You desire is in the concealed parts, * and in the covered part is the wisdom that You teach me. 9 *Purge me of sin with hyssop and I shall be pure, cleanse me

Although technically David did not sin, his remorseful reaction is the paradigm of repentance.

51:6. That David sinned only against God corroborates the Sages' assertion that David's conduct, though wrong, did not violate the letter of the law.

51:7. The impulses which can cause man to sin are present in him from his very inception. It is man's duty to control and channel them properly (Ibn Ezra).

51:8. The part of us that perceives truth and wisdom is "concealed" by thick layers of physical desires (Malbim).

51:9. Hyssop was used in certain purification rituals. See Leviticus 14:4-6 and Numbers 19:6,18.

52:2. See I Samuel Chs. 21-22.

52:4. Like a sharp, "deceptive" razor, an evil tongue cuts far deeper than originally intended.

53:1. The machalas is a musical instrument. Alternatively, it means "affliction." This psalm discusses the affliction that will be brought about by the Temple's destruction (Rashi).

54:2. See I Samuel 23:19-29.

and I shall be whiter than snow. [10] Make me hear joy and gladness, may the bones that You crushed exult. [11] Hide Your face from my sins, and erase all my iniquities. [12] Create a pure heart for me, O God, and a steadfast spirit renew within me. [13] Cast me not away from Your Presence, and take not Your Holy Spirit from me. [14] Restore to me the joy of Your salvation, and with a generous spirit sustain me. [15] I will teach transgressors Your ways, and sinners will return to You. [16] Rescue me from blood-guilt, O God, God of my salvation, let my tongue sing joyously of Your righteousness. [17] O Lord, open my lips, that my mouth may declare Your praise. [18] For You do not desire a sacrifice, else I would give it; a burnt-offering You do not want. [19] The sacrifices God desires are a broken spirit; a heart broken and humbled, O God, You will not despise. [20] Do good in Your favor unto Zion; build the walls of Jerusalem. [21] Then You will desire the offerings of righteousness, burnt-offering, and whole offering; then will bulls go up upon Your altar.*

Doeg's fate exemplifies the tragedy that results when one turns one's talents to evil.

[1] For the conductor, a maskil by David. [2] When Doeg the Edomite came and informed Saul, and said to him, "David came to the house of Ahimelech." [3] Why do you pride yourself with evil, O mighty warrior? The kindness of God is all day long. [4] Your tongue devises treachery, like a sharpened razor* that works deceit. [5] You loved evil more than good, falsehood more than speaking righteousness, Selah. [6] You have loved all devouring words, a tongue of deceit. [7] Likewise, God will shatter you for eternity; He will break you and tear you from the tent, and uproot you from the land of life, Selah. [8] The righteous will see and be awed, and they will laugh at him: [9] "Behold, the man who did not make God his stronghold; but he trusted in his abundance of wealth, he drew strength from his treachery." [10] But I am like an ever-fresh olive tree in the House of God, I trust in the kindness of God forever and ever. [11] I will thank You forever because You have done [it], and in the presence of Your devout ones I will hope to Your Name, for it is good.*

Alluding prophetically to the destruction of the land and the Temple, this psalm also assures Israel's eventual restoration.

[1] For the conductor on the machalas, a maskil by David. [2] The degraded one says in his heart, "There is no God!" They have acted corruptly and despicably [with] iniquity; there is no doer of good. [3] From heaven God gazed down upon mankind, to see if there exists a reflective person who seeks out God. [4] Everyone is dross, together they have become depraved; there is no doer of good, there is not even one. [5] Do they not realize — those evildoers who devour my people as they would devour bread, who do not call upon God — [6] [that] there they will be stricken with terror, a terror such as never was; for God scatters the bones of those encamped against you? You shamed [them], for God has rejected them. [7] O, that out of Zion would come Israel's salvations! When God restores the captivity of His people, Jacob will exult, Israel will be glad.*

Pursued by foes, one must pray for God's salvation.

[1] For the conductor with the neginos, a maskil by David. [2] When the Ziphites came and said to Saul, "Is not David in hiding among us?" [3] O God, by Your Name save me, and by Your might vindicate me. [4] O God, hear my prayer, give ear to the utterances of my mouth. [5] For strangers have risen up against me and oppressors have sought my soul, they have not set God before themselves, Selah. [6] Behold! God is my Helper, the Lord is with the supporters of my soul. [7] May He repay the evil to my watchful enemies, in Your truth cut them down! [8] With a free-will offering I will sacrifice to You; I will thank Your Name, HASHEM, for it is good. [9] For from every distress He has rescued me, and upon my foes my eye has looked.*

55:7. David is overcome by a desire to flee the company of men and dwell in isolation (R' Hirsch).

55:11. Violence and strife.

55:14-15. David speaks of Ahithophel, who had been his friend and adviser, and then betrayed him.

55:16. Ahithophel and his cohorts.

55:20. They persist in their evil ways, and never repent and return to God (Meiri).

55:21. The treacherous Ahithophel (Rashi).

56:1. "The distant dove of silence" is David himself, who was then far from his land, defenseless before his Philistine captors like a silent dove [see I Samuel 21:11-16] (Rashi).

56:8. Until now, they have escaped the consequences of their iniquity. Therefore, I implore You now, O God, to cast them down (Meiri).

Despite the revolt of his son Absalom and the defection of his intimate friend and adviser Ahithophel, David was unwavering in his faith that God would enable him to prevail.

1 For the conductor with the neginos, a maskil by David. 2 Listen, O God, to my prayer, do not disregard my pleas. 3 Pay heed to me and answer me; I lament as I speak, and I moan; 4 because of the shout of the foe, on account of the oppression of the wicked; for they accuse me of evil and hate me with passion. 5 My heart shudders within me, and the terrors of death have befallen me. 6 Fear and trembling penetrate me, and I am overcome with horror. 7 Then I said, "O that I had a wing like the dove! I would fly off and find rest!* 8 Behold! I would wander afar; I would dwell in the wilderness, Selah. 9 I would speedily obtain deliverance for myself from violent wind, from tempest." 10 Consume, O Lord, and confuse their tongue; for I have seen violence and strife in the city. 11 Day and night they* encircle it upon its walls; iniquity and mischief are within it. 12 Treachery is within it; never leaving its square are fraud and deception. 13 For it is not my foe who reviles me, that I could endure; it is not my enemy who has magnified himself against me that I could hide from him. 14 But it is you,* a man of my measure, my guide, and my intimate friend; 15 together we would take sweet counsel; in the House of God we would walk in company. 16 May He incite death against them,* may they descend to the grave alive; for evil is in their dwelling, within them. 17 As for me, I shall call unto God, and HASHEM will save me. 18 Evening, morning, and noon, I supplicate and moan; and He has heard my voice. 19 He redeemed my soul in peace from battles against me, for with many they were against me. 20 May God hear and humble them — He Who is enthroned from days of old, Selah — those in whom there is no change* and they fear not God. 21 He* stretched out his hands against those who were at peace with him, he profaned his covenant. 22 Smooth were the buttery words of his mouth, but his heart was at war; his words were softer than oil, yet they were curses. 23 Cast upon HASHEM your burden and He will sustain you; He will never allow the faltering of the righteous. 24 And You, O God, You will lower them into the well of destruction, men of bloodshed and deceit shall not live out half their days; but as for me, I will trust in You.

Though his situation seemed hopeless, David's trust in God was unshaken, an attitude to be emulated by anyone in distress.

1 For the conductor, regarding the distant dove of silence,* by David, a michtam, when the Philistines seized him in Gath. 2 Show me favor, O God, for men yearn to swallow me; all the day, warlike, they oppress me. 3 Each day my watchful foes yearn to swallow [me], for many battle me, O Most High! 4 On the day that I fear, I trust in You. 5 In God — I will praise His word — in God I have trusted, I shall not fear; what can mortal flesh do to me? 6 All the day they make my words sorrowful; about me all their thoughts are for evil. 7 They assemble, they lie in ambush, they watch my every step, as they anticipate my life. 8 Despite iniquity, escape has been theirs; cast the peoples down in anger, O God!* 9 You Yourself have counted my wanderings; place my tears in Your flask, are they not in Your record? 10 Then my foes will retreat on the day I cry out; this I know: that God is with me. 11 In God — I will praise the Word; in HASHEM — I will praise the Word. 12 In God I have trusted, I shall not fear; what can man do to me? 13 Upon me, O God, are [my] vows unto You; I shall render thanksgiving offerings to You. 14 For You rescued my soul from death, even my feet from stumbling; to walk before God in the light of life.

57:1. See I Samuel Chapter 24.

57:7. David sees prophetically that his enemies will be ensnared in their own traps (Radak).

58:1. See I Samuel Chapter 26.

58:3. Not only do you not defend me, you even devise schemes against me (Rashi; Metzudos).

59:1. See I Samuel 19:11-18.

59:5. I have never harmed them; they have no reason to hate me (Rashi).

59:6. David prays not only for himself, but for all persecuted people.

59:7. They slander me by day and "return at evening" to keep watch on my house, to prevent my escape (Rashi).

59:8. They do not fear Divine retribution for their slander.

59:10. Saul's power.

Hotly pursued, his life in dire peril, David affirms his absolute faith in God.

[1] For the conductor, a plea to be spared from destruction, by David, a michtam, when he fled from Saul, in the cave. * [2] Favor me, O God, favor me, for in You has my soul taken refuge; and in the shelter of Your wings I shall take refuge until devastation shall pass. [3] I will call upon God, Most High, to the God Who fulfills for me. [4] He will dispatch from heaven and save me from the disgrace of the one who yearns to swallow me, Selah; God will dispatch His mercy and His truth. [5] My soul is among lions, I lie with men who are aflame; people whose teeth are spears and arrows, and whose tongue is a sharp sword. [6] Be exalted above the heavens, O God, above all the earth be Your glory. [7] They prepared a snare for my footsteps, my soul is bent over; they dug a pit before me; they fell into it, * Selah. [8] My heart is steadfast, O God, my heart is steadfast; I will sing and I will make music. [9] Awake, my soul, awake, O psalter and harp, I shall awaken the dawn. [10] I will thank You among the peoples, O Lord; I will sing to You among the regimes. [11] For great until the very heavens is Your kindness, and until the upper heights is Your truth. [12] Be exalted above the heavens, O God; above all the earth be Your glory.

A prayer for the destruction of the violent oppressors in order that all may say, "God is the true judge in the land"

[1] For the conductor, a plea to be spared from destruction, * by David, a michtam. [2] Is there indeed silence when you should be speaking righteousness? When you should be judging people with fairness? [3] Even in [your] heart you do wrongs, * you weigh out the violence of your hands in the land. [4] The wicked are estranged from the womb, the speakers of falsehood went astray from birth. [5] They have venom like the venom of a snake, like a deaf viper that closes its ear; [6] so as not to hearken to the voice of charmers, of the most skillful caster of spells. [7] O God, smash their teeth in their mouth; shatter the molars of the young lions, O HASHEM. [8] May they melt like water that flows away; when each one draws his arrows, may they be as if crumbled to pieces. [9] Like the snail that melts and slithers away; [like] the stillbirth of a mole, who did not see the sun. [10] Before your tender briars develop into hardened thorns, with vigor, with wrath, He will stormily sweep them away. [11] The righteous one will rejoice when he sees vengeance, he shall bathe his feet in the blood of the wicked one. [12] And mankind shall say, "There is, indeed, fruit for the righteous; there is, indeed, a God Who judges in the land."

59

Surrounded by Saul's men who were ordered to murder him, David prays that God rescue him, so that he may sing His praises.

[1] For the conductor, a plea to be spared from destruction, by David, a michtam; when Saul dispatched, and they guarded the house to kill him. * [2] Rescue me from my foes, O my God; over those who rise against me raise me high. [3] Rescue me from evildoers; and from bloodthirsty men save me. [4] For behold, they lie in ambush for my soul, brazen ones gather around me — not for my transgression and not for my sin, O HASHEM! [5] Without iniquity, * they run and prepare. Awaken [Yourself] towards me and see. [6] And You, HASHEM, God, Master of Legions, God of Israel, arouse Yourself to remember all the nations, * do not show favor to any faithless men of violence, Selah. [7] They return towards evening, * they howl like the dog, and they go round about the city. [8] *Behold, they spew with their mouths, swords are in their lips; for [they say], "Who listens?" [9] But You, HASHEM — You will laugh at them, You will mock all nations. [10] *[In the face of] his power, for You do I wait; for God is my stronghold. [11] The God of my kindness will anticipate me; God will show me [what will befall] my watchful foes. [12] Do not slay them, lest my people forget;

59:12. If You kill them, the example will soon be forgotten. Instead, make them beg for their food, so that they will be constant reminders of Your punishment.

59:15. May they return from their day's labor hungry and empty-handed and need to "go around the city" seeking food. Their punishment is measure for measure for their offense related in verse 7 (Meiri).

60:1. A musical instrument (Ibn Ezra).

60:2. Joab left his campaign against Aram to attack Edom, which was en route to assist Aram, and killed twelve thousand of the enemy (Metzudos; see Radak).

61:1. A musical instrument.

61:6. In his distress, David vowed even greater devotion to God if He should save him from danger and return him safely to the Holy Land.

by Your might make them wander and cast them down, * O our Shield, O Lord — [13] because of the sin of their mouth, the word of their lips; and may they be ensnared by their own arrogance; and because of the curse and falsehood that they recount. [14] Destroy in wrath, destroy until they are no more! And then [men] shall know that God rules in Jacob, to the ends of the earth, Selah. [15] May they return towards evening, and howl like the dog, going around the city. * [16] They will wander about to eat, without being sated they will sleep. [17] But I will sing of Your might, and rejoice towards morning in Your kindness; for You have been a stronghold to me, and a refuge in the day of my distress. [18] My Power, to You shall I sing; for God is my stronghold, the God of my kindness.

At the outset of his campaign against Israel's enemies, David expresses his faith in God's assurance that his reign would be consolidated from within and feared from without.

[1] For the conductor, on the shushan eidus, * a michtam by David, to instruct. [2] When he made war against Aram-naharaim and Aram-tzobah, and Joab returned and smote Edom * in the Valley of Salt, twelve thousand [men]. [3] O God, You forsook us, You breached us, You were angry with us, O restore us! [4] You have made the land quake, You have left it; heal its fragments, for it totters. [5] You have shown Your nation harshness, You made us drink wine of bewilderment. [6] To those who fear You, You gave a banner to be raised high, for truth's sake, Selah! [7] So that Your beloved ones may be released — save with Your right hand and answer me. [8] God spoke through His holy one so that I would exult; I would divide Shechem and measure out the Valley of Succoth. [9] Mine is Gilead, and mine is Manasseh, and Ephraim is the stronghold of my head; Judah is my lawgiver. [10] Moab is my washbasin; upon Edom will I cast my shoe; Philistia, will you shout triumphantly over me? [11] Who will bring me to the fortified city? Who has led me unto Edom? [12] Is it not You, O God, Who has [until now] forsaken us, and You do not go forth, O God, with our legions? [13] Give us help against the oppressor; human salvation is futile. [14] Through God we shall act valiantly, and He will trample our oppressors.

David's personal experiences while fleeing into exile from his enemies parallel Israel's national experience.

[1] For the conductor, on the neginas, by David. [2] Hear, O God, my cry, listen to my prayer. [3] From the end of the land I call unto You, when my heart grows faint. Lead me to a rock that is too high for me [to climb alone]. [4] For You have been a refuge for me, a tower of strength in the face of the enemy. [5] May I dwell in Your tent forever, may I take refuge in the shelter of Your wings, Selah. [6] For You, O God, have heard my vows, * You have granted the inheritance of those who fear Your Name. [7] May You add days onto the days of the king, may his years be like all generations. [8] May he sit forever before God; appoint kindness and truth, that they may preserve him. [9] Thus shall I praise Your Name forever, to fulfill my vows day after day.

One must never allow the power and ill-gotten wealth of the oppressor to erode one's trust in God and faith in His justice.

[1] For the conductor, on Jeduthun, a song by David. [2] For God alone my soul waits silently, from Him comes my salvation. [3] He alone is my Rock and my Salvation; my Stronghold, I shall not falter greatly. [4] *Until when will you plot treacherously against a man? May you all be slain — like a leaning wall, a toppled fence. [5] *Only because of his loftiness have they plotted to topple [him], they delight in deceit; with his mouth each one blesses, but inwardly they curse, Selah! [6] For God alone, wait silently, my soul, because my hope is from Him. [7] He alone is my Rock and my Salvation; my Stronghold, I shall not falter. [8] Upon God rests my salvation and my glory, the Rock of my strength, my Refuge, is in God.

62:4. The psalmist directly addresses the wicked, murderous schemers.

62:5. They plot against him because they fear that his rise to eminence will threaten their own position.

62:12-13. Although we experience "two" different things — the strictness of God's "strength" and the bounty of His "kindness" — they are both manifestations of the "one thing that God has spoken," to improve each man according to his deeds.

63:3. My yearning "to have beheld You in the Sanctuary" is as intense as physical thirst in this desert.

63:5. In prayer and praise (Rashi).

63:12. David, who had already been anointed, refers to himself (Rashi).

64:8. From here until the end of the psalm, David prophesies — mixing the past and future tenses — regarding the eventual downfall of his enemies.

65:2. The praises of infinite God can never be exhausted. Silence is His most eloquent praise, since elaboration must leave glaring omissions (Rashi).

9 Trust in Him at every moment, O people! Pour out your hearts before Him; God is a refuge for us, Selah! 10 Common people are but vanity! Distinguished people are but deceit! Were they to be lifted up on the scales, together they would be lighter than vanity. 11 Trust not in oppression, and in robbery place not vain hope; though wealth flourishes, set not your heart on it. 12 One thing has God spoken, these two have I heard: that strength belongs to God;* 13 and Yours, O Lord, is kindness, for You repay each man according to his deeds.

Though a victim of malicious slander, exiled from nation, family, and home, alone in a desolate wilderness, David never wavers in his love for God.

1 A psalm by David, when he was in the wilderness of Judah. 2 O God: You are my God, I seek You. My soul thirsts for You, my flesh longs for You; in a parched and thirsty land with no water. 3 Thus to have beheld You in the Sanctuary, to see Your might and Your glory.* 4 For Your kindness is better than life, my lips shall praise You. 5 *Thus shall I bless You all my life; in Your Name I shall lift my hands. 6 It is as if my desire is sated with fat and abundance, when my mouth gives praise with joyous language. 7 When I remember You upon my couch, in night watches I meditate upon You. 8 For You have been a help for me; in the shelter of your wings I joyously sing. 9 My soul cleaves after You; Your right arm has supported me. 10 But they seek my soul for destruction; may they come to the depths of the earth. 11 [The enemies] shall drag each one by the sword, the portion of foxes shall they be. 12 The king shall rejoice in God; glorified will be everyone who swears by Him, when the mouth of the liars will be stopped.*

When the enemy plots evil, sharpens its attack, and lays traps, one should take refuge in God.

1 For the conductor, a psalm by David. 2 Hear, O God, my voice in my prayer, from the dread of the foe preserve my life. 3 Hide me from the counsel of the wicked, from the assembly of evildoers, 4 who have sharpened their tongue like the sword, and drawn their arrow — a bitter word — 5 to shoot in stealth at the innocent; suddenly they shoot him and they are unafraid. 6 They encourage themselves in an evil matter, they speak in order to conceal snares; they say, "Who will see them?" 7 They search out pretexts, they have completed a diligent search, and every inner thought of man and deep counsel. 8 Then God shot at them; their wounds were [like] a sudden arrow.* 9 Their own tongue made them stumble; all who see them will shudder. 10 Then all men came to fear; and they declared the work of God, and they comprehended His deed. 11 The righteous one will rejoice in HASHEM and take refuge in Him; and all who are upright in heart will be glorified.

Calamities such as drought should spur mankind to repentance. God Who subdues the mightiest forces can revitalize the most parched land and withered nation.

1 For the conductor, a psalm; a song, by David. 2 To You, silence is praise, O God in Zion; and unto You shall the vow be fulfilled.* 3 O Heeder of prayer, unto You does all flesh come. 4 Matters of iniquities have overwhelmed me; our transgressions, You will pardon them. 5 Praises to the one whom You choose and draw near to dwell in Your courts; may we be sated with the goodness of Your House, the holiest part of Your Sanctuary. 6 *With awesome deeds in righteousness You will answer us, O God of our salvation; O Security of all [who inhabit] the ends of the earth and those far off at sea, 7 Who sets mountains with His strength, Who is girded with might, 8 Who calms the roar of the seas, the roar of their waves and the multitude of regimes. 9 Inhabitants of the furthest ends are awed by Your signs; with the outgoings of morning and evening You cause joyful praise. 10 You paid heed to the earth and watered it, You enriched it abundantly from God's stream filled with water;

65:6. The scattered flock of Israel.

66:3. God's enemies will stand in such fear of Him that they will try to deny that they ever sinned against Him (Rashi).

68:5. He guides and directs the heavens as the rider on His steed. Praise Him with His Name "YAH," which denotes Him as the Creator and Sustainer of the universe (Radak).

You prepare their grain, for thus do You prepare it, [11] to abundantly water its ridges, settle its furrows; with showers You soften it, You bless its growth. [12] You crown the year of Your goodness, and Your paths drip with abundance. [13] They drip onto desert pastures and the hills gird themselves with joy. [14] The meadows don sheep and the valleys cloak themselves with fodder, they shout joyfully, they even sing!

God's intervention in the affairs of man is not mere speculation; it is attested to by history, physically, perceptibly and irrefutably.

[1] For the conductor, a song, a psalm. Shout joyfully to God all the earth! [2] Sing the glory of His Name, make glorious His praise. [3] Say unto God, "How awesome are Your works!" Because of Your abundant power Your enemies will lie to You. * [4] All the earth will bow to You and they will sing to You, they will sing [to] Your Name, Selah. [5] Go and see the works of God, He is awesome in deed toward mankind. [6] He changed the sea into dry land, they passed through the river on foot; there we rejoiced in Him. [7] He rules in His might forever, His eyes oversee the nations; let not the rebellious exalt themselves, Selah. [8] Bless our God, O peoples, and make heard the sound of His praise; [9] He Who set our soul in life and did not allow our foot to falter. [10] For You examined us, O God, You refined us as if refining silver. [11] You brought us into the prison, You placed constraint upon our loins, [12] You mounted a mortal over our head; we entered fire and water and You brought us out into abundance. [13] I will enter Your House with burnt-offerings; I will fulfill to You my vows, [14] that my lips uttered and my mouth spoke in my distress. [15] Burnt-offerings of fat animals will I offer up to You, with the smoke of rams, I will prepare cattle with goats, Selah. [16] Go, all you who fear God, and hearken so that I may relate what He did for my soul. [17] Unto Him my mouth called, and [His] exaltation was under my tongue. [18] Had I perceived iniquity in my heart, the Lord would not have listened. [19] In truth, God has heard, He has hearkened to the sound of my prayer. [20] Blessed is God, Who has not turned away my prayer or His lovingkindness from me.

A prayer for the arrival of the Messianic era, when all mankind will worship God and earn His blessing

[1] For the conductor with the neginos, a psalm, a song. [2] May God favor us and bless us, may He illuminate His countenance with us, Selah. [3] To make known Your way on earth, among all nations Your salvation. [4] The peoples will acknowledge You, O God; the peoples will acknowledge You — all of them. [5] Regimes will be glad and sing for joy, because You will judge the peoples fairly and guide with fairness the regimes on earth, Selah. [6] The peoples will acknowledge You, O God; the peoples will acknowledge You — all of them. [7] The earth will then have yielded its produce; may God, our God, bless us. [8] May God bless us, and may all the ends of the earth fear Him.

Israel's triumph over the mightiest empires has been played out many times throughout history.

[1] For the conductor, by David, a psalm, a song. [2] May God arise, let His enemies be scattered, and His foes will flee from before Him. [3] As smoke is dispersed, so disperse [them]; as wax melts before fire, so may the wicked perish from before God. [4] And the righteous will be glad, they will exult before God; they will rejoice with gladness. [5] Sing to God, make music [to] His Name; extol He Who rides upon the highest heavens, with His Name YAH, * and exult before Him. [6] Father of orphans and Defender of widows is God in the abode of His holiness. [7] God settles the solitary into a family, He releases those bound in fetters; only the rebellious dwell in the thirsty land. [8] O God, when You went forth before Your nation, when You marched through the wilderness, Selah; [9] the earth quaked,

The phenomenon of Israel's triumph will be repeated for the last time with the Final Redemption, when God will be universally worshiped.

even the heavens dripped before the Presence of God; even Sinai, before the Presence of God, the God of Israel. [10] A generous rain did You lavish, O God, when Your heritage was weary You established it firmly. [11] Your flock settled there; You prepared for the poor in Your goodness, O God. [12] The Lord made a declaration, the heralds are a mighty host: [13] Kings of legions flee, they flee, and the dweller within apportions booty. * [14] Even if you lie among the cooking pots, * [you will be like] the wings of a dove that is coated with silver and her pinions with brilliant gold. [15] When the Almighty scatters kings, in it * shall those in shadowy darkness be whitened. [16] The mountain of God is a choice mountain, the mountain of majestic peaks is a choice mountain. [17] Why do you prance, O you mountains of majestic peaks? * The mountain that God desired for His abode — HASHEM will even dwell there forever! [18] God's entourage is twice ten thousand, thousands of angels; the Lord is among them, at Sinai in holiness. [19] You ascended on high, You have taken captives, You took gifts of man and even of rebels, to dwell with YAH, God. [20] Blessed is the Lord, day by day He burdens us, * the God of our salvation, Selah. [21] God is for us a God of salvations; and though HASHEM/ELOHIM, * the Lord, has many avenues toward death, [22] God will cleave only the head of His foes, the hairy skull * of him who saunters with his guilt. [23] The Lord promised, "I will bring back from Bashan, I will bring back from the depths of the sea; [24] that your foot may wade through blood; * the tongue of your dogs may have its food portion from the enemies." [25] They saw Your ways, O God, the ways of my God, my King, in holiness. [26] First went singers, then musicians, in the midst of timbrel-playing maidens. [27] In congregations bless God; [bless] HASHEM all who descend from Israel. [28] There Benjamin, the youngest, rules them, the princes of Judah stoned them; the princes of Zebulun, the princes of Naphtali. [29] Your God decreed your might; display Your strength, O God, Who has wrought [this] for us. [30] Because of Your Sanctuary upon Jerusalem, to You the kings shall deliver tribute. [31] Rebuke the flock of spears, the assembly of bulls among the calves of nations, [until] each prostrates himself with pieces of silver; He [God] scatters nations who desire battles. [32] Nobles shall come from Egypt, Cush shall hasten its hands to God. [33] O Kingdoms of the earth, sing to God, make music to the Lord, Selah — [34] to the One Who rides upon the loftiest of primeval heavens: Behold, He shouts with His voice, a voice of might. [35] Acknowledge invincible might to God, Whose grandeur is upon Israel as His might is in the skies. [36] You are awesome, O God, from Your Sanctuaries; * God of Israel — it is He Who grants might and power to the people, blessed is God.

A vivid prophetic portrayal of Israel's plight in its long and bitter exile, and an impassioned plea for its speedy deliverance

[1] For the conductor, on the shoshanim, by David. [2] Save me, O God, for the waters have reached until the soul! [3] I am sunk in the mire of the shadowy depths, and there is no foothold; I have entered watery depths, and a rushing current sweeps me away. [4] I am wearied by my outcry, my throat is parched; my eyes pined, waiting for my God. [5] More abundant than the hairs of my head are those who hate me without cause. Mighty are those who would cut me off, those who are unjustly my foes; what I never stole I must then restore. * [6] O God, You know my folly, and my guilty acts are not hidden from You. [7] Let those who wait for You not be shamed through me, O Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, Master of Legions; let those who seek You not be humiliated through me, O God of Israel.

ing spiritual heavenly Sanctuary (Radak).

69:5. Israel's exile is replete with instances in which charges were trumped up against Jews so that their wealth could be seized (R' Hirsch).

69:8. Instead of abandoning their religion, Jews remained loyal to God, through mockery and disgrace (Radak).

69:9. Ishmael and Esau and their descendants (Radak).

69:19. Rescue me so that my enemies should not say that You are powerless.

69:27. They persecuted Jews far more than necessary and with savage delight (Rashi).

8 Because for Your sake I have borne disgrace; humiliation covered my face.* 9 *I became a stranger to my brothers, and an alien to my mother's sons. 10 For the envy of Your House devoured me, and the disgraces of those who scorn You have fallen upon me. 11 And I wept while my soul was fasting, and it was disgraceful to me. 12 I made sackcloth my garment, I became for them a byword. 13 Those who sit by the gate talk about me and make up drinking songs of drunkards. 14 As for me, may my prayer to You, HASHEM, be at an opportune time; O God, in Your abundant kindness, answer me with the truth of Your salvation. 15 Rescue me from the mire so that I will not sink; let me be rescued from my enemies and from the deep waters. 16 Let not the rushing current sweep me away, nor let the shadowy depths swallow me; and do not let the pit close its mouth over me. 17 Answer me, HASHEM, for Your kindness is good; according to the abundance of Your mercy turn toward me. 18 Hide not Your face from Your servant; because I am distressed, answer me quickly. 19 *Draw near to my soul, redeem it; because of my foes, deliver me. 20 You know of my disgrace, my shame, and my humiliation; all my tormentors are before You. 21 Disgrace has broken my heart and I am deathly sick. I longed for sympathy but there was none, and for consolers, but I found none. 22 But they put gall in my meal, and for my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink. 23 May their table become a snare before them, and a trap to their peacefulness. 24 Let their eyes be darkened so that they cannot see, and let their loins falter continually. 25 Pour Your fury upon them, and let the fierceness of Your anger overtake them. 26 Let their palace be desolate, in their tents let there be no dweller. 27 For the one whom You smote they persecuted, and they tell about the pain of Your mortally wounded.* 28 Add iniquity to their iniquity, and let them not have access to Your righteousness. 29 May they be erased from the Book of Life, and let them not be inscribed with the righteous. 30 But I am afflicted and in pain; Your salvation, O God, shall raise me high. 31 I shall praise the Name of God with song, and I shall magnify it with thanksgiving; 32 and it shall please HASHEM more than a full-grown bull, possessed of horns and hoofs. 33 The humble have seen [it] and will be glad — you who seek God — and your hearts will revive. 34 For HASHEM hearkens to the destitute, and has not despised His prisoners. 35 Heaven and earth shall praise Him, the seas and all that moves within them. 36 For God shall save Zion and build the cities of Judah, and they shall settle there and possess it. 37 The offspring of His servants shall inherit it, and those who love His Name shall dwell in it.

An appeal to God for rescue from one's enemies

1 For the conductor, by David, for remembrance. 2 O God, to rescue me; O HASHEM, to my assistance — hasten! 3 Shamed and disgraced be those who seek my soul; repulsed and humiliated be those who desire my harm. 4 Let them be turned back in consequence of their shaming [me], those who say, "Aha! Aha!" 5 Let all who seek You rejoice and be glad in You; and let those who love Your salvation always say, "May God be magnified." 6 As for me, I am poor and destitute, O God, hasten to me! You are my assistance and my deliverance; HASHEM, do not delay!

71

1 In You, HASHEM, I have taken refuge, let me not be shamed, ever. 2 In Your righteousness rescue me and deliver me; incline Your ear to me and save me. 3 Be for me a sheltering rock to which to come always; [in the past] You commanded my salvation, for my Rock and my Fortress are You. 4 My God, deliver me from the wicked one's hand, from the palm of the schemer and the violent one. 5 For You are my hope; O Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, my security since my youth. 6 I relied 71:18. Old age affords the opportunity to transmit the knowledge of God accumulated throughout a lifetime.

71:24. The hopes of my enemies (verses 10-13) will be dashed because God will accept my prayer (verses 14-24).

72:3. A metaphor for the world's mighty nations. They will be at peace with Israel because they will recognize her "righteousness."

72:20. Possibly, this was David's final psalm, composed at the end of his life, as suggested by its dedication to his successor, Solomon. However, David placed it here since on You from my birth, You withdrew me from the innards of my mother; of You is my praise always. 7 When I became an example to the multitude, You were my mighty refuge. 8 My mouth was filled with Your praise, all day long with Your splendor. 9 Do not cast me off in time of old age; when my strength fails, forsake me not. 10 For my foes speak of me, and those who watch for my life consult together, 11 saying, "God has forsaken him, pursue and catch him, for there is no rescuer." 12 O God, be not far from me; O my God, hasten to my assistance. 13 Let the adversaries of my soul be shamed and consumed; let those who seek my harm be enwrapped in disgrace and humiliation. 14 As for me, I shall always hope, and I will yet add to all Your praise. 15 My mouth shall recount Your righteousness, all day long Your salvation, though I know not [their] numbers. 16 I shall come with the mighty deeds of the Lord, HASHEM/ELOHIM, I will mention Your righteousness, Yours alone. 17 O God, You have taught me from my youth, and until this moment I declare Your wonders. 18 And even until old age and hoariness, O God, forsake me not; until I proclaim Your strength to the generation, Your might to all who will yet come. 19 *And Your righteousness, O God, is unto the high heavens; You, Who have done great things, O God, who is like You? 20 You, Who have shown me many and grievous troubles; revive me again, and from the depths of the earth raise me again. 21 Increase my greatness, and turn back to comfort me. 22 I shall also thank You on the stringed instrument for Your faithfulness, my God; I shall sing to You on the harp, O Holy One of Israel. 23 My lips shall rejoice when I sing to You, as well as my soul that You have redeemed. 24 My tongue, too, shall utter Your righteousness all day long; for they are shamed, for they are humiliated, those who seek my harm.

Even in old age, when one's normal resources for contending with difficulty are diminished, one should turn to God Whose comfort never fails.

An aged King David turns over his unfinished work to his son and prays for his success.

1 For Solomon. O God, give Your judgments to the king and Your righteousness to the king's son. 2 May he judge Your nation with righteousness, and Your poor with justice. 3 May mountains bear peace to the nation; and hills, through righteousness. 4 May he judge the nation's poor, save the children of the destitute, and crush the oppressor. 5 They will fear You as long as the sun and moon endure, generation after generation. 6 May [his words] descend like rain upon cut vegetation, like showers, waterer of the earth. 7 May the righteous flourish in his days with abundant peace beyond the days of the moon. 8 May he dominate from sea to sea, and from river to the ends of the earth. 9 May nobles kneel before him, and may his foes lick the dust. 10 May the kings of Tarshish and the isles return tribute, the kings of Sheba and Seba offer gifts. 11 May all the kings prostrate themselves before him; all the nations serve him. 12 For he will deliver the destitute person who cries out, and the poor one with none to help him. 13 He will pity the impoverished and destitute, and save the souls of the destitute. 14 From fraud and from violence he will redeem their soul, and their blood will be precious in his eyes. 15 And he will live, and he will give him of the gold of Sheba; and he will pray for him continually and bless him every day. 16 May there be abundant grain on the earth of the mountaintops, may its fruit rustle like the [cedars of] Lebanon; may [people] blossom from the city like the grass of the earth. 17 May his name endure forever, may his name connote mastery as long as the sun endures; and all nations will bless themselves by him; they will praise him. 18 Blessed is HASHEM, God, the God of Israel, Who alone does wondrous things. 19 Blessed is His glorious Name forever; and may all the earth be filled with His glory. Amen and Amen. 20 The prayers of David, the son of Jesse, are ended.

Scripture often follows topical, rather than chronological, arrangement (Rashi).

73:12. This question regarding Divine justice is a recurrent and perplexing problem.

73:17. I was vexed by this question until I thought of God's "sanctuaries," the eternal World to Come where the righteous receive true reward. By comparison, the fleeting pleasures of This World are insignificant (Radak).

74:4. When they prevailed over the Holy Temple in Jerusalem, they construed their success as a "sign" that their cause was just.

74:5-6. The Temple had been constructed with such religious joy that the very act of bringing the axe to a forest to chop the necessary wood was regarded as an offering to God. "And now" the enemies demolished that glorious Temple.

74:8. The enemies believed that by destroying the Sanctuary they destroyed the future of Judaism. But they failed to realize that God's Torah is not limited to a Temple or a land, but guides Jewish life everywhere.

BOOK THREE

It may seem that the wicked prosper, exempt from Divine punishment. However, a deeper and broader perspective reveals the emptiness and futility of their glamorous lives.

1 A song of Asaph. Truly God is good to Israel, to the pure of heart. 2 But as for me, my feet were almost turned astray; my steps were very nearly washed aside. 3 For I envied the roisterers, when I saw the peace of the wicked. 4 Because there are no fetters to their death, and their vitality is sound. 5 They are excluded from the toil of frail humans, and they are not plagued as are other men. 6 Therefore arrogance is their necklace; their violence wraps their hips [with fat]. 7 Their eye bulges from fat, they have exceeded the fantasies of [their] heart. 8 They consume, and speak evilly about oppression, from on high do they speak. 9 They set their mouth against Heaven, and their tongue struts on earth. 10 Therefore His people return here, and the [bitter] waters of the full [cup] are sucked out by them. 11 And they say, "How can God know? Is there knowledge in the Most High?" 12 Behold these are the wicked, but they are always tranquil, they have attained great wealth. * 13 Surely in vain have I purified my heart, and washed my hands in cleanliness. 14 For I was plagued all day long, and I was chastised every morning. 15 Were I to say, "I will tell how it is," behold I would cause the generation of Your children to rebel. 16 And when I reflected to understand this, it was iniquity in my eyes, 17 until I came to the sanctuaries of God; I contemplated their end. * 18 Only on slippery places do You set them, You cast them down into destruction. 19 How have they become desolate in an instant! They came to an end, they were consumed through bewildering terrors. 20 Like a dream upon awakening, so, the Lord, in the city You will render their appearance despicable. 21 When my heart was in ferment, though my mind was sharpened, 22 and I was senseless and unknowing, like [mindless] beasts was I with You; 23 still, I was always with You, You grasped my right hand. 24 May You guide me in Your counsel; and afterwards, You will take [my] soul unto You. 25 Whom [else] do I have in heaven? And when I am with You I do not desire [anything] on earth. 26 My flesh and my heart yearn — God is the rock of my heart and my portion forever. 27 For behold, those removed from You shall perish, You cut down all who stray from You. 28 But as for me, God's nearness is my good; I have placed my trust in the Lord HASHEM/ELOHIM, to recount all of Your works.

From the agony of exile, the Jew prays that God will deliver His nation, thereby causing His sovereignty to be acknowledged by the entire world.

1 A maskil by Asaph. Why, O God, have You abandoned [us] for an eternity? [Why] does Your wrath smolder against the sheep of Your pasture? 2 Remember Your congregation, which You acquired long ago, You redeemed the tribe of Your heritage; the mountain of Zion, the one where You rested Your Presence. 3 Lift Your footsteps to wreak eternal ruin, [to avenge] everything that the enemy has harmed in the Sanctuary. 4 Your enemies have roared amidst Your meeting place, they made their signs for signs. * 5 It had been regarded as bringing [a gift] to the One Above, the axes in the thicket of trees; * 6 and now all its ornaments together, they beat down with hammer and chisels. 7 They have sent Your Sanctuary up in flames; to the ground have they desecrated the Abode of Your Name. 8 In their heart, they said — their rulers all together — they have burned all of God's meeting places on earth. * 9 Our signs we have not seen; there is no longer a prophet, and there is none among us who knows for how long. 10 Until when, O God, will the tormentor revile, will the foe blaspheme Your Name forever? 11 Why do You withdraw Your hand, even Your right hand? Remove [it] from within Your bosom! 12 For God is my King from days of old, working

A prayer for the ultimate Redemption, when God will bring about the collapse of evil, and the lasting elevation of Israel

[1] For the conductor, a plea to be spared from destruction, a psalm by Asaph, a song. [2] We have acknowledged You, O God, we have acknowledged, and Your Name is near; Your wonders have declared [this]: [3] "When I shall seize the appointed time, I shall judge with fairness. [4] The earth and all its inhabitants are melted, I have firmly established its pillars, Selah."* [5] I said to the roisterers, "Be not profligate"; and to the wicked, "Raise not your pride." [6] Raise not your pride, heavenward, [nor] speak insolence with a haughty neck. [7] For neither from sunrise nor from sunset, nor from the wilderness comes greatness. [8] For God is the Judge — He lowers this one and raises that one. [9] For there is a cup [of punishment] in HASHEM's hand, with strong wine of full mixture, which overflows from it; [until] all the wicked of the earth will drain and drink only its dregs. [10] But as for me, I shall recount [it] forever; I shall sing to the God of Jacob!* [11] And I shall cut down all the pride of the wicked; the pride of the righteous shall be exalted!

A prayer for the time when people will realize the futility of rebelling against God, and will completely accept His mastery

[1] For the conductor, with the neginos, a psalm of Asaph, a song. [2] God is recognized in Judah; in Israel His Name is great. [3] Then His Tabernacle was in Jerusalem, and His Dwelling in Zion.* [4] There He broke the flying bows, shield, sword, and battle, Selah.* [5] Illuminated are You, more powerful than the towering predators. [6] Bereft of reason were the stout-hearted, they slept their sleep, and all the warriors could not find their strength. [7] At Your rebuke, O God of Jacob, chariot and horse were stunned. [8] You, awesome are You! And who can stand before You when You are wrathful. [9] *From heaven You made judgment heard; the earth feared, and subsided, [10] when God arose to pass judgment, to save all the earth's humble, Selah. [11] *For the rage of man will acknowledge You; You will restrain the remnant of anger. [12] Make vows and fulfill them to HASHEM, your God; all who surround Him will present gifts to the Awesome One. [13] He will cut down the arrogance of the nobles; He is awesome to the kings of the earth.

77:5. The suffering of exile was so intense that sleep was impossible.

77:11. I realized that God withdrew His might from me to chasten me, so that I would repent.

77:20. The waters reverted to their natural course leaving no imprint behind. Those who experienced God's presence must overcome their natural tendency to let it recede from their consciousness.

78:2. Rather than "parables" and "riddles" in the usual sense, the psalm reviews events of Jewish history. The events of Israel's history are parables in the sense that they are object lessons for all time (R' Hirsch).

78:12. Zoan was a major Egyptian city.

78:13. See Exodus 14:21-22.

78:14. See Exodus 13:21.

78:15. See Exodus 17:17.

When the chastisement of exile has fully purified His nation, God will again intervene as He did when He redeemed Israel from Egypt.

I speak and my spirit swoons, Selah. [5] You held fast my eyelids; I was agitated and could not speak. [6] [Then] I pondered olden days, ancient years. [7] I recall my [Temple] music in the night; in my heart I meditate, and my spirit searches: [8] Is it for eternity that the Lord rejects me, nevermore to be appeased? [9] Is His kindness ended forever? Has He sealed the decree for all generations? [10] Has God forgotten graciousness? Has He shut off His mercy in anger? Selah. [11] And I said, "It is to make me infirm — this change of the Most High One's right hand."* [12] I recall the works of God, when I remember Your ancient wonders. [13] I shall meditate upon all Your deeds and speak about Your works. [14] O God, Your way is in sanctity, what power is as great as God? [15] You are the God Who works wonders, You manifested Your might among the nations. [16] With Your powerful arm You redeemed Your nation, the sons of Jacob and Joseph, Selah. [17] The waters saw You, O God, the waters saw You and were terrified; even the depths trembled. [18] Clouds streamed water, heavens sounded forth, even Your arrows [of lightning] went forth. [19] The rumble of Your thunder was in the rolling wind; lightning bolts lit the world, the earth trembled and roared. [20] In the sea was Your way, and Your path went through the mighty waters; and Your footsteps were not known.* [21] You led Your nation like a flock, by the hand of Moses and Aaron.*

God's love and concern for Israel are ever present. Failure to keep that memory alive is a major cause of sin, while remembering it brings solace in difficult times.

[1] A maskil by Asaph. Listen, my people, to my teaching, incline your ear to the words of my mouth. [2] I will open my mouth with a parable, I will utter [and explain] riddles from antiquity. [3] That which we have heard and know and our fathers told us, [4] we shall not withhold from their sons, recounting unto the final generation the praises of HASHEM, His might and His wonders that He has wrought. [5] He established a testimony in Jacob and set down a Torah in Israel, which He commanded our fathers, to make them known to their sons. [6] So that the final generation may know; children yet to be born will arise and tell their own children; [7] so that they may place their trust in God, and not forget the works of God, and they will safeguard His commandments. [8] That they not become like their fathers, a wayward and rebellious generation; a generation that did not dedicate its heart aright, and whose spirit was not steadfast with God. [9] The sons of Ephraim, though armed archers, retreated on the day of battle, [10] [because] they did not guard the covenant of God, and they refused to follow His Torah. [11] They forgot His works, and His wonders that He had shown them. [12] In the presence of their fathers He did marvels, in the land of Egypt, in the field of Zoan.* [13] He split the sea and brought them across, and He stood the water like a wall.* [14] He led them with a cloud by day, and all night long with a fiery light.* [15] He split rocks in the wilderness, and provided drink like the abundant depths.* [16] He brought forth flowing waters from the rock, and caused waters to descend like rivers. [17] But they continued further to sin against Him, to rebel against the Most High in the thirsty desert.* [18] And they tested God in their hearts, by requesting food for their craving.* [19] And they spoke against God. They said, "Can God prepare a table in the wilderness? [20] True, He struck a rock and water flowed and streams flooded forth — [but] can He give bread also? Can He supply meat for His people?" [21] Therefore HASHEM heard and was enraged; and a fire was kindled against Jacob, and also anger flared against Israel. [22] For they did not have faith in God,*

78:17. See Numbers 20:1-6.
78:18. See Numbers 11:1-6. People have a right to pray for their needs, but the complaining, testy manner in which the Jews demanded meat was sinful.

78:60. Where it had stood for 369 years, until the Ark was captured by the Philistines (see I Samuel Ch. 4).

78:61. The Ark of the Covenant, the symbol of God's "strength and splendor."

and trusted not in His salvation, 23 [even though] He had already commanded the skies above, and opened the doors of heaven, 24 and rained upon them manna to eat, and gave them heavenly grain. 25 Humans ate the bread of angels; He sent them food for satisfaction. 26 He made the east [wind] blow in the heavens and He steered the south [wind] with His strength, 27 and He rained upon them meat like dust, and winged birds like the sand of seas, * 28 and He dropped it amid His camp, around His dwellings. 29 Then they ate and were very sated, for He brought them their craving. 30 They had not yet been estranged from their craving; their food was still in their mouth, 31 when the anger of God flared against them and slew their fattest, and He bent over the chosen of Israel. 32 Nevertheless, they sinned further and did not believe in His wonders. 33 So He ended their days in vanity, and their years in bewildering terror. 34 When He slew them, then they would seek Him; they would repent and pray to God. 35 They would remember that God was their Rock, and the Most High God their Redeemer. 36 But they sought to beguile him with their mouth, * and they deceived Him with their tongues. 37 Their heart was not constant with Him, and they were not steadfast in His covenant. 38 Nevertheless, He, the Merciful One, * is forgiving of iniquity and does not destroy; frequently He withdraws His anger, not arousing His entire wrath. 39 For He remembered that they were but flesh, a fleeting breath, not returning. 40 How often did they defy Him in the wilderness, did they grieve Him in the wasteland! 41 Again and again they tested God, and they set limits to the Holy One of Israel. 42 They did not remember His hand, the day He redeemed them from the oppressor; 43 how he set His signs in Egypt, and His wonders in the field of Zoan, 44 and changed their rivers into blood and made their flowing waters undrinkable. * 45 He sent against them a mixture of beasts that devoured them, and frogs that brought them ruin. * 46 He gave the grasshopper their produce, and their wearying labor to the locust. * 47 He killed their grapevines with hail, and their fig-trees with biting frost. * 48 He delivered their cattle to the hail, and their flocks to the fiery bolts. 49 He sent upon them His fierce anger, fury and wrath and trouble, a band of emissaries of evil. 50 He leveled a path for His anger; He did not spare their soul from death, and He delivered their lives to pestilence. 51 He smote every firstborn in Egypt, the first fruit of their strength in the tents of Ham. * 52 Then He caused His nation to journey like sheep, and guided them like a flock in the wilderness. 53 He led them with security so they had no fear, for the sea had covered their foes. 54 And He brought them to His sacred boundary, this mountain that His right hand acquired. 55 Then He drove away nations from before them and apportioned them a measured inheritance, and settled the tribes of Israel in their tents. 56 Yet they tested and rebelled against the Supreme God, and did not observe His testimonies. 57 They drew back and betrayed like their fathers, they shifted like a treacherous bow. 58 They angered Him with their high altars, and they aroused His jealousy with their idols. 59 God heard and His anger overflowed, and He greatly rejected Israel. 60 He abandoned the Tabernacle of Shiloh, * the tent where He dwelled among men. 61 He placed His strength into captivity, and His splendor into the oppressor's hand. * 62 And He delivered His people to the sword, and His anger overflowed against His inheritance. 63 Fire consumed His young men, and His maidens had no marriage celebration. 64 His priests fell by the sword, and His widows did not weep. 65 Then the Lord awoke like one who had been sleeping, like a warrior rousing himself from wine. 66 He struck His enemies into retreat, He gave them eternal disgrace.*

78:70. See I Samuel 16:11. The true Jewish leader displays the character and qualities of a shepherd, who is devoted to the welfare of his flock.

79:2. Once a person is punished for his sins, he reverts to his status as God's devout servant (Rashi).

80:2. The entire Jewish nation is called by Joseph's name because he sustained them in Egypt during the famine (Rashi).

80:7. A euphemism for mocking God (Ibn Ezra).

80:13. Some of the Children of Israel's finest products are plucked from its vineyard to espouse alien cultures.

80:14. The nations of the world.

67 He rejected the tent of Joseph and did not choose the tribe of Ephraim; 68 He chose the tribe of Judah, Mount Zion, which He loves. 69 And He built His Temple like the high heavens; like the earth He established it forever. 70 And He chose David, His servant, and took him from the sheep corrals.* 71 From behind the nursing ewes He brought him; to tend to Jacob, His nation, and to Israel, His inheritance. 72 And he tended them according to the integrity of his heart, and by the skill of his hands he led them.

79

A prayer that Israel be restored to its land, so that God's honor will be restored in the eyes of a doubting world

1 A psalm of Asaph: O God! The nations have entered into Your inheritance, they have defiled the Sanctuary of Your holiness, they have turned Jerusalem into heaps of rubble. 2 They have given the corpse of Your servants* as food for the birds of the sky, the flesh of Your devout ones to the beasts of the earth. 3 They have shed their blood like water roundabout Jerusalem, and there is none who buries. 4 We became an object of disgrace to our neighbors, of mockery and scorn to those around us. 5 Until when, HASHEM, will You be ceaselessly angry, will Your jealousy burn like fire? 6 Pour Your wrath upon the nations that do not recognize You, and upon the kingdoms that do not invoke Your Name. 7 For they have devoured Jacob, and destroyed His habitation. 8 Recall not against us the sins of the ancients; may Your mercies meet us swiftly, for we have become exceedingly impoverished. 9 Assist us, O God of our salvation, for the sake of Your Name's glory, rescue us and atone for our sins for Your Name's sake. 10 Why should the nations say, "Where is their God?" Let there be known among the nations, before our eyes, revenge for Your servants' spilled blood. 11 Let the groan of the prisoner come before You; as befits the greatness of Your might, spare those condemned to die. 12 And repay our neighbors sevenfold into their bosom, their disgrace with which they have disgraced You, O Lord. 13 As for us, Your nation and the sheep of Your pasture, we shall thank You forever; for generation after generation we shall relate Your praise.

Recalling its earlier glorious relationship with God, Israel pleads for its restoration.

1 For the conductor, for the shoshannim, a testimony, a psalm of Asaph. 2 Give ear, O Shepherd of Israel, You Who leads Joseph* like a flock; appear, O You Who is enthroned upon the Cherubim. 3 Before Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasseh, arouse Your might, it is for You to save us. 4 O God, return us, and illuminate Your face that we may be saved. 5 HASHEM, God, Master of Legions, how long will You fume at the prayers of Your people? 6 You fed them bread of tears, You made them drink tears in great measure. 7 You made us an object of strife to our neighbors, and our enemies mock themselves.* 8 O God, Master of Legions, return us, and illuminate Your face that we may be saved. 9 You caused a grapevine to journey out of Egypt; You expelled nations and implanted it. 10 You cleared a space before it; it struck its roots and filled the land. 11 Mountains were covered with its shadow, and its branches became mighty cedars. 12 It stretched its boughs until the sea, and its tender shoots until the river. 13 Why have You breached its fences, so that all who pass by the way pluck its fruit?* 14 The boar of the forest ravages it, and the crawler of the field* feeds on it. 15 O God, Master of Legions, please return; look down from heaven and see, and be mindful of this vine. 16 And the foundation that Your right hand has planted, and the son whom You strengthened for Yourself. 17 [He is now] consumed by fire, razed; they perish before Your angry shout. 18 Let Your strong hand protect the man acquired by Your right hand, the son of man whom You strengthened for Yourself.

81:8. See Numbers 20:1-13.

81:11. With requests.

81:16. Israel's time.

82:2-4. These verses are addressed directly to judges who fail to carry out their responsibilities.

82:5. Many judges are unaware of their awesome responsibility; they walk in darkness, blinded by prejudice and selfishness.

82:8. Since human judges are corrupt, You must see to it that justice prevails in the world.

83:9. Ammon and Moab.

83:10-11. See Judges Chapter 4.

19 Then we shall not draw back from You; revive us and we shall proclaim Your Name. 20 HASHEM, God, Master of Legions, return us; illuminate Your face that we may be saved.

81

No matter how low one has sunk, a firm resolve to heed God's word will cause Him to loosen the fetters and send Redemption.

1 For the conductor, on the gittis, by Asaph. 2 Sing joyously to the God of our strength, call out to the God of Jacob. 3 Raise up a song and sound the drum, the sweet harp with the lyre. 4 Blow the shofar at the moon's renewal, at the time appointed for our festive day. 5 Because it is a decree for Israel, a judgment [day] for the God of Jacob. 6 He appointed it as a testimony for Joseph when He went out over the land of Egypt, when I heard a language unknown to me. 7 [Says God:] "I removed his shoulder from the burden, his hands passed from the kettle. 8 In distress you called out, and I released you; I answered you when you called privately with a thunderous reply, I tested you at the Waters of Strife, Selah.* 9 Listen, My people, and I will attest to you; O Israel, if you would but listen to Me. 10 There shall be no strange god within you, nor shall you bow before an alien god. 11 I am HASHEM, your God, who raised you from the land of Egypt; open wide your mouth and I will fill it."* 12 But My people did not heed My voice; Israel did not desire Me. 13 So I let them follow their heart's fantasies, that they might follow their own counsels. 14 If only My people would heed Me, if Israel would walk in My ways. 15 In an instant I would subdue their foes, and against their tormentors I would turn My hand. 16 Those who hate HASHEM would lie to him; but their time would be forever.* 17 And He would feed him with the cream of the wheat, and from a rock I would sate you with honey.

