And You [k]preserve them all.
The host of heaven worships You.

7 "You are the LORD God,
Who chose [l]Abram,
And brought him out of Ur of the Chaldeans,
And gave him the name [m]Abraham;
8 You found his heart [n]faithful before You,
And made a [o]covenant with him
To give the land of the Canaanites,
The Hittites, the Amorites,
The Perizzites, the Jebusites,
And the Girgashites—
To give it to his descendants.
You [p]have performed Your words,
For You are righteous.

9 "You[q] saw the affliction of our fathers in Egypt,
And [r]heard their cry by the Red Sea.
10 You [s]showed signs and wonders against Pharaoh,
Against all his servants,
And against all the people of his land.
For You knew that they [t]acted [3]proudly against them.
So You [u]made a name for Yourself, as it is this day.
11 [v]And You divided the sea before them,
So that they went through the midst of the sea on the dry land;
And their persecutors You threw into the deep,
[w]As a stone into the mighty waters.
12 Moreover You [x]led them by day with a cloudy pillar,
And by night with a pillar of fire,
To give them light on the road
Which they should travel.

13 "You[y] came down also on Mount Sinai,
And spoke with them from heaven,
And gave them [z]just ordinances and true laws,
Good statutes and commandments.
14 You made known to them Your [a]holy Sabbath,
And commanded them precepts, statutes and laws,
By the hand of Moses Your servant.
15 You [b]gave them bread from heaven for their hunger,
And [c]brought them water out of the rock for their thirst,
And told them to [d]go in to possess the land
Which You had [4]sworn to give them.

16 "But[e] they and our fathers acted [5]proudly,
[f]Hardened[6] their necks,
And did not heed Your commandments.
17 They refused to obey,
And [g]they were not mindful of Your wonders
That You did among them.
But they hardened their necks,
And [7]in their rebellion
They appointed [h]a leader

9:6 have made heaven. The recitation was ordered historically, although themes of promise and judgment are traced through Israel's history with God. The first feature is the celebration of God's greatness as Creator (cf. Gen. 1,2). The host of heaven worships You. The praise which Israel offered on earth was also echoed in the heavens by angelic hosts.

9:8 found his heart faithful before You. The Abrahamic Covenant (Gen. 12:1-3; 15:4-7; 17:1-9) was based on God's faithfulness to His Word and given to a man who was faithful to Him. See notes on Gen. 15:6 and Rom. 4, where the faithful heart of Abraham is discussed. a covenant with him to give the land. The covenant was a covenant of salvation, but also involved the Promised Land. The people, having just returned from captivity, understandably emphasized that feature of the covenant, since God had returned them to the Land.

9:9-12 This section of the prayer of praise and confession recounts the Exodus (see Ex. 2–15).

9:10 made a name for Yourself. God established His righteous reputation over the powers of Egypt by the miracles of immense power performed in Egypt.

9:13-19 The months at Sinai are remembered (see Ex. 19–40).

9:17 They appointed a leader. The Heb. of this statement is almost a repeat of Num. 14:4, which records the discontent of the people with God's plan and Moses' leadership.

To return to their bondage.
But You are God,
Ready to pardon,
[i]Gracious and merciful,
Slow to anger,
Abundant in kindness,
And did not forsake them.

18 "Even [j]when they made a molded calf for themselves,
And said, 'This is your god
That brought you up out of Egypt,'
And worked great provocations,
19 Yet in Your [k]manifold mercies
You did not forsake them in the wilderness.
The [l]pillar of the cloud did not depart from them by day,
To lead them on the road;
Nor the pillar of fire by night,
To show them light,
And the way they should go.
20 You also gave Your [m]good Spirit to instruct them,
And did not withhold Your [n]manna from their mouth,
And gave them [o]water for their thirst.
21 [p]Forty years You sustained them in the wilderness;
They lacked nothing;
Their [q]clothes did not wear out
And their feet did not swell.

22 "Moreover You gave them kingdoms and nations,
And divided them into [8]districts.
So they took possession of the land of [r]Sihon,
[9]The land of the king of Heshbon,
And the land of Og king of Bashan.
23 You also multiplied [s]their children as the stars of heaven,
And brought them into the land
Which You had told their fathers
To go in and possess.
24 So [t]the [1]people went in
And possessed the land;

[u] You subdued before them the inhabitants of the land,

And gave them into their hands,

And the people of the land,

25 And they took strong cities and a [v]rich land,
And possessed [w]houses full of all goods,

9:19-21 This section remembers the 38 years of wandering in the wilderness (cf. Num. 9–19).

9:21 They lacked nothing. The same word is used in Ps. 23:1, "I shall not want." Even during the long season of chastisement, God miraculously cared for their every need.

9:22-25 These verses encompass the period of possessing the Promised Land, as recorded in Num. 20–Josh. 24.

9:22 gave them kingdoms and nations. Canaan was comprised of a number of politically semi-autonomous groups all loosely connected under the waning authority of Egypt. The Lord divided Canaan into tribal districts, thus apportioning the Land for Israel's possession.

9:23 multiplied their children. A nation of offspring was another aspect of the promise made to Abraham (Gen. 12:1-3). God told Abraham that his seed would be like the stars of heaven (Gen. 15:5) and Ex. 1:1-3 reminded Israel that their multiplication in Egypt was nothing short of miraculous.

9:24 subdued before them. Moses said in Ex. 15:3, "The LORD is a man of war." As Israel's military leader and king, He led them into battle to defeat their enemies and take the Land.

9:26-31 This section summarizes the period from the judges to the Assyrian deportation (722 B.C.) and Babylonian exile (586 B.C.). See 2 Kin. 17–25.

9:26 who testified against them. God's prophets brought them to God's court to be judged by His law. This theme is repeated throughout the message (vv. 29,30,34).

Yet when they returned and cried out to You,
You heard from heaven;
And [g]many times You delivered them according to Your mercies,
29 And [4]testified against them,
That You might bring them back to Your law.
Yet they acted [5]proudly,
And did not heed Your commandments,
But sinned against Your judgments,
[h]'Which if a man does, he shall live by them.'
And they shrugged their shoulders,
[6]Stiffened their necks,
And would not hear.
30 Yet for many years You had patience with them,
And [7]testified [i]against them by
Your Spirit [j]in Your prophets.
Yet they would not listen;
[k]Therefore You gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands.
31 Nevertheless in Your great mercy
[l]You did not utterly consume them nor forsake them;
For You are God, gracious and merciful.

32 "Now therefore, our God,
The great, the [m]mighty, and awesome God,
Who keeps covenant and mercy:
Do not let all the [8]trouble seem small before You
That has come upon us,
Our kings and our princes,
Our priests and our prophets,
Our fathers and on all Your people, [n]From the days of the kings of Assyria until this day.
33 However [o]You are just in all that has befallen us;
For You have dealt faithfully,
But [p]we have done wickedly.
34 Neither our kings nor our princes,
Our priests nor our fathers,
Have kept Your law,
Nor heeded Your commandments and Your testimonies,
With which You testified against
them.
35 For they have [q]not served You in their kingdom,
Or in the many good things that
You gave them,
Or in the large and rich land which
You set before them;
Nor did they turn from their wicked works.

36 "Here [r]we are, servants today!
And the land that You gave to our fathers,
To eat its fruit and its bounty,
Here we are, servants in it!
37 And [s]it yields much increase to the kings
You have set over us,
Because of our sins;
Also they have [t]dominion over our bodies and our cattle
At their pleasure;
And we are in great distress.

38 "And because of all this,
We [u]make a sure covenant and write it;
Our leaders, our Levites, and our priests [v]seal it."

9:32 Now therefore. Having reviewed the faithfulness of God to the Abrahamic Covenant (vv. 7,8) throughout Israel's national history, the prayer picks up with the present time confessing their unfaithfulness to (vv. 33-35) and renewed commitment to the Mosaic Covenant (vv. 36-38). kings of Assyria...this day. This statement sweeps across a summary of Assyrian, Babylonian, and Persian domination of the nation for almost 4 centuries up to that time.

9:36,37 in it...over us. The praise prayer rejoices that the Jews have been returned to the Land, but grieves that Gentiles still rule over them.

9:37 much increase to the kings. Because God's people continued in widespread sin, enemy kings enjoyed the bounty that would have been Israel's.

9:38 because of all this. The history of God's faithfulness, in spite of Israel's unfaithfulness, is the ground of a pledge and promise which the people make to obey God and not repeat the sins of their fathers.

9:38–10:39 The nation makes a new covenant with God to keep the Mosaic law. Though well intended, as they had been in Ex. 24:1-8, their failure was forthcoming (see note on 13:10-13).

9:38 We make a sure covenant and write it. A covenant was a binding agreement between two parties. In short, it was a formalized relationship with commitments to loyalty. In this case, the nation initiated this covenant with God.

10:1-27 The list of sealed signatures on the covenant were from the leaders. Surprisingly, Ezra's name is not listed.

The Covenant That Was Sealed

28 [d]Now the rest of the people—the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, the Nethinim, [e]and all those who had separated themselves from the peoples of the lands to the Law of God, their wives, their sons, and their daughters, everyone who had knowledge and understanding— 29 these joined with their brethren, their nobles, [f]and entered into a curse and an oath [g]to walk in God's Law, which was given by Moses the servant of God, and to observe and do all the commandments of the LORD our Lord, and His ordinances and His statutes: 30 We would not give [h]our daughters as wives to the peoples of the land, nor take their daughters for our sons; 31 [i]if the peoples of the land brought [2]wares or any grain to sell on the Sabbath day, we would not buy it from them on the Sabbath, or on a holy day; and we would forego the [j]seventh year's produce and the [k]exacting[3] of every debt.

32 Also we made ordinances for ourselves, to exact from ourselves yearly [l]one-third of a shekel for the service of the house of our God: 33 for [m]the showbread, for the regular grain offering, for the [n]regular burnt offering of the Sabbaths, the New Moons, and the set feasts; for the holy things, for the sin offerings to make atonement for Israel, and all the work of the house of our God. 34 We cast lots among the priests, the Levites, and the people, [o]for bringing the wood offering into the house of our God, according to our fathers' houses, at the appointed times year by year, to burn on the altar of the LORD our God [p]as it is written in the Law.

35 And we made ordinances [q]to bring the firstfruits of our ground and the firstfruits of all fruit of all trees, year by year, to the house of the LORD; 36 to bring the [r]firstborn of our sons and our cattle, as it is written in the Law, and the firstborn of our herds and our flocks, to the house of our God, to the priests who minister in the house of our God; 37 [s]to bring the firstfruits of our dough, our offerings, the fruit from all kinds of trees, the new wine and oil, to the priests, to the storerooms of the [4]house of our God; and to bring [t]the tithes of our land to the Levites, for the Levites should receive the tithes in all our farming communities. 38 And the priest, the descendant

10:28 Nethinim. See note on Ezra 2:43-54. who had separated themselves. These are those who 1) had followed the demand of Ezra and Nehemiah to divorce pagan spouses or 2) had been left in the Land but never joined themselves to any heathen, thus remaining separate. Intermarriage with the nations had previously precipitated an influence in Israel which had culminated in Babylonian slavery, thus playing a major role in Israel's unfaithfulness to the covenant.

10:29 a curse and an oath. Covenants characteristically were ratified by an oath ceremony in which the parties swore to the terms of the covenant. A curse rite was often included wherein the slaughtering of an animal indicated similar consequences for the covenant breaker. Israel's pledged adherence to the law was thus solemnly affirmed.

10:30 not give our daughters...nor take their daughters. Parents controlled marriages, so this part of the covenant came from them. Again, it stressed the serious matter of marrying a heathen from an idolatrous people (see Ezra 10).

10:32-39 The remainder of the conditions the people made in their covenant involved matters of the temple.

10:32,33 we made ordinances. What the people were committing themselves to do by covenant turned into law requiring a one-third shekel temple tax. The Mosaic ordinance required one-half of a shekel (see Ex. 30:11-16), but the severe economic straits of the time led to the reduced amount. By the time of Christ, the people had returned to the Mosaic stipulation of one-half of a shekel. See note on Matt. 17:24.

10:34 The carrying of the wood for the constantly burning altar (Lev. 6:12 ff.) had formerly been the duty of the Nethinim, but few of them had returned from Babylon (7:60) so more people were chosen to assist in this task.

10:35-39 Laws for all the offerings and titles were reinstated so as not to "neglect the house of our God" (v. 39).

10:35-37 firstfruits...firstborn...firstborn. These laws required the firstfruits of the ground (see Ex. 23:19; 34:26; Deut. 26:2), the firstfruits of the trees (see Lev. 19:24; Num. 18:13), the firstborn sons redeemed by the estimated price of the priest (see Num. 18:15), and the firstborn of the herds and flocks (see Ex. 13:12; Num. 18:15, 17). All of this was kept at the storehouses near the temple and distributed for the support of the priests and Levites. The Levites then gave a tenth of what they received to the priests (cf. Num. 18:26).

of Aaron, shall be with the Levites [u] when the Levites receive tithes; and the Levites shall bring up a tenth of the tithes to the house of our God, to [v] the rooms of the storehouse.

39 For the children of Israel and the children of Levi [w] shall bring the offering of the grain, of the new wine and the oil, to the storerooms where the articles of the sanctuary are, where the priests who minister and the gatekeepers [x] and the singers are; and we will not [y] neglect the house of our God.

The People Dwelling in Jerusalem

11 Now the leaders of the people dwelt at Jerusalem; the rest of the people cast lots to bring one out of ten to dwell in Jerusalem, [a] the holy city, and nine-tenths were to dwell in other cities. 2 And the people blessed all the men who [b] willingly offered themselves to dwell at Jerusalem.

3 [c] These are the heads of the province who dwelt in Jerusalem. (But in the cities of Judah everyone dwelt in his own possession in their cities—Israelites, priests, Levites, [d] Nethinim, and [e] descendants of Solomon's servants.) 4 Also [f] in Jerusalem dwelt some of the children of Judah and of the children of Benjamin.

The children of Judah: Athaiah the son of Uzziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel, of the children of [g] Perez; 5 and Maaseiah the son of Baruch, the son of Col-Hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zechariah, the son of Shiloni. 6 All the sons of Perez who dwelt at Jerusalem were four hundred and sixty-eight valiant men.

7 And these are the sons of Benjamin: Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeshaiah; 8 and after him Gabbai and Sallai, nine hundred and twenty-eight. 9 Joel the son of Zichri was their overseer, and Judah the son of [1] Senuah was second over the city.

10 [h] Of the priests: Jedaiah the son of Joiarib, and Jachin; 11 Seraiah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, was the leader of the house of God.

10 [h] 1 Chr. 9:10

12 Their brethren who did the work of the house were eight hundred and twenty-two; and Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malchijah, 13 and his brethren, heads of the fathers' houses, were two hundred and forty-two; and Amashai the son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer, 14 and their brethren, mighty men of valor, were one hundred and twenty-eight. Their overseer was Zabdiel [2] the son of one of the great men.

15 Also of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni; 16 [i] Shabbethai and [j] Jozabad, of the heads of the Levites, had the oversight of [k] the business outside of the [3] house of God; 17 Mattaniah the son of [4] Micha, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, the leader who began the thanksgiving with prayer; Bakbukiah, the second among his brethren; and Abda the son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun. 18 All the Levites in [l] the holy city were two hundred and eighty-four.

19 Moreover the gatekeepers, Akkub, Talmon, and their brethren who kept the gates, were one hundred and seventy-two.

20 And the rest of Israel, of the priests and Levites, were in all the cities of Judah, everyone in his inheritance. 21 [m] But the Nethinim dwelt in Ophel. And Ziha and Gishpa were over the Nethinim.

22 Also the overseer of the Levites at Jerusalem was Uzzi the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micha, of the sons of Asaph, the singers in charge of the [5] service of the [6] house of God. 23 For [n] it was the king's command concerning them that a [7] certain portion should be for the singers, a quota day by day. 24 Pethahiah the son of Meshezabel, of the children of [o] Zerah the son of Judah, was [p] the [8] king's deputy in all matters concerning the people.

The People Dwelling Outside Jerusalem

25 And as for the villages with their fields, some of the children of Judah dwelt in [q] Kirjath Arba and its villages, Dibon and its villages, Jekabzeel and its villages; 26 in Jeshua, Moladah, Beth Pelet, 27 Hazar Shual, and Beersheba and its villages; 28 in 11:1–13:31 Details of Nehemiah exercising his governorship are given in this section.

11:1–12:26 Jerusalem and Judah are resettled.

11:1 cast lots. A method of decision making which God honored (Prov. 16:33). Nehemiah redistributed the population so that one out of every 10 Jews lived in Jerusalem. The other 9 were free to reestablish their family heritage in the Land.

11:3-24 The people who dwelt in Jerusalem are identified.

11:21 Ophel. See note on 3:26.

11:25-36 These are the places where 90 percent of the people dwelt outside of Jerusalem (cf. Ezra 2:21-23,27,34).

Ziklag and Meconah and its villages; 29 in En Rimmon, Zorah, Jarmuth, 30 Zanoah, Adullam, and their villages; in Lachish and its fields; in Azekah and its villages.
They dwelt from Beersheba to the Valley of Hinnom.

31 Also the children of Benjamin from Geba dwelt in Michmash, Aija, and Bethel, and their villages; 32 in Anathoth, Nob,
Ananiah; 33 in Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim;
34 in Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat; 35 in Lod, Ono, and [r]the Valley of Craftsmen. 36 Some of the Judean divisions of Levites were in Benjamin.

The Priests and Levites

12 Now these are the [a]priests and the Levites who came up with [b]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua:
[c]Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra, 2 Amariah, [1]Malluch, Hattush, 3 [2]Shechaniah, [3]Rehum,
[4]Meremoth, 4 Iddo, [5]Ginnethoi, [d]Abijah,
5 [6]Mijamin, [7]Maadiah, Bilgah, 6 Shemaiah, Joiarib, Jedaiah, 7 [8]Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, and Jedaiah.

These were the heads of the priests and their brethren in the days of [e]Jeshua.

8 Moreover the Levites were Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and Mattaniah [f]who led the thanksgiving psalms, he and his brethren. 9 Also Bakbukiah and Unni, their brethren, stood across from them in their duties.

10 Jeshua begot Joiakim, Joiakim begot
Eliashib, Eliashib begot Joiada, 11 Joiada begot Jonathan, and Jonathan begot Jaddua.

12 Now in the days of Joiakim, the priests, the [g]heads of the fathers' houses were: of Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah; 13 of Ezra, Meshullam; of Amariah, Jehohanan; 14 of [9]Melichu, Jonathan; of [1]Shebaniah, Joseph; 15 of [2]Harim, Adna;
of [3]Meraioth, Helkai; 16 of Iddo, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meshullam; 17 of Abijah, Zichri; the son of [4]Minjamin; of [5]Moadiah, Piltai; 18 of Bilgah, Shammua; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan; 19 of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi; 20 of [6]Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, Eber; 21 of Hilkiah, Hashabiah; and of Jedaiah, Nethanel.

22 During the reign of Darius the Persian, a record was also kept of the Levites and priests who had been [h]heads of their fathers' houses in the days of Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan, and Jaddua. 23 The sons of Levi, the heads of the fathers' houses until the days of Johanan the son of Eliashib, were written in the book of the [i]chronicles.

24 And the heads of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeshua the son of Kadmiel, with their brothers across from them, to [j]praise and give thanks, [k]group [7]alternating with group, [l]according to the command of David the man of God. 25 Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub were gatekeepers keeping the watch at the storerooms of the gates.
26 These lived in the days of Joiakim the son of Jeshua, the son of [8]Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah [m]the governor, and of Ezra the priest, [n]the scribe.

Nehemiah Dedicates the Wall

27 Now at [o]the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem they sought out the Levites in all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem to celebrate the dedication with gladness, [p]both with thanksgivings and singing, with cymbals and stringed instruments and harps. 28 And the sons of the singers gathered together from the countryside around Jerusalem, from the [q]villages of the Netophathites, 29 from the house of Gilgal, and from the fields of Geba and Azmaveth; for the singers had built themselves villages all around Jerusalem. 30 Then the priests and Levites [r]purified themselves, and purified the people, the gates, and the wall.

12:1-26 Originally there were 24 courses of priests, each course serving in the temple for a period of two weeks per year or for one month biannually (see 1 Chr. 24:1-20). Only four of those houses returned from Babylon (see 7:39-42; Ezra 2:36-39) but these were divided into 24 courses of which 22 are listed here. Perhaps two are omitted because their families had become extinct, because no sons were born since the time Zerubbabel originally named them. This then is a selective rather than exhaustive listing of priests and Levites from the time of Zerubbabel and Jeshua, recording the key priests and Levites through 3 generations of High-Priests: 1) Jeshua who came in the initial return with Zerubbabel ca. 538 B.C. (vv. 1-11); 2) Joiakim, the son of Jeshua (vv. 12-21); 3) Eliashib (cf. 3:1) the son of Joiakim (vv. 22,23); 4) a miscellaneous group who served in the days of Joiakim (vv. 24-26).

12:10,11 This record lists 6 generations of High-Priests beginning with Jeshua. The Jonathan of v. 11 is the Johanan of v. 22.

12:12-21 Each of the 22 families in vv. 1-7 is repeated, except one (cf. Hattush; v. 2). Perhaps by the time of Joiakim's High-Priesthood, this family had become extinct, the fathers having no male offspring.

12:23 book of the chronicles. Lit. "were written on the scroll of the matters of the days." This involved precise genealogical records kept in the administrative archives of Judah.

12:27–13:3 The walls were dedicated.

12:27-43 the dedication of the wall. In the same manner marking the dedications of the temple in Solomon's day (2 Chr. 5–7) and the rebuilt temple several decades earlier (Ezra 6:16-18), the rebuilt walls were dedicated with the music of thanksgiving (most likely shortly after the events of Neh. 9).

12:30 purified. See Lev. 16:30 for the sense of moral purity in this symbolic act.

31 So I brought the leaders of Judah up on the wall, and appointed two large thanksgiving choirs. [s] One went to the right hand on the wall [t] toward the Refuse Gate. 32 After them went Hoshaiah and half of the leaders of Judah, 33 and Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam, 34 Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, Jeremiah, 35 and some of the priests' sons [u] with trumpets—Zechariah the son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Michaiah, the son of Zaccur, the son of Asaph, 36 and his brethren, Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani, with [v] the musical [w] instruments of David the man of God. And Ezra the scribe went before them. 37 [x] By the Fountain Gate, in front of them, they went up [y] the stairs of the [z] City of David, on the stairway of the wall, beyond the house of David, as far as [a] the Water Gate eastward.

38 [b] The other thanksgiving choir went the opposite way, and I was behind them with half of the people on the wall, going past the [c] Tower of the Ovens as far as [d] the Broad Wall, 39 [e] and above the Gate of Ephraim, above [f] the Old Gate, above [g] the Fish Gate, [h] the Tower of Hananel, the Tower of [g] the Hundred, as far as [i] the Sheep Gate; and they stopped by [j] the Gate of the Prison.

40 So the two thanksgiving choirs stood in the house of God, likewise I and the half of the rulers with me; 41 and the priests, Eliakim, Maaseiah, [1] Minjamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, and Hananiah, with trumpets; 42 also Maaseiah, Shemaiah, Eleazar, Uzzi, Jehohanan, Malchijah, Elam, and Ezer. The singers [2] sang loudly with Jezrahiah the director.

43 Also that day they offered great sacrifices, and rejoiced, for God had made them rejoice with great joy; the women and the children also rejoiced, so that the joy of Jerusalem was heard [k] afar off.

Temple Responsibilities

44 [l] And at the same time some were appointed over the rooms of the storehouse for the offerings, the firstfruits, and the [m] tithes, to gather into them from the fields of the cities the portions specified by the Law for the priests and Levites; for Judah rejoiced over the priests and Levites who [3] ministered. 45 Both the singers and the gatekeepers kept the charge of their God and the charge of the purification, [n] according to the command of David and Solomon his son. 46 For in the days of David [o] and Asaph of old there were chiefs of the singers, and songs of praise and thanksgiving to God. 47 In the days of Zerubbabel and in the days of Nehemiah all Israel gave the portions for the singers and the gatekeepers, a portion for [p] each day. [q] They also [4] consecrated holy things for the Levites, [r] and the Levites consecrated them for the children of Aaron.

Principles of Separation

13 On that day [a] they read from the Book of Moses in the hearing of the people, and in it was found written [b] that no Ammonite or Moabite should ever come into the assembly of God, 2 because they had not met the children of Israel with bread and water, but [c] hired Balaam

12:43 for God had made them rejoice. The God of all joy (cf. 1 Chr. 12:40; Neh. 8:10; Pss. 16:11; 33:1; 43:4; Gal. 5:22) activated their inner joy which brought corporate celebration. Though these may have been few and far between, moments like this characterized the life of obedience and blessing which God had set before Israel.

12:44-47 A listing of miscellaneous temple activities is given.

12:47 the children of Aaron. The priests.

13:1-31 Nehemiah left Jerusalem in the 32nd year of Artaxerxes ca. 433 B.C. (cf. 5:14; 13:6) and returned to Persia as he promised (cf. 2:6). During his absence, the people returned to their former ways, led by the High-Priest Eliashib (vv. 4,5). Such a defection called for the needed reforms of vv. 1-3,10-30. It was during Nehemiah's absence that Malachi also wrote his prophetic book indicting both priests and people for their sinful defection. Possibly having heard of Eliashib's evil, Nehemiah returned (vv. 4-7). Nehemiah 13 was the last portion of the OT to be written.

13:1,2 On that day they read from the Book of Moses. Not surprisingly, as they read on the regular calendar cycle, they were confronted with areas in which their thinking and practice had wavered from the Scriptures, specifically with regard to the requirements of Deut. 23:3-6.

13:2 Balaam. See Num. 22–24.

against them to curse them. [d]However, our God turned the curse into a blessing. 3 So it was, when they had heard the Law, [e]that they separated all the mixed multitude from Israel.

The Reforms of Nehemiah

4 Now before this, [f]Eliashib the priest, having authority over the storerooms of the house of our God, was allied with [g]Tobiah. 5 And he had prepared for him a large room, [h]where previously they had stored the grain offerings, the frankincense, the articles, the tithes of grain, the new wine and oil, [i]which were commanded to be given to the Levites and singers and gatekeepers, and the offerings for the priests. 6 But during all this I was not in Jerusalem, [j]for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon I had returned to the king. Then after certain days I obtained leave from the king, 7 and I came to Jerusalem and discovered the evil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in [k]preparing a room for him in the courts of the [l]house of God. 8 And it grieved me bitterly; therefore I threw all the household goods of Tobiah out of the room. 9 Then I commanded them to [l]cleanse the rooms; and I brought back into them the articles of the house of God, with the grain offering and the frankincense.

10 I also realized that the portions for the Levites had [m]not been given them; for each of the Levites and the singers who did the work had gone back to [n]his field. 11 So [o]I contended with the rulers, and said, [p]"Why is the house of God forsaken?" And I gathered them together and set them in their place. 12 [q]Then all Judah brought the tithe of the grain and the new wine and the oil to the storehouse. 13 [r]And I appointed as treasurers over the storehouse Shelemiah the priest and Zadok the scribe, and of the Levites, Pedaiah; and next to them was Hanan the son of Zaccur, the son of Mattaniah; for they were considered [s]faithful, and their task was to distribute to their brethren.

14 [t]Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and do not wipe out my good deeds that I have done for the house of my God, and for its services!

15 In those days I saw people in Judah treading wine presses [u]on the Sabbath, and bringing in sheaves, and loading donkeys with wine, grapes, figs, and all kinds of burdens, [v]which they brought into Jerusalem on the Sabbath day. And I warned them about the day on which they were selling provisions. 16 Men of Tyre dwelt there also, who brought in fish and all kinds of goods, and sold them on the Sabbath to the children of Judah, and in Jerusalem.

17 Then I contended with the nobles of Judah, and said to them, "What evil thing is this that you do, by which you profane the Sabbath day? 18 [w]Did not your fathers do thus, and did not our God bring all this disaster on us and on this city? Yet you bring added wrath on Israel by profaning the Sabbath."

19 So it was, at the gates of Jerusalem, as it [x]began to be dark before the Sabbath, that I commanded the gates to be shut, and charged that they must not be opened till after the Sabbath. [y]Then I posted some of my servants at the gates, so that no burdens would be brought in on the Sabbath day. 20 Now the merchants and sellers of all kinds of [2]wares [3]lodged outside Jerusalem once or twice.

21 Then I warned them, and said to them, "Why do you spend the night [4]around the wall? If you do so again, I will lay hands on you!" From that time on they came no more on the Sabbath. 22 And I

13:3 This was done in compliance with their recent pledge (cf. 10:26-29) before Nehemiah left for Persia.

13:4 Tobiah. See note on 2:10. Eliashib had allied with Israel's enemy for some personal gain and taken it to such an extreme as to desecrate the house of God.

13:6 I had returned to the king. Nehemiah returned to Persia as he promised (cf. 2:6) ca. 433 B.C., in the 32nd year of Artaxerxes (cf. 5:14). It is unknown exactly how long Nehemiah remained in Persia, perhaps until ca. 424 B.C., but in that interval the disobedience developed.

13:7-9 Nehemiah's response to the desecration of the temple was similar to Christ's almost 5 centuries later (cf. Matt. 21:12,13; John 2:13-17).

13:9 articles of the house of God. In order to accommodate Tobiah, they had moved the articles of the house of God from their rightful place and put idols in the temple courts.

13:10-13 In Nehemiah's absence, the Jews violated their previous covenant with God regarding offerings (cf. 10:35-40) as reported by Mal. 1:6-14 and 3:8-12. In his presence, it was immediately restored (see notes on 9:38–10:39).

13:10 gone back to his field. By neglecting the tithe, the people failed to support the Levites. Consequently, they had to abandon their responsibilities in the house of God and perform field labor in order to survive.

13:14 Remember me. This refrain is used 3 times here, once after each rebuke (cf. 13:22,31).

13:15-17 They went against their previous covenant by violating the Sabbath (cf. 10:31).

13:16 Tyre. A Phoenician coastal town 20 mi. S of Sidon.

13:18 Jeremiah had rebuked their fathers for the same things (see Jer. 17:21ff.). By such acts their fathers had brought the misery of exile and oppression, and they were doing the same—increasing God's wrath against them.

13:19-22 Nehemiah had to force compliance with threats.

commanded the Levites that [z]they should cleanse themselves, and that they should go and guard the gates, to sanctify the Sabbath day.

Remember me, O my God, concerning this also, and spare me according to the greatness of Your mercy!

23 In those days I also saw Jews who [a]had married women of [b]Ashdod, Ammon, and Moab. 24 And half of their children spoke the language of Ashdod, and could not speak the language of Judah, but spoke according to the language of one or the other people.

25 So I [c]contended with them and [5]cursed them, struck some of them and pulled out their hair, and made them [d]swear by God, saying, "You shall not give your daughters as wives to their sons, nor take their daughters for your sons or yourselves. 26 [e]Did not Solomon king of Israel sin by these things? Yet among many nations there was no king like him, [f]who was beloved of his God; and God made him king over all Israel. [g]Nevertheless pagan women caused even him to sin. 27 Should we then hear of your doing all this great evil, [h]transgressing against our God by marrying pagan women?"

28 And one of the sons [i]of Joiada, the son of Eliashib the high priest, was a son-in-law of [j]Sanballat the Horonite; therefore I drove him from me.

29 [k]Remember them, O my God, because they have defiled the priesthood and [l]the covenant of the priesthood and the Levites.

30 [m]Thus I cleansed them of everything pagan. I also [n]assigned duties to the priests and the Levites, each to his service, 31 and to bringing [o]the wood offering and the firstfruits at appointed times.

[p]Remember me, O my God, for good!

The Book of ESTHER

Title

"Esther" serves as the title without variation through the ages. This book and the book of Ruth are the only OT books named after women. Like Song of Solomon, Obadiah, and Nahum, the NT does not quote or allude to Esther.

"Hadassah" (2:7), meaning "myrtle," was the Heb. name of Esther, which came either from the Persian word "star" or possibly from the name of the Babylonian love goddess, Ishtar. As the orphaned daughter of her father Abihail, Esther grew up in Persia with her older cousin, Mordecai, who raised her as if she were his own daughter (2:7,15).

Author and Date

The author remains unknown, although Mordecai, Ezra, and Nehemiah have been suggested. Whoever penned Esther possessed a detailed knowledge of Persian customs, etiquette, and history, plus particular familiarity with the palace at Shushan (1:5-7). He also exhibited intimate knowledge of the Hebrew calendar and customs, while additionally showing a strong sense of Jewish nationalism. Possibly a Persian Jew, who later moved back to Israel, wrote Esther.

Esther appears as the 17th book in the literary chronology of the OT and closes the OT historical section. Only Ezra 7–10, Nehemiah, and Malachi report later OT history than Esther. The account in Esther ends in 473 B.C. before Ahasuerus died by assassination (ca. 465 B.C.). Esther 10:2 speaks as though Ahasuerus' reign has been completed, so the earliest possible writing date would be after his reign around mid-fifth century B.C. The latest reasonable date would be prior to 331 B.C. when Greece conquered Persia.

Background and Setting

Esther occurred during the Persian period of world history, ca. 539 B.C. (Dan. 5:30,31) to ca. 331 B.C. (Dan. 8:1-27). Ahasuerus ruled from ca. 486 to 465 B.C.; Esther covers the 483–473 B.C. portion of his reign. The name Ahasuerus represents the Heb. transliteration of the Persian name "Khshayarsha," while "Xerxes" represents his Gr. name.

The events of Esther occurred during the wider time span between the first return of the Jews after the 70 year captivity in Babylon (Dan. 9:1-19) under Zerubbabel ca. 538 B.C. (Ezra 1–6) and the second return led by Ezra ca. 458 B.C. (Ezra 7–10). Nehemiah's journey (the third return) from Susa to Jerusalem (Neh. 1–2) occurred later (ca. 445 B.C.).

Esther and Exodus both chronicle how vigorously foreign powers tried to eliminate the Jewish race and how God sovereignly preserved His people in accordance with His covenant promise to Abraham ca. 2100–2075 B.C. (Gen. 12:1-3; 17:1-8). As a result of God's prevailing, Esther 9,10 records the beginning of Purim—a new annual festival in the 12th month (Feb.-Mar.) to celebrate the nation's survival. Purim became one of two festivals given outside of the Mosaic legislation to still be celebrated in Israel (Hanukkah, or the Festival of Lights, is the other, cf. John 10:22).

Historical and Theological Themes

All 167 verses of Esther have ultimately been accepted as canonical, although the absence of God's name anywhere has caused some to unnecessarily doubt its authenticity. The Greek Septuagint (LXX) added an extra 107 apocryphal verses which supposedly compensated for this lack. Along with Song of Solomon, Ruth, Ecclesiastes, and Lamentations, Esther stands with the OT books of the Megilloth, or "5 scrolls." Rabbis read these books in the synagogue on 5 special occasions during the year—Esther being read at Purim (cf. 9:20-32).

The historical genesis for the drama played out between Mordecai (a Benjamite descendant of Saul—2:5) and Haman (an Agagite—3:1,10; 8:3,5; 9:24) goes back almost 1,000 years when the Jews exited from Egypt (ca. 1445 B.C.) and were attacked by the Amalekites (Ex. 17:8-16), whose lineage began with Amalek, son of Esau (Gen. 36:12). God pronounced His curse on the Amalekites, which resulted in their total elimination as a people (Ex. 17:14; Deut. 25:17-19). Although Saul (ca. 1030 B.C.) received orders to kill all the Amalekites, including their king Agag (1 Sam. 15:2,3), he disobeyed (1 Sam. 15:7-9) and incurred God's displeasure (1 Sam. 15:11,26; 28:18). Samuel finally hacked Agag into pieces (1 Sam. 15:32,33). Because of his lineage from Agag, Haman carried deep hostility toward the Jews.

The time of Esther arrived 550 years after the death of Agag, but in spite of such passage of time, neither Haman the Agagite nor Mordecai the Benjamite had forgotten the tribal feud that still smoldered in their souls. This explains why Mordecai refused to bow down to Haman (3:2,3) and why Haman so viciously attempted to exterminate the Jewish race (3:5,6,13). As expected, God's prophecy to extinguish the Amalekites (Ex. 17:14; Deut. 25:17-19) and God's promise to preserve the Jews (Gen. 17:1-8) prevailed.

Because of God's faithfulness to save His people, the festival of Purim (named after the Akkadian word for "lot"—3:7; 9:26), an annual, two day holiday of feasting, rejoicing, sending food to one another, and giving gifts to the poor (9:21,22), was decreed to be celebrated in every generation, by every family, in every province and city (9:27,28). Esther later added a new feature of fasting with lamentation (9:31). Purim is not biblically mentioned again, although it has been celebrated throughout the centuries in Israel.

Esther could be compared to a chess game. God and Satan (as invisible players) moved real kings, queens, and nobles. When Satan put Haman into place, it was as if he announced "Check." God then positioned Esther and Mordecai in order to put Satan into "Checkmate!" Ever since the fall of man (Gen. 3:1-19), Satan has attempted to spiritually sever God's relationship with His human creation and disrupt God's covenant promises with Israel. For example, Christ's line through the tribe of Judah had been murderously reduced to Joash alone, who was rescued and preserved (2 Chr. 22:10-12). Later, Herod slaughtered the infants of Bethlehem, thinking Christ was among them (Matt. 2:16). Satan tempted Christ to denounce God and worship him (Matt. 4:9). Peter, at Satan's insistence, tried to block Christ's journey to Calvary (Matt. 16:22). Finally, Satan entered into Judas who then betrayed Christ to the Jews and Romans (Luke 22:3-6). While God was not mentioned in Esther, He was everywhere apparent as the One who opposed and foiled Satan's diabolical schemes by providential intervention.

In Esther, all of God's unconditional covenant promises to Abraham (Gen. 17:1-8) and to David (2 Sam. 7:8-16) were jeopardized. However, God's love for Israel is nowhere more apparent than in this dramatic rescue of His people from pending elimination. "Behold, He who keeps Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep" (Ps. 121:4).

Interpretive Challenges

The most obvious question raised by Esther comes from the fact that God is nowhere mentioned, as in Song of Solomon. Nor does the writer or any participant refer to the law of God, the Levitical sacrifices, worship, or prayer. The skeptic might ask, "Why would God never be mentioned when the Persian king receives over 175 references? Since God's sovereignty prevailed to save the Jews, why does He then not receive appropriate recognition?"

It seems satisfying to respond that if God desired to be mentioned, He could just as sovereignly have moved the author to write of Him as He acted to save Israel. This situation seems to be more of a problem at the human level than the divine, because Esther is the classic illustration of God's providence as He, the unseen power, controls everything for His purpose. There are no miracles in Esther, but the preservation of Israel through providential control of every event and person reveals the omniscience and omnipotence of Jehovah. Whether He is named is not the issue. He is clearly the main character in the drama.

Second, "Why were Mordecai and Esther so secular in their lifestyles?" Esther (2:6-20) does not seem to have the zeal for holiness like Daniel (Dan. 1:8-20). Mordecai kept his and Esther's Jewish heritage secret, unlike Daniel (Dan. 6:5). The law of God was absent in contrast to Ezra (Ezra 7:10). Nehemiah had a heart for Jerusalem that seemingly eluded the affections of Esther and Mordecai (Neh. 1:1–2:5).

The following observations help to shed some light on these issues. First, this short book does not record everything. Perhaps Mordecai and Esther actually possessed a deeper faith than becomes apparent here (cf. 4:16). Second, even godly Nehemiah did not mention his God when talking to King Artaxerxes (Neh. 2:1-8). Third, the Jewish festivals which provided structure for worship had been lost long before Esther, e.g., Passover (2 Kin. 23:22) and Pentecost (Neh. 8:17). Fourth, possibly the anti-Jewish letter written by the Samaritans to Ahasuerus several years earlier had frightened them (ca. 486 B.C.; Ezra 4:6). Fifth, the evil intentions of Haman did not just first surface when Mordecai refused to bow down (3:1,2). Most likely they were long before shared by others which would have intimidated the Jewish population. Sixth, Esther did identify with her Jewish heritage at a most appropriate time (7:3,4). And yet, the nagging question of why Esther and Mordecai did not seem to have the same kind of open devotion to God as did Daniel remains. Further, Nehemiah's prayer (Neh. 1:5-11, esp. v. 7) seems to indicate a spiritual lethargy among the Jewish exiles in Susa. So this issue must ultimately be resolved by God since He alone knows human hearts.

The King Dethrones Queen Vashti

CHAPTER 1

1 Now it came to pass in the days of [a]Ahasuerus[1] (this was the Ahasuerus who reigned [b]over one hundred and twenty-seven provinces, [c]from India to Ethiopia), 2 in those days when King Ahasuerus [d]sat on the throne of his kingdom, which was in [e]Shushan[2] the [3]citadel, 3 that in the third year of his reign he [f]made a feast for all his officials and servants—the powers of Persia and Media, the nobles, and the princes of the provinces being before him— 4 when he showed the riches of his glorious kingdom and the splendor of his excellent majesty for many days, one hundred and eighty days in all.

5 And when these days were completed, the king made a feast lasting seven days for all the people who were present in [4]Shushan the [5]citadel, from great to small, in the court of the garden of the king's palace. 6 There were white and blue linen curtains fastened with cords of fine linen and purple on silver rods and marble pillars; and the [g]couches were of gold and silver on a mosaic pavement of alabaster, turquoise, and white and black marble. 7 And they served drinks in golden vessels, each vessel being different from the other, with royal wine in abundance, [h]according to the [6]generosity of the king. 8 In accordance with the law, the drinking was not compulsory; for so the king had ordered all the officers of his household, that they should do according to each man's pleasure.

9 Queen Vashti also made a feast for the women in the royal palace which belonged to King Ahasuerus.

10 On the seventh day, when the heart of the king was merry with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, [i]Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, seven eunuchs who served in the presence of King Ahasuerus, 11 to bring Queen Vashti before the king, wearing her royal crown, in order to show her beauty to the people and the officials, for she was beautiful to behold. 12 But Queen Vashti refused to come at the king's command brought by his eunuchs; therefore the king was furious, and his anger burned within him.

13 Then the king said to the [j]wise men [k]who understood the times (for this was the king's manner toward all who knew law and justice, 14 those closest to him being Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan, the [l]seven princes of Persia and Media, [m]who had access to the king's presence, and who [7]ranked highest in the kingdom): 15 "What shall we do to Queen Vashti, according to law, because she did not obey the command of King Ahasuerus brought to her by the eunuchs?"

16 And Memucan answered before the king and the princes: "Queen Vashti has not only wronged the king, but also all the princes, and all the people who are in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus. 17 For the queen's behavior will become known to all women, so that they will [n]despise their husbands in their eyes, when they report, 'King Ahasuerus commanded Queen Vashti to be brought in before him, but she did not come.' 18 This very day the noble ladies of Persia and Media will say to all the king's officials that they have heard of the behavior of the queen. Thus there will be excessive contempt and wrath. 19 If it pleases the king, let a royal [8]decree go out from him, and let it be recorded in the laws of the Persians and the Medes, so that it will [o]not [9]be altered, that Vashti shall come no more before King Ahasuerus; and let the king give her royal position to another who is better than she. 20 When the king's decree which he will make is proclaimed throughout all his empire (for it is great), all wives will [p]honor their husbands, both great and small."

21 And the reply pleased the king and the

1:1 one hundred and twenty-seven provinces. The kingdom comprised 20 regions (3:12; 8:9; 9:3) which were further divided into provinces ruled over by governors (3:12). India to Ethiopia. Ethiopia, not Asia Minor, is mentioned as representing the western edge of the kingdom to avoid any remembrance of the king's previous defeat by the Greeks ca. 481–479 B.C. (cf. 8:9). This description also avoided any confusion with the Ahasuerus of Dan. 9:1. Ahasuerus. See Introduction: Background and Setting.

1:2 Shushan the citadel. Shushan (the Heb. rendering of the Gr. Susa), the winter residence, was one of 4 capital cities; the other 3 included Babylon, Ecbatana (Ezra 6:2), and Persepolis. The citadel refers to the fortified palace complex built above the city for protection.

1:3 the third year. Ca. 483 B.C. This probably included the planning phase for Ahasuerus' later campaign against Greece in which the king suffered a humiliating defeat (ca. 481–479 B.C.). Persia and Media. Cyrus the Persian inherited Media and thus the name Media became just as prominent as Persia (ca. 550 B.C.).

1:9 Queen Vashti. Greek literature records her name as Amestris. She gave birth (ca. 483 B.C.) to Ahasuerus' third son, Artaxerxes, who later succeeded his father Ahasuerus on the throne (Ezra 7:1).

1:12 Vashti refused. Her reason is not recorded, although suggestions have included that 1) her appearance would have involved lewd behavior before drunken men, or 2) that she was still pregnant with Artaxerxes.

1:14 the seven princes. These highest ranking officials (cf. Ezra 7:14) were perhaps equivalent to the magi of Dan. 1:20.

Esther Becomes Queen

CHAPTER 2

2 After these things, when the wrath of King Ahasuerus subsided, he remembered Vashti, [a] what she had done, and what had been decreed against her. 2 Then the king's servants who attended him said: "Let beautiful young virgins be sought for the king; 3 and let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom, that they may gather all the beautiful young virgins to [1] Shushan the [2] citadel, into the women's quarters, under the custody of [3] Hegai the king's eunuch, custodian of the women. And let beauty preparations be given them. 4 Then let the young woman who pleases the king be queen instead of Vashti."

This thing pleased the king, and he did so.

5 In [4] Shushan the [5] citadel there was a certain Jew whose name was Mordecai the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of [b] Kish, a Benjamite. 6 [c] Kish [6] had been carried away from Jerusalem with the captives who had been captured with [7] Jeconiah king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away. 7 And Mordecai had brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther, [d] his uncle's daughter, for she had neither father nor mother. The young woman was lovely and beautiful. When her father and mother died, Mordecai took her as his own daughter.

8 So it was, when the king's command and decree were heard, and when many young women were [e] gathered at [8] Shushan the [9] citadel, under the custody of Hegai, that Esther also was taken to the king's palace, into the care of Hegai the custodian of the women. 9 Now the young woman pleased him, and she obtained his favor; so he readily gave [f] beauty preparations to her, besides [1] her allowance. Then seven choice maidservants were provided for her from the king's palace, and he moved her and her maidservants to the best place in the house of the women.

10 [g] Esther had not [2] revealed her people or family, for Mordecai had charged her not to reveal it. 11 And every day Mordecai paced in front of the court of the women's quarters, to learn of Esther's welfare and what was happening to her.

1:22 letters. The efficient Persian communication network (a rapid relay by horses) played an important role in speedily publishing kingdom edicts (cf. 3:12-14; 8:9,10,14; 9:20,30).

2:1 After these things. Most likely during the latter portion of the king's ill-fated war with Greece (ca. 481–479 B.C.). he remembered Vashti. The king was legally unable to restore Vashti (cf. 1:19-22), so the counselors proposed a new plan with promise.

2:5 Mordecai. See Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes. He was among the fourth generation of deported Jews. Kish. Mordecai's great grandfather who actually experienced the Babylonian deportation. After Babylon fell to Medo-Persia (ca. 539 B.C.), Jews were moved to other parts of the new kingdom. Kish represents a Benjamite family name that could be traced back (ca. 1100 B.C.) to Saul's father (1 Sam. 9:1).

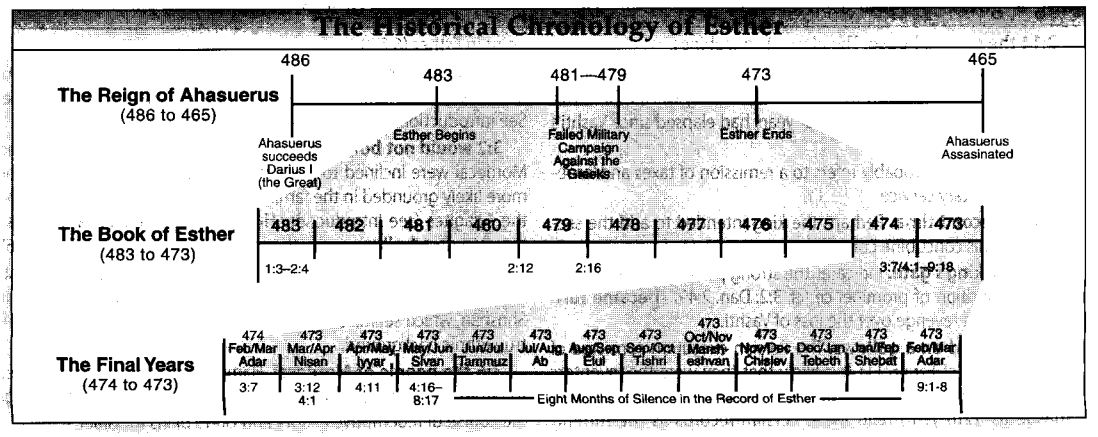
2:6 Jeconiah. Former king of Judah (also known as Jehoiachin and Coniah) who was deported ca. 597 B.C. (cf. 2 Kin. 24:14,15; 2 Chr. 36:9,10). Due to his disobedience, the Lord removed his descendants from the line of David to Christ (Jer. 22:24-30). The family of Mordecai and Esther were part of the good figs in Jer. 24:1-7.

2:7 Esther. See Introduction: Title.

2:8 Esther also was taken. It is impossible to tell if Esther went voluntarily or against her will.

2:9 pleased him. That she pleased Hegai points to God's providential control.

2:10 not to reveal it. Possibly because of the hostile letter mentioned in Ezra 4:6 or the anti-Semitic sentiments of Haman and other like-minded people.



12 Each young woman's turn came to go in to King Ahasuerus after she had completed twelve months' preparation, according to the regulations for the women, for thus were the days of their preparation apportioned: six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with perfumes and preparations for beautifying women. 13 Thus prepared, each young woman went to the king, and she was given whatever she desired to take with her from the women's quarters to the king's palace. 14 In the evening she went, and in the morning she returned to the second house of the women, to the custody of Shaashgaz, the king's eunuch who kept the concubines. She would not go in to the king again unless the king delighted in her and called for her by name.

15 Now when the turn came for Esther [h]the daughter of Abihail the uncle of Mordecai, who had taken her as his daughter, to go in to the king, she requested nothing but what Hegai the king's eunuch, the custodian of the women, advised. And Esther [i]obtained favor in the sight of all who saw her. 16 So Esther was taken to King Ahasuerus, into his royal palace, in the tenth month, which is the month of Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign. 17 The king loved Esther more than all the other women, and she obtained grace and favor in his sight more than all the virgins; so he set the royal [j]crown upon her head and made her queen instead of Vashti. 18 Then the king [k]made a great feast, the Feast of Esther, for all his officials and servants; and he proclaimed a holiday in the provinces and gave gifts according to the [3]generosity of a king.

Mordecai Discovers a Plot

19 When virgins were gathered together a second time, Mordecai sat within the king's gate. 20 [l]Now Esther had not revealed her family and her people, just as Mordecai had charged her, for Esther obeyed the command of Mordecai as when she was brought up by him.

21 In those days, while Mordecai sat within the king's gate, two of the king's eunuchs, [4]Bigthan and Teresh, doorkeepers, became furious and sought to lay hands on King Ahasuerus. 22 So the matter became known to Mordecai, [m]who told Queen Esther, and Esther informed the king in Mordecai's name. 23 And when an inquiry was made into the matter, it was confirmed, and both were hanged on a gallows; and it was written in [n]the book of the chronicles in the presence of the king.

Haman's Conspiracy Against the Jews

3 After these things King Ahasuerus promoted Haman, the son of Hammedatha the [a]Agagite, and [b]advanced him and set his seat above all the princes who were with him. 2 And all the king's servants who were [c]within the king's gate bowed and paid homage to Haman, for so the king had commanded concerning him. But Mordecai [d]would not bow or pay homage. 3 Then the king's servants who were within the king's gate said to Mordecai, "Why do you transgress the [e]king's command?" 4 Now it happened, when they spoke to him daily and he would not listen to them, that they told it to Haman, to see whether Mordecai's words would stand; for Mordecai had told them that he was a Jew. 5 When Haman saw that Mordecai [f]did not bow or pay him homage, Haman was [g]filled with wrath. 6 But he disdained to lay hands on Mordecai alone, for they had told him of the people of Mordecai. Instead, Haman [h]sought to destroy all the Jews who were throughout the whole kingdom of Ahasuerus—the people of Mordecai.

2:14 the second house. The place of concubines.

2:15 obtained favor. According to the Lord's providential plan.

2:16 Tebeth. The tenth month corresponding to Dec./Jan. the seventh year. Ca. 479–478 B.C. Four years had elapsed since Vashti's fall from favor.

2:18 a holiday. Probably refers to a remission of taxes and/or release from military service.

2:19 a second time. Perhaps the king intended to add the second best to his concubine collection.

2:21 the king's gate. Indicates the strong possibility that Mordecai held a position of prominence (cf. 3:2; Dan. 2:49). became furious. Perhaps in revenge over the loss of Vashti.

2:23 hanged on a gallows. The Persian execution consisted of being impaled (cf. Ezra 6:11). It is likely that they were the inventors of crucifixion. book of the chronicles. The king would 5 years later (Ahasuerus' 12th year) read these Persian records as the turning point in Esther (6:1,2).

3:1 After these things. Sometime between the seventh (2:16) and twelfth year (3:7) of the king's reign. Haman...the Agagite. See Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes.

3:2 would not bow. There is a question as to whether Esther and Mordecai were inclined to obey the Mosaic law. This refusal may be more likely grounded in the family feud between the Benjamites and the Agagites (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes), than Mordecai's allegiance to the second commandment (Ex. 20:4-6).

3:4 he was a Jew. It seems evident from Haman's fury and attempted genocide, that there were strong anti-Semitic attitudes in Shushan, which seems to explain Mordecai's reluctance to reveal his true ethnic background.

3:6 the people of Mordecai. Haman was being satanically used to target the entire Jewish race in an unsuccessful attempt to change the course of redemptive history and God's plans for Israel.

7 In the first month, which is the month of Nisan, in the twelfth year of King Ahasuerus, [i]they cast Pur (that is, the lot), before Haman [l]to determine the day and the [2]month, [3]until it fell on the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar.

8 Then Haman said to King Ahasuerus, "There is a certain people scattered and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of your kingdom; [j]their laws are different from all other people's, and they do not keep the king's laws. Therefore it is not fitting for the king to let them remain. 9 If it pleases the king, let a decree be written that they be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver into the hands of those who do the work, to bring it into the king's treasuries."

10 So the king [k]took [l]his signet ring from his hand and gave it to Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the [m]enemy of the Jews. 11 And the king said to Haman, "The money and the people are given to you, to do with them as seems good to you."

12 [n]Then the king's scribes were called on the thirteenth day of the first month, and a decree was written according to all that Haman commanded—to the king's satraps, to the governors who were over each province, to the officials of all people, to every province [o]according to its script, and to every people in their language. [p]In the name of King Ahasuerus it was written, and sealed with the king's signet ring. 13 And the letters were [q]sent by couriers into all the king's provinces, to destroy, to kill, and to annihilate all the Jews, both young and old, little children and women, [r]in one day, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar, and [s]to plunder their [4]possessions. 14 [t]A copy of the document was to be issued as law in every province, being published for all people, that they should be ready for that day. 15 The couriers went out, hastened by the king's command; and the decree was proclaimed in [5]Shushan the [6]citadel. So the king and Haman sat down to drink, but [u]the city of Shushan was [7]perplexed.

Esther Agrees to Help the Jews

4 When Mordecai learned all that had happened, [l]he [a]tore his clothes and put on sackcloth [b]and ashes, and went out into the midst of the city. He [c]cried out with a loud and bitter cry. 2 He went as far as the front of the king's gate, for no one might enter the king's gate clothed with sackcloth. 3 And in every province where the king's command and decree arrived, there was great mourning among the Jews, with fasting, weeping, and wailing; and many lay in sackcloth and ashes.

4 So Esther's maids and eunuchs came and told her, and the queen was deeply distressed. Then she sent garments to clothe Mordecai and take his sackcloth away from him, but he would not accept them. 5 Then Esther called Hathach, one of the king's eunuchs whom he had appointed to attend her, and she gave him a command concerning Mordecai, to learn what and why this was. 6 So Hathach went out to Mordecai in the city square that was in front of the king's gate. 7 And Mordecai told him all that had happened to him, and [d]the sum of money that Haman had promised to pay into the king's treasuries to destroy the Jews. 8 He also gave him [e]a copy of the written decree for their destruction, which was given at [2]Shushan, that he might show

3:7 Nisan. The time period Mar./Apr. Ironically, the Jews should have been celebrating the Passover to remind them of a former deliverance. twelfth year. Ca. 474 B.C. they cast. Haman's court of advisers who made decisions superstitiously based on astrology and casting of lots. Pur...lot. A lot would be like modern dice which were cast to determine future decisions (cf. the Hebrew lot, 1 Chr. 26:14; Neh. 10:34; Jonah 1:7). Proverbs 16:33 states that God providentially controlled the outcome of the lot. Adar. Feb./Mar. There would have been an 11 month interval between Haman's decree and its expected fulfillment.

3:8 a certain people. Haman never divulged their identity.

3:9 ten thousand talents. The exact dollar amount is uncertain, but reportedly it would have weighed 375 tons and equaled almost 70 percent of the king's annual revenue. Since this sum would have been derived from the plunder of the Jews, it indicates that they had grown prosperous.

3:10,11 The king would have easily been eager to eliminate any rebellion against his authority (cf. 3:8), although he did not seem to be interested in the money.

3:10 the enemy of the Jews. Cf. 7:6; 8:1; 9:10,24.

3:12 sealed...king's signet ring. This would be equivalent to the king's signature. The date has been calculated by historians to be Apr. 7, 474 B.C.

3:13 to destroy. An ambitious plot to annihilate the Jews in just one day. Historians have calculated the date to be Mar. 7, 473 B.C. The king had unwittingly approved this provision which would kill his own queen.

3:14 as law. It would be irrevocable (cf. 1:19; 8:5-8).

3:15 perplexed. No specific reason is stated. Most likely even this pagan population was puzzled at the extreme and deadly racism of the king and Haman.

4:1 sackcloth and ashes. An outward sign of inward distress and humiliation (cf. Jer. 6:26; Dan. 9:3; Matt. 11:21). Mordecai realized that he had prompted this genocidal retaliation by Haman.

4:4 she sent garments. Mordecai could then enter the king's gate (cf. 4:2) and talk with Esther directly (cf. Neh. 2:2).

4:5 Hathach. A trusted eunuch who knew of Esther's Jewish background.

4:7,8 That Mordecai possessed this specific knowledge and a copy of the edict further evidences his prominent position in Persia.

it to Esther and explain it to her, and that he might command her to go in to the king to make supplication to him and plead before him for her people. 9 So Hathach returned and told Esther the words of Mordecai.

10 Then Esther spoke to Hathach, and gave him a command for Mordecai: 11 "All the king's servants and the people of the king's provinces know that any man or woman who goes into [f]the inner court to the king, who has not been called, [g]he has but one law: put all to death, except the one [h]to whom the king holds out the golden scepter, that he may live. Yet I myself have not been [i]called to go in to the king these thirty days." 12 So they told Mordecai Esther's words.

13 And Mordecai told them to answer Esther: "Do not think in your heart that you will escape in the king's palace any more than all the other Jews. 14 For if you remain completely silent at this time, relief and deliverance will arise for the Jews from another place, but you and your father's house will perish. Yet who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this?"

15 Then Esther told them to reply to Mordecai: 16 "Go, gather all the Jews who are present in [3]Shushan, and fast for me; neither eat nor drink for [j]three days, night or day. My maids and I will fast likewise. And so I will go to the king, which is against the law; [k]and if I perish, I perish!"

17 So Mordecai went his way and did according to all that Esther commanded [4]him.

Esther's Banquet

5 Now it happened [a]on the third day that Esther put on her royal robes and stood in [b]the inner court of the king's palace, across from the king's house, while the king sat on his royal throne in the royal house, facing the entrance of the [1]house. 2 So it was, when the king saw Queen Esther standing in the court, that [c]she found favor in his sight, and [d]the king held out to Esther the golden scepter that was in his hand. Then Esther went near and touched the top of the scepter.

3 And the king said to her, "What do you wish, Queen Esther? What is your request? [e]It shall be given to you—up to half the kingdom!"

4 So Esther answered, "If it pleases the king, let the king and Haman come today to the banquet that I have prepared for him."

5 Then the king said, "Bring Haman quickly, that he may do as Esther has said." So the king and Haman went to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

6 At the banquet of wine [f]the king said to Esther, [g]"What is your petition? It shall be granted you. What is your request, up to half the kingdom? It shall be done!"

7 Then Esther answered and said, "My petition and request is this: 8 If I have found favor in the sight of the king, and if it pleases the king to grant my petition and [2]fulfill my request, then let the king and Haman come to the [h]banquet which I will prepare for them, and tomorrow I will do as the king has said."

Haman's Plot Against Mordecai

9 So Haman went out that day [i]joyful and with a glad heart; but when Haman saw Mordecai in the king's gate, and [j]that he did not stand or tremble before him, he was filled with indignation against Mordecai. 10 Nevertheless Haman [k]restrained himself and went home, and he sent and called for his friends and his wife Zeresh. 11 Then Haman told them of his great riches, [l]the multitude of his children, everything in which the king had promoted him, and how he had [m]advanced him above the officials and servants of the king.

12 Moreover Haman said, "Besides, Queen Esther invited no one but me to come in with the king to the banquet that she prepared; and tomorrow I am again invited by her, along with the king. 13 Yet all

4:11 golden scepter. In order to protect the king's life from would-be assassins, this practice prevailed. Seemingly, the king would extend the scepter (a sign of kingly authority) only to those whom he knew and from whom he welcomed a visit (cf. 5:2; 8:4). these thirty days. Perhaps Esther feared she had lost favor with the king since he had not summoned her recently.

4:14 relief and deliverance. Mordecai exhibited a healthy faith in God's sovereign power to preserve His people. He may have remembered the Lord's promise to Abraham (cf. Gen. 12:3; 17:1-8). you...will perish. Mordecai indicated that Esther would not escape the sentence or be overlooked because of her prominence (cf. 4:13). such* a time as this. Mordecai indirectly appealed to God's providential timing.

4:16 fast. The text does not mention prayer being included such as was Daniel's practice (Dan. 9:3), though it surely was. perish. Esther's heroic willingness to die for the sake of her fellow Jews is commendable.

5:2 she found favor. This actually means that Esther first found favor with the God of Israel (cf. Prov. 21:1).

5:3 What is your request? Esther deferred her real wish until 7:2,3.

5:3,6 up to half the kingdom. Royal hyperbole that was not intended to be taken at face value (cf. Mark 6:22,23).

5:4 the banquet. The first of two (cf. 5:4-8; 6:14–7:1) that Esther prepared. God would providentially intervene between the two (6:1,2).

5:11 the multitude of his children. At least 10 sons were fathered by Haman (cf. 9:13), who personified sinful pride (cf. Prov. 16:18; 1 Cor. 10:12; Gal. 6:3).

this avails me nothing, so long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the king's gate."

14 Then his wife Zeresh and all his friends said to him, "Let a [n]gallows[3] be made, [4]fifty cubits high, and in the morning [o]suggest to the king that Mordecai be hanged on it; then go merrily with the king to the banquet."

And the thing pleased Haman; so he had [p]the gallows made.

The King Honors Mordecai

6 That night [1]the king could not sleep. So one was commanded to bring [a]the book of the records of the chronicles; and they were read before the king. 2 And it was found written that Mordecai had told of [2]Bigthana and Teresh, two of the king's eunuchs, the doorkeepers who had sought to lay hands on King Ahasuerus. 3 Then the king said, "What honor or dignity has been bestowed on Mordecai for this?"

And the king's servants who attended him said, "Nothing has been done for him."

4 So the king said, "Who is in the court?" Now Haman had just entered [b]the outer court of the king's palace [c]to suggest that the king hang Mordecai on the gallows that he had prepared for him.

5 The king's servants said to him, "Haman is there, standing in the court."

And the king said, "Let him come in."

6 So Haman came in, and the king asked him, "What shall be done for the man whom the king delights to honor?"

Now Haman thought in his heart, "Whom would the king delight to honor more than [d]me?" 7 And Haman answered the king, "For the man whom the king delights to honor, 8 let a royal robe be brought which the king has worn, and [e]a horse on which the king has ridden, which has a royal [3]crest placed on its head. 9 Then let this robe and horse be delivered to the hand of one of the king's most noble princes, that he may array the man whom the king delights to honor. Then [4]parade him on horseback through the city square, [f]and proclaim before him: 'Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor!' "

10 Then the king said to Haman, "Hurry, take the robe and the horse, as you have suggested, and do so for Mordecai the Jew who sits within the king's gate! Leave nothing undone of all that you have spoken."

11 So Haman took the robe and the horse, arrayed Mordecai and led him on horseback through the city square, and proclaimed before him, "Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor!"

12 Afterward Mordecai went back to the king's gate. But Haman [g]hurried to his house, mourning [h]and with his head covered. 13 When Haman told his wife Zeresh and all his friends everything that had happened to him, his wise men and his wife Zeresh said to him, "If Mordecai, before whom you have begun to fall, is of Jewish descent, you will not prevail against [i]him but will surely fall before him."

14 While they were still talking with him, the king's eunuchs came, and hastened to bring Haman to [j]the banquet which Esther had prepared.

Haman Hanged Instead of Mordecai

7 So the king and Haman went to dine with Queen Esther. 2 And on the second day, [a]at the banquet of wine, the king again said to Esther, "What is your petition, Queen Esther? It shall be granted you. And what is your request, up to half the kingdom? It shall be done!"

5:13 avails me nothing. Haman expressed raging fixation on killing Mordecai.

5:14 gallows. A stake on which a human would be impaled to death and/or displayed after death (cf. 2:23). fifty cubits. Approximately 75 ft. or almost 8 stories high. Perhaps the gallows involved displaying a shorter stake atop a building or wall to attain this height.

6:1 the book. Five years (cf. 2:16 with 3:7) had intervened since Mordecai's loyal, but as yet unrewarded, act (cf. 2:23). At exactly the proper moment, God providentially intervened so that the king suffered insomnia, called for the book of records, read of Mordecai's unrewarded deeds 5 years past, and then desired to reward him (cf. Dan. 6:18).

6:4 Who is in the court? The drama intensified as Haman arrived at just the wrong time and for just the wrong reason.

6:6,7 Haman ironically defined the honor to be given to Mordecai at Haman's expense. To his potential wealth from the Jewish plunder, he thought public acclaim would be added.

6:8 royal robe...royal crest. An honor which involved being treated as though the recipient were the king himself (cf. 8:15). This is reminiscent of Joseph in Egypt (Gen. 41:39-45). History affirms that horses were adorned with the royal crown.

6:9 the city square. Whereas Mordecai had been there the day before in sackcloth and ashes (4:6), he arrived with royal honor.

6:10 Mordecai the Jew. Cf. 8:7; 9:29,31; 10:3. Why the king did not remember Haman's edict against the Jews remains unknown.

6:12 mourning. Deservedly, Haman has inherited Mordecai's distress (cf. 4:1,2). What a difference a day makes! His imagined honors had quickly turned to unimaginable humiliation. his head covered. An extreme sign of shame (cf. 2 Sam. 15:30; Jer. 14:3,4).

6:13 you have begun to fall. Neither divine prophecy (Ex. 17:14) nor biblical history (1 Sam. 15:8,9) stood in Haman's favor. Haman's entourage seemed to have some knowledge of this biblical history.

6:14 Haman to the banquet. Like a lamb led to slaughter, Haman was escorted off to his just due.

7:2 second day. The first day reference point included the first banquet. This refers to the second banquet on the second day (cf. 5:8). what is your request? This was the third time that the king inquired (cf. 5:3,6).

3 Then Queen Esther answered and said,
"If I have found favor in your sight, O king, and if it pleases the king, let my life be given me at my petition, and my people at my request. 4 For we have been [b]sold, my people and I, to be destroyed, to be killed, and to be annihilated. Had we been sold as [c]male and female slaves, I would have held my tongue, although the enemy could never compensate for the king's loss."
5 So King Ahasuerus answered and said to Queen Esther, "Who is he, and where is he, who would dare presume in his heart to do such a thing?"
6 And Esther said, "The adversary and [d]enemy is this wicked Haman!"
So Haman was terrified before the king and queen.
7 Then the king arose in his wrath from the banquet of wine and went into the palace garden; but Haman stood before Queen Esther, pleading for his life, for he saw that evil was determined against him by the king. 8 When the king returned from the palace garden to the place of the banquet of wine, Haman had fallen across [e]the couch where Esther was. Then the king said, "Will he also assault the queen while I am in the house?"
As the word left the king's mouth, they [f]covered Haman's face. 9 Now [g]Harbonah, one of the eunuchs, said to the king,
"Look! [h]The [i]gallows, fifty cubits high, which Haman made for Mordecai, who spoke [j]good on the king's behalf, is standing at the house of Haman."
Then the king said, "Hang him on it!"
10 So [j]they [k]hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai.
Then the king's wrath subsided.

Esther Saves the Jews

8 On that day King Ahasuerus gave Queen Esther the house of Haman, the [a]enemy of the Jews. And Mordecai came before the king, for Esther had told [b]how he was related to her. 2 So the king took off [c]his signet ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it to Mordecai; and Esther appointed Mordecai over the house of Haman.
3 Now Esther spoke again to the king, fell down at his feet, and implored him with tears to counteract the evil of Haman the Agagite, and the scheme which he had devised against the Jews. 4 And [d]the king held out the golden scepter toward Esther.
So Esther arose and stood before the king,
5 and said, "If it pleases the king, and if I have found favor in his sight and the thing seems right to the king and I am pleasing in his eyes, let it be written to revoke the [e]letters devised by Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, which he wrote to annihilate the Jews who are in all the king's provinces. 6 For how can I endure to see [f]the evil that will come to my people? Or how can I endure to see the destruction of my countrymen?"
7 Then King Ahasuerus said to Queen Esther and Mordecai the Jew, "Indeed, [g]I have given Esther the house of Haman, and they have hanged him on the gallows because he tried to lay his hand on the Jews.
8 You yourselves write a decree concerning the Jews, [l]as you please, in the king's name, and seal it with the king's signet ring; for whatever is written in the king's name and sealed with the king's signet ring [h]no one can revoke."
9 [i]So the king's scribes were called at that time, in the third month, which is the month of Sivan, on the twenty-third day; and it was manded, to the Jews, the satraps, the gover-

7:3 my people. This plea paralleled God's message through Moses to Pharaoh, "Let my people go," almost 1,000 years earlier (Ex. 7:16).

7:4 sold. Refers back to Haman's bribe (cf. 3:9; 4:7). destroyed...killed...annihilated. Esther recounted the exact language of Haman's decree (cf. 3:13).

7:6 this wicked Haman. Similar to Nathan's famous accusation against King David, "You are the man" (2 Sam. 12:7). Haman's honor had quickly turned to humiliation, and then to horror.

7:8 assault the queen. Blinded by anger, Ahasuerus interpreted Haman's plea to be an act of violence against Esther rather than a plea for mercy.

7:9 Harbonah. Cf. 1:10. Look! Because the place prepared by Haman for Mordecai's execution towered above the city, it became the obvious spot for Haman's death. Mordecai, who spoke good. Haman heard the third capital offense charged against him. One, he manipulated the king in planning to kill the queen's people. Two, he was perceived to accost the queen. Three, he planned to execute a man whom the king had just greatly honored for extreme loyalty to the kingdom.

7:10 they hanged Haman. The ultimate expression of justice (cf. Ps. 9:15,16).

8:1 the house of Haman. Property of a traitor by Persian custom returned to the king. In this case, he gave it to his queen, Esther, who put Mordecai over it (8:2). The outcome for Haman's wife Zerek and his wise men is unknown (5:14; 6:12,13). Haman's 10 sons later died (9:7-10).

8:5 to revoke. This proved to be impossible in light of the inflexible nature of the king's edicts (1:19). However, a counter-decree was possible (cf. 8:8,11,12).

8:9 Sivan. Refers to the period May/June. It had been two months and 10 days since Haman's decree (cf. 3:12); 8 months and 20 days remained until both decrees became simultaneously effective (cf. 3:13).

script and language. 10 [l]And he wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus, sealed it with the king's signet ring, and sent letters by couriers on horseback, riding on royal horses [2]bred from swift steeds.

11 By these letters the king permitted the Jews who were in every city to [m]gather together and protect their lives—to [n]destroy, kill, and annihilate all the forces of any people or province that would assault them, both little children and women, and to plunder their possessions, 12 [o]on one day in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month of [3]Adar. 13 [p]A copy of the document was to be issued as a decree in every province and published for all people, so that the Jews would be ready on that day to avenge themselves on their enemies. 14 The couriers who rode on royal horses went out, hastened and pressed on by the king's command. And the decree was issued in [4]Shushan the [5]citadel.

15 So Mordecai went out from the presence of the king in royal apparel of [6]blue and white, with a great crown of gold and a garment of fine linen and purple; and [q]the city of [7]Shushan rejoiced and was glad. 16 The Jews had [r]light and gladness, joy and honor. 17 And in every province and city, wherever the king's command and decree came, the Jews had joy and gladness, a feast [s]and a holiday. Then many of the people of the land [t]became Jews, because [u]fear of the Jews fell upon them.

The Jews Destroy Their Tormentors

9 Now [a]in the twelfth month, that is, the month of Adar, on the thirteenth day, [b]the time came for the king's command and his decree to be executed. On the day that the enemies of the Jews had hoped to overpower them, the opposite occurred, in that the Jews themselves [c]overpowered those who hated them. 2 The Jews [d]gathered together in their cities throughout all the provinces of King Ahasuerus to lay hands on those who [e]sought their harm. And no one could withstand them, [f]because fear of them fell upon all people. 3 And all the officials of the provinces, the satraps, the governors, and all those doing the king's work, helped the Jews, because the fear of Mordecai fell upon them. 4 For Mordecai was great in the king's palace, and his fame spread throughout all the provinces; for this man Mordecai [g]became increasingly prominent. 5 Thus the Jews defeated all their enemies with the stroke of the sword, with slaughter and destruction, and did what they pleased with those who hated them.

6 And in [h]Shushan[1] the [2]citadel the Jews killed and destroyed five hundred men. 7 Also Parshandatha, Dalphon, Aspatha, 8 Poratha, Adalia, Aridatha, 9 Parmashta, Arisai, Aridai, and Vajezatha— 10 [i]the ten sons of Haman the son of Hammedatha, the enemy of the Jews—they killed; [j]but they did not lay a hand on the [3]plunder.

11 On that day the number of those who were killed in [4]Shushan the [5]citadel [6]was brought to the king. 12 And the king said to Queen Esther, "The Jews have killed and destroyed five hundred men in Shushan the citadel, and the ten sons of Haman. What have they done in the rest of the king's provinces? Now [k]what is your petition? It shall be granted to you. Or what is your further request? It shall be done."

13 Then Esther said, "If it pleases the king, let it be granted to the Jews who are in Shushan to do again tomorrow [l]according to today's decree, and let Haman's ten sons [m]be hanged on the gallows."

14 So the king commanded this to be done; the decree was issued in Shushan, and they hanged Haman's ten sons.

15 And the Jews who were in [7]Shushan [n]gathered together again on the fourteenth

8:11 the king permitted. Just as the king had permitted Haman, so he permitted the Jews to defend themselves and to plunder their spoil (cf. vv. 10,15,16).

8:15 Mordecai went out. This second reward exceeded the first (cf. 6:6-9). Blue and white were the royal colors of the Persian Empire.

8:17 many...people...Jews. The population realized that the God of the Jews greatly exceeded anything that the pantheon of Persian deities could offer (cf. Ex. 15:14-16; Ps. 105:38; Acts 5:11), especially in contrast to their recent defeat by the Greeks.

9:1 twelfth month. During the period Feb.-Mar. Here is a powerful statement with regard to God's providential preservation of the Jewish race in harmony with God's unconditional promise to Abraham (Gen. 17:1-8). This providential deliverance stands in contrast to God's miraculous deliverance of the Jews from Egypt; yet in both cases the same end had been accomplished by the supernatural power of God.

9:3 the fear of Mordecai. Pragmatically, the nation had a change of heart toward the Jews, knowing that the king, the queen, and Mordecai were the ranking royal officials of the land. To be pro-Jewish would put one in favor with the king and his court and put one on the side of God, the ultimate King (cf. Rev. 19:16).

9:6,7 Five hundred men died in Shushan.

9:10 did not lay a hand. Unlike Saul, who did take the plunder (cf. 1 Sam. 15:3 with 15:9), the Jews focused only on the mission at hand, i.e., to preserve the Jewish race (cf. vv. 15,16), even though the king's edict permitted this (8:11).

9:12 further request? Even this pagan king served the cause of utterly blotting out the Amalekites in accord with God's original decree (Ex. 17:14) by allowing for a second day of killing in Shushan to eliminate all Jewish enemies.

9:13 be hanged. I.e., be publicly displayed.

day of the month of Adar and killed three hundred men at Shushan; [o]but they did not lay a hand on the plunder.

16 The remainder of the Jews in the king's provinces [p]gathered together and protected their lives, had rest from their enemies, and killed seventy-five thousand of their enemies; [q]but they did not lay a hand on the plunder. 17 This was on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar. And on the fourteenth of [s]the month they rested and made it a day of feasting and gladness.

The Feast of Purim

18 But the Jews who were at [s]Shushan assembled together [r]on the thirteenth day, as well as on the fourteenth; and on the fifteenth of [t]the month they rested, and made it a day of feasting and gladness. 19 Therefore the Jews of the villages who dwelt in the unwalled towns celebrated the fourteenth day of the month of Adar [s]with gladness and feasting, [t]as a holiday, and for [u]sending presents to one another.

20 And Mordecai wrote these things and sent letters to all the Jews, near and far, who were in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, 21 to establish among them that they should celebrate yearly the fourteenth and fifteenth days of the month of Adar, 22 as the days on which the Jews had rest from their enemies, as the month which was turned from sorrow to joy for them, and from mourning to a holiday; that they should make them days of feasting and joy, of [v]sending presents to one another and gifts to the [w]poor. 23 So the Jews accepted the custom which they had begun, as Mordecai had written to them, 24 because Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews, [x]had plotted against the Jews to annihilate them, and had cast Pur (that is, the lot), to consume them and destroy them; 25 but [y]when [z]Esther came before the king, he commanded by letter that [a]this wicked plot which Haman had devised against the Jews should [z]return on his own head, and that he and his sons should be hanged on the gallows.

26 So they called these days Purim, after the name [a]Pur. Therefore, because of all the words of [b]this letter, what they had seen concerning this matter, and what had happened to them, 27 the Jews established and imposed it upon themselves and their descendants and all who would [c]join them, that without fail they should celebrate these two days every year, according to the written instructions and according to the prescribed time, 28 that these days should be remembered and kept throughout every generation, every family, every province, and every city, that these days of Purim should not fail to be observed among the Jews, and that the memory of them should not perish among their descendants.

29 Then Queen Esther, [d]the daughter of Abihail, with Mordecai the Jew, wrote with full authority to confirm this [e]second letter about Purim. 30 And Mordecai sent letters to all the Jews, to [f]the one hundred and twenty-seven provinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus, with words of peace and truth, 31 to confirm these days of Purim at their appointed time, as Mordecai the Jew and Queen Esther had prescribed for them, and as they had decreed for themselves and their descendants concerning matters of their [g]fasting and lamenting. 32 So the decree of Esther confirmed these matters of Purim, and it was written in the book.

The Book of JOB

Title

As with other books of the Bible, Job bears the name of the narrative's primary character. This name might have been derived from the Hebrew word for "persecution," thus meaning "persecuted one," or from an Arabic word meaning "repent," thus bearing the name "repentant one." The author recounts an era in the life of Job, in which he was tested and the character of God was revealed. New Testament writers directly quote Job two times (Rom. 11:35; 1 Cor. 3:19), plus Ezekiel 14:14,20 and James 5:11 show Job was a real person.

Author and Date

The book does not name its author. Job is an unlikely candidate because the book's message rests on Job's ignorance of the events that occurred in heaven as they related to his ordeal. One Talmudic tradition suggests Moses as author since the land of Uz (1:1) was adjacent to Midian where Moses lived for 40 years, and he could have obtained a record of the story there. Solomon is also a good possibility due to the similarity of content with parts of the book of Ecclesiastes, as well as the fact that Solomon wrote the other Wisdom books (except Psalms, and he did author Pss. 72; 127). Though he lived long after Job, Solomon could have written about events that occurred long before his own time, in much the same manner as Moses was inspired to write about Adam and Eve. Elihu, Isaiah, Hezekiah, Jeremiah, and Ezra have also been suggested as possible authors, but without support.

The date of the book's writing may be much later than the events recorded therein. This conclusion is based on: 1) Job's age (42:16); 2) his life span of nearly 200 years (42:16) which fits the patriarchal period (Abraham lived 175 years; Gen. 25:7); 3) the social unit being the patriarchal family; 4) the Chaldeans who murdered Job's servants (1:17) were nomads and had not yet become city dwellers; 5) Job's wealth being measured in livestock rather than gold and silver (1:3; 42:12); 6) Job's priestly functions within his family (1:4,5); and 7) a basic silence on matters such as the covenant of Abraham, Israel, the Exodus, and the law of Moses. The events of Job's odyssey appear to be patriarchal. Job, on the other hand, seemed to know about Adam (31:33) and the Noahic flood (12:15). These cultural/historical features found in the book appear to place the events chronologically at a time probably after Babel (Gen. 11:1-9) but before or contemporaneous with Abraham (Gen. 11:27ff.).

This book begins with a scene in heaven that explains everything to the reader (1:6–2:10). Job was suffering because God was contesting with Satan. Job never knew that, nor did any of his friends, so they all struggled to explain suffering from the perspective of their ignorance, until finally Job rested in nothing but faith in God's goodness and the hope of His redemption. That God vindicated his trust is the culminating message of the book. When there are no rational, or even theological, explanations for disaster and pain, trust God.

Historical and Theological Themes

The occasion and events that follow Job's sufferings present significant questions for the faith of believers in all ages. Why does Job serve God? Job is heralded for his righteousness, being compared with Noah and Daniel (Ezek. 14:14-20), and for his spiritual endurance (James 5:11). Several other questions are alluded to throughout Job's ordeal, for instance, "Why do the righteous suffer?" Though an answer to that question may seem important, the book does not set forth such an answer. Job never knew the reasons for his suffering and neither did his friends. The righteous sufferer does not appear to learn about any of the heavenly court debates between God and Satan that precipitated his pain. In fact, when finally confronted by the Lord of the universe, Job put his hand over his mouth and said nothing. Job's silent response in no way trivialized the intense pain and loss he had endured. It merely underscored the importance of trusting God's purposes in the midst of suffering because suffering, like all other human experiences, is directed by perfect divine wisdom. In the end, the lesson learned was that one may never know the specific reason for his suffering; but one must trust in Sovereign God. That is the real answer to suffering.

The book treats two major themes and many other minor ones, both in the narrative framework of the prologue (chaps. 1,2) and epilogue (42:7-17), and in the poetic account of Job's torment that lies in between (3:1–42:6). A key to understanding the first theme of the book is to notice the debate between God and Satan in heaven and how it connects with the 3 cycles of earthly debates between Job and his friends. God wanted to prove the character of believers to Satan and to all demons, angels, and people. The accusations are by Satan, who indicted God's claims of Job's righteousness as being untested, if not questionable. Satan accused the righteous of being faithful to God only for what they could get. Since Job did not serve God with pure motives, according to Satan, the whole relationship between him and God was a sham. Satan's confidence that he could turn Job against God came, no doubt, from the fact that he had led the holy angels to rebel with him (see note on Rev. 12:3,4). Satan thought he could destroy Job's faith in God by inflicting suffering on him, thus showing in principle that saving faith could be shattered. God released Satan to make his point if he could, but he failed, as true faith in God proved unbreakable. Even Job's wife told him to curse God (2:9), but he refused; his faith in God never failed (see 13:15). Satan tried to do the same to Peter (see Luke 22:31-34) and was unsuccessful in destroying Peter's faith (see John 21:15-19). When Satan has unleashed all that he can do to destroy saving faith, it stands firm (cf. Rom. 8:31-39). In the end, God proved His point with Satan that saving faith can't be destroyed no matter how much trouble a saint suffers, or how incomprehensible and undeserved it seems.

A second and related theme concerns proving the character of God to men. Does this sort of ordeal, in which God and His opponent Satan square off, with righteous Job as the test case, suggest that God is lacking in compassion and mercy toward Job? Not at all. As James says, "You have heard of the perseverance of Job and have seen the end intended by the Lord—that the Lord is very compassionate and merciful" (James 5:11). It was to prove the very opposite (42:10-17). Job says, "Shall we indeed accept good from God, and shall we not accept adversity?" (2:10). God's servant does not deny that he has suffered. He does deny that his suffering is a result of sin. Nor does he understand why he suffers. Job simply commits his ordeal with a devout heart of worship and humility (42:5,6) to a sovereign and perfectly wise Creator—and that was what God wanted him to learn in this conflict with Satan. In the end, God flooded Job with more blessings than he had ever known.

The major reality of the book is the inscrutable mystery of innocent suffering. God ordains that His children walk in sorrow and pain, sometimes because of sin (cf. Num. 12:10-12), sometimes for chastening (cf. Heb. 12:5-12), sometimes for strengthening (cf. 2 Cor. 12:7-10; 1 Pet. 5:10), and sometimes to give opportunity to reveal His comfort and grace (2 Cor. 1:3-7). But there are times when the compelling issue in the suffering of the saints is unknowable because it is for a heavenly purpose that those on earth can't discern (cf. Ex. 4:11; John 9:1-3).

Job and his friends wanted to analyze the suffering and look for causes and solutions. Using all of their sound theology and insight into the situation, they searched for answers, but found only useless and wrong ideas, for which God rebuked them in the end (42:7). They couldn't know why Job suffered because what happened in heaven between God and Satan was unknown to them. They thought they knew all the answers, but they only intensified the dilemma by their insistent ignorance.

By spreading out some of the elements of this great theme, we can see the following truths in Job's experience:

1) There are matters going on in heaven with God that believers know nothing about; yet, they affect their lives;
2) Even the best effort at explaining the issues of life can be useless;
3) God's people do suffer. Bad things happen all the time to good people, so one cannot judge a person's spirituality by his painful circumstances or successes;
4) Even though God seems far away, perseverance in faith is a most noble virtue since God is good and one can safely leave his life in His hands;
5) The believer in the midst of suffering should not abandon God, but draw near to Him, so out of the fellowship can come the comfort—without the explanation; and
6) Suffering may be intense, but it will ultimately end for the righteous and God will bless abundantly.

Interpretive Challenges

The most critical interpretive challenge involves the book's primary message. Although often thought to be the pressing issue of the book, the question of why Job suffers is never revealed to Job, though the reader knows that it involves God's proving a point to Satan—a matter which completely transcends Job's ability to understand. James' commentary on Job's case (5:11) draws the conclusion that it was to show God's compassion and mercy, but without apology, offers no explanation for Job's specific ordeal. Readers find themselves, putting their proverbial hands over their mouths, with no right to question or accuse the all-wise and all-powerful Creator, who will do as He pleases, and in so doing, both proves His points in the spiritual realm to angels and demons and defines His compassion and mercy. Engaging in "theodicy," i.e., man's attempt to defend God's involvement in calamity and suffering, is shown to be appropriate in these circumstances, though in the end, it is apparent that God does not need nor want a human advocate. The book of Job poignantly illustrates Deut. 29:29, "The secret things belong to the LORD our God..."

The nature of Job's guilt and innocence raises perplexing questions. God declared Job perfect, upright, fearing God, and shunning evil (Job 1:1). But Job's comforters raised a critical question based on Job's ordeal: Had not Job sinned? On several occasions Job readily admitted to having sinned (7:21; 13:26). But Job questioned the extent of his sin as compared to the severity of his suffering. God rebuked Job in the end for his demands to be vindicated of the comforters' accusations (Job 38–41). But He also declared that what Job said was correct and what the comforters said was wrong (42:7).

Another challenge comes in keeping separate the pre-understandings that Job and his comforters brought to Job's ordeal. At the outset, all agreed that God punishes evil, rewards obedience, and no exceptions are possible. Job, due to his suffering innocently, was forced to conclude that exceptions are possible in that the righteous also suffer. He also observed that the wicked prosper. These are more than small exceptions to the rule, thus forcing Job to rethink his simple understanding about God's sovereign interaction with His people. The type of wisdom Job comes to embrace was not dependent merely on the promise of reward or punishment. The long, peevish, disputes between Job and his accusers were attempts to reconcile the perceived inequities of God's retribution in Job's experiences. Such an empirical method is dangerous. In the end, God offered no explanation to Job, but rather called all parties to a deeper level of trust in the Creator, who rules over a sin-confused world with power and authority directed by perfect wisdom and mercy. See notes on Ps. 73.

Understanding this book requires 1) understanding the nature of wisdom, particularly the difference between man's wisdom and God's, and 2) admitting that Job and his friends lacked the divine wisdom to interpret Job's circumstances accurately, though his friends kept trying while Job learned to be content in God's sovereignty and mercy. The turning point or resolution for this matter is found in Job 28 where the character of divine wisdom is explained: divine wisdom is rare and priceless; man cannot hope to purchase it; and God possesses it all. We may not know what is going on in heaven or what God's purposes are, but we must trust Him. Because of this, the matter of believers suffering takes a back seat to the matter of divine wisdom.

  B. Divine Debates with Satan (1:6–2:10)
  C. Arrival of Friends (2:11-13)
II. The Debates (3:1–37:24)
  A. The First Cycle (3:1–14:22)
    1. Job's first speech expresses despair (3:1-26)
    2. Eliphaz's first speech kindly protests and urges humility and repentance (4:1–5:27)
    3. Job's reply to Eliphaz expresses anguish and questions the trials, asking for sympathy in his pain (6:1–7:21)
    4. Bildad's first speech accuses Job of impugning God (8:1-22)
    5. Job's response to Bildad admits he is not perfect, but may protest what seems unfair (9:1–10:22)
    6. Zophar's first speech tells Job to get right with God (11:1-20)
    7. Job's response to Zophar tells his friends they are wrong and only God knows and will, hopefully, speak to him (12:1–14:22)
  B. The Second Cycle (15:1–21:34)
    1. Eliphaz's second speech accuses Job of presumption and disregarding the wisdom of the ancients (15:1-35)

2. Job's response to Eliphaz appeals to God against his unjust accusers (16:1–17:16)
3. Bildad's second speech tells Job he is suffering just what he deserves (18:1-21)
4. Job's response to Bildad cries out to God for pity (19:1-29)
5. Zophar's second speech accuses Job of rejecting God by questioning His justice (20:1-29)
6. Job's response to Zophar says he is out of touch with reality (21:1-34)

C. The Third Cycle (22:1–26:14)
1. Eliphaz's third speech denounces Job's criticism of God's justice (22:1-30)
2. Job's response to Eliphaz is that God knows he is without guilt, and yet in His providence and refining purpose He permits temporary success for the wicked (23:1–24:25)
3. Bildad's third speech scoffs at Job's direct appeal to God (25:1-6)
4. Job's response to Bildad that God is indeed perfectly wise and absolutely sovereign, but not simplistic as they thought (26:1-14)

D. The Final Defense of Job (27:1–31:40)
1. Job's first monologue affirms his righteousness and that man can't discover God's wisdom (27:1–28:28)
2. Job's second monologue remembers his past, describes his present, defends his innocence, and asks for God to defend him (29:1–31:40)

E. The Speeches of Elihu (32:1–37:24)
1. Elihu enters into the debate to break the impasse (32:1-22)
2. Elihu charges Job with presumption in criticizing God, not recognizing that God may have a loving purpose, even in allowing Job to suffer (33:1-33)
3. Elihu declares that Job has impugned God's integrity by claiming that it does not pay to lead a godly life (34:1-37)
4. Elihu urges Job to wait patiently for the Lord (35:1-16)
5. Elihu believes that God is disciplining Job (36:1-21)
6. Elihu argues that human observers can hardly expect to understand adequately God's dealings in administering justice and mercy (36:22–37:24)

III. The Deliverance (38:1–42:17)

A. God Interrogates Job (38:1–41:34)
1. God's first response to Job (38:1–40:2)
2. Job's answer to God (40:3-5)
3. God's second response to Job (40:6–41:34)

B. Job Confesses, Worships, and Is Vindicated (42:1-17)
1. Job passes judgment upon himself (42:1-6)
2. God rebukes Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar (42:7-9)
3. God restores Job's family, wealth, and long life (42:10-17)

CHAPTER 1

Job and His Family in Uz

1 There was a man [a]in the land of Uz, whose name was [b]Job; and that man was [c]blameless and upright, and one who [d]feared God and [1]shunned evil. 2 And seven sons and three daughters were born to him. 3 Also, his possessions were seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen, five hundred female donkeys, and a very large household, so that this man was the greatest of all the [2]people of the East.

4 And his sons would go and feast in their houses, each on his appointed day, and would send and invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them. 5 So it was, when the days of feasting had run their course, that Job would send and [3]sanctify them, and he would rise early in the morning [e]and offer burnt offerings according to the number of them all. For Job said, "It may be that my sons have sinned and [f]cursed [4] God in their hearts." Thus Job did regularly.

Satan Attacks Job's Character

6 Now [g]there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and [5]Satan also came among them. 7 And the LORD said to [6]Satan, "From where do you come?"

So Satan answered the LORD and said, "From [h]going to and fro on the earth, and from walking back and forth on it."

8 Then the LORD said to Satan, "Have you [7]considered My servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a blameless and upright man, one who fears God and [8]shuns evil?"

9 So Satan answered the LORD and said, "Does Job fear God for nothing? 10 [i]Have You not [9]made a hedge around him, around his household, and around all that he has on every side? [j]You have blessed the work of his hands, and his possessions have increased in the land. 11 [k]But now, stretch out Your hand and touch all that he has, and he will surely [l]curse [1] You to Your face!"

1:1–2:13 This section identifies the main persons and sets the stage for the drama to follow. Uz. Job's home was a walled city with gates (29:7,8), where he held a position of great respect. The city was in the land of Uz in northern Arabia, adjacent to Midian, where Moses lived for 40 years (Ex. 2:15). Job. The story begins on earth with Job as the central figure. He was a rich man with 7 sons and 3 daughters, in his middle years with a grown family, but still young enough to father 10 more children (see 42:13). He was good, a family man, rich, and widely known. blameless...upright...feared God... shunned evil. Cf. 1:8. Job was not perfect or without sin (cf. 6:24; 7:21; 9:20); however, it appears from the language that he had put his trust in God for redemption and faithfully lived a God-honoring, sincere life of integrity and consistency personally, maritally (2:10), and parentally (1:4,5).

1:3 sheep...camels...oxen...female donkeys. As typically in the ancient Near East, Job's wealth was not measured in money or land holdings, but in his numerous livestock, like the patriarchs (cf. Gen. 13:1-7). greatest...of the East. A major claim by any standard. Solomon held a similar reputation, "...Solomon's wisdom excelled the wisdom of all the men of the East..." (1 Kin. 4:30). The "east" denotes those living E of Palestine, as the people of the northern Arabian desert did (cf. Judg. 6:3; Ezek. 25:4).

1:4 on his appointed day. Of the week (7 sons). This reference to the main meal of each day of the week, which moved from house to house, implies the love and harmony of the family members. The sisters are especially noted to show these were cared for with love.

1:5 send and sanctify. At the end of every week, Job would offer up as many burnt offerings as he had sons (see Lev. 1:4), officiating as family priest weekly ("regularly") in a time before the Aaronic priesthood was established. These offerings were to cover any sin that his children may have committed that week, indicating the depth of his spiritual devotion. This record is included to demonstrate the righteousness and virtue of Job and his family, which made his suffering all the more amazing. burnt offerings. This kind of offering was known as early as Noah (Gen. 8:20).

1:6 sons of God. Job's life is about to be caught up in heavenly strategies as the scene moves from earth to heaven where God is holding council with His heavenly court. Neither Job nor his friends ever knew about this. The angelic host (cf. 38:7; Pss. 29:1; 89:7; Dan. 3:25) came to God's throne to render account of their ministry throughout the earth and heaven (cf. 1 Kin. 22:19-22). Like a Judas among the apostles, Satan was with the angels. Satan. Emboldened by the success he had with the unfallen Adam in paradise (Gen. 3:6-12,17-19), he was confident that the fear of God in Job, one of a fallen race, would not stand his tests. And he had fallen himself (see Is. 14:12). As opposed to a personal name, Satan as a title means "adversary," in either a personal or judicial sense. This demon is the ultimate spiritual adversary of all time and has been accusing the righteous throughout the ages (see Rev. 12:10). In a courtroom setting, the adversary usually stood to the right of the accused. This location is reported when Satan in heaven accused Joshua the High-Priest (Zech. 3:1). That he is still unsuccessful is the thesis of Rom. 8:31-39.

1:7 And the LORD said. Lest there be any question about God's role in this ordeal, it was He who initiated the dialogue. The adversary was not presiding. If anything, Satan raised the penetrating question that might well be asked by anyone, perhaps even Job himself: Does Job serve God with pure motives, or is he in it only as long as the blessings flow?

1:7,8 to and fro on the earth. The picture is of haste. No angel, fallen or holy, is an omnipresent creature, but they move rapidly. In Satan's case, as prince of this world (John 12:31; 14:30; 16:11) and ruler of demons (Matt. 9:34; 12:24), the earth is his domain where he prowls like a "roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour" (1 Pet. 5:8). God gave him Job to test.

1:9-11 Satan asserted that true believers are only faithful as long as they prosper. Take away their prosperity, he claims, and they will reject God. He wanted to prove that salvation is not permanent, that saving faith can be broken and those who were God's could become his. That is the first of the two great themes of this book (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes). Satan repeated this affront with Jesus (see Matt. 4), Peter (see Luke 22:31), and Paul (see 2 Cor. 12:7). The OT has many promises from God in which He pledges to sustain the faith of His children. Cf. Pss. 37:23,28; 97:10; 121:4-7. For NT texts, cf. Luke 22:31,32; Jude 24.

12 And the LORD said to Satan, "Behold, all that he has is in your [2]power; only do not lay a hand on his person."

So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD.

Job Loses His Property and Children

13 Now there was a day [m]when his sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their oldest brother's house; 14 and a messenger came to Job and said, "The oxen were plowing and the donkeys feeding beside them, 15 when the [3]Sabeans [4]raided them and took them away—indeed they have killed the servants with the edge of the sword; and I alone have escaped to tell you!"

16 While he was still speaking, another also came and said, "The fire of God fell from heaven and burned up the sheep and the servants, and [5]consumed them; and I alone have escaped to tell you!"

17 While he was still speaking, another also came and said, "The Chaldeans formed three bands, raided the camels and took them away, yes, and killed the servants with the edge of the sword; and I alone have escaped to tell you!"

18 While he was still speaking, another also came and said, [n]"Your sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their oldest brother's house, 19 and suddenly a great wind came from [6]across the wilderness and struck the four corners of the house, and it fell on the young people, and they are dead; and I alone have escaped to tell you!"

20 Then Job arose, [o]tore his robe, and shaved his head; and he [p]fell to the ground and worshiped. 21 And he said:

> [q]"Naked I came from my mother's womb,
> And naked shall I return there.
> The LORD [r]gave, and the LORD has [s]taken away;
> [t]Blessed be the name of the LORD."

22 [u]In all this Job did not sin nor charge God with wrong.

Satan Attacks Job's Health

2 Again [a]there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan came also among them to present himself before the LORD. 2 And the LORD said to Satan, "From where do you come?"

[b]Satan answered the LORD and said, "From going to and fro on the earth, and from walking back and forth on it."

3 Then the LORD said to Satan, "Have you considered My servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, [c]a blameless and upright man, one who fears God and shuns evil? And still he [d]holds fast to his integrity, although you incited Me against him, [e]to [1]destroy him without cause."

1:12 power. God allowed Satan to test Job's faith by attacking "all that he has." With God's sovereign permission, Satan was allowed to move on Job, except that he could not attack Job physically.

1:13-19 With 4 rapid-fire disasters, Satan destroyed or removed Job's livestock, servants, and children. Only the 4 messengers survived.

1:15 Sabeans. Lit. "Sheba," part of Arabia. These people were terrorizing robbers, who had descended from Abraham and Keturah (Gen. 25:1-3).

1:16 fire of God...heaven. This probably refers to severe lightning.

Biographical Sketch of Job

1. A spiritually mature man (1:1, 8; 2:3)
2. Father of many children (1:2; 42:13)
3. Owner of many herds (1:3; 42:12)
4. A wealthy and influential man (1:3b)
5. A priest to his family (1:5)
6. A loving, wise husband (2:9)
7. A man of prominence in community afffairs (29:7-11)
8. A man of benevolence (29:12-17; 31:32)
9. A wise leader (29:21-24)
10. Grower of crops (31:38-40)

1:17 Chaldeans. A semi-nomadic people of the Arabian desert, experienced in marauding and war (cf. Hab. 1:6-8).

1:19 great wind. Most likely a tornado-type wind. Cf. Is. 21:1; Hos. 13:15.

1:20,21 worshiped. He heard the other messages calmly, but on hearing about the death of his children, he expressed all the symbols of grief (cf. Gen. 37:34; Jer. 41:5; Mic. 1:16), but also worshiped God in the expression of v. 21. Instead of cursing, he blessed the name of Jehovah. Job's submissive response disproved the adversary's accusations (1:9-11). So far, Job was what God claimed him to be, a true believer with faith that cannot be broken (v. 8).

1:22 did not sin nor charge God with wrong. Better, "sin by charging God with wrong." Hasty words against God in the midst of grief are foolish and wicked. Christians are to submit to trials and still worship God, not because they see the reasons for them, but because God wills them and has His own reasons which believers are to trust.

2:1-3a The scene changes again to the heavenly court, where the angels came before the Lord and Satan was also present, having been again searching the earth for victims to assault. See note on 1:6-8.

2:3 he holds fast to his integrity. God affirmed that Job had won round one. without cause. God uses the same expression the adversary used in Job 1 "for nothing (1:9)...without cause (2:3)." The message behind God's turn of words is that the adversary is the guilty party in this case, not Job who had suffered all the disaster without any personal cause. He had done nothing to incur the pain and loss, though it was massive. The issue was purely a matter of conflict between God and Satan. This is a crucial statement, because when Job's friends tried to explain why all the disasters had befallen him, they al-

4 So Satan answered the LORD and said,
"Skin for skin! Yes, all that a man has he will give for his life. 5 [f]But stretch out Your hand now, and touch his [g]bone and his flesh, and he will surely [2]curse You to Your face!"

6 [h]And the LORD said to Satan, "Behold, he is in your hand, but spare his life."

7 So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD, and struck Job with painful boils [i]from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head. 8 And he took for himself a potsherd with which to scrape himself [j]while he sat in the midst of the ashes.

9 Then his wife said to him, "Do you still hold fast to your integrity? [3]Curse God and die!"

10 But he said to her, "You speak as one of the foolish women speaks. [k]Shall we indeed accept good from God, and shall we not accept adversity?" [l]In all this Job did not [m]sin with his lips.

Job's Three Friends

11 Now when Job's three friends heard of all this adversity that had come upon him, each one came from his own place—Eliphaz the [n]Temanite, Bildad the [o]Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite. For they had made an appointment together to come [p]and mourn with him, and to comfort him.
12 And when they raised their eyes from afar, and did not recognize him, they lifted their voices and wept; and each one tore his robe and [q]sprinkled dust on his head toward heaven. 13 So they sat down with him on the ground [r]seven days and seven nights, and no one spoke a word to him, for they saw that his grief was very great.

Job Deplores His Birth

3 After this Job opened his mouth and cursed the day of his birth. 2 And Job
[1]spoke, and said:

3 "May[a] the day perish on which I was born,
And the night in which it was said,
'A male child is conceived.'
4 May that day be darkness;

ways put the blame on Job. Grasping this assessment from God—that Job had not been punished for something, but suffered for nothing related to him personally—is a crucial key to the story. Sometimes suffering is caused by divine purposes unknowable to us (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes).

