18:12 That is hopeless! Jeremiah brought them to the point where they actually stated their condition honestly. The prophet's threats were useless because they were so far gone—abandoned to their sins and the penalty. All hypocrisy was abandoned in favor of honesty, without repentance. Repentance was not in Israel (as v. 18; 19:15). This explains a seeming paradox, that Israel can repent and avert judgment, yet Jeremiah is not to pray for Israel (7:16; 11:14). It would do no good to pray for their change since they steeled themselves against any change.

18:13 virgin of Israel. It enhanced their guilt that Israel was the virgin whom God had chosen (cf. 2 Kin. 19:21).

18:14 snow water...cold flowing waters. No reasonable man would forsake such for "the rock of the field," perhaps a poetic term for Mt. Lebanon, from which the high mountain streams flowed. Yet Israel forsook God, the fountain of living waters, for broken foreign cisterns (cf. 2:13).

18:18 plans against Jeremiah. Plans to indict the prophet with their "tongues" and then to slay him (v. 23) were based on the promise that his message of doom was not true. The business of the priests, the wise, and the prophets continued as usual since God made them lasting institutions (cf. Lev. 6:18; 10:11).

18:19-23 Give heed to me. This is one of many examples of prayer aligning with God's will as Jeremiah prays for God's work of judgment to be done (vv. 11,15-17).

18:22 dug a pit. Cf. 38:6.

19:1 elders of the people...the priests. These were chosen to be credible witnesses of the symbolic action with the "earthen flask," so no one could plead ignorance of the prophesy. The 72 elders who made up the Sanhedrin were partly from the "priests" and the other tribes ("people").

of the elders of the priests. 2 And go out to [a]the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, which is by the entry of the Potsherd Gate; and proclaim there the words that I will tell you, 3 [b]and say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, O kings of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem. Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Behold, I will bring such a catastrophe on this place, that whoever hears of it, his ears will [c]tingle.

4 "Because they [d]have forsaken Me and made this an alien place, because they have burned incense in it to other gods whom neither they, their fathers, nor the kings of Judah have known, and have filled this place with [e]the blood of the innocents 5 [f](they have also built the high places of Baal, to burn their sons with fire for burnt offerings to Baal, [g]which I did not command or speak, nor did it come into My mind), 6 therefore behold, the days are coming," says the LORD, "that this place shall no more be called Tophet or [h]the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, but the Valley of Slaughter. 7 And I will make void the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem in this place, [i]and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies and by the hands of those who seek their lives; their [j]corpses I will give as meat for the birds of the heaven and for the beasts of the earth. 8 I will make this city [k]desolate and a hissing; everyone who passes by it will be astonished and hiss because of all its plagues. 9 And I will cause them to eat the [l]flesh of their sons and the flesh of their daughters, and everyone shall eat the flesh of his friend in the siege and in the desperation with which their enemies and those who seek their lives shall drive them to despair." '

10 [m]"Then you shall break the flask in the sight of the men who go with you, 11 and say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: [n]"Even so I will break this people and this city, as one breaks a potter's vessel, which cannot be [l]made whole again; and they shall [o]bury them in Tophet till there is no place to bury. 12 Thus I will do to this place," says the LORD, "and to its inhabitants, and make this city like Tophet. 13 And the houses of Jerusalem and the houses of the kings of Judah shall be defiled [p]like the place of Tophet, because of all the houses on whose [q]roofs they have burned incense to all the host of heaven, and [r]poured out drink offerings to other gods." ' "

14 Then Jeremiah came from Tophet, where the LORD had sent him to prophesy; and he stood in [s]the court of the LORD's house and said to all the people, 15 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Behold, I will bring on this city and on all her towns all the doom that I have pronounced against it, because [t]they have stiffened their necks that they might not hear My words.' The Word of God to Pashhur

20 Now [a]Pashhur the son of [b]Immer, the priest who was also chief governor in the house of the LORD, heard that Jeremiah prophesied these things. 2 Then Pashhur struck Jeremiah the prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the high [c]gate of Benjamin, which was by the house of the LORD.

3 And it happened on the next day that Pashhur brought Jeremiah out of the stocks. Then Jeremiah said to him, "The LORD has not called your name Pashhur, but [l]Magor-Missabib. 4 For thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will make you a terror to yourself and to all your friends; and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and your eyes shall see it. I will [d]give all Judah into the hand of the king of Babylon, 19:2 Valley...Hinnom. See note on 19:6. Potsherd Gate. The gate of "broken pottery" was on the S wall of Jerusalem where the potters formed pottery for use in the temple nearby.

19:6 Tophet. Hebrew uses the word toph for "drum." This was another name for the Valley of Hinnom, an E-W valley at the S end of Jerusalem where, when children were burned in sacrifice to idols (cf. vv. 4,5), drums were beaten to drown their cries. Rubbish from Jerusalem was dumped there and continually burned. The place became a symbol for the burning fires of hell, called Gehenna (Matt. 5:22). Cf. 7:30-32; Is. 30:33. It was to become a place of massacre.

19:9 eat the flesh. Desperate for food during a long siege, some would resort to cannibalism, eating family members and friends (Lam. 4:10).

19:13 defiled. With dead bodies (cf. 2 Kin. 23:10). incense to...host of heaven. Refers to worship of the sun, planets, and stars from flat housetops (cf. 32:29; 2 Kin. 23:11,12; Zeph. 1:5).

20:1 Pashhur. The meaning is either "ease," or "deliverance is round about," both in contrast to the new name God assigns him in v. 3. He was one of several men so named (cf. 21:1; 38:1). Immer. He was one of the original "governors of the sanctuary" (cf. 1 Chr. 24:14). chief governor. He was not the High-Priest, but the chief official in charge of temple police, who were to maintain order.

20:2 struck Jeremiah. He or others acting on his authority, delivered 40 lashes (see Deut. 25:3) to the prophet. put him in the stocks. Hands, feet, and neck were fastened in holes, bending the body to a distorted posture, causing excruciating pain. high gate. The northern gate of the upper temple court.

20:3 Magor-Missabib. "Terror on every side" is the fitting name which the Lord reckons for the leader. The details of that terror are in vv. 4,6 (cf. 6:25).

20:4 Babylon. This was Jeremiah's direct identification of the conqueror who would come out of the "north" (1:13), from "a far country" (4:16).

and he shall carry them captive to Babylon and slay them with the sword. 5 Moreover I [e]will deliver all the wealth of this city, all its produce, and all its precious things; all the treasures of the kings of Judah I will give into the hand of their enemies, who will plunder them, seize them, and [f]carry them to Babylon. 6 And you, Pashhur, and all who dwell in your house, shall go into captivity. You shall go to Babylon, and there you shall die, and be buried there, you and all your friends, to whom you have [g]prophesied lies.' "

Jeremiah's Unpopular Ministry

7 O LORD, You [2]induced me, and I was persuaded;
[h]You are stronger than I, and have prevailed.
[i]I am [3]in derision daily;
Everyone mocks me.
8 For when I spoke, I cried out;
[j]I shouted, "Violence and plunder!"
Because the word of the LORD was made to me
A reproach and a derision daily.
9 Then I said, "I will not make mention of Him, Nor speak anymore in His name."
But His word was in my heart like a [k]burning fire
Shut up in my bones;
I was weary of holding it back,
And [l]I could not.
10 [m]For I heard many [4]mocking:
"Fear on every side!"
"Report," they say, "and we will report it!"
[n]All my acquaintances watched for my stumbling, saying,
"Perhaps he can be induced;
Then we will prevail against him,
And we will take our revenge on him."

11 But the LORD is [o]with me as a mighty, awesome One.
Therefore my persecutors will stumble, and will not [p]prevail.
They will be greatly ashamed, for they will not prosper.
Their [q]everlasting confusion will never be forgotten.
12 But, O LORD of hosts,
You who [r]test the righteous,
And see the [5]mind and heart,
[s]Let me see Your vengeance on them;
For I have pleaded my cause before You.

13 Sing to the LORD! Praise the LORD!
For [t]He has delivered the life of the poor
From the hand of evildoers.

14 [u]Cursed be the day in which I was born!
Let the day not be blessed in which my mother bore me!
15 Let the man be cursed
Who brought news to my father, saying,
"A male child has been born to you!"
Making him very glad.
16 And let that man be like the cities
Which the LORD [v]overthrew, and did not relent;
Let him [w]hear the cry in the morning
And the shouting at noon,
17 [x]Because he did not kill me from the womb,
That my mother might have been my grave,
And her womb always enlarged with me.
18 [y]Why did I come forth from the womb to [z]see [6]labor and sorrow,
That my days should be consumed with shame?

20:8 derision daily. In vv. 7-18, Jeremiah prayerfully lamented the ridicule he was experiencing because of God's role for his life. His feelings wavered between quitting (v. 9a), being encouraged (vv. 9c,11), petitioning for help (v. 12), praise (v. 13), and waves of depression (vv. 14-18; cf. 11:18-23; 15:10,15-18).

20:9 I will not make mention. A surge of dejection swept over Jeremiah, making him long to say no more. But he was compelled inside (cf. Job 32:18,19; Ps. 39:3; Acts 18:5; 1 Cor. 9:16,17) because he did not want his enemies to see him fail (v. 10), he felt the powerful presence of the Lord (v. 11), and he remembered God's previous deliverances (v. 13).

20:14 Cursed be the day. Another tide of depression engulfed the prophet, perhaps when he was in the painful stocks (v. 2). His words are like Job's (Job 3:3,10,11).

20:15 Let the man be cursed. The servant of God fell into sinful despair, and he questioned the wisdom and purpose of God, for which he should have been thankful.

21:1 King Zedekiah. Cf. 2 Kin. 24:17–25:7 for details of his reign ca. 597–586 B.C. Pashhur. This priest was different from the man by this name in 20:1-6. Cf. 38:1.

seiah, the priest, saying, 2 [d]"Please inquire of the LORD for us, for [1]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon makes war against us. Perhaps the LORD will deal with us according to all His wonderful works, that the king may go away from us."

3 Then Jeremiah said to them, "Thus you shall say to Zedekiah, 4 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: "Behold, I will turn back the weapons of war that are in your hands, with which you fight against the king of Babylon and the [2]Chaldeans who besiege you outside the walls; and [e]I will assemble them in the midst of this city. 5 I [f]Myself will fight against you with an [g]outstretched hand and with a strong arm, even in anger and fury and great wrath. 6 I will strike the inhabitants of this city, both man and beast; they shall die of a great pestilence. 7 And afterward," says the LORD, [h]"I will deliver Zedekiah king of Judah, his servants and the people, and such as are left in this city from the pestilence and the sword and the famine, into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those who seek their life; and he shall strike them with the edge of the sword. [i]He shall not spare them, or have pity or mercy." '

8 "Now you shall say to this people, 'Thus says the LORD: "Behold, [j]I set before you the way of life and the way of death. 9 He who [k]remains in this city shall die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence; but he who goes out and [3]defects to the Chaldeans who besiege you, he shall [l]live, and his life shall be as a prize to him. 10 For I have [m]set My face against this city for adversity and not for good," says the LORD. [n]"It shall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall [o]burn it with fire." '

Message to the House of David

11 "And concerning the house of the king of Judah, say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, 12 O house of David! Thus says the LORD:

[p]"Execute[4] judgment [q]in the morning;
And deliver him who is plundered
Out of the hand of the oppressor,
Lest My fury go forth like fire
And burn so that no one can quench it,
Because of the evil of your doings.

13 "Behold, [r]I am against you,
O [5]inhabitant of the valley,
And rock of the plain," says the LORD,
"Who say, [s]'Who shall come down against us?
Or who shall enter our dwellings?'
14 But I will punish you according to the [t]fruit of your [6]doings," says the LORD;
"I will kindle a fire in its forest,
And [u]it shall devour all things around it." ' "

22 Thus says the LORD: "Go down to the house of the king of Judah, and there speak this word, 2 and say, [a]'Hear the word of the LORD, O king of Judah, you who sit on the throne of David, you and your servants and your people who enter these gates! 3 Thus says the LORD: [b]"Execute[1] judgment and righteousness, and deliver the plundered out of the hand of the oppressor. Do no wrong and do no violence to the stranger, the [c]fatherless, or the widow, nor shed innocent blood in this place. 4 For if you indeed do this thing, [d]then shall enter the gates of this house, riding on horses and in chariots, accompanied by servants and people, kings who sit on the throne of David. 5 But if you will not [2]hear these words, [e]I swear by Myself," says the LORD, "that this house shall become a desolation." ' "

21:2 war against us. This was during the last siege by Babylon (v. 4), ca. 587/86 B.C., resulting in the third deportation of Jews. Zedekiah hoped for God's intervention, such as Hezekiah received against Sennacherib (2 Kin. 19:35,36).

21:4 turn back the weapons...assemble them. The Jews were already fighting the invaders by going outside the walls of the city to battle them on the hillsides and in the valleys as they approached. However, they would soon be driven back into the city where the enemy would collect all their weapons and execute many with those very weapons.

21:5 I Myself will fight. God used an invader as His judging instrument (v. 7). The Jews have not only the Babylonians as their enemy, but God.

21:7 strike them...sword. This was the fate of Zedekiah's son and many nobles. Zedekiah died of grief (cf. 34:4; 2 Kin. 25:6-8).

21:8,9 life and...death. Since a persistent lack of repentance had led to the conquest, Jeremiah urged the Jews to submit and surrender to the besieger so as to be treated as captives of war and live rather than be killed.

21:12 O house of David! The royal family and all connected were called to enact justice and righteousness promptly ("morning"). There was still time for them to escape the destruction if there was repentance.

21:13 inhabitant of the valley...rock of the plain. Jerusalem personified, situated among rocks, hills, and valleys.

21:14 I will punish. During the siege Jerusalem will be burned (v. 10), as will the land in general.

22:2,4 throne of David. Refers to the Davidic Covenant of 2 Sam. 7:3-17, in which God promised David that his heirs will rule over Israel.

"You are [f]Gilead to Me,
The head of Lebanon;
Yet I surely will make you a
wilderness,
Cities which are not inhabited.
7 I will prepare destroyers against
you,
Everyone with his weapons;
They shall cut down [g]your choice cedars
[h]And cast them into the fire.

8 And many nations will pass by this city;
and everyone will say to his neighbor,
[i]'Why has the LORD done so to this great city?' 9 Then they will answer, [j]'Because they have forsaken the covenant of the LORD their God, and worshiped other gods and served them.' "

10 Weep not for [k]the dead, nor bemoan him;
Weep bitterly for him [l]who goes away,
For he shall return no more,
Nor see his native country.

Message to the Sons of Josiah

11 For thus says the LORD concerning
[m]Shallum[3] the son of Josiah, king of Judah, who reigned instead of Josiah his father, [n]who went from this place: "He shall not return here anymore, 12 but he shall die in the place where they have led him captive, and shall see this land no more.

13 "Woe[o] to him who builds his house

And his [4]chambers by injustice,
[p]Who uses his neighbor's service

And gives him nothing for his 15 "Shall you reign because you enclose yourself in cedar?

Did not your father eat and drink,
And do justice and righteousness?
Then [q]it was well with him.
16 He [6]judged the cause of the poor

For shedding innocent blood,
And practicing oppression and

18 Therefore thus says the LORD concerning Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah:

[s]"They shall not lament for him, Saying, [t]'Alas, my brother!' or
'Alas, my sister!'
They shall not lament for him, Saying, 'Alas, master!' or 'Alas, his Dragged and cast out beyond the 20 "Go up to Lebanon, and cry out,

Cry from Abarim,
For all your lovers are destroyed.

But you said, 'I will not hear.'

22:6 Gilead...Lebanon. The beautiful high mountains of the land.

22:7 cut down...choice cedars. This could primarily refer to the palaces and great houses built from such timber (cf. Song 1:17).

22:10 the dead. Probably a reference to Josiah who died before the destruction (2 Kin. 22:20; Is. 57:1). Dying saints are to be envied, living sinners pitied. When Josiah died, and on each anniversary of his death, there was open public weeping in which Jeremiah participated (2 Chr. 35:24,25).

22:11,12 Shallum. This is another name for King Jehoahaz (3 month reign, 609 B.C., 2 Kin. 23:31) the fourth son of Josiah (cf. 1 Chr. 3:15). It was given to him in irony, because the people called him Shalom ("peace"), but Shallum means "retribution."

22:13-17 Woe to him. This message indicted Jehoahaz (vv. 13,14,17), who was unlike his father, the good king, Josiah (vv. 15,16).

22:18-19 Jehoiakim. Ruling from 609 to 598 B.C., he was also wicked in taxing the people (2 Kin. 23:35) and making them build his splendid palace without pay, violating God's law in Lev. 19:13 and Deut. 24:14,15 (cf. Mic. 3:10; Hab. 2:9; James 5:4). He was slain in Babylon's second siege and his corpse dishonored, being left like a dead donkey on the ground for scavengers to feed on.

22:20 Go up to Lebanon. Sinners dwelling in the NW in Lebanon's cedar land and others to the NE beyond the Sea of Galilee in Bashan will suffer in the invasion. The entirety of the land will come under judgment as Abarim in the SE.

Making your nest in the cedars,
How gracious will you be when pangs come upon you,
Like [x]the pain of a woman in [8]labor?

Message to Coniah

your mother who bore you, into another

The Branch of Righteousness

23 "Woe [a]to the shepherds who destroy and scatter the sheep of My pasture!" says the LORD. 2 Therefore thus says the LORD God of Israel against the shepherds who feed My people: "You have scattered My flock, driven them away, and not attended to them. [b]Behold, I will attend to you for the evil of your doings," says the LORD. 3 "But [c]I will gather the remnant of My flock out of all countries where I have driven them, and bring them back to their folds; and they shall be fruitful and increase. 4 I will set up [d]shepherds over them who will feed them; and they shall fear no more, nor be dismayed, nor shall they be lacking," says the LORD.

5 "Behold, [e]the days are coming," says
the LORD,
"That I will raise to David a Branch of righteousness;
A King shall reign and [1]prosper, [f]And execute [2]judgment and righteousness in the [3]earth.
6 [g]In His days Judah will be saved,
And Israel [h]will dwell safely;
Now [i]this is His name by which
He will be called:

[4]THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.

7 "Therefore, behold, [j]the days are coming," says the LORD, "that they shall no longer say, 'As the LORD lives who brought up the children of Israel from the land of Egypt,' 8 but, 'As the LORD lives who brought up and led the descendants of the 22:24-26 Coniah. A short form of Jeconiah, perhaps used in contempt, who was also called Jehoiachin. He ruled only 3 months and 10 days (2 Chr. 36:9) in 598–597 B.C., and was taken into captivity, where he lived out his life.

22:24 signet. A ring with a personal insignia on it (cf. Hag. 2:23).

22:28 Questions the people who idolized Jeconiah were asking.

22:30 Write...as childless. Jeconiah did have offspring (1 Chr. 3:17,18), but he was reckoned childless in the sense that he had no sons who would reign ("Sitting on the throne..."). The curse continued in his descendants down to Joseph, the husband of Mary. How could Jesus then be the Messiah when His father was under this curse? It was because Joseph was not involved in the blood line of Jesus since He was virgin born (Matt. 1:12). Jesus' blood right to the throne of David came through Mary from Nathan, Solomon's brother, not Solomon (Jeconiah's line) thus bypassing this curse (Luke 3:31, 32). Cf. 36:30.

23:1,2 Woe to the shepherds. These were false leaders who failed in their duty to assure the people's welfare (as v. 2), starting with the kings in chap. 22 and other civil heads, as well as prophets and priests (cf. v. 11). They stood in utter contrast to the shepherds God would later give the nation (v. 4; 3:15). Other significant chapters which condemn evil shepherds and false prophets include chaps. 14,27,28; Is. 28; Ezek. 13, 34; Mic. 3; Zech. 11.

23:3,4 I will gather. God pledged to restore exiled Israelites to their ancient soil. Cf. similar promises in chaps. 30–33, and 16:14,15. The land in view was lit. Palestine, being contrasted with all the other countries (v. 3), thus assuring that the regathering would be as literal as the scattering. The restoration of Judah from Babylon is referred to in language which in its fullness can only refer to the final restoration of God's people ("out of all countries" and v. 8), under Messiah. "Neither shall they be lacking" indicates that no one will be missing or detached. These are prophecies not yet fulfilled. Cf. 32:37,38; Is. 60:21; Ezek 34:11-16.

23:4 shepherds...will feed them. Cf. Ezek 34:23-31. Zerubbabel, Ezra, Nehemiah, and others were small fulfillments compared to the consummate shepherding of the Messiah Jesus.

23:5 Branch. The Messiah is pictured as a branch (lit. "shoot") out of David's family tree (cf. 23:5; 33:15,16; Is. 4:2; 11:1-5; Zech. 3:8; 6:12, 13), who will rule over God's people in the future. Cf. 33:14-17 where the same promise is repeated.

23:6 THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS. This emphasis is stated 3 times in vv. 5,6. Messiah's shepherding is contrasted with that of the false shepherds (vv. 1,2,11,14). Judah and Israel will be reunited (cf. Ezek. 37:15-23).

23:7,8 See note on 16:14,15.

house of Israel from the north country [k]and from all the countries where I had driven them.' And they shall dwell in their own [l]land."

False Prophets and Empty Oracles

9 My heart within me is broken
Because of the prophets;
[m]All my bones shake.
I am like a drunken man,
And like a man whom wine has overcome,
Because of the LORD,
And because of His holy words.
10 For [n]the land is full of adulterers;
For [o]because of a curse the land mourns.
[p]The pleasant places of the wilderness are dried up.
Their course of life is evil,
And their might is not right.

11 "For [q]both prophet and priest are profane;
Yes, [r]in My house I have found their wickedness," says the LORD.
12 "Therefore [s]their way shall be to them
Like slippery ways;
In the darkness they shall be driven on
And fall in them;
For I [t]will bring disaster on them,
The year of their punishment," says the LORD.
13 "And I have seen [5]folly in the prophets of Samaria:
[u]They prophesied by Baal
And [v]caused My people Israel to err.
14 Also I have seen a horrible thing in the prophets of Jerusalem:
[w]They commit adultery and walk in lies;
They also [x]strengthen the hands of evildoers,
So that no one turns back from his wickedness.
All of them are like [y]Sodom to Me,
And her inhabitants like Gomorrah.

15 "Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the prophets:
'Behold, I will feed them with [z]wormwood,
And make them drink the water of gall;
For from the prophets of Jerusalem
[6]Profaneness has gone out into all the land.' "

16 Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Do not listen to the words of the prophets who prophesy to you.
They make you worthless;
[a]They speak a vision of their own heart,
Not from the mouth of the LORD.
17 They continually say to those who despise Me,
'The LORD has said, [b]"You shall have peace" ';
And to everyone who [c]walks according to the [7]dictates of his own heart, they say,
[d]'No evil shall come upon you.' "

18 For [e]who has stood in the counsel of the LORD,
And has perceived and heard His word?
Who has marked His word and heard it?
19 Behold, a [f]whirlwind of the LORD has gone forth in fury—
A violent whirlwind!
It will fall violently on the head of the wicked.
20 The [g]anger of the LORD will not turn back
Until He has executed and performed the thoughts of His heart.
[h]In the latter days you will understand it perfectly.

21 "I [i]have not sent these prophets, yet they ran.
I have not spoken to them, yet they prophesied.
22 But if they had stood in My counsel,
And had caused My people to hear My words,

23:13,14 Jerusalem and Judah were worse than Samaria and Israel.

23:14 a horrible thing in the prophets. The false shepherds told lies, committed adultery, and declared vain dreams (vv. 25,27). They became like chaff rather than grain (v. 28), while promising peace (v. 17) to those whose sins provoke God to bring calamity, not comfort. The scene was like Sodom and Gomorrah, whose sin so grieved God that He destroyed them by fire (cf. Gen. 19:13,24,25).

23:18 Here was the reason not to listen to the false prophets (cf. v. 16)—they didn't speak God's Word.

23:20 latter days. They wouldn't listen, but the day would come (v. 12) when the judgment would fall and then they would "understand."

23:21,22 According to the Mosaic law, these false prophets should have been stoned (cf. Deut. 13:1-5; 18:20-22).

Then they would have [j]turned them from their evil way
And from the evil of their doings.

23 "Am I a God near at hand," says the LORD,
"And not a God afar off?
24 Can anyone [k]hide himself in secret places,
So I shall not see him?" says the LORD;
[l]"Do I not fill heaven and earth?" says the LORD.

25 "I have heard what the prophets have said who prophesy lies in My name, saying, 'I have dreamed, I have dreamed!' 26 How long will this be in the heart of the prophets who prophesy lies? Indeed they are prophets of the deceit of their own heart, 27 who try to make My people forget My name by their dreams which everyone tells his neighbor, [m]as their fathers forgot My name for Baal.

28 "The prophet who has a dream, let him tell a dream;
And he who has My word, let him speak My word faithfully.
What is the chaff to the wheat?" says the LORD.
29 "Is not My word like a [n]fire?" says the LORD,
"And like a hammer that breaks the rock in pieces?

30 "Therefore behold, [o]I am against the prophets," says the LORD, "who steal My words every one from his neighbor. 31 Behold, I am [p]against the prophets," says the LORD, "who use their tongues and say, 'He says.' 32 Behold, I am against those who prophesy false dreams," says the LORD, "and tell them, and cause My people to err by their [q]lies and by [r]their recklessness. Yet I did not send them or command them; therefore they shall not [s]profit this people at all," says the LORD.

33 "So when these people or the prophet or the priest ask you, saying, 'What is [t]the [s]oracle of the LORD?' you shall then say to them, [g]'What oracle?' I will even forsake you," says the LORD. 34 "And as for the prophet and the priest and the people who say, 'The [1]oracle of the LORD!' I will even punish that man and his house. 35 Thus every one of you shall say to his neighbor, and every one to his brother, 'What has the LORD answered?' and, 'What has the LORD spoken?' 36 And the [2]oracle of the LORD you shall mention no more. For every man's word will be his oracle, for you have [u]perverted the words of the living God, the LORD of hosts, our God. 37 Thus you shall say to the prophet, 'What has the LORD answered you?' and, 'What has the LORD spoken?' 38 But since you say, 'The [3]oracle of the LORD!' therefore thus says the LORD: 'Because you say this word, "The oracle of the LORD!" and I have sent to you, saying, "Do not say, 'The oracle of the LORD!' " 39 therefore behold, I, even I, [v]will utterly forget you and forsake you, and the city that I gave you and your fathers, and will cast you out of My presence. 40 And I will bring [w]an everlasting reproach upon you, and a perpetual [x]shame, which shall not be forgotten.' The Sign of Two Baskets of Figs

24 The [a]LORD showed me, and there were two baskets of figs set before the temple of the LORD, after Nebuchadnezzar [b]king of Babylon had carried away captive [c]Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and the princes of Judah with the craftsmen and smiths, from Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babylon. 2 One basket had very good figs, like the figs that are first ripe; and the other basket had very bad figs which could not be eaten, they were so [d]bad. 3 Then the LORD said to me, "What do you see, Jeremiah?"

And I said, "Figs, the good figs, very good; and the bad, very bad, which cannot be eaten, they are so bad."

4 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 5 "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Like these good figs, so will I [1]acknowledge those who are carried away

23:23,24 God near...God afar off. Let not false prophets think they can hide their devices from God, who declares Himself omnipresent and omniscient, in both an immanent and transcendent sense.

23:25 I have dreamed. Here was a claim to divine revelation through dreams (cf. Num. 12:6). But such claims were a deception (vv. 26,27), utterly unequal in power to God's Word (vv. 28,29).

23:29 like a fire...hammer. God's Word has irresistible qualities to prevail over the deception in the shepherd's false messages.

23:33 the oracle of the LORD...What oracle? The people asked, in mockery, for Jeremiah to give them his latest prophecy ("oracle"). This ridicule of Jeremiah's faithful preaching demanded a response, and God told the prophet to repeat the question and reply simply "I will even forsake you," meaning judgment from God was coming.

23:34-40 The oracle of the LORD! When a person falsely claimed to have a word from God, he would be punished for perverting God's truth. Claiming to have prophecies from God, when not true, is dangerous.

24:1 after Nebuchadnezzar...carried away. Babylon's second deportation of Judeans in 597 B.C. (cf. 2 Kin. 24:10-17).

24:5 Like these good figs. The object lesson of v. 2 is explained. Deported Judeans, captive in Babylon, will have good treatment, not death as shown in 29:5-7,10. They will be granted privileges as colonists rather than being enslaved as captives.

captive from Judah, whom I have sent out of this place for their own good, into the land of the Chaldeans. 6 For I will set My eyes on them for good, and [e]I will bring them back to this land; [f]I will build them and not pull them down, and I will plant them and not pluck them up. 7 Then I will give them [g]a heart to know Me, that I am the LORD; and they shall be [h]My people, and I will be their God, for they shall return to Me [i]with their whole heart.

8 'And as the bad [j]figs which cannot be eaten, they are so bad'—surely thus says the LORD—'so will I give up Zedekiah the king of Judah, his princes, the [k]residue of Jerusalem who remain in this land, and [l]those who dwell in the land of Egypt. 9 I will deliver them to [m]trouble into all the kingdoms of the earth, for their harm, [n]to be a reproach and a byword, a taunt and a curse, in all places where I shall drive them. 10 And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they are [2]consumed from the land that I gave to them and their fathers.' "

Seventy Years of Desolation

25 The word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah, [a]in the fourth year of [b]Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah (which was the first year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon), 2 which Jeremiah the prophet spoke to all the people of Judah and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying: 3 [c]"From the thirteenth year of Josiah the son of Amon, king of Judah, even to this day, this is the twenty-third year in which the word of the LORD has come to me; and I have spoken to you, rising early and speaking, [d]but you have not listened. 4 And the LORD has sent to you all His servants the prophets, [e]rising early and sending them, but you have not listened nor inclined your ear to hear. 5 They said, [f]'Repent now everyone of his evil way and his evil doings, and dwell in the land that the LORD has given to you and your fathers forever and ever. 6 Do not go after other gods to serve them and worship them, and do not provoke Me to anger with the works of your hands; and I will not harm you.' 7 Yet you have not listened to Me," says the LORD, "that you might [g]provoke Me to anger with the works of your hands to your own hurt.

8 "Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts: 'Because you have not heard My words, 9 behold, I will send and take [h]all the families of the north,' says the LORD, 'and Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, [i]My servant, and will bring them against this land, against its inhabitants, and against these nations all around, and will utterly destroy them, and [j]make them an astonishment, a hissing, and perpetual desolations. 10 Moreover I will [l]take from them the [k]voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, [l]the sound of the millstones and the light of the lamp. 11 And this whole land shall be a desolation and an astonishment, and these nations shall serve the king of Babylon seventy [m]years.

12 'Then it will come to pass, [n]when [2]seventy years are completed, that I will punish the king of Babylon and that nation, the land of the Chaldeans, for their iniquity,' says the LORD; [o]'and I will make it a perpetual desolation. 13 So I will bring on that land all My words which I have pronounced against it, all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah has prophesied concerning all the nations. 14 [p](For many nations [q]and great kings shall [r]be served by them also; [s]and I will repay them according to their deeds and according to the works of their own hands.)' 24:6,7 While it is true that a remnant returned to Judah in 538 B.C., this promise had greater overtones in regard to the ultimate fulfillment of the Abrahamic (Gen. 12), Davidic (2 Sam. 7), and New (Jer. 31) Covenants in the day of Messiah's coming and kingdom (cf. 32:41; 33:7). Their conversion (v. 7) from idolatry to the one true God is expressed in language which, in its fullness, applies to the complete conversion in the final Kingdom after the present dispersion (cf. Rom. 11:1-5,25-27).

24:8-10 as the bad figs. Those remaining at Jerusalem during the 11 years (597–586 B.C.) of Zedekiah's vassal reign would soon face hardship from further scattering to other countries, violent death, famine, and disease; cf. Jer. 29:17. See 25:9 and note there. These verses quote the curses of Deut. 28:25,37 (cf. Jer. 29:18,22; Ps. 44:13,14) and are also fulfilled in the history of the long dispersion until Messiah returns.

25:1 fourth year. The date is 605/04 B.C., as Jehoiakim reigned in 609–598 B.C. first year. Nebuchadnezzar reigned 605–562 B.C.

25:3 thirteenth year. The time is ca. 627/626 B.C. Josiah ruled in 640–609 B.C. twenty-third year. Jeremiah began his ministry in the 13th year of Josiah (cf. 1:2) and had been faithful to preach repentance and judgment for 23 years (ca. 605/604 B.C.).

25:9 My servant. God used a pagan king, Nebuchadnezzar, to accomplish His will (cf. Cyrus in Is. 45:1).

25:10 Cf. 7:34; Rev. 18:23.

25:11 seventy years. Here is the first specific statement on the length of the exile (cf. 29:10). This period probably began in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, when Jerusalem was first captured and the temple treasures were taken. It ends with the decree of Cyrus to let the Jews return, spanning from ca. 605/04 B.C. to 536/35 B.C. The exact number of Sabbath years is 490 years, the period from Saul to the Babylonian captivity. This was retribution for their violation of the Sabbath law (cf. Lev. 26:34,35; 2 Chr. 36:21).

25:13 all the nations. Jeremiah prophesied judgments on surrounding nations (cf. chaps. 46–49), while Babylon is the focus of judgment in chaps. 50–51.

25:14 be served by them. The Babylonians, who made other nations their slaves, would become the servants of nations.

Judgment on the Nations

15 For thus says the LORD God of Israel to me: "Take this [t]wine cup of [3]fury from My hand, and cause all the nations, to whom I send you, to drink it. 16 And [u]they will drink and stagger and go mad because of the sword that I will send among them."

17 Then I took the cup from the LORD's hand, and made all the nations drink, to whom the LORD had sent me: 18 Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, its kings and its princes, to make them [v]a desolation, an astonishment, a hissing, and [w]a curse, as it is this day; 19 Pharaoh king of Egypt, his servants, his princes, and all his people; 20 all the mixed multitude, all the kings of [x]the land of Uz, all the kings of the land of the [y]Philistines (namely, Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and [z]the remnant of Ashdod); 21 [a]Edom, Moab, and the people of Ammon; 22 all the kings of [b]Tyre, all the kings of Sidon, and the kings of the coastlands which are across the [c]sea; 23 [d]Dedan, Tema, Buz, and all who are in the farthest corners; 24 all the kings of Arabia and all the kings of the [e]mixed multitude who dwell in the desert; 25 all the kings of Zimri, all the kings of [f]Elam, and all the kings of the [g]Medes; 26 [h]all the kings of the north, far and near, one with another; and all the kingdoms of the world which are on the face of the earth. Also the king of [4]Sheshach shall drink after them.

27 "Therefore you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: [i]"Drink, [j]be drunk, and vomit! Fall and rise no more, because of the sword which I will send among you." ' 28 And it shall be, if they refuse to take the cup from your hand to drink, then you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "You shall certainly drink! 29 For behold, [k]I begin to bring calamity on the city [l]which is called by My name, and should you be utterly unpunished? You shall not be unpunished, for [m]I will call for a sword on all the inhabitants of the earth," says the LORD of hosts.'

30 "Therefore prophesy against them all these words, and say to them:

'The LORD will [n]roar from on high,
And utter His voice from [o]His holy habitation;
He will roar mightily against [p]His fold.
He will give [q]a shout, as those who tread the grapes,
Against all the inhabitants of the earth.
31 A noise will come to the ends of the earth—
For the LORD has [r]a controversy with the nations;
[s]He will plead His case with all flesh.
He will give those who are wicked to the sword,' says the LORD."

32 Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Behold, disaster shall go forth
From nation to nation,
And [t]a great whirlwind shall be raised up
From the farthest parts of the earth.

33 [u]"And at that day the slain of the LORD shall be from one end of the earth even to the other end of the earth. They shall not be [v]lamented, [w]or gathered, or buried; they shall become refuse on the ground.

34 "Wail,[x] shepherds, and cry!
Roll about in the ashes,
You leaders of the flock!
For the days of your slaughter and your dispersions are fulfilled;
You shall fall like a precious vessel.
35 And the shepherds will have no [5]way to flee,
Nor the leaders of the flock to escape.
36 A voice of the cry of the shepherds,
And a wailing of the leaders to the flock will be heard.
For the LORD has plundered their pasture,
37 And the peaceful dwellings are cut down
Because of the fierce anger of the LORD.
38 He has left His lair like the lion;
For their land is desolate
Because of the fierceness of the Oppressor,
And because of His fierce anger."

25:17 made all the nations drink. Obviously Jeremiah could not visit all the places listed from vv. 18-26, but in this vision he acted as if representatives from all those nations were present so he could make them drink in the message of wrath (v. 27), and understand there was no escape (vv. 28,29).

25:29 the city...called by My name. Jerusalem (cf. Dan. 9:18).

25:30-33 While embracing the judgments soon to come to Judah and other nations, this has end-time language ("one end of the earth...to the other") and must be ultimately fulfilled in the time of tribulation described in Rev. 6–19.

Jeremiah Saved from Death

CHAPTER 26

26 In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came from the LORD, saying, 2 "Thus says the LORD: 'Stand in [a]the court of the LORD's house, and speak to all the cities of Judah, which come to worship in the LORD's house, [b]all the words that I command you to speak to them. [c]Do not diminish a word. 3 [d]Perhaps everyone will listen and turn from his evil way, that I may [e]relent concerning the calamity which I purpose to bring on them because of the evil of their doings.' 4 And you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD: [f]"If you will not listen to Me, to walk in My law which I have set before you, 5 to heed the words of My servants the prophets [g]whom I sent to you, both rising up early and sending them (but you have not heeded), 6 then I will make this house like [h]Shiloh, and will make this city [i]a curse to all the nations of the earth."' "

7 So the priests and the prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the house of the LORD. 8 Now it happened, when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking all that the LORD had commanded him to speak to all the people, that the priests and the prophets and all the people seized him, saying, "You will surely die! 9 Why have you prophesied in the name of the LORD, saying, 'This house shall be like Shiloh, and this city shall be [j]desolate, without an inhabitant'?" And all the people were gathered against Jeremiah in the house of the LORD.

10 When the princes of Judah heard these things, they came up from the king's house to the house of the LORD and sat down in the entry of the New Gate of the LORD's house. 11 And the priests and the prophets spoke to the princes and all the people, saying, [1]"This man deserves to [k]die! For he has prophesied against this city, as you have heard with your ears."

12 Then Jeremiah spoke to all the princes and all the people, saying: "The LORD sent me to prophesy against this house and against this city with all the words that you have heard. 13 Now therefore, [l]amend your ways and your doings, and obey the voice of the LORD your God; then the LORD will relent concerning the doom that He has pronounced against you. 14 As for me, here [m]I am, in your hand; do with me as seems good and [2]proper to you. 15 But know for certain that if you put me to death, you will surely bring innocent blood on yourselves, on this city, and on its inhabitants; for truly the LORD has sent me to you to speak all these words in your hearing."

16 So the princes and all the people said to the priests and the prophets, "This man does not deserve to die. For he has spoken to us in the name of the LORD our God."

17 [n]Then certain of the elders of the land rose up and spoke to all the assembly of the people, saying: 18 [o]"Micah of Moresheth prophesied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and spoke to all the people of Judah, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts:

> [p]"Zion shall be plowed like a field,
> Jerusalem shall become [q]heaps of ruins,
> And the mountain of the [3]temple
> Like the [4]bare hills of the forest." '

19 Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all Judah ever put him to death? [r]Did he not fear the LORD and [s]seek the LORD's favor? And the LORD [t]relented concerning the doom which He had pronounced against them. [u]But we are doing great evil against ourselves."

20 Now there was also a man who prophesied in the name of the LORD, Urijah the son of Shemaiah of Kirjath Jearim, who prophesied against this city and against this land according to all the words of Jeremiah. 21 And when Jehoiakim the king, with all his mighty men and all the princes, heard his words, the king sought to put 26:2 Stand in the court. This was the largest public gathering place at the temple.

26:6 like Shiloh. The former dwelling place of God before Jerusalem. Cf. 7:12 and see note there.

26:11 Jeremiah was accused of treason. Cf. Paul's arrest in Acts 21:27,28.

26:12 Jeremiah spoke. Leaders and people threatened to kill him (v. 8). The prophet defended himself while in extreme danger. He did not compromise, but displayed tremendous spiritual courage. He was ready to die (v. 14), yet warned the crowd that God would hold the guilty accountable (v. 15).

26:15 put me to death. Cf. Matt. 23:31-37.

26:17-19 elders...spoke. These spokesmen cited the prophet Micah (cf. Mic. 3:12), who before and during Hezekiah's reign (ca. 715–686 B.C.) prophesied the destruction of Jerusalem and its temple. They reasoned that because they didn't kill Micah, God rescinded the judgment. They must not kill Jeremiah so God might change His mind. Micah's prophecy and Jeremiah's would come true in time.

26:20-22 also a man...prophesied. Urijah, like Micah and Jeremiah, had warned of doom on Jerusalem, speaking in Jehoiakim's day only a bit earlier than Jeremiah's present warning (609 B.C.). He was executed. The decision could have gone either way since there was precedent for killing and for sparing.

him to death; but when Urijah heard it, he was afraid and fled, and went to Egypt. 22 Then Jehoiakim the king sent men to Egypt: Elnathan the son of Achbor, and other men who went with him to Egypt. 23 And they brought Urijah from Egypt and brought him to Jehoiakim the king, who killed him with the sword and cast his dead body into the graves of the [5]common people.

24 Nevertheless [v]the hand of Ahikam the son of Shaphan was with Jeremiah, so that they should not give him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

Symbol of the Bonds and Yokes

27 In [1] the beginning of the reign of [2]Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, [a]king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying, 2 "Thus says the LORD to me: 'Make for yourselves bonds and yokes, [b]and put them on your neck, 3 and send them to the king of Edom, the king of Moab, the king of the Ammonites, the king of Tyre, and the king of Sidon, by the hand of the messengers who come to Jerusalem to Zedekiah king of Judah. 4 And command them to say to their masters, "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel—thus you shall say to your masters: 5 [c]'I have made the earth, the man and the beast that are on the ground, by My great power and by My outstretched arm, and [d]have given it to whom it seemed proper to Me. 6 [e]And now I have given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, [f]My servant; and [g]the beasts of the field I have also given him to serve him. 7 [h]So all nations shall serve him and his son and his son's son, [i]until the time of his land comes; [j]and then many nations and great kings shall make him serve them. 8 And it shall be, that the nation and kingdom which will not serve Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, and which will not put its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, that nation I will punish,' says the LORD, 'with the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, until I have consumed them by his hand. 9 Therefore do not listen to your prophets, your diviners, your [3]dreamers, your soothsayers, or your sorcerers, who speak to you, saying, "You shall not serve the king of Babylon." 10 For they prophesy a [k]lie to you, to remove you far from your land; and I will drive you out, and you will perish. 11 But the nations that bring their necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon and serve him, I will let them remain in their own land,' says the LORD, 'and they shall till it and dwell in it.' " ' "

12 I also spoke to [l]Zedekiah king of Judah according to all these words, saying, "Bring your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him and his people, and live! 13 [m]Why will you die, you and your people, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the LORD has spoken against the nation that will not serve the king of Babylon? 14 Therefore [n]do not listen to the words of the prophets who speak to you, saying, 'You shall not serve the king of Babylon,' for they prophesy [o]a lie to you; 15 for I have [p]not sent them," says the LORD, "yet they prophesy a lie in My name, that I may drive you out, and that you may perish, you and the prophets who prophesy to you."

16 Also I spoke to the priests and to all this people, saying, "Thus says the LORD: 'Do not listen to the words of your prophets who prophesy to you, saying, "Behold, [q]the vessels of the LORD's house will now shortly be brought back from Babylon"; for they prophesy a lie to you. 17 Do not listen to them; serve the king of Babylon, and live! Why should this city be laid waste? 18 But if they are prophets, and if the word of the LORD is with them, let them now make intercession to the LORD of hosts, that the vessels which are left in the house of the LORD, in the house of the king of Judah, and at Jerusalem, do not go to Babylon.'

26:23 the graves. In the Kidron Valley, to the E of the temple (cf. 2 Kin. 23:6).

26:24 Ahikam. He used his strategic influence to spring Jeremiah free of the death threat. This civil leader under King Josiah (cf. 2 Kin. 22:12,14) and father of Gedaliah, was appointed governor over Judah by the Babylonians after Jerusalem's final fall in 586 B.C. (39:14; 40:13–41:3).

27:1 reign of Jehoiakim. This may refer to Jehoiakim around 609/608 B.C. (as chap. 26). Or, possibly, the correct reading is "Zedekiah" as in vv. 3,12, and 28:1, which would put the date at the outset of his 597–586 B.C. reign.

27:2 Make...bonds and yokes. This object lesson symbolized bondage to Babylon. The yoke was bound on Jeremiah's neck to picture Judah's captivity (v. 12), then sent to 6 kings of nearby nations who would also be under Babylon's power (v. 3). Cf. Jer. 28:10-12.

27:7 Cf. 25:13,14.

27:8 yoke of...Babylon. The point of the object lesson is simple. Any nation that will serve Babylon willingly may stay in their own land, but nations that will not submit voluntarily to Babylon will suffer destruction. Consequently, Judah should submit and not be removed from the land (vv. 9-18).

27:18 make intercession. God would not answer such a prayer, as proven by vv. 19-22. This revealed His indifference to the prayers of these false prophets.

concerning the carts, and concerning the remainder of the vessels that remain in this city, 20 which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon did not take, when he carried away [s]captive Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, from Jerusalem to Babylon, and all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem— 21 yes, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, concerning the [t]vessels that remain in the house of the LORD, and in the house of the king of Judah and of Jerusalem: 22 'They shall be [u]carried to Babylon, and there they shall be until the day that I [v]visit them,' says the LORD. 'Then [w]I will bring them up and restore them to this place.' "

Hananiah's Falsehood and Doom

28 And [a]it happened in the same year, at the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the [b]fourth year and in the fifth month, that Hananiah the son of [c]Azur the prophet, who was from Gibeon, spoke to me in the house of the LORD in the presence of the priests and of all the people, saying, 2 "Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saying: 'I have broken [d]the yoke of the king of Babylon. 3 [e]Within two full years I will bring back to this place all the vessels of the LORD's house, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon [f]took away from this place and carried to Babylon. 4 And I will bring back to this place [g]Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, with all the captives of Judah who went to Babylon,' says the LORD, 'for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.' "

5 Then the prophet Jeremiah spoke to the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests and in the presence of all the people who stood in the house of the LORD, 6 and the prophet Jeremiah said, [s]"Amen! The LORD do so; the LORD perform your words which you have prophesied, to bring back the vessels of the LORD's house and all who were carried away captive, from Babylon to this place. 7 Nevertheless hear now this word that I speak in your hearing and in the hearing of all the people: 8 The prophets who have been before me and before you of old prophesied against many countries and great kingdoms—of war and disaster and pestilence. 9 As for [h]the prophet who prophesies of [i]peace, when the word of the prophet comes to pass, the prophet will be known as one whom the LORD has truly sent."

10 Then Hananiah the prophet took the [j]yoke off the prophet Jeremiah's neck and broke it. 11 And Hananiah spoke in the presence of all the people, saying, "Thus says the LORD: 'Even so I will break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon [k]from the neck of all nations within the space of two full years.' " And the prophet Jeremiah went his way.

12 Now the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, after Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, saying, 13 "Go and tell Hananiah, saying, 'Thus says the LORD: "You have broken the yokes of wood, but you have made in their place yokes of iron." 14 For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: [l]"I have put a yoke of iron on the neck of all these nations, that they may serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; and they shall serve him. [m]I have given him the beasts of the field also." ' " 15 Then the prophet Jeremiah said to Hananiah the prophet, "Hear now, Hananiah, the LORD has not sent you, but [n]you make this people trust in a [o]lie. 16 Therefore thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will cast you from the face of the earth. This year you shall [p]die, because you have taught [q]rebellion against the LORD.' "

17 So Hananiah the prophet died the same year in the seventh month.

27:21,22 vessels. Jeremiah revealed that Judah's temple vessels taken to Babylon (cf. 2 Kin. 24:13; Dan. 1:1,2) would be restored to the temple. Fulfillment around 536 B.C. was spoken of in Ezra 5:13-15. About 516/515 B.C. these articles were placed in the rebuilt temple (Ezra 6:15).

28:1 reign of Zedekiah. Cf. 27:1 and see note there. The fourth year would be about 593 B.C. Hananiah. This man was one of several by this name in Scripture, in this case a foe of God's true prophet, distinct from the loyal Hananiah of Dan. 1:6.

28:2,3 I have broken the yoke. The false prophet, of the kind Jeremiah warned of in 27:14-16, boldly predicted victory over Babylon and the return of the temple vessels within two years. In actuality, Babylon achieved its third and final step in conquering Judah 11 years later (586 B.C.) as in chaps. 39,40,52. As to the vessels, see note on 27:21,22.

28:4 bring back...Jeconiah. This rash, false claim fell into ignominy. Jeconiah, soon taken to Babylon in 597 B.C., would live out his years there and not return to Jerusalem (52:31-34). Other captives either died in captivity, or didn't return until 61 years later. Cf. 22:24-26.

28:10 took the yoke off. The phony prophet, in foolishness, removed the object lesson from the true spokesman and broke it as a sign of his own prediction coming true (cf. vv. 2-4,11).

28:13 Go and tell Hananiah. Jeremiah apparently left the meeting, and later God sent him back to confront the liar, likely wearing yokes of iron (which Hananiah could not break!) to replace the wooden ones (v. 14) and to illustrate his message.

28:15-17 the LORD has not sent you. Jeremiah told Hananiah that 1) God had not approved his message; 2) he was guilty of encouraging the people to trust in a lie, even rebellion; and 3) God would require his life that very year, 597 B.C. The true prophet's word was authenticated in Hananiah's death in two months (cf. v. 17).

Jeremiah's Letter to the Captives

CHAPTER 29

29 Now these are the words of the letter that Jeremiah the prophet sent from Jerusalem to the remainder of the elders who were [a]carried away captive—to the priests, the prophets, and all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Jerusalem to Babylon. 2 (This happened after [b]Jeconiah[1] the king, the [c]queen mother, the [2]eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jerusalem, the craftsmen, and the smiths had departed from Jerusalem.) 3 The letter was sent by the hand of Elasah the son of [d]Shaphan, and Gemariah the son of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent to Babylon, to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, saying,

4 Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, to all who were carried away captive, whom I have caused to be carried away from Jerusalem to Babylon:

5 Build houses and dwell in them;
plant gardens and eat their fruit.
6 Take wives and beget sons and daughters; and take wives for your sons and give your daughters to husbands, so that they may bear sons and daughters—that you may be increased there, and not diminished. 7 And seek the peace of the city where I have caused you to be carried away captive, [e]and pray to the LORD for it; for in its peace you will have peace. 8 For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Do not let your prophets and your diviners who are in your midst [f]deceive you, nor listen to your dreams which you cause to be dreamed. 9 For they prophesy [g]falsely to you in My name; I have not sent them, says the LORD.

10 For thus says the LORD: After [h]seventy years are completed at Babylon, I will visit you and perform My good word toward you, and cause you to [i]return to this place. 11 For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, says the LORD, thoughts of peace and not of evil, to give you a future and a hope. 12 Then you will [j]call upon Me and go and pray to Me, and I will [k]listen to you. 13 And [l]you will seek Me and find Me, when you search for Me [m]with all your heart. 14 [n]I will be found by you, says the LORD, and I will bring you back from your captivity; [o]I will gather you from all the nations and from all the places where I have driven you, says the LORD, and I will bring you to the place from which I cause you to be carried away captive.

15 Because you have said, "The LORD has raised up prophets for us in Babylon"— 16 [p]therefore thus says the LORD concerning the king who sits on the throne of David, concerning all the people who dwell in this city, and concerning your brethren who have not gone out with you into captivity— 17 thus says the LORD of hosts: Behold, I will send on them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like [q]rotten figs that cannot be eaten, they are so bad. 18 And I will pursue them with the sword, with famine, and with pestilence; and I [r]will deliver them to trouble among all the kingdoms of the earth—to be [s]a curse, an astonishment, a hissing, and a reproach among all the nations where I have driven them, 19 because they have not heeded My words, says the LORD, which [t]I sent to them by My servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them; neither would you

29:1 the letter. Jeremiah, shortly after the 597 B.C. deportation of many countrymen (cf. v. 2), wrote to comfort them in exile.

29:4-10 Jeremiah's counsel to Israelites in Babylon was to take all the steps in living as colonists planning to be there for a long time (70 years, 29:10, as 25:11). Further, they were to seek Babylon's peace and intercede in prayer for it, their own welfare being bound with it (v. 7; cf. Ezra 6:10; 7:23).

29:11 thoughts of peace. This assured God's intentions to bring about blessing in Israel's future (cf. chaps. 30–33).

29:12-14 you will call. What God planned, He also gave the people opportunity to participate in by sincere (v. 13) prayer. Cf. 1 John 5:14,15.

29:14 I will be found by you. The Lord would answer their prayer, by returning the Jews to their land, cf. Daniel's example and God's response (Dan. 9:4-27). Fulfillment would occur in the era of Ezra and Nehemiah, and beyond this in even fuller measure after the Second Advent of their Messiah (cf. Dan. 2:35,45; 7:13,14,27; 12:1-3,13).

29:15-19 Because you have said. Amazingly still rejecting God's true message, Jewish captives listened to false prophets among them (cf. vv. 8,9,21-23). This was the very sin which would cause God to send a further deportation to those still in Judah (586 B.C.).

29:17 like rotten figs. Cf. the principle of Jer. 24.

heed, says the LORD. 20 Therefore hear the word of the LORD, all you of the captivity, whom I have sent from Jerusalem to Babylon.

21 Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, concerning Ahab the son of Kolaiah, and Zedekiah the son of Maaseiah, who prophesy a [u]lie to you in My name: Behold, I will deliver them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he shall slay them before your eyes. 22 [v]And because of them a curse shall be taken up by all the captivity of Judah who are in Babylon, saying, "The LORD make you like Zedekiah and Ahab, [w]whom the king of Babylon roasted in the fire"; 23 because [x]they have done disgraceful things in Israel, have committed adultery with their neighbors' wives, and have spoken lying words in My name, which I have not commanded them. Indeed I [y]know, and am a witness, says the LORD.

24 You shall also speak to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying, 25 Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saying: You have sent letters in your name to all the people who are at Jerusalem, [z]to Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah the priest, and to all the priests, saying, 26 "The LORD has made you priest instead of Jehoiada the priest, so that there should be [a]officers in the house of the LORD over every man who is [b]demented and considers himself a prophet, that you should [c]put him in prison and in the stocks. 27 Now therefore, why have you not rebuked Jeremiah of Anathoth who makes himself a prophet to you? 28 For he has sent to us in Babylon, saying, 'This captivity is long; build houses and dwell in them, and plant gardens and eat their fruit.' "

29 Now Zephaniah the priest read this letter in the hearing of Jeremiah the prophet. 30 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying: 31 Send to all those in captivity, saying, Thus says the LORD concerning Shemaiah the Nehelamite: Because Shemaiah has prophesied to you, [d]and I have not sent him, and he has caused you to trust in a [e]lie— 32 therefore thus says the LORD: Behold, I will punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite and his [3]family: he shall not have anyone to dwell among this people, nor shall he see the good that I will do for My people, says the LORD, [f]because he has taught rebellion against the LORD.

Restoration of Israel and Judah

30 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying, 2 "Thus speaks the LORD God of Israel, saying: 'Write in a book for yourself all the words that I have spoken to you. 3 For behold, the days are coming,' says the LORD, 'that [a]I will bring back from captivity My people Israel and Judah,' says the LORD. [b]'And I will cause them to return to the land that I gave to their fathers, and they shall possess it.' "

4 Now these are the words that the LORD spoke concerning Israel and Judah.

5 "For thus says the LORD:

'We have heard a voice of trembling,
Of [1]fear, and not of peace.
6 Ask now, and see,
Whether a [2]man is ever in [3]labor with child?
So why do I see every man with his hands on his loins
[c]Like a woman in labor,
And all faces turned pale?
7 [d]Alas! For that day is great,

And it is the time of Jacob's trouble,
But he shall be saved out of it.

29:21-23 Ahab...and Zedekiah. Two captive, false Israelite prophets, who had been misleading exiles in Babylon (v. 15), will stir up the wrath of their captor king, who will cast them into a furnace (as in Dan. 3). They aroused not only the Babylonian potentate's enmity, but God's also, because of prophecies against His word and physical adultery (cf. 5:7).

29:24-32 The judgment against Shemaiah, the otherwise unknown prophet, who opposed Jeremiah, was similar to that experienced by Hananiah (cf. 28:15-17).

29:28 This referred to Jeremiah's letter mentioned in v. 5.

30:3 I will bring back. This theme verse gives in capsule form the pledge of chaps. 30–33. God's restoration of the whole nation to their own land (cf. 29:10; Amos 9:14,15; Rom. 11:26) has in view a final regathering never to be removed again (see note on 16:15) and not just a return in the time of Ezra and Nehemiah (vv. 8,9; 31:31ff.; 32:39,40; 33:8,9,15,16). This verse is a summary of the prophecy given in vv. 4-9.

30:7 time of Jacob's trouble. This period of unprecedented difficulty for Israel, as the verse defines, is set in a context of Israel's final restoration. It is best equated with the time of tribulation (cf. vv. 8,9) just before Christ's Second Advent, mentioned elsewhere (Dan. 12:1; Matt. 24:21,22) and described in detail of Rev. 6–19.

8 'For it shall come to pass in that day,'
Says the LORD of hosts,
'That I will break his yoke from your neck,
And will burst your bonds;
Foreigners shall no more enslave them.
9 But they shall serve the LORD their God,
And [f]David their king,
Whom I will [g]raise up for them.

10 'Therefore [h]do not fear, O My servant Jacob,' says the LORD,
'Nor be dismayed, O Israel;
For behold, I will save you from afar,
And your seed [i]from the land of their captivity.
Jacob shall return, have rest and be quiet,
And no one shall make him afraid.
11 For I am with [j]you,' says the LORD,
'to save you;
[k]Though I make a full end of all nations where I have scattered you,
[l]Yet I will not make a complete end of you.
But I will correct you [m]in justice,
And will not let you go altogether unpunished.'

12 "For thus says the LORD:

[n]'Your affliction is incurable,
Your wound is severe.
13 There is no one to plead your cause,
That you may be bound up;
[o]You have no healing medicines.
14 [p]All your lovers have forgotten you;
They do not seek you;
For I have wounded you with the wound [q]of an enemy,
With the chastisement [r]of a cruel one,
For the multitude of your iniquities,
[s]Because your sins have increased.
15 Why [t]do you cry about your affliction?
Your sorrow is incurable.
Because of the multitude of your iniquities,
Because your sins have increased,
I have done these things to you.

16 'Therefore all those who devour you [u]shall be devoured;
And all your adversaries, every one of them, shall go into [v]captivity;
Those who plunder you shall become [w]plunder,
And all who prey upon you I will make a [x]prey.
17 [y]For I will restore health to you
And heal you of your wounds,'
says the LORD,
'Because they called you an outcast saying:
"This is Zion;
No one seeks her." '

18 "Thus says the LORD:

'Behold, I will bring back the captivity of Jacob's tents,
And [z]have mercy on his dwelling places;
The city shall be built upon its own [4]mound,
And the palace shall remain according to its own plan.
19 Then [a]out of them shall proceed thanksgiving
And the voice of those who make merry;
[b]I will multiply them, and they shall not diminish;
I will also glorify them, and they shall not be small.
20 Their children also shall be [c]as before,
And their congregation shall be established before Me;
And I will punish all who oppress them.
21 Their nobles shall be from among them,
[d]And their governor shall come from their midst;
Then I will [e]cause him to draw near,
And he shall approach Me;

30:9 David their king. The Messiah, the greater David in David's dynasty, ultimately fulfills this promise (2 Sam. 7:16). He is the great king often promised as Israel's hope (23:5,6; Is. 9:7; Ezek. 37:24,25; Dan. 2:35,45; 7:13,14,27; Matt. 25:34; 26:64; Luke 1:32; Rev. 17:14; 19:16). No king of David's seed has held the scepter since the captivity. Zerubbabel, of David's line, never claimed the title of king (cf. Hag. 2:2).

30:11 not make a complete end of you. Israel will endure as a people until Messiah's kingdom (cf. Rom 11:1-29).

30:12-15 Judah had no reason to complain.

30:16-24 These absolute and extensive promises have yet to be fulfilled in history; they look forward to the reign of Christ, the greater David, in the millennial kingdom of the "latter days."

30:21 their governor. This refers to the Messiah, the king of v. 9 and 23:5,6, springing up from within Israel (cf. Is. 11:1), able to approach God as a priest.

For who is this who pledged his heart to approach Me?' says
the LORD.
22 'You shall be [f]My people,
And I will be your God.' "

23 Behold, the [g]whirlwind of the
LORD
Goes forth with fury,
A [5]continuing whirlwind;
It will fall violently on the head of the wicked.
24 The fierce anger of the LORD will not return until He has done
it,
And until He has performed the intents of His heart.

[h]In the latter days you will consider
it.

The Remnant of Israel Saved

31 "At [a]the same time," says the LORD,
[b]"I will be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be My people."
2 Thus says the LORD:

"The people who survived the sword
Found grace in the wilderness—
Israel, when [c]I went to give him rest."

3 The LORD has appeared [1]of old to me, saying:
"Yes, [d]I have loved you with [e]an everlasting love;
Therefore with lovingkindness I have [f]drawn you.
4 Again [g]I will build you, and you shall be rebuilt,
O virgin of Israel!
You shall again be adorned with your [h]tambourines,
And shall go forth in the dances of those who rejoice.
5 [i]You shall yet plant vines on the mountains of Samaria;
The planters shall plant and [2]eat them as ordinary food.
6 For there shall be a day
When the watchmen will cry on Mount Ephraim,
[j]'Arise, and let us go up to Zion,
To the LORD our God.' "

7 For thus says the LORD:

[k]"Sing with gladness for Jacob,
And shout among the chief of the Proclaim, give praise, and say,

'O LORD, save Your people,
The remnant of Israel!'
8 Behold, I will bring them [l]from the

And [m]gather them from the ends

Among them the blind and the

The woman with child
And the one who labors with child,
together;
A great throng shall return there.

I will cause them to walk [o]by the

For wheat and new wine and oil,
For the young of the flock and the [w]And they shall sorrow no more at all.

13 "Then shall the virgin rejoice in the dance,
And the young men and the old,
together;
For I will turn their mourning to joy,
Will comfort them,
And make them rejoice rather than sorrow.

31:1 At the same time. Equated with the latter days in 30:24. In this chapter, prophecies of the restoration of the nation are continued.

31:2-14 Here are messianic kingdom conditions.

14 I will [d]satiate the soul of the priests with abundance,
And My people shall be satisfied with My goodness, says the
LORD."

Mercy on Ephraim

15 Thus says the LORD:

[x]"A voice was heard in [y]Ramah,
Lamentation and bitter [z]weeping,
Rachel weeping for her children,
Refusing to be comforted for her children,
Because [a]they are no more."

16 Thus says the LORD:

"Refrain your voice from [b]weeping,
And your eyes from tears;
For your work shall be rewarded,
says the LORD,
And they shall come back from the land of the enemy.
17 There is [c]hope in your future, says
the LORD,
That your children shall come back to their own border.

18 "I have surely heard Ephraim bemoaning himself:
'You have [d]chastised me, and I was chastised,
Like an untrained bull;
[e]Restore me, and I will return,
For You are the LORD my God.
19 Surely, [f]after my turning, I repented;
And after I was instructed, I struck myself on the thigh;
I was [g]ashamed, yes, even humiliated,
Because I bore the reproach of my youth.'
20 Is Ephraim My dear son?
Is he a pleasant child?
For though I spoke against him,
I earnestly remember him still;
[h]Therefore My [5]heart yearns for him;
[i]I will surely have mercy on him,
says the LORD.

21 "Set up signposts,
Make landmarks;
[j]Set your heart toward the highway,
The way in which you went.
[6]Turn back, O virgin of Israel,
Turn back to these your cities.
22 How long will you [k]gad about,
O you [l]backsliding daughter?
For the LORD has created a new thing in the earth—
A woman shall encompass a man."

Future Prosperity of Judah

23 Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "They shall again use this speech in the land of Judah and in its cities, when I bring back their captivity: [m]'The LORD bless you, O home of justice, and [n]mountain of holiness!' 24 And there shall dwell in Judah itself, and [o]in all its cities together, farmers and those going out with flocks. 25 For I have [7]satiated the weary soul, and I have replenished every sorrowful soul."

26 After this I awoke and looked around, and my sleep was [p]sweet to me.

27 "Behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, that [q]I will sow the house of Israel and the house of Judah with the seed of man and the seed of beast. 28 And it shall come to pass, that as I have [r]watched over them [s]to pluck up, to break down, to throw down, to destroy, and to afflict, so I will watch over them [t]to build and to plant, says the LORD. 29 [u]In those days they shall say no more:

'The fathers have eaten sour grapes,
And the children's teeth are set on edge.'

31:15 A voice...in Ramah. The reflection, for a moment, is on the distress of an Israelite mother for her children slain in the Babylonian invasion. This was a backdrop for the many contrasting promises of restoration to a joyful time (as vv. 12-14,16,17) in the messianic day. Matthew saw the same description of sadness as apt, in principle, to depict something of the similar weeping of Jewish mothers when King Herod had babies slain at Bethlehem in a bid to kill the Messiah as a child (Matt. 2:17,18).

31:18-20 Restore me. Jeremiah wrote of Israel (the 10 tribes called Ephraim) as finally recognizing, in humility, the need for the Lord to move them to repentance and forgiveness. Cf. Ps. 102:13-17 for the relation of Israel's restoration to their prayers; see also 24:6,7; Lam. 5:21; cf. John 6:44,65).

31:22 backsliding. See note on 2:19. A woman shall encompass a man. Here is one of the most puzzling statements in Jeremiah. Some see the virgin birth of Christ (but "woman" means a woman, not a virgin, and "encompass" or "surround" does not suggest conceiving). Possibly it refers to the formerly virgin Israel (v. 21), who is now a disgraced, divorced wife (v. 22; 3:8). She will one day in the future reembrace her former husband, the Lord, and He will receive her back, fully forgiven. That would be "a new thing on the earth."

31:26 my sleep was sweet. The hope of Israel's restoration brought a moment of peace in Jeremiah's otherwise tumultuous ministry.

31:28 build and...plant. The Lord repeated what He at first told Jeremiah in 1:10 regarding His two works of judging and blessing. The latter is in two images, architectural (building) and agricultural (planting).

31:29 eaten sour grapes. This was apparently a proverb among the exiles' children born in Babylon, to express that they suffered the consequences of their fathers' sins rather than their own (Lam. 5:7; Ezek. 18:2,3).

30 [v]But every one shall die for his own iniquity; every man who eats the sour grapes, his teeth shall be set on edge.

A New Covenant

31 "Behold, the [w]days are coming, says the LORD, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah— 32 not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that [x]I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt, My covenant which they broke, [8]though I was a husband to them, says the LORD. 33 [y]But this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the LORD: [z]I will put My law in their minds, and write it on their [9]hearts; [a]and I will be their God, and they shall be My people. 34 No more shall every man teach his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD,' for [b]they all shall know Me, from the least of them to the greatest of them, says the LORD. For [c]I will forgive their iniquity, and their sin I will remember no more."

35 Thus says the LORD,
[d]Who gives the sun for a light by day,
The ordinances of the moon and the stars for a light by night,
Who disturbs [e]the sea,
And its waves roar
[f](The LORD of hosts is His name):

36 "If [g]those ordinances depart
From before Me, says the LORD,
Then the seed of Israel shall also cease
From being a nation before Me forever."

37 Thus says the LORD:

[h]"If heaven above can be measured,
And the foundations of the earth searched out beneath,
I will also [i]cast off all the seed of Israel
For all that they have done, says the LORD.

38 "Behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, that the city shall be built for the LORD [j]from the Tower of Hananel to the Corner Gate. 39 [k]The surveyor's line shall again extend straight forward over the hill Gareb; then it shall turn toward Goath. 40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies and of the ashes, and all the fields as far as the Brook Kidron, [l]to the corner of the Horse Gate toward the east, [m]shall be holy to the LORD. It shall not be plucked up or thrown down anymore forever."

Jeremiah Buys a Field

32 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD [a]in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar. 2 For then the king of Babylon's army besieged Jerusalem, and Jeremiah the prophet was shut up [b]in the court of the prison, which was in the king of Judah's house. 3 For Zedekiah king of Judah had shut him up, saying, "Why do you [c]prophesy and say, 'Thus says the LORD: [d]"Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall take it; 4 and Zedekiah king of Judah [e]shall not escape from the hand of the Chaldeans, but shall surely be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, and shall speak with him [1]face to 31:31-34 a new covenant. In contrast to the Mosaic Covenant under which Israel failed, God promised a New Covenant with a spiritual, divine dynamic by which those who know Him would participate in the blessings of salvation. The fulfillment was to individuals, yet also to Israel as a nation (v. 36; Rom. 11:16-27). It is set 1) in the framework of a reestablishment in their land (e.g., chaps. 30–33 and in vv. 38-40) and 2) in the time after the ultimate difficulty (30:7). In principle, this covenant, also announced by Jesus Christ (Luke 22:20), begins to be exercised with spiritual aspects realized for Jewish and Gentile believers in the church era (1 Cor. 11:25; Heb. 8:7-13; 9:15; 10:14-17; 12:24; 13:20). It has already begun to take effect with "the remnant according to the election of grace" (Rom. 11:5). It will be also realized by the people of Israel in the last days, including the regathering to their ancient land, Palestine (chaps. 30–33). The streams of the Abrahamic, Davidic, and New Covenants find their confluence in the millennial kingdom ruled over by the Messiah.

31:35-37 These verses emphasize the certainty with which Israel can expect God to fulfill the New Covenant (cf. 33:17-22; 25,26).

31:38-40 The tower was in the NE corner of the city (cf. Neh. 3:1; 12:39). When New Covenant promises are ultimately fulfilled to Israel in its regathering to its land, rebuilt Jerusalem will meet certain specifications. The "Corner Gate" is at the NW corner (2 Kin. 14:13; 2 Chr. 26:9). "The surveyor's line" marks out the area for rebuilding. It will point over the hill Gareb and then toward Goath; both places are impossible to identify today. "The valley of...dead bodies" is the valley of Hinnom, a place of refuse and burning fires (cf. 7:31, and see note there). The "Horse Gate" was at the SE corner of the temple courts (2 Kin. 11:16; Neh. 3:28).

32:1 tenth year. The time is 587 B.C., the tenth year in Zedekiah's reign (597–586 B.C.), the eighteenth of Nebuchadnezzar's rule, during Babylon's siege of Jerusalem.

32:2 Babylon's army besieged. The siege, set up in the tenth month (Jan.) of 588 B.C., lasted at least 30 months to the fourth month (July) of 586 B.C. (39:1,2). Cf. 34:1 and see note there. The events of the chapter occurred in this setting of Judah's imminent loss of its land, only about a year before Babylon's final takeover detailed in chaps. 39,40,52.

32:2-5 shut up in...prison. Judah's final king put Jeremiah into prison on the charge of preaching treason, against nation and king, whereas Zedekiah savored positive talk to spark new morale to hold out.

face, and see him [f]eye to eye; 5 then he shall [g]lead Zedekiah to Babylon, and there he shall be [h]until I visit him," says the LORD; [i]"though you fight with the Chaldeans, you shall not succeed" '?"

6 And Jeremiah said, "The word of the LORD came to me, saying, 7 'Behold, Hanamel the son of Shallum your uncle will come to you, saying, "Buy my field which is in Anathoth, for the [j]right of redemption is yours to buy it." ' 8 Then Hanamel my uncle's son came to me in the court of the prison according to the word of the LORD, and said to me, 'Please buy my field that is in Anathoth, which is in the country of Benjamin; for the right of inheritance is yours, and the redemption yours; buy it for yourself.' Then I knew that this was the word of the LORD. 9 So I bought the field from Hanamel, the son of my uncle who was in Anathoth, and [k]weighed out to him the money—seventeen shekels of silver. 10 And I signed the [2]deed and sealed it, took witnesses, and weighed the money on the scales. 11 So I took the purchase deed, both that which was sealed according to the law and custom, and that which was open; 12 and I gave the purchase deed to [l]Baruch the son of Neriah, son of Mahseiah, in the presence of Hanamel my uncle's son, and in the presence of the [m]witnesses who signed the purchase deed, before all the Jews who sat in the court of the prison.

13 "Then I charged [n]Baruch before them, saying, 14 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Take these deeds, both this purchase deed which is sealed and this deed which is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that they may last many days." 15 For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Houses and fields and vineyards shall be [o]possessed again in this land." '

Jeremiah Prays for Understanding

16 "Now when I had delivered the purchase deed to Baruch the son of Neriah, I prayed to the LORD, saying: 17 'Ah, Lord GOD! Behold, [p]You have made the heavens and the earth by Your great power and outstretched arm. [q]There is nothing too [3]hard for You. 18 You show [r]lovingkindness to thousands, and repay the iniquity of the fathers into the bosom of their children after them—the Great, [s]the Mighty God, whose name is [t]the LORD of hosts. 19 You are [u]great in counsel and mighty in [4]work, for your [v]eyes are open to all the ways of the sons of men, [w]to give everyone according to his ways and according to the fruit of his doings. 20 You have set signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, to this day, and in Israel and among other men; and You have made Yourself [x]a name, as it is this day. 21 You [y]have brought Your people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signs and wonders, with a strong hand and an outstretched arm, and with great terror; 22 You have given them this land, of which You swore to their fathers to give them—[z]"a land flowing with milk and honey." 23 And they came in and took possession of it, but [a]they have not obeyed Your voice or walked in Your law. They have done nothing of all that You commanded them to do; therefore You have caused all this calamity to come upon them.

24 'Look, the siege mounds! They have come to the city to take it; and the city has been given into the hand of the Chaldeans who fight against it, because of [b]the sword and famine and pestilence. What You have spoken has happened; there You see it! 25 And You have said to me, O Lord GOD, "Buy the field for money, and take witnesses"!—yet the city has been given into the hand of the Chaldeans.' "

God's Assurance of the People's Return

26 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying, 27 "Behold, I am the LORD, the [c]God of all flesh. Is there anything too hard for Me? 28 Therefore thus says the LORD: 'Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the Chaldeans, into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he shall take it. 29 And the Chaldeans who fight against this city shall come and [d]set fire to this city and burn it, with the houses [e]on whose roofs they have offered incense to Baal and poured out drink offerings to other gods, to provoke Me to anger;

32:8 the right of inheritance. A man facing hardship could sell property, and the right to redeem it until the Jubilee year belonged to the closest blood relative. If a stranger had taken it due to unpaid debt, the relative could redeem it as a family possession (Lev. 25:25). Levite land could be sold only to a Levite (Lev. 25:32-34), such as Jeremiah. He did as the Lord told him (vv. 9-12).

32:14 Take these deeds. Title deeds to the land, kept for security reasons in a pottery jar, would attest in a future day to one's claim of possession. Men of Anathoth did return to Jerusalem from Babylon (Ezra 2:23). Also, some of the poor of the land, left by the Babylonians (chap. 39), could have included certain inhabitants of Anathoth. In a still future day, God will be able (vv. 17,27) to make this land good to a resurrected Jeremiah and confirm to the right people that they are the prophet/priest's descendants.

32:16-25 With the immense sovereign power God possesses to do whatever He wishes in the present captivity and the future return, Jeremiah wondered why God had him redeem the field.

32:26-35 God reviewed Judah's sins and affirmed to Jeremiah that the Babylonians would prevail over Jerusalem ("this city" in v. 28, etc.).

30 because the children of Israel and the children of Judah *f*have done only evil before Me from their youth. For the children of Israel have provoked Me only to anger with the work of their hands,' says the LORD. 31 'For this city has been to Me a provocation of My anger and My fury from the day that they built it, even to this day; *g*so I will remove it from before My face 32 because of all the evil of the children of Israel and the children of Judah, which they have done to provoke Me to anger—*h*they, their kings, their princes, their priests, *i*their prophets, the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 33 And they have turned to Me the *j*back, and not the face; though I taught them, *k*rising up early and teaching them, yet they have not listened to receive instruction. 34 But they *l*set their abominations in *5*the house which is called by My name, to defile it. 35 And they built the high places of Baal which are in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, to *m*cause their sons and their daughters to pass through the fire to *n*Molech, *o*which I did not command them, nor did it come into My mind that they should do this abomination, to cause Judah to sin.'

36 "Now therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning this city of which you say, 'It shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: 37 Behold, I will *p*gather them out of all countries where I have driven them in My anger, in My fury, and in great wrath; I will bring them back to this place, and I will cause them *q*to dwell safely. 38 They shall be *r*My people, and I will be their God; 39 then I will *s*give them one heart and one way, that they may fear Me forever, for the good of them and their children after them. 40 And *t*I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from doing them good; but *u*I will put My fear in their hearts so that they will not depart from Me. 41 Yes, *v*I will rejoice over them to do them good, and *w*I will *6*assuredly plant them in this land, with all My heart and with all My soul.'

32:36-41 However, one day God will restore Israel to the Land and provide the blessing of salvation.

32:37 I will bring them back to this place. God pledged to restore Israelites to the very land of Israel (cf. v. 44). It is natural to expect His fulfillment of this blessing to be just as literal as the reverse—His scattering from the Land (cf. v. 42).

32:38,39 This speaks of spiritual salvation, i.e., the true knowledge and worship of God.

32:40 an everlasting covenant. The ultimate fulfillment of a future in the Land was not fulfilled in the Ezra/Nehemiah return. This occurs in the time when God gives the people of Israel a new heart in eternal salvation along with their return to the ancient land (cf. 33:8,9, and Ezek. 36:26).

32:42-44 In the millennial kingdom, land will again be bought and sold in Israel.

33:3 Call...I will answer. God invited Jeremiah's prayer, which appeals to Him to fulfill the aspects of His promises which He guarantees He will attend to (as 29:11-14; Dan. 9:4-19; cf. John 15:7). His answer to the prayer was assured in vv. 4-26 here (cf. v. 14).

33:8 Again the Lord emphasized the individual spiritual salvation associated with the New Covenant restoration to the land.

who shall hear all the good that I do to them; they shall [l]fear and tremble for all the goodness and all the prosperity that I provide for it.'

10 "Thus says the LORD: 'Again there shall be heard in this place—[m]of which you say, "It is desolate, without man and without beast"—in the cities of Judah, in the streets of Jerusalem that are desolate, without man and without inhabitant and without beast, 11 the [n]voice of joy and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the voice of those who will say:

> [o]"Praise the LORD of hosts,
> For the LORD is good,
> For His mercy endures forever"— and of those who will bring [p]the sacrifice of praise into the house of the LORD. For I will cause the captives of the land to return as at the first,' says the LORD.

12 "Thus says the LORD of hosts: [q]'In this place which is desolate, without man and without beast, and in all its cities, there shall again be a dwelling place of shepherds causing their flocks to lie down. 13 [r]In the cities of the mountains, in the cities of the lowland, in the cities of the South, in the land of Benjamin, in the places around Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, the flocks shall again [s]pass under the hands of him who counts them,' says the LORD.

14 [t]'Behold, the days are coming,' says the LORD, 'that [u]I will perform that good thing which I have promised to the house of Israel and to the house of Judah:

> 15 'In those days and at that time
> I will cause to grow up to David
> A [v]Branch of righteousness;
> He shall execute judgment and > righteousness in the earth.
> 16 In those days Judah will be saved,
> And Jerusalem will dwell safely.
> And this is the name by which she > will be called:
>
> [3]THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.'

17 "For thus says the LORD: 'David shall never [w]lack a man to sit on the throne of the house of Israel; 18 nor shall the [x]priests, the Levites, lack a man to [y]offer burnt offerings before Me, to [4]kindle grain offerings, and to sacrifice continually.' "

The Permanence of God's Covenant

19 And the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying, 20 "Thus says the LORD: 'If you can break My covenant with the day and My covenant with the night, so that there will not be day and night in their season, 21 then [z]My covenant may also be broken with David My servant, so that he shall not have a son to reign on his throne, and with the Levites, the priests, My ministers. 22 As [a]the host of heaven cannot be numbered, nor the sand of the sea measured, so will I [b]multiply the descendants of David My servant and the [c]Levites who minister to Me.' "

23 Moreover the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying, 24 "Have you not considered what these people have spoken, saying, 'The two families which the LORD has chosen, He has also cast them off'? Thus they have [d]despised My people, as if they should no more be a nation before them.

25 "Thus says the LORD: 'If [e]My covenant is not with day and night, and if I have not [f]appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth, 26 [g]then I will [h]cast away the descendants of Jacob and David My servant, so that I will not take any of his descendants to be rulers over the descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. For I will cause their captives to return, and will have mercy on them.' "

33:11 Praise the LORD. These are the words of Ps. 136:1, actually used by the Jews at their return from Babylon (Ezra 3:11).

33:15 A Branch. This is the Messiah King in David's lineage, as in 23:5,6. He is the King whose reign immediately follows the second coming when He appears in power (Dan. 2:35,45; 7:13,14,27; Matt. 16:27-28; 24:30; 26:64).

33:17-22 God promised to fulfill the Davidic (2 Sam. 17) and Priestly/Levitical (Num. 25:10-13) Covenants without exception. The promise was as certain as the sure appearance of night and day and the incalculable number of stars or sand grains (cf. 31:35-37; 33:25,26).

33:24 two families. Judah and Israel. He has also cast them off. Many, even today, believe Israel as a nation has no future. In vv. 25,26 God emphatically denies that notion (cf. 31:35,36; Ps. 74:16,17; Rom. 11:1,2).

34:1 when Nebuchadnezzar...fought. The siege began ca. Jan. 15, 588 B.C. (39:1), and ended ca. July 18, 586 (39:2; 52:5,6). This chapter was set in Zedekiah's reign, during the siege of 588–586 B.C., and was an amplification of 32:1-5, the message that resulted in Jeremiah's incarceration. against Jerusalem. Babylon's destruction of Jerusalem began Aug. 14, 586 (2 Kin. 25:8,9).

[d]I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire. 3 And [e]you shall not escape from his hand, but shall surely be taken and delivered into his hand; your eyes shall see the eyes of the king of Babylon, he shall speak with you [f]face[1] to face, and you shall go to Babylon.' " ' 4 Yet hear the word of the LORD, O Zedekiah king of Judah! Thus says the LORD concerning you: 'You shall not die by the sword. 5 You shall die in peace; as in [g]the ceremonies of your fathers, the former kings who were before you, [h]so they shall burn incense for you and [i]lament for you, saying, "Alas, lord!" For I have pronounced the word, says the LORD.' "

6 Then Jeremiah the prophet spoke all these words to Zedekiah king of Judah in Jerusalem, 7 when the king of Babylon's army fought against Jerusalem and all the cities of Judah that were left, against Lachish and Azekah; for only [j]these fortified cities remained of the cities of Judah.

Treacherous Treatment of Slaves

8 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, after King Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people who were at Jerusalem to proclaim [k]liberty to them: 9 [l]that every man should set free his male and female slave—a Hebrew man or woman—[m]that no one should keep a Jewish brother in bondage. 10 Now when all the princes and all the people, who had entered into the covenant, heard that everyone should set free his male and female slaves, that no one should keep them in bondage anymore, they obeyed and let them go. 11 But afterward they changed their minds and made the male and female slaves return, whom they had set free, and brought them into subjection as male and female slaves.

12 Therefore the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying, 13 "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'I made a [n]covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage, saying, 14 "At the end of [o]seven years let every man set free his Hebrew brother, who [2]has been sold to him; and when he has served you six years, you shall let him go free from you." But your fathers did not obey Me nor incline their ear. 15 Then you [3]recently turned and did what was right in My sight—every man proclaiming liberty to his neighbor; and you [p]made a covenant before Me [q]in the house which is called by My name. 16 Then you turned around and [r]profaned My name, and every one of you brought back his male and female slaves, whom he had set at liberty, at their pleasure, and brought them back into subjection, to be your male and female slaves.'

17 "Therefore thus says the LORD: 'You have not obeyed Me in proclaiming liberty, every one to his brother and every one to his neighbor. [s]Behold, I proclaim liberty to you,' says the LORD—[t]'to the sword, to pestilence, and to famine! And I will deliver you to [u]trouble among all the kingdoms of the earth. 18 And I will give the men who have transgressed My covenant, who have not performed the words of the covenant which they made before Me, when [v]they cut the calf in two and passed between the parts of it— 19 the princes of Judah, the princes of Jerusalem, the [4]eunuchs, the priests, and all the people of the land who passed between the parts of the calf— 20 I will [w]give them into the hand of their enemies and into the hand of those who seek their life. Their [x]dead bodies shall be for meat for the birds of the heaven and the beasts of the earth. 21 And I will give Zedekiah king of Judah and his princes into the hand of their enemies, into the hand of those who seek their life, and into the hand of the king of Babylon's army [y]which has gone back from you. 22 [z]Behold, I will command,' says the LORD, 'and cause them to return to this city. They will fight against it [a]and take it and

22 [z] Jer. 37:8, 10 [a] Jer. 38:3; 39:1, 2, 8; 52:7, 13

34:3 This prophecy about Zedekiah (cf. 32:1-5) was fulfilled as reported in 2 Kin. 25:6,7; Jer. 52:7-11.

34:8-10 a covenant...to proclaim liberty. Zedekiah's pact to free slaves met with initial compliance. The covenant followed the law of release in Lev. 25:39-55; Deut. 15:12-18 in hopes of courting God's favor and ending His judgment.

34:11 they changed their minds. Former slave masters treacherously went back on their agreement and recalled the slaves. Some suggest that this treachery came when the Egyptian army approached and Babylon's forces withdrew temporarily (37:5,11) and the inhabitants believed that danger was past.

34:12-16 Therefore the word...came. God reminded the unfaithful Jews of His own covenant, when He freed Israelites from Egyptian bondage (cf. Ex. 21:2; Deut. 15:12-15). He had commanded that Hebrew slaves should serve only 6 years, then be set free in the seventh (vv. 13,14).

34:17-22 You have not obeyed. Due to recent duplicity (v. 16), God promised only one kind of liberty to the offenders, liberty to judgment by sword, pestilence, and famine (v. 17).

34:18,21 cut the calf in two. God will give the guilty over to death before the conqueror, for they denied the covenant ratified by blood (v. 21). In this custom, as in Gen. 15:8-17, two parties laid out parts of a sacrifice on two sides, then walked between the parts. By that symbolic action each pledged to fulfill his promise, agreeing in effect, "May my life (represented by the blood) be poured out if I fail to honor my part."

burn it with fire; and [b]I will make the cities of Judah a desolation without inhabitant.' "

The Obedient Rechabites

35 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the days of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, saying, 2 "Go to the house of the [a]Rechabites, speak to them, and bring them into the house of the LORD, into one of [b]the chambers, and give them wine to drink."

3 Then I took Jaazaniah the son of Jeremiah, the son of Habazziniah, his brothers and all his sons, and the whole house of the Rechabites, 4 and I brought them into the house of the LORD, into the chamber of the sons of Hanan the son of Igdaliah, a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, above the chamber of Maaseiah the son of Shallum, [c]the keeper of the [1]door. 5 Then I set before the sons of the house of the Rechabites bowls full of wine, and cups; and I said to them, "Drink wine."

6 But they said, "We will drink no wine, for [d]Jonadab the son of Rechab, our father, commanded us, saying, 'You shall drink [e]no wine, you nor your sons, forever. 7 You shall not build a house, sow seed, plant a vineyard, nor have any of these; but all your days you shall dwell in tents, [f]that you may live many days in the land where you are sojourners.' 8 Thus we have [g]obeyed the voice of Jonadab the son of Rechab, our father, in all that he charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our sons, or our daughters, 9 nor to build ourselves houses to dwell in; nor do we have vineyard, field, or seed. 10 But we have dwelt in tents, and have obeyed and done according to all that Jonadab our father commanded us. 11 But it came to pass, when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up into the land, that we said, 'Come, let us [h]go to Jerusalem for fear of the army of the Chaldeans and for fear of the army of the Syrians.' So we dwell at Jerusalem."

1 [a] 2 Kin. 24:1; 2 Chr. 36:5-7; Jer. 25:1, 3; 45:1; Dan. 1:1

12 Then came the word of the LORD to Jeremiah, saying, 13 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Go and tell the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, "Will you not [i]receive instruction to [2]obey My words?" says the LORD. 14 "The words of Jonadab the son of Rechab, which he commanded his sons, not to drink wine, are performed; for to this day they drink none, and obey their father's commandment. [j]But although I have spoken to you, [k]rising early and speaking, you did not [3]obey Me. 15 I have also sent to you all My [l]servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them, saying, [m]'Turn now everyone from his evil way, amend your doings, and do not go after other gods to serve them; then you will [n]dwell in the land which I have given you and your fathers.' But you have not inclined your ear, nor obeyed Me. 16 Surely the sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab have performed the commandment of their [o]father, which he commanded them, but this people has not obeyed Me." '

17 "Therefore thus says the LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Behold, I will bring on Judah and on all the inhabitants of Jerusalem all the doom that I have pronounced against them; [p]because I have spoken to them but they have not heard, and I have called to them but they have not answered.' "

18 And Jeremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Because you have obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts and done according to all that he commanded you, 19 therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Jonadab the son of Rechab shall not lack a man to [q]stand before Me forever." ' "

The Scroll Read in the Temple

36 Now it came to pass in the [a]fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, that this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying: 2 "Take a 35:1-19 This chapter provided a description of the commitment to obedience by a group of people to their father, in contrast to the Jews' disobedience to God.

35:1 days of Jehoiakim. 609–597 B.C. This backed up to several years before 34:1, possibly for a thematic reason—to cite a case of obedience after the episode of treachery in chap. 34.

35:2 The Rechabites. These were a semi-nomadic Kenite group, related to Moses' father-in-law (Judg. 1:16; 4:11), descended from those in 1 Chr. 2:55. The originator of their rules was Jonadab (35:6,14; 2 Kin. 10:15,23). They derived their name from Rechab (v. 8) and were not of Jacob's seed, but "strangers" in Israel.

35:8 obeyed. What was commended here was not the father's specific commands about nomadic life, but the steadfast obedience of the sons. Their obedience was unreserved in all aspects, at all times, on the part of all, without exception; in all these respects Israel was lacking (v. 14).

35:13-17 The prophet indicted the Jews for flagrant disobedience.

35:18,19 Because you have obeyed. God will bless the Rechabites not in spiritually saving them all, but in preserving a posterity in which some can have a place in His service. A Rechabite still has a role in Neh. 3:14. Also, the title over Ps. 71 in the LXX (Gr. translation of the OT) was addressed for use by the sons of Jonadab and the earliest captives.

36:1 fourth year of Jehoiakim. This chapter, like chap. 35, goes back several years earlier than chaps. 32–34, before or shortly after the first of 3 deportations from Jerusalem to Babylon in 605 B.C.

[b]scroll of a book and [c]write on it all the words that I have spoken to you against Israel, against Judah, and against [d]all the nations, from the day I spoke to you, from the days of [e]Josiah even to this day. 3 It [f]may be that the house of Judah will hear all the adversities which I purpose to bring upon them, that everyone may [g]turn from his evil way, that I may forgive their iniquity and their sin."

4 Then Jeremiah [h]called Baruch the son of Neriah; and [i]Baruch wrote on a scroll of a book, [1]at the instruction of Jeremiah, all the words of the LORD which He had spoken to him. 5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, "I am confined, I cannot go into the house of the LORD. 6 You go, therefore, and read from the scroll which you have written [2]at my instruction, the words of the LORD, in the hearing of the people in the LORD's house on [j]the day of fasting. And you shall also read them in the hearing of all Judah who come from their cities. 7 It may be that they will present their supplication before the LORD, and everyone will turn from his evil way. For great is the anger and the fury that the LORD has pronounced against this people." 8 And Baruch the son of Neriah did according to all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading from the book the words of the LORD in the LORD's house.

9 Now it came to pass in the fifth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a fast before the LORD to all the people in Jerusalem, and to all the people who came from the cities of Judah to Jerusalem. 10 Then Baruch read from the book the words of Jeremiah in the house of the LORD, in the chamber of Gemariah the son of Shaphan the scribe, in the upper court at the [k]entry of the New Gate of the LORD's house, in the [3]hearing of all the people.

The Scroll Read in the Palace

11 When Michaiah the son of Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, heard all the words of the LORD from the book, 12 he then went down to the king's house, into the scribe's chamber; and there all the princes were sitting—[l]Elishama the scribe, Delaiah the son of Shemaiah, [m]Elnathan the son of Achbor, Gemariah the son of Shaphan, Zedekiah the son of Hananiah, and all the princes. 13 Then Michaiah declared to them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read the book in the hearing of the people. 14 Therefore all the princes sent Jehudi the son of Nethaniah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Cushi, to Baruch, saying, "Take in your hand the scroll from which you have read in the hearing of the people, and come." So Baruch the son of Neriah took the scroll in his hand and came to them. 15 And they said to him, "Sit down now, and read it in our hearing." So Baruch read it in their hearing.

16 Now it happened, when they had heard all the words, that they looked in fear from one to another, and said to Baruch, "We will surely tell the king of all these words." 17 And they asked Baruch, saying, "Tell us now, how did you write all these words—[4]at his instruction?"

18 So Baruch answered them, "He proclaimed with his mouth all these words to me, and I wrote them with ink in the book."

19 Then the princes said to Baruch, "Go and hide, you and Jeremiah; and let no one know where you are."

The King Destroys Jeremiah's Scroll

20 And they went to the king, into the court; but they stored the scroll in the chamber of Elishama the scribe, and told all the words in the hearing of the king. 21 So the king sent Jehudi to bring the scroll, and he took it from Elishama the scribe's chamber. And Jehudi read it in the hearing of the king and in the hearing of all the princes who stood beside the king. 22 Now the king was sitting in [n]the winter house in the ninth month, with a fire burning on the hearth before him. 23 And it happened, when Jehudi had read three or 36:2 write on it. The command was to record in one volume all the messages since the outset of Jeremiah's ministry in 627 B.C. (1:2) up to 605/604 B.C., to be read to the people in the temple (v. 6.).

36:4 Baruch wrote. Jeremiah's recording secretary (cf. 32:12) wrote the prophet's messages (cf. 45:1), and penned them a second time after the first scroll was burned (cf. 36:32). He also read the messages in the temple (v. 10) and in the palace (v. 15). Later, Jehudi read a small part of the first scroll before King Jehoiakim (vv. 21-23).

36:5 confined. The word means "restricted, hindered, shut up," and is the same term used for imprisonment in 33:1 and 39:15. The fact that princes allowed Jeremiah to depart into hiding (v. 19) may indicate that he was curtailed in some ways without being in prison. There is no record of his being imprisoned in Jehoiakim's rule.

36:6 the day of fasting. Cf. v. 9. Here was a special fast day, appointed to avert the impending calamity, which would make the Jews more open to the message of the prophet (v. 7).

36:9 fifth year. This year (604 B.C.) was the next year after that of v. 1, which may suggest that it took some part of a year to repeat and record the long series of messages so far given (cf. v. 18). ninth month. Nov./ Dec. (cf. vv. 22,23).

36:10 chamber. On the N side, above the wall overlooking the temple court, where the people gathered, Baruch read from a window or balcony.

36:17,18 They asked if Baruch had written these words from memory or actual dictation from the inspired prophet. The latter was true. They were concerned it might be God's Word (cf. vv. 16,25).

four columns, that the king cut it with the scribe's knife and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, until all the scroll was consumed in the fire that was on the hearth. 24 Yet they were [o]not afraid, nor did they [p]tear their garments, the king nor any of his servants who heard all these words. 25 Nevertheless Elnathan, Delaiah, and Gemariah implored the king not to burn the scroll; but he would not listen to them. 26 And the king commanded Jerahmeel [5]the king's son, Seraiah the son of Azriel, and Shelemiah the son of Abdeel, to seize Baruch the scribe and Jeremiah the prophet, but the LORD hid them.

Jeremiah Rewrites the Scroll

27 Now after the king had burned the scroll with the words which Baruch had written [6]at the instruction of Jeremiah, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying: 28 "Take yet another scroll, and write on it all the former words that were in the first scroll which Jehoiakim the king of Judah has burned. 29 And you shall say to Jehoiakim king of Judah, 'Thus says the LORD: "You have burned this scroll, saying, [q]'Why have you written in it that the king of Babylon will certainly come and destroy this land, and cause man and beast to [r]cease from here?' " 30 Therefore thus says the LORD concerning Jehoiakim king of Judah: [s]"He shall have no one to sit on the throne of David, and his dead body shall be [t]cast out to the heat of the day and the frost of the night. 31 I will punish him, his [7]family, and his servants for their iniquity; and I will bring on them, on the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and on the men of Judah all the doom that I have pronounced against them; but they did not heed." ' "

32 Then Jeremiah took another scroll and gave it to Baruch the scribe, the son of Neriah, who wrote on it [8]at the instruction of Jeremiah all the words of the book which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned in the fire. And besides, there were added to them many similar words.

Zedekiah's Vain Hope

37 Now King [a]Zedekiah the son of Josiah reigned instead of Coniah the son of Jehoiakim, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon made king in the land of Judah. 2 [b]But neither he nor his servants nor the people of the land gave heed to the words of the LORD which He spoke by the prophet Jeremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king sent Jehucal the son of Shelemiah, and [c]Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah, the priest, to the prophet Jeremiah, saying, [d]"Pray now to the LORD our God for us." 4 Now Jeremiah was coming and going among the people, for they had not yet put him in prison. 5 Then [e]Pharaoh's army came up from Egypt; and when the Chaldeans who were besieging Jerusalem heard news of them, they departed from Jerusalem.

6 Then the word of the LORD came to the prophet Jeremiah, saying, 7 "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'Thus you shall say to the king of Judah, [f]who sent you to Me to inquire of Me: "Behold, Pharaoh's army which has come up to help you will return to Egypt, to their own land. 8 [g]And the Chaldeans shall come back and fight against this city, and take it and burn it with fire." ' 9 Thus says the LORD: 'Do not deceive yourselves, saying, "The Chaldeans will surely depart from us," for they will not depart. 10 [h]For though you had defeated the whole army of the Chaldeans who fight against you, and there remained only wounded men among them, they would rise up, every man in his tent, and burn the city with fire.' "

Jeremiah Imprisoned

11 And it happened, when the army of the Chaldeans left the siege of Jerusalem for fear of Pharaoh's army, 12 that Jeremiah went out of Jerusalem to go into the land of 36:23 cut it. As often as Jehudi read "three or four columns," the king cut it up, doing so all the way through the whole scroll because he rejected the message (cf. v. 29). Jehoiakim is the king who sent men to Egypt (chap. 26) to bring back God's faithful prophet, Urijah, so that he could execute him.

36:24 not afraid. The king's servants were more hardened than the princes (v. 16).

36:26 the LORD hid them. God, who guides (cf. 1:8,19; 10:23), gave Jeremiah and Baruch safety (cf. 36:19; Ps. 32:8; Prov. 3:5,6).

36:27 Cf. Is. 40:18; 55:11; Matt. 5:18.

36:31 I will punish him. Consequences followed Jehoiakim's defiance. In 598 B.C. he met his own death (22:18,19; 2 Kin. 23:36; 2 Chr. 36:5). He had none to occupy the throne (v. 30). Jehoiachin or Jeconiah (Coniah in 22:24), his son, did succeed him, but with virtually no rule at all, lasting only 3 months and 10 days in 597 B.C. (22:24-30; 2 Chr. 36:9,10). Babylon deported him for the rest of his life (cf. 52:31-34) and none of his descendants ruled (cf. 22:30, and see note there).

37:1 Zedekiah...reigned. Zedekiah, an uncle of Jeconiah, was raised to the throne by Nebuchadnezzar in contempt for Jehoiakim and Jeconiah. His 11 year vassal rule was from 597–586 B.C. The message of the king to Jeremiah in this chapter is somewhat earlier than that in chap. 21, when Zedekiah was afraid of the Chaldean's (Babylonian's) defeating Egypt and returning to besiege Jerusalem (vv. 3,5).

37:4 The prophet was no longer in the prison court as he had been (32:2; 33:1).

37:7-10 say to the king. Babylon, which temporarily ended the siege to deal with an Egyptian advance, would return and destroy Jerusalem.

37:12 Jeremiah went out. He returned to his hometown to claim the property he had purchased in 32:6-12.

Benjamin to claim his property there among the people. 13 And when he was in the Gate of Benjamin, a captain of the guard was there whose name was Irijah the son of Shelemiah, the son of Hananiah; and he seized Jeremiah the prophet, saying, "You are defecting to the Chaldeans!"

14 Then Jeremiah said, [1]"False! I am not defecting to the Chaldeans." But he did not listen to him.

So Irijah seized Jeremiah and brought him to the princes. 15 Therefore the princes were angry with Jeremiah, and they struck him [i]and put him in prison in the [j]house of Jonathan the scribe. For they had made that the prison.

16 When Jeremiah entered [k]the dungeon and the cells, and Jeremiah had remained there many days, 17 then Zedekiah the king sent and took him out. The king asked him secretly in his house, and said, "Is there any word from the LORD?"

And Jeremiah said, "There is." Then he said, "You shall be [l]delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon!"

18 Moreover Jeremiah said to King Zedekiah, "What offense have I committed against you, against your servants, or against this people, that you have put me in prison? 19 Where now are your prophets who prophesied to you, saying, 'The king of Babylon will not come against you or against this land?' 20 Therefore please hear now, O my lord the king. Please, let my petition be accepted before you, and do not make me return to the house of Jonathan the scribe, lest I die there."

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they should commit Jeremiah [m]to the court of the prison, and that they should give him daily a piece of bread from the bakers' street, [n]until all the bread in the city was gone. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

Jeremiah in the Dungeon

38 Now Shephatiah the son of Mattan, Gedaliah the son of Pashhur, [a]Jucal[1] the son of Shelemiah, and [b]Pashhur the son of Malchiah [c]heard the words that Jeremiah had spoken to all the people, saying, 2 "Thus says the LORD: [d]'He who remains in this city shall die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence; but he who goes over to the Chaldeans shall live; his life shall be as a prize to him, and he shall live.' 3 Thus says the LORD: [e]'This city shall surely be [f]given into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, which shall take it.' "

4 Therefore the princes said to the king, "Please, [g]let this man be put to death, for thus he [2]weakens the hands of the men of war who remain in this city, and the hands of all the people, by speaking such words to them. For this man does not seek the [3]welfare of this people, but their harm."

5 Then Zedekiah the king said, "Look, he is in your hand. For the king can do nothing against you." 6 [h]So they took Jeremiah and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah [4]the king's son, which was in the court of the prison, and they let Jeremiah down with ropes. And in the dungeon there was no water, but mire. So Jeremiah sank in the mire.

7 [i]Now Ebed-Melech the Ethiopian, one of the [5]eunuchs, who was in the king's house, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon. When the king was sitting at the Gate of Benjamin, 8 Ebed-Melech went out of the king's house and spoke to the king, saying: 9 "My lord the king, these men have done evil in all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet, whom they have cast into the dungeon, and he is likely to die from hunger in the place where he is. For there is [j]no more bread in the city." 10 Then the king commanded Ebed-Melech the Ethiopian, saying, "Take from here thirty men with you, and lift Jeremiah the prophet out of the dungeon before he dies."

37:13 Hananiah. Jeremiah had predicted his death (28:16) and thus the grandson took revenge with a false accusation (cf. 38:19; 52:15).

37:15 struck him. Jeremiah often absorbed blows, threats, or other mistreatment for proclaiming the truth from God (11:21; 20:2; 26:8; 36:26; 38:6,25).

37:17 This showed Zedekiah's willful rejection. He knew Jeremiah spoke for God.

37:19 prophets. They were shown to be liars who said the "king of Babylon" would not come. He had come and would return.

37:21 bread. The king showed a measure of kindness by returning Jeremiah to "the court of the prison" (cf. 32:2; 33:1), promising "bread" as long as it lasted in the siege (cf. 38:9). He remained there until Jerusalem was taken soon after the food was gone (38:28), with only a brief trip to a pit (38:6-13).

38:4 let this man be put to death. Cf. 26:11 and see note there. he weakens the hands. They charged that Jeremiah's urging to submit to Babylon (v. 2) undermined the defenders' morale and will. By proclaiming Babylon's victory, he was viewed as a traitor to Judah.

38:5 the king can do nothing. This is a spineless evasion of courage and decency by a leader who rejected God's Word.

38:6 no water, but mire. The murderous princes (cf. v. 4) would let God's spokesman die of thirst, hunger, hypothermia, or suffocation if he sank too deeply into the bottom of the cistern. Cf. Ps. 69:2,14, a reference to Messiah.

38:7-13 Ebed-Melech. An Ethiopian, Gentile stranger acted decisively to deliver Jeremiah from his own people who were seeking to kill him. Perhaps a keeper of the royal harem ("eunuch"), this man later received God's deliverance of his own life and His tribute for his faith (39:15-18).

11 So Ebed-Melech took the men with him and went into the house of the king under the treasury, and took from there old clothes and old rags, and let them down by ropes into the dungeon to Jeremiah. 12 Then Ebed-Melech the Ethiopian said to Jeremiah, "Please put these old clothes and rags under your armpits, under the ropes." And Jeremiah did so. 13 So they pulled Jeremiah up with ropes and lifted him out of the dungeon. And Jeremiah remained [k]in the court of the prison.

Zedekiah's Fears and Jeremiah's Advice

14 Then Zedekiah the king sent and had Jeremiah the prophet brought to him at the third entrance of the house of the LORD. And the king said to Jeremiah, "I will [l]ask you something. Hide nothing from me."

15 Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "If I declare it to you, will you not surely put me to death? And if I give you advice, you will not listen to me."

16 So Zedekiah the king swore secretly to Jeremiah, saying, "As the LORD lives, [m]who made our very souls, I will not put you to death, nor will I give you into the hand of these men who seek your life."

17 Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "Thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel: 'If you surely [n]surrender[6] [o]to the king of Babylon's princes, then your soul shall live; this city shall not be burned with fire, and you and your house shall live. 18 But if you do not [7]surrender to the king of Babylon's princes, then this city shall be given into the hand of the Chaldeans; they shall burn it with fire, and [p]you shall not escape from their hand.' "

19 And Zedekiah the king said to Jeremiah, "I am afraid of the Jews who have [q]defected to the Chaldeans, lest they deliver me into their hand, and they [r]abuse me."

20 But Jeremiah said, "They shall not deliver you. Please, obey the voice of the LORD which I speak to you. So it shall be [s]well with you, and your soul shall live. 21 But if you refuse to [8]surrender, this is the word that the LORD has shown me: 22 'Now behold, all the [t]women who are left in the king of Judah's house shall be surrendered to the king of Babylon's princes, and those women shall say:

"Your close friends have [9]set upon you
And prevailed against you;
Your feet have sunk in the mire,
And they have [1]turned away again."

23 'So they shall surrender all your wives and [u]children to the Chaldeans. [v]You shall not escape from their hand, but shall be taken by the hand of the king of Babylon. And you shall cause this city to be burned with fire.' "

24 Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "Let no one know of these words, and you shall not die. 25 But if the princes hear that I have talked with you, and they come to you and say to you, 'Declare to us now what you have said to the king, and also what the king said to you; do not hide it from us, and we will not put you to death,' 26 then you shall say to them, [w]'I presented my request before the king, that he would not make me return [x]to Jonathan's house to die there.' "

27 Then all the princes came to Jeremiah and asked him. And he told them according to all these words that the king had commanded. So they stopped speaking with him, for the conversation had not been heard. 28 Now [y]Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison until the day that Jerusalem was taken. And he was there when Jerusalem was taken.

The Fall of Jerusalem

39 In the [a]ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army came against Jerusalem, and besieged it. 2 In the [b]eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, on the ninth day of the month, the [1]city was penetrated.

3 [c]Then all the princes of the king of Babylon came in and sat in the Middle Gate: Nergal-Sharezer, Samgar-Nebo, Sar-

38:14-23 I will ask you. This is one of several queries as Zedekiah wanted to hear God's Word but rejected it. God's Word was surrender, and His answer for rejection was calamity for Jerusalem, capture of the king, and tragedy for his family plus others of the palace. For the fulfillment to Zedekiah, cf. 39:4-8.

38:22 close friends have set upon you. Palace women, taken over by Babylonians, heaped cutting ridicule on Zedekiah for listening to friends whose counsel failed him, who left him helpless as one with his feet stuck in mire.

38:27 these words...the king...commanded. Jeremiah did not fall into lying deception here. What he said was true though he did not divulge all details of the conversation, to which the princes had no right.

39:1,2 In the ninth year...the eleventh year. Cf. 34:1, and see note there. Cf. 52:1-7; 2 Kin. 25:1-4. This siege of 30 months involved the enemy's surrounding the city walls, cutting off all entrances and exits, all food supplies, and as much water as possible, so that famine, thirst, and disease would eventually weaken the beleaguered city dwellers and they could be easily conquered.

39:3 sat in the Middle Gate. This expressed full military occupation of the city, since this gate was between the upper city (Mt. Zion) and the lower city to the N.

[4] [d]So it was, when Zedekiah the king of Judah and all the men of war saw them, that they fled and went out of the city by night, by way of the king's garden, by the gate between the two walls. And he went out by way of the [4]plain. [5] But the Chaldean army pursued them and [e]overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho. And when they had captured him, they brought him up to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, to [f]Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he pronounced judgment on him. [6] Then the king of Babylon killed the sons of Zedekiah before his [g]eyes in Riblah; the king of Babylon also killed all the [h]nobles of Judah. [7] Moreover [i]he put out Zedekiah's eyes, and bound him with bronze [5]fetters to carry him off to Babylon. [8] [j]And the Chaldeans burned the king's house and the houses of the people with [k]fire, and broke down the [l]walls of Jerusalem. [9] [m]Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive to Babylon the remnant of the people who remained in the city and those who [n]defected to him, with the rest of the people who remained. [10] But Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard left in the land of Judah the [o]poor people, who had nothing, and gave them vineyards and fields [6]at the same time.

Jeremiah Goes Free

[11] Now Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon gave charge concerning Jeremiah to Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, saying, [12] "Take him and look after him, and do him no [p]harm; but do to him just as he says to you." [13] So Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard sent Nebushasban, Rabsaris, Nergal-Sharezer, Rabmag, and all the king of Babylon's chief officers; [14] then they sent someone [q]to take Jeremiah from the court of the prison, and committed him [r]to Gedaliah the son of [s]Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, that he should take him home. So he dwelt among the people.

[15] Meanwhile the word of the LORD had come to Jeremiah while he was shut up in the court of the prison, saying, [16] "Go and speak to [t]Ebed-Melech the Ethiopian, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Behold, [u]I will bring My words upon this city for adversity and not for good, and they shall be performed in that day before you. Jeremiah with Gedaliah the Governor

40 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD [a]after Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had let him go from Ramah, when he had taken him bound in chains among all who were carried away captive from Jerusalem and Judah, who were carried away captive to Babylon.

[2] And the captain of the guard took Jeremiah and [b]said to him: "The LORD your God has pronounced this doom on this place. [3] Now the LORD has brought it, and has done just as He said. [c]Because you people have sinned against the LORD, and not obeyed His voice, therefore this thing has come upon you. [4] And now look, I free you this day from the chains that [1]were on your hand. [d]If it seems good to you to come with me to Babylon, come, and I will look after you. 39:11,12 Jeremiah's prophecies were known to Nebuchadnezzar through defectors (v. 9; 38:19), and also through Jews taken to Babylon with Jeconiah (cf. 40:2).

39:14 take Jeremiah from the court. This was given as a general summary, whereas 40:1-6 gave more detail concerning the prophet who was first carried to Ramah (40:1) with the other captives before being released (40:2-5). "Gedaliah" was a former supporter of Jeremiah (26:24) and chief among the defectors, loyal to Nebuchadnezzar, so was made governor (40:5) over the remnant left in the land.

39:15-18 Cf. 38:7-13, and see note there.

40:2,3 The pagan captain understood the judgment of God better than the leaders of Judah.

go." So the captain of the guard gave him rations and a gift and let him go. 6 [h]Then Jeremiah went to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, to [i]Mizpah, and dwelt with him among the people who were left in the land.

7 [j]And when all the captains of the armies who were in the fields, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam governor in the land, and had committed to him men, women, children, and [k]the poorest of the land who had not been carried away captive to Babylon, 8 then they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah—[l]Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, [m]Johanan and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth, the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, and [n]Jezaniah[2] the son of a [o]Maachathite, they and their men. 9 And Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, took an oath before them and their men, saying, "Do not be afraid to serve the Chaldeans. Dwell in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be [p]well with you. 10 As for me, I will indeed dwell at Mizpah and serve the Chaldeans who come to us. But you, gather wine and summer fruit and oil, put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities that you have taken." 11 Likewise, when all the Jews who were in Moab, among the Ammonites, in Edom, and who were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant of Judah, and that he had set over them Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, 12 then all the Jews [q]returned out of all places where they had been driven, and came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah at Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer fruit in abundance.

13 Moreover Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces that were in the fields came to Gedaliah at Mizpah, 14 and said to him, [3]"Do you certainly know that [r]Baalis the king of the Ammonites has sent Ishmael the son of Nethaniah to murder you?" But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam did not believe them.

15 Then Johanan the son of Kareah spoke secretly to Gedaliah in Mizpah, saying, "Let me go, please, and I will kill Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and no one will know it. Why should he murder you, so that all the Jews who are gathered to you would be scattered, and the [s]remnant in Judah perish?"

16 But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam said to Johanan the son of Kareah, "You shall not do this thing, for you speak falsely concerning Ishmael."

Insurrection Against Gedaliah

41 Now it came to pass in the seventh month [a]that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of the royal [1]family and of the officers of the king, came with ten men to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, at [b]Mizpah. And there they ate bread together in Mizpah. 2 Then Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and the ten men who were with him, arose and [c]struck Gedaliah the son of [d]Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, with the sword, and killed him whom the king of Babylon had made [e]governor over the land. 3 Ishmael also struck down all the Jews who were with him, that is, with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and the Chaldeans who were found there, the men of war.

4 And it happened, on the second day after he had killed Gedaliah, when as yet no one knew it, 5 that certain men came from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, eighty men [f]with their beards shaved and their clothes torn, having cut themselves, with offerings and incense in their hand, to bring them to [g]the house of the LORD. 6 Now Ishmael the son of Nethaniah went out from Mizpah to meet them, weeping as he went along; and it happened as he met them that he said to them, "Come to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam!" 7 So it was, when they came into the midst of the city, that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah [h]killed them and cast them into the midst of a [2]pit, he and the men who were with him. 8 But ten men were found among them who said to Ishmael, "Do not kill us, for we have treasures of wheat, barley, oil, and honey in the field." So he desisted and did not kill them among their brethren. 9 Now the [3]pit into which Ishmael had cast all the dead bodies of the men whom he had slain, because of Gedaliah, was [i]the same one Asa the king had made

7 And it happened after ten days that the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah. 8 Then he called Johanan the son of Kareah, all the captains of the forces which were with him, and all the people from the least even to the greatest, 9 and said to them, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to present your petition before Him: 10 'If you will still remain in this land, then k I will build you and not pull you down, and I will plant you and not pluck you up. 42:7-12 After 10 days of prayer Jeremiah reported God's Word, telling them to remain in the land under God's protection (v. 10).

42:10 I relent. By this God means "I am satisfied with the punishment inflicted if you do not add new offenses."

42:13-19 The prophet gave explicit warning (v. 19) not to go to Egypt where they would be exposed to corrupting paganism.

42:20 They were hypocrites who already desired Egypt.

[q]wholly[3] set [r]your faces to enter Egypt, and go to dwell there, 16 then it shall be that the [s]sword which you feared shall overtake you there in the land of Egypt; the famine of which you were afraid shall follow close after you there in Egypt; and there you shall die. 17 So shall it be with all the men who set their faces to go to Egypt to dwell there. They shall die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence. And [t]none of them shall remain or escape from the disaster that I will bring upon them.'

And [v]you shall be an oath, an astonishment, a curse, and a reproach; and you shall see this place no more.'

19 "The LORD has said concerning you, O remnant of Judah, [w]'Do not go to Egypt!' Know certainly that I have [4]admonished you this day. 20 For you [5]were hypocrites in your hearts when you sent me to the LORD your God, saying, 'Pray for us to the LORD our God, and according to all that the LORD your God says, so declare to us and we will do it.' 21 And I have this day declared it to you, but you have [x]not obeyed the voice of the LORD your God, or anything which He has sent you by me. 22 Now therefore, know certainly that you [y]shall die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence in the place where you desire to go to dwell."

Jeremiah Taken to Egypt

43 Now it happened, when Jeremiah had stopped speaking to all the people all the [a]words of the LORD their God, for which the LORD their God had sent him to them, all these words, 2 [b]that Azariah the son of Hoshaiah, Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the proud men spoke, saying to Jeremiah, "You speak falsely! The LORD our God has not sent you to say, 'Do not go to Egypt to dwell there.' 3 But [c]Baruch the son of Neriah has [1]set you against us, to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, that they may put us to death or carry us away captive to Babylon." 4 So Johanan the son of Kareah, all the captains of the forces, and all the people would [d]not obey the voice of the LORD, to remain in the land of Judah. 5 But Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces took [e]all the remnant of Judah who had returned to dwell in the land of Judah, from all nations where they had been driven— 6 men, women, children, [f]the king's daughters, [g]and every person whom Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had left with Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the prophet and Baruch the son of Neriah. 7 [h]So they went to the land of Egypt, for they did not obey the voice of the LORD. And they went as far as [i]Tahpanhes.

8 Then the [j]word of the LORD came to Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, saying, 9 "Take large stones in your hand, and hide them in the sight of the men of Judah, in the [2]clay in the brick courtyard which is at the entrance to Pharaoh's house in Tahpanhes; 10 and say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Behold, I will send and bring Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, [k]My servant, and will set his throne above these stones that I have hidden. And he will spread his royal pavilion over them. 11 [l]When he comes, he shall strike the land of Egypt and deliver to death [m]those appointed for death, and to captivity those appointed for captivity, and to the sword those appointed for the sword. 12 [3]I will kindle a fire in the houses of [n]the gods of Egypt, and he shall burn them and carry them away captive. And he shall array himself with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd puts on his garment, and he shall go out from there in peace. 13 He shall also break the sacred pillars of [4]Beth Shemesh that are in the land of Egypt; and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians he shall burn with fire." 43:1-7 when Jeremiah...stopped speaking. The incorrigible, disobedient leaders accused him of deceit and forced Jeremiah and the remnant to go to Egypt, despite the fact that all his prophecies regarding Babylon had come to pass. In so doing, they went out of God's protection into His judgment, as all who are disobedient to His Word do.

43:3,6 Baruch. The faithful recorder of chap. 36 was still with Jeremiah, kept safe as God promised him at least 20 years earlier (45:5; cf. 605 B.C. in v. 1).

43:7 Tahpanhes. A location in the eastern delta region of Egypt.

43:9-13 Take large stones. Stones, placed in the mortar of the brick pavement in the courtyard entrance of the Pharaoh's house, signaled the place where the conquering king of Babylon would bring devastation on Egypt and establish his throne. This was fulfilled in an invasion ca. 568/67 B.C.

43:13 sacred pillars of Beth Shemesh. Heb. "house of the sun." This refers to a temple for the worship of the sun. Located N of Memphis, E of the Nile, these pillars were said to be 60–100 ft. high.

Israelites Will Be Punished in Egypt

CHAPTER 44

44 The word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews who dwell in the land of Egypt, who dwell at [a]Migdol, at [b]Tahpanhes, at [c]Noph,[1] and in the country of [d]Pathros, saying, 2 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'You have seen all the calamity that I have brought on Jerusalem and on all the cities of Judah; and behold, this day they are [e]a desolation, and no one dwells in them, 3 because of their wickedness which they have committed to provoke Me to anger, in that they went [f]to burn incense and to [g]serve other gods whom they did not know, they nor you nor your fathers. 4 However [h]I have sent to you all My servants the prophets, rising early and sending them, saying, "Oh, do not do this abominable thing that I hate!" 5 But they did not listen or incline their ear to turn from their wickedness, to burn no incense to other gods. 6 So My fury and My anger were poured out and kindled in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem; and they [2]are wasted and desolate, as it is this day.'

7 "Now therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Why do you commit this great evil [i]against yourselves, to cut off from you man and woman, child and infant, out of Judah, leaving none to remain, 8 in that you [j]provoke Me to wrath with the works of your hands, burning incense to other gods in the land of Egypt where you have gone to dwell, that you may cut yourselves off and be [k]a curse and a reproach among all the nations of the earth? 9 Have you forgotten the wickedness of your fathers, the wickedness of the kings of Judah, the wickedness of their wives, your own wickedness, and the wickedness of your wives, which they committed in the land of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? 10 They have not been [l]humbled,[3] to this day, nor have they [m]feared; they have not walked in My law or in My statutes that I set before you and your fathers.'

11 "Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Behold, [n]I will set My face against you for catastrophe and for [4]cutting off all Judah. 12 And I will take the remnant of Judah who have set their faces to go into the land of Egypt to dwell there, and [o]they shall all be consumed and fall in the land of Egypt. They shall be consumed by the sword and by famine. They shall die, from the least to the greatest, by the sword and by famine; and [p]they shall be an oath, an astonishment, a curse and a reproach! 13 [q]For I will punish those who dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have punished Jerusalem, by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence, 14 so that none of the remnant of Judah who have gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there shall escape or survive, lest they return to the land of Judah, to which they [r]desire[5] to return and dwell. For [s]none shall return except those who escape.' "

15 Then all the men who knew that their wives had burned incense to other gods, with all the women who stood by, a great multitude, and all the people who dwelt in the land of Egypt, in Pathros, answered Jeremiah, saying: 16 "As for the word that you have spoken to us in the name of the LORD, [t]we will not listen to you! 17 But we will certainly do [u]whatever has gone out of our own mouth, to burn incense to the [v]queen of heaven and pour out drink offerings to her, as we have done, we and our fathers, our kings and our princes, in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem. For then we had plenty of [6]food, were well-off, and saw no trouble. 18 But since we stopped burning incense to the queen of heaven and pouring out drink offerings to her, we have lacked everything and have been consumed by the sword and by famine."

19 The women also said, [w]"And when we burned incense to the queen of heaven and poured out drink offerings to her, did we make cakes for her, to worship her, and pour out drink offerings to her without our husbands' permission?"

20 Then Jeremiah spoke to all the people—the men, the women, and all the people who had given him that answer—saying: 21 "The incense that you burned in the 44:1 The word that came. The unrelenting iniquity of the Jews called for yet another prophecy of judgment on them in Egypt.

44:2-6 The prophet summarized what had occurred in Judah as a basis for what he predicted coming on the refugees in Egypt.

44:7,9,10 Incredibly, after being spared death in Judah, they pursued it by their sin in Egypt.

44:11-14 Ironically, the Jews taken to Babylon were weaned from idolatry and restored to their land; those taken to Egypt for their obstinate idolatry, perished there.

44:14 except those who escape. A small number (v. 28) who fled before the arrival of Babylonian armies were spared.

44:15 wives. The idolatry apparently began with the women.

44:17-19 queen of heaven. See note on 7:18. This is a title Roman Catholicism erroneously attributes to Mary, the mother of Jesus, in a blending of Christianity with paganism. The Jews' twisted thinking credits the idol with the prosperity of pre-captivity Judah, further mocking the goodness of God.

cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, you and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, did not the LORD remember them, and did it not come into His mind? 22 So the LORD could no longer bear it, because of the evil of your doings and because of the abominations which you committed. Therefore your land is a desolation, an astonishment, a curse, and without an inhabitant, [x]as it is this day. 23 Because you have burned incense and because you have sinned against the LORD, and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD or walked in His law, in His statutes or in His testimonies, [y]therefore this calamity has happened to you, as at this day."

24 Moreover Jeremiah said to all the people and to all the women, "Hear the word of the LORD, all Judah who are in the land of Egypt! 25 Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saying: 'You and your wives have spoken with your mouths and fulfilled with your hands, saying, "We will surely keep our vows that we have made, to burn incense to the queen of heaven and pour out drink offerings to her." You will surely keep your vows and perform your vows!' 26 Therefore hear the word of the LORD, all Judah who dwell in the land of Egypt: 'Behold, [z]I have sworn by My [a]great name,' says the LORD, 'that [b]My name shall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Judah in all the land of Egypt, saying, "The Lord GOD lives." 27 Behold, I will watch over them for adversity and not for good. And all the men of Judah who are in the land of Egypt [c]shall be consumed by the sword and by famine, until there is an end to them. 28 Yet [d]a small number who escape the sword shall return from the land of Egypt to the land of Judah; and all the remnant of Judah, who have gone to the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words will stand, Mine or theirs. 29 And this shall be a sign to you,' says the LORD, 'that I will punish you in this place, that you may know that My words will surely [e]stand against you for adversity.'

30 "Thus says the LORD: 'Behold, [f]I will give Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies and into the hand of those who seek his life, as I gave [g]Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, his enemy who sought his life.' "

Assurance to Baruch

CHAPTER 45

45 The [a]word that Jeremiah the prophet spoke to [b]Baruch the son of Neriah, when he had written these words in a book [1]at the instruction of Jeremiah, in the [c]fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, saying, 2 "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, to you, O Baruch: 3 'You said, "Woe is me now! For the LORD has added grief to my sorrow. I [d]fainted in my sighing, and I find no rest." '

4 "Thus you shall say to him, 'Thus says the LORD: "Behold, [e]what I have built I will break down, and what I have planted I will pluck up, that is, this whole land. 5 And do you seek great things for yourself? Do not seek them; for behold, [f]I will bring adversity on all flesh," says the LORD. "But I will give your [g]life to you as a prize in all places, wherever you go." ' "

Judgment on Egypt

CHAPTER 46

46 The word of the LORD which came to Jeremiah the prophet against [a]the nations. 2 Against [b]Egypt.

[c]Concerning the army of Pharaoh Necho, king of Egypt, which was by the River Euphrates in Carchemish, and which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon [d]defeated in the [e]fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah:

3 "Order[1] the [2]buckler and shield,
And draw near to battle!
4 Harness the horses,

3 [1] Set in order [2] A small shield

44:24-28 Jeremiah repeated the doom stated in vv. 11-14.

44:29,30 sign. The "sign" of punishment was described in v. 30 as the strangulation of Pharaoh Hophra in 570 B.C. by Amasis, which paved the way for Nebuchadnezzar's invasion in the 23rd year of his reign (568/67 B.C.).

45:1 fourth year of Jehoiakim. The year was 605 B.C. (chap. 36), when the recording of God's messages to Jeremiah was in view.

45:3 Woe is me now! Baruch felt anxiety as his own cherished plans of a bright future were apparently dashed; even death became a darkening peril (cf. v. 5). Also, he was possibly pressed by human questionings about God carrying through with such calamity (cf. v. 4). Jeremiah spoke to encourage him (v. 2).

45:4 say to him. God will judge this whole nation (the Jews).

45:5 you seek great things. Baruch had his expectations far too high and that made the disasters harder to bear. It is enough that he be content just to live. Jeremiah, who once also complained, learned by his own suffering to encourage complainers.

46:1 against the nations. Jeremiah had already proclaimed that all the nations at some time are to "drink the cup" of God's wrath (25:15-26). In chaps. 46–51 God selected certain nations and forecast their doom. Likely given to Jeremiah at different times, the prophecies were collected according to the nations, not the chronology.

46:2-26 Against Egypt. Cf. Is. 19,20; Ezek. 29–32. Verses 2-12 depict Pharaoh Necho's overthrow by the Babylonians at Carchemish by the Euphrates River in 605 B.C., in which Egypt lost all its territory W of the river.

46:3-6 Here was a derisive call to Egypt to ready itself for defeat.

And mount up, you horsemen!
Stand forth with your helmets,
Polish the spears,
[f]Put on the armor!
5 Why have I seen them dismayed and turned back?
Their mighty ones are beaten down;
They have speedily fled,
And did not look back,
For [g]fear was all around," says the
LORD.
6 "Do not let the swift flee away,
Nor the mighty man escape;
They will [h]stumble and fall
Toward the north, by the River
Euphrates.

7 "Who is this coming up [i]like a flood,
Whose waters move like the rivers?
8 Egypt rises up like a flood,
And its waters move like the
rivers;
And he says, 'I will go up and
cover the earth,
I will destroy the city and its inhabitants.'
9 Come up, O horses, and rage,
O chariots!
And let the mighty men come
forth:
[3]The Ethiopians and [4]the Libyans who handle the shield,
And the Lydians [j]who handle and
bend the bow.
10 For this is [k]the day of the Lord GOD
of hosts,
A day of vengeance,
That He may avenge Himself on His adversaries.
[l]The sword shall devour;
It shall be [5]satiated and made drunk with their blood;
For the Lord GOD of hosts [m]has a sacrifice
In the north country by the River
Euphrates.

11 "Go[n] up to Gilead and take balm,
[o]O virgin, the daughter of Egypt;
In vain you will use many medicines;
[p]You shall not be cured.
12 The nations have heard of your
[q]shame,
And your cry has filled the land;
For the mighty man has stumbled against the mighty;
They both have fallen together."

Babylonia Will Strike Egypt

13 The word that the LORD spoke to Jeremiah the prophet, how Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon would come and [r]strike the land of Egypt.

14 "Declare in Egypt, and proclaim in [s]Migdol;
Proclaim in [6]Noph and in [t]Tahpanhes;
Say, 'Stand fast and prepare yourselves,
For the sword devours all around
you.'
15 Why are your valiant men swept away?
They did not stand
Because the LORD drove them
away.
16 He made many fall;
Yes, [u]one fell upon another.
And they said, 'Arise!
[v]Let us go back to our own people
And to the land of our nativity
From the oppressing sword.'
17 They cried there,
'Pharaoh, king of Egypt, is but a noise.
He has passed by the appointed time!'

18 "As I live," says the King,
[w]Whose name is the LORD of hosts,
"Surely as Tabor is among the mountains
And as Carmel by the sea, so he shall come.
19 O [x]you daughter dwelling in Egypt, Prepare yourself [y]to go into captivity!
For [7]Noph shall be waste and desolate, without inhabitant.

20 "Egypt is a very pretty [z]heifer,
But destruction comes, it comes

46:13-26 Babylon's invasion of Egypt, 15 or 16 years before the destruction of Jerusalem is here detailed (601 B.C.; cf. v. 13). Having spent 13 years in a siege of Tyre, Nebuchadnezzar was promised Egypt as a reward for humbling Tyre (cf. Ezek. 29:17-20).

46:18 Tabor...Carmel. As those two mountains rise above the hills of Palestine, so Nebuchadnezzar will be superior.

46:20,21 a very pretty heifer...fat bulls. Fat and untamed, ready to kill.

21 Also her mercenaries are in her midst like [g]fat bulls,
For they also are turned back,
They have fled away together.
They did not stand,
For [b]the day of their calamity had come upon them,
The time of their punishment.
22 [c]Her noise shall go like a serpent,
For they shall march with an army
And come against her with axes,
Like those who chop wood.

23 "They shall [d]cut down her forest,"
says the LORD,
"Though it cannot be searched,
Because they are innumerable,
And more numerous than [e]grasshoppers.
24 The daughter of Egypt shall be ashamed;
She shall be delivered into the
Of [f]the people of the north."

25 The LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, says: "Behold, I will bring punishment on [g]Amon of [g]No,[1] and Pharaoh and Egypt, [h]with their gods and their kings—Pharaoh and those who [i]trust in him. 26 [j]And I will deliver them into the hand of those who seek their lives, into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and the hand of his servants. [k]Afterward it shall be inhabited as in the days of old," says the LORD.

God Will Preserve Israel

27 "But[l] do not fear, O My servant
Jacob,
And do not be dismayed, O Israel!
For behold, I will [m]save you from afar,
And your offspring from the land
of their captivity;
Jacob shall return, have rest and be at ease;
No one shall make him afraid.
28 Do not fear, O Jacob My servant,"
says the LORD,
"For I am with you;
For I will make a complete end of all the nations
To which I have driven you,
But I will not make [n]a complete end of you.
I will rightly [o]correct you,
For I will not leave you wholly unpunished."

Judgment on Philistia

47 The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet [a]against the Philistines, [b]before Pharaoh attacked Gaza.
2 Thus says the LORD:

"Behold, [c]waters rise [d]out of the north,
And shall be an overflowing flood;
They shall overflow the land and all that is in it,
The city and those who dwell
within;
Then the men shall cry,
And all the inhabitants of the land shall wail.
3 At the [e]noise of the stamping hooves of his strong horses,
At the rushing of his chariots,
At the rumbling of his wheels,
The fathers will not look back for their children,
[1]Lacking courage,
4 Because of the day that comes to plunder all the [f]Philistines,
To cut off from [g]Tyre and Sidon every helper who remains;
For the LORD shall plunder the Philistines,
[h]The remnant of the country of
[i]Caphtor.[2]
5 [j]Baldness has come upon Gaza,
[k]Ashkelon is cut off
With the remnant of their valley.
How long will you cut yourself?

6 "O you [l]sword of the LORD,
How long until you are quiet?
Put yourself up into your scabbard,
Rest and be still!
7 How can [3]it be quiet,
Seeing the LORD has [m]given it a charge Against Ashkelon and against the seashore?
There He has [n]appointed it."

46:26 Afterward. Forty years after Nebuchadnezzar's conquest of Egypt, it threw off the Babylonian yoke but never regained its former glory (Ezek 29:11-15).

46:27,28 do not fear...Jacob. Though Israel has been scattered to the nations, the nations will receive their judgments, and the Lord will restore Israel (repeated from 30:10,11) from dispersion to its own land (as in Jer. 23:5-8; 30–33). No matter what judgments fall on Israel, they will not be destroyed, as Paul reiterates in Rom. 11:1,2,15,25-27.

47:1-5 against the Philistines. Cf. Is. 14:29-32; Ezek. 25:15-17; Amos 1:6-8; Zeph. 2:4-7. Although Egypt's Pharaoh Hophra conquered the Philistines (who lived on the coastal plain of Palestine) in Gaza and Phoenicia around 587 B.C. (v. 1), Babylon appears to be the conqueror in this scene, ("out of the N") at the same time as the invasion of Judah (588-586 B.C.; cf. 39:1,2).

47:6,7 sword of the LORD. Cf. Judg. 7:18,20.

Judgment on Moab

CHAPTER 48

48 Against [a]Moab.
Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:

"Woe to [b]Nebo!
For it is plundered,
[c]Kirjathaim is shamed and taken;
[1]The high stronghold is shamed and dismayed—
2 [d]No more praise of Moab.
In [e]Heshbon they have devised evil against her:
'Come, and let us cut her off as a nation.'
You also shall be cut down, O [f]Madmen[2]!
The sword shall pursue you;
3 A voice of crying shall be from [g]Horonaim:
'Plundering and great destruction!'

4 "Moab is destroyed;
[3]Her little ones have caused a cry to be heard;
5 [h]For in the Ascent of Luhith they ascend with continual weeping;
For in the descent of Horonaim the enemies have heard a cry of destruction.

6 "Flee, save your lives!
And be like [4]the [i]juniper in the wilderness.
7 For because you have trusted in your works and your [j]treasures,
You also shall be taken.
And [k]Chemosh shall go forth into captivity,
His [l]priests and his princes together.
8 And [m]the plunderer shall come against every city;
No one shall escape.
The valley also shall perish,
And the plain shall be destroyed,
As the LORD has spoken.

9 "Give [n]wings to Moab,
That she may flee and get away;
For her cities shall be desolate,
Without any to dwell in them.
10 [o]Cursed is he who does the work of the LORD deceitfully,
And cursed is he who keeps back his sword from blood.

11 "Moab has been at ease from [5]his youth;
He [p]has settled on his dregs,
And has not been emptied from vessel to vessel,
Nor has he gone into captivity.
Therefore his taste remained in him,
And his scent has not changed.

12 "Therefore behold, the days are coming," says the LORD,
"That I shall send him [6]wine-workers
Who will tip him over
And empty his vessels
And break the bottles.
13 Moab shall be ashamed of [q]Chemosh,
As the house of Israel [r]was ashamed of [s]Bethel, their confidence.

14 "How can you say, [t]'We are mighty
And strong men for the war'?
15 Moab is plundered and gone up from her cities;
Her chosen young men have [u]gone down to the slaughter," says [v]the King,
Whose name is the LORD of hosts.

16 "The calamity of Moab is near at hand,
And his affliction comes quickly.
17 Bemoan him, all you who are around him;
And all you who know his name,
Say, [w]'How the strong staff is broken,
The beautiful rod!'

48:1 Against Moab. Various sites of unknown location in Moab are to be destroyed (vv. 1-5). The judgment is framed in similar words or some of the same words as in other passages (Is. 15:1-9; 16:6-14; 25:10-12; Ezek. 25:8-11; Amos 2:1-3; Zeph. 2:8-11). Desolation overtook different parts of Moab at various times, but Babylon in 588–86 B.C. or 582–81 B.C. is likely the main destroyer (cf. 48:40). The Moabites were Lot's descendants (cf. Gen. 19:37), who lived E of the Dead Sea and often fought with Israel.

48:7 Chemosh. He was the leading god of Moab (cf. Num. 21:29; Judg. 11:24; 1 Kin. 11:7; 2 Kin. 23:13).

48:10 Cursed is he. God's aim to judge Moab was so intense that He pronounced a curse on whatever instrument (army) He would use if they should carry it out "deceitfully" i.e., "carelessly," or "with slackness," or "being remiss" (Prov. 10:4; cf. 12:24).

48:11,12 This wine making imagery is vivid. In the production of sweet wine, the juice was left in a wineskin until the sediment or dregs settled onto the bottom. Then it was poured into another skin until more dregs were separated. This process continued until the dregs were all removed and a pure, sweet wine obtained. Moab was not taken from suffering to suffering so that her bitter dregs would be removed though the purging of pain. Thus the nation was settled into the thickness and bitterness of its own sin. Judgment from God was coming to smash them.

18 "O [x]daughter inhabiting [y]Dibon,
Come down from your glory,
And sit in thirst;
For the plunderer of Moab has come against you,
He has destroyed your strongholds.
19 O inhabitant of [z]Aroer,
[a]Stand by the way and watch;
Ask him who flees
And her who escapes;
Say, 'What has happened?'
20 Moab is shamed, for he is broken down.
[b]Wail and cry!
Tell it in [c]Arnon, that Moab is plundered.

21 "And judgment has come on the plain country:
On Holon and Jahzah and Mephaath,
22 On Dibon and Nebo and Beth Diblathaim,
23 On Kirjathaim and Beth Gamul
and Beth Meon,
24 On [d]Kerioth and Bozrah,
On all the cities of the land of Moab,
Far or near.
25 [e]The [7]horn of Moab is cut off,
And his [f]arm is broken," says the
LORD.

26 "Make [g]him drunk,
Because he exalted himself against
the LORD.
Moab shall wallow in his vomit,
And he shall also be in derision.
27 For [h]was not Israel a derision to
you?
[i]Was he found among thieves?
For whenever you speak of him,
You shake your head in [i]scorn.
28 You who dwell in Moab,
Leave the cities and [k]dwell in the rock,
And be like [l]the dove which makes her nest
In the sides of the cave's mouth.

29 "We have heard the [m]pride of Moab
(He is exceedingly proud),
Of his loftiness and arrogance and [n]pride,
And of the haughtiness of his heart."

30 "I know his wrath," says the LORD,
"But it is not right;
[o]His [8]lies have made nothing right.
31 Therefore [p]I will wail for Moab,
And I will cry out for all Moab;
[9]I will mourn for the men of Kir Heres.
32 [q]O vine of Sibmah! I will weep for you with the weeping of [r]Jazer.
Your plants have gone over the sea,
They reach to the sea of Jazer.
The plunderer has fallen on your summer fruit and your vintage.
33 [s]Joy and gladness are taken
From the plentiful field
And from the land of Moab;
I have caused wine to [1]fail from the winepresses;
No one will tread with joyous shouting—
Not joyous shouting!

34 "From [t]the cry of Heshbon to [u]Elealeh and to Jahaz
They have uttered their voice,
[v]From Zoar to Horonaim,
Like [2]a three-year-old heifer;
For the waters of Nimrim also shall be desolate.

35 "Moreover," says the LORD,
"I will cause to cease in Moab
[w]The one who offers sacrifices in the [3]high places
And burns incense to his gods.
36 Therefore [x]My heart shall wail like flutes for Moab,
And like flutes My heart shall wail
For the men of Kir Heres.
Therefore [y]the riches they have acquired have perished.

37 "For [z]every head shall be bald, and every beard clipped;
On all the hands shall be cuts, and
[a]on the loins sackcloth—
38 A general lamentation
On all the [b]housetops of Moab,
And in its streets;

48:18-20 Dibon...Aroer. These places were on the Arnon River, but would be thirsty.

48:24 Kerioth. Likely the city of Judas Iscariot. Cf. Josh. 15:25.

48:25 horn...is cut off. An example of the OT use of "horn" as a symbol of military power, as an animal uses horns to hook, gouge, or ram. Moab is to be dehorned.

48:26 Here is as a vivid picture of humiliation.

48:29 Suffering didn't come to humble Moab (see note on vv. 11,12), so she remained proud.

For I have [c]broken Moab like a vessel in which is no pleasure," says the LORD.
39 "They shall wail:
'How she is broken down!
How Moab has turned her back with shame!'
So Moab shall be a derision
And a dismay to all those about her."

40 For thus says the LORD:

"Behold, [d]one shall fly like an eagle,
And [e]spread his wings over Moab.
41 Kerioth is taken,
And the strongholds are surprised;
[f]The mighty men's hearts in Moab on that day shall be Like the heart of a woman in birth pangs.
42 And Moab shall be destroyed [g]as a people,
Because he exalted himself against
the LORD.
43 [h]Fear and the pit and the snare shall be upon you,
O inhabitant of Moab," says the
LORD.
44 "He who flees from the fear shall fall into the pit,
And he who gets out of the pit shall be caught in the [i]snare.
For upon Moab, upon it [j]I will bring
The year of their punishment,"
says the LORD.

45 "Those who fled stood under the shadow of Heshbon
Because of exhaustion.
But [k]a fire shall come out of Heshbon,
A flame from the midst of [l]Sihon,
And [m]shall devour the brow of
Moab,
The crown of the head of the sons of tumult.
46 [n]Woe to you, O Moab!
The people of Chemosh perish;
For your sons have been taken captive,
And your daughters captive.

Judgment on Ammon

49 Against the [a]Ammonites.
Thus says the LORD:

"Has Israel no sons?
Has he no heir?
Why then does [1]Milcom inherit
[b]Gad,
And his people dwell in its cities?
2 [c]Therefore behold, the days are coming," says the LORD,
"That I will cause to be heard an alarm of war
In [d]Rabbah of the Ammonites;
It shall be a desolate mound,
And her [2]villages shall be burned with fire.
Then Israel shall take possession of his inheritance," says the
LORD.

3 "Wail, O [e]Heshbon, for Ai is
plundered!
Cry, you daughters of Rabbah,
[f]Gird yourselves with sackcloth!
Lament and run to and fro by the walls;
For [3]Milcom shall go into captivity
With his [g]priests and his princes
together.
4 Why [h]do you boast in the valleys,
[4]Your flowing valley, O [i]backsliding daughter?
Who trusted in her [j]treasures,
[k]saying,
'Who will come against me?'
5 Behold, I will bring fear upon you,"
Says the Lord GOD of hosts,
"From all those who are around you;
You shall be driven out, everyone headlong,
And no one will gather those who wander off.
6 But [l]afterward I will bring back
The captives of the people of Ammon," says the LORD.

CHAPTER 49

6 [l] Jer. 48:47

48:47 I will bring back. God will allow a remnant of Moab to return to the land (cf. 12:14-17; 46:26; 48:47; 49:6,39), through their descendants in the messianic era ("the latter days").

49:1-6 Against the Ammonites. Cf. Ezek. 25:1-7; Amos 1:13-15; Zeph. 2:8-11. These people descended from Lot (cf. Gen. 19:38) and lived N of Moab. Though Israel had people who were heirs to Transjordan, i.e., Gad, Reuben, and one half of Manasseh (cf. Josh. 22:1-9), the Ammonites, whose god was Milcham or Molech, were chided for having usurped the area (v. 1), when the northern kingdom was taken captive by Shalmaneser.

49:2 an alarm of war. Nebuchadnezzar defeated Ammon in the fifth year after the destruction of Jerusalem, around 582/81 B.C.

49:4 flowing valley. Flowing with the blood of the slain. backsliding. See note on Prov. 14:14.

49:6 I will bring back. As with Moab (cf. 48:47 and see note there), God promised that captives would have an opportunity to return. This was partially fulfilled under Cyrus, but will be more fully in the coming kingdom of Messiah (cf. 48:47).

Judgment on Edom

7 [m]Against Edom.
Thus says the LORD of hosts:

[n]"Is wisdom no more in Teman?
[o]Has counsel perished from the prudent?
Has their wisdom [p]vanished?
8 Flee, turn back, dwell in the depths, O inhabitants of [q]Dedan!
For I will bring the calamity of Esau upon him,
The time that I will punish him.
9 [r]If grape-gatherers came to you,
Would they not leave some gleaning grapes?
If thieves by night,
Would they not destroy until they have enough?
10 [s]But I have made Esau bare;
I have uncovered his secret places,
And he shall not be able to hide himself.
His descendants are plundered,
His brethren and his neighbors,
And [t]he is no more.
11 Leave your fatherless children,
I will preserve them alive;
And let your widows trust in Me."

12 For thus says the LORD: "Behold, [u]those whose judgment was not to drink of the cup have assuredly drunk. And are you the one who will altogether go unpunished? You shall not go unpunished, but you shall surely drink of it. 13 For [v]I have sworn by Myself," says the LORD, "that [w]Bozrah shall become a desolation, a reproach, a [5]waste, and a curse. And all its cities shall be perpetual [6]wastes."

14 [x]I have heard a message from the LORD,
And an ambassador has been sent to the nations:
"Gather together, come against her,
And rise up to battle!

7 [m] Gen. 25:30; 32:3; Is. 34:5, 6; Jer. 25:21; Ezek. 25:12-14; 35:1-15; Joel 3:19; Amos 1:11, 12; Obad. 1-9, 15, 16 [n] Gen. 36:11; Job 2:11 [o] Is. 19:11 [p] Jer. 8:9

10 [s] Obad. 5, 6; Mal. 1:3 [t] Is. 17:14

13 [v] Gen. 22:16; Is. 45:23; Jer. 44:26; Amos 6:8 [w] Gen. 36:33; 1 Chr. 1:44; Is. 34:6; 63:1; Amos 1:12 [5] ruin [6] ruins
14 [x] Obad. 1-4

15 "For indeed, I will make you small among nations,
Despised among men.
16 Your fierceness has deceived you,
The [y]pride of your heart,
O you who dwell in the clefts of the rock,
Who hold the height of the hill!
[z]Though you make your [a]nest as high as the eagle,
[b]I will bring you down from there,"
says the LORD.

17 "Edom also shall be an astonishment;
[c]Everyone who goes by it will be astonished
And will hiss at all its plagues.
18 [d]As in the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah
And their neighbors," says the LORD,
"No one shall remain there,
Nor shall a son of man dwell in it.

19 "Behold,[e] he shall come up like a lion from [f]the [7]floodplain of the Jordan
Against the dwelling place of the strong;
But I will suddenly make him run away from her.
And who is a chosen man that I may appoint over her?
For [g]who is like Me?
Who will arraign Me?
And [h]who is that shepherd
Who will withstand Me?"

20 [i]Therefore hear the counsel of the LORD that He has taken against Edom,
And His purposes that He has proposed against the inhabitants of Teman:
Surely the least of the flock shall [8]draw them out;
Surely He shall make their dwelling places desolate with them.

49:7-22 Against Edom. Cf. Is. 21:11,12; Ezek. 25:12-14; Amos 1:11,12; Obad. 1. This prophecy is closely related to Obadiah. These people descended from Esau (cf. Gen. 36:1-19) and lived S of the Dead Sea. Perpetual desolation is ahead for Edom (v. 13). God will make it bare (vv. 10,18). The destroyer is probably Babylon in 588–586 B.C. or 582–581 B.C. as v. 19 has descriptions used of Babylon against Judah (lion, 4:7; flooding of the Jordan, 12:5). Also "fly like an eagle" (v. 22) is used of Babylon (Hab. 1:8). There is no prophecy of a future restoration.

49:8 Esau. He was cursed for his godlessness and his punishment was perpetuated in his descendants (cf. Heb. 12:11,17).

49:9 See notes on Obad. 5.

49:10 he is no more. Edom was politically extinct after the Roman conquest.

49:11 This was because no adult men will be left to care for them.

49:12 those...not to drink...have...drunk. This refers to the Jews who had a covenant relation to God. What will happen to a nation that has no such pledge?

49:16,17 Edom was situated in high and rugged mountains and thus convinced it was invincible. But the ruin will come and be irreversible.

49:19-21 These words are repeated in 50:44-46, where they refer to Babylon.

49:20 the least of the flock. The weakest of the Chaldeans shall drag them away captive.

21 [j]The earth shakes at the noise of their fall;
At the cry its noise is heard at the Red Sea.
22 Behold, [k]He shall come up and fly like the eagle,
And spread His wings over Bozrah;
The heart of the mighty men of Edom in that day shall be
Like the heart of a woman in birth pangs.

Judgment on Damascus

23 [l]Against Damascus.

[m]"Hamath and Arpad are shamed,
For they have heard bad news.
They are fainthearted;
[n]There is [9]trouble on the sea;
It cannot be quiet.
24 Damascus has grown feeble;
She turns to flee,
And fear has seized her.
[o]Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in [1]labor.
25 Why is [p]the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
26 [q]Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD of hosts.
27 "I[r] will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad."

Judgment on Kedar and Hazor

28 [s]Against Kedar and against the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon shall strike.
Thus says the LORD:

"Arise, go up to Kedar,
And devastate [t]the men of the East!
29 Their [u]tents and their flocks they shall take away.
They shall take for themselves their curtains,
All their vessels and their camels;
And they shall cry out to them,
[v]'Fear is on every side!'

30 "Flee, get far away! Dwell in the depths,
O inhabitants of Hazor!" says the LORD.
"For Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has taken counsel against you,
And has conceived a plan against you.

31 "Arise, go up to [w]the wealthy nation that dwells securely," says the LORD,
"Which has neither gates nor bars,
[x]Dwelling alone.
32 Their camels shall be for booty,
And the multitude of their cattle for plunder.
I will [y]scatter to all winds those [2]in the farthest corners,
And I will bring their calamity from all its sides," says the LORD.
33 "Hazor [z]shall be a dwelling for jackals, a desolation forever;
No one shall reside there,
Nor son of man dwell in it."

Judgment on Elam

34 The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet against [a]Elam, in the [b]beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, saying, 35 "Thus says the LORD of hosts:

21 [j] Jer. 50:46; Ezek. 26:15, 18
22 [k] Jer. 48:40, 41
23 [l] Is. 17:1-3; Amos 1:3, 5; Zech. 9:1, 2 [m] Jer. 39:5; Zech. 9:2 [n] [Is. 57:20] [9] anxiety

25 [p] Jer. 33:9
26 [q] Jer. 50:30; Amos 4:10
27 [r] Amos 1:4
28 [s] Gen. 25:13; Ps. 120:5; Is. 21:16, 17; Jer. 2:10; Ezek. 27:21 [t] Judg. 6:3; Job 1:3
29 [u] Ps. 120:5 [v] Jer. 46:5
31 [w] Ezek. 38:11 [x] Num. 23:9; Deut. 33:28; Mic. 7:16
32 [y] Ezek. 5:10 [2] Lit. cut off at the corner, Jer. 9:26; 25:23
33 [z] Jer. 9:11; 10:22; Zeph. 2:9, 12-15; Mal. 1:3
34 [a] Gen. 10:22; Jer. 25:25; Ezek. 32:24; Dan. 8:2 [b] 2 Kin. 24:17, 18; Jer. 28:1

49:23-27 Against Damascus. Cf. Is. 17:1-3; Amos 1:3-5. Hamath, a city on the Orontes River that marked the northern limit of Solomon's rule (2 Chr. 8:4), 110 mi. N of Damascus in southern Syria, and Arpad, 105 mi. SW of the modern Aleppo in Northern Syria, were to fall, as well as Damascus, Syria's capital. Nebuchadnezzar conquered them in 605 B.C.

49:25 city of praise...My joy. Could be translated, "the city of renown," famous due to its situation in a spacious oasis and its trade, as in Ezek. 27:18.

49:27 palaces of Ben-Hadad. Here was the place where so many cruel evils against Israel were devised, thus the reason for its overthrow. The name is common among Syrian kings, meaning Son of Hadad, an idol, so it does not refer to the Ben-Hadad of 2 Kin. 13:3 and Amos 1:4.

49:28-33 Against Kedar...Hazor. Cf. Is. 21:13-17. These areas in the Arabian desert E of Judah were to be laid waste (as a different Hazor was a few mi. NW of the Sea of Galilee). Kedar was an Ishmaelite tribe (cf. Gen. 25:13; Ezek. 27:21). The conqueror was Nebuchadnezzar in 599/98 B.C. as recounted in an ancient record, the Babylonian Chronicle. It was shortly after this that Babylon seized Jerusalem in 598/97 B.C.

49:31 neither gates nor bars. These nomads were out of the way of contending powers in Asia and Africa.

49:34-39 against Elam. As in 25:25, Elam (200 mi. E of Babylon and W of the Tigris River) was to be subjugated. Babylon fulfilled this in 596 B.C. Later, Cyrus of Persia conquered Elam and incorporated Elamites into the Persian forces that conquered Babylon in 539 B.C. Its capital, Susa, was the residence of Darius and became the center of the Persian Empire (Neh. 1:1; Dan. 8:2).

49:34 reign of Zedekiah. Jeremiah speaks of this judgment in 597 B.C.

'Behold, I will break [c] the [3] bow of Elam,
The foremost of their might.
36 Against Elam I will bring the four winds
From the four quarters of heaven,
And scatter them toward all those winds;
There shall be no nations where the outcasts of Elam will not go.
37 For I will cause Elam to be dismayed before their enemies
And before those who seek their life.
[d] I will bring disaster upon them,
My fierce anger,' says the LORD;
'And I will send the sword after them
Until I have consumed them.
38 I will [e] set My throne in Elam,
And will destroy from there the king and the princes,' says the LORD.

39 'But it shall come to pass [f] in the latter days:
I will bring back the captives of Elam,' says the LORD."

Judgment on Babylon and Babylonia

50 The word that the LORD spoke [a] against Babylon and against the land of the Chaldeans by Jeremiah the prophet.

2 "Declare among the nations,
Proclaim, and [1] set up a standard;
Proclaim—do not conceal it—
Say, 'Babylon is [b] taken, [c] Bel is shamed.
[2] Merodach is broken in pieces;
[d] Her idols are humiliated,
Her images are broken in pieces.'
3 [e] For out of the north [f] a nation comes up against her,
Which shall make her land desolate,
And no one shall dwell therein.
They shall [3] move, they shall depart,
Both man and beast.

4 "In those days and in that time," says the LORD,
"The children of Israel shall come,
[g] They and the children of Judah together;
[h] With continual weeping they shall come,
[i] And seek the LORD their God.
5 They shall ask the way to Zion,
With their faces toward it, saying,
'Come and let us join ourselves to the LORD
In [j] a perpetual covenant
That will not be forgotten.'

6 "My people have been [k] lost sheep.
Their shepherds have led them [l] astray;
They have turned them away on [m] the mountains.
They have gone from mountain to hill;
They have forgotten their resting place.
7 All who found them have [n] devoured them;
And [o] their adversaries said, [p] 'We have not offended,
Because they have sinned against the LORD, [q] the habitation of justice,
The LORD, [r] the hope of their fathers.'

8 "Move [s] from the midst of Babylon,
Go out of the land of the Chaldeans;
And be like the [4] rams before the flocks.
9 [t] For behold, I will raise and cause to come up against Babylon
An assembly of great nations from the north country,

[3] Or wander
4 [g] Ezra 2:1; Is. 11:12, 13; Jer. 3:18; 31:31; 33:7; Hos. 1:11 [h] Ezra 3:12, 13; [Ps. 126:5]; Jer. 31:9; [Zech. 12:10] [i] Hos. 3:5
5 [j] Jer. 31:31
6 [k] Is. 53:6; [Ezek. 34:15, 16]; Matt. 9:36; 10:6; 1 Pet. 2:25 [l] Jer. 23:1; Ezek. 34:2 [m] [Jer. 2:20; 3:6, 23]
7 [n] Ps. 79:7 [o] Jer. 40:2, 3; Zech. 11:5 [p] Jer. 2:3; Dan. 9:16 [q] [Ps. 90:1; 91:1] [r] Ps. 22:4; Jer. 14:8; 17:13
8 [s] Is. 48:20; Jer. 51:6, 45; Zech. 2:6, 7; [Rev. 18:4] [4] male goats
9 [t] Jer. 15:14; 51:27

49:35 break the bow. Elamites were famous archers (cf. Is. 22:6).

49:39 I will bring back. As with certain other peoples in this section of nations, God would allow Elamites to return to their homeland. In Acts 2:9, Elamites were among the group present at the Pentecost event. This has eschatological implications as well.

50:1 against Babylon. The subject of chaps. 50 and 51 (cf. Is. 13:1–14:23; Hab. 2:6-17). Judgment focuses on Media Persia's conquest of Babylon in 539 B.C. The prediction of elements of violent overthrow, which was not the case when Cyrus conquered since there was not even a battle, point to greater fulfillment near the coming of Messiah in glory when events more fully satisfy the description (cf. Rev. 17,18).

50:2 idols. First the idols of Babylon are discredited by Jeremiah's using an unusual word for idols, meaning in Hebrew "dung pellets."

50:3 no one shall dwell. The far view in the v. 1 note cites this as not yet fulfilled in a sudden way (cf. 51:8). Media Persia came down from the N in 539 B.C. and armies in the years that followed, but only gradually brought the past Babylon to complete desolation (cf. vv. 12,13).

50:4-10 children of Israel shall come. Jeremiah predicted a return for exiled Israel and Judah (vv. 17-20, as chaps. 30–33) as the scattered and penitent people were given opportunity to escape Babylon's doom and return to Jerusalem and to the Lord in an eternal covenant (v. 5).

50:5 In a perpetual covenant. This is the New Covenant summarized in 31:31.

And they shall array themselves against her;
From there she shall be captured.
Their arrows shall be like those of [5]an expert warrior;
[u]None shall return in vain.
10 And Chaldea shall become plunder;
[v]All who plunder her shall be satisfied," says the LORD.

11 "Because[w] you were glad, because you rejoiced,
You destroyers of My heritage,
Because you have grown fat [x]like a heifer threshing grain,
And you [6]bellow like bulls, 12 Your mother shall be deeply
ashamed;
She who bore you shall be ashamed.
Behold, the least of the nations shall be a [y]wilderness,
A dry land and a desert.
13 Because of the wrath of the LORD
She shall not be inhabited,
[z]But she shall be wholly desolate.
[a]Everyone who goes by Babylon shall be horrified
And hiss at all her plagues.

14 "Put[b] yourselves in array against Babylon all around,
All you who bend the bow;
Shoot at her, spare no arrows,
For she has sinned against the
LORD.
15 Shout against her all around;
She has [c]given her hand,
Her foundations have fallen,
[d]Her walls are thrown down;
For [e]it is the vengeance of the
LORD.
Take vengeance on her.
As she has done, so do to her.
16 Cut off the sower from Babylon,
And him who handles the sickle at harvest time.
For fear of the oppressing sword
[f]Everyone shall turn to his own
people,
And everyone shall flee to his own land.

17 "Israel is like [g]scattered sheep;
[h]The lions have driven him away.
First [i]the king of Assyria devoured
him;
Now at last this [j]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has broken his bones."

18 Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts,
the God of Israel:

"Behold, I will punish the king of Babylon and his land,
As I have punished the king of [k]Assyria.
19 [l]But I will bring back Israel to his home,
And he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan;
His soul shall be satisfied on Mount Ephraim and Gilead.
20 In those days and in that time,"
says the LORD,
[m]"The iniquity of Israel shall be sought, but there shall be none;
And the sins of Judah, but they shall not be found;
For I will pardon those [n]whom I preserve.

21 "Go up against the land of Merathaim, against it,
And against the inhabitants of [o]Pekod.
[7]Waste and utterly destroy them,"
says the LORD,
"And do [p]according to all that I have commanded you.
22 [q]A sound of battle is in the land,
And of great destruction.
23 How [r]the hammer of the whole earth has been cut apart and broken!
How Babylon has become a desolation among the nations!
I have laid a snare for you;
24 You have indeed been [s]trapped,
O Babylon,
And you were not aware;
You have been found and also caught,
Because you have [t]contended against the LORD.

50:11-16 Judgment on Babylon is the vengeance of God (v. 15) for her treatment of his people.

50:17-20 This section summarized the divine interpretation of Israel's history: 1) suffering and judgment on her (v. 17); 2) judgment on those who afflicted Israel (v. 18); 3) her return in peace and plenty (v. 19); and 4) the pardon of her iniquity (v. 20) under Messiah.

50:21 Merathaim...Pekod. This was a dramatic play on words emphasizing cause and effect. The first means "double rebellion" and named a region in southern Babylon near the Persian Gulf; the latter, meaning "punishment," was also in southern Babylon on the E bank of the Tigris River.

50:23 hammer of the whole earth. The description was of Babylon's former conquering force, and God's breaking the "hammer" He had once used. The fact that God used Babylon as His executioner was no commendation of that nation (cf. Hab. 1:6,7).

25 The LORD has opened His armory,
And has brought out [u]the weapons of His indignation;
For this is the work of the Lord GOD of hosts
In the land of the Chaldeans.
26 Come against her from the farthest border;
Open her storehouses;
Cast her up as heaps of ruins,
And destroy her utterly;
Let nothing of her be left.
27 Slay all her [v]bulls,
Let them go down to the slaughter.
Woe to them!
For their day has come, the time of [w]their punishment.
28 The voice of those who flee and escape from the land of Babylon
[x]Declares in Zion the vengeance of the LORD our God,
The vengeance of His temple.

29 "Call together the archers against Babylon.
All you who bend the bow, encamp against it all around;
Let none of them [8]escape.
[y]Repay her according to her work;
According to all she has done, do to her;
[z]For she has been proud against the LORD,
Against the Holy One of Israel.
30 [a]Therefore her young men shall fall in the streets,
And all her men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD.
31 "Behold, I am against you,
O most haughty one!" says the Lord GOD of hosts;
"For your day has come,
[9]The time that I will punish you.
32 The most [b]proud shall stumble and fall,
And no one will raise him up;
[c]I will kindle a fire in his cities,
And it will devour all around him."

33 Thus says the LORD of hosts:
"The children of Israel were oppressed,
Along with the children of Judah;
All who took them captive have held them fast;
They have refused to let them go.
34 [d]Their Redeemer is strong;
[e]The LORD of hosts is His name.
He will thoroughly plead their [f]case,
That He may give rest to the land,
And disquiet the inhabitants of Babylon.

35 "A sword is against the Chaldeans," says the LORD,
"Against the inhabitants of Babylon,
And [g]against her princes and [h]her wise men.
36 A sword is [i]against the soothsayers, and they will be fools.
A sword is against her mighty men, and they will be dismayed.
37 A sword is against their horses,
Against their chariots,
And against all [j]the mixed peoples who are in her midst;
And [k]they will become like women.
A sword is against her treasures, and they will be robbed.
38 [l]A [1]drought is against her waters, and they will be dried up.
For it is the land of carved images,
And they are insane with their idols.

39 "Therefore [m]the wild desert beasts shall dwell there with the jackals,
And the ostriches shall dwell in it.
[n]It shall be inhabited no more forever,
Nor shall it be dwelt in from generation to generation.
40 [o]As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah
And their neighbors," says the LORD,
"So no one shall reside there,
Nor son of man [p]dwell in it.

50:28 vengeance of His temple. This refers to their burning the temple in the destruction of Jerusalem (cf. 51:11).

50:29 Repay her. God aimed to bless Israel and curse all who curse her (cf. Gen. 12:1-3, Abrahamic Covenant). The judgment on Babylon, as in Hab. 2, was a repayment in view of Babylon's wrongs as God defends Israel's case (v. 34; 51:36,56), particularly God's vengeance on her arrogance ("proud against the LORD" cf. vv. 31,32).

50:34 Redeemer. The OT concept of kinsmen-redeemer included the protection of a relative's person and property, the avenging of a relative's murder, the purchase of alienated property, and even the marriage of his widow (cf. Lev. 25:25; Num. 35:21; Ruth 4:4).

50:35-38 The "sword" is mentioned 5 times (cf. Ezek. 21).

50:40 As God overthrew Sodom. Cf. 50:1. What befell Sodom (cf. Gen. 19) was sudden and total destruction, not like the Media Persia takeover, but like an example for the future devastation that will overtake the final Babylon (cf. Rev. 17,18).

41 "Behold,[q] a people shall come from the north,
And a great nation and many kings
Shall be raised up from the ends of the earth.
42 [r]They shall hold the bow and the lance;
[s]They are cruel and shall not show mercy.
[t]Their voice shall roar like the sea;
They shall ride on horses,
Set in array, like a man for the battle,
Against you, O daughter of Babylon.

43 "The king of Babylon has [u]heard the report about them,
And his hands grow feeble;
Anguish has taken hold of him,
Pangs as of a woman in [v]childbirth.

44 "Behold,[w] he shall come up like a lion from the [2]floodplain of the Jordan
Against the dwelling place of the strong;
But I will make them suddenly run away from her.
And who is a chosen man that I may appoint over her?
For who is like Me?
Who will arraign Me?
And [x]who is that shepherd
Who will withstand Me?"

45 Therefore hear [y]the counsel of the LORD that He has taken against Babylon,
And His [z]purposes that He has proposed against the land of the Chaldeans:
[a]Surely the least of the flock shall draw them out;
Surely He will make their dwelling place desolate with them.
46 [b]At the noise of the taking of Babylon
The earth trembles,
And the cry is heard among the nations.

The Utter Destruction of Babylon

51 Thus says the LORD:
"Behold, I will raise up against [a]Babylon,
Against those who dwell in [1]Leb Kamai,
[b]A destroying wind.
2 And I will send [c]winnowers to Babylon,
Who shall winnow her and empty her land.
[d]For in the day of doom
They shall be against her all around.
3 Against her [e]let the archer bend his bow,
And lift himself up against her in his armor.
Do not spare her young men;
[f]Utterly destroy all her army.
4 Thus the slain shall fall in the land of the Chaldeans,
[g]And those thrust through in her streets.
5 For Israel is [h]not forsaken, nor Judah,
By his God, the LORD of hosts,
Though their land was filled with sin against the Holy One of Israel."

6 [i]Flee from the midst of Babylon,
And every one save his life!
Do not be cut off in her iniquity,
For [j]this is the time of the LORD's vengeance;
[k]He shall recompense her.
7 [l]Babylon was a golden cup in the LORD's hand,
That made all the earth drunk.
[m]The nations drank her wine;
Therefore the nations [n]are deranged.
8 Babylon has suddenly [o]fallen and been destroyed.
[p]Wail for her!
[q]Take balm for her pain;
Perhaps she may be healed.

9 We would have healed Babylon,
But she is not healed.
Forsake her, and [r]let us go everyone to his own country;
[s]For her judgment reaches to heaven and is lifted up to the skies.
10 The LORD has [t]revealed our righteousness.
Come and let us [u]declare in Zion the work of the LORD our God.

11 [v]Make[z] the arrows bright!
Gather the shields!
[w]The LORD has raised up the spirit of the kings of the Medes.
[x]For His plan is against Babylon to destroy it,
Because it is [y]the vengeance of the
LORD,
The vengeance for His temple.
12 [z]Set up the standard on the walls of Babylon;
Make the guard strong,
Set up the watchmen,
Prepare the ambushes.
For the LORD has both devised and done
What He spoke against the inhabitants of Babylon.
13 [a]O you who dwell by many waters,
Abundant in treasures,
Your end has come,
The measure of your covetousness.
14 [b]The LORD of hosts has sworn by Himself:
"Surely I will fill you with men, [c]as
with locusts,
And they shall lift [d]up a shout
against you."

15 [e]He has made the earth by His power;
He has established the world by
His wisdom,
And [f]stretched out the heaven by
His understanding.
16 When He utters His voice—
There is a multitude of waters in the heavens:
[g]"He causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth;
He makes lightnings for the rain;
He brings the wind out of His treasuries."

17 [h]Everyone is dull-hearted, without knowledge;
Every metalsmith is put to shame
by the carved image;
[i]For his molded image is falsehood,
And there is no breath in them.
18 They are futile, a work of errors;
In the time of their punishment they shall perish.

of war:
For with you I will break the nation in pieces;
With you I will destroy kingdoms;
21 With you I will break in pieces the horse and its rider;
With you I will break in pieces the

22 With you also I will break in pieces

With you I will break in pieces [k]old

With you I will break in pieces the

governors and rulers.

24 "And[l] I will repay Babylon
And all the inhabitants of Chaldea
For all the evil they have done
In Zion in your sight," says the
LORD.

25 "Behold, I am against you,
[m]O destroying mountain,
Who destroys all the earth," says
the LORD.
"And I will stretch out My hand
against you,
Roll you down from the rocks,
[n]And make you a burnt mountain.
26 They shall not take from you a stone for a corner
Nor a stone for a foundation,
[o]But you shall be desolate forever,"
says the LORD.

51:15-19 He has made the earth. God's almighty power and wisdom in creation are evidences of His superiority to all idols (vv. 17,18), who along with their worshipers will all be destroyed by His mighty power (vv. 15,16,19), as in Babylon's case.

51:20-23 You are My battle-ax. Cyrus of Persia was God's war club. Ten times the phrase "with you" hits with the force of a hammer.

51:25 destroying mountain. Though Babylon existed on a plain, this phrase was meant as a portrayal of Babylon's looming greatness and power in devastating nations (cf. also 50:23, and see note there). a burnt mountain. Babylon will be like a volcano that is extinct, never to be rebuilt (v. 26).

51:27 Here are listed the people N of Babylon who were conquered by the Medes early in the sixth century B.C. They assisted the Medes against Babylon.

Call [r]the kingdoms together
against her:
Ararat, Minni, and Ashkenaz.
Appoint a general against her;
Cause the horses to come up like the bristling locusts.
28 Prepare against her the nations,
With the kings of the Medes,
Its governors and all its rulers,
All the land of his dominion.
29 And the land will tremble and
sorrow;
For every [s]purpose of the LORD shall be performed against Babylon,
[t]To make the land of Babylon a desolation without inhabitant.
30 The mighty men of Babylon have ceased fighting,
They have remained in their strongholds;
Their might has failed,
[u]They became like women;
They have burned her dwelling places,
[v]The bars of her gate are broken.
31 [w]One runner will run to meet
another,
And one messenger to meet
another,
To show the king of Babylon that his city is taken on all sides;
32 [x]The passages are blocked,
The reeds they have burned with fire,
And the men of war are terrified.

33 For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:

"The daughter of Babylon is [y]like a threshing floor
When [z]it is time to thresh her;
Yet a little while
[a]And the time of her harvest will come."

34 "Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon
Has [b]devoured me, he has crushed
me;
He has made me an [c]empty vessel,
He has swallowed me up like a monster;
He has filled his stomach with my delicacies,
He has spit me out.
35 Let the violence done to me and my flesh be upon Babylon,"
The inhabitant of Zion will say;
"And my blood be upon the inhabitants of Chaldea!"
Jerusalem will say.

36 Therefore thus says the LORD:

"Behold, [d]I will plead your case and take vengeance for you.
[e]I will dry up her sea and make her springs dry.
37 [f]Babylon shall become a heap,
A dwelling place for jackals,
[g]An astonishment and a hissing,
Without an inhabitant.
38 They shall roar together like lions,
They shall growl like lions' whelps.
39 In their excitement I will prepare their feasts;
[h]I will make them drunk,
That they may rejoice,
And sleep a perpetual sleep
And not awake," says the LORD.
40 "I will bring them down
Like lambs to the slaughter,
Like rams with male goats.

41 "Oh, how [i]Sheshach[3] is taken!
Oh, how [j]the praise of the whole earth is seized!
How Babylon has become desolate
among the nations!
42 [k]The sea has come up over Babylon;
She is covered with the multitude of its waves.
43 [l]Her cities are a desolation,
A dry land and a wilderness,
A land where [m]no one dwells,
Through which no son of man passes.
44 I will punish [n]Bel[4] in Babylon,
And I will bring out of his mouth
what he has swallowed;
And the nations shall not stream to him anymore.
Yes, [o]the wall of Babylon shall fall.

51:31 To show the king of Babylon. Couriers brought the report of the city's fall. Since Belshazzar was slain in the city on the night of the fall (Dan. 5:30), reference may be to runners speeding the news to his co-ruler Nabonidus, who was away from Babylon or possibly to Daniel, the third ruler in the kingdom (Dan. 5:29).

51:32 The method of capturing the city was to block off the Euphrates River and dry up the river bed under the city wall, then march in. The "fire" was set to frighten and it did.

51:39 drunk. The allusion is possibly to Belshazzar's drunken feast, recorded in Dan. 5:1-4 (cf. v. 57).

51:41 Sheshach is taken! This is another name for Babylon (cf. 25:26).

45 "My[p] people, go out of the midst of her!
And let everyone deliver [5]himself from the fierce anger of the LORD.
46 And lest your heart faint,
And you fear [q]for the rumor that will be heard in the land
(A rumor will come one year,
And after that, in another year
A rumor will come,
And violence in the land,
Ruler against ruler),
47 Therefore behold, the days are coming
That I will bring judgment on the carved images of Babylon;
Her whole land shall be ashamed,
And all her slain shall fall in her midst.
48 Then [r]the heavens and the earth and all that is in them
Shall sing joyously over Babylon;
[s]For the plunderers shall come to her from the north," says the LORD.

49 As Babylon has caused the slain of Israel to fall,
So at Babylon the slain of all the earth shall fall.
50 [t]You who have escaped the sword,
Get away! Do not stand still!
[u]Remember the LORD afar off,
And let Jerusalem come to your mind.

51 [v]We are ashamed because we have heard reproach.
Shame has covered our faces,
For strangers [w]have come into the [6]sanctuaries of the LORD's house.

52 "Therefore behold, the days are coming," says the LORD,
"That I will bring judgment on her carved images,
And throughout all her land the wounded shall groan.
53 [x]Though Babylon were to [7]mount up to heaven,
And though she were to fortify the height of her strength,
Yet from Me plunderers would come to her," says the LORD.

54 [y]The sound of a cry comes from Babylon,
And great destruction from the land of the Chaldeans,
55 Because the LORD is plundering Babylon
And silencing her loud voice,
Though her waves roar like great waters,
And the noise of their voice is uttered,

Jeremiah's Command to Seraiah

59 The word which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah the son of [e]Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Judah to Babylon in the fourth year of his reign. And Seraiah was the quartermaster. 60 So Jeremiah [f]wrote in a book all the evil that would come upon Babylon, all these words that are written against Babylon. 61 And Jeremiah said to Seraiah, "When you arrive in Babylon and see it, and read all these words, 62 then you shall say, 'O LORD, You have spoken against this place to cut it off, so that [g]none shall remain in it, neither man nor beast, but it shall be desolate forever.' 63 Now it shall be, when you have 51:45-50 Again the Lord's people were warned to flee.

51:58 labor in vain. People from many nations enslaved in Babylon had built the wall for nothing.

51:59 Seraiah...the quartermaster. This man looked after the comfort of the king. He may have been the brother of Baruch, Jeremiah's secretary (cf. 32:12).

finished reading this book, [h]that you shall tie a stone to it and throw it out into the Euphrates. 64 Then you shall say, 'Thus Babylon shall sink and not rise from the catastrophe that I will bring upon her. And they shall be weary.' "

Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.

The Fall of Jerusalem Reviewed

52 Zedekiah was [a]twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of [b]Libnah. 2 He also did evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that Jehoiakim had done. 3 For because of the anger of the LORD this happened in Jerusalem and Judah, till He finally cast them out from His presence. Then Zedekiah [c]rebelled against the king of Babylon.

4 Now it came to pass in the [d]ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army came against Jerusalem and encamped against it; and they built a siege wall against it all around. 5 So the city was besieged until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. 6 By the fourth month, on the ninth day of the month, the famine had become so severe in the city that there was no food for the people of the land. 7 Then the city wall was broken through, and all the men of war fled and went out of the city at night by way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the king's garden, even though the Chaldeans were near the city all around. And they went by way of the [1]plain.

8 But the army of the Chaldeans pursued the king, and they overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho. All his army was scattered from him. 9 [e]So they took the king and brought him up to the king of Babylon at Riblah in the land of Hamath, and he pronounced judgment on him. 10 [f]Then the king of Babylon killed the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes. And he killed all the princes of Judah in Riblah. 11 He also [g]put out the eyes of Zedekiah; and the king of Babylon bound him in [2]bronze fetters, took him to Babylon, and put him in prison till the day of his death.

The Temple and City Plundered and Burned

12 [h]Now in the fifth month, on the tenth day of the month ([i]which was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon), [j]Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, who served the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. 13 He burned the house of the LORD and the king's house; all the houses of Jerusalem, that is, all the houses of the great, he burned with fire. 14 And all the army of the Chaldeans who were with the captain of the guard broke down all the walls of Jerusalem all around. 15 [k]Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive some of the poor people, the rest of the people who remained in the city, the defectors who had deserted to the king of Babylon, and the rest of the craftsmen. 16 But Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard left some of the poor of the land as vinedressers and farmers.

17 [l]The [m]bronze pillars that were in the house of the LORD, and the carts and the bronze Sea that were in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke in pieces, and carried all their bronze to Babylon. 18 They also took away [n]the pots, the shovels, the trimmers, the [3]bowls, the spoons, and all the bronze utensils with which the priests ministered. 19 The basins, the firepans, the bowls, the pots, the lampstands, the spoons, and the cups, whatever was solid gold and whatever was solid silver, the captain of the guard took away. 20 The two pillars, one Sea, the twelve bronze bulls which were under it, and the carts, which King Solomon had made for the house of the LORD—[o]the bronze of all these articles was beyond measure. 21 Now concerning the [p]pillars: the height of one pillar was eighteen [4]cubits, a measuring line of twelve cubits could measure its circumference, and its thickness was [5]four fingers; it was hollow. 22 A capital of bronze was on it; and the 52:1-34 This chapter is almost identical to 2 Kin. 24:18–25:30, and it is a historical supplement detailing Jerusalem's fall (as chap. 39). It fittingly opens with her last king and his sin (597–586 B.C.). The purpose of this chapter is to show how accurate Jeremiah's prophecies were concerning Jerusalem and Judah.

52:1 Jeremiah. A different man from the author (cf. 1:1).

52:4-11 See note on 34:1. This narrative rehearses the account of the fall of Jerusalem. So crucial was this event that the OT records it 4 times (see also 39:1-14; 2 Kin. 25; 2 Chr. 36:11-21).

52:12 tenth day. The parallel phrase in 2 Kin. 25:8 reads "seventh day." Nebuzaradan (v. 12), "captain of the guard," started from Riblah on the seventh day and arrived in Jerusalem on the tenth day. nineteenth year. 586 B.C.

52:18,19 They also took. The conquerors plundered the magnificent Solomonic temple and took the articles to Babylon. First Kings 6–8 describes these articles. Later, Belshazzar would use some of

The People Taken Captive to Babylonia

24 [r]The captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief priest, [s]Zephaniah the second priest, and the three doorkeepers. 25 He also took out of the city an [6]officer who had charge of the men of war, seven men of the king's close associates who were found in the city, the principal scribe of the army who mustered the people of the land, and sixty men of the people of the land who were found in the midst of the city. 26 And Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard took these and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. 27 Then the king of Babylon struck them and put them to death at Riblah in the land of Hamath. Thus Judah was carried away captive from its own land.

28 [t]These are the people whom Nebuchadnezzar carried away captive: [u]in the seventh year, [v]three thousand and twenty-three Jews; 29 [w]in the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar he carried away captive from Jerusalem eight hundred and thirty-two persons; 30 in the twenty-third year of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive of the Jews seven hundred and forty-five persons. All the persons were four thousand six hundred.