The maintenance of equity and justice is a prerequisite for the continued existence of the world.

1 A psalm of Asaph: God stands in the Divine assembly, in the midst of judges shall He judge. 2 Until when will you judge lawlessly and favor the presence of the wicked, Selah?* 3 Dispense justice for the needy and the orphan; vindicate the poor and impoverished. 4 Rescue the needy and destitute, and deliver them from the hand of the wicked. 5 They do not know nor do they understand, they walk in darkness; all the foundations of the earth collapse.* 6 I said, "You are angelic, sons of the Most High are you all." 7 But like men you shall die, and like one of the princes you shall fall. 8 Arise, O God, judge the earth, for You shall seek Your inheritance among all the nations.*

The historical enmity of the nations against Israel is an outgrowth of hatred for that which Israel stands for: the complete subordination of all human striving to God's will.

1 A song, a psalm of Asaph. 2 O God, do not hold Yourself silent; be not deaf and be not still, O God; 3 For behold, Your foes are in uproar and those who hate You have raised their head. 4 Against Your people they plot deviously, they take counsel against those sheltered by You. 5 They said, "Come, let us cut them off from nationhood, so Israel's name will not be remembered any longer!" 6 For they take counsel together unanimously, they strike a covenant against You: 7 The tents of Edom and Ishmaelites; Moab and Hagrites; 8 Gebal and Ammon, and Amalek; Philistia, with the inhabitants of Tyre. 9 Even Assyria joined with them, they became the strong arm of Lot's sons, Selah.* 10 Do to them as to Midian, as to Sisera and as to Jabin at Kishon Brook, 11 who were destroyed at Ein-dor; they became dung for the earth.* 12 *Make their nobles like Oreb and Zeeb; and all their princes like Zebah and Zalmunna. 13 Who said, "We will conquer for ourselves the pleasant habitations of God."* 14 O my God, make them like the whirling chaff, like stubble before the wind; 15 like a fire burning the forest, and like a flame that sets mountains ablaze. 16 So pursue them with Your tempest

83:12. See Judges 7:25; 8:12,21. 83:13. The nations enumerated in verses 7-9.

84:4. A bird will unerringly seek its nest where it has nurtured the most precious treasures of its life. So too, the exiled Jew yearns to return to God's service (R' Hirsch).

84:7. A play on words: בָּכָא, "thorns," is similar to בָּכָה, "weeping," or "tears."

86:4. Lifting one's soul to God has several connotations: wholehearted supplication, complete dedication, and awaiting His kindness with hope and trust (Radak).

and terrify them with Your storm. [17] Fill their faces with shame, then they will seek Your Name, HASHEM. [18] Let them be shamed and terrified forever, then they will be disgraced and they will perish. [19] Then they will know that You — Whose Name is HASHEM — are alone, Most High over all the earth.

Neither crushing persecution nor the blandishments of alien prosperity should deflect one from striving to attain closeness with God.

[1] For the conductor, on the gittis, by the sons of Korah, a psalm. [2] How beloved are Your dwelling places, HASHEM, Master of Legions! [3] My soul yearns, indeed it pines, for the courtyards of HASHEM; my heart and my flesh pray fervently to the Living God. [4] Even the bird finds its home and the free bird her nest where she laid her young; O, [to be] at Your altars, * HASHEM, Master of Legions, my King and my God. [5] Praiseworthy are those who dwell in Your house, continually they will praise You, Selah. [6] Praiseworthy is the man whose strength is in You, those whose hearts focus on upward paths. [7] Those who pass through the Valley of Thorns, * they transform it into a wellspring; also the rain will cloak [it] with blessings. [8] They advance from strength to strength; each one will appear before God in Zion. [9] HASHEM, God, Master of Legions, hear my prayer; listen, O God of Jacob, Selah. [10] Look upon our shield, O God, and gaze at Your anointed one's face. [11] For one day in Your courtyards is better than a thousand [elsewhere]; I prefer to stand exposed at the threshold of my God's house than to dwell securely in the tents of wickedness. [12] For a sun and a shield is HASHEM, God; favor and glory does HASHEM bestow; He withholds no goodness from those who walk in perfect innocence. [13] HASHEM, Master of Legions, praiseworthy is the man who trusts in You.

As He had restored Israel and the Temple after the first Destruction, so may He again restore them, this time permanently.

[1] For the conductor, by the sons of Korah, a psalm. [2] HASHEM, You have favored Your land, You have returned the captivity of Jacob. [3] You have forgiven the iniquity of Your people; You have covered up their entire sin, Selah. [4] You have withheld Your entire fury; You have retreated from the fierceness of Your anger. [5] Return us, O God of our salvation, and annul Your anger with us. [6] Will You forever be angry with us, allowing Your wrath to endure for generation to generation? [7] Will You not revive us again, that Your people may rejoice in You? [8] Show us Your kindness, HASHEM, and grant us Your salvation. [9] I can hear what the Almighty, HASHEM, will speak; for He speaks peace to His people and to His devout ones, and they will not revert to folly. [10] Surely His salvation is close to those who fear Him, that [His] glory may again dwell in our land. [11] Kindness and Truth have met, Righteousness and Peace have kissed; [12] Truth will sprout from earth, and Righteousness will peer from heaven. [13] HASHEM, too, will provide what is good, and our land will yield its produce. [14] [The man of] righteousness will walk before Him, and set his footsteps on the way.

Wholehearted supplication, complete dedication, and awareness of God's closeness lift one's soul and bring it closer to God.

[1] A prayer of David; HASHEM, incline Your ear, answer me, for I am poor and destitute. [2] Guard my soul, for I am devout; save Your servant who trusts You, O You, my God. [3] Show me favor, O Lord, for to You do I call all the day. [4] Gladden the soul of Your servant, for to You, O Lord, I lift up my soul. * [5] For You, O Lord, are good and forgiving and abundantly kind to all who call upon You. [6] Give ear, HASHEM, to my prayer, and heed the sound of my supplications. [7] On the day of my distress I call upon You, for You will answer me. [8] There is none like You among the powers, O Lord, and there is nothing like Your works. [9] All the nations that You have made will come and bow down before You, O Lord, and will give glory to Your Name. [10] For You are great and work wonders; You alone are God. [11] Teach me, O HASHEM, Your way, that I may travel in Your truth, 87:1. Mount Sinai and Mount Zion (Shocher Tov). All the greatness described in this psalm stems from the Torah revealed at Sinai, which finds fulfillment around the Holy Temple in Jerusalem (R' Hirsch).

87:4-5. Each great nation has occasionally produced great men. Israel, on the other hand, has consistently produced many men of greatness (Radak).

87:7. Zion is a "wellspring" that produces an endless supply of people who glorify God (Ibn Ezra; R' Hirsch).

88:1. Machalas le'annos is a musical instrument.

88:6. To sustain them with life; rather, You decreed that they should perish.

89:1. See I Chronicles 2:6. The Talmud identifies him as the Patriarch Abraham (Bava Basra 14b).

89:4. God is the speaker from here through verse 38.

unite my heart to fear Your Name. 12 I will thank You, O Lord, my God, with all my heart, and I will give honor to Your Name forever. 13 For Your kindness toward me is great, and You have rescued my soul from the nethermost depth. 14 O God, transgressors have risen up against me, a company of ruthless men has sought my soul; and they have not set You before themselves. 15 But You, O Lord, are the Merciful and Compassionate God, Slow to Anger, Abundant in Kindness and Truth. 16 Turn to me and show me favor; give Your strength to Your servant, and save the son of Your handmaid. 17 Display for me a sign for good; so that my enemies may see it and be ashamed, for You, HASHEM, will have helped and consoled me.

87

Greatness and nobility emanate from Jerusalem, Israel's spiritual center.

1 By the sons of Korah, a psalm, a song, whose foundation is in the holy mountains. * 2 HASHEM loves the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob. 3 The most glorious things are spoken of you, O city of God, Selah. 4 *I mention Rahab and Babylon to those who know me, behold there are Philistia and Tyre, with Cush, "This one was born there." 5 But of Zion it can be said, "Man after man was born in her," and He, the Most High, maintains her thus. 6 HASHEM will count, when He records nations, "This one was born there," Selah. 7 But singers as well as flute players, all wellsprings are in you [O Zion]. *

88

An impassioned plea for deliverance from Israel's long, almost unbearable, exile

1 A song of psalm by the sons of Korah, for the conductor, on the machalas le'annos, * a maskil by Heman the Ezrahite. 2 HASHEM, God of my salvation, I cried out by day — [and] by night before You. 3 Let my prayer come before You, incline Your ear to my supplication. 4 For my soul is sated with troubles, and my life has reached the grave. 5 I was reckoned with those who descend to the pit, I was like a man without strength 6 among the dead who are free; like the corpses lying in the grave, whom You remember no more, * for they were cut off by Your hand. 7 You placed me in the lowest of pits, into utter darkness, into shadowy depths. 8 Upon me Your wrath weighed down, and You have afflicted [me] with all Your crashing waves, Selah. 9 You have estranged my acquaintances from me; You made me abominable to them; I am imprisoned and cannot leave. 10 My eye is grieved by affliction; I have called upon You, O HASHEM, every day; I have stretched out my hands to You. 11 Will You work wonders for the dead? Will the lifeless arise and offer You thanks? Selah. 12 Will Your kindness be recounted in the grave, or Your faithfulness in utter ruin? 13 Will Your wonders become known in the dark, or Your righteousness in the land of oblivion? 14 As for me, to You, HASHEM, have I cried, and in the morning my prayer will greet You. 15 Why, HASHEM, should You abandon my soul, should You conceal Your face from me? 16 Afflicted am I, and close to death since youth; I have borne Your frightening judgment and feel constant dread. 17 Your rages have gone over me; Your terrors have flayed me. 18 They surround me like water all day long; they encircle me in unison. 19 You have estranged friend and companion from me; my acquaintances have hidden in darkness.

Throughout its exile, Israel is sure that God will fulfill His promises to David.

1 *A maskil by Ethan the Ezrahite. 2 Of HASHEM's kindness I will sing forever; I will make Your faithfulness known to every generation with my mouth. 3 For I said, "Forever will [Your] kindness be built; the heavens, You establish Your faithfulness in them." 4 *"I made a covenant with My chosen one, I have sworn to David, My servant: 5 For all eternity I will establish your seed; and I will build your throne for generation after generation," Selah. 6 Then the heavens will acknowledge Your wonders, HASHEM, Your faithfulness, too, in the assembly of 89:11. Egypt.

89:15. Though God is omnipotent, His reign is characterized by "righteousness, justice, kindness, and truth" (Ibn Ezra). Unlike human governments, whose ethical and moral standards are based on pragmatic considerations of mutual protection and survival, God's standards are absolute.

89:39. Those of David's royal descendants who abandoned the righteous ways of their ancestor.

90:1. Psalms 90-100 were written by Moses and incorporated by David into Psalms (Rashi; Bava Basra 14b).

90:3. You crush the pride of arrogant people (Rashi).

90:8. Man may forget his sins, but God's memory is eternal (Radak).

90:9. Because we incurred God's wrath, our days passed by unproductively (Rashi).

90:10. Although Moses, who composed this psalm, lived to one hundred and twenty years, this verse speaks of the average life span of people (Radak).

90:12. Help us be mindful of our limited time so that we use it wisely and productively (Ibn Ezra).

90:13. How long will You abandon us? (Radak).

91:14. From here to the end of the psalm, God is the speaker.

to David in Your faithfulness? [51] Remember, O Lord, the taunt of Your servant — borne in my bosom from the entire multitude of nations — [52] that Your enemies have taunted, O HASHEM, that they have taunted the footsteps of Your Messiah. [53] Blessed is HASHEM forever, Amen and Amen.

After portraying the brevity and fragility of man's existence on earth, Moses beseeches God to help man use his finite time properly and productively.

[1] *A prayer by Moses, * the man of God: O Lord, You have been an abode for us in all generations;* [2] before the mountains were born and You had not yet fashioned the earth and the inhabited land, and from the remotest past and to the most distant future, You are God. [3] *You reduce man to pulp * and You say, "Repent, O sons of man."* [4] For even a thousand years in Your eyes are but a bygone yesterday, and like a watch in the night. [5] You flood them away, they become sleeplike; by morning they are like grass that withers. [6] In the morning it blossoms and is rejuvenated; by evening it is cut down and brittle. [7] For we are consumed by Your anger; and we are confounded by Your wrath. [8] *You have set our iniquities before Yourself, * our immaturity before the light of Your countenance.* [9] *For all our days passed by because of Your fury, * we consumed our years like a fleeting thought.* [10] *The days of our years among them are seventy years, * and if with might, eighty years; their proudest success is but toil and pain, for it is cut off swiftly and we fly away.* [11] Who knows the power of Your anger? As You are feared, so is Your fury. [12] *Teach us to count our days, * then we shall acquire a heart of wisdom.* [13] *Return, HASHEM, until when? * Relent concerning Your servants.* [14] Satisfy us in the morning with Your kindness, then we shall sing out and rejoice throughout our days. [15] Gladden us according to the days You afflicted us, the years when we saw evil. [16] May Your works be visible to Your servants, and Your majesty upon their children. [17] May the pleasantness of the Lord, our God, be upon us; our handiwork, establish for us; our handiwork, establish it.

By scorning conventional forms of protection and seeking refuge only in the Most High, the believer can live without fear of those who would harm him.

[1] Whoever sits in the refuge of the Most High, he shall dwell in the [protective] shade of the Almighty. [2] I will say of HASHEM, "[He is] my refuge and my fortress, my God, I will trust in Him." [3] For He will deliver you from the ensnaring trap, from devastating pestilence. [4] With His pinion He will cover you, and beneath His wings you will be protected; His truth is shield and armor. [5] You shall not fear the terror of night; nor of the arrow that flies by day; [6] nor the pestilence that walks in gloom; nor the destroyer who lays waste at noon. [7] A thousand may fall victim at your side and a myriad at your right hand, but to you it shall not approach. [8] You will merely peer with your eyes and you will see the retribution of the wicked. [9] Because [you said], "You, HASHEM, are my refuge," you have made the Most High your abode. [10] No evil will befall you, nor will any plague come near your tent. [11] He will charge His angels for you, to protect you in all your ways. [12] On [their] palms they will carry you, lest you strike your foot against a stone. [13] Upon the lion and the viper you will tread; you will trample the young lion and the serpent. [14] *For he has yearned for Me * and I will deliver him; I will elevate him because he knows My Name.* [15] He will call upon Me and I will answer him, I am with him in distress; I will release him and I will bring him honor. [16] With long life will I satisfy him, and I will show him My salvation.

92:3. Dawn alludes to redemption; night symbolizes exile. Even though there are times when God makes one suffer, those, too, are manifestations of His "kindness," because He does it for one's ultimate benefit.

92:8. Why do the wicked prosper? God gives temporal success and happiness to the wicked as reward for whatever good deeds they have done. Having been recompensed, they will sink to destruction, while the righteous gain eternal reward (Rashi).

92:11. See 22:22.

93:1. This psalm speaks of Messianic times, but it is couched in the past tense, as if spoken by those of Messiah's generation. The past tense implies that God has always reigned, it is only we who failed to perceive it.

93:3. The enemies of Israel will roar against them like raging rivers at flood stage (Radak).

93:5. The assurances of Your prophets regarding the eventual rebuilding of the Temple (Rashi).

On the Sabbath, free from the weekday struggle for a livelihood, the Jew can turn heart and mind to the perception of God's ways.

[1] A psalm, a song for the Sabbath day. [2] It is good to thank HASHEM and to sing praise to Your Name, O Exalted One; [3] to relate Your kindness in the dawn and Your faith in the nights. * [4] Upon a ten-stringed instrument and upon lyre, with singing accompanied by a harp. [5] For You have gladdened me, HASHEM, with Your deeds; at the works of Your hands I sing glad song. [6] How great are Your deeds, HASHEM; exceedingly profound are Your thoughts. [7] A boor cannot know, nor can a fool understand this: [8] When the wicked bloom like grass and all the doers of iniquity blossom, * it is to destroy them till eternity. [9] But You remain exalted forever, HASHEM. [10] For behold Your enemies, O HASHEM, for behold, Your enemies shall perish; dispersed shall be all doers of iniquity. [11] You raised my pride as a re'eim's, * I was saturated with ever-fresh oil. [12] My eyes have seen my vigilant foes; when those who would harm me rise up against me, my ears have heard. [13] A righteous man will flourish like a date palm, like a cedar in the Lebanon he will grow tall. [14] Planted in the house of HASHEM, in the courtyards of our God they will flourish. [15] They will still be fruitful in old age, vigorous and fresh they will be, [16] to declare that HASHEM is just, my Rock in Whom there is no wrong.

In Messianic times, God's majesty and grandeur will be recognized by all.

[1] HASHEM has reigned, * He has donned grandeur; HASHEM has donned strength and girded Himself; even the world of men is firm, it shall not falter. [2] Your throne is established from of old; eternal are You. [3] [Like] rivers they raised, O HASHEM, [like] rivers they raised their voice; * [like] rivers they shall raise their destructiveness. [4] More than the roars of many waters, mightier than the waves of the sea, You are mighty on high, HASHEM. [5] *Your testimonies about Your House, the Sacred Dwelling, are exceedingly trustworthy; O HASHEM, may it be for lengthy days.

Goodness will prevail and evil will be punished. God will champion Israel's cause and deliver it from its enemies.

[1] O God of vengeance, HASHEM; O God of vengeance, appear! [2] Arise, O Judge of the earth, render recompense to the haughty. [3] Until when will the wicked, O HASHEM, until when will the wicked exult? [4] They speak freely, they utter malicious falsehood, they glorify themselves, all doers of iniquity. [5] Your nation, HASHEM, they crush, and they afflict Your heritage. [6] The widow and the stranger they slay, and the orphans they murder. [7] And they say, "God will not see, nor will the God of Jacob understand." [8] Understand, you boors among the people; and you fools, when will you gain wisdom? [9] He Who implants the ear, will He not hear? Will He Who fashions the eye not see? [10] He Who chastises nations, will He not rebuke? It is He Who teaches man knowledge. [11] HASHEM knows the thoughts of man, that they are futile. [12] Praiseworthy is the man whom God disciplines, * and whom You teach from Your Torah, [13] to give him rest from the days of evil, while a pit is dug for the wicked. [14] For HASHEM will not cast off His people, nor will He forsake His heritage. [15] For justice shall revert to righteousness, and following it will be all of upright heart. [16] Who will rise up for me against evildoers? Who will stand up for me against the doers of iniquity? [17] Had HASHEM not been a help to me, my soul would soon have dwelt in silence. [18] If I said, "My foot falters," Your kindness, HASHEM, supported me. [19] When my forebodings were abundant within me, Your comforts cheered my soul. [20] Can the throne of destruction be associated with You? — those who fashion evil into a statute. [21] They join together against the soul of the righteous, and the blood of the 94:12-13. The wicked ask why the righteous suffer, if God truly controls everything. The psalmist answers that God afflicts the righteous only when it is to their benefit: to make them correct their ways, to make them realize the futility of physical pleasures, or to atone for their sins (Radak; Meiri).

95:7. If we only heed God's call, He will end our travail and suffering even today.

95:8. Meribah means "strife"; Massah means "testing." See Exodus 17:1-7.

96:11. The components of nature exult in carrying out their assigned functions. The heavens give abundant rain, the earth gives generous crops, and so on (Ibn Ezra).

97:1. See 93:1.

97:2. The justice of God's ways is often masked by "cloud and darkness." In reality, however, everything He does is for a reason.

97:5. A metaphor for great and towering leaders.

innocent they condemn. 22 Then HASHEM became a stronghold for me, and my God, the Rock of my refuge. 23 He turned upon them their own violence, and with their own evil He will cut them off; HASHEM, our God, will cut them off.

Come acknowledge God as Creator and guiding force of the universe. Do not emulate your ancestors who strayed after falsehood.

1 Come! Let us sing to HASHEM, let us call out to the Rock of our salvation. 2 Let us greet Him with thanksgiving, with praiseful songs let us call out to Him. 3 For a great God is HASHEM, and a great King above all heavenly powers. 4 For in His power are the hidden mysteries of earth, and the mountain summits are His. 5 For His is the sea and He perfected it, and the dry land — His hands fashioned it. 6 Come! Let us prostrate ourselves and bow, let us kneel before God, our Maker. 7 *For He is our God and we can be the flock He pastures, and the sheep in His charge — even today, if we but heed His call! 8 Do not harden your heart as at Meribah, as on the day of Massah* in the Wilderness;* 9 when Your ancestors tried Me; they tested Me, though they had seen My deed. 10 For forty years I was angry with the generation; then I said, "An errant-hearted people are they, and they know not My ways." 11 Therefore, I have sworn in My anger that they shall not enter My land of contentment.

When all the nations on earth will recognize God's sovereignty, they will join in a new song acknowledging Him.

1 Sing to HASHEM a new song; sing to HASHEM, everyone on earth. 2 Sing to HASHEM, bless His Name; announce His salvation daily. 3 Relate His glory among the nations; among all peoples, His wonders: 4 That HASHEM is great and exceedingly lauded; awesome is He above all heavenly powers. 5 For all the gods of the peoples are nothings — but HASHEM made heaven! 6 Glory and majesty are before Him, might and splendor in His Sanctuary. 7 Render unto HASHEM, O families of the peoples, render unto HASHEM honor and might. 8 Render unto HASHEM honor worthy of His Name; take an offering and come to His courtyards. 9 Prostrate yourselves before HASHEM in His intensely holy place; tremble before Him, everyone on earth. 10 Declare among the nations, "HASHEM has reigned!" Indeed, the world is fixed so that it cannot falter. He will judge the peoples with fairness. 11 The heavens will be glad and the earth will rejoice, the sea and its fullness will roar;* 12 the field and everything in it will exult; then all the trees of the forest will sing with joy — 13 before HASHEM, for He will have arrived, He will have arrived to judge the earth. He will judge the world with righteousness, and peoples with His truth.

After the upheavals that will precede the Messiah's coming, the world will recognize its folly, and God will reign supreme over the entire earth.

1 HASHEM has reigned, let the world rejoice; let the numerous islands be glad.* 2 Cloud and dense darkness surround Him; righteousness and justice are His throne's foundation.* 3 Fire goes before Him and consumes His enemies all around. 4 His lightning bolts lit up the world, [the inhabitants of] the earth saw and tremble. 5 Mountains melted like wax before HASHEM, before the Lord of all the earth.* 6 The heavens declare His righteousness, and all the peoples saw His glory. 7 Humiliated will be all who worship idols, who pride themselves in worthless gods; bow to Him, all you powers. 8 Zion heard and was glad, and the daughters of Judah exulted, because of Your judgments, HASHEM. 9 For You, HASHEM, are supreme above all the earth; exceedingly exalted above all powers. 10 O lovers of HASHEM, despise evil! He guards the lives of His devout ones, from the hand of the wicked He rescues them. 11 Light is sown for the righteous; and for the upright of heart, gladness. 12 Be glad, O righteous, in HASHEM, and give grateful praise at the mention of His Holy [Name].

98:1. God requires no assistance. He acts through His "right hand," a term symbolic of power (Radak).

99:6. During the inauguration of the Tabernacle, Moses served as Kohen Gadol (High Priest) for a seven-day period (see Leviticus, Chapter 8).

100:2. But in 2:11 we are told to "serve HASHEM with awe" — how can we reconcile gladness with awe? To feel fear, respect, and awe for God is essential to spiritual growth. Once a person realizes that his fear is the beginning of a process that leads to personal greatness and bliss, even the difficulties along the way can be accepted with gladness (Ikkarim).

A song of praise for the revelation of the final Redemption

[1] A psalm! Sing to HASHEM a new song for He has done wonders; His own right hand and holy arm have helped Him. * [2] HASHEM has made known His salvation; in the sight of the nations He revealed His righteousness. [3] He recalled His kindness and his faithfulness to the House of Israel; all ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God. [4] Call out to HASHEM, all the earth; open your mouths in joyous songs and play music. [5] Play music to HASHEM on a harp, with harp and sound of chanted praise. [6] With trumpets and shofar sound, call out before the King, HASHEM. [7] The sea and its fullness will roar, the inhabited land and those who dwell therein; [8] rivers will clap hands, mountains will exult together [9] before HASHEM, for He will have arrived to judge the earth. He will judge the world with righteousness and peoples with fairness.

Once the nations acknowledge His sovereignty, they will follow the dictates of righteousness that Israel has safeguarded throughout its history.

[1] HASHEM has reigned: * Let peoples tremble; before Him Who is enthroned on Cherubim, let the earth quake. [2] Before HASHEM Who is great in Zion and Who is exalted above all peoples. [3] Let them gratefully praise Your great and awesome Name; it is holy! [4] Mighty is the King, Who loves justice. You founded fairness. The justice and righteousness of Jacob, You have made. [5] Exalt HASHEM, our God, and bow at His footstool; He is holy! [6] Moses and Aaron were among His priests, * and Samuel among those who invoke His Name; they called upon HASHEM and He answered them. [7] In a pillar of cloud He spoke to them; they obeyed His testimonies and whatever decree He gave them. [8] HASHEM, our God, You answered them. A forgiving God were You because of them, yet an Avenger for their iniquities. [9] Exalt HASHEM, our God, and bow at His holy mountain; for holy is HASHEM, our God.

A psalm to accompany the thanksgiving-offering

[1] A psalm of thanksgiving, call out to HASHEM, all the earth. [2] Serve HASHEM with gladness, * come before Him with joyous song. [3] Know that HASHEM, He is God; He made us and we are His, His people and the sheep of His pasture. [4] Enter His gates with thanksgiving, His courts with praise; give thanks to Him, bless His Name. [5] For HASHEM is good, His kindness endures forever, and from generation to generation is His faithfulness.

The traits of purity and truth enable an individual to utilize his abilities for their intended purpose.

[1] By David, a psalm. Of kindness and justice do I sing; to You, HASHEM, do I sing praise. [2] I contemplate the way of perfect innocence, O when will You come to me? I walk constantly with innocence of heart within my house. [3] I do not place before my eyes any lawless thing; I despise doing wayward deeds, it does not cling to me. [4] A perverted heart shall remain removed from me; I shall not know evil. [5] He who slanders his neighbor in secret — him will I cut down [with rebuke]; one with haughty eyes and an expansive heart, him I cannot bear. [6] My eyes are upon the faithful of the land, that they may dwell with me; he who walks the way of perfect innocence, he shall serve me. [7] In the midst of my house shall not dwell a practitioner of deceit; one who tells lies shall not be established before my eyes. [8] Every morning I will cut down all the wicked of the land, to excise from the city of HASHEM all doers of evil.

A prayer for anyone beset by any misfortune

[1] A prayer of the afflicted man when he swoons, and pours forth his supplications before HASHEM: [2] "HASHEM, hear my prayer, and let my cry reach You! [3] Hide not Your face from me on the day of my distress; incline Your ear to me, on the day that I call, answer me speedily. [4] For my days are consumed in smoke, and my bones are charred as a hearth. [5] Smitten

102:5. God does not remove the sources of revival. It is the despair of the afflicted that makes them ignore the spiritual nourishment through which they could bear their troubles (R' Hirsch).

102:6. I have become emaciated.

102:15. Throughout their exile, Jews have never stopped yearning to return to their Land.

102:19. Jews born after the final redemption will praise God for the miracles he wrought for their forefathers.

103:5. Who annually renews his feathers.

103:7. This refers to the Thirteen Attributes of Mercy (Exodus 34:6-7), some of which are described in the ensuing verses.

103:14. God allows for the fact that the material side of man's dual nature beckons him to sin.

like grass [by the sun] until my heart is withered, for I have forgotten to eat my food. * 6 From the sound of my sigh my bone has clung to my skin. * 7 I am like a wilderness bird, I have become like the owl of the wasteland. 8 I have been diligent, yet I have become like a lonely bird upon a rooftop. 9 All day long my enemies revile me; those who boisterously ridicule me curse by me. 10 For I have eaten ashes like bread, and mixed my drink with tears, 11 because of Your fury and Your wrath, for You have raised me high and hurled me down. 12 My days are like a lengthened shadow, and I wither away like grass. 13 But You, HASHEM, will be enthroned forever, and Your memory endures from generation to generation. 14 You will arise and show Zion mercy, for [there will come] the time to favor her, for the appointed time will have come. 15 For Your servants have cherished her stones, and favored her dust. * 16 Then the nations will fear the Name of HASHEM, and all the kings of the earth Your glory. 17 For HASHEM will have built Zion, He will have appeared in His glory. 18 He will have turned to the prayer of each devastated one and not have despised their prayer." 19 Let this be recorded for the final generation, so that the newborn people * will praise God. 20 For He gazed from His exalted Sanctuary; HASHEM looked down from heaven to earth, 21 to hear the groaning of the prisoner, to liberate those doomed to die, 22 to declare in Zion the Name of HASHEM, and His praise in Jerusalem, 23 when peoples gather together, and kingdoms, to serve HASHEM. 24 He has afflicted my strength on the way; He has shortened my days. 25 I say, "O my God, do not remove me in the midst of my days; Your years endure through all generations. 26 Of old, You laid the earth's foundation, and the heavens are Your handiwork. 27 They will perish, but You will endure; all of them will wear out like a garment, You will exchange them like a cloak and they will pass on. 28 But You remain the same, and Your years will never end. 29 Your servants' children shall be settled and their children will be established before You."

The soul in turmoil is calmed by recounting God's infinite kindness.

1 By David, bless HASHEM, O my soul; and all that is within me [bless] His Holy Name. 2 Bless HASHEM, O my soul, and forget not all His kindnesses; 3 Who forgives all your sins; Who heals all your diseases; 4 Who redeems your life from the pit; Who crowns you with kindness and mercy; 5 Who satisfies your mouth with goodness, so that your youth is renewed like the eagle. * 6 HASHEM is the doer of righteous deeds, and judgments for all the oppressed. 7 He made known His ways to Moses, * His actions to the Children of Israel: 8 Compassionate and Gracious is HASHEM, Slow to Anger and Abundant of Kindness. 9 He will not quarrel for eternity, nor will He forever bear a grudge. 10 He has not treated us according to our sins, nor repaid us according to our iniquities. 11 For as high as heaven is above the earth, has His kindness overwhelmed those who fear Him. 12 As far as east from west, has He distanced our transgressions from us. 13 As a father is merciful towards his children, so has HASHEM shown mercy to those who fear Him. 14 For He knew our nature; * He is mindful that we are dust. 15 Frail man, his days are like grass; like a sprout of the field, so he sprouts. 16 When a wind passes over it, it is gone, and its place recognizes it no more. 17 But the kindness of HASHEM is forever and ever upon those who fear Him, and His righteousness is upon children's children, 18 to those who keep His covenant, and to those who remember His commands to fulfill them. 19 HASHEM has established His throne in heaven, and His kingdom reigns over all. 20 Bless HASHEM, O His angels; the strong warriors

A tribute to God for the wondrous world He has created and continuously sustains; a depiction of His unmistakable hand in nature

[1] Bless HASHEM, O my soul. HASHEM, my God, You are very great; You have donned glory and majesty; [2] covering with light as with a garment, stretching out the heavens like a curtain. [3] He Who roofs His upper chambers with water; He Who makes clouds His chariot; He Who walks on winged wind; [4] He makes the winds His messengers, the flaming fire His attendants. [5] He established the earth upon its foundations, that it not falter forever and ever. [6] The watery deep, as with a garment You covered it; upon the mountains, water would stand. [7] From Your rebuke they flee; from the sound of Your thunder they rush away. [8] They ascend mountains, they descend to valleys, to the special place You founded for them. [9] You set a boundary they cannot overstep, they cannot return to cover the earth. [10] He sends the springs into the streams, they flow between the mountains. [11] They water every beast of the field, they quench the wild creatures' thirst. [12] Near them dwell the heaven's birds, from among the branches they give forth song. [13] He waters the mountains from His upper chambers, from the fruit of Your works the earth is sated. [14] He causes vegetation to sprout for the animal, and plants through man's labor, to bring forth bread from the earth; [15] and wine that gladdens man's heart, to make the face glow from oil, and bread that sustains the heart of man. [16] The trees of HASHEM are sated, the cedars of Lebanon that He has planted; [17] there where the birds nest, the stork with its home among cypresses; [18] high mountains for the wild goats, rocks as refuge for the gophers.* [19] He made the moon for festivals,* the sun knows its destination. [20] You make darkness and it is night, in which every forest beast stirs. [21] The young lions roar after their prey, and to seek their food from God. [22] The sun rises and they are gathered in, and in their dens they crouch. [23] Man goes forth to his work, and to his labor until evening. [24] How abundant are Your works, HASHEM; with wisdom You made them all;* the earth is full of Your possessions. [25] Behold this sea, great and of broad measure; creeping things are there without number, creatures small and great. [26] There ships travel, this Leviathan You fashioned to sport with. [27] All of them look to You with hope, to provide their food in its proper time. [28] You give to them, they gather it in; You open Your hand, they are sated with good. [29] When You hide Your face, they are dismayed; when You retrieve their spirit, they perish, and to their dust they return. [30] When You send forth Your breath, they are created, and You renew the surface of the earth. [31] May the glory of HASHEM endure forever; let HASHEM rejoice in His works. [32] He looks toward the earth and it trembles; He touches the mountains and they smoke. [33] I will sing to HASHEM while I live; I will sing praises to my God while I endure. [34] May my words be sweet to Him — I will rejoice in HASHEM. [35] Sinners will cease from the earth, and the wicked will be no more; Bless HASHEM, O my soul. Halleluyah!*

[1] Give thanks to HASHEM, declare His Name, make His acts known among the peoples. [2] Sing to Him, make music to Him, speak of all His wonders. [3] Glory in His Holy Name, may the heart of those who seek HASHEM be glad. [4] Search out HASHEM and His might, seek His Presence always. [5] Remember His wonders that

106:1-2. Literally, "Praise God!"

God guides the course of history; seemingly unrelated events were tied together to bring about a society of all mankind governed by God's holy Torah.

He wrought, His marvels and the judgments of His mouth. 6 O seed of Abraham, His servant; O children of Jacob, His chosen ones, 7 He is HASHEM, our God; over all the earth are His judgments. 8 He remembered His covenant forever — the Word He commanded for a thousand generations — 9 that He made with Abraham and His vow to Isaac. 10 Then He established it for Jacob as a statute, for Israel as an everlasting covenant, 11 saying, "To you I shall give the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance." 12 When they were but few in number, hardly dwelling there; 13 and they wandered from nation to nation, from one kingdom to another people — 14 He allowed no man to rob them, and He rebuked kings for their sake: 15 "Dare not touch My anointed ones, and to My prophets do no harm." 16 He declared a famine upon the land, every staff of bread He broke. 17 He sent a man before them, Joseph was sold as a slave. 18 They afflicted his leg with fetters; his soul came into irons. 19 Until the time that His word came to pass, the decree of HASHEM had purified him. 20 He sent a king who released him, * a ruler of peoples who freed him. 21 He appointed him master of his palace, and ruler of all his wealth. 22 To imprison his princes at his whim, and to make his elders wise. 23 Thus Israel came to Egypt and Jacob sojourned in the land of Ham. 24 And He made His nation exceedingly fruitful, and made it mightier than its oppressors. * 25 He turned their hearts to hate His nation, to plot against His servants. 26 He sent Moses, His servant, Aaron whom He had chosen. 27 They placed among them the words of His signs, and wonders in the land of Ham. 28 He sent darkness and made it dark, and they did not defy His word. * 29 He turned their waters into blood, and He killed their fish. 30 Their land swarmed with frogs, in the chambers of their kings. 31 He spoke and hordes of beasts arrived, and lice throughout their borders. 32 He made their rains into hail, flaming fires in their land. 33 It struck their vine and fig tree, and it broke the tree of their territory. 34 He spoke and the locust came, and grasshoppers without number. 35 And it consumed all grass in their land, and consumed the fruit of their soil. 36 Then He smote every firstborn in their land, the first of all their strength. 37 And He took them out with silver and gold, and there was no pauper among His tribes. * 38 Egypt was glad at their departure, for their fear had fallen upon them. 39 He spread out a cloud for shelter, and a fire to illuminate the night. 40 [Israel] asked and He brought quail, and bread from heaven sated them. * 41 He opened a rock and waters gushed, * and ran like a river through dry places. 42 For He remembered His holy promise, to Abraham, His servant, * 43 and He led out His nation with joy, His chosen ones with joyous song. 44 And He gave them the lands of nations, and they inherited the toil of regimes. 45 So that they might safeguard His statutes and observe His teachings. Halleluyah!

1 Halleluyah! * Give thanks to HASHEM for He is good; for His kindness is eternal. 2 Who can express the mighty acts of HASHEM, [who] can make all of His praise heard? 3 Praiseworthy are those who maintain justice, who perform righteousness in every time. 4 Remember me, HASHEM, when You show Your people favor; recall me with Your salvation: 5 to see the good of Your chosen ones; to rejoice in the gladness of Your nation; to glory with Your inheritance. 6 We have sinned like our fathers, we have committed iniquity and wickedness. 7 Our fathers in Egypt did not contemplate Your wonders, they were not mindful of God's presence and lovingkindness are always near; one need but have open eyes and an open heart to see them.

Your abundant kindnesses, and they rebelled by the sea, at the Sea of Reeds. * 8 But He saved them for His Name's sake, to make known His might. 9 He roared at the Sea of Reeds and it became dry, and He led them through the depths as through a desert. * 10 And He saved them from the hand of the enemy, and redeemed them from the hand of the foe. 11 And the waters covered their tormentors, not one of them was left. 12 Then they believed His words, they sang His praise. * 13 Swiftly they forgot His deeds, they did not await His counsel. 14 And they craved a lust in the wilderness, and tested God in the desert. * 15 And He gave them their request, but dispatched emaciation to their soul. 16 They were jealous of Moses in the camp, of Aaron, HASHEM's holy one. * 17 The earth opened and swallowed Dathan, and covered over the company of Abiram. 18 And a fire burned amid their company, a flame set the wicked ablaze. 19 They made a calf * in Horeb, and prostrated themselves before a molten image. 20 They exchanged their Glory for the likeness of a grass-eating ox. 21 They forgot God, their Savior, Who had done great things in Egypt, 22 wondrous works in the Land of Ham, awesome things by the Sea of Reeds. 23 He said He would destroy them — had not Moses, His chosen one, stood in the breach before Him to turn away His wrath from destroying. 24 And they despised the desirable land, * they had no faith in His Word. 25 They murmured in their tents, they did not heed the voice of HASHEM. 26 Then He lifted up His hand [in an oath] against them, to cast them down in the wilderness, 27 and to cast down their descendants among the nations, * and to scatter them among the lands. 28 Then they attached themselves to Baal Peor, * and ate the sacrifices of the dead. * 29 And they angered [Him] with their behavior, and a plague broke out among them. 30 And Phinehas arose and executed judgment, and the plague was halted. 31 It was accounted to him as a righteous deed, for all generations, forever. 32 They provoked at the Waters of Strife, * and Moses suffered because of them, 33 because they acted contrary to His spirit, and He pronounced with His lips. 34 They did not destroy the peoples as HASHEM had told them. 35 But they mingled with the nations and learned their deeds, 36 and served their idols, * which became a snare for them. 37 And they sacrificed their sons and daughters to the demons. 38 They spilled innocent blood, the blood of their sons and daughters whom they sacrificed to the Canaanite idols; and the land was polluted by the blood-guilt. 39 Thus were they defiled by their deeds, and went astray through their actions. 40 And HASHEM's anger was kindled against His people, and He abhorred His inheritance. 41 So He delivered them to the hands of the nations, and their enemies ruled over them. 42 Their foes oppressed them, and they were humbled under their power. 43 Many times did He rescue them; yet they were defiant in their counsel and were impoverished by their iniquity. 44 But He took note when they were in distress, when He heard their outcry. 45 He remembered His covenant for them and relented in accordance with His abundant kindness. 46 He caused them to be pitied by all their captors. 47 Save us HASHEM, our God, and gather us from among the nations, to thank Your Holy Name, and to glory in Your praise! 48 Blessed is HASHEM, the God of Israel, from This World to the World to Come, and let all the people say, "Amen!" Halleluyah!

107:1. This psalm of thanksgiving describes the peril and deliverance of four groups of people: a desert traveler (vv. 3-6); a prisoner (vv. 10-16); a sick person (vv. 17-22); and a seafarer (vv. 27-32).

107:8. One should publicize his personal experience of God's kindness so that others, too, may gain increased awareness of His Providence.

107:30. The seafarers rejoiced because the waves had calmed down.

107:39. They, whom God showered with His bounty, became arrogant in their affluence, so He diminished them by withholding their prosperity and bringing trouble upon them.

107:40. Those who rely on their own wealth become hopelessly lost in futility.

BOOK FIVE

107

Those who experience God's deliverance — from desolation, from captivity, from sickness, from the sea — must publicly proclaim their gratitude for God's enduring kindness.

1 Give thanks to HASHEM, for He is good, for His kindness endures forever!*
2 Those redeemed by HASHEM will say [it], those whom He redeemed from the hand of distress, 3 and whom He gathered from the lands: from east and from west, from north and from the sea. 4 They wandered in the wilderness, in the desolation of the path; they found no inhabited city. 5 Hungry as well as thirsty, their soul grew faint within them. 6 Then they cried out to HASHEM in their distress,
He would rescue them from their straits. 7 And He led them upon a straight path, to go to an inhabited city. 8 Let them give thanks to HASHEM for His kindness, and *His wonders to the children of man. 9 For He sated the yearning soul, and filled the hungry soul with good.

10 Those who sat in darkness and the shadow of death, shackled in affliction and iron, 11 because they rebelled against the words of God, and scorned the counsel of the Supreme One. 12 So He humbled their heart with hard labor; they stumbled, and there was none to help. 13 Then they cried out to HASHEM in their distress, He would save them from their straits. 14 He would take them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and break open their shackles. 15 Let them give thanks to HASHEM for His kindness, and His wonders to the children of man.
16 For He smashed copper gates, and cut asunder iron bolts.

17 Fools, because of their sinful path and because of their iniquities, were afflicted. 18 Their soul abhorred all food, and they reached until the portals of death. 19 Then they cried out to HASHEM in their distress, He would save them from their straits. 20 He would dispatch His word and cure them, and let them escape their destruction. 21 Let them give thanks to HASHEM for His kindness, and His wonders to the children of man. 22 And let them slaughter thanksgiving offerings, and relate His works with joyful song.

23 Those who go down to the sea in ships, who do their work in great waters.
24 They have seen the deeds of HASHEM, and His wonders in the watery deep. 25 He spoke and raised the stormy wind and lifted its waves. 26 They rise heavenward, they descend to the depths, their soul melts with trouble. 27 They reel, they stagger like a drunkard, and all their wisdom is swallowed up. 28 Then they cried out to HASHEM in their distress, and He would take them out from their straits. 29 He would halt the storm to restore calmness, and their waves were stilled. 30 And they rejoiced because they were quiet, and He guided them to their desired* boundary. 31 Let them give thanks to HASHEM for His kindness, and His wonders to the children of man. 32 Let them exalt Him in the assembly of people, and praise
Him in the session of the elders.

33 He turns rivers into a desert, and springs of water into drought; 34 a fruitful land into a salty waste, because of the evil of its inhabitants. 35 He turns a desert into a pool of water, and an arid land into springs of water. 36 There He settled the hungry, and they established an inhabited city. 37 And they sowed fields and planted vineyards that yielded a fruitful harvest. 38 And He blessed them and they multiplied greatly, and He did not decrease their livestock. 39 But they became few *and they sank down, from lingering trouble and agony. 40 He pours contempt *upon the affluent, and He made them wander in a pathless wasteland. 41 But He strengthened the destitute from poverty, and makes [his] families like the flock.
42 The upright shall see and be glad, while all iniquity will have shut its mouth.
43 Whoever is wise let him note these things, and they will comprehend the kindnesses of HASHEM.

109:4. My love for them was genuine, as I would pray on their behalf (Ibn Ezra).

109:6-19. David asks that his treacherous enemies be punished. The abrupt shift from plural to singular indicates a reference to the leader of these enemies, Doeg the Edomite [see I Samuel Chs. 21-22] (Ibn Ezra; Radak).

109:21. See Genesis 15:2.

A prophetic psalm about the consolidation of the Messiah's reign

1 A song, a psalm by David. 2 My heart is steadfast, O God. I will sing and make music even with my soul. 3 Awake, O psalter and harp, I shall awaken the dawn. 4 I will thank You among the peoples, HASHEM, and I will sing to You among the regimes. 5 For great above the very heavens is Your kindness, and until the upper heights is Your truth. 6 Be exalted above heaven, O God, and above all the earth, Your glory. 7 So that Your beloved ones may be released, let Your right hand save and respond to me. 8 God spoke through His holy one that I would exult, that I would divide Shechem and measure out the Valley of Succoth. 9 Mine is Gilead, mine is Manasseh, and Ephraim is the stronghold of my head; Judah is my lawgiver. 10 Moab is my washbasin; upon Edom I will cast my shoe; over Philistia I will shout. 11 Who will bring me to the fortified city? Who has led me unto Edom? 12 Is it not [You, O] God, Who has [until now] forsaken us, and does not go forth, O God, with our legions? 13 Give us help against the oppressor; man's salvation is futile. 14 Through God we shall perform valiantly; and He will trample our oppressors.

A plea to God for deliverance from scheming maligners who arise against the individual or the nation

1 For the conductor, by David, a psalm; O God of my praise, be not silent. 2 For the mouth of the wicked and the mouth of the deceitful have opened against me, they have spoken to me the language of falsehood. 3 And with words of hatred they have encircled me, and attacked me without cause. 4 In return for my love they accuse me, but I was prayer. * 5 They placed upon me evil in return for good, and hatred in return for my love.

6 Appoint a wicked man over him, * and let an adversary stand at his right; 7 when he is judged may he go out condemned, and may his prayer be turned into sin; 8 may his days be few; may another take his position; 9 may his children be orphans and his wife a widow; 10 may his children constantly wander and beg, and may they seek charity from amid their ruins; 11 may the creditor seize all that he has, and may strangers despoil his labor; 12 may he have no one who extends him kindness; and may no one be merciful to his orphans; 13 may his posterity be cut off, in a later generation let their name be erased; 14 may the iniquity of his fathers be remembered before HASHEM, and the sin of his mother not be erased; 15 may they be before HASHEM at all times, and may He cut off their memory from the earth. 16 [All this] because he never remembered to do kindness, and he pursued the poor and destitute man, and the brokenhearted to kill [him]. 17 He loved the curse, so it has come upon him; he desired not blessing, so it has stayed far from him. 18 He donned curse like his garment; it has come like water into his innards, and like oil into his bones. 19 May it be to him like a garment in which he wraps himself, and a belt with which he constantly girds himself.

20 This is the reward of my adversaries from HASHEM, and those who speak evil against my soul. 21 But You, HASHEM/ELOHIM, * O Lord, deal with me for Your Name's sake; because Your kindness is good, rescue me! 22 For poor and destitute am I, and my heart has died within me. 23 Like a vanishing shadow, I am gone; I am tossed about like a locust. 24 My knees totter from fasting, and my flesh has become lean without fat. 25 And I have become a disgrace to them; they see me and shake their heads. 26 Help me, HASHEM, my God, save me according to Your kindness! 27 Let them know that this is Your hand, that You, HASHEM, have made it happen. 28 Let them curse, but You will bless; they rose up, but they will be shamed — and Your servant will rejoice! 29 May my adversaries be clothed in humiliation, and may they wrap themselves in their shame as in a cloak. 30 I will thank HASHEM exceedingly with my mouth, and amid the multitude I will praise

110:1. An unnamed psalmist, possibly one of David's soldiers, composed this psalm about his king (Ibn Ezra; Radak).

110:3. When you do battle, your nation will be loyal to you, because you retained the pure, unselfish character of your humble shepherd youth (Meiri).

110:4. A Jewish king should be like a priest, drawing God's people closer to His service.

111:1. Praise God. This psalm's alphabetical arrangement indicates the encompassing nature of its theme.

111:8. They are as binding and relevant today as they were when God revealed them at Sinai thirty-three centuries ago.

112:1. Not only when he is weak and old, but while he is a "man" (Avodah Zarah 19a). His greatest desire is the fulfillment of God's will. The reward which he will assuredly receive in return is only secondary in his thinking and not his primary motivation.

112:5. The true philanthropist is sensitive to others. Realizing that some needy people are too proud to accept charity, he compassionately offers the poor man an opportunity for financial rehabilitation by lending him

Him. [31] For He stands at the right of the destitute, to save [him] from the condemners of his soul.

110

David's legendary power came through Divine favor earned through his righteousness.

One who truly fears God will fear no misfortune; he will be safe and secure in God's Providence.

[1] Halleluyah! א Praiseworthy is the man who fears* HASHEM, ב who greatly desires His commandments. [2] ג Mighty in the land will his offspring be, ד a generation of the upright who shall be blessed. [3] ה Wealth and riches are in his house, ו and his righteousness endures forever. [4] ז Even in darkness a light shines for the upright; ח He is gracious, compassionate, and righteous. [5] ט Good is the man who is gracious and lends; who conducts his affairs with justice.* [6] כ Surely he will never falter; ל an everlasting remembrance will the righteous man remain. [7] מ Of evil tidings he will have no fear; נ his heart is firm, confident in HASHEM. [8] ס His heart is steadfast, he shall not fear, ע until he can look calmly upon his tormentors. [9] He distributed widely to the destitute, צ his righteousness endures forever; ק his pride will be exalted with glory. [10] ר The wicked man will see this and be angered, ש he will gnash his teeth and melt away; ת the ambition of the wicked shall perish.

A psalm to God's control of creation and to His kindness to all creatures

[1] Halleluyah! Give praise, you servants of HASHEM; praise the Name of HASHEM! [2] Blessed be the Name of HASHEM, from this time and forever. [3] From the rising of the sun to its setting, HASHEM*'s Name is praised.* [4] High above all nations is HASHEM, above the heavens is His glory. [5] Who is like HASHEM, our God, Who is enthroned on high — [6] yet deigns to look upon the heavens and the earth? [7] He raises the needy from the dust, from the trash heaps He lifts the destitute, [8] to seat them with nobles, with the nobles of His people. [9] He transforms the barren wife into a glad mother of children. Halleluyah!

114:1. The Jews in Egypt persisted in speaking Hebrew with one another. Thus, Egyptian was an "alien tongue."

114:3. See Exodus 14:15-15:21 and Joshua 3:7-4:14.

114:8. Exodus 17:1-7.

115:16. Man need not perfect heaven because it is already dedicated to the holiness of God. But the earth is man's province, and he is bidden to perfect it. Indeed, mankind was created to elevate the earth to a heavenly state.

116:14. As I was fleeing in exile, I vowed that were

Israel was elevated upon leaving Egypt; all of nature was overwhelmed by God's intervention.

1 When Israel went out of Egypt, Jacob's household from a people of alien tongue, * 2 Judah became His sanctuary, Israel His dominions. 3 The sea saw and fled; * the Jordan turned backward. 4 The mountains skipped like rams; the hills like young lambs. 5 What ails you, O sea, that you flee? O Jordan, that you turn backward? 6 O mountains, that you skip like rams? O hills, like young lambs? 7 Before the Lord's Presence did I, the earth, tremble, before the presence of the God of Jacob, 8 Who turns the rock into a pond of water, the flint into a flowing fountain. *

May God once again intervene in the affairs of man, so that the idolaters may know Him and become as imbued as Israel with faith in the true God.

1 Not for our sake, HASHEM, not for our sake, but for Your Name's sake give glory, for Your kindness and for Your truth! 2 Why should the nations say, "Where now is their God?" 3 Our God is in the heavens; whatever He pleases, He does! 4 Their idols are silver and gold, the handiwork of man. 5 They have a mouth, but cannot speak; they have eyes, but cannot see; 6 they have ears, but cannot hear; they have a nose, but cannot smell. 7 Their hands — they cannot feel; their feet — they cannot walk; they cannot utter a sound from their throat. 8 Those who make them should become like them, whoever trusts in them! 9 O Israel, trust in HASHEM; their help and their shield is He! 10 House of Aaron, trust in HASHEM; their help and their shield is He! 11 You who fear HASHEM, trust in HASHEM; their help and their shield is He! 12 HASHEM Who has remembered us will bless: He will bless the House of Israel, He will bless the House of Aaron; 13 He will bless those who fear HASHEM, the small as well as the great. 14 May HASHEM increase upon you, upon you and upon your children! 15 You are blessed of HASHEM, Maker of heaven and earth. 16 As for the heavens, the heavens are HASHEM's; but the earth He has given to mankind. * 17 Neither the dead can praise God, nor any who descend into silence; 18 but we will bless God from this time and forever. Halleluyah!

Israel declares its love for God despite its lowly state among the nations, and prays for the Redemption.

1 I love [Him], for HASHEM hears my voice, my supplications. 2 As He has inclined His ear to me, so in my days shall I call. 3 The pains of death encircled me; the confines of the grave have found me; distress and grief I would find. 4 Then I would invoke the Name of HASHEM, "Please, HASHEM, save my soul." 5 Gracious is HASHEM and righteous, our God is merciful. 6 HASHEM protects the simple; I was brought low, but He saved me. 7 Return, my soul, to your rest; for HASHEM has been kind to you. 8 For You have delivered my soul from death, my eyes from tears, my feet from stumbling. 9 I shall walk before HASHEM in the lands of the living. 10 I have kept faith although I say, "I suffer exceedingly." 11 I said in my haste, "All mankind is deceitful." 12 How can I repay HASHEM for all His bounty to me? 13 I will raise the cup of salvations and the Name of HASHEM I will invoke. 14 My vows to HASHEM I will pay, * in the presence, now, of His entire people. 15 Difficult in the eyes of HASHEM is the death of His devout ones. 16 Please, HASHEM, for I am Your servant, I am Your servant, son of Your handmaid; You have released my bonds. 17 To You I will sacrifice a thanksgiving offering, and the Name of HASHEM I will invoke. 18 My vows to HASHEM I will pay, in the presence, now, of His entire people, 19 in the courtyards of the House of HASHEM, in your midst, O Jerusalem, Halleluyah!

1 Praise HASHEM, all nations; praise Him, all the states! 2 For His kindness has overwhelmed us, * and the truth of HASHEM is eternal, Halleluyah!

God to return me safely to the Land of Israel, I would bring thanksgiving offerings to His Name (Radak).

117:2. The enemies of Israel are the ones who are best equipped to praise God, for they know better than anyone how He has thwarted their anti-Semitic designs (Netziv).

Israel expresses gratitude and confidence as it looks forward to Divine Redemption from the straits of exile and oppression.