2:4,5 Skin for skin. Satan contended that what he had done to Job so far was just touching the skin, scratching the surface. Job endured the loss of all that he had, even the lives of his children, but would not endure the loss of his own well-being. If God allowed Satan to make the disaster a personal matter of his own physical body, the Adversary contended, Job's faith would fail.

2:6 spare his life. The Lord sovereignly limited the Adversary, although death seemed preferable. Job believed that to be the case (cf. 7:15), as did his wife (2:9).

2:7 Satan...struck Job. This appears to be an exceptional case with no other exact parallel in Scripture. In the gospels, demons caused physical problems when they dwelled within people (cf. 13:11,16), but that is not the case here. God's permissive will operated for purposes Job can't know; God was hidden from him along with the reasons for his suffering. painful boils. Although the nature of Job's affliction cannot be diagnosed exactly, it produced extreme physical trauma (cf. 2:13; 3:24; 7:5,14; 13:28; 16:8; 19:17; 30:17,30; 33:21). One cannot fully understand Job's conversations throughout the book without considering the extraordinary physical distress he endured in a day without medicine or pain relief. His boils would have been similar to those of the Egyptians (Ex. 9:8-11) and Hezekiah (2 Kin. 20:7).

2:8 potsherd...ashes. Suffering terribly, Job took himself to where the lepers go: the ash heap outside the city where he scraped at his sores with a piece of broken pottery, perhaps breaking them open to release the infection.

2:9 your integrity. Through all this, Job's faith remained strong in the confusion, so that his wife could not accuse him of insincerity as Satan had. Her argument in effect was "let go of your piety and curse God; then He will end your life for blaspheming," (i.e., death under these conditions would be preferable to living). She added temptation to affliction because she advised him to sin.

2:10 foolish. Not meaning silly or ridiculous, but acting as one who rejects God or God's revealed will. The word is used of the unwise in the Psalms (14:1; 53:1) and in Proverbs (30:22). She is not seen nor heard of again in this book, except indirectly in 42:13-15. accept. Job lived out and explained the text of Deut. 29:29. His words and deeds demonstrated his confidence in God and vindicated God's confidence in him.

2:11-13 Here is one of the most moving scenes in the whole story, as Job's friends came to comfort and commiserate with him in his pain. They expressed all the traditional gestures of grief.

2:11 Temanite. Most likely Teman was a city of Edom (cf. Gen. 36:4,11; Jer. 49:7,20; Ezek. 25:13; Amos 1:12; Obad. 8,9). Shuhite. The Shuhites were descendants of Abraham through Keturah (Gen. 25:2,6). Naamathite. A resident of an unknown location probably in Edom or Arabia, although some have suggested Naamah on the Edomite border (cf. Josh. 15:41).

2:13 his grief was very great. The expression actually meant that his disease produced pain that was still increasing. The agony was so great, his friends were speechless for a week.

3:1–42:6 This whole section is poetry—a dramatic poem of speeches attempting to understand Job's suffering.

3:1–14:22 The first cycle of speeches given by Job and his 3 friends begins. Job was the first to break the week-long silence with a lament (3:1-26).

3:1-10 Job began his first speech by cursing the day of his birth, which should have been a day of great rejoicing, and welcomed the day he would finally die. In short, Job says "I wish I'd never been born." See Job 3:6,7; 9,10; 12–14; 16,17; 19; 21; 23,24; 26–31; 40:3-5; 42:1-6 for Job's speeches.

3:1 cursed the day of his birth. Job was in deep pain and despair. What God was allowing hurt desperately, but while Job did not curse God (cf. 2:8), he did curse his birth (vv. 10,11). He wished he had never been conceived (v. 3) or born because the joys of his life were not worth all the pain. He felt it would have been better to have never lived than to suffer like that; better to have never had wealth than to lose it; better to have never had children than to have them all killed. He never wanted his birthday remembered, and wished it had been obliterated from the calendar (vv. 4-7).

May God above not seek it,
Nor the light shine upon it.
5 May darkness and [b]the shadow of death claim it;
May a cloud settle on it;
May the blackness of the day terrify it.
6 As for that night, may darkness seize it;
May it not [2]rejoice among the days of the year,
May it not come into the number of the months.
7 Oh, may that night be barren!
May no joyful shout come into it!
8 May those curse it who curse the day,
Those [c]who are ready to arouse Leviathan.
9 May the stars of its morning be dark;
May it look for light, but have none,
And not see the [3]dawning of the day;
10 Because it did not shut up the doors of my mother's womb,
Nor hide sorrow from my eyes.

11 "Why[d] did I not die at birth?
Why did I not [4]perish when I came from the womb?
12 [e]Why did the knees receive me?
Or why the breasts, that I should nurse?
13 For now I would have lain still and been quiet,
I would have been asleep;
Then I would have been at rest
14 With kings and counselors of the earth,
Who [f]built ruins for themselves,
15 Or with princes who had gold,
Who filled their houses with silver;

16 Or why was I not hidden [g]like a stillborn child,
Like infants who never saw light?
17 There the wicked cease from troubling,
And there the [5]weary are at [h]rest.
18 There the prisoners [6]rest together;
[i]They do not hear the voice of the oppressor.
19 The small and great are there,
And the servant is free from his master.

20 "Why[j] is light given to him who is in misery,
And life to the [k]bitter of soul,
21 Who [l]long[7] for death, but it does not come,
And search for it more than [m]hidden treasures;
22 Who rejoice exceedingly,
And are glad when they can find the [n]grave?
23 Why is light given to a man whose way is hidden,
[o]And whom God has hedged in?
24 For my sighing comes before [8]I eat,
And my groanings pour out like water.
25 For the thing I greatly [p]feared has come upon me,
And what I dreaded has happened to me.
26 I am not at ease, nor am I quiet;
I have no rest, for trouble comes."

Eliphaz: Job Has Sinned

4 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2 "If one attempts a word with you, will you become weary?

3:8 who curse...Leviathan. Those who pronounce the most powerful curses, even to arousing the destructive sea monster (see note on 41:1; cf. Pss. 74:14; 104:26; Is. 27:1).

3:11-26 Job left the matter of never having been born (vv. 1-10) and moved to a desire to have been stillborn (vv. 11-19), then to a desire for the "light" of life to be extinguished in death (vv. 20-23). There is no hint that Job wanted to take his own life, for there was nothing stopping him. Job still trusted God for His sovereign hand in the matter of death, but he did consider the many ways in which death would be a perceived improvement to the present situation, because of the pain.

3:23 hedged in. Satan spoke of a hedge of protection and blessing (1:10), whereas Job spoke of this hedge as a prison of living death.

3:24 sighing...groanings. These destroyed any appetite he might have had.

3:25,26 the thing I greatly feared. Not a particular thing but a generic classification of suffering. The very worst fear that anyone could have was coming to pass in Job's life, and he is experiencing severe anxiety, fearing more.

4:1–37:24 This section covers the cycles of speeches between Job and his well meaning friends, including Elihu (chaps. 32–37).

4:1–5:27 Eliphaz. Eliphaz's first speech. See chaps. 15 and 22 for

But who can withhold himself from speaking?
3 Surely you have instructed many,
And you [a]have strengthened weak hands.
4 Your words have upheld him who was stumbling,
And you [b]have strengthened the [1]feeble knees;
5 But now it comes upon you, and you are weary;
It touches you, and you are troubled.
6 Is not [c]your reverence [d]your confidence?
And the integrity of your ways your hope?

7 "Remember now, [e]who ever perished being innocent?
Or where were the upright ever cut off?
8 Even as I have seen,
[f]Those who plow iniquity
And sow trouble reap the same.
9 By the blast of God they perish,
And by the breath of His anger they are consumed.
10 The roaring of the lion,
The voice of the fierce lion,
And [g]the teeth of the young lions are broken.
11 [h]The old lion perishes for lack of prey,
And the cubs of the lioness are scattered.

12 "Now a word was secretly brought
to me,
And my ear received a whisper of
it.
13 [i]In disquieting thoughts from the visions of the night,
When deep sleep falls on men,
14 Fear came upon me, and
[j]trembling,
Which made all my bones shake.
15 Then a spirit passed before my face;
The hair on my body stood up.
16 It stood still,
But I could not discern its appearance.
A form was before my eyes;
There was silence;
Then I heard a voice saying:
17 'Can a mortal be more righteous than God?
Can a man be more pure than his Maker?
18 If He [k]puts no trust in His servants,
If He charges His angels with error,
19 How much more those who dwell
in houses of clay,
Whose foundation is in the dust,
Who are crushed before a moth?
20 [l]They are broken in pieces from morning till evening;
They perish forever, with no one regarding.
21 Does not their own excellence go away?
They die, even without wisdom.'

Eliphaz: Job Is Chastened by God

5 "Call out now;
Is there anyone who will answer
you?
And to which of the holy ones will you turn?
2 For wrath kills a foolish man,
And envy slays a simple one.

Eliphaz's other speeches. He spoke profoundly and gently, but knew nothing of the scene in heaven that had produced the suffering of Job.

4:2-6 Job's friend finally spoke after 7 days of silence and began kindly by acknowledging that Job was recognized for being a wise man. Unfortunately, with the opening of their mouths for the first speech, all the wisdom of their silence departed.

4:7 who ever perished being innocent? Eliphaz, recognizing Job's "reverence" and "integrity" (v. 6), was likely encouraging Job at the outset by saying he wouldn't die because he was innocent of any deadly iniquity, but must be guilty of some serious sin because he was reaping such anger from God. This was a moral universe and moral order was at work, he thought. He had oversimplified God's pattern of retribution. This simple axiom, "the righteous will prosper and the wicked will suffer," does not always hold up in human experience. It is true that plowing and sowing iniquity reaps judgment, so Eliphaz was partially right (cf. Gal. 6:7-9; 1 Pet. 3:12), but not everything we reap in life is the result of something we have sown (see note on 2 Cor. 12:7-10). Eliphaz was replacing theology with simplistic logic. To say that wherever there is suffering, it is the result of sowing sin is wrong (cf. Ex. 4:11; John 9:1-3).

4:10,11 Wanting to demonstrate that wicked men experience calamities in spite of their strength and resources, Eliphaz illustrated his point by the destruction that comes on lions in spite of their prowess. Five Heb. words were used here for lion, emphasizing the various characters of wicked people, all of whom can be broken and perish.

4:12-16 a word was secretly brought to me. Eliphaz spoke of a mysterious messenger in a vision, eerie fantasy, or a dream. He claimed to have had divine revelation to bolster his viewpoint.

4:17 Here is the conclusion of Eliphaz's revelation—that Job suffered because he was not holy enough, not righteous enough.

4:17-21 This is the content of the message which is, in effect, that God judges sin and sinners among men (described in v. 19 as "houses of clay") as He did among angels (v. 18; cf. Rev. 12:3,4).

5:1 holy ones. Angelic beings (cf. 4:18) are in view. Job was told that not even the angels could help him. He must recognize his mortality and sin if he would be healed.

3 [a]I have seen the foolish taking root,
But suddenly I cursed his dwelling place.
4 His sons are [b]far from safety,
They are crushed in the gate,
And [c]there is no deliverer.
5 Because the hungry eat up his harvest,
[1]Taking it even from the thorns,
[2]And a snare snatches their [3]substance.
6 For affliction does not come from the dust,
Nor does trouble spring from the ground;
7 Yet man is [d]born to [4]trouble,
As the sparks fly upward.

8 "But as for me, I would seek God,
And to God I would commit my cause—
9 Who does great things, and unsearchable,
Marvelous things without number.
10 [e]He gives rain on the earth,
And sends waters on the fields.
11 [f]He sets on high those who are lowly,
And those who mourn are lifted to safety.
12 [g]He frustrates the devices of the crafty,
So that their hands cannot carry out their plans.
13 He catches the [h]wise in their own craftiness,
And the counsel of the cunning comes quickly upon them.
14 They meet with darkness in the daytime,
And grope at noontime as in the night.
15 But [i]He saves the needy from the sword,
From the mouth of the mighty,
And from their hand.
16 [j]So the poor have hope,
And injustice shuts her mouth.

Job: My Complaint Is Just

6 Then Job answered and said:
2 "Oh, that my grief were fully weighed,

5:2-6 Job was told not to be a fool or simpleton, but to recognize that sin is judged, wrath kills, envy slays, foolishness is cursed (vv. 2-5), and this wasn't merely a physical matter (v. 6), but came from man's sin. Sin is inevitable in man; so is trouble (v. 7).

5:7 sparks. Lit. "the sons of Resheph," an expression which describes all sorts of fire-like movement (cf. Deut. 32:24; Ps. 78:48; Song 8:6).

5:8 Job's solution was to go to God and repent, his friend thought.

5:9-16 The whole of Eliphaz's argument is based on the moral perfection of God, so he extolled God's greatness and goodness.

5:13 Paul used this line from Eliphaz in 1 Cor. 3:19 to prove the foolishness of man's wisdom before God.

5:17 happy is the man whom God corrects. Eliphaz put a positive spin on his advice by telling Job that enviable or desirable is the situation of the one God cares enough to chasten. "If only Job admitted his sin, he could be happy again" was the advice.

5:18-27 The language of this section promising blessing for penitence was strongly reminiscent of Lev. 26, which elaborated the blessing of a faithful covenant relationship with God. If Job confessed, he would have prosperity, security, a family, and a rich life.

5:23 covenant...peace. Even the created order will be in harmony with the man whose relationship with God is corrected through God's disciplinary process.

6:1–7:21 Job's response to Eliphaz was recorded. On top of his physical misery and his tempting wife, he had to respond to ignorance and insensitivity from his friend, by expressing his frustration.

And my calamity laid with it on the scales!
3 For then it would be heavier than the sand of the sea—
Therefore my words have been rash.
4 [a]For the arrows of the Almighty are within me;
My spirit drinks in their poison;
[b]The terrors of God are arrayed [c]against me.
5 Does the [d]wild donkey bray when it has grass,
Or does the ox low over its fodder?
6 Can flavorless food be eaten without salt?
Or is there any taste in the white of an egg?
7 My soul refuses to touch them;
They are as loathsome food to me.

8 "Oh, that I might have my request,
That God would grant me the thing that I long for!
9 That it would please God to crush me,
That He would loose His hand and [e]cut me off!
10 Then I would still have comfort;
Though in anguish I would exult,
He will not spare;
For [f]I have not concealed the words of [g]the Holy One.

11 "What strength do I have, that I should hope?
And what is my end, that I should prolong my life?
12 Is my strength the strength of stones?
Or is my flesh bronze?
13 Is my help not within me?
And is success driven from me?

Even though he forsakes the fear of the Almighty.
15 [i]My brothers have dealt deceitfully like a brook,
[j]Like the streams of the brooks that pass away,
16 Which are dark because of the ice,
And into which the snow vanishes.
17 When it is warm, they cease to flow;
When it is hot, they vanish from their place.
18 The paths of their way turn aside,
They go nowhere and perish.
19 The caravans of [k]Tema look,

22 Did I ever say, 'Bring something to me'?
Or, 'Offer a bribe for me from your wealth'?
23 Or, 'Deliver me from the enemy's hand'?
Or, 'Redeem me from the hand of oppressors'?

24 "Teach me, and I will hold my tongue;
Cause me to understand wherein I have erred.
25 How forceful are right words!
But what does your arguing prove?
26 Do you intend to rebuke my words,
And the speeches of a desperate one, which are as wind?
27 Yes, you overwhelm the fatherless,

20 [m] Jer. 14:3 [2] Lit. ashamed
21 [n] Job 13:4 [o] Ps. 38:11

6:2,3 The heaviness of his burden caused the rashness of his words.

6:4 the arrows of the Almighty...terrors of God. Here are figures of speech picturing the trials as coming from God, indicating that Job believed these were God's judgments.

6:5-7 These are all illustrations of the fact that Job complained because he had reason. Even animals expect palatable food.

6:8,9 my request. Job's request was that God would finish whatever process He began. Death was desirable for no other reason than it would be relief from the inevitable course of events (see chap. 3).

6:9 cut me off. This is a metaphor from a weaver, who cuts off the excess thread on the loom (cf. Is. 38:12).

6:10 the words of the Holy One. Job had not been avoiding the revelation of God that he had received. The commands of the Holy One were precious to him and he had lived by them. This was confusing to him, as he couldn't find any sinful source for his suffering. He would rejoice in his pain if he knew it would soon lead to death, but he couldn't see any hope for death or deliverance in himself (vv. 11-13).

6:14 kindness...Even though. Job rebuked his friends with sage words. Even if a man has forsaken God (which he hadn't), should not his friends still show kindness to him? How can Eliphaz be so unkind as to continually indict him?

6:15-23 Job described his friends as being about as useful with their counsel as a dry river bed in summer. "You are no help," he said (v. 21), "although all I asked for was a little sympathy, not some great gift or deliverance" (vv. 22,23).

6:19 Tema...Sheba. Tema in the N, named for the son of Ishmael (Gen. 25:15; Is. 21:14), and Sheba in the S (Jer. 6:20) were part of the Arabian desert, where water was precious.

6:24-30 Teach me...Cause me to understand wherein I have erred. Job was not admitting to having sinned. Rather he said to his accusers, "If I've sinned, show me where." The sufferer indicted his friends for their insensitivity, and while not claiming sinlessness, he was convinced there was no sin in his life that led directly to such suffering.

And you [r]undermine your friend.
28 Now therefore, be pleased to look at me;
For I would never lie to your face.
29 [q]Yield now, let there be no injustice!
Yes, concede, my [r]righteousness [3]still stands!
30 Is there injustice on my tongue?
Cannot my [4]taste discern the unsavory?

Job: My Suffering Is Comfortless

7 "Is there not [a]a time of hard service for man on earth?
Are not his days also like the days of a hired man?
2 Like a servant who [1]earnestly desires the shade,
And like a hired man who eagerly looks for his wages,
3 So I have been allotted [b]months of futility,
And wearisome nights have been appointed to me.
4 [c]When I lie down, I say, 'When shall I arise,
And the night be ended?'
For I have had my fill of tossing till dawn.
5 My flesh is [d]caked with worms and dust,
My skin is cracked and breaks out afresh.

6 "My [e]days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle,
And are spent without hope.
7 Oh, remember that [f]my life is a breath!
My eye will never again see good.
8 [g]The eye of him who sees me will see me no more;
While your eyes are upon me, I shall no longer be.
9 As the cloud disappears and vanishes away,
So [h]he who goes down to the grave does not come up.
10 He shall never return to his house,
[i]Nor shall his place know him anymore.

11 "Therefore I will [j]not restrain my mouth;
I will speak in the anguish of my spirit;
I will [k]complain in the bitterness of my soul.
12 Am I a sea, or a sea serpent,
That You set a guard over me?
13 [l]When I say, 'My bed will comfort me,
My couch will ease my complaint,'
14 Then You scare me with dreams
And terrify me with visions,
15 So that my soul chooses strangling

14. Relentless pain (30:17)
15. Skin turned black (30:30)
16. Raging fever (30:30)
17. Dramatic weight loss (33:21)

7:1-21 After having directed his words at his friends in chap. 6, Job then directed them at God. Throughout this section he used words and arguments that sounded much like Solomon in Ecclesiastes, i.e., "labor, vanity, trouble, and breath."

7:1-10 a time of hard service. He felt like a slave under tyranny of his master, longing for relief and reward (vv. 1,2); he was sleepless (v. 3,4); he was loathsome because of worms and scabs, dried filth and new running sores (v. 5); he was like a weaver's shuttle, tossed back and forth (v. 6); he was like a breath or cloud that comes and goes on it way to death (vv. 7-10). In this discourse, Job attempted to reconcile in his own mind what God was doing.

7:11 Therefore. On the basis of all he had said in vv. 1-10, he felt he had a right to express his complaint.

7:12 sea, or a sea serpent. The sea and the whale are two threatening forces that must be watched or curbed due to their destructive force. Job was not like that.

7:13,14 Even when he slept, he had terrifying dreams so that he longed for death (vv. 15,16).

Job's intense physical suffering is mentioned throughout the book.

17 "What[p] is man, that You should exalt him,
That You should set Your heart on him,
18 That You should [4]visit him every morning,
And test him every moment?
19 How long?
Will You not look away from me,
And let me alone till I swallow my saliva?
20 Have I sinned?
What have I done to You, [q]O watcher of men?
Why [r]have You set me as Your target,
So that I am a burden [5]to myself?
21 Why then do You not pardon my transgression,
And take away my iniquity?
For now I will lie down in the dust,
And You will seek me diligently,
But I will no longer be."

Bildad: Job Should Repent

8 Then Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

2 "How long will you speak these things,
And the words of your mouth be like a strong wind?
3 [a]Does God subvert judgment?
Or does the Almighty pervert justice?
4 If [b]your sons have sinned against Him,
He has cast them away [1]for their transgression.
5 [c]If you would earnestly seek God

7:17,18 Why is he so important, Job wonders, that God would spend all this attention on him? Why did God cause all this misery to one so insignificant as he?

7:19 till I swallow my saliva. This strange statement was an Arabic proverb, indicating a brief moment. Job was asking for a moment "to catch his breath," or in the case of the proverb, "swallow his saliva."

7:21 not pardon my transgression. Job conceded the argument of Eliphaz that he must have sinned, not because he was convinced, but because he seemed to find no other explanation (cf. 6:24).

8:1-22 The second friendly accuser, Bildad, now offered his wisdom to Job. Bildad, also absolutely certain that Job had sinned and should repent, was ruthless in the charges he raised against God's servant. See Job 18; 25 for Bildad's other speeches.

8:2-7 Bildad accused Job of defending his innocence with a lot of hot air and reasoned that Job's circumstances were God's judgment on his sins and those of his family. Again, this is logical, based on the principle that God punishes sin, but it failed to account for the mystery of the heavenly debate between God and Satan (see chaps. 1,2). He was sure something was wrong in Job's relationship with God, thus his call for repentance, with the confidence that when Job repented he would be blessed (vv. 6,7).

8:3 Almighty pervert justice. Bildad took Job's claims for innocence and applied them to his simplistic notion of retribution. He concluded that Job was accusing God of injustice when God must be meting out justice to Job. Job tried to avoid outright accusations of this sort, but the evidence led Bildad to this conclusion because he had no knowledge of the heavenly facts.

8:7 In fact, this was Job's outcome (cf. 42:10-17), not because Job repented of some specific sin, but because he humbled himself before the sovereign, inscrutable will of God.

8:8-10 Here Bildad appealed to past authorities, godly ancestors who taught the same principle—that where there is suffering, there must be sin. So he had history as a witness to his misjudgment.

8:11-19 He further supported his simple logic of cause and effect by illustrations from nature. Again he accused Job of sin, but surely he had forgotten God as well (v. 13).

And look for a place in the stones.
18 [k]If he is destroyed from his place,
Then it will deny him, saying, 'I have not seen you.'

19 "Behold, this is the joy of His way,
And [l]out of the earth others will grow.
20 Behold, [m]God will not [5]cast away the blameless,
Nor will He uphold the evildoers.
21 He will yet fill your mouth with laughing,
And your lips with [6]rejoicing.
22 Those who hate you will be [n]clothed with shame,
And the dwelling place of the wicked [7]will come to nothing."

Job: There Is No Mediator

9 Then Job answered and said:

2 "Truly I know it is so,
But how can a [a]man be [b]righteous before God?
3 If one wished to [1]contend with Him,
He could not answer Him one time out of a thousand.
4 [c]God is wise in heart and mighty in strength.
Who has hardened himself against Him and prospered?
5 He removes the mountains, and they do not know
When He overturns them in His anger;
6 He [d]shakes the earth out of its place,
And its [e]pillars tremble;
7 He commands the sun, and it does not rise;
He seals off the stars;
8 [f]He alone spreads out the heavens,
And [2]treads on the [3]waves of the sea;
9 [g]He made [4]the Bear, Orion, and the Pleiades,
And the chambers of the south;
10 [h]He does great things past finding out,
Yes, wonders without number.
11 [i]If He goes by me, I do not see Him;
If He moves past, I do not perceive Him;
12 [j]If He takes away, [5]who can hinder Him?
Who can say to Him, 'What are You doing?'
13 God will not withdraw His anger,
[k]The allies of [6]the proud lie prostrate beneath Him.

14 "How then can I answer Him,
And choose my words to reason with Him?
15 [l]For though I were righteous, I could not answer Him;
I would beg mercy of my Judge.
16 If I called and He answered me,
I would not believe that He was listening to my voice.
17 For He crushes me with a tempest,
And multiplies my wounds [m]without cause.
18 He will not allow me to catch my breath,
But fills me with bitterness.

8:20 God will not cast away the blameless. This comment contains a veiled offer of hope. Job could laugh again but he must take steps to become blameless. But Bildad, like Job, was unaware of the dialogue between the Sovereign Judge and the Accuser in the opening chapters of the book and unaware that God had already pronounced Job "blameless" twice to heavenly beings (1:8; 2:3), as had the writer (1:1). Cf. Pss. 1:6; 126:2; 132:18.

9:1–10:22 Job, in a mood of deep despair, responded to Bildad's accusations with arguments surrounding God's nature, also raised by Bildad, and started to rationalize something about which he would later admit he knew dangerously little. Job concluded that God is holy, wise, and strong (vv. 4-10); but he wondered if He is fair (v. 22) and why He wouldn't make Himself known to him. Before the mighty God, Job felt only despair. If God is not fair, all is hopeless, he thought.

9:3 contend with Him. Job referred to disputing one's innocence or guilt before God as a useless endeavor. Psalm 130:3 illustrates the point, "If You...should mark iniquities (keep records of sin),...who could stand (innocently in judgment)?"

9:6 pillars tremble. In the figurative language of the day, this phrase described the supporting power that secured the position of the earth in the universe.

9:9 Bear, Orion...Pleiades. Three stellar constellations (cf. Job 38:31,32). the chambers of the south. These were other constellations in the southern hemisphere, unseen by those who could see and name the 3 in the northern skies.

9:13 the proud. Lit. "Rahab." This is symbolic of the ancient mythological sea monster (cf. 3:8; 7:12). God smiting the proud was a poetic way of saying that if the mythical monster of the sea (a metaphor for powerful, evil, chaotic forces) could not stand before God's anger, how could Job hope to? In a battle in God's court, he would lose. God is too strong (vv. 14-19).

9:15,20 though I were righteous. He means here, not sinless, but having spiritual integrity, i.e., a pure heart to love, serve, and obey God. He was affirming again that his suffering was not due to sins he was not willing to confess. Even at that, God found something to condemn him for, he felt, making it hopeless, then, to contend with God.

20 Though I were righteous, my own mouth would condemn me;
Though I were blameless, it would prove me perverse.

21 "I am blameless, yet I do not know myself;
I despise my life.
22 It is all one thing;
Therefore I say, [n]'He destroys the blameless and the wicked.'
23 If the scourge slays suddenly,
He laughs at the plight of the innocent.
24 The earth is given into the hand of the wicked.
He covers the faces of its judges.
If it is not He, who else could it be?

25 "Now [o]my days are swifter than a runner;
They flee away, they see no good.
26 They pass by like [7]swift ships,
[p]Like an eagle swooping on its prey.
27 [q]If I say, 'I will forget my complaint,
I will put off my sad face and wear a smile,'
28 [r]I am afraid of all my sufferings;
I know that You [s]will not hold me
innocent.
29 If I am condemned,
Why then do I labor in vain?
30 [t]If I wash myself with snow water,
And cleanse my hands with [8]soap,
31 Yet You will plunge me into the pit,
And my own clothes will [9]abhor
me.

32 "For [u]He is not a man, as I am,
That I may answer Him,
And that we should go to court
together.
33 [v]Nor is there any mediator between us,
Who may lay his hand on us both.
34 [w]Let Him take His rod away from
me,
And do not let dread of Him
terrify me.
35 Then I would speak and not fear
Him,
But it is not so with me.

4 [c] [1 Sam. 16:7; Job 28:24; 34:21]

9:24 covers the faces of its judges. Job here indicted God for the inequities of His world. He accused God of treating all the same way, unfairly (vv. 21-23), and of even covering the eyes of earthly judges so that they would not see injustice. These are the charges that bring about God's rebuke of Job (chaps. 38–41) and for which he eventually repented (42:1-6).

9:25,26 Couriers running with messages, ships cutting swiftly, and eagles swooping rapidly convey the blur of painful, meaningless days of despair that move by.

9:27,28 Job said if he promised to change to a happy mood, he would break that promise and God would add that to His list of accusations.

9:29,30 "God seems to have found me guilty," Job concluded, "so why struggle? Even if I make every effort to clean every aspect of my life, you will still punish me." This was deep despair and hopelessness.

9:32 that we should go to court together. Job acknowledged that, as a mere man, he had no right to call on God to declare his innocence or to contend with God over his innocence. Job was not arguing that he was sinless, but he didn't believe he had sinned to the extent that he deserved his severe suffering. Job held on to the same simplistic system of retribution as that of his accusers, which said that suffering was always caused by sin. And he knew he was not sinless, but he couldn't identify any unconfessed or unrepented sins. "Where is mercy?" he wondered.

9:33-35 any mediator between us. A court official who sees both sides clearly, as well as the source of disagreement, so as to bring resolution was not found. Where was an advocate, an arbitrator, an umpire, or a referee? Was there no one to remove God's rod and call for justice?

10:2 condemn me. Not the condemnation of Job's soul, but Job's physical suffering as a punishment. He held nothing back in his misery (v. 1), but asked God to show him why all this had happened.

10:3 the work of Your hands. This is a biblical expression identifying what someone produces, in this case man, as created by God (cf. 14:15; Ps. 102:25; Heb. 1:10).

10:4-7 see as man sees. Because he believed he was innocent, Job facetiously, somewhat sarcastically, asked if God was as limited in His ability to discern Job's spiritual condition as were Job's friends. He concluded by affirming that God did know he was innocent and that there was no higher court of appeal (v. 7).

And there is no one who can deliver from Your hand?

8 'Your[d] hands have made me and fashioned me,
An intricate unity;
Yet You would [e]destroy me.
9 Remember, I pray, [f]that You have spirit.

13 'And these things You have hidden

I know that this was with You:
14 If I sin, then [h]You mark me,
And will not acquit me of my
iniquity.
15 If I am wicked, [i]woe to me;
[j]Even if I am righteous, I [2]cannot lift up my head.
I am full of disgrace;

Zophar Urges Job to Repent

11 Then Zophar the Naamathite answered and said:

2 "Should not the multitude of words be answered?
And should [1]a man full of talk be vindicated?
3 Should your empty talk make men
[2]hold their peace?
And when you mock, should no

CHAPTER 11

2 [1] Lit. a man of lips
3 [2] be silent
4 [a] Job 6:30

10:8-12 Again he returned to the question "Why was I born?" The answer that God had created him is given in magnificent language, indicating that life begins at conception.

10:13-16 Job wondered if God had planned in His divine purpose not to be merciful to him.

10:17 renew Your witnesses. Job said God seemed to be sending people to accuse him. With each witness came another wave of condemnation and increased suffering.

10:18 brought me out of the womb. Job returned to the question of why God allowed him to be born. This time he was not just lamenting the day of his birth, but he was asking God for the reason He allowed it to occur.

10:20-22 "Since I was destined to these ills from my birth, at least give me a little breathing room during the brief days left to me, before I die," he said. Death was gloomily described as "darkness."

11:1-20 Zophar the Naamathite now stepped in to interrogate Job. He was quite close to his friends and chose to pound Job with the same law of retaliation. Job must repent, he said, not understanding the reality. He was indignant at Job's protests of innocence. See Job 20 for Zophar's other speech.

11:2,3 a man full of talk be vindicated. The allegations against Job moved to a new level. Not only was Job guilty and unrepentant, he was also an empty talker. In fact, Job's long-winded defense of his innocence and God's apparent injustice was sin worthy of rebuke, in Zophar's mind.

11:4 clean in your eyes. Job never claimed sinlessness; in fact, he acknowledged that he had sinned (Job 7:21; 13:26). But he still maintained his innocence of any great transgression or attitude of unrepentance, affirming his sincerity and integrity as a man of faith and obedience to God. This claim infuriated Zophar, and he wished God Himself would confirm the accusations of Job's friends (v. 5).

11:6 secrets of wisdom. Job would have been much wiser if he had only known the unknowable secrets of God; in this case the scene in heaven between God and Satan would have clarified everything. But Job couldn't know the secret wisdom of God (vv. 7-9). Zophar should have applied his point to himself. If God's wisdom was so deep, high, long, and broad, how was it that he could understand it and have all the answers? Like his friends, Zophar thought he understood God and reverted to the same law of retaliation, the sowing and reaping principle, to again indict Job. He implied that Job was wicked (vv. 10,11) and thought he was wise, though actually he was out of control as if he were a "wild donkey man"! (v. 12).

For they would double your prudence.
Know therefore that [b]God [3]exacts from you
Less than your iniquity deserves.

7 "Can[c] you search out the deep things of God?
Can you find out the limits of the Almighty?
8 They are higher than heaven—what can you do?
Deeper than [4]Sheol—what can you know?
9 Their measure is longer than the earth
And broader than the sea.

10 "If[d] He passes by, imprisons, and gathers to judgment,
Then who can [5]hinder Him?
11 For [e]He knows deceitful men;
He sees wickedness also.
Will He not then consider it?
12 For an [f]empty-headed man will be wise,
When a wild donkey's colt is born a man.

13 "If you would [g]prepare your heart,
And [h]stretch out your hands toward Him;
14 If iniquity were in your hand, and you put it far away,
And [i]would not let wickedness dwell in your tents;
15 [j]Then surely you could lift up your face without spot;
Yes, you could be steadfast, and not fear;
16 Because you would [k]forget your misery,
And remember it as waters that have passed away,
17 And your life [l]would be brighter than noonday.
Though you were dark, you would be like the morning.
18 And you would be secure, because there is hope;
Yes, you would dig around you, and [m]take your rest in safety.
19 You would also lie down, and no one would make you afraid;
Yes, many would court your favor.
20 But [n]the eyes of the wicked will fail,
And they shall not escape,
And [o]their hope—[6]loss of life!"

Job Answers His Critics

12 Then Job answered and said:

2 "No doubt you are the people,
And wisdom will die with you!
3 But I have [1]understanding as well as you;
I am not [a]inferior to you.
Indeed, who does not know such things as these?

4 "I[b] am one mocked by his friends,
Who [c]called on God, and He answered him,
The just and blameless who is ridiculed.
5 A [2]lamp is despised in the thought of one who is at ease;
It is made ready for [d]those whose feet slip.

11:13,14 Zophar set out 4 steps of Job's repentance: 1) devote your heart to God; 2) stretch your hands to Him in prayer for forgiveness; 3) put your sin far away; and 4) don't allow any sin in your tent. If Job did these things, he would be blessed (vv. 15-19). If Job didn't repent, he would die (v. 20). Zophar was right that the life of faith in God is based on penitence and obedience. He was right that God blesses His people with hope, security, and peace. But, like his friends, he was wrong in not understanding that God allows unpredictable and seemingly unfair suffering for reasons not known to us. He was wrong in presuming that the answer for Job was repentance.

11:13-20 Zophar started out this section speaking directly to Job, "If you would..." and concluded speaking proverbially, "But the eyes of the wicked...." In so doing Zophar avoided directly calling Job wicked, but succeeded with even greater force by being indirect. In the end, he told Job that his sin would bring about his death.

12:1–14:22 Job responded in his defense with strong words, completing the first cycle of speeches.

12:2-4 you are the people, and wisdom will die with you. Job responded with cutting sarcasm directed at his know-it-all friends (v. 2) and then reminded them that he understood the principles of which they had spoken (v. 3), but they were irrelevant to his situation. On top of that, he despaired at the pain of becoming a derision to his friends, though he was innocent (v. 4).

12:4 The just and blameless. If this sounds like presumption, one only need to recall that this was God's pronouncement on Job (1:8; 2:3).

12:5 A lamp. As a torch is to a wanderer, so Job was to his friends. When all was at ease with them, they didn't need him, and even mocked him.

12:6 God provides. Job refuted the simplistic idea that the righteous always prosper and the wicked always suffer, by reminding them that God allows thieves and sinners to be prosperous and secure. So, why not believe He may also allow the righteous to suffer?

12:7-10 All these elements (animals, birds, plants, and fish) of

And the birds of the air, and they will tell you;
8 Or speak to the earth, and it will teach you;
And the fish of the sea will explain to you.
9 Who among all these does not know
That the hand of the LORD has done this,
10 [f]In whose hand is the [3]life of every living thing,
And the [g]breath of [4]all mankind?
11 Does not the ear test words
And the [5]mouth taste its food?
12 Wisdom is with aged men,
And with [6]length of days, understanding.

13 "With Him are [h]wisdom and strength,
He has counsel and understanding.
14 If [i]He breaks a thing down, it cannot be rebuilt;
If He imprisons a man, there can be no release.
15 If He [j]withholds the waters, they dry up;
If He [k]sends them out, they overwhelm the earth.
16 With Him are strength and prudence.
The deceived and the deceiver are His.
17 He leads counselors away plundered,
And makes fools of the judges.
18 He loosens the bonds of kings,
And binds their waist with a belt.
19 He leads [7]princes away plundered,
And overthrows the mighty.
20 [l]He deprives the trusted ones of speech,
And takes away the discernment of the elders.
21 [m]He pours contempt on princes,
And [8]disarms the mighty.
22 He [n]uncovers deep things out of darkness,
And brings the shadow of death to light.
23 [o]He makes nations great, and destroys them;
He [9]enlarges nations, and guides them.
24 He takes away the [1]understanding of the chiefs of the people of the earth,
And [p]makes them wander in a pathless wilderness.
25 [q]They grope in the dark without light,
And He makes them [r]stagger like a drunken man.

13 "Behold, my eye has seen all this,
My ear has heard and understood it.
2 [a]What you know, I also know;
I am not inferior to you.
3 [b]But I would speak to the Almighty,
And I desire to reason with God.
4 But you forgers of lies,
[c]You are all worthless physicians.
5 Oh, that you would be silent,
And [d]it would be your wisdom!
6 Now hear my reasoning,
And heed the pleadings of my lips.
7 [e]Will you speak [1]wickedly for God,
And talk deceitfully for Him?
8 Will you show partiality for Him?
Will you contend for God?
9 Will it be well when He searches you out?
Or can you mock Him as one mocks a man?
10 He will surely rebuke you
If you secretly show partiality.
11 Will not His [2]excellence make you afraid,
And the dread of Him fall upon you?
12 Your platitudes are proverbs of ashes,
Your defenses are defenses of clay.

creation are called as an illustration that the violent prosper and live securely (v. 6). God made it so that the more vicious survive.

12:12 Wisdom is with aged men. The questioning force of the preceding verse may carry over to make this a question also. "Shouldn't aged men be wise?" If this is true, then v. 12 is stinging sarcasm against Job's aged friends who gave unwise advice (cf. 15:10), and heard and spoke only what suited them (v. 11).

12:13–13:3 This section gives vivid definition to the wisdom, power, and sovereignty of God (v. 13). Job, despite his questions about his suffering, affirms that God's power is visible in nature, human society, religious matters, and national and international affairs. Job, however, expressed this in terms of fatalistic despair. Job knew all this and it didn't help (13:1,2); so he didn't want to argue with them anymore—he wanted to take his case before God (v. 3).

13:4-19 Job addressed his ineffective counselors.

13:4,5 Job couldn't hold back from a blistering denunciation of his useless counselors, telling them that their silence would be true wisdom (cf. v. 13).

13:7 wickedly for God,...deceitfully for Him. He accused them of using lies and fallacies to vindicate God, when they asserted that Job was a sinner because he was a sufferer.

13:8 Will you contend for God? "Are you wise enough to argue in God's defense?" he asked. To think that is very brash and really mocks God by misrepresenting Him (v. 9) and should lead to fear of chastening (vv. 10,11).

13:12 ashes...clay. Ineffective and worthless.

13 "Hold[3] your peace with me, and let me speak,
Then let come on me what may!
14 Why [f]do I take my flesh in my teeth,
And put my life in my hands?
15 [g]Though He slay me, yet will I trust Him.
[h]Even so, I will defend my own ways before Him.
16 He also shall be my salvation,
For a [i]hypocrite could not come before Him.

If now I hold my tongue, I perish.

Job's Despondent Prayer

20 "Only[1] two things do not do to me,
Then I will not hide myself from You:
21 [m]Withdraw Your hand far from me,
And let not the dread of You make me afraid.
22 Then call, and I will [n]answer;
Or let me speak, then You respond to me.
23 How many are my iniquities and sins?
Make me know my transgression and my sin.
24 [o]Why do You hide Your face,
And [p]regard me as Your enemy?
25 [q]Will You frighten a leaf driven to and fro?
And will You pursue dry stubble?
26 For You write bitter things against me,
And [r]make me inherit the iniquities of my youth.
27 [s]You put my feet in the stocks,
And watch closely all my paths.
You [4]set a limit for the [5]soles of my feet.

6 [g] Job 7:16, 19; Ps. 39:13 [h] Job 7:1 [3] Lit. cease

13:14 A proverb meaning "Why should I anxiously desire to save my life?" Like an animal who holds its prey in its mouth to preserve it or a man who holds in his hand what he wants to secure, Job could try to preserve his life, but that was not his motive.

13:15 Though He slay me, yet will I trust Him. Job assured his accusers that his convictions were not self-serving, because he was ready to die trusting God. But still he would defend his innocence before God, and was confident that he was truly saved and not a hypocrite (v. 16).

13:17-19 declaration...case...vindicated...contend. The language of a courtroom came out strongly. He could not just be silent and die (v. 19). He finished strongly before turning to God in prayer (13:20–14:22).

13:20–14:22 Job turned to reason with God (v. 3) and pleaded his case.

13:20-22 Job asked God to end his pain and stop frightening him with such terrors (cf. v. 24), then speak to him. He was concerned with his misery, but even more with his relation to the God he loved and worshiped.

13:23 How many are my iniquities and sins? Job wanted to know how many so that he could determine if his measure of suffering matched the severity of his sin, and he could then repent for sins he was unaware of.

13:26 write bitter things against me. This a judicial phrase referencing the writing down of a sentence against a criminal, used figuratively for the extreme suffering as if it were a divine sentence as just punishment for extreme sin. Job felt God may be punishing him for sins committed years earlier in his youth.

13:27 watch closely all my paths. In another context these words would speak of protection, but here, Job questioned whether or not God had not held him on too tight a leash. The comment amounts to saying, that God is being overly-rigorous toward Job's sin, as compared to others.

13:28 This general comment on the plight of man should not be separated from 14:1ff., which it introduces.

14:1-12 Job embraced the fact of God's control over the issues of this life, but challenged their meaning. Life is short (vv. 1,2), all are sinners (v. 4), and days are limited (v. 5), then comes death (vv. 7-12). In light of this, Job asked God for a little grace instead of such intense judgment (v. 3), and a little rest from all the pain (v. 6), and suggested that a tree has more hope than he did (v. 7).

8 Though its root may grow old in the earth,
And its stump may die in the ground,
9 Yet at the scent of water it will bud
And bring forth branches like a plant.
10 But man dies and [4]is laid away;
Indeed he [5]breathes his last
And where is [i]he?
11 As water disappears from the sea,
And a river becomes parched and dries up,
12 So man lies down and does not rise.
[j]Till the heavens are no more,
They will not awake
Nor be roused from their sleep.

13 "Oh, that You would hide me in the grave,
That You would conceal me until Your wrath is past,
That You would appoint me a set time, and remember me!
14 If a man dies, shall he live again?
All the days of my hard service [k]I will wait,
Till my change comes.
15 [l]You shall call, and I will answer You;
You shall desire the work of Your hands.
16 For now [m]You number my steps,
But do not watch over my sin.
17 [n]My transgression is sealed up in a bag,
And You [6]cover my iniquity.

18 "But as a mountain falls and crumbles away,
And as a rock is moved from its place;
19 As water wears away stones,
And as torrents wash away the soil of the earth;
So You destroy the hope of man.
20 You prevail forever against him, and he passes on;
You change his countenance and send him away.

Eliphaz Accuses Job of Folly

15 Then [a]Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2 "Should a wise man answer with empty knowledge,
And fill [1]himself with the east wind?
3 Should he reason with unprofitable talk,
Or by speeches with which he can do no good?
4 Yes, you cast off fear,
And restrain [2]prayer before God.

And you choose the tongue of the crafty.

Yes, your own lips testify against you.

14:13-17 Job asked to die and remain in the grave until God's anger was over, then be raised to life again when God called him back (vv. 13-15). If he were dead, God wouldn't be watching every step, counting every sin (v. 16); it would all be hidden (v. 17). Here was the hope of resurrection for those who trusted God. Job had hope that if he died, he would live again (v. 14).

14:18-22 Job returned to his complaint before God, and reverted to a hopeless mood, speaking about death as inevitable (vv. 18-20), and causing separation (v. 21). He was painfully sad to think of it (v. 22).

15:1–21:34 The second cycle of speeches given by Job and his 3 friends. Job's resistance to their viewpoint and his appeals energized them to greater intensity in their confrontation.

15:1-35 Eliphaz returns for his second session (See Job 4,5).

15:1-6 He began by accusing Job of sinning by attacking God with his complaints. He felt Job was guilty of empty words and had not exhibited godly fear and righteous prayer (v. 4), but rather was sinning in his prayer (vv. 5,6).

15:7-13 Eliphaz condemned Job for rejecting the conventional wisdom, as if he had more insight than other men (vv. 7-9) and could reject the wisdom of the aged (v. 10) and the kindness of God (v. 11).

13 That you turn your spirit against God,
And let such words go out of your mouth?

14 "What[g] is man, that he could be pure?
And he who is born of a woman, that he could be righteous?
15 [h]If God puts no trust in His saints,
And the heavens are not pure in His sight,

20 The wicked man writhes with pain all his days,
[m]And the number of years is hidden from the oppressor.
21 [6]Dreadful sounds are in his ears;
[n]In prosperity the destroyer comes upon him.
22 He does not believe that he will [o]return from darkness,
For a sword is waiting for him.
23 He [p]wanders about for bread, saying, 'Where is it?'
He knows [q]that a day of darkness is ready at his hand.
24 Trouble and anguish make him afraid;
They overpower him, like a king ready for [7]battle.
25 For he stretches out his hand against God,
And acts defiantly against the Almighty,
26 Running stubbornly against Him
With his strong, embossed shield.
27 "Though[r] he has covered his face with his fatness,
And made his waist heavy with fat,
28 He dwells in desolate cities,
In houses which no one inhabits,
Which are destined to become ruins.
29 He will not be rich,
Nor will his wealth [s]continue,
Nor will his possessions overspread the earth.
30 He will not depart from darkness;
The flame will dry out his branches,
And [t]by the breath of His mouth he will go away.
31 Let him not [u]trust in futile things, deceiving himself,
For futility will be his reward.
32 It will be accomplished [v]before his time,
And his branch will not be green.
33 He will shake off his unripe grape like a vine,
And cast off his blossom like an olive tree.
34 For the company of hypocrites will be barren,
And fire will consume the tents of bribery.
35 [w]They conceive trouble and bring forth futility;
Their womb prepares deceit."

Job Reproaches His Pitiless Friends

16 Then Job answered and said:

2 "I have heard many such things;
[a]Miserable[1] comforters are you all!
3 Shall [2]words of wind have an end?
Or what provokes you that you answer?

2 [a] Job 13:4; 21:34
[1] Troublesome
3 [2] Empty words
4 [b] Ps. 22:7; 109:25; Lam. 2:15; Zeph. 2:15; Matt. 27:39

15:14-16 A strong statement with regard to the sinfulness of man (cf. Rom. 3:23), that attacked Job's claim to righteousness. Verse 15 refers to holy angels who fell and brought impurity into the heavens (cf. Rev. 12:1-4). The truth is accurate, that all men are sinners—but irrelevant in Job's case, because his suffering was not due to any sin.

15:17-35 Eliphaz once again returned to the same perspective and indicted Job for sin because Job was suffering. To support his relentless point, he launched into a lengthy monologue about the wicked and their outcomes in life, including many parallels to the sufferings of Job. He had pain, and didn't know when his life would end (v. 20). He suffered from fear, every sound alarmed him, and he thought his destroyer was near (vv. 21,22). He worried about having food (v. 23). His suffering made him question God (vv. 24-26). Once well-nourished, housed, and rich (vv. 27-29), he would lose it all (vv. 30-33). Eliphaz concluded by calling Job a hypocrite (vv. 34,35), saying that this was the reason things were going so badly.

16:1–17:16 Job responded with his second rebuttal.

16:2-5 Miserable comforters are you all! Job's friends had come to comfort him. In spite of 7 blissful days of silence at the outset, their mission had failed miserably, and their comfort had turned into more torment for Job. What started out as Eliphaz's sincere efforts to help Job understand his dilemma had turned into rancor and sarcasm. In the end, their haranguing had heightened the frustrations of all parties involved. If the matter were reversed and Job was comforter to his friends, he would never treat them as they have treated him. He would have strengthened and comforted them.

5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth,
And the comfort of my lips would relieve your grief.

6 "Though I speak, my grief is not relieved;
And if I remain silent, how am I eased?
7 But now He has [c]worn me out;
You [d]have made desolate all my company.
8 You have shriveled me up,
And it is a [e]witness against me;
My leanness rises up against me
And bears witness to my face.
9 [f]He tears me in His wrath, and hates me;
He gnashes at me with His teeth;
[g]My adversary sharpens His gaze on me.
10 They [h]gape at me with their mouth,
They [i]strike me reproachfully on the cheek,
They gather together against me.
11 God [j]has delivered me to the ungodly,
And turned me over to the hands of the wicked.
12 I was at ease, but He has [k]shattered me;
He also has taken me by my neck, and shaken me to pieces;
He has [l]set me up for His target,
13 His archers surround me.
He pierces my [3]heart and does not pity;
He pours out my gall on the ground.
14 He breaks me with wound upon wound;
He runs at me like a [4]warrior.

15 "I have sewn sackcloth over my skin,
And [m]laid my [5]head in the dust.
16 My face is [6]flushed from weeping,
And on my eyelids is the shadow of death;
17 Although no violence is in my hands,
And my prayer is pure.

18 "O earth, do not cover my blood,
And [n]let my cry have no resting place!
19 Surely even now [o]my witness is in heaven,
And my evidence is on high.
20 My friends scorn me;
My eyes pour out tears to God.
21 [p]Oh, that one might plead for a man with God,
As a man pleads for his [7]neighbor!
22 For when a few years are finished,
I shall [q]go the way of no return.

Job Prays for Relief

17 "My spirit is broken,
My days are extinguished,

16:6-9,12-14 These poignant thoughts from Job lamented his suffering as severe judgment from God, who had worn him out, withered his strength, and chewed him up by severe scrutiny ("sharpens His gaze"). Job refers to God as "my Adversary," who had shattered, shaken, shot at, and sliced him (vv. 12-14).

16:15-20 He had no one to turn to in his sorrow, except God (v. 19), who was silent and had not vindicated him.

16:21 plead for a man with God. The pleading would be for a verdict of innocent on behalf of a friend or neighbor in a court setting before the judge/king. God anticipated the need of an advocate, and He has provided One in the person of the Lord Jesus Christ (cf. 1 Tim. 2:5; 1 John 2:1,2).

17:2 mockers. The would-be counselors had become actual enemies and the provocation for Job's tears (cf. 16:20).

17:3 pledge. He called on God to promise (by a symbolic handshake) that his case would be heard in the heavenly court.

17:4 not exalt them. The blindness of Job's friends toward his innocence came from God, so Job asked that God would not let them succeed in their efforts against him.

17:5 speaks flattery. This Heb. term came to mean "a prey," so that Job was referring to someone who delivers up a friend as prey to some enemy.

17:6 a byword. This refers to shame, reproach, and a reputation that is extremely bad (cf. Deut. 28:37; Ps. 69:11). spit. The most disdainful act a person could commit to heap scorn and shame on someone as a wicked and unworthy person. Job's friends were aiding him in getting such a reputation (vv. 7,8).

And all my members are like shadows.
8 Upright men are astonished at this,
And the innocent stirs himself up against the hypocrite.
9 Yet the righteous will hold to his [h]way,
And he who has [i]clean hands will be stronger and stronger.

10 "But please, [j]come back again, [2]all of you,
For I shall not find one wise man among you.
11 [k]My days are past,
My purposes are broken off,
Even the [3]thoughts of my heart.
12 They change the night into day;
'The light is near,' they say, in the face of darkness.
13 If I wait for the grave as my house,
If I make my bed in the darkness,
14 If I say to corruption, 'You are my father,'
And to the worm, 'You are my mother and my sister,'
15 Where then is my [l]hope?
As for my hope, who can see it?
16 Will they go down [m]to the gates of [4]Sheol?
Shall we have [n]rest together in the dust?"

Bildad: The Wicked Are Punished

18 Then [a]Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

2 "How long till you put an end to words?
Gain understanding, and afterward we will speak.
3 Why are we counted [b]as beasts,
And regarded as stupid in your sight?
4 [c]You[1] who tear yourself in anger,
Shall the earth be forsaken for you?
Or shall the rock be removed from its place?

5 "The[d] light of the wicked indeed goes out,
And the flame of his fire does not shine.
6 The light is dark in his tent,
[e]And his lamp beside him is put out.
7 The steps of his strength are shortened,
And [f]his own counsel casts him down.
8 For [g]he is cast into a net by his own feet,
And he walks into a snare.
9 The net takes him by the heel,
And [h]a snare lays hold of him.
10 A noose is hidden for him on the ground,
And a trap for him in the road.
11 [i]Terrors frighten him on every side,
And drive him to his feet.
12 His strength is starved,
And [j]destruction is ready at his side.
13 It devours patches of his skin;
The firstborn of death devours his [2]limbs.
14 He is uprooted from [k]the shelter of his tent,
And they parade him before the king of terrors.
15 They dwell in his tent who are none of his;
Brimstone is scattered on his dwelling.
16 [l]His roots are dried out below,
And his branch withers above.
17 [m]The memory of him perishes from the earth,
And he has no name [3]among the renowned.
18 [4]He is driven from light into darkness,

17:9 Yet the righteous will hold to his way. Job, and other righteous people who find themselves in a similar situation, must remain righteous. If they do, Job knew, the suffering would produce strength (cf. 2 Cor. 12:7-10).

17:10 Job was not unteachable. He invited his friends to speak again if they had something wise to say, for a change, but not to talk about his restoration because he was done (vv. 11-16).

17:15 Where then is my hope? Job's hope was in God alone.

17:16 gates of Sheol. A reference to death, also used by our Lord in Matt. 16:18.

18:1-21 Bildad, like his predecessor, ruthlessly attacked Job in his second speech (cf. chap. 8) by telling Job to stop complaining and to become sensible (v. 2). Next he turned to scorn (vv. 3,4). Then he turned to another long tale of the bad outcomes the wicked experience (vv. 5-21).

18:13 The firstborn of death. A poetical expression meaning the most deadly disease death ever produced.

18:14 the king of terrors. Death, with all its terrors to the ungodly, personified.

Job Trusts in His Redeemer

CHAPTER 19

19 Then Job answered and said:

2 "How long will you torment my soul,
And break me in pieces with words?
3 These ten times you have [1]reproached me;
You are not ashamed that you [2]have wronged me.
4 And if indeed I have erred,
My error remains with me.
5 If indeed you [a]exalt yourselves against me,
And plead my disgrace against me,
6 Know then that [b]God has wronged me,
And has surrounded me with His net.

7 "If I cry out concerning [3]wrong, I am not heard.
If I cry aloud, there is no justice.
8 [c]He has [4]fenced up my way, so that I cannot pass;
And He has set darkness in my paths.
9 [d]He has stripped me of my glory,
And taken the crown from my head.
10 He breaks me down on every side, And I am gone;
My [e]hope He has uprooted like a tree.
11 He has also kindled His wrath against me,
And [f]He counts me as one of His enemies.
12 His troops come together
And build up their road against me;
They encamp all around my tent.

13 "He[g] has removed my brothers far from me,
And my acquaintances are completely estranged from me.
14 My relatives have failed,
And my close friends have forgotten me.
15 Those who dwell in my house, and my maidservants,
Count me as a stranger;
I am an alien in their sight.
16 I call my servant, but he gives no answer;
I beg him with my mouth.
17 My breath is offensive to my wife,
And I am [5]repulsive to the children of my own body.
18 Even [h]young children despise me;
I arise, and they speak against me.
19 [i]All my close friends abhor me,
And those whom I love have turned against me.
20 [j]My bone clings to my skin and to my flesh,
And I have escaped by the skin of my teeth.

21 "Have pity on me, have pity on me, O you my friends,
For the hand of God has struck me!
22 Why do you [k]persecute me as God does,
And are not satisfied with my flesh?

23 "Oh, that my words were written!
Oh, that they were inscribed in a book!
24 That they were engraved on a rock
With an iron pen and lead, forever!

18:21 who does not know God. This describes "know" in a redemptive sense and is here applied to an unbeliever.

19:1-29 Job's response to Bildad's second speech was desperate.

19:1-5 He began with the anguished cry that his friends have become recalcitrant and relentless for mentors (vv. 2,3), and they have had no effect on his dealing with the sin they imagine is present (v. 4).

19:5-7 Job confessed that if God sent him friends like Bildad, who needs enemies? He feared there was no justice.

19:8-21 Job rehearsed his suffering. God had closed him in, stripped him, broken him, and turned against him (vv. 8-12). His family and friends had failed him (vv. 15-19), so that he was to be pitied because God had caused this to occur (vv. 21,22).

19:12 build up their road against me. In the ancient world conquering armies often had their own road crews level out the rough places so that their military forces could attack.

19:20 skin of my teeth. This was the origin of a common slang phrase, referring to skin that is thin and fragile. The idea is that he had escaped death by a very slim margin. The loss of all his family, as well as the abuse of his friends was added to the terror of God-forsakeness which had gripped him.

19:23-29 At the point of Job's greatest despair, his faith appeared at its highest as he confidently affirmed that God was his Redeemer. He wanted that confidence in the record for all to know (vv. 23,24). Job wished that the activities of his life were put into words and "inscribed in granite," so all would know that he had not sinned to the magnitude of his suffering. God granted his prayer. God was his Redeemer (cf. Ex. 6:6, Ps. 19:14; 72:14; Is. 43:14; 47:4; 49:26; Jer. 50:34), who would vindicate him in that last day of judgment on the earth when justice was finally done (cf. Jer. 12:1-3; John 5:25,29; Rev. 20:11-15).

25 For I know that my Redeemer lives,
And He shall stand at last on the earth;
26 And after my skin is [6]destroyed, this I know,
That [1]in my flesh I shall see God,
27 Whom I shall see for myself,
And my eyes shall behold, and not another.
How my [7]heart yearns within me!
28 If you should say, 'How shall we persecute him?'—
Since the root of the matter is found in me,
29 Be afraid of the sword for yourselves;
For wrath brings the punishment of the sword,
That you may know there is a judgment."

Zophar's Sermon on the Wicked Man

20 Then [a]Zophar the Naamathite answered and said:

2 "Therefore my anxious thoughts make me answer,
Because of the turmoil within me.
3 I have heard the rebuke [1]that reproaches me,
And the spirit of my understanding causes me to answer.

4 "Do you not know this of [b]old,
Since man was placed on earth,
5 [c]That the triumphing of the wicked is short,
And the joy of the hypocrite is but for a [d]moment?
6 [e]Though his haughtiness mounts up to the heavens,
And his head reaches to the clouds,
7 Yet he will perish forever like his own refuse;
Those who have seen him will say, 'Where is he?'
8 He will fly away [f]like a dream, and not be found;
Yes, he [g]will be chased away like a vision of the night.
9 The eye that saw him will see him no more,
Nor will his place behold him anymore.
10 His children will seek the favor of the poor,
And his hands will restore his wealth.
11 His bones are full of [h]his youthful vigor,
[i]But it will lie down with him in the dust.

12 "Though evil is sweet in his mouth,
And he hides it under his tongue,
13 Though he spares it and does not forsake it,
But still keeps it in his [2]mouth,
14 Yet his food in his stomach turns sour;
It becomes cobra venom within him.
15 He swallows down riches
And vomits them up again;
God casts them out of his belly.
16 He will suck the poison of cobras;
The viper's tongue will slay him.
17 He will not see [j]the streams,
The rivers flowing with honey and cream.
18 He will restore that for which he labored,
And will not swallow it down;
From the proceeds of business
He will get no enjoyment.
19 For he has [3]oppressed and forsaken the poor,
He has violently seized a house which he did not build.

20 "Because[k] he knows no quietness in his [4]heart,
He will not save anything he desires.
21 Nothing is left for him to eat;
Therefore his well-being will not last.
22 In his self-sufficiency he will be in distress;
Every hand of [5]misery will come against him.

19:26,27 Job had no hope left for this life, but was confident that "after" he was dead, his Redeemer would vindicate him in the glory of a physical ("in my flesh") resurrection in which he would enjoy perfect fellowship with the Redeemer. That Jesus Christ is that Redeemer is the clear message of the gospel. See Luke 2:38; Rom. 3:24; Gal. 3:13; Eph. 1:7; Heb. 9:12.

19:28,29 Job warned his friends that their misjudgment of him and violence against him could bring punishment on them.

20:1-29 Zophar spoiled it all again for Job with his second and last speech (cf. 11:1-20), in which he admonished Job again to consider the fate of the wicked.

20:5,6 wicked...hypocrite...haughtiness. The application of Zophar's words about this wicked, hypocritical, proud person were aimed at Job. He would, like others so wicked, suffer the consequences of his sins (vv. 7-29).

20:11 The wicked die young.

20:12-22 Evil in a life takes away all the enjoyment, implying that Job had no joy because of sin, such as that in v. 19.

23 When he is about to fill his stomach,
God will cast on him the fury of His wrath,
And will rain it on him while he is eating.
24 [l]He will flee from the iron weapon;

Job's Discourse on the Wicked

21 Then Job answered and said:
2 "Listen carefully to my speech,
And let this be your [1]consolation.
3 Bear with me that I may speak,
And after I have spoken, keep [a]mocking.

4 "As for me, is my complaint against man?

And like chaff that a storm [6]carries away.
19 They say, 'God [7]lays up [8]one's iniquity [m]for his children';
Let Him recompense him, that he may know it.
20 Let his eyes see his destruction,

20:23-29 Zophar concluded that more than just losing the enjoyment of life by sin, the wicked fall under the fury of God determined for such wickedness.

21:1-34 Job's reply to Zophar's last speech, ending the second cycle of speeches, refuted the simplistic set of laws by which the mockers lived. He showed that the wicked prosper, and since it is clear that they do (they had argued that the wicked only suffer), then by inference, perhaps the righteous suffer. This presented serious problems for their supposed open and shut case against Job.

21:1-16 Job called for his friends to be quiet and to listen to some amazing and terrifying truth (vv. 1-6), namely that the wicked do prosper (vv. 7-13) though they deny God (vv. 14,15), and they prosper not by their doing, but God's (v. 16).

21:17-22 Playing off Bildad's sentiment (see 18:5,6,18,19), this whole section repeats the assertions of Job's friends regarding the judgment of sinners. To refute that perspective, Job suggested that his friends were guilty of telling God how He must deal with people (v. 22).

And [n]let him drink of the wrath of the Almighty.
21 For what does he care about his household after him,
When the number of his months is cut in half?

22 "Can[o] anyone teach God knowledge,
Since He judges those on high?
23 One dies in his full strength,

And the marrow of his bones is moist.

'Where is the house of the prince?
And where is [1]the tent,
The dwelling place of the wicked?'
29 Have you not asked those who travel the road?
And do you not know their signs?
30 [q]For the wicked are reserved for the day of doom;
They shall be brought out on the day of wrath.
31 Who condemns his way to his face?
And who repays him for what he has done?

Eliphaz Accuses Job of Wickedness

22 Then [a]Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2 "Can[b] a man be profitable to God,
Though he who is wise may be profitable to himself?
3 Is it any pleasure to the Almighty that you are righteous?
Or is it gain to Him that you make your ways blameless?

4 "Is it because of your fear of Him that He corrects you,
And enters into judgment with you?
5 Is not your wickedness great,
And your iniquity without end?
6 For you have [c]taken pledges from your brother for no reason,
And stripped the naked of their clothing.
7 You have not given the weary water to drink,
And you [d]have withheld bread from the hungry.
8 But the [1]mighty man possessed the land,
And the honorable man dwelt in it.

21:23-26 Some of the wicked live and die in prosperity, some don't, canceling the absolutist nature of his counselors' argument.

21:27,28 Again Job referred to the statements of his friends, Zophar in this case (see 20:7), who were trying to prove their "sin equals suffering" idea.

21:29-33 Job knew they would not listen to him, so he suggested they ask travelers, any of whom would tell them that wicked people prosper sometimes in this life, but there will be a day of doom for them when they die.

21:34 The boastful words of the counselors were contradicted by facts.

22:1–31:40 The third cycle of speeches is given by Job and his friends, with Zophar abstaining.

22:1-30 Eliphaz's last speech got nasty with Job, as his frustration rose.

22:2-4,12-14 This counselor repeated the emphasis on the almighty nature of God, saying that God was so lofty and transcendent that He had no direct concern at all with Job. God didn't care personally about his complaints and claims to righteousness. God was not involved in the trivia of his life.

22:5-11 This miserable comforter accused Job of wickedness that was great, naming various sins against humanity as the reasons for Job's trouble (vv. 10,11).

And He walks above the circle of heaven.'
15 Will you keep to the old way

Job Proclaims God's Righteous Judgments

CHAPTER 23

23 Then Job answered and said:
2 "Even today my [a]complaint is bitter;
[1]My hand is listless because of my groaning.
3 [b]Oh, that I knew where I might find Him,
That I might come to His seat!
4 I would present my case before Him,
And fill my mouth with arguments.
5 I would know the words which He would answer me,
And understand what He would say to me.
6 [c]Would He contend with me in His great power?
No! But He would take note of me.
7 There the upright could reason with Him,
And I would be delivered forever from my Judge.

8 "Look,[d] I go forward, but He is not there,
And backward, but I cannot perceive Him;
9 When He works on the left hand, I cannot behold Him;
When He turns to the right hand, I cannot see Him.

22:15-19 Again, the fate of the wicked was expressed in the simplistic idea that all suffering comes from sin. Contrary to what Job had argued, the wicked characteristically die prematurely, and Job's claim that God prospered them (v. 18a) was counsel that Eliphaz rejected (vv. 18b-20).

22:21-30 Eliphaz painted a picture of the life of blessing in store for Job if only he would return to God and repent of his sin (v. 23), emphasizing again that he did not believe Job was innocent (v. 30). "Stop all the speeches and complaints, repent, and everything will be fine," he thought.

22:24 Ophir. A land with high quality gold, whose location is uncertain (cf. Gen. 10:29; Job 28:16).

23:1–24:25 Job's reply to Eliphaz's third speech was not a rebuttal, but expressed Job's longing for fellowship with God, so he could experience God's love and goodness and hear from Him the meaning of all his suffering.

23:3 His seat. A place of judgment.

23:4 my case. Job's claim to innocence.

23:6,7 contend. Engage in court debate over evidence, witnesses, etc. Job knew God was not going to enter a contest with him to determine, as in a court case, who was right. But he wanted God to at least listen to him, so confident was he that he could make his case, and be delivered by his Just Judge (cf. 1:8; 2:3).

23:8-12 Even though Job couldn't sense God's presence, he believed He was present and affirmed his commitment to God's purpose in this test (v. 10) and his continued obedience to God's Word, which were the most important issues in his life (vv. 11,12).

When [f]He has tested me, I shall come forth as gold.
11 [g]My foot has held fast to His steps;
I have kept His way and not turned aside.
12 I have not departed from the [h]commandment of His lips;
[i]I have treasured the words of His 13 "But He is unique, and who can make Him change?

14 For He performs what is
[k]appointed for me,
And many such things are with
Him.
15 Therefore I am terrified at His presence;
When I consider this, I am afraid of
Him.
16 For God [l]made my heart weak,
And the Almighty terrifies me;
17 Because I was not [m]cut off [3]from the presence of darkness,
And He did not hide deep darkness from my face.

Job Complains of Violence on the Earth

24 "Since [a]times are not hidden from the Almighty,
Why do those who know Him see not His [b]days?

2 "Some remove [c]landmarks;
They seize flocks violently and feed on them;
3 They drive away the donkey of the fatherless;
They [d]take the widow's ox as a

4 They push the needy off the road;
All the [e]poor of the land are forced to hide.
5 Indeed, like wild donkeys in the desert,
They go out to their work,
searching for food.
The wilderness yields food for them and for their children.
6 They gather their fodder in the field
And glean in the vineyard of the wicked.
7 They [f]spend the night naked,
without clothing,
And have no covering in the cold.
8 They are wet with the showers of
the mountains,
And [g]huddle around the rock for want of shelter.

9 "Some snatch the fatherless from the breast,
And take a pledge from the poor.
10 They cause the poor to go naked,
without [h]clothing;
And they take away the sheaves
from the hungry.
11 They press out oil within their walls,
And tread winepresses, yet suffer
thirst.
12 The dying groan in the city,
And the souls of the wounded cry
out;
Yet God does not charge them with wrong.

13 "There are those who rebel against

They do not know its ways
Nor abide in its paths.

He kills the poor and needy;
And in the night he is like a thief.

23:14 He performs what is appointed for me. Job's resignation to God's sovereignty faltered at times in practice, but he returned to it repeatedly. It is the great lesson of the book: Trust sovereign God when you can't understand why things go badly in life.

24:1-25 Job had made the point that the unrighteous prosper in spite of their sin (chap. 21). Extending that theme, he listed the kinds of severe sins which go on in the world and God doesn't seem to do anything to stop them (vv. 2-17), so that the wicked, in general, prosper and live long lives, seemingly unabated. These sins—oppressing the orphans, widows, and poor as well as committing murder, thievery, and adultery—are the very ones forbidden in other parts of the OT.

24:1 times are not hidden. Job believed that God knew the appointed times for all activities under the sun (Eccl. 3:1-8), but he bemoaned the fact that God did not inform man about them.

24:2 remove landmarks. This ancient practice is addressed in Deut. 19:14; Prov. 22:28; 23:10, "Do not move the ancient landmark." Corrupt landowners often did this to increase their holdings, particularly where the land was owned by bereaved widows. Taking advantage of widows will be treated by the ultimate court in heaven.

24:7 spend the night. It was common practice to take an outer garment as a pledge for money owed. But OT law forbade keeping the garment at night since its owner could get cold and sick (cf. 24:10).

24:12 Yet God does not charge them with wrong. This is a stinging accusation from Job. Human courts prosecuted offenders for most of these social crimes. Job, in essence, was saying "If human courts punish the wicked, then why doesn't God?"

Which they marked for themselves in the daytime;
[l]They do not know the light.
17 For the morning is the same to them as the shadow of death;
If someone recognizes them,
They are in the terrors of the shadow of death.

18 "They should be swift on the face of the waters,
Their portion should be cursed in the earth,
So that no one would turn into the way of their vineyards.
19 As drought and heat [2]consume the snow waters,
So [3]the grave consumes those who have sinned.
20 The womb should forget him,
The worm should feed sweetly on
him;
[m]He should be remembered no more,
And wickedness should be broken like a tree.
21 For he [4]preys on the barren who do not bear,
And does no good for the widow.

22 "But God draws the mighty away with His power;
He rises up, but no man is sure of life.
23 He gives them security, and they rely on it;
Yet [n]His eyes are on their ways.
24 They are exalted for a little while,
Then they are gone.
They are brought low;
They are [5]taken out of the way like all others;
They dry out like the heads of Bildad: How Can Man Be Righteous?

25 Then [a]Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

2 "Dominion and fear belong to Him;
He makes peace in His high places.
3 [1]Is there any number to His armies?
Upon whom does [b]His light not rise?
4 [c]How then can man be righteous

6 How much less man, who is [f]a

Job: Man's Frailty and God's Majesty

26 But Job answered and said:

2 "How have you helped him who is without power?
How have you saved the arm that has no strength?
3 How have you counseled one who has no wisdom?
And how have you declared sound advice to many?
4 To whom have you uttered words?
And whose spirit came from you?

5 "The dead tremble,

24:18-21 Again Job referred to the opinions of his counselors, saying that, if their view were correct, all the wicked should be experiencing punishment. But it is obvious they were not.

24:22-25 Job's view was that their punishment would come eventually ("exalted for a little while"). Retribution needed the timing of God's wisdom, when He determined wrongs would be made right. Job was totally confident that his point could not be refuted.

25:1-6 Bildad made his third speech (the last speech for the three friends), and restated the same theory—that God was majestic and exalted (vv. 2,3) and man was sinful, especially Job (vv. 4-6).

26:1–31:40 Job made his last speech in rebuttal to Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar.

26:1-4 Job responded to Bildad's lack of concern for him, showing that all his friends, theological and rational words missed the point of Job's need altogether and had been no help.

26:5-14 As before, in chaps. 9 and 12, Job showed that he was not inferior to his friends in describing God's greatness. He understood that as well as they did. He described it as manifested in the realm of the dead called Sheol and Destruction (vv. 5,6), the earth and sky (v. 7), the waters above (vv. 8-10) and below (v. 12), and the stars (v. 13).

26:7 hangs the earth on nothing. A statement that is accurate, given in ancient time, before scientific verification. This indicates the divine authorship of Scripture.

10 [d]He drew a circular horizon on the face of the waters,
At the boundary of light and darkness.
11 The pillars of heaven tremble,
And are [2]astonished at His rebuke.
12 [e]He stirs up the sea with His power,
And by His understanding He breaks up [3]the storm.

His hand pierced [g]the fleeing serpent.
14 Indeed these are the mere edges of His ways,
And how small a whisper we hear of Him!
But the thunder of His power who can understand?"

Job Maintains His Integrity

27 Moreover Job continued his discourse, and said:

2 "As God lives, [a]who has taken away my justice,
And the Almighty, who has made my soul bitter,
3 As long as my breath is in me,
And the breath of God in my nostrils,
4 My lips will not speak wickedness,
Nor my tongue utter deceit.
5 Far be it from me
That I should say you are right;
Till I die [b]I will not put away my integrity from me.
6 My righteousness I [c]hold fast, and will not let it go;
[d]My heart shall not [1]reproach me as long as I live.

7 "May my enemy be like the wicked,
And he who rises up against me like the unrighteous.
8 [e]For what is the hope of the hypocrite,
Though he may gain much,
If God takes away his life?
9 [f]Will God hear his cry
When trouble comes upon him?
10 [g]Will he delight himself in the Almighty?
Will he always call on God?

11 "I will teach you [2]about the hand of God;
What is with the Almighty I will not conceal.
12 Surely all of you have seen it;
Why then do you behave with complete nonsense?

13 "This[h] is the portion of a wicked man with God,
And the heritage of oppressors, received from the Almighty:
14 [i]If his children are multiplied, it is for the sword;
And his offspring shall not be satisfied with bread.
15 Those who survive him shall be buried in death,
And [j]their[3] widows shall not weep,

26:10 a circular horizon. This describes the earth as a circular globe, another scientifically accurate statement at a time when many thought the world was flat.

26:11 pillars of heaven. A figure of speech for the mountains that seem to hold up the sky (cf. Ps. 104:32).

26:12 breaks up the storm. Lit. "Rahab," cf. 7:12; 9:13; 26:13. This term seems to be widely used to describe various things that wreak havoc.

26:13 His Spirit. Cf. Job 33:4. The Holy Spirit worked mightily in creation (cf. Gen. 1:2). the fleeing serpent. This is figurative language for the idea that God brought all constellations into subjection under His authority (cf. 26:12). "Serpent" could be translated "crooked" and refer to any wayward stars or planets being brought under control by His mighty power.

26:14 Indeed these are the mere edges of His ways. Poetic language reminding his counselors that all that could be said and understood by man was only a glimpse of God's powerful hand.

27:1-12 Job turned from speaking about God (26:5-14) to defending his righteousness.

27:2 who has taken away my justice. God did not speak to declare Job innocent. Cf. the treatment of Christ in Is. 53:8 and Acts 8:33.

27:3-6 Job affirmed his true and steadfast devotion to righteous living, no matter what happens. He refused to live with a guilty conscience (v. 6b). This was no brash claim, because God had recognized Job's virtue (1:8; 2:3).

27:7 He could have been calling for God to judge his accusers as He judges the wicked.

27:8-10 Job reminded the friends that he would never be hypocritical because he understood the consequences.

27:11 I will teach you about the hand of God. Job had pinpointed the issue between him and his friends. They disagreed on the outworking of God's retribution. They agreed that God was powerful, wise, and sovereign. But because Job knew there was no cherished sin in his life that would bring upon him such intense suffering, Job was forced to conclude that the simplistic notion that all suffering comes from sin and all righteousness is rewarded, was wrong. At the outset, Job himself probably believed as the comforters still did, but he had seen that his friends' limitation of God's action was drastically in need of revision; in fact, it was nonsense. Job's comments here introduced his exposition on wisdom which follow in Job 28.

27:13-23 Job wanted it made clear he was not denying that the wicked are punished with severe distress, so he agreed that they suffer greatly and affirmed so in this section.

17 He may pile it up, but [k]the just will wear it,
And the innocent will divide the silver.
18 He builds his house like a [4]moth,
[l]Like a [5]booth which a watchman makes.
19 The rich man will lie down,
[6]But not be gathered up;
He opens his eyes,
And he is [m]no more.
20 [n]Terrors overtake him like a flood;
A tempest steals him away in the night.
21 The east wind carries him away, and he is gone;
It sweeps him out of his place.
22 It hurls against him and does not [o]spare;
He flees desperately from its [7]power.
23 Men shall clap their hands at him,
And shall hiss him out of his place.

Job's Discourse on Wisdom

28 "Surely there is a mine for silver,
And a place where gold is refined.
2 Iron is taken from the [1]earth,
And copper is smelted from ore.
3 Man puts an end to darkness,
And searches every recess
For ore in the darkness and the shadow of death.
4 He breaks open a shaft away from people;
In places forgotten by feet
They hang far away from men;
They swing to and fro.
5 As for the earth, from it comes bread,
But underneath it is turned up as by fire;
6 Its stones are the source of sapphires,
And it contains gold dust.
7 That path no bird knows,
Nor has the falcon's eye seen it.
8 The [2]proud lions have not trodden it,
Nor has the fierce lion passed over it.
9 He puts his hand on the flint;
He overturns the mountains [3]at the roots.
10 He cuts out channels in the rocks,
And his eye sees every precious thing.
11 He dams up the streams from trickling;
What is hidden he brings forth to light.

12 "But[a] where can wisdom be found?
And where is the place of understanding?
13 Man does not know its [b]value,
Nor is it found in the land of the living.
14 [c]The deep says, 'It is not in me';
And the sea says, 'It is not with me.'
15 It [d]cannot be purchased for gold,
Nor can silver be weighed for its price.
16 It cannot be valued in the gold of Ophir,
In precious onyx or sapphire.
17 Neither [e]gold nor crystal can equal it,
Nor can it be exchanged for [4]jewelry of fine gold.
18 No mention shall be made of [5]coral or quartz,
For the price of wisdom is above [f]rubies.
19 The topaz of Ethiopia cannot equal it,
Nor can it be valued in pure [g]gold.

20 "From[h] where then does wisdom come?
And where is the place of understanding?
21 It is hidden from the eyes of all living,
And concealed from the birds of the [6]air.
22 [i]Destruction[7] and Death say,
'We have heard a report about it with our ears.'
23 God understands its way,
And He knows its place.

27:18 house like a moth, like a booth. These are temporary dwellings which illustrate that the wicked will not live long.

27:23 clap their hands. A gesture of mocking.

28:1-28 Though Job had agreed that the wicked suffer (27:13-23), that explained nothing in his case, since he was righteous. So Job called on his friends to consider that maybe God's wisdom was beyond their comprehension. That is the theme of this chapter. The wisdom of God is not gained by natural or theoretical knowledge. What God does not reveal, we can't know.

28:1-11 References to mining silver, gold, iron, flint, and sapphires, as well as smelting copper. Tremendous effort is made by men who seek these precious things. Cf. Prov. 2:1-9.

28:12,20 These verses sum up the message of the chapter with the point that no amount of effort, even as vigorous and demanding as mining, will yield God's wisdom. It can't be valued or found in the world (vv. 13,14). It can't be bought for any price (vv. 15-19). The living can't find it (v. 21), and neither can the dead (v. 22; cf. 26:6).

28:16 Ophir. See note on 22:24.

28:23 God understands its way, and He knows its place. These are perhaps the most important thoughts in the chapter for 24 For He looks to the ends of the earth,

And [j]sees under the whole heavens,
25 [k]To establish a weight for the wind,
And apportion the waters by measure.
26 When He [l]made a law for the rain,
And a path for the thunderbolt,
27 Then He saw [8]wisdom and declared it;
He prepared it, indeed, He searched it out.
28 And to man He said,
'Behold, [m]the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom,
And to depart from evil is understanding.' "

Job's Summary Defense

29 Job further continued his discourse, and said:

2 "Oh, that I were as in months [a]past,
As in the days when God [b]watched over me;
3 [c]When His lamp shone upon my head,
And when by His light I walked through darkness;
4 Just as I was in the days of my prime,
When [d]the friendly counsel of God was over my tent;
5 When the Almighty was yet with me,
When my children were around me;
6 When [e]my steps were bathed with [1]cream,
And [f]the rock poured out rivers of oil for me!

7 "When I went out to the gate by the city,
When I took my seat in the open square,
8 The young men saw me and hid,
And the aged arose and stood;
9 The princes refrained from talking,
And [g]put their hand on their mouth;
10 The voice of nobles was hushed,
And their [h]tongue stuck to the roof of their mouth.
11 When the ear heard, then it blessed me,
And when the eye saw, then it approved me;
12 Because [i]I delivered the poor who cried out,
The fatherless and the one who had no helper.
13 The blessing of a perishing man came upon me,
And I caused the widow's heart to sing for joy.
14 [j]I put on righteousness, and it clothed me;
My justice was like a robe and a turban.
15 I was [k]eyes to the blind,
And I was feet to the lame.
16 I was a father to the poor,
And [l]I searched out the case that I did not know.
17 I broke [m]the fangs of the wicked,
And plucked the victim from his teeth.

the debates. Job and his friends have probed God's wisdom for 3 court rounds and basically have arrived nowhere near the truth. Finally, Job made the point clearly that the divine wisdom necessary to explain his suffering was inaccessible to man. Only God knew all about it, because he knows everything (v. 24). True wisdom belongs to the One who is the Almighty Creator (vv. 25,26). One can only know it if He declares it to him (cf. Deut. 29:29).

28:28 Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom. Job had made the connection that the others would not. While the specific features of God's wisdom may not be revealed to us, the alpha and omega of wisdom is to revere God and avoid sin(cf. Ps. 111:10; Prov. 1:7; 9:10; Eccl. 12:13,14), leaving the unanswered questions to Him in trusting submission. All we can do is trust and obey (cf. Eccl. 12:13) and that is enough wisdom (this is the wisdom of Prov. 1:7–2:9). One may never know the reasons for life's sufferings.

29:1-25 Job did not change his mind about his sin, but continued to deny that he had earned this pain with his iniquity. The realities of his own words in chap. 28 had not yet fully taken over his mind, so he swung back to despair and rehearsed his life before the events of Job 1,2, when he was so fulfilled because God was with him (v. 5). God still was with him, but it seemed as if He were gone.

29:5 When the Almighty was yet with me. Job felt abandoned by God. But God would demonstrate to Job, by addressing his criticisms, that God was with him all throughout this ordeal.

29:6 cream...oil. He had the richest milk and best olive oil in abundance.

29:7 gate...my seat. This was a place in society reserved for city leaders. Job had been one because he was a very wealthy and powerful man.

29:12,13 poor...fatherless...perishing man...widow's. All over the ancient Near Eastern world, a man's virtue was measured by his treatment of the weakest and most vulnerable members of society. If he protected and provided for this group, he was respected as being a noble man. These things, which Job had done, his accusers said he must not have done or he wouldn't be suffering (see 22:1-11).

29:15,16 blind...lame...poor. Contrary to the accusations of the 3 friends, Job went beyond the standards of the day to care for the widow, the orphan, the poor, the disabled, and the abused.

29:16 searched out the case. Much oppression occurred in unjust courts, and there Job protected the weak.

18 "Then I said, [n]'I shall die in my nest,
And multiply my days as the sand.
19 [o]My root is spread out [p]to the waters,
And the dew lies all night on my branch.
20 My glory is fresh within me,
And my [q]bow is renewed in my hand.'

21 "Men listened to me and waited,
And kept silence for my counsel.
22 After my words they did not speak again,
And my speech settled on them as dew.
23 They waited for me as for the rain,
And they opened their mouth wide as for [r]the spring rain.
24 If I mocked at them, they did not believe it,
And the light of my countenance they did not cast down.
25 I chose the way for them, and sat as chief;
So I dwelt as a king in the army,
As one who comforts mourners.

30 "But now they mock at me, men
[1]younger than I,
Whose fathers I disdained to put with the dogs of my flock.
2 Indeed, what profit is the strength of their hands to me?
Their vigor has perished.
3 They are gaunt from want and famine,
Fleeing late to the wilderness, desolate and waste,
4 Who pluck [2]mallow by the bushes,
And broom tree roots for their food.
5 They were driven out from among men,
They shouted at them as at a thief.
6 They had to live in the clefts of the [3]valleys,
In [4]caves of the earth and the rocks.
7 Among the bushes they brayed,
Under the nettles they nestled.
8 They were sons of fools,
Yes, sons of vile men;
They were scourged from the land.

9 "And [a]now I am their taunting song;
Yes, I am their byword.
10 They abhor me, they keep far from me;
They do not hesitate [b]to spit in my face.
11 Because [c]He has loosed [5]my bowstring and afflicted me,
They have cast off restraint before me.
12 At my right hand the rabble arises;
They push away my feet,
And [d]they raise against me their ways of destruction.
13 They break up my path,
They promote my calamity;
They have no helper.
14 They come as broad breakers;
Under the ruinous storm they roll along.
15 Terrors are turned upon me;
They pursue my honor as the wind,
And my prosperity has passed like a cloud.

16 "And [e]now my soul is [f]poured out because of my plight;
The days of affliction take hold of me.
17 My bones are pierced in me at night,
And my gnawing pains take no rest.
18 By great force my garment is disfigured;
It binds me about as the collar of my coat.
19 He has cast me into the mire,
And I have become like dust and ashes.

29:18-20 Job had vigorous health like a widely rooted tree enjoying fresh dew, and he had expected to live a long life with his family ("nest").

29:21-25 Job reminded his friends that there had been a day when no one rejected his insights. He was the one sought for counsel.

29:24 mocked. This is likely a reference to saying something facetiously or jokingly. Job's word was so respected that they didn't believe his humor was humor, but took it seriously.

29:25 as a king. Job was not a king but some sort of high local official such as a mayor. Mayors, called "hazannu" in Job's day, performed all of the activities Job claimed in the previous section.

30:1-31 Job moved from the recollection of good days in the past (chap. 29) to lament his present losses.

30:2-8 Job described these mockers as dissipated vagabonds who, because of their uselessness and wickedness, were not welcome in society, so were driven out of the land. These base men had made Job the object of their sordid entertainment (vv. 9-15).

30:9 I am their taunting song. Job was the object of their jeering, whereas in former days he would not hire their fathers to tend his animals like sheepdogs (30:1).

30:16-19 Job's life ebbed away, suffering gripped him, his bones ached, gnawing pain never relented, his skin ("garment") was changed (v. 30), and he was reduced to mud, dirt, and ashes.

20 "I [g]cry out to You, but You do not answer me;
I stand up, and You regard me.
21 But You have become cruel to me;
With the strength of Your hand You [h]oppose me.
22 You lift me up to the wind and cause me to ride on it;
You spoil my success.
23 For I know that You will bring me to death,
And to the house [i]appointed for all living.

24 "Surely He would not stretch out His hand against a heap of ruins,
If they cry out when He destroys it.
25 [j]Have I not wept for him who was in trouble?
Has not my soul grieved for the poor?
26 [k]But when I looked for good, evil came to me;
And when I waited for light, then came darkness.
27 [6]My heart is in turmoil and cannot rest;
Days of affliction confront me.
28 [l]I go about mourning, but not in the sun;
I stand up in the assembly and cry out for help.
29 [m]I am a brother of jackals,
And a companion of ostriches.
30 [n]My skin grows black and falls from me;
[o]My bones burn with fever.
31 My harp is turned to mourning,
And my flute to the voice of those who weep.

31 "I have made a covenant with my eyes;
Why then should I [1]look upon a [a]young woman?
2 For what is the [b]allotment of God from above,
And the inheritance of the Almighty from on high?
3 Is it not destruction for the wicked,
And disaster for the workers of iniquity?
4 [c]Does He not see my ways,
And count all my steps?

5 "If I have walked with falsehood,
Or if my foot has hastened to deceit,
6 [2]Let me be weighed on honest scales,
That God may know my [d]integrity.
7 If my step has turned from the way,
Or [e]my heart walked after my eyes,
Or if any spot adheres to my hands,
8 Then [f]let me sow, and another eat;
Yes, let my harvest be [3]rooted out.

9 "If my heart has been enticed by a woman,
Or if I have lurked at my neighbor's door,
10 Then let my wife grind for [g]another,
And let others bow down over her.
11 For that would be wickedness;
Yes, [h]it would be iniquity deserving of judgment.
12 For that would be a fire that consumes to destruction,
And would root out all my increase.

13 "If I have [i]despised the cause of my male or female servant
When they complained against me,
14 What then shall I do when [j]God rises up?
When He punishes, how shall I answer Him?

30:20 This caused the most suffering of all—what seemed to be the cruel silence of God (v. 21).

30:23 the house appointed. The grave.

30:24-26 This seems to be saying that God must have some sympathy, if Job has (v. 25), so as not to destroy altogether what is already ruined. Job thought that and reached out for help in his misery and received only evil (v. 26).

30:30 My skin...My bones. Job was describing the effect of his disease (see 2:7).

31:1-40 As Job became more forceful in his pursuit of being cleared of false accusations, he intensified the claim that he was innocent, comparatively speaking, and demanded justice. In situations where an individual was innocent, he would attest to it by taking an oath before the king or a deity. This procedure found among Job's neighboring nations was often protocol for court procedures. The repeated "If...then" statements amount to the terms of the oath: "If" tells what Job might have done wrong; "then" describes a curse which could result. He accepted the curses (the "then" statements through the chapter) if he deserved them. This represented Job's last attempt to defend himself before both God and man. In terms of purity (v. 1), sin in general (v. 2,3), truth (v. 5), covetousness (v. 7), marital faithfulness (v. 9), equity (v. 13), compassion (vv. 16-21), materialism (vv. 24,25), false religion (vv. 26,27), love for enemies and strangers (vv. 29-32), secret sin (vv. 33,34), and business relations (vv. 38-40) Job had no pattern of sin. He asked God to answer him (v. 35), and to explain why he suffered.

31:1 made a covenant with my eyes. He spoke here of purity toward women (cf. Prov. 6:25; Matt. 5:28).

Did not the same One fashion us in the womb?

16 "If I have kept the poor from their desire,
Or caused the eyes of the widow to [l]fail,
17 Or eaten my morsel by myself,
So that the fatherless could not eat of it 18 (But from my youth I reared him as a father,
And from my mother's womb I guided [4]the widow);
19 If I have seen anyone perish for lack of clothing,
Or any poor man without covering;
20 If his [5]heart has not [m]blessed me,
And if he was not warmed with the fleece of my sheep;
21 If I have raised my hand [n]against the fatherless,
When I saw I had help in the gate;
22 Then let my arm fall from my shoulder,
Let my arm be torn from the socket.
23 For [o]destruction from God is a terror to me,
And because of His magnificence I cannot endure.

24 "If[p] I have made gold my hope,
Or said to fine gold, 'You are my confidence';
25 [q]If I have rejoiced because my wealth was great,
And because my hand had gained much;
26 [r]If I have observed the [6]sun when it shines,
Or the moon moving in brightness,
27 So that my heart has been secretly enticed,
And my mouth has kissed my hand;
28 This also would be an iniquity deserving of judgment,
For I would have denied God who is above.

29 "If[s] I have rejoiced at the destruction of him who hated me,
Or lifted myself up when evil found him
30 [t](Indeed I have not allowed my mouth to sin
By asking for a curse on his [7]soul);
31 If the men of my tent have not said,
'Who is there that has not been satisfied with his meat?'
32 [u](But no sojourner had to lodge in the street,
For I have opened my doors to the [8]traveler);
33 If I have covered my transgressions [v]as[9] Adam,
By hiding my iniquity in my bosom,
34 Because I feared the great [w]multitude,
And dreaded the contempt of families,
So that I kept silence
And did not go out of the door—
35 [x]Oh, that I had one to hear me!
Here is my mark.
Oh, [y]that the Almighty would answer me,
That my [1]Prosecutor had written a book!
36 Surely I would carry it on my shoulder,
And bind it on me like a crown;
37 I would declare to Him the number of my steps;
Like a prince I would approach Him.

38 "If my land cries out against me,
And its furrows weep together;
39 If [z]I have eaten its [2]fruit without money,
Or [a]caused its owners to lose their lives;
40 Then let [b]thistles grow instead of wheat,
And weeds instead of barley."

The words of Job are ended.

CHAPTER 32

1 [a] Job 6:29; 31:6; 33:9

31:33 as Adam. Perhaps best taken "as mankind" (cf. Hos. 6:7).

31:35 my Prosecutor had written a book. Job wished that God, the perfect Prosecutor who knows the allegations perfectly, had written a book that would have revealed God's will and wisdom and the reasons for Job's pain. This would have cleared him of all charges by his friends.

31:40 The words of Job are ended. The 3 cycles of speeches which began in Job 3:1 were finished and Job had the first and last word among his friends.

32:1–37:24 A new participant who had been there with the other 3 (vv. 3-5), entered the debate over Job's condition—the younger Elihu, who took a new approach to the issue of Job's suffering. Angry with the other 3, he had some new thoughts, but was very hard on Job. Elihu was angry, full of self-importance and verbose, but the son of Barachel the [b]Buzite, of the family of Ram, was aroused against Job; his wrath was aroused because he [c]justified himself rather than God. 3 Also against his three friends his wrath was aroused, because they had found no answer, and yet had condemned Job.

4 Now because they were years older than he, Elihu had waited [1]to speak to Job. 5 When Elihu saw that there was no answer in the mouth of these three men, his wrath was aroused.

6 So Elihu, the son of Barachel the Buzite, answered and said:

"I am [d]young in years, and you are very old;
Therefore I was afraid,
And dared not declare my opinion to you.
7 I said, [2]'Age should speak,
And multitude of years should teach wisdom.'
8 But there is a spirit in man,
And [e]the breath of the Almighty gives him understanding.
9 [f]Great[3] men are not always wise,
Nor do the aged always understand justice.

10 "Therefore I say, 'Listen to me,
I also will declare my opinion.'
11 Indeed I waited for your words,
I listened to your reasonings, while you searched out what to say.
12 I paid close attention to you;
And surely not one of you convinced Job,
Or answered his words—
13 [g]Lest you say,
'We have found wisdom';
God will vanquish him, not man.
14 Now he has not [4]directed his words against me;
So I will not answer him with your words.

15 "They are dismayed and answer no more;
Words escape them.
16 And I have waited, because they did not speak,
Because they stood still and answered no more.
17 I also will answer my part,
I too will declare my opinion.
18 For I am full of words;
The spirit within me compels me.
19 Indeed my [5]belly is like wine that has no [6]vent;
It is ready to burst like new wineskins.
20 I will speak, that I may find relief;
I must open my lips and answer.
21 Let me not, I pray, show partiality to anyone;
Nor let me flatter any man.
22 For I do not know how to flatter,
Else my Maker would soon take me [h]away.

Elihu Contradicts Job

33 "But please, Job, hear my speech,
And listen to all my words.
2 Now, I open my mouth;
My tongue speaks in my mouth.
3 My words come from my upright heart;
My lips utter pure knowledge.
4 [a]The Spirit of God has made me,
And the breath of the Almighty gives me life.
5 If you can answer me,
Set your words in order before me;
Take your stand.
6 [b]Truly I am [1]as your spokesman before God;
I also have been formed out of clay.
7 [c]Surely no fear of me will terrify you,
Nor will my hand be heavy on you.

8 "Surely you have spoken [2]in my hearing,
And I have heard the sound of your words, saying,
9 'I[d] am pure, without transgression;
I am innocent, and there is no iniquity in me.
10 Yet He finds occasions against me,
[e]He counts me as His enemy;
11 [f]He puts my feet in the stocks,
He watches all my paths.'

12 "Look, in this you are not righteous.
I will answer you,
For God is greater than man.

his approach was refreshing after listening repetitiously to the others, though not really helpful to Job. Why was it necessary to record and read those 4 blustering speeches by this man? Because they happened as part of the story, while Job was still waiting for God to disclose Himself (chaps. 38–41).

32:2 Buzite. Elihu's ancestry was traced to the Arabian tribe of Buz (cf. Jer. 25:23). The "family of Ram" is unknown.

32:6-8 He may have called it "opinion" (vv. 6,10,17), but he claimed it had come by inspiration from God (v. 8; cf. 33:6,33).

33:1-33 The first of Elihu's challenges to Job began with proud claims (vv. 1-7), followed by references to Job's questions/complaints (vv. 8-11). Then came Elihu's answers (vv. 12-33).

13 Why do you [g]contend with Him?
For He does not give an accounting of any of His words.
14 [h]For God may speak in one way, or in another,
Yet man does not perceive it.
15 [i]In a dream, in a vision of the night,
When deep sleep falls upon men,
While slumbering on their beds,
16 [j]Then He opens the ears of men,
And seals their instruction.
17 In order to turn man from his deed,
And conceal pride from man,
18 He keeps back his soul from the Pit,
And his life from [3]perishing by the sword.

19 "Man is also chastened with pain on his [k]bed,
And with strong pain in many of his bones,
20 [l]So that his life abhors [m]bread,
And his soul [4]succulent food.
21 His flesh wastes away from sight,
And his bones stick out which once were not seen.
22 Yes, his soul draws near the Pit,
And his life to the executioners.

23 "If there is a messenger for him,
A mediator, one among a thousand,
To show man His uprightness, 24 Then He is gracious to him, and says,
'Deliver him from going down to
the Pit;
I have found [5]a ransom';
25 His flesh shall be young like a child's,
He shall return to the days of his youth.
26 He shall pray to God, and He will delight in him,
He shall see His face with joy,
For He restores to man His
righteousness.
27 Then he looks at men and [n]says,
'I have sinned, and perverted what
was right,
And it [o]did not profit me.'
28 He will [p]redeem [6]his soul from going down to the Pit,
And [6]his life shall see the light.

29 "Behold, God works all these things,
Twice, in fact, three times with a
man,
30 [q]To bring back his soul from the Pit,
That he may be enlightened with the light of life.

31 "Give ear, Job, listen to me;
Hold your peace, and I will speak.
32 If you have anything to say,
answer me;
Speak, for I desire to justify you.
33 If not, [r]listen to me;
[7]Hold your peace, and I will teach you wisdom."

Elihu Proclaims God's Justice

34 Elihu further answered and said:

2 "Hear my words, you wise men;
Give ear to me, you who have knowledge.
3 [a]For the ear tests words
As the palate tastes food.
4 Let us choose justice for ourselves;
Let us know among ourselves
what is good.

5 "For Job has said, [b]'I am righteous,
But [c]God has taken away my
justice;
6 [d]Should I lie concerning my right?
My [1]wound is incurable, though I am without transgression.'

6 [d] Job 6:4; 9:17 [1] Lit. arrow
7 [e] Job 15:16 [2] derision

33:13 Job had complained that God did not speak to him. Elihu reminded Job that God didn't have to defend His will and actions to anyone.

33:14-18 God does speak, he contended, in many ways such as dreams and visions to protect people from evil and deadly ways (vv. 17,18).

33:18 the Pit. A reference to the realm of the dead (cf. vv. 21,24,30).

33:19-28 Job has lamented that his suffering was not deserved. Elihu answered that complaint by saying he was God's messenger, a mediator to Job to show him that God doesn't act in a whimsical way, but allows suffering as chastening to bring a person to submit to Him as upright (v. 23) and to repent (v. 27) that his life may be spared (vv. 24,28,30). God allows suffering for spiritual benefit.

33:32 I desire to justify you. Elihu expressed he was on Job's side and wanted to see him vindicated in his claims to righteousness, so he gave opportunity for Job to dialogue with him as he spoke (v. 33).

34:1-37 Elihu addressed Job and his accusers. His approach was to quote Job directly (vv. 5-9), then respond to his complaints, but at times he misinterpreted Job's remarks, and at other times he put the words of the accusers in Job's mouth. The most obvious example of the latter wrongdoing was in saying that Job claimed to be sinlessly perfect (v. 6). Job never claimed that; in fact, Job acknowledged his sin (7:21; 13:26). Elihu didn't know it, but God had pronounced Job innocent (1:8; 2:3). In answer to Job's complaints that God seemed unjust, Elihu reminded Job that God was too holy to do anything wrong (v. 10), fair in dealing with people (vv. 11,12), powerful (vv. 13,14), just (vv. 17,18), impartial (vv. 19,20), omniscient (vv. 21,22), the Judge of all (v. 23), and the Sovereign who does what He wills to prevent evil (vv. 24-30).

8 Who goes in company with the workers of iniquity,
And walks with wicked men?
9 For [f]He has said, 'It profits a man nothing
That he should delight in God.'

10 "Therefore listen to me, you [3]men of understanding:
[g]Far be it from God to do wickedness,
And from the Almighty to commit iniquity.
11 [h]For He repays man according to his work,
And makes man to find a reward according to his way.
12 Surely God will never do wickedly,
Nor will the Almighty [i]pervert justice.
13 Who gave Him charge over the earth?
Or who appointed Him over the whole world?
14 If He should set His heart on it,
If He should [j]gather to Himself His Spirit and His breath, 15 [k]All flesh would perish together,
And man would return to dust.

16 "If you have understanding, hear this;
Listen to the sound of my words:
17 [l]Should one who hates justice govern?
Will you [m]condemn Him who is most just?
18 [n]Is it fitting to say to a king, 'You are worthless,'
And to nobles, 'You are wicked'?
19 Yet He [o]is not partial to princes,
Nor does He regard the rich more than the poor;
For [p]they are all the work of His hands.
20 In a moment they die, [q]in the middle of the night;
The people are shaken and pass away;
The mighty are taken away without a hand.

21 "For[r] His eyes are on the ways of man,
And He sees all his steps.
22 [s]There is no darkness nor shadow of death
Where the workers of iniquity may hide themselves.
23 For He need not further consider a man,
That he should go before God in judgment.
24 [t]He breaks in pieces mighty men without inquiry,
And sets others in their place.
25 Therefore He knows their works;
He overthrows them in the night,
And they are crushed.
26 He strikes them as wicked men
In the open sight of others,
27 Because they [u]turned back from Him,
And [v]would not consider any of His ways,
28 So that they [w]caused the cry of the poor to come to Him;
For He [x]hears the cry of the afflicted.
29 When He gives quietness, who then can make trouble?
And when He hides His face, who then can see Him,
Whether it is against a nation or a man alone?—
30 That the hypocrite should not reign,
Lest the people be ensnared.

31 "For has anyone said to God,
'I have borne chastening;
I will offend no more;
32 Teach me what I do not see;
If I have done iniquity, I will do no more'?
33 Should He repay it according to your terms,
Just because you disavow it?
You must choose, and not I;
Therefore speak what you know.

34 "Men of understanding say to me,
Wise men who listen to me:
35 'Job[y] speaks without knowledge,
His words are without wisdom.'
36 Oh, that Job were tried to the utmost,

34:9 For he has said. Elihu was incorrect. He was putting words into Job's mouth that Job did not utter.

34:23 go before God in judgment. These words do not refer to the judgment of the last days, but rather to the general accountability toward God that man experiences on a daily basis. The point Elihu made was that God did not need to go through all of the trappings of the court to get to the sentence. God "knows their works" (34:25).