Jehoiachin Released from Prison

31 [x]Now it came to pass in the thirty-seventh year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-fifth day of the month, that [7]Evil-Merodach king of Babylon, in the first year of his reign, [y]lifted[8] up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah and brought him out of prison. 32 And he spoke kindly to him and gave him a more prominent seat than those of the kings who were with him in Babylon. 33 So [9]Jehoiachin changed from his prison garments, [z]and he ate bread regularly before the king all the days of his life. 34 And as for his provisions, there was a regular ration given him by the king of Babylon, a portion for each day until the day of his death, all the days of his life.

52:24-27 Babylon executed some Judean leaders as an act of power, of resentment over the 18 month resistance (cf. 52:4-6), and of intimidation to prevent future plots.

52:25 seven. Second Kings 25:19 reads "five." See note on 52:12.

52:28-30 carried away. The stages of deportation to Babylon are: 1) in 605 B.C. under Jehoiakim which marked the beginning of the 70 years of exile, 2) in 597 B.C. under Jehoiachin, 3) in 586 B.C. under Zedekiah, and 4) a mopping up campaign in 582–81 B.C. The number may include only males.

52:31-34 captivity of Jehoiachin. A captive since 597 B.C., he appears here in 561 B.C., after Nebuchadnezzar's death when Evil-Merodach ruled Babylon. Though detained, the former king was kindly freed to enjoy previously denied privileges. The Lord did not forget the Davidic line even in exile.

52:31 twenty-fifth. Second Kings 25:27 reads "twenty-seventh." Probably the decree was on the 25th day and carried out on the 27th.

The Book of LAMENTATIONS

Title

"Lamentations" was derived from a translation of the title as found in the Latin Vulgate (Vg.) translation of the Greek OT, the Septuagint (LXX), and conveys the idea of "loud cries." The Hebrew exclamation 'ekah ("How,"which expresses "dismay"), used in 1:1; 2:1, and 4:1, gives the book its Hebrew title. However, the rabbis began early to call the book "loud cries" or "lamentations" (cf. Jer. 7:29). No other entire OT book contains only laments, as does this distressful dirge, marking the funeral of the once beautiful city of Jerusalem (cf. 2:15). This book keeps alive the memory of that fall and teaches all believers how to deal with suffering.

Author and Date

The author of Lamentations is not named within the book, but there are internal and historical indications that it was Jeremiah. The LXX introduces Lam. 1:1, "And it came to pass, after Israel had been carried away captive...Jeremiah sat weeping [cf. 3:48,49, etc.]...lamented...and said...." God had told Jeremiah to have Judah lament (Jer. 7:29), and Jeremiah also wrote laments for Josiah (2 Chr. 35:25).

Jeremiah wrote Lamentations as an eyewitness (cf. 1:13-15; 2:6,9; 4:1-12), possibly with Baruch's secretarial help (cf. Jer. 36:4; 45:1), during or soon after Jerusalem's fall in 586 B.C. It was mid-July when the city fell and mid-August when the temple was burned. Likely, Jeremiah saw the destruction of walls, towers, homes, palace, and temple; he wrote while the event remained painfully fresh in his memory, but before his forced departure to Egypt ca. 583 B.C. (cf. Jer. 43:1-7). The language used in Lamentations closely parallels that used by Jeremiah in his much larger prophetic book (cf. 1:2 with Jer. 30:14; 1:15 with Jer. 8:21; 1:6 and 2:11 with Jer. 9:1,18; 2:22 with Jer. 6:25; 4:21 with Jer. 49:12).

Background and Setting

The prophetic seeds of Jerusalem's destruction were sown through Joshua 800 years in advance (Josh. 23:15,16). Now, for over 40 years, Jeremiah had prophesied of coming judgment and been scorned by the people for preaching doom (ca. 645–605 B.C.). When that judgment came on the disbelieving people from Nebuchadnezzar and the Babylonian army, Jeremiah still responded with great sorrow and compassion toward his suffering and obstinate people. Lamentations relates closely to the book of Jeremiah, describing the anguish over Jerusalem's receiving God's judgment for unrepentant sins. In the book that bears his name, Jeremiah had predicted the calamity in chaps. 1–29. In Lamentations, he concentrates in more detail on the bitter suffering and heartbreak that was felt over Jerusalem's devastation (cf. Ps. 46:4,5). So critical was Jerusalem's destruction, that the facts are recorded in 4 separate OT chapters: 2 Kin. 25; Jer. 39:1-11; 52; and 2 Chr. 36:11-21.

All 154 verses have been recognized by the Jews as a part of their sacred canon. Along with Ruth,

Esther, Song of Solomon, and Ecclesiastes, Lamentations is included among the OT books of the Megilloth, or "five scrolls," which were read in the synagogue on special occasions. Lamentations is read on the 9th of Ab (July/Aug.) to remember the date of Jerusalem's destruction by Nebuchadnezzar. Interestingly, this same date later marked the destruction of Herod's temple by the Romans in A.D. 70.

Historical and Theological Themes

The chief focus of Lamentations is on God's judgment in response to Judah's sin. This theme can be traced throughout the book (1:5,8,18,20; 3:42; 4:6,13,22; 5:16). A second theme which surfaces is the hope found in God's compassion (as in 3:22-24,31-33; cf. Ps. 30:3-5). Though the book deals with disgrace, it turns to God's great faithfulness (3:22-25) and closes with grace as Jeremiah moves from lamentation to consolation (5:19-22).

God's sovereign judgment represents a third current in the book. His holiness was so offended by Judah's sin that He ultimately brought the destructive calamity. Babylon was chosen to be His human instrument of wrath (1:5,12,15; 2:1,17; 3:37,38; cf. Jer. 50:23). Jeremiah mentions Babylon more than 150 times from Jer. 20:4 to 52:34, but in Lamentations he never once explicitly names Babylon or its king, Nebuchadnezzar. Only the Lord is identified as the One who dealt with Judah's sin.

Fourth, because the sweeping judgment seemed to be the end of every hope of Israel's salvation and the fulfillment of God's promises (cf. 3:18), much of the book appears in the mode of prayer: 1) 1:11, which represents a wailing confession of sin (cf. v. 18); 2) 3:8, with its anguish when God "shuts out my prayer" (cf. Jer. 7:16; Lam. 3:43-54); 3) 3:55-59, where Jeremiah cries to God for relief, or 3:60-66, where he seeks for recompense to the enemies (which Jer. 50,51 guarantees); and 4) 5:1-22, with its appeal to heaven for restored mercy (which Jer. 30–33 assures), based on the confidence that God is faithful (3:23).

A fifth feature relates to Christ. Jeremiah's tears (3:48,49) compare with Jesus' weeping over the same city of Jerusalem (Matt. 23:37-39; Luke 19:41-44). Though God was the judge and executioner, it was a grief to Him to bring this destruction. The statement "In all their affliction, He [God] was afflicted" (Is. 63:9) was true in principle. God will one day wipe away all tears (Is. 25:8; Rev. 7:17; 21:4) when sin shall be no more.

A sixth theme is an implied warning to all who read this book. If God did not hesitate to judge His beloved people (Deut. 32:10), what will He do to the nations of the world who reject His Word?

Interpretive Challenges

Certain details pose initial difficulties. Among them are: 1) imprecatory prayers for judgment on other sinners (1:21-22; 3:64-66); 2) the reason for God shutting out prayer (3:8); and 3) the necessity of judgment that is so severe (cf. 1:1,14; 3:8).

Outline

In the first 4 chapters, each verse begins in an acrostic pattern, i.e., using the 22 letters of the Hebrew alphabet in sequence. Chapters 1, 2, and 4 have 22 verses corresponding to 22 letters, while chap. 3 employs each letter for 3 consecutive verses until there are 22 trios, or 66 verses. Chapter 5 is not written alphabetically, although it simulates the pattern in that it has 22 verses. An acrostic order, such as in Ps. 119 (where all 22 Hebrew letters are used in series of 8 verses each), was used to aid memorization. The structure of the book ascends and descends from the great confession in 3:22-24, "Great is His faithfulness," which is the literal center of the book.

Jerusalem in Affliction

CHAPTER 1

1 How lonely sits the city
That was full of people!
[a]How like a widow is she,
Who was great among the nations!
The [b]princess among the provinces
Has become a [1]slave!

2 She [c]weeps bitterly in the [d]night,
Her tears are on her cheeks;
Among all her lovers
She has none to comfort her.
All her friends have dealt treacherously with her;
They have become her enemies.

3 [e]Judah has gone into captivity,
Under affliction and hard servitude;
[f]She dwells among the [2]nations,
She finds no [g]rest;
All her persecutors overtake her in dire straits.

4 The roads to Zion mourn
Because no one comes to the [3]set feasts.
All her gates are [h]desolate;
Her priests sigh,
Her virgins are afflicted,
And she is in bitterness.

5 Her adversaries [i]have become [4]the master,
Her enemies prosper;
For the LORD has afflicted her [j]Because of the multitude of her transgressions.
Her [k]children have gone into captivity before the enemy.

6 And from the daughter of Zion
All her splendor has departed.
Her princes have become like deer
That find no pasture,
That [5]flee without strength
Before the pursuer.

7 In the days of her affliction and roaming,
Jerusalem [l]remembers all her pleasant things
That she had in the days of old.
When her people fell into the hand of the enemy,
With no one to help her,
The adversaries saw her
And mocked at her [6]downfall.

8 [m]Jerusalem has sinned gravely,
Therefore she has become [7]vile.
All who honored her despise her Because [n]they have seen her
nakedness;
Yes, she sighs and turns away.

9 Her uncleanness is in her skirts;
She [o]did not consider her destiny;
Therefore her collapse was awesome;
She had no comforter.
"O LORD, behold my affliction,
For the enemy is exalted!"

10 The adversary has spread his hand
Over all her [8]pleasant things;
For she has seen [p]the nations enter her [9]sanctuary,
Those whom You commanded
[q]Not to enter Your assembly.

11 All her people sigh,
[r]They [1]seek bread;

1:1-22 How lonely sits the city. Jerusalem was lonely, its people mourning (v. 2), forsaken by formerly friendly nations (v. 2), in captivity (v. 3), uprooted from their land (v. 3), their temple violated (v. 10). The multitude of sins (vv. 5,8) had brought this judgment from the righteous God (v. 18).

1:1 How like a widow. Verses 1-11 vividly portray the city like a bereft and desolate woman, as often in other Scriptures (cf. Ezek. 16,23; Mic. 4:10,13). a slave. Judah was taken captive to serve as slaves in Babylon.

1:2 She has none to comfort her. This ominous theme is mentioned 4 other times (vv. 9,16,17,21). lovers...friends...have become her enemies. This refers to the heathen nations allied to Judah, and their idols whom Judah "loved" (Jer. 2:20-25). Some later joined as enemies against her (2 Kin. 24:2,7; Ps. 137:7).

1:3 captivity. Ca. 586 B.C. as in Jer. 39,40,52. There had been two deportations earlier, in 605 B.C. and 597 B.C. (cf. Introduction: Author and Date).

1:4 Zion. This represents the place where Jehovah dwells, the mount on which the temple was built. set feasts. Passover, Pentecost (Feast of Weeks) and Tabernacles (cf. Ex. 23; Lev. 23). priests sigh. These were among those left in Judah before fleeing to Egypt (Jer. 43), or possibly exiles in Babylon who mourned from afar (cf. v. 3).

1:5 the multitude of her transgressions. This was the cause of the judgment (cf. Jer. 40:3; Dan. 9:7,16).

1:8 become vile. This could refer to either the vile, wretched estate of continued sin and its ruinous consequences through judgment, or to being "moved, removed," as the LXX and Vg. translate it. Probably the former is correct, as befits the third and fourth lines, i.e., a despised, shameful, naked condition in contrast to her former splendor (cf. v. 6b).

1:9 Her uncleanness is in her skirts. A graphic description of the flow of spiritual uncleanness reaching the bottom of her dress (cf. Lev. 15:19-33).

1:10 enter her sanctuary. This was true of the Ammonites and Moabites (Deut. 23:3; Neh. 13:1,2). If the heathen were not allowed to enter for worship, much less were they tolerated to loot and destroy. On a future day, the nations will come to worship (Zech. 14:16).

They have given their [2]valuables

Which has been brought on me,
Which the LORD has inflicted
In the day of His fierce anger.

13 "From above He has sent fire into my bones,
And it overpowered them;
He has [t]spread a net for my feet
And turned me back;
He has made me desolate
And faint all the day.

14 "The[u] yoke of my transgressions was [4]bound;
They were woven together by His hands,
And thrust upon my neck.
He made my strength fail;
The Lord delivered me into the hands of those whom I am not able to withstand.

15 "The Lord has trampled underfoot all my mighty men in my midst;
He has called an assembly against me
To crush my young men;
[v]The Lord trampled as in a winepress
The virgin daughter of Judah.

16 "For these things I weep;
My eye, [w]my eye overflows with

Because the comforter, who should

Is far from me.
My children are desolate
Because the enemy prevailed."

But no one comforts her;

concerning Jacob
That those [y]around him become his

Jerusalem has become an unclean

18 "The LORD is [z]righteous,
For I [a]rebelled against His Hear now, all peoples,

And behold my sorrow;
My virgins and my young men
Have gone into captivity.

19 "I called for my lovers,
But they deceived me;
My priests and my elders
Breathed their last in the city,
While they sought food
To restore their life.

20 "See, O LORD, that I am in distress;
My [b]soul[7] is troubled;
My heart is overturned within me,
For I have been very rebellious.
[c]Outside the sword bereaves,
At home it is like death.

21 "They have heard that I sigh,
But no one comforts me.
All my enemies have heard of my

They are [d]glad that You have done
it.

That they may become like me.

22 "Let[f] all their wickedness come

1:11 See, O LORD. The description of the devastated widow ends with a plea for God's mercy.

1:12 all you who pass by. Here was the pathetic appeal of Jerusalem for some compassion even from strangers!

1:13 fire into my bones. This emphasizes the penetrating depth of the judgment. turned me back. God's purpose was to bring repentance.

1:14 yoke of my transgressions...by His hands. Once the farmer had put the yoke on the animal's neck, he would control it with the reins in his hands. So God, who has brought Jerusalem under yoke-bondage to Babylon, still controlled His people.

1:15 an assembly against me. Not the usual assembly for a solemn feast; rather the army of Babylon for destruction. in a winepress. Speaks of forcing blood to burst forth like juice from crushed grapes. Comparable language is used in Rev. 14:20 and 19:15 in regard to God's final wrath.

1:17 unclean. This refers to a menstruous woman, shamed, separated from her husband and the temple (cf. vv. 8,9 and Lev. 15:19ff.).

1:18 The LORD is righteous...I rebelled. The true sign of repentance was to justify God and condemn oneself.

1:21,22 Bring on the day. A prayer that God will likewise bring other ungodly people into judgment, especially Babylon (cf. 2:20-22; 3:64-66; 4:21,22). Such prayers are acceptable against the enemies of God (cf. Ps. 109:14,15).

1:22 come before You. Cf. Rev. 16:19.

God's Anger with Jerusalem

CHAPTER 2

2 How the Lord has covered the daughter of Zion
With a [a]cloud in His anger!
[b]He cast down from heaven to the earth
[c]The beauty of Israel,
And did not remember [d]His footstool
In the day of His anger.

2 The Lord has swallowed up and has [e]not pitied
All the dwelling places of Jacob.
He has thrown down in His wrath
The strongholds of the daughter of Judah;
He has brought them down to the ground;
[f]He has profaned the kingdom and its princes.

3 He has cut off in fierce anger
Every [1]horn of Israel;
[g]He has drawn back His right hand
From before the enemy.
[h]He has blazed against Jacob like a flaming fire
Devouring all around.

4 [i]Standing like an enemy, He has bent His bow;
With His right hand, like an adversary,
He has slain [j]all who were pleasing to His eye;
On the tent of the daughter of Zion,
He has poured out His fury like fire.

5 [k]The Lord was like an enemy.
He has swallowed up Israel,
He has swallowed up all her palaces;
[l]He has destroyed her strongholds,
And has increased mourning and lamentation
In the daughter of Judah.

6 He has done violence [m]to His [2]tabernacle,
[n]As if it were a garden;
He has destroyed His place of assembly;
The LORD has caused
The appointed feasts and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion.
In His burning indignation He has [o]spurned the king and the priest.

7 The Lord has spurned His altar,
He has [p]abandoned His sanctuary;
He has [3]given up the walls of her palaces
Into the hand of the enemy.
[q]They have made a noise in the house of the LORD
As on the day of a set feast.

8 The LORD has [4]purposed to destroy
The [r]wall of the daughter of Zion.
[s]He has stretched out a line;
He has not withdrawn His hand from destroying;
Therefore He has caused the rampart and wall to lament;
They languished together.

9 Her gates have sunk into the ground;
He has destroyed and [t]broken her bars.
[u]Her king and her princes are among the [5]nations;
[v]The Law is no more,
And her [w]prophets find no [6]vision from the LORD.

10 The elders of the daughter of Zion
[x]Sit on the ground and keep silence;
[7]They [y]throw dust on their heads
And [z]gird themselves with sackcloth.
The virgins of Jerusalem
Bow their heads to the ground.

2:1 How the Lord has. Much in Lam. 2 depicts God's judgment in vivid portrayals. He covered the Judeans with a cloud (v. 1), withdrew His hand of protection (v. 3), bent His bow and had slain with His arrows (v. 4), and stretched out a surveyor's line to mark walls to be destroyed (v. 8). He will work a rebuilding of Jerusalem in the future kingdom (Zech. 2:1-13). The beauty of Israel. Likely refers to Mt. Zion and the temple (cf. Pss. 48:2; 50:2; Is. 60:13; 64:11; Ezek. 16:14; Dan. 11:45). His footstool. Refers to the ark of the covenant as indicated by 1 Chr. 28:2 and Pss. 99:5; 132:7.

2:2 He has thrown down. The Lord had cast down the bastions of Judah's defense, as He told Jeremiah He would do from the outset of his ministry (Jer. 1:10).

2:3 Every horn. Serves as an emblem of power, as exemplified in animals.

2:6-11 Tragedy comes to everything and everyone through sin. The account mentions the temple where Israelites came to worship (v. 6), feasts and Sabbaths (v. 6), leaders such as the king and priests (v. 6), His altar and holy places (v. 7), city walls (v. 8), the law (v. 9), and children in the family (v. 11).

2:6,7 Cf. 1:4.

2:7 noise in the house of the LORD as on the day of a set feast. A shout of triumph in the captured temple resembled the joyous celebrations in the same place at the solemn feasts.

11 [a]My eyes fail with tears,
My [g]heart is troubled;
[b]My [h]bile is poured on the ground
Because of the destruction of the daughter of my people,
Because [c]the children and the infants
Faint in the streets of the city.

12 They say to their mothers,
"Where is grain and wine?"
As they swoon like the wounded
In the streets of the city,
As their life is poured out
In their mothers' bosom.

13 How shall I [d]console[1] you?
To what shall I liken you,
O daughter of Jerusalem?
What shall I compare with you,
that I may comfort you,
O virgin daughter of Zion?
For your ruin is spread wide as the sea;
Who can heal you?

14 Your [e]prophets have seen for you
False and deceptive visions;
They have not [f]uncovered your iniquity,
To bring back your captives,
But have envisioned for you false [g]prophecies and delusions.

15 All who [2]pass by [h]clap their hands at you;
They hiss [i]and shake their heads
At the daughter of Jerusalem:
"Is this the city that is called [j]'The perfection of beauty,
The joy of the whole earth'?"

16 [k]All your enemies have opened their mouth against you;
They hiss and gnash their teeth.
They say, [l]"We have swallowed her up!

He has fulfilled His word
Which He commanded in days of old.
He has thrown down and has not pitied,
And He has caused an enemy to [p]rejoice over you;
He has exalted the [3]horn of your adversaries.

18 Their heart cried out to the Lord,
"O wall of the daughter of Zion,
[q]Let tears run down like a river day and night;
Give yourself no relief;
Give [4]your eyes no rest.

19 "Arise, [r]cry out in the night,
At the beginning of the watches;
[s]Pour out your heart like water before the face of the Lord.
Lift your hands toward Him
For the life of your young children,
Who faint from hunger [t]at the head of every street."

20 "See, O LORD, and consider!
To whom have You done this?
[u]Should the women eat their offspring,
The children [5]they have cuddled?
Should the priest and prophet be slain
In the sanctuary of the Lord?

21 "Young [v]and old lie
On the ground in the streets;
My virgins and my young men
Have fallen by the [w]sword;
You have slain them in the day of Your anger,
You have slaughtered and not pitied.

22 "You have invited as to a feast day
[x]The terrors that surround me.

There was no refugee or survivor.

2:11,12 This description of Babylon's invasion depicted the reality of a hungry child dying in its mother's arms as a result.

2:14 False and deceptive visions. As Jer. 23:16,17 indicates, these lies spoke of peace and comfort, not judgment. Cf. Jer. 23:30-40 to see how such lying led to destruction.

2:17 He has fulfilled his Word. The enemy that gloats in vv. 15,16 should recognize that the destruction was the work of a sovereign God. This verse is the focal point of the chapter (cf. Jer. 51:12).

2:18 wall of the daughter of Zion. The penetrated walls of Jerusalem cried out in anguish that they had been broached by the Babylonians.

2:20 See, O LORD, and consider! The chapter closes by placing the issue before God. women eat their offspring. Hunger became so desperate in the 18-month siege that women resorted to the unbelievable—even eating their children (cf. 4:10; Lev. 26:29; Deut. 28:53,56,57; Jer. 19:9).

2:21 the day of Your anger. This describes the complete slaughter, as does 2 Chr. 36:17.

The Prophet's Anguish and Hope

CHAPTER 3

3 I am the man who has seen affliction
by the rod of His wrath.
2 He has led me and made me walk
In darkness and not in light.
3 Surely He has turned His hand
against me
Time and time again throughout the day.

4 He has aged [a]my flesh and my skin,
And [b]broken my bones.
5 He has besieged me
And surrounded me with bitterness and [1]woe.
6 [c]He has set me in dark places
Like the dead of long ago.

7 [d]He has hedged me in so that I cannot get out;
He has made my chain heavy.
8 Even [e]when I cry and shout,
He shuts out my prayer.
9 He has blocked my ways with hewn stone;
He has made my paths crooked.

10 [f]He has been to me a bear lying in wait,
Like a lion in [2]ambush.
11 He has turned aside my ways and [g]torn me in pieces;
He has made me desolate.
12 He has bent His bow
And [h]set me up as a target for the arrow.

13 He has caused [i]the [3]arrows of His quiver
To pierce my [4]loins.
14 I have become the [j]ridicule of all my people—
[k]Their taunting song all the day.
15 [l]He has filled me with bitterness,
He has made me drink
wormwood.

16 He has also broken my teeth [m]with gravel,
And [5]covered me with ashes.
17 You have moved my soul far from peace;
I have forgotten [6]prosperity.
18 [n]And I said, "My strength and my hope
Have perished from the LORD."

19 Remember my affliction and
roaming,
[o]The wormwood and the [7]gall.
20 My soul still remembers
And [8]sinks within me.
21 This I recall to my mind,
Therefore I have [p]hope.

22 [q]Through the LORD's mercies we are not consumed,
Because His compassions [r]fail not.
23 They are new [s]every morning;
Great is Your faithfulness.
24 "The LORD is my [t]portion," says my soul,
"Therefore I [u]hope in Him!"

25 The LORD is good to those who [v]wait for Him,
To the soul who seeks Him.
26 It is good that one should [w]hope
[x]and wait quietly
For the salvation of the LORD.
27 [y]It is good for a man to bear
The yoke in his youth.

28 [z]Let him sit alone and keep silent,
Because God has laid it on him;
29 [a]Let him put his mouth in the dust—
There may yet be hope.

3:1-20 the man who has seen affliction. Jeremiah's distress in such tragedy comes from God, referred to as "He" throughout this section. Even the righteous experience "the rod of God's wrath."

3:8 He shuts out my prayer. Cf. v. 44. God's non-response to Jeremiah's prayers was not because Jeremiah was guilty of personal sin (cf. Ps. 66:18); rather, it was due to Israel's perpetual sin without repentance (Jer. 19:15). God's righteousness to judge that sin must pursue its course (Jer. 7:16, and see note there; 11:14). Jeremiah knew that, yet prayed, wept (vv. 48-51), and longed to see repentance.

3:16 broken my teeth with gravel. This refers to the grit that often mixed with bread baked in ashes as was common in the E (cf. Prov. 20:17).

3:21 This I recall. The prophet referred to what followed as he reviewed God's character.

3:21-33 The relentless sorrow over Judah's judgment drove Jeremiah to consider the grace, mercy, and compassion of God. The tone of his thinking changed dramatically.

3:22 mercies. This Heb. word, used about 250 times in the OT, refers to God's gracious love. It is a comprehensive term that encompasses love, grace, mercy, goodness, forgiveness, truth, compassion, and faithfulness.

3:22-24 His compassions fail not. As bleak as the situation of judgment had become, God's covenant lovingkindness was always present (cf. vv. 31,32), and His incredible faithfulness always endured so that Judah would not be destroyed forever (cf. Mal. 3:6).

3:23 Great is Your faithfulness. The bedrock of faith is the reality that God keeps all His promises according to His truthful, faithful character.

3:27 The yoke in his youth. This speaks of the duty from God, including disciplinary training, that Jeremiah received in his youth (cf. Jer. 1:6,7).

3:29 mouth in the dust. A term which pictures submission.

30 [b]Let him give his cheek to the one who strikes him,
And be full of reproach.

31 [c]For the Lord will not cast off forever.
32 Though He causes grief,
Yet He will show compassion
According to the multitude of His mercies.
33 For [d]He does not afflict [g]willingly,
Nor grieve the children of men.

34 To crush under one's feet
All the prisoners of the earth,
35 To turn aside the justice due a man
Before the face of the Most High,
36 Or subvert a man in his cause—
[e]The Lord does not approve.

37 Who is he [f]who speaks and it comes to pass,
When the Lord has not commanded it?
38 Is it not from the mouth of the Most High
That [g]woe and well-being proceed?
39 [h]Why should a living man [1]complain,
[i]A man for the punishment of his sins?

40 Let us search out and examine our ways,
And turn back to the LORD;
41 [j]Let us lift our hearts and hands
To God in heaven.
42 [k]We have transgressed and rebelled;
You have not pardoned.

43 You have covered Yourself with anger
And pursued us;
You have slain and not pitied.
44 You have covered Yourself with a cloud,
That prayer should not pass through.
45 You have made us an [l]offscouring and refuse
In the midst of the peoples.

46 [m]All our enemies
Have opened their mouths against us.
47 [n]Fear and a snare have come upon us,
[o]Desolation and destruction.
48 [p]My eyes overflow with rivers of water
For the destruction of the daughter of my people.

49 [q]My eyes flow and do not cease,
Without interruption,
50 Till the LORD from heaven
[r]Looks down and sees.
51 My eyes bring suffering to my soul
Because of all the daughters of my city.

52 My enemies [s]without cause
Hunted me down like a bird.
53 They [2]silenced my life [t]in the pit
And [u]threw [3]stones at me.
54 [v]The waters flowed over my head;
[w]I said, "I am cut off!"

55 [x]I called on Your name, O LORD,
From the lowest [y]pit.
56 [z]You have heard my voice:
"Do not hide Your ear
From my sighing, from my cry for help."
57 You [a]drew near on the day I called on You,
And said, [b]"Do not fear!"

58 O Lord, You have [c]pleaded the case for my soul;
[d]You have redeemed my life.
59 O LORD, You have seen [4]how I am wronged;

Jeremiah 15:15-18; 17:14-18; 18:19-23
Ezek. 19:1-14; 27:1-36; 32:1-21

3:38 This contrasted God's sovereign bestowal of judgment with blessing.

3:40,41 turn back to the LORD. The solution to Judah's judgment was to repent, looking to God for relief and restoration.

3:42 not pardoned. God judged their sin righteously.

3:48-51 My eyes. The summary of Jeremiah's sorrow.

3:52-63 My enemies. Jeremiah's description of persecution sounded much like the time when his enemies at the palace had cast him into a cistern (cf. v. 53; Jer. 38:4-6). God reassured him in answer to prayer (v. 57), and redeemed him (v. 58) by sending Ebed-melech to rescue him (cf. Jer. 38:7-13). Jeremiah pleads for justice to be rendered on those enemies (vv. 59-63).

3:58 You have redeemed my life. Jeremiah said this to encourage others to trust God.

[e]Judge my case.
60 You have seen all their vengeance,
All their [f]schemes against me.

61 You have heard their reproach,
O LORD,
All their schemes against me,
62 The lips of my enemies
And their whispering against me all the day.
63 Look at their [g]sitting down and their rising up;
I am their taunting song.

64 [h]Repay them, O LORD,
According to the work of their hands.
65 Give them [5]a veiled heart;
Your curse be upon them!
66 In Your anger,
Pursue and destroy them

The Degradation of Zion

4 How the gold has become dim!
How changed the fine gold!
The stones of the sanctuary are [1]scattered
At the head of every street.

2 The precious sons of Zion,
[2]Valuable as fine gold,
How they are [3]regarded [a]as clay pots,
The work of the hands of the potter!

3 Even the jackals present their breasts
To nurse their young;
But the daughter of my people is cruel,
[b]Like ostriches in the wilderness.

4 The tongue of the infant clings
To the roof of its mouth for thirst;
[c]The young children ask for bread,
But no one breaks it for them.

5 Those who ate delicacies
Are desolate in the streets;
Those who were brought up in scarlet
[d]Embrace ash heaps.

6 The punishment of the iniquity of the daughter of my people
Is greater than the punishment of the [e]sin of Sodom,
Which was [f]overthrown in a moment,
With no hand to help her!

7 Her [4]Nazirites were [5]brighter than snow
And whiter than milk;
They were more ruddy in body
than rubies,
Like sapphire in their [6]appearance.

8 Now their appearance is blacker than soot;
They go unrecognized in the streets;
[g]Their skin clings to their bones,
It has become as dry as wood.

9 Those slain by the sword are better off
Than those who die of hunger;
For these [h]pine away,
Stricken for lack of the fruits of the [i]field.

10 The hands of the [j]compassionate women
Have [7]cooked their [k]own children;
They became [l]food for them
In the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The LORD has fulfilled His fury,
[m]He has poured out His fierce anger.
[n]He kindled a fire in Zion,
And it has devoured its foundations.

12 The kings of the earth,
And all inhabitants of the world,
Would not have believed
That the adversary and the enemy
Could [o]enter the gates of Jerusalem—

3:64-66 Repay them. This imprecatory prayer for divine vengeance would be answered in Babylon's fall (cf. Is. 46,47; Jer. 50,51; Dan. 5). It would also have its ultimate answer at the Great White Throne (Rev. 20:11-15).

4:1 gold has become dim. The gold adornment of the temple, looted by the conquerors, lost its luster with a coating of dust where they scattered the remains.

4:3 nurse their young. Even worthless jackals by nature nurse their young, but under the severities of conquest, Israelite women were unable to nurse their babies (cf. v. 4). Like ostriches. Birds which are notable for ignoring their young (cf. Job 39:14-16).

4:6 the sin of Sodom. Their sin was homosexuality. The fact that the suffering of Jerusalem was prolonged, while that of even Sodom was swift, marks it as the greater punishment (cf. 1 Pet. 4:17).

4:7,8 Nazirites. Those who were the purest, most devout (cf. Num. 6), strong, healthy, and noble of the people became dirty, weak and ignoble.

13 [p]Because of the sins of her prophets
And the iniquities of her priests,
[q]Who shed in her midst
The blood of the just.

14 They wandered blind in the streets;
[r]They have defiled themselves with blood,
[s]So that no one would touch their garments.

15 They cried out to them,
"Go away, [t]unclean!
Go away, go away,
Do not touch us!"

So that we could not walk in our streets.

For our end had come.

And lay in wait for us in the wilderness.

A Prayer for Restoration

5 Remember, [a]O LORD, what has come upon us;
Look, and behold [b]our reproach!
2 [c]Our inheritance has been turned over to aliens,
And our houses to foreigners.

4:15 Go away. The people chased the false leaders away.

4:16 The face of the LORD. This was symbolic of divine anger. The Jews had to face up to God.

4:20 The breath of our nostrils. This was a term for God, the life-giver.

4:21,22 Edom...land of Uz. In effect God said, "Laugh all you want now. Your judgment will come" (cf. Jer. 25:15-29).

5:1 Remember, O LORD. Jeremiah prayed for mercy on his people. He summed up the nation's wounds and woes (vv. 1-10), recalled woes of specific groups (vv. 11-14), showed why God judged (vv. 15-18), and interceded for the renewal of Israel (vv. 19-22; cf. Mic. 7:18-20).

5:6 the Egyptians...the Assyrians. The Jews submitted to unholy alliances, thus expressing trust in men for protection and goods (cf. Jer. 2:18,36).

7 [i]Our fathers sinned and are no more,
But we bear their iniquities.
8 Servants rule over us;
There is none to deliver us from their hand.
9 We get our bread at the risk of our lives,
Because of the sword in the wilderness.

10 Our skin is hot as an oven,
Because of the fever of famine.
11 They [j]ravished the women in Zion,
The maidens in the cities of Judah.
12 Princes were hung up by their hands,
And elders were not respected.
13 Young men [k]ground at the millstones;
Boys staggered under loads of wood.
14 The elders have ceased gathering at the gate,
And the young men from their [l]music.
15 The joy of our heart has ceased;
Our dance has turned into [m]mourning.
16 [n]The crown has fallen from our head.
Woe to us, for we have sinned!
17 Because of this our heart is faint;
[o]Because of these things our eyes grow dim;
18 Because of Mount Zion which is [p]desolate,
With foxes walking about on it.

19 You, O LORD, [q]remain forever;
[r]Your throne from generation to generation.
20 [s]Why do You forget us forever,
And forsake us for so long a time?
21 [t]Turn us back to You, O LORD, and we will be [2]restored;
Renew our days as of old,
22 Unless You have utterly rejected us,
And are very angry with us!

5:7 This is a cynical proverb from Jer. 31:29 and Ezek. 18:2.

5:8-18 A list of horrors that had befallen Judah.

5:16 The crown has fallen. Israel lost its line of kings wearing the crown. The Davidic monarchy was temporarily over and will not be resumed until Christ comes as King (Jer. 23:5-8; Ezek. 37:24-28; Rev. 19:1-21).

5:19 Your throne from generation. Here is the high point of this chapter. Jeremiah was consoled by the fact that God always sits on His sovereign throne ruling over the universe from heaven (Pss. 45:6; 93:2; 102:12; 103:19; Dan. 4:3,34,35).

5:21 Turn us back to You. God must Himself initiate and enable any return to Him (cf. Ps. 80:3,7,19; Jer. 24:7; 31:18; John 6:44,65). Renew our days. The intercessions of vv. 19-22 will yet be fulfilled in the New Covenant restoration of Israel (cf. Jer. 30–33, and see notes there).

5:21,22 This plea was not made with anger. The humble closing prayer sought God, who can never reject His people forever, to be faithful in restoring them (cf. Jer. 31:35-37; 33:25,26). In fact, their godly sorrow over sin was the beginning of that restoration, which would be completed by turning to God in faith and obedience.

The Book of EZEKIEL

Title

The book has always been named for its author, Ezekiel (1:3; 24:24), who is nowhere else mentioned in Scripture. His name means "strengthened by God," which, indeed, he was for the prophetic ministry to which God called him (3:8,9). Ezekiel uses visions, prophecies, parables, signs, and symbols to proclaim and dramatize the message of God to His exiled people.

Author and Date

If the "thirtieth year" of 1:1 refers to Ezekiel's age, he was 25 when taken captive and 30 when called into ministry. Thirty was the age when priests commenced their office, so it was a notable year for Ezekiel. His ministry began in 593/92 B.C. and extended at least 22 years until 571/70 B.C. (cf. 25:17). He was a contemporary of both Jeremiah (who was about 20 years older) and Daniel (who was the same age), whom he names in 14:14,20; 28:3 as an already well known prophet. Like Jeremiah (Jer. 1:1) and Zechariah (cf. Zech. 1:1 with Neh. 12:16), Ezekiel was both a prophet and a priest (1:3). Because of his priestly background, he was particularly interested in and familiar with the temple details; so God used him to write much about them (8:1–11:25; 40:1–47:12).

Ezekiel and his wife (who is mentioned in 24:15-27) were among 10,000 Jews taken captive to Babylon in 597 B.C. (2 Kin. 24:11-18). They lived in Tel-Abib (3:15) on the bank of the Chebar River, probably SE of Babylon. Ezekiel writes of his wife's death in exile (Ezek. 24:18), but the book does not mention Ezekiel's death, which rabbinical tradition suggests occurred at the hands of an Israelite prince whose idolatry he rebuked around 560 B.C.

The author received his call to prophesy in 593 B.C. (1:2), in Babylon ("the land of the Chaldeans"), during the fifth year of King Jehoiachin's captivity, which began in 597 B.C. Frequently, Ezekiel dates his prophecies from 597 B.C. (8:1; 20:1; 24:1; 26:1; 29:1; 30:20; 31:1; 32:1,17; 33:21; 40:1). He also dates the message in 40:1 as 573/72, the 14th year after 586 B.C., i.e., Jerusalem's final fall. The last dated utterance of Ezekiel was in 571/70 B.C. (29:17).

Prophecies in chaps. 1–28 are in chronological order. In 29:1, the prophet regresses to a year earlier than in 26:1. But from 30:1 on (cf. 31:1; 32:1,17), he is close to being strictly chronological.

Background and Setting

From the historical perspective, Israel's united kingdom lasted more than 110 years (ca. 1043–931 B.C.), through the reigns of Saul, David, and Solomon. Then the divided kingdom, Israel (north) and Judah (south), extended from 931 B.C. to 722/21 B.C. Israel fell to Assyria in 722/21 B.C. leaving Judah, the surviving kingdom for 135 years, which fell to Babylon in 605–586 B.C.

In the more immediate setting, several features were strategic. Politically, Assyria's vaunted military might crumbled after 626 B.C., and the capital, Nineveh, was destroyed in 612 B.C. by the Babylonians and Medes (cf. Nahum). The neo-Babylonian empire had flexed its muscles since Nabopolassar took the throne in 625 B.C., and Egypt, under Pharaoh Necho II, was determined to conquer what she could. Babylon smashed Assyria in 612–605 B.C., and registered a decisive victory against Egypt in 605 B.C. at Carchemish, leaving, according to the Babylonian Chronicle, no survivors. Also in 605 B.C., Babylon, led by Nebuchadnezzar, began the conquest of Jerusalem and the deportation of captives, among them Daniel (Dan. 1:2). In Dec., 598 B.C., he again besieged Jerusalem, and on Mar. 16, 597 B.C. took possession. This time, he took captive Jehoiachin and a group of 10,000, including Ezekiel (2 Kin. 24:11-18). The final destruction of Jerusalem and the conquest of Judah, including the third deportation, came in 586 B.C.

Religiously, King Josiah (ca. 640–609 B.C.) had instituted reforms in Judah (cf. 2 Chr. 34). Tragically, despite his effort, idolatry had so dulled the Judeans that their awakening was only "skin deep" overall. The Egyptian army killed Josiah as it crossed Palestine in 609 B.C., and the Jews plunged on in sin toward judgment under Jehoahaz (609 B.C.), Jehoiakim [Eliakim] (609–598 B.C.), Jehoiachin (598–597 B.C.), and Zedekiah (597–586 B.C.).

Domestically, Ezekiel and the 10,000 lived in exile in Babylonia (2 Kin. 24:14), more as colonists than captives, being permitted to farm tracts of land under somewhat favorable conditions (Jer. 29). Ezekiel even had his own house (3:24; 20:1).

Prophetically, false prophets deceived the exiles with assurances of a speedy return to Judah (13:3,16; Jer. 29:1). From 593–585 B.C., Ezekiel warned that their beloved Jerusalem would be destroyed and their exile prolonged, so there was no hope of immediate return. In 585 B.C., an escapee from Jerusalem, who had evaded the Babylonians, reached Ezekiel with the first news that the city had fallen in 586 B.C., about 6 months earlier (33:21). That dashed the false hopes of any immediate deliverance for the exiles, so the remainder of Ezekiel's prophecies related to Israel's future restoration to its homeland and the final blessings of the messianic kingdom.

Historical and Theological Themes

The "glory of the Lord" is central to Ezekiel, appearing in 1:28; 3:12,23; 10:4,18; 11:23; 43:4,5; 44:4. The book includes graphic descriptions of the disobedience of Israel and Judah, despite God's kindness (chap. 23; cf. chap. 16). It shows God's desire for Israel to bear fruit which He can bless; however, selfish indulgence had left Judah ready for judgment, like a torched vine (chap. 15). References are plentiful to Israel's idolatry and its consequences, such as Pelatiah dropping dead (11:13), a symbolic illustration of overall disaster for the people.

Many picturesque scenes illustrate spiritual principles. Among these are Ezekiel eating a scroll (chap. 2); the faces on 4 angels representing aspects of creation over which God rules (1:10); a "barber-shop" scene (5:1-4); graffiti on temple walls reminding readers of what God really wants in His dwelling place, namely holiness and not ugliness (8:10); and sprinkled hot coals depicting judgment (10:2,7).

Chief among the theological themes are God's holiness and sovereignty. These are conveyed by frequent contrast of His bright glory against the despicable backdrop of Judah's sins (1:26-28; often in chaps. 8–11; and 43:1-7). Closely related is God's purpose of glorious triumph so that all may "know that I am the LORD." This divine monogram, God's signature authenticating His acts, is mentioned more than 60 times, usually with a judgment (6:7; 7:4), but occasionally after the promised restoration (34:27; 36:11,38; 39:28).

Another feature involves God's angels carrying out His program behind the scenes (1:5-25; 10:1-22). A further important theme is God's holding each individual accountable for pursuing righteousness (18:3-32).

Ezekiel also stresses sinfulness in Israel (2:3-7; 8:9,10) and other nations (throughout chaps. 25–32). He deals with the necessity of God's wrath to deal with sin (7:1-8; 15:8); God's frustration of man's devices to escape from besieged Jerusalem (12:1-13; cf. Jer. 39:4-7); and God's grace pledged in the Abrahamic Covenant (Gen. 12:1-3) being fulfilled by restoring Abraham's people to the land of the covenant (chaps. 34,36–48; cf. Gen. 12:7). God promises to preserve a remnant of Israelites through whom He will fulfill His restoration promises and keep His inviolate Word.

Interpretive Challenges

Ezekiel uses extensive symbolic language, as did Isaiah and Jeremiah. This raises the question as to whether certain portions of Ezekiel's writings are to be taken literally or figuratively, e.g., being bound with ropes, 3:25; whether the prophet was taken bodily to Jerusalem, 8:1-3; how individual judgment can be worked out in chap. 18 when the wicked elude death in 14:22,23 and some of the godly die in an invasion, 21:3,4; how God would permit a faithful prophet's wife to die (24:15-27); when some of the judgments on other nations will occur (chaps. 25–32); whether the temple in chaps. 40–46 will be a literal one and in what form; and how promises of Israel's future relate to God's program with the church. These issues will be treated in the study notes.

Outline

The book can be largely divided into sections about condemnation/retribution and then consolation/restoration. A more detailed look divides the book into 4 sections. First, are prophecies on the ruin of Jerusalem (chaps. 1–24). Second, are prophecies of retribution on nearby nations (chaps. 25–32), with a glimpse at God's future restoration of Israel (28:25,26). Thirdly, there is a transition chapter (33) which gives instruction concerning a last call for Israel to repent. Finally, the fourth division includes rich expectations involving God's future restoration of Israel (chaps. 34–48).

Ezekiel's Vision of God

CHAPTER 1

1 Now it came to pass in the thirtieth year, in the fourth month, on the fifth day of the month, as I was among the captives by [a]the River Chebar, that [b]the heavens were opened and I saw [c]visions[1] of God. 2 On the fifth day of the month, which was in the fifth year of King Jehoiachin's captivity, 3 the word of the LORD came expressly to Ezekiel the priest, the son of Buzi, in the land of the [2]Chaldeans by the River Chebar; and [d]the hand of the LORD was upon him there.

4 Then I looked, and behold, [e]a whirlwind was coming [f]out of the north, a great cloud with raging fire engulfing itself; and brightness was all around it and radiating out of its midst like the color of amber, out of the midst of the fire. 5 [g]Also from within it came the likeness of four living creatures. And [h]this was their appearance: they had [i]the likeness of a man. 6 Each one had four faces, and each one had four wings. 7 Their [3]legs were straight, and the soles of their feet were like the soles of calves' feet. They sparkled [j]like the color of burnished bronze. 8 [k]The hands of a man were under their wings on their four sides; and each of the four had faces and wings. 9 Their wings touched one another. The creatures did not turn when they went, but each one went straight [l]forward.

10 As for [m]the likeness of their faces, each [n]had the face of a man; each of the four had [o]the face of a lion on the right side, [p]each of the four had the face of an ox on the left side, [q]and each of the four had the face of an eagle. 11 Thus were their faces. Their wings stretched upward; two wings of each one touched one another, and [r]two covered their bodies. 12 And [s]each one went straight forward; they went wherever the spirit wanted to go, and they did not turn when they went.

13 As for the likeness of the living creatures, their appearance was like burning coals of fire, [t]like the appearance of torches going back and forth among the living creatures. The fire was bright, and out of the fire went lightning. 14 And the living creatures ran back and forth, [u]in appearance like a flash of lightning.

15 Now as I looked at the living creatures, behold, [v]a wheel was on the earth beside each living creature with its four faces. 16 [w]The appearance of the wheels and their workings was [x]like the color of beryl, and all four had the same likeness. The appearance of their workings was, as it were, a wheel in the middle of a wheel. 17 When they moved, they went toward any one of four directions; they did not turn aside when they went. 18 As for their rims, they were so high they were awesome; and their rims were [y]full of eyes, all around the

16 [w] Ezek. 10:9, 10 [x] Dan. 10:6
18 [y] Ezek. 10:12; [Zech. 4:10]; Rev. 4:6, 8

1:1 thirtieth year. Most likely this was Ezekiel's age, since the date relative to the king's reign is given in 1:2. Thirty was the age when a priest (cf. v. 3 with Num. 4) began his priestly duties. River Chebar. A major canal off of the Euphrates River, S of Babylon. visions of God. This scene has similarities to the visions of God's throne in Rev. 4,5, where the emphasis is also on a glimpse of that throne just before judgment is released in Rev. 6–19.

1:2 fifth year. This is 593 B.C. The king, Ezekiel, and 10,000 others (2 Kin. 24:14) had been deported to Babylon in 597 B.C., Ezekiel at the age of 25.

1:3 word of the LORD...hand of the LORD. As God prepared Isaiah (Is. 6:5-13) and Jeremiah (Jer. 1:4-19), so the Lord prepares Ezekiel to receive revelation and strengthens him for his high and arduous task to speak as His prophet. Ezekiel the priest. See note on v. 1.

1:4-14 The opening vision focuses on angels surrounding God's presence.

1:4 whirlwind...fire. Judgment on Judah in a further and totally devastating phase (beyond the 597 B.C. deportation) is to come out of the N, and did come from Babylon in 588–586 (as Jer. 39,40). Its terror is depicted by a fiery whirlwind emblematic of God's judgments and the golden brightness signifying dazzling glory.

1:5 four living creatures. Four angels, most likely the cherubs in 10:1-22, appearing in the erect posture and figure of man (note face, legs, feet, hands in vv. 6-8) emerge to serve God who judges. The number 4 may have respect to the 4 corners of the earth, implying that God's angels execute His commands everywhere.

1:6 four faces. See note on v. 10. four wings. Four wings instead of two symbolize speed in performing God's will (cf. v. 14).

1:7 legs. They were not bent like an animal's, but "straight" like pillars, showing strength. calves' feet. This points to their stability and firm stance.

1:8 hands of a man. This is a symbol of their skillful service.

1:9 did not turn. They were able to move in any direction without needing to turn, giving swift access to do God's will. Apparently all were in harmony as to the way they moved (v. 12).

1:10 faces. These symbols identify the angels as intelligent ("man"), powerful ("lion"), servile ("ox"), and swift ("eagle").

1:12 the spirit. This refers to the divine impulse by which God moved them to do His will (cf. 1:20).

1:13 like...fire...torches. Their appearance conveyed God's glory and pure, burning justice (cf. Is. 6); judgment which they assisted in carrying out even on Israel, who had for so long hardened themselves against His patience.

1:14 Intense, relentless motion signifies God's constant work of judgment.

1:15-25 This section looks at the glory of God's throne in heaven.

1:15 a wheel. This depicts God's judgment as a war machine (like a massive chariot) moving where He is to judge. The cherubim above the ark are called chariots in 1 Chr. 28:18.

1:16 wheel in the middle of a wheel. This depicted the gigantic (v. 15, "on the earth" and "so high," v. 18) energy of the complicated revolutions of God's massive judgment machinery bringing about His purposes with unerring certainty.

1:17 did not turn aside. Cf. vv. 9,12. The judgment machine moved where the angels went (cf. vv. 19,20).

1:18 eyes. These may picture God's omniscience, i.e., perfect knowledge, given to these angelic servants so that they can act in judgment unerringly. God does nothing by blind impulse.

four of them. 19 [z]When the living creatures went, the wheels went beside them; and when the living creatures were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up. 20 Wherever the spirit wanted to go, they went, because there the spirit went; and the wheels were lifted together with them, [a]for the spirit of the [4]living creatures was in the wheels. 21 When those went, these went; when those stood, these stood; and when those were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up together with them, for the spirit of the [5]living creatures was in the wheels.

22 [b]The likeness of the [6]firmament above the heads of the [7]living creatures was like the color of an awesome [c]crystal, stretched out [d]over their heads. 23 And under the firmament their wings spread out straight, one toward another. Each one had two which covered one side, and each one had two which covered the other side of the body. 24 [e]When they went, I heard the noise of their wings, [f]like the noise of many waters, like [g]the voice of the Almighty, a tumult like the noise of an army; and when they stood still, they let down their wings. 25 A voice came from above the firmament that was over their heads; whenever they stood, they let down their wings.

26 [h]And above the firmament over their heads was the likeness of a throne, [i]in appearance like a sapphire stone; on the likeness of the throne was a likeness with the appearance of a man high above [j]it. 27 Also from the appearance of His waist and upward [k]I saw, as it were, the color of amber with the appearance of fire all around within it; and from the appearance of His waist and downward I saw, as it were, the appearance of fire with brightness all around. 28 [l]Like the appearance of a rainbow in a cloud on a rainy day, so was the appearance of the brightness all around it. [m]This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the LORD.

Ezekiel Sent to Rebellious Israel

So when I saw it, [n]I fell on my face, and I heard a voice of One speaking.

2 And He said to me, "Son of man, [a]stand on your feet, and I will speak to you." 2 Then [b]the Spirit entered me when He spoke to me, and set me on my feet; and I heard Him who spoke to me. 3 And He said to me: "Son of man, I am sending

1:19,20 spirit. See note on 1:12.

1:24 noise of many waters. This imagery could have in mind a thunderous rush of heavy rain or the washing of surf on rocks (cf. 43:2; Rev. 1:15; 14:2; 19:6).

1:25 voice. No doubt this is the "voice of the Almighty" (v. 24), since God's throne (v. 25) was "over their heads."

1:26 a throne. Cf. Ps. 103:19; Rev. 4:2-8. a man. The Godhead appears in the likeness of humanity, though God is a spirit (John 4:24). The Messiah, God incarnate, is the representative of the "fullness of the Godhead" (Col. 2:9), so this can be a prelude to the incarnation of Messiah in His character as Savior and Judge (cf. Rev. 19:11-16).

1:28 the glory of the LORD. That glory shines fully in the person of Jesus Christ (cf. 2 Cor. 4:6), which is a constant theme in Ezekiel.

2:1 fell on my face. John, in Rev. 1:17, had the same reaction to seeing the glory of the Lord. Son of man. A term used over 90 times by Ezekiel to indicate his humanness.

2:2 the Spirit entered me. What God commands a servant to do (v. 1), He gives power to fulfill by His Spirit (cf. 3:14; Zech. 4:6). This pictures the selective empowering by the Holy Spirit to enable an individual for special service to the Lord, which occurred frequently in the OT. For examples see 11:5; 37:1; Num. 24:2; Judg. 3:10; 6:34; 11:29; 13:25; 1 Sam. 10:10; 16:13,14; 19:20; 2 Chr. 15:1; Luke 4:18.

you to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that has [c]rebelled against Me; [d]they and their fathers have transgressed against Me to this very day. 4 [e]For they are [1]impudent and stubborn children. I am sending you to them, and you shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD.' 5 [f]As for them, whether they hear or whether they refuse—for they are a [g]rebellious house—yet they [h]will know that a prophet has been among them.

6 "And you, son of man, [i]do not be afraid of them nor be afraid of their words, though [j]briers and thorns are with you and you dwell among scorpions; [k]do not be afraid of their words or dismayed by their looks, [l]though they are a rebellious house. 7 [m]You shall speak My words to them, whether they hear or whether they refuse, for they are rebellious. 8 But you, son of man, hear what I say to you. Do not be rebellious like that rebellious house; open your mouth and [n]eat what I give you."

9 Now when I looked, there was [o]a hand stretched out to me; and behold, [p]a scroll of a book was in it. 10 Then He spread it before me; and there was writing on the inside and on the outside, and written on it were lamentations and mourning and woe.

3 Moreover He said to me, "Son of man, eat what you find; [a]eat this scroll, and go, speak to the house of Israel." 2 So I opened my mouth, and He caused me to eat that scroll.

3 And He said to me, "Son of man, feed your belly, and fill your stomach with this scroll that I give you." So I [b]ate, and it was in my mouth [c]like honey in sweetness.

4 Then He said to me: "Son of man, go to the house of Israel and speak with My words to them. 5 For you are not sent to a people of unfamiliar speech and of hard language, but to the house of Israel, 6 not to many people of unfamiliar speech and of hard language, whose words you cannot understand. Surely, [d]had I sent you to them, they would have listened to you. 7 But the house of Israel will not listen to you, [e]because they will not listen to Me; [f]for all the house of Israel are [1]impudent and hard-hearted. 8 Behold, I have made your face strong against their faces, and your forehead strong against their foreheads. 9 [g]Like adamant stone, harder than flint, I have made your forehead; [h]do not be afraid of them, nor be dismayed at their looks, though they are a rebellious house."

10 Moreover He said to me: "Son of man, receive into your heart all My words that I speak to you, and hear with your ears. 11 And go, get to the captives, to the children of your people, and speak to them and tell them, [i]'Thus says the Lord GOD,' whether they hear, or whether they refuse."

12 Then [j]the Spirit lifted me up, and I heard behind me a great thunderous voice: "Blessed is the [k]glory of the LORD from His place!" 13 I also heard the [l]noise of the wings of the living creatures that touched one another, and the noise of the wheels beside them, and a great thunderous noise. 14 So the Spirit lifted me up and took me away, and I went in bitterness, in the [2]heat of my spirit; but [m]the hand of the LORD was strong upon me. 15 Then I came to the captives at Tel Abib, who dwelt by the River Chebar; and [n]I sat where they sat, and remained there astonished among them seven days.

2:5 The people cannot plead ignorance.

2:6 briers and thorns...scorpions. Cf. 3:7,9; 22:29. These are figures of speech God used to describe the people of Judah whose obstinate rejection of His Word was like the barbs of thorns and stings of scorpions to Ezekiel. The wicked were often so called (cf. 2 Sam. 23:6; Song 2:2; Is. 9:18).

2:8 open your mouth and eat. Ezekiel was to obey the command, not literally eating a scroll (vv. 9,10), but in a spiritual sense by receiving God's message so that it became an inward passion. Cf. also 3:1-3,10 and Jer. 15:16.

2:10 writing on the inside and...outside. Scrolls were normally written on one side only, but this judgment message was so full it required all the available space (cf. Zech. 5:3; Rev. 5:1) to chronicle the suffering and sorrow that sin had brought, as recorded in chaps. 2–32.

3:1-3 eat this scroll...So I ate. God's messenger must first internalize God's truth for himself, then preach it.

3:3 like honey. Even though the message was judgment on Israel, the scroll was sweet because it was God's Word (cf. Pss. 19:10; 119:103) and because it vindicated God in holiness, righteousness, glory, and faithfulness, in which Jeremiah also delighted (Jer. 15:16). Bitterness also was experienced by the prophet (3:14) in this message of judgment confronting Judah's rebellion (v. 9). The Apostle John records a similar bittersweet experience with the Word of God in Rev. 10:9,10.

3:7 Cf. John 15:20.

3:8,9 I have made your face strong. What God commands ("do not be afraid") He gives sufficiency to do ("I have made") so God will enable the prophet to live up to his name (which means "strengthened by God"). Cf. 2:2; 3:14,24; Is. 41:10; Jer. 1:8,17.

3:9 rebellious. It is sad to observe that the exile and affliction did not make the Jews more responsive to God; rather, they were hardened by their sufferings. God gave Ezekiel a "hardness" to surpass the people and sustain his ministry as prophet to the exiles.

3:12,14 the Spirit lifted me up. This is a phrase used to describe the prophet being elevated to a heavenly vision, as in the experiences of 8:3 and 11:1.

3:14 bitterness. See note on 3:3.

3:15 the captives. Tel Abib was the main city for the Jewish captives, who may have included some of the 10 tribes taken long before in the conquering of the northern kingdom of Israel in 722 B.C., as 2 Kin. 17:6 may indicate ("Habor" is the same river as Chebar). remained...seven days. Ezekiel sat with the sorrowing people for 7

Ezekiel Is a Watchman

16 Now it [o]came to pass at the end of seven days that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 17 [p]"Son of man, I have made you [q]a watchman for the house of Israel; therefore hear a word from My mouth, and give them [r]warning from Me: 18 When I say to the wicked, 'You shall surely die,' and you give him no warning, nor speak to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life, that same wicked man [s]shall die in his iniquity; but his blood I will require at your hand. 19 Yet, if you warn the wicked, and he does not turn from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; [t]but you have delivered your soul.

20 "Again, when a [u]righteous man turns from his righteousness and commits iniquity, and I lay a stumbling block before him, he shall die; because you did not give him warning, he shall die in his sin, and his righteousness which he has done shall not be remembered; but his blood I will require at your hand. 21 Nevertheless if you warn the righteous man that the righteous should not sin, and he does not sin, he shall surely live because he took warning; also you will have delivered your soul."

22 [v]Then the hand of the LORD was upon me there, and He said to me, "Arise, go out [w]into the plain, and there I shall talk with you."

23 So I arose and went out into the plain, days, the usual period for manifesting deep grief (cf. Job 2:13). He identified with them in their suffering (cf. Ps. 137:1), thus trying to win their trust when he spoke God's Word.

3:17 a watchman. This role was spiritually analogous to the role of watchmen on a city wall, vigilant to spot the approach of an enemy and warn the residents to muster a defense. The prophet gave timely warnings of approaching judgment. The work of a watchman is vividly set forth in 2 Sam. 18:24-27 and 2 Kin. 9:17-20. See notes on 33:1-16.

3:18-21 Cf. chap. 18, and see notes there.

3:18 the wicked...him...his. The emphasis of singular pronouns was on individuals. The ministry of Habakkuk (2:1), Jeremiah (6:17), and Isaiah (56:10) were more national than individual. Ezekiel's ministry was more personal, focused on individual responsibility to trust and obey God. Disobedience or obedience to God's messages was a matter of life or death; Ezek. 18:1-20 is particularly devoted to this emphasis. no warning...die. Men are not to assume that ignorance, even owing to the negligence of preachers, will be any excuse to save them from divine punishment. Cf. Rom. 2:12. save his life. This refers to physical death, not eternal damnation, though that would be a consequence for many. In the Pentateuch, God had commanded death for many violations of His law and warned that it could be a consequence of any kind of consistent sin (cf. Josh. 1:16-18). The people of Israel had long abandoned that severe standard of purification, so God took execution back into His own hands, as in the destruction of Israel, Judah, and Jerusalem. On the other hand, God had also promised special protection and life to the obedient. Cf. 18:9-32; 33:11-16; Prov. 4:4; 7:2; Amos 5:4,6.

3:18,20 his blood I will require. Though each sinner is responsible for his own sin (cf. 18:1-20), the prophet who is negligent in his duty to proclaim the warning message becomes, in God's sight, a manslayer when God takes that person's life. The responsibility of the prophet is serious (cf. James 3:1), and he is responsible for that person's death in the sense of Gen. 9:5. The Apostle Paul had this passage (and Ezek. 33:6,8) in view in Acts 18:6 and 20:26. Even for preachers today, there is such a warning in Heb. 13:17. Certainly the consequence for such unfaithfulness on the preacher's part includes divine chastening and loss of eternal reward (cf. 1 Cor. 4:1-5).

3:20 a righteous man. Here is a person who was obeying God by doing what was right, but fell into sin and God took his life in chastisement. The "stumbling block" was a stone of judgment that kills. Ps. 119:165 says: "Great peace have those who love Your law, and nothing causes them to stumble." The crushing stone always falls on the disobedient. Hebrews 12:9 says it is better to obey and "live." Cf. 1 Cor. 11:30; James 1:21, 1 John 5:16.

3:21 delivered your soul. The prophet had done his duty.

Ezekiel's Sign Experiences

(cf. Ezek. 24:24, 27)

1. Ezekiel was housebound, tied up, and mute (3:23-27).
2. Ezekiel used a clay tablet and an iron plate as illustrations in his preaching (4:1-3).
3. Ezekiel had to lie on his left side for 390 days and his right side for 40 days (4:4-8).
4. Ezekiel had to eat in an unclean manner (4:9-17).
5. Ezekiel had to shave his head and beard (5:1-4).
6. Ezekiel had to pack his bags and dig through the wall of Jerusalem (12:1-14).
7. Ezekiel had to eat his bread with quaking and drink water with trembling (12:17-20).
8. Ezekiel brandished a sharp sword and struck his hands together (21:8-17).
9. Ezekiel portrayed Israel in the smelting furnace (22:17-22).
10. Ezekiel had to cook a pot of stew (24:1-14).
11. Ezekiel could not mourn at the death of his wife (24:15-24).
12. Ezekiel was mute for a season (24:25-27).
13. Ezekiel put two sticks together and they became one (37:15-28).

and behold, [x]the glory of the LORD stood there, like the glory which I [y]saw by the River Chebar; [z]and I fell on my face. 24 Then [a]the Spirit entered me and set me on my feet, and spoke with me and said to me: "Go, shut yourself inside your house. 25 And you, O son of man, surely [b]they will put ropes on you and bind you with them, so that you cannot go out among them. 26 [c]I will make your tongue cling to the roof of your mouth, so that you shall be mute and [d]not be [3]one to rebuke them, [e]for they are a rebellious house. 27 [f]But when I speak with you, I will open your mouth, and you shall say to them, [g]'Thus says the Lord GOD.' The Siege of Jerusalem Portrayed

4 "You also, son of man, take a clay tablet and lay it before you, and portray on it a city, Jerusalem. 2 [a]Lay siege against it, build a [b]siege wall against it, and heap up a mound against it; set camps against it also, and place battering rams against it all around. 3 Moreover take for yourself an iron plate, and set it as an iron wall between you and the city. Set your face against it, and it shall be [c]besieged, and you shall lay siege against it. [d]This will be a sign to the house of Israel.

4 "Lie also on your left side, and lay the iniquity of the house of Israel upon it. According to the number of the days that you lie on it, you shall bear their iniquity. 5 For I have laid on you the years of their iniquity, according to the number of the days, three hundred and ninety days; [e]so you shall bear the iniquity of the house of Israel. 6 And when you have completed them, lie again on your right side; then you shall bear the iniquity of the house of Judah forty days. I have laid on you a day for each year.

7 "Therefore you shall set your face toward the siege of Jerusalem; your arm shall be uncovered, and you shall prophesy against it. 8 [f]And surely I will [1]restrain you so that you cannot turn from one side to another till you have ended the days of your siege.

9 "Also take for yourself wheat, barley, beans, lentils, millet, and spelt; put them into one vessel, and make bread of them for yourself. During the number of days that you lie on your side, three hundred and ninety days, you shall eat it. 10 And your food which you eat shall be by weight, twenty shekels a day; from time to time you shall eat it. 11 You shall also drink water by measure, one-sixth of a hin; from time to time you shall drink. 12 And you shall eat it as barley cakes; and bake it using fuel of human waste in their sight."

13 Then the LORD said, "So [g]shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles, where I will drive them."

14 So I said, [h]"Ah, Lord GOD! Indeed I have never defiled myself from my youth till now; I have never eaten [i]what died of

3:23 the glory of the LORD. See Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes.

3:24 shut yourself inside your house. He was to fulfill much of his ministry at home (8:1; 12:1-7), thereby limiting it to those who came to hear him there.

3:25 they will put ropes on you. These were not literal, but spiritual. On one hand, they could be the inner ropes of depressing influence which the rebellious Jews exerted on his spirit. Their perversity, like ropes, would repress his freedom in preaching. More likely, they imply the restraint that God placed on him by supernational power, so that he could only go and speak where and when God chose (cf. vv. 26,27).

3:26,27 you shall be mute. He was not to speak primarily, but to act out God's message. The prohibition was only partial, for on any occasion (v. 27) when God did open his mouth, as He often did in chaps. 5–7, he was to speak (3:22; 11:25; 12:10,19,23,28). The end of such intermittent dumbness with regard to his own people closely synchronized with Ezekiel's receiving a refugee's report of Jerusalem's fall (24:25-27; 33:21,22). He also spoke with regard to judgments on other nations (chaps. 25–32).

4:1–7:27 Here is the first series of prophecies given over a year's time, of Jerusalem's conquest by the Babylonians in 586 B.C.

4:1-3 portray...Jerusalem. Ezekiel's object lesson was to use a soft tile to create a miniature city layout of Jerusalem with walls and siege objects to illustrate Babylon's final coming siege of Jerusalem (588–586 B.C.).

4:4-6 Lie...on your left side...right side. Lying on his side, likely facing N, illustrated God's applying judgment to Israel, and facing S pointed to judgment on Judah. It is not necessary to assume that Ezekiel was in the prone position all the time. It was doubtless part of each day, as his need for preparing food (v. 9) indicates.

4:4,6 you shall bear their iniquity. Ezekiel's action was not to represent the time of Israel's sinning, but the time of its punishment.

4:5 three hundred and ninety. Each day symbolized a year (v. 6). Israel in the N was accountable during this span of time whose beginning and end is uncertain.

4:6 forty. Judah was also guilty, but the 40 cannot represent less guilt (cf. 23:11). It may extend the time beyond the 390 to 430 or they may run concurrently, but the exact timing is uncertain.

4:7 arm...uncovered. A symbol for being ready for action, as a soldier would do (cf. Is. 52:10).

4:8 I will restrain you. This was to symbolize the impossibility of the Jews being able to shake off their punishment.

4:9-13 make bread. Scarcity of food in the 18 month siege especially made necessary the mixing of all kinds of grain for bread. The "20 shekels" would be about 8 ounces, while "one-sixth of a hin" would be less than a quart. There would be minimums for daily rations. It must be noted that the command of v. 12 regarding "human waste" relates only to the fuel used to prepare the food. Bread was baked on hot stones (cf. 1 Kin. 19:6) heated by human waste because no other fuel was available. This was repulsive and polluting (cf. Deut. 23:12-14) and the Lord calls it "defiled bread" (v. 13).

4:14,15 never defiled. Ezekiel, like Daniel, had convictions to be itself or was torn by beasts, nor has [j]abominable[2] flesh ever come into my mouth."

15 Then He said to me, "See, I am giving you cow dung instead of human waste, and you shall prepare your bread over it."

16 Moreover He said to me, "Son of man, surely I will cut off the [k]supply of bread in Jerusalem; they shall [l]eat bread by weight and with anxiety, and shall [m]drink water by measure and with dread, 17 that they may lack bread and water, and be dismayed with one another, and [n]waste away because of their iniquity.

A Sword Against Jerusalem

5 "And you, son of man, take a sharp sword, take it as a barber's razor, [a]and pass it over your head and your beard; then take scales to weigh and divide the hair. 2 [b]You shall burn with fire one-third in the midst of [c]the city, when [d]the days of the siege are finished; then you shall take one-third and strike around it with the sword, and one-third you shall scatter in the wind: I will draw out a sword after [e]them. 3 [f]You shall also take a small number of them and bind them in the edge of your garment. 4 Then take some of them again and [g]throw them into the midst of the fire, and burn them in the fire. From there a fire will go out into all the house of Israel.

5 "Thus says the Lord GOD: 'This is Jerusalem; I have set her in the midst of the nations and the countries all around her. 6 She has rebelled against My judgments by doing wickedness more than the nations, and against My statutes more than the countries that are all around her; for they have refused My judgments, and they have not walked in My statutes.' 7 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because you have [1]multiplied disobedience more than the nations that are all around you, have not walked in My statutes [h]nor kept My judgments, [2]nor even done according to the judgments of the nations that are all around you'— 8 therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Indeed I, even I, am against you and will execute judgments in your midst in the sight of the nations. 9 [i]And I will do among you what I have never done, and the like of which I will never do again, because of all your abominations. 10 Therefore fathers [j]shall eat their sons in your midst, and sons shall eat their fathers; and I will execute judgments among you, and all of you who remain I will [k]scatter to all the winds.

11 'Therefore, as I live,' says the Lord GOD, 'surely, because you have [l]defiled My sanctuary with all your [m]detestable things and with all your abominations, therefore I will also diminish you; [n]My eye will not spare, nor will I have any pity. 12 [o]One-third of you shall die of the pestilence, and be consumed with famine in your midst; and one-third shall fall by the sword all around you; and [p]I will scatter another third to all the winds, and I will draw out a sword after [q]them.

13 'Thus shall My anger [r]be spent, and I will [s]cause My fury to rest upon them, [t]and I will be avenged; [u]and they shall know that I, the LORD, have spoken it in My zeal, when I have spent My fury upon them. 14 Moreover [v]I will make you a waste and a reproach among the nations that are all around you, in the sight of all who pass by.

undefiled even in his food (cf. Dan. 1:8 and see note there). God permitted fuel of dried cow chips for cooking his food in gracious deference to His spokesman's sensitivity (cf. 44:31).

4:16,17 They were soon to have neither bread nor water in any amount, and they were to grieve over the famine and their iniquity (cf. Lev. 26:21-26).

5:1-4 a barber's razor. The sign in shaving his hair illustrated the severe humiliation to come at the hand of enemies, emphasizing calamities to three segments of Jerusalem due to the Babylonian conquest. Some were punished by fire, i.e., pestilence and famine (v. 12), others died by the enemy's sword, and some were dispersed and pursued by death (cf. v. 12). A small part of his hair clinging to his garment (v. 3) depicted a remaining remnant, some of whom were subject to further calamity (v. 4; cf. 6:8; Jer. 41–44).

5:5 Jerusalem. Here the great city alone was not meant, but was used as a representative of the whole land which, despite its strategic opportunity and responsibility, rejected God (vv. 6,7).

5:7 Instead of being a witness to the heathen nations, Israel had exceeded them in idolatrous practices. The nations maintained their familiar idols, while Israel defected from their true and living God. God's people were worse than the pagans in proportion to spiritual knowledge and privileges. The judgments of God are always relative to light and privilege granted. Since Ezekiel's people were unique in their disobedience, they were to be outstanding in their punishment.

5:8-10 The book of Lamentations reveals how literally these promises were realized when parents ate their children and sons ate their fathers in the times of starvation. Down through the centuries had come the threats of Lev. 26:29 and Deut. 28:53, taken up by Jeremiah (Jer. 19:9; Lam. 2:22; 4:10; cf. Is. 9:20), and sealed in the life of the disobedient nation. Even the remnant would be scattered and suffer.

5:11 as I live. Here was a solemn oath pledging the very existence of God for the fulfillment of the prophecy. It is found 14 times in this book. Their greatest sin was defiling the sanctuary, showing the height of their wickedness.

5:12 The 4 well known judgments (cf. vv. 2-4) of pestilence, famine, sword, and scattering were their judgment. They had no place to offer atoning blood, thus bearing their sins without relief.

5:13-15 Ezekiel's purpose was to impress on Israel's conscience God's intense hatred of idolatry and apostasy. "Fury" and "anger" are repeated 6 times.

15 'So [3]it shall be a [w]reproach, a taunt, a [x]lesson, and an astonishment to the nations that are all around you, when I execute judgments among you in anger and in fury and in [y]furious rebukes. I, the LORD, have spoken. 16 When I [z]send against them the terrible arrows of famine which shall be for destruction, which I will send to destroy you, I will increase the famine upon you and cut off your [a]supply of bread. 17 So I will send against you famine and [b]wild beasts, and they will bereave you. [c]Pestilence and blood shall pass through you, and I will bring the sword against you. I, the LORD, have spoken.' "

Judgment on Idolatrous Israel

6 Now the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 2 "Son of man, [a]set your face toward the [b]mountains of Israel, and prophesy against them, 3 and say, 'O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD! Thus says the Lord GOD to the mountains, to the hills, to the ravines, and to the valleys: "Indeed I, even I, will bring a sword against you, and [c]I will destroy your [1]high places. 4 Then your altars shall be desolate, your incense altars shall be broken, and [d]I will cast down your slain men before your idols. 5 And I will lay the corpses of the children of Israel before their idols, and I will scatter your bones all around your altars. 6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be laid waste, and the [2]high places shall be desolate, so that your altars may be laid waste and made desolate, your idols may be broken and made to cease, your incense altars may be cut down, and your works may be abolished. 7 The slain shall fall in your midst, and [e]you shall know that I am the LORD.

8 [f]"Yet I will leave a remnant, so that you may have some who escape the sword among the nations, when you are [g]scattered through the countries. 9 Then those of you who escape will [h]remember Me among the nations where they are carried captive, because [i]I was crushed by their adulterous heart which has departed from Me, and [j]by their eyes which play the harlot after their idols; [k]they will loathe themselves for the evils which they committed in all their abominations. 10 And they shall know that I am the LORD; I have not said in vain that I would bring this calamity upon them."

11 'Thus says the Lord GOD: [l]"Pound [3]your fists and stamp your feet, and say, 'Alas, for all the evil abominations of the house of Israel! [m]For they shall fall by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence. 12 He who is far off shall die by the pestilence, he who is near shall fall by the sword, and he who remains and is besieged shall die by the famine. [n]Thus will I spend My fury upon them. 13 Then you shall know that I am the LORD, when their slain are among their idols all around their altars, [o]on every high hill, [p]on all the mountaintops, [q]under every green tree, and under every thick oak, wherever they offered sweet incense to all their idols. 14 So I will [r]stretch out My hand against them and make the land desolate, yes, more desolate than the wilderness toward [s]Diblah, in all their dwelling places. Then they shall know that I am the LORD.' " ' "

Judgment on Israel Is Near

7 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "And you, son of man, thus says the Lord GOD to the land of Israel:

[a]'An end! The end has come upon the four corners of the land.
3 Now the end has come upon you,
And I will send My anger against you;
I will judge you [b]according to your ways,
And I will repay you for all your abominations.
4 [c]My eye will not spare you,
Nor will I have pity;
But I will repay your ways,
And your abominations will be in your midst;
[d]Then you shall know that I am the LORD!'

5:16 arrows of famine. The evil arrows included hail, rain, mice, locusts, and mildew (cf. Deut. 32:23,24).

5:17 I, the LORD, have spoken. Cf. vv. 13,15 for the same expression, which was God's personal signature on their doom.

6:3 says the Lord...to the mountains. God had the prophet do this because the people worshiped at idol altars in the "high places" (cf. Lev. 26:30-33; Is. 65:7; Jer. 3:6; Hos. 4:13; Mic. 6:1,2).

6:7 you shall know that I am the LORD. This clause recurs in vv. 10,13,14 and 60 times elsewhere in the book. It shows that the essential reason for judgment is the violation of the character of God. This is repeatedly acknowledged in Lev. 18–26, where the motive for all obedience to God's law is the fact that He is the Lord God.

6:8-10 The mass of people was rejected, but grace and mercy were given to a godly group in the nation. There never has been nor ever will be a complete end to Israel. The doctrine of the remnant can be studied in Is. 1:9; 10:20; Jer. 43:5; Zeph. 2:7; 3:13; Zech. 10:9; Rom. 9:6-13; 11:5.

6:14 Diblah. A reference to Diblathaim, a city on the eastern edge of Moab (Num. 33:46; Jer. 48:22), near the desert E and S of the Dead Sea.

7:1-9 This lament declared that the entire land of Israel was ripe for judgment. God's patience had ended. The final destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar was in view (586 B.C.).

5 "Thus says the Lord GOD:

'A disaster, a singular [e]disaster;
Behold, it has come!
6 An end has come,
The end has come;
It has dawned for you;
Behold, it has come!
7 [f]Doom has come to you, you who dwell in the land;
[g]The time has come,
A day of trouble is near,
And not of rejoicing in the mountains.
8 Now upon you I will soon [h]pour out My fury,
And spend My anger upon you;
I will judge you according to your ways,
And I will repay you for all your abominations.

9 'My eye will not spare,
Nor will I have pity;
I will [1]repay you according to your ways,
And your abominations will be in your midst.
Then you shall know that I am the LORD who strikes.

10 'Behold, the day!
Behold, it has come!
[i]Doom has gone out;
The rod has blossomed,
Pride has budded.
11 [j]Violence has risen up into a rod of wickedness;
None of them shall remain,
None of their multitude,
None of [2]them;
[k]Nor shall there be wailing for them.
12 The time has come,
The day draws near.

'Let not the buyer [l]rejoice,
Nor the seller [m]mourn,
For wrath is on their whole multitude.
13 For the seller shall not return to what has been sold,
Though he may still be alive;
For the vision concerns the whole multitude,
And it shall not turn back;
No one will strengthen himself
Who lives in iniquity.

14 'They have blown the trumpet and made everyone ready,
But no one goes to battle;
For My wrath is on all their multitude.
15 [n]The sword is outside,
And the pestilence and famine within.
Whoever is in the field
Will die by the sword;
And whoever is in the city,
Famine and pestilence will devour him.

16 'Those who [o]survive will escape and be on the mountains
Like doves of the valleys,
All of them mourning,
Each for his iniquity.
17 Every [p]hand will be feeble,
And every knee will be as weak as water.
18 They will also [q]be girded with sackcloth;
Horror will cover them;
Shame will be on every face,
Baldness on all their heads.

19 'They will throw their silver into the streets,
And their gold will be like refuse;
Their [r]silver and their gold will not be able to deliver them
In the day of the wrath of the LORD;
They will not satisfy their souls,
Nor fill their stomachs,
Because it became their stumbling block of iniquity.

20 'As for the beauty of his ornaments,
He set it in majesty;
[s]But they made from it
The images of their abominations—
Their detestable things;
Therefore I have made it
Like refuse to them.

7:10 rod has blossomed. Verse 11 explains this. Violence had grown up into a rod of wickedness, which likely refers to Nebuchadnezzar, the instrument of God's vengeance (cf. Is. 10:5; Jer. 51:20).

7:12 buyer rejoice...seller mourn. Such matters of business were meaningless because the Chaldeans (Babylonians) took all the land and killed those they didn't take captive (v. 15) and the rest escaped (v. 16). Wealth was useless (vv. 19,20).

7:13 seller shall not return to...sold. There was to be no Jubilee year in which all lands were returned to their original owners (cf. Lev. 25).

7:17-22 This section described the mourning of the helpless and frightened people. In distress, they recognized the uselessness of the things in which they trusted. Their wealth provided nothing. Their "silver and gold" (v. 19), their "ornaments" (v. 20) were as useless as the idols they made with them.

21 I will give it as [t]plunder

And they shall defile it.
22 I will turn My face from them,
And they will defile My secret place;
For robbers shall enter it and defile it.

For [u]the land is filled with crimes of blood,
And the city is full of violence.
24 Therefore I will bring the [v]worst of the Gentiles,
And they will possess their houses;
I will cause the pomp of the strong to cease,
And their holy places shall be [w]defiled.
25 [3]Destruction comes;
They will seek peace, but there shall be none.
26 [x]Disaster will come upon disaster,

Abominations in the Temple

CHAPTER 8

8 And it came to pass in the sixth year, in the sixth month, on the fifth day of the month, as I sat in my house with [a]the elders of Judah sitting before me, that [b]the hand of the Lord GOD fell upon me there. 2 [c]Then I looked, and there was a likeness, like the appearance of fire—from the appearance of His waist and downward, fire; and from His waist and upward, like the appearance of brightness, [d]like the color of amber. 3 He [e]stretched out the form of a hand, and took me by a lock of my hair; and [f]the Spirit lifted me up between earth and heaven, and [g]brought me in visions of God to Jerusalem, to the door of the north gate of the inner court, [h]where the seat of the image of jealousy was, which [i]provokes[1] to jealousy. 4 And behold, the [j]glory of the God of Israel was there, like the vision that I [k]saw in the plain.

5 Then He said to me, "Son of man, lift your eyes now toward the north." So I lifted my eyes toward the north, and there, north of the altar gate, was this image of jealousy in the entrance.

6 Furthermore He said to me, "Son of man, do you see what they are doing, the great [l]abominations that the house of Israel commits here, to make Me go far away from My sanctuary? Now turn again, you will see greater abominations." 7 So He brought me to the door of the court; and when I looked, there was a hole in the wall. 8 Then He said to me, "Son of man, dig into the wall"; and when I dug into the wall, there was a door.

9 And He said to me, "Go in, and see the wicked abominations which they are doing there." 10 So I went in and saw, and there—every [m]sort of [n]creeping thing, abominable beasts, and all the idols of the house of Israel, [2]portrayed all around on 7:22 My secret place. The Holy of Holies in the temple will be desecrated by pagans, that place where only once a year the High-Priest could enter to make atonement in God's presence.

7:23 Make a chain. Ezekiel is to perform another emblematic act of captivity (cf. Jer. 27:2; Nah. 3:10).

8:1 the sixth year. 592 B.C. (cf. 1:2) in Aug./Sep., a year and two months after the first vision (1:1). the hand of the Lord. This ushered the prophet into a series of visions (v. 3) stretching to the end of chap. 11.

8:2 a likeness. He saw the glory of the Lord (v. 4) as in 1:26-28.

8:3 in visions of God. Ezekiel 8–11 deals with details conveyed only to Ezekiel in visions. Ezekiel's trip to Jerusalem was in spirit only, while his body physically remained in his house. In visions, he went to Jerusalem and in visions he returned to Babylon (11:24). After God finished the visions, Ezekiel told his home audience what he had seen. The visions are not a description of deeds done in the past in Israel, but a survey of Israel's current condition, as they existed at that very time. the seat...image of jealousy. God represents to Ezekiel the image of an idol (cf. Deut. 4:16) in the entrance to the inner court of the temple. It is called "the image of jealousy" because it provoked the Lord to jealousy (5:13; 16:38; 36:6; 38:19; Ex. 20:5).

8:4 the glory of...God. God was also there in glory, but was ignored while the people worshiped the idol (v. 6).

8:6 to make Me go far away. Sin would expel the people from their land and God from His sanctuary.

8:7-12 This section describes "greater abominations" (v. 6) of idolatry, namely a secret cult of idolatrous elders.

8:8 dig into the wall...a door. This indicates the clandestine (cf. v. 12) secrecy of these idolaters, practicing their cult in hiding.

8:10 portrayed...on the walls. The temple's walls are ugly with graffiti featuring creatures linked with Egyptian animal cults (cf. Rom 1:23) and other idols. Leaders of Israel, who should be worshiping the God of the temple, are offering incense to them (v. 11).

the walls. 11 And there stood before them [o]seventy men of the elders of the house of Israel, and in their midst stood Jaazaniah the son of Shaphan. Each man had a censer in his hand, and a thick cloud of incense went up. 12 Then He said to me, "Son of man, have you seen what the elders of the house of Israel do in the dark, every man in the room of his idols? For they say, [p]'The LORD does not see us, the LORD has forsaken the land.' "

13 And He said to me, "Turn again, and you will see greater abominations that they are doing." 14 So He brought me to the door of the north gate of the LORD's house; and to my dismay, women were sitting there weeping for [3]Tammuz.

15 Then He said to me, "Have you seen this, O son of man? Turn again, you will see greater abominations than these." 16 So He brought me into the inner court of the LORD's house; and there, at the door of the temple of the LORD, [q]between the porch and the altar, [r]were about twenty-five men [s]with their backs toward the temple of the LORD and their faces toward the east, and they were worshiping [t]the sun toward the east.

17 And He said to me, "Have you seen this, O son of man? Is it a trivial thing to the house of Judah to commit the abominations which they commit here? For they have [u]filled the land with violence; then they have returned to provoke Me to anger. Indeed they put the branch to their nose. 18 [v]Therefore I also will act in fury. My eye will not spare nor will I have pity; and though they [x]cry in My ears with a loud voice, I will not hear them."

The Wicked Are Slain

CHAPTER 9

9 Then He called out in my hearing with a loud voice, saying, "Let those who have charge over the city draw near, each with a [1]deadly weapon in his hand." 2 And suddenly six men came from the direction of the upper gate, which faces north, each with his [2]battle-ax in his hand. [a]One man among them was clothed with linen and had a writer's inkhorn [3]at his side. They went in and stood beside the bronze altar.

3 Now [b]the glory of the God of Israel had gone up from the cherub, where it had been, to the threshold of the [4]temple. And He called to the man clothed with linen, who had the writer's inkhorn at his side; 4 and the LORD said to him, "Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem, and put [c]a mark on the foreheads of the men [d]who sigh and cry over all the abominations that are done within it."

5 To the others He said in my [5]hearing, "Go after him through the city and [e]kill;[6] [f]do not let your eye spare, nor have any pity. 6 [g]Utterly[7] slay old and young men, maidens and little children and women; but [h]do not come near anyone on whom is the mark; and [i]begin at My sanctuary." [j]So they began with the elders who were before

8:11 seventy...elders. Obviously not the Sanhedrin, since it was not formed until after the restoration from Babylon, though the pattern had been suggested much earlier (cf. Ex. 24:9,10; Num. 11:16). These men were appointed to guard against idolatry! Jaazaniah...son of Shaphan. If he was the son of the Shaphan who read God's Word to Josiah (2 Kin. 22:8-11), we have some concept of the depth of sin to which the leaders had fallen. He is not to be confused with the man in 11:1, who had a different father.

8:14 weeping for Tammuz. Yet a greater abomination than the secret cult was Israel's engaging in the Babylonian worship of Tammuz or Dumuzi (Duzu), beloved of Ishtar, the god of spring vegetation. Vegetation burned in the summer, died in the winter, and came to life in the spring. The women mourned over the god's demise in July and longed for his revival. The fourth month of the Hebrew calendar still bears the name Tammuz. With the worship of this idol were connected the basest immoralities.

8:16 worshiping the sun. In the most sacred inner court where only priests could go (Joel 2:17), there was the crowning insult to God. Twenty-five men were worshiping the sun as an idol (cf. Deut 4:19; 2 Kin. 23:5,11; Job 31:26; Jer. 44:17). These 25 represent the 24 orders of priests plus the High-Priest.

8:17 put the branch to their nose. The meaning is uncertain, but it seems to have been some act of contempt toward God. The Gr. OT translators rendered it, "they are as mockers."

8:18 I...will act in fury. God must judge intensely due to such horrible sins (cf. 24:9,10).

9:1 charge over the city. God summoned His servant angels to carry out His judgments. These angelic executioners (cf. Dan. 4:13, 17,23) came equipped with weapons of destruction.

9:2 six men. Angels can appear like men when ministering on earth (cf. Gen. 18:1; Dan. 9:20-23). One man. He was superior to the others. Linen indicates high rank (cf. Dan. 10:5; 12:6). Perhaps this was the Angel of the Lord, the pre-incarnate Christ (see note on Ex. 3:2). He had all the instruments of an oriental scribe to carry out His task (vv. 4,11).

9:3 the glory...had gone up. The glory of God departs before the destruction of the city and temple. The gradual departure of God from His temple is depicted in stages: the glory resides in the temple's Most Holy Place, between the wings of the cherubs on each side of the ark of the covenant over the mercy seat, then leaves to the front door (9:3; 10:4), later to the E gate by the outer wall (10:18,19), and finally to the Mt. of Olives to the E, having fully departed (11:22,23). The glory will return in the future kingdom of Messiah (43:2-7).

9:4 a mark on the foreheads. Since God's departure removed all protection and gave the people over to destruction, it was necessary for the angelic scribe (Angel of the Lord) to mark for God's preservation the righteous who had been faithful to Him. Those left unmarked were subject to death in Babylon's siege (v. 5). The mark was the indication of God's elect, identified personally by the pre-incarnate Christ. He was marking the elect (cf. Ex. 12:7). Malachi 3:16-18 indicates a similar idea. Cf. Rev. 7:3; 9:4. The marked ones were penitent and were identified for protection. Here was a respite of grace for the remnant. The rest were to be killed (vv. 5-7).

the [8]temple. 7 Then He said to them, "Defile the [9]temple, and fill the courts with the slain. Go out!" And they went out and killed in the city.

8 So it was, that while they were killing them, I was left alone; and I [k]fell on my face and cried out, and said, [l]"Ah, Lord GOD! Will You destroy all the remnant of Israel in pouring out Your fury on Jerusalem?"

9 Then He said to me, "The iniquity of the house of Israel and Judah is exceedingly great, and [m]the land is full of bloodshed, and the city full of perversity; for they say, [n]'The LORD has forsaken the land, and [o]the LORD does not see!' 10 And as for Me also, My [p]eye will neither spare, nor will I have pity, but [q]I will recompense their deeds on their own head."

11 Just then, the man clothed with linen, who had the inkhorn at his side, reported back and said, "I have done as You commanded me."

The Glory Departs from the Temple

10 And I looked, and there in the [a]firmament[1] that was above the head of the cherubim, there appeared something like a sapphire stone, having the appearance of the likeness of a throne. 2 [b]Then He spoke to the man clothed with linen, and said, "Go in among the wheels, under the cherub, fill your hands with [c]coals of fire from among the cherubim, and [d]scatter them over the city." And he went in as I watched.

3 Now the cherubim were standing on the [2]south side of the [3]temple when the man went in, and the [e]cloud filled the inner court. 4 [f]Then the glory of the LORD went up from the cherub, and paused over the threshold of the [4]temple; and [g]the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was full of the brightness of the LORD's [h]glory. 5 And the [i]sound of the wings of the cherubim was heard even in the outer court, like [j]the voice of Almighty God when He speaks.

6 Then it happened, when He commanded the man clothed in linen, saying, "Take fire from among the wheels, from among the cherubim," that he went in and stood beside the wheels. 7 And the cherub stretched out his hand from among the cherubim to the fire that was among the cherubim, and took some of it and put it into the hands of the man clothed with linen, who took it and went out. 8 [k]The cherubim appeared to have the form of a man's hand under their wings.

9 [l]And when I looked, there were four wheels by the cherubim, one wheel by one cherub and another wheel by each other cherub; the wheels appeared to have the color of a [m]beryl stone. 10 As for their appearance, all four looked alike—as it were, a wheel in the middle of a wheel. 11 [n]When they went, they went toward any of their four directions; they did not turn aside when they went, but followed in the direction the head was facing. They did not turn aside when they went. 12 And their whole body, with their back, their hands, their wings, and the wheels that the four had, were [o]full of eyes all around. 13 As for the wheels, they were called in my [5]hearing, "Wheel."

14 [p]Each one had four faces: the first face was the face of a cherub, the second face the face of a man, the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle. 15 And the cherubim were lifted up. This was [q]the living creature I saw by the River Chebar. 16 [r]When the cherubim went, the wheels went beside them; and when the

9:8 Will You destroy all? Ezekiel is fearfully aroused in prayer because the judgment on Jerusalem and Israel is so vast. God replies that pervasive sin demands thorough judgment (vv. 9,10), yet comforts him by the report that the faithful had been marked to be spared (v. 11). Cf. Rom 11:1,2,25-27.

10:1 a throne. It rises above God's angelic servants, the same 4 as in chap. 1 (10:20,22), and is the throne of 1:26-28 on which God sits (cf. 10:20). From it, He directs the operation of His war machine ("wheels," see note on 1:15,16) on Jerusalem (v. 2). The throne is like a sapphire shining forth representing God's glory and holiness (11:22).

10:2 fill...with coals. God specifies that the marking angel (9:2,11) reach into the war machine and fill his hands with fiery coals in the presence of the angels of chap. 1. These coals picture the fires of judgment which God's angels are to "scatter" on Jerusalem. In Is. 6, "coals" were used for the purification of the prophet; here they were for the destruction of the wicked (cf. Heb. 12:29). Fire did destroy Jerusalem in 586 B.C.

10:3 cherubim. These were different from the cherubim of chap. 1 and here in v. 4.

10:4 This verse explains how the "cloud" of v. 3 "filled the inner court." It repeats what is first described in 9:3.

10:6,7 These verses picked up the action of the angelic scribe from v. 2.

10:7 cherub...put it into the hands. One of the 4 cherubim of 1:5ff. and v. 1 puts the fiery coals into the marking angel's hand.

10:9-17 wheels by the cherubim. This whole section is similar to 1:4-21. Four wheels on God's chariot mingled with the 4 angels (cf. 1:15-21) coordinated with each other in precision, and each with a different one of the cherubim. All looked so much alike that it was as if one wheel blended entirely with another (v. 10). As their appearance was so unified, their action was in unison, and instant (v. 11). The cherubim had bodies like men and their chariot wheels were full of eyes denoting full perception both to see the sinners and their fitting judgment. The color beryl is a sparkling yellow or gold.

10:14 the face of a cherub. This description of one cherub in 1:10 indicates this was the face of an ox.

10:15 lifted up. They were all ready to move in unison (vv. 16,17) as the Shekinah glory of God departed (v. 18).

cherubim lifted their wings to mount up from the earth, the same wheels also did not turn from beside them. 17 [s]When [6]the cherubim stood still, the wheels stood still, and when [7]one was lifted up, [8]the other lifted itself up, for the spirit of the living creature was in them.

18 Then [t]the glory of the LORD [u]departed from the threshold of the [9]temple and stood over the cherubim. 19 And [v]the cherubim lifted their wings and mounted up from the earth in my sight. When they went out, the wheels were beside them; and they stood at the door of the [w]east gate of the LORD's house, and the glory of the God of Israel was above them.

20 [x]This is the living creature I saw under the God of Israel [y]by the River Chebar, and I knew they were cherubim. 21 [z]Each one had four faces and each one four wings, and the likeness of the hands of a man was under their wings. 22 And [a]the likeness of their faces was the same as the faces which I had seen by the River Chebar, their appearance and their persons. Judgment on Wicked Counselors

11 Then [a]the Spirit lifted me up and brought me to [b]the East Gate of the LORD's house, which faces eastward; and there [c]at the door of the gate were twenty-five men, among whom I saw Jaazaniah the son of Azzur, and Pelatiah the son of Benaiah, princes of the people. 2 And He said to me: "Son of man, these are the men who devise iniquity and give wicked [1]counsel in this city, 3 who say, 'The time is not [d]near to build houses; [e]this city is the [2]caldron, and we are the meat.' 4 Therefore prophesy against them, prophesy, O son of man!"

5 Then [f]the Spirit of the LORD fell upon me, and said to me, "Speak! 'Thus says the LORD: "Thus you have said, O house of Israel; for [g]I know the things that come into your mind. 6 [h]You have multiplied your slain in this city, and you have filled its streets with the slain." 7 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: [i]"Your slain whom you have laid in its midst, they are the meat, and this city is the caldron; [j]but I shall bring you out of the midst of it. 8 You have [k]feared the sword; and I will bring a sword upon you," says the Lord GOD. 9 "And I will bring you out of its midst, and deliver you into the hands of strangers, and [l]execute judgments on you. 10 [m]You shall fall by the sword. I will judge you at [n]the border of Israel. [o]Then you shall know that I am the LORD. 11 [p]This city shall not be your [3]caldron, nor shall you be the meat in its midst. I will judge you at the border of Israel. 12 And you shall know that I am the LORD; for you have not walked in My statutes nor executed My judgments, but [q]have done according to the customs of the Gentiles which are all around you." ' "

13 Now it happened, while I was prophesying, that [r]Pelatiah the son of Benaiah died. Then [s]I fell on my face and cried with a loud voice, and said, "Ah, Lord GOD! Will You make a complete end of the remnant of Israel?"

God Will Restore Israel

14 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 15 "Son of man, your brethren, your relatives, your countrymen, and all the house of Israel in its entirety, are those 11:1 twenty-five men. Ezekiel, though at the temple only in the vision (cf. 8:3, and see note there), saw because God, who was everywhere present and all-knowing, impressed specific details on him in the vision. The wicked leaders (cf. v. 2) were part of God's reason for the judgment (vv. 8,10). Ezekiel was taken in spirit to the very place which the glory of God had left in 10:19 and was given a vision of "twenty-five men," who represented, not priests, but influential leaders among the people, who gave fatal advice to the people (v. 2). Jaazaniah the son of Azzur. See note on 8:11.

11:3 caldron...meat. Though this is obscure, it may be that the bad advice these leaders were giving was that the people should not be engaged in business as usual, "building houses" or taking care of their comfort and futures, when they were about to be cooked like meat in a pot over a blazing fire. The idea must have been that the people should get ready for battle, and be prepared to fight, not focusing on comfort, but survival. Jeremiah had told the people to surrender to the Babylonians and save their lives, rather than fight and be killed (cf. Jer. 27:9-17). These false leaders, like the prophets and priests whom Jeremiah confronted for telling the people not to submit, scorned Jeremiah's words from God and would pay for it (v. 4). Cf. 24:1-14.

11:6 multiplied your slain. Leaders who misled Israel by inciting false expectations of a victorious defense, rather than peaceful surrender, were responsible for the deadly results. Many people died in resisting Babylon.

11:7 I shall bring you out. The false leaders thought that unless they fought, they would all be in a caldron, i.e., the city. But here the Lord promised that some would be delivered from the city, only to die on Israel's border in the wilderness (vv. 8-11). This was literally fulfilled at Riblah (cf. 2 Kin. 25:18-21; Jer. 52:24-27).

11:13 Pelatiah...died. The death of one leader from v. 1 was a sign that God would indeed carry out His word. Apparently this leader did die suddenly at the time Ezekiel was shown the vision, so that the prophet feared that this death meant death for all Israelites (9:8).

11:14,15 Ezekiel was told he had a new family, not the priests at Jerusalem to whom he was tied by blood, but his fellow exiles in Babylon, identified as those who were treated as outcasts. The priesthood was about to be ended and he was to have a new family.

about whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said, 'Get far away from the LORD; this land has been given to us as a possession.' 16 Therefore say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Although I have cast them far off among the Gentiles, and although I have scattered them among the countries, [t]yet I shall be a little [4]sanctuary for them in the countries where they have gone." ' 17 Therefore say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: [u]"I will gather you from the peoples, assemble you from the countries where you have been scattered, and I will give you the land of Israel." ' 18 And they will go there, and they will take away all its [v]detestable things and all its abominations from there. 19 Then [w]I will give them one heart, and I will put [x]a new spirit within [5]them, and take [y]the stony heart out of their flesh, and give them a heart of flesh, 20 [z]that they may walk in My statutes and keep My judgments and do them; [a]and they shall be My people, and I will be their God. 21 But as for those whose hearts follow the desire for their detestable things and their abominations, [b]I will recompense their deeds on their own heads," says the Lord GOD.

22 So the cherubim [c]lifted up their wings, with the wheels beside them, and the glory of the God of Israel was high above them. 23 And [d]the glory of the LORD went up from the midst of the city and stood [e]on the mountain, [f]which is on the east side of the city.

24 Then [g]the Spirit took me up and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into [6]Chaldea, to those in captivity. And the vision that I had seen went up from me. 25 So I spoke to those in captivity of all the things the LORD had shown me.

Judah's Captivity Portrayed

CHAPTER 12

12 Now the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 2 "Son of man, you dwell in the midst of [a]a rebellious house, which [b]has eyes to see but does not see, and ears to hear but does not hear; [c]for they are a rebellious house.

3 "Therefore, son of man, prepare your belongings for captivity, and go into captivity by day in their sight. You shall go from your place into captivity to another place in their sight. It may be that they will consider, though they are a rebellious house. 4 By day you shall bring out your belongings in their sight, as though going into captivity; and at evening you shall go in their sight, like those who go into captivity. 5 Dig through the wall in their sight, and carry your belongings out through it. 6 In their sight you shall bear them on your shoulders and carry them out at twilight; you shall cover your face, so that you cannot see the ground, [d]for I have made you a sign to the house of Israel."

7 So I did as I was commanded. I brought out my belongings by day, as though going into captivity, and at evening I dug through the wall with my hand. I brought them out at twilight, and I bore them on my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 9 "Son of man, has not the house of Israel, [e]the rebellious house, said to you, [f]'What are you doing?' 10 Say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "This [g]burden [1]concerns the prince in Jeru-

11:15 Get far away. The contemptuous words of those still left in Jerusalem at the carrying away of Jeconiah and the exiles indicated that they felt smugly secure and believed the land was their possession.

11:16 little sanctuary. This is better rendered "for a little while," i.e., however long the captivity lasted. God was to be the protection and provision for those who had been scattered through all the 70 years until they were restored. The exiles may have cast off the Jews, but God had not (Is. 8:14). This holds true for the future restoration of the Jews (vv. 17,18).

11:19,20 a new spirit. God pledged not only to restore Ezekiel's people to their ancient land, but to bring the New Covenant with its blessings. Cf. 36:25-28, and see notes on Jer. 31:31ff.

11:23 the mountain...east. The glory of God moved to the Mt. of Olives to which the glorious Son of God will return at the Second Advent (cf. 43:1-5; Zech. 14:4).

11:24 brought me in a vision. Again, Ezekiel has remained bodily in his Babylonian house, seen by his visitors (v. 25; 8:1). God, who supernaturally showed him a vision in Jerusalem, caused his sense of awareness to return to Chaldea, thus ending the vision state. Once the vision was completed, Ezekiel was able to tell his exiled countrymen what God had shown him (v. 25).

12:2 a rebellious house. The message of Ezekiel was addressed to his fellow exiles who were as hardened as those still in Jerusalem. They were so intent on a quick return to Jerusalem, that they would not accept his message of Jerusalem's destruction. Their rebellion is described in familiar terms (Deut. 29:1-4; Is. 6:9,10; Jer. 5:21; cf. Matt. 13:13-15; Acts 28:26,27).

12:3 prepare...for captivity. This dramatic object lesson by the prophet called for carrying belongings out in a stealthy way as an act that depicted baggage for exile, just the bare necessities. His countrymen carried out such baggage when they went into captivity, or sought to escape during Babylon's takeover of Jerusalem (vv. 7,11). Some attempting to escape were caught as in a net, like King Zedekiah who was overtaken, blinded, and forced into exile (vv. 12,13; 2 Kin. 24:18–25:7; Jer. 39:4-7; 52:1-11). Verse 9 indicates that Ezekiel actually did what he was told.

12:5 This section depicts those in desperation trying to escape from their sun-dried brick homes.

12:6 cover your face. This was to avoid recognition.

12:10-13 the prince. This is a reference to King Zedekiah, who was always referred to by Ezekiel as prince, never king. Jehoiachin was regarded as the true king (cf. 17:13), because the Babylonians never deposed him formally. All the house of Israel, however, shared the calami-salem and all the house of Israel who are among them." ' 11 Say, [h]'I am a sign to you. As I have done, so shall it be done to them; [i]they shall be carried away into captivity.' 12 And [j]the prince who is among them shall bear his belongings on his shoulder at twilight and go out. They shall dig through the wall to carry them out through it. He shall cover his face, so that he cannot see the ground with his eyes. 13 I will also spread My [k]net over him, and he shall be caught in My snare. [l]I will bring him to Babylon, to the land of the Chaldeans; yet he shall not see it, though he shall die there. 14 [m]I will scatter to every wind all who are around him to help him, and all his troops; and [n]I will draw out the sword after them.

15 [o]"Then they shall know that I am the LORD, when I scatter them among the nations and disperse them throughout the countries. 16 [p]But I will spare a few of their men from the sword, from famine, and from pestilence, that they may declare all their abominations among the Gentiles wherever they go. Then they shall know that I am the LORD."

Judgment Not Postponed

17 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 18 "Son of man, [q]eat your bread with [2]quaking, and drink your water with trembling and anxiety. 19 And say to the people of the land, 'Thus says the Lord GOD to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and to the land of Israel: "They shall eat their bread with anxiety, and drink their water with dread, so that her land may [r]be emptied of all who are in it, [s]because of the violence of all those who dwell in it. 20 Then the cities that are inhabited shall be laid waste, and the land shall become desolate; and you shall know that I am the LORD." ' "

21 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 22 "Son of man, what is this proverb that you people have about the land of Israel, which says, [t]'The days are prolonged, and every vision fails'? 23 Tell them therefore, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "I will lay this proverb to rest, and they shall no more use it as a proverb in Israel." But say to them, [u]"The days are at hand, and the [3]fulfillment of every vision. 24 For [v]no more shall there be any [w]false[4] vision or flattering divination within the house of Israel. 25 For I am the LORD. I speak, and [x]the word which I speak will come to pass; it will no more be postponed; for in your days, O rebellious house, I will say the word and [y]perform it," says the Lord GOD.' "

26 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 27 [z]"Son of man, look, the house of Israel is saying, 'The vision that he sees is [a]for many days from now, and he prophesies of times far off.' 28 [b]Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "None of My words will be postponed any more, but the word which I speak [c]will be done," says the Lord GOD.' "

Woe to Foolish Prophets

13 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Son of man, prophesy [a]against the prophets of Israel who prophesy, and say to [b]those who prophesy out of their own [c]heart,[1] 'Hear the word of the LORD!' "

3 Thus says the Lord GOD: "Woe to the foolish prophets, who follow their own spirit and have seen [2]nothing! 4 O Israel, your prophets are [d]like foxes in the deserts. 5 You [e]have not gone up into the [3]gaps to build a wall for the house of Israel to stand in battle on the day of the LORD. 6 [f]They have envisioned futility and false divination, saying, 'Thus says the LORD!' But the LORD has [g]not sent them; yet they hope that the word may [4]be confirmed. 7 Have you not seen a futile vision, and have you not spoken false divination?

ty to fall on Zedekiah. How literally these prophecies were fulfilled can be seen from the account in 2 Kin. 25:1-7. The "net" and "snare" (v. 13) were the Babylonian army. He was taken captive to Babylon, but he never saw it because his eyes had been put out at Riblah.

12:14-16 God's hand was to be with the enemy as His rod of correction, with only a few left.

12:22 this proverb. Delay had given the people the false impression that the stroke of judgment would never come. In fact, a saying had become popular, no doubt developed by false prophets who caused the people to reject Ezekiel's visions and prophecies (cf. v. 27) and gave "false divinations" (vv. 23,24).

12:25 in your days. The prophet is explicit about the present time for fulfillment, i.e., in their lifetime.

13:2 against the prophets. False prophets had long flourished in Judah and had been transported to Babylon as well. Here God directs Ezekiel to indict those false prophets for futile assurances of peace (as Jer. 23) in vv. 1-16. Then His attention turns to lying prophetesses in vv. 17-23. The test of a prophet is found in Deut. 13:1-5 and 18:21,22.

13:2,3 heart...spirit. Spurious spokesmen prophesy subjectively out of their minds while claiming to have revelation and authority from the Lord (cf. v. 7).

13:4 like foxes. False prophets did not do anything helpful. Rather, like foxes, they were mischievous and destructive.

13:5 to build a wall. The false prophets did nothing to shore up the spiritual defenses the people so needed in the face of judgment. The enemy had made "gaps" but the false prophets never encouraged the people to repent and return to the Lord. Those who would were called for in 22:30. The "day of the Lord" came in 586 B.C. when the theocracy fell. See note on Is. 2:12.

You say, 'The LORD says,' but I have not spoken."

8 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "Because you have spoken nonsense and envisioned lies, therefore I am indeed against you," says the Lord GOD. 9 "My hand will be [h]against the prophets who envision futility and who [i]divine lies; they shall not be in the assembly of My people, [j]nor be written in the record of the house of Israel, [k]nor shall they enter into the land of Israel. [l]Then you shall know that I am the Lord GOD.

10 "Because, indeed, because they have seduced My people, saying, [m]'Peace!' when there is no peace—and one builds a wall, and they [n]plaster[5] it with untempered mortar— 11 say to those who plaster it with untempered mortar, that it will fall. [o]There will be flooding rain, and you, O great hailstones, shall fall; and a stormy wind shall tear it down. 12 Surely, when the wall has fallen, will it not be said to you, 'Where is the mortar with which you plastered it?' "

13 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "I will cause a stormy wind to break forth in My fury; and there shall be a flooding rain in My anger, and great hailstones in fury to consume it. 14 So I will break down the wall you have plastered with untempered mortar, and bring it down to the ground, so that its foundation will be uncovered; it will fall, and you shall be consumed in the midst of it. [p]Then you shall know that I am the LORD.

15 "Thus will I accomplish My wrath on the wall and on those who have plastered it with untempered mortar; and I will say to you, 'The wall is no more, nor those who plastered it, 16 that is, the prophets of Israel who prophesy concerning Jerusalem, and who [q]see visions of peace for her when there is no peace,' " says the Lord GOD.

17 "Likewise, son of man, [r]set your face against the daughters of your people, [s]who prophesy out of their own [6]heart; prophesy against them, 18 and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Woe to the women who sew magic charms [7]on their sleeves and make veils for the heads of people of every height to hunt souls! Will you [t]hunt the souls of My people, and keep yourselves alive? 19 And will you profane Me among My people [u]for handfuls of barley and for pieces of bread, killing people who should not die, and keeping people alive who should not live, by your lying to My people who listen to lies?"

20 'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I am against your magic charms by which you hunt souls there like [8]birds. I will tear them from your arms, and let the souls go, the souls you hunt like birds. 21 I will also tear off your veils and deliver My people out of your hand, and they shall no longer be as prey in your hand. [v]Then you shall know that I am the LORD.

22 "Because with [w]lies you have made the heart of the righteous sad, whom I have not made sad; and you have [x]strengthened the hands of the wicked, so that he does not turn from his wicked way to save his life. 23 Therefore [y]you shall no longer envision futility nor practice divination; for I will deliver My people out of your hand, and you shall know that I am the LORD." ' "

CHAPTER 14

1 [a] 2 Kin. 6:32; Ezek. 8:1; 20:1; 33:31

13:9 A 3-fold judgment is given to the false prophets: 1) they would not be in the council of God's people; 2) their names would be wiped from the register of Israel (Ezra 2:62); and 3) they would never return to the Land (cf. 20:38).

13:10,11 builds a wall. False prophets had lulled the people into false security. Phony "peace" promises, while sin continued on the brink of God's judgment, was a way, so to speak, of erecting a defective "wall" and whitewashing it to make it look good. Such an unsafe "wall" was doomed to collapse (v. 11) when God would bring His storm, picturing the invaders' assault (v. 11).

13:11-16 These descriptions are all images belonging to the illustration of the wall, not meant to convey real wind, flood, and hail. The Babylonians were the actual destroyers of Israel's hypocritical false spirituality.

13:17-23 Although women are rebuked by Isaiah (3:16–4:1; 32:9-13) and Amos (4:1-3), this is the only OT text where false prophetesses are mentioned. Sorcery was practiced mainly by women. Jezebel is called a false prophetess in Rev. 2:20.

13:18,19 charms...veils...handfuls of barley...bread. Apparently these sorceresses employed all these things in their divinations, hunting down souls for their advantage (v. 20).

13:22 with lies. Predators had saddened the righteous by a false message leading to calamity which involved great loss even for them (cf. 21:3,4). They had encouraged the wicked to expect a bright future, and saw no need to repent to avoid death.

13:23 I will deliver My people. Certainly this was true in the restoration after the 70 years in Babylon, but will be fully true in Messiah's kingdom. God's true promise will bring an end to sorcery and false prophecy (cf. Mic. 3:6,7; Zech. 13:1-6).

14:1-3 elders...came. These leaders came insincerely seeking God's counsel (v. 3; cf. Ps. 66:18), as God reveals to the prophet, who thus saw through their facade and indicted them for determining to pursue their evil way and defy God's will. False prophets of chap. 13 were thriving, as the civil leaders and populace whom they represented set a welcoming climate and inclination for the delusions.

before them [b]that which causes them to stumble into iniquity. [c]Should I let Myself be inquired of at all by them?

4 "Therefore speak to them, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Everyone of the house of Israel who sets up his idols in his heart, and puts before him what causes him to stumble into iniquity, and then comes to the prophet, I the LORD will answer him who comes, according to the multitude of his idols, 5 that I may seize the house of Israel by their heart, because they are all estranged from Me by their idols."'

6 "Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Repent, turn away from your idols, and [d]turn your faces away from all your abominations. 7 For anyone of the house of Israel, or of the strangers who dwell in Israel, who separates himself from Me and sets up his idols in his heart and puts before him what causes him to stumble into iniquity, then comes to a prophet to inquire of him concerning Me, I the LORD will answer him by Myself. 8 [e]I will set My face against that man and make him a [f]sign and a proverb, and I will cut him off from the midst of My people. [g]Then you shall know that I am the LORD.

9 "And if the prophet is induced to speak anything, I the LORD [h]have induced that prophet, and I will stretch out My hand against him and destroy him from among My people Israel. 10 And they shall bear their iniquity; the punishment of the prophet shall be the same as the punishment of the one who inquired, 11 that the house of Israel may [i]no longer stray from Me, nor be profaned anymore with all their transgressions, [j]but that they may be My people and I may be their God," says the Lord GOD.' Judgment on Persistent Unfaithfulness

12 The word of the LORD came again to me, saying: 13 "Son of man, when a land sins against Me by persistent unfaithfulness, I will stretch out My hand against it; I will cut off its [k]supply of bread, send famine on it, and cut off man and beast from it. 14 [l]Even if these three men, Noah, Daniel, and Job, were in it, they would deliver only themselves [m]by their righteousness," says the Lord GOD.

15 "If I cause [n]wild beasts to pass through the land, and they [1]empty it, and make it so desolate that no man may pass through because of the beasts, 16 even [o]though these three men were [2]in it, as I live," says the Lord GOD, "they would deliver neither sons nor daughters; only they would be delivered, and the land would be [p]desolate.

17 "Or if [q]I bring a sword on that land, and say, 'Sword, go through the land,' and I [r]cut off man and beast from it, 18 even [s]though these three men were in it, as I live," says the Lord GOD, "they would deliver neither sons nor daughters, but only they themselves would be delivered.

19 "Or if I send [t]a pestilence into that land and [u]pour out My fury on it in blood, and cut off from it man and beast, 20 even [v]though Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it, as I live," says the Lord GOD, "they would deliver neither son nor daughter; they would deliver only themselves by their righteousness."

21 For thus says the Lord GOD: "How much more it shall be when [w]I send My four [3]severe judgments on Jerusalem—the sword and famine and wild beasts and pestilence—to cut off man and beast from it? 22 [x]Yet behold, there shall be left in it a remnant who will be [y]brought out, both

14:4 I the LORD will answer. They received no verbal answer, but an answer directly from the Lord in the action of judgment.

14:6 turn away. The Lord answered the two-faced inquiry in only one way, by a call to repent. The seekers were turned away from Him to idols (v. 6b), and He must be turned away from them (v. 8a). The guilty, including both those back at Jerusalem and the exiles tolerating the same things, were to repent, turning away from idols to God.

14:8 The punishment echoed the warnings of Lev. 20:3,5,6 and Deut. 28:27.

14:9 induced. God will deceive (entice) a false prophet only in a qualified sense. When one willfully rejects His Word, He places a resulting cloud of darkness, or permits it to continue, hiding the truth so that the person is deceived by his own obstinate self-will. This fits with the same principle as when God gives up Israel to evil statutes (20:25,26), counsel that they insist on as they spurn His Word (20:24,26). When people refuse the truth, He lets them seek after their own inclinations and gives them over to falsehood (20:39). This is the wrath of abandonment noted in Rom. 1:18-32 (cf. 1 Kin. 22:20-23; 2 Thess. 2:11).

14:12 The word...came again. Ezekiel answered a deception that God would never judge the people of Judah, since some righteous were among them. God would honor the presence of the godly (vv. 14,20).

14:13-20 My hand against. God promised 4 acts in His drama of judgment (cf. summary, v. 21). In none could the 3 heroes avert tragedy as advocates. These were: 1) famine; 2) ravages by wild beasts; 3) the sword; and 4) pestilence.

14:14-20 Noah, Daniel, and Job. Jeremiah 7:16 and 15:1-4 provide a close parallel to this passage. According to Jeremiah, even Moses and Samuel, well known for their power in intercessory prayer, would not prevail to deliver Jerusalem and the people. The 3 OT heroes mentioned in this section exhibited power in intercession on behalf of others (cf. Gen. 6:18; Job 42:7-10; Dan. 1,2) at strategic points in redemptive history, and even they could not deliver anyone but themselves if they were there praying earnestly. Even the presence and prayers of the godly could not stop the coming judgment. Genesis 18:22-32 and Jer. 5:1-4 provide rare exceptions to the principle that one man's righteousness is no protection for others.

sons and daughters; surely they will come out to you, and [z]you will see their ways and their doings. Then you will be comforted concerning the disaster that I have brought upon Jerusalem, all that I have brought upon it. 23 And they will comfort you, when you see their ways and their doings; and you shall know that I have done nothing [a]without cause that I have done in it," says the Lord GOD.

The Outcast Vine

15 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 2 "Son of man, how is the wood of the vine better than any other wood, the vine branch which is among the trees of the forest? 3 Is wood taken from it to make any object? Or can men make a peg from it to hang any vessel on? 4 Instead, [a]it is thrown into the fire for fuel; the fire devours both ends of it, and its middle is burned. Is it useful for any work? 5 Indeed, when it was whole, no object could be made from it. How much less will it be useful for any work when the fire has devoured it, and it is burned?

6 "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Like the wood of the vine among the trees of the forest, which I have given to the fire for fuel, so I will give up the inhabitants of Jerusalem; 7 and [b]I will set My face against them. [c]They will go out from one fire, but another fire shall devour them. [d]Then you shall know that I am the LORD, when I set My face against them. 8 Thus I will make the land desolate, because they have persisted in unfaithfulness,' says the Lord GOD."

God's Love for Jerusalem

16 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Son of man, [a]cause Jerusalem to know her abominations, 3 and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD to Jerusalem: "Your [1]birth [b]and your nativity are from the land of Canaan; [c]your father was an Amorite and your mother a Hittite. 4 As for your nativity, [d]on the day you were born your navel cord was not cut, nor were you washed in water to cleanse you; you were not rubbed with salt nor wrapped in swaddling cloths. 5 No eye pitied you, to do any of these things for you, to have compassion on you; but you were thrown out into the open field, when you yourself were [2]loathed on the day you were born.

6 "And when I passed by you and saw you struggling in your own blood, I said to you in your blood, 'Live!' Yes, I said to you in your blood, 'Live!' 7 [e]I made you [3]thrive like a plant in the field; and you grew, matured, and became very beautiful. Your breasts were formed, your hair grew, but you were naked and bare.

8 "When I passed by you again and looked upon you, indeed your time was the time of love; [f]so I spread [4]My wing over you and covered your nakedness. Yes, I [g]swore an oath to you and entered into a [h]covenant with you, and [i]you became Mine," says the Lord GOD.

9 "Then I washed you in water; yes, I thoroughly washed off your blood, and I anointed you with oil. 10 I clothed you in embroidered cloth and gave you sandals of [5]badger skin; I clothed you with fine linen

14:22,23 their ways. An ungodly Jerusalem remnant, brought as captives to join exiled Jews in Babylon, were to be very wicked. Exiles already there, repulsed by this evil, were to realize God's justness in His severe judgment on Jerusalem.

15:1-3 Then the word...came. Israel, often symbolized by a vine (17:6-10; Gen. 49:22; Jer. 2:21), had become useful for nothing. Failing to do the very thing God set her apart to do—bear fruit—she no longer served any purpose and was useless (v. 2). Other trees can be used for construction of certain things, but a fruitless vine is useless (v. 3). It has no value. In every age the people of God have their value in their fruitfulness.

15:4,5 thrown into the fire. The burning of the fruitless vine symbolized judgment in the deportations of 605 B.C. and 597 B.C. leading up to the final conquest in 586 B.C. Isaiah made the same analogy in his prophecy (Is. 5:1-7), saying Israel produced only useless sour berries.

15:6-8 Therefore. The prophet applies the symbol to Israel and predicts the desolation of the city and the land. In the time of the Great Tribulation, it will be so again (cf. Rev. 14:18).

16:1-7 This section covers the period from Abraham entering Canaan (cf. Gen. 12) through the exile in Egypt (cf. Ex. 12).

16:1 the word. This longest chapter in Ezekiel is similar to chap. 23, in that both indict Judah as spiritually immoral (v. 2). The story of Israel's sin and unfaithfulness to the love of God is told in all its sordid, vile character. The chap. is so sad and indicting that some of the ancient rabbis did not allow it to be read in public.

16:3-5 Israel was like an abandoned child. In 16:4-14 we see the history of Israel from her conception to her glory under Solomon.

16:3 birth...Amorite...Hittite. Cf. 16:45. These names identify the residents of Canaan who occupied the land when Abraham migrated there (cf. Gen. 12:5,6). Jerusalem had the same moral character as the rest of Canaan.

16:4,5 Israel, in the day of its birth, was unwanted and uncared for.

16:6 Live! The time intended here is probably the patriarchal period of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, when God formed His people.

16:7 thrive. This refers more to the people than to the land. It seems to refer to the time of Israel's growth during the 430 year stay in Egypt; wild but flourishing and beautiful Israel was "naked," without the benefits of culture and civilization (Gen. 46–Ex. 12; cf. Ex. 1:7,9,12).

16:8-14 This is best taken as the time from the Exodus (Ex. 12ff.) through David's reign (1 Kin. 2).

16:8 the time of love. This refers to the marriageable state. Spreading his "wing" was a custom of espousal (cf. Ruth 3:9) and indicates that God entered into a covenant with the young nation at Mt. Sinai (cf. Ex. 19:5-8). Making a covenant signifies marriage, the figure of God's relation to Israel (cf. Jer. 2:2; 3:1ff.; Hos. 2:2-23).

16:9-14 These gifts were marriage gifts customarily presented to a queen. The crowning may refer to the reigns of David and and covered you with silk. 11 I adorned you with ornaments, *j*put bracelets on your wrists, *k*and a chain on your neck. 12 And I put a *6*jewel in your nose, earrings in your ears, and a beautiful crown on your head. 13 Thus you were adorned with gold and silver, and your clothing was of fine linen, silk, and embroidered cloth. *l*You ate pastry of fine flour, honey, and oil. You were exceedingly *m*beautiful, and succeeded to royalty. 14 *n*Your fame went out among the nations because of your beauty, for it was perfect through My splendor which I had bestowed on you," says the Lord GOD.

Jerusalem's Harlotry

15 o"But you trusted in your own beauty, *p*played the harlot because of your fame, and poured out your harlotry on everyone passing by who would have it. 16 *q*You took some of your garments and adorned multicolored *7*high places for yourself, and played the harlot on them. Such things should not happen, nor be. 17 You have also taken your beautiful jewelry from My gold and My silver, which I had given you, and made for yourself male images and played the harlot with them. 18 You took your embroidered garments and covered them, and you set My oil and My incense before them. 19 Also *r*My food which I gave you—the pastry of fine flour, oil, and honey which I fed you—you set it before them as *8*sweet incense; and so it was," says the Lord GOD.

20 s"Moreover you took your sons and your daughters, whom you bore to Me, and these you sacrificed to them to be devoured. Were your acts of harlotry a small matter, 21 that you have slain My children and offered them up to them by causing them to pass through *the t*fire? 22 And in all your abominations and acts of harlotry you did not remember the days of your *u*youth, *v*when you were naked and bare, struggling in your blood.

23 "Then it was so, after all your wickedness—'Woe, woe to you!' says the Lord GOD— 24 *that w*you also built for yourself a shrine, and *x*made a *9*high place for yourself in every street. 25 You built your high places *y*at the head of every road, and made your beauty to be abhorred. You offered yourself to everyone who passed by, and multiplied your acts of harlotry. 26 You also committed harlotry with *z*the Egyptians, your very fleshly neighbors, and increased your acts of harlotry to *a*provoke Me to anger.

27 "Behold, therefore, I stretched out My hand against you, diminished your *1*allotment, and gave you up to the will of those who hate you, *b*the daughters of the Philistines, who were ashamed of your lewd behavior. 28 You also played the harlot with the *c*Assyrians, because you were insatiable; indeed you played the harlot with them and still were not satisfied. 29 Moreover you multiplied your acts of harlotry as far as the land of the trader, *d*Chaldea; and even then you were not satisfied.

30 "How degenerate is your heart!" says the Lord GOD, "seeing you do all these things, the deeds of a brazen harlot.

Jerusalem's Adultery

31 e"You erected your shrine at the head of every road, and built your *2*high place in every street. Yet you were not like a harlot, because you scorned *f*payment. 32 You are an adulterous wife, who takes strangers instead of her husband. 33 Men make payment to all harlots, but *g*you made your payments to all your lovers, and *3*hired them to come to you from all around for your harlotry. 34 You are the opposite of other women in your harlotry, because no one solicited you to be a harlot. In that you gave payment but no payment was given you, therefore you are the opposite."

Solomon, when Jerusalem became the royal city. Israel was actually a small kingdom but with a great reputation (cf. 1 Kin. 10). This refers to the time from Joshua's conquest of Canaan (Josh. 3ff.) through David's reign (cf. 1 Kin. 2) and into Solomon's time (before 1 Kin. 11).

16:14 My splendor. The nation was truly a trophy of God's grace (cf. Deut. 7:6-8). The presence and glory of the Lord provided Jerusalem with her beauty and prominence.

16:15-34 Continuing the marriage metaphor, this section describes the spiritual harlotry of Israel from Solomon (cf. 1 Kin. 11:1) all the way to Ezekiel's time.

16:15-19 A general summary of the nation's idolatry as she gave herself to the religious practices of the Canaanites. Every gracious gift from God was devoted to idols.

16:20-22 sons...daughters. This refers to the sacrifices of children to pagan gods (cf. 20:25,26,31; 2 Kin. 16:3; 21:6; 23:10; 24:4). God had expressly forbidden this (cf. Deut. 12:31; 18:10). Still, the children were first slain, then burned (cf. Jer. 7:31; 19:5; 32:35; Mic. 6:7) until Josiah's abolition of it. It had been reinstated in Ezekiel's day.

16:23-30 This section, partly woe and partly lament, spoke to Judah's obsession with idolatry and her being influenced by Egypt (v. 26), the Philistines (v. 27), Assyria (v. 28), and Babylon (v. 29).

16:27 ashamed. The wickedness and gross evil of the Jews even scandalized pagan Philistines.

16:29 Chaldea. They even prostituted themselves with the Babylonians (cf. 2 Kin. 20:12-19).

16:31-34 It is wicked to be solicited and then paid for immorality. Israel engaged in far worse behavior—she solicited and even paid her idol consorts. This refers to the heavy tribute Israel had to pay to the godless nations.

Jerusalem's Lovers Will Abuse Her

35 'Now then, O harlot, hear the word of the LORD! 36 Thus says the Lord GOD:
"Because your filthiness was poured out and your nakedness uncovered in your harlotry with your lovers, and with all your abominable idols, and because of [h]the blood of your children which you gave to them, 37 surely, therefore, [i]I will gather all your lovers with whom you took pleasure, all those you loved, and all those you hated; I will gather them from all around against you and will uncover your nakedness to them, that they may see all your nakedness. 38 And I will judge you as [j]women who break wedlock or [k]shed blood are judged; I will bring blood upon you in fury and jealousy. 39 I will also give you into their hand, and they shall throw down your shrines and break down [l]your [4]high places. [m]They shall also strip you of your clothes, take your beautiful jewelry, and leave you naked and bare.

40 [n]"They shall also bring up an assembly against you, [o]and they shall stone you with stones and thrust you through with their swords. 41 They shall [p]burn your houses with fire, and [q]execute judgments on you in the sight of many women; and I will make you [r]cease playing the harlot, and you shall no longer hire lovers. 42 So [s]I will lay to rest My fury toward you, and My jealousy shall depart from you. I will be quiet, and be angry no more. 43 Because [t]you did not remember the days of your youth, but [5]agitated Me with all these things, surely [u]I will also recompense your [6]deeds on your own head," says the Lord GOD. "And you shall not commit lewdness in addition to all your abominations.

More Wicked than Samaria and Sodom

44 "Indeed everyone who quotes proverbs will use this proverb against you:
'Like mother, like daughter!' 45 You are your mother's daughter, [7]loathing husband and children; and you are the [v]sister of your sisters, who loathed their husbands and children; [w]your mother was a Hittite and your father an Amorite.

46 "Your elder sister is Samaria, who dwells with her daughters to the north of you; and [x]your younger sister, who dwells to the south of you, is Sodom and her daughters. 47 You did not walk in their ways nor act according to their abominations; but, as if that were too little, [y]you became more corrupt than they in all your ways.

48 "As I live," says the Lord GOD, "neither [z]your sister Sodom nor her daughters have done as you and your daughters have done. 49 Look, this was the iniquity of your sister Sodom: She and her daughter had pride, [a]fullness of food, and abundance of idleness; neither did she strengthen the hand of the poor and needy. 50 And they were haughty and [b]committed abomination before Me; therefore [c]I took them away as [8]I saw fit.

51 "Samaria did not commit [d]half of your sins; but you have multiplied your abominations more than they, and [e]have justified your sisters by all the abominations which you have done. 52 You who judged your sisters, bear your own shame also, because the sins which you committed were more abominable than theirs;
they are more righteous than you. Yes, be disgraced also, and bear your own shame, because you justified your sisters.

53 [f]"When I bring back their captives, the captives of Sodom and her daughters, and the captives of Samaria and her daughters, then I will also bring back [g]the captives of your captivity among them, 54 that you may bear your own shame and be disgraced by all that you did when [h]you comforted them. 55 When your sisters, Sodom and her daughters, return to their former state, and Samaria and her daughters return to their former state, then you and your daughters will return to your former state. 56 For your sister Sodom was not a byword in your mouth in the days of your pride, 57 before your wickedness was uncovered. It was like the time of the [i]reproach of the daughters of [9]Syria and all those around her, and of [j]the daughters of the Philistines, who despise you everywhere. 58 [k]You have paid for your lewdness and your abominations," says the LORD. 59 For thus says the Lord GOD: "I will deal with you as you have done, who [l]despised [m]the oath by breaking the covenant.

59 [l] Ezek. 17:13 [m] Deut. 29:12

16:35-40 I...will uncover your nakedness. Public exposure of profligate women and the stoning of them were well-known customs in ancient Israel, making them a shameful spectacle.

16:42 By exacting the full penalty on Israel's sins in the destruction by Babylon, God's wrath was to be satisfied.

16:44-45 Like mother, like daughter! Judah has followed in the pagan footsteps of her beginnings (cf. 16:3).

16:46-59 Judah is compared to Samaria and Sodom, whose judgment for sin was great. Judah was more corrupt (v. 47), multiplied Samaria's and Sodom's sin (v. 51), and committed more abominable sin (v. 52).

An Everlasting Covenant

60 "Nevertheless I will [n]remember My covenant with you in the days of your youth, and I will establish [o]an everlasting covenant with you. 61 Then [p]you will remember your ways and be ashamed, when you receive your older and your younger sisters; for I will give them to you for [q]daughters, [r]but not because of My covenant with you. 62 [s]And I will establish My covenant with you. Then you shall know that I am the LORD, 63 that you may [t]remember and be ashamed, [u]and never open your mouth anymore because of your shame, when I provide you an atonement for all you have done," says the Lord GOD.' "

The Eagles and the Vine

17 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Son of man, pose a riddle, and speak a [a]parable to the house of Israel, 3 and say, 'Thus says the Lord
GOD:

[b]" A great eagle with large wings and long pinions,
Full of feathers of various colors,
Came to Lebanon
And [c]took from the cedar the highest branch.
4 He cropped off its topmost young twig
And carried it to a land of trade;
He set it in a city of merchants.
5 Then he took some of the seed of the land
And planted it in [d]a fertile field;
He placed it by abundant waters
And set it [e]like a willow tree.
6 And it grew and became a spreading vine [f]of low stature;
Its branches turned toward him,
But its roots were under it.
So it became a vine,
Brought forth branches,
And put forth shoots.

7 "But there was [1]another great eagle with large wings and many feathers;
And behold, [g]this vine bent its roots toward him,
And stretched its branches toward
him,
From the garden terrace where it had been planted,
That he might water it.
8 It was planted in [2]good soil by many waters,
To bring forth branches, bear fruit,
And become a majestic vine." '

9 "Say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Will it thrive?
[h]Will he not pull up its roots,
Cut off its fruit,
And leave it to wither?
All of its spring leaves will wither,
And no great power or many
people
Will be needed to pluck it up by its roots.
10 Behold, it is planted,
Will it thrive?
[i]Will it not utterly wither when the east wind touches it?
It will wither in the garden terrace where it grew." ' "

11 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 12 "Say now to [j]the rebellious house: 'Do you not know what these things mean?' Tell them, 'Indeed [k]the king of 16:60 I will remember My covenant. God is gracious and He always finds a covenant basis on which He can exercise His grace. The Lord will remember the Abrahamic Covenant (cf. Gen. 12:1ff.) made with Israel in her youth. Restoration will be by grace, not merit. an everlasting covenant. This is the New Covenant, which is unconditional, saving, and everlasting (cf. 37:26; Is. 59:21; 61:8; Jer. 31:31-34; Heb. 8:6-13). The basis of God's grace will not be the Mosaic Covenant, which the Jews could never fulfill, even with the best intentions (cf. Ex. 24:1ff.). When God establishes His eternal covenant, Israel will know that God is the Lord because of His grace.

16:63 an atonement. This looks to the cross of Christ (cf. Is. 53), by which God's just wrath on sin was satisfied so that He could grant grace to all who believe (cf. 2 Cor. 5:21).

17:1 This chap. is dated about 588 B.C. (two years before the destruction of Jerusalem). The history of the period is in 2 Kin. 24; 2 Chr. 36; Jer. 36,37,52.

17:3 A great eagle. The king of Babylon, in view here, took royal captives and others (vv. 4,12,13). the cedar. The kingdom of Judah.

17:4 topmost young twig. This is Jehoiachin, the king, exiled in 597 B.C. (2 Kin. 24:11-16). Babylon is the "land of trade" (16:29).

17:5,6 seed. Those whom Babylon left in Judah in 597 B.C., who could prosper as a tributary to the conqueror, turned toward him (v. 6).

17:6 a spreading vine. Refers to Zedekiah (ca. 597–586 B.C.), the youngest son of Josiah whom Nebuchadnezzar appointed king in Judah. The benevolent attitude of Nebuchadnezzar helped Zedekiah to prosper, and if he had remained faithful to his pledge to Nebuchadnezzar, Judah would have continued as a tributary kingdom. Instead, he began courting help from Egypt (2 Chr. 36:13), which Jeremiah protested (Jer. 37:5-7).

17:7 another great eagle. Egypt is meant (v. 15), specifically Pharaoh Apries, a.k.a. Hophra (588–568 B.C.). Zedekiah turned to him to help revolt against Babylon.

17:9,10 wither. Zedekiah's treachery would not prosper. The king was captured in the plains of Jericho (Jer. 52:8). The dependence on Egypt would fail, and Judah would wither as the E wind (a picture of Babylon, cf. 13:11-13) blasted her.

Babylon went to Jerusalem and took its king and princes, and led them with him to Babylon. 13 [l]And he took the king's offspring, made a covenant with him, [m]and put him under oath. He also took away the mighty of the land, 14 that the kingdom might be [n]brought low and not lift itself up, but that by keeping his covenant it might stand. 15 But [o]he rebelled against him by sending his ambassadors to Egypt, [p]that they might give him horses and many people. [q]Will he prosper? Will he who does such things escape? Can he break a covenant and still be delivered?

16 'As I live,' says the Lord GOD, 'surely [r]in the place where the king dwells who made him king, whose oath he despised and whose covenant he broke—with him in the midst of Babylon he shall die. 17 [s]Nor will Pharaoh with his mighty army and great company do anything in the war, [t]when they heap up a siege mound and build a [3]wall to cut off many persons. 18 Since he despised the oath by breaking the covenant, and in fact [u]gave[4] his hand and still did all these things, he shall not escape.' "

19 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "As I live, surely My oath which he despised, and My covenant which he broke, I will recompense on his own head. 20 I will [v]spread My net over him, and he shall be taken in My snare. I will bring him to Babylon and [w]try him there for the [5]treason which he committed against Me. 21 [x]All his [6]fugitives with all his troops shall fall by the sword, and those who remain shall be [y]scattered to every wind; and you shall know that I, the LORD, have spoken."

Israel Exalted at Last

22 Thus says the Lord GOD: "I will take also one of the highest [z]branches of the high cedar and set it out. I will crop off from the topmost of its young twigs [a]a tender one, and will [b]plant it on a high and prominent mountain. 23 [c]On the mountain height of Israel I will plant it; and it will bring forth boughs, and bear fruit, and be a majestic cedar. [d]Under it will dwell birds of every sort; in the shadow of its branches they will dwell. 24 And all the trees of the field shall know that I, the LORD, [e]have brought down the high tree and exalted the low tree, dried up the green tree and made the dry tree flourish; [f]I, the LORD, have spoken and have done it."

A False Proverb Refuted

18 The word of the LORD came to me again, saying, 2 "What do you mean when you use this proverb concerning the land of Israel, saying:

'The [a]fathers have eaten sour grapes,
And the children's teeth are set on edge'?

3 "As I live," says the Lord GOD, "you shall no longer use this proverb in Israel.

4 "Behold, all souls are [b]Mine;
The soul of the father
As well as the soul of the son is Mine;
[c]The soul who sins shall die.
5 But if a man is just

17:11-21 put him under oath. The parable is explained in detail. Babylon (v. 12) made Zedekiah a vassal subject to her, took captives, and left Judah weak (vv. 13,14). Zedekiah broke the agreement (v. 15) in which he swore by the Lord to submit to Babylon (2 Chr. 36:13), and sought Egypt's help, thus he was taken to Babylon to live out his life (v. 16,19; Jer. 39:4-7). Egypt was to be no help to him (v. 17) or any protector of his army (v. 21).

17:22,23 one of the highest branches. This is messianic prophecy stating that God will provide the Messiah from the royal line of David ("the high cedar") and establish Him in His kingdom (like a mountain, cf. Dan. 2:35,44,45). He will be "a high branch" reigning in the height of success. "Branch" is a name for Messiah (cf. 34:23, 24; 37:24,25; Is. 4:2; Jer. 23:5; 33:15; Zech. 3:8; 6:12). Messiah will be "a tender one" (v. 22) growing into a "majestic cedar" (v. 23). Under His kingdom rule, all nations will be blessed and Israel restored.

17:24 made the dry tree flourish. The Messiah would grow out of the dry tree left after humbling judgment, i.e., Judah's remnant from which He came of a lowly family (cf. Is. 6:13), yet would prosper.

18:1-32 One of the foundational principles of Scripture is presented in this chap. (also taught in Deut. 24:16; 2 Kin. 14:6): Judgment is according to individual faith and conduct. He had foretold national punishment, but the reason was individual sin (cf. 3:16-21; 14:12-20; 33:1-20).

18:2 eaten sour grapes. The people of Judah would not acknowledge their guilt worthy of judgment. Though they were themselves wicked and idolatrous, they blamed their forefathers for their state (cf. 2 Kin. 21:15). The rationalizing is expressed in a current proverb (cf. Jer. 31:29) which means, in effect, "They sinned (ate sour grapes); we inherit the bitterness" (teeth set on edge).

18:3 no longer use this proverb. God rejected their blame shifting and evasion of responsibility.

18:4 The soul who sins shall die. God played no favorites, but was fair in holding each individual accountable for his own sin. The death is physical death which, for many, results in eternal death.

18:5-18 Two scenarios are proposed to clarify the matter of personal guilt: 1) a just father of an unjust son (vv. 5-13); and 2) an unjust father of a just son (vv. 14-18).

18:5 if a man is just. The definition of "just" or righteous is given in specifics in vv. 6-9. Such behavior could only characterize a genuine believer who was "faithful" from the heart.

Nor lifted up his eyes to the idols
of the house of Israel,
Nor [e]defiled his neighbor's wife,
Nor approached [f]a woman during her impurity;
7 If he has not [g]oppressed anyone,
But has restored to the debtor his [h]pledge;
Has robbed no one by violence,
But has [i]given his bread to the hungry
And covered the naked with [j]clothing;
8 If he has not [2]exacted [k]usury
Nor taken any increase,
But has withdrawn his hand from iniquity
And [l]executed true [3]judgment between man and man;
9 If he has walked in My statutes
And kept My judgments faithfully—
He is just;
He shall surely [m]live!"
Says the Lord GOD.

10 "If he begets a son who is a robber
Or [n]a shedder of blood,
Who does any of these things
11 And does none of those duties,
But has eaten [4]on the mountains
Or defiled his neighbor's wife;
12 If he has oppressed the poor and needy,
Robbed by violence,
Not restored the pledge,
Lifted his eyes to the idols,
Or [o]committed abomination;
13 If he has exacted usury
Or taken increase—
Shall he then live?
He shall not live!
If he has done any of these
abominations,
He shall surely die;
[p]His blood shall be upon him.

14 "If, however, he begets a son Who sees all the sins which his father has done,
And considers but does not do
likewise;
15 [q]Who has not eaten [5]on the
mountains,
Nor lifted his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel,
Nor defiled his neighbor's wife;
16 Has not oppressed anyone,
Nor withheld a pledge,
Nor robbed by violence,
But has given his bread to the hungry
And covered the naked with clothing;
17 Who has withdrawn his hand from [6]the poor
And not received usury or increase,
But has executed My judgments
And walked in My statutes—
He shall not die for the iniquity of his father;
He shall surely live!

18 "As for his father,
Because he cruelly oppressed,
Robbed his brother by violence,
And did what is not good among
his people,
Behold, [r]he shall die for his iniquity.

Turn and Live

19 "Yet you say, 'Why [s]should the son not bear the guilt of the father?' Because the son has done what is lawful and right, and has kept all My statutes and observed them, he shall surely live. 20 [t]The soul who sins shall die. [u]The son shall not bear the guilt of the father, nor the father bear the guilt of the son. [v]The righteousness of the righteous shall be upon himself, [w]and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon himself.

21 "But [x]if a wicked man turns from all his sins which he has committed, keeps all My statutes, and does what is lawful and right, he shall surely live; he shall not die.

18:8 exacted usury. This refers to interest on loans (see notes on Deut. 23:19,20; 24:10-13).

18:9 He shall surely live! The righteous do die physically for many reasons that do not contradict this principle, e.g., old age, martyrdom, or death in battle. While there are exceptions to "surely live" as to temporal life (cf. 21:3,4), and sometimes the ungodly survive, unlike 18:13 (cf. 14:22,23), there can be absolutely no exceptions in God's ultimate spiritual reckoning. In every case, the just die to live eternally and the unjust, who never possessed spiritual life, shall perish physically and eternally (John 5:28,29; Rev. 20:11-15). The just will live no matter what the character of his parents or children. For an explanation of Ex. 20:5, see the note there.

18:10-13 son...a robber. Could such a sinful son claim the merits of his father's righteousness and live? No! Each person is responsible for his own personal sin.

18:14-18 he shall die for his iniquity. This part features an unjust father and a just son to make the same point. The righteous son shall "surely live" (v. 17).

18:19,20 The prophet restated the principle of personal accountability.

18:19-29 Cf. 33:12-20.

18:21,22 if a wicked man turns. The next case involves an unjust person turning to righteousness. He received a clean slate in forgiveness (v. 22), and spiritual life forever.

22 [y]None of the transgressions which he has committed shall be remembered against him; because of the righteousness which he has done, he shall [z]live. 23 [a]Do I have any pleasure at all that the wicked should die?" says the Lord GOD, "and not that he should turn from his ways and live?

24 "But [b]when a righteous man turns away from his righteousness and commits iniquity, and does according to all the abominations that the wicked man does, shall he live? [c]All the righteousness which he has done shall not be remembered; because of the unfaithfulness of which he is guilty and the sin which he has committed, because of them he shall die.

25 "Yet you say, [d]'The way of the Lord is not fair.' Hear now, O house of Israel, is it not My way which is fair, and your ways which are not fair? 26 [e]When a righteous man turns away from his righteousness, commits iniquity, and dies in it, it is because of the iniquity which he has done that he dies. 27 Again, [f]when a wicked man turns away from the wickedness which he committed, and does what is lawful and right, he preserves himself alive. 28 Because he [g]considers and turns away from all the transgressions which he committed, he shall surely live; he shall not die. 29 [h]Yet the house of Israel says, 'The way of the Lord is not fair.' O house of Israel, is it not My ways which are fair, and your ways which are not fair?

30 [i]"Therefore I will judge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his ways," says the Lord GOD. [j]"Repent, and turn from all your transgressions, so that iniquity will not be your ruin. 31 [k]Cast away from you all the transgressions which you have committed, and get yourselves a [l]new heart and a new spirit. For why should you die, O house of Israel? 32 For [m]I have no pleasure in the death of one who dies," says the Lord GOD. "Therefore turn and [n]live!"

18:23 Do I have...pleasure. God takes no willful pleasure in the death of the unrighteous (cf. John 5:40; 1 Tim. 2:4; 2 Pet. 3:9).

18:24 a righteous man turns. The next scenario is a righteous man turning to a life of sin. His former, apparent righteousness was not genuine (cf. 1 John 2:19), and God did not remember it as a valid expression of faith.

18:25-29 Yet you say. God applied the principle in summary to Israel's sin problem (cf. vv. 2-4). They, not He, must acknowledge their lack of equity (cf. vv. 25,29).

18:30 Therefore I will judge. The conclusion is that the just God must judge each person for his own life. But He invites repentance, so that hope may replace ruin (cf. 33:10,11).

18:31 get...a new heart. The key to life eternal and triumph over death is conversion. This involves repentance from sin (vv. 30, 31a) and receiving the new heart which God gives with a new spirit, wrought by the Holy Spirit (36:24-27; Jer. 31:34; John 3:5-8).

18:32 I have no pleasure. The death of His saints is precious to God (Ps. 116:15). By contrast, He has no such pleasure when a person dies without repentance. While God is sovereign in salvation, man is responsible for his own sin. turn and live. This was a call to repent and avoid physical and eternal death (cf. Pss. 23:6; 73:24; Is. 26:19-21; Dan. 12:2,3,13). Ezekiel was a preacher of repentance and of God's offer of mercy to the penitent.

19:1-14 lamentation. This is an elegy in typical lamentation meter (v. 14b), dealing with the captivity of Kings Jehoahaz (609 B.C.) and Jehoiachin (597 B.C.), and the collapse of the Davidic dynasty under Zedekiah (586 B.C.).

19:1 the princes of Israel. This refers to the kings of Judah just mentioned.

19:1-9 What is your mother? Judah is the "lioness," just as in v. 10 she is the "vine." Her cubs symbolize kings who were descendants of David exposed to the corrupting influences of heathen kings ("young lions").

19:3,4 one of her cubs. This refers to Jehoahaz (Shallum), who ruled in 609 B.C. and was deposed by Egypt's Pharaoh Necho after reigning only 3 months (v. 4; 2 Kin. 23:32-34; 2 Chr. 36:2).

19:5-9 another of her cubs. This refers to Jehoiachin, who in 597 B.C. was carried to Babylon in a cage as in v. 9 (2 Kin. 24:6-15). Though he reigned only 3 months, he was oppressive and unjust. God used the pagan nations of Egypt and Babylon to judge these wicked kings. The Babylonians kept Jehoiachin imprisoned for 37 years, releasing him at the age of 55 (2 Kin. 25:27-30; Jer. 52:31,32).

And spread their net over him;
[h]He was trapped in their pit.
9 [i]They put him in a cage with
[2]chains,
And brought him to the king of Babylon;
They brought him in nets,
That his voice should no longer be heard on [j]the mountains of Israel.

10 'Your mother was [k]like a vine in your [3]bloodline,
Planted by the waters,
[l]Fruitful and full of branches
Because of many waters.
11 She had strong branches for scepters of rulers.
[m]She towered in stature above the thick branches,
And was seen in her height amid the [4]dense foliage.
12 But she was [n]plucked up in fury,
She was cast down to the ground,
And the [o]east wind dried her fruit.
Her strong branches were broken and withered;
The fire consumed them.
13 And now she is planted in the wilderness,
In a dry and thirsty land.
14 [p]Fire has come out from a rod of her branches
And devoured her fruit,
So that she has no strong branch—
a scepter for ruling.' "

[q]This is a lamentation, and has become a lamentation.

The Rebellions of Israel

20 It came to pass in the seventh year, in the fifth month, on the tenth day of the month, that [a]certain of the elders of Israel came to inquire of the LORD, and sat before me. 2 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 3 "Son of man, speak to the elders of Israel, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Have you come to inquire of Me? As I live," says the Lord GOD, [b]"I will not be inquired of by you." ' 4 Will you judge them, son of man, will you judge them? Then [c]make known to them the abominations of their fathers.

5 "Say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "On the day when [d]I chose Israel and raised My hand in an oath to the descendants of the house of Jacob, and made Myself [e]known to them in the land of Egypt, I raised My hand in an oath to them, saying, [f]'I am the LORD your God.' 6 On that day I raised My hand in an oath to them, [g]to bring them out of the land of Egypt into a land that I had searched out for them, [h]'flowing with milk and honey,' [i]the glory of all lands. 7 Then I said to them, 'Each of you, [j]throw away [k]the abominations which are before his eyes, and do not defile yourselves with [l]the idols of Egypt. I am the LORD your God.' 8 But they rebelled against Me and would not [l]obey Me. They did not all cast away the abominations which were before their eyes, nor did they forsake the idols of Egypt. Then I said, 'I will [m]pour out My fury on them and fulfill My anger against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.' 9 [n]But I acted for My name's sake, that it should not be profaned before the Gentiles among whom they were, in whose sight I had made Myself [o]known to them, to bring them out of the land of Egypt.

10 "Therefore I [p]made them go out of the land of Egypt and brought them into the wilderness. 11 [q]And I gave them My statutes and [2]showed them My judgments, [r]'which, if a man does, he shall live by them.' 12 Moreover I also gave them My [s]Sabbaths, to be a sign between them and Me, that they might know that I am the LORD who sanctifies them. 13 Yet the house of Israel [t]rebelled against Me in the wilderness; they did not walk in My statutes; they [u]despised My judgments, [v]'which, if a man does, he shall live by them'; and they greatly [w]defiled My Sabbaths. Then I said I would pour out My fury on them in the [x]wilderness, to consume them. 14 [y]But I

19:10-14 Your mother...like a vine. Judah prospered as a luxuriant vine (v. 10), with strong power and eminence (v. 11). God plucked up the vine in judgment, desolating her (v. 12; cf. 13:11-13), exiling her (v. 13), and leaving no strong king (v. 14).

19:14 a rod. The blame for the catastrophe that came to Judah is laid on one ruler, King Zedekiah who was responsible for the burning of Jerusalem because of his treachery (cf. Jer. 38:20-23). The house of David ended in shame and, for nearly 2,600 years since, Israel has had no king of David's line. When Messiah came, they rejected Him and preferred Caesar. Messiah still became their Savior and will return as their King.

20:1 the seventh year. Ca. 591 B.C.

20:3-44 elders...come to inquire. Cf. the similarity in 14:1-3. The prophet responds with a message from the Lord that gives a historical survey of Israel, featuring its uniform pattern of sin. Israel rebelled in Egypt (vv. 5-9), then in the wilderness trek (vv. 10-26), and the entry into the Land of Promise (vv. 27-32). Through all this, God kept delivering them to save His reputation (vv. 9,14,22). Yet sinful obstinacy finally led to His judging them (vv. 45-49). Verses 33-44 speak of His regathering Israel to their land in the future time of Christ's Second Advent.

20:5 raised My hand...oath. Cf. vv. 5,6,15,23,28,42. God promised Israel deliverance from Egypt (cf. Ex. 6:2-8).

acted for My name's sake, that it should not be profaned before the Gentiles, in whose sight I had brought them out. 15 So [z]I also raised My hand in an oath to them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land which I had given them, [a]'flowing with milk and honey,' [b]the glory of all lands, 16 [c]because they despised My judgments and did not walk in My statutes, but profaned My Sabbaths; for [d]their heart went after their idols. 17 [e]Nevertheless My eye spared them from destruction. I did not make an end of them in the wilderness.

18 "But I said to their children in the wilderness, 'Do not walk in the statutes of your fathers, nor observe their judgments, nor defile yourselves with their idols. 19 I am the LORD your God: [f]Walk in My statutes, keep My judgments, and do them; 20 [g]hallow My Sabbaths, and they will be a sign between Me and you, that you may know that I am the LORD your God.'

21 "Notwithstanding, [h]the children rebelled against Me; they did not walk in My statutes, and were not careful to observe My judgments, [i]'which, if a man does, he shall live by them'; but they profaned My Sabbaths. Then I said I would pour out My fury on them and fulfill My anger against them in the wilderness. 22 Nevertheless I [3]withdrew My hand and acted for My name's sake, that it should not be profaned in the sight of the Gentiles, in whose sight I had brought them out. 23 Also I raised My hand in an oath to those in the wilderness, that [j]I would scatter them among the Gentiles and disperse them throughout the countries, 24 [k]because they had not executed My judgments, but had despised My statutes, profaned My Sabbaths, and [l]their eyes were fixed on their fathers' idols.

25 "Therefore [m]I also gave them up to statutes that were not good, and judgments by which they could not live; 26 and I pronounced them unclean because of their ritual gifts, in that they caused all [4]their firstborn to pass [n]through the fire, that I might make them desolate and that they [o]might know that I am the LORD." God Will Restore Israel

33 "As I live," says the Lord GOD, "surely with a mighty hand, [x]with an outstretched arm, and with fury poured out, I will rule over you. 34 I will bring you out from the peoples and gather you out of the countries where you are scattered, with a mighty hand, with an outstretched arm, and with fury poured out. 35 And I will bring you into the wilderness of the peoples, and there [y]I will plead My case with you face to face. 36 [z]Just as I pleaded My case with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so I will plead My case with you," says the Lord GOD.

37 "I will make you [a]pass under the rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the [b]covenant; 38 [c]I will purge the rebels from among you, and those who transgress against Me; I will bring them out of the 20:25,26 I...gave them up. God allowed the Jews to live in sin. Cf. v. 32, "We will be like the Gentiles...." Cf. Ps. 81:11,12; Rom 1:24-28. Like all human beings, the story of the Jews is one long history of rebellion.

20:34 Paul quotes this in 2 Cor. 6:17. God will someday rule over Israel in the glorious kingdom of Messiah, after the people have repented and been saved (cf. Zech. 12–14).

20:35 wilderness of the peoples. Other lands where the scattered people of Israel live are pictured as a wilderness in which the Jews will suffer. This is analogous to God's bringing His people from Egypt through the wilderness long ago, before thrusting them into the Promised Land (v. 36).

20:37 pass under the rod. God used a shepherd figure here, apt since He was their Great Shepherd (34:11-13; Jer. 23:5-8). As a shepherd, God brings his sheep home to their fold (cf. Jer. 33:13), has them file in, separating sheep from goats (cf. Matt. 25), passing under his shepherd's rod to be noted and checked for injury. He will bring them into the bond of the New Covenant by giving them His Spirit with life (36:24-27; 37:14; 39:29). This is Israel's final salvation (Rom. 11:26-33).

20:38 I will purge the rebels. God will see that no rebel, no one without the renewing by His Spirit in salvation, will come back to country where they dwell, but [d]they shall not enter the land of Israel. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

39 "As for you, O house of Israel," thus says the Lord GOD: [e]"Go, serve every one of you his idols—and hereafter—if you will not obey Me; [f]but profane My holy name no more with your gifts and your idols. 40 For [g]on My holy mountain, on the mountain height of Israel," says the Lord GOD, "there [h]all the house of Israel, all of them in the land, shall serve Me; there [i]I will accept them, and there I will require your offerings and the firstfruits of your [7]sacrifices, together with all your holy things. 41 I will accept you as a [j]sweet aroma when I bring you out from the peoples and gather you out of the countries where you have been scattered; and I will be hallowed in you before the Gentiles. 42 [k]Then you shall know that I am the LORD, [l]when I bring you into the land of Israel, into the country for which I raised My hand in an oath to give to your fathers. 43 And [m]there you shall remember your ways and all your doings with which you were defiled; and [n]you shall [8]loathe yourselves in your own sight because of all the evils that you have committed. 44 [o]Then you shall know that I am the LORD, when I have dealt with you [p]for My name's sake, not according to your wicked ways nor according to your corrupt doings, O house of Israel," says the Lord GOD.' "

Fire in the Forest

45 Furthermore the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 46 [q]"Son of man, set your face toward the south; [9]preach against the south and prophesy against the forest land, the [l]South, 47 and say to the forest of the South, 'Hear the word of the LORD! Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, [r]I will kindle a fire in you, and it shall devour [s]every green tree and every dry tree in you; the blazing flame shall not be quenched, and all faces [t]from the south to the north shall be scorched by it. 48 All flesh shall see that I, the LORD, have kindled it; it shall not be quenched." ' "

49 Then I said, "Ah, Lord GOD! They say of me, 'Does he not speak [u]parables?' "

Babylon, the Sword of God

21 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 [a]"Son of man, set your face toward Jerusalem, [b]preach [1] against the holy places, and prophesy against the land of Israel; 3 and say to the land of Israel, 'Thus says the LORD: "Behold, I am [c]against you, and I will draw My sword out of its sheath and cut off both [d]righteous and wicked from you. 4 Because I will cut off both righteous and wicked from you, therefore My sword shall go out of its sheath against all flesh [e]from south to north, 5 that all flesh may know that I, the LORD, have drawn My sword out of its sheath; it [f]shall not return anymore." ' 6 [g]Sigh therefore, son of man, with [2]a breaking heart, and sigh with bitterness before their eyes. 7 And it shall be when they say to you, 'Why are you sighing?' that you shall answer, 'Because of the news; when it comes, every heart will melt, [h]all hands will be feeble, every spirit will faint, and all knees will be weak as water. Behold, it is coming and shall be brought to pass,' says the Lord GOD."

Palestine to have a part in the messianic kingdom. All whom He permits to return will serve Him (v. 40), in contrast to those who serve idols (v. 39). The purging takes place during the "time of Jacob's trouble" (Jer. 30:7), during the Great Tribulation (Matt. 24:21).

20:39 If they persist in their stubborn idolatry, God will allow them to follow it to their doom. He would also rather have them as out-and-out idolaters rather than hypocritical patronizers of His worship like they had been (cf. Amos 5:21-26).

20:40-42 all...in the land. The promised regathering in Messiah's earthly kingdom is to the very same land—literal Palestine—from which they were scattered (v. 41), expressly the land given to their fathers (36:28; Gen. 12:7). They will "all" be there, repentant (v. 43) and saved (Rom. 11:26,27), serving the Lord wholeheartedly, a united nation engaged in purified worship (cf. 27:22,23; Is. 11:13).

20:44 you shall know. God purposed all of this great restoration so that repentant, renewed Israel knew that He is the Lord, a key theme, as in v. 38. Also, those of other nations will know by this who He is and render Him due reverence (v. 41; 36:23,36).

20:46-48 preach against the south. The S is Palestine, particularly Judah, usually invaded from the N. Though Babylonia was to the E (19:12), its army would swing W toward the Mediterranean Sea and then come S out of the N to invade Judah. The invader (Nebuchadnezzar in 586 B.C.) will overwhelm the land as a sweeping fire (cf. 15:1-8; 19:12; Zech. 11:1-3), devouring trees indiscriminately, green or dry (cf. 21:3,4). Palestine had much more "forest" in biblical times.

20:49 This demonstrates the elders' (v. 1) refusal to comprehend Ezekiel's clear message. To the unwilling heart, there was no understanding.

21:1-7 the word...came. This is the sign of the sword against Jerusalem (vv. 1-17). God depicts His judgment in terms of a man unsheathing his polished sword for deadly thrusts. God is the swordsman (vv. 3,4), but Babylon is His sword (v. 19). The historical background for this prophecy is Nebuchadnezzar's 588 B.C. campaign to quell revolts in Judah, as well as Tyre and Ammon.

21:3,4 righteous and wicked. In Babylon's indiscrimination as an invader, people in the army's path die, whether righteous or wicked. This occurs from N to S, through the whole span of Israel's land, tying in with the judgment pictured by fire (20:45-49). Trees green or dry (20:47) probably depict people whether righteous or wicked (21:3,4; cf. Luke 23:31).

21:8-17 The sword (Babylon) was "sharpened."

me, saying, 9 "Son of man, prophesy and say, 'Thus says the LORD!' Say:

[i]"A sword, a sword is sharpened
And also polished!
10 Sharpened to make a dreadful slaughter,
Polished to flash like lightning!
Should we then make mirth?
It despises the scepter of My son,
As it does all wood.
11 And He has given it to be polished,
That it may be handled;
This sword is sharpened, and it is polished
To be given into the hand of [j]the slayer.'

12 "Cry and wail, son of man;
For it will be against My people,
Against all the princes of Israel.
Terrors including the sword will be against My people;
Therefore [k]strike your thigh.

13 "Because it is [l]a testing,
And what if the sword despises even the scepter?
[m]The scepter shall be no more,"

says the Lord GOD.

14 "You therefore, son of man, prophesy,
And [n]strike your hands together.
The third time let the sword do double damage.
It is the sword that slays,
The sword that slays the great men,
That enters their [o]private chambers.
15 I have set the point of the sword against all their gates,
That the heart may melt and many may stumble.
Ah! [p]It is made bright;
It is grasped for slaughter:

16 "Swords[q 3] at the ready!
Thrust right!
Set your blade!
Thrust left—
Wherever your [4]edge is ordered!

17 "I also will [r]beat My fists together,
And [s]I will cause My fury to rest;
I, the LORD, have spoken."

18 The word of the LORD came to me again, saying: 19 "And son of man, appoint for yourself two ways for the sword of the king of Babylon to go; both of them shall go from the same land. Make a sign; put it at the head of the road to the city. 20 Appoint a road for the sword to go to [t]Rabbah of the Ammonites, and to Judah, into fortified Jerusalem. 21 For the king of Babylon stands at the parting of the road, at the fork of the two roads, to use divination: he shakes the arrows, he consults the [5]images, he looks at the liver. 22 In his right hand is the divination for Jerusalem: to set up battering rams, to call for a slaughter, to [u]lift the voice with shouting, [v]to set battering rams against the gates, to heap up a siege mound, and to build a wall. 23 And it will be to them like a false divination in the eyes of those who [w]have sworn oaths with them; but he will bring their iniquity to remembrance, that they may be taken.

24 "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because you have made your iniquity to be remembered, in that your transgressions are uncovered, so that in all your doings your sins appear—because you have come to remembrance, you shall be taken in hand.

25 'Now to you, O [x]profane, wicked prince of Israel, [y]whose day has come,

21:10 It despises the scepter. Cf. also v. 13. Possibly this affirmed that God's sword, so overwhelming in v. 10a, was to despise the Judean royal scepter (cf. Gen. 49:9,10), which was powerless to stop it and would soon pass away (vv. 25-27). God's judgment was too strong for this object made of (or partly of) wood, as it holds in contempt all such items of wood. "My son" may refer to Judah (cf. Ex. 4:22,23), or to the king as God's "son," such as was Solomon (1 Chr. 28:6).

21:11 the slayer. God is always the judge and executioner, no matter what He uses.

21:12 strike your thigh. Or it can be translated, "beat your breast." In either wording, it is an emphatic gesture of grief that the prophet acts out. This accompanies further symbols of grief in his "cry," "wail" (v. 12), clapping of hands (v. 14), and "beating of fists" (v. 17).

21:18-20 This imagery sees Babylon's army on the march coming to a crossroads. The sword is the king of Babylon, Nebuchadnezzar, who is faced with a decision. One sign points to Jerusalem and Judah, the other to Rabbah, the capital of Ammon. In 593 B.C. Ammon had conspired with Judah against Babylon. The king had to decide which place to attack, so he sought his gods through divination (v. 21).

21:21 the king...stands...to use divination. This means to "seek an omen," to gain guidance from superstitious devices (cf. Is. 47:8-15). Three methods are available to Babylon's leader. He shook arrows and let them fall, then read a conclusion from the pattern. He looked at Teraphim (idols), or examined an animal liver to gain help from his gods. Actually, the true God controlled this superstition to achieve His will, the attack on Jerusalem and Judah. Later, Nebuchadnezzar attacked Rabbah in Ammon E of the Jordan (vv. 28-32).

21:22 All the paraphernalia of war were prepared.

21:23 false divination. The people of Jerusalem thought this superstitious decision was not a true divination and would fail. They were wrong (vv. 24,25).

21:25 wicked prince. Zedekiah.

whose iniquity shall end, 26 thus says the Lord GOD:

"Remove the turban, and take off the crown;
Nothing shall remain the same.
[z]Exalt the humble, and humble the exalted.
27 [6]Overthrown, overthrown,
I will make it overthrown!
[a]It shall be no longer,
Until He comes whose right it is,
And I will give it to [b]Him." '

A Sword Against the Ammonites

28 "And you, son of man, prophesy and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD [c]concerning the Ammonites and concerning their reproach,' and say:

'A sword, a sword is drawn,
Polished for slaughter,
For consuming, for flashing—
29 While they [d]see false visions for you,
While they divine a lie to you,
To bring you on the necks of the wicked, the slain
[e]Whose day has come,
Whose iniquity shall end.

30 'Return[f] it to its sheath.
[g]I will judge you
In the place where you were created,
[h]In the land of your [7]nativity.
31 I will [i]pour out My indignation on you;
I will [j]blow against you with the fire of My wrath,
And deliver you into the hands of brutal men who are skillful to [k]destroy.
32 You shall be fuel for the fire;
Your blood shall be in the midst of the land.
[l]You shall not be remembered,
For I the LORD have spoken.' "

Sins of Jerusalem

22 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Now, son of man, [a]will you judge, will you judge [b]the bloody city? Yes, show her all her abominations! 3 Then say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "The city sheds [c]blood in her own midst, that her time may come; and she makes idols within herself to defile herself. 4 You have become guilty by the blood which you have [d]shed, and have defiled yourself with the idols which you have made. You have caused your days to draw near, and have come to the end of your years; [e]therefore I have made you a reproach to the nations, and a mockery to all countries. 5 Those near and those far from you will mock you as [1]infamous and full of tumult.

6 "Look, [f]the princes of Israel: each one has used his [2]power to shed blood in you. 7 In you they have [g]made light of father and mother; in your midst they have [h]oppressed the stranger; in you they have mistreated the [3]fatherless and the widow. 8 You have despised My holy things and [i]profaned My Sabbaths. 9 In you are [j]men who slander to cause bloodshed; [k]in you are those who eat on the mountains; in your midst they commit lewdness. 10 In you men [l]uncover their fathers' nakedness; in you they violate women who are [m]set apart during their impurity. 11 One commits abomination [n]with his neighbor's wife; [o]another lewdly defiles his daughter-

21:26 Remove...turban...crown. God, in the coming judgment on Judah in 588–586 B.C., removed the turban representing the priestly leadership, and the crown picturing the succession of kings. Neither office was fully restored after the captivity. This marked the commencement of "the times of the Gentiles" (Luke 21:24).

21:27 Until He comes. The 3-fold mention of "overthrown" expresses the severest degree of unsettled and chaotic conditions. Israel was to experience severe instability and even the kingly privilege will not be Israel's again until the Messiah comes, "to whom it rightly belongs," or "whose right it is" (cf. Gen. 49:10). God will give the kingship to Him (cf. Jer. 23:5-8), the greater "David" (Ezek. 37:24). His "right" is that perfect combination of priestly and royal offices (cf. Heb. 5–7).

21:28-32 concerning the Ammonites. The Babylonian armies also were to conquer this people in 582/81 B.C. (cf. 25:1-7). Their "reproach" was the gleeful disdain they heaped on Jerusalem when the city fell, the temple was profaned, and Judeans were taken captive (25:3).

21:30 Return it to its sheath. This called the Ammonites not to resist Babylon, which would be useless, for they would be slaughtered in their own land.

21:32 You shall not be remembered. Israel had a future (v. 27), but God would not give Ammon mercy at the time and let the devastation occur. After this, they were further devastated by Judas Maccabeus' army, according to an ancient source (1 Macc. 5:6,7). Later, according to Jeremiah 49:6, God permitted exiles to return to their land. Finally, they disappeared from the family of nations altogether.

22:2 the bloody city. Cf. vv. 3,4,6,9,12,13. This refers to Jerusalem because of her judicial murders (vv. 6,9; 23:27), her sacrifice of children, and her rebellion against Babylon (cf. 24:6).

22:4-13 become guilty. At least 17 kinds of sin appear in this indictment of Jerusalem's blood guiltiness, and more in vv. 25-29. The only restraint on their evil was their ability. They did all the evil they could, and shedding blood seemed to be the most popular.

22:5 Cf. Rom. 2:24. God links His honor to the behavior of His people.

22:9 eat on the mountains. This meant idol worship which the passage clarifies (v. 4), i.e., eating meals at idol shrines, accompanied by sexual sins, such as those described in vv. 10,11.

in-law; and another in you violates his sister, his father's [p]daughter. 12 In you [q]they take bribes to shed blood; [r]you take usury and increase; you have made profit from your neighbors by extortion, and [s]have forgotten Me," says the Lord GOD.

13 "Behold, therefore, I [t]beat My fists at the dishonest profit which you have made, and at the bloodshed which has been in your midst. 14 [u]Can your heart endure, or can your hands remain strong, in the days when I shall deal with you? [v]I, the LORD, have spoken, and will do it. 15 [w]I will scatter you among the nations, disperse you throughout the countries, and [x]remove your filthiness completely from you. 16 You shall defile yourself in the sight of the nations; then [y]you shall know that I am the LORD." ' "

Israel in the Furnace

17 The word of the LORD came to me, saying, 18 "Son of man, [z]the house of Israel has become dross to Me; they are all bronze, tin, iron, and lead, in the midst of a [a]furnace; they have become dross from silver. 19 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because you have all become dross, therefore behold, I will gather you into the midst of Jerusalem. 20 As men gather silver, bronze, iron, lead, and tin into the midst of a furnace, to blow fire on it, to [b]melt it; so I will gather you in My anger and in My fury, and I will leave you there and melt you. 21 Yes, I will gather you and blow on you with the fire of My wrath, and you shall be melted in its midst. 22 As silver is melted in the midst of a furnace, so shall you be melted in its midst; then you shall know that I, the LORD, have [c]poured out My fury on you.' CHAPTER 23

2 [a] Jer. 3:7, 8; Ezek. 16:44-46

Israel's Wicked Leaders

23 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 24 "Son of man, say to her: 'You are a land that is [d]not [4]cleansed or rained on in the day of indignation.' 25 [e]The conspiracy of her [5]prophets in her midst is like a roaring lion tearing the prey; they [f]have devoured [6]people; [g]they have taken treasure and precious things; they have made many widows in her midst. 26 [h]Her priests have [7]violated My law and [i]profaned My holy things; they have not [j]distinguished between the holy and unholy, nor have they made known the difference between the unclean and the clean; and they have hidden their eyes from My Sabbaths, so that I am profaned among them. 27 Her [k]princes in her midst are like wolves tearing the prey, to shed blood, to destroy [8]people, and to get dishonest gain. 28 [l]Her prophets plastered them with untempered mortar, [m]seeing false visions, and divining [n]lies for them, saying, 'Thus says the Lord GOD,' when the LORD had not spoken. 29 The people of the land have used oppressions, committed robbery, and mistreated the poor and needy; and they wrongfully [o]oppress the stranger. 30 [p]So I sought for a man among them who would [q]make a wall, and [r]stand in the gap before Me on behalf of the land, that I should not destroy it; but I found no one. 31 Therefore I have [s]poured out My indignation on them; I have consumed them with the fire of My wrath; and I have recompensed [t]their deeds on their own heads," says the Lord GOD.

Two Harlot Sisters

23 The word of the LORD came again to me, saying:

2 "Son of man, there were [a]two women,

22:14-16 Ezekiel saw not only the punishment in the immediate future, but the worldwide dispersion of the Jews still going on today, which continues for the purging of Israel's sins.

22:16 then you shall know. After the defiling dispersion, when the sin has been purged, Israel will come to know the Lord. Many Jews do know Him now, but the nation will be saved in the future (cf. Rom. 11:25-27; Zech. 12–14).

22:17-22 bronze, tin, iron, and lead. This pictures God's judgment of Jerusalem as a smelting furnace (cf. Is. 1:22; Jer. 6:28-30; Zech. 13:9; Mal. 3:2,3) which burns away dross and impurities, resulting in purified metal. His wrath was the fire (v. 21; an apt term for Babylon's fiery destruction of the city), and His people were to be refined (v. 20), with the sinful ones removed (cf. 21:13-22). Even in the ultimate day, God will follow this principle in purging His creation of sin (2 Pet. 3:9-14).

22:25-29 conspiracy. The whole nation was wicked. First, all leaders are indicted for their vicious sin: prophets, priests, princes, then the people in general.

22:30 So I sought for a man. Ezekiel and Jeremiah were faithful, but apart from them God sought a man capable of advocacy for Israel when its sin had gone so far. But no one could lead the people to repentance and draw the nation back from the brink of the judgment that came in 586 B.C. (Jer. 7:26,36; 19:15). Only God's Messiah, God Himself, will have the character and the credentials sufficient to do what no man can do, intercede for Israel (cf. Is. 59:16-19; 63:5; Rev. 5). He was rejected by them in His earthly ministry, so the effects of this judgment continue today, until they turn to Him in faith (cf. Zech. 12:10; 13:1).

23:2-4 two women. This chap. describes the spiritual infidelity of Israel and Judah, pictured as two sisters, to convey the gravity of sin in Judah. "One mother" refers to the united kingdom, while "two women" refers to the divided kingdom. Oholah, meaning "Her own tabernacle," as she had her separate dwelling-place apart from the temple, represents Samaria. In the northern kingdom, Jeroboam had set up worship, which God rejected. Oholibah, "My tabernacle is in her," represents Jerusalem, where God did establish worship.

The daughters of one mother.
3 [b]They committed harlotry in Egypt,
They committed harlotry in [c]their youth;
Their breasts were there embraced,
Their virgin bosom was there pressed.
4 Their names: [1]Oholah the elder and [2]Oholibah [d]her sister;
[e]They were Mine,
And they bore sons and daughters.
As for their names,
Samaria is Oholah, and Jerusalem is Oholibah.

The Older Sister, Samaria

5 "Oholah played the harlot even though she was Mine;
And she lusted for her lovers, the neighboring [f]Assyrians,
6 Who were clothed in purple,
Captains and rulers,
All of them desirable young men,
Horsemen riding on horses.
7 Thus she committed her harlotry with them,
All of them choice men of Assyria;
And with all for whom she lusted,
With all their idols, she defiled herself.
8 She has never given up her harlotry brought [g]from Egypt,
For in her youth they had lain with her,
Pressed her virgin bosom,
And poured out their immorality upon her.

9 "Therefore I have delivered her
Into the hand of her lovers,
Into the hand of the [h]Assyrians,
For whom she lusted.
10 They uncovered her nakedness,
Took away her sons and daughters,
And slew her with the sword;
She became a byword among women,
For they had executed judgment on her.

The Younger Sister, Jerusalem

11 "Now [i]although her sister Oholibah saw this, [j]she became more corrupt in her lust than she, and in her harlotry more corrupt than her sister's harlotry.

12 "She lusted for the neighboring [k]Assyrians,
[l]Captains and rulers,
Clothed most gorgeously,
Horsemen riding on horses,
All of them desirable young men.
13 Then I saw that she was defiled;
Both took the same way.
14 But she increased her harlotry;
She looked at men portrayed on the wall,
Images of [m]Chaldeans portrayed in vermilion,
15 Girded with belts around their waists,
Flowing turbans on their heads,
All of them looking like captains,
In the manner of the Babylonians of Chaldea,
The land of their nativity.
16 [n]As soon as her eyes saw them,
She lusted for them
And sent [o]messengers to them in Chaldea.

17 "Then the [3]Babylonians came to her, into the bed of love,
And they defiled her with their immorality;
So she was defiled by them, [p]and alienated herself from them.
18 She revealed her harlotry and uncovered her nakedness.
Then [q]I [r]alienated Myself from her,
As I had alienated Myself from her sister.

19 "Yet she multiplied her harlotry
In calling to remembrance the days of her youth,
[s]When she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.
20 For she lusted for her [4]paramours,
Whose flesh is like the flesh of donkeys,
And whose issue is like the issue of horses.

20 [4] Illicit lovers

23:5-10 Oholah played the harlot. The northern kingdom of Israel was a harlot, in a spiritual sense, by seeking union for fulfillment and security with idolatrous, young, wealthy, attractive Assyria. Assyria turned on her (v. 10), conquered her, and deported Israel in 722 B.C. (2 Kin. 17).

23:11-21 more corrupt. Cf. 16:47. The focus is Judah's (the southern kingdom) craving for Babylonian idolatry that alienated her from God. Judah learned nothing from Israel's punishment (v. 13).

23:12 Assyrians. Ahaz placed Judah under the protection of Assyria (2 Kin. 16:7-10), a political move denounced by Isaiah (Is. 7:13-17).

23:14-16 Chaldeans. Judah was drawn to portraits of Babylonian men, done in brilliant colors, lusting for the Chaldean lifestyle. Social and political alliance led to spiritual defection.

23:17 into the bed of love. The description portrays spiritual unfaithfulness graphically (v. 30).

23:19 Judah renewed her old sins from the days of Egypt, returning to her first degradation.

21 Thus you called to remembrance
the lewdness of your youth,
When the [t]Egyptians pressed your bosom
Because of your youthful breasts.

Judgment on Jerusalem

22 "Therefore, Oholibah, thus says the Lord GOD:

[u]'Behold, I will stir up your lovers
against you,
From whom you have alienated yourself,
And I will bring them against you from every side:
23 The Babylonians,
All the Chaldeans,
[v]Pekod, Shoa, Koa,
[w]All the Assyrians with them,
All of them desirable young men,
Governors and rulers,
Captains and men of renown,
All of them riding on horses.
24 And they shall come against you
With chariots, wagons, and war-horses,
With a horde of people.
They shall array against you
Buckler, shield, and helmet all around.

'I will delegate judgment to them,
And they shall judge you
according to their judgments.
25 I will set My [x]jealousy against you,
And they shall deal furiously with
you;
They shall remove your nose and
your ears,
And your remnant shall fall by the
sword;
They shall take your sons and your daughters,
And your remnant shall be devoured by fire.
26 [y]They shall also strip you of your clothes
And take away your beautiful jewelry.

27 'Thus [z]I will make you cease your lewdness and your [a]harlotry
Brought from the land of Egypt,
So that you will not lift your eyes
to them,
Nor remember Egypt anymore.'

28 "For thus says the Lord GOD: 'Surely I will deliver you into the hand of [b]those you hate, into the hand of those [c]from whom you alienated yourself. 29 [d]They will deal hatefully with you, take away all you have worked for, and [e]leave you harlotry shall be uncovered, both your lewdness and your harlotry. 30 I will do these things to you because you have [f]gone as a harlot after the Gentiles, because you have become defiled by their idols. 31 You have walked in the way of your sister;

therefore I will put her [g]cup in your hand.'

32 "Thus says the Lord GOD:

'You shall drink of your sister's cup,
The deep and wide one;
[h]You shall be laughed to scorn
And held in derision;
It contains much.
33 You will be filled with drunkenness and sorrow,
The cup of horror and desolation,
The cup of your sister Samaria.
34 You shall [i]drink and drain it,
You shall break its [5]shards,
And tear at your own breasts;
For I have spoken,'
Says the Lord GOD.

35 "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

'Because you [j]have forgotten Me and [k]cast Me behind your back,
Therefore you shall bear the penalty
Of your lewdness and your harlotry.' "

23:22-35 stir up your lovers. God's anger at Judah's sin prompted His bringing Babylonians and others to deal severely with her. The passage sets forth how Judah's companion nations were the instruments of her judgment.