*[1] Give thanks to HASHEM for He is good; for His kindness endures forever! [2] Let Israel say now, "For His kindness endures forever!" [3] Let the House of Aaron say now, "For His kindness endures forever!" [4] Let those who fear HASHEM say now, "For His kindness endures forever!" [5] From the straits did I call upon God; God answered me with expansiveness. [6] HASHEM is with me, I have no fear; how can man affect me? [7] HASHEM is with me through my helpers; * therefore I can face my foes. [8] It is better to take refuge in HASHEM than to rely on man. [9] It is better to take refuge in HASHEM than to rely on nobles. [10] All the nations surround me; in the Name of HASHEM I cut them down! [11] They encircle me, they also surround me; in the Name of HASHEM, I cut them down! [12] They encircle me like bees, but they are extinguished as a fire does thorns; in the Name of HASHEM I cut them down! [13] You * pushed me hard that I might fall, but HASHEM assisted me. [14] God is my might and my praise, and He was a salvation for me. [15] The sound of rejoicing and salvation is in the tents of the righteous, "HASHEM's right hand does valiantly. [16] HASHEM's right hand is raised triumphantly; HASHEM's right hand does valiantly!" [17] I shall not die! But I shall live and relate the deeds of God. [18] God has chastened me exceedingly, but He did not give me over to death. * [19] Open for me the gates of righteousness; I will enter them and thank God. [20] This is the gate of HASHEM; the righteous shall enter through it. [21] I thank You for You have answered me and become my salvation. [22] The stone the builders despised has become the cornerstone. * [23] This emanated from HASHEM; * it is wondrous in our eyes. [24] This is the day HASHEM has made; let us rejoice and be glad on it. [25] Please, HASHEM, save now! Please, HASHEM, bring success now! [26] Blessed is he who comes in the Name of HASHEM; we bless you from the House of HASHEM. [27] HASHEM is God. He illuminated for us; bind the festival offering with cords until the corners of the Altar. [28] You are my God, and I will thank You; my God, I will exalt You. [29] Give thanks to HASHEM, for He is good; for His kindness endures forever.*

An alphabetical arrangement — eight verses for each letter — that describes the ceaseless striving to faithfully live a Torah-true life regardless of time, place, circumstance or social environment א *[1] Praiseworthy are those whose way is perfect, who walk with the Torah of HASHEM. [2] Praiseworthy are those who guard His testimonies, * they seek Him wholeheartedly. [3] They have also done no iniquity, for they have walked in His ways. [4] You have issued Your precepts to be kept diligently. [5] My prayers: May my ways be firmly guided to keep Your statutes. [6] Then I will not be ashamed, when I gaze at all Your commandments. [7] I will give thanks to You with upright heart, when I study Your righteous ordinances. [8] I will keep Your statutes, O, do not forsake me utterly.*

ב [9] How can a youngster purify his path? By observing Your word. [10] With all my heart I sought You, do not let me stray from Your commandments. [11] In my heart I have stored Your word, so that I would not sin against You. [12] Blessed are You, HASHEM, teach me Your statutes. [13] With my lips I recounted all the ordinances of Your mouth. [14] I rejoiced over the way of Your testimonies as much as in all riches. [15] Of Your precepts I speak and I look at Your paths. [16] I occupy myself with Your statutes, I will not forget Your word.

ג *[17] Bestow upon Your servant that I should live, that I may keep Your word. [18] Unveil my eyes that I may perceive wonders from Your Torah. [19] I am a sojourner in the world, * hide not Your commandments from me. [20] My soul is shattered with yearning for Your ordinances always. [21] You rebuked the accursed willful sinners*

119:24. God's testimonies, not the fashionable trends of the rich and powerful, should guide a person through life.

119:48. I will practice Your commandments in addition to meditating upon them. Only through fusion of thought and deed can one draw near to God and perfect himself.

119:53. There is no comfort for the tragedy of those who have abandoned God's Torah in the tribulations of exile (Maharam Arama).

119:59. David constantly reevaluated his ways to ensure that he did not veer off course.

who stray from Your commandments. 22 Remove from upon me disgrace and contempt, for I have guarded Your testimonies. 23 Though princes sat and spoke against me, Your servant discusses Your statutes. 24 Indeed, Your testimonies are my preoccupation, they are my counselors. *

ד 25 My soul has clung to the dust, revive me in accordance with Your word. 26 I have recounted my ways and You answered me, teach me Your statutes. 27 Let me understand the way of Your precepts, that I may discuss Your wonders. 28 My soul drips away from sorrow, sustain me in accordance with Your word. 29 Remove from me the way of falsehood, and graciously endow me with Your Torah. 30 I have chosen the way of faithfulness; I have placed Your ordinances [before me]. 31 I have clung to Your testimonies, O HASHEM, put me not to shame. 32 I will run in the way of Your commandments, for You will broaden my heart.

ה 33 Teach me, O HASHEM, the way of Your statutes, and I will cherish it to the utmost. 34 Grant me understanding so that I may cherish Your Torah, and keep it with [my] whole heart. 35 Lead me on the path of Your commandments, for that is my desire. 36 Incline my heart toward Your testimonies and not to greed. 37 Avert my eyes from seeing futility; through Your ways preserve me. 38 Fulfill Your word to Your servant regarding fear of You. 39 Remove my disgrace, which I dreaded, for Your ordinances are good. 40 Behold, I yearn for Your precepts; preserve me through Your righteousness.

ו 41 May Your kindness come to me, O HASHEM, Your salvation, according to Your word. 42 I shall offer a response to those who scorn me, for I have trusted in Your word. 43 Do not remove from my mouth the word of utmost truth, because I have yearned for Your ordinances. 44 I will safeguard Your Torah constantly, forever and ever. 45 And I will walk in broad pathways, for I have sought Your precepts. 46 I will speak of Your testimonies before kings, and I will not be ashamed. 47 I will be preoccupied with Your commandments that I love, 48 and I will lift my hands * to Your commandments, which I love, and I will discuss Your statutes.

ז 49 Remember the assurance to Your servant, by which You gave me hope. 50 This is my comfort in my affliction, for Your word preserved me. 51 Willful sinners taunted me exceedingly, but I did not swerve from Your Torah. 52 I remembered Your judgments of old, O HASHEM, and I was comforted. 53 Trembling seized me because of the wicked who forsake Your Torah. * 54 Your statutes were music to me, in my dwelling place. 55 In the night I remembered Your Name, O HASHEM, and I kept Your Torah. 56 All this came to me because I guarded Your precepts.

ח 57 My portion is HASHEM; I have pledged to keep Your words. 58 I pleaded before You with all [my] heart; favor me according to Your promise. 59 I considered my ways * and returned my feet to Your testimonies. 60 I hastened and I did not delay to keep Your commandments. 61 Bands of wicked men plundered me, but I did not forget Your Torah. 62 At midnight I arise to thank You for Your righteous ordinances. 63 I am a friend to all who fear You, and to those who keep Your precepts. 64 Your kindness, HASHEM, fills the earth, teach me Your statutes.

ט 65 You have done good to Your servant, O HASHEM, according to Your word. 66 Teach me good reasoning and knowledge, for I have been faithful to Your commandments. 67 Before I was afflicted I erred; but now I keep Your word. 68 You are good and beneficent, teach me Your statutes. 69 Willful sinners have piled false accusations upon me, but I guard Your precepts with all [my] heart.

119:85. My Jewish enemies, though they profess loyalty to Your Torah, resort to means which violate its precepts of love, truth, and justice in order to persecute me.

119:91. The heavens and the earth.

119:100. If one adheres to the Torah's precepts even when he does not yet understand them, he becomes familiar with them and may eventually be enlightened by the elders to comprehend them. However, one who makes his observance conditional on his comprehension will never attain either.

119:108. The prayers and praises that I have uttered in a spirit of devotion.

119:109. My life is always at risk.

70 Their heart grew thick as fat; but for me, Your Torah is my preoccupation. 71 It is good for me that I was afflicted, so that I might learn Your statutes. 72 The Torah of Your mouth is better for me than thousands in gold and silver.

י 73 Your hands made me and prepared me; grant me understanding so that I may learn Your commandments. 74 Those who revere You shall see me and they will rejoice, because I hoped in Your word. 75 I know, HASHEM, that Your judgment is righteous, and that You afflicted me in faithfulness. 76 May Your kindness comfort me, according to your word to Your servant. 77 May Your mercies come upon me so that I may live, for Your Torah is my preoccupation. 78 May the willful sinners be shamed, for they have maligned me with lies; but I will discuss Your precepts. 79 May they return to me — those who fear You, and who know Your testimonies. 80 May my heart be perfect in Your statutes, so that I be not shamed.

כ 81 My soul pines for Your salvation; for Your word I hope. 82 My eyes pine for Your promise, saying, "When will You comfort me?" 83 Though I have been like a wineskin [dried] in smoke, I did not forget Your statutes. 84 How many are Your servant's days? When will You execute judgment upon my pursuers? 85 Willful sinners dug pits for me, which is not in accordance with Your Torah. * 86 All Your commandments are faithful; they pursue me with lies: Help me! 87 They had almost destroyed me on earth, but I did not forsake Your precepts. 88 In accordance with Your kindness preserve me, and I will keep the testimony of Your mouth.

ל 89 Forever, HASHEM, Your word stands firm in the heavens. 90 Your faithfulness is from generation to generation, You established the earth and it endures. 91 To fulfill Your decree they * stand until this day, for all are Your servants. 92 Had your Torah not been my preoccupation, then I would have perished in my affliction. 93 I will never forget Your precepts, for through them You have preserved me. 94 I am Yours, save me, for I have sought Your precepts. 95 The wicked hoped to destroy me, but I contemplate Your testimonies. 96 To every goal I have seen an end, but Your commandment is exceedingly broad.

מ 97 O how I love Your Torah! All day long it is my conversation. 98 [Each of] Your commandments makes me wiser than my enemies, for it is ever with me. 99 From all my teachers I grew wise, for Your testimonies are a conversation for me. 100 From wise elders I gain understanding, because I have guarded Your precepts. * 101 From every evil path I restrained my feet, so that I might keep Your word. 102 From Your ordinances I did not turn aside, for You have taught me. 103 How sweet to my palate is Your word, more than honey to my mouth. 104 From Your precepts I acquire understanding, therefore I hate every path of falsehood.

נ 105 Your word is a lamp for my feet and a light for my path. 106 I have sworn, and I will fulfill, to keep Your righteous ordinances. 107 I am exceedingly afflicted; O HASHEM, preserve me in accordance with Your word. 108 Please accept with favor the offerings of my mouth, * O HASHEM, and teach me Your ordinances. 109 My life is constantly in my hand, * but I did not forget Your Torah. 110 The wicked laid a snare for me, but I did not stray from Your precepts. 111 I have taken Your testimonies as my eternal heritage, for they are the joy of my heart. 112 I have inclined my heart to perform Your statutes, forever, to the utmost.

119:115. David interrupts his prayer to address those whom he is denouncing before God.

119:118. Those who stray from the Torah way try to deceive the world into thinking that their defection was based upon philosophical or scientific considerations or new insights into the Torah. But their contention is utterly false. It is merely a rationalization for their desire to cast off the yoke of Torah (R' Hirsch).

119:126. At a time when many have abandoned God's Torah, those who remain loyal must intensify their own knowledge of the Torah (Radak).

119:127. At such times, I value God's commandments far more than the material wealth for which the defectors sold themselves.

119:136. "They" refers to "my eyes," which caused sins by looking at things that arouse one to sin.

ס 113 I hate the plotters of evil, but I love Your Torah. 114 You are my concealment and my shield, I put hope in Your word. 115 Depart from me, you evildoers, * and I will guard the commandments of my God. 116 Support me according to Your promise that I may live, disgrace me not in my hope. 117 Sustain me that I may be saved, and I will always be engrossed in Your statutes. 118 You trampled all who stray from Your statutes, for their deceit is false. * 119 Like dross, You purged all the wicked of the earth, therefore I have loved Your testimonies. 120 My flesh shuddered from dread of You, and I feared Your judgments.

ע 121 I practiced justice and righteousness, abandon me not to those who exploit me. 122 Be Your servant's guarantor for good, let not willful sinners exploit me. 123 My eyes pine for Your salvation, and for Your promised righteousness. 124 Treat Your servant according to Your kindness, and teach me Your statutes. 125 I am Your servant, grant me understanding, so that I may know Your testimonies. 126 For it is a time to act for HASHEM; they have voided Your Torah. * 127 Therefore I have loved Your commandments more than gold, * even more than fine gold. 128 Therefore I have declared the fairness of every precept regarding everything! I have hated every path of falsehood.

פ 129 Your testimonies are wonders, therefore my soul has guarded them. 130 The introduction of Your words illuminates, making simpletons understand. 131 I opened my mouth and swallowed deeply, because I crave for Your commandments. 132 Turn to me and favor me, as is Your practice to those who love Your Name. 133 Ready my steps in Your word, and do not let any iniquity dominate me. 134 Redeem me from human exploitation, and I will keep Your precepts. 135 Cause Your countenance to shine upon Your servant, and teach me Your statutes. 136 My eyes shed streams of water, because they * did not keep Your Torah.

צ 137 Righteous are You, HASHEM, and each of Your ordinances is fair. 138 You commanded the righteousness of Your testimonies, and great faithfulness. 139 My zeal has consumed me, for my oppressors have forgotten Your words. 140 Your word is very pure, and Your servant loves it. 141 I am young and despised, yet I do not forget Your precepts. 142 Your righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and Your Torah is truth. 143 Distress and anguish have overtaken me, Your commandments are my preoccupation. 144 Your testimonies are righteous forever, grant me understanding so that I may live.

ק 145 I called with all my heart, answer me, O HASHEM; I will guard Your statutes. 146 I called You, save me, and I will keep Your testimonies. 147 I arose before dawn and I cried out; I hoped for Your word. 148 My eyes preceded the night watches, to discuss Your word. 149 Hear my voice in accordance with Your kindness, O HASHEM; preserve me in accordance with Your practice. 150 The pursuers of sinful counsel draw near; they are far from Your Torah. 151 Yet You are nearby, * O HASHEM, and all Your commandments are true. 152 From the start I gained knowledge from Your testimonies, because You established them forever.

ר 153 See my affliction and release me, for I have not forgotten Your Torah. 154 Champion my cause and redeem me; for Your word's sake, preserve me. 155 Salvation is far from the wicked, for they sought not Your statutes. 156 Your mercies, HASHEM, are abundant; preserve me as is Your practice. 157 Many were my pursuers and my tormentors, but I did not swerve from Your testimonies. 158 I saw traitors and I quarreled [with them], because they kept not Your word. 159 See 119:151. Though the sinners have distanced themselves from You, You are near to them, ready to accept their repentance.

119:165. They are content with their material lot in this world, and serene amid the turbulent seas of life (see Radak).

120:1. There were fifteen steps leading from the lower Courtyard of the Temple to the upper Courtyard. Psalms 120-134 — the fifteen "Songs of Ascents" — correspond to the steps. On Succos, as a procession brought water to the Temple for use in the service, the Levite singers and musicians would perform one of these psalms on each of the steps as the procession advanced upward.

120:3. The psalmist addresses the tongue: What can the Almighty do, tongue, to restrain you from doing further damage? (Rashi).

120:4. These charcoals are especially dangerous, because long after they appear to be extinguished on the surface, they continue to burn within (Rashi).

that I have loved Your precepts, O HASHEM; preserve me in accordance with Your kindness. [160] Your very first utterance is truth, and Your every righteous ordinance is for all time.

ש [161] Princes have pursued me without cause, but my heart has feared Your word. [162] I rejoice over Your word, like one who finds abundant spoils. [163] I have hated falsehood and abhorred it; Your Torah I love. [164] Seven times a day I have praised You for Your righteous ordinances. [165] There is abundant peace to the lovers of Your Torah, and there is no stumbling block for them.* [166] I hoped for Your salvation, O HASHEM, and I performed Your commandments. [167] My soul kept Your testimonies, and I loved them very much. [168] I have kept Your precepts and Your testimonies, because all my ways are before You.

ת [169] May my prayerful song approach Your Presence, HASHEM, that You grant me understanding in accordance with Your word. [170] May my supplication come before You, rescue me in accordance with Your word. [171] My lips will speak praise when You teach me Your statutes. [172] My tongue shall proclaim Your word, because all Your commandments are righteous. [173] Let Your hand be ready to assist me, for I have chosen Your precepts. [174] I crave Your salvation, O HASHEM, and Your Torah is my preoccupation. [175] Let my soul live and it shall praise You, and Your ordinances will assist me. [176] I have strayed like a lost sheep; seek out Your servant, for I have not forgotten Your commandments.

The first of fifteen "Songs of Ascents"

[1] A song of ascents. To HASHEM, in my distress I cried and He answered me.* [2] HASHEM, rescue my soul from lying lips, from a deceitful tongue. [3] What can He give you, and what can He add to you, O deceitful tongue?* [4] *[You are like] the sharp arrows of the mighty; with coals of rotem-wood. [5] *Woe unto me, for my drawn-out sojourn; I dwelled with [those who inhabit] the tents of Kedar. [6] Long has my soul dwelt with those who hate peace. [7] *I am peace; but when I speak, they are for war.

121

A declaration of faith and a prayer for God's constant protection

[1] A song to the ascents. I raise my eyes upon the mountains; whence will come my help? [2] My help is from HASHEM, Maker of heaven and earth. [3] He will not allow your foot to falter; your Guardian will not slumber. [4] Behold, He neither slumbers nor sleeps, the Guardian of Israel. [5] HASHEM is your Guardian; HASHEM is your protective Shade at your right hand. [6] By day the sun will not harm you, nor the moon by night. [7] HASHEM will protect you from every evil; He will guard your soul. [8] HASHEM will guard your departure and your arrival, from this time and forever.

A hymn to Jerusalem, the city where every visitor experiences an encounter with holiness

[1] A song of ascents, by David. I rejoiced when they said to me, "Let us go to the House of HASHEM." [2] Our feet stood firm within your gates, O Jerusalem. [3] The built-up Jerusalem is like a city that is united together. [4] For there the tribes ascended, the tribes of God, a testimony for Israel, to give thanks to the Name of HASHEM. [5] For there sat thrones of judgment, thrones for the house of David. [6] Pray for the peace of Jerusalem; those who love you will be serene. [7] May there be peace within your wall, serenity within your palaces. [8] For the sake of my brethren and my comrades, I shall speak of peace in your midst. [9] For the sake of the House of HASHEM, our God, I will request good for you.

120:5. The exiles among the Roman empire and its present-day successors, Kedar, the Arab empire of Ishmael (Radak; Ibn Ezra).

120:7. They clamor for war, because they view my appeal for peace as a sign of weakness and vulnerability.

125:5. When corruption is removed from Israel, no one will disturb the internal harmony of the nation (Radak).

126:1. When the long-awaited return to Zion finally comes to pass, the recollection of the past oppression of the exile will swiftly fade away and seem like a bad dream (Radak).

126:6. A poor person weeps in fear that some of his seeds will go to waste, but God will bless him with a bountiful crop.

127:1. David dedicated this psalm to Solomon, who was to build the Temple.

127:3. Wise parents realize that each newborn infant is a precious gift from God, which enables them to participate in the process of creation (R' Hirsch).

127:4. Young parents have the patience and energy to

123

A Jew in exile yearns for God's succor.

[1] A song of ascents. To You I raised my eyes, O You Who dwell in the heavens. [2] Behold! Like the eyes of servants unto their masters' hand, like the eyes of a maid unto her mistress's hand, so are our eyes unto HASHEM, our God, until He will favor us. [3] Favor us, HASHEM, favor us, for we are fully sated with contempt. [4] Our soul is fully sated with the mockery of the complacent ones, with the contempt of the arrogant.

It is only God's care and protection that has saved Israel from extinction.

[1] A song of ascents, by David. Had not HASHEM been with us — let Israel declare it now! [2] Had not HASHEM been with us when men rose up against us, [3] then they would have swallowed us alive, when their anger was kindled against us. [4] Then the waters would have inundated us; the current would have surged across our soul. [5] Then they would have surged across our soul — the treacherous waters. [6] Blessed is HASHEM, Who did not present us as prey for their teeth. [7] Our soul escaped like a bird from the hunters' snare; the snare broke and we escaped. [8] Our help is through the Name of HASHEM, Maker of heaven and earth.

Those who trust in God will be secure in His protection.

[1] A song of ascents. Those who trust in HASHEM are like Mount Zion that falters not, but abides forever. [2] Jerusalem, mountains enwrap it, and HASHEM enwraps His people, from this time and forever. [3] For the rod of wickedness shall not rest upon the lot of the righteous, so that the righteous shall not stretch their hands into iniquity. [4] Do good, HASHEM, to good people, and to the upright in their hearts. [5] But those who turn to their perverseness, HASHEM will lead them with the doers of iniquity; peace upon Israel. *

Eventually God will return Israel to its land, rejuvenated in body and spirit.

[1] A song of ascents. When HASHEM will return the captivity of Zion, we will be like dreamers. * [2] Then our mouth will be filled with laughter and our tongue with glad song. Then will they declare among the nations, "HASHEM has done greatly with these." [3] HASHEM has done greatly with us, we were gladdened. [4] O HASHEM, return our captivity like springs in the desert. [5] Those who tearfully sow will reap in glad song. [6] He who bears the measure of seeds walks along weeping, * but will return in exultation, a bearer of his sheaves.

When God crowns man's efforts with success, he can raise his children to serve God.

[1] A song of ascents for Solomon. * If HASHEM will not build the house, in vain do its builders labor on it; if HASHEM will not guard the city, in vain is the watchman vigilant. [2] It is vain for you who rise early, who sit up late, who eat the bread of sorrows; for indeed, He gives His beloved ones restful sleep. [3] Behold! The heritage of HASHEM is children; * a reward is the fruit of the womb. [4] Like arrows in the hand of a warrior, so are the children of youth. * [5] Praiseworthy is the man who fills his quiver with them; they shall not be shamed, when they speak with enemies in the gate.

Only the righteous person and his family experience true bliss in both worlds.

[1] A song of ascents. Praiseworthy is each person who fears HASHEM, who walks in His ways. [2] When you eat the labor of your hands, you are praiseworthy, * and it is well with you. [3] Your wife will be like a fruitful vine in the inner chambers of your home; your children will be like olive shoots surrounding your table. [4] Behold, for so is blessed the man who fears HASHEM. [5] May HASHEM bless you from Zion, and may you gaze upon the goodness of Jerusalem, all the days of your life. [6] And may you see children [born] to your children, peace upon Israel.

develop their child's personality. The child becomes a weapon in the legions of the Lord to fight the enemies of our faith (Sforno).

128:2. Man must toil to produce results with his own two hands. Only then does God send His blessing (Tanchuma, Vayeitzei).

131:2. Like a suckling child who desires nothing more than what his mother has provided him, I have complete faith in God (Metzudos).

132:3-5. David vowed not to enjoy the comforts of his own home until he built a Temple for God.

132:17. The power of kingship (Targum).

Israel's survival against all odds attests to God's providential control of its destiny.

[1] A song of ascents. "Much have they distressed me since my youth," let Israel declare now, [2] "much have they distressed me since my youth, but they never conquered me. [3] On my back the plowers plowed, they lengthened their furrow. [4] HASHEM is righteous, He cut the ropes of the wicked." [5] Let them be ashamed and turned back, all who hate Zion. [6] Let them be like the grass on rooftops, which, even before it is plucked, withers; [7] with which the reaper cannot fill his hand, nor the binder of sheaves his arm; [8] and of which passersby have never said, "HASHEM's blessing to you; we bless you in the Name of HASHEM."

A person in distress prays to God from the depths of his heart.

[1] A song of ascents. From the depths I called You, HASHEM. [2] O Lord, hear my voice, may Your ears be attentive to the sound of my pleas. [3] If You preserve iniquities, O God, O Lord, who could survive? [4] For with You is forgiveness, that You may be feared. [5] I put confidence in HASHEM, my soul put confidence, and I hoped for His word. [6] My soul [yearns] for the Lord, among those longing for the dawn, those longing for the dawn. * [7] Let Israel hope for HASHEM, for with HASHEM is kindness, and with Him is abundant redemption. [8] And He shall redeem Israel from all its iniquities.

A righteous person is not arrogant.

[1] A song of ascents, by David. HASHEM, my heart was not proud, and my eyes were not haughty, nor did I pursue matters too great and too wondrous for me. [2] I swear that I stilled and silenced my soul, like a suckling child at his mother's side, like the suckling child is my soul. * [3] Let Israel hope to HASHEM, from this time and forever.

132

If one cannot complete a task, yet faithfully lays the groundwork, the final goal will be achieved in his merit.

[1] A song of ascents. O HASHEM, remember unto David all his suffering. [2] How he swore to HASHEM, and vowed to the Strong One of Jacob, [3] "If I enter the tent of my home;* if I go upon the bed that is spread for me; [4] if I allow sleep to my eyes, slumber to my eyelids; [5] before I find a place for HASHEM, resting places for the Strong One of Jacob." [6] Behold! We heard of it in Ephrath, we found it in the forested field. [7] We will arrive at His Tabernacles, we will prostrate ourselves at His footstool. [8] Arise, HASHEM, to Your resting place, You and the Ark of Your strength. [9] Let Your priests be clothed in righteousness, and Your devout ones will sing joyously. [10] For the sake of David, Your servant, turn not away the face of Your anointed. [11] HASHEM has sworn to David, a truth from which He will never retreat, "From the fruit of your issue I will place upon your throne. [12] If your sons keep My covenant, and this, My testament, that I shall teach them, then their sons, too, forever and ever, shall sit upon your throne." [13] For HASHEM has chosen Zion; He has desired it for His habitation. [14] This is My resting place forever and ever, here I will dwell, for I have desired it. [15] Her sustenance I will bless abundantly; her needy I will satisfy with food. [16] I will clothe her priests with salvation; her devout ones will always sing joyously. [17] There I shall cause pride* to sprout for David; I have prepared a lamp for My anointed. [18] His enemies I will clothe with shame, but upon him, his crown will shine.

The idyllic unity among brothers brings God's blessings.

[1] A song of ascents, by David. Behold, how good and how pleasant is the dwelling of brothers, moreover, in unity. [2] Like the precious oil* upon the head running down upon the beard, the beard of Aaron, running down over his garments, [3] so the dew of Hermon descends upon the mountains of Zion, for there HASHEM has commanded the blessing. May there be life forever!

133:2-3. The psalmist likens the flow of heavenly blessing to the precious oil with which High Priests and kings were anointed.

134:1. The servant of Hashem never abandons his position; even in "nights" of adversity and gloom, he remains at his post (Malbim).

135:11. See Numbers 21:21-35. These two kings are symbolic of all the rulers whom Israel defeated. They are singled out because of their unusual might (Radak).

Even in exile, Israel blesses God.

1 A song of ascents. Behold, bless HASHEM, all you servants of HASHEM, who stand in the House of HASHEM in the nights.* 2 Lift your hands in the Sanctuary and bless HASHEM. 3 May HASHEM bless you from Zion, Maker of heaven and earth.

135

God's continuing role in supervising and guiding history leads to the conclusion that all is futile except to serve Him.

1 Halleluyah! Praise the Name of HASHEM! Praise, O you servants of HASHEM; 2 you who stand in the House of HASHEM, in the courtyards of the House of our God, 3 praise God, for HASHEM is good. Sing to His Name, for It is pleasant. 4 For God selected Jacob for His own, Israel as His treasure. 5 For I know that HASHEM is greater — our Lord — than all heavenly powers. 6 Whatever HASHEM wished, He did, in heaven and on earth; in the seas and all the depths. 7 He raises clouds from the end of the earth; He made lightning bolts for the rain; He brings forth wind from His treasuries. 8 It was He Who smote the firstborn of Egypt, from man to beast. 9 He sent signs and wonders into your midst, O Egypt, upon Pharaoh and upon all of his servants. 10 It was He Who smote many nations, and slew mighty kings — 11 Sihon, King of the Amorite, Og, King of Bashan;* and all the kingdoms of Canaan — 12 and presented their land as a heritage, a heritage for Israel, His people. 13 HASHEM is Your Name forever, HASHEM is Your memorial throughout the generations. 14 When HASHEM will judge His people, He will relent concerning His servants. 15 The idols of the nations are silver and gold, human handiwork. 16 They have mouths, but they speak not; they have eyes, but they see not; 17 they have ears, but they hear not; neither is there any breath in their mouths. 18 Like them shall their makers become, everyone who trusts in them. 19 O House of Israel, bless HASHEM; O House of Aaron, bless HASHEM. 20 O House of Levi, bless HASHEM; O those who fear HASHEM, bless HASHEM. 21 Blessed is HASHEM from Zion, He Who dwells in Jerusalem. Halleluyah!

A song of God's creation and rulership of the world in general and Israel in particular

1 Give thanks to HASHEM for He is good, for His kindness endures forever. 2 Give thanks to the God of the heavenly powers, for His kindness endures forever. 3 Give thanks to the Lord of the lords, for His kindness endures forever. 4 To Him Who alone performs great wonders, for His kindness endures forever. 5 To Him Who made the heavens with understanding, for His kindness endures forever. 6 To Him Who spread out the earth upon the waters, for His kindness endures forever. 7 To Him Who made great lights, for His kindness endures forever; 8 the sun for the reign of the day, for His kindness endures forever; 9 the moon and the stars for the reign of the night, for His kindness endures forever. 10 To Him Who smote Egypt through their firstborn, for His kindness endures forever; 11 and brought Israel forth from their midst, for His kindness endures forever; 12 with strong hand and outstretched arm, for His kindness endures forever. 13 To Him Who divided the Sea of Reeds into parts, for His kindness endures forever; 14 and caused Israel to pass through it, for His kindness endures forever; 15 and threw Pharaoh and his army into the Sea of Reeds, for His kindness endures forever. 16 To Him Who led His people through the wilderness, for His kindness endures forever. 17 To Him Who smote great kings, for His kindness endures forever; 18 and slew mighty kings, for His kindness endures forever; 19 Sihon, king of the Amorite, for His kindness endures forever; 20 and Og, king of Bashan, for His kindness endures forever; 21 and presented their land as a heritage, for His kindness endures forever; 22 a heritage for Israel, His servant, for His kindness endures forever. 23 In our lowliness He remembered us, for His kindness endures forever; 24 and He released us from our tormentors, for 137:5-6. No matter what the occasion of personal joy, the memory of Jerusalem must come first (Ibn Ezra). From this verse stems the custom that a bridegroom places ashes on his head before the marriage ceremony, and the custom that a glass is broken after the ceremony in memory of Jerusalem (Rama).

137:8-9. Darius the Mede, Babylon's conqueror, will hate and torment her cruelly exactly as she hated and tormented Israel (Malbim).

138:4. God's prophetic assurances regarding the future ascendancy of David and Israel were given when their situations seemed hopeless and irreversible. The world considered them fanciful, but when they will be fulfilled, the world will acknowledge God's Providence.

139:15. In the lowest chamber of my mother's innards.

139:17. The general categories of Divine power and wisdom evident in Creation would overwhelm the most brilliant mind, even ignoring the countless, exacting

His kindness endures forever. [25] He gives nourishment to all flesh, for His kindness endures forever. [26] Give thanks to God of the heavens, for His kindness endures forever.

137

A prophetic lament over the exiles, and a charge to them to never remove Jerusalem from their hearts and minds

[1] By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat and also wept when we remembered Zion. [2] On the willows within it we hung our lyres. [3] For there our captors requested words of song from us, with our lyres [playing] joyous music, "Sing for us from Zion's song!" [4] "How can we sing the song of HASHEM upon the alien's soil?" [5] If I forget you, O Jerusalem, * let my right hand forget its skill. [6] Let my tongue adhere to my palate, if I fail to recall you, if I fail to elevate Jerusalem above my foremost joy. [7] Remember, HASHEM, for the offspring of Edom, the day of Jerusalem; for those who say, "Destroy! Destroy! to its very foundation." [8] O violated daughter of Babylon, praiseworthy is he who repays you * in accordance with the manner that you treated us. [9] Praiseworthy is he who will clutch and dash your infants against the rock.

One must live with profound awareness that God is omnipotent and intimately close to those who seek Him.

[1] By David. I will acknowledge You with all my heart, in the presence of princes I will sing to You. [2] I will prostrate myself toward Your Holy Sanctuary, and I will acknowledge Your Name, for Your kindness and Your truth; for You have exalted Your promise even beyond Your Name. [3] On the day I cried You answered me, You emboldened me, there is strength in my soul. [4] All the kings of earth will acknowledge You, HASHEM, because they heard the words of Your mouth. * [5] And they will sing of the ways of HASHEM, for great is the glory of HASHEM. [6] For, though HASHEM is exalted, He notes the lowly; and the High One makes Himself known from afar. [7] Though I walk amid distress, You preserve me; to counter the wrath of my enemies You extend Your hand, and Your right hand saves me. [8] May HASHEM complete on my behalf; HASHEM, Your kindness is eternal, do not let go of the creatures of Your hand.

God's omniscience and omnipotence are absolute; He is aware of a person's innermost thoughts.

[1] For the conductor, by David, a psalm. O HASHEM, You have scrutinized me and You know. [2] You know my sitting down and my rising up; You understand my thought from afar. [3] You encompass my path and my repose, You are familiar with all my ways. [4] For the word is not yet on my tongue, behold, HASHEM, You knew it all. [5] Back and front You have restricted me, and You have laid Your hand upon me. [6] Knowledge is beyond me; exalted, I am incapable of it. [7] Where can I go from Your spirit? And where can I flee from Your Presence? [8] If I ascend to heaven, You are there; if I make my bed in the lowest depths, behold, You are there; [9] were I to take up wings of dawn, were I to dwell in the distant west, [10] there, too, Your hand would guide me, and Your right hand would grasp me. [11] Would I say, "Surely darkness will shadow me," then the night would become as light around me. [12] Even darkness obscures not from You; and night shines like the day; darkness and light are the same. [13] For You have created my mind; You have covered me in my mother's womb. [14] I acknowledge You, for I am awesomely, wondrously fashioned; wondrous are Your works, and my soul knows it well. [15] My frame was not hidden from You; that which I was made in concealment, which I was knit together in the lowest parts of the earth. * [16] Your eyes saw my unshaped form, and in Your book all were recorded; though they will be fashioned through many days, to Him they are one. [17] *To me — how glorious are Your thoughts, O God! How very great are their headings!

140:4. With their deceitful tongue, they spin webs to entrap their victims, and then sting them venomously.
140:8. See Genesis 15:2.
140:11-12. The mischief of their own lips.
142:1. See I Samuel Ch. 24.

18 Were I to count them, they would outnumber the grains of sand, even if I were to be constantly awake and always with You. 19 O that You would slay the wicked, O God, and men of blood [to whom I say,] "Depart from me!" 20 Those who pronounce Your Name for wicked schemes, it is taken in vain by Your enemies. 21 For indeed those who hate You, O HASHEM, I hate them, and I quarrel with those who rise up against You! 22 With the utmost hatred, I hate them; they have become enemies unto me. 23 Examine me, O God, and know my heart; test me and know my thoughts. 24 And see if I have a vexing way; and lead me in the way of eternity.

140

A person who feels powerless to combat the working of deceit must place his trust in God.

1 For the conductor, a psalm of David. 2 Free me, HASHEM, from the wicked man; from the man of violence preserve me, 3 who devise evil schemes in [their] heart, who assemble daily for wars. 4 They have sharpened their tongue like a serpent, a spider's venom is under their lips, Selah.* 5 Guard me, HASHEM, from the hands of the wicked one, from the man of violence preserve me, those who have contrived to cause my steps to slip. 6 The arrogant have hidden a snare for me and ropes, they spread a net near [my] footpath, they set traps, for me, Selah. 7 I said to HASHEM, "You are my God! Give ear, O HASHEM, to the sound of my pleading." 8 HASHEM/ELOHIM, O Lord, Might of my salvation, You protected my head on the day of armed battle.* 9 Grant not, HASHEM, the desires of the wicked one; do not grant his conspiracy fruition, for them to be exalted, Selah. 10 As for the head of my besiegers, let the mischief of their own lips bury them. 11 Let fiery coals descend upon them; may it cast them down into the fire, into deep pits, never to rise again.* 12 Let not the slanderous man be established on earth — the evil man of violence — may it hurt him until he is overthrown. 13 I know that HASHEM will champion the cause of the poor, the rights of those who are destitute. 14 Only the righteous will give thanks to Your Name; the upright will dwell in Your Presence.

Even in crisis, one must pray not only for physical deliverance, but also for God's help in avoiding the slightest trace of sin.

1 A psalm by David. O HASHEM, I have called You; hasten to me, give ear to my voice when I call to You. 2 Let my prayer stand as incense before You; the lifting of my hands as an afternoon offering. 3 Post a sentry for my mouth, O HASHEM; guard the door of my lips. 4 Let not my heart incline toward an evil thing, to perform evil acts with men who are doers of iniquity, and let me not break bread in their pleasure-feasts. 5 Let the righteous one strike me with kindness and let him rebuke me, like the finest oil, let my head not refuse it; for my prayer is eternally against their evils. 6 Their judges have gone astray through [their hearts of] stone, though they heard my words so pleasant. 7 Like one who chops and splinters [wood] on the ground, so have our bones been scattered to the mouth of the pit. 8 For to You, HASHEM/ELOHIM, O Lord, are my eyes turned, I have sought refuge in You, do not cause my soul to be poured out. 9 Protect me from the hands of the snare they laid for me, and from the traps of the doers of iniquity. 10 The wicked will fall into its nets, all of them together, until I pass through.

Utterly trapped, one places oneself completely at God's mercy.

1 A maskil by David, when he was in the cave — a prayer.* 2 With my voice I cry out to HASHEM, with my voice I plead with HASHEM. 3 I pour out my plaint before Him; I declare my distress before Him. 4 When my spirit faints within me, then You know my [perilous] path; on this road that I walk they have laid a snare for me. 5 Look to the right and see that I have no friend; escape is lost to me, no one seeks to save my life. 6 I have cried out to You, HASHEM; I have said, "You are my refuge, my portion in the land of the living." 7 Attend to my cry, for 143:8. At the dawn of my deliverance.

144:5. A metaphor for God's becoming openly involved in the earthly affairs of man.

144:8. Their boastful predictions of victory are vain; their celebrated might is in fact impotent, because You, God, are on my side.

I have been brought very low; rescue me from my pursuers, for they are stronger than I. [8] Release my soul from confinement to acknowledge Your Name; the righteous will crown themselves with me, when You bestow kindness upon me.

143

Sorely pained by persecution and suffering, one can be pulled from the abyss by recalling God's past miracles.

[1] A psalm of David. HASHEM, hear my prayer, give ear to my supplications, answer me in Your faithfulness, in Your righteousness. [2] And do not enter into strict judgment with Your servant, for no living creature would be vindicated before You. [3] For the enemy pursued my soul, he ground my life into the dirt, he sat me in utter darkness, like those who are long dead. [4] When my spirit grew faint upon me, within me my heart was appalled. [5] I recalled days of old, I pondered over all Your deeds, I spoke about Your handiwork. [6] I spread out my hands to You, my soul longs for You like the thirsty land. Selah. [7] Answer me soon, O HASHEM, my spirit is spent; conceal not Your face from me, lest I be like those who descend into the pit. [8] Let me hear Your kindness at dawn, for in You have I placed my trust; let me know the way I should walk, for to You have I lifted my soul.* [9] Rescue me from my enemies, O HASHEM, I have hidden my plight from all but You. [10] Teach me to do Your will, for You are my God. May Your good spirit guide me over level ground. [11] For Your Name's sake, HASHEM, revive me; with Your righteousness remove my soul from distress. [12] And with Your kindness cut off my enemies; and destroy all who oppress my soul, for I am Your servant.

David, the quintessential Jewish monarch, attributes all his accomplishments to God alone.

[1] By David. Blessed is HASHEM, my Rock, Who trains my hands for battle, my fingers for war. [2] My Benefactor, my Fortress, my Stronghold, my own Rescuer; my Shield, in Him I take refuge, He Who subjugates my nation to me. [3] HASHEM, what is man that You recognize him; the son of a frail human that You reckon with him? [4] Man is like a breath; his days are like a passing shadow. [5] HASHEM! Bend Your heavens and descend; touch the mountains and they will go up in smoke.* [6] Flash a lightning bolt and scatter them; shoot Your arrows and panic them. [7] Stretch out Your hands from above; release me and rescue me from great waters, from the hand of strangers. [8] *Their mouth speaks vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood. [9] O God, a new song will I sing to You, on a ten-stringed harp will I play to You. [10] He Who grants salvation to the kings, He Who releases David, His servant, from the evil sword, [11] release me and rescue me from the hand of strangers. Their mouth speaks vanity and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood. [12] For our sons are like saplings, nurtured from their youth; our daughters are like cornerstones, crafted in palatial form. [13] Our storehouses overflow to their very corners, providing from harvest to harvest; our sheep increase by the thousands, by the myriads in our open spaces. [14] Our oxen are laden; there is neither breach, nor outburst, nor wailing in our streets. [15] Praiseworthy is the people for whom this is so; praiseworthy is the people whose God is HASHEM.

Man is obligated to praise God's providential provision of the needs of every living creature.

[1] A psalm of praise by David: א I will exalt You, my God the King, and I will bless Your Name forever and ever. [2] ב Every day I will bless You, and I will laud Your Name forever and ever. [3] ג HASHEM is great and exceedingly lauded, and His greatness is beyond investigation. [4] ד Each generation will praise Your deeds to the next and of Your mighty deeds they will tell; [5] ה the splendrous glory of Your power and Your wondrous deeds I shall discuss. [6] ו And of Your awesome power they will speak, and Your greatness I shall relate. [7] ז A recollection of Your abundant goodness they will utter, and of Your righteousness they will sing exultantly.

145:14. Although the first letters of the verses follow the aleph-beis, the letter נ is omitted, since it can be taken as an allusion to נְפִילָה, "downfall." Nevertheless, knowing that downfalls would take place, the psalmist comforted Israel by saying, "God supports all the fallen ones."

146:1. "Praise God!"

147:4. The stars number in the billions, but God is aware of each one and gives it a "name" that denotes its purpose in the universe. Thus, nothing goes unnoticed or unprovided for. (See Isaiah 40:26.)

God is the One Who cares for the underprivileged and oppressed, despite the current ascendancy of our enemies.

[1] Halleluyah! Praise HASHEM, O my Soul!* [2] I will praise HASHEM while I live, I will make music to my God while I exist. [3] Do not rely on nobles, nor on a human being, for he holds no salvation. [4] When his spirit departs he returns to his earth, on that day his plans all perish. [5] Praiseworthy is one whose help is Jacob's God, whose hope is in HASHEM, his God. [6] He is the Maker of heaven and earth, the sea and all that is in them; He safeguards truth forever; [7] He does justice for the exploited, He gives bread to the hungry. HASHEM releases the bound; [8] HASHEM gives sight to the blind; HASHEM straightens the bent; HASHEM loves the righteous. [9] HASHEM protects strangers, orphan and widow He encourages; but the way of the wicked He contorts. [10] HASHEM shall reign forever; your God, O Zion; from generation to generation. Halleluyah!

The Creator of the universe and all it contains will redeem and rebuild Jerusalem, from whence holiness and Torah emanate.

[1] Halleluyah! For it is good to make music to our God, for praise is pleasant and befitting. [2] The Builder of Jerusalem is HASHEM; the outcast of Israel He will gather in. [3] He is the Healer of the brokenhearted, and the One Who binds up their sorrows. [4] *He counts the number of the stars, to all of them He assigns names. [5] Great is our Lord and abundant in strength; His understanding is beyond calculation. [6] HASHEM encourages the humble; He lowers the wicked down to the ground. [7] Call out to HASHEM with thanks, with the harp sing to our God — [8] Who covers the heavens with clouds, Who prepares rain for the earth, Who makes mountains sprout with grass. [9] He gives to an animal its food, to young ravens that cry out. [10] Not in the strength of the horse does He desire, and not in the legs of man does He favor. [11] HASHEM favors those who fear Him, those who hope for His kindness. [12] Praise HASHEM, O Jerusalem, laud your God, O Zion, [13] for He has strengthened the bars of your gates, and blessed your children in your midst.* [14] It is He Who makes your borders peaceful, and with the cream of the wheat He sates you; [15] He Who dispatches His utterance earthward; His word runs swiftly; [16] He Who gives snow like fleece, He scatters frost like ashes. [17] He hurls His ice like crumbs — who can stand before His cold? [18] He issues His command and it melts them; He blows His wind, the waters flow. [19] He relates His Word to Jacob, His statutes and judgments to Israel. [20] He did not do so for any other nation; such judgments — they know them not. Halleluyah!

147:13. The verse is figurative. The Jerusalem of the future will need no bars on its gates. The people will feel secure because God will protect their city (Radak).

All of nature — celestial and terrestrial — joins in a grand symphony of joyous songs of praise to God.

1 Halleluyah! Praise HASHEM from the heavens; praise Him in the heights: 2 Praise Him, all His angels; praise Him, all His legions. 3 Praise Him, sun and moon; praise Him, all bright stars. 4 Praise Him, the most exalted of the heavens and the waters that are above the heavens. 5 Let them praise the Name of HASHEM, for He commanded and they were created. 6 And He established them forever and ever, He issued a decree that will not change.

7 Praise HASHEM from the earth: sea giants and all watery depths; 8 fire and hail, snow and vapor, stormy wind fulfilling His word; 9 mountains and all hills; fruitful trees and all cedars; 10 beasts and all cattle, crawling things and winged fowl; 11 kings of the earth and all regimes, princes and all judges on earth; 12 young men and also maidens, old men together with youths. 13 Let them praise the Name of HASHEM, for His Name alone is exalted; His glory is above earth and heaven. 14 And He will have exalted the pride of His nation, causing praise for all His devout ones, for the Children of Israel, His intimate people. Halleluyah!

The lofty praises uttered in honor of God will cut down the wicked and bring forward the glory of the righteous.

1 Halleluyah! Sing to HASHEM a new song; His praise is in the congregation of the devout. 2 Let Israel exult in its Maker; let the Children of Zion rejoice in their King. 3 Let them praise His Name with dancing; with drums and harp let them make music to Him. 4 For HASHEM favors His people; He adorns the humble with salvation. 5 *Let the devout exult in glory, let them sing joyously upon their beds. 6 The lofty praises of God are in their throats, and a double-edged sword is in their hand — 7 *to execute vengeance among the nations, rebukes among the regimes; 8 to bind their kings with chains, and their nobles with fetters of iron; 9 *to execute upon them written judgment — that will be the splendor of all His devout ones. Halleluyah!

Praise God in every way possible for all the manifestations of His greatness.

1 Halleluyah! Praise God in His Sanctuary; praise Him in the firmament of His power; 2 praise Him for His mighty acts; praise Him as befits His abundant greatness; 3 praise Him with the blast of the shofar; praise Him with lyre and harp; 4 praise Him with drum and dance; praise Him with organ and flute; 5 praise Him with clanging cymbals; praise Him with resonant trumpets. 6 *Let all souls praise God, Halleluyah!

Proverbs משלי

When the wisest of all people shares his wisdom, one would expect his teachings to have more than one layer of meaning. Though they can be understood in their simplest, literal sense, they may also allude to much deeper ideas. So it is with King Solomon's Book of Proverbs. Few Books of Scripture are as widely quoted as Proverbs, for its wise and pithy aphorisms are so readily applicable to many areas of life. Nevertheless, both the Sages of the Talmud and the classic commentators say that the true meaning of these proverbs is allegorical, and that when we plumb their depths they allude to much more than their simple meaning. Rashi begins his commentary by saying that all Solomon's words are allusions and parables. For example, when Solomon speaks of a good woman he is alluding to the Torah; and when he speaks of a promiscuous woman, he is alluding to idolatry.

The last twenty-two verses of the Book of Proverbs — the beautiful Eishes Chayil paean to an accomplished and righteous woman — are surely its most familiar portion. There, too, although the simple meaning of the words is undoubtedly true, the passage is also interpreted as a song of praise to the Torah, to the Sabbath, and to the Matriarch Sarah, among others.

It is to be expected that Solomon would praise Torah, wisdom, and understanding throughout the Book. But there is another constant theme: fear of God. And not merely because Solomon himself was pious and demanded piety of others. He states very clearly at the outset that "the beginning of wisdom is fear of God" (1:7). Wisdom itself loses its meaning without fear of God — a lesson that is all too clear from the dismal achievements of some of history's brightest intellectuals.

Even a superficial reading of Proverbs yields countless nuggets of wisdom. Over and over, Solomon suggests, as we all know, that wealth brings popularity, but he goes on to insist that ill-gotten gains have no value. In other words, it is the quality of a bank account that matters, not its size. Solomon urges that with wealth comes responsibility to the poor and the obligation to heed their cries. Thus, the Book of Proverbs is a collection of lessons for life, and it contains formulas that give life the only meaning that truly matters.

1:1. The Hebrew word מִשְׁלֵי, mishlei, here translated "proverbs," refers to various literary devices — allegories, aphorisms, maxims, metaphors, parables, proverbs — used to make the subject matter comprehensible (Rabbeinu Bachya); and to illustrate and clarify the intent of important teachings (Ralbag); and to clothe abstract concepts in concrete terms (Malbim).

1:4-5. These proverbs will benefit everyone, from the unlearned youth to the erudite elder (Metzudos).

1:7. Fear of God and subordination to Him, foster a thirst for wisdom and knowledge (Rashi).

1:12. We will trap them while they are still "whole," i.e., with all their wealth, for us to loot (Ralbag).

1:17. The blandishments of seducers is like the appetizing bait that hunters put in their nets. Unsuspecting birds partake as if it were a free feast (Rashi).

1:20. The wisdom of God's teaching is not limited to the synagogue and study hall; it appeals to people in the midst of human life and strivings (R' Hirsch).

1:32. Mistakenly interpreting their success, the wicked continue their ways, thinking that retribution

1 Solomon's purpose

[1] The proverbs of Solomon, son of David, king of Israel:* [2] [In order] to make known words of wisdom and discipline; to make words of understanding discernible; [3] to accept wise discipline, righteousness, justice, and fairness; [4] *to provide simpletons with cleverness, a youth with knowledge and design; [5] that a wise one may hear and increase [his] learning, and a discerning one may acquire strategies; [6] to understand parable and epigram, the words of the wise and their enigmas.

Let God and your parents be your adornment

[7] *The fear of HASHEM is the beginning of knowledge; foolish ones scorn wisdom and discipline. [8] Hear, my child, the discipline of your father, and do not forsake the teaching of your mother. [9] For they are an adornment of grace for your head and a chain for your neck.

The blandishments of the wicked . . .

[10] My child, if sinners seduce you, do not be enticed. [11] If they say, "Come with us; let us wait in ambush for bloodshed; let us lurk for an innocent one, without cause. [12] Like the grave, let us swallow them alive — whole, like those descending to the pit.* [13] All precious wealth is found [with them]; we will fill our houses with booty. [14] Cast your lot among us; there will be one pouch for all of us!" [15] My child, do not walk on the way with them; withhold your feet from their pathways.

. . . are a dangerous trap

[16] For their feet run to evil and they hasten to spill blood. [17] For the net seems spread out with free [bait], in the eyes of every winged creature,* [18] but they wait in ambush for their blood and lurk for their souls. [19] Such are the ways of all despoilers; they take the souls of [wealth's] owners.

God's message is everywhere — if you care to see it

[20] *Wisdom sings out in the street; it gives forth its voice in the squares. [21] It cries out at the head of noisy throngs, at the entrances of the gates, in the city, it speaks its words: [22] How long, O simpletons, will you love folly? Scoffers covet mockery for themselves, and fools hate knowledge. [23] Return to my reproof! Behold, I will express my spirit to you; I will make my words known to you. [24] But because I have called you and you refused; because I stretched forth my hand and no one listened; [25] and you rejected my every counsel, and desired not my reproof, [26] I, too, will laugh at your misfortune and mock when your dread arrives.

But if you refuse to heed it, retribution is inevitable

[27] When your fear arrives as sudden darkness, and misfortune comes like a storm; when affliction and oppression come upon you, [28] then they will call me, but I will not answer; they will search for me, but they will not find me. [29] Because they hated knowledge and did not choose fear of HASHEM, [30] they did not desire my counsel, they spurned all my reproof. [31] They will eat of the fruit of their way and will be sated with their own schemes. [32] *For the tranquility of the simpletons will kill them, and the contentment of fools will destroy them. [33] But he who listens to me will dwell securely, and will be undisturbed by fear of evil.

2 Only if you treasure wisdom will you acquire it . . . for then God will grant it to you

[1] My child: If you accept My words and treasure my commandments with yourself, [2] to make your ears attentive to wisdom, incline your heart to understanding [3] — [for] only if you call out to understanding [and] give forth your voice to discernment, [4] if you seek it as [if it were] silver, if you search for it as [if it were] hidden treasures — [5] *then you will understand the fear of HASHEM, and discover the knowledge of God. [6] For HASHEM grants wisdom; from His mouth [come] knowledge and understanding. [7] *He has secured the eternal Torah for the upright;

will never come.

2:3-5. Hard work and single-minded pursuit can lead to financial success; the identical efforts can lead to piety and wisdom (Malbim).

2:7. The literal meaning of תּוּשִׁיָּה is "something substantive, of independent existence." It is usually translated "wise counsel" and is a reference to the wisdom of the Torah, which is independent and eternal (see Ibn Ezra). Rashi renders The eternal Torah was hidden; i.e., God hid the Torah from mankind for twenty-six generations, until He presented it to Israel.

2:16-19. Heresy is like a temptress. Once someone succumbs to either, it is difficult to detach oneself and repent (Rashi).

3:7. Do not think you can disregard those who reprimand or reprove you (Rashi).

3:8. Just as an adequate supply of blood — in a fetus, through the navel; later, by the new cells produced in the marrow — is vital to one's physical health, so is an adequate supply of Torah vital to one's spiritual health, whether a neophyte or an accomplished scholar (Ralbag).

3:11-12. Just as physical pain helps a person by warning him of the underlying cause of the symptom, so too it should be regarded as a loving Father's message that His child must correct his behavior. In that sense, physical suffering should be welcomed as proof of God's regard.

it is a shield for those who walk in innocence, [8] to safeguard the paths of justice, for He protects the way of His devout ones.

The Torah will save you from perverse ideas . . . . . from evildoers . . . . . and from purveyors of temptation

[9] Then you will understand righteousness and justice, fairness and every good course, [10] when wisdom enters your heart and knowledge becomes pleasant to your soul. [11] [A wise] design will watch over you [and] understanding will safeguard you — [12] to rescue you from the way of evil, from a person who speaks duplicities, [13] [from those] who forsake paths of uprightness to walk in ways of darkness, [14] who are glad to do evil, who rejoice in the duplicities of evil, [15] whose ways are crooked and who go astray in their courses; [16] to save you from the strange woman,* from the foreign woman, whose words are glib, [17] who forsakes the husband of her youth and forgets the covenant of her God, [18] for her house declines toward death, and her course toward the lifeless, [19] and all who come to her do not return, nor do they attain the paths of life — [20] in order that you may walk in the way of the good and keep the paths of the righteous. [21] For the upright will dwell in the land [forever], and the wholehearted will remain in it; [22] but the wicked will be cut off from the land, and the faithless uprooted from it.*

For in the end, the just will prevail

3 [1] My child, do not forget My Torah, and let your heart guard My commandments, [2] for they add to you length of days and years of life and peace. [3] Kindness and truth will not forsake you. Bind them upon your neck; inscribe them on the tablet of your heart, [4] and you will find favor and goodly wisdom in the eyes of God and man.