34:31-33 God will not be regulated in His dealings by what men may think. He does not consult men. If He chooses to chasten He will decide when it is enough.

34:34-37 Apparently, Elihu was convinced Job hadn't had enough chastening because of how he answered his prosecutors. He continued to defend his innocence and speak to God.

Because his answers are like those of wicked men!
37 For he adds [z]rebellion to his sin;
He claps his hands among us,
And multiplies his words against
God."

Elihu Condemns Self-Righteousness

35 Moreover Elihu answered and said:

2 "Do you think this is right?
Do you say,
'My righteousness is more than God's'?
3 For [a]you say,
'What advantage will it be to You?
What profit shall I have, more than if I had sinned?'

4 "I will answer you,
And [b]your companions with you.
5 [c]Look to the heavens and see;
And behold the clouds—
They are higher than you.
6 If you sin, what do you accomplish
[d]against Him?
Or, if your transgressions are multiplied, what do you do to
Him?
7 [e]If you are righteous, what do you give Him?
Or what does He receive from your hand?
8 Your wickedness affects a man
such as you,
And your righteousness a son of
man.

9 "Because[f] of the multitude of oppressions they cry out;
They cry out for help because of the arm of the mighty.
10 But no one says, [g]'Where is God
my Maker,
[h]Who gives songs in the night,
11 Who [i]teaches us more than the beasts of the earth,
And makes us wiser than the birds of heaven?'
12 [j]There they cry out, but He does not answer,
Because of the pride of evil men.
13 [k]Surely God will not listen to empty talk,
Nor will the Almighty regard it.
14 [l]Although you say you do not see
Him,
Yet justice is before Him, and [m]you must wait for Him.
15 And now, because He has not
[n]punished in His anger,
Nor taken much notice of folly, 16 [o]Therefore Job opens his mouth in vain;
He multiplies words without
knowledge."

Elihu Proclaims God's Goodness

36 Elihu also proceeded and said:

2 "Bear with me a little, and I will show you
That there are yet words to speak on God's behalf.
3 I will fetch my knowledge from afar;
I will ascribe righteousness to my Maker.
4 For truly my words are not false;
One who is perfect in knowledge is with you.

5 "Behold, God is mighty, but despises no one;
[a]He is mighty in strength [1]of understanding.
6 He does not preserve the life of the
wicked,
But gives justice to the [b]oppressed.
7 [c]He does not withdraw His eyes
from the righteous;

[1] of heart
6 [b] Job 5:15
7 [c] [Ps. 33:18; 34:15]

35:1-16 Elihu again referred to Job's complaints, first of all his thinking that there appeared to be no advantage to being righteous (v. 3), which Job had said, as recorded in 21:15 and 34:9. The first part of his answer is that Job gained nothing by sinning or not sinning because God was so high that nothing men do affects Him (vv. 5-7). It only affects other men (v. 8). Job had also complained that God did not answer his prayers when he cried under this oppression (see 24:12; 30:20). Elihu coldly gave 3 reasons why Job's prayers had not been heard: pride (vv. 10,12), wrong motives (v. 13), and lack of patient trust (v. 14). Again, all this theoretical talk missed Job's predicament completely because he was righteous. Elihu was no more help than the other counselors.

35:15,16 Elihu suggested that although Job had suffered, his suffering was not the fullness of God's anger or He would have punished Job more for the sinfulness of his speeches. He thought God had actually overlooked the folly of Job in his useless words.

36:1–37:24 Elihu had agreed with his 3 co-counselors that Job had sinned, if nowhere else, in the way he questioned God (33:12), by seeing his suffering as indicating God is unjust (34:34-37) and by feeling that righteousness had no reward (35). In this final answer to Job, he turned to focus mostly on God rather than the sufferer (v. 2).

36:4 One who is perfect in knowledge. Elihu made what appeared to be an outrageous claim in order to give credibility to his remarks.

36:5-12 Elihu began by repeating the thought that though God sends trouble, He is just and merciful (v. 6); He watches over the righteous (v. 7); He convicts them of sin (vv. 8,9); He teaches them to turn from it (v. 10) and rewards their obedience (v. 11) or punishes their rebellion (v. 12-14).

But [d]they are on the throne with kings,
For He has seated them forever,
And they are exalted.
8 And [e]if they are bound in [2]fetters,
Held in the cords of affliction,
9 Then He tells them their work and their transgressions—
That they have acted [3]defiantly.
10 [f]He also opens their ear to [4]instruction,
And commands that they turn from iniquity.
11 If they obey and serve Him,
They shall [g]spend their days in prosperity,
And their years in pleasures.
12 But if they do not obey,
They shall perish by the sword,
And they shall die [5]without [h]knowledge.

13 "But the hypocrites in heart [i]store up wrath;
They do not cry for help when He binds them.
14 [j]They[6] die in youth,
And their life ends among the [7]perverted persons.
15 He delivers the poor in their affliction,
And opens their ears in oppression.

16 "Indeed He would have brought you out of dire distress,
[k]Into a broad place where there is no restraint;
And [l]what is set on your table would be full of [m]richness.
17 But you are filled with the judgment due the [n]wicked;
Judgment and justice take hold of you.
18 Because there is wrath, beware lest He take you away with one blow;
For [o]a large ransom would not help you avoid it.
19 [p]Will your riches,
Or all the mighty forces,
Keep you from distress?
20 Do not desire the night,
When people are cut off in their place.
21 Take heed, [q]do not turn to iniquity,
For [r]you have chosen this rather than affliction.

22 "Behold, God is exalted by His power;
Who teaches like Him?
23 [s]Who has assigned Him His way,
Or who has said, 'You have done [t]wrong'?

Elihu Proclaims God's Majesty

24 "Remember to [u]magnify His work,
Of which men have sung.
25 Everyone has seen it;
Man looks on it from afar.

26 "Behold, God is great, and we [v]do not know Him;
[w]Nor can the number of His years be discovered.
27 For He [x]draws up drops of water,
Which distill as rain from the mist,
28 [y]Which the clouds drop down
And pour abundantly on man.
29 Indeed, can anyone understand the spreading of clouds,
The thunder from His canopy?
30 Look, He [z]scatters His light upon it,
And covers the depths of the sea.
31 For [a]by these He judges the peoples;
He [b]gives food in abundance.
32 [c]He covers His hands with lightning,
And commands it to [8]strike.

And leaps from its place.

CHAPTER 37

3 [1] Or light

36:15 opens their ears in oppression. This was a new insight and perhaps the most helpful thing Elihu said. He went beyond all that had been said about God's using suffering to chasten and bring repentance. He was saying that God used suffering to open men's ears, to draw them to Himself. But as long as Job kept complaining, he was turning to iniquity rather than drawing near to God in his suffering (vv. 16-21).

36:22–37:24 Instead of complaining and questioning God, as Job had been doing, which was sin (as Job will later confess in 42:6), he needed to see God in his suffering and worship Him (33:24).

36:26 we do not know Him. Though one may have a personal knowledge of God in salvation, the fullness of His glory is beyond human comprehension.

36:27–37:4 Elihu gave a picture of God's power in the rain storm.

36:31 judges...gives food. The rain storm can be a disaster of punishment from God or a source of abundant crops.

4 After it [a]a voice roars;
He thunders with His majestic voice,
And He does not restrain them when His voice is heard.
5 God thunders marvelously with His voice;
[b]He does great things which we cannot comprehend.
6 For [c]He says to the snow, 'Fall on the earth';
Likewise to the [2]gentle rain and the heavy rain of His strength.
7 He seals the hand of every man,
[d]That [e]all men may know His work.
8 The beasts [f]go into dens,
And remain in their lairs.
9 From the chamber of the south comes the whirlwind,
And cold from the scattering winds of the north.
10 [g]By the breath of God ice is given,
And the broad waters are frozen.
11 Also with moisture He saturates the thick clouds;
He scatters His [3]bright clouds.
12 And they swirl about, being turned by His guidance,
That they may [h]do whatever He commands them
On the face of [4]the whole earth.
13 [i]He causes it to come,
Whether for [5]correction,
Or [j]for His land,
Or [k]for mercy.

14 "Listen to this, O Job;
Stand still and [l]consider the wondrous works of God.
15 Do you know when God [6]dispatches them,
And causes the light of His cloud to shine?
16 [m]Do you know how the clouds are balanced,
Those wondrous works of [n]Him who is perfect in knowledge?
17 Why are your garments hot,
When He quiets the earth by the south wind?
18 With Him, have you [o]spread out the [p]skies,
Strong as a cast metal mirror?

19 "Teach us what we should say to Him,
For we can prepare nothing because of the darkness.
20 Should He be told that I wish to speak?
If a man were to speak, surely he would be swallowed up.
21 Even now men cannot look at the light when it is bright in the skies,
When the wind has passed and cleared them.
22 He comes from the north as golden splendor;
With God is awesome majesty.
23 As for the Almighty, [q]we cannot find Him;
[r]He is excellent in power,
In judgment and abundant justice;
He does not oppress.
24 Therefore men [s]fear Him;
He shows no partiality to any who are [t]wise of heart."

The LORD Reveals His Omnipotence to Job

38 Then the LORD answered Job [a]out of the whirlwind, and said:

CHAPTER 38

1 [a] Ex. 19:16; Job 40:6
2 [b] Job 34:35; 42:3

37:5-13 He described God's power expressed in the cold winter. The storms and the hard winters remind us of the world in which harsh things occur, but for God's good purposes of either "correction" or "mercy" (37:13).

37:14-18 These words picture the scene in the sky when the storms and winters have passed, the sunlight breaks through, the warm wind blows, and the sky clears.

37:19,20 In this passage Elihu reminded Job that since man can't explain the wonders of God's power and purpose, he ought to be silent and not contend with God. What a man has to say against God's plans is not worthy to utter and could bring judgment.

37:21-23 Elihu illustrated the folly of telling God what to do by describing staring into the golden sun on a brilliant day (vv. 21,22). We can't confront God in His great glory; we are not even able to look at the sun He created (v. 23).

37:24 shows no partiality. God is the Righteous Judge who will not take a bribe or perform favors in judgment. Thus, in his concluding speech, Elihu had pointed both Job and the reader up to God, who was ready, at last, to speak (38:1).

38:1–40:2 God appeared and engaged in His first interrogation of Job, who had raised some accusations against Him. God had His day in court with Job.

38:1 the LORD. Yahweh, the covenant LORD, was the name used for God in the book's prologue, where the reader was introduced to Job and his relationship with God. However, in chaps. 3–37, the name Yahweh is not used. God is called El Shaddai, God the Almighty. In this book that change becomes a way of illustrating that God has been detached and distant. The relationship is restored in rich terms as God reveals Himself to Job using His covenant name. out of the whirlwind. Job had repeatedly called God to court in order to verify his innocence. God finally came to interrogate Job on some of the comments he had made to his own accusers. God was about to be Job's vindicator, but He first brought Job to a right understanding of Himself.

38:2 Job's words had only further confused matters already confused by useless counselors.

By [c]words without knowledge?
3 [d]Now [1]prepare yourself like a man;
I will question you, and you shall answer Me.

4 "Where[e] were you when I laid the foundations of the earth?
Tell Me, if you have understanding.
5 Who determined its measurements?
Surely you know!
Or who stretched the [2]line upon it?
6 To what were its foundations fastened?
Or who laid its cornerstone,
7 When the morning stars sang together,
And all [f]the sons of God shouted for joy?

8 "Or[g] who shut in the sea with doors,
When it burst forth and issued from the womb;
9 When I made the clouds its garment,
And thick darkness its swaddling band;
10 When [h]I fixed My limit for it,
And set bars and doors;
11 When I said,
'This far you may come, but no farther,
And here your proud waves [i]must stop!'

12 "Have you [j]commanded the morning since your days began,
And caused the dawn to know its place,
13 That it might take hold of the ends of the earth,
And [k]the wicked be shaken out of it?

17 Have [o]the gates of death been [4]revealed to you?
Or have you seen the doors of the shadow of death?
18 Have you comprehended the breadth of the earth?

25 [r] Job 28:26

38:3 I will question you. God silenced Job's presumption in constantly wanting to ask the questions of God, by becoming Job's questioner. It must be noted that God never told Job about the reason for his pain, about the conflict between Himself and Satan, which was the reason for Job's suffering. He never gave Job any explanation at all about the circumstances of his trouble. He did one thing in all He said. He asked Job if he was as eternal, great, powerful, wise, and perfect as God. If not, Job would have been better off to be quiet and trust Him.

38:4-38 God asked Job if he participated in creation as He did. That was a crushing, humbling query with an obvious "no" answer.

38:4-7 Creation is spoken of using the language of building construction.

38:7 morning stars...sons of God. The angelic realm, God's ministering spirits.

38:8-11 God's power over the sea by raising the continents is described, along with the thick clouds that draw up its water to carry rain to the land.

38:12,13 The dawn rises, and as it spreads light over the earth, it exposes the wicked, like shaking the corners of a cloth exposes dirt.

38:14 clay under a seal. Documents written on clay tablets were signed using personal engraved seals upon which was written the bearer's name. The Heb. for "takes on form" is "turned." It conveys the idea that the earth is turned or rotated like a cylindrical seal rolled over the soft clay. Such rolling cylinder seals were found in Babylon. This speaks of the earth, rotating on its axis, an amazing statement that only God could reveal in ancient days. The dawn rolls across the earth as it rotates.

38:15 their light. The light of the wicked is darkness, because that is when they do their works. The dawn takes away their opportunity to do their deeds and stops their arm lifted and ready to harm. Was Job around when God created light? (v. 21).

38:22 treasury. The storehouse of these elements is the clouds.

Or a path for the thunderbolt,
26 To cause it to rain on a land where there is no one,
A wilderness in which there is no man;
27 [s]To satisfy the desolate waste,
And cause to spring forth the growth of tender grass?
28 [t]Has the rain a father?

34 "Can you lift up your voice to the clouds,
That an abundance of water may cover you?
35 Can you send out lightnings, that they may go,
And say to you, 'Here we are!'?
36 [y]Who has put wisdom in [1]the mind?
Or who has given understanding to the heart?
37 Who can number the clouds by wisdom?
Or who can pour out the bottles of heaven,
38 When the dust hardens in clumps,
And the clods cling together?

39 "Can[z] you hunt the prey for the lion,
Or satisfy the appetite of the young lions,
40 When they crouch in their dens,
Or lurk in their lairs to lie in wait?

38:31,32 Pleiades...Orion...Mazzaroth...Great Bear. Stellar constellations (cf. Job 9:9) are in view.

38:33 ordinances of the heavens. The laws and powers that regulate all heavenly bodies.

38:36 wisdom...understanding. This is at the heart of the real issue. The wisdom of God which created and sustains the universe is at work in Job's suffering also. See also 39:17.

38:39–39:30 God asked Job the humiliating questions about whether he could take care of the animal kingdom. Job must have been feeling less and less significant under the crushing indictment of such comparisons with God.

39:5 onager. Another kind of donkey.

But are her wings and pinions like the kindly stork's?
14 For she leaves her eggs on the ground,
And warms them in the dust;
15 She forgets that a foot may crush

Or that a wild beast may break
them.
16 She [f]treats her young harshly, as though they were not hers;
Her labor is in vain, without [5]concern,
17 Because God deprived her of
wisdom,
And did not [g]endow her with
understanding.
18 When she lifts herself on high,
She scorns the horse and its rider.

19 "Have you given the horse

Have you clothed his neck with [6]thunder?
20 Can you [7]frighten him like a locust?
His majestic snorting strikes terror.
21 He paws in the valley, and rejoices
in his strength;
[h]He gallops into the clash of arms.
22 He mocks at fear, and is not frightened;
Nor does he turn back from the sword.
23 The quiver rattles against him,
The glittering spear and javelin.
24 He devours the distance with fierceness and rage;
Nor does he come to a halt because the trumpet has sounded.
25 At the blast of the trumpet he says,
'Aha!'
He smells the battle from afar,
The thunder of captains and shouting.

26 "Does the hawk fly by your
wisdom,
And spread its wings toward the south?
27 Does the [i]eagle mount up at your command,
And [j]make its nest on high?
28 On the rock it dwells and resides,
On the crag of the rock and the stronghold.
29 From there it spies out the prey;
Its eyes observe from afar.
30 Its young ones suck up blood;
And [k]where the slain are, there it is."

40 Moreover the LORD [a]answered Job,
and said:

2 "Shall [b]the one who contends with the Almighty correct Him?
He who [c]rebukes God, let him answer it."

Job's Response to God

3 Then Job answered the LORD and said:

4 "Behold,[d] I am vile;
What shall I answer You?
[e]I lay my hand over my mouth.
5 Once I have spoken, but I will not answer;
Yes, twice, but I will proceed no further."

God's Challenge to Job

6 [f]Then the LORD answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said:

7 "Now[g] [1]prepare yourself like a
man;
[h]I will question you, and you shall
answer Me:

8 "Would[i] you indeed [2]annul My

Would you condemn Me that you

39:13-18 ostrich. The silly bird that leaves her eggs on the ground lacks sense. God has not given her wisdom. She is almost a picture of Job, who is a mixture of foolishness and strength (v. 18).

39:19-25 Here is a magnificent, vivid picture of the war horse.

40:2 God challenged Job to answer all the questions he had posed. God didn't need to know the answer, but Job needed to admit his weakness, inferiority, and inability to even try to figure out God's infinite mind. God's wisdom was so superior, His sovereign control of everything so complete, that this was all Job needed to know.

40:3-5 Job's first response to God was "I am guilty as charged. I will say no more." He knows he should not have found fault with the Almighty. He should not have insisted on his own understanding. He should not have thought God unjust. So he was reduced to silence at last.

40:6–41:34 As if the first was not enough, God's second interrogation of Job commenced along the very same lines, only focusing on two unique animals in God's creation: Behemoth (40:15-24) and Leviathan (41:1-34), two creatures powerful and fearful who embodied all that is overwhelming, uncontrollable, and terrorizing in this world. Man can't control them, but God can.

40:8-14 God unleashed another torrent of crushing rebukes to Job, in which He mocked Job's questionings of Him by telling the sufferer that if he really thought he knew what was best for him rather than God (v. 8), then he should take over being God! (vv. 9-14).

10 [k]Then adorn yourself with majesty and splendor,
And array yourself with glory and beauty.
11 Disperse the rage of your wrath;
Look on everyone who is proud,
and humble him.
12 Look on everyone who is [1]proud,
and bring him low;
Tread down the wicked in their place.
13 Hide them in the dust together,
Bind their faces in hidden
darkness.
14 Then I will also confess to you
That your own right hand can save
you.

15 "Look now at the [3]behemoth, which
I made along with you;
He eats grass like an ox.
16 See now, his strength is in his hips,
And his power is in his stomach muscles.
17 He moves his tail like a cedar;
The sinews of his thighs are tightly knit.
18 His bones are like beams of bronze,
His ribs like bars of iron.
19 He is the first of the [m]ways of God;
Only He who made him can bring near His sword.
20 Surely the mountains [n]yield food
for him,
And all the beasts of the field play
there.
21 He lies under the lotus trees,
In a covert of reeds and marsh.
22 The lotus trees cover him with their shade;
The willows by the brook surround
him.
23 Indeed the river may rage,
Yet he is not disturbed;
He is confident, though the Jordan
gushes into his mouth,
24 Though he takes it in his eyes,
Or one pierces his nose with a snare.

41 "Can you draw out [a]Leviathan [1]

Or snare his tongue with a line which you lower?
2 Can you [b]put a reed through his nose,
Or pierce his jaw with a [2]hook?
3 Will he make many supplications to you?
Will he speak softly to you?
4 Will he make a covenant with
you?
Will you take him as a servant
forever?
5 Will you play with him as with a bird,
Or will you leash him for your maidens?
6 Will your companions [3]make a banquet of him?
Will they apportion him among the merchants?
7 Can you fill his skin with harpoons,
Or his head with fishing spears?
8 Lay your hand on him;
Remember the battle—
Never do it again!
9 Indeed, any hope of overcoming him
is false;
Shall one not be overwhelmed at the sight of him?
10 No one is so fierce that he would dare stir him up.
Who then is able to stand against
Me?

40:15-24 behemoth. While this is a generic term used commonly in the OT for large cattle or land animals, the description in this passage suggests an extraordinary creature. The hippopotamus has been suggested by the details in the passage (vv. 19-24). However, the short tail of a hippo is hardly consistent with v. 17, where tail could be translated "trunk." It could refer to an elephant, who could be considered "first" or chief of God's creatures whom only He can control (v. 19). Some believe God is describing His most impressive creation of land animals, the dinosaur species, which fit all the characteristics.

40:23 God was not saying this creature lived in the Jordan River, but rather, recognizing that the Jordan was familiar to Job, used it to illustrate how much water this beast could ingest. He could swallow the Jordan! It was a word used to refer to something of enormous size and threatening power.

41:1 Leviathan. This term appears in 4 other OT texts (Job 3:8; Pss. 74:14; 104:26; Is. 27:1). In each case Leviathan refers to some mighty creature who can overwhelm man but who is no match for God. Since this creature lives in the sea among ships (Ps. 104:26), some form of sea monster, possibly an ancient dinosaur, is in view. Some feel it was a crocodile, which had scaly hide (v. 15), terrible teeth (v. 14) and speed in the water (v. 32). But crocodiles are not sea creatures, and clearly this one was (v. 31). Some have thought it was a killer whale or a Great White Shark, because he is the ultimate killer beast over all other proud beasts (v. 34). It could also have been some sea-going dinosaur.

41:4 Will he make a covenant with you? "Will this monstrous creature need, for any reason, to come to terms with you, Job? Are you able to control him?" God asked.

41:10 Who then is able to stand against Me? This was the essential question being asked in both the Behemoth and Leviathan passages. God created these awesome creatures, and His might is far greater than theirs. If Job couldn't stand against them, what was he doing contending with God? He would be better off to fight a dinosaur or a killer shark.

11 [c]Who has preceded Me, that I should pay him?
[d]Everything under heaven is Mine.

12 "I will not [4]conceal his limbs,
His mighty power, or his graceful proportions.

Because of his crashings they [8]are beside themselves.
26 Though the sword reaches him, it cannot avail;
Nor does spear, dart, or javelin.
27 He regards iron as straw,
And bronze as rotten wood.
28 The arrow cannot make him flee;

29 Darts are regarded as straw;

Job's Repentance and Restoration

42 Then Job answered the LORD and said:

2 "I know that You [a]can do everything,
And that no purpose of Yours can be withheld from You.
3 You asked, [b]'Who is this who hides counsel without knowledge?'
Therefore I have uttered what I did not understand,
[c]Things too wonderful for me, which I did not know.
4 Listen, please, and let me speak;
You said, [d]'I will question you, and you shall answer Me.'

5 "I have [e]heard of You by the hearing of the ear,
But now my eye sees You.

CHAPTER 42

2 [a] Gen. 18:14; [Matt. 19:26; Mark 10:27; 14:36; Luke 18:27]
3 [b] Job 38:2 [c] Ps. 40:5; 131:1; 139:6
4 [d] Job 38:3; 40:7
5 [e] Job 26:14; [Rom. 10:17]

41:11 God did not need to buy anything; He already owned all things. Paul quoted this in Rom. 11:35.

42:1-6 Job's confession and repentance took place finally. He still did not know why he suffered so profoundly, but he was done complaining, questioning, and challenging God's wisdom and justice. He was reduced to such utter humility, crushed beneath the weight of God's greatness, that all he could do was repent for his insolence. Without answers to all of his questions, Job quietly bowed in humble submission before his Creator and admitted that God was sovereign (cf. Is. 14:24; 46:8-11). Most importantly for the message of the book, Job was still diseased and without his children and possessions, and God had not changed anything (except for the humbling of the heart of his servant). Satan had been proven completely wrong in the charges he brought against Job and in thinking he could destroy true saving faith; Job's companions were completely wrong in the charges they brought against him; but most critically, Job himself was completely wrong in the charges he had raised against God. He expressed his own sorrowful regret that he had not just accepted God's will without such ignorant complaints and questions.

42:3,4 You asked...You said. Job twice alluded to statements God had made in His interrogation of Job. The first allusion "Who is this who hides counsel without knowledge?" (38:2) indicted Job's pride and presumption regarding God's counsel. The second, "I will question you, and you shall answer Me" (38:3;40:7) expressed God's judicial authority to demand answers from His own accuser, Job. The two quotes manifested that Job understood the divine rebuke.

42:5 have heard...now my eye sees You. At last, Job said he understood God whom he had seen with the eyes of faith. He had never so well grasped the greatness, majesty, sovereignty, and independence of God as he did at that moment.

6 Therefore I *f*abhor[1] myself,
And repent in dust and ashes."

7 And so it was, after the LORD had spoken these words to Job, that the LORD said to Eliphaz the Temanite, "My wrath is aroused against you and your two friends, for you have not spoken of Me what is right, as My servant Job has. 8 Now therefore, take for yourselves *g*seven bulls and seven rams, *h*go to My servant Job, and offer up for yourselves a burnt offering; and My servant Job shall *i*pray for you. For I will accept [2]him, lest I deal with you according to your folly; because you have not spoken of Me what is right, as My servant Job has."

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went and did as the LORD commanded them; for the LORD had [3]accepted Job. 10 *j*And the LORD [4]restored Job's losses when he prayed for his friends. Indeed the LORD gave Job *k*twice as much as he had before. 11 Then *l*all his brothers, all his sisters, and all those who had been his acquaintances before, came to him and ate food with him in his house; and they consoled him and comforted him for all the adversity that the LORD had brought upon him. Each one gave him a piece of silver and each a ring of gold.

12 Now the LORD blessed *m*the latter days of Job more than his beginning; for he had *n*fourteen thousand sheep, six thousand camels, one thousand yoke of oxen, and one thousand female donkeys. 13 *o*He also had seven sons and three daughters. 14 And he called the name of the first [5]Jemimah, the name of the second [6]Keziah, and the name of the third [7]Keren-Happuch. 15 In all the land were found no women so beautiful as the daughters of Job; and their father gave them an inheritance among their brothers.

16 After this Job *p*lived one hundred and forty years, and saw his children and grandchildren for four generations. 17 So Job died, old and *q*full of days.

16 p Job 5:26; Prov. 3:16
17 q Gen. 15:15; 25:8; Job 5:26

42:6 repent in dust and ashes. All that was left to do was repent! The ashes upon which the broken man sat had not changed; but the heart of God's suffering servant had. Job did not need to repent of some sins which Satan or his accusers had raised. But Job had exercised presumption and allegations of unfairness against his Lord and hated himself for this in a way that called for brokenness and contrition.

42:7-17 The text goes back to prose, from the poetry begun in 3:1.

42:7,8 you have not spoken of Me what is right. God directly vindicated Job by saying that Job had spoken right about God in rejecting the error of his friends. They are then rebuked for those misrepresentations of insensitivity and arrogance. This does not mean that everything they said was incorrect, but they had made wrong statements about the character and works of God, and also had raised erroneous allegations against Job.

42:8 seven bulls and seven rams. This was the number of sacrifices specified in Num 23:1 by Balaam the prophet, so perhaps it was a traditional kind of burnt offering for sin.

42:8,9 As God had been gracious to Job, so He was to Job's friends, by means of sacrifice and prayer. Here the book points to the need for a sacrifice for sin, fulfilled in the Lord Jesus Christ who gave Himself as an offering for sins and ever lives to intercede (cf. 1 Tim. 2:5). Even before the Levitical priesthood, family heads acted as priests, offering sacrifices and mediating through prayer.

42:13 seven sons...three daughters. While the animals are double the number of Job 1:3, why are not the children? It is obvious that Job still had 7 sons and 3 daughters waiting for him in the presence of God (42:17).

42:14 These names are representative of the joys of restoration. Jemimah means "day light," Keziah means "sweet smelling," and Keren-Happuch describes a beautiful color ladies used to paint their eyelids.

42:15 gave them an inheritance. This was unusual in the East. By Jewish law, daughters only received an inheritance when there were no sons (Num. 27:8). Job had plenty for all.

42:17 So Job died, old and full of days. These concluding words take the reader back to where the account began (1:1). Job died in prosperity and his days were counted as a blessing. In the words of James (5:11), we have seen the outcome of the Lord's dealings, that the Lord is "very compassionate and merciful." But the "accuser of the brethren" (Rev. 12:10) is still "going to and fro on the earth" (1 Pet. 5:8) and God's servants are still learning to trust in the all-wise, all-powerful Judge of the universe for what they cannot understand.

The Book of PSALMS

Title

The entire collection of Psalms is entitled "Praises" in the Hebrew text. Later, rabbis often designated it "The Book of Praises." The Septuagint (LXX), the Greek translation of the OT, labeled it "Psalms" (cf. "The book of Psalms" in the NT: Luke 20:42; Acts 1:20). The Greek verb from which the noun "psalms" comes basically denotes the "plucking or twanging of strings," so that an association with musical accompaniment is implied. The English title derives from the Greek term and its background. The Psalms constituted Israel's ancient, God-breathed (2 Tim. 3:16) "hymnbook," which defined the proper spirit and content of worship.

There are 116 psalms that have superscriptions or "titles." The Hebrew text includes these titles with the verses themselves. When the titles are surveyed individually and studied as a general phenomenon, there are significant indications that they were appended to their respective psalms shortly after composition and that they contain reliable information (cf. Luke 20:42).

These titles convey various kinds of information such as authorship, dedication, historical occasion, liturgical assignment to a worship director, liturgical instructions (e.g., what kind of song it is, whether it is to have a musical accompaniment, and what tune to use), plus other technical instructions of uncertain meaning due to their great antiquity. One very tiny, attached Hebrew preposition shows up in the majority of the Psalm titles. It may convey different relationships, e.g., "of," "from," "by," "to," "for," "in reference to," "about." Sometimes it occurs more than once, even in short headings, usually supplying "of," or "by," person X..."to," or "for," person Y information. However, this little preposition most frequently indicates the authorship of a psalm, whether "of" David, the accomplished psalmist of Israel, or "by" Moses, Solomon, Asaph, or the sons of Korah.

Authorship and Date

From the divine perspective, the Psalter points to God as its author. Approaching authorship from the human side one can identify a collection of more than 7 composers. King David wrote at least 75 of the 150 psalms; the sons of Korah accounted for 10 (Pss. 42,44–49,84,85,87); and Asaph contributed 12 (Pss. 50,73–83). Other penmen included Solomon (Pss. 72,127), Moses (Ps. 90), Heman (Ps. 88), and Ethan (Ps. 89). The remaining 48 psalms remain anonymous in their authorship, although Ezra is thought to be the author of some. The time range of the Psalms extends from Moses, ca. 1410 B.C. (Ps. 90), to the late sixth or early fifth century B.C. post-Exilic period (Ps. 126), which spans about 900 years of Jewish history.

Background and Setting

The backdrop for the Psalms is twofold: 1) the acts of God in creation and history, and 2) the history of Israel. Historically, the psalms range in time from the origin of life to the post-Exilic joys of the Jews liberated from Babylon. Thematically, the psalms cover a wide spectrum of topics, ranging from heavenly worship to earthly war. The collected psalms comprise the largest book in the Bible and the most frequently quoted OT book in the NT. Psalm 117 represents the middle chapter (out of 1,189) in the Bible. Psalm 119 is the largest chapter in the entire Bible. Through the ages, the psalms have retained their original primary purpose, i.e., to engender the proper praise and worship of God.

Historical and Theological Themes

The basic theme of Psalms is living real life in the real world, where two dimensions operate simultaneously: 1) a horizontal or temporal reality, and 2) a vertical or transcendent reality. Without denying the pain of the earthly dimension, the people of God are to live joyfully and dependently on the Person and promises standing behind the heavenly/eternal dimension. All cycles of human troubles and triumphs provide occasions for expressing human complaints, confidence, prayers, or praise, to Israel's sovereign Lord.

In view of this, Psalms presents a broad array of theology, practically couched in day-to-day reality. The sinfulness of man is documented concretely, not only through the behavioral patterns of the wicked, but also by the periodic stumblings of believers. The sovereignty of God is everywhere recognized, but not at the expense of genuine human responsibility. Life often seems to be out of control, and yet all events and situations are understood in the light of divine providence as being right on course according to God's timetable. Assuring glimpses of a future "God's day" bolsters the call for perseverance to the end. This book of praise manifests a very practical theology.

A commonly misunderstood phenomenon in Psalms is the association that often develops between the "one" (the psalmist) and the "many" (the theocratic people). Virtually all of the cases of this occur in the psalms of King David. There was an inseparable relationship between the mediatorial ruler and his people; as life went for the king, so it went for the people. Furthermore, at times this union accounted for the psalmist's apparent connection with Christ in the messianic psalms (or messianic portions of certain psalms). The so-called imprecatory (curse pronouncing) psalms may be better understood with this perspective. As God's mediatorial representative on earth, David prayed for judgment on his enemies, since these enemies were not only hurting him, but were primarily hurting God's people. Ultimately, they challenged the King of Kings, the God of Israel.

Interpretive Challenges

It is helpful to recognize certain recurring genres or literary types in the Psalter. Some of the most obvious are: 1) the wisdom type with instructions for right living; 2) lamentation patterns which deal with the pangs of life (usually arising from enemies without); 3) penitential psalms (mostly dealing with the "enemy" within, i.e., sin); 4) kingship emphases (universal or mediatorial; theocratic and/or messianic rule); and 5) thanksgiving psalms. A combination of style and subject matter help to identify such types when they appear.

The comprehensive literary characteristic of the psalms is that all of them are poetry par excellence. Unlike most English poetry, which is based on rhyme and meter, Hebrew poetry is essentially characterized by logical parallelisms. Some of the most important kinds of parallelisms are: 1) synonymous (the thought of the first line is restated with similar concepts in the second line, e.g., Ps. 2:1); 2) antithetic (the thought of the second line is contrasted with the first, e.g., Ps. 1:6); 3) climactic (the second and any subsequent lines pick up a crucial word, phrase, or concept and advance it in a stair-step fashion, e.g., Ps. 29:1,2); and 4) chiastic or introverted (the logical units are developed in an A...B...B'...A'...pattern, e.g., Ps. 1:2).

On a larger scale, some psalms in their development from the first to the last verse employ an acrostic or alphabetical arrangement. Psalms 9,10,25,34,37,111,112,119, and 145 are recognized as either complete or incomplete acrostics. In the Hebrew text, the first letter of the first word of every verse begins with a different Hebrew consonant, which advances in alphabetical order until the 22 consonants are exhausted. Such a literary vehicle undoubtedly aided in the memorization of the content and served to indicate that its particular subject matter had been covered from "A to Z." Psalm 119 stands out as the most complete example of this device, since the first letter of each of its 22, 8-verse stanzas moves completely through the Hebrew alphabet.

Outline

The 150 canonical psalms were organized quite early into 5 "books." Each of these books ends with a doxology (Pss. 41:13; 72:18-20; 89:52; 106:48; 150:6). Jewish tradition appealed to the number 5 and alleged that these divisions echoed the Pentateuch, i.e., the 5 books of Moses. It is true that there are clusters of psalms, such as 1) those drawn together by an association with an individual or group (e.g., "The sons of Korah," Pss. 42–49; Asaph, Pss. 73–83), 2) those dedicated to a particular function (e.g., "Songs of ascents," Pss. 120–134), or 3) those devoted explicitly to praise worship (Pss. 146–150). But no one configuration key unlocks the "mystery" as to the organizing theme of this 5-book arrangement. Thus, there is no identifiable thematic structure to the entire collection of psalms. A brief introduction and outline for each psalm will be provided with the study notes for individual psalms.

Book One: Psalms 1–41

PSALM 1

The Way of the Righteous and the End of the Ungodly

Blessed [a]is the man
Who walks not in the counsel of the [1]ungodly,
Nor stands in the path of sinners,
[b]Nor sits in the seat of the scornful;
2 But [c]his delight is in the law of the
LORD,
[d]And in His law he [2]meditates day and night.
3 He shall be like a tree
[e]Planted by the [3]rivers of water,
That brings forth its fruit in its season,
Whose leaf also shall not wither;
And whatever he does shall [f]prosper.

4 The ungodly are not so,
But are [g]like the chaff which the wind drives away.
5 Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment,
Nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous.

6 For [h]the LORD knows the way of the
righteous,
But the way of the ungodly shall perish.

PSALM 1

1 [a] Prov. 4:14 [b] Ps. 26:4, 5; Jer. 15:17
[1] wicked
2 [c] Ps. 119:14, 16, 35 [d] [Josh. 1:8]
[2] ponders by talking to himself
3 [e] [Ps. 92:12-14]; Jer. 17:8; Ezek. 19:10
[3] channels
[f] Gen. 39:2, 3, 23; Ps. 128:2
4 [g] Job 21:18; Ps. 35:5; Is. 17:13
6 [h] Ps. 37:18; [Nah. 1:7; John 10:14; 2 Tim. 2:19]

1:1-6 This wisdom psalm basically functions as an introduction to the entire book of Psalms. Its theme is as big as the whole Bible because it tells of people, paths, and ultimate destinations (for a significant parallel see Jer. 17:5-8). By two cycles of contrast, Ps. 1 separates all people into their respective spiritual categories:

I. By observation, all people are separated ethically (1:1-4)
  A. A picture of the godly (1:1-3)
  B. A picture of the ungodly (1:4)
II. By outcome, all people are separated judicially (1:5,6)
  A. The failure of ungodly people (1:5)
  B. The fruition of lifestyles (1:6)
    1. Recognition of the godly (1:6a)
    2. Ruination of the ungodly (1:6b)

1:1 Blessed. From the perspective of the individual, this is a deep-seated joy and contentment in God; from the perspective of the believing community, it refers to redemptive favor (cf. the blessings and cursings of Deut. 27:11–28:6). walks not...Nor stands...Nor sits. The "beatitude" man (cf. Matt. 5:3-11) is first described as one who avoids such associations as these which exemplify sin's sequential downward drag.

1:2 his delight...in the law. Switching to a positive description, the spiritually "happy" man is characterized by the consistent contemplation and internalization of God's Word for ethical direction and obedience.

1:3 like a tree. Because of the mostly arid terrain of Israel, a lush tree served as a fitting symbol of blessing in the OT. Planted. Lit. "transplanted." Trees do not plant themselves; neither do sinful people transport themselves into God's kingdom. Salvation is His marvelous work of grace (cf. Is. 61:3; Matt. 15:13). Yet, there is genuine responsibility in appropriating the abundant resources of God (cf. Jer. 17:8), which lead to eventual productivity.

1:4 The ungodly are not so. This is an abrupt contrast, lit. "Not so the wicked!" chaff. A frequent OT word picture from harvest time for what is unsubstantial, without value, and worthy only to be discarded.

1:5 Therefore...not stand. "Therefore" introduces the strong conclusion that the ungodly will not be approved by God's judgment.

1:6 the LORD knows. This is far more than recognition; the Lord "knows" everything. In this context, the reference is to personal intimacy and involvement with His righteous ones (contra. Matt. 7:23; cf. 2 Tim. 2:19). the way of. The repetition of this phrase picks up on the "path" imagery so characteristic of this psalm. It refers to one's total course of life, i.e., lifestyle. Here these two courses arrive at the ways of life and death, as in Deut. 30:19; Jer. 21:8; cf. Matt. 7:13,14. shall perish. One day the wicked person's way will end in ruin; a new order is coming and it will be a righteous order. So Ps. 1 begins with the "blessed" and ends with those who "perish" (cf. Pss. 9:5,6; 112:10).

PSALM 2

The Messiah's Triumph and Kingdom

Why [a]do the [1]nations [2]rage,
And the people plot a [3]vain thing?
2 The kings of the earth set themselves,
And the [b]rulers take counsel together,
Against the LORD and against His [c]Anointed,[4] saying,
3 "Let [d]us break Their bonds in pieces
And cast away Their cords from us."

4 He who sits in the heavens [e]shall laugh;
The LORD shall hold them in derision.
5 Then He shall speak to them in His wrath,
And distress them in His deep displeasure:
6 "Yet I have [5]set My King
[6]On My holy hill of Zion."

7 "I will declare the [7]decree:
The LORD has said to Me,
[f]You are My Son,
Today I have begotten You.
8 Ask of Me, and I will give You
The nations for Your inheritance,
And the ends of the earth for Your possession.
9 [g]You shall [8]break them with a rod of iron;
You shall dash them to pieces like a potter's vessel.' "

10 Now therefore, be wise, O kings;
Be instructed, you judges of the earth.
11 Serve the LORD with fear,
And rejoice with trembling.
12 [9]Kiss the Son, lest [1]He be angry,
And you perish in the way,
When [h]His wrath is kindled but a little.
[i]Blessed are all those who put their trust in Him.

PSALM 3

The LORD Helps His Troubled People

A Psalm of David [a]when he fled from Absalom his son.

LORD, how they have increased who trouble me!
Many are they who rise up against me.
2 Many are they who say of me,
"There is no help for him in God."
Selah

2:1-12 Sometimes Ps. 2 is said to share with Ps. 1 in the role of introducing the Psalter (cf. "Blessed" in 1:1 and 2:12). Also, it seems that, while the function of Ps. 1 is to disclose the two different "ways" for individuals, Ps. 2 follows up with its application to nations. This psalm is normally termed "royal" and has had a long history of messianic interpretation. Although it has no title, it seems to bear the imprint of David's hand. As such, it fluidly moves from the lesser David through the Davidic dynasty to the Greater David—Jesus Christ. Psalm 2 progressively shines its poetic spotlight on 4 vivid scenes relating to the mutiny of mankind against God:

I. Scene One:
Human Rebellion (2:1-3)
II. Scene Two:
Divine Reaction (2:4-6)
III. Scene Three:
Divine Rule (2:7-9)
IV. Scene Four:
Human Responsibility (2:10-12)

2:1 plot a vain thing. This is the irony of man's depravity—devising, conspiring, and scheming emptiness (cf. Ps. 38:12; Prov. 24:2; Is. 59:3,13).

2:2 against...against. The nations and peoples, led by their kings and rulers (v. 1), direct their hostility toward the Lord and His anointed one. The consecrated and commissioned mediatorial representative referred to David in a near sense and Messiah, i.e., Christ, in the ultimate sense (cf. Acts 4:25,26).

2:3 Their bonds...Their cords. Mutinous mankind, instead of understanding that these are God's love-bonds (Hos. 11:4), view them as yoke-bonds (Jer. 5:5).

2:5 Then. After mocking them with the laughter of divine contempt, God speaks and acts from His perfectly balanced anger.

2:6 I have set. Their puny challenge (v. 3) is answered by this powerful pronouncement. It's as good as done: His king will be enthroned on Jerusalem's most prominent hill.

2:7 I will declare the decree. The installed mediator now recites the Lord's previously issued enthronement ordinance. You are My Son. This recalls 2 Sam. 7:8-16 as the basis for the Davidic king. It is also the only OT reference to the Father/Son relationship in the Trinity, a relationship planned in eternity past and realized in the incarnation, thus a major part of the NT. Today I have begotten You. This expresses the privileges of relationship, with its prophetic application to the Son—Messiah. This verse is quoted in the NT with reference to the birth of Jesus (Heb. 1:5,6) and also to His resurrection (Acts 13:33,34) as the ultimate fulfillments.

2:9 You shall...You shall. The supreme sovereignty of "the king of kings" is pictured in its subjugating might. The shepherd's "rod" and the king's "scepter" are the same word in the original. Shepherding and kingly imagery often merged in ancient Near Eastern thought (cf. Mic. 7:14).

2:10-12 The tone of these verses is surprising. Instead of immediate judgment, the Lord and His Anointed mercifully provide an opportunity for repentance. Five commands place responsibility on mutinous mankind.

2:12 Kiss the Son. This symbolic act would indicate allegiance and submission (cf. 1 Sam. 10:1; 1 Kin. 19:18). The word for "Son" here is not the Heb. word for "son" that was used in v. 7, but rather its Aram. counterpart (cf. Dan. 7:13), which is a term that would especially be suitable for these commands being addressed to "nations" (v. 1). perish in the way. These words pick up the major burden of Ps. 1.

3:1-8 This psalm intermingles both lament and confidence. In its sweeping scope, it becomes a pattern for praise, peace, and prayer amidst pressure. As it unfolds through 3 interrelated historical phenomena, David shares his theological "secret" of having assurance in the face of adversity.

3 But You, O LORD, are [b]a shield [1]for me,
My glory and [c]the One who lifts up my head.
4 I cried to the LORD with my voice,
And [d]He heard me from His [e]holy hill. Selah
5 [f]I lay down and slept;
I awoke, for the LORD sustained me.
6 [g]I will not be afraid of ten thousands of people
Who have set themselves against me all around.
7 Arise, O LORD;
Save me, O my God!
[h]For You have struck all my enemies on the cheekbone;
You have broken the teeth of the ungodly.
8 [i]Salvation belongs to the LORD.
Your blessing is upon Your people. Selah

PSALM 4

The Safety of the Faithful

PSALM 4
title [1] Choir Director

To the [1]Chief Musician. With stringed instruments. A Psalm of David.

Hear me when I call, O God of my righteousness!
You have relieved me in my distress;

I. The Psalmist's Predicament (3:1,2)
II. The Psalmist's Peace (3:3-6)
III. The Palmist's Prayer (3:7,8)

3:Title The first of 73 psalms attributed to David by superscription. Further information connects its occasion with the Absalom episode (2 Sam. 15–18), although many of its features are more descriptive of persecution in general.

3:1,2 increased...Many...Many. The psalmist begins on a low note with his multiplied miseries.

3:2,3 no help for him...But You...a shield for me. There is a strong contrast between the allegation and the psalmist's assurance. David's attitude and outlook embraces the theology that Paul summarized in Rom. 8:31. Psalm 3 also introduces Divine Warrior language (cf. Ex. 15 as a background).

3:5 I lay down and slept. Since God is known for His sustaining protection, David could relax in the most trying of circumstances.

3:7 Arise, O LORD. This is a battle cry for God to engage the enemy and defend His soldiers (cf. Num. 10:35; Ps. 68:1).

3:8 Salvation belongs to the LORD. This is a broad-sweeping, all-inclusive deliverance, whether in the temporal or eternal realm.

4:1-8 There are certain similarities between Pss. 3 and 4. For example, the former is sometimes labeled a morning psalm (cf. 3:5), while the latter has been called an evening psalm (cf. 4:8). In both, David is besieged with suffering, injustice, and oppression. Additionally, Ps. 4 also exhibits the changing attitudes of the worshiper in his most difficult circumstances. David's movement will be from anxiety to assurance, as he travels down the road of prayer and trust in God. At the end of yet another day of pressure, pain, and persecution, David engages in 3 conversations which ultimately lead to a point of blessed relaxation:

I. Praying to God for Preservation (4:1)
II. Reasoning with His enemies about Repentance (4:2-5)
III. Praising God for True Perspective (4:6-8)

4:Title Psalm 4 introduces the first of 55 assignments to the master, director, or chief overseer of worship services in its title. Further instruction is given in the direction "with stringed instruments." The chief musician, therefore, was to lead the great choir and the string portion of the orchestra in this celebration of worship.

4:1 O God of my righteousness. The ultimate basis for divine intervention resides in God, not in the psalmist. On union with God's righteousness based on His mercy, see Jer. 23:6 (cf. 1 Cor. 1:30). distress. This is an important word for trying circumstances in the psalms. It pictures the psalmist's plight as being in straits, i.e., painfully restricted. Here his testimony to God's historical salvation, "you have relieved me," conveys the picture that his Lord had provided space or room for him.

PSALM 5

A Prayer for Guidance

To the Chief Musician. With [1]flutes.
A Psalm of David.

Give [a]ear to my words, O LORD,
Consider my [2]meditation.
2 Give heed to the voice of my cry,
My King and my God,
For to You I will pray.
3 My voice You shall hear in the morning, O LORD;
[b]In the morning I will direct it to You,
And I will look up.

4 For You are not a God who takes pleasure in wickedness,
Nor shall evil [3]dwell with You.
5 The [c]boastful shall not [d]stand in Your sight;
You hate all workers of iniquity.
6 You shall destroy those who speak
falsehood;
The LORD abhors the [e]bloodthirsty and deceitful man.

7 But as for me, I will come into Your house in the multitude of
Your mercy;
In fear of You I will worship toward [4]Your holy temple.
8 [f]Lead me, O LORD, in Your righteousness because of my enemies;

4:2,3 God's agenda for David (v. 3) is radically contrasted with that of his enemies (v. 2). The term for "godly" or "pious" in the OT is above all else indicating a person blessed by God's grace.

4:4 Be angry, and do not sin. In this context, the admonition means to tremble or shake in the fear of the Lord so as not to sin (cf. Is. 32:10,11; Hab. 3:16).

4:5 trust. This command reflects the primary word group in the OT for faith-commitment.

4:6-8 The taunting skeptics are cut off by the testimony of the psalmist to his rest because of God's personal blessings.

4:8 dwell in safety. The word "safety" introduces a play on words by going back to the term "trust" in v. 5. David evidences a total confidence in God amidst his crisis.

5:1–12 Psalm 5 is basically a lament with elements of declarations of innocence and confidence and prayers for protection. David was standing in the presence of the Lord when he put his enemies before his God. His prayers have two major concerns: "Help me and harm them!" Therefore, David releases his respective prayers for divine intervention and imprecation upon two rounds of contrast which differentiate the enemies of God from the children of God.

I. Round One: Theological Contrast of Retribution with Reconciliation (5:1-8)
   A. David's Prayer for Intervention Expressed (5:1-3)
   B. David's Prayer for Intervention Explained (5:4-8)
II. Round Two: Practical Contrast of the Wayward with the Worshipful (5:9-12)
   A. David's Prayer of Imprecation Expressed (5:10a-c)
   B. David's Prayer of Imprecation Explained (5:9,10d-12)

5:Title Whereas the instructions to the worship leader in Ps. 4 pertain to a stringed accompaniment, Ps. 5 is to be celebrated in community worship with flute accompaniment (cf. 1 Sam. 10:5; Kin. 1:40; Is. 30:29).

5:1 Give ear. This command is built upon the word for "ear." It takes its place alongside of parallel requests that God would pay careful attention to the supplicant and his sufferings (Pss. 17:1; 55:1,2).

5:2 My King and my God. David may have been the anointed theocratic king on earth, but he fully understood that the ultimate King of all Israel and of the whole earth is God (for God's conditional allowance for mediatorial kingship, see 1 Sam. 8:19ff.).

5:3 in the morning...In the morning. These words have led many to label this a morning psalm (cf. Pss. 3; 5:3).

5:4-6 not...Nor...not...hate...destroy...abhors. These 3 negatively phrased descriptions follow 3 directly stated affirmations. This reveals God's perfect standard of justice both in principle and in practice.

5:7 But as for me. The psalmist starkly contrasts himself with his enemies. They are haughty; he is humble.

5:8,9 To man's "hoof" problem, David exposes man's "mouth" problem, with special application to his slick-talking enemies. Proverbs is especially given to exposing the deadliness of mankind's spiritual "hoof" and "mouth" disease, i.e., one's walk and talk. Paul includes

Make Your way straight before my face.

9 For there is no [5]faithfulness in their mouth;
Their inward part is destruction;
[g]Their throat is an open tomb;
They flatter with their tongue.
10 Pronounce them guilty, O God!
Let them fall by their own counsels;
Cast them out in the multitude of their transgressions,
For they have rebelled against You.

11 But let all those rejoice who put their trust in You;
Let them ever shout for joy, because You [6]defend them;
Let those also who love Your name
Be joyful in You.
12 For You, O LORD, will bless the righteous;
With favor You will surround him as with a shield.

PSALM 6

A Prayer of Faith in Time of Distress

To the Chief Musician. With stringed instruments. [a]On [1]an eight-stringed harp. A Psalm of David.

O LORD, [b]do not rebuke me in Your anger,
Nor chasten me in Your hot displeasure.
2 Have mercy on me, O LORD, for I am weak;
O LORD, [c]heal me, for my bones are troubled.
3 My soul also is greatly [d]troubled;
But You, O LORD—how long?

4 Return, O LORD, deliver me!
Oh, save me for Your mercies' sake!
5 [e]For in death there is no remembrance of You;
In the grave who will give You thanks?

6 I am weary with my groaning;
[2]All night I make my bed swim;
I drench my couch with my tears.
7 [f]My eye wastes away because of grief;
It grows old because of all my enemies.

8 [g]Depart from me, all you workers of iniquity;
For the LORD has [h]heard the voice of my weeping.
9 The LORD has heard my supplication;
The LORD will receive my prayer.
10 Let all my enemies be ashamed and greatly troubled;
Let them turn back and be ashamed suddenly.

7 [f] Job 17:7; Ps. 31:9
8 [g] [Matt. 25:41] [h] Ps. 3:4; 28:6

these assessments from Ps. 5:9 in his list of 14 terrible indictments of all mankind in Rom. 3:13.

5:8 Lead me...Make Your way straight. Disciples are to walk in God's way(s), being obedient to His direction(s) for their lives, yet they are fully dependent upon His grace for responsible progress (cf. Ps. 119:1-5,26,27,30,32,33).

5:10-12 He prays for the just ends of the wicked according to God's revealed standard of justice (Deut. 25:1), and contrastingly urges those who are regarded as righteous by the Lord's grace to joyfully celebrate His blessings.

6:1-10 This lament seems to be quite intensive, for apparently David is sleepless. His circumstances seem hopeless and helpless. The early Christian church regarded this psalm as the first among the "penitential psalms" (cf. Pss. 32,38,51,102,130,143). David's cries, coming up from the depths of his personal pit of persecution, indicate a radical change in his frame of mind as he addresses two different audiences.

I. Pouring out His Soul before God: A Defeatist Frame of Mind (6:1-7)
  A. A Tone of Helplessness (6:1-4)
  B. A Tone of Hopelessness (6:5-7)
II. Turning His Attention to His Enemies: A Defiant Frame of Mind (6:8-10)
  A. His Boldness about It (6:8a)
  B. His Basis for It (6:8b-10)

6: Title A new musical direction appears, lit. "Upon the eight," indicating either "on an eight-stringed harp" or "upon the octave" (i.e., a lower bass melody to accompany these lyrics of intense lament).

6:1 in Your anger...in Your hot displeasure. He does not ask for immunity from judgment, but for the tempering of God's discipline with mercy.

6:2,7 bones...eye. Many assume that because the psalmist mentions bodily "parts" his affliction was a grave physical illness. Obviously, his circumstances would have had an affect on his physical dimension. However, in OT anthropology such references are picturesque metaphors for an affliction of his total being (cf. all the parallel, personal references, e.g., "me," "my soul," i.e., my being or person, "I," etc.).

6:3 how long? This is a common exclamation of intense lament (cf. Ps. 90:13; Hab. 2:6; Rev. 6:10).

6:4 deliver me!...for Your mercies' sake. This introduces a new synonym for salvation, connoting an action of drawing off or out. He desires the Lord to graciously extricate him (cf. Job 36:15; Pss. 18:19; 116:8).

6:5 no remembrance of You. There is much about "death" and "the grave," i.e., Sheol, in Psalms. Such language as that of v. 5 does not imply annihilation, but inability to participate temporally in public praise offerings (cf. Hezekiah's reasoning in Is. 38:18).

6:6,7 Sleep has eluded him because of his severe sorrow.

6:8-10 Out of his dire straits, boldness surprisingly breaks through as he addresses his enemies. This boldness also has only one basis, that the psalmist's confidence is wholly grounded upon his Lord's attention and ultimate intervention.

PSALM 7

Prayer and Praise for Deliverance from Enemies

A [a]Meditation[1] of David, which he sang to the LORD [b]concerning the words of Cush, a Benjamite.

O LORD my God, in You I put my trust;
[c]Save me from all those who persecute me;
And deliver me,
2 [d]Lest they tear me like a lion,
[e]Rending me in pieces, while there is none to deliver.

3 O LORD my God, [f]if I have done this:
If there is [g]iniquity in my hands,
4 If I have repaid evil to him who was at peace with me,
Or [h]have plundered my enemy without cause,
5 Let the enemy pursue me and overtake me;
Yes, let him trample my life to the earth,
And lay my honor in the dust. Selah

6 Arise, O LORD, in Your anger;
[i]Lift Yourself up because of the rage of my enemies;
[j]Rise up [2]for me to the judgment You have commanded!
7 So the congregation of the peoples shall surround You;
For their sakes, therefore, return on high.
8 The LORD shall judge the peoples;
[k]Judge me, O LORD, [l]according to my righteousness,
And according to my integrity within me.

9 Oh, let the wickedness of the wicked come to an end,
But establish the just;
[m]For the righteous God tests the hearts and [3]minds.
10 [4]My defense is of God,
Who saves the [n]upright in heart.

11 God is a just judge,
And God is angry with the wicked every day.
12 If he does not turn back,
He will [o]sharpen His sword;
He bends His bow and makes it ready.
13 He also prepares for Himself instruments of death;
He makes His arrows into fiery shafts.

14 [p]Behold, the wicked brings forth iniquity;
Yes, he conceives trouble and brings forth falsehood.
15 He made a pit and dug it out,
[q]And has fallen into the ditch which he made.
16 [r]His trouble shall return upon his own head,
And his violent dealing shall come down on [5]his own crown.

17 I will praise the LORD according to His righteousness,
And will sing praise to the name of the LORD Most High.

7:1-17 This psalm is basically a plea for divine vindication in the light of the oppressor's allegations and actions. David's confidence in the Divine Judge is the backbone of Ps. 7 (cf. Abraham in Gen. 18:25). As this truth grips him more and more, he will move from a tense anxiety to a transcendent assurance. This psalm follows David through 3 progressively calming stages of expression in response to the painfully false accusations that were being hurled against him.

I. Stage One: David's Concern as He Passionately Begs the Attention of the Divine Judge (7:1-5)
II. Stage Two: David's Court Appearance as He Painstakingly Argues His Case before the Divine Judge (7:6-16)
III. Stage Three: David's Composure as He Patiently Waits for the Verdict of the Divine Judge (7:17)

7:Title This title introduces one of the more enigmatic terms found in superscriptions of the psalms—"a shiggaion (Heb.) of David." It is probably related to the idea of wondering, reeling, veering, or weaving. Although the NKJV translates it "meditation," it more than likely conveys shifting emotions or movements of thought. Consequently, the term may also indicate the song's irregularity in rhythm (cf. Hab. 3:1). "He sang" also indicates that this was a vocal solo. The occasion, "concerning the words of Cush, a Benjamite," cannot be readily identified from the historical books; however, whoever this was or whatever the name represented, some enemy had obviously been falsely charging David (cf. Shimei—2 Sam. 16:5; 19:16).

7:2 Lest they tear me like a lion. Often the psalmist's enemies are symbolized by vicious, attacking animals, with "the king of beasts" occurring frequently (Pss. 10:9; 17:12; 22:13,16,21).

7:3-5 Such self-pronounced curses are powerful protestations of innocence (not sinlessness) in the context of being falsely charged (cf. the boldness of Job in 31:5ff.).

7:6 Arise. The battle cry relating back to Num. 10:35 recurs (cf. Pss. 9:19; 10:12; 17:13; 44:26; 102:13).

7:8 my righteousness...my integrity. These are not declarations of sinlessness but of innocence in this "court case."

7:9 the righteous God tests the hearts and minds. The Just Judge has perfect insight (cf. God examining the heart and mind in Jer. 17:10; also cf. Acts 1:24; 15:8).

7:11-13 This shows yet another blending of the Divine Warrior and Divine Judge themes.

7:14-16 Often the principle of exact retribution surfaces in the psalms (cf. the maxim of Prov. 26:27 and the judgment of Hab. 2:15-18).

PSALM 8

The Glory of the LORD in Creation

To the Chief Musician. [1]On the instrument of Gath. A Psalm of David.

O LORD, our Lord,
How [a]excellent is Your name in all the earth,
Who have [b]set Your glory above the heavens!

2 [c]Out of the mouth of babes and nursing infants
You have [2]ordained strength,
Because of Your enemies,
That You may silence [d]the enemy and the avenger.

3 When I [e]consider Your heavens, the work of Your fingers,
The moon and the stars, which You have ordained,
4 [f]What is man that You are mindful of him,
And the son of man that You [g]visit[3] him?
5 For You have made him a little lower than [4]the angels,
And You have crowned him with glory and honor.

6 [h]You have made him to have dominion over the works of Your hands;
[i]You have put all things under his feet,
7 All sheep and oxen—
Even the beasts of the field,
8 The birds of the air,
And the fish of the sea
That pass through the paths of the seas.

9 [j]O LORD, our Lord,
How excellent is Your name in all the earth!

PSALM 9

Prayer and Thanksgiving for the LORD's Righteous Judgments

To the Chief Musician. To the tune of [1]"Death of the Son." A Psalm of David.

I will praise You, O LORD, with my whole heart;
I will tell of all Your marvelous works.
2 I will be glad and [a]rejoice in You;

PSALM 9

title [1] Heb. Muth Labben
2 [a] Ps. 5:11; 104:34

8:1-9 The beginning and ending of the psalm suggest that it is essentially a hymn of praise. Yet, a major portion qualifies it as a so-called nature psalm, i.e., a psalm of creation. Furthermore, there is a significant focus on the created dignity of man. Through this vehicle, the important subject of Adamic theology comes to the forefront, making this psalm ultimately suitable to the important association of the "One," the Last Adam, i.e., Christ and the "many" (cf. Heb. 2:6-8). Structurally, Ps. 8's beginning and concluding bursts of praise are driven by David's contemplation of two pairs of radical contrasts.

I. Introductory Praise (8:1)
II. Two Pairs of Radical Contrasts (8:2-8)
  A. Between the Nature of "Infants" and Infidels (8:2)
  B. Between Unaided General Revelation and Unveiled Special Revelation (8:3-8)
III. Concluding Praise (8:9)

8:Title Another instrument is referenced in this title, most probably a guitar-like harp associated with Gath in Philistia.

8:1 LORD...Lord. Of these twin nouns of direct address to God, the first is His specially revealed name Yahweh (Ex. 3:14) and the second puts an emphasis on His sovereignty. Your name. The name of God refers to the revealed Person of God, encompassing all of His attributes.

8:2 The introductory irony about infants set the stage for a contrast between the dependent and the foolishly self-sufficient.

8:3 Your heavens, the work of Your fingers. The heavens are created by God (Pss. 33:6,9; 102:25; 136:5). The anthropomorphism "Your fingers" miniaturizes the magnitude of the universe in the presence of the Creator.

8:4-6 Quoted in the NT at 1 Cor. 15:27,28; Eph. 1:22; Heb. 2:5-10.

8:4 What is man. If the whole universe is diminutive in the sight of the Divine Creator, how much less is the significance of mankind! Even the word for "man" used in v. 4 alludes to his weakness (cf. Pss. 9:19,20; 90:3a; 103:15, etc.). and the son of man. This phrase also looks upon man as insignificant and transitory (e.g., Ps. 90:3b). Yet, the Aram. counterpart of this phrase is found in Dan. 7:13, which has profound messianic overtones (cf. also Jesus' favorite self-designation in the NT, Son of Man).

8:5-8 These verses consistently emphasize the significance of man, who was created in the image and likeness of God to exercise dominion over the rest of creation (Gen. 1:26-28).

9:1-20 Psalms 9 and 10 go together, so much so that early Gr. and Lat. vss. treat and number them as one. However, Pss. 9 and 10 evidence two different forms: the first is an individual hymn while the second is an individual lament.

In the first part (vv. 1-12) praise is prominent, and in the second part (vv. 13-20) prayer is prominent. Many subtle patterns weave the thoughts of its verses and lines together. Shifting back and forth between the individual and corporate perspectives is characteristic, as are introverted (i.e., chiastic) structures. Basically, David's hymn in Ps. 9 ebbs and flows through two respective tides of prayer and praise.

I. First Tide: Divine Justice and Praise (9:1-12)
  A. Individual Praise and Divine Justice (9:1-4)
  B. Divine Justice and Corporate Praise (9:5-12)
II. Second Tide: Divine Justice and Prayer (9:13-20)
  A. Individual Prayer and Divine Justice (9:13-16)
  B. Divine Justice and Corporate Prayer (9:17-20)

9:Title The new element of this title lit. reads "upon death of a son." Many conjectures have arisen about this puzzling phrase, but it is safest to regard these words as designating a particular tune.

9:1,2 I will...I will...I will...I will. These 4 "I wills" launch Ps. 9 with David's dedication to exuberant worship of the Lord.

9:1 Your marvelous works. This especially references God's extraordinary interventions into history on behalf of His people (cf. the Exodus events).

I will sing praise to Your name,
[b]O Most High.

3 When my enemies turn back,
They shall fall and perish at Your presence.
4 For You have maintained my right and my cause;
You sat on the throne judging in righteousness.
5 You have rebuked the [2]nations,
You have destroyed the wicked;
You have [c]blotted out their name forever and ever.

6 O enemy, destructions are finished forever!
And you have destroyed cities;
Even their memory has [d]perished.
7 [e]But the LORD shall endure forever;
He has prepared His throne for judgment.
8 [f]He shall judge the world in righteousness,
And He shall administer judgment for the peoples in uprightness.

9 The LORD also will be a [g]refuge[3] for the oppressed,
A refuge in times of trouble.
10 And those who [h]know Your name will put their trust in You;
For You, LORD, have not forsaken those who seek You.

11 Sing praises to the LORD, who dwells in Zion!
[i]Declare His deeds among the people.
12 [j]When He avenges blood, He remembers them;
He does not forget the cry of the [4]humble.

PSALM 10

A Song of Confidence in God's Triumph over Evil

1 Why do You stand afar off, O LORD?
Why do You hide in times of trouble?
2 The wicked in his pride [1]persecutes the poor;

PSALM 10
2 [1] hotly pursues

9:4 You have maintained my right and my cause. This is exactly what God is known to do (cf. Deut. 10:18; 1 Kin. 8:45,49).

9:5-10 Verses 5 and 6 reveal the Just Judge's dealings with the godless, vv. 7,8, His dealings with all men in general, and vv. 9,10, His gracious dealings with dependent disciples.

9:11 the LORD, who dwells in Zion. There is a both/and tension running throughout the OT, i.e., God is enthroned in and above the heavens, and also, He symbolically dwells locally in His tabernacle (cf. 1 Kin. 8; Ps. 11:4).

9:12,18 the humble...the needy...the poor. These designations often stand for the individual psalmist and/or the corporate community of disciples he represents. The terms all point to those who are afflicted, vulnerable, and therefore totally dependent upon the Lord.

9:15,16 The "boomerang" principle of exact retribution returns.

9:17-20 Prominent theological themes from Pss. 1 and 2 also return as the psalmist draws this great hymn to a climax.

10:1-18 Whereas Ps. 9 started out with praise, Ps. 10 begins in despair. In Ps. 9 the psalmist was confident of the sure coming of Divine justice; in Ps. 10 injustice is rampant and God seems disinterested. However, the psalmist's walking more by sight than by faith will slowly turn around as he shifts his focus from empirical observations to theological facts. This is not an easy turn-around, especially since he is surrounded by so many practical atheists (cf. vv. 4,11,13). But hope will begin to dawn for the helpless (e.g., v. 12). In view of such kinds of general observations, the psalmist's expressions in Ps. 10 exemplify how true believers seem to live in two different worlds at the same time.

I. From His World of Hostility, Discouragement (10:1-11)
II. From His World of Hope, Encouragement (10:12-18)

10:1 Why?...Why? Two "whys" of lament boldly blurt out the psalmist's question: "God, why do You remain aloof?" (cf. Pss. 13:1; 22:11; 38:21; 44:24; 71:12; 88:14).

[a]Let them be caught in the plots which they have devised.

3 For the wicked [b]boasts of his heart's desire;
[2]He [c]blesses the greedy and renounces the LORD.
4 The wicked in his proud countenance does not seek God;
[3]God is in none of his [d]thoughts.

5 His ways [4]are always prospering;
Your judgments are far above, out of his sight;
As for all his enemies, he sneers at them.
6 [e]He has said in his heart, "I shall not be moved;
[f]I shall never be in adversity."
7 [g]His mouth is full of cursing and [h]deceit and oppression;
Under his tongue is trouble and iniquity.

8 He sits in the lurking places of the villages;
In the secret places he murders the innocent;
His eyes are secretly fixed on the helpless.
9 He lies in wait secretly, as a lion in his den;
He lies in wait to catch the poor;
He catches the poor when he draws him into his net.
10 So [5]he crouches, he lies low,
That the helpless may fall by his [6]strength.
11 He has said in his heart,
"God has forgotten;
He hides His face;
He will never see."

12 Arise, O LORD!
O God, [i]lift up Your hand!
Do not forget the [j]humble.
13 Why do the wicked renounce God?
He has said in his heart,
"You will not require an account."

14 But You have [k]seen, for You observe trouble and grief,
To repay it by Your hand.
The helpless [l]commits [7] himself to You;
[m]You are the helper of the fatherless.
15 Break the arm of the wicked and the evil man;
Seek out his wickedness until You find none.

16 [n]The LORD is King forever and ever;
The nations have perished out of His land.
17 LORD, You have heard the desire of the humble;
You will prepare their heart;
You will cause Your ear to hear,
18 To [8]do justice to the fatherless and the oppressed,
That the man of the earth may [9]oppress no more.

PSALM 11

Faith in the LORD's Righteousness

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

In [a]the LORD I put my trust;
How can you say to my soul,
"Flee as a bird to your mountain"?
2 For look! [b]The wicked bend their bow,
They make ready their arrow on the string,
That they may shoot [1]secretly at the upright in heart.

PSALM 11
1 [a] Ps. 56:11
2 [b] Ps. 64:3, 4 [1] Lit. in darkness

10:3 blesses...renounces. The wicked's modus operandi is the opposite of what God demands (Deut. 25:1).

10:5 His ways are always prospering. God seems to be rewarding the ruthless. The psalmist's questioning insinuation is, "Has God also abandoned His own standards for retribution and reward?" Cf. other why-do-the-wicked-prosper inquiries in Job 20:2ff.; Jer. 12:1.

10:7-11 Evidences of "hoof" and "mouth" disease (walk/talk) return in application to the wicked. These are enhanced by a return also of the ungodly being described as stalking, rapacious beasts.

10:12 Arise. The battle cry of Num. 10:35 also comes back again (cf. Pss. 7:6; 9:19). lift up Your hand. This is an idiom for God's strength and power especially as it is used in the context of retaliation.

10:14 You are the helper of the fatherless. God is pictured as Helper or Advocate again, but this time in association with orphans. He is the Defender par excellence of the defenseless (on the imagery, cf. Ex. 22:21ff.; Deut. 10:18ff.; 1 Sam. 1:17; Jer. 7:6).

10:15 Break the arm of the wicked. The "hand" of God (vv. 12,14) is more than sufficiently strong to shatter the arm (another figure for power) of ungodly man.

10:16-18 The confident mood of this great climax outshines the psalm's introductory protestations. The psalmist's great Lord listens (v. 17) and acts (v. 18).

11:1-7 The panic that launched this psalm was not David's but that of his apparently well-meaning counselors. Their mood is panic, but David's is peace. In view of David's attitude, this psalm can be listed with the psalms of confidence (Pss. 4,16,23,27,62,125,131). Also, the solidarity of the theocratic king and the theocratic people is obvious, as indicated by the shifts back and forth between sing. and pl. phrasings. The developing verses and lines of this psalm reveal that, although two different "voices" were speaking to David in yet another context of personal and national crisis, he had made up his mind to trust only in the Lord.

I. Introductory Affirmation (11:1a)
II. The Two Voices
  A. The Voice Urging Flight (11:1b-3)
  B. The Voice Urging Faith (11:4-7)

11:1 In the LORD I put my trust. Lit. "I take refuge in the LORD." God is the exclusive refuge for His persecuted children (cf. Pss. 16:1; 36:7).

3 [c]If the foundations are destroyed,
What can the righteous do?

4 The LORD is in His holy temple,
The LORD's [d]throne is in heaven;
[e]His eyes behold,
His eyelids test the sons of men.
5 The LORD [f]tests the righteous,
But the wicked and the one who loves violence His soul hates.
6 Upon the wicked He will rain coals;
Fire and brimstone and a burning wind
[g]Shall be [2]the portion of their cup.

7 For the LORD is righteous,
He [h]loves righteousness;
[3]His countenance beholds the upright.

PSALM 12

Man's Treachery and God's Constancy

To the Chief Musician. [a]On [1]an eight-stringed harp. A Psalm of David.

Help,[2] LORD, for the godly man
[b]ceases!
For the faithful disappear from among the sons of men.
2 [c]They speak idly everyone with his neighbor;
With flattering lips and [3]a double heart they speak.
3 May the LORD [4]cut off all flattering lips,
And the tongue that speaks [5]proud things,
4 Who have said,
"With our tongue we will prevail;
Our lips are our own;
Who is lord over us?"

5 "For the oppression of the poor, for the sighing of the needy,
Now I will arise," says the LORD;
"I will set him in the safety for which he yearns."

6 The words of the LORD are [d]pure words,
Like silver tried in a furnace of earth,
Purified seven times.
7 You shall keep them, O LORD,
You shall preserve them from this generation forever.

8 The wicked prowl on every side,
When vileness is exalted among the sons of men.

PSALM 13

Trust in the Salvation of the LORD

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

How long, O LORD? Will You forget me forever?

11:3 These are the words of a committed but confused saint. His philosophical problem is, "In view of the crumbling of the theocratic society, what can one righteous person, out of a shrinking remnant, do?"

11:4a in His holy temple...in heaven. This emphasizes the transcendent throne room of God, yet God has sovereign sway over all the affairs of earth (cf. Hab. 2:20).

11:4b-5a His eyes behold...His eyelids test. His transcendence previously depicted does not negate His eminence here presented from the perspective of the divine scrutiny of all men, including the righteous (cf. Jer. 6:27-30; 17:10).

11:5b-6 His soul hates. This is undiluted, perfect retribution.

11:7a For the LORD is righteous. He loves righteousness. He Himself is the perfect norm or standard for all spiritual integrity.

11:7b His countenance. The marginal rendering is more suitable (cf. Pss. 17:15; 27:4; 63:2; 1 John 3:2).

12:1-8 Men's words do hurt, but the Lord's words heal. These thoughts preoccupy David in Ps. 12. The psalm begins and ends with the reality of the current reign of the wicked. Yet amidst this very black setting, the gemstone truth of v. 5 shines all the more brightly. These 8 verses are characterized by subtle repetitions and bold contrasts. In the development of Ps. 12, David provides a model for passing a spiritual hearing test, in that genuine disciples listen to and properly respond to two radically different sources of speech.

I. Surviving the Propaganda of Depraved Speech (12:1-4)
  A. By Prayer (12:1,2)
  B. By Petition (12:3,4)
II. Security in the Protection of Divine Speech (12:5-8)
  A. Its Divine Promises (12:5)
  B. Its Divine Purity (12:6)
  C. Its Divine Perseverance (12:7,8)

12:1 for the godly man ceases. His words and phraseology are deliberately hyperbolic, yet David's perception indeed was that the pious have perished!

12:2-4 These smooth-talking sinners verbally abuse the remnant (vv. 2,3) and verbally defy their Sovereign (v. 4).

12:3a May the LORD cut off all flattering lips. Here is a call for death in the light of sin. On the obnoxious sin of lying lips, cf. Ps. 5:9; Is. 30:10; Dan. 11:32; Rom. 3:13.

12:6 pure...purified. The Lord's perfect words present a most radical contrast with the profane words of arrogant sinners. The purity of God's Person assures the purity of His promises (cf. Ps. 19:7-10).

12:7,8 The hostile realities of v. 8 call for the heavenly resources of v. 7.

13:1-6 Psalm 13 launches with an explosion of 4 "How longs?" indicating another lament is about to begin. But David will shift radically from turmoil to tranquility in the space of 6 short verses through 3 levels of attitude.

I. Below "Sea Level" Expressions of Despair (13:1,2)
II. "Sea Level" Expressions of Desires (13:3,4)
III. "Mountaintop" Level Expressions of Delight (13:5,6)

13:1,2 These lines reintroduce the familiar triangle of the psalmist, his God, and his enemies. This 3-way relationship produces perplexity and pain. In view of God's apparent absence (v. 1), he seems left to his own resources which are unable to deal with the reality of his enemies (v. 2).

[a]How long will You hide Your face from me?
2 How long shall I take counsel in my soul,
Having sorrow in my heart daily?
How long will my enemy be exalted over me?

3 Consider and hear me, O LORD my God;
[b]Enlighten my eyes,
[c]Lest I sleep the sleep of death;
4 Lest my enemy say,
"I have prevailed against him";
Lest those who trouble me rejoice when I am moved.

5 But I have trusted in Your mercy;
My heart shall rejoice in Your salvation.
6 I will sing to the LORD,
Because He has dealt bountifully with me.

PSALM 14

Folly of the Godless, and God's Final Triumph

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

They are corrupt,
They have done abominable works,
There is none who does good.

PSALM 14

1 [a] Ps. 10:4; 53:1

2 [b]The LORD looks down from heaven upon the children of men,
To see if there are any who understand, who seek God.
3 [c]They have all turned aside,
They have together become corrupt;
There is none who does good,
No, not one.

4 Have all the workers of iniquity no knowledge,
Who eat up my people as they eat bread,
And [d]do not call on the LORD?
5 There they are in great fear,
For God is with the generation of the righteous.
6 You shame the counsel of the poor,
But the LORD is his [e]refuge.

7 [f]Oh,[1] that the salvation of Israel would come out of Zion!
[g]When the LORD brings back [2]the captivity of His people,
Let Jacob rejoice and Israel be glad.

PSALM 15

The Character of Those Who May Dwell with the LORD

A Psalm of David.

LORD, [a]who may [1]abide in Your tabernacle?
Who may dwell in Your holy hill?

PSALM 15

1 [a] Ps. 24:3-5
[1] sojourn

13:4b-5b rejoice...rejoice. Using the same verb, he deliberately contrasts his enemy's celebration with his own confidence in divine deliverance.

14:1-7 Psalm 14, a wisdom poem, along with its nearly identical twin Ps. 53, contains profound deliberations on human depravity. David's representative desire for deliverance (v. 7) provides the chorus to his two preceding dirges on depravity.

I. The Dirges on Depravity (14:1-6)
  A. The First Dirge: In the Form of a Round, Addresses the Universality of Depravity (14:1-3)
  B. The Second Dirge: In the Form of a Ballad, Addresses the Futility of Depravity (14:4-6)
II. The Chorus on Deliverance (14:7)
  A. The Wish for It (14:7a)
  B. The Worship Attending It (14:7b-c)

14:1 The fool. In the Bible, this designation carries moral rather than intellectual meaning (Is. 32:6).

14:1-3 The "alls" and "nones" of these lines make the indictments universally applicable. No wonder Paul included these indictments in Rom. 3:10-12. There is also a common scriptural association of doing with thinking.

14:4-6 The shift from third person affirmations about the wicked (vv. 4,5) to the second person (v. 6a) intensifies this confrontation with divine judgment.

14:7 Zion. The place on earth where God was pleased to reveal His presence, protection, and power (cf. Pss. 3:4; 20:2; 128:5; 132:13; 134:3).

15:1-5 Whereas Ps. 14 focused on the way of the wicked, Ps. 15 concentrates on the way of the righteous (cf. Ps. 1). The saved sinner is described as exhibiting indications of ethical integrity. These characteristics alternate in triplets of positive and negative descriptions. The whole psalm unfolds through a question-and-answer vehicle, and indeed it may be regarded as the ultimate Q and A session. With its focus on moral responsibility, the psalm offers a sequence of responses to the question of acceptable worship.

I. A Two-Part Question (15:1)
II. A Twelve-Part Response (15:2-5b)
  A. Three Positively-Phrased Ethical Characteristics (15:2)
    1. His lifestyle exhibits integrity
    2. His deeds exhibit justice
    3. His speed exhibits reliability
  B. Three Negatively Cast Ethical Characteristics (15:3)
    1. He does not tread over people with his tongue
    2. He does not harm his fellow man
    3. He does not dump reproach upon family or friend
  C. Three Positively Phrased Ethical Characteristics (15:4a-c)
    1. He views the reprobate as rejected
    2. He respects the people of God
    3. He holds himself accountable
  D. Three Negatively Cast Ethical Characteristics (15:4d-5b)
    1. He is not fickle
    2. He is not greedy
    3. He cannot be bought
III. A One-Part Guarantee (15:5c)

2 He who walks uprightly,
And works righteousness,
And speaks the [b]truth in his heart;
3 He who [c]does not backbite with his tongue,
Nor does evil to his neighbor,
[d]Nor does he [2]take up a reproach against his friend;
4 [e]In whose eyes a vile person is despised,
But he honors those who fear the LORD;
He who [f]swears to his own hurt and does not change;
5 He who does not put out his money at usury,
Nor does he take a bribe against the innocent.

He who does these things [g]shall never be moved.

PSALM 16

The Hope of the Faithful, and the Messiah's Victory

A [a]Michtam of David.

[1]Preserve me, O God, for in You I put my trust.

2 O my soul, you have said to the LORD,
"You are my Lord,

title [a] Ps. 56–60
1 [1] Watch over

15:1 Your tabernacle. Lit. "tent" (cf. Ps. 61:4; for possible background see 2 Sam. 6:12-17).

15:2-6 Notice the focus on life-and-lip qualities.

15:4 despised...honors. Whom God rejects, the psalmist rejects; whom God loves, he loves.

15:5 usury. Interest rates ran as high as 50 percent, but God's law put strict regulations on borrowing and lending (see notes on Deut. 23:19,20; 24:10-13). he...shall never be moved. This is an important promise in the light of its usage in Psalms and Proverbs (cf. Pss. 10:6; 13:4; 16:8; 46:5; 62:2,6; Prov. 10:30).

16:1-11 The only prayer of Ps. 16 comes in the first line. The rest of the psalm consists of David's weaving together his personal testimonies of trust in the Lord. In view of this, David's opening prayer is bolstered by two cycles of testimony.

I. David's Introductory Prayer (16:1)
II. David's Testimony (16:2-11)
A. His Testimony of Communion (16:2-4)
1. Its divine dimension (16:2)
2. Its human dimension (16:3,4)
B. His Testimony of Confidence (16:5-11)
1. Its past and present dimensions (16:5-8)
2. Its present and future dimensions (16:9-11)

16:Title. A Michtam of David. Cf. Pss. 56; 57; 58; 59; 60. In spite of many conjectures, this designation remains obscure.

16:1 Preserve me. This is a frequent request begging God to protect the psalmist (cf. Pss. 17:8; 140:4; 141:9).

16:2 O my soul, you have said. The words in italics are supplied because there is a variant in the Heb. Bible concerning the verb. It

PSALM 17

Prayer with Confidence in Final Salvation

A Prayer of David.

Hear a just cause, O LORD,
Attend to my cry;
Give ear to my prayer which is not from deceitful lips.
2 Let my vindication come from Your presence;
Let Your eyes look on the things that are upright.

3 You have tested my heart;
You have visited me in the night;
[a]You have [1]tried me and have found [2]nothing;
I have purposed that my mouth shall not [b]transgress.
4 Concerning the works of men,
By the word of Your lips,
I have kept away from the paths of the destroyer.
5 [c]Uphold my steps in Your paths,
That my footsteps may not slip.

6 [d]I have called upon You, for You will hear me, O God;
Incline Your ear to me, and hear my speech.
7 Show Your marvelous lovingkindness by Your right hand,
O You who [3]save those who trust in You

5 [c] Job 23:11; Ps. 44:18; 119:133
6 [d] Ps. 86:7; 116:2
7 [3] deliver may be just as well to regard the verb as a shortened form of "I said" (also occurring at 1Kin. 8:48; Job 42:2; Ps. 140:13; Ezek. 16:59). My goodness is nothing apart from You. I.e., "My well-being is entirely dependent upon You."

16:4 He will have nothing to do with false gods or the people pursuing them.

16:5,6 These lines use OT metaphors to describe the blessing of God.

16:9 my glory. Starting back at v. 7, the psalmist referred to his core of being as lit."my kidneys," then "my heart," now "my glory," and next "my flesh" and "my soul." The anthropological terms stand for the whole person, so it is best to consider "my glory" as referring to that distinctive way in which man is created in the image of God, i.e., his intelligence and ability to speak.

16:10 These words expressed the confidence of the lesser David, but were applied messianically to the resurrection of the Greater David (the Lord Jesus Christ) both by Peter (Acts 2:25-28) and Paul (Acts 13:35).

17:1-15 This "prayer" of David brims with petitions, as many as seventeen of them depending upon the translation of certain Heb. verb forms. There are many literary parallels with Ps. 16. Although the psalm shows indications of mixed forms, it is essentially a prayer for protection. David is fond of using themes and phrases from the Exodus narrative (cf. Ex. 15; Deut. 32). A logical chiastic development is detected in its verses, with the focus shifting from the psalmist (vv. 1-8) to his enemies (vv. 9-12), remaining on his enemies in vv. 13,14, then shifting back to David (v. 15). Or viewing its development from another angle, David approaches the divine court with 3 clusters of appeals in seeking justice.

I. Appeals Dealing with Response and Recognition (17:1-5)
II. Appeals Dealing with Rescue and Relief (17:6-12)
  A. His Need for Rescue Is Presented (17:6-8)
  B. His Need for Relief Is Documented (17:9-12)
III. Appeals Dealing with Retribution and Rest (17:13-15)
  A. His Anticipation of Their Retribution (17:13,14)
  B. His Assurance of His Own Rest (17:15)

17:Title This is the first psalm simply entitled "a prayer" (cf. Pss. 86; 90; 102; 142).

17:1,2 The introductory language is that of the law court, and David stands before the ultimate Chief Justice to present his case.

17:3-5 His basic integrity (vv. 3,4) especially in view of the present case, was, is, and shall be dependent upon the grace of God (v. 5).

From those who rise up against them.
8 Keep me as the [1]apple of Your eye;
Hide me under the shadow of Your wings,
9 From the wicked who oppress me,
From my deadly enemies who surround me.

10 They have closed up their [e]fat hearts;
With their mouths they [f]speak proudly.
11 They have now surrounded us in our steps;
They have set their eyes, crouching down to the earth,
12 As a lion is eager to tear his prey,
And like a young lion lurking in secret places.

13 Arise, O LORD,
Confront him, cast him down;
Deliver my life from the wicked with Your sword,
14 With Your hand from men,
O LORD,
From men of the world who have their portion in this life,
And whose belly You fill with Your hidden treasure.
They are satisfied with children,
And leave the rest of their possession for their babes.

15 As for me, [g]I will see Your face in righteousness;
[h]I shall be satisfied when I [i]awake in Your likeness.

PSALM 18

God the Sovereign Savior

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David [a]the servant of the LORD, who spoke to the LORD the words of [b]this song on the day that the LORD delivered him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul. And he said:

I [c]will love You, O LORD, my strength.
2 The LORD is my rock and my fortress and my deliverer;
My God, my [1]strength, [d]in whom I will trust;
My shield and the [2]horn of my salvation, my stronghold.
3 I will call upon the LORD, [e]who is worthy to be praised;
So shall I be saved from my enemies.

4 [f]The pangs of death surrounded me,
And the floods of [3]ungodliness made me afraid.
5 The sorrows of Sheol surrounded me;
The snares of death confronted me.
6 In my distress I called upon the LORD,
And cried out to my God;
He heard my voice from His temple,
And my cry came before Him, even to His ears.

7 [g]Then the earth shook and trembled;
The foundations of the hills also quaked and were shaken,
Because He was angry.
8 Smoke went up from His nostrils,

17:8 the apple of Your eye. An expression meaning the pupil of the human eye. As a person protects that vital organ of vision, so God protects His people.

17:10 They have closed up their fat hearts. Lit. "They have closed their fat." This was a common OT idiom for insensitivity (cf. Deut. 32:15; Job 15:27; Ps. 73:7; Jer. 5:28).

17:13 Divine Warrior language.

17:14,15 The common grace of God is overlooked by those who are satisfied with temporal prosperities (v. 14), but David brings back the proper perspective on true satisfaction in v. 15. Cf. Jesus' teaching on these vital issues in Matt. 6:19-34.

18:1-50 Psalm 18 is clearly an individual psalm of thanksgiving, also bearing royal characteristics. Its poetry and themes resemble other ancient testimonies to God's great historical deliverances (e.g., Ex. 15; Judg. 5). Between David's opening (vv. 1-3) and closing (vv. 46-50) praises to God, his life with the Lord is described in 3 stages.

I. Prelude: His Opening Praises (18:1-3)
II. The Stages of His Life (18:4-45)
  A. In the Pit of Peril (18:4-19)
    1. His desperation (18:4,5)
    2. His defender (18:6-15)
    3. His deliverance (18:16-19)
  B. On a Course of Ethical Integrity (18:20-28)
    1. The principles of the Lord's direction (18:20-26)
    2. The privileges of the Lord's direction (18:27,28)
  C. In the Turbulent Atmosphere of Leadership (18:29-45)
    1. Military leadership (18:29-42)
    2. Theocratic leadership (18:43-45)
III. Postscript: His Closing Praises (18:46-50)

18:Title This large psalm bears a large title. Although the title seems to refer to only one specific occasion (e.g., "On the day"), it does state that God's deliverance was "from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul." Therefore, it is preferable that the language of this superscription be understood to summarize the testimony of David's whole life in retrospect.

18:1 love. This is not the normal word for love that often bears covenant meaning (e.g., Deut. 7:8; Ps. 119:97), but it is a rare verb form of a word group that expresses tender intimacy. David's choice of words intended to express very strong devotion, like Peter's in John 21:15-17.

18:2 Military metaphors for the Divine Warrior multiply in this verse. Both defensively and offensively, the Lord was all David needed in life's tough battles. On "the horn" (i.e., a symbol of power) of David's salvation, cf. Mary's testimony in Luke 1:47.

18:4 pangs Lit. "cords of death" (cf. Jon. 2:2-9).

18:7-15 This theophany, a vivid poetic picture of God's presence, rivals other biblical presentations (cf. Ex. 19:16ff.; Deut. 33:2ff.; Judg.

And devouring fire from His mouth;
Coals were kindled by it.
9 [h]He bowed the heavens also, and came down
With darkness under His feet.
10 [i]And He rode upon a cherub, and flew;
[j]He flew upon the wings of the wind.
11 He made darkness His secret place;
[k]His canopy around Him was dark waters
And thick clouds of the skies.
12 [l]From the brightness before Him,
His thick clouds passed with hailstones and coals of fire.

13 The LORD thundered from heaven,
And the Most High uttered [m]His voice,
[4]Hailstones and coals of fire.
14 [n]He sent out His arrows and scattered [5]the foe,
Lightnings in abundance, and He vanquished them.
15 Then the channels of the sea were seen,
The foundations of the world were uncovered
At Your rebuke, O LORD,
At the blast of the breath of Your nostrils.

16 [o]He sent from above, He took me;
He drew me out of many waters.
17 He delivered me from my strong enemy,
From those who hated me,
For they were too strong for me.
18 They confronted me in the day of my calamity,
But the LORD was my support.
19 [p]He also brought me out into a broad place;
He delivered me because He delighted in me.

According to the cleanness of my hands

And have not wickedly departed from my God.

18:16-19 His sheer power, exhibited so dramatically in vv. 7-15, is now amazingly attested as coming to rescue the psalmist personally.

18:20-24,37,38 These verses should not be taken out of context, making David look like an arrogant boaster. As in vv. 25-36 and 39-50, both David and the community, although responsible for living with integrity within the covenant relationship, are fully dependent on the resources of God to do so. Therefore, his "boasting" is biblical, since it is ultimately in the Lord (Jer. 9:23,24).

18:31 a rock. (cf. vv. 2,46). Moses, at the beginning of his great song about the Lord in Deut. 32, called God "The Rock" (v. 4). The Lord is indeed a massive, unshakable foundation and source of protection.

Neither did I turn back again till they were destroyed.
38 I have wounded them,
So that they could not rise;
They have fallen under my feet.
39 For You have armed me with strength for the battle;
You have [g]subdued under me those who rose up against me.
40 You have also given me the necks of my enemies,
So that I destroyed those who hated me.
41 They cried out, but there was none to save;
[f]Even to the LORD, but He did not answer them.
42 Then I beat them as fine as the dust before the wind;
I [g]cast them out like dirt in the streets.

43 You have delivered me from the strivings of the people;
[h]You have made me the head of the [1]nations;
[i]A people I have not known shall serve me.
44 As soon as they hear of me they obey me;
The foreigners [2]submit to me.
45 [j]The foreigners fade away,
And come frightened from their hideouts.

46 The LORD lives!
Blessed be my Rock!
Let the God of my salvation be exalted.
47 It is God who avenges me,
[k]And subdues the peoples under me;
48 He delivers me from my enemies.
[l]You also lift me up above those who rise against me;
You have delivered me from the violent man.
49 [m]Therefore I will give thanks to You, O LORD, among the [3]Gentiles,
And sing praises to Your name.

50 [n]Great deliverance He gives to His king,
And shows mercy to His anointed,
To David and his [4]descendants forevermore.

PSALM 19

The Perfect Revelation of the LORD

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

The [a]heavens declare the glory of God;
And the [b]firmament[1] shows [2]His handiwork.
2 Day unto day utters speech,
And night unto night reveals knowledge.
3 There is no speech nor language
Where their voice is not heard.
4 [c]Their [3]line has gone out through all the earth,
And their words to the end of the world.

In them He has set a [4]tabernacle for the sun,
5 Which is like a bridegroom coming out of his chamber,
[d]And rejoices like a strong man to run its race.
6 Its rising is from one end of heaven,
And its circuit to the other end;
And there is nothing hidden from its heat.

PSALM 19
1 [a] Is. 40:22; [Rom. 1:19, 20] [b] Gen. 1:6, 7 [1] expanse of heaven [2] the work of His hands
4 [c] Rom. 10:18 [3] LXX, Syr., Vg. sound; Tg. business [4] tent
5 [d] Eccl. 1:5

18:50 This concluding verse is another royal messianic affirmation of the Davidic Covenant in 2 Sam. 7.

19:1-14 Because of its two distinct parts and two different names for God, some have tried to argue that Ps. 19 was really two compositions, one ancient and one more recent. However, the shorter form of the name "God" (cf. the longer form in Gen. 1:1) speaks of His power, especially power exhibited as Creator, while "LORD" fits the relational focus. Consequently, David depicted the LORD God as author of both His world and Word in a unified hymn. God has revealed Himself to mankind through these two avenues. The human race stands accountable to Him because of His non-verbal and verbal communications. In the light of these intentions, Ps. 19 eloquently summarizes two prominent vehicles of God's self-disclosure.

I. God's General Self-Disclosure in the World (19:1-6)
  A. The Publication of the Skies (19:1-4b)
  B. The Prominence of the Sun (19:4c-6)
II. God's Special Self-Disclosure in the Word (19:7-14)
  A. The Attributes of the Word (19:7,8)
  B. An Appreciation for the Word (19:9-11)
  C. The Application of the Word (19:12-14)

19:1-6 The testimony of the universe comes forth consistently and clearly, but sinful mankind persistently resists it. For this reason, general revelation cannot convert sinners, but it does make them highly accountable (cf. Rom. 1:18ff.). Salvation comes ultimately only through special revelation, i.e., as the Word of God is effectually applied by the Spirit of God.

19:1 heavens...firmament. Both are crucial elements of the creation in Gen. 1 (cf. vv. 1,8). declare...shows. Both verbs emphasize the continuity of these respective disclosures. His handiwork. An anthropomorphism illustrating God's great power (cf. the "work of His fingers" in Ps. 8:3).

19:2,3 speech...no speech. is not a contradiction, but shows that the constant communication of the heavens is not with words of a literal nature.

19:4 The message of the created world extends to everywhere.

19:4c-6 Neither the sun nor the heavens are deified as was the case in many pagan religions. In the Bible, God is the Creator and Ruler over all creation.

7 [e]The law of the LORD is perfect,
[5]converting the soul;
The testimony of the LORD is sure,
making [f]wise the simple;
8 The statutes of the LORD are right,
rejoicing the heart;
The commandment of the LORD is pure, enlightening the eyes;
9 The fear of the LORD is clean, enduring forever;
The judgments of the LORD are true and righteous altogether.
10 More to be desired are they than [g]gold,
Yea, than much fine gold;
Sweeter also than honey and the
[6]honeycomb.
11 Moreover by them Your servant is warned,
And in keeping them there is great reward.

12 Who can understand his errors?
[h]Cleanse me from secret faults.
13 Keep back Your servant also from
[i]presumptuous sins;
Let them not have [j]dominion over me.
Then I shall be blameless,
And I shall be innocent of [7]great transgression.

14 [k]Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart
Be acceptable in Your sight,
O LORD, my [8]strength and my [l]Redeemer.

PSALM 20

The Assurance of God's Saving Work

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

May the LORD answer you in the day of trouble;
May the name of the God of Jacob
[1]defend you;
2 May He send you help from the
sanctuary,
And strengthen you out of Zion;
3 May He remember all your offerings,
And accept your burnt sacrifice. Selah

4 May He grant you according to your heart's desire,
And [a]fulfill all your [2]purpose.
5 We will rejoice in your salvation,
And in the name of our God we will set up our banners!
May the LORD fulfill all your petitions.

6 Now I know that the LORD saves His
[3]anointed;
He will answer him from His holy heaven
With the saving strength of His right
hand.

7 Some trust in chariots, and some in [b]horses;
But we will remember the name of the LORD our God.
8 They have bowed down and fallen;

PSALM 20

6 [3] Commissioned one, Heb. messiah
7 [b] Deut. 20:1; Ps. 33:16, 17; Prov. 21:31; Is. 31:1

19:7-14 The scene shifts from God's world to God's Word.

19:7,8 Each of 4 parallel lines contains a word (a synonym) for God's Word; each describes what His Word is; and each pronounces what it effectually accomplishes.

19:7 law. This might better be translated, "His teaching," "a direction," or "instruction" (cf. Ps. 1:2). testimony. This word for the Word derives from the root "to bear witness." It, so to speak, bears testimony to its Divine Author.

19:8 statutes. This synonym looks upon God's Word as orders, charges, precepts, etc. They are viewed as the Governor's governings. commandment. This word is related to the verb "to command" or "order." The Word is therefore also perceived as divine orders.

19:9 fear. This is not technically a word for the Word, but it does reflect the reality that Scripture is the manual for worship of God. judgments. This term looks upon God's Word as conveying His judicial decisions.

19:12,13 The psalmist deals respectively with unintentional sins and high-handed infractions (cf. Lev. 4:1ff.; Num. 15:22ff.). David's concerns reflect the attitude of a maturing disciple who, by God's grace and provisions, deals with his sins and does not deny them.

19:14 Be acceptable. Using a term often associated with God's acceptance of properly offered, literal sacrifices, he asks for grace and enablement as he lays his "lip-and-life" sacrifices on the "altar" (cf. Josh. 1:8).

20:1-9 Psalms 20 and 21 are twin warfare events—Ps. 20 is mostly ceremony before a battle, while Ps. 21 is mostly celebration after a battle. In the theocracy, these were to be considered holy wars with the chain of command being as follows: the Lord is Commander-in-Chief over the anointed king-general and the theocratic people—soldiers. All holy convocations, both before and after battles, involved prayer and praise assemblies dedicated to God, who grants victories through the theocratic king-general. Psalm 20, in anticipation of a military campaign, commemorates a 3-phased ceremony regularly conducted by the people in the presence of the Commander-in-Chief on behalf of the king-general.

I. An Offering of Their Prayers (20:1-5)
II. A Confirmation of Their Confidence (20:6-8)
III. A Reaffirmation of Their Dependence (20:9)

20:1 May the LORD answer you in the day of trouble. This is the prayer of God's people for their king-general (cf. "His anointed," v. 6).

20:2 from the sanctuary...out of Zion. These are designations about the place of God's symbolic presence in the ark which David had recaptured and installed in a tabernacle on Mt. Zion. The people's wish was that the Lord Himself would uphold, support, and sustain the king-general with His extending, powerful presence throughout the military campaign.

20:5 your salvation. Here, by contrast, God's "salvation" is victory in battle.

20:7 Some trust in... Trust, boast, and praise must not be directed to the wrong objects but only to God Himself (cf., e.g., Deut. 17:16; 20:1-4; Lev. 26:7,8; Ps. 33:16,17; Is. 31:1-3; Jer. 9:23,24; Zech. 4:6).

But we have risen and stand upright.

9 Save, LORD!
May the King answer us when we call.

PSALM 21

Joy in the Salvation of the LORD

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

The king shall have joy in Your strength, O LORD;
And in Your salvation how greatly shall he rejoice!
2 You have given him his heart's desire,
And have not withheld the [a]request of his lips. Selah

3 For You meet him with the blessings of goodness;
You set a crown of pure gold upon his head.
4 [b]He asked life from You, and You gave it to him—
Length of days forever and ever.
5 His glory is great in Your salvation;
Honor and majesty You have placed upon him.
6 For You have made him most blessed forever;
[c]You have made him [1]exceedingly glad with Your presence.
7 For the king trusts in the LORD,
And through the mercy of the Most High he shall not be [2]moved.
8 Your hand will find all Your enemies;
Your right hand will find those who hate You.
9 You shall make them as a fiery oven in the time of Your anger;
The LORD shall swallow them up in His wrath,
And the fire shall devour them.
10 Their offspring You shall destroy from the earth,
And their [3]descendants from among the sons of men.
11 For they intended evil against You;
They devised a plot which they are not able to [d]perform.
12 Therefore You will make them turn their back;
You will make ready Your arrows on Your string toward their faces.

13 Be exalted, O LORD, in Your own strength!
We will sing and praise Your power.

PSALM 22

The Suffering, Praise, and Posterity of the Messiah

To the Chief Musician. Set to [1]"The Deer of the Dawn." A Psalm of David.

My [a]God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?
Why are You so far from helping Me,
And from the words of My groaning?

PSALM 22
title [1] Heb. Aijeleth Hashahar
1 [a] [Matt. 27:46; Mark 15:34]

20:9 This verse could also be rendered: "LORD, grant victory to the king! Answer us when we call!"

21:1-13 The first part of Ps. 21 is a thanksgiving for victory; the last part is an anticipation of future victories in the Lord through the king-general. Two scenarios of victory provide a context for praise and prayer to the Commander-in-Chief of Israel's king-general.

I. A Present-Past Scenario of Praise: Grounded upon Victories Accomplished in the Lord (21:1-6)
II. A Present-Future Scenario of Prayer and Praise: Grounded upon Victories Anticipated in the Lord (21:7-13)

21:2 Cf. Ps. 20:4, the before; Ps. 21:2, the after.

21:3 You set a crown of pure gold upon his head. This is symbolic of superlative blessing (note the reversal in Ezek. 21:25-27).

21:4 The first part of the verse most likely pertains to preservation of life in battle, and the second part to perpetuation of the dynasty (cf. 2 Sam. 7:13,16,29; Pss. 89:4; 132:12).

21:5,6 The King had given great prominence to the king-general.

21:7 For the king. The human responsibility dimension of the previous divine blessings is identified as the king-general's dependent trust in God. But the sovereign grace of God provides the ultimate basis for one not being "moved" or shaken (cf. Pss. 15:5; 16:8; 17:5; Prov. 10:30).

21:8 Your...You. Without denying the mediatorship of the king-general, these delineations obviously put the spotlight upon the Commander-in-Chief.

22:1-31 This psalm presents the reader with a great contrast in mood. Lament characterizes the first 21 verses, while praise and thanksgiving describe the last 10 verses. Prayer accounts for this dramatic shift from lament to praise. It is the story of first being God-forsaken and then God-found and filled. It was applied immediately to David and ultimately to the Greater David, Messiah. The NT contains 15 messianic quotations of or allusions to this psalm, leading some in the early church to label it "the fifth gospel."

I. The Psalmist's Hopelessness (22:1-10)
  A. His Hopelessness and National History (22:1-5)
  B. His Hopelessness and Natal History (22:6-10)
II. The Psalmist's Prayer (22:11-21)
  A. A No-Help Outlook (22:11-18)
  B. A Divine-Help Outlook (22:19-21)
III. The Psalmist's Testimonies and Worship (22:22-31)
  A. An Individual Precipitation of Praise (22:22-25)
  B. A Corporate Perpetuation of Praise (22:26-31)

22:Title. "The Deer of the Dawn." This unique phrase in the superscription is probably best taken as a tune designation.