23:23 Pekod, Shoa, Koa. Three different Aramean tribes.

23:25 remove your nose...your ears. Atrocities by Babylonians would include facial dismemberment, ancient punishment for an adulteress practiced in Egypt, Chaldea, and elsewhere.

23:32-34 drink of your sister's cup. Judah was to experience the "cup" of God's judgment as Samaria had in 722 B.C. (cf. 23:46-49). Often the idea of "drinking a cup" is symbolic of receiving God's wrath (cf. Ps. 75:8; Is. 51:17-22; Jer. 25:15-29; Matt. 20:22).

23:36-42 The prophet detailed a shameful summary of God's case against the nation—a double arraignment calling for judgment.

this to Me: They have [p]defiled My sanctuary on the same day and [q]profaned My Sabbaths. 39 For after they had slain their children for their idols, on the same day they came into My sanctuary to profane it; and indeed [r]thus they have done in the midst of My house.

40 "Furthermore you sent for men to come from afar, [s]to whom a messenger was sent; and there they came. And you [t]washed yourself for them, [u]painted your eyes, and adorned yourself with ornaments. 41 You sat on a stately [v]couch, with a table prepared before it, [w]on which you had set My incense and My oil. 42 The sound of a carefree multitude was with her, and [6]Sabeans were brought from the wilderness with men of the common sort, who put bracelets on their [7]wrists and beautiful crowns on their heads. 43 Then I said concerning her who had grown old in adulteries, 'Will they commit harlotry with her now, and she with them?' 44 Yet they went in to her, as men go in to a woman who plays the harlot; thus they went in to Oholah and Oholibah, the lewd women. 45 But righteous men will [x]judge them after the manner of adulteresses, and after the manner of women who shed blood, because they are adulteresses, and [y]blood is on their hands.

46 "For thus says the Lord GOD: [z]'Bring up an assembly against them, give them up to trouble and plunder. 47 [a]The assembly shall stone them with stones and [8]execute them with their swords; [b]they shall slay their sons and their daughters, and burn their houses with fire. 48 Thus [c]I will cause lewdness to cease from the land, [d]that all women may be taught not to practice your lewdness. 49 They shall repay you for your lewdness, and you shall [e]pay for your idolatrous sins. Symbol of the Cooking Pot

24 Again, in the ninth year, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Son of man, write down the name of the day, this very day—the king of Babylon started his siege against Jerusalem [a]this very day. 3 [b]And utter a parable to the rebellious house, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

[c]"Put on a pot, set it on,
And also pour water into it.
4 Gather pieces of meat in it,
Every good piece,
The thigh and the shoulder.
Fill it with choice [1]cuts;
5 Take the choice of the flock.
Also pile fuel bones under it,
Make it boil well,
And let the cuts simmer in it."

6 'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

"Woe to [d]the bloody city,
To the pot whose scum is in it,
And whose scum is not gone from it!
Bring it out piece by piece,
On which no [e]lot has fallen.
7 For her blood is in her midst;
She set it on top of a rock;
[f]She did not pour it on the ground,
To cover it with dust.
8 That it may raise up fury and take vengeance,
[g]I have set her blood on top of a rock,
That it may not be covered."

9 'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

[h]"Woe to the bloody city!
I too will make the pyre great.
10 Heap on the wood,
Kindle the fire;
Cook the meat well,
Mix in the spices,
And let the [2]cuts be burned up.

11 "Then set the pot empty on the coals,

23:45 righteous men. This likely refers to the remnant of godly people in the nation who would affirm the justice of judgment.

24:1,2 this very day. The time was Jan. 15, 588 B.C. (dating from 597 as in 1:2). The Babylonians began the 18 month siege of Jerusalem (Jer. 39:1,2; 52:4-12).

24:3-5 utter a parable. The choice cuts of lamb picture God's flock being boiled in a pot, symbolizing Jerusalem in the heat of the siege. Cf. 11:3. Animal bones were frequently used for fuel.

24:6 Woe to the bloody city. Jerusalem's populace was guilty of bloody corruption, which was pictured by the boiled scum or rust in the pot (cf. 22:2).

24:7 her blood. The city's blood (a general symbol of sin) was blatantly open, not hidden, as depicted by exposure on top of a rock. When blood was not covered with dust, the law was violated (Lev. 17:13). God's vengeance would come by Babylon's army.

24:9,10 the pyre great...cuts be burned up. Intensely provoked by sin, God wanted Ezekiel to picture the fire as furious judgment that kills the people.

24:11,12 set the pot empty. After all pieces (people) were burned up, then the pot was heated empty. This portrayed the Lord's thorough follow-through by the besieger to totally destroy the city and the temple, with all its residue (cf. the treatment of a leprous house in Lev. 14:34-45).

The Prophet's Wife Dies

15 Also the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 16 "Son of man, behold, I take away from you the desire of your eyes with one stroke; yet you shall [p]neither mourn nor weep, nor shall your tears run down. 17 Sigh in silence, [q]make no mourning for the dead; [r]bind your turban on your head, and [s]put your sandals on your feet; [t]do not cover your [6]lips, and do not eat man's bread of sorrow."

18 So I spoke to the people in the morning, and at evening my wife died; and the next morning I did as I was commanded.

19 And the people said to me, [u]"Will you not tell us what these things signify to us, that you behave so?"

20 Then I answered them, "The word of the LORD came to me, saying, 21 'Speak to the house of Israel, "Thus says the Lord GOD: 'Behold, [v]I will profane My sanctuary, [7]your arrogant boast, the desire of your eyes, the [8]delight of your soul; [w]and your sons and daughters whom you left behind shall fall by the sword. 22 And you shall do as I have done; [x]you shall not cover your [9]lips nor eat man's bread of sorrow. 23 Your turbans shall be on your heads and your sandals on your feet; [y]you shall neither mourn nor weep, but [z]you shall pine away in your iniquities and mourn with one another. 24 Thus [a]Ezekiel is a sign to you; according to all that he has done you shall do; [b]and when this comes, [c]you shall know that I am the Lord GOD.' "

25 'And you, son of man—will it not be in the day when I take from them [d]their stronghold, their joy and their glory, the desire of their eyes, and [1]that on which they set their minds, their sons and their daughters: 26 on that day [e]one who escapes will come to you to let you hear it with your ears; 27 [f]on that day your mouth will be opened to him who has escaped; you shall speak and no longer be mute. 3 [c] Ps. 70:2, 3; [Prov. 17:5]; Ezek. 26:2

24:16-27 Ezekiel's wife died as a sign to Israel. All personal sorrow was eclipsed in the universal calamity. Just as Ezekiel was not to mourn the death of his wife (v. 17), so Israel was not to mourn the death of her families (vv. 19-24). Though the text emphasizes how precious his wife was, the "desire of his eyes" (vv. 16,21), his "boast" and "delight" (v. 21), he was obedient and submitted to God's will. He became a heartbreaking sign to his people.

24:25 in the day. This refers to the destruction of the temple.

24:26,27 on that day. One who escaped the destruction of Jerusalem (586 B.C.) would come to Ezekiel in Babylon and report the story. From that day forward, he was to be silent until the captives arrived; then he could speak of Judah (cf. 3:26,27). This was about a two year period (cf. 33:21; Jer. 52:5-7), when there was no need to preach judgment because it had come. He did speak of other nations (as recorded beginning in chap. 25).

25:1 The word of the LORD came. Ezekiel 25:1–32:32 proclaims judgments on 7 other nations, similar to the series in Jer. 46–51. Four of them are singled out in this chap. for vindictive jealousy and hate toward Israel. It is fitting, after devoting chaps. 1–24 to calamity on His chosen nation, that God should reveal His impartiality toward all sinners and give the prophet judgments to proclaim on Gentiles. Israel's sinful failure had profaned God's honor in the eyes of these peoples (36:21-23), but these nations had falsely assumed that, when Israel was exiled, their God was defeated.

25:2,3 against the Ammonites. These people lived on the edge of the desert E of the Jordan River and N of Moab. They had joined Babylon against Judah about 600 B.C. (2 Kin. 24:2ff.). In 594 B.C., together with other nations, they tried to influence Judah to ally with them against Babylon (Jer. 27:2ff.). Ezekiel 21:18-20 indicates that Babylon came after them. There is no record of an attack, so they must have surrendered (21:28; Zeph. 2:8-11). They were of incestuous origin (cf. Gen. 19:37,38) and often hostile toward Judah (cf. Judg. 10; 1 Sam. 11; 2 Sam. 10,12; Jer. 49:1-6; Lam. 2:15; Amos 1:13-15). God judged this people because of their enmity against Israel (vv. 3,6). They expressed malicious pleasure at the dishonoring of the temple, desolation of the land, and dispersion of the inhabitants.

Judah when they went into captivity, 4 indeed, therefore, I will deliver you as a possession to the [l]men of the East, and they shall set their encampments among you and make their dwellings among you; they shall eat your fruit, and they shall drink your milk. 5 And I will make [d]Rabbah [e]a stable for camels and Ammon a resting place for flocks. [f]Then you shall know that I am the LORD."

6 'For thus says the Lord GOD: "Because you [g]clapped your hands, stamped your feet, and [h]rejoiced in heart with all your disdain for the land of Israel, 7 indeed, therefore, I will [i]stretch out My hand against you, and give you as plunder to the nations; I will cut you off from the peoples, and I will cause you to perish from the countries; I will destroy you, and you shall know that I am the LORD."

Proclamation Against Moab

8 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because [j]Moab and [k]Seir say, 'Look! Proclamation Against Edom

12 'Thus says the Lord GOD: [o]"Because of what Edom did against the house of Judah by taking vengeance, and has greatly of-

25:4 I will deliver you...to the men of the East. Perhaps this meant the coming of Babylon from the E which would devastate Ammon in either 588–86 B.C. or 582/81 B.C. Or it could refer to their land being occupied by the various nomadic tribes living beyond the Jordan.

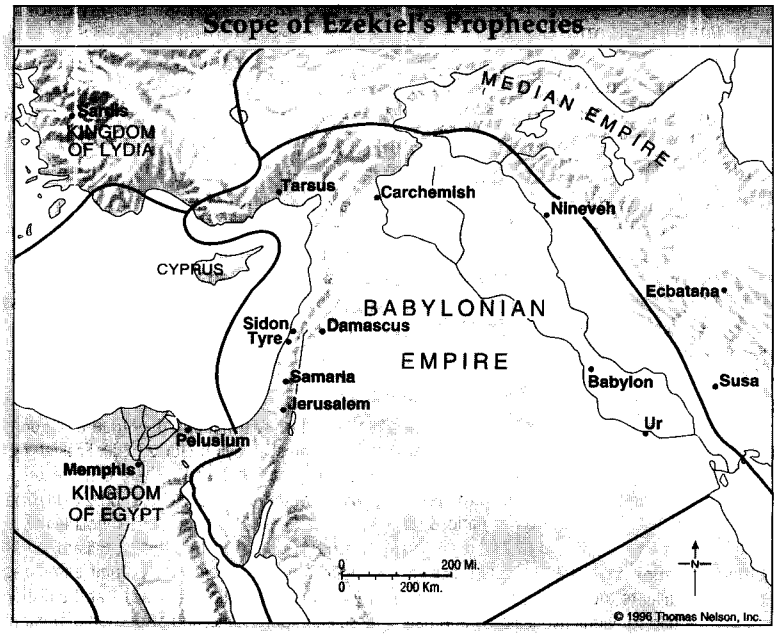
25:5 Rabbah. This important Ammonite capitol (cf. Amos 1:14), now called Amman, is about 25 mi. NE of the upper tip of the Dead Sea, E of the Jordan River.

25:7 cause you to perish. Ammonites would be destroyed and eliminated from their land. Yet, Jer. 49:6 assures a later return of a remnant of these scattered people.

25:8-11 Moab and Seir. The origin of these people is given in Gen. 19:37,38. Their land was the area S of the Arnon River along the lower region of the Dead Sea. Cf. Is. 15,16; Jer. 48; Amos 2:1-3. The Babylonians destroyed cities there in 582/81 B.C. The reason for judgment (v. 8) also included their gloating over Israel's fall, as well as their scorn in saying Israel was like all other people with no privileged position before God. Both Ammonites and Moabites became absorbed into the Arabian peoples.

25:8 Seir. Another name for the adjacent Edomite area (Gen. 32:3; 36:20,21,30), dominated by Mt. Seir and a mountainous, extremely rugged, rocky country. Her judgments are given in 25:12-14.

25:12 Edom. Cf. chap. 35; Is. 21:11,12; Jer. 49:7-22; Amos 1:11,12; Obadiah; Mal. 1:3-5. These people lived S of Moab from the Dead Sea to the Gulf of Aqabah. These people had been almost annihilated by David (2 Sam. 8:14), but won back independence during the reign of Ahaz (ca. 735–715 B.C.). Their revenge was hostility to Israel constantly (cf. Gen. 27:27-41; Is. 34:5-7). The reason for judgment is Edom's disdain when the Israelites were devastated in 588–86 B.C. They acted like a cheering section for Babylon, "raze it, raze it" (Ps. 137:7; Lam. 4:21,22; Obad. 10-14).



fended by avenging itself on them," 13 therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "I will also stretch out My hand against Edom, cut off man and beast from it, and make it desolate from Teman; 2Dedan shall fall by the sword. 14 [p]I will lay My vengeance on Edom by the hand of My people Israel, that they may do in Edom according to My anger and according to My fury; and they shall know My vengeance," says the Lord GOD.

Proclamation Against Philistia

15 'Thus says the Lord GOD: [q]"Because [r]the Philistines dealt vengefully and took vengeance with 3a spiteful heart, to destroy because of the 4old hatred," 16 therefore thus says the Lord GOD: [s]"I will stretch out My hand against the Philistines, and I will cut off the [t]Cherethites [u]and destroy the remnant of the seacoast. 17 I will [v]execute great vengeance on them with furious rebukes; [w]and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I lay My vengeance upon them." 7 "For thus says the Lord GOD: 'Behold, I will bring against Tyre from the north [f]Nebuchadnezzar[1] king of Babylon, [g]king of kings, with horses, with chariots, and with horsemen, and an army with many people. 8 He will slay with the sword your daughter villages in the fields; he will [h]heap up a siege mound against you, build a wall against you, and raise a [2]defense against you. 9 He will direct his battering rams against your walls, and with his axes he will break down your towers. 10 Because of the abundance of his horses, their dust will cover you; your walls will shake at the noise of the horsemen, the wagons, and the chariots, when he enters your gates, as men enter a city that has been breached. 11 With the hooves of his [i]horses he will trample all your streets; he will slay your people by the sword, and your strong pillars will fall to the ground. 12 They will plunder your riches and pillage your mer-

25:13,14 against Edom...by the hand of My people Israel. The Arab tribe called Nabateans invaded Edom in 325 B.C.; but it was the Jewish forces of Judas Maccabeus in 164 B.C. and John Hyrcanus in 126 B.C. which fully subjugated Edom. Jews even compelled Edomites to submit to their religion. All 3 of these nations (Ammon, Moab, and Edom) have disappeared as separate nations into the Arab peoples.

25:13 Teman; Dedan. Reference is to key Edomite towns. Teman (Teima) was possibly 200 mi. E of the Dead Sea in the Arabian Desert in the northern expanse of Edom's territory. Dedan was maybe located 100 mi. S of Teman, yet far E of the Red Sea.

25:15-17 the Philistines. Cf. Is. 14:29-33; Jer. 47; Joel 3:4; Amos 1:6-8; Obad. 19; Zeph. 2:4-7; Zech. 9:5. The reason for their judgment was perpetual enmity, and vengefulness against Israel, which perpetuated the "old hatred" from as far back as Judg. 13–16. They constantly harassed and oppressed Israel until David broke their power during Saul's reign (1 Sam. 17). They repeatedly rose up and were subdued by Israel. Nebuchadnezzar invaded their land (Jer. 47).

25:16 Cherethites. They originated in Crete and became part of the Philistine nation (see note on 1 Sam. 30:14), with some serving in David's bodyguard (2 Sam. 8:18; 15:18).

25:17 great vengeance. This was fulfilled at the time of Babylon's invasion of 588–86 B.C. or 582/81 B.C. (cf. Jer. 25:20; 47:1-7).

26:1 the eleventh year. In 586 B.C., the 11th year of Jehoiachin's captivity, on the tenth day of the fifth month, Jerusalem was captured.

26:3,4 I am against you, O Tyre. The judgment of this city covers 3 chaps. (26–28), indicating its importance to God. Cf. Is. 23; Amos 1:9,10. Tyre was an ancient city of the Phoenicians, appearing for the first time in Josh. 19:29. During the reigns of David and Solomon it had great influence. Hiram, its king, was a friend to David (2 Sam. 5:11), who helped him and Solomon in building operations (cf. 1 Kin. 5:1-12; 1 Chr. 14:1; 2 Chr. 2:3,11). Later, Tyrians sold Jews into slavery (cf. Joel 3:4-8; Amos 1:9,10). God would move "many nations" to invade Tyre, the commercial center of the Mediterranean (cf. 27:3), in successive attacks pictured by wave following wave. Babylon (v. 7) besieged Tyre from 585–573 B.C.; later came Alexander's Grecian army in 332 B.C. Babylon had devastated the coastal city, but many Tyrians escaped to an island fortress which withstood attack. The later Grecian attackers "scraped" all the remaining "dust" and rubble and dumped it into the sea, building a causeway to the island nearly a half mile out. They also brought ships and overcame the fortress defenders in a devastating assault on Tyre. The predictions in chaps. 26–28 have been fulfilled with amazing literal accuracy.

26:5,14 for spreading nets. Tyre became a fishing city, a place to spread fishing nets for centuries, until the Saracens finally destroyed what was left in the fourth century. Since then the once great center of Mediterranean commerce has been a nondescript village.

26:7-14 Here is a vivid description of the original devastation by Babylon's King Nebuchadnezzar called "king of kings" (v. 7) because so many other rulers were subject to him. God had given him universal rule (cf. Dan. 2:37). Verses 8 and 9 describe the siege, vv. 10-14, the devastation.

26:12 They will plunder. After Nebuchadnezzar in v. 7 and "he" and "his" in vv. 8-11, "they" in v. 12 appears to broaden the reference

chandise; they will break down your walls and destroy your pleasant houses; they will lay your stones, your timber, and your soil in the [j]midst of the water. 13 [k]I will put an end to the sound of [l]your songs, and the sound of your harps shall be heard no more. 14 [m]I will make you like the top of a rock; you shall be a place for spreading nets, and you shall never be rebuilt, for I the LORD have spoken,' says the Lord GOD.

15 "Thus says the Lord GOD to Tyre: 'Will the coastlands not [n]shake at the sound of your fall, when the wounded cry, when slaughter is made in the midst of you?
16 Then all the [o]princes of the sea will [p]come down from their thrones, lay aside their robes, and take off their embroidered garments; they will clothe themselves with trembling; [q]they will sit on the ground, [r]tremble every moment, and [s]be astonished at you. 17 And they will take up a [t]lamentation for you, and say to you:

"How you have perished,
O one inhabited by seafaring men,
O renowned city,
Who was [u]strong at sea,
She and her inhabitants,
Who caused their terror to be on all her inhabitants!
18 Now [v]the coastlands tremble on the day of your fall;
Yes, the coastlands by the sea are troubled at your departure."'

19 "For thus says the Lord GOD: 'When I make you a desolate city, like cities that are not inhabited, when I bring the deep upon you, and great waters cover you, 20 then I will bring you down [w]with those who descend into the Pit, to the people of old, and I will make you dwell in the lowest part of the earth, in places desolate from antiquity, with those who go down to the Pit, so that you may never be inhabited; and I shall establish glory [x]in the land of the living. 21 [y]I will make you a terror, and you shall be no more; [z]though you are sought for, you will never be found again,' says the Lord GOD."

Lamentation for Tyre

27 The word of the LORD came again to me, saying, 2 "Now, son of man, [a]take up a lamentation for Tyre, 3 and say to Tyre, [b]'You who [1]are situated at the entrance of the sea, [c]merchant of the peoples on many coastlands, thus says the Lord
GOD:

"O Tyre, you have said,
[d]'I am perfect in beauty.'
4 Your borders are in the midst of the seas.
Your builders have perfected your beauty.
5 They [2]made all your planks of fir trees from [e]Senir;
They took a cedar from Lebanon to make you a mast.
6 Of [f]oaks from Bashan they made your oars;
The company of Ashurites have inlaid your planks
With ivory from [g]the coasts of [3]Cyprus.
7 Fine embroidered linen from Egypt was what you spread for your sail;
Blue and purple from the coasts of Elishah was what covered
you.

8 "Inhabitants of Sidon and Arvad were your oarsmen;
Your wise men, O Tyre, were in you;
They became your pilots.
9 Elders of [h]Gebal and its wise men
Were in you to caulk your seams;
All the ships of the sea
And their oarsmen were in you
To market your merchandise.

10 "Those from Persia, [4]Lydia, and
[5]Libya
Were in your army as men of war;
They hung shield and helmet in
you;
They gave splendor to you.

to others among the "many nations" (v. 3). At this point, "they" are not only Babylonians, but also Alexander's army which later heaped debris from the ruins into the sea to advance to the island stronghold (cf. Zech. 9:3,4).

26:13 songs...harps. According to Is. 23:16, Tyre was famous for musicians.

26:15-18 So important a center of commerce could not be destroyed without affecting all the nearby nations. All the nations around the Mediterranean would consider Tyre's fall a calamity. According to customs of mourning, rulers would descend from their thrones and disrobe.

26:19-21 Tyre's destruction is compared to a dead person placed in the grave.

27:1-11 a lamentation for Tyre. The whole chap. is a lamentation, describing Tyre as a great trade ship destroyed on the high seas. The proper names indicate the participants in commerce with Tyre.

27:5-9 fir trees from Senir. The area is the Amorite designation for Mt. Hermon, to the NE from the northern tip of the Sea of Galilee. Lesser known places were: Elishah (v. 7), believed to be in Cyprus; Arvad (v. 8), an island city off the Mediterranean coast N of Byblos; and Gebal (v. 9), a name also used for Byblos, N of today's Beirut. "Ashurites" (v. 6) were the Assyrians, who had skilled wood workers.

27:10,11 men of war. These places provided mercenary soldiers for the Phoenician army to defend Tyre.

11 Men of Arvad with your army were on your walls all around,
And the men of Gammad were in your towers;
They hung their shields on your walls all around;
They made [i]your beauty perfect.

12 [j]"Tarshish was your merchant because of your many luxury goods. They gave you silver, iron, tin, and lead for your goods. 13 [k]Javan, Tubal, and Meshech were your traders. They bartered [l]human lives and vessels of bronze for your merchandise. 14 Those from the house of [m]Togarmah traded for your wares with horses, steeds, and mules. 15 The men of [n]Dedan were your traders; many isles were the market of your hand. They brought you ivory tusks and ebony as payment. 16 Syria was your merchant because of the abundance of goods you made. They gave you for your wares emeralds, purple, embroidery, fine linen, corals, and rubies. 17 Judah and the land of Israel were your traders. They traded for your merchandise wheat of [o]Minnith, millet, honey, oil, and [p]balm. 18 Damascus was your merchant because of the abundance of goods you made, because of your many luxury items, with the wine of Helbon and with white wool. 19 Dan and Javan paid for your wares, [6]traversing back and forth. Wrought iron, cassia, and cane were among your merchandise. 20 [q]Dedan was your merchant in saddlecloths for riding. 21 Arabia and all the princes of [r]Kedar were your regular merchants. They traded with you in lambs, rams, and goats. 22 The merchants of [s]Sheba and Raamah were your merchants. They traded for your wares the choicest spices, all kinds of precious stones, and gold. 23 [t]Haran, Canneh, Eden, the merchants of [u]Sheba, Assyria, and Chilmad were your merchants. 24 These were your merchants in choice items—in purple clothes, in embroidered garments, in chests of multicolored apparel, in sturdy woven cords, which were in your marketplace.

25 "The [v]ships of Tarshish were carriers of your merchandise.
You were filled and very glorious
[w]in the midst of the seas.
26 Your oarsmen brought you into
many waters,
But [x]the east wind broke you in the midst of the seas.

27 "Your [y]riches, wares, and merchandise,
Your mariners and pilots,
Your caulkers and merchandisers,
All your men of war who are in
you,
And the entire company which is in your midst,
Will fall into the midst of the seas on the day of your ruin.
28 The [z]common-land[7] will shake at the sound of the cry of your pilots.

29 "All [a]who handle the oar,
The mariners,
All the pilots of the sea
Will come down from their ships and stand on the [8]shore.
30 They will make their voice heard because of you;
They will cry bitterly and [b]cast dust on their heads;
They [c]will roll about in ashes;
31 They will [d]shave themselves completely bald because of
you,
Gird themselves with sackcloth,

27:11 Arvad. See note on vv. 5-9. Gammad. A place often identified as northern Syria.

27:12 Tarshish. This verse begins the description of the commercial glory of Tyre. Most likely this place refers to Tarshishah in southern Spain, a Phoenician colony famous for silver (Jer. 10:9).

27:13 Javan, Tubal, and Meshech. Javan was Ionia, a large area in Greece. The other two, in Asia Minor, may be the Tibarenoi and Moschoi mentioned by the writer Herodotus, or slave-trading cities called Tabal and Mushku by the Assyrians.

27:14 house of Togarmah. Beth-Togarmah is identified with Armenia in NE Asia Minor, which is modern Turkey.

27:15 Dedan. Probably Rhodes.

27:17 Minnith. An Ammonite town (Judg. 11:33).

27:18 Helbon. Today it is called Halbun, 13 mi. N of Damascus.

27:19 Dan. A Danite area is meant; but translators are not sure which areas are designated by this and Javan. cassia. A perfume.

27:21 Kedar. Refers to nomadic Bedouin tribes.

27:22 Sheba and Raamah. These were cities in the SW extremity of Arabia (Gen. 10:7; 1 Chr. 1:9).

27:23 Haran, Canneh, Eden. All were Mesopotamian towns; Canneh may have been in northern Syria, the Calneh of Amos 6:2, or the Caino of Is. 10:9. Assyria...Chilmad. These were also in Mesopotamia.

27:25 ships of Tarshish. The large cargo carrying sea ships that sailed across the Mediterranean.

27:26,27 the east wind broke. This pictures Tyre's fall aptly as a shipwreck on the seas. The sea, the place of her glory, will be her grave. "The east wind" is a picture of Babylon in its power from the E (cf. 13:11-13).

27:28-35 the cry. This maintains the metaphor of Tyre as a ship and turns particularly to men lamenting her ruin, for their livelihood has been tied to the commerce she represents. Verses 30-32 describe common actions signifying mourning.

And weep for you
With bitterness of heart and bitter wailing.
32 In their wailing for you
They will [e]take up a lamentation,
And lament for you:
[f]What city is like Tyre,
Destroyed in the midst of the sea?

33 'When[g] your wares went out by sea,
You satisfied many people;
You enriched the kings of the earth
With your many luxury goods and your merchandise.
34 But [h]you are broken by the seas in the depths of the waters;
[i]Your merchandise and the entire company will fall in your midst.
35 [j]All the inhabitants of the isles will be astonished at you;
Their kings will be greatly afraid,
And their countenance will be troubled.
36 The merchants among the peoples [k]will hiss at you;
[l]You will become a horror, and be no [m]more forever.' " ' "

Proclamation Against the King of Tyre

28 The word of the LORD came to me again, saying, 2 "Son of man, say to the prince of Tyre, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Because your heart is [a]lifted[1] up,
And [b]you say, 'I am a god,
I sit in the seat of gods,
[c]In the midst of the seas,'
[d]Yet you are a man, and not a god,
Though you set your heart as the heart of a god
3 (Behold, [e]you are wiser than Daniel!
There is no secret that can be hidden from you!
4 With your wisdom and your understanding
You have gained [f]riches for yourself,
And gathered gold and silver into your treasuries;
5 [g]By your great wisdom in trade you have increased your riches,
And your heart is lifted up because of your riches),"

6 'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

"Because you have set your heart as the heart of a god,
7 Behold, therefore, I will bring [h]strangers against you,
[i]The most terrible of the nations;
And they shall draw their swords against the beauty of your wisdom,
And defile your splendor.
8 They shall throw you down into the [j]Pit,
And you shall die the death of the slain
In the midst of the seas.

9 "Will you still [k]say before him who slays you,
'I am a god'?
But you shall be a man, and not a god,
In the hand of him who slays you.
10 You shall die the death of [l]the uncircumcised
By the hand of aliens;
For I have spoken," says the Lord GOD.' "

27:36 There will be some who scorn with malicious joy.

28:1-19 This section concerning the king of Tyre is similar to Is. 14:3-23 referring to the king of Babylon. In both passages, some of the language best fits Satan. Most likely, both texts primarily describe the human king who is being used by Satan, much like Peter when Jesus said to him, "Get behind Me, Satan!" (Matt. 16:23). The judgment can certainly apply to Satan also.

28:2 to the prince of Tyre. Since "prince" is sometimes used to mean "the king" (37:24,25), the "prince" in v. 2 is the "king" in v. 12, Ittobaal II. The prophet is dealing with the spirit of Tyre more than just the king. This prophecy is dated shortly before the siege of Tyre by Nebuchadnezzar (585–573 B.C.). I am* a god. Many ancient kings claimed to be a god, and acted as if they were (v. 6). When this king claimed to be a god, he was displaying the same proud attitude as the serpent who promised Adam and Eve they could be like God (Gen. 3:5).

28:3-5 wiser than Daniel. This is said in sarcastic derision of the leader's own exaggerated claims. Here is an indicator that Daniel, who had been captive for years in Babylon, had become well known.

28:6-10 strangers against you...aliens. The reference is to invading Babylonians, and later the Greeks. (cf. chap. 26). God was the true executioner.

28:11-19 This lament over "the king of Tyre" reached behind to the real supernatural source of wickedness, Satan. Cf. Matt. 16:21-23, where Peter was rebuked by the Lord, as under Satanic control and motivation.

28:12 the seal of perfection. The Lord led Ezekiel to address the king as the one to be judged, but clearly the power behind him was

Full of wisdom and perfect in beauty.
13 You were in [o]Eden, the garden of

I established you;
You were on [r]the holy mountain of

You walked back and forth in the midst of fiery stones.
15 You were perfect in your ways from the day you were created,
Till [s]iniquity was found in you.

16 "By the abundance of your trading
You became filled with violence
within,
And you sinned;
Therefore I cast you as a profane thing
Out of the mountain of God;
And I destroyed you, [t]O covering cherub,

That they might gaze at you.

18 "You defiled your sanctuaries
By the multitude of your iniquities,
By the iniquity of your trading;
Therefore I brought fire from your midst;
It devoured you,
And I turned you to ashes upon the earth
In the sight of all who saw you.

Proclamation Against Sidon

20 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 21 "Son of man, [x]set your face
[y]toward Sidon, and prophesy against her,
22 and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

23 [c] Ezek. 38:22

Satan. This phrase must be associated with Satan as one perfect in angelic beauty before he rebelled against God. But, it can also relate to "perfection" in the same context of Tyre's enterprise, topmost in its trade to the ancient world (27:3,4,11), glorious in her seafaring efforts (27:24), and the crowning city (Is. 23:8), i.e., "perfect" as Jerusalem also is said to be (16:14; Lam. 2:15). Full of wisdom. This referred to Satan's wisdom as an angel and to Tyre's wisdom (skill) in trade (cf. 27:8,9; 28:4).

28:13 You were in Eden. This could be Satan in the Garden of Eden (Gen. 3:1-15), or it might refer to Tyre's king in a beautiful environment, a kind of Eden. Every precious stone. This depicts Satan's rich investiture (Gen. 2:12), and/or Tyre's king possessing every beautiful stone as Solomon had (1 Kin. 10:10). workmanship of your timbrels. This could refer both to Satan's once being in charge of heavenly praise and to Tyre's beautiful musical instruments used in celebration (26:13). you were created. Satan, however, is more likely to have such wealth and beauty, wisdom, and perfection at his creation than this earthly king would have at his birth.

28:14 anointed cherub. This refers to Satan in his exalted privilege as an angel guarding (i.e., covering) God's throne, as cherubim guarded Eden (Gen. 3:24). Satan originally had continuous and unrestricted access to the glorious presence of God. I established you. This was true of both Satan, by God's sovereign permission, and Tyre's king. You were on the holy mountain. A high privilege is meant, whether referring to Satan before God in His kingdom (mountain, cf. Dan. 2:35), or Tyre's monarch described in a picturesque analogy, as Assyria can be described as a cedar in Lebanon (31:3) to convey a picture of towering height.

28:15 perfect in your ways. This verse was not completely true of the king, but it was accurate of Satan before he sinned. Till iniquity was found in you. Satan's sin of pride (cf. Is. 14:14; 1 Tim. 3:6) is in view here.

28:16 The description transitions to feature the king of Tyre, describing his demise, as he followed the pattern of Satan himself.

28:17-19 I laid you before kings. It would be difficult to relate this to Satan. The earthly king of Tyre, in his downfall, would be knocked or cast to the ground, cut down, and lie before the gaze of other kings. From Is. 23:17 there is the implication of a revival under Persian rule (Neh. 13:16). Two hundred and fifty years after Nebuchadnezzar, Tyre was strong enough to hold off Alexander for 7 years. The Romans made it a capital of the province. Gradually it disappeared and its location is not prominent.

28:21 Sidon. Sidon (vv. 20-24) is a sister seaport to Tyre in Phoenicia, 23 mi. N. Even in the time of the judges (Judg. 10:6), the corrupting influence of this place had begun. It was the headquarters for Baal worship.

28:22,23 judgments in her. God is to bring bloodshed and pestilence on people there, probably at the time He brings an invasion against Tyre.

The wounded shall be judged in her midst
By the sword against her on every side;
Then they shall know that I am the
LORD.

24 "And there shall no longer be a pricking brier or [d]a painful thorn for the house of Israel from among all who are around them, who [e]despise them. Then they shall know that I am the Lord GOD."

Israel's Future Blessing

25 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "When I have [f]gathered the house of Israel from the peoples among whom they are scattered, and am [g]hallowed in them in the sight of the Gentiles, then they will dwell in their own land which I gave to My servant Jacob. 26 And they will [h]dwell [3]safely there, [i]build houses, and [j]plant vineyards; yes, they will dwell securely, when I execute judgments on all those around them who despise them. Then they shall know that I am the LORD their God." ' "

Proclamation Against Egypt

29 In the tenth year, in the tenth month, on the twelfth day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Son of man, [a]set your face against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and prophesy against him, and [b]against all Egypt. 3 Speak, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

[c]"Behold, I am against you,
O Pharaoh king of Egypt,
O great [d]monster who lies in the midst of his rivers,
[e]Who has said, 'My [1]River is my own;
I have made it for myself.'
4 But [f]I will put hooks in your jaws,
And cause the fish of your rivers to stick to your scales;
I will bring you up out of the midst of your rivers,
And all the fish in your rivers will
stick to your scales.
5 I will leave you in the wilderness,
You and all the fish of your rivers;
You shall fall on the [2]open [g]field;
[h]You shall not be picked up or [3]gathered.
[i]I have given you as food
To the beasts of the field
And to the birds of the heavens.

6 "Then all the inhabitants of Egypt
Shall know that I am the LORD, Because they have been a [j]staff of reed to the house of Israel.
7 [k]When they took hold of you with the hand,
You broke and tore all their [4]shoulders;
When they leaned on you,
You broke and made all their backs
quiver."

8 'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "Surely I will bring [l]a sword upon you and cut off from you man and beast. 9 And the land of Egypt shall become [m]desolate and waste; then they will know that I am the LORD, because he said, 'The River is mine, and I have made it.' 10 Indeed, therefore, I am against you and against your rivers, [n]and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate, [o]from [5]Migdol to Syene, as far as the border of Ethiopia. 11 [p]Neither foot of man shall pass through it nor foot of beast pass through it, and it 28:24 no longer...a pricking brier. This is a summary of the judgment scenarios so far revealed (chaps. 25–28). The enemies of Israel would be so devastated by God that 1) they would no longer be pestering Israel, and 2) they would see that the God who judges them is the true God of Israel.

28:25,26 When I have gathered. In this brief excursus of hope, God promised to restore Israel to the land of Palestine (cf. chaps. 34,36–39; Is. 65:21; Jer. 30–33; Amos 9:14,15). This looks to Messiah's earthly kingdom.

29:1 the tenth year. 587 B.C. is the 10th year after Jehoiachin's deportation. It is a year and two days after Nebuchadnezzar had come to Jerusalem (24:1,2; 2 Kin. 25:1) and 7 months before its destruction (2 Kin. 25:3-8). This is the first of 7 oracles against Egypt (cf. 29:17; 30:1; 32:1; 32:17).

29:2 against all Egypt. Cf. Is. 19; Jer. 46:1-26. Egypt was to fall, even though it could be pictured as a water monster (vv. 3-5), a towering tree like Assyria (31:3), a young lion (32:2), and a sea monster (32:2-8). The judgment looks ahead to 570 B.C. when the Greeks of Cyrene defeated Pharaoh (Apries) Hophra and 568/67 B.C. when Babylon conquered Egypt.

29:3 great monster. Most likely the crocodile is the figure used for the king. Crocodiles were worshiped by the Egyptians, and lived in their rivers. "Rahab" a general term used for a monster which often symbolized Egypt. See notes on Pss. 87:4; 89:10; Is. 30:7.

29:4 fish of your rivers. This figuratively represents the people who followed Pharaoh and who were a part of God's judgment on Egypt as a whole (v. 5,6a).

29:6 a staff of reed. The Israelites had depended on Egyptians in military alliances as people lean on a staff that gives way, failing them. Egypt had betrayed the confidence of Israel as God said they would (cf. Jer. 17:5,7). Because Israel never should have trusted Egypt does not lessen Egypt's judgment.

29:9 The River. The Nile River was the water supply for all Egypt's crops. See note on v. 18.

29:10 from Migdol to Syene. This covered the entirety of Egypt, since Migdol (Ex. 14:2) was in the N and Syene in the southern border of "Ethiopia."

shall be uninhabited forty years. 12 [q]I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate; and among the cities that are laid waste, her cities shall be desolate forty years; and I will [r]scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them throughout the countries."

13 'Yet, thus says the Lord GOD: "At the [s]end of forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the peoples among whom they were scattered. 14 I will bring back the captives of Egypt and cause them to return to the land of Pathros, to the land of their origin, and there they shall be a [t]lowly kingdom. 15 It shall be the lowliest of kingdoms; it shall never again exalt itself above the nations, for I will diminish them so that they will not rule over the nations anymore. 16 No longer shall it be [u]the confidence of the house of Israel, but will remind them of their iniquity when they turned to follow them. Then they shall know that I am the Lord GOD." ' "

Babylonia Will Plunder Egypt

17 And it came to pass in the twenty-seventh year, in the first month, on the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 18 "Son of man, [v]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon caused his army to labor strenuously against Tyre; every head was made [w]bald, and every shoulder rubbed raw; yet neither he nor his army received wages from Tyre, for the labor which they expended on it. 19 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Surely I will give the land of Egypt to [x]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; he shall take away her wealth, carry off her spoil, and remove her pillage; and that will be the wages for his army. 20 I have given him the land of Egypt for his labor, because they [y]worked for Me,' says the Lord GOD.

21 'In that day [z]I will cause the [6]horn of the house of Israel to spring forth, and I will [a]open your mouth to speak in their midst. Then they shall know that I am the LORD.' "

Egypt and Her Allies Will Fall

CHAPTER 30

30 The word of the LORD came to me again, saying, 2 "Son of man, prophesy and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

[a]"Wail, 'Woe to the day!'
3 For [b]the day is near,
Even the day of the LORD is near;
It will be a day of clouds, the time of the Gentiles.
4 The sword shall come upon Egypt,
And great anguish shall be in [1]Ethiopia,
When the slain fall in Egypt,
And they [c]take away her wealth,
And [d]her foundations are broken down.

5 "Ethiopia, [2]Libya, [3]Lydia, [e]all the mingled people, Chub, and the men of the lands who are allied, shall fall with them by the sword."

6 'Thus says the LORD:

"Those who uphold Egypt shall fall,
And the pride of her power shall come down.
[f]From [4]Migdol to Syene
Those within her shall fall by the sword,"
Says the Lord GOD.

29:11,12 uninhabited forty years. Although difficult to pinpoint, one possibility is that this period was when Babylon, under Nebuchadnezzar, reigned supreme in Egypt (vv. 19,20), from ca. 568/67 B.C. to 525 B.C. until Cyrus gained Persian control.

29:13-16 I will gather the Egyptians. Egypt regained normalcy as is currently true, but never again reached the pinnacle of international prominence she once enjoyed.

29:17 the twenty-seventh year. This is 571/70 B.C. as counted from the captivity of Jehoiachin in 597 B.C., about 17 years after the prophecy in vv. 1-16.

29:18 labor...against Tyre. In ca. 585–573 B.C., Nebuchadnezzar besieged Tyre for 13 years before subduing the city (cf. Ezek. 26:1–28:19). Tyrians retreated to an island bastion out in the sea and survived, not giving Babylon full satisfaction in spoils ("wages") equal to such long struggle.

29:19 I will give the land of Egypt. To make up for Babylon's lack of sufficient reward from Tyre, God allowed a Babylonian conquest of Egypt in 568/67 B.C. Babylon's army had worked as an instrument which God used to bring down Egypt.

29:21 I will cause the horn...to spring forth. Cf. 23:25,26. God caused Israel's power to return and restored her authority as the power in an animal's horn (cf. 1 Sam. 2:1). Though other nations subdued her, her latter end in messianic times will be blessed. I will open your mouth. Most likely this refers to the day when Ezekiel's writings would be understood by looking back at their fulfillment. His muteness had already ceased in 586/585 B.C. when Jerusalem fell (cf. 33:21,22).

30:3 the day of the LORD is near. This is a common expression for God's judgment, especially His future judgment (cf. Joel 1:15; 2:1,11; 3:14; Zech. 14:1; 1 Thess. 5:2; 2 Thess. 2:2; 2 Pet. 3:10). God's judgment "day" for Egypt embraces a near fulfillment in Babylon's 568/67 invasion (v. 10; 32:11), as well as the distant day of the Lord in the future tribulation period when God calls all nations to judgment (Dan. 11:42,43). See note on Is. 2:12.

30:5 Ethiopia, Libya, Lydia. See notes on 27:10 and 29:10. Chub. An unidentified nation, along with the "mingled people" and "men of the lands." These also may have been mercenaries in Egypt's army, like the previous ones in this verse.

30:6 Migdol...Syene. See note on 29:10.

7 "They[g] shall be desolate in the midst of the desolate countries,
And her cities shall be in the midst of the cities that are laid waste.
8 Then they will know that I am the
LORD,
When I have set a fire in Egypt
And all her helpers are destroyed.
9 On that day [h]messengers shall go forth from Me in ships
To make the [5]careless Ethiopians afraid,
And great anguish shall come upon them,
As on the day of Egypt;
For indeed it is coming!"

10 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

[i]"I will also make a multitude of Egypt to cease
By the hand of Nebuchadnezzar
king of Babylon.
11 He and his people with him, [j]the most terrible of the nations,
Shall be brought to destroy the land;
They shall draw their swords against Egypt,
And fill the land with the slain.
12 [k]I will make the rivers dry,
And [l]sell the land into the hand of
the wicked;
I will make the land waste, and all that is in it,
By the hand of aliens.
I, the LORD, have spoken."

13 'Thus says the Lord GOD:

"I will also [m]destroy the idols,
And cause the images to cease
from [6]Noph;
[n]There shall no longer be princes
from the land of Egypt;
[o]I will put fear in the land of Egypt.

Proclamation Against Pharaoh

20 And it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first month, on the seventh day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 21 "Son of man, I have [w]broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and see, [x]it has not been bandaged for healing, nor a [4]splint put on to bind it, to make it strong enough to hold a sword. 22 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Surely I am [y]against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will [z]break his arms, both the strong one and the one that was broken; and I will make the sword fall out of his hand. 23 [a]I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them throughout the countries. 24 I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and put My sword in his hand; but I will break Pharaoh's arms,

30:8 helpers. All Egypt's alliances and their arms will be useless in the day of God's judgment.

30:9 Apparently, the Egyptians will flee the horrors to Ethiopia and increase that nations fear of its own inevitable judgment.

30:10,11 Nebuchadnezzar was God's instrument.

30:12 rivers dry. Apart from the Nile and its branches, Egypt was a barren desert. Her life depended on an annual inundation of the land by the flooding Nile.

30:14 Pathros. The large region S of Memphis. Zoan. This key city of the Nile Delta's eastern portion was called Tanis by Greeks.

30:15 Sin. The name referred to ancient Pelusium, a key city at the tip of the Nile's eastern arm near the Mediterranean Sea. Since "No" (Thebes) and "Sin" were at opposite borders of Egypt and so many cities are named, the passage speaks of judgment on the entire land.

30:17 Pi Beseth. The city was on the NE branch of the Nile where cats were mummified in honor of the cat-headed goddess, Ugastet.

30:18 Tehaphnehes. This city, named after the Egyptian queen, was a residence of the pharaohs.

30:20 the eleventh year. Ca. 587 B.C., counted from the deportation of Judah in 597 B.C.

30:21 I have broken the arm. God figuratively depicted His act of taking power from Egypt through Nebuchadnezzar, resulting in defeat and dispersion (vv. 23,26).

30:22 break his arms. Both the defeat of Pharaoh Hophra (cf. Jer. 37:5ff.) and the earlier defeat of Pharaoh Necho at Carchemish (cf. 2 Kin. 24:7; Jer. 46:2) are in view.

and he will groan before him with the groanings of a mortally wounded man.
25 Thus I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, but the arms of Pharaoh shall fall down; [b]they shall know that I am the LORD, when I put My sword into the hand of the king of Babylon and he stretches it out against the land of Egypt.
26 [c]I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them throughout the countries. Then they shall know that I am the LORD.' "

Egypt Cut Down Like a Great Tree

31 Now it came to pass in the [a]eleventh year, in the third month, on the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Son of man, say to Pharaoh king of Egypt and to his multitude:

[b']Whom are you like in your greatness?
3 [c]Indeed Assyria was a cedar in Lebanon,
With fine branches that shaded the forest,
And of high stature;
And its top was among the thick boughs.
4 [d]The waters made it grow;
Underground waters gave it height,
With their rivers running around the place where it was planted,
And sent out [1]rivulets to all the trees of the field.

5 'Therefore [e]its height was exalted above all the trees of the field;
Its boughs were multiplied,
And its branches became long because of the abundance of water,
As it sent them out.
6 All the [f]birds of the heavens made their nests in its boughs;
Under its branches all the beasts of the field brought forth their young;
And in its shadow all great nations [2]made their home.

7 'Thus it was beautiful in greatness and in the length of its branches,
Because its roots reached to abundant waters.
8 The cedars in the [g]garden of God could not hide it;
The fir trees were not like its boughs,
And the [3]chestnut trees were not like its branches;
No tree in the garden of God was like it in beauty.
9 I made it beautiful with a multitude of branches,
So that all the trees of Eden envied it,
That were in the garden of God.'

10 "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: 'Because you have increased in height, and it set its top among the thick boughs, and [h]its heart was [4]lifted up in its height,
11 therefore I will deliver it into the hand of the [i]mighty one of the nations, and he shall surely deal with it; I have driven it out for its wickedness. 12 And aliens, [j]the most terrible of the nations, have cut it down and left it; its branches have fallen [k]on the mountains and in all the valleys; its boughs lie [l]broken by all the rivers of the land; and all the peoples of the earth have gone from under its shadow and left it.

13 'On [m]its ruin will remain all the birds of the heavens,
And all the beasts of the field will come to its branches—

14 'So that no trees by the waters may ever again exalt themselves for their height, nor set their tops among the thick boughs, that no tree which drinks water may ever be high enough to reach up to them.

30:26 People often don't learn that God is Lord until judgment falls.

31:1 the eleventh year. 587 B.C. Two months after the oracle of 30:20-26.

31:2-18 Whom are you like...? Ezekiel filled this chap. with a metaphor/analogy comparing Egypt to a huge tree that dominates a forest to a king/nation that dominates the world (cf. 17:22-24; Dan. 4:1-12,19-27). He reasoned that just as a strong tree like Assyria (v. 3) fell (ca. 609 B.C.), so will Egypt (ca. 568 B.C.). If the Egyptians tend to be proud and feel invincible, let them remember how powerful Assyria had fallen already.

31:3 cedar in Lebanon. The trees were as high as 80 ft. and were an example of supreme power and domination, particularly the great cedars which grew in the mountains N of Israel.

31:8,9 garden of God...trees of Eden. (36:35; Gen. 13:10; Is. 51:3; Joel 2:3). Since Assyria was in the area of the Garden of Eden, Ezekiel used the ultimate of gardens as a point of relative reference by which to describe tree-like Assyria.

31:10 Because you. Ezekiel shifted from the historical illustration of Assyria's pride and fall to the reality of Egypt. God was using Assyria to teach the nations the folly of earthly power and might.

31:14-16 the Pit. The scene shifts from earth and the garden of God to the grave (cf. 32:18), as God again refers to the destruction of Assyria and all her allies ("all the trees," "all that drink water").

'For [n] they have all been delivered to death,
[o] To the depths of the earth,
Among the children of men who go down to the Pit.'

15 "Thus says the Lord GOD: 'In the day when it [p] went down to [5] hell, I caused mourning. I covered the deep because of it. I restrained its rivers, and the great waters were held back. I caused Lebanon to [6] mourn for it, and all the trees of the field wilted because of it. 16 I made the nations [q] shake at the sound of its fall, when I [r] cast it down to [7] hell together with those who descend into the Pit; and [s] all the trees of Eden, the choice and best of Lebanon, all that drink water, [t] were comforted in the depths of the earth. 17 They also went down to hell with it, with those slain by the sword; and those who were its strong arm [u] dwelt in its shadows among the nations.

18 [v] 'To which of the trees in Eden will you then be likened in glory and greatness? Yet you shall be brought down with the trees of Eden to the depths of the earth; [w] you shall lie in the midst of the uncircumcised, with those slain by the sword. This is Pharaoh and all his multitude,' says the Lord GOD."

Lamentation for Pharaoh and Egypt

32 And it came to pass in the twelfth year, in the [a] twelfth month, on the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Son of man, [b] take up a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say to him:

[c] 'You are like a young lion among the nations,
And [d] you are like a monster in the
seas,
[e] Bursting forth in your rivers,
Troubling the waters with your feet,
And [f] fouling their rivers.'

3 "Thus says the Lord GOD:

'I will therefore [g] spread My net over you with a company of many people,
And they will draw you up in My
net.
4 Then [h] I will leave you on the land;
I will cast you out on the open fields,
[i] And cause to [1] settle on you all the birds of the heavens.
And with you I will fill the beasts
of the whole earth.
5 I will lay your flesh [j] on the
mountains,
And fill the valleys with your carcass.

6 'I will also water the land with the flow of your blood,
Even to the mountains;
And the riverbeds will be full of
you.
7 When I put out your light, [k] I will cover the heavens, and make its stars dark;
I will cover the sun with a cloud,
And the moon shall not give her light.
8 All the [2] bright lights of the heavens I will make dark over you,
And bring darkness upon your land,'
Says the Lord GOD.

9 'I will also trouble the hearts of many peoples, when I bring your destruction among the nations, into the countries which you have not known. 10 Yes, I will make many peoples astonished at you, and their kings shall be horribly afraid of you when I brandish My sword before them; and [l] they shall tremble every moment, every man for his own life, in the day of your fall.'

11 [m] "For thus says the Lord GOD: 'The sword of the king of Babylon shall come upon you. 12 By the swords of the mighty warriors, all of them [n] the most terrible of the nations, I will cause your multitude to fall.

[o] 'They shall plunder the pomp of 31:18 will you...be likened...? Egypt, like all the other great nations, including Assyria, will be felled by God.

32:1 the twelfth year. 585 B.C., 12 years from the deportation of Judah in 597 B.C.

32:2 like a young lion. The picture describes Egypt's deadly energetic stalking power in her dealings with other nations. She was also violent like the crocodile (cf. 29:3).

32:3-6 spread My net over you. God will entrap Egypt as a net ensnares a lion or crocodile, using many people (soldiers). Egyptians will fall, their corpses gorge birds and beasts, their blood soak the earth and waters.

32:7,8 light. This is likely a reference to Pharaoh, whose life and power is extinguished, and all the rest of the leaders and people basking in his light are plunged into darkness.

32:11,12 The sword of...Babylon. This is the definite identification of the conqueror, as in 30:10 when Nebuchadnezzar is actually named (cf. 21:19; 29:19; Jer. 46:26).

And all its multitude shall be destroyed.
13 Also I will destroy all its animals
From beside its great waters;
[p]The foot of man shall muddy them no more,
Nor shall the hooves of animals muddy them.
14 Then I will make their waters [3]clear,
And make their rivers run like oil,'
Says the Lord GOD.

15 'When I make the land of Egypt desolate,
And the country is destitute of all that once filled it,
When I strike all who dwell in it,
[q]Then they shall know that I am the LORD.

16 'This is the [r]lamentation
With which they shall lament her;
The daughters of the nations shall lament her;
They shall lament for her, for Egypt,
And for all her multitude,'
Says the Lord GOD."

Egypt and Others Consigned to the Pit

17 It came to pass also in the twelfth year, on the fifteenth day of the month, [s]that the word of the LORD came to me, saying:

18 "Son of man, wail over the multitude of Egypt,
And [t]cast them down to the depths of the earth,
Her and the daughters of the famous nations,
With those who go down to the Pit:
19 'Whom [u]do you surpass in beauty?
[v]Go down, be placed with the uncircumcised.'

20 "They shall fall in the midst of those slain by the sword;
She is delivered to the sword,
[w]Drawing her and all her multitudes.
21 [x]The strong among the mighty
Shall speak to him out of the midst of hell
With those who help him:
'They have [y]gone down,
They lie with the uncircumcised, slain by the sword.'

22 "Assyria[z] is there, and all her company,
With their graves all around her,
All of them slain, fallen by the sword.
23 [a]Her graves are set in the recesses of the Pit,
And her company is all around her grave,
All of them slain, fallen by the sword,
Who [b]caused terror in the land of the living.

24 "There is [c]Elam and all her multitude,
All around her grave,
All of them slain, fallen by the sword,
Who have [d]gone down uncircumcised to the lower parts of the earth,
[e]Who caused their terror in the land of the living;
Now they bear their shame with those who go down to the Pit.
25 They have set her [f]bed in the midst of the slain,
With all her multitude,
With her graves all around it,
All of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword;
Though their terror was caused
In the land of the living,
Yet they bear their shame
With those who go down to the Pit;
It was put in the midst of the slain.

26 "There are [g]Meshech and Tubal and all their multitudes,
With all their graves around it,
All of them [h]uncircumcised, slain by the sword,
Though they caused their terror in the land of the living.

Who are fallen of the uncircumcised,

32:13,14 With no men or beasts to stir up the mud in the Nile and its branches, the water will be clear and flow smoothly. Since the river was the center of all life, this pictures the devastation graphically.

32:17 the twelfth year. 585 B.C. reckoned from 597 B.C.

32:18 the famous nations. All other countries which have been conquered. the Pit. Refers to Sheol/grave (cf. 31:14-16).

32:19-21 The prophet followed Egypt and her people beyond the grave. The king of Egypt is addressed by the other nations in "hell," taunting him as he is on the same level with them. This shows that there is conscious existence and fixed destiny beyond death. See Luke 16:19-31.

32:22 Assyria is there. The slain of several nations are pictured in the afterlife: Assyria (vv. 22,23), Elam (vv. 24,25), Meshech and Tubal (vv. 26-28; cf. 38:1,2, and see notes there), and Edom (vv. 29-30). Although mighty for a time on earth, the fallen lie as defeated equals in death, all conquered by God and consigned to eternal hell (v. 21).

They have laid their swords under

The Watchman and His Message

33 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Son of man, speak to [a]the children of your people, and say to them: [b]'When I bring the sword upon a land, and the people of the land take a man from their territory and make him their [c]watchman, 3 when he sees the sword coming upon the land, if he blows the trumpet and warns the people, 4 then whoever hears the sound of the trumpet and does [d]not take warning, if the sword comes and takes him away, [e]his blood shall be on his own head. 5 He heard the sound of the trumpet, but did not take warning; his blood shall be upon himself. But he who takes warning will [1]save his life. 6 But if the watchman sees the sword coming and does not blow the trumpet, and the people are not warned, and the sword comes and takes any person from among them, [f]he is taken away in his iniquity; but his blood I will require at the watchman's hand.'

7 [g]"So you, son of man: I have made you a watchman for the house of Israel; therefore you shall hear a word from My mouth and warn them for Me. 8 When I say to the wicked, 'O wicked man, you shall surely die!' and you do not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood I will require at your hand. 9 Nevertheless if you warn the wicked to turn from his way, and he does not turn from his way, he shall die in his iniquity; but you have [2]delivered your soul.

10 "Therefore you, O son of man, say to the house of Israel: 'Thus you say, "If our 32:31,32 Pharaoh...comforted. A strange comfort coming from the recognition that he and his people were not alone in misery and doom.

33:1-33 Again the word...came. This chap. is a transition between God's judgments against Jerusalem and the nations (chaps. 1–32) and Israel's bright future when she is restored to her land (chaps. 34–48). It provided God's instructions for national repentance, and is thus the preface to the prophecies of comfort and salvation which follow (chaps. 34–39).

33:2-20 speak to...your people. This was given to prepare the exiles' minds to look on the awful calamity in Jerusalem as a just act by God (cf. 14:21-23). He had faithfully warned, but they did not pay heed. Ezekiel had been forbidden to speak to his people from 24:26,27, until Jerusalem was captured. Meanwhile, he had spoken to the foreign nations (chaps. 25–32).

33:2-9 watchman. Such men as Jeremiah and Ezekiel (cf. 3:16-21) were spiritual watchmen (33:7-9), warning that God would bring a sword on His people so that they had opportunity to prepare and be safe. This analogy came from the custom of putting guards on the city wall watching for the approach of danger, then trumpeting the warning. For the function of a watchman, cf. 2 Sam. 18:24,25; 2 Kin. 9:17; Jer. 4:5; 6:1; Hos. 8:1; Amos 3:6; Hab. 2:1.

33:4 his blood...on his own head. Once the watchman did his duty, the responsibility passed to each person. See the notes on chap. 18, where each person is accountable for his own response to God's warnings, whether to die in judgment or to live as one who heeded and repented. Ezekiel had been a very faithful and obedient "watchman."

33:8,9 his blood I will require. A prophet who sounded the warning of repentance for sin was not to be judged (v. 9), but the one who failed to deliver the message was held accountable (v. 8). This referred to unfaithfulness on the part of the prophet for which he bore responsibility and was chastened by God. See the notes on chap. 18 and Acts 20:26.

and we [h]pine[3] away in them, [i]how can we then live?" ' 11 Say to them: 'As I live,' says the Lord GOD, [j]'I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but that the wicked [k]turn from his way and live. Turn, turn from your evil ways! For [l]why should you die, O house of Israel?'

The Fairness of God's Judgment

12 "Therefore you, O son of man, say to the children of your people: 'The [m]righteousness of the righteous man shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression; as for the wickedness of the wicked, [n]he shall not fall because of it in the day that he turns from his wickedness; nor shall the righteous be able to live because of his righteousness in the day that he sins.' 13 When I say to the righteous that he shall surely live, [o]but he trusts in his own righteousness and commits iniquity, none of his righteous works shall be remembered; but because of the iniquity that he has committed, he shall die. 14 Again, [p]when I say to the wicked, 'You shall surely die,' if he turns from his sin and does [4]what is lawful and [5]right, 15 if the wicked [q]restores the pledge, [r]gives back what he has stolen, and walks in [s]the statutes of life without committing iniquity, he shall surely live; he shall not die. 16 [t]None of his sins which he has committed shall be remembered against him; he has done what is lawful and right; he shall surely live.

17 [u]"Yet the children of your people say, 'The way of the LORD is not [6]fair.' But it is their way which is not fair! 18 [v]When the righteous turns from his righteousness and commits iniquity, he shall die because of it. 19 But when the wicked turns from his wickedness and does what is lawful and right, he shall live because of it. 20 Yet you say, [w]'The way of the LORD is not [7]fair.' O house of Israel, I will judge every one of you according to his own ways."

The Fall of Jerusalem

21 And it came to pass in the twelfth year [x]of our captivity, in the tenth month, on the fifth day of the month, [y]that one who had escaped from Jerusalem came to me and said, [z]"The city has been [8]captured!"

22 Now [a]the hand of the LORD had been upon me the evening before the man came who had escaped. And He had [b]opened my mouth; so when he came to me in the morning, my mouth was opened, and I was no longer mute.

The Cause of Judah's Ruin

23 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 24 "Son of man, [c]they who inhabit those [d]ruins in the land of Israel are saying, [e]'Abraham was only one, and he inherited the land. [f]But we are many; the land has been given to us as a [g]possession.'

25 "Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: [h]"You eat meat with blood, you [i]lift up your eyes toward your idols, and [j]shed blood. Should you then possess the [k]land? 26 You rely on your sword, you commit abominations, and you [l]defile one another's wives. Should you then possess the land?" '

27 "Say thus to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "As I live, surely [m]those who are in the ruins shall fall by the sword, and the one who is in the open field [n]I will give to 33:10-11 how can we then live? The Israelites reasoned that if they were liable to death in judgment that was inevitable, they were in a hopeless condition and had no future. God replied that He had no pleasure in seeing the wicked go into death for their sin, but desired them to repent and live (cf. 2 Pet. 3:9). The divine answer to the human question is "Repent and be saved!" (cf. 18:23,30-32). Here was a blending of compassion with the demands of God's holiness. Repentance and forgiveness were offered to all.

33:12-20 See notes on 18:19-29. One of the basic principles of God's dealing with His people is presented here: judgment is according to personal faith and conduct. The discussion is not about eternal salvation and eternal death, but physical death in judgment for sin which, for believers, could not result in eternal death. The righteous behavior in v. 15 could only characterize a true believer, who was faithful from the heart. There is no distinction made as to the matter of who is a true believer in God. There is only a discussion of the issue of behavior as a factor in physical death. For those who were apostate idolaters, physical death would lead to eternal death. For believers who were lovers of the true God, their sin would lead only to physical punishment (cf. 1 Cor. 11:28-31; 1 John 5:16,17). "Righteous" and "wicked" are terms describing behavior, not one's position before God. It is not the "righteousness of God" imputed as illustrated in the case of Abraham (Gen. 15:6; Rom. 4:3-5), but rather one's deeds that are in view (vv. 15-19).

33:17,20 not fair. They blamed God for their calamities when actually they were being judged for their sins.

33:21 "The city has been captured!" A fugitive or fugitives (the Heb. could be a collective noun) who escaped from Jerusalem reached Ezekiel with the report on Jan. 8, 585 B.C., almost 6 months after the fall on July 18, 586 (Jer. 39:1,2; 52:5-7). Ezekiel 24:1,2 and 33:21 show a 36 month span from the outset of the siege on Jan. 15, 588, to the report in 33:21.

33:22 opened my mouth. God exercised control over the mouth of Ezekiel (see note on 3:26).

33:23-29 There is no date attached to the prophecies from 33:23–39:29, but the first message after the fall of Jerusalem was a rebuke of Israel's carnal confidence. This prophecy was against the remnant of Judah who remained in the Land of Promise after the fall of Jerusalem. Ezekiel warns the survivors that more judgment will come on them if they do not obey God. By some strange reasoning, they thought that if God had given the Land to Abraham when he was alone, it would be more securely theirs because they were many in number, a claim based on quantity rather than quality (v. 24). But judgment will come if they turn and reject God again (vv. 25-29).

the beasts to be devoured, and those who are in the strongholds and [o]caves shall die of the pestilence. 28 [p]For I will make the land most desolate, [q]her [q]arrogant strength shall cease, and [r]the mountains of Israel shall be so desolate that no one will pass through. 29 Then they shall know that I am the LORD, when I have made the land most desolate because of all their abominations which they have committed." '

Hearing and Not Doing

30 "As for you, son of man, the children of your people are talking about you beside the walls and in the doors of the houses; and they [s]speak to one another, everyone saying to his brother, 'Please come and hear what the word is that comes from the LORD.' 31 So [t]they come to you as people do, they [u]sit before you as My people, and they [v]hear your words, but they do not do them; [w]for with their mouth they show much love, but [x]their hearts pursue their own gain. 32 Indeed you are to them as a very lovely song of one who has a pleasant voice and can play well on an instrument; for they hear your words, but they do [y]not do them. 33 [z]And when this comes to pass—surely it will come—then [a]they will know that a prophet has been among them."

Irresponsible Shepherds

34 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel, prophesy and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD to the shepherds: [a]"Woe to the shepherds of Israel who feed themselves! Should not the shepherds feed the flocks? 3 [b]You eat the fat and clothe yourselves with the wool; you [c]slaughter the fatlings, but you do not feed the flock. 4 [d]The weak you have not strengthened, nor have you healed those who were sick, nor bound up the broken, nor brought back what was driven away, nor [e]sought what was lost; but with [f]force and [1]cruelty you have ruled them. 5 [g]So they were [h]scattered because there was no shepherd; [i]and they became food for all the beasts of the field when they were scattered. 6 My sheep [j]wandered through all the mountains, and on every high hill; yes, My flock was scattered over the whole face of the earth, and no one was seeking or searching for them."

7 'Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD: 8 "As I live," says the Lord GOD, "surely because My flock became a prey, and My flock [k]became food for every beast of the field, because there was no shepherd, nor did My shepherds search for My flock, [l]but the shepherds fed themselves and did not feed My flock"— 9 therefore, O shepherds, hear the word of the LORD! 10 Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I am [m]against the shepherds, and [n]I will require My flock at their hand; I will cause them to cease feeding the sheep, and the shepherds shall [o]feed themselves no more; for I will [p]deliver My flock from their mouths, that they may no longer be food for them."

God, the True Shepherd

11 'For thus says the Lord GOD: "Indeed I Myself will search for My sheep and seek them out. 12 As a [q]shepherd seeks out his flock on the day he is among his scattered sheep, so will I seek out My sheep and deliver them from all the places where they were scattered on [r]a cloudy and dark day. 13 And [s]I will bring them out from the peoples and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their own land; I will feed them on the mountains of Israel, [2]in the valleys and in all the inhabited places of the country. 14 [t]I will feed them in good pasture, and their fold shall be on the high mountains of Israel. [u]There they shall lie down in a good fold and feed in rich pasture on the mountains of Israel.

33:30-33 Here was a message to exiles, who had no intention of obeying the prophet's messages. They liked to listen, but not apply the prophet's words. They finally knew by bitter experience that he had spoken the truth of God. The people appreciated the eloquence of Ezekiel, but not the realty of his message.

34:1 From this chap. on, Ezekiel's messages are mostly comforting, telling of God's grace and faithfulness to His covenant promises.

34:2 prophesy against the shepherds. The reference was to preexilic leaders such as kings, priests, and prophets, i.e., false ones who fleeced the flock for personal gain (vv. 3,4) rather than fed or led righteously (as 22:25-28; Jer. 14,23; Zech. 11). This stands in contrast to the Lord as Shepherd in Pss. 23; 80:1; Is. 40:11; Jer. 31:10; Luke 15:4,5; John 10:1ff.

34:5 food for all the beasts. The beasts pictured nations that prey on Israel (cf. Dan. 7:3-7), though it could possibly include actual wild beasts, as in 14:21. Cf. 34:25,28 and see notes there.

34:9,10 This was no idle threat, as proven by the case of King Zedekiah (cf. Jer. 52:10,11).

34:11 I...will search. God, the true Shepherd, would search out and find His sheep in order to restore Israel to their land for the kingdom which the Messiah leads (vv. 12-14).

34:12 a cloudy and dark day. This refers to the "day of the Lord" judgment on Israel (cf. Jer. 30:4-7).

34:12-14 Here is the promise of a literal regathering and restoration of the people of Israel to their own land from their worldwide dispersion. Since the scattering was literal, the regathering must also be literal. Once they are regathered in Messiah's kingdom, they will no longer want (vv. 15,16).

15 I will feed My flock, and I will make them lie down," says the Lord GOD. 16 [v]"I will seek what was lost and bring back what was driven away, bind up the broken and strengthen what was sick; but I will destroy [w]the fat and the strong, and feed them [x]in judgment."

17 'And as for you, O My flock, thus says the Lord GOD: [y]"Behold, I shall judge between sheep and sheep, between rams and goats. 18 Is it too little for you to have eaten up the good pasture, that you must tread down with your feet the [3]residue of your pasture—and to have drunk of the clear waters, that you must foul the residue with your feet? 19 And as for My flock, they eat what you have trampled with your feet, and they drink what you have fouled with your feet."

20 'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD to them: [z]"Behold, I Myself will judge between the fat and the lean sheep. 21 Because you have pushed with side and shoulder, butted all the weak ones with your horns, and scattered them abroad, 22 therefore I will save My flock, and they shall no longer be a prey; and I will judge between sheep and sheep. 23 I will establish one [a]shepherd over them, and he shall feed them—[b]My servant David. He shall feed them and be their shepherd. 24 And [c]I,
the LORD, will be their God, and My servant David [d]a prince among them; I, the LORD, have spoken.

25 [e]"I will make a covenant of peace with them, and [f]cause wild beasts to cease from the land; and they [g]will dwell safely in the wilderness and sleep in the woods.
26 I will make them and the places all around [h]My hill [i]a blessing; and I will [j]cause showers to come down in their season; there shall be [k]showers of blessing.
27 Then [l]the trees of the field shall yield their fruit, and the earth shall yield her increase. They shall be safe in their land; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I have [m]broken the bands of their yoke and delivered them from the hand of those who [n]enslaved them. 28 And they shall no longer be a prey for the nations, nor shall beasts of the land devour them; but [o]they shall dwell safely, and no one shall make them afraid. 29 I will raise up for them a [p]garden[4] of renown, and they shall [q]no longer be consumed with hunger in the land, [r]nor bear the shame of the Gentiles anymore. 30 Thus they shall know that [s]I, the LORD their God, am with them, and they, the house of Israel, are [t]My people,"
says the Lord GOD.' "

31 "You are My [u]flock, the flock of My pasture; you are men, and I am your God,"
says the Lord GOD.

Judgment on Mount Seir

35 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Son of man, set your face against [a]Mount Seir and [b]prophesy against it, 3 and say to it, 'Thus
says the Lord GOD:

"Behold, O Mount Seir, I am against
you;
[c]I will stretch out My hand against
you,
And make you [1]most desolate;
4 I shall lay your cities waste,
And you shall be desolate.
Then you shall know that I am the
LORD.

34:15,16 I will feed My flock. In contrast to self-indulgent leaders who took advantage of the sheep, God will meet the needs of His sheep (people). This is clearly reminiscent of Ps. 23 and will be fulfilled by the Good Shepherd (John 10:1ff.), who will reign as Israel's Shepherd.

34:17-22 judge between. Once He has judged the leaders, God will also judge the abusive members of the flock as to their true spiritual state. This passage anticipates the judgment of the people given by Jesus Christ in Matt. 25:31-46. The ungodly are known because they trample the poor. The Lord alone is able to sort out the true from the false (cf. parables of Matt. 13), and will do so in the final kingdom.

34:23 one shepherd...David. This refers to the greater One in David's dynasty (cf. 2 Sam. 7:12-16), the Messiah, who will be Israel's ultimate king over the millennial kingdom (31:24-26; Jer. 30:9; Hos. 3:5; Zech. 14:9). The Lord in v. 24 is God the Father.

34:24 a prince. The word can at times be used of the king himself (37:34,35; cf. 28:2,12), as here.

34:25 covenant of peace. Refers to the New Covenant of Jer. 31:31-34 (cf. 37:26) in full operation during the millennial kingdom. wild beasts. This refers to actual animals that will be tamed in the kingdom, see Is. 11:6-9; 35:9 and Hos. 2:18.

34:26 My hill. A reference to Jerusalem and Zion in particular, where the Jews will come to worship the Lord. showers of blessing. Cf. the "times of refreshing" in Acts 3:19,20, when the curses of Deut. 28:15-68 are lifted.

34:27 The faithfulness of the Land is also indicated in Amos 9:13.

34:28,29 no longer be a prey. God will stop other nations from subjugating the people of Israel.

34:30 I...their God. An oft-repeated OT theme (cf. Gen. 17:7,8). This speaks of the ultimate salvation of Israel as in Rom. 11:25-27.

35:2 against Mount Seir. Cf. Is. 21:11,12; Jer. 49:7-22; Amos 1:11,12; Obadiah. This is another name for Edom (cf. v. 15; Gen. 32:3; 38:6), also threatened with judgment in 25:12-14 (see notes there). Edom was considered Israel's most inveterate and bitter enemy (cf. Ps. 137:7; Mal. 1:2-5) and was located E of the Arabah from the Dead Sea to the Gulf of Aqabah. The main cities were Teman and Petra, now in ruins.

35:3,4 This prediction (cf. vv. 6-9) came to pass literally, first by Nebuchadnezzar and later in 126 B.C. by John Hyrcanus. There is no trace of Edomites now, though their desolate cities can be identified as predicted by Obadiah (Obad. 18) and Jeremiah (Jer. 49:13). Cf. vv. 6-9.

5 [d]"Because you have had an [2]ancient hatred, and have shed the blood of the children of Israel by the power of the sword at the time of their calamity, [e]when their iniquity came to an end, 6 therefore, as I live," says the Lord GOD, "I will prepare you for [f]blood, and blood shall pursue you; [g]since you have not hated [3]blood, therefore blood shall pursue you. 7 Thus I will make Mount Seir [4]most desolate, and cut off from it the [h]one who leaves and the one who returns. 8 And I will fill its mountains with the slain; on your hills and in your valleys and in all your ravines those who are slain by the sword shall fall. 9 [i]I will make you [5]perpetually desolate, and your cities shall be uninhabited; [j]then you shall know that I am the LORD.

10 "Because you have said, 'These two nations and these two countries shall be mine, and we will [k]possess them,' although [l]the LORD was there, 11 therefore, as I live," says the Lord GOD, "I will do [m]according to your anger and according to the envy which you showed in your hatred against them; and I will make Myself known among them when I judge you. 12 [n]Then you shall know that I am the LORD. I have [o]heard all your [p]blasphemies which you have spoken against the mountains of Israel, saying, 'They are desolate; they are given to us to consume.' 13 Thus [q]with your mouth you have [6]boasted against Me and multiplied your [r]words against Me; I have heard them."

14 'Thus says the Lord GOD: [s]"The whole earth will rejoice when I make you desolate. 15 [t]As you rejoiced because the inheritance of the house of Israel was desolate, [u]so I will do to you; you shall be desolate, O Mount Seir, as well as all of Edom—all of it! Then they shall know that I am the LORD." '

Blessing on Israel

CHAPTER 36

36 "And you, son of man, prophesy to the [a]mountains of Israel, and say, 'O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD! 2 Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because [b]the enemy has said of you, 'Aha! [c]The [1]ancient heights [d]have become our possession,' " ' 3 therefore prophesy, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because they made you desolate and swallowed you up on every side, so that you became the possession of the rest of the nations, [e]and you are taken up by the lips of [f]talkers and slandered by the people"— 4 therefore, O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD! Thus says the Lord GOD to the mountains, the hills, the [2]rivers, the valleys, the desolate wastes, and the cities that have been forsaken, which [g]became plunder and [h]mockery to the rest of the nations all around— 5 therefore thus says the Lord GOD: [i]"Surely I have spoken in My burning jealousy against the rest of the nations and against all Edom, [j]who gave My land to themselves as a possession, with wholehearted joy and [3]spiteful minds, in order to plunder its open country." '

6 "Therefore prophesy concerning the land of Israel, and say to the mountains, the hills, the rivers, and the valleys, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I have spoken in My jealousy and My fury, because you have [k]borne the shame of the nations." 7 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "I have [l]raised My hand in an oath that surely the nations that are around you shall 35:5 Because. God will judge Edom because of 1) her perpetual enmity against Israel since Esau's hatred of Jacob (Gen. 25–28), and 2) Edom's spiteful bloodshed against the Israelites trying to escape the Babylonians in 586 B.C.

35:10 Because. A further reason for Edom's doom is her design to snatch control of the territory occupied by "two nations," i.e., Israel (N) and Judah (S). They plotted to take over these nations for their own gain (v. 12), but were prevented and destroyed because "the LORD was there."

35:11,12 anger...envy...blasphemies. Here were more reasons for Edom's destruction.

35:13 you...boasted against Me. Still another reason for judgment was Edom's proud ambitions that were really against God (cf. v. 10, "although the LORD was there").

35:15 As you rejoiced. This final reason for doom was Edom's joy over Israel's calamity. they shall know. The ultimate aim in Edom's judgment is that "the whole earth" may know He is the Lord and see His glory. Sadly, sinners find this out only in their own destruction. Cf. Heb. 10:31.

36:1 This chap. presents the prerequisite regeneration which Israel must experience before they can nationally enter into the promised blessings. This chap. must be understood to speak of a literal Israel, a literal land, and a literal regeneration, leading to a literal kingdom under Messiah. prophesy to the mountains. Cf. vv. 1,4,6,8. Ezekiel addresses Israel's mountains, as symbolic of the whole nation. He promises: 1) to give these mountains again to dispersed Israel (v. 12); 2) to cause fruit to grow on them (v. 8); 3) to rebuild cities and to multiply people there (v. 10); and 4) to bless in a greater way than in the past (v. 11). This promise can only be fulfilled in future millennial blessing to Israel that she has not yet experienced, because it includes the salvation of the New Covenant (vv. 25-27,29,31,33).

36:2-15 This section continues the prophecy against Edom from chap. 35.

36:2 Because the enemy has said. God will restore these areas to Israel which their enemies claim to possess (cf. Gen. 12:7). They will pay for their spite against Israel.

36:7 raised My hand in an oath. God testifies, as a formal pledge, that he will bring a turnabout in which the nations that seized the land will be shamed.

[m]bear their own shame. 8 But you, O mountains of Israel, you shall shoot forth your branches and yield your fruit to My people Israel, for they are about to come. 9 For indeed I am for you, and I will turn to you, and you shall be tilled and sown. 10 I will multiply men upon you, all the house of Israel, all of it; and the cities shall be inhabited and [n]the ruins rebuilt. 11 [o]I will multiply upon you man and beast; and they shall increase and [q]bear young; I will make you inhabited as in former times, and do [p]better for you than at your beginnings. [q]Then you shall know that I am the LORD. 12 Yes, I will cause men to walk on you, My people Israel; [r]they shall take possession of you, and you shall be their inheritance; no more shall you [s]bereave them of children."

13 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Because they say to you, [t]'You devour men and bereave your nation of children,' 14 therefore you shall devour men no more, nor bereave your nation anymore," says the Lord GOD. 15 [u]Nor will I let you hear the taunts of the nations anymore, nor bear the reproach of the peoples anymore, nor shall you cause your nation to stumble anymore," says the Lord GOD.' "

The Renewal of Israel

16 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 17 "Son of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their own land, [v]they defiled it by their own ways and deeds; to Me their way was like [w]the uncleanness of a woman in her customary impurity. 18 Therefore I poured out My fury on them [x]for the blood they had shed on the land, and for their idols with which they had defiled it. 19 So I [y]scattered them among the nations, and they were dispersed throughout the countries; I judged them [z]according to their ways and their deeds. 20 When they came to the nations, wherever they went, they [a]profaned My holy name—when they said of them, 'These are the people of the LORD, and yet they have gone out of His land.' 21 But I had concern [b]for My holy name, which the house of Israel had profaned among the nations wherever they went.

22 "Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "I do not do this for your sake, O house of Israel, [c]but for My holy name's sake, which you have profaned among the nations wherever you went. 23 And I will sanctify My great name, which has been profaned among the nations, which you have profaned in their midst; and the nations shall know that I am the LORD," says the Lord GOD, "when I am [d]hallowed in you before their eyes. 24 For [e]I will take you from among the nations, gather you out of all countries, and bring you into your own land. 25 [f]Then I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you shall be clean; I will cleanse you [g]from all your 36:8-15 Israel's land will be productive (vv. 8,9), populated (vv. 10,11), and peaceful (vv. 12-15). These features will be fully realized in the Messiah's kingdom. The return from Babylon was only a partial fulfillment and foreshadowing of the fullness to come in the future kingdom.

36:16-19 Ezekiel gives a backward look to underscore why Israel had suffered the past judgments by the Lord. It was because the Jews had "defiled" their land by their sins that the Lord purged it. He likened such a defilement to a menstrual condition (v. 17).

36:20 they profaned My holy name. Even in dispersion, Israelites tainted God's honor in the sight of the heathen, who concluded that the Lord of this exiled people was not powerful enough to keep them in their land.

36:21-23 for My holy name's sake. Restoring Israel to the land that God pledged in covenant (Gen. 12:7) will sanctify His great name, and move other peoples to "know that I am the LORD." This glory for God is the primary reason for Israel's restoration (cf. v. 32).

36:24 bring you into your own land. God assured Israel that He will bring them out of other lands back to the Promised Land (v. 24), the very land from which He scattered them (v. 20). It is the same "land that I gave to your fathers" (v. 28), a land distinct from those of other nations (v. 36), and a land whose cities will be inhabited by those who return (vv. 33,36,38). The establishment of the modern state of Israel indicates this has initially begun.

36:25-27 I will cleanse you. Along with the physical reality of a return to the Land, God pledged spiritual renewal: 1) cleansing from sin; 2) a new heart of the New Covenant (cf. Jer. 31:31-34); 3) a new spirit or disposition inclined to worship Him; and 4) His Spirit dwelling in them, enabling them to walk in obedience to His word. This has not happened, because Israel has not trusted Jesus Christ as Messiah and Savior, but it will before the kingdom of Messiah (cf. Zech. 12–14; Rom. 11:25-27; Rev. 11:13).

36:25-31 This section is among the most glorious in all Scripture on the subject of Israel's restoration to the Lord and national salvation. This salvation is described in v. 25 as a cleansing that will wash away sin. Such washing was symbolized in the Mosaic rites of purification (cf. Num. 19:17-19; Ps. 119:9; Is. 4:4; Zech. 13:1). For the concept of sprinkling in cleansing, see Ps. 51:7,10; Heb. 9:13; 10:22. This is the washing Paul wrote of in Eph. 5:26 and Titus 3:5. Jesus had this very promise in mind in John 3:5.

What was figuratively described in v. 25 is explained as literal in vv. 26,27. The gift of the "new heart" signifies the new birth, which is regeneration by the Holy Spirit (cf. 11:18-20). The "heart" stands for the whole nature. The "spirit" indicates the governing power of the mind which directs thought and conduct. A "stony heart" is stubborn and self-willed. A "heart of flesh" is pliable and responsive. The evil inclination is removed and a new nature replaces it. This is New Covenant character as in Jer. 31:31-34.

The Lord will also give His "Spirit" to the faithful Jews (cf. 39:29; Is. 44:3; 59:21; Joel 2:28,29; Acts 2:16ff.). When Israel becomes the true people of God (v. 28), the judgment promise of Hosea 1:9 is nullified. All nature will experience the blessings of Israel's salvation (vv. 29,30). When the Jews have experienced such grace, they will be even more repentant—a sign of true conversion (v. 31).

Ezekiel profoundly proclaims the doctrines of conversion and spiritual life. He includes forgiveness (v. 25), regeneration (v. 26), the in-filthiness and from all your idols. 26 I will give you a [h]new heart and put a new spirit within you; I will take the heart of stone out of your flesh and give you a heart of flesh. 27 I will put My [i]Spirit within you and cause you to walk in My statutes, and you will keep My judgments and do them. 28 [j]Then you shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers; [k]you shall be My people, and I will be your God. 29 I will [l]deliver you from all your uncleannesses. [m]I will call for the grain and multiply it, and [n]bring no famine upon you. 30 [o]And I will multiply the fruit of your trees and the increase of your fields, so that you need never again bear the reproach of famine among the nations. 31 Then [p]you will remember your evil ways and your deeds that were not good; and you [q]will [5]loathe yourselves in your own sight, for your iniquities and your abominations. 32 [r]Not for your sake do I do this," says the Lord GOD, "let it be known to you. Be ashamed and confounded for your own ways, O house of Israel!"

33 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "On the day that I cleanse you from all your iniquities, I will also enable you to dwell in the cities, [s]and the ruins shall be rebuilt. 34 The desolate land shall be tilled instead of lying desolate in the sight of all who pass by. 35 So they will say, 'This land that was desolate has become like the garden of [t]Eden; and the wasted, desolate, and ruined cities are now fortified and inhabited.' 36 Then the nations which are left all around you shall know that I, the LORD, have rebuilt the ruined places and planted what was desolate. [u]I, the LORD, have spoken it, and I will do it."

37 'Thus says the Lord GOD: [v]"I will also let the house of Israel inquire of Me to do this for them: I will [w]increase their men like a flock. 38 Like a [6]flock offered as holy sacrifices, like the flock at Jerusalem on its [7]feast days, so shall the ruined cities be filled with flocks of men. Then they shall know that I am the LORD." ' "

The Dry Bones Live

CHAPTER 37

37 The [a]hand of the LORD came upon me and brought me out [b]in the Spirit of the LORD, and set me down in the midst of the valley; and it was full of bones. 2 Then He caused me to pass by them all around, and behold, there were very many in the open valley; and indeed they were very dry. 3 And He said to me, "Son of man, can these bones live?"

So I answered, "O Lord GOD, [c]You know."

4 Again He said to me, "Prophesy to these bones, and say to them, 'O dry bones, hear the word of the LORD! 5 Thus says the Lord GOD to these bones: "Surely I will [d]cause breath to enter into you, and you shall live. 6 I will put sinews on you and bring flesh upon you, cover you with skin and put breath in you; and you shall live. [e]Then you shall know that I am the LORD." ' "

7 So I prophesied as I was commanded; and as I prophesied, there was a noise, and suddenly a rattling; and the bones came together, bone to bone. 8 Indeed, as I looked, the sinews and the flesh came upon them, and the skin covered them over; but there was no breath in them.

9 Also He said to me, "Prophesy to the breath, prophesy, son of man, and say to the [1]breath, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: [f]"Come from the four winds, O breath, and dwelling Holy Spirit (v. 27), and the responsive obedience to God's law (v. 27). These are all clearly presented as he prophesies Israel's conversion. As a nation, they will truly know their God (v. 38), hate their sin (vv. 31,32), and glorify their Savior (v. 32).

36:32 Not for your sake. God's glory and reputation among the nations, not Israel's, causes this restoration to be promised (cf. Ps. 115:1; Acts 5:41; Rom. 1:5; 3 John 7).

36:35 the garden. Millennial conditions will be similar (not identical) to those in Eden (cf. 47:1-12; Is. 35:1,2; 55:13; Zech. 8:12).

36:37 inquire of Me to do this. God will sovereignly work this return/renewal, yet give Israelites the human privilege of praying for it to be realized. This prophecy was to stir up the people's prayers.

36:37,38 increase their men. There will be an increase in the population during the Millennium. When the male population came to Jerusalem, they brought vast numbers of animals for sacrifice. That was small compared to future kingdom conditions.

37:1 brought me...in the Spirit. 37:1-14 involves another vision. God does not change Ezekiel's location but gives him a vivid inward sense that he has been taken to a valley "full of bones." (For other visions, cf. 1:1–3:15; 8:1–11:24; 40:1–48:35.) This passage, part of a series of revelations received during the night before the messenger came with the news of the destruction of Jerusalem, was to ease the gloom of the people. in the midst of the valley. It no doubt represents the world area wherever Israelites were scattered (cf. v. 12).

37:2 very dry. This pictures the dead nation lifeless, scattered, and bleached, just as a dry tree (17:24) pictures a dead nation, to which only God can give life.

37:3 "...can these bones live?" The many dry bones (v. 2) picture the nation Israel (v. 11) as apparently dead in their dispersion, and waiting for national resurrection. The people knew about the doctrine of individual resurrection, otherwise this prophecy would have had no meaning (cf. 1 Kin. 17; 2 Kin. 4; 13:21; Is. 25:8; 26:19; Dan. 12:2; Hos. 13:14).

37:4-6 Prophesy to these bones. Ezekiel is to proclaim God's pledge to reassemble Israelites from the world and restore the nation of Israel to life (v. 5) and give them His Spirit (v. 14) in true salvation and spiritual life. Clearly, God is promising the resurrection of the nation of Israel and its spiritual regeneration (cf. 36:25-27).

37:7-10 In the vision, Ezekiel did as he was told and the dead bones became a living nation (v. 10).

breathe on these slain, that they may live."' " 10 So I prophesied as He commanded me, *g*and [2]breath came into them, and they lived, and stood upon their feet, an exceedingly great army.

11 Then He said to me, "Son of man, these bones are the *h*whole house of Israel. They indeed say, i'Our bones are dry, our hope is lost, and we ourselves are cut off!' 12 Therefore prophesy and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, *j*O My people, I will open your graves and cause you to come up from your graves, and *k*bring you into the land of Israel. 13 Then you shall know that I am the LORD, when I have opened your graves, O My people, and brought you up from your graves. 14 I *l*will put My Spirit in you, and you shall live, and I will place you in your own land. Then you shall know that I, the LORD, have spoken it and performed it," says the LORD.'"

One Kingdom, One King

15 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 16 "As for you, son of man, *m*take a stick for yourself and write on it: 'For Judah and for *n*the children of Israel, his companions.' Then take another stick and write on it, 'For Joseph, the stick of Ephraim, and for all the house of Israel, his companions.' 17 Then *o*join them one to another for yourself into one stick, and they will become one in your hand.

18 "And when the children of your people speak to you, saying, p'Will you not show us what you mean by these?'— 19 *q*say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Surely I will take *r*the stick of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel, his companions; and I will join them with it, with the stick of Judah, and make them one stick, and they will be one in My hand."' " 20 And the sticks on which you write will be in your hand *s*before their eyes.

21 "Then say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Surely *t*I will take the children of Israel from among the nations, wherever they have gone, and will gather them from every side and bring them into their own land; 22 and *u*I will make them one nation in the land, on the mountains of Israel; and *v*one king shall be king over them all; they shall no longer be two nations, nor shall they ever be divided into two kingdoms again. 23 *w*They shall not defile themselves anymore with their idols, nor with their detestable things, nor with any of their transgressions; but *x*I will deliver them from all their dwelling places in which they have sinned, and will cleanse them. Then they shall be My people, and I will be their God.

24 "*y*David My servant shall be king over them, and *z*they shall all have one shepherd; *a*they shall also walk in My judgments and observe My statutes, and do them. 25 *b*Then they shall dwell in the land that I have given to Jacob My servant, where your fathers dwelt; and they shall dwell there, they, their children, and their children's children, *c*forever; and *d*My servant David shall be their prince forever. 26 Moreover I will [3]make *e*a covenant of peace with them, and it shall be an everlasting covenant with them; I will establish them and *f*multiply them, and I will set My *g*sanctuary in their

37:11-13 This is the key to the interpretation of the vision. It is the resurrection and salvation of Israel.

37:14 I will put My Spirit in you. See note on 36:25-27. performed it. God's reputation is at stake in the restoration and regeneration of Israel into the Land. He must do what He promised so all know that He is Lord.

37:15-23 The vision ended and Ezekiel was given an object lesson which his people observed (vv. 18,20). This drama of uniting two sticks offered a second illustration that God will not only regather Israelites to their land, but will for the first time since 931 B.C. (the end of Solomon's reign, 1 Kin. 11:26-40) restore union between Israel and Judah (vv. 19,21,22) in the messianic reign (cf. Is. 11:12,13; Jer. 3:18; Hos. 1:11).

37:21-23 God made 3 promises that summarized His future plans for Israel: 1) restoration, v. 21; 2) unification, v. 22; and 3) purification, v. 23. These promises bring to fulfillment: 1) the Abrahamic Covenant (cf. Gen. 12); 2) the Davidic Covenant (2 Sam. 7); and 3) the New Covenant (cf. Jer. 31), respectively.

37:22 one king. This leader (cf. vv. 24,25) is the Messiah-King-Shepherd often promised for David's dynasty (34:23,24; Jer. 23:5-8; 30:9; Dan. 2:35,45; 7:13,14,27), who is the one king of Zech. 14:9 (cf. Matt. 25:31,34,40).

37:23 cleanse them. This is provided by the provisions of the New Covenant (cf. 36:27; 37:14; Jer. 31:31-34).

37:24,25 David. This is to be understood as Jesus Christ the Messiah, descendant of David (cf. 2 Sam. 7:8-17; Is. 7:14; 9:6,7; Mic. 5:2; Matt. 1:1,23; Luke 1:31-33).

37:25 land that I have given to Jacob. It is natural to see this physical land, so clarified, as the very land God gave to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (Gen. 12:7; 26:24; 35:12).

37:26 covenant of peace. Cf. 34:25. This is the New Covenant in full force. Israel has never yet been in a state of perpetual salvation peace; this awaits fulfillment in the future kingdom of the Messiah who is the "Prince of Peace" (Is. 9:6). an everlasting covenant. The everlasting nature of the Abrahamic (cf. Gen. 17:7), Levitic (Lev. 24:8), Davidic (2 Sam. 23:5), and New (Jer. 50:5) Covenants are joined together in the redeemed who experience the millennial kingdom "forever" (used 4 times in vv. 25-28). The Heb. word for "everlasting" may refer to a long time or eternity. It is also true that these covenants will continue to be fulfilled after the Millennium in the eternal state. My sanctuary. The Spirit of God begins to prepare for the great reality that God will have a sanctuary in the midst of His people and will dwell with them (cf. Zech. 6:12,13). God promised to dwell with man on earth (47:1-12). This has been God's desire in all epochs: 1) before Moses (Gen. 17:7,8); 2) in the Mosaic era (Lev. 26:11-13); 3) in the church era (1 Cor. 3:16; 6:19); 4) in the Millennium (Ezek. 37:26-28); and 5) in eternity future (Rev. 21:3).

midst forevermore. 27 [h]My tabernacle also shall be with them; indeed I will be [i]their God, and they shall be My people. 28 [j]The nations also will know that I, the LORD, [k]sanctify Israel, when My sanctuary is in their midst forevermore."' "

Gog and Allies Attack Israel

38 Now the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 [a]"Son of man, [b]set your face against [c]Gog, of the land of [d]Magog, [1]the prince of Rosh, [e]Meshech, and Tubal, and prophesy against him, 3 and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the prince of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal. 4 [f]I will turn you around, put hooks into your jaws, and [g]lead you out, with all your army, horses, and horsemen, [h]all splendidly clothed, a great company with bucklers and shields, all of them handling swords. 5 Persia, [2]Ethiopia, and [3]Libya are with them, all of them with shield and helmet; 6 [i]Gomer and all its troops; the house of [j]Togarmah from the far north and all its troops—many people are with you.

38:2 against Gog. This name is found in 1 Chr. 5:4. The LXX used "Gog" to render names such as Agag (Num. 24:7) and Og (Deut. 3:1), possibly showing that though it was a proper name, it came to be used as a general title for an enemy of God's people. "Gog" most likely carries the idea "high" or "supreme one," based on the comparison in Num. 24:7. It refers to a person, described as a "prince" from the land of Magog, who is the final Antichrist. See note on Rev. 20:8-10, where Gog and Magog are referred to again. These titles are used there symbolically of the final world uprising against Jerusalem, its people and Messiah King. This attack comes not just from the N but the 4 corners of the world, as a world of sinners at the end of the 1,000 year kingdom come to fight the saints in the "beloved city" of Jerusalem. On that occasion, there is only one weapon used—divine fire. This is the climax to the last battle with Satan and his armies, whose eternal destiny is set. It is followed by the final judgment of all the ungodly before the Lord (Rev. 20:11-15) and the creation of the eternal, sinless state (Rev. 21:1). See notes on chap. 39. Magog. Some see this people as derived from Japheth (Gen. 10:2), later called the Scythians. Others propose a people in SE Anatolia, later known as Asiatic people such as the Mongols and Huns. Others see Magog as an overall term for barbarians, N of Palestine, around the Caspian and Black Seas. the prince of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal. Should be translated "chief prince of Meshech and Tubal..." because: 1) Rosh (more than 600 times) in the Heb. OT is an adjective, "chief," often in references to the "chief priest" (2 Kin. 25:18); 2) most ancient versions took it to mean "chief" or "head"; and 3) in all places other than chaps. 38 and 39 where both Meshech and Tubal are mentioned, Rosh is not listed as a third people (27:13; 32:26; Gen. 10:2; 1 Chr. 1:5). This is also descriptive of the Antichrist, who rises to world dominance in the coming time of tribulation (cf. Dan. 9:24-27; 11:36-45; Rev. 13:1-17; 19:20). Meshech, and Tubal. Two peoples were recognized in ancient Assyrian monuments: one called Mushki (Mushku) and the other Tubali (Tabal). Both were in Asia Minor, the area of Magog, modern-day Turkey. Summing up, a chief prince, who is the enemy of God's people, will lead a coalition of nations against Jerusalem. The details of this enemy force and its destruction are given by Ezekiel in the rest of chaps. 38,39.

38:4 I will...lead you out. Just as God used Assyria (Is. 8) and Babylon (21:19) as human invaders for His judgments, He aims to use this army. In this case, He brings the invader to Palestine so that He may visit judgment (v. 8) on the invader itself (38:18-23; 39:1-10). He thus uses the language of hooks in the jaws, as in judging Egypt (29:4). From the aggressors' perspective, they think that it is their plan only to seize the spoil which draws them to Palestine (vv. 11,12).

38:5 Persia, Ethiopia, and Libya. The invasion involves a coalition of powers from the E and S of Palestine. Persia is modern Iran, Libya is in N Africa, W of Egypt; and Ethiopia is S of Egypt.

38:6 Gomer. Today the area is Armenia, which also was known as Cappodocia, having a people called Gomer in Assyrian inscriptions. Togarmah. Today's eastern Turkey (see note on 27:14).

38:7,8 This is the great time of Israel's cleansing, salvation, and spiritual life (cf. vv. 22,27,28; Zech 12:10–13:9), getting them ready for Messiah's return and kingdom (Zech. 14).

38:8 In the latter years. In the context of Israel's restoration (Ezek. 34–39), the invader will make its final bid for the Land. those brought back from the sword. This refers to Israelites who have been returned to their land, after the sword had killed or scattered many of their people. The Heb. word for "brought back" means "to return" or "restore" (Gen. 40:13; 41:13). gathered. This word also frequently refers to God's final regathering of Israel (37:21; Is. 11:12; 43:5; Jer. 32:37). It has begun historically and will continue until the latter days. In the final millennial kingdom, there will occur the full and spiritual regathering, when all Israel is saved to enter their promised kingdom (cf. Zech. 12–14; Rom. 11:25-27). dwell safely. This term occurs in several contexts devoted to the Israelites' blessed estate after God has brought them back to their land (28:26; 34:25,28; 39:26; Jer. 32:37; Zech. 14:11).

38:9 You will ascend. The time of the invasion is best understood as the end of the future tribulation period of 7 years. Israel will have been under a false peace in treaty with the Antichrist (Dan. 9:27; 11:22,24), before he turns on them in the "abomination of desolation" (Dan. 9:27; Matt. 29:15). The false peace will end in hostility lasting to the completion of the 7 years (Zech. 14:1-3). When this final war occurs (cf. Rev. 16:12-16), Christ will ultimately conquer the beast, the false prophet, and all the ungodly forces (Rev. 19:11-21) in order to establish His millennial kingdom (Rev. 20:1-10).

38:10-13 This describes the peace in Israel during the period of Antichrist's short-lived treaty with them (Dan. 9:27) in the first half of evil plan: 11 You will say, 'I will go up against a land of [s]unwalled villages; I will [t]go to a peaceful people, [u]who dwell [4]safely, all of them dwelling without walls, and having neither bars nor gates'— 12 to take plunder and to take booty, to stretch out your hand against the waste places that are again inhabited, [v]and against a people gathered from the nations, who have acquired livestock and goods, who dwell in the midst of the land. 13 [w]Sheba, [x]Dedan, the merchants [y]of Tarshish, and all [z]their young lions will say to you, 'Have you come to take plunder? Have you gathered your army to take booty, to carry away silver and gold, to take away livestock and goods, to take great plunder?' " '

14 "Therefore, son of man, prophesy and say to Gog, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: [a]"On that day when My people Israel [b]dwell safely, will you not know it? 15 [c]Then you will come from your place out of the far north, you and many peoples with you, all of them riding on horses, a great company and a mighty army. 16 You will come up against My people Israel like a cloud, to cover the land. It will be in the latter days that I will bring you against My land, so that the nations may [d]know Me, when I am [e]hallowed in you, O Gog, before their eyes." 17 Thus says the Lord GOD: "Are you he of whom I have spoken in former days by My servants the prophets of Israel, who prophesied for years in those days that I would bring you against them?

Judgment on Gog

18 "And it will come to pass at the same time, when Gog comes against the land of Israel," says the Lord GOD, "that My fury will show in My face. 19 For [f]in My jealousy [g]and in the fire of My wrath I have spoken: [h]'Surely in that day there shall be a great [5]earthquake in the land of Israel, 20 so that [i]the fish of the sea, the birds of the heavens, the beasts of the field, all creeping things that creep on the earth, and all men who are on the face of the earth shall shake at My presence. [j]The mountains shall be thrown down, the steep places shall fall, and every wall shall fall to the ground.' 21 I will [k]call for [l]a sword against Gog throughout all My mountains," says the Lord GOD. [m]"Every man's sword will be against his brother. 22 And I will [n]bring him to judgment with [o]pestilence and bloodshed; [p]I will rain down on him, on his troops, and on the many peoples who are with him, flooding rain, [q]great hailstones, fire, and brimstone. 23 Thus I will magnify Myself and [r]sanctify Myself, [s]and I will be known in the eyes of many nations. Then they shall know that I am the LORD." '

Gog's Armies Destroyed

39 "And [a]you, son of man, prophesy against Gog, and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I am against you, O Gog, [1]the prince of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal; 2 and I will [b]turn you around and lead you on, [c]bringing you up from the far north, and bring you against the mountains of Israel. 3 Then I will knock the bow out of your left hand, and cause the arrows to fall out of your right hand. 4 [d]You shall [2]fall upon the mountains of Israel, you and all your troops and the peoples who are with you; [e]I will give you to birds of prey of every sort and to the beasts of the field

Daniel's 70th week. References to "unwalled villages," refer to that period of 3½ years when Israel is secure under the protection of the world-ruling "prince that shall come," called Antichrist (cf. Dan. 9:27). After Antichrist turns on Israel, there is an escalation of hostility until the end of the 7 year time when this great force comes to plunder Jerusalem and the Promised Land (v. 12).

38:12 to take plunder...booty. Antichrist takes over the world for his own power and possession. The wealth of his empire is described in Rev. 18.

38:13 Dedan, Tarshish. See note on Jon 1:3.

38:15 riding on horses. These could be actual horses used in war, if tribulation judgments (seals, trumpets, vials) in Rev. 6–16 have dealt drastic blows to industries producing war vehicles and weaponry. Or, some see horses and weapons here (39:3,9) being used symbolically to represent meaning which would be easy to grasp in Ezekiel's day, but which would be fulfilled in the future time with different war forms suitable to that time.

38:16 that the nations may know Me. The phrase, frequent in Ezekiel, is part of the theme to glorify God and show His sovereign power (cf. Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes). God is the victor, who will be "hallowed" by fire (cf. v. 19).

38:17 Are you he...? See notes on 38:2. This refers to the general references to this time and the participants (cf. Joel 3:9-17; Amos 5:11,12; Zeph. 3:8). Even Daniel (Dan. 2:41-44) referred to this time at least 3 decades prior to Ezek. 38. The nature of the question presupposes that the previous generalities are now being particularized in the person of Gog.

38:18-23 My fury will show. God's patience will be exhausted with the repeated attempts to annihilate Israel since the "abomination" by Antichrist (Dan. 9:27; Matt. 24:15), and He will employ a great earthquake in Israel; panic will seize the invading soldiers (v. 21) who will turn and use their weapons against one another (cf. 2 Chr. 20:22, 23). He will further decimate the ranks by pestilence, a deluge of rain, large hailstones, plus fire and brimstone. The descriptions here are identical to that of the last half of the 7 year tribulation in Rev. 6:12-17; 11:19; 16:17-21; 19:11-21.

39:1-10 bring you. This scene of the army's ruin adds detail to 38:18-23 such as: 1) the disarming of soldiers (v. 3); 2) their fall in death (vv. 4,5); 3) the gorging of birds and beasts on the corpses (v. 4); 4) fire sent also on others besides the army (v. 6); and 5) burning of weapons by Israelites (vv. 9,10).

to be devoured. 5 You shall [3]fall on [4]the open field; for I have spoken," says the Lord GOD. 6 [f]"And I will send fire on Magog and on those who live [5]in security in [g]the coastlands. Then they shall know that I am the LORD. 7 [h]So I will make My holy name known in the midst of My people Israel, and I will not let them [i]profane My holy name anymore. [j]Then the nations shall know that I am the LORD, the Holy One in Israel. 8 [k]Surely it is coming, and it shall be done," says the Lord GOD. "This is the day [l]of which I have spoken.

9 "Then those who dwell in the cities of Israel will go out and set on fire and burn the weapons, both the shields and bucklers, the bows and arrows, the [6]javelins and spears; and they will make fires with them for seven years. 10 They will not take wood from the field nor cut down any from the forests, because they will make fires with the weapons; [m]and they will plunder those who plundered them, and pillage those who pillaged them," says the Lord GOD.

The Burial of Gog

11 "It will come to pass in that day that I will give Gog a burial place there in Israel, the valley of those who pass by east of the sea; and it will obstruct travelers, because there they will bury Gog and all his multitude. Therefore they will call it the Valley of [7]Hamon Gog. 12 For seven months the house of Israel will be burying them, [n]in order to cleanse the land. 13 Indeed all the people of the land will be burying, and they will gain [o]renown for it on the day that [p]I am glorified," says the Lord GOD. 14 "They will set apart men regularly employed, with the help of [8]a search party, to pass through the land and bury those bodies remaining on the ground, in order [q]to cleanse it. At the end of seven months they will make a search. 15 The search party will pass through the land; and when anyone sees a man's bone, he shall [9]set up a marker by it, till the buriers have buried it in the Valley of Hamon Gog. 16 The name of the city will also be [1]Hamonah. Thus they shall [r]cleanse the land." '

39:9,10 burn the weapons. There is enough equipment to provide fuel for 7 years.

39:9 seven years. A vast army (cf. "many," 38:15) would have much weaponry, requiring 7 years to burn. Since this is likely at the end of the time of tribulation, synonymous with the battle of Armageddon (Rev. 16:16; 19:19-21), the burials would extend into the millennial kingdom.

39:11-16 give Gog a burial place. Israelites moving E from the Mediterranean, with the sea to their backs and the Jezreel Valley before them, bury bodies. Further, people in the whole land help in the interment, which consumes 7 months. The description fits the time after Christ's Second Advent extending into the 1,000 millennial era as those who go into His kingdom do the work (cf. Rev. 20:1-10).

39:11,16 Hamon Gog. Lit. "the multitude of Gog." In v. 16, a city in the area will be named Hamonah, "multitude" (cf. a similar idea in Joel 3:14).

39:17-20 Speak to...bird and...beast. God's word summons carrion birds and carnivorous animals to consume the fallen flesh as described in Rev. 19:21.

39:17,18 My sacrificial meal. Since God describes the feast by the imagery of a sacrificial meal, the warriors who fell (v. 19) are described figuratively in words such as rams and other animals used in sacrifice.

39:21-29 I will set My glory. God vanquishes Israel's foes to show His glory so that His enemies and Israel will all know that He is the Lord (vv. 6,22). This is Israel's salvation spoken of in Zech. 12:10–13:9 and Rom. 11:25-27.

the hand of their enemies, and they all fell by the sword. 24 [g]According to their uncleanness and according to their transgressions I have dealt with them, and hidden My face from them." '

A New City, a New Temple

CHAPTER 40

40 In the twenty-fifth year of our captivity, at the beginning of the year, on the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after [a]the city was [1]captured, on the very same day [b]the hand of the LORD was upon me; and He took me there. 2 [c]In the visions of God He took me into the land of Israel and [d]set me on a very

39:29 poured out My Spirit. God's provision of His Spirit at the Second Advent complements the regathering (cf. 36:27; 37:14; Joel 2:28). The Gog and Magog assault in Rev. 20:7-9 at the end of the Millennium is another assault on Jerusalem patterned after certain images of the invasion here (chaps. 38,39), but it is a distinct event one thousand years after the millennial kingdom begins. See note on Rev. 20:8,9.

40:1–48:35 Following this great battle at the end of the time of tribulation, this section provides explicit details concerning Christ's millennial reign which follows, giving more detail about the 1,000 year kingdom than all other OT prophecies put together. It is the "holy of holies" among millennial forecasts. As has been done with the previous 39 chaps., this concluding portion will also be approached in a literal, historical manner which best serves the interpreter in all Scripture. In many ways these chaps. are the most important in the book since they form the crowning reality, the climax of Ezekiel's prophecy and Israel's restoration. The section includes: 1) the new temple (40:1–43:12); 2) the new worship (43:13–46:24); and 3) the new apportionment of the Land (47:1–48:35).

40:1 the twenty-fifth year. 573 B.C., in the first month of the ecclesiastical year, Nisan. The tenth day was the start of preparations for Passover.

40:2 In the visions of God He took me. Ezekiel 40–48 narrates another vision, as did 1:1–3:27; 8–11; and 37:1-14. The characterization of the prophecy as a vision in no way detracts from its literal high mountain; on it toward the south was something like the structure of a city. 3 He took me there, and behold, there was a man whose appearance was [e]like the appearance of bronze. [f]He had a line of flax [g]and a measuring rod in his hand, and he stood in the gateway.

4 And the man said to me, [h]"Son of man, look with your eyes and hear with your ears, and [2]fix your mind on everything I show you; for you were brought here so that I might show them to you. [i]Declare to the house of Israel everything you see." 5 Now there was [j]a wall all around the outside of the [3]temple. In the man's hand was a measuring rod six [4]cubits long, each being a cubit and a handbreadth; and he measured the width of the wall structure, one rod; and the height, one rod.

The Eastern Gateway of the Temple

6 Then he went to the gateway which faced [k]east; and he went up its stairs and measured the threshold of the gateway, which was one rod wide, and the other threshold was one rod wide. 7 Each gate chamber was one rod long and one rod wide; between the gate chambers was a space of five cubits; and the threshold of the gateway by the vestibule of the inside gate was one rod. 8 He also measured the vestibule of the inside gate, one rod. 9 Then he measured the vestibule of the gateway, eight cubits; and the gateposts, two cubits. The vestibule of the gate was on the inside. 10 In the eastern gateway were three gate chambers on one side and three on the other; the three were all the same size; also the gateposts were of the same size on this side and that side.

11 He measured the width of the entrance to the gateway, ten cubits; and the length of the gate, thirteen cubits. 12 There was a [5]space in front of the gate chambers, one cubit on this side and one cubit on that side; the gate chambers were six cubits on this side and six cubits on that side. 13 Then he measured the gateway from the roof of one gate chamber to the roof of the other; the width was twenty-five cubits, as door faces door. 14 He measured the gateposts, sixty cubits high, and the court all around the gateway extended to the gatepost. 15 From the front of the entrance gate to the front of the vestibule of the inner gate was fifty cubits. 16 There were [l]beveled window frames in the gate chambers and in their intervening archways on the inside of the gateway all around, and likewise in the vestibules. There were windows all around on the inside. And on each gatepost were [m]palm trees.

The Outer Court

17 Then he brought me into [n]the outer court; and there were [o]chambers and a reality any more than Ezekiel's visions of Jerusalem's sins, idolatry, and destruction did. into the land of Israel. The vision pertains to Israel, as did chaps. 1–24,33,34–39. a very high mountain. The mountain is not named; however, it is most likely Mt. Zion (cf. 17:22; 20:40; Is. 2:2; Micah 4:1), lifted up from its surroundings by a great earthquake (Zech. 14:4,5,10). like the structure...a city. God will be explaining details relating to Israel's spiritual future (vv. 2,4), so this must be the temple in particular and Jerusalem in general. This new and glorious temple will stand in contrast to the desecration and destruction of Solomon's temple (chaps. 8–11).

40:3 a man. An angel conducted a tour of all the details shown to the prophet, appearing in the form of a man (e. g., Gen. 18; Ezek. 9), appearing like bright, gleaming bronze. He could be understood as the Angel of the Lord since he is called "LORD" (44:2,5; see note on Ex. 3:2). His "line of flax" was for larger measurements, the "rod" for shorter ones (cf. Rev. 11:1; 21:5). In each case God measured what belongs to Him.

40:4 Declare...everything you see. Ezekiel 1–24 refers to Israel's historical removal from her land; chaps. 25–32 to historical judgments against other nations; chap. 33 to a historical call to repentance and the fall of Jerusalem. So in chaps. 34–39, Israel's literal, future return to the same Land as a reversal of the historical dispersion is the most natural way to interpret the chaps. Ezekiel 38,39 describe a future, historical invasion of Israel and its aftermath during the time just before Messiah's return. Therefore, chaps. 40–48 would then be thought to continue the historical, prophetic pattern, describing the millennial conditions after Messiah comes and destroys the ungodly (Rev. 19:11ff.), under which Israel will live and worship. Believing Gentiles will also be in the kingdom as sheep of the Great Shepherd (cf. Matt. 25:31-46), while all unbelievers are destroyed. Ezekiel is to write down all the details.

40:5 a wall all around. This outer wall is later described as a separation of the holy areas (42:20). the temple. See 1 Kin. 6,7 to compare with details of Solomon's temple. This could not be the heavenly temple since Ezekiel was taken to Israel to see it (v. 2). It could not be Zerubbabel's temple since the glory of God was not present then. It could not be the eternal temple since the Lord and the Lamb are its temple (cf. Rev. 21:22). Therefore, it must be the earthly millennial temple built with all of the exquisite details that are yet to be outlined. measuring rod six cubits long...a handbreadth. The rod extended 6 royal (long) cubits of 21 in. for a total of 10.5 ft., each cubit being made up of a standard width of 18 in. and a handbreadth of 3 in.

40:6,7 the gateway...east. The buildings of the E gate are first because this will be in the direct line of approach to the temple. Each opening was 10.5 ft. across. Chambers (rooms) in the wall are 10.5 x 10.5 ft. Precise measurements describe a literal temple, not a symbolic one.

40:8-16 The chambers described here are accommodations for the ministering priests and temple officers who care for the temple.

40:16 beveled window frames. Since they had no glass, these are lattices (cf. 41:16-26). on each gatepost...palm trees. These depict God's desire for fruit in Israel. Palms are symbols of beauty, salvation, and triumph (cf. Zech. 14:16ff.; Rev. 7:9). Palms are on the inner court's gateposts as well (v. 31).

40:17 the outer court. This court is farthest out from the temple proper and enclosed by the outer walls.

pavement made all around the court; [p] thirty chambers faced the pavement. 18 The pavement was by the side of the gateways, corresponding to the length of the gateways; this was the lower pavement. 19 Then he measured the width from the front of the lower gateway to the front of the inner court exterior, one hundred cubits toward the east and the north.

The Northern Gateway

20 On the outer court was also a gateway facing north, and he measured its length and its width. 21 Its gate chambers, three on this side and three on that side, its gateposts and its archways, had the same measurements as the first gate; its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. 22 Its windows and those of its archways, and also its palm trees, had the same measurements as the gateway facing east; it was ascended by seven steps, and its archway was in front of it. 23 A gate of the inner court was opposite the northern gateway, just as the eastern gateway; and he measured from gateway to gateway, one hundred cubits.

The Southern Gateway

24 After that he brought me toward the south, and there a gateway was facing south; and he measured its gateposts and archways according to these same measurements. 25 There were windows in it and in its archways all around like those windows; its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. 26 Seven steps led up to it, and its archway was in front of them; and it had palm trees on its gateposts, one on this side and one on that side. 27 There was also a gateway on the inner court, facing south; and he measured from gateway to gateway toward the south, one hundred cubits.

Gateways of the Inner Court

28 Then he brought me to the inner court through the southern gateway; he measured the southern gateway according to these same measurements. 29 Also its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways were according to these same measurements; there were windows in it and in its archways all around; it was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. 30 There were archways all around, [q] twenty-five cubits long and five cubits wide. 31 Its archways faced the outer court, palm trees were on its gateposts, and going up to it were eight steps.

32 And he brought me into the inner court facing east; he measured the gateway according to these same measurements. 33 Also its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways were according to these same measurements; and there were windows in it and in its archways all around; it was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. 34 Its archways faced the outer court, and palm trees were on its gateposts on this side and on that side; and going up to it were eight steps.

35 Then he brought me to the north gateway and measured it according to these same measurements— 36 also its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways. It had windows all around; its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. 37 Its gateposts faced the outer court, palm trees were on its gateposts on this side and on that side, and going up to it were eight steps.

Where Sacrifices Were Prepared

38 There was a chamber and its entrance by the gateposts of the gateway, where they [r] washed the burnt offering. 39 In the vestibule of the gateway were two tables on this side and two tables on that side, on

40:17-37 Here is a further blueprint for the temple area, with more precise measurements. The numbers 5, 25, 50 and 100 are frequently used. The sanctuary formed a square of some 500 cubits.

40:38-47 This section describes "chambers" for the priests, and raises the question of sacrifices in the millennial kingdom. They will exist as vv. 39-43 indicate, but will be no more efficacious then than they were in OT times. No sacrifice before or after Christ saves. They only point to Him as the one true Lamb who takes away sin. The Lord's Supper is a memorial that looks back to Calvary and in no way diminishes the cross. Israel rejected their Messiah, but when they have received Him and are in His kingdom, they will have a memorial of sacrifices that point to Him. They will have missed the memorial of the Lord's Supper, but will then have their own memorial sacrifices for 1,000 years.

which to slay the burnt offering, [s]the sin offering, and [t]the trespass offering. 40 At the outer side of the vestibule, as one goes up to the entrance of the northern gateway, were two tables; and on the other side of the vestibule of the gateway were two tables. 41 Four tables were on this side and four tables on that side, by the side of the gateway, eight tables on which they slaughtered the sacrifices. 42 There were also four tables of hewn stone for the burnt offering, one cubit and a half long, one cubit and a half wide, and one cubit high; on these they laid the instruments with which they slaughtered the burnt offering and the sacrifice. 43 Inside were hooks, a handbreadth wide, fastened all around; and the flesh of the sacrifices was on the tables.

Chambers for Singers and Priests

44 Outside the inner gate were the chambers for [u]the singers in the inner court, one facing south at the side of the northern gateway, and the other facing north at the side of the southern gateway. 45 Then he said to me, "This chamber which faces south is for [v]the priests who have charge of the temple. 46 The chamber which faces north is for the priests [w]who have charge of the altar; these are the sons of [x]Zadok, from the sons of Levi, who come near the LORD to minister to Him."

Dimensions of the Inner Court and Vestibule

47 And he measured the court, one hundred cubits long and one hundred cubits wide, foursquare. The altar was in front of the temple. 48 Then he brought me to the [y]vestibule of the temple and measured the doorposts of the vestibule, five cubits on this side and five cubits on that side; and the width of the gateway was three cubits on this side and three cubits on that side. 49 [z]The length of the vestibule was twenty cubits, and the width eleven cubits; and by the steps which led up to it there were [a]pillars by the doorposts, one on this side and another on that side.

Dimensions of the Sanctuary

41 Then he [a]brought me into the [1]sanctuary and measured the doorposts, six cubits wide on one side and six cubits wide on the other side—the width of the tabernacle. 2 The width of the entryway was ten cubits, and the side walls of the entrance were five cubits on this side and five cubits on the other side; and he measured its length, forty cubits, and its width, twenty cubits.

3 Also he went inside and measured the doorposts, two cubits; and the entrance, six cubits high; and the width of the entrance, seven cubits. 4 [b]He measured the length, twenty cubits; and the width, twenty cubits, beyond the sanctuary; and he said to me, "This is the Most Holy Place."

The Side Chambers on the Wall

5 Next, he measured the wall of the [2]temple, six cubits. The width of each side chamber all around the temple was four cubits on every side. 6 [c]The side chambers were in three stories, one above the other, thirty chambers in each story; they rested on [3]ledges which were for the side chambers all around, that they might be supported, but [d]not fastened to the wall of the temple. 7 As one went up from story to story, the side chambers [e]became wider all around, because their supporting ledges in the wall of the temple ascended like steps; therefore the width of the structure increased as one went up from the lowest story to the highest by way of the middle one. 8 I also saw an elevation all around the temple; it was the foundation of the side chambers, [f]a full rod, that is, six cubits high. 9 The thickness of the outer wall of 40:44 singers. Provision is made for the praises of the redeemed in music.

40:46 sons of Zadok. Proper names tie the vision to historical reality, calling for literal interpretation. This Levitical family descended from Levi, Aaron, Eleazar and Phinehas (1 Chr. 6:3-8). In accord with God's covenant with Phinehas (Num. 25:10-13), and because of Eli's unfaithfulness (cf. 1 Sam. 1,2) and Zadok's faithfulness to David and Solomon (1 Kin. 1:32-40), Zadok's sons serve as priests in the millennial temple. Other references to sons of Zadok are in 43:19; 44:15 and 48:11.

40:47 measured the court. The court around the temple was a square, around the square temple (41:1). The altar. This is the bronze altar where offerings occur. Cf. 43:13-27.

40:48,49 vestibule. This refers to the temple porch and is similar to that of Solomon's temple.

41:1 into the sanctuary. Precise descriptions continue for the temple proper, its sanctuary or holy place (here called "tabernacle"), and side chambers for priests' quarters (vv. 5-11). This chap. can be studied in the light of 1 Kin. 6,7 to note differences from Solomon's temple.

41:4 the Most Holy Place. The Holy of Holies, which the High-Priest entered annually on the Day of Atonement (cf. Lev. 16). These dimensions are identical to Solomon's (1 Kin. 6:20), and twice those of the tabernacle in the wilderness.

41:5-11 This section describes the "wall" and "side chambers."

the side chambers was five cubits, and so also the remaining terrace by the place of the side chambers of the [4]temple. 10 And between it and the wall chambers was a width of twenty cubits all around the temple on every side. 11 The doors of the side chambers opened on the terrace, one door toward the north and another toward the south; and the width of the terrace was five cubits all around.

The Building at the Western End

12 The building that faced the separating courtyard at its western end was seventy cubits wide; the wall of the building was five cubits thick all around, and its length ninety cubits.

Dimensions and Design of the Temple Area

13 So he measured the temple, one [g]hundred cubits long; and the separating courtyard with the building and its walls was one hundred cubits long; 14 also the width of the eastern face of the temple, including the separating courtyard, was one hundred cubits. 15 He measured the length of the building behind it, facing the separating courtyard, with its [h]galleries on the one side and on the other side, one hundred cubits, as well as the inner [5]temple and the porches of the court, 16 their doorposts and [i]the beveled window frames. And the galleries all around their three stories opposite the threshold were paneled with [j]wood from the ground to the windows—the windows were covered— 17 from the space above the door, even to the inner [6]room, as well as outside, and on every wall all around, inside and outside, by measure.

18 And it was made [k]with cherubim and [l]palm trees, a palm tree between cherub and cherub. Each cherub had two faces, 19 [m]so that the face of a man was toward a palm tree on one side, and the face of a young lion toward a palm tree on the other side; thus it was made throughout the temple all around. 20 From the floor to the space above the door, and on the wall of the sanctuary, cherubim and palm trees were carved.

21 The [n]doorposts of the temple were square, as was the front of the sanctuary; their appearance was similar. 22 [o]The altar was of wood, three cubits high, and its length two cubits. Its corners, its length, and its sides were of wood; and he said to me, "This is [p]the table that is [q]before the LORD."

23 [r]The temple and the sanctuary had two doors. 24 The doors had two [s]panels apiece, two folding panels: two panels for one door and two panels for the other door. 25 Cherubim and palm trees were carved on the doors of the temple just as they were carved on the walls. A wooden canopy was on the front of the vestibule outside. 26 There were [t]beveled window frames and palm trees on one side and on the other, on the sides of the vestibule—also on the side chambers of the temple and on the canopies.

The Chambers for the Priests

42 Then he [a]brought me out into the outer court, by the way toward the [b]north; and he brought me into [c]the chamber which was opposite the separating courtyard, and which was opposite the building toward the north. 2 Facing the length, which was one hundred cubits (the width was fifty cubits), was the north door. 3 Opposite the inner court of twenty cubits, and opposite the [d]pavement of the outer court, was [e]gallery against gallery in three stories. 4 In front of the chambers, toward the inside, was a walk ten cubits wide, at a distance of one cubit; and their doors faced north. 5 Now the upper chambers were shorter, because the galleries took away space from them more than from the lower and middle stories of the building. 6 For they were in three stories and did not have pillars like the pillars of the courts; therefore the upper level was [f]shortened more than the lower and middle levels from the ground up. 7 And a wall which was outside ran parallel to the chambers, at the front of the chambers, toward the outer court; its length was fifty cubits. 8 The length of the chambers toward the outer court was fifty cubits, whereas that facing the temple was one [f]hundred cubits. 9 At the lower cham-

41:13 measured the temple. Cf. 40:47. It was about 175 ft. square.

41:15 galleries. These were terraced buildings with decorations (vv. 18-20).

41:18 cherubim and palm trees. Figures of angels (cf. chaps. 1,10) with palms between them (possibly to depict life and fruitfulness of God's servants) were on the walls of the temple proper and on the doors (v. 25). Each cherub (unlike that of chaps. 1,10 which had 4 faces) had the face of a man and of a lion, possibly to represent the humanity and kingship of Messiah.

41:22 This was the altar of incense (cf. Ex. 30:1-3; 1 Kin. 7:48).

42:3 gallery against gallery. Priestly rooms are described (vv. 3-12), situated along the S, N, and W walls of the sanctuary and Most Holy Place, in 3 stories. Priests eat the holy offerings (cf. Lev. 2:3,10; 6:9-11; 10:12); and dress there (vv. 13,14).

bers was the entrance on the east side, as one goes into them from the outer court.

10 Also there were chambers in the thickness of the wall of the court toward the east, opposite the separating courtyard and opposite the building. 11 *g*There was a walk in front of them also, and their appearance was like the chambers which were toward the north; they were as long and as wide as the others, and all their exits and entrances were according to plan. 12 And corresponding to the doors of the chambers that were facing south, as one enters them, there was a door in front of the walk, the way directly in front of the wall toward the east.

13 Then he said to me, "The north chambers and the south chambers, which are opposite the separating courtyard, are the holy chambers where the priests who approach the LORD *h*shall eat the most holy offerings. There they shall lay the most holy offerings—*i*the grain offering, the sin offering, and the trespass offering—for the place is holy. 14 *j*When the priests enter them, they shall not go out of the holy chamber into the outer court; but there they shall leave their garments in which they minister, for they are holy. They shall put on other garments; then they may approach that which is for the people."

Outer Dimensions of the Temple

15 Now when he had finished measuring the inner [2]temple, he brought me out through the gateway that faces toward the *k*east, and measured it all around. 16 He measured the east side with the [3]measuring rod, five hundred rods by the measuring rod all around. 17 He measured the north side, five hundred rods by the measuring rod all around. 18 He measured the south side, five hundred rods by the measuring rod. 19 He came around to the west side and measured five hundred rods by the measuring rod. 20 He measured it on the four sides; *l*it had a wall all around, *m*five hundred cubits long and five hundred wide, to separate the holy areas from the [4]common.

The Temple, the LORD's Dwelling Place

CHAPTER 43

43 Afterward he brought me to the gate, the gate [a]that faces toward the east. 2 [b]And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from the way of the east. [c]His voice was like the sound of many waters; [d]and the earth shone with His glory. 3 It was [e]like the appearance of the vision which I saw—like the vision which I saw when [1]I came [f]to destroy the city. The visions were like the vision which I saw [g]by the River Chebar; and I fell on my face. 4 [h]And the glory of the LORD came into the [2]temple by way of the gate which faces toward the east. 5 [i]The Spirit lifted me up and brought me into the inner court; and behold, *j*the glory of the LORD filled the [3]temple.

42:15-20 out through the gateway. The angel measured the height and thickness of the outside wall (40:5); then the outer court (40:6-27); next the inner court with the chambers (40:28–42:14); finally, the extent of all the temple buildings outside. Measurements of the outer wall, 500 rods each way, were approximately one mi. on each of the 4 sides. Much too large for Mt. Moriah, this scheme will require changes in the topography of Jerusalem, as Zechariah predicted (14:9-11).

43:2 the glory of the God of Israel. In earlier chaps. of this prophecy, emphasis was given to the departure of God's glory from the temple (see chaps. 8–11). Thus the Lord abandoned His people to destruction and dispersion. Here, in the millennial temple, the glory of God returns to dwell. His glory will be manifest in fullness in the future kingdom, after the Lord's Second Advent, which is also to be glorious (Matt. 16:27; 25:31). Verses 1-12 describe God's glorious entrance into the sanctuary. came from...the east. The glory had been in the tabernacle (Ex. 40:34,35) and the temple (1 Kin. 8:10,11), though not in Zerubbabel's temple. Here, the Lord returns to be Israel's King. The glory departed to the E from Israel (11:23) when God judged them, so the glory returns from the E when He has regathered them, and is restoring their worship.

43:3 like the...vision. This vision appearance of God to Ezekiel is glorious, just as the vision in chaps. 8–11, which pictures His coming, by angels, to judge Jerusalem (cf. 9:3-11; 10:4-7). like the vision...by the River Chebar. God's appearance is also glorious as in the vision of 1:3-28. I fell on my face. Just as in the other visions of God's glory (1:28; 9:8). Cf. Rev. 1:12-17.

43:5 the glory...filled the temple. The future kingdom glory of God will fill His temple (Zech. 2:5), as He filled the tabernacle (Ex. 40:34) and later Solomon's temple (1 Kin. 8:11; Ps. 29:9).

43:7 the place of My throne. The King of Glory (Ps. 24:7-10) claims the millennial temple as His place to dwell. Cf. 1 Chr. 29:23; Zech. 6:13. There will be human, unresurrected people in the kingdom, who entered when Christ returned and destroyed all the wicked. They will worship at this actual temple.

43:8,9 The future temple will be most holy, protected from 1) harlotry such as the Israelites had engaged in (2 Kin. 23:7) and 2) defiling tombs of kings that Israel had allowed in the sacred temple area (Ezek. 21:18).

sumed them in My anger. 9 Now let them put their harlotry and the carcasses of their kings far away from Me, and I will dwell in their midst forever.

10 "Son of man, [r]describe the [5]temple to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their iniquities; and let them measure the pattern. 11 And if they are ashamed of all that they have done, make known to them the design of the [6]temple and its arrangement, its exits and its entrances, its entire design and all its [s]ordinances, all its forms and all its laws. Write it down in their sight, so that they may keep its whole design and all its ordinances, and [t]perform them. 12 This is the law of the [7]temple: The whole area surrounding [u]the mountaintop is most holy. Behold, this is the law of the temple.

Dimensions of the Altar

13 "These are the measurements of the [v]altar in cubits [w](the [8]cubit is one cubit and a handbreadth): the base one cubit high and one cubit wide, with a rim all around its edge of one span. This is the height of the altar: 14 from the base on the ground to the lower ledge, two cubits; the width of the ledge, one cubit; from the smaller ledge to the larger ledge, four cubits; and the width of the ledge, one cubit. 15 The altar hearth is four cubits high, with four [x]horns extending upward from the [9]hearth. 16 The altar hearth is twelve cubits long, twelve wide, [y]square at its four corners; 17 the ledge, fourteen cubits long and fourteen wide on its four sides, with a rim of half a cubit around it; its base, one cubit all around; and [z]its steps face toward the east."

Consecrating the Altar

18 And He said to me, "Son of man, thus says the Lord GOD: 'These are the ordinances for the altar on the day when it is made, for sacrificing [a]burnt offerings on it, and for [b]sprinkling blood on it. 19 You shall give [c]a young bull for a sin offering to [d]the priests, the Levites, who are of the seed of [e]Zadok, who approach Me to minister to Me,' says the Lord GOD. 20 You shall take some of its blood and put it on the four horns of the altar, on the four corners of the ledge, and on the rim around it; thus you shall cleanse it and make atonement for it. 21 Then you shall also take the bull of the sin offering, and [f]burn it in the appointed place of the [1]temple, [g]outside the sanctuary. 22 On the second day you shall offer a kid of the goats without blemish for a sin offering; and they shall cleanse the altar, as they cleansed it with the bull. 23 When you have finished cleansing it, you shall offer a young bull without blemish, and a ram from the flock without blemish. 24 When you offer them before the LORD, [h]the priests shall throw salt on them, and they will offer them up as a burnt offering to the LORD. 25 Every day for [i]seven days you shall prepare a goat for a sin offering; they shall also prepare a young bull and a ram from the flock, both without blemish. 26 Seven days they shall make atonement for the altar and purify it, and so [2]consecrate [3]it. 27 [j]When these days are over it shall be, on the eighth day and thereafter, that the priests shall offer your burnt offerings and your peace offerings on the altar; and I will [k]accept you,' says the Lord GOD."

The East Gate and the Prince

44 Then He brought me back to the outer gate of the sanctuary [a]which faces toward the east, but it was shut. 2 And the LORD said to me, "This gate shall be shut; it shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, [b]because the LORD God of

CHAPTER 44

1 [a] Ezek. 43:1
2 [b] Ezek. 43:2-4

43:10-12 Here is the key to the entire vision of chaps. 40–48. These glorious future plans show how much Israel forfeited by their sins. Every detail should produce repentance in Ezekiel's hearers and readers.

43:13-27 the altar. The measurements of the altar of burnt offering are given in vv. 13-17, then the offerings are described (vv. 18-27). These offerings are not efficacious, nor were the OT sacrifices. They were all symbolic of death for sin. They do not take away sin (cf. Heb. 10:4). They were prospective; these will be retrospective.

43:19 a young bull for a sin offering. Exact offerings, in language just as definitive as the literal descriptions in Moses' day, are also just as literal here. They are of a memorial nature; they are not efficacious any more than OT sacrifices were. As OT sacrifices pointed forward to Christ's death, so these are tangible expressions, not competing with, but pointing back to the value of Christ's completely effective sacrifice, once for all (Heb. 9:28; 10:10). God at that time endorsed OT offerings as tokens of forgiving and cleansing worshipers on the basis and credit of the great Lamb they pointed to, who alone could take away sins (John 1:29). The tangible expressions of worship, which the Israelites for so long failed to offer validly (cf. Is. 1:11-15), will at last be offered acceptably, then with full understanding about the Lamb of God to whom they point. The bread and the cup, which believers today find meaningful, do not compete with Christ's cross but are tangible memorials of its glory. So will these sacrifices be. seed of Zadok. Cf. 40:46 and 44:10, and see notes there.

43:24 salt. Cf. Lev. 2:13. burnt offering. As the sin offering is a part of future millennial worship (v. 19), so there are other offerings also (cf. Lev. 1–7). The burnt offering, denoting full consecration to God is one; the peace offering expressing gratitude for peace with God in covenant bonds is another (v. 27).

43:25 without blemish. Commemorative of Christ's unblemished perfection.

44:1,2 the outer gate...was shut. The Lord has returned from the direction in which He departed (10:18,19). It is kept closed, in Israel has entered by it; therefore it shall be shut. 3 As for the [c]prince, because he is the prince, he may sit in it to [d]eat bread before the LORD; he shall enter by way of the vestibule of the gateway, and go out the same way."

Those Admitted to the Temple

4 Also He brought me by way of the north gate to the front of the [1]temple; so I looked, and [e]behold, the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD; [f]and I fell on my face. 5 And the LORD said to me, [g]"Son of man, [2]mark well, see with your eyes and hear with your ears, all that I say to you concerning all the [h]ordinances of the house of the LORD and all its laws. Mark well who may enter the house and all who go out from the sanctuary.

6 "Now say to the [i]rebellious, to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "O house of Israel, [j]let Us have no more of all your abominations. 7 [k]When you brought in [l]foreigners, [m]uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in My sanctuary to defile it—My house—and when you offered [n]My food, [o]the fat and the blood, then they broke My covenant because of all your abominations. 8 And you have not [p]kept charge of My holy things, but you have set others to keep charge of My sanctuary for you." 9 Thus says the Lord GOD: [q]"No foreigner, uncircumcised in heart or uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter My sanctuary, including any foreigner who is among the children of Israel.

Laws Governing Priests

10 [r] "And the Levites who went far from Me, when Israel went astray, who strayed away from Me after their idols, they shall bear their iniquity. 11 Yet they shall be ministers in My sanctuary, [s]as gatekeepers of the house and ministers of the house; [t]they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and [u]they shall stand before them to minister to them. 12 Because they ministered to them before their idols and [v]caused[3] the house of Israel to fall into iniquity, therefore I have [w]raised My hand in an oath against them," says the Lord GOD, "that they shall bear their iniquity. 13 [x]And they shall not come near Me to minister to Me as priest, nor come near any of My holy things, nor into the Most Holy Place; but they shall [y]bear their shame and their abominations which they have committed. 14 Nevertheless I will make them [z]keep charge of the temple, for all its work, and for all that has to be done in it.

15 [a] "But the priests, the Levites, [b]the sons of Zadok, who kept charge of My sanctuary [c]when the children of Israel went astray from Me, they shall come near Me to minister to Me; and they [d]shall stand before Me to offer to Me the [e]fat and the blood," says the Lord GOD. 16 "They shall [f]enter My sanctuary, and they shall come near [g]My table to minister to Me, and they shall keep My charge. 17 And it shall be, whenever they enter the gates of the inner court, that [h]they shall put on linen garments; no wool shall come upon them while they minister within the gates of the inner court or within the house. 18 [i]They honor of the Lord's glory having returned through it for the millennial worship and indicating that the Lord will not depart again as in chaps. 8–11 (cf. 43:1-5). This eastern gate of the temple should not be confused with the modern sealed eastern gate of the city (cf. 45:6-8).

44:3 the prince...may sit in it. The designation "prince" is used at least 14 times in chaps. 44–47. He is not the Lord Jesus Christ, but someone distinct from Him (cf. "eat bread before the LORD"); he has sins for which he offers sacrifice (45:22), and fathers sons (46:16-18). He cannot enter by the E gate which the Lord used, but he is allowed to come in and go out by the gate's vestibule, and eat bread by the gateway. He cannot perform priestly duties (45:19) as Messiah will (cf. Ps. 110:4; Zech. 6:12,13), and he must worship the Lord (46:2). Most likely "the prince" is one who is neither a priest nor the king, but rather one who administrates the kingdom, representing the King (the Lord Jesus Christ) on one hand, and also the princes (14:8,9) who individually lead the 12 tribes. Possibly, he will be a descendant of David.

44:5-9 Mark well who may enter. Since the Lord's glory fills the temple, it is sanctified (v. 4), and God is particular about what kind of people worship there. Sins of the past, as in chaps. 8–11, must not be repeated and if they are, will exclude their perpetrators from the temple. Only the circumcised in heart may enter (Deut. 30:6; Jer. 4:4; Rom. 2:25-29), whether of Israel or another nation (vv. 7,9). Many other peoples than Jews will go into the kingdom in unresurrected bodies, because they have believed in Jesus Christ and were ready for His coming. They will escape His deadly judgment and populate and reproduce in the 1,000 year kingdom. Such circumcision pertains to a heart which is sincere about removing sin and being devoted to the Lord (cf. Jer. 29:13). In the Millennium, a Jew with an uncircumcised heart will be considered a foreigner (v. 9). "Uncircumcised in flesh" refers to sinners and "foreigner" identifies rejecters of the true God.

44:10 Levites...shall bear their iniquity. God makes distinctions. Levites in the line of those unfaithful in days before the judgment can minister in temple services but they cannot make offerings or enter the Most Holy Place (vv. 11-14). Only Zadok's line can fulfill these ministries (vv. 15,16). The reason for this is the value which God attaches to the faithfulness of Zadok in the past (1 Sam. 2:35; 2 Sam. 15:24ff.; 1 Kin. 1:32-40; 2:26-35). See note on 40:46.

44:16 My table. This is the altar of burnt offering (cf. 40:46; 41:22).

44:17-27 it shall be. Various standards govern priestly service, such as moderation (v. 20) and sobriety (v. 21). They will model holy behavior as they teach the people to live their lives set apart to God (vv. 23,24). Minutia about dress (such as forbidding the uncleanness of sweat resulting from wearing wool), marriage (cf. Lev. 21:14), contact with dead bodies, etc. point more naturally to a literal fulfillment than to a generalized blurring of details in a symbolical interpretation.

shall have linen turbans on their heads and linen trousers on their bodies; they shall not clothe themselves with anything that causes sweat. 19 When they go out to the outer court, to the outer court to the people, [j]they shall take off their garments in which they have ministered, leave them in the holy chambers, and put on other garments; and in their holy garments they shall [k]not sanctify the people.

20 [l]"They shall neither shave their heads, nor let their hair grow [m]long, but they shall keep their hair well trimmed. 21 [n]No priest shall drink wine when he enters the inner court. 22 They shall not take as wife a [o]widow or a divorced woman, but take virgins of the descendants of the house of Israel, or widows of priests.

23 "And [p]they shall teach My people the difference between the holy and the unholy, and cause them to [q]discern between the unclean and the clean. 24 [r]In controversy they shall stand as judges, and judge it according to My judgments. They shall keep My laws and My statutes in all My appointed meetings, [s]and they shall hallow My Sabbaths.

25 "They shall not defile themselves by coming near a dead person. Only for father or mother, for son or daughter, for brother or unmarried sister may they defile themselves. 26 [t]After he is cleansed, they shall count seven days for him. 27 And on the day that he goes to the sanctuary to minister in the sanctuary, [u]he must offer his sin offering [v]in the inner court," says the Lord GOD.

45 "Moreover, when you [a]divide the land by lot into inheritance, you shall [b]set apart a district for the LORD, a holy section of the land; its length shall be twenty-five thousand cubits, and the width ten thousand. It shall be holy throughout its territory all around. 2 Of this there shall be a square plot for the sanctuary, [c]five hundred by five hundred rods, with fifty cubits around it for an open space. 3 So this is the district you shall measure: twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand wide; [d]in it shall be the sanctuary, the Most Holy Place. 4 It shall be [e]a holy section of the land, belonging to the priests, the ministers of the sanctuary, who come near to minister to the LORD; it shall be a place for their houses and a holy place for the sanctuary. 5 [f]An area twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand wide shall belong to the Levites, the ministers of the [1]temple; they shall have [g]twenty[2] chambers as a possession.

44:28-31 I am their possession. As the priests had no possession in the Land when it was originally apportioned, so in the future God will be their portion.

45:1-5 a district for the LORD. This sacred land, set apart at the heart (center) of Palestine, is separate from allotments designated for various tribes, seven to the N and five to the S (cf. chap. 48). Though the whole earth is the Lord's (Ps. 24:1), this area is meaningful to Him in a special sense, as providing for special purposes which 45:2-8 goes on to define. This holy rectangle (8.5 mi. by 3.3 mi.) (vv. 1,3) corresponds to 48:8-22, which describes this portion as between Judah to the N and Benjamin to the S extending from the Mediterranean E to the eastern border. It is the area for the priestly homes (v. 4) particularly, but is also for the benefit of all worshipers.

45:2 a...plot for the sanctuary. At the heart of the special allotment is the temple area (48:10), which serves all Israelite tribes, and also is the worship center for those of the whole world, who visit (Is. 4:2,3; Zech. 14:16-19). It is one mi. square (cf. 42:15-20). As a center, not only for those in Palestine but for the world, the area is appropriately larger than past temples that served Israel.

45:5 to the Levites. Distinct from the land devoted to temple and priestly homes is another portion for Levites, who assist in temple service. This portion is also about 8.5 x 3.3 mi. and lies N of the temple/priest allotment. Cf. 48:13,14 for more details.

45:6 property of the city. On the S of the central sanctuary plot is the city of Jerusalem with an area of about 8.5 x 1.65 mi. Cf. 48:15-20 for more details.

45:7 The prince shall have a section. See note on 44:3. This administrator of the kingdom under Christ will have his territory in two parts, one to the W and the other to the E of the temple/priest and city portions in vv. 1-6. Cf. 48:21,22 for more details.

tions, from the west border to the east border. 8 The land shall be his possession in Israel; and [i]My princes shall no more oppress My people, but they shall give the rest of the land to the house of Israel, according to their tribes."

Laws Governing the Prince

9 'Thus says the Lord GOD: [k]"Enough, O princes of Israel! [l]Remove violence and plundering, execute justice and righteousness, and stop dispossessing My people," says the Lord GOD. 10 "You shall have [m]honest scales, an honest ephah, and an honest bath. 11 The ephah and the bath shall be of the same measure, so that the bath contains one-tenth of a homer, and the ephah one-tenth of a homer; their measure shall be according to the homer. 12 The [n]shekel shall be twenty gerahs; twenty shekels, twenty-five shekels, and fifteen shekels shall be your mina.

13 "This is the offering which you shall offer: you shall give one-sixth of an ephah from a homer of wheat, and one-sixth of an ephah from a homer of barley. 14 The ordinance concerning oil, the bath of oil, is one-tenth of a bath from a kor. A kor is a homer or ten baths, for ten baths are a homer. 15 And one lamb shall be given from a flock

45:8 My princes shall no more oppress. God pledges a kingdom era free from civil leaders selfishly taking advantage of the people, i.e., seizing their land (cf. 22:27; 1 Kin. 21; Num. 36:7-9; Is. 5:8; Hos. 5:10; Mic. 2:1,2). The princes most likely are the leaders of each tribe. No one will be deprived of his possession under Messiah's rule.

45:9-12 The leaders of the land are urged to be thoroughly honest in their commercial dealings. This warning shows that there will be sin in the Millennium. The believing Jews who entered the 1,000 year reign of Christ on earth and inherited the promised kingdom will be fully human and capable of such sins. There also will be children who do not necessarily believe, as the final rebellion against King Messiah and His temple proves (cf. Rev. 20:7-9).

45:13-17 Here are the offerings for Israel's prince (v. 16). Because of what the people will give him, he will provide for public sacrifices (v. 17).

of two hundred, from the rich pastures of Israel. These shall be for grain offerings, burnt offerings, and peace offerings, [o] to make atonement for them," says the Lord GOD. 16 "All the people of the land shall give this offering for the prince in Israel. 17 Then it shall be the [p] prince's part to give burnt offerings, grain offerings, and drink offerings, at the feasts, the New Moons, the Sabbaths, and at all the appointed seasons of the house of Israel. He shall prepare the sin offering, the grain offering, the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make atonement for the house of Israel."

Keeping the Feasts

18 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "In the first month, on the first day of the month, you shall take a young bull without blemish and [q] cleanse the sanctuary. 19 [r] The priest shall take some of the blood of the sin offering and put it on the doorposts of the [3] temple, on the four corners of the ledge of the altar, and on the gateposts of the gate of the inner court. 20 And so you shall do on the seventh day of the month [s] for everyone who has sinned unintentionally or in ignorance. Thus you shall make atonement for the temple.

21 [t] "In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, you shall observe the Passover, a feast of seven days; unleavened bread shall be eaten. 22 And on that day the prince shall prepare for himself and for all the people of the land [u] a bull for a sin offering. 23 On the [v] seven days of the feast he shall prepare a burnt offering to the LORD, seven bulls and seven rams without blemish, daily for seven days, [w] and a kid of the goats daily for a sin offering. 24 [x] And he shall prepare a grain offering of one ephah for each bull and one ephah for each ram, together with a hin of oil for each ephah.

25 "In the seventh month, on the fifteenth day of the month, at the [y] feast, he shall do likewise for seven days, according to the sin offering, the burnt offering, the grain offering, and the oil."

The Manner of Worship

46 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "The gateway of the inner court that faces toward the east shall be shut the six [a] working days; but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and on the day of the New Moon

45:17 feasts...New Moons...Sabbaths...appointed seasons. These will be discussed in notes on 45:18–46:15.

45:18-25 The annual feasts for the nations are outlined. The millennial feasts include 3 of the 6 Levitical feasts: 1) Passover; 2) Unleavened Bread; and 3) Tabernacles. Three Levitical feasts are not celebrated: 1) Pentecost; 2) Trumpets; and 3) Atonement. Most likely they are excluded because what they had looked forward to prophetically have been fulfilled and now serve no significant remembrance purpose such as Passover and Tabernacle will continue to provide.

45:18-20 atonement. The day of atonement is never mentioned, but God institutes a never-before-celebrated festival to start the "new year" with an emphasis on holiness in the temple. The first month, Abib, would be in Mar./Apr. The feast appears to last 7 days (v. 20). It indicates that there will be sin in the kingdom, committed by those who entered alive and their offspring.

45:21-24. Passover and Unleavened Bread are combined as in the NT and focus on remembering God's deliverance of the nation from Egypt and Christ's death providing deliverance from sin. They continue on into the Millennium as a week long feast of remembrance, which will serve much the same purpose then as the bread and cup do now (cf. Ex. 12–15 for details). The 3 annual pilgrimage feasts with required attendance under Mosaic legislation were: 1) Unleavened Bread, 2) Pentecost, and 3) Tabernacles (cf. Ex. 23:14-17; Num. 28:16–29:40; Deut. 16:1-17). They have been modified with the 3 in 45:18-25. Pentecost is replaced by the new feast of vv. 18-20. There are also portion differences from the Mosaic law (cf. Num. 28:19-21), plus the millennial offerings are richer and more abundant, in general.

45:22,23 the prince. See note on 44:3. Here he sacrifices for his own sin.

45:24 hin. About one gal.

45:25 The Feast of Tabernacles continues on into the Millennium as confirmed by Zech. 14:16-21. This would be a remembrance of God's sustaining provision in the wilderness. The seventh month, Tishri, would be in Sep./Oct. and this feast will last for one week, as do the previous two. The prince ("he," v. 25) once again offers sacrifice.

46:1-15 This section further discusses offerings and deals with: 1) Sabbath and New Moon (vv. 1-8); 2) appointed feast days (9-11); 3) voluntary offerings (v. 12); and 4) daily sacrifices (vv. 13-15). Cf. Num. 28:1-15 for a summary of former Mosaic details.

46:1 The gateway...shall be shut. Shutting the gate 6 days seems to serve the purpose of giving special distinction to the Sabbath and New Moon, when it is open and in use. Israel largely failed it shall be opened. 2 [b]The prince shall enter by way of the vestibule of the gateway from the outside, and stand by the gatepost. The priests shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings. He shall worship at the threshold of the gate. Then he shall go out, but the gate shall not be shut until evening. 3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entrance to this gateway before the LORD on the Sabbaths and the New Moons. 4 The burnt offering that [c]the prince offers to the LORD on the [d]Sabbath day shall be six lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish; 5 [e]and the grain offering shall be one ephah for a ram, and the grain offering for the lambs, [1]as much as he wants to give, as well as a hin of oil with every ephah. 6 On the day of the New Moon it shall be a young bull without blemish, six lambs, and a ram; they shall be without blemish. 7 He shall prepare a grain offering of an ephah for a bull, an ephah for a ram, [2]as much as he wants to give for the lambs, and a hin of oil with every ephah. 8 [f]When the prince enters, he shall go in by way of the vestibule of the gateway, and go out the same way.

9 "But when the people of the land [g]come before the LORD on the appointed feast days, whoever enters by way of the north [h]gate to worship shall go out by way of the south gate; and whoever enters by way of the south gate shall go out by way of the north gate. He shall not return by way of the gate through which he came, but shall go out through the opposite gate. 10 The prince shall then be in their midst. When they go in, he shall go in; and when they go out, he shall go out. 11 At the festivals and the appointed feast days [i]the grain offering shall be an ephah for a bull, an ephah for a ram, as much as he wants to give for the lambs, and a hin of oil with every ephah.

12 "Now when the prince makes a voluntary burnt offering or voluntary peace offering to the LORD, the gate that faces toward the east [j]shall then be opened for him; and he shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings as he did on the Sabbath day. Then he shall go out, and after he goes out the gate shall be shut.

13 [k]"You shall daily make a burnt offering to the LORD of a lamb of the first year without blemish; you shall prepare it [3]every morning. 14 And you shall prepare a grain offering with it every morning, a sixth of an ephah, and a third of a hin of oil to moisten the fine flour. This grain offering is a perpetual ordinance, to be made regularly to the LORD. 15 Thus they shall prepare the lamb, the grain offering, and the oil, as a [l]regular burnt offering every morning."

The Prince and Inheritance Laws

16 'Thus says the Lord GOD: "If the prince gives a gift of some of his inheritance to any of his sons, it shall belong to his sons; it is their possession by inheritance. 17 But if he gives a gift of some of his inheritance to one of his servants, it shall be his until [m]the year of liberty, after which it shall return to the prince. But his inheritance shall belong to his sons; it shall become theirs. 18 Moreover [n]the prince shall not take any of the people's inheritance by evicting them from their property; he shall provide an inheritance for his sons from his own property, so that none of My people may be scattered from his property."' " and was judged in ancient times in regard to these days (Jer. 17:22-27; cf. 2 Chr. 36:21). The Sabbath will be reinstated for a restored and regenerated Israel. Note here that modern day sabbatarians fail to realize that the Sabbath consisted of far more than just rest from labor, but included specific sacrifices. It is inconsistent to take one part of the Sabbath observance and discard the others.

46:2 The prince. See note on 44:3. He appears 5 times (vv. 2,4,8,10,12) in regard to sacrifices. He is to be an example of spiritual integrity to the people (cf. v. 10).

46:6,7 New Moon. Israel's calendar was lunar, so the feasts were reckoned according the phases of the moon.

46:8 When the prince enters. He does not normally use the eastern gate itself, which is for the Lord (44:2). Rather, he enters and exits by the gate's vestibule. However, v. 12 permits his use of the gate for free will offerings.

46:9 the people. The people's entrance and exit for temple worship is to be done in an orderly flow to prevent congestion, since all will be present (cf. Deut. 16:16).

46:10-12 The prince. He sets the example of worship for the people.

46:13-15 daily. The testimony of the OT is that to remove the continual burnt offering meant an abolition of public worship (cf. Dan. 8:11-13; 11:31; 12:11).

46:16,17 a gift. This explains inheritance laws governing the prince. A gift to one of his sons is permanent (v. 16), but a gift to a servant lasts only to the year of Jubilee, the 50th year (cf. Lev. 25:10-13), and then returns to him (v. 17).

46:17 the year of liberty. The year of Jubilee.

46:18 the prince shall not take any...inheritance. As in 45:8,9, the prince is not to confiscate others' property to enlarge his own holdings, as often occurred in Israel's history when rulers became rich by making others poor (cf. 1 Kin. 21).

46:19-24 chambers. The priests' kitchen chambers are convenient for managing their parts of the offerings and cooking sacrificial meals for worshipers, possibly close to the inner E gate. The "ministers of the temple" (v. 24) are not the priests, but temple servants.

which face toward the north; and there a place was situated at their extreme western end. 20 And he said to me, "This is the place where the priests shall [p]boil the trespass offering and the sin offering, and where they shall [q]bake the grain offering, so that they do not bring them out into the outer court [r]to sanctify the people."

21 Then he brought me out into the outer court and caused me to pass by the four corners of the court; and in fact, in every corner of the court there was another court. 22 In the four corners of the court were enclosed courts, forty cubits long and thirty wide; all four corners were the same size. 23 There was a row of building stones all around in them, all around the four of them; and [4]cooking hearths were made under the rows of stones all around. 24 And he said to me, "These are the [5]kitchens where the ministers of the [6]temple shall [s]boil the sacrifices of the people."

The Healing Waters and Trees

47 Then he brought me back to the door of the [1]temple; and there was [a]water, flowing from under the threshold of the temple toward the east, for the front of the temple faced east; the water was flowing from under the right side of the temple, south of the altar. 2 He brought me out by way of the north gate, and led me around on the outside to the outer gateway that faces [b]east; and there was water, running out on the right side.

3 And when [c]the man went out to the east with the line in his hand, he measured one thousand cubits, and he brought me through the waters; the water came up to my ankles. 4 Again he measured one thousand and brought me through the waters; the water came up to my knees. Again he measured one thousand and brought me through; the water came up to my waist. 5 Again he measured one thousand, and it was a river that I could not cross; for the water was too deep, water in which one must swim, a river that could not be crossed. 6 He said to me, "Son of man, have you seen this?" Then he brought me and returned me to the bank of the river.

7 When I returned, there, along the bank of the river, were very many [d]trees on one side and the other. 8 Then he said to me: "This water flows toward the eastern region, goes down into the [2]valley, and enters the sea. When it reaches the sea, its waters are healed. 9 And it shall be that every living thing that moves, wherever [3]the rivers go, will live. There will be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters go there; for they will be healed, and everything will live wherever the river goes. 10 It shall be that fishermen will stand by it from En Gedi to En Eglaim; they will be places for spreading their nets. Their fish will be of the same kinds as the fish [e]of the Great Sea, exceedingly many. 11 But its swamps and marshes will not be healed; they will be given over to salt. 12 [f]Along the bank of the river, on this side and that, will grow all kinds of trees used for food; [g]their leaves will not wither, and their fruit will not fail. They will bear fruit every month, because their water flows from the sanctuary. Their fruit will be for food, and their leaves for [h]medicine."[4]

47:1-12 This section reinforces the constant emphasis of the prophets that in the final kingdom amazing physical and geographical changes will occur on the earth, and especially the land of Israel. This chap. deals mainly with changes in the water.

47:1,2 water, flowing...east. A stream of water flows up from underneath the temple (cf. Joel 3:18), going E to the Jordan, then curving S through the Dead Sea area (vv. 7,8). Zechariah 14:8 refers to this stream as flowing from Jerusalem to the W (Mediterranean Sea) as well as to the E (Dead Sea). Its origin coincides with Christ's Second Advent arrival on the Mt. of Olives (cf. Zech. 14:4; Acts 1:11), which will trigger a massive earthquake, thus creating a vast E-W valley running through Jerusalem and allowing for the water flow. See note on Zech. 14:3,4.

47:3-5 he measured. The escorting angel, wanting to reveal the size of the river, took Ezekiel, in the vision, to four different distances from the temple, where the stream was found to be at increasing depths until it was over his head. Cf. Is. 35:1-7, where the prophet says the "desert will blossom like a rose."

47:7 very many trees. Lush growth from the river.

47:8 waters are healed. The flow E, then S, runs into the Dead Sea and renders good the salty water (more than 6 times as salty as the sea) that formerly would not support life because of its high mineral content. The Dead Sea is transformed into a "living sea" of fresh water.

47:9 multitude of fish. These fish are said to be the same kinds in the Mediterranean (v. 10), probably referring to volume rather than species, since the river and the Dead Sea are fresh water.

47:10 En Gedi. The site is on the Dead Sea's W bank, about halfway along its length, near Masada. En Eglaim. Possibly it is Ein-Feska near Qumran at the northwestern extremity of the sea. Some argue for a site on the E bank, so that fishermen on both sides are in view.

47:11 swamps and marshes. This could supply salt for the temple offerings (cf. 43:24), as well as for food.

47:12 all kinds of trees. Cf. v. 7. The scene describes the blessing of returning to Eden-like abundance (Gen. 2:8,9,16). leaves...fruit. Cf. v. 7. The fruit is for food and the leaves serve a medicinal purpose, probably both in preventative and corrective senses. The fruit is perpetual, kept so by a continual and lavish supply of spring water from the temple.

47:13-23 These are the borders. The picture is that of an enlarged Canaan for all to inhabit. The boundaries are substantially land as an inheritance among the twelve tribes of Israel. [i]Joseph shall have two portions. 14 You shall inherit it equally with one another; for I [k]raised My hand in an oath to give it to your fathers, and this land shall [l]fall to you as your inheritance.

15 "This shall be the border of the land on the north: from the Great Sea, by [m]the road to Hethlon, as one goes to [n]Zedad, 16 [o]Hamath, [p]Berothah, Sibraim (which is between the border of Damascus and the border of Hamath), to Hazar Hatticon (which is on the border of Hauran). 17 Thus the boundary shall be from the Sea to [q]Hazar Enan, the border of Damascus; and as for the north, northward, it is the border of Hamath. This is the north side.

18 "On the east side you shall mark out the border from between Hauran and Damascus, and between Gilead and the land of Israel, along the Jordan, and along the eastern side of the sea. This is the east side.

19 "The south side, toward the [5]South, shall be from Tamar to [r]the waters of [6]Meribah by Kadesh, along the brook to the Great Sea. This is the south side, toward the South.

20 "The west side shall be the Great Sea, from the southern boundary until one comes to a point opposite Hamath. This is the west side.

21 "Thus you shall [s]divide this land among yourselves according to the tribes of Israel. 22 It shall be that you will divide it by [t]lot as an inheritance for yourselves, [u]and for the strangers who dwell among you and who bear children among you. [v]They shall be to you as native-born among the children of Israel; they shall have an inheritance with you among the tribes of Israel. 23 And it shall be that in whatever tribe the stranger dwells, there you shall give him his inheritance," says the Lord GOD.

Division of the Land

48 "Now these are the names of the tribes: [a]From the northern border along the road to Hethlon at the entrance of Hamath, to Hazar Enan, the border of Damascus northward, in the direction of Hamath, there shall be one section for [b]Dan from its east to its west side; 2 by the border of Dan, from the east side to the west, one section for [c]Asher; 3 by the border of Asher, from the east side to the west, one section for [d]Naphtali; 4 by the border of Naphtali, from the east side to the west, one section for [e]Manasseh; 5 by the border larger than those given to Moses in Num. 34:1-15. Palestine, promised in God's covenant with Abraham (v. 14; Gen. 12:7), has specific geographical limits within which Israel will finally occupy tribal areas which differ from the occupation in Joshua's day (cf. Josh. 13–22). This is the complete fulfillment of the promise of the land in the Abrahamic Covenant.

47:13 Joseph...two portions. This is in keeping with the promise of Jacob to Joseph (Gen. 48:5,6,22; 49:22-26).

47:15-20 The borders of the millennial Promised Land are described 1) to the N (vv. 15-17), 2) to the E (v. 18); 3) to the S (v. 19); and 4) to the W (v. 20).

47:22 bear children. This reminds us that children will be born all through the 1,000 year rule of Messiah. Not all will believe and be saved, as evidenced by the final rebellion (cf. Rev. 20:8,9).

47:23 stranger. This provision is in keeping with Lev. 19:34.

48:1-7,23-29 the tribes. The land pledged to each tribe within the total area described in 47:13-23 fulfills God's promises to actually restore Israel's people from around the world to the Promised Land just as they were actually scattered from it (28:25,26; 34–37; 39:21-29; Jer. 31:33). Dan is first mentioned. Though omitted from the 144,000 in Rev. 7, probably because of severe idolatry, Dan is restored in grace.

The departed glory of God (chaps. 8–11) has returned (chaps. 44:1,2), and His dwelling, the temple, is in the very center of the district given over to the Lord. With this final note, all of the unconditional promises which God had made to Israel in the Abrahamic Covenant (Gen. 12); the Levitic Covenant (Num. 25); the Davidic Covenant (2 Sam. 7); and the New Covenant (Jer. 31) have been fulfilled. So this final verse provides the consummation of Israel's history—the returned presence of God!

The Book of DANIEL

Title

According to Hebrew custom, the title is drawn from the prophet who throughout the book received revelations from God. Daniel bridges the entire 70 years of the Babylonian captivity (ca. 605–536 B.C.; cf. 1:1 and 9:1-3). Nine of the 12 chapters relate revelation through dreams/visions. Daniel was God's mouthpiece to the Gentile and Jewish world, declaring God's current and future plans. What Revelation is to the NT prophetically and apocalyptically, Daniel is to the OT.

Author and Date

Several verses indicate that the writer is Daniel (8:15,27; 9:2; 10:2,7; 12:4,5), whose name means "God is my Judge." He wrote in the autobiographical first person from 7:2 on, and is to be distinguished from the other 3 Daniel's of the OT (cf. 1 Chr. 3:1; Ezra 8:2; Neh. 10:6). As a teenager, possibly about 15 years old, Daniel was kidnaped from his noble family in Judah and deported to Babylon to be brainwashed into Babylonian culture for the task of assisting in dealing with the imported Jews. There he spent the remainder of a long life (85 years or more). He made the most of the exile, successfully exalting God by his character and service. He quickly rose to the role of statesman by official royal appointment and served as a confidante of kings as well as a prophet in two world empires, i.e., the Babylonian (2:48) and the Medo-Persian (6:1,2). Christ confirmed Daniel as the author of this book (cf. Matt. 24:15).

Daniel lived beyond the time described in Dan. 10:1 (ca. 536 B.C.). It seems most probable that he wrote the book shortly after this date but before ca. 530 B.C. Daniel 2:4b–7:28, which prophetically describes the course of Gentile world history, was originally and appropriately written in Aramaic, the contemporary language of international business. Ezekiel, Habakkuk, Jeremiah, and Zephaniah were Daniel's prophetic contemporaries.

Background and Setting

The book begins in 605 B.C. when Babylon conquered Jerusalem and exiled Daniel, his 3 friends, and others. It continues to the eventual demise of Babylonian supremacy in 539 B.C., when Medo-Persian besiegers conquered Babylon (5:30,31), and goes even beyond that to 536 B.C. (10:1). After Daniel was transported to Babylon, the Babylonian victors conquered Jerusalem in two further stages (597 B.C. and 586 B.C.). In both takeovers, they deported more Jewish captives. Daniel passionately remembered his home, particularly the temple at Jerusalem, almost 70 years after having been taken away from it (6:10).

Daniel's background is alluded to in part by Jeremiah, who names 3 of the last 5 kings in Judah before captivity (cf. Jer. 1:1-3): Josiah (ca. 641–609 B.C.), Jehoiakim (ca. 609–597 B.C.) and Zedekiah (597–586 B.C.). Jehoahaz (ca. 609 B.C.) and Jehoiachin (ca. 598–597 B.C.) are not mentioned (cf. Jeremiah Introduction: Background and Setting). Daniel is also mentioned by Ezekiel (cf. 14:14,20; 28:3) as being righteous and wise. He is alluded to by the writer of Hebrews as one of "...the prophets: who through faith...stopped the mouths of lions" (Heb. 11:32,33).

The long-continued sin of the Judeans without national repentance eventually led to God's judgment for which Jeremiah, Habakkuk, and Zephaniah had given fair warning. Earlier, Isaiah and other faithful prophets of God had also trumpeted the danger. When Assyrian power had ebbed by 625 B.C., the Neo-Babylonians conquered: 1) Assyria with its capital Nineveh in 612 B.C.; 2) Egypt in the following years; and 3) Judah in 605 B.C. when they overthrew Jerusalem in the first of 3 steps (also 597 B.C., 586 B.C.). Daniel was one of the first groups of deportees, and Ezekiel followed in 597 B.C.

Israel of the northern kingdom had earlier fallen to Assyria in 722 B.C. With Judah's captivity, the judgment was complete. In Babylon, Daniel received God's word concerning successive stages of Gentile world domination through the centuries until the greatest Conqueror, Messiah, would put down all Gentile lordship. He then will defeat all foes and raise His covenant people to blessing in His glorious millennial kingdom.

Historical and Theological Themes

Daniel was written to encourage the exiled Jews by revealing God's program for them, both during and after the time of Gentile power in the world. Prominent above every other theme in the book is God's sovereign control over the affairs of all rulers and nations, and their final replacement with the True King. The key verses are 2:20-22,44 (cf. 2:28,37; 4:34-35; 6:25-27). God had not suffered defeat in allowing Israel's fall (Dan. 1), but was providentially working His sure purposes toward an eventual full display of His King, the exalted Christ. He sovereignly allowed Gentiles to dominate Israel, i.e., Babylon (605–539 B.C.), Medo-Persia (539–331 B.C.), Greece (331–146 B.C.), Rome (146 B.C.–A.D. 476), and all the way to the Second Advent of Christ. These stages in Gentile power are set forth in chaps. 2 and 7. This same theme also embraces Israel's experience both in defeat and finally in her kingdom blessing in chaps. 8–12 (cf. 2:35,45; 7:27). A key aspect within the over-arching theme of God's kingly control is Messiah's coming to rule the world in glory over all men (2:35,45; 7:13,14,27). He is like a stone in chap. 2, and like a son of man in chap. 7. In addition, He is the Anointed One (Messiah) in chap. 9:26. Chapter 9 provides the chronological framework from Daniel's time to Christ's kingdom.

A second theme woven into the fabric of Daniel is the display of God's sovereign power through miracles. Daniel's era is one of 6 in the Bible with a major focus on miracles by which God accomplished His purposes. Other periods include: 1) the Creation and Flood (Gen. 1–11); 2) the patriarchs and Moses (Gen. 12–Deut.); 3) Elijah and Elisha (1 Kin. 19–2 Kin. 13); 4) Jesus and the apostles (Gospels, Acts); and 5) the time of the Second Advent (Revelation). God, who has everlasting dominion and ability to work according to His will (4:34,35), is capable of miracles, all of which would be lesser displays of power than was exhibited when He acted as Creator in Gen. 1:1. Daniel chronicles the God-enabled recounting and interpreting of dreams which God used to reveal His will (chaps. 2,4,7). Other miracles included: 1) His writing on the wall and Daniel's interpreting it (chap. 5); 2) His protection of the 3 men in a blazing furnace (chap. 3); 3) His provision of safety for Daniel in a lions' den (chap. 6); and 4) supernatural prophecies (chaps. 2; 7; 8; 9:24–12:13).

Interpretive Challenges

The main challenges center on interpreting passages about future tribulation and kingdom promises. Though the use of Imperial Aramaic and archeology have confirmed the early date of writing, some skeptical interpreters, unwilling to acknowledge supernatural prophecies that came to pass (there are over 100 in chap. 11 alone that were fulfilled), place these details in the intertestamental times. They see these prophecies, not as miraculously foretelling the future, but as simply the observations of a later writer, who is recording events of his own day. Thus, they date Daniel in the days of Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175–164 B.C., chap. 8; 11:21-45). According to this scheme, the expectation of the Stone and Son of Man (chaps. 2,7) turned out to be a mistaken notion that did not actually come to pass, or the writer was being intentionally deceptive. Actually, a future 7 year judgment period (cf. 7:21,22; 11:36-45; 12:1) and a literal 1,000 year kingdom (cf. Rev. 20) after Christ's second coming when He will reign over Israelites and Gentiles (7:27) is taught. This will be an era before and distinct from the final, absolutely perfect, ultimate state, i.e., the new heaven and the new earth with its capital, the New Jerusalem (Rev. 21,22). The literal interpretation of prophecy, including Daniel, leads to the premillennial perspective.

Many other aspects of interpretation challenge readers: e.g., interpreting numbers (1:12,20; 3:19; 9:24-27); identifying the one like a Son of Man (7:13,14); determining whether to see Antiochus of the past or Antichrist of the far future in 8:19-23; explaining the "seventy sevens" in 9:24-27; and deciding whether Antiochus of 11:21-35 is still meant in 11:36-45, or whether it is the future Antichrist.

Daniel and His Friends Obey God

CHAPTER 1

1 In the third year of the reign of [a]Jehoiakim king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came to Jerusalem and besieged it. 2 And the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with [b]some of the articles of [1]the house of God, which he carried [c]into the land of Shinar to the house of his god; [d]and he brought the articles into the treasure house of his god.

3 Then the king instructed Ashpenaz, the master of his eunuchs, to bring [e]some of the children of Israel and some of the king's descendants and some of the nobles, 4 young men [f]in whom there was no blemish, but good-looking, gifted in all wisdom, possessing knowledge and quick to understand, who had ability to serve in the king's palace, and [g]whom they might teach the language and [2]literature of the Chaldeans. 5 And the king appointed for them a daily provision of the king's delicacies and of the wine which he drank, and three years of training for them, so that at the end of that time they might [h]serve before the king. 6 Now from among those of the sons of Judah were Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah. 7 [i]To them the chief of the eunuchs gave names: [j]he gave Daniel the name Belteshazzar; to Hananiah, Shadrach; to Mishael, Meshach; and to Azariah, Abed-Nego.

8 But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself [k]with the portion of the king's delicacies, nor with the wine which he drank; therefore he requested of the chief of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself. 9 Now [l]God had brought Daniel into the favor and [3]goodwill of the chief of the eunuchs. 10 And the chief of the eunuchs said to Daniel, "I fear my lord the king, who has appointed your food and drink. For why should he see your faces looking worse than the young men who are your age? Then you would endanger my head before the king."

11 So Daniel said to [4]the steward whom the chief of the eunuchs had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 "Please test your servants for ten days, and let them give us vegetables to eat and water to drink. 13 Then let our appearance be examined before you, and the appearance of the young men who eat the portion of the king's delicacies; and as you see fit, so deal with your servants." 14 So he consented with them in this matter, and tested them ten days.

15 And at the end of ten days their features appeared better and fatter in flesh than all the young men who ate the portion of the king's delicacies. 16 Thus [5]the steward took away their portion of delicacies and the wine that they were to drink, and gave them vegetables.

17 As for these four young men, [m]God gave them [n]knowledge and skill in all literature and wisdom; and Daniel had [o]understanding in all visions and dreams.

18 Now at the end of the days, when the king had said that they should be brought in, the chief of the eunuchs brought them in before Nebuchadnezzar. 19 Then the king [6]interviewed them, and among them all none was found like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah; therefore [p]they served before the king. 20 [q]And in all matters of wisdom and understanding about which the king examined them, he found

1:1 third year. 606–605 B.C. It was the third year by Babylonian dating, which did not count a king's initial (accession) year, but began with the following year. So the "third year" is in harmony with the same year labeled as "fourth" by the Judean system of dating (cf. Jer. 46:2). Jehoiakim. Son of Josiah who ruled (ca. 609–597 B.C.) when Nebuchadnezzar first plundered Jerusalem. Nebuchadnezzar. Son of Nabopolassar who ruled Babylon (ca. 605–562 B.C.).

1:2 Shinar. A term for Babylon. his god. Bel or Marduk (same as Merodach). Babylonian religion recognized other gods too (cf. 1:7 and see note there). To conquer another nation's deities was thought to prove the superiority of the victor's god.

1:4. Qualifications for Jews to be trained in affairs of state included being: 1) physically free from bodily blemish or handicap and handsome, i.e., a pleasing appearance in the public eye; 2) mentally sharp; and 3) socially poised and polished for representing the leadership. The ages of the trainees was most likely 14-17.

1:5 three years of training. Cf. 2:1 and see note there.

1:7 names. A key factor in the "brainwashing" process of the Babylonian training was a name switch. This was to link the inductees to local gods rather than to support their former religious loyalty. Daniel means "God is my judge," but became Belteshazzar, or "Bel Protect the King." Hananiah, "the Lord is Gracious," was changed to Shadrach, "Command of Aku," another Babylonian god. Mishael, meaning "Who is like the Lord?" was given the name Meshach, "Who is what Aku Is?" Finally, Azariah, "the Lord is my Helper," became Abed-nego, "Servant of Nego," also called Nebo, a god of vegetation (cf. Is. 46:1).

1:8 Daniel purposed. The pagan food and drink was devoted to idols. To indulge was to be understood as honoring these deities. Daniel "purposed in his heart" (cf. Prov. 4:23) not to engage in compromise by being untrue to God's call of commitment (cf. Ex. 34:14, 15). Also, foods that God's law prohibited (Lev. 1:1) were items that pagans consumed; to partake entailed direct compromise (cf. Dan. 1:12). Moses took this stand (Heb. 11:24-26), as did the psalmist (Ps. 119:115), and Jesus (Heb. 7:26). Cf. 2 Cor. 6:14-18; 2 Tim 2:20.

1:9. God honored Daniel's trust and allegiance by sovereignly working favorably for him among the heathen leaders. In this instance, it prevented persecution and led to respect, whereas later on God permitted opposition against Daniel which also elevated him (Dan. 3,6). One way or another, God honors those who honor Him (1 Sam. 2:30; 2 Chr. 16:9).

1:12 vegetables. This Heb. word appears in a plural form in the OT, only here and in v. 16. It might refer to wheat or barley, or it could be fresh vegetables.

1:15 fatter in flesh. Indicates healthiness.

them ten times better than all the magicians and astrologers who were in all his realm. 21 [r]Thus Daniel continued until the first year of King Cyrus.

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream

2 Now in the second year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign, Nebuchadnezzar had dreams; [a]and his spirit was so troubled that [b]his sleep left him. 2 [c]Then the king gave the command to call the magicians, the astrologers, the sorcerers, and the Chaldeans to tell the king his dreams. So they came and stood before the king. 3 And the king said to them, "I have had a dream, and my spirit is anxious to [1]know the dream."

4 Then the Chaldeans spoke to the king in Aramaic, [d]"O[2] king, live forever! Tell your servants the dream, and we will give the interpretation."

5 The king answered and said to the Chaldeans, "My [3]decision is firm: if you do not make known the dream to me, and its interpretation, you shall be [e]cut in pieces, and your houses shall be made an ash heap. 6 [f]However, if you tell the dream and its interpretation, you shall receive from me gifts, rewards, and great honor. Therefore tell me the dream and its interpretation."

7 They answered again and said, "Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will give its interpretation."

8 The king answered and said, "I know for certain that you would gain time, because you see that my decision is firm: 9 if you do not make known the dream to me, there is only one decree for you! For you have agreed to speak lying and corrupt words before me till the [4]time has changed. Therefore tell me the dream, and I shall know that you can [5]give me its interpretation."

10 The Chaldeans answered the king, and said, "There is not a man on earth who can tell the king's matter; therefore no king, lord, or ruler has ever asked such things of any magician, astrologer, or Chaldean. 11 It is a [6]difficult thing that the king requests, and there is no other who can tell it to the king [g]except the gods, whose dwelling is not with flesh."

12 For this reason the king was angry and very furious, and gave the command to destroy all the wise men of Babylon. 13 So the decree went out, and they began killing the wise men; and they sought [h]Daniel and his companions, to kill them.

God Reveals Nebuchadnezzar's Dream

14 Then with counsel and wisdom Daniel answered Arioch, the captain of the king's guard, who had gone out to kill the wise men of Babylon; 15 he answered and said to Arioch the king's captain, "Why is the decree from the king so [7]urgent?" Then Arioch made the decision known to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went in and asked the king

1:20 ten times better. This probably uses the number qualitatively to signify fullness or completeness, i.e., they displayed incredible skill in answering, beyond the performance of other men who spoke without God's help. Compare this with "ten days" (vv. 12-15) which is quantitative, since it refers to an actual passage of time.

1:21 first year. Cyrus of Persia conquered Babylon in 539 B.C. His third year, in 10:1, is the latest historical year that Daniel mentions (cf. Ezra 1:1–2:1).

2:1 second year. Promotion of the 4 Hebrews after 3 years (1:5,18) agrees with the year of promotion after the dream in the "second year." See note on 1:1. dreams. In the time of revelation, God spoke through the interpretation of dreams that He induced (cf. v. 29).

2:2 Chaldeans. This could refer to all people native to Chaldea (1:4; 3:8), or, as here, to a special class of soothsayers who taught Chaldean culture.

2:4 Aramaic. This language, to which Daniel suddenly switches in v. 4b and retains through 7:28, was written with an alphabet like Hebrew, yet had distinctive differences. Aramaic was the popular language of the Babylonian, Assyrian, and Persian areas, and was useful in governmental and trade relations. Daniel 1:1–2:4a and 8:1–12:13 were written in Hebrew, possibly because the focus was more directly on Hebrew matters. Daniel 2:4b–7:28 switches to Aramaic because the subject matter is centered more on other nations and matters largely involving them.

2:5 My decision is firm. The king shrewdly withheld the dream, though he remembered it, to test his experts. He was anxious for a straight interpretation, with no deception.

2:7 Let the king tell. The worldly men of human skill failed (cf. the magicians in Pharaoh's court, Ex. 8:16-19, with Joseph, Gen. 41:1ff.). Verses 8-13 show how impossible it is for humans to truly interpret dreams from God (cf. v. 27). But Daniel, who trusted God in prayer (v. 18), received His supernatural interpretation (vv. 19,30). He gave credit to God in his prayer (vv. 20-23) and his testimony before Nebuchadnezzar (vv. 23,45). Later the king, too, gave God the glory (v. 47).

to give him time, that he might tell the king the interpretation. 17 Then Daniel went to his house, and made the decision known to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, his companions, 18 *i*that they might seek mercies from the God of heaven concerning this secret, so that Daniel and his companions might not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babylon. 19 Then the secret was revealed to Daniel *j*in a night vision. So Daniel blessed the God of heaven.