Cleave to the Torah

Trust in God will bring you success

[5] Trust in HASHEM with all your heart and do not rely upon your own understanding. [6] In all your ways know Him, and He will smooth your paths. [7] Do not be wise in your own eyes; fear HASHEM and turn away from evil. [8] It will be health to your navel* and marrow to your bones. [9] Honor HASHEM with your wealth, and with the first of all your produce, [10] then your storehouses will be filled with plenty, and the wine of your vats will burst forth.*

Seek discipline and wisdom

[11] My child, do not despise HASHEM's discipline, and do not despise His reproof, [12] for HASHEM admonishes the one He loves, and like a father He mollifies the child. [13] Praiseworthy is a person who has found wisdom, a person who can derive understanding [from it],* [14] for its commerce is better than the commerce of silver, and its produce [is better] than fine gold. [15] It is more precious than pearls, and all your desires cannot compare to it. [16] Length of days is at its right; at its left, wealth and honor. [17] Its ways are ways of pleasantness and all its pathways are peace. [18] It is a tree of life to those who grasp it, and its supporters are praiseworthy.*

The Torah and its wisdom are your guarantors for a good life

[19] HASHEM founded the earth with wisdom; He established the heavens with understanding; [20] through His knowledge, the depths were cleaved, and the heavens dripped dew. [21] My child, do not let them stray from your eyes; safeguard the eternal Torah* and [its]wise design. [22] They will be life to your soul and a graceful [ornament] for your neck. [23] Then you will walk on your way securely, and your foot will not stumble. [24] When you lie down you will not fear; you will lie down and your sleep will be pleasant. [25] You will not fear sudden terror, nor the holocaust of the wicked when it comes. [26] For HASHEM will be your security, and He will guard your feet from entrapment.*

3:13. "Wisdom," an accumulation of facts, is the raw material from which one can "understand," i.e., derive new knowledge through clear comprehension of information.

3:19-20. God created the universe with the wisdom, understanding, and knowledge of His Torah (Rashi).

3:21. See 2:7.

3:27-28. Do not be reluctant or slow to help others. Even unwarranted delay is a form of refusal.

3:34. One is readily influenced by the company one keeps (Rashi).

4:1. The Father is God (Rashi), and His discipline is the Torah (Ralbag).

4:3. Solomon assures his listeners that his criticism of their conduct does not indicate ill-will on his part. To the contrary, he was treated tenderly by his parents, and absorbed their feelings of love and tenderness (Rashi).

4:7. Wisdom must be acquired, not invented. Then true understanding is gained by probing the implications of wisdom (R' Hirsch).

4:23. More than anything, a person must guard his heart, which is pivotal in focusing thoughts and desires away from the negative and toward the positive (Rabbeinu Yonah).

5:3. The forbidden woman is a metaphor for heresy (Rashi).

5:4. Falling prey to heresy leads to a double death: loss

Be kind and thoughtful . . .

. . . avoid strife, violence, and scoffing

27 Do not withhold good from its rightful recipients, when you have the power to do it. * 28 Do not tell your neighbor, "Leave and come back; tomorrow I will give it," when it is [already] by you. 29 Do not devise evil against your neighbor, one who dwells securely near you. 30 Do not quarrel with any man without cause, if he has done you no evil. 31 Do not envy the man of violence, and do not choose any of his ways, 32 for one who deviates is an abomination to HASHEM*; and His* counsel is with the upright. 33 HASHEM*'s blight is upon the house of the wicked; He* blesses the abode of the righteous. 34 If [one is drawn] to the scoffers, he will scoff; but [if one is drawn] to the humble, he will find favor. * 35 The wise inherit honor and fools generate disgrace.

4 A loving chastisement

1 Hear, children, the Father's discipline, * and be attentive to know understanding: 2 "For I have given you a good teaching, do not forsake My Torah."
3 For I was a son to my father, a tender and only son before my mother. * 4 He taught me, and said to me, "Let my words sustain your heart; observe my commandments and live. 5 Acquire wisdom; acquire understanding. Do not forget and do not stray from the words of my mouth. 6 Do not forsake [the Torah], and it will guard you; love it and it will protect you."

Appreciate the value of wisdom

7 The beginning of wisdom is to acquire wisdom; from your every acquisition acquire understanding. * 8 Caress it and it will uplift you; it will honor you when you embrace it. 9 It will set an adornment of grace upon your head; it will bestow a crown of splendor upon you.

The Torah guarantees meaningful life

10 Hear, my child, take my words; and they will add years of life to you. 11 I instruct you in the way of wisdom; I lead you in courses of fairness. 12 When you walk, your steps will not be constricted, and when you run, you will not stumble.
13 Hold fast to discipline; do not let go. Guard it, for it is your life. 14 Do not come

Evil people are worse than one can imagine to the path of the wicked, and do not walk in the way of evildoers. 15 Reject it; do not pass on it; veer away from it and pass on. 16 For [the wicked] cannot sleep if they do not do evil; their sleep will be robbed if they do not cause others to stumble. 17 For their bread is the bread of wickedness, and they drink the wine of violence.

Righteous and wicked; light and darkness

18 The path of the righteous is like the glow of sunlight, growing brighter until high noon, 19 [but] the way of the wicked is like darkness, they know not upon what they stumble.

Safeguard that which matters most

20 My child, be attentive to my speech; incline your ear to my words. 21 Let them not depart from your eyes; guard them within your heart. 22 For they are life to he who finds them, and healing for all his flesh. 23 More than you guard anything, safeguard your heart, * for from it are the sources of life. 24 Remove from yourself

Consider your deeds carefully distortion of the mouth, and distance perversity of lips from yourself. 25 Let your eyes look ahead, and your eyelids will direct your path. 26 Weigh the course of your feet, and all your ways will be established. 27 Do not deviate right or left;

remove your feet from evil.

5 Beware of enticement; it leads to doom

1 My child, be attentive to my wisdom, give ear to my understanding, 2 to heed [wise] designs and let your lips guard wisdom. 3 For the lips of a *forbidden woman drip honey, and her palate is smoother than oil, 4 but her end is as bitter as wormwood, as sharp as a double-edged sword. * 5 Her feet lead to death; her footsteps support her to the grave. 6 Lest you liken the path of both This World and the World to Come (Midrash Mishlei).

5:9. The master of Gehinnom (Rashi), who will exact punishment from sinners.

5:11-14. At life's end you will recognize the truth and the error of your life. Too late, you will regret your blind stubbornness.

5:15-23. Instead of seeking happiness with forbidden women, i.e., heresy, remain with your own cistern, i.e., your wife and your Torah, and enjoy the reward of springs, i.e., children.

5:19. Just as a hind remains beloved to her mate, the Torah is most beloved by those who study it (Rashi).

5:21. God knows man's actions and weighs his sins and merits (Rashi).

6:1-2. Even when performing good deeds,consider all possible consequences before obligating yourself to others (R' Hirsch).

6:3-5. Since you are in the lender's power, hasten to implore him to extend the time of repayment (R' Saadiah Gaon). Then, continue to keep after the borrower to repay what he can.

6:6-8. Learn diligence from the ant. It lives just six months, but industriously gathers much more food than of life [to hers] — her courses wander [astray]; you cannot know.

Her wiles come at a prohibitive price

7 And now, [my] children, listen to me, and do not stray from the words of my mouth. 8 Distance your way from her, and do not come near the door of her house, 9 *lest you give your glory to others, and your [remaining] years to the cruel one. 10 Lest strangers be sated with your strength, and your painfully earned wealth [be] in a stranger's house. 11 *You will groan at your [life's] end when your flesh and your body perish. 12 Then you will say, "How could I have hated discipline, and my heart spurned rebuke? 13 I have not listened to the voice of my masters, and have not inclined my ear to my teachers. 14 For a pittance [of enjoyment] I was into everything evil, in the presence of congregation and assembly!"

Too late, you will regret your horrendous error

Remain loyal to your wife and your Torah

15 *Drink water from your own cistern and flowing water from your own well. 16 [Then] your springs will spread outwards, streams of water in the thoroughfares. 17 They will be yours alone, strangers not sharing them with you. 18 Your source will be blessed, and you will rejoice with the wife of your youth, 19 a beloved hind inspiring favor; * her breasts will sate you at all times; you will always be intoxicated with her love.

The wicked will be trapped by their own sins

20 Why then, my son, should you err with a strange woman and embrace an alien bosom? 21 For a man's ways are opposite HASHEM*'s eyes, and He weighs all his courses. 22 The iniquities of the wicked one will trap him, and he will be suspended in the cords of his sins. 23 He will die for refusing discipline, and for the abundant foolishness with which he strayed.

Avoid commitments that are beyond your abilities

1 My child, if you have been a guarantor for your friend, * if you have given your handshake for a stranger, 2 you have been trapped by the words of your mouth, snared by the words of your mouth. 3 *Do this, therefore, my child, and be rescued; for you have come into your fellow's hand. Go humble yourself [before him], and placate your fellow. 4 Give not sleep to your eyes, nor slumber to your eyelids; 5 be rescued like a deer from the [hunter's] hand, and like a bird from the fowler.

From an ant learn to be industrious

6 Go to the ant, you sluggard; see its ways and grow wise. 7 Though there is neither officer nor guard nor ruler over her, 8 *she prepares her food in the summer and stores up her food in the harvest time. 9 How long will you recline, O sluggard? When will you arise from your sleep? 10 A little sleep, * a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to recline, 11 and your poverty will come like a traveler, and your lacking like an armed man.

Dishonest people will get their undoing

12 The lawless man is a man of iniquity: He goes forth with distortion of the mouth; 13 he winks with his eyes, shuffles with his feet, points with his fingers; 14 duplicity in his heart, he plots evil all the time; he stirs up strife. 15 Therefore, his undoing will come suddenly; he will be broken in an instant, without healing.

God hates those who incite strife

16 HASHEM *hates these six, but the seventh is the abomination of His soul: 17 haughty eyes, a false tongue, and hands spilling innocent blood, 18 a heart plotting iniquitous thoughts, feet hastening to run to evil, 19 a false witness spouting lies; and one who stirs up strife among brothers.

20 Heed, my son, the command of your father, and do not forsake the teaching it needs. So too, man must also perform good deeds in This World so his soul will have merit in the World to Come (Devarim Rabbah).

6:10-11. With a minimum of sleep and relaxation, your periods of poverty and want will soon pass, like a traveler or a soldier girded for battle, who spends but a night and then continues on his way (Ralbag).

6:16. The seventh is the one who stirs up strife (v. 19).

6:24-26. The alluring woman is a metaphor for physical gratification or heretical ideas. Only Torah and chastisement can protect one from these dangers.

6:31-32. An apprehended thief will pay whatever he must, but he will not surrender his soul. Someone who commits adultery, however, forfeits his soul.

7:5. The forbidden woman is the Evil Inclination personified.

7:7-13. Heresy, the harlot, bides its time and begins casually. Someone slowly goes astray, distancing himself from the Torah's moral values, until he becomes the harlot's guest. He becomes accustomed to going to her, until she controls him (Vilna Gaon).

7:14-15. Deceitfully, she implies that she is inviting him to perform the good deed of enjoying sacrificial meat (Ibn Ezra).

7:22. A fool lunges toward his undoing with the speed of a serpent lunging to poison its victim (Rashi).

evil woman,* from the smoothness of the foreign woman's tongue. 25 Do not desire her beauty in your heart, and do not let her captivate you with her eyelids, 26 because, for the sake of a licentious woman, [one may beg] for a loaf of bread; an adulterous woman can ensnare a precious soul. 27 Can a man draw fire into his bosom without his clothes being burned? 28 Can a man walk on coals without his feet being scorched? 29 So is one who consorts with his friend's wife; anyone who touches her will not be exonerated.

It is worse and more unforgivable than theft
30 A thief is not [overly] scorned if he steals to satisfy his soul when he is hungry. 31 When he is found, he would even pay sevenfold, even give all the wealth of his house!* 32 But he who commits adultery with a woman is lacking an [understanding] heart; a destroyer of his soul will do this. 33 Plague and shame will he find, and his disgrace will not be erased. 34 For jealousy ignites a husband's wrath, and he will not have mercy on the day of revenge. 35 He will not be appeased by any ransom, and will not relent, though the bribe be made great.

1 My child, heed my words and store up my commandments with yourself.
Do not let my advice slip away
2 Heed my commandments and live, and [heed] my Torah as the apple of your eyes. 3 Bind them on your fingers; inscribe them on the tablet of your heart. 4 Say to wisdom, "You are my sister," and call understanding a friend, 5 that they may safeguard you from a forbidden woman,* from a strange woman who makes her words glib. 6 For I have looked out from the window of my house, through my lattice, 7 and I saw among the fools, I discerned among the youths, a lad who lacked [an understanding] heart* 8 passing through the marketplace near her corner, and he strode toward her house, 9 in the twilight, as daylight wanes, in the blackness of night and darkness. 10 Then behold, a woman approached him, bedecked as a harlot and with siege in [her] heart. 11 She coos and she entices, her feet do not dwell at home. 12 Sometimes in the courtyard, sometimes in the streets, she lurks at every corner. 13 She seized him and kissed him; she thrust forth her face and said to him: 14 "I had vowed to bring peace-offerings, and today I have fulfilled my vow.*

15 "That is why I went out toward you, to seek your countenance, and I have found you! 16 I have decked my bed with spreads; carved bed poles are hung with Egyptian linen. 17 I have perfumed my bed with myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon. 18 Come, let us sate ourselves with love until the morning; let us rejoice with

24 So now, children, listen to me, and heed the words of my mouth. 25 Do not incline your heart to her ways; do not stray in her pathways. 26 For she has felled many victims; the number of her slain is huge. 27 Her house is the way to 8:1-3. Unlike the harlot, heresy, lurking in the darkness to trap and destroy her prey (Ch. 7), wisdom proclaims the delights of Torah, which brings happiness and life (Vilna Gaon).

8:12-21. The Torah now speaks on her own behalf.

8:13. This is the discipline that wisdom proclaims (Rashi). Only the humble and truthful are allowed to discover her treasures and truth (R' Hirsch).

8:15-16. By imbuing themselves with the Torah's wisdom, kings become righteous sovereigns, leaders manifest leadership, princes gain authority, and judges remain dedicated to truth and justice (Maharal).

8:22-31. Torah was the blueprint of the universe (Bereishis Rabbah 1:2). God created the Torah before the universe; it is manifest in Creation, preserves the world, and is a guide to all mankind (Maimonides).

8:32-36. Only one path can lead to fulfillment: "Harken unto discipline and grow wise." Only by unswerving obedience to the Torah can we succeed (Vilna Gaon).

the grave, descending to the chambers of death.

8 [1] Surely wisdom will call out, and understanding will raise her voice.* [2] Atop the heights along the way, at the place where pathways diverge, she stands. [3] Near the gateways of the city, at the approach to its entrances, she cries out: [4] "To you, O men, do I call, and my voice is to the sons of man. [5] Simpletons, understand cleverness; fools, understand [in your heart]. [6] Listen, for I will speak noble thoughts; the opinion of my lips will be fair words. [7] For my palate will utter truth; wickedness is an abomination to my lips. [8] All the words of my mouth are with righteousness; they contain no twisting or perversion. [9] They are all correct to one who understands, and upright to those who find knowledge. [10] Accept my discipline and not silver, [for] knowledge is choicer than fine gold, [11] for wisdom is better than pearls, and all desires cannot compare to it."

Wisdom invites all to learn from her

It is superior to all earthly riches

[12] I am wisdom; I dwell in cleverness; I provide knowledge of designs.* [13] Fear of HASHEM is hatred of evil. I hate pride and haughtiness, the way of evil, and a duplicitous mouth.* [14] With me there is counsel and wisdom; I am understanding; with me is might. [15] Through me, kings will reign, and nobles will decree righteousness;* [16] through me officials will rule, and nobles, all who judge righteously. [17] I love those who love me, and those who search for me shall find me. [18] Wealth and honor are with me, great fortune and righteousness. [19] My fruits are better than fine gold, even choice gold, and my produce is choicer than silver. [20] I lead in the path of righteousness, amid the pathways of justice. [21] I have what to bequeath [to] those who love me, and I shall fill their storehouses.

Torah is the source of the truest success

The Torah is generous to those who love it

[22] HASHEM made me as the beginning of His way, before His deeds of yore.* [23] I have reigned for all time: from the beginning, from before [there was] the earth. [24] When there were no depths, I was formed; when there were no pools rich with water, [25] before the mountains were settled, before the hills, I was formed; [26] when He had not yet made the earth and its environs or the first dust of the inhabited world. [27] When He prepared the heavens, I was there; when He etched out the globe upon the face of the depths; [28] when He strengthened the heavens above; when he fortified the wellsprings of the depths; [29] when He set for the sea its limit and the waters would not transgress His word; when He forged the foundations of the earth; [30] I was then His nursling, I was then His delight every day, playing before Him at all times, [31] playing in the inhabited areas of His earth, my delights are with the sons of man.

The Torah preceded everything; it is the blueprint of Creation [32] And now, children, listen to me; praiseworthy are those who heed my ways.* [33] Harken unto discipline and grow wise and you will not reject [wisdom]. [34] Praiseworthy is the person who listens to me, to hasten to my doors every day, to the doorposts of my entranceways. [35] For one who finds me finds life and elicits favor from HASHEM. [36] But one who sins against me despoils his soul; all who hate me love death.

Be wise: Follow the Torah and its teachings

9 [1] With all forms of wisdom did she build her house; she carved out its seven pillars.* [2] *She prepared her meat, mixed her wine and also set her table. [3] She has sent out her maidens to announce upon the city heights: [4] "Whoever is

9:1-18. This chapter contrasts the benefit to those who follow the wisdom of Torah with the harm to those who are lured by the enticements of idol worship (Rabbeinu Bachya).

9:1. In Scripture, the number seven is idiomatic for "many" (Ralbag).

9:2. Her lessons are prepared and she is ready to teach (Rashi).

9:4. To acquire the wisdom that he lacks.

9:7-8. Although it is proper to teach a simpleton, teaching the scoffer and the wicked is worse than futile.

9:13-15. Like wisdom, the woman of foolishness seeks attention while remaining idle and destructive, but the wise woman builds and strengthens.

9:18. The simpleton she attracts does not realize that she leads not to life, but to death.

Chapters 10-24

These chapters comprise the second section of Proverbs. It consists of ethical maxims, rules of conduct, lessons from experience, and moral teachings. Most of the verses postulate individual points. The verses fall into four general categories: (1) antithetical couplets, where the two halves of the verse describe opposite behavioral patterns (the wise and the foolish, love and hatred, industry and sloth); (2) single cohesive thoughts; (3) parallelism in which the second clause reinforces the first clause; and (4) parallel denigrations of base traits and actions (Meiri).

Since each verse is a separate thought, this section of Proverbs does not lend itself to marginal notes.

10:1. The industrious wise son will spend his time in the study hall with his father, while the lazy foolish son will loll around the house to his mother's anguish (Ibn Ezra). A mother will often suffer more from her foolish son's antics, because most boys are afraid to misbehave in their fathers' presence (Ralbag).

10:2. See 11:4.

10:4. One who uses false weights and measures will eventually become impoverished (Ibn Ezra).

10:6. As the righteous person always blesses others, God will bless him in return (Vilna Gaon); and he will be blessed by all who know him (Malbim).

10:7. When people hear the righteous one's name, they will bless him, but the name of the wicked will "rot" from disuse; people will refrain even from mention-

She wants to share with others

a simpleton, let him turn here!" As for the one who lacks [an understanding] heart, she says to him:* [5] "Come and partake of my food and drink of the wine that I mixed. [6] Leave [your paths], O simpletons, and live, and stride in the way of understanding." [7] But one who chastises the scoffer acquires shame for himself,*

Avoid the evil; cultivate good people and he who rebukes the wicked [acquires] a blemish. [8] Do not rebuke a scoffer, lest he hate you; rebuke a wise man, and he will love you. [9] Give the wise man and he will become even wiser; make known to the righteous and he will add [to his] learning. [10] The beginning of wisdom is fear of HASHEM, and [the beginning of] understanding is knowledge of the sacred. [11] For through me your days will be increased, and they will increase years of life for you. [12] If you have become wise, you have become wise for your own good, and if you have scoffed, you alone will bear [responsibility].

Fear of God is the road to blessing

The temptress is alluring

[13] *The woman of foolishness croons; [the woman] of simpleness, who does not know anything. [14] She sits at the door of her house, on a chair at the city heights, [15] to call out to the passersby, who make their ways upright: [16] "Whoever is a simpleton, let him turn here." As for the one who lacks [an understanding] heart, she says to him: [17] "Stolen waters are sweet, and bread [eaten] in secret places is pleasing." [18] But he does not know that dead men are there, that those she invites are in the deepest grave.*

But it is the bait of death

[1] The Proverbs of Solomon:

*A wise son gladdens his father, but a foolish son is his mother's sorrow. [2] *Treasures of wickedness will not avail, but charity rescues from death. [3] HASHEM will not bring hunger upon the souls of the righteous, but the destructiveness of the wicked shall batter them. [4] A deceitful scale makes a pauper, but the hand of the diligent brings prosperity.* [5] A wise son harvests in the summer, but the shameful son is fast asleep at harvest time. [6] Blessings [will descend] upon the head of the righteous one, but [their] violence will smother the mouth of the wicked.* [7] *Remembrance of a righteous one brings blessing, but the name of the wicked will rot. [8] *The wise of heart will seize good deeds, but the foolish one's lips will become weary. [9] He who walks in innocence will walk securely, but one who perverts his ways will be broken. [10] He who winks his eye instills trepidation, but the foolish one's lips will become weary.* [11] The mouth of the righteous one is a source of life, but the mouth of the wicked conceals their [intended] violence. [12] Hatred arouses strife, but love covers all offenses. [13] In the lips of an understanding one will be found wisdom, but a rod [must be used] on the back of one who lacks [an understanding] heart. [14] *The wise conceal knowledge, but the mouth of the fool brings ruin near. [15] A rich man's wealth is his citadel of strength, but poverty is the ruin of the impoverished. [16] The deed of a righteous person brings life, but the produce of a wicked one brings lacking. [17] To heed discipline is a path to life, but one who abandons reproof goes astray. [18] One who conceals hatred has lying lips, but one who utters slander is a fool.* [19] In an abundance of words offense will not be lacking, but one who restrains his lips is wise. [20] The tongue of a righteous person is choice silver, but the heart of the wicked is minute.

ing him (Rashi).

10:8. A wise person actively pursues good deeds, but a fool merely talks, without following through.

10:10. A powerful person can frighten others with a threatening flicker of an eyelid.

10:14. Fools have no discretion; they reveal potentially harmful information.

10:18. He hides his hatred behind dishonest flattery.

10:21. Multitudes benefit from the prayers and blessings of the righteous.

10:25. Even after death, the merits of the righteous protect the world (Vilna Gaon).

11:4. This identical teaching is found in 10:2. There it speaks of saving a person from the punishment of Gehinnom in the afterlife; here it speaks of saving him from an unusual death (Bava Basra 10a).

11:12. A discerning person does not respond to one who belittles him, for to do so would put him on par with that person (Rabbeinu Yonah).

11:14. Just as a city must use every possible means to overcome attack, so too a person must devise plans and seek advice in his war against sin (Chevel Nachalah).

11:16. A woman of grace upholds both her dignity and that of others; an insolent person respects only wealth.

11:18. He thinks his deeds will stand forever, but, in truth, his actions betray him (Rashi).

11:21. Recompense comes from God's hand to the sinner's hand and the sinner cannot exonerate himself from it (Rashi); nevertheless, the merit of his righteous forebears may save him (Metzudos).

11:22. Adornment adds beauty only to something essentially beautiful; otherwise, the adornment itself is a precious gem in an ugly setting.

11:24. Money spent on doing God's will brings additional wealth, but a refusal to contribute for worthy causes brings a loss.

21 *The lips of the righteous one will nourish many, * but the foolish will die through lack of [an understanding] heart.* 22 It is the blessing of HASHEM that enriches, and one need not add toil with it. 23 It is like sport to a fool to carry out [his] evil design; wisdom [is like sport] to a man of understanding. 24 What a wicked one fears will come upon him, and [God] will fulfill the desire of the righteous. 25 *When the storm passes a wicked one is no more, but a righteous one is the foundation of the world.  26 Like vinegar to the teeth and like smoke to the eyes, so is a sluggard to those who send him. 27 The fear of HASHEM will increase days, but the years of the wicked will be shortened. 28 The expectation of the righteous is gladness, but the hope of the wicked will go lost. 29 The way of HASHEM is a stronghold to the innocent, but a ruin to the workers of iniquity. 30 A righteous one will never falter, but the wicked will not dwell [tranquilly] in the land. 31 The mouth of a righteous one speaks wisdom, but a duplicitous tongue will be cut off. 32 The lips of a righteous one know how to appease [God], but the mouth of the wicked is duplicitous.

11 1 Deceitful scales are an abomination of HASHEM, but a perfect weight is His desire. 2 When a willful sinner comes shame comes, but with modest ones [comes] wisdom. 3 The innocence of the just will guide them, but the corruption of the faithless will despoil them. 4 *Wealth will not avail in the day of wrath, but charity will rescue from death.  5 The righteousness of the innocent one straightens his path, but the wicked one shall fall in his wickedness. 6 The righteousness of the just will rescue them, but the faithless will be trapped in the destruction [they plotted]. 7 When a wicked man dies, hope is lost, and the expectation of his offspring perishes. 8 The righteous one is removed from affliction, but the wicked one comes in his place. 9 With a flattering mouth one corrupts his friend, but the righteous are delivered through knowledge. 10 The city exults in the good of the righteous, and when the wicked perish there is glad song. 11 Through the blessing of the upright a city is exalted, but through the mouth of the wicked it is torn down. 12 *He who shames his friend lacks a heart, but a man of understanding will be silent.  13 He who reveals a secret is a talebearer, but the faithful of spirit conceals a matter. 14 *Without strategies a nation will fall, but salvation [lies] in much counsel.  15 One will be utterly broken by co-signing for a stranger; but a hater of handshakes will be secure. 16 *The woman of grace upholds honor; but the insolent uphold wealth.  17 A man of kindness brings good upon himself, but a cruel person troubles his flesh. 18 *The wicked one does false deeds, * but one who sows righteousness has a true reward.* 19 [One who gives] sincere charity [is consigned] to life; but the pursuer of evil [is consigned] to his death. 20 The perverse of heart are an abomination unto HASHEM, but His desire is for those whose way is wholehearted. 21 *[From] hand to hand — evil will not be exonerated, but the offspring of the righteous will escape.  22 *[Like] a golden ring in the snout of a pig, [so] is a beautiful woman whose good sense has departed.  23 The lust of the righteous is only for good; the hope of the wicked is wrath. 24 *There is one who scatters and gathers more, and one who refrains from what is proper, only for a loss.  25 The soul that blesses will grow fat, and one who sates [others] will himself be sated. 26 One who withholds produce will be cursed by the nation, but blessing will be on the head of the provider. 27 He who seeks good [for others] seeks [God's] favor, but he who searches out evil [for others], it will come upon him. 28 He who trusts in his wealth — he will fall, 11:26. Spiritual produce, as well as field crops (Rashi; Ralbag).

11:30. A wise man who teaches others gets credit for their good deeds, as if he had acquired the people he taught (Rashi).

12:6. The wicked conspire to testify falsely, but upright people will act to save the intended victim (Rashi).

12:9. A person should hold himself in low esteem and do even menial work, rather than hold himself high and go hungry (Vilna Gaon).

12:10. Divine law teaches one to be mindful even of the animals that depend on him. But one whose pity derives from his own inclination can just as easily become cruel as compassionate, depending on the mood or the current set of values (R' Hirsch).

12:12. The wicked crave the spoils of those who rob others, but the righteous are content with whatever they produce honestly, on their own (Rashi).

12:13. Slander, falsehood, offensive language, gossip, ridicule, etc.

12:16. A fool does not have the sense or self-control to rein in his anger; he reacts quickly and vociferously.

12:23. A wise person conceals knowledge until the proper time to reveal it, but a fool says whatever foolishness enters his mind (Ibn Nachmias).

12:25. A person who trusts in God should not worry about things that are not in his power to change. Rather he should dwell on good things that will gladden him.

12:26. Though the righteous suffer hardships and the wicked prosper, one should recognize the superiority of the former (Meiri).

but the righteous will sprout like foliage. [29] One who troubles his household will inherit wind, and the foolish one will become a servant of the wise of heart. [30] The fruit of a righteous one is a tree of life, and a wise man acquires souls. * [31] If a righteous person is punished on earth, surely a wicked one and a sinner.

12 [1] One who loves knowledge loves discipline, but he who hates rebuke is a boor. [2] A good man draws forth favor from HASHEM, but a scheming man causes wickedness. [3] A man will not become established through wickedness, but the root of the righteous will not falter. [4] An accomplished woman is the crown of her husband, but a shameful one is like rot in his bones. [5] The thoughts of the righteous are just, but the schemes of the wicked are deceit. [6] The words of the wicked lie in ambush for blood, but the mouth of the upright will rescue them. * [7] The wicked are overturned and are no more, but the house of the righteous will endure. [8] According to a man's wisdom will he be praised, but the distorted of heart will be put to shame. [9] Better off is the lowly one who serves for his keep than the pompous one who lacks bread. * [10] The righteous one knows [the needs of] his animal's soul, but the mercies of the wicked are cruel. * [11] He who works his soil will be sated with bread, but he who pursues vanities lacks an [understanding] heart. [12] A wicked person craves spoils of evildoers, but the root of the righteous will provide for them. * [13] *In the sin of the lips lies a snare of evil, but a righteous person escapes travail. [14] From the fruit of a man's mouth he will be sated with good, for the recompense of a man's handiwork will be returned to him! [15] The way of the foolish one is upright in his eyes, but the wise man heeds counsel. [16] The foolish one's anger will become known on that very day, * but a clever man conceals his shame. [17] One who [always] spouts the truth will give righteous testimony, but a witness saying falsehoods [personifies] deceit. [18] There is one who speaks [harshly] like piercings of a sword, but the tongue of the wise heals. [19] True speech is established forever, but a false tongue is only for a moment. [20] Deceit lurks in the heart of those who plot evil, but for those who counsel peace there is gladness. [21] There will not befall a righteous man any iniquity, but the wicked are filled with evil. [22] False lips are an abomination to HASHEM, but those who act in faith are His desire. [23] A clever person conceals knowledge, but the heart of fools proclaims foolishness. * [24] The hand of the diligent will rule, but deceit will melt. [25] When there is worry in a man's heart, he should suppress it, let a good thing convert it to gladness. * [26] A righteous one has an advantage over his fellow, but the [successful] way of the wicked leads them astray. * [27] A deceitful person will not get to roast his catch, but the wealth of the diligent person is precious. [28] In the pathway of charity there is life; in the pathway it leads there is no death.

13 [1] A wise son [desires] a father's discipline, but a scoffer has not heard chastisement. [2] From the fruits of man's speech he will eat good [reward], * but the soul of the faithless [will eat] violence. [3] One who guards his mouth protects his soul; [but] one who opens wide his lips, that is his ruin. [4] The soul of the sluggard lusts and has nothing, but the soul of the diligent will be fattened. [5] A righteous person despises a false matter, but a wicked person sullies and insults. * [6] Charity will guard he who is upright of way, but evil will corrupt the sinner.

13:2. If someone's words are kind, he will enjoy a good and peaceful life (Yalkut Shimoni).

13:5. A wicked person accepts every slander and uses it against his innocent victim.

13:7. Both of these courses should be avoided. If a person feigns wealth he will impoverish himself by incurring needless expenses. If he feigns poverty, he will not fulfill his charitable obligations (Meiri).

13:8. A person's generous charities can atone for his sins, but only if he does not rebuke or insult the poor when he gives to them (Rashi).

13:11. Wealth gained dishonestly will not last; but if it is accumulated gradually through hard work, it will grow (Ibn Ezra).

13:15. Traitors are too set in their ways to respond to the arguments of reasonable people (Ibn Ezra).

13:17. Someone who becomes the agent of evil people will himself be dragged down, but one who serves the righteous will be a source of goodness (Ralbag).

13:19. Fools detest the very idea that they should give up their wickedness.

13:20. One who walks with the wise is compared to someone who enters a perfumery; the pleasant scent will linger on his clothing. Likewise one who associates with the wicked is like one who enters a tannery; the foul odor will accompany him all day (Yalkut Shimoni).

13:21. A person's own deeds will pursue him: The sinners will be pursued by their evil; the righteous by their good (Rashi; Metzudos).

13:23. Poor laborers work hard for the landowners who enjoy the fruits of their workers' efforts, but if the rich do not provide for the poor, their wealth will be swept away (Yalkut HaMachiri).

13:24. One who truly loves his child disciplines him promptly (Rabbeinu Yonah).

13:25. The righteous feel satisfied with what they have, but the wicked always want more.

7 Some pretend to be rich and have nothing, but others act poor and have great wealth. * 8 A man's wealth may redeem his soul, but only if the poor hear no chastisement. * 9 The light of the righteous will rejoice, but the lamp of the wicked will flicker out. 10 Only by willfulness is strife fomented; but wisdom is with those who take counsel. 11 Wealth gained by vanity will diminish, but that gathered by hand will increase. * 12 A drawn-out hope brings sickness of heart, but desire attained is a tree of life. 13 He who scorns a word will cause himself injury, but he who reveres a commandment will be rewarded. 14 The teaching of the wise man is a source of life, to turn [him] away from the snares of death. 15 Good sense provides grace, but the way of the faithless is hard. * 16 Every clever person acts with knowledge, but the fool broadcasts his foolishness. 17 The agent of a wicked person will fall into evil, but the emissary of the faithful will bring healing. * 18 Poverty and shame befall one who rejects discipline, but he who heeds rebuke will be honored. 19 Lust broken is sweet to the soul, but turning from evil is an abomination to fools. * 20 One who walks with the wise will grow wise, * but the companion of fools will be broken. 21 Evil pursues sinners, but the righteous will be rewarded with good. * 22 A good person will bequeath to grandchildren, but wealth of a sinner is secreted for a righteous person. 23 Much food grows from the furrows of the poor, and substance may be swept away for lack of justice. * 24 One who spares his rod hates his child, but he who loves him disciplines him in his youth. * 25 A righteous person eats to satisfy his soul, but the stomach of the wicked will [always] lack. *

14 1 The wise among women, each builds her house, * but the foolish one tears it down with her hands. 2 One who walks in his uprightness fears HASHEM; the perverse one, his ways shame Him. 3 In the mouth of the foolish one is the staff of pride, but the lips of the wise will guard them. 4 Where there are no oxen, the trough is clean; but many crops come [through] the power of the ox. 5 One who will not deceive is a trustworthy witness, but the spouter of deceptions is a false witness. 6 The scoffer seeks wisdom yet there is none, but wisdom will come easily to the understanding one. 7 Go far away from a man who is a fool, lest you not know the lips of knowledge. 8 The wisdom of the clever is to understand his way; the folly of fools is deceit. 9 *A guilt-offering will interpose for foolish ones, but [HASHEM's] favor is among the upright.* 10 The heart knows its own bitterness, and no stranger will share in its joy. 11 The house of the wicked will be destroyed, but the tent of the just will blossom. 12 There is a way that seems right to a man, but at its end are the ways of death; 13 even in sporting the heart may ache, and the end of gladness may be sorrow. * 14 A wayward heart will be satisfied with its ways, but a good man will take leave of him. 15 A fool believes anything, but a clever person understands it correctly. 16 A wise man fears and turns away from evil, but a fool becomes enraged and is confident. * 17 A short-tempered person acts foolishly, and a person who designs [evil] is hated. 18 Fools have inherited folly, but the clever are crowned with knowledge.

14:1. The wise woman is industrious and her power proves itself in private, communal and public life. Through her wisdom she knows what to avoid, what is destructive to her home (R' Hirsch).

14:13. Innocent sporting may seem enjoyable, but it will be punished if it prevents productive activity (Ralbag).

14:16-18. Careful scrutiny and meticulous self-evaluation are characteristic of the righteous. Impulsive actions and superficiality are the mark of fools.

14:25. If an honest witness testifies against a murderer, he prevents him from killing other people; if he testifies for the defense, he saves the defendant. A liar saves only the guilty party (Metzudos).

14:26-27. Fear of God is a life-giving spring, for it keeps one from sinning and falling into death's snares (Ibn Ezra).

14:32. One who always puts his trust in God will receive the reward of the righteous in the World to Come (Rashi).

14:33. Wise men keep their virtues private, but fools rush to publicize whatever little bit of wisdom they may possess (Rashi).

14:34. Regimes that rob from one group in order to dispense "kindness" to others (Rashi).

15:6. It is fortified with the merit of the owner's righteousness, and with the Divine Providence that rests upon this righteous individual (Ralbag).

15:7. Fools do not spread wisdom (Ibn Ezra).

19 Evildoers will grovel before good people, and the wicked at the gates of a righteous one. 20 A poor person will be hated even by his companion, but the lovers of the rich [will be] many. 21 He who shames his friend is a sinner, but praiseworthy is one who is gracious to the humble. 22 Have the plotters of evil not gone astray? But those who plan goodness [will reap] kindness and truth. 23 In all toil there will be gain, but talk of the lips brings only loss. 24 The crown of the wise is their wealth; but the foolishness of fools is but foolishness. 25 *A true witness saves lives, but a spouter of deceptions [saves only a man of] deceit. 26 In fear of HASHEM is a powerful stronghold, and for his children it will be a shelter; 27 *fear of HASHEM is the source of life, to turn one away from the snares of death. 28 A multitude of people is a king's glory, but without a regime, rulership is broken. 29 Slowness to anger [shows] much understanding, but a short-spirited person elevates foolishness. 30 A tender heart [brings] healing of the flesh, but envy [brings] rotting of the bones. 31 One who robs the poor man disgraces his Maker, but he who is gracious to the destitute honors Him. 32 *In his trouble the wicked one is cast off [from God], but he who takes shelter [in Him] remains righteous in death. 33 *Wisdom will reside in an understanding heart, but within fools it will be publicized. 34 Charity will uplift a nation, but the kindness of regimes is a sin.* 35 The favor of the king will be upon the wise servant, but his wrath will be [upon] the shameful one.

15:25. Divine Providence levels the edifices of those whose proud fortunes have misled them. But He establishes a humble, forsaken widow in a position of self-sufficient independence (R' Hirsch).

15:26. God abhors those who clothe evil ideas in mellow language (Metzudos).

15:28. Righteousness requires deliberation before deciding whether to speak and what to say. But the wicked spout slander and heresy without any control (Malbim).

15:30. The eyes are enlightened when doubts are resolved.

15:33. Fear of God will lead a person to accept chastisement wisely, and thus live honorably (Ralbag).

16:1. Man has ideas, but God gives speech, which will either cause him to stumble with his words or speak eloquently (Rashi).

16:5. See 11:21 above.

16:9. When a righteous person plans his way, God will help him, for "One who comes to purify is assisted from on High" (Shabbos 104a).

16:11. Just as each item weighed on a balance scale offsets a different combination of weights, depending on its mass, so God deals with everyone individually, depending on their deeds (Rashi).

16:20. If one's analysis of a subject shows that performance of a particular commandment may involve danger or financial loss, yet he trusts in God and does it, he is but He upholds the boundary of a widow. * [26] The abomination of HASHEM is thoughts of evil; words of pleasantness should be pure. * [27] One who gains through greed sullies his home, but one who hates gifts will live. [28] The heart of a righteous person will consider what to answer, but the mouth of the wicked will spout evil. * [29] HASHEM is far from the wicked, but He hears the prayer of the righteous. [30] *Enlightened eyes will gladden the heart; good news will fatten a bone. [31] The ear that hears life-giving reproof will abide in the midst of the wise. [32] He who negates discipline despises his soul, but one who listens to reproof acquires [an understanding] heart. [33] Fear of HASHEM is the discipline of wisdom, * and humility precedes honor.

16 [1] To man belongs the arrangements of [thoughts in] his heart, but from HASHEM comes the tongue's reply. * [2] All of man's ways are pure in his own eyes, but HASHEM is in the midst of spirits. [3] Turn your deeds towards HASHEM and your thoughts will be set aright. [4] Everything HASHEM made [He made] for His sake, even the evildoer for the day of retribution. [5] Every haughty heart is the abomination of HASHEM, [from] hand to hand — he will not be exonerated. * [6] Through kindness and truth iniquity will be forgiven, if through fear of HASHEM one turns from evil. [7] When HASHEM favors a man's ways, even his foes will make peace with him. [8] Better a little through righteousness than much produce without justice. [9] A man's heart will plot his way, and HASHEM will set his steps aright. * [10] There is a charm on the lips of a king; in judgment his mouth will not deceive. [11] A scale and just balances are HASHEM's; His deeds are like weights in a pouch. * [12] To do evil is an abomination for kings, for a throne is established through righteousness. [13] The desire of kings is righteous lips, and he will love one who speaks upright [words]. [14] The king's wrath is [like] angels of death, but a wise man will appease it. [15] In the light of the king's countenance is life, and his favor is like a rain cloud. [16] How much better than fine gold is the acquisition of wisdom, and the acquisition of understanding is choicer than silver! [17] The paved road of the upright is turning from evil; one who keeps his way guards his soul. [18] Pride precedes destruction, and arrogance comes before failure. [19] Better [to be] lowly of spirit with the humble than [to be] sharing spoils with the proud. [20] One who undertakes a matter intelligently will find good [success]; and praiseworthy is he who trusts in HASHEM. * [21] The wise of heart will be called an understanding person, and one whose speech is sweet will gain learning. * [22] Intelligence is a source of life to its possessor, but the discipline of foolish ones foolishness. * [23] The heart of a wise man places intelligence into his mouth, and increases learning on his lips. [24] Words of pleasantness are a honeycomb, sweet to the soul and healing to the bone. [25] There is a way that seems right to man, but at its end are the ways of death. [26] The working spirit works for itself, when its mouth humbles itself to it. * [27] The lawless man digs up evil, as if a fire burns on his lip. [28] A duplicitous man incites strife, and a complainer estranges a ruler. [29] The man of violence entices his companion and leads him in a way that is not good. [30] One who shuts his eyes to think of duplicity [and] signals with his lips has consummated evil. * [31] The crown of praiseworthy (Rashi).

16:21. There is a progression: The wise student will gain understanding (Metzudos); and the teacher who makes his words appealing to his students will himself grow in learning (Rashi).

16:22. It is folly to chastise fools.

16:26. When a mouth forgoes its desire for food and goads the spirit to labor in pursuit of knowledge, benefits accrue to the person (Ralbag).

16:30. He closes his eyes to concentrate on his evil designs and then signals to his co-conspirators, thus carrying out his plan (Metzudos).

16:33. While people cast lots, customarily putting the lots in their laps for privacy, God has already decided the outcome (Ralbag).

17:1. Worldly success may be an illusion. A pauper with a tranquil home is more fortunate than a magnate whose home is filled with strife (Malbim).

17:2. A shameful son of his master.

17:3. With the proper tools, anyone can test the purity of precious metals, but only God can examine a person's heart (Ralbag).

17:5. One who rejoices in someone else's misfortune will suffer misfortune himself.

17:8. Just as a precious stone gains favor for its wearer, someone who bribes a judge expects to succeed in whatever he does (Ibn Ezra).

17:9. A victim of an offense who chooses to ignore it wins love, but if he keeps complaining about it, the result will be ill will and alienation of important people (Ralbag).

17:12. A raging fool can be more dangerous than a furious animal. A steel blade may penetrate a bear's fur, but a conceited fool's heart is armored against truth and sensible arguments (R' Hirsch).

17:14. Whoever commences a quarrel is like one who opens a hole in a dam. Just as the opening becomes progressively wider, so a quarrel escalates (Rashi).

17:16. A fool may have money in hand to hire a teacher, but it will be of no avail if he lacks will and an appreciation of the importance of knowledge.

17:17. A brother may not always show his love, but he can be counted on in times of adversity.

splendor is old age; it will be found in the path of righteousness. [32] He who is slow to anger is better than a strong man, and a master of his passions [is better] than a conqueror of a city. [33] [When] the lot is cast in the lap, its entire judgment has been decided by HASHEM. *

17 [1] Better a dry piece of bread with peace in it than a house full of contentious celebrations. * [2] An intelligent servant will rule over a shameful son, * and will share the inheritance among the brothers. [3] A refining pot is for silver and a crucible for gold, but HASHEM tests hearts. * [4] An evildoer is attentive to iniquitous speech; a false person listens to a destructive tongue. [5] One who mocks a pauper insults his Maker; one who rejoices in [another's] misfortune will not be exonerated. * [6] The crown of elders is grandchildren, and the glory of children is their parents. [7] Lofty speech is unbecoming in a degraded person; and surely lying speech in a noble person. [8] To its giver, a bribe is like a charming gem; wherever he turns he will succeed. * [9] One who covers an offense seeks love; but one who harps on the matter alienates a ruler [from himself]. * [10] Chastisement frightens an understanding one more than smiting a fool a hundred times. [11] The rebellious one seeks only evil, and a cruel emissary will be sent against him. [12] Better for a man to be confronted by a bear bereft of its whelps than by a fool in his foolishness. * [13] [If] one repays good with evil, evil will not depart from his house. [14] The beginning of a quarrel is like releasing water; * before the argument is revealed, abandon it! [15] Justifying an evildoer and condemning a righteous person, both are abominations of HASHEM. [16] Why is there money in the hand of a fool to purchase wisdom, though he has not an [understanding] heart? * [17] A friend's love is for all times, and a brother is born for [times of] affliction. * [18] A man who lacks [an understanding] heart will give his handshake to be a co-signer for his friend. [19] One who loves betrayal loves contention; one who opens his mouth arrogantly is asking to be broken. [20] The perverse of heart will not find good, and one duplicitous in his tongue will fall into evil. [21] One who begets a fool has done so to his sorrow, and the father of a degraded one will not rejoice. [22] A glad heart is as beneficial as a cure, but a broken spirit will desiccate the bone. [23] An evildoer will take a bribe from the lap [of the giver], to pervert the paths of justice. [24] Wisdom lies before an understanding person, but a fool's eyes are in the ends of the earth. * [25] The foolish son is an annoyance to his father and a rebellion to the one who bore him. [26] One who is not good will punish even the righteous, and will smite generous people for integrity. [27] One who is sparing with his words knows knowledge, and a man of understanding speaks sparingly. [28] Even a fool will be considered wise if he is silent; when he seals his lips [he will be considered] understanding.

18 [1] One who removes himself to court lust will be exposed in every Torah conclave. * [2] The fool does not desire understanding, except when his essence is revealed. * [3] With the arrival of an evildoer, scorn arrives; and with [a man of] disgrace, there comes insult. [4] The words of man's mouth are deep waters; the source of wisdom is like a flowing stream. [5] To show favor to an evildoer is not good, it turns astray the judgment of a righteous person. [6] The lips of the fool

17:24. A wise man learns from every situation, but a fool always imagines success is somewhere out of reach.

18:1. A Torah scholar who leaves the group to pursue his passions will be disgraced among those who overcame such desire (Rashi).

18:2. Only when he is shown up publicly as a fool does he wish he were a wise man, but then he reverts to his former way of life (Ralbag).

18:8. A habitually irascible complainer offends his adversary with insults that penetrate into the depths of his being. Instead of protecting himself, he destroys the other (Yalkut HaMachiri).

18:10. One who trusts in God rejects the lure of enticement and gains tremendous strength and protection (Rabbeinu Bachya).

18:11. A rich man's wealth gives him a sense of security, which he can rely on in time of crisis.

18:15. Understanding will enable someone to derive more knowledge on his own, but someone who lacks such understanding must rely on the wisdom he gathers from others (Ralbag).

18:19. Though brothers quarrel bitterly, their underlying loyalty is such that when one is in danger the other will spring to his defense (Ralbag).

18:23. But even though a wealthy person may answer impudently, the poor one should speak with supplications. The same applies to teacher and pupil (Rashi).

18:24. At times friends become more deeply attached than brothers, because friendship is founded on choice; the hearts and minds of friends have come to know and esteem one another (R' Hirsch).

19:6. When someone becomes known for giving to the poor, even great people seek his friendship and assistance (Ibn Ezra).

19:10. Being cleverer than their foolish masters, servants may exploit their folly so well as to become indispensable to them and to completely dominate them (R' Hirsch).

19:13. A contentious wife's quarrels drive her husband from the house, while the foolish son does not (Ibn Ezra; see also 27:15-16 below).

19:19. A person with an uncontrollable temper can only come to grief, for even if someone restrains him, his anger will only intensify.

19:22. People seek the friendship of someone who promises generosity, but it is better to be poor and promise nothing than to be rich and promise falsely.

19:26. A misbehaving child makes his father feel destitute and his mother feel homeless.

19:28. He will swallow his words so that his deception will go unnoticed (Metzudos).

20:1. A small quantity of wine is beneficial, but excess is harmful (Vilna Gaon).

20:10. See Deuteronomy 25:13-16.

20:18. Even the wisest person needs counsel, for others are more objective and can better advise him (Meiri).

20:20. Generally, "A commandment is a lamp, and the Torah is light" (also 6:23), and the merit of one's mitzvah observance will illuminate one's way through difficult times. However, if one desecrates the very commandment that has warranted this merit, the merit will flicker and die like a lamp in the deepest, darkest part of a tunnel. For example, a person who curses his parents will lose the merits he has earned by honoring and serving them on previous occasions (Rabbeinu Yonah).

20:23. See Deuteronomy 25:13-16.

20 *Hear counsel and accept discipline in order that you grow wise in your later days. 21 Many designs are in a man's heart, but the counsel of HASHEM, only it will prevail. 22 Longing for a person is for his kindness, but a pauper is better than a [rich] man who deceives. * 23 The fear of HASHEM brings life; such a person will rest sated and not be remembered for evil. 24 The lazy one buries his hand in the dish; he will not even return it to his mouth. 25 Strike the scoffer and the simpleton grows clever; chastise an understanding person and he will understand [even more] knowledge. 26 He despoils his father and drives out his mother — the son who shames and humiliates. * 27 To obey discipline, my son, is to cease to stray from words of knowledge. 28 The lawless witness will mock judgment, and the mouth of the wicked will swallow [his words of] iniquity. * 29 Judgments are readied for the scoffers, and blows for the backs of fools.*

20 1 *Wine makes a scoffer; strong drink makes one cry out; and whoever errs after it will not grow wise. * 2 Like the roar of a young lion, so is the terror of a king; one who angers him forfeits his soul. 3 Abstention from quarrel is a man's honor, but every foolish one reveals himself [in it]. 4 Because of the winter [cold] a sluggard will not plow; he will desire [a crop] at harvest time, but it will not be there. 5 Counsel is like deep water in the heart of man; and the man of understanding will draw them forth. 6 Among most people, each man proclaims his kindness; but who can find an honest man? 7 One who walks in his innocence is a righteous man; fortunate are his sons after him. 8 When the king sits on the seat of judgment, he scatters all who are evil in his eyes. 9 Who can say, "I have cleansed my heart. I have purified myself from my sin"? 10 A weight and a weight, a measure and a measure, * both of them are an abomination of HASHEM. 11 Even a youth can be recognized by his deeds, whether his acts are pure or just. 12 A hearing ear and a seeing eye, HASHEM made both of them. 13 Do not love sleep lest you become impoverished; open your eyes, [then] you will be sated with food. 14 "Bad, bad," the buyer says, but when he goes his way, then he boasts. 15 There is gold and many pearls, but lips of wisdom are a precious vessel. 16 Take the garment of one who co-signs for a stranger, or offers collateral for an alien woman. 17 The bread of falsehood is sweet to man; but afterwards his mouth will be filled with gravel. 18 Thoughts conceived in counsel will be firm; * wage war with strategies. 19 With a revealer of secrets, a bearer of tales, or a simpleton of lips, do not mingle. 20 One who curses his father or mother, his light [soul] will flicker out in the deepening darkness. * 21 If an inheritance is seized hastily in the beginning, its end will not be blessed. 22 Do not say, "I will pay retribution for evil!" Hope to HASHEM and He will help you. 23 Having one weight and a [different] weight is an abomination of HASHEM, * and scales of deceit are not good. 24 A man's steps are from HASHEM; but what does a man understand of his way? 25 A man's stumbling [in sin] undermines [his] sanctity, and his remedy is to seek vows [of atonement]. 26 A wise king scatters the wicked and turns the wheel [measure for measure] upon them. 27 A man's soul is the lamp of HASHEM, which searches the chambers of one's innards. * 28 Kindness and truth protect a king; he sustains his throne in kindness. 29 The splendor of youth is their strength, and the glory of the old is their hoariness. 30 Bruises and wounds purge evil, as do blows to the chambers of one's innards. **

20:27. By means of the soul, God searches man's innermost thoughts and scrutinizes him (Rabbeinu Yonah).

20:30. Afflictions can force a person to reconsider and desist from his evil ways.

21:1. Because a king's choices affect so many people, God may intervene to direct them, as a farmer might direct the flow of a stream to irrigate his fields.

21:2. Since it is natural for one to justify his traits and deeds, God may intervene to inspire people to rectify their mistakes (Rabbeinu Yonah).

21:10. An evildoer desires only evil and is never concerned with his companions unless he can benefit from them (Rabbeinu Yonah).

21:12. God brings general blessing in the merit of the righteous, but wicked people misinterpret it as justification for their way of life (Metzudos).

21:14. One who seeks out the poor and helps them secretly will be saved from God's anger, even if a decree has been cast against him (Sfas Emes).

21:18. A righteous man is rescued and a wicked man comes in his stead, such as with Mordechai and Haman (Rashi).

21:20. Wise people store their provisions to use as needed, but foolish people squander them wastefully (Ralbag).

21:22. Wisdom overcame strength, and righteousness became the protector of the city.

21:25-26. A lazy one has only desire, but no accomplishment. A righteous man, however, accomplishes for himself and teaches others, as well (Vilna Gaon).

21:29. A wicked man shows his brazenness when he is angry, without shame, but the just person controls his behavior.

21:30. Nothing avails to nullify God's will (Rabbeinu Bachya).