22:1 This heavy lament rivals Job 3; Ps. 69; Jer. 20:14-18. My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me? The repeated noun of direct address to God reflects a personal molecule of hope in a seemingly hopeless situation. "Forsaken" is a strong expression for personal abandonment, intensely felt by David and supremely experienced by Christ on the cross (Matt. 27:46).

2 O My God, I cry in the daytime, but
You do not hear;
And in the night season, and am not silent.

3 But You are holy,
Enthroned in the [b]praises of Israel.
4 Our fathers trusted in You;
They trusted, and You delivered
them.
5 They cried to You, and were delivered;
[c]They trusted in You, and were not ashamed.

6 But I am [d]a worm, and no man;
[e]A reproach of men, and despised by the people.
7 [f]All those who see Me ridicule Me;
They [2]shoot out the lip, they shake
the head, saying,
8 "He[g] [3]trusted in the LORD, let Him
rescue Him;
[h]Let Him deliver Him, since He delights in Him!"

9 [i]But You are He who took Me out of the womb;
You made Me trust while on My mother's breasts.
10 I was cast upon You from birth.
From My mother's womb
[j]You have been My God.
11 Be not far from Me,
For trouble is near;
For there is none to help.

12 [k]Many bulls have surrounded Me;
Strong bulls of [1]Bashan have encircled
Me.
13 [m]They [4]gape at Me with their mouths,
Like a raging and roaring lion.

14 I am poured out like water,
[n]And all My bones are out of joint;
My heart is like wax;
It has melted [5]within Me.
15 [o]My strength is dried up like a potsherd,
And [p]My tongue clings to My jaws;
You have brought Me to the dust of death.

16 For dogs have surrounded Me;
The congregation of the wicked has enclosed Me.
[q]They [6] pierced My hands and My feet;
17 I can count all My bones.
[r]They look and stare at Me.
18 [s]They divide My garments among
them,
And for My clothing they cast lots.

19 But You, O LORD, do not be far from
Me;
O My Strength, hasten to help Me!
20 Deliver Me from the sword, [t]My [7] precious life from the power of the dog.
21 [u]Save Me from the lion's mouth
And from the horns of the wild oxen!

[v]You have answered Me.

22 [w]I will declare Your name to [x]My brethren;
In the midst of the assembly I will praise You.
23 [y]You who fear the LORD, praise Him!
All you [8]descendants of Jacob, glorify
Him,
And fear Him, all you offspring of Israel!
24 For He has not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the afflicted;
Nor has He hidden His face from
Him;
But [z]when He cried to Him, He heard.

23 [y] Ps. 135:19, 20 [8] Lit. seed
24 [z] Ps. 31:22; Heb. 5:7

22:2-5 The thrust of these verses is "even though You have not responded to me, You remain the Holy One of Israel who has demonstrated His gracious attention time and time again to Your people."

22:6-8 Reproach and ridicule were overwhelming the psalmist. For messianic applications, cf. Matt. 27:39-44; Luke 23:35.

22:7 They shoot out the lip. Lit. "They separate the lip," an idiom for sneering (cf. Job 16:10; Ps. 35:21; Heb. 5:5).

22:8 He trusted in the LORD. Lit "he rolled to the LORD." The idea is that he turned his burden over to the Lord (cf. Ps. 37:5; Prov. 16:3).

22:9,10 The psalmist had a long history of reliance upon God.

22:12,13 This imagery of enemies as rapacious beasts returns (cf. vv. 16,20,21).

22:14,15 These are graphic images showing that his vitality and courage had left him.

22:16 They pierced My hands and My feet. The Heb. text reads "like a lion," i.e., these vicious attacking enemies, like animals, have torn me. Likely, a messianic prediction with reference to crucifixion (cf. Is. 53:5; Zech. 12:10).

22:17 This is a graphic picture of emaciation and exhaustion (cf. Job 33:21; Ps. 102:5).

22:18 They divide...they cast. All 4 gospel writers appeal to this imagery in describing Christ's crucifixion (Matt. 27:35; Mark 15:24; Luke 23:34; John 19:24).

22:21 You have answered Me. A welcomed breaking of God's silence finally arrives. This is fully in keeping with His character (cf. Pss. 20:6; 28:6; 31:22; 118:5).

22:22 The psalmist cannot contain himself; he must testify loudly in the great assembly of God's great mercies. His exuberance is meant to be contagious (cf. Heb. 2:12).

25 [a]My praise shall be of You in the great assembly;
[b]I will pay My vows before those who fear Him.
26 The poor shall eat and be satisfied;
Those who seek Him will praise the LORD.
Let your heart live forever!

27 All the ends of the world
Shall remember and turn to the LORD,
And all the families of the [9]nations
Shall worship before [1]You.
28 [c]For the kingdom is the LORD's,
And He rules over the nations.

29 [d]All the prosperous of the earth
Shall eat and worship;
[e]All those who go down to [2]the dust
Shall bow before Him,
Even he who cannot keep himself alive.

30 A posterity shall serve Him.
It will be recounted of the Lord to the next generation, 31 They will come and declare His righteousness to a people who will be born,
That He has done this.

PSALM 23

The LORD the Shepherd of His People

A Psalm of David.

The LORD is [a]my shepherd;
[b]I shall not [1]want.
2 [c]He makes me to lie down in [2]green pastures;
[d]He leads me beside the [3]still waters.
3 He restores my soul;
[e]He leads me in the paths of righteousness
For His name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of [f]the shadow of death,
[g]I will fear no evil;
[h]For You are with me;
Your rod and Your staff, they comfort me.

5 You [i]prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies;
You [j]anoint my head with oil;
My cup runs over.
6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me
All the days of my life;
And I will [4]dwell in the house of the LORD
[5]Forever.

22:27 His testimony expands by soliciting universal praises for universal divine blessings (cf. Pss. 67:7; 98:3).

23:1-6 This psalm is probably the best known passage of the OT. It is a testimony by David to the Lord's faithfulness throughout his life. As a hymn of confidence, it pictures the Lord as a disciple's Shepherd-King-Host. David, by using some common ancient Near Eastern images in Ps. 23, progressively unveils his personal relationship with the Lord in 3 stages.

I. David's Exclamation: "The Lord Is My Shepherd" (23:1a)
II. David's Expectations (23:1b-5b)
  A. "I Shall Not Want" (23:1b-3)
  B. "I Will Fear No Evil" (23:4,5b)
III. David's Exultation: "My Cup Runs Over" (23:5c-6)

23:1 The LORD is my shepherd. Cf. Gen. 48:15; 49:24; Deut 32:6-12; Pss. 28:9; 74:1; 77:20; 78:52; 79;13; 80:1; 95:7; 100:3; Is. 40:11; Jer. 23:3; Ezek. 34; Hos. 4:16; Mic. 5:4; 7:14; Zech. 9:16 on the image of the Lord as a Shepherd. This imagery was used commonly in kingly applications and is frequently applied to Jesus in the NT (e.g., John 10; Heb. 13:20; 1 Pet. 2:25; 5:4).

23:2,3 Four characterizing activities of the Lord as Shepherd (i.e., emphasizing His grace and guidance) are followed by the ultimate basis for His goodness, i.e., "His name's sake" (cf. Pss. 25:11; 31:3; 106:8; Is. 43:25; 48:9; Ezek. 36:22-32).

23:4 the valley of the shadow of death. Phraseology used to convey a perilously threatening environment (cf. Job 10:21,22; 38:17; Pss. 44:19; 107:10; Jer. 2:6; Luke. 1:79). Your rod and Your staff. The shepherd's club and crook are viewed as comforting instruments of protection and direction, respectively.

23:5,6 The able Protector (v. 4) is also the abundant Provider.

23:5 You anoint. The biblical imagery of anointing is frequently associated with blessing (Pss. 45:7; 92:10; 104:15; 133:2; Eccl. 9:8; Amos 6:6; Luke 7:46).

23:6 And I will dwell. There is some question concerning the form in the Heb. text (cf. also Ps. 27:4). Should it be rendered "I shall return" or "I shall dwell"? Whichever way it is taken, by the grace of his Lord, David is expecting ongoing opportunities of intimate fellowship.

PSALM 24

The King of Glory and His Kingdom

A Psalm of David.

The [a]earth is the LORD's, and all its fullness,
The world and those who dwell therein.
2 For He has [b]founded it upon the seas,
And established it upon the [1]waters.

3 [c]Who may ascend into the hill of the LORD?
Or who may stand in His holy place?
4 He who has [d]clean hands and [e]a pure heart,
Who has not lifted up his soul to an idol,
Nor [f]sworn deceitfully.
5 He shall receive blessing from the LORD,
And righteousness from the God of his salvation.
6 This is Jacob, the generation of those who [g]seek Him,
Who seek Your face. Selah

7 [h]Lift up your heads, O you gates!
And be lifted up, you everlasting doors!
[i]And the King of glory shall come in.
8 Who is this King of glory?
The LORD strong and mighty,
The LORD mighty in [j]battle.
9 Lift up your heads, O you gates!
Lift up, you everlasting doors!
And the King of glory shall come in.
10 Who is this King of glory?
The LORD of hosts,
He is the King of glory. Selah

PSALM 25

A Plea for Deliverance and Forgiveness

A Psalm of David.

To [a]You, O LORD, I lift up my soul.
2 O my God, I [b]trust in You;
Let me not be ashamed;
[c]Let not my enemies triumph over me.
3 Indeed, let no one who [1]waits on You be ashamed;
Let those be ashamed who deal treacherously without cause.

4 [d]Show me Your ways, O LORD;
Teach me Your paths.
5 Lead me in Your truth and teach me,
For You are the God of my salvation;
On You I wait all the day.

6 Remember, O LORD, [e]Your tender mercies and Your lovingkindnesses,
For they are from of old.

6 [e] Ps. 103:17; 106:1

24:1-10 The form of Ps. 24 has been disputed. For example, it has been labeled by some as an entrance ceremony (cf. Ps. 15), by others, a hymn of praise, and yet by others, a mixture of both elements. Its occasion has also been contended; however, the view that it might have been used at the time of the bringing of the ark to Jerusalem (2 Sam. 6:12-19; 1 Chr. 13) still has credible appeal. The early church designated it messianically as an ascension psalm (cf. v. 3). The movement of the psalm seems to follow the movement of the people. It traces the community's worship procession, both spatially and spiritually, through 3 progressive stages.

I. Stage One: Worship of the Creator through Contemplation (24:1,2)
II. Stage Two: Worship of the Savior through Consecration (24:3-6)
  A. The Probing Questions Inviting Consecration (24:3)
  B. The Proper Qualities Indicating Consecration (24:4-6)
III. Stage Three: Worship the King through Commemoration (24:7-10)

24:1 the LORD's. On His universal ownership, cf. Ex. 19:5; Deut. 10:14; Pss. 50:12; 89:11; in the NT, cf. 1 Cor. 3:21,23.

24:2 This is a poetic, not a scientific, picture of creation (cf. Gen. 1:9,10; 7:11; 49:25; Ex. 20:4; Deut. 33:13; Job 26:10; Pss. 74:13; 136:6; 2 Pet. 3:5).

24:3 In the liturgy, the questions were most likely asked by the priest. The worshipers would have then responded antiphonally with the "answers." On the form, cf. Ps. 15 and Is. 33:14-16.

24:4 These sample qualities do not signify sinless perfection, but rather basic integrity of inward motive and outward manner.

24:7-9 These are bold personifications indicating that the city gates need to stretch themselves to make way for the awesome entrance of the Great King. By so doing, they too participate in worshiping Him.

24:10 The LORD of hosts. The Divine Warrior possibly comes back into consideration; He, the Commander-in-Chief, is "the LORD of armies" (cf. 1 Sam. 17:45).

25:1-22 David grapples with the heavy issues of life, avoiding denial and affirming dependence. He must trust God in the face of his troubles and troublemakers. These 22 verses follow an acrostic development. On a larger scale, the psalm develops chiastically: Verses 1-7 and 16-22 are parallel sections of prayers for protection and/or deliverance, while the core, vv. 8-15, contains affirmations about God and about His dealings with believers.

I. Prayers in Times of Trial (25:1-7)
II. Praise in Periods of Confidence (25:8-15)
III. Petition for Help in Trouble (25:16-22)

25:1 I lift up my soul. This is a vivid picture of David's dependence (cf. Pss. 86:4; 143:8).

25:2,3 ashamed. The important phenomenon of shame for the wicked and no shame for the righteous returns (cf. a millennial expression of this great principle in Is. 49:23).

25:4,5 The noun and verb metaphors speak of direction for life's pathways (cf. the thrust of Ps. 1).

25:6,7 Remember...do not remember...remember. These are not concerns about God forgetting something, but the psalmist's prayer reminders about God's gracious covenant promises and provisions, all of which are grounded upon His "goodness sake" (cf. v. 11, "Your name's sake").

7 Do not remember [f]the sins of my youth, nor my transgressions;
[g]According to Your mercy remember
me,
For Your goodness' sake, O LORD.

8 Good and upright is the LORD;
Therefore He teaches sinners in the way.
9 The humble He guides in justice,
And the humble He teaches His way.
10 All the paths of the LORD are mercy
and truth,
To such as keep His covenant and His testimonies.
11 [h]For Your name's sake, O LORD,
Pardon my iniquity, for it is great.

12 Who is the man that fears the LORD?
[i]Him shall [2]He teach in the way [2]He chooses.
13 [j]He himself shall dwell in [3]prosperity,
And [k]his descendants shall inherit the
earth.
14 [l]The secret of the LORD is with those who fear Him,
And He will show them His covenant.
15 [m]My eyes are ever toward the LORD,
For He shall [4]pluck my feet out of the net.

16 [n]Turn Yourself to me, and have mercy on me,
For I am [5]desolate and afflicted.
17 The troubles of my heart have enlarged;
Bring me out of my distresses!
18 [o]Look on my affliction and my pain,
And forgive all my sins.
19 Consider my enemies, for they are many;
And they hate me with [6]cruel hatred.
20 Keep my soul, and deliver me;
Let me not be ashamed, for I put my trust in You.
21 Let integrity and uprightness preserve me,
For I wait for You.

22 [p]Redeem Israel, O God,
Out of all their troubles!

PSALM 26

A Prayer for Divine Scrutiny and Redemption

A Psalm of David.

[a]Vindicate me, O LORD,
For I have [b]walked in my integrity.
[c]I have also trusted in the LORD;
I shall not slip.
2 [d]Examine me, O LORD, and [1]prove me;
Try my mind and my heart.
3 For Your lovingkindness is before my eyes,
And [e]I have walked in Your truth.
4 I have not [f]sat with idolatrous
mortals,
Nor will I go in with hypocrites.

PSALM 26
1 [a] Ps. 7:8 [b] 2 Kin. 20:3; [Prov. 20:7] [c] [Ps. 13:5; 28:7]
2 [d] Ps. 17:3; 139:23 [1] test me
3 [e] 2 Kin. 20:3; Ps. 86:11
4 [f] Ps. 1:1; Jer. 15:17

25:8-10 More metaphors for life's paths are used for the purpose of begging divine direction (cf. vv. 4,5). The last line of v. 10 emphasizes covenant responsibilities on the human side (cf. the divine side in vv. 6,7).

25:11 Pardon my iniquity, for it is great. A maturing disciple develops an increasing sensitivity to sin which drives him more consistently to an appropriation of the promises of God's pardoning grace (cf. v. 18b).

25:12 Who...? This interrogative device (cf. Pss. 15; 24) serves as an introductory vehicle to the hallmarks of genuine discipleship.

25:14 The secret... This could well be rendered the "counsel" or intimate personal communion (cf. Job 29:4; Ps. 55:14; Prov. 3:32).

25:15 net. The snare of the hunter or fowler (cf. Ps. 31:4).

25:16-21 Ten rapid-fire prayer requests, asking for relief and encouragement, lie at the heart of these 6 verses.

25:16 desolate and afflicted. These terms speak of isolation and humiliation.

25:22 The shift from the individual to the community is really not surprising, since the welfare of the theocratic people is inextricably connected to the covenant individual (cf. Ps. 51:18-19).

26:1-12 Psalms 26,27, and 28 mention the "house" of the Lord because public worship is the central interest. The form of Ps. 26 is mixed, i.e., containing elements of declarations of innocence, prayer, and confidence, (cf. v. 1 as a paradigm). Structurally, 4 intermingling prayers and proofs reveal the psalmist's passion to worship the Lord in spirit and in truth.

I. His Situation (26:1)
  A. His Prayer for Justice (26:1a)
  B. His Proofs of Commitment (26:1b)
II. His Transparency (26:2-8)
  A. His Prayer for Scrutiny (26:2)
  B. His Proofs of Loyalty (26:3-8)
III. His Eschatological Outlook (26:9-11a)
  A. His Prayers for Final Favor (26:9)
  B. His Proofs of Measurable Difference (26:10-11a)
IV. His Confidence (26:11b-12)
  A. His Prayers Show Confidence in the Person of God (26:11b)
  B. His Proofs Show Confidence in the Provision of God (26:12)

26:1 Vindicate me. Lit. "Judge me!" This refers to exoneration of some false accusations and/or charges under the protection of the covenant stipulations of the theocratic law (cf. Pss. 7:8; 35:24; 43:1). my integrity. Again, this is not a claim to perfection, but of innocence, particularly as viewed within the context of ungrounded "legal" charges (cf. Ps. 7:8; Prov. 10:9; 19:1; 20:7; 28:6). I shall not slip. Cf. Pss. 18:36; 37:31; contra. Ps. 73:18-20.

26:2 Examine...prove...Try. These 3 invitations to divine scrutiny are essentially synonymous ways of testing, refining, and purifying (cf. Pss. 11:4,5; 12:6; 17:3; 66:10; Jer. 17:9,10).

26:4,5 This language suggests that David is making a personal application of the characteristics of Ps. 1:1.

5 I have *g*hated the assembly of evildoers,
And will not sit with the wicked.

6 I will wash my hands in innocence;
So I will go about Your altar, O LORD,
7 That I may proclaim with the voice of thanksgiving,
And tell of all Your wondrous works.
8 LORD, *h*I have loved the habitation of Your house,
And the place [2]where Your glory dwells.

9 *i*Do[3] not gather my soul with sinners,
Nor my life with bloodthirsty men,
10 In whose hands is a sinister scheme,
And whose right hand is full of *j*bribes.

11 But as for me, I will walk in my integrity;
Redeem me and be merciful to me.
12 *k*My foot stands in an even place;
In the congregations I will bless the LORD.

PSALM 27

An Exuberant Declaration of Faith

A Psalm of David.

The LORD is my *a*light and my salvation;
Whom shall I fear?
The *b*LORD is the strength of my life;
Of whom shall I be afraid?
2 When the wicked came against me
To *c*eat[1] up my flesh,
My enemies and foes,
They stumbled and fell.

5 g Ps. 31:6; 139:21
8 h Ps. 27:4; 84:1-4, 10 [2] Lit. of the tabernacle of Your glory
9 i Ps. 28:3 [3] Do not take away
10 j 1 Sam. 8:3
12 k Ps. 40:2

PSALM 27

1 a Ps. 18:28; 84:11; [Is. 60:19, 20; Mic. 7:8] b Ex. 15:2; Ps. 62:7; 118:14; Is. 12:2; 33:2
2 c Ps. 14:4 [1] devour

3 *d*Though an army may encamp against me,
My heart shall not fear;
Though war may rise against me,
In this I will be confident.

4 *e*One thing I have desired of the LORD,
That will I seek:
That I may *f*dwell in the house of the LORD
All the days of my life,
To behold the [2]beauty of the LORD,
And to inquire in His temple.
5 For *g*in the time of trouble
He shall hide me in His pavilion;
In the secret place of His tabernacle
He shall hide me;
He shall *h*set me high upon a rock.

6 And now *i*my head shall be [3]lifted up above my enemies all around me;
Therefore I will offer sacrifices of [4]joy in His tabernacle;
I will sing, yes, I will sing praises to the LORD.

7 Hear, O LORD, when I cry with my voice!
Have mercy also upon me, and answer me.
8 When You said, "Seek My face,"
My heart said to You, "Your face, LORD, I will seek."
9 *j*Do not hide Your face from me;
Do not turn Your servant away in anger;
You have been my help;
Do not leave me nor forsake me,
O God of my salvation.

3 d Ps. 3:6
4 e Ps. 26:8; 65:4 f Luke 2:37 [2] delightfulness
5 g Ps. 31:20; 91:1 h Ps. 40:2
6 i Ps. 3:3 [3] Lifted up in honor [4] joyous shouts
9 j Ps. 69:17; 143:7

26:6 Personal cleansing is a necessary prerequisite for acceptable worship (cf. Ps. 24:3,4).

26:7 That I may proclaim. The Heb. text reads "to hear the sound of praise and to proclaim...," a reference to the enjoyment of and participation in public worship.

26:8 Your glory. God's "glory" most frequently refers to His self-manifestation, e.g., His attributes revealed and exhibited. See note on Lev. 9:23.

26:9-11 This is another sharp contrast between the injurious and the innocent.

26:12 My foot stands. Cf. v. 1, "I shall not slip."

27:1-14 This psalm is characterized by strong contrasts such as lament and laud; persecution and praise; plus warfare and worship. In Ps. 27, the psalmist, in the presence of his Lord, engages in 3 conversations which help him balance the ups and downs of real life.

I. He Converses with Himself about Privileges (27:1-6)
II. He Converses with the Lord about Problems (27:7-12)
III. He Converses with Himself about Perseverance (27:13,14)

27:1 light. This important biblical word picture with exclusively positive connotations pictures the light of redemption in contrast to the darkness of condemnation (cf. Pss. 18:28; 36:9; 43:3; Is. 60:1,19,20; Mic. 7:8; John 8:12; 12:46; 1 John 1:5).

27:2 To eat up my flesh. An allusion to the psalmist's enemies being like vicious beasts (cf. Pss. 7:2; 14:4; 17:12; Job 19:22; Jer. 30:16; 50:7). This wording was also employed to describe slander and defamation (cf. a close Aram. parallel in Dan. 3:8; 6:24). They stumbled and fell. This doublet conveys thorough defeat (cf. Is. 3:8; 8:15; 31:3; Jer. 46:6).

27:4 One thing. The primary issue in David's life was to live in God's presence and by His purpose (cf. Pss. 15:1; 23:6; cf. Paul's "one thing" in Phil. 3:13).

27:5 His pavilion. David portrays the privileges of divine protection as being hidden in God's "booth" or "shelter," a term in parallelism with "tabernacle" or "tent."

27:8,9 "Seek My face," ...Your face...Your face. God's "face" indicates His personal presence or simply His being (Pss. 24:6; 105:4); and seeking His face is a primary characteristic of true believers who desire fellowship with God (cf. Deut. 4:29; 2 Chr. 11:16; 20:4; Ps. 40:16; Jer. 50:4; Hos. 3:5; Zech. 8:22).

10 [k]When my father and my mother
forsake me,
Then the LORD will take care of me.

11 [l]Teach me Your way, O LORD,
And lead me in a smooth path,
because of my enemies.
12 Do not deliver me to the will of my adversaries;
For [m]false witnesses have risen
against me,
And such as breathe out violence.
13 I would have lost heart, unless I had believed
That I would see the goodness of the
LORD
[n]In the land of the living.

14 [o]Wait[5] on the LORD;
Be of good courage,
And He shall strengthen your heart;
Wait, I say, on the LORD!

PSALM 28

Rejoicing in Answered Prayer

A Psalm of David.

To You I will cry, O LORD my Rock:
[a]Do not be silent to me,
[b]Lest, if You are silent to me,
I become like those who go down to
the pit.
2 Hear the voice of my supplications
When I cry to You,
[c]When I lift up my hands [d]toward
Your holy sanctuary.

3 Do not [1]take me away with the wicked
And with the workers of iniquity,
[e]Who speak peace to their neighbors,
But evil is in their hearts.
4 [f]Give them according to their deeds,
And according to the wickedness of their endeavors;
Give them according to the work of their hands;
Render to them what they deserve.
5 Because [g]they do not regard the works of the LORD,
Nor the operation of His hands,
He shall destroy them
And not build them up.

6 Blessed be the LORD,
Because He has heard the voice of my supplications!
7 The LORD is [h]my strength and my shield;
My heart [i]trusted in Him, and I am helped;
Therefore my heart greatly rejoices,
And with my song I will praise Him.

8 The LORD is [2]their strength,
And He is the [j]saving refuge of His
[3]anointed.
9 Save Your people,
And bless [k]Your inheritance;
Shepherd them also,
[l]And bear them up forever.

PSALM 29
1 [a] 1 Chr. 16:28, 29 [1] Ascribe
2 [2] Ascribe [3] Lit. of His name

27:10 Even though those nearest and dearest to David might abandon him, his Lord would always be concerned about and care for him (cf. Deut. 31:6,8; Is. 49:14,15; Heb. 13:5).

27:14 Wait...Wait. This particular word for waiting connotes either a tense or eager and patient anticipation of the Lord (cf. Pss. 37:34; 40:1).

28:1-9 We encounter a radical shift from lamentation and prayer to thanksgiving. The psalmist, without regard for his unchanged circumstances, shows confidence in crisis. David, moving through two cycles of crisis and confidence, magnifies the justice of God.

I. First Cycle: Individual in Outlook, and Terminates in Praise (28:1-7)
   A. His Personal Crisis (28:1-5b)
   B. His Personal Confidence (28:5c-7)
II. Second Cycle: Corporate in Outlook, and Terminates in Prayer (28:8,9)
   A. His Reassurance in the Light of Corporate Confidence (28:8)
   B. His Request in the Face of Corporate Crisis (28:9)

28:1 silent...silent. On the striking picture of God being deaf and dumb regarding his situation, cf. Pss. 35:22; 83:1; 109:1; Is. 57:11; 64:12; 65:6; Hab. 1:13.

28:2 When I lift up my hands. On this symbolic "posture" representing the heart's attitude in dependent prayer, see Ex. 9:29; 17:11,12; Ps. 63:4; 1 Tim. 2:8.

28:3-5 The iniquities of the psalmist's (really God's) enemies bring forth sharp imprecations.

28:6 Because He has heard the voice of my supplications! Contrast vv. 1,2. Through faith, the psalmist will live his life as though God has already intervened.

28:8 His anointed. This is most likely a corporate reference to the people of God being anointed, not to an individual (cf. Hab. 3:13).

28:9 Your inheritance. God amazingly considers His people a most precious possession (cf. Deut. 7:6-16; 9:29; 1 Sam 10:1; Pss. 33:12; 94:5; Eph. 1:18).

29:1-11 This psalm has all the earmarks of the earliest Heb. poetry (cf. Ex. 15; Judg. 5). As to its general form, it is a hymn. Many of its images appear in parallel literature, especially in referencing pagan gods by various "forces of nature." However, the Lord is the unique Creator and supreme Sovereign over all these phenomena. He alone

Worship the LORD in [b]the [4]beauty of holiness.

3 The voice of the LORD is over the waters;
[c]The God of glory thunders;
The LORD is over many waters.
4 The voice of the LORD is powerful;
The voice of the LORD is full of majesty.

5 The voice of the LORD breaks [d]the cedars,
Yes, the LORD splinters the cedars of Lebanon.
6 [e]He makes them also skip like a calf,
Lebanon and [f]Sirion like a young wild ox.
7 The voice of the LORD [5]divides the flames of fire.

8 The voice of the LORD shakes the wilderness;
The LORD shakes the Wilderness of [g]Kadesh.
9 The voice of the LORD makes the [h]deer give birth,
And strips the forests bare;
And in His temple everyone says, "Glory!"

10 The [i]LORD sat enthroned at the Flood,
And [j]the LORD sits as King forever.

PSALM 30

The Blessedness of Answered Prayer

A Psalm. A Song [a]at the dedication of the house of David.

I will extol You, O LORD, for You have [b]lifted me up,
And have not let my foes [c]rejoice over me.
2 O LORD my God, I cried out to You,
And You [d]healed me.
3 O LORD, [e]You brought my soul up from the grave;
You have kept me alive, [1]that I should not go down to the pit.

4 [f]Sing praise to the LORD, you saints of His,
And give thanks at the remembrance of [2]His holy name.
5 For [g]His anger is but for a moment,
[h]His favor is for life;
Weeping may endure for a night,
But [3]joy comes in the morning.

6 Now in my prosperity I said,
"I shall never be [4]moved."

PSALM 30
title [a] Deut. 20:5
1 [b] Ps. 28:9 [c] Ps. 25:2
2 [d] Ps. 6:2; 103:3; [Is. 53:5]

is "the God of gods" (Dan. 11:36). In view of these realities, 3 representative realms of the supremacy of God bring forth praise to Yahweh (Jehovah) alone.

I. The Lord's Supremacy over Heavenly Beings (29:1,2)
II. The Lord's Supremacy over the "Forces of Nature" (29:3-9)
III. The Lord's Supremacy over Humanity (29:10,11)

29:1 mighty ones. Lit "sons of God" (cf. Ps. 89:6 in its context of vv. 5-10; cf. the plural form of "gods" in Ex. 15:11). The reference here in Ps. 29 is most likely to Yahweh's mighty angels.

29:3-9 This is an awesome theophany, depicting dramatic movements in the powerful manifestations of the Lord God, which function to establish His supremacy as the only true God in comparison with any of the so-called gods of Israel's pagan neighbors.

29:3 The voice of the LORD. His voice is frequently associated with the thunder (cf., e.g., 1 Sam. 7:10; Job 37:4,5; Ps. 18:13; Is. 30:30, 31).

29:5 the cedars...the cedars of Lebanon. These are the grandest of forest trees, and those of Lebanon were especially impressive.

29:6 Sirion. This is the Phoenician name for Mt. Hermon to the N of Dan (cf. Deut. 3:9).

29:8 the Wilderness of Kadesh. Kadesh Barnea is in the southern desert country. For its importance in the history of Israel, see note on Num. 20:1.

29:10 the Flood. This refers to the universal flood of Gen. 6–8 (esp., Gen. 7:17)

30:1-12 A mixture of forms characterize Ps. 30. David speaks out of a cycle of life (i.e., lamentation and laud), especially moving through prayer to praise. In spite of great variety, the psalm is bonded together by praise emphases (cf. vv. 4,9,12). The psalmist's beginning and ending pledges to praise provide structure for his prayers and testimonies.

I. His Beginning Pledge of Praise (30:1a)
II. His Look Back upon Historic Prayers and Testimonies (30:1b-9)
  A. His Individual Remembrance (30:1b-3)
  B. His Public Reminders (30:4,5)
  C. His Individual Reflections (30:6-9)
III. His Look Ahead to Continuing Prayers and Testimonies (30:10-12a)
IV. His Concluding Pledge of Praise (30:12b)

30:Title The first and last parts of this title, i.e., "A Psalm...of David," are common notations in the superscriptions of many psalms. However, the middle words, "a song of dedication," or "consecration of the house," were probably added later, although they could have referenced David's temporary tent for the ark erected on Mt. Zion (2 Sam. 6:17) or his own house (2 Sam. 5:11,12).

30:2,3 You healed me. God alone is the unique healer (cf. Ex. 15:26; Deut. 32:39; Ps. 107:20). David is extolling God for bringing him back from a near-death experience.

30:5 This stark contrast constitutes one of the most worshipful testimonies from the Scriptures (cf. the principle in Is. 54:7,8; John 16:20-22; 2 Cor. 4:17).

30:6 David recalls his previous independent attitude and arrogant talk. God had warned the nation and its leaders about such sinfully

7 LORD, by Your favor You have made my mountain stand strong;
[i]You hid Your face, and I was troubled.

8 I cried out to You, O LORD;
And to the LORD I made supplication:
9 "What profit is there in my blood,
When I go down to the pit?
[j]Will the dust praise You?
Will it declare Your truth?
10 Hear, O LORD, and have mercy on me;
LORD, be my helper!"

11 [k]You have turned for me my mourning into dancing;
You have put off [5]my sackcloth and clothed me with gladness,
12 To the end that my [6]glory may sing praise to You and not be silent.
O LORD my God, I will give thanks to
You forever.

PSALM 31

The LORD a Fortress in Adversity

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1 In [a]You, O LORD, I [1]put my trust;
Let me never be ashamed;
Deliver me in Your righteousness.
2 [b]Bow down Your ear to me,
Deliver me speedily;
Be my rock of [2]refuge,
A [3]fortress of defense to save me.

3 [c]For You are my rock and my fortress;
Therefore, [d]for Your name's sake,
Lead me and guide me.
4 Pull me out of the net which they have secretly laid for me,
For You are my strength.

5 [e]Into Your hand I commit my spirit;
You have redeemed me, O LORD God of [f]truth.

6 I have hated those [g]who regard useless idols;
But I trust in the LORD.
7 I will be glad and rejoice in Your mercy,
For You have considered my trouble;
You have [h]known my soul in [4]adversities,
8 And have not [i]shut[5] me up into the hand of the enemy;
[j]You have set my feet in a wide place.

9 Have mercy on me, O LORD, for I am in trouble;
[k]My eye wastes away with grief,
Yes, my soul and my [6]body!
10 For my life is spent with grief,
And my years with sighing;
My strength fails because of my
iniquity,
And my bones waste away.
11 [l]I am a [7]reproach among all my enemies,
But [m]especially among my neighbors,
And am repulsive to my acquaintances;
[n]Those who see me outside flee from
me.
12 [o]I am forgotten like a dead man, out of mind;
I am like a [8]broken vessel.
13 [p]For I hear the slander of many;
[q]Fear is on every side;
While they [r]take counsel together
against me,
They scheme to take away my life.

myopic outlooks (cf. Deut. 8:11-20; note sample failures in Deut. 32:15; 2 Chr. 32:25; Jer. 22:21; Hos. 13:6; Dan. 4:28-37). By the grace of God, David woke up to the fact that he was acting like his arrogant adversaries (cf. Ps. 10:6).

30:8-10 A familiar argument for preservation of life (cf. Pss. 6:5; 28:1; 88:10-12; 115:17; Is. 38:18,19).

30:12 my glory. Now with renewed perspective (contra. v. 6), he recognizes that all he is and has is due to God's unmerited grace (cf. v. 7a).

31:1-24 This psalm contains more of David's problems, prayers, and praises. David will again walk a road that takes him from anguish to assurance. Within the two settings of Ps. 31, the psalmist's testimonies passionately celebrate the sufficiencies of God.

I. The Originally Private Setting (31:1-18)
  A. His Testimony about Security and Salvation (31:1-5)
  B. His Testimony about Discernment and Deliverance (31:6-8)
  C. His Testimony about Reproach and Relief (31:9-18)
II. The Ultimately Public Setting (31:19-24)
  A. His Testimonies and Divine Exaltation (31:19-22)
  B. His Testimonies and Human Exhortation (31:23,24)

31:2 Bow down Your ear to me. This is a bold pay-attention-to-my-prayer demand (cf. Ps. 102:2).

31:3 The language resembles that of Ps. 23:1-3, except it now comes packaged in prayer requests.

31:5 Into Your hand. This is applied to both the lesser David and the Greater David (Luke 23:46); here it involves the common denominator of trust. This is a metaphor depicting God's power and control (cf. v. 15a; contra. vv. 8,15b).

31:6 I have hated. Cf. Ps. 26:5 on the proper basis for such hatred (cf. Ps. 139:21). useless idols. This is a common designation for false gods (cf. Deut. 32:21; 1 Kin. 16:13; Jer. 10:15; 14:22; 16:19; 18:15; Jon. 2:8). On the "idiocy" of idolatry, see Hab. 2:18-20.

31:9,10 These terms quite frequently are employed metaphysically to convey the non-physical impact of trials and tribulations.

31:11 He was a reproach to adversaries and personal acquaintances alike, a very painful alienation (cf. Ps. 88:8,18).

31:13 Fear is on every side. (cf. Jer. 6:25; 20:3,10; 46:5; 49:29; Lam. 2:22). They scheme. On such wicked plotting, cf. Jer. 11:19; 18:23.

14 But as for me, I trust in You, O LORD;
I say, "You are my God."
15 My times are in Your [s]hand;
Deliver me from the hand of my enemies,
And from those who persecute me.
16 [t]Make Your face shine upon Your servant;
Save me for Your mercies' sake.
17 [u]Do not let me be ashamed, O LORD,
for I have called upon You;
Let the wicked be ashamed;
[v]Let them be silent in the grave.
18 [w]Let the lying lips be put to silence,
Which [x]speak insolent things proudly and contemptuously against the righteous.

19 [y]Oh, how great is Your goodness,
Which You have laid up for those who fear You,
Which You have prepared for those who trust in You
In the presence of the sons of men!
20 [z]You shall hide them in the secret place of Your presence
From the plots of man;
[a]You shall keep them secretly in a [9]pavilion
From the strife of tongues.

21 Blessed be the LORD,
For [b]He has shown me His marvelous kindness in a [1]strong city!
22 For I said in my haste,
"I am cut off from before Your eyes";
Nevertheless You heard the voice of my supplications
When I cried out to You.

23 Oh, love the LORD, all you His saints!
For the LORD preserves the faithful,
And fully repays the proud person.
24 [c]Be of good courage,
And He shall strengthen your heart,
All you who hope in the LORD.

PSALM 32

The Joy of Forgiveness

A Psalm of David. A [1]Contemplation.

Blessed is he whose [a]transgression is forgiven,
Whose sin is covered.
2 Blessed is the man to whom the LORD [b]does not [2]impute iniquity,
And [c]in whose spirit there is no deceit.

3 When I kept silent, my bones grew old
Through my groaning all the day long.
4 For day and night Your [d]hand was heavy upon me;
My vitality was turned into the drought of summer. Selah
5 I acknowledged my sin to You,
And my iniquity I have not hidden.
[e]I said, "I will confess my transgressions to the LORD,"
And You forgave the iniquity of my sin. Selah

6 [f]For this cause everyone who is godly shall [g]pray to You
In a time when You may be found;

PSALM 32

5 [e] 2 Sam. 12:13; Ps. 38:18; [Prov. 28:13; 1 John 1:9]
6 [f] [1 Tim. 1:16] [g] Ps. 69:13; Is. 55:6

31:16 This is a request for a personal application of the blessing of Num. 6:25 (cf. Pss. 4:6; 67:1; 80:3,7,19; 119:135).

31:17 On their shame but not his, cf. Ps. 25:2,3,20; Jer. 17:18.

31:18,20 His enemies exhibit signs of "mouth" disease.

31:19 Your goodness. As in the case of His other attributes, God being perfectly good is the grounds for His doing good things (cf. Ps. 119:68).

31:23 love the LORD. Biblical love includes an attitudinal response and demonstrated obedience (cf. Deut. 6:4,5; 10:12; John 14:15,21; 15:10; 2 John 6). The assurance of both reward and retribution is a biblical maxim (e.g., Deut. 7:9,10).

31:24 Be of good courage. A sing. form of this pl. imperative was addressed to Joshua in 1:7. It is used nearly 20 times in the OT, particularly in anticipation of battle.

32:1-11 This psalm has been classified by the early church as one of 7 penitential psalms (cf. 6; 38; 51; 102; 130; 143). Among these, Pss. 32 and 51 stand out as confessional giants. As historically related to the life of David and especially in connection with the Bathsheba episode (cf. 2 Sam. 11–12), Ps. 51 would have preceded Ps. 32. The overall thrust, intent, and development of Ps. 32 may be summarized as follows: Life's most important lessons about sin, confession, and forgiveness are skillfully shared by David through two avenues of approach.

I. First Avenue: Remembering These Lessons (32:1-5)
  A. Lessons about Results (32:1,2)
  B. Lessons about Resistance (32:3,4)
  C. Lessons about Responses (32:5)
II. Second Avenue: Relaying These Lessons (32:6-11)
  A. Lessons about Responses (32:6,7)
  B. Lessons about Resistance (32:8,9)
  C. Lessons about Results (32:10-11)

32:Title "A contemplation" in the heading introduces a new technical term. It could indicate that Ps. 32 was a "contemplative poem," or a "psalm of understanding," or a "skillful psalm."

32:1,2 transgression...sin...iniquity. Three key OT words for sin occur, viewing it respectively as rebellion, failure, and perversion.

32:3,4 These are vivid descriptions of the physical effects of his impenitent state.

32:5 David picks up the key terms that he had used to describe sin in vv. 1,2, but now, in a context of personal confession, he identifies those heinous affronts to the person of God as his own. On the priority of confession, cf. Prov. 28:13; 1 John 1:8-10.

32:6 David slips right back into teaching mode in this verse, emphasizing that every person who knows the grace of God should not presume upon that grace by putting off confession.

Surely in a flood of great waters
They shall not come near him.
7 [h]You are my hiding place;
You shall preserve me from trouble;
You shall surround me with [i]songs of deliverance. Selah

8 I will instruct you and teach you in the way you should go;
I will guide you with My eye.
9 Do not be like the [j]horse or like the mule,
Which have no understanding,
Which must be harnessed with bit and bridle,
Else they will not come near you.

10 [k]Many sorrows shall be to the wicked;
But [l]he who trusts in the LORD, mercy shall surround him.
11 [m]Be glad in the LORD and rejoice, you righteous;
And shout for joy, all you upright in heart!

PSALM 33

The Sovereignty of the LORD in Creation and History

Rejoice [a]in the LORD, O you righteous!
For praise from the upright is beautiful.
2 Praise the LORD with the harp;
[1]Make melody to Him with an instrument of ten strings.
3 Sing to Him a new song;
Play skillfully with a shout of joy.

4 For the word of the LORD is right,
And all His work is done in truth.
5 He loves righteousness and justice;
The earth is full of the goodness of the LORD.

6 [b]By the word of the LORD the heavens were made,
And all the [c]host of them [d]by the breath of His mouth.
7 [e]He gathers the waters of the sea together [2]as a heap;
He lays up the deep in storehouses.

8 Let all the earth fear the LORD;
Let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of Him.
9 For [f]He spoke, and it was done;
He commanded, and it stood fast.

10 [g]The LORD brings the counsel of the nations to nothing;
He makes the plans of the peoples of no effect.
11 [h]The counsel of the LORD stands forever,
The plans of His heart to all generations.
12 Blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD,
The people He has [i]chosen as His own inheritance.

13 [j]The LORD looks from heaven;
He sees all the sons of men.
14 From the place of His dwelling He looks
On all the inhabitants of the earth;
15 He fashions their hearts individually;
[k]He [3]considers all their works.

15 [k] [2 Chr. 16:9]; Job 34:21; [Jer. 32:19] [3] understands
16 [l] Ps. 44:6; 60:11; [Jer. 9:23, 24]

32:8 instruct...teach...guide. This terminology applies to biblical wisdom.

32:9 horse...mule. I.e., Don't be stubborn. Such animals are used as pointed illustrations of this sin (cf. Prov. 26:3; Is. 1:3; James 3:3).

33:1-22 This psalm is a general hymn of praise. Its two primary themes are: 1) Yahweh is the Lord of nature, and 2) He is Lord of history. In biblical thought, these realms are always related; the Creator sovereignly rules over His total creation, over all creatures throughout time.

I. A Praise Prelude (33:1-3)
II. The Rationale for Praise (33:4,5)
  A. The Lord's Sovereign Power in Natural History (33:4)
  B. The Lord's Sovereign Providence over Human History (33:5)
III. The Response of Praise (33:6-19)
  A. The Creator's Sovereign Power (33:6-9)
  B. The Creator's Sovereign Providence (33:10-19)
IV. A Prayer Finale (33:20-22)

33:1 beautiful. This means that praise to Him is proper, suitable, and fitting. On the propriety of praise, cf. Ps. 147:1.

33:3 a new song. I.e., a new occasion and impulse for expressing fresh praise to God (cf. Pss. 96:1; 98:1; 149:1).

33:6,9 God's utterances created a universe out of nothing (cf. "God said" in Gen. 1:3,6,9,11,14,20,24,26).

33:6 host. This designation refers to stellar and planetary bodies (cf. Is. 40:26; 45:12) and/or heaven's complement of angels (cf. Ps. 103:20-22). The former emphasis is more prominent in the immediate context.

33:7 He lays up. On this picturesque language of God's "heaping up" waters as a "pile" of dirt or sand, cf. Ex. 15:8; Josh. 3:13-16; Ps. 78:13.

33:10,11 A sharp contrast is drawn between mankind's shaky plans and the Lord's sovereign plans.

33:15 He fashions their hearts. This is the potter's word (cf. Gen. 2:7); for the significance of this statement, see Is. 29:15,16.

33:16-19 On the teaching of these verses, cf. the maxim of Zech. 4:6.

A mighty man is not delivered by great strength.
17 [m]A horse is a [4]vain hope for safety;
Neither shall it deliver any by its great strength.

18 [n]Behold, the eye of the LORD is on those who fear Him,
On those who hope in His mercy,
19 To deliver their soul from death,
And [o]to keep them alive in famine.

20 Our soul waits for the LORD;
He is our help and our shield.
21 For our heart shall rejoice in Him,
Because we have trusted in His holy name.
22 Let Your mercy, O LORD, be upon us,
Just as we hope in You.

PSALM 34

The Happiness of Those Who Trust in God

A Psalm of David [a]when he pretended madness before Abimelech, who drove him away, and he departed.

I will [b]bless the LORD at all times;
His praise shall continually be in my mouth.
2 My soul shall make its boast in the LORD;
The humble shall hear of it and be glad.
3 Oh, magnify the LORD with me,
And let us exalt His name together.

4 I [c]sought the LORD, and He heard me,
And delivered me from all my fears.
5 They looked to Him and were radiant,
And their faces were not ashamed.
6 This poor man cried out, and the LORD heard him,
And saved him out of all his troubles.
7 [d]The [1]angel of the LORD [e]encamps all around those who fear Him,
And delivers them.

8 Oh, [f]taste and see that the LORD is good;
[g]Blessed is the man who trusts in Him!
9 Oh, fear the LORD, you His saints!
There is no [2]want to those who fear Him.
10 The young lions lack and suffer hunger;
[h]But those who seek the LORD shall not lack any good thing.

11 Come, you children, listen to me;
[i]I will teach you the fear of the LORD.
12 [j]Who is the man who desires life,
And loves many days, that he may see good?
13 Keep your tongue from evil,
And your lips from speaking [k]deceit.
14 [l]Depart from evil and do good;
[m]Seek peace and pursue it.

15 [n]The eyes of the LORD are on the righteous,
And His ears are open to their cry.
16 [o]The face of the LORD is against those who do evil,
[p]To [3]cut off the remembrance of them from the earth.

17 The righteous cry out, and [q]the LORD hears,
And delivers them out of all their troubles.
18 [r]The LORD is near [s]to those who have a broken heart,
And saves such as [4]have a contrite spirit.

19 [t]Many are the afflictions of the righteous,

17 [m] [Ps. 20:7; 147:10; Prov. 21:31] [4] false

34:1-22 This acrostic psalm is quite similar to Ps. 25, not just in form, but also in major themes (e.g., the emphasis on redemption that brings each psalm to a close in 25:22 and 34:22). Individual and corporate applications of the Lord's deliverance are found throughout. This psalm unfolds with a praise mode followed by teaching.

I. Personal Testimony (34:1-10)
II. Personal Teaching (34:11-22)

34:Title The historical occasion to which this heading alludes is found in 1 Sam. 21:10-15; however, there is nothing obvious in the context of Ps. 34 to make such a specific connection. Abimelech, like Pharaoh, was a dynastic designation not a proper name.

34:1-3 This is one of the greatest invitations in the Psalms to all the people to join together in praise.

34:2 This is proper boasting because of the only proper object, God Himself (cf. Jer. 9:23,24).

34:7 The angel of the LORD. A special manifestation of Yahweh Himself at strategic historical junctures (cf. Gen. 16:7ff.; 18,19; 31:11ff.; Josh. 5; Judg. 6; 13). A strong case can be made that these were pre-incarnate appearances of the Lord Jesus Christ. See note on Ex. 3:2.

34:11 This solicitation to wisdom compares with Prov. 1–9.

34:12-14 This introduces some crucial character qualities of God's true people; cf. Ps. 15:1-5.

34:14 The pathway theme of Ps. 1; here the emphasis is on leaving the evil and doing good (cf. Job 28:28; Prov. 3:7; 16:6,17; Is. 1:16,17; etc.).

34:18 broken heart...contrite spirit. These are graphic idioms that describe dependent disciples (cf. Pss. 51:17; 147:3; Is. 57:15; 61:1; 66:2; Matt. 5:3).

34:19-22 The side-by-side realities of human persecution and divine preservation once again vividly depict real life in the real world.

[u] But the LORD delivers him out of them all.
20 He guards all his bones;
[v] Not one of them is broken.
21 [w] Evil shall slay the wicked,
And those who hate the righteous shall be [5] condemned.
22 The LORD [x] redeems the soul of His servants,
And none of those who trust in Him shall be condemned.

PSALM 35

The LORD the Avenger of His People

A Psalm of David.

Plead [1] my cause, O LORD, with those who strive with me;
Fight against those who fight against me.
2 Take hold of shield and [2] buckler,
And stand up for my help.
3 Also draw out the spear,
And stop those who pursue me.
Say to my soul,
"I am your salvation."

4 [a] Let those be put to shame and brought to dishonor
Who seek after my life;
Let those be [b] turned back and brought to confusion
Who plot my hurt.
5 [c] Let them be like chaff before the wind,
And let the [3] angel of the LORD chase them.
6 Let their way be [d] dark and slippery,
And let the angel of the LORD pursue them.
7 For without cause they have [e] hidden their net for me in a pit,
Which they have dug without cause for my life.
8 [4] Let [f] destruction come upon him unexpectedly,
And let his net that he has hidden catch himself;
Into that very destruction let him fall.

9 And my soul shall be joyful in the LORD;
It shall rejoice in His salvation.
10 [g] All my bones shall say,
"LORD, [h] who is like You,
Delivering the poor from him who is too strong for him,
Yes, the poor and the needy from him who plunders him?"

11 Fierce witnesses rise up;
They ask me things that I do not know.
12 [i] They reward me evil for good,
To the sorrow of my soul.
13 But as for me, [j] when they were sick,
My clothing was sackcloth;
I humbled myself with fasting;
And my prayer would return to my own [5] heart.
14 I paced about as though he were my friend or brother;
I bowed down [6] heavily, as one who mourns for his mother.

15 But in my [7] adversity they rejoiced
And gathered together;
Attackers gathered against me,
And I did not know it;
They tore at me and did not cease;
16 With ungodly mockers at feasts
They gnashed at me with their teeth.

17 Lord, how long will You [k] look on?

35:1-28 Psalm 35, as to its form, is an individual lament. Its context of literal and legal warfare suggests a scenario of the theocratic king being accused, and about to be attacked, by a foreign power with whom he had previously entered into a covenant. David presents his "case" before the Divine Judge, moving from a complaint about the situation, to prayer about the situation, and finally, when the Lord would justly respond to the situation, praise for His righteous intervention. So, 3 cycles of exasperation and expectation in Ps. 35 convey the psalmist's prayers about his opponents to God.

I. First Cycle: The Attacks He Was Experiencing (35:1-10)
II. Second Cycle: The Perjury He Was Experiencing (35:11-18)
  A. He Prays that God Would Examine the Evidence (35:11-16)
  B. He Prays that God Would Act without Delay (35:17)
  C. He Pledges Praise (35:18)
III. Third Cycle: The Mockery He Was Anticipating (35:19-28)
  A. He Prays for Judgment concerning Them (35:19-21)
  B. He Prays for Justice concerning Himself (35:22-26)
  C. He Pledges Praise (35:27,28)

35:1 Plead my cause...Fight. The first bold prayer solicits the legal advocacy of God (cf. Prov. 25:8,9; Is. 3:13), while the second asks the Divine Warrior to fight his battles for him (e.g., Ex. 15:3; Deut. 32:41ff.).

35:3 Say to my soul, "I am your salvation." David is longing for reassurance (cf. Ps. 3:8a).

35:4-8 Cf. the imprecations of Pss. 7,69,109.

35:7 without cause...without cause. This adds to his defense; all their attacks, from a covenant or legal standpoint, have been unjustified.

35:10 LORD, who is like You. This had become a canonized expression of awe at the uniqueness of Israel's great God (cf. Ex. 15:11; Mic. 7:18).

35:11-14 A strong contrast is drawn between the psalmist's attitude about the covenant agreement and that of his treaty partner.

35:16 On the painful maimings of mockery, cf. Job 16:9; Pss. 37:12; 112:10; Lam. 2:16.

35:17 how long...? On laments, cf. Ps. 13:1; Hab. 1:2.

Rescue me from their destructions,
My precious life from the lions.
18 I will give You thanks in the great assembly;
I will praise You among [8]many people.

19 [1]Let them not rejoice over me who are wrongfully my enemies;
Nor let them wink with the eye who hate me without a cause.
20 For they do not speak peace,
But they devise deceitful matters
Against the quiet ones in the land.
21 They also opened their mouth wide against me,
And said, "Aha, aha!
Our eyes have seen it."

22 This You have seen, O LORD;
Do not keep silence.
O Lord, do not be far from me.
23 Stir up Yourself, and awake to my vindication,
To my cause, my God and my Lord.
24 Vindicate me, O LORD my God, according to Your righteousness;
And let them not rejoice over me.
25 Let them not say in their hearts, "Ah, so we would have it!"
Let them not say, "We have swallowed him up."

26 Let them be ashamed and brought to mutual confusion
Who rejoice at my hurt;
Let them be [m]clothed with shame and dishonor
Who exalt themselves against me.

27 [n]Let them shout for joy and be glad,
Who favor my righteous cause;
And let them say continually,
"Let the LORD be magnified,
Who has pleasure in the prosperity of His servant."
28 And my tongue shall speak of Your righteousness
And of Your praise all the day long.

PSALM 36

Man's Wickedness and God's Perfections

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David the servant of the LORD.

An oracle within my heart concerning the transgression of the wicked:
[a]There is no fear of God before his eyes.
2 For he flatters himself in his own eyes,
When he finds out his iniquity and when he hates.
3 The words of his mouth are wickedness and deceit;
[b]He has ceased to be wise and to do good.
4 [c]He devises wickedness on his bed;
He sets himself [d]in a way that is not good;
He does not [1]abhor [e]evil.

5 Your mercy, O LORD, is in the heavens;
Your faithfulness reaches to the clouds.
6 Your righteousness is like the [2]great mountains;
[f]Your judgments are a great deep;
O LORD, You preserve man and beast.

7 How precious is Your lovingkindness, O God!

PSALM 36
1 [a] Rom. 3:18
3 [b] Ps. 94:8; Jer. 4:22
4 [c] Prov. 4:16; [Mic. 2:1] [d] Is. 65:2 [e] [Ps. 52:3; Rom. 12:9]
[1] reject, loathe
6 [f] Job 11:8; Ps. 77:19; [Rom. 11:33] [2] Lit. mountains of God

35:19 wrongfully. Cf. "without cause" twice in v. 7.

35:21 "Aha, aha." This taunting chorus will return in v. 25.

35:21,22 Our eyes have seen it. This you have seen, O LORD. What David's enemy allegedly saw, the Lord has seen perfectly. David knew that his God would vindicate him based upon the true evidence, all in his favor.

35:23 To my cause. He brings back the advocacy theme of v. 1.

35:27 Cf. Ps. 40:16. His servant. Besides being a polite third person reference to the psalmist, the terminology was also used of an OT disciple regarding himself as bound to the Lord.

36:1-12 At least 3 themes may be detected in this psalm: 1) wisdom, vv. 1-4; 2) praise, vv. 5-9; and 3) prayer, vv. 10-12. Psalm 36 resembles Ps. 14 in its description of human depravity; it also brings to mind David's personal confession found in Ps. 32. Paul used Ps. 36:1 to summarize his list of 14 indictments against the whole race in Rom. 3:10-18. As to its overall structure, David's two different moods in Ps. 36 exemplify his continuing quest for balance concerning the realities of human wickedness and divine benevolence.

I. Mood of Deliberation (36:1-9)
  A. His Deliberations on Human Infidelity (36:1-4)
  B. His Deliberations on Divine Fidelity (36:5-9)
II. Mood of Dependence (36:10-12)
  A. Implemented through Prayer (36:10,11)
  B. Intimated through Perspective (36:12)

36:Title The term "servant," found in Ps. 35:27, appears in this title. It carries an association with covenant relationship emphasizing submission to and service for God. For its application to David within the texts of Psalms, cf. 78:70; 89:3.

36:1 no fear. This is the opposite of the attitude which characterizes true disciples. The word here is actually "dread" or "terror" (cf. Deut. 2:25; Ps. 119:120; Is. 2:10,19,21; etc.).

36:2 I.e., he flatters himself so much that he is unable to understand enough to hate his own iniquity.

36:3,4 Although Paul cites only Ps. 36:1b in Rom. 3, the same categories of characteristic sinfulness also show up in that context; cf. character: Ps. 36:2 with Rom. 3:10-12; communications: Ps. 36:39 with Rom. 3:13-14; and conduct: Ps. 36:3b-4 with Rom. 3:15-17.

36:5,6 These attributes of God are immeasurable.

Therefore the children of men [g]put their trust under the shadow of Your wings.
8 [h]They are abundantly satisfied with the fullness of Your house,
And You give them drink from [i]the river of Your pleasures.
9 [j]For with You is the fountain of life;
[k]In Your light we see light.

10 Oh, continue Your lovingkindness to those who know You,
And Your righteousness to the upright in heart.
11 Let not the foot of pride come against
me,
And let not the hand of the wicked
drive me away.
12 There the workers of iniquity have fallen;
They have been cast down and are not able to rise.

PSALM 37

The Heritage of the Righteous and the Calamity of the Wicked

A Psalm of David.

Do[a] not fret because of evildoers,
Nor be envious of the workers of
iniquity.
2 For they shall soon be cut down [b]like the grass,
And wither as the green herb.

3 Trust in the LORD, and do good;
Dwell in the land, and feed on His faithfulness.
4 [c]Delight yourself also in the LORD,
And He shall give you the desires of your [d]heart.

5 [e]Commit[1] your way to the LORD,
Trust also in Him,
And He shall bring it to pass.
6 [f]He shall bring forth your righteousness as the light,
And your justice as the noonday.

7 Rest in the LORD, [g]and wait patiently
for Him;
Do not fret because of him who [h]prospers in his way,
Because of the man who brings wicked schemes to pass.
8 [i]Cease from anger, and forsake wrath;
[j]Do not fret—it only causes harm.

9 For evildoers shall be [2]cut off;
But those who wait on the LORD,
They shall [k]inherit the earth.
10 For [l]yet a little while and the wicked shall be no more;
Indeed, [m]you will look carefully for his place,
But it shall be no more.
11 [n]But the meek shall inherit the earth,
And shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace.

12 The wicked plots against the just,
[o]And gnashes at him with his teeth.
13 [p]The Lord laughs at him,
For He sees that [q]his day is coming.
14 The wicked have drawn the sword
And have bent their bow,
To cast down the poor and needy,
To slay those who are of upright conduct.
15 Their sword shall enter their own
heart,
And their bows shall be broken.

16 [r]A little that a righteous man has
Is better than the riches of many wicked.

16 [r] Prov. 15:16; 16:8; [1 Tim. 6:6]

36:7 the shadow of Your wings. Although some would take this as referring to wings of the cherubim over the ark, it is probably more generally a reference to the protective care of a parent bird for its young (Deut. 32:11; Pss. 17:8; 91:4; Ruth 2:12; cf. Jesus' allusion to the word picture in Matt. 23:37).

36:9 In Your light we see light. It is likely that this phraseology bears both literal and figurative significance, i.e., God is the source of physical life and also of spiritual life. The Lord is the Source and Sustainer of all light and life.

36:11 the foot of pride. This is likely military imagery referring to the practice of a victorious king-general symbolically placing his foot upon the neck of a prostrated, defeated king-general.

36:12 Cf. Pss. 14:5a; 18:38; Prov. 24:16.

37:1-40 Psalm 37, an irregular acrostic, is a wisdom poem addressed to man, not God. Verses 12-24 sound very much like the maxims of proverbs. The covenant promises of the "land" for Israel are prominent in its verses (cf. vv. 3,9,11,22,29,34). Its basic theme deals with the age-old question "Why do the ungodly prosper while the godly painfully struggle through life?" An intricate arrangement puts forth David's answer. In Ps. 37, David mixes and matches 6 thoughts in order to advance his major message on the eventual arrival of divine justice.

I. An Introductory Overview (37:1,2)
II. An Initial Expansion (37:3-11)
III. Some Proverbial Perspectives (37:12-24)
IV. An Initial Testimony (37:25,26)
V. A Final Expansion (cf. vv. 3-11) (37:27-34)
VI. A Final Testimony (cf. vv. 25,26) (37:35-40)

37:2 Here-today-gone-tomorrow illustrations about the wicked characterize this psalm. On this theme, cf. Job 14:1,2; Pss. 90:5,6; 103:15,16; Is. 40:6-8; Matt. 6:30; James 1:10,11; 1 John 2:17.

37:7,8 The message of "Relax! Don't react!" returns (cf. v. 1).

37:10 yet a little while. Cf. similar terminology in Jer. 51:33; Hos. 1:4. The Lord's intervention is imminent.

17 For the arms of the wicked shall be broken,
But the LORD upholds the righteous.

18 The LORD knows the days of the upright,
And their inheritance shall be forever.
19 They shall not be ashamed in the evil time,
And in the days of famine they shall be satisfied.
20 But the wicked shall perish;
And the enemies of the LORD,
Like the splendor of the meadows, shall vanish.
Into smoke they shall vanish away.

21 The wicked borrows and does not repay,
But [s]the righteous shows mercy and gives.
22 [t]For those blessed by Him shall inherit the earth,
But those cursed by Him shall be [3]cut off.

23 [u]The steps of a good man are [4]ordered by the LORD,
And He delights in his way.
24 [v]Though he fall, he shall not be utterly cast down;
For the LORD upholds him with His hand.

25 I have been young, and now am old;
Yet I have not seen the righteous forsaken,
Nor his descendants begging bread.
26 [w]He is [5]ever merciful, and lends;
And his descendants are blessed.

27 Depart from evil, and do good;
And dwell forevermore.
28 For the LORD loves justice,
And does not forsake His saints;
They are preserved forever,
But the descendants of the wicked shall be cut off.
29 [x]The righteous shall inherit the land,
And dwell in it forever.

30 [y]The mouth of the righteous speaks wisdom,
And his tongue talks of justice.
31 The law of his God is in his heart;
None of his steps shall [6]slide.

32 The wicked [z]watches the righteous,
And seeks to slay him.
33 The LORD [a]will not leave him in his hand,
Nor condemn him when he is judged.

34 [b]Wait on the LORD,
And keep His way,
And He shall exalt you to inherit the land;
When the wicked are cut off, you shall see it.
35 I have seen the wicked in great power,
And spreading himself like a native green tree.
36 Yet [7]he passed away, and behold, he was no more;
Indeed I sought him, but he could not be found.

37 Mark the blameless man, and observe the upright;
For the future of that man is peace.
38 [c]But the transgressors shall be destroyed together;
The future of the wicked shall be cut off.

39 But the salvation of the righteous is from the LORD;
He is their strength [d]in the time of trouble.
40 And [e]the LORD shall help them and deliver them;
He shall deliver them from the wicked,
And save them,
[f]Because they trust in Him.

PSALM 38

Prayer in Time of Chastening

A Psalm of David. [a]To bring to remembrance.

O LORD, do not [b]rebuke me in Your wrath,
Nor chasten me in Your hot displeasure!

PSALM 38
title [a] Ps. 70:title
1 [b] Ps. 6:1

37:17 the arms of the wicked shall be broken. Their members will be shattered for grabbing and getting wealth (v. 16b). Cf. Job 38:15; Ps. 10:15; Jer. 48:25; Ezek. 30:21.

37:18 Cf. Ps. 1:6.

37:21 The OT contains both precepts and proverbs about borrowing and lending; cf. Deut. 15:6; 28:12,44; Ps. 112:1-6; Prov. 22:7.

37:24 For corroborations of such divine comfort, cf. Ps. 145:14; Prov. 24:16; Mic. 7:8.

37:31 The law of his God is in his heart. On God's internalized instruction, cf. Deut. 6:6; Pss. 40:8; 119 (throughout); Jer. 31:33; Is. 51:7.

37:38 cut off. On this truth of judgment, cf. vv. 9,22,28,34, and Ps. 109:13. For a positive presentation in reference to the faithful, cf. Prov. 23:18; 24:14,20.

37:39 salvation...from the LORD. Since salvation belongs to Him (Ps. 3:8), He is the perennial Source of it (cf. Ps. 62:1,2).

38:1-22 Prayers surround a core of intense lament (vv. 2-20). In

2 For Your arrows pierce me deeply,
And Your hand presses me down.

3 There is no soundness in my flesh
Because of Your anger,
Nor any health in my bones
Because of my sin.
4 For my iniquities have gone over my head;
Like a heavy burden they are too heavy for me.
5 My wounds are foul and festering
Because of my foolishness.

6 I am [1]troubled, I am bowed down greatly;
I go mourning all the day long.
7 For my loins are full of inflammation,
And there is no soundness in my flesh.
8 I am feeble and severely broken;
I groan because of the turmoil of my heart.

9 Lord, all my desire is before You;
And my sighing is not hidden from You.
10 My heart pants, my strength fails me;
As for the light of my eyes, it also has gone from me.

11 My loved ones and my friends [c]stand aloof from my plague,
And my relatives stand afar off.
12 Those also who seek my life lay snares for me;
Those who seek my hurt speak of destruction,
And plan deception all the day long.

13 But I, like a deaf man, do not hear;
And I am like a mute who does not open his mouth.
14 Thus I am like a man who does not hear,
And in whose mouth is no response.

15 For [2]in You, O LORD, [d]I hope;
You will [3]hear, O Lord my God.
16 For I said, "Hear me, lest they rejoice over me, Lest, when my foot slips, they exalt themselves against me."

17 [e]For I am ready to fall,
And my sorrow is continually before me.
18 For I will [f]declare my iniquity;
I will be [g]in [4]anguish over my sin.
19 But my enemies are vigorous, and they are strong;
And those who hate me wrongfully have multiplied.
20 Those also [h]who render evil for good,
They are my adversaries, because I follow what is good.

21 Do not forsake me, O LORD;
O my God, [i]be not far from me!
22 Make haste to help me,
O Lord, my salvation!

PSALM 39

Prayer for Wisdom and Forgiveness

To the Chief Musician. To Jeduthun. A Psalm of David.

I said, "I will guard my ways,
Lest I sin with my [a]tongue;
I will restrain my mouth with a muzzle,
While the wicked are before me."

PSALM 39

1 [a] Job 2:10; Ps. 34:13; [James 3:5-12]

many ways David's laments parallel those of Job. David's perspective is that his painful plight is due, at least in part, to his personal sin. Organizationally, David's opening and closing prayers in Ps. 38 relate to two onslaughts by enemies.

I. Introductory Prayer (38:1,2)
II. First Onslaught: The Enemy Within (38:3-10)
III. Second Onslaught: Enemies Without (38:11-20)
IV. Concluding Prayers (38:21,22)

38:Title. To bring to remembrance. Lit. "To cause to remember" (cf. the title to Ps. 70). The psalmist either 1) reminds God of his plight so that He might act, or 2) reminds himself and the community of his historic predicament so that both he and they would fervently pray in similar contexts of acute suffering.

38:1 Cf. Pss. 6:1; 39:11; Jer. 31:18.

38:2 Your arrows. The language relates to the Divine Warrior motif; on God as Archer, cf. Deut. 32:23; Job 6:4; 16:13; Ps. 7:12; Lam. 3:12,13; etc.

38:5 my foolishness. On culpable ethical folly, cf. Ps. 69:5. David views this as the reason for the divine chastisements of v. 3ff.

38:11 loved ones...friends...relatives. Those near and dear to him had abandoned him to his adversity, adding insult to injury.

38:13,14 The ultimate example of non-response to tauntings and torturings may be seen in the Suffering Servant of Is. 53:7; cf. 1 Pet. 2:23.

38:19,20 Although he had confessed personal sins, he remained legally innocent in comparison with his persecutors.

39:1-13 Psalm 39 is an exceptionally heavy lament, which compares with Job 7 and much of Ecclesiastes. It also carries on the here-today-gone-tomorrow emphasis of Ps. 37 with a new twist, an application to all men, especially the psalmist. In this intense lament, David will break his initial silence with two rounds of requests and reflections about the brevity and burdens of life.

I. Introduction: David's Silence (39:1-3)
II. Round One: The Brevity and Burdens of Life (39:4-6)
  A. His Request for Perspective (39:4)
  B. His Reflections on Perspective (39:5,6)
III. Round Two: The Brevity and Burdens of Life (39:7-13)
  A. His Reflection on Hope (39:7)

2 [b]I was mute with silence,
I held my peace even from good;
And my sorrow was stirred up.
3 My heart was hot within me;
While I was [1]musing, the fire burned.
Then I spoke with my tongue:

4 "LORD, [c]make me to know my end,
And what is the measure of my days,
That I may know how frail I am.
5 Indeed, You have made my days as handbreadths,
And my age is as nothing before You;
Certainly every man at his best state is but [d]vapor. Selah
6 Surely every man walks about like a shadow;
Surely they [2]busy themselves in vain;
He heaps up riches,
And does not know who will gather them.

7 "And now, Lord, what do I wait for?
My [e]hope is in You.
8 Deliver me from all my transgressions;
Do not make me [f]the reproach of the foolish.
9 [g]I was mute, I did not open my mouth,
Because it was [h]You who did it.

8 [f] Ps. 44:13; 79:4; 119:22

10 [i]Remove Your plague from me;
I am consumed by the blow of Your hand.
11 When with rebukes You correct man for iniquity,
You make his beauty [j]melt away like a moth;
Surely every man is vapor. Selah

12 "Hear my prayer, O LORD,
And give ear to my cry;
Do not be silent at my tears;
For I am a stranger with You,
A sojourner, [k]as all my fathers were.

Before I go away and [m]am no more."

PSALM 40

Faith Persevering in Trial

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

I [a]waited patiently for the LORD;
And He inclined to me,
And heard my cry.
2 He also brought me up out of a horrible pit,
Out of [b]the miry clay,
And [c]set my feet upon a rock,
And established my steps.

PSALM 40
1 [a] Ps. 25:5; 27:14; 37:7
2 [b] Ps. 69:2, 14; Jer. 38:6 [c] Ps. 27:5

B. His Requests and Reflections on Providence (39:8-11)
C. His Requests for Relief (39:12,13)

39:Title. To Jeduthun. This is most likely a specifically designated worship director (cf. 1 Chr. 9:16; 16:37ff.; 25:1-3; Neh. 11:17).

39:1 I will...I will. The form of these expressions intimate strong volitional commitments. Lest I sin with my tongue. This sinning could have been in one or both of two ways: 1) directly, by criticizing God for not bringing retribution on the wicked, and 2) indirectly, by complaining in the hearing of the wicked.

39:2 His silence did not ease his pain; it seemed to make it all the worse.

39:3 Cf. Jeremiah's predicament in Jer. 20:9. Then* I spoke with my tongue. Contrast the silence of v. 1. Yet, he did not violate the conditions of his original commitment, since he did not vent before men, but unloaded his burdens before God (cf. vv. 4ff.)

39:4 For similar prayers about the brevity and burdens of life, cf. Job 6:11; 7:7; 14:13; 16:21,22; Ps. 90:12; Eccl. 2:3.

39:5 handbreadths. He measures the length of his life with the smallest popular measuring unit of ancient times (1 Kin. 7:26); cf. "four fingers" (i.e., about 2.9 in.) in Jer. 52:21. and my age is as nothing before You. On "measuring" God's age, cf. Ps. 90:2. vapor. For the same Heb. word, cf. Eccl. 1:2ff., "vanity" (a total of 31 occurrences of this term are in Eccl.); Ps. 144:4. On the concept in the NT, cf. James 4:14.

39:6 Surely they busy themselves in vain. On the futility and irony of this phenomenon, cf. Job 27:16 in context; Eccl. 2:18-23; Luke 12:16-20.

39:9 In this verse, the terminology of Pss. 38:13; 39:2 reappears, accompanied by the theology of Job 42.

39:11 like a moth. The moth normally represented one of the most destructive creatures, but here the delicacy of the moth is intended (cf. Job 13:28; Is. 50:9; 51:8; Matt. 6:19ff.).

39:12 stranger...sojourner. He considers himself to be a temporary guest and squatter in the presence of God; on the terminology, cf. Lev. 25:23; Deut. 24:19ff.; 1 Chr. 29:15; Ps. 119:19; and for the concept in the NT, cf. Heb. 11:13; 1 Pet. 2:11.

39:13 This stark request is parallel in its intention with v. 10.

40:1-17 Psalm 40 begins with a high-flight of thanksgiving and ends with a mixture of prayer and lament (cf. the movement of Ps. 27). Furthermore, the last 5 verses of Ps. 40 are nearly identical to Ps. 70. Crucial associations surface throughout this psalm. The first is between the theocratic king as an individual and the community of the theocratic people. Beyond this, from the vantage point of NT revelation, an association with the Greater David is contained in seed form in vv. 6-8 (cf. Heb. 10:5-7). Historical precedent and prayers for a present plight move the psalm along from beginning to end. Attitudinally, David understood the importance of what would be explicitly commanded through Paul in Rom. 12:1,2. These elements constitute only a part of the richness of Ps. 40. The following notes will help to follow David's mental movements through these 17 verses: Two situations constitute the framework for the psalmist's publicized expressions of worship in Ps. 40.

I. Precedent from a Past Situation (40:1-10)
A. The Merciful Rescue by God (40:1-3)
B. The Multiple Resources in God (40:4,5)
C. The Motivational Responses to God (40:6-10)
II. Prayers for a Present Situation (40:11-17)

40:2 a horrible pit...the miry clay. The imagery describes his past hopeless and helpless situation; cf. the language of Ps. 69:2,14; Jer. 38:6ff. God by His grace had taken him from no footing to sure footing.

3 [d]He has put a new song in my mouth—
Praise to our God;
Many will see it and fear,
And will trust in the LORD.

4 [e]Blessed is that man who makes the LORD his trust,
And does not respect the proud, nor such as turn aside to lies.
5 [f]Many, O LORD my God, are Your wonderful works
Which You have done;
[g]And Your thoughts toward us
Cannot be recounted to You in order;
If I would declare and speak of them,
They are more than can be numbered.

6 [h]Sacrifice and offering You did not desire;
My ears You have opened.
Burnt offering and sin offering You did not require.
7 Then I said, "Behold, I come;
In the scroll of the book it is written of
me.
8 [i]I delight to do Your will, O my God,
And Your law is [j]within my heart."

9 [k]I have proclaimed the good news of
righteousness
In the great assembly;
Indeed, [l]I do not restrain my lips,
O LORD, You Yourself know.
10 [m]I have not hidden Your righteousness within my heart;
I have declared Your faithfulness and
Your salvation;
I have not concealed Your lovingkindness and Your truth
From the great assembly.

PSALM 41

The Blessing and Suffering of the Godly

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

Blessed is he who considers the [1]poor;
The LORD will deliver him in time of trouble.

PSALM 41
1 [1] helpless or powerless

40:3 a new song. See note on Ps. 33:3.

40:3,4 trust in the LORD...the LORD his trust. The verb and the noun forms of this important Heb. root connote a faith of confident commitment, here in the right object, God alone (cf. the teaching of Jer. 17:7). David's desire was always to make such commitment contagious.

40:5 Cf. the psalmist's pleasant "frustration" in Ps. 139:12-18.

40:6-8 The author of Hebrews dramatically applies these verses to the Greater David (10:5-7).

40:6 Sacrifice and offering You did not desire. He is not negating the commandment to offer sacrifices, but is emphasizing their being offered with the right attitude of heart (contra. Saul, 1 Sam. 15:22,23; note the emphases on proper spiritual prerequisites for sacrifices in Pss. 19:14; 50:7-15; 51:15-17; 69:30-31; Is. 1:10-15; Jer. 7:21-26; Hos. 6:6; Amos 5:21-24; Mic. 6:6-8; Matt. 23:23). My ears You have opened. Lit. "ears" or "two ears You have dug for me." This pictures obedience and dedication.

40:7 In the scroll of the book it is written of me. Deuteronomy 17:14-20 would apply to the lesser David; cf. likely applications regarding the Greater David in passages like Luke 24:27; John 5:39,46.

40:9 the good news of righteous. This word for "good news" in Heb. (cf. the root in Is. 40:9; 41:27; 52:7; 60:6; 61:1) is the precursor of the NT terminology for the "gospel" and "preaching the gospel," i.e., "announcing the good news." "Righteousness" is identified as God's righteousness in the next verse (v. 10).

40:10 David's spirit here was encountered previously in Ps. 22:22,23.

40:12 Cf. Both external persecution and internal perversity in Ps. 38.

40:13-17 See notes on Ps. 70.

41:1-13 The words of this psalm are general and apply to anyone who might be considered "down." The most painful and specific factor addressed here is the insult which is being added to the psalmist's injury (cf. Pss. 6:38; and portions of Job and Jeremiah). While the form and structure of Ps. 41 is quite complex, "blessed" serves as bookends in vv. 1,13. Within these, other elements include 1) confidence (vv. 1b-3,11,12), 2) prayers (vv. 4,10), and 3) lament

2 The LORD will preserve him and keep him alive,
And he will be blessed on the earth;
[a]You will not deliver him to the will of his enemies.
3 The LORD will strengthen him on his bed of illness;
You will [2]sustain him on his sickbed.

4 I said, "LORD, be merciful to me;
[b]Heal my soul, for I have sinned against You."
5 My enemies speak evil of me:
"When will he die, and his name perish?"
6 And if he comes to see me, he speaks [3]lies;
His heart gathers iniquity to itself;
When he goes out, he tells it.

7 All who hate me whisper together against me;
Against me they [4]devise my hurt.
8 "An[5] evil disease," they say, "clings to him.
And now that he lies down, he will rise up no more."
9 [c]Even my own familiar friend in whom I trusted,
[d]Who ate my bread,
Has [6]lifted up his heel against me.

10 But You, O LORD, be merciful to me,
and raise me up,
That I may repay them.
11 By this I know that You are well pleased with me,
Because my enemy does not triumph over me.
12 As for me, You uphold me in my integrity,
And [e]set me before Your face forever.

13 [f]Blessed be the LORD God of Israel
From everlasting to everlasting!
Amen and Amen.

PSALM 42

Yearning for God in the Midst of Distresses

To the Chief Musician. A [1]Contemplation of the sons of Korah.

As the deer [2]pants for the water brooks,
So pants my soul for You, O God.

PSALM 42
title [1] Heb. Maschil
1 [2] Lit. longs for

(vv. 5-9), with moments of wisdom and praise. David's message in Ps. 41 speaks of God's tender, loving care in the critical care unit of life.

I. Recognizes Human Compassion (41:1a)
II. Revels in God's Care for the Compassionate (41:1b-3)
III. Requests Grace, Health, and Forgiveness (41:4)
IV. Rehearses the Meanness that He Has Experienced (41:5-9)
V. Requests Grace, Health, and Retribution (41:10)
VI. Revels in God's Care for Him Personally (41:11,12)
VII. Recognizes Divine Compassion (41:13)

41:1 Blessed. On this "blessed," cf. Pss. 1:1; 2:12.

41:2 And he will be blessed on the earth. The verb "be blessed" is from the same Heb. root as the exclamatory description "blessed" of v. 1 (on other occurrences of the verb, cf. Prov. 3:18; 31:28; Song 6:9).

41:3 You will sustain him on his sickbed. This pictures God as Physician dispensing His tender, loving care

41:4 for I have sinned against You. The ancient Near Eastern association of sin and sickness returns (cf. Pss. 31:10; 32:5; 38:3,4,18; 40:12; etc.). On the explicit combination of "sinning against," cf. Ps. 51:4. This perspective of the psalmist does not negate the reference to his basic "integrity" in v. 12.

41:6 And if he comes...he goes out. This hypocritical "sick call" really adds insult to injury. The visitor lies to the sick one and gathers "information" for more slander.

41:9 Even my own familiar friend...lifted up his heel against me. David's close companion betrayed him; he kicked him while he was "down." The Greater David's experience and the employment of this reference in John 13:18 was to Judas (cf. Matt. 26:21ff.).

41:13 Blessed be. The essence of the Heb. root of "amen" is "it is true," i.e., reliable, confirmed, verified. Note that Book I of the Psalms (Pss. 1-41) closes with a doxology; cf. the endings of the other 4 books (Pss. 72:18,19; 89:52; 106:48; 150:6).

42:1-11 As in the case of Pss. 9 and 10, Pss. 42 and 43 were originally probably one. Some ancient manuscripts put them together; Ps. 43 has no title while the rest around it do. In form, Ps. 42 may be considered an individual lament. This psalm also exemplifies a primary characteristic of Book II of the Psalms, the preference of the ascription "God" (or parallels to it) for the Deity. The occasion and situation of Ps. 42 are historically unspecified; however, what is obvious is that the psalmist's situation was intense and greatly aggravated by his surrounding mockers. Consequently, Ps. 42 is a dirge of two stanzas.

I. Stanza One: The Psalmist Sings of His Drought (42:1-5)
  A. The Content of This Stanza (42:1-4)
  B. The Chorus of This Dirge (cf. v. 11) (42:5)
II. Stanza Two: The Psalmist Sings of His Drowning (42:6-11)
  A. The Content of This Stanza (42:6-10)
  B. The Chorus of This Dirge (cf. v. 5) (42:11)

42:Title The references to "the chief musician," i.e., the worship director, and Maskil, a "contemplation" or lesson (see marginal note; cf. Ps. 32:1) are not new, but the reference to "the sons of Korah" is. On the ancestry of "the sons of Korah," cf. Num. 26:10ff.; 1 Chr. 6:16ff.; 2 Chr. 20:19. A total of 11 psalms are associated with this group, and 7 of them are found in Book II (Pss. 42,44,45,46,47,48,49). These people are probably better regarded as the Levitical performers, rather than the authors of these psalms (i.e., "For the sons of Korah").

42:1 As the deer pants...so pants. On this simile from nature, cf. Joel 1:20. In the psalmist's estimation, he is facing a severe divine drought.

2 [a]My soul thirsts for God, for the [b]living God.
When shall I come and [3]appear before God?
3 [c]My tears have been my food day and night,
While they continually say to me,
[d]"Where is your God?"

4 When I remember these things,
[e]I pour out my soul within me.
For I used to go with the multitude;
[f]I went with them to the house of
God,
With the voice of joy and praise,
With a multitude that kept a pilgrim feast.

5 [g]Why are you [4]cast down, O my soul?
And why are you disquieted within
me?
[h]Hope in God, for I shall yet praise
Him
[5]For the help of His countenance.

6 [6]O my God, my soul is cast down
within me;
Therefore I will remember You from the land of the Jordan,
And from the heights of Hermon,
From [7]the Hill Mizar.
7 Deep calls unto deep at the noise of
Your waterfalls;
[i]All Your waves and billows have gone over me.

A prayer to the God of my life.

9 I will say to God my Rock,
[l]"Why have You forgotten me?
Why do I go mourning because of the oppression of the enemy?"
10 As with a [8]breaking of my bones,
My enemies [9]reproach me,
[m]While they say to me all day long,

PSALM 43

Prayer to God in Time of Trouble

V indicate [a]me, O God,
And [b]plead my cause against an ungodly nation;
Oh, deliver me from the deceitful and unjust man!
2 For You are the God of my strength;
Why do You cast me off?
[c]Why do I go mourning because of the oppression of the enemy?

PSALM 43
1 [a] [Ps. 26:1; 35:24] [b] 1 Sam. 24:15; Ps. 35:1
2 [c] Ps. 42:9

42:2 My soul thirsts for God. On this desire for the water of God, cf. Ps. 36:8,9; Is. 41:17; 55:1; Jer. 2:13; 14:1-9; 17:13; John 4:10; 7:37,38; Rev. 7:17; 21:6; 22:1,17.

42:4 When I remember these things, I pour out my soul. Such language also characterizes Jeremiah's Lamentations, indicating a heavy dirge. On "pouring out one's soul" or "heart," cf. 1 Sam. 1:15; Ps. 62:8; Lam. 2:19. These are attempts at trying to unburden oneself from intolerable pain, grief, and agony.

42:5 Why are you cast down...and...disquieted...? In this active introspection the psalmist rebukes himself for his despondency.

42:6 the land of the Jordan...the heights of Hermon...the Hill Mizar. The Mt. Hermon and the Jordan notation refers to a location in northern Palestine, an area of head-waters which flow southward. These locations signal that a sharp contrast in the word pictures describing the psalmist's change in condition is imminent. He is about to move from drought to drowning (cf. vv. 7ff.). The location and significance of Mt. Mizar is not known.

42:7 Deep...Your waterfalls...Your waves and billows. He alleges that God is ultimately responsible for the oceans of trial in which he seems to be drowning.

42:8 The LORD will command His lovingkindness. This statement of confidence interrupts his laments (cf. their continuance in vv. 9,10), providing a few gracious gulps of divine "air" under the cascading inundations of his trials and tormentors.

43:1-5 Psalm 43 might be conceived of as an epilogue to Ps. 42. The psalmist moves away from introspection toward invocation. However, as v. 5 will indicate, the psalmist's problems had not ended, at least not fully and finally. Nevertheless, spiritual progress is evident. By interrelating the psalmist's two modes of communication in Ps. 43 and then by comparing them with the laments of Ps. 42, one observes indications of that progress as he continued to deal with his despondency.

I. Prayers to God (43:1-4)
  A. Righting Wrongs (43:1,2)
  B. Restoring "Rights" (i.e., proper or appropriate things) (43:3,4)
II. "Pep-talks" to Oneself (43:5)
  A. Exhortation (43:5a-b)
  B. Encouragement (43:5c-d)

43:1 Vindicate me...plead my cause. Lit. "Judge me, O God, and argue my case." This combination of legal terms demonstrates respectively that the psalmist was requesting God to be both his Divine Judge (cf. Judg. 11:27; 1 Sam. 24:12; Pss. 7:8; 26:1) and Defense Attorney (cf. Ps. 119:154; Prov. 22:23; 23:11; Jer. 50:34; Lam. 3:58). On both concepts together, as here, cf. 1 Sam. 24:15; Ps. 35:1, 24; Mic. 7:9.

43:2 Why...why...? Since God was his refuge of strength, the psalmist questioned why this divine rejection and why his dejection?

3 [d]Oh, send out Your light and Your truth!
Let them lead me;
Let them bring me to [e]Your holy hill
And to Your [1]tabernacle.
4 Then I will go to the altar of God,
To God my exceeding joy;
And on the harp I will praise You,
O God, my God.

5 [f]Why are you cast down, O my soul?
And why are you disquieted within me?
Hope in God;
For I shall yet praise Him,
The [2]help of my countenance and my God.

PSALM 44

Redemption Remembered in Present Dishonor

To the Chief Musician. A [a]Contemplation[1] of the sons of Korah.

We have heard with our ears, O God,
[b]Our fathers have told us,
The deeds You did in their days,
In days of old:
2 [c]You drove out the [2]nations with Your hand,
But them You planted;
You afflicted the peoples, and cast them out.
3 For [d]they did not gain possession of the land by their own sword,
Nor did their own arm save them;
But it was Your right hand, Your arm, and the light of Your countenance, [e]Because You favored them.

4 [f]You are my King, [3]O God;
[4]Command victories for Jacob.
5 Through You [g]we will push down our enemies;
Through Your name we will trample those who rise up against us.
6 For [h]I will not trust in my bow,
Nor shall my sword save me.
7 But You have saved us from our enemies,
And have put to shame those who hated us.
8 [i]In God we boast all day long,
And praise Your name forever. Selah

9 But [j]You have cast us off and put us to shame,
And You do not go out with our armies.
10 You make us [k]turn back from the enemy,
And those who hate us have taken [5]spoil for themselves.
11 [l]You have given us up like sheep intended for food,
And have [m]scattered us among the nations.
12 [n]You sell Your people for next to nothing,
And are not enriched by selling them.
13 [o]You make us a reproach to our neighbors,

3 [d] [Ps. 40:11] [e] Ps. 3:4 [1] dwelling places

13 [o] Ps. 79:4; 80:6; Jer. 24:9

43:3 Your light and Your truth! Let them lead me; Let them bring me. These are bold personifications for divine guidance. He desired that these "messenger-attributes" divinely direct (cf. such "leading" and "guiding" in Gen. 24:48; Pss. 78:14,53,72; 107:30; Is. 57:18) so as to bring him successfully to his destination, i.e., Israel's designated place for worship.

43:5 Why...why...Hope. Cf. Ps. 42:5,11.

44:1-26 Psalm 44 is a national lament following some great but historically unidentifiable defeat in battle. Throughout this psalm there are subtle shifts between speakers of the first person plural (i.e., "We" and "us"; cf. vv. 1-3,5,7,8,9-14,17-22) and the first person singular (i.e., "I" or "my"; cf. vv. 4,6,15-16). This may indicate that the psalm was originally sung antiphonally with alterations coming from both the beaten king-general and his defeated nation. The prayers of vv. 23-26 may have been offered in unison as a climax. By employing 3 historical centers in Ps. 44, the psalmist tries to understand and deal with a national tragedy.

I. Focus on Past History: The Shock of This National Tragedy (44:1-8)
II. Focus on Current History: The Inscrutability of This National Tragedy (44:9-22)
III. Focus on Future History: A Prayer for an End to This National Tragedy (44:23-26)

44:Title The words of this title are the same as those in the title of Ps. 42; however, in the Hebrew text their order is slightly different.

44:1 We have heard. There was a rich tradition about God's great acts which the nation's fathers had passed on. Indeed the rehearsal of holy history was commanded (cf. Ex. 10:1,2; 12:26ff.; 13:14ff.; Deut. 6:20ff.; Josh. 4:6ff.; Ps. 78:3).

44:2 You planted. On the imagery of God's planting His people, cf. 2 Sam. 7:10; Is. 5:1ff.; Jer. 12:2; also cf. their being planted and taking root in Ps. 80:8-11.

44:3 For they did not...But it was Your right hand. This is a brief historical summary of the theology of divine grace, intervention, and enablement (cf. Josh. 24:17,18).

44:4 Command victories for Jacob. If the division of the Heb. consonants is taken at a different point (as it is in some early versions) this line would better fit into the immediate context, reading: "You are my King, my God, who commands (or, orders) victories for Jacob." "Jacob," the original name of the ancient patriarch, is often used to designate the nation of Israel, especially in poetry.

44:5-8 Through You...For I will not trust in my bow...But You have saved us. The defeated king-general picks up the theology of v. 3 and adds his personal commitment to it.

44:9 But You...do not go out with our armies. The Lord God is viewed here as having resigned His commission as the nation's Divine Warrior.

44:11-16 You have given...You sell. These are graphic descriptions of God superintending the defeat and utter humiliation of the nation.

A scorn and a derision to those all around us.
14 [p]You make us a byword among the nations,
[q]A shaking of the head among the peoples.
15 My dishonor is continually before me,
And the shame of my face has covered me,
16 Because of the voice of him who reproaches and reviles,
[r]Because of the enemy and the avenger.

17 [s]All this has come upon us;
But we have not forgotten You,
Nor have we dealt falsely with Your covenant.
18 Our heart has not turned back,
[t]Nor have our steps departed from Your way;
19 But You have severely broken us in [u]the place of jackals,
And covered us [v]with the shadow of death.

20 If we had forgotten the name of our God,
Or [w]stretched[6] out our hands to a foreign god,
21 [x]Would not God search this out?
For He knows the secrets of the heart.
22 [y]Yet for Your sake we are killed all day long;
We are accounted as sheep for the slaughter.

23 [z]Awake! Why do You sleep, O Lord?
Arise! Do not cast us off forever.

PSALM 45

The Glories of the Messiah and His Bride

To the Chief Musician. [a]Set to [1]"The Lilies."
A [2]Contemplation of the sons of Korah.
A Song of Love.

My heart is overflowing with a good theme;
I recite my composition concerning the King;
My tongue is the pen of a [3]ready writer.

2 You are fairer than the sons of men;
[b]Grace is poured upon Your lips;
Therefore God has blessed You forever.
3 [4]Gird Your [c]sword upon Your thigh,
[d]O Mighty One,
With Your [e]glory and Your majesty.
4 [f]And in Your majesty ride prosperously because of truth, humility, and righteousness;
And Your right hand shall teach You awesome things.
5 Your arrows are sharp in the heart of the King's enemies;
The peoples fall under You.

44:17-21 But we have not forgotten You...If we had forgotten the name of our God. The nation's recent defeat was painfully perplexing in view of their basic loyalty to God.

44:22 Yet for Your sake. They had no specific answers; only this inescapable conclusion that, by God's sovereign will, they were allowed to be destroyed by their enemies. Cf. Paul's quote of this verse in Rom. 8:36 and its general principle in Matt. 5:10-12; 1 Pet. 3:13-17; 4:12-16.

44:23 Awake!...arise! Cf. Ps. 35:23. God does not actually sleep. This is only in appearance to man's perception.

44:26 Arise. Cf. Num. 10:35; Pss. 3:7; 7:6. And redeem us for Your mercies' sake. The psalm therefore comes full circle from the history of God's gracious redemption (vv. 1-3) to the hope for the same in the near future (v. 26).

45:1-17 Some portions of Ps. 45 convey a secular emphasis, while others suggest a sacred extension. Upon the occasion of a royal wedding, the psalmist offers a 3-part song of celebration.

I. Poetic Preface (45:1)
II. Song of Celebration (45:2-16)
  A. The King-Groom (45:2-9)
    1. Endowments of the king-groom (45:2)
    2. Exploits of the king-groom (45:3-5)
    3. Elevation of the king-groom (45:6,7)
    4. Eminence of the king-groom (45:8,9)
  B. The Princess-Bride (45:10-15)
    1. A challenge to the princess-bride (45:10-12)
    2. The procession of the princess-bride (45:13-15)
  C. Future Children from This Union (45:16)
III. Poetic Postscript (45:17)

45:Title Two new notations are found, "Set to The Lilies" and "A Song of Love." The first most likely had to do with the tune used in accompaniment with its words. The second notation referring to its content probably indicated that this psalm was a wedding song, and even more specifically, a royal wedding composition.

45:1 My heart is overflowing...My tongue. The psalmist is overwhelmed with emotion upon the occasion of the king's marriage; consequently, he puts his stirred-up mind and feelings into words. In v. 2ff. his tongue is the brush that he uses to paint vivid word pictures.

45:2 You are fairer. I.e., you are "more beautiful than," or, "most handsome among" (cf. an ancient prerequisite for kingship; in the Bible note the comments, e.g., in 1 Sam. 9:2; 10:33; 16:12; 2 Sam. 14:25; 1 Kin. 1:6; Song 5:10; Is. 33:17). Grace is poured upon Your lips. The implication is that God has anointed the king's words (cf. Eccl. 10:12; Luke 4:22).

45:3-5 Gird Your sword. In these verses the psalmist wishes the king future victories in battle.

6 [s]Your throne, O God, is forever and ever;
A [h]scepter of righteousness is the scepter of Your kingdom.
7 You love righteousness and hate wickedness;
Therefore God, Your God, has [i]anointed You
With the oil of [j]gladness more than Your companions.
8 All Your garments are [k]scented with myrrh and aloes and cassia,
Out of the ivory palaces, by which they have made You glad.
9 [l]Kings' daughters are among Your honorable women;
[m]At Your right hand stands the queen in gold from Ophir.

10 Listen, O daughter,
Consider and incline your ear;
[n]Forget your own people also, and your father's house;
11 So the King will greatly desire your beauty;
[o]Because He is your Lord, worship Him.
12 And the daughter of Tyre will come with a gift;
[p]The rich among the people will seek your favor.

13 The royal daughter is all glorious within the palace;
Her clothing is woven with gold.
14 [q]She shall be brought to the King in robes of many colors;
The virgins, her companions who follow her, shall be brought to You.
15 With gladness and rejoicing they shall be brought;
They shall enter the King's palace.

16 Instead of Your fathers shall be Your sons,
[r]Whom You shall make princes in all the earth.
17 [s]I will make Your name to be remembered in all generations;
Therefore the people shall praise You forever and ever.

PSALM 46

God the Refuge of His People and Conqueror of the Nations

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of the sons of Korah. A Song [a]for Alamoth.

God is our [b]refuge and strength,
[c]A [1] very present help in trouble.
2 Therefore we will not fear,
Even though the earth be removed,
And though the mountains be carried into the [2]midst of the sea;
3 [d]Though its waters roar and be troubled,
Though the mountains shake with its swelling. Selah

PSALM 46
title [a] 1 Chr. 15:20
1 [b] Ps. 62:7, 8 [c] [Deut. 4:7; Ps. 145:18] [1] An abundantly available help
2 [2] Lit. heart
3 [d] [Ps. 93:3, 4]

45:6,7 Your throne, O God. Since this king-groom was likely a member of the Davidic dynasty (e.g., 2 Sam. 7), there was a near and immediate application (cf. 1 Chr. 28:5; 29:23). Through progressive revelation (i.e., Heb. 1:8,9), we learn of the ultimate application to "a greater than Solomon" who is God—the Lord Jesus Christ.

45:9 Kings' daughters...Your honorable women...the queen. This court picture could refer to royal female guests, but also includes the other wives and concubines of the king-groom (cf. the situation with Solomon in 1 Kin. 11:1). Such polygamy of course was prohibited by God's Word; unfortunately, it was still common among the kings of Israel. gold from Ophir. Although its geographical location is not known, "Ophir" was well known as the location of the purest gold.

45:10-15 O daughter. The major emphasis of this portion is "Here comes the bride!" However, even in this section the focus still concentrates, according to ancient Near Eastern precedent, upon the royal groom.

45:16 Instead of Your fathers shall be Your sons. The loyal and joyful poet now speaks of the blessings of anticipated children from this union.

46:1-11 Psalm 46 was the scriptural catalyst for Martin Luther's great hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God." This psalm also launches a trilogy of psalms (i.e., 46,47,48); they are all songs of triumph. Furthermore, it has also been grouped among the so-called "songs of Zion" (cf. Pss. 48,76,84,87,122). Psalm 46 extols the adequacy of God in facing threats from nature and the nations. God indeed protects (cf. vv. 1,7,11) His people upon the earth (cf. vv. 2,6,8,9,10). The major burden of Ps. 46 is that God provides stability for His people who live in two exceedingly unstable environments.

I. The Unstable Environment of Nature (46:1-3)
  A. The Affirmation of His Stability (46:1)
  B. The Application of His Stability (46:2,3)
II. The Unstable Environment of the Nations (46:4-11)
  A. The First Chorus (46:4-7)
  B. The Follow-Up Chorus (46:8-11)

46:Title The new element in this title is "Alamoth." The early Gr. translation (LXX) interprets this technical term as "hidden things." However, the Heb. word normally has to do with "girls" or "young maidens." Consequently, the most likely conjecture about this phrase is that it is a technical musical notation, possibly indicating a song which was to be sung with female voices at a higher range.

46:2 Even though the earth be removed. I.e., "When earth changes and when mountains move (or) shake (or) totter (or) slip...," (cf. the language of Is. 24:19,20; 54:10; Hag. 2:6). These are poetic allusions to earthquakes. Since "the earth" and "mountains" are regarded by men as symbols of stability, when they "dance" great terror normally ensues. But when the most stable becomes unstable, there should be "no fear" because of the transcendent stability of God.

46:3 Though its waters roar. This is an illustration of powerfully surging and potentially destructive floods of waters. These will not erode God's protective fortifications.

4 There is a [e]river whose streams shall make glad the [f]city of God,
The holy place of the [3]tabernacle of the Most High.
5 God is [g]in the midst of her, she shall not be [4]moved;
God shall help her, just [5]at the break
of dawn.
6 [h]The nations raged, the kingdoms were moved;
He uttered His voice, the earth melted.

7 The [i]LORD of hosts is with us;
The God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah

8 Come, behold the works of the LORD,
Who has made desolations in the
earth.
9 [j]He makes wars cease to the end of the
earth;
[k]He breaks the bow and cuts the spear
in two;
[l]He burns the chariot in the fire.

10 Be still, and know that I am God;
[m]I will be exalted among the nations,
I will be exalted in the earth!

11 The LORD of hosts is with us;

PSALM 47

Praise to God, the Ruler of the Earth

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of the sons of Korah.

Oh, clap your hands, all you peoples!
Shout to God with the voice of triumph!
2 For the LORD Most High is awesome;
He is a great [a]King over all the earth.
3 [b]He will subdue the peoples under us,
And the nations under our feet.
4 He will choose our [c]inheritance for us,
The excellence of Jacob whom He loves. Selah

5 [d]God has gone up with a shout,
The LORD with the sound of a trumpet.
6 Sing praises to God, sing praises!
Sing praises to our King, sing praises!
7 [e]For God is the King of all the earth;
[f]Sing praises with understanding.

8 [g]God reigns over the nations;
God [h]sits on His [i]holy throne.
9 The princes of the people have gathered together,
[j]The people of the God of Abraham.
[k]For the shields of the earth belong to God;
He is greatly exalted.

9 [j] [Rom. 4:11, 12] [k] [Ps. 89:18]

46:4 There is a river whose streams. These words about refreshing waters contrast with those about the threatening torrents of v. 3. Cf. the garden of paradise concept often mentioned in ancient Near Eastern literature, but most importantly, cf. the biblical revelation, noting especially the "bookends" of Gen. 2:10 and Rev. 22:1,2. the city of God. These words in their present setting refer to Jerusalem, God's chosen earthly residence (cf. Ps. 48:1,2; Is. 60:14).

46:5,6 she shall not be moved. These verses pick up some of the key terms about moving, slipping, tottering, sliding, and roaring from vv. 1-3; however, here, because of the presence of God, the forces of nature and the nations are no longer a threat to the people of God who dwell with Him.

46:7 The LORD of hosts is with us. The precious personal presence (cf. "God with us" in Is. 7:14; 8:8,10) of the Divine Warrior (cf. "LORD of hosts" or "armies," e.g., Pss. 24:10; 48:8; 59:5) secures the safety of His people.

46:8 desolations. This word not only characterizes God's past exploits but it is also employed in various "Day of the Lord" contexts (e.g., Is. 13:9; Hos. 5:9; Zeph. 2:15).

46:10 Be still, and know that I am God. This twin command to not panic and to recognize His sovereignty is probably directed to both His nation for comfort and all other nations for warning.

47:1-9 The main concepts of Ps. 47 develop around key words and phrases, e.g., "peoples" and "nations" (vv. 1,3,8,9); "earth" and "all the earth" (vv. 2,7,9); and "king" or "reigning (as king)" (vv. 2,6,7,8). The major message of this psalm is that God is the unique Sovereign over all. Structurally, there are two choruses of worship in Ps. 47 which celebrate this universal kingship of the Lord God Most High.

I. First Chorus: God as the Victorious King-Warrior (47:1-5)
  A. Its Call to Worship (47:1)
  B. Its Causes for Worship (47:2-5)
II. Second Chorus: God as the Sovereign King-Governor (47:6-9)
  A. Its Call to Worship (47:6)
  B. Its Causes for Worship (47:47:7-9b)
  C. Its Code of Worship (47:9c)

47:1 all you peoples. The call to worship is universal.

47:3 He will subdue. Or, "He subdues," i.e., an axiomatic truth about the past, present, and future.

47:4 He will choose. Again, "He chooses," serves as a timeless truth. Cf. the election of Israel in Deut. 7:6ff.; Ps. 135:4. On the land of promise as "inheritance," cf. Deut. 32:8,9; Ps. 105:11. See notes on Eph. 1:4; 1 Pet. 1:1,2 for a discussion of the doctrine of divine election. The excellence of Jacob whom He loves. The "excellence" or "pride" of Jacob also refers to the land of Canaan (cf. the term illustratively in Is. 13:19; then in Is. 60:15; Nah. 2:2; etc.). "Whom He loves" is signal terminology for God's special, elective, covenantal "love" (cf., e.g., Mal. 1:2ff.). This special focus on God's covenant with Israel does not negate the bigger picture involving blessing to all nations sketched out in the original Abrahamic Covenant of Gen. 12:1-3.