20 Daniel answered and said:

k"Blessed be the name of God forever and ever,
*l*For wisdom and might are His.
21 And He changes *m*the times and the seasons;
*n*He removes kings and raises up kings;
*o*He gives wisdom to the wise
And knowledge to those who have understanding.
22 *p*He reveals deep and secret things;
*q*He knows what is in the darkness,
And *r*light dwells with Him.

23 "I thank You and praise You,
O God of my fathers;
You have given me wisdom and might,
And have now made known to me what we *s*asked of You,
For You have made known to us the king's *8*demand."

Daniel Explains the Dream

24 Therefore Daniel went to Arioch, whom the king had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babylon. He went and said thus to him: "Do not destroy the wise men of Babylon; take me before the king, and I will tell the king the interpretation."

25 Then Arioch quickly brought Daniel before the king, and said thus to him, "I have found a man of the *9*captives of Judah, who will make known to the king the interpretation."

26 The king answered and said to Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, "Are you able to make known to me the dream which I have seen, and its interpretation?"

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, "The secret which the king has demanded, the wise men, the astrologers, the magicians, and the soothsayers cannot declare to the king. 28 *t*But there is a God in heaven who reveals secrets, and He has made known to King Nebuchadnezzar *u*what will be in the latter days. Your dream, and the visions of your head upon your bed, were these: 29 As for you, O king, thoughts came to your mind while on your bed, about what would come to pass after this; *v*and He who reveals secrets has made known to you what will be. 30 *w*But as for me, this secret has not been revealed to me because I have more wisdom than anyone living, but for our sakes who make known the interpretation to the king, *x*and that you may *1*know the thoughts of your heart.

31 "You, O king, were watching; and behold, a great image! This great image, whose splendor was excellent, stood before you; and its form was awesome. 32 *y*This image's head was of fine gold, its chest and arms of silver, its belly and *2*thighs of bronze, 33 its legs of iron, its feet partly of iron and partly of *3*clay. 34 You watched while a stone was cut out *z*without hands, which struck the image on its feet of iron and clay, and broke them in pieces. 35 *a*Then the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver, and the gold were crushed together, and became *b*like chaff from the summer threshing floors; the wind carried them away so that *c*no trace of them was found. And the stone that struck the image *d*became a great mountain *e*and filled the whole earth.

36 "This is the dream. Now we will tell the interpretation of it before the king. 37 *f*You, O king, are a king of kings. *g*For the God of heaven has given you a kingdom, power, strength, and glory; 38 *h*and wherever the children of men dwell, or the beasts of the field and the birds of the heaven, He has given them into your hand, and has made you ruler over them all—*i*you are this head of gold. 39 But after you shall arise *j*another kingdom *k*inferior to

2:20-23 This praise to God sums up the theme of the whole book, namely that God is the One who controls all things and grants all wisdom and might.

2:28 God...reveals secrets. Just as He did during Joseph's time in Egypt (cf. Gen. 40:8; 41:16).

2:36-45 we will tell the interpretation. Five empires in succession would rule over Israel, here pictured by parts of a statue (body). In Dan. 7, the same empires are represented by 4 great beasts. These empires are Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece, Rome, and the later revived Rome (cf. Introduction: Background and Setting), each one differentiated from the previous as indicated by the declining quality of the metal. A stone picturing Christ (Luke 20:18) at His second coming (as the Son of Man also does in Dan. 7:13,14) will destroy the fourth empire in its final phase with catastrophic suddenness (2:34,35,44, 45). Christ's total shattering of Gentile power will result in the establishment of His millennial kingdom, the ultimate empire, and then continuing on eternally (2:44; 7:27).

2:39 inferior. This probably means "lower" (lit. "earthward") on the image of a man as Daniel guides Nebuchadnezzar's thoughts downward on the body from his own empire (the head) to the one that yours; then another, a third kingdom of bronze, which shall rule over all the earth. 40 And [l]the fourth kingdom shall be as strong as iron, inasmuch as iron breaks in pieces and shatters everything; and like iron that crushes, that kingdom will break in pieces and crush all the others. 41 Whereas you saw the feet and toes, partly of potter's clay and partly of iron, the kingdom shall be divided; yet the strength of the iron shall be in it, just as you saw the iron mixed with ceramic clay. 42 And as the toes of the feet were partly of iron and partly of clay, [m]so the kingdom shall be partly strong and partly [4]fragile. 43 As you saw iron mixed with ceramic clay, they will mingle with the seed of men; but they will not adhere to one another, just as iron does not mix with clay. 44 And in the days of these kings [n]the God of heaven will set up a kingdom [o]which shall never be destroyed; and the kingdom shall not be left to other people; [p]it shall [5]break in pieces and [6]consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand forever. 45 [q]Inasmuch as you saw that the stone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and that it broke in pieces the iron, the bronze, the clay, the silver, and the gold—the great God has made known to the king what will come to pass after this. The dream is certain, and its interpretation is sure."

The Image of Gold

CHAPTER 3

3 Nebuchadnezzar the king made an image of gold, whose height was [1]sixty cubits and its width six cubits. He set it up in the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon. 2 And King Nebuchadnezzar sent word to gather together the satraps, the administrators, the governors, the counselors, the treasurers, the judges, the magistrates, and all the officials of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image which King Nebuchadnezzar had set up. 3 So the satraps, the administrators, the governors, the counselors, the treasurers, the judges, the magistrates, and all the officials of the provinces gathered together for the dedication of the image that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up; and they stood before the image that Nebuchadnezzar had set up. 4 Then a herald cried [2]aloud: "To you it is commanded, [a]O peoples, nations, and languages, 5 that at the time you hear the sound of the horn,

1 [1] About 90 feet
4 [a] Dan. 4:1; 6:25 [2] Lit. with strength

would succeed it. Medo-Persia, though lacking the glory of Babylon (silver as compared to gold), was not inferior in strength to Babylon when its day of power came; it actually conquered Babylon (7:5). Also in the case of Greece, bronze is less glorious (valuable) than silver, but stronger. rule over all the earth. Alexander the Great became the ruler of the world, including Israel, from Europe to Egypt to India.

2:40 strong as iron. This metal fittingly represents the Roman Empire which would be characterized by the description predicted. It did have armies in iron armor known as the Iron Legions of Rome, and it had strength and invincibility.

2:41 toes. Ten toes represent the same kings as the 10 horns in 7:24. They will rule in the final time of the Gentile empire, which Christ destroys in violent abruptness at His second coming.

2:41-43 clay and...iron. The iron in the 10 toes (kings) represents the Roman Empire in its revived form, prior to the second coming of Christ, as having iron-like strength for conquest (cf. Rev. 13:4,5). But the clay mixed in depicts that the union (federation) of kings and nations would have fatal flaws of human weakness, so that it is inherently vulnerable.

2:44 stand forever. God's kingdom ruled by Messiah is the final rule, never to be replaced. It has a millennial phase and an eternal future, but it is the same king who rules both.

2:45 stone...mountain. The stone is Messiah (cf. Ps. 118:22,23; Is. 28:16; Rom. 9:33; 1 Pet. 2:6; esp. Luke 20:18). The mountain pictures God's all-transcending government that looms over weak earthly powers (4:17,25; Pss. 47:8; 103:19; 145:13; Rev. 17:9). Messiah is "cut out" of this sovereign realm by God, which accords with the Son of Man coming (7:13,14); "without hands" denotes that the Messiah comes from God and is not of human origin or power (cf. the same idea in 8:25). The virgin birth and the resurrection, as well as the second coming, could be encompassed in this reference to supernatural origin.

3:1 image of gold. The statue, which the king arrogantly made, represented himself as an expression of his greatness and glory and reflected the dream where he was the head of gold (2:38). It was not necessarily made of solid gold, but more likely would have been overlaid with gold, like many objects found in the ruins of Babylon. The word for "image" usually means a human form. The height of the figure was about 90 ft. and the width 9 ft.; it would have been comparable in height to date palms found in that area. The self-deifying statue of the king need not have been grotesquely thin in proportion to the height since a massive base could have contributed to the height. This established the worship of Nebuchadnezzar and the nation under his power, in addition to the other gods.

3:2. Leaders attending the "summit conference" for Nebuchadnezzar's display are: satraps, or leaders over regions; administrators, or military chiefs; governors, or civil administrators; counselors, or lawyers; treasurers; judges, or government arbiters; magistrates, or judges in our sense today; officials, or other civil leaders.

flute, harp, lyre, and psaltery, in symphony with all kinds of music, you shall fall down and worship the gold image that King Nebuchadnezzar has set up; 6 and whoever does not fall down and worship shall [b]be cast immediately into the midst of a burning fiery furnace."

7 So at that time, when all the people heard the sound of the horn, flute, harp, and lyre, in symphony with all kinds of music, all the people, nations, and languages fell down and worshiped the gold image which King Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

Daniel's Friends Disobey the King

8 Therefore at that time certain Chaldeans [c]came forward and accused the Jews. 9 They spoke and said to King Nebuchadnezzar, [d]"O king, live forever! 10 You, O king, have made a decree that everyone who hears the sound of the horn, flute, harp, lyre, and psaltery, in symphony with all kinds of music, shall fall down and worship the gold image; 11 and whoever does not fall down and worship shall be cast into the midst of a burning fiery furnace. 12 [e]There are certain Jews whom you have set over the affairs of the province of Babylon: Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego; these men, O king, have [f]not paid due regard to you. They do not serve your gods or worship the gold image which you have set up."

13 Then Nebuchadnezzar, in [g]rage and fury, gave the command to bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego. So they brought these men before the king. 14 Nebuchadnezzar spoke, saying to them, "Is it true, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, that you do not serve my gods or worship the gold image which I have set up? 15 Now if you are ready at the time you hear the sound of the horn, flute, harp, lyre, and psaltery, in symphony with all kinds of music, and you fall down and worship the image which I have made, [h]good! But if you do not worship, you shall be cast immediately into the midst of a burning fiery furnace. [i]And who is the god who will deliver you from my hands?"

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego answered and said to the king, "O Nebuchadnezzar, [j]we have no need to answer you in this matter. 17 If that is the case, our [k]God whom we serve is able to [l]deliver us from the burning fiery furnace, and He will deliver us from your hand, O king. 18 But if not, let it be known to you, O king, that we do not serve your gods, nor will we [m]worship the gold image which you have set up."

Saved in Fiery Trial

19 Then Nebuchadnezzar was full of fury, and the expression on his face changed toward Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego. He spoke and commanded that they heat the furnace seven times more than it was usually heated. 20 And he commanded certain mighty men of valor who were in his army to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, and cast them into the burning fiery furnace. 21 Then these men were bound in their coats, their trousers, their turbans, and their other garments, and were cast into the midst of the burning fiery furnace. 22 Therefore, because the king's command was [3]urgent, and the furnace exceedingly hot, the flame of the fire killed those men who took up Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego.

3:5 lyre. Like a harp, possibly square or rectangular, with strings to pluck with a plectrum (pick), yielding high tones. psaltery. An instrument plucked with the fingers rather than a plectrum (pick), yielding low tones.

3:6 furnace. Some ancient kilns were found to have been shaped like a vertical tunnel open only at the top, with a dome supported by columns. Charcoal normally served as fuel.

3:8 certain Chaldeans. These are most likely the priests of Bel-Merodach who were envious of these young Jews, and sought their death.

3:12 They do not serve your gods or worship the gold image. Enemies of God's servants witnessed such a clear-cut testimony that they were in no doubt about their rejection of idolatry and unshakeable allegiance to the God of Israel.

3:13 these men. Daniel is not mentioned as being part of the refusal to worship witnessed by the Chaldeans. If present, he surely would have joined these others in faithfulness to God.

3:15 who is the god? The king's challenge would return to embarrass him. The true God was able to deliver, just as He was able to reveal a dream and its meaning. Nebuchadnezzar had earlier called him "the God of gods" (2:47), but having let that fade from his attention, he soon would be shocked and humiliated when God took up his challenge (3:28,29).

3:16 we have no need to answer. The 3 men meant no disrespect. They did not have any defense, nor did they need to reconsider their commitment, since they stood fast for their God as the only true and living God. Their lives were in His hands as they indicated in vv. 17,18 (cf. Isa. 43:1,2).

3:19 seven times more. The king's fury at being defied to his face led him to cry for an intensification of the heat. He was not literally requiring the fire to be 7 times hotter as a gauge would indicate, or requiring 7 times as long to heat, or 7 times the amount of fuel (cf. v. 6, "cast immediately"). The king in anger means "intensely hot," using "seven" figuratively to denote completeness (as Lev. 26:18-28; Prov. 6:31; 24:16), similar to "ten" in Dan. 1:20. Cf. "exceedingly hot" (3:22). A stone or brick furnace with an air draft could be made hotter by more fuel and air.

3:22 took up. Refers to being taken upward on some kind of ramp to a spot near enough to the top to be thrown in (cf. v. 26). The fire was so hot it incinerated the king's men.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, fell down bound into the midst of the burning fiery furnace.

24 Then King Nebuchadnezzar was astonished; and he rose in haste and spoke, saying to his [4]counselors, "Did we not cast three men bound into the midst of the fire?"

They answered and said to the king, "True, O king."

25 "Look!" he answered, "I see four men loose, [n]walking in the midst of the fire; and they are not hurt, and the form of the fourth is like [o]the [5]Son of God."

Nebuchadnezzar Praises God

26 Then Nebuchadnezzar went near the [6]mouth of the burning fiery furnace and spoke, saying, "Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, servants of the [p]Most High God, come out, and come here." Then Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego came from the midst of the fire. 27 And the satraps, administrators, governors, and the king's counselors gathered together, and they saw these men [q]on whose bodies the fire had no power; the hair of their head was not singed nor were their garments affected, and the smell of fire was not on them.

28 Nebuchadnezzar spoke, saying, "Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, who sent His [r]Angel[7] and delivered His servants who trusted in Him, and they have frustrated the king's word, and yielded their bodies, that they should not serve nor worship any god except their own God! 29 [s]Therefore I make a decree that any people, nation, or language which speaks anything amiss against the [t]God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego shall be [u]cut in pieces, and their houses shall be made an ash heap; [v]because there is no other God who can deliver like this."

30 Then the king [8]promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego in the province of Babylon.

CHAPTER 4

Nebuchadnezzar's Second Dream

4 Nebuchadnezzar the king,

[a]To all peoples, nations, and languages that dwell in all the earth:

Peace be multiplied to you.

2 I thought it good to declare the signs and wonders [b]that the Most High God has worked for me.

3 [c]How great are His signs,
And how mighty His wonders!
His kingdom is [d]an everlasting kingdom,
And His dominion is from generation to generation.

4 I, Nebuchadnezzar, was at rest in my house, and flourishing in my palace. 5 I saw a dream which made me afraid, [e]and the thoughts on my bed and the visions of my head [f]troubled me. 6 Therefore I issued a decree to bring in all the wise men of Babylon before me, that they might make known to me the interpretation of the dream. 7 [g]Then the magicians, the astrologers, the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers came in, and I told them the dream; but they did not make known to me its interpretation. 8 But at last Daniel came before me [h](his name is Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god; [i]in him is the Spirit of the Holy God), and I told the dream before him, saying: 9 "Belteshazzar, [j]chief of the magicians, because I know that the Spirit of the Holy God is in you, and no secret troubles you, explain to me the

3:23 fell down. A shaft directed them into the furnace bottom, on top of the fuel.

3:25 four men loose. The king seemed only to have known that the fourth person was a heavenly being. He called him a son of the gods (a pagan reference to one who appeared supernatural) and an "Angel" (v. 28). The fourth person could possibly have been the second person of the Godhead (Jesus Christ) in a pre-incarnate appearance (see notes on Josh. 5:13-15; Judg. 6:11ff.).

3:27 the fire had no power. When God enacts a miracle, He supernaturally controls all details so that His power is unmistakable, and there is no other explanation.

3:28-30 The king was convinced and eager to add the God of these men to his panoply of deities. Soon he learned that God was not one of many, but the only God (Dan. 4).

4:1-3 Nebuchadnezzar's praise of God in 4:1-3 and 34b-37 is the theme that brackets the experience the king reiterates in the first person (vv. 4-34). He began and ended the narrative with praise, and in between told why he converted to such worship of the true God! (Cf. Rom. 11:33.)

4:6 wise men of Babylon. The king gave them another try (cf. 2:2-13) and they were again unable.

4:8 at last Daniel came. Daniel alone interpreted the tree vision (v. 10), enabled by God. my god. As the story began, he depicted himself still as a worshipper of Bel-Merodach.

4:9 chief of the magicians. Here was the title the pagans gave him (cf. 5:11). Spirit. The meaning here and in v. 18 (as well as 5:11,14) is rightly translated as "the Spirit of the holy God." Wording for the true God in the Heb. of Josh. 24:19 is equivalent to the Aram.

visions of my dream that I have seen, and its interpretation.

10 These were the visions of my head while on my bed:

I was looking, and behold,
[k]A tree in the midst of the earth,
And its height was great.
11 The tree grew and became strong;
Its height reached to the heavens,
And it could be seen to the ends of all the earth.
12 Its leaves were lovely,
Its fruit abundant,
And in it was food for all.
[l]The beasts of the field found shade under it,
The birds of the heavens dwelt in its branches,
And all flesh was fed from it.

13 "I saw in the visions of my head while on my bed, and there was [m]a watcher, [n]a holy one, coming down from heaven. 14 He cried [1]aloud and said thus:

[o]'Chop down the tree and cut off its branches,
Strip off its leaves and scatter its fruit.
[p]Let the beasts get out from under it,
And the birds from its branches.
15 Nevertheless leave the stump and roots in the earth,
Bound with a band of iron and bronze,
In the tender grass of the field.
Let it be wet with the dew of heaven,
And let him graze with the beasts
On the grass of the earth.
16 Let his heart be changed from that of a man,
Let him be given the heart of a beast,
And let seven [q]times[2] pass over him.

17 'This decision is by the decree of the watchers,
And the sentence by the word of the holy ones,
In order [r]that the living may know
[s]That the Most High rules in the kingdom of men, [t]Gives it to whomever He will,
And sets over it the [u]lowest of men.'

18 "This dream I, King Nebuchadnezzar, have seen. Now you, Belteshazzar, declare its interpretation, [v]since all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to make known to me the interpretation; but you are able, [w]for the Spirit of the Holy God is in you."

Daniel Explains the Second Dream

19 Then Daniel, [x]whose name was Belteshazzar, was astonished for a time, and his thoughts [y]troubled him. So the king spoke, and said, "Belteshazzar, do not let the dream or its interpretation trouble you."

Belteshazzar answered and said, "My lord, may [z]the dream [3]concern those who hate you, and its interpretation [4]concern your enemies!

20 [a]"The tree that you saw, which grew and became strong, whose height reached to the heavens and which could be seen by all the earth, 21 whose leaves were lovely and its fruit abundant, in which was food for all, under which the beasts of the field dwelt, and in whose branches the birds of the heaven had their home— 22 [b]it is you, O king, who have grown and become here (see note on 2:4). Some believe he meant "a spirit of the holy gods." This is unlikely, since no pagan worshipers claimed purity or holiness for their deities. In fact, just the opposite was believed. And since Nebuchadnezzar was rehearsing his conversion, he could genuinely identify the true Spirit of God.

4:10-17 A tree. This pictures Nebuchadnezzar after 605 B.C. (cf. 4:20-22). The creatures in v. 12 represent people under his rule (v. 22). The fall of the tree represents the coming time of God's judgment on him (cf. 4:23-25).

4:13 a watcher, a holy one. This was an angel (cf. v. 23), a servant of God, who controlled a nation's rise or fall (cf. Dan. 10:13). Angels often have roles administering God's judgment, as shown also in Gen. 18, Is. 37, and Rev. 16.

4:15 stump. The basis (nucleus) of the kingdom, still in existence in v. 26 (as Is. 6:13), will later sprout as in nature (Job 14:7-9). The band is a guarantee that God will protect what remains intact and preserve the king's rule (v. 26).

4:16 heart of a beast. Some form of the disease called lycanthropy, in which a person thinks he is an animal and lives wildly, caused him to eat grass, have thick and unkept nails, shaggy hair, and behave inhumanly. seven times. (cf. also 4:23,25,32). Probably "years" are meant, not "months." which is used v. 29. Daniel uses the same term clearly to mean "years" in 7:25.

4:19 astonished. Daniel's compassionate alarm at the coming calamity.

strong; for your greatness has grown and reaches to the heavens, [c]and your dominion to the end of the earth.

23 [d]"And inasmuch as the king saw a watcher, a holy one, coming down from heaven and saying, 'Chop down the tree and destroy it, but leave its stump and roots in the earth, bound with a band of iron and bronze in the tender grass of the field; let it be wet with the dew of heaven, [e]and let him graze with the beasts of the field, till seven [5]times pass over him'; 24 this is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree of the Most High, which has come upon my lord the king: 25 They shall [f]drive you from men, your dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, and they shall make you [g]eat grass like oxen. They shall wet you with the dew of heaven, and seven [6]times shall pass over you, [h]till you know that the Most High rules in the kingdom of men, and [i]gives it to whomever He chooses.

26 "And inasmuch as they gave the command to leave the stump and roots of the tree, your kingdom shall be assured to you, after you come to know that [j]Heaven[7] rules. 27 Therefore, O king, let my advice be acceptable to you; [k]break off your sins by being righteous, and your iniquities by showing mercy to the poor. [l]Perhaps there may be [m]a [8]lengthening of your prosperity."

Nebuchadnezzar's Humiliation

28 All this came upon King Nebuchadnezzar. 29 At the end of the twelve months he was walking [9]about the royal palace of Babylon. 30 The king [n]spoke, saying, "Is not this great Babylon, that I have built for a royal dwelling by my mighty power and for the honor of my majesty?"

They shall make you eat grass like oxen; and seven [t]times shall pass over you, until you know that the Most High rules in the kingdom of men, and gives it to whomever He chooses."

33 That very hour the word was fulfilled concerning Nebuchadnezzar; he was driven from men and ate grass like oxen; his body was wet with the dew of heaven till his hair had grown like eagles' feathers and his nails like birds' claws.

Nebuchadnezzar Praises God

34 And [r]at the end of the [2]time I, Nebuchadnezzar, lifted my eyes to heaven, and my understanding returned to me; and I blessed the Most High and praised and honored Him [s]who lives forever:

For His dominion is [t]an everlasting dominion,
And His kingdom is from generation to generation.

35 [u]All the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing;
[v]He does according to His will in the army of heaven
And among the inhabitants of the earth.
[w]No one can restrain His hand
Or say to Him, [x]"What have You done?"

36 At the same time my reason returned to me, [y]and for the glory of my kingdom, my honor and splendor returned to me. My counselors and nobles resorted to me, I was [z]restored to my kingdom, and excellent majesty was [a]added to me. 37 Now I, Nebu-

4:26 Heaven rules. God is synonymous with His abode.

4:27 break off your sins. Daniel called for a recognition of sin and repentance (cf. Is. 55:7). He was not presenting a works salvation, but treating the issue of sin exactly as Jesus did with the rich young ruler in Matt. 19:16-23. The king failed to repent at this point (v. 30).

4:30 I have built. Nebuchadnezzar was known for his building projects, such as a 400 foot high mountain terraced with flowing water and hanging gardens for his wife (one of the 7 wonders of the ancient world) as a place for cool refreshment. For such pride, judgment fell (vv. 31-33).

4:34 lifted my eyes. God's grace enables a person to do this (John 6:44,65). "For those who honor Me I will honor" (1 Sam. 2:30); and "Surely He [God] scorns the scornful, but gives grace to the humble" (Prov. 3:34). The praise of vv. 34b-37 and 1-3 came as a result (cf. Jer. 9:23,24).

chadnezzar, [b]praise and extol and honor the King of heaven, [c]all of whose works are truth, and His ways justice. [d]And those who walk in pride He is able to put down.

Belshazzar's Feast

5 Belshazzar the king [a]made a great feast for a thousand of his lords, and drank wine in the presence of the thousand. 2 While he tasted the wine, Belshazzar gave the command to bring the gold and silver vessels [b]which his [1]father Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple which had been in Jerusalem, that the king and his lords, his wives, and his concubines might drink from them. 3 Then they brought the gold [c]vessels that had been taken from the temple of the house of God which had been in Jerusalem; and the king and his lords, his wives, and his concubines drank from them. 4 They drank wine, [d]and praised the gods of gold and silver, bronze and iron, wood and stone.

5 [e]In the same hour the fingers of a man's hand appeared and wrote opposite the lampstand on the plaster of the wall of the king's palace; and the king saw the part of the hand that wrote. 6 Then the king's countenance changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the joints of his hips were loosened and his [f]knees knocked against each other. 7 [g]The king cried [2]aloud to bring in [h]the astrologers, the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers. The king spoke, saying to the wise men of Babylon, "Whoever reads this writing, and tells me its interpretation, shall be clothed with purple and have a chain of gold around his neck; [i]and he shall be the third ruler in the kingdom." 8 Now all the king's wise men came, [j]but they could not read the writing, or make known to the king its interpretation. 9 Then King Belshazzar was greatly [k]troubled, his countenance was changed, and his lords were [3]astonished.

10 The queen, because of the words of the king and his lords, came to the banquet hall. The queen spoke, saying, "O king, live forever! Do not let your thoughts trouble you, nor let your countenance change. 11 [l]There is a man in your kingdom in whom is the Spirit of the Holy God. And in the days of your [4]father, light and understanding and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods, were found in him; and King Nebuchadnezzar your [4]father—your father the king—made him chief of the magicians, astrologers, Chaldeans, and soothsayers. 12 Inasmuch as an excellent spirit, knowledge, understanding, interpreting dreams, solving riddles, and [5]explaining enigmas were found in this Daniel, [m]whom the king named Belteshazzar, now let Daniel be called, and he will give the interpretation."

The Writing on the Wall Explained

13 Then Daniel was brought in before the king. The king spoke, and said to Daniel, "Are you that Daniel [6]who is one of the captives from Judah, whom my [7]father the king brought from Judah? 14 I have heard of you, that [n]the [8]Spirit of God is in you, and that light and understanding and excellent wisdom are found in you. 15 Now [o]the wise men, the astrologers, have been brought in before me, that they should read this writing and make known to me its interpretation, but they could not give the interpretation of the thing. 16 And I have heard of you, that you can give interpretations and [9]explain enigmas. [p]Now if you can read the writing and make known to me its interpretation, you shall be clothed with purple and have a chain of gold around your neck, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom."

17 Then Daniel answered, and said before the king, "Let your gifts be for yourself, and give your rewards to another; yet I will read the writing to the king, and make known to him the interpretation. 18 O king, [q]the Most High God gave Nebuchadnezzar your [1]father a kingdom and majesty, glory and honor. 19 And because of the majesty that He gave him, [r]all peoples, nations, and languages trembled and

5:1 Belshazzar. These events occurred in 539 B.C., over two decades after his father, Nebuchadnezzar's death (ca. 563/2 B.C.). This king, whose name (similar to Daniel's, cf. 4:8), means "Bel, protect the king," is about to be conquered by the Medo-Persian army.

5:2 vessels. The celebration was designed to boost morale and break the feelings of doom, because at this very time, armies of Medo-Persia (cf. v. 30) had Babylon helplessly under siege.

5:4 This exercise was a call for their deities to deliver them.

5:5 man's hand. Babylonian hands had taken God's vessels (mentioned twice) and held them in contempt to dishonor and challenge Him. Now the Hand that controls all men, and which none can restrain, challenged them (4:35). God's answer to their challenge was clear, as in vv. 23-28.

5:7-9 they could not. Without God's help, the experts again failed (cf. chaps. 2,4), but God's man Daniel would not.

5:10 The queen spoke. Possibly she was a surviving wife or a daughter of Nebuchadnezzar. If the latter, she was a wife of Nabonidus who co-ruled with Belshazzar (cf. "third ruler," v. 16). She, like Nebuchadnezzar in chap. 4, has confidence in Daniel (vv. 11,12).

5:13 father. Used in the same sense of grandfather (cf. 5:18).

5:16 the third ruler. This trio included Daniel, along with Belshazzar, Nebuchadnezzar's grandson (ruled 553–539 B.C.), and Nabonidus (ruled 556–539 B.C.). The prizes turned out to be non-existent in light of the city's conquest that very night (vv. 29,30).

feared before him. Whomever he wished, he [s]executed; whomever he wished, he kept alive; whomever he wished, he set up; and whomever he wished, he put down. 20 [t]But when his heart was lifted up, and his spirit was hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they took his glory from him. 21 Then he was [u]driven from the sons of men, his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild donkeys. They fed him with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, [v]till he [2]knew that the Most High God rules in the kingdom of men, and appoints over it whomever He chooses.

22 "But you his son, Belshazzar, [w]have not humbled your heart, although you knew all this. 23 [x]And you have [3]lifted yourself up against the Lord of heaven. They have brought the [y]vessels of [4]His house before you, and you and your lords, your wives and your concubines, have drunk wine from them. And you have praised the gods of silver and gold, bronze and iron, wood and stone, [z]which do not see or hear or know; and the God who holds your breath in His hand [a]and owns all your ways, you have not glorified. 24 Then the [5]fingers of the hand were sent from Him, and this writing was written.

25 "And this is the inscription that was written:

26 This is the interpretation of each word. MENE: God has numbered your kingdom, and finished it; 27 TEKEL: [b]You have been weighed in the balances, and found wanting; 28 PERES: Your kingdom has been divided, and given to the [c]Medes and [d]Persians."[9] 29 Then Belshazzar gave the command, and they clothed Daniel with purple and put a chain of gold around his neck, and made a proclamation concerning him [e]that he should be the third ruler in the kingdom.

Belshazzar's Fall

30 [f]That very night Belshazzar, king of the Chaldeans, was slain. 31 [g]And Darius the Mede received the kingdom, being about sixty-two years old.

The Plot Against Daniel

CHAPTER 6

6 It pleased Darius to set over the kingdom one hundred and twenty satraps, to be over the whole kingdom; 2 and over these, three governors, of whom Daniel was one, that the satraps might give account to them, so that the king would suffer no loss. 3 Then this Daniel distinguished himself above the governors and satraps, [a]because an excellent spirit was in him; and the king gave thought to setting him over the whole realm. 4 [b]So the governors and satraps sought to find some charge against Daniel concerning the kingdom; but they could find no charge or fault, because he was faithful; nor was there any error or fault found in him. 5 Then these men said, "We shall not find any charge against this Daniel unless we find it against him concerning the law of his God."

6 So these governors and satraps thronged before the king, and said thus to

5:25-29 MENE, MENE. This means "counted," or "appointed," and is doubled for stronger emphasis. Tekel means "weighed" or "assessed," by the God who weighs actions (1 Sam. 2:3; Ps. 62:9). Peres denotes "divided," i.e., to the Medes and Persians. Pharsin in v. 25 is the plural of peres, possibly emphasizing the parts in the division. The "U" prefix on pharsin has the idea of the English "and."

5:30 That very night. One ancient account alleged that Persia's General Ugbaru had troops dig a trench to divert and thus lower the waters of the Euphrates River. Since the river flowed through the city of Babylon, the lowered water enabled besiegers to unexpectedly invade via the waterway under the thick walls and reach the palace before the city was aware. The end then came quickly, as guards, Belshazzar, and others were slain on Oct. 16, 539 B.C.

5:31 Darius the Mede. Possibly Darius is not a name, but an honored title for Cyrus, who with his army entered Babylon Oct. 29, 539 B.C. It is used in inscriptions for at least 5 Persian rulers. History mentions no specific man named Darius the Mede. In 6:28 it is possible to translate, "Darius even . . . Cyrus." A less likely possibility is that Darius is a second name for Gubaru, Cyrus' appointed king to head up the Babylonian sector of his empire. Gubaru (or Gobryas) is distinct from Ugbaru, the general, who died soon after conquering Babylon. As previously prophesied, Babylon met God's judgment (cf. Is. 13,47; Jer. 50,51; Hab. 2:5-19).

6:1 satraps. Each is a provincial administrator under the king. Daniel's eminent appointment was to a post as "governor" (v. 2), assisting the king as his vice-regent.

6:2 suffer no loss. They were responsible to prevent loss from military revolts, tax evasion, or fraud.

6:3 an excellent spirit. Daniel, over 80, had enjoyed God's blessing throughout his life (cf. 1:20,21; 2:49; 4:8; 5:12). over the whole realm. Daniel was the favorite of the king. He had experience, wisdom, a sense of history, leadership, a good reputation, ability, attitude, and revelation from the God of heaven. Apparently, God wanted him in the place of influence to encourage and assist in the Jews' return to Judah, since the return was made in Cyrus' first year (539–537 B.C.), right before the lions' den incident. From the record of Ezra 1 and 6, all the basic elements of the return appear: 1) the temple was to be rebuilt with the cost paid from Cyrus' treasury; 2) all Jews who visited could return, and those who stayed were urged to assist financially; and 3) the gold and silver vessels stolen from the temple by Nebuchadnezzar were to be taken back. To account for such favor toward the Jews, it is easy to think of Daniel not only influencing Cyrus to write such a decree, but even formulating it for him (cf. Prov. 21:1).

6:4 charge against Daniel. The jealous plot, not unlike the effort against Daniel's 3 friends in 3:8ff., was also similar to that by Joseph's brothers (cf. Gen. 37:18-24).

him: [c]"King Darius, live forever! 7 All the governors of the kingdom, the administrators and satraps, the counselors and advisors, have [d]consulted together to establish a royal statute and to make a firm decree, that whoever petitions any god or man for thirty days, except you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions. 8 Now, O king, establish the decree and sign the writing, so that it cannot be changed, according to the [e]law of the Medes and Persians, which [1]does not alter." 9 Therefore King Darius signed the written decree.

Daniel in the Lions' Den

10 Now when Daniel knew that the writing was signed, he went home. And in his upper room, with his windows open [f]toward Jerusalem, he knelt down on his knees [g]three times that day, and prayed and gave thanks before his God, as was his custom since early days.

11 Then these men assembled and found Daniel praying and making supplication before his God. 12 [h]And they went before the king, and spoke concerning the king's decree: "Have you not signed a decree that every man who petitions any god or man within thirty days, except you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions?"

The king answered and said, "The thing is true, [i]according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which [2]does not alter."

13 So they answered and said before the king, "That Daniel, [j]who is [3]one of the captives from Judah, [k]does not show due regard for you, O king, or for the decree that you have signed, but makes his petition three times a day."

14 And the king, when he heard these words, [l]was greatly displeased with himself, and set his heart on Daniel to deliver him; and he [4]labored till the going down of the sun to deliver him. 15 Then these men [5]approached the king, and said to the king, "Know, O king, that it is [m]the law of the Medes and Persians that no decree or statute which the king establishes may be changed."

16 So the king gave the command, and they brought Daniel and cast him into the den of lions. But the king spoke, saying to Daniel, "Your God, whom you serve continually, He will deliver you." 17 [n]Then a stone was brought and laid on the mouth of the den, [o]and the king sealed it with his own signet ring and with the signets of his lords, that the purpose concerning Daniel might not be changed.

Daniel Saved from the Lions

18 Now the king went to his palace and spent the night fasting; and no [6]musicians were brought before him. [p]Also his sleep [7]went from him. 19 Then the [q]king arose very early in the morning and went in haste to the den of lions. 20 And when he came to the den, he cried out with a [8]lamenting voice to Daniel. The king spoke, saying to Daniel, "Daniel, servant of the living God, [r]has your God, whom you serve continually, been able to deliver you from the lions?"

21 Then Daniel said to the king, [s]"O king, live forever! 22 [t]My God sent His angel and [u]shut the lions' mouths, so that they have not hurt me, because I was found innocent before Him; and also, O king, I have done no wrong before you."

23 Now the king was exceedingly glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel up out of the den. So Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no injury whatever was found on him, [v]because he believed in his God.

Darius Honors God

24 And the king gave the command, [w]and they brought those men who had accused Daniel, and they cast them into the

6:7 except you, O king. A deceptive stroke of the king's ego secured his injunction, which was designed to benefit Daniel's peers. Ancient kings were frequently worshiped as gods. Pagans had such inferior views of their gods that such homage was no problem.

6:8 law...which does not alter. Once enacted, Medo-Persian law could not be changed, even by the king (cf. 6:12,15; Esth. 1:19; 8:8).

6:10 toward Jerusalem. Daniel's uncompromising pattern of prayer toward God's temple conformed to Solomon's prayer that the Lord's people would do so (1 Kin. 8:44,45). Three times a day was also the pattern established by David (Ps. 55:16,17).

6:13 one of the captives from Judah. Daniel had lived over 60 years in Babylon. His loyalty to the rulers was well known (5:13); in spite of that loyalty, his consistent faithfulness to God brought this threat.

6:14 He went from a self-styled god to a fool in one day.

6:16 den of lions. The word "den" is related to the Heb. term meaning "to dig," so it refers to an underground pit which likely had 1) a hole at the top from which to drop food into the pit, and 2) a door at the foot of a ramp or on a hillside through which the lions could enter.

6:22 His angel. In this miracle, the angel was possibly the same person as the fourth person in the fiery furnace (cf. 3:25 and see note there). innocent before Him. That is the supreme commendation of Daniel as blameless before God and unworthy of such a death.

6:23 no injury...on him. God openly honored Daniel's faith for the purpose of showing His glory (cf. 3:26,27). That is not always the case, as God may choose to be glorified by permitting a trusted servant to be martyred (cf. Daniel in Heb. 11:33 with others in 11:35-38).

6:24 the king gave the command. Like the sin of Achan (Josh. 7:20-26), this sin against God, Darius, and Daniel cost the men and their families their lives. This judgment of God was also an important detail in the miracle, lest some critic suggest the lions were tame or toothless or not hungry.

den of lions—them, [x]their children, and their wives; and the lions overpowered them, and broke all their bones in pieces before they ever came to the bottom of the den.

25 [y]Then King Darius wrote:

To all peoples, nations, and languages that dwell in all the earth:

Peace be multiplied to you.

26 [z]I make a decree that in every dominion of my kingdom men must [a]tremble and fear before the God of Daniel.

And His dominion shall endure to the end.

Vision of the Four Beasts

7 In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon, [a]Daniel [1]had a dream and [b]visions of his head while on his bed. Then he wrote down the dream, telling [2]the main facts.

2 Daniel spoke, saying, "I saw in my vision by night, and behold, the four winds of heaven were stirring up the Great Sea. 3 And four great beasts [c]came up from the sea, each different from the other. 4 The first was [d]like a lion, and had eagle's wings. I watched till its wings were plucked off; and it was lifted up from the earth and made to stand on two feet like a man, and a [e]man's heart was given to it.

5 [f]"And suddenly another beast, a second, like a bear. It was raised up on one side, and had three ribs in its mouth between its teeth. And they said thus to it: 'Arise, devour much flesh!'

6 "After this I looked, and there was another, like a leopard, which had on its back four wings of a bird. The beast also had [g]four heads, and dominion was given to it.

7 "After this I saw in the night visions, and behold, [h]a fourth beast, dreadful and terrible, exceedingly strong. It had huge iron teeth; it was devouring, breaking in pieces, and trampling the residue with its feet. It was different from all the beasts that were before it, [i]and it had ten horns. 8 I was considering the horns, and [j]there was another horn, a little one, coming up among them, before whom three of the first horns were plucked out by the roots. And there, in this horn, were eyes like the eyes [k]of a man, [l]and a mouth speaking [3]pompous words.

9 [m] [Rev. 20:4] [n] Ps. 90:2 [o] Ps. 104:2; Rev. 1:14 [4] Or set up

6:25-27 King Darius wrote. Impacted by Daniel and by the Lord, he expressed himself as if he had come to a point of personal trust in God for his salvation such as Nebuchadnezzar (cf. 4:1-3,34-37). Daniel illustrated the evangelistic potency of a godly, uncompromising life. Cf. Matt. 5:48.

7:1 first year. This represented a flashback to 553 B.C., 14 years before the feast of 5:1-3. Chapters 7,8 occur after chap. 4, but before chap. 5. The dream of Dan. 7 moves far beyond Daniel's day to the coming of Israel's king to end all Gentile kingdoms and to establish His eternal kingdom (7:13,14,27; as 2:35,45).

7:2 Great Sea. This superlative refers to the Mediterranean, much greater in size than other bodies of water in that area of the world. Here this "sea" is used to represent nations and peoples (cf. Dan. 7:3,17; Rev. 13:1).

7:3 four...beasts. These beasts represent the same empires as the individual parts of the image in chap. 2. Christ the King, the Son of Man from heaven (vv. 13,14), corresponds to the Stone in 2:35,45.

7:4 lion...wings. The vicious, powerful, swift king of beasts represents Babylon. Winged lions guarded the gates of the royal palaces of Babylon. Daniel's contemporaries, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and Habakkuk, used animals to describe Nebuchadnezzar.

7:5 a bear. This is Medo-Persia, with the greater "side" being Persia and "ribs" referring to vanquished nations.

7:6 a leopard. This represents Greece with its fleetness in conquest under Alexander the Great (born in 356 B.C.). He ruled from Europe to Africa to India. The "four heads" represent the 4 generals who divided the kingdom after Alexander's death at age 33 (323 B.C.). They ruled Macedonia, Asia Minor, Syria, and Egypt (cf. 8:8).

7:7 fourth beast. No such animal exists; rather this is a unique beast pointing to the Roman Empire, already represented by iron in 2:40, devastating in conquest. Roman dominion fell apart in A.D. 476, yet it lived on in a divided status (Europe), but will be revived and return to great unified strength near Christ's second coming. Then it will be comprised of the 10 parts under kings (vv. 7,24), as well as an 11th king, the Antichrist (vv. 8,24; 2 Thess. 2:3-10; Rev. 13:1-10).

7:8 another horn. This describes the rise of Antichrist (cf. v. 20). This beast is human ("eyes like a man" and a "mouth speaking") and is proud (cf. Rev. 13:5,6).

7:9,10 I watched. Daniel's vision flashes forward to the divine throne from which judgment will come on the fourth kingdom (cf. Rev. 20:11-15).

And the hair of His head was like pure wool.
His throne was a fiery flame,
[p]Its wheels a burning fire;

And came forth from before Him.
[r]A thousand thousands ministered

And the books were opened.

11 "I watched then because of the sound of the [6]pompous words which the horn was speaking; [t]I watched till the beast was slain, and its body destroyed and given to the burning flame. 12 As for the rest of the beasts, they had their dominion taken away, yet their lives were prolonged for a season and a time.

Daniel's Visions Interpreted

15 "I, Daniel, was grieved in my spirit [7]within my body, and the visions of my head troubled me. 16 I came near to one of

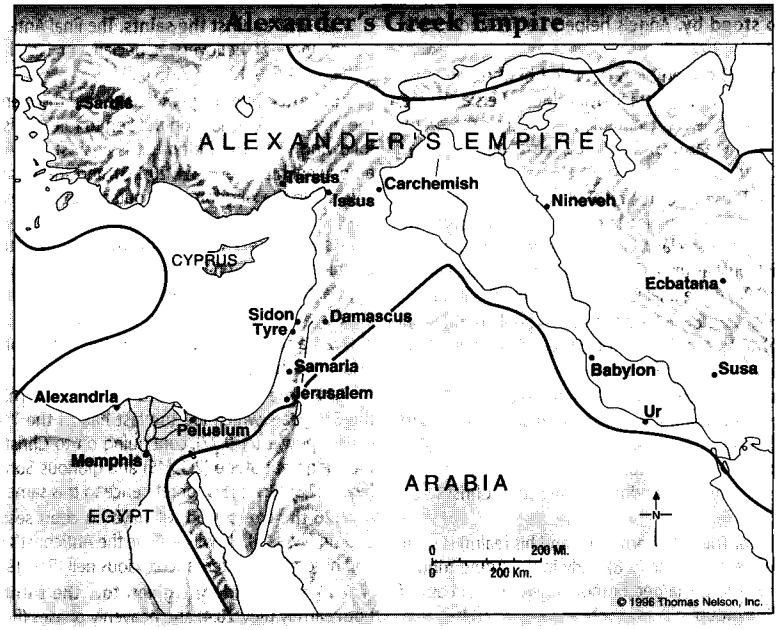
7:11,12 the beast was slain. Reference is to the fourth beast (i.e., the Roman sphere), headed up by the "little horn" or Antichrist (vv. 7,24). He will be destroyed at Christ's second coming (cf. Rev. 19:20; 20:10); cf. the smashing by the Stone, Dan. 2:35,45.

7:12 rest of the beasts. These are the 3 earlier beasts (empires of chaps. 2,7). Each successively lost its chief dominance when it was conquered in history. Yet each was amalgamated into the empire that gained ascendancy, and survived in its descendants. As the second advent draws near, all 3 empires in their descendants will be a part of the Roman phase in its final form (Rev. 13:2). Survival will not be possible for the final and revived phase of the fourth empire after Christ's second coming, for catastrophic devastation (cf. 2:35) will utterly destroy it, and Christ's kingdom will replace it.

7:13,14 Son of Man. The Messiah (cf. 9:26), Christ is meant; He often designated Himself by this phrase (Matt. 16:26; 19:28; 26:64). "The clouds of heaven" are seen again in Rev. 1:7. Here He is distinct from the Ancient of Days, or Eternal One, the Father, who will coronate Him for the kingdom (2:44). The picture of old age is not that of being feeble, rather it highlights eternality and divine wisdom to judge (as 7:9,10).

7:14 all peoples, nations, and languages. These distinctions are earthly and speak of the promise of an earthly kingdom, ruled by Christ, that merges into the eternal kingdom (cf. vv. 18,27; Rev. 20:1-4,21,22).

7:15 grieved in my spirit. Coming judgment made him sad, because it meant that history to its end would be a story of sin and judgment (cf. v. 28).



those who stood by, and asked him the truth of all this. So he told me and made known to me the interpretation of these things: 17 'Those great beasts, which are four, are four [8]kings which arise out of the earth. 18 But [y]the saints of the Most High shall receive the kingdom, and possess the kingdom forever, even forever and ever.'

19 "Then I wished to know the truth about the fourth beast, which was different from all the others, exceedingly dreadful, with its teeth of iron and its nails of bronze, which devoured, broke in pieces, and trampled the residue with its feet; 20 and the ten horns that were on its head, and the other horn which came up, before which three fell, namely, that horn which had eyes and a mouth which spoke [9]pompous words, whose appearance was greater than his fellows.

21 "I was watching; [z]and the same horn was making war against the saints, and prevailing against them, 22 until the Ancient of Days came, [a]and a judgment was made in favor of the saints of the Most High, and the time came for the saints to possess the kingdom.

23 "Thus he said:

'The fourth beast shall be
[b]A fourth kingdom on earth,
Which shall be different from all other kingdoms,
And shall devour the whole earth,
Trample it and break it in pieces.

24 [c]The ten horns are ten kings
Who shall arise from this kingdom.
And another shall rise after them;
He shall be different from the first ones,
And shall subdue three kings.

25 [d]He shall speak pompous words against the Most High,
Shall [e]persecute[1] the saints of the Most High,
And shall [f]intend to change times
and law.
Then [g]the saints shall be given into his hand
[h]For a time and times and half a time.

26 'But [i]the court shall be seated,
And they shall [j]take away his dominion,
To consume and destroy it forever.
27 Then the [k]kingdom and dominion,
And the greatness of the kingdoms
under the whole heaven,
Shall be given to the people, the saints of the Most High.
[l]His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom,
[m]And all dominions shall serve and

7:16 those who stood by. Angels helped Daniel understand God's revelations (8:13-16; 9:22-27).

7:17 beasts...four. These empires depicted by the lion, bear, leopard, and bizarre animal (vv. 3-7) are Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece, and Rome. The "kings" are the most notable leaders over these empires, such as Nebuchadnezzar (2:37,38), Cyrus, Alexander the Great, and finally the "little horn" (Antichrist).

7:18,22,27 saints. These who trusted God possess the kingdom headed up by the Son of Man, the Messiah, of vv. 13,14. All serve Him in vv. 14 and 27, the latter verse clarifying that the one served is actually God the Most High. Just as the 4 Gentile empires have individuals as kings (cf. 2:38; 7:8; 8:8), so the final kingdom has Christ as King.

7:18 the Most High. God is referred to in this book as above all gods (2:47; 3:29; 4:35), as He was for Melchizedek and Abraham (Gen. 14:19,20,22) as well as Naaman (2 Kin. 5:17).

7:19 fourth beast...different. This may refer to the empire's far greater diversity than previous empires, and its breadth of conquest (v. 24). It branches out into two great divisions (cf. "legs," 2:33,40), then near the end into 10 horns (a confederacy of 10 nations), and even an 11th horn (Antichrist's kingdom) lasting until Christ's second coming.

7:20 the other horn. The 11th horn (ruler and his realm) is small and less powerful before its big rise (v. 8). Early in the future tribulation period, it (he) grows to be "larger" or more powerful than any of the horns (rulers) in the group.

7:21 war against the saints. The final Antichrist will lead a great persecution of believers, especially in Israel (cf. Matt. 24:15-22; 2 Thess. 2:4; Rev. 12:13-17; 13:6,7).

7:22 Ancient of Days. Refers to God the Eternal One, who confers the messianic kingdom on the Son to rule at His second coming and following (7:13,14). Judgment is against the Antichrist, Satan who empowers him (Rev. 13:4; 20:1-3), and the unsaved who are not allowed into the kingdom at its outset, but are destroyed and await the final, Great White Throne resurrection and judgment (Rev. 20:11-15). saints to possess the kingdom. Believers enter the kingdom in its earthly, millennial phase (Rev. 20:1-4) following Christ's second coming (Matt. 25:34), having eternal life that continues into the eternal state (Rev. 21,22) after the thousand years.

7:24 another...after them. The "little horn" (Antichrist) blasts his way to the zenith of world rule.

7:25 time and times and half a time. This obviously refers to the 3½ years which are the last half of the 7 year period of Antichrist's power (cf. 9:27), continuing on to Christ's second coming as the Judgment Stone (2:35,45) and glorious Son of Man (7:13,14). Cf. Rev. 11:2,3; 12:14; 13:5 for reference to this same period.

7:26 the court. God will have his court session to judge sinners and sin (vv. 9,10). He will remove the Antichrist's rule, and destroy him and his empire in eternal, conscious hell (Rev. 19:20; 20:10).

7:27 the kingdom...given to...the saints. God's kingdom in both earthly (Rev. 20:4) and heavenly phases (Rev. 21:27; 22:3,4,14).

Vision of a Ram and a Goat

8 In[1] the third year of the reign of King Belshazzar a vision appeared to me—to me, Daniel—after the one that appeared to me [a]the first time. 2 I saw in the vision, and it so happened while I was looking, that I was in [b]Shushan,[2] the [3]citadel, which is in the province of Elam; and I saw in the vision that I was by the River Ulai. 3 Then I lifted my eyes and saw, and there, standing beside the river, was a ram which had two horns, and the two horns were high; but one was [c]higher than the other, and the higher one came up last. 4 I saw the ram pushing westward, northward, and southward, so that no animal could [4]withstand him; nor was there any that could deliver from his hand, [d]but he did according to his will and became great.

5 And as I was considering, suddenly a male goat came from the west, across the surface of the whole earth, without touching the ground; and the goat had a notable [e]horn between his eyes. 6 Then he came to the ram that had two horns, which I had seen standing beside the river, and ran at him with furious power. 7 And I saw him confronting the ram; he was moved with rage against him, [5]attacked the ram, and broke his two horns. There was no power in the ram to withstand him, but he cast him down to the ground and trampled him; and there was no one that could deliver the ram from his hand.

8 Therefore the male goat grew very great; but when he became strong, the large horn was broken, and in place of it [f]four notable ones came up toward the four winds of heaven. 9 [g]And out of one of them came a little horn which grew exceedingly great toward the south, [h]toward the east, and toward the [i]Glorious Land. 10 [j]And it grew up to [k]the host of heaven; and [l]it cast down some of the host and some of the stars to the ground, and trampled them. 11 [m]He even exalted himself as high as [n]the Prince of the host; [o]and by him [p]the daily sacrifices were taken away, and the place of [6]His sanctuary was cast down. 12 Because of transgression, [q]an army was given over to the horn to oppose the daily sacrifices; and he cast [r]truth down to the ground. He [s]did all this and prospered.

13 Then I heard [t]a holy one speaking; and another holy one said to that certain one who was speaking, "How long will the vision be, concerning the daily sacrifices and the transgression [7]of desolation, the giving of both the sanctuary and the host to be trampled underfoot?"

14 And he said to me, "For two thousand three hundred [8]days; then the sanctuary shall be cleansed."

Gabriel Interprets the Vision

15 Then it happened, when I, Daniel, had seen the vision and [u]was seeking the meaning, that suddenly there stood before me [v]one having the appearance of a man. 16 And I heard a man's voice [w]between the banks of the Ulai, who called, and said, [x]"Gabriel, make this man understand the vision." 17 So he came near where I stood,

8:1 third year. Ca. 551 B.C., two years after the dream of chap. 7 but before chap. 5. the first time. Looks back to chap. 7.

8:2 Shushan. Called Susa by the Greeks, this was a chief city of the Medo-Persian Empire, about 250 mi. E of Babylon. Since Daniel saw himself in a vision, he may not have been bodily in that place (cf. Ezekiel's vision of being at the Jerusalem temple, though bodily still with the elders in Babylon, Ezek. 8–11).

8:3-9 This imagery unfolded historically. The ram pictures the Medo-Persian Empire, as a whole, its two horns standing for the two entities (the Medes and the Persians) that merged into one. The history of this empire is briefly noted in v. 4, as it is seen conquering from the E to the W, S and N, under Cyrus, as predicted also by Isaiah 150 years earlier (Is. 45:1-7). The higher horn, which appeared last, represents Persia. The goat (v. 5) represents Greece with its great horn Alexander, who with his army of 35,000, moved with such speed that he is pictured as not even touching the ground. The broken horn is Alexander in his death; the 4 horns are generals who became kings over 4 sectors of the Grecian empire after Alexander (cf. 7:6). The small horn is Antiochus Epiphanes, who rose from the third empire to rule the Syrian division in 175–164 B.C. and is the same king dominant in 11:21-35. Cf. 7:8,24-26 where a similar "little horn" clearly represents the final Antichrist. The reason both are described as "little horns" is because one prefigures the other. A far more detailed summary will come later in 11:2-35.

8:9 Glorious Land. Palestine. Cf. 11:16,41.

8:10 host of heaven. Picturesque language portrays Antiochus' persecution against Jewish people using the figure of stars (as Gen. 12:3; 15:5; 22:17; Ex. 12:41; Deut. 1:10). When defeated, the "stars" (Jewish people) will fall under the tyrant's domination.

8:11 Prince. In addition to the desecration of the temple (cf. 1 Macc. 1:20-24,41-50), Antiochus blasphemed Christ to whom ultimately the host of Jewish people sacrifice and to whom the sanctuary belongs. He is later the "Prince of princes" (v. 25).

8:13 holy one. Angels are in view here.

8:14 two thousand three hundred days. These are 2,300 evenings/mornings, with no "and" in between, which refers to 2,300 total units or days. Genesis 1:15 does use "and," i.e., "Evening and morning, one day." The period runs to about 6 1/3 years of sacrificing a lamb twice a day, morning and evening (Ex. 29:38,39). The prophecy was precise in identifying the time as that of Antiochus' persecution, ca. Sept. 6, 171 B.C. to Dec. 25, 165/4 B.C. After his death, Jews celebrated the cleansing of their holy place in the Feast of Lights, or Hanukkah, in celebration of the restoration led by Judas Maccabeus.

8:15 appearance of a man. The word for man meaning "a mighty man" is the linguistic framework for "Gabriel," which means "mighty one of God." This is the first mention of an angel by name in the Bible.

8:16 a man's voice. God spoke with a human voice. the Ulai. A river E of the Persian city of Susa.

and when he came I was afraid and [g]fell on my face; but he said to me, "Understand, son of man, that the vision refers to the time of the end."

18 [z]Now, as he was speaking with me, I was in a deep sleep with my face to the ground; [a]but he touched me, and stood me upright. 19 And he said, "Look, I am making known to you what shall happen in the latter time of the indignation; [b]for at the appointed time the end shall be. 20 The ram which you saw, having the two horns—they are the kings of Media and Persia. 21 And the [9]male goat is the [1]kingdom of Greece. The large horn that is between its eyes [c]is the first king. 22 [d]As for the broken horn and the four that stood up in its place, four kingdoms shall arise out of that nation, but not with its power.

23 "And in the latter time of their kingdom,
When the transgressors have reached their fullness,
A king shall arise,
[e]Having fierce [2]features,
Who understands sinister schemes.
24 His power shall be mighty, [f]but not by his own power;
He shall destroy [3]fearfully,
[g]And shall prosper and thrive;
[h]He shall destroy the mighty, and also the holy people.

25 "Through [i]his cunning
He shall cause deceit to prosper under his [4]rule;
[j]And he shall exalt himself in his heart.
He shall destroy many in their prosperity.
[k]He shall even rise against the Prince of princes;

Daniel's Prayer for the People

CHAPTER 9

9 In the first year [a]of Darius the son of Ahasuerus, of the lineage of the Medes, who was made king over the realm of the Chaldeans— 2 in the first year of his reign I, Daniel, understood by the books the number of the years specified by the word of the LORD through [b]Jeremiah the prophet, that He would accomplish seventy years in the desolations of Jerusalem.

3 [c]Then I set my face toward the Lord God to make request by prayer and supplications, with fasting, sackcloth, and

8:17 afraid and fell. Loss of consciousness is a common reaction to heavenly visitation (cf. Ezek. 1; Is. 6; Rev. 1). time of the end. This term likely has a double sense of fulfillment. First, the "end" (as v. 19), "latter time" (vv. 19,23), and "appointed time" (v. 19) refer to time late in the specific span that the historical prophecy has in view. That time is the period defined by the empires in these verses, Persia (Ram) and Greece (Goat), when the Grecian sector will be divided into 4 parts (v. 8). One of these, the Syrian under Seleucus (see note on v. 22), will eventually lead to Antiochus Epiphanes (175–164 B.C.) as the "little horn" meant in v. 9, who persecutes the people of Israel (v. 10) and defies God (v. 11). Cf. 11:21-35 and see notes there. Secondly, this "little horn" in v. 9, the Antichrist in the last days at the time of the eschatological fulfillment, sees Antiochus as a pattern of the Antichrist, who in many ways will be like him, though far greater in power, and will exercise his career in the end of the age just before Christ's return.

8:21 male goat...large horn. This is the third Gentile world power, the kingdom of Greece, and specifically Alexander the Great, the notable and "first king" after conquering Medo-Persia. Cf. 11:3.

8:22 broken horn and...four. Alexander died at age 33 in 323 B.C., leaving no heir ready to reign. So 4 men, after 22 years of fighting, assumed rule over 4 Grecian sectors: 1) Cassander, Macedonia; 2) Lysimachus, Thrace and Asia Minor; 3) Seleucus, Syria, and Babylonia; 4) Ptolemy, Egypt, and Arabia. These are the 4 referred to in "toward the four winds" (v. 8). The phrase "not with its power" indicates they did not have Alexander's power or direct family lineage.

8:23-25 A king shall arise. The near fulfillment views Antiochus as the historical persecutor as in vv. 9-14. His career down to 164 B.C. was "in the latter time of their kingdom," that of the male goat in the Syrian territory. Rome conquered Greece by 146 B.C., only a few years later, and became the next dominant empire. Antiochus died, "broken without human means," due to insanity and disease of the bowels. The far fulfillment sees Antiochus in vv. 23-25 as prophetically illustrating the final tribulation period and the Antichrist. In such a view, the king here is also the "little horn," as in 7:7; 8:9 and the willful king in 11:36-45.

8:25 Prince of princes. See note on 8:11.

8:26 seal up the vision. Since he told it here, this did not mean to shut it up to secrecy but to preserve it as truth even if not to be fulfilled for a long time.

9:1 the first year. Ca. 539 B.C. made king. This may mean that Darius (a title, not a proper name, see note on 5:31) refers to Cyrus who was made king by God's allowance (cf. Ps. 75:6,7). Since Cyrus was the first monarch of the Medo-Persian empire, this time note was also the first year after the death of Belshazzar, when Babylon fell.

9:2 seventy years. Daniel's study of "the books" (OT scrolls) focused on the years prophesied for the captivity by Jeremiah in Jer. 25:11,12 and 29:10. Since the end of that span was near, he prayed for God's next move on behalf of Israel. Cf. 2 Chr. 36:21, where it is indicated that the 70 years of exile was intended to restore the Sabbath rests that Israel had ignored for so many years (cf. Lev. 25:4,5; 26:34-43).

ashes. 4 And I prayed to the LORD my God, and made confession, and said, "O [d]Lord, great and awesome God, who keeps His covenant and mercy with those who love Him, and with those who keep His commandments, 5 [e]we have sinned and committed iniquity, we have done wickedly and rebelled, even by departing from Your precepts and Your judgments. 6 [f]Neither have we heeded Your servants the prophets, who spoke in Your name to our kings and our princes, to our fathers and all the people of the land. 7 O Lord, [g]righteousness belongs to You, but to us shame of face, as it is this day—to the men of Judah, to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and all Israel, those near and those far off in all the countries to which You have driven them, because of the unfaithfulness which they have committed against You.

8 "O Lord, to us belongs shame of face, to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, because we have sinned against You. 9 [h]To the Lord our God belong mercy and forgiveness, though we have rebelled against Him. 10 We have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God, to walk in His laws, which He set before us by His servants the prophets. 11 Yes, [i]all Israel has transgressed Your law, and has departed so as not to obey Your voice; therefore the curse and the oath written in the [j]Law of Moses the servant of God have been poured out on us, because we have sinned against Him. 12 And He has [k]confirmed His words, which He spoke against us and against our judges who judged us, by bringing upon us a great disaster; [l]for under the whole heaven such has never been done as what has been done to Jerusalem.

13 [m]"As it is written in the Law of Moses, all this disaster has come upon us; [n]yet we have not made our prayer before the LORD our God, that we might turn from our iniquities and understand Your truth. 14 Therefore the LORD has [o]kept the disaster in mind, and brought it upon us; for [p]the LORD our God is righteous in all the works which He does, though we have not obeyed His voice. 15 And now, O Lord our God, [q]who brought Your people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and made Yourself [r]a name, as it is this day—we have sinned, we have done wickedly!

16 "O Lord, [s]according to all Your righteousness, I pray, let Your anger and Your fury be turned away from Your city Jerusalem, [t]Your holy mountain; because for our sins, [u]and for the iniquities of our fathers, [v]Jerusalem and Your people [w]are a reproach to all those around us. 17 Now therefore, our God, hear the prayer of Your servant, and his supplications, [x]and [y]for the Lord's sake [1]cause Your face to shine on [2]Your sanctuary, [z]which is desolate. 18 [a]O my God, incline Your ear and hear; open Your eyes [b]and see our desolations, and the city [c]which is called by Your name; for we do not present our supplications before You because of our righteous deeds, but because of Your great mercies. 19 O Lord, hear! O Lord, forgive! O Lord, listen and act! Do not delay for Your own sake, my God, for Your city and Your people are called by Your name."

The Seventy-Weeks Prophecy

20 Now while I was speaking, praying, and confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, and presenting my supplication before the LORD my God for the holy mountain of my God, 21 yes, while I was speaking in prayer, the man [d]Gabriel, whom I had seen in the vision at the beginning, [3]being caused to fly swiftly, reached me about the time of the evening offering. 22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, "O Daniel, I have now come forth to give you skill to understand. 23 At the beginning of your supplications the [4]command went out, and I have come to tell you, for you are greatly [e]beloved; therefore [f]consider the matter, and understand the vision:

9:4-19 I prayed. Various aspects of the passage give rich instruction regarding prayer. True prayer is: in response to the Word (v. 2), characterized by fervency (v. 3) and self-denial (v. 4), identified unselfishly with God's people (v. 5), strengthened by confession (vv. 5-15), dependent on God's character (vv. 4,7,9,15), and has as its goal, God's glory (vv. 16-19).

9:11 the curse. This refers to the judgment that God brought, as promised, for Israel's disobedience in the Land (Lev. 26:21-42; Deut. 28:15-68). This is in contrast to the blessings associated with faith and obedience (Lev. 26:3-20; Deut. 28:1-14). God had given the promise that even in a time of judgment, if Israel would confess their sin, He would bring blessing again (Lev. 26:40-42).

9:16. Daniel prayed for restoration in 3 aspects. In effect he asked God to bring back "Your city" (vv. 16,18), "Your sanctuary (v. 17), and "Your people" (v. 19). God's answer embraced all three (v. 24).

9:21 the man Gabriel. This angel, called a "man" because he appeared in the form of a man, appeared also in 8:16. Cf. the angel Michael in 10:13,20; 12:1. the evening offering. This was the second lamb of two offered daily (cf. 8:14 and see note there), this one at 3 p.m., a common time for prayer (Ezra 9:5).

9:24-26 Seventy weeks from...Until. These are weeks of years, whereas weeks of days are described in a different way (10:2,3). The time spans from the Persian Artaxerxes' decree to rebuild Jerusalem, ca. 445 B.C. (Neh. 2:1-8), to the Messiah's kingdom. This panorama in-

Vision of the Glorious Man

CHAPTER 10

10 In the third year of Cyrus king of Persia a message was revealed to Daniel, whose [a]name was called Belteshazzar. The message was true, [1]but the appointed time was long; and he understood the message, and had understanding of the vision. 2 In those days I, Daniel, was mourning three full weeks. 3 I ate no [2]pleasant food, no meat or wine came into my mouth, nor did I anoint myself at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled.

4 Now on the twenty-fourth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the cludes: 1) 7 weeks or 49 years, possibly closing Nehemiah's career in the rebuilding of the "street and wall," as well as the end of the ministry of Malachi and the close of the OT; 2) 62 weeks or 434 more years for a total of 483 years to the first advent of Messiah. This was fulfilled at the triumphal entry on 9 Nisan, A.D. 30 (see notes on Matt. 21:1-11). The Messiah will be "cut off," (a common reference to death); and 3) the final 7 years or 70th week of the time of Antichrist (cf. v. 27). Roman people, from whom the Antichrist will come, will "destroy the city" of Jerusalem and its temple in A.D. 70.

9:24. This highly complex and startlingly accurate prophecy answers Daniel's prayer, not with reference to near history, but by giving the future of Israel in the final end of the age. God promises 2 sets of 3 accomplishments each. First, those related to sin are: 1) finish the transgression, i.e., restrain sin and Israel's in particular in its long trend of apostasy, as in v. 11; 2) make an end of sins, i.e., to judge it with finality (cf. Heb. 9:26); and 3) make reconciliation for iniquity, signifies to furnish the actual basis of covering sin by full atonement, the blood of the crucified Messiah who is "cut off" (v. 26), which affects the first two realities (cf. the fountain, Zech. 13:1).

Second, those accomplishments related to righteousness are: 1) bring in...righteousness, the eternal righteousness of Daniel's people in their great change from centuries of apostasy; 2) seal up vision..., i.e., no more revelation is needed and God will bring these anticipations to completion by their fulfillment in Israel's blessing as a nation; and 3) anoint the Most Holy, consecrate the Holy Place in a temple of the future that will be the center of worship in the millennial kingdom (cf. Ezek. 40–48). Clearly this must be understood to sweep to the end of Gentile power and the time of Antichrist right before Christ's return. Summing up, the first 3 are fulfilled in principle at Christ's first coming, in full at His return. The last 3 complete the plan at His Second Advent.

9:27 Then. This is clearly the end of the age, the Second Advent judgment, because the bringing in of righteousness did not occur 7 years after the death of the Messiah, nor did the destruction of Jerusalem fit the 7 year period (occurring 37 years later). This is the future 7 year period which ends with sin's final judgment and Christ's reign of righteousness; i.e., the return of Christ and the establishment of His rule. These 7 years constitute the 70th week of Daniel. he shall confirm. "He" is the last-mentioned prince (v. 26), leader of the Roman sphere (cf. chaps. 2 and 7), the Antichrist who comes in the latter days. The time is in the future tribulation period of "one week," i.e., the final 7 years of v. 24. He confirms (lit., causes to prevail) a 7 year covenant, his own pact with Israel for what will turn out actually to be for a shorter time. The leader in this covenant is the "little horn" of 7:7,8,20,21,24-26, and the evil leader of NT prophecy (Mark 13:14; 2 Thess. 2:3-10; Rev. 13:1-10). That he is in the future, even after Christ's First Advent, is shown by 1) Matt. 24:15; 2) by the time references that match (7:25; Rev. 11:2,3; 12:14; 13:5); and 3) by the end here extending to the Second Advent, matching the duration elsewhere mentioned in Daniel (2:35,45; 7:15ff.; 12:1-3) and Rev. 11:2; 12:14; 13:5. middle of the week. This is the halfway point of the 70th week of years, i.e., 7 years leading to Christ's second coming. The Antichrist will break his covenant with Israel (v. 27a), which has resumed its ancient sacrificial system. Three and a half years of tribulation remain, agreeing with the time in other Scriptures (7:25; Rev. 11:2,3; 12:14; 13:5, called "Great Tribulation," cf. Matt. 24:21) as God's wrath intensifies. abominations...one who makes desolate The Antichrist will cause abomination against Jewish religion. This violation will desolate or ruin what Jews regard as sacred, namely their holy temple and the honoring of God's presence there (cf. 1 Kin. 9:3; 2 Thess. 2:4). Jesus refers directly to this text in His Olivet discourse (Matt. 24:15). See note on 11:31. the consummation. God permits this tribulation under the Antichrist's persecutions and ultimately triumphs, achieving judgment of the sin and sinners in Israel (12:7) and in the world (cf. Jer. 25:31). This includes the Antichrist (11:45; Rev. 19:20), and all who deserve judgment (9:24; Matt. 13:41-43).

10:1 third year. Ca. 536 B.C. Two years had passed since the first decree to let Israel return (cf. Ezra 1:1–2:1; 2:64–3:1).

great river, that is, the [3]Tigris, [5] I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold, a certain man clothed in [b]linen, whose waist was [c]girded with gold of Uphaz! [6] His body was like beryl, his face like the appearance of lightning, his eyes like torches of fire, his arms and feet like burnished bronze in color, [d]and the sound of his words like the voice of a multitude.

[7] And I, Daniel, alone saw the vision, for the men who were with me did not see the vision; but a great terror fell upon them, so that they fled to hide themselves. [8] Therefore I was left alone when I saw this great vision, and no strength remained in me; for my [4]vigor was turned to [5]frailty in me, and I retained no strength. [9] Yet I heard the sound of his words; and while I heard the sound of his words I was in a deep sleep on my face, with my face to the ground.

Prophecies Concerning Persia and Greece

[10] [e]Suddenly, a hand touched me, which made me tremble on my knees and on the palms of my hands. [11] And he said to me, "O Daniel, [f]man greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak to you, and stand upright, for I have now been sent to you." While he was speaking this word to me, I stood trembling.

[12] Then he said to me, [g]"Do not fear, Daniel, for from the first day that you set your heart to understand, and to humble yourself before your God, [h]your words were heard; and I have come because of your words. [13] [i]But the prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me twenty-one days; and behold, [j]Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, for I had been left alone there with the kings of Persia. [14] Now I have come to make you understand what will happen to your people [k]in the latter days, [l]for the vision refers to many days yet to come."

[15] When he had spoken such words to me, [m]I [6]turned my face toward the ground and became speechless. [16] And suddenly, [n]one having the likeness of the [7]sons of men [o]touched my lips; then I opened my mouth and spoke, saying to him who stood before me, "My lord, because of the vision [p]my sorrows have [8]overwhelmed me, and I have retained no strength. [17] For how can this servant of my lord talk with you, my lord? As for me, no strength remains in me now, nor is any breath left in me."

[18] Then again, the one having the likeness of a man touched me and strengthened me. [19] [q]And he said, "O man greatly beloved, [r]fear not! Peace be to you; be strong, yes, be strong!"

So when he spoke to me I was strengthened, and said, "Let my lord speak, for you have strengthened me."

[20] Then he said, "Do you know why I have come to you? And now I must return to fight [s]with the prince of Persia; and when I have gone forth, indeed the prince of Greece will come. [21] But I will tell you what is noted in the Scripture of Truth. (No one upholds me against these, [t]except Michael your prince.

10:6 His body...like beryl. The messenger whom Daniel sees in a vision (vv. 1,7) was distinct from the angel Michael, from whom he needed assistance (v. 13). The description of such glory has led some to see him as Christ in a pre-incarnate appearance (such as Josh. 5:13-15; 6:2; Judg. 6:11-23). He is described almost identically to Christ (Rev. 1:13,14) and Daniel's reaction is similar to John's (Rev. 1:17).

10:10 a hand touched me. Most likely this was Gabriel, who interpreted other revelations to Daniel (cf. 8:16) and spoke similarly of Daniel's being beloved in 9:20-23.

10:12 your words were heard. This was a great encouragement from God who was attentive to prayer and acted to answer it (cf. 9:20-27).

10:13 prince of...Persia. The 3 week delay was due to an evil angel opposing Gabriel in heavenly warfare (cf. Rev. 16:12-14). This angel was specially anointed with Persian power in an effort to thwart the work of God. This tells us that Satan engages in heavenly warfare to influence generations and nations against God and His people (cf. Eph. 6:10ff.). Michael. This is the chief angel of heaven (cf. 10:21; 12:1; Jude 9; Rev. 12:7). Michael remained to assure that the Jews would be free to return to their land.

10:14 many days yet to come. This refers to the future plan of God for His people, extending from Daniel's time to that of the Antichrist.

10:19 I was strengthened. This was the third time (vv. 10,16), showing the overwhelming trauma of divine presence and revelation.

10:20 prince of Greece. An evil angel contesting for the kingdom of Greece.

10:21 Scripture of Truth. God's plan of certain and true designs for men and nations, which He can reveal according to His discretion (11:2; Is. 46:9-11). except Michael. The angel with Michael intended to handle the demons of Persia and Greece. This actually forms the heavenly basis for the earthly unfolding of history in 11:2-35.

11:1 first year. Ca. 539 B.C. (cf. 6:1ff.; 9:1). I, stood up to...strengthen him. The messenger of 10:10ff. continues to speak of assisting Michael (even as Michael had strengthened him in the battle with demons in 10:21), confirming Darius in his purpose of kindness to Israel in decreeing their return.

11:2-45 As in 8:3-26, this prophecy sweeps all the way from the history of spiritual conflict in Israel (11:2-35) to the tribulation (vv. 36-42) when Michael aids in fully delivering Israel (12:1). The detail of this history is so minute and accurate, so confirmed by history, that unbelieving critics have, without evidence, insisted that it was actually written 400 years later than Daniel, after it had happened which would make the prophet a deceiver. The prophecy actually looks ahead from Daniel to the final Antichrist.

11:2-35 This section unfolds the near fulfillment of the Persian kingdom and the reign of Greece through Antiochus Epiphanes.

tell you the truth: Behold, three more kings will arise in Persia, and the fourth shall be far richer than them all; by his strength, through his riches, he shall stir up all against the realm of Greece. 3 Then [c]a mighty king shall arise, who shall rule with great dominion, and [d]do according to his will. 4 And when he has arisen, [e]his kingdom shall be broken up and divided toward the four winds of heaven, but not among his posterity [f]nor according to his dominion with which he ruled; for his kingdom shall be uprooted, even for others besides these.

Warring Kings of North and South

5 "Also the king of the South shall become strong, as well as one of his princes; and he shall gain power over him and have dominion. His dominion shall be a great dominion. 6 And at the end of some years they shall join forces, for the daughter of the king of the South shall go to the king of the North to make an agreement; but she shall not retain the power of her [1]authority, and neither he nor his [1]authority shall stand; but she shall be given up, with those who brought her, and with him who begot her, and with him who strengthened her in those times. 7 But from a branch of her roots one shall arise in his place, who shall come with an army, enter the fortress of the king of the North, and deal with them and prevail. 8 And he shall also carry their gods captive to Egypt, with their [2]princes and their precious articles of silver and gold; and he shall continue more years than the king of the North.

11 "And the king of the South shall be [i]moved with rage, and go out and fight with him, with the king of the North, who shall muster a great multitude; but the [j]multitude shall be given into the hand of his enemy. 12 When he has taken away the multitude, his heart will be [3]lifted up; and he will cast down tens of thousands, but he will not prevail. 13 For the king of the North will return and muster a multitude greater than the former, and shall certainly come at the end of some years with a great army and much equipment.

11:2 three more kings...and the fourth. The 3 in the Persian sphere, after Cyrus (10:1), were Cambyses (ca. 530–522 B.C.), Pseudo-Smerdis (ca. 522 B.C.), and Darius I Hystaspes (ca. 522–486 B.C.). The fourth is Xerxes I, called Ahasuerus in Esther (486–465 B.C.). Kings after Xerxes are not included, probably because Xerxes' failed military campaign against the Greeks (481–479 B.C.) sounded the beginning of the end for Persia, which finally fell ca. 331 B.C. to Alexander the Great.

11:3 a mighty king. Alexander the Great (cf. 8:5).

11:4 After Alexander's death (ca. 323 B.C.), 4 who were not of his posterity took sectors of his wide empire (see notes on 7:6; 8:3-9). The king of the South (Egypt) and king of the North (Syria), receive emphasis in v. 5 and after. As time moved on, other leaders ruled, crossing and recrossing Palestine.

11:5,6 king of the South...king of the North. King of the South represents the Ptolomies, the leaders of Egypt, contrasted often in vv. 5ff. with the king of the North, the Seleucids, leaders of Syria (v. 6). South and N are in relation to Palestine, for which the angel Gabriel, speaking in this passage, is so concerned. Verses 5-20 cover almost 200 years of wars between these bordering powers.

11:6 join forces. Berenice, daughter of Egypt's Ptolemy II Philadelphus (285–246 B.C.), married Syria's King Antiochus II Theos (261–246 B.C.). The latter part of the verse refers to the political advantage they hoped the alliance would produce. Antiochus divorced his wife to marry Berenice. Later that divorced wife murdered Berenice, her baby son, and even Antiochus by poisoning him. Thus she brought her own son, Seleucus II Callinicus, to the throne.

11:7 from a branch of her roots. The murdered Berenice's brother stood in his father's place. His name was Ptolemy III Euergetes of Egypt (246–222 B.C.), and in reverse he conquered Syria, sacking their great treasure (v. 8).

11:9 king of the North shall come. Syria's Callinicus attacked Egypt ca. 240 B.C. but retreated, soundly beaten.

11:10 his sons. Seleucus' sons (successors) kept up war against Egypt, as described in vv. 11-35.

11:11 king of the South. Ptolemy IV Philopator (222–203 B.C.) devastated the Syrian army under Antiochus III the Great (223–187 B.C.). Egypt's advantage would be brief (v. 12).

11:13-16 king of the North. Thirteen years later Antiochus returned with a great army, and in a series of strikes against Egypt brought Palestine ("the Glorious Land") into his control as far S as Gaza.

11:14 violent men of your people. Violent Jews wanted Judean independence from Egypt, but failed in their revolt.

11:16 he who comes against him. Antiochus III the Great took lasting dominion over Israel. Glorious Land Palestine (cf. 8:9).

do. And he shall give him the daughter of women to destroy it; but she shall not stand with him, [p]or be for him. 18 After this he shall turn his face to the coastlands, and shall take many. But a ruler shall bring the reproach against them to an end; and with the reproach removed, he shall turn back on him. 19 Then he shall turn his face toward the fortress of his own land; but he shall [q]stumble and fall, [r]and not be found.

20 "There shall arise in his place one who imposes taxes on the glorious kingdom; but within a few days he shall be destroyed, but not in anger or in battle. 21 And in his place [s]shall arise a vile person, to whom they will not give the honor of royalty; but he shall come in peaceably, and seize the kingdom by intrigue. 22 With the [g]force of a [t]flood they shall be swept away from before him and be broken, [u]and also the prince of the covenant. 23 And after the league is made with him [v]he shall act deceitfully, for he shall come up and become strong with a small number of people. 24 He shall enter peaceably, even into the richest places of the province; and he shall do what his fathers have not done, nor his forefathers: he shall disperse among them the plunder, [1]spoil, and riches; and he shall devise his plans against the strongholds, but only for a time.

25 "He shall stir up his power and his courage against the king of the South with a great army. And the king of the South shall be stirred up to battle with a very great and mighty army; but he shall not stand, for they shall devise plans against him. 26 Yes, those who eat of the portion of his delicacies shall destroy him; his army shall [2]be swept away, and many shall fall down slain. 27 Both these kings' hearts shall be bent on evil, and they shall speak lies at the same table; but it shall not prosper, for the end will still be at the [w]appointed time. 28 While returning to his land with great riches, his heart shall be moved against the holy covenant; so he shall do damage and return to his own land.

The Northern King's Blasphemies

11:17 give...the daughter. Antiochus, feeling pressure from Rome (fourth empire, 2:40; 7:7) to make peace with Egypt, offered his daughter Cleopatra to marry Ptolemy V Epiphanes (ca. 192 B.C.). The Syrian thus hoped his daughter would spy to help him to "destroy" or weaken Egypt and bring it under his power. Cleopatra, instead of helping her father, favored her Egyptian mate.

11:18 a ruler. Antiochus had set his sights to conquer Greece, along the Mediterranean coastlands. But this brought him into conflict with Rome, so that a Roman, Lucius Scipio Asiaticus, repaid the Syrian aggression against Roman rights in the area with a resounding defeat (ca. 191–190 B.C.).

11:19 fall. Antiochus returned from defeat to his own land compelled by Rome to relinquish all his territory W of the Taurus and to repay the costs of war. He was likely killed by defenders of a Persian temple he tried to plunder at night in Elymais (to get money to pay reparations required by Rome).

11:20 one who imposes taxes. Rome required Seleucus IV Philopator to render tribute, for Rome was increasingly powerful. The Syrian set out to tax his subjects heavily to raise the tribute. Soon, he died after being poisoned. The "glorious kingdom" possibly refers to Israel ("the Glorious Land") with its splendid temple.

11:21 a vile person. In vv. 21-35, the most cruel king of the North was Seleucid, the Syrian persecutor of Israel named Antiochus IV Epiphanes (cf. 8:9-14,23-25). He came to the throne when his brother Seleucus was murdered and a son of the dead king who might succeed him, Demetrius I Soter, was held hostage in Rome. In the vacuum, Antiochus seized power in Syria.

11:22 they shall be swept away. Egypt's armies were swept away by Antiochus' invading forces as by a flood (cf. "flood" for military onslaught, 9:26). Israel's "prince of the covenant," Onias III, was murdered by his own defecting brother Menelaus at the request of Antiochus (171 B.C.).

11:23 the league. In an Egyptian struggle for the throne, Antiochus developed an alliance with Ptolemy VI Philometer over his rival Ptolemy VII Euergetes II (distinct from the leader in v. 7). By this league, Antiochus deceitfully plotted to gain greater power in Egypt. "With a small" force, he conquered Memphis and the rest of Egypt all the way to Alexandria.

11:24 enter peaceably. Antiochus, under the guise of friendship, plundered the richest Egyptian places he could strike. To gain support, he gave lavish gifts, possibly battle spoils. devise his plans against the strongholds. He formed a scheme to take over Egypt.

11:25 his power...against the...South. Antiochus attacked Philometer, who had become an enemy. The latter fell due to treachery by trusted supporters (v. 26a), and became Antiochus' captive.

11:26 those who eat. Betraying counselors whom Philometer fed, led him to attack Syria to secure his defeat and death for him and his men.

11:27 shall speak lies. Antiochus feigned help to reinstate Ptolemy Philometer to Egypt's throne, occupied then by Ptolemy Euergetes. Both kings lied at the conference, and Antiochus set Philometer up as king at Memphis, whereas Euergetes reigned at Alexandria. The two Egyptians soon agreed on a joint rule, frustrating the Syrian.

11:28 against the holy covenant. En route N through Israel to Syria with riches, Antiochus met a revolt, as sources outside Scripture mention. He struck Jerusalem's temple, profaned the sacrificial system, massacred 80,000 men, took 40,000 prisoners, sold 40,000 as slaves, and squelched a Jewish bid to depose his own designated priest, Menelaus.

11:29 toward the south. Antiochus, for the third time, invaded Egypt against the joint rulership (ca. 168 B.C.); however, with much less success.

11:30 ships...come against him. A Roman fleet from Cyprus sided with Egypt, thwarting Antiochus' attack. Backing down from engaging Rome in war, Antiochus left Egypt, taking out his rage on Israelites in his path. He opposed God's Mosaic Covenant that some Jews kept, despite Syrian policies and some Jewish compromise. Antiochus showed favors to Jewish apostates ("who forsake the holy covenant") as non-biblical writings attest.

therefore he shall be grieved, and return in rage against the holy covenant, and do damage.

"So he shall return and show regard for those who forsake the holy covenant. 31 And [4]forces shall be mustered by him, [y]and they shall defile the sanctuary fortress; then they shall take away the daily sacrifices, and place there the abomination of desolation. 32 Those who do wickedly against the covenant he shall [5]corrupt with flattery; but the people who know their God shall be strong, and carry out great exploits. 33 And those of the people who understand shall instruct many; yet for many days they shall fall by sword and flame, by captivity and plundering. 34 Now when they fall, they shall be aided with a little help; but many shall join with them by [6]intrigue. 35 And some of those of understanding shall fall, [z]to refine them, purify them, and make them white, until the time of the end; because it is still for the appointed time.

36 "Then the king shall do according to his own will: he shall [a]exalt and magnify himself above every god, shall speak blasphemies against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the wrath has been accomplished; for what has been determined shall be done. 37 He shall regard neither the [7]God of his fathers nor the desire of women, [b]nor regard any god; for he shall exalt himself above them all. 38 But in their place he shall honor a god of fortresses; and a god which his fathers did not know he shall honor with gold and silver, with precious stones and pleasant things. 39 Thus he shall act against the strongest fortresses with a foreign god, which he shall acknowledge, and advance its glory; and he shall cause them to rule over many, and divide the land for [8]gain.

The Northern King's Conquests

40 "At the [c]time of the end the king of the South shall attack him; and the king of the North shall come against him [d]like a whirlwind, with chariots, [e]horsemen, and with many ships; and he shall enter the countries, overwhelm them, and pass through. 41 He shall also enter the Glorious Land, and many countries shall be overthrown; but these shall escape from his hand: [f]Edom, Moab, and the [9]promi-

11:31 defile the sanctuary. Antiochus' soldiers, no doubt working with apostate Jews, guarded the temple, halting all worship, while others attacked the city on the Sabbath slaughtering men, women, and children. Soldiers desecrated Israel's temple, banned circumcision and daily sacrifices (1 Macc. 1:44-54), and sacrificed a pig on the altar. The Syrians on Chislev (Dec. 15, 167 B.C.), even imposed an idol statue in honor of the Olympian god Zeus into the temple. Jews called it "the abomination that causes desolation," i.e., emptying or ruining for Jewish worship. abomination of desolation. Antiochus' soldiers profaned God's temple by spreading sow's broth on the altar and banning daily sacrifices (cf. 8:14 and see note there) as described in 1 Macc. 1:44-54. Both Daniel and Jesus said this atrocity was only a preview of the abomination that would happen later under the final Antichrist (9:27; Matt. 24:15).

11:32-34 Those who do wickedly. Compromisers (cf. v. 30) among the Jews were enticed by flattery to side with Antiochus and be corrupted (cf. 1 Macc. 1:11-15).

11:32 the people who know their God. Jews loyal to God (called Hasideans) stood on firm convictions, suffering death rather than compromising (v. 33; as also 1 Macc. 1:62,63). Judas Maccabeus, helped by Rome, led them in a successful revolt.

11:33 instruct many. Jews who "cause to be wise," that is those who believe and know the truth, instructed others in the Scriptures, while also suffering continued persecution.

11:34 a little help. Many would fall away, and Jews committed to the covenant would have little help, humanly speaking. Some, fearing the faithful remnant's dealing with apostates, pretended loyalty.

11:35 to refine them. Faced by persecution, some who remained true to God's "understanding" (any true believers, 12:3) were to fall as martyrs. The gracious design of such suffering was to sanctify them. The persecution pattern continues until the final "end" that God appointed, at Christ's second coming. Reference to this "end" prepares for a transition in v. 36 to final tribulation times when the Antichrist, whom Antiochus prefigures, will be in power. time of the end...appointed time. These two eschatological terms point to a forward leap across thousands of years of history from Antiochus to a future similar trial when the willful king (vv. 36-45) rules. The willful king is the "little horn," the Antichrist (7:7,8,20,21,24-26), the persecutor of 9:27 (see note there).

11:36-45 This section is the far fulfillment of God's prophetic plan. It summarizes details of Daniel's 70th week which are found nowhere else in Scripture. Antiochus Epiphanes, a type of Antichrist, is the perfect transition point to the actual Antichrist.

11:36 Then. This word points to the future "time of the end" mentioned in v. 35. Verses 36-45 discuss the career of the final Antichrist in the last 7 years before Christ's millennial kingdom. This willful king is the final Antichrist (see notes on 7:8,11-12,25; 9:27; cf. Rev. 13:4-7).

11:37 God of his fathers. The word for "God" is "Elohim," a word that is plural, thus in this context probably refers to "gods." Pagan Gentiles have had traditional gods passed down from their fathers, but this king has no regard for any of them. His only god is power (v. 38, "god of fortresses"). desire of women. This could mean that Antichrist will be a homosexual; but it surely means he has no normal desire for or, interest in, women, e.g., as one who is celibate.

11:38 god of fortresses. The term for fortress is used 5 other times in this chapter (vv. 7,10,19,31,39) and each time means "a strong place." Power is to be his god, and he spends all his treasures to become powerful and to finance wars. With this power, he will attack every stronghold (v. 39).

11:40 king of...South...North. Here is the final N/S conflict. The S was Egypt in the earlier context. Here is the last great battle with the final army from the N retaliating against the attack of the final southern African power. Antichrist will not allow this without striking back and winning, defeating both as recorded in v. 41ff. The willful king, Antichrist, withstands onslaughts from both, and prevails, entering Israel ("the Glorious Land") and, perhaps, committing at that time the abomination of desolation (9:23; Matt. 24:15). With this victory, he will be established in power for a time.

nent people of Ammon. 42 He shall stretch out his hand against the countries, and the land of [g]Egypt shall not escape. 43 He shall have power over the treasures of gold and silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt; also the Libyans and Ethiopians shall follow [h]at his heels. 44 But news from the east and the north shall trouble him; therefore he shall go out with great fury to destroy and annihilate many. 45 And he shall plant the tents of his palace between the seas and [i]the glorious holy mountain; [j]yet he shall come to his end, and no one will help him.

Prophecy of the End Time

CHAPTER 12

12 "At that time Michael shall stand up,
The great prince who stands watch over the sons of your people;
[a]And there shall be a time of trouble,
Such as never was since there was a nation,
Even to that time.
And at that time your people [b]shall be delivered,
Every one who is found [c]written in the book.
2 And many of those who sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake,
[d]Some to everlasting life,
Some to shame [e]and everlasting [f]contempt.
3 Those who are wise shall [g]shine
Like the brightness of the firmament,
[g]And those who turn many to righteousness
[h]Like the stars forever and ever.

8 Although I heard, I did not understand. Then I said, "My lord, what shall be the end of these things?"

9 And he said, "Go your way, Daniel, for the words are closed up and sealed till the time of the end. 10 [s]Many shall be purified, made white, and refined, [t]but the wicked shall do wickedly; and none of the wicked shall understand, but [u]the wise shall understand.

11:44 news from...east and...north. Military bulletins alert the willful king, in his victories, of other sectors of the world deploying troops to the Palestinian theater (cf. Rev. 9:16; 16:12).

11:45 his end. To face the latest threats, the willful king sets up his command post between the Mediterranean Sea and the Dead Sea (and/or Sea of Galilee) and the holy mountain of Jerusalem, his troops filling the land (cf. Zech. 12:2,3; 14:2,3; Rev. 19:17-21). No one is able to help him against God, who, by the return of Christ, brings him to his end (cf. Rev. 19:20).

12:1 that time. This points back to 11:36-45, the time of the ascendancy of Antichrist during the final tribulation period. During that period, Michael the archangel (cf. Jude 9) of 10:13, 21 ministers with special attention to protecting Israel during that Gentile time (cf. Is. 26:20,21; Jer. 30:7; Matt. 24:21). "Your people" means Daniel's Israelite people, who can have hope, even in the distress of an unprecedented kind set for the Great Tribulation (Matt. 24:21; cf. Rev. 12:12-17; 13:7). The book is the book of the saved (Mal. 3:16–4:3; Luke 10:20; Rev. 13:8; 17:8; 20:12,15; 21:27).

12:2 many...Some...Some. Two groups will arise from death constituting the "many" meaning all, as in John 5:29. Those of faith will rise to eternal life, the rest of the unsaved to eternal torment. The souls of OT saints are already with the Lord; at that time, they will receive glorified bodies (cf. Rev. 20:4-6).

12:3 wise. Those having true knowledge, by faith in God's Word, not only leaders (as 11:33), but others (11:35; 12:10). To shine in glory is a privilege of all the saved (cf. the principle in 1 Thess. 2:12; 1 Pet. 5:10). Any who influence others for righteousness shine like stars in varying capacities of light as their reward (as in 1 Cor. 3:8). The faithfulness of the believer's witness will determine one's eternal capacity to reflect God's glory.

12:4 the time of the end. Refers to the 70th week of tribulation (cf. 11:35,40). run to and fro. This Heb. verb form always refers to the movement of a person searching for something. In the tribulation, people will search for answers to the devastation and discover increased knowledge through Daniel's preserved book.

12:5 two others. Two angels.

12:6 man...in linen. See note on 10:6.

12:7 a time, times, and half a time. This answers the question of v. 6. Adding these (one, two, and one-half) come to the final 3½ years of Daniel's 70th week (9:27), the time of trouble when the "little horn," or willful king, persecutes the saints (7:25; cf. 11:36-39 and Rev. 12:14; the same span is described by other phrases in Rev. 11:2,3; 13:5).

12:10 Many...purified. Salvation will come to many Jews during the Great Tribulation (cf. Zech. 13:8,9, where the prophet speaks of one-third; Rom. 11:26; Rev. 11:13). The truly saved develop in godliness through trials. The unsaved pursue false values.

11 "And from the time that the daily sacrifice is taken away, and the abomination of desolation is set up, there shall be one thousand two hundred and ninety days.
12 Blessed is he who waits, and comes to the one thousand three hundred and thirty-five days.
13 "But you, go your way till the end; [v] for you shall rest, [w] and will arise to your inheritance at the end of the days."

13 [v] Is. 57:2; Rev. 14:13 [w] Ps. 1:5

12:11 the daily sacrifice. This reference is to the end of daily temple sacrifice, previously allowed under a covenant which the Antichrist formed with Israel, which he later causes to cease in the middle of the final 7 years (9:27). Then, favorable relations give way to persecution. Even his abomination that desecrates the temple (as 9:27; Matt. 24:1; Mark. 13:14; 2 Thess. 2:3,4) is accompanied with persecution. one thousand two hundred and ninety days. From the intrusion of the abomination, there follow 1,290 days, including 1,260 which make up the last 3½ years of the final 7 years (see note on v. 7), then 30 days more, possibly to allow for the judgment of the living subsequent to Christ's return (cf. Matt. 24:29-31; 25:31-46), before millennial kingdom blessings begin.

12:12 Blessed. This is in the kingdom (2:35,45; 7:13,14,27) that gives blessedness after the subjugation to Gentile empires in chaps. 2,7,8. one thousand three hundred and thirty-five days. Forty-five more days, even beyond the 1,290 days, allows for transition between Israel's time of being shattered (v. 7) and God's setting up of His kingdom (cf. 7:13,14,27).

12:13 go. Daniel's own career would soon involve death. will arise. In resurrection (cf. 12:2; John 5:28-29). at the end of the days. The kingdom will ensue after the prophesied days of 9:24-27; 12:11,12.

The Book of HOSEA

Title

The title is derived from the main character and author of the book. The meaning of his name, "salvation," is the same as that of Joshua (cf. Num. 13:8,16) and Jesus (Matt. 1:21). Hosea is the first of the 12 Minor Prophets. "Minor" refers to the brevity of the prophecies, as compared to the length of the works of Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Ezekiel.

Author and Date

The book of Hosea is the sole source of information about the author. Little is known about him, and even less about his father, Beeri (1:1). Hosea was probably a native of the northern kingdom of Israel, since he shows familiarity with the history, circumstances, and topography of the north (cf. 4:15; 5:1,13; 6:8,9; 10:5; 12:11,12; 14:6). This would make him and Jonah the only writing prophets from the northern kingdom. Although he addressed both Israel (the northern kingdom) and Judah (the southern kingdom), he identified the king of Israel as "our king" (7:5).

Hosea had a lengthy period of ministry, prophesying ca. 755–710 B.C., during the reigns of Uzziah (790–739 B.C.), Jotham (750–731 B.C.), Ahaz (735–715 B.C.), and Hezekiah (715–686 B.C.) in Judah, and Jeroboam II (793–753 B.C.) in Israel (1:1). His long career spanned the last 6 kings of Israel from Zechariah (753–752 B.C.) to Hoshea (732–722 B.C.). The overthrow of Zechariah (the last of the dynasty of Jehu) in 752 B.C. is depicted as yet future (1:4). Thus he followed Amos' preaching in the north, and was a contemporary of Isaiah and Micah as well, both of whom prophesied in Judah. Second Kings 14–20 and 2 Chronicles 26–32 record the historical period of Hosea's ministry.

Background and Setting

Hosea began his ministry to Israel (also called Ephraim, after its largest tribe) during the final days of Jeroboam II, under whose guidance Israel was enjoying both political peace and material prosperity as well as moral corruption and spiritual bankruptcy. Upon Jeroboam II's death (753 B.C.), however, anarchy prevailed and Israel declined rapidly. Until her overthrow by Assyria 20 years later, 4 of Israel's 6 kings were assassinated by their successors. Prophesying during the days surrounding the fall of Samaria, Hosea focuses on Israel's moral waywardness (cf. the book of Amos) and her breach of the convenantal relationship with the Lord, announcing that judgment was imminent.

Circumstances were not much better in the southern kingdom. Usurping the priestly function, Uzziah had been struck with leprosy (2 Chr. 26:16-21); Jotham condoned idolatrous practices, opening the way for Ahaz to encourage Baal worship (2 Chr. 27:1–28:4). Hezekiah's revival served only to slow Judah's acceleration toward a fate similar to that of her northern sister. Weak kings on both sides of the border repeatedly sought out alliances with their heathen neighbors (7:11; cf. 2 Kin. 15:19; 16:7) rather than seeking the Lord's help.

Historical and Theological Themes

The theme of Hosea is God's loyal love for His covenant people, Israel, in spite of their idolatry. Thus Hosea has been called the St. John (the apostle of love) of the OT. The Lord's true love for His people is unending and will tolerate no rival. Hosea's message contains much condemnation, both national and individual, but at the same time, he poignantly portrays the love of God toward His people with passionate emotion. Hosea was instructed by God to marry a certain woman, and experience with her a domestic life which was a dramatization of the sin and unfaithfulness of Israel. The marital life of Hosea and his wife, Gomer, provide the rich metaphor which clarifies the themes of the book: sin, judgment, and forgiving love.

Interpretive Challenges

That the faithless wife, Gomer, is symbolic of faithless Israel is without doubt; but questions remain. First, some suggest that the marital scenes in chaps. 1–3 should be taken only as allegory. However, there is nothing in the narrative, presented in simple prose, which would even question its literal occurrence.

Much of its impact would be lost if not literal. When non-literal elements within the book are introduced, they are prefaced with "saw" (5:13; 9:10,13), the normal Hebraic means of introducing non-literal scenes. Furthermore, there is no account of a prophet ever making himself the subject of an allegory or parable.

Second, what are the moral implications of God's command for Hosea to marry a prostitute? It appears best to see Gomer as chaste at the time of marriage to Hosea, only later having become an immoral woman. The words "take yourself a wife of harlotry" are to be understood proleptically, i.e., looking to the future. An immoral woman could not serve as a picture of Israel coming out of Egypt (2:15; 9:10), who then later wandered away from God (11:1). Chapter 3 describes Hosea taking back his wife, who had been rejected because of adultery, a rejection that was unjustifiable if Hosea had married a prostitute with full knowledge of her character.

A third question arises concerning the relationship between chap. 1 and chap. 3 and whether the woman of chap. 3 is Gomer or another woman. There are a number of factors which suggest that the woman of chap. 3 is Gomer. In 1:2, God's command is to "Go, take;" in 3:1, however, His command is to "Go again, love," suggesting that Hosea's love was to be renewed to the same woman. Furthermore, within the analogy of chap. 1, Gomer represents Israel. As God renews His love toward faithless Israel, so Hosea is to renew his love toward faithless Gomer. For Hos. 3 to denote a different woman would confuse the analogy.

The Family of Hosea

2 When the LORD began to speak by Hosea, the LORD said to Hosea:

[f]"Go, take yourself a wife of harlotry
And children of harlotry,
For [g]the land has committed great [1]harlotry
By departing from the LORD."

3 So he went and took Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, and she conceived and bore him a son. 4 Then the LORD said to him:

"Call his name Jezreel,
For in a little while
[h]I will avenge the bloodshed of Jezreel on the house of Jehu,
[i]And bring an end to the kingdom of the house of Israel.
5 [j]It shall come to pass in that day
That I will break the bow of Israel in the Valley of Jezreel."

"Call her name [2]Lo-Ruhamah,
[k]For I will no longer have mercy on the house of Israel,
[3]But I will utterly take them away.
7 [l]Yet I will have mercy on the house of Judah,
Will save them by the LORD their God,
And [m]will not save them by bow,
Nor by sword or battle,

8 Now when she had weaned Lo-Ruhamah, she conceived and bore a son. 9 Then God said:

"Call his name [4]Lo-Ammi,
For you are not My people,
And I will not be your God.

9 [4] Lit. Not-My-People
10 [n] Gen. 22:17; 32:12; Jer. 33:22

1:1 The Word of the LORD. Cf. 6:5. This kind of introduction, expressing the prophet's divine authority and message source, appears also in Joel 1:1; Mic. 1:1; Zeph. 1:1; Zech. 1:1; Mal. 1:1. Similar statements appear in Amos 1:3; Obad. 1; Jon. 1:1; Hag. 1:2.

1:2 wife of harlotry. See Introduction: Interpretive Challenges. children of harlotry. This points to the future unfaithfulness of their mother. The children were possibly not fathered by Hosea. That Hosea's marriage to Gomer was to depict God's marriage to Israel is clearly set forth and becomes the key to the theme of the book.

1:4 Jezreel. Meaning "God will scatter" (cf. Zech. 10:9), the name is given to the child so named, as a prediction of judgment (cf. 2 Kin. 9:7–10:28). I will avenge the bloodshed of Jezreel. It was at the city of Jezreel where Jehu slaughtered the house of Ahab (cf. 2 Kin. 9:7–10:28). bring an end. Looks forward to the exile of Israel to Assyria in 722 B.C., from which she never returned.

1:5 the Valley of Jezreel. Jezreel, called Esdraelon, extends 10 mi. in breadth from the Jordan to the Mediterranean Sea, near Carmel; it was the great battlefield (see Rev. 16:14-16) adjoining the Valley of Megiddo, which will become an avenue of blessing (cf. v. 11) when Christ returns in triumph. break the bow. The bow was a common euphemism denoting military strength, the principle instrument of warfare in Israel. Fulfillment came in 722 B.C. when Assyria invaded.

1:6 Lo-Ruhamah. Lit. "not pitied," this daughter is named to symbolize God bringing judgment on Israel, no longer extending His favor towards them.

1:7 I will have mercy on...Judah. God chose to intervene on behalf of Hezekiah when Jerusalem was besieged at the hands of the Assyrians in 701 B.C. (cf. 2 Kin. 19; Is. 37).

1:9 Lo-Ammi. The name means "not My people" and symbolizes God's rejection of Israel. I will not be your God. Lit. "I will not be 'I am' to you." The phrase gives the breaking of the covenant, a kind of divorce formula, in contrast to the covenant or marriage formula "I am that I am" given in Ex. 3:14.

1:10–2:1 In spite of the waywardness of Israel, God preserved a remnant for Himself from both Israel and Judah. Speaking of millennial blessings, God promised national increase (cf. Is. 54:1), national conversion and reunion (cf. Ezek. 37:15-23), national leadership (3:5), and national restoration (2:23).

1:10 number. A reaffirmation of the Abrahamic Covenant, not to be fulfilled in this generation but in the future (cf. Gen. 22:17).

[o] And it shall come to pass
In the place where it was said to them,
'You are [5]not My [p]people,'
There it shall be said to them,
'You are [q]sons of the living God.'
11 [r]Then the children of Judah and the children of Israel
Shall be gathered together,
And appoint for themselves one head;
And they shall come up out of the land,
For great will be the day of Jezreel!
2 Say to your brethren, [1]'My people,'
And to your sisters, [2]'Mercy is shown.'

God's Unfaithful People

2 "Bring[3] charges against your mother, [4]bring charges;
For [a]she is not My wife, nor am I her Husband!
Let her put away her [b]harlotries from her sight,
And her adulteries from between her breasts;
3 Lest [c]I strip her naked
And expose her, as in the day she was [d]born,
And make her like a wilderness,
And set her like a dry land,
And slay her with [e]thirst.

4 "I will not have mercy on her children,
For they are the [f]children of harlotry.
5 For their mother has played the harlot;
She who conceived them has behaved shamefully.
For she said, 'I will go after my lovers,
[g]Who give me my bread and my water,
My wool and my linen,
My oil and my drink.'

6 "Therefore, behold,
[h]I will hedge up your way with thorns,
And [5]wall her in,
So that she cannot find her paths.
7 She will [6]chase her lovers,
But not overtake them;
Yes, she will seek them, but not find them.
Then she will say,
[i]'I will go and return to my [j]first husband,
For then it was better for me than now.'
8 For she did not [k]know
That I gave her grain, new wine, and oil,
And multiplied her silver and gold—
Which they prepared for Baal.

9 "Therefore I will return and take away
My grain in its time
And My new wine in its season,
And will take back My wool and My linen,
Given to cover her nakedness.
10 Now [l]I will uncover her lewdness in the sight of her lovers,
And no one shall deliver her from My hand.
11 [m]I will also cause all her mirth to cease,
Her feast days,
Her New Moons,
Her Sabbaths—
All her appointed feasts.

12 "And I will destroy her vines and her fig trees,
Of which she has said,
'These are my wages that my lovers have given me.'
So I will make them a forest,
And the beasts of the field shall eat them.

not My people. Quoted by Paul in Rom. 9:26.

1:11 one head. Refers to Messiah (cf. 3:5). day of Jezreel. Here used positively in the sense of divine blessing (cf. 2:22).

2:2 Bring charges against your mother. Although the language is applicable to Gomer, it depicts a courtroom scene in which the Lord, as the plaintiff, brings charges against the defendant. Individual Israelites, depicted as the children, are commanded to bring charges against their mother, Israel as a nation. The physical immorality of Gomer pictures the spiritual idolatry of Israel.

2:5 I will go. Lit. "Let me go," it denotes strong desire and bent. Israel attributed her prosperity to the idols of her heathen neighbors, "her lovers" (cf. vv. 7,10,12). She would not be deterred from pursuing them.

2:8-13 God withheld rain and productivity to show Israel that the Canaanite god Baal was not the god of rain and fertility.

2:8 prepared for Baal. Baal (the Phoenician sun-god) worship, already present during the time of the judges (cf. Judg. 2:17; 3:3; 8:33), became established in Israel when king Ahab married Jezebel, who attempted to obliterate Israelite worship of the true God (cf. 1 Kin. 19). Offerings to Baal actually came from God's dowry to Israel (cf. Ezek. 16:10-14).

2:10 I will uncover her lewdness. God pledged to expose Israel's wickedness. The phrase is linked to being taken forcibly into captivity in Ezek. 16:37-40. her lovers. The idols were personified as if they could see, though they could offer no help.

2:11 feast days. Ever since the Exodus from Egypt, Israel had intermingled the worship of the Lord with the worship of false gods (cf. Amos 5:26; Acts 7:43).

13 I will punish her
For the days of the Baals to which she burned incense.
She decked herself with her earrings and jewelry,
And went after her lovers;
But Me she forgot," says the LORD.

God's Mercy on His People

14 "Therefore, behold, I will allure her,
Will bring her into the wilderness,
And speak [7]comfort to her.
15 I will give her her vineyards from there,
And [n]the Valley of Achor as a door of hope;
She shall sing there,
As in [o]the days of her youth,
[p]As in the day when she came up from the land of Egypt.

16 "And it shall be, in that day,"
Says the LORD,
"That you will call Me [8]'My Husband,'
And no longer call Me [9]'My Master,'
17 For [q]I will take from her mouth the names of the Baals,
And they shall be remembered by their name no more.
18 In that day I will make a [r]covenant for them
With the beasts of the field,
With the birds of the air,
And with the creeping things of the ground.
Bow and sword of battle [s]I will shatter from the earth,
To make them [t]lie down safely.

19 "I will betroth you to Me forever;
Yes, I will betroth you to Me
In righteousness and justice,
In lovingkindness and mercy;
20 I will betroth you to Me in faithfulness,
And [u]you shall know the LORD.

21 "It shall come to pass in that day
That [v]I will answer," says the LORD;
"I will answer the heavens,
And they shall answer the earth.
22 The earth shall answer
With grain,
With new wine,
And with oil;
They shall answer [1]Jezreel.
23 Then [w]I will sow her for Myself in the earth,
[x]And I will have mercy on her who had [2]not obtained mercy;
Then [y]I will say to those who were [3]not My people,
'You are [4]My people!'
And they shall say, 'You are my God!' "

Israel Will Return to God

3 Then the LORD said to me, "Go again, love a woman who is loved by a [a]lover[1] and is committing adultery, just like the love of the LORD for the children of Israel, who look to other gods and love the raisin cakes of the pagans."

2 So I bought her for myself for fifteen shekels of silver, and one and one-half homers of barley. 3 And I said to her, "You shall [b]stay with me many days; you shall

2:13 Me she forgot. Cf. 2 Kin. 17:7-18 for a detailed description of what their abandonment of God involved.

2:14 speak comfort to her. The phrase was used of wooing (Gen. 34:3; Judg. 19:3; Ruth 2:13). God will restore Israel to Himself.

2:15 Valley of Achor. Lit. "Valley of Trouble," near Jericho where Achan and his family were judged (Josh. 7:24). This reference alerts Israel that her discipline and judgment would not last forever because there is a "door of hope."

2:16 My Husband...My Master. The former (lit. "my ishi") denotes affection and intimacy, while the latter (lit. "my baali") speaks of rulership.

2:17 In v. 13, Israel forgot her true God; God said she would forget her false gods. What the outward conformity to the Mosaic Covenant could not do, God does through a new, regenerated heart in the New Covenant (Jer. 31:31-34; Zech. 13:1,2).

2:18 a covenant. This depicts a millennial scene (cf. Is. 2:4; 11:6-9; Mic. 4:3) when God's people become subject to God and creation becomes subject to them.

2:19,20 I will betroth you. Repeated 3 times, the term emphasizes the intensity of God's restoring love for the nation. In that day, Israel will be no longer be thought of as a prostitute. Israel brings nothing to the marriage; God makes all the promises and provides all the dowry. These verses are recited by every orthodox Jew as he places the phylacteries on his hand and forehead (cf. Deut. 11:18). The regeneration/conversion of the nation is much like that of an individual (cf. 2 Cor. 5:16-19).

2:22,23 A reversal of circumstances (cf. 1:4,6,9).

2:22 Jezreel. As in 1:11, used here in the positive sense of scattering seed to sow it.

2:23 Quoted by Paul in Rom. 9:25 as analogous to the conversion of Gentiles.

3:1 Go again, love. Having been previously separated, Hosea was commanded to pursue his estranged wife Gomer (cf. Introduction: Interpretive Challenges), thereby illustrating God's unquenchable love for faithless Israel. raisin cakes. Eaten as a part of special occasions (cf. 2 Sam. 6:19), they may have been used in idolatrous ceremonies, possibly as an aphrodisiac (cf. Song 2:5).

3:2 bought her. Probably from a slave auction, Hosea purchased Gomer for 15 shekels of silver and 1½ homers of barley. Together, the total may have equaled 30 pieces of silver, the price paid for a common slave (cf. Ex. 21:32). Barley was the offering of one accused of adultery (Num. 5:15).

3:3-5 Gomer would not be allowed conjugal relations for "many days," with any man, including Hosea. As a further element of the pic-not play the harlot, nor shall you have a man—so, too, will I be toward you."

4 For the children of Israel shall abide many days [c]without king or prince, without sacrifice or sacred pillar, without [d]ephod or [e]teraphim. 5 Afterward the children of Israel shall return and [f]seek the LORD their God and [g]David their king. They shall fear the LORD and His goodness in the [h]latter days.

God's Charge Against Israel

4 Hear the word of the LORD,
You children of Israel,
For the LORD brings a [a]charge[1] against the inhabitants of the land:

"There is no truth or mercy
Or [b]knowledge of God in the land.
2 By swearing and lying,
Killing and stealing and committing adultery,
They break all restraint,
With bloodshed [2]upon bloodshed.
3 Therefore [c]the land will mourn;
And [d]everyone who dwells there will waste away
With the beasts of the field
And the birds of the air;
Even the fish of the sea will be taken away.

4 "Now let no man contend, or rebuke another;
For your people are like those [e]who contend with the priest.
5 Therefore you shall stumble [f]in the day;
The prophet also shall stumble
with you in the night;
And I will destroy your mother.
6 [g]My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge.
Because you have rejected
knowledge,
I also will reject you from being priest for Me;
[h]Because you have forgotten the law of your God,
I also will forget your children.

7 "The more they increased,
The more they sinned against Me;
[i]I[3] will change [4]their glory into shame.
8 They eat up the sin of My people;
They set their [5]heart on their
iniquity.
9 And it shall be: [j]like people, like priest.
So I will punish them for their
ways,
And [6]reward them for their deeds.
10 For [k]they shall eat, but not have enough;
They shall commit harlotry, but not increase;
Because they have ceased obeying
the LORD.

The Idolatry of Israel

11 "Harlotry, wine, and new wine

12 My people ask counsel from their [m]wooden idols,
And their [7]staff informs them.
For [n]the spirit of harlotry has caused them to stray,
And they have played the harlot against their God.

mountaintops,
And burn incense on the hills,

ture of God's dealings with His covenant people during the present age, Israel would exist without her existing political and religious (both true and false) relations until Messiah returns at the Second Advent to set up His millennial reign (cf. Ezek. 40–48; Zech. 12–14).

3:4 without ephod or teraphim. Idolatrous items of priestly clothing and objects of worship.

3:5 David. Cf. 1:11. This must refer to Messiah during the Millennium, as "in the latter days" specifies (cf. Is. 55:3,4; Jer. 30:9; Ezek. 34:23, 24; 37:24,25). The Jews did not seek after Christ at His first advent. This reference has the Davidic Covenant as its background (cf. 2 Sam. 7:12-17; Pss. 39; 132).

4:1 the LORD brings a charge. Turning from the analogy of his own marriage, the prophet made the judicial charge in God's indictment against Israel.

4:2 Note the many infractions of the Ten Commandments (cf. Ex. 20:3-17).

4:3 Sin plays havoc with lower creation and nature (cf. Joel 1:17-20; Rom. 8:19-22).

4:4 let no man contend. Rationalizing and denying their wrongs, the people protested their innocence, like those who would not humbly accept the decision of the priests (cf. Deut 17:8-13).

4:5 your mother. The Israelite state of which the people are the children (cf. 2:2).

4:6 reject you from being priest for Me. Having rejected the Lord's instruction, Israel could no longer serve as His priest to the nations (cf. Ex. 19:6; James 3:1).

4:7-10 Their position of power and glory, abused in succeeding generations by the eating of the sin offerings, would be turned to shame. Being no different than the people, the priests, who should have been faithful, would share their punishment (cf. Is. 24:1-3).

4:11 Here is a moral truth applicable to all people and times. Verses 12,13 are illustrations of the enslavement in Israel.

4:12 spirit of harlotry. A prevailing mindset and inclination to worldly spiritual immorality, i.e., idolatry (cf. 5:4).

4:13 Bereft of righteous teaching and understanding, they sacrificed to idols. Hilltops and groves of trees were favorite places for idolatrous worship (cf. Deut. 12:2; Jer. 2:20; Ezek. 6:13), including religious prostitution.

Therefore people who do not

Impending Judgment on Israel and Judah

5 "Hear this, O priests!
Take heed, O house of Israel!
Give ear, O house of the king!
For [1]yours is the judgment,
Because [a]you have been a snare to Mizpah
And a net spread on Tabor.

4 "They[2] do not direct their deeds
Toward turning to their God,
For [e]the spirit of harlotry is in their
midst,
And they do not know the LORD.
5 The [f]pride of Israel testifies to his face;
Therefore Israel and Ephraim stumble in their iniquity;
Judah also stumbles with them.

6 "With their flocks and herds

But they will not find Him;
He has withdrawn Himself from them.
7 They have [h]dealt treacherously

4:14 Although all who sin will be judged, God forbade punishing the adulteresses alone and leaving the men who patronized them to go free. The heaviest punishment would not be on the women who sin, but the fathers and husbands who set such a bad example by their engagement with prostitutes. do not understand. Cf. 4:6.

4:15 Gilgal. Between Jordan and Jericho in the area of Samaria, this was once a holy place to God (Josh. 5:10-15; 1 Sam. 10:8; 15:21), afterwards desecrated by idol worship (cf. 9:15; 12:11; Amos 4:4; 5:5). Beth Aven. Judah was to stay away from Israel's centers of false worship, including Beth Aven ("house of wickedness/deceit"). This was a deliberate substitution for the name Bethel ("house of God"), once sacred to God (Gen. 28:17,19), but made by Jeroboam a place to worship calves (cf.1 Kin. 12:28-33; 13:1; Jer. 48:13; Amos 3:14; 7:13).

4:16 Because Israel was like a stubborn calf, God no longer attempted to corral her, abandoning her as a lamb in a vast wilderness.

4:17 Ephraim...Let him alone. As the largest and most influential of the northern 10 tribes, Ephraim's name was often used as representative of the northern nation. This was an expression of God's wrath of abandonment. When sinners reject Him and are bent on fulfilling their wicked purposes, God removes restraining grace and turns them over to the results of their own perverse choices. This kind of wrath is that in Rom. 1:18-32 (cf. Judg. 10:13; 2 Chr. 15:2; 24:20; Ps. 81:11,12).

5:1 Hosea addressed the priests, the people, and the royal family; the 3 imperatives demand attention. The religious and civil leaders had entrapped the people (cf. 6:9; 7:7). Mizpah...Tabor. Mizpah of Gilead, lying E of the Jordan (Judg. 10:17; 11:29), and Tabor, SW of the Sea of Galilee, were likely places for false worship.

5:5 pride of Israel testifies to his face. Israel's pride in idolatry provided self-incrimination (cf. 7:10).

5:6,7 Her religious sacrifices and monthly festivals no longer brought divine favor, only judgment. God "has withdrawn Himself from them." See note on 4:17.

5:8 The enemy was already upon them and thus her watchmen were to sound the alarm (cf. Num. 10:9). Gibeah...Ramah. Located

[j]Cry aloud at [k]Beth Aven,
'Look behind you, O Benjamin!'
9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke;
Among the tribes of Israel I make known what is sure.

10 "The princes of Judah are like those who [l]remove a landmark;
I will pour out my wrath on them like water.
11 Ephraim is [m]oppressed and broken in judgment,
Because he willingly walked by [n]human precept.
12 Therefore I will be to Ephraim like a moth,
And to the house of Judah [o]like rottenness.

13 "When Ephraim saw his sickness,
And Judah saw his [p]wound,
Then Ephraim went [q]to Assyria
And sent to King Jareb;
Yet he cannot cure you,
Nor heal you of your wound.
14 For [r]I will be like a lion to Ephraim,
And like a young lion to the house of Judah.
[s]I, even I, will tear them and go away;
I will take them away, and no one shall rescue.
15 I will return again to My place
Till they [4]acknowledge their offense.
Then they will seek My face;
In their affliction they will earnestly seek Me."

A Call to Repentance

6 Come,[a] and let us return to the LORD;
For [b]He has torn, but [c]He will heal us;
He has stricken, but He will [1]bind us up.
2 [d]After two days He will revive us;
On the third day He will raise us up,
That we may live in His sight.
3 [e]Let us know,
Let us pursue the knowledge of the LORD.
His going forth is established [f]as the morning;
[g]He will come to us [h]like the rain,
Like the latter and former rain to the earth.

Impenitence of Israel and Judah

4 "O Ephraim, what shall I do to you?
O Judah, what shall I do to you?
For your faithfulness is like a morning cloud,
And like the early dew it goes away.
5 Therefore I have hewn them by the prophets,
I have slain them by [i]the words of My mouth;
And [2]your judgments are like light that goes forth.
6 For I desire [j]mercy[3] and [k]not sacrifice,
And the [l]knowledge of God more than burnt offerings.

7 "But like [4]men they transgressed the covenant;
There they dealt treacherously with Me.
8 [m]Gilead is a city of evildoers
And [5]defiled with blood.
9 As bands of robbers lie in wait for a man,
So the company of [n]priests
[o]murder on the way to Shechem;
Surely they commit [p]lewdness.
10 I have seen a horrible thing in the house of Israel:
There is the [6]harlotry of Ephraim;
Israel is defiled.

on Judah's northern border with Israel. Beth Aven. (Bethel) situated in southern Israel (cf. 4:15). All three were strategic defense cities. Benjamin. Used to refer to the whole southern kingdom.

5:10 remove a landmark. Boundaries, marked by stones, could be easily moved at night. Moving them was tantamount to stealing land from a neighbor (cf. Deut. 19:14; 27:17; Prov. 22:28; 23:10). Worse, Israel's leaders were moving spiritual lines established by God (cf. v. 11).

5:12 moth...rottenness. God will be destructive to Israel.

5:13 King Jareb. "Jareb" means "warrior" and refers to king of Assyria, to whom Israel (cf. 2 Kin. 15:19,20) and later Judah (cf. 2 Kin. 16:5-9) turned for help.

5:14,15 Foreign assistance would be of no value, since the Lord was orchestrating punishment at the hands of the Assyrians. He would remove Himself "till they acknowledge their offense" and "seek My face" (cf. 3:5).

6:1-3 Coming with the beginning of Christ's millennial reign (cf. Zech. 12:10–13:1; Is. 43:1-6), Hosea records Israel's future words of repentance (cf. 5:15).

6:2 After two days...On the third day. Not a reference to the resurrection of Christ (illness, not death, is in the context), but to the quickness of healing and restoration (cf. the quickness with which the dry bones of Ezek. 37 respond). Numbers are used similarly elsewhere (e.g., Job 5:19; Prov. 6:16; 30:15,18; Amos 1:3).

6:6 I desire mercy...not sacrifice. Cf. Matt. 9:13; 12:7.

6:4-7 Because Israel's commitment to the Lord was fleeting and superficial, He had to send prophets with stern words (vv. 4,5), calling for a covenantal loyalty befitting a marriage relationship (v. 6). But they violated the marriage vows (v. 7).

6:7 men...covenant. A reference to the Mosaic Covenant (cf. 8:1; Ex. 19:5,6).

11 Also, O Judah, a harvest is appointed for you,
When I return the captives of My people.

CHAPTER 7

7 "When I would have healed Israel,
Then the iniquity of Ephraim was uncovered,
And the wickedness of Samaria.
For [a] they have committed fraud;
A thief comes in;
A band of robbers [1] takes spoil outside.
2 They [2] do not consider in their hearts
That [b] I remember all their wickedness;
Now their own deeds have surrounded them;
They are before My face.
3 They make a [c] king glad with their
wickedness,
And princes [d] with their lies.

4 "They [e] are all adulterers.
Like an oven heated by a baker—
He ceases stirring the fire after kneading the dough,
Until it is leavened.
5 In the day of our king
Princes have made him sick,
[3] inflamed with [f] wine;
He stretched out his hand with scoffers.
6 They prepare their heart like an oven,
While they lie in wait;
[4] Their baker sleeps all night;
In the morning it burns like a flaming fire.
7 They are all hot, like an oven,
And have devoured their judges;
All their kings have fallen.
[g] None among them calls upon Me.

8 "Ephraim [h] has mixed himself
among the peoples;
Ephraim is a cake unturned.
9 [i] Aliens have devoured his strength,
But he does not know it;
Yes, gray hairs are here and there on him,
Yet he does not know it.
10 And the [j] pride of Israel testifies to his face,
But [k] they do not return to the LORD
their God,
Nor seek Him for all this.

Futile Reliance on the Nations

11 "Ephraim [l] also is like a silly dove, without [5] sense—
[m] They call to Egypt,
They go to [n] Assyria.
12 Wherever they go, I will [o] spread
My net on them;
I will bring them down like birds
of the air;
I will chastise them
[p] According to what their congregation has heard.

13 "Woe to them, for they have fled from Me!
Destruction to them,
Because they have transgressed
against Me!
Though [q] I redeemed them,
Yet they have spoken lies against
Me.
14 [r] They did not cry out to Me with their heart
When they wailed upon their beds.

"They [6] assemble together for grain and new [s] wine,
[7] They rebel against Me;
15 Though I disciplined and strengthened their arms,
Yet they devise evil against Me;
16 They return, but not [8] to the Most High;
[t] They are like a treacherous bow.
Their princes shall fall by the
sword
For the [u] cursings of their tongue.

6:11 Lest Judah feel smug at her neighbor's demise, the prophet reminds them that they have a day of reckoning awaiting them (cf. Jer. 51:13; Joel 2:1-3).

7:1 Samaria. As the capital, Samaria represents the northern kingdom.

7:4-7 The civil leaders' evil lust burned so passionately all night, that the prophet repeatedly described it like a consuming oven (cf. vv. 4,6,7), so hot that the baker could forego stirring the fire during the entire night and still have adequate heat for baking the next morning.

7:7 All their kings have fallen. Four of Israel's final 6 kings were murdered by usurpers.

7:8,9 At Israel's invitation, foreign nations made debilitating inroads into her national and religious life. This intrusion was making her like "a cake unturned," burned on one side and raw on the other. Payment for this foreign assistance was "devouring her strength" (v. 9) and making her old and feeble without noticing it.

7:11,12 Like a dove, reputed to be easily lured and captured (cf. Matt. 10:16), so Israel had been enticed by Egypt and Assyria, who ultimately trapped her.

7:13 redeemed them. From Egypt and their other enemies.

7:14 wailed upon their beds...assemble together. The former phrase may speak of appeals to pagan fertility gods upon beds of sacred prostitution, while the latter, if the marginal reading is correct, harkens to Elijah's encounter with the prophets of Baal on Mt. Carmel (cf. 1 Kin. 18:28).

This shall be their derision [v]in the land of Egypt.

The Apostasy of Israel

8 "Set the [1]trumpet to your mouth!
He shall come [a]like an eagle against the house of the LORD,
Because they have transgressed My covenant
And rebelled against My law.
2 [b]Israel will cry to Me,
'My God, [c]we know You!'
3 Israel has rejected the good;
The enemy will pursue him.

4 "They[d] set up kings, but not by Me;
They made princes, but I did not acknowledge them.
From their silver and gold
They made idols for themselves—
That they might be cut off.
5 Your [2]calf [3]is rejected, O Samaria!
My anger is aroused against them—
[e]How long until they attain to innocence?
6 For from Israel is even this:
A [f]workman made it, and it is not God;
But the calf of Samaria shall be broken to pieces.

7 "They[g] sow the wind,
And reap the whirlwind.
The stalk has no bud;
It shall never produce meal.
If it should produce,
[h]Aliens would swallow it up.
8 [i]Israel is swallowed up;
Now they are among the Gentiles
[j]Like a vessel in which is no pleasure.
9 For they have gone up to Assyria,
Like [k]a wild donkey alone by itself;
Ephraim [l]has hired lovers.
10 Yes, though they have hired among the nations,
Now [m]I will gather them;
And they shall [4]sorrow a little,
Because of the [5]burden of [n]the king of princes.

11 "Because Ephraim has made many altars for sin,
They have become for him altars for sinning.
12 I have written for him [o]the great things of My law,
But they were considered a strange thing.
13 For the sacrifices of My offerings
[p]they sacrifice flesh and eat it,
[q]But the LORD does not accept them.
[r]Now He will remember their iniquity and punish their sins.
They shall return to Egypt.

14 "For[s] Israel has forgotten [t]his Maker,
And has built [6]temples;
Judah also has multiplied [u]fortified cities;
But [v]I will send fire upon his cities,
And it shall devour his [7]palaces."

Judgment of Israel's Sin

9 Do[a] not rejoice, O Israel, with joy like other peoples,
For you have played the harlot against your God.
You have made love for [b]hire on every threshing floor.
2 The threshing floor and the winepress
Shall not feed them,
And the new wine shall fail in her.

3 They shall not dwell in [c]the LORD's land,
[d]But Ephraim shall return to Egypt,

3 [c] [Lev. 25:23]; Jer. 2:7 [d] Hos. 7:16; 8:13

8:1 like an eagle. Lit. a "vulture," Assyria was ready to descend quickly upon Israel to devour her (cf. Deut. 28:49). transgressed My covenant. See note on 6:7.

8:2 we know You! Israel's syncretistic worship wherein she practiced idolatry while crying out to God.

8:5 Your calf is rejected. Calf worship was the national religion of the northern kingdom (cf. 1 Kin. 12:25-33; Ex. 32).

8:7 sow the wind...whirlwind. This indicates the escalating uselessness of all their false religion.

8:9 they have gone up to Assyria. As the context notes, this is not a reference to the captivity, but to the alliance she made with Assyria. "Like a wild donkey," Israel has stubbornly pursued foreign assistance rather than depending on the Lord.

8:12 Israel has been duly warned; she is without excuse (cf. 6:7; 8:1).

8:13 shall return to Egypt. Recalling the place of Israel's former bondage, Hosea reminds them that Assyria will be their future "Egypt" (cf. 9:3; 11:5; Deut. 28:68). A few Judean refugees actually did go to Egypt (cf. 2 Kin. 25:26). Isaiah used "Sodom" in a similar representative fashion (Is. 1:9,10).

8:14 Judah...fortified cities. Though less idolatrous than Israel, Judah showed lack of trust in God by trusting more in fortifications. Instead of drawing near to God, Judah multiplied human defenses (cf. Is. 22:8; Jer. 5:17).

9:1-17 Hosea enumerates the features of the Lord's banishment to Assyria: loss of joy (vv. 1,2); exile (vv. 3-6); loss of spiritual discernment (vv. 7-9); declining birth rate (vv. 10–16); and abandonment by God (v. 17).

9:1,2 threshing floor...winepress. These were the very places where sacred prostitution took place in an attempt to cause Baal to bring prosperity.

9:3 the LORD's land. Cf. Lev. 25:23. Egypt. See note on 8:13 (cf. 11:3).

And [e]shall eat unclean things in Assyria.
4 They shall not offer wine offerings to the LORD,
Nor [f]shall their [g]sacrifices be pleasing to Him.
It shall be like bread of mourners to them;
All who eat it shall be defiled.
For their bread shall be for their own life;
It shall not come into the house of the LORD.

5 What will you do in the appointed day,
And in the day of the feast of the LORD?
6 For indeed they are gone because of destruction.
Egypt shall gather them up;
Memphis shall bury them.
[h]Nettles shall possess their valuables of silver;
Thorns shall be in their tents.

7 The [i]days of punishment have come;
The days of recompense have come.
Israel knows!
The prophet is a [j]fool,
[k]The spiritual man is insane,
Because of the greatness of your iniquity and great enmity.
8 The [l]watchman of Ephraim is with my God;
But the prophet is a [1]fowler's snare in all his ways—
Enmity in the house of his God.
9 [m]They are deeply corrupted,
As in the days of [n]Gibeah.
He will remember their iniquity;
He will punish their sins.

10 "I found Israel
Like grapes in the [o]wilderness;
I saw your fathers
As the [p]firstfruits on the fig tree in its first season.
But they went to [q]Baal Peor,
And [2]separated themselves to that shame;
[r]They became an abomination like the thing they loved.
11 As for Ephraim, their glory shall fly away like a bird—
No birth, no pregnancy, and no conception!
12 Though they bring up their children,
Yet I will bereave them to the last man.
Yes, [s]woe to them when I depart from them!
13 Just [t]as I saw Ephraim like Tyre, planted in a pleasant place,
So Ephraim will bring out his children to the murderer."

14 Give them, O LORD—
What will You give?
Give them [u]a miscarrying womb
And dry breasts!

15 "All their wickedness is in [v]Gilgal,
For there I hated them.
Because of the evil of their deeds
I will drive them from My house;
I will love them no more.
[w]All their princes are rebellious.
16 Ephraim is [x]stricken,
Their root is dried up;
They shall bear no fruit.
Yes, were they to bear children,
I would kill the darlings of their womb."

17 My God will [y]cast them away,
Because they did not obey Him;
And they shall be [z]wanderers among the nations.

CHAPTER 10

1 [a] Nah. 2:2 [b] Jer. 2:28; Hos. 8:11; 12:11

9:4 bread of mourners...defiled. Food eaten on the occasion of mourning was considered unclean, defiling anyone eating it (cf. Deut. 26:12-15).

9:6 Memphis. An ancient capital of Egypt known for its tombs and pyramids.

9:7,8 The prophets were God's inspired messengers and watchmen (cf. Ezek. 3:17; 33:1-7), yet Israel considered them fools and madmen.

9:9 Gibeah. Cf. 10:9. Israel's sin is likened to the gross evil of the men of Gibeah, a reference to their heinous rape of the concubine (Judg. 19:22-25), an infamous and unforgettable crime (cf. Judg. 19:30).

9:10 grapes in the wilderness. A rare and refreshing find (cf. Deut. 32:10). Baal Peor. Prior to entering the Promised Land, Israel fell into worship of Baal at Baal Peor (Num. 25:3-18).

9:11-14 Reminiscent of the imprecatory psalms, Hosea prayed that God's blessing would be withdrawn, in the figure of withholding children, the ultimate earthly blessing.

9:15 Gilgal. As a center of idol worship (cf. 4:15), the place was representative of Israel's spiritual adultery; therefore He had rejected them from intimate fellowship.

9:17 wanderers. God promised global dispersion for disobedience (cf. Lev. 26:33; Deut. 28:64,65).

10:1 Agricultural prosperity had resulted in spiritual corruption (cf. Ezek. 16:10-19).

According to the bounty of his land
They have embellished his sacred pillars.
2 Their heart is [c]divided;[1]
Now they are held guilty.
He will break down their altars;
He will ruin their sacred pillars.

3 For now they say,
"We have no king,
Because we did not fear the LORD.
And as for a king, what would he do for us?"
4 They have spoken words,
Swearing falsely in making a covenant.
Thus judgment springs up [d]like hemlock in the furrows of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria fear

For its people mourn for it,
And [3]its priests shriek for it—
Because its [f]glory has departed from it.
6 The idol also shall be carried to Assyria
As a present for King [g]Jareb.
Ephraim shall receive shame,
And Israel shall be ashamed of his own counsel.

7 As for Samaria, her king is cut off
Like a twig on the water.
8 Also the [h]high places of [4]Aven,
[i]the sin of Israel,
Shall be destroyed.
The thorn and thistle shall grow on their altars;
[j]They shall say to the mountains,
"Cover us!"
And to the hills, "Fall on us!"

God's Continuing Love for Israel

CHAPTER 11

11 "When Israel was a [1]child, I loved him,
And out of Egypt [a]I called My [b]son.

1 [a] Matt. 2:15 [b] Ex. 4:22, 23 [1] Or youth

10:3,4 The last 5 kings of Israel were usurpers. Impotent and unworthy of respect, they were incapable of enforcing the laws of the land.

10:5 the calf of Beth Aven. See notes on 4:15; 8:5.

10:8 Cover us...Fall on us. The captivity would be so severe that the people would pray for the mountains and hills to fall on them, similar to the last days (cf. Luke 23:30; Rev. 6:16).

10:10 two transgressions. Israel would receive a double portion of judgment for her multiplied iniquity (cf. Is. 40:2; Jer. 16:18).

10:11 a trained heifer that loves to thresh grain. This was a far easier work than plowing, since cattle were not bound together under a yoke, but tread on the grain singly and were free to eat some of it, as the law required that they be unmuzzled (Deut. 25:4; 1 Cor. 9:9).

10:14 Shalman plundered Beth Arbel. Shalman was probably Shalmaneser V, king of Assyria (727–722 B.C.), who played a role in Israel's demise (cf. 2 Kin. 17:3-6). Although the location of Beth Arbel is uncertain, the memory of the heinous crimes committed there were vividly etched into their minds.

10:15 king. Hoshea, ca. 732–722 B.C.

11:1 In tender words reminiscent of the Exodus from Egypt (cf. Ex. 4:22,23), the Lord reassured Israel of His intense love for her. His compassion for her was aroused (cf. Is. 12:1; 40:1,2; 49:13; Jer. 31:10-14; Zech. 1:12-17). See Matt. 2:15 for Matthew's analogical use of this verse in relationship to Jesus Christ.

2 [2]As they called them,
So they [c]went [3]from them;
They sacrificed to the Baals,
And burned incense to carved images.

3 "I[d] taught Ephraim to walk,
Taking them by [4]their arms;
But they did not know that [e]I healed them.
4 I drew them with [5]gentle cords,
With bands of love,
And [f]I was to them as those who take the yoke from their [6]neck.
[g]I stooped and fed them.

5 "He shall not return to the land of Egypt;
But the Assyrian shall be his king,
Because they refused to repent.
6 And the sword shall slash in his cities,
Devour his districts,
And consume them,
Because of their own counsels.
7 My people are bent on [h]backsliding from Me.
Though [7]they call [8]to the Most High,
None at all exalt Him.

8 "How[i] can I give you up, Ephraim?
How can I hand you over, Israel?
How can I make you like [j]Admah?
How can I set you like Zeboiim?
My heart [9]churns within Me;
My sympathy is stirred.
9 I will not execute the fierceness of My anger;
I will not again destroy Ephraim.
[k]For I am God, and not man,
The Holy One in your midst;
And I will not [1]come with terror.

10 "They shall walk after the LORD.

Then His sons shall come trembling from the west;
11 They shall come trembling like a bird from Egypt,
[m]Like a dove from the land of Assyria.
[n]And I will let them dwell in their houses,"
Says the LORD.

God's Charge Against Ephraim

12 "Ephraim has encircled Me with lies,
And the house of Israel with deceit;
But Judah still walks with God,
Even with the [2]Holy One who is faithful.

12 "Ephraim [a]feeds on the wind,
And pursues the east wind;
He daily increases lies and [1]desolation.
[b]Also they make a [2]covenant with the Assyrians,
And [c]oil is carried to Egypt.

2 "The[d] LORD also brings a [3]charge against Judah,
And will punish Jacob according to his ways;
According to his deeds He will recompense him.
3 He took his brother [e]by the heel in the womb,
And in his strength he [f]struggled with God.
4 Yes, he struggled with the Angel and prevailed;
He wept, and sought favor from Him.
He found Him in [g]Bethel,
And there He spoke to us—

11:3,4 The Lord's endearing word pictures are reflected in Ezekiel's touching descriptions of Israel's early years (cf. Ezek. 16).

11:5 shall not return to...Egypt. See notes on 8:13.

11:5-7 In spite of His tender care, Israel was ungrateful, demanding punishment (cf. Rom. 1:21).

11:7 backsliding. See note on Prov. 14:14.

11:8 Admah...Zeboiim. Because of the Lord's great love for Ephraim, it was painful to punish her as He did these two cities, which were destroyed with Sodom and Gomorrah (cf. Gen. 10:19; 19:23-25; Deut. 29:23).

11:9 I will not again destroy Ephraim. The destruction referred to that inflicted by Assyrian King Tiglath-Pileser, who deprived Israel of Gilead, Galilee, and Naphtali (2 Kin. 15:29). Ultimately, it referred to the promise that after the long dispersion God would, in mercy, restore His people in the kingdom, never to be destroyed again.

11:10 will roar like a lion. Though the Lord would, as a lion, roar against Israel in judgment (cf. Amos 1:2), He would also roar for the purpose of calling, protecting, and blessing (cf. Joel 3:16). from the west. Returns from Assyrian and Babylonian captivities were from the E. This undoubtedly has reference to His return at the Second Advent to set up the millennial kingdom (cf. Is. 11:11,12) when He calls Israel from their worldwide dispersion and reverses the judgment of 9:17.

12:1 Israel's attempted alliances with heathen neighbors were of no worth. This prophecy was delivered at about the time of Israel's seeking the aid of the Egyptian king.

12:2 Jacob. Frequently used interchangeably with "Israel" (cf. 10:11; Gen. 32:28).

12:3-6 He exhorted them to follow their father Jacob's persevering prayerfulness, which brought God's favor on him. As God is unchanging, He would show the same favor to Jacob's posterity as He did to Jacob, if, like him, they sought God.

5 That is, the LORD God of hosts.
The LORD is His [h]memorable name.
6 [i]So you, by the help of your God, return;
Observe mercy and justice,
And wait on your God continually.

7 "A cunning [4]Canaanite!
[j]Deceitful scales are in his hand;
He loves to oppress.
8 And Ephraim said,
[k]'Surely I have become rich,
I have found wealth for myself;
In all my labors
They shall find in me no iniquity that is sin.'

9 "But I am the LORD your God,
Ever since the land of Egypt;
[l]I will again make you dwell in tents,
As in the days of the appointed feast.
10 [m]I have also spoken by the prophets,
And have multiplied visions;
I have given [5]symbols [6]through the witness of the prophets."

11 Though [n]Gilead has idols—
Surely they are [7]vanity—
Though they sacrifice bulls in [o]Gilgal,
Indeed their altars shall be heaps in the furrows of the field.

12 Jacob [p]fled to the country of Syria;
[q]Israel served for a spouse,
And for a wife he tended sheep.
13 [r]By a prophet the LORD brought Israel out of Egypt,
And by a prophet he was preserved.
14 Ephraim [s]provoked Him to anger most bitterly;
Therefore his Lord will leave the guilt of his bloodshed upon him,
[t]And return his reproach upon him.

Relentless Judgment on Israel

13 When Ephraim spoke, trembling,
He exalted himself in Israel;
But when he offended through Baal worship, he died.
2 Now they sin more and more,
And have made for themselves molded images,
Idols of their silver, according to their skill;
All of it is the work of craftsmen.
They say of them,
"Let [1]the men who sacrifice [2]kiss the calves!"
3 Therefore they shall be like the morning cloud
And like the early dew that passes away,
[a]Like chaff blown off from a threshing floor
And like smoke from a chimney.

4 "Yet [b]I am the LORD your God
Ever since the land of Egypt,
And you shall know no God but Me;
For [c]there is no savior besides Me.
5 [d]I [3]knew you in the wilderness,
[e]In the land of [4]great drought.
6 [f]When they had pasture, they were filled;
They were filled and their heart was exalted;
Therefore they forgot Me.

7 "So [g]I will be to them like a lion;
Like [h]a leopard by the road I will lurk;
8 I will meet them [i]like a bear deprived of her cubs;
I will tear open their rib cage,

12:7 Canaanite. Because the Canaanites were known as traders, the word came to be used synonymously with "merchant" (cf. Ezek. 16:29; 17:4; Zeph. 1:11). Though she denied it (v. 8), Israel had become materialistic, filled with greed, and fond of dishonest gain.

12:9 At the annual Feast of Tabernacles, also called "booths" (cf. Num. 29:12-38), Israel dwelt in tents to commemorate her 40 years of wilderness wanderings. In captivity, she would be forced to live in them permanently.

12:10 I have also spoken. Here is an aggravation of their guilt, that it was not through ignorance that they sinned, but in defiance of God's revealed Word.

12:11 heaps in the furrows. As gathered and piled stones would dot a farmer's field, so Israel multiplied her stone altars across the land. "Gilgal" means "a heap of stones," so this is a play on words.

12:12-14 The reference to Jacob's wanderings to Syria and Israel's sojourn in Egypt should cause Ephraim to confess her pride, recognize her humble origins, and acknowledge that only by God's gracious power were they made a nation.

13:1 trembling. When Ephraim, the most powerful tribe, spoke early in Israel's history, it was with authority and produced fear. he died. Because of his sins and in spite of being feared, Ephraim died, spiritually and now nationally.

13:2 kiss the calves! An act of devotion to their idols (cf. 1 Kin. 19:18).

13:4-6 Having entered into a marriage covenant with the Lord, Israel was to remain faithful to Him alone (cf. Ex. 20:2,3); yet she forgot Him.

13:7,8 The lion, leopard, and bear are all native to Israel. Her Protector would now become to her as a wild beast, tearing and devouring (cf. Lev. 26:21,22; Deut. 32:24; Ezek. 14:21).

And there I will devour them like a lion.
The [5]wild beast shall tear them.

9 "O Israel, [6]you are destroyed,
But [7]your help is from Me.
10 [8]I will be your King;
[j]Where is any other,
That he may save you in all your cities?
And your judges to whom [k]you said,
'Give me a king and princes'?
11 [l]I gave you a king in My anger,
And took him away in My wrath.

12 "The[m] iniquity of Ephraim is bound up;
His sin is stored up.
13 [n]The sorrows of a woman in childbirth shall come upon him.
He is an unwise son,
For he should not stay long where children are born.

14 "I will ransom them from the [9]power of [1]the grave;
I will redeem them from death.
[o]O Death, [2]I will be your plagues!
O [3]Grave, [4]I will be your destruction!
[p]Pity is hidden from My eyes."

15 Though he is fruitful among his brethren,
[q]An east wind shall come;
The wind of the LORD shall come up from the wilderness.
Then his spring shall become dry,
And his fountain shall be dried up.
He shall plunder the treasury of every desirable prize.

16 Samaria [5]is held guilty,
For she has [r]rebelled against her God.
They shall fall by the sword,
Their infants shall be dashed in pieces,
And their women with child [s]ripped open.

Israel Restored at Last

14 O Israel, [a]return to the LORD your God,
For you have stumbled because of your iniquity;
2 Take words with you,
And return to the LORD.
Say to Him,
"Take away all iniquity;
Receive us graciously,
For we will offer the [b]sacrifices [1] of our lips.
3 Assyria shall [c]not save us,
[d]We will not ride on horses,
Nor will we say anymore to the work of our hands, 'You are our gods.'
[e]For in You the fatherless finds mercy."

4 "I will heal their [f]backsliding,
I will [g]love them freely,
For My anger has turned away from him.
5 I will be like the [h]dew to Israel;

13:12 bound up...stored up. Israel's sins are all well-documented and safely preserved for the day of reckoning (cf. 7:2; Deut. 32:34, 35; Job 14:17).

13:13 where children are born. This refers to the birth canal. Employing this figure of giving birth, the Lord likens Ephraim to an unwise child, unwilling to move through to birth. By long deferring a "new birth" with repentance, the nation was like a child remaining in the canal dangerously long and risking death (cf. 2 Kin. 19:3; Is. 37:3; 66:9).

13:14 Placing the strong affirmation of deliverance so abruptly after a denunciation intensified the wonder of His unrequited love (cf. 11:8,9; Lev. 26:44). This can apply to God's restoration of Israel from Assyria, and in future times from all the lands of the dispersion, preserving them and bringing them back to their land for the kingdom of Messiah (Ezek. 37). It also speaks of the time of personal resurrection as in Dan. 12:2,3. Repentant Israelites will be restored to the land and even raised from death to glory. Paul uses this text in 1 Cor. 15:55 (quoting the LXX) to celebrate the future resurrection of the church. The Messiah's great victory over death and the grave is the firstfruits of the full harvest to come, when all believers will likewise experience the power of His resurrection.

13:15 east wind. Refers to Assyria.

13:16 The shocking atrocities mentioned were in keeping with brutalities characteristic of the Assyrians (cf. 2 Kin. 17:5; Is. 13:6; Amos 1:13; Nah. 3:10).

14:1,2 Israel was invited to return, bringing words of repentance accompanied with obedience, repaying God's gracious acceptance of them with "sacrifices of our lips."

14:3 fatherless. God repeatedly demanded mercy for the orphan (cf. Ex. 22:22; Deut. 10:18); consequently, Israel could expect to receive His compassion (cf. Luke 15:17-20).

14:4-8 The ultimate fulfillment of these blessings must be millennial, since Israel has not nor will not repent in the manner of vv. 2,3 until the end of the Great Tribulation (cf. Zech. 12:10–13:1). The Lord's love is beautifully presented in metaphors taken from the lily, the cedars of Lebanon, and the olive tree.

14:4 backsliding. See note on Prov. 14:14.

They shall be revived like grain,
And [5]grow like a vine.
Their [6]scent shall be like the wine of Lebanon.

8 "Ephraim shall say, 'What have I to do anymore with idols?'
I have heard and observed him.
I am like a green cypress tree;
[l]Your fruit is found in Me."

9 Who is wise?
Let him understand these things.
Who is prudent?
Let him know them.
For [m]the ways of the LORD are right;
The righteous walk in them,
But transgressors stumble in them.

7 [5] Lit. bud or sprout [6] Lit. remembrance

8 [l] [John 15:4]

9 [m] [Ps. 111:7, 8; Prov. 10:29]; Zeph. 3:5

14:7 Their scent...like the wine of Lebanon. Their "scent" (lit. "remembrance") denotes worldwide fame and admiration.

14:8 The Lord, not idols, will care for Israel. He, not Israel, is the tree providing shelter and prosperity, the "green cypress tree" from whom her fruitfulness would come.

14:9 Representative of the theme of the book, Hosea's epilogue concludes the prophecy by presenting the reader with two ways of living (cf. Deut. 30:19,20; Ps. 1). He appeals to all readers to be wise, to choose the Lord's way, for His ways are right (cf. Ps. 107:43; Eccl. 12:13,14).

The Book of JOEL

Title

The Greek Septuagint (LXX) and Latin Vulgate (Vg.) versions follow the Hebrew Masoretic Text (MT), titling this book after Joel the prophet, the recipient of the message from God (1:1). The name means "the LORD is God" and refers to at least a dozen men in the OT. Joel is referred to only once in the NT (Acts 2:16-21).

Author and Date

The author identified himself only as "Joel the son of Pethuel" (1:1). The prophecy provides little else about the man. Even the name of his father is not mentioned elsewhere in the OT. Although he displayed a profound zeal for the temple sacrifices (1:9; 2:13-16), his familiarity with pastoral and agricultural life and his separation from the priests (1:13,14; 2:17) suggest he was not a Levite. Extrabiblical tradition records that he was from the tribe of Reuben, from the town of Bethom or Bethharam, located NE of the Dead Sea on the border of Reuben and Gad. The context of the prophecy, however, hints that he was a Judean from the Jerusalem vicinity, since the tone of a stranger is absent.

Dating the book relies solely on canonical position, historical allusions, and linguistic elements. Because of: 1) the lack of any mention of later world powers (Assyria, Babylon, or Persia); 2) the fact that Joel's style is like that of Hosea and Amos rather than of the post-Exilic prophets; and 3) the verbal parallels with other early prophets (Joel 3:16/Amos 1:2; Joel 3:18/Amos 9:13), a late ninth century B.C. date, during the reign of Joash (ca. 835–796 B.C.), seems most convincing. Nevertheless, while the date of the book cannot be known with certainty, the impact on its interpretation is minimal. The message of Joel is timeless, forming doctrine which could be repeated and applied in any age.

Background and Setting

Tyre, Sidon, and Philistia had made frequent military incursions into Israel (3:2ff.). An extended drought and massive invasion of locusts had stripped every green thing from the Land and brought severe economic devastation (1:7-20), leaving the southern kingdom weak. This physical disaster gives Joel the illustration for God's judgment. As the locusts were a judgment on sin, God's future judgments during the Day of the Lord will far exceed them. In that day, God will judge His enemies and bless the faithful. No mention is made of specific sins, nor is Judah rebuked for idolatry. Yet, possibly due to a calloused indifference, the prophet calls them to a bona fide repentance, admonishing them to "rend your heart, and not your garments" (2:13).

Historical and Theological Themes

The theme of Joel is the Day of the Lord. It permeates all parts of Joel's message, making it the most sustained treatment in the entire OT (1:15; 2:1; 2:11; 2:31; 3:14). The phrase is employed 19 times by 8 different OT authors (Is. 2:12; 13:6,9; Ezek. 13:5; 30:3; Joel 1:15; 2:1,11,31; 3:14; Amos 5:18 [2x],20; Obad. 15; Zeph. 1:7,14 [2x]; Zech. 14:1; Mal. 4:5). The phrase does not have reference to a chronological time period, but to a general period of wrath and judgment uniquely belonging to the Lord. It is exclusively the day which unveils His character—mighty, powerful, and holy, thus terrifying His enemies. The Day of the Lord does not always refer to an eschatological event; on occasion it has a near historical fulfillment, as seen in Ezek. 13:5, where it speaks of the Babylonian conquest and destruction of Jerusalem. As is common in prophecy, the near fulfillment is an historic event upon which to comprehend the more distant, eschatological fulfillment.

The Day of the Lord is frequently associated with seismic disturbances (e.g., 2:1-11; 2:31; 3:16), violent weather (Ezek. 13:5ff.), clouds and thick darkness (e.g., 2:2; Zeph. 1:7ff.), cosmic upheaval (2:3,30), and as a "great and very terrible" (2:11) day that would "come as destruction from the Almighty" (1:15). The latter half of Joel depicts time subsequent to the Day of the Lord in terms of promise and hope. There will be a pouring out of the Spirit on all flesh, accompanied by prophetic utterances, dreams, visions (2:28,29), as well as the coming of Elijah, an epiphany bringing restoration and hope (Mal. 4:5,6). As a result of the Day of the Lord there will be physical blessings, fruitfulness, and prosperity (2:21ff.; 3:16-21).

It is a day when judgment is poured out on sinners that subsequently leads to blessings on the penitent, and reaffirmation of God's covenant with His people. See note on 1 Thess. 5:2.

Interpretive Challenges

It is preferable to view chap. 1 as describing an actual invasion of locusts that devastated the Land. In chap. 2, a new level of description meets the interpreter. Here the prophet is projecting something beyond the locust plague of chap. 1, elevating the level of description to new heights, with increased intensity that is focused on the plague and the immediate necessity for true repentance. The prophet's choice of similes, such as "like the appearance of horses" (2:4) and "like mighty men" (2:7), suggests that he is still using the actual locusts to illustrate an invasion which can only be the massive overtaking of the final Day of the Lord.

A second issue confronting the interpreter is Peter's quotation from Joel 2:28-32 in Acts 2:16-21. Some have viewed the phenomena of Acts 2 and the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70 as the fulfillment of the Joel passage, while others have reserved its fulfillment to the final Day of the Lord only—but clearly Joel is referring to the final terrible Day of the Lord. The pouring out of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost not a fulfillment, but a preview and sample of the Spirit's power and work, to be released fully and finally in the Messiah's kingdom after the Day of the Lord. See note on Acts 2:16-21.

Outline

Following 1:1, the contents of the book are arranged under 3 basic categories. In the first section (1:2-20) the prophet describes the contemporary Day of the Lord. The land is suffering massive devastation caused by a locust plague and drought. The details of the calamity (1:2-12) are followed by a summons to communal penitence and reformation (1:13-20).

The second section (2:1-17) provides a transition from the historical plague of locusts described in chap. 1 to the eschatological Day of the Lord in 2:18–3:21. Employing the contemporary infestation of locusts as a backdrop, the prophet, with an increased level of intensity, paints a vivid and forceful picture of the impending visitation of the Lord (2:1-11) and, with powerful and explicit terminology, tenaciously renews the appeal for repentance (2:12-17).

In the third section (2:18–3:21), the Lord speaks directly, assuring His people of His presence among them (2:27; 3:17,21). This portion of the book assumes that the repentance solicited (2:12-17) had occurred and describes the Lord's zealous response (2:18,19a) to their prayer. Joel 2:18-21 forms the transition in the message from lamentation and woe to divine assurances of God's presence and the reversal of the calamities, with 2:19b,20 introducing the essence and nature of that reversal. The Lord then gives 3 promises to assure the penitents of His presence: material restoration through the divine healing of their land (2:21-27), spiritual restoration through the divine outpouring of His Spirit (2:28-32), and national restoration through the divine judgment on the unrighteous (3:1-21).

CHAPTER 1

1 The word of the LORD that came to [a]Joel the son of Pethuel.

The Land Laid Waste

2 Hear this, you elders,
And give ear, all you inhabitants of the land!
[b]Has anything like this happened in your days,
Or even in the days of your fathers?
3 [c]Tell your children about it,
Let your children tell their children,
And their children another generation.

4 [d]What the chewing [1]locust left, the [e]swarming locust has eaten;
What the swarming locust left, the crawling locust has eaten;
And what the crawling locust left, the consuming locust has eaten.

5 Awake, you [f]drunkards, and weep;
And wail, all you drinkers of wine,
Because of the new wine,
[g]For it has been cut off from your mouth.
6 For [h]a nation has come up against My land,
Strong, and without number;
[i]His teeth are the teeth of a lion,
And he has the fangs of a [2]fierce lion.
7 He has [j]laid waste My vine,
And [3]ruined My fig tree;
He has stripped it bare and thrown it away;
Its branches are made white.

8 [k]Lament like a virgin girded with sackcloth
For [l]the husband of her youth.

1:1 The word of the LORD. This introductory phrase is commonly employed by the prophets to indicate that the message was divinely commissioned. Cf. Hos. 1:1; Mic. 1:1; Zeph. 1:1. Slightly varied forms are found in 1 Sam. 15:10; 2 Sam 24:11; Jer. 1:2; Ezek. 1:3; Jon. 1:1; Zech. 1:1; Mal. 1:1. LORD. A distinctively Israelitish designation for God, the name speaks of intimacy and a relationship bonded metaphorically through the covenant likened to marriage and thus carries special significance to Israel (Ex. 3:14). Joel. His name means "the LORD is God." Pethuel. His name means "openheartedness of/toward God" and is the only occurrence of this name in the Bible.

1:2-20 The prophet described the contemporary Day of the Lord. The land was suffering massive devastation caused by a locust plague and drought. The details of the calamity (vv. 2-12) are followed by a summons to communal penitence and reformation (vv. 13-20).

1:2 Hear...give ear. The gravity of the situation demanded the undivided focus of their senses, emphasizing the need to make a conscious, purposeful decision in the matter. The terminology was commonly used in "lawsuit" passages (cf. Is. 1:2; Hos. 4:1), intimating that Israel was found guilty and that the present judgment was her "sentence." elders...all you inhabitants. The former term refers to the civil and religious leaders, who, in light of their position, were exhorted to lead by example the entire population toward repentance.

1:3 Tell...children...another generation. The pedagogical importance of reciting the Lord's mighty acts to subsequent generations is heavily underscored by the 3-fold injunction (cf. Ex. 10:1-6; Deut. 4:9; 6:6,7; 11:19; 32:7; Pss. 78:5-7; 145:4-7; Prov. 4:1ff.).

1:4 locust. The 4 kinds of locusts refer to their species or their stages of development. Cf. 2:25, where the writer mentions them in different order. The total destruction caused by their voracious appetites demands repentance (cf. Deut. 28:38; Is. 33:4; Amos 7:1).

1:5-12 Total destruction affected all social and economic levels. Affected were the drunkards who delighted in the abundance of the vine (vv. 5-7), the priests who utilized the produce in the offerings (vv. 8-10), and the farmers who planted, cultivated, and reaped the harvest (vv. 11,12). As if building toward a crescendo, the prophet noted in the first stanza that the luxuries of life were withdrawn. In the second, the elements needed to worship were interrupted. In the third, the essentials for living were snatched away. To lose the enjoyment of wine was one thing; to no longer be able to outwardly worship God was another; but to have nothing to eat was the sentence of death!

1:5 Awake...weep...wail. The drunkards were to awaken to the realization that their wine would be no more. They were to weep bitterly and to wail. The severity of the devastation called for public, communal mourning. new wine. Occasionally translated "sweet wine," the term can denote either freshly squeezed grape juice or newly fermented wine (cf. Is. 49:26).

1:6,7 My land...vine...fig tree. The possessive pronoun refers to the Lord. He is the owner of the land (cf. Lev. 25:23; Num. 36:2; Ezek. 38:16), the vine, and the fig tree (cf. Hos. 2:9). Instead of symbols of prosperity and peace (1 Kin. 4:25; Mic. 4:4; Zech. 3:10), the vine and fig tree had become visual reminders of divine judgment.

1:6 a nation. A literal invasion of locusts pictured the kind of destruction and judgment inflicted by human armies. teeth of a lion. Joel described these hostile, countless locusts as possessing the "fangs of a fierce lion," so able were they to devour anything in their path. They are occasionally used as symbolic of violence (Gen. 49:9; Num. 23:24) and of the violent, awesome nature of God's judgment (Is. 30:6; Hos. 13:8).

1:8 Lament like a virgin. As with the drunkards, the religious leaders were to lament as a young maiden would upon the death of her youthful husband, wherein she exchanged the silky fabric of a wedding dress and the joy of a wedding feast for the scratchy, coarse clothing of goat's hair and the cry of a funeral dirge. The term "virgin" lacks the notion of virginity in many cases (e.g., Esth. 2:17; Ezek. 23:3), and when coupled together with the term "husband," points to a young maiden widowed shortly after marriage. sackcloth. Fabric generally made of goat's hair, usually black or dark in color (cf. Rev. 6:12), and usually placed on the bare body around the hips (Gen. 37:34; 1 Kin. 21:27), leaving the chest free for "beating" (Is. 32:11,12), was used in the ancient world to depict sorrow and penitence (Neh. 9:1; Is. 37:1; Matt. 11:21). Because the prophets' message usually dealt with a call to repentance, it became the principle garment worn by prophets (Matt. 3:4; Rev. 11:3).

1:8,9 The metaphor is significant because the OT speaks of the Lord as the husband of Israel, His wife (Is. 54:5-8; Jer. 31:32). The covenantal offerings and libations could not be carried out; Israel, the wife of the Lord, was to repent, lest her relationship with the Lord became like that of the young widowed maiden.

1:9 grain offering...drink offering Have been cut off. To cut off these offerings, sacrificed each morning and evening (Ex. 29:38-

Have been cut off from the house of the LORD;
The priests [n]mourn, who minister to the LORD.
10 The field is wasted,
[o]The land mourns;
For the grain is ruined,
[p]The new wine is dried up,
The oil fails.

11 [q]Be ashamed, you farmers,
Wail, you vinedressers,
For the wheat and the barley;
Because the harvest of the field has perished.
12 [r]The vine has dried up,
And the fig tree has withered;
The pomegranate tree,
The palm tree also,
And the apple tree—
All the trees of the field are withered;
Surely [s]joy has withered away from the sons of men.

Mourning for the Land

13 [t]Gird yourselves and lament, you priests;
Wail, you who minister before the altar;
Come, lie all night in sackcloth,
You who minister to my God;
For the grain offering and the drink offering
Are withheld from the house of your God.
14 [u]Consecrate a fast,
Call [v]a sacred assembly;
Gather the elders
And [w]all the inhabitants of the land
Into the house of the LORD your God,
And cry out to the LORD.

15 [x]Alas for the day!
For [y]the day of the LORD is at hand;
It shall come as destruction from the Almighty.
16 Is not the food [z]cut off before our eyes,
[a]Joy and gladness from the house of our God?
17 The seed shrivels under the clods,
Storehouses are in shambles;
Barns are broken down,
For the grain has withered.

42; Lev. 23:13), was to cut off the people from the covenant. The gravity of the situation was deepened by the fact that it threatened the livelihood of the priests, who were given a portion of most sacrifices.

1:11 Be ashamed, you farmers. The primary emphasis of the Heb. term connotes a public disgrace, a physical state to which the guilty party has been forcibly brought.

1:12 All the trees...are withered. The picture was bleak, for even the deep roots of the trees could not withstand the torturous treatment administered by the locusts, especially when accompanied by an extended drought. joy has withered. Human joy and delight had departed from all segments of society; none had escaped the grasp of the locusts. The joy that normally accompanied the time of harvest had been replaced with despair.

1:14 Consecrate a fast. The prophet called the priests to take action, first by example (v. 13) and then by proclamation (v. 14). As the official leaders, it was their duty to proclaim a public fast so that the entire nation could repent and petition the Lord to forgive and restore. Here they were admonished to "consecrate" a fast, denoting its urgent, sacred character. Call a sacred assembly. Directives for calling an assembly, generally for festive purposes (cf. 2 Chr. 7:9; Neh 8:18), are given in Num. 10:3. Parallel in thought to "consecrate a fast," no work was permitted on such days (Lev. 23:36; Num. 29:35; Deut. 16:8).

1:15 the day of the LORD is at hand. This is the first occurrence of the theme. Later in the book (2:18ff.; 3:1,18-21), the Day of the Lord (the occasion when God pours out His wrath on man) results in blessing and exoneration for God's people and judgment toward Gentiles (is. 13:6; Ezek. 30:3), but here Joel directs the warning toward his own people. The Day of the Lord is speedily approaching; unless sinners repent, dire consequences await them. destruction from the Almighty. The Heb. term "destruction" forms a powerful play on words with the "Almighty." The notion of invincible strength is foremost; destruction at the hand of omnipotent God is coming.

1:17,18 seed shrivels...animals groan. From the spiritual realm to the physical realm, all was in shambles. Though innocent, in judgment even the animals suffered (cf. Rom. 8:18-22) the loss of food.

18 How [b]the animals groan!
The herds of cattle are restless,
Because they have no pasture;
Even the flocks of sheep [4]suffer punishment.

19 O LORD, [c]to You I cry out;
For [d]fire has devoured the [5]open pastures,
And a flame has burned all the trees of the field.

For [f]the water brooks are dried up,
And fire has devoured the [6]open pastures.

The Day of the LORD

2 Blow [a]the [1]trumpet in Zion,
And [b]sound an alarm in My holy mountain!
Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble;
For [c]the day of the LORD is coming,
For it is at hand:
2 [d]A day of darkness and gloominess,
A day of clouds and thick darkness,
Like the morning clouds spread over the mountains.
[e]A people come, great and strong,
[f]The like of whom has never been;
Nor will there ever be any such after them,
Even for many successive generations.

3 A fire devours before them,
And behind them a flame burns;
The land is like [g]the Garden of Eden before them,
[h]And behind them a desolate wilderness;
Surely nothing shall escape them.

1:19 to You I cry out. As the first to call to repentance, the prophet had to be the first to heed the warning. He had to lead by example and motivate the people to respond. In the midst of proclaiming judgment, God's prophets often led in intercessory prayer for mercy and forgiveness (cf. Ex. 32:11-14; Jer. 42:1-4; Dan. 9:1-19; Amos 7:1-6).

2:1-17 With an increased level of intensity, Joel utilized the metaphor of the locust plague and drought as a backdrop from which to launch an intensified call to repent in view of the coming invasion of Judah and the Day of the Lord, present and future.

2:1 Blow the trumpet. In the ancient world, horns were used to gather people for special occasions or to warn of danger (Ex. 19:13,16,19; 20:18; Num. 10:1-10; Is. 27:13; Amos 3:6; Zeph. 1:14-16; Zech. 9:14; 1 Thess. 4:16). The term here refers to a ram's horn.

2:2-11 In dramatic and vivid language, Joel compared the drought and locusts to fire, horses, and an invading army.

2:2 darkness and gloominess...clouds and thick darkness. These features describe the blackness of a locust invasion, so thick that it blots out the sun with its deadly living cloud of insects. Such terms are also often common figures for misery and calamity in the OT (Is. 8:22; 60:2; Jer. 13:16; Amos 5:18,20; Zeph. 1:15) and past visitations of the Lord (Ex. 10:12ff.; 19:16-19; 24:16; Deut 4:12; 5:22,23).

2:4 Their appearance is like...horses. The resemblance of the locust's head to that of a horse is striking, so much so that the prophet reiterates the word "appearance." Horses were not used for agricultural purposes in ancient times, but were the most feared military equipment (Ex. 15:1ff.,19; Deut. 20:1; Josh. 11:4). The simile continues with "like chariots" (v. 5); "like a strong people" (v. 5); "like mighty men" (v. 7); and "like men of war" (v. 7).

2:10 earth quakes...sun and moon grow dark. The ground trembles as dust flies along with the growing devastation. Earthquakes and cosmic disruptions are well attested elsewhere as signs accompanying divine appearances (Judg. 5:4; Ps. 18:7; Jer. 4:23-26; Nah. 1:5,6; Matt. 24:7). Joel later refers to these signs (cf. 2:31; 3:15).

A Call to Repentance

12 "Now, therefore," says the LORD,
[u]"Turn to Me with all your heart,
With fasting, with weeping, and with mourning."
13 So [v]rend your heart, and not [w]your garments;
Return to the LORD your God,
For He is [x]gracious and merciful,
Slow to anger, and of great kindness;
And He relents from doing harm.
14 [y]Who knows if He will turn and relent,
And leave [z]a blessing behind Him—
[a]A grain offering and a drink offering
For the LORD your God?

15 [b]Blow the [6]trumpet in Zion,
[c]Consecrate a fast,
Call a sacred assembly;
16 Gather the people,
[d]Sanctify the congregation,
Assemble the elders,
Gather the children and nursing babes;
[e]Let the bridegroom go out from his chamber,
And the bride from her dressing room.
17 Let the priests, who minister to the LORD,
Weep [f]between the porch and the altar;
Let them say, [g]"Spare Your people, O LORD,
And do not give Your heritage to reproach,
That the nations should [7]rule over them.
[h]Why should they say among the peoples,
'Where is their God?' "

The Land Refreshed

18 Then the LORD will [i]be zealous for His land,
And pity His people.

I will no longer make you a reproach among the nations.

20 "But [k]I will remove far from you

And will drive him away into a barren and desolate land,

And his back [m]toward the western sea;

And his foul odor will rise,
Because he has done [8]monstrous things."

21 Fear not, O land;
Be glad and rejoice,
For the LORD has done [9]marvelous things!
22 Do not be afraid, you beasts of the field;
For [n]the open pastures are springing up,
And the tree bears its fruit;
The fig tree and the vine yield their strength.
23 Be glad then, you children of Zion,
And [o]rejoice in the LORD your God;

2:12-14 Even in the midst of judgment, opportunity to repent was given. If they would demonstrate genuine repentance, the Lord stood ready to forgive and bless.

2:16 From oldest to youngest they were to come. The situation is so grave that even the groom and bride were exhorted to assemble (cf. Deut. 24:5); consummation of the marriage could wait.

2:18–3:21 With the advent of v. 18, the text makes a decisive transition, devoting the remainder of the book to restoration. It assumes an interval of time between v. 17 and v. 18 during which Israel repented. As a result of her repentance, the 3 major concerns of 1:1–2:17 are answered by the Lord: physical restoration (2:21-27), spiritual restoration (2:28-32), and national restoration (3:1-21).

2:20 northern army. Although some have viewed this as a reference to the locusts, it is more likely referring to a military invasion by a country coming down from the N of Israel (cf. Ezek. 38:6,15; 39:2). That future army will be driven into the eastern sea (Dead Sea) and the western sea (Mediterranean Sea).

2:21-24 Reminiscent of 1:18-20, the former situation had been reversed. The animals were admonished to be afraid no longer.

2:23,24 former...latter rain. The former rains came in Oct.-Dec. to prepare the seed-bed and assist germination, while the latter rains came in Mar.-May to provide ample moisture for the grain and fruit crops to be rich and full.

And the chewing locust,
My great army which I sent among you.
26 You shall [r]eat in plenty and be satisfied,
And praise the name of the LORD your God,
Who has dealt wondrously with you;
And My people shall never be put to [s]shame.
27 Then you shall know that I am [t]in the midst of Israel:
[u]I am the LORD your God
And there is no other.
My people shall never be put to shame.

God's Spirit Poured Out

28 "And [v]it shall come to pass afterward
That [w]I will pour out My Spirit on all flesh;
[x]Your sons and your [y]daughters shall prophesy,
Your old men shall dream dreams,
Your young men shall see visions.
29 And also on My [z]menservants and on My maidservants
I will pour out My Spirit in those days.

30 "And [a]I will show wonders in the heavens and in the earth:
Blood and fire and pillars of smoke.
31 [b]The sun shall be turned into darkness,
And the moon into blood,
[c]Before the coming of the great and awesome day of the LORD.
32 And it shall come to pass
That [d]whoever calls on the name of the LORD
Shall be [3]saved.
For [e]in Mount Zion and in Jerusalem there shall be [4]deliverance,
As the LORD has said,
Among [f]the remnant whom the LORD calls.

God Judges the Nations

3 "For behold, [a]in those days and at that time,
When I bring back the captives of Judah and Jerusalem,
2 [b]I will also gather all nations,
And bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat;
And I [c]will enter into judgment with them there
On account of My people, My heritage Israel,
Whom they have scattered among the nations;
They have also divided up My land.
3 They have [d]cast lots for My people,
Have given a boy as payment for a harlot,
And sold a girl for wine, that they may drink.

4 "Indeed, what have you to do with Me,
[e]O Tyre and Sidon, and all the coasts of Philistia?
Will you [1]retaliate against Me?
But if you [2]retaliate against Me,
Swiftly and speedily I will return your [3]retaliation upon your own head;
5 Because you have taken My silver and My gold,
And have carried into your temples My [4]prized possessions.
6 Also the people of Judah and the people of Jerusalem
You have sold to the Greeks,

2:27 I am in the midst of Israel. This return promised a reversal of the Lord's departure (cf. Ezek. 8–11).

2:28-32 See Introduction: Interpretive Challenges; see notes on Acts 2:16-21.

2:28 afterward. The abundance of material blessings would be followed by the outpouring of spiritual blessings. When coupled with the other temporal phrases within the passage ("in those days" [v. 29] and "before the coming of the great and awesome Day of the LORD" [v. 31]), the term points to a Second Advent fulfillment time frame. all flesh. Since the context is "your sons and your daughters," "all flesh" best refers to the house of Israel only. The nations are the recipients of God's wrath, not the effusion of His Spirit (cf. 3:2,9ff.).

2:30,31 Before...day of the LORD. Unmistakable heavenly phenomena will signal the imminent arrival of God's wrath in the Day of the Lord (cf. v. 10).

2:32 whoever calls. Quoted by Paul in Rom. 10:13. remnant. In spite of the nation's sin, God promised to fulfill His unconditional covenants (Noahic, Abrahamic, Davidic, and New). A future remnant of Jews will inherit God's promised blessings (cf. Is. 10:20-22; 11:11,16; Jer. 31:7; Mic. 2:12; Zeph. 3:13; Rom. 9:27).

3:1-21 Joel notes the national restoration of Israel, in which the people will be regathered to Palestine (Is. 11:15,16; Matt. 24:31).

3:2 gather all nations. The nations of the world will be gathered to Jerusalem to the battle of Armageddon (Zech. 12:3; 14:2; Rev. 16:16; 19:11-21). Valley of Jehoshaphat. The name means "Yahweh judges" (cf. 3:12,14) and although the exact location is unknown, other prophets spoke of this judgment as occurring near Jerusalem (Ezek. 38,39; Dan. 11:45; Zech. 9:14ff.; 12:1ff.). This judgment of the nations includes the event of Matt. 25:31-46.

3:5,6 The exact historical event referred to here is uncertain. Slave trading was a common practice among the Phoenicians and Philistines.

3:6 the Greeks. Although not prominent militarily, the Greeks were active in commerce on the Mediterranean in the 9th century B.C.

That you may remove them far

7 "Behold, [f]I will raise them

Into the hand of the people of Judah,
And they will sell them to the

To a people [h]far off;
For the LORD has spoken."

9 [i]Proclaim this among the nations:
"Prepare for war!
Wake up the mighty men,
Let all the men of war draw near,
Let them come up.
10 [j]Beat your plowshares into swords
And your [7]pruning hooks into spears;
[k]Let the weak say, 'I am strong.' "
11 Assemble and come, all you nations,
And gather together all around.
Cause [l]Your mighty ones to go down there, O LORD.

12 "Let the nations be wakened, and come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat;
For there I will sit to [m]judge all the surrounding nations.
13 [n]Put in the sickle, for [o]the harvest is ripe.
Come, go down;
For the [p]winepress is full,
The vats overflow—
For their wickedness is great."

14 Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision!
For [q]the day of the LORD is near in the valley of decision.
15 The sun and moon will grow dark,
And the stars will diminish their brightness.
16 The LORD also will roar from Zion,
And utter His voice from Jerusalem;
The heavens and earth will shake;
[r]But the LORD will be a shelter for
His people,
And the strength of the children of Israel.

17 "So you shall know that I am the LORD your God, Dwelling in Zion My [s]holy mountain.
Then Jerusalem shall be holy,
And no aliens shall ever pass through her again."

God Blesses His People

18 And it will come to pass in that day
That the mountains shall drip with new wine,
The hills shall flow with milk,
And all the brooks of Judah shall be flooded with water;
A [t]fountain shall flow from the house of the LORD
And water the Valley of [8]Acacias.

19 "Egypt shall be a desolation,
And Edom a desolate wilderness,
Because of violence against the people of Judah,
For they have shed innocent blood
in their land.
20 But Judah shall abide forever,
And Jerusalem from generation to generation.
21 For I will [u]acquit them of the guilt of bloodshed, whom I had not acquitted;
For the LORD dwells in Zion."

3:8 Sabeans. Trading merchants who lived in Arabia (1 Kin. 10; Jer. 6:20).

3:9-17 Joel resumes the theme of vv. 1-3, the gathering of the nations to the earthly courtroom, the Valley of Jehoshaphat. The sentence has been handed down and the Judge orders His agents to ready the scene for the execution.

3:14 valley of decision. This location is the same as the Valley of Jehoshaphat where the sentence of judgment will be carried out (cf. 3:2,12). See note on 3:2.

3:15,16 The sun...moon. Cf. 2:10,30,31. These are signs that precede the coming eschatological Day of the Lord at the end of the Great Tribulation (cf. Matt. 24:29,30).

3:17 Zion My holy mountain. This will be the earthly location of God's presence in the millennial temple (cf. Ezek. 40–48) at Jerusalem. ever pass through her again. God has promised a future time when His glory in Judah will not be eclipsed. This time of ultimate peace and prosperity will be experienced after Christ conquers the world and sets up His millennial kingdom on earth (cf. Ezek. 37:24-28; Matt. 24,25; Rev. 19).

3:18 Valley of Acacias. Known for its acacia trees, the valley was situated on the northern shores of the Dead Sea and served as the final stopover for Israel prior to her entrance into the Promised Land (Num. 25:1; Josh. 2:1; 3:1). This valley is also the place to which the millennial river will flow (Ezek. 47:1-12; Zech. 14:8).

3:20 Judah...forever. This is in reference to Christ's millennial kingdom on earth, which is yet to be fulfilled.

The Book of AMOS

Title

As with each of the Minor Prophets, the title comes from the name of the prophet to whom God gave His message (1:1). Amos' name means "burden" or "burden-bearer." He is not to be confused with Amoz ("stout, strong"), the father of Isaiah (Is. 1:1).

Author and Date

Amos was from Tekoa, a small village 10 mi. S of Jerusalem. He was the only prophet to give his occupation before declaring his divine commission. He was not of priestly or noble descent, but worked as a "sheepbreeder" (1:1; cf. 2 Kin. 3:4) and a "tender of sycamore fruit" (7:14) and was a contemporary of Jonah (2 Kin. 14:25), Hosea (Hos. 1:1), and Isaiah (Is. 1:1). The date of writing is mid-eighth century B.C., during the reigns of Uzziah, king of Judah (ca. 790–739 B.C.) and Jeroboam II, king of Israel (ca. 793–753 B.C.), two years before a memorable earthquake (1:1; cf. Zech. 14:5, ca. 760 B.C.).

Background and Setting

Amos was a Judean prophet called to deliver a message primarily to the northern tribes of Israel (7:15). Politically, it was a time of prosperity under the long and secure reign of Jeroboam II who, following the example of his father Joash (2 Kin. 13:25), significantly "restored the territory of Israel" (2 Kin. 14:25). It was also a time of peace with both Judah (cf. 5:5) and her more distant neighbors; the ever-present menace of Assyria was subdued earlier that century because of Nineveh's repentance at the preaching of Jonah (Jon. 3:10). Spiritually, however, it was a time of rampant corruption and moral decay (4:1; 5:10-13; 2 Kin. 14:24).