21 [1] Like streams of water is the heart of a king in the hand of HASHEM, wherever He wishes, so He directs it. * [2] A man's every way is upright in his eyes; but HASHEM resides inside his heart. * [3] Doing what is right and just is preferable to HASHEM than an offering. [4] Haughty eyes and a proud heart are the plotting of the wicked, a sin. [5] The thoughts of the zealous are purely beneficial, but all hastiness is only for loss. [6] The accumulation of treasures through a false tongue is a smitten vapor; they seek death. [7] The robbery of the wicked will cause them to fear, for they refuse to execute justice. [8] The way of a man is [sometimes] inconsistent and strange, but a pure one's every deed is upright. [9] Better to dwell on a corner of a roof than [to dwell with] a contentious wife in a house of friends. [10] The soul of the evildoer desires evil; his companion [in evil] will not find favor in his eyes. * [11] When the scoffer is punished, the simpleton gains wisdom; and when the wise one receives instruction, he gains knowledge. [12] A righteous person brings success to the house of the evildoer, which corrupts the wicked toward evil. * [13] One who shuts his ear to the cry of the pauper, he too will call out and not be answered. [14] An anonymous gift will cover up anger, and a bribe in the bosom [will appease] strong wrath. * [15] Performance of justice is a joy to the righteous, and destruction to workers of iniquity. [16] A person who wanders from the intelligent way will rest in the congregation of the dead. [17] The lover of pleasure will be a man who lacks; the lover of wine and oil will not grow rich. [18] The evildoer will be an atonement for the righteous one, and the faithless one for the upright. * [19] Better to dwell in a wasteland than [with] a woman of contention and anger. [20] A desirable treasure and oil endures in the abode of the wise, but the fool of a man swallows it up. * [21] One who pursues righteousness and kindness will find life, righteousness, and honor. [22] The wise one went up to the city of the strong, and brought down the strength of its trust. * [23] One who guards his mouth and his tongue guards his soul from troubles. [24] The boastful, willful man, scoffer is his name; the arrogant evildoer, he is a willful man. [25] The lust of the sluggard will kill him; for his hands refuse to work. [26] All day long he will court lust, and the righteous one will give to him and not hold back. * [27] The offering of the wicked is an abomination; and surely when they bring it with [impure] design. [28] The testimony of falsehoods will be lost, but the man who hears it will speak of it eternally. [29] A wicked person shows his audacity on his face, but the upright one considers his way. * [30] There is neither wisdom nor understanding nor counsel against HASHEM. * [31] The horse is readied for the day of battle, but salvation is HASHEM's.

22 [1] A [good] name is preferred to wealth, and goodly favor than silver and gold. [2] The rich man and the pauper meet; HASHEM is the Maker of them all. * [3] A clever person sees evil and hides, but simpletons pass on and are punished. [4] The result of humility is fear of HASHEM, wealth, honor, and life. * [5] Thorns and snares are in the path of the perverse; he who guards his soul will distance himself from them. [6] Train the youth according to his way; even when he grows old, he will not swerve from it. * [7] A rich man dominates paupers, * 22:2. Having lauded a good name over wealth, Solomon explains that the rich are not to be praised for their wealth and the poor are not to be condemned for their poverty. Their circumstances were decreed by God, and He can make them converge or even reverse their positions, for He made them all (Rashi; Metzudos).

22:4. Recognition of his own insignificance leads a person to humility and fear of God. In turn, God will reward him with success.

22:6. The effect of a proper upbringing is lifelong, but in raising a child, parents and teachers must take careful account of his ability and personality.

22:7. The unlearned are indebted to the wise person who teaches and guides them (Rashi).

22:8. The power he amassed by his injustice will be destroyed by God's wrath (Ibn Ezra).

22:9. A good eye refers to someone who not only gives, but does so willingly and without resentment; he enjoys helping others.

22:11. God Himself is the friend of one who loves good people (Rashi).

22:13. He fabricates tales of danger to excuse his failure to act.

22:16. But one who aids the poor fulfills God's will and will receive reward.

22:18. Habitual repetition and recitation enable one to remember what he has learned (Rabbeinu Yonah).

22:20-21. The Torah was not written merely for theoretical knowledge, but to give us a concrete basis upon which to shape our thoughts and feelings (R' Hirsch).

22:22-23. It is particularly heinous to rob or crush the indigent just because they are defenseless (Malbim).

22:25. The trait of anger will no longer be repugnant to you, and you will become accustomed to it.

22:28. This stich is repeated in 23:10 below. Here it refers figuratively to the customs instituted by your ancestors (Yalkut Shimoni); there it is literal.

and a debtor is a servant to the creditor. [8] *One who sows injustice will reap iniquity, and the rod of His fury will destroy it. [9] *One with a good eye will be blessed, for he has given of his bread to the poor. [10] Drive away the scoffer and strife will depart, and judgment and shame will cease. [11] *He who loves purity of heart, [and] whose lips are gracious — the King is his friend. [12] The eyes of HASHEM protect knowledge, and He perverts the words of the faithless one. [13] *A lazy person says, "There is a lion outside; I will be killed in the midst of the streets!" [14] The mouth of heresy is a deep pit; the scorned of HASHEM will fall there. [15] Foolishness is bound in the heart of a youth; the rod of discipline will distance it from him. [16] *He who oppresses the destitute to increase for himself or who makes gifts to the rich, it is only for a loss. [17] Incline your ear and hear the words of the wise; set your heart to My knowledge. [18] *For it is pleasant if you guard them in your innards and establish all of them upon your lips. [19] Let your trust remain with HASHEM*, I have made this known to you today, you also.* [20] *Surely, I have written for you [in the Torah] extremely noble things, with counsel and knowledge, [21] to teach you the veracity of true words, so that you may answer words of truth to those who send word to you. [22] *Do not rob the destitute because he is destitute, and do not oppress the poor man in the gate [of judgment]. [23] For HASHEM will take up their grievance; He will steal the soul of those who would steal from them. [24] Do not befriend an angry man, and do not come [together] with a man of wrath. [25] *Lest you learn his ways and take a snare for your soul. [26] Do not be among those who shake hands, among the guarantors for loans. [27] If you have no money to pay, why should he take your bedding from beneath you? [28] *Do not move back the long-standing boundary marker that your forefathers established. [29] *Have you seen a man with alacrity in his work? 23 [1] *When you sit down to dine with a ruler, know well what lies before you, [2] and put a knife to your throat if you are master of [your] soul. [3] Do not lust for his delicacies, for it is deceitful bread. [4] Do not weary yourself to become rich; forbear from your own understanding. [5] You cast your eyes upon [wealth] and it is gone, for it makes itself wings for itself [and], like an eagle, it soars to the heavens. [6] *Do not eat the bread of the miserly, and do not lust for his delicacies. [7] For as one who fantasizes in his soul, so is he. "Eat and drink," he will tell you, but his heart will not be with you. [8] The loaf you have eaten you will regurgitate, and you will have wasted your pleasant words. [9] Speak not in the ears of a fool, for he will scorn the intelligence of your words. [10] *Do not move back the long-standing boundary marker, and do not enter into orphans' fields, [11] for their Redeemer is strong, and He will take up their grievance against you. [12] Present your heart for discipline and your ears for words of knowledge. [13] Do not withhold discipline from the youth. If you strike him with the rod, he will not die. [14] You should strike him with the rod and you will rescue his soul from the grave. [15] My child, when your heart becomes wise, then my heart, too, will rejoice, 23:1-3. Before dining with an absolute ruler, or anyone with considerable power, one should consider the consequences of incurring the host's displeasure, or the moral harm that can come from being subservient to an unscrupulous person.

23:6-8. The generous host gives unstintingly, but a miser does not. When a guest senses this, the food grows nauseating, and he regrets his pleasantries and compliments (Rav Sa'adiah Gaon).

23:10. See 22:28.

23:17-18. One should envy the person who truly fears God, learn from him and emulate his deeds (Ibn Nachmias). Only this is lasting; wealth and sinful pleasures are ephemeral.

23:20-21. Such excesses lead to spiritual and intellectual impoverishment (Rabbeinu Bachya).

23:23. Hire a teacher, if necessary (Rashi). Buy books of truth and do not sell them (Ibn Ezra).

23:27. Once entrapped in sin, it is hard for one to escape.

23:29-36. Base desires and wine lead to lewdness and quarrel and ultimately affect our behavior, causing us to ridicule and degrade basic values (R' Hirsch).

23:34. Infatuation with sin will make you as dizzy and incoherent as someone seasick from tossing about on a boat or balancing atop a mast.

23:35. When he becomes sober, he is oblivious to the ill-effects that overcame him and he drinks again (Rashi).

24:3-4. After warning against envying the wicked, King Solomon teaches that if one engages in wisdom, understanding, and knowledge, he will achieve tranquility and

16 and my yearnings will exult when your lips speak righteous words. 17 Let your heart not envy sinners, rather those who revere HASHEM all the day. * 18 For it shall endure and your hope will not be cut off. 19 Hear, you my child, and grow wise, and stride in the way of your heart. 20 Do not be among the guzzlers of wine, among the gorgers of meat for themselves. * 21 For the guzzler and the gorger will be poor, and slumber will clothe [you] in tatters. 22 Give ear to your father, who begot you, and though your mother may be old, do not scorn [her]. 23 Purchase truth, do not sell it — wisdom, discipline, and understanding. * 24 The father of a righteous person will be mirthful; one who begets a wise child will rejoice in him. 25 Your father and mother will be glad, and the one who bore you will rejoice. 26 My child, give your heart to me, and your eyes will desire my ways. 27 For the harlot is a deep pit, and the strange woman is a narrow well. * 28 She, too, lurks to snatch and multiplies the faithless among men. 29 *Who cries, "Alas!"? Who cries, "Woe!"? Who is contentious? Who prattles? Who is wounded for naught? Whose eyes are red? 30 Those who linger over wine; those who come to inquire over mixed drinks. 31 Do not look at wine becoming red, for to one who fixes his eyes on the goblet all paths are upright. 32 His end is like that of one bitten by a snake, like one dispatched by a serpent. 33 Your eyes will see strange things and your heart will speak duplicities. 34 And you will be like one who sleeps in the heart of the sea, like one who lies on the top of a mast. * 35 *[In your drunkenness you will say:] "They struck me, but I did not become ill; they beat me, but I was unaware. When will I awaken? I will continue asking for more [wine]!"

24 1 Do not envy men of evil, and do not desire to be with them, 2 for their hearts contemplate spoils and their lips speak mischief. 3 Through wisdom a house is built, and it is established through understanding; 4 and through knowledge, its chambers become filled with all dear and pleasant treasures. * 5 The wise man remains steadfast, and the man of knowledge grows stronger. * 6 For through [wise] strategies, you can wage war for your benefit; and salvation is in abundant counsel. 7 [But] to a foolish one, wisdom is an unattainable gem; he will not open his mouth at the gate. 8 One who thinks of doing evil will be called a master of wicked designs. 9 Foolish designs are a sin, and scoffing makes a man abominable. 10 If you were weak in [another's] day of affliction, your strength will become limited. * 11 If you desist from rescuing those being put to death, and those on the way to be murdered, 12 yet you say, "Surely we did not know this!" But the One Who resides in hearts, He understands; and the Protector of your soul, He knows; and He recompenses a man according to his deeds. * 13 Eat honey, my child, for it is good, and drippings of the honeycomb are sweet on your palate; 14 so is knowledge of wisdom to your soul, if you have found it, for it has a lasting outcome, and your hope will not be cut off. 15 Do not lurk, O wicked one, near the habitation of the righteous one; do not plunder his resting place. 16 For though the righteous one may fall seven times, he will arise, but the wicked ones will stumble through evil. 17 When your foe falls, be not glad, and when he stumbles, let your heart not be joyous, 18 lest HASHEM see and it be displeasing in His eyes, and He turn His anger from him [to you].

24:10. If you are slack in helping others in their time of need, you will grow too weak to help yourself.

24:12. Someone may excuse his apathy saying he was unaware of the other person's need — but God knows the truth, and will deal with him in kind (Malbim).

Chapter 25

With this chapter, the third and final section of Proverbs begins. Its teachings, as indicated by verse 1, were culled and consolidated from various sources left by King Solomon. When Hezekiah became king, he expounded Solomon's proverbs and placed disciples in every city (Sanhedrin 94b). Thus, Ralbag suggests that the previous chapters in their final form were found in Solomon's own writings, but those from Chapter 25 to the end of the Book were gathered by Hezekiah and his men (Bava Basra 15a) and redacted in this collection.

A few of the verses in this section have appeared earlier, either with the identical wording or with minor variations

19 Do not assimilate among evildoers; do not envy the wicked. 20 For there will be no lasting outcome to evil; the light of the wicked will be extinguished. 21 Fear HASHEM, my child, and the king. Do not mix with inconsistent people, * 22 for their disaster will arise suddenly, and who knows the punishment of both?

23 These things, too, are for the wise [to consider]: * Showing favoritism in judgment is not good; 24 one who tells a wicked person, "You are righteous," — the peoples will curse him, the nations will anathemize him. 25 The reprovers should be pleasant, * and a good blessing will come upon them. 26 The lips of one who responds with proper words should be kissed. 27 Prepare your work outside and provide for yourself in the field; then build your house. *

28 Do not offer vain testimony against your fellow, to endear yourself with your lips. * 29 Do not say, "As he has done for me, so will I do for him; I will reward the man according to his acts."

30 I passed by the field of a lazy man, and by the vineyard of a man lacking [an understanding] heart, 31 and, behold, it was all overgrown with thorns; nettles had covered its surface; and its stone wall was broken down. 32 When I saw this, I set my heart [to understand]; I saw and accepted discipline: 33 A little sleep; a little slumber; a little folding of the hands to recline, 34 then, your poverty will come like a traveler, and your lacking like an armed man. *

Rulers should be straightforward and avoid evildoers

1 These, too, are the proverbs of King Solomon, which were copied by the men of Hezekiah, king of Judah. 2 It is the honor of God to conceal a matter; but it is the honor of kings to search out a matter. * 3 The heavens for height, the earth for depth, and the heart of kings cannot be fathomed. 4 When dross is removed from silver, a vessel can emerge for the refiner; 5 when an evildoer is removed from the king, his throne is established in righteousness. 6 Do not glorify yourself in the presence of the king, and do not stand in the place of the great, 7 for it is better that it should be said to you, "Come up here," than that you be demoted before the prince, as your eyes have seen [happen to others]. 8 Do not be quick to enter into strife, unless you know what you will do in the end, when your fellow humiliates you. * 9 Pursue your quarrel with your friend, but do not reveal another's confidence, * 10 lest a listener disgrace you and you be unable to retract your slander. 11 [Like] golden apples carved on silver plates, [so is] a word spoken in its proper place. 12 [Like] a golden nose ring and an ornament of fine gold, [so is] the reproof of the wise upon a heedful ear.

Be careful where you glorify yourself and beware of what you say 13 Like a cooling snow on a harvest day, [so is] a faithful emissary to his sender; he refreshes his master's soul.

Be sincere, but do not make yourself a burden to others

14 [Like] clouds and wind without rain, [so is] one who lauds himself for a false gift. 15 By forbearance a ruler is mollified, and a soft tongue breaks strong anger. 16 When you find honey, eat what is sufficient for you, lest you be satiated and vomit it up. 17 Let your feet be scarce in your fellow's house, lest he be satiated with you and come to hate you. * 18 A maul, a sword, and a sharp arrow

(e.g., 2:19 and 25:24; 19:24 and 26:15; 20:16 and 27:13). However, it is not always clear why they were repeated.

25:2. Regarding the mysteries of the Torah and Creation, many of which are beyond human intelligence, the prophets and Sages spoke indirectly and figuratively, using symbols and metaphors. In matters of state, however, openness and clarity are virtues (Malbim).

25:8. Do not become involved in an argument unless you have thought through how it may end.

25:9-10. If you must litigate, do not divulge confidences, for if you do, even if you regret it, you will be unable to rectify it.

25:16-17. Do not burden even good friends with too many visits; one can become weary of too much of a good thing.

25:18. False testimony is a maul, destroying relationships; a sword, cutting those nearby; and a sharp arrow, even killing those who are far away (Vilna Gaon).

25:20. Something that is beautiful and pleasant at the right time can be totally inappropriate at the wrong time.

25:21-22. If you are good to your enemy, he will be ashamed of his behavior toward you.

25:26. When a righteous person fails to stand up for a principle, he is like a polluted water supply.

26:1. Just as rain and snow are harmful at the wrong time of the year, so honor is harmful to a fool, for it only confirms his attitudes (Malbim).

26:2. Birds always return to their nests; so too, an unjustified curse will rest upon the head of the one who uttered it.

26:4-5. The two verses are in apparent contradiction. The Talmud explains that one should not be drawn into vain arguments with a fool in worldly or inconsequential matters. However, if he disputes or errs regarding the Torah, it is essential that he be corrected (Shabbos 30b).

26:6. A fool will misinterpret his mission and deliver the wrong message; the sender will then weary his feet when he rushes to correct the error and cope with the anger of the misinformed recipient.

26:12. Someone who considers himself a fool is less dangerous than someone with an overblown opinion of himself.

26:13. A lazy person creates excuses not to work (Ibn Ezra).

26:18-19. One practices by throwing firebrands that will be extinguished in midair, so that when he gets the range, he will switch to lethal projectiles.

26:23. Like shining silver camouflaging a cheap utensil are lips overflowing with bogus love, concealing a venomous heart (Rashi).

26:27. God punishes a sinner "measure for measure" (Ibn Nachmias).

26:28. An oppressor is sure of his victims' hatred, but if the victim speaks soothingly, he deflects it (Ralbag).

27:4. Envy is worse that wrath and anger.

27:7. A satisfied person does not pursue wealth, even through "honeyed" means. To the greedy, even sin is sweet, if it brings profits (Ralbag).

27:8. Birds remain home unless they must migrate, so a person should not migrate without good reason (Ralbag).

27:11. When children make their parents proud, they shrug off those who try to shame them.

27:13. As a lender, you are entitled to foreclose on a co-signer, for he knowingly risked his possessions.

27:14. One who ostentatiously blesses someone's generosity is harming his benefactor, because others will try to take advantage of him (Rashi).

27:15-16. The annoyance of a constantly nagging, quarrelsome wife is like a steadily dripping leak: One cannot escape it. Just as it is impossible to hide the wind, or conceal the aroma of a perfumed hand, so is it impossible to hide a spouse's contentious presence (Meiri).

27:19. Kindred hearts find their sentiments, feelings and convictions reflected in one another (R' Hirsch).

27:21. One's character can be seen in the things he considers important enough to praise (Rabbeinu Yonah).

27:23. Pay close attention to your business affairs. Only if you know others well, face to face, can you delegate

. . . it will boomerang

26 [Though] his hatred is covered by darkness, his evil will be revealed in public. 27 He who digs a pit will fall into it, and he who rolls a stone will have it turn back upon him. * 28 A lying tongue hates those it oppresses, but a smooth mouth will turn [the hatred] back. *

27

Do not boast

1 Do not boast about tomorrow, for you know not what a day may bring. 2 Let another praise you, not your own mouth; a stranger, not your own lips. 3 A stone has weight and sand has mass, but the anger of a fool is heavier than both.

Envy is worse than wrath

4 Wrath is cruelty, and anger is torrential, but who can withstand envy? * 5 Open rebuke is good, if it stems from hidden love. 6 Faithful are the wounds inflicted by a lover; but superfluous are the kisses of a foe. 7 The sated soul will trample a honeycomb; but to the hungry soul, all bitter is sweet. * 8 Like a bird wandering from its nest — so is a man who wanders from his place. * 9 Oil and incense gladden the heart, so does the sweetness of one's friend from his sincere counsel.

Loving rebuke is good

Be loyal

10 Do not forsake your friend and the friend of your father. Do not come to your brother's house in the day of your misfortune; a close neighbor is better than a distant brother. 11 Grow wise, my child, and gladden my heart; then I will have an answer for those who humiliate me. * 12 A shrewd person recognizes evil and hides; but simpletons go on and are punished. 13 Take the garment of one who co-signs for a stranger; * or offers collateral for an alien woman. 14 If one blesses his friend loudly from early in the morning, it will be considered a curse to him. *

Good children gladden parents

Excess praise and excess nagging are bad

15 An irksome dripping on a day of [rainy] confinement and a contentious wife are alike. * 16 He who would hide her would hide the wind, as one's right hand proclaims the oil [with which it was anointed]. 17 As iron sharpens iron, so a man sharpens his fellow. 18 The protector of a fig tree will eat its fruit, and the guardian of his master will be honored. 19 As water reflects a face back to a face, so one's heart is reflected back to him by another. * 20 [As] the grave and Gehinnom are not sated, [so] the eyes of man are not sated. 21 A refining pot is for silver and a crucible for gold, and a man according to his praises. *

Friendly competition and diligence are good

A fool refuses to learn

22 If you crush a foolish person in a mortar with softened grain and pound him with a pestle you will not remove his foolishness from him. 23 Know well the faces of your sheep; set your heart to the flocks. * 24 For strength endures not forever. Does the crown [of wealth] last from generation to generation? 25 [Sometimes] grass sprouts and vegetation is seen; but [sometimes] the herbage of the mountains is depleted. 26 Let the lambs be your clothing, and let he-goats be as valuable as a field to you. 27 And let the milk of goats be sufficient for your food, and for the food of your household, and give life to your maidens.

Tend to your business and prepare for the future

28

Injustice has far-reaching consequences

1 The wicked flee though none pursue, but the righteous are confident as a young lion. 2 Through the perfidy of the land its officers increase, but through an understanding, knowing man, it will prolong [its days]. 3 A pauper who robs the destitute is like a torrential rain, which leaves no food. * 4 Those who forsake the Torah praise the wicked, * but the keepers of Torah contend with them. 5 Men of evil will not discern [the inevitable] judgment, but those who seek HASHEM will understand all.

Better naivete than perversion

6 Better a poor man who walks in his innocence than a rich man who perverts [his] ways. 7 One who preserves the Torah is an understanding son, responsibility to them (Malbim).

27:25-27. Prepare your land and tend your livestock; they can provide clothing and nutrition if the crops fail (Yalkut HaMachiri).

28:3. The judge whose decisions are inappropriate and impoverish the wrong party destroys justice in the same way as a torrential downpour floods a field and destroys whatever crops would have grown there (Ralbag).

28:4. He who once learned but has abandoned his learning is the worst one of all (Pesachim 49).

28:8. God will transfer his wrongful profits to generous people (Ibn Ezra).

28:14. One fearful of real danger devises precautions to protect himself, but the overconfident suffers misfortune.

28:22. Greedy people think that if they give charity to the poor, it will diminish their fortune (Ralbag).

28:23. An intelligent person eventually realizes that the one who corrects his faults sincerely is his true friend.

28:24. By rationalizing that he will inherit the money anyway, such a thief habituates dishonesty and his theft will almost certainly escalate to steal from others (Ralbag).

29:4. A king who demands a share of all transactions for himself will destroy his country's economy.

29:6. Glad that he did not follow the ways of the wicked.

29:11. After a fool displays his anger loudly and disruptively, a wise man replies with wisdom and discretion.

29:12. When a ruler is eager to hear gossip, all his servants vie for his favor with scandalous stories.

Dishonest profits will be lost but the companion of swillers humiliates his father. 8 *One who multiplies his wealth through interest and increase gathers it for the patron of the poor. 9 If one turns aside his ear from hearing the Torah, his prayer, too, will be [considered] an abomination. 10 One who causes the upright to stray on an evil way will fall into his own pit, but the innocent will inherit goodness. 11 A rich man is wise in his own eyes, but a destitute person with understanding can search out more. 12 When the righteous exult, there is much splendor, but when the wicked rise, victims are sought. 13 One who conceals his sins will not succeed, but he who confesses and forsakes them will be granted mercy. 14 *Praiseworthy is the man who always fears, but he who is stubborn of heart will fall into misfortune. 15 [Like] a roaring lion and a growling bear, [so is] a wicked ruler over a destitute people.

Innocence, understanding and honesty are keys to success

Rulers must not be greedy

16 A prince who lacks understanding will increase plunder, but one who hates spoil will prolong [his] days.

Evildoers will pay; good people will succeed

17 A man guilty of bloodshed will flee until the grave; no one will support him. 18 One who walks in innocence will be saved, but one who perverts his ways will fall in one [of the ways]. 19 One who works his land will be sated with bread, but one who chases vain pursuits will be sated with poverty. 20 A man of integrity will increase blessings, but one impatient to be rich will not be exonerated. 21 To show favoritism in judgment is not good; for a loaf of bread [as a bribe] man will have become a sinner. 22 One overeager for wealth has an evil eye; he does not know that want may befall him.* 23 *One who reproves a person will later find favor, more than one with a flattering tongue. 24 *He who steals from his father and mother and says there is no sin, he is a companion to a destructive person. 25 A greedy person stirs up strife, but one who trusts HASHEM will have abundance. 26 One who trusts his heart is a fool, but one who walks with wisdom will escape. 27 One who gives to a pauper will not lack, but one who averts his eyes will suffer many curses. 28 When the wicked rise, men hide; but when they perish, the righteous increase.

Greed brings destruction

Generosity is rewarded; wickedness is hated

29 1 A man deserving rebukes stiffens his neck, he will be broken suddenly, with none to heal him. 2 When the righteous are ascendant, the people will be glad; but in the rule of the wicked, the people will groan. 3 A man who loves wisdom gladdens his father, but the companion of harlots will lose a fortune. 4 *Through justice a king establishes a land, but a man of graft tears it down. 5 One who deceives his fellow through flattery is spreading a net for his own footsteps. 6 *The offense of a wicked person is a snare, but a righteous person will sing and be glad. 7 A righteous person knows the oppression of the poor, [but] an evil person will not understand such knowledge. 8 Scoffing men will inflame a city, but the wise will turn back anger. 9 When a wise man contends with a foolish one, [the wise man] may rage or laugh, but will have no satisfaction. 10 Bloody men hate an innocent person, but the upright seek [to cleave to] his soul. 11 *The fool vents all his anger, but the wise man comes afterwards and assuages it. 12 *If a ruler hearkens to falsehood, all his servants are wicked. 13 The poor man and the broken man have had [their fate] ordained, but HASHEM will enlighten the eyes of both. 14 If a king judges the destitute honestly, his throne will be established forever. 15 The rod and rebuke provide wisdom, but a self-indulgent youth brings shame to his mother. 16 When wicked people increase, offense increases, but the righteous will see their downfall. 17 Discipline your son and he will give you peace, and he will give pleasures to your soul.

Stubborn people do not improve

Dishonest rulers ruin their country

Good and wise people are incomparably better for the world

Discipline is an investment in happiness

The Torah is the best restraint

18 When there is no prophecy the people become unrestrained, but one who keeps the Torah is praiseworthy. 19 With words the servant will not be disciplined;

29:24. When the court imposes an oath on a witness to tell what he knows, the thief's accomplice will violate it by refusing to testify, and thereby be punished (Ralbag).

30:1. Most commentators interpret the names in this verse as poetic references to Solomon:

These are the words of אָגוּר, the "collector" of understanding, בִּן־יָקֶה, who "spewed out," הַמַּשָּׂא, "the prophecy." This man said: Because אִיתִיאֵל, "God is with me," וְאֻכָל, "I am capable."

30:2-4. Solomon realized that he should not consider himself greater than Moses: Moses ascended to heaven to receive the Torah and bring it down to earth for Israel (Exodus 19:3,20-25; 24:12-18, 31:18, 32:15-16; 34:1-4; Deuteronomy 9:7ff); Moses controlled the winds (Exodus 10:13, 18-19; 14-20); Moses restricted the waters of the sea (Exodus 14:15ff); Moses erected the Tabernacle (Exodus 40:17-18), and, as the Talmud (Megillah 31a) explains, "If not for the service [of the Tabernacle and Torah] the foundations of heaven and earth would not have been established" (Rashi).

30:10-14. Do not slander even the extremely evil.

30:15-16. Gan Eden (Paradise) never ceases saying,

Impetuosity, injudicious kindness, anger and dishonesty are a cancer though he understands, there is no response. 20 Have you seen a man who is hasty in his affairs? There is more hope for the fool than for him. 21 If one indulges his servant from youth, he will end up being ruled by him. 22 A man of anger will incite strife, and a man of wrath is full of offense. 23 A man's pride will bring him low, but a lowly spirit will support [his] honor. 24 *He who shares with a thief hates his own soul; he will hear an oath but will not testify. 25 Fear of man will add a snare, but one who trusts in HASHEM will be encouraged. 26 Many solicit a ruler's favor, but a man's judgment is from HASHEM. 27 A man of iniquity is the abomination of the righteous, and one who walks an upright path is the abomination of the wicked.

Fear God, not people

30 1 *These are the words of Agur son of Jakeh, the prophecy, the words of this man to Ithiel, to Ithiel and Ucal: 2 *Surely I am a boor of a man and do not have human understanding. 3 I have not learned wisdom, nor known sacred knowledge. 4 Who [but Moses] ascended to heaven and descended? Who else gathered the wind in his palm? Who else tied the waters in a cloak? Who established all the ends of the earth? What is his name, and what is his son's name, if you know? 5 Every word of God is refined; He is a shield to those who trust in Him. 6 Do not add to His words, lest He test you and find that you deceived.

Human wisdom is extremely limited; trust in God's word

A request of God

7 I ask two things of You. Do not withhold them from me before I die: 8 Keep vanity and falseness far from me; give me neither poverty nor wealth, but allot me my daily bread, 9 lest I be sated and deny [You], and say, "Who is HASHEM?" and lest I become impoverished and steal, and take the Name of my God [in a vain oath of innocence]!

Avoid every form of slander

10 *Do not slander: [not even] a servant to his master, lest he curse you and you be made desolate; 11 [nor] a generation that curses its father and does not bless its mother; 12 [nor] a generation that is pure in its own eyes, and does not cleanse itself of its filth; 13 [nor] a generation whose eyes are very haughty and whose eyelids are arched; 14 [nor] a generation whose teeth are swords and whose molars are knives, to devour the poor from the land and the destitute from mankind.

Some are never sated

15 *The grave has two daughters [that say,] "Give me, give me." There are three that are never sated, [indeed] four that never say, "Enough!": 16 the grave, the sealed womb, the land unsated with water, and the fire which never says, "Enough!" 17 The eye that mocks a father and scorns a mother's accumulated lore — the ravens of the stream will gouge it out and the young eagles will eat it!

Some things are unknowable . . .

18 There are three that are beyond me and a fourth that I do not know: 19 the way of an eagle in the heavens; the way of a snake upon a rock; the way of a ship in the heart of the sea; and the way of a man with a young woman. 20 *Such is the way of the adulterous woman: She eats and wipes her mouth and says, "I have done no wrong."

. . . denial of sin is incomprehensible

21 Because of three things the earth trembles, and because of a fourth she cannot bear it: 22 because of a slave who reigns; [because of] a scoundrel who is sated with bread; 23 *because of a hateful woman when she is married; and [because of] a maidservant who inherits [the place of] her mistress.

"Give me the righteous," and Gehinnom (Purgatory) never ceases saying, "Give me the sinners." The next verse lists the three that are never sated: the grave, i.e., death is constant; there are always women who cannot conceive; and the earth never has enough rain. The fourth is the fire of Gehinnom, which is never extinguished.

30:18-20. Just as the eagle, snake and ship leave no obvious trail, so the adulterers wipe their mouths to destroy any telltale signs of their feast (Ibn Ezra).

30:23. When the harlot weds, she continues to be promiscuous, but when conceives she will insist that her husband is the true father.

30:24-28. The instincts of these four creatures reveal significant God-given wisdom.

30:28. Though a spider may dwell in a delicacy-laden palace, it makes a web to catch its food (cf. Psalms 128:2).

31:1. Solomon was called Lemuel, a compound of לְמוּ אֵל, "[belonging] to God" (see v. 4).

31:2. I raised you, I bore you, and loved you so much that all my vows were dedicated to you.

31:8. A king must speak up for the mute because they cannot defend themselves.

31:10. The concluding verses of Proverbs are the famous paean to the righteous woman, which is chanted in Jewish homes at the beginning of the first Sabbath meal. The word חַיִל as used in Scripture implies more than just valor; it includes the possession of whatever attributes are needed to carry out the task at hand. The hymn contains an alphabetical acrostic as a further allusion to her all-encompassing virtues. This passage has been interpreted as a metaphor for the Shechinah (Divine Presence), the Sabbath, the Torah, and the soul.

31:12. According to Metzudos, when her husband is kind, she reacts accordingly, but when he falls short, she is not petty and vindictive.

31:19. These are parts of a spinning wheel.

31:23. Thanks to her care, her husband stands out as well dressed and well groomed when he sits in the councils of the elders.

Four weak creatures; four lessons

24 There are four among the small [creatures] of earth who are wise, having been made wise [by the Creator]: * 25 The ants are a nation that is not strong, yet they prepare their food in the summer; 26 rabbits are a nation that is not powerful, yet they make their abode in the rock; 27 there is no king of the locusts, and yet they all go out in a single swarm; 28 the spider seizes [its prey] with its handiwork, though it dwells in the king's palace. *

Four strong creatures

29 There are three that step securely, and a fourth that walks with confidence:
30 The lion is the strongest of the animals, and does not turn back from anything;
31 the thigh-belted greyhound, the he-goat, and the king against whom none can stand. 32 If you have been abused, remain aloof; and if you have thoughts [of responding in kind], put your hand to your mouth; 33 for the squeezing of milk produces butter; the squeezing of the nose produces blood; and the squeezing of anger produces strife.

to God, it is not proper for kings to drink [much] wine, and for princes to imbibe strong drink. 5 Lest he drink and forget the statute [of the Torah] and pervert the judgment of all the children of the poor. 6 Give strong drink to the woebegone and wine to those of embittered soul. 7 Let him drink and forget his poverty, and not

אִיּוֹב Job

The Book of Job and the anguished attempts of Job and his comrades to understand the ways of God have perplexed, stimulated, and inspired thinkers and philosophers for thousands of years. The ideas in this Book are at the heart of the age-old question: Why do bad people prosper while good people suffer?

There is another question about the Book that may shed some light on how we are to understand it. When did Job live? Unlike other narratives in Scripture, we are not told when or in what context the events took place. Indeed, the Talmud notes eight different opinions regarding when he lived — and there is even a ninth opinion that the story of Job is a parable, that he never lived at all! (Bava Basra 15a-b).

Maharal explains that the theme of suffering is universal and cannot be isolated to any particular period. Job could only have lived — if he ever did — in a time of crisis, when God judges people strictly. That is when people must be concerned that their deeds may be subject to rigorous and painful scrutiny. The Satan of the Book of Job was sent to test its protagonist to let him prove that he was worthy of God's blessing. Job's ordeal, therefore, is recorded because it is a paradigm for anyone who suffers and seeks to know why. Just as Job's suffering can be understood in the context of various historical periods, so each individual's ordeal must be interpreted within the context of his own period of history. In discussing when the story happened, the Sages differ only regarding what is the most fitting setting for such a test.

The many messages of the Book are wrapped in enigmas. Job's friends do not convince him. His arguments seem to overpower theirs. One wonders why they do not show him more sympathy. In the end, God Himself comes to blunt Job's challenge. Job accepts, not because of logic, but because he realizes that he is mortal and cannot understand Divine wisdom or Divine justice. At times when we are at a loss to understand the rigors of life, that must be our response as well — that there is a plan, and that man must trust the Planner.

1:1. The Talmud (Bava Basra 15a-b) cites no less than eight opinions about when Job lived, ranging from the time of Jacob to that of the Babylonian exiles' return to the Holy Land. There is also an opinion (ibid.) that Job did not actually exist at all, and the story is a parable.

1:6. That is, the Adversary.

1:7. Satan circulated through the earth evaluating the deeds of Mankind (Rashi). This dialogue took place on Rosh Hashanah, the Day of Judgment (Ibn Ezra).

1:16. That is, an extraordinarily great fire.

1:21. "My mother's womb" is a metaphor for the earth from which man was originally made [see Genesis 3:19] (Rashi; Ibn Ezra).

1 TRIBULATIONS OF THE RIGHTEOUS JOB 1:1-2:14

1 There was a man in the land of Uz whose name was Job; that man was wholesome and upright, he feared God and shunned evil.* 2 Seven sons and three daughters were born to him. 3 His possessions consisted of seven thousand sheep and goats, three thousand camels, five hundred pairs of cattle, five hundred she-donkeys, and very many enterprises. That man was the wealthiest man of all the people in the East.

The feasts of Job's children

4 His sons would go and make a feast, at each one's home each on his set day; and they would send word and invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them. 5 When each cycle of feast-days had ended, Job would send to summon them. He would rise early in the morning and bring as many burnt-offerings as the number of them all, for Job said [to himself], "Perhaps my children have sinned and blasphemed HASHEM in their hearts." Thus would Job do all the days.

The Satan's challenge

6 It happened one day: The angels came to stand before HASHEM, and the Satan, too, came among them.* 7 HASHEM said to the Satan, "From where have you come?"

*The Satan answered HASHEM, and said, "From wandering and walking about the earth."

8 HASHEM said to the Satan, "Did you set your heart to [take note of] My servant Job? For there is no one like him on earth; a wholesome and upright man, who fears God and shuns evil."

9 The Satan answered HASHEM, and said, "Is it for nothing that Job fears God? 10 Have You not set a protective wall about him, about his household, and about everything he owns from all around? You have blessed his handiwork, and his livestock have spread throughout the land. 11 But send forth Your hand and touch everything that is his, [and see] if he does not blaspheme You to Your face!"

12 So HASHEM said to the Satan, "Behold, everything that is his is hereby in your hand. But do not send forth your hand against his [person]!" The Satan then departed from the presence of HASHEM.

The evil decree

13 It happened one day, when his sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in the home of their eldest brother, 14 that a messenger came to Job and said, "The oxen were plowing and the she-donkeys were grazing alongside them, 15 when Sabeans befell and seized them. They struck down the servants by the edge of the sword. Only I, by myself, escaped to tell you!"

16 This one was still speaking, when this [other] one came and said, "A fire of God fell from the heavens. It burned among the sheep and the servants and consumed them. Only I, by myself, escaped to tell you!"*

17 This one was still speaking, when this [other] one came and said, "The Chaldeans formed three divisions and deployed around the camels and seized them. They struck down the servants by the edge of the sword. Only I, by myself, escaped to tell you!"

18 This one was still speaking, when this [other] one came and said, "Your sons and your daughters were eating and drinking wine in the home of their eldest brother, 19 when behold, a great wind came from across the desert. It struck the four corners of the house, it collapsed upon the young men and killed them. Only I, by myself, escaped to tell you!"

Job's reaction

20 Job stood up and ripped his shirt, and he tore [the hair of] his head. He threw himself upon the ground and prostrated himself. 21 He said, "Naked did I emerge from my mother's womb, and naked shall I return there. HASHEM has given,*

2:4. The Satan belittled Job's righteous acceptance of calamity by claiming that Job had expected to die for his sins, and thus was relieved by his comparatively "light" punishment. As an analogy, the Satan compared Job to a person who sees a sword approaching his head and instinctively blocks it with his arm — he willingly sacrifices the skin of his arm for the sake of his life (Rashi).

2:8. Either as a sign of mourning (Ibn Ezra), or to soothe the pain of his wounds (Metzudos).

2:9. You may as well blaspheme God even if you die for it, since even death is preferable to your agony (Ramban).

2:12. To show that they shared in his mourning (Rashi).

2:14. The day of his birth (Ibn Ezra).

3:3. That is, each year on the anniversary of my birth.

3:7. Professional mourners, who are brought to funerals to stir up emotions (see Ibn Ezra).

3:9. The womb from which I emerged (Rashi).

and HASHEM has taken away, blessed be the Name of HASHEM." 22 Despite all this, Job did not sin nor ascribe impropriety to God.

2

The Satan's second challenge

1 It happened one day: The angels came to stand before HASHEM, and the Satan, too, came among them to stand before HASHEM. 2 HASHEM said to the Satan, "Where is it that you are coming from?"

The Satan answered God, and said, "From wandering and walking about the earth."

3 HASHEM asked the Satan, "Did you set your heart to [take note of] My servant Job? For there is no one like him on earth; a wholesome and upright man, who fears God and shuns evil, and he still maintains his wholesomeness. You incited Me against him, to destroy him, for no reason!"

4 *The Satan answered HASHEM, and said, "Skin for the sake of skin! Whatever a man has he would give up for his life! 5 But send forth Your hand and touch his bone and his flesh, and surely he will blaspheme You to Your face!"

6 HASHEM said to the Satan, "Behold, he is in your hand, but preserve his soul [from death]!"

Job himself is afflicted

7 The Satan departed from the presence of HASHEM and afflicted Job with severe boils, from the soles of his feet to the top of his head. 8 *He took a potsherd to scratch himself with, and he sat amid the ashes.

9 *His wife said to him, "Do you still maintain your wholesomeness? Blaspheme God and die!"

10 Job said to her, "You talk as any impious woman might talk. Furthermore, shall we accept the good from God and not accept the bad?" Despite everything, Job did not sin with his lips.

Job's three friends

11 Job's three friends heard about this total calamity that had befallen him, and each one of them came from his place: Eliphaz the Temanite, Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite. They gathered together to go and mourn with him and comfort him. 12 *They raised their eyes from a distance, but did not recognize him. They raised their voices and wept, each man rent his coat, and they threw dust over their heads toward heaven. 13 They sat with him on the ground for a period of seven days and seven nights. No one said a word to him, for they saw that his pain was very great. 14 *After that, Job opened his mouth and cursed his day.

3

1 Job then spoke up and said:

THE FIRST ROUND OF DISCUSSION 3:1-14:22

Job curses the day of his birth . . .

2 Lost be the day when I was born, and the night when it was announced: 'A man has been born.' 3 May that day become dark; may God pay it no heed from above; may light never shine upon it;* 4 may darkness and the shadow of death sully it; may a cloud rest upon it; may it be terrified by the demons of day. 5 May thick darkness snatch that night; may it not have joy among the days of the year; may it not come among the count of the months; 6 may that night be desolate; may no joyful song come into it; 7 *may those who curse the day curse it, [and so too] those who arouse others in their mourning; 8 may its twilight stars be dimmed; may it crave light but have none; may it not see the glimmer of dawn. 9 For no one closed the portals of my womb, to hide misery from my eyes.*

. . . questions his birth . . .

10 Why did I not die from the womb, [not] expire as I came forth from the belly? 11 Why did the knees come to meet me? Why were breasts there for

3:22. Job complains that his worthy deeds seem to have been ignored by God, as if a wall had been erected between him and the Creator (Rashi).

3:25. I was always concerned that misfortune would befall me (Rashi).

4:1. Eliphaz is the first of the friends to respond to Job's plaint. He contends that suffering is not haphazard. Rather than railing about his fate, Job should examine his deeds and try to discover why God punished him.

4:2. I feel compelled to respond to your statements.

4:3. Before his personal tragedy, Job would console individuals who had suffered hardship and strengthen those whose faith was weak (Rashi).

4:6. Since you, who encouraged others, are so quick to lose heart when you are afflicted, it would seem that your professed piety was not genuine (Rashi).

4:10-11. Five Hebrew terms are used for "lion" in these verses. They represent wicked people with various levels of power. Despite their great might, they will be stunned by the force of God's punishment (Rashi).

4:20. During their entire life, they do not contemplate repentance (Rashi) or self-perfection (Ralbag).

4:21. Their proud accomplishments do them no good (Rashi).

5:1. Eliphaz continues his rebuke of Job for having cried out against God (Rashi).

5:2. Eliphaz said, in essence, "Had you overcome your anger and remained silent, God may have had mercy on you" (Rashi).

5:3. This word is used here with the connotation of "wicked person" (Ramban).

me to suckle? 12 So now I would be lying calmly [in my grave], I would be asleep; then I would be at rest, 13 together with kings and counselors of the world who rebuild ruins for themselves, 14 or with ministers who have gold and fill their houses with silver; 15 or had I, like a concealed stillborn, never been [alive], like infants who never saw light. 16 There the wicked cease from agitation; and there exhausted ones repose; 17 the captives, all together, are tranquil; they do not hear the taskmaster's voice. 18 Small and great are [equal] there, and the slave is freed from his master.

. . . and complains of his suffering

*19 Why does [He] give light to the sufferer and life to those bitter of soul; 20 [to] those who crave death but it is not there, who seek it more eagerly than hidden treasure; 21 [to] those who exult at a joyous occasion, who rejoice when they find the grave; 22 to the man whose deeds are concealed, before whom God has raised a barrier?

*23 For my sigh ushers in my meal, my groan pours forth like water. 24 Because I feared a fright, and it has overtaken me; what I dreaded has come upon me. 25 I was not secure, I was not quiet, I was not at rest; and torment has come.

4 1 Eliphaz the Temanite then spoke up and said:*

ELIPHAZ' FIRST SPEECH AND JOB'S RESPONSE 4:1-7:21

2 If He tests you with one thing, will you become wearied? Who can withhold his words now? 3 Behold, you have rebuked many, and have strengthened weak hands.* 4 Your words would stand up one who stumbles; you would brace buckling knees. 5 And now, when it befalls you, you become weary? It touches you, and you are bewildered! 6 Behold, was your fear [of God] not your foolishness, and so too your hope and the wholesomeness of your ways?

The harvest of the iniquitous

7 Remember, please, which innocent person ever perished? Where have upright people ever been obliterated? 8 As I have seen, those who plow iniquity and sow injustice harvest them. 9 By the breath of God, they perish; by the wind of His anger, they expire. 10 The [adult] lion's roar, the whelp's cry and the cubs' teeth — [all] are lost. 11 The mature lion perishes for lack of prey, and the lioness' children are dispersed.*

A vision about God's way with man

12 A message surreptitiously reached me, of which my ear absorbed a small portion. 13 When thoughts are filled with nocturnal visions, when slumber falls upon men, 14 fear came upon me, and trembling, it caused most of my bones to shudder. 15 A spirit brushed my face; it made the hair on my flesh stand on end. 16 It stood still, but I could not recognize its features; an image was before my eyes. I heard a faint whisper: 17 "Can a mortal man be more righteous than God? Can a man be purer than his Maker? 18 If He cannot have faith even in His servants and finds fault with His angels, 19 then surely [He does the same with] those who dwell in clay houses, whose foundation is in the dust, who are crushed before maggots! 20 They are ground down from morning to evening; without contemplation, they are lost forever. 21 Behold, the pride within them departs,* and they die without wisdom."*

5 1 Cry out now! Is there anyone who will answer you? To which of the holy beings will you turn? 2 For anger kills the fool; envy slays the naive.* 3 I saw a fool* strike roots, but I cursed his dwelling with sudden [destruction] — 4 that his children be far from salvation and*

5:4. That is, in public (Ibn Ezra).

5:5. The hungry and thirsty are those who were wronged or despoiled by the wicked (Rashi).

5:6. Suffering befalls a person as a consequence of his own sins (Metzudos).

5:7. Unlike the angels, man will sin, and consequently incur Divine punishment (Rashi).

5:11. Referring to the somber appearance of individuals who have undergone personal tragedy (Ralbag), or, to the dark skin color characteristic of famine victims (Rashi).

5:14. These planners of evil.

5:15. Foul mouths are the sword of the wicked; God protects the destitute from being devoured by them (Rashi).

5:17. Hardship atones for and expunges one's transgressions, bringing blessings and good fortune in its wake (Metzudos).

5:19. The number seven is often used to denote totality; i.e., God will prevent you from being overwhelmed by evil (Ramban).

5:23. So that you will not be harmed by stumbling on them (Ibn Ezra).

6:2. If Job's twin suffering could be weighed — his broken body and shattered spirit . . .

6:4. In essence, Job told his friends that they could not understand his plight. "If I were living your life of peace and contentment, I, too, would not cry out in pain" (Ibn Ezra).

6:5-6. Job complains that his friends mollify him with empty, senseless statements (Rashi).

6:7. Before I became afflicted, this disease disgusted me, that they be crushed at the gate with no one to save them;* [5] that the hungry devour his harvest and take it from amid the thorns, and that the thirsty gulp their possessions. * [6] For destruction does not emerge from dust, nor does misery grow from earth. * [7] For man is born to weariness, while spiritual beings soar in flight. *

Be confident of God's help

[8] However, I would beseech the Almighty and direct my words to God, [9] Who performs great deeds that are beyond comprehension, [and] wonders beyond number; [10] Who gives rain upon the face of the earth and sends water over the outlying fields, [11] so as to place the lowly on high, and uplift the blackened with salvation;* [12] Who thwarts the plottings of the cunning so that their hands will not produce results; [13] Who traps the shrewd with their trickery, and causes the plans of the devious to turn to folly. [14] By day they encounter darkness, and at midday they grope as in the night.* [15] He delivers [their victims] from the sword, their mouths, and the destitute from the hand of the mighty.* [16] Thus there is hope for the poor, and iniquity shuts its mouth.

Eliphaz' advice to Job

[17] Behold, fortunate is the man whom God rebukes! Do not despise the Almighty's discipline:* [18] For He inflicts pain and bandages it; He crushes, and His hands heal. [19] From six travails He will save you, and in the seventh no harm will reach you;* [20] in famine He will deliver you from death, and in war, from the power of the sword. [21] You will be concealed from the prowling tongue, and you will not need to be frightened of destruction when it comes. [22] You will laugh at robbery and famine, and have no fear of the beasts of the land. [23] For you will have a treaty with the stones in the field, and the beasts of the field will be at peace with you.* [24] You will know that your tent is at peace, and you will visit your home and find nothing amiss. [25] You will know that your offspring are abundant and your descendants like the grass of the earth. [26] You will go to the grave in ripe old age, just as a sheaf is brought in, in its season. [27] Behold, we have investigated this, and it is so. Hear it, and you will know!

6 Job's response

[1] Job then spoke up and said:

The scales of suffering

[2] If only my anger were to be weighed, or my trauma placed on a scale, both lifted together, [3] it would now be heavier than the sand of the seas; therefore my words are confused. [4] For the arrows of the Almighty are with me; my spirit drinks their poison. God's horrors are arrayed against me. * [5] Does a wild ass bray over grass? Does an ox low over its fodder? [6] Is bland food eaten without salt? Does the white of an egg have taste? [7] What my soul had refused to touch is now the cloth for my food. *

Job cannot wait for deliverance

[8] Who would grant that my request be realized, that God would grant my hope, [9] and God would be willing to crush me, to let loose His hand and cut me off! [10] Moreover, that would be my consolation! I tremble with the plea that He show no mercy, for I have never disregarded the words of the Holy One. [11] What strength have I that I should wait? What is my end, that I should extend my life?* [12] Is my strength the strength of rocks? Is my flesh made of copper?

yet now that I am afflicted, the disease comes in contact with my food (Rashi). Alternatively: Job said, "You expect me to eat bland and tasteless declarations that I would never have thought of touching" (Ramban).

6:11-12. In response to Eliphaz' comforting assurance that God will yet give him life and health (5:17-27), Job says that he will not live long enough to have a full recovery. Better that he should die immediately.

6:13. Job bewails the inability of his loyal friends to console him or give him practical advice (Rashi).

6:15-17. Seasonal watercourses are dry except in the rainy season. The waters of such streams change constantly, "betraying" those who need water. In the winter the water is concealed, and in the summer it evaporates (Rashi).

6:19. Low-lying plains into which much water flows (Rashi).

6:20-21. People feel ashamed when they fail to find water where they had confidently expected it. So too, Job accuses his friends of lacking the courage to admit that an injustice had been done him for fear that God would punish them in the same manner (Rashi).

6:23. I do not ask you for monetary aid, but for moral assistance (Ramban).

6:27. Job calls himself an orphan due to his unfortunate, pitiable situation.

7:1. Like the hired hand's term of employment, everyone's life will eventually end (Rashi).

7:7. How long will my ordeal continue? Since my life passes by as swiftly as the wind, I will die if You wait much longer (Metzudos).

7:12. As the sea is bounded by the sand, and a fish is confined in the water, so have I been prevented from dying (Rashi).

7:16. Since my days are numbered and of no worth, why don't You let me die?

13 Is my own help not with me? Is counsel to be withheld from me, * 14 by one who withholds kindness from his friend and forsakes the fear of the Almighty?

Empty talk is not moral support

15 My brothers have betrayed [me] like a [seasonal] watercourse; they shift like the flow of streams, 16 tucking themselves under ice, hidden under concealing snow. * 17 When they are scorched, they shrivel up; in the heat they depart abruptly from their place. 18 They determine their own courses, enter the wastes and are lost. 19 They set their eyes on the path to Tema, and draw a line toward the direction of Sheba. * 20 People become ashamed for having trusted [them]; they approached it and were humiliated. * 21 And now, that is how you have been — you saw disaster and became frightened.

"Show me where I went wrong."

22 Did I say, 'Give me [money],' or, 'Use your power to pay a bribe for me, 23 *and save me from an oppressor, redeeming me from fierce men'? 24 Instruct me, and I shall be silent. Make me understand where I have erred. 25 How eloquent is upright talk; but what result have any of you proven? 26 Do you believe that [mere] words can convince? Empty talk is so much wind! 27 You cast anger upon an orphan; * you dig [a trap] against your friend!

Can they deny that Job is right?

28 Now, be so good as to turn to me; [see] if I speak falsely before you. 29 Please reconsider, and [see] that there is no dishonesty. Reconsider again — I am right. 30 Is there dishonesty upon my tongue? Can my palate not discern folly?

Job loses hope

1 Behold, man has an allotted time upon the earth; his days are like those of a hired hand. * 2 Like a slave he awaits the [evening] shade; like a hired hand longs for his wages, 3 so was I allotted months of frustration, and nights of misery were assigned to me. 4 When I lie down, I say, 'When will I arise, and the night depart?' and I had my fill of tossing and turning until dawn. 5 My flesh is clothed with maggots and clumps of dirt; my skin is cracked and dissolved. 6 My days fly faster than a weaver's shuttle, and have ended in hopelessness.

Job addresses God

7 *Remember that my life is like the wind, and my eyes will never again see goodness! 8 The eyes of my observers will not see me; Your eyes are upon me, but I am no more. 9 [As] a cloud disperses and is gone, so does one who descends to the grave not rise. 10 He will not return again to his home, nevermore will his community know him. 11 As for me, I will not muzzle my mouth, I will speak in the anguish of my spirit; I will express myself in the bitterness of my soul!

"Why do You force me to live?"

12 *Am I the sea, or a sea-giant, that You put me under guard? 13 If I say, 'My bed will console me; my couch will ease my pain,' 14 You shatter me with dreams, and terrify me with visions. 15 My soul would prefer strangulation, death over [survival of] my bones. 16 *I am disgusted; I shall not live forever, leave me alone, for my days are as nothing!

"Why am I worthy of Your attention?"

17 What is man, that You exalt him, that You turn Your attention to him, 18 that you inspect him every morning and observe him every moment? 19 It is so long since You ignored me? You do not leave me alone long enough to swallow my own spittle! 20 [If] I sin, how have I affected You, O Guardian of man? Why make me Your target, so that I have become a burden to

7:20. According to tradition, the word "myself" is a euphemistic substitution for the irreverent "You."

8:7. If you would repent, the blessings He would bestow upon you would overshadow even those of the past (Ramban).

8:9. Our lives are so short that we cannot understand the long-range patterns of events (Kara).

8:17. He establishes himself firmly in his place (Rashi).

8:18. No trace of him will remain (Rashi).

8:19. The success of the wicked is transitory. They will fade and others will rise to take their place (Rashi).

9:2. Job will argue that he sees no difference between the fates of the righteous and the wicked. And even the wicked should not suffer because man's inevitable decline and death should be punishment enough (Ramban).

9:5. So suddenly does God make upheavals that people do not even realize what had happened.