47:5 God has gone up with a shout. The imagery likely refers to God's presence, after having gone into battle with His people, now ascending victoriously to His immanent "residence" on Mt. Zion and to His transcendent residence in heaven. This procession with the ark of God was accompanied by great shouts and blasts of celebration in vv. 5,6.

47:9 the shields of the earth. This imagery stands parallel with "the princes of the people." Illustratively, there may be a loose analogy to God's sovereignly appointed human governors (cf. Rom. 13:1-7) as protectors for the masses.

PSALM 48

The Glory of God in Zion

A Song. A Psalm of the sons of Korah.

Great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised
In the [a]city of our God,
In His holy mountain.
2 [b]Beautiful in [1]elevation,
The joy of the whole earth,
Is Mount Zion on the sides of the north,
The city of the great King.
3 God is in her palaces;
He is known as her refuge.

4 For behold, [c]the kings assembled,
They passed by together.
5 They saw it, and so they marveled;
They were troubled, they hastened away.
6 Fear [d]took hold of them there,
And pain, as of a woman in birth pangs,
7 As when You break the [e]ships of Tarshish
With an east wind.

8 As we have heard,
So we have seen
In the city of the LORD of hosts,
In the city of our God:
God will [f]establish it forever. Selah

9 We have thought, O God, on [g]Your lovingkindness,
In the midst of Your temple.
10 According to [h]Your name, O God,
So is Your praise to the ends of the earth;
Your right hand is full of righteousness.
11 Let Mount Zion rejoice,
Let the daughters of Judah be glad,
Because of Your judgments.

12 Walk about Zion,
And go all around her.
Count her towers;
13 Mark well her bulwarks;
Consider her palaces;
That you may [i]tell it to the generation following.
14 For this is God,
Our God forever and ever;
[j]He will be our guide
[2]Even to death.

PSALM 49

The Confidence of the Foolish

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of the sons of Korah.

Hear this, all peoples;
Give ear, all inhabitants of the world,
2 Both low and high,
Rich and poor together.

48:1-14 In Ps. 48, it often appears that Zion itself is the object of praise. While referring to Zion, this hymn of confidence (cf. Pss. 46:47) contains several checks and balances showing that it is ultimately God, who dwells in Zion, who is to be praised. Therefore, this perspective must be kept in mind as the lines of Ps. 48 flow back and forth with respective emphases on the city and the great God of that city. This psalm, sung with orchestral accompaniment, therefore contrasts two different responses to the God of Zion and the Zion of God.

I. Introduction (48:1-3)
II. The Panic-Response of the Provokers of God (48:4-7)
  A. The Chronicling of It (48:4-6)
  B. The Cause of It (48:7)
III. The Praise-Response of the People of God (48:8-14)
  A. Their Celebration (48:8-13)
  B. Their Conclusion (48:14)

48:2 The joy of the whole earth. Cf. the judgment context of Lam. 2:15. the sides of the north. "North" is an interpretive translation of a word term that occurs as a Semitic place name, i.e., "Zaphon." In Canaanite mythology Zaphon was an ancient Near Eastern equivalent to Mt. Olympus, the dwelling place of pagan gods. If this was the psalmist's intention in Ps. 48:2, the reference becomes a polemical description of the Lord; He is not only King of Kings but also is God of all so-called gods. The city of the great King. Cf. Ps. 47:2 and Matt. 5:34,35. God Himself has always been the King of Kings.

48:3 God is in her palaces. Better, "God is in her citadels." The context points to the military connotation of this word.

48:4-7 This dramatic, poetic rapid-fire, historical rehearsal of events chronicles some serious threat to Jerusalem from a hostile coalition of forces. They had come arrogantly to destroy Jerusalem, the Zion of God; but the God of Zion surprisingly and powerfully devastated them.

48:7 the ships of Tarshish. A notable Mediterranean port of uncertain location (cf. Jon. 1:3), possibly Spain.

48:8 As we have heard, so we have seen. Cf. the personal, individual testimony of Job (i.e., 42:5). The historical tradition of vv. 1-3 had been proven true once again in the events of vv. 4-7.

48:11 the daughters of Judah. This phrase would refer to the surrounding cities and villages.

48:14 For this is God. Other options for translating the Heb. text of this line are: 1) "For this God is our God," or 2) "For this is God, our God."

49:1-20 Psalm 49 deals with the most real thing about life—the certainty of death. One of its major lessons is that "you really can't take it with you." Containing these kinds of very practical lessons about life and death, it falls neatly into the category of a didactic or wisdom poem. At places it sounds very much like portions of Job, Proverbs, and Ecclesiastes. It contains warnings to the rich and famous and words of comfort for the poor. These timeless OT messages undergird many NT passages, such as the accounts about the rich fool in Luke 12:13-21 or the rich man and Lazarus in Luke 16. After a fairly lengthy introduction the body of the psalm falls into two parts as indicated by the climaxing refrain in vv. 12 and 20. The wisdom poet of Ps. 49 developed his somber theme in two stages, focusing on death as the universal experience of all men.

I. Introduction (49:1-4)
II. Stage One: The Common Experience of Death (49:5-12)

3 My mouth shall speak wisdom,
And the meditation of my heart shall give understanding.
4 I will incline my ear to a proverb;
I will disclose my [1]dark saying on the harp.

5 Why should I fear in the days of evil,
When the iniquity at my heels surrounds me?
6 Those who [a]trust in their wealth
And boast in the multitude of their riches,
7 None of them can by any means redeem his brother,
Nor [b]give to God a ransom for him—
8 For [c]the redemption of their souls is costly,
And it shall cease forever—
9 That he should continue to live eternally,
And [d]not [2]see the Pit.

10 For he sees wise men die;
Likewise the fool and the senseless person perish,
And leave their wealth to others.
11 [3]Their inner thought is that their houses will last forever,
Their dwelling places to all generations;
They [e]call their lands after their own names.
12 Nevertheless man, though in honor, does not [4]remain;
He is like the beasts that perish.

13 This is the way of those who are [f]foolish,
And of their posterity who approve their sayings. Selah 14 Like sheep they are laid in the grave;
Death shall feed on them;
[g]The upright shall have dominion over them in the morning;
[h]And their beauty shall be consumed in [5]the grave, far from their dwelling.
15 But God [i]will redeem my soul from the power of [6]the grave,
For He shall [j]receive me. Selah

16 Do not be afraid when one becomes rich,
When the glory of his house is increased;
17 For when he dies he shall carry nothing away;
His glory shall not descend after him.
18 Though while he lives [k]he blesses himself
(For men will praise you when you do well for yourself),
19 He shall go to the generation of his fathers;
They shall never see [l]light.[7]
20 A man who is in honor, yet does not understand,
[m]Is like the beasts that perish.

A. Applying His Teaching through an Important Reflection (49:5,6)
B. Explaining His Teaching through Important Reminders (49:7-12)

III. Stage Two: The Contrasting Experience in Death (49:13-20)
A. The Assurance of This Contrasting Experience in Death (49:13-15)
B. The Application of This Contrasting Experience in Death (49:16-20)

49:1 all peoples...all inhabitants. The scope of his message is geographically universal.

49:2 low and high, rich and poor. Note the chiastic order (i.e., A-B-B-A) of these descriptives. The scope of his message is also socially universal.

49:3,4 wisdom...understanding...proverb...dark saying. All these are wisdom terms (cf. respectively, Prov. 1:20; 9:1; 14:1; 24:7; then Prov. 2:3; 3:13; 5:1; 14:29; 18:2; 19:8; next Prov. 1:6; Ezek. 17:2; and finally, Judg. 14:12ff.).

49:5 the iniquity at my heels. This indicates evil chasing him.

49:6 Those who trust in their wealth. Mankind's propensity to trust in his own material goods is well attested in Scripture (e.g., Ps. 52:7; Jer. 17:5). Biblically this is exposed as the epitome of stupidity (cf.,e.g., Prov. 23:4,5; Luke 12:16ff.).

49:7-9 None of them can. No person, regardless of his means, is able to escape death; it is inevitable (Heb. 9:27). This passage anticipates the second death of hell (cf. Rev. 20:11-15), except for those who by faith have repented of their sin and embraced the only adequate ransom—the one paid by the Lord Jesus Christ with his death on the cross (cf. Matt. 20:28; 1 Pet. 1:18,19).

49:9b-10a not see...For he sees. The irony is obvious; the wealthy person somehow hopes to get around death, yet he witnesses people constantly dying all around him, from the wise to the foolish.

49:12 Nevertheless man...does not remain. This refrain (cf. v. 20) is the main point of the psalm. Cf. this concept in Eccl. 3:19. While man and beast both die, man's spirit lives on eternally but beasts have no life after death.

49:14 Like sheep they are laid in the grave; Death shall feed on them. More irony; they are considered as sheep once noted for their grazing; now death shall graze on them. The upright shall have dominion...in the morning. This harbinger of good news to come (cf. v. 15) interrupts this long series of confirmations of the condemnation of the self-reliant.

49:15 But God will redeem my soul...He shall receive me. This is one of the greatest affirmations of confidence in God in the Psalms. Although the faithless person cannot buy his way out of death (v. 7ff.), the faithful one is redeemed by the only Redeemer, God Himself. On the significance of the word "receive," cf. Gen. 5:24; 2 Kin. 2:10; Ps. 73:24; Heb. 11:5. So in v. 15 the psalmist expresses his confidence in God, that He would raise him to eternal life.

49:17 he shall carry nothing away. An explicit you-can't-take-it-with-you attestation (cf. Job 1:21; Eccl. 5:15; 1 Tim. 6:6,7).

49:20 A man...yet does not understand. The refrain is similar to that of v. 12.

PSALM 50

God the Righteous Judge

A Psalm of Asaph.

The [a]Mighty One, God the LORD,
Has spoken and called the earth
From the rising of the sun to its going down.
2 Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty,
[b]God will shine forth.
3 Our God shall come, and shall not keep silent;
[c]A fire shall devour before Him,
And it shall be very tempestuous all around Him.

4 [d]He shall call to the heavens from above,
And to the earth, that He may judge His people:
5 "Gather [e]My saints together to Me,
[f]Those who have [1]made a covenant with Me by sacrifice."
6 Let the [g]heavens declare His righteousness,
For [h]God Himself is Judge. Selah

7 "Hear, O My people, and I will speak,
O Israel, and I will testify against you;
[i]I am God, your God!
8 [j]I will not [2]rebuke you [k]for your sacrifices
Or your burnt offerings,
Which are continually before Me.

50:1-23 God Himself is quoted throughout the psalm. Consequently, its form resembles the prophetic writings which specialized in delivering divine oracles. Its major burden is to delineate the nature of true worship (i.e., "worshiping in spirit and truth," cf. John 4:24). The psalmist skillfully develops this burden in a polemical fashion with its exposures of externalism and hypocrisy. The Lord God, the Supreme Judge, levels two felony charges against His professing people.

I. Introduction: The Supreme Judge Enters to Preside (50:1-6)
II. The Supreme Judge Levels Two Charges (50:7-21)
  A. First Charge: Ritualism (50:7-15)
  B. Second Charge: Rebellion (50:16-21)
III. The Supreme Judge Offers a Solution (50:22,23)

50:Title This is the first psalm entitled "a psalm of Asaph" (cf. Pss. 73–83 in Book III of Psalms). For references to "Asaph," cf. 1 Chr. 6:39; 15:16ff.; 16:5ff.; 25:1ff.; 2 Chr. 5:12; 29:30; Ezra 2:40; Neh. 12:46. Sometimes the simple "Asaph" may stand for the longer expression "the sons of Asaph." Each occasion needs to be examined to see what the relationship between a given psalm and "Asaph" might be, i.e., composed by, handed down by, sung by this special Levitical choir. Many older commentators feel that Ps. 50 was authored by the original "Asaph."

50:1 The Mighty One, God the LORD. The Divine Judge is introduced with three significant OT names. The first two are the short and longer forms of the most common word for "God" in the OT, and the third is the name for Israel's God par excellence, i.e., Yahweh (cf. its historical origin in Ex. 3:14). From the rising of the sun to its going down. A common OT idiom conveying from E to W, i.e., all over the planet.

50:2,3 God will shine forth. These verses utilize the language of theophany (cf. Ex. 19:16-19).

50:4,5 He shall call to the heavens...to the earth...His people...My saints. He summons the heavens and the earth as personified witnesses for these charges He is about to level concerning His professing people (cf., e.g., Deut. 32:1ff.; Is. 1:2ff.).

50:5 a covenant with Me by sacrifice. Such a ratification of covenant is serious, sacred business (cf. Ex. 24:3-8). This reference to "sacrifice" will set the stage for His first felony charge in v. 7ff.

50:8 I will not rebuke you for your sacrifices. The Divine Judge's condemnations are directed not at the act of sacrifice but at the people's attitude in sacrificing (cf. 1 Sam. 15:22; Pss. 40:6-8; 51:17; 69:30; Is. 1:12; Jer. 7:21-26; Hos. 6:6; Mic. 6:6-8).

50:9-13 will not take a bull from your house. God refuses mere ritual; it is an abomination to Him. He, unlike the pagan deities, needs nothing; He created everything and owns everything.

50:14 Offer to God thanksgiving. Here is the sacrifice that always pleases Him (cf. Ps. 51:18; Heb 13:15).

50:16-20 the wicked. Whereas the first charge dealt with a vertical relationship (cf. the first tablet of the Ten Commandments), this one in v. 16ff. focuses on evidences of horizontal violations of covenant (i.e., rebellion against God in the context of man to fellow man offenses; cf. the second half of the Ten Commandments).

You slander your own mother's son.
21 These things you have done, and I kept silent;
[v]You thought that I was altogether like you;
But I will rebuke you,
And [w]set them in order before your eyes.

22 "Now consider this, you who [x]forget God,
Lest I tear you in pieces,
And there be none to deliver:
23 Whoever offers praise glorifies Me;
And [y]to him who orders his conduct aright
I will show the salvation of God."

PSALM 51

A Prayer of Repentance

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David [a]when Nathan the prophet went to him, after he had gone in to Bathsheba.

Have mercy upon me, O God,
According to Your lovingkindness;
According to the multitude of Your tender mercies,
[b]Blot out my transgressions.
2 [c]Wash me thoroughly from my iniquity,
And cleanse me from my sin.

3 For I acknowledge my transgressions,
And my sin is always before me.
4 [d]Against You, You only, have I sinned,
And done this evil [e]in Your sight—

PSALM 51
title [a] 2 Sam. 12:1
1 [b] [Is. 43:25; 44:22; Acts 3:19; Col. 2:14]
2 [c] Jer. 33:8; Ezek. 36:33; [Heb. 9:14; 1 John 1:7, 9]
4 [d] 2 Sam. 12:13 [e] [Luke 5:21]

50:21 I kept silent...But I will rebuke you. God's longsuffering grace must never be looked upon as laxity (cf. 2 Pet. 3:3-10) nor abused. His reckoning for rebellion will indeed be manifested.

50:22 Now consider this. Before destruction, mercifully comes an opportunity for deliberation and repentance.

50:23 Whoever offers praise glorifies Me. Cf. v. 14. This remains the remedy for mere ritualism. The conclusions of vv. 22 and 23 came in chiastic order, heightening the total impact of the psalm's two felony charges (i.e., the recounting of ritualism, vv. 7-15; the recounting of rebellion, vv. 16-21; the remedy of repentance for rebellion, v. 22; the remedy of repentance for ritualism, v. 23).

51:1-19 This is the classic passage in the OT on man's repentance and God's forgiveness of sin. Along with Ps. 32, it was written by David after his affair with Bathsheba and his murder of Uriah, her husband (2 Sam. 11–12). It is one of 7 poems called penitential psalms (6,32, 38,51,102,130,143). To David's credit, he recognized fully how horrendous his sin was against God, blamed no one but himself, and begged for divine forgiveness.

I. Plea for Forgiveness (51:1,2)
II. Proffer of Confession (51:3-6)
III. Prayer for Moral Cleanness (51:7-12)
IV. Promise of Renewed Service (51:13-17)
V. Petition for National Restoration (51:18,19)

51:1 lovingkindness. Even though he had sinned horribly, David knew that forgiveness was available, based on God's covenant love.

51:4 Against You, You only. David realized what every believer

Anointing of the Holy Spirit in the Old Testament

Old Testament Israel had mediators who stood between God and His people. To empower the OT mediators, the Holy Spirit gave special administrative ability to carry out the management of the nation and military skills which enabled them to defeat the theocracy's enemies. The Lord first anointed Moses with this ministry of the Spirit, and then in a truly dramatic scene, took some of this ministry of the Spirit and shared it with the 70 elders. Thus they were enabled to help Moses administer Israel (Num. 11:17-25).

Also Joshua (Deut. 34:9), the judges (Judg. 3:10; 6:34), and the kings of united Israel and the southern kingdom were anointed with this special ministry of the Spirit. When the Spirit of the Lord came upon King Saul, for example, he was in effect given "another heart" (1 Sam. 10:6-10). This does not mean that he was regenerated at this point in his life, but that he was given skills to be a king. Later the theocratic anointing was taken from Saul and given to David (1 Sam. 16:1-14). Saul, from that time on, became a totally incapable leader.

King David no doubt had this special ministry of the Spirit in mind in his prayer of repentance in Psalm 51. He was not afraid of losing his salvation when he prayed, "do not take your Holy Spirit from me" (Ps. 51:11), but rather was concerned that God would remove this spiritual wisdom and administrative skill from him. David had earlier seen such the tragedy in the life of Saul when that king of Israel lost the anointing of the Holy Spirit. David was thus pleading with God not to remove His hand of guidance.

King Solomon also perceived his youthful inabilities at the beginning of his reign and requested God to give him special wisdom in administering Israel. God was greatly pleased with this request and granted an extra measure to the young man (1 Kin. 3:7-12,28; 4:29-34). Although the OT is silent in this regard about the kings who succeeded Solomon, the theocratic anointing of the Spirit likely came on all of the descendants of David in connection with the Davidic Covenant.

When the theocracy went out of existence as Judah was carried away into captivity, and the last Davidic king was disempowered, the theocratic anointing was no longer given (Ezek. 8–11). The kings of the northern tribes, on the other hand, being essentially apostate and not in the Davidic line, never had the benefit of this special ministry of the Spirit.

PSALM 52

The End of the Wicked and the Peace of the Godly

To the Chief Musician. A [1]Contemplation of David [a]when Doeg the Edomite went and [b]told Saul, and said to him, "David has gone to the house of Ahimelech."

Why do you boast in evil, O mighty
man?
The goodness of God endures
continually.
2 Your tongue devises destruction,
Like a sharp razor, working deceitfully.
3 You love evil more than good,
Lying rather than speaking righteousness. Selah
4 You love all devouring words,
You deceitful tongue.

5 God shall likewise destroy you forever;

PSALM 52
title [a] 1 Sam. 22:9 [b] Ezek. 22:9 [1] Heb. Maschil seeking forgiveness must, that even though he had tragically wronged Bathsheba and Uriah, his ultimate crime was against God and His holy law (cf. 2 Sam. 11:27). Romans 3:4 quotes Ps. 51:4.

51:5 brought forth in iniquity. David also acknowledged that his sin was not God's fault in any way (vv. 4b,6), nor was it some aberration. Rather, the source of David's sin was a fallen, sinful disposition, his since conception.

51:7 hyssop. Old Testament priests used hyssop, a leafy plant, to sprinkle blood or water on a person being ceremonially cleansed from defilements such as leprosy or touching a dead body (cf. Lev. 14:6ff.; Num. 19:16-19). Here hyssop is a figure for David's longing to be spiritually cleansed from his moral defilement. In forgiveness, God washes away sin (cf. Ps. 103:12; Is. 1:16; Mic. 7:19).

51:8 bones. A figure of speech for the framework of the entire person. He was experiencing personal collapse under guilt (cf. Ps. 32:3,4).

51:11 Your Holy Spirit from me. This is a reference to the special Holy Spirit anointing on theocratic mediators.

51:12 generous Spirit. The Holy Spirit is generous, willing, and eager to uphold the believer.

51:16 You do not desire sacrifice. Ritual without genuine repentance is useless. However, with a right heart attitude, sacrifices were acceptable (see v. 19).

52:1-9 This psalm is a poetic lesson about the futility of evil, the final triumph of righteousness, and the sovereign control of God over the moral events of history. The event in David's life which motivated him to write this psalm is recorded in 1 Sam. 21,22.

I. The Rashness of the Wicked (52:1-5)
II. The Reaction of the Righteous (52:6,7)
III. The Rejoicing of the Godly (52:8,9)

52:1 mighty man. A reference to Doeg, the chief of Saul's shepherds, who reported to Saul that the priests of Nob had aided David when he was a fugitive (cf. 1 Sam. 22:9,18,19).

52:5 God shall likewise destroy. Ultimately, the wicked are in the hands of a holy God (cf. Heb. 9:27).

He shall take you away, and pluck you out of your dwelling
place,
And uproot you from the land of the living. Selah
6 The righteous also shall see and fear,
And shall laugh at him, saying,
7 "Here is the man who did not make
God his strength,
But trusted in the abundance of his
riches,
And strengthened himself in his
[2]wickedness."

8 But I am [c]like a green olive tree in the house of God;
I trust in the mercy of God forever
and ever.
9 I will praise You forever,
Because You have done it;
And in the presence of Your saints
I will wait on Your name, for it [3]is good.

PSALM 53

Folly of the Godless, and the Restoration of Israel

To the Chief Musician. Set to "Mahalath."
A [1]Contemplation of David.

The [a]fool has said in his heart,
"There is no God."
They are corrupt, and have done
abominable iniquity;
[b]There is none who does good.

2 God looks down from heaven upon the children of men,
To see if there are any who understand, who [c]seek God.
3 Every one of them has turned aside;
They have together become corrupt;
There is none who does good,
No, not one.

4 Have the workers of iniquity [d]no
knowledge,
Who eat up my people as they eat bread,
And do not call upon God?
5 [e]There they are in great fear
Where no fear was,
For God has scattered the bones of him who encamps against
you;
You have put them to shame,
Because God has despised them.

6 [f]Oh, that the salvation of Israel would come out of Zion!
When God brings back [2]the captivity
of His people,
Let Jacob rejoice and Israel be glad.

PSALM 54

title [a] 1 Sam. 23:19 [1] Heb. neginoth [2] Heb. Maschil

52:6 see and fear. God's punishment of the wicked serves as a reinforcement to the righteous to obey God. shall laugh at him. In the end, the wicked become a laughingstock in a universe controlled by God.

52:8 green olive tree. The psalmist exults (through this simile) that the one who trusts in the mercy of God is productive and secure.

53:1-6 This psalm is nearly identical to Ps. 14 (Ps. 53:1-5a is from Ps. 14:1-5a; Ps. 53:6 is from Ps. 4:7). The major difference is v. 5, in which the psalmist celebrates a military victory over an enemy. Apparently Ps. 14 is here rephrased to apply to a specified war event, earning it a distinct place in the canon.

I. The Description of Those Who Reject God and His People (53:1-5)
II. The Danger to Those Who Reject God and His People (53:5)
III. The Deliverance of His People (53:6)

53:Title. "Mahalath." The name of a tune or an instrument.

53:1-4 See notes on Ps. 14. Romans 3:10-12 quotes Ps. 53:1-3.

53:2 God. The reference to "God" rather than "LORD" is another difference between Ps. 14 and 53. "Elohim" is used 3 times in Ps. 14, but 7 times in Ps. 53.

53:5 in great fear. The verse describes a sudden reversal in the fortunes of war. The haughty enemy besieging Israel was suddenly terrified and utterly defeated. Historical examples of such unexpected terrors to Israel's enemy are recorded in 2 Chr. 20 and Is. 37. scattered the bones. Perhaps nothing was more disgraceful to a nation at war than to have the bones of its dead army scattered over the land rather than buried.

54:1-7 This psalm apparently comes from the same period of David's life as does Ps. 52. Even though David had recently rescued an Israelite border town from the Philistines, he was still considered a traitor to Saul (1 Sam. 23 and 26). In the wake of this emotional devastation, David prayed to God for vindication. The psalm provides encouragement to any believer who has been maligned.

I. The Prayer for Deliverance (54:1-3)
II. The Anticipation of Deliverance (54:4,5)
III. The Thanksgiving for Deliverance (54:6,7)

54:1 by Your name. In the ancient world, a person's name was essentially the person himself. Here, God's name includes His covenant protection. vindicate. David requests that God will execute justice for him, as in a court trial when a defendant is declared not guilty.

54:2 Give ear. An anthropomorphism meaning "listen," "pay attention."

54:3 strangers. Either non-Israelites or Israelites who had broken the covenant with God might be called strangers. Since in this case

3 For strangers have risen up against me,
And oppressors have sought after my life;
They have not set God before them.
Selah

4 Behold, God is my helper;
The Lord is with those who [3]uphold my life.

I will praise Your name, O LORD, for it is good.
7 For He has delivered me out of all trouble;
[b]And my eye has seen its desire upon my enemies.

PSALM 55

Trust in God Concerning the Treachery of Friends

To the Chief Musician. With [1]stringed instruments. A [2]Contemplation of David.

Give ear to my prayer, O God,
And do not hide Yourself from my supplication.
2 Attend to me, and hear me;
I [a]am [3]restless in my complaint, and moan noisily,
3 Because of the voice of the enemy,
Because of the oppression of the wicked;
[b]For they bring down trouble upon me,
And in wrath they hate me.

4 [c]My heart is severely pained within me,
And the terrors of death have fallen upon me.
5 Fearfulness and trembling have come upon me,
And horror has overwhelmed me.
6 So I said, "Oh, that I had wings like a dove!
I would fly away and be at rest.
7 Indeed, I would wander far off,
And remain in the wilderness. Selah
8 I would hasten my escape
From the windy storm and tempest."

9 Destroy, O Lord, and divide their [4]tongues,
For I have seen [d]violence and strife in the city.
10 Day and night they go around it on its walls;
[e]Iniquity and trouble are also in the midst of it.
11 Destruction is in its midst;
[f]Oppression and deceit do not depart from its streets.

12 [g]For it is not an enemy who reproaches me;
Then I could bear it.
Nor is it one who hates me who has [h]exalted himself against me;
Then I could hide from him.
13 But it was you, a man my equal,
[i]My companion and my acquaintance.
14 We took sweet counsel together,
And [j]walked to the house of God in the throng.

15 Let death seize them;
Let them [k]go down alive into [5]hell,
For wickedness is in their dwellings and among them.

16 As for me, I will call upon God,
And the LORD shall save me.
17 [l]Evening and morning and at noon
I will pray, and cry aloud,
And He shall hear my voice.
18 He has redeemed my soul in peace from the battle that was against me,
For [m]there were many against me.
19 God will hear, and afflict them,
[n]Even He who abides from of old.

Saul and the Ziphites are the oppressors, the strangers are apostate Israelites (cf. 1 Sam. 23:19; 26:1).

54:5 in Your truth. Since God is omniscient, He can execute perfect justice against the wicked.

54:7 seen its desire. David anticipates with confidence that which he has seen in the past—the defeat of his enemies.

55:1-23 In this individual lament, David pours out his heart to his Lord because a former close friend has betrayed him (vv. 12-14). There is a strong possibility that this psalm was occasioned by the betrayal of Absalom and/or Ahithophel (cf. 2 Sam. 5-18). Most of the psalm alternates between prayers for his enemy's ruin (vv. 9,15,19,23) and praises for God's blessings (vv. 16,18,22). The high point of the psalm for Christians who have been "stabbed in the back" by a confidant is v. 22. Though despairing, David expresses ultimate confidence in God.

I. The Prayer of Distress (55:1-8)
II. The Prayer for Justice (55:9-15)
III. The Prayer of Assurance (55:16-23)

55:3 bring down trouble. The verb pictures something being tipped over, crashing down on the victim.

55:6 wings like a dove. David expresses his escapist feelings.

55:9 divide their tongues. Perhaps this is an allusion to the Tower of Babel, where God destroyed the force of the movement against Him by multiplying languages (cf. Gen. 11:5-9).

55:15 go down alive into hell. Since God had done this once with the enemies of Moses (Num. 16:30), David asks Him to perform the same judgment on his enemies.

55:19 they do not change. David's enemies were too set in their ways and too secure to pay any attention to God.

Therefore they do not fear God.

20 He has [o]put forth his hands against those who [p]were at peace with him;
He has broken his [6]covenant.
21 [q]The words of his mouth were smoother than butter,
But war was in his heart;
His words were softer than oil,
Yet they were drawn swords.

22 [r]Cast your burden on the LORD,
And [s]He shall sustain you;
He shall never permit the righteous to be [7]moved.

23 But You, O God, shall bring them down to the pit of destruction;

But I will trust in You.

PSALM 56

Prayer for Relief from Tormentors

To the Chief Musician. Set to [1] "The Silent Dove in Distant Lands." A Michtam of David when the [a]Philistines captured him in Gath.

Be [b]merciful to me, O God, for man would swallow me up;
Fighting all day he oppresses me.
2 My enemies would [c]hound me all day,
For there are many who fight against me, O Most High.

3 Whenever I am afraid,
I will trust in You.
4 In God (I will praise His word),
In God I have put my trust;
[d]I will not fear.
What can flesh do to me?

5 All day they twist my words;
All their thoughts are against me for evil.
6 They gather together,
They hide, they mark my steps,
When they lie in wait for my life.
7 Shall they escape by iniquity?
In anger cast down the peoples,
O God!

8 You number my wanderings;
Put my tears into Your bottle;
[e]Are they not in Your book?
9 When I cry out to You,
Then my enemies will turn back;
This I know, because [f]God is for me.
10 In God (I will praise His word),
In the LORD (I will praise His word),
11 In God I have put my trust;
I will not be afraid.
What can man do to me?

12 Vows made to You are binding upon me, O God;
I will render praises to You,
13 [g]For You have delivered my soul from death.
Have You not kept my feet from falling,
That I may walk before God
In the [h]light of the living?

PSALM 57

Prayer for Safety from Enemies

To the Chief Musician. Set to [1] "Do Not Destroy." A Michtam of David [a]when he fled from Saul into the cave.

Be merciful to me, O God, be merciful
to me!

PSALM 57
title [a] 1 Sam. 22:1 [1] Heb. Al Tashcheth

55:20 broken his covenant. This enemy had broken a treaty in his treachery, even against his allies.

55:21 war was in his heart. Though the traitor talked peace, his intention was war.

55:22 Cast your burden on the LORD. The word for "burden" implies one's circumstances, one's lot. The psalmist promises that the Lord will uphold the believer in the struggles of life.

55:23 the pit of destruction. Compare the unusual death of Absalom (2 Sam. 18:9-15) and the suicide of Ahithophel (2 Sam. 17:23).

56:1-13 This psalm, apparently written when David had been endangered by the Philistines (1 Sam. 21:10-15), expresses the kind of confidence in the Lord that believers should exude when they find themselves in terrifying circumstances. David's natural reaction was to panic (vv. 3,4,11). But he demonstrates in this psalm that the believer can replace potential terror with the composure of trust.

I. Fear and Faith (56:1-4)
II. Destroyer and Deliverer (56:5-9)
III. Trust and Thanksgiving (56:10-13)

56:Title. "The Silent Dove in Distant Lands." Possibly a tune name which links Ps. 56 with Ps. 55 (cf. Ps. 55:6ff.). See note on Ps. 16:Title.

56:3 I will trust in You. Confidence in the Lord is a purposeful decision, replacing an emotional reaction to one's circumstances.

56:5 All day. Anguish is intensified by unceasing harassment.

56:7 In anger. The anger of God is not an emotional loss of temper, but a judicial outrage resulting from God's holy nature reacting to wickedness and ungodliness.

56:8 my tears...Your bottle. David asked God to keep a remembrance of all of his sufferings, so that God would eventually vindicate him.

56:11 What can man do to me? No human has the power to overcome God's providential control.

56:12 Vows. Confident that the Lord would deliver him, David had already vowed to present a thank offering to God (cf. Lev. 7:12; Ps. 50:14).

57:1-11 This is another lament expressing supreme confidence in the Lord in the midst of calamitous circumstances. Though David

For my soul trusts in You;
[b]And in the shadow of Your wings I will make my refuge,
[c]Until these calamities have passed by.

2 I will cry out to God Most High,
To God [d]who performs all things for me.
3 [e]He shall send from heaven and save me;
He reproaches the one who [2]would swallow me up. Selah
God [f]shall send forth His mercy and His truth.

4 My soul is among lions;
I lie among the sons of men
Who are set on fire,
[g]Whose teeth are spears and arrows,
And their tongue a sharp sword.
5 [h]Be exalted, O God, above the heavens;
Let Your glory be above all the earth.

6 [i]They have prepared a net for my steps;
My soul is bowed down;
They have dug a pit before me;
Into the midst of it they themselves have fallen. Selah

7 [j]My heart is steadfast, O God, my heart is steadfast;
I will sing and give praise.
8 Awake, [k]my glory!
Awake, lute and harp!
I will awaken the dawn.

9 [l]I will praise You, O Lord, among the peoples;
I will sing to You among the [3]nations.
10 [m]For Your mercy reaches unto the heavens,
And Your truth unto the clouds.

11 [n]Be exalted, O God, above the heavens;
Let Your glory be above all the earth.

PSALM 58

The Just Judgment of the Wicked

To the Chief Musician. Set to [1]"Do Not Destroy." A Michtam of David.

Do you indeed speak righteousness, you silent ones?
Do you judge uprightly, you sons of men?
2 No, in heart you work wickedness;
You weigh out the violence of your hands in the earth.

3 [a]The wicked are estranged from the womb;
They go astray as soon as they are born, speaking lies.
4 [b]Their poison is like the poison of a serpent;

PSALM 58
title [1] Heb. Al Tashcheth
3 [a] [Ps. 53:3; Is. 48:8]
4 [b] Eccl. 10:11

finds himself hiding from Saul (see Title), he knows that his real refuge is not in the walls of the cave (cf. 1 Sam. 22:1; 24:3), but in the shadow of God's wings.

I. The Plea for Protection (57:1-6)
II. The Proffering of Praise (57:7-11)

57:Title. "Do Not Destroy." Possibly the opening words of a known song, implying that this psalm should be sung to the same tune. See note on Ps. 16:Title.

57:1 the shadow of Your wings. Metaphorically, God cares for His own as a mother bird protect its young. Symbolically, there may be a reference here to the cherubim wings on the ark of the covenant where God was specifically present (cf. Ex. 37:1-16; Pss. 17:8; 36:7; 61:4; 63:7; 91:1,4). I will make my refuge. When life becomes bizarre, only one's relationship with his God calms the soul.

57:2 God Most High. God is transcendent, elevated far above His creation and all powerful. performs all things for me. God's transcendence (v. 2a) never removes Him from intimate involvement in His peoples' lives.

57:4 lions. The wicked are pictured as menacing animals, ready to destroy their prey with their razor-edged teeth (cf. Pss. 7:2; 10:9; 17:12; 22:13). set on fire. The wicked are like a consuming fire.

57:5 Be exalted, O God. A truly godly person wants God's glory to be exhibited more than he wants his own personal problems to be solved.

57:6 a net...a pit. Set a trap, as a hunter might entangle an animal's feet with a net.

57:7-11 These verses were borrowed by David for Ps. 108:1-5.

57:8 my glory! The mind, that rational, intellectual, emotional part of a person which interacts with and praises God. See note on 16:9. I will awaken the dawn. He cannot wait until morning to praise the Lord for all of His blessings. He must wake up the personified dawn so that he can praise the Lord.

57:9 the peoples...nations. References to Gentiles, nations which would not normally know Jehovah God.

57:10 unto the heavens. David is thinking as broadly (v. 9) and as highly (vv. 10-11) as he can. God's mercy, truth, and glory are immense and unfathomable (cf. Rom. 11:33; Eph. 3:17,18).

58:1-11 As a lament against tyranny, the first half of the psalm rehearses a series of charges against wicked leaders and judges; and the second half is an imprecatory prayer that they be obliterated. In the end, the psalmist is certain that God will act with ultimate justice.

I. The Indictment of Unjust Leaders (58:1-5)
II. The Imprecation Against Unjust Leaders (58:6-11)

58:Title. "Do Not Destroy." See note on Ps. 57. See note on Ps. 16:Title.

58:1 silent ones. The leaders were silent when they should have spoken up for righteousness.

58:2 weigh out. These wicked rulers meditate on the strategy for wicked schemes.

58:3 as soon as they are born. All people are born totally depraved. Without being made new creatures in Christ by God's power, they are prevented by their wicked nature from pleasing God (cf. Ps. 51:5; Rom. 3:9-18; 2 Cor. 5:17).

58:4 Their poison. The words and actions of these tyrants are like

They are like the deaf cobra that stops its ear,
5 Which will not [c]heed the voice of charmers,
Charming ever so skillfully.

6 [d]Break[2] their teeth in their mouth, O God!
Break out the fangs of the young lions, O LORD!
7 [e]Let them flow away as waters which run continually;
When he bends his bow,
Let his arrows be as if cut in pieces.
8 Let them be like a snail which melts away as it goes,
[f]Like a stillborn child of a woman, that they may not see the sun.

9 Before your [g]pots can feel the burning thorns,
He shall take them away [h]as with a whirlwind,
As in His living and burning wrath.
10 The righteous shall rejoice when he sees the [i]vengeance;
[j]He shall wash his feet in the blood of the wicked,
11 [k]So that men will say,
"Surely there is a reward for the righteous;
Surely He is God who [l]judges in the earth."

PSALM 59

The Assured Judgment of the Wicked

To the Chief Musician. Set to [1]"Do Not Destroy." A Michtam of David [a]when Saul sent men, and they watched the house in order to kill him.

Deliver me from my enemies, O my God;
[2]Defend me from those who rise up against me.
2 Deliver me from the workers of iniquity,
And save me from bloodthirsty men.

3 For look, they lie in wait for my life;
[b]The mighty gather against me,
Not for my transgression nor for my sin, O LORD.
4 They run and prepare themselves through no fault of mine.

[c]Awake to help me, and behold!
5 You therefore, O LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel,
Awake to punish all the [3]nations;
Do not be merciful to any wicked transgressors. Selah

6 [d]At evening they return,
They growl like a dog,
And go all around the city.
7 Indeed, they belch with their mouth;
[e]Swords are in their lips;
For they say, [f]"Who hears?"

8 But [g]You, O LORD, shall laugh at them;

poisonous venom in a serpent's fangs. deaf cobra. Like a cobra which cannot hear its charmer are these stubborn rulers, who ignore all encouragements to righteousness.

58:6 Break their teeth...fangs. The psalmist prays that the means of doing evil would be destroyed.

58:7 flow away as waters. An imprecatory prayer that the tyrants would disappear like water seeping into sand in a dry wadi. arrows...cut in pieces. Apparently a prayer that the intentions of evil would be rendered as ineffective as broken arrows.

58:8 snail which melts away. A simile for that which is transitive, perhaps based facetiously on the idea that a snail depletes itself in its own trail as it moves along.

58:9 Before your pots...thorns. An obscure metaphor implying swiftness. The Lord will quickly destroy the wicked rulers.

58:10 wash his feet in the blood. The point of the figure is that the wicked will eventually be defeated and the righteous will share with the Lord in His victory.

58:11 God who judges in the earth. In the end, the righteous will see that Jehovah is not indifferent to injustices.

59:1-17 This is another in a series of laments in which the psalmist pleads for God to defend him against his oppressors. The psalm is a mixture of prayers, unfavorable descriptions of the adversary, imprecations, and praise to God. Though written when David was king of Israel, the psalm recalls an earlier time of anguish when Saul sought to kill David (1 Sam. 19:11). Ultimately David's strong confidence in God's sovereignty transforms the lament into a song of assurance.

I. Plea for God's Deliverance (59:1-15)
II. Praise for God's Defense (59:16,17)

59:Title. "Do Not Destroy." See note Ps. 57:Title. Michtam. See note on Ps. 16:Title. Saul sent men...to kill him. The setting for the psalm is 1 Sam. 19:11. David's wife (Saul's daughter) helped David escape through a window in the middle of the night.

59:5 God of hosts. "Hosts" represent God's angels as His army.

59:6 growl like a dog. Dogs of the ancient world were often wild scavengers. Here, they serve as a simile for the messengers of Saul outside David's house setting an ambush.

59:7 belch with their mouth. Pictures the coarse, uncouth character of Saul's henchmen (cf. v. 12). swords are in their lips. Their conversation was dedicated to the assassination of David. they say,* "Who hears?" A blasphemy implying that God either doesn't exist or doesn't know what happens in the affairs of mankind.

59:8 all the nations. Gentiles (see note on Ps. 57:9). This phrase and "my people" in v. 11 imply that this psalm was written several years after the event when David was king and involved in international affairs. David wrote his psalms as a prophet under the superintendence of the Holy Spirit (2 Sam. 23:2).

You shall have all the [4]nations in derision.
9 I will wait for You, O You [5]his Strength;
[h]For God is my [6]defense.
10 [7]My God of mercy shall [i]come to meet me;
God shall let [j]me see my desire on my enemies.

11 Do not slay them, lest my people forget;
Scatter them by Your power,
And bring them down,
O Lord our shield.
12 [k]For the sin of their mouth and the words of their lips,
Let them even be taken in their pride,
And for the cursing and lying which they speak.
13 [l]Consume them in wrath, consume them,
That they may not be;
And [m]let them know that God rules in Jacob
To the ends of the earth. Selah

14 And [n]at evening they return,
They growl like a dog,
And go all around the city.
15 They [o]wander up and down for food,
And [8]howl if they are not satisfied.

16 But I will sing of Your power;
Yes, I will sing aloud of Your mercy in the morning;
For You have been my defense
And refuge in the day of my trouble.
17 To You, [p]O my Strength, I will sing praises;
For God is my defense,
My God of mercy.

PSALM 60

Urgent Prayer for the Restored Favor of God

To the Chief Musician. [a]Set to [1]"Lily of the Testimony." A Michtam of David. For teaching. [b]When he fought against Mesopotamia and Syria of Zobah, and Joab returned and killed twelve thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt.

O God, [c]You have cast us off;
You have broken us down;
You have been displeased;
Oh, restore us again!
2 You have made the earth tremble;
You have broken it;
[d]Heal its breaches, for it is shaking.
3 [e]You have shown Your people hard things;
[f]You have made us drink the wine of [2]confusion.

4 [g]You have given a banner to those who fear You,
That it may be displayed because of the truth. Selah
5 [h]That Your beloved may be delivered,
Save with Your right hand, and hear me.

6 God has [i]spoken in His holiness:
"I will rejoice;
I will [j]divide [k]Shechem
And measure out [l]the Valley of Succoth.
7 Gilead is Mine, and Manasseh is Mine;

8 [o] 2 Sam. 8:2

59:11 lest my people forget. The psalmist thinks that if the Lord were to destroy the wicked too quickly, the lesson of God's hatred of evil might not be impressed on the minds of the people.

60:1-12 This psalm is a national lament written after the unexpected military setback alluded to in 2 Sam. 8:13 and 1 Chr. 18:12. While David and the main part of his army were fighting in the northern part of the country, one of Israel's other neighboring enemies, Edom, successfully attacked the southern part of Judah. David ultimately prevailed in victory. The psalm expresses the feelings of a people shocked and confused by a tragedy which suggested that God had abandoned them. Verses 5-12 are essentially repeated in Ps. 108:6-13.

I. The People's Contemplation of Abandonment (60:1-5)
II. The Lord's Control Over the Nations (60:6-8)
III. The People's Confidence in God (60:9-12)

60:Title. Joab...killed twelve thousand. The Lord soon rewarded their confidence in Him, enabling the armies of Israel to slaughter the Edomites.

60:2 earth tremble. Earthquake imagery is used to illustrate that what appears secure sometimes is not.

60:3 wine of confusion. This metaphor compares the impact of wine on the mind with the confusion which comes from a bewildering event in life.

60:4 banner. God and His truth serve as a rallying point for the perplexed people.

60:5 beloved. Probably a reference to David. There may be a play on words here in that the Heb. root for "David" and "beloved" is the same.

60:6 Shechem...Succoth. These are two territories on opposite sides of the Jordan, occupied by Israel. Jacob had settled in Succoth (E of the Jordan) when he returned from his sojourn with Laban (cf. Gen. 33:17).

60:7 Gilead...Judah. All of these key geographical locations in Israel ultimately belonged to God, who was more interested in their welfare than anyone else. helmet. Ephraim was the primary source of defense to the N of Israel. lawgiver. Judah was the tribe which was to govern Israel, from which David and his descendants came.

60:8 Moab...Edom...Philistia. The 3 principal enemies surrounding Israel to the NE, SE, and W, respectively. Moab is My washpot. The psalmist pictures Moab as a humble, menial servant to God,

[p]Over Edom I will cast My shoe;
[q]Philistia, shout in triumph because of Me."

9 Who will bring me to the strong city?
Who will lead me to Edom?
10 Is it not You, O God, [r]who cast us off?
And You, O God, who did [s]not go out with our armies?
11 Give us help from trouble,
[t]For the help of man is useless.
12 Through God [u]we will do valiantly,
For it is He who shall tread down our enemies.

PSALM 61

Assurance of God's Eternal Protection

To the Chief Musician. On [1]a stringed instrument. A Psalm of David.

Hear my cry, O God;
Attend to my prayer.
2 From the end of the earth I will cry to You,
When my heart is overwhelmed;
Lead me to the rock that is higher than I.

3 For You have been a shelter for me,
[a]A strong tower from the enemy.
4 I will abide in Your [2]tabernacle forever;
[b]I will trust in the shelter of Your wings. Selah

5 For You, O God, have heard my vows;
You have given me the heritage of those who fear Your name.
6 You will prolong the king's life,
His years as many generations.
7 He shall abide before God forever.
Oh, prepare mercy [c]and truth, which may [3]preserve him!

8 So I will sing praise to Your name forever,
That I may daily perform my vows.

PSALM 62

A Calm Resolve to Wait for the Salvation of God

To the Chief Musician. To [a]Jeduthun. A Psalm of David.

Truly [b]my soul silently waits for God;
From Him comes my salvation.
2 He only is my rock and my salvation;
He is my [1]defense;
I shall not be greatly [c]moved.[2]

3 How long will you attack a man?
You shall be slain, all of you, either being or bringing a washbasin for His use. Over Edom... shoe. The picture is that of a man entering his house and throwing his shoes to his servant. Edom, like Moab, was a servant under God's sovereign control. Philistia, shout in triumph. Here is a victorious battle shout from the pagans, who must realize God's power is behind Israel's victory.

60:12 Through God...valiantly. The nation relearned the truth that only God gives victory.

61:1-8 David may have written this wonderful psalm when his own son, Absalom, temporarily drove him away from his throne in Israel (2 Sam. 15–18). The psalm is rich in metaphors and references to God's covenants with Israel. David once again demonstrates a godly response to overwhelming and depressing developments in life.

I. The Cry for Help (61:1,2)
II. The Confidence in God (61:3-7)
III. The Commitment to Loyalty (61:8)

61:2 From the end of the earth. David's absence from his homeland compounds his feelings of discouragement and exhaustion. The phrase also hints at feelings of estrangement from God. my heart is overwhelmed. David's hope and courage were failing. the rock that is higher. David expresses his disregard of personal autonomy and his reliance on his God in this metaphor for refuge.

61:3 strong tower. One of 4 figures of speech in vv. 3,4 for security; the strong towers stabilized the city walls and served as places of defense and refuge.

61:5 heritage. Refers to the benefits, including life in the Promised Land (cf. Deut. 28–30), of participating in a covenant with God.

61:6 prolong the king's life. In the immediate context, David prays for himself in his struggle with Absalom. Beyond this, here is a prayer for the continuity of the divinely established monarchy. Because he realized that one of his descendants would be the Messiah, David sometimes does not distinguish himself from the messianic dynasty.

61:7 forever. The Davidic Covenant guaranteed that on the basis of God's merciful and faithful dealings with David and the nation, David's descendants would rule on the throne of Israel forever (cf. 2 Sam. 7; Pss. 40:11; 89:4,33-37).

61:8 daily perform my vows. As a regular means of expressing thanksgiving for prayers answered, the psalmist promised daily obedience to his Lord (cf. Ps. 56:12).

62:1-12 Whether Absalom's rebellion is the setting or not (2 Sam. 15–18), David writes this psalm while facing treason from someone. David faces the problem of his adversaries forthrightly (vv. 3,4), but his thoughts focus primarily on God (cf. Phil. 4:4-13).

I. Affirming God's Covenant Relationship (62:1,2,5,6)
II. Confronting One's Treasonous Adversaries (62:3,4)
III. Trusting God's Sovereignty (62:7-10)
IV. Praising God's Power and Mercy (62:11,12)

62:Title. To Jeduthun. An official temple musician. See note on Ps. 39:Title.

62:1 silently waits for God. Silence indicates trust that is both patient and uncomplaining (cf. v. 5).

62:2 greatly moved. Means "shaken," or "demoralized."

62:3 leaning wall and a tottering fence. A metaphor for imminent collapse. Some apply it to the victim, but as translated here it refers to the attacker.

4 They only consult to cast him down from his high position;
They [e]delight in lies;
They bless with their mouth,
But they curse inwardly. Selah

5 My soul, wait silently for God alone,
For my [3]expectation is from Him.
6 He only is my rock and my

He is my defense;
I shall not be [4]moved.
7 [f]In God is my salvation and my

The rock of my strength,
And my refuge, is in God.

8 Trust in Him at all times, you
people;
[g]Pour out your heart before Him;
God is a refuge for us. Selah

9 [h]Surely men of low degree are [5]a

Men of high degree are a lie;
If they are weighed on the scales,
They are altogether lighter than vapor.
10 Do not trust in oppression,
Nor vainly hope in robbery;
[i]If riches increase,
Do not set your heart on them.

11 God has spoken once,
Twice I have heard this:
That power belongs to God.
12 Also to You, O Lord, belongs mercy;
For [j]You [6]render to each one according to his work.

PSALM 63

Joy in the Fellowship of God

A Psalm of David [a]when he was in the wilderness of Judah.

O God, You are my God;
Early will I seek You;
[b]My soul thirsts for You;
My flesh longs for You
In a dry and thirsty land
Where there is no water.
2 So I have looked for You in the
sanctuary,
To see [c]Your power and Your glory.

3 [d]Because Your lovingkindness is better than life,
My lips shall praise You.
4 Thus I will bless You while I live;
I will [e]lift up my hands in Your name.
5 My soul shall be satisfied as with
[1]marrow and [2]fatness,
And my mouth shall praise You with joyful lips.

6 When [f]I remember You on my bed,
I meditate on You in the night watches.
7 Because You have been my help,
Therefore in the shadow of Your wings I will rejoice.
8 My soul follows close behind You;
Your right hand upholds me.

9 But those who seek my life, to destroy
it,
Shall go into the lower parts of the
earth.
10 They shall [3]fall by the sword;
They shall be [4]a portion for jackals.

11 But the king shall rejoice in God;

PSALM 63

62:6 I shall not be moved. David demonstrates his increased confidence in the Lord. At first he would not be "greatly moved" (v. 2). Here, on second thought, he would not be moved at all.

62:9 low degree...high degree. All men, regardless of social status, are woefully inadequate objects of trust.

63:1-11 In deepest words of devotion, this psalm expresses David's intense love for his Lord. The psalm was written while David was in the Judean wilderness, either during his flight from Saul (1 Sam. 23), or more likely from Absalom (2 Sam. 15; cf. 63:11 "the king"). David writes from the perspective of these tenses.

I. Present—Seeking God's Presence (63:1-5)
II. Past—Remembering God's Power (63:6-8)
III. Future—Anticipating God's Judgment (63:9-11)

63:1 Early will I seek You. Eagerness to be with the Lord in every situation is more in view than the time of day. My soul thirsts. David longs for God's presence like a wanderer in a desert longs for water. In a dry and thirsty land. David writes this psalm while hiding in the wilderness of Judea, but longing to be back worshiping in Jerusalem.

63:3 better than life. God's covenant love is more valuable to David than life itself (cf. Phil. 1:21; Acts 20:24).

63:4 lift up my hands. As an OT posture of prayer, the upheld hands pictured both the ascent of prayer and the readiness to receive every good gift which comes from God (cf. James 1:17). It was thus a posture of trust in God alone.

63:5 marrow and fatness. A metaphor comparing the spiritual and emotional satisfaction of the divine presence with the satisfaction of rich banquet food.

63:8 My soul follows close behind You. In response to God's repeated invitation to "hold fast" to Him (Deut. 4:4; 10:20; 13:4), the psalmist clings to God. This signifies David's unfailing commitment to his Lord.

63:9 into the lower parts of the earth. A reference to the realm of the dead. See note on Eph. 4:9.

63:10 jackals. Scavengers, feasting on unburied bodies. (see note on Ps. 53:5).

[g] Everyone who swears by Him shall glory;
But the mouth of those who speak lies shall be stopped.

PSALM 64

Oppressed by the Wicked but Rejoicing in the LORD

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

Hear my voice, O God, in my [1] meditation;
Preserve my life from fear of the enemy.
2 Hide me from the secret plots of the wicked,
From the rebellion of the workers of iniquity,
3 Who sharpen their tongue like a sword,
[a] And bend their bows to shoot their arrows—bitter words,
4 That they may shoot in secret at the blameless;
Suddenly they shoot at him and do not fear.

5 They encourage themselves in an evil matter;
They talk of laying snares secretly;
[b] They say, "Who will see them?"
6 They devise iniquities:
"We have perfected a shrewd scheme."
Both the inward thought and the heart of man are deep.

7 But God shall shoot at them with an arrow;
Suddenly they shall be wounded.
8 So He will make them stumble over their own tongue;
[c] All who see them shall flee away.
9 All men shall fear,
And shall [d] declare the work of God;
For they shall wisely consider His doing.

10 [e] The righteous shall be glad in the LORD, and trust in Him.
And all the upright in heart shall glory.

PSALM 65

Praise to God for His Salvation and Providence

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David. A Song.

Praise is awaiting You, O God, in Zion;
And to You the [1] vow shall be performed.
2 O You who hear prayer,
[a] To You all flesh will come.
3 Iniquities prevail against me;
As for our transgressions,
You will [b] provide atonement for them.

4 [c] Blessed is the man You [d] choose,
And cause to approach You,
That he may dwell in Your courts.
[e] We shall be satisfied with the goodness of Your house,
Of Your holy temple.

4 [c] Ps. 33:12 [d] Ps. 4:3 [e] Ps. 36:8

63:11 who swears by Him. The Mosaic Covenant instructed this practice expressing loyalty to the true God alone (cf. Deut. 6:13; 10:20; 1 Kin. 8:31; Jer. 12:16).

64:1-10 This psalm begins with a vivid description of the devious ways of the wicked, especially their speech (vv. 3-5,8). Still, the psalmist does not fear that God will lose control of the situation. After seeing His justice at work, the righteous will be glad and trust all the more in Him (64:10).

I. The Malevolent Ingenuity of the Wicked (64:1-6)
II. The Memorable Reciprocation by the Lord (64:7-10)

64:1 Preserve...from fear. This word for "fear" means "dread," and is a different Heb. word than the "fear" in verses 4 and 9. The psalmist recognized that the fear of an enemy can be as destructive as an actual assault.

64:3 sharpen their tongue. Their intent was to slander with their speech (cf. Ps. 59:7).

64:4 in secret. Anonymously.

64:5 "Who will see them?" This was a question of brazen autonomy. They mock the omniscience of God (cf. Ps. 59:7).

64:6 inward thought...heart...deep. The evil intent of the unrighteous flows from inward depravity.

64:7 God shall shoot...arrow. The arrows of God, as OT history demonstrates, include natural judgments such as deadly disease, defeat, and calamity.

64:8 stumble...own tongue. God providentially steers the plots of the wicked to their own demise.

64:9 shall declare. Believers should glorify God, not only for His love and mercy, but also for His marvelous acts of judgment on the wicked.

65:1-13 This is a praise psalm, full of hopeful, confident, even enthusiastic feelings in response to God's goodness with no complaints or curses. The setting is a celebration at the tabernacle, perhaps at the Feast of Unleavened Bread in the spring, or the Feast of Tabernacles in the fall.

I. Praise for Spiritual Blessings (65:1-5)
II. Praise for Natural Blessings (65:6-13)

65:1 Zion. Specifically the hill in Jerusalem where Israel worshiped Jehovah, but also synonymous with the Promised Land (cf. Ps. 48:2; also Pss. 3:4; 9:12; 24:3; 68:5; 87). vow...performed. This is likely a reference to vows made by the farmers because of an abundant harvest (cf. Pss. 56:12; 61:8).

65:2 all flesh will come. Reference to the future millennial kingdom when all the world will worship the Lord (cf. Zech. 14:16-19).

65:3 atonement. The word, found 3 times in the Psalms (78:38; 79:9), means to cover away sin and its effects. In the OT, atonement was symbolized in sacrificial ritual (cf. Ex. 30:10; Lev. 16:10,11), though actual forgiveness of sin was ultimately based on the death of Christ applied to the penitent sinner (cf. Heb. 9).

5 By awesome deeds in righteousness
You will answer us,
O God of our salvation,
You who are the confidence of all the ends of the earth,
And of the far-off seas;
6 Who established the mountains by His strength,
[f]Being clothed with power;
7 [g]You who still the noise of the seas,
The noise of their waves,
[h]And the tumult of the peoples.
8 They also who dwell in the farthest parts are afraid of Your signs;
You make the outgoings of the morning and evening
[2]rejoice.

9 You [3]visit the earth and [i]water it,
You greatly enrich it;
[j]The river of God is full of water;
You provide their grain,
For so You have prepared it.
10 You water its ridges abundantly,
You settle its furrows;
You make it soft with showers,
You bless its growth.

11 You crown the year with Your goodness,
And Your paths drip with abundance.
12 They drop on the pastures of the wilderness,
And the little hills rejoice on every side.
13 The pastures are clothed with flocks;
[k]The valleys also are covered with grain;
They shout for joy, they also sing.

PSALM 66

Praise to God for His Awesome Works

To the Chief Musician. A Song. A Psalm.

Make [a]a joyful shout to God, all the earth!
2 Sing out the honor of His name;
Make His praise glorious.
3 Say to God,
"How [b]awesome are Your works!
[c]Through the greatness of Your power
Your enemies shall submit themselves to You.
4 [d]All the earth shall worship You
And sing praises to You;
They shall sing praises to Your name."
Selah

5 Come and see the works of God;
He is awesome in His doing toward the sons of men.
6 [e]He turned the sea into dry land;
[f]They went through the river on foot.
There we will rejoice in Him.
7 He rules by His power forever;
His eyes observe the nations;
Do not let the rebellious exalt themselves. Selah

8 Oh, bless our God, you peoples!
And make the voice of His praise to be heard,
9 Who keeps our soul among the living,
And does not allow our feet to [1]be moved.
10 For [g]You, O God, have tested us;
[h]You have refined us as silver is refined.
11 [i]You brought us into the net;
You laid affliction on our backs.

11 [i] Lam. 1:13; Ezek. 12:13

65:5 confidence...earth...seas. Unlike local heathen gods, Jehovah God is not just the God of a single locality. The universal worship of the Lord is required of all men (cf. Rom. 1:18-32) and will be a reality in the messianic era when the kingdom of God will cover the earth (cf. Is. 2:1-4; Zech. 14:9).

65:8 outgoings...morning...evening. The nations who live in the E where the sun first makes its morning appearance, and those who live in the W where the sun disappears into darkness rejoice in the Lord.

65:11 paths drip with abundance. Like a farm wagon dropping its overflow along the cart path.

66:1-20 This joyful psalm begins with group praise and then focuses on the individual worship. The psalmist rehearses some of the major miracles in Israel's history and testifies that God has always been faithful in the midst of serious troubles.

I. Communal Hymn of Praise to God (66:1-12)
  A. For Future Glory (66:1-4)
  B. For Previous Faithfulness (66:5-7)
  C. For Continual Protection (66:8-12)
II. An Individual Hymn of Praise to God (66:13-20)
  A. Through Fulfilled Vows (66:13-15)
  B. For Answered Prayer (66:16-20)

66:1 joyful shout. A shout of loyalty and homage, as in 1 Sam. 10:24.

66:4 All the earth shall worship You. This praise is not only an acknowledgment of God's universal Lordship, but also an intimation of the people's belief in a future worldwide kingdom where God was worshiped (cf. Is. 66:23; Zech. 14:16; Phil. 2:10,11).

66:6 sea...river. A reference to the crossing of the Red Sea and possibly the Jordan River. The OT writers considered the Red Sea crossing the ultimate demonstration of God's power, as well as His care for Israel.

66:9 feet to be moved. God had prevented them from prematurely slipping into the realm of the dead.

66:10 refined us as silver. God had brought the nation through purifying trials.

66:11 brought us into the net. The psalmist speaks of a hunter's net or snare as a metaphor for some extremely difficult situations into which God had brought Israel.

12 [j]You have caused men to ride over our heads;
[k]We went through fire and through water;
But You brought us out to [2]rich fulfillment.

13 [l]I will go into Your house with burnt offerings;
[m]I will pay You my [3]vows,
14 Which my lips have uttered
And my mouth has spoken when I was in trouble.
15 I will offer You burnt sacrifices of fat animals,
With the sweet aroma of rams;
I will offer bulls with goats. Selah

16 Come and hear, all you who fear God,
And I will declare what He has done for my soul.
17 I cried to Him with my mouth,
And He was [4]extolled with my tongue.
18 [n]If I regard iniquity in my heart,
The Lord will not hear.
19 But certainly God [o]has heard me;
He has attended to the voice of my prayer.

PSALM 67

An Invocation and a Doxology

To the Chief Musician. On [1]stringed instruments. A Psalm. A Song.

God be merciful to us and bless us,
And [a]cause His face to shine upon us, Selah
2 That [b]Your way may be known on earth,
[c]Your salvation among all nations.

3 Let the peoples praise You, O God;
Let all the peoples praise You.
4 Oh, let the nations be glad and sing for joy!
For [d]You shall judge the people righteously,
And govern the nations on earth. Selah

5 Let the peoples praise You, O God;
Let all the peoples praise You.
6 [e]Then the earth shall [2]yield her increase;

PSALM 68

The Glory of God in His Goodness to Israel

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David. A Song.

Let [a]God arise,
Let His enemies be scattered;
Let those also who hate Him flee before Him.
2 [b]As smoke is driven away,
So drive them away;
[c]As wax melts before the fire,
So let the wicked perish at the presence of God.
3 But [d]let the righteous be glad;
Let them rejoice before God;
Yes, let them rejoice exceedingly.

4 Sing to God, sing praises to His name;
[e]Extol [1] Him who rides on the [2]clouds,
[f]By His name [3]YAH,
And rejoice before Him.

66:12 ride over our heads. A picture of a hostile army riding in victory over Israel's defeated troops.

66:13 pay You my vows. Paying the vows is spelled out in the following verses as offering sacrifices of dedication which had been previously promised God (cf. Lev. 1; 22:18,21; Pss. 56:12; 61:8; 65:1).

67:1-7 This brief psalm develops two optimistic themes: the need and result of God's mercy, and the future universal worship of God. The psalm reflects the promise to Abraham that God would bless his descendants, and in Abraham, "all the families of the earth" (Gen. 12:1-3).

I. The Prayer for Divine Mercy (67:1,2)
II. The Plea for Universal Worship (67:3-5)
III. The Prospect of Divine Blessings (67:6,7)

67:1 face to shine. When a king smiled on a supplicant with pleasure, the petitioner was likely to receive his request (cf. Num. 6:24-26; Pss. 31:16; 44:3; 80:3,7,19; 119:135; Prov. 16:15).

67:3 peoples. A reference to the inclusion of the Gentile nations in the millennial kingdom (cf. Is. 56:3-8; 60:1-14; Zech. 14:16-19; Matt. 8:11; 25:31-46; Rev. 20:1-10).

68:1-35 This exuberant psalm includes prayer, praise, thanksgiving, historical reminder, and imprecation. It expresses a pride in Jehovah God for His care over His people and His majesty in the universe. The writing of this psalm may have come out of David's jubilant restoration of the ark of the covenant to Jerusalem (cf. 2 Sam. 6:12-15).

I. A Fanfare of Commendation (68:1-6)
II. A Reflection on Faithfulness (68:7-18)
III. An Acclamation of Majesty (68:19-31)
IV. An Invitation to Praise (68:32-35)

68:1 Let God arise. The first sentence in this psalm is essentially the same as Num. 10:35. It was perhaps a fanfare of words announcing the movement of the ark of the covenant (cf. vv. 24-27; also 2 Sam. 6:12-15).

68:4 His name YAH. A shortened form of Yahweh, often translated LORD (cf. v. 16; Ex. 3:15). Other names for God in this psalm include God (Elohim, v. 1), Lord (Adonai, v. 11), Almighty (v. 14), LORD God (v. 18), God the Lord (v. 20), and King (v. 24).

5 [g]A father of the fatherless, a defender of widows,
Is God in His holy habitation.
6 [h]God sets the solitary in families;
[i]He brings out those who are bound into prosperity;
But [j]the rebellious dwell in a dry land.

7 O God, [k]when You went out before Your people,
When You marched through the wilderness, Selah
8 The earth shook;
The heavens also dropped rain at the presence of God;
Sinai itself was moved at the presence of God, the God of Israel.
9 [l]You, O God, sent a plentiful rain,
Whereby You confirmed Your inheritance,
When it was weary.
10 Your congregation dwelt in it;
[m]You, O God, provided from Your goodness for the poor.

11 The Lord gave the word;
Great was the [4]company of those who proclaimed it:
12 "Kings[n] of armies flee, they flee,
And she who remains at home divides the [5]spoil.
13 [o]Though you lie down among the [6]sheepfolds,
[p]You will be like the wings of a dove covered with silver,
And her feathers with yellow gold."
14 [q]When the Almighty scattered kings in it,
It was white as snow in Zalmon.

15 A mountain of God is the mountain of Bashan;
A mountain of many peaks is the mountain of Bashan.
16 Why do you [7]fume with envy, you mountains of many peaks?
[r]This is the mountain which God desires to dwell in;
Yes, the LORD will dwell in it forever.

17 [s]The chariots of God are twenty thousand,
Even thousands of thousands;
The Lord is among them as in Sinai, in the Holy Place.
18 [t]You have ascended on high,
[u]You have led captivity captive;
[v]You have received gifts among men,
Even from [w]the rebellious,
[x]That the LORD God might dwell there.

19 Blessed be the Lord,
Who daily loads us with benefits,
The God of our salvation! Selah
20 Our God is the God of salvation;
And [y]to GOD the Lord belong escapes from death.

21 But [z]God will wound the head of His enemies,
[a]The hairy scalp of the one who still goes on in his trespasses.
22 The Lord said, "I will bring [b]back from Bashan,
I will bring them back [c]from the depths of the sea,
23 [d]That [8]your foot may crush them in blood,
[e]And the tongues of your dogs may have their portion from your enemies."

24 They have seen Your [9]procession, O God,
The procession of my God, my King, into the sanctuary.
25 [f]The singers went before, the players on instruments followed after;
Among them were the maidens playing timbrels.
26 Bless God in the congregations,
The Lord, from [g]the fountain of Israel.

68:6 solitary in families. God cares for those who have lost families, especially the orphans and widows (v. 5; cf. Ex. 22:22-24; Ps. 10:14; James 1:27). brings out...bound. Speaks of God's liberating prisoners of war.

68:9 confirmed Your inheritance. God sustains His covenant people.

68:14 snow in Zalmon. "Zalmon" means "black" or "dark mountain." The "snow" pictures the contrast of corpses or bones scattered over the mountain.

68:15 mountain of Bashan. A mountain across the Jordan to the E, here figuratively described as jealous of Mt. Zion (cf. v. 16), the place which had been chosen for the special presence of God (cf. Jer. 22:20,21).

68:17 Sinai, in the Holy Place. God's presence had been with the armies in the same way it had been on Mt. Sinai at the giving of the law (cf. Ex. 19).

68:18 ascended on high. Paul quotes this text in Eph. 4:8 where he applies it to Christ's ascending to the heavens in triumph.

68:22 Bashan...sea. Whether the enemy tries to escape by land (Bashan) or by sea, God will bring them back to be destroyed by His people (cf. Amos 9:2-4).

68:24 procession...sanctuary. A description of the celebration when the ark of the covenant, a symbol of God's presence, was brought to Mt. Zion (cf. 1 Chr. 15:16-28).

68:27 Benjamin...Naphtali. Representative tribes of Israel, two from the S (Benjamin and Judah) and two from the N (Zebulun and Naphtali).

The princes of Judah and their
[1]company,
The princes of Zebulun and the princes of Naphtali.

28 [2]Your God has [i]commanded your

Strengthen, O God, what You have

29 Because of Your temple at Jerusalem,
[j]Kings will bring presents to You.

33 To Him [q]who rides on the heaven of heavens, which were of

Indeed, He sends out His voice, a [r]mighty voice.
34 [s]Ascribe strength to God;
His excellence is over Israel,
And His strength is in the clouds.

PSALM 69

An Urgent Plea for Help in Trouble

To the Chief Musician. Set to [1]"The Lilies."
A Psalm of David.

Save me, O God!
For [a]the waters have come up to my [2]neck.
2 [b]I sink in deep mire,
Where there is no standing;
I have come into deep waters,
Where the floods overflow me.
3 [c]I am weary with my crying;
My throat is dry;
[d]My eyes fail while I wait for my God.

4 Those who [e]hate me without a cause
Are more than the hairs of my head;
They are mighty who would destroy
me,
Being my enemies wrongfully;
Though I have stolen nothing,
I still must restore it.

5 O God, You know my foolishness;
And my sins are not hidden from You.
6 Let not those who [3]wait for You,
O Lord GOD of hosts, be ashamed because of me;
Let not those who seek You be [4]confounded because of me,
O God of Israel.
7 Because for Your sake I have borne reproach;
Shame has covered my face.
8 [f]I have become a stranger to my brothers,
And an alien to my mother's children;
9 [g]Because zeal for Your house has eaten me up,
[h]And the reproaches of those who reproach You have fallen on
me.

9 [g] John 2:17 [h] Rom. 15:3

68:29 Kings...presents. This section of praise (vv. 28-35) looks forward to the Messiah's reign when the world will universally worship God in the temple in Jerusalem (cf. Is. 2:2-4; 18:7; 45:14; 60:3-7; Ezek. 40–48; Hag. 2:7; Zech. 2:11-13; 6:15; 8:21,22; 14:16-19).

68:30 pieces of silver. Tribute money, signifying subservience to God.

69:1-36 This psalm is a prayer of desperation. David realizes that because he is hated by others, he may shortly be killed. Though he begs for rescue, and calls down curses on his enemies, he concludes the psalm with a high note of praise, with inferences concerning the coming messianic kingdom when all enemies of God's people are dealt with swiftly and severely (cf. Rev. 2:27). Much of this psalm was applied to Christ by the NT writers. This psalm expresses the feelings of any believer who is being horribly ridiculed, but it uniquely refers to Christ.

I. The Prayer of Desperation (69:1-28)
A. The Description of His Situation (69:1-3)
B. The Reason for His Situation (69:4-12)
C. The Hope for His Situation (69:13-18)
D. The Reproach of His Situation (69:19-21)
E. The Revenge for His Situation (69:22-28)
II. The Promise of Salvation (69:29-36)

69:Title. "The Lilies." The name of a tune. See note on Ps. 45:Title.

69:4 hate me. Quoted in John 15:25.

69:6 be ashamed. The psalmist fears that his dismal situation may be a stumbling block to other believers.

69:8 alien...children. Even his family rejected him (cf. Matt. 12:46-50; John 7:3-5).

69:9 has eaten me up. The psalmist has brought hatred and hostility on himself by his unyielding insistence that the behavior of the people measure up to their outward claim of devotion to God. Whenever God was dishonored he felt the pain, because he loved God so greatly. Jesus claimed for Himself this attitude, as indicated in John 2:17; Rom. 15:3.

10 When I wept and chastened my soul with fasting,
That became my reproach.
11 I also [5]made sackcloth my garment;
I became a byword to them.
12 Those who [6]sit in the gate speak
against me,
And I am the song of the [i]drunkards.

13 But as for me, my prayer is to You,
O LORD, in the acceptable time;
O God, in the multitude of Your
mercy,
Hear me in the truth of Your salvation.
14 Deliver me out of the mire,
And let me not sink;
Let me be delivered from those who hate me,
And out of the deep waters.
15 Let not the floodwater overflow me,
Nor let the deep swallow me up;
And let not the pit shut its mouth on
me.

16 Hear me, O LORD, for Your lovingkindness is good;
Turn to me according to the multitude of Your tender mercies.
17 And do not hide Your face from Your servant,
For I am in trouble;
Hear me speedily.
18 Draw near to my soul, and redeem it;
Deliver me because of my enemies.

19 You know [j]my reproach, my shame,
and my dishonor;
My adversaries are all before You.
20 Reproach has broken my heart,
And I am full of [7]heaviness;
[k]I looked for someone to take pity, but there was none;
And for [l]comforters, but I found none.
21 They also gave me gall for my food,
[m]And for my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink.

22 [n]Let their table become a snare before
them,
And their well-being a trap.
23 [o]Let their eyes be darkened, so that they do not see;
And make their loins shake
continually.
24 [p]Pour out Your indignation upon
them,
And let Your wrathful anger take hold of them.
25 [q]Let their dwelling place be desolate;
Let no one live in their tents.
26 For they persecute the ones [r]You have struck,
And talk of the grief of those You have wounded.
27 [s]Add iniquity to their iniquity, [t]And let them not come into Your
righteousness.
28 Let them [u]be blotted out of the book of the living,
[v]And not be written with the righteous.

29 But I am poor and sorrowful;
Let Your salvation, O God, set me up on high.
30 [w]I will praise the name of God with a song,
And will magnify Him with thanksgiving.
31 [x]This also shall please the LORD better than an ox or bull,
Which has horns and hooves.
32 [y]The humble shall see this and be glad;
And you who seek God, [z]your hearts shall live.
33 For the LORD hears the poor,
And does not despise [a]His prisoners.

34 [b]Let heaven and earth praise Him,
The seas [c]and everything that moves in them.
35 [d]For God will save Zion
And build the cities of Judah,
That they may dwell there and possess it.

69:11 sackcloth. David's wearing of sackcloth, a symbol of grief, brought even more ridicule.

69:12 sit in the gate. The highest in society, those who sat in the gate of a city, were usually governmental officials. Even there city leaders were gossiping about the psalmist. song of the drunkards. The dregs of society, the drunkards, ridiculed David in their raucous songs.

69:15 pit shut its mouth. The "pit" was another word for Sheol, the realm of the dead. The psalmist felt that death was imminent.

69:21 gall...vinegar. Gall was a poisonous herb. Here it serves as a metaphor for betrayal. Friends who should provide sustenance to the psalmist had turned against him. Gall in vinegar was actually offered to Christ while He was on the cross (Matt. 27:34).

69:22 table become a snare. A snare was a trap for birds. The psalmist prays that the plots of the wicked against him would backfire and destroy them instead.

69:22,23 Quoted in Rom. 11:9,10.

69:25 Quoted in Acts 1:20 with reference to Judas.

69:26 the ones You have struck. Those hostile to the psalmist were ridiculing him as one suffering from God's chastisement. In its messianic application, the suffering of the Messiah was a part of God's plan from eternity past (cf. Is. 53:10).

69:31 better than an ox or bull. See Ps. 51:16; also Heb. 9:11,12; 10:9-12. horns and hooves. Implies a grown animal, one that would be especially valuable.

36 Also, [e] the [g] descendants of His servants shall inherit it,
And those who love His name shall dwell in it.

PSALM 70

Prayer for Relief from Adversaries

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David. [a] To bring to remembrance.

Make haste, [b] O God, to deliver me!
Make haste to help me, O LORD!

2 [c] Let them be ashamed and confounded
Who seek my life;
Let them be [1] turned back and confused
Who desire my hurt.
3 [d] Let them be turned back because of their shame,
Who say, [2] "Aha, aha!"

4 Let all those who seek You rejoice and be glad in You;
And let those who love Your salvation say continually,
"Let God be magnified!"

5 [e] But I am poor and needy;
[f] Make haste to me, O God!
You are my help and my deliverer;
O LORD, do not delay.

PSALM 71

God the Rock of Salvation

In [a] You, O LORD, I put my trust;
Let me never be put to shame.
2 [b] Deliver me in Your righteousness, and cause me to escape;
[c] Incline Your ear to me, and save me.
3 [d] Be my [1] strong refuge,
To which I may resort continually;
You have given the [e] commandment to save me,
For You are my rock and my fortress.

4 [f] Deliver me, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked,
Out of the hand of the unrighteous and cruel man.
5 For You are [g] my hope, O Lord GOD;
You are my trust from my youth.
6 [h] By You I have been [2] upheld from birth;
You are He who took me out of my mother's womb.
My praise shall be continually of You.

7 [i] I have become as a wonder to many,
But You are my strong refuge.
8 Let [j] my mouth be filled with Your praise
And with Your glory all the day.

9 Do not cast me off in the time of old age;
Do not forsake me when my strength fails.
10 For my enemies speak against me;
And those who lie in wait for my life [k] take counsel together,
11 Saying, "God has forsaken him;
Pursue and take him, for there is none to deliver him."

12 [l] O God, do not be far from me;
O my God, [m] make haste to help me!
13 Let them be [3] confounded and consumed
Who are adversaries of my life;
Let them be covered with reproach and dishonor
Who seek my hurt.

14 But I will hope continually,
And will praise You yet more and more.
15 My mouth shall tell of Your righteousness
And Your salvation all the day,
For I do not know their limits.
16 I will go in the strength of the Lord GOD;
I will make mention of Your righteousness, of Yours only.

17 [n] Deut. 4:5; 6:7

70:1-5 This prayer for deliverance from one's enemies is nearly identical to Ps. 40:13-17 (see outline and notes). It substitutes "God" for "LORD" in vv. 1,4,5.

71:1-24 One of the features of the psalms is that they meet the circumstances of life. This psalm to God expresses the concerns of old age. At a time in his life when he thinks he should be exempt from certain kinds of troubles, he once again is personally attacked. Though his enemies conclude that God has abandoned him, the psalmist is confident that God will remain faithful.

I. Confidence in God Stated (71:1-8)
II. Confidence in God Practiced in Prayer (71:9-13)
III. Confidence in God Vindicated (71:14-24)

71:3 continually. Psalm 71:1-3 is almost the same as Ps. 31:1-3a. One difference, however, is the word "continually," which the elderly person writing this psalm wants to emphasize. God has "continually" been faithful (cf. vv. 6,14).

71:7 a wonder. A reference to his trials. People are amazed at this person's life, some interpreting his trials as God's care, and others as God's punishment.

71:15 their limits. The blessings of God's salvation and righteousness are innumerable.

And to this day I declare Your wondrous works.
18 Now also [o]when I am old and grayheaded,
O God, do not forsake me,
Until I declare Your strength to this generation,
Your power to everyone who is to come.

19 Also [p]Your righteousness, O God, is [4]very high,
You who have done great things;
[q]O God, who is like You?
20 [r]You, who have shown me great and severe troubles,
[s]Shall revive me again,
And bring me up again from the depths of the earth.
21 You shall increase my greatness,
And comfort me on every side.

22 Also [t]with the lute I will praise You—
And Your faithfulness, O my God!
To You I will sing with the harp,
O [u]Holy One of Israel.
23 My lips shall greatly rejoice when I sing to You,
And [v]my soul, which You have redeemed.
24 My tongue also shall talk of Your righteousness all the day long;
For they are confounded,
For they are brought to shame
Who seek my hurt.

PSALM 72

Glory and Universality of the Messiah's Reign

A Psalm [a]of Solomon.

Give the king Your judgments, O God,
And Your righteousness to the king's Son.
2 [b]He will judge Your people with
righteousness,
And Your poor with justice.
3 [c]The mountains will bring peace to the people,
And the little hills, by
righteousness.
4 [d]He will bring justice to the poor of the people;
He will save the children of the needy,
And will [1]break in pieces the oppressor.

5 [2]They shall fear You
[e]As long as the sun and moon endure,
Throughout all generations.
6 [f]He shall come down like rain upon the grass before mowing,
Like showers that water the earth.
7 In His days the righteous shall flourish,
[g]And abundance of peace,
Until the moon is no more.

8 [h]He shall have dominion also from sea to sea,
And from the River to the ends of the
earth.
9 [i]Those who dwell in the wilderness will bow before Him,
[j]And His enemies will lick the dust.
10 [k]The kings of Tarshish and of the isles
Will bring presents;
The kings of Sheba and Seba
Will offer gifts.
11 [l]Yes, all kings shall fall down before
Him;
All nations shall serve Him.

12 For He [m]will deliver the needy when he cries,

71:20 from the depths of the earth. Not actual resurrection, but rescue from near-death conditions and renewal of life's strength and meaning.

72:1-20 This is a Coronation Psalm, dedicated to the prosperity of Solomon at the beginning of his reign (1 Kin. 2). No NT writer applies any of the psalm to Christ. Still, since the Davidic kings and the Messiah's rule occasionally merge into each other in the OT literature, the messianic inferences here ought not to be missed (vv. 7,17; cf. Is. 11:1-5; 60-62). This psalm describes a reign when God, the king, nature, all classes of society, and foreign nations all live together in harmony.

I. A Just Reign (72:1-4)
II. A Universal Reign (72:5-11)
III. A Compassionate Reign (72:12-14)
IV. A Prosperous Reign (72:15-17)
V. A Glorious Reign (72:18-20)

72:1 Your judgments. A prayer that the king would faithfully mediate God's justice on the nation (cf. Deut. 17:18-20). the king's Son. A reference primarily to Solomon, emphasizing his bond with the Davidic dynasty; but it also anticipates Messiah's reign as the culmination of the Davidic Covenant (cf. 2 Sam. 7:12,13; Ps. 2:1-12).

72:3 mountains...peace. When the king rules with justice and compassion, the earth itself radiates well-being.

72:7 Until the moon is no more. Primarily referring to the length of the Davidic dynasty, and possibly also specifically to the messianic reign (2 Sam. 7:16; Ps. 89:3,4,29,36,37; Luke 1:30-33). Jeremiah also makes the same kind of observation (cf. Jer. 33:23-26).

72:8 the River. Israel's boundaries were to extend to the River Euphrates (cf. Ex. 23:31; 1 Kin. 4:21; Ps. 89:25).

72:10 Tarshish...Seba. Countries near and far which brought tribute to Solomon (cf. 1 Kin. 4:21; 10:1,23,24; Is. 60:4-7; Jer. 6:20). Tarshish is probably in Spain; Sheba, a kingdom in southern Arabia (modern Yemen); and Seba, a N African nation.

The poor also, and him who has no helper.
13 He will spare the poor and needy,
And will save the souls of the needy.
14 He will redeem their life from oppression and violence;
And [n]precious shall be their blood in His sight.

15 And He shall live;
And the gold of [o]Sheba will be given to Him;
Prayer also will be made for Him continually,
And daily He shall be praised.

16 There will be an abundance of grain in the earth,
On the top of the mountains;
Its fruit shall wave like Lebanon;
[p]And those of the city shall flourish like grass of the earth.

17 [q]His name shall endure forever;
His name shall continue as long as the sun.
And [r]men shall be blessed in Him;
[s]All nations shall call Him blessed.

18 [t]Blessed be the LORD God, the God of Israel,
[u]Who only does wondrous things!
19 And [v]blessed be His glorious name forever!
[w]And let the whole earth be filled with His glory.
Amen and Amen.

20 The prayers of David the son of Jesse are ended.

Book Three: Psalms 73–89

PSALM 73

The Tragedy of the Wicked, and the Blessedness of Trust in God

A Psalm of [a]Asaph.

Truly God is good to Israel,
To such as are pure in heart.
2 But as for me, my feet had almost stumbled;
My steps had nearly [b]slipped.
3 [c]For I was envious of the boastful,
When I saw the prosperity of the [d]wicked.

4 For there are no [1]pangs in their death,
But their strength is firm.
5 [e]They are not in trouble as other men,
Nor are they plagued like other men.
6 Therefore pride serves as their necklace;
Violence covers them like a garment.
7 [g]Their [2]eyes bulge with abundance;
They have more than heart could wish.
8 [h]They scoff and speak wickedly concerning oppression;
They [i]speak [3]loftily.
9 They set their mouth [j]against the heavens,
And their tongue walks through the earth.

10 Therefore his people return here,
[k]And waters of a full cup are drained by them.
11 And they say, [l]"How does God know?
And is there knowledge in the Most High?"
12 Behold, these are the ungodly,
Who are always at ease;
They increase in riches.

72:20 are ended. Asaph's psalms immediately follow after this (Pss. 73–83), though David did author some of the psalms included later in the collection (e.g., Pss. 86,101,103). This closes Book II (Pss. 42–72) of the Psalms.

73:1-28 This psalm illustrates the results of allowing one's faith in God to be buried under self-pity. The psalmist became depressed when he contrasted the seeming prosperity of the wicked with the difficulties of living a righteous life. Beginning in v. 15, however, his attitude changes completely. He looks at life from the perspective of being under the control of a sovereign, holy God, and concludes that it is the wicked, not the righteous, who have blundered.

I. Perplexity Over the Prosperity of the Wicked (73:1-14)
  A. Their Prosperity (73:1-5)
  B. Their Pride (73:6-9)
  C. Their Presumption (73:10-14)
II. Proclamation of the Justice of God (73:15-28)
  A. His Perspective (73:15-17)
  B. His Judgments (73:18-20)
  C. His Guidance (73:21-28)

73:Title. Asaph. Asaph was a Levite who led one of the temple choirs (1 Chr. 15:19; 25:1,2). His name is identified with Ps. 73–83, and also Ps. 50 (see note there). He either wrote these psalms, or his choir sang them, or later choirs in the tradition of Asaph sang them.

73:4 no pangs in their death. The wicked seem to go through life in good health, and then die a painless death.

73:9 tongue walks through the earth. The insolent speech of the wicked can be heard anywhere one goes.

73:10 are drained by them. Those who associate with the wicked person "drink in" everything he declares (cf. Ps. 1).

73:11 is there knowledge in the Most High? The wicked insist on living as if God is not omniscient and does not know what happens on earth.

13 Surely I have [4]cleansed my heart in
[m]vain,
And washed my hands in innocence.
14 For all day long I have been plagued,
And chastened every morning.

15 If I had said, "I will speak thus," Behold, I would have been untrue to the generation of Your children.
16 When I thought how to understand
this,
It was [5]too painful for me—
17 Until I went into the sanctuary of God;
Then I understood their [n]end.

18 Surely [o]You set them in slippery places;
You cast them down to destruction.
19 Oh, how they are brought to desolation, as in a moment!
They are utterly consumed with terrors.
20 As a dream when one awakes,
So, Lord, when You awake,
You shall despise their image.

21 Thus my heart was grieved,
And I was [6]vexed in my mind.
22 [p]I was so foolish and ignorant;
I was like a beast before You.
23 Nevertheless I am continually with
You;
You hold me by my right hand.
24 [q]You will guide me with Your counsel,
And afterward receive me to glory.

25 [r]Whom have I in heaven but You?
And there is none upon earth that I desire besides You.
26 [s]My flesh and my heart fail;
But God is the [7]strength of my heart and my [t]portion forever.

13 [m] Job 21:15; 35:3; Mal. 3:14 [4] kept my heart pure in vain
16 [5] troublesome in my eyes

25 [r] [Phil. 3:8]
26 [s] Ps. 84:2 [t] Ps. 16:5 [7] Lit. rock

27 For indeed, [u]those who are far from
You shall perish;
You have destroyed all those who
[8]desert You for harlotry.
28 But it is good for me to [v]draw near to
God;
I have put my trust in the Lord GOD,
That I may [w]declare all Your works.

PSALM 74

A Plea for Relief from Oppressors

A [1]Contemplation of Asaph.

O God, why have You cast us off
forever?
Why does Your anger smoke against the sheep of Your pasture?
2 Remember Your congregation, which
You have purchased of old,
The tribe of Your inheritance, which
You have redeemed—
This Mount Zion where You have dwelt.
3 Lift up Your feet to the perpetual
desolations.
The enemy has damaged everything in the sanctuary.
4 [a]Your enemies roar in the midst of
Your meeting place;
[b]They set up their banners for signs.
5 They seem like men who lift up
Axes among the thick trees.
6 And now they break down its carved work, all at once,
With axes and hammers.
7 They have set fire to Your sanctuary;
They have defiled the dwelling place of Your name to the ground.
8 [c]They said in their hearts,
"Let us [2]destroy them altogether."
They have burned up all the meeting places of God in the land.

27 [u] [Ps. 119:155] [8] Are unfaithful to You
28 [v] [Heb. 10:22; James 4:8] [w] Ps. 116:10; 2 Cor. 4:13

PSALM 74

title [1] Heb. Maschil
4 [a] Lam. 2:7 [b] Num. 2:2
8 [c] Ps. 83:4 [2] oppress

73:17 sanctuary of God. As the psalmist worshiped God at the worship center, he began to understand God's perspective on the fate of the wicked. This is the turning point of the psalm.

73:20 despise their image. The wicked are like a bad dream which one forgets as soon as he awakens. Their well-being is fleeting.

73:22 like a beast before You. The psalmist confesses his sin of evaluating life secularly and faithlessly.

73:27 perish...You have destroyed. The psalmist concludes that those who abandon God and attempt to live an autonomous life based on self-chosen idols will eventually endure eternal death.

74:1-23 This community lament expresses the agony of the people in the midst of the most excruciating of circumstances. It was bad enough that Israel's enemies had destroyed the temple (cf. 2 Kin. 25). But even worse, it seemed to the psalmist that God had abandoned them. In this prayer he reminds God of His bond with Israel, His past supernatural deeds in the protection of Israel, and begs God to save His covenant nation now (cf. Ps. 137 and Lamentations).

I. The Terror of Abandonment (74:1-11)
II. The Remembrance of Omnipotence (74:12-17)
III. The Plea for Help (74:18-23)

74:Title. Asaph. If this psalm reflects the destruction of the temple by Nebuchadnezzar in 586 B.C., Asaph would have been dead by then. Thus this title may mean that this psalm was written by or sung by a later Asaph choir (see notes on Pss. 50,73:Title).

74:2 tribe of Your inheritance. The psalmist laments that even though God possessed Israel, He had not protected it.

74:3 Lift up Your feet. An anthropomorphism meaning to hurry to come to examine the rubble.

74:4 their banners for signs. The ravagers had set up their military and pagan religious banners in God's temple.

74:5 lift up axes. Like lumberjacks surrounded by trees, the enemy had furiously destroyed everything in sight in the temple of God.

74:8 the meeting places. God allowed only one sanctuary and during Josiah's revival, the high places had been destroyed (cf. 2 Kin. 22,23). This may be a reference to the several rooms of the temple, or to nonsacrificial religious sites throughout the land.

9 We do not see our signs;
[d]There is no longer any prophet;
Nor is there any among us who knows how long.
10 O God, how long will the adversary [3]reproach?
Will the enemy blaspheme Your name forever?
11 [e]Why do You withdraw Your hand, even Your right hand?
Take it out of Your bosom and destroy them.
12 For [f]God is my King from of old,
Working salvation in the midst of the earth.
13 [g]You divided the sea by Your strength;
You broke the heads of the [4]sea serpents in the waters.
14 You broke the heads of [5]Leviathan in pieces,
And gave him as food to the people inhabiting the wilderness.
15 [h]You broke open the fountain and the flood;
[i]You dried up mighty rivers.
16 The day is Yours, the night also is [j]Yours;
[k]You have prepared the light and the sun.
17 You have [l]set all the borders of the earth;
[m]You have made summer and winter.

18 Remember this, that the enemy has reproached, O LORD,
And that a foolish people has blasphemed Your name.
19 Oh, do not deliver the life of Your turtledove to the wild beast!
Do not forget the life of Your poor forever.
20 [n]Have respect to the covenant;
For the [6]dark places of the earth are full of the [7]haunts of [8]cruelty.
21 Oh, do not let the oppressed return ashamed!
Let the poor and needy praise Your name.

22 Arise, O God, plead Your own cause;
Remember how the foolish man [9]reproaches You daily.
23 Do not forget the voice of Your enemies;
The tumult of those who rise up against You increases continually.

PSALM 75

Thanksgiving for God's Righteous Judgment

To the Chief Musician. Set to [a]"Do [1] Not Destroy." A Psalm of Asaph. A Song.

We give thanks to You, O God, we give thanks!
For Your wondrous works declare that Your name is near.

2 "When I choose the [2]proper time,
I will judge uprightly.
3 The earth and all its inhabitants are dissolved;
I set up its pillars firmly. Selah

4 "I said to the boastful, 'Do not deal boastfully,'
And to the wicked, [b]'Do not [3]lift up the horn.
5 Do not lift up your horn on high;
Do not speak with [4]a stiff neck.' "

6 For exaltation comes neither from the east

PSALM 75
title [a] Ps. 57:title [1] Heb. Al Tashcheth
2 [2] appointed
4 [b] [1 Sam. 2:3]; Ps. 94:4 [3] Raise the head proudly like a horned animal
5 [4] Insolent pride

74:9 our signs. While hostile and pagan signs were everywhere, signs of true Jehovah worship, such as the altars for sacrifice, were missing.

74:13 divided the sea. Most likely a reference to God's creation activity, rather than to the parting of the Red Sea (cf. Gen. 1:6-8; Ex. 14:26-31). sea serpents. This identifies whales, sharks, and other large sea creatures, including dinosaurs.

74:14 Leviathan. See notes on Job 41:1.

74:15 broke open the fountain...flood. This may be a reference to the universal flood (cf. Gen. 7:11), or it may describe creation (Gen. 1:6-8).

74:17 set all the borders. As Creator, God made day and night, the seasons (v. 16), he divided the land from the sea, and he even established national boundaries.

74:20 the covenant. The people had apostatized (cf. Ex. 16:3-8). God, however, was still in an eternal covenant (the Abrahamic Covenant) with the nation (cf. Gen. 17:1-8).

75:1-10 In this psalm, the believing community asserts that, in spite of physical, moral, and societal turmoil, God never loses control of the universe. He gives stability to earthly life, and He will judge the wicked at the appropriate time. Structurally, the psalm revolves around 3 metaphors: pillars of the earth (v. 3); horns (vv. 5,6,11); and God's cup of wrath (v. 8).

I. Divine Stability of the Universe (75:1-3)
II. Divine Justice over the World (75:4-10)

75:Title. "Do Not Destroy." See note on Ps. 57:Title.

75:1 Your name is near. God's name represents His presence. The history of God's supernatural interventions on behalf of His people demonstrated that God was personally immanent. But OT saints did not have the fullness from permanent, personal indwelling of the Holy Spirit (cf. John 14:1,16,17; 1 Cor. 3:16; 6:19).

75:3 I set up its pillars firmly. In uncertain times, God stabilizes societies through His common grace.

75:4 Do not lift up the horn. The horn symbolized an animal's or human's strength and majesty (cf. Deut. 33:17; Amos 6:13; Zech. 1:18-21). Lifting up the horn apparently described a stubborn animal who kept itself from entering a yoke by holding its head up as high as possible. The phrase thus symbolized insolence or rebellion.

Nor from the west nor from the south.
7 But [c]God is the Judge:
[d]He puts down one,
And exalts another.
8 For [e]in the hand of the LORD there is a cup,
And the wine is red;
It is fully mixed, and He pours it out;
Surely its dregs shall all the wicked of the earth
Drain and drink down.

9 But I will declare forever,
I will sing praises to the God of Jacob.

10 "All[f] the [5]horns of the wicked I will also cut off,
But [g]the horns of the righteous shall be [h]exalted."

PSALM 76

The Majesty of God in Judgment

To the Chief Musician. On [1]stringed instruments. A Psalm of Asaph. A Song.

In [a]Judah God is known;
His name is great in Israel.
2 In [2]Salem also is His tabernacle,
And His dwelling place in Zion.
3 There He broke the arrows of the bow,
The shield and sword of battle. Selah

4 You are more glorious and excellent
[b]Than the mountains of prey.
5 [c]The stouthearted were plundered;
[d]They [3]have sunk into their sleep;
And none of the mighty men have found the use of their hands.
6 [e]At Your rebuke, O God of Jacob,
Both the chariot and horse were cast into a dead sleep.

7 You, Yourself, are to be feared;
And [f]who may stand in Your presence
When once You are angry?
8 [g]You caused judgment to be heard from heaven;
[h]The earth feared and was still,
9 When God [i]arose to judgment,
To deliver all the oppressed of the earth. Selah

10 [j]Surely the wrath of man shall praise You;
With the remainder of wrath You shall gird Yourself.

11 [k]Make vows to the LORD your God, and pay them;
[l]Let all who are around Him bring presents to Him who ought to be feared.
12 He shall cut off the spirit of princes;
[m]He is awesome to the kings of the earth.

PSALM 77

The Consoling Memory of God's Redemptive Works

To the Chief Musician. [a]To Jeduthun. A Psalm of Asaph.

I cried out to God with my voice—
To God with my voice;
And He gave ear to me.
2 In the day of my trouble I sought the Lord;
My hand was stretched out in the night without ceasing;
My soul refused to be comforted.
3 I remembered God, and was troubled;

PSALM 77

title [a] Ps. 39:title

75:8 cup. The cup of wrath describes God's judgment which He forces down the throats of the wicked (cf. Job. 21:20; Is. 51:17; Jer. 25:15-29; Matt. 20:22; 26:39).

75:10 horns...cut off. To cut off the horns of the wicked would be to humble them (cf. v. 4).

76:1-12 This psalm teaches that God is willing to use His great power for His people. Some commentators, including the editors of the LXX, have suggested that this psalm was written to celebrate the destruction of Sennacherib's Assyrian army in 701 B.C., as well as the subsequent assassination of Sennacherib himself (vv. 5,6; cf. 2 Kin. 18,19; Is. 36,37). The psalm also includes eschatological overtones (especially vv. 8-12), when Jehovah will defeat His enemies and bring them into judgment.

I. God's Nearness to His People (76:1-3)
II. God's Deliverance of His People (76:4-9)
III. God's Majesty to His People (76:10-12)

76:Title. Asaph. See notes on Pss. 50,73,74:Title.

76:3 broke the arrows...shield...sword. God destroyed the enemy's weapons.

76:4 mountains of prey. Probably a poetic description of the attackers.

76:5 the use of their hands. God had crippled the enemy soldiers.

76:10 wrath of man shall praise You. The railings against God and His people are turned into praise to God when God providentially brings the wicked down (cf. Is. 36:4-20; Acts 2:23; Rom. 8:28).

76:12 cut off the spirit of princes. God shatters the attitude of proud governmental leaders who rebel against Him.

77:1-20 This psalm illustrates one cure for depression. The psalmist does not explain the cause of his despair, but he was definitely locked into gloom. When he thought about God, it only caused him to complain bitterly. But beginning in v. 10, the psalmist's mood starts to change because he commits himself to focusing on God's goodness and past acts of deliverance. His lament then changes into a hymn of praise.

I. The Irritations of a Depressed Soul (77:1-9)
II. The Intention to Refocus the Mind (77:10-15)
III. The Illustrations of God's Past Blessings (77:16-20)

77:Title. Jeduthun. See note on Ps. 39:Title.

77:2 hand was stretched out. This was the posture for prayer. The psalmist prayed throughout the night.

I complained, and my spirit was overwhelmed. Selah

4 You hold my eyelids open;
I am so troubled that I cannot speak.
5 I have considered the days of old,
The years of ancient times.
6 I call to remembrance my song in the night;
I meditate within my heart,
And my spirit [1]makes diligent search.

7 Will the Lord cast off forever?
And will He be favorable no more?
8 Has His mercy ceased forever?
Has His [b]promise failed
[2]forevermore?
9 Has God forgotten to be gracious?
Has He in anger shut up His tender mercies? Selah

10 And I said, "This is my [3]anguish;
But I will remember the years of the right hand of the Most High."
11 I will remember the works of the
LORD;
Surely I will remember Your wonders of old.
12 I will also meditate on all Your work,
And talk of Your deeds.
13 Your way, O God, is in [4]the [c]sanctuary;
Who is so great a God as our God?
14 You are the God who does wonders;
You have declared Your strength
among the peoples.
15 You have with Your arm redeemed
Your people,
The sons of Jacob and Joseph. Selah

16 The waters saw You, O God;
The waters saw You, they were [d]afraid;
The depths also trembled.
17 The clouds poured out water;
The skies sent out a sound;
Your arrows also flashed about.
18 The voice of Your thunder was in the whirlwind;
The lightnings lit up the world;
The earth trembled and shook.
19 Your way was in the sea,
Your path in the great waters,
And Your footsteps were not known.
20 You led Your people like a flock
By the hand of Moses and Aaron.

PSALM 78

God's Kindness to Rebellious Israel

A [a]Contemplation [1] of Asaph.

Give ear, O my people, to my law;
Incline your ears to the words of my
mouth.
2 I will open my mouth in a [b]parable;
I will utter [2]dark sayings of old,
3 Which we have heard and known,
And our fathers have told us.
4 [c]We will not hide them from their children,
[d]Telling to the generation to come the praises of the LORD,
And His strength and His wonderful works that He has done.

5 For [e]He established a testimony in
Jacob,
And appointed a law in Israel,
Which He commanded our fathers,
That [f]they should make them known
to their children;
6 [g]That the generation to come might know them,
The children who would be born,
That they may arise and declare them
to their children,
7 That they may set their hope in God,
And not forget the works of God,
But keep His commandments;
8 And [h]may not be like their fathers,
[i]A stubborn and rebellious generation,
A generation i that did not [3]set its heart aright,

77:4 hold my eyelids open. The psalmist was so upset that he could neither sleep nor talk rationally.

77:6 my song in the night. The remembrance of happier times only deepened his depression. spirit makes diligent search. His spirit continually meditated on possible solutions to his problems.

77:10 years of the right hand of the Most High. The psalmist began to remember the times when God used His right hand (power) to strengthen and protect him.

77:16 waters...were afraid. A dramatic picture of God's parting the waters of the Red Sea (cf. v. 19; also Ex. 14:21-31; 15:1-19).

77:17 Your arrows. A metaphor for lightning flashes.

78:1-72 This didactic psalm was written to teach the children how gracious God had been in the past in spite of their ancestors' rebellion and ingratitude. If the children learn well the theological interpretation of their nation's history, hopefully they would "not be like their fathers" (v. 8). The psalmist especially focuses on the history of the Exodus.

I. Exhortation on the Instruction of Children (78:1-11)
II. Lecture on the Graciousness of God (78:12-72)
  A. Rehearsal of Israel's History (78:12-39)
  B. Reiteration of Historical Lessons (78:40-72)

78:2 parable. The word is used here in the broader sense of a story with moral and spiritual applications. dark sayings. Puzzling, ambiguous information. The lessons of history are not easily discerned correctly. For an infallible interpretation of history, there must be a prophet. The specific puzzle in Israel's history is the nation's rebellious spirit in spite of God's grace.

And whose spirit was not faithful to God.

9 The children of Ephraim, being armed and [4]carrying bows,
Turned back in the day of battle.
10 [k]They did not keep the covenant of God;
They refused to walk in His law,
11 And [l]forgot His works
And His wonders that He had shown them.

12 [m]Marvelous things He did in the sight of their fathers,
In the land of Egypt, [n]in the field of Zoan.
13 [o]He divided the sea and caused them to pass through;
And [p]He made the waters stand up like a heap.
14 [q]In the daytime also He led them with the cloud,
And all the night with a light of fire.
15 [r]He split the rocks in the wilderness,
And gave them drink in abundance like the depths.
16 He also brought [s]streams out of the rock,
And caused waters to run down like rivers.

17 But they sinned even more against Him
By [t]rebelling against the Most High in the wilderness.
18 And [u]they tested God in their heart
By asking for the food of their fancy.
19 [v]Yes, they spoke against God:
They said, "Can God prepare a table in the wilderness?
20 [w]Behold, He struck the rock,
So that the waters gushed out,
And the streams overflowed.
Can He give bread also?
Can He provide meat for His people?"

21 Therefore the LORD heard this and [x]was furious;
So a fire was kindled against Jacob,
And anger also came up against Israel,
22 Because they [y]did not believe in God,
And did not trust in His salvation.
23 Yet He had commanded the clouds above,
[z]And opened the doors of heaven,
24 [a]Had rained down manna on them to eat,
And given them of the [5]bread of [b]heaven.
25 Men ate angels' food;
He sent them food to [6]the full.