Historical and Theological Themes

Amos addresses Israel's two primary sins: 1) an absence of true worship, and 2) a lack of justice. In the midst of their ritualistic performance of worship, they were not pursuing the Lord with their hearts (4:4,5; 5:4-6) nor following His standard of justice with their neighbors (5:10-13; 6:12). This apostasy, evidenced by continual, willful rejection of the prophetic message of Amos, is promised divine judgment. Because of His covenant, however, the Lord will not abandon Israel altogether, but will bring future restoration to the righteous remnant (9:7-15).

Interpretive Challenges

In 9:11, the Lord promised that He "will raise up the tabernacle of David, which has fallen down." At the Jerusalem Council, convened to discuss whether Gentiles should be allowed into the church without requiring circumcision, James quotes this passage (Acts 15:15,16) to support Peter's report of how God had "visited the Gentiles to take out of them a people for His name" (Acts 15:14). Some have thus concluded that the passage was fulfilled in Jesus, the greater Son of David, through whom the dynasty of David was reestablished. The Acts reference, however, is best seen as an illustration of Amos' words and not the fulfillment. The temporal allusions to a future time ("On that day," 9:11), when Israel will "possess the remnant of Edom, and all the Gentiles" (9:12), when the Lord "will plant them in their land, and no longer shall they be pulled up from the land I have given them" (9:15), all make it clear that the prophet is speaking of Messiah's return at the Second Advent to sit upon the throne of David (cf. Is. 9:7), not the establishment of the church by the apostles.

CHAPTER 1

1 The words of Amos, who was among the [a]sheepbreeders of [b]Tekoa, which he saw concerning Israel in the days of [c]Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of [d]Jeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel, two years before the [e]earthquake.

2 And he said:

"The LORD [f]roars from Zion,
And utters His voice from Jerusalem;
The pastures of the shepherds mourn,
And the top of [g]Carmel withers."

Judgment on the Nations

3 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of [h]Damascus, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they have [i]threshed Gilead with implements of iron.
4 [j]But I will send a fire into the house of Hazael,
Which shall devour the palaces of [k]Ben-Hadad.
5 I will also break the gate [l]bar of Damascus,
And cut off the inhabitant from the Valley of Aven,
And the one who [1]holds the scepter from [2]Beth Eden.
The people of Syria shall go captive to Kir,"
Says the LORD.

6 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of [m]Gaza, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they took captive the whole captivity
To deliver them up to Edom.
7 [n]But I will send a fire upon the wall of Gaza,
Which shall devour its palaces.
8 I will cut off the inhabitant [o]from Ashdod,
And the one who holds the scepter from Ashkelon;
I will [p]turn My hand against Ekron,
And [q]the remnant of the Philistines shall perish,"
Says the Lord GOD.

9 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of [r]Tyre, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they delivered up the whole captivity to Edom,
And did not remember the covenant of brotherhood.
10 But I will send a fire upon the wall of Tyre,
Which shall devour its palaces."

11 Thus says the LORD:

6 [m] 1 Sam. 6:17; Jer. 47:1, 5; Zeph. 2:4

8 [o] Jer. 47:5; Zeph. 2:4 [p] Ps. 81:14 [q] Is. 14:29-31; Jer. 47:1-7; Ezek. 25:16; Joel 3:4-8; Zeph. 2:4-7; Zech. 9:5-7
9 [r] Is. 23:1-18; Jer. 25:22; Ezek. 26:2-4; Joel 3:4-8

1:1 the earthquake. Mentioned by Zechariah (14:5), Josephus (Antiquities, IX:10:4) connects it with Uzziah's sin of usurping the role of a priest (2 Chr. 26:16-23). An earthquake of severe magnitude occurred ca. 760 B.C.

1:2 roars. In Joel 3:16, the Lord "roars" against the nations; here His wrath was directed primarily toward Israel (cf. Jer. 25:30). Amos, a shepherd, courageously warned the flock of God's pasture that they were in imminent danger from a roaring lion who turned out to be the ultimate Shepherd of the flock (cf. 3:8). Carmel. Known for its bountiful trees and lush gardens, "Carmel" means "fertility" or "garden land" and refers to the mountain range that runs E to W in northern Israel and juts out into the Mediterranean Sea (cf. 9:3).

1:3–2:3 Amos began with Israel's enemies, and thereby gained an initial hearing. When he turned to God's judgment on Israel, the leaders tried to silence him (cf. 7:10-17).

1:3 For three transgressions...for four. This rhetorical device is repeated in each of the 8 messages, differing from a similar pattern used elsewhere. There they are specific mathematical enumerations (e.g., Prov. 30:15,18,21,29), emphasizing that each nation was being visited for an incalculable number of infractions. With 3, the cup of iniquity was full; with 4 it overflowed. This judgment was to fall on Syria, whose capital is Damascus. threshed Gilead. Large threshing sleds which, when dragged over grain, would both thresh the grain and cut the straw. Gilead, located in the northeastern, Golan Heights region of Israel, was vulnerable to Syria's cruel attacks (cf. 2 Kin. 13:7; 18:12).

1:4 Ben-Hadad. Apparently a throne name, meaning "son of (the god) Hadad." Ben-Hadad II was a son of Syrian king Hazael (841–801 B.C.).

1:5 Valley of Aven. Meaning "valley of wickedness," it may refer to Baalbek, the center of sun worship, located N of Damascus. Beth Eden. "House of pleasure." It was located in eastern Syria across the Euphrates. Kir. Apparently the original home of the Syrians. It was a region to which they were later exiled (2 Kin. 16:9). Its exact location is unknown.

1:6 Gaza. Philistia's most prominent merchant city, ideally situated between Egypt and Israel, here used to refer to the Philistine nation. took captive the whole captivity. They deported an entire population (cf. Jer. 13:19), possibly during the reign of Jehoram (2 Chr. 21:16,17; Joel 3:3), ca. 853–841 B.C.

1:7,8 Four of the 5 major cities of Philistia. The fifth, Gath, was not mentioned because it had been destroyed earlier by Uzziah (2 Chr. 26:6).

1:9 covenant of brotherhood. A longstanding brotherly relationship existed between Phoenicia and Israel, beginning with King Hiram's assistance to David and Solomon in the building of the temple (2 Sam. 5:11; 1 Kin. 5:1-12; 9:11-14), and later cemented through the marriage of Jezebel to Ahab (1 Kin. 16:31). No king of Israel ever made war against Phoenicia, especially the two major cities, Tyre and Sidon.

1:10 Tyre. Alexander the Great conquered this stronghold ca. 330 B.C. (cf. Ezek. 26:1-18).

"For three transgressions of [s]Edom,
and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because he pursued his [t]brother with the sword,
And cast off all pity;
His anger tore perpetually,
And he kept his wrath forever.
12 But [u]I will send a fire upon Teman,
Which shall devour the palaces of Bozrah."

13 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of [v]the people of Ammon, and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because they ripped open the women with child in Gilead,
That they might enlarge their territory.
14 But I will kindle a fire in the wall of [w]Rabbah,
And it shall devour its palaces,
[x]Amid shouting in the day of battle,
And a tempest in the day of the whirlwind.
15 [y]Their king shall go into captivity,
He and his princes together,"
Says the LORD.

2 Thus says the LORD:

[a]"For three transgressions of Moab,
and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because he [b]burned the bones of the king of Edom to lime.
2 But I will send a fire upon Moab,
And it shall devour the palaces of
[c]Kerioth;
Moab shall die with tumult,
With shouting and trumpet sound.
3 And I will cut off [d]the judge from its midst,
And slay all its princes with him,"
Says the LORD.

Judgment on Judah

4 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of [e]Judah,
and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
[f]Because they have despised the law of the LORD,
And have not kept His commandments.
[g]Their lies lead them astray,
Lies [h]which their fathers followed.
5 [i]But I will send a fire upon Judah,
And it shall devour the palaces of
Jerusalem."

Judgment on Israel

6 Thus says the LORD:

"For three transgressions of [j]Israel,
and for four,
I will not turn away its punishment,
Because [k]they sell the righteous for silver,
And the [l]poor for a pair of sandals.
7 They [1]pant after the dust of the earth which is on the head of
the poor,
And [m]pervert the way of the humble.

[o]To defile My holy name.
8 They lie down [p]by every altar on clothes [q]taken in pledge,

1:11 pursued...cast off all pity. More than mere fighting, Edom pursued his brother, stifling any feelings of compassion. See notes on Obadiah for a more complete description of Edom's judgment.

1:12 Teman. The grandson of Esau (Gen. 36:11), after whom this town in northern Edom was named. Bozrah. A fortress city of northern Edom, about 35 mi. N of Petra.

1:13 people of Ammon. Descendants of Ben-Ammi, the son of Lot and his younger daughter (Gen. 19:34-38). Rabbah. Situated E of the Jordan river, this was the capital city. ripped open the women with child. Such inhumane treatment in wartime was not an uncommon practice (cf. 2 Kin. 8:12; 15:16; Hos. 13:16).

2:1 Moab. Descendants of Lot and his elder daughter (Gen. 19:37). burned the bones. This event, where vengeance didn't stop at death, is not recorded elsewhere in Scripture.

2:2 Kerioth. An important Moabite city, either as a capital or center of worship.

2:3 judge. Possibly denoting the king, who was often so designated (2 Kin. 15:5; Dan. 9:12).

2:4 Judah. With the judgments against the nations finished, the prophet proceeded to address Judah, moving ever closer to his ultimate target of Israel. despised the law of the LORD. The nations were judged because they had sinned against the law of God, which was written in the heart and conscience (cf. Rom. 2:24,25). Judah and Israel were judged because they sinned against God's revealed, written law.

2:5 fire upon Judah. The Babylonian King Nebuchadnezzar fulfilled this judgment, ca. 605–586 B.C. (cf. 2 Kin. 24,25).

2:6,7 Greed, so all-consuming that for insignificant debts they would sell another into slavery (cp. Matt. 18:23-35), was accompanied by uncontained sexual passion. Care for the poor is a prominent OT theme (e.g., Prov. 14:31; 17:5) and sexual purity is mandated repeatedly. Violations of both are an affront to God's holy name.

2:7 go in to the same girl. In the context of oppressing the helpless, the reference was probably to a slave girl (cf. Ex. 21:7-11).

2:8 clothes taken in pledge. Outer garments used to secure a loan were to be returned before sunset (Ex. 22:25-27; Deut. 24:12,13); instead, they used them to engage in idolatrous acts.

Whose height was like the [s]height

To possess the land of the Amorite.
11 I raised up some of your sons as [w]prophets,
And some of your young men as [x]Nazirites.
Is it not so, O you children of Israel?"
Says the LORD.
12 "But you gave the Nazirites wine to drink,
And commanded the prophets
[y]saying,
'Do not prophesy!'

13 "Behold,[z] I am [3]weighed down by
you,
As a cart full of sheaves [4]is weighed down.
14 [a]Therefore [5]flight shall perish from the swift,

Says the LORD.

Authority of the Prophet's Message

3 Hear this word that the LORD has spoken against you, O children of Israel, against the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying:

2 "You[a] only have I known of all the families of the earth;
[b]Therefore I will punish you for all your iniquities."

3 Can two walk together, unless they are agreed?
4 Will a lion roar in the forest, when he has no prey?
Will a young lion [1]cry out of his den, if he has caught nothing?
5 Will a bird fall into a snare on the earth, where there is no [2]trap for it?
Will a snare spring up from the earth, if it has caught nothing at all?
6 If a [3]trumpet is blown in a city, will not the people be afraid?
[c]If there is calamity in a city, will not the LORD have done it?

7 Surely the Lord GOD does nothing,
Unless [d]He reveals His secret to His servants the prophets.
8 A lion has roared!
Who will not fear?
The Lord GOD has spoken!
[e]Who can but prophesy?

Punishment of Israel's Sins

9 "Proclaim in the palaces at [4]Ashdod,
And in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say:
'Assemble on the mountains of Samaria;
See great tumults in her midst,
And the [5]oppressed within her.
10 For they [f]do not know to do right,'
Says the LORD,

2:9 Amorite. The pre-Conquest inhabitants of Canaan, whom God defeated for the Jews (cf. Josh. 10:12-15). Their giant stature was said to make the spies look like grasshoppers (Num. 13:32,33).

2:11 Nazirites. See Num. 6:1-21.

2:14-16 Neither personal strength nor military armament was sufficient to prevent the Lord's hand of judgment by the Assyrians ca. 722 B.C. (cf. 2 Kin. 17).

3:1 the whole family. The primary recipient of these messages was Israel; Judah was not excluded.

3:2 You only have I known. This "knowing" refers to an intimate relationship, not just awareness. Cf. Gen. 4:1,17; Matt. 1:25; John 10:14,15. But, God's sovereign choice of Israel did not exempt her from punishment for disobedience.

3:3-8 The Lord posed a series of questions to show that, as some things are certain in nature, surely nothing happens in Israel that is outside His sovereignty. Certain actions have certain results! The Lord had spoken a word, and therefore the prophet was to speak, and the people were to listen with trembling. Instead, they tried to silence the prophet (cf. 2:12; 7:12,13).

3:7 Judgment is coming, but the Lord graciously warned the nation in advance through His prophets (e.g., Noah, Gen. 6; Abraham, Gen. 18).

3:9 The heathen nations, such as the Philistines and Egyptians, were rhetorically summoned to witness God's judgment. If they condemn Israel, how much more will a righteous God?

'Who store up violence and [6]robbery in their palaces.' "

11 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

"An adversary shall be all around the land;
He shall sap your strength from you,
And your palaces shall be plundered."

12 Thus says the LORD:

"As a shepherd [7]takes from the mouth of a lion
Two legs or a piece of an ear,
So shall the children of Israel be taken out
Who dwell in Samaria—
In the corner of a bed and [8]on the edge of a couch!
13 Hear and testify against the house of Jacob,"
Says the Lord GOD, the God of hosts,
14 "That in the day I punish Israel for their transgressions,
I will also visit destruction on the altars of [g]Bethel;
And the horns of the altar shall be cut off
And fall to the ground.
15 I will [9]destroy [h]the winter house along with [i]the summer house;
The [j]houses of ivory shall perish,
And the great houses shall have an end,"
Says the LORD.

4 Hear this word, you [a]cows of Bashan, who are on the mountain of Samaria,
Who oppress the [b]poor,
Who crush the needy,
Who say to [1]your husbands,
"Bring wine, let us [c]drink!"
2 [d]The Lord GOD has sworn by His holiness:
"Behold, the days shall come upon you
When He will take you away [e]with fishhooks,
And your posterity with fishhooks.
3 [f]You will go out through broken walls,
Each one straight ahead of her,
And you will [2]be cast into Harmon,"
Says the LORD.

4 "Come[g] to Bethel and transgress,
At [h]Gilgal multiply transgression;
[i]Bring your sacrifices every morning,
[j]Your tithes every three [3]days.
5 [k]Offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving with leaven,
Proclaim and announce [l]the freewill offerings;
For this you love,
You children of Israel!"
Says the Lord GOD.

Israel Did Not Accept Correction

6 "Also I gave you [4]cleanness of teeth in all your cities,
And lack of bread in all your places;
[m]Yet you have not returned to Me,"
Says the LORD.

7 "I also withheld rain from you,
When there were still three months to the harvest.
I made it rain on one city,
I withheld rain from another city.
One part was rained upon,
And where it did not rain the part withered.
8 So two or three cities wandered to another city to drink water,

3:11 An adversary. The Assyrians who captured and deported Israel in 722 B.C.

3:12 The Lord gives a vivid description of the small remnant left in Israel after the Assyrian invasion.

3:13 Hear and testify. As in v. 9, the heathen nations were once again called upon to witness and testify.

3:14 Bethel. The principal place of idol worship in Israel (cf. 1 Kin. 12:25-33).

4:1 cows of Bashan. A description of the women of Samaria who lived luxurious lives (cf. Is. 3:16-26; 32:9-13; Jer. 4:30). Bashan was a fertile region below Mt. Hermon E of the Jordan River known for its lush pastures. Under Jeroboam II, Israel was enjoying great prosperity.

4:2,3 through broken walls...into Harmon. Captives will be led out of the city through breaches in the walls, depicting massive overthrow. The location of Harmon is unknown.

4:4,5 With poignant sarcasm, Amos indicted Israel for idolatrous sacrifices and ritualistic religion.

4:4 Bethel...Gilgal. Bethel, the place of Jacob's dream (Gen. 28), and Gilgal, where Israel was circumcised before surrounding Jericho (Josh. 5:1-9), were sacred to Israel.

4:5 sacrifice...with leaven. Though prohibited from most offerings, leaven was required as a part of the thanksgiving offering (Lev. 7:11-15).

4:6-11 Past warnings were futile, a fact repeatedly emphasized by "Yet you have not returned to Me" (vv. 6,8,9,10,11).

4:6 cleanness of teeth. Amos employed this euphemism to depict the absence of food during famine and drought sent by God to warn Israel, which he described in vv. 6-9 (cf. Deut. 28:22,23,24,47,48; Lev. 26:18).

But they were not satisfied;
Yet you have not returned to Me,"
Says the LORD.

9 "I[n] blasted you with blight and mildew.
When your gardens increased,
Your vineyards,
Your fig trees,
And your olive trees,
[o]The locust devoured them;
Yet you have not returned to Me,"
Says the LORD.

10 "I sent among you a plague [p]after the manner of Egypt;
Your young men I killed with a sword,
Along with your captive horses;
I made the stench of your camps come up into your nostrils;
Yet you have not returned to Me,"
Says the LORD.

11 "I overthrew some of you,
As God overthrew [q]Sodom and Gomorrah,
And you were like a firebrand plucked from the burning;
Yet you have not returned to Me,"
Says the LORD.

12 "Therefore thus will I do to you,
O Israel;
Because I will do this to you,
[r]Prepare to meet your God,
O Israel!"

13 For behold,
He who forms mountains,
And creates the [5]wind, [s]Who declares to man what [6]his thought is,
And makes the morning darkness,
[t]Who treads the high places of the earth—
[u]The LORD God of hosts is His name.

A Lament for Israel

5 Hear this word which I [a]take up against you, a lamentation, O house of Israel:

2 The virgin of Israel has fallen;
She will rise no more.
She lies forsaken on her land;
There is no one to raise her up.

3 For thus says the Lord GOD:

"The city that goes out by a thousand
Shall have a hundred left,
And that which goes out by a hundred
Shall have ten left to the house of Israel."

A Call to Repentance

4 For thus says the LORD to the house of Israel:

[b]"Seek Me [c]and live;
5 But do not seek [d]Bethel,
Nor enter Gilgal,
Nor pass over to [e]Beersheba;
For Gilgal shall surely go into captivity,
And [f]Bethel shall come to nothing.
6 [g]Seek the LORD and live,
Lest He break out like fire in the house of Joseph,
And devour it,
With no one to quench it in Bethel—
7 You who [h]turn justice to wormwood,
And lay righteousness to rest in the earth!"

8 He made the [i]Pleiades and Orion;
He turns the shadow of death into morning
[j]And makes the day dark as night;
He [k]calls for the waters of the sea
And pours them out on the face of the earth;
[l]The LORD is His name.

CHAPTER 5

1 [a] Jer. 7:29; 9:10, 17; Ezek. 19:1
4 [b] [Deut. 4:29; 2 Chr. 15:2; Jer. 29:13] [c] [Is. 55:3]

8 [i] Job 9:9; 38:31 [j] Ps. 104:20 [k] Job 38:34 [l] [Amos 4:13]

4:11 firebrand plucked from the burning. Only because of God's mercy was Israel saved from extinction (cf. Zech 3:2; Jude 23).

4:12 Prepare to meet your God. The general concept was first used of Israel's preparation to receive the covenant at Sinai (Ex. 19:11,15); here she was implored to prepare for His judgment.

4:13 This is the God whom they were to be prepared to face. He is the Lord God Almighty.

5:1,2 A funeral dirge was taken up for Israel, likened to a young woman who had died.

5:3 Many were to be killed in battle or taken captive; only a handful would return (cf. 3:12; Is. 6:11-13).

5:5 Bethel...Gilgal. See note on 4:4. Beersheba. Located in southern Judah, 50 mi. SW of Jerusalem, Beersheba had a rich Israelite history (cf. Gen. 21:33; 26:23; 1 Sam. 8:1-3; 1 Kin. 19:3-7). Apparently, people from the N crossed over the border to worship there (cf. 8:14).

5:6 house of Joseph. Refers to the northern kingdom, since Ephraim and Manasseh, sons of Joseph, were two of its largest tribes.

5:7 justice to wormwood. Justice was so perverted that it was like wormwood, an herb known for its bitter taste (cf. Rev. 8:11).

5:8 Pleiades and Orion. Pleiades, part of the constellation Taurus, and Orion depict God's creative power and wisdom (cf. Job 9:9; 38:31-35). Israel was guilty of worshiping the stars (cf. v. 26) instead of their Creator.

9 He [1] rains ruin upon the strong,
So that fury comes upon the fortress.

10 [m] They hate the one who rebukes in the gate,
And they [n] abhor the one who speaks uprightly.
11 [o] Therefore, because you [2] tread down the poor
And take grain [3] taxes from him,
Though [p] you have built houses of hewn stone,
Yet you shall not dwell in them;
You have planted [4] pleasant vineyards,
But you shall not drink wine from them.
12 For I [q] know your manifold transgressions
And your mighty sins:
[r] Afflicting the just and taking bribes;
[s] Diverting the poor from justice at the gate.
13 Therefore [t] the prudent keep silent at that time,
For it is an evil time.

14 Seek good and not evil,
That you may live;
So the LORD God of hosts will be with you,
[u] As you have spoken.
15 [v] Hate evil, love good;
Establish justice in the gate.
[w] It may be that the LORD God of hosts
Will be gracious to the remnant of Joseph.

The Day of the LORD

16 Therefore the LORD God of hosts, the Lord, says this:

"There shall be wailing in all streets,
And they shall say in all the highways,
'Alas! Alas!'
They shall call the farmer to mourning,
[x] And skillful lamenters to wailing.
17 In all vineyards there shall be wailing,
For [y] I will pass through you,"
Says the LORD.

18 [z] Woe to you who desire the day of the LORD!
For what good is [a] the day of the LORD to you?
It will be darkness, and not light.
19 It will be [b] as though a man fled from a lion,
And a bear met him!
Or as though he went into the house,
Leaned his hand on the wall,
And a serpent bit him!
20 Is not the day of the LORD darkness, and not light?
Is it not very dark, with no brightness in it?

21 "I [c] hate, I despise your feast days,
And [d] I do not savor your sacred assemblies.
22 [e] Though you offer Me burnt offerings and your grain offerings,
I will not accept them,
Nor will I regard your fattened peace offerings.
23 Take away from Me the noise of your songs,
For I will not hear the melody of your stringed instruments.
24 [f] But let justice run down like water,
And righteousness like a mighty stream.

25 "Did [g] you offer Me sacrifices and offerings

5:10-13 The fabric of justice had been destroyed, causing pervasive corruption "in the gates," the place where justice was administered (cf. v. 15; Deut. 21:19; Josh. 20:4).

5:16,17 Looking back at the accusations made earlier, Amos pictured the people mourning as the Lord passed through their midst, executing His sentence of judgment (cf. Ex. 11:3ff.).

5:18-20 Even the wicked wanted the Day of the Lord to come, mistakenly thinking that it would bring victory instead of judgment (cf. Zeph. 1:14-18).

5:21-24 When performed with a corrupt heart, even the "savored" festivals and offerings were despised by the Lord (cf. Lev. 26:27,31; Ps. 51:16,17,19).

5:25,26 In addition to worshiping the Lord in the wilderness, Israel also worshiped other gods, carrying along "Sikkuth (or "tabernacle") your king (or "Molech") and Chiun, your idols." Molech worship included the astrological worship of Saturn and the host of heaven and the actual sacrificing of children (2 Kin. 17:16,17). Warned against Molech worship (Deut. 18:9-13), Israel nevertheless pursued all facets of it, continuing with Solomon (1 Kin. 11:7) and his descendants (1 Kin. 12:28; 2 Kin. 17:16,17; Jer. 32:35) until Josiah (2 Kin. 23:10). Stephen recited Amos 5:25-27 when he recounted the sins of Israel in Acts 7:42,43.

Warnings to Zion and Samaria

6 Woe [a]to you who are at [b]ease in Zion,
And [c]trust in Mount Samaria,
Notable persons in the [d]chief nation,
To whom the house of Israel comes!
2 [e]Go over to [f]Calneh and see;
And from there go to [g]Hamath the great;
Then go down to Gath of the Philistines.
[h]Are you better than these kingdoms?
Or is their territory greater than your territory?

3 Woe to you who [i]put far off the day
of [j]doom,
[k]Who cause [l]the seat of violence to come near;
4 Who lie on beds of ivory,
Stretch out on your couches,
Eat lambs from the flock
And calves from the midst of the stall;
5 [m]Who sing idly to the sound of stringed instruments,
And invent for yourselves [n]musical instruments [o]like David;
6 Who [p]drink wine from bowls,
And anoint yourselves with the best ointments,
[q]But are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph.
7 Therefore they shall now go [r]captive as the first of the captives,
And those who recline at banquets shall be removed.

Himself,
The LORD God of hosts says:
"I abhor [t]the pride of Jacob,
And hate his palaces;
Therefore I will deliver up the city
And all that is in it."

9 Then it shall come to pass, that if ten men remain in one house, they shall die. 10 And when [1]a relative of the dead, with one who will burn the bodies, picks up the [2]bodies to take them out of the house, he will say to one inside the house, "Are there any more with you?"

Then someone will say, "None."

And he will say, [u]"Hold your tongue! [v]For we dare not mention the name of the LORD."

11 For behold, [w]the LORD gives a command:
[x]He will break the great house into bits,
And the little house into pieces.

12 Do horses run on rocks?
Does one plow there with oxen?
Yet [y]you have turned justice into

wormwood,
13 You who rejoice over [3]Lo Debar,
Who say, "Have we not taken

By our own strength?"

Says the LORD God of hosts;

5:27 Assyria conquered Damascus in 732 B.C., then overtook Israel in 722 B.C.

6:1,2 The two capitals of Judah and Israel, Zion and Samaria, were invited to look around. If Calneh (possibly the Calno of Is. 10:9) and Hamath (Syria) and Gath (Philistia) could not put off judgment, how could they?

6:6 drink wine from bowls. These large bowls, usually used for sacrificial purposes, here typify the excesses of their lifestyle.

6:8 sworn by Himself. Cf. Gen. 22:16; Heb. 6:13,14.

6:9,10 The judgment was so comprehensive that even small remnants were sought out and killed.

6:10 one who will burn. This could refer to cremation, demanded by the excessive number killed and because of fear of epidemics. With rare exceptions (cf. 1 Sam. 31:12), corpses were buried in ancient Israel. dare not mention...the LORD. Previously welcomed as a friend, the Lord came in judgment as a foe; survivors would not want to invoke His name out of fear.

6:12 Israel's exercise of justice was as absurd as running horses on rocks or plowing rocks with oxen.

6:13 Lo Debar...Karnaim. These were, apparently, two Syrian sites captured by Jeroboam II (cf. 2 Kin. 14:25). "Lo Debar" means "nothing" and sarcastically points out that Israel's "great" gain will amount to nothing. "Karnaim" means "horns" which symbolizes the strength of an animal. Israel foolishly believed they had conquered in their own strength.

6:14 a nation. Assyria in 722 B.C. Hamath to the Valley of the Arabah. These represent the northern and southern perimeters of the kingdom as reestablished by Jeroboam II (cf. 2 Kin. 14:25).

CHAPTER 7

Vision of the Locusts

7 Thus the Lord GOD showed me: Behold, He formed locust swarms at the [1]beginning of the late crop; indeed it was the late crop after the king's mowings. 2 And so it was, when they had finished eating the grass of the land, that I said:

"O Lord GOD, forgive, I pray!
[a]Oh,[2] that Jacob may stand,
For he is small!"
3 So [b]the LORD relented concerning this.
"It shall not be," said the LORD.

Vision of the Fire

4 Thus the Lord GOD showed me: Behold, the Lord GOD called [3]for conflict by fire, and it consumed the great deep and devoured the [4]territory. 5 Then I said:

"O Lord GOD, cease, I pray!
[c]Oh, that Jacob may stand,
For he is small!"
6 So the LORD relented concerning this.
"This also shall not be," said the Lord GOD.

Vision of the Plumb Line

7 Thus He showed me: Behold, the Lord stood on a wall made with a plumb line, with a plumb line in His hand. 8 And the LORD said to me, "Amos, what do you see?"

And I said, "A plumb line."

Then the Lord said:

"Behold, [d]I am setting a plumb line
In the midst of My people Israel;
[e]I will not pass by them anymore.
9 [f]The [5]high places of Isaac shall be desolate,
And the [6]sanctuaries of Israel shall be laid waste.
[g]I will rise with the sword against the house of Jeroboam."

Amaziah's Complaint

10 Then Amaziah the [h]priest of [i]Bethel sent to [j]Jeroboam king of Israel, saying, "Amos has conspired against you in the midst of the house of Israel. The land is not able to [7]bear all his words. 11 For thus Amos has said:

'Jeroboam shall die by the sword,
And Israel shall surely be led away [k]captive
From their own land.' "

12 Then Amaziah said to Amos:

"Go, you seer!
Flee to the land of Judah.
There eat bread,
And there prophesy.
13 But [l]never again prophesy at Bethel,
[m]For it is the king's [8]sanctuary,
And it is the royal [9]residence."

14 Then Amos answered, and said to Amaziah:

"I was no prophet,
Nor was I [n]a son of a prophet,
But I was a [o]sheepbreeder
And a tender of sycamore fruit.
15 Then the LORD took me [1]as I followed the flock,
And the LORD said to me,
'Go, [p]prophesy to My people Israel.'
16 Now therefore, hear the word of the LORD:
You say, 'Do not prophesy against Israel,

7:1–9:10 Amos introduced 5 visions, with an historical interlude (7:10-17). The first two depict the Lord's commitment to spare a remnant, while the last 3 announce the inevitability of judgment.

7:1-3 The first vision, symbolizing God's action, saw a swarm of locusts devouring the people's portion of the later cuttings, after the king had taken the first cutting (cf. Joel 1:2-12).

7:3 The LORD relented. Much like He did at Abraham's pleading over Sodom in Gen. 18:22,23.

7:4-6 Under the figure of fire, the second vision concerns a devastating drought, causing the underground water supplies to dry up and the fields to be consumed (cf. Deut. 32:22). Amos again pleaded Israel's cause (cf. vv. 2,3).

7:7-9 The true spiritual nature of Israel was here tested (and found wanting) by God's plumb line of righteousness in this third of 5 visions. The sword of judgment was to come from Assyria.

7:10-17 The words of Amos cut deep into the heart of Israel's leadership, causing them to accuse him of conspiracy against the king (cf. Jer. 26:11; 37:11-13; 38:1-6).

7:11 Amos has said. This most likely refers to v. 9.

Five Visions of Amos

1. Vision of Locusts (7:1-3)
2. Vision of Fire (7:4-6)
3. Vision of the Plumb Line (7:7-9)
4. Vision of the Summer Fruit (8:1-14)
5. Vision of the Lord (9:1-10)

And [q]do not [2]spout against the house of Isaac.'

17 "Therefore[r] thus says the LORD:

[s]'Your wife shall be a harlot in the city;
Your sons and daughters shall fall
by the sword;
Your land shall be divided by survey line;
You shall die in a [t]defiled land;
And Israel shall surely be led away
captive
From his own land.' "

Vision of the Summer Fruit

8 Thus the Lord GOD showed me: Behold, a basket of summer fruit. 2 And He said, "Amos, what do you see?"
So I said, "A basket of summer fruit."
Then the LORD said to me:

[a]"The end has come upon My people
Israel;
[b]I will not pass by them anymore.
3 And [c]the songs of the temple
Shall be wailing in that day,"
Says the Lord GOD—
"Many dead bodies everywhere,
[d]They shall be thrown out in silence."

4 Hear this, you who [1]swallow up
the needy,
And make the poor of the land fail,

5 Saying:

"When will the New Moon be past,
That we may sell grain?
And [e]the Sabbath,
That we may [2]trade wheat?
[f]Making the ephah small and the shekel large,
Falsifying the scales by [g]deceit,
6 That we may buy the poor for [h]silver,
And the needy for a pair of sandals—
Even sell the bad wheat?"

7 The LORD has sworn by [i]the pride of Jacob:
"Surely [j]I will never forget any of their works.
8 [k]Shall the land not tremble for this,
And everyone mourn who dwells
in it?
All of it shall swell like [3]the River,
Heave and subside
[l]Like the River of Egypt.

9 "And it shall come to pass in that day," says the Lord GOD, [m]"That I will make the sun go down
at noon,
And I will darken the earth in [4]broad daylight;
10 I will turn your feasts into

[o]And all your songs into lamentation;
[p]I will bring sackcloth on every

And baldness on every head;
I will make it like mourning for an 11 "Behold, the days are coming," says

the Lord GOD,
"That I will send a famine on the
land,
Not a famine of bread,
Nor a thirst for water,
But [q]of hearing the words of the
LORD.
12 They shall wander from sea to sea,
And from north to east;
They shall run to and fro, seeking the word of the LORD,

8:1 summer fruit. In this fourth vision, as fruit was fully ripened by the summer's sun, so Israel was ripe for judgment

8:5 New Moon. Based on a lunar calendar, Israel would celebrate the day with a festival. Like the Sabbath, no work was to be done (1 Sam. 20:5,6; 2 Kin. 4:23; Ezek. 46:3). The merchants' eagerness for the day to end revealed their appetite for greed. ephah small...shekel large. By dishonest weighing, the merchant decreased the actual amount received and increased the cost of the merchandise. See note on Prov. 11:1 for other passages on dishonest measures.

8:6 bad wheat. This denotes the chaff, which was mixed into the good wheat to cheat the buyer.

8:7 pride of Jacob. As surely as the nation was filled with pride, so the Lord would not forget her works (cf. 6:8).

8:8 Heave and subside like the River of Egypt. Like the Nile, which annually provided water and rich soil deposits for farmers by greatly overflowing its banks, so judgment would overflow the land.

8:9 the sun go down at noon. Probably referring to the total eclipse of the sun ca. 763 B.C. as a picture of God's coming judgment.

8:10 sackcloth. See note on Joel 1:8.

8:11,12 During prosperity, the nation rejected the prophets (cf. 7:10-17); in captivity no word from the Lord could be found (cf. 1 Sam. 28:6ff.).

14 Those who [s]swear by [t]the [5]sin of Samaria,
Who say,

And, 'As the way of [u]Beersheba lives!'
They shall fall and never rise again."

The Destruction of Israel

9 I saw the Lord standing by the altar, and He said:

"Strike the [1]doorposts, that the thresholds may shake,
And [a]break them on the heads of them all.
I will slay the last of them with the sword.
[b]He who flees from them shall not get away,
And he who escapes from them shall not be delivered.

2 "Though [c]they dig into [2]hell,
From there My hand shall take them;
[d]Though they climb up to heaven,
From there I will bring them down;
3 And though they [e]hide themselves on top of Carmel,
From there I will search and take them;
Though they hide from My sight at the bottom of the sea,
From there I will command the serpent, and it shall bite them;
4 Though they go into captivity before their enemies,
From there [f]I will command the sword,
And it shall slay them.
[g]I will set My eyes on them for harm and not for good."

5 The Lord GOD of hosts,
He who touches the earth and it [h]melts,
[i]And all who dwell there mourn;
All of it shall swell like [3]the River,
And subside like the River of Egypt.
6 He who builds His [j]layers[4] in the sky,
And has founded His strata in the earth;
Who [k]calls for the waters of the sea,
And pours them out on the face of the earth—
[l]The LORD is His name.

7 "Are you not like the [5]people of Ethiopia to Me, O children of Israel?" says the LORD.
"Did I not bring up Israel from the land of Egypt,
The [m]Philistines from [n]Caphtor,[6]
And the Syrians from [o]Kir?

8 "Behold, [p]the eyes of the Lord GOD are on the sinful kingdom,
And I [q]will destroy it from the face of the earth;
Yet I will not utterly destroy the house of Jacob,"
Says the LORD.

9 "For surely I will command,
And will [7]sift the house of Israel among all nations,
As grain is sifted in a sieve;
[r]Yet not the smallest [8]grain shall fall to the ground.
10 All the sinners of My people shall die by the sword,
[s]Who say, 'The calamity shall not overtake nor confront us.'

9:1 The fifth vision opens with the Lord standing beside the altar in Bethel, commanding that the temple be torn down, thus falling upon the worshipers. He would spare none.

9:9 sift...among all nations. Only the chaff was to be punished; His remnant was to be preserved to inherit the blessings spoken of in the following verses.

9:11-15 Millennial blessings await the final faithful remnant, when Messiah personally reigns over all nations in Jerusalem upon the throne of David, and the Jews are never again pulled up from their divinely inherited land (9:15).

And [1]repair its damages;
I will raise up its ruins,
And rebuild it as in the days of old;
12 [u]That they may possess the remnant of [v]Edom,[2]
And all the Gentiles who are called by My name,"
Says the LORD who does this thing.

13 "Behold, [w]the days are coming,"
says the LORD,
"When the plowman shall overtake the reaper,
And the treader of grapes him who sows seed;
[x]The mountains shall drip with sweet wine,
And all the hills shall flow with it.
14 [y]I will bring back the captives of My people Israel;
[z]They shall build the waste cities and inhabit them;
They shall plant vineyards and drink wine from them;
They shall also make gardens and eat fruit from them.
15 I will plant them in their land,
[a]And no longer shall they be pulled up
From the land I have given them,"
Says the LORD your God.

(cf. Introduction: Interpretive Challenges). God will "raise up" and "rebuild" this tabernacle on earth for Christ to rule in His millennial kingdom (cf. Zech. 14:9-11). The apostles used this passage to illustrate that Gentiles could thus be a part of God's redemption. See notes on Acts 15:13-18.

9:13,14 Prosperity, in hyperbolic fashion, is here described (cf. Lev. 26:5; Joel 3:18; contra. Is. 5). Fruitfulness is so enormous that planting and reaping seasons overlap. This prosperity will encourage massive repatriation (cf. Is. 11:15,16) and reconstruction (cf. Zech. 2:1-5).

9:15 no longer shall they be pulled up from the land. The ultimate fulfillment of God's land promise to Abraham (cf. Gen. 12:7; 15:7; 17:8) will occur during Christ's millennial reign on earth (cf. Joel 2:26,27).

The Book of OBADIAH

Title

The book is named after the prophet who received the vision (1:1). Obadiah means "servant of the LORD" and occurs 20 times in the OT, referring to at least 20 other OT individuals. Obadiah is the shortest book in the OT and is not quoted in the NT.

Author and Date

Nothing is known for certain about the author. Other OT references to men of this name do not appear to be referring to this prophet. His frequent mentions of Jerusalem, Judah, and Zion suggest that he belonged to the southern kingdom (cf. vv. 10-12,17,21). Obadiah was probably a contemporary of Elijah and Elisha.

The date of writing is equally difficult to determine, though we know it is tied to the Edomite assault on Jerusalem described in vv. 10-14. Obadiah apparently wrote shortly after the attack. There were 4 significant invasions of Jerusalem in OT history: 1) by Shishak, king of Egypt, ca. 925 B.C. during the reign of Rehoboam (1 Kin. 14:25,26; 2 Chr. 12); 2) by the Philistines and Arabians between 848–841 B.C. during the reign of Jehoram of Judah (2 Chr. 21:8-20); 3) by Jehoash, king of Israel, ca. 790 B.C. (2 Kin. 14; 2 Chr. 25); and 4) by Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, in the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. Of these 4, only the second and the fourth are possible fits with historical data. Number two is preferable, since Obadiah's description does not indicate the total destruction of the city, which took place under Nebuchadnezzar's attack. Also, although the Edomites were involved in Nebuchadnezzar's destruction of Jerusalem (Ps. 137; Lam. 4:21), it is significant that Obadiah does not mention the Babylonians by name (as with all the other prophets who wrote about Jerusalem's fall), nor is there any reference to the destruction of the temple or the deportation of the people; in fact, the captives appear to have been taken to the SW, not E to Babylon (cf. v. 20).

Background and Setting

The Edomites trace their origin to Esau, the firstborn (twin) son of Isaac and Rebekah (Gen. 25:24-26), who struggled with Jacob even while in the womb (Gen. 25:22). Esau's name means "hairy," because "he was like a hairy garment all over" (Gen. 25:25). He is also called Edom, meaning "red," owing to the sale of his birthright in exchange for some "red stew" (Gen. 25:30). He showed a disregard for the covenant promises by marrying two Canaanite women (Gen. 26:34) and later the daughter of Ishmael (Gen. 28:9). He loved the out-of-doors and, after having his father's blessing stolen from him by Jacob, was destined to remain a man of the open spaces (Gen. 25:27; 27:38-40). Esau settled in a region of mostly rugged mountains S of the Dead Sea (Gen. 33:16; 36:8,9; Deut. 2:4,5) called Edom (Gr., "Idumea"), the 40 mi. wide area which stretches approximately 100 mi. S to the Gulf of Aqabah. The fabled King's Highway, an essential caravan route linking North Africa with Europe and Asia, passes along the eastern plateau (Num. 20:17). The struggle and birth of Jacob and Esau (Gen. 25) form the ultimate background to the prophecy of Gen. 25:23, "two nations are in your womb." Their respective descendants, Israel and Edom, were perpetual enemies. When Israel came out from Egypt, Edom denied their brother Jacob passage through their land, located S of the Dead Sea (Num. 20:14-21). Nevertheless, Israel was instructed by God to be kind to Edom (Deut. 23:7,8). Obadiah, having received a vision from God, was sent to describe their crimes and to pronounce total destruction upon Edom because of their treatment of Israel.

The Edomites opposed Saul (ca. 1043–1011 B.C.) and were subdued under David (ca. 1011–971 B.C.) and Solomon (ca. 971–931 B.C.). They fought against Jehoshaphat (ca. 873–848 B.C.) and successfully rebelled against Jehoram (ca. 853–841 B.C.). They were again conquered by Judah under Amaziah (ca. 796–767 B.C.), but they regained their freedom during the reign of Ahaz (ca. 735–715 B.C.). Edom was later controlled by Assyria and Babylon; and in the fifth century B.C. the Edomites were forced by the Nabateans to leave their territory. They moved to the area of southern Palestine and became known as Idumeans. Herod the Great, an Idumean, became king of Judea under Rome in 37 B.C. In a sense, the enmity between Esau and Jacob was continued in Herod's attempt to murder Jesus. The Idumeans participated in the rebellion of Jerusalem against Rome and were defeated along with the Jews by Titus in

A.D. 70. Ironically, the Edomites applauded the destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. (cf. Ps. 137:7) but died trying to defend it in A.D. 70. After that time they were never heard of again. As Obadiah predicted, they would be "cut off forever" (v. 10); "and no survivor shall remain of the house of Esau" (v. 18).

Historical and Theological Themes

The book is a case study of Gen. 12:1-3, with two interrelated themes: 1) the judgment of Edom by God for cursing Israel. This was apparently told to Judah, thereby providing reassurance to Judah that the Day of the Lord (v. 15) would bring judgment upon Edom for her pride and for her participation in Judah's downfall; 2) Judah's restoration. This would even include the territory of the Edomites (vv. 19-21; Is. 11:14). Obadiah's blessing includes the near fulfillment of Edom's demise (vv. 1-15) under the assault of the Philistines and Arabians (2 Chr. 21:8-20) and the far fulfillment of the nation's judgment in the first century A.D. and Israel's final possession of Edom (vv. 15-21).

Interpretive Challenges

The striking similarity between Obad. 1-9 and Jer. 49:7-22 brings up the question: Who borrowed from whom? Assuming there was not a third common source, it appears that Jeremiah borrowed, where appropriate, from Obadiah, since the shared verses form one unit in Obadiah, while in Jeremiah they are scattered among other verses.

The Coming Judgment on Edom

The vision of Obadiah.

Thus says the Lord GOD
[a]concerning Edom
[b](We have heard a report from the LORD,
And a messenger has been sent among the nations, saying,
"Arise, and let us rise up against her for battle"):

2 "Behold, I will make you small among the nations;
You shall be greatly despised.
3 The [c]pride of your heart has deceived you,
You who dwell in the clefts of the rock,
Whose habitation is high;
[d]You who say in your heart, 'Who will bring me down to the ground?'
4 [e]Though you ascend as high as the eagle,
And though you [f]set your nest among the stars,
From there I will bring you down," says the LORD.

5 "If [g]thieves had come to you,
If robbers by night—
Oh, how you will be cut off!—
Would they not have stolen till they had enough?
If grape-gatherers had come to you,
[h]Would they not have left some gleanings?

[i]The men at peace with you
Shall deceive you and prevail against you.
Those who eat your bread shall lay a [1]trap for you.
[j]No[2] one is aware of it.

8 "Will[k] I not in that day," says the LORD,
"Even destroy the wise men from Edom,
And understanding from the mountains of Esau?
9 Then your [l]mighty men,
O [m]Teman, shall be dismayed,
To the end that everyone from the mountains of Esau
May be cut off by slaughter.

Edom Mistreated His Brother

10 "For [n]violence against your brother Jacob,
Shame shall cover you,
And [o]you shall be cut off forever.

1 The vision. The prophetic word often came from God in the form of a vision (cf. Hab. 1:1). Thus says the Lord GOD. Although the background of the prophet is obscure, the source of his message is not. It was supernaturally given by God, and was not motivated by unholy vengeance. Edom. Descendants of Esau (Gen. 25:30; 36:1ff.), the Edomites settled in the region S of the Dead Sea. See Introduction: Background and Setting. Arise...rise up against her. The prophet heard of an international plot to overthrow Edom. The selfish motives of Edom's enemies were divinely controlled by the Lord's "messengers" to serve His sovereign purposes (cf. Ps. 104:4).

3,4 Who will bring me down...I will bring you down. Edom's pride was answered decisively by the Sovereign Ruler (cf. Matt. 23:12). The calamity against Edom, though brought about by her enemies, was truly God's judgment of her pride (cf. Prov. 16:18; 1 Cor. 10:12).

3 the clefts of the rock. Dwelling in difficult mountain terrain, Edom's imposing, impregnable capital city of Petra was virtually inaccessible, giving her a sense of security and self-sufficiency. Deep, terrifying gorges emanating from peaks reaching 5,700 ft. surrounded her like a fortress, generating a proud, false sense of security.

5 robbers by night. Because of the rugged terrain and very narrow access through the gorges, predatory attack could only come at night.

5,6 Edom's attackers, by divine judgment, would not stop where normal thieves would when they have enough. Instead, they would leave nothing.

7 Those conspiring against Edom (v. 1) were her allies ("men in your confederacy"), her neighbors ("men at peace with you"), and even the outlying tribes who benefited from Edom's prosperity ("those who eat your bread").

8 wise men. Edom was known for her wise men and sages (Jer. 49:7). Her location on the King's Highway provided her with intellectual stimulation with India, Europe, and North Africa.

9 Teman. A name derived from a descendant of Esau (Gen. 36:11), it refers to a region in the northern part of Edom which was the home of Job's friend, Eliphaz (Job 4:1).

10 violence against...Jacob. Edom's opposition is in view, which began as Israel approached the land (cf. Num. 20:14-21) and continued to Habakkuk's day. "Slaughter" (v. 9) and shame for Edom will be just retribution for Edom's violence and slaughter against her brother's people.

11-14 The charge of v. 10 is here amplified: 1) they "stood," withholding assistance (v. 11); 2) they "rejoiced" over Judah's downfall (v. 12; cf. Pss. 83:4-6; 137:4-6); 3) they plundered the city (v. 13); and 4) they prevented the escape of her fugitives (v. 14).

Nor should you have [s]rejoiced over the children of Judah
In the day of their destruction;
Nor should you have spoken proudly
In the day of distress.
13 You should not have entered the gate of My people
In the day of their calamity.
Indeed, you should not have
[5]gazed on their affliction
In the day of their calamity,
Nor laid hands on their substance
In the day of their calamity.
14 You should not have stood at the crossroads
To cut off those among them who escaped;
Nor should you have [6]delivered up those among them who remained
In the day of distress.

15 "For[t] the day of the LORD upon all the nations is near;
[u]As you have done, it shall be done
to you;
Your [7]reprisal shall return upon your own head.
16 [v]For as you drank on My holy
mountain,
So shall all the nations drink
continually;
Yes, they shall drink, and swallow,
And they shall be as though they had never been.

Israel's Final Triumph

17 "But on Mount Zion there [w]shall be
[8]deliverance,
And there shall be holiness;
The house of Jacob shall possess their possessions.
18 The house of Jacob shall be a fire,
And the house of Joseph [x]a flame;
But the house of Esau shall be stubble;
They shall kindle them and devour
them,
And no survivor shall remain of the

For the LORD has spoken.

19 The [9]South [y]shall possess the

[z]And the Lowland shall possess

They shall possess the fields of Ephraim
And the fields of Samaria.
Benjamin shall possess Gilead.
20 And the captives of this host of the 15 day of the LORD. God's near judgment of Edom in history (vv. 1-14) was a preview of His far judgment on all nations (vv. 15,16) who refuse to bow to His sovereignty (cf. discussion of "Day of the Lord" in Introduction to Joel).

16 My holy mountain. Zion, referring to Jerusalem (cf. v. 17). drink, and swallow. Compare Zech. 12:2, where the Lord will make His people as a "cup of drunkenness" from which His enemies will be made to drink. This refers to the cup of God's wrath. Judah drank temporarily of judgment, Edom will drink "continually."

17 A reversal of Judah's plight in vv. 10-14 will come about when Messiah intercedes and establishes His millennial kingdom and "holiness" prevails.

18-20 Those of Judah who remain (v. 14) will be divinely empowered to "devour" (v. 18) and completely wipe out the "house of Esau" (Zech. 12:6; cf. Is. 11:14; 34:5-17). When Messiah sets up His kingdom, the boundaries of the Davidic and Solomonic kingdoms will once again expand to include that promised to Jacob in his dream at Bethel (Gen. 28:14) which reaffirmed God's promise to Abraham (cf. Gen. 12). This could include the S (mountains of Esau); the W (Philistia); the N (Ephraim...Samaria); and the E (Gilead).

18 house of Jacob...house of Joseph. Representatives of Abraham's seed.

20 Canaanites. Those peoples who occupied the land before the Exodus. Zarephath. Also known as Sarepta (cf. Luke 4:26), this town was located on the Phoenician coast between Tyre and Sidon. Sepharad. Not mentioned elsewhere in Bible, the location is uncertain. Most rabbis identify it with Spain; others have suggested Sparta or Sardis.

21 saviors shall come...to judge. Just as the Lord raised up judges to deliver His people (cf. Neh. 9:27), so will He establish similar leaders to help rule in the millennial kingdom (cf. 1 Cor. 6:2; Rev. 20:4). the kingdom shall be the LORD's. When the nations are judged in the Day of the Lord, He will then set up His millennial kingdom, a theocracy in which He rules His people directly on earth (Zech. 14:4-9; Rev. 11:15).

The Book of JONAH

Title

Following the lead of the Hebrew Masoretic text (MT), the title of the book is derived from the principal character, Jonah (meaning "dove"), the son of Amittai (1:1). Both the Septuagint (LXX) and the Latin Vulgate (Vg.) ascribe the same name.

Author and Date

The book makes no direct claim regarding authorship. Throughout the book, Jonah is repeatedly referred to in the third person, causing some to search for another author. It was not an uncommon OT practice, however, to write in the third person (e.g., Ex. 11:3; 1 Sam. 12:11). Furthermore, the autobiographical information revealed within its pages clearly points to Jonah as the author. The firsthand accounts of such unusual events and experiences would be best recounted from the hand of Jonah himself. Nor should the introductory verse suggest otherwise, since other prophets such as Hosea, Joel, Micah, Zephaniah, Haggai, and Zechariah have similar openings.

According to 2 Kin. 14:25, Jonah came from Gath-hepher near Nazareth. The context places him during the long and prosperous reign of Jeroboam II (ca. 793–758 B.C.), making him a prophet to the northern tribes just prior to Amos during the first half of the eighth century B.C., ca. 760 B.C. The Pharisees were wrong when they said "no prophet has arisen out of Galilee" (John 7:52), because Jonah was a Galilean. An unverifiable Jewish tradition says Jonah was the son of the widow of Zarephath whom Elijah raised from the dead (1 Kin. 17:8-24).

Background and Setting

As a prophet to the 10 northern tribes of Israel, Jonah shares a background and setting with Amos. The nation enjoyed a time of relative peace and prosperity. Both Syria and Assyria were weak, allowing Jeroboam II to enlarge the northern borders of Israel to where they had been in the days of David and Solomon (2 Kin. 14:23-27). Spiritually, however, it was a time of poverty; religion was ritualistic and increasingly idolatrous, and justice had become perverted. Peacetime and wealth had made her bankrupt spiritually, morally, and ethically (cf. 2 Kin. 14:24; Amos 4:1ff.; 5:10-13). As a result, God was to punish her by bringing destruction and captivity from the Assyrians in 722 B.C. Nineveh's repentance may have been aided by the two plagues (765 and 759 B.C.) and a solar eclipse (763 B.C.), preparing them for Jonah's judgment message.

Historical and Theological Themes

Jonah, though a prophet of Israel, is not remembered for his ministry in Israel which could explain why the Pharisees erringly claimed in Jesus' day that no prophet had come from Galilee (cf. John 7:52). Rather, the book relates the account of his call to preach repentance to Nineveh and his refusal to go. Nineveh, the capital of Assyria and infamous for its cruelty, was an historical nemesis of Israel and Judah. The focus of this book is on that Gentile city, which was founded by Nimrod, great-grandson of Noah (Gen. 10:6-12). Perhaps the largest city in the ancient world (1:2; 3:2,3; 4:11), it was nevertheless destroyed about 150 years after the repentance of the generation in the time of Jonah's visit (612 B.C.), as Nahum prophesied (Nah. 1:1ff.). Israel's political distaste for Assyria, coupled with a sense of spiritual superiority as the recipient of God's covenant blessing, produced a recalcitrant attitude in Jonah toward God's request for missionary service. Jonah was sent to Nineveh in part to shame Israel by the fact that a pagan city repented at the preaching of a stranger, whereas Israel would not repent though preached to by many prophets. He was soon to learn that God's love and mercy extends to all of His creatures (4:2,10,11), not just His covenant people (cf. Gen. 9:27; 12:3; Lev. 19:33,34; 1 Sam. 2:10; Is. 2:2; Joel 2:28-32).

The book of Jonah reveals God's sovereign rule over man and all creation. Creation came into being through Him (1:9) and responds to His every command (1:4,17; 2:10; 4:6,7; cf. Mark 4:41). Jesus employed the repentance of the Ninevites to rebuke the Pharisees, thereby illustrating the hardness of the Pharisees' hearts and their unwillingness to repent (Matt. 12:38-41; Luke 11:29-32). The heathen city of Nineveh repented at the preaching of a reluctant prophet, but the Pharisees would not repent at the preaching of the greatest of all prophets, in spite of overwhelming evidence that He was actually their Lord and Messiah. Jonah is a picture of Israel, who was chosen and commissioned by God to be His witness (Is. 43:10-12; 44:8), who rebelled against His will (Ex. 32:1-4; Judg. 2:11-19; Ezek. 6:1-5; Mark 7:6-9), but who has been miraculously preserved by God through centuries of exile and dispersion to finally preach His truth (Jer. 30:11; 31:35-37; Hos. 3:3-5; Rev. 7:1-8; 14:1-3).

Interpretive Challenges

The primary challenge is whether the book is to be interpreted as historical narrative or as allegory/parable. The grand scale of the miracles, such as being kept alive 3 days and nights in a big fish, has led some skeptics and critics to deny their historical validity and substitute spiritual lessons, either to the constituent parts (allegory) or to the book as a whole (parable). But however grandiose and miraculous the events may have been, the narrative must be viewed as historical. Centered on an historically identifiable OT prophet who lived in the eighth century B.C., the account of whom has been recorded in narrative form, there is no alternative but to understand Jonah as historical. Furthermore, Jesus did not teach the story of Jonah as a parable but as an actual account firmly rooted in history (Matt. 12:38-41; 16:4; Luke 11:29-32).

Jonah's Disobedience

1 Now the word of the LORD came to [a]Jonah the son of Amittai, saying,
2 "Arise, go to [b]Nineveh, that [c]great city, and cry out against it; for [d]their wickedness has come up before Me." 3 But Jonah arose to flee to Tarshish from the presence of the LORD. He went down to [e]Joppa, and found a ship going to Tarshish; so he paid the fare, and went down into it, to go with them to [f]Tarshish [g]from the presence of the LORD.

The Storm at Sea

4 But [h]the LORD [1]sent out a great wind on the sea, and there was a mighty tempest on the sea, so that the ship was about to be broken up.

5 Then the mariners were afraid; and every man cried out to his god, and threw the cargo that was in the ship into the sea, to lighten [2]the load. But Jonah had gone down [i]into the lowest parts of the ship, had lain down, and was fast asleep.

6 So the captain came to him, and said to him, "What do you mean, sleeper? Arise, [j]call on your God; [k]perhaps your God will consider us, so that we may not perish."

7 And they said to one another, "Come, let us [l]cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this trouble has come upon us." So they cast lots, and the lot fell on Jonah. 8 Then they said to him, [m]"Please tell us! For whose cause is this trouble upon us? What is your occupation? And where do you come from? What is your country? And of what people are you?"

9 So he said to them, "I am a Hebrew; and I fear [3]the LORD, the God of heaven, [n]who made the sea and the dry land."

1:1 Jonah the son of Amittai. Jonah's name is Heb. for "dove," while that of his father means "truthful" or "loyal."

1:2 Arise, go to Nineveh. While other prophets prophesied against Gentile nations, this is the only case of a prophet actually being sent to a foreign nation to deliver God's message against them. This was for the salvation of that city and for the shame and jealousy of Israel, as well as a rebuke to the reluctance of the Jews to bring Gentiles to the true God. Nineveh, which dates back to Nimrod (Gen. 10:11), was located on the banks of the Tigris River approximately 500 mi. NE of Israel. It was always one of Assyria's royal cities and for many years served as the capital. The name Nineveh, is thought to derive from "ninus," i.e., Nimrod, and means the residence of Nimrod or "nunu" (Akkadian for "fish"). The people worshiped the fish goddess Nanshe (the daughter of Ea, the goddess of fresh water) and Dagon the fish god who was represented as half man and half fish. that great city. Nineveh was great both in size (3:3) and in power, exerting significant influence over the Middle East until her destruction by Nebuchadnezzar in 612 B.C. It was possibly the largest city in the world at this time. According to historians, magnificent walls almost 8 mi. long enveloped the inner city, with the rest of the city/district occupying an area with a circumference of some 60 miles. Its population could have approached 600,000 (cf. 4:11). their wickedness has come up before Me. Nineveh was the center of idolatrous worship of Assur and Ishtar. A century later, Nahum pronounced doom upon Assyria for her evil ways and cruelty (Nah. 3), which was carried out by Nebuchadnezzar in 612 B.C.

1:3 But Jonah arose to flee to Tarshish. This is the only recorded instance of a prophet refusing God's commission (cf. Jer. 20:7-9). The location of Tarshish, known for its wealth (Ps. 72:10; Jer. 10:9; Ezek. 27:12,25), is uncertain. The Gr. historian Herodotus identified it with Tartessus, a merchant city in southern Spain. The prophet went as far W in the opposite direction as possible, showing his reluctance to bring salvation blessing to Gentiles. from the presence of the LORD. While no one can escape from the Lord's omnipresence (Ps. 139:7-12), it is thought that the prophet was attempting to flee His manifest presence in the temple at Jerusalem (cf. Gen. 4:16; Jon. 2:4). Joppa. Joppa (today Jaffa), located on the Mediterranean coast near the border of Judah and Samaria, was also the location of Peter's vision in preparation for his visit to Cornelius, a Gentile (Acts 10).

1:4 a great wind. This is not an ordinary storm, but an extreme one sent (lit. "hurled") from God. Sailors, accustomed to storms, were afraid of this one (v. 5), a fear which served God's purpose (cf. Ps. 104:4).

1:7 cast lots. The last resort is to ascertain whose guilt has caused such divine anger. God could reveal His will by controlling the lots, which He did. This method of discernment by casting lots, the exact procedure of which is not known, was not forbidden in Israel (cf. Prov. 16:33; Josh. 7:14ff.; 15:1; 1 Sam 14:36-45; Acts 1:26).

1:9 I am a Hebrew. Jonah identified himself by the name that Israelites used among Gentiles (cf. 1 Sam. 4:6,9; 14:11). the God of heaven. This title, in use from earliest times (Gen. 24:3,7), may have been specifically chosen by Jonah to express the sovereignty of the Lord in contrast to Baal, who was a sky god (cf. 1 Kin. 18:24). Spoken to sailors who were most likely from Phoenicia, the center of Baal worship, the title bears significant weight, especially when coupled with the phrase "who made the sea and the dry land." This was the appropriate identification when introducing the true and living God to pagans who didn't have Scripture, but whose reason led them to recognize the fact that there had to be a Creator (cf. Rom 1:18-23). To begin with creation, as in Acts 14:14-17 and 17:23b-29, was the proper starting point. To evangelize Jews, one can begin with the OT Scripture.

Ten Miracles in Jonah

1.	1:4	"the LORD sent out a great wind on the sea"
2.	1:7	"the lot fell on Jonah"
3.	1:15	"the sea ceased from its raging"
4.	1:17	"the LORD had prepared a great fish"
5.	1:17	"to swallow Jonah (alive)"
6.	2:10	"the LORD spoke to the fish...it vomited Jonah onto dry land"
7.	3:10	"God saw their works...they turned from their evil way"
8.	4:6	"the LORD God prepared a plant"
9.	4:7	"God prepared a worm"
10.	4:8	"God prepared a vehement east wind"

Jonah Thrown into the Sea

10 Then the men were exceedingly afraid, and said to him, "Why have you done this?" For the men knew that he fled from the presence of the LORD, because he had told them. 11 Then they said to him, "What shall we do to you that the sea may be calm for us?"—for the sea was growing more tempestuous.

12 And he said to them, [o]"Pick me up and [4]throw me into the sea; then the sea will become calm for you. For I know that this great tempest is because of me."

13 Nevertheless the men rowed hard to return to land, [p]but they could not, for the sea continued to grow more tempestuous against them. 14 Therefore they cried out to the LORD and said, "We pray, O LORD, please do not let us perish for this man's life, and [q]do not charge us with innocent blood; for You, O LORD, [r]have done as it pleased You." 15 So they picked up Jonah and threw him into the sea, [s]and the sea ceased from its raging. 16 Then the men [t]feared the LORD exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice to the LORD and took vows.

Jonah's Prayer and Deliverance

17 Now the LORD had prepared a great fish to swallow Jonah. And [u]Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights.

2 Then Jonah prayed to the LORD his God from the fish's belly. 2 And he said:

"I [a]cried out to the LORD because of my affliction,
[b]And He answered me.

"Out of the belly of Sheol I cried,
And You heard my voice.
3 [c]For You cast me into the deep,
Into the heart of the seas,
And the floods surrounded me;
[d]All Your billows and Your waves passed over me.
4 [e]Then I said, 'I have been cast out of Your sight;
Yet I will look again [f]toward Your holy temple.'
5 The [g]waters surrounded me, even to my soul;
The deep closed around me;
Weeds were wrapped around my head.
6 I went down to the [1]moorings of the mountains;
The earth with its bars closed behind me forever;
Yet You have brought up my [h]life from the pit,
O LORD, my God.

7 "When my soul fainted within me,
I remembered the LORD;
[i]And my prayer went up to You,
Into Your holy temple.

8 "Those who regard [j]worthless idols
Forsake their own [2]Mercy.
9 But I will [k]sacrifice to You
With the voice of thanksgiving;
I will pay what I have [l]vowed.
[m]Salvation is of the [n]LORD."

10 So the LORD spoke to the fish, and it vomited Jonah onto dry land.

1:11,12 Unwilling to go to Nineveh and feeling guilty, Jonah was willing to sacrifice himself in an effort to save the lives of others. Apparently, he would rather have died than go to Nineveh.

1:13,14 Heathen sailors had more concern for one man than Jonah had for tens of thousands in Nineveh. The storm, Jonah's words, and the lots all indicated to the sailors that the Lord was involved; thus they offered sacrifices to Him and made vows, indicating Jonah had told them more about God than is recorded here.

1:15 the sea ceased. This was similar to Christ's quieting the storm on the Sea of Galilee (cf. Matt. 8:23-27).

1:17 a great fish. The species of fish is uncertain; the Heb. word for whale is not here employed. God sovereignly prepared (lit. "appointed") a great fish to rescue Jonah. Apparently Jonah sank into the depth of the sea before the fish swallowed him (cf. 2:3,5,6). three days and three nights. See note on Matt. 12:40; 16:4.

2:1-9 Jonah acknowledged God's sovereignty (vv. 1-3) and submitted to it (vv. 2:4-9).

2:2 Out of the belly of Sheol. The phrase does not necessarily indicate that Jonah actually died. "Sheol" frequently has a hyperbolic meaning in contexts where it denotes a catastrophic condition near death (Ps. 30:3). Later Jonah expressed praise for his deliverance "from the pit," speaking of his escape from certain death.

2:3 In describing his watery experience, Jonah acknowledged that his circumstances were judgment from the Lord.

2:4 I have been cast out of Your sight. In 1:3, Jonah ran from the Lord's presence; here he realizes that the Lord has temporarily expelled him.

2:5 my soul. This describes Jonah's total person—both physically and spiritually (cf. v. 7).

2:9 I have vowed. Jonah found himself in the same position as the mariners: offering sacrifices and making vows (cf. 1:16). In light of 3:1-4, Jonah's vow could well have been to carry out God's ministry will for him by preaching in Nineveh (Pss. 50:14; 66:13,14).

2:10 the LORD spoke. Just as God calls the stars by name (Is. 40:26; cf. Ps. 147:4), so He speaks to His creation in the animal world (cf. Num. 22:28-30). Most likely, Jonah was vomited upon the shore near Joppa.

3:1,2 Gracious in giving Jonah a second chance, God again commissioned him to go to Nineveh. Jonah is the only prophet actually sent by God to preach repentance in a foreign land.

go to Nineveh, that great city, and preach to it the message that I tell you." 3 So Jonah arose and went to Nineveh, according to the word of the LORD. Now Nineveh was an exceedingly great city, [1]a three-day journey in extent. 4 And Jonah began to enter the city on the first day's walk. Then [a]he cried out and said, "Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown!"

The People of Nineveh Believe

5 So the [b]people of Nineveh believed God, proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest to the least of them. 6 Then word came to the king of Nineveh; and he arose from his throne and laid aside his robe, covered himself with sackcloth [c]and sat in ashes. 7 [d]And he caused it to be proclaimed and published throughout Nineveh by the decree of the king and his [2]nobles, saying,

> Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste anything; do not let them eat, or drink water. 8 But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and cry mightily to God; yes, [e]let every one turn from his evil way and from [f]the violence that is in his hands.
> 9 [g]Who can tell if God will turn and relent, and turn away from His fierce anger, so that we may not perish?

10 [h]Then God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God relented from the disaster that He had said He would bring upon them, and He did not do it.

Jonah's Anger and God's Kindness

4 But it displeased Jonah exceedingly, and he became angry. 2 So he prayed to the LORD, and said, "Ah, LORD, was not this what I said when I was still in my country? Therefore I [a]fled previously to Tarshish; for I know that You are a [b]gracious and merciful God, slow to anger and abundant in lovingkindness, One who relents from doing harm. 3 [c]Therefore now, O LORD, please take my life from me, for [d]it is better for me to die than to live!"

4 Then the LORD said, "Is it right for you to be angry?"

5 So Jonah went out of the city and sat on the east side of the city. There he made himself a shelter and sat under it in the shade, till he might see what would become of the city. 6 And the LORD God prepared a [1]plant and made it come up over Jonah, that it might be shade for his head to deliver him from his misery. So Jonah [2]was very grateful for the plant. 7 But as morning dawned the next day God prepared a worm, and it so damaged the plant that it withered. 8 And it happened, when the sun arose, that God prepared a vehement east wind; and the sun beat on Jonah's head, so that he grew faint. Then he wished death for himself, and said, [e]"It is better for me to die than to live."

9 Then God said to Jonah, "Is it right for you to be angry about the plant?"

And he said, "It is right for me to be angry, even to death!"

3:3 an exceedingly great city, a three-day journey. Lit."a great city to God," the text emphasizes not only its size (cf. 1:2) but its importance (cf. 4:11). A metropolitan city the size of Nineveh, with a circumference of about 60 mi., would require 3 days just to get around it. These dimensions are confirmed by historians. Stopping to preach would only add to the time requirement.

3:4 Yet forty days. The time frame may harken back to Moses' supplication for 40 days and nights at Sinai (Deut. 9:18,25). Jonah's message, while short, accomplishes God's intended purpose.

3:5 the people...believed God. Jonah's experience with the fish (2:1-10), in light of the Ninevites pagan beliefs (see note on 1:2), certainly gained him an instant hearing. From the divine side, this wholesale repentance was a miraculous work of God. Pagan sailors and a pagan city responded to the reluctant prophet, showing the power of God in spite of the weakness of His servant.

3:6 The king of Nineveh, thought to be either Adad-nirari III (ca. 810–783) or Assurdan III (ca. 772–755), exchanged his royal robes for sackcloth and ashes (cf. Job 42:6; Is. 58:5). Reports of Jonah's miraculous fish experience may have preceded him to Nineveh, accounting for the swift and widespread receptivity of his message (cf. 1:2). It is generally believed that acid from the fish's stomach would have bleached Jonah's face, thus validating the experience.

3:7-9 man nor beast. It was a Persian custom to use animals in mourning ceremonies.

3:10 God saw...God relented. See note on Gen. 6:6 (cf. Jer. 18:7,8). The Ninevites truly repented.

4:1,2 Jonah, because of his rejection of Gentiles and distaste for their participation in salvation, was displeased at God's demonstration of mercy towards the Ninevites, thereby displaying the real reason for his original flight to Tarshish. From the very beginning, Jonah had clearly understood the gracious character of God (cf. 1 Tim. 2:4; 2 Pet. 3:9). He had received pardon, but didn't want Nineveh to know God's mercy (cf. a similar attitude in Luke 15:25ff.).

4:3 better...to die than to live! Perhaps Jonah was expressing the reality of breaking his vow (2:9) to God a second time (cf. Num. 30:2; Eccl. 5:1-6).

4:6 a plant. The identity is uncertain, but it possibly could be the fast growing castor oil plant, which in hot climates grows rapidly to give shade with its large leaves.

4:8 vehement east wind. A hot, scorching wind, normally called "sirocco," blowing off the Arabian desert. The shelter Jonah made for himself (v. 5) would not exclude this "agent" of God's sovereignty.

10 But the LORD said, "You have had pity on the plant for which you have not labored, nor made it grow, which [3]came up in a night and perished in a night.
11 And should I not pity Nineveh, [f]that great city, in which are more than one hundred and twenty thousand persons [g]who cannot discern between their right hand and their left—and much livestock?"

10 [3] Lit. was a son of a night
11 [f] Jon. 1:2; 3:2, 3
[g] Deut. 1:39; Is. 7:16

4:10,11 God's love for the people of Nineveh, whom He had created, is far different from Jonah's indifference to their damnation and greater than Jonah's warped concern for a wild plant for which he had done nothing. God was ready to spare Sodom for 10 righteous; how much more a city which includes 120,000 small children, identified as those who cannot discern the right hand from the left (cf. Gen. 18:22,23). With that many 3 or 4 year old children, it is reasonable to expect a total population in excess of 600,000.

The Book of MICAH

Title

The name of the book is derived from the prophet who, having received the word of the Lord, was commissioned to proclaim it. Micah, whose name is shared by others in the OT (e.g., Judg. 17:1; 2 Chr. 13:2; Jer. 36:11), is a shortened form of Micaiah (or Michaiah) and means "Who is like the LORD?" In 7:18, Micah uses a play on his own name, saying "Who is a God like You?"

Author and Date

The first verse establishes Micah as the author. Beyond that, little is known about him. His parentage is not given, but his name suggests a godly heritage. He traces his roots to the town of Moresheth (1:1,14), located in the foothills of Judah, approximately 25 mi. SW of Jerusalem, on the border of Judah and Philistia, near Gath. From a productive agricultural area, he was like Amos, a country resident removed from the national politics and religion, yet chosen by God (3:8) to deliver a message of judgment to the princes and people of Jerusalem.

Micah places his prophecy during the reigns of Jotham (750–731 B.C.), Ahaz (731–715 B.C.), and Hezekiah (715–686 B.C.). His indictments of social injustices and religious corruption renew the theme of Amos (mid-eighth century B.C.) and his contemporaries, Hosea in the N (ca. 755–710 B.C.) and in the S Isaiah (ca. 739–690 B.C.). This fits that which is known about the character of Ahaz (2 Kin. 16:10-18) and his son Hezekiah prior to his sweeping spiritual reformations (2 Chr. 29; 31:1). His references to the imminent fall of Samaria (1:6) clearly position him before 722 B.C., at approximately 735–710 B.C.

Background and Setting

Because the northern kingdom was about to fall to Assyria during Micah's ministry in 722 B.C., Micah dates his message with the mention of Judean kings only. While Israel was an occasional recipient of his words (cf. 1:5-7), his primary attention was directed toward the southern kingdom in which he lived. The economic prosperity and the absence of international crises which marked the days of Jeroboam II (793–753 B.C.), during which the borders of Judah and Israel rivaled those of David and Solomon (cf. 2 Kin. 14:23-27), were slipping away. Syria and Israel invaded Judah, taking the wicked Ahaz temporarily captive (cf. 2 Chr. 28:5-16; Is. 7:1,2). After Assyria had overthrown Syria and Israel, the good king Hezekiah withdrew his allegiance to Assyria, causing Sennacherib to besiege Jerusalem in 701 B.C. (cf. 2 Kin. 18,19; 2 Chr. 32). The Lord then sent His angel to deliver Judah (2 Chr. 32:21). Hezekiah was used by God to lead Judah back to true worship.

After the prosperous reign of Uzziah, who died in 739 B.C., his son Jotham continued the same policies, but failed to remove the centers of idolatry. Outward prosperity was only a facade masking rampant social corruption and religious syncretism. Worship of the Canaanite fertility god Baal was increasingly integrated with the OT sacrificial system, reaching epidemic proportions under the reign of Ahaz (cf. 2 Chr. 28:1-4). When Samaria fell, thousands of refugees swarmed into Judah, bringing their religious syncretism with them. But while Micah (like Hosea) addressed this issue, it was the disintegration of personal and social values to which he delivered his most stinging rebukes and stern warnings (e.g., 7:5,6). Assyria was the dominant power and a constant threat to Judah, so Micah's prediction that Babylon, then under Assyrian rule, would conquer Judah (4:10) seemed remote. Thus, as the prophet Amos was to Israel, Micah was to Judah.

Historical and Theological Themes

Primarily, Micah proclaimed a message of judgment to a people persistently pursuing evil. Similar to other prophets (cf. Hos. 4:1; Amos 3:1), Micah presented his message in lawsuit/courtroom terminology (1:2; 6:1,2). The prophecy is arranged in 3 oracles or cycles, each beginning with the admonition to "hear" (1:2; 3:1; 6:1). Within each oracle, he moves from doom to hope—doom because they have broken God's law given at Sinai; hope because of God's unchanging covenant with their forefathers (7:20). One third of the book targets the sins of his people; another third looks at the punishment of God to come; and another third promises hope for the faithful after the judgment. Thus, the theme of the inevitability of divine judgment for sin is coupled together with God's immutable commitment to His covenant promises. The combination of God's 1) absolute consistency in judging sin and 2) unbending commitment to His covenant through the remnant of His people provides the hearers with a clear disclosure of the character of the Sovereign of the universe. Through divine intervention, He will bring about both judgment on sinners and blessing on those who repent.

Interpretive Challenges

The verbal similarity between Mic. 4:1-3 and Is. 2:2-4 raises the question of who quoted whom. Interpreters are divided, with no clear-cut answers on either side. Because the two prophets lived in close proximity to each other, prophesying during the same period, this similarity is understandable. God gave the same message through two preachers. The introductory phrase, "in the latter days" (4:1), removes these verses from any post-Exilic fulfillment and requires an eschatological timeframe surrounding the Second Advent of Christ and the beginning of the Millennium.

Apart from Is. 2:2-4, three other passages from Micah are quoted elsewhere in Scripture. Micah 3:12 is quoted in Jer. 26:18, thereby saving Jeremiah's life from King Jehoiakim's death sentence. Micah 5:2 is quoted by the chief priests and scribes (Matt. 2:6) in response to Herod's query about the birthplace of the Messiah. Micah 7:6 is employed by Jesus in Matt. 10:35,36 when commissioning His disciples.

CHAPTER 1

1 The word of the LORD that came to [a]Micah of Moresheth in the days of [b]Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, which he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

The Coming Judgment on Israel

2 Hear, all you peoples!
Listen, O earth, and all that is in it!
Let the Lord GOD be a witness
against you,
The Lord from [c]His holy temple.

3 For behold, the LORD is coming out of His place;
He will come down
And tread on the high places of the earth.
4 [d]The mountains will melt under Him,
And the valleys will split
Like wax before the fire,
Like waters poured down a steep place.
5 All this is for the transgression of
Jacob
And for the sins of the house of Israel.
What is the transgression of Jacob?
Is it not Samaria?
And what are the [e]high places of Judah?
Are they not Jerusalem?

6 "Therefore I will make Samaria [f]a heap of ruins in the field,
Places for planting a vineyard;
I will pour down her stones into the valley,
And I will [g]uncover her
foundations.
7 All her carved images shall be beaten to pieces,
And all her [h]pay as a harlot shall be burned with the fire;
All her idols I will lay desolate,
For she gathered it from the pay of
a harlot,
And they shall return to the [i]pay of
a harlot."

Mourning for Israel and Judah

8 Therefore I will wail and howl,
I will go stripped and naked;
[j]I will make a wailing like the jackals
And a mourning like the ostriches,
9 For her wounds are incurable.
For [k]it has come to Judah;
It has come to the gate of My
people—
To Jerusalem.

10 [l]Tell it not in Gath,
Weep not at all;
In [1]Beth Aphrah
Roll yourself in the dust.
11 Pass by in naked shame, you inhabitant of [2]Shaphir;
The inhabitant of [3]Zaanan does not go out.
Beth Ezel mourns;
Its place to stand is taken away
from you.

12 For the inhabitant of [4]Maroth
[5]pined for good,
But [m]disaster came down from the
LORD

1:1 Moresheth. Located SW of Jerusalem, near the Philistine city of Gath (cf. 1:14).

1:2-7 The prophet summons all the nations (v. 2) of the world into court to hear charges against Samaria and Judah (vv. 5-7; cf. Is. 3:13,14). Their destruction was to be a warning example to the nations, prefiguring God's judgment on all who sin against Him. As an omnipotent Conqueror, the Sovereign over all creation is assured of victory (vv. 3,4).

1:2 His holy temple. Context points to God's heavenly throne (cf. Ps. 11:4; Is. 6:1,4).

1:3,4 high places...mountains. These could refer to key military positions, so crucial to Israel's defense, or to the pagan places of worship in the land (cf. v. 5). When fortifications disappeared like melted wax, people were gripped by the terrifying reality that they were to answer to the Judge of all the earth (Gen. 18:25; Amos 4:12,13).

1:3 the LORD is coming...down. A warning of impending divine judgment by One who sits in the ultimate High Place.

1:5 Samaria...Jerusalem. The two capitals, of Israel and Judah, here representative of their respective nations.

1:6,7 The Lord spoke directly of the fall of Samaria at the hands of the Assyrians (ca. 722 B.C.).

1:7 pay as a harlot. Centers of idolatry were financed primarily through payments of money, food, and clothing (cf. Gen. 38:17,18; Ezek. 16:10,11; Hos. 2:8,9; 3:1) to cultic prostitutes, who were strictly forbidden in Israel (Deut. 23:17,18). Precious gold and silver, taken from Israel's temples, was used by the Assyrian invaders for their own idol worship.

1:8-16 The judgment was so grave that even the prophet lamented as he traced the enemy's irreversible (v. 9) invasion.

1:9 to the gate of My people. Assyria, under Sennacherib, came close to toppling Judah in 701 B.C. (cf. 2 Kin. 18:13-27). It is best to see "my" in reference to Micah, not God, contra. the NKJV translation.

1:10-15 Eleven towns W of Jerusalem are mentioned, some with a play on words as explained in the marginal references.

1:10 Tell it not in Gath. Reflective of David's dirge at Saul's death (cf. 2 Sam. 1:20), Micah admonished them not to tell the Philistines, lest they would be glad and rejoice. Micah, because of the location of his upbringing, knew how they would react.

1:11 Zaanan does not go out. These inhabitants, in danger and fear, would not go out to console their neighbors who had been overrun.

1:12 disaster came down. This points to the Lord as the source of judgment (cf. vv. 3,4).

To the gate of Jerusalem.
13 O inhabitant of [n]Lachish,
Harness the chariot to the swift steeds
(She was the beginning of sin to the daughter of Zion),
For the transgressions of Israel were [o]found in you.

14 Therefore you shall [p]give presents to [6]Moresheth Gath;
The houses of [q]Achzib[7] shall be a lie to the kings of Israel.
15 I will yet bring an heir to you,
O inhabitant of [r]Mareshah;[8]
The glory of Israel shall come to [s]Adullam.[9]
16 Make yourself [t]bald and cut off your hair,
Because of your [u]precious children;
Enlarge your baldness like an eagle,
For they shall go from you into [v]captivity.

Woe to Evildoers

2 Woe to those who devise iniquity,
And [1]work out evil on their beds!
At [a]morning light they practice it,
Because it is in the power of their hand.
2 They [b]covet fields and take them by violence,
Also houses, and seize them.
So they oppress a man and his house,
A man and his inheritance.

3 Therefore thus says the LORD:
"Behold, against this [c]family I am devising [d]disaster,
From which you cannot remove your necks;
Nor shall you walk haughtily,
For this is an evil time.
4 In that day one shall take up a proverb against you,
And [e]lament with a bitter lamentation, saying:
'We are utterly destroyed!
He has changed the [2]heritage of my people;
How He has removed it from me!
To [3]a turncoat He has divided our fields.' "

5 Therefore you will have no [4]one to determine boundaries by lot
In the assembly of the LORD.

Lying Prophets

6 "Do not prattle," you say to those who [5]prophesy.
So they shall not prophesy [6]to you;
[7]They shall not return insult for insult.
7 You who are named the house of Jacob:
"Is the Spirit of the LORD restricted?
Are these His doings?
Do not My words do good
To him who walks uprightly?

8 "Lately My people have risen up as an enemy—
You pull off the robe with the garment
From those who trust you, as they pass by,

1:13 Lachish...sin to the daughter of Zion. Located SW of Jerusalem, Lachish was a key military fortress whose "sin" was dependence on military might.

1:14 give presents. As parting gifts were given to brides (cf. 1 Kin. 9:16), this was a symbol of the departure of Moresheth Gath into captivity.

1:15 glory of Israel...Adullam. The people of Israel (i.e., her "glory;" cf. Hos. 9:11-13) were to flee to the caves, as David did to the cave at Adullam (2 Sam 23:13).

1:16 Make yourself bald. Priests were forbidden to make themselves bald (Lev. 21:5), nor were the people to imitate the heathen practice of doing so (Deut. 14:1). But here it would be acceptable as a sign of deep mourning (Ezra 9:3; Job 1:20; Is. 22:12; Ezek. 7:18).

2:1-11 As chapter one denounced sin against God; chapter two denounces sin against man. In vv. 1-5, Micah decried the corrupt practices of the affluent; in vv. 6-11 he attacked the false prophets and those who would silence the true prophets.

2:1,2 The courtroom scene continues, with the accusations being read against the affluent: they had violated the tenth commandment (Ex. 20:17; cf. 22:26; 23:4-9). The poor, unable to defend themselves, were at the mercy of the wealthy.

2:2 his inheritance. Property in Israel was ultimately to be permanent (Lev. 25:10,13; Num. 36:1-12; cf. 1 Kin. 21).

2:3-5 As a result of sin, God would allow foreign invaders to divide their land; none of them would have the inheritance apportioned to them. As the rich took from the poor, so God would take back that which He gave as judgment on the nation.

2:6-11 False prophets, commanding Micah to cease prophesying, would certainly not prophesy against the people's evil doing; they would not confront them with the divine standard of holiness. Rather, their false message (v. 7) had stopped the mouths of the true prophets and had permitted the rulers to engage in social atrocities (vv. 8,9), leading the people to destruction (v. 10). They didn't want true prophecies; therefore, they got what they wanted (cf. Is. 30:10). It is best to understand that Micah speaks in v. 6 and God in vv. 7-11.

2:6 Do not prattle. The true prophet was accused of childish babbling, when the real babblers were the false prophets (cf. v. 11).

2:7 Spirit of the LORD. God responded to the evil prophets that their message affirming sin in the nation was inconsistent with the Holy Spirit and His true message to Micah (cf. 3:8). God's words do reward the righteous, but they also rebuke those engaging in evil deeds.

Like men returned from war.
9 The women of My people you cast out
From their pleasant houses;
From their children
You have taken away My glory forever.

10 "Arise and depart,
For this is not your [f]rest;
Because it is [g]defiled, it shall destroy,
Yes, with utter destruction.
11 If a man should walk in a false spirit
And speak a lie, saying,
'I will [g]prophesy to you [g]of wine and drink,'
Even he would be the [h]prattler of this people.

Israel Restored

12 "I[i] will surely assemble all of you,
O Jacob,
I will surely gather the remnant of
Israel;
I will put them together [j]like sheep of [1]the fold,
Like a flock in the midst of their pasture;
[k]They shall make a loud noise
because of so many people.
13 The one who breaks open will come up before them;
They will break out,
Pass through the gate,
And go out by it;
[l]Their king will pass before them,
[m]With the LORD at their head."

Wicked Rulers and Prophets

3 And I said:

"Hear now, O heads of Jacob,
And you [a]rulers of the house of
Israel:
[b]Is it not for you to know justice?
2 You who hate good and love evil;
Who strip the skin from [1]My
people,
And the flesh from their bones;
3 Who also [c]eat the flesh of My
people,
Flay their skin from them,
Break their bones,
And chop them in pieces
Like meat for the pot,
[d]Like flesh in the caldron."

4 Then [e]they will cry to the LORD,
But He will not hear them;
He will even hide His face from them at that time,
Because they have been evil in their deeds.

5 Thus says the LORD [f]concerning the prophets
Who make my people stray;
Who chant [2]"Peace"
[3]While they [g]chew with their teeth,
But who prepare war against him
[h]Who puts nothing into their mouths:
6 "Therefore[i] you shall have night without [4]vision,
And you shall have darkness
without divination;
The sun shall go down on the prophets,
And the day shall be dark for
[j]them.
7 So the seers shall be ashamed,
And the diviners abashed;
Indeed they shall all cover their lips;
[k]For there is no answer from God."

8 But truly I am full of power by the Spirit of the LORD,
And of justice and might,
[l]To declare to Jacob his transgression
And to Israel his sin.
9 Now hear this,
You heads of the house of Jacob
And rulers of the house of Israel,

2:9 women of My people. Most likely a reference to widows.

2:11 The people accepted any "prophet" who would tailor his message to their greed, wealth, and prosperity. This false prophet is the real "prattler."

2:12,13 Messiah will make ready the way, removing the obstacles which might hinder His remnant's deliverance and return at the Second Advent (cf. Is. 11:15,16; 52:12).

2:12 remnant. Cf. 4:7; 5:7; 5:8; 7:18. See note on Is. 10:20.

3:1-4 In beginning the second oracle, Micah first addressed Israel's corrupt rulers, as in 2:1,2, who should be aware of injustice. Yet their conduct toward the poor was like the butchering of animals (vv. 2,3). Therefore, when judgment came and they cried for help, God didn't answer (v. 4).

3:5-7 False prophets (cf. 2:6-11) also stood guilty before the Judge because they misled the people, prophesying peace when they were fed, but predicting war when they were not (v. 5). Like the rulers, they too were motivated by greed. Therefore, having blinded others, they would be struck with blindness and silence (vv. 6,7).

3:8 Micah, in contrast to the false prophets, spoke by the power of God's Holy Spirit (cf. 2:7). Therefore his message was authoritative and true.

3:9-12 All ruling classes are guilty: rulers judged for reward (v. 9-11a), priests taught for hire (v. 11b), prophets divined for money (v. 11c). All the while, they were self-deceived into thinking the Lord

Who abhor justice
And [5]pervert all equity,
10 [m]Who build up Zion with [n]bloodshed
And Jerusalem with iniquity:
11 [o]Her heads judge for a bribe,
[p]Her priests teach for pay,
And her prophets divine for [6]money.
[q]Yet they lean on the LORD, and say,
"Is not the LORD among us?
No harm can come upon us."
12 Therefore because of you
Zion shall be [r]plowed like a field, [s]Jerusalem shall become heaps of ruins,
And [t]the mountain of the [7]temple
Like the bare hills of the forest.

The LORD's Reign in Zion

4 Now [a]it shall come to pass in the latter days
That the mountain of the LORD's house
Shall be established on the top of the mountains,
And shall be exalted above the hills;
And peoples shall flow to it.
2 Many nations shall come and say,
"Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD,
To the house of the God of Jacob;
He will teach us His ways,
And we shall walk in His paths."
For out of Zion the law shall go
forth,
And the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.
3 He shall judge between many peoples,
And rebuke strong nations afar off;
They shall beat their swords into [b]plowshares,
And their spears into [1]pruning hooks;
Nation shall not lift up sword
against nation,
[c]Neither shall they learn war
anymore.

4 [d]But everyone shall sit under his vine and under his fig tree,
And no one shall make them afraid;
For the mouth of the LORD of hosts has spoken.
5 For all people walk each in the name of his god,
But [e]we will walk in the name of the LORD our God
Forever and ever.

Zion's Future Triumph

6 "In that day," says the LORD,
[f]"I will assemble the lame,
[g]I will gather the outcast
And those whom I have afflicted;
7 I will make the lame [h]a remnant,
And the outcast a strong nation;
So the LORD [i]will reign over them
in Mount Zion
From now on, even forever.
8 And you, O tower of the flock,
The stronghold of the daughter of
Zion,
To you shall it come,
Even the former dominion shall come,
The kingdom of the daughter of
Jerusalem."

9 Now why do you cry aloud?
[j]Is there no king in your midst?
Has your counselor perished?

would give them favor because they identified themselves with Him. Consequently, the nation would be destroyed (fulfilled by Nebuchadnezzar in 586 B.C.).

3:12 Cf. Jer. 26:18.

4:1-3 Cf. Is. 2:2-4.

4:1 In a reversal of 3:12, Micah shifted from impending judgment to prophesies of the future millennial kingdom ("the latter days") in which Mt. Zion (v. 3), the center of Messiah's coming earthly kingdom, shall be raised both spiritually and physically (cf. Zech. 14:9,10). This discussion continues to 5:15.

4:2 Many nations. People throughout the earth, not just Israel, will come as a spontaneous "flow" (cf. v. 1) to worship the Lord in Jerusalem during the Millennium (cf. Zech. 8:20-23).

4:3 beat their swords into plowshares. Because the Almighty One is ruling in Jerusalem with a rod of iron (cf. Rev. 2:27; 12:5; 19:15), and because of the unprecedented fruitfulness of the land (cf. Amos 9:13), military hardware will no longer be needed.

4:4 under his vine...fig tree. Once employed as a description of the peaceful era of Solomon (cf. 1 Kin. 4:25), this phrase looks forward to greater peace and prosperity in the Millennium (cf. Zech. 3:10).

4:5 Even if all others were walking after other gods at the present, the godly remnant of Israel would no longer pursue other gods but would walk after the true God in the millennial kingdom (cf. Josh. 24:15).

4:6-8 Micah continued to describe the wonderful conditions of the coming earthly kingdom of Messiah. Repeating the figure of sheep (cf. 2:12,13), the "tower of the flock" depicted the city of Jerusalem, the future dwelling place of Messiah, as watching over the people.

4:7 forever. The Heb. term does not always mean "without end," but signifies a long, indefinite period of time, the length of which is always determined by the context. Here it refers to the 1,000 year reign of Messiah on earth (cf. Rev. 20).

4:9,10 Judah will be taken captive to Babylon (vv. 9,10a), but the Lord will release them from there (v. 10b), by the edict of Persian king Cyrus (ca. 538 B.C.), allowing them to return to Jerusalem (cf. Ezra 1:2-4).

For [k]pangs have seized you like a woman in [2]labor.
10 Be in pain, and labor to bring forth,
O daughter of Zion,
Like a woman in birth pangs.
For now you shall go forth from
the city,
You shall dwell in the field,
And to [l]Babylon you shall go.
There you shall be delivered;
There the [m]LORD will [n]redeem you
From the hand of your enemies.

11 [o]Now also many nations have gathered against you,
Who say, "Let her be defiled,
And let our eye [p]look upon Zion."
12 But they do not know [q]the thoughts of the LORD,
Nor do they understand His counsel;
For He will gather them [r]like sheaves to the threshing floor.

13 "Arise[s] and [t]thresh, O daughter of Zion;
For I will make your horn iron,
And I will make your hooves
bronze;
You shall [u]beat in pieces many
peoples;
[v]I will consecrate their gain to the
LORD,
And their substance to [w]the Lord
of the whole earth."

5 Now gather yourself in troops,
O daughter of troops;
He has laid siege against us;
They will [a]strike the judge of Israel with a rod on the cheek.

The Coming Messiah

2 "But you, [b]Bethlehem [c]Ephrathah,
Though you are little [d]among the [e]thousands of Judah,
Yet out of you shall come forth to
Me
The One to be [f]Ruler in Israel,
[g]Whose goings forth are from of old,
From [1]everlasting."

3 Therefore He shall give them up, Until the time that [h]she who is in labor has given birth;
Then [i]the remnant of His brethren
Shall return to the children of Israel.
4 And He shall stand and [j]feed[2] His flock
In the strength of the LORD,
In the majesty of the name of the LORD His God;
And they shall abide,
For now He [k]shall be great
To the ends of the earth;
5 And this One [l]shall be peace.

Judgment on Israel's Enemies

When the Assyrian comes into our
land,
And when he treads in our palaces,
Then we will raise against him
Seven shepherds and eight princely men.
6 They shall [3]waste with the sword
the land of Assyria,
And the land of [m]Nimrod at its entrances;
Thus He shall [n]deliver us from the Assyrian,
When he comes into our land
And when he treads within our borders.

4:11-13 Micah switched again to the time of the Second Advent. The gathering of "many nations" and "many peoples" depicts that future battle of Armageddon (Zech. 12; 14). In that day, the Lord will empower His people (cf. 5:7-9; Is. 11:14; Zech. 14:14).

4:13 horn iron...hooves bronze. Using the figurative language of an animal with metal features, the Lord looked to a day when Israel will permanently defeat their enemies.

5:1 strike the judge of Israel. A reference to the capture of King Zedekiah at the hands of Babylon in 586 B.C. (cf. 2 Kin. 24,25).

5:2-4 This passage looked forward to Christ's First Advent (5:2), an intervening time (5:3a), and beyond to the Second Advent (5:3b,4).

5:2 Bethlehem Ephrathah. The town S of Jerusalem which was the birthplace of David and later Jesus Christ (1 Sam. 16; Matt. 2:5; Luke 2:4-7). The name Bethlehem means "house of bread" because the area was a grain producing region in OT times. The name Ephrathah ("fruitful") differentiates it from the Galilean town by the same name. The town, known for her many vineyards and olive orchards, was small in size but not in honor. from of old, From everlasting. This speaks of eternal God's incarnation in the person of Jesus Christ. It points to His millennial reign as King of Kings (cf. Is. 9:6).

5:3 give them up. A reference to the interval between Messiah's rejection at His First Advent and His Second Advent, during the times of the Gentiles when Israel rejects Christ and is under the domination of enemies. Regathering of the "remnant of His brethren" did not occur at the First Advent but is slated for the Second Advent (cf. Is. 10:20-22; 11:11-16). Nor can "return" speak of Gentiles, since it cannot be said that they "returned" to the Lord. Rather, the context of 5:3,4 is millennial and cannot be made to fit the First Advent. Thus, "she who is in labor" must denote the nation of Israel (cf. Rev. 12:1-6).

5:4 The millennial rule of Christ, sitting upon the throne of David (cf. Is. 6:13).

5:5,6 Assyrian. Assyria, God's instrument against Israel (722 B.C.) and Judah (Sennacherib's siege in 701 B.C.) is here used as a representative of enemy nations in opposition to the Lord.

5:5 Seven...eight. An idiom for a full and sufficient number of leaders, more than enough for the task (cf. Eccl. 11:2).

5:6 Nimrod. A reference to Assyria (cf. Gen. 10:11) that could possibly also include Babylon (cf. Gen. 10:10).

7 Then [o]the remnant of Jacob
Shall be in the midst of many peoples,
[p]Like dew from the LORD,
Like showers on the grass,
That [4]tarry for no man
Nor [5]wait for the sons of men.
8 And the remnant of Jacob
Shall be among the Gentiles,
In the midst of many peoples,
Like a [q]lion among the beasts of the forest,
Like a young lion among flocks of sheep,
Who, if he passes through,
Both treads down and tears in pieces,
And none can deliver.
9 Your hand shall be lifted against your adversaries,
And all your enemies shall be [6]cut off.

10 "And it shall be in that day," says the LORD,
"That I will [r]cut[7] off your [s]horses from your midst
And destroy your [t]chariots.
11 I will cut off the cities of your land
And throw down all your strongholds.
12 I will cut off sorceries from your hand,
And you shall have no [u]soothsayers.
13 [v]Your carved images I will also cut off,
And your sacred pillars from your midst;
You shall [w]no more worship the work of your hands;
14 I will pluck your [8]wooden images from your midst;
Thus I will destroy your cities.
15 And I will [x]execute vengeance in anger and fury
On the nations that have not [9]heard."

God Pleads with Israel

6 Hear now what the LORD says:
"Arise, plead your case before the mountains,
And let the hills hear your voice.
2 [a]Hear, O you mountains, [b]the LORD's complaint,
And you strong foundations of the earth;
For [c]the LORD has a complaint against His people,
And He will [1]contend with Israel.

3 "O My people, what [d]have I done to you?
And how have I [e]wearied you?
Testify against Me.
4 [f]For I brought you up from the land of Egypt,
I redeemed you from the house of bondage;
And I sent before you Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.
5 O My people, remember now
What [g]Balak king of Moab counseled,
And what Balaam the son of Beor answered him,
From [2]Acacia Grove to Gilgal,

CHAPTER 6

2 [a] Ps. 50:1, 4 [b] [Is. 1:18]; Hos. 12:2 [c] [Is. 1:18] [1] bring charges against
3 [d] Is. 5:4; Jer. 2:5, 31 [e] Is. 43:22, 23; Mal. 1:13
4 [f] [Deut. 4:20]
5 [g] Num. 22:5, 6; Josh. 24:9 [2] Heb. Shittim, Num. 25:1; Josh. 2:1; 3:1

5:7-9 Israel's presence in the midst of many peoples would be to some a source of blessing (cf. Zech. 8:22,23); to others, she would be like a lion—a source of fear and destruction (cf. Is. 11:14; Zech 12:2,3,6; 14:14).

5:9 all your enemies. This absolute and complete peace has never yet been experienced by Israel. This points to the millennial kingdom when the Prince of Peace shall reign, having conquered the nations (cf. v.15).

5:10 in that day. The future kingdom is in view. Israel had been forbidden the use of cavalry (Deut. 17:16), lest they trust in earthly forces, rather than God (1 Kin. 10:26,28). God will remove all implements in which they trust so the people, stripped of all human resources, rest only on Him. War instruments will have no place in that time of peace.

5:11-14 cut off the cities...strongholds. Continuing the thought from v. 10, fortified cities were designed for defense; their strength tempted people to put their trust in them rather than in God alone (cf. 1:13; Ps. 27:1; Hos. 10:13,14). People will live in peace in unwalled villages (Ezek. 38:11). The cities are also associated with centers of pagan worship (v. 14; cf. Deut. 16:21:), the worship of Asherah (Canaanite goddess of fertility and war). All forms of self-reliance in war and idolatrous worship will be removed so that the nation must rely solely on Christ their King for deliverance and worship Him alone.

6:1 Micah opens this third cycle of oracles (6:1–7:20) with a dramatic courtroom motif moving back and forth between 3 speakers: the Lord pleading His case, the people responding under conviction, and the prophet as the lawyer for the plaintiff.

6:1,2 The Lord commanded Micah (v. 1), as His advocate, to plead His case before the mountains and hills, which were to act as witnesses against His people (cf. Deut. 4:25,26; Is. 1:2). The mountains and hills were present at Sinai when the Lord made His covenant with Israel and when the commandments were written and placed in the ark of the covenant as a permanent witness (cf. Deut. 31:26).

6:3-5 This was the Lord's appeal. With tenderness and emotion, the divine Plaintiff recalled His many gracious acts toward them, almost to the point of assuming the tone of a defendant. Noting their trek from bondage in Egypt to their own homeland, God had provided leadership (v. 4), reversed the attempts of Balaam to curse the people (v. 5a; cf. Num. 22–24), and miraculously parted the Jordan River (v. 5b) so they could cross over from Acacia Grove, located E of the Jordan, to Gilgal on the W side near Jericho. God had faithfully kept all His promises to them.

That you may know [h]the righteousness of the LORD."

6 With what shall I come before the LORD,
And bow myself before the High God?
Shall I come before Him with burnt offerings,
With calves a year old?
7 [i]Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams,
Ten thousand [j]rivers of oil?
[k]Shall I give my firstborn for my transgression,
[3]The fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

8 He has [l]shown you, O man, what is good;
And what does the LORD require of you
But [m]to do justly,
To love [4]mercy,
And to walk humbly with your God?

Punishment of Israel's Injustice

9 The LORD's voice cries to the city—
Wisdom shall see Your name:

"Hear the rod!
Who has appointed it?
10 Are there yet the treasures of wickedness
In the house of the wicked,
And the short measure that is an abomination?
11 Shall I count pure those with [n]the wicked scales,
And with the bag of deceitful weights?
12 For her rich men are full of [o]violence,
Her inhabitants have spoken lies,
And [p]their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.

13 "Therefore I will also [q]make you sick by striking you,
By making you desolate because of your sins.
14 [r]You shall eat, but not be satisfied;
[5]Hunger shall be in your midst.
[6]You may carry some away, but shall not save them;
And what you do rescue I will give over to the sword.

15 "You shall [s]sow, but not reap;
You shall tread the olives, but not anoint yourselves with oil;
And make sweet wine, but not drink wine.
16 For the statutes of [t]Omri are [u]kept;
All the works of Ahab's house are done;
And you walk in their counsels,
That I may make you a [7]desolation,
And your inhabitants a hissing.
Therefore you shall bear the [v]reproach of [8]My people."

Sorrow for Israel's Sins

7 Woe is me!
For I am like those who gather summer fruits,
Like those who [a]glean vintage grapes;
There is no cluster to eat
Of the first-ripe fruit which [b]my soul desires.
2 The [c]faithful [1]man has perished from the earth,
And there is no one upright among men.
They all lie in wait for blood;
[d]Every man hunts his brother with a net.

CHAPTER 7

1 [a] Is. 17:6 [b] Is. 28:4; Hos. 9:10
2 [c] Ps. 12:1; Is. 57:1 [d] Hab. 1:15 [1] Or loyal

6:6,7 Micah, as though speaking on behalf of the people, asked rhetorically how, in light of God's faithfulness toward them, they could continue their hypocrisy by being outwardly religious but inwardly sinful.

6:8 Micah's terse response (v. 8) indicated they should have known the answer to the rhetorical question. Spiritual blindness had led them to offer everything except the one thing He wanted—a spiritual commitment of the heart from which right behavior would ensue (cf. Deut. 10:12-19; Matt. 22:37-39). This theme is often represented in the OT (cf. 1 Sam. 15:22; Is. 1:11-20; Jer. 7:21-23; Hos. 6:6; Amos 5:15).

6:9-16 The Lord was sending judgment; God Himself had appointed the "rod" that would punish His people. The Lord spoke, noting that their corrupt deeds perpetrated on the poor were still continuing, in spite of His warnings and discipline (vv. 10-12). Therefore, a severe judgment was coming (vv. 13-15); it would happen to them just as it did to their northern neighbor, Israel (v. 16) when led by the counsel of wicked kings.

6:9 Hear the rod! Listen for the description of the coming punishment (cf. vv. 13-15; Is. 10:5,24).

6:16 statues of Omri. Ca. 885–874 B.C. He was the founder of Samaria and of Ahab's wicked house as well as a supporter of Jeroboam's superstitions (cf. 1 Kin. 16:16-28). works of Ahab's house. Cf. 1 Kin. 21:25,26. (ca. 874–853 B.C.)

7:1-6 Micah lamented the circumstances of his day. In his vain search for an upright person (cf. v. 2), he compared himself to the vinedresser who enters his vineyard late in the season and finds no fruit. The leaders conspired together to get what they wanted (v. 3). No one could be trusted (vv. 5,6). Christ used v. 6 as an illustration when He commissioned the twelve (Matt. 10:1,35,36).

7:1 Woe is me! Micah sounded like Isaiah (cf. Is. 6:5).

3 That they may successfully do evil with both hands—
The prince asks for gifts,
The judge seeks a [e]bribe,
And the great man utters his evil desire;
So they scheme together.
4 The best of them is [f]like a brier;
The most upright is sharper than a thorn hedge;
The day of your watchman and your punishment comes;
Now shall be their perplexity.

5 [g]Do not trust in a friend;
Do not put your confidence in a companion;
Guard the doors of your mouth
From her who lies in your [h]bosom.
6 For [i]son dishonors father,
Daughter rises against her mother,
Daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law;
A man's enemies are the men of his own household.
7 Therefore I will look to the LORD;
I will [j]wait for the God of my salvation;
My God will hear me.

Israel's Confession and Comfort

8 [k]Do not rejoice over me, my enemy;
[l]When I fall, I will arise;
When I sit in darkness,
The LORD will be a light to me.
9 [m]I will bear the indignation of the
LORD,
Because I have sinned against Him,
Until He pleads my [n]case
And executes justice for me.
He will bring me forth to the light;
I will see His righteousness.
10 Then she who is my enemy will see,
And [o]shame will cover her who said to me,
[p]"Where is the LORD your God?"
My eyes will see her;
Now she will be trampled down
Like mud in the streets.

11 In the day when your [q]walls are to be built,
In that day [2]the decree shall go far and wide.
12 In that day [r]they[3] shall come to
you
From Assyria and the [4]fortified cities,
From the [5]fortress to [6]the River,
From sea to sea,
And mountain to mountain.
13 Yet the land shall be desolate
Because of those who dwell in it,
And [s]for the fruit of their deeds.

7:7 In spite of his dire circumstances, Micah, as a watchman (cf. v. 4) would intently look for evidence of God's working, trusting God to act in His own time and way (cf. Hab. 3:16-19).

7:8-10 Israel confessed her faith in the Lord , warning her enemies that she will rise again (vv. 8,10). She confessed her sin, acknowledging the justice of God's punishment and anticipating His restoration.

7:10 Where is the LORD your God? Cf. Ps. 42:3,10; Matt. 27:43.

7:11-13 Micah again spoke, recounting the many blessings awaiting the faithful remnant in Messiah's millennial rule. It would include unprecedented expansion (cf. Zech. 2:1-5) and massive infusion of immigrants (cf. Is. 11:15,16). For those who defied Messiah's millennial rulership, their land would become desolate (v. 13; cf. Zech. 14:16-19).

7:14-17 Micah petitioned the Lord (v. 14) to shepherd, feed, and protect His people like a flock (cf. Ps. 23). The Lord answered, reiterating that He would demonstrate His presence and power among them as He did in the Exodus from Egypt (v. 15). As a result (cf. v. 10), the vaunted pride and power of the nations would be rendered powerless (cf. Josh. 2:9-11) and, having been humbled (v. 17), they would no longer listen to or engage in the taunting of His people (v. 16b; cf. Gen. 12:3; Is 52:15).

7:15 wonders. These miracles will be fulfilled in God's judgment on the earth which precedes the Second Advent of Messiah (cf. Rev. 6–19).

God's Forgiveness of Sin

1. God removes our sins as far as the E is from the W (Ps. 103:12)
2. God completely cleanses us from the stain of our sins (Is. 1:18)
3. God throws our sins behind His back (Is. 38:17)
4. God remembers our sins no more (Jer. 31:34)
5. God treads our sins underfoot (Mic. 7:19)
6. God casts our sins into the depths of the sea (Mic. 7:19)

[x] They shall put their hand over their mouth;
Their ears shall be deaf.
17 They shall lick the [y] dust like a serpent;
[z] They shall crawl from their holes like [9] snakes of the earth.
[a] They shall be afraid of the LORD our God,
And shall fear because of You.
18 [b] Who is a God like You,

7:18-20 In response to the gracious, forgiving character displayed toward Israel by their Master, the repentant remnant of the people extolled His incomparable grace and mercy (cf. Ps. 130:3,4).

7:18 Who is a God like You? Micah began this final section with a play on words involving his name. See Introduction: Title.

7:20 sworn to our fathers. In spite of Israel's unfaithfulness to God, the Lord intends to fulfill His unconditional promises in the Abrahamic Covenant made with Abraham and confirmed with Isaac and Jacob (cf. Gen. 12,15,17,22,26,28,35). When enacted in conjunction with the Davidic Covenant, Israel will again be restored as a people and a nation to the land originally promised to Abraham. Jesus Christ, the ultimate descendant of David, will rule from Jerusalem over the world as King of Kings and Lord of Lords (cf. Rev. 17:14; 19:16).

The Book of NAHUM

Title

The book's title is taken from the prophet of God's oracle against Nineveh, the capital of Assyria. Nahum means "comfort" or "consolation" and is a short form of Nehemiah ("comfort of Yahweh"). Nahum is not quoted in the NT, although there may be an allusion to Nah. 1:15 in Rom. 10:15 (cf. Is. 52:7).

Author and Date

The significance of the writing prophets was not their personal lives; it was their message. Thus, background information about the prophet from within the prophecy is rare. Occasionally one of the historical books will shed additional light. In the case of Nahum, nothing is provided except that he was an Elkoshite (1:1), referring either to his birthplace or his place of ministry. Attempts to identify the location of Elkosh have been unsuccessful. Suggestions include Al Qosh, situated in northern Iraq (thus Nahum would have been a descendant of the exiles taken to Assyria in 722 B.C.), Capernaum ("town of Nahum"), or a location in southern Judah (cf. 1:15). His birthplace or locale is not significant to the interpretation of the book.

With no mention of any kings in the introduction, the date of Nahum's prophecy must be implied by historical data. The message of judgment against Nineveh portrays a nation of strength, intimating a time not only prior to her fall in 612 B.C. but probably before the death of Ashurbanipal in 626 B.C., after which Assyria's power fell rapidly. Nahum's mention of the fall of No Amon, also called Thebes (3:8-10), in 663 B.C. (at the hands of Ashurbanipal) appears to be fresh in their minds and there is no mention of the rekindling that occurred ten years later, suggesting a mid-seventh century B.C. date during the reign of Manasseh (ca. 695–642 B.C.; cf. 2 Kin. 21:1-18).

Background and Setting

A century after Nineveh repented at the preaching of Jonah, she returned to idolatry, violence, and arrogance (3:1-4). Assyria was at the height of her power, having recovered from Sennacherib's defeat (701 B.C.) at Jerusalem (cf. Is. 37:36-38). Her borders extended all the way into Egypt. Esarhaddon had recently transplanted conquered peoples into Samaria and Galilee in 670 B.C. (cf. 2 Kin. 17:24; Ezra 4:2), leaving Syria and Palestine very weak. But God brought Nineveh down under the rising power of Babylon's king Nabopolassar and his son, Nebuchadnezzar (ca. 612 B.C.). Assyria's demise turned out just as God had prophesied.

Historical and Theological Themes

Nahum forms a sequel to the book of Jonah, who prophesied over a century earlier. Jonah recounts the remission of God's promised judgment toward Nineveh, while Nahum depicts the later execution of God's judgment. Nineveh was proud of her invulnerable city, with her walls reaching 100 ft. high and with a moat 150 ft. wide and 60 ft. deep; but Nahum established the fact that the sovereign God (1:2-5) would bring vengeance upon those who violated His law (1:8,14; 3:5-7). The same God had a retributive judgment against evil which is also redemptive, bestowing His loving kindnesses upon the faithful (cf. 1:7,12,13,15; 2:2). The prophecy brought comfort to Judah and all who feared the cruel Assyrians. Nahum said Nineveh would end "with an overflowing flood" (1:8); and it happened when the Tigris River overflowed to destroy enough of the walls to let the Babylonians through. Nahum also predicted that the city would be hidden (3:11). After its destruction in 612 B.C., the site was not rediscovered until 1842 A.D.

Interpretive Challenges

Apart from the uncertain identity of Elkosh (cf. Introduction: Author and Date), the prophecy presents no real interpretive difficulties. The book is a straightforward prophetic announcement of judgment against Assyria and her capital Nineveh for cruel atrocities and idolatrous practices.

CHAPTER 1

1 The [1]burden [a]against Nineveh. The book of the vision of Nahum the Elkoshite.

God's Wrath on His Enemies

2 God is [b]jealous, and the LORD avenges;
The LORD avenges and is furious.
The LORD will take vengeance on His adversaries,
And He reserves wrath for His enemies;
3 The LORD is [c]slow to anger and [d]great in power,
And will not at all acquit the wicked.

[e]The LORD has His way
In the whirlwind and in the storm,
And the clouds are the dust of His feet.
4 [f]He rebukes the sea and makes it dry,
And dries up all the rivers.
[g]Bashan and Carmel wither,
And the flower of Lebanon wilts.
5 The mountains quake before Him,
The hills melt,
And the earth [2]heaves at His presence,
Yes, the world and all who dwell in it.
6 Who can stand before His indignation?
And [h]who can endure the fierceness of His anger?
His fury is poured out like fire,
And the rocks are thrown down by Him.

7 [i]The LORD is good,
A stronghold in the day of trouble;
And [j]He knows those who trust in Him.
8 But with an overflowing flood
He will make an utter end of its place,
And darkness will pursue His enemies.

9 [k]What do you [3]conspire against the LORD?
[l]He will make an utter end of it.
Affliction will not rise up a second time.
10 For while tangled [m]like thorns,
[n]And while drunken like drunkards,
[o]They shall be devoured like stubble fully dried.
11 From you comes forth one
Who plots evil against the LORD,
A [4]wicked counselor.

1:1 burden. The prophecy is heavy because it is a message of doom. He was only the messenger of this divine oracle of judgment on Nineveh.

1:2-15 The destruction of Nineveh was announced.

1:2-8 Nahum, defining God's power in general, establishes the fact that He is omnipotent, a holy and jealous God who will punish the wicked and avenge His own.

1:2 jealous. This attribute, often used of God's burning zeal for His wife, Israel, emphasizes His passionate reaction against anyone guilty of spiritual adultery. Possibly the captivity of the 10 northern tribes (722 B.C.) or the invasion of Sennacherib (701 B.C.) is in view here.

1:3 slow to anger. The jealousy of v. 2 should not suggest that God is quick to anger; rather He is longsuffering (cf. Ex. 34:6; Num. 14:18). God had extended His forbearance to Nineveh at least a century earlier in response to their repentance at Jonah's preaching (cf. Jon. 3:10; 4:2). But although patient, His justice will eventually punish the wicked. whirlwind...storm...clouds. These figures frequently describe the Lord's appearances (theophanies), often in judgment (cf. Ex. 19:9,16; Ps. 83:15; Is. 29:6; Joel 2:2; 1 Thess. 4:17). Nature is the theater in which His power and majesty is showcased.

1:4 His mighty power is revealed when He rebukes the sea, as in the crossing of the Red Sea (Ex. 14:15-25) and when He withholds His rain from the fertile valleys and coastal highlands. Bashan...Carmel...Lebanon. Bashan, located below Mt. Hermon, E of the Jordan was known for her lush pastures (Mic. 7:14). Carmel, along the coast of Canaan, became synonymous with fruitfulness (Song 7:5). Lebanon was renowned for her beautiful cedars (1 Kin. 5:14-18). Yet, they too would wither before the infinite strength of the omnipotent Judge.

1:5 The violent shaking of the earth provides another evidence of the Lord's awesome power, as even that which seems to be most stable trembles.

1:6 This series of rhetorical questions summarizes vv. 2-5; His power and resolve to spew His wrath on Nineveh is irresistible, melting all opposition before it.

1:7 In contrast to v. 6, Nahum eased the fury by adding that God was compassionate, a mighty fortress (cf. Ps. 46:1) to those who put their hope in Him (cf. Is. 33:2-4; 37:3-7,29-38). The verse foreshadowed the vindication of Judah in vv. 12b,13,15; 2:2.

1:8 flood...darkness. Nahum described Nineveh's judgment metaphorically as an engulfing flood and darkness from which none can escape.

1:9-15 Having established God's power and sovereign right to judge generally, Nahum announced specifically God's judgment upon Nineveh, interweaving expressions of blessing and hope for Israel within the oracles of doom upon the wicked nation. The sovereign Judge not only punishes (vv. 9-12a,14) but also saves (vv. 12b, 13,15).

1:9 conspire. All Assyrian attempts to foil God's judgment would end in futility (cf. Ps. 2). Their affliction of His people would not be allowed to occur again (cf. v. 12). Their end was determined.

1:11 wicked counselor. The phrase, lit. "counselor of Belial," suggests Satanic influence on the leadership, identified as the king of Assyria (cf. 3:18). Specific reference could be to Ashurbanipal (669–633 B.C.) or more likely to Sennacherib (705-681 B.C.), who invaded Judah in 701 B.C. and of whom Isaiah speaks in similar language (Is. 10:7).

12 Thus says the LORD:

"Though they are [5]safe, and likewise many,
Yet in this manner they will be [p]cut down
When he passes through.
Though I have afflicted you,
I will afflict you no more;
13 For now I will break off his yoke from you,
And burst your bonds apart."

14 The LORD has given a command concerning you:
[6]"Your name shall be perpetuated no longer.
Out of the house of your gods
I will cut off the carved image and the molded image.
I will dig your [q]grave,
For you are [r]vile."[7]

15 Behold, on the mountains
The [s]feet of him who brings good tidings,
Who proclaims peace!
O Judah, keep your appointed feasts,
Perform your vows.
For the [8]wicked one shall no more pass through you;
He is [t]utterly cut off.

The Destruction of Nineveh

CHAPTER 2

2 He[1] who scatters has come up before your face.
Man the fort!
Watch the road!
Strengthen your flanks!
Fortify your power mightily.

2 For the LORD will restore the excellence of Jacob
Like the excellence of Israel,
For the emptiers have emptied them out
And ruined their vine branches.

3 The shields of his mighty men are made red,
The valiant men are in scarlet.
The chariots come with flaming torches
In the day of his preparation,
And [2]the spears are brandished.
4 The chariots rage in the streets,
They jostle one another in the broad roads;
They seem like torches,

1 [1] Vg. He who destroys
3 [2] Lit. the cypresses are shaken; LXX, Syr. the horses rush about; Vg. the drivers are stupefied

1:12 Thus says the LORD. Used as a common prophetic formula introducing God's unequivocal message, it occurs only here in the book. Verse 12a is related in the third person, denoting the enemy, while in v. 12b the chosen people of God are spoken of in the second person. The safety of a walled city and massive numbers ("many") would not be a sufficient defense. "In this manner" harkens back to vv. 7-10.

1:12b,13 I will afflict you no more. Judah was to be no longer afflicted by Assyria.

1:14 Three judgments were pronounced. First, the king of Assyria, representing the nation, would become destitute of descendants. Second, the gods by which they received their authority would be destroyed. Third, the king would be put to death (cf. the fall of Nineveh in 612 B.C.).

1:15 mountains...feet. The verse echoes Is. 52:7, where it refers to those who announced the deliverance from Babylon. The theme of good tidings and peace reverberates throughout the message of the NT (cf. Luke 2:10; Is. 61:1 with Luke 4:16-21; Rom. 10:15; Eph. 2:14-18). appointed feasts. During a siege, people were prevented from going up to Jerusalem to celebrate her annual feasts (cf. Num. 28,29). With the destruction of Assyria, Judah was called upon to celebrate her feasts and to pay the vows made while under siege (cf. Ps. 116:14,17,18).

2:1-13 Nineveh's fall in 612 B.C. at the hands of Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon, though still future in Nahum's day, is described vividly in present tense terms.

2:1 scatters. Assyria had made a practice of dispersing captives to many nations; now she would receive similar judgment. Man... Watch...Strengthen! The prophet, with irony and satire, ordered the Assyrians to prepare for the coming invasion from Babylon.

2:2 excellence of Jacob...Israel. This is not a reference to the southern and northern tribes, since the northern tribes had been overrun by Assyria almost a century earlier; but these are titles of honor for Judah, remembering the day when Jacob received God's blessing at Peniel (Gen. 32:27,28) and had his name changed to Israel. Together, they signify the nation's restoration to the promised position. emptiers have emptied them... Assyria had repeatedly "emptied" the land, destroying its fruitful vineyards and economic lifeblood.

2:3 shields...made red. Shields were either overlaid with copper, whose reflections of sunshine would make the army appear larger and strike terror in the enemy, or they were covered with hide that was dyed red, so as to extinguish fiery arrows and to minimize the sight of blood. "Scarlet" clothing would have similar benefits. spears are brandished. Warriors, denoting their eagerness and readiness for battle, would wave their weapons.

2:4 Confusion reigned in Nineveh, where battle preparations were hurriedly made.

5 He remembers his nobles;
They stumble in their walk;
They make haste to her walls,
And the defense is prepared.
6 The gates of the rivers are opened,
And the palace is dissolved.
7 [3]It is decreed:
She shall be led away captive,
She shall be brought up;
And her maidservants shall lead her as with the voice of doves,
Beating their breasts.

8 Though Nineveh of old was like a pool of water,
Now they flee away.
[4]"Halt! Halt!" they cry;
But no one turns back.

The Woe of Nineveh

3 Woe to the [a]bloody city!
It is all full of lies and robbery.
Its [1]victim never departs.
2 The noise of a whip
And the noise of rattling wheels,
Of galloping horses,
Of [2]clattering chariots!
3 Horsemen charge with bright

A great number of bodies,
Countless corpses—
They stumble over the corpses—

2:5 They make haste to her walls. This may continue the thought of v. 4, depicting Nineveh's royalty and military leaders dashing to one of her many defense towers which, according to the Greek historian Diodorus Siculus, numbered 1,500 and reached a height of 200 ft.. It is also possible that the latter part of the verse is a description of the attackers preparing to erect a "mantelet," a small fortress type box in which soldiers rode for protection as they advanced to the wall.

2:6 gates of the rivers. Nineveh, lying at the confluence of 3 rivers (the Tigris and two smaller rivers), constructed dams to minimize the damage of seasonal flooding to her walls. The latter part of v. 6 suggests that these dam gates were opened, causing the walls to be dissolved and the palace to be taken (cf. Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes; Nah. 1:8).

2:7 She shall be led away captive. The goddess of Nineveh, probably Ishtar, was taken by her attackers to demonstrate the superiority of their gods (cf. 1 Sam. 4:1-11). The temple prostitutes ("maidservants") mourned the fate of their goddess.

2:8 pool of water. Though Nineveh was like an oasis in the desert that attracted many people, they fled from the devastation.

2:9 Take spoil. Spoils abounded in Nineveh, but it was her turn to be plundered.

2:10 heart melts. The great city of Nineveh, lying in ruin, evoked fear and terror in those who observed it (cf. Dan. 5:6).

2:11-13 Where is. Archeologists have found a carving from a palace showing an Assyrian king on a lion hunt. Nahum rhetorically asks where Nineveh has gone. No longer describing Nineveh's fall, he taunted her, ridiculing her fall from power and glory. Like a pride of lions, with plenty to eat and in fear of no enemy, Nineveh ruthlessly "tore in pieces" her prey. She herself will become prey for another nation, under the sovereign direction of God. "I am against you" should be the most feared words a nation could receive from God.

2:13 burn your chariots. Nineveh, known for burning the captured cities, would receive the same fate. your messengers. The voice of the messengers who carried the edicts of the mighty king of Assyria to the captured nations would become mute.

3:1-19 The prophet Nahum, asserting that the destruction of Nineveh was justly deserved, makes 3 charges against her (vv. 1,4,8-10), followed by the consequences (vv. 2,3,5-7,11-19).

3:1 bloody city. The first accusation was a charge well documented in history. Assyria proved to be an unusually cruel, bloodthirsty nation. lies. Assyria employed falsehood and treachery to subdue her enemies (cf. 2 Kin. 18:28-32). robbery. See 2:11,12. Preying upon her victims, she filled her cities with the goods of other nations.

3:2,3 These verses reach back to the scene portrayed in 2:3-5. Assyria was so overrun that she is filled with corpses, causing the defenders to stumble over them.

3:4 The second charge against Nineveh was spiritual and moral harlotry. The nation was likened to a beautiful prostitute who seduced the nations with her illicit enticements.

5 "Behold, I am [c]against you," says
the LORD of hosts;
[d]"I will lift your skirts over your face,
I will show the nations your
nakedness,
And the kingdoms your shame.
6 I will cast abominable filth upon
you,
Make you [e]vile,[5]
And make you [f]a spectacle.
7 It shall come to pass that all who look upon you
[g]Will flee from you, and say,
[h]'Nineveh is laid waste!
[i]Who will bemoan her?'
Where shall I seek comforters for
you?"

8 [j]Are you better than [k]No[6] Amon
That was situated by the [7]River,
That had the waters around her,
Whose rampart was the sea,
Whose wall was the sea?
9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength,
And it was boundless;
[l]Put and Lubim were [8]your helpers.
10 Yet she was carried away,
She went into captivity;
[m]Her young children also were dashed to pieces
[n]At the head of every street;
They [o]cast lots for her honorable men,
And all her great men were bound in chains.
11 You also will be [p]drunk;
You will be hidden;
You also will seek refuge from the enemy.
12 All your strongholds are [q]fig trees with ripened figs:
If they are shaken,
They fall into the mouth of the eater.
13 Surely, [r]your people in your midst are women!
The gates of your land are wide open for your enemies;
Fire shall devour the [s]bars of your gates.

14 Draw your water for the siege!
[t]Fortify your strongholds!
Go into the clay and tread the mortar!
Make strong the brick kiln!
15 There the fire will devour you,
The sword will cut you off;
It will eat you up like a [u]locust.

Make yourself many—like the locust!
Make yourself many— like the swarming locusts!
16 You have multiplied your [v]merchants more than the stars of heaven.
The locust plunders and flies away.
17 [w]Your commanders are like
swarming locusts,
And your generals like great grasshoppers,
Which camp in the hedges on a cold day;
When the sun rises they flee away,
And the place where they are is not known.

18 [x]Your shepherds slumber, O [y]king of Assyria;

3:5,6 Nineveh would be publicly exposed, resulting in shame and humiliation.

3:7 Nineveh is laid waste! Instead of mourning, there would be rejoicing at her fall. None would be found to comfort her; she would bear her misery alone.

3:8-10 Nahum sets forth the third and final charge against Nineveh: they hadn't learned from No Amon. Also known as Thebes, No Amon was the great capital of southern Egypt, 400 mi. S of Cairo. One of the most magnificent ancient civilizations of the world, it was renowned for its 100 gates, a temple measuring 330 ft. long and 170 ft. wide, and its network of canals. It fell to Ashurbanipal of Assyria in 663 B.C. Like No Amon by the Nile, Nineveh was situated by the Tigris River, enjoying the security of conquered nations around her. However, her end would be like that of No Amon.

3:9 Ethiopia...Egypt...Put...Lubim. No Amon was well protected on all sides, nestled between lower Egypt on the N and Ethiopia on the S. The location of Put is best identified in the general vicinity of North Africa. Josephus says that Put, the third son of Ham (Gen. 10:6), was the founder of Libya. Lubim has been identified with the area of modern Libya as well.

3:11 drunk. As predicted (cf. 1:10), Nineveh would be made to drink of God's wrath, making her drunk and defenseless to His judgment.

3:12,13 Nahum employed a series of metaphors to emphasize that Nineveh's strong defenses would be easily overrun. Their walls would be like ripe fruit that falls at the slightest shaking and their battle forces like weak women.

3:14,15 The prophet taunted the people with sarcasm, urging them to prepare for battle, to fortify the city's defenses, only to be destroyed. As the locust leaves nothing, stripping all the foliage, so there would be nothing left of Nineveh (cf. Amos 7:1).

3:16 multiplied your merchants. Nineveh had multiplied her merchants, bringing immense wealth, which is just more to destroy.

3:17 locusts. Not only was Nineveh's commercial strength gone (v. 16), but her governing resources disappeared as well. After camping for the night within the massive walls of this great citadel, the locusts, depicting Assyria's leadership, flew away with the first rays of warm sunshine in search of food.

Your people are [z]scattered on the mountains,
And no one gathers them.
19 Your injury has no healing,
[a]Your wound is severe.
[b]All who hear news of you
Will clap their hands over you,
For upon whom has not your wickedness passed continually?

18 [z] 1 Kin. 22:17; Is. 13:14

19 [a] Jer. 46:11; Mic. 1:9
[b] Job 27:23; Lam. 2:15; Zeph. 2:15

3:18,19 The destiny of Nineveh was certain. She had received the death blow; she would not recover. And all who hear of it would rejoice. Assyria had devastated the nations with her atrocities and cruelties; the news of her downfall brought happiness and mirth among the nations.

3:18 slumber...rest The Assyrian leaders and army, described in terms of exhaustion and sleep, were dead; the people were scattered. There were none left to help against the invasion of the Babylonians, to whom they fell in 612 B.C.

The Book of HABAKKUK

Title

This prophetic book takes its name from its author and possibly means "one who embraces" (1:1; 3:1). By the end of the prophecy, this name becomes appropriate as the prophet clings to God regardless of his confusion about God's plans for his people.

Author and Date

As with many of the Minor Prophets, nothing is known about the prophet except that which can be inferred from the book. In the case of Habakkuk, internal information is virtually nonexistent, making conclusions about his identity and life conjectural. His simple introduction as "the prophet Habakkuk" may imply that he needed no introduction since he was a well known prophet of his day. It is certain that he was a contemporary of Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Daniel, and Zephaniah.

The mention of the Chaldeans (1:6) suggests a late seventh century B.C. date, shortly before Nebuchadnezzar commenced his military march through Nineveh (612 B.C.), Haran (609 B.C.), and Carchemish (605 B.C.), on his way to Jerusalem (605 B.C.). Habakkuk's bitter lament (1:2-4) may reflect a time period shortly after the death of Josiah (609 B.C.), days in which the godly king's reforms (cf. 2 Kin. 23) were quickly overturned by his successor, Jehoiakim (Jer. 22:13-19).

Background and Setting

Habakkuk prophesied during the final days of the Assyrian Empire and the beginning of Babylonia's world rulership under Nabopolassar and his son Nebuchadnezzar. When Nabopolassar ascended to power in 626 B.C., he immediately began to expand his influence to the N and W. Under the leadership of his son, the Babylonian army overthrew Nineveh in 612 B.C., forcing the Assyrian nobility to take refuge first in Haran and then Carchemish. Nebuchadnezzar pursued them, overrunning Haran in 609 B.C. and Carchemish in 606 B.C.

The Egyptian king Necho, traveling through Judah in 609 B.C. to assist the fleeing Assyrian king, was opposed by King Josiah at Megiddo (2 Chr. 35:20-24). Josiah was killed in the ensuing battle, leaving his throne to a succession of 3 sons and a grandson. Earlier, as a result of discovering the Book of the Law in the temple (622 B.C.), Josiah had instituted significant spiritual reforms in Judah (2 Kin. 22,23), abolishing many of the idolatrous practices of his father Amon (2 Kin. 21:20-22) and grandfather Manasseh (2 Kin. 21:11-13). Upon his death, however, the nation quickly reverted to her evil ways (cf. Jer. 22:13-19), causing Habakkuk to question God's silence and apparent lack of punitive action (1:2-4) to purge His covenant people.

Historical and Theological Themes

The opening verses reveal a historical situation similar to the days of Amos and Micah. Justice had essentially disappeared from the Land; violence and wickedness were pervasive, existing unchecked. In the midst of these dark days, the prophet cried out for divine intervention (1:2-4). God's response, that He was sending the Chaldeans to judge Judah (1:5-11), creates an even greater theological dilemma for Habakkuk: Why didn't God purge His people and restore their righteousness? How could God use the Chaldeans to judge a people more righteous than they (1:12–2:1)? God's answer that He would judge the Chaldeans also (2:2-20), did not fully satisfy the prophet's theological quandary; in fact, it only intensified it. In Habakkuk's mind, the issue crying for resolution is no longer God's righteous response toward evil (or lack thereof), but the vindication of God's character and covenant with His people (1:13). Like Job, the prophet argued with God, and through that experience he achieved a deeper understanding of God's sovereign character and a firmer faith in Him (cf. Job 42:5,6; Is. 55:8,9). Ultimately, Habakkuk realized that God was not to be worshiped merely because of the temporal blessings He bestowed, but for His own sake (3:17-19).

Interpretive Challenges

The queries of the prophet represent some of the most fundamental questions in all of life, with the answers providing crucial foundation stones on which to build a proper understanding of God's character and His sovereign ways in history. The core of his message lies in the call to trust God (2:4), "the just shall live by his faith." The NT references ascribe unusual importance theologically to Habakkuk. The writer of Hebrews quotes Hab. 2:4 to amplify the believer's need to remain strong and faithful in the midst of affliction and trials (Heb. 10:38). The apostle Paul, on the other hand, employs the verse twice (Rom. 1:17; Gal. 3:11) to accentuate the doctrine of justification by faith. There need not be any interpretive conflict, however, for the emphasis in both Habakkuk and the NT references goes beyond the act of faith to include the continuity of faith. Faith is not a one-time act, but a way of life. The true believer, declared righteous by God, will habitually persevere in faith throughout all his life (cf. Col. 1:22,23; Heb. 3:12-14). He will trust the sovereign God who only does what is right.

CHAPTER 1

1 The [1]burden which the prophet Habakkuk saw.

The Prophet's Question

2 O LORD, how long shall I cry,
[a]And You will not hear?
Even cry out to You, [b]"Violence!"
And You will [c]not save.
3 Why do You show me iniquity,
And cause me to see [2]trouble?
For plundering and violence are before me;
There is strife, and contention arises.
4 Therefore the law is powerless,
And justice never goes forth.
For the [d]wicked surround the righteous;
Therefore perverse judgment proceeds.

The LORD's Reply

5 "Look[e] among the nations and watch—
Be utterly astounded!
For I will work a work in your days
Which you would not believe, though it were told you.
6 For indeed I am [f]raising up the Chaldeans,
A bitter and hasty [g]nation
Which marches through the breadth of the earth,
To possess dwelling places that are not theirs.
7 They are terrible and dreadful;
Their judgment and their dignity proceed from themselves.
8 Their horses also are [h]swifter than leopards,
And more fierce than evening wolves.
Their [3]chargers [4]charge ahead;
Their cavalry comes from afar;
They fly as the [i]eagle that hastens to eat.
9 "They all come for violence;
Their faces are set like the east wind.
They gather captives like sand.
10 They scoff at kings,
And princes are scorned by them.
They deride every stronghold,
For they heap up earthen mounds and seize it.

1:1 burden. A weighty, heavy oracle of judgment (cf. 1:5-11; 2:2-20) is often depicted by this term when employed by the prophets to announce God's wrath against sin (e.g., Is. 13:1; 15:1; 17:1; 19:1; Nah. 1:1; Zech. 9:1; 12:1; Mal. 1:1). saw. God's message to Habakkuk took the form of a vision.

1:2-4 In Habakkuk's first complaint, he perceived that God appeared indifferent to Judah's sin. Jealous for His righteousness and knowing that a breach of the covenant required judgment (cf. Deut. 28), Habakkuk questioned God's wisdom, expressing bewilderment at His seeming inactivity in the face of blatant violation of His law. The Jews had sinned by violence and injustice and should have been punished by the same.

1:2 how long shall I cry. The phrase, reflecting the prophet's impatience, is frequently used by the psalmist to express similar thoughts of perplexity (cf. Pss. 13:1,2; 62:3; Jer. 14:9; Matt. 27:46).

1:2,3 Violence...iniquity...trouble...plundering. Judah's society is defined with 4 terms denoting malicious wickedness by which one morally and ethically oppresses his neighbor, resulting in contention and strife.

1:2 And You will not save. The prophet wanted a cleansing, purging, chastening, and revival among the people that would return them to righteousness.

1:4 law is powerless. Lit. the "law is chilled, numbed" (cf. Gen. 45:26; Ps. 77:2). It had no respect, was given no authority. As hands rendered useless by cold, the impact and effectiveness of the law was paralyzed by the corruption of Judah's leaders (cf. Eccl. 8:11).

1:5-11 In response to Habakkuk's perplexity and pleading, God broke His silence, informing him that He was not indifferent to Judah's sin; but rather than revival, He was sending the "terrible and dreadful" judgment (v. 7).

1:5 Look...watch...Be utterly astounded! The series of commands is plural, indicating that the wider community of Judah and Jerusalem were to take note of this imminent invasion. Paul quotes this text in Acts 13:41.

1:6-8 The Chaldeans (Babylonians) would come at the behest of the divine Commander. He is the Sovereign who brings this people of ruthless character and conduct to invade Judah. The Chaldeans are described as self-assured, self-sufficient, self-deified, and deadly (cf. Jer. 51:20).

1:8 evening wolves. These were wolves who had suffered hunger all day long and were forced to prowl into the night for food. Like wolves, Babylon's army displayed extraordinary stamina and an undaunted eagerness to attack for the purpose of devouring the spoils of victory.

1:10 Whether it be royal authority or physical obstacles, the Babylonian army marched forward with nothing but scorn for those in their path. heap up earthen mounds. Rubble and dirt piled up against the fortress or city wall as a ramp to gain entry.

11 Then his [5]mind changes, and he transgresses;
He commits offense,
[i]Ascribing this power to his god."

The Prophet's Second Question

12 Are You not [k]from everlasting,
O LORD my God, my Holy One?
We shall not die.
O LORD, [l]You have appointed them for judgment;
O Rock, You have marked them for [m]correction.
13 You are of purer eyes than to behold evil,
And cannot look on wickedness.
Why do You look on those who deal treacherously,
And hold Your tongue when the wicked devours
A person more righteous than he?
14 Why do You make men like fish of the sea,
Like creeping things that have no ruler over them?

15 They take up all of them with a hook,
They catch them in their net,
And gather them in their dragnet.
Therefore they rejoice and are glad.
16 Therefore [n]they sacrifice to their net,
And burn incense to their dragnet;
Because by them their share is [6]sumptuous
And their food plentiful.
17 Shall they therefore empty their net,
And continue to slay nations without pity?

2 I will [a]stand my watch
And set myself on the rampart,
And watch to see what He will say to me,
And what I will answer when I am corrected.

The Just Live by Faith

2 Then the LORD answered me and said:

[b]"Write the vision
And make it plain on tablets,
That he may run who reads it.
3 For [c]the vision is yet for an appointed time;
But at the end it will speak, and it will [d]not lie.
Though it tarries, [e]wait for it;
Because it will [f]surely come,
It will not tarry.

3 [c] Dan. 8:17, 19; 10:14 [d] Ezek. 12:24, 25 [e] [Heb. 10:37, 38] [f] Ps. 27:13, 14; [James 5:7, 8; 2 Pet. 3:9]

1:11 to his god. Though the Chaldeans were God's instruments of judgment, their self-sufficiency and self-adulation planted the seeds for their own destruction (described in 2:2-20), as they stood guilty of idolatry and blasphemy before the sovereign Lord.

1:12–2:1 Habakkuk, in his reaction to the perplexing revelation (vv. 5-11), declared his confidence in the Lord (v. 12), then unveiled his second complaint, namely, how could the Lord use a wicked nation (the Chaldeans) to judge a nation (Judah) more righteous than they (vv. 13-17)? The prophet ended by expressing his determination to wait for an answer (2:1).

1:12 O LORD my God...Holy One. Although the prophet could not fully comprehend the sovereign workings of His righteous God, he expressed his complete faith and trust. As he rehearsed the unchangeable character of God as eternal, sovereign, and holy, he became assured that Judah would not be completely destroyed (cf. Jer. 31:35-40; 33:23-26). Under the faithful hand of God, he realized that the Chaldeans were coming to correct, not annihilate. O Rock. A title for God which expresses His immovable and unshakeable character (cf. Pss. 18:2,31,46; 31:2,3; 62:2,6,7; 78:16,20,35).

1:13 purer eyes. In spite of the prophet's expressions of faith and trust, he found himself in even further perplexity. The essence of Habakkuk's next quandary is expressed in this verse: If God is too pure to behold evil, then how can He use the wicked to devour a person more righteous than he? Would not God's use of the Chaldeans result in even greater damage to His righteous character?

1:14-17 Lest God had forgotten just how wicked the Chaldeans were, Habakkuk drew attention to their evil character and behavior. Life was cheap to the Chaldeans. In the face of their ruthless tactics of war, other societies were "like fish of the sea, like creeping things that have no ruler over them." In light of their reputation (vv. 6-10), how could God have unleashed this ruthless force upon another helpless people?

1:16 sacrifice...burn incense to their dragnet. If that is not enough, the prophet added that they attributed their gain to their own military might rather than to the true God.

1:17 empty their net. How long will the aggressor (the Chaldeans) be permitted to pursue injustice and engage in such wickedness? Can God tolerate it indefinitely?

2:1 stand my watch. Comparing himself to a watchman (cf. Ezek. 3,33), standing as a sentinel upon the city walls, Habakkuk prepared to wait for God's answer and to ponder his reply.

2:2-20 In response to Habakkuk's second complaint (1:12–2:1), the Lord announced that He would judge the Chaldeans as well for their wickedness. His reply included: 1) the instructions to write it down, as a reminder that it would surely occur (vv. 2,3); 2) a description of the character of the wicked in comparison to the righteous (vv. 4,5); and 3) the pronouncement of 5 woes describing the Chaldeans' demise (vv. 6-20).

2:2,3 Write the vision. Habakkuk was to record the vision to preserve it for posterity, so that all who read it would know of the certainty of its fulfillment (cf. similar language in Dan. 12:4,9). The prophecy had lasting relevance and thus had to be preserved. Although a period of time would occur before its fulfillment, all were to know that it would occur at God's "appointed time" (cf. Is. 13; Jer. 50,51). Babylon would fall to the Medo-Persian kingdom of Cyrus ca. 539 B.C. (cf. Dan. 5).

2:2 That he may run who reads it. Perhaps referring 1) to clarity of form, so even the one who runs by it may easily absorb its meaning, or 2) to clarity of content, so that the courier could easily transmit the message to others.

4 "Behold the proud,
His soul is not upright in him;
But the [g]just shall live by his faith.

Woe to the Wicked

5 "Indeed, because he transgresses by wine,
He is a proud man,
And he does not stay at home.
Because he [h]enlarges his desire as [1]hell,
And he is like death, and cannot be satisfied,
He gathers to himself all nations
And heaps up for himself all peoples.

6 "Will not all these [i]take up a proverb against him,
And a taunting riddle against him,
and say,
'Woe to him who increases
What is not his—how long?
And to him who loads himself with [2]many pledges'?
7 Will not [3]your creditors rise up suddenly?
Will they not awaken who oppress
you?
And you will become their booty.
8 [j]Because you have plundered many nations,
All the remnant of the people shall plunder you,
Because of men's [4]blood
And the violence of the land and
the city,
And of all who dwell in it.

9 "Woe to him who covets evil gain
for his house,
That he may [k]set his nest on high,
That he may be delivered from the [5]power of disaster!
10 You give shameful counsel to your house,
Cutting off many peoples,
And sin against your soul.
11 For the stone will cry out from the wall,
And the beam from the timbers
will answer it.

12 "Woe to him who builds a town
with bloodshed,
Who establishes a city by iniquity!
13 Behold, is it not of the LORD of hosts
That the peoples labor [6]to feed the
fire,
And nations weary themselves in vain?
14 For the earth will be filled
With the knowledge of the glory of
the LORD,
As the waters cover the sea.

2:4 the proud. While the context makes this an obvious reference to the Chaldeans, the passage introduces the marks which distinguish all wicked from all righteous, regardless of ethnic origin. Two opposing characteristics are here contrasted. The proud trusts in himself; the just lives by his faith. the just shall live by his faith. In contrast to the proud, the just will be truly preserved through his faithfulness to God. This is the core of God's message to/through Habakkuk. Both the aspect of justification by faith, as noted by Paul's usage in Rom. 1:17 and Gal. 3:11, as well as the aspect of sanctification by faith, as employed by the writer of Hebrews (10:38) reflect the essence of Habakkuk; no conflict exists. The emphasis in both Habakkuk and the NT references goes beyond the act of faith to include the continuity of faith. Faith is not a one-time act, but a way of life. The true believer, declared righteous by God, will persevere in faith as the pattern of his life (cf. Col. 1:22,23; Heb. 3:12-14).

2:5 The diatribe against the Chaldeans served as the basis for the denunciations described in vv. 6-20. They were proud and greedy. Like hell and death (cf. Prov. 1:12; 27:20; 30:15,16), they were never satisfied but always wanted more.

2:6-20 Five woes, in the form of a taunt song, were pronounced upon the Chaldeans in anticipation of their eventual judgment. Presented in 5 stanzas of 3 verses each, the 5 woes were directed at 5 different classes of evildoers.

2:6-8 The first woe charged extortion, i.e., plundering nations under threat of great bodily harm for the purpose of making themselves rich. As a result, they were to become plunder for those nations who remained.

2:6 all these. A reference to all the nations who suffered at the hands of the Babylonians. Woe. An interjection often used in prophetic literature to introduce a judicial indictment or a sentence of judgment (Is. 5:8,11,18,20-22; Jer. 22:13; 23:1; Amos 5:18; 6:1). many pledges. The Babylonians exacted heavy taxation of conquered nations. Such action often accompanied loans with excessive interest made to the poor (cf. Deut. 24:10-13; 2 Kin. 4:1-7; Neh. 5:1-13).

2:7 your creditors. The survivor nations, from whom taxation was extorted (cf. v. 8).

2:9-11 The second charge, of premeditated exploitation borne out of covetousness, was a continuation of vv. 6-8. The walls of their houses, built with stones and timbers taken from others, testified against them (v. 11).

2:9 set his nest on high. Wanting to protect themselves from any recriminations their enemies might seek to shower upon them, the Chaldeans had sought to make their cities impregnable and inaccessible to the enemy (cf. Is. 14:13,14).

2:10 You give shameful counsel. The Chaldean leaders by counseling to kill, shamed themselves and harmed their souls.

2:12-14 The third woe accuses them of being ruthless despots, building luxurious palaces by means of bloodshed and forced labor. Like a fire that burns everything given to it, their labors would all be futile, having no lasting value (v. 13; cf. Mic. 3:10).

2:14 filled. In contrast to the self-exaltation of the Chaldeans, whose efforts come to naught, God promised that the whole earth would recognize His glory at the establishment of His millennial kingdom (cf. Num. 14:21; Ps. 72:19; Is. 6:3; 11:9).

15 "Woe to him who gives drink to his neighbor,
[7]Pressing him to your [l]bottle,
Even to make him drunk,
That you may look on [8]his nakedness!
16 You are filled with shame instead of glory.
You also—drink!
And [9]be exposed as uncircumcised!
The cup of the LORD's right hand will be turned against you,
And utter shame will be on your glory.
17 For the violence done to Lebanon will cover you,
And the plunder of beasts which made them afraid,
Because of men's blood
And the violence of the land and the city,
And of all who dwell in it.

18 "What profit is the image, that its maker should carve it,
The molded image, a teacher of lies,
That the maker of its mold should trust in it,
To make mute idols?
19 Woe to him who says to wood, 'Awake!'
To silent stone, 'Arise! It shall teach!'
Behold, it is overlaid with gold and silver,
Yet in it there is no breath at all.

20 "But[m] the LORD is in His holy temple.
Let all the earth keep silence before Him."

The Prophet's Prayer

CHAPTER 3

3 A prayer of Habakkuk the prophet, on [1]Shigionoth.

2 O LORD, I have heard Your speech and was afraid;
O LORD, revive Your work in the midst of the years!
In the midst of the years make it known;
In wrath remember mercy.

3 God came from Teman,
The Holy One from Mount Paran.
Selah

1 [l]Exact meaning unknown

2:15-17 The fourth charge is debauchery, wherein Babylon forced others to become intoxicated and poisoned, making them behave shamefully and become easy prey. As a result, they too would be forced to drink the cup of God's wrath and exposed to public shame (cf. Jer. 49:12).

2:16 uncircumcised. This word refers to "foreskin," expressing in Heb. thought the greatest contempt, the sign of being an alien from God. See note on Jer. 4:4. cup of the LORD's right hand. A metaphor referring to divine retribution, served up by His powerful right hand (cf. Ps. 21:8). What the Chaldeans did to others, would also be done to them (vv. 7,8). shame will be on your glory. Carrying out the metaphor of drunkenness, here is a reference to the humiliation of "shameful spewing." The very thing in which they gloried would become the object of their shame. While the Lord's glory would be "as the waters cover the seas" (v. 14), Babylon's glory would be covered with shame.

2:17 violence. The reference may be to the ruthless exploitation of trees and animals, providing building materials, firewood, and food, which often accompanied military campaigns. Lebanon's beautiful cedars were plundered for selfish purposes (cf. Is. 14:7,8; 37:24). It also includes the slaughter of men. Verse 17b suggests that it may symbolize Israel and her inhabitants, whom Nebuchadnezzar conquered (cf. 2 Kin. 14:9; Jer. 22:6,23; Ezek. 17:3).

2:18-20 The fifth accusation is idolatry, exposing the folly of following other gods (cf. Is. 41:24; 44:9). The destruction of the Chaldeans would demonstrate the superiority of the Lord over all gods.

2:19 'Awake!'...'Arise!' Compare the sarcasm with that of Elijah's words to the prophets of Baal on Mt. Carmel (1 Kin. 18:27; cf. Jer. 2:27).

2:20 holy temple. A reference to heaven, from where the Lord rules (Ps. 11:4) and answers the prayers of those who seek Him (1 Kin. 8:28-30; Ps. 73:17). keep silence. In contrast to the silence of the idols (v. 19), the living, Sovereign Ruler of the universe calls all the earth to be silent before Him. None can assert his independence from Him; all the earth must worship in humble submission (cf. Ps. 46:10; Is. 52:15).

3:1-19 The reference to "Habakkuk the prophet" (cf. 1:1) marks a transition. The argumentative tone of the previous chapters, in which he cried for divine interference, is transformed into a plea for God's mercy (v. 2), a review of God's power (vv. 3-15), and a chorus of praise for God's sustaining grace and sufficiency (vv. 16-19). But while the tone changes, a strong, thematic connection remains. Having been informed of God's plan of judgment, Habakkuk returns to the matter of Judah's judgment, pleading for mercy.

3:1 Shigionoth. The precise meaning is unknown (its singular form occurs in the heading to Ps. 7). In light of the musical notation at the end of chap. 3, it is thought that it has a musical-liturgical significance, and that this chapter was sung.

3:2 Your speech. A reference back to 1:5-11 and 2:2-20, where the Lord informed Habakkuk of His plans for judging Judah and the Chaldeans. revive Your work. Knowledge of the severity of God's judgment struck Habakkuk with fear. As though God's power had not been used in a long time, the prophet asked the Lord to "revive" (lit. "to quicken"), to repeat His mighty saving works on behalf of His people, Israel. In the midst of the years. In the midst of His punishment of Judah at the hand of the Chaldeans, the prophet begged that God would remember mercy.

3:3-15 Employing figures from God's past intervention on Israel's behalf, taken from the deliverance of His people from Egypt and the conquest of Canaan, Habakkuk painted a picture of their future redemption. The Exodus from Egypt is often used as an analogy of the future redemption of Israel at the beginning of the Millennium (cf. Is. 11:16).

3:3 Teman...Mount Paran. Teman, named after a grandson of Esau, was an Edomite city (Amos 1:12; Obad. 9). Mount Paran was located in the Sinai peninsula. Both allude to the theater in which God

His glory covered the heavens,
And the earth was full of His praise.
4 His brightness was like the light;
He had rays flashing from His hand,
And there His power was hidden.
5 Before Him went pestilence,
And fever followed at His feet.

6 He stood and measured the earth;
He looked and startled the nations.
[a]And the everlasting mountains were scattered,
The perpetual hills bowed.
His ways are everlasting.
7 I saw the tents of Cushan in affliction;
The curtains of the land of Midian trembled.

8 O LORD, were You displeased with the rivers,
Was Your anger against the rivers,
Was Your wrath against the sea,
That You rode on Your horses,
Your chariots of salvation?
9 Your bow was made quite ready;
Oaths were sworn over Your [2]arrows. Selah

You divided the earth with rivers.
10 The mountains saw You and trembled;
The overflowing of the water passed by.
The deep uttered its voice,
And [b]lifted its hands on high.
11 The [c]sun and moon stood still in their habitation;
At the light of Your arrows they went,
At the shining of Your glittering spear.

12 You marched through the land in indignation;
You [3]trampled the nations in anger.
13 You went forth for the salvation of Your people,
For salvation with Your Anointed.
You struck the head from the house of the wicked,
By laying bare from foundation to neck. Selah

14 You thrust through with his own arrows
The head of his villages.
They came out like a whirlwind to scatter me;
Their rejoicing was like feasting on the poor in secret.
15 [d]You walked through the sea with Your horses,
Through the heap of great waters.

16 When I heard, [e]my body trembled;
My lips quivered at the voice;
Rottenness entered my bones;
And I trembled in myself, displayed great power when He brought Israel into the land of Canaan (cf. Deut. 33:2; Judg. 5:4).

3:3,4 The Shekinah glory, which protected and led Israel from Egypt through the wilderness (cf. Ex. 40:34-38), was the physical manifestation of His presence. Like the sun, He spread His radiance throughout the heavens and the earth.

3:5 pestilence...fever. Recalling the judgment attending Israel's disobedience to the covenant given at Sinai (Ex. 5:3; Num. 14:12; Deut. 28:21,22; 32:24), Habakkuk accentuated the sovereign agency of God's judgments. Both were a part of the divine entourage.

3:6,7 The entire universe responds in fear at the approach of Almighty God (cf. Ex. 15:14). As at the Creation (Is. 40:12), the earth and its inhabitants are at His disposal.

3:7 Cushan...Midian. Probably referring to one people living in the Sinai peninsula region (cf. Ex. 2:16-22; 18:1-5; Num. 12:1, where Moses' wife was identified as being both Midianite and Cushite).

3:8-15 With rhetorical vividness, Habakkuk addressed the Lord directly, rehearsing His judicial actions against anything that opposes His will.

3:8 Your horses...Your chariots. Symbolic descriptions of God defeating the enemy (cf. 3:11,15).

3:9 Oaths were sworn over Your arrows. The Lord's arrows were commissioned under divine oaths (cf. Jer. 47:6,7).

3:11 sun and moon stood still. As prominent symbols of God's created order, the sun and moon are subservient to His beckoning. The imagery is reminiscent of Israel's victory over the Amorites at Gibeon (Josh. 10:12-14).

3:12 trampled. Lit. "threshed," the term is often used to depict military invasions and the execution of judgment (cf. Judg. 8:7; 2 Kin. 13:7; Is. 21:10; 25:10; Dan. 7:23; Amos 1:3).

3:13 salvation with Your Anointed. Both the parallelism with v. 13a ("Your people") and the numerous contextual allusions to the Exodus make this a likely reference to Moses and the chosen people of Israel, who, as God's anointed, achieved victory over Pharaoh and the armies of Egypt (cf. Ps. 105:15). Ultimately, it foreshadows a subsequent, future deliverance in anticipation of the Messiah (cf. Ps. 132:10-12) promised in the Davidic Covenant (cf. 2 Sam. 7:11-16). struck the head from the house of the wicked. Possible reference to either the pharaoh of the Exodus, whose firstborn was slain, or to the king of the Chaldeans, whose house was built by unjust gain (2:9-11).

3:14 They came out...to scatter. A possible reference to the pursuit of fleeing Israel at the Red Sea by Pharaoh's army (Ex. 14:5-9). Like the poor, Israel appeared to be easy prey for the pursuing Egyptians.

3:15 You walked through the sea. Another reference to God's miraculous, protective intervention on behalf of Israel at the Red Sea. The historical event demonstrates His sovereign rulership of the universe and provides assurance to the troubled prophet that the Lord could be counted on to save once more His people.

3:16-19 Habakkuk ended the prophecy with renewed commitment and affirmation of faith, expressing unwavering confidence in God.

That I might rest in the day of trouble.
When he comes up to the people,
He will invade them with his troops.

A Hymn of Faith

17 Though the fig tree may not blossom,
Nor fruit be on the vines;
Though the labor of the olive may fail,
And the fields yield no food;
Though the flock may be cut off from the fold,
And there be no herd in the stalls—
18 Yet I will [f]rejoice in the LORD,
I will joy in the God of my salvation.

19 [4]The LORD God is my strength;
He will make my feet like [g]deer's feet,
And He will make me [h]walk on my high hills.

To the Chief Musician. With my stringed instruments.

18 [f] Is. 41:16; 61:10
19 [g] 2 Sam. 22:34; Ps. 18:33 [h] Deut. 32:13; 33:29 [4] Heb. YHWH Adonai

3:16 rest. The Lord had answered his prayer (v. 1); the Lord would vindicate His righteousness and ultimately restore a truly repentant people (cf. 2:4). While the answer satisfied Habakkuk, the thought of a Chaldean invasion of his people has also left him physically exhausted and overwhelmed (cf. Jer. 4:19). Nevertheless, the prophet could "rest in the day of trouble" because he knew the Lord would judge righteously.

3:17,18 I will rejoice in the LORD. If everything that was normal and predictable collapsed, the prophet would still rejoice. Obedience to the covenant was a requisite element to the enjoyment of agricultural and pastoral prosperity (Deut. 28:1-14). Though disobedience would initiate the covenant curses (Deut. 28:31-34,49-51), the prophet affirmed his commitment to the Lord; his longing and joyful desire was for God Himself.

3:19 The LORD God is my strength. God's response to Habakkuk's perplexities not only promised divine wrath but also provided assurance of divine favor and hope. Security and hope were not based on temporal blessings but on the Lord Himself. This is the essence of 2:4: "the just shall live by his faith." like deer's *feet. As the sure-footed deer scaled the precipitous mountain heights without slipping, so Habakkuk's faith in the Lord enabled him to endure the hardships of the imminent invasion, and all of his perplexing questions. To the Chief Musician. Habakkuk 3 possibly served as a psalm for temple worship (cf. 3:1).

The Book of ZEPHANIAH

Title

As with each of the 12 Minor Prophets, the prophecy bears the name of its author, which is generally thought to mean "the LORD hides" (cf. 2:3).

Author and Date

Little is known about the author, Zephaniah. Three other OT individuals share his name. He traces his genealogy back 4 generations to King Hezekiah (ca. 715–686 B.C.), standing alone among the prophets descended from royal blood (1:1). Royal genealogy would have given him the ear of Judah's king, Josiah, during whose reign he preached.

The prophet himself dates his message during the reign of Josiah (640–609 B.C.). The moral and spiritual conditions detailed in the book (cf. 1:4-6; 3:1-7) seem to place the prophecy prior to Josiah's reforms, when Judah was still languishing in idolatry and wickedness. It was in 628 B.C. that Josiah tore down all the altars to Baal, burned the bones of false prophets, and broke the carved idols (2 Chr. 34:3-7); and in 622 B.C. the Book of the Law was found (2 Chr. 34:8–35:19). Consequently, Zephaniah most likely prophesied from 635–625 B.C., and was a contemporary of Jeremiah.

Background and Setting

Politically, the imminent transfer of Assyrian world power to the Babylonians weakened Nineveh's hold on Judah, bringing an element of independence to Judah for the first time in 50 years. King Josiah's desire to retain this newfound freedom from taxation and subservience undoubtedly led him to interfere later with Egypt's attempt to interdict the fleeing king of Nineveh in 609 B.C. (cf. 2 Chr. 35:20-27). Spiritually, the reigns of Hezekiah's son Manasseh (ca. 695–642 B.C.), extending over 4 decades, and his grandson Amon (ca. 642–640 B.C.), lasting only two years, were marked by wickedness and apostasy (2 Kin. 21; 2 Chr. 33). The early years of Josiah's reign were also characterized by the evil from his fathers (2 Kin. 23:4). In 622 B.C., however, while repairing the house of the Lord, Hilkiah the High-Priest found the Book of the Law (2 Kin. 22:8). Upon reading it, Josiah initiated extensive reforms (2 Kin. 23). It was during the early years of Josiah's reign, prior to the great revival, that this 11th hour prophet, Zephaniah, prophesied and no doubt had an influence on the sweeping reforms Josiah brought to the nation. But the evil kings before Josiah (55 years) had had such an effect on Judah that it never recovered. Josiah's reforms were too late and didn't outlast his life.

Historical and Theological Themes

Zephaniah's message on the Day of the Lord warned Judah that the final days were near, through divine judgment at the hands of Nebuchadnezzar, ca. 605–586 B.C. (1:4-13). Yet, it also looks beyond to the far fulfillment in the judgments of Daniel's 70th week (1:18; 3:8). The expression "Day of the Lord" is employed by the author more often than by any other OT writer, and is described as a day that is near (1:7), and as a day of wrath, trouble, distress, devastation, desolation, darkness, gloominess, clouds, thick darkness, trumpet, and alarm (1:15,16,18). Yet even within these oracles of divine wrath, the prophet exhorted the people to seek the Lord, offering a shelter in the midst of judgment (2:3), and proclaiming the promise of eventual salvation for His believing remnant (2:7; 3:9-20).

Interpretive Challenges

The book presents an unambiguous denunciation of sin and warning of imminent judgment on Judah. Some have referred the phrase "I will restore to the peoples a pure language" (3:9) to the restoration of a universal language, similar to the days prior to confusion of languages at the Tower of Babel (Gen. 11:1-9). They point out that the word "language" is also used in Gen. 11:7. It is better, however, to understand the passage as pointing to a purification of heart and life. This is confirmed by the context (cf. 3:13) and corroborated by the fact that the word "language" is most commonly translated "lip." When combined with "pure," the reference to speech speaks of inward cleansing from sin (Is. 6:5) manifested in speech (cf. Matt. 12:34), including the removal of the names of false gods from their lips (Hos. 2:17). It does not imply a one world language.

CHAPTER 1

1 The word of the LORD which came to Zephaniah the son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hezekiah, in the days of [a]Josiah the son of Amon, king of Judah.

The Great Day of the LORD

2 "I will [1]utterly consume everything
From the face of the land,"
Says the LORD;
3 "I[b] will consume man and beast;
I will consume the birds of the heavens,
The fish of the sea,
And the [2]stumbling blocks along with the wicked.
I will cut off man from the face of the [3]land,"
Says the LORD.

4 "I will stretch out My hand against Judah,
And against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
[4]I will cut off every trace of Baal from this place,
The names of the [c]idolatrous[5] priests with the pagan priests—
5 Those [d]who worship the host of heaven on the housetops;
Those who worship and swear oaths by the LORD,
But who also swear [e]by [6]Milcom;
6 [f]Those who have turned back from following the LORD,
And [g]have not sought the LORD, nor inquired of Him."

7 [h]Be silent in the presence of the Lord GOD;
[i]For the day of the LORD is at hand,
For [j]the LORD has prepared a sacrifice;
He has [7]invited His guests.

8 "And it shall be,
In the day of the LORD's sacrifice,
That I will punish [k]the princes and the king's children,
And all such as are clothed with foreign apparel.

1:1 Hezekiah...Josiah. Zephaniah traced his royal lineage back to his great-great-grandfather Hezekiah (ca. 715–686 B.C.) and placed his ministry contemporaneous with Josiah (ca. 640–609 B.C.).

1:2,3 The prophet began by noting the far fulfillment of the Day of the Lord, when even animal and physical creation will be affected by His judgment of the earth (cf. Gen. 3:17-19; Ex. 12:29; Josh. 7:24,25; Rom. 8:22).

1:2 face of the land. Generally translated "ground," the term is used in reference to the whole earth (1:18). The phraseology is reminiscent of the Noahic Flood (Gen. 6:7,17; 7:21-23).

1:3 Comparisons with the Genesis Flood continue with "man and beast" and "birds of the heavens" (Gen. 6:7; 7:23). The prophet also alluded to the creation, pairing man and beast (sixth day of creation) and birds with fish (fifth day of creation). stumbling blocks. Whatever alienates man from God will be removed.

1:4-9 The Lord narrowed His words of judgment to specifically focus on Judah, specifying the causes of judgment as apostasy and idolatry (vv. 4-6), as always coupled with moral and ethical corruption (vv. 7-9).

1:4 cut off every trace of Baal. The worship of Baal, the Canaanite god of fertility, was a constant source of temptation to Israel (cf. Num. 25:1-5; Judg. 2:13), as people tried worshiping him alongside the worship of the Lord (Jer. 7:9; 23:25-29). This mix became a primary cause for judgment (Hos. 2:8; 2 Kin. 17:16-20; Jer. 11:13-17) which would forever excise the worship of Baal from Israel.

1:5 worship the host of heaven. Astrology was also a prominent part of Israel's idolatrous practices; they worshiped the host of heaven from as early as the Exodus (cf. Deut. 4:19; Amos 5:25,26; Acts 7:40-43). God warned them repeatedly, but they rebelled (2 Kin. 23:5,6; Jer. 7:17,18; 8:2; 44:17-25). Altars were often erected on housetop roofs to provide a clear view of the sky (Jer. 8:2; 19:13; 32:29). swear by Milcom. Judah's syncretistic worship was reflected in swearing by the Lord and, at the same time, by Milcom, who may be either the Ammonite deity of 1 Kin. 11:5,33, or Molech, the worship of whom included child sacrifice, astrology, and sacred prostitution (cf. Lev. 18:21; 2 Kin. 17:16,17; Ezek. 23:37; Amos 5:25,26; Acts 7:40-43).

1:6 Zephaniah lastly mentioned those who had at first heeded calls to repentance but later had willfully turned away.

1:7 Be silent. In view of the just judgment, there was no defense to be spoken and in view of the devastation only shocked and mute wonder (cf. Hab. 2:20; Zech. 2:13). day of the LORD. See notes on Joel 1:15. prepared a sacrifice...invited His guests. God's judgment on Israel was viewed as His sacrifice. The guests were the dreaded Babylonians, who as "priests" were invited to slay the sacrifice, i.e., Judah (cf. Is. 13:3; 34:6; Jer. 46:10; Ezek. 39:17; Hab. 1:6; Rev. 19:17,18).

1:8 the princes...king's children. Judgment began with the royal house. Lacking commitment to God's covenant, they had adopted the customs and idolatrous practices of the heathen. Since Josiah was only 8 years old when he assumed rulership (ca. 640 B.C.), the reference would not be to his children but to the princes of the royal house or to the children of the king who would be ruling when the prophecy was fulfilled (cf. 2 Kin. 25:7; Jer. 39:6).

9 In the same day I will punish
All those who [l]leap over the threshold,
Who fill their masters' houses with violence and deceit.

10 "And there shall be on that day," says the LORD,
"The sound of a mournful cry from [m]the Fish Gate,
A wailing from the Second Quarter,
And a loud crashing from the hills.
11 [n]Wail, you inhabitants of [s]Maktesh!
For all the merchant people are cut down;
All those who handle money are cut off.

12 "And it shall come to pass at that time
That I will search Jerusalem with lamps,
And punish the men
Who are [o]settled [q] in complacency,
[p]Who say in their heart,
'The LORD will not do good,
Nor will He do evil.'
13 Therefore their goods shall become booty,
And their houses a desolation;
They shall build houses, but not inhabit them;
They shall plant vineyards, but [q]not drink their wine."

14 [r]The great day of the LORD is near;
It is near and hastens quickly.
The noise of the day of the LORD is bitter;
There the mighty men shall cry out.
15 [s]That day is a day of wrath,
A day of trouble and distress,
A day of devastation and desolation,
A day of darkness and gloominess,
A day of clouds and thick darkness,
16 A day of [t]trumpet and alarm
Against the fortified cities
And against the high towers.

17 "I will bring distress upon men,
And they shall [u]walk like blind men,
Because they have sinned against the LORD;
Their blood shall be poured out like dust,
And their flesh like refuse."

18 [v]Neither their silver nor their gold
Shall be able to deliver them
In the day of the LORD's wrath;
But the whole land shall be devoured
By the fire of His jealousy,
For He will make speedy riddance
Of all those who dwell in the land.

A Call to Repentance

2 Gather[a] yourselves together, yes, gather together,
O [1]undesirable nation,
2 Before the decree is issued,
Or the day passes like chaff,
Before the LORD's fierce anger comes upon you,
Before the day of the LORD's anger comes upon you!
3 [b]Seek the LORD, [c]all you meek of the earth,
Who have upheld His justice.
Seek righteousness, seek humility.

1:9 leap over the threshold. This describes the eagerness with which the rich hurried from their homes to plunder the poor.

1:10,11 The merchants, made wealthy from dishonest gain (cf. v. 9), were singled out to depict the anguish of the coming judgment. The Fish Gate, known today as the Damascus Gate, is located on the N side. The Second Quarter was a district within the city walls. Maktesh, meaning "mortar," was a name applied to the Valley of Siloam from its shape; it was a district where merchants carried on business.

1:12 I will search. None would escape the punishment of the Lord (Amos 9:1-4). settled in complacency. See marginal note. With this term referring to a thickened crust which forms on wine when left undisturbed for a long period of time, the prophet described the people's indifference and slothfulness toward God. Their indifference led them to regard God as morally indifferent.

1:14-18 Zephaniah vividly described the Day of the Lord in staccato fashion, rehearsing the ominous conditions characterizing that day. This section seems to point to the near fulfillment when Babylon subdued Judah (vv. 4-13), as well as a far fulfillment which will involve the whole earth (v. 18).

1:16 day of trumpet and alarm. In accordance with God's instructions, a trumpet was fashioned for the purpose of sounding an alarm (Num. 10:1-10).

1:17,18 As though worthless, their blood and flesh was discarded as dust. Their silver and gold, corruptly gained (cf. vv. 9-13), would be of no avail to protect them from the wrath of holy God (cf. Jer. 46:28).

1:17 walk like blind men. As blind men, they would grope unsuccessfully for escape routes (Deut. 28:29).

1:18 the whole land. The discussion expands to include the whole earth as in vv. 2,3.

2:1-3 With the announcement of coming judgment, God mercifully invited His people to repent. They were to assemble to entreat the favor of the Lord and avert His wrath (cf. Joel 2:16).

2:1 undesirable nation. See marginal note. No longer sensitive to God's call to repentance through His many prophets, Judah had sunk to shamelessness.

[d]It may be that you will be hidden
In the day of the LORD's anger.

Judgment on Nations

4 For [e]Gaza shall be forsaken,
And Ashkelon desolate;
They shall drive out Ashdod [f]at noonday,
And Ekron shall be uprooted.
5 Woe to the inhabitants of [g]the seacoast,
The nation of the Cherethites!
The word of the LORD is against you,
O [h]Canaan, land of the Philistines:
"I will destroy you;
So there shall be no inhabitant."

6 The seacoast shall be pastures,
With [2]shelters for shepherds [i]and folds for flocks.
7 The coast shall be for [j]the remnant of the house of Judah;
They shall feed their flocks there;
In the houses of Ashkelon they shall lie down at evening.
For the LORD their God will [k]intervene[3] for them,
And [l]return their captives.

8 "I[m] have heard the reproach of Moab,
And [n]the insults of the people of Ammon,
With which they have reproached My people,
And [o]made arrogant threats against their borders.
9 Therefore, as I live,"
Says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel,
"Surely [p]Moab shall be like Sodom,
And [q]the people of Ammon like Gomorrah—
[r]Overrun[4] with weeds and saltpits,
And a [5]perpetual desolation.
The residue of My people shall plunder them,
And the remnant of My people shall possess them."

10 This they shall have [s]for their pride,
Because they have reproached and made arrogant threats
Against the people of the LORD of hosts.
11 The LORD will be awesome to them,
For He will reduce to nothing all the gods of the earth;
[t]People shall worship Him,
Each one from his place,
Indeed all [u]the shores of the nations.

12 "You[v] Ethiopians also,
You shall be slain by [w]My sword."

13 And He will stretch out His hand against the north,
[x]Destroy Assyria,
And make Nineveh a desolation,
As dry as the wilderness.
14 The herds shall lie down in her midst,
[y]Every beast of the nation.
Both the [z]pelican and the bittern
Shall lodge on the capitals of her pillars;
Their voice shall sing in the windows;
Desolation shall be at the threshold;
For He will lay bare the [a]cedar work.
15 This is the rejoicing city

2:3 It may be that you will be hidden. Even the meek, those who had followed the law of the Lord, were encouraged to continue to manifest fruits of repentance, so they would be sheltered in the day of His judgment (Is. 26:20).

2:4-15 God used the heathen nations to punish His people, but He would not permit those nations to go unpunished. To illustrate this, 4 representative nations were chosen from the 4 points of the compass.

2:4-7 The first nation to be judged was Philistia, to the W of Israel. Judgment was to come swiftly and unexpectedly, even at noonday when it was least expected. Of the 5 Philistine cities, only Gath was omitted (cf. Amos 1:6-8).

2:5 Cherethites. Occasionally a synonym for Philistia, this term represented a branch from Crete (see note on Amos 9:7). David's bodyguard was comprised of both Cherethites and Pelethites (2 Sam. 8:18; 1 Kin. 1:38,44). See note on 1 Sam. 30:14.

2:7 return their captives. The Lord would initiate the physical return of Israel's exiles to occupy the land vacated by judgment on Philistia.

2:8-11 To the E, the descendants of Lot by his daughters through incest, Moab and Ammon (Gen. 19:30-38), are mentioned. They had reproached and reviled God's people, incurring divine wrath (cf. Gen. 12:3). Like Sodom and Gomorrah in the days of their ancestor Lot, they too would come to ruin and desolation.

2:11 worship Him...all the shores of the nations. The final fulfillment of these predictions is yet future, depicting the Millennium when all the gods of the nations will be reduced to nothing and the Lord Himself will be worshiped universally (Is. 66:18-21; Zech. 14:16; Mal. 1:11).

2:12 Ethiopia lay to the S of Israel. She would be judged by His sword, fulfilled in Nebuchadnezzar's invasion and conquest of Egypt (Ezek. 30:24,25).

2:13-15 Assyria, located NW of Israel, would be desolated as well. Nineveh fell, shortly after this prophecy, to the Babylonians in 612 B.C. Famed for her irrigation system, she would be left dry.

2:15 In language similar to that of the king of Babylon (Is. 14:13, 14; 47:8) and the prince of Tyre (Ezek. 28:2), Assyria had claimed for herself divine attributes. For this she would be brought to ruin.

[c]That said in her heart,
"I am it, and there is none besides me."
How has she become a desolation,
A place for beasts to lie down!
Everyone who passes by her
[d]Shall hiss and [e]shake his fist.

The Wickedness of Jerusalem

3 Woe to her who is rebellious and polluted,
To the oppressing city!
2 She has not obeyed His voice,
She has not received correction;
She has not trusted in the LORD,
She has not drawn near to her God.

3 [a]Her princes in her midst are roaring lions;
Her judges are [b]evening wolves
That leave not a bone till morning.
4 Her [c]prophets are insolent, treacherous people;
Her priests have [1]polluted the sanctuary,
They have done [d]violence to the law.
5 The LORD is righteous in her midst,
He will do no unrighteousness.
[2]Every morning He brings His justice to light;
He never fails,
But [e]the unjust knows no shame.

6 "I have cut off nations,
Their fortresses are devastated;
I have made their streets desolate,
With none passing by.
Their cities are destroyed;
There is no one, no inhabitant.
7 [f]I said, 'Surely you will fear Me,
You will receive instruction'—
So that her dwelling would not be cut off,
Despite everything for which I punished her.
But [3]they rose early and [g]corrupted all their deeds.

A Faithful Remnant

8 "Therefore [h]wait for Me," says the LORD,
"Until the day I rise up [4]for plunder;
My determination is to [i]gather the nations
To My assembly of kingdoms,
To pour on them My indignation,
All My fierce anger;
All the earth [j]shall be devoured
With the fire of My jealousy.

9 "For then I will restore to the peoples [k]a pure [5]language,
That they all may call on the name of the LORD,
To serve Him with one accord.
10 [l]From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia
My worshipers,
The daughter of My dispersed ones,
Shall bring My offering.

3:1-7 After pronouncing judgment on the nations, the prophet returned to again pronounce woe upon Jerusalem. Because of that city's favored position among the nations (cf. Ex. 19:5), more was expected.

3:2 She has not received correction. Jerusalem was soon to learn that to reject God's correction leads to destruction (Prov. 5:23). She has not drawn near to her God. The Lord had taken up residence in that city, making Him easily accessible (Deut. 4:7), yet they had refused to draw near to Him in proper worship.

3:3-5 Four classes of leadership were singled out for condemnation: The political leaders, i.e., the 1) princes and 2) judges; who are both likened to ravenous wolves, endlessly searching for more prey (cf. 1:8,9). The spiritual leaders, i.e., the 3) prophets and 4) priests, were unfaithful to the Lord whom they claimed to represent. By contrast, the Lord never failed to manifest a faithful standard of justice and righteousness.

3:6,7 The desolations brought by the Lord on surrounding nations were to serve as warnings to Judah, meant to turn His people back to Him. But instead, enticed by the fruits of corruption, the people rose early to zealously and deliberately pursue the way of sin.

3:8 The prophet transitions from the historical invasion of Judah by Babylon to the future day of the Lord. He speaks of the Great Tribulation, when the Lord will gather all the nations for judgment (cf. Joel 3:1,2,12-17; Zech. 12:2,3; 14:2; Matt. 24:21). The faithful remnant, presumably the meek of 2:1-3, are exhorted to wait in trust for Him to carry out His judgment.

3:9-20 The final section unveils the blessings of restoration for God's people and the nations.

3:9 pure language. See Introduction: Interpretive Challenges. A remnant of the nations, converted to the Lord, will worship Him in righteousness and truth (Zech. 8:20-23; 14:16). Pure speech will come from purified hearts (cf. Luke 6:45).

3:10 They will return from distant places (cf. Is. 11:11,15,16; 27:13).

3:11-13 The Lord will purge the proud and ungodly from among them (Zech. 13:1-6), leaving a meek and humble people. Material prosperity and peace will accompany them as well, allowing them to enjoy the rich blessings of God undisturbed (Joel 3:18-20; Mic. 4:4).

3:14-20 The messianic era of millennial blessing and restoration is described.

3:15-17 The basis for rejoicing in v. 14 is that Israel's day of judgment is past and her King is residing in her midst. His departure just prior to Nebuchadnezzar's destruction of the temple is graphically depicted in Ezek. 8–11; but He will return as Lord and Messiah, a fact so glorious that it is repeated in v. 17.

3:17 As a bridegroom rejoices over his bride (cf. Is. 62:4), the Lord will exult over His people with gladness and song, resting in quiet ecstasy over His people in whom is all His delight (cf. Deut. 30:9; Is. 54).

3:18 those who sorrow over the appointed assembly. Unable to celebrate the appointed feasts (cf. Ex. 23:14-17) while in exile, the godly remnant sorrowed. But the Lord will remove their sorrow, giving them praise and fame (v. 19).

3:19,20 at that time. The time of the return of the King, Messiah, when the Jews will be regathered and become a source of blessing to the world, fulfilling Israel's original destiny (Deut. 26:18,19; Is. 62:7).

The Book of HAGGAI

Title

The prophecy bears the name of its author. Because his name means "festal one," it is suggested that Haggai was born on a feast day. Haggai is the second shortest book in the OT (Obadiah is shorter) and is quoted by the NT once (cf. Heb. 12:26).