9:9. These star clusters are identified by Ibn Ezra (to Amos 5:8).

myself?* 21 Why do You not forgive my sin and pardon my iniquity? For soon I will lie down in the dust; You will search for me, but I will be no more.

8 1 Bildad the Shuhite then spoke up and said:

BILDAD'S FIRST SPEECH AND JOB'S RESPONSE 8:1-10:22

2 How long will you say such things? The words of your mouth are a powerful wind! 3 Would God pervert justice? Would the Almighty pervert righteousness? 4 When your sons sinned against Him, He delivered them into the hand of their own transgression. 5 If you would beseech God and implore to the Almighty, 6 if you would be pure and upright, He would even now recall [your merits] for you, and make whole the abode of your righteousness. 7 Then, though your beginning was insignificant, your end will flourish exceedingly. *

Testimony of earlier times

8 Inquire, now, of an earlier generation, and prepare yourself for the investigation of their fathers. 9 For we are but since yesterday, so we do not know;* our days upon the earth are but a shadow. 10 Behold, they will instruct you, they will tell you, and extract words from their heart.

Destruction of the wicked

11 Can reeds grow without a swamp? [Can] a marshland thrive without water? 12 While it is still fresh, it will not snap, yet it withers before any other grass. 13 So with the ways of all who forget God; the hope of the hypocrite is doomed. 14 His reliance is cut down, his trust is a spider web. 15 He leans on his house, but it does not stand; he holds onto it, but it does not remain. 16 He is moist before the sun's heat, and his shoots spread out in his garden. 17 His roots are thickly entangled on a mound; he searches out a house of stone.* 18 [But] when he is uprooted from his place, it denies him, [saying,] 'I never saw you.'* 19 Such is the 'joy' of his way; and from the earth, others will sprout.* 20 For God does not detest the wholesome nor support the hand of evildoers. 21 Until He will fill your mouth with laughter and your lips with shouting [for joy]. 22 Your enemies will be covered with disgrace, and the tents of the wicked will be no more.

9 1 Job then spoke up and said:

Job's response to Bildad

2 Truly, I know that it is so. How can man be righteous with God?* 3 If he would want to contend with Him, He would not reply even once in a thousand. 4 He is wise of heart and immensely strong. Who ever stubbornly opposed Him and remained whole? 5 It is He Who uproots mountains and [people] do not know, when He overturns them in His anger;* 6 Who shakes the earth from its place, and its pillars tremble; 7 Who gives the command to the sun, and it does not shine; and seals up the stars; 8 Who alone stretches out the heavens, and treads upon the crests of the sea; 9 Who made Ursa Minor, Orion and Pleiades, and the southern constellations;* 10 Who performs great deeds that are beyond comprehension, and wonders beyond number. 11 If He would pass before me, I would not see [Him]; He would move across and I would not perceive Him. 12 If He would suddenly strike, who could restrain Him? Who could say to Him, 'What are You doing?' 13 God does not turn back His anger; bent underneath Him are those who assist the arrogant.

It is futile to contend with God

14 Could I, then, answer Him, or choose to argue with Him? 15 Even if I were right, I would not speak up, nor would I implore my Judge. 16 If I would cry out and He would answer me, I would not believe that He would hear

9:19. How can I contend with Him? If I come with force, He is mightier than I; and if I come for justice, who can plead for me? (Rashi).

9:20. The terror I would feel when speaking before Him would prevent me from pleading my case (Rashi).

9:23. If it is as you, Bildad, claim, that the wicked are smitten, then the wicked would be happy with his speedy death and laugh at the lengthy suffering of the righteous whose righteousness keeps them from the peace of death (Ralbag).

9:24. Satan has the power to instigate evil, and then confuses the judges so that they will absolve the guilty (Rashi).

9:25-10:22. As he did in his response to Eliphaz, Job ends his response to Bildad with a plaint addressed directly to God.

9:26. The name of a fast-flowing river (Rashi), or a warship (Ramban).

9:31. Even if I tried to cleanse myself from sin, You would find me soiled.

9:34-10:1. Job here interrupts his words to God with an aside to Bildad.

9:35. I am convinced of my innocence (Rashi).

10:3. I.e., strip a righteous person of his integrity (Rashi).

10:5-6. Job said to God, "You are not like a human being who is driven to avenge himself before he dies. Why, therefore, do You send hardships upon me in such quick succession?" (Metzudos).

10:12. A reference to the miraculous laws of nature that are crucial to human survival (Malbim).

10:13. "Your actions imply that, in Your resolve to destroy me, You have forgotten Your kindnesses towards me; but I know that You still remember them!" (Rashi).

10:15. So there is no difference whether I am guilty or innocent.

my voice. 17 He shattered me in a tempest; He multiplied my wounds without cause. 18 He does not let me refresh my spirit, but satiates me with bitterness.

19 *If it is for strength, behold He is mighty! But if it is for justice, who can plead on my behalf? 20 *Even if I am righteous, my mouth would condemn me. [If] I am innocent, it would pronounce me crooked. 21 I am innocent, yet I cannot know rest! I am disgusted with my life!

The wicked dead laugh

22 It is all the same; therefore I say, 'He destroys the blameless with the wicked.' 23 *When the rod would slay [the wicked one] suddenly, he would mock the tribulation of the innocent. 24 The earth is delivered into the hands of the wicked one, who covers the faces of its judges. * If this is not so, then who [does this]?

"Whatever I say, I will be found guilty."

25 * My days passed more swiftly than a runner; they have run away without seeing goodness. 26 They have passed by with the ships of Ebeh, * like an eagle swooping after prey. 27 Even if I would say, 'I will forget my grieving; I will renounce my anger and show fortitude,' 28 I fear all my sorrows; I know that You will not acquit me. 29 I will be found guilty, so why should I weary myself for nothing? 30 Though I would wash myself in melted snow and I would cleanse my hands with soap, 31 *You would immerse me in the pit; my very clothes would loathe me. 32 For You are not a mortal as I am, whom I could answer, so that we could go together for judgment. 33 There is no arbiter between us who might impose his authority upon us both.

"If I could only speak without fear!"

34 * Were He to remove His rod from me, and His terror not frighten me, 35 *I would speak out and not fear Him, for this is not how I perceive myself. 1 My soul is disgusted with my life. I will load my grief upon myself and

10

I speak out in the bitterness of my soul. 2 I say to God:

"Why are You so vindictive?"

Do not condemn me. Tell me why You contend with me. 3 Does it befit You to plunder, * that You despise the labor of Your hands, but glow upon the schemes of the wicked? 4 Do You have eyes of flesh? Do You see as a man sees? 5 Are Your days like a person's days, are Your years like a man's days, 6 *that You search out my iniquity and seek my transgression? 7 You know that I will not be found guilty, yet none can save from Your hand.

Have compassion on Your handiwork

8 Your hands made me and fashioned me; altogether, all around, yet You devour me! 9 Remember, please, that You molded me like clay, and that You will return me to the dust. 10 Behold, You poured me out like milk, and curdled me like cheese. 11 You clothed me with skin and flesh; You covered me with bones and sinews. 12 *You granted me life and were kind to me, and Your ordinances protected my spirit. 13 *Although You have hidden this in Your heart, I know that this is [still] with You. 14 If I have sinned and You scrutinize me, then do not cleanse me of my transgression. 15 If I have been guilty, woe to me! And if I am innocent, I should not raise my head, * [for I am] satiated with disgrace, and see my misery. 16 It has become important [to You]: You hunt me as if I were a lion's whelp, and You repeatedly judge me severely. 17 *You always bring new witnesses against me, and You magnify Your anger against me. The legion takes turns with me.

You are preoccupied with me

10:17. Job refers to the diverse aches and pains that continually plagued him. The legion of suffering takes turns in revisiting him (Rashi).

10:22. Unlike this world where day follows night (Kara).

11:6. Zophar berates Job for thinking himself "virtuous in God's eyes," since no mortal can fully fathom God's doctrine (Ibn Ezra). If all were known, Job would realize that he deserved to be punished even more.

11:12. Since God does not react immediately to sin (v. 11), man should be intelligent enough to repent.

12:2. Sardonically and with exaggerated reverence, Job addresses his friends, whom he sees as having claimed a monopoly on wisdom.

12:4. Job rebukes Zophar. He describes himself as a righteous person whom God answers, but whose friends make him the butt of their scorn.

12:6. Job maintains that God grants tranquility indiscriminately to both the righteous and the wicked (Rashi).

12:7. See below 40:15.

12:7-8. Although Job had complained that fate is haphazard, he nevertheless says that the complexity and magnificence of the world and its creatures testify to the guiding hand of God (Ralbag).

12:11. Recognition of God's omnipotence should be as self-evident as the taste of food is to the palate (Rashi).

Tranquility before death

18 Why did You remove me from the womb? [If only] I had expired and no eye had ever seen me; 19 as though I had never existed, I would have been brought from the womb to the grave. 20 Behold, my days are few — so desist! Remove Yourself from me and I will regain my strength for a while, 21 before I go — and never return — to the land of darkness and the shadow of death, 22 the land whose darkness is like pitch-blackness, a shadow of death and without order, whose very light is like pitch-blackness.*

11 1 Zophar the Naamathite then spoke up and said:

ZOPHAR'S FIRST SPEECH AND JOB'S RESPONSE 11:1-14:22

2 Should an effusive speaker not be answered? Is an eloquent orator correct?
3 Your fabrications strike men dumb; you scoff, and no one ridicules you.
4 You say, 'My teaching is pure; I am virtuous in Your eyes.' 5 But if God would speak and open His lips to you, 6 He would relate to you hidden recesses of wisdom, for His sagacity is manifold. Know, then, that God* exacts from you less than your iniquities!

Man cannot fathom God's ways

7 Can you achieve an understanding of God? Can you fathom the extent of the Almighty? 8 It is like the heights of heaven; what can you do [to understand]? It is deeper than the Pit; what can you know? 9 Its measure is longer than the earth and wider than the sea. 10 If He were to cause death or to aggrieve, and then convene [the heavenly beings], who could challenge Him? 11 For He discerns deceitful people; He sees iniquity, though He seems not to notice.

If Job would accept and repent, all would be well

12 Let the hollow man acquire a heart! Let one who is [like] a wild ass be *reborn as a man! 13 If you would focus your heart, and spread forth your hands to Him! 14 If there is iniquity in your hand, put it far away; and let not sin dwell in your tent. 15 Then you would lift your face without blemish; you would be steadfast and never fear. 16 Then you would forget misery; you would remember it as water flowed by. 17 [Your] fate would be brighter than the noon; it would glimmer like the morning. 18 You would be confident, for there would be hope; you would lie down entrenched in security. 19 You would repose with none to make you afraid, and many people would seek your favor. 20 The eyes of the wicked would look with longing, haven would be denied them. Their hope would become despair.

12 Job's response to Zophar 1 Job then spoke up and said:

Job rebukes Zophar

2 *Truly, you are the many, but will wisdom expire with you? 3 I, like you, also possess an [understanding] heart. I am not inferior to you. Who does not know such things?

4 I have become [like one who is] a laughingstock to his fellow; [I am one] who calls out to God and He answers him, the wholesome righteous one is *a laughingstock! 5 A torch of scorn to the one who is complacent in his thoughts! He is destined to be among those whose feet slip. 6 The tents of robbers are tranquil, and there is security for those who anger God, into *whomever's hand God brings it.

God's mastery is obvious . . .

7 Please ask the Behemoth, however, and it will teach you; the bird of the* heavens, and it will tell you. 8 Or speak to the earth, and it will teach you; the *fish of the sea will report to you. 9 Who cannot know from all these things that the hand of God made this? 10 That in His hand is the soul of every living thing and the spirit of all mankind? 11 Can the ear not discern words, as the *palate tastes food?

12:16. This refers to man who is deceived by the archdeceiver, Satan (Rashi); or to the innocent person who is deceived by his wily fellow (Metzudos).

12:18. God controls the rulers of the world: When they please Him He fastens strength and leadership about their loins, but when they incur His wrath He weakens their authority (Rashi).

13:9. In essence, Job told his friends, "When God assesses your deeds, He will find you guilty of lying to me. And what will you say in your defense? That you lied on His behalf? Fools! You cannot make jest of God as you would make jest of a man!" (Rashi).

13:10. When you stand before Him for judgment, will you excuse your lies by saying you were trying to silence me on His behalf? (Rashi).

13:14. It would be unbearable for me to bite my lip and be silent; I must speak up against the injustice to me (Rashi).

13:15. Though his love for God is unwavering, Job is driven to defend his actions (Rashi).

13:16. Job is sure that his honesty will gain him God's favor. This, in addition to his many merits, will acquit him of guilt (Metzudos).

13:17-14:22. Once again, as in his responses to Eliphaz (7:7-21) and Bildad (9:25-10:22), Job ends his rebuttal of Zophar's argument by addressing his words directly to God.

13:22. Job calls for a direct dialogue with God: "Either

. . . and He is all-powerful

12 In the aged is wisdom, and [in] length of days understanding 13 [that] with Him are wisdom and might; His are counsel and understanding. 14 Behold! He demolishes, and it cannot be rebuilt; He locks [the door] on a man, and it cannot be opened. 15 Behold! He holds back the waters, and they dry up; He sends them forth, and they overturn the land. 16 With Him are might and sagacity; His are the deceived one and the deceiver. * 17 He leads counselors to folly and makes judges irrational; 18 He loosens the yoke of kings, and fastens a belt about their loins; * 19 He leads ministers to folly, and subverts the mighty; 20 He distorts the utterances of the trustworthy, and takes reason away from the elders; 21 He pours scorn upon nobles, and loosens the girdle of the strong; 22 He reveals deep mysteries from the darkness, and brings the shadow of death out into the light; 23 He exalts nations and [then] destroys them; He spreads out nations and then leads them away; 24 He removes wisdom from the leaders of common people, and causes them to wander in a pathless wasteland. 25 They grope [in] darkness and not [in] light; He makes them stagger like a drunkard.

Job lashes out at his friends' empty arguments

1 Behold, my eye has seen everything; my ear has heard and understood it. 2 What you know, I know, as well; I am not inferior to you. 3 However, I shall speak to the Almighty; I desire to argue with God. 4 But you are concocters of falsehood; worthless healers, all of you! 5 Who would grant that you fall utterly silent; that would be a wise thing for you!

6 Hear my argument, if you will, and harken to the contentions of my lips: 7 Will you speak dishonestly on God's behalf? Will you speak deceitfully for His sake? 8 Will you flatter Him? Will you contend on God's behalf? 9 Will all be well when He scrutinizes you? Will you make jest of Him as you would make jest of a man? * 10 He will surely admonish you! Will you venerate Him when you are in [His] private chamber? * 11 Surely His exaltedness will terrify you; His fear will fall upon you! 12 Your remembrance will be likened to ashes; your stature to lumps of clay. 13 So be silent toward me, and I shall speak; let anything [that comes] pass over me! 14 Why should I carry my flesh with my teeth, * and put my life in my hand?

Loyalty to God

15 Were He to kill me, I would still yearn for Him, but I will justify my ways before Him. * 16 He will also be my salvation, * but a hypocrite will not come before Him.

Job pleads that God let him speak

17 * Hear well my words, and let my expression [be] in Your ears. 18 Behold, I have arranged [my] argument; I know that I will be vindicated. 19 Who is he that would contend with me? Were I to keep silent now, I would expire. 20 Just do not do these two things to me, and I will not conceal myself from Your presence: 21 Remove Your hand from upon me, and let not fear of You terrify me. 22 Call out and I will answer; or else let me speak, and You respond. * 23 How many iniquities and sins have I? Apprise me of my transgression and my sin! 24 Why do You hide Your face * and consider me as an enemy unto You?

25 Do You frighten a rustling leaf, or chase dry straw, 26 that You record rebelliousness about me and ascribe to me the sins of my youth, 27 [that] You place my feet in fetters, scrutinize all my ways, and inscribe my very foot-

---

You begin by accusing me and I'll defend myself, or I'll begin by proving my righteousness and You refute my claims."

13:24. From seeing my righteousness (Rashi).

13:28. Job refers to his body (Rashi). He is too insignificant for such scrutiny on God's part.

14:1-4. Resuming an earlier theme, Job in essence asks, "Why do you judge so severely the sins of such a lowly creature as man?" (Rashi).

14:4. In light of the manner in which a human being is conceived, can he really be expected to be completely pure and free from sin? (Rashi).

14:5-6. Is the human condition itself not sufficient punishment for man's sins? (Rashi).

14:15. Job asks again for an opportunity to plead his case with God (Rashi).

14:18-19. Mountains and stones can be worn into dirt from which the produce of previously dropped seeds will emerge, but when a man's end comes, nothing is left of him (Rashi).

15:6. Your own response to the arguments I am about to present will demonstrate how wrong you are (Rashi).

15:7-11. Is Job so all-knowing that he can derogate everyone so easily? Why did he not appreciate all the gifts God gave him before his fall?

15:12. The look in your eyes adds to your pronouncements of indignation (Kara).

steps? 28 When, after all, it* will wear out like rot, like a garment that a moth has consumed!

Man's mortality

1 A man,* born of woman, has a short life span, and is sated with anxiety. 2 He emerges like a blossom, and is then cut down; he flees like a shadow, and does not endure. 3 Do You fix Your eyes even upon such [a being], that You bring me to judgment with You? 4 Who can produce purity from impurity? No one!*

5 If His days are predetermined and the number of his months is with You, and You have made his limits which he cannot surpass,* 6 then turn away from him, and let [his pain] be relieved, until, like a hired hand, he craves [the end of] his day.

A felled tree grows back; man's end is final

7 For there is hope for a tree: [Even] if it is felled it can still renew itself, and its branching will not cease; 8 were its root to become old in the ground and its trunk to die in the dirt, 9 with [but] a whiff of water it would blossom and generate branches like a sapling. 10 But a man dies; he becomes feeble; a person perishes, and then where is he? 11 [As] water flows from a sea, [as] the river becomes arid and dry, 12 [so] a man lies down and does not rise. They do not awaken until the heavens are no more; they will not be roused

An afterlife for man from their slumber. 13 If only You would hide me in the pit, conceal me until Your anger subsides, set a fixed time for me, and then remember me.* 14 When a man dies, will he live [again]? Throughout the days of my life span I long [for life], until the time of my passing comes.

15 Call out, and I will answer You!* Cherish Your handiwork! 16 For now You count my steps; You have no patience for my sins. 17 My transgressions are sealed in a pouch, and You cling to my iniquity.

Irrevocable death

18 In truth, a collapsing mountain will produce grain, so too, a rock torn from its place.* 19 Stones are worn away by water, it washes them into dirt that produces its own aftergrowth; but You have destroyed man's hope. 20 You overwhelm him forever, and he passes away; You change his countenance and then send him away. 21 Then, when his sons attain honor he will not know it; when they suffer he will not discern them. 22 He feels only the pain of his flesh, and his soul will mourn over him.

1 Eliphaz the Temanite then spoke up and said:

THE SECOND ROUND OF DISCUSSION 15:1-21:34

ELIPHAZ' SECOND SPEECH AND JOB'S RESPONSE 15:1-17:16

2 Should a wise man respond with blustery knowledge, or fill his belly with the east wind? 3 Should he argue with unavailing expressions, or with words that do no good? 4 So too, you have undermined awe and have diminished prayer before God.

5 For your sinfulness teaches your mouth; you should have chosen the language of the clever! 6 Let your own mouth condemn you, not I; let your own lips testify against you.*

7 Were you born before Adam, or created before the hills?* 8 Are you privy to God's council; have you diminished wisdom [from everyone else and taken it all] for yourself? 9 What do you know that we do not know? [What do] you understand that is beyond us? 10 Even the white-haired, even the aged are among us, more advanced in age than your father. 11 Do you deem inadequate God's consolations, the bounty He had graciously granted you?

Man cannot question God

12 What does your heart teach you; what do your eyes intimate,* 13 that you turn your bluster toward God and bring such words out of your mouth?

15:19. I am referring to people who were so wise that they were given exclusive dominion over the land (Ramban).

15:20. Though he may prosper, the wicked person always fears heavenly punishment (Rashi).

15:27. That is, when he luxuriates in his ill-gotten wealth.

15:28. It appeals to the wicked man's conceit to rebuild ruined cities with his fabulous wealth (Rashi).

15:30. The offspring of the wicked will die prematurely (Ramban).

15:35. People bear "offspring" according to what they conceive. Those who do evil are responsible for their eventual punishments (Rashi).

16:5. If you were suffering instead of me, I would console you and stop my own complaints (Rashi).

16:6. Dismissing Eliphaz, Job says that his situation will not be improved by arguing or by silence. In the next verse, he turns from his friends and begins to speak of his own plight.

16:7-8. Job alternates between second and third person as he speaks to and about his pain-racked body (Ibn Ezra).

16:9. The Satan (Rashi).

16:10. Job accuses his friends of turning against him (Metzudos).

14 What is a human being that he might be vindicated? Can one born of woman ever be considered righteous? 15 Behold, He cannot have faith even in His holy beings, and the [hosts of] heaven are not pure in His eyes, 16 surely it is so for the loathsome and tainted one, man, who drinks iniquity like water!

The wicked are doomed to fear

17 Let me tell you something. Listen to me. I will recount what I have seen.
18 Wise men say it; it was not withheld from their fathers. 19 To them alone *the land was given; no stranger passed among them:

20 All the days of the wicked he is anguished, the number of years* allotted the oppressor. 21 Sounds of terror are in his ears; when he is at peace, the robber befalls him. 22 He should not believe that he will return from the darkness, for he is destined for the sword. 23 He wanders about for food — where is it? — he realizes that the day of darkness is ready, at hand.
24 Distress and travail terrify him; they surround him like a king destined for

. . . for they dared defy God the flames [of Gehinnom]. 25 For he turned his hand against God, and tried to overpower the Almighty; 26 he charges at Him with an [upright] neck within the massive bulk of his shield. 27 When he covers his face with his fat *and forms rolls of blubber on his loins, 28 when he dwells in destroyed *cities, in deserted houses that had been destined to become heaps, 29 he will not be rich, his wealth will not endure, and their aspirations will not

They and their offspring will reap the seeds they planted tender branches, and it will be gone by the breath of His mouth.* 31 He who is misled by nothingness does not believe that nothingness will be his [final] reward! 32 He will be stunted before his time, and his canopy will not flourish.

33 He will scatter his unripe fruit like a vine, and shed his blossoms like an olive tree. 34 For the hypocrite's clan will be forlorn, fire will consume the tents of bribery. 35 Conceiving iniquity and bearing destruction, their belly *prepares deceit.

16 1 Job then spoke up and said:

Job's response to Eliphaz

2 I have heard many such things; you are all worthless consolers! 3 Is there an end to words of bluster? What compels you to answer? 4 I am as able to speak as you; were you in my place, I would compose words over you, and

It is futile to engage in sterile debate shake my head over you. 5 I would encourage you with my mouth, and the *movement of my lips would stop. 6 If I speak, my pain will not cease, and *if I keep silent, what will leave me?

Job depicts his plight

7 Oh, how it has wearied me! You shocked my entire clan into silence!*
8 You wizened me; it has become a witness [against me]. My weakened [body] has stood up against me and has given testimony to my face. 9 His anger has torn at [me]; he has despised me; he has gnashed his teeth at me; my foe casts barbed glances at me.* 10 They opened their mouths against* me; they contemptuously struck my cheeks; they joined in thronging against me.

11 God has handed me over to an evildoer, and He consoles me through the wicked. 12 I was once serene, but he broke me into pieces; he grasped me by my neck and mangled me, and he stood me up as a target. 13 His archers surrounded me; he sliced open my kidneys without mercy; he spilled my bile to the ground. 14 He attacked me with one attack upon another.
He charged at me like a warrior. 15 I have sewn sackcloth for my scabs

16:17. I always prayed for the welfare of others; I never hoped that anyone else would be harmed.

16:18. Let the earth not swallow up my outcries; let them ascend directly to heaven (Rashi).

16:19. Despite his friends' opinion that adversity befalls only the wicked, Job is confident that God testifies to his righteousness.

17:3. Job begs God to engage in direct dialogue with him at some point, for none of his friends are coming to his aid (Rashi).

17:5. Job wishes this punishment on his friends (Rashi), measure for measure for their empty cliches to him.

17:8. And reprimand him for his empty accusations against me (Rashi).

17:9. With indignation against these hypocrites (Rashi).

17:10. Though he has expressed his disappointment in them, Job invites a response from his friends.

17:12. His friends' (Ibn Ezra) senseless comments kept Job awake at night as if it were day, but the daylight hours seem so short because of the intensity of his suffering at night (Rashi).

17:13. That is, in the grave (Rashi).

17:15. My wish to die (Rashi).

17:16. Job speaks of his limbs which are destined for the grave (Rashi).

18:3. Bildad addressed his colleagues, demanding that they not allow Job to cut them short, as if they were fools. They should all have their say and not let him interrupt (Rambam).

18:4. Addressing Job, Bildad asks sarcastically whether Job expects God ("the Rock") and the world to change as a consequence of his complaints (Rashi).

18:13. A person's children are his branches (Rashi).

18:14. That is, to Death.

and sullied my countenance with dirt. 16 My face is wrinkled from weeping;
death's shadows are upon my eyelids — 17 but for no iniquity in my hands;
*and my prayers were virtuous. 18 O earth, do not conceal my blood! Let *there not be a place for my screams!

Only God knows the truth

19 *Even now, my Witness is in heaven, my Attester is on high. 20 O, my orators, my friends: It is to God that my eyes shed tears. 21 If only a man could argue with God, as a human being with his fellow! 22 For [my] allotted years will come, and then I will embark on a path from which I will never return.

17

Job contrasts God with his friends

1 My spirit is devastated, my days have rushed by; graves await me, 2 except that these mocking men accompany me, and my eyes are constantly on their provocations. 3 *Give me [Your hand], be my Guarantor!
Who then will shake my hand? 4 For You have blocked their hearts from intelligence, so You will not be exalted [by them]. 5 Glibly each talks with his *fellows. May the eyes of his children look on with longing!

He decries the hypocrites

6 He has made me a byword for nations; I have become [the embodiment] of hell to people. 7 My eye has dimmed from anger; all my limbs have become like a shadow. 8 Let the upright be appalled at this; let the pure bestir *themselves against the hypocrite. 9 Let the righteous man hold fast to his *path; let the one with clean hands strengthen himself.

Nevertheless, he invites his friends back to the fray

10 Nevertheless, let them all reconsider; come here, please, for I cannot *find any wise man among you. 11 My days have passed by; my thoughts, the legacies of my heart, have been cut down. 12 They turn night into day;
*daylight seems shortened before darkness.

13 Since I crave that the grave be my home, I have made my bed in the *darkness; 14 I call out to the pit, 'You are my father,' and to the maggots,
'My mother and sister!' 15 Where, then, is my hope? Who can discern my* hope? 16 Let [my] grave's limbs descend, that they might rest together upon* the dust!

1 Bildad the Shuhite then spoke up and said:

BILDAD'S SECOND SPEECH AND JOB'S RESPONSE 18:1-19:29

2 Until when? Put an end to words. [First] understand, and then we will talk.
3 *Why are we considered as a beast, and obtuse in your eyes?

4 You who tears himself apart in his anger, will the earth be abandoned for *your sake? Will the Rock be dislodged from His place? 5 Indeed, the light of the wicked flickers out; the sparks of his fire will not shine. 6 Light becomes darkness in his tent; his lamp will flicker out in his presence. 7 His powerful strides will be constrained; his schemes will throw him down. 8 For he is sent by his own feet into a net; he walks upon a snare. 9 A trap will seize him by the heel; [blood]thirsty men will overpower him. 10 Hidden in the ground is his rope, his snare is on the path. 11 Demons terrify him on all sides, they will beat him to [the ground under] his feet.

Job's fate will be an object of astonishment

12 His offspring will go hungry; calamity awaits his wife. 13 The Prince of *Death will devour the limbs of his skin, he will devour his branches. 14 He will be torn from his wife, who had depended on him; she will march him *off to the king of demons; 15 she will dwell in his tent without him. Sulfur will be strewn upon his home. 16 From below, his roots will dry up; and from above, his sproutings will be lopped off. 17 His memory will be lost

19:3. The friends had ignored Job's five speeches, and had made five of their own (Ibn Ezra, from Sa'adia Gaon).

19:4. I, not you, am suffering for my sins — so why do you humiliate me? (Rashi).

19:17. Job's disease made even his wife and children avoid him. Although his children were all dead (1:18-19), he referred to grandchildren as his children (Ramban).

19:20. Job's gums were the only areas of skin that were not inflamed (Rashi).

19:24. Engravers would carve words into rock with an iron tool, then fill the carvings with molten lead (Rashi).

19:26. Job accuses his friends of mercilessly tormenting him with their harsh words of reproof despite the obvious suffering he is experiencing as a result of his skin inflammation. The condition of his skin testifies to God's judgment (Rashi).

19:28. Why don't you show me sympathy? Why don't you wonder what underlying cause could have made me deserve such suffering?

19:29. Job warns his friends that their sinful speech will surely incur God's wrath, and lead to their destruction (Rashi).

20:4. Are you so all-knowing that you can judge whether or not your situation is fair?

from the land; he will remain without fame abroad. 18 They will drive him from light to darkness and banish him from the inhabited world. 19 He will have neither child nor grandchild among his people, no survivor in his habitations. 20 The latter [generations] will be astounded at his fate, and the earlier [generations] will be seized by turmoil. 21 Such is [the fate] of evildoer's dwellings; such is a place that does not know God.

19 1 Job then spoke up and said:

Job's response to Bildad

2 Until when will you sadden my spirit and crush me with words? 3 These ten times you have humiliated me! Are you not ashamed of acting like strangers toward me?* 4 *Even if I have erred, my error lodges within me.

He protests that God has wronged him, that God treats him as an enemy

5 Although you try to overwhelm me, by reproving me with my disgrace, 6 know that God has wronged me, for He has encircled me with His net. 7 In truth, were I to protest against unfairness I would not be answered; were I to plead there would be no justice. 8 He has fenced in my way and I cannot pass; He has set darkness upon my pathway. 9 He has stripped my honor from me and removed the crown of my head. 10 He has smashed me from all sides and I have gone away; He has uprooted my hope like a tree. 11 He has kindled His anger against me and regarded me like His foes. 12 Together His legions advance; they pave their way towards me and encamp around my tent.

He is isolated and reviled by family and friend

13 He alienated my brothers from me; those who knew me estranged themselves from me. 14 My close ones stay away; my friends have forgotten me. 15 Those who live in my house and my maidservants regard me as a stranger; I have become an alien in their eyes. 16 I call out to my servant but he does not answer, though I beg him with my own mouth. 17 *My breath is repulsive to my wife; I must ingratiate myself to my offspring. 18 Even the youth despise me; when I rise, they talk about me. 19 All my confidants detest me, those I loved have turned against me. 20 *My bones cling to my skin and flesh; I have escaped with the skin of my teeth.

Job pleads for pity

21 Pity me, pity me, O you, my friends, for the hand of God has afflicted me! 22 Why do you pursue me, as does God? Have you not been sated with my flesh? 23 If only my words would be written down! If only they would be inscribed in a book, 24 with an iron stylus and lead engraved forever on rock!* 25 But I know that my Redeemer lives, and that He will be the final one remaining upon the earth.

He needs no chastisement, his condition is its own rebuke

26 After my skin [was stricken] they pierced me with this [bombast], and I see [the judgment of] God from my flesh.* 27 I see it for myself; my eyes have seen it, and not a stranger's. My kidneys have been destroyed within me. 28 *Perhaps you should say, 'Why do we beleaguer him?' What is the root of the matter within me? 29 *You should fear the sword, for wrath against sin [brings] the sword, that you may know that there is punishment!

20 1 Zophar the Naamathite then spoke up and said:

ZOPHAR'S SECOND SPEECH AND JOB'S RESPONSE 20:1-21:34

2 Therefore my thoughts compel me to answer, because my silence is within me. 3 I have been listening to insulting reproofs, and a spirit of my understanding prods me to answer. 4 *Do you know [everything] since time began, from when Adam was placed on the earth? 5 For the exultation of the wicked is but recent; the happiness of the hypocrite lasts but a moment. 6 Though his eminence ascends to heaven and his head touches the clouds, 7 he will perish forever like his own dung; those who had seen him will ask,

20:12. When he hatches one of his evil plans he "savors it in his mouth" until the time is ripe to implement it (Rashi).

20:17. A metaphor for the pleasures of Paradise (Rashi).

20:20. His constant hunger for additional wealth allowed him no tranquility (Rashi).

20:21. He took everything for himself and never shared of his wealth with the poor (Rashi).

20:26. The fire will be so fierce that it will not need to be fanned (Kara).

21:2. I would feel somewhat consoled if you would but listen to my words! (Rashi).

21:4. It is not to man, but to God, that I direct my complaint; so I have the right to expect a fair hearing (Rashi).

21:13. They die without any suffering (Rashi).

21:16. Since I do not let myself be swayed by the good fortune of the wicked, why do I suffer so? (Rashi).

'Where is he?' 8 He will fly away like a dream and they will not find him; he will be hustled away like a nighttime vision. 9 The eye that beheld him will not [see him] again; [the people of] his place will not observe him again.

His illegal gains will leave him

10 His children must appease the poor, and his hands must make restitution for his robbery. 11 His power filled his youth, but it will all lie with him in the dirt. 12 When an evil [idea] becomes sweet in his mouth he hides it under his tongue. * 13 He will cherish it, never abandoning it; he will keep it inside his palate. 14 But his food will twist in his innards; the bitter venom of asps is inside him. 15 He devoured wealth, but will disgorge it; God will purge it from his gut. 16 He will suck the poison of asps; a cobra's tongue will kill him. 17 He will not see the streams, the rivers, the brooks of honey and cream. * 18 He returns [his victims'] toil and does not devour it; in exchange for his [dishonest] wealth, he will have no exultation. 19 Because he smashed the poor and laid them waste; he has stolen a house, but he did not build it. 20 Because he never knew tranquility in his stomach, he will not escape with his desire.

His greed is his undoing

21 There was nothing left of his food; therefore he will not achieve his prosperity. 22 After his satiety has been gained, misfortune will strike him; the hand of all the weary will overtake him. 23 [God] will dispatch His burning wrath against him; it will fill his stomach, He will shower His warfare upon him. 24 He may flee from weapons of iron, but a bow of brass will pierce him.

God will punish his evil

25 He has drawn [His weapon], it leaves its sheath; the flash of its bitter [terror] overwhelms him with fright. 26 Total darkness lies in wait for his hidden treasures; an unfanned fire will consume him; misfortune will befall the survivor in his tent. 27 The heavens will reveal his sin; the land will rise up against him. 28 The produce of his house will be exiled, swept away on the day of His anger. 29 This is the wicked man's portion from God, and the legacy assigned him by God.

21 1 Then Job spoke up and said:

Job's response to Zophar

2 Listen carefully to my word, and let this be your consolation [for me]. 3 Bear with me and I will speak; after I have spoken, you may mock. 4 Is my complaint directed to a man? So why should I not be impatient? * 5 Turn your attention to me and be astonished; set [your] hand on [your] mouth.

Why do the wicked deserve undiluted good fortune?

6 When I recall [this matter] I am confounded, trembling grips my flesh: 7 Why do the wicked live, become powerful and even amass fortunes? 8 Their offspring are well-established before them, with them, and their descendants are before their eyes. 9 Their homes are peaceful, [safe] from fear; the rod of God is not against them. 10 His bull impregnates without fail; his cow gives birth and does not miscarry. 11 They send out their young ones [carefree] as sheep; their children prance about. 12 They raise [their voices] like a drum and a harp; they rejoice at the sound of the flute. 13 They spend their days with good fortune, and they descend to the grave in a moment. * 14 They said to God, "Go away from us! We have no desire to know Your ways! 15 What is the Almighty that we should serve Him? What will we gain if we pray to Him?"

Punishment should befall them, not their children

16 Behold! Is not their good fortune in their hand? Yet the counsel of the wicked was far from me. * 17 How long! May the candle of the wicked flicker out, and their downfall come upon them! May [God] apportion their due in His anger! 18 May they be like straw before the wind and like chaff snatched by a tempest! 19 Should God store away his affliction for his children?

21:19-21. It is not fair for the wicked to be punished through the suffering of their children; let the sinners themselves experience the suffering they deserve (Rashi).

21:24. A metaphor for youthfulness and the ability to provide for one's family.

21:31. Without shuddering in fear (Rashi).

21:33. Many men preceded him to the grave.

22:8. Should Job prevail merely because he had power and prestige? (Rashi).

22:12. You say that God is too lofty to bother with earthly affairs (Rashi).

22:16. The reference is to the wicked men of the generation of the Flood (Rashi).

22:20. The righteous mentioned above are encouraged that their world will survive, while the wicked will be consumed (Ramban).

Let Him pay it to him himself, that he should know [his punishment]! [20] Let his own eyes see his ruination, and let him drink of the Almighty's wrath!* [21] For what is his interest in his household after he [dies], when the number of his months has been cut off?*

Good and evil people fare the same

[22] Can one teach knowledge to God, He Who judges the lofty? [23] One person dies in unimpaired perfection, completely peaceful and serene, [24] his breasts full of milk and the marrow of his bones moist;* [25] while someone else dies with a bitter soul, not having tasted good fortune. [26] Together they will lie in the dirt, and maggots will cover them.

Deceitfully, you say that only the wicked suffer

[27] Behold! I know your thoughts, the schemes that you wrongfully plot! [28] For you say, "Where is the house of this generous one, and where is the tent of wicked people's dwellings? [29] Did you not inquire of wayfarers? Do not ignore their testimonies! [30] For evil is withheld until the day of calamity, until the day when [sinners] are brought to [face God's] fury. [31] Who is it who can be told to his face about [God's] ways, [about all] He has done, [about] the One Who will requite his deeds?* [32] He is brought to the grave, and lies forever upon a mound [of dirt]. [33] The clumps of dirt in the valley become sweet to him; all men are drawn after him, and before him, without number.' [34] How can you console me with meaningless words? Your responses remain a betrayal!

[1] Eliphaz the Temanite then spoke up and said:

THE THIRD ROUND OF DISCUSSION 22:1-32:1

ELIPHAZ' THIRD SPEECH AND JOB'S RESPONSE 22:1-24:25

[2] Does man benefit God when he learns wisdom from people? [3] Does the Almighty care if you are right, or does He gain if you perfect your ways? [4] Would fear of you make Him contend with you [or] enter into judgment with you? [5] Is your evil not great and is there is no end to your sins? [6] For you exacted collateral from your brethren without due cause, and stripped off the garments of the ill-clad; [7] you did not give drinking water to the exhausted, and you withheld bread from the hungry. [8] *Should the land belong to a strong-armed man or should prestigious people settle in it? [9] You drove away widows empty-handed and crushed the arms of orphans, [10] therefore you are surrounded by snares, and sudden fear confounds you.

Job's delusion that God is unaware

[11] Perhaps you cannot see [in] darkness, or a torrent of water covers you, [12] [that you say,] 'Is not God in the heights of the heavens!' You look to the tops of the stars, which are lofty, [13] and you say, 'What does God know? Can He judge through heavy darkness? [14] The thick clouds block Him so He cannot see; He walks about in the Heavenly orbit!'

Heresy is not new

[15] Will you keep the traditional path, where walked men of falsehood [16] who were cut down before [their] time, whose foundation was swept away by a river, [17] who said to God, 'Go away from us!' and 'What can God do to them?' [18] Yet it was He Who filled their houses with bounty! But the counsel of the wicked is far from me! [19] Let the righteous see this and rejoice; let the innocent man scoff at them! [20] *Has not their stature been destroyed and their pride consumed by fire?!

The best hope is repentance

[21] Learn now to go with Him and you will stay whole; through [these words] goodness will come to you. [22] Accept guidance, if you will, from His mouth, and place His utterances in your heart. [23] If you would return to the Almighty, you would be built up, if you would drive iniquity from your tent. [24] Then you would have a stronghold on the earth, and Ophir [gold] among the rocks of the brooks. [25] Your stronghold would be powerful, and you

22:26. You would not be embarrassed to beseech God for all your needs (Kara).

23:2. That is, the hand that afflicts me. Job replied, "Your attempts to console me have failed. I have suffered even more than my groans would indicate" (Rashi).

23:6. God will not intimidate me through His superior strength; He will hear me out and respond according to what I have done (Ramban).

23:13. Nothing can prevent Him from carrying out His will.

23:14. He will continue to chastise me until my full portion of punishment is complete; there have been many other such cases in the past (Rashi).

23:17. I was confounded because I remained alive to suffer the gloom of these disasters, instead of my life ending quickly and relatively painlessly (Rashi).

24:1. Job asks two questions: (a) Why are people's life spans not hidden from God? If He did not know when each person would die, He may postpone someone's punishment until he has died. (b) Why are those who are close to God not able to understand the way in which He conducts His days? (Rashi).

24:2. Job resumes his theme that the wicked perpetrate all sorts of crimes, yet seem to flourish, without Divine intervention.

24:5. Through robbery of wayfarers (Rashi).

24:11. The poor people work hard to produce oil and wine, but never enjoy it, because the wicked steal it from them (Rashi).

24:13. The wicked rebel against God, the Source of light.

would have an abundance of money. 26 Then you would delight in the Almighty, and you would raise your face to God;* 27 you would entreat Him and He would hear you, and you would fulfill your vows. 28 You would utter a decree and it would be done, and light would shine upon your ways. 29 When people are downtrodden you would say, 'Arise'; and He will save those with downcast eyes. 30 Those who are not innocent will be saved through the pureness of your hands.

The righteous can even help the wicked

23 1 Job then spoke up and said:

Job's response to Eliphaz

2 Still today my speech is bitter; my hand* is worse than my sigh. 3 If only I knew how to find Him, I would approach His seat; 4 I would set out my case before Him; I would fill my mouth with arguments! 5 I would know what words He would answer me and I would understand what He would say to me. 6 Would He contend with me through superior power? No! He would only direct Himself to me.* 7 There [my] uprightness would be proven before Him, and I would be forever released from my Judge!

God is everywhere, but cannot be found

8 Behold, I go to the east, He is not there; to the west, I cannot discern Him; 9 though He created the north, I do not see Him [there]; He cloaked the south so I cannot see Him.

Again Job protests his innocence

10 For He knows the way that is mine; He has scrutinized me, and I have emerged like gold. 11 My feet have held fast in His footsteps; I have kept His way and have not strayed. 12 I do not move away from the commandments of His lips; I have cherished the words of His mouth more than my sustenance. 13 He is unique, and who can contradict Him? His soul desires and He does!* 14 For He will complete my just allotment; and with Him are many such things.* 15 Therefore I am confounded by His presence; when I contemplate [this], I am terrified of Him. 16 God has made my heart faint; the Almighty has confounded me, 17 because I was not cut off before this darkness, and because He did not cover the blackness from before me!*

But who can contend with God?

24 1 Why could not time spans have been hidden from the Almighty. And why do those who know Him not comprehend His days?* 2 People move boundary markers; they rob a flock and graze it [for themselves].* 3 They carry off the donkey of orphans; they exact the ox of a widow as collateral. 4 They steer the needy off the road; together, the poor of the land go into hiding. 5 Behold, like wild asses in the wilderness they go out for their labor, searching for prey; the desert provides him food for his lads.* 6 They reap produce in the field; the wicked denude the vineyard. 7 They let the naked spend the night unclothed, without a garment against the cold; 8 they become drenched from the mountain's flow; clinging to a rock for lack of shelter. 9 The [wicked] tear an orphan from the breast; they take collateral from off [the backs of] the poor. 10 They let the naked go without clothing; they carry away a sheaf from the hungry. 11 Between the rows [of olives] they produce oil and they trample vintages, yet they go thirsty.* 12 From the city the populace groans and the souls of the slain cry out, but God does not lay guilt!

The cruelty and brazenness of the wicked

They are preoccupied with dishonesty and immorality

13 They were among those who rebel against daylight;* not recognizing His ways nor settling in His pathways. 14 At the light the murderer arises to kill the poor and destitute, and at night he acts as a thief. 15 The adulterer's eye awaits the night, saying, 'No eye will see me!' and he applies himself [to sin] in concealment. 16 In darkness burrowing into houses, 24:17. Both the adulterer and the robber dread daylight, when their victims might recognize them.

24:18. Always in flight from possible apprehension, they do not work their fields; they prefer to steal from others (Ramban).

24:19-20. Why should the wicked die a swift death while I, Job, must suffer?

24:24. They die like all other men, without any particularly difficult suffering (Ramban).

25:2. Despite God's absolute power, He rules through peace. Why, then, should you insist that He has judged you unfairly? (Kara).

25:5. God, at His discretion, can send clouds to block the light of the heavenly bodies from reaching earth.

25:6. Bildad does not criticize Job; he asks his suffering friend to accept human helplessness before God's might.

26:4-5. Neither the living nor the dead are stirred by your wisdom (Ramban).

[19] As drought and heat snatch melting snow, so the grave [snatches] sinners. * [20] The womb [that bore him] will forget him; he will be sweet to maggots, nevermore to be remembered. Wickedness will be broken like a tree. [21] He oppresses the barren woman who cannot give birth; and will not benefit the widow. [22] Therefore [God] will sweep away [each of] the powerful ones with His might; he will arise one day and not believe that he will live. [23] [God] grants him security, and he relies on it, but His eyes are fixed on their ways. [24] They are exalted briefly, and then they are gone. They are crushed, like all who are swept away, * and they are snapped off like the top of a stalk.

[25] If this is not so, then who can prove me false and make my words into nothing?

25

[1] Bildad the Shuhite then spoke up and said:

BILDAD'S THIRD SPEECH AND JOB'S RESPONSE 25:1-26:14

[2] Dominion and dread are with Him; He makes peace in His heights. * [3] Is there a number for His legions? Upon whom does His light not shine? [4] How can man be considered righteous before God? How can one born of woman be considered pure? [5] Behold! the moon passed by and cast no light and the stars are not pure in His eyes, * [6] how much more so man, [who is like] a maggot, and a mortal, [who is like] a worm! *

26

[1] Job then spoke up and said:

Job's response to Bildad

[2] How have you helped the one who has no strength? How have you saved the arm that has no power? [3] What have you advised the one who has no wisdom? Yet you have dispensed counsel so liberally! [4] To whom have you told [new] words? Whose breath has gone out from you? [5] Will the dead spirits, who are underneath the water, be stirred, or those who dwell there? *

[6] The grave is naked before Him, and there is no covering for doom; [7] He spreads out the North over a void; He suspends the earth upon nothingness; * [8] He bundles water in His clouds, yet the cloud does not burst under them; [9] He put walls around the Throne; * He spread out His cloud over it; [10] He drew a boundary around the water's edge, until light and darkness come to an end. [11] The pillars of the heavens shudder and are astounded by His rebuke. * [12] With His strength He divides the ocean, and with His understanding He crushes [its] pride. * [13] By His breath the heavens were spread; His hand fashioned the [earth-]girdling serpent. *

Job himself depicts God's unparalleled might [14] Behold, these are but the tip of His ways. What is the least we can understand about Him? Who can fathom the thunder of His mighty deeds?

27

[1] Job continued declaiming his parable, and said:

JOB'S FIRST SOLILOQUY 27:1-28:28

[2] As God lives, [I swear that] He has removed justice from me, and the Almighty has embittered my soul. [3] But as long as my soul is within me and the spirit of God is in my nostrils, [4] my lips shall not speak iniquity and my tongue shall not utter deceit. [5] Far be it from me — until I perish — to say you are right! I will not renounce my [claim of] innocence from myself!

27:8. Knowing this, I always avoided doing evil (Rashi).

27:11. The way He conducts the world (Rashi).

27:12. You have all seen the lot of the wicked, as described in the following verses (Rashi).

27:15. There will be so many deaths that the pain of his widows will be dulled (Kara).

27:18. It is fragile and will not last.

27:19. He will be lying at death's door but will recuperate to find that his wealth is gone (Metzudos).

27:23. Clapping and whistling were gestures of astonishment over great destruction.

28:1-12. Despite the many things that God has revealed to man (vv. 1-11), He did not reveal His wisdom (Ramban).

28:4. So that "human feet" are unable to ford it (Ramban).

28:5. The once fertile soil of Sodom (see Genesis 13:10) became sulfur and salt (Rashi, Kara).

28:10. New river channels were formed by the cataclysm.

28:11. He knows many secrets that are hidden from mankind (Kara).

28:14. Even the vastness of the oceans cannot contain God's wisdom (Kara).

He condemns those who blame him

6 I have held fast to my righteousness and I will not release [it]; my heart has never embarrassed me. 7 May my enemy [be treated] like the wicked, and those who rise up against me like the iniquitous. 8 For what is the hypocrite's *hope though he gains a profit, for surely God will cast away his soul? 9 Will God heed his cry when misfortune befalls him? 10 Can he delight in the Almighty, calling on God at all times?

The futility of the wicked

11 I will teach you what is in God's hand; * I will not withhold from you that which is with the Almighty. 12 Behold, all of you have seen it, * so why is it that you embrace folly? 13 This is the wicked man's portion with God, and the legacy that the brutal men will take from the Almighty: 14 If his children multiply, it is for the sword; his offspring will not be sated with food. 15 Those *who survive him will be buried in death, and his widows will not weep.

Nothing will be left of their wealth

16 Though he may amass money like dirt and prepare a wardrobe as [abun- dant as] clay, 17 he may prepare, but a righteous man will wear it, and a virtu- ous man will apportion his money. 18 *He builds his home like [that of] a moth, like the booth a watchman makes. 19 A rich man may be bedridden but not gathered in; * [when] he opens his eyes, it is gone. 20 Fright overcomes him like flooding water; a tempest abducts him by night. 21 An east wind carries him and he goes away; it blows him from his place. 22 He casts misfortune upon him, and will not show mercy; from His hand he desperately flees.
23 *[People] from his place will clap their hands over him and whistle over him.

28

JOB'S PAEAN TO WISDOM 28:1-28

1 * For there is a source for silver, and a place where gold is refined.
2 Iron is taken from the soil, and copper is smelted from stone.

3 He sets a limit to the darkness, and He investigates the end of everything:
the source of gloom and the shadow of death.

4 A river bursts forth from its normal flow, to where it is unknown to human *feet; it rises and surges over people.

God's mastery over earth

5 There is a land where food once grew; but its place was transformed, *resembling fire.

6 It was a place whose stones were sapphires, and it had dust of gold;

7 [on] a route not known to the buzzard, [that] the vulture's eye has not seen.

8 Lions' whelps did not traverse it and lions did not pass over it.

9 [But God] stretched out His hand to the flint and overturned mountains from the root.

10 He split open river channels in the rocks. * His eye saw every precious thing.

11 From the waters of the deep He fashioned rivers; He brings secret things *out into the light.

His wisdom is incalculable

12 [But as for] wisdom: Where can it be found? Which is the place of understanding?

13 Mankind does not know its worth; it cannot be found in the land of the living.

14 *The depth says, 'It is not in me!' and the sea says, 'It is not with me!'

15 Precious gold cannot be exchanged for it and its price cannot be weighed in silver.

16 It cannot be compared to Ophir gold or to precious shoham or sapphire.

17 Gold and glass cannot approximate it, nor can its exchange be [in] golden articles.

28:27. God looked at wisdom.

29:7. The elders and judges would convene at the city gate (Rashi).

29:8. Job recalled how his very appearance would evoke respect and awe (Rashi).

29:11. People knew that I was honest and trustworthy.

29:21. People held me in such high esteem that they awaited my counsel and accepted it unquestioningly.

29:24. Such was their reverence for me that they would not allow themselves to develop an intimate friendship with me (Rashi).

29:25. Like mourners thirsty for words of comfort, people would gather around to drink up my words. Job recalls how greatly he was respected and how it seemed that his status could only grow ever more exalted (Metzudos).

18 Corals and crystal cannot be considered; the pursuit of wisdom [is more precious] than pearls.

19 The pitdah of Cush cannot approximate it; the purest gold cannot be compared to it.

Where can wisdom be found?

20 Wisdom: From where does it come? Which is the place of understanding?

21 It is hidden from the eyes of all living things and is concealed from the bird of the heavens.

22 Doom and Death say, 'With our ears we have heard of its reputation.'

Only God can know

23 [Only] God understands its way, and He knows its place.

24 For He peers to the ends of the world; He sees what is under the entire heavens,

25 making a prescribed weight for the wind, apportioning water with a measure,

26 when He makes a set allotment for the rain and a path for clouds of thunder.

27 Then He looked and recorded it; He prepared it and perfected it;*

Wisdom's essence is piety

28 and He said to man, 'Behold, the fear of the Lord is wisdom, and refraining from evil is understanding!'

29 JOB'S SECOND SOLILOQUY 29:1-31:40

1 Job continued declaiming his parable, and said:

Longing for bygone days of comfort, of respect . . .

2 If only I could be as in the earlier months, as in the days when God would watch over me; 3 when His lamp would shine over my head, and I would walk [in] darkness by His light; 4 when I was in the days of my prime; when God's mystery was above my tent; 5 when the Almighty was still with me, with my attendants all around me; 6 when my steps were bathed in cream and the rocks would pour out pools of oil for me. 7 When I would go out to the city gate atop a platform, and set my seat in the town square,* 8 *youths would see me and conceal themselves; the aged would rise and stand; 9 ministers would withhold [their] words, and place [their] hand to their mouth; 10 the voice of leaders would be hidden, their tongue would cleave to their palate. 11 *When an ear would hear [me], it would praise me; [when] an eye would see [me], it would vouch for me. 12 For I would rescue a pauper from [his] wailing and an orphan who had no one to help him. 13 The blessings of the forlorn would be upon me, and I would bring joyous song to a widow's heart. 14 I donned righteousness, and it suited me; my justice was like a cloak and a headdress. 15 I was eyes to the blind and feet to the lame; 16 I was a father to the destitute; if I was ignorant of their grievance I would investigate; 17 I smashed the fangs of injustice and caused prey to be cast from its teeth. 18 I said [to myself], 'I will expire with my nest [intact]; I will live as long as the phoenix; 19 my roots will be open to water and dew will always dwell on my branches; 20 *my honor will always renew itself and my bow will refresh itself in my hand.'

. . . of righteous charity . . .

. . . of security . . .

. . . and of prestige

21 *People would hear me with anticipation; await my counsel silently. 22 After my word, nothing more was said; my speech would be pleasing to them. 23 They would long for me as for rain, opening their mouth wide for the late rain. 24 *If I would joke with them they would not believe it; they would not let my radiant face be diminished. 25 *I would choose their way. I would sit at the head, I would rest like a king among his troops, as one who consoles mourners.

30:2. Job describes at length the lowliness of [the fathers of] these young scoffers. They did not gain the maturity and wisdom that usually come with age (Ramban).

30:3. Their base character made them unwelcome in the towns (see v. 5).

30:9. The lowly people Job described in such scathing terms have now become his tormentors, as he has become the degraded, scorned one.

30:11. Once God weakened me, my opponents threw off all restraint.

30:12. When I get in their way (Rashi).