26 [c]He caused an east wind to blow in the heavens;
And by His power He brought in the south wind.
27 He also rained meat on them like the dust,
Feathered fowl like the sand of the seas;
28 And He let them fall in the midst of their camp,
All around their dwellings.
29 [d]So they ate and were well filled,
For He gave them their own desire.
30 They were not [7]deprived of their craving;
But [e]while their food was still in their mouths,
31 The wrath of God came against them,
And slew the stoutest of them,
And struck down the choice men of Israel.

32 In spite of this [f]they still sinned,
And [g]did not believe in His wondrous works.
33 [h]Therefore their days He consumed in futility,
And their years in fear.

34 [i]When He slew them, then they sought Him;
And they returned and sought earnestly for God.
35 Then they remembered that [j]God was their rock,
And the Most High God [k]their Redeemer.

78:9 children of Ephraim. The act of treachery or apostasy of this largest of the northern tribes is not specifically identified in Israel's history.

78:12 field of Zoan. The regions of Zoan, an Egyptian city.

78:13 waters stand up like a heap. The parting of the Red Sea at the beginning of the Exodus, which allowed Israel to escape from the Egyptian armies, was always considered by the OT saints to be the most spectacular miracle of their history (cf. Ex. 14).

78:15 split the rocks. Twice in the wilderness, when Israel desperately needed a great water supply, God brought water out of rocks (cf. Ex. 17:6; Num. 20:11).

78:18 the food of their fancy. Instead of being grateful for God's marvelous provisions of manna, the Israelites complained against God and Moses. God sent them meat, but also judged them (Num. 11).

78:19 prepare a table in the wilderness. The answer was "yes," but the question implied a sarcastic lack of faith.

78:27 rained meat. A poetic description of the quail which dropped into Israel's camp in the wilderness (Num. 11:31-35).

36 Nevertheless they [l]flattered Him with their mouth,
And they lied to Him with their tongue;
37 For their heart was not steadfast with Him,
Nor were they faithful in His covenant.
38 [m]But He, being full of [n]compassion, forgave their iniquity,
And did not destroy them.
Yes, many a time [o]He turned His anger away,
And [p]did not stir up all His wrath;
39 For [q]He remembered [r]that they were but flesh,
[s]A breath that passes away and does not come again.

40 How often they [t]provoked [8] Him in the wilderness,
And grieved Him in the desert!
41 Yes, [u]again and again they tempted God,
And limited the Holy One of Israel.
42 They did not remember His [9]power:
The day when He redeemed them from the enemy,
43 When He worked His signs in Egypt,
And His wonders in the field of Zoan;
44 [v]Turned their rivers into blood,
And their streams, that they could not drink.
45 [w]He sent swarms of flies among them, which devoured them,
And [x]frogs, which destroyed them.
46 He also gave their crops to the caterpillar,
And their labor to the [y]locust.
47 [z]He destroyed their vines with hail,
And their sycamore trees with frost.
48 He also gave up their [a]cattle to the hail,
And their flocks to fiery [1]lightning.
49 He cast on them the fierceness of His anger,
Wrath, indignation, and trouble,
By sending angels of destruction among them.
50 He made a path for His anger;
He did not spare their soul from death,
But gave [2]their life over to the plague,

The first of their strength in the tents of Ham.
52 But He [c]made His own people go forth like sheep,
And guided them in the wilderness like a flock;
53 And He [d]led them on safely, so that they did not fear;
But the sea [e]overwhelmed their enemies.
54 And He brought them to His [f]holy border,
This mountain [g]which His right hand had acquired.
55 [h]He also drove out the nations before them,
[i]Allotted them an inheritance by [3]survey,
And made the tribes of Israel dwell in their tents.

56 [j]Yet they tested and provoked the Most High God,
And did not keep His testimonies,
57 But [k]turned back and acted unfaithfully like their fathers;
They were turned aside [l]like a deceitful bow.
58 [m]For they provoked Him to anger with their [n]high places,
And moved Him to jealousy with their carved images.
59 When God heard this, He was furious,
And greatly abhorred Israel,
60 [o]So that He forsook the tabernacle of Shiloh,
The tent He had placed among men,
61 [p]And delivered His strength into captivity,
And His glory into the enemy's hand.
62 [q]He also gave His people over to the sword,

78:41 limited the Holy One. The Israelites did this by doubting God's power.

78:42 did not remember His power. The generations of Israelites which left Egypt and eventually died in the wilderness were characterized by ignoring God's previous acts of power and faithfulness. The following verses (vv. 42-55) rehearse the plagues and miracles of the Exodus from Egypt, which marvelously demonstrated God's omnipotence and covenant love.

78:57 deceitful bow. This is a useless bow.

78:60 tabernacle of Shiloh. Shiloh was an early location of Jehovah worship in the Promised Land. The capture and removal of the ark from Shiloh by the Philistines symbolized God's judgment (cf. Josh. 18:1; 1 Sam. 1:9; 3:1; 4:1-22).

[u] Like a mighty man who shouts

66 And [v] He beat back His enemies;
He put them to a perpetual reproach.

67 Moreover He rejected the tent of

And did not choose the tribe of Ephraim,
68 But chose the tribe of Judah,
Mount Zion [w] which He loved.
69 And He built His [x] sanctuary like the

PSALM 79

A Dirge and a Prayer for Israel, Destroyed by Enemies

A Psalm of Asaph.

O God, the [1] nations have come into [a] Your inheritance;
Your holy temple they have defiled;
[b] They have laid Jerusalem [2] in heaps.
2 [c] The dead bodies of Your servants
They have given as food for the birds of the heavens,
The flesh of Your saints to the beasts of the earth.
3 Their blood they have shed like water
all around Jerusalem,
And there was no one to bury them.
4 We have become a reproach to our
[d] neighbors,
A scorn and derision to those who are around us.

5 [e] How long, LORD?
Will You be angry forever?
Will Your [f] jealousy burn like fire?
6 [g] Pour out Your wrath on the [3] nations that [h] do not know You,
And on the kingdoms that [i] do not call on Your name.
7 For they have devoured Jacob,
And laid waste his dwelling place.

8 [j] Oh, do not remember [4] former iniquities against us!
Let Your tender mercies come speedily to meet us,
For we have been brought very low.
9 Help us, O God of our salvation,
For the glory of Your name;
And deliver us, and provide atonement for our sins,
[k] For Your name's sake!
10 [l] Why should the [5] nations say,
"Where is their God?"
Let there be known among the nations in our sight
The avenging of the blood of Your servants which has been shed.

11 Let [m] the groaning of the prisoner
come before You;
According to the greatness of Your
[6] power
Preserve those who are appointed to die;
12 And return to our neighbors
[n] sevenfold into their bosom
[o] Their reproach with which they have reproached You, O Lord.

13 So [p] we, Your people and sheep of Your pasture,

78:65 mighty man...wine. The picture is that of a furious, raging warrior entering the battle on Israel's side.

78:68 the tribe of Judah. Instead of the prestigious tribes, God chose Judah. In Judah was Mt. Zion where the central worship center of Jehovah was located. Also, David their king, as well as his royal descendants, were from this tribe.

79:1-13 The historical basis for this lament psalm was probably Nebuchadnezzar's destruction of the temple in 586 B.C. (cf. Ps. 74; 2 Kin. 25:8-21; Lam. 1-5). The psalm contains prayer for the nation's spiritual needs, curses against the enemies of God's people, and praises in anticipation of God's actions. The psalm helps the believer express his anguish in a disaster when it seems as though God is aloof.

II. The Supplication for Divine Intervention (79:5-13)
  A. The Prayer for Vindication (79:5-7)
  B. The Prayer for Forgiveness (79:8,9)
  C. The Prayer for Reprisal (79:10-12)
  D. The Praise for Response (79:13)

79:1 nations. In this context, the word refers to heathen, pagan people. inheritance. The inheritance of God was national Israel, and specifically its capital city, Jerusalem, where the temple was located.

79:9 atonement. See Ps. 65:3. For Your name's sake. A defeat of a nation was believed to be a defeat of its god. A mark of spiritual maturity is one's concern for the reputation of God.

79:10 "Where is their God?" The heathen were mocking Israel's God by saying that the destruction of the nation implied that its God was nonexistent.

79:11 appointed to die. A prayer for the preservation of the prisoners awaiting execution in the enemy's dungeon.

79:12 sevenfold into their bosom. A petition that God would restore His reputation by bringing a destruction of the enemies much worse than what had happened to Israel.

Will give You thanks forever;
[q]We will show forth Your praise to all generations.

PSALM 80

Prayer for Israel's Restoration

To the Chief Musician. [a]Set to [1]"The Lilies." A [2]Testimony of Asaph. A Psalm.

Give ear, O Shepherd of Israel,
[b]You who lead Joseph [c]like a flock;
You who dwell between the cherubim,
[d]shine forth!
2 Before [e]Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh,
Stir up Your strength,
And come and save us!

3 [f]Restore us, O God;
[g]Cause Your face to shine,
And we shall be saved!

4 O LORD God of hosts,
[h]How long will You be angry
Against the prayer of Your people?
5 [i]You have fed them with the bread of tears,
And given them tears to drink in great measure.
6 You have made us a strife to our neighbors,
And our enemies laugh among themselves.

7 Restore us, O God of hosts;
Cause Your face to shine,
And we shall be saved!

8 You have brought [j]a vine out of Egypt;
[k]You have cast out the [3]nations, and planted it.
9 You prepared room for it,
And caused it to take deep root,
And it filled the land.
10 The hills were covered with its shadow,
And the [4]mighty cedars with its [l]boughs.
11 She sent out her boughs to [5]the Sea,
And her branches to [6]the River.

12 Why have You [m]broken down her [7]hedges,
So that all who pass by the way pluck her fruit?
13 The boar out of the woods uproots it,
And the wild beast of the field devours it.

14 Return, we beseech You, O God of hosts;
[n]Look down from heaven and see,
And visit this vine
15 And the vineyard which Your right hand has planted,
And the branch that You made strong [o]for Yourself.
16 It is burned with fire, it is cut down;
[p]They perish at the rebuke of Your countenance.
17 [q]Let Your hand be upon the man of Your right hand,
Upon the son of man whom You made strong for Yourself.
18 Then we will not turn back from You;
Revive us, and we will call upon Your name.

19 Restore us, O LORD God of hosts;
Cause Your face to shine,
And we shall be saved!

PSALM 81

title [a] Ps. 8:title [1] Heb. Al Gittith

80:1-19 This psalm was probably written from Jerusalem in astonishment at the captivity of the 10 northern tribes in 722 B.C. The psalmist recognized that God's people had removed themselves through apostasy from the blessings of the Mosaic Covenant. So he begs God to act and to restore His people into covenant blessings (vv. 3,7,14,19).

I. Prayer for Divine Restoration (80:1-3)
II. Despair over God's Anger (80:4-7)
III. Description of God's Vine (80:8-16a)
IV. Prayer for Divine Restoration (80:16b-19)

80:Title. "The Lilies." The name of a tune. See note on Ps. 45:Title.

80:1 dwell between the cherubim. A reference to the ark of the covenant, a symbol for God's presence. The images of two cherubim sat on top of the ark, facing each other (cf. Ex. 37:1-9).

80:3 face to shine. See note on Ps. 67:1; cf. 80:7,19.

80:4 God of hosts. See note on Ps. 59:5; cf. 80:7,14.

80:8 vine out of Egypt. The vine is a metaphor for Israel, whom God delivered out of Egypt and nurtured into a powerful nation (cf. Is. 5:1-7; 27:2-6; Matt. 21:33-40).

80:17 son of man. In this context, this phrase is primarily a reference to Israel. In a secondary sense, the "son of man" may allude to the Davidic dynasty and even extend to the Messiah, since He is so frequently called by that title in the NT.

81:1-16 This psalm was intended to be used in the celebration of one of the feasts of Israel, most likely the Feast of Tabernacles. After the call to worship (vv. 1-5), the psalm presents a message from God in the first person (vv. 6-16). This oracle pleads with Israel to "listen" to Him (v. 13), so that He might pour out on the nation the blessings of the covenant.

I. A Call to Joyful Worship (81:1-5)
II. A Call to Godly Obedience (81:6-16)

2 Raise a song and strike the timbrel,
The pleasant harp with the lute.

3 Blow the trumpet at the time of the New Moon,
At the full moon, on our solemn feast day.
4 For [b]this is a statute for Israel,
A law of the God of Jacob.
5 This He established in Joseph as a testimony,
When He went throughout the land of Egypt,
[c]Where I heard a language I did not understand.

6 "I removed his shoulder from the burden;
His hands were freed from the baskets.
7 [d]You called in trouble, and I delivered you;
[e]I answered you in the secret place of thunder;
I [f]tested you at the waters of [2]Meribah. Selah

8 "Hear, [g] O My people, and I will admonish you!
O Israel, if you will listen to Me!
9 There shall be no [h]foreign god among you;
Nor shall you worship any foreign god.
10 [i]I am the LORD your God,
Who brought you out of the land of Egypt;
[j]Open your mouth wide, and I will fill it.
11 "But My people would not heed My voice,
And Israel would have [k]none of Me.
12 [l]So I gave them over to [3]their own stubborn heart,
To walk in their own counsels.

13 "Oh, [m] that My people would listen to Me,
That Israel would walk in My ways!
14 I would soon subdue their enemies,
And turn My hand against their adversaries.
15 [n]The haters of the LORD would pretend submission to Him,
But their [4]fate would endure forever.

PSALM 82

A Plea for Justice

A Psalm of Asaph.

God [a]stands in the congregation of [1]the mighty;
He judges among [b]the [2]gods.
2 How long will you judge unjustly,
And [c]show partiality to the wicked? Selah
3 [3]Defend the poor and fatherless;
Do justice to the afflicted and [d]needy.
4 Deliver the poor and needy;
Free them from the hand of the wicked.
5 They do not know, nor do they understand;

81:Title. an instrument of Gath. See note on Ps. 8:Title.

81:2 lute. A musical instrument with a long and narrow neck resembling a guitar.

81:3 New Moon...full moon. The seventh month of Israel's year (Tishri; Sept./Oct.) culminated the festival year with a succession of celebrations. The month began with the blowing of the trumpets, continued with the Day of Atonement on the tenth day, and celebrated the Feast of Tabernacles on the fifteenth day when the moon was full. The Feast of Tabernacles praised God for His care in the wilderness wanderings, and also pointed to the coming kingdom (Matt. 17:1-4).

81:5 language...not understand. Either the psalmist heard a message, the meaning of which he did not grasp, in which case this message is presented as an oracle in the following verses; or, the psalmist is referring to the Egyptian language, which the Jews did not know.

81:6 hands...freed...baskets. The Israelites in Egypt were forced to carry bricks and clay in baskets.

81:7 secret place of thunder. Probably a reference to God's presence on Mt. Sinai at the giving of the law (cf. Ex. 19:16ff.; 20:18ff.). waters of Meribah. Meribah, which means "strife" or "dispute," marked places where Israel tempted God (cf. Ex. 17:1-7; Num. 20:1-13; Pss. 95:8; 106:32).

81:14 soon subdue their enemies. One of the blessings of obedience promised to Israel in the Mosaic Covenant was victory over its enemies (cf. Num. 33:52-56; Deut. 6:16-19; 7:16-24).

81:16 honey from the rock. This phrase was first used by Moses in his song of praise (Deut. 32:13). Though honey is sometimes found in the clefts of rocks, the intent of the figure here is more likely to valuable food provided from unlikely places.

82:1-8 This psalm, like Pss. 2 and 58, focuses on the injustices of tyranny. The psalmist pictures God standing in the assembly of earthly leaders, to whom He has delegated authority, and condemning their injustices. The final prayer of the psalmist (v. 8) is that God Himself will take direct control of the affairs of this world.

I. The Assembly of World Leaders Before God (82:1)
II. The Evaluation of World Leaders by God (82:2-7)
III. The Replacement of World Leaders with God (82:8)

82:1 congregation of the mighty. The scene opens with God having called the world leaders together. among the gods. Some have taken this psalm to be about demons or false pagan gods. The best interpretation is that these "gods" are human leaders, such as judges, kings, legislators, and presidents (cf. Ex. 22:8,9,28; Judg. 5:8,9). God the Great Judge, presides over these lesser judges.

82:2-4 judge unjustly. God accuses the lesser human judges of social injustices which violate the Mosaic law (e.g., Deut. 24).

They walk about in darkness;
All the [c]foundations of the earth are [4]unstable.

6 I said, [f]"You are [5]gods,
And all of you are children of the Most High.
7 But you shall die like men,

PSALM 83

Prayer to Frustrate Conspiracy Against Israel

A Song. A Psalm of Asaph.

1 [a]Do not keep silent, O God!
Do not hold Your peace,
And do not be still, O God!
2 For behold, [b]Your enemies make a
[1]tumult;
And those who hate You have [2]lifted up their head.
3 They have taken crafty counsel against Your people,
And consulted together [c]against Your sheltered ones.
4 They have said, "Come, and [d]let us cut them off from being a nation,
That the name of Israel may be remembered no more."

5 For they have consulted together with one [3]consent;
They [4]form a confederacy against
You:
6 [e]The tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites;
Moab and the Hagrites;
7 Gebal, Ammon, and Amalek;
Philistia with the inhabitants of Tyre;
8 Assyria also has joined with them;
They have helped the children of Lot.
Selah

9 Deal with them as with [f]Midian,
As with [g]Sisera,
As with Jabin at the Brook Kishon,
10 Who perished at En Dor,
[h]Who became as refuse on the earth.
11 Make their nobles like [i]Oreb and like Zeeb,
Yes, all their princes like [j]Zebah and Zalmunna,
12 Who said, "Let us take for ourselves
The pastures of God for a possession."

13 [k]O my God, make them like the 82:5 darkness. Signifies both intellectual ignorance and moral iniquity. foundations of the earth are unstable. When leaders rule unjustly, the divinely established moral order which undergirds human existence is undermined.

82:6 I said. Kings and judges are set up ultimately by the decree of God (Ps. 2:6). God, in effect, invests His authority in human leaders for the stability of the universe (cf. Rom. 13:1-7). But God may revoke this authority (v. 7). "You are gods." Jesus, in quoting this phrase in John 10:34, supported the interpretation that the "gods" were human beings. In a play on words, he claims that if human leaders can be called "gods," certainly the Messiah can be called God. children of the Most High. Created by God for noble life.

82:7 die like men. In spite of being made in God's image, they were mortal and would die like human beings. fall like...princes. The unjust rulers would become vulnerable to the violent deaths which often accompanied tyranny.

82:8 You shall inherit all nations. The psalmist prayerfully anticipates the future when God will set up His kingdom and restore order and perfect justice to a sin-cursed world (cf. Pss. 96,97; Is. 11:1-5).

83:1-18 This psalm, a national lament which includes prayer and imprecations, may be best studied with a map since several individual national enemies of Israel are noted. Second Chronicles 20:1-30 may record the specific historical event prompting this psalm, though some Bible students believe that the nations mentioned are only symbolic of all of Israel's enemies. The psalmist begs God to rescue Israel from its enemies as He had done so many times in the past.

I. A Plea for Help (83:1)
II. A Protest Against Israel's Enemies (83:2-8)
III. A Petition for Divine Judgment (83:9-18)

83:2 Your enemies. Throughout this psalm, the hostile nations are described as God's enemies.

83:4 cut them off. The hostile nations, under Satan's influence, repudiated God's promise to preserve forever the nation of Israel (cf. Gen. 17:7,8; Ps. 89:34-37).

83:6 Edom...Hagrites. The list of nations represents Israel's enemies throughout its history. Edom descended from Esau and lived SE of Israel. The Ishmaelites, descendants from Abraham and Hagar, were Bedouin tribes. The Moabites descended from Lot (cf. v. 8) and were tribal people living E of the Jordan (cf. Judg. 11:17,18; Is. 15,16). The Hagrites were a nomadic tribe living E of the Jordan (1 Chr. 5:10, 19,20).

83:7 Gebal...Tyre. Gebal was probably a community S of the Dead Sea, near Petra in Edom. Ammon, a nation descending from Lot, was located E of the Jordan River. The Amalekites, nomads living SE of the Jordan River, were descendants of Esau (cf. Gen. 36:12,16; Ex. 17:8-13; Num. 24:20; Judg. 6:3; 1 Sam. 15:1-8). Philistia was located SW of Israel (Judg. 14–16). Tyre was NW of Israel (cf. Ezek. 27).

83:8 Assyria. This dominant nation of the eighth century B.C. took captive the northern 10 tribes of Israel in 722 B.C. Assyria used smaller nations, like Moab and Edom (the children of Lot; cf. Gen. 19:36-38), to accomplish its military goals.

83:9 Midian...Jabin. The psalmist reminded God of famous past victories. Gideon had defeated the Midianites (Judg. 7:19-25). Barak and Deborah defeated Jabin and his army commander, Sisera, near the Brook Kishon (Judg. 4,5).

83:11 Oreb...Zalmunna. These men were chiefs of the Midianites when they were defeated by Gideon (cf. Judg. 6-8).

83:13-15 The psalmist uses several dramatic similes in his prayer for the destruction of Israel's enemies.

14 As the fire burns the woods,
And as the flame [m]sets the mountains on fire,
15 So pursue them with Your tempest,
And frighten them with Your storm.
16 Fill their faces with shame,
That they may seek Your name, O LORD.
17 Let them be [5]confounded and dismayed forever;
Yes, let them be put to shame and perish,
18 [n]That they may know that You, whose [o]name alone is the LORD,
Are [p]the Most High over all the earth.

PSALM 84

The Blessedness of Dwelling in the House of God

To the Chief Musician. [a]On [1] an instrument of Gath. A Psalm of the sons of Korah.

1 How [b]lovely [2]is Your tabernacle, O LORD of hosts!
2 [c]My soul longs, yes, even faints
For the courts of the LORD;
My heart and my flesh cry out for the living God.

3 Even the sparrow has found a home,
And the swallow a nest for herself,
Where she may lay her young—
Even Your altars, O LORD of hosts,
My King and my God.
4 Blessed are those who dwell in Your [d]house;
They will still be praising You. Selah

5 Blessed is the man whose strength is in You,
Whose heart is set on pilgrimage.
6 As they pass through the Valley [e]of [3]Baca,
They make it a spring;
The rain also covers it with [4]pools.
7 They go [f]from strength to strength;
[5]Each one [g]appears before God in Zion.

8 O LORD God of hosts, hear my prayer;
Give ear, O God of Jacob! Selah
9 [h]O God, behold our shield,
And look upon the face of Your [6]anointed.

10 For a day in Your courts is better than a thousand.
I would rather [7]be a doorkeeper in the house of my God
Than dwell in the tents of wickedness.
11 For the LORD God is [i]a sun and [j]shield;
The LORD will give grace and glory;
[k]No good thing will He withhold
From those who walk uprightly.

12 O LORD of hosts,
[l]Blessed is the man who trusts in You!

83:18 know...Most High. The purpose of the maledictions against the hostile nations is neither personal nor national, but spiritual: that the nations may know and glorify God. whose name alone is the LORD. "Alone" should precede "are" in the next phrase. The Gentile nations need to know that the God of the Bible is the only God.

84:1-12 This psalm, like other psalms of ascent (Pss. 120–134), expresses the joy of a pilgrim traveling up to Jerusalem, then up into the temple to celebrate one of the feasts. The pilgrim focuses his attention especially on the thought of being in the very presence of the Lord God. The NT believer-priest, in an even greater way, can come into the presence of the Lord (cf. Heb. 4:16; 10:19-22).

I. The Expectation of Worshiping God (84:1-4)
II. The Expedition to Worship God (84:5-7)
III. The Elation at Worshiping God (84:8-12)

84:Title. instrument of Gath. See note on Ps. 8:Title. sons of Korah. These descendants of Levi through Kohath were the gatekeepers and musicians in the temple at Jerusalem (1 Chr. 6:22; 9:17-32; 26:1; see all Pss. 42–49; 84,85; 87,88).

84:1 lovely is Your tabernacle. The temple worship center was "lovely" because it enabled the OT saint to come into the presence of God (cf. Pss. 27; 42:1,2 61:4; 63:1,2). LORD of hosts. "Hosts" represent God's angelic armies, thus God's omnipotence over all powers in heaven and on earth (cf. vv. 3,8,12).

84:2 longs...faints...cry out. The psalmist is consumed with his happy, but intense desire to worship God in the temple.

84:3 sparrow...swallow. The psalmist admires these birds who were able to build their nests in the temple courtyards, near the altars of God.

84:4 Blessed. This word is used 3 times (vv. 4,5,12) to describe the happiness of those who, like the sons of Korah, "lodged all around the house of God" (1 Chr. 9:27).

84:6 Valley of Baca. "Baca" can be translated as "weeping" or "balsam tree." The valley was an arid place on the way to Jerusalem. They make it a spring. The pilgrims traveling to a festival of worship at Jerusalem turn an arid valley into a place of joy.

84:7 strength to strength. Anticipation of joyous worship of God in Jerusalem overcame the pilgrims' natural weariness in their difficult journey. Zion. See note on Ps. 87:2.

84:9 behold our shield. A metaphor for the king, who also would have participated in a festival at the temple (cf. Ps. 47:9; Hos. 4:18). the face of Your anointed. The king is regularly described as God's "anointed" (Pss. 2:2; 18:50; 20:6; 28:8; 89:38,51). The psalmist thus prays that God would look upon the king with favor, blessing his reign with prosperity.

84:10 doorkeeper. One day standing at the door of the temple, or just being near even if not inside, was better than a thousand days fellowshiping with the wicked.

84:11 sun and shield. This pictures God's overall provision and protection.

PSALM 85

Prayer that the LORD Will Restore Favor to the Land

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm [a] of the sons of Korah.

LORD, You have been favorable to Your land;
You have [b] brought back the captivity of Jacob.
2 You have forgiven the iniquity of Your people;
You have covered all their sin. Selah
3 You have taken away all Your wrath;
You have turned from the fierceness of Your anger.

4 [c] Restore us, O God of our salvation,
And cause Your anger toward us to cease.
5 [d] Will You be angry with us forever?
Will You prolong Your anger to all generations?
6 Will You not [e] revive us again,
That Your people may rejoice in You?
7 Show us Your mercy, LORD,
And grant us Your salvation.

8 I will hear what God the LORD will speak,
For He will speak peace
To His people and to His saints;
But let them not turn back to [1] folly.
9 Surely [f] His salvation is near to those who fear Him,
[g] That glory may dwell in our land.

10 Mercy and truth have met together;
[h] Righteousness and peace have kissed.
11 Truth shall spring out of the earth,
And righteousness shall look down from heaven.
12 [i] Yes, the LORD will give what is good;
And our land will yield its increase.
13 Righteousness will go before Him,
And shall make His footsteps our pathway.

Prayer for Mercy, with Meditation on the Excellencies of the LORD

A Prayer of David.

Bow down Your ear, O LORD, hear me;
For I am poor and needy.
2 Preserve my [1] life, for I am holy;
You are my God;
Save Your servant who trusts in You!
3 Be merciful to me, O Lord,
For I cry to You all day long.
4 [2] Rejoice the soul of Your servant,
[a] For to You, O Lord, I lift up my soul.
5 For [b] You, Lord, are good, and ready to forgive,
And abundant in mercy to all those who call upon You.

6 Give ear, O LORD, to my prayer;
And attend to the voice of my supplications.

85:1-13 The psalmist pledges that God will again demonstrate His covenant love to Israel. God has been merciful in the past; He is angry presently; but He will restore Israel in the future (cf. Deut. 30; Hos. 3:4,5). Though God judges, He is faithful to His promises. The feelings expressed in this psalm may describe those of the Jews returning from exile in Babylon. Though they were grateful for restoration to their land, they were disappointed that the conditions did not measure up to the glory of the pre-Exilic life there (cf. Ezra 3:12,13).

I. Review of God's Past Mercies (85:1-3)
II. Recognition of God's Present Anger (85:4-7)
III. Revelation of God's Future Salvation (85:8-13)

85:Title. sons of Korah. See note on Ps. 84:Title.

85:1 favorable to Your land. In the past, God deemed His nation, Israel, to be acceptable.

85:3 fierceness of Your anger. See note on Ps. 56:7.

85:7 mercy. The word means "loyal love" or "unfailing love," and specifies God's faithfulness to His people through His covenant relationship.

85:8 peace. Ultimately this comes in the Messiah's kingdom (cf. Matt. 10:34; Luke 2:14).

85:9 salvation...who fear Him. Only those who renounce their sinful autonomy and put their complete trust in the living God will participate in the blessings of salvation and the future kingdom (cf. John 3:3-5). glory may dwell in our land. The departure of the glory of God, which signified His presence, is described in Ezek. 10,11. He withdrew His glory because of the apostasy of the nation immediately preceding the Babylonian Exile (cf. Ezek. 8–11). The return of the glory of the Lord in the future millennial temple is foretold in Ezek. 43:1-4 (cf. Pss. 26:8; 63:2; Is. 40:3-5; 60:1-3; 62:1-5). See note on Lev. 9:23.

85:10 Mercy...truth...righteousness...peace. These 4 spiritual qualities characterizing the atmosphere of the future kingdom of Christ, will relate to each other in perfect harmony and will saturate kingdom life (cf. vv. 10,13).

85:12 our land...increase. Increase in the fertility and productivity of the land will also characterize the future kingdom of Christ (cf. Is. 4:2; 30:23-26; 32:15; Jer. 31:12; Ezek. 36:8-11; Amos 9:13-15; Zech. 8:11,12).

86:1-17 This psalm is an individual lament (cf. Ps. 56) in which David expresses his distress and overcomes that distress through praise and worship. There is a sense of urgency demonstrated by some 14 prayer requests. Undergirding the requests is the covenant relationship (vv. 2,5,13).

I. The Request for God's Attention (86:1-7)
II. The Testimony to God's Uniqueness (86:8-13)
III. The Plea for God's Deliverance (86:14-17)

86:2 I am holy. David, though recognizing his sinfulness (v. 1), insisted that by the grace of God he had not broken his covenant with the Lord.

86:4 soul...soul. The psalmist requests that his inner person would be preserved according to the covenant agreements (cf. Deut. 7,8,20).

7 In the day of my trouble I will call upon You,
For You will answer me.

8 [c]Among the gods there is none like
You, O Lord;
Nor are there any works like Your works.
9 All nations whom You have made
Shall come and worship before You,
O Lord,
And shall glorify Your name.
10 For You are great, and [d]do wondrous things;
[e]You alone are God.

11 [f]Teach me Your way, O LORD;
I will walk in Your truth;
[3]Unite my heart to fear Your name.
12 I will praise You, O Lord my God,
with all my heart,
And I will glorify Your name
forevermore.
13 For great is Your mercy toward me,
And You have delivered my soul from the depths of [4]Sheol.

14 O God, the proud have risen against
me,
And a mob of violent men have sought my life,
And have not set You before them.
15 But [g]You, O Lord, are a God full of compassion, and gracious, Longsuffering and abundant in mercy
and truth.

16 Oh, turn to me, and have mercy on
me!
Give Your strength to Your servant,
And save the son of Your maidservant.
17 Show me a sign for good,
That those who hate me may see it
and be ashamed,
Because You, LORD, have helped me and comforted me.

3 [b] Is. 60:1
4 [1] Egypt

86:8 Among the gods. David is here contrasting the true God with the imaginary deities of the heathen nations (cf. v. 10; also Ex. 15:11; Ps. 89:6; Is. 46:5-11).

86:9 All nations...worship. The psalmists and prophets often look into the future messianic age when all the nations of the world will worship the Lord (cf. Ps. 22:27; Is. 2:3; Zech. 8:21,22; 14:16-19; Rev. 15:4).

86:11 Unite my heart. The psalmist prays that he would have an undivided heart, single-heartedly loyal to his Lord (cf. Rom. 7:15; James 1:8).

86:14 the proud. The proud (i.e., arrogant, insolent) are those who act independently from God, rebelling against Him and His people (cf. Pss. 119:21,51,69,78,85,122).

86:16 the son of Your maidservant. David asks for special favor from God just as a servant born in the household would receive more than a servant brought in from outside the household (cf. Ps. 116:16).

86:17 a sign. A request for a favorable indication that would demonstrate that God was truly on David's side.

87:1-7 This psalm describes the Lord's love for Jerusalem and exalts this city as the religious center of the world in the coming messianic kingdom (cf. Ps. 48). Though the nations of the world (even including some of Israel's former enemies) will worship the Lord then, Israel will still be the favored nation (cf. Is. 2:2-4; 19:23-25; 45:22-25; 56:6-8; Zech. 8:20-23; 14:16-19).

I. The Lord's Love for Zion (87:1-3)
II. The Lord's Favor of Israel (87:4-6)
III. The Musicians' Exultation over Jerusalem (87:7)

87:Title. sons of Korah. See note on Ps. 84:Title.

87:1 His foundation...holy mountains. "His foundation" means "His founded city," namely Jerusalem, located in the hill country of Judea.

87:2 gates of Zion. Zion is a poetic description of Jerusalem, seemingly used by the OT writers when special spiritual and religious significance was being attached to the city. Though God certainly loved other cities in Israel, He did not choose any of them to be His worship center (cf. Pss. 122,125,132,133). The gates represent the access of the potential worshiper into the city where he could come into a special worshiping relationship with God. More than all the dwellings of Jacob. The other cities in Israel were not chosen by God to be the place of His special dwelling.

87:3 O city of God! Jerusalem was God's city because there God met His people in praise and offerings.

87:4 Rahab and Babylon. Rahab was a monster of ancient pagan mythology and symbolized Egypt in the OT (cf. Ps. 89:10; Is. 30:7; 51:9). Two of the superpowers of the ancient world, fierce enemies of Israel, will one day worship the Lord in Zion (cf. Is. 19:19-25). Philistia...Tyre...Ethiopia. Three more Gentile nations, ancient enemies of Israel, whose descendants will worship the Lord in Jerusalem (cf. Is. 14:28-32; 18:1-7). This multinational worship is pictured as a great joy to the Lord Himself. This one was born there. To be born in Jerusalem will be noted as a special honor in the messianic kingdom (cf. vv. 5,6; also Zech. 8:20-23).

And the Most High Himself shall establish her."
6 The LORD will record,
When He [c]registers the peoples:
"This one was born there." Selah

7 Both the singers and the players on

"All my springs are in you."

PSALM 88

A Prayer for Help in Despondency

A Song. A Psalm of the sons of Korah. To the Chief Musician. Set to "Mahalath Leannoth." A [1]Contemplation of [a]Heman the Ezrahite.

O LORD, [b]God of my salvation,
I have cried out day and night
before You.
2 Let my prayer come before You;
[2]Incline Your ear to my cry.

3 For my soul is full of troubles,
And my life [c]draws near to the grave.
4 I am counted with those who [d]go[3]
down to the pit;
[e]I am like a man who has no strength,
5 [4]Adrift among the dead,
Like the slain who lie in the grave,
Whom You remember no more,
And who are cut off from Your hand.

6 You have laid me in the lowest pit,
In darkness, in the depths.
7 Your wrath lies heavy upon me,
And You have afflicted me with all
[f]Your waves. Selah

8 [g]You have [5]put away my acquaintances far from me;
You have made me an abomination to
them;
[h]I am shut up, and I cannot get out;
9 My eye wastes away because of affliction.

[i]LORD, I have called daily upon You;
I have stretched out my hands to You.
10 Will You work wonders for the dead?
Shall [6]the dead arise and praise You?
Selah
11 Shall Your lovingkindness be declared in the grave?
Or Your faithfulness in the place of destruction?
12 Shall Your wonders be known in the dark?
And Your righteousness in the land of forgetfulness?

13 But to You I have cried out, O LORD,
And in the morning my prayer comes
before You.
14 LORD, why do You cast off my soul?
Why do You hide Your face from me?
15 I have been afflicted and ready to die
from my youth;
I suffer Your terrors;
I am distraught.
16 Your fierce wrath has gone over me;
Your terrors have [7]cut me off.
17 They came around me all day long like water;
They engulfed me altogether.
18 [j]Loved one and friend You have put far from me,
And my acquaintances into darkness.

10 [6] shades, ghosts
16 [7] destroyed me
18 [j] Job 19:13; Ps. 31:11; 38:11

87:7 "All my springs are in you." "Springs" is a metaphor for the source of joyful blessings. Eternal salvation, including the death and resurrection of Christ, is rooted in Jerusalem. The prophets also tell of a literal fountain flowing from the temple in Jerusalem which will water the surrounding land (cf. Joel 3:18; Ezek. 47:1-12).

88:1-18 This lament is unusual in that it does not end on a happy note. The psalmist has been ill or injured since the days of his youth (v. 15) and bemoans God's failure to hear his prayer for good health. He assumes that God is angry with him, but like Job, he knows of no cause for that anger. But though he does not understand God's ways, the psalmist does turn to God, thus indicating an underlying trust.

I. Complaints Against God's Action (88:1-9)
II. Challenges to God's Wisdom (88:10-12)
III. Charges Against God's Conduct (88:13-18)

88:Title. sons of Korah. See note on Ps. 84:Title. "Mahalath Leannoth." "Mahalath" is either the name of a tune or an instrument, possibly a reed pipe which was played on sad occasions. "Leannoth" may mean "to afflict" and describe the despair which permeates this psalm. Contemplation. See note on Ps. 32:Title. Heman the Ezrahite. Heman was a musician from the family of the Kohathites, who founded the Korahite choir (cf. 1 Chr. 6:33; 2 Chr. 5:12; 35:15). He may be the same person who was one of the wise men during Solomon's reign (1 Kin. 4:31). "Ezrahite" may mean "native born," or may be the name of a family clan (cf. 1 Chr. 2:6).

88:4 go down to the pit. "Pit" is one of several references to the grave in this psalm (cf. sheol, v. 3; the dead, vv. 5,10; the grave, vv. 5,11; place of destruction, v. 11).

88:5 Adrift among the dead. Expresses the idea that death cuts off all ties to friends and family as well as to God.

88:7 all Your waves. Like the waves rolling onto the seashore, so God has directed trouble after trouble on the psalmist (cf. v. 17).

88:8 put away my acquaintances. The psalmist claims that the Lord has turned his friends against him. Some see this as a quarantine experience, as from leprosy (cf. v. 18; also Job 19:13-20).

88:9 eye wastes away. This could be a description of the psalmist's tears, used as a figure for his entire collapse under this distress.

88:10 wonders for the dead. The psalmist reminds God, through a series of rhetorical questions, that the dead cannot testify to God's goodness.

88:14 hide Your face. That is, not answer prayer.

88:15 die from my youth. The psalmist has had some serious illness or injury from the time of his youth.

88:18 Loved one...friend...acquaintances. See note on verse 8.

PSALM 89

Remembering the Covenant with David, and Sorrow for Lost Blessings

A [1]Contemplation of [a]Ethan the Ezrahite.

I will sing of the mercies of the LORD forever;
With my mouth will I make known Your faithfulness to all generations.
2 For I have said, "Mercy shall be built up forever;
[b]Your faithfulness You shall establish in the very heavens."

3 "I[c] have made a covenant with My chosen,
I have [d]sworn to My servant David:
4 'Your seed I will establish forever,
And build up your throne [e]to all generations.' " Selah

5 And [f]the heavens will praise Your wonders, O LORD;
Your faithfulness also in the assembly of the saints.
6 [g]For who in the heavens can be compared to the LORD?
Who among the sons of the mighty can be likened to the LORD?
7 [h]God is greatly to be feared in the assembly of the saints,
And to be held in reverence by all those around Him.
8 O LORD God of hosts,
Who is mighty like You, O LORD?
Your faithfulness also surrounds You.
9 [i]You rule the raging of the sea;
When its waves rise, You still them.
10 [j]You have broken [2]Rahab in pieces, as one who is slain;
You have scattered Your enemies with Your mighty arm.

11 [k]The heavens are Yours, the earth also is Yours;
The world and all its fullness, You have founded them.
12 The north and the south, You have created them;
[l]Tabor and [m]Hermon rejoice in Your name.
13 You have a mighty arm;
Strong is Your hand, and high is Your right hand.
14 Righteousness and justice are the foundation of Your throne;
Mercy and truth go before Your face.
15 Blessed are the people who know the [n]joyful sound!
They walk, O LORD, in the light of Your countenance.
16 In Your name they rejoice all day long,
And in Your righteousness they are exalted.
17 For You are the glory of their strength,
And in Your favor our [3]horn is [o]exalted.
18 For our shield belongs to the LORD,
And our king to the Holy One of Israel.

89:1-52 This psalm describes the author's attempt to reconcile the seeming contradictions between his theology and the reality of his nation's conditions. Through the first 37 verses, he rehearses what he knows to be theologically accurate: God has sovereignly chosen Israel to be His nation, and David's descendants to rule. The last third of the psalm reflects the psalmist's chagrin that the nation had been ravaged and the Davidic monarchy had apparently come to a disgraceful end. To his credit, the psalmist refuses to explain away his theology, but instead keeps the tension, hopefully to be resolved at a later time with the promised reestablishment of an earthly kingdom under one of David's descendants (cf. Pss. 110,132).

  A. God's Covenant Love (89:1-4)
  B. God's Praiseworthiness (89:5-18)
  C. God's Covenant with David (89:19-37)

  A. The Psalmist's Lament (89:38-45)
  B. The Psalmist's Consternation (89:46-51)
  C. The Doxology (89:52)

89:Title. Ethan the Ezrahite. Possibly the Levitical singer mentioned in 1 Chr. 6:42 and 15:17,19 (see note on Ps. 88:Title.).

89:1 mercies. See note on Ps. 85:7 (cf. vv. 2,14,24,28,33,49).

89:2 You shall establish...heavens. The psalmist exults that the Lord Himself will guarantee the eternality of the Davidic dynasty (cf. 2 Sam. 23:5).

89:3 covenant with My chosen. The Davidic Covenant, culminating in Messiah's reign, was established in 2 Sam. 7 (cf. 1 Kin. 8:23; 1 Chr. 17; 2 Chr. 21:7; Pss. 110,132). The covenant was in the form of a royal grant covenant as God, the Great King, chose David as His servant king. In this type of covenant, the person with whom the Lord established the covenant could violate the terms of the covenant and the Lord would still be obligated to maintain the covenant.

89:4 seed...forever...throne. The covenant with David was extended to his descendants. The throne promise guaranteed that the rightful heir to the throne would always be a descendant of David (cf. vv. 29,36; see also 2 Sam. 7:13,16,18; Luke 1:31-33). The genealogies of Jesus qualify Him for the throne (cf. Matt. 1:1-17; Luke 3:23-38).

89:5 faithfulness. The word suggests constant and habitual actions, meaning here that God was reliable. For God to violate this consistency of actions would be to violate His very nature (cf. vv. 1,2,8,24,33,49).

89:6 sons of the mighty. Lit. "sons of God," i.e., angels.

89:7 assembly of the saints. Lit. "holy ones," which pictures a gathering of the angels around their sovereign Lord.

89:10 Rahab. A figurative term for Egypt. See note on Ps. 87:4.

89:12 Tabor and Hermon. Mountains in Israel pictured joining in praise with the rest of creation.

89:15 the joyful sound. Refers to a cheer, a shout of joyful homage to God (cf. Pss. 33:3; 47:5; 95:1; 98:4; 100:1. See note on Ps. 66:1).

89:17 our horn is exalted. See note on Ps. 75:4 (cf. v. 24).

89:18 shield belongs to the LORD. The "shield" was a metaphor for the king (see note on Ps. 84:9).

19 Then You spoke in a vision to Your [4]holy one,
And said: "I have given help to one who is mighty;
I have exalted one [p]chosen from the people.
20 [q]I have found My servant David;
With My holy oil I have anointed him,
21 [r]With whom My hand shall be established;
Also My arm shall strengthen him.
22 The enemy shall not [5]outwit him,
Nor the son of wickedness afflict him.
23 I will beat down his foes before his face,
And plague those who hate him.

24 "But My faithfulness and My mercy shall be with him,
And in My name his horn shall be exalted.
25 Also I will [s]set his hand over the sea,
And his right hand over the rivers.
26 He shall cry to Me, 'You are [t]my Father,
My God, and [u]the rock of my salvation.'
27 Also I will make him [v]My firstborn,
[w]The highest of the kings of the earth.
28 [x]My mercy I will keep for him forever,
And My covenant shall stand firm with him.
29 His seed also I will make to endure forever,
[y]And his throne [z]as the days of heaven.

30 "If[a] his sons [b]forsake My law
And do not walk in My judgments,
31 If they [6]break My statutes
And do not keep My commandments,
32 Then I will punish their transgression with the rod,
And their iniquity with stripes.
33 [c]Nevertheless My lovingkindness I will not [7]utterly take from him,
Nor [8]allow My faithfulness to fail.
34 My covenant I will not break,
Nor [d]alter the word that has gone out of My lips.
35 Once I have sworn [e]by My holiness;
I will not lie to David:
36 [f]His seed shall endure forever,
And his throne [g]as the sun before Me;
37 It shall be established forever like the moon,
Even like the faithful witness in the sky." Selah

38 But You have [h]cast off and [i]abhorred,[9]
You have been furious with Your [1]anointed.
39 You have renounced the covenant of Your servant;
[j]You have [2]profaned his crown by casting it to the ground.
40 You have broken down all his hedges;
You have brought his [3]strongholds to ruin.
41 All who pass by the way [k]plunder him;
He is a reproach to his neighbors.
42 You have exalted the right hand of his adversaries;
You have made all his enemies rejoice.
43 You have also turned back the edge of his sword,
And have not sustained him in the battle.

41 [k] Ps. 80:12

89:19 Your holy one. The "holy one" was the prophet, Nathan, whom the Lord used to tell David about His covenant with David (2 Sam. 7:4ff.).

89:25 hand...sea...rivers. A reference to the promise of Ex. 23:31 that the Lord would give Israel the land between the Red Sea and the Euphrates River.

89:27 My firstborn. The firstborn child was given a place of special honor and a double portion of the inheritance (Gen. 27; 2 Kin. 2:9). However, in a royal grant covenant, a chosen person could be elevated to the level of firstborn sonship and thus have title to a perpetual gift involving dynastic succession (cf. Ps. 2:7). Though not actually the first, Israel was considered the firstborn among nations (Ex. 4:22); Ephraim the younger was treated as the firstborn (Gen. 48:13-20); and David was the firstborn among kings. In this latter sense of prominent favor, Christ can be called the firstborn over all creation (Col. 1:15), in that He is given the preeminence over all created beings.

89:32 rod...stripes. The rod was an instrument for inflicting wounds, and the stripes were marks left by such a flogging. God's warning reflects His knowledge of the evident potential for disobedience among the descendants of David (cf. 2 Sam. 7:14). In the lifetime of David's grandsons, for example, the kingdom was split with the 10 northern tribes leaving the rulership of the Davidic line (cf. Jer. 31:31 and Ezek. 37:16,17 for the future reunification of the 12 tribes).

89:33 My lovingkindness. Though the Lord might have to severely discipline David's descendants, He would never remove His covenant from this family (cf. 2 Sam. 7:15). Thus the covenant could be conditional in any one or more generations and yet be unconditional in its final outcome (cf. Ezek. 37:24-28).

89:37 faithful witness in the sky. God's covenant with David regarding his descendants was as certain as the establishment of the sun (v. 36) and the moon in the heavens (cf. Jer. 33:14-26). The promise involved a kingdom "in the earth" (Jer. 33:15).

89:39 renounced the covenant. The Heb. word behind "renounced" is rare, and it may better be translated "disdained." It seemed to the psalmist that the condition of Israel indicated that God was neglecting His covenant with David (cf. Ezek. 37:1-14). profaned his crown. This depicts a serious insult to the dynasty because it is of divine origin.

89:40-45 The ruin is depicted in several images: left with broken hedges, thus defenseless; a stronghold whose ruins invite invaders; a weakling plundered by all his enemies; a soldier with a useless sword; and a youth prematurely old.

44 You have made his [4]glory cease,
And cast his throne down to the ground.
45 The days of his youth You have shortened;
You have covered him with shame. Selah

46 How long, LORD?
Will You hide Yourself forever?
Will Your wrath burn like fire?
47 Remember how short my time [l]is;
For what [m]futility have You created all the children of men?
48 What man can live and not [5]see [n]death?
Can he deliver his life from the power of [6]the grave? Selah

49 Lord, where are Your former lovingkindnesses,
Which You [o]swore to David [p]in Your truth?

[q]How I bear in my bosom the reproach of all the many peoples,
51 [r]With which Your enemies have reproached, O LORD,

PSALM 90

The Eternity of God, and Man's Frailty

A Prayer [a]of Moses the man of God.

LORD, [b]You have been our [1]dwelling place in all generations.
2 [c]Before the mountains were brought forth,
Or ever You [2]had formed the earth and the world,
Even from everlasting to everlasting, You are God.

3 You turn man to destruction,
And say, [d]"Return, O children of men."
4 [e]For a thousand years in Your sight
Are like yesterday when it is past,
And like a watch in the night.
5 You carry them away like a flood;
[f]They are like a sleep.
In the morning [g]they are like grass which grows up:
6 In the morning it flourishes and grows up;
In the evening it is cut down and withers.

7 For we have been consumed by Your anger,
And by Your wrath we are terrified.

PSALM 90

4 [e] 2 Pet. 3:8
5 [f] Ps. 73:20 [g] Is. 40:6

89:45 days of his youth...shortened. This is a figure for the relative brevity of the Davidic dynasty. The dynasty was cut off in its youth.

89:46 hide Yourself forever. By God's seeming refusal to answer prayer and restore the Davidic kingship, it seemed as though God was hiding Himself. Of course, the discipline of disobedient kings had been foretold (v. 32). According to the prophets, God would eventually restore Israel and the Davidic throne in an earthly kingdom (cf. Hos. 3:4,5). Never in the OT is there a sense that this Davidic promise would be fulfilled by Christ with a spiritual and heavenly reign.

89:47. The prosperity of the Davidic kingdom is linked to the welfare of all people (cf. Ps. 72:17; Is. 9:7; 11:1-10). If the kingdom fails, who can survive? (v. 48).

89:49-51. Here is a final plea for God to come to the help of His people, so as to avoid reproach (cf. Is. 37:17-35).

89:52 Blessed be the LORD. This blessing, indicating returning confidence, closes not only Ps. 89, but all of Book III (Pss. 73–89) of the Psalms.

90:1-17 The thrust of this magnificent prayer is to ask God to have mercy on frail human beings living in a sin-cursed universe. Moses begins the psalm with a reflection on God's eternality, then expresses his somber thoughts about the sorrows and brevity of life in their relationship to God's anger, and concludes with a plea that God would enable his people to live a significant life. The psalm seems to have been composed as the older generation of Israelites who had left Egypt were dying off in the wilderness (Num. 14).

I. The Praise of God's Eternality (90:1,2)
II. The Perception of Man's Frailty (90:3-12)
III. The Plea for God's Mercy (90:13-17)

90:Title. Moses the man of God. Moses the prophet (Deut. 18:15-22) was unique in that the Lord knew him "face to face" (Deut. 34:10-12). "Man of God" (Deut. 33:1) is a technical term used over 70 times in the OT, always referring to one who spoke for God. It is used of Timothy in the NT (1 Tim. 6:11; 2 Tim. 3:17).

90:1 our dwelling place. God is our sanctuary for protection, sustenance, and stability (cf. Deut. 33:27; Ps. 91:9).

90:2 from everlasting to everlasting. God's nature is without beginning or end, free from all succession of time, and contains in itself the cause of time (cf. Ps. 102:27; Is. 41:4; 1 Cor. 2:7; Eph. 1:4; 1 Tim. 6:16; Rev. 1:8).

90:3 You turn man to destruction. The unusual word for destruction has the idea of crushed matter. Though different from the "dust" of Gen. 3:15, this phrase is no doubt a reference to that passage. Humanity lives under a sovereign decree of death and cannot escape it.

90:4 a watch in the night. A "watch" was a 4 hour period of time (cf. Ex. 14:24; Lam. 2:19; 2 Pet. 3:8).

90:5 like a flood. Humankind is snatched from the earth as though it were being swept away by floodwaters. like a sleep. Humanity lives its existence as though asleep or in a coma. People are insensitive to the brevity of life and the reality of God's wrath.

90:7 consumed by Your anger. The physical bodies of the human race wear out by the effects of God's judgment on sin in the universe (cf. Deut. 4:25-28; 11:16,17). Death is by sin (Rom. 5:12).

8 [h]You have set our iniquities before You,
Our [i]secret sins in the light of Your countenance.
9 For all our days have passed away in Your wrath;
We finish our years like a sigh.
10 The days of our lives are seventy years;
And if by reason of strength they are eighty years,
Yet their boast is only labor and sorrow;
For it is soon cut off, and we fly away.
11 Who knows the power of Your anger?
For as the fear of You, so is Your wrath.
12 [j]So teach us to number our days,
That we may gain a heart of wisdom.

13 Return, O LORD!
How long?
And [k]have compassion on Your servants.
14 Oh, satisfy us early with Your mercy,
[l]That we may rejoice and be glad all our days!
15 Make us glad according to the days in which You have afflicted us,
The years in which we have seen evil.
16 Let [m]Your work appear to Your servants,
And Your glory to their children.
17 [n]And let the beauty of the LORD our God be upon us,
And [o]establish the work of our hands for us;
Yes, establish the work of our hands.

PSALM 91

Safety of Abiding in the Presence of God

He [a]who dwells in the secret place of the Most High Shall abide [b]under the shadow of the Almighty.
2 [c]I will say of the LORD, "He is my refuge and my fortress;
My God, in Him I will trust."

3 Surely [d]He shall deliver you from the snare of the [1]fowler
And from the perilous pestilence.
4 [e]He shall cover you with His feathers,
And under His wings you shall take refuge;
His truth shall be your shield and [2]buckler.
5 [f]You shall not be afraid of the terror by night,
Nor of the arrow that flies by day,
6 Nor of the pestilence that walks in darkness,
Nor of the destruction that lays waste at noonday.

7 A thousand may fall at your side,
And ten thousand at your right hand;
But it shall not come near you.
8 Only [g]with your eyes shall you look,

PSALM 91
1 [a] Ps. 27:5; 31:20; 32:7 [b] Ps. 17:8; Is. 25:4; 32:2
2 [c] Ps. 142:5
3 [d] Ps. 124:7; Prov. 6:5 [1] One who catches birds in a trap or snare
4 [e] Ps. 17:8 [2] A small shield
5 [f] [Job 5:19; Ps. 112:7; Is. 43:2]
8 [g] Ps. 37:34; Mal. 1:5

90:8 the light of Your countenance. All sin is in clear view to the "face" of God.

90:9 like a sigh. After struggling through his life of afflictions and troubles, a man's life ends with a moan of woe and weariness.

90:10 seventy years...eighty years. Though Moses lived to be 120 years old, and "His eyes were not dim nor his natural vigor diminished" (Deut. 34:7), human life was usually more brief and lived under the anger of God. Because of this certain and speedy end, life is sad.

90:11 as the fear of You...Your wrath. Instead of explaining away life's curses, a wise person will recognize God's wrath towards sin as the ultimate cause of all afflictions and consequently learn to fear God.

90:12 number our days. Evaluate the use of time in light of the brevity of life. heart of wisdom. Wisdom repudiates autonomy and focuses on the Lord's sovereignty and revelation.

90:14 Your mercy. See note on Ps. 85:7.

90:15 glad...afflicted us. A prayer that one's days of joy would equal his days of distress.

90:17 the beauty of the LORD. The Lord's beauty implies His delight, approval, and favor. establish the work of our hands. By God's mercy and grace, one's life can have value, significance, and meaning (cf. 1 Cor. 15:58).

91:1-16 This psalm describes God's ongoing sovereign protection of His people from the ever-present dangers and terrors which surround humanity. The original setting may be that of an army about to go to battle. Most of the terrors mentioned in this psalm are left undefined, no doubt intentionally, so that no kind of danger is omitted from application. Believers in every age can read this psalm to learn that nothing can harm a child of God unless the Lord permits it. However, in light of the many references in the Psalms to the future messianic kingdom (cf. especially Pss. 96–100), this psalm must be read as being literally fulfilled then.

I. The Lord's Protection (91:1-13)
  A. The Confidence (91:1,2)
  B. The Dangers (91:3-6)
  C. The Examples (91:7-13)
II. The Lord's Pledge (91:14-16)

91:1 secret place of the Most High. An intimate place of divine protection. The use of "Most High" for God emphasizes that no threat can ever overpower Him. shadow of the Almighty. In a land where the sun can be oppressive and dangerous, a "shadow" was understood as a metaphor for care and protection.

91:3 snare of the fowler. A fowler trapped birds. Here the metaphor represents any plots against the believer intended to endanger his life. perilous pestilence. The reference here and in v. 6 is specifically to dreaded diseases, plagues, and epidemics (cf. Jer. 14:12; Ezek. 5:12; 14:19).

91:4 under His wings. Pictures the protection of a parent bird (see note on Ps. 57:1).

91:8 Only with your eyes. The righteous are so safe in disaster all around them, that they are only spectators.

And see the reward of the wicked.

9 Because you have made the LORD, who is [h]my refuge,
Even the Most High, [i]your dwelling place,
10 [j]No evil shall befall you,
Nor shall any plague come near your dwelling;
11 [k]For He shall give His angels charge over you,
To keep you in all your ways.
12 In their hands they shall [3]bear you up,
[l]Lest you [4]dash your foot against a stone.
13 You shall tread upon the lion and the cobra,
The young lion and the serpent you shall trample underfoot.

14 "Because he has set his love upon Me, therefore I will deliver him;
I will [5]set him on high, because he has [m]known My name.
15 He shall [n]call upon Me, and I will answer him;
I will be [o]with him in trouble;
I will deliver him and honor him.
16 With [6]long life I will satisfy him,
And show him My salvation."

PSALM 92

Praise to the LORD for His Love and Faithfulness

A Psalm. A Song for the Sabbath day.

It [a]is good to give thanks to the LORD,
And to sing praises to Your name, O Most High;
2 To [b]declare Your lovingkindness in the morning,
And Your faithfulness every night,
3 [c]On an instrument of ten strings,
On the lute,
And on the harp,
With harmonious sound.
4 For You, LORD, have made me glad through Your work;
I will triumph in the works of Your hands.

5 [d]O LORD, how great are Your works!
[e]Your thoughts are very deep.
6 [f]A senseless man does not know,
Nor does a fool understand this.
7 When [g]the wicked [1]spring up like grass,
And when all the workers of iniquity flourish,
It is that they may be destroyed forever.

8 [h]But You, LORD, are on high forevermore.
9 For behold, Your enemies, O LORD,
For behold, Your enemies shall perish;
All the workers of iniquity shall [i]be scattered.

10 But [j]my [2]horn You have exalted like a wild ox;
I have been [k]anointed with fresh oil.
11 [l]My eye also has seen my desire on my enemies;
My ears hear my desire on the wicked
Who rise up against me.

12 [m]The righteous shall flourish like a palm tree,
He shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.

11 [l] Ps. 54:7
12 [m] Num. 24:6; Ps. 52:8; Jer. 17:8; Hos. 14:5, 6

91:11,12 This promise of angelic protection was misquoted by Satan in his temptation of the Messiah (see Matt. 4:6).

91:13 tread...lion and the cobra. In general, a metaphor for God's protection from all deadly attacks (see notes on Ps. 58:4ff.).

91:14 set his love upon Me. God Himself is the speaker in this section (vv. 14–16) and He describes the blessing He gives to those who know and love Him. The word for "love" means a "deep longing" for God, or a "clinging" to God.

91:16 long life. Long life was a specific promise to the OT saint for obedience to the law (e.g., Ex. 20:12; Prov. 3:2). The prophets also promise it to God's people in the future messianic kingdom (cf. Is. 65:17-23).

92:1-15 This psalm expresses the exuberance of the psalmist as he recognizes that God is merciful in salvation, great in His works of creation, just in His dealings with the wicked, and faithful in prospering His children.

I. An Expression of Theistic Optimism (92:1-5)
II. An Observation concerning Righteous Sovereignty (92:6-9)
III. A Testimony to God's Goodness (92:10-15)

92:Title. for the Sabbath Day. In the post-Exilic community, some psalms were sung throughout the week in connection with the morning and evening sacrifice; others were designated especially for Sabbath worship.

92:2 lovingkindness...faithfulness. These attributes are constant themes of the psalms (see notes on Pss. 85:7; 89:5; see also Luke 10:2).

92:3 lute. See note on Ps. 81:2.

92:10 my horn. See note on Ps. 75:4. anointed with fresh oil. This figure is based on a practice of making an animal's horns gleam by rubbing oil on them. Thus God, in effect, had invigorated the psalmist (cf. Pss. 23:5; 133:2).

92:11 my desire on my enemies. God gratified the psalmist's desire by bringing his enemies to ruin.

92:12 flourish like a palm tree. The palm tree and the cedar symbolized permanence and strength (cf. v. 14). They are in contrast to the transience of the wicked, who are pictured as temporary as grass (v. 7). See notes on Ps. 1.

92:13 planted in the house of the LORD. A tree planted in the courtyard of the temple symbolized the thriving conditions of those who maintain a close relationship with the Lord (see note on Ps. 52:8).

Shall flourish in the courts of our God.
14 They shall still bear fruit in old age;
They shall be [3]fresh and [4]flourishing,
15 To declare that the LORD is upright;
[n]He is my rock, and [o]there is no unrighteousness in Him.

PSALM 93

The Eternal Reign of the LORD

1 The [a]LORD reigns, He is clothed with majesty;
The LORD is clothed,
[b]He has girded Himself with strength.
Surely the world is established, so that it cannot be [1]moved.
2 [c]Your throne is established from of old;
You are from everlasting.

3 The floods have [2]lifted up, O LORD,
The floods have lifted up their voice;
The floods lift up their waves.
4 [d]The LORD on high is mightier
Than the noise of many waters,
Than the mighty waves of the sea.

5 Your testimonies are very sure;
Holiness adorns Your house,
O LORD, [3]forever.

PSALM 94

God the Refuge of the Righteous

1 O LORD God, [a]to whom vengeance belongs—
O God, to whom vengeance belongs, shine forth!
2 Rise up, O [b]Judge of the earth;
[1]Render punishment to the proud.
3 LORD, [c]how long will the wicked,
How long will the wicked triumph?

4 They [d]utter speech, and speak insolent things;
All the workers of iniquity boast in themselves.
5 They break in pieces Your people, O LORD,
And afflict Your heritage.
6 They slay the widow and the stranger,
And murder the fatherless.
7 [e]Yet they say, "The LORD does not see,
Nor does the God of Jacob [2]understand."

8 Understand, you senseless among the people;
And you fools, when will you be wise?
9 [f]He who planted the ear, shall He not hear?
He who formed the eye, shall He not see?
10 He who [3]instructs the [4]nations, shall He not correct,
He who teaches man knowledge?
11 The LORD [g]knows the thoughts of man,
That they are futile.

12 Blessed is the man whom You [h]instruct, O LORD,
And teach out of Your law,
13 That You may give him [5]rest from the days of adversity,
Until the pit is dug for the wicked.
14 For the LORD will not [6]cast off His people,

93:1-5 Psalms 93 and 95–100 (cf. Ps. 47) are dedicated to celebrating God's sovereign kingship over the world. Psalm 93 glorifies God's eternal, universal kingdom which is providentially administered through His Son (Col. 1:17). Nothing is more powerful than the Lord; nothing is more steadfast than His reign, nothing is more sure than His revelation.

I. The Lord's Universal Kingdom (93:1-4)
  A. Over the Earth (93:1,2)
  B. Over the Sea (93:3,4)
II. The Lord's Authoritative Revelation (93:5)

93:1 The LORD reigns. An exclamation of the Lord's universal reign over the earth from the time of creation (v. 2; cf. Pss. 103:19; 145:13) and forever.

93:3,4 The sea with all its power is nothing in comparison to the power of God. The doubling and tripling of expressions throughout this psalm (vv. 1,3,4) are poetic means of generating literary energy and emphasis.

93:5 testimonies are very sure. As God's rule over the earth is stable, so His revelation given through Scripture is trustworthy (cf. Ps. 19:7).

94:1-23 The psalmist's urgent concern in this psalm is that the righteous are being oppressed, the wicked are prospering, and it does not look as though God cares. The psalmist thus pleads with God to punish the wicked (cf. Pss. 73,82).

I. Address to God (94:1,2)
II. Arrogance of the Wicked (94:3-7)
III. Admonition to the Foolish (94:8-11)
IV. Assurance for the Righteous (94:12-15)
V. Advocacy from God (94:16-23)

94:1 to whom vengeance belongs. Vengeance from God is not in the sense of uncontrolled vindictiveness, but in the sense of just retribution by the eternal Judge for trespasses against His law. shine forth. Make an appearance; he may even be asking for a theophany (cf. Pss. 50:2; 80:1).

94:7 The LORD does not see. An autonomous and atheistic attitude (see note on Ps. 59:7).

94:11 thoughts of man...are futile. The wicked designs of the human mind amount to nothing (cf. Ps. 92:5; 1 Cor. 3:20).

94:12 Blessed. To be blessed was to be wise and prosperous in life, as a result of the instruction of God (cf. Ps. 84:5,12).

94:14 will not cast off His people. God has a permanent commitment to His people, Israel, established through a covenant based Nor will He forsake His inheritance.

15 But judgment will return to
righteousness,
And all the upright in heart will follow it.

16 Who will rise up for me against the
evildoers?
Who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity?
17 Unless the LORD had been my help,
My soul would soon have settled in silence.
18 If I say, "My foot slips,"
Your mercy, O LORD, will hold me
up.
19 In the multitude of my anxieties
within me,
Your comforts delight my soul.

20 Shall [i]the throne of iniquity, which devises evil by law,
Have fellowship with You?
21 They gather together against the life of the righteous,
And condemn [j]innocent blood.
22 But the LORD has been my defense,
And my God the rock of my refuge.
23 He has brought on them their own
iniquity,
And shall [7]cut them off in their own
wickedness;
The LORD our God shall cut them
off.

20 [i] Amos 6:3

PSALM 95

A Call to Worship and Obedience

Oh come, let us sing to the LORD!
Let us shout joyfully to the Rock of our salvation.
2 Let us come before His presence with thanksgiving;
Let us shout joyfully to Him with [a]psalms.
3 For [b]the LORD is the great God,
And the great King above all gods.
4 [1]In His hand are the deep places of the
earth;
The heights of the hills are His also.
5 [c]The sea is His, for He made it;
And His hands formed the dry land.

6 Oh come, let us worship and bow
down;
Let [d]us kneel before the LORD our Maker.
7 For He is our God,
And [e]we are the people of His pasture,
And the sheep [2]of His hand.

[f]Today, if you will hear His voice:
8 "Do not harden your hearts, as in the [3]rebellion,
[g]As in the day of [4]trial in the wilderness,
9 When [h]your fathers tested Me;
They tried Me, though they [i]saw My work.
10 For [j]forty years I was [5]grieved with that generation,

on His abiding love (Gen. 15; Jer. 12:15; Mic. 7:18). This important truth serves as a doctrinal basis for Pss. 93–100 and was intended to encourage the nation during difficult times. Paul refers to this in Rom. 11:1 as he assures the future salvation of Israel.

94:17 soul...settled in silence. "Silence" here is another term for sheol, the realm of the dead (cf. Ps. 31:17).

94:18 Your mercy. See note on Ps. 85:7.

94:20 throne of iniquity. A reference to a corrupt judge or ruler. devises evil by law. Corrupt judges and rulers counter the very divine moral order of the universe by using law for wickedness rather than for good.

94:23 cut them off in their own wickedness. Portrays destruction while they are sinning.

95:1-11 This psalm, with its references to the wilderness wanderings, may have been composed by David (Heb. 4:7) for the Feast of the Tabernacles (cf. Ps. 81). During this feast, the people of Israel lived in booths, remembering God's provisions for them in the wilderness. After a call to worship (95:1-7a), a prophecy in the voice of the Holy Spirit Himself (cf. Heb. 3:7) breaks in and reminds the people of the dangers of rebellion and tempting God. Verses 7b-11 are quoted verbatim in Heb. 3:7-11 (cf. Heb. 3:15; 4:3-7) with the warning that those vacillating Jews also were in danger of missing the promised "rest" (i.e., salvation).

I. Positive Call to Worship (95:1-7a)

II. Negative Warning of Wrath (95:7b-11)

95:1 Rock of our salvation. This metaphor for God was especially appropriate in this psalm, which refers (vv. 8,9) to the water that came from the rock in the wilderness (cf. Ex. 17:1-7; Num. 20:1-13; 1 Cor. 10:4).

95:3 the great King above all gods. This is a poetic way of denying the existence of other gods (cf. 96:5), which existed only as statues, not persons (cf. Jer. 10:1-10).

95:4 deep places of the earth. This refers to the depths of the seas, valleys, and caverns, and contrasts with the hills. The point (cf. v. 5) is that God was not a local god like the imaginary gods of the heathens, usually put up in high places, but the universal Creator and Ruler of the whole earth (see note on Ps. 65:5).

95:8 the rebellion. This is a reference to Meribah (translated "rebellion"), the place in the wilderness where the Israelites rebelled against the Lord. Their complaint about lack of water demonstrated their lack of faith in the Lord (Ex. 17:1-7; Num. 20:1-13; Ps. 81:7).

95:9 tested Me. This is a reference to the same event (v. 8), also called "Massah" (translated "testing"), when God brought water out of the rock (Ex. 17:7; cf. Deut. 6:16; 9:22; 33:8). The writer to the Hebrews applies the principle of this event to his readers, suggesting that their inclination to doubt the Lord and return to Judaism was parallel with their fathers' inclination to doubt the Lord and go back to Egypt.

And said, 'It is a people who go astray in their hearts,
And they do not know My ways.'
11 So [k]I swore in My wrath,
'They shall not enter My rest.' "

PSALM 96

A Song of Praise to God Coming in Judgment

Oh, [a]sing to the LORD a new song!
Sing to the LORD, all the earth.
2 Sing to the LORD, bless His name;
Proclaim the good news of His salvation from day to day.
3 Declare His glory among the [1]nations,
His wonders among all peoples.

4 For [b]the LORD is great and [c]greatly to be praised;
[d]He is to be feared above all gods.
5 For [e]all the gods of the peoples are idols,
[f]But the LORD made the heavens.
6 Honor and majesty are before Him;
Strength and [g]beauty are in His
sanctuary.

7 [h]Give[2] to the LORD, O families of the peoples,
Give to the LORD glory and strength.
8 [3]Give to the LORD the glory due His name;
Bring an offering, and come into His courts.
9 Oh, worship the LORD [i]in the beauty of holiness!
Tremble before Him, all the earth.

10 Say among the [4]nations, [j]"The LORD reigns;
The world also is firmly established,
It shall not be [5]moved;
[k]He shall judge the peoples righteously."

11 [l]Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad;
[m]Let the sea roar, and [6]all its fullness;
12 Let the field be joyful, and all that is in it.
Then all the trees of the woods will rejoice before the LORD.
13 For He is coming, for He is coming to judge the earth.
[n]He shall judge the world with
righteousness,
And the peoples with His truth.

1 [a] [Ps. 96:10] [1] Or coastlands
2 [b] Ex. 19:9; Deut. 4:11; 1 Kin. 8:12; Ps. 18:11

95:10 go astray in their hearts. Their wanderings in the desert were the outworking of straying hearts.

95:11 My rest. The "rest" was originally the Promised Land, (i.e., Canaan), where the people came at the end of Israel's 40 year journey in the wilderness. It was analogously applied in the book of Hebrews to salvation by grace (Heb. 3:7–4:10; cf. Heb. 2:3).

96:1-13 The substance of this psalm, and portions of Pss. 97,98, and 100 are found in 1 Chr. 16, which was used by David's direction in the dedication of the tabernacle on Mt. Zion. The psalm has importance beyond that historical occasion, however, because it anticipates kingdom praise for the Lord from all the nations of the world (vv. 3,4,7,9-13; cf. Is. 2:2-4; Zech. 14:16-19), and even from nature itself. It also expresses the intense joy that will saturate the earth when the Messiah is ruling from Jerusalem (cf. Is. 25:9; 40:9,10).

I. The Proclamation of Praise (96:1-6)
  A. The Invitation to Praise (96:1-3)
  B. The Recipient of Praise (96:4-6)
II. The Exhortation to Worship (96:7-13)
  A. Worship from the Gentile Nations (96:7-10)
  B. Worship from Personified Nature (96:11-13)

96:1 a new song. This new song was intended for the future inauguration of the millennial rule of the Lord over the earth (cf. Pss. 144:9; 149:1; Rev. 5:9; 14:3).

96:2 Proclaim the good news. Genuine praise includes a testimony to others of God's plan of redemption.

96:3 His glory...nations. The glory of the Lord is more than just His majestic splendor. It includes all of the reasons for admiring and praising Him, such as His acts of creation (cf. Ps. 19:2) and redemption (v. 2). all peoples. See note on Ps. 67:3.

96:4 feared above all gods. See note on Ps. 95:3.

96:8 an offering. According to the psalmists and prophets, offerings and sacrifices will be presented to the Lord in the millennial kingdom (cf. Ps. 45:12; Ezek. 40–46).

96:9 the beauty of holiness. That is, "worship the LORD because of the splendor of His holiness" (cf. Pss. 29:2; 99; 110:3; also 1 Chr. 16:29). See note on 2 Chr. 20:21.

96:10 firmly established. Instead of the continuance of international chaos in human history, the world will be settled and efficiently managed by the Messiah in the millennial kingdom (cf. Ps. 2; Mic. 4:1-5). judge the peoples righteously. Not only will the Lord establish international peace and stability in the future messianic kingdom, but He will also rule the world with impeccable justice (cf. v. 13; Is. 11:1-5).

96:11,12 This is what even inanimate creation awaits (cf. Rom. 8:14-22).

96:13 He is coming. The rule of the Lord described in this psalm is not the present universal kingdom (Ps. 93), but one which will be established when Christ returns to earth.

97:1-12 The psalmist, though recognizing the Lord's universal rule at the present (v. 9), anticipates a new coming of the Lord to judge the earth. The imagery of the Lord's presence may, in fact, be the basis of some NT passages' descriptions of the second coming (cf. Matt. 24; Rev. 19). Special emphasis is also placed on the Lord's totally righteous judgments on the world in His kingdom, as well as His obliteration of false religions.

I. The Announcement of the Reign of the Lord (97:1,2)
II. The Effect of the Reign of the Lord (97:3-12)
  A. On His Foes (97:3-9)
  B. On His Friends (97:10-12)

[c]Righteousness and justice are the foundation of His throne.
3 [d]A fire goes before Him,
And burns up His enemies round about.
4 [e]His lightnings light the world;
The earth sees and trembles.
5 [f]The mountains melt like wax at the presence of the LORD,
At the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.
6 [g]The heavens declare His righteousness,
And all the peoples see His glory.

7 [h]Let all be put to shame who serve carved images,
Who boast of idols.
[i]Worship Him, all you gods.
8 Zion hears and is glad,
And the daughters of Judah rejoice
Because of Your judgments, O LORD.
9 For You, LORD, are [j]most high above all the earth;
[k]You are exalted far above all gods.

10 You who love the LORD, [l]hate evil!
[m]He preserves the souls of His saints;
[n]He delivers them out of the hand of the wicked.
11 [o]Light is sown for the righteous,
And gladness for the upright in heart.
12 [p]Rejoice in the LORD, you righteous,
[q]And give thanks [2]at the remembrance of [3]His holy name.

PSALM 98

A Song of Praise to the LORD for His Salvation and Judgment

A Psalm.

Oh, [a]sing to the LORD a new song!
For He has [b]done marvelous things;
His right hand and His holy arm have gained Him the victory.
2 [c]The LORD has made known His salvation;
[d]His righteousness He has revealed in the sight of the [1]nations.
3 He has remembered His mercy and His faithfulness to the house of Israel;
[e]All the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God.

4 Shout joyfully to the LORD, all the earth;
Break forth in song, rejoice, and sing praises.
5 Sing to the LORD with the harp,
With the harp and the sound of a psalm,
6 With trumpets and the sound of a horn;
Shout joyfully before the LORD, the King.

7 Let the sea roar, and all its fullness,
The world and those who dwell in it;
8 Let the rivers clap their hands;

PSALM 98
1 [a] Ps. 33:3; Is. 42:10 [b] Ex. 15:11; Ps. 77:14
2 [c] Is. 52:10; [Luke 1:77; 2:30, 31] [d] Is. 62:2; Rom. 3:25 [1] Gentiles
3 [e] [Is. 49:6]; Luke 3:6; [Acts 13:47; 28:28]

97:1 multitude of isles. Refers to all the continents, as well as islands of the world (cf. Is. 42:10; Dan. 2:34,35,44; Zech. 14:9).

97:2 Clouds and darkness. Such a description emphasizes the terrifying effect of the Lord's presence, both in the past (Ex. 19:16-18), and in the future Day of the Lord (Joel 2:2; Zeph. 1:15; Matt. 24:29,30).

97:3 burns up His enemies. The Lord will utterly destroy His enemies in the future Day of the Lord (cf. Zech. 14:12).

97:4 His lightnings. This is perhaps a reference to the Lord's awesome and public coming to rule the world (Matt. 24:26-30).

97:5 mountains melt. At the coming of the Lord, the mountains will fade away (cf. Is. 40:3-5; Zech. 14:4,10).

97:6 heavens declare His righteousness. See the parallel description of Christ's coming in glory in Is. 40:5 and Matt. 24:29-31 (cf. Rev. 19:11-15).

97:7 all you gods. No false gods or religions will be allowed in the messianic kingdom (cf. Zech. 13:2,3).

97:8 Zion. See note on Ps. 87:2. Because of Your judgments. A major reason for joy and well-being in the messianic kingdom will be the perfectly righteous judgments of Christ on the peoples of the world (cf. vv. 1-3; also Ps. 48:11; Is. 11:1-5; Zech. 8:3).

97:10 preserves the souls of His saints. Here the doctrine of eternal security is stated. Gratitude for such grace should motivate believers to holiness.

97:11 Light is sown. This is a poetic way of describing the ultimate triumph of righteousness and the righteous (cf. Is. 58:8,10; 60:19,20; Mal. 4:2).

98:1-9 Like the surrounding psalms, this psalm proclaims the excitement and joy of the whole earth over the rule of the Lord in the kingdom. This psalm is given over entirely to praise, with only a brief mention of the wicked.

I. Celebration of the Lord's Victorious Reign (98:1-6)
  A. Triumphs of the Lord (98:1-3)
  B. Praise to the Lord (98:4-6)
II. Exaltation of the Lord's Righteous Judgments (98:7-9)

98:1 a new song. See note on Ps. 96:1. right hand...holy arm. These are symbols of power. the victory. The Lord is often pictured in the OT as a divine warrior (Ex. 15:2,3; Pss. 18; 68:1-8; Is. 59:15ff.). According to the prophets, Christ will begin His millennial reign following His victory over the nations of the world which will gather against Israel in the end times (cf. Zech. 14:1-15; Rev. 19:11-21).

98:2 the nations. See notes on Pss. 57:9; 67:3; 82:8.

98:3 His mercy and His faithfulness. See notes on Pss. 85:7 and 89:5. salvation. These words are a metaphor for the Lord's establishment of His righteous kingdom on earth (cf. Is. 46:13; 51:5-8).

98:4 Shout joyfully. A great cheer, greeting and welcoming a king (cf. Zech. 9:9; Matt. 21:4-9). Break forth. The idea is that of an eruption of praise which could not be contained (cf. Is. 14:7; 44;23; 55:12).

98:5,6 harp...trumpets...horn. Instruments normally used in temple worship (cf. 1 Chr. 16:5,6; 2 Chr. 5:12,13; 29:25-30; Ezra 3:10-13).

98:8 rivers clap their hands. Different parts of nature are pictured as rejoicing in this universal scene of joy (cf. Is. 35:1,2; Rom. 8:19-21).

Let the hills be joyful together before the LORD,
9 [f]For He is coming to judge the earth.
With righteousness He shall judge the world,
And the peoples with [2]equity.

PSALM 99

Praise to the LORD for His Holiness

The LORD reigns;
Let the peoples tremble!
[a]He dwells between the cherubim;
Let the earth be [1]moved!
2 The LORD is great in Zion,
And He is high above all the peoples.
3 Let them praise Your great and awesome name—
[2]He is holy.

4 The King's strength also loves justice;
You have established equity;
You have executed justice and righteousness in Jacob.
5 Exalt the LORD our God,
And worship at His footstool—
He is holy.

6 Moses and Aaron were among His priests,
And Samuel was among those who [b]called upon His name;
They called upon the LORD, and He answered them.
7 He spoke to them in the cloudy pillar;
They kept His testimonies and the [3]ordinance He gave them.

8 You answered them, O LORD our God;
You were to them God-Who-Forgives,
Though You took vengeance on their deeds.
9 Exalt the LORD our God,
And worship at His holy hill;
For the LORD our God is holy.

PSALM 100

A Song of Praise for the LORD's Faithfulness to His People

[a]A Psalm of Thanksgiving.

Make [b]a joyful shout to the LORD, [1]all you lands!
2 Serve the LORD with gladness;
Come before His presence with singing.
3 Know that the LORD, He is God;
[c]It is He who has made us, and [2]not we ourselves;
[d]We are His people and the sheep of His pasture.

4 [e]Enter into His gates with thanksgiving,
And into His courts with praise.
Be thankful to Him, and bless His name.
5 For the LORD is good;

99:1-9 The theme of this psalm is summed up in its last phrase: "the LORD our God is holy" (v. 9). The psalmist encourages praise to the king for His holiness (vv. 3,5,9), which is the utter separateness of God's being from all other creatures and things, as well as His moral separateness from sin. The psalmist also exults in the truth that such a holy God has had an intimate saving relationship with Israel throughout her history (vv. 6-9).

I. Exaltation of the King's Holiness (99:1-5)
II. Examples of the King's Holiness (99:6-9)

99:1 between the cherubim. See note on Ps. 80:1; cf. Ps. 18:6-19; Ezek. 10:1ff.

99:2 Zion. See note on Ps. 87:2; cf. Heb. 12:22-24. peoples. See notes on Pss. 57:9 and 67:3.

99:4 King's strength also loves justice. "King's strength" may be a kind of epithet for God; or (combining this phrase with v. 3) the psalmist may be saying that a holy name is the strength of a just king. equity. That is, fairness (cf. Is. 11:1-5).

99:5 His footstool. In general, this is a metaphor for the temple in Jerusalem (cf. Is. 60:13; Lam. 2:1); but more specifically, for the ark of the covenant (1 Chr. 28:2). Footstools were included with the thrones of the kings of Israel (2 Chr. 9:8).

99:6 Moses...Aaron...Samuel. Using three of the nation's famous heroes for examples, the psalmist demonstrates that a holy God has had an enduring, intimate, and saving relationship with Israel.

99:7 cloudy pillar. This was a medium of divine direction (cf. Ex. 13:21,22; 33:9,10; Num. 12:5; Deut. 31:15ff.). testimonies...ordinance. Terms in Psalms for God's Word (see Ps. 119).

99:9 His holy hill. This is the hill in Jerusalem where the temple was (cf. Pss. 15:1; 24:3), and where it will be located in the future messianic kingdom (cf. Is. 24:23).

100:1-5 This well known psalm, emphasizing the universal nature of God's kingship, is a benediction to the series of psalms which are occupied with the Lord's kingdom rule (Pss. 93,95-100). Most of it is a call to praise and thanksgiving, while vv. 3 and 5 fix the reasons for that worship.

I. A Call to Praise the Lord (100:1-3)
II. A Call to Thank the Lord (100:4,5)

100:1 a joyful shout. See note on Ps. 66:1.

100:3 Know. In the sense of experiencing and being completely assured of the truth. the LORD, He is God. A confession that Israel's covenant God, Jehovah, is the only true God. made us. Though God's actual creation of every human being is understood here, this phrase seems to refer to God's making and blessing Israel as a nation (cf. Deut. 32:6,15; Ps. 95:6; Is. 29:22,23; 44:2). His people...His pasture. The shepherd image is often ascribed to the king of Israel, as well as to the Lord (cf. Ps. 78:70-72; Is. 44:28; Jer. 10:21; Zech. 10:3; 11:4-17; also Pss. 23:1; 28:9; 74:1; 77:20; 78:52,53; 80:1; 95:7). The figure suggests intimate care (cf. Luke 15:3-6). According to the NT, the Lord is also the Shepherd of saints in the church age (John 10:16).

100:4 His gates...courts. The gates and courts were those of the temple.

100:5 the LORD is good. God is the source and perfect example

[f]His mercy is everlasting,
And His truth endures to all generations.

PSALM 101

Promised Faithfulness to the LORD

A Psalm of David.

I will sing of mercy and justice;
To You, O LORD, I will sing praises.

2 I will behave wisely in a [1]perfect way.
Oh, when will You come to me?
I will [a]walk within my house with a perfect heart.

3 I will set nothing [2]wicked before my eyes;
[b]I hate the work of those [c]who fall away;
It shall not cling to me.
4 A perverse heart shall depart from me;
I will not [d]know wickedness.

5 Whoever secretly slanders his neighbor,
Him I will destroy;
[e]The one who has a haughty look and a proud heart,
Him I will not endure.

6 My eyes shall be on the faithful of the land,
That they may dwell with me;
He who walks in a [3]perfect way,
He shall serve me.
7 He who works deceit shall not dwell within my house;
He who tells lies shall not [4]continue in my presence.
8 [f]Early I will destroy all the wicked of the land,
That I may cut off all the evildoers [g]from the city of the LORD.

PSALM 102

The LORD's Eternal Love

A Prayer of the afflicted, [a]when he is overwhelmed and pours out his complaint before the LORD.

Hear my prayer, O LORD,
And let my cry come to You.
2 [b]Do not hide Your face from me in the day of my trouble;
Incline Your ear to me;
In the day that I call, answer me speedily.

3 For my days [1]are [c]consumed like smoke,
And my bones are burned like a hearth.
4 My heart is stricken and withered like grass,
So that I forget to eat my bread.
5 Because of the sound of my groaning
My bones cling to my [2]skin.
6 I am like a pelican of the wilderness;
I am like an owl of the desert.

PSALM 102

title [a] Ps. 61:2
2 [b] Ps. 27:9; 69:17
3 [c] James 4:14 [1] Lit. end in 5 [2] flesh

of goodness. His mercy. See note on Ps. 85:7. His truth. In the sense of keeping His promises, i.e., His faithfulness.

101:1-8 This Davidic psalm expresses the righteous commitments of the mediatorial king (David) to his eternal king (the Lord) in regard to 1) his own personal life and 2) the lives of those who inhabit the kingdom. Possibly, this psalm was used later at the coronations of future kings over Israel. Ultimately, only King Jesus would perfectly fulfill these holy resolutions (cf. Is. 9:6,7; 11:1-5).

I. Personal Life of the King (101:1-4)
II. Personal Outcome of Kingdom Inhabitants (101:5-8)
  A. The just (101:6)
  B. The unjust (101:5,7,8)

101:2 perfect way. As the king goes, so go his followers (cf. v. 6). when will You come to me? This is not an eschatological expectation, but rather a personal expression of David's need for God's immanent involvement in his earthly kingship. my house. The king first starts with his own personal life (cf. v. 7), and then looks beyond to his kingdom (cf. vv. 5,8).

101:3,4 Similar to the "blessed man" in Ps. 1:1.

101:3 my eyes. The king desires to look at nothing but that which is righteous (cf. v. 6).

101:4 wickedness. The king will not engage in wickedness (cf. v. 8).

101:5 slanders...haughty look...proud heart. Neither character assassination nor pride will be tolerated in the kingdom.

101:6 the faithful of the land. Compare to "the wicked of the land" in v. 8.

101:7 deceit...lies. A premium is put on truth as foundational for a kingdom associated with the God of truth (cf. John 14:6).

101:8 the land...the city of the LORD. Israel and Jerusalem respectively.

102:1-28 The non-specific superscription is unique to this psalm which highlights the thoughts of one who is afflicted (cf. Pss. 22,69,79,102,130,142), perhaps expressing exilic lament (cf. Pss. 42,43,74,79,137). Like Job, whose troubles were not the result of God's judgment for personal sin, the psalmist cries out in pain. His only relief comes from refocusing on sovereign God and His eternal purposes. Messianic overtones are present as Heb. 1:10-12 quotes Ps. 102:25,26.

I. A Plea for Immediate Divine Help (102:1-11)
II. A Perspective of God's Sovereignty and Eternality (102:12-22)
III. A Prayer for Longer Life (102:23-28)

102:1,2 Frequently the Psalms begin with a cry for God's sovereign intervention when human resources have proved insufficient, e.g., Pss. 77:1; 142:1.

102:2 Your face...Your ear. Anthropomorphic language (i.e., a figure of speech that attributes human features to God) which points to God's attention and response respectively.

102:3-5 heart...bones. These terms describe the emotional and physical toll of the psalmist's ordeal.

102:6 pelican. Possibly a desert owl. The verse describes a desolate situation, extreme loneliness (cf. Is. 34:8-15; Zeph. 2:13-15). owl. Owls were unclean animals, cf. Lev. 11:16-18.

7 I lie awake,
And am like a sparrow alone on the housetop.

8 My enemies reproach me all day long;
Those who deride me swear an oath against me.
9 For I have eaten ashes like bread,
And mingled my drink with weeping,
10 Because of Your indignation and Your wrath;
For You have lifted me up and cast me away.
11 My days are like a shadow that lengthens,
And I wither away like grass.

12 But You, O LORD, shall endure forever,
And the remembrance of Your name to all generations.
13 You will arise and have mercy on Zion;
For the time to favor her,
Yes, the set time, has come.
14 For Your servants take pleasure in her stones,
And show favor to her dust.
15 So the [3]nations shall [d]fear the name of the LORD,
And all the kings of the earth Your glory.
16 For the LORD shall build up Zion;
[e]He shall appear in His glory.
17 [f]He shall regard the prayer of the destitute,
And shall not despise their prayer.

18 This will be [g]written for the generation to come,
That [h]a people yet to be created may praise the LORD.
19 For He [i]looked down from the height of His sanctuary;
From heaven the LORD viewed the earth,
20 [j]To hear the groaning of the prisoner,
To release those appointed to death,
21 To [k]declare the name of the LORD in Zion,
And His praise in Jerusalem,
22 [l]When the peoples are gathered together,
And the kingdoms, to serve the LORD.

23 He weakened my strength in the way;
He [m]shortened my days.
24 [n]I said, "O my God,
Do not take me away in the midst of my days;
[o]Your years are throughout all generations.
25 [p]Of old You laid the foundation of the earth,
And the heavens are the work of Your hands.
26 [q]They will perish, but You will [4]endure;
Yes, they will all grow old like a garment;
Like a cloak You will change them,
And they will be changed.
27 But [r]You are the same,
And Your years will have no end.
28 [s]The children of Your servants will continue,
And their descendants will be established before You."

PSALM 103

Praise for the LORD's Mercies

A Psalm of David.

Bless [a]the LORD, O my soul;
And all that is within me, bless His holy name!
2 Bless the LORD, O my soul,

1 [a] Ps. 104:1, 35

102:7 sparrow. Feeling like a "lonely bird," the psalmist expresses his perceived abandonment by both God and man.

102:10,11 a shadow that lengthens. The time of sunset is used to describe the psalmist's desperate sense that his life will end shortly because God has punished him by withdrawing His presence and strength.

102:12-22 The psalmist radically shifts his focus from earth to heaven—from his dilemma to God—and basks in the eternal nature of God and the eternal outworking of God's redemptive plan.

102:13-16 Zion. Earthly Zion or Jerusalem is in view (cf. vv. 16,21, 22). Perhaps this points to the time of restoration after the Babylonian Exile (ca. 605–536 B.C.).

102:18 written. The psalmist had a sense of the perpetuation of his literary effort.

102:19 looked down...viewed. The transcendent omniscience of God is in view.

102:22 the peoples...the kingdoms. This will ultimately be fulfilled in Christ's messianic reign over the world (cf. Ps. 2).

102:23,24 The psalmist desires to live longer but acknowledges his mortality compared to God's eternality.

102:24 the midst of my days. Lit. at the halfway point of life.

102:25-27 Eternal God created the heavens and earth, which will one day perish (v. 26). Hebrews 1:10-12 applies this passage to the Lord Jesus Christ, who is superior to the angels because: 1) He is eternal, while they had a beginning; and 2) He created, but they were created. This passage clearly affirms the eternality and deity of Christ. The unchangeable God will outlast his creation, even into the new creation (cf. Mal. 3:6; James 1:17; 2 Pet. 3; Rev. 21,22).

102:28 The realistic hope of one who perceives that though he is about to die, God's purposes on earth will be accomplished in future generations.

103:1-22 Psalms 103 and 104 appear as an intentional pair designed to promote the blessing and exaltation of God. This psalm represents a soliloquy in which David surveys God's goodness and en-

And forget not all His benefits:
3 [b]Who forgives all your iniquities,
Who [c]heals all your diseases,
4 Who redeems your life from destruction,
[d]Who crowns you with lovingkindness and tender mercies,
5 Who satisfies your mouth with good things,
So that [e]your youth is renewed like the eagle's.

6 The LORD executes righteousness
And justice for all who are oppressed.
7 [f]He made known His ways to Moses,
His acts to the children of Israel.
8 [g]The LORD is merciful and gracious,
Slow to anger, and abounding in mercy.
9 [h]He will not always strive with us,
Nor will He keep His anger forever.
10 [i]He has not dealt with us according to our sins,
Nor punished us according to our iniquities.

11 For as the heavens are high above the earth,
So great is His mercy toward those who fear Him;
12 As far as the east is from the west,
So far has He [j]removed our transgressions from us.
13 [k]As a father pities his children,
So the LORD pities those who fear Him.
14 For He [1]knows our frame;
He remembers that we are dust.

15 As for man, [1]his days are like grass;
As a flower of the field, so he flourishes.
16 [m]For the wind passes over it, and it is [2]gone,
And [n]its place remembers it no more.
17 But the mercy of the LORD is from everlasting to everlasting
On those who fear Him,
And His righteousness to children's children,
18 [o]To such as keep His covenant,
And to those who remember His commandments to do them.

19 The LORD has established His throne in heaven,
And [p]His kingdom rules over all.

20 [q]Bless the LORD, you His angels,
Who excel in strength, who [r]do His word,
Heeding the voice of His word.
21 Bless the LORD, all you His hosts,
[s]You [3]ministers of His, who do His pleasure.
22 Bless the LORD, all His works,
In all places of His dominion.

Bless the LORD, O my soul!

courages the angels and the works of God's creation to join him in divine praise.

I. A Call for Human Praise (103:1-19)
  A. Personally (103:1-5)
  B. Corporately (103:6-19)
II. A Call for Creation's Praise (103:20-22b)
  A. Angels (103:20-21)
  B. Works of Creation (103:22a-b)
III. A Refrain of Personal Praise (103:22c)

103:1 Bless the LORD. Cf. 103:2,22; 104:1,35

103:2 forget not all His benefits. These earthly gifts from God included: 1) forgiveness of sin (v. 3), 2) recovery from sickness (v. 3), 3) deliverance from death (v. 4), 4) abundant lovingkindness and mercy (v. 4), and 5) food to sustain life (v. 5).

103:3 diseases. This is not a promise, but rather a testimony which should be understood in the light of Deut. 32:39.

103:5 youth is renewed like the eagle's. The mysterious way of the long-lived eagle symbolized strength and speed (cf. Ex. 19:4; Jer. 48:40), which also characterizes human youth. As a general rule, a person blessed of God will grow weak and slow down less rapidly than otherwise (cf. Is. 40:29-31, which uses the same language).

103:6-19 The psalmist rehearses the attributes of God with which He blesses the saints.

103:7,8 His ways to Moses. Cf. Moses' request (Ex. 33:13) with God's answer (Ex. 34:6,7).

103:9 not always strive. There will be a final day of accountability, both at death (Luke 16:19-31) and the Great White Throne (Rev. 20:11-15). The Genesis flood served as a stark preview of this truth (cf. Gen. 6:3).

103:10 not dealt. God's great mercy (v. 11) and irreversible, complete justification (v. 12) have redemptively accomplished for us, by the death of Christ (cf. 2 Cor. 5:21; Phil. 3:9), what we ourselves could not do.

103:13 As a father. Unlike the pagan gods, who are apathetic or hostile.

103:14 dust. Physically speaking, as Adam was created of dust (Gen. 2:7), so mankind at death decomposes back into dust (Gen. 3:19).

103:15,16 days...like grass. Man's life is short and transitory (cf. Is. 40:8).

103:17,18 the mercy of the LORD. Those who appeal to God's mercy by proper fear (v. 17) and obedience (v. 18) will overcome the shortness of physical life with eternal life. Luke 1:50 quotes Ps. 103:17.

103:19 His throne in heaven. From everlasting to everlasting God has always ruled over all things (cf. Pss. 11:4; 47:1-9; 148:8-13). This universal kingdom is to be distinguished from God's mediatorial kingdom on earth.

103:20,21 His angels...His hosts. Unfallen, righteous angels who serve God night and day (cf. Ps. 148:2; Rev. 5:11-13).

103:22 His works. Refers to God's creation, which is also to His praise (cf. Pss. 148–150, also 1 Chr. 29:10-13).

PSALM 104

Praise to the Sovereign LORD for His Creation and Providence

Bless [a]the LORD, O my soul!
O LORD my God, You are very great:
You are clothed with honor and majesty,
2 Who cover Yourself with light as with a garment,
Who stretch out the heavens like a curtain.

3 [b]He lays the beams of His upper chambers in the waters,
Who makes the clouds His chariot,
Who walks on the wings of the wind,
4 Who makes His angels spirits,
His [1]ministers a flame of fire.

5 You who [2]laid the foundations of the earth,
So that it should not be moved forever,
6 You [c]covered it with the deep as with a garment;
The waters stood above the mountains.
7 At Your rebuke they fled;
At the voice of Your thunder they hastened away.
8 [3]They went up over the mountains;
They went down into the valleys,
To the place which You founded for them.
9 You have [d]set a boundary that they may not pass over,
[e]That they may not return to cover the earth.

10 He sends the springs into the valleys;
They flow among the hills.
11 They give drink to every beast of the field;
The wild donkeys quench their thirst.
12 By them the birds of the heavens have their home;
They sing among the branches.
13 [f]He waters the hills from His upper chambers;
The earth is satisfied with [g]the fruit of Your works.

14 [h]He causes the grass to grow for the cattle,
And vegetation for the service of man,
That he may bring forth [i]food from the earth,
15 And [j]wine that makes glad the heart of man,
Oil to make his face shine,
And bread which strengthens man's heart.
16 The trees of the LORD are full of sap,
The cedars of Lebanon which He planted,
17 Where the birds make their nests;
The stork has her home in the fir trees.
18 The high hills are for the wild goats;
The cliffs are a refuge for the [k]rock[4] badgers.

19 [l]He appointed the moon for seasons;
The [m]sun knows its going down.
20 [n]You make darkness, and it is night,
In which all the beasts of the forest creep about.
21 [o]The young lions roar after their prey,
And seek their food from God.
22 When the sun rises, they gather together

20 [n] [Ps. 74:16; Is. 45:7]
21 [o] Job 38:39

104:1-35 In vivid poetic detail, the psalmist sings of the Lord's glory in creation (cf. Gen. 1,2; Job 38–41; Pss. 19:1-6,148:1-6; Prov. 30:4; Is. 40:1-6; John 1:1-3; Rom. 1:18-25; Col. 1:16,17). He refers to the original creation (cf. 104:5) without forgetting the fall of man and the cursed earth (104:23,29,35). He alternates reciting God's greatness by 1) personal praise to the Creator (104:1,2,5-9,20-30), and 2) declaring God's handiwork to his human audience (104:3,4,10-19,31-35). The flow of the psalm loosely follows the order of creation as first reported in Gen. 1:1-31 but closes (v. 35) with an allusion to the end time events recorded in Rev. 20–22.

I. The Heavens and Earth Created (104:1-9)
II. The Needs of Creatures Met (104:10-18)
III. The Sun and Moon (104:19-23)
IV. The Sea and Its Inhabitants (104:24-26)
V. God's Providential Care (104:27-30)
VI. Benediction to the Creator (104:31-35)

104:1-9 This section approximates the first two days of creation (cf. Gen. 1:1-8).

104:1 very great. The Creator is greater than His creation. Therefore, the Creator is to be worshiped, not the creation (cf. Ex. 20:3,4; Rom. 1:29).

104:3 the waters. Refers to the original creation with the waters above the heaven (cf. Gen. 1:7,8).

104:4 spirits...flame of fire. Hebrews 1:7 attributes these characteristics to angels describing their swiftness and destructiveness as God's instruments of judgment.

104:5 foundations. Cf. Job 38:4

104:6-9 While this might sound like the worldwide flood of Gen. 6–9, it continues to refer to the creation, esp. Gen. 1:9,10 regarding the third day of creation.

104:10-18 With water (vv. 10-13), vegetation (v. 14), food-producing vines, trees and grain (v. 15), trees (vv. 16,17) and cliffs (v. 18), the Creator provides for the basic needs of His creation. This corresponds to the third day of creation (cf. Gen. 1:11-13).

104:13 upper chambers. Refers to rain clouds.

104:19-23 This section corresponds to the fourth day of creation in Gen. 1:14-19. The work period of predators (the night) is contrasted with the work time of humans (the day).

And lie down in their dens.
23 Man goes out to [p]his work
And to his labor until the evening.

24 [q]O LORD, how manifold are Your works!
In wisdom You have made them all.
The earth is full of Your [r]possessions—
25 This great and wide sea,
In which are innumerable teeming things,
Living things both small and great.
26 There the ships sail about;
There is that [s]Leviathan[5]
Which You have [6]made to play there.

27 [t]These all wait for You,
That You may give them their food in due season.
28 What You give them they gather in;
You open Your hand, they are filled with good.
29 You hide Your face, they are troubled;
[u]You take away their breath, they die and return to their dust.
30 [v]You send forth Your Spirit, they are created;
And You renew the face of the earth.

31 May the glory of the LORD endure forever;
May the LORD [w]rejoice in His works.
32 He looks on the earth, and it [x]trembles;
[y]He touches the hills, and they smoke.

33 [z]I will sing to the LORD as long as I live;
I will sing praise to my God while I have my being.
34 May my [a]meditation be sweet to Him;
I will be glad in the LORD.
35 May [b]sinners be consumed from the earth,
And the wicked be no more.

Bless the LORD, O my soul!
[7]Praise the LORD!

PSALM 105

The Eternal Faithfulness of the LORD

Oh, [a]give thanks to the LORD!
Call upon His name;
[b]Make known His deeds among the peoples!
2 Sing to Him, sing psalms to Him;
[c]Talk of all His wondrous works!
3 Glory in His holy name;
Let the hearts of those rejoice who seek the LORD!
4 Seek the LORD and His strength;
[d]Seek His face evermore!
5 [e]Remember His marvelous works which He has done,
His wonders, and the judgments of His mouth,
6 O seed of Abraham His servant,
You children of Jacob, His chosen ones!

7 He is the LORD our God;
[f]His judgments are in all the earth.
8 He [g]remembers His covenant forever,
The word which He commanded, for a thousand generations,

PSALM 105
1 [a] 1 Chr. 16:8-22, 34; Ps. 106:1; Is. 12:4 [b] Ps. 145:12
2 [c] Ps. 119:27
4 [d] Ps. 27:8
5 [e] Ps. 77:11
7 [f] [Is. 26:9]
8 [g] Luke 1:72

104:24-26 This portion corresponds to the fifth day of creation in Gen. 1:20-23.

104:26 Leviathan. This term appears in 4 other OT passages (Job 3:8; 41:1; Ps. 74:14; Is. 27:1). In each case, Leviathan refers to some mighty creature who can overwhelm man but who is no match for God. Some form of sea monster, probably a dinosaur, is in view. See note on Job 41:1.

104:27-30 All of creation waits upon God for his providential care. These verses allude to the sixth day of creation (cf. Gen. 1:24-31).