Author and Date

Little is known about Haggai apart from this short prophecy. He is mentioned briefly in Ezra 5:1 and 6:14, on both occasions in conjunction with the prophet Zechariah. The lists of refugees in Ezra mention nothing of Haggai; there are no indications of his parentage or tribal ancestry. Nor does history provide any record of his occupation. He is the only person in the OT with the name, although similar names occur (cf. Gen. 46:16; Num. 26:15; 2 Sam. 3:4; 1 Chr. 6:30). Furthermore, Hag. 2:3 may suggest that he too had seen the glory of Solomon's temple before it was destroyed, making him at least 70 years of age when writing his prophecy.

There is no ambiguity or controversy about the date of the prophecy. The occasion of each of his 4 prophecies is clearly specified (1:1; 2:1; 2:10; 2:20), occurring within a 4 month span of time in the second year (ca. 520 B.C.) of Persian king Darius Hystaspes (ca. 521–486 B.C.). Haggai most likely had returned to Jerusalem from Babylon with Zerubbabel 18 years earlier in 538 B.C.

Background and Setting

In 538 B.C., as a result of the proclamation of Cyrus the Persian (cf. Ezra 1:1-4), Israel was allowed to return from Babylon to her homeland under the civil leadership of Zerubbabel and the spiritual guidance of Joshua the High-Priest (cf. Ezra 3:2). About 50,000 Jews returned. In 536 B.C., they began to rebuild the temple (cf. Ezra 3:1–4:5) but opposition from neighbors and indifference by the Jews caused the work to be abandoned (cf. Ezra 4:1-24). Sixteen years later Haggai and Zechariah were commissioned by the Lord to stir up the people to 1) not only rebuild the temple, but also to 2) reorder their spiritual priorities (cf. Ezra 5:1–6:22). As a result, the temple was completed 4 years later (ca. 516 B.C.; cf. Ezra 6:15).

Historical and Theological Themes

The primary theme is the rebuilding of God's temple, which had been lying in ruins since its destruction by Nebuchadnezzar in 586 B.C. By means of 5 messages from the Lord, Haggai exhorted the people to renew their efforts to build the house of the Lord. He motivated them by noting that the drought and crop failures were caused by misplaced spiritual priorities (1:9-11).

But to Haggai, the rebuilding of the temple was not an end in itself. The temple represented God's dwelling place, His manifest presence with His chosen people. The destruction of the temple by Nebuchadnezzar followed the departure of God's dwelling glory (cf. Ezek. 8–11); to the prophet, the rebuilding of the temple invited the return of God's presence to their midst. Using the historical situation as a springboard, Haggai reveled in the supreme glory of the ultimate messianic temple yet to come (2:7), encouraging them with the promise of even greater peace (2:9), prosperity (2:19), divine rulership (2:21,22), and national blessing (2:23) during the Millennium.

Interpretive Challenges

The most prominent interpretive ambiguity within the prophecy is the phrase "the Desire of All Nations" (2:7). Although many translations exist, there are essentially only two interpretations. Pointing to "The silver is Mine, and the gold is Mine" (2:8), as well as to Is. 60:5 and Zech. 14:14, some contend that it refers to Jerusalem, to which the wealth of other nations will be brought during the Millennium (cf. Is. 60:11; 61:6). It seems preferable, however, to see a reference here to the Messiah, a Deliverer for whom all the nations ultimately long. Not only is this interpretation supported by the ancient rabbis and the early church, the mention of "glory" in the latter part of the verse suggests a personal reference to the Messiah (cf. Is. 40:5; 60:1; Luke 2:32).

The Command to Build God's House

CHAPTER 1

1 In [a]the second year of King Darius, in the sixth month, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came by [b]Haggai the prophet to [c]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to [d]Joshua the son of [e]Jehozadak, the high priest, saying, 2 "Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, saying: 'This people says, "The time has not come, the time that the LORD's house should be built." ' "

3 Then the word of the LORD [f]came by Haggai the prophet, saying, 4 "Is it [g]time for you yourselves to dwell in your paneled houses, and this [1]temple to lie in ruins?" 5 Now therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: [h]"Consider your ways!

6 "You have [i]sown much, and bring in little;
You eat, but do not have enough;
You drink, but you are not filled with drink;
You clothe yourselves, but no one is warm;
And [j]he who earns wages,
Earns wages to put into a bag with holes."

7 Thus says the LORD of hosts: "Consider your ways! 8 Go up to the [k]mountains and bring wood and build the [2]temple, that I may take pleasure in it and be glorified," says the LORD. 9 [l]"You looked for much, but indeed it came to little; and when you brought it home, [m]I blew it away. Why?" says the LORD of hosts. "Because of My house that is in ruins, while every one of you runs to his own house. 10 Therefore [n]the heavens above you withhold the dew, and the earth withholds its fruit. 11 For I [o]called for a drought on the land and the mountains, on the grain and the new wine and the oil, on whatever the ground brings forth, on men and livestock, and on [p]all the labor of your hands."

The People's Obedience

12 [q]Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of the LORD their God, and the words of Haggai the prophet, as the LORD their God had sent him; and the

1:1-11 Discouraged by the opposition of her neighbors (Ezra 4:1-5,24), the people had wrongly concluded that it was not yet time for them to rebuild the temple (v. 2). With a biting query, the Lord reminded them that it was not right for them to live in paneled houses while the temple lay in ruins (v. 4) and urged them to consider carefully the consequences of their indifference (vv. 5-11).

1:1 second year of King Darius. Not to be confused with Darius the Mede (cf. Dan. 5:31), Darius I (Hystaspes) became king of Persia in 521 B.C., having ascended to the throne after the death of Cambyses. As an officer of Cambyses and the great-grandson of Cyrus the Great's brother, Darius retained the loyalty of the Persian army and thereby defeated other contenders for the throne. He reigned until his death in 486 B.C. sixth month...first day. The first day of the month of Elul corresponds to Aug. 29, 520 B.C. Zerubbabel. Zerubbabel was the grandson of Jehoiachin (Jeconiah in Matt. 1:12; cf. 1 Chr. 3:17,19) and thus he was in the Davidic line. Though it is highly questionable if he is to be identified with Sheshbazzar (Ezra 1:8,11; 5:14,16), his role as civil leader (Ezra 2:2) and overseer of the temple rebuilding project (Zech. 4:6-10) is certain. He reestablished the Davidic throne, even though it will not again be occupied until the time of Messiah (cf. Pss. 2;110). Joshua...the high priest. Spelled Jeshua in Ezra 3:2, Joshua was a descendant of Zadok (1 Chr. 6:15) and the religious leader of the exilic community that returned to Jerusalem. He reestablished the high-priestly line of Aaron though Eleazar. Jehozadak. One of Nebuchadnezzar's captives (cf. 1 Chr. 6:15)

1:2 This people says. Haggai begins his message by quoting a popular expression of the people, saying it was not time to build the temple. Though propelled by the hostile opposition of their neighbors (Ezra 4:1-5,24) and the lack of economic prosperity (cf. vv. 9-11), the roots of their reluctance lay ultimately in their selfish indifference to the Lord. God's displeasure is noted in His reference to them as "This people" and not "My people." They wanted their wealth for themselves, not a temple.

1:4 temple...ruins. Cf. Ezra 3:1-13 for the start of the second temple. Selfish indulgence, revealed by the prophet's rhetorical query, demonstrated their hypocrisy and misplaced priorities. Walls and ceilings overlaid with cedar were common in wealthy residences (cf. 1 Kin. 7:3,7; Jer. 22:14).

1:6 Using 5 pairs of poetic contrasts, each concluding essentially the same thing, Haggai painted a vivid picture of their economic and social distress. Their selfish lack of concern for God's house had only caused them more hardship (cf. Matt. 6:33). This was Solomon's message in Ecclesiastes, restated, "All is vanity."

1:8 Go up...bring wood...build. Three imperatives give the remedy for their trouble. The long captivity of 70 years had let the forests grow so there was ample wood. They were to use it to rebuild the house of the Lord, and therein He would be glorified. By putting God first, He would then be honored in their worship and they would be blessed in the secondary matters of life. Compare this pitiful project (Ezra 3:12; Hag. 2:3) to the opulence of Solomon's first temple (cf. 1 Chr. 28,29; 2 Chr. 2–6).

1:9 runs to his own house. Because the Jews were zealous to pursue their own interests, the prophet drew a contrast between the one who eagerly ran to care for "his own house," while disregarding God's house ("My house").

1:10,11 Economic catastrophe, resulting from God's withholding of the summer dew, was the price for their disobedience (cf. Deut. 7:13). Grain, wine, and oil were the primary crops of the land. Cattle, also, languished because of the absence of spiritual health (cf. Joel 1:18-20).

1:12-15 Haggai's second message came 23 days after the first one (v. 15), around Sep. 21, 520 B.C. The Lord's call to "Consider your ways" (vv. 5,7) caused the people to respond in repentance and obedience (v. 12). This new message "I am with you" further stirred the Jews to action (vv. 13,14).

1:12,14 the remnant of the people. The exiles who returned from Babylon took the message to heart. Realizing that the words of the prophet were from the Lord, they "obeyed" and "feared," knowing that God was present.

people feared the presence of the LORD.
13 Then Haggai, the LORD's messenger, spoke the LORD's message to the people, saying, [r]"I am with you, says the LORD."
14 So [s]the LORD stirred up the spirit of Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, [t]governor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people; [u]and they came and worked on the house of the LORD of hosts, their God, 15 on the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month, in the second year of King Darius.

The Coming Glory of God's House

2 In the seventh month, on the twenty-first of the month, the word of the LORD came [1]by Haggai the prophet, saying:
2 "Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and to the remnant of the people, saying: 3 [a]'Who is left among you who saw this [2]temple in its former glory? And how do you see it now? In comparison with it, [b]is this not in your eyes as nothing? 4 Yet now [c]be strong, Zerubbabel,' says the LORD; 'and be strong, Joshua, son of Jehozadak, the high priest; and be strong, all you people of the land,' says the LORD, 'and work; for I am with you,' says the LORD of hosts. 5 [d]'According to the word that I covenanted with you when you came out of Egypt, so [e]My Spirit remains among you; do not fear!'
6 "For thus says the LORD of hosts: [f]'Once more (it is a little while) [g]I will shake heaven and earth, the sea and dry land; 7 and I will shake all nations, and they shall come to [h]the [3]Desire of All Nations, and I will fill this [4]temple with [i]glory,' says the LORD of hosts. 8 'The silver is Mine, and the gold is Mine,' says the

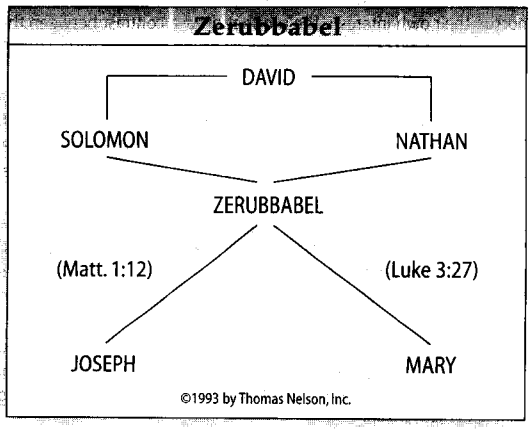
1:13 I am with you. Oppressed by hostilities from without and famine from within, the Lord responded to their genuine repentance and obedience, assuring them of His presence with them. This should have evoked a memory of God's Word to Joshua and the returning people centuries before (cf. Josh. 1:5).

1:14 stirred up the spirit. The Lord energized the leaders and the people through His Word to carry on the work of rebuilding the temple. God had sovereignly moved in the heart of Cyrus 16 years earlier (cf. 2 Chr. 36:22,23; Ezra 1:1-3). The people's response of repentance and obedience allowed God's Spirit to energize them for the task.

2:1-9 With building operations in full swing, the Lord gave a strong message of encouragement, especially to the elderly among them who had seen Solomon's temple. Though the temple of Solomon was of greater magnificence, the Lord urged the people to be courageous, assuring them of His presence (v. 4), His faithfulness to His covenant promises (v. 5), and promises of a greater, more glorious temple in the future (vv. 6-9).

2:1 seventh month...twenty-first. This day in the month of Tishri corresponds to Oct. 17, 520 B.C. Leviticus 23:39-44 indicates that this was the final day of the Feast of Tabernacles, a feast to celebrate God's provision for Israel during her 40 years of wilderness wanderings and give thanks for a bountiful harvest. On this occasion the Lord gave Haggai the third message.



2:2 The first message was directed toward the leaders, Zerubbabel and Joshua (see notes on 1:1). Here the prophet includes the remainder of the exiles who returned from Babylon.

2:3 you who saw. Some remained, perhaps even Haggai, who had seen the temple of Solomon before its destruction (cf. Ezra 3:12,13). With 3 rhetorical questions, the Lord through His prophet Haggai drew attention to the fact that this temple was inferior to Solomon's temple (cf. Ezra 3:8-13), which caused many to be discouraged by its lack of splendor.

2:4 be strong. To counteract the discouragement, the Lord repeated the command to "be strong" and to "work," assuring them of God's presence. This was the second reminder from the Lord, "I am with you" (cf. 1:13).

2:5 Spoken at the close of the feast commemorating God's provision during the wilderness wanderings, His covenant commitment and the promise that His Spirit would be with them as "when you came out of Egypt" would be most reassuring (ca. 1445 B.C.). He had not forgotten them over the last 9 centuries (Ex. 33:14). My Spirit. The third Person of the Triune Godhead (cf. Num. 11:16,17).

2:6,7 I will shake. The shaking of the cosmic bodies and the nations goes beyond the historical removal of kingdoms and the establishment of others, such as the defeat of Persia by Greece (Dan. 7). Rather, the text looks to the cataclysm in the universe described in Rev. 6–19, the subjugation of the nations by the Messiah, and the setting up of His kingdom which will never be destroyed (cf. Dan. 2:44; 7:27; Zech. 14:16-21; Matt. 25:32; Luke 21:26; Heb. 12:26; Rev. 19:19-21).

2:7 Desire of All Nations. See Introduction: Interpretive Challenges. While some view the phrase as referring to Jerusalem (e.g., Ezra 6:3-9), it seems preferable to see a reference here to the Messiah, the Deliverer for whom all the nations ultimately long. I will fill this temple with glory. There is no Scripture to indicate that God's glory ever did come to Zerubbabel's temple, as the first temple was filled with the Shekinah glory (cf. 1 Kin. 8:10,11; 2 Chr. 5:13,14). However, His glory will fill the millennial temple (Ezek. 43:5). This glorification cannot refer to Christ's physical presence in Herod's temple, for the events of vv. 6-9 cannot be accounted for historically. The context speaks of the establishment of His earthly, Davidic, millennial kingdom and His presence in the temple during that kingdom.

2:8 silver...gold. Economically destitute, the people were reassured that He is the possessor of all things (cf. Ps. 50:12).

LORD of hosts. 9 [j]'The glory of this latter [5]temple shall be greater than the former,' says the LORD of hosts. 'And in this place I will give [k]peace,' says the LORD of hosts."

The People Are Defiled

10 On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet, saying, 11 "Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'Now, [l]ask the priests concerning the law, saying, 12 "If one carries holy meat in the fold of his garment, and with the edge he touches bread or stew, wine or oil, or any food, will it become holy?" ' "

Then the priests answered and said, "No."

13 And Haggai said, "If one who is [m]un-

2:9 this latter temple. The Jews viewed the temple in Jerusalem as one temple existing in different forms at different times. The rebuilt temple was considered a continuation of Solomon's temple (cf. v. 3). However, the eschatological glory of the millennial temple, i.e., the latter temple, will far surpass even the grandeur of Solomon's temple (the former temple). Cf. Ezek. 40–48 for the detailed description of the millennial temple. I will give peace. This peace is not limited to that peace which He gives to believers (e.g., Rom. 5:1), but looks ahead to that ultimate peace when He returns to rule as the Prince of Peace upon the throne of David in Jerusalem (Is. 9:6,7; Zech. 6:13; Acts 2:30).

2:10-19 The fourth message of Haggai occurred 2 months after the third, on the 24th day of the month of Chisley, corresponding to Dec. 18, 520 B.C. Only one month earlier, Zechariah began his prophetic ministry (Zech. 1:1). The message sought to demonstrate that while their disobedience caused God's blessings to be withheld, their obedience would cause His blessings to be released.

2:11-14 To provide an analogy or object lesson for the people, two questions were asked of the priests relative to ceremonial law. The first question was intended to show that ceremonial cleanness cannot be transferred (v. 12), while the second question showed that ceremonial uncleanness can be transferred (v. 13). Haggai then applied the lesson (v. 14). Even though the people had been bringing their offerings while neglecting the rebuilding of the temple, their offerings had not been acceptable. Their sin had caused their sacrifices to be contaminated and ineffectual. And their good works, their offerings, could not transmit cleanness. In other words, sin is contagious, righteousness is not (cf. 1 Sam. 15:22; Hos. 6:6).

Zerubbabel Chosen as a Signet

20 And again the word of the LORD came to Haggai on the twenty-fourth day of the month, saying, 21 "Speak to Zerubbabel, [w]governor of Judah, saying:

[x]'I will shake heaven and earth.
22 [y]I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms;
I will destroy the strength of the Gentile kingdoms.

2:15-18 The Lord called the people to again consider their situation prior to the resumption of the temple building. In those days, the farmer found less than expected (cf. 1:6,9-11).

2:16 ephahs...baths. Four to 6 gal., respectively. Between 50 to 60 percent of the expected harvest had been lost.

2:19 But from this day I will bless you. As a result of their obedience, God promised to bless them from that day forth (cf. v. 10).

2:20-23 The fifth message to Zerubbabel the governor of Judah (v. 20) came on the same day as the fourth, and he returned to the theme of vv. 6-9 and the millennial reign of the Messiah. Once again, it depicted the overthrow of the kingdoms of the world and the establishment of the messianic kingdom (cf. Dan. 2:44; 7:27). As the events predicted did not transpire historically, the promise pertains to the royal line through whom the Messiah would come. It looked to the ultimate day when Messiah reigns on earth (cf. Ps. 2; Rev. 19,20).

2:23 In that day. The day of Messiah's triumph (cf. Zech. 12–14). My servant. A distinctly Davidic and messianic title (cf. 2 Sam. 3:18; 1 Kin. 11:34; Is. 42:1-9; Ezek. 37:24,25). signet ring. The signet ring was a symbol of honor, authority, and power (cf. Song 8:6). It corresponded to a king's scepter which was used to seal letters and decrees (cf. 1 Kin. 21:8; Esth. 8:8; Dan. 6:17). Zerubbabel, as God's signet ring, stands as the official representative of the Davidic dynasty and represents the resumption of the messianic line interrupted by the Exile. Just as Pharaoh gave Joseph his signet ring and made him second in the kingdom (Gen. 41:41-43), so God will do for the Davidic line of kings. The pre-Exilic signet of Jehoiachin was removed by God (Jer. 22:24) and renewed here in his grandson, Zerubbabel, who reestablished the Davidic line of kings, which would culminate in the millennial reign of Christ. Possibly through a levirate marriage, Zerubbabel appears in the line of Christ on both Joseph's side (Matt. 1:12) and Mary's side (Luke 3:27), thus bypassing God's curse on the lines of Jehoiakim and Jehoiachin (cf. Jer. 22:24-30; 36:27-32).

The Book of ZECHARIAH

Title

The universal tradition of both Jews and Christians endorses the prophet Zechariah as author. His name, common to more than 29 OT men, means "The LORD remembers." This book is second only to Isaiah in the breadth of the prophet's writings about Messiah.

Author and Date

Like Jeremiah and Ezekiel, Zechariah was also a priest (Neh. 12:12-16) According to tradition, he was a member of the Great Synagogue, a council of 120 originated by Nehemiah and presided over by Ezra. This council later developed into the ruling elders of the nation, called the Sanhedrin. He was born in Babylon and joined his grandfather, Iddo, in the group of exiles who first returned to Jerusalem under the leadership of Zerubbabel and Joshua the High-Priest (cf. Neh. 12:4). Because he is occasionally mentioned as the son of his grandfather (cf. Ezra 5:1; 6:14; Neh. 12:16), it is thought that his father, Berechiah, died at an early age before he could succeed his father into the priesthood.

Zechariah's opening words are dated from 520 B.C., the second year of Darius I (cf. 1:1). The Persian emperor Cyrus had died and was succeeded by Cambyses (ca. 530–521 B.C.) who conquered Egypt. He had no son, he killed himself, and Darius rose to the throne by quelling a revolution. He was a contemporary of Haggai, and began his prophesying 2 months after him (cf. Haggai Introduction). He is called a young man in 2:4, suggesting that Zechariah was younger than Haggai. The length of his ministry is uncertain; the last dated prophecy (7:1) came approximately two years after the first, making them identical in time with Haggai's prophecy (520–518 B.C.). Chapters 9–14 are generally thought to come from a later period of his ministry. Differences in style and references to Greece indicate a date of ca. 480–470 B.C., after Darius I (ca. 521–486 B.C.) and during Xerxes' reign (ca. 486–464 B.C.), the king who made Esther queen of Persia. According to Matt. 23:35, he was murdered between the temple and the altar, a fate similar to an earlier Zechariah (cf. 2 Chr. 24:20,21), who had been stoned to death.

Background and Setting

The historical background and setting of Zechariah are the same as that of his contemporary, Haggai (cf. Haggai Introduction). In 538 B.C., Cyrus the Persian freed the captives from Israel to resettle their homeland (cf. Ezra 1:1-4) and about 50,000 returned from Babylon. They immediately began to rebuild the temple (cf. Ezra 3:1–4:5), but opposition from neighbors, followed by indifference from within, caused the work to be abandoned (cf. Ezra 4:24). Sixteen years later (cf. Ezra 5:1,2), Zechariah and Haggai were commissioned by the Lord to stir up the people to rebuild the temple. As a result, the temple was completed 4 years later in 516 B.C. (Ezra 6:15).

Historical and Theological Themes

Zechariah joined Haggai in rousing the people from their indifference, challenging them to resume the building of the temple. Haggai's primary purpose was to rebuild the temple; his preaching has a tone of rebuke for the people's indifference, sin, and lack of trust in God. He was used to start the revival, while Zechariah was used to keep it going strong with a more positive emphasis, calling the people to repentance and reassuring them regarding future blessings. Zechariah sought to encourage the people to build the temple in view of the promise that someday Messiah would come to inhabit it. The people were not just building for the present, but with the future hope of Messiah in mind. He encouraged the people, still downtrodden by the Gentile powers (1:8-12), with the reality that the Lord remembers His covenant promises to them and that He would restore and bless them. Thus the name of the book (which means "The LORD remembers") contains in seed form the theme of the prophecy.

This "apocalypse of the OT" as it is often called, relates both to Zechariah's immediate audience as well as to the future. This is borne out in the structure of the prophecy itself, since in each of the 3 major sections (chaps. 1–6,7,8,9-14), the prophet begins historically and then moves forward to the time of the Second Advent, when Messiah returns to His temple to set up His earthly kingdom. The prophet reminded the people that Messiah had both an immediate and long-term commitment to His people. Thus the prophet's words were "good and comforting" (1:13), both to the exiles of Zechariah's day as well as to the remnant of God's chosen people in that future day.

This book is the most messianic, apocalyptic, and eschatological in the OT. Primarily, it is a prophecy about Jesus Christ, focusing on His coming glory as a means to comfort Israel (cf. 1:13,17). While the book is filled with visions, prophecies, signs, celestial visitors, and the voice of God, it is also practical, dealing with issues like repentance, divine care, salvation, and holy living. Prophecy was soon to be silent for more than 400 years until John the Baptist, so God used Zechariah to bring a rich, abundant outburst of promise for the future to sustain the faithful remnant through those silent years.

Interpretive Challenges

While there are numerous challenges to the reader, two passages within the prophecy present notable interpretive difficulty. In 11:8, the Good Shepherd "dismissed the three shepherds in one month." The presence of the definite article points to familiarity, so that the Jews would have understood the identity of these shepherds without further reference. It is not so easy for modern readers to understand. Numerous alternatives concerning their identity have been suggested. One of the oldest, and probably the correct, view identifies them as three orders of leaders: the priests, elders, and scribes of Israel. During His earthly ministry, Jesus also confronted the hypocrisy of Israel's religious leaders (cf. Matt. 23), disowning them with scathing denunciations, followed by destruction of the whole nation in A.D. 70. Since His coming, the Jewish people have had no other prophet, priest, or king.

Considerable discussion also surrounds the identity of the individual who possessed "wounds between your arms" (13:6). Some have identified him with Christ, the wounds supposedly referring to His crucifixion. But Christ could neither have denied that He was a prophet, nor could He have claimed that He was a farmer, or that He was wounded in the house of His friends. Obviously, it is a reference to a false prophet (cf. vv. 4,5) who was wounded in his idolatrous worship. The zeal for the Lord will be so great in the kingdom of Messiah that idolaters will make every attempt to hide their true identity, but their scars will be the telltale evidence of their iniquity.

A Call to Repentance

CHAPTER 1

1 In the eighth month [a]of the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came [b]to Zechariah the son of Berechiah, the son of [c]Iddo the prophet, saying,
2 "The LORD has been very angry with your fathers. 3 Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "Return [d]to Me," says the LORD of hosts, "and I will return to you," says the LORD of hosts. 4 "Do not be like your fathers, [e]to whom the former prophets preached, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: [f]"Turn now from your evil ways and your evil deeds." ' But they did not hear nor heed Me," says the LORD.

5 "Your fathers, where are they?
And the prophets, do they live forever?
6 Yet surely [g]My words and My statutes,
Which I commanded My servants the prophets,
Did they not overtake your fathers?

"So they returned and said:

[h]'Just as the LORD of hosts determined to do to us,
According to our ways and according to our deeds,
So He has dealt with us.' " ' "

Vision of the Horses

7 On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Shebat, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo the prophet: 8 I saw by night, and behold, [i]a man riding on a red horse, and it stood among the myrtle trees in the hollow; and behind him were

[h] Lam. 1:18; 2:17
8 [i] Is. 55:13; Zech. 6:2; [Rev. 6:4]

1:1-6 The opening 6 verses provide an introduction to the entire prophecy in which the prophet calls upon the people to repent and never again repeat the past sins of their fathers (cf. 1 Cor. 10:11).

1:1 eighth month of the second year of Darius. Ca. Oct./Nov. 520 B.C. See Introduction: Author and Date. Zechariah began his ministry two months after the start of Haggai's ministry (cf. Hag. 1:1) and the resumption of the rebuilding of the temple (cf. Hag. 1:12-15). The OT prophets who dated their prophecies did so according to the reign of a king in Israel, Judah, or both. Only Haggai and Zechariah date their prophecies according to the reign of the Gentile king, indicating that the times of the Gentiles (Luke 21:24) had begun. Zechariah. See Introduction: Author and Date.

1:2 The LORD has been very angry. This actually means "to break out in long-controlled indignation," reminding the people of the severity of God's wrath and the necessity of His judgment on their past sins in pre-Exilic times.

1:3 the LORD of hosts. This frequently used name for God shows His might as the commander of the hosts, whether they are the armies of Israel (cf. 2 Chr. 26:11), the armies of the heathen nations (cf. Judg. 4:2), or the heavenly inhabitants (cf. 1 Kin. 22:19). Return to Me. Though primarily a book of consolation, the prophet begins with a call to repentance, to preclude any false security on the part of Israel, i.e., thinking that God would bless His chosen people regardless of their spiritual condition. This expresses the ongoing desire of God (cf. Gen. 17:7; Lev. 26:12; Ezek. 37:27; 2 Cor. 6:6; James 4:8; Rev. 21:3), and the constant condition for blessing.

1:4 Do not be like your fathers. The disobedient, obstinate behavior of their fathers was not so much directed toward the prophets, but at God Himself. The people were well aware of their fathers' sins (cf. Ezra 9:7) and could look around them and see the results. History should have taught them to repent. the former prophets. A reference to the pre-Exilic prophets who all preached the same message of repentance before the Exile, e.g., Isaiah and Jeremiah. Cf. "My servants" (v. 6).

1:5 While both their fathers and the former prophets were dead, the legacy of their fathers' failure to heed the prophets' warnings was vividly before them, exemplified by the city of Jerusalem and the temple lying in ruins, needing to be rebuilt.

1:6 God's Word accomplishes all which He designs (Is. 55:10,11), in blessing and in judgment. His warnings, so precisely fulfilled, overtook and destroyed their fathers, who recognized God's hand in the judgment (cf. Lam. 2:17; Ezra 9:6ff.). The Exile was positive proof that God punishes those who sin and reject His warnings. they returned. This would better be translated "they repented" (cf. Dan. 9:1-19).

1:7–6:15 God gave Zechariah these visions for the comfort of the post-Exilic remnant of Israel who had been commissioned to return from Persia to the land promised to Abraham (cf. Gen. 12). They were to rebuild the temple (cf. 1 and 2 Chr.) and to anticipate the day of Messiah's return, when all of God's promises to Israel would finally, fully, and ultimately be fulfilled. Some portions of the visions have been fulfilled, but the large number await the Second Advent of Jesus Christ. The following summary will help to distinguish the contribution of individual visions and clarify the whole. Vision 1—Man among the myrtle trees (1:7-17), God promises prosperity to Israel. Vision 2—Four horns and four craftsmen (1:18-21), God judges the nations who attacked Israel. Vision 3—Man with a measuring line (2:1-13), God rebuilds Jerusalem. Vision 4—Cleansing of the High-Priest (3:1-10), God purifies both High-Priest and people. Vision 5—Golden lampstand and two olives trees (4:1-14), God rebuilds the temple. Vision 6—Flying scroll (5:1-4), God removes imparted sin/idolatry. Vision 7—Woman in basket (5:5-11), God removes the system of false religion. Vision 8—Four chariots (6:1-8), God brings peace and rest to Israel. Appendix—Coronation of the High-Priest (6:9-15), Messiah assumes the office of both King and Priest.

1:7-17 This is the first of 8 night visions which Zechariah saw in a single night. It summarized all the other 7 by giving the general theme, leaving the details to the other visions. Reassuring words are provided to the exiles by revealing God's purpose for the future of His chosen people.

1:7 the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month. Ca. Jan./Feb. 519 B.C. Approximately 3 months after Zechariah's opening call to repentance.

1:8 I saw by night. This is the first vision revealing God's plan for Jerusalem, which begins with the sight of "a man riding on a red horse." The man is identified as the Angel of the Lord (cf. v. 11). The other riders report to Him, indicating His authority over them. Because of the strength of horses, they became symbols of war. Red is often the symbol of blood, hence judgment (cf. Is. 63:1-4; Rev. 6:3ff.). among the myrtle trees in the hollow. Myrtle trees were associated with booth-making at the Feast of Tabernacles (Lev. 23:33-44; Neh 8:15) and with messianic blessing (cf. Is. 41:19; 55:13), and thereby possibly speak of restoration and blessing. Their location in the hollow has

11 [m]So they answered the Angel of the LORD, who stood among the myrtle trees, and said, "We have walked to and fro throughout the earth, and behold, all the earth is [1]resting quietly."

The LORD Will Comfort Zion

12 Then the Angel of the LORD answered and said, "O LORD of hosts, [n]how long will You not have mercy on Jerusalem and on the cities of Judah, against which You were angry [o]these seventy years?"

been thought to refer to a low place where such shrubs would flourish. Because of the lowliness (these shrubs would never exceed 8 ft. in height), commonness, fragrance (from white blossoms), and abundance in flourishing places, it is best to see these as representing Israel, God's people. They are the lowly and yet enriched people. Their lowliness in the hollow could also refer to Israel's current humiliation. red, sorrel, and white. Presumably these other horses had riders as well. The colors may speak of the work of the riders: red speaking of bloodshed and judgment (cf. Is. 63:1,2), white speaking of victory (cf. Rev. 19:11), and sorrel or a brownish color is possibly a combination of the others. A similar picture is found in Rev. 6:1-8. These horses are about to gain a victorious judgment. Since they are messengers of vengeance, they likely represent angels, so frequently employed as God's instruments of judgment.

1:9 the angel who talked with me. This interpreting angel (1:13,14,19; 2:3; 3:1; 4:1) is to be distinguished from the Angel of the Lord (vv. 11,12).

1:10 walk to and fro. A symbolic military description of angelic movement patrolling and reconnoitering on a global scale. The purpose is to ascertain the state of the enemy and to respond to God's will in engaging that enemy triumphantly.

1:11 the Angel of the LORD. Elsewhere the Angel of the Lord is frequently identified with the pre-incarnate Lord Himself (e.g., Gen. 16:11,13; 18:1,2,13,17; 22:11-18; Ex. 3:2,4; Josh. 5:13; 6:2; Judg. 6:12,14; 13:21,22). In v. 13, this Angel is called Lord, and is the divine commander-in-chief of this angelic army. all the earth is resting quietly. In contrast to the difficulties facing the exiles, without temple or city walls, the heathen nations were superficially at rest, occupied with their own selfish interests (cf. v. 15). This was generally the condition in the second year of Darius. The contrast makes the plight of Israel all the more distressing and the hope for the fulfillment of Hag. 2:7,22 more intense.

1:12 The Angel of the Lord interceded to God the Father on behalf of Israel, pleading for the withdrawal of God's chastening hand. The "seventy years" refers to God's words to Jeremiah concerning the length of Judah's exile (Jer. 25:11,12; 29:10).

1:13 good and comforting words. The content of these words is given in vv. 14-17: God still loved Jerusalem (v. 14), He was angry with the nations who afflicted them (v. 15), and He will bring prosperity to Jerusalem (vv. 16,17).

1:14 I am zealous for Jerusalem. God first described Himself as jealous when making His covenant with Israel (Ex. 20:5; 34:14). This same jealousy had been experienced by Israel in punishment (cf. Deut. 29:18-28; Ezek. 5:13). That same jealous love is expressed emphatically in the city's defense.

1:15 Moved by His great love for His people, the Lord acted in anger (cf. v. 2) against the nations which mistreated His people. Although they were His instrument of judgment against Israel, they had exceeded God's instructions in meting out punishment. They did not understand that God's intention was to punish for a time and then show compassion (cf. Is. 54:7,8).

1:16,17 Not only would the temple be rebuilt which at that time had only foundations (cf. Hag. 2:18), but the city itself would again expand due to the prosperity (cf. Is. 40:9,10). The wall was completed 75 years later. God would again comfort Jerusalem (cf. Is. 40:1,2; 51:3,12) and would again choose it as the place of His earthly throne (cf. Ps. 132:13). This will be fulfilled in the millennial kingdom of Messiah (cf. Rev. 20). Given the fact that the returning Jews lost sight of their priorities (cf. Hag. 1:1-12), this message reaffirmed God's plan. It should be noted that the millennial kingdom will provide the presence of God in Jerusalem (Ezek. 48:35), a glorious temple (Ezek. 40–48), a rebuilt Jerusalem (Jer. 31:38-40), the nations punished (Matt. 25:31-46), the prosperity of Judah's cities (Is. 60:4-9) the blessedness of the people (Zech. 9:17), and the comfort of Zion (Is. 14:1).

1:18-21 The second of 8 night visions adds details to the judgment of the nations who persecuted His Israel, building upon God's promise to comfort His people (1:13,17).

1:18 four horns. Horns were symbols of power and pride (cf. Pss.

the angel who talked with me, "What are these?"

So he answered me, [z]"These are the [6]horns that have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem."

20 Then the LORD showed me four craftsmen. 21 And I said, "What are these coming to do?"

So he said, "These are the [a]horns that scattered Judah, so that no one could lift up his head; but [7]the craftsmen are coming to terrify them, to cast out the horns of the nations that [b]lifted up their horn against the land of Judah to scatter it."

Vision of the Measuring Line

2 Then I raised my eyes and looked, and behold, [a]a man with a measuring line in his hand. 2 So I said, "Where are you going?"

And he said to me, [b]"To measure Jerusalem, to see what is its width and what is its length."

3 And there was the angel who talked with me, going out; and another angel was coming out to meet him, 4 who said to him, "Run, speak to this young man, saying: [c]'Jerusalem shall be inhabited as towns without walls, because of the multitude of men and livestock in it. 5 For I,' says the LORD, 'will be [d]a wall of fire all around her, [e]and I will be the glory in her midst.' "

Future Joy of Zion and Many Nations

6 "Up, up! Flee [f]from the land of the north," says the LORD; "for I have [g]spread you abroad like the four winds of heaven," says the LORD. 7 "Up, Zion! [h]Escape, you who dwell with the daughter of Babylon."

8 For thus says the LORD of hosts: "He sent Me after glory, to the nations which plunder you; for he who [i]touches you touches the [1]apple of His eye. 9 For surely I will [j]shake My hand against them, and they shall become [2]spoil for their servants. Then [k]you will know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me.

10 [l]"Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zion! For behold, I am coming and I [m]will dwell in your midst," says the LORD. 11 [n]"Many nations shall be joined to the LORD [o]in that day, and they shall become [p]My people. 75:10; 89:17; 92:10; Dan. 7:24; 8:20,21; Mic. 4:13). In the context of judgment each symbolizes either a nation or the head of that nation (cf. Dan. 7:21,24; 8:3; Rev. 17:12). Here the horns represent nations that attacked God's people (vv. 19,21), referring either to Egypt, Assyria, Babylonia, and Medo-Persia or perhaps, more likely, to the 4 world empires of Dan. 2,7: Babylonia, Medo-Persia, Greece, and Rome, all of which oppressed Israel.

1:20 four craftsmen. The word is literally the term for stone workers, metal workers, and wood workers—those who shape material with hammers and chisels. These "hammers" represent the nations which overthrow the 4 horns (v. 18). As with the 4 beasts of Dan. 7, each empire is overthrown by the subsequent one, the last being replaced by Messiah's kingdom (cf. Dan. 2:44; 7:9-14,21,22). Babylon was hammered in a night attack by the Medo-Persians (539 B.C.). With the victory of Alexander over Darius in 333 B.C. at Issus, the Greeks hammered the Medo-Persian "horn." In the second century B.C., the Roman hammer fell and one by one the nations fell (Israel in 63 B.C.). The Roman Empire, revived in the last days, according to Daniel, will be hammered by the returning Messiah (cf. Dan. 2:34,35,45).

2:1-13 The third vision reveals a man with a measuring line. Like the second vision, it too builds on God's promise to comfort His people (1:13,17). The restoration of Jerusalem after the return from Babylon is only a foretaste of the future messianic kingdom, for the language of the vision cannot be fulfilled historically. Its scope extends beyond the time of Zechariah to the rule of the Messiah on earth.

2:1 a man with a measuring line. The restoration and rebuilding of Jerusalem is symbolized. It is very possible that the surveyor is the Angel of the Lord (cf. 1:11; 6:12; Ezek. 40:2,3), who is laying out the future dimensions of the city.

2:3 angel...talked with me. This is the instructing angel of 1:9.

2:4 The news was so wonderful that it was to be heralded immediately. An angel arrived to explain that Jerusalem will become so large that it will extend beyond any walls (cf. Is. 49:19,20; Ezek. 38:11). The conditions here described have at no time been true historically (cf. Neh. 7:4; 11:1,2); full realization must be assigned to a future earthly kingdom (cf. Is. 49:19,20). A counterfeit of this unwalled safety will exist under Antichrist in the time of tribulation (see notes on Ezek. 38:8-12).

2:5 a wall of fire all around her. Though without walls, Jerusalem will dwell securely because of divine protection. The phrase is reminiscent of the pillar of fire at the Exodus (cf. Ex. 13:21; 2 Kin. 6:15-17; Is. 4:5,6). I will be the glory in her midst. More than protection, the glory depicts the Messiah's blessing and personal presence in His earthly kingdom (cf. Is. 4:2-6; 40:5; 60:17,18; Ezek. 42:1-7).

2:6-9 The prophet turned from the distant future (vv. 4,5) to the present, summoning those Israelites still in Babylon (referred to as the land of the north, cf. v. 7, because of the direction from which it invaded Israel) to flee before God poured out His judgment on it. This also implied a future call to leave a future Babylon (cf. Rev. 17:3-5; 18:1-8).

2:6 I have spread you. According to 2 Kin. 17:6, they were scattered from the Gozan River, 200 mi. W of Nineveh, to Media, 300 mi. E. Some had even taken refuge in Moab, Ammon, Edom, and Egypt (cf. Jer. 40:11,12; 43:7).

2:8 He sent Me after glory. The Messiah is sent by the "LORD of Hosts" (v. 9) to procure His glory and to vindicate Him in the nations who have spoiled Israel. the apple of His eye. See note on Deut. 32:10. Harming God's chosen people is like striking the pupil of God's eye.

2:10-13 The language is once again messianic, describing the personal presence of the Messiah, dwelling on the throne of David in Jerusalem during the Millennium.

2:11,12 Echoing the promise to Abraham (Gen. 12:3), many nations will join themselves to the Lord (cf. 6:15; Zech. 8:20-23; Is. 2:2-4; 56:6,7; 60:3). But this will not alter God's choice of His people, they will still be "His inheritance in the Holy Land" (cf. Deut. 32:9).

inheritance in the Holy Land, and will again choose Jerusalem. 13 [s]Be silent, all flesh, before the LORD, for He is aroused [t]from His holy habitation!"

Vision of the High Priest

3 Then he showed me [a]Joshua the high priest standing before the Angel of the LORD, and [b]Satan[1] standing at his right hand to oppose him. 2 And the LORD said to Satan, [c]"The LORD rebuke you, Satan! The LORD who [d]has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! [e]Is this not a brand plucked from the fire?"

3 Now Joshua was clothed with [f]filthy garments, and was standing before the Angel.

4 Then He answered and spoke to those who stood before Him, saying, "Take away the filthy garments from him." And to him He said, "See, I have removed your iniquity from you, [g]and I will clothe you with rich robes."

5 And I said, "Let them put a clean [h]turban on his head."

So they put a clean turban on his head, and they put the clothes on him. And the Angel of the LORD stood by.

And if you will [i]keep My command,
Then you shall also [j]judge My house,
And likewise have charge of My courts;
I will give you places to walk

2:12 Holy Land. Used only here, the expression is made not because it is the Promised Land but because it will be the site of Messiah's earthly throne when the land has been cleansed. A holy land is appropriate and expected for its holy Lord (Is. 6:1-5).

2:13 His holy habitation. God's dwelling in heaven (cf. Pss. 15:1; 24:3).

3:1-10 The fourth night vision emphasizes Israel's cleansing and restoration as a priestly nation. The vision itself is given in vv. 1-5, followed by the explanation and significance in vv. 6-10. The revealer was most likely God Himself.

3:1 The scene is invested with a judicial character as Joshua, the High-Priest of the restoration who came back in the first group with Zerubbabel (cf. Ezra 3:2; 5:2; Hag. 1:1), was accused by Satan, who was standing at the right side, the place of accusation under the law (cf. Ps. 109:6). That Joshua was representative of the nation is evident from: 1) the emphasis on the nation in these visions; 2) the fact that the rebuke in v. 2 is based on God's choice of Jerusalem, not Joshua; 3) the identification in v. 8 of Joshua and his fellow priests as symbolic of future Israel; and 4) its application to the land in v. 9. Satan. This could also be translated "adversary" and thus the person's identity would be unknown. However, because the activity of accusation is so in keeping with Satan (cf. Job 1,2; Rev. 12:10), his identification is preferable. The malicious adversary stands in the presence of the Lord to proclaim Israel's sins and their unworthiness of God's favor. The situation is crucial: If Joshua is vindicated, Israel is accepted; If Joshua is rejected, Israel is rejected. The entire plan of God for the nation was revealed in the outcome. Israel's hopes would either be destroyed or confirmed.

3:2 the LORD said. The Angel of the Lord is identified as the Lord, thus verifying this "messenger" as deity. See notes on Judg. 1:11; 6:11. And the message was crucial in confirming that 1) God had not cast off the Jews, but was consistent with His covenants with them in Abraham and David, and 2) His election takes their side against Satan's accusations. God will do this rebuking, as reported in Rev. 20:10. See note on Jude 9. chosen Jerusalem. God's favor rested on Israel above any nation on earth (cf. Deut. 7:6-11). He snatched them from potential disappearance in their captivity, like pulling a stick out of the fire just before it is torched (cf. Amos 4:11). Thus, God confirmed His purposes for Israel, sweeping from Zechariah's time to the consummation of human history (cf. Rev. 12:3-17).

3:3 filthy garments. Employing the most loathsome, vile term for filth, the phrase pictures the habitual condition of defilement of the priesthood and the people (cf. Is. 4:4; 64:6), which became the basis of Satan's accusation that the nation is morally impure and unworthy of God's protection and blessing.

3:4 The removal of filthy garments by the angels ("who stood before him") depicted the promised future forensic justification, the salvation of the nation (cf. v. 9; 12:10–13:1; Rom. 11:25-27). The High-Priest was symbolically clothed with rich robes, which spoke of righteousness imputed (cf. Is. 61:10) and the restoration of Israel to her original calling (cf. Ex. 19:6; Is. 61:6; Rom. 11:1,2).

3:5 a clean turban. The turban, part of the High-Priest's dress, was inscribed with the words: "Holiness to the LORD" (Ex. 28:36,37; 39:30,31). Zechariah joined the scene, calling for this because it strongly symbolized that Israel's priestly place with God was restored.

3:6,7 Although God will keep His promise to justify Israel, reinstate the nation as His priestly people to serve in His house, keep His courts, and have complete access to His presence—all based on His sovereign, electing love and not by merit or works of man—that will not be fulfilled until Israel is faithful to the Lord. It awaits the fulfillment of 12:10–13:1.

3:8 they are a wondrous sign. The companion priests sitting before Joshua were symbols of future Israel, foreshadowing the coming Messiah. My Servant the BRANCH. Two messianic phrases are here combined. "My Servant" is used by earlier prophets to depict the Messiah (Is. 42:1; 49:3,5; 52:13; 53:11; Ezek. 34:23,24) and speaks of His complete obedience and His humble estate. "Branch" also points to the Messiah (cf. 6:12,13; Is. 4:2; Jer. 23:5; 33:15) and denotes His rise from humble beginnings (Is. 11:1; Jer. 23:5,6) and His fruitfulness (6:12; Is. 11:1).

3:9 the stone. Here is another reference to Messiah. In Ps. 118:22,23; Is. 8:13-15; 28:16; Dan. 2:35,45; Matt. 21:42; Eph. 2:19-22;

[o]Upon the stone are [p]seven eyes.
Behold, I will engrave its inscription,'
Says the LORD of hosts,
'And [q]I will remove the iniquity of that land in one day.
10 [r]In that day,' says the LORD of hosts,
'Everyone will invite his neighbor
[s]Under his vine and under his fig tree.' "

1 Pet. 2:6-8, He is a rejected stone, a stone of stumbling, a stone of refuge, a destroying stone, and a foundation stone. Here He is the precious foundation stone, with "7 eyes" symbolic of His omniscience and infinite intelligence (cf. 4:10; Is. 11:2; Col. 2:3; Rev. 5:6). The engraving may be a reference to the cornerstone of the temple building, on which will be engraved an inscription attesting to the Divine Builder and the purpose for which the building was erected. As such, it is closely tied to the removal of "the iniquity of that land in one day," symbolized by the removal of filthy garments in v. 4. The phrase looks to the future day when there will cleansing and forgiveness for the nation as a whole (12:10–13:1; Rom. 11:25-27), made possible through Christ's redemptive provision at Calvary.

3:10 invite his neighbor under. A common expression in Israel for peace and prosperity (cf. 1 Kin. 4:25; Mic. 4:4), here depicting the peace during the millennial rule of Messiah.

4:1-14 The fourth vision focused on Joshua the High-Priest and, by extension, the cleansing and restoration of the nation to her divinely appointed role as priest. This fifth vision focuses on the civil leader Zerubbabel, a descendant of David, to encourage him in the work of rebuilding the temple. The faithful completion of the work would then enable Israel to again bear light of God's grace (testimony) to the world.

4:1 as a man who is wakened. Once again the interpreting angel comes to awaken the prophet out of spiritual exhaustion from the holy trauma of the previous vision. Cf. Dan. 10:9.

4:2 seven pipes to the seven lamps. The lampstand is the 7-branched kind used in the tabernacle, with the addition of a bowl on the top of it in order to maintain an abundant supply of oil and pipes to carry the oil to keep the 7 lamps burning. The picture is of an abundant supply.

4:3 Two olive trees. Olive oil, was used in those days to fuel the lamps. The two olive trees supply oil to the bowl. The graphic picture is of limitless oil, supplied automatically without human agency, flowing from the trees down to the bowl, down to the lamps.

4:4 What are these. Zechariah wanted to know the meaning of the two olive trees. Because of Zechariah's priestly background, his query surprised the interpreting angel (v. 5). His question goes unanswered until later (v. 14).

4:6 This is the word of the LORD to Zerubbabel. The purpose of the vision was to encourage Zerubbabel to complete the temple rebuilding, to assure him of divine enablement for that venture and the endless supply for the future glory of Messiah's kingdom and temple. The lampstand pictured Israel fully supplied by God to be His light then and in the future. It must be noted that the church has temporarily taken this role presently (cf. Eph. 5:8,9; Rev. 1:12,13,20), until Israel's salvation and restoration to covenant blessing and usefulness. Cf. Rom. 11:11-24. Not by might...power, but by My Spirit. Neither human might, wealth, or physical stamina would be sufficient to complete the work. Only an abundant supply of the power of the Holy Spirit, pictured by the "bowl" (v. 2) would enable him to carry out the task, and enable Israel in the Messiah's kingdom to be a light again to the world by the operation of the Spirit (cf. Ezek. 36:24).

4:7 Who are you, O great mountain? Because the outcome is guaranteed (vv. 6,9), any mountain-like opposition will be leveled by God to become like a flat surface. No obstacle will be able to stop the completion of the temple in Zerubbabel's time or in the final kingdom of Messiah (cf. Ezek. 40–48). the capstone. The final stone of the building will be put into place, signifying its completion. Grace, grace to it! This blessing signifying shouts of joy and thanksgiving came to pass (cf. Ezra 3:11-13) over the completion of the temple. Contrast this attitude with that of the people seeing the unfinished temple (Hag. 2:3).

4:9 Me. This is the Angel of the Lord (see note on 1:11), the Protector, Deliverer, Defender of Israel, sent to bring this to fulfillment. In the future, He will come as Messiah to set up worship in the temple in His kingdom.

4:10 the day of small things. Though the rebuilding of a temple smaller than Solomon's may have been discouraging to some (cf. Ezra

For these seven rejoice to see
The [2]plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel.
[p]They are the eyes of the LORD,
Which scan to and fro throughout the whole earth."

11 Then I answered and said to him, "What are these [q]two olive trees—at the right of the lampstand and at its left?"
12 And I further answered and said to him, "What are these two olive branches that drip [3]into the receptacles of the two gold pipes from which the golden oil drains?"
13 Then he answered me and said, "Do you not know what these are?"
And I said, "No, my lord."
14 So he said, [r]"These are the two [4]anointed ones, [s]who stand beside the Lord of the whole earth."

Vision of the Flying Scroll

5 Then I turned and raised my eyes, and saw there a flying [a]scroll.
2 And he said to me, "What do you see?"
So I answered, "I see a flying scroll. Its length is twenty cubits and its width ten cubits."
3 Then he said to me, "This is the [b]curse that goes out over the face of the whole earth: 'Every thief shall be expelled,' according to this side of the scroll; and, 'Every perjurer shall be expelled,' according to that side of it."

4 "I will send out the curse," says the LORD of hosts;
"It shall enter the house of the [c]thief
And the house of [d]the one who swears falsely by My name.
It shall remain in the midst of his house
And consume [e]it, with its timber and stones."

Vision of the Woman in a Basket

5 Then the angel who talked with me came out and said to me, "Lift your eyes now, and see what this is that goes forth."
6 So I asked, "What is it?" And he said, "It is a [1]basket that is going forth."
He also said, "This is their resemblance throughout the earth: 7 Here is a lead disc lifted up, and this is a woman sitting inside the basket"; 8 then he said, "This is Wickedness!" And he thrust her down into the basket, and threw the lead [2]cover over its mouth. 9 Then I raised my eyes and looked, and there were two women, coming with the wind in their wings; for they

3:12; Hag. 2:3), the Lord announced that His pleasure was upon this work, and that His omniscient care ("7 eyes") was watching over and taking pleasure in its completion. He said in effect, "Don't despise what God is pleased with." This was only a picture of the glorious restoration when Messiah comes to reign. That temple will make all others pale by comparison (cf. Ezek. 40–48).

4:14 These are the two anointed ones. The two olives trees (v. 4,11) represent the kingly and priestly offices in Israel through which the blessing of God was to flow. The two olive branches (v. 12) are the two men who occupied the supreme positions in those offices at that time: Zerubbabel, as a descendant of David, and Joshua, the High-Priest, a descendant of Eleazar. Together, they foreshadow the Messiah, in whom these two offices are combined (cf. 6:13; Ps. 119) and who is the true source of blessing to make Israel the light to the nations (cf. Is. 60:1-3). They had positions of responsibility in service to "the LORD of the whole earth," a millennial term that points to the final kingdom (cf. Mic. 5:4).

5:1-4 This sixth vision of the flying scroll depicts the Word of God which has been disobeyed by Israel and the entire world. It calls for God's righteous judgment of the sinner according to His standard, clearly set forth in His Word.

5:1,2 This flying scroll, unfurled for all to read both sides, measured 30 ft. long and 15 ft. wide (a cubit being 18 in.), exactly the size of the Holy Place in the tabernacle. The scroll represents, then, a divine standard, by which man is to be measured.

5:3 curse. The scroll, symbolizing the law of God, is a figure for a curse or punishment on all who disobeyed it and for blessing on all who obeyed it (cf. Deut. 27:26; 28:15-68). A similar picture is presented in Rev. 5:1-9; 10:1-11. Every thief...Every perjurer. Written on both sides, the scroll probably contained the Ten Commandments, not just two. The two singled out, the third and eighth, are most likely representative of all commands of God's law, for which Israel was guilty of violations (cf. James 2:10). It has an immediate message to those of Zechariah's time that God will root out and destroy the sinners who reject His Word; but it also has a future message for Israel and the world prior to Messiah's kingdom (cf. Ezek. 20:33-38; Matt. 25:31-46).

5:4 There is no escape from the judgment of God. His Word will enter the place of sinners and remain there until it has accomplished its purpose (Is. 55:10,11), which will be particularly true in the kingdom. The promise of the land in Deut. 30:1-10 will be fulfilled in the future day, as will consuming judgment (cf. Rev. 6–19).

5:5-11 The previous vision dealt with the purging of sinners from the land. This seventh vision of a woman in a basket continues the theme, focusing on the removal of the whole sinful system from Israel, which will happen before the kingdom comes (cf. Ezek. 20:38).

5:5,6 The wicked system is represented as a basket with a woman held captive inside under a lead lid. An ephah (basket) was smaller than a bushel, holding about 5 gallons. Like the flying scroll (cf. vv. 1-4), this was obviously enlarged for the purpose of the vision. The people of Israel are seen as pieces of grain, perhaps indicating that the wickedness is particularly materialistic. This was a sin that Israel picked up in Babylon and it has influenced them through the centuries until removed by the Messiah in the last days. This secular commercialism is central to the final world system (cf. Rev. 18).

5:7,8 woman. Inside the basket was sitting a woman, personifying this final wickedness (cf. Rev. 17:3-5), which is not dormant, since the lead cover is required to restrain it in the basket (cf. 2 Thess. 2:6-8).

5:9 two women...wind in their wings. Since storks are unclean birds (Lev. 11:19; Deut. 14:18) these must be agents of evil, demonic forces, protective of the wicked secularism, who set up the final system of evil. God allows them to set up the world system that the Lord destroys when He returns (cf. Rev. 19:11-16).

had wings like the wings of a [f]stork, and they lifted up the basket between earth and heaven.

10 So I said to the [g]angel who talked with me, "Where are they carrying the basket?"

11 And he said to me, "To [h]build a house for it in [i]the land of [3]Shinar; when it is ready, the basket will be set there on its base."

Vision of the Four Chariots

6 Then I turned and raised my eyes and looked, and behold, four chariots were coming from between two mountains, and the mountains were mountains of bronze. 2 With the first chariot were [a]red horses, with the second chariot [b]black horses, 3 with the third chariot white horses, and with the fourth chariot dappled horses—strong steeds. 4 Then I answered [c]and said to the angel who talked with me, "What are these, my lord?"

5 And the angel answered and said to me, [d]"These are four spirits of heaven, who go out from their [e]station before the Lord of all the earth. 6 [1]The one with the black horses is going to [f]the north country, the white are going after them, and the dappled are going toward the south country." 7 Then the strong steeds went out, eager to go, that they might [g]walk to and fro throughout the earth. And He said, "Go, walk to and fro throughout the earth." So they walked to and fro throughout the earth. 8 And He called to me, and spoke to me, saying, "See, those who go toward the north country have given rest to My [h]Spirit in the north country."

The Command to Crown Joshua

9 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 10 "Receive the gift from the captives—from Heldai, Tobijah, and Jedaiah, who have come from Babylon—and go the same day and enter the house of Josiah the son of Zephaniah. 11 Take the silver and gold, make [i]an[2] elaborate crown, and set it on the head of [j]Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest. 12 Then speak to him, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, saying:

5:11 Shinar. The destination of the women bearing the basket was Shinar, an older word designating Babylon (cf. Gen. 10:10). The older word is used possibly to recall the Tower of Babel as a symbol of opposition against God (cf. Gen. 11:2). There it will be placed in a "house," possibly referring to a temple, in which it would be set on a base or pedestal as an idol. Again the vision is unmistakably looking forward to the final Babylon of Rev. 17,18 at the second coming of Christ (cf. Mal. 4:1-3).

6:1-8 The eighth and final vision completes the cycle and connects with the first vision. It pictures 4 chariots with the horses introduced in the first vision (1:8), symbolizing God's angelic agents (cf. v. 5) swiftly carrying out His judgment on the nations just prior to the establishment of the messianic kingdom.

6:1 two mountains...of bronze. Representing the reality of God's judgment on the nations who attack Israel, the two mountains are probably Mt. Zion and the Mt. of Olives, where the Lord will return and judge (cf. Joel 3:2,12,14; Zech. 14:4). This valley, called Jehoshaphat ("Jehovah judges") could refer to the Kidron Valley between these two mountains. Jews, Christians, and even Muslims have long taught that the last judgment will be there. The bronze has a symbolic relationship to judgment as in the case of the bronze serpent (Num. 21:9) and/or the bronze altar (Ex. 27:2), where sin was dealt with by God.

6:2,3 The judgment scene is further dramatized by these chariots and horses. For the significance of the horses' colors, see note on 1:8. The addition of "black" horses may represent famine and death. The "sorrel" horse has been replaced with "dappled" (i.e., spotted) horses. A similar picture is found in Rev. 6:1-8, where the horsemen of the apocalypse appear in judgment imagery, riding forth in vengeance on the nations.

6:5 four spirits of heaven. *This imagery represents divine angel*ic agents sent out to execute judgment on behalf of the "LORD of all the earth," a millennial title designating the universal rule of the Messiah in the kingdom age (cf. 4:14; Mic. 4:13).

6:6,7 going...throughout the earth. These angelic judgment carriers unleash catastrophic judgment on the earth (cf. Rev. 6:1–19:16 for similarities). Nothing is said about going E and W because of the sea and the desert. Israel's enemies came from the N (Assyria, Babylon, Seleucids, and Romans) and the S (Egyptians). This N, S exit leads to a worldwide unleashing of judgment on the nations all over the earth (cf. Matt. 25:31-46).

6:8 rest to My Spirit. As a result of God's judgment of His enemies, His wrath can rest. God has been avenged by this action, particularly in regard to the power from the N being judged finally. This likely refers to the final Babylon (cf. Rev. 17,18). Until this judgment is done and God's wrath rests, the kingdom can't be established (Rev. 19,20) with the Messiah on His throne.

6:9-15 Joshua served as an illustration of the Messiah in this passage in that Zechariah's crowning of Joshua, the High-Priest, was a miniature, advance illustration of the future coronation of Messiah, the Branch, who will unite the two offices of priest and king (v. 13). This appendix supplements visions 4 and 5 (3:1-10; 4:1-14) and culminates the series of 8 visions with the climax of history—the coronation of the Lord Jesus Christ.

6:10 gift from the captives. Jewish exiles who remained in Babylon, but who had come bearing gifts for the building of the temple are identified. Zechariah was told to meet them that same day and receive their gifts.

6:11 an elaborate crown. Zechariah was to make not a High-Priest's crown or turban, but an ornate crown, one constructed of many circlets, a majestic crown (like the one on the returning Messiah in Rev. 19:12). This crown was to be set on the head of the High-Priest, Joshua. In the OT, the kingly and priestly offices were kept rigidly distinct. The office of king belonged only to the house of David, while the office of priest was only for the house of Levi. Uzziah's mingling of the two brought about his death (cf. 2 Chr. 26:16-23). But here this act is ordered by God to depict the coming King/Priest Messiah.

6:12 the BRANCH. Though the crown was placed on the head of Joshua, the High-Priest (v. 11), the act was a symbol of that future crowning of Messiah, the BRANCH (cf. 3:8). In Messiah, the offices of king and priest will be united.

From His place He shall [3]branch out,
[m] And He shall build the temple of the LORD;
13 Yes, He shall build the temple of the LORD.
He [n]shall bear the glory,
And shall sit and rule on His throne;
So [o]He shall be a priest on His throne,
And the counsel of peace shall be between [4]them both." '

14 "Now the [5]elaborate crown shall be [p]for a memorial in the temple of the LORD [6]for Helem, Tobijah, Jedaiah, and Hen the son of Zephaniah. 15 Even [q]those from afar shall come and build the temple of the LORD. Then you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me to you. And this shall come to pass if you diligently obey the voice of the LORD your God."

Obedience Better than Fasting

7 Now in the fourth year of King Darius it came to pass that the word of the LORD came to Zechariah, on the fourth day of the ninth month, Chislev, 2 when [1]the people sent [2]Sherezer, with Regem-Melech and his men, to [3]the house of God, [4]to pray before the LORD, 3 and to [q]ask the priests who were in the house of the LORD of hosts, and the prophets, saying, "Should I weep in [p]the fifth month and [5]fast as I have done for so many years?"

4 Then the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying, 5 "Say to all the people of the land, and to the priests: 'When you [r]fasted and mourned in the fifth [s]and seventh months [t]during those seventy years, did you really fast [u]for Me—for Me? 6 [q]When you eat and when you drink, do you not eat and drink for yourselves? 7 Should you not have obeyed the words which the LORD proclaimed through the [h]former prophets when Jerusalem and the cities around it were inhabited and prosperous, and [i]the [6]South and the Lowland were inhabited?' "

6:12-15 In this brief section, 8 facts are given about Messiah, the BRANCH: 1) He will come from Israel ("His place," v. 12); 2) He will build the millennial temple (vv. 12b,13a); 3) He will be glorious (v. 13); 4) He will be king and priest (v. 13); 5) He makes peace (v. 13); 6) He opens the kingdom to Gentiles (v. 15a); 7) He will corroborate God's Word (v. 15b); and 8) He demands obedience (v. 15c). This, as always, is the essential matter. After Israel believes, the Messiah will come to set up His kingdom (cf. 12:10–13:1; 14:9-21). Faith and cleansing must come first.

6:12,13 He shall build the temple. The building of the restoration temple was promised to Zerubbabel (cf. 4:9,10). The building of this temple, promised to Messiah, points to the construction of the millennial temple (cf. Is. 2:2-4; Ezek. 40–43; Hag. 2:6-9).

6:14 The crown was not to be kept by Joshua, but was to serve as both a memorial to the devotion of the men who came from Babylon and, more importantly, as a reminder of the coming of Messiah and the ultimate hope of Israel. Helem...Hen. Helem is apparently another name of Heldai, and Hen another name for Josiah the son of Zephaniah (see v. 10).

7:1–8:23 As a result of the night visions which described the future of Israel, including the subjugation of her enemies, the final regathering to the Land, her cleansing, restoration, and the coming of Messiah and His kingdom, the Jews were greatly encouraged and comforted. The temple was more than half done, all obstacles to the construction were removed by the decree of Darius confirming the decree of Cyrus (cf. Ezra 6:1-14), and all was going very well. This gave rise to a question by the delegation from Bethel. The question involved the continuation of a national fast to mourn the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of the temple. Though Jerusalem had no walls yet and there were many ruins (cf. Hag. 1:4), now that the temple was being finished, they were sent to inquire of the Lord and the priests whether they needed to continue the fast. The question is answered negatively in chap. 7 with two messages and positively in chap. 8 with two messages. Each of the 4 messages was given to impress upon the people the need to live righteously. As with chaps. 1–6, the prophet began historically and then moved prophetically to the time of the Second Advent of Christ.

7:1 the fourth year of King Darius. Nov./Dec. 518 B.C., two years after Zechariah's first message (cf. 1:1) and the night visions (cf. 1:7), and two years before the temple was completed.

7:2 to the house of God. While "house of the LORD" is used of the temple about 250 times in the OT, nowhere else in the OT does the Heb. word Bethel (which means "house of God") refer to the temple. The word is best viewed as a reference to a city and not the temple. These men came "from" rather than "to" Bethel, a town 12 mi. N of Jerusalem. Since the return from Babylon, the Jews had rebuilt and reinhabited Bethel (cf. Ezra 2:28; Neh. 7:32).

7:3 weep in the fifth month and fast. The Day of Atonement was the only annual fast required by God's law (Lev. 23:27), and other occasional fasts were called for by God (cf. Joel 1:12,14). The fall of Jerusalem was remembered by 4 fasts (cf. 2 Kin. 25; Jer. 39:1-4; 41; 52:13), in the fourth, fifth, seventh and tenth months (see note on 8:19). Because the temple was burned in the fifth month (July–Aug.), that fast was considered the most serious and thus the delegation uses it as the test case (cf. 2 Kin. 25:8; Jer. 52:12). They had kept this wailing and fasting for "many years," but it seemed only a wearisome ritual in light of the present prosperity.

7:5 seventh months. This fast mourned the death of Gedaliah, the governor appointed by Nebuchadnezzar (2 Kin. 25:22-26; Jer. 41) after the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C.

7:5,6 did you really fast for Me. Zechariah pointed out that they were not fasting out of genuine sorrow and repentance, but out of self-pity (cf. Is. 1:10-15; 58:3-9).

7:7 obeyed the words. The important matter is not ritual, but obedience. It is obedience to God's Word that brought in the past great joy, peace, and prosperity to Israel, and that covered the Land during the time of David and Solomon. If the present generation in Zechariah's time substitutes ritual for obedience, they too will lose the joy, peace, and prosperity they were enjoying. South...Lowland. A reference to the area S of Beersheba and the Mediterranean coastal plain, encompassing the land from S to W.

Disobedience Resulted in Captivity

8 Then the word of the LORD came to Zechariah, saying, 9 "Thus says the LORD
of hosts:

[j]'Execute true justice,
Show [7]mercy and compassion
Everyone to his brother.
10 [k]Do not oppress the widow or the fatherless,
The alien or the poor.
[l]Let none of you plan evil in his heart
Against his brother.'

11 But they refused to heed, [m]shrugged[8] their shoulders, and [n]stopped[9] their ears so that they could not hear. 12 Yes, they made their [o]hearts like flint, [p]refusing to hear the law and the words which the LORD of hosts had sent by His Spirit through the former prophets. [q]Thus great wrath came from the LORD of hosts.
13 Therefore it happened, that just as He proclaimed and they would not hear, so [r]they called out and I would not listen," says the LORD of hosts. 14 "But [s]I scattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations which they had not known. Thus the land became desolate after them, so that no one passed through or returned; for they made the pleasant land desolate."

Jerusalem, Holy City of the Future

8 Again the word of the LORD of hosts came, saying, 2 "Thus says the LORD of
hosts:

[a]'I am [1]zealous for Zion with great
[2]zeal;
With great [3]fervor I am zealous for
her.'

3 "Thus says the LORD:

[b]'I will return to Zion,
And [c]dwell in the midst of
Jerusalem.
Jerusalem [d]shall be called the City of Truth,
[e]The Mountain of the LORD of hosts,
[f]The Holy Mountain.'

4 "Thus says the LORD of hosts:

[g]'Old men and old women shall again sit
In the streets of Jerusalem,
Each one with his staff in his hand
Because of [4]great age.
5 The streets of the city
Shall be [h]full of boys and girls
Playing in its streets.'

6 "Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'If it is [5]marvelous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these days,
[i]Will it also be marvelous in My eyes?'
Says the LORD hosts.

7 "Thus says the LORD of hosts:

6 [i] [Gen. 18:14; Luke 1:37] [5] Or wonderful

7:8-14 This is the second of the 4 messages in answer to the question (v. 3). Harkening back to his opening call (1:4) and to the warnings of earlier prophets (cf. Is. 1:11-17; 58:1-7; Amos 5:10-15), the prophet alerts the delegation to produce the fruits of righteousness that demonstrate obedience to God's Word (vv. 9,10) and to revisit the actions of their fathers who deliberately rejected God's Word (vv. 11,12a) which activated the fury of God against them (v. 12b). Cf. Deut. 28:15-68; 2 Chr. 36:14-16.

7:12 by His Spirit. The Holy Spirit served a vital function in the revelation and inspiration of God's Word through human authors (cf. 1 Cor. 2:10; 2 Pet. 1:21).

7:13 I would not listen. This reflects a severe form of God's wrath by which He abandons disobedient sinners. See notes on 11:9; cf. Judg. 10:13,14; 16:18-21; Prov. 1:24-31; Hos. 4:17; Matt. 15:14; Rom. 1:18-32.

7:14 I scattered them. This refers to the captivity and dispersion of the people and the desolation of the land in their absence (cf. Deut. 30:3-10).

8:1-23 Continuing his response to the delegation from Bethel, Zechariah contrasted Israel's past judgment with the promised future restoration. In light of past captivity, the nation was to repent and live righteously; in light of promised future blessings, Israel is to repent and live righteously. The last two messages (vv. 1-17 and 18-23) look positively to the future, when Israel will be brought to a place of special blessing and fasts will become feasts.

8:2 zealous. See note on 1:14. This very strong language expresses the idea that God can't bear the estrangement from His chosen people brought about by their sin, nor can he always tolerate the enemies of Israel. His love for Israel is so great that he will come in full presence to Israel again and dwell with His people. Ezekiel had the vision of God leaving Jerusalem (Ezek. 8–11) and of His presence returning (43:1-5). Zion. The mountain on which ancient Jerusalem was built, which became a name for the city.

8:3 City of Truth. A city which is characterized by truth, both in word and in deed (vv. 8,16) because it is ruled over by Messiah who is characterized by truth (John 14:6). The Holy Mountain. Zion is holy because the King who lives there is holy (Is. 6:3).

8:4,5 The most defenseless of society will live in tranquility, peace, and security (cf. Is. 65:20-22).

8:6 Men tend to limit God (cf. Ps. 78:19,20,41), but nothing is too hard for the Lord (cf. Gen. 18:14; Jer. 32:17,27). "Just because they seem too difficult for you," the Lord asks, in effect, "must they be too hard for Me?"

8:7,8 east...west. The context assures that this return speaks of a worldwide regathering at the Second Advent of Christ. The return from Babylon cannot be in view also, since Israel had not been scattered to the W until the diaspora engineered by the Romans in the first century A.D.

'Behold, [j]I will save My people from the land of the [6]east
And from the land of the [7]west;
8 I will [k]bring them back,
And they shall dwell in the midst of Jerusalem.
[l]They shall be My people
And I will be their God,
[m]In truth and righteousness.'

9 "Thus says the LORD of hosts:

[n]'Let your hands be strong,
You who have been hearing in
these days
These words by the mouth of [o]the
prophets,
Who spoke in [p]the day the foundation was laid
For the house of the LORD of
hosts,
That the temple might be built.
10 For before these days
There were no [q]wages for man nor any hire for beast;
There was no peace from the enemy for whoever went out or came in;
For I set all men, everyone, against his neighbor.

11 [r]But now I will not treat the remnant of this people as in the former days,' says the LORD of hosts.

people

13 And it shall come to pass
That just as you were [v]a curse

Israel,
So I will save you, and [w]you shall

Says the LORD of hosts,
[y]'And I would not relent,

- THE LORD IS THERE [YHWH Shammah] (Ezek. 48:35)
- City of truth (Zech. 8:3)
- The Holy Mountain (Zech. 8:3)

8:8 See note on Zech. 1:3. This refers to Israel's national conversion, spoken of in 12:10–13:1, and by Jeremiah (32:38-41) and Paul (Rom. 11:25-27).

8:9-17 The practical results of vv. 1-8 were laid out for the people. In view of such a glorious future, the people were exhorted to renew their energy toward the building of the temple and toward righteous living.

8:9 the prophets. This refers to Haggai and Zechariah for sure; possibly there were non-writing prophets also.

8:10,11 Zechariah recalled the immediate years prior to 520 B.C., described in Hag. 1:6-11, when their hassles and intrigues with the Samaritans and their love of ease and comfort developed indifference toward building the temple, resulting in divine punishment. But, since they had begun again to build the temple, God would not treat the people as He had those described in v. 10.

8:12,13 The richness and comprehensiveness of these promises of prosperity look beyond the historical moment to the time when Messiah reigns in His millennial kingdom. This will be a reversal of Deut. 28:15-68 and Jer. 24:9; 25:18; 29:22.

8:14,15 The sorrows of past judgment became the pledges of future blessings (cf. Jer. 32:42).

8:16,17 As always, the promised blessings are connected with obedience to His righteous standards. Such obedience can only be brought about by the power of the Spirit in the life of one who has been transformed by God's grace through faith. These standards are reminisient of Pss. 15:1-5; 24:4; Prov. 6:20-22.

Give judgment in your gates for truth, justice, and peace;
17 [b]Let none of you think evil in [1]your heart against your neighbor;
And do not love a false oath.
For all these are things that I hate,'
Says the LORD."

18 Then the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying, 19 "Thus says the LORD
of hosts:

[c]'The fast of the fourth month,
[d]The fast of the fifth,
[e]The fast of the seventh,
[f]And the fast of the tenth,
Shall be [g]joy and gladness and cheerful feasts
For the house of Judah.
[h]Therefore love truth and peace.'

20 "Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'Peoples shall yet come,
Inhabitants of many cities;
21 The inhabitants of one city shall go to another, saying,
[i]"Let us continue to go and pray
before the LORD,
And seek the LORD of hosts.
I myself will go also."
22 Yes, [j]many peoples and strong nations
Shall come to seek the LORD of hosts in Jerusalem,
And to pray before the LORD.'

23 "Thus says the LORD of hosts: 'In those days ten men [k]from every language of the nations shall [l]grasp the [2]sleeve of a Jewish man, saying, "Let us go with you, for we have heard [m]that God is with you."' "

Israel Defended Against Enemies

CHAPTER 9

9 The [1]burden of the word of the LORD
Against the land of Hadrach,
And [a]Damascus its resting place
(For [b]the eyes of men
And all the tribes of Israel
Are on the LORD);
2 Also against [c]Hamath, which borders on it,
And against [d]Tyre and [e]Sidon,
though they are very [f]wise.

3 For Tyre built herself a tower,
Heaped up silver like the dust,

1 [a] Is. 17:1; Jer. 23:33 [b] Amos 1:3-5 [1] oracle, prophecy
2 [c] Jer. 49:23 [d] Is. 23; Jer. 25:22; 47:4; Ezek. 26; Amos 1:9, 10 [e] 1 Kin. 17:9 [f] Ezek. 28:3

8:18,19 The fourth and final response to the delegation from Bethel notes how national days of fasting and mourning will be transformed into joyous feasts. This was really the answer to the original question in 7:3. Turn the fasts into feasts of joy in light of the promised blessings of God.

8:19 In addition to the fasts of the fifth and seventh months (see notes on 7:3,5), two additional fasts were held. In the fourth month they commemorated the breaching of the wall of Jerusalem (2 Kin. 25:3; Jer. 39:2-4) and in the tenth month they remembered the beginning of the final siege of Jerusalem which began in 588 B.C. (2 Kin. 25:1; Jer. 39:1).

8:20-22 Israel restored in millennial glory will be the means of blessing to all the world (cf. Is. 2:2-4; Mic. 4:1-5). Gentiles from around the world will make a pilgrimage to Jerusalem to entreat the Lord. This signifies salvation of people from all over the world during the kingdom, fulfilling Ps. 122.

8:23 In those days. In the days in which the messianic kingdom on earth is inaugurated (see note on Joel 3:18), the Jews will truly be God's messengers as originally intended, and will bring multitudes to Christ. The 10 to 1 ratio represents a vast number of Gentiles who will come (cf. Gen. 31:7; Lev. 26:26; Num. 14:22; 1 Sam. 1:8; Neh. 4:12). The Messiah, in the midst of millennial Israel, will be the attraction of the world. People, seeing the Jews so blessed in their kingdom will demand to go and meet the Savior King.

9:1–14:21 Employing the phrase "in that day" 18 times, Zechariah places primary focus in his final two undated oracles on: 1) the downfall of the nation; 2) the salvation of Israel; and 3) the establishment of the Messiah as King. The first oracle (9:1–11:17) deals with the first and third features and ends with prophecies of the rejection of Christ at His first coming; the second oracle (12:1–14:21) deals with the second and third culminating with the kingdom of Messiah Christ.

9:1-8 This oracle features a series of judgments announced against the nations surrounding Israel (vv. 1-7), with deliverance promised for His people (v. 8). Most understand this to be a prophecy of the famous Greek conqueror, Alexander the Great's victories, given approximately 200 years before he marched through Palestine. He provides an analogy of Christ returning to judge the nations and save Israel at the end of the Great Tribulation (cf. Matt. 24:21).

9:1 burden. A heavy, burdensome message (i.e., oracle), the prediction of a threatening event, in this case the judgment of the nations. Hadrach. The location is uncertain. Possibly it is ancient Hatarika, a city mentioned in the annals of Assyrian Kings, in the vicinity of Hamath. The old Jewish tradition made it a compound name, Had meaning sharp and rach meaning soft. The sharp/soft land could be a reference to the dual Medo-Persian kingdom. Media was thought to be the sharp side because of its powerful conquerors like Cyrus, and Persia the soft side because of its debauchery. The cities in vv. 1,2 were major cities under Medo-Persian power. Damascus. This city was to be the main target of the judgment of God through Alexander upon the capital of Syria, one of Israel's worst enemies from ca. 900–722 B.C. the eyes of men...are on the LORD. God's judgment through Alexander the Great would be visible to all mankind, especially Israel.

9:2 Hamath. A major city, 125 mi. N of Damascus on the Orontes River. Alexander conquered these cities of the Syrian interior under Medo-Persian control, then turned to the coast moving S, conquering the cities of the Phoenicians and Philistines on the way to Egypt. Tyre and Sidon...are very wise. Phoenician cities on the Mediterranean coast, were known for their skill and wisdom (cf. Ezek. 28:12-15) and Satanic influence (Ezek. 28:11-19).

9:3,4 Tyre. This city was occupying an island one-half mile offshore, and thought itself to be invincible (cf. Is. 23:1-4). With walls 150 ft. high in some places, it was such an impregnable city that the Assyrian Shalmaneser besieged it for 5 years and failed to conquer it. Nebuchadnezzar tried for 13 years unsuccessfully. But Alexander, God's judgment instrument, using the rubble of the mainland city destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar, built a causeway out to the island and destroyed it in 7 months (ca. 334–332 B.C.).

And gold like the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, [g] the LORD will cast her out;
He will destroy [h] her power in the sea,
And she will be devoured by fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it and fear;
Gaza also shall be very sorrowful;
And [i] Ekron, for He dried up her expectation.
The king shall perish from Gaza,
And Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 "A [2] mixed race shall settle [j] in Ashdod,
And I will cut off the pride of the [k] Philistines.

7 I will take away the blood from his mouth,
And the abominations from between his teeth.
But he who remains, even he shall be for our God,
And shall be like a leader in Judah,
And Ekron like a Jebusite.

8 [l] I will camp around My house
Because of the army,
Because of him who passes by and him who returns.
No more shall an oppressor pass through them,
For now I have seen with My eyes.

The Coming King

9 "Rejoice [m] greatly, O daughter of Zion!
Shout, O daughter of Jerusalem!
Behold, [n] your King is coming to you;
He is just and having salvation,
Lowly and riding on a donkey,
A colt, the foal of a donkey.

10 I [o] will cut off the chariot from Ephraim
And the horse from Jerusalem;
The [p] battle bow shall be cut off.
He shall speak peace to the nations;
His dominion shall be [q] 'from sea to sea,
And from the River to the ends of the earth.'

God Will Save His People

11 "As for you also,
Because of the blood of your covenant,
I will set your [r] prisoners free from the waterless pit.

12 Return to the stronghold,
[s] You prisoners of hope.
Even today I declare
That I will restore [t] double to you.

13 For I have bent Judah, My bow,
Fitted the bow with Ephraim,
And raised up your sons, O Zion,
Against your sons, O Greece,

9 [m] Zeph. 3:14, 15; Zech. 2:10 [n] [Ps. 110:1; Is. 9:6, 7; Jer. 23:5, 6]; Matt. 21:5; Mark 11:7, 9; Luke 19:38; John 12:15

12 [s] Is. 49:9; Jer. 17:13; Heb. 6:18-20 [t] Is. 61:7

9:5,6 The cities of Philistia were terrified at the swiftness with which Alexander the Great's army was able to conquer Tyre. Then, Alexander marched S, conquering all these Philistine cities and killing their national pride.

9:7 This judgment put an end to idolatry for many Philistines who turned to the God of Israel. In the imagery of this verse, the nation is seen as a man with blood in his mouth (from eating sacrifices to idols) and abominations (the other defiled food of idol worship) which are removed. The picture is of conversion to worship the true God. like a Jebusite. These ancient inhabitants of Jerusalem were conquered by David (cf. 2 Sam. 5:6-11) and amalgamated into Israel. So it will be with these Philistines.

9:8 This is the pledge of God's protection of Jerusalem from Alexander. It came true when, on his way S, Alexander treated Jerusalem with kindness. After having subjugated Egypt, he returned through Palestine again without doing Israel harm. No more shall an oppressor pass through. The supernatural and lasting protection here promised must anticipate the Second Advent of Messiah, whose coming is the subject through the rest of this message. The transition from Alexander to Christ can be understood in this way: If God can use a pagan king to judge the nations and save Israel, how much more will He use His righteous Messiah? So v. 8 bridges to the final judgment and deliverance of Messiah.

9:9,10 The two advents of Christ are here compressed as though they were one as in Is. 61:1-3 (cf. Luke 4:16,21). Actually, v. 9 refers to His first coming and v. 10 is His second. OT prophets didn't see the great time period between the two comings. The church age was a "mystery" hidden from them (cf. Eph. 3:1-9; Col. 1:27).

9:9 King...riding on a donkey. Unlike Alexander the Great, this King comes riding on a donkey (cf. Jer. 17:25). This was fulfilled at Christ's triumphal entry (Matt. 21:1-5; John 12:12-16). The Jews should have been looking for someone from the line of David (cf. 2 Sam. 7; 1 Chr. 17). Four elements in this verse describe Messiah's character: 1) He is King; 2) He is just; 3) He brings salvation; and 4) He is humble.

9:10-15 Zechariah moves to the Second Advent of Christ and the establishment of His universal kingdom (see notes on 9:9,10; 11:15, 16). Not characterized by bloodshed, Messiah's rule will be a kingdom of peace in which weapons of warfare will be destroyed or converted to peaceful uses (cf. Is. 2:4; 9:5-7; 11:1-10; Mic. 5:2,10-15), and peace spreads from the Euphrates River (the terminus of civilization) to the world.

9:10 Ephraim. This is another name for Israel, used often in the OT for the northern kingdom and occasionally for the whole nation.

9:11 blood of your covenant. Why is Israel to be so blessed? It is not because of her faithfulness through the centuries, but because of God's unfailing devotion to His covenant of blood made with Abraham (Gen. 15:1-10), which is in force as long as God lives. from the waterless pit. Prisoners in ancient times were often kept in dry wells or pits, like Joseph was (Gen. 37:24,28). The exiles of Israel, pictured as being in a dry well of captivity, suffering, and despair, will be freed because of His unbreakable covenant with them. They are thus called "prisoners of hope" (v. 12) who are to receive "double" blessing (cf. Is. 61:7).

9:13-15 Reminiscent of the Exodus (Ex. 19:16-19; Hab. 3:3-15), the Lord will protect and empower them (cf. Is. 11:11-16; Zech. 12:6,8).

And made you like the sword of a mighty man."

14 Then the LORD will be seen over
them,
And [u]His arrow will go forth like lightning.
The Lord GOD will blow the trumpet,
And go [v]with whirlwinds from the south.
15 The LORD of hosts will [w]defend
them;
They shall devour and subdue
with slingstones.
They shall drink and roar as if with
wine;
They shall be filled with blood like
[3]basins,
Like the corners of the altar.
16 The LORD their God will [x]save them in that day,
As the flock of His people.
For [y]they shall be like the [4]jewels of a crown,
[z]Lifted like a banner over His land—
17 For [a]how great is [5]its goodness
And how great [5]its [b]beauty!
[c]Grain shall make the young men thrive,
And new wine the young women.

[p]I will bring them back,

The initial historical fulfillment of this prophecy came when the Maccabees defeated the Greeks ca. 167 B.C.; the final, complete fulfillment will occur at His Second Advent. The Maccabean triumph is only a pledge and a preview of final triumph over all enemies.

9:15 subdue with slingstones. This may mean the Jews will easily subdue their enemies as David did Goliath (Judg. 20:16). Or better, it should be rendered "trample or sling stones," meaning that they will contemptuously tread on the harmless missiles cast at them by their enemies. This could depict the futility of Armageddon when the armies of the God-hating world gathers in Israel and is destroyed by the Messiah (cf. Rev. 16:12-16; 19:11-16). The bloodshed of the godless will be visible in that day, from one end of the land of Palestine to the other, like blood splattered on the corners of the altar of sacrifice from basins which caught it when the animal was slain (cf. Rev. 14:20). drink and roar. This describes Israel's excitement and exuberance over their victory.

9:16,17 Abundant prosperity, such as the world has never seen, results in excessive rejoicing and praise results from God "saving" His people, Israel (cf. Deut. 33:28; Ps. 4:7,8).

10:1 Ask the LORD for rain. In light of the promised blessings of 9:17, the prophet encourages the people to request these blessings from the Lord, with confidence. There will be literal rain and latter rain (Apr./May) in the kingdom (cf. Is. 35:1-7) making the land flourish, but the promise here extends to refer to spiritual blessings (cf Hos. 6:1-3). The "latter rain" of spiritual grace and goodness from God will bring refreshment to people's souls (cf. Is. 44:3).

10:2 idols...diviners. In contrast to God who provides abundance, idols or household gods (cf. Gen. 31:19,34) and demonic fortunetellers left Israel as sheep without a shepherd (cf. Ezek. 34:6-10). God will judge them all for that false leadership (v. 3). The implications of these words is that a similar deception will occur in the end times. The NT confirms this (cf. Matt. 24:5,11,22-28; 2 Thess. 1:8-12).

10:3 royal horse. Though like sheep, Israel will become like an invincible royal war-horse when strengthened by the Lord to conquer His foes (12:8).

10:4 cornerstone. A frequently used messianic title (cf. Is. 28:16; Eph. 2:20; 1 Pet. 2:6-8). Christ is the foundation on which His kingdom rests. tent peg. This may refer to a peg attached to the tent's center pole on which utensils and valuables were hung. Messiah is the peg in the midst of His kingdom, for all the glory of the kingdom will hang on Him (cf. 6:13; Is. 22:23-24). battle bow...ruler. Another reference to the Messiah (cf. 9:13; Rev. 19:11-16), under whose authority every ruler will be sanctioned.

10:5 the LORD is with them. The prophet pictured foot soldiers overpowering the cavalry (cf. 12:1-9) in battle. This analogy was to illustrate the power of God's people when He is "with them."

10:6 house of Judah...Joseph. Both the southern and northern kingdoms of Israel will be restored to a position of blessing, as the

Because I [a]have mercy on them.
They shall be as though I had not cast them aside;
For I am the LORD their God,
And I [r]will hear them.
7 Those of Ephraim shall be like a mighty man,
And their [s]heart shall rejoice as if with wine.
Yes, their children shall see it and be glad;
Their heart shall rejoice in the LORD.
8 I will [t]whistle for them and gather them,
For I will redeem them;
[u]And they shall increase as they once increased.

9 "I[v] will [7]sow them among the peoples,
And they shall [w]remember Me in far countries;
They shall live, together with their children,
And they shall return.
10 [x]I will also bring them back from the land of Egypt,
And gather them from Assyria.
I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon,
[y]Until no more room is found for them.
11 [z]He shall pass through the sea with affliction,
And strike the waves of the sea:
All the depths of [8]the River shall dry up.
Then [a]the pride of Assyria shall be brought down,
And [b]the scepter of Egypt shall depart.

12 "So I will strengthen them in the LORD,
And [c]they shall walk up and down in His name,"
Says the LORD.

whole nation is restored in millennial blessing (cf. Jer. 32:37). I am the LORD their God. The reason for Israel's restoration was because of God, the covenant keeper, who gave a strong reiteration of His continuing, unconditional commitment to them. The curses of Deut. 28:15-68 expressed in the Assyrian and Babylonian deportations did not abrogate God's promised blessings to Israel nor transfer them to another people. Even after they had crucified the Messiah, Peter told them they were still able to receive the promise (cf. Acts 2:39) because the Abrahamic Covenant was still in place and they were the people of God's promise (Acts 3:25).

10:7 The joy of the restored nation of Israel at the beginning of the Millennium is likened to those who have been drinking wine (cf. Is. 66:10-14; Zeph. 3:14-20).

10:8 I will whistle for them. The prophecy summarized what had been said, namely the Messiah's call for Israel to be redeemed and for them to regather in His land (cf. Is. 5:26). As in Egypt (cf. Ex. 1:8-22), those of Israel who are protected by God because of their faith in Messiah will survive the Tribulation and enter the Millennium to multiply greatly (cf. 2:4; Is. 54:1-3).

10:9,10 Another summary is given stating that as God had previously scattered them all over the world (A.D. 70), He would bring them back to populate His messianic kingdom (cf. Is. 11:11,12; 49:20-22).

10:11 Similar to Israel crossing the Red Sea, God will remove both geographical and political obstacles to Israel's return for the Kingdom of Messiah. Assyria and Egypt, traditional enemies of Israel, symbolize any nation that would try to withhold God from fulfilling His will (cf. Is. 11:11,12).

10:12 walk...in His name. The people of Israel will be the messengers of their Messiah in the millennial kingdom. This is the complete spiritual restoration spoken of by Ezekiel (cf. Ezek. 36:21-38; 37:1-14,22-28).

11:1-17 In stark contrast to chaps. 9,10, in which Messiah is pictured as a wonderful Shepherd, this passage presents an ugly picture of the rejection of the Messiah, the true Shepherd. The prophet turns from the glories of the accepted Messiah at His second coming to the national apostasy and rejection of Messiah at His first coming.

11:1-3 As a fire sweeping down to ravage the whole land of Israel, Zechariah described a fire of judgment that would consume the ungodly as a conflagration consumes trees. The devastation is not limited to spiritual judgment only, but includes the death of people as the land of Israel is judged. The language is the book's most poetic. "Lebanon," "Bashan," and "Jordan" represent the whole land as judgment sweeps from top to bottom covering the entire nation from the north, inland, and down the Jordan Valley to the southern border.

11:2 Wail, O cypress. If the mighty cedars have fallen, surely the more vulnerable smaller trees will be unable to stand. oaks of Bashan. The poem moves from Lebanon, on the northern border of Israel, to Bashan, E of the Sea of Galilee, known for its oaks and lush pastures (cf. Amos 4:1; Mic. 7:14).

11:3 wailing shepherds. The shepherds lament the loss of their pastures, and the young lions their homes and food. Both are poetic figures of the misery that will occur in the land under the ravaging judgment. As the chapter unfolds, it becomes clear that this most likely prophesies the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. and the subsequent devastation of the whole land, which resulted in the dissolution of the Jewish state.

Prophecy of the Shepherds

4 Thus says the LORD my God, "Feed the flock for slaughter, 5 whose owners slaughter them and [e]feel no guilt; those who sell them [f]say, 'Blessed be the LORD, for I am rich'; and their shepherds do [g]not pity them. 6 For I will no longer pity the inhabitants of the land," says the LORD. "But indeed I will give everyone into his neighbor's hand and into the hand of his king. They shall [2]attack the land, and I will not deliver them from their hand."

7 So I fed the flock for slaughter, [3]in particular [h]the poor of the flock. I took for myself two staffs: the one I called [4]Beauty, and the other I called [5]Bonds; and I fed the flock. 8 I [6]dismissed the three shepherds [i]in one month. My soul loathed them, and their soul also abhorred me. 9 Then I said, "I will not feed you. [j]Let what is dying die, and what is perishing perish. Let those that are left eat each other's flesh." 10 And I took my staff, [7]Beauty, and cut it in two, that I might break the covenant which I had made with all the peoples. 11 So it was broken on that day. Thus [k]the [8]poor of the flock, who were watching me, knew that it was the word of the LORD. 12 Then I said to them, "If it is [9]agreeable to you, give me my wages; and if not, refrain." So they [l]weighed out for my wages thirty pieces of silver.

13 And the LORD said to me, "Throw it to the [m]potter"—that princely price they set on me. So I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw them into the house of the LORD for the potter. 14 Then I cut in two my other staff, [1]Bonds, that I might break the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

15 And the LORD said to me, [n]"Next, take for yourself the implements of a foolish shepherd. 16 For indeed I will raise up a shepherd in the land who will not care for those who are cut off, nor seek the young,

11:4-14 The cause for the calamity of vv. 1-3 is here given: the rejection of the true Shepherd. God used the prophet Zechariah as an actor playing the part of a shepherd to illustrate the true Shepherd, Jesus Christ, and the rejection He encountered. Instructions given in vv. 4-6 are enacted in vv. 7-14.

11:4-6 The Lord God said that His people were to be treated like sheep fattened for the slaughter, whose shepherds have no pity, but are only interested in money for the meat. Thus God will serve up His sheep for slaughter without pity. With God's pity (cf. Hos. 1:6) and protection withdrawn, they will be given over to their Roman "neighbors" and to their "King" Caesar (cf. John 19:14,15), who will ultimately lead them to their destruction in A.D. 70 by the Roman army (cf. John 11:47-50). Over one million Jews were slaughtered in that assault, and almost half a million in subsequent Roman attacks in Palestine.

11:7-14 Here is the record of Zechariah playing a dramatic role to act out the rejection of Christ that will lead to the judgment of Israel outlined in vv. 1-3.

11:7 I fed the flock. The prophet did feed the truth of God to his people as a picture of what Messiah would do when He came. the poor of the flock. Only the poor responded when Jesus came to feed the flock (cf. Matt. 11:5; 1 Cor. 1:26). They were the lowly who would not follow the pride of the priest, scribes, and Pharisees, but believed on Jesus. Beauty...Bonds. The prophet's symbolic act called for him to take "two staffs." Eastern shepherds often carried two sticks, a rod to ward off wild beasts and a staff to guide and retrieve wayward sheep (cf. Ps. 23:4). The staff speaks of Christ the Good Shepherd who expressed the love and grace of God by tenderly leading and protecting His people (Mark 6:34), while the rod speaks of His unifying ministry, binding together the scattered house of Israel into one fold (cf. v. 14; Matt. 15:24).

11:8 dismissed the three shepherds. Though difficult to identify, one of the oldest interpretation is that this refers to the priests, elders, and scribes of Israel (see Introduction: Interpretive Challenges). Jesus bestowed grace and unity upon the populace, but confronted the hypocrisy of these religious leaders, and because they rejected Him all 3 offices were obliterated in a short time. God ended the traditional offices of the mediators and in its place brought a new priesthood of believers (cf. 1 Pet. 2:5,9; Rev. 1:6; 5:10; 20:6). My soul loathed them. Lit. it means "My soul was short with them," referring to the limits of God's patience toward the unrepentant.

11:9 eat each other's flesh. See note on 7:13. In this drama, Zechariah played the unnatural role of a shepherd who abandons his sheep and stops teaching and protecting them. Those who refused to believe were to be given over to pursue their own desires and left exposed to deadly enemies. In the Roman siege of A.D. 70, some of the starving inhabitants did resort to cannibalism (cf. Jer. 19:9).

11:10 break the covenant. Apparently this refers to God's promise to restrain the nations from decimating Israel. God set aside His kind and gracious protection and His providential care for His people, allowing Rome to invade and destroy Israel (cf. Luke 19:41-44; 21:24).

11:11 The believing remnant of Christ's day knew God's Word was being fulfilled. They knew judgment was coming, but avoided the long term consequences by faith in Christ.

11:12 thirty pieces of silver. Zechariah carried on the drama by symbolically picturing Jesus asking those He came to shepherd what they felt He was worth to them. In a mocking response, the leaders offered 30 silver pieces which was the amount of compensation paid for a slave gored by an ox (cf. Ex. 21:32). This is exactly what Judas Iscariot was paid to betray the Great Shepherd (Matt. 26:14-16). The Jews of Jesus' day who offered that amount were saying He was worth no more than a common slave.

11:13 The prophet received further instruction in acting out the drama that pictures the rejection of Ch rist, namely to throw the 30 pieces into the temple. This was fulfilled when Judas Iscariot, laden with guilt, went back and threw the blood money on the temple floor. The priests gathered the money and used it to buy a field from a potter (cf. Matt. 27:3-10). princely price. This ultimate sarcasm from God greeted the ultimate insult from humanity.

11:14 The breaking of the first staff (v. 10) preceded the Jews' rejection of the Shepherd, while the breaking of this rod once symbolizing the nation's unity (v. 7) followed His rejection, being fulfilled in the Roman breakup of the Jewish commonwealth. Josephus recorded that in the Roman conquering, the internal dissension among the people in their conflicting parties set Jew against Jew so that they struck each other as cruelly as the Romans struck them.

11:15,16 With the removal of the true Shepherd, the drama called for the prophet to play a foolish shepherd, who depicted the Antichrist of Daniel's 70th week (cf. 2 Thess. 2:3; John 5:43; Dan. 9:27). Zechariah's prophecy jumped from the first century A.D. to the last days before the second coming, omitting the present mystery of the

And against his right eye;

The Coming Deliverance of Judah

12 The [1]burden of the word of the LORD against Israel. Thus says the LORD, [a]who stretches out the heavens, lays the foundation of the earth, and [b]forms the spirit of man within him: 2 "Behold, I will make Jerusalem [c]a cup of [2]drunkenness to all the surrounding peoples, when they lay siege against Judah and Jerusalem. 3 [d]And it shall happen in that day that I will make Jerusalem [e]a very heavy stone for all peoples; all who would heave it away will surely be cut in pieces, though all nations of the earth are gathered against it. 4 In that day," says the LORD, [f]"I will strike every horse with confusion, and its rider with madness; I will open My eyes on the house of Judah, and will strike every horse of the peoples with blindness. 5 And the governors of Judah shall say in their heart, 'The inhabitants of Jerusalem are my strength in the LORD of hosts, their God.' 6 In that day I will make the governors of Judah [g]like a firepan in the woodpile, and like a fiery torch in the sheaves; they shall devour all the surrounding peoples on the right hand and on the left, but Jerusalem shall be inhabited again in her own place—Jerusalem.

7 "The LORD will save the tents of Judah first, so that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem shall not become greater than that of Judah. 8 In that day the LORD will defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem; the one who is feeble among them in that day shall be like David, and the house of David shall be like God, like the Angel of the LORD before them. 9 It shall be in that day that I will seek to [h]destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

Mourning for the Pierced One church age (see notes on 9:9,10; 9:10-15). This foolish (wicked) shepherd had a broken staff or club which he used to beat stubborn sheep into submission, something clearly inappropriate for a shepherd who thoughtfully and tenderly cared for his sheep. God permitted this wicked shepherd to arise, to destroy the sheep. Because they did not choose the Good Shepherd, Israel will receive a foolish one who will do absolutely the opposite of what is expected of shepherds, he will destroy the sheep (v. 16). This is exactly what Antichrist does (cf. Dan. 9:27; Matt. 24:15-22).

11:17 His arm...right eye. Zechariah condemned the worthless shepherd, noting that his strength ("arm") and his intelligence ("eye") would be taken away from him (cf. Dan. 7:9-14; 24-27; 8:23-25; 2 Thess. 2:8; Rev. 19:20; 20:10).

12:1–14:21 The second and final burden of Zechariah presents the familiar theme of Israel's ultimate deliverance and salvation. In contrast to initial judgment, he now encourages God's covenant people with a description of her restoration and blessing in the millennial kingdom, as true to His character and Zechariah's name, "the LORD remembers."

12:1 burden...against Israel. See note on 9:1. The prophecy described a future siege against the nation, indicating that there would be significant devastation before there was repentance and conversion in Israel (cf. 14:1,2). stretches...lays...forms. The God who performed the work of creation will ultimately do the work of consummation.

12:2 cup of drunkenness. Jerusalem is pictured as a large basin from which the nations will figuratively drink with eagerness, only to find themselves becoming intoxicated, disoriented, and thus easy prey for divine judgment at the end of Daniel's 70th week in the battle of Armageddon when nations gather to attack Jerusalem (cf. Ezek. 38:1-6,14-16; Dan. 11:40-44; Rev. 9:13-16; 14:20; 16:12-16).

12:3 will surely be cut in pieces. Like lifting a heavy weight, Jerusalem will "seriously injure" (lit.) any people that try to gain victory over it. This is due to divine intervention (cf. vv. 4,5).

12:4 Horses, ancient symbols of strength, emphasizes God's superior power over Israel's enemies. Confusion, madness, and blindness are noted as curses on Israel in Deut. 28:28; here they are promised to Israel's enemies.

12:5 Knowing that God had chosen Jerusalem as the city of His special affection will give confidence to the "governors" (leaders) all over the land (cf. Ps 46:5). This verse has overtones indicating the saving faith of the Jews in that day, since they are claiming to have trust in God.

12:6 Two similes describe the operation of God's power: a "firepan" used to carry hot coals to start a wood fire and a "torch" used to light dry grain. Thus will the power of God devour the armies that attack Israel in the latter days.

12:7 Judah first. God will first deliver the defenseless country people before the well-fortified capital, demonstrating that the battle was not won by military might or strategy.

12:8 The Lord will make the feeble like David, the greatest soldier in Israel's history (cf. 1 Sam. 18:7). And the "house of David," like the "Angel of the LORD," are most likely references to the Messiah Himself, who will be the strength of His people.

12:9 See note on 12:2 for important cross references.

12:10 I will pour. God, in His own perfect time and by His own power, will sovereignly act to save Israel. This was prophesied by other prophets (cf. Ezek. 39:29; Joel 2:28-32), and by the Apostle Paul (cf. Rom. 11:25-27). Spirit of grace and supplication. The Holy Spirit is so identified because He brings saving grace and because that grace produces sorrow that will result in repentant prayer to God for forgiveness (cf. Matt. 5:4; Heb. 10:29). look on Me whom they pierced. Israel's repentance will come because they look to Jesus, the One whom they rejected and crucified (cf. Is. 53:5; John 19:37), in faith at the Second Advent (Rom. 11:25-27). When God says they pierced "Me," He is certainly affirming the incarnation of deity—Jesus was God. See note on John 10:30.

they will mourn for Him [k]as one mourns for his only son, and grieve for Him as one grieves for a firstborn. 11 In that day there shall be a great [l]mourning in Jerusalem, [m]like the mourning at Hadad Rimmon in the plain of [3]Megiddo. 12 [n]And the land shall mourn, every family by itself: the family of the house of David by itself, and their wives by themselves; the family of the house of [o]Nathan by itself, and their wives by themselves; 13 the family of the house of Levi by itself, and their wives by themselves; the family of Shimei by itself, and their wives by themselves; 14 all the families that remain, every family by itself, and their wives by themselves.

Idolatry Cut Off

13 "In that [a]day [b]a fountain shall be opened for the house of David and for the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for sin and for [c]uncleanness.

2 "It shall be in that day," says the LORD of hosts, "that I will [d]cut off the names of the idols from the land, and they shall no longer be remembered. I will also cause [e]the prophets and the unclean spirit to depart from the land. 3 It shall come to pass that if anyone still prophesies, then his father and mother who begot him will say to him, 'You shall [f]not live, because you have spoken lies in the name of the LORD.' And his father and mother who begot him [g]shall thrust him through when he prophesies.

4 "And it shall be in that day that [h]every prophet will be ashamed of his vision when he prophesies; they will not wear [i]a robe of coarse hair to deceive. 5 [j]But he will say, 'I am no prophet, I am a farmer; for a man taught me to keep cattle from my youth.' 6 And one will say to him, 'What are these wounds between your [1]arms?' Then he will answer, 'Those with which I was wounded in the house of my friends.'

12:11 Hadad Rimmon...Megiddo. The bitter mourning of that day is likened to the death of righteous king Josiah at Hadad Rimmon in the Megiddo plain (cf. 2 Chr. 35:20-24), located NW of Jerusalem (cf. James 4:8,9).

12:12-14 The royal (David and his son Nathan) and priestly lines (Levi and his grandson Shimei), who in the past had set an evil example, were foremost in their contrition and mourning (cf. 2 Sam. 5:14; Num. 3:17-21). It is possible that Is. 53:1-9 comprises the content of their confession. This mourning and deep penitence is not some corporate emotion, but each person individually is brought to sorrow and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. See note on Rev. 11:13.

13:1 house of David...inhabitants of Jerusalem. The totality of cleansing is noted by its effect on both royalty and commoners. a fountain...for sin and for uncleanness. A symbolic reference to the means of cleansing and purification through the atoning death of the pierced One (cf. 1 John 1:7). This has direct reference to the New Covenant of Jer. 31:31-34; Ezek. 36:25-32; Rom. 11:26-29. So the storm that broke upon Israel for the crime of Calvary and has raged with unmitigated fury for long, tragic centuries, will suddenly end and salvation will turn sin into righteousness in the gladness and glory of the kingdom of Messiah Jesus.

13:2-6 When Christ returns and cleanses Israel from her defilement, He is also going to cleanse the nation from the deception of false prophets and their demonic religion.

13:2 unclean spirit. The agents of idolatry are false prophets, but the spiritual power behind it is demonic. The wicked spirits who energize false prophets are unclean because they hate God and holiness and drive their victims into moral impurities and false religion (cf. Deut. 32:17; 1 Kin. 22:19-23; Ps. 106:34-39; 1 Cor. 10:20).

13:3 Because of the salvation of God which has cleansed God's people and made them love Him and His truth, hatred of false prophecy will overrule normal human feelings, causing even a father and mother to put their own apostate child to death (cf. Deut. 13:6-9,12-15; Deut. 18:18-22). This is a stern reminder of how God feels about and will eventually treat those preachers who misrepresent the truth.

13:4,5 a robe of coarse hair. Because of these stern measures, false prophets will cease wearing the traditional clothing of a prophet (cf. 2 Kin. 1:8; Matt. 3:4). They will adopt a clandestine approach to propagating their demon-inspired lies (cf. Jer. 22:22; Mic. 3:7), and lie if they are asked whether they are prophets, claiming to be farmers.

13:6 wounds between your arms. The phrase cannot refer to Messiah, but is a continuation of the false prophet's behavior in vv. 4,5. When the false prophet denies any association with pagan practices, others will challenge him to explain the suspicious wounds on his body. False prophets would cut themselves to arouse prophetic ecstasy in idolatrous rites (cf. Lev. 19:28; Deut. 14:1; 1 Kin. 18:28; Jer. 16:6; 48:37), but they will claim the scars represent some attack they suffered from friends. See Introduction: Interpretive Challenges.

13:7-9 Zechariah turned from the false prophets wounded in "friends'" houses to the true prophet wounded in the house of His friends, Israel. He compressed events of both the First (13:7) and Second (13:8,9) Advents into this brief section. It spoke of Christ's crucifixion (v. 7) and the Jewish remnant at His second coming (vv. 8,9).

13:7 My Shepherd...the Man who is My Companion. God spoke of the True Shepherd, that mighty Man who is His intimate associate, thus He identified Christ as His co-equal, affirming the deity of Christ (cf. John 1:1; 10:30; 14:9). Strike the Shepherd. In 11:17, it was the worthless shepherd who was to be struck; now it is the Good Shepherd (cf. 12:10) whose death was designed by God from before the foundation of the world (cf. Is. 53:10; Acts 2:23; 1 Pet. 1:18-20). sheep...scattered. See notes on Matt. 26:31; Mark 14:27, where Jesus applies this prophecy to the disciples who defected from Him after His arrest (Matt. 26:56; Mark 14:50), including Peter's denial (Matt. 26:33-35,69-75). the little ones. The same as the "poor of the flock" (11:7). The reference is to the remnant of believers, among the Jews, who were faithful to the Messiah after His crucifixion. Turning God's hand "against" them could mean they would suffer persecution, which they did (cf. John 15:18,20; 16:2; James 1:1), or it could be translated "upon" and refer to God's protection of the faithful.

8 And it shall come to pass in all the land,"
Says the LORD,
"That [o]two-thirds in it shall be cut off and die,
[p]But one-third shall be left in it:
9 I will bring the one-third [q]through the fire,
Will [r]refine them as silver is refined,
And test them as gold is tested.
[s]They will call on My name,
And I will answer them.
[t]I will say, 'This is My people';
And each one will say, 'The LORD is my God.' "

The Day of the LORD

14 Behold, [a]the day of the LORD is coming,
And your [1]spoil will be divided in your midst.
2 For [b]I will gather all the nations to battle against Jerusalem;
The city shall be taken,
The houses [2]rifled,
And the women ravished.
Half of the city shall go into captivity,
But the remnant of the people shall not be cut off from the city.
3 Then the LORD will go forth
And fight against those nations,
As He fights in the day of battle.
4 And in that day His feet will stand [c]on the Mount of Olives,
Which faces Jerusalem on the east.
And the Mount of Olives shall be split in two,
From east to west,
[d]Making a very large valley;
Half of the mountain shall move toward the north
And half of it toward the south.
5 Then you shall flee through My mountain valley,
For the mountain valley shall reach to Azal.
Yes, you shall flee
As you fled from the [e]earthquake
In the days of Uzziah king of Judah.
[f]Thus the LORD my God will come,
And [g]all the saints with [3]You.
6 It shall come to pass in that day
That there will be no light;

13:8 two-thirds...one-third. Only a portion of the people of Israel will remain faithful to Christ and be alive in the end. The spiritual survivors will be the remnant who look upon Christ in repentance at His return (cf. 12:10–13:1), which will include those who make up the 144,000 (cf. Rev. 7:4). These will be the sheep of the sheep-goat judgment after Christ's return who enter the kingdom alive (cf. Is. 35:10; Jer. 30:11; Matt. 25:31-46).

13:9 each one. From the midst of their fiery refinement, the elect remnant of Israel will see Jesus Christ, their Messiah and call on Him as their Savior and Lord. Israel will thus be saved and restored to covenant relationship with the Lord.

14:1-21 Chapter 14 is an amplification of 13:8,9. Prior to Israel's national conversion (cf. 12:10–13:1), the Jews will make a pact with a false messiah (cf. Dan. 9:27), known as the foolish shepherd (cf. 11:15-17) or Antichrist. In the middle of that 7-year covenant, Antichrist will break his treaty with Israel and require the worship of him alone (Dan. 9:24-27; Matt. 24:15; 2 Thess. 2:3,4). When Israel refuses, the armies of the world will gather to do battle, climaxing in a great siege of Jerusalem and the Battle of Armageddon (Rev. 19). Following the Lord's victory at that battle (cf. Rev. 19:11-16), will come the full restoration of Israel as anticipated in Hos. 14:4-7; Joel 3:18-21; Amos 9:13-15; Mic. 4:1-3; Zeph. 3:14-20.

14:1 the day of the LORD is coming. The "Day of the Lord" is a technical term for God's wrath unleashed against sinners. Here, Zechariah is looking at the Day of the Lord when His wrath is unleashed against the whole world of sinners, which results in the establishment of the Lord's millennial reign on earth. See note on Is. 2:12 and Introduction to Joel: Historical and Theological Themes. spoil...divided in your midst. Jerusalem will be so overcome by the enemy that the spoil will be leisurely divided in the midst of the city, illustrating how completely Jerusalem will be overthrown. This atrocity then triggers the wrath of God against the world in the Day of the Lord.

14:2 I will gather all the nations. God Himself will gather the nations, using them to purge, refine, and judge (cf. Rev. 16:13,14,16). Their presence results in an unprecedented time of national calamity. This is the climax of "the time of Jacob's trouble" (Jer. 30:5-7).

14:3,4 His feet will stand on the Mount of Olives. To prevent the eradication of His remnant, the Lord will personally intervene to fight against the gathered nations. Just as He fought for His people in the past, so He will do so in the future as the ultimate Warrior-King. Jesus will literally return to the Mt. of Olives, located E of the Kidron Valley, just as the angels announced at His ascension (cf. Acts 1:11). When He does, there will be a tremendous topographical upheaval (perhaps an earthquake), a phenomenon not uncommon when God announces His coming in judgment (cf. Mic. 1:2-4; Nah. 1:5; Rev. 16:18-21).

14:4 the Mount of Olives shall be split in two. A valley running E and W will be created as the mountain is pulled northward and southward (cf. Mic. 1:2-4; Nah. 1:5; Rev. 16:18,19).

14:5 Azal. It is best understood as a place E of Jerusalem, marking the eastern end of the newly created valley. Though exact identification is unknown, it is possibly the Valley of Jehoshaphat or Valley of Decision (cf. Joel 3:12,14) which will be for judgment of the nations and for the escape of the half who were not captured (v. 2). all the saints with You. This term could refer to angels, Jewish believers or Gentile Christians together (cf. Rev. 19:14).

14:6,7 As these Jews are fleeing through this newly created valley, the lights in the world will go out (cf. Is. 13:9,10; 24:23; Joel 2:10; 3:14-16; Matt. 24:29,30; Rev. 6:12-14) and be replaced by the light of Christ's glory (cf. Is. 60:19,20). The reaction of people is given in Rev. 6:15-17. Only the Lord knows the fullness of the plan for that day—when the lights go out and are lit again in the millennial kingdom (cf. Is. 30:26; Mal. 4:2).

The [4]lights will diminish.
7 It shall be one day
[h]Which is known to the LORD—
Neither day nor night.
But at [i]evening time it shall happen
That it will be light.

8 And in that day it shall be
That living [j]waters shall flow from Jerusalem,
Half of them toward [5]the eastern sea
And half of them toward [6]the western sea;
In both summer and winter it shall occur.
9 And the LORD shall be [k]King over all the earth.
In that day it shall be—
[l]"The LORD is one,"
And His name one.

10 All the land shall be turned into a plain from Geba to Rimmon south of Jerusalem. [7]Jerusalem shall be raised up and [m]inhabited in her place from Benjamin's Gate to the place of the First Gate and the Corner Gate, [n]and from the Tower of Hananel to the king's winepresses.

11 The people shall dwell in it;
And [o]no longer shall there be utter destruction,
[p]But Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited.

14:8 The highest elevation of the temple mount in Jerusalem is more than 300 ft. lower than the Mt. of Olives, but the topographical alterations described in vv. 4,10 will allow the spring to flow towards the Dead Sea (E) and the Mediterranean Sea (W) (see notes on Ezek. 47:1-12). It will not dry up in summer, as most Palestinian streams do, but will flow all year, making the desert "blossom as the rose" (Is. 35:1).

14:9 LORD is one...His name one. Cf. Rev. 11:15. There will be only one religion in the entire world during the millennial reign of Christ. Ruling with a rod of iron (cf. Rev. 19:15), Christ will have done away with all false religions spawned by Satan. This will be the ultimate fulfillment of the Abrahamic Covenant providing a Jewish people, the nation of Israel, and the land given to Abraham; the Davidic Covenant which promised a king from the tribe of Judah and the line of David; and the New Covenant which held out the hope of spiritual redemption for Jew and Gentile. All of this will be fulfilled in and by the Lord Jesus Christ.

14:10 All the land...into a plain. The term "plain" pictures the Jordan Valley, extending from Mt. Hermon (elevation 9,100 ft.) to the Gulf of Aqabah. Here the entire land, from Geba 6 mi. to the N to Rimmon in the S, would be leveled to become like the well-watered and fertile lowlands of the Jordan Valley (cf. Gen. 13:10), causing Jerusalem to be exalted above like a solitaire diamond on a ring. Jerusalem, having been rebuilt according to these dimensions, will be exalted in both place and purpose, the prominent royal city containing the temple of God and the throne of Jesus Christ (cf. Ezek. 40–48). The locations of these landmarks would be the equivalent of meaning "all Jerusalem, E to W and N to S."

14:11 safely inhabited. Jerusalem, the city of peace, has been fought over more frequently than any other city on earth, and prayed for over the millennia (Ps. 122:6-9). As promised by God (2 Sam. 7:10-17; Ps. 2:6; Ezek. 37:24-28; Joel 3:16-17), she will know permanent righteousness and with it peace, rest, and safety.

14:12-15 The prophet, one final time, cycles back over the judgment that precedes the kingdom. God will strike the heathen forces gathered against Israel (vv. 1-3) with a supernatural plague similar to His judgment of the Assyrian army (Is. 37:36), causing a panic so great that they begin to attack one another (cf. Judg. 7:22; 1 Sam. 14:15-20; 2 Chr. 20:23), aiding in the escape of the half (cf. vv. 2,5). God will enable His people to fight (cf. Is. 11:13,14). Then He will send a widespread plague that even extends to their animals, preventing their use for military endeavors or escape. This depicts the thwarting of their efforts as God ultimately destroys them by the Messiah (Rev. 19:11-16).

14:16-19 This very important passage reveals that some Gentiles will go into the millennial kingdom alive along with the redeemed Jews. A converted remnant from those heathen nations will make annual pilgrimages to Jerusalem to worship the Lord and to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles during the Millennium. Commemorating the time when God "tabernacled" with Israel in the wilderness, the feast represented the last of the 3 major pilgrimage festivals (Lev. 23:34-36), marked the final harvest of the year's crops, and provided a time of rejoicing. In the Millennium, it will celebrate Messiah's presence again dwelling among His people and the joyful restoration of Israel, including the ingathering of the nations. Those who refuse to go will experience drought and plague. Tragically, as the thousand years go on, there will be many people from all over the world who will reject one who is left of all the nations which came against Jerusalem shall [u]go up from year to year to [v]worship the King, the LORD of hosts, and to keep [w]the Feast of Tabernacles. 17 [x]And it shall be that whichever of the families of the earth do not come up to Jerusalem to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, on them there will be no rain. 18 If the family of [y]Egypt will not come up and enter in, [z]they shall have no rain; they shall receive the plague with which the LORD strikes the nations who do not come up to keep the Feast of Tabernacles. 19 This shall be the [9]punishment of Egypt and the punishment of all the nations that do not come up to keep the Feast of Tabernacles.

[1] Or on every pot . . . shall be engraved "HOLINESS TO THE LORD OF HOSTS"

Christ as Savior and King, joining in a final war against Him, only to be destroyed and cast into hell forever (cf. Rev. 20:7-15).

14:16 Feast of Tabernacles. The historical background can be found in Lev. 23:33-36; Num. 29:12-38; Deut. 16:13-17. In addition to the Feast of Tabernacles, two other feasts will be celebrated in the Millennium, i.e., 1) Feast of the New Year (Ezek. 45:18-20) and 2) Passover (Ezek. 45:21-25). These feasts are no more efficacious than were the feasts of the Mosaic era or the Lord's Supper in the church age. They all provided a symbolic anticipation or remembrance of Christ's unique and once-for-all sacrifice at Calvary.

14:17 no rain. Drought is a dreaded punishment (cf. 1 Kin. 17:1-7; 2 Chr. 7:13,14; James 5:17,18) since it deprives the people of life-sustaining water.

14:20-21 Just as the High-Priest, whose turban was engraved with the phrase "HOLINESS TO THE LORD," was set apart for the service of the Lord (cf. Zech. 3:5; also Ex. 28:36; 39:30), so even mundane and ordinary things like the bells that decorate horses and common pots and pans will be as holy as the High-Priest and the altar bowls used in sacrifices. There will be no need for distinctions between holy and secular. Everything will be set apart to the service of the Lord in the Messiah's glorious kingdom.

14:21 Canaanite. This identification is used as a figure for the morally and spiritually unclean persons who will be excluded from entering the millennial temple. Before Israel conquered the Promised Land, the vile Canaanites inhabited it; thus the term became proverbial in Israel for a morally degenerate, ceremonial unclean person.

The Book of MALACHI

Title

The title is derived from the prophecy's author, Malachi. With this last work in the Minor Prophets, God closes the OT canon historically and prophetically.

Author and Date

Some have suggested that the book was written anonymously, noting that the name, meaning "my messenger" or "the LORD's messenger," could be a title rather than a proper name. It is pointed out that the name occurs nowhere else in the OT, nor is any background material provided about the author. However, since all other prophetic books have historically identified their author in the introductory heading, this suggests that Malachi was indeed the name of the last OT writing prophet in Israel. Jewish tradition identifies him as a member of the Great Synagogue that collected and preserved the Scriptures.

Looking solely at internal evidence, the date of the prophecy points to the late fifth century B.C., most likely during Nehemiah's return to Persia ca. 433–424 B.C. (cf. Neh. 5:14; 13:6). Sacrifices were being made at the second temple (1:7-10; 3:8), which was finished in 516 B.C. (cf. Ezra 6:13-15). Many years had passed since then as the priests had increasingly become complacent and corrupt (1:6–2:9). Malachi's reference to "governor" (1:8) speaks of the time of Persian dominance in Judah when Nehemiah was revisiting Persia (Neh. 13:6), while his emphasis on the law (4:4) coincides with a similar focus by Ezra and Nehemiah (cf. Ezra 7:14,25,26; Neh. 8:18). They shared other concerns as well, such as marriages to foreign wives (2:11-15; cf. Ezra 9,10; Neh. 13:23-27), withholding of tithes (3:8-10; cf. Neh. 13:10-14), and social injustice (3:5; cf. Neh. 5:1-13). Nehemiah came to Jerusalem in 445 B.C. to rebuild the wall, and returned to Persia in 433 B.C. He later returned to Israel (ca. 424 B.C.) to deal with the sins Malachi described (Neh. 13:6). So it is likely that Malachi was written during the period of Nehemiah's absence, almost a century after Haggai and Zechariah began to prophesy. Similar to Rev. 2,3, in which Christ writes what He thinks about the conditions of the churches, here God writes through Malachi to impress upon Israel His thoughts about the nation.

Background and Setting

Only 50,000 exiles had returned to Judah from Babylon (538–536 B.C.). The temple had been rebuilt under the leadership of Zerubbabel (516 B.C.) and the sacrificial system renewed. Ezra had returned in 458 B.C., followed by Nehemiah in 445 B.C. After being back in the land of Palestine for only a century, the ritual of the Jews' religious routine led to hard-heartedness toward God's great love for them and to widespread departure from His law by both people and priest. Malachi rebuked and condemned these abuses, forcefully indicting the people and calling them to repentance. When Nehemiah returned from Persia the second time (ca. 424 B.C.), he vigorously rebuked them for these abuses in the temple and priesthood, for the violation of the Sabbath rest, and for the unlawful divorce of their Jewish wives so they could marry Gentile women (cf. Neh. 13).

As over two millennia of OT history since Abraham concluded, none of the glorious promises of the Abrahamic, Davidic, and New Covenants had been fulfilled in their ultimate sense. Although there had been a few high points in Israel's history, e.g., Joshua, David, and Josiah, the Jews had seemingly lost all opportunity to receive God's favor since less than 100 years after returning from captivity, they had already sunk to a depth of sin that exceeded the former iniquities which brought on the Assyrian and Babylonian deportations. Beyond this, the long anticipated Messiah had not arrived and did not seem to be in sight.

So, Malachi wrote the capstone prophecy of the OT in which he delivered God's message of judgment on Israel for their continuing sin and God's promise that one day in the future, when the Jews would repent, Messiah would be revealed and God's covenant promises would be fulfilled. There were over 400 years of divine silence, with only Malachi's words ringing condemnation in their ears, before another prophet arrived with a message from God. That was John the Baptist preaching, "Repent, for the Kingdom of heaven is at hand!" (Matt. 3:2). Messiah had come.

Historical and Theological Themes

The Lord repeatedly referred to His covenant with Israel (cf. 2:4,5,8,10,14; 3:1), reminding them, from His opening words, of their unfaithfulness to His love/marriage relationship with them (cf. 1:2-5). God's love for His people pervades the book. Apparently the promises by the former prophets of the coming Messiah who would bring final deliverance and age-long blessings, and the encouragement from the recent promises (ca. 500 B.C.) of Haggai and Zechariah, had only made the people and their leaders more resolute in their complacency. They thought that this love relationship could be maintained by formal ritual alone, no matter how they lived. In a penetrating rebuke of both priests (1:6–2:9) and people (2:10-16), the prophet reminds them that the Lord's coming, which they were seeking (3:1), would be in judgment to refine, purify, and purge (3:2,3). The Lord not only wanted outward compliance to the law, but an inward acceptance as well (cf. Matt. 23:23). The prophet assaults the corruption, wickedness, and false security by directing his judgments at their hypocrisy, infidelity, compromise, divorce, false worship, and arrogance.

Malachi set forth his prophecy in the form of a dispute, employing the question-and-answer method. The Lord's accusations against His people were frequently met by cynical questions from the people (1:2,6,7; 2:17; 3:7,8,13). At other times, the prophet presented himself as God's advocate in a lawsuit, posing rhetorical questions to the people based on their defiant criticisms (1:6,8,9; 2:10,15; 3:2).

Malachi indicted the priests and the people on at least 6 counts of willful sin: 1) repudiating God's love (1:2-5); 2) refusing God His due honor (1:6–2:9); 3) rejecting God's faithfulness (2:10-16); 4) redefining God's righteousness (2:17–3:5); 5) robbing God's riches (3:6-12); and 6) reviling God's grace (3:13-15). There are 3 interludes in which Malachi rendered God's judgment: 1) to the priests (2:1-9); 2) to the nation (3:1-6); and 3) to the remnant (3:16–4:6).

Interpretive Challenges

The meaning of Elijah being sent "before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD" (4:5) has been debated. Was this fulfilled in John the Baptist or is it yet future? Will Elijah be reincarnated? It seems best to view Malachi's prophecy as a reference to John the Baptist and not to a literally-returned Elijah. Not only did the angel announce that John the Baptist would "go before Him in the spirit and power of Elijah" (Luke 1:17), but John the Baptist himself said he was not Elijah (John 1:21). Thus John was like Elijah, internally in "spirit and power" and externally in rugged independence and nonconformity. If the Jews would receive the Messiah, then he would be the Elijah spoken of (cf. Matt. 11:14; 17:9-13); if they refused the King, then another Elijah-like prophet would be sent in the future, perhaps as one of the two witnesses (cf. Rev. 11:1-19).

CHAPTER 1

1 The [1]burden of the word of the LORD to Israel [2]by Malachi.

Israel Beloved of God

2 "I[a] have loved you," says the LORD.
"Yet you say, 'In what way have You loved us?'
Was not Esau Jacob's brother?"
Says the LORD.
"Yet [b]Jacob I have loved;
3 But Esau I have hated,
And [c]laid waste his mountains and his heritage
For the jackals of the wilderness."

4 Even though Edom has said,
"We have been impoverished,
But we will return and build the desolate places,"

Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"They may build, but I will [d]throw down;
They shall be called the Territory of Wickedness,
And the people against whom the LORD will have indignation forever.
5 Your eyes shall see,
And you shall say,
[e']The LORD is magnified beyond the border of Israel.'

Polluted Offerings

6 "A son [f]honors his father,
And a servant his master.
[g]If then I am the Father,
Where is My honor?
And if I am a Master,
Where is My reverence?
Says the LORD of hosts
To you priests who despise My name.
[h]Yet you say, 'In what way have we despised Your name?'

7 "You offer [i]defiled food on My altar,
But say,
'In what way have we defiled You?'
By saying,
[j']The table of the LORD is [3]contemptible.'
8 And [k]when you offer the blind as a sacrifice,
Is it not evil?
And when you offer the lame and sick,
Is it not evil?
Offer it then to your governor!

1:1–2:16 In the first of two major sections (cf. 2:17; 4:6), Malachi delivered God's message which denounced sin among the people of Israel.

1:1 burden. This term refers to the heavy sentence pronounced by the prophet. See notes on Is. 13:1; Nah. 1:1; Hab. 1:1; Zech. 9:1; 12:1.

1:2 I have loved you. The great privilege of Israel as God's beloved people is forcefully presented by comparing the nation with Edom. In response to the affirmation of the Lord's love for them, the people, looking only at what they had lost since the captivity and how feeble their nation was, incredulously expressed doubt about God's love and insolently challenged it. Nevertheless, God reaffirmed His love to them, recalling His covenant choice of Jacob over Esau, father of the Edomites (cf. Gen. 25:23). In this closing book of the OT, God's electing love toward Israel, sovereign, undeserved, and persistent (cf. Rom. 9:13), is boldly and explicitly reiterated by the Lord Himself and illustrated by His choice of Jacob and his offspring. Unconditionally, and completely apart from any consideration of human merit, God elected Jacob and his descendants to become His heirs of promise (cf. Rom. 9:6-29). No one should conclude that God does not love His people because He afflicted them, but rather He loves them because He elected them.

1:3 Esau I have hated. While Genesis mentions no divine hatred toward Esau, Obadiah's prophecy over a 1,000 years later (see Obad. 1-21) indicated that the Lord's hatred was against Esau's idolatrous descendants. In the same way, the Lord's love for Jacob refers to his descendants who were His sovereignly elected people through whom the world's Redeemer would come. Nor does the love/hate language signify a comparative love in which He loved Jacob more and Esau less. Rather, the context here speaks of love as "choosing for intimate fellowship" and hate as "not choosing for intimate fellowship" in the realm of redemption. See notes on Rom. 9:6-13. laid waste his mountains...heritage. A reference to Edom's (later called Idumea) destruction, first by Nebuchadnezzar and later by neighboring people, e.g., Egypt, Ammon, and Moab, as well as at the hands of the Nabateans. See Introduction to Obadiah: Background and Setting; Historical and Theological Themes.

1:4,5 Though the Edomites would attempt to rebuild their ruins, God would negate their efforts. Israel, on the other hand, is restored; and though complete restoration has been delayed, it will come and the nation will bear witness to God's gracious rulership, both within as well as beyond her borders (cf. Gen. 12:3; Mal. 1:11).

1:6–2:9 Affirming the unconditional love of the Lord (vv. 2-5) did not absolve guilt, thus Malachi delivered an opening indictment against the priests, the nation's spiritual leaders, pointing out how they were showing contempt for God's sacrifices (vv. 6-14), His glory (2:1-3), and His law (2:4-9).

1:6 priests. He addressed the priests first because they should be leaders in righteous devotion to God, but were foremost in despising His name, though their question was tantamount to a denial of their wicked attitude toward God (cf. Luke 6:46).

1:7 defiled food. That the reference here is to animal sacrifices is evident from v. 8. The priests were offering ceremonially unclean or blemished (cf. v. 13) sacrifices, strictly forbidden by the Lord (cf. Lev. 22:20-25; Deut. 15:21), and again hypocritically questioning such an indictment. They had only contempt for the Lord as indicated by the offerings brought to the Lord of "blind," "lame" and "sick" animals (v. 8). table of the LORD. This refers to the altar for sacrifices (cf. Ezek. 41:22).

1:8 Offer it then to your governor! The priests had the audacity to offer God what their governor, as a form of taxation, would never have accepted from them. They were more fearful of the governor's rejection than of God's. This would have been during the time that Nehemiah was back in Persia (cf. Neh. 3:6) when he would have relinquished the office for some time.

Would he be pleased with you?
Would he [t]accept[u] you favorably?"
Says the LORD of hosts.

9 "But now entreat God's favor,
That He may be gracious to us.
[m]While this is being done by your hands,
Will He accept you favorably?"
Says the LORD of hosts.
10 "Who is there even among you who would shut the doors,
[n]So that you would not kindle fire on My altar in vain?
I have no pleasure in you,"
Says the LORD of hosts,
[o]"Nor will I accept an offering from your hands.
11 For [p]from the rising of the sun,
even to its going down,
My name shall be great [q]among the Gentiles;
[r]In every place [s]incense shall be offered to My name,
And a pure offering;
[t]For My name shall be great among the nations,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

12 "But you profane it,
In that you say,
[u]'The table of the [5]LORD is defiled;
And its fruit, its food, is contemptible.'
13 You also say,
'Oh, what a [v]weariness!'
And you sneer at it,"
Says the LORD of hosts.
"And you bring the stolen, the lame, and the sick;
Thus you bring an offering!
[w]Should I accept this from your hand?"
Says the LORD.
14 "But cursed be [x]the deceiver

1:9 The invitation to repent is best taken as irony. How could they expect God to extend His grace when they were insulting Him with unacceptable sacrifices?

1:10 shut the doors. God, speaking in the first person, desired for someone to shut the temple doors, thereby preventing the useless, insincere presentation of sacrifices (cf. Is. 1:11-15). It would be better to stop all sacrifices than to offer insincere offerings.

1:11 from the rising of the sun...going down. The phrase is a way of referring to the whole earth (cf. Pss. 50:1; 103:12; Is. 45:6; 59:19; Zech. 8:7), as the subsequent phrase, "In every place," indicates (cf. 1:5). Although no indication is given as to the time when such worship of God will fill the earth, this cannot be a reference to any historic Jewish worship outside the borders of Israel. Malachi's zeal for Israel's sacrifices, coupled with his negative attitude toward foreigners and their gods (vv. 2-5; 2:11), points to the millennial era, when they will worship in the rebuilt temple and incense plus offerings will be present (cf. Ezek. 40–48). At that time, and not until that time, the Lord will receive pure worship throughout the world and His name will be honored everywhere (cf. Is. 2:24; 19:19-21; 24:14-16; 45:22-24; 66:18-21; Mic. 4:1-3; Zech. 8:20-23; 14:16-19).

1:12,13 The reproof of vv. 7,8 is repeated. The exacting requirements of the sacrifices wearied the priests. They did not literally say the Lord's table (the place of offerings) is contemptible, but they virtually said so by refusing to lead the people to reverence and to offer the Lord their best; thus their attitude and actions were profaning the altar and insulting to the Lord (cf. Is. 43:22-24; Mic. 6:3), so He rejected their offerings.

Corrupt Priests

CHAPTER 2

2 "And now, O [a]priests, this commandment is for you.
2 [b]If you will not hear,
And if you will not take it to heart,
To give glory to My name,"
Says the LORD of hosts,
"I will send a curse upon you,
And I will curse your blessings.
Yes, I have cursed them [c]already,
Because you do not take it to heart.

3 "Behold, I will rebuke your descendants
And spread [d]refuse on your faces,
The refuse of your solemn feasts;
And one will [e]take you away [1]with it.
4 Then you shall know that I have sent this commandment to you,
That My covenant with Levi may continue,"
Says the LORD of hosts.
5 "My[f] covenant was with him, one of life and peace,
And I gave them to him [g]that he might fear Me;
So he feared Me
And was reverent before My name.
6 [h]The [2]law of truth was in his mouth,
And [3]injustice was not found on his lips.
He walked with Me in peace and equity,
And [i]turned many away from iniquity.

7 "For[j] the lips of a priest should keep knowledge,
And people should seek the law from his mouth;
[k]For he is the messenger of the LORD of hosts.
8 But you have departed from the way;
You [l]have caused many to stumble at the law.
[m]You have corrupted the covenant of Levi,"
Says the LORD of hosts.
9 "Therefore [n]I also have made you contemptible and base
Before all the people,
Because you have not kept My ways
But have shown [o]partiality in the law."

Treachery of Infidelity

10 [p]Have we not all one Father?
[q]Has not one God created us?

10 [p] Jer. 31:9; 1 Cor. 8:6; [Eph. 4:6] [q] Job 31:15

1:14 what is blemished. Instead of the unblemished male animal (cf. Lev. 22:19), which was considered more valuable and which he had vowed to voluntarily give, the offerer suddenly substituted a blemished female. The fact that it was voluntary makes it that much more incongruous (cf. Acts 5:1-5). a great King. If such presentations are unacceptable to their governor (v. 8), how much more to the King of the universe? (cf. Ps. 48:2; Matt. 5:35).

2:2 I will send a curse. Failing to render glory to God would result in a curse being sent upon them. This is a fundamental OT theme: blessing for obedience, cursing for disobedience (cf. 1:14; Deut. 27:15-26; 28:15-68). your blessings. These were not restricted to material blessings only (cf. Num. 18:21) but referred to all the benefits of God's gracious hand (cf. v. 5), including the blessings pronounced by the priests over the people (cf. Num. 6:23-27).

2:3 refuse. This very graphic language shows how God viewed unfaithful priests as worthy of the most unthinkable disgrace. As the internal waste of the sacrificial animal was normally carried outside the camp and burned (cf. Ex. 29:14; Lev. 4:11,12; 8:17; 16:27), so the priests would be discarded and suffer humiliation and loss of office. The Lord's purpose in such a warning was to shake them out of their complacency.

2:4,5 My covenant with Levi. The relationship of God to the priesthood was clearly set forth in the Levitic covenant (Num. 3:44-48; 18:8-24; Deut. 33:8-11). The covenant was one of mutual responsibility, in which God expected reverence for Himself in exchange for life and peace for the priests. Verbally similar to the covenant made with Phinehas relating to the lineage of the High-Priest (cf. Num. 25:10-13), this covenant was made with Aaron of Levi's line and his descendants. The Jewish priests of Malachi's day had deceived themselves by claiming the privileges of the covenant, while neglecting the conditions of it, as if God was bound to bless them even while they rejected the obligation to serve Him.

2:4 Then you shall know. The priests will know the price of disobedience by bitter experience with the consequences.

2:6 Aaron, unlike the priests of Malachi's time, feared and reverenced God. Aaron also fulfilled this responsibility and lived the godliness he taught (Lev. 8,9). See note on vv. 4,5.

2:7 The priests were the messengers of God in Israel. Not only were they to represent the people to God, but they were also responsible to represent God to the people by teaching the law of Moses to the nation (cf. Lev. 10:9-11; Deut. 33:10; Ezra 7:10; Hos. 4:6).

2:8,9 The priests of Malachi's day had made a radical departure from God's standard, originally given to Levi, causing others to stumble by their bad example and false interpretation of the law. Consequently, the worst shame and degradation fell upon them (cf. v. 3; Neh. 13:29).

2:10-16 Israel's spiritual leaders committed grievous sins (1:6–2:9), leading the people to do the same. They too were violating the requirements of God's law by profaning the institution of the Levitical priesthood, marrying foreign wives (vv. 10-12), and divorcing the wives of their youth (vv. 13-16).

2:10 one Father. Though God is Father of all through creation (cf. Acts 17:29; Eph. 3:14,15), the primary focus is directed to God as the

Why do we deal treacherously with one another
By profaning the covenant of the fathers?

11 Judah has dealt treacherously,
And an abomination has been committed in Israel and in Jerusalem,
For Judah has [r]profaned

He loves:
He has married the daughter of a

12 May the LORD cut off from the tents of Jacob
The man who does this, being [t]awake and aware,
Yet [s]who brings an offering to the
LORD of hosts!

13 And this is the second thing you do:
You cover the altar of the LORD
with tears,
With weeping and crying;
So He does not regard the offering
anymore,
Nor receive it with goodwill from your hands.

14 Yet you say, "For what reason?"
Because the LORD has been witness Between you and [t]the wife of your youth,
With whom you have dealt treacherously;
[u]Yet she is your companion
And your wife by covenant.

15 But [v]did He not make them one,
Having a remnant of the Spirit?
And why one?
He seeks [w]godly offspring.
Therefore take heed to your spirit,
And let none deal treacherously with the wife of his youth.

16 "For [x]the LORD God of Israel says
That He hates divorce,
For it covers one's garment with violence,"
Says the LORD of hosts.
"Therefore take heed to your spirit,
That you do not deal treacherously."

17 [y]You have wearied the LORD with your words;
Yet you say,

Father of Israel as His covenant people (see "Father" in 1:6, where this indictment began; also cf. Jer. 2:27).

2:10,11 deal treacherously. This key phrase (vv. 10,11,14,15,16) refers to the violation of God's will by divorcing Jewish wives and marrying foreign women. God is the Father who gave life to Israel (cf. Is. 43:1; 60:21), yet they had, through intermarriage with idol worshipers, introduced division by violating the covenant He made with their fathers to insure the maintenance of a separated people (cf. Ex. 19:5; 24:8; 34:14-16; Lev. 20:24,26; Deut. 7:1-4).

2:11 married the daughter of a foreign god. A worshiper of an idol was considered to be its child (Jer. 2:27). The prophets often mixed the ideas of adultery and idolatry or physical and spiritual adultery. Unless they became true proselytes to Judaism, pagan women led their husbands into idolatry and thereby contaminated Israelite worship (cf. Judg. 3:5-7). Those Jews who married them profaned God's temple and the covenant community. Solomon's violation of this law had opened the door for idolatry to enter Judah (1 Kin. 11:1-6). Both Ezra (Ezra 9:2-15) and Nehemiah (Neh. 13:23-29) faced this sinful problem.

2:12 cut off. This common term was generally used for death. Their adulterous actions of divorce and intermarriage disqualified them from participation in the rights and privileges of the community of Israel, so their offerings to God would be rejected. awake and aware. A proverbial expression referring to two classes of people, "the active watcher" who is "awake" to reality and "the passive hearer" whom he makes "aware." This proverb apparently came from nomadic people who had guards around their tents to stay awake and make others aware of danger. This signified judgment so that everyone who sins in this gross, idolatrous way would be exterminated.

2:13 cover the altar...with tears. Weeping and wailing would achieve nothing because sin had shut the door of access to God. They had violated their marriage vows and the separation from idols as God required. This double disloyalty made their offerings a hypocritical mockery. Since lay people had no access to the altars but the priests did, it was clearly their guilt which was foremost, and their hypocrisy so unacceptable to God.

2:14 your wife by covenant. The prophet accentuated the iniquity by mentioning the legally binding nature of the marriage contract, a covenant made before God as witness (cf. Gen. 31:50; Prov. 2:17). Wives were married young, sometimes before 15 years of age (cf. Prov. 5:18; Is. 54:6).

2:15 Noting God's original institution of marriage (Gen. 2:24), in which He made two into one, Malachi reminded them that God provided only one woman for one man. Though He had the life-giving power of the Spirit, and could have made Adam a number of wives, He created only one—to raise up a "godly offspring. Polygamy, divorce, and marriage to idolatrous women are destructive to obtaining the godly remnant in the line of the promised Messiah. Only when both parents remain faithful to their marriage vows can the children be given the security which provides the basis for godly living. Because this foundational divine institution of marriage was being threatened, Malachi urged that no husband act in a treacherous way toward his wife. For polygamy see note on 1 Kin. 11:1-6.

2:16 He hates divorce. See notes on Matt. 5:32; 19:3-12; 1 Cor. 7. The Lord emphasized what He had been saying by this emphatic declaration. In fact, God sees this unwarranted divorce as a gross act of sin which, like blood splattered from a murder victim on the killer, leaves evidence of the evil deed. For discussion of divorce, which God actually commanded the Jews to do by separating from these idolatrous wives, see notes on Ezra 10:10-19 and the Ezra Introduction: Interpretive Challenges. Though God hates divorce, there are times when it is the lesser of the evils and would prevent a future and even greater spiritual catastrophe. See notes on Matt. 5:32; 19:3-12; 1 Cor. 7:10-16.

2:17–4:6 The denunciation of Israel's sins was followed by a declaration of the judgment on the unrepentant and subsequent blessing on the faithful remnant. Verse 17 is the introduction to the rest of the book. These faithless, disobedient priests and people had worn out God's patience by their skepticism and self-justification, so judgment is on the way.

2:17 wearied the LORD. Disillusionment followed the rebuilding of the temple. The presence of God had not come to the new temple.

"In what way have we wearied Him?"
In that you say,
[z]"Everyone who does evil
Is good in the sight of the LORD,
And He delights in them,"
Or, "Where is the God of justice?"

The Coming Messenger

3 "Behold, [a]I send My messenger,
And he will [b]prepare the way before Me.
And the Lord, whom you seek,
Will suddenly come to His temple,
[c]Even the Messenger of the covenant,
In whom you delight.
Behold, [d]He is coming,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

He will purify the sons of Levi,
And [1]purge them as gold and silver,
That they may [i]offer to the LORD
An offering in righteousness.

Will be [2]pleasant to the LORD,
As in the days of old,
As in former years.

I will be a swift witness
Against sorcerers,
Against adulterers,

They began to live in indifference to God. Calloused and lacking in spiritual discernment, the people persisted in cynical expressions of innocence. They had rejected all intention of taking right and wrong seriously. So deeply gripped by complacent self-righteousness, they had the gall to insolently question the Lord, implying that He seemed to favor the wicked and was unconcerned about the righteous. The prophet faced them with imminent judgment, telling them God was coming, but to refine and purify (cf. 3:1,5).

3:1 My messenger. It was a custom of the Near Eastern kings to send messengers before them to remove obstacles to their visit. Employing a wordplay on the name of Malachi, ("the LORD's messenger"), the Lord Himself announced He was sending one who would "prepare the way before Me." This is "the voice of one crying in the wilderness" (Is. 40:3) and the Elijah of 4:5 who comes before the Lord. The NT clearly identifies him as John the Baptist (cf. Matt. 3:3; 11:10,14; 17:12ff.; Mark 1:2; Luke 1:17; 7:26,27; John 1:23). Will suddenly come. To come "suddenly" does not mean immediately, but instantaneously and unannounced. It usually refers to a calamitous event (cf. Is. 47:11; 48:3; Jer. 4:20, etc.). When all the preparations are completed, the Lord will come, not to Zerubbabel's temple, nor in partial fulfillment to Herod's temple (see notes on John 2:13-25), but finally to that millennial temple which Ezekiel describes in Ezek. 40–48. The unexpected coming of Christ, partially fulfilled at His first advent, will be accomplished in full at His second coming (cf. Matt. 24:40-42). Messenger of the covenant. Probably not the messenger just mentioned. Rather, because this Messenger "will come to His temple," it is most likely a reference to the Lord Himself, the One who has the authority to reward or judge His people on the basis of their faithfulness to His covenant with them. The title may reflect earlier OT references to His "angel," which is lit. "messenger" (cf. Ex. 23:20-23; 32:34; Is. 63:9). In whom you delight. This is likely sarcastic. These sinful people were not delighting in God then, nor would they when He came in judgment on their hypocritical worship and cleansed the temple (cf. John 2:13-25). All the ungodly will be destroyed at His return (cf. Rev. 19:11ff.).

3:2 refiner's fire...launderers' soap. Instead of bringing rewards, His coming is likened to two purifying agents—fire to burn off dross and alkali to whiten—an indication of the true condition of their hearts. The fire will burn off the dross of iniquity; the soap will wash out the stain of sin. His coming will be one in which He removes all impurities. No one will escape this cleansing. Importantly, He will come purifying and cleansing, but not necessarily destroying (cf. Is. 1:25; 48:10; Jer. 6:29,30; Ezek. 22:17-22).

3:3 purify the sons of Levi. Since the Levitical priests were instrumental in leading the nation astray and a new group of pure priests was required for the work of the millennial temple (cf. Ezek. 44–45:8), the cleansing of the nation would begin with them (cf. Ezek. 9:6). Then they can "offer to the LORD" what is righteous as called for in the millennial sacrifices (cf. Ezek. 45:9–46:24). offering in righteousness. Given from cleansed hearts in a right condition before God, their offerings will be "in righteousness." These millennial sacrifices will be a memorial for the redeemed nation of Israel, commemorating Christ's sacrifice at Calvary. See notes on Ezek. 44–46.

3:4 the days of old. Only after the priesthood is purged and when the people are cleansed, will they be able to offer what pleases the Lord as in the days of Solomon (2 Chr. 7:8-10); Hezekiah (2 Chr. 30:26); Josiah (2 Chr. 35:18); and Ezra (Neh. 8:7).

3:5 What is a refining process for the remnant of repentant Jews who acknowledge their Messiah (cf. Zech. 12–14; Rom. 11:25-27), preparing them to enter the kingdom and worship in the millennial temple, will be for others utter destruction. All the iniquitous behavior in this verse are evidence that these are people who "do not fear God." In 2:17, they asked a question, and here is the answer, "I will come near for judgment." Occult practices were clearly forbidden (cf. Ex. 22:18; Deut. 18:10-12), but continued into NT times (cf. Acts 8:9). Adultery also violated God's law (2:16), as did perjury (cf. Ex. 20:16; Lev. 19:12; Deut. 19:16-20), extortion, and oppression.

3:6-12 These verses form a parenthesis between two messages concerning God's justice and judgment. What the Jews have labeled

[o] Therefore you are not consumed,
O sons of Jacob.

You have gone away from My ordinances

Even this whole nation.

The People Complain Harshly

And that we have walked as mourners
Before the LORD of hosts?

as God's injustice is not God's being unrighteous or unfair, but his being mercifully patient. A genuine call of repentance is then issued (v. 7) and the fruit of it described (v. 10).

3:6,7 Contrary to God's having become unjust and thus not acting on behalf of Israel, in light of their history of rebellion, Israel's existence was due only to the Lord's unchanging character and unswerving commitment to His covenant promise with the patriarchs (cf. Num. 23:19; 1 Sam. 15:29; James 1:17 in general; Jer. 31:35-37; 33:14-22 in particular). They may experience God's goodness again, and be blessed—if they repent. In view of the Lord's coming to refine and purify, Malachi presents a powerful challenge to repent (cf. Zech. 1:3). Yet, apparently unwilling to admit the sins on their part needing repentance (also cf. v. 8b), the invitation to return is met with another cynical query, asking how they can return when, from their perspective, they haven't left—God has. The truth was, God hasn't changed and neither have they; He was as righteous as ever and they as unrighteous.

3:8-12 In answer to their query about how they have deviated from God's way and need to return, the prophet picked an illustration of their spiritual defection that is very visible and undeniable. The Lord pointed out that they had not brought the required tithes and offerings, those used to fund the theocracy by sustaining the Levites (cf. Lev. 27:30-33; Num. 18:8-28; Deut. 12:18; Neh. 13:10), the natural religious festivals (Deut. 12:6-17; 14:22-27), and the poor (Deut. 14:28, 29). But in not paying their taxes, and so robbing God, they had robbed themselves, for God had withheld His blessing. On believers' responsibility to pay taxes, see notes on Matt. 22:21; Rom. 13:1-7. On NT freewill giving, see 1 Cor. 16:1,2; 2 Cor. 8,9.

3:8,9 you have robbed Me! Here was a glaring, widespread sin; they had stolen from God what was rightfully His by divine law.

3:10-12 try Me. Contrary to the normal biblical pattern, the people were invited to put God to the test (cf. Is. 7:11,12; 1 Kin. 18:20-46). If they would honor Him by reversing their robbery and in a show of true repentance bring what He required, He would shower them with excessive abundance (cf. Prov. 11:24,25), protect them from locusts ("the devourer"), and they would be the delight of the nations (cf. Is. 62:4). See notes on Luke 6:38; 2 Cor. 9:6-11.

3:10 all the tithes. See note on vv. 8-12. When tithes were unpaid, the priests were deprived and had to give up their ministry and to begin farming. The nation's religious life was hindered and the poor and strangers suffered (cf. Neh. 13:10-11). But, the real iniquity was that such disobedience was robbing God, who was the true King of the theocracy of Israel. storehouse. A room in the temple to store the tithes of crops and animals brought by the people (cf. 2 Chr. 31:11; Neh. 10:38,39; 12:44; 13:12). This was the temple treasury. One of Nehemiah's tasks was to insure that the supplies needed for support of the temple ministry did not fail as it had during his absence (cf. Neh. 13:10-13).

3:13 These sinful priests and people had not just questioned God (2:17), violated God's covenant (2:11), disobeyed His laws (2:9), defiled His altar (1:7,12) and despised His name (1:6), but had openly spoken against Him. In spite of what was promised (vv. 10-12), the people complained that obedience to God's law brought no rewards (v. 14). Only the proud and wicked prospered, they said (v. 15).

3:14 walked as mourners. The people pretended to grieve for their sins, walking around in sackcloth or even with blackened faces to convey apparent sorrow (cf. Is. 58:5; Joel 2:13; Matt. 6:16-18), then complained that all that religious activity was useless.

3:15 tempt God. The proud and wicked, with apparent impunity, put God to the test by seeing how far they could go in doing evil (cf.

Ps. 73:2-14). In v. 10, God invited His people to see how far He would go in blessing.

3:16–4:6 Malachi ended with an encouraging word for the faithful remnant.

3:16 book of remembrance. In the hearts of the true and righteous worshipers who loved and served God in Israel, all the talk of judgment produced fear that they, too, might be swept away when God's wrath came. To encourage the godly remnant, Malachi noted how the Lord had not forgotten those "who fear the Lord and who meditate on His name." The book may be a reference to the "book of life" in which the names of God's children are recorded (e.g., Ex. 32:32-34; Neh. 13:14; Ps. 69:28; Dan. 12:1). The Persians had a custom of recording in a book all acts of a person that should be rewarded in the future (e.g., Esth. 6:1,2). The psalmist knew of such a book as well (Ps. 56:8).

3:17 Mine...My jewels. "Mine" is emphatic in the Hebrew. The godly remnant will belong to Him and will be His special treasure (cf. same word in Ex. 19:5; Deut. 7:6; 14:2; 26:18; Ps. 135:4). In the midst of judgment, He will spare them (cf. Ps. 103:13).

3:18 The distinction between the godly and ungodly will be evident for all when the righteous Lord is present, ruling from the throne of David in Jerusalem.

4:1 the day is coming. The first 3 verses continue the thought of the closing verses of the previous chapter, elaborating on God's punishment of the wicked and His deliverance of the godly (cf. 3:1-5). This eschatological reference to the Day of the Lord (cf. Is. 13:6; Joel 2:11,31; Zeph. 1:14) is injected 4 times into the prophet's final words (3:17; 4:1,3,5). It anticipated the return of the Lord Jesus in judgment (cf. Rev. 19:11-21). Burning like an oven. Adding to the imagery of a refining fire (3:2), Malachi spoke of God's judgment as a destructive fire that swiftly and totally consumes with excessive heat (cf. with the proud of 3:15). The destruction of the roots, normally protected by their subsurface location, provide a vivid, proverbial picture of its totality. All who refuse to repent will be cast in to the fire of hell (cf. Rev. 20:11-15).

4:2 Sun of Righteousness. While the wicked will be devoured by the heat of His wrath; those who fear Him will feel His warmth with healing in His "rays" or "beams" (cf. Is. 30:26; 60:1,3). The reference is to the Messiah; He is "the Lord our Righteousness" (Ps. 84:11; Jer. 23:5,6; 1 Cor. 1:30). healing. The reference should not be limited to the physical recovery from the harm done by the wicked (cf. 3:5). This sickness is inextricably linked with sin, with healing coming only through the suffering of the Servant (cf. Ps. 103:3; Is. 53:5; 57:18,19; 1 Pet. 2:24). like stall-fed calves. Calves, when confined to a stall for extended periods of time, leap for sheer joy when turned loose into the sunlight. The picture is one of a joyful, vigorous, and carefree life.

4:3 ashes under...your feet. The destruction of the wicked is appreciated by those who suffered at their hand. Ashes were often poured on foot trails to provide a more solid pathway during wet weather. Here the wicked are compared to ashes, which the righteous will tread down as a result of the fire of God's judgment (cf. v. 1). The prophet desires, as should all believers, that there be far-reaching repentance, and if not, destruction of the impenitent is inescapable.

4:4 Both the law and the prophets play a part in preparing for the arrival of the Day of the Lord. First, the people were to remember what was given at Sinai (Horeb), the law of Moses primarily focusing on the obligations to obedience at the time of entering into that covenant (Ex. 24:1ff.; Josh. 8:32; 23:6; 1 Kin. 2:3).

4:5 Elijah. The mention of Elijah was to announce the Messiah's arrival (see Introduction: Interpretive Challenges). John the Baptist was a type of Elijah at Christ's first advent (cf. Luke 1:17). Moses and Elijah appeared together at the Mt. of Transfiguration (cf. Matt. 17:14) and may be the two witnesses in the Great Tribulation (cf. Rev. 11:1-3). Most likely, this will be an Elijah-like person, as John the Baptist was Elijah-like (see note on 3:1). In that day, his task will be to preach reconciliation to God so that souls can believe and be spared God's curse. He will be effective (v. 6).

[k] Before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD.
6 And he will turn
The hearts of the fathers to the
children,
And the hearts of the children to their fathers,
Lest I come and [l] strike the earth with [m] a curse."

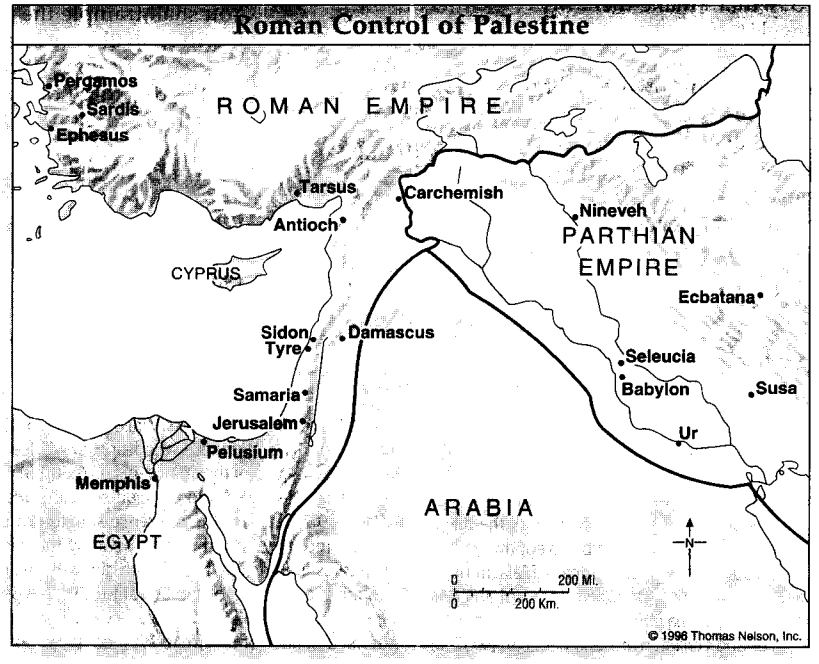
5 [k] Joel 2:31
6 [l] Zech. 14:12
[m] Zech. 5:3

4:6 turn...hearts. The very opposite of what occurred at Christ's first coming (cf. Matt. 10:34-36) anticipates a general societal repentance (cf. Matt. 25:31-46; Rev. 7:9-17; 20:4-6), so that complete destruction might be averted. The earth will be restored to Edenic wonder, the curse reversed, the kingdom established with Messiah reigning, and the righteous Jews and Gentiles entering it. curse. Not the normal word for curse, this word refers to the practice of devoting things or persons irrevocably to God, often by total destruction. Cities of Canaan were put under the "curse," and thus the people were to be exterminated (cf. Deut. 13:12-18; 20:16ff.). Its use here suggests that God would make a whole burnt offering of the earth if there was not a repentant remnant.



Introduction to the

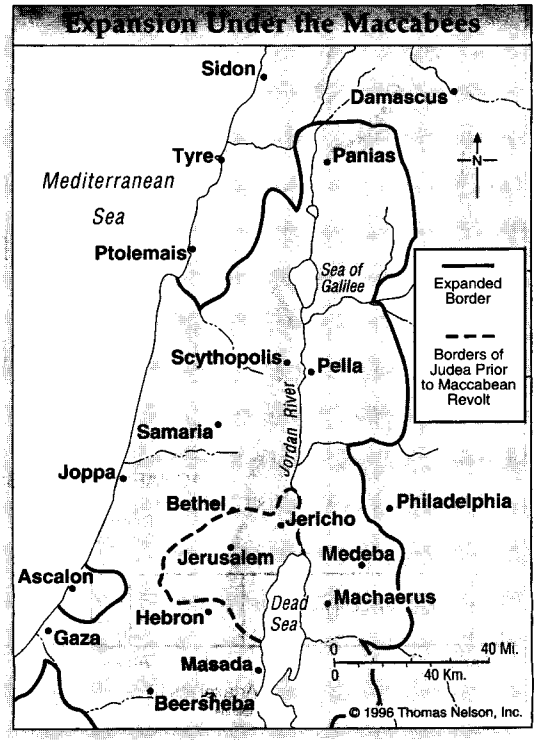
INTERTESTAMENTAL PERIOD

Over 400 years separated the final events (Neh. 13:4-30) and final prophecy (Mal. 1:1–4:6) recorded in the Old Testament from the beginning actions (Luke 1:5-25) narrated in the New Testament (ca. 424–26 B.C.). Because there was no prophetic word from God during this time, this period is sometimes called "the four hundred silent years." However, the history of these years followed the pattern predicted in Daniel (Dan. 2:24,45; 7:1-28; 8:1-27; 11:1-35) with exact precision. Though the voice of God was silent, the hand of God was actively directing the course of events during these centuries.

Jewish History

As predicted by Daniel, control of the land of Israel passed from the empire of Medo-Persia to Greece and then to Rome (Dan. 2:39,40; 7:5-7). For about 200 years, the Persian Empire ruled the Jews (539–332 B.C.). The Persians allowed the Jews to return, rebuild, and worship at the temple in Jerusalem (2 Chr. 36:22,23; Ezra 1:1-4). For about 100 years after the close of the Old Testament canon, Judea continued to be a Persian territory under the governor of Syria with the High-Priest exercising a measure of civil authority. The Jews were allowed to observe their religious tenets without any official governmental interference.

Between 334 B.C. and 331 B.C., Alexander the Great defeated the Persian king, Darius III, in 3 decisive battles that gave him control of the lands of the Persian Empire. The land of Israel thus passed into Greek control in 332 B.C. (Dan. 8:5-7,20,21; 11:3). Alexander permitted the Jews in Judea to observe their laws and granted them an exemption from taxes during their sabbatical years. However, Alexander sought to bring Greek culture, called "Hellenism," to the lands he had conquered. He wished to create a world united by Greek language and thinking. This policy, carried on by Alexander's successors, was as dangerous to the religion of Israel as the cult of Baal had been, because the Greek way of life was attractive, sophisticated, and humanly appealing, but utterly ungodly.



Upon Alexander's death in 323 B.C., a struggle ensued among his generals as his empire was divided (Dan. 8:22; 11:4). Ptolemy I Sater, founder of the Ptolemies of Egypt, took control of Israel, even though an agreement in 301 B.C. assigned it to Seleucus I Nicator, founder of the Seleucids of Syria. This caused continuing contention between the Seleucid and Ptolemaic dynasties (Dan. 11:5). The Ptolemies ruled Judea from 301 B.C. to 198 B.C. (Dan. 11:6-12). Under the Ptolemies, the Jews had comparative religious freedom in a setting of economic oppression.

In 198 B.C., Antiochus III the Great defeated Ptolemy V Epiphanes and took control of Palestine (Dan. 11:13-16). Judea was under Seleucid rule until 143 B.C. (Dan. 11:17-35). Early Seleucid toleration of Jewish religious practices came to an end in the reign of Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175–164 B.C.). Antiochus desecrated and plundered the temple of Jerusalem in 170 B.C. In 167 B.C., Antiochus ordered Hellenization in Palestine and forbade the Jews from keeping their laws, observing the Sabbath, keeping festivals, offering sacrifices, and circumcising their children. Torah were ordered destroyed, idolatrous altars were set up, plus the Jews were commanded by Antiochus to offer unclean sacrifices and to eat swine's flesh. Antiochus was the first pagan monarch to persecute the Jews for their faith (Dan. 8:9-14,23-25; 11:21-35).

An aged priest, Mattathias, and his 5 sons led the Jewish resistance against Antiochus and his Seleucid successors. This was known as the Maccabean Revolt because Judas Maccabeus (lit. "Hammer") was the first leader among the 5 sons. After a 24-year war (166–142 B.C.), the Jews were able to gain their independence from Syria because of the growing Roman pressure on the Seleucids. The descendants of Mattathias founded the Hasmonean dynasty, a name derived from Hashmon, an ancestor of the Maccabees.

The Hasmoneans took over the office of High-Priest, although they did not belong to the line of Zadok (Num. 25:10-13; Ezek. 40:46; 48:11). Quickly, the Hasmoneans began to follow Hellenistic ways, the very practices they had at first resisted. The Greek influence continued in Palestine from 142 B.C. to 63 B.C. through this native dynasty.

The Hasmonean dynasty ended in 63 B.C. when Pompey, a general of Rome, intervened in a clash between two claimants to the High-Priesthood, Aristobolus II and Hyrcanus II. The land thus passed into Roman control (Dan. 2:40; 7:7). Continuing unrest led the Romans to make Herod the Great king of Judea. He was an Idumean by birth, a Jewish proselyte, and thoroughly Greco-Roman in outlook. He ruled Palestine from 37 B.C. to 4 B.C. and was the "king of the Jews" when Jesus was born (Matt. 2:1,2).

Jewish Developments

Diaspora. The dispersion of Israel began in the two exiles, i.e., Israel in Assyria (2 Kin. 17:23) and Judah in Babylon (2 Kin. 25:21). The majority of Israelites did not return to Judea after the exile and so became colonists, no longer captives, in the Persian Empire. The geographical movement of Israelites continued in the Greek and Roman Empires so that by the first century A.D., Jews were found throughout the Mediterranean basin and Mesopotamia. The majority of Israelites lived outside of Palestine during the later Intertestamental Period.

Scribes and Rabbis. Believing the Exile had come because of a lack of knowledge of and obedience to the Torah, the Israelite exiles devoted themselves to the study of the Old Testament. The scribes became experts in and were considered authorities on the interpretation of the Scriptures during the Intertestamental Period. The rabbis were the teachers who passed on the scribal understanding of the Scriptures to the people of Israel.

Synagogue. With the destruction of the temple in 586 B.C., the synagogue became the place of education and worship for the Jews in exile. Since the majority of Jews did not return to Palestine after the Exile, synagogues continued to function in the Diaspora and also became established in Palestine, even after the reconstruction of the temple by Zerubbabel in 516 B.C.

Septuagint. With the emphasis placed on using the Greek language from ca. 330 B.C. on, the Jews of the Diaspora became predominately Greek-speakers. According to Jewish legend, in ca. 250 B.C., Ptolemy Philadelphus brought together 72 scholars who translated the Old Testament into Greek in 72 days. Thus, the Latin word for 70, "Septuagint" (LXX), was the name attached to this translation. Probably translated over the period from 250 B.C. to 125 B.C. in Alexandria, Egypt, the Septuagint was the most important and widely used Greek translation of the Old Testament.

Pharisees. This religious party probably began as the "holy ones" associated with the Maccabees in the endeavor to rid the land of Hellenistic elements. When the Maccabees turned themselves to Hellenism once it was in power, these holy ones "separated" (the possible source of the name, Pharisee) from the official religious establishment of Judea. The Pharisees interpreted the law strictly in accordance with a developing oral tradition and sought to make their understanding binding upon all Jews. Though few in number, the Pharisees enjoyed the favor of the majority of the people in Palestine.

Sadducees. Probably from the name "Zadok," the high priestly line, these Hellenized, aristocratic Jews became the guardians of the temple policy and practices. The Sadducees rejected the Old Testament as Scripture, except for the Torah, as well as any teaching they believed was not found in the Torah (the first 5 books of the OT), e.g., the resurrection from the dead (Acts 23:6-8).

The NEW TESTAMENT

Introduction to the GOSPELS

The English word "gospel" derives from the Anglo-Saxon word godspell, which can mean either "a story about God," or "a good story." The latter meaning is in harmony with the Greek word translated "gospel," euangellion, which means "good news." In secular Greek, euangellion referred to a good report about an important event. The 4 gospels are the good news about the most significant events in all of history—the life, sacrificial death, and resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth.

The gospels are not biographies in the modern sense of the word, since they do not intend to present a complete life of Jesus (cf. John 20:30; 21:25). Apart from the birth narratives, they give little information about the first 30 years of Jesus' life. While Jesus' public ministry lasted over 3 years, the gospels focus much of their attention on the last week of His life (cf. John 12-20). Though they are completely accurate historically, and present important biographical details of Jesus' life, the primary purposes of the gospels are theological and apologetic (John 20:31). They provide authoritative answers to questions about Jesus' life and ministry, and they strengthen believers' assurance regarding the reality of their faith (Luke 1:4).

Although many spurious gospels were written, the church from earliest times has accepted only Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John as inspired Scripture. While each gospel has its unique perspective (see the discussion of the "Synoptic Problem" in the Introduction to Mark: Interpretive Challenges), Matthew, Mark, and Luke, when compared to John, share a common point of view. Because of that, they are known as the synoptic (from a Greek word meaning "to see together," or "to share a common point of view") gospels. Matthew, Mark, and Luke, for example, focus on Christ's Galilean ministry, while John focuses on His ministry in Judea. The synoptic gospels contain numerous parables, while John records none. John and the synoptic gospels record only two common events (Jesus' walking on the water, and the feeding of the 5,000) prior to Passion Week. These differences between John and the synoptic gospels, however, are not contradictory, but complementary.

As already noted, each gospel writer wrote from a unique perspective, for a different audience. As a result, each gospel contains distinctive elements. Taken together, the 4 gospels form a complete testimony about Jesus Christ.

Matthew wrote primarily to a Jewish audience, presenting Jesus of Nazareth as Israel's long-awaited Messiah and rightful King. His genealogy, unlike Luke's, focuses on Jesus' royal descent from Israel's greatest king, David. Interspersed throughout Matthew are OT quotes presenting various aspects of Jesus' life and ministry as the fulfillment of OT messianic prophecy. Matthew alone uses the phrase "kingdom of heaven," avoiding the parallel phrase "kingdom of God" because of the unbiblical connotations it had in first-century Jewish thought. Matthew wrote his gospel, then, to strengthen the faith of Jewish Christians, and it provides a useful apologetic tool for Jewish evangelism.

Mark targeted a Gentile audience, especially a Roman one (see Introduction to Mark: Background and Setting). Mark is the gospel of action; the frequent use of "immediately" and "then" keeps his narrative moving rapidly along. Jesus appears in Mark as the Servant (cf. Mark 10:45) who came to suffer for the sins of many. Mark's fast-paced approach would especially appeal to the practical, action-oriented Romans.

Luke addressed a broader Gentile audience. As an educated Greek (see Introduction to Luke: Author and Date), Luke wrote using the most sophisticated literary Greek of any NT writer. He was a careful researcher (Luke 1:1-4) and an accurate historian. Luke portrays Jesus as the Son of Man (a title appearing 26 times), the answer to the needs and hopes of the human race, who came to seek and save lost sinners (Luke 9:56; 19:10).

John, the last gospel written, emphasizes the deity of Jesus Christ (e.g., 5:18; 8:58; 10:30-33; 14:9). John wrote to strengthen the faith of believers and to appeal to unbelievers to come to faith in Christ. The apostle clearly stated his purpose for writing in 20:31: ". . . these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing you may have life in His name."

Taken together, the 4 gospels weave a complete portrait of the God-Man, Jesus of Nazareth. In Him were blended perfect humanity and deity, making Him the only sacrifice for the sins of the world, and the worthy Lord of those who believe.

The Gospel According to MATTHEW

Title

Matthew, meaning "gift of the Lord," was the other name of Levi (9:9), the tax collector who left everything to follow Christ (Luke 5:27,28). Matthew was one of the 12 apostles (10:3; Mark 3:18; Luke 6:15; Acts 1:13). In his own list of the 12, he explicitly calls himself a "tax collector" (10:3). Nowhere else in Scripture is the name Matthew associated with "tax collector"; the other evangelists always employ his former name, Levi, when speaking of his sinful past. This is evidence of humility on Matthew's part. As with the other 3 gospels, this work is known by the name of its author.

Author and Date

The canonicity and Matthean authorship of this gospel were unchallenged in the early church. Eusebius (ca. A.D. 265–339) quotes Origen (ca. A.D. 185–254):

> Among the four Gospels, which are the only indisputable ones in the Church of God under heaven, I have learned by tradition that the first was written by Matthew, who was once a publican, but afterwards an apostle of Jesus Christ, and it was prepared for the converts from Judaism (Ecclesiastical History, 6:25).

It is clear that this gospel was written at a relatively early date—prior to the destruction of the temple in A.D. 70. Some scholars have proposed a date as early as A.D. 50. For a further discussion of some of the issues related to the authorship and dating of this gospel, especially "The Synoptic Problem," see Introduction to Mark: Interpretive Challenges.

Background and Setting

The Jewish flavor of Matthew's gospel is remarkable. This is evident even in the opening genealogy, which Matthew traces back only as far as Abraham. In contrast, Luke, aiming to show Christ as the Redeemer of humanity, goes all the way back to Adam. Matthew's purpose is somewhat narrower: to demonstrate that Christ is the King and Messiah of Israel. This gospel quotes more than 60 times from OT prophetic passages, emphasizing how Christ is the fulfillment of all those promises.

The probability that Matthew's audience was predominantly Jewish is further evident from several facts: Matthew usually cites Jewish custom without explaining it, in contrast to the other gospels (cf. Mark 7:3; John 19:40). He constantly refers to Christ as "the Son of David" (1:1; 9:27; 12:23; 15:22; 20:30; 21:9,15; 22:42,45). Matthew even guards Jewish sensibilities regarding the name of God, referring to "the kingdom of heaven" where the other evangelists speak of "the kingdom of God." All the book's major themes are rooted in the OT and set in light of Israel's messianic expectations.

Matthew's use of Greek may suggest that he was writing as a Palestinian Jew to Hellenistic Jews elsewhere. He wrote as an eyewitness of many of the events he described, giving firsthand testimony about the words and works of Jesus of Nazareth.

His purpose is clear: to demonstrate that Jesus is the Jewish nation's long-awaited Messiah. His voluminous quoting of the OT is specifically designed to show the tie between the Messiah of promise and the Christ of history. This purpose is never out of focus for Matthew, and he even adduces many incidental details from the OT prophecies as proofs of Jesus' messianic claims (e.g., 2:17,18; 4:13-15; 13:35; 21:4,5; 27:9,10).

Historical and Theological Themes

Since Matthew is concerned with setting forth Jesus as Messiah, the King of the Jews, an interest in the OT kingdom promises runs throughout this gospel. Matthew's signature phrase "the kingdom of heaven" occurs 32 times in this book (and nowhere else in all of Scripture).

The opening genealogy is designed to document Christ's credentials as Israel's king, and the rest of the book completes this theme. Matthew shows that Christ is the heir of the kingly line. He demonstrates that He is the fulfillment of dozens of OT prophecies regarding the king who would come. He offers evidence after evidence to establish Christ's kingly prerogative. All other historical and theological themes in the book revolve around this one.

Matthew records 5 major discourses: the Sermon on the Mount (chaps. 5–7); the commissioning of the apostles (chap. 10); the parables about the kingdom (chap. 13); a discourse about the childlikeness of the believer (chap. 18); and the discourse on His second coming (chaps. 24,25). Each discourse ends with a variation of this phrase: "when Jesus had ended these sayings" (7:28; 11:1; 13:53; 19:1; 26:1). That becomes a motif signaling a new narrative portion. A long opening section (chaps. 1–4) and a short conclusion (28:16-20), bracket the rest of the gospel, which naturally divides into 5 sections, each with a discourse and a narrative section. Some have seen a parallel between these 5 sections and the 5 books of Moses in the OT.

The conflict between Christ and Pharisaism is another common theme in Matthew's gospel. But Matthew is keen to show the error of the Pharisees for the benefit of his Jewish audience—not for personal or self-aggrandizing reasons. Matthew omits, for example, the parable of the Pharisee and the tax collector, even though that parable would have put him in a favorable light.

Matthew also mentions the Sadducees more than any of the other gospels. Both Pharisees and Sadducees are regularly portrayed negatively, and held up as warning beacons. Their doctrine is a leaven that must be avoided (16:11,12). Although these groups were doctrinally at odds with one another, they were united in their hatred of Christ. To Matthew, they epitomized all in Israel who rejected Christ as King.

The rejection of Israel's Messiah is another constant theme in this gospel. In no other gospel are the attacks against Jesus portrayed as strongly as here. From the flight into Egypt to the scene at the cross, Matthew paints a more vivid portrayal of Christ's rejection than any of the other evangelists. In Matthew's account of the crucifixion, for example, no thief repents, and no friends or loved ones are seen at the foot of the cross. In His death, He is forsaken even by God (27:46). The shadow of rejection is never lifted from the story.

Yet Matthew portrays Him as a victorious King who will one day return "on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory" (24:30).

Interpretive Challenges

As noted above, Matthew groups his narrative material around 5 great discourses. He makes no attempt to follow a strict chronology, and a comparison of the gospels reveals that Matthew freely places things out of order. He is dealing with themes and broad concepts, not laying out a timeline.

The prophetic passages present a particular interpretive challenge. Jesus' Olivet discourse, for example, contains some details that evoke images of the violent destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70 Jesus' words in 24:34 have led some to conclude that all these things were fulfilled—albeit not literally—in the Roman conquest of that era. This is the view known as "preterism." But this is a serious interpretive blunder, forcing the interpreter to read into these passages spiritualized, allegorical meanings unwarranted by normal exegetical methods. The grammatical-historical hermeneutical approach to these passages is the approach to follow, and it yields a consistently futuristic interpretation of crucial prophecies.

For a discussion of the Synoptic Problem, see Introduction to Mark: Interpretive Challenges.

12 And after they were brought to Babylon, [u]Jeconiah begot Shealtiel, and Shealtiel begot [v]Zerubbabel. 13 Zerubbabel begot Abiud, Abiud begot Eliakim, and Eliakim begot Azor. 14 Azor begot Zadok, Zadok begot Achim, and Achim begot Eliud. 15 Eliud begot Eleazar, Eleazar begot Matthan, and Matthan begot Jacob. 16 And Jacob begot Joseph the husband of [w]Mary, of whom was born Jesus who is called Christ.

17 So all the generations from Abraham to David are fourteen generations, from David until the captivity in Babylon are fourteen generations, and from the captivity in Babylon until the Christ are fourteen generations.

Birth of Christ

18 Now the [x]birth of Jesus Christ was as follows: After His mother Mary was betrothed to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with child [y]of the Holy Spirit. 19 Then Joseph her husband, being [6]a just man, and not wanting [z]to make her

1:1 book of the genealogy of Jesus Christ. This phrase is viewed by some as Matthew's title for the entire gospel. The Gr. phrase translated "book of the genealogy" is exactly the same phrase used in Gen. 5:1 in the LXX. Jesus Christ. The Hebrew Jeshua means "the Lord is Salvation." Christos means "anointed one" and is the exact equivalent of the Heb. word for "Messiah" (Dan. 9:25). Son of David. A messianic title used as such in only the synoptic gospels (see notes on 22:42,45). Son of Abraham. Takes His royal lineage all the way back to the nation's inception in the Abrahamic Covenant (Gen. 12:1-3).

1:2 For a comparison of this genealogy and the one given by Luke, see note on Luke 3:23-38.

1:3 Tamar. It is unusual for women to be named in genealogies. Matthew names 5: "Tamar" was a Canaanite woman who posed as a prostitute to seduce Judah (Gen. 38:13-30). "Rahab" (v. 5) was a Gentile and a prostitute (Josh. 2:1). "Ruth" (v. 5) was a Moabite woman (Ruth 1:3) and thus her offspring were forbidden to enter the assembly of the Lord for 10 generations (Deut. 23:3). "Bathsheba" ("Uriah's wife," v. 6) committed adultery with David (2 Sam. 11). And "Mary" (v. 16) bore the stigma of pregnancy outside of wedlock. Each of these women is an object lesson about the workings of divine grace.

1:5,6 Salmon begot Boaz by Rahab...and Jesse begot David the king. This is not an exhaustive genealogy. Several additional generations must have elapsed between Rahab (in Joshua's time) and David (v. 6)—nearly 4 centuries later. Matthew's genealogy (like most of the biblical ones) sometimes skips over several generations between well known characters in order to abbreviate the listing.