30:17-19. Job's illness ravaged his skin, causing him extreme discomfort, forcing him to change his clothing constantly because of filth, oozing, and perspiration; and causing him to seek relief by covering himself with clay.

30:20. To decide how to worsen my condition (Rashi).

30:22. A reference to God's handing over of Job's fate to the Satan (Kara).

30:25. Shouldn't I, who was merciful to others, deserve mercy for myself? (Rashi).

30:29. Jackals and owls make mournful sounds.

31:1. Job concludes his long argument. In contrast to Chapter 29 where he spoke of his prestige and his kindness to others, here he concentrates on his personal piety: "I always acted with the utmost propriety and modesty. Although I would have been permitted to marry a maiden, I still avoided immodest gazes."

31:4. Surely God is aware of my innocence (Rashi).

Knaves now scoff at Job

Their fathers were degraded people . . .

[1] But now, they scoff at me, people younger in age than I, whose fathers I rejected from serving with my sheep dogs. [2] Of what use was the strength of their hands to me? Their old age was utterly lost for them. * [3] They were lonely in privation and hunger; they would flee to the wilderness, * a place of darkness, destruction and desolation. [4] They would scrape moss from trees, and juniper roots would be their food. [5] They would be driven from the inside [of cities], pursued like thieves by tumultuous cries, [6] to dwell in the clefts of valleys, [in] holes [in the] dirt and rocks. [7] They would bray among the trees; huddling among the brambles. [8] Churlish people, people without names; too debased to have standing in the land.

. . . yet they now scoff at Job

[9] But now I have become their refrain; I have become a byword for them. * [10] They have despised me, distanced themselves from me; have not withheld spittle from my face. [11] [God] has loosened my bowstring and afflicted me; they have thrown off their harness from my presence. * [12] On my right, youngsters rise up; they push my feet away; * they pave their destructive paths beside me. [13] They have repudiated my [virtuous] pathways, they have helped with my downfall — these people whom no one has ever helped. [14] They come as through a wide breach; they roll under the ruins. [15] Demons turn against me; [evil] chases away my nobility like the wind; my salvation has drifted away like a cloud.

God has brought Job horrible suffering . . .

[16] So now my soul pours itself out upon me; my days of affliction seize me. [17] By night my bones are pecked from upon me and my sinews have no rest. * [18] Its intensity makes me change my garments; girdling me like my robe's collar. [19] It has taught me [to sit] in clay; I am likened to dust and ashes. [20] I cry out to You, but You do not answer me; when I stop, You scrutinize me. * [21] You turned to be cruel to me; with the might of Your hand, You despise me. [22] You have cast me off to the [evil] spirits and have suppressed me [under them]; * weakness melts me.

. . . but not total destruction

[23] For I knew that You would bring me to Death, to the destination of all life. [24] But let Him not stretch out His hand in total fury; though destruction is their lot, there is some relief. [25] Did I not weep for the heavily burdened, did I not sorrow for the destitute? * [26] I had hoped for goodness, but evil came; I had looked forward to light, but darkness came. [27] My innards boiled and did not cease; days of oppression came toward me. [28] I go about darkened, though not from the sun. I rise up in public and scream. [29] I have become a brother to jackals, a friend to owls. * [30] My skin has become blackened upon me, and my bones have dried out from heat. [31] My harp has turned for mourning, my flute to the sound of weepers.

But didn't Job deserve some mercy?

"Surely God knows my righteousness!"

[1] I forged a covenant for my eyes, and I would not gaze at a maiden. * [2] Why, then, is [this my] portion from God above and the legacy of the Almighty from on high? [3] Behold, calamity is for a perverse person; disaster for those who commit iniquity. [4] Does He not see my ways and count all my footsteps, * [5] whether I went with falsehood or if my feet hurried to deceit? [6] Let Him weigh me in the scales of righteousness; then God would know of my integrity.

"I was never immoral!"

[7] If my steps [ever] veered from the [proper] way or if my heart [ever] went after my eyes, or if anything [ever] clung to my hand, [8] then may I sow and let another eat, and may my produce be uprooted! [9] If my heart was [ever] seduced over a woman, or if I ever lay in wait at my neighbor's

31:9-10. Job says that if he had ever engaged in immoral conduct, then he would deserve to have his wife be disloyal to him.

31:15. God made both me and my servant (v. 13); we are both entitled to dignity and justice.

31:18. The trait of being charitable has guided me through life like a father leading and training his son.

31:21. Did I ever take advantage of an orphan, even if the court at the gate would have ruled that I was justified? (Metzudos).

31:25. I never flaunted my wealth in the presence of the poor (Rashi).

31:26-27. I never deified the sun and moon, secretly attributing my wealth to them (Ramban).

31:31. My household was furious with me for the extent of my hospitality to all passersby, because my servants were forced to work hard to provide hospitality (Rashi).

31:35-37. Let my worst enemy write a book with all the accusations against me. So confident am I of my innocence that I would proudly display the book publicly.

31:37. I would honor my antagonist like a prince, hiding nothing from him, because I know he will find nothing negative to write (Ralbag).

31:38-39. If I did not pay my laborers (Kara), or if I did not give my sharecroppers their rightful portion of the yield (Rashi).

door,* 10 then may my wife grind for another man, and may strangers kneel over her! 11 For that is licentiousness; that is an iniquity for the judges [to punish]! 12 For it is a fire; it consumes unto doom, and it would uproot all my produce.

"I always treated people respectfully."

13 If I ever spurned justice for my servants and maidservants when they contended with me, 14 then what could I do when God would rise up? When He would attend to me, what could I answer Him? 15 Did not the One Who made me in the belly make him too?* Was it not the One Who prepared us in the womb? 16 Never did I withhold the needs of the destitute, nor did I let a widow's eyes long in vain, 17 nor did I eat my bread in solitude, so that an

"I was always charitable."

orphan could not eat from it. 18 For it* raised me since my youth as [if it were] a father, and I have practiced it from my mother's womb. 19 Did I ever see a forlorn person without a garment, or was there ever a destitute person without clothing, 20 whose loins would not bless me, who would [not] warm himself by the shearings of my sheep? 21 If I ever raised my hand against an orphan, though I saw that I would be supported at the gate,* 22 then let my shoulder fall from [its] blade and let my forearm be broken off from [my] upper arm. 23 For the fear of God's punishment was upon me, and I could

"I never trusted in wealth or in idols."

not bear His burden. 24 If I ever put my trust in gold, or ever said of jewels, '[This] is my security!'; 25 if I ever rejoiced because my wealth was great or that my hand had attained much;* 26 if I ever saw the sun as it shone or the moon as growing glorious 27 and my heart was seduced in secret, my hand pressed against my lips* — 28 that would also be an iniquity for a judge

"I never neglected others."

[to punish], for I would have denied the God above. 29 Or, if I ever rejoiced at the downfall of my enemy or enthused when misfortune befell him, 30 for I did not let my palate sin, to request his life with a curse. 31 Or, if the people of my household did not say, 'If only we could get his flesh, we would never be sated!'* 32 No sojourner ever slept outside; I opened my doors to the street. 33 Or, if I ever covered my sins as man does, hiding my transgression in my heart. 34 For I used to strike a great multitude with awe, but [now] the basest of families frightens me; I am silenced, unable to go out the door.

No one can challenge Job's rectitude

35 Who will grant that someone would hear me; my desire is for the Almighty to answer me! Let whoever contends with me write a book* — 36 I would carry it on my shoulder, bind it as crowns upon myself! 37 I would tell him the number of my steps; I would draw him close to me like a prince.* 38 If my land would shout out against me* or its furrows would weep in unison, 39 if I have ever eaten its yield without payment or embittered the soul of its owner — 40 then in place of wheat may thorns emerge, and in place of barley, weeds.

Job's words have ended.

32

Job's friends give up

1 These three men then stopped responding to Job, for [they saw that] he was righteous in his own eyes.

ELIHU THE BUZITE 32:2-37:24

2 The wrath of Elihu son of Barachel the Buzite of the family of Ram flared up:
His wrath flared up against Job for judging himself more righteous than God;
3 and his wrath flared up against his three friends because they had not found a proper response and had condemned Job. 4 Elihu waited before addressing Job, for they were older in years than he. 5 But when Elihu saw that there was no 32:8. I see that wisdom is a Divine gift from above, and does not necessarily come with age (Rashi).

32:13. Do not claim that you decided to be silent because further argument would be useless. Since God has punished Job, your silence implies that Job's harangues against his fate are justified and that God was wrong.

32:18-20. Elihu likens himself to a container filled with fermenting wine. It emits fermentation gasses that can cause the container to burst, unless the pressure is relieved (Rashi). So too, Elihu says, "I have repressed my words for so long I feel as if I am about to explode."

32:21. I will not "mince any words."

32:22. God will not forgive me if I do not speak up.

33:4. I, like you, am mere flesh and blood (Rashi).

33:6. You demanded that God respond to your complaints (see above 13:3, 16:21, 23:3-4).

33:12. Even if you are righteous, God would not have treated you as an enemy without good reason (Ramban).

33:18. God inflicts illness to make the victim consider his mortality and mend his ways, thereby saving his life in the process (Rashi).

response in the mouths of the three men, his wrath flared.
6 Elihu son of Barachel the Buzite then spoke up and said:

God, not age, is the source of wisdom

I am young in years and you are elderly; therefore, I trembled and feared to express my opinion to you. 7 I had thought, "Let days speak out; let abundant years teach wisdom." 8 *But [in truth,] it is a spirit in man, and it is the soul from the Almighty that gives them understanding; 9 it is not that great men are [always] wise, or that elders understand justice. 10 Therefore, I say, "Hear me. I, too, will express my opinion." 11 Behold, I waited for your words, I gave ear to your wisdom, until you had searched for [proper] words. 12 I contemplated you and behold, there is no one to clarify for Job, no one among you to refute his statements. 13 *Do not say, "We have found wisdom!" — for God, not man, has smitten him! 14 He did not direct his words to me, but I would not have answered him with your statements.

Elihu criticizes the friends' tactics

. . . then takes up the challenge

15 They have become confounded and do not speak up any more; words have escaped them. 16 So I waited, for they did not speak; they stood still, and did not respond any more. 17 I, too, will speak up my portion; I, too, will express my opinion. 18 *For I am filled with words; the spirit inside of my belly oppresses me. 19 Behold, my belly is like unopened wine, like new flagons about to split. 20 Let me speak and I will feel relieved; I shall open my lips and speak up! 21 *Let me not show favor to any man, nor dissemble for any person. 22 *For I know not how to dissemble; for then my Maker would consume me.

Elihu asks leave to speak

1 However, I beg you, Job, listen to my words; give ear to all my statements. 2 Behold, I have opened my mouth now; my tongue speaks with my palate. 3 My pronouncements express the uprightness of my heart, and the knowledge of my lips speaks clearly. 4 *The spirit of God has made me, and a soul from the Almighty gives me life. 5 If you can, answer me; state your case before me and stand firm. 6 Behold, I represent God, as you requested, * though I, too, am fashioned from clay. 7 Behold, fear of me should not intimidate you; let my authority not overwhelm you.

ELIHU'S FIRST THEME: PAIN AND SUFFERING 33:8-33

Suffering can spare man from worse travail

8 Indeed, you said in my ears, and I heard the sound of [those] words: 9 'I am innocent, without sin; I am pure and there is no transgression in me. 10 Behold, He seeks pretexts against me; He considers me His enemy. 11 He places my feet in fetters, scrutinizes all my paths.' 12 *Behold, I will answer you that in this you are incorrect; for God is greater than man. 13 Why do you complain against Him that He does not answer all of [man's] statements? 14 For God speaks once, and sees no need for twice. 15 In a dream, a vision of the night, when a deep sleep falls over people, during slumbers upon the bed, 16 then He uncovers people's ears and seals their affliction, 17 in order to divert a person from his [planned] action, and to suppress pride from man, 18 *thus sparing his soul from the grave, and his life from perishing by the sword. 19 And so he is afflicted with pain upon his bed, and upon the multitude of his strong bones. 20 His being finds food loathsome, * and his soul [rejects] enticing foods. 21 His flesh is consumed from sight; his bulging bones become unseen. 22 *His soul approaches the grave, and his being the killers. 23 *If there will be for someone but a single defending angel out of a thousand to declare a man's uprightness on his behalf, 24 then [God] will be gracious to him

A small amount of good can save man

33:20. His illness causes him a loss of appetite.
33:22. The angels of death (Ibn Ezra).
33:23-24. Even if only one angel defends him against a thousand accusers, God will spare him (Rashi; Kara).

33:27. He comprehends the message that his illness was meant to convey to him, and he announces his feelings of gratitude to God in public (Rashi).

34:7. Job utters words of scorn as copiously as other people drink water, with an unlimited supply (Ralbag).

34:8. As evidenced by his statements in the next verse (Ralbag).

34:13-15. God is not responsible to a Higher Authority and has no need to pervert justice to destroy a man. Why should God deal with man unjustly? He could simply take back the soul that He granted man (Rashi).

34:28. God punishes those who ignore the pleas of the needy.

and say, 'Redeem him from going down to the grave. I have found [him] atonement.' 25 His flesh has revived from its trembling, and he will return to Prayerful repentance is the cure his days of youthfulness. 26 He entreats God, and He accepts him; he appears before Him in prayer, and He recompenses man for his righteousness. 27 He then goes around to people and says, * 'I have sinned; I have made crooked that which was straight; but to no avail.' 28 For [God] absolved him from passing into the grave; so that his being might see the light. 29 Behold, God does all these things with man two or three times, 30 to bring back his soul from the grave, to bask in the light of the living.

31 Hearken, Job, and listen to me; be still and I will speak. 32 If there are words, answer me; speak, for I wish to vindicate you. 33 If there are not, you listen to me; be still and I will teach you wisdom!

34 1 Elihu then spoke up and said:

ELIHU'S SECOND THEME: GOD'S WAY IS JUST 34:1-37

2 Hear my words, O wise men; men of knowledge give ear to me! 3 For an ear can discern words as a palate can taste for eating. 4 Let us choose judgment for ourselves; let us decide among ourselves what is good. 5 For Job has said, 'I was righteous and God has taken away my justice! 6 I claim my judgment was deceitful; my wound was grave without guilt!' 7 Who is a man like Job, who drinks scorn like water; * 8 who goes toward a company of workers of iniquity, * to walk with men of wickedness; 9 and who has said, 'A man has nothing to gain by pleasing God.'

Man suffers only if he deserves to 10 Therefore, you men with [understanding] hearts, listen to me! To do evil is sacrilegious to God, and iniquity to the Almighty! 11 For He repays the deeds of man, and causes man to find according to his conduct. 12 Surely God will not act wickedly, and the Almighty will not pervert justice. 13 Who gave Him command over the earth, and who placed the entire inhabited world [under Him]? * 14 If He were to set his heart against someone, He would [simply] gather in his spirit and his soul to Himself; 15 all flesh would expire together, and man would return to the dust.

God has no reason to pervert justice

He is impartial

16 But if [you seek] understanding, listen to this; give ear to the sound of my words. 17 Would [God] heal someone who despises justice? Would you declare the mighty Righteous One to be wicked? 18 Can one say to a king, '[You are] lawless!' or to princes, 'Wicked one!'? 19 [Surely not of] the One Who does not favor leaders, nor lets a noble be given recognition over a pauper, for they are all His handiwork! 20 In one moment they die; in [the] middle of the night the people fall into turmoil and pass away; and the mighty are removed without physical force. 21 For [His] eyes are upon man's ways, and He sees all his steps; 22 there is no darkness and no shadow of death where evildoers can be hidden. 23 For He does not impose too much upon man, so that they could come before God for justice. 24 He smashes mighty men without calculation and sets up others in their place; 25 because He knows their works, He turns over the night and crushes them. 26 He strikes the wicked in their places, in a place of witnesses, 27 because they turned away from following Him, and did not contemplate all His ways, 28 causing the cry of the needy to come before Him, and He hears the cry of the poor. *

Man is helpless against Him

29 When He grants [a person] serenity, who can cause [that person] turmoil? And when He hides [His] face [from a person], who can take note of him? Upon a nation or upon an individual — all are alike. 30 [He removes] the hypocrite from kingship, that the people not become ensnared. 31 For can 35:10. The spectacle of myriad stars in the nighttime sky should instill in anyone a sense of awe. But these people were not inspired even by this majestic display of God's might (Ramban).

35:11. Why would God give intelligence to us, but not to other life forms, if not to form a just society in which, unlike the animal kingdom, strong people do not devour the weak (Ramban).

35:12-13. The time will come when the wicked oppressors will themselves cry out for help, but God will ignore them, because they are men of deception (Kara).

36:3. When I contemplate events all the way to the distant past, I recognize that God is righteous (Kara). Alternatively: I will raise my voice in knowledge, that my words may be heard from afar (Metzudos).

36:4. Everything He has brought upon you is with a precise, deliberate purpose (Ramban).

36:5. God's mercy is so strong that He does not neglect the poor; and He is also strong in His heartfelt indignation, to punish the wicked (Rashi).

36:15. Those who are essentially righteous, but "poor" in good deeds, will be spared from the terrors of Gehinnom by the suffering they endure in this world (Rashi).

one say to God, 'I have suffered enough; I wish no more harm. 32 Besides what I see — you teach me! If I have done wrong, I will not continue.'

Job must stop his rebellious criticism

34 People of [understanding] heart say this to me, and the wise man listens to me: 35 'Job does not speak with knowledge, and his words are without intelligence!' 36 My desire is that Job be disproven forever, as a rebuttal for men of wrongdoing — 37 for he adds rebellion to his error, by speaking so profusely among us, and utters too many pronouncements against God.

1 Elihu then spoke up and said:

ELIHU'S THIRD THEME: GOD VIS-A-VIS MAN
35:2-16

2 Do you consider this — [when] you say, 'My righteousness is greater than God's' — to be just? 3 [And] when you say, 'What benefit is there for You [in my righteousness]? What does it avail me more than my sinfulness?' 4 I will reply with words to you and to your friends with you.

Virtue benefits man, not God

5 *Look at the heavens and see; gaze at the skies that tower above you. 6 If you have sinned, how have you affected Him? If your transgressions multiply, what have you done to Him? 7 If you were righteous, what have you given Him, or what has He taken from your hand? 8 Your wickedness [is of concern] to a man like yourself, and your righteousness to a human being. 9 [The wicked] cause many victims to scream; they cry out because of the strong-armed oppressors. 10 And none of them said, 'Where is the God Who made me, Who gives songs at night, 11 Who makes us more knowing than the beasts of the land, and makes us wiser than the birds of the sky?" 12 There they will cry out, but He will not answer, because of the pride of the evil ones.* 13 It will be only for naught! For God will not listen, and the Almighty will not look. 14 Although you may say that you cannot see Him, yet there is judgment before Him, and you should place your hope in Him. 15 So now — [know] that His anger against you is [comparatively] nothing, as if He did not know the vastness [of your guilt]. 16 Job opens his mouth with nonsense; he multiplies verbiage without knowledge.

The wicked do not reflect on God's purpose . . .

. . . and He will ignore their cries

His judgments are never haphazard

1 Elihu continued and said:

ELIHU'S FOURTH THEME: METHODOLOGY OF DIVINE DISCIPLINE
36:1-22

2 Wait for me a bit and I will tell you; for there are more words on God's behalf. 3 *I will raise my knowledge from afar, I will ascribe righteousness to my Maker. 4 *For in truth, my words are not false; [God] is perfect in His knowledge of you. 5 *Behold, God is mighty and does not despise; and He is mighty in the strength of his heart. 6 He will not keep the wicked alive; He will grant justice to the poor. 7 He will not remove His eyes from a righteous man until he is on the throne with kings; He will seat them [there] forever and they will become exalted. 8 And if they are shackled in fetters, trapped in ropes of affliction, 9 He [thus] informs them of their [errant] deeds and their transgressions, for they have become overpowering. 10 He opened their ears to discipline, and said that they should turn back from wrongdoing. 11 If they will listen and serve [Him], then they will finish their days in goodness and their years in pleasantness. 12 But if they will not listen, they will pass away by the sword and expire for lack of knowledge. 13 And those with insincere hearts will bring on [God's] anger; they should not cry out [to Him] when He afflicts them. 14 Their soul will die amid turmoil, and their life among the promiscuous. 15 *But He will extricate a poor man [from his sins] through his poverty, and open their ears through oppression. 16 He has led you out,

36:21. Elihu pleads with Job to submit to God's judgment and stop blaming Him for his plight (Metzudos).

36:22. God is unequaled in His use of illness or other suffering as a means to instruct a person and awaken him to the necessity to repent.

36:23-25. No one has the authority to command God or to criticize Him for His actions (Kara). Instead, focus on His Omnipotence and praise Him.

36:30-32. God seeds His heavenly canopy with rain, which pours down and covers the earth, as reward for those whose prayers earn it.

37:12-13. God sends clouds from place to place to bring rain, depending on what people deserve — sometimes a severe storm, sometimes to water the land, and sometimes, out of Divine mercy, even when it is not deserved (Rashi, Kara).

37:17. The very weather is an expression of God's power. Thus, winter clothing feels too warm when the cold north wind is replaced by the warm, calm, south wind.

Who can instruct as He does?

SONG OF THE RAIN: TESTIMONY TO THE OMNIPOTENCE OF GOD 36:23-37:24

23 Who could have designated His course for Him, * and who could have said, 'You have committed iniquity?' 24 Remember so that you will extol His works, of which men sing. 25 All men have seen them, a person views [it] from afar. 26 Behold, God is mightier than we can know; the number of His years is beyond calculation. 27 For He proliferates water-droplets, rain is distilled [to form] its clouds, 28 so that the heavens may drip water, pouring it out over a multitude of people. 29 Can a person even understand the spreading out of the thick cloud, or the dark clouds of His canopy? 30 Behold, He spreads His rain over it, and covers over the roots of the sea. * 31 For through them he judges peoples, and he gives food to people with abundance. 32 He covers the clouds with rain; and commands it upon those who entreat Him. 33 *Its thunder announces it, as does the herd [and] even the dam.

37 God's "voice" is heard through His control of nature

1 *Because of this my heart trembles and jumps from its place: 2 Listen well as, in fury, He gives voice, speech emanates from His mouth. 3 Under all the heavens He sends it forth, its flash unto the ends of the earth. 4 After that a sound roars out, and thunders in its majestic voice; He does not hold them back, for its sound is heard. * 5 God thunders marvelously with His voice; He does wonders that we do not comprehend. 6 For He says to the snow, 'Be upon the ground!' — and [also says this] to showers of [light] rain and showers of his mighty rains. 7 He seals [a judgment] with the hand of every man, * so that all people He has made may know. 8 The beast then enters [its] lair, and rests in its dens. 9 A tempest emerges from the inner chamber, * and cold weather from the constellations. 10 By God's breath He makes ice, and an expanse of water becomes solidified. 11 Even when it is clear, He troubles thick clouds [to form]; He spreads out His rain clouds. 12 *Good reasons direct its movements, cunningly it pursues its tasks, according to [man's] deeds; however He commands them, upon the inhabited surface of the earth. 13 Whether for punishment or for [the benefit of] His land, or for kindness, He may supply it.

Harmful rain, beneficial rain: God's recompense to man

God's ways: beyond human comprehension

14 Give ear to this, Job; stop and contemplate the wonders of God. 15 Do you know how God imposes upon [the clouds], and how He makes His rain-cloud appear? 16 Do you understand the spreading out of the clouds or the wonders of the One of Perfect Knowledge, 17 *or why your clothes feel warm when the land is becalmed from the South? 18 *Did you stretch out the heavens with Him, to be as strong as a molten mirror? 19 *Let us know what we can say to Him; we cannot prepare our case because of darkness.

37:18. Mirrors used to be made of hard, strong burnished metal (Rashi).

37:19. We cannot formulate our contention before God because of the mystery that surrounds Him (Rashi). But if you can answer the questions posed earlier (vv. 15-18), perhaps you can help us confront God! (Ramban).

37:20. God knows everything we say, even if we do not confront Him (Rashi).

37:21. Elihu dismisses Job and his friends, each of whom put forth erroneous arguments (Rashi). Like clouds that appear to hold rain, only to be blown away, the friends came to refute Job's assertions, only to fail completely.

37:22. Like someone who does not see the light even after a north wind has blown away all the clouds (Rashi).

37:23. With all His awesome power, he does not mete out justice without compassion (Rashi).

37:24. People are afraid to contend with God because their understanding and wisdom is nothing compared to His (Rashi).

Elihu's speech is over and he does not appear again — nor does Job respond with anger and resentment, as he had to the other friends. Apparently Job was impressed with Elihu's theme: God and His ways are beyond human comprehension, and His inscrutable ways are filled with underlying compassion — like the creation of rain, which is the major theme of Elihu's final argument.

38:1. God now speaks directly to Job, for the first time.

38:8. God created the sands of the shore, as a border to enclose the seas.

38:13. The sunlight is depicted as the instrument through which God purges the wicked (Ibn Ezra).

38:14. As people are constantly replaced by others, the earth is depicted as changing its appearance and putting on a new garment (Ibn Ezra).

38:17. Do you understand all the different ways in which God brings death to man? (Kara).

38:20. Can you cause the morning or even the evening to come about by consigning the darkness to its resting place or taking it out of its abode? (Kara).

38:23. I set aside the hail to be used as a punishment against wicked nations.

38:25-30. Rain is solely in God's control. That He lets it fall on uninhabited places proves that His compassion extends even to animals, and certainly to people (Ramban: Kara).

20 *Must He be told when I speak? When a person says something, need it be revealed?

21 *Thus, they have never seen the light; they are [like] spots of cloud in the sky, which a wind comes and clears away. 22 *The golden [sunshine] has come because of the north [wind]; it is an awesome magnificence from God.

23 *We do not find the Almighty to be overbearing in His strength; with justice and an abundance of kindness, he does not deal harshly. 24 *Therefore people fear Him — for He is not impressed with those who are wise of heart.

38

GOD SPEAKS FROM OUT OF THE WHIRLWIND 38:1-41:26

1 HASHEM *then responded to Job from out of the whirlwind, and said:

2 Who is this who gives murky counsel, with words without knowledge? 3 Gird your loins like a warrior, and I will ask you, and you will inform Me.

Was Job present when God created the earth? . . . the sea? . . . day and night?

4 Where were you when I laid the earth's foundation? Tell, if you know understanding! 5 Who set its dimensions? — if you know — or who stretched a [surveyor's] line over it? 6 Into what are its bases sunken, or who laid its cornerstone? 7 When the morning stars sang in unison and all the heavenly beings shouted, 8 *as He dammed in the sea with bolted doors as its flow emerged from the womb, 9 when I put a cloud on it as its garment and a fog as its swaddling, 10 and I constrained it with My limits, and I emplaced a bar and bolted doors, 11 and said, 'Until here shall you go, and no further, and only here shall your waves flaunt their majesty!'?

12 Did you ever in your life command the morning, or teach the dawn its place, 13 *to grasp the edges of the earth and shake the wicked from it; 14 as it changes itself, as a seal does to clay, as [people] come into being like [the earth's] garment,* 15 as light is withheld from the wicked, and their raised arm is broken?

Does Job realize the limits of his experience and knowledge?

16 Have you penetrated the hidden depths of the sea, or gone to plumb the deep?

17 *Were the gates of death revealed to you? Have you seen the gates of the shadow of death?

18 Have you contemplated up to the wide expanses of the world? Tell, if you know it all! 19 What is the path where the light dwells? And darkness, where is its place, 20 *that you may take it to its boundary, that you may understand the paths of its home? 21 Do you know, because then you were already born and the number of your days is so great?

22 Have you come upon the storehouses of snow, or seen the storehouses of hail, 23 *which I have kept for times of travail, for a day of battle and war?

24 Which is the way where light is dispersed, which the eastern [sun] spreads upon the land?

God created and controls the rain, the dew, the ice . . .

25 Who fashioned a channel for the torrent, or a path for thunder clouds,* 26 that it may rain upon a land without man, and in a wilderness in which there is no person, 27 to sate desolation and wasteland, to make vegetation sprout forth? 28 Does rain have a father? Who begot the dewdrops?* 29 From whose belly did the ice come forth? Who gave birth to the frost of heaven? 30 *Like a [submerged] stone, the waters are concealed, the very depths are imprisoned.

38:28. Raindrops come into existence only through the hand of God (Ramban).

38:30. When bodies of water are covered by ice, the water is as invisible as a stone that fell into the sea.

38:31. The seven stars of Pleiades are clustered together, as if "tied up"; the stars in Orion are spaced far apart, as if unbound (see Ramban).

38:38. Heavy rain loosens the soil, and when the sun comes out it forms clumps (Ramban).

39:1. The offspring of these animals could not survive their harsh environment without God's benevolence.

39:18. Though it cannot fly, an ostrich can readily outrun a horse.

39:20. That is, his galloping hooves.

39:24. He gallops swiftly, as if swallowing the land. He is so anxious for the battle that he "cannot believe it" when the trumpet signals the beginning of the fray (Rashi).

. . . the constellations . . .

31 *Did you tie up the bond of Pleiades, or unbind the cords of Orion? 32 Did you ever take out the constellations in their times, or lead Ursa together with her children? 33 Do you know the laws of heaven; did you place its rule upon the land?

. . . the clouds, the lightning . . .

34 Did you raise your voice to the clouds, so that a multitude of water should drench you? 35 Did you dispatch lightning bolts, so that they would go forth, and then say to you, 'Here we are!'?

36 [Do you know] who placed wisdom in the innards? Or who imbued the heart with understanding?

37 Who, with wisdom, makes the heavens glisten, and Who pours from the flagons of heaven, 38 *when dirt flows with the poured-out [rain], and clumps are stuck together?

God cares for all creatures: the lion, the raven . . .

39 Will you trap prey for a lion, or fill the needs of lion whelps, 40 when they hunch over in [their] lairs, lie low in their den in wait? 41 Who prepares nourishment for the raven, when its young ones call out to God, helpless without food?

39

. . . the goats and the gazelles . . .

1 *Do you know the time when the mountain goats give birth, or anticipate the labor pains of the gazelle? 2 Did you count the months as they came to term, to know the moment of their birth? 3 They crouch and expel their offspring, they rid themselves of their agonies. 4 Their young become hardy and grow up in the wild; they go off, and do not return to them.

. . . the wild donkey and the wild ox . . .

5 Who set the wild ass free and who loosened the bonds of the wild donkey, 6 for whom I designated the desert as his home, his habitats in arid land? 7 He scoffs at the city's tumult; he does not hear a driver's shouts. 8 He searches out mountains for his pasture, and seeks every greenery. 9 Would a wild ox be willing to serve you? Would he lodge by your feeding trough? 10 Can you hitch a wild ox to the plow with its rope? Would he hoe valleys behind you? 11 Could you trust him, though his strength is great, and leave your labor to him? 12 Could you rely on him to bring back your seed and gather your threshed grain?

. . . the wild birds . . .

13 The wing of the ostriches is a delight; the stork with [its] pinion and feathers. 14 She abandons her eggs on the ground and they are warmed in the dust, 15 but she forgets that feet might crush her egg and the beast of the field might trample it, 16 becoming hardened against her offspring as if they were not hers, her toil being in vain, without fear, 17 for God has denied her wisdom, and He did not apportion to her understanding. 18 *At the opportune time she flies off on high; she laughs at the horse and his rider.

. . . the horses . . .

19 Did you give the horse his strength? Did you adorn his throat with fearsomeness? 20 Did you make him louder than locusts; his majestic snort so fearful?* 21 He lies in ambush in the valleys and rejoices in [his] strength, he goes out to face weapons. 22 He laughs at fear and never trembles; he does not recoil before the sword. 23 Let the quiver rattle against him, the flash of spear and lance. 24 *With noise and trembling he drinks up the land; he cannot believe it when the horn sounds. 25 As the [blasts of the] horn increase, he says, 'Hurrah!' From the distance he smells battle, the thunder of officers and shouting!

. . . the hawk and the eagle

26 Is it by your wisdom that the hawk hovers, spreads its wings toward the south? 27 Is it by your command that the eagle soars, or makes his nest on high, 28 dwelling and lodging in the clefts of rocks, upon rocky cliff

40:4-5. Job acknowledges that he has no right to dispute God and he will henceforth remain silent. He says that his first question — Why do the righteous suffer? — has been answered by Elihu: God's ways are good, though we do not understand them. But his second question — Why should the wicked prosper? — remains (Ralbag).

40:10. God invites Job to try to assume His role as Judge of the world.

40:15. The Behemoth is a gigantic animal, the "Wild Ox" mentioned in Aggadic literature (Ramban). God is telling Job: If you cannot subdue proud and wicked people (vv. 10-14), perhaps you will fare better with a dumb animal (Ramban) that lives on dry land with you (Ibn Ezra).

Scripture goes into great length to describe the huge Behemoth and the even larger and fearsomely ferocious Leviathan in order to show Job that he dare not presume to make demands of the God Who can create such awesome creatures in His world. In a deeper sense, God wanted to make Job understand that everything has a role in the universe and that the comforts of the wicked, to which Job took such exception, cannot be understood in a vacuum. Infinite calculations are involved and only God's wisdom is adequate to know why they are here and what would be lost if they were removed.

40:17. An allusion to virility and ferocity.

40:19. Of all the species of land animals, the Behemoth was the first one created (Metzudos).

40:20. Though he needs a mountainful of produce to satisfy his appetite, animals frolic near him without fear, for he is not a carnivore (Ramban).

40:23. He gulps huge amounts of water, but does not fear attack while he drinks, because of his great strength (Ibn Ezra).

40:25. A great sea creature.

and tower, [29] from there he searches for food, his eyes look out to the distance? [30] His eaglets gulp up blood, and where there are corpses, there he is [found].

40 [1] HASHEM then responded out to Job and said:

God rebukes Job

[2] "Can one who contends with the Almighty be arrogant? One who argues with God must answer [His words]!"

Job admits his error

[3] Job then responded to HASHEM and said: [4] "Behold, I am deficient; what can I answer You? I place my hand against my mouth!* [5] I spoke once and I will not speak up again; as for the second, I will say no more."

[6] HASHEM then responded to Job from out of the whirlwind and said:

Dare Job think that he is God's equal?

[7] Gird your loins like a warrior! I will ask, and you answer Me! [8] Will you also discredit My judgment? Will you declare Me wrong in order to make yourself right?! [9] Do you have power like God; can you, like Him, produce a thunder clap? [10] Adorn yourself, if you will, with majesty and exaltedness; don glory and majesty.* [11] Spew forth the furies of your anger; see every haughty one and lower him. [12] See every haughty one and humble him; crush the wicked in their places. [13] Hide them all together in the dirt; confine their faces into a hidden place. [14] Then I, too, will praise you, when your right hand triumphs for you!

Let him vent his rage against the wicked and haughty

The Behemoth

[15] Behold now the Behemoth that I have created with you; he eats grass like cattle.* [16] Behold, now, his strength is in his loins and his might is in the navel of his abdomen. [17] *When he wishes, his tail is like a cedar; the sinews of his stones become entangled. [18] His bones have the strength of copper; his limbs are like an iron weight. [19] He is the first of God's ways; [only] his Maker can direct His sword up close.* [20] *For the mountains present him their crops, yet all the beasts of the field frolic there. [21] He lies under shady trees, in the seclusion of reed and marsh. [22] Shady trees cover him with shade; the willows of the stream surround him. [23] Behold he plunders the river and is not anxious; he feels secure that he can gulp the Jordan into his mouth.* [24] [God] will subdue it with His eyes, perforate its nose with snares.

The Leviathan

[25] Can you pull the Leviathan with a hook, can you embed a line in his tongue?* [26] Can you put a curved hook in his nose, or pierce his cheek with a barbed hook? [27] *Will he beset you with entreaties, or speak ingratiatingly to you? [28] Would he forge a covenant with you? Could you take him as a lifetime servant? [29] *Could you sport with him as with a bird, or tether him for your maidens? [30] Can friends make a feast of him, can they divide him among the merchants? [31] Can you riddle his skin with barbs, or put his head in a fish bucket? [32] *If you put your hand on him, you will no more remember warfare!

41 The Leviathan's intimidating appearance . . .

[1] *How disillusioned his ambition must be; he is felled by its very appearance! [2] No person is rash enough to stir him up. Who, then, would dare stand up to Me? [3] Whoever anticipated Me, I can reward him, for whatever is under all the heavens is mine!* [4] I would not suppress his boastings, 40:27. Can you ever get him to be at your mercy?

40:29. Can you make him a pet?

40:32. You will surely be killed if you dare place a hand on him (Ramban).

41:1. If one thinks he can overpower the Leviathan, he will be disillusioned. So fearsome is the Leviathan that any hope of defeating it is doomed; the mere sight of it is enough to make people swoon.

41:3. If anyone would try to battle the Leviathan even before God challenged him, God will reward him (Ramban).

41:5. The sea is the Leviathan's garment. Even if he were tied to a double cord, who would be able to pull him from the sea? (Ramban).

41:6. His jaws (Ramban).

41:7. His scales (Kara).

41:10. Because the waters of the sea part from his mighty sneeze, until his sparkling eyes are visible (Ramban).

41:14. To the Leviathan, any dangerous or worrisome situation is an invigorating challenge.

41:15. The layers of the Leviathan's flesh are firmly packed together, an indication of his strength (Kara).

41:22. He sleeps on sharp shards; his hide is so thick that they do not disturb him in the least (Ramban).

41:23. So violently is the water pounded by his movements.

41:24. As he glides through the sea, he leaves a white wake of frothing water (Ibn Ezra).

41:26. Because of his immense strength and size, he is not impressed with the dimensions of any other creature, no matter how lofty and haughty it may be (Ramban).

42:6. Having glimpsed the majesty of God, Job relents. He has no further need to comprehend what is beyond

JOB'S REPENTANCE AND RESTORATION 42:1-17

1 Job then responded to HASHEM, and said: 2 "I knew that You can do everything, and that nothing can impede [Your] purpose from You. 3 Who is it that would deny [Your] counsel without knowledge? Therefore I declared, yet I understand nothing. It is beyond me. I shall not know! 4 Listen, please, and I will speak; I will ask You, and You inform me. 5 I had heard of You through hearsay, but now my eye has beheld You! 6 *Therefore, I renounce [my words] and relent, for [I am but] dust and ashes."

42:10. Job's stolen livestock (see 1:13-17) was returned to him (Ramban).

Song of Songs

Rabbi Akiva, one of the greatest Sages of the Talmud, said, "All the songs of Scripture are holy, but the Song of Songs is holy of holies." What is it about this song that raises it to so lofty a plane? The question is especially perplexing if Song of Songs is taken literally, for it appears to be a song of uncommon passion; it seems out of place among Scripture's Books of prophecy and sacred spirit. Moreover, although some of the Sages wondered whether Ecclesiastes should be included among the Books of Scripture, there was never a question about Song of Songs.

To both the Sages of the Talmud and the classic commentators, it was clear that Song of Songs is an allegory, a duet of longing between God and Israel. That is why it is read publicly during Passover, the time when Israel became God's people. Its verses are so saturated with meaning that every commentator finds new themes in its beautiful and cryptic words. All agree, however, that the truth of the Song is to be found only in its allegory.

That is why, in the interest of accuracy, our translation of the Song is different from that of any other ArtScroll translation of Scripture. Although we provide the literal meaning as part of the commentary, we translate the Song according to Rashi's allegorical translation. As he explains in his introduction:

> Solomon foresaw through the Holy Spirit that Israel is destined to suffer a series of exiles and will lament, nostalgically recalling her former status as God's chosen beloved ... And they will recall the goodness He promised for the End of Days.
>
> The prophets frequently likened the relationship between God and Israel to that of a loving husband angered by a straying wife who had betrayed him. Solomon composed the Song of Songs in the form of that same allegory. It is a passionate dialogue between the husband [God] who still loves his estranged exiled wife [Israel], who longs for her husband and seeks to endear herself to him again, as she recalls her youthful love for him and admits her guilt.
>
> God, too, ... recalls the kindness of [Israel's] youth, her beauty, and her skillful deeds for which He loved her so. He proclaims that ... she is still His wife and He her husband, and He will yet return to her.

NOTES INCLUDING PHRASE-BY-PHRASE LITERAL TRANSLATION

1:1. שִׁיר הַשִּׁירִים — The song that excels all songs [lit., The song of songs]. The greatest song uttered to God by Israel.

אֲשֶׁר לִשְׁלֹמֹה — dedicated to God, Him to Whom peace belongs [lit., which is Solomon's]. In Proverbs and Ecclesiastes, Solomon is identified as the "son of David." The omission of David's name here implies that there is a second שְׁלֹמֹה, namely מֶלֶךְ שֶׁהַשָּׁלוֹם שֶׁלּוֹ, "the King to Whom peace belongs," i.e., God, the Source of peace.

1:2. יִשָּׁקֵנִי מִנְּשִׁיקוֹת פִּיהוּ — Communicate Your innermost wisdom to me again in loving closeness [lit., May He kiss me with the kisses of His mouth]. Exiled Israel longs for God to teach the Torah, "mouth to mouth," as at Sinai.

כִּי טוֹבִים דֹּדֶיךָ מִיָּיִן — for Your love is dearer to me than all earthly delights [lit., for Your love is better than wine]. The love You showed when You redeemed us from Egypt and gave us the Torah is dearer to us than wine or any other earthly pleasure.

1:3. לְרֵיחַ שְׁמָנֶיךָ טוֹבִים — Like the scent of goodly oils is the spreading fame of Your great deeds [lit., For fragrance Your oils are good]. The "fragrance" of God's miracles in Egypt was felt everywhere.

שֶׁמֶן תּוּרַק שְׁמֶךָ — Your very name is "Flowing Oil" [lit., Your name is oil poured forth]. Your reputation is like fine oil; the more it is poured, the more its fragrance spreads.

עַל כֵּן עֲלָמוֹת אֲהֵבוּךָ — therefore have nations loved You [lit., therefore do young maidens love You]. "Maidens" refers to the nations of the world.

1:4. מָשְׁכֵנִי אֲחֲרֶיךָ נָרוּצָה — Upon perceiving a mere hint that You wished to draw me [near], we rushed with perfect faith after You into the wilderness [lit., Draw me, we will run after You!]. We followed God faithfully, without food or drink (see Jeremiah 2:2,6).

הֱבִיאַנִי הַמֶּלֶךְ חֲדָרָיו — The King brought me into His cloud-pillared chamber [lit., the King has brought me into His chambers]. God protected us with His clouds of glory (see Exodus 13:21-22).

נָגִילָה וְנִשְׂמְחָה בָּךְ — whatever our travail, we shall always be glad and rejoice in Your Torah [lit., we will rejoice and be glad in You]. We take delight in Your Torah.

נַזְכִּירָה דֹדֶיךָ מִיָּיִן — We recall Your love more than earthly delights [lit., we will commemorate Your love (better) than wine]. We recall Your former love as the finest of all pleasures.

מֵישָׁרִים אֲהֵבוּךָ — unrestrainedly do they love You [lit., sincerely do they love You].

1:5. שְׁחוֹרָה אֲנִי וְנָאוָה — Though I am black with sin, I am comely with virtue [lit., I am black, yet comely]. Though my Husband left me because my sins blackened me, I am comely by virtue of my forefathers' deeds.

בְּנוֹת יְרוּשָׁלָ͏ִם — O nations destined to ascend to Jerusalem [lit., O daughters of Jerusalem]. Ultimately, all peoples will stream to honor Jerusalem, and you nations, earlier called "maidens" (v. 3), will become "her daughters."

כְּאָהֳלֵי קֵדָר כִּירִיעוֹת שְׁלֹמֹה — though sullied as the tents of Kedar, I will be immaculate as the draperies of Him to whom peace belongs [lit., as the tents of Kedar, as the curtains of Solomon].

1:6. אַל תִּרְאוּנִי שֶׁאֲנִי שְׁחַרְחֹרֶת — Do not view me with contempt despite my swarthiness [lit., Do not look upon me that I am swarthy].

שֶׁשְּׁזָפַתְנִי הַשָּׁמֶשׁ — for it is but the sun which has glared upon me [lit., because the sun has gazed upon me]. My darkness, i.e., sinfulness, is not genetic; it will go away when I avoid the sun.

בְּנֵי אִמִּי נִחֲרוּ בִי — The alien children of my mother incited me [lit., my mother's sons kindled in me]. The mixed multitude of Egyptians and other aliens who accompanied us at the Exodus incited us to worship idols.

שָׂמֻנִי נֹטֵרָה אֶת הַכְּרָמִים — and made me a keeper of the vineyards of idols [lit., they made me keeper of the vineyards]. . .

כַּרְמִי שֶׁלִּי לֹא נָטָרְתִּי — but the vineyard of my own true God I did not keep [lit., my own vineyard I did not guard]. I served strange gods, but not the God of my fathers.

ALLEGORICAL RENDERING FOLLOWING RASHI

1 Prologue [1] The song that excels all songs dedicated to God, Him to Whom peace belongs:

Israel in exile to God [2] Communicate Your innermost wisdom to me again in loving closeness, for Your love is dearer to me than all earthly delights. [3] Like the scent of goodly oils is the spreading fame of Your great deeds; Your very name is "Flowing Oil," therefore have nations loved You. [4] Upon perceiving a mere hint that You wished to draw me [near], we rushed with perfect faith after You into the wilderness. The King brought me into His cloud-pillared chamber; whatever our travail, we shall always be glad and rejoice in Your Torah. We recall Your love more than earthly delights, unrestrainedly do they love You.

Israel to the nations [5] Though I am black with sin, I am comely with virtue, O nations destined to ascend to Jerusalem; though sullied as the tents of Kedar, I will be immaculate as the draperies of Him to Whom peace belongs. [6] Do not view me with contempt despite my swarthiness, for it is but the sun which has glared upon me. The alien children of my mother incited me and made me a keeper of the vineyards of idols, but the vineyard of my own true God I did not keep.

Israel to God [7] Tell me, O You Whom my soul loves: Where will You graze Your flock? Where will You rest them under the fiercest sun of harshest exile? Why shall I be like one veiled in mourning among the flocks of Your fellow shepherds?

God responds to Israel [8] If you know not where to graze, O fairest of nations, follow the footsteps of the sheep, your forefathers, who traced a straight, unswerving path after My Torah. Then you can graze your tender kids even among the dwellings of foreign shepherds. [9] With My mighty steeds who battled Pharaoh's riders I revealed that you are My beloved. [10] Your cheeks are lovely with rows of gems, your neck with necklaces, My gifts to you from the splitting sea, [11] by inducing Pharaoh to engage in pursuit, to add circlets of gold to your spangles of silver.

NOTES INCLUDING PHRASE-BY-PHRASE LITERAL TRANSLATION

1:7. Israel addresses God as a woman addressing her beloved Husband, and compares herself to sheep, as she contends that the exile is too difficult for her and unbecoming to Him.

הַגִּידָה לִּי שֶׁאָהֲבָה נַפְשִׁי — Tell me, O You Whom my soul loves . . .

אֵיכָה תִרְעֶה אֵיכָה תַרְבִּיץ בַּצָּהֳרָיִם — Where will You graze your flock? Where will You rest them under the fiercest sun of harshest exile? [lit., Where will You graze (Your flock), where will You rest (them) at noon?]. Where will You graze us, Your flock, among the seventy wolflike nations? Where will You give us rest in the fierce lands of our exile?

שַׁלָּמָה אֶהְיֶה כְּעֹטִיָּה — Why shall I be like one veiled in mourning [lit., for what reason should I be as one veiled]. It is unbecoming to You that I display grief.

עַל עֶדְרֵי חֲבֵרֶיךָ — among the flocks of Your fellow shepherds [lit., by the flocks of Your colleagues]? The other nations, who are "shepherded" by their rulers.

1:8. אִם לֹא תֵדְעִי לָךְ הַיָּפָה בַּנָּשִׁים — If you know not where to graze, O fairest of nations [lit., If you do not know, O fairest of women]. . .

צְאִי לָךְ בְּעִקְבֵי הַצֹּאן — follow the footsteps of the sheep, your forefathers, who traced a straight, unswerving path after My Torah [lit., go out in the tracks of the sheep]. If you do not know how to safeguard your children from alien cultures, follow the example of your ancestors who observed My commandments.

וּרְעִי אֶת גְּדִיתַיִךְ עַל מִשְׁכְּנוֹת הָרֹעִים — Then you can graze your tender kids even among the dwellings of foreign shepherds [lit., and graze your kids by the shepherds' tents]. Then you will be able to raise your children among the nations.

1:9. לְסַסְתִּי בִּרְכְבֵי פַרְעֹה — With My mighty steeds who battled Pharaoh's riders [lit., To a steed in Pharaoh's chariot]. God saved the Jews from Pharaoh's army at the Sea of Reeds (Exodus Chs. 14-15).

דִּמִּיתִיךְ רַעְיָתִי — I revealed that you are My beloved [lit., I have compared you, My beloved].

1:10. נָאווּ לְחָיַיִךְ בַּתֹּרִים צַוָּארֵךְ בַּחֲרוּזִים — Your cheeks are lovely with rows of gems, your neck with necklaces, My gifts to you from the splitting sea [lit., your cheeks are comely with circlets, your neck with strings of jewels]. . .

1:11. תּוֹרֵי זָהָב נַעֲשֶׂה לָךְ עִם נְקֻדּוֹת הַכָּסֶף — by inducing Pharaoh to engage in pursuit, to add circlets of gold to your spangles of silver [lit., circlets of gold will We make for you and points of silver]. God influenced the pursuing Egyptians to wear their treasures, so that, upon their defeat, Israel could claim the booty.

1:12. עַד שֶׁהַמֶּלֶךְ בִּמְסִבּוֹ נִרְדִּי נָתַן רֵיחוֹ — While the King was yet at Sinai my malodorous deed gave forth its scent as my Golden Calf defiled the covenant [lit., While the King was (still) at His table, my nard gave forth its fragrance]. Nard is a fragrant herb, but is used here as a euphemism for the bad odor of idolatry.

1:13. צְרוֹר הַמֹּר דּוֹדִי לִי — But my Beloved responded with a bundle of myrrh, the fragrant atonement of erecting a Tabernacle [lit., A bag of myrrh is my Beloved to me]. After the disaster of the Golden Calf, God offered me a new fragrance. "Contribute toward the construction of the Tabernacle to atone for the gold you gave to make the Calf."

בֵּין שָׁדַי יָלִין — where His Presence would dwell between the Holy Ark's staves [lit., lodged between my breasts], i.e., the Shechinah (God's immanent Presence) dwelled between the two staves of the Ark. The long staves of the Ark pressed against the curtain that separated between it and the other appurtenances of the Tabernacle, causing breastlike protrusions on the other side of the curtain (Yoma 54a; Menachos 98a).

1:14. אֶשְׁכֹּל הַכֹּפֶר דּוֹדִי לִי בְּכַרְמֵי עֵין גֶּדִי — Like a cluster of henna in En-gedi vineyards has my Beloved multiplied His forgiveness to me [lit., A cluster of henna is my Beloved to me, in the vineyards of En-gedi]. The word כֹּפֶר, "henna," is linguistically related to כַּפָּרָה, "atonement."

1:15. הִנָּךְ יָפָה רַעְיָתִי הִנָּךְ יָפָה עֵינַיִךְ יוֹנִים — He said, "I forgive you, My friend, for you are lovely in deed and lovely in resolve. The righteous among you are loyal as a dove" [lit., Behold, you are beautiful, My beloved; behold, you are beautiful, your eyes are doves]. Your righteous leaders — the "eyes" of the generation — have cleaved to Me like doves, who are faithful to their mates.

1:16. הִנְּךָ יָפֶה דּוֹדִי אַף נָעִים — It is You Who are lovely, my Beloved, so pleasant that You pardoned my sin [lit., You are handsome, my Beloved, indeed pleasant]. The beauty is Yours, for having forgiven us.

אַף עַרְשֵׂנוּ רַעֲנָנָה — enabling our Temple to make me ever fresh [lit., even our couch is full of vigor]. "Couch" refers to the Tabernacle, whose existence led to flourishing growth of the Jewish population.

1:17. קֹרוֹת בָּתֵּינוּ אֲרָזִים רָהִיטֵנוּ בְּרוֹתִים — The beams of our houses are cedar, our panels are cypress.

2:1. אֲנִי חֲבַצֶּלֶת הַשָּׁרוֹן שׁוֹשַׁנַּת הָעֲמָקִים — I am but a rose of Sharon, even an ever-fresh rose of the valleys [lit., I am a rose of the Sharon, a rose of the valleys].

Just as the rose retains its beauty though surrounded by thorns, so My beloved people maintains her faith despite the torments of her neighbors.

2:3. כְּתַפּוּחַ בָּעֲצֵי הַיַּעַר כֵּן דּוֹדִי בֵּין הַבָּנִים — Like the fruitful, fragrant apple among the barren trees of the forest, so is my Beloved among the gods [lit., Like an apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my Beloved among the sons]. God is superior to all the fruitless idols of the nations.

וּפִרְיוֹ מָתוֹק לְחִכִּי — and the fruit of His Torah was sweet to my palate [lit., and His fruit is sweet to my palate]. We spent twelve months at Mount Sinai enjoying the sweetness of His Torah.

2:4. הֱבִיאַנִי אֶל בֵּית הַיָּיִן — He brought me to the chamber of Torah delights [lit., He has brought me to the house of wine]; an allusion to the Tent of the Meeting, where Moses expounded the Torah's commandments.

וְדִגְלוֹ עָלַי אַהֲבָה — and clustered my encampments about Him in love [lit., and His banner upon me is love]. He gathered the tribes about His Tabernacle.

2:5. סַמְּכוּנִי בָּאֲשִׁישׁוֹת רַפְּדוּנִי בַּתַּפּוּחִים — I say to Him, "Sustain me in exile with dainty cakes, spread fragrant apples about me to comfort my dispersion [lit., Sustain me with dainties, spread out apples around me]. . .

כִּי חוֹלַת אַהֲבָה אָנִי — for, bereft of Your Presence, I am sick with love" [lit., for I am sick with love]. In exile, I am sick for want of His love; I thirst for Him here in exile.

2:6. שְׂמאלו תַּחַת לְרֹאשִׁי וימינו תְּחַבְּקָנִי — With memories of His loving support in the desert, of His left hand under my head, of His right hand enveloping me [lit., His left hand is under my head and His right arm embraces me]. Ecstatically, I recall how I was accompanied by God's Ark, enveloped in His cloud, eating His manna.

2:7. הִשְׁבַּעְתִּי אֶתְכֶם בְּנוֹת יְרוּשָׁלַם — I adjure you, O nations destined to ascend to Jerusalem [lit., I have adjured you, O daughters of Jerusalem]. See 1:5.

בִּצְבָאוֹת אוֹ בְּאַיְלוֹת הַשָּׂדֶה — for if you violate your oath, you will become as defenseless as gazelles or hinds of the field [lit., by gazelles or by hinds of the field] . . .

אִם תָּעִירוּ וְאִם תְּעוֹרְרוּ אֶת הָאַהֲבָה עַד שֶׁתֶּחְפָּץ — if you dare provoke God to hate me or disturb His love for me while He still desires it [lit., should you wake or rouse the love until it pleases].