104:30 Your Spirit. This most likely should be translated "your breath," which corresponds to "the breath of life" in Gen. 2:7.

104:31-35 The psalmist closes with a benediction to the Creator in which he prays that the ungodly might no longer spiritually pollute God's universe (104:35). This prayer anticipates the new heaven and new earth (cf. Rev. 21,22).

104:32 trembles...smoke. Earthquakes and fires caused by lightning are in view.

104:35 sinners...wicked. Although God has been merciful to let His fallen human creation live on (cf. Gen. 3:1-24), those who bless and praise the Lord desire to see the day when 1) sinful men have been abolished from the earth (cf. Rev. 20:11-15), and 2) the curse of the earth is reversed (cf. Rev. 22:3).

105:1-45 Just as Pss. 103 and 104 were matched pairs; so are Pss. 105 and 106, as they look at Israel's history from God's perspective and then Israel's vantage respectively. This psalm possibly originated by command of David to Asaph on the occasion when the ark of the covenant was first brought to Jerusalem (2 Sam. 6:12-19; 1 Chr. 16:1-7). Psalm 105:1-15 repeats 1 Chr. 16:8-22.

I. Rejoicing in God's Works for Israel (105:1-3)
II. Remembering God's Works for Israel (105:4-6)
III. Recounting the Work of God for Israel (105:7-45)
  A. Abraham to Joseph (105:7-25)
  B. Moses to Joshua (105:26-45)

105:1-5 Ten imperatives call Israel to a time of remembering, celebrating, and spreading the report abroad of the work of God on Israel's behalf as a result of God's covenant with Abraham.

105:6 seed of Abraham...children of Jacob. Those who were to obey the commands of 105:1-5, i.e., the nation of Israel.

105:7-12 This section rehearses the Abrahamic Covenant.

105:8 a thousand generations. A reference to an exceedingly long time (a generation is normally 40 years) which would encompass the remainder of human history; i.e., forever (cf. Deut. 7:9; 1 Chr. 16:15).

9 [h]The covenant which He made with Abraham,
And His oath to Isaac,
10 And confirmed it to Jacob for a statute,
To Israel as an everlasting covenant,
11 Saying, [i]"To you I will give the land of Canaan
As the allotment of your inheritance,"
12 [j]When they were few in number,
Indeed very few, [k]and strangers in it.

13 When they went from one nation to another,
From one kingdom to another people,
14 [l]He permitted no one to do them wrong;
Yes, [m]He rebuked kings for their sakes,
15 Saying, "Do not touch My anointed ones,
And do My prophets no harm."

16 Moreover [n]He called for a famine in the land;
He destroyed all the [o]provision of bread.
17 [p]He sent a man before them—
Joseph—who [q]was sold as a slave.
18 [r]They hurt his feet with fetters,
[1]He was laid in irons.
19 Until the time that his word came to pass,
[s]The word of the LORD tested him.
20 [t]The king sent and released him,
The ruler of the people let him go free.
21 [u]He made him lord of his house,
And ruler of all his possessions,
22 To [2]bind his princes at his pleasure,
And teach his elders wisdom.

23 [v]Israel also came into Egypt,
And Jacob dwelt [w]in the land of Ham.
24 [x]He increased His people greatly,
And made them stronger than their enemies.
25 [y]He turned their heart to hate His people,
To deal craftily with His servants.

26 [z]He sent Moses His servant,
And Aaron whom He had chosen.
27 They [a]performed His signs among them,
And wonders in the land of Ham.
28 He sent darkness, and made it dark;
And they did not rebel against His word.
29 [b]He turned their waters into blood,
And killed their fish.
30 [c]Their land abounded with frogs,
Even in the chambers of their kings.
31 [d]He spoke, and there came swarms of flies,
And lice in all their territory.
32 [e]He gave them hail for rain,
And flaming fire in their land.
33 [f]He struck their vines also, and their fig trees,
And splintered the trees of their territory.
34 [g]He spoke, and locusts came,
Young locusts without number,

105:9,10 The original covenant that God had made with Abraham. He later renewed it with Isaac and then Jacob (cf. Abraham—Gen. 12:1-3; 13:14-18; 15:18-21; 17:1-21;22:15-19; Isaac—26:23-25; and Jacob—35:9-12).

105:10 an everlasting covenant. From the time of the covenant until the end. Five OT covenants are spoken of as "everlasting": 1) the Noahic Covenant, Gen. 9:16; 2) the Abrahamic Covenant, Gen. 17:7,13, 19; 3) the Priestly Covenant, Lev. 24:8; 4) the Davidic Covenant, 2 Sam. 23:5; and 5) the New Covenant, Jer. 32:40.

105:11 Saying. This probably has God's promise to Abraham at Gen. 17:8 in view.

105:12 few in number. God promised Abraham that He would multiply his small number of descendants to be as numerous as the stars of heaven and the sand of the seashore (cf. Gen. 13:16; 15:5; 17:2,6; 22:17).

105:13 one nation to another. Abraham had migrated from Ur of the Chaldeans to Haran and finally to Canaan (Gen. 11:31). Later, he visited Egypt (Gen. 12:10–13:1).

105:14 He rebuked. The Lord struck Pharaoh and his house with great plagues when Sarai was taken to his quarters (Gen. 12:17). Abimelech, king of Gerar, was also rebuked by God (Gen. 20:3-7).

105:15 Do not touch...no harm. No one passage in the OT records this exact statement. The psalmist most likely is summarizing several occasions, such as Gen. 20:7; 26:11. My anointed ones...My prophets. With poetic parallelism, God's prophets are termed those whom He chose to represent Him on earth. In Gen. 20:7, Abraham is called a prophet. This title could also apply to Isaac and Jacob.

105:16-25 The history recorded in Gen. 37–50 is in view. Verses 16-22 refer to Joseph's experience in Egypt (cf. Gen. 37–41), while v. 23 looks to Jacob's trek to Egypt that resulted in a 430 year stay (Gen. 42–50; cf. Gen. 15:13,14; Ex. 12:40). Verses 24,25 give an overall summary of Israel's experience in Egypt (cf. Ex. 1:7-14).

105:23 the land of Ham. Another name for the area in Egypt where part of the descendants of Ham, the youngest son of Noah, settled (cf. Gen. 10; Ps. 78:51).

105:23-25 God sovereignly used Egypt to judge Israel (cf. Gen. 15:13).

105:26-36 God's deliverance of Israel from Egypt through the leadership of Moses and Aaron is rehearsed with a special emphasis on the 10 plagues, ending with the Passover (cf. Ex. 5–12).

105:28 darkness. The ninth plague (cf. Ex. 10:21-29).

105:29 waters into blood. The first plague (cf. Ex. 7:14-25).

105:30 frogs. The second plague (cf. Ex. 8:1-15).

105:31 swarms of flies...lice. The fourth and third plagues respectively (cf. Ex. 8:16-32). The fifth plague of pestilence (Ex. 9:1-7) and the sixth plague of boils (Ex. 9:8-12) are not mentioned.

105:32,33 hail...flaming fire. The seventh plague (cf. Ex. 9:13-35).

105:34,35 locusts. The eighth plague (cf. Ex. 10:1-20).

35 And ate up all the vegetation in their land,
And devoured the fruit of their ground.
36 [h]He also [3]destroyed all the firstborn in their land,
[i]The first of all their strength.

37 [j]He also brought them out with silver and gold,
And there was none feeble among His tribes.
38 [k]Egypt was glad when they departed,
For the fear of them had fallen upon them.
39 [l]He spread a cloud for a covering,
And fire to give light in the night.
40 [m]The people asked, and He brought quail,
And [n]satisfied them with the bread of heaven.
41 [o]He opened the rock, and water gushed out;
It ran in the dry places like a river.

42 For He remembered [p]His holy promise,
And Abraham His servant.
43 He brought out His people with joy,
His chosen ones with [4]gladness.
44 [q]He gave them the lands of the [5]Gentiles,
And they inherited the labor of the nations,
45 [r]That they might observe His statutes
And keep His laws.

[6]Praise the LORD!

PSALM 106

Joy in Forgiveness of Israel's Sins

Praise[1] the LORD!

[a]Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His mercy endures forever.

2 Who can [2]utter the mighty acts of the LORD?
Who can declare all His praise?
3 Blessed are those who keep justice,
And [3]he who [b]does righteousness at [c]all times!

4 [d]Remember me, O LORD, with the favor You have toward Your people.
Oh, visit me with Your salvation,
5 That I may see the benefit of Your chosen ones,
That I may rejoice in the gladness of Your nation,
That I may glory with [4]Your inheritance.

6 [e]We have sinned with our fathers,
We have committed iniquity,
We have done wickedly.
7 Our fathers in Egypt did not understand Your wonders;
They did not remember the multitude of Your mercies,
[f]But rebelled by the sea—the Red Sea.

8 Nevertheless He saved them for His name's sake,

7 [f] Ex. 14:11, 12

105:36 destroyed...the firstborn. The tenth and final plague, which was death to the firstborn of man and beast (cf. Ex. 11:1–12:51).

105:37-41 The psalmist summarizes Israel's Exodus from Egypt. God provided for their financial and physical needs (cf. Ex. 11:2,3; 12:35 and Ex. 15:26); protection by day and night (cf. Ex. 14:19,20); food needs (Ex. 16:1-36); and water needs (cf. Ex. 17:6; Num. 20:1-11).

105:42-45 The psalmist concludes with a summary that alludes to Joshua's leading the nation back into the Land, first promised to Abraham, (Josh. 1–12) and then distributed to the 12 tribes of Israel (Josh. 13–24). What God promised (cf. 105:7-12) He delivered.

105:42 He remembered. As promised in v. 8.

105:45 observe...keep. This theme of obedience begins (1:6-9) and ends (24:14,15,16,18,21,24) the book of Joshua.

106:1-48 Psalm 106 rehearses God's mercy during Israel's history in spite of Israel's sinfulness (cf. Neh. 9:1-38; Ps. 78; Is. 63:7–64:12; Ezek. 20:1-44; Dan. 9:1-19; Acts 7:2-53; 1 Cor. 10:1-13). The occasion for this psalm is most likely the repentance (v. 6) of post-Exilic Jews who had returned to Jerusalem (vv. 46,47). Verses 1,47,48 seem to be borrowed from 1 Chr. 16:34-36, which was sung on the occasion of the ark's first being brought to Jerusalem by David (cf. 2 Sam. 6:12-19; 1 Chr. 16:1-7). True revival appears to be the psalmist's intention.

II. The Identification with Israel's Sins (106:6)
III. The Confession of Israel's Sins (106:7-46)
  A. During Moses' Time (106:7-33)
  B. From Joshua to Jeremiah (106:34-46)
IV. The Plea for Salvation (106:47)
V. The Benediction (106:48)

106:1 good...mercy. These attributes of God are especially praiseworthy to the psalmist in light of Israel's historical sin pattern (cf. 106:6-46).

106:2,3 Verse 2 asks the question answered in v. 3.

106:4,5 The psalmist has the benefits of the Abrahamic Covenant in mind (see note on Ps. 105:9,10). He prays here for personal deliverance (v. 4) and later for national deliverance (v. 47).

106:6 We...fathers. The psalmist acknowledges the perpetual sinfulness of Israel, including that of his own generation.

106:7-12 This section recalls the crossing of the Red Sea during the Exodus by the nation, when Pharaoh and his army were in pursuit (cf. Ex. 14:1-31).

106:7 Red Sea. See notes on Ex. 10:19; 13:18.

106:8 His name's sake. The glory and reputation of God provide the highest motive for his actions. This frequent OT phrase appears 6 other places in the Psalms (cf. Pss. 23:3; 25:11; 31:3; 79:9; 109:21; 143:11).

g That He might make His mighty power known.
9 h He rebuked the Red Sea also, and it dried up;
So i He led them through the depths,
As through the wilderness.
10 He j saved them from the hand of him who hated them,
And redeemed them from the hand of the enemy.
11 k The waters covered their enemies;
There was not one of them left.
12 l Then they believed His words;
They sang His praise.

13 m They soon forgot His works;
They did not wait for His counsel, 14 n But lusted exceedingly in the
wilderness,
And tested God in the desert.
15 o And He gave them their request,
But p sent leanness into their soul.

16 When q they envied Moses in the camp,
And Aaron the saint of the LORD,
17 r The earth opened up and swallowed Dathan,
And covered the faction of Abiram.
18 s A fire was kindled in their company;
The flame burned up the wicked.

19 t They made a calf in Horeb,
And worshiped the molded image.
20 Thus u they changed their glory
Into the image of an ox that eats grass.
21 They forgot God their Savior,
Who had done great things in Egypt,
22 Wondrous works in the land of Ham,
Awesome things by the Red Sea.
23 v Therefore He said that He would destroy them,
Had not Moses His chosen one w stood before Him in the breach,
To turn away His wrath, lest He destroy them.

24 Then they despised x the pleasant land;
They y did not believe His word,
25 z But complained in their tents,
And did not heed the voice of the
LORD.
26 a Therefore He raised His hand in an oath against them,
b To [5]overthrow them in the
wilderness,
27 c To [6]overthrow their descendants
among the [7]nations,
And to scatter them in the lands.

28 d They joined themselves also to Baal of Peor,
And ate sacrifices [8]made to the dead.

106:9 He rebuked the Red Sea. This reliable historical account recalls a true supernatural miracle of God (cf. Ex. 14:21,22) just as He would later provide a way for the nation to cross the Jordan into the land (cf. Josh. 3:14-17).

106:10 Quoted in Luke 1:71.

106:11 not one of them left. As recorded in Ex. 14:28 (cf. Ps. 78:53).

106:12 They sang His praise. The Song of Moses is in view (cf. Ex. 15:1-21).

106:13-33 This section remembers the nation's wanderings in the wilderness (cf. Num. 14–Deut. 34).

106:13-15 The Jews forgot what God had most recently done on their behalf, but 1) remembered the basics of life that Egypt provided, and 2) doubted that they would have water (cf. Ex. 15:24) or food (cf. Ex. 16:2,3) in the future.

106:14 tested God. According to Num. 14:22, the nation tested God at least 10 times (cf. Ex. 5:21; 6:9; 14:11,12; 15:24; 16:2,3; 17:2,3; 32:1-6; Num. 11:1-6; 12:1,2; 14:2,3).

106:16-18 Korah, who is not named here, led the rebellion that is recounted (cf. Num. 16:1-35). God's judgment concluded with fire which consumed 250 men (cf. Num. 16:35).

106:19-23 This section remembers when the nation convinced Aaron to make a golden calf for idol worship while Moses was on the mountain receiving the commandments of God (cf. Ex. 32:1-14; Deut. 9:7-21).

106:19 Horeb. Most likely another name for Mt. Sinai (cf. Ex. 19:11). This special place, called "the mountain of God" (cf. Ex. 3:1; 1 Kin. 19:8), is where Moses received the commandments of God (Deut. 1:6; 5:2; 29:1; Mal. 4:4).

106:21 God their Savior. This title, common in the pastoral epistles, is seldom used in the OT outside of Isaiah (19:20; 43:3,11; 45:15,21;49:26; 60:16; 63:8). Here it refers to physical deliverance. It looks forward to Jesus Christ as spiritual redeemer (Luke 2:11).

106:22 Ham. Another name for the part of Egypt, which was settled by descendants of Ham, the second son of Noah (cf. Gen. 10:6-20).

106:23 Moses...in the breach. Moses pleaded with God, based on the Abrahamic Covenant promises, not to destroy the nation in spite of their idolatry and immoral behavior (cf. Ex. 32:11-14).

106:24-27 This portion recounts 1) the nation's rejection of Joshua's and Caleb's positive report from the Land, and 2) their desire to return to Egypt (cf. Num. 14:1-4). God responded with judgment (Num. 14:11-38).

106:24 the pleasant land. A term used of the Land God promised to Abraham for the nation Israel (cf. Jer. 3:19, Zech. 7:14).

106:28-31 This scene recounts Israel's encounter with the prophet Balaam who, on behalf of Balak, King of Moab, tried to curse Israel but was prevented from doing so by God (cf. Num. 22–24; Deut. 23:4; Josh. 24:9,10; Neh. 13:2). Having failed, Balaam advised Balak to entice Israel with immorality and idolatry (cf. Num. 31:16 with 25:1; 2 Pet. 2:15; Jude 11; Rev. 2:14). Israel sinned and God judged (Num. 25:1-13). Balaam was later slain by Israel (cf. Josh. 13:22).

106:28 Baal of Peor. Refers to Baal, a god of the Moabites, whose worship occurred at the location of the mountain called Peor (cf. Num. 23:28). sacrifices made to the dead. This most likely refers to sacrifices made to lifeless idols (cf. 1 Thess. 1:9). Israel should have been worshiping "the living God" (cf. Deut. 5:26; 1 Sam. 17:26,36; Pss. 42:2; 84:2; Jer. 10:3-10; Dan. 6:20,26).

29 Thus they provoked Him to anger with their deeds,
And the plague broke out among
them.
30 [e]Then Phinehas stood up and intervened,
And the plague was stopped.
31 And that was accounted to him [f]for
righteousness
To all generations forevermore.

32 [g]They angered Him also at the waters of [g]strife,
[h]So that it went ill with Moses on account of them;
33 [i]Because they rebelled against His Spirit,
So that he spoke rashly with his lips.

34 [j]They did not destroy the peoples,
[k]Concerning whom the LORD had commanded them,
35 [l]But they mingled with the Gentiles
And learned their works;
36 [m]They served their idols,
[n]Which became a snare to them.
37 [o]They even sacrificed their sons
And their daughters to [p]demons,
38 And shed innocent blood,
The blood of their sons and daughters,
Whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan;
And [q]the land was polluted with blood.
39 Thus they [1]were [r]defiled by their own works,
And [s]played[2] the harlot by their own deeds.

40 Therefore [t]the wrath of the LORD was kindled against His people,
So that He abhorred [u]His own inheritance.
41 And [v]He gave them into the hand of the Gentiles,
And those who hated them ruled over
them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them,
And they were brought into subjection under their hand.
43 [w]Many times He delivered them;
But they rebelled in their counsel,
And were brought low for their
iniquity.

44 Nevertheless He regarded their affliction,
When [x]He heard their cry;
45 [y]And for their sake He remembered
His covenant,
And [z]relented [a]according to the multitude of His mercies.
46 [b]He also made them to be pitied
By all those who carried them away captive.

47 [c]Save us, O LORD our God,
And gather us from among the Gentiles,
To give thanks to Your holy name,
To triumph in Your praise.

106:30 Phinehas. The son of Eleazar, son of Aaron (cf. Num. 25:7).

106:31 accounted to him for righteousness. This was a just and rewardable action, evidencing faith in God. As with Abraham (cf. Gen. 15:6 and Rom. 4:3; Gal. 3:6; James 2:23), so it was also with Phinehas. The everlasting covenant of perpetual priesthood through Aaron, from the house of Levi, was first made by God in Lev. 24:8,9 (cf. Jer. 33:17-22; Mal. 2:4-8). This covenant was reaffirmed in Num. 18:8,19. In this text, the covenant is further specified to be through the line of faithful Phinehas.

106:32-33 This scene looks back to Num. 20:1-13 when Moses, provoked by the continuing rebellion of Israel, nonetheless wrongly struck the rock in anger (cf. Ex. 11:8; 16:20) and thus offended God (cf. Num. 20:12). As a result, both Aaron (cf. Num. 20:22-29) and Moses (Deut. 34:1-8) died prematurely without entering the Promised Land.

106:32 the waters of strife. These are the waters of Meribah (cf. Num. 20:13).

106:33 His Spirit. This most likely refers to the Holy Spirit of God. The Spirit of God had an extensive ministry in the OT (cf. Gen. 1:2; 6:3; 2 Sam. 23:2; Neh. 9:30; Ps. 139:7; Is. 48:16; Ezek. 2:2; 3:12-14; 8:3; 11:1,5,24; Hag. 2:5, Zech. 7:12). Both Is. 63:10,11 and Acts 7:51 point to this particular event.

106:34-39 This section describes the general sins of Israel from the time they entered the Land (Josh. 3,4) until they were exiled to Assyria (2 Kin. 17) and Babylon (2 Kin. 24,25). They failed to expel the heathen and sadly conformed to their idolatry.

106:36-38 idols...demons...idols. Demons impersonate idols and encourage idol worship (cf. Deut. 32:17; 2 Chr. 33:5-7; 1 Cor. 10:14-21; Rev. 9:20). The sacrifice of children was not uncommon (cf. Deut. 12:31; 2 Kin. 17:17; Ezek. 16:20,21).

106:39 their own works...deeds. God held Israel directly responsible for their sin without excuse.

106:40-43 From the time of the judges until the Assyrian and Babylonian exiles, God used the hand of His enemies to discipline Israel for their sin.

106:44-46 This emphasizes the unconditional nature of God's covenant with Abraham.

106:45 for their sake. A secondary complement to God, who was primarily acting for His name's sake (cf. v. 8). He remembered His covenant. This answers the psalmist's prayer of vv. 4,5 with regard to the Abrahamic Covenant that 1) the descendants of Abraham would multiply, and 2) they would possess the Land (see note on Ps. 105:9,10; cf. Luke 1:72-75).

106:47 The psalmist pleads, on behalf of the nation and in light of the Abrahamic Covenant, for the nation to be regathered in Israel. He remembers what the men of Moses' day forgot, i.e., God as their Savior (cf. 106:21). Even though the tribes of Judah and Benjamin returned to Israel in Ezra and Nehemiah, this text looks ahead to the regathering of Israel at the time when the Lord Jesus Christ returns to rule over the promised Davidic (2 Sam. 7)/millennial kingdom (Rev. 20) on earth (cf. Ezek. 37:11-28; Hos. 14:4-8; Joel 3:18-21; Amos 9:7-15; Mic. 7:14-20; Zeph. 3:8-20; Zech. 12–14).

48 [d]Blessed be the LORD God of Israel
From everlasting to everlasting!
And let all the people say, "Amen!"

[3]Praise the LORD!

Book Five: Psalms 107–150

PSALM 107

Thanksgiving to the LORD for His Great Works of Deliverance

O h, [a]give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His [1]mercy endures forever.
2 Let the redeemed of the LORD say so,
Whom He has redeemed from the hand of the enemy,
3 And [b]gathered out of the lands,
From the east and from the west,
From the north and from the south.

4 They wandered in [c]the wilderness in a desolate way;
They found no city to dwell in.
5 Hungry and thirsty,
Their soul fainted in them.
6 [d]Then they cried out to the LORD in their trouble,
And He delivered them out of their distresses.
7 And He led them forth by the [e]right way,
That they might go to a city for a dwelling place.
8 [f]Oh, that men would give thanks to the LORD for His goodness,
And for His wonderful works to the children of men!
9 For [g]He satisfies the longing soul,
And fills the hungry soul with goodness.
10 Those who [h]sat in darkness and in the shadow of death,
[i]Bound [2]in affliction and irons—
11 Because they [i]rebelled against the words of God,
And [3]despised [k]the counsel of the Most High,
12 Therefore He brought down their heart with labor;
They fell down, and there was [l]none to help.
13 Then they cried out to the LORD in their trouble,
And He saved them out of their distresses.
14 [m]He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death,
And broke their chains in pieces.
15 Oh, that men would give thanks to the LORD for His goodness,
And for His wonderful works to the children of men!
16 For He has [n]broken the gates of bronze,
And cut the bars of iron in two.

17 Fools, [o]because of their transgression,
And because of their iniquities, were afflicted.
18 [p]Their soul abhorred all manner of food,
And they [q]drew near to the gates of death.
19 Then they cried out to the LORD in their trouble,
And He saved them out of their distresses.
20 [r]He sent His word and [s]healed them,
And [t]delivered them from their destructions.
21 Oh, that men would give thanks to the LORD for His goodness,

106:48 From everlasting to everlasting. With the hopeful prayer of 106:47 on his lips, the psalmist closes the fourth book of the Psalms (Pss. 90–106) with a grand benediction focusing on the eternal character of God, Israel's Savior (cf. 1 Chr. 16:36; Pss. 41:13; 90:2).

107:1-43 The opening line of Pss. 105–107, "Oh, give thanks to the LORD," links together this trilogy of songs which praise God for His goodness and mercy to Israel. Most likely this psalm has a post-Exilic origin (cf. 107:3). The psalm develops two main themes: 1) praising God for His continual deliverance (107:4-32), and 2) remembering God's response to man's obedience/disobedience (107:33-42).

I. The Call to Praise (107:1-3)
II. The Cause of Rejoicing—Deliverance (107:4-32)
III. The Consequences of Obedience/Disobedience (107:33-42)
IV. The Commentary on Wisdom/Understanding (107:43)

107:1-3 All of those who have been delivered (redeemed) from the hand of Israel's enemy focus on God's goodness and everlasting mercy. They had been delivered through the centuries from Egypt to the S (cf. Ex. 12–14), Syria and Assyria to the N (cf. 2 Kin. 19:29-37), the Philistines to the W (cf. 2 Sam. 8:1; 2 King. 18:8), and Babylon to the E (cf. Ezra 1). Compare the psalmist's prayer in 106:47 with v. 3.

107:4-32 This portion contains four pictures or actual situations which illustrate the disastrous end of sin in the nation: 1) wandering in the wilderness (vv. 4-9), 2) languishing in prison (vv. 10-16); 3) enduring sickness (vv. 17-22); and 4) tossing on a stormy sea (vv. 23-32). Each picture follows the same sequence of four events: 1) man's predicament (vv. 4,5,10-12,17,18,23-27); 2) man's petition (vv. 6a,13a, 19a,28a); 3) God's pardon (vv. 6b,7),13b,14,19b,20,28b-30); and 4) man's praise (vv. 8,9,15,16,21,22,31,32).

107:4-9 Possibly the psalmist looked back at the desert wanderings of ungrateful, faithless Israel after the miraculous Exodus (Num. 14–Josh. 2).

107:10-16 Possibly the psalmist thought of the capture and imprisonment of King Zedekiah ca. 586 B.C. (cf. 2 Kin. 25:4-7; Jer. 39:4-8; Jer. 52:1-11).

107:17-22 Possibly the psalmist recalled the mass affliction and subsequent mass healing in Num. 21:4-9.

And for His wonderful works to the children of men!
22 [u]Let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving,
And [v]declare His works with [4]rejoicing.

23 Those who go down to the sea in ships,
Who do business on great waters,
24 They see the works of the LORD,
And His wonders in the deep.
25 For He commands and [w]raises the stormy wind,
Which lifts up the waves of the sea.
26 They mount up to the heavens,
They go down again to the depths;
[x]Their soul melts because of trouble.
27 They reel to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man,
And [5]are at their wits' end.
28 Then they cry out to the LORD in their trouble,
And He brings them out of their distresses.
29 [y]He calms the storm,
So that its waves are still.
30 Then they are glad because they are quiet;
So He guides them to their desired haven.
31 [z]Oh, that men would give thanks to the LORD for His goodness,
And for His wonderful works to the children of men!
32 Let them exalt Him also [a]in the assembly of the people,
And praise Him in the company of the elders.

33 He [b]turns rivers into a wilderness,
And the watersprings into dry ground;
34 A [c]fruitful land into [6]barrenness,
For the wickedness of those who dwell in it.

35 [d]He turns a wilderness into pools of water,
And dry land into watersprings.
36 There He makes the hungry dwell,
That they may establish a city for a dwelling place,
37 And sow fields and plant vineyards,
That they may yield a fruitful harvest.
38 [e]He also blesses them, and they multiply greatly;
And He does not let their cattle [f]decrease.

39 When they are [g]diminished and brought low
Through oppression, affliction and sorrow,
40 [h]He pours contempt on princes,
And causes them to wander in the wilderness where there is no way;
41 [i]Yet He sets the poor on high, far from affliction,
And [j]makes their families like a flock.
42 [k]The righteous see it and rejoice,
And all [l]iniquity stops its mouth.

PSALM 108

Assurance of God's Victory over Enemies

A Song. A Psalm of David.

O [a]God, my heart is steadfast;
I will sing and give praise, even with my glory.
2 [b]Awake, lute and harp!
I will awaken the dawn.
3 I will praise You, O LORD, among the peoples,
And I will sing praises to You among the nations.
4 For Your mercy is great above the [1]heavens,

PSALM 108
1 [a] Ps. 57:7-11
2 [b] Ps. 57:8-11
4 [1] skies

107:23-32 Possibly the psalmist had Jonah and the sailors bound for Tarshish in mind (cf. Jon. 1).

107:33,42 This section contrasts God's blessing in response to man's obedience with God's judgment on man's sin. The psalmist makes his point with 4 illustrations: 1) descending from prosperity to poverty (vv. 33,34); 2) being lifted up from barrenness to blessedness (vv. 35-38); 3) falling from the top to the bottom (vv. 39,40); and 4) being elevated from low to high (vv. 41,42).

107:33,34 Perhaps the 3 years of drought from Ahab's and Jezebel's sins are in view (cf. 1 Kin. 17:1; 18:18).

107:35-38 Perhaps the time of Abraham (Gen. 24:1,34,35) or Joshua (Josh. 24:13) is in view.

107:39,40 Perhaps the Assyrian Exile (2 Kin. 17:4-6) or the Babylonian Captivity (2 Kin. 24:14,15) is in view.

107:41,42 Perhaps the impoverished Jews in Egypt who were made rich with Egyptian gold and other treasures are in view (cf. Ex. 1:13,14 with 3:21,22; 11:2; 12:35,36).

107:43 Perhaps the psalmist has Prov. 8:1-36, Eccl. 12:13,14, or Hos. 14:9 in mind as he pens these concluding words.

108:1-13 David combines portions of his own previously written Pss. 57 and 60 to make up this psalm commemorating God's victories (vv. 1-5 are from 57:7-11; vv. 6-13 are from 60:5-12). He deleted the laments that began each psalm (57:1-6 and 60:1-4) while combining his own words of exaltation and confidence in God with only slight word variation. No specific historical occasion behind this psalm is given. See notes on Ps. 57:7-11 and Ps. 60:5-12.

I. Personal Exaltation of God (108:1-5)
II. Personal Confidence in God (108:6-13)

And Your truth reaches to the clouds.

5 [c]Be exalted, O God, above the heavens,
And Your glory above all the earth;
6 [d]That Your beloved may be delivered,
Save with Your right hand, and [2]hear me.

7 God has spoken in His holiness:
"I will rejoice;
I will divide Shechem
And measure out the Valley of Succoth.
8 Gilead is Mine; Manasseh is Mine;
Ephraim also is the [3]helmet for My head;
[e]Judah is My lawgiver.
9 Moab is My washpot;
Over Edom I will cast My shoe;
Over Philistia I will triumph."

10 [f]Who will bring me into the strong city?
Who will lead me to Edom?
11 Is it not You, O God, who cast us off?
And You, O God, who did not go out with our armies?
12 Give us help from trouble,
For the help of man is useless.
13 [g]Through God we will do valiantly,
For it is He who shall tread down our enemies.

PSALM 109

Plea for Judgment of False Accusers

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

1 Do[a] not keep silent,
O God of my praise!
2 For the mouth of the wicked and the mouth of the deceitful
Have opened against me;
They have spoken against me with a [b]lying tongue.
3 They have also surrounded me with words of hatred,
And fought against me [c]without a cause.
4 In return for my love they are my accusers,
But I give myself to prayer.
5 Thus [d]they have rewarded me evil for good,
And hatred for my love.

6 Set a wicked man over him,
And let [e]an [1]accuser stand at his right hand.
7 When he is judged, let him be found guilty,
And [f]let his prayer become sin.
8 Let his days be [g]few,
And [h]let another take his office.
9 [i]Let his children be fatherless,
And his wife a widow.
10 Let his children [2]continually be vagabonds, and beg;
Let them [3]seek their bread also from their desolate places.
11 [j]Let the creditor seize all that he has,
And let strangers plunder his labor.
12 Let there be none to extend mercy to him,
Nor let there be any to favor his fatherless children.
13 [k]Let his [4]posterity be cut off,
And in the generation following let their [l]name be blotted out.

14 [m]Let the iniquity of his fathers be remembered before the LORD,
And let not the sin of his mother [n]be blotted out.
15 Let them be continually before the LORD,

109:1-31 This imprecatory psalm of David cannot be conclusively connected by the psalm's general details with any particular incident/person in the king's life as chronicled in 1, 2 Sam.; 1 Kin.; and 1 Chr. David responds here to those who have launched a vicious verbal assault of false accusations against him (cf. 109:2,3,20). This psalm is considered messianic in nature, since Acts 1:20 quotes v. 8 in reference to Judas' punishment for betraying Christ (cf. Pss. 41:9; 69:25). David reverses roles with his enemies by moving from being the accused in man's court to being the accuser/prosecutor before the bar of God.

I. The Plaintiff's Plea (109:1-5)
II. The Punishment Desired (109:6-20)
III. The Petition for Justice (109:21-29)
IV. The Praise of the Judge (109:30,31)

109:1 O God of my praise. David begins and ends (cf. v. 30) with praise for the Chief Justice of the universe. At v. 21, David addresses the Judge as "O GOD the Lord" and at v. 26 as "O LORD my God."

109:2-5 David's complaint was that the innocent were being accused by the guilty. He asserted that the charges were without cause (109:3). While Doeg the Edomite has been identified by some (cf. 1 Sam. 21,22; Ps. 52), the far more likely candidate would be Saul (cf. 1 Sam. 18–27). Eight of the 14 historical superscriptions in other psalms refer to the sufferings of David related to Saul's pursuits for the purpose of killing David (cf. Pss. 18,34,54,56,57,59,63,142).

109:2 In vv. 2-5,20,25,27-29, David refers to a group of accusers, in contrast to vv. 6-19 where an individual is mentioned. Most likely, the individual is the group leader.

109:6-20 The Mosaic law had anticipated false accusations and malicious witnesses (cf. Deut. 19:16-21) by decreeing that the false accuser was to be given the punishment intended for the accused. It would appear that David had this law in mind here and vv. 26-29. Thus, his imprecations are not malicious maledictions, but rather a call for justice according to the law. These severe words have respect not to the penitent, but to the impenitent and hard-hearted foes of God and His cause, whose inevitable fate is set.

109:8 The Apostle Peter cited this verse as justification for replacing Judas the betrayer with another apostle (cf. Acts. 1:20).

That He may [o]cut off the memory of them from the earth;
16 Because he did not remember to show
mercy,
But persecuted the poor and needy
man,
That he might even slay the [p]broken
in heart.
17 [q]As he loved cursing, so let it come to
him;
As he did not delight in blessing, so let it be far from him.
18 As he clothed himself with cursing as with his garment,
So let it [r]enter his body like water,
And like oil into his bones.
19 Let it be to him like the garment which covers him,
And for a belt with which he girds himself continually.
20 Let this be the LORD's reward to my accusers,
And to those who speak evil against my person.

21 But You, O GOD the Lord,
Deal with me for Your name's sake;
Because Your mercy is good, deliver
me.
22 For I am poor and needy,
And my heart is wounded within me.
23 I am gone [s]like a shadow when it
lengthens;
I am shaken off like a locust.
24 My [t]knees are weak through fasting,
And my flesh is feeble from lack of fatness.
25 I also have become [u]a reproach to
them;
When they look at me, [v]they shake their heads.

26 Help me, O LORD my God!
Oh, save me according to Your
mercy,
27 [w]That they may know that this is Your hand—
That You, LORD, have done it!
28 [x]Let them curse, but You bless;
When they arise, let them be
ashamed,
But let [y]Your servant rejoice.
29 [z]Let my accusers be clothed with shame,
And let them cover themselves with their own disgrace as with a mantle.

30 I will greatly praise the LORD with my
mouth;
Yes, [a]I will praise Him among the multitude.
31 For [b]He shall stand at the right hand
of the poor,
To save him from those [5]who condemn him.

PSALM 110

Announcement of the Messiah's Reign

A Psalm of David.

The [a]LORD said to my Lord,
"Sit at My right hand,
Till I make Your enemies Your
[b]footstool."
2 The LORD shall send the rod of Your strength [c]out of Zion.
[d]Rule in the midst of Your enemies!

PSALM 110
1 [a] Matt. 22:44; Mark 12:36; 16:19; Luke 20:42, 43; Acts 2:34, 35; Col. 3:1; Heb. 1:13
[b] [1 Cor. 15:25; Eph. 1:22]
2 [c] [Rom. 11:26, 27]
[d] [Ps. 2:9; Dan. 7:13, 14]

109:21-29 David petitioned the court for justice by asking for deliverance for the judge's sake (109:21) and then for his own sake (vv. 22-25). Afterwards, he requested that his enemies be rightfully punished (vv. 26-29).

109:30,31 David's praise for the Divine Magistrate (v. 30) was based on his confidence in the compassion and mercy of the judge (v. 31). Second Samuel 22 and Ps. 18 record the general outcome to David's case, which was tried in God's courtroom.

110:1-7 This psalm contains one of the most exalted prophetic portions of Scripture presenting Jesus Christ as both a holy king and a royal High-Priest—something that no human monarch of Israel ever experienced. It, along with Ps. 118, is by far the most quoted psalm in the NT (Matt. 22:44; 26:64; Mark 12:36; 14:62; Luke 20:42,43; 22:69; Acts 2:34,35; Heb. 1:13; 5:6; 7:17,21; 10:13). While portraying the perfect king, the perfect High-Priest, and the perfect government, Ps. 110 declares Christ's current role in heaven as the resurrected Savior (110:1) and His future role on earth as the reigning Monarch (110:2-7). This psalm is decidedly messianic and millennial in content. Jesus Christ (Matt. 22:43,44) verifies the Davidic authorship. The exact occasion of this psalm is unknown, but it could easily have been associated with God's declaration of the Davidic Covenant in 2 Sam. 7:4-17.

I. Christ the King (110:1-3)

II. Christ the High-Priest (110:4-7)

110:1 my Lord. Refers to the divine/human King of Israel—the Lord Jesus Christ. Christ's humanity descended from David, which is demanded by the Davidic promise of 2 Sam. 7:12. Using this passage, Christ also declared His deity in the Gospels (Matt. 22:44; Mark 12:36; Luke 20:42-43) by arguing that only God could have been lord to King David. My right hand. God the Father invited God the Son in His ascension to sit at the place of honor in the heavenly throne room (cf. Acts. 2:22-36; Heb. 10:10-12). Your enemies Your footstool. Footstool was an ancient Near Eastern picture of absolute victory portraying the idea that one's enemy was now underfoot (cf. Pss. 8:6,7; 47:3; Is. 66:1; 1 Cor. 15:27). This anticipates Christ's Second Advent (cf. Rev. 19:11-21) as a conquering king (cf. Heb. 10:13).

110:2 the rod. From the human side, the ancestral staff of Judah is in view (cf. Gen. 49:10). From the divine side, the rod of iron by which King Jesus will subdue the earth is intended (cf. Ps. 2:9). Zion. God intends to install His ultimate earthly king in Jerusalem (the SW side is Zion; cf. Ps. 132:13-18). The earthly Zion (cf. Ps. 2:6; Is. 59:20) is in view, not the heavenly Zion because 1) there are no enemies in heaven, and 2) none of the activities in vv. 5-7 will take place in heaven. Rule. Christ will rule on the earthly throne of His father David (cf. Luke 1:32), in fulfillment of Is. 9:6 and Zech. 14:9.

3 [e]Your people shall be volunteers
In the day of Your power;
[f]In the beauties of holiness, from the womb of the morning,
You have the dew of Your youth.
4 The LORD has sworn
And [g]will not relent,
"You are a [h]priest forever
According to the order of
[i]Melchizedek."
5 The Lord is [j]at Your right hand;
He shall [1]execute kings [k]in the day of His wrath.
6 He shall judge among the nations,
He shall fill the places with dead bodies,
[l]He shall [2]execute the heads of many countries.
7 He shall drink of the brook by the wayside;
[m]Therefore He shall lift up the head.

3 [e] Judg. 5:2; Neh. 11:2 [f] 1 Chr. 16:29; Ps. 96:9
4 [g] [Num. 23:19] [h] [Zech. 6:13] [Heb. 5:6, 10; 6:20]
5 [i] [Ps. 16:8] [k] Ps. 2:5, 12; [Rom. 2:5; Rev. 6:17] [1] Lit. break kings in pieces
6 [1] Ps. 68:21 [2] Lit. break in pieces
7 [m] [Is. 53:12]

110:3 volunteers. The redeemed inhabitants of earth will willingly serve the King of Kings and Lord of Lords. the day of Your power. Refers to the power displayed during the millennial reign of Jesus Christ (cf. Zech. 14:1-21; Rev. 19:11–20:6). beauties...womb ...dew. This seems to apply to the King and to represent Him as in the constant vigor of youth, a period distinguished by strength and activity, or it may refer to His holiness, eternality and deity.

110:4 You are a priest. The first time in the history of Israel when a king simultaneously served as High-Priest. Christ (a.k.a. "Branch," cf. Is. 4:2; Jer. 23:5,6; Zech. 3:8; 6:12,13) will build the temple at which the world will worship God (cf. 2 Sam. 7:13; Is. 2:2-4; Ezek. 40–48). forever. Christ represents the final and foremost High-Priest in the history of Israel. the order of Melchizedek. This High-Priest could not be of Aaron's lineage in that he would not be eternal, not be of Judah, not be a king, and not be of the New Covenant (Jer. 31:31-33; Heb. 8,9). Melchizedek, which means "king of righteousness," served as the human priest/king of Salem in Gen. 14:17-20 and provides a picture of the order of Christ's priesthood (cf. Heb. 5:6; 7:17,21). The sons of Zadok will serve with Christ in the Millennium as His human priestly associates (cf. Ezek. 44:15; 48:11).

110:5 Your right hand. The roles have here reversed—the Father now stands at the right hand of the Son. This pictures the Father supplying the needs of the Son (cf. Pss. 16:8; 109:31; Is. 41:13). The Father provides the defeat of His enemies on earth so that His Son can fulfill God's land and nation promises to Abraham (Gen. 12:1,2) and kingship promise to David (2 Sam. 7:12,13,16). the day of His wrath. This refers to the "Day of the LORD" (cf. v. 3 "the day of Your power"), which finds its global expression at the end of Daniel's 70th week (cf. Dan. 9:24-27). This term exclusively speaks of God's wrath, which will be poured out on an unrepentant world in order to set up Christ's 1,000 year (millennial) reign (cf. Joel 2:1,11,31; 3:14; Rev. 6:16,17; 14:19; 19:15).

110:6 judge...fill...execute. Cf. Pss. 2:8,9; 50:1-6; Is. 2:4; 9:6,7; Dan. 2:44,45; 7:26,27; Joel 3:2,12; Mic. 4:3; Matt. 25:32; Rev. 6:15-17; 14:20; 16:14; 19:19-21.

110:7 He shall drink. This pictures a refreshed conqueror who has kingly access to the whole world. This could anticipate the E-W flow of fresh water out of Jerusalem as recorded in Zech. 14:8. He shall lift up. The lifted head pictures Christ's strength in victory (cf. Pss. 3:3; 27:6; 75:10). As Ps. 22:28 reports, "For the kingdom is the LORD's, and He rules over the nations" (cf. Zech. 14:9).

PSALM 111

Praise to God for His Faithfulness and Justice

Praise[1] the LORD!

[a]I will praise the LORD with my whole heart,
In the assembly of the upright and in the congregation.

2 [b]The works of the LORD are great,
[c]Studied by all who have pleasure in them.
3 His work is [d]honorable and glorious,
And His righteousness endures forever.
4 He has made His wonderful works to be remembered;
[e]The LORD is gracious and full of compassion.
5 He has given food to those who fear Him;
He will ever be mindful of His covenant.
6 He has declared to His people the power of His works,
In giving them the [2]heritage of the nations.

7 The works of His hands are [f]verity[3] and justice;
All His precepts are sure.
8 [g]They stand fast forever and ever,
And are [h]done in truth and uprightness.
9 [i]He has sent redemption to His people;
He has commanded His covenant forever:
[j]Holy and awesome is His name.

10 [k]The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom;
A good understanding have all those who do His commandments.
His praise endures forever.

PSALM 112

The Blessed State of the Righteous

Praise[1] the LORD!

Blessed is the man who fears the LORD,
Who [a]delights greatly in His commandments.

2 [b]His descendants will be mighty on earth;
The generation of the upright will be blessed.
3 [c]Wealth and riches will be in his house,
And his righteousness [2]endures forever.
4 [d]Unto the upright there arises light in the darkness;
He is gracious, and full of compassion, and righteous.
5 [e]A good man deals graciously and lends;
He will guide his affairs [f]with discretion.
6 Surely he will never be shaken;
[g]The righteous will be in everlasting remembrance.
7 [h]He will not be afraid of evil tidings;
His heart is steadfast, trusting in the LORD.
8 His [i]heart is established;
[j]He will not be afraid,
Until he [k]sees his desire upon his enemies.

9 He has dispersed abroad,
He has given to the poor;

111:1-10 Psalms 111 and 112 are alike in that 1) they both begin with, "Praise the LORD!" (as does Ps. 113), and 2) they both are acrostics with 22 lines corresponding to the 22 letters of the Heb. alphabet. Psalm 111 exalts the works of God, while Ps. 112 extols the man who fears God. The author(s) and occasion(s) are unknown.

I. A Word of Praise (111:1)
II. Words about God's Works (111:2-9)
III. A Word of Wisdom (111:10)

111:1 whole heart. Jesus might have had this passage in mind when He stated that the greatest commandment was, "you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart..." (Matt. 22:37).

111:2-9 God's work(s) are mentioned 5 times (vv. 2,3,4,6,7). Overall, the greater work of redemption seems to be in view (v. 9) without excluding lesser works of a temporal nature (vv. 5,6).

111:5 food...His covenant. It is quite possible that the psalmist has alluded to God's faithfulness in providing food for Jacob through Joseph (Gen. 37–50) in fulfillment of the Abrahamic Covenant to make the nation like the stars of the sky (Gen. 15:5).

111:6 the heritage of the nations. It seems even more sure that the psalmist has the Abrahamic Covenant in view (cf. Gen. 15:18-21; 17:1-8), specifically the Exodus (Ex.–Deut.) and the conquering/dividing of the Land (Joshua). See note on Deut. 7:1,2.

111:9 commanded His covenant forever. In light of vv. 5,6 and Gal. 3:6-9, this appears to look at the redemption aspects of the Abrahamic Covenant, which was declared frequently to be an "everlasting" or "forever" covenant (cf. Gen. 17:7,13,19; 1 Chr. 16:15,17; Ps. 105:8,10; Is. 24:5).

111:10 The fear of the LORD. See notes on Prov. 1:7; 9:10.

112:1-10 See note on Ps. 111:1-10.

I. The Blessing of Obedience (112:1-9)
II. The Emptiness of Sin (112:10)

112:1 who fears the LORD. This psalm begins where 111:10 ended and links the two together.

112:2-9 The desire of every human for prosperity can only come through obedience to the commands of God (cf. Ps. 1:1-3).

112:9 dispersed abroad. Quoted by Paul in 2 Cor. 9:9.

His righteousness endures forever;
His [3]horn will be exalted with honor.
10 The wicked will see it and be grieved;
He will gnash his teeth and melt away;
The desire of the wicked shall perish.

PSALM 113

The Majesty and Condescension of God

Praise[1] the LORD!

[a]Praise, O servants of the LORD,
Praise the name of the LORD!
2 [b]Blessed be the name of the LORD
From this time forth and forevermore!
3 [c]From the rising of the sun to its going down
The LORD's name is to be praised.

4 The LORD is [d]high above all nations,
[e]His glory above the heavens.
5 [f]Who is like the LORD our God,
Who dwells on high,
6 [g]Who humbles Himself to behold
The things that are in the heavens and in the earth?

7 [h]He raises the poor out of the dust,
And lifts the [i]needy out of the ash heap,
8 That He may [j]seat him with princes—
With the princes of His people.
9 [k]He grants the [2]barren woman a home,
Like a joyful mother of children.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 114

The Power of God in His Deliverance of Israel

When [a]Israel went out of Egypt,
The house of Jacob [b]from a people [1]of strange language,
2 [c]Judah became His sanctuary,
And Israel His dominion.

3 [d]The sea saw it and fled;
[e]Jordan turned back.
4 [f]The mountains skipped like rams,
The little hills like lambs.
5 [g]What ails you, O sea, that you fled?
O Jordan, that you turned back?
6 O mountains, that you skipped like rams?
O little hills, like lambs?

4 [f] Ex. 19:18; Judg. 5:5; Ps. 29:6; Hab. 3:6
5 [g] Hab. 3:8

112:9 His horn. Horns on an animal were an indication of strength and prosperity. This is applied figuratively to the righteous.

112:10 In utter contrast to the righteous man of vv. 2-9, the wicked man lives a worthless existence without strength (cf. Ps. 1:4-6).

113:1-9 Psalms 113–118 comprise a rich 6-psalm praise to God commonly called the "Egyptian Hallel" ("hallel" meaning praise in Heb.). These were sung at Passover, Pentecost, and Tabernacles, but had the greatest significance at Passover, which celebrated the Jews' deliverance from Egypt (cf. Ex. 12–14). Traditionally Pss. 113,114 were sung before the Passover meal and Pss. 115–118 afterwards. Psalm 118 would most likely be what Christ and the disciples sang before they left the Upper Room the night Christ was betrayed (cf. Matt. 26:30; Mark 14:26). There are two other notable sets of praise in the Psalter: 1) The Great Hallel (Pss. 120–136) and 2) The Final Hallel (Pss. 145–150).

I. The Call to Praise (113:1-3)
II. The Cause for Praise (113:4-9)
  A. God's Transcendence (113:4,5)
  B. God's Immanence (113:6-9)

113:1 servants. Refers to the redeemed, all of whom should serve God with obedience. the name. The name of God represents all His attributes.

113:2 this time...forevermore. Praise is to be rendered always (cf. Eph. 5:20; 1 Thess. 5:18).

113:3 rising...going down. From the first moment of consciousness in the morning to the last waking moment before sleep.

113:4,5 Believers are to praise the only One worthy of praise for His transcendent sovereignty.

113:6-9 humbles. In appearance, God must figuratively lean over from the faraway heavens to examine the earth (cf. Is. 40:12-17). In a far greater way Christ humbled Himself in the incarnation (cf. Phil. 2:5-11).

113:7,8 the poor. This is borrowed almost exactly from Hannah's song in 1 Sam. 2:8. God is responsible for both the rich and the poor (Prov. 22:2). God's compassion reaches out to the poor and needy (cf. Ps. 72:12,13). Ultimately, Christ came to save those who are poor in spirit (cf. Is. 61:2; Luke 4:18).

113:9 the barren woman. Sarah (Gen. 21:2), Rebekah (Gen. 25:21), and Rachel (Gen. 30:23) would be the most significant since the outcome of the Abrahamic Covenant depended on these childless women being blessed by God to be mothers.

114:1-8 See note on Ps. 113:1-9. This psalm is the one most explicitly related to the Exodus (Ex. 12–14). It recounts God's response to a captive nation (Israel in Egypt) in order to honor His promises in the Abrahamic Covenant (Gen. 28:13-17) given to Jacob (cf. 114:1, "The house of Jacob;" 114:7, "the God of Jacob").

I. God Inhabits Israel (114:1,2)
II. God Intimidates Nature (114:3-6)
III. God Invites Trembling (114:7,8)

114:2 Judah...Israel. Judah/Benjamin and the northern ten tribes respectively. sanctuary...dominion. God dwelt among the peoples as a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night (cf. Ex. 13:21,22; 14:19).

114:3 The sea...Jordan. Two miracles of God, i.e., separating the waters began and ended the Exodus. On the way out of Egypt, God parted the Red Sea (Ex. 14:15-31) and 40 years later He parted the Jordan River in order for the Jews to enter the Promised Land (Josh. 3:1-17).

114:4 mountains...little hills. Refers to the violent appearance of God to Israel at Sinai (cf. Ex. 19:18; Judg. 5:4,5; Ps. 68:17,18).

114:5,6 In poetic imagery, God questioned why the most fixed of geographical features, i.e., water and mountains, could not resist His power and will.

7 Tremble, O earth, at the presence of the Lord,
At the presence of the God of Jacob,
8 [h]Who turned the rock into a pool of water,
The flint into a fountain of waters.

PSALM 115

The Futility of Idols and the Trustworthiness of God

Not [a]unto us, O LORD, not unto us,
But to Your name give glory,
Because of Your mercy,
Because of Your truth.
2 Why should the [1]Gentiles say,
[b]"So where is their God?"

3 [c]But our God is in heaven;
He does whatever He pleases.
4 [d]Their idols are silver and gold,
The work of men's hands.
5 They have mouths, but they do not speak;
Eyes they have, but they do not see;
6 They have ears, but they do not hear;
Noses they have, but they do not smell;
7 They have hands, but they do not handle;
Feet they have, but they do not walk;
Nor do they mutter through their throat.
8 [e]Those who make them are like them;
So is everyone who trusts in them.

9 [f]O Israel, trust in the LORD;
[g]He is their help and their shield.
10 O house of Aaron, trust in the LORD;
He is their help and their shield.
11 You who fear the LORD, trust in the LORD;
He is their help and their shield.

12 The LORD [2]has been mindful of us;
He will bless us;
He will bless the house of Israel;
He will bless the house of Aaron.
13 [h]He will bless those who fear the LORD,
Both small and great.

14 May the LORD give you increase more and more,
You and your children.
15 May you be [i]blessed by the LORD,
[j]Who made heaven and earth.

16 The heaven, even the heavens, are the LORD'S;
But the earth He has given to the children of men.
17 [k]The dead do not praise the LORD,
Nor any who go down into silence.
18 [l]But we will bless the LORD
From this time forth and forevermore.

Praise the LORD!

Thanksgiving for Deliverance from Death

I [a]love the LORD, because He has heard
My voice and my supplications.
2 Because He has inclined His ear to me,
Therefore I will call upon Him as long as I live.

3 [b]The [1]pains of death surrounded me,
And the [2]pangs of Sheol [3]laid hold of me;
I found trouble and sorrow.

114:7 Tremble. The only proper response of helpless nature before omnipotent God.

114:8 the rock. Refers to the first incident at Massah/Meribah (Ex. 17:5,6) and/or the second (Num. 20:8-11).

115:1-18 See note on Ps. 113:1-9. This praise psalm appears to be antiphonal in nature, following this outline and pattern: 1) the people (vv. 1-8); 2) the priests (vv. 9-11); 3) the people (vv. 12,13); 4) the priests (vv. 14,15); and 5) the people (vv. 16-18). Verses 4-11 are very similar to Ps. 135:15-20. It has been suggested that this psalm is post-Exilic (cf. v. 2) and could have first been sung at the dedication of the second temple (cf. Ezra 6:16).

115:1 to Your name give glory. God declared He would share His glory with no one (Is. 42:8; 48:11).

115:2 where is their God? (cf. Ps. 42:3,10; 79:10; Joel 2:17; Mic. 7:10). The Jews despised this Gentile taunt.

115:3 Israel's God is alive and rules the earth from His throne room above.

115:4-8 In contrast, Gentiles worship dead gods of their own making, fashioned in the image of the fallen creature (cf. Is. 44:9-20; 46:5-7; Jer. 10:3-16; Rom. 1:21-25). The idol worshiper becomes like the idol—spiritually useless.

115:9-11 This 3 verse, priestly admonition (cf. 118:2-4; 135:19,20) could apply to 3 different groups: 1) the nation Israel (115:9); 2) the Levitical priests from the house of Aaron (115:10); and 3) proselytes to Judaism who are God fearers (115:11). To all 3 groups, God is their help and shield.

115:16 the earth. Strong implications that planet earth alone is the dwelling place of life.

116:1-19 See note on Ps. 113:1-9. This is an intensely personal "thank you" psalm to the Lord for saving the psalmist from death (116:3,8). The occasion and author remain unknown, although the language used by Jonah in his prayer from the fish's stomach is remarkably similar. While this appears to deal with physical death, the same song could be sung by those who have been saved from spiritual death.

I. The Lord's Response to the Psalmist's Prayer for Deliverance from Death (116:1-11)
II. The Psalmist's Reaction to God's Deliverance of him from Death (116:12-19)

116:3 Sheol. Another term for grave/death.

4 Then I called upon the name of the LORD:
"O LORD, I implore You, deliver my soul!"

5 [c]Gracious is the LORD, and [d]righteous;
Yes, our God is merciful.
6 The LORD preserves the simple;
I was brought low, and He saved me.
7 Return to your [e]rest, O my soul,
For [f]the LORD has dealt bountifully with you.

8 [g]For You have delivered my soul from death,
My eyes from tears,
And my feet from falling.
9 I will walk before the LORD
[h]In the land of the living.
10 [i]I believed, therefore I spoke,
"I am greatly afflicted."
11 [j]I said in my haste,
[k]"All men are liars."

12 What shall I render to the LORD
For all His benefits toward me?
13 I will take up the cup of salvation,
And call upon the name of the LORD.
14 [l]I will pay my vows to the LORD
Now in the presence of all His people.

15 [m]Precious in the sight of the LORD
Is the death of His saints.

PSALM 118

Praise to God for His Everlasting Mercy

Oh, [a]give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
[b]For His mercy endures forever.

1 [a] 1 Chr. 16:8, 34; Jer. 33:11 [b] 2 Chr. 5:13; 7:3; Ezra 3:11; [Ps. 136:1-26]

116:9 I will walk. A vow of obedience.

116:10 I believed. Faith in God and His ability to deliver preceded the psalmist's prayer for deliverance. This verse is quoted by the Apostle Paul in 2 Cor. 4:13. It rehearses the principle of walking by faith, not by sight.

116:11 All men are liars. Either the psalmist is reacting to his false accusers or to men who say that they can deliver him but have not.

116:12 What shall I render. God needs nothing and puts no price on His free mercy and grace. The psalmist renders the only acceptable gift—obedience and thanksgiving.

116:13 the cup of salvation. This is the only place in the OT where this exact phrase is used. It probably has the meaning of the cup in Pss. 16:5; 23:5; i.e., the redeemed life circumstances provided by God, in contrast to Ps. 75:8, which speaks about the cup of God's wrath.

116:14 I will pay my vows. Most likely this refers to the vows made during the time of duress (cf. 116:18,19).

116:15,16 The psalmist realized what a special blessing his deliverance ("loosed my bonds") was in light of v. 15. Therefore, he reemphasized his role as a servant of God following the example of his mother.

116:17-19 These verses parallel v. 13,14. Jonah made an almost identical statement (Jon. 2:9).

116:17 the sacrifice of thanksgiving. Probably not a Mosaic sacrifice, but rather actual praise and thanksgiving rendered from the heart in the spirit of Pss. 136 and 138 (cf. Pss. 50:23; 100:4; 119:108).

116:19 the LORD's house. Refers to 1) the tabernacle in Jerusalem if written by David or before, or 2) the temple in Jerusalem if written by Solomon or later.

117:1,2 See note on Ps. 113:1-9. The seal of redemptive truth is bound up in this diminutive but seminal psalm—its profundity far outdistances its size. This pivotal psalm exhibits 3 distinguishing features: 1) it is the shortest psalm; 2) it is the shortest chapter in the Bible; and 3) it is the middle chapter of the Bible. That God looked redemptively beyond the borders of Israel in the OT is made clear here. The psalm looks back to God's intent for Adam and Eve in Eden (Gen. 1,2) and looks ahead to the ultimate fulfillment in the new heavens and earth (Rev. 21,22).

I. A Global Invitation (117:1)
II. A Grand Explanation (117:2)

117:1 Gentiles...peoples. Paul quoted this verse in Rom. 15:11 to make the point that from the very beginning of time God has pursued a worldwide redemptive purpose (cf. Rom. 15:7-13). Other passages quoted by Paul in Rom. 15 to make this point include: Deut. 32:43, 2 Sam. 22:50, and Is. 11:10. While not as obvious in the OT, the NT makes this point unmistakably clear (cf. Acts. 10:34,35; Rom. 1:16; 1 Cor. 12:13; Gal. 3:1-29, esp. 28; Col. 3:11).

117:2 The reasons for such exalted praise as that commanded in v. 1 are: 1) because of God's redemptive kindness, and 2) because of God's eternal truth. Therefore, what God has promised, He will provide (cf. John 6:37-40).

118:1-29 See note on Ps. 113:1-9. This psalm, along with Ps. 110, is intensely messianic and thus the most quoted by the NT (Matt. 21;9,42; 23:39; Mark 11:9,10; 12:10,11; Luke 13:35; 19:38; 20:17; John 12:13; Acts 4:11; Heb. 13:6; 1 Pet. 2:7). Neither the author nor the

5 [d]I called on the LORD in distress;
The LORD answered me and [e]set me in a broad place.
6 [f]The LORD is on my side;
I will not fear.
What can man do to me?
7 [g]The LORD is for me among those who help me;
Therefore [h]I shall see my desire on those who hate me.
8 [i]It is better to trust in the LORD
Than to put confidence in man.
9 [j]It is better to trust in the LORD
Than to put confidence in princes.

10 All nations surrounded me,
But in the name of the LORD I will destroy them.
11 They [k]surrounded me,
Yes, they surrounded me;
But in the name of the LORD I will destroy them.
12 They surrounded me [l]like bees;
They were quenched [m]like a fire of thorns;
For in the name of the LORD I will [1]destroy them.
13 You pushed me violently, that I might fall,
But the LORD helped me.
14 [n]The LORD is my strength and song,
And He has become my salvation.

15 The voice of rejoicing and salvation
Is in the tents of the righteous;
The right hand of the LORD does valiantly.
16 [o]The right hand of the LORD is exalted;
The right hand of the LORD does valiantly.
17 [p]I shall not die, but live,
And [q]declare the works of the LORD.
18 The LORD has [r]chastened [2] me severely,
But He has not given me over to death.

19 [s]Open to me the gates of righteousness;
I will go through them,
And I will praise the LORD.
20 [t]This is the gate of the LORD,
[u]Through which the righteous shall enter.

21 I will praise You,
For You have [v]answered me,
And have become my salvation.

specific circumstances of the psalm are identified. Two reasonable possibilities could be entertained: 1) it was written during Moses' day in the Exodus, or 2) it was written sometime after the Jews returned to Jerusalem from Exile. Probably it was the former, given 1) the nature of the Egyptian Hallel (esp. Ps. 114); 2) its use by the Jewish community especially at Passover; 3) the close similarity to Moses' experience in the Exodus; 4) the striking similarity in language (Ps. 118:14 with Ex. 15:2; 118:15,16 with Ex. 15:6,12; 118:28 with Ex. 15:2); and 5) the particularly pointed messianic significance as it relates to the redemption provided by Christ our Passover (1 Cor. 5:7). It seems reasonable to propose that Moses possibly wrote this beautiful psalm to look back in worship at the historical Passover and look ahead in wonder to the spiritual Passover in Christ.

I. Call to Worship (118:1-4)
II. Personal Praise (118:5-21)
III. Corporate Praise (118:22-24)
IV. Commitment to Worship (118:25-29)

118:1 Oh, give thanks. Cf. Pss. 105–107,136. The psalm ends in v. 29 as it began here.

118:2-4 Israel...Aaron...those who fear the LORD. See note on Ps. 115:9-11. The phrase "His mercy endures forever" is repeated in all 26 verses of Ps. 136 (cf. 118:1,29).

118:5-21 This section contains individual praise by the psalmist, possibly Moses.

118:5-9 The psalmist focuses intensely on the Lord.

118:6 Hebrews 13:6 quotes this verse; cf. Ps. 56:4,11.

118:10-14 It seems obvious that the leader of the nation is speaking here.

118:12 a fire of thorns. Dried thorns burn easily and quickly.

118:13 You pushed me. Refers to the psalmist's enemy.

118:14 These words are identical to Moses' words in Ex. 15:2.

118:15-18 A declaration of victory.

118:15,16 The right hand. Very similar to Moses' words in Ex. 15:6,12.

118:18 This possibly refers to the incident at Meribah where Moses struck the rock (cf. Num. 20:8-13).

118:19-21 The victory against overwhelming odds elicits from the psalmist a great desire to praise God.

118:19 gates of righteousness. Most likely a figurative reference, i.e., spiritual gates through which the righteous pass (cf. Ps. 100:4), rather than to the gates of the temple, e.g., 1 Chr. 9:23.

118:20 the gate. This points to the entryway which leads to the presence of the Lord. Jesus may have had this psalm in mind when he taught about "the narrow gate" in Matt. 7:13,14.

118:21 my salvation. The Lord has delivered the psalmist from otherwise certain defeat and death (cf. 118:14,15).

118:22-26 The NT quotes of vv. 22,23 and vv. 25,26 lend strong messianic significance here. If Moses is the author, then the NT writers use a perfect analogy in connecting this passage to Christ. For example, Moses said that God would raise up another prophet like himself (Deut. 18:15). Peter identified this other prophet as the Lord Jesus Christ (cf. Acts 3:11-26). So Moses is a legitimate, biblically recognized type of Christ.

Has become the chief cornerstone.
23 [3]This was the LORD's doing;
It is marvelous in our eyes.
24 This is the day the LORD has made;
We will rejoice and be glad in it.

25 Save now, I pray, O LORD;
O LORD, I pray, send now prosperity.
26 [x]Blessed is he who comes in the name of the LORD!
We have blessed you from the house of the LORD.
27 God is the LORD,
And He has given us [y]light;
Bind the sacrifice with cords to the horns of the altar.
28 You are my God, and I will praise You;

Meditations on the Excellencies of the Word of God

ℵ ALEPH

Blessed are the [1]undefiled in the way,
[a]Who walk in the law of the LORD!
2 Blessed are those who keep His testimonies,
Who seek Him with the [b]whole heart!
3 [c]They also do no iniquity;
They walk in His ways.
4 You have commanded us
To keep Your precepts diligently.
5 Oh, that my ways were directed
To keep Your statutes!
6 [d]Then I would not be ashamed,
When I look into all Your commandments.
7 I will praise You with uprightness of heart,
When I learn Your righteous judgments.
8 I will keep Your statutes;
Oh, do not forsake me utterly!

PSALM 119
1 [a] Ps. 128:1; [Ezek. 11:20; 18:17]; Mic. 4:2 [1] blameless
2 [b] Deut. 6:5; 10:12; 11:13; 13:3
3 [c] [1 John 3:9; 5:18]
6 [d] Job 22:26

118:22 stone...builders rejected...chief cornerstone. Peter identified the chief cornerstone in the NT as Christ (Acts 4:11; 1 Pet. 2:7). In the parable of the vineyard (Matt. 21:42; Mark 12:10-11; Luke 20:17), the rejected son of the vineyard owner is likened to the rejected stone which became the chief cornerstone. Christ was that rejected stone. Jewish leaders were pictured as builders of the nation. Now, this passage in v. 22 has a historical basis which is paralleled in its major features by analogy with the rejection of Christ who came to deliver/save the nation. Moses' experience, as a type of Christ, pictured Christ's rejection. On at least 3 occasions Moses (stone) was rejected by the Jews (builders) as their God sent the deliverer (chief cornerstone). For examples see Ex. 2:11-15, cf. Acts 7:35; Ex. 14:10-14,10; 16:1-3,11,12,20.

118:24 the day. Probably refers to 1) the day of deliverance and/or 2) the day the stone was made the chief cornerstone, which they now celebrate.

118:25 Save now, I pray. Transliterated from Heb., this becomes "Hosanna." These words were shouted by the crowd to Christ at the time of His triumphal entry to Jerusalem (Matt. 21:9; Mark 11:9,10; John 12:13). Days later they rejected Him because He did not provide military/political deliverance.

118:26 Blessed. Christ taught that the nation of Israel would not see Him again after his departure (ascension to heaven) until they could genuinely offer these words to Him at His second coming (cf. Matt. 23:39; Luke 13:35). In this historical text, it could have easily been sung by the Jews of Moses' day, especially at the end of the 40 years but prior to Moses' death (cf. Deut. 1–33). the house of the LORD. A phrase used in reference to the tabernacle of Moses (cf. Ex. 23:19; 34:26; Deut. 23:18) and later the temple (cf. 1 Kin. 6:1).

118:27 light. Similar to the Mosaic benediction of Num. 6:25. the altar. The altar of burnt offerings, which stood on the E in the court outside of the Holy Place (cf. Ex. 27:1-8; 38:1-7).

118:28 This bears a striking resemblance to Ex. 15:2.

118:29 A repetition of 118:1.

119:1-176 This longest of psalms and chapters in the Bible stands as the "Mt. Everest" of the Psalter. It joins Pss. 1 and 19 in exalting God's Word. The author is unknown for certain, although David, Daniel, or Ezra have reasonably been suggested. The psalmist apparently wrote while under some sort of serious duress (cf. vv. 23,42,51,61,67,71,78,86-87,95,110,121,134,139,143,146,153,154,157,161,169). This is an acrostic psalm (cf. Pss. 9,10,25,34,37,111,112,145) composed of 22 sections, each containing 8 lines. All 8 lines of the first section start with the first letter of the Heb. alphabet; thus the psalm continues until all 22 letters have been used in order. The 8 different terms referring to Scripture occurring throughout the psalm are: 1) law, 2) testimonies, 3) precepts, 4) statutes, 5) commandments, 6) judgments, 7) word, and 8) ordinances. From before sunrise to beyond sunset, the Word of God dominated the psalmist's life, e.g., 1) before dawn (v. 147), 2) daily (v. 97), 3) 7 times daily (v. 164), 4) nightly (vv. 55,148), and 5) at midnight (v. 62). Other than the acrostic form, Ps. 119 does not have an outline. Rather, there are many frequently recurring themes which will be delineated in the notes.

119:1,2 Blessed...Blessed. Similar to Ps. 1:1-3. Elsewhere, the psalmist declares that Scripture is more valuable than money (vv. 14,72,127,162) and brings more pleasure than the sweetness of honey (v. 103; cf. Prov. 13:13; 16:20; 19:16).

119:1 walk. An habitual pattern of living.

119:2 the whole heart. "Heart" refers to intellect, volition, and emotion (cf. vv. 7,10,11,32,34,36,58,69,70,80,111,112,145,161). Complete commitment or "whole heart" appears 6 times (vv. 2,10,34,58,69,145).

119:4 To keep...diligently. The psalmist passionately desired to obey God's Word (cf. vv. 4,8,30-32,44,45,51,55,57,59-61,63,67,68,74,83,87,101,102,106,110,112,129,141,157,167,168).

119:5,6 Oh. It is hard at times to distinguish where the psalmist's testimony ends and prayer begins (cf. vv. 29,36,58,133).

119:7 I will praise You. The Scriptures provoke singing, thanksgiving, rejoicing, and praise (cf. vv. 13,14,54,62,108,151,152,160,164,171,172,175). righteous. God's Word reflects the character of God, especially righteousness (cf. vv. 7,62,75,106,123,138,144,160,164,172).

119:9-11 Internalizing the Word is a believer's best weapon to defend against encroaching sin.

119:12 Teach me. The student/psalmist invites the Divine Author to be his instructor (cf. vv. 26,33,64,66,68,108,124,135) with the result that the psalmist did not turn aside from the Word (v. 102).

119:14 all riches. Cf. vv. 72,127.

119:15 meditate...contemplate. The psalmist reflected frequently on the Scriptures (cf. vv. 23,27,48,78,97,99,148).

119:16 I will delight. (cf. vv. 24,35,47,70,77,92,143,174). I will not forget. (cf. vv. 93,176).

119:18 Open my eyes. Perhaps this is the supreme prayer that a student of Scripture could speak since it confesses the student's inadequacy and the Divine Author's sufficiency (cf. vv. 98,99,105,130).

119:19 a stranger. As a citizen of God's kingdom, the psalmist was a mere sojourner in the kingdom of men.

119:20 breaks with longing. This expresses the psalmist's deep passion for the Word (cf. vv. 40,131).

119:21 the proud—the cursed. The psalmist identified with God's rebuke of those who disobey His Word (cf. vv. 53,104,113, 115,118,126).

119:24 my counselors. The chief means of biblical counseling is the application of God's Word by God's Spirit to the heart of a believer (cf. vv. 98-100).

119:25 Revive me. Revival is greatly desired by the psalmist, who realizes that God and God's Word alone are sufficient (cf. vv. 37,40, 50,88,93,107,149,154,156,159).

119:27 Make me understand. Philip asked the Ethiopian eunuch who was reading Is. 53, "Do you understand what you are reading?" (Acts 8:30). The psalmist understood God to be the best source of instruction (cf. vv. 34,73,100,125,144,169).

119:28 melts from heaviness. Refers to grief or sorrow over sin.

119:29,30 the way of lying...the way of truth. The psalmist desired to emulate the true character of God in contrast to the lying ways of Satan (cf. v. 163).

119:32 run the course. Reflects the energetic response of the psalmist to God's Word.

119:37 looking at worthless things. The psalmist desires to examine the things of greatest value, i.e., God's Word (cf. vv. 14,72,127).

38 [x]Establish Your word to Your servant,
Who is devoted to fearing You.
39 Turn away my reproach which I dread,
For Your judgments are good.
40 Behold, I long for Your precepts;
Revive me in Your righteousness.

ו WAW

41 Let Your mercies come also to me,
O LORD—
Your salvation according to Your word.
42 So shall I have an answer for him who [9]reproaches me,
For I trust in Your word.
43 And take not the word of truth utterly out of my mouth,
For I have hoped in Your ordinances.
44 So shall I keep Your law continually,
Forever and ever.
45 And I will walk [7]at [y]liberty,
For I seek Your precepts.
46 [z]I will speak of Your testimonies also before kings,
And will not be ashamed.
47 And I will delight myself in Your commandments,
Which I love.
48 My hands also I will lift up to Your commandments,
Which I love,
And I will meditate on Your statutes.

ז ZAYIN

49 Remember the word to Your servant,
Upon which You have caused me to hope.
50 This is my [a]comfort in my affliction,
For Your word has given me life.
51 The proud have me in great derision,
Yet I do not turn aside from Your law.
52 I remembered Your judgments of old,
O LORD,
And have comforted myself.
53 [b]Indignation has taken hold of me
Because of the wicked, who forsake Your law.
54 Your statutes have been my songs
In the house of my pilgrimage.
55 [c]I remember Your name in the night,
O LORD,
And I keep Your law.
56 This has become mine,
Because I kept Your precepts.

ח HETH

57 [d]You are my portion, O LORD;
I have said that I would keep Your words.
58 I entreated Your favor with my whole heart;
Be merciful to me according to Your word.
59 I [e]thought about my ways,
And turned my feet to Your testimonies.
60 I made haste, and did not delay
To keep Your commandments.
61 The cords of the wicked have bound me,
But I have not forgotten Your law.
62 [f]At midnight I will rise to give thanks to You,
Because of Your righteous judgments.
63 I am a companion of all who fear You,
And of those who keep Your precepts.
64 [g]The earth, O LORD, is full of Your mercy;
Teach me Your statutes.

ט TETH

65 You have dealt well with Your servant,
O LORD, according to Your word.
66 Teach me good judgment and [h]knowledge,
For I believe Your commandments.
67 Before I was [i]afflicted I went astray,
But now I keep Your word.
68 You are [j]good, and do good;
Teach me Your statutes.
69 The proud have [k]forged [2]a lie against me,
But I will keep Your precepts with my whole heart.
70 [l]Their heart is [3]as fat as grease,
But I delight in Your law.
71 It is good for me that I have been afflicted,
That I may learn Your statutes.
72 [m]The law of Your mouth is better to me
Than thousands of coins of gold and silver.

119:39 good. The very attributes of God (cf. v. 68) become the characteristics of Scripture: 1) trustworthy (v. 42); 2) true (vv. 43, 142,151,160); 3) faithful (v. 86); 4) unchangeable (v. 89); 5) eternal (vv. 90,152); 6) light (v. 105); and 7) pure (v. 140).

119:41 Your salvation. This reflects a repeated desire (cf. vv. 64,76,81,88,94,109,123,134,146,149,153,154,159,166).

119:43 hoped. The psalmist waits patiently for the working of God's Word (cf. vv. 49,74,81,114,147).

119:47,48 Which I love. The psalmist expresses his great affection for the Word (cf. vv. 97,113,127,140,159,163,165,167).

119:50 comfort. What the psalmist found in God's Word (cf. vv. 52,76,82).

119:68 You are good. The psalmist frequently appeals to the character of God: 1) His faithfulness (vv. 75,90); 2) His compassion (v. 77); 3) His righteousness (vv. 137,142); and 4) His mercy (v. 156).

119:70 fat as grease. Refers to the proud of v. 69 whose hearts are thick and thus the Word is unable to penetrate.

afflicted me.
76 Let, I pray, Your merciful kindness be for my comfort,
According to Your word to Your
servant.
77 Let Your tender mercies come to me,
that I may live;
For Your law is my delight.
78 Let the proud [q] be ashamed,
For they treated me wrongfully with
falsehood;
But I will meditate on Your precepts.
79 Let those who fear You turn to me,
Those who know Your testimonies.
80 Let my heart be blameless regarding
Your statutes,
That I may not be ashamed.

Yet I do not forget Your statutes.
84 [t] How many are the days of Your servant?
[u] When will You execute judgment on those who persecute me?
85 [v] The proud have dug pits for me,
Which is not according to Your law.
86 All Your commandments are faithful;
They persecute me [w] wrongfully;
Help me!
87 They almost made an end of me on
earth,
But I did not forsake Your precepts.
88 Revive me according to Your

89 [x] Forever, O LORD,
Your word [5] is settled in heaven.
90 Your faithfulness endures to all generations;
You established the earth, and it
[6] abides.
91 They continue this day according to [y] Your ordinances,
For all are Your servants.
92 Unless Your law had been my delight,
I would then have perished in my affliction.
93 I will never forget Your precepts,
For by them You have given me life.
94 I am Yours, save me;
For I have sought Your precepts.
95 The wicked wait for me to destroy
me,
But I will [7] consider Your testimonies.
96 [z] I have seen the consummation of all perfection,
But Your commandment is exceedingly broad.

מ MEM

97 Oh, how I love Your law!
[a] It is my meditation all the day.
98 You, through Your commandments, make me [b] wiser than my
enemies;
For they are ever with me.
99 I have more understanding than all my teachers,
[c] For Your testimonies are my meditation.
100 [d] I understand more than the [8] ancients,
Because I keep Your precepts.
101 I have restrained my feet from every evil way,
That I may keep Your word.
102 I have not departed from Your
judgments,
For You Yourself have taught me.
103 [e] How sweet are Your words to my taste,
Sweeter than honey to my mouth!
104 Through Your precepts I get
understanding;
Therefore I hate every false way.

119:73 Your hands. Figuratively refers to God's involvement in human life (Ps. 139:13-16).

119:75 You have afflicted me. The psalmist expresses his confidence in God's sovereignty over human affliction referred to in 119:67,71 (cf. Deut. 32:39; Is. 45:7; Lam. 3:37,38).

119:83 a wineskin in smoke. Just as smoke will dry out, stiffen, and crack a wineskin thus making it useless, so the psalmist's affliction has debilitated him.

119:89 Forever...settled in heaven. God's Word will not change and is always spiritually relevant.

119:98-100 The wisdom of God always far surpasses the wisdom of man.

119:105 lamp...light. God's Word provides illumination to walk without stumbling.

And a light to my path.
106 [g]I have sworn and confirmed
That I will keep Your righteous judgments.
107 I am afflicted very much;
Revive me, O LORD, according to Your word.
108 Accept, I pray, [h]the freewill offerings of my mouth, O LORD,
And teach me Your judgments.
109 [i]My life is continually [9]in my hand,
Yet I do not forget Your law.
110 [j]The wicked have laid a snare for me,
Yet I have not strayed from Your precepts.
111 [k]Your testimonies I have taken as a [1]heritage forever,
For they are the rejoicing of my heart.
112 I have inclined my heart to perform Your statutes Forever, to the very end.

ס SAMEK

113 I hate the [2]double-minded,
But I love Your law.
114 [l]You are my hiding place and my shield;
I hope in Your word.
115 [m]Depart from me, you evildoers,
For I will keep the commandments of my God!
116 Uphold me according to Your word, that I may live;
And do not let me [n]be ashamed of my hope.
117 [3]Hold me up, and I shall be safe,
And I shall observe Your statutes continually.
118 You reject all those who stray from Your statutes,
For their deceit is falsehood.
119 You [4]put away all the wicked of the earth [o]like [5]dross;
Therefore I love Your testimonies.
120 [p]My flesh trembles for fear of You,
And I am afraid of Your judgments.

And Your righteous word.
124 Deal with Your servant according to Your mercy,
And teach me Your statutes.
125 [r]I am Your servant;
Give me understanding,
That I may know Your testimonies.
126 It is time for You to act, O LORD,
For they have [7]regarded Your law as void.
127 [s]Therefore I love Your commandments
More than gold, yes, than fine gold!
128 Therefore all Your precepts concerning all things
I consider to be right;
I hate every false way.

119:155 Salvation...far. Salvation is clearly revealed in the Scripture and nowhere else with such perspicuity.

119:160 The entirety...truth. There is not a speck of untruth in Scripture.

119:161 in awe. Just as one stands in awe of God Himself.

119:163 I hate...lying. Cf. vv. 29,30.

119:164 Seven times. Seven is perhaps used in the sense of perfection/completion meaning here that a continual attitude of praise characterizes the psalmist's life.

119:173 Your hand. An anthropomorphic figure of speech.

119:176 I have gone astray. In spite of all that he has affirmed regarding Scripture's power in his life, the psalmist confesses that sin has not yet been eliminated from his life (cf. Rom. 7:15-25). Any decrease of sin in his life should be attributed to the suppression of unrighteousness by the working of God's Word (cf. vv. 9-11).

Seek Your servant,
For I do not forget Your commandments.

PSALM 120

Plea for Relief from Bitter Foes

A Song of Ascents.

In [a]my distress I cried to the LORD,
And He heard me.
2 Deliver my soul, O LORD, from lying lips
And from a deceitful tongue.

3 What shall be given to you,
Or what shall be done to you,
You false tongue?
4 Sharp arrows of the [1]warrior,
With coals of the broom tree!

5 Woe is me, that I dwell in [b]Meshech,
[c]That I dwell among the tents of Kedar!
6 My soul has dwelt too long
With one who hates peace.
7 I am for peace;
But when I speak, they are for war.

PSALM 122

The Joy of Going to the House of the LORD

A Song of Ascents. Of David.

I was glad when they said to me,
[a]"Let us go into the house of the LORD."
2 Our feet have been standing
Within your gates, O Jerusalem!

3 Jerusalem is built
As a city that is [b]compact together,
4 [c]Where the tribes go up,
The tribes of the LORD,
[1]To [d]the Testimony of Israel,

120:1-7 Psalms 120–136 comprise "The Great Hallel"; cf. "The Egyptian Hallel" (Pss. 113–118) and "The Final Hallel" (Pss. 145–150). Almost all these psalms (15 of 17) are "Songs of Ascent" (Pss. 120–134), which the Jewish pilgrims sang on their way up to Jerusalem (about 2,700 ft. in elevation) on 3 prescribed annual occasions. These feasts included: 1) Unleavened Bread; 2) Weeks/Pentecost/Harvest; and 3) Ingathering/Tabernacles/Booths. Cf. notes on Ex. 23:14-17; 34:22,23; Deut. 16:16. David authored 4 of these songs (Pss. 122,124, 131,133), Solomon one (Ps. 127), while 10 remain anonymous. When these psalms were assembled in this way is unknown. It appears that these songs begin far away from Jerusalem (cf. Meschech and Kedar in Ps. 120:5) and progressively move toward Jerusalem until the pilgrims have actually reached the temple and finished their worship (cf. Ps. 134:1,2). With regard to Ps. 120, the author and circumstances are unknown, although it seems as if the worshiper lives at a distance among unbelieving people (cf. Ps. 120:5).

I. Petition (120:1,2)
II. Indictment (120:3,4)
III. Lament (120:5-7)

120:2 lying lips...deceitful tongue. Cf. Pss. 109:2; 52:2-4; Rom. 3:9-18.

120:4 Sharp arrows...coals. Lies and false accusations are likened to 1) the pain/injury inflicted in battle by arrows, and 2) the pain of being burned with charcoal made from the wood of a broom tree (a desert bush that grows 10 to 15 ft. high).

120:5-7 The psalmist actually lives among pagans who do not embrace his desire for peace.

120:5 Meshech...Kedar. In Asia Minor (cf. Gen. 10:2) and Arabia (Is. 21:16) respectively.

121:1-8 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. The author and circumstances are unknown. This song strikes a strong note of assurance in 4 stages that God is help and protection to keep both Israel and individual believers safe from harm.

I. God—Helper (121:1,2)
II. God—Keeper (121:3,4)
III. God—Protector (121:5,6)
IV. God—Preserver (121:7,8)

121:1 hills. Most likely those in the distance as the pilgrim looks to Jerusalem, especially the temple.

121:2 My help. The psalmist does not look to the creation, but rather the Creator for his help.

121:3 be moved. Cf. Ps. 37:23,24.

121:3,4 slumber. Cf. the appearance of sleep, Ps. 44:23. The living God is totally unlike the pagan gods/dead idols (cf. 1 Kin. 18:27).

121:5 your right hand. This represents the place of human need.

121:6 by day...by night. Around the clock protection.

121:7,8 While this seems to have a temporal sense at first glance, there are indications that it looks beyond to eternal life, e.g., all evil (21:7) and forevermore (21:8).

122:1-9 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. David expressed his great joy over Jerusalem which he had settled by defeating the Jebusites (cf.

To give thanks to the name of the LORD.
5 [e]For thrones are set there for judgment,
The thrones of the house of David.

6 [f]Pray for the peace of Jerusalem:
"May they prosper who love you.
7 Peace be within your walls,
Prosperity within your palaces."
8 For the sake of my brethren and companions,
I will now say, "Peace be within you."
9 Because of the house of the LORD our God
I will [g]seek your good.

PSALM 123

Prayer for Relief from Contempt

A Song of Ascents.

Unto You [a]I lift up my eyes,
O You [b]who dwell in the heavens.
2 Behold, as the eyes of servants look to the hand of their masters,
As the eyes of a maid to the hand of her mistress,
[c]So our eyes look to the LORD our God,
Until He has mercy on us.

3 Have mercy on us, O LORD, have mercy on us!
For we are exceedingly filled with contempt.
4 Our soul is exceedingly filled
With the scorn of those who are at ease,
With the contempt of the proud.

The LORD the Defense of His People

A Song of Ascents. Of David.

"If it had not been the LORD who was on our [a]side,"
[b]Let Israel now say—
2 "If it had not been the LORD who was on our side,
When men rose up against us,
3 Then they would have [c]swallowed us alive,
When their wrath was kindled against us;
4 Then the waters would have overwhelmed us,
The stream would have [1]gone over our soul;
5 Then the swollen waters
Would have [2]gone over our soul."

6 Blessed be the LORD,
Who has not given us as prey to their teeth.
7 [d]Our soul has escaped [e]as a bird from the snare of the [3]fowlers;
The snare is broken, and we have escaped.
8 [f]Our help is in the name of the LORD,
[g]Who made heaven and earth.

2 Sam. 5) and bringing the tabernacle and ark for permanent residency (cf. 2 Sam. 6). David's desire/prayer was temporarily fulfilled in Solomon's reign (cf. 1 Kin. 4:24,25). It is ironic that Jerusalem, which means "city of peace," has been fought over through history more than any other city in the world. Prophetically, David's desire will not be experienced in its fullness until the Prince of Peace (Is. 9:6) comes to rule permanently (Zech. 14:9,11) as the promised Davidic King (cf. 2 Sam. 7:12,13,16; Ezek. 37:24-28).

I. Joy Over Worship (122:1-5)
II. Prayer Over Jerusalem (122:6-9)

122:1 the house of the LORD. A term used of the tabernacle (cf. Ex. 23:19; 34:26; 2 Sam. 12:20), not the temple that would be built later by Solomon.

122:2 standing within your gates. Sometime after the tabernacle and ark of the covenant had arrived in the city of David (2 Sam. 6). David's joy is that the ark has found its proper location.

122:3 compact together. The Jerusalem of David's day (Zion) was smaller than the enlargement by Solomon.

122:4 the Testimony of Israel. Refers to God's command to go up to Jerusalem 3 times annually (see note on Ps. 120:1-7).

122:6-9 A most appropriate prayer for a city whose name means peace and is the residency of the God of peace (Is. 9:6; Rom. 15:33; Heb. 13:20). Compare prayers for the peace of Israel (Pss. 125:5; 128:6) and other psalms which exalt Jerusalem (Pss. 128,132,147). History would prove that bad times had to come (Pss. 79,137) before the best of times (Rev. 21,22).

123:1-4 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. The author and situation are unknown.

I. Exalting God (123:1,2)
II. Enlisting God's Mercy (123:3,4)

123:1 my eyes. The progression from Ps. 121:1. dwell in... heavens. Cf. Pss. 11:4; 103:19; 113:5.

123:2 servants...masters. The psalmist reasons from the lesser to the greater (human to the divine; earthly to the heavenly). One's eyes should be on the Lord to mercifully meet one's needs.

123:3,4 contempt...scorn. From unbelieving pagans, perhaps the Samaritans (cf. Neh. 1:3; 2:19).

124:1-8 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. A Davidic psalm which generically recalls past deliverances, possibly the Exodus (v. 5).

I. God's Protection (124:1-5)
II. God's Provision (124:6-8)

124:1,2 God has preserved Israel from extinction.

124:2 When men rose up. A general statement which could cover the history of Israel from Abraham to David.

124:4,5 waters...stream...swollen waters. The Red Sea crossing (Ex. 14) and/or the Jordan crossing (Josh. 3) are pictured.

124:8 Our help. Cf. Ps. 121:1,2.

PSALM 125

The LORD the Strength of His People

A Song of Ascents.

Those who trust in the LORD
Are like Mount Zion,
Which cannot be moved, but abides
forever.
2 As the mountains surround Jerusalem,
So the LORD surrounds His people
From this time forth and forever.

3 For [a]the scepter of wickedness shall not rest
On the land allotted to the righteous, Lest the righteous reach out their hands to iniquity.

4 Do good, O LORD, to those who are
good,
And to those who are upright in their hearts.

5 As for such as turn aside to their
[b]crooked ways,
The LORD shall lead them away
With the workers of iniquity.

[c]Peace be upon Israel!

PSALM 126

A Joyful Return to Zion

A Song of Ascents.

When [a]the LORD brought back [1]the captivity of Zion,
[b]We were like those who dream.
2 Then [c]our mouth was filled with laughter,
And our tongue with singing.
Then they said among the [2]nations,
"The LORD has done great things for
them."
3 The LORD has done great things for
us,
And we are glad.

4 Bring back our captivity, O LORD,
As the streams in the South.

5 [d]Those who sow in tears
Shall reap in joy.
6 He who continually goes [3]forth
weeping,
Bearing [4]seed for sowing,
Shall doubtless come again [5]with [e]rejoicing,
Bringing his sheaves with him.

PSALM 127

Laboring and Prospering with the LORD

A Song of Ascents. Of Solomon.

Unless the LORD builds the house,
They labor in vain who build it;
Unless [a]the LORD guards the city,
The watchman stays awake in vain.
2 It is vain for you to rise up early,
To sit up late,
To [b]eat the bread of sorrows;
For so He gives His beloved sleep.

PSALM 127
1 [a] [Ps. 121:3-5]
2 [b] [Gen. 3:17, 19]

125:1-5 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. The author and circumstances are unknown, although the times of Hezekiah (2 Kin. 18:27-35) or Nehemiah (Neh. 6:1-19) have been suggested.

I. The Security of Jerusalem (125:1-3)
II. The Spiritual Purity of Jerusalem (125:4,5)

125:1 Mount Zion. The SW mount representing Jerusalem and an emblem of permanence, supported by God's covenant promise.

125:1,2 forever. More than a temporal promise is involved here.

125:2 His people. Those who trust in the Lord (cf. v. 1).

125:3 scepter of wickedness. Assyrian rule if in Hezekiah's time, or Medo-Persian rule if in Nehemiah's day. the land. This would be the land promised to Abraham (Gen. 15:18-21).

125:4,5 The outcome of the upright (v. 4) is contrasted with the crooked (v. 5). The true Israel is distinguished from the false (cf. Rom. 2:28,29; 9:6,7).

125:5 lead them away. Eternal rather than temporal judgment seems to be in view. Peace. God will one day institute a lasting covenant of peace (cf. Ezek. 37:26).

126:1-6 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. The author and occasion are not named in the psalm. However, v. 1 points to a time of return from captivity. Most likely this refers to the Babylonian Captivity, from which there were 3 separate returns: 1) under Zerubbabel in Ezra 1–6 (ca. 538 B.C.); 2) under Ezra in Ezra 7–10 (ca. 458 B.C.); and 3) under Nehemiah in Neh. 1,2 (ca. 445 B.C.). The occasion could be 1) when the foundation for the second temple had been laid (cf. Ezra 3:8-10), or 2) when the Feast of Tabernacles was reinstated (cf. Neh. 8:13-14). This psalm is similar to Ps. 85 which rejoices over Israel's return from Egypt, but contrasts with Ps. 137 which laments the pain of the Babylonian captivity.

I. The Testimony of Restoration (126:1-3)
II. The Prayer for Riches (126:4)
III. The Wisdom of Righteousness (126:5,6)

126:1 those who dream. The actual experience of liberation, so unexpected, seemed more like a dream than reality.

126:2,3 The LORD has done. First recognized by the surrounding nations (v. 2) and then the returning remnant (v. 3).

126:4 Bring back. A prayer to restore the nation's fortunes at their best. streams in the South. The arid region S of Beersheba (called the Negev) which is utterly dry in the summer, but whose streams quickly fill and flood with the rains of spring. In this manner, the psalmist prays that Israel's fortunes will rapidly change from nothing to everything.

126:5,6 sow...reap. By sowing tears of repentance over sin, the nation reaped the harvest of a joyful return to the land of Israel.

127:1-5 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. The author is Solomon (cf. Eccl. 12:10), but the occasion is unknown. The major message of God's

3 Behold, [c]children are a heritage from the LORD,
[d]The fruit of the womb is a [e]reward.
4 Like arrows in the hand of a warrior,
So are the children of one's youth.
5 [f]Happy is the man who has his quiver full of them;
[g]They shall not be ashamed,
But shall speak with their enemies in the gate.

Blessings of Those Who Fear the LORD

A Song of Ascents.

Blessed [a]is every one who fears the LORD,
Who walks in His ways.

2 [b]When you eat the [1]labor of your hands,
You shall be happy, and it shall be [c]well with you.

All around your table.

Who fears the LORD.

And may you see the good of Jerusalem

PSALM 129

Song of Victory over Zion's Enemies

A Song of Ascents.

"Many a time they have [a]afflicted [1]me from [b]my youth,"
[c]Let Israel now say—
2 "Many a time they have afflicted me from my youth;
Yet they have not prevailed against me.
3 The plowers plowed on my back;
They made their furrows long."
4 The LORD is righteous;
He has cut in pieces the cords of the wicked.

5 Let all those who hate Zion
Be put to shame and turned back.
6 Let them be as the [d]grass on the housetops,
Which withers before it grows up,
7 With which the reaper does not fill his hand, being central to and sovereign in life sounds much like portions of Solomon's Ecclesiastes (cf. Eccl. 2:24,25; 5:18-20; 7:13,14; 9:1). Psalms 112 and 128 also develop a strong message on the family.

I. God's Sovereignty in Everyday Life (127:1,2)
II. God's Sovereignty in Family Life (127:3-5)

127:1,2 God's sovereignty is seen in 3 realms: 1) building a house, 2) protecting a city, and 3) earning a living. In all 3 instances, the sovereign intention of God is far more crucial to the outcome than man's efforts. Otherwise, a man's endeavor is in vain (cf. Eccl. 1:2; 12:8).

127:2 the bread of sorrows. Food earned with painful labor.

127:3-5 The same principle of God's sovereignty applies to raising a family.

127:3 heritage...reward. Children are a blessing from the Lord. There are overtones of God's promise to Abraham to make his offspring like the stars of heaven and dust of the earth (Gen. 15:5; 13:16).

127:4,5 As arrows are indispensable for a warrior to succeed in battle, so children are invaluable as defenders of their father and mother in time of war or litigation. The more such defenders, the better.

128:1-6 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. The author and occasion are unknown. Psalms 112 and 127 also address issues of the home.

I. The Basics of Fearing the Lord (128:1,4)
II. The Blessings of Fearing the Lord (128:2,3,5,6)
  A. In the Present (128:2,3)
  B. In the Future (128:5,6)

128:1 who fears the LORD. See notes on Prov. 1:7 and 9:10. Psalm 112:1-6 also develops this theme. A good working definition is provided by the parallel line, "who walks in His ways." Fathers (Ps. 128:1,4), mothers (Prov. 31:30), and children (Ps. 34:11) are to fear the Lord. This psalm may have been the basis for Jesus' illustration of the two builders (cf. Matt. 7:24-27).

128:2,3 Four blessings are recounted: 1) provisions, 2) prosperity, 3) reproducing partner, and 4) flourishing progeny.

128:3 olive plants. Shoots grow off of the main root of an olive tree to reproduce.

128:5,6 Two realms of blessing are mentioned: 1) personal blessing and 2) national blessing.

128:6 children's children. Cf. Pss. 103:17; 112:2; Prov. 13:22; 17:6 on grandchildren. This is a prayer for prosperity for God's people.

129:1-8 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. The author and occasion are not specified. However, v. 4 indicates a release from captivity, most likely the Babylonian captivity.

I. Israel's Freedom Celebrated (129:1-4)
II. Israel's Foe Imprecated (129:5-8)

129:1 afflicted. From living in Egypt (ca. 1875–1445 B.C.), to enduring the Babylonian Captivity (ca. 605–538 B.C.), Israel had enjoyed little rest from her enemies.

129:2 prevailed. As the Lord had promised Abraham (cf. Gen. 12:1-3).

129:3 plowed on my back. A farming analogy used to describe the deep, but non-fatal, wounds inflicted on Israel by her enemies.

129:4 cut...the cords. These cords tied the ox to the plow, and refer to God ending the persecution (cf. Pss. 121,124).

129:5-8 A 3-part imprecatory prayer: 1) be put to shame and defeat (v. 5), 2) be few and short lived (vv. 6,7), and 3) be without God's blessing (v. 8).

129:6 grass...the housetops. Grass with shallow roots, which quickly dies with the first heat depicts the wicked.

Nor he who binds sheaves, his [2]arms.
8 Neither let those who pass by them say,
[e]"The blessing of the LORD be upon you;
We bless you in the name of the LORD!"

PSALM 130

Waiting for the Redemption of the LORD

A Song of Ascents.

Out [a]of the depths I have cried to You, O LORD;
2 Lord, hear my voice!
Let Your ears be attentive
To the voice of my supplications.

3 [b]If You, LORD, should [1]mark iniquities,
O Lord, who could [c]stand?
4 But there is [d]forgiveness with You,
That [e]You may be feared.

5 [f]I wait for the LORD, my soul waits,
And [g]in His word I do hope.
6 [h]My soul waits for the Lord
More than those who watch for the morning—
Yes, more than those who watch for the morning.

7 [i]O Israel, hope in the LORD;
For [j]with the LORD there is mercy,
And with Him is abundant redemption.
8 And [k]He shall redeem Israel
From all his iniquities.

PSALM 131

Simple Trust in the LORD

A Song of Ascents. Of David.

LORD, my heart is not [1]haughty,
Nor my eyes [2]lofty.
[a]Neither do I [3]concern myself with great matters,
Nor with things too [4]profound for me.

2 Surely I have calmed and quieted my soul,
[b]Like a weaned child with his mother;
Like a weaned child is my soul within me.

3 [c]O Israel, hope in the LORD
From this time forth and forever.

PSALM 132

The Eternal Dwelling of God in Zion

A Song of Ascents.

LORD, remember David
And all his afflictions;
2 How he swore to the LORD,

PSALM 131

2 [b] [Matt. 18:3; 1 Cor. 14:20]
3 [c] [Ps. 130:7]

130:1-8 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. The author and occasion are not mentioned. This is the sixth of 7 penitential psalms (cf. Pss. 6,32,38, 51,102,143).

I. Urgent Prayer of the Psalmist (130:1,2)
II. Magnified Forgiveness of God (130:3,4)
III. Waiting Patience of the Psalmist (130:5,6)
IV. Unique Hope of Israel (130:7,8)

130:1 Out of the depths. A figurative expression of severe distress.

130:3,4 The psalmist basks in the glow of God's never ending forgiveness (cf. Ps. 143:2).

130:5 in His word I do hope. The psalmist expresses a certain hope since God's Word cannot fail (cf. Matt. 5:18; Luke 16:17; John 10:35).

130:6 watch for the morning. Probably refers to shepherds with a night watch which ends with the sun's rising.

130:7 hope in the LORD. The psalmist's hope in God's Word (v. 5) parallels Israel's hope in the Lord.

130:8 He shall redeem Israel. This can be taken in both a historical and a soteriological sense (cf. Matt. 1:21; Luke 1:68; Rom. 9–11).

131:1-3 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. David is the author, but the circumstances are not apparent.

I. A Personal Testimony (131:1,2)
II. A National Exhortation (131:3)

131:1 haughty...lofty. God gives grace to the humble (cf. Prov. 3:34; 16:5; James 4:6). David expresses the greatest of God's ways (cf. Ps. 139:6; Rom. 11:33-36).

131:2 Like a weaned child. David has been trained to trust God to supply his needs as a weaned child trusts his mother.

131:3 David exhorts the nation to forever embrace his own personal hope in the Lord.

132:1-18 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. The author and occasion are not specifically mentioned. However, the bringing of the tabernacle to Jerusalem in David's time seems likely (cf. 2 Sam. 6:12-19 with 132:6-9). Further, Solomon's quote of vv. 8-10 in his dedication of the temple (2 Chr. 6:41-42) makes that time probable. Psalm 132 has strong historical implications with regard to the Davidic Covenant (cf. 2 Sam. 7:10-14; 16; Pss. 89; 132:10,11) and pronounced messianic and millennial overtones (Ps. 132:12-18). Essentially, this psalm contains the nation's prayers for David's royal descendants which look ahead, even to Messiah.

I. Israel's First Prayer (132:1)
II. David's Vow to God (132:2-9)
III. Israel's Second Prayer (132:10)
IV. God's Vow to David (132:11-18)

132:1-9 This section focuses on David fulfilling his vow to God to bring the tabernacle to rest in Jerusalem and thus his descendants are to be remembered by the Lord.

132:1 his afflictions. This seems to be inclusive from the times of being pursued by Saul (cf. 1 Sam. 18–26) through God's judgment because David numbered the people (cf. 2 Sam. 24). Perhaps it focuses on David's greatest affliction, which came from not having the ark in Jerusalem.

132:2-5 Although this specific vow is not recorded elsewhere in Scripture, the historical circumstances can be found in 2 Sam. 6; 1 Chr. 13–16.

[a]And vowed to [b]the Mighty One of Jacob:
3 "Surely I will not go into the chamber of my house,
Or go up to the comfort of my bed;
4 I will [c]not give sleep to my eyes
Or slumber to my eyelids,
5 Until I [d]find a place for the LORD,
A dwelling place for the Mighty One of Jacob."

6 Behold, we heard of it [e]in Ephrathah;
[f]We found it [g]in the fields of [1]the woods.
7 Let us go into His tabernacle;
[h]Let us worship at His footstool.
8 [i]Arise, O LORD, to Your resting place,
You and [j]the ark of Your strength.
9 Let Your priests [k]be clothed with righteousness,
And let Your saints shout for joy.

10 For Your servant David's sake,
Do not turn away the face of Your [2]Anointed.

11 [l]The LORD has sworn in truth to David;
He will not turn from it:
"I will set upon your throne [m]the [3]fruit of your body.
12 If your sons will keep My covenant
And My testimony which I shall teach them,
Their sons also shall sit upon your throne forevermore."

13 [n]For the LORD has chosen Zion;
He has desired it for His [4]dwelling place:
14 "This [o]is My resting place forever;
Here I will dwell, for I have desired it.
15 [p]I will abundantly bless her [5]provision;
I will satisfy her poor with bread.
16 [q]I will also clothe her priests with salvation,
[r]And her saints shall shout aloud for joy.
17 [s]There I will make the [6]horn of David grow;
[t]I will prepare a lamp for My [7]Anointed.
18 His enemies I will [u]clothe with shame,
But upon Himself His crown shall flourish."