1:8 Joram begot Uzziah. Cf. 1 Chr. 3:10-12. Matthew skips over Ahaziah, Joash, and Amaziah, going directly from Joram to Uzziah (Azariah)—using a kind of genealogical shorthand. He seems to do this intentionally in order to make a symmetrical 3-fold division in v. 17.

1:11 Josiah begot Jeconiah. Again, Matthew skips a generation between Josiah and Jeconiah (cf. 1 Chr. 3:14-16). Jeconiah is also called Jehoiachin (2 Kin. 24:6; 2 Chr. 36:8) and sometimes Coniah (Jer. 22:24). Jeconiah's presence in this genealogy presents an interesting dilemma. A curse on him forbade any of his descendants from the throne of David forever (Jer. 22:30). Since Jesus was heir through Joseph to the royal line of descent, but not an actual son of Joseph and thus not a physical descendant through this line, the curse bypassed him.

1:12 Shealtiel begot Zerubbabel. See 1 Chr. 3:17-19, where Zerubbabel is said to be the offspring of Pedaiah, Shealtiel's brother. Elsewhere in the OT, Zerubbabel is always called the son of Shealtiel. (e.g., Hag. 1:1; Ezra 3:2; Neh. 12:1). Possibly Shealtiel adopted his nephew (see note on Hag. 2:23). Zerubbabel is the last character in Matthew's list who appears in any of the OT genealogies.

1:16 Joseph the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus. This is the only entry in the entire genealogy where the word "begot" is not used—including those where whole generations were skipped. The pronoun "whom" is sing., referring to Mary alone. The unusual way in which this final entry is phrased underscores the fact that Jesus was not Joseph's literal offspring. The genealogy nonetheless establishes His claim to the throne of David as Joseph's legal heir.

1:17 fourteen generations. The significance of the number 14 is not clear, but Matthew's attention to numbers—a distinctly Hebrew characteristic—is evident throughout the gospel. The systematic ordering may be an aid for memorization. Note that Matthew counts Jeconiah in both the third and fourth groups, representing both the last generation before the Babylonian captivity and the first generation after.

1:18 betrothed. Jewish betrothal was as binding as modern marriage. A divorce was necessary to terminate the betrothal (v. 19) and the betrothed couple were regarded legally as husband and wife (v. 19)—although physical union had not yet taken place. See note on Luke 2:5. with child of the Holy Spirit. See vv. 20,23; Luke 1:26-35.

1:19 Joseph...being a just man...was minded to put her away secretly. Stoning was the legal prescription for this sort of adultery (Deut. 22:23,24). Joseph's righteousness meant he was also merciful; thus he did not intend to make Mary "a public example." The a public example, was minded to put her away secretly. 20 But while he thought about these things, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, "Joseph, son of David, do not be afraid to take to you Mary your wife, [a]for that which is [7]conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit. 21 [b]And she will bring forth a Son, and you shall call His name [8]JESUS, [c]for He will save His people from their sins."

22 So all this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying: 23 [d]"Behold,[9] the virgin shall be with child, and bear a Son, and they shall call His name Immanuel," which is translated, "God with us."

24 Then Joseph, being aroused from sleep, did as the angel of the Lord commanded him and took to him his wife, 25 and [1]did not know her till she had brought forth [e]her[2] firstborn Son. And he called His name JESUS.

Visit of Wise Men

2 Now after [a]Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, [1]wise men [b]from the East came to Jerusalem, 2 saying, [c]"Where is He who has been born King of the Jews? For we have seen [d]His star in the East and have come to worship Him."

3 When Herod the king heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. 4 And when he had gathered all [e]the chief priests and [f]scribes of the people together, [g]he inquired of them where the Christ was to be born.

5 So they said to him, "In Bethlehem of Judea, for thus it is written by the prophet:

6 'But[h] you, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah,
Are not the least among the rulers of Judah;
For out of you shall come a Ruler
[i]Who will shepherd My people Israel.'"

7 Then Herod, when he had secretly called the [2]wise men, determined from them what time the [j]star appeared. 8 And he sent them to Bethlehem and said, "Go and search carefully for the young Child, and when you have found Him, bring back phrase "a just man" is a Hebraism suggesting that he was a true believer in God who had thereby been declared righteous, and who carefully obeyed the law (see Gen. 6:9). To "put her away" would be to obtain a legal divorce (19:8,9; Deut. 24:1), which according to the Jewish custom was necessary in order to dissolve a betrothal (see note on v. 18).

1:20 an angel of the Lord. This is one of only a few such angelic visitations in the NT, most of which are associated with Christ's birth. For others, see 28:2; Acts 5:19; 8:26; 10:3; 12:7-10; 27:23; Rev. 1:1. in a dream. As if to underscore the supernatural character of Christ's advent, Matthew's narrative of the event describes 5 such revelatory dreams: v. 20; 2:12,13,19,22. Here the angel told Joseph he was to take Mary into his own home.

1:21 JESUS. See v. 25; Luke 1:31. The name actually means "Savior" (see note on v. 1).

1:22 that it might be fulfilled. Matthew points out fulfillments of OT prophecies no less than a dozen times (cf. 2:15,17,23; 4:14; 8:17; 12:17; 13:14,35; 21:4; 26:54-56; 27:9,35). He quotes from the OT more than 60 times, more frequently than any other NT writer, except Paul in Romans.

1:23 virgin. Scholars sometimes dispute whether the Hebrew term in Is. 7:14 means "virgin" or "maiden." Matthew is quoting here from the LXX which uses the unambiguous Gr. term for "virgin" (see note on Is. 7:14). Thus Matthew, writing under the Spirit's inspiration, ends all doubt about the meaning of the word in Is. 7:14. Immanuel. Cf. Is. 8:8,10.

1:24 took to him his wife. See note on Luke 2:5.

1:25 know her. A euphemism for sexual intercourse. See Gen. 4:1,17,25; 38:26; Judg. 11:39.

2:1 Bethlehem. A small village on the southern outskirts of Jerusalem. Hebrew scholars in Jesus' day clearly expected Bethlehem to be the birthplace of the Messiah (cf. Mic. 5:2; John 7:42). in the days of Herod the king. This refers to Herod the Great, the first of several important rulers from the Herodian dynasty who are named in Scripture. This Herod, founder of the famous line, ruled from 37–4 B.C. He is thought to have been Idumean, a descendant of the Edomites, offspring of Esau. Herod was ruthless and cunning. He loved opulence and grand building projects, and many of the most magnificent ruins that can be seen in modern Israel date back to the days of Herod the Great. His most famous project was the rebuilding of the temple at Jerusalem (see note on 24:1). That project alone took several decades and was not completed until long after Herod's death (cf. John 2:20). See note on v. 22. wise men from the East. The number of wise men is not given. The traditional notion that there were 3 stems from the number of gifts they brought. These were not kings, but Magi, magicians or astrologers—possibly Zoroastrian wise men from Persia whose knowledge of the Hebrew Scriptures could be traced back to the time of Daniel (cf. Dan. 5:11).

2:2 saying. This present participle conveys the idea of continuous action. It suggests they went around the city questioning everyone they met. star. This could not have been a supernova or a conjunction of planets, as some modern theories suggest, because of the way the star moved and settled over one place (cf. v. 9). It is more likely a supernatural reality similar to the Shekinah that guided the Israelites in the days of Moses (Ex. 13:21).

2:4 chief priests. These were the temple hierarchy. They were mostly Sadducees (see note on 3:7). scribes. Primarily Pharisees, i.e., authorities on Jewish law. Sometimes they are referred to as "lawyers" (see note on Luke 10:25). They were professional scholars whose specialty was explaining the application of the law. They knew exactly where the Messiah was to be born (v. 5), but lacked the faith to accompany the Magi to the place where He was.

2:6 This ancient prophecy from Mic. 5:2 was written in the eighth century B.C. The original prophecy, not quoted in full by Matthew, declared the deity of Israel's Messiah: "Out of you shall come forth to Me the One to be Ruler in Israel, whose goings forth are from of old, from everlasting." a Ruler who will shepherd My people Israel. This portion of Matthew's quote actually seems to be a reference to God's words to Saul when Israel's kingdom was originally established (2 Sam. 5:2; 1 Chr. 11:2). The Gr. word for "ruler" evokes the image of strong, even stern, leadership. "Shepherd" emphasizes tender care. Christ's rule involves both (cf. Rev. 12:5).

word to me, that I may come and worship Him also."

9 When they heard the king, they departed; and behold, the star which they had seen in the East went before them, till it came and stood over where the young Child was. 10 When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceedingly great joy. 11 And when they had come into the house, they saw the young Child with Mary His mother, and fell down and worshiped Him. And when they had opened their treasures, [k]they presented gifts to Him: gold, frankincense, and myrrh.

12 Then, being divinely warned [l]in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed for their own country another way.

Flight into Egypt

13 Now when they had departed, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, saying, "Arise, take the young Child and His mother, flee to Egypt, and stay there until I bring you word; for Herod will seek the young Child to destroy Him."

14 When he arose, he took the young Child and His mother by night and departed for Egypt, 15 and was there until the death of Herod, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying, [m] "Out of Egypt I called My Son."

Herod Kills the Children

16 Then Herod, when he saw that he was deceived by the wise men, was exceedingly angry; and he sent forth and put to death all the male children who were in Bethlehem and in all its districts, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had determined from the wise men. 17 Then was fulfilled what was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying:

18 "[n]A voice was heard in Ramah,
Lamentation, weeping, and great mourning,
Rachel weeping for her children,

11 [k] Ps. 72:10; Is. 60:6
12 [l] [Job 33:15, 16]; Matt. 1:20
15 [m] Num. 24:8; Hos. 11:1
18 [n] Jer. 31:15

2:8 that I may come and worship Him. Herod actually wanted to kill the Child (vv. 13-18), whom he saw as a potential threat to his throne.

2:11 into the house. By the time the wise men arrived, Mary and Joseph were situated in a house, not a stable (cf. Luke 2:7). the young Child with Mary His mother. Whenever Matthew mentions Mary in connection with her Child, Christ is always given first place (cf. vv. 13,14,20,21). gold, frankincense, and myrrh. Gifts suitable for a king (cf. Is. 60:6). The fact that Gentiles would offer such worship had prophetic significance as well (Ps. 72:10).

2:12,13 in a dream. See note on 1:20.

2:15 the death of Herod. Recent scholarship sets this date at 4 B.C. It is probable that the stay in Egypt was very brief—perhaps no more than a few weeks. Out of Egypt. This quotation is from Hos. 11:1 (see note there), which speaks of God's leading Israel out of Egypt in the Exodus. Matthew suggests that Israel's sojourn in Egypt was a pictorial prophecy, rather than a specific verbal one such as v. 6; cf. 1:23. These are called "types" and all are always fulfilled in Christ, and identified clearly by the NT writers. Another example of a type is found in John 3:14. See note on v. 17.

2:16 put to death all the male children. Herod's act is all the more heinous in light of his full knowledge that the Lord's Anointed One was the target of his murderous plot.

2:17 fulfilled. See note on v. 15. Again, this prophecy is in the form of a type. Verse 18 quotes Jer. 31:15 (see note there), which speaks of all Israel's mourning at the time of the Babylonian captivity (ca. 586 B.C.). That wailing prefigured the wailing over Herod's massacre.

Family Tree of Herod

2:19 in a dream. See note on 1:20.

2:22 Archelaus. Herod's kingdom was divided 3 ways and given to his sons: Archelaus ruled Judea, Samaria, and Idumea; Herod Philip II ruled the regions N of Galilee (Luke 3:1); and Herod Antipas ruled Galilee and Perea (Luke 3:1). History records that Archelaus was so brutal and ineffective that he was deposed by Rome after a short reign and replaced with a governor appointed by Rome. Pontius Pilate was the fifth governor of Judea. Herod Antipas is the main Herod in the gospel accounts. He was the one who had John the Baptist put to death (14:1-12), and examined Christ on the eve of the crucifixion (Luke 23:7-12).

2:23 "He shall be called a Nazarene." Nazareth, an obscure town 55 mi. N of Jerusalem, was a place of lowly reputation, and nowhere mentioned in the OT. Some have suggested that "Nazarene" is a reference to the Heb. word for branch in Is. 11:1. Others point out that Matthew's statement that "prophets" had made this prediction may be a reference to verbal prophecies nowhere recorded in the OT. A still more likely explanation is that Matthew is using "Nazarene" as a synonym for someone who is despised or detestable—for that was how people from the region were often characterized (cf. John 1:46). If that is the case, the prophecies Matthew has in mind would include Ps. 22:6-8; Is. 49:7; 53:3.

3:1 John the Baptist. Cf. Mark 1:2-14; Luke 1:5-25,57-80; 3:3-20; John 1:6-8,19-39. the wilderness of Judea. The region to the immediate W of the Dead Sea—an utterly barren desert. The Jewish sect of the Essenes had significant communities in this region. But there is no biblical evidence to suggest that John was in any way connected with that sect. John seems to have preached near the northern end of this region, close by where the Jordan flows into the Dead Sea (v. 6). This was a full day's journey from Jerusalem and seems an odd location to announce the arrival of a King. But it is perfectly in keeping with God's ways (1 Cor. 1:26-29).

3:2 Repent. This is no mere academic change of mind, nor mere regret or remorse. John the Baptist spoke of repentance as a radical turning from sin that inevitably became manifest in the fruit of righteousness (v. 8). Jesus' first sermon began with the same imperative (4:17). For a discussion of the nature of repentance, see notes on 2 Cor. 7:8-11. the kingdom of heaven. This is an expression unique to Matthew's gospel. Matthew uses the word "heaven" as a euphemism for God's name—to accommodate his Jewish readers' sensitivities (cf. 23:22). Throughout the rest of Scripture, the kingdom is called "the kingdom of God." Both expressions refer to the sphere of God's dominion over those who belong to Him. The kingdom is now manifest in heaven's spiritual rule over the hearts of believers (Luke 17:21); and one day will be established in a literal earthly kingdom (Rev. 20:4-6). is at hand. In one sense the kingdom is a present reality, but in its fullest sense it awaits a yet-future fulfillment.

3:3 spoken of by the prophet Isaiah. John's mission had long ago been described in Is. 40:3 (see note there). All 4 of the gospels cite this passage as a prophecy pointing to John the Baptist (see note on Luke 3:6).

3:4 clothed in camel's hair, with a leather belt. Practical and long-wearing clothes, but far from comfortable or fashionable. John evokes the image of Elijah (2 Kin. 1:8)—and the Israelites were expecting Elijah before the Day of the Lord (Mal. 4:5). locusts. These were an allowed food (Lev. 11:22).

3:6 baptized. The symbolism of John's baptism likely had its roots in OT purification rituals (cf. Lev. 15:13). Baptism had also long been administered to Gentile proselytes coming into Judaism. The baptism of John thus powerfully and dramatically symbolized repentance. Jews accepting John's baptism were admitting they had been as Gentiles and needed to become the people of God genuinely, inwardly (an amazing admission, given their hatred of Gentiles). The people were repenting in anticipation of the Messiah's arrival. The meaning of John's baptism differs somewhat from Christian baptism (cf. Acts 18:25). Actually, Christian baptism altered the significance of the ritual, symbolizing the believer's identification with Christ in His death, burial, and resurrection (Rom. 6:3-5; Col. 2:12).

3:7 Pharisees and Sadducees. See note on John 3:1. The Pharisees were a small (about 6,000), legalistic sect of the Jews who were known for their rigid adherence to the ceremonial fine points of the law. Their yourselves, [m]'We have Abraham as our father.' For I say to you that God is able to raise up children to Abraham from these stones. 10 And even now the ax is laid to the root of the trees. Baptism of Jesus

Mark 1:9-11; Luke 3:21-23

13 [s]Then Jesus came [t]from Galilee to John at the Jordan to be baptized by him. 14 And John tried to prevent Him, saying, "I need to be baptized by You, and are You coming to me?"

15 But Jesus answered and said to him, "Permit it to be so now, for thus it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness." Then he allowed Him.

16 [u]When He had been baptized, Jesus came up immediately from the water; and behold, the heavens were opened to Him, and [2]He saw [v]the Spirit of God descending like a dove and alighting upon Him. 17 [w]And suddenly a voice came from heaven, saying, [x]"This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

Mark 1:12, 13; Luke 4:1-4

1 [a] Matt. 4:1-11; Mark 1:12; Luke 4:1 [b] Ezek. 3:14; Acts 8:39 name means "separated ones." Jesus' interaction with the Pharisees was usually adversarial. He rebuked them for using human tradition to nullify Scripture (15:3-9), and especially for rank hypocrisy (15:7,8; 22:18; 23:13,23,25,29; Luke 12:1). The Sadducees were known for their denial of things supernatural. They denied the resurrection of the dead (22:23) and the existence of angels (Acts 23:8). Unlike the Pharisees, they rejected human tradition and scorned legalism. They accepted only the Pentateuch as authoritative. They tended to be wealthy, aristocratic members of the priestly tribe, and in the days of Herod their sect controlled the temple (see note on 2:4), though they were fewer in number than the Pharisees. Pharisees and Sadducees had little in common. Pharisees were ritualists; Sadducees were rationalists. Pharisees were legalists; Sadducees were liberals. Pharisees were separatists; Sadducees were compromisers and political opportunists. Yet they united together in their opposition to Christ (22:15,16,23,34,35). John publicly addressed them as deadly snakes. the wrath to come. See note on Luke 3:7. John's preaching echoed the familiar OT theme of promised wrath in the Day of the Lord (e.g., Ezek. 7:19; Zeph. 1:18; see Introduction to Joel: Historical and Theological Themes). This must have been a particularly stinging rebuke to the Jewish leaders, who imagined that divine wrath was reserved only for non-Jews.

3:8 fruits worthy of repentance. See note on v. 2. Repentance itself is not a work, but works are its inevitable fruit. Repentance and faith are inextricably linked in Scripture. Repentance means turning from one's sin, and faith is turning to God (cf. 1 Thess. 1:9). They are like opposite sides of the same coin. That is why both are linked to conversion (Mark 1:15; Acts 3:19; 20:21). Note that the works John demanded to see were "fruits" of repentance. But repentance itself is no more a "work" than faith is (see note on 2 Tim. 2:25).

3:9 Abraham as our father. See John 8:39-44. They believed that merely being descendants of Abraham, members of God's chosen race, made them spiritually secure. But Abraham's real descendants are those who share his faith (cf. Rom. 4:16). And "only those who are of faith are sons of Abraham" (Gal. 3:7,29). See note on Luke 3:8.

3:10 the ax is laid to the root. Irreversible judgment was imminent (see note on 11:3).

3:11 Three types of baptism are referred to here: 1) with water unto repentance. John's baptism symbolized cleansing (see note on v. 6); 2) with the Holy Spirit. All believers in Christ are Spirit-baptized (1 Cor. 12:13); and 3) with...fire. Because fire is used throughout this context as a means of judgment (vv. 10,12), this must speak of a baptism of judgment upon the unrepentant.

3:12 winnowing fan. A tool for tossing grain into the wind so that the chaff is blown away.

3:14 John tried to prevent Him. John's baptism symbolized repentance, and John saw this as inappropriate for the One he knew was the spotless Lamb of God (cf. John 1:29).

3:15 it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness. Christ was here identifying Himself with sinners. He will ultimately bear their sins; His perfect righteousness will be imputed to them (2 Cor. 5:21). This act of baptism was a necessary part of the righteousness He secured for sinners. This first public event of His ministry is also rich in meaning: 1) it pictured His death and resurrection (cf. Luke 12:50); 2) it therefore prefigured the significance of Christian baptism (see note on v. 6); 3) it marked His first public identification with those whose sins he would bear (Is. 53:11; 1 Pet. 3:18); and 4) it was a public affirmation of His messiahship by testimony directly from heaven (see note on v. 17).

3:16,17 Jesus...the Spirit of God...a voice came from heaven. Here all 3 Persons of the Trinity are clearly delineated. See note on Luke 3:22. The Father's command to hear His Son and the Spirit's vindication and empowerment (see note on 12:31) officially inaugurated Christ's ministry.

3:17 My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. This heavenly pronouncement combines language from Ps. 2:7 and Is. 42:1—prophecies that would have been well known to those with messianic expectations. Cf. 17:5; Mark 1:11; 9:7; Luke 3:22; 9:35.

4:1 led up by the Spirit...to be tempted by the devil. God Himself is never the agent of temptation (James 1:13), but here—as in the book of Job—God uses even satanic tempting to serve His sovereign purposes. Christ was tempted in all points (Heb. 4:15; 1 John 2:16); Satan tempted Him with "the lust of the flesh" (vv. 2,3); "the lust of the eyes" (vv. 8,9); and "the pride of life" (vv. 5,6).

4:2 forty days and forty nights. Similarly, Moses was without food or drink on Sinai for "forty days and forty nights" (Deut. 9:9), and Elijah also fasted that long (1 Kin. 19:8). See note on 12:40.

4:3 If You are the Son of God. The conditional "if" carries the meaning of "since" in this context. There was no doubt in Satan's mind who Jesus was; but Satan's design was to get Him to violate the plan of God and employ the divine power that He had set aside in His humiliation (cf. Phil. 2:7).

command that these stones become bread."

4 But He answered and said, "It is written, [c] 'Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God.'"

Second Temptation—Luke 4:9-12

5 Then the devil took Him up [d] into the holy city, set Him on the pinnacle of the temple, 6 and said to Him, "If You are the Son of God, throw Yourself down. For it is written:

> [e] 'He shall give His angels charge over you,'

and,

> '[f] In their hands they shall bear you up,
> Lest you dash your foot against a stone.'"

7 Jesus said to him, "It is written again, [g] 'You shall not [1] tempt the LORD your God.'"

Third Temptation
Mark 1:13; Luke 4:5-8, 13

8 Again, the devil took Him up on an exceedingly high mountain, and [h] showed Him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory. 9 And he said to Him, "All these things I will give You if You will fall down and worship me."

10 Then Jesus said to him, [2] "Away with you, Satan! For it is written, [i] 'You shall worship the LORD your God, and Him only you shall serve.'"

11 Then the devil [j] left Him, and behold, [k] angels came and ministered to Him.

Jesus Begins His Ministry
Mark 1:14, 15; Luke 4:14, 31

12 [l] Now when Jesus heard that John had been put in prison, He departed to Galilee. 13 And leaving Nazareth, He came and dwelt in Capernaum, which is by the sea, in the regions of Zebulun and Naphtali, 14 that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

> 15 "The [m] land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali,
> By the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan,
> Galilee of the Gentiles:
> 16 [n] The people who sat in darkness have seen a great light,
> And upon those who sat in the region and shadow of death
> Light has dawned."

4:4 It is written. All 3 of Jesus' replies to the Devil were taken from Deuteronomy. This one, from Deut. 8:3, states that God allowed Israel to hunger, so that He might feed them with manna and teach them to trust Him to provide for them. So the verse is directly applicable to Jesus' circumstances and a fitting reply to Satan's temptation. every word that proceeds from the mouth of God. A more important source of sustenance than food, it nurtures our spiritual needs in a way that benefits us eternally, rather than merely providing temporal relief from physical hunger.

4:5 pinnacle of the temple. This was probably a roof with a portico at the SE corner of the temple complex, where a massive retaining wall reached from a level well above the temple mount, deep into the Kidron Valley. According to the Jewish historian Josephus, this was a drop of nearly 450 ft.

4:6 For it is written...Lest you dash your foot against a stone. Note that Satan also quoted Scripture (Ps. 91:11,12)—but utterly twisted its meaning, employing a passage about trusting God to justify testing Him.

4:7 It is written again. Christ replied with another verse from Israel's wilderness experience (Deut. 6:16)—recalling the experience at Massah, where the grumbling Israelites put the Lord to the test, angrily demanding that Moses produce water where there was none (Ex. 17:2-7).

4:9 I will give You. Satan is the "ruler of this world" (John 12:31; 14:30; 16:11), and the "god of this age" (2 Cor. 4:4). The whole world lies in his power (1 John 5:19). This is illustrated in Dan. 10:13 (see note there), where demonic power controlled the kingdom of Persia, so that a demon is called the Prince of Persia.

4:10 For it is written. Here Christ was citing and paraphrasing Deut. 6:13,14. Again, these relate to the Israelites' wilderness experiences. Christ, like them, was led into the wilderness to be tested (cf. Deut. 8:2). Unlike them, He withstood every aspect of the test.

4:11 angels came and ministered to Him. Psalm 91:11,12—the verse Satan tried to twist—was thus fulfilled in God's way, and in God's perfect timing.

4:12 John had been put in prison. John was imprisoned for his bold rebuke of Herod Antipas. See 14:3,4.

4:13 leaving Nazareth. Some time elapsed between vv. 12 and 13. Jesus' stay in Nazareth ended abruptly when He was violently rejected by the people of Nazareth, who tried to murder Him (see Luke 4:16-30). Capernaum. He settled in this important town on the trade route at the N end of the Sea of Galilee. Capernaum was the home of Peter and Andrew (v. 18), James and John (v. 21), and Matthew (9:9). A comparison of the gospels reveals that Christ had already ministered extensively in Capernaum (see note on Luke 4:23).

4:15 Galilee of the Gentiles. This name was used even in Isaiah's time because Galilee lay on the route through which all Gentiles passed in and out of Israel. In Jesus' time, the region of Galilee had become an important center of Roman occupation. The prophecy cited by Matthew is from Is. 9:1,2. See Is. 42:6,7.

4:17 From that time Jesus began to preach. This marks the beginning of His public ministry. Note that His message was an exact echo of what John the Baptist preached. Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. See note on 3:2. The opening word of this first sermon sets the tone for Jesus' entire earthly ministry (cf. Luke 5:32). Repentance was a constant motif in all His public preaching. And in 4:18 two brothers. Jesus had encountered Peter and Andrew before, near Bethabara, in the Jordan region, where Andrew (and perhaps Peter as well) had become a disciple of John the Baptist (John 1:35-42). They left John to follow Jesus for a time before returning to fishing in Capernaum. Perhaps they had returned to Capernaum during Jesus' earlier ministry here (see note on Luke 4:23). Here He called them to follow Him in long-term discipleship.

4:21 James the son of Zebedee. This James is easy to distinguish from the other men named James in the NT, because he is never mentioned in Scripture apart from his brother John. His martyrdom by Herod Agrippa I marked the beginning of a time of severe persecution in the early church (Acts 12:2). For information on others named James, see note on 10:2; Introduction to James: Author and Date.

4:23 teaching...preaching...healing. The 3 main aspects of Christ's public ministry.

4:24 Syria. The area immediately NE of Galilee.

4:25 Decapolis. A confederation of 10 Hellenized cities S of Galilee and mostly E of the Jordan. The league of cities was formed shortly after Pompey's invasion of Palestine (ca. 64 B.C.) to preserve Gr. culture in the Semitic region. These cities were naturally Gentile strongholds.

5:1–7:29 The Sermon on the Mount introduces a series of 5 important discourses recorded in Matthew (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes). This sermon is a masterful exposition of the law and a potent assault on Pharisaic legalism, closing with a call to true faith and salvation (7:13-29). Christ expounded the full meaning of the law, showing that its demands were humanly impossible (cf. 5:48). This is the proper use of the law with respect to salvation: It closes off every possible avenue of human merit and leaves sinners dependent on nothing but divine grace for salvation (cf. Rom. 3:19,20; Gal. 3:23,24). Christ plumbed the depth of the law, showing that its true demands went far beyond the surface meaning of the words (5:28,39,44) and set a standard that is higher than the most diligent students of the law had heretofore realized (5:20). See note on Luke 6:17-49.

5:1 was seated. This was the normal posture for rabbis while teaching (cf. 13:1,2; 26:55; Mark 4:1; 9:35; Luke 5:3; John 6:3; 8:2). See note on Luke 4:20.

5:3 Blessed. The word lit. means "happy, fortunate, blissful." Here it speaks of more than a surface emotion. Jesus was describing the divinely-bestowed well-being that belongs only to the faithful. The Beatitudes demonstrate that the way to heavenly blessedness is antithetical to the worldly path normally followed in pursuit of happiness. The worldly idea is that happiness is found in riches, merriment, abundance, leisure, and such things. The real truth is the very opposite. The Beatitudes give Jesus' description of the character of true faith. poor in spirit. The opposite of self-sufficiency. This speaks of the deep humility of recognizing one's utter spiritual bankruptcy apart from God. It describes those who are acutely conscious of their own lostness and hopelessness apart from divine grace (cf. 9:12; Luke 18:13). See note on 19:17. theirs is the kingdom of heaven. See note on 3:2. Notice that the truth of salvation by grace is clearly presupposed in this opening verse of the Sermon on the Mount. Jesus was teaching that the kingdom is a gracious gift to those who sense their own poverty of spirit.

5:4 those who mourn. This speaks of mourning over sin, the godly sorrow that produces repentance leading to salvation without regret (2 Cor. 7:10). The "comfort" is the comfort of forgiveness and salvation (cf. Is. 40:1,2).

5:5 the meek. Meekness is the opposite of being out of control. It is not weakness, but supreme self-control empowered by the Spirit (cf. Gal. 5:23). The fact that "the meek shall inherit the earth" is quoted from Ps. 37:11. See notes on vv. 9-11.

5:6 hunger and thirst for righteousness. This is the opposite of the self-righteousness of the Pharisees. It speaks of those who seek God's righteousness rather than attempting to establish a righteousness of their own (Rom. 10:3; Phil. 3:9). What they seek will fill them, i.e., it will satisfy their hunger and thirst for a right relationship with God.

7 Blessed are the merciful,
[i]For they shall obtain mercy.
8 [j]Blessed are the pure in heart,
For [k]they shall see God.
9 Blessed are the peacemakers,
For they shall be called sons of God.
10 [l]Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake,
For theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

11 [m]"Blessed are you when they revile and persecute you, and say all kinds of [n]evil against you falsely for My sake. 12 [o]Rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for great is your reward in heaven, for [p]so they persecuted the prophets who were before you.

The Similitudes

Jesus Fulfills the Law

17 [v]"Do not think that I came to destroy the Law or the Prophets. I did not come to destroy but to fulfill. 18 For assuredly, I say to you, [w]till heaven and earth pass away, one [2]jot or one [3]tittle will by no means pass from the law till all is fulfilled. 19 [x]Whoever therefore breaks one of the least of these commandments, and teaches men so, shall be called least in the kingdom of heaven; but whoever does and teaches them, he shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven. 20 For I say to you, that unless your righteousness exceeds [y]the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, you will by no means enter the kingdom of heaven.

5:9 peacemakers. See vv. 44,45 for more on this quality.

5:10 persecuted. Cf. James 5:10,11; 1 Pet. 4:12-14. See note on Luke 6:22.

5:13 if the salt loses its flavor, how shall it be seasoned? Salt is both a preservative and a flavor enhancer. No doubt its use as a preservative is what Jesus had mostly in view here. Pure salt cannot lose its flavor or effectiveness, but the salt that is common in the Dead Sea area is contaminated with gypsum and other minerals and may have a flat taste or be ineffective as a preservative. Such mineral salts were useful for little more than keeping footpaths free of vegetation.

5:16 light so shine. A godly life gives convincing testimony of the saving power of God. That brings Him glory. Cf. 1 Pet. 2:12.

5:17 Do not think that I came to destroy the Law or the Prophets. We are not to think that Jesus' teaching in the verses that follow was meant to alter, abrogate, or replace the moral content of the OT law. He was neither giving a new law nor modifying the old, but rather explaining the true significance of the moral content of Moses' law and the rest of the OT. "The Law and the Prophets" speaks of the entirety of the OT Scriptures, not the rabbinical interpretations of them. fulfill. This speaks of fulfillment in the same sense that prophecy is fulfilled. Christ was indicating that He is the fulfillment of the law in all its aspects. He fulfilled the moral law by keeping it perfectly. He fulfilled the ceremonial law by being the embodiment of everything the law's types and symbols pointed to. And he fulfilled the judicial law by personifying God's perfect justice (cf. 12:18,20).

5:18 till heaven and earth pass away...till all is fulfilled. Here Christ was emphasizing both the inspiration and the enduring authority of all Scripture. He was specifically affirming the utter inerrancy and absolute authority of the OT as the Word of God—down to the least jot and tittle. Again (see note on v. 17), this suggests that the NT should not be seen as supplanting and abrogating the OT, but as fulfilling and explicating it. For example, all the ceremonial requirements of the Mosaic law were fulfilled in Christ and are no longer to be observed by Christians (Col. 2:16,17). Yet not one jot or tittle is thereby erased; the underlying truths of those Scriptures remain—and in fact the mysteries behind them are now revealed in the brighter light of the gospel. They have not passed from the law is the sense Jesus means here. one jot or one tittle. A "jot" refers to the smallest Heb. letter, the yohd, which is a meager stroke of the pen, like an accent mark or an apostrophe. The "tittle" is a tiny extension on a Heb. letter, like the serif in modern typefaces.

5:19 shall be called least...shall be called great. Any violation of God's law makes one least in the kingdom, which is equal to being outside the kingdom and under condemnation (cf. Gal. 3:10-12). The one who keeps God's law is great, which is equal to being in the kingdom and in God's salvation. In chap. 13, the parables of the tares (13:24-30) and the dragnet (13:47-50) indicate that in the visible, external kingdom of those who identify with God there will be true and false people (cf. 7:21-27). The "least" refers to those who will be judged and cast out (13:30,41,42,49,50) while the "great" shall be included and rewarded (v. 43).

5:20 unless your righteousness exceeds the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees. On the one hand, Jesus was calling His disciples to a deeper, more radical holiness than that of the Pharisees. Pharisaism had a tendency to soften the law's demands by focusing only on external obedience. In the verses that follow, Jesus unpacks the full moral significance of the law, and shows that the righteousness the law calls for actually involves an internal conformity to the spirit of the law, rather than mere external compliance to the letter. will by no means enter the kingdom of heaven. On the other hand, this sets up an impossible barrier to works-salvation. Scripture teaches repeatedly that sinners are capable of nothing but a flawed and imperfect righteousness (e.g., Is. 64:6). Therefore the only righteousness by which sinners may be justified is the perfect righteousness of God that is imputed to those who believe (Gen. 15:6; Rom. 4:5).

5:21,22 You have heard.... But I say to you. See vv. 27,31,33, those [4]of old, [z]'You shall not murder, and whoever murders will be in danger of the judgment.' 22 But I say to you that [a]whoever is angry with his brother [5]without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment. And whoever says to his brother, [b]'Raca!'[6] shall be in danger of the council. But whoever says, [7]'You fool!' shall be in danger of [8]hell fire. 23 Therefore [c]if you bring your gift to the altar, and there remember that your brother has something against you, 24 [d]leave your gift there before the altar, and go your way. First be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift. 25 [e]Agree with your adversary quickly, [f]while you are on the way with him, lest your adversary deliver you to the judge, the judge hand you over to the officer, and you be thrown into prison. 26 Assuredly, I say to you, you will by no means get out of there till you have paid the last penny.

Adultery

27 "You have heard that it was said [9]to those of old, [g]'You shall not commit adultery.' 28 But I say to you that whoever [h]looks at a woman to lust for her has already committed adultery with her in his heart. 29 [i]If your right eye causes you to [1]sin, [j]pluck it out and cast it from you; for it is more profitable for you that one of your members perish, than for your whole body to be cast into hell. 30 And if your right hand causes you to [2]sin, cut it off and cast it from you; for it is more profitable for you that one of your members perish, than for your whole body to be cast into hell.

Divorce

31 "Furthermore it has been said, [k]'Whoever divorces his wife, let him give her a certificate of divorce.' 32 But I say to you that [l]whoever divorces his wife for any reason except [3]sexual immorality causes her to commit adultery; and whoever marries a woman who is divorced commits adultery.

Oaths

33 "Again you have heard that [m]it was said to those of [4]old, [n]'You shall not swear falsely, but [o]shall perform your oaths to the Lord.' 34 But I say to you, [p]do not swear at all: neither by heaven, for it is [q]God's throne; 35 nor by the earth, for it is His footstool; nor by Jerusalem, for it is the city of [r]the great King. 36 Nor shall you swear by your head, because you cannot make one hair white or black. 37 [s]But let [5]your 'Yes' be 'Yes,' and your 'No,' 'No.' For whatever is more than these is from the evil one.

38,43. The quotes are from Ex. 20:13; Deut. 5:17. Jesus was not altering the terms of the law in any of these passages. Rather, He was correcting what they had "heard"—the rabbinical understanding of the law (see note on v. 38).

5:22 Raca! Lit. "Empty-headed!" Jesus suggested here that the verbal abuse stems from the same sinful motives (anger and hatred) that ultimately lead to murder. The internal attitude is what the law actually prohibits, and therefore an abusive insult carries the same kind of moral guilt as an act of murder. hell. A reference to the Hinnom Valley, SW of Jerusalem. Ahaz and Manasseh permitted human sacrifices there during their reigns (2 Chr. 28:3; 33:6), and therefore it was called "The Valley of Slaughter" (Jer. 19:6). In Jesus' day, it was a garbage dump where fires burned continually and was thus an apt symbol of eternal fire.

5:25 Agree...quickly. Jesus calls for reconciliation to be sought eagerly, aggressively, quickly—even if it involves self-sacrifice. It is better to be wronged than to allow a dispute between brethren to be a cause for dishonoring Christ (1 Cor. 6:7). adversary. This speaks of one's opponent in a law case. prison. Debtor's prison, where the person could work to earn back what he had defrauded.

5:27 Quoted from Ex. 20:14; Deut. 5:18.

5:29 pluck it out and cast it from you. Jesus was not advocating self-mutilation (for this would not in fact cure lust, which is actually a problem of the heart). He was using this graphic hyperbole to demonstrate the seriousness of sins of lust and evil desire. The point is that it would be "more profitable" (v. 30) to lose a member of one's own body than to bear the eternal consequences of the guilt from such a sin. Sin must be dealt with drastically because of its deadly effects.

5:31 it has been said. See note on Deut. 24:1-4. The rabbis had taken liberty with what Scripture actually said. They referred to Deut. 24:1-4 as if it were given merely to regulate the paperwork when one sought divorce (see note on 19:7). Thus, they had wrongly concluded that men could divorce their wives for anything that displeased them, as long as they gave "a certificate of divorce." But Moses provided this as a concession to protect the woman who was divorced (see notes on 19:7-9), not to justify or legalize divorce under all circumstances.

5:32 except sexual immorality. See note on 19:9. Divorce was allowed in cases of adultery. Luke 16:18 must be understood in the light of this verse. causes her to commit adultery. The assumption is that divorced people will remarry. If the divorce was not for sexual immorality any remarriage is adultery, because God does not acknowledge the divorce. For more on divorce, see note on 1 Cor. 7:15.

5:33 You shall not swear falsely. This expresses teaching from Lev. 19:12; Num. 30:2; Deut. 23:21,23.

5:34 do not swear at all. Cf. James 5:12. This should not be taken as a universal condemnation of oaths in all circumstances. God Himself confirmed a promise with an oath (Heb. 6:13-18; cf. Acts 2:30). Christ Himself spoke under oath (26:63,64). And the law prescribed oaths in certain circumstances (e.g., Num. 5:19,21; 30:2,3). What Christ is forbidding here is the flippant, profane, or careless use of oaths in everyday speech. In that culture, such oaths were often employed for deceptive purposes. To make the person being victimized believe the truth was being told, the Jews would swear by "heaven," "earth," "Jerusalem," or their own "heads" (vv. 34-36), not by God, hoping to avoid divine judgment for their lie. But it all was in God's creation, so it drew Him in and produced guilt before Him, exactly as if the oath were made in His name. Jesus suggested that all our speech should be as if we were under an oath to tell the truth (v. 37).

Retaliation

38 "You have heard that it was said, [t] 'An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.' 39 [u] But I tell you not to resist an evil person. [v] But whoever slaps you on your right cheek, turn the other to him also. 40 If anyone wants to sue you and take away your tunic, let him have your cloak also. 41 And whoever [w] compels you to go one mile, go with him two. 42 Give to him who asks you, and [x] from him who wants to borrow from you do not turn away.

Love—Luke 6:27, 32

43 "You have heard that it was said, [y] 'You shall love your neighbor [z] and hate your enemy.' 44 [6] But I say to you, [a] love your enemies, bless those who curse you, [b] do good to those who hate you, and pray [c] for those who spitefully use you and persecute you, 45 that you may be sons of your Father in heaven; for [d] He makes His sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust. 46 [e] For if you love those who love you, what reward have you? Charitable Deeds

6 "Take heed that you do not do your charitable deeds before men, to be seen by them. Otherwise you have no reward from your Father in heaven. 2 Therefore, [a] when you do a charitable deed, do not sound a trumpet before you as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory from men. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward. 3 But when you do a charitable deed, do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing, 4 that your charitable deed may be in secret; and your Father who sees in secret [b] will Himself reward you [1] openly.

Prayer—Luke 11:2-4

5 "And when you pray, you shall not be like the [2] hypocrites. For they love to pray standing in the synagogues and on the corners of the streets, that they may be seen by men. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward. 6 But you, when you pray, [c] go into your room, and when you have shut your door, pray to your Father who is in the secret place; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you [3] openly. 7 And when you pray, [d] do not use vain repetitions as the heathen do. [e] For they think that they will be heard for their many words.

5:38 An eye for an eye. The law did establish this standard as a principle for limiting retribution to that which was just (Ex. 21:24; Lev. 24:20; Deut. 19:21). Its design was to insure that the punishment in civil cases fit the crime. It was never meant to sanction acts of personal retaliation. So again (see notes on vv. 17,18) Jesus made no alteration to the true meaning of the law. He was merely explaining and affirming the law's true meaning.

5:39 not to resist an evil person. Like v. 38, this deals only with matters of personal retaliation, not criminal offenses or acts of military aggression. Jesus applied this principle of non-retaliation to affronts against one's dignity (v. 39), lawsuits to gain one's personal assets (v. 40), infringements on one's liberty (v. 41), and violations of property rights (v. 42). He was calling for a full surrender of all personal rights.

5:41 compels. The word speaks of coercion or force. The NT picture of this is when Roman soldiers "compelled" Simon the Cyrene to carry Jesus' cross (27:32).

5:43 love your neighbor and hate your enemy. The first half of this is found in Moses' law (Lev. 19:18). The second part was found in how the scribes and Pharisees explained and applied that OT command. Jesus' application was exactly the opposite, resulting in a much higher standard: Love for one's neighbors should extend even to those neighbors who are enemies (v. 44). Again, this was no innovation, since even the OT taught that God's people should do good to their enemies (Prov. 25:21).

5:44,45 love your enemies...that you may be sons of your Father. This plainly teaches that God's love extends even to His enemies. This universal love of God is manifest in blessings which God bestows on all indiscriminately. Theologians refer to this as common grace. This must be distinguished from the everlasting love God has for the elect (Jer. 31:3), but it is a sincere goodwill nonetheless (cf. Ps. 145:9).

5:46 tax collectors. Disloyal Israelites hired by the Romans to tax other Jews for personal profit. They became symbols for the worst kind of people. Cf. 9:10,11; 11:19; 18:17; 21:31; Mark 2:14-16; Luke 5:30; 7:25,29,34; 18:11-13. Matthew had been one of them (see notes on 9:9; Mark 2:15).

5:48 you shall be perfect. Christ sets an unattainable standard. This sums up what the law itself demanded (James 2:10). Though this standard is impossible to meet, God could not lower it without compromising His own perfection. He who is perfect could not set an imperfect standard of righteousness. The marvelous truth of the gospel is that Christ has met this standard on our behalf (see note on 2 Cor. 5:21).

6:1-18 Here Christ expands the thought of 5:20, showing how the Pharisees' righteousness was deficient by exposing their hypocrisy in the matters of "charitable deeds" (vv. 1-4); "prayer" (vv. 5-15); and "fasting" (vv. 16-18). All of these acts are supposed to be worship rendered to God, never displays of self-righteousness to gain the admiration of others.

6:2 hypocrites. This word had its origins in Gr. theater, describing a character who wore a mask. The term, as used in the NT, normally described an unregenerate person who was self-deceived. they have their reward. Cf. vv. 5,16. Their reward is that they were seen by men, nothing more. God does not reward hypocrisy, but He does punish it (cf. 23:13-23).

6:4 sees in secret. Cf. vv. 6,18; Jer. 17:10; Heb. 4:13. God is omniscient.

6:7 vain repetitions. Prayers are not to be merely recited, nor are our words to be repeated thoughtlessly, or as if they were automatic formulas. But this is not a prohibition against importunity (see notes on Luke 11:1-8).

8 "Therefore do not be like them. For your Father [f]knows the things you have need of before you ask Him. 9 In this [g]manner, therefore, pray:

[h]Our Father in heaven,
Hallowed be Your [i]name.
10 Your kingdom come.
[j]Your will be done
On earth [k]as it is in heaven.
11 Give us this day our [l]daily bread.
12 And [m]forgive us our debts,
As we forgive our debtors.
13 [n]And do not lead us into temptation,
But [o]deliver us from the evil one.

14 [p]"For if you forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you. 15 But [q]if you do not forgive men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

Fasting

16 "Moreover, [r]when you fast, do not be like the [5]hypocrites, with a sad countenance. For they disfigure their faces that they may appear to men to be fasting. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward. 17 But you, when you fast, [s]anoint your head and wash your face, 18 so that you do not appear to men to be fasting, but to your Father who is in the secret place; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you [6]openly.

6:9 In this manner. Cf. Luke 11:2-4. The prayer is a model, not merely a liturgy. It is notable for its brevity, simplicity, and comprehensiveness. Of the 6 petitions, 3 are directed to God (vv. 9,10) and 3 toward human needs (vv. 11-13).

6:10 Your will be done. All prayer, first of all, willingly submits to God's purposes, plans, and glory. See note on 26:39.

6:12 forgive us our debts. The parallel passage (Luke 11:4) uses a word that means "sins," so that in context, spiritual debts are intended. Sinners are debtors to God for their violations of His laws (see notes on 18:23-27). This request is the heart of the prayer; it is what Jesus stressed in the words that immediately follow the prayer (vv. 14,15; cf. Mark 11:25).

6:13 do not lead us into temptation. Cf. Luke 22:40. God does not tempt men (James 1:13), but He will subject them to trials that may expose them to Satan's assaults, as in the case of Job and Peter (Luke 22:31,32). This petition reflects the believing one's desire to avoid the dangers of sin altogether. God knows what one's need is before one asks (v. 8), and He promises that no one will be subjected to testing beyond what can be endured. He also promises a way of escape—often through endurance (1 Cor. 10:13). But still, the proper attitude for the believer is the one expressed in this petition.

6:15 neither will your Father forgive your trespasses. This is not to suggest that God will withdraw justification from those who have already received the free pardon He extends to all believers. Forgiveness in that sense—a permanent and complete acquittal from the guilt and ultimate penalty of sin—belongs to all who are in Christ (cf. John 5:24; Rom. 8:1; Eph. 1:7). Yet, Scripture also teaches that God chastens His children who disobey (Heb. 12:5-7). Believers are to confess their sins in order to obtain a day-to-day cleansing (1 John 1:9). This sort of forgiveness is a simple washing from the worldly defilements of sin; not a repeat of the wholesale cleansing from sin's corruption that comes with justification. It is like a washing of the feet rather than a bath (cf. John 13:10). Forgiveness in this latter sense is what God threatens to withhold from Christians who refuse to forgive others (cf. 18:23-35).

6:16,17 when you fast. This indicates that fasting is assumed to be a normal part of one's spiritual life (cf. 1 Cor. 7:5). Fasting is associated with sadness (9:14,15), prayer (17:21), charity (Is. 58:3-6), and seeking the Lord's will (Acts 13:2,3; 14:23).

6:20 treasures. Don't amass earthly wealth. He commends the use of financial assets for purposes which are heavenly and eternal. See notes on Luke 16:1-9.

6:22,23 This is an argument from the lesser to the greater. The analogy is simple. If your eye is bad, no light can come in and you are left with darkness because of that malady. How much worse when the problem is not merely related to external perception, but an internal corruption of one's whole nature, so that the darkness actually emanates from within and affects one's whole being. He was indicting them for their superficial earthly religion that left their hearts dark. See note on Luke 11:34.

6:24 mammon. Earthly, material treasures, especially money. See note on Luke 16:13.

6:26 your heavenly Father feeds them. Obviously this in no way advocates a sinful kind of idleness (Prov. 19:15). Birds are not idle, either. But it is God who provides them with food to eat.

more value than they? 27 Which of you by worrying can add one [1]cubit to his [2]stature?
28 "So why do you worry about clothing? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin; 29 and yet I say to you that even Solomon in all his glory was not [3]arrayed like one of these. 30 Now if God so clothes the grass of the field, which today is, and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, will He not much more clothe you, O you of little faith?
31 "Therefore do not worry, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'What shall we wear?' 32 For after all these things the Gentiles seek. For your heavenly Father knows that you need all these things. 33 But [a]seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you. 34 Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about its own things. Sufficient for the day is its own trouble.

Judging—Luke 6:37-42

7 "Judge[1] [a]not, that you be not judged. 2 For with what [2]judgment you judge, you will be judged; [b]and with the measure you use, it will be measured back to you. 3 [c]And why do you look at the speck in your brother's eye, but do not consider the plank in your own eye? 4 Or how can you say to your brother, 'Let me remove the speck from your eye'; and look, a plank is in your own eye? 5 Hypocrite! First remove the plank from your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck from your brother's eye.
6 [d]"Do not give what is holy to the dogs; nor cast your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn and tear you in pieces.

"Ask, and It Will Be Given"—Luke 11:9-13

7 [e]"Ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. 8 For [f]everyone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened. 9 [g]Or what man is there among you who, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone? 10 Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a serpent? 11 If you then, [h]being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask Him!

Golden Rule—Luke 6:31

12 Therefore, [i]whatever you want men to do to you, do also to them, for [j]this is the Law and the Prophets.

Two Ways of Life

13 [k]"Enter by the narrow gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leads to destruction, and there are many who go in by it. 14 [3]Because narrow is the gate and [4]difficult is the way which leads to life, and there are few who find it.

6:27 add one cubit to his stature. The Gr. phrase may also refer to adding time to one's lifespan.

6:29 Solomon in all his glory. The glory and pageantry of Solomon's kingdom was famous worldwide. Cf. 2 Chr. 9.

6:30 you of little faith. Cf. 8:26; 14:31; 16:8; 17:20. This was the Lord's recurring rebuke of the weak disciples.

6:32 Gentiles. I.e., those outside the people of promise and outside the blessing of God. Cf. Eph. 4:17-19.

6:33 kingdom of God. This is the same as kingdom of heaven. See note on 3:2. It refers to the sphere of salvation. He was urging them to seek salvation—and with it would come the full care and provision of God. Cf. Rom. 8:32; Phil. 4:19; 1 Pet. 5:7.

7:1 Judge not. As the context reveals, this does not prohibit all types of judging (v. 16). There is a righteous kind of judgment we are supposed to exercise with careful discernment (John 7:24). Censorious, hypocritical, self-righteous, or other kinds of unfair judgments are forbidden; but in order to fulfill the commandments that follow, it is necessary to discern dogs and swine (v. 6) from one's own brethren (vv. 3-5).

7:6 Do not give what is holy to the dogs. This principle is why Jesus Himself did not do miracles for unbelievers (13:58). This is to be done in respect for what is holy, not merely out of contempt for the dogs and swine. Nothing here contradicts the principle of 5:44. That verse governs personal dealings with one's enemies (see note there); this principle governs how one handles the gospel in the face of those who hate the truth.

7:11 you...being evil. Jesus presupposes the doctrine of human depravity (see note on Romans 1:18–3:20). how much more. If earthly fathers give what their sons need (vv. 9,10), will not God give to His sons what they ask (vv. 7,8)? See note on James 1:17.

7:12 do also to them. Versions of the "Golden Rule" existed before Christ, in the rabbinic writings and even in Hinduism and Buddhism. All of them cast the rule as a negative command, such as Rabbi Hillel's version, "What is hateful to yourself do not to someone else." Jesus made it a positive command, enriching its meaning and underscoring that this one imperative aptly summarizes the whole gist of the ethical principles contained in the Law and the Prophets.

7:13-29 This closing section of the Sermon on the Mount is a gospel application. Here are two gates, two ways, two destinations, and two groups of people (vv. 13,14); two kinds of trees and two kinds of fruit (vv. 17-20); two groups at the judgment (vv. 21-23); and two kinds of builders, building on two kinds of foundations (vv. 24-28). Christ is drawing the line as clearly as possible between the way that leads to destruction and the way which leads to life.

7:13,14 Both the narrow gate and the wide gate are assumed to provide the entrance to God's kingdom. Two ways are offered to people. The narrow gate is by faith, only through Christ, constricted and precise. It represents true salvation in God's way that leads to life eternal. The wide gate includes all religions of works and self-righteousness, with no single way (cf. Acts 4:12), but leads to hell, not heaven.

7:14 difficult is the way. Christ continually emphasized the difficulty of following Him (10:38; 16:24,25; John 15:18,19; 16:1-3; cf. Acts 14:22). Salvation is by grace alone, but is not easy. It calls for knowledge of the truth, repentance, submission to Christ as Lord, and a willingness to obey His will and Word. See notes on 19:16-28.

False and True Teaching—Luke 6:43-45

15 [l]"Beware of false prophets, [m]who come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravenous wolves. 16 [n]You will know them by their fruits. [o]Do men gather grapes from thornbushes or figs from thistles? 17 Even so, [p]every good tree bears good fruit, but a bad tree bears bad fruit. 18 A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, nor can a bad tree bear good fruit. 19 [q]Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. 20 Therefore by their fruits you will know them.

True Way into the Kingdom—Luke 6:46

21 "Not everyone who says to Me, [r]'Lord, Lord,' shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who [s]does the will of My Father in heaven. 22 Many will say to Me in that day, 'Lord, Lord, have we [t]not prophesied in Your name, cast out demons in Your name, and done many wonders in Your name?' 23 And [u]then I will declare to them, 'I never knew you; [v]depart from Me, you who practice lawlessness!'

Parable of the Two Builders—Luke 6:47-49

24 "Therefore [w]whoever hears these sayings of Mine, and does them, I will liken him to a wise man who built his house on the rock: 25 and the rain descended, the floods came, and the winds blew and beat on that house; and it did not fall, for it was founded on the rock.

26 "But everyone who hears these sayings of Mine, and does not do them, will be like a foolish man who built his house on the sand: 27 and the rain descended, the floods came, and the winds blew and beat on that house; and it fell. And great was its fall."

Response to the Sermon

28 And so it was, when Jesus had ended these sayings, that [x]the people were astonished at His teaching, 29 [y]for He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

The Leper Is Cleansed
Mark 1:40-44; Luke 5:12-14

8 When He had come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed
Him. 2 [a]And behold, a leper came and [b]worshiped Him, saying, "Lord, if You are willing, You can make me clean."

3 Then Jesus put out His hand and touched him, saying, "I am willing; be cleansed." Immediately his leprosy [c]was cleansed.

4 And Jesus said to him, [d]"See that you

[f]commanded, as a testimony to them."

7:15 false prophets. These deceive not by disguising themselves as sheep, but by impersonating true shepherds. They promote the wide gate and the wide way. sheep's clothing. This may refer to the woolen attire that was the characteristic garb of a shepherd.

7:16 You will know them by their fruits. See note on 3:8. False doctrine cannot restrain the flesh, so false prophets manifest wickedness. Cf. 2 Pet. 2:12-22.

7:21 Not everyone who says...but he who does. The barrenness of this sort of faith demonstrates its real character (cf. v. 20)—the faith that says but does not do is really unbelief. Jesus was not suggesting that works are meritorious for salvation, but that true faith will not fail to produce the fruit of good works. This is precisely the point of James 1:22-25; 2:26.

7:22 have we not prophesied...cast out demons...and done many wonders. Note that far from being totally devoid of works of any kind, these people were claiming to have done some remarkable signs and wonders. In fact, their whole confidence was in these works—further proof that these works, spectacular as they might have appeared, could not have been authentic. No one so bereft of genuine faith could possibly produce true good works. A bad tree cannot bear good fruit (v. 18).

7:23 lawlessness. All sin is lawlessness (1 John 3:4), i.e., rebellion against the law of God (cf. 13:41).

7:24-28 The house represents a religious life; the rain represents divine judgment. Only the one built on the foundation of obedience to God's Word stands, which calls for repentance, rejection of salvation by works, and trust in God's grace to save through His merciful provision. See notes on James 1:22-25.

7:29 not as the scribes. The scribes quoted others to establish the authority of their teachings; Jesus was His own authority (28:18). This matter of authority was a major issue between Jesus and the Jews, who felt their authority challenged. See note on 21:23. Cf. Mark 1:22; 11:28-33; Luke 4:32; 20:2-8; John 12:49,50; 14:10.

8:1 down from the mountain. Cf. 5:1.

8:2 if You are willing. He had no doubt about Christ's power, only His will (cf. Mark 1:40-45).

8:4 tell no one. Publicity over such miracles might hinder Christ's mission and divert public attention from His message. Mark records that this is precisely what happened. In this man's exuberance over the miracle, he disobeyed; as a result, Christ had to move His ministry away from the city and into the desert regions (Mark 1:45). the gift that Moses commanded. A sacrifice of two birds, one of which was killed and the other set free (Lev. 14:4-7). as a testimony to them. I.e., the priests.

8:5 Capernaum. See note on 4:13. centurion. A Roman military officer who commanded (cf. v. 9) 100 men. Luke indicates that the centurion appealed to Jesus through intermediaries (Luke 7:3-6)—because of his own sense of unworthiness (v. 8; cf. Luke 7:7). Matthew makes no mention of the intermediaries.

7 And Jesus said to him, "I will come and heal him."

8 The centurion answered and said, "Lord, [i]I am not worthy that You should come under my roof. But only [j]speak a word, and my servant will be healed. 9 For I also am a man under authority, having soldiers under me. And I say to this one, 'Go,' and he goes; and to another, 'Come,' and he comes; and to my servant, 'Do this,' and he does it."

10 When Jesus heard it, He marveled, and said to those who followed, "Assuredly, I say to you, I have not found such great faith, not even in Israel! 11 And I say to you that [k]many will come from east and west, and sit down with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven. 12 But [l]the sons of the kingdom [m]will be cast out into outer darkness. There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth." 13 Then Jesus said to the centurion, "Go your way; and as you have believed, so let it be done for you." And his servant was healed that same hour.

> And bore our sicknesses."

Demands of Discipleship—Luke 9:57-62

18 And when Jesus saw great multitudes about Him, He gave a command to depart to the other side. 19 [r]Then a certain scribe came and said to Him, "Teacher, I will follow You wherever You go."

20 And Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."

21 [s]Then another of His disciples said to Him, "Lord, [t]let me first go and bury my father."

8:8 I am not worthy that You should come under my roof. Jewish tradition held that a person who entered a Gentile's house was ceremonially defiled (cf. John 18:28). The centurion, undoubtedly familiar with this law, felt unworthy of having Jesus suffer such an inconvenience for his sake. He also had faith enough to know that Christ could heal by merely speaking a word (see note on v. 10).

8:10 I have not found such great faith, not even in Israel! This centurion understood Jesus' absolute authority (vv. 8,9). Even some of Jesus' own disciples did not see things so clearly (cf. v. 26).

8:11 many...from east and west. Gentiles, in the kingdom with Abraham, will enjoy salvation and the blessing of God (cf. Is. 49:8-12; 59:19; Mal. 1:11; Luke 13:28,29).

8:12 sons of the kingdom. The Hebrew nation, physical heirs of Abraham. will be cast out. This was exactly opposite to the rabbinical understanding, which suggested that the kingdom would feature a great feast in the company of Abraham and the Messiah—open to Jews only. weeping and gnashing. See note on 22:13. Cf. 24:51; 25:30; Luke 13:28. This expression describes the eternal agonies of those in hell.

8:13 as you have believed. Sometimes faith was involved in the Lord's healings (in this case not by the one being healed, as in 9:2; 15:28); other times it was not a factor (vv. 14-16; Luke 22:51).

8:16 demon-possessed. This means "demonized," or under the internal control of a demon. All of the cases of demonization dealt with by Christ involved the actual indwelling of demons who utterly controlled the bodies of their victims, even to the point of speaking through them (Mark 5:5-9), causing derangement (John 10:20), violence (Luke 8:29), or rendering them mute (Mark 9:17-22).

8:17 spoken by Isaiah the prophet. See note on healing and the atonement at Is. 53:4,5. Matthew was citing that passage here. Christ bore both the guilt and the curse of sin (cf. Gal. 3:13). Both physical healing and ultimate victory over death are guaranteed by Christ's atoning work, but these will not be fully realized until the very end (1 Cor. 15:26).

8:18 the other side. The eastern shore of the lake.

8:19 a certain scribe. As a scribe, this man was breaking with his fellow scribes by publicly declaring his willingness to follow Jesus. Nonetheless, Jesus evidently knew that he had not counted the cost in terms of suffering and inconvenience.

8:20 Son of Man. See notes on Mark 2:10; John 1:51. This is the name Jesus used for Himself more than any other. It is used 83 times in the gospels, always by Jesus Himself. It was a messianic title (Dan. 7:13,14), with an obvious reference to the humanity and the humility of Christ. Yet, it also speaks of His everlasting glory, as Dan. 7:13,14 shows (cf. 24:27; Acts 7:56).

8:21 let me first go and bury my father. This does not mean that the man's father was already dead. The phrase, "I must bury my father" was a common figure of speech meaning, "Let me wait until I receive my inheritance."

8:22 let the dead bury their own dead. Let the world (the spiritually dead) take care of mundane things.

8:24 suddenly a great tempest arose. The Sea of Galilee is more than 690 ft. below sea level. To the N, Mt. Hermon rises 9,200 ft., and from May to Oct. strong winds often sweep through the narrow surrounding gorges into this valley, causing extremely sudden and violent storms. He was asleep. Just before the disciples saw one of the most awesome displays of His deity, they were given a touching picture of His humanity. He was so weary that not even the violent tossing of the boat awakened Him—even though the disciples feared they would drown (v. 25).

Him and awoke Him, saying, "Lord, save us! We are perishing!"

26 But He said to them, "Why are you fearful, O you of little faith?" Then [v]He arose and rebuked the winds and the sea, and there was a great calm. 27 So the men marveled, saying, [2]"Who can this be, that even the winds and the sea obey Him?"

Demons Are Cast into Swine
Mark 5:1-17; Luke 8:26-37

28 [w]When He had come to the other side, to the country of the [3]Gergesenes, there met Him two demon-possessed men, coming out of the tombs, exceedingly fierce, so that no one could pass that way. 29 And suddenly they cried out, saying, "What have we to do with You, Jesus, You Son of God? Have You come here to torment us before the time?"

30 Now a good way off from them there was a herd of many swine feeding. 31 So the demons begged Him, saying, "If You cast us out, [4]permit us to go away into the herd of swine."

32 And He said to them, "Go." So when they had come out, they went into the herd of swine. And suddenly the whole herd of swine ran violently down the steep place into the sea, and perished in the water.

33 Then those who kept them fled; and they went away into the city and told everything, including what had happened to the demon-possessed men. 34 And behold, the whole city came out to meet Jesus. And when they saw Him, [x]they begged Him to depart from their region.

The Paralytic Is Forgiven
Mark 2:1-12; Luke 5:17-26

9 So He got into a boat, crossed over, [a]and came to His own city. 2 [b]Then behold, they brought to Him a paralytic lying on a bed. [c]When Jesus saw their faith, He said to the paralytic, "Son, be of good cheer; your sins are forgiven you."

3 And at once some of the scribes said within themselves, "This Man blasphemes!"

4 But Jesus, [d]knowing their thoughts, said, "Why do you think evil in your hearts? 5 For which is easier, to say, 'Your sins are forgiven you,' or to say, 'Arise and walk'? 6 But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins"—then He said to the paralytic, "Arise, take up your bed, and go to your house." 7 And he arose and departed to his house.

8 Now when the multitudes saw it, they [e]marveled [1] and glorified God, who had given such power to men.

Matthew Is Called
Mark 2:14; Luke 5:27, 28

9 [f]As Jesus passed on from there, He saw a man named Matthew sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, "Follow Me." So he arose and followed Him.

8:26 you of little faith. See note on 6:30. calm. Cf. Pss. 65:7; 89:9.

8:27 the winds and the sea obey Him. This was convincing proof of His deity (cf. Pss. 29:3,4; 89:9; 93:4; 107:25-29).

8:28 country of the Gergesenes. Some texts say "Gadarenes" (cf. Mark 5:1; Luke 8:26). This refers to a small town on the lake opposite Tiberius, perhaps where the modern village of Khersa (Kursi) is located. Some ancient tombs are there, and the shoreline descends steeply into the water, exactly matching the description of the terrain in this account. two demon-possessed men. Mark 5:2 and Luke 8:27 mention only one of the men. Evidently one was more dominant than the other.

8:29 to torment us before the time. Evidently, even the demons not only recognized the deity of Jesus, but also knew there was a divinely-appointed time for their judgment and He would be their judge. Their eschatology was factually correct, but it is one thing to know the truth, and quite another thing to love it (cf. James 2:19).

8:30 herd of many swine. Mark 5:13 adds that there were 2,000 in this herd. Such a large herd of unclean animals suggests that Gentiles dominated the region. It also suggests that the number of demons was large (cf. Mark 5:9).

8:31 the demons begged Him. Luke 8:31 relates they pleaded not to be sent into the abyss, meaning the pit, the underworld, the prison of bound demons who disobeyed (see notes on 2 Pet. 2:4; Jude 6). They knew Jesus had the power and authority to send them there if He desired.

8:34 begged Him to depart. Perhaps they were concerned with the financial impact from the loss of the pigs. More likely, they were all ungodly people frightened to be in the presence of such spiritual power (cf. Mark 5:14,15).

9:1 His own city. Capernaum (see note on 4:13). Jesus had left there to get away from the crowds for a time (8:18).

9:2 your sins are forgiven. The fact that the man was brought on a bed indicates that his paralysis was severe. Jesus' words of forgiveness may indicate that the paralysis was a direct consequence of the man's own sin. Cf. John 9:1-3; see notes on Luke 5:20-26.

9:3 This Man blasphemes! This would be a true judgment about anyone but God incarnate, for only the One who has been sinned against has the prerogative to forgive. Jesus' words to the man were therefore an unequivocal claim of divine authority.

9:4 knowing their thoughts. Cf. 12:25; John 2:24. Though the Lord Jesus humbled Himself (Phil. 2:4-8) and set aside the independent use of His divine prerogatives in incarnation (John 5:30), He was still fully God and, therefore, omniscient. See Mark 13:32; Luke 2:52.

9:5 which is easier. It is certainly easier to claim the power to pronounce absolution from sin than to demonstrate the power to heal. Christ actually proved His power to forgive by instantly healing the man of his paralysis. If He could do the apparently harder, He could also do what seemed easier. The actual forgiving of the sins was in reality the more difficult task, however, because it ultimately required Him to sacrifice His life.

9:9 sitting at the tax office. Matthew's own humility is seen here. He did not disguise his past or make any excuse for it. Whereas Mark 2:14 and Luke 5:27 employ his former name, Levi, Matthew himself used the name by which he was known after becoming a disciple (cf. Mark 3:18; Luke 6:15). Tax collectors were among the most despised persons in this society. The money they collected was often

The Disciples Eat with Sinners
Mark 2:15-17; Luke 5:29-32

10 [g]Now it happened, as Jesus sat at the table in the house, that behold, many tax collectors and sinners came and sat down with Him and His disciples. 11 And when the Pharisees saw it, they said to His disciples, "Why does your Teacher eat with [h]tax collectors and [i]sinners?"

12 When Jesus heard that, He said to them, "Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. 13 But go and learn what this means: [j]'I desire mercy and not sacrifice.' For I did not come to call the righteous, [k]but sinners, [2]to repentance."

The Disciples Do Not Fast
Mark 2:18-22; Luke 5:33-39

14 Then the disciples of John came to Him, saying, [l]"Why do we and the Pharisees fast [3]often, but Your disciples do not fast?"

15 And Jesus said to them, "Can [m]the [4]friends of the bridegroom mourn as long as the bridegroom is with them? But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them, and [n]then they will fast. 16 No one puts a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; for [5]the patch pulls away from the garment, and the tear is made worse. 17 Nor do they put new wine into old wineskins, or else the wineskins [6]break, the wine is spilled, and the wineskins are ruined. But they put new wine into new wineskins, and both are preserved."

Life Is Restored—Mark 5:21-43; Luke 8:40-56

18 [o]While He spoke these things to them, behold, a ruler came and worshiped Him, saying, "My daughter has just died, but come and lay Your hand on her and she will live." 19 So Jesus arose and followed him, and so did His [p]disciples.

20 [q]And suddenly, a woman who had a flow of blood for twelve years came from behind and [r]touched the hem of His garment. 21 For she said to herself, "If only I may touch His garment, I shall be made well." 22 But Jesus turned around, and when He saw her He said, "Be of good cheer, daughter; [s]your faith has made you well." And the woman was made well from that hour.

23 [t]When Jesus came into the ruler's house, and saw [u]the flute players and the noisy crowd wailing, 24 He said to them, [v]"Make room, for the girl is not dead, but sleeping." And they ridiculed Him. 25 But when the crowd was put outside, He went in and [w]took her by the hand, and the girl partly extorted for personal gain (cf. Luke 19:8) and partly a tax for Rome, which made them not only thieves, but also traitors to the Jewish nation (see notes on 5:46; Mark 2:15).

9:12 well...sick. The Pharisees thought they were well—religiously pure and whole. The outcasts knew they were not. Salvation can't come to the self-righteous.

9:13 go and learn what this means. This phrase was commonly used as a rebuke for those who did not know something they should have known. The verse Jesus cites is Hos. 6:6 (cf. 1 Sam. 15:22; Mic. 6:6-8), which emphasizes the absolute priority of the law's moral standards over the ceremonial requirements. The Pharisees tended to focus on the outward, ritual, and ceremonial aspects of God's law—to the neglect of its inward, eternal, and moral precepts. In doing so, they became harsh, judgmental, and self-righteously scornful of others. Jesus repeated this same criticism in 12:7.

9:14 disciples of John. Luke implies that the Pharisees asked this question (see note on Luke 5:33; cf. Mark 2:18-20). Evidently, some Pharisees were still present when John's disciples came. Both groups together may have asked this question. the Pharisees fast often. Cf. Luke 18:12.

9:15 then they will fast. See note on 6:17. Using the analogy of a wedding party, Jesus answered that as long as Christ was present with them there was too much joy for fasting, which was connected to seasons of sorrow and intense prayer.

9:16 unshrunk cloth on an old garment. That new cloth does not work on old material is analogous to trying to patch New Covenant truth onto old Mosaic ceremonial forms.

9:17 new wine into old wineskins. Animal skins were used for fermentation of wine because of their elasticity. As the wine fermented, pressure built up, stretching the wineskin. A previously stretched skin lacked elasticity and would rupture, ruining both wine and wineskin. Jesus used this as an illustration to teach that the forms of old rituals, such as the ceremonial fastings practiced by the Pharisees and John's disciples, were not fit for the new wine of the New Covenant era (cf. Col. 2:17). In both analogies (vv. 16,17), the Lord was saying that what the Pharisees did in fasting or any other ritual had no part with the gospel.

9:18 ruler. Jairus (Mark 5:22; Luke 8:41) was a ruler of the synagogue.

9:20 a flow of blood for twelve years. This woman's affliction not only was serious physically but also left her permanently unclean for ceremonial reasons (cf. Lev. 15:25-27). This meant she would have been shunned by all, including her own family, and excluded from both synagogue and temple. the hem of His garment. Cf. 14:36. Probably one of the tassels that were sown to the corners of a garment in order to remind the wearer to obey God's commandments (Num. 15:38-40; Deut. 22:12).

9:22 made you well. Lit."saved you."

9:23 flute players and the noisy crowd. Typical fixtures at a time of mourning in that culture (cf. 2 Chr. 35:25). The crowd at a funeral usually included professional mourners, women whose task it was to wail plaintively, while reciting the name of the departed one, as well as any other loved ones who had died recently. The result was a noisy, chaotic din.

9:24 sleeping. Jesus was not saying that her death was a misdiagnosis. This was a prophecy that she would live again. He made a similar comment about Lazarus' death (John 11:11)—and then had to explain to the disciples that he was speaking metaphorically (John 11:14). Sleep is a designation for death in the NT (cf. 1 Cor. 11:30; 15:51; 1 Thess. 5:10). they ridiculed Him. How quickly their paid act of mourning turned to derision!

arose. 26 And the [x]report of this went out into all that land.

Sight Is Restored

27 When Jesus departed from there, [y]two blind men followed Him, crying out and saying, [z]"Son of David, have mercy on us!"

28 And when He had come into the house, the blind men came to Him. And Jesus said to them, "Do you believe that I am able to do this?"

They said to Him, "Yes, Lord."

29 Then He touched their eyes, saying, "According to your faith let it be to you." 30 And their eyes were opened. And Jesus sternly warned them, saying, [a]"See that no one knows it." 31 [b]But when they had departed, they [7]spread the news about Him in all that [8]country.

34 But the Pharisees said, [d]"He casts out demons by the ruler of the demons."

The Need for Delegation of Power

35 Then Jesus went about all the cities and villages, [e]teaching in their synagogues, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease [9]among the people. 36 [f]But when He saw the multitudes, He was moved with compassion for them, because they were [1]weary and scattered, [g]like sheep having no shepherd. 37 Then He said to His disciples, [h]"The harvest truly is plentiful, but the laborers are few. 38 [i]Therefore pray the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest."

The Twelve Apostles Are Sent
Mark 6:7; Luke 9:1

10 And [a]when He had called His twelve disciples to Him, He gave them power over unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all kinds of sickness and all kinds of disease. 2 Now the names of the twelve apostles are these: first, Simon, [b]who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother; James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother; 3 Philip and Bartholomew; Thomas and Matthew the tax collector; James the son of Alphaeus, and [1]Lebbaeus, whose surname was Thaddaeus; 4 [c]Simon the [2]Cananite, and Judas [d]Iscariot, who also betrayed Him.

9:27 Son of David. Cf. 1:1; 12:23; 21:9,15. A messianic title (see note on 1:1). See 20:29-34 for a remarkably similar, but separate, account.

9:29 According to your faith. See note on 8:13.

9:30 See that no one knows. See note on 8:4.

9:34 the ruler of the demons. The Pharisees had seen enough of Jesus' power to know it was God's power. But, in their willful unbelief, they said His was the power of Satan. See note on 12:24; cf. 25:41; Mark 3:22; Luke 11:15.

9:35 every sickness and every disease. Jesus banished illness in an unprecedented healing display, giving impressive evidence of His deity, and making the Jews' rejection all the more heinous. See note on 12:15.

9:36 He was moved with compassion. Here the humanity of Christ allowed expression of His attitude toward sinners in terms of human passion. He was "moved" with compassion. Whereas God, who is immutable, is not subject to the rise and fall and change of emotions (Num. 23:19), Christ, who was fully human with all the faculties of humanity, was on occasion moved to literal tears over the plight of sinners (Luke 19:41; see note on Luke 13:34). God Himself expressed similar compassion through the prophets (Ex. 33:19; Ps. 86:15; Jer. 9:1; 13:17; 14:17). they were weary and scattered. The people's spiritual needs were even more desperate than the need for physical healing. Meeting that need would require more laborers (v. 37).

9:37 harvest. Cf. Luke 10:1,2. The Lord spoke of the spiritual harvest of souls for salvation.

9:38 Therefore pray. Jesus affirmed the fact that believers' prayers participate in the fulfillment of God's plans.

10:1,2 disciples...apostles. "Disciple" means "student," one who is being taught by another. "Apostles" refers to qualified representatives who are sent on a mission. The two terms emphasize different aspects of their calling.

10:1 He gave them power. See note on 2 Cor. 12:12. Jesus delegated His power to the apostles to show clearly that He and His kingdom were sovereign over the physical and spiritual realms, the effects of sin, and the efforts of Satan. This was an unheard of display of power, never before seen in all redemptive history, to announce Messiah's arrival and authenticate Him plus His apostles who preached His gospel. This power was a preview of the power Christ will exhibit in His earthly kingdom, when Satan will be bound (Rev. 20) and the curse on physical life curtailed (Is. 65:20-25).

10:2 the names of the twelve apostles. The 12 are always listed in a similar order (cf. Mark 3:16-19; Luke 6:13-16; Acts 1:13). Peter is always named first. The list contains 3 groups of 4. The 3 subgroups are always listed in the same order, and the first name in each subgroup is always the same, though there is some variation in the order within the subgroups—but Judas Iscariot is always named last. Peter... Andrew...James...and John. The first subgroup of 4 are the most familiar to us. These two sets of brothers, all fishermen, represent an inner circle of disciples often seen closest to Jesus (see note on 17:1). James the son of Alphaeus. There are 4 men in the NT named James: 1) the Apostle James, brother of John (see note on 4:21); 2) the disciple mentioned here, also called "James the Less" (Mark 15:40); 3) James, father of Judas (not Iscariot, Luke 6:16); and 4) James, the Lord's half-brother (Gal. 1:19; Mark 6:3), who wrote the epistle that bears the name. He also played a leading role in the early Jerusalem Church (Acts 12:17; 15:13; Gal. 1:19).

10:3 Lebbaeus, whose surname was Thaddaeus. Elsewhere he is called Judas, son of James (Luke 6:16; Acts 1:13).

10:4 Simon the Cananite. The better manuscripts read "Cananaean"—a term for the party of the Zealots, a group determined to overthrow Roman domination in Palestine. Acts 1:13 refers to him as "Simon the Zealot." Simon was probably a member of the Zealot party before coming to Christ. See note on Mark 3:18.

The Twelve Apostles Are Instructed
Mark 6:8-13; Luke 9:2-6, 12:2-10

5 These twelve Jesus sent out and commanded them, saying: [e]"Do not go into the way of the Gentiles, and do not enter a city of [f]the Samaritans. 6 [g]But go rather to the [h]lost sheep of the house of Israel. 7 [i]And as you go, preach, saying, [j]'The kingdom of heaven [3]is at hand.' 8 Heal the sick, [4]cleanse the lepers, [5]raise the dead, cast out demons. [k]Freely you have received, freely give. 9 [l]Provide neither gold nor silver nor [m]copper in your money belts, 10 nor bag for your journey, nor two tunics, nor sandals, nor staffs; [n]for a worker is worthy of his food.

11 [o]"Now whatever city or town you enter, inquire who in it is worthy, and stay there till you go out. 12 And when you go into a household, greet it. 13 [p]If the household is worthy, let your peace come upon it. [q]But if it is not worthy, let your peace return to you. 14 [r]And whoever will not receive you nor hear your words, when you depart from that house or city, [s]shake off the dust from your feet. 15 Assuredly, I say to you, [t]it will be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment than for that city!

16 [u]"Behold, I send you out as sheep in the midst of wolves. [v]Therefore be wise as serpents and [w]harmless[6] as doves. 17 But beware of men, for [x]they will deliver you up to councils and [y]scourge you in their synagogues. 18 [z]You will be brought before governors and kings for My sake, as a testimony to them and to the Gentiles. 19 [a]But when they deliver you up, do not worry about how or what you should speak. For [b]it will be given to you in that hour what you should speak; 20 [c]for it is not you who speak, but the Spirit of your Father who speaks in you.

21 [d]"Now brother will deliver up brother to death, and a father his child; and children will rise up against parents and cause them to be put to death. 22 And [e]you will be hated by all for My name's sake. [f]But he who endures to the end will be saved. 23 [g]When they persecute you in this city, flee to another. For assuredly, I say to you, you will not have [h]gone through the cities of Israel [i]before the Son of Man comes.

24 [j]"A disciple is not above his teacher, nor a servant above his master. 25 It is enough for a disciple that he be like his teacher, and a servant like his master. 10:5–11:1 This is the second of 5 major discourses recorded in Matthew (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes).

10:5 Do not go into the way of the Gentiles. Christ did not forbid the disciples to preach to Gentiles or Samaritans if they encountered them on the way, but they were to take the message first to the covenant people, in the regions nearby (cf. Rom. 1:16).

10:6 lost sheep of the house of Israel. Cf. 15:24; Jer. 50:6. Jesus narrowed this priority even more when He said the gospel was only for those who knew they were spiritually sick (9:13) and needed a physician (Luke 5:31,32).

10:7 at hand. See note on 3:2.

10:8 Freely you have received, freely give. Jesus was giving them great power, to heal the sick and raise the dead. If they sold these gifts for money, they could have made quite a fortune. But that would have obscured the message of grace Christ sent them to preach. So he forbade them to charge money for their ministry. Yet they were permitted to accept support to meet their basic needs, for a workman is worthy of such support (v. 10).

10:9,10 See note on Luke 9:3. The restrictions on what they were to carry were unique for this mission. See Luke 22:36 where, on a later mission, Christ gave completely different instructions. The point here was to teach them to trust the Lord to supply their needs through the generosity of the people to whom they ministered, and to teach those who received the blessing of their ministry to support the servants of Christ. Cf. 1 Tim. 5:18.

10:13 peace. This is equivalent to the Heb. "shalom" and refers to prosperity, well being, or blessing.

10:14 hear your words. The priority was to preach that the King had come and His kingdom was near. The message was the main thing. The signs and wonders were to authenticate it. shake off the dust from your feet. It was common for Jews to shake the dust off their feet—as an expression of disdain—when returning from Gentile regions. Paul and Barnabas also did this when expelled from Antioch (Acts 13:51). This was a visible protest, signifying that they regarded the place as no better than a pagan land.

10:15 Sodom and Gomorrah. Those cities and the entire surrounding region were judged without warning, and with the utmost severity. See notes on Gen. 19:1-29.

10:16 wolves. Used to describe false prophets who persecute the true ones and seek to destroy the Church (cf. 7:15; Luke 10:3; Acts 20:29). See note on Luke 10:3.

10:17 deliver you up. This is a technical word, in this context, used for handing over a prisoner for punishment. Persecution of believers has often been the official policy of governments. Such persecutions give opportunity for testifying to the truth of the gospel. Cf. John 16:1-4; 2 Tim. 4:16.

10:19 do not worry. See note on Luke 12:11.

10:21-23 These verses clearly have an eschatological significance that goes beyond the disciples' immediate mission. The persecutions he describes seem to belong to the tribulation period that precedes Christ's second coming, alluded to in v. 23.

10:22 he who endures...end. See note on 24:13.

10:24 not above. If the Teacher (Christ) suffers, so will His pupils. If they attack the Master (Christ) with blasphemies, so will they curse the servants. This was the promise of persecution. Cf. John 15:20.

10:25 Beelzebub. The Philistine deity associated with satanic idolatry. The name came to be used for Satan, the prince of demons (see notes on 2 Kin. 1:2; Luke 11:15).

fear them. [l]For there is nothing covered that will not be revealed, and hidden that will not be known.

27 "Whatever I tell you in the dark, [m]speak in the light; and what you hear in the ear, preach on the housetops. 28 [n]And do not fear those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. But rather [o]fear Him who is able to destroy both soul and body in [8]hell. 29 Are not two [p]sparrows sold for a [9]copper coin? And not one of them falls to the ground apart from your Father's will. 30 [q]But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. 31 Do not fear therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows.

32 [r]"Therefore whoever confesses Me before men, [s]him I will also confess before My Father who is in heaven. 33 [t]But whoever denies Me before men, him I will also deny before My Father who is in heaven.

34 [u]"Do not think that I came to bring peace on earth. I did not come to bring peace but a sword. 35 For I have come to [v]'set[1] a man against his father, a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law'; 36 and [w]'a man's enemies will be those of his own household.' 37 [x]He who loves father or mother more than Me is not worthy of Me. And he who loves son or daughter more than Me is not worthy of Me. 38 [y]And he who does not take his cross and follow after Me is not worthy of Me. 39 [z]He who finds his life will lose it, and he who loses his life for My sake will find it.

40 [a]"He who receives you receives Me, and he who receives Me receives Him who sent Me. 41 [b]He who receives a prophet in the name of a prophet shall receive a prophet's reward. And he who receives a righteous man in the name of a righteous man shall receive a righteous man's reward. 42 [c]And whoever gives one of these little ones only a cup of cold water in the name of a disciple, assuredly, I say to you, he shall by no means lose his reward."

11 Now it came to pass, when Jesus finished commanding His twelve disciples, that He departed from there to [a]teach and to preach in their cities.

Rejection of John the Baptist—Luke 7:19-30

2 [b]And when John had heard [c]in prison about the works of Christ, he [1]sent two of his disciples 3 and said to Him, "Are You [d]the Coming One, or do we look for another?"

4 Jesus answered and said to them, "Go and tell John the things which you hear and see: 5 [e]The blind see and the lame walk; the lepers are cleansed and the deaf hear; the dead are raised up and [f]the poor have

10:28 fear Him. God is the one who destroys in hell. Cf. Luke 12:5. Persecutors can only harm the body.

10:29 apart from your Father's will. Not merely "without His knowledge"; Jesus was teaching that God providentially controls the timing and circumstances of such insignificant events as the death of a sparrow. Even the number of hairs on our heads is controlled by His sovereign will (v. 30). In other words, divine providence governs even the smallest details and even the most mundane matters. These are very powerful affirmations of the sovereignty of God.

10:32 confesses Me. The person who acknowledges Christ as Lord in life or in death, if necessary, is the one whom the Lord will acknowledge before God as His own. See notes on 13:20; 2 Tim. 2:10-13.

10:33 See note on Luke 12:9.

10:34 not...peace but a sword. Though the ultimate end of the gospel is peace with God (John 14:27; Rom. 8:6), the immediate result of the gospel is frequently conflict. Conversion to Christ can result in strained family relationships (vv. 35,36), persecution, and even martyrdom. Following Christ presupposes a willingness to endure such hardships (vv. 32,33,37-39). Though He is called "Prince of Peace" (Is. 9:6), Christ will have no one deluded into thinking that He calls believers to a life devoid of all conflict.

10:35,36 Quoted from Mic. 7:6.

10:38 take his cross. Here is Jesus' first mention of the word "cross" to His disciples (see note on 16:21). To them it would have evoked a picture of a violent, degrading death (see note on 27:31). He was demanding total commitment from them—even unto physical death—and making this call to full surrender a part of the message they were to proclaim to others. This same call to life-or-death devotion to Christ is repeated in 16:24; Mark 8:34; Luke 9:23; 14:27. For those who come to Christ with self-renouncing faith, there will be true and eternal life (v. 39).

10:40 He who receives you receives Me. Christ lives in His people. They also come in His name as His ambassadors (2 Cor. 5:20). Therefore, how they are treated is how He is treated (cf. 18:5; 25:45; Luke 9:48).

10:41 in the name of a prophet...in the name of a righteous man. This expands on the principle of v. 40. To welcome Christ's emissaries is tantamount to welcoming Him (cf. 25:40).

10:42 little ones. Believers. See notes on 18:3-10; 25:40.

11:1 in their cities. I.e., in Galilee. Meanwhile, the disciples were also ministering in the Jewish towns in and around Galilee (10:5,6).

11:3 Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another? John the Baptist had introduced Christ as One who would bring a fierce judgment and "burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire" (3:12). He was understandably confused by the turn of events: he was imprisoned, and Christ was carrying on a ministry of healing, not judgment, in Galilee, far from Jerusalem, the city of the King—and not finding a completely warm reception there (cf. 8:34). John wondered if he had misunderstood Jesus' agenda. It would be wrong to interpret this as a wavering of his faith (v. 7).

11:4 tell John. He sent John's disciples back as eyewitnesses of many miracles. Evidently He performed these miracles in their presence just so that they could report back to John that they had personally seen proof that He was indeed the Messiah (cf. Is. 29:18,19; 35:5-10). Note, however, that he offered no further explanation to John, knowing exactly how strong John's faith was (cf. 1 Cor. 10:13).

the gospel preached to them. 6 And blessed is he who is not [s]offended because of Me."

7 [h]As they departed, Jesus began to say to the multitudes concerning John: "What did you go out into the wilderness to see? [i]A reed shaken by the wind? 8 But what did you go out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Indeed, those who wear soft clothing are in kings' houses. 9 But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, [j]and more than a prophet. 10 For this is he of whom it is written:

> [k]'Behold, I send My messenger
> before Your face,
> Who will prepare Your way before
> You.'

11 "Assuredly, I say to you, among those born of women there has not risen one greater than John the Baptist; but he who is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he. 12 [l]And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven suffers violence, and the violent take it by force. 13 [m]For all the prophets and the law prophesied until John. 14 And if you are willing to receive it, he is [n]Elijah who is to come. 15 [o]He who has ears to hear, let him hear!

Rejection by Jesus' Generation
Luke 7:31-35

16 [p]"But to what shall I liken this generation? It is like children sitting in the marketplaces and calling to their companions, 17 and saying:

> 'We played the flute for you,
> And you did not dance;
> We mourned to you,
> And you did not [2]lament.'

18 For John came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, 'He has a demon.' 19 The Son of Man came eating and drinking, and they say, 'Look, a glutton and a [3]winebibber, [q]a friend of tax collectors and sinners!' [r]But wisdom is justified by her [4]children."

Rejection of Chorazin, Bethsaida, and Capernaum—Luke 10:12-15

20 [s]Then He began to rebuke the cities in which most of His mighty works had been done, because they did not repent: 21 "Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago [t]in sackcloth and ashes. 22 But I say to you, [u]it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in the day of judgment than for you. 23 And you, Capernaum, [v]who[5] are exalted to heaven, will be brought down to Hades; for if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day. 24 But I say to you [w]that it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment than for you."

11:10 Quoted from Mal. 3:1.

11:11 least...is greater than he. John was greater than the OT prophets because he actually saw with his eyes and personally participated in the fulfillment of what they only prophesied (vv. 10,13; cf. 1 Pet. 1:10,11). But all believers after the cross are greater still, because they participate in the full understanding and experience of something John merely foresaw in shadowy form—the actual atoning work of Christ.

11:12 the kingdom of heaven suffers violence. From the time he began his preaching ministry, John the Baptist evoked a strong reaction. Having been imprisoned already, John ultimately fell victim to Herod's savagery. But the kingdom can never be subdued or opposed by human violence. Notice that where Matthew says, "the violent take it by force," Luke has, "everyone is pressing into it" (Luke 16:16). So the sense of this verse may be rendered this way: "The kingdom presses ahead relentlessly, and only the relentless press their way into it." Thus again Christ is magnifying the difficulty of entering the kingdom (see notes on 7:13,14).

11:14 he is Elijah. I.e., he is the fulfillment of Mal. 4:5,6 (see 17:12,13). The Jews were aware that Elijah had not died (cf. 2 Kin. 2:11). This does not suggest that John was Elijah returned. In fact, John himself denied that he was Elijah (John 1:21); yet he came in the spirit and power of Elijah (Luke 1:17). If they had believed, John would have been the fulfillment of the Elijah prophecies. See notes on Mark 9:13; Rev. 11:5,6.

11:16 like children. See note on Luke 7:32.

11:19 eating and drinking. See note on Luke 7:34.

11:21 Woe to you, Chorazin!...Bethsaida! Both were cities very close to Capernaum, near the northern shore of the Sea of Galilee. Tyre...Sidon. Phoenician cities on the shore of the Mediterranean. The prophecy about the destruction of Tyre and Sidon in Ezek. 26–28 was fulfilled in precise detail.

11:22,24 more tolerable. This indicates that there will be degrees of punishment in hell for the ungodly (see notes on 10:15; Mark 6:11; Luke 12:47,48; Heb. 10:29).

11:23 Capernaum...exalted...brought down. Capernaum, chosen by Jesus to be His headquarters, faced an even greater condemnation. Curiously, there is no record that the people of that city ever mocked or ridiculed Jesus, ran Him out of town, or threatened His life. Yet the sin of that city—indifference to Christ—was worse than Sodom's gross wickedness (cf. 10:15).

11:25 wise and prudent...babes. There is sarcasm in these words as the Jewish leaders are ironically identified as wise and prudent and the followers of Christ as the infants (cf. 18:3-10)—yet God has revealed to those followers the truth of the Messiah and His gospel. Cf. 13:10-17.

have revealed them to babes. 26 Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Your sight. 27 [a]All things have been delivered to Me by My Father, and no one knows the Son except the Father. [b]Nor does anyone know the Father except the Son, and the one to whom the Son wills to reveal Him. 28 Come to [c]Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. 29 Take My yoke upon you [d]and learn from Me, for I am [6]gentle and [e]lowly in heart, [f]and you will find rest for your souls. 30 [g]For My yoke is easy and My burden is light."

Controversy over Sabbath-Labor
Mark 2:23-28; Luke 6:1-5

12 At that time [a]Jesus went through the grainfields on the Sabbath. And His disciples were hungry, and began to [b]pluck heads of grain and to eat. 2 And when the Pharisees saw it, they said to Him, "Look, Your disciples are doing what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath!"

3 But He said to them, "Have you not read [c]what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him: 4 how he entered the house of God and ate [d]the showbread which was not lawful for him to eat, nor for those who were with him, [e]but only for the priests? 5 Or have you not read in the [f]law that on the Sabbath the priests in the temple [1]profane the Sabbath, and are blameless? 6 Yet I say to you that in this place there is [g]One greater than the temple. 7 But if you had known what this means, [h]'I desire mercy and not sacrifice,' you would not have condemned the guiltless. 8 For the Son of Man is Lord [2]even of the Sabbath."

Controversy over Sabbath-Healing
Mark 3:1-5; Luke 6:6-10

9 [i]Now when He had departed from there, He went into their synagogue. 10 And behold, there was a man who had a withered hand. And they asked Him, saying, [j]"Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?"—that they might accuse Him.

11 Then He said to them, "What man is there among you who has one sheep, and if it falls into a pit on the Sabbath, will not lay hold of it and lift it out? 12 Of how much more value then is a man than a sheep? Therefore it is lawful to do good on the Sabbath." 13 Then He said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." And he stretched it out, and it was restored as whole as the other.

11:26 it seemed good in Your sight. Cf. Luke 10:21,22. This is a powerful affirmation of the sovereignty of God over all the affairs of men; and in the verse that follows, Christ claimed that the task of executing the divine will had been committed to Him—a claim that would be utterly blasphemous if Jesus were anything less than sovereign God Himself.

11:28-30 Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden. There is an echo of the first beatitude (5:3) in this passage. Note that this is an open invitation to all who hear—but phrased in such a way that the only ones who will respond to the invitation are those who are burdened by their own spiritual bankruptcy and the weight of trying to save themselves by keeping the law. The stubbornness of humanity's sinful rebellion is such that without a sovereignly-bestowed spiritual awakening, all sinners refuse to acknowledge the depth of their spiritual poverty. That is why, as Jesus says in v. 27, our salvation is the sovereign work of God. But the truth of divine election in v. 27 is not incompatible with the free offer to all in vv. 28-30.

11:29 you will find rest. I.e., from the endless, fruitless effort to save oneself by the works of the law (cf. Heb. 4:1-3,6,9-11). This speaks of a permanent respite in the grace of God which is apart from works (v. 30).

12:2 not lawful to do on the Sabbath. Actually, no law prohibited the plucking of grain in order to eat on the Sabbath. Gleaning handfuls of grain from a neighbor's field to satisfy one's immediate hunger was explicitly permitted (Deut. 23:25). What was prohibited was labor for the sake of profit. Thus a farmer could not harvest for profit on the Sabbath, but an individual could glean enough grain to eat.

12:3 He said. Jesus' answer in vv. 3-8 points out that the Sabbath laws do not restrict deeds of necessity (vv. 3,4); service to God (vv. 5,6); or acts of mercy (vv. 7,8). He reaffirmed that the Sabbath was made for man's benefit and God's glory. It was never intended to be a yoke of bondage to the people of God (Mark 2:27). See note on Luke 6:9.

12:4 the showbread. The consecrated bread of the Presence, 12 loaves baked fresh each Sabbath, which was usually eaten by the priests only (Lev. 24:5-9). God was not offended by David's act, done to satisfy a legitimate need when his men were weak with hunger (1 Sam. 21:4-6). See notes on Mark 2:26; Luke 6:30.

12:5 profane the Sabbath, and are blameless. I.e., the priests have to do their work on the Sabbath, proving that some aspects of the Sabbath restrictions are not inviolable moral absolutes, but rather precepts pertaining to the ceremonial features of the law.

12:6 greater than the temple. This was a straightforward claim of deity. The Lord Jesus was God incarnate—God dwelling in human flesh—far superior to a building which God merely visited.

12:7 mercy and not sacrifice. Quoted from Hos. 6:6. See note on 9:13.

12:8 the Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath. Christ has the prerogative to rule over not only their man-made sabbatarian rules, but also over the Sabbath itself—which was designed for worshiping God. Again, this was an inescapable claim of deity—and as such it prompted the Pharisees' violent outrage (v. 14).

12:10 Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath? Jewish tradition prohibited the practice of medicine on the Sabbath, except in life-threatening situations. But no actual law in the OT forbade the giving of medicine, healing, or any other acts of mercy on the Sabbath. It is always lawful to do good.

followed Him, and He healed them all. 16 Yet He [n]warned them not to make Him known, 17 that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

18 "Behold![o] My Servant whom I have chosen,
My Beloved[p] in whom My soul is well pleased!
I will put My Spirit upon Him,
And He will declare justice to the Gentiles.
19 He will not quarrel nor cry out,
Nor will anyone hear His voice in the streets.
20 A bruised reed He will not break,
And smoking flax He will not quench,
Till He sends forth justice to victory;
21 And in His name Gentiles will trust."

Pharisees Blaspheme the Holy Spirit
Mark 3:22-27; Luke 11: 17-23

22 [q]Then one was brought to Him who was demon-possessed, blind and mute; and He healed him, so that the [4]blind and mute man both spoke and saw. 23 And all the multitudes were amazed and said, "Could this be the [r]Son of David?"

25 But Jesus [t]knew their thoughts, and said to them: "Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation, and every city or house divided against itself will not stand. 26 If Satan casts out Satan, he is divided against himself. How then will his kingdom stand? 27 And if I cast out demons by Beelzebub, by whom do your sons cast them out? Pharisees Commit the Unpardonable Sin
Mark 3:28, 29

31 "Therefore I say to you, [w]every sin and blasphemy will be forgiven men, [x]but the blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven men. 32 Anyone who [y]speaks a word against the Son of Man, [z]it will be forgiven him; but whoever speaks against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven him, either in this age or in the age to come.

33 "Either make the tree good and [a]its fruit good, or else make the tree bad and its fruit bad; for a tree is known by its fruit. 34 [b]Brood[6] of vipers! How can you, being evil, speak good things? [c]For out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks.

12:15 healed them all. See note on 9:35. In all of OT history there was never a time or a person who exhibited such extensive healing power. Physical healings were very rare in the OT. Christ chose to display His deity by healing, raising the dead, and liberating people from demons. That not only showed the Messiah's power over the physical and spiritual realms, but also demonstrated the compassion of God toward those affected by sin. See note on John 11:35.

12:16 warned them not to make Him known. See note on 8:4. Here Christ seems concerned about the potential zealotry of those who would try to press Him into the conquering-hero mold that the rabbinical experts had made out of messianic prophecy (see note on v. 18).

12:18 Behold! My Servant. Verses 18-21 are quoted from Is. 42:1-4, to demonstrate that (contrary to the typical first-century rabbinical expectations) the Messiah would not arrive with political agendas, military campaigns, and great fanfare, but with gentleness and meekness—declaring righteousness even "to the Gentiles."

12:19 not quarrel nor cry out. The Messiah would not try to stir up a revolution or force His way into power.

12:20 bruised reed...smoking flax. The reed was used by shepherds to fashion a small musical instrument. Once cracked or worn, it was useless. A smoldering wick was also useless for giving light. These represent people who are deemed useless by the world. Christ's work was to restore and rekindle such people, not to "break" them or "quench" them. This speaks of His tender compassion toward the lowliest of the lost. He came not to gather the strong for a revolution, but to show mercy to the weak. Cf. 1 Cor. 1:26-29.

12:23 Son of David. See note on 1:1.

12:24 Beelzebub. See note on 10:25. After all the displays of Jesus' deity, the Pharisees declared that He was from Satan—exactly opposite the truth, and they knew it (see note on v. 31; cf. 9:34; Mark 3:22; Luke 11:15).

12:28 kingdom of God has come. That was precisely true. The King was in their midst, displaying His sovereign power. He showed it by demonstrating His ability to bind Satan and his demons (v. 29).

12:31 the blasphemy against the Spirit. The sin He was confronting was the Pharisees' deliberate rejection of that which they knew to be of God (cf. John 11:48; Acts 4:16). They could not deny the realty of what the Holy Spirit had done through Him, so they attributed to Satan a work that they knew was of God (v. 24; Mark 3:22).

12:32 it will be forgiven him. Someone never exposed to Christ's divine power and presence might reject Him in ignorance and be forgiven—assuming the unbelief gives way to genuine repentance. Even a Pharisee such as Saul of Tarsus could be forgiven for speaking "against the Son of Man" or persecuting His followers—because his unbelief stemmed from ignorance (1 Tim. 1:13). But those who know His claims are true and reject Him anyway sin "against the Holy Spirit"—because it is the Holy Spirit who testifies of Christ and makes His truth known to us (John 15:26; 16:14,15). No forgiveness was possible for these Pharisees who witnessed His miracles firsthand, knew the truth of His claims, and still blasphemed the Holy Spirit—because they had already rejected the fullest possible revelation. See notes on Heb. 6:4-6; 10:29.

35 A good man out of the good treasure [7]of his heart brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure brings forth evil things. 36 But I say to you that for every idle word men may speak, they will give account of it in the day of judgment. 37 For by your words you will be justified, and by your words you will be condemned."

Pharisees Demand a Sign
Luke 11:24-26, 29-32

38 [d]Then some of the scribes and Pharisees answered, saying, "Teacher, we want to see a sign from You."

39 But He answered and said to them, "An evil and [e]adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and no sign will be given to it except the sign of the prophet Jonah. 40 [f]For as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of the great fish, so will the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth. 41 [g]The men of Nineveh will rise up in the judgment with this generation and [h]condemn it, [i]because they repented at the preaching of Jonah; and indeed a greater than Jonah is here. 42 [j]The queen of the South will rise up in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and indeed a greater than Solomon is here.

43 [k]"When an unclean spirit goes out of a man, [l]he goes through dry places, seeking rest, and finds none. 44 Then he says, 'I will return to my house from which I came.' And when he comes, he finds it empty, swept, and put in order. 45 Then he goes and takes with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter and dwell there; [m]and the last state of that man is worse than the first. So shall it also be with this wicked generation."

Jesus and the True Brethren—Mark 3:31-35

46 While He was still talking to the multitudes, [n]behold, His mother and [o]brothers stood outside, seeking to speak with Him. 47 Then one said to Him, "Look, [p]Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside, seeking to speak with You."

48 But He answered and said to the one who told Him, "Who is My mother and who are My brothers?" 49 And He stretched out His hand toward His disciples and said, "Here are My mother and My [q]brothers! 50 For [r]whoever does the will of My Father in heaven is My brother and sister and mother."

12:36 every idle word. The most seemingly insignificant sin—even a slip of the tongue—carries the full potential of all hell's evil (cf. James 3:6). No infraction against God's holiness is therefore a trifling thing, and each person will ultimately give account of every such indiscretion. There is no truer indication of a bad tree than the bad fruit of speech (vv. 33,35). The poisonous snakes were known by their poisonous mouths revealing evil hearts (v. 34; cf. Luke 6:45). Every person is judged by his words, because they reveal the state of his heart.

12:38 we want to see a sign from You. They were hoping for a sign of astronomical proportions (Luke 11:16). Instead, he gives them a "sign" from Scripture. See notes on 16:1; 21:21.

12:39 An evil and adulterous generation. This speaks of spiritual adultery—unfaithfulness to God (cf. Jer. 5:7,8).

12:40 three days and three nights. Quoted from Jon. 1:17. This sort of expression was a common way of underscoring the prophetic significance of a period of time. An expression like "forty days and forty nights" (see note on 4:2) may in some cases simply refer to a period of time longer than a month. "Three days and three nights" was an emphatic way of saying "three days," and by Jewish reckoning this would be an apt way of expressing a period of time that includes parts of 3 days. Thus, if Christ was crucified on a Friday, and His resurrection occurred on the first day of the week, by Hebrew reckoning this would qualify as 3 days and 3 nights. All sorts of elaborate schemes have been devised to suggest that Christ might have died on a Wednesday or Thursday, just to accommodate the extreme literal meaning of these words. But the original meaning would not have required that sort of wooden interpretation. See note on Luke 13:32.

12:41 men of Nineveh...repented. See Jon. 3:5-10. The revival in Nineveh under Jonah's preaching was one of the most extraordinary spiritual revivals the world has ever seen. Some have suggested that the repentance of the Ninevites stopped short of saving faith, because the city reverted within one generation to its old pagan ways (cf. Nah. 3:7,8). From Jesus' words here, however, it is clear that the revival under Jonah represented authentic saving conversions. Only eternity will reveal how many souls from that one generation were swept into the kingdom as a result of the revival.

12:42 queen of the South. See 1 Kin. 10:1-13. The queen of Sheba came to see Solomon's glory (see note on 6:29) and in the process encountered the glory of Solomon's God (1 Kin. 10:9).

12:45 the last state of that man is worse than the first. The problem is that the evil spirit found the house "empty" (v. 44). This is the description of someone who attempts moral reform without ever being indwelt by the Holy Spirit. Reform apart from regeneration is never effective and eventually reverts back to pre-reform behavior.

12:46 brothers. These are actual siblings (half-brothers) of Jesus. Matthew explicitly connects them with Mary, indicating that they were not cousins or Joseph's sons from a previous marriage, as some of the church fathers imagined. They are mentioned in all the gospels (Mark 3:31; Luke 8:19-21; John 7:3-5). Matthew and Mark give the names of 4 of Jesus' brothers, and mention that He had sisters as well (13:55; Mark 6:3).

12:48,49 He was not repudiating His earthly family (cf. John 19:26,27). Rather, He was emphasizing the supremacy and eternality of spiritual relationships (cf. 10:37). After all, even His own family needed Him as Savior (cf. John 7:5).

12:50 does the will of My Father. This is not salvation by works. Doing the will of God is the evidence of salvation by grace. See notes on 7:21-27.

13:1-52 This is the third of 5 discourses featured in Matthew (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes).

gether to Him, so that [c]He got into a boat and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 Then He spoke many things to them in parables, saying: [d]"Behold, a sower went out to sow. 4 And as he sowed, some seed fell by the wayside; and the birds came and devoured them. 5 Some fell on stony places, where they did not have much earth; and they immediately sprang up because they had no depth of earth. 6 But when the sun was up they were scorched, and because they had no root they withered away. 7 And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up and choked them. 8 But others fell on good ground and yielded a crop: some [e]a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty. 9 [f]He who has ears to hear, let him hear!"

10 And the disciples came and said to Him, "Why do You speak to them in parables?"

11 He answered and said to them, "Because [g]it has been given to you to know the [1]mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it has not been given. 12 [h]For whoever has, to him more will be given, and he will have abundance; but whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him. 13 Therefore I speak to them in parables, because seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand. 14 And in them the prophecy of Isaiah is fulfilled, which says:

13:3 parables. Parables were a common form of teaching in Judaism. The Gr. term for "parable" appears 45 times in the LXX. A parable is a long analogy, often cast in the form of a story. Before this point in His ministry, Jesus had employed many graphic analogies (cf. 5:13-16), but their meaning was fairly clear in the context of His teaching. Parables required more explanation (cf. v. 36) and Jesus employed them to obscure the truth from unbelievers while making it clearer to His disciples (vv. 11,12). For the remainder of His Galilean ministry, He did not speak to the multitudes except in parables (v. 34). Jesus' veiling the truth from unbelievers this way was both an act of judgment and an act of mercy. It was "judgment" because it kept them in the darkness that they loved (cf. John 3:19), but it was "mercy" because they had already rejected the light, so any exposure to more truth would only increase their condemnation. See note on v. 13.

13:4 wayside. The fields were bordered by paths beaten hard by foot traffic and baking sun.

13:5 stony places. Very shallow soil atop a layer of bedrock. From the top it looks fertile, but there is no depth to sustain a root system or reach water (v. 21).

13:7 thorns. Weeds, the roots of which were still in the ground after plowing had been done.

13:11 it has been given to you. Here Jesus clearly affirms that the ability to comprehend spiritual truth is a gracious gift of God, sovereignly bestowed on the elect (v. 11). The reprobate ones, on the other hand, are passed over. They reap the natural consequence of their own unbelief and rebellion—spiritual blindness (v. 13). the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven. "Mysteries" are those truths which have been hidden from all ages in the past and revealed in the NT. See notes on 1 Cor. 2:7; 4:1; Eph. 3:4,5. Many specific doctrines of the NT are identified as "mysteries" (e.g., Rom. 11:25; 1 Cor. 15:51; Eph. 5:32; 6:19; Col. 1:26,27; 2 Thess. 2:7; 1 Tim. 3:9,16).

13:13 because seeing they do not see. Here Matthew seems to suggest that their own unbelief is the cause of their spiritual blindness. Luke 8:10, however, emphasizes God's initiative in obscuring the truth from these unbelievers ("to the rest it is given in parables, [so] that 'Seeing they may not see, And hearing they may not understand' "—cf. Is. 6:9). Both things are true, of course. Yet we are not to think that God blinds them because He somehow delights in their destruction (cf. Ezek. 33:11; see note on 23:37). This judicial blinding may be viewed as an act of mercy, lest their condemnation be increased (see note on v. 3).

13:14,15 Quoted from Is. 6:9,10 (see notes there).

13:17 many...desired to see. Cf. John 8:56; 1 Pet. 1:9-12.

13:19 word of the kingdom. The message of how to enter God's kingdom, the sphere of salvation, i.e., the gospel (cf. "word of reconciliation" in 2 Cor. 5:19). wicked one. Satan. Cf. 1 John 5:19. The gospel never penetrates these souls, so it disappears from the surface of their understanding—seen as the enemy snatching it away.

13:20 stony places. Some people make an emotional, superficial commitment to salvation in Christ, but it is not real. They remain interested only until there is a sacrificial price to pay, and then abandon Christ. See note on 1 John 2:19.

13:22 who received seed among the thorns. These make superficial commitments without a true repentance. They can't break with the love of money and the world (James 4:4; 1 John 2:15-17; see notes on 19:16-22).

word, and the cares of this world and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he becomes unfruitful. 23 But he who received seed on the good ground is he who hears the word and understands it, who indeed bears [w]fruit and produces: some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty."

Parable of the Wheat and Tares

24 Another parable He put forth to them, saying: "The kingdom of heaven is like a man who sowed good seed in his field; 25 but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat and went his way. 26 But when the grain had sprouted and produced a crop, then the tares also appeared. 27 So the servants of the owner came and said to him, 'Sir, did you not sow good seed in your field? How then does it have tares?' 28 He said to them, 'An enemy has done this.' The servants said to him, 'Do you want us then to go and gather them up?' 29 But he said, 'No, lest while you gather up the tares you also uproot the wheat with them. 30 Let both grow together until the harvest, and at the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, "First gather together the tares and bind them in bundles to burn them, but [x]gather the wheat into my barn."' "

Parable of the Mustard Seed
Mark 4:30-32; Luke 13:18, 19

31 Another parable He put forth to them, saying: [y]"The kingdom of heaven is like a mustard seed, which a man took and sowed in his field, 32 which indeed is the least of all the seeds; but when it is grown it is greater than the herbs and becomes a [z]tree, so that the birds of the air come and nest in its branches."

Parable of the Leaven—Luke 13:20, 21

33 [a] Another parable He spoke to them: "The kingdom of heaven is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three [3]measures of meal till [b]it was all leavened."

34 [c] All these things Jesus spoke to the multitude in parables; and without a parable He did not speak to them, 35 that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying:

> [d]"I will open My mouth in parables;
> [e]I will utter things kept secret from the foundation of the world."

Parable of the Tares Explained

36 Then Jesus sent the multitude away and went into the house. And His disciples came to Him, saying, "Explain to us the parable of the tares of the field."

37 He answered and said to them: "He who sows the good seed is the Son of Man. 38 [f]The field is the world, the good seeds are the sons of the kingdom, but the tares are [g]the sons of the wicked one. 39 The enemy who sowed them is the devil, [h]the harvest is the end of the age, and the reapers are the angels. 40 Therefore as the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so it will be at the end of this age. 41 The Son of Man will send out His angels, [i]and they will gather out of His kingdom all things that offend, and those who practice lawlessness, 42 [j]and will cast them into the furnace of fire. [k]There will be wailing and gnashing of teeth. 43 [l]Then the righteous will shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. [m]He who has ears to hear, let him hear!

Parable of the Hidden Treasure

44 "Again, the kingdom of heaven is like

13:23 the good ground. As there were 3 soils with no fruit, thus no salvation, there are 3 kinds of good soil with fruit. Not all believers are equally fruitful, but all are fruitful (cf. 7:16; John 15:8).

13:25 tares. Probably darnel, a type of weed that can hardly be distinguished from wheat until the head matures. In an agricultural setting, sowing darnel in someone else's wheat field was a way for enemies to destroy someone's livelihood catastrophically. It pictures Satan's efforts to devastate the church by mingling his children with God's, in some cases making it impossible for believers to discern the true from the false. The parable is explained in vv. 36-43.

13:32 a tree, so that the birds of the air come and nest in its branches. Palestinian mustard plants are large shrubs, sometimes up to 15 ft. high—certainly large enough for birds to lodge in. This is undoubtedly a reference to several OT passages, including Ezek. 17:23; 31:6; Dan. 4:21—passages which prophesied the inclusion of Gentiles in the kingdom.

13:33 The kingdom of heaven is like leaven. Here the kingdom is pictured as yeast, multiplying quietly and permeating all that it contacts. The lesson is the same as the parable of the mustard seed. Some interpreters suggest that since leaven is nearly always a symbol of evil in Scripture (see note on Mark 8:15) it must carry that connotation here as well. They make the leaven some evil influence inside the kingdom. But that twists Jesus actual words and violates the context, in which Jesus is repeatedly describing that kingdom itself as the pervading influence.

13:34 without a parable He did not speak to them. For the rest of His Galilean ministry all Jesus' public teaching consisted only of parables.

13:35 spoken by the prophet. The "prophet" in this case was the psalmist. See Ps. 78:2.

13:37 He who sows. The true sower of salvation seed is the Lord Himself. He alone can give the power in the heart to transform. He is the One who saves sinners, even through the preaching and witnessing of believers (Rom. 10:14).

13:43 shine forth as the sun. Cf. Dan. 12:3. Believers already shine in that they possess the Spirit of Christ and the glorious message of the gospel (5:16; 2 Cor. 4:3-7). We will shine even more in the glory of Christ's kingdom and eternal heaven (Rom. 8:16-23; Phil. 3:20,21; Rev. 19:7-9).

13:44-46 These two parables have identical meanings. Both pic-treasure hidden in a field, which a man found and hid; and for joy over it he goes and [n]sells all that he has and [o]buys that field.

Parable of the Pearl of Great Price

45 "Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant seeking beautiful pearls, 46 who, when he had found [p]one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had and bought it.

Parable of the Dragnet

47 "Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was cast into the sea and [q]gathered some of every kind, 48 which, when it was full, they drew to shore; and they sat down and gathered the good into vessels, but threw the bad away. 49 So it will be at the end of the age. The angels will come forth, [r]separate the wicked from among the just, 50 and cast them into the furnace of fire. There will be wailing and gnashing of teeth."

Parable of the Householder

51 [4]Jesus said to them, "Have you understood all these things?"

They said to Him, "Yes, [5]Lord."

52 Then He said to them, "Therefore every [6]scribe instructed [7]concerning the kingdom of heaven is like a householder who brings out of his treasure [s]things new and old."

53 Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished these parables, that He departed from there.

Rejection at Nazareth—Mark 6:1-6

54 [t]When He had come to His own country, He taught them in their synagogue, so that they were astonished and said, "Where did this Man get this wisdom and these mighty works? 55 [u]Is this not the carpenter's son? Is not His mother called Mary? And [v]His brothers [w]James, [8]Joses, Simon, and Judas? 56 And His sisters, are they not all with us? Where then did this Man get all these things?" 57 So they [x]were offended at Him.

But Jesus said to them, [y]"A prophet is not without honor except in his own country and in his own house." 58 Now [z]He did not do many mighty works there because of their unbelief.

13:47 dragnet. Some fishing was done with a large weighted net dragged along the bottom of the lake. When pulled in, it contained an assortment that had to be separated. In a similar way the visible kingdom, the sphere of those who claim to be believers, is full of both good and bad and will be sorted in the judgment.

13:55 His brothers. See note on 12:46. The fact that Joseph does not actually appear in any of these accounts suggests that he was no longer living.

13:57 A prophet...in his own country. This is an ancient proverb paralleling the modern saying, "familiarity breeds contempt." They knew Jesus too well as a boy and a young man from their own town—and they concluded that He was nothing special. Verse 58 gives the sad result (cf. Mark 6:4).

13:58 He did not do many mighty works there. See note on Mark 6:5.

14:1-12 The record of the murder of John the Baptist is also in Mark 6:14-29; cf. Luke 9:7-9.

14:1 Herod. See note on 2:22. This was Herod Antipas, ruler of Galilee. tetrarch. One of 4 rulers of a divided region. After the death of Herod the Great, Palestine had been divided among his sons. Elsewhere, Matthew refers to Herod as "King" (v. 9), because that was the title by which he was known among the Galileans.

14:3 Herodias, his brother Philip's wife. Herodias was the daughter of Aristobulus, another son of Herod the Great; so when she married Philip, she was marrying her own father's brother. What precipitated the arrest of John the Baptist was that Herod Antipas (another of Herodias' uncles) talked Herodias into leaving her husband (his brother) in order to marry him (Mark 6:17)—thus compounding the incest, as well as violating Lev. 18:16. John was outraged that a ruler in Israel would commit such a sin openly, so he rebuked Herod severely (v. 4). For this, he was imprisoned and later killed (Mark 6:14-29).

14:6 the daughter of Herodias. Salome, daughter of Herodias and Philip. According to Josephus, the Jewish historian, she married yet another son (her own father's brother and her mother's uncle) of Herod the Great, thus further tangling the web of incest in that family.

before them and pleased Herod. 7 Therefore he promised with an oath to give her whatever she might ask.

8 So she, having been prompted by her mother, said, "Give me John the Baptist's head here on a platter."

9 And the king was sorry; nevertheless, because of the oaths and because of those who sat with him, he commanded it to be given to her. 10 So he sent and had John beheaded in prison. 11 And his head was brought on a platter and given to the girl, and she brought it to her mother. 12 Then his disciples came and took away the body and buried it, and went and told Jesus.

13 [e]When Jesus heard it, He departed from there by boat to a deserted place by Himself. But when the multitudes heard it, they followed Him on foot from the cities. 14 And when Jesus went out He saw a great multitude; and He [f]was moved with compassion for them, and healed their sick. 15 [g]When it was evening, His disciples came to Him, saying, "This is a deserted place, and the hour is already late. Send the multitudes away, that they may go into the villages and buy themselves food."

16 But Jesus said to them, "They do not need to go away. You give them something to eat."

17 And they said to Him, "We have here only five loaves and two fish."

18 He said, "Bring them here to Me." 19 Then He commanded the multitudes to sit down on the grass. And He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, [h]He blessed and broke and gave the loaves to the disciples; and the disciples gave to the multitudes. 20 So they all ate and were filled, and they took up twelve baskets full of the fragments that remained. 21 Now those who had eaten were about five thousand men, besides women and children.

Jesus Walks on Water
Mark 6:45-52; John 6:14-21

22 Immediately Jesus [1]made His disciples get into the boat and go before Him to the other side, while He sent the multitudes away. 23 [i]And when He had sent the multitudes away, He went up on the mountain by Himself to pray. [j]Now when evening came, He was alone there. 24 But the boat was now [2]in the middle of the sea, tossed by the waves, for the wind was contrary.

25 Now in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went to them, walking on the sea. 26 And when the disciples saw Him [k]walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, "It is a ghost!" And they cried out for fear.

27 But immediately Jesus spoke to them, saying, [3]"Be of good [1]cheer! [4]It is I; do not be afraid."

28 And Peter answered Him and said, "Lord, if it is You, command me to come to You on the water."

29 So He said, "Come." And when Peter had come down out of the boat, he walked on the water to go to Jesus. 30 But when he saw [5]that the wind was boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink he cried out, saying, "Lord, save me!"

31 And immediately Jesus stretched out His hand and caught him, and said to him, "O you of [m]little faith, why did you doubt?" 32 And when they got into the boat, the wind ceased.

33 Then those who were in the boat [6]came and worshiped Him, saying, "Truly [n]You are the Son of God."

14:9 because of the oaths. A promise made with a certain oath was considered sacred and inviolable (see note on 5:34)—especially when made by a ruling monarch. Debate over Tradition—Mark 7:1-23

15 Then [a]the scribes and Pharisees who were from Jerusalem came to Jesus, saying, 2 [b]"Why do Your disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? For they do not wash their hands when they eat bread."

3 He answered and said to them, "Why do you also transgress the commandment of God because of your tradition? 4 For God commanded, saying, [c]'Honor your father and your mother'; and, [d]'He who curses father or mother, let him be put to death.' 5 But you say, 'Whoever says to his father or mother, [e]"Whatever profit you might have received from me is a gift to God"— 6 then he need not honor his father [1]or mother.' Thus you have made the [2]commandment of God of no effect by your tradition. 7 [f]Hypocrites! Well did Isaiah prophesy about you, saying:

8 'These[g] people [3]draw near to Me
with their mouth,
And honor Me with their lips,
But their heart is far from Me.
9 And in vain they worship Me,
[h]Teaching as doctrines the commandments of men.'"

10 [i]When He had called the multitude to Himself, He said to them, "Hear and understand: 11 [j]Not what goes into the mouth defiles a man; but what comes out of the mouth, this defiles a man."

12 Then His disciples came and said to Him, "Do You know that the Pharisees were offended when they heard this saying?"

13 But He answered and said, [k]"Every plant which My heavenly Father has not planted will be uprooted. 14 Let them alone. [l]They are blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind leads the blind, both will fall into a ditch."

15 [m]Then Peter answered and said to Him, "Explain this parable to us."

16 So Jesus said, [n]"Are you also still without understanding? 17 Do you not yet understand that [o]whatever enters the mouth goes into the stomach and is eliminated? 18 But [p]those things which proceed out of the mouth come from the heart, and they defile a man. 19 [q]For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies. 20 These are the things which defile a man, but to eat with unwashed hands does not defile a man."

Jesus Heals the Gentile Woman's Daughter Mark 7:24-30

21 [r]Then Jesus went out from there and departed to the region of Tyre and Sidon. 22 And behold, a woman of Canaan came from that region and cried out to Him, saying, "Have mercy on me, O Lord, [s]Son of David! My daughter is severely demon-possessed."

23 But He answered her not a word.

And His disciples came and urged Him, saying, "Send her away, for she cries out after us."

24 But He answered and said, [t]"I was not sent except to the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

25 Then she came and worshiped Him, saying, "Lord, help me!"

26 But He answered and said, "It is not good to take the children's bread and throw it to the little [u]dogs."

27 And she said, "Yes, Lord, yet even the little dogs eat the crumbs which fall from their masters' table."

15:2 tradition of the elders. This was a body of extrabiblical law that had existed only in oral form and only since the time of the Babylonian captivity. Later it was committed to writing in the Mishna near the end of the second century. The law of Moses contained no commandment about washing one's hands before eating—except for priests who were required to wash before eating holy offerings (Lev. 22:6,7).

15:3 transgress. The nature of this sin is identified in vv. 4-6 as dishonoring one's parents in a cleverly devised way. The commandments of God were clear (quoted from Ex. 20:12; 21:17; Deut. 5:16); but to circumvent them, some people claimed they could not financially assist their parents because they had dedicated a certain sum of money to God, who was greater than their parents. The rabbis had approved this exception to the commandments of Moses and thus in effect nullified God's law (v. 6).

15:6 you have made the commandment of God of no effect by your tradition. See note on Mark 7:13.

15:8,9 Quoted from Is. 29:13.

15:11 what comes out of the mouth, this defiles a man. People might defile themselves ceremonially (under the Old Covenant) by eating something unclean, but they would defile themselves morally by saying something sinful (cf. James 3:6). Here Jesus clearly distinguished between the law's ceremonial requirements and its inviolable moral standard. Ceremonial defilement could be dealt with through ceremonial means. But moral defilement corrupts a person's soul.

15:14 Let them alone. This severe judgment is a form God's wrath. It signifies abandonment by God and is described as "giving them over" in Rom. 1:18-32 (see notes there). Cf. Hos. 4:17.

15:15 this parable. I.e., v. 11. The "parable" is not at all hard to understand, but it was hard for even the disciples to accept. Years later, Peter still found it hard to accept that all foods are clean (Acts 10:14).

15:22 Son of David. See note on 1:1.

15:24 lost sheep of the house of Israel. See note on 10:6.

15:26 the children's bread. The lost sheep of the house of Israel must be fed before the "little dogs" (see note on 10:5). Christ employed a word here that speaks of a family pet. His words with this woman are not to be understood as harsh or unfeeling. In fact, He was tenderly drawing from her an expression of her faith in v. 27.

28 Then Jesus answered and said to her, "O woman, [v]great is your faith! Let it be to you as you desire." And her daughter was healed from that very hour.

Jesus Heals Many—Mark 7:31-37

29 [w]Jesus departed from there, [x]skirted the Sea of Galilee, and went up on the mountain and sat down there. 30 [y]Then great multitudes came to Him, having with them the lame, blind, mute, [4]maimed, and many others; and they laid them down at Jesus' [z]feet, and He healed them. 31 So the multitude marveled when they saw the mute speaking, the [5]maimed made whole, the lame walking, and the blind seeing; and they [a]glorified the God of Israel.

32 [b]Now Jesus called His disciples to Himself and said, "I have compassion on the multitude, because they have now continued with Me three days and have nothing to eat. And I do not want to send them away hungry, lest they faint on the way."

33 [c]Then His disciples said to Him, "Where could we get enough bread in the wilderness to fill such a great multitude?"

34 Jesus said to them, "How many loaves do you have?"

And they said, "Seven, and a few little fish."

35 So He commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground. 36 And [d]He took the seven loaves and the fish and [e]gave thanks, broke them and gave them to His disciples; and the disciples gave to the multitude. 37 So they all ate and were filled, and they took up seven large baskets full of the fragments that were left. 38 Now those who ate were four thousand men, besides women and children. 39 [f]And He sent away the multitude, got into the boat, and came to the region of [6]Magdala.

Debate over a Sign from Heaven
Mark 8:11, 12

16 Then the [a]Pharisees and Sadducees came, and testing Him asked that He would show them a sign from heaven. 2 He answered and said to them, "When it is evening you say, 'It will be fair weather, for the sky is red'; 3 and in the morning, 'It will be foul weather today, for the sky is red and threatening.' [1]Hypocrites! You know how to discern the face of the sky, but you cannot discern the signs of the times. 4 [b]A wicked and adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and no sign shall be given to it except the sign of [2]the prophet Jonah." And He left them and departed.

Withdrawal of Jesus—Mark 8:13-21

5 Now [c]when His disciples had come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread. 6 Then Jesus said to them, [d]"Take heed and beware of the [3]leaven of the Pharisees and the Sadducees."

7 And they reasoned among themselves, saying, "It is because we have taken no bread."

8 But Jesus, being aware of it, said to them, "O you of little faith, why do you reason among yourselves because you [4]have brought no bread? 9 [e]Do you not yet understand, or remember the five loaves of the five thousand and how many baskets you took up? 10 [f]Nor the seven loaves of the four thousand and how many large baskets you took up? 11 How is it you do not understand that I did not speak to you concerning bread?—but to beware of the [5]leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees." 12 Then they understood that He did not tell them to beware of the leaven of bread, but of the [6]doctrine of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

He may have taken this route to avoid the territory ruled by Herod Antipas (cf. 14:1,2). The events that follow must have occurred in the Decapolis (see note on 4:25).

15:33 Where could we get enough bread. No wonder our Lord called them men of little faith (8:26; 14:31; 16:8; 17:20), when they asked a question like that in the light of the recent feeding of the 5,000 (14:13-21).

15:34 See note on 14:16. Again the Lord had them confess for the record how little food they had in comparison to the size of the crowd. This made clear that the feeding was miraculous evidence of His deity.

15:38 four thousand. Christ ended His ministry in Galilee with the feeding of the 5,000 (14:13-21). Here, He ended His ministry in the Gentile regions by feeding the 4,000. He later would end His Jerusalem ministry with a meal in the upper room with His disciples.

16:1 a sign from heaven. See note on 12:38. This time Jesus rebuked them for being so concerned with heavenly signs that they could not even interpret the signs of the times all around them. Then He referred them to the same sign He gave them before, the sign of the prophet Jonah (v. 4; cf. 12:39).

16:2,3 As primitive as their method of predicting the weather was, their ability to discern spiritual matters was worse. They had the long-promised and long-awaited Messiah in their midst and refused to acknowledge Him.

16:6 the leaven of the Pharisees and the Sadducees. When Jesus warned of this dangerous influence, the disciples thought He was talking about bread. Again, He reminded them of the fact that the Lord provided plenty of bread, so they didn't need the bread the Pharisees were offering. How soon they forgot the miracles. See note on 13:33.

16:12 the doctrine of the Pharisees and Sadducees. Here the

Mark 8:27-30; Luke 9:18-21

13 When Jesus came into the region of Caesarea Philippi, He asked His disciples, saying, [g]"Who do men say that I, the Son of Man, am?"

14 So they said, [h]"Some say John the Baptist, some Elijah, and others Jeremiah or [i]one of the prophets."

15 He said to them, "But who do [j]you say that I am?"

16 Simon Peter answered and said, [k]"You are the Christ, the Son of the living God."

17 Jesus answered and said to him, "Blessed are you, Simon Bar-Jonah, [l]for flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but [m]My Father who is in heaven.

18 And I also say to you that [n]you are Peter, and [o]on this rock I will build My church, and [p]the gates of Hades shall not [7]prevail against it. 19 [q]And I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven, and whatever you bind on earth [8]will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven."

20 [r]Then He commanded His disciples that they should tell no one that He was Jesus the Christ.

23 But He turned and said to Peter, "Get behind Me, [t]Satan! [u]You are [1]an offense to Me, for you are not mindful of the things of God, but the things of men."

leaven of the Pharisees is their "doctrine." In Luke 12:1 it is their "hypocrisy." The two things are inextricably linked. The most sinister influence of the Jewish leaders was a pragmatic doctrine that made room for hypocrisy. They were too concerned with externals and ceremonies and the way things appeared, and not concerned enough with matters of the heart. Jesus rebuked them for their hypocrisy again and again. See note on 23:25.

16:13 Caesarea Philippi. A district about 25 mi. N of Galilee, at the base of Mt. Hermon. This was different from the city of Caesarea built by Herod the Great on the Mediterranean coast.

16:16 the living God. An OT name for Jehovah (e.g., Deut. 5:26; Josh. 3:10; 1 Sam. 17:26,36; 2 Kin. 19:4,16; Pss. 42:2; 84:2; Dan. 6:26; Hos. 1:10) as contrasted with the dead, dumb idols (Jer. 10:8; 18:15; 1 Cor. 12:2).

16:17 flesh and blood has not revealed this to you. Christ's messianic claims had always been subtle allusions to OT prophecies, combined with miraculous works that substantiated those claims. Never before had He explicitly taught Peter and the apostles the fullness of His identity. God the Father had opened Peter's eyes to the full significance of those claims, and revealed to him who Jesus really was. In other words, God had opened Peter's heart to this deeper knowledge of Christ by faith. Peter was not merely expressing an academic opinion about the identity of Christ; this was a confession of Peter's personal faith, made possible by a divinely-regenerated heart.

16:18 on this rock. The word for "Peter," Petros, means a small stone (John 1:42). Jesus used a play on words here with petra which means a foundation boulder (cf. 7:24,25). Since the NT makes it abundantly clear that Christ is both the foundation (Acts 4:11,12; 1 Cor. 3:11) and the head (Eph. 5:23) of the church, it is a mistake to think that here He is giving either of those roles to Peter. There is a sense in which the apostles played a foundational role in the building of the church (Eph. 2:20), but the role of primacy is reserved for Christ alone, not assigned to Peter. So Jesus' words here are best interpreted as a simple play on words in that a boulder-like truth came from the mouth of one who was called a small stone. Peter himself explains the imagery in his first epistle: the church is built of "living stones" (1 Pet. 2:5) who, like Peter, confess that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the living God. And Christ Himself is the "chief cornerstone" (1 Pet. 2:6,7). church. Matthew is the only gospel where this term is found (see also 18:17). Christ called it "My church," emphasizing that He alone is its Architect, Builder, Owner, and Lord. The Gr. word for church means "called out ones." While God had since the beginning of redemptive history been gathering the redeemed by grace, the unique church He promised to build began at Pentecost with the coming of the Holy Spirit, by whom the Lord baptized believers into His body—which is the church (see notes on Acts 2:1-4; 1 Cor. 12:12,13). the gates of Hades. Hades is the place of punishment for the spirits of dead unbelievers. The point of entry for such is death. This, then, is a Jewish phrase referring to death. Even death, the ultimate weapon of Satan (cf. Heb. 2:14,15), has no power to stop the church. The blood of martyrs, in fact, has sped the growth of the church in size and spiritual power.

16:19 the keys of the kingdom of heaven. These represent authority, and here Christ gives Peter (and by extension all other believers) authority to declare what was bound or loosed in heaven. This echoed the promise of John 20:23, where Christ gave the disciples authority to forgive or retain the sins of people. All this must be understood in the context of 18:15-17, where Christ laid out specific instructions for dealing with sin in the church (see note on 18:15). The sum of it all means that any duly constituted body of believers, acting in accord with God's Word, has the authority to declare if someone is forgiven or unforgiven. The church's authority is not to determine these things, but to declare the judgment of heaven based on the principles of the Word. When they make such judgments on the basis of God's Word, they can be sure heaven is in accord. In other words, whatever they "bind" or "loose" on earth is already "bound" or "loosed" in heaven. When the church says the unrepentant person is bound in sin, the church is saying what God says about that person. When the church acknowledges that a repentant person has been loosed from that sin, God agrees.

16:20 tell no one. See notes on 8:4; 12:16.

16:21 From that time. This marks the beginning of a new emphasis in Matthew's account. He turns his attention from Jesus' public ministry, to His private instructions for the disciples, which took on a new, somber tone. The disciples had confessed their faith in Him as Messiah. From then on, He began to prepare them for His death. See note on 20:19.

16:23 Get behind Me, Satan! The harshness of this rebuke contrasts sharply with Christ's words of commendation in vv. 17-19. Jesus suggested that Peter was being a mouthpiece for Satan. Jesus' death

Revelation of Jesus' Reward
Mark 8:34-37; Luke 9:23-25

24 [v]Then Jesus said to His disciples, "If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and [w]follow Me. 25 For [x]whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake will find it. 26 For what [y]profit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul? Or [z]what will a man give in exchange for his soul?

The Prophecy of the Second Coming
Mark 8:38–9:1; Luke 9:26, 27

27 For [a]the Son of Man will come in the glory of His Father [b]with His angels, [c]and then He will reward each according to his works. 28 Assuredly, I say to you, [d]there are some standing here who shall not taste death till they see the Son of Man coming in His kingdom."

The Transfiguration
Mark 9:2-13; Luke 9:28-36; 2 Pet. 1:17, 18

17 Now [a]after six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John his brother, led them up on a high mountain by themselves; 2 and He was transfigured before them. His face shone like the sun, and His clothes became as white as the light. 3 And behold, Moses and Elijah appeared to them, talking with Him. 4 Then Peter answered and said to Jesus, "Lord, it is good for us to be here; if You wish, [1]let us make here three tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah."

5 [b]While he was still speaking, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them; and suddenly a voice came out of the cloud, saying, [c]"This is My beloved Son, [d]in whom I am well pleased. [e]Hear Him!" 6 [f]And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their faces and were greatly afraid. 7 But Jesus came and [g]touched them and said, "Arise, and do not be afraid." 8 When they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no one but Jesus only.

9 Now as they came down from the mountain, Jesus commanded them, saying, "Tell the vision to no one until the Son of Man is risen from the dead."

10 And His disciples asked Him, saying, [h]"Why then do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?"

11 Jesus answered and said to them, "Indeed, Elijah is coming [2]first and will [i]restore all things. 12 [j]But I say to you that Elijah has come already, and they [k]did not know him but did to him whatever they wished. Likewise [l]the Son of Man is also about to suffer at their hands." 13 [m]Then the disciples understood that He spoke to them of John the Baptist.

was part of God's sovereign plan (Acts 2:23; 4:27,28). "It pleased the Lord to bruise Him" (Is. 53:10). Christ had come with the express purpose of dying as an atonement for sin (John 12:27). And those who would thwart His mission were doing Satan's work.

16:24 take up his cross. See note on 10:38.

16:26 exchange. At the judgment when he faces the disastrous hell of remorse and suffering for his lost soul, with what will he buy it back from perdition? Nothing.

16:27 will come...will reward. There is coming a time of rewards in the future for believers (1 Cor. 4:5; 2 Cor. 5:8-10; Rev. 22:12). Here, however, the Lord was concerned with the reward of the ungodly—final and eternal judgment (Rom. 2:5-11; 2 Thess. 1:6-10).

16:28 some standing. In all 3 of the synoptic gospels, this promise is made immediately prior to the Transfiguration (Mark 9:1-8; Luke 9:27-36). Furthermore the word for "kingdom" can be translated "royal splendor." Therefore, it seems most natural to interpret this promise as a reference to the Transfiguration, which "some" of the disciples—Peter, James, and John, would witness only 6 days later (see note on 17:1).

17:1 after six days. The precise reference to the amount of time elapsed is unusual for Matthew. It seems he is carefully drawing the connection between Jesus' promise in 16:28 and the event that immediately follows. Mark agrees on the figure of 6 days (Mark 9:2), but Luke, probably counting the day of Peter's confession and the day of Christ's Transfiguration separately at the start and end of this time period, says it was "about eight days" (Luke 9:28). Peter, James, and John. These 3, in the inner circle closest to Christ (see note on 10:2), are often seen alone together with Jesus (26:37; Mark 5:37; 13:3).

17:2 transfigured. Christ underwent a dramatic change in appearance, so the disciples could behold Him in His glory.

17:3 Moses and Elijah. Representing the law and the prophets respectively, both of which had foretold Christ's death, and that is what Luke says the 3 of them were discussing (Luke 9:31).

17:4 three tabernacles. This is undoubtedly a reference to the booths that were used to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles, when the Israelites dwelt in booths for 7 days (Lev. 23:34-42). Peter was expressing a wish to stay in that place.

17:5 Hear Him! Peter erred in placing Moses and Elijah on the same level as Christ. Christ was the very one to whom Elijah and Moses had pointed. The voice of the Father (v. 5) interrupted while Peter "was still speaking." The words were the same as those spoken from heaven at Christ's baptism (3:17).

17:6 fell on their faces. A common response to the realization that the Holy God of the universe is present. Cf. Is. 6:5; Ezek. 1:28; Rev. 1:17.

17:9 Tell the vision to no one. See notes on 8:4 and 12:16.

17:10 Why...Elijah must come first? Because it was so prophesied by Mal. 4:5,6. See note on 11:14.

17:12 Elijah has come already. See note on 11:14. The Jewish leaders had failed to recognize John the Baptist (though the disciples did, v. 13). John came in the spirit and power of Elijah—and the Jewish leaders had killed him. The Messiah was "about to suffer" similarly.

17:17 O faithless and perverse generation. Verse 20 indicates that the Lord was referring to the disciples and their weak faith (see note on 15:33).

titude, a man came to Him, kneeling down to Him and saying, 15 "Lord, have mercy on my son, for he is [3]an epileptic and suffers severely; for he often falls into the fire and often into the water. 16 So I brought him to Your disciples, but they could not cure him."

17 Then Jesus answered and said, "O [4]faithless and [o]perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I bear with you? Bring him here to Me." 18 And Jesus [p]rebuked the demon, and it came out of him; and the child was cured from that very hour.

19 Then the disciples came to Jesus privately and said, "Why could we not cast it out?"

20 So Jesus said to them, "Because of your [5]unbelief; for assuredly, I say to you, [q]if you have faith as a mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there,' and it will move; and nothing will be impossible for you. 21 [6]However, this kind does not go out except by prayer and fasting."

Instruction About Jesus' Death

22 [r]Now while they were [7]staying in Galilee, Jesus said to them, "The Son of Man is about to be betrayed into the hands of men, 23 and they will kill Him, and the third day He will be raised up." And they were exceedingly [s]sorrowful.

Instruction About Taxes

24 [t]When they had come to [8]Capernaum, those who received the [9]temple tax came to Peter and said, "Does your Teacher not pay the temple tax?"

25 He said, "Yes."

And when he had come into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, "What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings of the earth take customs or taxes, from their sons or from [u]strangers?"

26 Peter said to Him, "From strangers."

Jesus said to him, "Then the sons are free. 27 Nevertheless, lest we offend them, go to the sea, cast in a hook, and take the fish that comes up first. And when you have opened its mouth, you will find a [1]piece of money; take that and give it to them for Me and you."

Instruction About Humility
Mark 9:33-37; Luke 9:46-48

18 At [a]that time the disciples came to Jesus, saying, "Who then is greatest in the kingdom of heaven?"

2 Then Jesus called a little [b]child to Him, set him in the midst of them, 3 and said, "Assuredly, I say to you, [c]unless you are converted and become as little children, you will by no means enter the kingdom of heaven. 4 [d]Therefore whoever humbles himself as this little child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven. 5 [e]Whoever receives one little child like this in My name receives Me.

17:19 "Why could we not cast it out?" When Christ sent the disciples out (10:6-8), He explicitly commissioned them to do these kinds of miracles. Less than a year later, they failed where they had once succeeded. Christ's explanation for their failure was that their faith was deficient (v. 20). The deficiency did not consist in a lack of confidence; they were surprised that they could not cast out this demon. The problem probably lay in a failure to make God—rather than their own gifts—the object of their confidence (see note on v. 20).

17:20 faith as a mustard seed. True faith, by Christ's definition, always involves surrender to the will of God. What He was teaching here is nothing like positive-thinking psychology. He was saying that both the source and the object of all genuine faith—even the weak, mustard-seed variety—is God. And "with God nothing will be impossible" (Luke 1:37). See also note on 21:21. nothing will be impossible. Here, Christ assumes the qualifying thought that is explicitly added by 1 John 5:14: what we ask for must be "according to His will."

17:21 except by prayer and fasting. Again, this suggests that the underlying problem was the disciples' failure to make God the object of their faith (see notes on vv. 19,20). But this verse is not found in the best manuscripts.

17:22 about to be betrayed. By Judas Iscariot. See notes on 26:47,50.

17:24 the temple tax. A half-shekel tax (equivalent to about two days' wages) collected annually from every male over 20, for the upkeep of the temple (Ex. 30:13,14; 2 Chr. 24:9). As kings did not tax their own sons, technically, Jesus, as God's son, was exempt from the tax (v. 26). But to avoid offense, He paid on behalf of Himself and Peter (v. 27). Cf. Rom. 13:1-7; Tit. 3:1; 1 Pet. 2:13-17.

18:1-35 This is the fourth of 5 discourses around which Matthew frames his narrative (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes). This section's theme is the childlikeness of the believer.

18:3 become as little children. This is how Jesus characterized conversion. Like the Beatitudes, it pictures faith as the simple, helpless, trusting dependence of those who have no resources of their own. Like children, they have no achievements and no accomplishments to offer or commend themselves with.

18:5 Whoever receives. See note on 10:41. one little child like this. This speaks not of literal children, but children in the sense described in vv. 3,4 (those who have humbled themselves like children), i.e., true believers (v. 6). See notes on 10:42; 19:14.

18:6 millstone. A stone used for grinding grain. Lit. "the millstone of an ass"—a stone so large it took a donkey to turn it. Gentiles used this form of execution, and therefore it was particularly repulsive to the Jews.

18:7 Woe to the world. It is expected that those in the world will cause Christians to be offended, stumble and sin, and they will be cause of [1]offenses! For [g]offenses must come, but [h]woe to that man by whom the offense comes!

8 [i]"If your hand or foot causes you to sin, cut it off and cast it from you. It is better for you to enter into life lame or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet, to be cast into the everlasting fire. 9 And if your eye causes you to sin, pluck it out and cast it from you. It is better for you to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes, to be cast into [2]hell fire.

10 "Take heed that you do not despise one of these little ones, for I say to you that in heaven [j]their angels always [k]see the face of My Father who is in heaven. 11 [l]For[3] the Son of Man has come to save that which was lost.

Parable of the Lost Sheep—Luke 15:4-7

12 [m]"What do you think? If a man has a hundred sheep, and one of them goes astray, does he not leave the ninety-nine and go to the mountains to seek the one that is straying? 13 And if he should find it, assuredly, I say to you, he rejoices more over that sheep than over the ninety-nine that did not go astray. 14 Even so it is not the [n]will of your Father who is in heaven that one of these little ones should perish.

The Offended Brother

15 "Moreover [o]if your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he hears you, [p]you have gained your brother. 16 But if he will not hear, take with you one or two more, that [q]'by the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.' 17 And if he refuses to hear them, tell it to the church. But if he refuses even to hear the church, let him be to you like a [r]heathen and a tax collector.

18 "Assuredly, I say to you, [s]whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven.

19 [t]"Again[4] I say to you that if two of you agree on earth concerning anything that they ask, [u]it will be done for them by My Father in heaven. 20 For where two or three are gathered [v]together in My name, I am there in the midst of them."

Instruction About Forgiveness

21 Then Peter came to Him and said, "Lord, how often shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? [w]Up to seven times?"

22 Jesus said to him, "I do not say to you, [x]up to seven times, but up to seventy times seven. 23 Therefore the kingdom of heaven is like a certain king who wanted to settle accounts with his servants. 24 And when he had begun to settle accounts, one was brought to him who owed him ten thousand talents. 25 But as he was not able to pay, his master commanded [y]that he be judged for it. But it should not be that fellow believers lead others into sin, directly or indirectly. One would be better off dead. Cf. Rom. 14:13,19,21; 15:2; 1 Cor. 8:13.

18:8,9 cut it off...pluck it out. See note on 5:29.

18:10 do not despise. I.e., spurn or belittle another believer by treating him or her unkindly or indifferently. their angels. This does not suggest that each believer has a personal guardian angel. Rather, the pronoun is collective and refers to the fact that believers are served by angels in general. These angels are pictured "always" watching the face of God so as to hear His command to them to help a believer when needed. It is extremely serious to treat any fellow believer with contempt since God and the holy angels are so concerned for their well-being.

18:14 perish. The word here can (and does in this context) refer to spiritual devastation rather than utter eternal destruction. This does not suggest that God's children ever could perish in the ultimate sense (cf. John 10:28).

18:15 The prescription for church discipline in vv. 15-17 must be read in light of the parable of the lost sheep in vv. 12-14. The goal of this process is restoration. If successful, "you have gained your brother." Step 1 is to "tell him his fault" privately.

18:16 if he will not hear. I.e., if he remains impenitent, follow step 2: "take with you one or two more," to fulfill the principle of Deut. 19:15.

18:17 tell it to the church. If he still refuses to repent, step 3 requires that the matter be reported to the whole assembly (v. 17)—so that all may lovingly pursue the sinning brother's reconciliation. But failing that, step 4 means that the offender must be excommunicated, regarded by the church as "a heathen and a tax collector" (see note on 5:46). The idea is not merely to punish the offender, or to shun him completely, but to remove him as a detrimental influence from the fellowship of the church, and henceforth to regard him as an evangelistic prospect rather than as a brother. Ultimately, the sin for which he is excommunicated is a hard-hearted impenitence.

18:18 bind on earth...bound in heaven. See note on 16:19.

18:19 if two of you agree on earth. This promise applies to the issue of discipline discussed in vv. 15-17. The "two of you" spoken of here harks back to the two or three witnesses involved in step two of the discipline process (see note on v. 15).

18:20 two or three. Jewish tradition requires at least 10 men (a minyan) to constitute a synagogue or even hold public prayer. Here, Christ promised to be present in the midst of an even smaller flock—"two or three witnesses" gathered in His name for the purpose of discipline (see note on v. 15).

18:21 Up to seven times. Peter thought he was being magnanimous. The rabbis, citing several verses from Amos (1:3,6,9,11,13) taught that since God forgave Israel's enemies only 3 times, it was presumptuous and unnecessary to forgive anyone more than 3 times.

18:22 seventy times seven. Innumerable times. See note on Luke 17:4.

18:23 servants. Due to the large amounts of money involved, it is likely these "servants" would have been provincial governors who owed the king the money from taxation.

18:24 ten thousand talents. This represents an incomprehensible amount of money. The talent was the largest denomination of sold, with his wife and children and all that he had, and that payment be made. 26 The servant therefore fell down before him, saying, 'Master, have patience with me, and I will pay you all.' 27 Then the master of that servant was moved with compassion, released him, and forgave him the debt.

28 "But that servant went out and found one of his fellow servants who owed him a hundred denarii; and he laid hands on him and took him by the throat, saying, 'Pay me what you owe!' 29 So his fellow servant fell down [5]at his feet and begged him, saying, 'Have patience with me, and I will pay you [6]all.' 30 And he would not, but went and threw him into prison till he should pay the debt. 31 So when his fellow servants saw what had been done, they were very grieved, and came and told their master all that had been done. 32 Then his master, after he had called him, said to him, 'You wicked servant! I forgave you [z]all that debt because you begged me. 33 Should you not also have had compassion on your fellow servant, just as I had pity on you?' 34 And his master was angry, and delivered him to the torturers until he should pay all that was due to him.

CHAPTER 19

19 Now it came to pass, [a]when Jesus had finished these sayings, that He departed from Galilee and came to the region of Judea beyond the Jordan. 2 [b]And great multitudes followed Him, and He healed them there.

3 The Pharisees also came to Him, testing Him, and saying to Him, "Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife for just any reason?"

4 And He answered and said to them, "Have you not read that He who [1]made them at the beginning [c]'made them male and female,' [5] and said, [d]'For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and [e]the two shall become one flesh'? 6 So then, they are no longer two but one flesh. Therefore what God has joined together, let not man separate."

7 They said to Him, [f]"Why then did Moses command to give a certificate of divorce, and to put her away?"

8 He said to them, "Moses, because of the [g]hardness of your hearts, permitted you to divorce your [h]wives, but from the beginning it was not so. 9 [i]And I say to you, whoever divorces his wife, except for [2]sexual immorality, and marries another, commits adultery; and whoever marries her who is divorced commits adultery."

currency, and "ten thousand" in common parlance signified an infinite number.

18:25 that he be sold. A way to recover some of this loss was for the king to sell the family members into slavery.

18:27 forgave him. Picturing the generous, compassionate forgiveness of God to a pleading sinner who owes him an unpayable debt. Cf. Col. 2:14.

18:28 a hundred denarii. About 3 months' wages. This was not a negligible amount by normal standards, but it was a pittance in comparison to what the servant had been forgiven.

18:29 Have patience...I will pay you all. Cf. v. 26. The forgiven man heard the same pleading he had given before his master, but was utterly without compassion (v. 30).

18:31 fellow servants...grieved. A lack of forgiveness is offensive to fellow believers. Most of all it offends God, who chastens His unforgiving children severely (vv. 32-34). See notes on v. 34; cf. 6:15.

18:34 his master was angry. Because He is holy and just, God is always angry at sin, including the sins of His children (cf. Heb. 12:5-11). torturers. Not executioners. This pictures severe discipline, not final condemnation. all that was due to him. The original debt was unpayable and the man still without resources. So it seems unlikely that the slave was saddled once again with the same debt he had already been forgiven. Rather, what he now owed his master would be exacted in chastening by his master until he was willing to forgive others.

19:1 the region of Judea beyond the Jordan. Perea was the name of the region just E of the Jordan River. It was not technically part of Judea, but the territory ruled by Herod the Great had included both regions, and it was commonly referred to this way. Christ's ministry in Perea lasted only a few months. It was from here that He would make His final journey to Jerusalem just prior to the Passion Week (20:17-19).

19:3 Is it lawful. A hotly-debated difference of opinion existed between the Rabbis Shammai and Hillel (both near-contemporaries of Christ). The Shammaites interpreted the law rigidly, and permitted a man to divorce his wife only if she was guilty of sexual immorality. for just any reason. The Hillelites took a wholly pragmatic approach, and permitted a man to divorce his wife indiscriminately.

19:4 Quoted from Gen. 1:27; 5:2. Jesus' challenge to the Pharisees echoed the question raised by Mal. 2:15: "But did He not make them one...?" (cf. v. 6).

19:5 Quoted from Gen. 2:24 (see note there).

19:7 Why then did Moses command to give a certificate of divorce. The Pharisees misrepresented Deut. 24:1-4. It was not a "command" for divorce, but a limitation on remarriage in the event of a divorce. While recognizing the legitimacy of divorce when a man "has found some uncleanness" (Deut. 24:1) in his wife (sexual sin, by Jesus' interpretation in v. 9), Moses did not "command" divorce. See note on Deut. 24:1-4.

19:8 Moses...permitted you to divorce. The stress is certainly on the word "permitted." Thus Jesus clearly sides with the Shammai school of interpretation (see note on v. 3). because of the hardness of your hearts. The phrase underscores the truth that divorce is only a last-resort response to hard-hearted sexual immorality (v. 9).

19:9 sexual immorality. This is a term that encompasses all sorts of sexual sins. Both here and in 5:32, Jesus includes this "exception clause," clearly permitting the innocent party in such a divorce to remarry without incurring the stigma of one who "commits adultery." See notes on 5:31,32.

10 His disciples said to Him, j"If such is the case of the man with his wife, it is better not to marry."

11 But He said to them, k"All cannot accept this saying, but only those to whom it has been given: 12 For there are [3]eunuchs who were born thus from their mother's womb, and [l]there are eunuchs who were made eunuchs by men, and there are eunuchs who have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven's sake. He who is able to accept it, let him accept it."

13 *m*Then little children were brought to Him that He might put His hands on them and pray, but the disciples rebuked them. 14 But Jesus said, "Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for *n*of such is the kingdom of heaven." 15 And He laid His hands on them and departed from there.

Rich Young Ruler
Mark 10:17-27; Luke 18:18-27

16 *o*Now behold, one came and said to Him, p"Good [4] Teacher, what good thing shall I do that I may have eternal life?"

17 So He said to him, [5]"Why do you call Me good? [6]No one is *q*good but One, that is, God. But if you want to enter into life, *r*keep the commandments."

18 He said to Him, "Which ones?"

Jesus said, s"'You shall not murder,' 'You shall not commit adultery,' 'You shall not steal,' 'You shall not bear false witness,' 19 t 'Honor your father and your mother,' and, u 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.'"

20 The young man said to Him, "All these things I have *v*kept [7]from my youth. What do I still lack?"

21 Jesus said to him, "If you want to be perfect, *w*go, sell what you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me."

22 But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

23 Then Jesus said to His disciples, "Assuredly, I say to you that *x*it is hard for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven. 24 And again I say to you, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God."

19:10 it is better not to marry. The disciples correctly understood the binding nature of marriage, and that Jesus was setting a very high standard, permitting divorce only in the most extreme of circumstances.

19:12 let him accept it. Since all cannot handle it (v. 11), Christ is not enjoining celibacy here. Rather, He makes it entirely a matter of personal choice—except for those who are physically unable to marry, either through natural causes or because of the violence of other men. Still others may find there are pragmatic reasons not to marry for the good of the kingdom (see notes on 1 Cor. 7:7-9). But in no way did Christ suggest that celibacy is superior to marriage (cf. Gen. 2:18; 1 Tim. 4:3).

19:14 of such. These children were too young to have exercised personal faith. See Luke 18:15, where Luke refers to them as "infants." Therefore, it is all the more significant that Christ used them as an illustration of those who make up "the kingdom of heaven" (cf. 18:1-4). Mark 10:16 also says He "blessed them." God often shows a special mercy to those who because of age or mental deficiency are incapable of either faith or willful unbelief (cf. Jon. 4:11). They are called "innocents" in Jer. 19:4. This does not mean they are free from the inherited guilt and moral corruption of Adam's sin (see notes on Rom. 5:12-19), but rather that they are not culpable in the same sense as those whose sins are premeditated and deliberate. Jesus' words here suggest that God's mercy is graciously extended to infants so that those who die are sovereignly regenerated and granted entrance into the kingdom—not because they are deserving of heaven, but because God in His grace chooses to redeem them. See notes on 2 Sam. 12:23; Mark 10:14.

19:16 Good Teacher. This is not necessarily a recognition of Christ's deity. The young man simply meant that Christ was righteous and a teacher from God who apparently had eternal life and might know how he could get it.

19:17 Why do you call Me good? No one is good but One. Jesus was not disclaiming His own deity, but rather teaching the young man that all but God are sinners. This young man's most serious spiritual defect was his reluctance to confess his own utter spiritual bankruptcy. See note on 5:3; cf. Luke 18:11. if you want to enter into life, keep the commandments. This, of course, is law, not gospel. Before showing him the way to life, Jesus wanted to impress on the young man both the high standard required by God and the absolute futility of seeking salvation by his own merit. This should have elicited a response about the impossibility of keeping the law perfectly (like the disciples' response in v. 25), but instead the young man confidently declared that he qualified for heaven under those terms.

19:18,19 These are 5 of the 6 commandments that make up the second table of the Ten Commandments—all dealing with human relationships (cf. Ex. 20:12-16; Deut. 5:16-20). See note on 22:40. Christ omitted the tenth commandment, which deals with covetousness, and added Lev. 19:18, the summation of the second half of the Decalogue. Cf. Rom. 13:1-10.

19:20 I have kept. The self-righteous young man would not admit to his own sin. See note on 9:13.

19:21 go, sell what you have and give to the poor. Again, Jesus was not setting forth terms for salvation, but rather exposing the young man's true heart. His refusal to obey here revealed two things: 1) he was not blameless as far as the law was concerned, because he was guilty of loving himself and his possessions more than his neighbors (cf. v. 19); and 2) he lacked true faith, which involves a willingness to surrender all at Christ's bidding (16:24). Jesus was not teaching salvation by philanthropy; but He was demanding that this young man give Him first place. The young man failed the test (v. 22). come, follow Me. This was the answer to the young man's question in v. 16. It was a call to faith. It is likely that the young man never even heard or contemplated it, though, because his own love of his possessions was such a stumbling block that he had already rejected Jesus' claim to lordship over his life. Thus he walked away in unbelief.

19:24 camel...eye of a needle. I.e., it is impossible. Jesus was underscoring the impossibility of anyone's being saved by merit.

25 When His disciples heard it, they were greatly astonished, saying, "Who then can be saved?"

26 But Jesus looked at them and said to them, "With men this is impossible, but [y]with God all things are possible."

The Apostles' Reward
Mark 10:28-30; Luke 18:28-30

27 Then Peter answered and said to Him, "See, [z]we have left all and followed You. Therefore what shall we have?"

28 So Jesus said to them, "Assuredly I say to you, that in the regeneration, when the Son of Man sits on the throne of His glory, [a]you who have followed Me will also sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel. 29 [b]And everyone who has left houses or brothers or sisters or father or mother [8]or wife or children or [9]lands, for My name's sake, shall receive a hundredfold, and inherit eternal life. 30 [c]But many who are first will be last, and the last first.

Parable of the Laborers—Mark 10:31

20 "For the kingdom of heaven is like a landowner who went out early in the morning to hire laborers for his vineyard. 2 Now when he had agreed with the laborers for a denarius a day, he sent them into his vineyard. 3 And he went out about the third hour and saw others standing idle in the marketplace, 4 and said to them, 'You also go into the vineyard, and whatever is right I will give you.' So they went. 5 Again he went out about the sixth and the ninth hour, and did likewise. 6 And about the eleventh hour he went out and found others standing [1]idle, and said to them, 'Why have you been standing here idle all day?' 7 They said to him, 'Because no one hired us.' He said to them, 'You also go into the vineyard, [2]and whatever is right you will receive.'

8 "So when evening had come, the owner of the vineyard said to his steward, 'Call the laborers and give them their wages, beginning with the last to the first.' 9 And when those came who were hired about the eleventh hour, they each received a denarius. 10 But when the first came, they supposed that they would receive more; and they likewise received each a denarius. 11 And when they had received it, they [3]complained against the landowner, 12 saying, 'These last men have worked only one hour, and you made them equal to us who have borne the burden and the heat of the day.' 13 But he answered one of them and said, 'Friend, I am doing you no wrong. Did you not agree with me for a denarius? 14 Take what is yours and go your way. I wish to give to this last man the same as to you. 15 [a]Is it not lawful for me to do what I wish with my own things? Or [b]is your eye evil because I am good?' 16 [c]So the last will be first, and the first last. [d]For [4]many are called, but few chosen."

Since wealth was deemed proof of God's approval, and those who had it could give more alms, it was commonly thought that rich people were the most likely candidates for heaven (see note on Mark 10:25). Jesus destroyed that notion, and along with it, the notion that anyone can merit enough divine favor to gain entrance into heaven. See note on v. 25.

19:25 Who then can be saved? This was the right question to ask; it showed that they got Jesus' message (see note on v. 17). Salvation is possible only through divine grace (v. 26). See notes on Rom. 3:9-20; Gal. 3:10-13; Phil. 3:4-9.

19:27 we have left all and followed You. Peter points out that they had already done what Christ demanded of the rich young ruler (v. 21). They had embarked on the life of faith with Christ. Note that Jesus did not rebuke Peter for his expectation of reward (cf. Rev. 22:12).

19:28 regeneration. Here the term does not carry its normal theological meaning of personal regeneration (cf. Titus 3:5). Instead, Jesus was speaking of "the times of restoration of all things, which God has spoken by the mouth of all His holy prophets since the world began" (Acts 3:21). This is a reference to the earthly kingdom described in Rev. 20:1-15, when believers will "sit on...thrones" with Christ (Rev. 3:21). judging. Governing. Cf. 1 Cor. 6:2,3.

19:30 first will be last, and the last first. This statement means that everyone ends up the same, a truth that is explained by the parable that follows (see note on 20:16).

20:1 hire laborers. This was typical during harvest. Day laborers stood in the market place from dawn, hoping to be hired for the day's work. The work day began at 6:00 a.m. and went to 6:00 p.m.

20:2 a denarius a day. A fair wage for a full day's labor (see note on 22:19).

20:3 third hour. 9:00 a.m. They were standing idle because no one had hired them (v. 7).

20:4 whatever is right. So eager to work, these men did not even negotiate a specific wage.

20:6 eleventh hour. I.e., 5:00 p.m. Desperate for work, they had waited nearly "all day." They would take whatever they could get.

20:8 last to the first. This is the clue that opens the parable (see note on v. 16).

20:13 I am doing you no wrong. Everyone received a full day's wage, to their shock (vv. 9-11). The man was acting graciously to those whom he overpaid. This was no slight against those whom he paid a full wage for a full day's work. That was precisely what they agreed to in the beginning. But it was his privilege to extend the same generosity to all (v. 15; cf. Rom. 9:15).

20:16 the last will be first, and the first last. In other words, everyone finishes in a dead heat. No matter how long each of the workers worked, they each received a full day's wage. Similarly, the thief on the cross will enjoy the full blessings of heaven alongside those who have labored their whole lives for Christ. Such is the grace of God (see note on 19:30).

Instruction About Jesus' Death
Mark 10:32-34; Luke 18:31-34

17 [e]Now Jesus, going up to Jerusalem, took the twelve disciples aside on the road and said to them, 18 [f]"Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes; and they will condemn Him to death, 19 [g]and deliver Him to the Gentiles to [h]mock and to [i]scourge and to [j]crucify. And the third day He will [k]rise again."

Instruction About Ambition
Mark 10:35-45

20 [l]Then the mother of [m]Zebedee's sons came to Him with her sons, kneeling down and asking something from Him.

21 And He said to her, "What do you wish?"

She said to Him, "Grant that these two sons of mine [n]may sit, one on Your right hand and the other on the left, in Your kingdom."

22 But Jesus answered and said, "You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink [o]the cup that I am about to drink, [5]and be baptized with [p]the baptism that I am baptized with?"

They said to Him, "We are able."

23 So He said to them, [q]"You will indeed drink My cup, [6]and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with; but to sit on My right hand and on My left is not Mine to give, but it is for those for whom it is prepared by My Father."

24 [r]And when the ten heard it, they were greatly displeased with the two brothers. 25 But Jesus called them to Himself and said, "You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and those who are great exercise authority over them. 26 Yet [s]it shall not be so among you; but [t]whoever desires to become great among you, let him be your servant. 27 [u]And whoever desires to be first among you, let him be your slave— 28 [v]just as the [w]Son of Man did not come to be served, [x]but to serve, and [y]to give His life a ransom [z]for many."

The Blind Men Recognize the King
Mark 10:46-52; Luke 18:35-43

29 [a]Now as they went out of Jericho, a great multitude followed Him. 30 And behold, [b]two blind men sitting by the road, when they heard that Jesus was passing by, cried out, saying, "Have mercy on us, O Lord, [c]Son of David!"

31 Then the multitude [d]warned them

20:17 going up to Jerusalem. Thus began his final journey to the cross.

20:19 crucify. This was the third time Jesus told the disciples of His death (see note on 16:21; cf. 17:22,23)—plus 3 of the disciples had overheard Jesus discussing His death with Moses and Elijah at the Transfiguration (Luke 9:31). This time, however, He added more details.

20:20 mother of Zebedee's sons. Mark 10:35 says James and John themselves raised the question of v. 21. There is no contradiction. It is possible either that the 3 of them asked together, or perhaps even more likely that they had discussed it among themselves beforehand, and each posed the question to Jesus privately.

20:21 Grant...these two sons of mine. Probably playing off the words of Jesus in 19:28, James and John had enlisted their mother to convey their proud, self-seeking request to Jesus. This was a recurring matter among the disciples (cf. 18:1,4; 23:11; Mark 9:34, Luke 9:46; 22:24,26), right up to the table at the Last Supper.

20:22 You do not know what you ask. The greatest glory goes to those who suffer the most for Christ. the cup that I am about to drink. The cup of God's wrath (see notes on 26:39; Mark 14:36; Luke 22:42; John 18:11). the baptism that I am baptized with. This refers to the immersion of the Lord into suffering (cf. Luke 12:50). However, the phrases referring to baptism here and in v. 23 do not appear in the best manuscripts.

20:23 You will indeed. James was beheaded (Acts 12:2) and John tortured and exiled to Patmos (Rev. 1:9) for the sake of Christ. for whom it is prepared. God alone has chosen.

20:24 were greatly displeased. Jealous displeasure, no doubt. They all would have petitioned Jesus for the exalted, favored positions, given the opportunity. See note on v. 21.

20:25-28 In this rich text, the Lord was teaching the disciples that the style of greatness and leadership for believers is different. The Gentile leaders dominate in dictatorial fashion, using carnal power and authority. Believers are to do the opposite—they lead by being servants and giving themselves away for others, as Jesus did.

20:28 to give His life a ransom for many. The word translated "for" means "in the place of," underscoring the substitutionary nature of Christ's sacrifice. A "ransom" is a price paid to redeem a slave or a prisoner. Redemption does not involve a price paid to Satan. Rather, the ransom is offered to God—to satisfy His justice and wrath against sin. The price paid was Christ's own life—as a blood atonement (cf. Lev. 17:11; Heb. 9:22). This, then, is the meaning of the cross: Christ subjected Himself to the divine punishment against sin on our behalf (cf. Is. 53:4,5; see note on 2 Cor. 5:21). Suffering the brunt of divine wrath in the place of sinners was the "cup" He spoke of having to drink, and the baptism He was preparing to undergo (v. 22).

20:29 out of Jericho. See note on v. 30.

20:30 two blind men. Mark 10:46 and Luke 18:35 mention only one blind man, and both say this encounter took place as Christ was approaching Jericho rather than when He was leaving (v. 29). The difficulties are fairly simple to reconcile: there were two blind men, but Bartimaeus (Mark 10:46) was the spokesman of the two and was, therefore, the sole focus of both Luke's and Mark's accounts (see note on 8:28). It is also a fact that there were two Jerichos—one the mound of the ancient city (the ruins of which may still be seen today), and the other, the inhabited city of Jericho, close by. Jesus may have been going "out of" old Jericho and entering new Jericho. Or it may also be that the events are telescoped for us, so that Christ first encountered the blind men on His way into the city, but the healing took place as he was departing. Son of David. See note on 1:1.

that they should be quiet; but they cried out all the more, saying, "Have mercy on us, O Lord, Son of David!"

32 So Jesus stood still and called them, and said, "What do you want Me to do for you?"

33 They said to Him, "Lord, that our eyes may be opened." 34 So Jesus had [e]compassion and touched their eyes. And immediately their eyes received sight, and they followed Him.

The Triumphal Entry
Mark 11:1-10; Luke 19:29-38; John 12:12-15

21 Now [a]when they drew near Jerusalem, and came to [1]Bethphage, at [b]the Mount of Olives, then Jesus sent two disciples, 2 saying to them, "Go into the village opposite you, and immediately you will find a donkey tied, and a colt with her. Loose them and bring them to Me. 3 And if anyone says anything to you, you shall say, 'The Lord has need of them,' and immediately he will send them."

4 [2]All this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying:

5 "Tell[c] the daughter of Zion,
'Behold, your King is coming to you,
Lowly, and sitting on a donkey,
A colt, the foal of a donkey.'"

6 [d]So the disciples went and did as Jesus commanded them. 7 They brought the donkey and the colt, [e]laid their clothes on them, [3]and set Him on them. 8 And a very great multitude spread their clothes on the road; [f]others cut down branches from the trees and spread them on the road. 9 Then the multitudes who went before and those who followed cried out, saying:

"Hosanna to the Son of David!
[g]'Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!'
Hosanna in the highest!"

10 [h]And when He had come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying, "Who is this?"

11 So the multitudes said, "This is Jesus, [i]the prophet from Nazareth of Galilee."

The Cleansing of the Temple
Mark 11:15-17; Luke 19:45, 46

12 [j]Then Jesus went into the temple [4]of God and drove out all those who bought and sold in the temple, and overturned the tables of the [k]money changers and the seats of those who sold doves. 13 And He said to them, "It is written, [l]'My house shall be called a house of prayer,' but you have made it a [m]'den of thieves.'"

14 Then the blind and the lame came to Him in the temple, and He healed them. 15 But when the chief priests and scribes saw the wonderful things that He did, and the children crying out in the temple and saying, "Hosanna to the [n]Son of David!"

21:1 Bethphage. A small town near Bethany, on the SE slope of the Mt. of Olives. It is mentioned nowhere else in Scripture except in connection with Christ's triumphal entry (Mark 11:1; Luke 19:29).

21:3 if anyone says anything to you. Mark recorded that this was in fact exactly what happened (Mark 11:5,6). Having just arrived in Bethphage (v. 1), Jesus would have had no opportunity to make arrangements for the use of these animals. Yet He knew precisely the location of the animals and the disposition of the owners. Such detailed foreknowledge reveals His divine omniscience.

21:5 A colt, the foal of a donkey. An exact quotation from Zech. 9:9 (cf. Is. 62:11). The precise fulfillment of this messianic prophecy would not have escaped the Jewish multitudes, who responded with titles and accolades fit only for the Messiah (see note on v. 9).

21:7 the donkey and the colt. Matthew is the only gospel writer who mentions the mare donkey. But all mention the young age of the donkey (John 12:14), or state that no man had ever sat on him (Mark 11:2; Luke 19:30). The mare was brought along, possibly to induce the colt to cooperate. set Him on them. I.e., on the clothes. Christ rode on the young colt (Mark 11:7).

21:8 spread their clothes on the road. Spreading one's garments on the street was an ancient act of homage reserved for high royalty (cf. 2 Kin. 9:13), suggesting that they recognized His claim to be King of the Jews.

21:9 Hosanna. This transliterates the Heb. expression which is translated "Save now" in Ps. 118:25. Blessed is He. This is an exact quotation from v. 26 of the same psalm. This, along with the messianic title "Son of David," make it clear that the crowd was acknowledging Christ's messianic claim (see note on 1:1). The date of this entry was Sunday, 9 Nisan, A.D. 30, exactly 483 years after the decree of Artaxerxes mentioned in Dan. 9:24-26 (see notes there).

21:12 drove out. This was the second time Jesus had cleansed the temple. John 2:14-16 describes a similar incident at the beginning of Christ's public ministry. There are distinct differences in the two incidents. In the first cleansing, temple officials confronted Christ immediately afterward (see note on v. 23; cf. John 2:18); none of the accounts of this second cleansing mention any such confrontation. Instead, the synoptics all describe how Jesus addressed all present (v. 13) and even made the incident an occasion for public teaching (Mark 11:17; Luke 19:46,47). those who bought and sold. He regarded both merchants and customers guilty of desecrating the temple. Items being bought and sold included "doves" and other animals for sacrifice (cf. John 2:14). money changers. Currency-exchange agents, present in droves, were needed because Roman coins and other forms of currency were deemed unacceptable for temple offerings. Evidently, both merchants and money changers were charging such excessive rates that the temple marketplace took on the atmosphere of a thieves' den (v. 13). This kind of commerce took place in the court of the Gentiles, a large area covering several acres on the temple mount.

21:13 It is written. Jesus conflates two OT prophecies, Is. 56:7 ("My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations") and Jer. 7:11 ("Has this house, which is called by My name, become a den of thieves in your eyes?").

21:15 children. Lit. "boys." The crowd in Jerusalem for the

they were [5]indignant [16] and said to Him, "Do You hear what these are saying?"

And Jesus said to them, "Yes. Have you never read,

> [o]'Out of the mouth of babes and > nursing infants
> You have perfected praise'? "

[17] Then He left them and [p]went out of the city to Bethany, and He lodged there.

Cursing of the Fig Tree
Mark 11:11-14, 20-24

[18] [q]Now in the morning, as He returned to the city, He was hungry. [19] [r]And seeing a fig tree by the road, He came to it and found nothing on it but leaves, and said to it, "Let no fruit grow on you ever again." Immediately the fig tree withered away.

[20] [s]And when the disciples saw it, they marveled, saying, "How did the fig tree wither away so soon?"

[21] So Jesus answered and said to them, "Assuredly, I say to you, [t]if you have faith and [u]do not doubt, you will not only do what was done to the fig tree, [v]but also if you say to this mountain, 'Be removed and be cast into the sea,' it will be done. [22] And [w]whatever things you ask in prayer, believing, you will receive."

Question of Jesus' Authority
Mark 11:27-33; Luke 20:1-18

[23] [x]Now when He came into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people confronted Him as He was teaching, and [y]said, "By what authority are You doing these things? And who gave You this authority?"

[24] But Jesus answered and said to them, "I also will ask you one thing, which if you tell Me, I likewise will tell you by what authority I do these things: [25] The [z]baptism of [a]John—where was it from? From heaven or from men?"

And they reasoned among themselves, saying, "If we say, 'From heaven,' He will say to us, 'Why then did you not believe him?' [26] But if we say, 'From men,' we [b]fear the multitude, [c]for all count John as a prophet." [27] So they answered Jesus and said, "We do not know."

And He said to them, "Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.

Parable of the Two Sons

[28] "But what do you think? A man had two sons, and he came to the first and said, 'Son, go, work today in my [d]vineyard.' [29] He answered and said, 'I will not,' but afterward he regretted it and went. [30] Then he came to the second and said likewise. And he answered and said, 'I go, sir,' but he did not go. [31] Which of the two did the will of his father?"

They said to Him, "The first."

Passover would have included a large number of 12-year-olds preparing for bar mitzvah, who were there to celebrate their first Passover, just as Jesus Himself had done (see note on Luke 2:42).

21:16 Yes. Have you never read. Jesus' reply to the "indignant" chief priests and scribes amounted to an inescapable assertion of His deity. He quoted from Ps. 8:2, which speaks of "praise" offered to God. By employing that verse in defense of the worship God had ordained "out of the mouth of babes" on His behalf, He was claiming the right to receive worship as God.

21:19 Immediately. This is a relative term; the tree may have died at once, but Mark 11:14,20 (see note there) suggested that the withering was not visible until the following day. Jesus' cursing of the tree was a purposeful divine object lesson, not an impetuous act of frustration. The fig tree is often employed in Scripture as a symbol of Israel (Hos. 9:10; Joel 1:7)—and the barren fig tree often symbolizes divine judgment on Israel because of her spiritual fruitlessness (see note on 3:8) despite an abundance of spiritual advantages (Jer. 8:13; Joel 1:12). Jesus' act therefore illustrates God's judgment against earthly Israel for shameful fruitlessness, exemplified in the rejection of their Messiah. One of Christ's parables taught a similar lesson (Luke 13:6-9).

21:21 if you have faith and do not doubt. This presupposes that the thing requested is actually God's will (see note on 17:20)—for only God-given faith is so doubt-free (cf. Mark 9:24). it will be done. A miracle on such a cosmic scale was precisely what the scribes and Pharisees wanted Christ to do, but He always declined (see note on 12:38). Here, He was speaking figuratively about the immeasurable power of God, unleashed in the lives of those with true faith.

21:23 these things. I.e., both His public teaching and miracles. They may have also had in mind His act of cleansing the temple on the day before (see note on v. 12). who gave You this authority? They were forced to acknowledge that He had some source of indisputable authority. His miracles were too obvious and too numerous to be fraudulent. Even His teaching was with such force and clarity that it was obvious to all that there was authority in His words (see note on 7:29).

21:25 The baptism of John—where was it from? Jesus caught the Jewish leaders in their own trap. They had no doubt hoped that He would answer by asserting that His authority came directly from God (as He had many times before—cf. John 5:19-23; 10:18). They then accused Him of blasphemy and used the charge as an excuse to kill Him—as they had also attempted to do before (John 5:18; 10:31-33). Here, however, He asked a question that placed them in an impossible dilemma, because John was widely revered by the people. They could not affirm John's ministry without condemning themselves. And if they denied John's legitimacy, they feared the response of the people (v. 26). In effect, Jesus exposed their own lack of any authority to examine Him. See note on Luke 20:5.

21:31 Which of the two did the will of his father? Jesus forced them to testify against themselves. The point of the parable was that doing is more important than saying (cf. 7:21-27; James 1:22). They had to acknowledge this, yet in doing so they condemned themselves. The idea that repentant tax collectors and harlots would enter the kingdom before outwardly religious hypocrites was a recurring theme in His ministry (see note on 5:20), and this infuriated the Jewish leaders.

came to you in the way of righteousness, and you did not believe him; [s]but tax collectors and harlots believed him; and when you saw it, you did not afterward [6]relent and believe him.

Parable of the Landowner
Mark 12:1-12; Luke 20:9-19

33 "Hear another parable: There was a certain landowner [h]who planted a vineyard and set a hedge around it, dug a winepress in it and built a tower. And he leased it to vinedressers and [i]went into a far country. 34 Now when vintage-time drew near, he sent his servants to the vinedressers, that they might receive its fruit. 35 [j]And the vinedressers took his servants, beat one, killed one, and stoned another. 36 Again he sent other servants, more than the first, and they did likewise to them. 37 Then last of all he sent his [k]son to them, saying, 'They will respect my son.' 38 But when the vinedressers saw the son, they said among themselves, [l]'This is the heir. [m]Come, let us kill him and seize his inheritance.' 39 [n]So they took him and cast him out of the vineyard and killed him.

40 "Therefore, when the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those vinedressers?"

41 [o]They said to Him, [p]"He will destroy those wicked men miserably, [q]and lease his vineyard to other vinedressers who will [7]render to him the fruits in their seasons."

42 Jesus said to them, "Have you never read in the Scriptures:

> [r]'The stone which the builders rejected
> Has become the chief cornerstone.
> This was the LORD*'s doing,*
> And it is marvelous in our eyes'?

43 "Therefore I say to you, [s]the kingdom of God will be taken from you and given to a nation bearing the fruits of it. 44 And [t]whoever falls on this stone will be broken; but on whomever it falls, [u]it will grind him to powder."

45 Now when the chief priests and Pharisees heard His parables, they [8]perceived that He was speaking of them. 46 But when they sought to lay hands on Him, they [v]feared the multitudes, because [w]they took Him for a prophet.