2:8. With this verse, Israel begins a recapitulation of God's remembrance of His people in Egypt.

קוֹל דּוֹדִי הִנֵּה זֶה בָּא — The voice of my Beloved! Behold it came suddenly to redeem me [lit., The voice of my Beloved! Behold He comes] . . .

מְדַלֵּג עַל הֶהָרִים מְקַפֵּץ עַל הַגְּבָעוֹת — as if leaping over mountains, skipping over hills [lit., leaping upon the mountains skipping upon the hills]. God leaped and skipped, so to speak, redeeming the Jews one hundred and ninety years before the completion of the prophecy of four hundred years of bondage.

2:9. דּוֹמֶה דודי לִצְבִי אוֹ לְעֹפֶר הָאַיָּלִים — In His swiftness to redeem me, my Beloved is like a gazelle or a young hart [lit., My Beloved is like a gazelle or a young hart].

הִנֵּה זֶה עוֹמֵד אַחַר כָּתְלֵנוּ מַשְׁגִּיחַ מִן הַחַלֹּנוֹת מֵצִיץ מִן הַחֲרַכִּים — I thought I would be forever alone, but behold! He was standing behind our wall, observing through the windows, peering through the lattices [lit., behold He stands behind our wall looking through the windows, peering through the lattices]. I was like a woman resigned to being an agunah (bereft of husband, yet legally bound to him), for a still undetermined period of time. Then, suddenly, He came to tell me that He is peering through the windows of the heavens taking notice of my plight (see Exodus 3:7), reassuring me that whatever my travail, He will never fail to keep the closest watch over me.

2:10. עָנָה דוֹדִי וְאָמַר לִי — When He redeemed me from Egypt, my Beloved called out and said to me, [lit., My Beloved lifted His voice and said to me,]. . .

קוּמִי לָךְ רַעְיָתִי יָפָתִי וּלְכִי לָךְ — "Arise My love, My fair one, and go forth [lit., Arise My love, My fair one, and go forth for yourself]. "Carry out My precepts, and I will bring you up out of the affliction of Egypt" (Exodus 3:17).

2:11-13. A poetic picture describing the season of Redemption. Metaphorically, the verses conjure up an image of the worst being over, of redemption being at hand.

2:11. כִּי הִנֵּה הַסְּתָו עָבָר — For the winter of bondage has passed [lit., For, behold, the winter is past]. The years of bondage are over. It is time to travel forth.

הַגֶּשֶׁם חָלַף הָלַךְ לוֹ — the deluge of suffering is over and gone [lit., the rain is over and gone].

2:12. הַנִּצָנִים נִרְאוּ בָאָרֶץ — The righteous blossoms are seen in the land [lit., The blossoms have appeared in the land]. The "blossoms" are Moses and Aaron who blossomed in response to Israel's needs.

עֵת הַזָּמִיר הִגִּיעַ — The time of your song has arrived [lit., the time of singing has come], to praise God, by singing the Song of the Sea (Exodus Ch. 15).

וְקוֹל הַתּוֹר נִשְׁמַע בְּאַרְצֵנוּ — and the voice of your guide is heard in the land [lit., and the voice of the turtledove is heard in the land]. The word תּוֹר, "turtledove," is linguistically related to תַּיָּר, "guide," an allusion to Moses.

2:13. הַתְּאֵנָה חָנְטָה פַגֶּיהָ וְהַגְּפָנִים סְמָדַר נָתְנוּ רֵיחַ — The fig tree has formed its first small figs, ready for ascent to the Temple; the vines are in blossom, their fragrance declaring they are ready for libation [lit., The fig tree has formed its first figs, and the vines in blossom give forth fragrance]. The time is drawing near for you to bring the first fruits and the wine libations in the Temple.

קוּמִי לָךְ רַעְיָתִי יָפָתִי וּלְכִי לָךְ — Arise, My beloved, My fair one, and go forth" [lit., Arise, My beloved, My fair one, and go forth for yourself].

2:14. יוֹנָתִי בְּחַגְוֵי הַסֶּלַע בְּסֵתֶר הַמַּדְרֵגָה — At the sea, He said to me, "O My dove, trapped at the sea as if in the clefts of the rock, the concealment of the terrace [lit., O My dove, in the crannies of the rock, in the covert of the step]. When the Jews were trapped between the sea and the Egyptian army, they were like a dove fleeing a hawk. It flew into the cleft of a rock, and found a serpent lurking there. It could neither enter, because of the snake, nor turn back, because of the hawk.

הַרְאִינִי אֶת מַרְאַיִךְ — "Show Me your prayerful gaze [lit., show Me your countenance]. Show Me to whom you turn when you are in trouble.

הַשְׁמִיעֵנִי אֶת קוֹלֵךְ — let Me hear your supplicating voice [lit., let Me hear your voice]. . .

כִּי קוֹלֵךְ עָרֵב וּמַרְאַיִךְ נָאוֶה — for your voice is sweet and your countenance comely."

2:15. אֶחֱזוּ לָנוּ שֻׁעָלִים שֻׁעָלִים קְטַנִּים מְחַבְּלִים כְּרָמִים וּכְרָמֵינוּ סְמָדַר — Then He told the sea, "Seize for us the Egyptian foxes, even the small foxes who spoiled Israel's vineyards while our vineyards had just begun to blossom" [lit., The foxes have seized us, the little foxes that ruin the vineyard, and our vineyards were in blossom].

2:16. דוֹדִי לִי וַאֲנִי לוֹ — My Beloved is mine, He fills all my needs and I seek from Him and none other [lit., My Beloved is mine, and I am His]. He makes demands upon us and we rely on none other but Him.

הָרֹעֶה בַּשּׁוֹשַׁנִּים — He grazes me in roselike bounty [lit., Who grazes (others) among the roses]. God grazes us, His flock, in pastures of tranquil beauty.

2:17. עַד שֶׁיָּפוּחַ הַיּוֹם וְנָסוּ הַצְּלָלִים — Until my sin blows His friendship away and sears me like the midday sun and His protection departs [lit., until the day blows and the shadows flee]. The condition of "My Beloved is mine, and I am His" was dispelled when the sins of the Golden Calf (Exodus Ch. 32) and the Spies (Numbers Chs. 13-14) blackened us with the ferocity of the noontime sun.

עַל הָרֵי בָתֶר — on the distant mountains" [lit., upon the mountains of separation], out of reach.

3:1. עַל מִשְׁכָּבִי בַּלֵּילוֹת בִּקַּשְׁתִּי אֵת שֶׁאָהֲבָה נַפְשִׁי — As I lay on my bed in the night of my desert travail, I sought Him Whom my soul loves [lit., Upon my bed during the nights I sought the One my soul loves]. After the sin of the Spies, God did not speak directly to Moses for thirty-eight years (see Deuteronomy 2:14-17), a period depicted as "during the nights." This chapter depicts the anguish of Israel, bereft of its former uninhibited relationship with God, longing for a resumption of His love.

בִּקַּשְׁתִּיו וְלֹא מְצָאתִיו — I sought Him, but I found Him not, for He maintained His aloofness [lit., I sought Him, but I found Him not]. As He warned, "For I will not go up in your midst" (Exodus 33:3); "For I am not among you" (Deuteronomy 1:42).

3:2. אָקוּמָה נָּא וַאֲסוֹבְבָה בָעִיר בַּשְּׁוָקִים וּבָרְחֹבוֹת — I resolved to arise then, and roam through the city, in the streets and squares [lit., I will rise now and roam about the city, through the streets and through the squares]. We were determined to seek God by every possible avenue.

אֲבַקְשָׁה אֵת שֶׁאָהֲבָה נַפְשִׁי — that through Moses I would seek Him Whom my soul loved [lit., I will seek the One I love]. As Moses said, "I will go up to HASHEM; perhaps I can win atonement for your sins" (Exodus 32:30).

בִּקַּשְׁתִּיו וְלֹא מְצָאתִיו — I sought Him, but I found Him not.

3:3. מְצָאוּנִי הַשֹּׁמְרִים הַסֹּבְבִים בָּעִיר — They, Moses and Aaron, the watchmen patrolling the city, found me [lit., The watchmen who circle the city found me]. Moses and Aaron went among us to instill us with the love of God. They guided us, and inspired us to be patient, for Redemption was at hand.

אֵת שֶׁאָהֲבָה נַפְשִׁי רְאִיתֶם — "You have seen Him Whom my soul loves; what has He said?" [lit., Have you seen Him Whom my soul loves?].

3:4. כִּמְעַט שֶׁעָבַרְתִּי מֵהֶם עַד שֶׁמָּצָאתִי אֵת שֶׁאָהֲבָה נַפְשִׁי — Scarcely had I departed from them, when, in the days of Joshua, I found Him Whom my soul loves [lit., Scarcely had I passed them, when I found Him Whom my soul loves]. When Moses and Aaron died, God remained with Joshua, helping him to conquer the thirty-one kings of Canaan.

אֲחַזְתִּיו וְלֹא אַרְפֶּנּוּ — I grasped Him, determined that my deeds would never again cause me to lose hold of Him [lit., I have grasped Him and I would not let Him go]. . .

עַד שֶׁהֲבִיאתִיו אֶל בֵּית אִמִּי וְאֶל חֶדֶר הוֹרָתִי — until I brought His Presence to the Tabernacle of my mother and to the chamber of the one who conceived me [lit., until I brought Him to my mother's house, and to the chamber of the one who conceived me]. I built the Tabernacle at Shiloh, in return for all that He wrought for me.

3:5. הִשְׁבַּעְתִּי אֶתְכֶם בְּנוֹת יְרוּשָׁלַ͏ִם — I adjure you, O nations destined to ascend to Jerusalem [lit., I have adjured you, O daughters of Jerusalem]. See 1:5.

בִּצְבָאוֹת אוֹ בְּאַיְלוֹת הַשָּׂדֶה — for if you violate your oath, you will become as defenseless as gazelles or hinds of the field [lit., by gazelles or by hinds of the field] . . .

אִם תָּעִירוּ וְאִם תְּעוֹרְרוּ אֶת הָאַהֲבָה עַד שֶׁתֶּחְפָּץ — if you dare provoke God to hate me or disturb His love for me while He still desires it [lit., if you will wake or rouse the love until it pleases].

3:6. מִי זֹאת עֹלָה מִן הַמִּדְבָּר — You nations have asked, "Who is this ascending from the wilderness [lit., Who is it that rises up from the wilderness]. In the wilderness, Israel was led by the pillar of fire and the pillar of cloud (Exodus 13:21 ff), which killed snakes and scorpions, and burned thorns and thistles to clear the way. The nations exclaimed: "Who is this [i.e., How great is this spectacle] that comes up from the wilderness?"

כְּתִימְרוֹת עָשָׁן — its way secured and smoothed by palmlike pillars of smoke [lit., like columns of smoke]. The word תִּימְרָה, "column," is linguistically related to תָּמָר, "date-palm." The pillar of clouds that accompanied Israel through the wilderness was tall and erect as a palm tree . . .

מְקֻטֶּרֶת מֹר וּלְבוֹנָה מִכֹּל אַבְקַת רוֹכֵל — burning fragrant myrrh and frankincense, of all the perfumer's powders?" [lit., perfumed with myrrh and frankincense, with every powder of the merchant] . . . like the "cloud of the incense" (Leviticus 16:13) that ascended from the Altar in the Tabernacle.

3:7. הִנֵּה מִטָּתוֹ שֶׁלִּשְׁלֹמֹה — Behold the resting place of Him to Whom peace belongs [lit., Behold, it is the couch of Solomon], i.e., the Tent of Meeting and the Ark . . .

שִׁשִּׁים גִּבֹּרִים סָבִיב לָהּ מִגִּבֹּרֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל — with sixty myriads of Israel's mighty encircling it [lit., sixty mighty men round about it, of the mighty men of Israel]. Sixty times ten thousand men were eligible to fight in the Israelite army (see Numbers 1:45-46).

3:8. כֻּלָּם אֲחֲזֵי חֶרֶב מְלֻמְּדֵי מִלְחָמָה — All of them gripping the sword of tradition, skilled in the battle of Torah [lit., They all handle the sword, learned in warfare].

אִישׁ חַרְבּוֹ עַל יְרֵכוֹ מִפַּחַד בַּלֵּילוֹת — each with his sword ready at his side, lest he succumb in the nights of exile [lit., each with his sword on his thigh, because of terror in the nights]. "Sword" refers to the means by which to transmit the Torah intact from one generation to the next.

3:9. אַפִּרְיוֹן עָשָׂה לוֹ הַמֶּלֶךְ שְׁלֹמֹה מֵעֲצֵי הַלְּבָנוֹן — A Tabernacle for His Presence has the King to Whom peace belongs made of the wood of Lebanon [lit., A sedan chair has King Solomon made unto Him, of the wood of Lebanon], a metaphor for a private chamber for His glory.

3:10. עַמּוּדָיו עָשָׂה כָסֶף — Its pillars He made of silver. A reference to the silver hooks of the Tabernacle's courtyard pillars (see Exodus 27:10).

רְפִידָתוֹ זָהָב — His resting place was gold [lit., its covering was gold]. God's Presence rested upon the golden Cover of the Ark, from which He spoke to Moses (see Exodus 27:17,22).

מֶרְכָּבוֹ אַרְגָּמָן — Its suspended curtain was purple wool [lit., its seat was purple wool]. The dominant color of the Paroches (Curtain) between the Holy and the Holy of Holies was purple (see Exodus 26:31-33).

תּוֹכוֹ רָצוּף אַהֲבָה — Its midst was decked with implements bespeaking love [lit., its inner side was decked with love]. The Ark, its Cover, its Cherubim and Tablets were all symbolic of the love between God and Israel.

מִבְּנוֹת יְרוּשָׁלַ͏ִם — by the daughters of Jerusalem. Throughout the rest of the Book (see, e.g., 1:5) "daughters of

God to Israel

Jerusalem" refers to the heathen nations who will flock to Jerusalem in the future; here it refers to the Jews.

3:11. צְאֶינָה וּרְאֶינָה בְּנוֹת צִיּוֹן בַּמֶּלֶךְ שְׁלֹמֹה — Go forth and gaze, O daughters distinguished by loyalty to God, upon the King to Whom peace belongs [lit., Go forth and gaze, O daughters of Zion, upon King Solomon]. ציון, "Zion," is linguistically related to ציון, "distinguishing mark." The daughters of Zion, Israel, are distinguished in their loyalty to God and to His commandments.

בָּעֲטָרָה שֶׁעִטְּרָה לוֹ אִמּוֹ — adorned with the crown His nation made for Him [lit., with the crown with which his mother crowned him]. The Tabernacle was "crowned" with coverings of colored skins; of blue, purple and scarlet wool, and fine linen; and of goat's hair (Exodus 26:1,7,14).

בְּיוֹם חֲתֻנָּתוֹ — on the day His Law was given and He became one with Israel [lit., on His wedding day]; the day the Torah was given.

וּבְיוֹם שִׂמְחַת לִבּוֹ — and on the day His heart was gladdened by His Tabernacle's consecration [lit., and on the day of His heart's bliss]. The dedication day of the Tabernacle in the wilderness.

4:1. הִנָּךְ יָפָה רַעְיָתִי הִנָּךְ יָפָה עֵינַיִךְ יוֹנִים — Behold, you are lovely, My beloved, behold you are lovely, your very appearance radiates dovelike constancy [lit., Behold, you are beautiful, My beloved; behold, you are beautiful, your eyes are doves]. You are like the dove which is loyal to its mate.

מִבַּעַד לְצַמָּתֵךְ שַׂעְרֵךְ כְּעֲדֶר הָעִזִּים שֶׁגָּלְשׁוּ מֵהַר גִּלְעָד — The most common sons within your encampments are as dearly beloved as the children of Jacob in the goatlike procession descending the slopes of Mount Gilead [lit., Within your kerchief, your hair is like a flock of goats streaming down from Mount Gilead]. Even your common people, whose merits are hidden by veils, are as dear to Me as Jacob and his sons who streamed down Mount Gilead when Laban pursued them (see Genesis 31:23ff).

4:2. שִׁנַּיִךְ כְּעֲדֶר הַקְּצוּבוֹת שֶׁעָלוּ מִן הָרַחְצָה — Accountable in deed are your mighty leaders like a well-numbered flock come up from the washing [lit., Your teeth are like a flock well counted, which have come up from the washing]. Israel's warriors who "tear apart and consume" their enemies are allegorized as teeth. By refraining from plunder and lewdness, the warriors remain untainted by sin, as if they "came up from the washing."

שֶׁכֻּלָּם מְתֻאימוֹת וְשַׁכְּלָה אֵין בָּהֶם — all of them unblemished with no miscarriage of action in them [lit., all of them are perfect and there is none blemished among them].

4:3. כְּחוּט הַשָּׁנִי שִׂפְתוֹתַיִךְ — Like the scarlet thread, guarantor of Rahab's safety, is the sincerity of your lips [lit., Your lips are like a thread of scarlet]. This refers to the sincere pledge that Joshua's spies made to Rahab in Jericho. They guaranteed her safety if she would display a scarlet thread as a signal to the conquering Jews (see Joshua Ch. 2).

וּמִדְבָּרֵךְ נָאוֶה — and your word is unfeigned [lit., and your speech is comely].

כְּפֶלַח הָרִמּוֹן רַקָּתֵךְ מִבַּעַד לְצַמָּתֵךְ — As many as a pomegranate's seeds are the merits of your unworthiest within your modest veil [lit., Your cheeks are like a slice of pomegranate, from behind your veil]. The word רַקָּה, "cheeks," is linguistically related to רֵק, "empty," and is a metaphor for those who are relatively empty of mitzvos; rosy cheeks also resemble a pomegranate. Even the comparatively few merits of the lowest among you are as numerous as a pomegranate's seeds.

4:4. כְּמִגְדַּל דָּוִיד צַוָּארֵךְ בָּנוּי לְתַלְפִּיּוֹת — As stately as the Tower of David is the site of your Sanhedrin built as a model to emulate [lit., Your neck is the Tower of David, built as an ornament]. The verse alludes to the Stronghold of Zion, a beautiful, stately fortification, and to the chamber of the Sanhedrin, the spiritual stronghold of Israel.

אֶלֶף הַמָּגֵן תָּלוּי עָלָיו כֹּל שִׁלְטֵי הַגִּבֹּרִים — with a thousand shields of Torah armor hung upon it, all the disciple-filled quivers of the mighty [lit., a thousand shields are hung upon it; all the quivers of the mighty men]. Students are likened to arrows (see Psalms 127:4-5).

4:5. שְׁנֵי שָׁדַיִךְ כִּשְׁנֵי עֳפָרִים תְּאוֹמֵי צְבִיָּה — Moses and Aaron, your two sustainers, are like two fawns, twins of the gazelle [lit., Your breasts are like two fawns, twins of a gazelle]. Moses and Aaron are like the breasts that nurtured Israel. They are called "twins" because they were of equal stature.

הָרֹעִים בַּשּׁוֹשַׁנִּים — who graze their sheep in roselike bounty [lit., who feed among the roses]. Like shepherds, Moses and Aaron guided their nation along tranquil paths.

4:6. עַד שֶׁיָּפוּחַ הַיּוֹם וְנָסוּ הַצְּלָלִים — Until My sunny benevolence was withdrawn from Shiloh and the protective shadows were dispersed by your sin [lit., Until the day breathes and the shadows flee]. God had been Israel's protective shade, until they sinned.

אֵלֵךְ לִי אֶל הַר הַמּוֹר וְאֶל גִּבְעַת הַלְּבוֹנָה — I will go to Mount Moriah and the hill of frankincense [lit., I will get me to the mountain of myrrh, and to the hill of frankincense]. After His anger abated, He chose Mount Moriah as the site of the Temple, where incense would be offered.

4:7. כֻּלָּךְ יָפָה רַעְיָתִי וּמוּם אֵין בָּךְ — where [on Mount Moriah] you will be completely fair, My beloved, and no blemish will be in you [lit., You are entirely fair, My beloved, and there is no blemish in you].

4:8. אִתִּי מִלְּבָנוֹן כַּלָּה אִתִּי מִלְּבָנוֹן תָּבוֹאִי — With Me will you be exiled from the Temple, O bride, with Me from the Temple until you return [lit., With Me from Lebanon, O bride! With Me from Lebanon shall you come]. The Temple is called Lebanon (לְבָנוֹן, lit., "whitener") because it whitens the sins of Israel (Talmud, Yoma 39b). You will be exiled "with Me," says God, "for in all your afflictions, I, too, am afflicted" (see Isaiah 63:9).

תָּשׁוּרִי מֵרֹאשׁ אֲמָנָה — then to contemplate the fruits of your faith from its earliest beginnings [lit., Look from the peak of Amanah]. The word ראש means both "head (or, peak)" and "beginning"; אֲמָנָה means "covenant of faith" and is the name of a mountain on the northern border of the Land of Israel.

מֵרֹאשׁ שְׂנִיר וְחֶרְמוֹן מִמְּעֹנוֹת אֲרָיוֹת מֵהַרְרֵי נְמֵרִים — from your first arrival at the summits of Senir and Hermon, the lands of mighty Sihon and Og, as impregnable as dens of lions, and as mountains of leopards [lit., from the peak of Senir and Hermon, from the dens of lions, from the mountains of leopards].

4:9. לִבַּבְתִּנִי אֲחֹתִי כַלָּה — You have captured My heart, My sister, O bride.

לִבַּבְתִּנִי בְאַחַת מֵעֵינַיִךְ בְּאַחַד עֲנָק מִצַּוְּארֹנָיִךְ — you have captured My heart with but one of your virtues, with but one of the precepts that adorn you like beads of a necklace resplendent [lit., You have captured my heart with one of your eyes, with one bead of your necklace]. I would have loved you even had you possessed only one of your endearing qualities; how much more so since you possess so many!

4:10. מַה יָּפוּ דֹדַיִךְ אֲחֹתִי כַלָּה — How fair was your love in so many settings, My sister, O bride [lit., How fair was your love, My sister O bride!]. Your love is pleasing everywhere, whether in the Tabernacle or in the Temple.

מַה טֹּבוּ דֹדַיִךְ מִיַּיִן וְרֵיחַ שְׁמָנַיִךְ מִכָּל בְּשָׂמִים — so superior is your love to wine and your spreading fame to all perfumes [lit., how much better your love than wine, and the fragrance of your oils than all spices!].

4:11. נֹפֶת תִּטֹּפְנָה שִׂפְתוֹתַיִךְ כַּלָּה דְּבַשׁ וְחָלָב תַּחַת לְשׁוֹנֵךְ — The sweetness of Torah drips from your lips, like honey and milk it lies under your tongue [lit., Honey drops from your lips, O bride, honey and milk are under your tongue].

וְרֵיחַ שִׂלְמֹתַיִךְ כְּרֵיחַ לְבָנוֹן — your very garments are scented with precepts like the scent of Lebanon [lit., and the scent of your garments is like the scent of Lebanon]. This refers to the precepts associated with clothing, such as the commandment of wearing tzitzis and the prohibition against wearing shaatnez (see Deuteronomy 22:11).

4:12. גַּן נָעוּל אֲחֹתִי כַלָּה גַּל נָעוּל מַעְיָן חָתוּם — As chaste as a garden locked, My sister, O bride; a spring locked up, a fountain sealed [lit., A garden locked up is my sister, the bride, a spring locked up, a fountain sealed]. The beauty and charm of the daughters of Israel are guided by modesty and purity.

4:13. שְׁלָחַיִךְ פַּרְדֵּס רִמּוֹנִים עִם פְּרִי מְגָדִים — Your least gifted ones are a pomegranate orchard with luscious fruit [lit., Your arid areas are an orchard of pomegranates with precious fruits]. Like a field in need of irrigation, your youngsters strive to be "moistened" with Torah and good deeds.

כְּפָרִים עִם נְרָדִים — henna with nard. Types of spices (see 1:14).

4:15. מַעְיַן גַּנִּים בְּאֵר מַיִם חַיִּים וְנֹזְלִים מִן לְבָנוֹן — purified in a garden spring, a well of waters alive and flowing clean from Lebanon [lit., (You are) a garden spring; a well of living waters streams from Lebanon]. God praises the women of Israel whose ritual immersion is like a spring enabling the fields to be fruitful.

4:16. עוּרִי צָפוֹן וּבוֹאִי תֵימָן הָפִיחִי גַנִּי יִזְלוּ בְשָׂמָיו — Awake from the north and come from the south! Like the winds let My exiles return to My garden, let their fragrant goodness flow in Jerusalem [lit., Awake, O north (wind), and come, O south! Blow (upon) my garden, let its spices flow out]. Having found delight in you, command the winds to waft your fragrance afar. Allegorically, Israel's host nations will be so overwhelmed by the miracles preceding the Redemption that they will bring the Jews to Eretz Yisrael (see Isaiah 66:20). In the Temple, the Jews will say to God . . .

יָבֹא דוֹדִי לְגַנּוֹ וְיֹאכַל פְּרִי מְגָדָיו — Let but my Beloved come to His garden and enjoy His precious people [lit., Let my Beloved come to His garden and eat its precious fruit]. If You are there, all is there.

5:1. בָּאתִי לְגַנִּי אֲחֹתִי כַלָּה — To your Tabernacle Dedication, My sister, O bride, I came as if to My garden [lit., I have come into My garden, My sister, O bride]. When the Tabernacle was set up, God's glory filled it (Exodus 40:33,34).

אָרִיתִי מוֹרִי עִם בְּשָׂמִי — I gathered My myrrh with My spice from your princely incense [lit., I have gathered My myrrh with My spice]. The princes of the tribes offered incense at the Dedication of the Tabernacle (Numbers Ch. 7).

אָכַלְתִּי יַעְרִי עִם דִּבְשִׁי — I accepted your unbidden as well as your bidden offerings to Me [lit., I have eaten My honeycomb with My honey]. After its sweetness has been sucked, the comb is discarded. However, God's love of Israel was such that, during the inauguration of the Tabernacle, He accepted even offerings that would have otherwise been inappropriate. The tribal princes brought not only incense, but also sin-offerings, even though sin-offerings are not appropriate to be brought voluntarily.

שָׁתִיתִי יֵינִי עִם חֲלָבִי — I drank your libations pure as milk [lit., I have drunk My wine with My milk].

אִכְלוּ רֵעִים שְׁתוּ וְשִׁכְרוּ דוֹדִים — Eat, My beloved priests! Drink and become God-intoxicated, O friends [lit., Eat, friends; drink and become intoxicated, O beloved ones], you who partook of the flesh of the peace-offerings.

5:2. [The following verses allegorize the period of the First Temple and its destruction, Israel's sins, God's pleas for repentance, and Israel's recalcitrance — until it was too late.]

אֲנִי יְשֵׁנָה וְלִבִּי עֵר — I let my devotion slumber, but the God of my heart was awake [lit., I (was) asleep but my heart (was) awake]. Secure in the peaceful period of feeling secure, Israel neglected the service of God, as if asleep, but, "my heart," i.e., God, was wakeful to guard me and grant me goodness.

קוֹל דוֹדִי דוֹפֵק — A sound! My Beloved knocks [lit., The sound of my Beloved knocking!]. Throughout my slumber, He issued daily warnings through the prophets (see Jeremiah 7:25).

פִּתְחִי לִי אֲחֹתִי רַעְיָתִי יוֹנָתִי תַּמָּתִי — He said, "Open your heart to Me, My sister, My love, My dove, My perfection [lit., Open to Me (i.e., Let Me in), My sister, My love, My dove, My perfect one]. Do not cause Me to depart from you.

שֶׁרֹּאשִׁי נִמְלָא טָל — admit Me and My head is filled with dewlike memories of Abraham [lit., for My head is filled with dew]. Through His prophets, He said to me, "Abraham's deeds were pleasing to Me as dew, and I will shower you with blessings if you will but return to Me."

קְוֻצּוֹתַי רְסִיסֵי לָיְלָה — spurn Me and I bear collections of punishing rains in exile-nights [lit., My locks (with) the rains of the night].

5:3. פָּשַׁטְתִּי אֶת כֻּתָּנְתִּי אֵיכָכָה אֶלְבָּשֶׁנָּה רָחַצְתִּי אֶת רַגְלַי אֵיכָכָה אֲטַנְּפֵם — And I responded, "I have doffed my robe of devotion; how can I don it? I have washed my feet that trod Your path; how can I soil them?" [lit., I have taken off my robe, how shall I don it? I have washed my feet, how shall I soil them?]. In reaction to God's knock on the door, we thought, "We have accustomed ourselves to serve other gods — how can we return to our God?"

ALLEGORICAL RENDERING FOLLOWING RASHI

15 purified in a garden spring, a well of waters alive and flowing clean from Lebanon.

16 Awake from the north and come from the south! Like the winds let My exiles return to My garden, let their fragrant goodness flow in Jerusalem.

Israel responds Let but my Beloved come to His garden and enjoy His precious people.

5 God replies 1 To your Tabernacle Dedication, My sister, O bride, I came as if to My garden. I gathered My myrrh with My spice from your princely incense; I accepted your unbidden as well as your bidden offerings to Me; I drank your libations pure as milk. Eat, My beloved priests! Drink and become God-intoxicated, O friends!

Israel reminisces regretfully 2 I let my devotion slumber, but the God of my heart was awake! A sound! My Beloved knocks!

He said, "Open your heart to Me, My sister, My love, My dove, My perfection; admit Me and My head is filled with dewlike memories of Abraham; spurn Me and I bear collections of punishing rains in exile-nights."

3 And I responded, "I have doffed my robe of devotion; how can I don it? I have washed my feet that trod Your path; how can I soil them?"

4 In anger at my recalcitrance, my Beloved sent forth His hand from the portal in wrath, and my intestines churned with longing for Him. 5 I arose to open for my Beloved and my hands dripped myrrh of repentant devotion to Torah and God, and my fingers flowing with myrrh to remove the traces of my foolish rebuke from the handles of the lock. 6 I opened for my Beloved; but, alas, my Beloved had turned His back on my plea and was gone. My soul departed at His decree! I sought His closeness, but could not find it; I beseeched Him, but He would not answer.

7 They found me, the enemy watchmen patrolling the city; they struck me, they bloodied me wreaking God's revenge on me. They stripped my mantle of holiness from me, the angelic watchmen of the wall.

5:4. דודי שָׁלַח יָדוֹ מִן הַחור — In anger at my recalcitrance, my Beloved sent forth His hand from the portal in wrath [lit., My Beloved sent forth His hand from the portal]. When we spurned Him, God brought Aram upon us and our king, Ahaz (see II Chronicles 28:5,6).

וּמֵעַי הָמוּ עָלָיו — and my intestines churned with longing for Him [lit., and my intestines stirred for Him]. We changed our ways, and became righteous in the service of God.

5:5. קַמְתִּי אֲנִי לְפְתֹּחַ לְדודי וְיָדַי נָטְפוּ מור — I arose to open for my Beloved and my hands dripped myrrh of repentant devotion to Torah and God [lit., I rose to open for my Beloved and my hands dripped with myrrh]. Hezekiah, Ahaz's son, became a model of piety. His entire generation was perfect; and there never arose another generation like it (Talmud, Sanhedrin 94b).

וְאֶצְבְּעֹתַי מור עֹבֵר עַל כַּפּות הַמַּנְעוּל — and my fingers flowing with myrrh to remove the traces of my foolish rebuke from the handles of the lock [lit., and my fingers flowing with myrrh upon the handles of the lock].

5:6. But, His Decree was to be enforced.

פָּתַחְתִּי אֲנִי לְדודי וְדודי חָמַק עָבָר — I opened for my Beloved; but, alas, my Beloved had turned His back on my plea and was gone [lit., I opened for my Beloved, but my Beloved had turned and gone]. Belatedly, I responded to my Beloved, but, alas, He did not annul His decree.

נַפְשִׁי יָצְאָה בְּדַבְּרו — My soul departed at His decree [lit., my soul departed (i.e., I became faint) as He spoke]. In effect, He said, "I will not enter, since at first you had refused to let Me in."

בִּקַּשְׁתִּיהוּ וְלֹא מְצָאתִיהוּ — I sought His closeness, but could not find it [lit., I sought Him, but did not find Him].

קָרָאתִיו וְלֹא עָנָנִי — I beseeched Him, but He would not answer [lit., I called Him, but He did not answer me].

5:7. מְצָאַנִי הַשֹּׁמְרִים הַסּבְבִים בָּעִיר — They found me, the enemy watchmen patrolling the city [lit., The watchmen who circle the city found me]. Nebuchadnezzar's forces lay siege to Jerusalem . . .

הִכּוּנִי פְּצָעוּנִי — they struck me, they bloodied me, wreaking God's revenge on me [lit., they struck me, they wounded me]. The Destruction of the First Temple was beginning.

נָשְׂאוּ אֶת רְדִידִי מֵעָלַי שֹׁמְרֵי הַחומות — They stripped my mantle of holiness from me, the angelic watchmen of the wall [lit., the guards of the walls stripped my mantle from me]. Even the angels that had formerly been assigned to protect the city now took part in the destruction (see Lamentations 1:13).

5:8. הִשְׁבַּעְתִּי אֶתְכֶם בְּנוֹת יְרוּשָׁלִָם — I adjure you, O nations destined to ascend to Jerusalem [lit., I adjure you, O daughters of Jerusalem]. You, our oppressors, should testify that we remained loyal to our God.

אִם תִּמְצְאוּ אֶת דּוֹדִי — when you see my Beloved on the future Day of Judgment [lit., If you find my Beloved], when the nations will be called upon to bear witness for Israel . . .

מַה תַּגִּידוּ לוֹ שֶׁחוֹלַת אַהֲבָה אָנִי — will you not tell Him that I bore all travails for love of Him? [lit., What shall you tell him? That I am sick with love]. Tell Him that only for love of Him were we afflicted with harsh suffering.

5:9. מַה דּוֹדֵךְ מִדּוֹד הַיָּפָה בַּנָּשִׁים — With what does your beloved God excel all others that you suffer for His Name, O fairest of nations? [lit., What (makes) your Beloved (better) than (another) beloved, O fairest among women?]. How is your God so superior to other gods that you are ready to be burned and tortured for Him? You are handsome, you are mighty; come intermingle with us!

מַה דּוֹדֵךְ מִדּוֹד שֶׁכָּכָה הִשְׁבַּעְתָּנוּ — With what does your beloved God excel all others that you dare to adjure us? [lit., What (makes) your Beloved (better) than (another) beloved, that you so adjure us?].

5:10. דּוֹדִי צַח וְאָדוֹם — My Beloved is pure and purifies sin, and is ruddy with vengeance to punish betrayers [lit., My Beloved is white, yet ruddy]. Even when He sits in judgment, He is anxious to purify my deeds. But when exacting retribution from His enemies, He is depicted as clad in blood-red vestments (see Isaiah 63:2).

דָּגוּל מֵרְבָבָה — surrounded with myriad angels [lit., pre-eminent above ten thousand].

5:11. רֹאשׁוֹ כֶּתֶם פָּז — His opening words were finest gold [lit., His head is finest gold]. When He gave us the Ten Commandments, His words were like fine gold.

קְוֻצּוֹתָיו תַּלְתַּלִּים — His crowns hold mounds of statutes [lit., His locks are wavy]. From every one of the scribal crowns that adorn the tops of many letters in the Torah script, mounds and mounds of laws can be derived (Eruvin 21b).

שְׁחֹרוֹת כָּעוֹרֵב — written in raven-black flame [lit., black as the raven]. In Heaven, the Torah is written in black fire upon white fire.

5:12. עֵינָיו כְּיוֹנִים עַל אֲפִיקֵי מָיִם — Like the gaze of doves toward their cotes, His eyes are fixed on the waters of Torah [lit., His eyes are like doves besides brooks of water].

רֹחֲצוֹת בֶּחָלָב — bathing all things in clarity [lit., bathing in milk]. God's "eyes" see clearly, rewarding the righteous, and condemning the wicked.

יְשְׁבוֹת עַל מִלֵּאת — established upon Creation's fullness [lit., sitting upon the fullness]. His judgment is upon the fullness of the earth.

5:13. לְחָיָו כַּעֲרוּגַת הַבֹּשֶׂם מִגְדְּלוֹת מֶרְקָחִים — Like a bed of spices are His words at Sinai, like towers of perfume [lit., His cheeks are like a bed of spices, towers of perfume]. God's utterances at Mount Sinai during which He displayed a friendly, smiling demeanor were like beds of spices and mounds of sweet herbs to be processed into perfumes.

שִׂפְתוֹתָיו שׁוֹשַׁנִּים נֹטְפוֹת מוֹר עֹבֵר — His comforting words from the Tabernacle are roses dripping flowing myrrh [lit., His lips are like roses; they drip flowing myrrh]. In the Tabernacle, God taught us about the offerings that atone for sin.

5:14. יָדָיו גְּלִילֵי זָהָב — The Tablets, His handiwork, are desirable above even rolls of gold [lit., His arms are rods of gold]. The Tablets of the Ten Commandments, written by the "finger" of God (Exodus 31:18), "are more desirable than gold, than even much fine gold" (Psalms 19:11).

מְמֻלָּאִים בַּתַּרְשִׁישׁ — they are studded with commandments precious as gems [lit., studded with crystal].

מֵעָיו עֶשֶׁת שֵׁן מְעֻלֶּפֶת סַפִּירִים — the Torah's innards are sparkling as ivory intricately inlaid with precious stone [lit., his innards are as shiny as ivory inlaid with sapphires].

5:15. שׁוֹקָיו עַמּוּדֵי שֵׁשׁ מְיֻסָּדִים עַל אַדְנֵי פָז — The Torah's columns are marble set in contexts of finest gold [lit., His legs are pillars of marble set upon sockets of fine gold] . . .

ALLEGORICAL RENDERING FOLLOWING RASHI

Israel to the nations

8 I adjure you, O nations destined to ascend to Jerusalem, when you see my Beloved on the future Day of Judgment, will you not tell Him that I bore all travails for love of Him?

The nations ask Israel

9 With what does your beloved God excel all others that you suffer for His Name, O fairest of nations? With what does your beloved God excel all others that you dare to adjure us?

Israel responds

10 My Beloved is pure and purifies sin, and is ruddy with vengeance to punish betrayers, surrounded with myriad angels. 11 His opening words were finest gold, His crowns hold mounds of statutes written in raven-black flame.

12 Like the gaze of doves toward their cotes, His eyes are fixed on the waters of Torah, bathing all things in clarity, established upon Creation's fullness. 13 Like a bed of spices are His words at Sinai, like towers of perfume. His comforting words from the Tabernacle are roses dripping flowing myrrh. 14 The Tablets, His handiwork, are desirable above even rolls of gold; they are studded with commandments precious as gems, the Torah's innards are sparkling as ivory intricately inlaid with precious stone. 15 The Torah's columns are marble set in contexts of finest gold, its contemplation flowers like Lebanon, it is sturdy as cedars. 16 The words of His palate are sweet and He is all delight.

This is my Beloved and this is my Friend, O nations destined to ascend to Jerusalem.

6 The nations, derisively, to Israel

1 Where has your Beloved gone, O fairest among women? Where has your Beloved turned to rejoin you? Let us seek Him with you and build His Temple with you.

Israel responds

2 My Beloved has descended to His Temple garden, to His Incense Altar, yet still He grazes my brethren remaining in gardens of exile to gather the roseate fragrance of their words of Torah. 3 I alone am my Beloved's and my Beloved is mine, He Who grazes His sheep in roselike pastures.

NOTES INCLUDING PHRASE-BY-PHRASE LITERAL TRANSLATION

מַרְאֵהוּ כַּלְּבָנוֹן בָּחוּר כָּאֲרָזִים — its contemplation flowers like Lebanon, it is sturdy as cedars [lit., his appearance is like (the forest of) Lebanon, choicest among cedars]. Just as one sees beautiful flowers and lofty trees in a forest, so one discovers limitless wisdom in the Torah.

5:16. חִכּוֹ מַמְתַקִּים וְכֻלּוֹ מַחֲמַדִּים — The words of His palate are sweet and He is all delight [lit., His palate is most sweet; and all of him is a delight].

זֶה דוֹדִי וְזֶה רֵעִי בְּנוֹת יְרוּשָׁלָם — This is my Beloved and this is my Friend, O nations destined to ascend to Jerusalem [lit., this is my Beloved, and this is my Friend, O daughters of Jerusalem].

6:1. The nations continue to taunt Israel:

אָנָה הָלַךְ דּוֹדֵךְ הַיָּפָה בַּנָּשִׁים — Where has your Beloved gone, O fairest among women? Why has He left you alone, widowed?

אָנָה פָּנָה דוֹדֵךְ וּנְבַקְשֶׁנּוּ עִמָּךְ — Where has your Beloved turned to rejoin you? Let us seek Him with you and build His Temple with you [lit., Where has your Beloved turned, that we may seek Him with you?]. When King Cyrus permitted the rebuilding of the Temple, the heathens tried to undermine the work by joining the builders and sabotaging the construction (see Ezra 4:1-2).

6:2. דּוֹדִי יָרַד לְגַנּוֹ לַעֲרֻגוֹת הַבֹּשֶׂם — My Beloved has descended to His Temple garden, to His Incense Altar [lit., My Beloved has gone down to His garden, to the beds of spices]. He commanded us to build His Temple, and He will surely be there with us.

לִרְעוֹת בַּגַּנִּים וְלִלְקֹט שׁוֹשַׁנִּים — yet still He grazes my brethren remaining in gardens of exile to gather the roseate fragrance of their words of Torah [lit., to graze in the gardens and to pick roses]. God did not neglect those of His children who chose not to return to the land. He manifested His Presence in their synagogues and study halls.

6:3. In reply to the nations' insincere offer to help Israel:

אֲנִי לְדוֹדִי — I alone am my Beloved's [lit., I am My Beloved's]. I, alone, am my Beloved's. You are not His, and you will not assist us in the construction (see Ezra 4:3).

וְדוֹדִי לִי — and my Beloved is mine.

הָרוֹעֶה בַּשּׁוֹשַׁנִּים — He Who grazes His sheep in roselike pastures [lit., Who feeds (others) among the roses].

6:4. יָפָה אַתְּ רַעְיָתִי כְּתִרְצָה — You are beautiful, My love, when your deeds are pleasing [lit., You are beautiful, My love, as Tirzah]. Tirzah was a beautiful city that was the capital for a succession of kings of the Northern Kingdom of Israel (see I Kings 15:33; 16:8-9,15,23).

נָאוָה כִּירוּשָׁלִָם — as comely now as you once were in Jerusalem of old [lit., comely as Jerusalem].

אֲיֻמָּה כַּנִּדְגָּלוֹת — hosts of angels stand in awe of you [lit., awe inspiring as an army with banners]. See Ezra Ch. 5.

6:5. הָסֵבִּי עֵינַיִךְ מִנֶּגְדִּי שֶׁהֵם הִרְהִיבֻנִי — Turn your pleading eyes from Me lest I be tempted to bestow upon you holiness more than you can bear [lit., Turn your eyes away from Me, for they overwhelm Me]. As the Second Temple was being built, God said figuratively, "You are as beautiful to Me now as you were before, but in this Temple I will not return the Ark, the Cherubim and the Paroches-Curtain that you had in the First Temple. They invoke special love in Me that you cannot have now that you have sinned. But in every other way you have maintained the former virtues that endeared you to Me."

שַׂעְרֵךְ כְּעֵדֶר הָעִזִּים שֶׁגָּלְשׁוּ מִן הַגִּלְעָד — But with all your flaws, your most common sons are as dearly beloved as the children of Jacob in the goatlike procession descending the slopes of Mount Gilead [lit., your hair is like a flock of goats streaming down from Gilead]. Even the young, tender and insignificant among you are praiseworthy.

6:6. שִׁנַּיִךְ כְּעֵדֶר הָרְחֵלִים שֶׁעָלוּ מִן הָרַחְצָה שֶׁכֻּלָּם מַתְאִימוֹת וְשַׁכְּלָה אֵין בָּהֶם — Your mighty leaders are perfect, as a flock of ewes come up from the washing, all of them unblemished with no miscarriage of action in them [lit., Your teeth are like a flock of ewes which have come up from the washing, all of them are perfect and there is none blemished among them] (see 4:2).

6:7. כְּפֶלַח הָרִמּוֹן רַקָּתֵךְ מִבַּעַד לְצַמָּתֵךְ — As many as a pomegranate's seeds are the merits of your unworthiest within your modest veil [lit., Your cheeks are like a slice of pomegranate, from behind your veil] (see 4:3).

6:8. שִׁשִּׁים הֵמָּה מְלָכוֹת — The queenly offspring of Abraham are sixty [lit., There are sixty queens]. Abraham's male descendants through the children of Jacob (Genesis 25:1-4, 12-15; 35:23-36:19) numbered sixty (see Appendix B, charts 2 and 4).

וּשְׁמֹנִים פִּילַגְשִׁים וַעֲלָמוֹת אֵין מִסְפָּר — compared to whom the eighty Noachides and all their countless nations are like mere concubines [lit., and eighty concubines and maidens without number]. Noah's descendants, until Abraham (Genesis Chs. 10-11), numbered eighty (See Appendix B, chart 1). Each of them branched out into many families.

6:9. אַחַת הִיא יוֹנָתִי תַּמָּתִי — Unique is she, My constant dove, My perfect one [lit., One is My dove, My perfect one]. Israel is My chosen nation, like a perfect dove, loyal to her mate.

אַחַת הִיא לְאִמָּהּ — Unique is she, this nation striving for the truth [lit., one is she to her mother]. To comprehend Torah in its fundamentals and its truth.

בָּרָה הִיא לְיוֹלַדְתָּהּ — pure is she to Jacob who begot her [lit., she is pure to the one that begot her]. All of Jacob's sons were righteous.

רָאוּהָ בָנוֹת וַיְאַשְּׁרוּהָ מְלָכוֹת וּפִילַגְשִׁים וַיְהַלְלוּהָ — Nations [lit., maidens] saw her and they extolled her; queens and concubines, and they praised her (see Malachi 3:12).

6:10. God now quotes to Israel how the nations will extol and praise her:

מִי זֹאת הַנִּשְׁקָפָה כְּמוֹ שָׁחַר — "Who is this that gazes down from atop the Temple Mount, brightening like the dawn [lit., Who is that gazing down like dawn?]. Like a steadily brightening dawn, Israel began the Second Temple era in subjugation, but later became independent under the Hasmonean dynasty.

יָפָה כַלְּבָנָה בָּרָה כַּחַמָּה — beautiful as the moon, brilliant as the sun [lit., beautiful as the moon, pure as the sun]. At first, Israel was like the moon, because it could only reflect the power permitted it by King Cyrus.

אֲיֻמָּה כַּנִּדְגָּלוֹת — awesome as the bannered hosts of kings?" [lit., awe inspiring as an army with banners].

6:11. אֶל גִּנַּת אֱגוֹז יָרַדְתִּי — I descended upon the deceptively simple holiness of the Second Temple [lit., I went down to the garden of nuts]. Israel is modest and unpretentious; her scholars are not conspicuous, but they are full of wisdom.

ALLEGORICAL RENDERING FOLLOWING RASHI

God to Israel

4 You are beautiful, My love, when your deeds are pleasing, as comely now as you once were in Jerusalem of old, hosts of angels stand in awe of you. 5 Turn your pleading eyes from Me lest I be tempted to bestow upon you holiness more than you can bear. But with all your flaws, your most common sons are as dearly beloved as the children of Jacob in the goatlike procession descending the slopes of Mount Gilead. 6 Your mighty leaders are perfect, as a flock of ewes come up from the washing, all of them unblemished with no miscarriage of action in them. 7 As many as a pomegranate's seeds are the merits of your unworthiest within your modest veil. 8 The queenly offspring of Abraham are sixty, compared to whom the eighty Noachides and all their countless nations are like mere concubines.

9 Unique is she, My constant dove, My perfect one. Unique is she, this nation striving for the truth; pure is she to Jacob who begot her. Nations saw her and they extolled her; queens and concubines, and they praised her: 10 "Who is this that gazes down from atop the Temple Mount, brightening like the dawn, beautiful as the moon, brilliant as the sun, awesome as the bannered hosts of kings?"

11 I descended upon the deceptively simple holiness of the Second Temple to see your moisture-laden deeds in the river beds; to see whether your Torah scholars had budded on the vine, whether your merit-laden righteous had flowered like the pomegranates filled with seeds.

Israel responds sadly

12 Alas, I knew not how to guard myself from sin! My own devices harnessed me, like chariots subject to a foreign nation's mercies.

7

1 The nations have said to me, "Turn away, turn away from God, O nation whose faith in Him is perfect, turn away, turn away, and we shall choose nobility from you."

But I replied to them, "What can you bestow upon a nation of perfect faith commensurate even with the desert camps encircling?"

The nations to Israel

2 But your footsteps were so lovely when shod in pilgrim's sandals, O daughter

לִרְאוֹת בְּאִבֵּי הַנָּחַל — to see your moisture-laden deeds in the river beds [lit., to look at the green plants of the streams], to examine the good deeds that I could find in you . . .

לִרְאוֹת הֲפָרְחָה הַגֶּפֶן — to see whether your Torah scholars had budded on the vine [lit., to see whether the vine has budded] . . .

הֵנֵצוּ הָרִמֹּנִים — whether your merit-laden righteous had flowered like the pomegranates filled with seeds [lit., if the pomegranates were in flower].

6:12. Hearing God's praise of her glorious past, Israel reflects on her current plight and responds sadly:

לֹא יָדַעְתִּי נַפְשִׁי שָׂמַתְנִי מַרְכְּבוֹת עַמִּי נָדִיב — Alas, I knew not how to guard myself from sin! My own devices harnessed me, like chariots subject to a foreign nation's mercies [lit., I did not know; my soul set me (as) chariots of a noble nation]. Instead of avoiding sin, I stumbled into the sin of hatred and controversy, which caused Jews to invite Rome into the land and take control. From that point, I became a chariot driven by foreign nations.

7:1. שׁוּבִי שׁוּבִי הַשּׁוּלַמִּית — The nations have said to me, "Turn away, turn away from God, O nation whose faith in Him is perfect [lit., Turn, turn, O Shulammite]. The word שׁוּלַמִּית, "Shulammite," is linguistically related to שָׁלֵם, "whole, perfect."

שׁוּבִי שׁוּבִי וְנֶחֱזֶה בָּךְ — turn away, turn away, and we shall choose nobility from you" [lit., turn, turn, that we may see you]. Join us and we will discern what greatness to bestow upon you.

מַה תֶּחֱזוּ בַּשּׁוּלַמִּית כִּמְחֹלַת הַמַּחֲנָיִם — But I replied to them, "What can you bestow upon a nation of perfect faith commensurate even with the desert camps encircling?" [lit., What will you see in the Shulammite like a dance of the camps?]. Your highest honors are not equal even to the greatness of the encircling encampments in the desert. See Numbers Ch. 2.

7:2. מַה יָּפוּ פְעָמַיִךְ בַּנְּעָלִים בַּת נָדִיב — But your footsteps were so lovely when shod in pilgrim's sandals, O daughter of nobles [lit., How lovely are your steps in sandals, O daughter of nobility!]. The word פְּעָמִים means both "footsteps," (hence, "pilgrimage") and "times, repeated occasions." The nations were impressed by Israel's pilgrimages to the Temple three times each year to celebrate the festivals.

NOTES INCLUDING PHRASE-BY-PHRASE LITERAL TRANSLATION

חֲמוּקֵי יְרֵכַיִךְ כְּמוֹ חֲלָאִים מַעֲשֵׂה יְדֵי אָמָּן — The rounded shafts for your libations' abysslike trenches, handiwork of the Master Craftsman [lit., The roundness of your flanks are like jewels, the work of a master's hand]. The wine libations, poured onto the top of the Temple's Courtyard Altar, flowed through pipes into deep pits under the Altar. Those pits had been placed there by God Himself during the Six Days of Creation. They were rounded like a thigh and descended into the abyss.

7:3. שָׁרְרֵךְ אַגַּן הַסַּהַר — At earth's very center your Sanhedrin site is a crescent basin [lit., Your umbilicus is like a moon-shaped basin]. The seat of the Sanhedrin (high court) was in the Temple complex, at the center of the world. Its members were seated in a semicircle, like the crescent moon, so they could see each other and speak face to face.

אַל יֶחְסַר הַמָּזֶג — of ceaseless, flowing teaching [lit., wherein no mixed wine is lacking]. The Sanhedrin was an endless source of wisdom.

בִּטְנֵךְ עֲרֵמַת חִטִּים — your national center an indispensable heap of nourishing knowledge [lit., your stomach is like a heap of wheat]. Wheat is an indispensable staple.

סוּגָה בַּשּׁוֹשַׁנִּים — Hedged about with roses. Just as a hedge of roses is hardly an imposing barrier, similarly, the sanctions of the Torah are gentle reminders to refrain from trespass against the handiwork of God.

7:4. שְׁנֵי שָׁדַיִךְ כִּשְׁנֵי עֳפָרִים תָּאֲמֵי צְבִיָּה — Your twin sustainers, the Tablets of the Law, are like two fawns, twins of the gazelle [lit., Your two breasts are like two fawns, twins of a gazelle]. This refers to the twin Tablets of the Covenant (see also 4:5).

7:5. צַוָּארֵךְ כְּמִגְדַּל הַשֵּׁן — Your Altar and Temple, erect and stately as an ivory tower [lit., Your neck is like a tower of ivory]. The Sanctuary and Altar, which stood erect and tall, provided spiritual strength and protection like an ivory tower.

עֵינַיִךְ בְּרֵכוֹת בְּחֶשְׁבּוֹן עַל שַׁעַר בַּת רַבִּים — your wise men aflow with springs of complex wisdom at the gate of the many-peopled city [lit., your eyes are (like the) pools in Heshbon by the gate of Bath-rabbim]. Your wise men (the "eyes" of the nation) sit at the gates of Jerusalem (Bath-rabbim, lit., "of great population") where they are involved in the complex calculations of the Hebrew calendar.

אַפֵּךְ כְּמִגְדַּל הַלְּבָנוֹן צוֹפֶה פְּנֵי דַמָּשֶׂק — your face, like the tower of Lebanon, looks to your future boundary as far as Damascus [lit., your face is like the tower of Lebanon facing toward Damascus]. An allusion to the prophetic vision (see Zechariah 9:1) that in the future the gates of Jerusalem will stretch forth until Damascus.

7:6. רֹאשֵׁךְ עָלַיִךְ כַּכַּרְמֶל — The Godly name on your head is as mighty as Carmel [lit., Your head upon you is like (Mount) Carmel]. This refers to the tefillin of the head, of which the verse says, "Then all the peoples of the earth will see that the Name of HASHEM is proclaimed over you, and they will revere you" (Deuteronomy 28:10). The tefillin are Israel's strength; they are as awe inspiring as the lofty cliffs of Mount Carmel.

וְדַלַּת רֹאשֵׁךְ כָּאַרְגָּמָן — your crowning braid is royal purple [lit., and the locks of your head are like purple]. The locks of your Nazirites are as comely as garments of royal purple.