Parable of the Marriage Feast

22 And Jesus answered [a]and spoke to them again by parables and said: 2 "The kingdom of heaven is like a certain king who arranged a marriage for his son, 3 and sent out his servants to call those who were invited to the wedding; and they were not willing to come. 4 Again, he sent out other servants, saying, 'Tell those who

CHAPTER 22

1 [a] Luke 14:16; [Rev. 19:7-9]

21:32 the way of righteousness. I.e., the repentance and faith that results in the imputation of God's righteousness (see note on Rom. 3:21). tax collectors and harlots. See notes on 5:46; 9:9; Mark 2:15. The pariahs of Jewish society, most publicly despised by the chief priests and elders, had found salvation while the self-righteous leaders had not. Cf. Rom. 10:3.

21:33 a vineyard...a winepress. See Is. 5:2. Jesus was clearly alluding to this OT passage, which would have been familiar to the Jewish leaders. The "vineyard" is a common symbol for the Jewish nation in Scripture. Here the landowner, representing God, developed the vineyard with great care, then leased it to vinedressers, representing the Jewish leaders.

21:34 his servants. I.e., the OT prophets.

21:35 beat one, killed one, and stoned another. Matthew often blends and simplifies details (see notes on v. 19; 8:28; 20:30). From Mark's account we learn that in Jesus' telling of this story, 3 different servants came individually. The tenants "beat" the first one, "stoned" the second, and "killed" the third (Mark 12:2-5). This corresponds to the Jewish rulers' treatment of many of the OT prophets (1 Kin. 22:24; 2 Chr. 24:20,21; 36:15,16; Neh. 9:26; Jer. 2:30).

21:37 my son. This person represents the Lord Jesus Christ, whom they killed (vv. 38,39) and thereby incurred divine judgement (v. 41).

21:41 lease his vineyard to other vinedressers. Again the Jewish leaders pronounced their own judgment (see note on v. 31). Their verdict against the evil vinedressers was also Christ's judgment against them (v. 43). The kingdom and all the spiritual advantages given to Israel would now be given to "other vinedressers," symbolizing the Church (v. 43), which consists primarily of Gentiles (cf. Rom. 11:11).

21:42 The stone...rejected. This refers to His crucifixion; and the restoration of "the chief cornerstone" anticipates His resurrection. the chief cornerstone. To the superficial eye, this quotation from Ps. 118:22,23 is irrelevant to the parable that precedes it. But it is taken from a messianic psalm. Jesus cited it to suggest that the Son who was killed and thrown out of the vineyard was also "the chief cornerstone" in God's redemptive plan.

21:43 a nation bearing the fruits of it. The church. See note on v. 41. Peter spoke of the church as "a holy nation" (1 Pet. 2:9).

21:44 this stone. Christ is "a stone of stumbling and a rock of offense" to unbelievers (Is. 8:14; 1 Pet. 2:9). And the prophet Daniel pictured Him as a great stone "cut out of the mountain without hands," which falls on the kingdoms of the world and crushes them (Dan. 2:44,45). Whether a ceramic vessel "falls on" a rock, or the rock "falls" on the vessel, the result is the same. The saying suggests that both enmity and apathy are wrong responses to Christ, and those guilty of either are in danger of judgment.

21:45 they perceived that He was speaking of them. By evoking so much familiar messianic imagery (vv. 42-44), Christ made His meaning inescapable to the chief priests and Pharisees.

22:2 like a certain king who arranged a marriage. Jesus told a similar, but different, parable in Luke 14:16-23. Here, the banquet was a wedding feast for the king's own son, making the apathy (v. 5) and rejection (v. 6) of those invited much more of a personal slight against the king. Also, here they actually mistreated and killed the king's messengers—an unthinkable affront to the king's goodness.

22:4 Again, he sent out other servants. This illustrates God's patience and forbearance with those who deliberately spurn Him. He continues to extend the invitation even after His goodness has been ignored or rebuffed.

are invited, "See, I have prepared my dinner; [b]my oxen and fatted cattle are killed, and all things are ready. Come to the wedding." ' 5 But they made light of it and went their ways, one to his own farm, another to his business. 6 And the rest seized his servants, treated them [1]spitefully, and killed them. 7 But when the king heard about it, he was furious. And he sent out [c]his armies, destroyed those murderers, and burned up their city. 8 Then he said to his servants, 'The wedding is ready, but those who were invited were not [d]worthy. 9 Therefore go into the highways, and as many as you find, invite to the wedding.' 10 So those servants went out into the highways and [e]gathered together all whom they found, both bad and good. And the wedding hall was filled with guests.

11 "But when the king came in to see the guests, he saw a man there [f]who did not have on a wedding garment. 12 So he said to him, 'Friend, how did you come in here without a wedding garment?' And he was [g]speechless. 13 Then the king said to the servants, 'Bind him hand and foot, [2]take him away, and cast him [h]into outer darkness; there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.'

14 [i]"For many are called, but few are chosen."

Conflict with Pharisees and Herodians
Mark 12:13-17; Luke 20:20-26

15 [j]Then the Pharisees went and plotted how they might entangle Him in His talk. 16 And they sent to Him their disciples with the [k]Herodians, saying, "Teacher, we know that You are true, and teach the way of God in truth; nor do You care about anyone, for You do not [3]regard the person of men. 17 Tell us, therefore, what do You think? Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not?"

18 But Jesus [4]perceived their wickedness, and said, "Why do you test Me, you hypocrites? 19 Show Me the tax money."

So they brought Him a denarius.

20 And He said to them, "Whose image and inscription is this?"

22:7 he was furious. His vast patience finally exhausted, He judges them. burned up their city. The judgment Jesus described anticipated the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. Even the massive stone temple was destroyed by fire and reduced to rubble in that conflagration. See notes on 23:36; 24:2; Luke 19:43.

22:9 as many as you find, invite to the wedding. This illustrates the free offer of the gospel, which is extended to all indiscriminately (cf. Rev. 22:17).

22:11 a wedding garment. All without exception were invited to the banquet, so this man is not to be viewed as a common party-crasher. In fact, all the guests were rounded up hastily from "the highways" and therefore none could be expected to come with proper attire. That means the wedding garments were supplied by the king himself. So this man's lack of a proper garment indicates he had purposely rejected the king's own gracious provision. His affront to the king was actually a greater insult than those who refused to come at all, because he committed his impertinence in the very presence of the king. The imagery seems to represent those who identify with the kingdom externally, profess to be Christians, belong to the church in a visible sense—yet spurn the garment of righteousness Christ offers (cf. Is. 61:10) by seeking to establish a righteousness of their own (cf. Rom. 10:3; Phil. 3:8,9). Ashamed to admit their own spiritual poverty (see note on 5:3), they refuse the better garment the King graciously offers—and thus they are guilty of a horrible sin against His goodness.

22:12 And he was speechless. I.e., he had no excuse.

22:13 outer darkness. This would describe the darkness farthest from the light, i.e., outer darkness. weeping and gnashing of teeth. This speaks of inconsolable grief and unremitting torment. Jesus commonly used the phrases in this verse to describe hell (cf. 13:42,50; 24:51).

22:14 many are called, but few are chosen. The call spoken of here is sometimes referred to as the "general call" (or the "external" call)—a summons to repentance and faith that is inherent in the gospel message. This call extends to all who hear the gospel. "Many" hear it; "few" respond (see the many-few comparison in 7:13,14). Those who respond are the "chosen," the elect. In the Pauline writings, the word "call" usually refers to God's irresistible calling extended to the elect alone (Rom. 8:30)—known as the "effectual call" (or the "internal" call). The effectual call is the supernatural drawing of God which Jesus speaks of in John 6:44. Here a general call is in view, and this call extends to all who hear the gospel—this call is the great "whosoever will" of the gospel (cf. Rev. 22:17). Here, then, is the proper balance between human responsibility and divine sovereignty: the "called" who reject the invitation do so willingly, and therefore their exclusion from the kingdom is perfectly just. The "chosen" enter the kingdom only because of the grace of God in choosing and drawing them.

22:16 Herodians. A party of the Jews who supported the Roman-backed Herodian dynasty. The Herodians were not a religious party, like the Pharisees, but a political party, probably consisting largely of Sadducees (including the rulers of the temple). By contrast, the Pharisees hated Roman rule and the Herodian influence. The fact that these groups would conspire together to entrap Jesus reveals how seriously both groups viewed Him as a threat. Herod himself wanted Jesus dead (Luke 13:31), and the Pharisees were already plotting to kill Him as well (John 11:53). So they joined efforts to seek their common goal.

22:17 Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not? At issue was the poll tax, an annual fee of one denarius (see note on v. 19) per person. Such "taxes" were part of the heavy taxation Rome assessed. Since these funds were used to finance the occupying armies, all Roman taxes were hated by the people. But the poll tax was the most hated of all because it suggested that Rome owned even the people, while they viewed themselves and their nation as possessions of God. It was therefore significant that they questioned Christ about the poll tax in particular. If He answered no to their question, the Herodians would charge Him with treason against Rome. If He said yes, the Pharisees would accuse Him of disloyalty to the Jewish nation, and He would lose the support of the multitudes.

22:19 denarius. See note on Mark 12:16. A silver coin, the value of a day's wage for a Roman soldier. The coins were minted under the emperor's authority since only he could issue gold or silver coins. The "denarius" of Jesus' day was minted by Tiberius. One side bore an image of his face; the other featured an engraving of him sitting on his throne in priestly robes. The Jews considered such images idolatry, forbidden by the second commandment (Ex. 20:4), which made this tax and these coins doubly offensive.

21 They said to Him, "Caesar's."

And He said to them, [l]"Render[5] therefore to Caesar the things that are [m]Caesar's, and to God the things that are [n]God's." 22 When they had heard these words, they marveled, and left Him and went their way.

Conflict with Sadducees
Mark 12:18-27; Luke 20:27-40

23 [o]The same day the Sadducees, [p]who say there is no resurrection, came to Him and asked Him, 24 saying: "Teacher, [q]Moses said that if a man dies, having no children, his brother shall marry his wife and raise up offspring for his brother. 25 Now there were with us seven brothers. The first died after he had married, and having no offspring, left his wife to his brother. 26 Likewise the second also, and the third, even to the seventh. 27 Last of all the woman died also. 28 Therefore, in the resurrection, whose wife of the seven will she be? For they all had her."

29 Jesus answered and said to them, "You are [6]mistaken, [r]not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God. 30 For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but [s]are like angels [7]of God in heaven. 31 But concerning the resurrection of the dead, have you not read what was spoken to you by God, saying, 32 [t]'I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob'? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living." 33 And when the multitudes heard this, [u]they were astonished at His teaching.

The Greatest Commandment
Mark 12:28-34

34 [v]But when the Pharisees heard that He had silenced the Sadducees, they gathered together. 35 Then one of them, [w]a lawyer, asked Him a question, testing Him, and saying, 36 "Teacher, which is the great commandment in the law?"

37 Jesus said to him, [x]" 'You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind.' 38 This is the first and great commandment. 39 And the second is like it: [y] 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.' 40 [z]On these two commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets."

The Son of David
Mark 12:35-37; Luke 20:41-44

41 [a]While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them, 42 saying, "What do you think about the Christ? Whose Son is He?"

They said to Him, "The [b]Son of David."

43 He said to them, "How then does David in the Spirit call Him 'Lord,' saying:

44 'The[c] LORD said to my Lord,
" Sit at My right hand,

22:21 Caesar's...God's. Caesar's image is stamped on the coin; God's image is stamped on the person (Gen 1:26,27). The Christian must "render" obedience to Caesar in Caesar's realm (Rom. 13:1-7; 1 Pet. 2:13-17), but "the things that are God's" are things that do not belong to Caesar and should be given only to God. Christ thus acknowledged Caesar's right to assess and collect taxes, and He made it the duty of Christians to pay them. But He did not suggest (as some suppose) that Caesar had sole or ultimate authority in the social or political realms. Ultimately, all things are God's (Rom. 11:36; 2 Cor. 5:18; Rev. 4:11)—including the realm in which Caesar or any other earthly ruler exercises authority.

22:23 no resurrection. See note on 3:7.

22:24 his brother shall marry his wife. This refers to the law of levirate marriage, found in Deut. 25:5-10 (see note there). This was a provision to ensure that family lines were kept intact and widows were cared for.

22:30 like angels of God in heaven. The Sadducees did not believe in angels (see note on 3:7)—so here Jesus was exposing another of their false beliefs. Angels are deathless creatures who do not propagate and therefore have no need for marriage. "In the resurrection," the saints will have those same characteristics.

22:32 not the God of the dead. Jesus' argument (taken from the Pentateuch, because the Sadducees recognized only Moses' authority—see note on 3:7) was based on the emphatic present tense "I AM" of Ex. 3:6. This subtle but effective argument utterly silenced the Sadducees (v. 34). See note on Mark 12:26.

22:35 a lawyer. A scribe whose specialty was interpreting the law. See notes on 2:4; Luke 10:25.

22:36 See note on Mark 12:28.

22:37 heart...soul...mind. Mark 12:30 adds "strength." The quote is from Deut. 6:5, part of the shema, (Heb. for "hear"—Deut. 6:4). That verse says "heart...soul...strength." Some LXX manuscripts added "mind." The use of the various terms is not meant to delineate distinct human faculties, but to underscore the completeness of the kind of love that is called for.

22:39 love your neighbor as yourself. This is a quotation from Lev. 19:18. Contrary to some contemporary interpretations, it is not a mandate for self-love. Rather, it contains in different words the same very idea as the Golden Rule (see note on 7:12). It prompts believers to measure their love for others by what they wish for themselves.

22:40 all the Law and the Prophets. I.e., the whole OT. Thus Jesus subsumes man's whole moral duty under two categories: love for God, and love for one's neighbors. These same two categories differentiate the first 4 commandments of the Decalogue from the final 6.

22:42 What do you think. A phrase often used by Christ to introduce a question designed to test someone (v. 17; 17:25; 18:12; 21:28; 26:66). Here, the Pharisees, Herodians, Sadducees, and scribes had all put Him to the test. He also had a test for them. The Son* of David. See note on 1:1. "Son of David" was the most common messianic title in the usage of Jesus' day. Their answer reflected their conviction that the Messiah would be no more than a man, and Jesus' reply was another assertion of His deity. See note on v. 45.

22:43 in the Spirit. I.e., under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit (cf. Mark 12:36).

22:44 Quoted from Ps. 110:1.

Till I make Your enemies Your footstool'"?

45 If David then calls Him 'Lord,' how is He his Son?" 46 [d]And no one was able to answer Him a word, [e]nor from that day on did anyone dare question Him anymore.

Jesus Characterizes the Pharisees
Mark 12:38-40; Luke 20:45-47

23 Then Jesus spoke to the multitudes and to His disciples, 2 saying: [a]"The scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses' seat.
3 Therefore whatever they tell you [1]to observe, that observe and do, but do not do according to their works; for [b]they say, and do not do. 4 [c]For they bind heavy burdens, hard to bear, and lay them on men's shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers. 5 But all their works they do to [d]be seen by men.
They make their phylacteries broad and enlarge the borders of their garments. 6 [e]They love the [2]best places at feasts, the best seats in the synagogues, 7 greetings in the marketplaces, and to be called by men, 'Rabbi,
Rabbi.' 8 [f]But you, do not be called 'Rabbi';
for One is your [3]Teacher, [4]the Christ, and you are all brethren. 9 Do not call anyone on earth your father; [g]for One is your Father, He who is in heaven. 10 And do not be called teachers; for One is your Teacher, the Christ. 11 But [h]he who is greatest among you shall be your servant. 12 [i]And whoever exalts himself will be [5]humbled, and he who humbles himself will be [6]exalted.

Jesus Condemns the Pharisees

13 "But [j]woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you shut up the kingdom of heaven against men; for you neither go in yourselves, nor do you allow those who are entering to go in. 14 [7]Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites!
[k]For you devour widows' houses, and for a pretense make long prayers. Therefore you will receive greater condemnation.

15 "Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you travel land and sea to win one proselyte, and when he is won, you make him twice as much a son of [8]hell
as yourselves.

16 "Woe to you, [l]blind guides, who say,
[m]'Whoever swears by the temple, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gold of the temple, he is obliged to perform it.' 17 Fools and blind! For which is greater, the gold [n]or the temple that [9]sanctifies the gold? 18 And, 'Whoever swears by the altar, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gift that is on it, he is obliged to perform it.' 19 Fools and blind! For which is greater, the gift [o]or the altar that sanctifies the gift?

22:45 David then calls Him 'Lord.' David would not have addressed a merely human descendant as "Lord." Here Jesus was not disputing whether "Son of David" was an appropriate title for the Messiah; after all, the title is based on what is revealed about the Messiah in the OT (Is. 11:1; Jer. 23:5) and it is used as a messianic title in 1:1 (see note there). But Jesus was pointing out that the title "son of David" did not begin to sum up all that is true about the Messiah who is also "son of God" (Luke 22:70). The inescapable implication is that Jesus was declaring His deity.

23:2 Moses' seat. The expression is equivalent to a university's "chair of philosophy." To "sit in Moses' seat" was to have the highest authority to instruct people in the law. The expression here may be translated, "[they] have seated themselves in Moses' seat"—stressing the fact that this was an imaginary authority they claimed for themselves. There was a legitimate sense in which the priests and Levites had authority to decide matters of the law (Deut. 17:9), but the scribes and Pharisees had gone beyond any legitimate authority and were adding human tradition to the Word of God (15:3-9). For that Jesus condemned them (vv. 8-36).

23:3 observe and do. I.e., insofar as it accords with the Word of God. The Pharisees were prone to bind "heavy burdens" (v. 4) of extra-biblical traditions and put them on others' shoulders. Jesus explicitly condemned that sort of legalism.

23:5 phylacteries. Leather boxes containing a parchment on which is written in 4 columns Ex. 13:1-10; 11-16; Deut. 6:4-9; 11:13-21. These are worn by men during prayer—one on the middle of the forehead and one on the left arm just above the elbow. The use of phylacteries was based on an overly literal interpretation of passages like Ex. 13:9,10; Deut. 6:8. Evidently the Pharisees would broaden the leather straps by which the phylacteries were bound to their arms and foreheads, in order to make the phylacteries more prominent. the borders of their garments. I.e., the tassels. Jesus Himself wore them (see note on 9:20), so it was not the tassels themselves that He condemned, only the mentality that would lengthen the tassels to make it appear that one was especially spiritual.

23:8-10 Rabbi...father...teachers. Here Jesus condemns pride and pretense, not titles per se. Paul repeatedly speaks of "teachers" in the church, and even refers to himself as the Corinthians' "father" (1 Cor. 4:15). Obviously, this does not forbid the showing of respect, either (cf. 1 Thess. 5:11,12; 1 Tim. 5:1). Christ is merely forbidding the use of such names as spiritual titles, or in an ostentatious sense that accords undue spiritual authority to a human being, as if he were the source of truth rather than God.

23:13 nor do you allow. The Pharisees, having shunned God's righteousness, were seeking to establish a righteousness of their own (Rom. 10:3)—and teaching others to do so as well. Their legalism and self-righteousness effectively obscured the narrow gate by which the kingdom must be entered (see notes 7:13,14).

23:14 This verse does not appear in the earliest available manuscripts of Matthew, but does appear in Mark. See notes on Mark 12:40.

23:15 proselyte. A Gentile convert to Judaism. See Acts 6:5. a son of hell. I.e., someone whose eternal destination is hell.

23:16 it is nothing. This was an arbitrary distinction the Pharisees had made, which gave them a sanctimonious justification for lying with impunity. If someone swore "by the temple" (or the altar, v. 18; or heaven, v. 22), his oath was not considered binding, but if he swore "by the gold of the temple," he could not break his word without being subject to the penalties of Jewish law. Our Lord makes it clear that swearing by those things is tantamount to swearing by God Himself. See note on 5:34.

20 Therefore he who [1]swears by the altar, swears by it and by all things on it. 21 He who swears by the temple, swears by it and by [p]Him who [2]dwells in it. 22 And he who swears by heaven, swears by [q]the throne of God and by Him who sits on it.

23 "Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! [r]For you pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and [s]have neglected the weightier matters of the law: justice and mercy and faith. These you ought to have done, without leaving the others undone. 24 Blind guides, who strain out a gnat and swallow a camel!

25 "Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! [t]For you cleanse the outside of the cup and dish, but inside they are full of extortion and [3]self-indulgence. 26 Blind Pharisee, first cleanse the inside of the cup and dish, that the outside of them may be clean also.

27 "Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! [u]For you are like whitewashed tombs which indeed appear beautiful outwardly, but inside are full of dead men's bones and all uncleanness. 28 Even so you also outwardly appear righteous to men, but inside you are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness.

29 [v]"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! Because you build the tombs of the prophets and [4]adorn the monuments of the righteous, 30 and say, 'If we had lived in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets.'

31 "Therefore you are witnesses against yourselves that [w]you are sons of those who murdered the prophets. 32 [x]Fill up, then, the measure of your fathers' guilt. 33 Serpents, [y]brood[5] of vipers! How can you escape the condemnation of hell? 34 [z]Therefore, indeed, I send you prophets, wise men, and scribes: [a]some of them you will kill and crucify, and [b]some of them you will scourge in your synagogues and persecute from city to city, 35 [c]that on you may come all the righteous blood shed on the earth, [d]from the blood of righteous Abel to [e]the blood of Zechariah, son of Berechiah, whom you murdered between the temple and the altar. 36 Assuredly, I say to you, all these things will come upon this generation.

23:23 tithe of mint and anise and cummin. Garden herbs, not really the kind of farm produce that the tithe was designed to cover (Lev. 27:30). But the Pharisees fastidiously weighed out a tenth of every herb, perhaps even counting individual anise seeds. Jesus' point, however, was not to condemn their observance of the law's fine points. The problem was that they "neglected the weightier matters" of justice and mercy and faith—the moral principles underlying all the laws. They were satisfied with their focus on the incidentals and externals but willfully resisted the spiritual meaning of the law. He told them they should have concentrated on those larger issues "without leaving the others undone."

23:24 strain out a gnat and swallow a camel. Some Pharisees would strain their beverages through a fine cloth to make sure they did not inadvertently swallow a gnat—the smallest of unclean animals (Lev. 11:23). The camel was the largest of all the unclean animals (Lev. 11:4).

23:25 you cleanse the outside. The Pharisees' focus on external issues lay at the heart of their error. Who would want to drink from a cup that had been washed on the outside but was still filthy inside? Yet the Pharisees lived their lives as if external appearance were more important than internal reality. That was the very essence of their hypocrisy, and Jesus rebuked them for it repeatedly (see notes on 5:20; 16:12).

23:27 whitewashed tombs. Tombs were regularly whitewashed to make them stand out. Accidentally touching or stepping on a grave caused ceremonial uncleanness (Num. 19:16). A freshly whitewashed tomb would be brilliantly white and clean-looking—and sometimes spectacularly ornate. But the inside was full of defilement and decay. Contrast Jesus' words here and in Luke 11:44.

23:30 we would not have been partakers. A ridiculous claim to self-righteousness when they were already plotting the murder of the Messiah (cf. John 11:47-53).

23:34 prophets, wise men, and scribes. I.e., the disciples, as well as the prophets, evangelists, and pastors who followed them (cf. Eph. 4:11).

23:35 Abel...Zechariah. The first and last OT martyrs, respectively. son of Berechiah. (Zech. 1:1). The OT does not record how he died. However, the death of another Zechariah, son of Jehoiada, is recorded in 2 Chr. 24:20,21. He was stoned in the court of the temple, exactly as Jesus describes here. All the best manuscripts of Matthew contain the phrase "Zechariah, son of Berechiah" (though it does not appear in Luke 11:51). Some have suggested that the Zechariah in 2 Chr. 24 was actually a grandson of Jehoiada, and that his father's name was also Berechiah. But there is no difficulty if we simply take Jesus' words at face value and accept His infallible testimony that Zechariah the prophet was martyred between the temple and the altar, in a way very similar to how the earlier Zechariah was killed.

23:36 this generation. Historically, this was the generation that experienced the utter destruction of Jerusalem and the burning of the temple in A.D. 70. Jesus' lament over Jerusalem and His removal of the blessing of God from the temple (vv. 37,38) strongly suggest that the sacking of Jerusalem in A.D. 70 was the judgment He was speaking about. See notes on 22:7; 24:2; Luke 19:43.

23:37 I wanted...but you were not willing! God is utterly sovereign and therefore fully capable of bringing to pass whatever He desires (cf. Is. 46:10)—including the salvation of whomever He chooses (Eph. 1:4,5). Yet, He sometimes expresses a wish for that which He does not sovereignly bring to pass (cf. Gen. 6:6; Deut. 5:29; Ps. 81:13; Is. 48:18). Such expressions in no way suggest a limitation on the sovereignty of God or imply any actual change in Him (Num. 23:19). But these statements do reveal essential aspects of the divine character: He is full of compassion, sincerely good to all, desirous of good, not evil—and therefore not delighting in the destruction of the wicked (Ezek. 18:32; 33:11). While affirming God's sovereignty, one must understand His

The Tribulation—Mark 13:5-23; Luke 21:5-24

4 And Jesus answered and said to them: e"Take heed that no one deceives you. 5 For *f*many will come in My name, saying, 'I am the Christ,' *g*and will deceive many. 6 And you will hear of *h*wars and rumors of wars. pleas for the repentance of the reprobate as well meant appeals—and His goodness toward the wicked as a genuine mercy designed to provoke them to repentance (Rom. 2:4). The emotion displayed by Christ here (and in all similar passages, such as Luke 19:41) is obviously a deep, sincere passion. All Christ's feelings must be in perfect harmony with the divine will (cf. John 8:29)—and therefore these lamentations should not be thought of as mere exhibitions of His humanity.

23:38 Your house is left to you desolate. A few days earlier, Christ had referred to the temple as His Father's "house" (21:13). But the blessing and glory of God were being removed from Israel (see 1 Sam. 4:21). When Christ "departed from the temple" (24:1), the glory of God went with Him. Ezekiel 11:23 described Ezekiel's vision of the departure of the Shekinah glory in His day. The glory left the temple and stood on the Mt. of Olives, (see notes on 24:3; Luke 19:29) exactly the same route Christ followed here (cf. 24:3).

23:39 you shall see Me no more. Christ's public teaching ministry was over. He withdrew from national Israel until the time yet future when they will recognize Him as Messiah (Rom. 11:23-26). Then Christ quoted from Ps. 118:26.

24:1–25:46 This is the last of the 5 discourses Matthew features (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes). It is known as the Olivet Discourse, and it contains some of the most important prophetic material in all of Scripture.

24:1 the buildings of the temple. This temple was begun by Herod the Great in 20 B.C. (see note on 2:1) and was still under construction when the Romans destroyed it in A.D. 70 (see note on v. 2). At the time of Jesus' ministry, the temple was one of the most impressive structures in the world, made of massive blocks of stone bedecked with gold ornamentation. Some of the stones in the temple complex measured 40x12x12 ft. and were expertly quarried to fit perfectly against one another. The temple buildings were made of gleaming white marble, and the whole eastern wall of the large main structure was covered with gold plates that reflected the morning sun, making a spectacle that was visible for miles. The entire temple mount had been enlarged by Herod's engineers, by means of large retaining walls and vaulted chambers on the S side and SE corner. By this means the large courtyard area atop the temple mount was effectively doubled. The whole temple complex was magnificent by any standard. The disciples' conversation here may have been prompted by Jesus' words in 23:38. They were undoubtedly wondering how a site so spectacular could be left "desolate."

24:2 not one stone shall be left here. These words were literally fulfilled in A.D. 70. Titus, the Roman general, built large wooden scaffolds around the walls of the temple buildings, piled them high with wood and other flammable items, and set them ablaze. The heat from the fires was so intense that the stones crumbled. The rubble was then sifted to retrieve the melted gold, and the remaining ruins were "thrown down" into the Kidron Valley. See notes on 22:7; Luke 19:43.

24:3 Mount of Olives. The hill directly opposite the temple, across the Kidron Valley to the E (see note on Luke 19:29). This spot affords the best panoramic view of Jerusalem. At the base of this mountain is Gethsemane (see note on 26:36). what will be the sign of Your coming. Luke 19:11 records that the disciples still "thought the kingdom of God would appear immediately." The destruction of the temple (v. 2) did not fit the eschatological scheme they envisioned, so they asked for clarification. Jesus addressed their questions in reverse order, describing the prophetic sign of His coming (actually a series of signs) in vv. 4-35 and then addressing their question about the timing of these events beginning in v. 36. When they asked about His coming (Gr., parousia; lit. "presence"), they did not envision a second coming in the far-off future. They were speaking of His coming in triumph as Messiah, an event which they no doubt anticipated would occur presently. Even if they were conscious of His approaching death, which he had plainly prophesied to them on repeated occasions (see note on 20:19), they could not have anticipated His ascension to heaven and the long intervening church age. However, when Jesus used the term parousia in His discourse, He used it in the technical sense as a reference to His second coming.

24:6 but the end is not yet. False prophets, as well as wars and rumors of wars, characterize the whole of the present age, but will escalate toward the end (cf. 2 Tim. 3:13).

24:8 sorrows. The word means "birth pangs." Famines, earthquakes, and conflicts have always characterized life in a fallen world; but by calling these things "the beginning" of labor pains, He indicated that things will get notably and remarkably worse at the end of the era as these unique tribulations signal the soon arrival of Messiah to judge sinful humanity and set up His millennial kingdom. Cf. 1 Thess. 5:3; Rev. 6:1-17; 8:1–9:21; 16:1-21; see note on v. 14.

24:9 deliver you up. See note on 10:17.

24:10 many will be offended. Lit. "caused to stumble"—suggesting professing believers who fall away—and even turn against "one another" in shocking acts of spiritual treachery. Those who fall cause lawlessness will abound, the love of many will grow [n]cold. 13 [o]But he who endures to the end shall be saved. 14 And this [p]gospel of the kingdom [q]will be preached in all the world as a witness to all the nations, and then the end will come.

15 [r]"Therefore when you see the [s]'abomination of desolation,' spoken of by Daniel the prophet, standing in the holy place" [t](whoever reads, let him understand), 16 "then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains. 17 Let him who is on the housetop not go down to take anything out of his house. 18 And let him who is in the field not go back to get his clothes. 19 But [u]woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days! 20 And pray that your flight may not be in winter or on the Sabbath. 21 For [v]then there will be great tribulation, such as has not been since the beginning of the world until this time, no, nor ever shall be. 22 And unless those days were shortened, no flesh would be saved; [w]but for the [3]elect's sake those days will be shortened.

23 [x]"Then if anyone says to you, 'Look, here is the Christ!' or 'There!' do not believe it. 24 For [y]false christs and false prophets will rise and show great signs and wonders to deceive, [z]if possible, even the elect. 25 See, I have told you beforehand.

26 "Therefore if they say to you, 'Look, He is in the desert!' do not go out; or 'Look, He is in the inner rooms!' do not believe it.

away in such a manner give evidence that they never were true believers at all (see note on v. 13).

24:13 endures to the end...be saved. Cf. 10:22. The ones who persevere are the same ones who are saved—not the ones whose love grows cold (v. 12). This does not suggest that our perseverance secures our salvation. Scripture everywhere teaches precisely the opposite: God, as part of His saving work, secures our perseverance. True believers are "are kept by the power of God through faith for salvation" (1 Pet. 1:5). The guarantee of our perseverance is built into the New Covenant promise. God says: "I will put My fear in their hearts so that they will not depart from Me" (Jer. 32:40). Those who do fall away from Christ give conclusive proof that they were never truly believers to begin with (1 John 2:19). To say that God secures our perseverance is not to say that we are passive in the process, however. He keeps us "through faith" (1 Pet. 1:5)—our faith. Scripture sometimes calls us to hold fast to our faith (Heb. 10:23; Rev. 3:11) or warns us against falling away (Heb. 10:26-29). Such admonitions do not negate the many promises that true believers will persevere (John 10:28,29; Rom. 8:38,39; 1 Cor. 1:8,9; Phil. 1:6). Rather, the warnings and pleas are among the means God uses to secure our perseverance in the faith. Notice that the warnings and the promises often appear side by side. For example, when Jude urges believers, "keep yourselves in the love of God" (Jude 21), he immediately points them to God, "who is able to keep you from stumbling" (Jude 24).

24:14 preached in all the world. Despite all the tribulations that would come—the deception of false teachers, the wars, persecutions, natural disasters, defections from Christ, and all the obstacles to the spread of the gospel—the message ultimately penetrates every part of the globe. God is never without a witness, and He will proclaim the gospel from heaven itself if necessary (cf. Rev. 14:6). and then the end will come. "The end" refers to the final, excruciating birth pangs (see note on v. 8). This is how Christ characterizes the time of Great Tribulation described in the verses that follow.

24:15 abomination of desolation. See notes on Daniel 9:27; 11:31. This phrase originally referred to the desecration of the temple by Antiochus Epiphanes, king of Syria in the second century B.C. Antiochus invaded Jerusalem in 168 B.C., made the altar into a shrine to Zeus, and even sacrificed pigs on it. However, Jesus clearly was looking toward a yet-future "abomination of desolation." Some suggest that this prophecy was fulfilled in A.D. 70 when Titus invaded Jerusalem and destroyed the temple (see note on v. 2). However, the Apostle Paul saw a still-future fulfillment (2 Thess. 2:3,4), as did John (Rev. 13:14,15)—when the Antichrist sets up an image in the temple during the future tribulation. Christ's words here therefore look beyond the events of A.D. 70 to a time of even greater global cataclysm that will immediately precede His coming (cf. vv. 29-31).

24:16 the mountains. Probably a reference to the region SE of Jerusalem, particularly the Dead Sea area, where there are many caves and places of refuge. David hid from Saul in this area (1 Sam. 23:29). This would also include the hills of Moab and Edom.

24:21 great tribulation. The words "has not been" and "nor ever shall be"—along with the description that follows—identify this as the yet-future time in which God's wrath shall be poured out upon the earth (see note on Rev. 7:14). Jesus' descriptions of the cataclysms that follow closely resemble the outpouring of divine wrath described in the bowl judgments of Rev. 16 and His subsequent appearing in Rev. 19 (see note on v. 30).

24:22 those days will be shortened. If the afflictions of this time were to continue, "no flesh would be saved," i.e., no one would survive. But "for the elect's sake" (so that redeemed people do not suffer more than they can bear) the time is "shortened"—i.e., held short of total destruction. Both Dan. 7:25 and Rev. 12:14 (see notes there) suggest that the actual length of time the Beast will be permitted to terrorize the world is fixed at 3½ years.

24:24 to deceive, if possible, even the elect. This clearly implies that such deception is not possible (John 10:4,5).

24:26 do not believe it. No one should consider the claims of self-styled messiahs because all of them are false. When Christ returns, no one will miss it (vv. 27,28).

24:28 the eagles will be gathered together. The location of a carcass is visible from great distances because of the circling carrion birds overhead (cf. Job 39:27-30). Similarly, Christ's return will be clearly evident to all near and far. The same point is made by the lightning in v. 27. The eagle-carcass imagery here also speaks of the judgment that will accompany His return (Rev. 19:21).

24:29 the sun will be darkened. Such phenomena are a common feature of Day of the Lord prophecy (see Is. 13:9,10; Ezek. 32:7,8; Joel 2:10,31; 3:15; Amos 8:9). The ultimate fulfillment of these prophe-

the heavens will be shaken. 30 [e]Then the sign of the Son of Man will appear in heaven, [f]and then all the tribes of the earth will mourn, and they will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory. 31 [g]And He will send His angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they will gather together His [4]elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

cies takes place during the time of the Beast's reign (Rev. 6:12,13; 8:12).

24:30 the sign of the Son of Man. I.e., the Son of Man Himself is the sign. The events described here precisely parallel the description in Dan. 7:13; Rev. 19:11-21. all the tribes of the earth will mourn. I.e., over their own rebellion. Israel in particular will mourn over their rejection of the Messiah (cf. Zech 12:10-12).

24:31 from one end of heaven to the other. All the "elect" from heaven and earth are gathered and assembled before Christ. This is the culmination of world history, ushering in the millennial reign of Christ (cf. Rev. 20:4).

24:32 parable from the fig tree. When the fig branch "puts forth leaves," only a short time remains until summer. Likewise, when the final labor pains begin (see note on v. 14), Christ's return "is near; it is at the doors!" (v. 33).

24:34 this generation. This cannot refer to the generation living at that time of Christ, for "all these things"—the abomination of desolation (v. 15), the persecutions and judgments (vv. 17-22), the false prophets (vv. 23-26), the signs in the heavens (vv. 27-29), Christ's final return (v. 30), and the gathering of the elect (v. 31)—did not "take place" in their lifetime. It seems best to interpret Christ's words as a reference to the generation alive at the time when those final hard labor pains begin (see note on v. 14). This would fit with the lesson of the fig tree, which stresses the short span of time in which these things will occur (see note on v. 32).

24:35 Heaven and earth will pass away. Cf. Is. 24:18-20. See notes on 2 Pet. 3:10-13.

24:36 day and hour. See note on Mark 13:32. The disciples wanted to fix the precise time, but this was not for them to know (Acts 1:7). Christ's emphasis instead is on faithfulness, watchfulness, stewardship, expectancy, and preparedness. These are the lessons He taught in the parables that immediately follow.

24:37 as the days of Noah were. Jesus' emphasis here is not so much on the extreme wickedness of Noah's day (Gen. 6:5), but on the people's preoccupation with mundane matters of everyday life ("eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage"—v. 38), when judgment fell suddenly. They had received warnings, in the form of Noah's preaching (2 Pet. 2:5)—and the ark itself, which was a testimony to the judgment that was to come. But they were unconcerned about such matters and therefore were swept away unexpectedly in the midst of their daily activities.

24:40,41 one will be taken. I.e., taken in judgment (cf. v. 39) just as in Noah's day ("took them"; v. 39). This is clearly not a reference to the catching away of believers described in 1 Thess. 4:16,17.

24:43 the thief. As no one knows what hour the thief will come, no one knows the hour of the Lord's return or the Day of the Lord that accompanies His coming (cf. 1 Thess. 5:2; 2 Pet. 3:10). But the believer is to be ready at all times.

24:44 at an hour you do not expect. The parables that follow teach Christ's followers to be ready in case He comes sooner than anticipated (vv. 43-51); and also to be prepared in case He delays longer than expected (25:1-13).

24:45-51 The evil servant represents an unbeliever who refuses to take seriously the promise of Christ's return (cf. 2 Pet. 3:4). Though he is an unbeliever (as demonstrated by his punishment—see note on 22:13), he is nonetheless accountable to Christ for the stewardship with the hypocrites. [x]There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

Parable of the Ten Virgins

25 "Then the kingdom of heaven shall be likened to ten virgins who took their lamps and went out to meet [a]the bridegroom. 2 [b]Now five of them were wise, and five were foolish. 3 Those who were foolish took their lamps and took no oil with them, 4 but the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps. 5 But while the bridegroom was delayed, [c]they all slumbered and slept.

6 "And at midnight [d]a cry was heard: 'Behold, the bridegroom [1]is coming; go out to meet him!' 7 Then all those virgins arose and [e]trimmed their lamps. 8 And the foolish said to the wise, 'Give us some of your oil, for our lamps are going out.' 9 But the wise answered, saying, 'No, lest there should not be enough for us and you; but go rather to those who sell, and buy for yourselves.' 10 And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came, and those who were ready went in with him to the wedding; and [f]the door was shut.

11 "Afterward the other virgins came also, saying, [g]'Lord, Lord, open to us!' 12 But he answered and said, 'Assuredly, I say to you, [h]I do not know you.'

13 [i]"Watch therefore, for you [j]know neither the day nor the hour [2]in which the Son of Man is coming.

Parable of the Talents

14 [k]"For the kingdom of heaven is [l]like a man traveling to a far country, who called his own servants and delivered his goods to them. 15 And to one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one, [m]to each according to his own ability; and immediately he went on a journey. 16 Then he who had received the five talents went and traded with them, and made another five talents. 17 And likewise he who had received two gained two more also. 18 But he who had received one went and dug in the ground, and hid his lord's money. 19 After a long time the lord of those servants came and settled accounts with them.

20 "So he who had received five talents came and brought five other talents, saying, 'Lord, you delivered to me five talents; look, I have gained five more talents besides them.' 21 His lord said to him, 'Well done, good and faithful servant; you were [n]faithful over a few things, [o]I will make you ruler over many things. Enter into [p]the joy of your lord.' 22 He also who had received two talents came and said, 'Lord, you delivered to me two talents; look, I have gained two more talents besides them.' 23 His lord said to him, [q]'Well done, good and faithful servant; you have been faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things. Enter into [r]the joy of your lord.'

24 "Then he who had received the one talent came and said, 'Lord, I knew you to be a hard man, reaping where you have not sown, and gathering where you have not scattered seed. 25 And I was afraid, and went and hid your talent in the ground. Look, there you have what is yours.'

26 "But his lord answered and said to him, 'You [s]wicked and lazy servant, you knew that I reap where I have not sown, and gather where I have not scattered seed. 27 So you ought to have deposited my of his time. Jesus was teaching that every person in the world holds his life, natural abilities, wealth, and possessions in trust from God and must give account of how these things are used.

24:51 weeping and gnashing of teeth. See note on 22:13.

25:1-13 The parable of the 10 virgins is given to underscore the importance of being ready for Christ's return in any event—even if He delays longer than expected. For when He does return, there will be no second chances for the unprepared (vv. 11,12).

25:1 ten virgins. I.e., bridesmaids. The wedding would begin at the bride's house when the bridegroom arrived to observe the wedding ritual. Then a procession would follow as the bridegroom took the bride to his house for the completion of festivities. For a night wedding, "lamps," which were actually torches, were needed for the procession.

25:14-30 The parable of the talents illustrates the tragedy of wasted opportunity. The man who goes on the journey represents Christ, and the servants represent professing believers given different levels of responsibility. Faithfulness is what he demands of them (see note on v. 23), but the parable suggests that all who are faithful will be fruitful to some degree. The fruitless person is unmasked as a hypocrite and utterly destroyed (v. 30).

25:15 talents. A talent was a measure of weight, not a specific coin, so that a talent of gold was more valuable than a talent of silver. A talent of silver (the word translated "money" in v. 18 is lit. silver) was a considerable sum of money. The modern meaning of the word "talent," denoting a natural ability, stems from the fact that this parable is erroneously applied to the stewardship of one's natural gifts.

25:23 the joy of your lord. Both the man with 5 talents and the man with two received exactly the same reward, indicating that the reward is based on faithfulness, not results.

25:24 a hard man. His characterization of the master maligns the man as a cruel and ruthless opportunist, "reaping and gathering" what he had no right to claim as his own. This slothful servant does not represent a genuine believer, for it is obvious that this man had no true knowledge of the master.

25:26 you knew that I reap where I have not sown. In repeating the servant's charge against him, the master was not acknowledging that it was true. He was allowing the man's own words to condemn him. If the servant really believed the master to be the kind of man he portrayed, that was all the more reason for him not to be slothful. His accusation against the master—even if it had been true—did not justify his own laziness.

money with the bankers, and at my coming I would have received back my own with interest. 28 So take the talent from him, and give it to him who has ten talents.

29 [t]"For to everyone who has, more will be given, and he will have abundance; but from him who does not have, even what he has will be taken away. 30 And cast the unprofitable servant [u]into the outer darkness. [v]There will be weeping and [w]gnashing of teeth.'

Judgement of the Gentiles

31 [x]"When the Son of Man comes in His glory, and all the [3]holy angels with Him, then He will sit on the throne of His glory. 32 [y]All the nations will be gathered before Him, and [z]He will separate them one from another, as a shepherd divides his sheep from the goats. 33 And He will set the [a]sheep on His right hand, but the goats on the left. 34 Then the King will say to those on His right hand, 'Come, you blessed of My Father, [b]inherit the kingdom [c]prepared for you from the foundation of the world: 35 [d]for I was hungry and you gave Me food; I was thirsty and you gave Me drink; [e]I was a stranger and you took Me in; 36 I was [f]naked and you clothed Me; I was sick and you visited Me; [g]I was in prison and you came to Me.'

37 "Then the righteous will answer Him, saying, 'Lord, when did we see You hungry and feed You, or thirsty and give You drink? 38 When did we see You a stranger and take You in, or naked and clothe You? 39 Or when did we see You sick, or in prison, and come to You?' 40 And the King will answer and say to them, 'Assuredly, I say to you, [h]inasmuch as you did it to one of the least of these My brethren, you did it to Me.'

41 "Then He will also say to those on the left hand, [i]'Depart from Me, you cursed, [j]into the everlasting fire prepared for [k]the devil and his angels: 42 for I was hungry and you gave Me no food; I was thirsty and you gave Me no drink; 43 I was a stranger and you did not take Me in, naked and you did not clothe Me, sick and in prison and you did not visit Me.'

44 "Then they also will answer [4]Him, saying, 'Lord, when did we see You hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or sick or in prison, and did not minister to You?' 45 Then He will answer them, saying, 'Assuredly, I say to you, [l]inasmuch as you did not do it to one of the least of these, you did not do it to Me.' 46 And [m]these will go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into eternal life."

25:29 to everyone who has, more will be given. See 13:12. The recipients of divine grace inherit immeasurable blessings in addition to eternal life and the favor of God (cf. Rom. 8:32). But those who despise the riches of God's goodness, forbearance, and longsuffering (Rom. 2:4), burying them in the ground and clinging instead to the paltry and transient goods of this world, will ultimately lose everything they have (cf. 6:19; John 12:25).

25:30 outer darkness...weeping and gnashing of teeth. See note on 22:13.

25:31 He will sit on the throne of His glory. This speaks of the earthly reign of Christ described in Rev. 20:4-6. The judgment described here in vv. 32-46 is different from the Great White Throne judgment of Rev. 20:11-15. This judgment precedes Christ's millennial reign, and the subjects seem to be only those who are alive at His coming. This is sometimes referred to as the judgment of the nations, but His verdicts address individuals in the nations, not the nations as a whole (cf. v. 46).

25:32,33 sheep. I.e., believers (10:16; Ps. 79:13; Ezek. 34). They are given the place at "His right hand"—the place of favor. goats. These represent unbelievers, consigned to the place of dishonor and rejection.

25:34 prepared for you. This terminology underscores that their salvation is a gracious gift of God, not something merited by the deeds described in vv. 35,36. Before "the foundation of the world," they were chosen by God and ordained to be holy (Eph. 1:4)—predestined to be conformed to Christ's image (Rom. 8:29). So the good deeds commended in vv. 35,36 are the fruit, not the root of their salvation. The deeds are not the basis for their entrance into the kingdom, but merely manifestations of God's grace in their lives. They are the objective criteria for judgment, because they are the evidence of saving faith (cf. James 2:14-26).

25:40 the least of these My brethren. This refers in particular to other disciples. Some would apply this to national Israel; others to needy people in general. But here Christ is specifically commending "those on His right" (v. 34) for the way they received His emissaries. See note on 18:5.

25:46 everlasting punishment...eternal life. The same Gr. word is used in both instances. The punishment of the wicked is as never-ending as the bliss of the righteous. The wicked are not given a second chance, nor are they annihilated. The punishment of the wicked dead is described throughout Scripture as "everlasting fire" (v. 41); "unquenchable fire" (3:12); "shame and everlasting contempt" (Dan. 12:2); a place where "their worm does not die, and the fire is not quenched" (Mark 9:44-49); a place of "torments" and "flame" (Luke 16:23,24); "everlasting destruction" (2 Thess. 1:9); a place of torment with "fire and brimstone" where "the smoke of their torment ascends forever and ever" (Rev. 14:10,11); and a "lake of fire and brimstone" where the wicked are "tormented day and night forever and ever" (Rev. 20:10). Here Jesus indicates that the punishment itself is everlasting—not merely the smoke and flames. The wicked are forever subject to the fury and the wrath of God. They consciously suffer shame and contempt and the assaults of an accusing conscience—along with the fiery wrath of an offended deity—for all of eternity. Even hell will acknowledge the perfect justice of God (Ps. 76:10); those who are there will know that their punishment is just and that they alone are to blame (cf. Deut. 32:3-5).

26:2 Passover. This was God's chosen time for Christ to die. He was the antitype to which the Passover Lamb had always referred. Christ had always avoided His enemies' plots to kill Him (Luke 4:29,30; John 5:18; 10:39), but now it was His time (see note on v. 5). The true Lamb of God would take away the sin of the world (John 1:29).

26:3 Caiaphas. Caiaphas served as High-Priest from A.D. 18 to 36, an unusually long tenure for anyone in that role. His longevity suggests he had a close relationship with both Rome and the Herodian dynasty. He was son-in-law to his predecessor, Annas (John 18:13; see note on Luke 3:2). He controlled the temple and no doubt personally profited from the corrupt merchandising that was taking place there (see note on 21:12). His enmity against Jesus seems intensely personal and especially malevolent; every time he appears in Scripture, he is seeking Jesus' destruction.

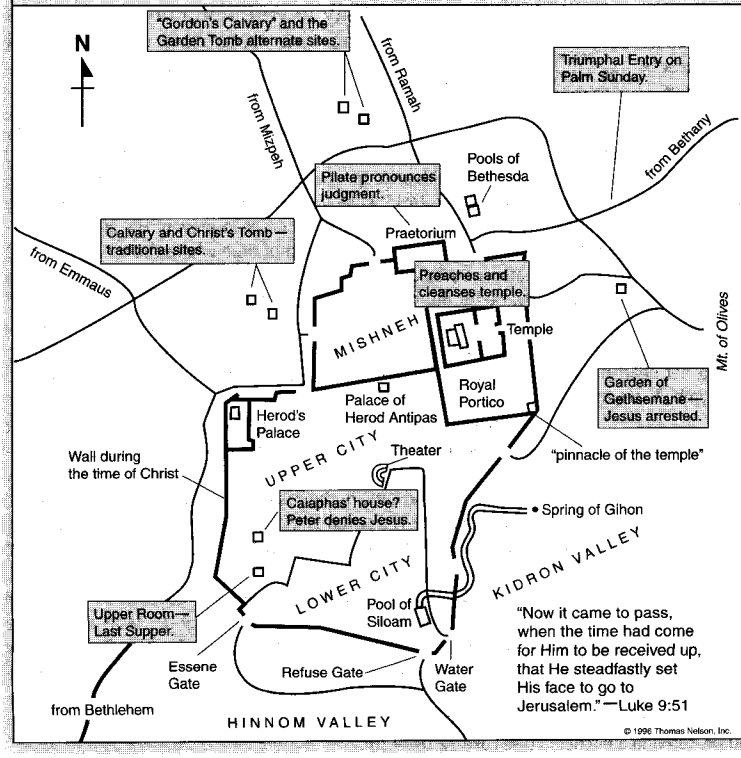
26:5 Not during the feast. The Jewish leaders, who had been eager to kill him for so long, decided to postpone their plot until a more politically opportune time. But they could not; God's chosen time had come (see notes on vv. 2,18,54).

26:6 Simon the leper. Simon is mentioned nowhere else in Scripture. He was almost certainly someone whom Jesus had healed of leprosy, for lepers were deemed unclean and therefore not permitted to socialize or even live in cities. See note on Lev. 13:2 for a discussion on leprosy.

26:7 an alabaster flask of very costly fragrant oil. Mark sets the value at "more than three hundred denarii" (see note on Mark 14:5), nearly a year's wages—very costly indeed. Even the expensive flask was broken (Mark 14:3), making the act that much more costly. "Alabaster" was a fine variety of marble, quarried in Egypt, which could be carved into delicate containers for storing costly perfumes. John tells us this woman was Mary, sister of Martha and Lazarus (John 12:3), thus Martha and Mary were evidently serving the meal for Simon the leper. Matthew and Mark mention that she anointed his head. John adds that she anointed His feet and wiped them with her hair. A similar act of worship is related in Luke 7:36-38, but the differences in timing, location, and other details make it clear that the two occasions were different.

26:8 they were indignant. John says Judas was the spokesman who voiced the complaint, and that he did it for hypocritical reasons (John 12:4-6). Evidently the other disciples, being undiscerning, were quick to voice sympathy with Judas' protest.

Christ's Trials, Crucifixion, and Resurrection



The events of Passion Week occurred in the city of Jerusalem, beginning with Jesus' Triumphal Entry on Palm Sunday. The accompanying map details the chronology of events. However, after His resurrection, Jesus appeared to His disciples and over five hundred other believers throughout the entire regions of Judea and Galilee.

might have been sold for much and given to the poor."

10 But when Jesus was aware of it, He said to them, "Why do you trouble the woman? For she has done a good work for Me. 11 [g]For you have the poor with you always, but [h]Me you do not have always. 12 For in pouring this fragrant oil on My body, she did it for My [i]burial. 13 Assuredly, I say to you, wherever this gospel is preached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be told as a memorial to her."

Judas Agrees to Betray Jesus
Mark 14:10, 11; Luke 22:3-6

14 [j]Then one of the twelve, called [k]Judas Iscariot, went to the chief priests 15 and said, [l]"What are you willing to give me if I deliver Him to you?" And they counted out to him thirty pieces of silver. 16 So from that time he sought opportunity to betray Him.

The Passover Is Prepared
Mark 14:12-16; Luke 22:7-13

17 [m]Now on the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying to Him, "Where do You want us to prepare for You to eat the Passover?"

18 And He said, "Go into the city to a certain man, and say to him, 'The Teacher says, [n]"My time is at hand; I will keep the Passover at your house with My disciples." ' "

19 So the disciples did as Jesus had directed them; and they prepared the Passover.

The Passover Is Celebrated
Mark 14:17-21; Luke 22:14, 21-23; John 13:21, 22

20 [o]When evening had come, He sat down with the twelve. 21 Now as they were eating, He said, "Assuredly, I say to you, one of you will [p]betray Me."

22 And they were exceedingly sorrowful, and each of them began to say to Him, "Lord, is it I?"

23 He answered and said, [q]"He who dipped his hand with Me in the dish will betray Me. 24 The Son of Man indeed goes just [r]as it is written of Him, but [s]woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! [t]It would have been good for that man if he had not been born."

25 Then Judas, who was betraying Him, answered and said, "Rabbi, is it I?"

He said to him, "You have said it."

The Lord's Supper Is Instituted
Mark 14:22-25; Luke 22:19, 20; 1 Cor. 11:23-26

26 [u]And as they were eating, [v]Jesus took bread, [3]blessed and broke it, and gave it to the disciples and said, "Take, eat; [w]this is My body."

27 Then He took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, [x]"Drink from it, all of you. 28 For [y]this is My blood [z]of the [4]new covenant, which is shed [a]for many for the [5]remission of sins. 29 But [b]I say to you, I will not drink of this fruit of the vine from now on [c]until that day when I drink it new with you in My Father's kingdom."

26:11 For you have the poor with you always. Jesus certainly was not disparaging ministry to the poor—especially so soon after the lesson of the sheep and goats judgment (cf. 25:35,36). However, He revealed here that there is a higher priority than any other earthly ministry, and that is worship rendered to Him. This would be an utter blasphemy for anyone less than God, so yet again he was implicitly affirming His deity (see notes on 8:27; 12:6,8; 21:16; 22:42,45).

26:12 she did it for My burial. This does not necessarily mean that Mary was consciously aware of the significance of her act. It is doubtful that she knew of His approaching death, or at least how close it was. But this was an act of pure worship, her heart having been moved by God to perform a sacrificial and symbolic act, the full significance of which she probably did not know.

26:13 a memorial to her. This promise was guaranteed by the inclusion of this story in the NT.

26:15 thirty pieces of silver. The price of a slave (Ex. 21:32).

26:17 the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread. The Passover lambs were killed (Mark 14:12) on 14 Nisan (Mar./Apr.). That evening, the Passover meal was eaten. The Feast of Unleavened Bread followed immediately after Passover, from 15-21 Nisan. The entire time was often referred to either as "Passover" (Luke 22:1), or as the Feast of Unleavened Bread. Therefore the first day refers to 14 Nisan. See Introduction to John: Interpretive Challenges; see note on John 19:14.

26:18 a certain man. Mark 14:13 and Luke 22:10 say they would be able to identify the man because he would be "carrying a pitcher of water," a chore normally reserved for women. He was evidently someone they did not know, probably a servant of whoever owned the house with an "upper room," where the Passover meal was to be eaten (Mark 14:15; Luke 22:12). Jesus had evidently made these arrangements clandestinely, in order to prevent His premature betrayal. Had Judas known ahead of time where the meal was to be eaten, he would surely have alerted the chief priests and elders (see vv. 14-16). But none of these things were to happen until the "time" was "at hand." All of this reveals how Jesus Himself was sovereignly in control of the details of His own crucifixion (see notes on vv. 5,54).

26:20 sat down. Lit. "reclined" (see note on Mark 14:18; cf. John 13:25).

26:26 Take, eat; this is My body. Jesus thus transformed the last Passover into the first observance of the Lord's Supper. He is the central antitype in both ceremonies, being represented symbolically by both the paschal lamb of the Passover and the elements in the communion service. His statement, "this is My body" could not possibly have been taken in any literal sense by the disciples present that evening. See note on Luke 22:19.

26:28 My blood of the new covenant. Covenants were ratified with the blood of a sacrifice (Gen. 8:20; 15:9,10). Jesus' words here echo Moses' pronouncement in Ex. 24:8. The blood of the New Covenant is not an animal's blood, but Christ's own blood, shed for the remission of sins. See notes on Jer. 31:31-34; Heb. 8:1–10:18; 8:6.

26:29 My Father's kingdom. I.e., the earthly millennial kingdom (see Luke 22:18,29,30).

Peter's Denial Is Predicted
Mark 14:26-31; Luke 22:34, 39; John 13:37, 38

30 [d] And when they had sung a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

31 Then Jesus said to them, [e] "All of you will [f] be [6] made to stumble because of Me this night, for it is written:

> [g] 'I will strike the Shepherd,
> And the sheep of the flock will be scattered.'

32 But after I have been raised, [h] I will go before you to Galilee."

33 Peter answered and said to Him, "Even if all are [7] made to stumble because of You, I will never be made to stumble."

34 Jesus said to him, [i] "Assuredly, I say to you that this night, before the rooster crows, you will deny Me three times."

35 Peter said to Him, "Even if I have to die with You, I will not deny You!"

And so said all the disciples.

Jesus' Three Prayers
Mark 14:32-42; Luke 22:40-46

36 [j] Then Jesus came with them to a place called Gethsemane, and said to the disciples, "Sit here while I go and pray over there." 37 And He took with Him Peter and [k] the two sons of Zebedee, and He began to be sorrowful and deeply distressed. 38 Then He said to them, [l] "My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death. Stay here and watch with Me."

39 He went a little farther and fell on His face, and [m] prayed, saying, [n] "O My Father, if it is possible, [o] let this cup pass from Me; nevertheless, [p] not as I will, but as You will."

40 Then He came to the disciples and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, "What! Could you not watch with Me one hour? 41 [q] Watch and pray, lest you enter into temptation. [r] The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak."

42 Again, a second time, He went away and prayed, saying, "O My Father, [8] if this cup cannot pass away from Me unless I drink it, Your will be done." 43 And He came and found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy.

44 So He left them, went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words. 45 Then He came to His disciples and said to them, "Are you still sleeping and resting? Behold, the hour [9] is at hand, and the Son of Man is being [s] betrayed into the hands of sinners. 46 Rise, let us be going. See, My betrayer is at hand."

Jesus' Betrayal and Arrest
Mark 14:43-52; Luke 22:47-53; John 18:1-11

47 And [t] while He was still speaking, behold, Judas, one of the twelve, with a great multitude with swords and clubs, came from the chief priests and elders of the people.

48 Now His betrayer had given them a sign, saying, "Whomever I kiss, He is the One; seize Him." 49 Immediately he went up to Jesus and said, "Greetings, Rabbi!" [u] and kissed Him.

26:30 sung a hymn. Probably Ps. 118. The Talmud designated Pss. 113-118 as the Hallel (praise psalms) of Egypt. These psalms were sung at Passover (see notes on Pss. 113–118).

26:31 stumble. See v. 56. The Gr. word is the same word Jesus used for "offended" in 24:10, describing the falling away and spiritual treachery that would occur in the last days. Here, however, Jesus spoke of something less than full and final apostasy. In a moment of fleshly fear they disowned Christ (v. 34), but He prayed that their faith would not fail (Luke 22:32; John 17:9-11), and that prayer was answered. The verse Jesus quotes here is Zech. 13:7 (see note there).

26:32 I will go before you to Galilee. See note on 28:7.

26:34 before the rooster crows. Mark adds "twice." The rooster would begin crowing about 3:00 a.m. (cf. Mark 13:35). Though Peter and all the disciples insisted that they would never deny Christ (vv. 33,35), they were only a few hours away from fulfilling this prophecy (vv. 74,75; Mark 14:66-72).

26:36 Gethsemane. Lit. "oil press." This was a frequent meeting place for Christ and His disciples (John 18:2), just across the Kidron Valley from Jerusalem (John 18:1). A garden of ancient olive trees is there to this day. Judas' familiarity with Jesus' patterns enabled him to find Jesus there—even though Christ had not previously announced His intentions.

26:38 sorrowful, even to death. His anguish had nothing to do with fear of men or the physical torments of the cross. He was sorrowful because within hours the full cup of divine fury against sin would be His to drink (see note on v. 39).

26:39 this cup. Cf. v. 42. A cup is often the symbol of divine wrath against sin in the OT (Is. 51:17,22; Jer. 25:15-17,27-29; Lam. 4:21,22; Ezek. 23:31-34; Hab. 2:16). The next day Christ would "bear the sins of many" (Heb. 9:28)—and the fullness of divine wrath would fall on Him (Is. 53:10,11; 2 Cor. 5:21). This was the price of the sin He bore, and He paid it in full. His cry of anguish in 27:46 reflects the extreme bitterness of the cup of wrath He was given. not as I will, but as You will. This implies no conflict between the Persons of the Godhead. Rather, it graphically reveals how Christ in His humanity voluntarily surrendered His will to the will of the Father in all things—precisely so that there would be no conflict between the divine will and His desires. See John 4:34; 6:38; 8:29; Phil. 2:8. See note on John 5:30.

26:41 the flesh is weak. The tenderness of this plea is touching. Christ Himself was well acquainted with the feeling of human infirmities (Heb. 4:15)—yet without sin. At that very moment He was locked in a struggle against human passions which, while not sinful in themselves, must be subjugated to the divine will if sin was to be avoided. See note on v. 39.

26:47 Judas, one of the twelve. See v. 14. All 4 evangelists refer to Judas this way (Mark 14:10,43; Luke 22:47; John 6:71). Only once (John 20:24) is another disciple so described. The gospel writers seem to use the expression to underscore the insidiousness of Judas' crime—especially here, in the midst of the betrayal.

26:48,49 See note on Mark 14:44,45.

50 But Jesus said to him, [v]"Friend, why have you come?"

Then they came and laid hands on Jesus and took Him. 51 And suddenly, [w]one of those who were with Jesus stretched out his hand and drew his sword, struck the servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.

52 But Jesus said to him, "Put your sword in its place, [x]for all who take the sword will [1]perish by the sword. 53 Or do you think that I cannot now pray to My Father, and He will provide Me with [y]more than twelve legions of angels? 54 How then could the Scriptures be fulfilled, [z]that it must happen thus?"

55 In that hour Jesus said to the multitudes, "Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs to take Me? I sat daily with you, teaching in the temple, and you did not seize Me. 56 But all this was done that the [a]Scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled."

Then [b]all the disciples forsook Him and fled.

Two False Witnesses
Mark 14:53-65; Luke 22:54, 55, 63-65; John 18:12, 18, 24

57 [c]And those who had laid hold of Jesus led Him away to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled. 58 But [d]Peter followed Him at a distance to the high priest's courtyard. And he went in and sat with the servants to see the end.

59 Now the chief priests, [2]the elders, and all the council sought [e]false testimony against Jesus to put Him to death, 60 [3]but found none. Even though [f]many false witnesses came forward, they found none. But at last [g]two [4]false witnesses came forward 61 and said, "This fellow said, [h]'I am able to destroy the temple of God and to build it in three days.' "

62 [i]And the high priest arose and said to Him, "Do You answer nothing? What is it these men testify against You?" 63 But [j]Jesus kept silent. And the high priest answered and said to Him, [k]"I put You under oath by the living God: Tell us if You are the Christ, the Son of God!"

64 Jesus said to him, "It is as you said. Nevertheless, I say to you, [l]hereafter you will see the Son of Man [m]sitting at the right hand of the Power, and coming on the clouds of heaven."

65 [n]Then the high priest tore his clothes, saying, "He has spoken blasphemy! What further need do we have of witnesses? Look, now you have heard His [o]blasphemy! 66 What do you think?"

26:50 Friend. Not the usual Gr. word for "friend," but another word meaning "comrade."

26:51 one of those. John identifies the swordsman as Peter and the victim as Malchus (John 18:10). Clearly, Peter was not aiming for the ear, but for the head. Only Luke mentions that Jesus healed Malchus' ear (see note on Luke 22:51).

26:52 perish by the sword. Peter's action was vigilantism. No matter how unjust the arrest of Jesus, Peter had no right to take the law into his own hands in order to stop it. Jesus' reply was a restatement of the Gen. 9:6 principle: "Whoever sheds man's blood, by man his blood shall be shed," an affirmation that capital punishment is an appropriate penalty for murder.

26:53 more than twelve legions. A Roman legion was composed of 6,000 soldiers, so this would represent more than 72,000 angels. In 2 Kin. 19:35 a single angel killed more than 185,000 men in a single night, so this many angels would make a formidable army. See note on Luke 2:13.

26:54 Scriptures be fulfilled. God Himself had foreordained the very minutest details of how Jesus would die (Acts 2:23; 4:27,28). Dying was Christ's consummate act of submission to the Father's will (see note on v. 39). Jesus Himself was in absolute control (John 10:17,18). Yet it was not Jesus alone, but everyone around Him—His enemies included—who fulfilled precisely the details of the OT prophecies. These events display His divine sovereignty. See notes on v. 2; 1:22; 5:18; 27:50.

26:57 Caiaphas the high priest. See note on v. 3. From John 18:13, we learn that Christ was taken first to Annas (former High-Priest and father-in-law to Caiaphas). He then was sent bound to Caiaphas' house (John 18:24). The conspiracy was well planned, so that "the scribes and the elders" (the Sanhedrin, see note on v. 59) were already "assembled" at Caiaphas' house and ready to try Jesus. The time was sometime between midnight and the first rooster's crowing (v. 74). Such a hearing was illegal on several counts: criminal trials were not to be held at night (see note on 27:1); and trials in capital cases could only be held at the temple and only in public. See note on 27:2 for a fuller chronology of the events leading up to the crucifixion.

26:59 the council. See note on John 3:1. The great Sanhedrin was the Supreme Court of Israel, consisting of 71 members, presided over by the High-Priest. They met daily in the temple to hold court, except on the Sabbath and other holy days. Technically, they did not have the power to administer capital punishment (John 18:31), but in the case of Stephen, for example, this was no deterrent to his stoning (cf. Acts 6:12-14; 7:58-60). Roman governors evidently sometimes ignored such incidents as a matter of political expediency. In Jesus' case, the men who were trying Him were the same ones who had conspired against Him (cf. John 11:47-50).

26:60 they found none. Even though many were willing to perjure themselves, the Sanhedrin could not find a charge that had enough credibility to indict Jesus. Evidently the "false witnesses" could not agree between themselves.

26:61 destroy the temple of God. See John 2:19-21. The witnesses' account was a distortion of Jesus' meaning. Mark 14:58 gives a fuller account of their testimony.

26:63 under oath. See note on 5:34. Caiaphas was trying to break Jesus' silence (v. 62). The oath was supposed to make Him legally obligated to reply. Jesus' answer (v. 64) implies acceptance of the oath.

26:64 The imagery was taken from Ps. 110:1 and Dan. 7:13.

26:65 the high priest tore his clothes. Normally this was an expression of deep grief (2 Kin. 19:1; Job 1:20; Jer. 36:24). The High-Priest was forbidden to tear his clothes (Lev. 10:6; 21:10)—but the Talmud

They answered and said, [p]"He is deserving of death."

67 [q]Then they spat in His face and beat Him; and [r]others struck Him with [5]the palms of their hands, 68 saying, [s]"Prophesy to us, Christ! Who is the one who struck You?"

Three Denials of Peter
Mark 14:66-72; Luke 22:55-62; John 18:15-18, 25-27

69 [t]Now Peter sat outside in the courtyard. And a servant girl came to him, saying, "You also were with Jesus of Galilee."

70 But he denied it before them all, saying, "I do not know what you are saying."

71 And when he had gone out to the gateway, another girl saw him and said to those who were there, "This fellow also was with Jesus of Nazareth."

72 But again he denied with an oath, "I do not know the Man!"

73 And a little later those who stood by came up and said to Peter, "Surely you also are one of them, for your [u]speech betrays you."

74 Then [v]he began to [6]curse and [7]swear, saying, "I do not know the Man!"

Immediately a rooster crowed. 75 And Peter remembered the word of Jesus who had said to him, [w]"Before the rooster crows, you will deny Me three times." So he went out and wept bitterly.

Jesus Is Delivered to Pilate
Mark 15:1; Luke 22:66; 23:1; John 18:28

27 When morning came, [a]all the chief priests and elders of the people plotted against Jesus to put Him to death. 2 And when they had bound Him, they led Him away and [b]delivered Him to [1]Pontius Pilate the governor.

Judas Repents—Acts 1:18, 19

3 [c]Then Judas, His betrayer, seeing that He had been condemned, was remorseful and brought back the thirty [d]pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders, 4 saying, "I have sinned by betraying innocent blood."

And they said, "What is that to us? You see to it!"

5 Then he threw down the pieces of silver in the temple and [e]departed, and went and hanged himself.

6 But the chief priests took the silver pieces and said, "It is not lawful to put them into the treasury, because they are the price of blood." 7 And they consulted together and bought with them the potter's field, to bury strangers in. 8 Therefore that field has been called [f]the Field of Blood to this day.

9 Then was fulfilled what was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying, [g]"And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the value of Him who was priced, whom they of the children of Israel priced, 10 and [h]gave them for the potter's field, as the LORD directed me."

made an exception for High-Priests who witnessed a blasphemy. But Caiaphas' supposed grief was as phony as the charge of blasphemy against Jesus; he was gloating over having found something to base his charges on (v. 67).

26:74 he began to curse and swear. I.e., calling on God as His witness, he declared, "I do not know the Man!" and pronounced a curse of death on himself at God's hand if his words were untrue. All 4 gospels record Peter's betrayal. Cf. vv. 31-35.

26:75 And Peter remembered. Luke 22:61 records that Jesus made eye contact with Peter at this very moment, which must have magnified Peter's already unbearable sense of shame. "He went out"—evidently departing from Caiaphas' house—"and wept bitterly." The true Peter is seen not in his denial but in his repentance. This account reminds us of not only our own weakness, but also the richness of divine grace (see also John 21:15-19).

27:1 When morning came. The Sanhedrin waited until daybreak to render their official verdict (cf. 26:66), possibly a token nod to the rule against criminal trials at night (see note on 26:57).

27:2 delivered Him...Pilate. Jesus had two trials, one Jewish and religious, the other Roman and secular. Rome reserved the right of execution in capital cases (see note on 26:59), so Jesus had to be handed over to the Roman authorities for execution of the death sentence. Pilate's headquarters were in Caesarea, on the Mediterranean coast, but he was in Jerusalem for the Passover celebrations, so he oversaw the trial (see note on Mark 15:1). Christ was brought before Pilate (vv. 2-14), then was sent to Herod for yet another hearing (Luke 23:6-12), then returned to Pilate for the final hearing and pronouncing of sentence (vv. 15-26).

27:3 remorseful. Judas felt the sting of his own guilt, but this was not genuine repentance. There is a godly sorrow that leads to repentance, but Judas' remorse was of a different kind, as demonstrated by his suicide (v. 5). Cf. 2 Cor. 7:10.

27:5 hanged himself. See note on Acts 1:18.

27:9 spoken by Jeremiah. Actually the statement paraphrases Zech. 11:12,13. But the Hebrew canon was divided into 3 sections, Law, Writings, and Prophets (cf. Luke 24:44). Jeremiah came first in the order of prophetic books, so the Prophets were sometimes collectively referred to by his name.

27:11 It is as you say. These words were probably spoken immediately after the dialogue John 18:34-36 reports.

hear how many things they testify against You?" 14 But He answered him not one word, so that the governor marveled greatly.

Barabbas Is Freed
Mark 15:6-14; Luke 23:17-23; John 18:39, 40

15 [m]Now at the feast the governor was accustomed to releasing to the multitude one prisoner whom they wished. 16 And at that time they had a notorious prisoner called [2]Barabbas. 17 Therefore, when they had gathered together, Pilate said to them, "Whom do you want me to release to you? Barabbas, or Jesus who is called Christ?" 18 For he knew that they had handed Him over because of [n]envy.

19 While he was sitting on the judgment seat, his wife sent to him, saying, "Have nothing to do with that just Man, for I have suffered many things today in a dream because of Him."

20 [o]But the chief priests and elders persuaded the multitudes that they should ask for Barabbas and destroy Jesus. 21 The governor answered and said to them, "Which of the two do you want me to release to you?"

They said, [p]"Barabbas!"

22 Pilate said to them, "What then shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?"

They all said to him, "Let Him be crucified!"

23 Then the governor said, [q]"Why, what evil has He done?"

But they cried out all the more, saying, "Let Him be crucified!"

24 When Pilate saw that he could not prevail at all, but rather that a [3]tumult was rising, he [r]took water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, "I am innocent of the blood of this [4]just Person. You see to it."

25 And all the people answered and said, [s]"His blood be on us and on our children."

Jesus Is Scourged
Mark 15:15-17; Luke 23:24, 25; John 19:16

26 Then he released Barabbas to them; and when [t]he had [5]scourged Jesus, he delivered Him to be crucified.

27 [u]Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the [6]Praetorium and gathered the whole [7]garrison around Him. 28 And they [v]stripped Him and [w]put a scarlet robe on Him.

And they bowed the knee before Him and mocked Him, saying, "Hail, King of the Jews!" 30 Then [y]they spat on Him, and took the reed and struck Him on the head. 31 And when they had mocked Him, they took the robe off Him, put His own clothes on Him, [z]and led Him away to be crucified.

27:25 His blood be on us. The Jews accepted the blame for the execution of Jesus and did not hold the Romans responsible. Cf. 21:38,39.

27:26 scourged. The whip used for scourging consisted of several strands of leather attached to a wooden handle. Each strand had a bit of metal or bone attached to the end. The victim was bound to a post by the wrists, high over his head, so that the flesh of the back would be taut. An expert at wielding the scourge could literally tear the flesh from the back, lacerating muscles, and sometimes even exposing the kidneys or other internal organs. Scourging alone was fatal in some cases.

27:27 Praetorium. Pilate's residence in Jerusalem. It was probably located in the Antonia Fortress, adjacent to the NW corner of the temple. "The soldiers of the governor" were part of a "garrison"—about 600 soldiers—assigned to serve the governor (Pilate) during his stay in Jerusalem.

27:28 scarlet robe. Mark 15:17 and John 19:2 say "purple," suggesting that the robe may have been something between royal purple, and "scarlet," the closest thing they could find to the traditional garb of royalty. The word for "robe" refers to a military cloak undoubtedly belonging to one of the soldiers.

27:29 a reed in His right hand. To imitate a scepter they purposely chose something flimsy-looking.

27:30 they spat on Him. See Is. 50:6. struck Him on the head. A reed long enough to make a mock scepter would be firm enough to be extremely painful, about like a broom handle. John 19:3 says they hit him with their fists as well.

27:31 to be crucified. Crucifixion was a form of punishment that had been passed down to the Romans from the Persians, Phoenicians, and Carthaginians. Roman crucifixion was a lingering doom—by design. Roman executioners had perfected the art of slow torture while keeping the victim alive. Some victims even lingered until they were eaten alive by birds of prey or wild beasts. Most hung on the cross for days before dying of exhaustion, dehydration, traumatic fever, or—most likely—suffocation. When the legs would no longer support the weight of the body, the diaphragm was constricted in a way that made breathing impossible. That is why breaking the legs would hasten death (John 19:31-33), but this was unnecessary in Jesus' case. The hands were usually nailed through the wrists, and the feet through the instep or the Achilles tendon (sometimes using one nail for both feet). None of these wounds would be fatal, but their pain would become unbearable as the hours dragged on. The most notable feature of crucifixion was the stigma of disgrace that was attached to it (Gal. 3:13; 5:11; Heb. 12:2). One indignity was the humiliation of carrying one's own cross, which might weigh as much as 200 pounds. Normally a quaternion, 4 soldiers, would escort the prisoner through the crowds to the place of crucifixion. A placard bearing the indictment would be hung around the person's neck.

27:32 Cyrene. A city in N Africa. Evidently the scourging had so weakened Jesus that He was unable to carry the cross. This is another touching picture of His humanity, beset with all human weaknesses except sin (Heb 4:15).

compelled to bear His cross. 33 [c]And when they had come to a place called Golgotha, that is to say, Place of a Skull, 34 [d]they gave Him [g]sour wine mingled with gall to drink. But when He had tasted it, He would not drink.

Jesus Is Crucified
Mark 15:23-32; Luke 23:33-43; John 19:18-24

35 [e]Then they crucified Him, and divided His garments, casting lots, [1]that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet:

> [f]"They divided My garments among them,
> And for My clothing they cast lots."

36 [g]Sitting down, they kept watch over Him there. 37 And they [h]put up over His head the accusation written against Him:

THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

38 [i]Then two robbers were crucified with Him, one on the right and another on the left.

39 And [j]those who passed by blasphemed Him, wagging their heads 40 and saying, [k]"You who destroy the temple and build it in three days, save Yourself! [l]If You are the Son of God, come down from the cross."

41 Likewise the chief priests also, mocking with the [2]scribes and elders, said, 42 "He [m]saved others; Himself He cannot save. [3]If He is the King of Israel, let Him now come down from the cross, and we will believe [4]Him. 43 [n]He trusted in God; let Him deliver Him now if He will have Him; for He said, 'I am the Son of God.' "

44 [o]Even the robbers who were crucified with Him reviled Him with the same thing.

Jesus Dies
Mark 15:33-37; Luke 2:44-46; John 19:28-30

45 [p]Now from the sixth hour until the ninth hour there was darkness over all the land. 46 And about the ninth hour [q]Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, "Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani?" that is, [r]"My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?"

47 Some of those who stood there, when they heard that, said, "This Man is calling for Elijah!" 48 Immediately one of them ran and took a sponge, [s]filled it with sour wine and put it on a reed, and offered it to Him to drink.

49 The rest said, "Let Him alone; let us see if Elijah will come to save Him."

50 And Jesus [t]cried out again with a loud voice, and [u]yielded up His spirit.

27:33 Place of a Skull. "Golgotha" may have been a skull-shaped hill, or it may have been so named because as a place of crucifixion, it accumulated skulls. None of the gospels mention a hill. Luke 23:33 uses the name "Calvary," from the Lat., calvaria, "skull."

27:34 wine mingled with gall. "Gall" simply refers to something bitter. Mark 15:23 identifies it as myrrh, a narcotic. The Jews had a custom, based on Prov. 31:6, of administering a pain-deadening medication mixed with wine to victims of crucifixion, in order to deaden the pain. Tasting what it was, Christ, though thirsty, "would not drink," lest it dull His senses before He completed His work. The lessening of physical pain would probably not have diminished the efficacy of His atoning work (see notes on 26:38,39). But He needed His full mental faculties for the hours yet to come. It was necessary for Him to be awake and fully conscious, for example, to minister to the dying thief (Luke 23:43).

27:35 divided His garments. The garments of the victim were the customary spoils of the executioners. John 19:23,24 gives a fuller account. This action was foretold in Ps. 22:18.

27:37 the accusation. For a reconciliation of the differences between the various accounts of this inscription, see note on Luke 23:38 (cf. Mark 15:26). The fact that the placard was placed "over His head" suggests that this cross was in the familiar shape with an upright protruding above the transom, and not the T-shaped cross that was also sometimes used.

27:38 robbers. This word denotes a rebel and brigand who plunders as he steals. Mere thieves were not usually crucified. These were probably cohorts of Barabbas.

27:40 destroy the temple and build it in three days. See 26:61. They had missed His point. "He was speaking of the temple of His body" (John 2:21). He would not "come down from the cross," but it was not because He was powerless to do so (John 10:18). The proof that He was the Son of God came "in three days" (see note on 12:40), when He returned with "the temple" (i.e., His body) rebuilt.

27:42 we will believe Him. See notes on 12:38; 16:1.

27:45 from the sixth hour until the ninth hour. From noon until 3:00 p.m. The crucifixion began at 9:00 a.m. (see notes on Mark 15:25; Luke 23:44).

27:46 Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani. "Eli" is Heb.; the rest Aram. (Mark 15:34 gives the entire wail in Aramaic.) This cry is a fulfillment of Psalm 22:1, one of many striking parallels between that psalm and the specific events of the crucifixion (see notes on Ps. 22). Christ at that moment was experiencing the abandonment and despair that resulted from the outpouring of divine wrath on Him as sin-bearer (see note on 26:39).

27:50 yielded up His spirit. A voluntary act. See John 10:18. See note on 26:54.

27:51 the veil of the temple. I.e., the curtain that blocked the entrance to the Most Holy Place (Ex. 26:33; Heb. 9:3). The tearing of the veil signified that the way into God's presence was now open to all through a new and living way (Heb. 10:19-22). The fact that it tore "from top to bottom" showed that no man had split the veil. God did it.

27:52 bodies of the saints...were raised. Matthew alone mentions this miracle. Nothing more is said about these people, which were raised; 53 and coming out of the graves after His resurrection, they went into the holy city and appeared to many.

54 [w]So when the centurion and those with him, who were guarding Jesus, saw the earthquake and the things that had happened, they feared greatly, saying, [x]"Truly this was the Son of God!"

55 And many women [y]who followed Jesus from Galilee, ministering to Him, were there looking on from afar, 56 [z]among whom were Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James and [5]Joses, and the mother of Zebedee's sons.

Jesus Is Buried
Mark 15:42-47; Luke 23:50-55; John 19:38-42

57 Now [a]when evening had come, there came a rich man from Arimathea, named Joseph, who himself had also become a disciple of Jesus. 58 This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be given to him. 59 When Joseph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, 60 and [b]laid it in his new tomb which he had hewn out of the rock; and he rolled a large stone against the door of the tomb, and departed. 61 And Mary Magdalene was there, and the other Mary, sitting [6]opposite the tomb.

62 On the next day, which followed the Day of Preparation, the chief priests and Pharisees gathered together to Pilate, 63 saying, "Sir, we remember, while He was still alive, how that deceiver said, [c]'After three days I will rise.' 64 Therefore command that the tomb be made secure until the third day, lest His disciples come [7]by night and steal Him away, and say to the people, 'He has risen from the dead.' So the last deception will be worse than the first."

65 Pilate said to them, "You have a guard; go your way, make it as secure as you know how." 66 So they went and made the tomb secure, [d]sealing the stone and setting the guard.

The Empty Tomb

28 Now [a]after the Sabbath, as the first day of the week began to dawn, Mary Magdalene [b]and the other Mary came to see the tomb. 2 And behold, there was a great earthquake; for [c]an angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone [1]from the door, and sat on it. 3 [d]His countenance was like lightning, and his clothing as white as snow. 4 And the guards shook for fear of him, and became like [e]dead men.

5 But the angel answered and said to the women, "Do not be afraid, for I know that you seek Jesus who was crucified. 6 He is not here; for He is risen, [f]as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. 7 And go quickly and tell His disciples that He is risen from the dead, and indeed [g]He is going before you into Galilee; there you will see Him. would be unlikely if they remained on earth for long. Evidently, these people were given glorified bodies; they appeared "to many" (v. 53), enough to establish the reality of the miracle; and then they no doubt ascended to glory—a kind of foretaste of 1 Thess. 4:16.

27:54 the centurion. See note on 8:5. those with him. These were probably men under his charge. Mark 15:39 says the centurion was the one who uttered the words of confession, but he evidently spoke for his men as well. Their "fear" speaks of an awareness of their sin, and the word "truly" suggests a certainty and conviction that bespeaks genuine faith. These men represent an answer to Jesus' prayer in Luke 23:34. Their response contrasts sharply with the mocking taunts of vv. 39-44.

27:56 Mary Magdalene. She had been delivered from 7 demons (Luke 8:2); the other "Mary" ("wife of Clopas," John 19:25—a variant of Alphaeus) was the mother of the apostle known as "James the Less" (Mark 15:40; see note on 10:2). the mother of Zebedee's sons. Salome (Mark 15:40), mother of James and John. From John 19:26, we learn that Mary, the mother of Jesus, was also present at the cross—possibly standing apart from these 3, who were "looking on from afar" (v. 55), as if they could not bear to watch His sufferings, but neither could they bear to leave Him.

27:57 Joseph. Mark 15:43 and Luke 23:50,51 identify him as a member of the Sanhedrin (see note on 26:59), though Luke says "he had not consented to their decision and deed" in condemning Christ. Joseph and Nicodemus (John 19:39), both being prominent Jewish leaders, buried Christ in Joseph's own "new tomb" (v. 60), thus fulfilling exactly the prophecy of Is. 53:9. Arimathea. A town about 20 mi. NW of Jerusalem.

27:62 the next day. The Sabbath. the Day of Preparation. This was on Friday.

28:1 as the first day of the week began to dawn. Sabbath officially ended with sundown on Saturday. At that time the women could purchase and prepare spices (Luke 24:1). The event described here occurred the next morning, at dawn on Sunday, the first day of the week. other Mary. The mother of James the Less (see note on 27:56).

28:2 a great earthquake. The second earthquake associated with Christ's death (27:51). This one may have been confined to the immediate area around the grave, when "an angel" supernaturally "rolled back the stone from the door"—not to let Jesus out, for if He could rise from the dead, He would need no help escaping an earthly tomb, but to let the women and the apostles in (v. 6).

28:4 became like dead men. This suggests that they were not merely paralyzed with fear, but completely unconscious, totally traumatized by what they had seen. The word translated "shook" has the same root as the word for "earthquake" in v. 2. The sudden appearance of this angel, at the same time the women arrived, was their first clue that anything extraordinary was happening.

28:6 Come, see the place where the Lord lay. See note on Luke 24:4 for the order of these events as gleaned from all 4 gospels.

28:7 there you will see Him. See vv. 10,16; 26:32; John 21:1-14. This does not mean they would not see Him until then. He was seen

8 So they went out quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, and ran to bring His disciples word.

The Appearance of Jesus to the Women

9 And [2]as they went to tell His disciples, behold, [h]Jesus met them, saying, "Rejoice!" So they came and held Him by the feet and worshiped Him. 10 Then Jesus said to them, "Do not be afraid. Go and tell [i]My brethren to go to Galilee, and there they will see Me."

The Bribery of the Soldiers

11 Now while they were going, behold, some of the guard came into the city and reported to the chief priests all the things that had happened. 12 When they had assembled with the elders and consulted together, they gave a large sum of money to the soldiers, 13 saying, "Tell them, 'His disciples came at night and stole Him away while we slept.' 14 And if this comes to the governor's ears, we will appease him and make you secure." 15 So they took the money and did as they were instructed; and this saying is commonly reported among the Jews until this day.

The Appearance of Jesus to the Disciples

16 Then the eleven disciples went away into Galilee, to the mountain [j]which Jesus had appointed for them. 17 When they saw Him, they worshiped Him; but some [k]doubted.

The Great Commission

18 And Jesus came and spoke to them, saying, [l]"All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth. 19 [m]Go [3]therefore and [n]make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, 20 [o]teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you; and lo, I am [p]with you always, even to the end of the age." [4]Amen.

by the apostles several times before they saw Him in Galilee (Luke 24:15,34,36; John 20:19,26). But His supreme post-resurrection appearance was in Galilee, where "He was seen by over five hundred brethren at once" (1 Cor. 15:6). See note on v. 16.

28:9 Jesus met them. For a summary of Christ's post-resurrection appearances, see note on Luke 24:34.

28:10 My brethren. I.e., the disciples.

28:11 reported to the chief priests. The Jewish leaders' determination to cover up what had occurred reveals the obstinacy of unbelief in the face of evidence (Luke 16:31).

28:12 a large sum of money. Lit. "silver" (cf. 26:15). The bribery was necessary because the soldiers' story, if true, could cost them their lives—since they were charged with guard duty under Pilate's personal orders (27:65). The Jewish leaders also promised to cover for the soldiers if the false story they spread leaked back to Pilate (v. 14).

28:13 while we slept. The story was obviously bogus, and not a very good cover-up. They could not possibly know what had happened while they were asleep.

28:16 the eleven disciples. This does not mean that only the 11 were present. The fact that some there "doubted" (v. 17) strongly suggests that more than the 11 were present. It is likely that Christ arranged this meeting in Galilee because that was where most of His followers were. This seems the most likely location for the massive gathering of disciples Paul describes in 1 Cor. 15:6 (see note on v. 7).

28:17 but some doubted. That simple phrase is one of countless testimonies to the integrity of Scripture. The transparent honesty of a statement like this shows that Matthew was not attempting to exclude or cover up facts that might lessen the perfection of such a glorious moment.

28:18 All authority. See 11:27; John 3:35. Absolute sovereign authority—lordship over all—is handed to Christ, "in heaven and on earth." This is clear proof of His deity. The time of His humiliation was at an end, and God had exalted Him above all (Phil. 2:9-11).

28:19 therefore. I.e., on the basis of His authority, the disciples were sent to "make disciples of all nations." The sweeping scope of their commission is consummate with His unlimited authority. in the name of the Father...Son and...Holy Spirit. The formula is a strong affirmation of trinitarianism.

28:20 teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you. The kind of evangelism called for in this commission does not end with the conversion of the unbeliever. I am with you. There's a touching echo of the beginning of Matthew's gospel here. Immanuel (1:23) "which is translated, 'God with us'"—remains "with" us "even to the end of the age"—i.e., until He returns bodily to judge the world and establish His earthly kingdom.

The Gospel According to MARK

Title

Mark, for whom this gospel is named, was a close companion of the Apostle Peter and a recurring character in the book of Acts, where he is known as "John whose surname was Mark" (Acts 12:12,25; 15:37,39). It was to John Mark's mother's home in Jerusalem that Peter went when released from prison (Acts 12:12).

John Mark was a cousin of Barnabas (Col. 4:10), who accompanied Paul and Barnabas on Paul's first missionary journey (Acts 12:25; 13:5). But he deserted them along the way in Perga and returned to Jerusalem (Acts 13:13). When Barnabas wanted Paul to take John Mark on the second missionary journey, Paul refused. The friction which resulted between Paul and Barnabas led to their separation (Acts 15:38-40).

But John Mark's earlier vacillation evidently gave way to great strength and maturity, and in time he proved himself even to the Apostle Paul. When Paul wrote the Colossians, he instructed them that if John Mark came, they were to welcome him (Col. 4:10). Paul even listed Mark as a fellow worker (Philem. 24). Later, Paul told Timothy to "Get Mark and bring him with you, for he is useful to me for ministry" (2 Tim. 4:11).

John Mark's restoration to useful ministry may have been, in part, due to the ministry of Peter. Peter's close relationship with Mark is evident from his description of him as "Mark my son" (1 Pet. 5:13). Peter, of course, was no stranger to failure himself, and his influence on the younger man was no doubt instrumental in helping him out of the instability of his youth and into the strength and maturity he would need for the work to which God had called him.

Author and Date

Unlike the epistles, the gospels do not name their authors. The early church fathers, however, unanimously affirm that Mark wrote this second gospel. Papias, bishop of Hieropolis, writing about A.D. 140, noted:

> And the presbyter [the Apostle John] said this: Mark having become the interpreter of Peter, wrote down accurately whatsoever he remembered. It was not, however, in exact order that he related the sayings or deeds of Christ. For he neither heard the Lord nor accompanied Him. But afterwards, as I said, he accompanied Peter, who accommodated his instructions to the necessities [of his hearers], but with no intention of giving a regular narrative of the Lord's sayings. Wherefore Mark made no mistake in thus writing some things as he remembered them. For of one thing he took especial care, not to omit anything he had heard, and not to put anything fictitious into the statements. [From the Exposition of the Oracles of the Lord (6)]

Justin Martyr, writing about A.D. 150, referred to the Gospel of Mark as "the memoirs of Peter," and suggested that Mark committed his gospel to writing while in Italy. This agrees with the uniform voice of early tradition, which regarded this gospel as having been written in Rome, for the benefit of Roman Christians. Irenaeus, writing about A.D. 185, called Mark "the disciple and interpreter of Peter," and recorded that the second gospel consisted of what Peter preached about Christ. The testimony of the church fathers differs as to whether this gospel was written before or after Peter's death (ca. A.D. 67–68).

Evangelical scholars have suggested dates for the writing of Mark's gospel ranging from A.D. 50 to 70. A date before the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple in A.D. 70 is required by the comment of Jesus in 13:2. Luke's gospel was clearly written before Acts (Acts 1:1-3). The date of the writing of Acts can probably be fixed at about A.D. 63, because that is shortly after the narrative ends (see Introduction to Acts: Author and Date). It is therefore likely, though not certain, that Mark was written at an early date, probably sometime in the 50s.

Background and Setting

Whereas Matthew was written to a Jewish audience, Mark seems to have targeted Roman believers, particularly Gentiles. When employing Aramaic terms, Mark translated them for his readers (3:17; 5:41;

7:11,34; 10:46; 14:36; 15:22,34). On the other hand, in some places he used Latin expressions instead of their Greek equivalents (5:9; 6:27; 12:15,42; 15:16,39). He also reckoned time according to the Roman system (6:48; 13:35) and carefully explained Jewish customs (7:3,4; 14:12; 15:42). Mark omitted Jewish elements, such as the genealogies found in Matthew and Luke. This gospel also makes fewer references to the OT, and includes less material that would be of particular interest to Jewish readers—such as that which is critical of the Pharisees and Sadducees (Sadducees are mentioned only once, in 12:18). When mentioning Simon the Cyrene (15:21), Mark identifies him as the father of Rufus, a prominent member of the church at Rome (Rom. 16:13). All of this supports the traditional view that Mark was written for a Gentile audience initially at Rome.

Historical and Theological Themes

Mark presents Jesus as the suffering Servant of the Lord (10:45). His focus is on the deeds of Jesus more than His teaching, particularly emphasizing service and sacrifice. Mark omits the lengthy discourses found in the other gospels, often relating only brief excerpts to give the gist of Jesus' teaching. Mark also omits any account of Jesus' ancestry and birth, beginning where Jesus' public ministry began, with His baptism by John in the wilderness.

Mark demonstrated the humanity of Christ more clearly than any of the other evangelists, emphasizing Christ's human emotions (1:41; 3:5; 6:34; 8:12; 9:36;), His human limitations (4:38; 11:12; 13:32), and other small details that highlight the human side of the Son of God (e.g., 7:33,34; 8:12; 9:36; 10:13-16).

Interpretive Challenges

Three significant questions confront the interpreter of Mark: 1) What is the relationship of Mark to Luke and Matthew? (see below, "The Synoptic Problem"); 2) How should one interpret the eschatological passages? (see notes on chaps. 4,13); and 3) Were the last 12 verses of chap. 16 originally part of Mark's gospel? (see note on 16:9-20).

The Synoptic Problem

Even a cursory reading of Matthew, Mark, and Luke reveals both striking similarities (cf. 2:3-12; Matt. 9:2-8; Luke 5:18-26) and significant differences, as each views the life, ministry, and teaching of Jesus. The question of how to explain those similarities and differences is known as the "Synoptic Problem" (syn means "together"; optic means "seeing").

The modern solution—even among evangelicals—has been to assume that some form of literary dependence exists between the synoptic gospels. The most commonly accepted theory to explain such an alleged literary dependence is known as the "Two-Source" theory. According to that hypothesis, Mark was the first gospel written, and Matthew and Luke then used Mark as a source in writing their gospels. Proponents of this view imagine a non-existent, second source, labeled Q (from the German word Quelle, "source"), and argue that this allegedly is the source of the material in Matthew and Luke that does not appear in Mark. They advance several lines of evidence to support their scenario.

First, most of Mark is paralleled in Matthew and Luke. Since it is much shorter than Matthew and Luke, the latter must be expansions of Mark. Second, the 3 gospels follow the same general chronological outline, but when either Matthew or Luke departs from Mark's chronology, the other agrees with Mark. Put another way, Matthew and Luke do not both depart from Mark's chronology in the same places. That, it is argued, shows that Matthew and Luke used Mark for their historical framework. Third, in passages common to all 3 gospels, Matthew's and Luke's wording seldom agrees when it differs from Mark's. Proponents of the "Two-Source" theory see that as confirmation that Matthew and Luke used Mark's gospel as a source.

But those arguments do not prove that Matthew and Luke used Mark's gospel as a source. In fact, the weight of evidence is strongly against such a theory:

1) The nearly unanimous testimony of the church until the nineteenth century was that Matthew was the first gospel written. Such an impressive body of evidence cannot be ignored.

2) Why would Matthew, an apostle and eyewitness to the events of Christ's life, depend on Mark (who was not an eyewitness)—even for the account of his own conversion?

3) A significant statistical analysis of the synoptic gospels has revealed that the parallels between them are far less extensive and the differences more significant than is commonly acknowledged. The differences, in particular, argue against literary dependence between the gospel writers.

4) Since the gospels record actual historical events, it would be surprising if they did not follow the same general historical sequence. For example, the fact that 3 books on American history all had the Revolutionary War, the Civil War, World War I, World War II, the Vietnam War, and the Gulf War in the same chronological order would not prove that the authors had read each others' books. General agreement in content does not prove literary dependency.

5) The passages in which Matthew and Luke agree against Mark (see argument 3 in favor of the "Two-Source" theory) amount to about one-sixth of Matthew and one-sixth of Luke. If they used Mark's gospel as a source, there is no satisfactory explanation for why Matthew and Luke would so often both change Mark's wording in the same way.

6) The "Two-Source" theory cannot account for the important section in Mark's gospel (6:45–8:26) which Luke omits. That omission suggests Luke had not seen Mark's gospel when he wrote.

7) There is no historical or manuscript evidence that the Q document ever existed; it is purely a fabrication of modern skepticism and a way to possibly deny the verbal inspiration of the gospels.

8) Any theory of literary dependence between the gospel writers overlooks the significance of their personal contacts with each other. Mark and Luke were both companions of Paul (cf. Philem. 24); the early church (including Matthew) met for a time in the home of Mark's mother (Acts 12:12); and Luke could easily have met Matthew during Paul's two-year imprisonment at Caesarea (see note on Acts 27:1). Such contacts make theories of mutual literary dependence unnecessary.

The simplest solution to the Synoptic Problem is that no such problem exists! Because critics cannot prove literary dependence between the gospel writers, there is no need to explain it. The traditional view that the gospel writers were inspired by God and wrote independently of each other—except that all 3 were moved by the same Holy Spirit (2 Pet. 1:20)—remains the only plausible view.

As the reader compares the various viewpoints in the gospels, it becomes clear how well they harmonize and lead to a more complete picture of the whole event or message. The accounts are not contradictory, but complementary, revealing a fuller understanding when brought together. Apparent difficulties are dealt with in the notes of each gospel.

CHAPTER 1

1 The [a]beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, [b]the Son of God. 2 As it is written in [1]the Prophets:

> [c]"Behold, I send My messenger
> before Your face,
> Who will prepare Your way
> before You."
> 3 "The[d] voice of one crying in the > wilderness:
> 'Prepare the way of the LORD*;*
> Make His paths straight.'"

4 [e]John came baptizing in the wilderness and preaching a baptism of repentance [2]for the remission of sins. 5 [f]Then all the land of Judea, and those from Jerusalem, went out to him and were all baptized by him in the Jordan River, confessing their sins.

6 Now John was [g]clothed with camel's hair and with a leather belt around his waist, and he ate locusts and wild honey. 7 And he preached, saying, [h]"There comes One after me who is mightier than I, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to stoop down and loose. 8 [i]I indeed baptized you with water, but He will baptize you [j]with the Holy Spirit."

1:1 The beginning...the Son of God. This is best viewed as Mark's title for his gospel. The historical record of the gospel message began with John the Baptist (cf. Matt. 11:12; Luke 16:16; Acts 1:22; 10:37; 13:24). gospel. The good news about the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ, of which the 4 gospels are written records (see Introduction to the Gospels). Jesus Christ. "Jesus" is the Gr. form of the Heb. name Joshua ("the LORD is salvation"); "Christ" ("anointed one") is the Gr. equivalent of the Heb. word Messiah. "Jesus" is the Lord's human name (cf. Matt. 1:21; Luke 1:31); "Christ" signifies His office as ruler of God's coming kingdom (Dan. 9:25,26). Son of God. An affirmation of Jesus' deity, stressing His unique relationship to the Father (cf. 3:11; 5:7; 9:7; 13:32; 15:39; see note on John 1:34).

1:2 it is written. A phrase commonly used in the NT to introduce OT quotes (cf. 7:6; 9:13; 14:21,27; Matt. 2:5; 4:4,6,7; Luke 2:23; 3:4; John 6:45; 12:14; Acts 1:20; 7:42; Rom. 3:4; 8:36; 1 Cor. 1:31; 9:9; 2 Cor. 8:14; 9:9; Gal. 3:10; 4:22; Heb. 10:7; 1 Pet. 1:16). in the Prophets. The better Gr. manuscripts read "Isaiah the prophet." Mark's quote is actually from two OT passages (Mal. 3:1; Is. 40:3), which probably explains the reading "the Prophets" found in some manuscripts. The gospels all introduce John the Baptist's ministry by quoting Is. 40:3 (cf. Matt. 3:3; Luke 3:4; John 1:23). My messenger. John was the divinely-promised messenger, sent to prepare the way for the Messiah. In ancient times, a king's envoys would travel ahead of him, making sure the roads were safe and fit for him to travel on, as well as announcing his arrival.

1:4 John. A common Jewish name in NT times, it is the Gr. equivalent of the Heb. name "Johanan" (cf. 2 Kin. 25:23; 1 Chr. 3:15; Jer. 40:8), meaning "the LORD is gracious." John's name was given by the angel Gabriel to his father Zacharias, during his time of priestly service in the temple (Luke 1:13). His mother, Elizabeth, also a descendant of Aaron (Luke 1:5), was a relative of Mary the mother of Jesus (Luke 1:36). As the last OT prophet and the divinely ordained forerunner of the Messiah (see note on v. 2), John was the culmination of OT history and prophecy (Luke 16:16) as well as the beginning of the historical record of the gospel of Jesus Christ. Not surprisingly, Jesus designated John as the greatest man who had lived until his time (Matt. 11:11). baptizing. Being the distinctive mark of John's ministry, his baptism differed from the ritual Jewish washings in that it was a one-time act. The Jews performed a similar one-time washing of Gentile proselytes, symbolizing their embracing of the true faith. That Jews would participate in such a rite was a startling admission that they, although members of God's covenant people, needed to come to God through repentance and faith just like Gentiles. in the wilderness. The desolate, arid region between Jerusalem and the Dead Sea (see note on Matt. 3:1). baptism of repentance. A baptism resulting from true repentance. John's ministry was to call Israel to repentance in preparation for the coming of Messiah. Baptism did not produce repentance, but was its result (cf. Matt. 3:7,8). Far more than a mere change of mind or remorse, repentance involves a turning from sin to God (cf. 1 Thess. 1:9), which results in righteous living. Genuine repentance is a work of God in the human heart (Acts 11:18). For a discussion of the nature of repentance, see notes on 2 Cor. 7:9-12. for the remission of sins. John's rite of baptism did not produce forgiveness of sin (see notes on Acts 2:38; 22:16); it was only the outward confession and illustration of the true repentance that results in forgiveness (cf. Luke 24:47; Acts 3:19; 5:31; 2 Cor. 7:10).

1:5 all the land of Judea, and those from Jerusalem. After centuries without a prophetic voice in Israel (Malachi had prophesied more than 400 years earlier), John's ministry generated an intense amount of interest. Judea. The southernmost division of Palestine (Samaria and Galilee being the others) in Jesus' day. It extended from about Bethel in the N to Beersheba in the S, and from the Mediterranean Sea in the W to the Dead Sea and Jordan River in the E. Included within Judea was the city of Jerusalem. Jordan River. Palestine's major river, flowing through the Jordan Rift Valley from Lake Hula (drained in modern times), N of the Sea of Galilee, S to the Dead Sea. According to tradition, John began his baptizing ministry at the fords near Jericho. confessing. To confess one's sins, as they were being baptized, is to agree with God about them. John baptized no one who did not confess and repent of his sins.

1:6 camel's hair...leather belt. The traditional clothes of a wilderness dweller which were sturdy, but neither fashionable nor comfortable. John's clothing would have reminded his audience of Elijah (cf. 2 Kin. 1:8), whom they expected to come before Messiah (Mal. 4:5; cf. Matt. 17:10-13). locusts and wild honey. The OT dietary regulations permitted the eating of "locusts" (Lev. 11:21,22). "Wild honey" could often be found in the wilderness (Deut. 32:13; 1 Sam. 14:25-27). John's austere diet was in keeping with his status as a lifelong Nazirite (cf. Luke 1:15; for Nazirite, see notes on Num. 6:2-13)

1:7 preached. Better translated "proclaimed," John was Jesus' herald, sent to announce His coming (see note on v. 4). whose sandal strap I am not worthy to stoop down and loose. The most menial task a slave could perform. John vividly expressed his humility.

1:8 baptize you with the Holy Spirit. This takes place when a person comes to faith in Christ (see notes on Acts 1:5; 8:16,17; 1 Cor. 12:13).

1:9 in those days. At some unspecified time during John's baptizing ministry at the Jordan. Nazareth. An obscure village (not mentioned in the OT, or by Josephus, or in the Talmud) about 70 mi. N of Jerusalem, that did not enjoy a favorable reputation (cf. John 1:46). Jesus had apparently been living there before His public appearance baptized by John in the Jordan. 10 [l]And immediately, coming up [3]from the water, He saw the heavens [4]parting and the Spirit [m]descending upon Him like a dove. 11 Then a voice came from heaven, [n]"You are My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

The Temptation of the Servant
Matt. 4:1-11; Luke 4:1-13

12 [o]Immediately the Spirit [5]drove Him into the wilderness. 13 And He was there in the wilderness forty days, tempted by Satan, and was with the wild beasts; [p]and the angels ministered to Him.

The Work of the Servant
Matt. 4:12-17; Luke 4:14, 15

14 [q]Now after John was put in prison, Jesus came to Galilee, [r]preaching the gospel [6]of the kingdom of God, 15 and saying, [s]"The time is fulfilled, and [t]the kingdom of God [7]is at hand. Repent, and believe in the gospel."

The First Disciples Are Called
Matt. 4:18-22

16 [u]And as He walked by the Sea of Galilee, He saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea; for they were fishermen. 17 Then Jesus said to them, "Follow Me, and I will make you become [v]fishers of men." 18 [w]They immediately left their nets and followed Him.

19 When He had gone a little farther from there, He saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, who also were in the boat mending their nets. 20 And immediately He called them, and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired servants, and went after Him.

to Israel. baptized by John. Over John's objections (cf. Matt. 3:14), who saw no need for the sinless Lamb of God (John 1:29) to participate in a baptism of repentance (see notes on vv. 4,5; for an explanation of why Jesus was baptized, see note on Matt. 3:15).

1:10 immediately. In keeping with his fast-paced narrative style (see Introduction to the Gospels), Mark used this adverb more than the other 3 gospel writers combined. This first occurrence sets the stage for the audible and visible signs that followed Jesus' baptism. the Spirit descending upon Him like a dove. This was most likely symbolic of Jesus' empowerment for ministry (Is. 61:1). See note on Matt. 3:16.

1:11 The Father's pronouncement would have reminded the audience of the messianic prophecies of Ps. 2:7; Is. 42:1.

1:12 Immediately. See note on v. 10. Jesus' temptation came right after His baptism. the Spirit drove Him. Compelled by the Spirit, Jesus confronted Satan and took the first step toward overthrowing his evil kingdom (cf. 1 John 3:8). Though God tempts no one (James 1:13), He sometimes sovereignly permits Satan to tempt His people (e.g., Job; Luke 22:31,32). the wilderness. The exact location of Jesus' encounter with Satan is unknown. It most likely would have been the same wilderness where John lived and ministered (see note on v. 4), the desolate region farther S, or the arid Arabian desert across the Jordan.

1:13 forty days. Perhaps reminiscent of Israel's 40 years of wandering in the wilderness (Num. 14:33; 32:13). Matthew and Luke add that Jesus went without food during this time. Moses (twice, Deut. 9:9,18) and Elijah (1 Kin. 19:8) also fasted for that length of time. Satan. From a Heb. word meaning "adversary." Since He had no fallen nature, Jesus' temptation was not an internal emotional or psychological struggle, but an external attack by a personal being. wild beasts. A detail unique to Mark's account, stressing Jesus' loneliness and complete isolation from other people. angels ministered to Him. Cf. Ps. 91:11,12. The tense of this Gr. verb, "to minister," suggests the angels ministered to Jesus throughout His temptation.

1:14 John was put in prison. He was incarcerated for rebuking Herod Antipas over his incestuous marriage to his niece, Herodias (see notes on 6:17-29). Jesus came to Galilee. From Judea (Matt. 4:12; Luke 4:13; John 4:3). Mark, along with Matthew and Luke, passes directly from the temptation to the beginning of the Galilean ministry, skipping Jesus' intervening ministry in Judea (John 2:13–4:4). Galilee was the northernmost region of Palestine, and the most heavily populated. the gospel...of God. The good news of salvation both about God and from Him (see note on Rom. 1:1; cf. Rom. 15:16; 1 Thess. 2:2,8,9; 1 Tim. 1:11; 1 Pet. 4:17).

1:15 The time is fulfilled. Not time in a chronological sense, but the time for decisive action on God's part. With the arrival of the King, a new era in God's dealings with men had come. See note on Gal. 4:4. the kingdom of God. God's sovereign rule over the sphere of salvation; at present in the hearts of His people (Luke 17:21), and in the future, in a literal, earthly kingdom (Rev. 20:4-6). at hand. Because the King was present. Repent, and believe. Repentance (see note on v. 4) and faith (see note on Rom. 1:16) are man's required response to God's gracious offer of salvation (cf. Acts 20:21).

1:16 Sea of Galilee. Also known as the Sea of Chinnereth (Num. 34:11), the Lake of Gennesaret (Luke 5:1), and the Sea of Tiberias (John 6:1). A large, freshwater lake about 13 mi. long and 7 mi. wide, and about 690 ft. below sea level (making it the lowest body of fresh water on earth), the Sea of Galilee was home to a thriving fishing industry. Simon and Andrew. The first of two sets of brothers Jesus called to follow him. Like James and John, they were fishermen. Since Andrew had been a follower of John the Baptist (John 1:40), it is possible that Peter had been as well. They had evidently returned to their fishing business after John's arrest (see note on v. 14). They had already met and spent time with Jesus (see note on Matt. 4:18), but were here called to follow Him permanently. net. A rope forming a circle about 9 ft. in diameter with a net attached. It could be thrown by hand into the water, then hauled in by means of the length of weighted rope attached to it.

1:17 Follow Me. Used frequently in the gospels in reference to discipleship (2:14; 8:34; 10:21; Matt. 4:19; 8:22; 9:9; 10:38; 16:24; 19:21; Luke 9:23,59,61; 18:22; John 1:43; 10:27; 12:26). fishers of men. Evangelism was the primary purpose for which Jesus called the apostles, and it remains the central mission for His people (cf. Matt. 28:19,20; Acts 1:8).

1:18 followed Him. I.e., became His permanent disciples (see note on v. 16).

1:19 James...John. The second set of fishermen brothers called by Jesus (see note on v. 16). Their mother and Jesus' mother may have been sisters (cf. 15:40; Matt. 27:55,56 with John 19:25). If so, they were Jesus' cousins.

1:20 hired servants. This indicates that Zebedee's fishing business was a prosperous one and that he was a man of importance (cf. John 18:15).

Demons Are Cast Out—Luke 4:31-37

21 [x]Then they went into Capernaum, and immediately on the Sabbath He entered the [y]synagogue and taught. 22 [z]And they were astonished at His teaching, for
He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

23 Now there was a man in their synagogue with an [a]unclean spirit. And he cried out, 24 saying, "Let us alone! [b]What have we to do with You, Jesus of Nazareth? Did You come to destroy us? I [c]know who You are—the [d]Holy One of God!"

25 But Jesus [e]rebuked him, saying, [8]"Be quiet, and come out of him!" 26 And when the unclean spirit [f]had convulsed him and cried out with a loud voice, he came out of him. 27 Then they were all amazed, so that they questioned among themselves, saying, [9]"What is this? What new [1]doctrine is this? For with authority He commands even the unclean spirits, and they obey Him." 28 And immediately His [g]fame spread throughout all the region around Galilee.

Peter's Mother-in-Law Is Healed
Matt. 8:14, 15; Luke 4:38, 39

29 [h]Now as soon as they had come out of the synagogue, they entered the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John.
30 But Simon's wife's mother lay sick with a fever, and they told Him about her at once. 31 So He came and took her by the hand and lifted her up, and immediately the fever left her. And she served them.

Many Healings
Matt. 8:16, 17, 4:23; Luke 4:40-44

32 [i]At evening, when the sun had set, they brought to Him all who were sick and those who were demon-possessed. 33 And the whole city was gathered together at the door. 34 Then He healed many who were sick with various diseases, and [j]cast out many demons; and He [k]did not allow the demons to speak, because they knew Him.

35 Now [l]in the morning, having risen a long while before daylight, He went out and departed to a [2]solitary place; and there He [m]prayed. 36 And Simon and those who were with Him searched for Him. 37 When they found Him, they said to Him, [n]"Everyone [o]is looking for You."

1:21 Capernaum. A prosperous fishing village on the NW shore of the Sea of Galilee, Capernaum was a more important city than Nazareth; it contained a Roman garrison and was located on a major road. Jesus made the city his headquarters (cf. 2:1) after his rejection at Nazareth (Matt. 4:13; Luke 4:16-31). synagogue. The place where Jewish people gathered for worship ("synagogue" is a transliteration of a Gr. word meaning "to gather together"). Synagogues originated in the Babylonian captivity after the 586 B.C. destruction of the temple by Nebuchadnezzar. They served as places of worship and instruction. Jesus frequently taught in the synagogues (cf. v. 39; 3:1; 6:2), as did Paul (cf. Acts 13:5; 14:1; 17:1). taught. Mark frequently mentions Jesus' teaching ministry (cf. 2:13; 4:1,2; 6:2,6,34; 10:1; 11:17; 12:35; 14:49).

1:22 authority. Jesus' authoritative teaching, as the spoken Word of God, was in sharp contrast to that of the scribes (experts in the OT Scriptures), who based their authority largely on that of other rabbis. Jesus' direct, personal, and forceful teaching was so foreign to their experience that those who heard Him were "astonished" (cf. Titus 2:15).

1:23 man...cried out. Satan and his demon hosts opposed Jesus' work throughout His ministry, culminating in the cross. Jesus always triumphed over their futile efforts (cf. Col. 2:15), convincingly demonstrating His ultimate victory by His resurrection. unclean spirit. I.e., morally impure. The term is used interchangeably in the NT with "demon." See note on 5:2.

1:24 What have we to do with You. Or, possibly, "Why do you interfere with us?" The demon was acutely aware that he and Jesus belonged to two radically different kingdoms, and thus had nothing in common. That the demon used the plural pronoun "we" indicates he spoke for all the demons. Nazareth. See note on v. 9. the Holy One of God. Cf. Ps. 16:10; Dan. 9:24; Luke 4:34; Acts 2:27; 3:14; 4:27; Rev. 3:7. Amazingly, the demon affirmed Jesus' sinlessness and deity—truths which many in Israel denied, and still deny.

1:25 Be quiet. Jesus wanted no testimony to the truth from the demonic realm to fuel charges that he was in league with Satan (cf. 3:22; Acts 16:16-18).

1:27 with authority. See note on v. 22. Jesus had absolute authority in His actions as well as His words (Matt. 28:18).

1:29 the house of Simon and Andrew. Originally from Bethsaida (John 1:44), the two brothers had moved to Capernaum when Jesus established his headquarters there (see note on v. 21). James and John. Only Mark mentions their presence at the healing of Peter's mother-in-law.

1:30 Simon's wife's mother. Paul also affirmed that Peter was married (1 Cor. 9:5). That his mother-in-law was living with Peter and his wife may indicate that her husband was dead. a fever. That she was too ill to get out of bed, coupled with Luke's description of her fever as a "high fever" (Luke 4:38), suggests her illness was serious, even life-threatening.

1:32 when the sun had set. Marking the close of the Sabbath and the easing of the restrictions associated with it. Specifically, rabbinic law prohibited carrying any burdens (such as stretchers) on the Sabbath. they brought. The report of Jesus' healing of the demon-possessed man in the synagogue and Peter's mother-in-law created a sensation in Capernaum and aroused the hopes of other sufferers.

1:34 did not allow the demons to speak. See notes on v. 25; 3:11,12. they knew Him. The demons' theology is absolutely orthodox (James 2:19); but though they know the truth, they reject it and God, who is its source.

1:36 Simon and those who were with Him. The first instance in the gospels of Peter's assuming of leadership. Those with Peter are not revealed, though Andrew, James, and John were likely among them.

1:37 Finding Jesus after a diligent search (v. 36), Peter and the others excitedly implored Him to return to Capernaum and capitalize on the excitement generated by the previous night's healings.

38 But He said to them, [p]"Let us go into the next towns, that I may preach there also, because [q]for this purpose I have come forth."

39 [r]And He was preaching in their synagogues throughout all Galilee, and [s]casting out demons.

A Leper Is Cleansed
Matt. 8:1-4; Luke 5:12-16

40 [t]Now a leper came to Him, imploring Him, kneeling down to Him and saying to Him, "If You are willing, You can make me clean."

41 Then Jesus, moved with [u]compassion, stretched out His hand and touched him, and said to him, "I am willing; be cleansed." 42 As soon as He had spoken, [v]immediately the leprosy left him, and he was cleansed. 43 And He strictly warned him and sent him away at once, 44 and said to him, "See that you say nothing to anyone; but go your way, show yourself to the priest, and offer for your cleansing those things [w]which Moses commanded, as a testimony to them."

45 [x]However, he went out and began to proclaim it freely, and to spread the matter, so that Jesus could no longer openly enter the city, but was outside in deserted places; [y]and they came to Him from every direction.

A Paralytic Is Healed
Matt. 9:1-8; Luke 5:17-26

CHAPTER 2

2 And again [a]He entered Capernaum after some days, and it was heard that He was in the house. 2 [1]Immediately many gathered together, so that there was no longer room to receive them, not even near the door. And He preached the word to them. 3 Then they came to Him, bringing a [b]paralytic who was carried by four men. 4 And when they could not come near Him because of the crowd, they uncovered the roof where He was. So when they had broken through, they let down the bed on which the paralytic was lying.

5 When Jesus saw their faith, He said to the paralytic, "Son, your sins are forgiven you."

6 And some of the scribes were sitting there and reasoning in their hearts, 7 "Why does this Man speak blasphemies like this? [c]Who can forgive sins but God alone?"

8 But immediately, when Jesus perceived

1:39 throughout all Galilee. Mark's terse statement summarizes a preaching tour that must have lasted for weeks, or even months (cf. Matt. 4:23,24).

1:40-45 Mark relates one of Jesus' many healings during the Galilean ministry summarized in v. 39. The leper's healing emphasizes Jesus' miraculous power over disease, since leprosy was one of the most dreaded diseases of antiquity.

1:40 leper. Lepers were considered ceremonially unclean, and were outcasts from society (Lev. 13:11). While the OT term for leprosy included other skin diseases (see note on Lev. 13:2), this man may have actually had true leprosy (Hansen's Disease), or else his cure would not have created such a sensation (v. 45).

1:41 compassion. Only Mark records Jesus' emotional reaction to the leper's desperate plight. The Gr. word appears only in the synoptic gospels and (apart from parables) is used only in reference to Jesus. touched him. Unlike rabbis, who avoided lepers lest they become ceremonially defiled, Jesus expressed His compassion with a physical gesture.

1:44 say nothing to anyone. The ensuing publicity would hinder Jesus' ability to minister (as in fact happened, cf. v. 45) and divert attention away from His message. Cf. 3:12; 5:43; 7:36; see note on Matt. 8:4. go your way, show yourself to the priest. The "priest" was the one on duty at the temple. Jesus commanded the healed leper to observe the OT regulations concerning cleansed lepers (Lev. 14:1-32). Until the required offerings had been made, the man remained ceremonially unclean. a testimony to them. The priest's acceptance of the man's offering would be public affirmation of his cure and cleansing.

1:45 proclaim it freely. Only Mark records the cleansed leper's disobedience, although Luke hints at it (Luke 5:15). no longer openly enter the city. The result of the leper's disobedience was that Jesus could no longer enter a city without being mobbed by those seeking to be cured of diseases. Jesus' ministry of teaching in that area thus came to a halt. deserted places. Jesus kept to the relatively uninhabited regions to allow the excitement over his cure of the leper to die down. Luke also notes that He used His time in the wilderness for prayer (Luke 5:16).

2:1 He was in the house. This is better translated, "He was at home." This was likely Peter's home, where Jesus had taken up temporary residence (cf. Matt. 4:13).

2:2 the word. The good news of the gospel, that salvation is by grace alone, through faith alone, for the forgiveness of sins.

2:3 a paralytic. Since he was lying on a bed, the man's paralysis was severe—perhaps he was a quadriplegic.

2:4 they uncovered the roof. Most homes in Palestine had flat roofs used for relaxation in the cool of the day and for sleeping on hot nights. And there was usually an external stairway that extended to the roof. Often, as here, the roof was made of slabs of burnt or dried clay that were placed on supporting beams which stretched from wall to wall. The builder then spread a uniform coat of fresh, wet clay over those slabs of hardened clay to serve as a seal against the rain. The paralytic's friends took him up to the top of such a house and dug out the top coat of clay, removing several of the slabs until they made enough room to lower him down into Jesus' presence. the paralytic. See note on v. 3.

2:5 When Jesus saw their faith. The aggressive, persistent effort of the paralytic's friends was visible evidence of their faith in Christ to heal. "Son, your sins are forgiven you." Many Jews in that day believed that all disease and affliction was a direct result of one's sins. This paralytic may have believed that as well; thus he would have welcomed forgiveness of his sins before healing. The Gr. verb for "are forgiven" refers to sending or driving away (cf. Ps. 103:12; Jer. 31:34; Mic. 7:19). Thus Jesus dismissed the man's sin and freed him from the guilt of it (see note on Matt. 9:2).

2:6 the scribes. See note on Matt. 2:4; cf. 1:22.

2:7 this Man...blasphemies. The scribes were correct in saying that only God can forgive sins (cf. Is. 43:25), but incorrect in saying Jesus blasphemed. They refused to recognize Jesus' power as coming from God, much less that He Himself was God.

in His spirit that they reasoned thus within themselves, He said to them, "Why do you reason about these things in your hearts? 9 [d]Which is easier, to say to the paralytic, 'Your sins are forgiven you,' or to say, 'Arise, take up your bed and walk'? 10 But that you may know that the Son of Man has [2]power on earth to forgive sins"—He said to the paralytic, 11 "I say to you, arise, take up your bed, and go to your house." 12 Immediately he arose, took up the bed, and went out in the presence of them all, so that all were amazed and [e]glorified God, saying, "We never saw anything like this!"

2:8 in His spirit. This can also be translated, "by His spirit." This is not the Holy Spirit, but the omniscient mind of the Savior.

2:9 Which is easier. It is much easier to say, "Your sins are forgiven you." No human can prove that such a thing actually occurred since it is invisible. Commanding a paralytic to walk would be more difficult to say convincingly, however, because the actions of the paralytic would immediately verify the effect of the command (see note on Matt. 9:5).

2:10 But that you may know. Jesus' power to heal the paralytic's physical infirmities proved the veracity of His claim and power to forgive sins. Son of Man. Jesus used this term for Himself to emphasize His humiliation (see notes on 14:62; Matt. 8:20). It appears 14 times in Mark (v. 10,28; 8:31,38; 9:9,12,31; 10:33,45; 13:26; 14:21,41,62).

2:14 Levi the son of Alphaeus. One of the 12, more commonly known as Matthew (see Introduction to Matthew: Title). tax office. Matthew was a publican, a tax collector, a despised profession in Palestine because such men were viewed as traitors. Publicans were Jews who had bought tax franchises from the Roman government. Any amount they collected over what Rome required they were allowed to keep. Thus many publicans became wealthy at the expense of their own people (see notes on Matt. 5:46; 9:9). he arose and followed Him. This simple action of Matthew signified his conversion. Because his response was so immediate, it is likely Matthew was already convicted of his sin and recognized his need of forgiveness.

2:15 dining. This can also be translated, "reclining at table," a common posture for eating when guests were present. According to Luke 5:29, this was a feast that Matthew gave in Jesus' honor. tax collectors. There were two categories of tax collectors: 1) gabbai collected general taxes on land and property, and on income, referred to as poll or registration taxes; 2) mokhes collected a wide variety of use sinners also sat together with Jesus and His disciples; for there were many, and they followed Him. 16 And when the scribes [3]and Pharisees saw Him eating with the tax collectors and sinners, they said to His disciples, "How is it that He eats and drinks with tax collectors and sinners?"

17 When Jesus heard it, He said to them, [k]"Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners, [4]to repentance."

Parable of Cloth and Wineskins
Matt. 9:14-17; Luke 5:33-39

18 [l]The disciples of John and of the Pharisees were fasting. Then they came and said to Him, "Why do the disciples of John and of the Pharisees fast, but Your disciples do not fast?"

19 And Jesus said to them, "Can the [5]friends of the bridegroom fast while the bridegroom is with them? As long as they have the bridegroom with them they cannot fast. 20 But the days will come when the bridegroom will be [m]taken away from them, and then they will fast in those days. 21 No one sews a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; or else the new piece pulls away from the old, and the tear is made worse. 22 And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; or else the new wine bursts the wineskins, the wine is spilled, and the wineskins are ruined. But new wine must be put into new wineskins."

taxes, similar to our import duties, business license fees, and toll fees. There were two categories of mokhes: great mokhes hired others to collect taxes for them; small mokhes did their own assessing and collecting. Matthew was a small mokhe. It is likely representatives of both classes attended Matthew's feast. All of them were considered both religious and social outcasts. sinners. A term the Jews used to describe people who had no respect for the Mosaic law or rabbinic traditions, and were therefore the most vile and worthless of people. sat together. Lit. "were reclining with." Jesus' willingness to associate with tax collectors and sinners by sharing in the feast with them deeply offended the scribes and Pharisees.

2:16 scribes and Pharisees. Lit. "the scribes of the Pharisees." This phrase indicates that not all scribes were Pharisees (regarding scribes, see note on Matt. 2:4). Pharisees were a legalistic sect of Jews known for their strict devotion to the ceremonial law (see note on Matt. 3:7).

2:17 I did not come to call the righteous. The words "to repentance" do not appear in the better manuscripts. They do appear, however, in Luke 5:32, a parallel passage. The repentant person—the one who recognizes he is a sinner and who turns from his sin—is the object of Jesus' call. The person who is sinful but thinks he is righteous refuses to acknowledge his need to repent of his sin. See notes on Matt. 9:12,13; John 9:39-41.

2:18 disciples of John. Those followers of John the Baptist who did not transfer their allegiance to Jesus (cf. John 3:30; Acts 19:1-7). At this time John was in prison (Matt. 4:12). Their question indicates they were observing the Pharisaic traditions (cf. Matt. 9:14). the Pharisees. See note on v. 16. The association of John's disciples with the Pharisees indicates that both groups were disturbed about the problem raised by Jesus' association with tax collectors and sinners (cf. v. 15). fasting. The twice-a-week fast was a major expression of orthodox Judaism during Jesus' day (cf. Luke 18:9-14). Yet, the OT prescribed only one fast, and that on the Day of Atonement (Lev. 16:29,31).

2:19 friends of the bridegroom fast. In Jesus' illustration, the "friends of the bridegroom" were the attendants the bridegroom selected to carry out the festivities. That certainly was not a time to fast, which was usually associated with mourning or times of great spiritual need. Jesus' point was that the ritual practiced by John's disciples and the Pharisees was out of touch with reality. There was no reason for Jesus' followers to mourn and fast while enjoying the unique reality that He was with them.

2:20 taken away from them. This refers to a sudden removal or being snatched away violently—an obvious reference to Jesus' capture and crucifixion. then they will fast. An appropriate time for mourning was to be at the crucifixion of Jesus.

2:21,22 Jesus offered two parables to illustrate that his new and internal gospel of repentance from and forgiveness of sin could not be connected to or contained in the old and external traditions of self-righteousness and ritual (see note on Matt. 9:17).

2:22 new wineskins. Newly made and unused wineskins provided the necessary strength and elasticity to hold up as wine fermented.

2:23 grainfields. The roads in first-century Palestine were primarily major arteries; so once travelers left those main roads they walked along wide paths that bordered and traversed pastures and grainfields. on the Sabbath. "Sabbath" transliterates a Heb. word that refers to a ceasing of activity or rest. In honor of the day when God rested from His creation of the world (Gen. 2:3), the Lord declared the seventh day of the week to be a special time of rest and remembrance for His people, which He incorporated into the Ten Commandments (see note on Ex. 20:8). But hundreds of years of rabbinical teaching had added numerous unbearable and arbitrary restrictions to God's original requirement, one of which forbade any travel beyond 3,000 ft. of one's home (cf. Num. 35:5; Josh. 3:4). pluck the heads of grain. Travelers who did not take enough food for their journey were permitted by Mosaic law to pick enough grain to satisfy their hunger (Deut. 23:24,25; see note on Matt. 12:2).

2:24 what is not lawful on the Sabbath. Rabbinical tradition had interpreted the rubbing of grain in the hands (cf. Luke 6:1) as a form of threshing and forbidden it. Reaping for profit on the Sabbath was forbidden by Mosaic law (Ex. 34:21), but that was obviously not the situation here (see note on Matt. 12:2). Actually the Pharisees' charge was itself sinful since they were holding their tradition on a par with God's Word (see notes on Matt. 15:2-9).

2:25 He said to them, "Have you never read..." Jesus' sarcasm pointed out the main fault of the Pharisees, who claimed to be experts and guardians of Scripture, yet were ignorant of what it actually taught (cf. Rom. 2:17-24). what David did. David and his companions were fleeing for their lives from Saul when they arrived at Nob, where the tabernacle was located at that time. Because they were hungry, they asked for food (cf. 1 Sam. 21:1-6).

need and hungry, he and those with him:
26 how he went into the house of God in the days of Abiathar the high priest, and ate the showbread, [r]which is not lawful to eat except for the priests, and also gave some to those who were with him?"

27 And He said to them, "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the [s]Sabbath. 28 Therefore [t]the Son of Man is also Lord of the Sabbath."

Controversy over Sabbath-Healing
Matt 12:9-13; Luke 6:6-10

3 And [a]He entered the synagogue again, and a man was there who had a withered hand. 2 So they [b]watched Him closely, whether He would [c]heal him on the Sabbath, so that they might [1]accuse Him. 3 And He said to the man who had the withered hand, [2]"Step forward." 4 Then He said to them, "Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save life or to kill?" But they kept silent. 5 And when He had looked around at them with anger, being grieved by the [d]hardness of their hearts, He said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." 2:26 in the days of Abiathar the high priest. The phrase "in the days" can mean "during the lifetime." According to 1 Sam. 21:1, Ahimelech was the priest who gave the bread to David. Abiathar was Ahimelech's son, who later was the High-Priest during David's reign. Since Ahimelech died shortly after this incident (cf. 1 Sam. 22:19,20), it is likely that Mark simply added this designation to identify the well known companion of David who later became the High-Priest, along with Zadok (2 Sam. 15:35). the showbread. Twelve loaves of unleavened bread (representing the 12 tribes of Israel) were placed on the table in the sanctuary and at the end of the week replaced with fresh ones. The old loaves were to be eaten only by the priests. While it was not normally lawful for David and his companions to eat this showbread, neither did God want them to starve, so nowhere does Scripture condemn them for eating (see note on Matt. 12:4).

2:27 The Sabbath was made for man. God instituted the Sabbath to benefit man by giving him a day to rest from his labors and to be a blessing to him. The Pharisees turned it into a burden and made man a slave to their myriad of man-made regulations.

2:28 also Lord of the Sabbath. Jesus claimed He was greater than the Sabbath, and thus was God. Based on that authority, Jesus could in fact reject the Pharisaic regulations concerning the Sabbath and restore God's original intention for Sabbath observance to be a blessing not a burden.

3:1-6 This is the last of the 5 conflict episodes which began in 2:1 (2:1-11; 13-17; 18-22; 23-28), and as such it gives a sense of climax to the growing antagonism between Jesus and the Jewish leaders. In this encounter, Jesus gave the Pharisees a living illustration of scriptural Sabbath observance and His sovereign authority over both man and the Sabbath.

3:1 synagogue. The Jews' local places of assembly and worship (see note on 1:21). withered hand. This describes a condition of paralysis or deformity from an accident, a disease, or a congenital defect.

3:2 accuse. The Pharisees were not open to learning from Jesus, but only looked for an opportunity to charge Him with a violation of the Sabbath, an accusation they could bring before the Sanhedrin.

3:4 Jesus countered the Pharisees with a question that elevated the issue at hand from a legal to a moral problem. Is it lawful. A reference to the Mosaic law. Jesus was forcing the Pharisees to examine their tradition regarding the Sabbath to see if it was consistent with God's OT law. to do good...evil, to save...kill. Christ used a device common in the Middle East—He framed the issue in terms of clear-cut extremes. The obvious implication is that failure to do good or save a life was wrong and not in keeping with God's original intention for the Sabbath (see notes on 2:27; Matt. 12:10). But they kept silent. The Pharisees refused to answer Jesus' question, and by so doing implied that their Sabbath views and practices were false.

3:5 anger. Definite displeasure with human sin reveals a healthy, moral nature. Jesus' reaction was consistent with His divine nature and proved that He is the righteous Son of God. This kind of holy indignation with sinful attitudes and practices was to be more fully demonstrated when Jesus cleansed the temple (cf. 11:15-18; Matt. 21:12,13; Luke 19:45-48). hardness of their hearts. This phrase refers to an inability to understand because of a rebellious attitude (Ps. 95:8; Heb. 3:8,15). The Pharisees' hearts were becoming more and more obstinate and unresponsive to the truth (cf. 16:14; Rom. 9:18).

3:6 the Pharisees...plotted. They absolutely refused to be persuaded by anything Jesus said and did (cf. John 3:19), but were instead determined to kill Him. The Gr. word for "plotted" (lit. "counseled together") includes the notion of carrying out a decision already made—the Pharisees were simply discussing how to implement theirs. Herodians. This secular political party, which took its name from Herod Antipas and was strong in its support for Rome, opposed the Pharisees on nearly every issue, but were willing to join forces with them because both desperately wanted to destroy Jesus. See note on Matt. 22:16.

3:8 In spite of His conflicts with the Pharisees, Jesus remained very popular with the ordinary people. Mark is the only gospel writer who at this point in Jesus' ministry noted that the masses came from all parts of Palestine to see and hear Him. Idumea. An area SE of Judea, mentioned only here in the NT and populated by many Edomites (originally descendants of Esau, see note on Gen. 36:43). By this time it had become mostly Jewish in population and was considered a part of Judea. beyond the Jordan. The region E of the Jordan River, also called Perea, and ruled by Herod Antipas. Its population contained a large number of Jews. Tyre and Sidon. Two Phoenician cities on the Mediterranean coast, N of Galilee. Phoenicia as a whole was often designated by these cities (cf. Jer. 47:4; Joel 3:4; Matt. 11:21; Acts 12:20).

And they came to Him. 14 Then He appointed twelve, [4]that they might be with Him and that He might send them out to preach, 15 and to have [5]power [6]to heal sicknesses and to cast out demons: 16 [7]Simon, [o]to whom He gave the name Peter; 17 James the son of Zebedee and John the brother of James, to whom He gave the name Boanerges, that is, "Sons of Thunder"; 18 Andrew, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, Thaddaeus, Simon the Cananite; 19 and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed Him. Scribes Commit the Unpardonable Sin Matt. 12:24-32; Luke 11:17-23

22 And the scribes who came down from Jerusalem said, [s]"He has Beelzebub," and, "By the [t]ruler of the demons He casts out demons."

23 [u]So He called them to Himself and said to them in parables: "How can Satan cast out Satan? 24 If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand. 25 And if a house is divided against itself, that house cannot stand. 26 And if Satan has risen up against himself, and is divided, he cannot stand, but has an end. 27 [v]No one can enter a strong man's house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man. And then he will plunder his house.

3:10 afflictions. Lit. "a whip, a lash," sometimes translated "plagues," or "scourges." This metaphorically describes various painful, agonizing, physical ailments and illnesses.

3:11 unclean spirits. This refers to demons (see note on 1:23; cf. Luke 4:41). whenever they saw Him. The tense of the Gr. verb means there were many times when demons looked at Jesus and contemplated the truth of His character and identity. "You are the Son of God." Cf. 1:24. The demons unhesitatingly affirmed the uniqueness of Jesus' nature, which Mark saw as clear proof of Jesus' deity.

3:12 warned...not make Him known. Jesus always rebuked demons for their testimonies about Him. He wanted His teaching and actions, not the impure words of demons, to proclaim who He was (see note on 1:25; cf. Acts 16:16-18).

3:13 called...those He Himself wanted. The Gr. verb "called" stresses that Jesus acted in His own sovereign interest when He chose the 12 disciples (cf. John 15:16).

3:14 appointed twelve. Christ, by an explicit act of His will, formed a distinct group of 12 men who were among His followers (see note on Matt. 10:1). This new group constituted the foundation of His church (cf. Eph. 2:20).

3:15 have power. This word is sometimes rendered "authority." Along with the main task of preaching, Jesus gave the 12 the right to expel demons (cf. Luke 9:1).

3:16-19 A list of the 12 (see notes on Matt. 10:2-4).

3:16 Peter. From this point on (except in 14:37), Mark uses this name for Simon, though this is not when the designation was first given (cf. John 1:42), nor does it mark the complete replacement of the name Simon (cf. Acts 15:14). The name means "stone," and describes Peter's character and activities, namely his position as a foundation rock in the building of the church (cf. Matt. 16:18; Eph. 2:20).

3:17 "Sons of Thunder." Mark defines the Aram. term "Boanerges" for his Gentile readers. This name for the two brothers probably referred to their intense, outspoken personalities (cf. 9:38; Luke 9:54).

3:18 Thaddaeus. The only name that is not the same in all the NT lists of the 12 (cf. Matt. 10:2-4; Luke 6:14-16; Acts 1:13). Matthew calls him Lebbaeus, with Thaddaeus as a surname (Matt. 10:3); Luke and Acts call him "Judas the son of James"; and John 14:22 refers to him as "Judas (not Iscariot)." the Cananite. This does not indicate that this Simon was a native of Cana. Rather, the word is derived from the Aram. which means "to be zealous" and was used for those who were zealous for the law. Luke uses the word transliterated from the Gr. term that meant "the Zealot" (Luke 6:15; see note on Matt. 10:4).

3:19 Iscariot. This Heb. term means "man of Kerioth," as in Kerioth-Hezron, S of Hebron (Josh. 15:25). went into a house. A clearer translation is "went home," which would refer to Jesus' return to Capernaum (cf. 2:1). Verse divisions of the text are also misleading here; the phrase should be included with v. 20 and actually start the new paragraph.

3:21 His own people. In Gr., this expression was used in various ways to describe someone's friends or close associates. In the strictest sense, it meant family, which is probably the best understanding here. lay hold of Him. Mark used this same term elsewhere to mean the arrest of a person (6:17; 12:12; 14:1,44,46,51). Jesus' relatives evidently heard the report of v. 20 and came to Capernaum to restrain Him from His many activities and bring Him under their care and control, all supposedly for His own good. out of His mind. Jesus' family could only explain His unconventional lifestyle, with its willingness for others always to impose on Him, by saying He was irrational or had lost His mind.

3:22 scribes. Jewish scholars, also called lawyers, (mostly Pharisees) who were experts on the law and its application (see note on Matt. 2:4). Beelzebub. Satan (see note on Luke 11:15).

3:23 parables. Jesus answered the scribes by making an analogy between well known facts and the truths He expounded (see note on Matt. 13:3).

3:26 has an end. An expression used only in Mark which refers to Satan's ultimate doom as head of the demonic world system. See notes on Rev. 20:1-10.

3:27 enter a strong man's house and plunder his goods. One must be stronger than Satan in order to enter his domain ("strong man's house"), bind him (restrain his action), and free ("plunder") people ("his goods") from his control. Only Jesus had such power over the devil. Cf. Rom. 16:20; Heb. 2:14,15.

28 w"Assuredly, I say to you, all sins will be forgiven the sons of men, and whatever blasphemies they may utter; 29 but he who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit never has forgiveness, but is subject to eternal condemnation"— 30 because they xsaid, "He has an unclean spirit."

2 b Mark 12:38

3 "Listen! Behold, a sower went out to sow. 4 And it happened, as he sowed, that some seed fell by the wayside; and the birds [1]of the air came and devoured it. 5 Some fell on stony ground, where it did not have much earth; and immediately it sprang up because it had no depth of earth. 6 But when the sun was up it was scorched, and because it had no root it withered away. 7 And some seed fell among thorns; and the thorns grew up and choked it, and it yielded no [2]crop. 8 But other seed fell on good ground and yielded a crop that sprang up, increased and produced: some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred."

9 And He said [3]to them, "He who has ears to hear, let him hear!"

10 c But when He was alone, those around Him with the twelve asked Him about the parable. 11 And He said to them, "To you it has been given to dknow the [4]mystery of the kingdom of God; but to ethose who are outside, all things come in parables, 12 so that f'Seeing they may see and not perceive,

And hearing they may hear and not understand;
Lest they should turn,
And their sins be forgiven them.'"

3:28 Assuredly, I say to you. Mark's first use of this expression, which occurs throughout the gospels, was employed as a formula that always introduced truthful and authoritative words from Jesus (cf. 6:11; 8:12; 9:1,41; 10:15,29; 11:23; 12:43; 13:30; 14:9,18,25,30).

3:29 he who blasphemes...never has forgiveness. Whenever someone deliberately and disrespectfully slanders the person and ministry of the Holy Spirit in pointing to the Lordship and redemption of Jesus Christ, he completely negates and forfeits any possibility of present or future forgiveness of sins (see note on Matt. 12:31), because he has wholly rejected the only basis of God's salvation.

3:31 His brothers and His mother. Jesus' earthly family (see notes on v. 21; Matt. 12:46). The narrative that left off at v. 21 resumes here.

3:35 Jesus made a decisive and comprehensive statement on true Christian discipleship. Such discipleship involves a spiritual relationship that transcends the physical family and is open to all who are empowered by the Spirit of God to come to Christ in repentance and faith and enabled to live a life of obedience to God's Word.

4:1 sat. The typical rabbinical position for teaching; and more practically, Jesus may have sat because of the rocking of the boat in the water.

4:2 parables. A common method of teaching in Judaism, which Jesus employed to conceal the truth from unbelievers while explaining it to His disciples (cf. v. 11; see note on Matt. 13:3).

4:3-8 This parable depicts the teaching of the gospel throughout the world and the various responses of people to it. Some will reject it; some will accept it for a brief time but then fall away; yet some will believe and will lead others to believe.

4:4 wayside. Either a road near a field's edge or a path that traversed a field, both of which were hard surfaces due to constant foot traffic.

4:5 stony ground. Beds of solid rock, usually limestone, lying under the surface of good soil. They are a little too deep for the plow to reach, and too shallow to allow a plant to reach water and develop a decent root system in the small amount of soil that covers them.

4:7 thorns. Tough, thistle-bearing weeds that use up the available space, light, and water which good plants need.

4:8 increased...a hundred. An average ratio of harvested grain to what had been sown was 8 to 1, with a 10 to 1 ratio considered exceptional. The yields Jesus refers to are like an unbelievable harvest.

4:9 "He who has ears to hear, let him hear!" On the surface, this is a call for the listener to be attentive and discern the meaning of His analogy. Yet more than human understanding is necessary to interpret the parable—only those who have been redeemed will have the true meaning explained to them by the divine Teacher.

4:11 mystery...parables. A "mystery" in the NT refers to something previously hidden and unknown but revealed in the NT (see notes on 1 Cor. 2:7; Eph. 3:4-6). In context, the subject of the mystery is the kingdom of heaven (see note on Matt. 3:2), which Jesus communicates in the form of parables. Thus the mystery is revealed to those who believe, yet it remains concealed to those who reject Christ and His gospel (see note on Matt. 13:11). to those who are outside. Those who are not followers of Christ.

4:12 so that. See note on Matt. 13:13. Unlike Matthew, which specifically quotes Is. 6:9,10, Mark quotes Jesus as giving the substance of what Isaiah wrote in that text. Lest they should turn. The implication is that unbelievers do not want to turn from sin (see notes on Matt. 13:3,13).

13 And He said to them, "Do you not understand this parable? How then will you understand all the parables? 14 [g]The sower sows the word. 15 And these are the ones by the wayside where the word is sown. When they hear, Satan comes immediately and takes away the word that was sown in their hearts. 16 These likewise are the ones sown on stony ground who, when they hear the word, immediately receive it with gladness; 17 and they have no root in themselves, and so endure only for a time. Afterward, when tribulation or persecution arises for the word's sake, immediately they stumble. 18 Now these are the ones sown among thorns; they are the ones who hear the word, 19 and the [h]cares of this world, [i]the deceitfulness of riches, and the desires for other things entering in choke the word, and it becomes unfruitful. 20 But these are the ones sown on good ground, those who hear the word, [5]accept it, and bear [j]fruit: some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred."

Parable of the Growing Seed

26 And He said, [p]"The kingdom of God is as if a man should [6]scatter seed on the ground, 27 and should sleep by night and rise by day, and the seed should sprout and [q]grow, he himself does not know how. 28 For the earth [r]yields crops by itself: first the blade, then the head, after that the full grain in the head. 29 But when the grain ripens, immediately [s]he puts in the sickle, because the harvest has come."

4:13 all the parables. Understanding the parable of the sower was to be key in the disciples' ability to discern the meaning of Jesus' other parables of the kingdom (vv. 21-34).

4:14-20 Jesus' explanation of the parable of the sower, who is in fact Jesus Himself (cf. Matt. 13:37) and anyone who proclaims the gospel.

4:14 the word. Luke 8:11 says it is the "word of God," and Matt. 13:19 calls it the "word of the kingdom." It is the salvation gospel (see note on Matt. 13:19).

4:16 receive it with gladness. An enthusiastic, emotional, yet superficial response to the gospel that does not take into account the cost involved.

4:17 no root. Because the person's heart is hard, like the stony ground (see note on v. 5), the gospel never takes root in the individual's soul and never transforms his life—there is only a temporary, surface change. tribulation or persecution. Not the routine difficulties and troubles of life, but specifically the suffering, trials, and persecutions which result from one's association with God's Word. stumble. The Gr. word also means, "to fall" or "to cause offense," and from which comes the Eng. word "scandalize." All those meanings are appropriate since the superficial believer is offended, stumbles, and falls away when his faith is put to the test (cf. John 8:31; 1 John 2:19).

4:19 cares of this world. Lit. "the distractions of the age." A preoccupation with the temporal issues of this present age blinds a person to any serious consideration of the gospel (cf. James 4:4; 1 John 2:15,16). deceitfulness of riches. Not only can money and material possessions not satisfy the desires of the heart or bring the lasting happiness they deceptively promise, but they also blind those who pursue them to eternal, spiritual concerns (1 Tim. 6:9,10).

4:20 hear...accept...bear fruit. Three Gr. present participles mark continuing action. Believers, in contrast to unbelievers, hear God's Word because God allows them to hear it. They "accept" it—they understand and obey it because God opens their mind and heart and transforms their lives. The result is that they produce spiritual fruit.

4:21 lamp. This refers to a very small clay bowl made with a spout to hold a wick and containing a few ounces of oil that served as the fuel. a lampstand. In common homes, this was simply a shelf protruding from the wall. Wealthier homes might have separate, ornate stands (cf. Rev. 1:12).

4:22 there is nothing hidden...revealed. The purpose in keeping something hidden is so that one day it can be revealed. Jesus' teaching was never intended to be just for an inner circle of followers. It would be the responsibility of the disciples to communicate the gospel of the kingdom to the world at large (cf. Matt. 28:19,20).

4:24 With the same measure. The spiritual results which the disciples realized were to be based on the amount of effort they put forth; they would reap as they had sown. more will be given. The one who has learned spiritual truth and applied it diligently will receive even more truth to faithfully apply.

4:26-29 This parable is recorded only by Mark and complements the parable of the sower by explaining in more depth the results of spiritual growth accomplished in good soil.

4:26 kingdom of God. See note on 1:15.

4:29 he puts in the sickle, because the harvest has come. When the grain is ripe, the sower of the seed must harvest the crop. There are two possible interpretations of this unexplained parable. It could be referring to the entire scope of the kingdom, from the time Jesus sowed the gospel message until the final harvest in the future. His disciples would continue the work of presenting the gospel that would eventually yield a harvest. The better interpretation pictures the gospel working in lives. After the gospel is presented, the Word of God works in the individual heart, sometimes slowly, until the time when God reaps the harvest in that individual and saves him.

4:30-32 This parable of the mustard seed pictures the kingdom of God beginning with a small influence and then becoming worldwide in its scope.

mustard seed which, when it is sown on the ground, is smaller than all the seeds on earth; 32 but when it is sown, it grows up and becomes greater than all herbs, and shoots out large branches, so that the birds of the air may nest under its shade."

33 [u]And with many such parables He spoke the word to them as they were able to hear it. 34 But without a parable He did not speak to them. And when they were alone, [v]He explained all things to His disciples.

5 Then [a]they came to the other side of the sea, to the country of the [1]Gadarenes. 2 And when He had come out of the boat, immediately there met Him out of the tombs a man with an [b]unclean spirit, 3 who had his dwelling among the tombs; and no one could bind [2]him, not even with chains, 4 because he had often been bound with shackles and chains. 4:31 a mustard seed. A reference to the common black mustard plant. The leaves were used as a vegetable and the seed as a condiment. It also had medicinal benefits. smaller than all. The mustard seed is not the smallest of all seeds in existence, but it was in comparison to all the other seeds the Jews sowed in Palestine.

4:32 herbs. Refers to garden vegetables grown specifically for eating. birds of the air. While not a tree in the truest sense of the word, the mustard shrub has been known to grow as large as 15 ft. high and to have the properties of a tree, such as having branches large enough for birds to nest in. The tree represents the sphere of salvation, which would grow so large that it would provide shelter, protection, and benefit to people (see note on Matt. 13:32). Even unbelievers have been blessed by association with the gospel and the power of God in salvation. Christians have been a benediction to the world. See note on 1 Cor. 7:14.

4:33,34 This conclusion to Mark's account of Jesus' parables highlights Mark's recording only representative samples of all the parables Jesus taught.

4:34 But without a parable He did not speak to them. On that particular day, Jesus spoke to the larger crowd only in parables. This method of teaching left unbelievers with riddles and kept them from being forced to believe or disbelieve Him—they could make no decision to follow Him since they did not understand what He taught.

4:35-41 This account demonstrates Jesus' unlimited power over the natural world.

4:35 the other side. Jesus and His disciples were on the western shore of the Sea of Galilee. To escape the crowds for a brief respite, Jesus wanted to go to the eastern shore, which had no large cities and therefore fewer people.

4:37 great windstorm. Wind is a common occurrence on that lake, about 690 ft. below sea level and surrounded by hills. The Gr. word can also mean "whirlwind." In this case, it was a storm so severe that it took on the properties of a hurricane (see note on Matt. 8:24). The disciples, used to being on the lake in the wind, thought this storm would drown them (v. 38).

4:38 He was...asleep. Jesus was so exhausted from a full day of healing and preaching, even that storm could not wake Him up (see note on Matt. 8:24).

4:39 "Peace, be still!" Lit. "be silent, be muzzled" (see note on 1:25). Storms normally subside gradually, but when the Creator gave the order, the natural elements of this storm ceased immediately.

4:41 they feared exceedingly. This was not fear of being harmed by the storm, but a reverence for the supernatural power Jesus had just displayed. The only thing more terrifying than having a storm outside the boat was having God in the boat! Who can this be. This statement betrayed the disciples' wonder at the true identity of Jesus.

5:1 the other side of the sea. The eastern shore of the Sea of Galilee (cf. Luke 8:26). the country of the Gadarenes. The preferred reading in Mark is "Gerasenes" rather than "Gadarenes." It most likely refers to the small town of Gersa (or Khersa, Kursi; see note on Matt. 8:28) which was located midway on the eastern shore. "Country of" refers to the general region that included Gersa and was under the jurisdiction of the city of Gadara, which was located some 6 mi. SE of the Sea of Galilee; this was probably why Luke referred to the region as the country of the Gaderenes (Luke 8:26,37).

5:2 out of the tombs a man. Mark mentions only one of the demon-possessed men, who was probably the more prominent of the two (cf. Matt. 8:28). The "tombs"—common dwelling places for the demented of that day—were burial chambers carved out of rock hillsides on the outskirts of town. If the man and his possible companion were Jews, for whom touching dead bodies was a great defilement, living in such an area was an added torment. unclean spirit. This refers to the demon who was controlling the man. Such spirits in themselves were morally filthy and caused much harm for those whom they possessed (see notes on 1:32-34; cf. Luke 4:33,36; 7:21; 8:2).

5:3 no one could bind him. Multiple negatives are used in the Gr. text to emphasize the man's tremendous strength.

5:4 shackles and chains. "Shackles" (probably metal or perhaps, in part, cord or rope) were used to restrain the feet and "chains" were metal restraints for the rest of the body.

anyone tame him. 5 And always, night and day, he was in the mountains and in the tombs, crying out and cutting himself with stones.

6 When he saw Jesus from afar, he ran and worshiped Him. 7 And he cried out with a loud voice and said, "What have I to do with You, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I [c]implore[3] You by God that You do not torment me."

8 For He said to him, [d]"Come out of the man, unclean spirit!" 9 Then He asked him, "What is your name?"

And he answered, saying, "My name is Legion; for we are many." 10 Also he begged Him earnestly that He would not send them out of the country.

11 Now a large herd of [e]swine was feeding there near the mountains. 12 So all the demons begged Him, saying, "Send us to the swine, that we may enter them." 13 And [4]at once Jesus gave them permission. Then the unclean spirits went out and entered the swine (there were about two thousand); and the herd ran violently down the steep place into the sea, and drowned in the sea.

14 So those who fed the swine fled, and they told it in the city and in the country. And they went out to see what it was that had happened. 15 Then they came to Jesus, and saw the one who had been [f]demon-possessed and had the legion, [g]sitting and [h]clothed and in his right mind. And they were afraid. 16 And those who saw it told them how it happened to him who had been demon-possessed, and about the swine. 17 Then [i]they began to plead with Him to depart from their region.

18 And when He got into the boat, [j]he who had been demon-possessed begged Him that he might be with Him. 19 However, Jesus did not permit him, but said to him, "Go home to your friends, and tell them what great things the Lord has done for you, and how He has had compassion on you." 20 And he departed and began to [k]proclaim in [5]Decapolis all that Jesus had done for him; and all [l]marveled.

5:5 crying out and cutting himself with stones. "Crying out" describes a continual unearthly scream uttered with intense emotion. The "stones" likely were rocks made of flint with sharp, jagged edges.

5:7 What have I to do with You. A common expression of protest (see note on 1:24). Son of the Most High God. The demons knew that Jesus was deity, the God-Man. "Most High God" was an ancient title used by both Jews and Gentiles to identify the one, true, and living God of Israel and distinguish Him from all false idol gods (cf. Gen. 14:18-20; Num. 24:16; Deut. 32:8; Pss. 18:13; 21:7; Is. 14:14; Dan. 3:26; Luke 1:32; Heb. 7:1). I implore You...do not torment me. See note on Matt. 8:29. Mark adds "I implore you," which shows the demon tried to have Jesus soften the severity of his inevitable fate. Cf. James 2:19.

5:9 "What is your name?" Most likely, Jesus asked this in view of the demon's appeal not to be tormented. However, He did not need to know the demon's name in order to expel him. Rather, Jesus posed the question to bring the reality and complexity of this case into the open. Legion. A Lat. term, by then common to Jews and Greeks, that defined a Roman military unit of 6,000 infantrymen. Such a name denotes that the man was controlled by an extremely large number of militant evil spirits, a truth reiterated by the expression "for we are many."

5:10 he begged. The demon understood that Jesus had all power over him and addressed Him with an intense desire that his request be granted. not send them out of the country. See note on v. 1. The demons wanted to remain in the same area where they had been exercising their evil powers.

5:11 swine. Pigs were unclean animals to the Jews, so the people tending this herd were either Gentiles or Jews unconcerned about the law (see note on Matt. 8:30).

5:13 Jesus gave them permission. According to His sovereign purposes Jesus allowed the demons to enter the pigs and destroy them—the text offers no other explanation (cf. Deut. 29:29; Rom. 9:20). By doing this, Jesus gave the man a graphic, visible, and powerful lesson on the immensity of the evil from which he had been delivered.

5:15 sitting. The man's restful condition was a strong contrast with his former restless, agitated state. in his right mind. He was no longer under the frenzied, screaming control of the demons.

5:16 those who saw it told...about the swine. "Those" may refer to both the 12 and the men who tended the pigs. They wanted people to know what had happened to the man and the pigs, and the relationship between the two events.

5:17 plead with Him to depart from their region. The residents of the region became frightened and resentful toward Jesus because of what had happened. They may have been concerned about the disruption of their normal routine and the loss of property, and they wanted Jesus and His powers to leave the area so no more such financial losses would occur. More compelling, however, was the reality that they were ungodly people frightened by Christ's display of spiritual power (see note on Matt. 8:34).

5:19 tell them...the Lord has done. Jesus was referring to Himself as God who controlled both the natural and the supernatural worlds (cf. Luke 8:39).

5:20 Decapolis. A league of 10 Greek-influenced (Hellenized) cities E of the Jordan River (see note on Matt. 4:25).

5:21 the other side. Jesus and the disciples returned to the NW shore of the Sea of Galilee.

5:22 rulers of the synagogue. They presided over the elders of local synagogues. Those elder groups, made up of lay officials, were in charge of arranging the services and overseeing other synagogue affairs.

and [o]lay Your hands on her, that she may be healed, and she will live." [24] So Jesus went with him, and a great multitude followed Him and thronged Him.

A Woman with Issue Is Healed
Matt. 9:20-22; Luke 8:43-48

[25] Now a certain woman [p]had a flow of blood for twelve years, [26] and had suffered many things from many physicians. She had spent all that she had and was no better, but rather grew worse. [27] When she heard about Jesus, she came behind Him in the crowd and [q]touched His garment. [28] For she said, "If only I may touch His clothes, I shall be made well."

[29] Immediately the fountain of her blood was dried up, and she felt in her body that she was healed of the [6]affliction. [30] And Jesus, immediately knowing in Himself that [r]power had gone out of Him, turned around in the crowd and said, "Who touched My clothes?"

[31] But His disciples said to Him, "You see the multitude thronging You, and You say, 'Who touched Me?' "

[32] And He looked around to see her who had done this thing. [33] But the woman, [s]fearing and trembling, knowing what had happened to her, came and fell down before Him and told Him the whole truth. [34] And He said to her, "Daughter, [t]your faith has made you well. [u]Go in peace, and be healed of your affliction."

Jairus's Daughter Is Healed
Matt. 9:23-26; Luke 8:49-56

[35] [v]While He was still speaking, some came from the ruler of the synagogue's house who said, "Your daughter is dead. Why trouble the Teacher any further?"

[36] As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, He said to the ruler of the synagogue, "Do not be afraid; only [w]believe." [37] And He permitted no one to follow Him except Peter, James, and John the brother of James. [38] Then He came to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and saw [7]a tumult and those who [x]wept and wailed loudly. [39] When He came in, He said to them, "Why make this commotion and weep? The child is not dead, but [y]sleeping."

[40] And they ridiculed Him. [z]But when He had put them all outside, He took the father and the mother of the child, and those who were with Him, and entered where the child was lying. [41] Then He took the child by the hand, and said to her, "Talitha, cumi," which is translated, "Little

5:25 flow of blood. Denotes a chronic internal hemorrhage, perhaps from a tumor or other disease (see note on Matt. 9:20).

5:26 suffered many things from many physicians. In NT times, it was common practice in difficult medical cases for people to consult many different doctors and receive a variety of treatments. The supposed cures were often conflicting, abusive, and many times made the ailment worse, not better. (Luke, the physician, in Luke 8:43 suggested the woman was not helped because her condition was incurable.)

5:28 If only I may touch His clothes. The woman's faith in Jesus' healing powers was so great that she believed even indirect contact with Him through His garments (see note on Matt. 9:20) would be enough to produce a cure.

5:29 fountain of her blood. The source of her bleeding, with the analogy being to the origin of a spring.

5:30 power had gone out of Him. Christ's "power," His inherent ability to minister and work supernaturally, proceeded from Him under the conscious control of His sovereign will. "Who touched My clothes?" Jesus asked this question, not out of ignorance, but so He might draw the woman out of the crowd and allow her to praise God for what had happened.

5:34 your faith has made you well. Jesus' public statement concerning the woman's faith (expressed in vv. 28,33) and its results. The form of the Gr. verb translated "has made you well," which can also be rendered "has made you whole," indicates that her healing was complete. It is the same Gr. word often translated "to save" (see note on Matt. 9:22) and is the normal NT word for saving from sin, which strongly suggests that the woman's faith also led to spiritual salvation.

5:36 only believe. The verb is a command for present, continuous action urging Jairus to maintain the faith he had initially demonstrated in coming to Jesus. Christ knew there was no other proper response to Jairus' helpless situation, and He was confident of faith's outcome (cf. Luke 8:50).

5:37 Peter, James, and John. This is the first time Mark gives special status to these 3 disciples. Scripture never explains why these men were sometimes allowed to witness things that the other disciples were excluded from (cf. 9:2; 14:33), but the trio did constitute an inner circle within the 12. Even the Gr. grammar implies this inner grouping by placing their 3 names under one definite article.

5:38 wept and wailed. In that culture, a sure sign that a death had occurred. Because burial followed soon after death, it was the people's only opportunity to mourn publicly. The wailing was especially loud and mostly from paid mourners (see note on Matt. 9:23).

5:39 not dead, but sleeping. With this figurative expression, Jesus meant that the girl was not dead in the normal sense, because her condition was temporary and would be reversed (see note on Matt. 9:24; cf. John 11:11-14; Acts 7:60; 13:36; 1 Cor. 11:30; 15:6,18, 20,51; 1 Thess. 4:13,14).

5:40 ridiculed. This could more literally be translated, "laughed Him to scorn," or "were laughing in His face." They understood Jesus' words literally and thought they were absurd, so "ridiculed" most likely refers to repeated bursts of laughter aimed at humiliating the Lord. This reaction, although shallow and irreverent, indicates the people were convinced of the irreversible nature of the girl's death and underscores the reality of the miracle Jesus was about to do. put them all outside. This was an emphatic, forceful expulsion which showed Christ's authority and was done because the disbelieving mourners had disqualified themselves from witnessing the girl's resurrection.

5:41 "Talitha, cumi." Mark is the only gospel writer who recorded Jesus' original Aram. words. "Talitha" is a feminine form of "lamb," or "youth." "Cumi" is an imperative meaning "arise." As in other such instances, Jesus addressed the person of the one being raised, not just the dead body (cf. Luke 7:14; John 11:43).

girl, I say to you, arise." 42 Immediately the girl arose and walked, for she was twelve years of age. And they were [a]overcome with great amazement. 43 But [b]He commanded them strictly that no one should know it, and said that something should be given her to eat.

Jesus Is Rejected at Nazareth
Matt. 13:54-58

6 Then [a]He went out from there and came to His own country, and His disciples followed Him. 2 And when the Sabbath had come, He began to teach in the synagogue. And many hearing Him were [b]astonished, saying, [c]"Where did this Man get these things? And what wisdom is this which is given to Him, that such mighty works are performed by His hands! 3 Is this not the carpenter, the Son of Mary, and [d]brother of James, Joses, Judas, and Simon? And are not His sisters here with us?" So they [e]were offended at Him.

4 But Jesus said to them, [f]"A prophet is not without honor except in his own country, among his own relatives, and in his own house." 5 [g]Now He could do no mighty work there, except that He laid His hands on a few sick people and healed them. 6 And [h]He marveled because of their unbelief. [i]Then He went about the villages in a circuit, teaching.

Twelve Are Sent to Serve
Matt. 10:1-42; Luke 9:1-6

7 [j]And He called the twelve to Himself, and began to send them out [k]two by two, and gave them power over unclean spirits. 8 He commanded them to take nothing for the journey except a staff—no bag, no bread, no copper in their money belts— 9 but [l]to wear sandals, and not to put on two tunics.

5:43 no one should know it. Knowledge of the miracle could not be completely withheld, but Christ did not want news of it to spread until after He had left the area, because He knew such news might cause His many Jewish opponents in Galilee to seek Him out and kill Him prematurely. He also wanted to be known for bringing the gospel, not as simply a miracle-worker. Jesus was no doubt concerned that the girl and her parents not be made the center of undue curiosity and sensationalism.

6:1 His own country. Nazareth, Jesus' hometown (see note on Matt. 2:23). His disciples. This was not a private, family visit for Jesus, but a time for ministry.

6:2 Sabbath. See note on 2:23. This implies that no public teaching was done until the Sabbath. teach in the synagogue. See note on 1:21. astonished. The same word as used in 1:22 (see note there); however, here the people's initial reaction gave way to skepticism and a critical attitude toward Jesus.

6:3 carpenter. The people of Nazareth still thought of Jesus as one who carried on his father's trade (cf. Matt. 13:55) as a craftsman who worked in wood and other hard materials (e.g., stones, bricks). The common earthly position of Jesus and His family caused the townspeople to stumble—they refused to see Him as higher than themselves and found it impossible to accept Him as the Son of God and Messiah. Son of Mary. Only here is Jesus called this. The normal Jewish practice was to identify a son by his father's (Joseph's) name. Perhaps that was not done here because Joseph was already dead, or because Christ's audience were recalling the rumors concerning Jesus' illegitimate birth (cf. John 8:41; 9:29)—a man was called the son of his mother if his father was unknown—and were purposely insulting Him with this title as a reference to illegitimacy. brother of James, Joses, Judas, and Simon. See note on Matt. 12:46. These were actual half-brothers of Jesus. "James" was later the leader in the Jerusalem church (cf. Acts 12:17; 15:13; 21:18; 1 Cor. 15:7; Gal. 1:19; 2:9,12) and wrote the epistle of James. "Judas" (Heb. name "Judah") wrote the epistle of Jude. Nothing more is known of the other two. His sisters. Actual half-sisters whose names are never given in the NT. Nothing is known of them, not even if they became believers as the other family members did. they were offended at Him. The Eng. term "scandalize" comes from the Gr. verb translated "were offended," which essentially means "to stumble," or "become ensnared," and fall into a sin (see note on 4:17). The residents of Nazareth were deeply offended at Jesus' posturing Himself as some great teacher because of His ordinary background, His limited formal education, and His lack of an officially-sanctioned religious position.

6:4 See note on Matt. 13:57. Jesus called Himself a prophet, in accord with one of His roles (cf. v. 15; 8:28; Matt. 21:11,46; Luke 7:16; 24:19; John 6:14; 7:40; 9:17). own house. His own family (cf. John 7:5; Acts 1:14).

6:5 He could do no mighty work there. Cf. Matt. 13:58. This is not to suggest that His power was somehow diminished by their unbelief. It may suggest that because of their unbelief people were not coming to Him for healing or miracles the way they did in Capernaum and Jerusalem. Or, more importantly it may signify that Christ limited His ministry both as an act of mercy, so that the exposure to greater light would not result in a worse hardening that would only subject them to greater condemnation, and a judgment on their unbelief. He had the power to do more miracles, but not the will, because they rejected Him. Miracles belonged among those who were ready to believe.

6:6 He marveled because of their unbelief. "Marveled" means Jesus was completely astonished and amazed at Nazareth's reaction to Him, His teaching, and His miracles. He was not surprised at the fact of the people's unbelief, but at how they could reject Him while claiming to know all about Him. Faith should have been the response in that town in Galilee, the region where Christ did so many miracles and so much teaching. villages in a circuit. The outcome of Jesus' visit to Nazareth was that He left there and made a teaching tour of other places in Galilee, concluding near where He started (cf. Matt. 9:35).

6:7 the twelve. See notes on 3:16-19; Matt. 10:2-4. The 12 disciples were by then a divinely-commissioned, recognized group. send them out. The form of this Gr. verb indicates that Jesus individually commissioned each pair to go out as His representatives. two by two. This was a prudent practice (cf. Eccl. 4:9-12) employed by Jewish alms collectors, by John the Baptist (Luke 7:19), by Jesus on other occasions (11:1; 14:13; Luke 10:1), and by the early church (Acts 13:2,3; 15:39-41; 19:22). The practice gave the disciples mutual help and encouragement and met the legal requirement for an authentic testimony (Deut. 19:15). unclean spirits. See notes on 1:23; 5:2.

6:8 a staff. The walking stick, a universal companion of travelers in those days, which also provided potential protection from criminals and wild animals. no bag. They were not to carry the usual leather traveling bag or food sack.

6:9 to wear sandals. Ordinary footwear consisting of leather or wood soles bound on by straps around the ankle and instep. "Sandals" were necessary protection for the feet in view of the hot, rough terrain of Palestine. not to put on two tunics. "Tunics" were stan-

10 [m]Also He said to them, "In whatever place you enter a house, stay there till you depart from that place. 11 [n]And [1]whoever will not receive you nor hear you, when you depart from there, [o]shake off the dust under your feet as a testimony against them. [2]Assuredly, I say to you, it will be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment than for that city!"

12 So they went out and preached that people should repent. 13 And they cast out many demons, [p]and anointed with oil many who were sick, and healed them.

John the Baptist Is Murdered
Matt. 14:1-12; Luke 9:7-9

14 [q]Now King Herod heard of Him, for His name had become well known. And he said,
"John the Baptist is risen from the dead, and therefore [r]these powers are at work in him."

15 [s]Others said, "It is Elijah."

And others said, "It is [3]the Prophet, [t]or like one of the prophets."

16 [u]But when Herod heard, he said,
"This is John, whom I beheaded; he has been raised from the dead!" 17 For Herod himself had sent and laid hold of John, and bound him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife; for he had married her. 18 Because John had said to Herod, [v]"It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife."

19 Therefore Herodias [4]held it against him and wanted to kill him, but she could not; 20 for Herod [w]feared John, knowing that he was a just and holy man, and he protected him. And when he heard him, he [5]did many things, and heard him gladly.

21 [x]Then an opportune day came when Herod [y]on his birthday gave a feast for his nobles, the high officers, and the chief men of Galilee. 22 And when Herodias' daughter herself came in and danced, and pleased Herod and those who sat with him, the king said to the girl, "Ask me whatever you want, and I will give it to you." 23 He also swore to her, [z]"Whatever you ask me, I will give you, up to half my kingdom."

dard garments of clothing. Men of comparative wealth would wear two, but Jesus wanted the disciples to identify with common people and travel with just minimum clothing.

6:10 The disciples were to carefully select where they stayed (cf. Matt. 10:11), but once there, the sole focus was to be on ministry. Contentment with their first host and his accommodations would be a testimony to others while the disciples ministered (cf. 1 Tim. 6:6).

6:11 shake off the dust. A symbolic act that signified complete renunciation of further fellowship with those who rejected them (see note on Matt. 10:14). When the disciples made this gesture, it would show that the people had rejected Jesus and the gospel, and were hence rejected by the disciples and by the Lord. more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah. People who reject Christ's gracious, saving gospel will face a fate worse than those pagans killed by divine judgment on the two OT cities (see notes on Gen. 19:24; Matt. 10:15).

6:12,13 preached...cast out many demons. Cf. v. 7. They were heralds of the gospel and had repeated success in expelling evil spirits from people. This demonstrated Christ's power over the supernatural world and confirmed His claim to being God.

6:12 repent. See notes on 1:15; Matt. 3:2.

6:13 anointed with oil...sick. In Jesus' day olive oil was often used medicinally (cf. Luke 10:34). But here it represented the power and presence of the Holy Spirit and was used symbolically in relation to supernatural healing (cf. Is. 11:2; Zech. 4:1-6; Matt. 25:2-4; Rev. 1:4,12). As a well known healing agent, the oil was an appropriate, tangible medium the people could identify with as the disciples ministered to the sick among them.

6:14 King Herod heard. See note on Matt. 14:1. The context indicates Herod heard some exciting news centering on Jesus and resulting from the disciples' recent preaching and miracle working in Galilee. John the Baptist. The forerunner of Christ (see notes on 1:4-7; Matt. 3:1,4,6).

6:15 "It is Elijah." This identification of Jesus, which probably had been discussed repeatedly among the Jews, was based on the Jewish expectation that the prophet Elijah would return prior to Messiah's coming (see notes on Mal. 4:5; Matt. 11:14; Luke 1:17). the Prophet... one of the prophets. Some saw Jesus as the fulfillment of Deut. 18:15, the messianic prophecy that looked to the One who, like Moses, would lead His people. Others were willing to identify Jesus only as a great prophet, or one who was resuming the suspended line of OT prophets. These and the other opinions, although misplaced, show that the people still thought Jesus was special or somehow supernatural.

6:16 John...has been raised from the dead! By this excited, guilt-laden confession, Herod showed that he could not forget the evil he had done in beheading John the Baptist and that his conscience had led him to the eerie fear that John was back from the dead (cf. Matt. 14:1,2; Luke 9:7-9).

6:17 John...bound him in prison. Herod kept him fettered while imprisoned, probably at Machaerus, near the NE shore of the Dead Sea. Herod's intention was to protect John from the plots of Herodias (cf. v. 20). Herodias. Herod's niece, the daughter of his half-brother Aristobulus. Philip's. Herod Philip II, another half-brother to Herod Antipas (the Herod in this passage). Therefore, Philip was also an uncle to Herodias (see note on Matt. 14:3).

6:18 John had said...It is not lawful. The tense of the Gr. verb and Mark's wording imply that John had repeatedly rebuked Herod Antipas in private confrontation that his marriage to Herodias was contrary to Mosaic law (see note on Matt. 14:3; cf. Matt. 3:7-10).

6:20 he did many things. The preferred reading is "he was very perplexed," which indicates that Herod's interaction with John left him in great internal conflict—a moral struggle between his lust for Herodias and the prodding of his guilty conscience.

6:21 nobles. This term may also be translated "lords," or "great ones." These were men who held high civil offices under Herod. high officers. High-ranking military officials (Gr., chiliarchs) who each commanded 1,000 men. chief men of Galilee. The key social leaders of the region.

6:22 Herodias' daughter. Salome, her daughter by Philip (see note on Matt. 14:6). danced. Refers to a solo dance with highly suggestive hand and body movements, comparable to a modern striptease. It was unusual and almost unprecedented that Salome would have performed in this way before Herod's guests (cf. Esth. 1:11,12).

6:23 up to half my kingdom. This was an exaggeration designed to enhance his previous statement of generosity. As a Roman tetrarch, Herod actually had no "kingdom" to give.

24 So she went out and said to her mother, "What shall I ask?"

And she said, "The head of John the Baptist!"

25 Immediately she came in with haste to the king and asked, saying, "I want you to give me at once the head of John the Baptist on a platter."

26 [a]And the king was exceedingly sorry; yet, because of the oaths and because of those who sat with him, he did not want to refuse her. 27 Immediately the king sent an executioner and commanded his head to be brought. And he went and beheaded him in prison, 28 brought his head on a platter, and gave it to the girl; and the girl gave it to her mother. 29 When his disciples heard of it, they came and [b]took away his corpse and laid it in a tomb.

Twelve Return—Luke 9:10

30 [c]Then the apostles gathered to Jesus and told Him all things, both what they had done and what they had taught. 31 [d]And He said to them, "Come aside by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while." For [e]there were many coming and going, and they did not even have time to eat.

Five Thousand Are Fed
Matt. 14:13-21; Luke 9:11-17; John 6:1-14

32 [f]So they departed to a deserted place in the boat by themselves.

33 But [6]the multitudes saw them departing, and many [g]knew Him and ran there on foot from all the cities. They arrived before them and came together to Him. 34 [h]And Jesus, when He came out, saw a great multitude and was moved with compassion for them, because they were like [i]sheep not having a shepherd. So [j]He began to teach them many things. 35 [k]When the day was now far spent, His disciples came to Him and said, "This is a deserted place, and already the hour is late. 36 Send them away, that they may go into the surrounding country and villages and buy themselves [7]bread; for they have nothing to eat."

37 But He answered and said to them, "You give them something to eat."

And they said to Him, [l]"Shall we go and buy two hundred denarii worth of bread and give them something to eat?"

38 But He said to them, "How many loaves do you have? Go and see."

And when they found out they said, [m]"Five, and two fish."

39 Then He [n]commanded them to make them all sit down in groups on the green grass. 40 So they sat down in ranks, in hundreds and in fifties. 41 And when He had taken the five loaves and the two fish, He [o]looked up to heaven, [p]blessed and broke the loaves, and gave them to His disciples to set before them; and the two fish He divided among them all. 42 So they all ate and were filled. 43 And they took up twelve baskets full of fragments and of the fish. 44 Now those who had eaten the loaves were [8]about five thousand men.

6:26 because of the oaths. Herod, as a monarch, felt bound because oaths were considered sacred and unbreakable (see notes on Matt. 5:34; 14:9).

6:27 executioner. Originally meant spy or scout, but came to describe a staff member of a Roman tribune. They served as couriers and bodyguards as well as executioners. Herod had adopted the custom of surrounding himself with such men.

6:31 by yourselves. Jesus' invitation for a retreat into the desert was restricted to the 12. He knew they needed rest and privacy after their tiring ministry expedition and the continuing press of the people.

6:32 departed...in the boat by themselves. The disciples obeyed Jesus' proposal, departing from His headquarters in Capernaum using the same boat as in 5:2.

6:33 ran there on foot. The direction (toward the NE shore of the lake) and speed of the boat, along with the immediate lack of other available boats, caused the crowd to follow by land. arrived before them. Contained only in Mark's account, this does not necessarily mean everyone arrived before the boat, because the land distance was probably 8 mi., twice as far as the 4 mi. the boat had to travel. Rather, those young and eager in the crowd were able to outrun both the rest and the boat (probably because it encountered no wind or a contrary wind) and actually arrive at the shore before the boat (cf. Matt. 14:13,14; Luke 9:11; John 6:3,5).

6:34 was moved with compassion. See note on Matt. 9:36. sheep not having a shepherd. An OT picture (cf. Num. 27:17; 1 Kin. 22:17; 2 Chr. 18:16; Ezek. 34:5) used to describe the people as helpless and starving, lacking in spiritual guidance and protection, and exposed to the perils of sin and spiritual destruction.

6:37 two hundred denarii. A single denarius (see note on Matt. 22:19) was equivalent to a day's pay for the day laborer (cf. Matt. 20:2). "Two hundred" would therefore equal 8 months' wages and be quite beyond the disciples' (or any average person's) means.

6:38 loaves. Lit. "bread-cakes," or "rolls."

6:39 green grass. This detail indicates it was the spring rainy season, before the hot summer would have turned the grass dry and brown.

6:40 in hundreds and in fifties. A symmetrical seating arrangement, possibly 50 semi-circles of 100 people each, with the semi-circles one behind the other in ranks. Such an arrangement was familiar to the Jews during their festivals, and it made food distribution more convenient.

6:41 looked up to heaven. A typical prayer posture for Jesus (cf. 7:34; Luke 24:35; John 11:41; 17:1). Heaven was universally regarded as the Father's dwelling place (Matt. 6:9).

6:42 all ate and were filled. The hunger of everyone in the crowd was completely satisfied (cf. John 6:11).

6:43 twelve baskets full. The "baskets," apparently the same ones used to bring the food, were small wicker containers like the ones the Jews used to carry food.

6:44 five thousand men. The Gr. word for "men" means strictly males, so the numerical estimate did not include women and chil-