PSALM 133

1 [a] Gen. 13:8; Heb. 13:1

132:2 the Mighty One of Jacob. A title last used by Jacob in Gen. 49:24.

132:6-9 The ark was brought from Kiriath Jearim to Jerusalem (cf. 2 Sam. 6; 1 Chr. 13,15).

132:6 heard of it in Ephrathah. Probably referring to David's younger days in Ephrathah, which was an earlier name for Bethlehem (cf. Ruth 1:1,2; 4:11), when he and his family had heard of the ark but had not seen it. found it in the fields of the woods. After the ark of the covenant was returned by the Philistines in the days of Saul (cf. 1 Sam. 7:1,2), it rested at the house of Abinadab in Kiriath Jearim until David decided to move to Jerusalem (cf. 2 Sam. 6; 1 Chr. 13–16).

132:7 His footstool. God's throne is in heaven (cf. Is. 66:1) and His footstool is on earth (cf. Ps. 99:5), figuratively speaking. Thus to worship at the ark of the covenant on earth would be, so to speak, at God's footstool.

132:8 Arise, O LORD. Since the Holy Place contained the bread of the presence (Ex. 25:30; 1 Sam. 25:6), the psalmist refers to moving the ark to Jerusalem.

132:9 Describes the proper inward attire for the priests who would oversee the move.

132:10-18 This section focuses on God's fulfilling His vow to David to perpetuate the Davidic throne and thus his descendants are to be remembered by the Lord.

132:10 A prayer that God's promise and favor would not be withheld from David's descendants on the throne of Judah. Your Anointed. As David had been anointed king (1 Sam. 16:13), so a greater King had been anointed, namely Christ, but not yet seated on the throne (cf. Is. 61:1; Luke 4:18,19).

132:11,12 God's covenant with David (2 Sam. 23:5) is summarized here from 2 Sam. 7:11-16 and 1 Kin. 9:1-9.

132:12 This conditional aspect could interrupt the occupation of the throne, but it would not invalidate God's promise to one day seat the Messiah as king forever (cf. Ezek. 37:24-28).

132:13-18 This section looks forward prophetically to the day that Jesus Christ, the son of David and the son of Abraham (Matt. 1:1), will be installed by God on the throne of David in the city of God to rule and bring peace on earth, especially Israel (cf. Pss. 2,89,110; Is. 25,26; Jer. 23:5,6; 33:14-18; Ezek. 37; Dan. 2:44,45; Zech. 14:1-11).

132:13 Zion. Refers to earthly Jerusalem.

133:1-3 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. The occasion for this Davidic psalm is unknown. Perhaps it was prompted by the nation's coming together in unity at his coronation (cf. 2 Sam. 5:1-3; 1 Chr. 11:1-3). Its teaching on fraternal unity would have been instructive to David's sons, who were antagonistic towards one another, e.g., Absalom murdered Ammon (2 Sam. 13:28-33) and Adonijah tried to preempt Solomon's right to the throne (1 Kin. 1:5-53).

I. Praise of Unity (133:1)
II. Pictures of Unity (133:2,3)
  A. Oil on Aaron's head (133:2)
  B. Dew on Mt. Zion (133:3)

133:1 brethren. Those whose lineage can be traced to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. unity. While national unity might be on the surface, the foundation must always be spiritual unity. This would be the emphasis here, since these songs were sung by Jewish pilgrims traveling to the 3 great feasts.

2 It is like the precious oil upon the head,
Running down on the beard,
The beard of Aaron,
Running down on the edge of his garments.
3 It is like the dew of [b]Hermon,
Descending upon the mountains of Zion;
For [c]there the LORD commanded the blessing—
Life forevermore.

PSALM 134

Praising the LORD in His House at Night

A Song of Ascents.

Behold, bless the LORD,
All you servants of the LORD,
Who by night stand in the house of the LORD!
2 [a]Lift up your hands in the sanctuary,
And bless the LORD.

3 The LORD who made heaven and earth
Bless you from Zion!

PSALM 135

Praise to God in Creation and Redemption

Praise the LORD!
Praise the name of the LORD;
[a]Praise Him, O you servants of the LORD!
2 [b]You who stand in the house of the LORD,
In [c]the courts of the house of our God,
3 Praise the LORD, for [d]the LORD is good;
Sing praises to His name, [e]for it is pleasant.
4 For [f]the LORD has chosen Jacob for Himself,
Israel for His [1]special treasure.

5 For I know that [g]the LORD is great,
And our Lord is above all gods.
6 [h]Whatever the LORD pleases He does,
In heaven and in earth,
In the seas and in all deep places.
7 [i]He causes the [2]vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth;
[j]He makes lightning for the rain;
He brings the wind out of His [k]treasuries.

8 [l]He [3]destroyed the firstborn of Egypt,
[4]Both of man and beast.
9 [m]He sent signs and wonders into the midst of you, O Egypt,
[n]Upon Pharaoh and all his servants.
10 [o]He defeated many nations
And slew mighty kings—

10 [o] Num. 21:24; Ps. 136:17

133:2 oil upon. Most likely refers to the anointing of Aaron as High-Priest of the nation (cf. Ex. 29:7; 30:30), which would picture a rich spiritual blessing as a first priority.

133:3 the dew of Hermon. Mt. Hermon, a 9,200 ft. peak at the extreme northern portion of Palestine, provided the major water supply for the Jordan River by its melting snow. This reference could be to the Jordan water supply or figuratively to the actual prevalent dew of Hermon being hypothetically transported to Zion. Either way, this pictures a refreshing material blessing as a second, lesser priority. there. Seems to refer to Zion. Life forevermore. cf. Ps. 21:4-6.

134:1-3 See note on Ps. 120:1-7. This final song in the "songs of ascent" seems to picture the worshipers exhorting the priests to continued faithfulness (134:1,2) while the priests bestow a final blessing on the faithful as the feast ends and the pilgrims depart Zion for home (134:3).

I. Exhortation to Faithfulness (134:1,2)
II. Solicitation of Blessing (134:3)

134:1 servants. Levites who ministered to God's people. by night. The burnt offerings continued day and night (cf. Lev. 6:8-13), as did the Levitical service (cf. 1 Chr. 9:33). house of the LORD. Refers to the tabernacle up to the time of David (Ex. 23:19; 2 Sam. 12:20) and to the temple from Solomon on (1 Kin. 9:10).

134:2 Lift up your hands. A common OT praise practice (cf. Pss. 28:2; 63:4; 119:48; 141:2; Lam. 2:19), which was understood figuratively in the NT (1 Tim. 2:8).

134:3 The LORD. The Creator blesses His human creation. Bless you from Zion. Since God's presence resided in the tabernacle/temple on Zion, from a human perspective it would be the source of divine blessing.

135:1-21 Psalms 135 and 136 conclude the "Great Hallel." The composer and occasion of Ps. 135 are unknown but likely post-Exilic. Psalms 135:15-20 is strikingly similar to Ps. 115:4-11.

I. Call to Praise (135:1,2)
II. Causes for Praise (135:3-18)
  A. God's Character (135:3)
  B. God's Choice of Jacob (135:4)
  C. God's Sovereignty in Creation (135:5-7)
  D. God's Deliverance of Israel (135:8-12)
  E. God's Unique Nature (135:13-18)
III. Concluding Praise (135:19-21)

135:1,2 servants...stand...in the courts. Addressed to the priests and Levites (cf. 134:1).

135:3 the LORD is good. A consistent theme in the psalms (cf. Pss. 16:2; 25:8; 34:8; 73:1; 86:5; 100:5; 106:1; 107:1; 118:1; 136:1; 145:9).

135:4 the LORD has chosen. Refers to God's unique selection of the offering of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob to enjoy God's covenant blessing (cf. Deut. 7:6-8; 14:2; Ps. 105:6; Is. 41:8,9; 43:20; 44:1; 49:7). His special treasure. Cf. Deut. 26:18,19. See note on Ps. 148:14.

135:5 the LORD is great. A common superlative to distinguish the true God of Israel from the false gods of the other nations (cf. Deut. 7:21; Pss. 48:1; 77:13; 86:10; 95:3; 104:1; 145:3; 147:5).

135:7 vapors to ascend. Refers to the water cycle of earthly evaporation and condensation in the clouds.

135:8-12 In reference to God's deliverance of Israel from Egypt to the Promised Land.

135:8 destroyed. The final plague in Egypt (cf. Ex. 11).

135:9 signs and wonders. Cf. Deut. 26:8; 29:3; 34:11.

11 Sihon king of the Amorites,
Og king of Bashan,
And [p]all the kingdoms of Canaan—
12 [q]And gave their land as a [5]heritage,
A heritage to Israel His people.

13 [r]Your name, O LORD, endures forever,
Your fame, O LORD, throughout all generations.
14 [s]For the LORD will judge His people,
And He will have compassion on His servants.

15 [t]The idols of the nations are silver and gold,
The work of men's hands.
16 They have mouths, but they do not speak;
Eyes they have, but they do not see;
17 They have ears, but they do not hear;
Nor is there any breath in their mouths.
18 Those who make them are like them;
So is everyone who trusts in them.

19 [u]Bless the LORD, O house of Israel!
Bless the LORD, O house of Aaron!
20 Bless the LORD, O house of Levi!
You who fear the LORD, bless the LORD!
21 Blessed be the LORD [v]out of Zion,
Who dwells in Jerusalem!

PSALM 136

Thanksgiving to God for His Enduring Mercy

1 Oh, [a]give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
[b]For His mercy endures forever.
2 Oh, give thanks to [c]the God of gods!
For His mercy endures forever.
3 Oh, give thanks to the Lord of lords!
For His mercy endures forever:
4 To Him [d]who alone does great wonders,
For His mercy endures forever;
5 [e]To Him who by wisdom made the heavens,
For His mercy endures forever;
6 [f]To Him who laid out the earth above the waters,
For His mercy endures forever;
7 [g]To Him who made great lights,
For His mercy endures forever—
8 [h]The sun to rule by day,
For His mercy endures forever;
9 The moon and stars to rule by night,
For His mercy endures forever.

10 [i]To Him who struck Egypt in their firstborn,
For His mercy endures forever;
11 [j]And brought out Israel from among them,
For His mercy endures forever;
12 [k]With a strong hand, and with [1]an outstretched arm,
For His mercy endures forever;
13 [l]To Him who divided the Red Sea in two,
For His mercy endures forever;
14 And made Israel pass through the midst of it,
For His mercy endures forever;
15 [m]But overthrew Pharaoh and his army in the Red Sea,
For His mercy endures forever;
16 [n]To Him who led His people through the wilderness,
For His mercy endures forever;
17 [o]To Him who struck down great kings,
For His mercy endures forever;
18 [p]And slew famous kings,
For His mercy endures forever—
19 [q]Sihon king of the Amorites,
For His mercy endures forever;
20 [r]And Og king of Bashan,
For His mercy endures forever—
21 [s]And gave their land as a [2]heritage,

135:12 gave their land...to Israel. As promised to Abraham (cf. Gen. 15:18-21).

135:13-18 The living God of Israel (vv. 13-14) stands decidedly superior to the imaginary gods of the nations (vv. 15-18).

135:18 make them...like them. Both are worthless and will know nothing of eternal life.

135:19-20 The categories 1) Israel, 2) Aaron, 3) Levi, and 4) you who fear the Lord, refer to the nation as a whole (Israel), the priesthood (Aaron and Levi), and the true believers (who fear the Lord).

136:1-26 This psalm, extremely similar to Ps. 135, closes the Great Hallel. Unique to all the psalms, Ps. 136 uses the antiphonal refrain "For His mercy endures forever" after each stanza, perhaps spoken by the people in responsive worship. The author and occasion remain unknown.

I. Call to Praise (136:1-3)
II. Causes for Praise (136:4-22)
  A. God's Creation (136:4-9)
  B. God's Deliverance (136:10-15)
  C. God's Care and Gift (136:16-22)
III. Concluding Praise (136:23-26)

136:1 He is good. See note on Ps. 135:3.

136:4-9 Cf. Gen. 1.

136:10-15 Cf. Ex. 11–14.

136:16-22 Cf. Num. 14–36.

136:19 Sihon. See note on Ps. 135:11.

136:20 Og. See note on Ps. 135:11.

For His mercy endures forever;
22 A heritage to Israel His servant,
For His mercy endures forever.

23 Who [t]remembered us in our lowly state,
For His mercy endures forever;
24 And [u]rescued us from our enemies,
For His mercy endures forever;
25 [v]Who gives food to all flesh,
For His mercy endures forever.

26 Oh, give thanks to the God of heaven!
For His mercy endures forever.

PSALM 137

Longing for Zion in a Foreign Land

By the rivers of Babylon,
There we sat down, yea, we wept
When we remembered Zion.
2 We hung our harps
Upon the willows in the midst of it.
3 For there those who carried us away captive asked of us a song,
And those who [a]plundered us requested mirth,
Saying, "Sing us one of the songs of Zion!"

4 How shall we sing the LORD's song
In a foreign land?
5 If I forget you, O Jerusalem,
Let my right hand forget its skill!
6 If I do not remember you,
Let my [b]tongue cling to the roof of my mouth—
If I do not exalt Jerusalem
Above my chief joy.

7 Remember, O LORD, against [c]the sons of Edom
The day of Jerusalem,
Who said, [1]"Raze it, raze it,
To its very foundation!"

8 O daughter of Babylon, [d]who are to be destroyed,
Happy the one [e]who repays you as you have served us!
9 Happy the one who takes and [f]dashes
Your little ones against the rock!

PSALM 138

The LORD's Goodness to the Faithful

A Psalm of David.

I will praise You with my whole heart;
[a]Before the gods I will sing praises to You.
2 [b]I will worship [c]toward Your holy temple,
And praise Your name
For Your lovingkindness and Your truth;
For You have [d]magnified Your word above all Your name.
3 In the day when I cried out, You answered me,

23 [t] Gen. 8:1; Deut. 32:36; Ps. 113:7

PSALM 138

1 [a] Ps. 119:46
2 [b] Ps. 28:2 [c] 1 Kin. 8:29 [d] Is. 42:21

136:23 lowly state. Cf. Deut. 7:7; 9:4,5; Ezek. 16:1-5.

137:1-9 A psalm, explicitly about the Babylonian captivity of Judah. Its author and date are unknown.

I. Lamentations (137:1-4)
II. Conditions (137:5,6)
III. Imprecations (137:7-9)

137:1 the rivers of Babylon. The Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. we wept. They even wept when the exile was over and the second temple was being built (cf. Ezra 3:12), so deep was their sorrow. Zion. The dwelling place of God on earth (Pss. 9:11; 76:2) which was destroyed by the Babylonians (2 Chr. 36:19; Pss. 74:6-8; 79:1; Is. 64:10, 11; Jer. 52:12-16; Lam. 2:4,6-9; Mic. 3:12).

137:2 hung our harps. In captivity, there was no use for an instrument of joy (cf. Is. 24:8).

137:3 those who carried us away. The Babylonians taunted the Jews to sing of their once beautiful, but now destroyed, Zion. the songs of Zion. Cf. Pss. 46,48,76,84,87,122.

137:4 How shall we sing. A rhetorical question whose answer is, "We can't!" the LORD's song. A unique way to refer to divine inspiration of the psalms.

137:5,6 Their refusal to sing was not caused by either of 2 unthinkable situations: 1) they forgot Jerusalem; 2) they did not have Jerusalem as their chief joy. The worst of punishments should be imposed if any one or a combination of these factors were to become true.

137:7 the sons of Edom. Edomites had been allied with the Babylonians in the fall and destruction of Jerusalem (cf. Is. 21:11,12; Jer. 49:7-12; Lam. 4:21; Ezek. 25:12-14; 35:1-15; Obad. 11-14). The psalmist only prayed for that which the Lord had always promised. The day of Jerusalem. The day Jerusalem was destroyed. See notes on Ps. 137:1.

137:8 destroyed. Cf. Is. 13:1–14:23,46,47; Jer. 50–51; Hab. 1:11; 2:6-17.

137:8,9 Happy the one. For these will be God's human instruments used to carry out His prophesied will for the destruction of Babylon.

138:1-8 The next 8 psalms were written by David (Pss. 138–145) and are his last in the Psalter. The occasion is unknown, although it's possible that David wrote them in response to the Davidic Covenant (cf. 2 Sam. 7:12-14,16).

I. Individual Praise (138:1-3)
II. International Praise (138:4,5)
III. Invincible Praise (138:6-8)

138:1 the gods. This can refer to either pagan royalty (cf. Ps. 82:1) and/or to the idols they worship.

138:2 holy temple. Refers to the tabernacle since Solomon's temple has not yet been built. Your word above...Your name. Most likely this means that God's latest revelation ("Your word") exceeded all previous revelation about God. This would be in concert with David's prayer (2 Sam. 7:18-29) after he received the Davidic promise (2 Sam. 7:12-14,16).

And made me bold with strength in my soul.

4 [e]All the kings of the earth shall praise You, O LORD,
When they hear the words of Your mouth.
5 Yes, they shall sing of the ways of the LORD,
For great is the glory of the LORD.
6 [f]Though the LORD is on high,
Yet [g]He regards the lowly;
But the proud He knows from afar.

7 [h]Though I walk in the midst of trouble,
You will revive me;
You will stretch out Your hand
Against the wrath of my enemies,
And Your right hand will save me.
8 [i]The LORD will [1]perfect that which concerns me;
Your mercy, O LORD, endures forever;
[j]Do not forsake the works of Your hands.

PSALM 139

God's Perfect Knowledge of Man

For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

O LORD, [a]You have searched me and known me.
2 [b]You know my sitting down and my rising up;
You [c]understand my thought afar off.
3 [d]You [1]comprehend my path and my lying down,
And are acquainted with all my ways.
4 For there is not a word on my tongue,
But behold, O LORD, [e]You know it altogether.

4 [e] [Heb. 4:13]

5 You have [2]hedged me behind and before,
And laid Your hand upon me.
6 [f]Such knowledge is too wonderful for me;
It is high, I cannot attain it.

7 [g]Where can I go from Your Spirit?
Or where can I flee from Your presence?
8 [h]If I ascend into heaven, You are there;
[i]If I make my bed in [3]hell, behold, You are there.
9 If I take the wings of the morning,
And dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea,
10 Even there Your hand shall lead me,
And Your right hand shall hold me.
11 If I say, "Surely the darkness shall [4]fall on me,"
Even the night shall be light about me;
12 Indeed, [j]the darkness [5]shall not hide from You,
But the night shines as the day;
The darkness and the light are both alike to You.

13 For You formed my inward parts;
You [6]covered me in my mother's womb.
14 I will praise You, for [7]I am fearfully and wonderfully made;
Marvelous are Your works,
And that my soul knows very well.
15 [k]My [8]frame was not hidden from You,
When I was made in secret,
And skillfully wrought in the lowest parts of the earth.
16 Your eyes saw my substance, being yet unformed.

138:4 All the kings. In contrast to Ps. 2:1-3, cf. Pss. 68:32; 72:11,12; 96:1,3,7,8; 97:1; 98:4; 100:1; 102:15; 148:11.

138:6,7 David sees himself as "the lowly" and his enemies as "the proud."

138:8 perfect. Refers to God's work in David's life, especially the Davidic Covenant (cf. 2 Sam. 7:12-14,16).

139:1-24 This intensely personal Davidic psalm expresses the psalmist's awe that God knew him, even to the minutest detail. David might have remembered the Lord's words, "...the LORD looks at the heart" (1 Sam. 16:7). The exact occasion is unknown.

I. God's Omniscience (139:1-6)
II. God's Omnipresence (139:7-12)
III. God's Omnipotence (139:13-18)
IV. David's Obeisance (139:19-24)

139:1-6 God knows everything about David.

139:1 searched me. As it has been in David's life, he prays later that it will continue to be (cf. vv. 23,24). David understands that nothing inside of him can be hidden from God.

139:5 hedged me. God used circumstances to limit David's actions.

139:6 too wonderful. Cf. Ps. 131:1; Rom. 11:33-36.

139:7-12 God was always watching over David and thus it was impossible to do anything over which God is not a spectator.

139:7 Your Spirit. A reference to the Holy Spirit (cf. Pss. 51:11; 143:10). See "The Anointing of the Holy Spirit in the OT" at Ps. 51.

139:9 the wings of the morning. In conjunction with "the uttermost parts of the sea," David uses this literary figure to express distance.

139:13-18 God's power is magnified in the development of human life before birth.

139:13 formed...covered. By virtue of the divinely designed period of pregnancy, God providentially watches over the development of the child while yet in the mother's womb.

139:15 secret...lowest parts. Used figuratively of the womb.

139:16 Your book. This figure of speech likens God's mind to a book of remembrance. none of them. God sovereignly ordained David's life before he was conceived.

And in Your book they all were written,
The days fashioned for me,
When as yet there were none of them.

17 [l]How precious also are Your thoughts to me, O God!
How great is the sum of them!
18 If I should count them, they would be more in number than the sand;
When I awake, I am still with You.

19 Oh, that You would [m]slay the wicked, O God!
[n]Depart from me, therefore, you [g]bloodthirsty men.
20 For they [o]speak against You wickedly;
[l]Your enemies take Your name in vain.
21 [p]Do I not hate them, O LORD, who hate You?
And do I not loathe those who rise up against You?
22 I hate them with [2]perfect hatred;
I count them my enemies.

23 [q]Search me, O God, and know my heart;
Try me, and know my anxieties;
24 And see if there is any wicked way in me,
And [r]lead me in the way everlasting.

PSALM 140

Prayer for Deliverance from Evil Men

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

Deliver me, O LORD, from evil men;
Preserve me from violent men,
2 Who plan evil things in their hearts;
[a]They continually gather together for war.
3 They sharpen their tongues like a serpent;
The [b]poison of asps is under their lips. Selah

4 [c]Keep me, O LORD, from the hands of the wicked;
Preserve me from violent men,
Who have purposed to make my steps stumble.
5 The proud have hidden a [d]snare for me, and cords;
They have spread a net by the wayside;
They have set traps for me. Selah

6 I said to the LORD: "You are my God;
Hear the voice of my supplications, O LORD.
7 O GOD the Lord, the strength of my salvation,
You have [1]covered my head in the day of battle.
8 Do not grant, O LORD, the desires of the wicked;
Do not further his wicked scheme,
[e]Lest they be exalted. Selah

9 "As for the head of those who surround me,
Let the evil of their lips cover them;
10 [f]Let burning coals fall upon them;
Let them be cast into the fire,
Into deep pits, that they rise not up again.
11 Let not a slanderer be established in the earth;
Let evil hunt the violent man to overthrow him."

12 I know that the LORD will [g]maintain
The cause of the afflicted,
And justice for the poor.
13 Surely the righteous shall give thanks to Your name;

2 [a]Ps. 56:6
3 [b]Ps. 58:4; Rom. 3:13; James 3:8
4 [c]Ps. 71:4
5 [d]Ps. 35:7; Jer. 18:22
7 [1]sheltered
8 [e]Deut. 32:27
10 [f]Ps. 11:6
12 [g]1 Kin. 8:45; Ps. 9:4

139:17,18 David expresses his amazement at the infinite mind of God compared to the limited mind of man, especially as it relates to the physiology of human life (cf. vv. 13-16).

139:22 perfect hatred. David has no other response to God's enemies than that of hatred, i.e., he is not neutral towards them nor will he ever ally himself with them.

139:23,24 In light of vv. 19-22, David invites God to continue searching his heart to root out any unrighteousness, even when it is expressed against God's enemies.

139:24 the way everlasting. David expresses his desire/expectation of eternal life (see note in Phil. 1:6).

140:1-13 Davidic authorship is stated here, but the circumstances are unknown. It is like the psalms earlier in the Psalter that feature the usual complaint, prayer, and confident hope of relief.

I. Concerning David (140:1-5)
  A. "Deliver Me" (140:1-3)
  B. "Protect Me" (140:4,5)
II. Concerning David's Enemies (140:6-11)
  A. "Thwart Them" (140:6-8)
  B. "Punish Them" (140:9-11)
III. Concerning the Lord (140:12,13)

140:1-3 The emphasis here is deliverance from evil plans.

140:3 asps. A type of snake (cf. Rom. 3:13), signifying cunning and venom.

140:4,5 The emphasis here is protection from being captured.

140:6-8 The emphasis here is upon God's thwarting the plans of David's enemy.

140:7 covered my head. God has figuratively been David's helmet in battle.

140:9-11 The emphasis here is upon God's turning their evil plans back on them in judgment.

140:12,13 David expresses unshakeable confidence in the character of God and the outcome for the righteous (cf. Pss. 10:17,18; 74:21; 82:3,4).

The upright shall dwell in Your presence.

PSALM 141

Prayer for Safekeeping from Wickedness

A Psalm of David.

LORD, I cry out to You;
Make haste to me!
Give ear to my voice when I cry out to You.
2 Let my prayer be set before You [a]as incense,
[b]The lifting up of my hands as [c]the evening sacrifice.

3 Set a guard, O LORD, over my [d]mouth;
Keep watch over the door of my lips.
4 Do not incline my heart to any evil thing,
To practice wicked works
With men who work iniquity;
[e]And do not let me eat of their delicacies.

5 [f]Let the righteous strike me;
It shall be a kindness.
And let him rebuke me;
It shall be as excellent oil;
Let my head not refuse it.

For still my prayer is against the deeds of the wicked.
6 Their judges are overthrown by the sides of the [1]cliff,
And they hear my words, for they are sweet.
7 Our bones are scattered at the mouth of the grave,
As when one plows and breaks up the earth.
8 But [g]my eyes are upon You, O GOD the Lord;
In You I take refuge;
[2]Do not leave my soul destitute.
9 Keep me from [h]the snares they have laid for me,
And from the traps of the workers of iniquity.
10 [i]Let the wicked fall into their own nets,
While I escape safely.

PSALM 142

A Plea for Relief from Persecutors

A [a]Contemplation[1] of David. A Prayer [b]when he was in the cave.

I cry out to the LORD with my voice;
With my voice to the LORD I make my supplication.
2 I pour out my complaint before Him;
I declare before Him my trouble.

3 When my spirit [2]was [c]overwhelmed within me,
Then You knew my path.
In the way in which I walk
They have secretly [d]set a snare for me.
4 Look on my right hand and see,
For there is no one who acknowledges me;
Refuge has failed me;
No one cares for my soul.

5 I cried out to You, O LORD:
I said, "You are my refuge,
My portion in the land of the living.
6 [3]Attend to my cry,
For I am brought very low;
Deliver me from my persecutors,
For they are stronger than I.

PSALM 142
title [a] Ps. 32:title [b] 1 Sam. 22:1; Ps. 57:title [1] Heb. Maschil
3 [c] Ps. 77:3 [d] Ps. 141:9 [2] Lit. fainted
6 [3] Give heed

141:1-10 Another psalm of lament by David whose occasion is unknown. This psalm is comprised of 4 prayers that have been combined into one.

I. Prayer for God's Haste (141:1,2)
II. Prayer for Personal Righteousness (141:3-5)
III. Prayer for Justice (141:6,7)
IV. Prayer for Deliverance (141:8-10)

141:2 incense...evening sacrifice. David desired that his prayers and stretching forth for God's help (Pss. 68:31; 77:2) be as disciplined and regular as the offering of incense (Ex. 30:7,8) and burnt offerings (Ex. 29:38,39) in the tabernacle.

141:3,4 David prayed that God would protect him from the kind of evil that characterized his own enemy.

141:5 David acknowledged that God would use other righteous men to answer his prayer in vv. 3,4 (cf. Prov. 9:8; 19:25; 27:6; 27:17).

141:6 judges...overthrown. That the leaders of the wicked would be punished by being thrown over a cliff (cf. Luke 4:28,29) is at the heart of David's prayer (cf. v. 5). my words...sweet. In the sense that David's words were true.

141:7 Our bones. The basis on which the judges were thrown over the cliff—they had first done this to the righteous (cf. 142:10).

141:10 fall into their own nets. David prays that the wicked will be destroyed by their own devices.

142:1-7 Under the same circumstances as Ps. 57 (according to the superscription), David recounted his desperate days hiding in the cave of Adullam (1 Sam. 22:1) while Saul sought him to take his life (1 Sam. 18–24). It appears that David's situation, for the moment at least, seems hopeless without God's intervention. Psalm 91 provides the truths that bring the solution.

I. Cry of David (142:1,2)
II. Circumstances of David (142:3,4)
III. Confidence of David (142:5-7)

142:4 no one. It appears to David that he has been totally abandoned.

142:5 You are my refuge. A frequent claim in the psalms (cf. Pss. 7:1; 11:1; 16:1; 18:2; 25:20; 31:1; 46:1; 57:1; 61:3; 62:7; 91:2; 94:22; 141:8; 143:9; 144:2).

7 Bring my soul out of prison,
That I may [e]praise Your name;
The righteous shall surround me,
For You shall deal bountifully with me."

PSALM 143

An Earnest Appeal for Guidance and Deliverance

A Psalm of David.

Hear my prayer, O LORD,
Give ear to my supplications!
In Your faithfulness answer me,
And in Your righteousness.
2 Do not enter into judgment with Your servant,
[a]For in Your sight no one living is righteous.

3 For the enemy has persecuted my soul;
He has crushed my life to the ground;
He has made me dwell in [1]darkness,
Like those who have long been dead.
4 [b]Therefore my spirit is overwhelmed within me;
My heart within me is distressed.

5 [c]I remember the days of old;
I meditate on all Your works;
I [2]muse on the work of Your hands.
6 I spread out my hands to You;
[d]My soul longs for You like a thirsty land. Selah

7 Answer me speedily, O LORD;
My spirit fails!
Do not hide Your face from me,
[e]Lest I [3]be like those who [4]go down into the pit.

9 Deliver me, O LORD, from my enemies;
[5]In You I take shelter.
10 [i]Teach me to do Your will,
For You are my God;
[j]Your Spirit is good.
Lead me in [k]the land of uprightness.

11 [l]Revive me, O LORD, for Your name's sake!

PSALM 144

A Song to the LORD Who Preserves and Prospers His People

A Psalm of David.

Blessed be the LORD my Rock,
[a]Who trains my hands for war,
And my fingers for battle—
2 My lovingkindness and my fortress,
My high tower and my deliverer,
My shield and the One in whom I take refuge,
Who subdues [1]my people under me.

3 [b]LORD, what is man, that You take knowledge of him?

PSALM 144

1 [a] 2 Sam. 22:35; Ps. 18:34
2 [1] So with MT, LXX, Vg.; Syr., Tg. the peoples (cf. 18:47)
3 [b] Job 7:17; Ps. 8:4; Heb. 2:6

142:7 prison. The cave in which David was hidden.

143:1-12 No specific background is known for this Davidic psalm which is the final penitential psalm (cf. Pss. 6,32,38,51,102,130).

I. David's Passion (143:1,2)
II. David's Predicament (143:3-6)
II. David's Plea (143:7-12)

143:1 faithfulness...righteousness. David fervently appeals to God's character.

143:2 no one living is righteous. David admits his own unrighteousness and realizes that if he is to be delivered for righteousness sake, (cf. 143:11) it will be because of God's righteousness, not his own.

143:6 a thirsty land. As a drought-struck land yearns for life-giving water, so persecuted David longs for his life-giving Deliverer.

143:7 Your face. An anthropomorphism picturing God's attention to the psalmist's plight.

143:10 Your Spirit. Refers to the Holy Spirit (cf. Pss. 51:11; 139:7). See note on Ps. 51:11.

143:11 Your name's sake. David appeals to God's benefit and honor, not his own (cf. Pss. 23:3; 31:3; 79:9).

143:12 Your servant. To attack God's servant is to attack God, thus bringing God to the rescue.

144:1-15 This Davidic psalm, in part (144:1-8), is very similar to Ps. 18:1-15. It could be that this psalm was written under the same kind of circumstances as the former, i.e., on the day that the Lord delivered him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul (cf. 2 Sam. 22:1-18).

I. God's Greatness (144:1,2)
II. Man's Insignificance (144:3,4)
III. God's Power (144:5-8)
IV. Man's Praise (144:9,10)
V. God's Blessing (144:11-15)

144:1 my Rock. David's foundation is God—solid and unshakeable (cf. Pss. 19:14; 31:3; 42:9; 62:2; 71:3; 89:26; 92:15; 95:1). trains my hands for war. David lived in the days of Israel's theocracy, not the NT church. God empowered the king to subdue His enemies.

144:2 God provided 6 benefits: 1) lovingkindness, 2) a fortress, 3) a high tower, 4) a deliverer, 5) a shield, and 6) a refuge.

144:3,4 Eternal God is contrasted with short-lived man (cf. Ps. 8:4).

Or the son of man, that You are mindful of him?
4 [c]Man is like a breath;
[d]His days are like a passing shadow.

5 [e]Bow down Your heavens, O LORD,
and come down;
[f]Touch the mountains, and they shall smoke.
6 [g]Flash forth lightning and scatter
them;
Shoot out Your arrows and destroy
them.
7 Stretch out Your hand from above;
Rescue me and deliver me out of great waters,
From the hand of foreigners,
8 Whose mouth [h]speaks [2]lying words,
And whose right hand is a right hand
of falsehood.

9 I will [i]sing a new song to You, O God;
On a harp of ten strings I will sing
praises to You,
10 The One who gives [3]salvation to
kings,
[j]Who delivers David His servant
From the deadly sword.

11 Rescue me and deliver me from the hand of foreigners,
Whose mouth speaks lying words,
And whose right hand is a right hand
of falsehood—
12 That our sons may be [k]as plants grown up in their youth;
That our daughters may be as [4]pillars,
Sculptured in palace style;
13 That our barns may be full,
Supplying all kinds of produce;
That our sheep may bring forth thousands
And ten thousands in our fields;
14 That our oxen may be well laden;
That there be no [5]breaking in or going
out;
That there be no outcry in our streets.
15 [l]Happy are the people who are in such a state;
Happy are the people whose God is the LORD!

PSALM 145

A Song of God's Majesty and Love

[a]A Praise of David.

I will [1]extol You, my God, O King;
And I will bless Your name forever
and ever.
2 Every day I will bless You,
And I will praise Your name forever
and ever.
3 [b]Great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised;
And [c]His greatness is [2]unsearchable.

4 [d]One generation shall praise Your works to another,
And shall declare Your mighty acts.
5 [3]I will meditate on the glorious splendor of Your majesty,
And [4]on Your wondrous works.
6 Men shall speak of the might of Your awesome acts,
And I will declare Your greatness.
7 They shall [5]utter the memory of Your great goodness,
And shall sing of Your righteousness.

8 [e]The LORD is gracious and full of compassion,
Slow to anger and great in mercy.
9 [f]The LORD is good to all,
And His tender mercies are over all
His works.

10 [g]All Your works shall praise You,
O LORD,
And Your saints shall bless You.
11 They shall speak of the glory of Your kingdom,

10 [g] Ps. 19:1

144:5-8 Highly figurative language is used to portray God as the heavenly warrior who comes to fight on earth on behalf of David against God's enemies.

144:9 a new song. A song of victory that celebrates deliverance/salvation (cf. Pss. 33:3; 40:3; 96:1; 98:1; 144:9; 149:1; Rev. 5:9; 14:3).

144:11 Cf. vv. 7,8.

144:12 sons...daughters. God's rescue of David's kingdom from foreigners would bring blessing on families.

144:13,14 barns...sheep...oxen. Blessing would also come to the agricultural efforts.

144:14 no breaking in...going out...outcry. Peace, not strife, would characterize the land.

145:1-21 David penned this most exquisite conclusion to his 75 psalms in the Psalter. Here, the king of Israel extols and celebrates the King of Eternity for who He is, what He has done, and what He has promised. Not only rich in content, this psalm also duplicates a majestic acrostic design using the 22 letters of the Heb. alphabet. Psalm 145 begins the great crescendo of praise that completes the psalter and might be called "The Final Hallel" (Pss. 145–150).

I. Commitment to Praise (145:1,2)
II. God's Awesome Greatness (145:3-7)
III. God's Great Grace (145:8-13)
IV. God's Unfailing Faithfulness (145:14-16)
V. God's Unblemished Righteousness (145:17-20)
VI. Recommitment/Exhortation to Praise (145:21)

145:1 my God, O King. David, king of Israel, recognized God as his sovereign (cf. Pss. 5:2; 84:3).

145:11-13 kingdom. David refers here to the broadest use of kingdom in Scripture—i.e., God the eternal king ruling over all from before creation and eternally thereafter (cf. Ps. 10:16; Dan. 4:3; 7:27).

And talk of Your power,
12 To make known to the sons of men
His mighty acts,
And the glorious majesty of His
kingdom.
13 [h]Your kingdom is an everlasting
kingdom,
And Your dominion endures
throughout all [6]generations.

14 The LORD upholds all who fall,
And [i]raises up all who are bowed
down.
15 [j]The eyes of all look expectantly to
You,
And [k]You give them their food in due
season.
16 You open Your hand
[l]And satisfy the desire of every living thing.

17 The LORD is righteous in all His ways,
Gracious in all His works.
18 [m]The LORD is near to all who call upon
Him,
To all who call upon Him [n]in truth.
19 He will fulfill the desire of those who fear Him;
He also will hear their cry and save
them.
20 [o]The LORD preserves all who love Him,
But all the wicked He will destroy.
21 My mouth shall speak the praise of
the LORD,
And all flesh shall bless His holy name
Forever and ever.

13 [c] Dan. 2:44; 4:3; [1 Tim. 1:17 2 Pet. 1:11] [6] So with MT, Tg.; DSS, LXX, Syr., Vg. add The LORD is faithful in all His words, And holy in all His works

PSALM 146

The Happiness of Those Whose Help Is the LORD

Praise [1] the LORD!

[a]Praise the LORD, O my soul!
2 [b]While I live I will praise the LORD;
I will sing praises to my God while I have my being.

3 [c]Do not put your trust in princes,
Nor in [2]a son of man, in whom there is no [3]help.
4 [d]His spirit departs, he returns to his
earth;
In that very day [e]his plans perish.

5 [f]Happy is he who has the God of Jacob for his help,
Whose hope is in the LORD his God,
6 [g]Who made heaven and earth,
The sea, and all that is in them;
Who keeps truth forever,
7 [h]Who executes justice for the oppressed,
[i]Who gives food to the hungry.
[j]The LORD gives freedom to the prisoners.

8 [k]The LORD opens the eyes of the blind;
[l]The LORD raises those who are bowed
down;
The LORD loves the righteous.
9 [m]The LORD watches over the strangers;
He relieves the fatherless and widow;
[n]But the way of the wicked He [4]turns upside down.

10 [o]The LORD shall reign forever—
Your God, O Zion, to all generations.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 147

Praise to God for His Word and Providence

Praise [1] the LORD!
For [a]it is good to sing praises to our
God;
[b]For it is pleasant, and [c]praise is beautiful.

1 [a] Ps. 92:1 [b] Ps. 135:3 [c] Ps. 33:1 [1] Heb. Hallelujah

145:14-16 The emphasis is on God's common grace to all of humanity (cf. Matt. 5:45; Luke 6:35; Acts 14:17; 17:25).

145:20 the wicked...destroy. The wicked await an eternity of living forever, away from the presence of God in the lake of fire (cf. 2 Thess. 1:9; Rev. 20:11-15).

146:1-10 From this psalm to the conclusion of the Psalter, each psalm begins and ends with "Praise the LORD" (Pss. 146–150). Neither the composer nor the occasions are known. Psalm 146 appears similar in content to Pss. 113,145.

I. Commitment to Praise (146:1,2)
II. Misplaced Trust (146:3,4)
III. Blessed Hope (146:5-10)

146:1 O my soul. Cf. the beginnings and ends of Pss. 103,104.

146:3,4 Do not put...trust. This could be 1) a general principle, 2) a reference to the people wanting a human king like the nations (1 Sam. 8:5), or 3) Judah's later dependence on foreign kings for protection (2 Kin. 16:7-9).

146:5 the God of Jacob. Also the God of Abraham and Isaac, thus the recipients of God's blessing through the Abrahamic Covenant (cf. Gen. 12:1-3; Ps. 144:15).

146:6 Man's trust is best placed in the Creator of heaven and earth and the Revealer of all truth.

146:7-9b God righteously and mercifully reaches out to those in need.

146:9c the way of the wicked. Cf. Pss. 1:4-6; 145:20.

146:10 shall reign forever. In contrast to man who perishes (cf. 146:4), the truths of 146:5-9 are not faddish or temporal but rather eternal (cf. Rev. 22:5).

147:1-20 See note on Ps. 146:1-10. This seems to be a post-Exilic psalm (cf. 147:2,3) which might have been used to celebrate the rebuilt walls of Jerusalem (cf. Ps. 147:2,13; Neh. 12:27,43). The hard questions that God posed to Job (Job 38–41) and Israel (Is. 40), the

2 The LORD [d]builds up Jerusalem;
[e]He gathers together the outcasts of Israel.
3 [f]He heals the brokenhearted
And binds up their [2]wounds.
4 [g]He counts the number of the stars;
He calls them all by name.
5 [h]Great is our Lord, and [i]mighty in power;
[j]His understanding is infinite.
6 [k]The LORD lifts up the humble;
He casts the wicked down to the ground.

7 Sing to the LORD with thanksgiving;
Sing praises on the harp to our God,
8 [l]Who covers the heavens with clouds,
Who prepares rain for the earth,
Who makes grass to grow on the mountains.
9 [m]He gives to the beast its food,
And [n]to the young ravens that cry.

10 [o]He does not delight in the strength of the horse;
He takes no pleasure in the legs of a man.
11 The LORD takes pleasure in those who fear Him,
In those who hope in His mercy.

12 Praise the LORD, O Jerusalem!
Praise your God, O Zion!
13 For He has strengthened the bars of your gates;
He has blessed your children within you.
14 [p]He makes peace in your borders,
And [q]fills you with [3]the finest wheat.

17 He casts out His hail like [4]morsels;
Who can stand before His cold?
18 [t]He sends out His word and melts them;
He causes His wind to blow, and the waters flow.

19 [u]He declares His word to Jacob,
[v]His statutes and His judgments to Israel.
20 [w]He has not dealt thus with any nation;

PSALM 148

Praise to the LORD from Creation

[1]Praise the LORD!

Praise the LORD from the heavens;
Praise Him in the heights!
2 Praise Him, all His angels;
Praise Him, all His hosts!
3 Praise Him, sun and moon;
Praise Him, all you stars of light!
4 Praise Him, [a]you heavens of heavens,
And [b]you waters above the heavens!

5 Let them praise the name of the LORD,
For [c]He commanded and they were created.
6 [d]He also established them forever and ever;

6 [d] Ps. 89:37; [Jer. 31:35, 36; 33:20, 25]

psalmist here turns into declarations worthy of praise. Verses 1,7,12 each introduce a stanza of praise in this 3-verse hymn. Verses 2,3,19,20 specifically speak of God's involvement with Israel.

I. Praise the Lord—Part 1 (147:1-6)
II. Praise the Lord—Part 2 (147:7-11)
III. Praise the Lord—Part 3 (147:12-20)

147:2 builds up Jerusalem. Ezra and Nehemiah chronicle this portion of Israel's history.

147:3 heals the brokenhearted. Cf. Ps. 137 (brokenhearted) with Ps. 126 (healed).

147:6 Each part of the psalm ends with a contrast—here the humble and the wicked (cf. 147:10,11,19,20).

147:13 He has strengthened. Refers to a means of defense, most likely in reference to the rebuilding of Jerusalem's walls in Nehemiah's time.

147:15-18 Describes the cold weather that Jerusalem can experience. God sovereignly oversees the normal and the extraordinary.

147:19,20 The psalmist acknowledges God's unique election of Israel from among all the nations (cf. Gen. 12:1-3; Ex. 19:5,6; Deut. 7:6-8; 14:2; 26:18,19; 2 Sam. 7:23,24; Ezek. 16:1-7).

148:1-14 See note on Ps. 146:1-10. The author and background for this psalm, which calls for all of God's creation to praise Him, is unknown. There is a connection between the creation praising God and His involvement with Israel.

I. Heaven's Praise (148:1-6)
  A. Who? (148:1-4)
  B. Why? (148:5,6)
II. Earth's Praise (148:7-14)
  A. Who? (148:7-12)
  B. Why? (148:13,14)

148:1-4 A representative sample of God's creation in the skies and heavens.

148:2 all His hosts. Another term for angels.

148:4 waters above the heavens. Cf. Gen. 1:7.

148:5,6 He emphatically ascribes creation to God alone.

148:6 Jeremiah 31:35-37; 33:20-22 might be in mind in the sense that the certain, fixed order of creation was a witness to God's unbreakable covenants with Abraham and David.

He made a decree which shall not pass away.

7 Praise the LORD from the earth,
[e]You great sea creatures and all the depths;
8 Fire and hail, snow and clouds;
Stormy wind, fulfilling His word;
9 [f]Mountains and all hills;
Fruitful trees and all cedars;
10 Beasts and all cattle;
Creeping things and flying fowl;
11 Kings of the earth and all peoples;
Princes and all judges of the earth;
12 Both young men and maidens;
Old men and children.

13 Let them praise the name of the LORD,
For His [g]name alone is exalted;
His glory is above the earth and heaven.
14 And He [h]has exalted the [2]horn of His people,
The praise of [i]all His saints—
Of the children of Israel,
[j]A people near to Him.

[3]Praise the LORD!

PSALM 149

Praise to God for His Salvation and Judgment

Praise[1] the LORD!

[a]Sing to the LORD a new song,
And His praise in the assembly of saints.

2 Let Israel rejoice in their Maker;
Let the children of Zion be joyful in their [b]King.
3 [c]Let them praise His name with the dance;
Let them sing praises to Him with the timbrel and harp.
4 For [d]the LORD takes pleasure in His people;
[e]He will beautify the [2]humble with salvation.

5 Let the saints be joyful in glory;
Let them [f]sing aloud on their beds.
6 Let the high praises of God be in their mouth,
And [g]a two-edged sword in their hand,
7 To execute vengeance on the nations,
And punishments on the peoples;
8 To bind their kings with chains,
And their nobles with fetters of iron;
9 [h]To execute on them the written judgment—
[i]This honor have all His saints.

[3]Praise the LORD!

PSALM 150

Let All Things Praise the LORD

148:8 fulfilling His word. Another way of saying that God sovereignly oversees weather.

148:13,14 Two reasons are given for earth's praise: 1) His name alone is exalted in heaven (148:13) and 2) He has exalted Israel on earth (148:14).

148:14 the horn. Refers in general to the strength and prosperity of the nation, which became the cause of praise for Israel. This suggests that Israel enjoyed better times than in the past, e.g., during David's and Solomon's reigns or after returning from the Babylonian Captivity. A people near to Him. Cf. also "My chosen people" (Is. 43:20) and "His special treasure" (Ps. 135:4).

149:1-9 See note on Ps. 146:1-10. The composer and occasion for this psalm are unknown.

I. Israel's Praise of God (149:1-5)
II. Israel's Punishment of the Nations (149:6-9)

149:1 a new song. A song of testimony concerning salvation (cf. 149:4). the assembly. The gathering of the nation for worship.

149:3 the dance. Either individual or group, perhaps like David when he brought the Tabernacle to Jerusalem (2 Sam. 6:15-16). the timbrel. A tambourine-like instrument which accompanied dancing and singing (cf. Ex. 15:20; 1 Sam. 18:6). See note on 2 Sam. 6:15,16.

149:6-9 It would appear that this section is eschatological in nature and looks 1) to the Millennium when all nations and peoples will acknowledge Christ as king and 2) to Jerusalem as His royal capital (cf. Ezek. 28:25,26; Joel 3:9-17; Mic. 5:4-15).

149:9 the written judgment. Another way of saying "According to the Scriptures," as God has prophesied the subjection of the nations. This honor. The privilege of carrying out God's will.

150:1-6 See note on Ps. 146:1-10. This concluding psalm fitly caps the Psalter and the Final Hallel (Pss. 145-150) by raising and then answering some strategic questions about praise: 1) where? (150:1); 2) what for? (150:2); 3) with what? (150:3-5); and 4) who? (150:6). The author and occasion are unknown.

I. Place of Praise (150:1)
II. Points of Praise (150:2)
III. Proper Means of Praise (150:3-5)
IV. Practitioners of Praise (150:6)

150:1 sanctuary...mighty firmament. "Sanctuary" most likely refers to the temple in Jerusalem, so the sense would be "Praise God on earth and in heaven."

150:2 Praise should be for 1) what God has done and 2) who God is.

3 Praise Him with the sound of the [3]trumpet;
Praise Him with the lute and harp!
4 Praise Him with the timbrel and dance;
Praise Him with stringed instruments and flutes!
5 Praise Him with loud cymbals;
Praise Him with clashing cymbals!
6 Let everything that has breath praise
the LORD.
[4]Praise the LORD!

3 [3] cornet
6 [4] Heb. Hallelujah

150:3 lute. A harp-like stringed instrument which was plucked with the finger rather than a plectrum (pick) like the harp.

150:4 timbrel and dance. See note on Ps. 149:3.

150:6 everything. All of God's living creation. This is the fitting conclusion to Book Five of the Psalms (Pss. 107–150) and to the entire Psalter.

The Book of PROVERBS

Title

The title in the Hebrew Bible is "The Proverbs of Solomon" (1:1), as also in the Greek Septuagint (LXX). Proverbs pulls together the most important 513 of the over 3,000 proverbs pondered by Solomon (1 Kin. 4:32; Eccl. 12:9), along with some proverbs of others whom Solomon likely influenced. The word "proverb" means "to be like," thus Proverbs is a book of comparisons between common, concrete images and life's most profound truths. Proverbs are simple, moral statements (or illustrations) that highlight and teach fundamental realities about life. Solomon sought God's wisdom (2 Chr. 1:8-12) and offered "pithy sayings" designed to make men contemplate 1) the fear of God and 2) living by His wisdom (1:7; 9:10). The sum of this wisdom is personified in the Lord Jesus Christ (1 Cor. 1:30).

Author and Date

The phrase "Proverbs of Solomon" is more a title than an absolute statement of authorship (1:1). While King Solomon, who ruled Israel from 971–931 B.C. and was granted great wisdom by God (see 1 Kin. 4:29-34), is the author of the didactic section (chaps. 1–9) and the proverbs of 10:1–22:16, he is likely only the compiler of the "sayings of the wise" in 22:17–24:34, which are of an uncertain date before Solomon's reign. The collection in chaps. 25–29 was originally composed by Solomon (25:1) but copied and included later by Judah's king Hezekiah (ca. 715–686 B.C.). Chapter 30 reflects the words of Agur and chap. 31 the words of Lemuel, who perhaps was Solomon. Proverbs was not assembled in its final form until Hezekiah's day or after. Solomon authored his proverbs before his heart was turned away from God (1 Kin. 11:1-11), since the book reveals a godly perspective and is addressed to the "naive" and "young" who need to learn the fear of God. Solomon also wrote Psalms 72 and 127, Ecclesiastes, and Song of Solomon. See Introduction: Author and Date for Ecclesiastes and Song of Solomon.

Background and Setting

The book reflects a 3-fold setting as: 1) general wisdom literature; 2) insights from the royal court; and 3) instruction offered in the tender relationship of a father and mother with their children, all designed to produce meditation on God. Since Proverbs is Wisdom literature, by nature it is sometimes difficult to understand (1:6). Wisdom literature is part of the whole of OT truth; the Priest gave the Law, the Prophet gave a Word from the Lord, and the Sage (or wise man) gave his wise Counsel (Jer. 18:18; Ezek. 7:26). In Proverbs, Solomon the Sage gives insight into the "knotty" issues of life (1:6) which are not directly addressed in the Law or the Prophets. Though it is practical, Proverbs is not superficial or external because it contains moral and ethical elements stressing upright living which flow out of a right relationship with God. In 4:1-4, Solomon connected 3 generations as he entrusted to his son Rehoboam what he learned at the feet of David and Bathsheba. Proverbs is both a pattern for the tender impartation of truth from generation to generation, as well as a vast resource for the content of the truth to be imparted. Proverbs contains the principles and applications of Scripture which the godly characters of the Bible illustrate in their lives.

Historical and Theological Themes

Solomon came to the throne with great promise, privilege, and opportunity. God had granted his request for understanding (1 Kin. 3:9-12; 1 Chr. 1:10,11), and his wisdom exceeded all others (1 Kin. 4:29-31). However, the shocking reality is that he failed to live out the truth that he knew and even taught his son Rehoboam (1 Kin. 11:1,4,6,7-11), who subsequently rejected his father's teaching (1 Kin. 12:6-11).

Proverbs contains a gold mine of biblical theology, reflecting themes of Scripture brought to the level of practical righteousness (1:3), by addressing man's ethical choices, calling into question how he thinks, lives, and manages his daily life in light of divine truth. More specifically, Proverbs calls man to live as the Creator intended him to live when He made man (Ps. 90:1,2,12).

The recurring promise of Proverbs is that generally the wise (the righteous who obey God) live longer (9:11), prosper (2:20-22), experience joy (3:13-18) and the goodness of God temporally (12:21), while fools suffer shame (3:35) and death (10:21). On the other hand, it must be remembered that this general principle is balanced by the reality that the wicked sometimes prosper (Ps. 73:3,12), though only temporarily (Ps. 73:17-19). Job illustrates that there are occasions when the godly wise are struck with disaster and suffering.

There are a number of important themes addressed in Proverbs, which are offered in random order and address different topics, so that it is helpful to study the proverbs thematically as illustrated.

I.	Man's Relationship to God
	A.	His Trust	Prov. 22:19
	B.	His Humility	Prov. 3:34
	C.	His Fear of God	Prov. 1:7
	D.	His Righteousness	Prov. 10:25
	E.	His Sin	Prov. 28:13
	F.	His Obedience	Prov. 6:23
	G.	Facing Reward	Prov. 12:28
	H.	Facing Tests	Prov. 17:3
	I.	Facing Blessing	Prov. 10:22
	J.	Facing Death	Prov. 15:11
II.	Man's Relationship to Himself
	A.	His Character	Prov. 20:11
	B.	His Wisdom	Prov. 1:5
	C.	His Foolishness	Prov. 26:10,11
	D.	His Speech	Prov. 18:21
	E.	His Self Control	Prov. 6:9-11
	F.	His Kindness	Prov. 3:3
	G.	His Wealth	Prov. 11:4
	H.	His Pride	Prov. 27:1
	I.	His Anger	Prov. 29:11
	J.	His Laziness	Prov. 13:4
III.	Man's Relationship to Others
	A.	His Love	Prov. 8:17
	B.	His Friends	Prov. 17:17
	C.	His Enemies	Prov. 19:27
	D.	His Truthfulness	Prov. 23:23
	E.	His Gossip	Prov. 20:19
	F.	As a Father	Prov. 20:7; 31:2-9
	G.	As a Mother	Prov. 31:10-31
	H.	As Children	Prov. 3:1-3
	I.	In Educating Children	Prov. 4:1-4
	J.	In Disciplining Children	Prov. 22:6

The two major themes which are interwoven and overlapping throughout Proverbs are wisdom and folly. Wisdom, which includes knowledge, understanding, instruction, discretion, and obedience, is built on the fear of the Lord and the Word of God. Folly is everything opposite to wisdom.

Interpretive Challenges

The first challenge is the generally elusive nature of Wisdom literature itself. Like the parables, the intended truths are often veiled from understanding if given only a cursory glance, and thus must be pondered in the heart (1:6; 2:1-4; 4:4-9).

Another challenge is the extensive use of parallelism, which is the placing of truths side by side so that the second line expands, completes, defines, emphasizes, or reaches the logical conclusion, the ultimate end, or, in some cases, the contrasting point of view. Often the actual parallel is only implied. For example, 12:13 contains an unstated, but clearly implied parallel, in that the righteous one comes through trouble because of his virtuous speech (cf. 28:7). In interpreting the Proverbs, one must: 1) determine the parallelism and often complete what is assumed and not stated by the author; 2) identify the figures of speech and rephrase the thought without those figures; 3) summarize the lesson or principle of the proverb in a few words; 4) describe the behavior that is taught; and 5) find examples inside Scripture.

Challenges are also found in the various contexts of Proverbs, all of which affect interpretation and understanding. First, there is the setting in which they were spoken; this is largely the context of the young men in the royal court of the king. Second, there is the setting of the book as a whole and how its teachings are to be understood in light of the rest of Scripture. For example, there is much to be gained by comparing the wisdom Solomon taught with the wisdom Christ personified. Third, there is the historical context in which the principles and truths draw on illustrations from their own day.

A final area of challenge comes in understanding that proverbs are divine guidelines and wise observations, i.e., teaching underlying principles (24:3,4) which are not always inflexible laws or absolute promises. These expressions of general truth (cf. 10:27; 22:4) generally do have "exceptions," due to the uncertainty of life and unpredictable behavior of fallen men. God does not guarantee uniform outcome or application for each proverb, but in studying them and applying them, one comes to contemplate the mind of God, His character, His attributes, His works, and His blessings. All of the treasures of wisdom and knowledge expressed in Proverbs are hidden in Christ (Col. 2:3).

CHAPTER 1

The Beginning of Knowledge

1 The [a]proverbs of Solomon the son of David, king of Israel:

2 To know wisdom and instruction,
To [1]perceive the words of understanding,
3 To receive the instruction of wisdom,
Justice, judgment, and equity;
4 To give prudence to the [b]simple,
To the young man knowledge and discretion—
5 [c]A wise man will hear and increase learning,
And a man of understanding will [2]attain wise counsel,
6 To understand a proverb and an enigma,
The words of the wise and their [d]riddles.

7 [e]The fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge,
But fools despise wisdom and instruction.

Shun Evil Counsel

8 [f]My son, hear the instruction of your father,
And do not forsake the law of your mother;
9 For they will be a [g]graceful ornament on your head,
And chains about your neck.

10 My son, if sinners entice you,
[h]Do not consent.
11 If they say, "Come with us,
Let us [i]lie in wait to shed blood;
Let us lurk secretly for the innocent without cause;
12 Let us swallow them alive like [3]Sheol,
And whole, [j]like those who go down to the Pit;
13 We shall find all kinds of precious [4]possessions,

1:1-7 These verses form the Prologue, where the reader is called to serious study for his own benefit. In a few brief words, he is introduced to: 1) the genre of literature (v. 1); 2) a clear two-fold purpose (vv. 2-6); and 3) an all-important motto (v. 7).

1:1 proverbs. See Introduction: Title. The proverbs are short, pithy sayings which express timeless truth and wisdom. They arrest one's thoughts, causing the reader to reflect on how one might apply divine principles to life situations (e.g., 2:12). Proverbs contains insights both in poetry and prose; yet, at the same time, it includes commands to be obeyed. God's proverbs are not limited to this book alone (see Gen. 10:9; 1 Sam. 10:12; 24:13; Jer. 31:29; Ezek. 12:22; 18:2). Solomon. See Introduction: Author and Date. As Solomon became king of Israel, he sought and received wisdom and knowledge from the Lord (2 Chr 1:7-12), which led him to wealth, honor, and fame.

1:2-6 The two-fold purpose of the book is 1) to produce the skill of godly living by wisdom and instruction (v. 2a; expanded in vv. 3,4), and 2) to develop discernment (v. 2b, expanded in v. 5).

1:2 wisdom. See Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes. To the Hebrew mind, wisdom was not knowledge alone, but the skill of living a godly life as God intended man to live (cf. Deut. 4:5-8). instruction. This refers to the discipline of the moral nature. understanding. This word looks at the mental discipline which matures one for spiritual discernment.

1:3 wisdom, justice, judgment, and equity. Expanding the purpose and terms of v. 2a, Proverbs engages in a process of schooling a son in the disciplines of: 1) wisdom (a different Heb. word from that in v. 2) which means discreet counsel or the ability to govern oneself by choice; 2) justice, the ability to conform to the will and standard of God; a practical righteousness that matches one's positional righteousness; 3) judgment, the application of true righteousness in dealing with others; and 4) equity, the living of life in a fair, pleasing way.

1:4 prudence...simple. The purpose is to impart discernment to the naive and the ignorant. The root of "simple" is a word meaning "an open door," an apt description of the undiscerning, who do not know what to keep in or out of their minds. young...knowledge and discretion. To make one ponder before sinning, thus to make a responsible choice.

1:5 counsel. The wise believer will have the ability to guide or govern others with truth.

1:6 understand a proverb...enigma. Proverbs seeks to sharpen the mind by schooling one in "parabolic speech" and "dark sayings" that need reflection and interpretation. riddles. Study of the Scriptures is sufficient to provide the wisdom for the perplexities of life.

1:7 The fear of the LORD. The overarching theme of this book and particularly the first 9 chapters is introduced—reverence for God (see v. 29; 2:5; 3:7; 8:13; 9:10; 14:26,27; cf. also Job 28:28; Ps. 34:11; Acts 9:31). See Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes. This reverential awe and admiring, submissive fear is foundational for all spiritual knowledge and wisdom (cf. 2:4-6; 9:10; 15:33; Job 28:28; Ps. 111:10; Eccl. 12:13). While the unbeliever may make statements about life and truth, he does not have true or ultimate knowledge until he is in a redemptive relationship of reverential awe with God. Note the progression here: 1) teaching about God; 2) learning about God; 3) fearing God; 4) knowing God; and 5) imitating God's wisdom. The fear of the Lord is a state of mind in which one's own attitudes, will, feelings, deeds, and goals are exchanged for God's (cf. Ps. 42:1).

1:8–9:18 This lengthy section features parental praise of wisdom in the form of didactic addresses. These chapters prepare the reader for the actual proverbs that begin in 10:1ff.

1:10-19 Here is a warning against enticement by sinners who will succeed if his son fails to embrace wisdom (v. 8).

1:10 sinners. This term is reserved in Scripture to describe unbelievers for whom sin is continual and who endeavor to persuade even believers to sin with them (see note on James 4:8). The sins of murder and robbery are used as illustrations of such folly.

1:11 Come with us. The intimidating force of peer pressure is often the way to entice those who lack wisdom.

1:12 swallow. The wicked devise a plot of deception in which the innocent are captured and victimized like one who is taken by death itself—as with Joseph (Gen. 37:20ff.), Jeremiah (Jer. 38:6-13), and Daniel (Dan. 6:16,17). "Sheol" is the place of death. For the wicked it is a place of no return (Job 7:9), darkness (Ps. 143:3), and torment (Is. 14:11).

We shall fill our houses with [5]spoil;
14 Cast in your lot among us,
Let us all have one purse"—
15 My son, [k]do not walk in the way with them,
[l]Keep your foot from their path;
16 [m]For their feet run to evil,
And they make haste to shed
blood.
17 Surely, in [6]vain the net is spread
In the sight of any [7]bird;
18 But they lie in wait for their own
blood,
They lurk secretly for their own lives.
19 [n]So are the ways of everyone who is greedy for gain;
It takes away the life of its owners.

The Call of Wisdom

20 [o]Wisdom calls aloud [8]outside;
She raises her voice in the open squares.
21 She cries out in the [9]chief concourses,
At the openings of the gates in the city
She speaks her words:
22 "How long, you [1]simple ones, will you love [2]simplicity?
For scorners delight in their scorning,
And fools hate knowledge.
23 Turn at my rebuke;
Surely [p]I will pour out my spirit on
you;
I will make my words known to
you.
24 [q]Because I have called and you refused,
I have stretched out my hand and no one regarded,
25 Because you [r]disdained all my counsel,
And would have none of my rebuke,
26 [s]I also will laugh at your calamity;
I will mock when your terror comes,
27 When [t]your terror comes like a storm,
And your destruction comes like a
whirlwind,
When distress and anguish come
upon you.

28 "Then [u]they will call on me, but I will not answer;
They will seek me diligently, but they will not find me.
29 Because they [v]hated knowledge
And did not [w]choose the fear of
the LORD,
30 [x]They would have none of my
counsel
And despised my every rebuke.
31 Therefore [y]they shall eat the fruit of their own way,
And be filled to the full with their own fancies.

31 [y] Job 4:8; Prov. 5:22, 23; 22:8; Is. 3:11; Jer. 6:19

1:13 We...spoil. This is the enlisting of the innocent without full disclosure of intent. Abundant spoil is promised by this outright robbery, which is made to appear easy and safe for the thieves and murderers.

1:15 do not walk. This directly confronts the invitation of v. 11. Sin must be rejected at the first temptation (cf. James 1:15; Ps. 119:114,115) by refusing even the association that can lead to sin (cf. Ps. 1:1-6). Avoid the beginnings of sin (see 4:14).

1:17 the net is spread. It would be ineffective to set up a net for catching a bird in full view of the bird. Taken with v. 18, this analogy means that the sinner sets up his trap for the innocent in secret, but in the end the trap is sprung on him (v. 19). This greed entraps him (cf. 1 Tim. 6:9-11). Stupid sinners rush to their own ruin.

1:20-33 In this section, wisdom is personified and speaks in the first person, emphasizing the serious consequences that come to those who reject it. Similar personifications of wisdom occur in 3:14-18; 8:1-36; 9:1-12.

1:21 cries out...in the city. While enticement is covert and secret (v. 10), wisdom, with nothing to hide, is available to everyone, being found in the most prominent of public places.

1:22 How long. Three questions reveal 3 classes of those needing wisdom, and the downward progression of sin: 1) the simple or naive, who are ignorant; 2) scorners or mockers, who commit more serious, determined acts; and 3) fools or obstinate unbelievers, who will not listen to the truth. Proverbs aims its wisdom primarily at the first group.

1:23 rebuke. God's wisdom brings to bear against the sinner indictments for sin that demand repentance. To the one who does repent, God promises the spirit or essence of true wisdom linked to divine revelation.

1:24-26 Sinners who respond with indifference and mockery at God's indictments increase their guilt (cf. Rom. 2:5) and bring upon themselves the wrath of God's mockery and indifference (vv. 26,27). Some wait to seek God until it is too late. See Deut. 1:45; 1 Sam. 28:6; Ps. 18:41.

1:26,27 calamity...terror...destruction...distress and anguish. All these terms describe the severe troubles of divine judgment. When sinners who have rejected wisdom call on God in the day of judgment, God will respond to their distress with derision.

1:28-32 God's rejection of sinners is carefully detailed. This is the aspect of God's wrath expressed in His abandonment of sinners. See notes on Rom. 1:24-28. No prayers or diligent seeking will help them (cf. 8:17).

1:28-30 I will not answer. God will withdraw His invitation to sinners because they have rejected Him. Note the rejection of knowledge (v. 22), fear of the Lord (vv. 7-9), counsel (v. 25), and reproof (v. 23).

1:31 eat the fruit of their own way. The ultimate punishment is God's giving a people up to the result of their wickedness. Cf. Rom. 1:24-28.

32 For the [3]turning away of the simple will slay them,
And the complacency of fools will destroy them;
33 But whoever listens to me will dwell [z]safely,
And [a]will be [4]secure, without fear of evil."

The Value of Wisdom

2 My son, if you receive my words,
And [a]treasure my commands within you,
2 So that you incline your ear to wisdom,
And apply your heart to understanding;
3 Yes, if you cry out for discernment,
And lift up your voice for understanding,
4 [b]If you seek her as silver,
And search for her as for hidden treasures;
5 [c]Then you will understand the fear of the LORD,
And find the knowledge of God.
6 [d]For the LORD gives wisdom;
From His mouth come knowledge and understanding;
7 He stores up sound wisdom for the upright;
[e]He is a shield to those who walk uprightly;
8 He guards the paths of justice,
And [f]preserves the way of His saints.
9 Then you will understand righteousness and justice,
Equity and every good path.
10 When wisdom enters your heart,
And knowledge is pleasant to your soul,
11 Discretion will preserve you;
[g]Understanding will keep you,
12 To deliver you from the way of evil,
From the man who speaks perverse things,
13 From those who leave the paths of uprightness
To [h]walk in the ways of darkness;
14 [i]Who rejoice in doing evil,
And delight in the perversity of the wicked;
15 [j]Whose ways are crooked,
And who are devious in their paths;
16 To deliver you from [k]the immoral woman,
[l]From the seductress who flatters with her words,
17 Who forsakes the companion of her youth,
And forgets the covenant of her God.
18 For [m]her house [1]leads down to death,
And her paths to the dead;
19 None who go to her return,
Nor do they [2]regain the paths of life—
20 So you may walk in the way of goodness,

[1] sinks
19 [2] Lit. reach

1:32 complacency. Willful carelessness or lack of appropriate care is intended.

2:1 my words. Solomon has taken God's law and made it his own by faith and obedience, as well as teaching. The wisdom of these words is available to those who, first of all, understand the rich value ("treasure") that wisdom possesses. Appropriating wisdom begins when one values it above all else.

2:2 ear...heart. See note on 4:21-23. Once wisdom is properly valued, both the ear and mind are captivated by it.

2:3 cry out for discernment. This shows the passionate pleading of one who is desperate to know and apply the truth of God. The least bit of indifference will leave one bereft of the fullness of wisdom.

2:4 seek...search. A desiring search, the most intensive of a lifetime. Cf. Job 28:1-28 for a parallel.

2:6 His mouth. The words of His mouth are contained in Scripture. It is there that God speaks (cf. Heb. 1:1,2; 2 Pet. 1:20,21). Wisdom comes only by revelation.

2:7,8 the upright. This identifies those who are true believers, who seek to know, love, and obey God and to live righteously. These covenant keepers alone can know wisdom and experience God's protection.

2:9 righteousness...justice, equity. The ethical triad of 1:3.

2:10 wisdom enters your heart. See note on 4:21-23.

2:11 Discretion...understanding. Truth is the protector from all evil (see Ps. 119:11,97-104).

2:12 speaks perverse things. Twisted speech is typical of those who reject wisdom (cf. Prov. 8:13; 10:31,32).

2:14 Fools love most what is worst.

2:16 immoral woman. She is the harlot repeatedly condemned in Proverbs (cf. 5:1-23; 6:20-29; 7:1-27; 22:14; 23:27), as in the rest of Scripture (Ex. 20:14; Lev. 20:10). Lit. she is "foreign" or "strange" because such women were at first from outside Israel, but came to include any prostitute or adulteress. Her words are the flattering or smooth words of Prov. 17:14-20.

2:17 forsakes the companion. She leaves the guidance and friendship of her husband (cf. 16:28; 17:9). forgets the covenant. In a wide sense this could be the covenant of Sinai (Ex 20:14), but specifically looks to the marriage covenant of Gen. 2:24, with its commitment to fidelity.

2:18 leads down to death. The destructive nature of this blinding sin leads one to walk alongside death (see vv. 8,9,12,15). Death in Proverbs is presented as both a gradual descent (5:23) and a sudden end (29:1).

2:19 None who go...return. The irreversible nature of continuing in this sin points to its devastating consequences. It leads to physical death, as expressed in the Heb. euphemisms of v. 22 ("cut off" and "uprooted"). After that comes the reality of eternal death.

And keep to the paths of
righteousness.
21 For the upright will dwell in the [n]land,
And the blameless will remain in
it;
22 But the wicked will be [3]cut off from the [4]earth,
And the unfaithful will be uprooted from it.

Guidance for the Young

3 My son, do not forget my law,
[a]But let your heart keep my commands;
2 For length of days and long life
And [b]peace they will add to you.

3 Let not mercy and truth forsake
you;
[c]Bind them around your neck,
[d]Write them on the tablet of your
heart,
4 [e]And so find favor and [1]high esteem
In the sight of God and man.

5 [f]Trust in the LORD with all your
heart,
[g]And lean not on your own
understanding;
6 [h]In all your ways acknowledge Him,
And He shall [2]direct your paths.

7 Do not be wise in your own [i]eyes;
Fear the LORD and depart from
evil.
8 It will be health to your [3]flesh,
And [j]strength[4] to your bones.

9 [k]Honor the LORD with your possessions,
And with the firstfruits of all your
increase;
10 [l]So your barns will be filled with plenty,
And your vats will overflow with new wine.

11 [m]My son, do not despise the chastening of the LORD,
Nor detest His correction;
12 For whom the LORD loves He corrects,
[n]Just as a father the son in whom he delights.

13 [o]Happy is the man who finds
wisdom,
And the man who gains
understanding;
14 [p]For her proceeds are better than the profits of silver,
And her gain than fine gold.
15 She is more precious than rubies,
And [q]all the things you may desire cannot compare with her.
16 [r]Length of days is in her right hand,
In her left hand riches and honor.
17 [s]Her ways are ways of pleasantness,
And all her paths are peace.
18 She is [t]a tree of life to those who take hold of her,
And happy are all who [5]retain her.

2:21 dwell in the land...remain. Exactly opposite to those who live in sexual sin and are headed for death, those who belong to the Lord will live. See note on 8:18-21.

3:1-35 Here the study of truth leading to wisdom is commended to all. This is enforced by a contrast of the destinies of the wise and wicked.

3:1-20 Solomon instructs that wisdom is: 1) rooted in sound teaching (vv. 1-4); 2) rests in trust in God (vv. 5,6), and 3) rewards those who obey (vv. 7-10). While wisdom demands chastening, it brings profound benefits (vv. 13-18), and its importance is clear since it undergirded God's creation (vv. 19,20).

3:1 my law. Heb. "Torah," from the verb "to throw, distribute, or teach," hence "teachings." It is used of God's law (29:18), but here, as in 2:1, it is used of the commands and principles that God gave through Solomon. heart. See note on 4:21-23.

3:3 neck...heart. The virtues of mercy (the Heb. word for lovingkindness and loyal love) and truth that come from God are to become part of us—outwardly in our behavior for all to see as an adornment of spiritual beauty, and inwardly as the subject of our meditation (cf. Deut. 6:4-9). Such inward and outward mercy and truth is evidence of New Covenant salvation (cf. Jer. 31:33,34)

3:4 God and man. Cf. Christ in Luke 2:52.

3:7 This is alluded to by Paul in Rom. 12:16.

3:8 health...strength. The strength here is in the marrow, the inner parts (Job 21:24). God is promising physical well-being for those who live wisely according to His will. Such physical well-being is what David forfeited before he confessed that he had sinned against Bathsheba and Uriah (see Pss. 32:3,4; 51:8).

3:9,10 Honor the LORD...possessions. A biblical view of possessions demands using them for honoring God. This is accomplished by trusting God (v. 5); by giving the first and best to God ("firstfruits"; cf. Ex. 22:29; 23:19; Deut. 18:4); by being fair (vv. 27,28); by giving generously (11:25); and by expressing gratitude for all He gives (Deut. 6:9-11). The result of such faithfulness to honor Him is prosperity and satisfaction.

3:11,12 not despise...chastening . Since even the wisest of God's children are subject to sin, there is necessity of God's fatherly discipline to increase wisdom and blessing. Such correction should not be resisted. See notes on Heb. 12:5-11.

3:14,15 Cf. Ps. 19:10,11. Divine wisdom yields the richest treasures, described in vv. 14-18 as "profits," "length of days," "riches," "honor," "pleasantness," "peace," "life," and happiness.

3:18 tree of life. This expression is a metaphor referring to temporal and spiritual renewal and refreshment (cf. 11:30; 13:12; 15:4).

3:19,20 Solomon is indicating that wisdom is basic to all of life, for by it God created everything. Since God used it to create the universe, how eager must we be to use it to live in this universe.

By understanding He established the heavens;
20 By His knowledge the depths were [v]broken up,
And clouds drop down the dew.

21 My son, let them not depart from your eyes—
Keep sound wisdom and discretion;
22 So they will be life to your soul
And grace to your neck.
23 [w]Then you will walk safely in your
way,
And your foot will not stumble.
24 When you lie down, you will not be afraid;
Yes, you will lie down and your sleep will be sweet.
25 [x]Do not be afraid of sudden terror,
Nor of trouble from the wicked
when it comes;
26 For the LORD will be your
confidence,
And will keep your foot from being caught.

27 [y]Do not withhold good from [6]those to whom it is due,
When it is in the power of your hand to do so.
28 [z]Do not say to your neighbor,
"Go, and come back,
And tomorrow I will give it,"
When you have it with you.
29 Do not devise evil against your neighbor,
For he dwells by you for safety's sake.
30 [a]Do not strive with a man without cause,
If he has done you no harm.

31 [b]Do not envy the oppressor,
And choose none of his ways;
32 For the perverse person is an abomination to the LORD,
[c]But His secret counsel is with the upright.
33 [d]The curse of the LORD is on the house of the wicked,
But [e]He blesses the home of the just.
34 [f]Surely He scorns the scornful,
But gives grace to the humble.
35 The wise shall inherit glory,
But shame shall be the legacy of fools.

Security in Wisdom

4 Hear, [a]my children, the instruction of a father,
And give attention to know
understanding;
2 For I give you good doctrine:
Do not forsake my law.
3 When I was my father's son,
[b]Tender and the only one in the sight of my mother,
4 [c]He also taught me, and said
to me:
"Let your heart retain my words;
[d]Keep my commands, and live.
5 [e]Get wisdom! Get understanding!
Do not forget, nor turn away from the words of my mouth.
6 Do not forsake her, and she will preserve you;
[f]Love her, and she will keep you.
7 [g]Wisdom is the principal thing;
Therefore get wisdom.
And in all your getting, get
understanding.
8 [h]Exalt her, and she will promote
you;
She will bring you honor, when you embrace her.
9 She will place on your head [i]an ornament of grace;

9 [i] Prov. 3:22

3:22 life to your soul. The association of wisdom with the inner spiritual life (see notes on 3:2,16) unfolds throughout the book (cf. 4:10,22; 7:2; 8:35; 9:11; 10:11,16,17; 11:19,30; 12:28; 13:14; 14:27; 15:4,24; 16:22; 19:23; 21:21; 22:4). grace to your neck. The wisdom of God will adorn one's life for all to see its beauty (cf. 1:9).

3:25,26 afraid...confidence. Living in God's wisdom provides the basis for the believer's peace of mind (v. 24) and removes fear (v. 25).

3:28 neighbor. A neighbor is anyone in need whom God brings across one's path. See Luke 10:29-37.

3:29 devise...dwells. Do not plan evil against one trusting in your protection.

3:30 strive. This can mean "come to hand blows," or, with legal overtones, "accuse a man."

3:31 envy. Many law-keepers wish they were law-breakers (Ps. 37:1-7). They would like to be oppressors rather than the oppressed.

3:32 abomination. Specifically, an abomination is an attitude or act that is incompatible with God's nature and intolerable to Him, leading to His anger and judgment. This is an important theme in Proverbs (see note on 6:16-19). secret counsel. This means that God discloses Himself and His truth to the upright (cf. Ps. 25:14).

3:34 humble. Lit. "he who bends himself" (James 4:6; 1 Pet. 5:5).

4:2 good doctrine...my law. There is no wisdom but that which is linked to good doctrine, which should be the focal point of all instruction (cf. 1 Tim. 1:10; 4:13,16; 5:17; 2 Tim. 3:10,16; 4:2; Titus 1:9; 2:1,10).

4:3-5 my father's son...my mother. This is Solomon's reference to David and Bathsheba (2 Sam. 12:24).

4:8 Exalt...embrace. The more highly one esteems wisdom, the more highly wisdom lifts that person.

4:9 head. See notes on 1:9; 3:22.

A crown of glory she will deliver
to you."

10 Hear, my son, and receive my sayings,
[j]And the years of your life will be many.
11 I have [k]taught you in the way of wisdom;
I have led you in right paths.
12 When you walk, [l]your steps will not be hindered,
[m]And when you run, you will not stumble.
13 Take firm hold of instruction, do not let go;
Keep her, for she is your life.

14 [n]Do not enter the path of the
wicked,
And do not walk in the way of
evil.
15 Avoid it, do not travel on it;
Turn away from it and pass on.
16 [o]For they do not sleep unless they have done evil;
And their sleep is [1]taken away unless they make someone fall.
17 For they eat the bread of
wickedness,
And drink the wine of violence.

18 [p]But the path of the just [q]is like the shining [2]sun,
That shines ever brighter unto the perfect day.
19 [r]The way of the wicked is like
darkness;
They do not know what makes them stumble.

words;
Incline your ear to my sayings.

23 Keep your heart with all diligence,
For out of it spring the issues of 24 Put away from you a [3]deceitful

27 Do not turn to the right or the left;

The Peril of Adultery

5 My son, pay attention to my
wisdom;
[1]Lend your ear to my
understanding,
2 That you may [2]preserve discretion,
And your lips [a]may keep
knowledge.
3 [b]For the lips of [3]an immoral woman
drip honey,
And her mouth is [c]smoother than oil;
4 But in the end she is bitter as wormwood,
Sharp as a two-edged sword.
5 Her feet go down to death,
[d]Her steps lay hold of [4]hell.
6 Lest you ponder her path of life—
Her ways are unstable;
You do not know them.

3 [b] Prov. 2:16 [c] Ps. 55:21 [3] Lit. a strange
5 [d] Prov. 7:27 [4] Or Sheol

4:13 Take...not let go; Keep. The father commanded his son in v. 5 to "get wisdom"; here he commands him to hold on to it.

4:14 Do not enter the path of the wicked. Sin is best dealt with at its beginning by the application of necessary wisdom to suit the initial temptation (cf. Ps. 1:1).

4:15 Four verbs identify aspects necessary in urgently dealing with sin at its start (v. 14): 1) avoid the sinful situation; 2) travel as far from it as possible; 3) turn away from the sin; and 4) pass beyond or escape the sin. The plan here fits exactly with the pattern of sin's enticement outlined in James 1:13-15.

4:16,17 they do not sleep. Cf. 3:24. They have to sin before they can sleep, and they view their sin as food for their hungry, wicked souls.

4:18 path of the...shining sun. The path of the believer is one of increasing light, just as a sunrise begins with the faint glow of dawn and proceeds to the splendor of noonday.

4:21-23 heart. The "heart" commonly refers to the mind as the center of thinking and reason (3:3; 6:21; 7:3), but also includes the emotions (15:15,30), the will (11:20; 14:14), and thus, the whole inner being (3:5). The heart is the depository of all wisdom and the source of whatever affects speech (v. 24), sight (v. 25), and conduct (vv. 26,27).

5:1,2 pay attention. The wise father marshals all the essential terms to sum up his call to wisdom (cf. 1:2; 2:2; 3:13; 4:5).

5:3 lips...mouth. Seduction begins with deceptive flattery (cf. 2:16). Lips of honey should be part of true love in marriage (Song 4:11).

5:4,5 in the end. Lit. "the future" of tasting her lips is like "wormwood," a symbol of suffering (cf. Deut. 29:18), and a "sword," the symbol of death. She travels on the road to death and hell (cf. 2:18).

5:5 hell. See note on 1:12.

5:6 Her ways are unstable. Her steps willfully and predictably stagger here and there as she has no concern for the abyss ahead.

7 Therefore hear me now, my children,
And do not depart from the words of my mouth.
8 Remove your way far from her,
And do not go near the door of her house,
9 Lest you give your [5]honor to others,
And your years to the cruel one;
10 Lest aliens be filled with your [6]wealth,
And your labors go to the house of a foreigner;
11 And you mourn at last,
When your flesh and your body are consumed,
12 And say:
"How I have hated instruction,
And my heart despised correction!
13 I have not obeyed the voice of my teachers,
Nor inclined my ear to those who instructed me!
14 I was on the verge of total ruin,
In the midst of the assembly and congregation."

15 Drink water from your own cistern,
And running water from your own well.
16 Should your fountains be dispersed abroad,
[7]Streams of water in the streets?
17 Let them be only your own,
And not for strangers with you.
18 Let your fountain be blessed,
And rejoice with [e]the wife of your youth.
19 [f]As a loving deer and a graceful doe,
Let her breasts satisfy you at all times;
And always be [8]enraptured with her love.
20 For why should you, my son, be enraptured by [g]an immoral woman,
And be embraced in the arms of a seductress?

21 [h]For the ways of man are before the eyes of the LORD,
And He [9]ponders all his paths.
22 [i]His own iniquities entrap the wicked man,
And he is caught in the cords of his sin.
23 [j]He shall die for lack of instruction,
And in the greatness of his folly he shall go astray.

Dangerous Promises

CHAPTER 6

6 My son, [a]if you become [1]surety for your friend,
If you have [2]shaken hands in pledge for a stranger,
2 You are snared by the words of your mouth;

1 [a] Prov. 11:15 [1] guaranty or collateral [2] Lit. struck

5:7-14 These verses describe the high price of infidelity. The focus here is on the guilty suffering of the one who yields to lust rather than obeying God's law. Contrast the proper response to such temptation in the case of Joseph (Gen. 39:1-12).

5:9,10 your honor to others. The consequences of this sin may include slavery, as a commuted punishment, instead of death that should have come for adultery (Deut. 22:22). In that case, "the cruel one" was the judge and the "others" were the masters to whom all the energy of youth was directed in slavery. All personal wealth was lost to outsiders, and one served in a stranger's house helping him to prosper.

5:11 flesh and...body. This could be a reference to venereal disease (cf. 1 Cor. 6:18), or to the natural end of life. At that point, filled with an irreversible regret (v. 12), the ruined sinner vainly laments his neglect of warning and his sad disgrace.

5:14 midst of the assembly. A most painful loss in such a situation is public disgrace in the community. There can be public confession, discipline, and forgiveness, but not restoration to one's former place of honor and service. See 6:33.

5:15-19 Using the imagery of water, the joy of a faithful marriage is contrasted with the disaster of infidelity (vv. 9-14). "Cistern" and "well" refer to the wife from whom the husband is to draw all his satisfying refreshment, sexually and affectionately (v. 19; cf. 9:17,18; Song 4:9-11).

5:16,17 fountains...streams. The euphemism refers to the male procreation capacity with the idea of the foolish as a fountain scattering precious water—a picture of the wastefulness of sexual promiscuity. The result of such indiscriminate sin is called "streams of waters in the streets," a graphic description of the illegitimate street children of harlotry. Rather, says Solomon, "let them be only your own" and not the children of such immoral strangers.

5:18 fountain...blessed. God offers to bless male procreation when it is confined to one's wife. It should be noted that, in spite of the sinful polygamy of David and Solomon, as well as the disastrous polygamy of Rehoboam (cf. 2 Chr. 11:21), the instruction here identifies God's ideal as one wife from youth on.

5:19 graceful doe. The doe has graceful beauty in her face and form and is often used in the poetry of Bible times for the beauty of a woman. breasts. This is imagery of affection (cf. Song 1:13; 4:1-7; 7:7,8).

5:20 Such behavior is presented as having no benefit; thus, to justify such folly is senseless.

5:21,22 ponders...caught. The Lord sees all that man does and in mercy withholds immediate judgment, allowing the sinner time to repent or to be caught in his own sin (cf. Num. 32:23; Pss. 7:15,16; 57:6; Prov. 1:17; Gal. 6:7,8). Note the example of Haman (Esth. 5:9-14; 7:1-10).

5:23 He shall die. See notes on 2:18; 5:5.

6:1 surety...pledge. The foolishness here is making one's self responsible for another's debt and pledging to pay if the other defaults (cf. 11:15; 17:18; 20:16; 22:26). While there is precedent for such a practice, it is far better to give to those in need (see Deut. 15:1-15; 19:17) or lend without interest (see Lev. 25:35-38; 28:8).

6:2-4 snared...come into the hand. Cf. 22:26,27. Anyone who becomes responsible for another person's debt is trapped and con-

You are taken by the words of your mouth.
3 So do this, my son, and deliver yourself;
For you have come into the hand of your friend:
Go and humble yourself;
Plead with your friend.
4 [b]Give no sleep to your eyes,
Nor slumber to your eyelids.
5 Deliver yourself like a gazelle from the hand of the hunter,
And like a bird from the hand of the [3]fowler.

The Folly of Indolence

6 [c]Go to the ant, you sluggard!
Consider her ways and be wise,
7 Which, having no [4]captain,
Overseer or ruler,
8 Provides her [5]supplies in the summer,
And gathers her food in the harvest.
9 [d]How long will you [6]slumber,
O sluggard?
When will you rise from your sleep?
10 A little sleep, a little slumber,
A little folding of the hands to sleep—
11 [e]So shall your poverty come on you like a prowler,
And your need like an armed man.

The Wicked Man

12 A worthless person, a wicked man,
Walks with a perverse mouth;
13 [f]He winks with his eyes,
He [7]shuffles his feet,
He points with his fingers;

trolled because he has yielded control of what God has given him as a stewardship. The situation is so serious that it is imperative to take control of one's own God-given resources and get out of such an intolerable arrangement immediately ("deliver yourself," vv. 3,4) before coming to poverty or slavery. Cf. Gen 43:9; 44:32,33.

6:6-11 A warning against laziness is appropriate after the discussion on the folly of guaranteeing someone else's debt, since it is often lazy people who want sureties.

6:6 ant...sluggard. Cf. 30:25. The ant is an example of industry, diligence, and planning (vv. 7,8) and serves as a rebuke to a sluggard (a lazy one who lacks self control). Folly sends a lazy man to learn from an ant (see 10:4,26; 12:24; 13:4; 15:19; 19:15; 20:4; 26:14-16).

6:11 prowler...armed man. The lazy man, with his inordinate devotion to sleep rather than work (vv. 9,10), learns too late, thus coming to inescapable poverty just as a victim is overpowered by a robber (see 24:33,34). While laziness leads to poverty (cf. 10:4,5; 13:4; 20:4,13), laziness is not always the cause of poverty (cf. 14:31; 17:5; 19:1,17,22; 21:12; 28:3,11).

6:12 A worthless person. A scoundrel (1 Sam. 25:25; Job 34:18), lit. a "man of Belial" (useless; cf. 1 Sam. 2:12; 30:22), a term which came to be used of the Devil himself (see 2 Cor. 6:15).

6:13 winks...shuffles...points. Apparently this was common in the East. Fearing detection, and to hide his intention, the deceiver spoke lies to the victim while giving signals with his eyes, hands, and feet to someone else in on the deception to carry out the intrigue.

14 Perversity is in his heart,
[g]He devises evil continually,
[h]He sows discord.
15 Therefore his calamity shall come
[i]suddenly;
Suddenly he shall [j]be broken
[k]without remedy.

16 These six things the LORD hates,
Yes, seven are an abomination to
[8]Him:
17 [l]A [9]proud look,
[m]A lying tongue,
[n]Hands that shed innocent blood,
18 [o]A heart that devises wicked plans,
[p]Feet that are swift in running to
evil,
19 [q]A false witness who speaks lies,
And one who [r]sows discord
among brethren.

Beware of Adultery

20 [s]My son, keep your father's command,
And do not forsake the law of your mother.
21 [t]Bind them continually upon your
heart;
Tie them around your neck.
22 [u]When you roam, [1]they will lead
you;
When you sleep, [v]they will keep
you;
And when you awake, they will speak with you.
23 [w]For the commandment is a lamp,
And the law a light;
Reproofs of instruction are the way of life,
24 [x]To keep you from the evil woman,
From the flattering tongue of a seductress.
25 [y]Do not lust after her beauty in your heart,
Nor let her allure you with her eyelids.
26 For [z]by means of a harlot
A man is reduced to a crust of bread;
[a]And [2]an adulteress will [b]prey upon his precious life.
27 Can a man take fire to his bosom,
And his clothes not be burned?
28 Can one walk on hot coals,
And his feet not be seared?
29 So is he who goes in to his neighbor's wife;
Whoever touches her shall not be innocent.

30 People do not despise a thief
If he steals to satisfy himself when he is starving.
31 Yet when he is found, [c]he must restore sevenfold;
He may have to give up all the substance of his house.
32 Whoever commits adultery with a woman [d]lacks understanding;
He who does so destroys his own
soul.
33 Wounds and dishonor he will get,
And his reproach will not be wiped away.

6:14 discord. The sin of strife, dissent, or creating conflict intentionally recurs in Proverbs (15:18; 16:28; 17:14; 18:19; 21:9,19; 22:10; 23:29; 25:24; 26:21; 27:15; 28:25; 29:22).

6:15 without remedy. The results of iniquity can be irreversible. His punishment will fit his crime when God judges.

6:16-19 six...seven. The sequence of these two numbers was used both to represent totality and as a means of arresting attention (cf. 30:15,18; Job 5:19; Amos 1:3) These 7 detestable sins provide a profound glimpse into the sinfulness of man. These verses act as a summary of the previous warnings: 1) haughty eyes (v. 13a ,"winks"); 2) lying tongue (v. 12b,"perverse mouth"); 3) hands (v. 13c,"fingers"); 4) heart (v. 14a); 5) feet (v. 13b); 6) false witness (v. 12b); and 7) discord (v. 14c).

6:20,21 See notes on 1:8,9; 3:1-3.

6:22 roam...sleep...awake. Cf. 3:23,24. This parallels the 3 circumstances of life in Deut. 6:6-9; 11:18-20, for which wisdom provides direction, protection, and meditation. The biblical instruction for parents prevents the entrance of evil by supplying good and true thoughts, even when sleeping.

6:23 the commandment...the law...instruction. These all identify the Word of God, which provides the wisdom leading to abundant and eternal life.

6:24 See notes on 2:16; 5:3. Parental instruction in wisdom is crucial to strengthen a person against the strong attraction of sexual sin. By loving truth and being elevated to wisdom, men are not seduced by lying flattery.

6:25 lust. Sexual sin is rooted in lust (imagination of the sinful act), as implied in Ex. 20:17 and addressed by Christ in Matt. 5:28. This initial attraction must be consistently rejected (James 1:14,15).

6:26 crust of bread. Here the smallest piece of bread demonstrates how the prostitute reduces the life of a man to insignificance, including the loss of his wealth (see 29:3), freedom, family, purity, dignity, and even his soul (v. 32).

6:27-29 Powerful metaphors are given here to describe the obvious danger and destructive consequences of adultery, showing that punishment is a natural and expected consequence.

6:29 touches her. This refers to a touch intended to inflame sexual passion. Paul uses the same expression with the same meaning in 1 Cor. 7:1.

6:30-35 Adultery is compared to a thief. Unlike the pity extended to a starving thief, who, though it may cost all he has, can make restitution and put the crime behind him permanently (vv. 30,31), for the adulterer there is no restitution as he destroys his soul (v. 32; cf. Deut. 22:22). If he lives, he is disgraced for life (v. 33) with a reproach which will never go away. The jealous husband will have no mercy on him either (vv. 34,35; cf. 27:4; Song 8:6).

6:31 sevenfold. Varying measures of restitution occur in Scripture (cf. Ex. 22:1ff.; Lev. 6:5; Num. 5:7; 2 Sam. 12:6; Luke 19:8), but none are so severe as for the thief.

34 For [c]jealousy is a husband's fury;
Therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance.
35 He will [3]accept no recompense,
Nor will he be appeased though you give many gifts.

7 My son, keep my words,
And [a]treasure my commands within you.
2 [b]Keep my commands and live,
[c]And my law as the apple of your eye.
3 [d]Bind them on your fingers;
Write them on the tablet of your heart.
4 Say to wisdom, "You are my sister,"
And call understanding your nearest kin,
5 [e]That they may keep you from the immoral woman,
From the seductress who flatters with her words.

The Crafty Harlot

6 For at the window of my house
I looked through my lattice,
7 And saw among the simple,
I perceived among the [1]youths,
A young man [f]devoid [2]of understanding,
8 Passing along the street near her corner;
And he took the path to her house
9 [g]In the twilight, in the evening,
In the black and dark night.

10 And there a woman met him,
With the attire of a harlot, and a crafty heart.
11 [h]She was loud and rebellious,
[i]Her feet would not stay at home.
12 At times she was outside, at times in the open square,
Lurking at every corner.
13 So she caught him and kissed him;
With an [3]impudent face she said to him:
14 "I have peace offerings with me;
Today I have paid my vows.
15 So I came out to meet you,
Diligently to seek your face,
And I have found you.
16 I have spread my bed with tapestry,
Colored coverings of [j]Egyptian linen.
17 I have perfumed my bed
With myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon.
18 Come, let us take our fill of love until morning;
Let us delight ourselves with love.
19 For [4]my husband is not at home;
He has gone on a long journey;
20 He has taken a bag of money [5]with him,
And will come home [6]on the appointed day."

21 [7]With [k]her enticing speech she caused him to yield,
[l]With her flattering lips she [8]seduced him.
22 Immediately he went after her, as an ox goes to the slaughter,
Or [9]as a fool to the correction of the [1]stocks,

7:1-4 Cf. 2:1-4; 3:1-3; 4:10.

7:2 apple of your eye. This expression refers to the pupil of the eye which, because it is the source of sight, is carefully protected (see Deut. 32:10; Ps. 17:8; Zech. 2:8). The son is to guard and protect his father's teachings because they give him spiritual and moral sight.

7:3 Bind. This is a call to give the truth of divine wisdom a permanent place in the mind and in conduct. Cf. 3:3; 6:21; Deut. 6:8.

7:6 The drama of seduction by the adulteress, introduced in v. 5 and unfolding to v. 23, is described from the viewpoint of one who is watching from his window.

7:7 simple...devoid of understanding. See notes on 1:2-4.

7:8 took the path. Against the advice of 4:14,15, he put himself right in the harlot's place. "Fleeing immorality" (1 Cor. 6:18) starts by not being in the harlot's neighborhood at night. Cf. v. 25.

7:10 a crafty heart. Lit. "hidden." This is an unfair contest between the simple young man, who lacks wisdom and is void of the truth, and the evil woman, who knows her goal, but hides her true intentions. See notes on 6:26; 23:27,28.

7:11,12 These verses break the narrative to describe the woman's modes of operation leading to her successful seduction of the simple man.

7:14 peace offerings. According to the law of peace offerings (Lev. 7:11-18), the meat left over after the sacrifice was to be eaten before the end of the day. She appears very religious in making the invitation that the man join her because she had made her offering and is bringing home the meat that must be eaten.

7:15 It is already night (v. 9) and the meal must be consumed. It cannot be left for morning. Such hypocrisy is concerned about the ceremonial law while aggressively seducing someone to violate God's moral law.

7:16,17 Egyptian linen. Fine linen was a sign of wealth (31:22; Is. 19:9; Ezek. 27:7). Here the solicitation is direct, as she describes the comfort of her bed with its aromatic spices (cf. Song 1:13; 3:6).

7:18 fill of love. Adultery is not true love, but mere physical gratification.

7:19,20 She gives the simple man the assurance that there is no fear of discovery of their act, since her husband has taken a large sum of cash, needed because he will be away for a long time (lit. "a full moon"), returning at a set time and not before.

7:21 When the location, time, and setting were allowed, the seduction was easy (cf. v. 26).

7:22 slaughter...stocks. Ignorant of the real danger and incapable of resistance, he quickly succumbs like a beast to be butchered or a criminal put in stocks.

23 Till an arrow struck his liver.
[m] As a bird hastens to the snare,
He did not know it [2] would cost his life.

24 Now therefore, listen to me, my children;
Pay attention to the words of my mouth:
25 Do not let your heart turn aside to her ways,
Do not stray into her paths;
26 For she has cast down many wounded,
And [n] all who were slain by her were strong men.
27 [o] Her house is the way to [3] hell,
Descending to the chambers of death.

The Excellence of Wisdom

8 Does not [a] wisdom cry out,
And understanding lift up her voice?
2 She takes her stand on the top of the [1] high hill,
Beside the way, where the paths meet.
3 She cries out by the gates, at the entry of the city,
At the entrance of the doors:
4 "To you, O men, I call,
And my voice is to the sons of men.
5 O you [2] simple ones, understand prudence,
And you fools, be of an understanding heart.
6 Listen, for I will speak of [b] excellent things,
And from the opening of my lips will come right things;
7 For my mouth will speak truth;
Wickedness is an abomination to my lips.
8 All the words of my mouth are with righteousness;
Nothing crooked or perverse is in them.
9 They are all plain to him who understands,
And right to those who find knowledge.
10 Receive my instruction, and not silver,
And knowledge rather than choice gold;
11 [c] For wisdom is better than rubies,
And all the things one may desire cannot be compared with her.

12 "I, wisdom, dwell with prudence,
And find out knowledge and discretion.
13 [d] The fear of the LORD is to hate evil;
[e] Pride and arrogance and the evil way
And [f] the perverse mouth I hate.
14 Counsel is mine, and sound wisdom;
I am understanding, [g] I have strength.
15 [h] By me kings reign,
And rulers decree justice.
16 By me princes rule, and nobles,
All the judges of [3] the earth.
17 [i] I love those who love me,
And [j] those who seek me diligently will find me.
18 [k] Riches and honor are with me,
Enduring riches and righteousness.
19 My fruit is better than gold, yes, than fine gold,

7:23 arrow...bird. This refers to a mortal wound, as the liver represents the seat of life (Lam. 2:11) and the bird is snared to be eaten (cf. 6:26).

7:24 The appropriate application of this drama is made in the admonition of these verses to avoid her deadly seduction.

7:26 It is not just weak men who fall, but strong men in the wrong place at the wrong time with the wrong thoughts for the wrong reasons.

7:27 Cf. 5:5.

8:1-3 wisdom. See notes on 1:20,21. The openness and public exposure of wisdom contrasts with the secrecy and intrigues of the wicked adulterers in chap. 7.

8:4,5 simple ones. See note on 1:4.

8:6-8 The virtues of wisdom are summarized in all that is excellent, right, true, and righteous.

8:9 plain. Lit. "clear." The one who applies his mind to the wisdom of God will understand and gain moral knowledge and the insight to recognize truth. Cf. 1 Cor. 1:18-25.

8:10,11 The most valuable reality a young person can attain is the insight to order his life by the standard of truth (see notes on 3:14,15; 8:19-21; also Job 28:12-28; Ps. 19:10).

8:13 The fear of the LORD. See notes on 1:7. arrogance...hate. Wisdom hates what God hates (cf. 6:16-19; Ps. 5:5). The highest virtue is humility (submission to God), and thus wisdom hates pride and self-exaltation above all.

8:15,16 kings...rulers...princes...nobles. In this royal court setting, Solomon addresses his son as a future king. All these leaders should do their work by God's wisdom and justice.

8:17 love. Wisdom's love for the one who receives it is proven by the benefits mentioned in vv. 18-21.

8:18-21 Riches and honor. Cf. 3:16; 22:4. Solomon, who was given great wisdom, experienced its wealth of benefits firsthand as a young king (cf. 1 Kin. 3:12-14; 10:14-29).

That I may fill their treasuries.

22 "The[l] LORD possessed me at the beginning of His way,
Before His works of old.
23 [m]I have been established from everlasting,
From the beginning, before there was ever an earth.
24 When there were no depths I was brought forth,
When there were no fountains abounding with water.
25 [n]Before the mountains were settled,
Before the hills, I was brought forth;
26 While as yet He had not made the earth or the [5]fields,
Or the [6]primal dust of the world.
27 When He prepared the heavens, I was there,
When He drew a circle on the face of the deep,
28 When He established the clouds above,
When He strengthened the fountains of the deep,
29 [o]When He assigned to the sea its limit,
So that the waters would not transgress His command,
When [p]He marked out the foundations of the earth,
30 [q]Then I was beside Him as [7]a master craftsman;
[r]And I was daily His delight,
Rejoicing always before Him,
31 Rejoicing in His inhabited world,
And [s]my delight was with the sons of men.
32 "Now therefore, listen to me, my children,
For [t]blessed are those who keep my ways.
33 Hear instruction and be wise,
And do not disdain it.
34 [u]Blessed is the man who listens to me,
Watching daily at my gates,
Waiting at the posts of my doors.
35 For whoever finds me finds life,
And [v]obtains favor from the LORD;
36 But he who sins against me
[w]wrongs his own soul;
All those who hate me love death."

The Way of Wisdom

CHAPTER 9

9 Wisdom has [a]built her house,
She has hewn out her seven pillars;
2 [b]She has slaughtered her meat,
[c]She has mixed her wine,
She has also [1]furnished her table.
3 She has sent out her maidens,
She cries out from the highest places of the city,
4 "Whoever[d] is simple, let him turn in here!"
As for him who lacks understanding, she says to him,
5 "Come,[e] eat of my bread
And drink of the wine I have mixed.
6 Forsake foolishness and live,
And go in the way of understanding.

7 "He who corrects a scoffer gets shame for himself,
And he who rebukes a wicked man only harms himself.

1 [a] [Matt. 16:18; 1 Cor. 3:9, 10; Eph. 2:20-22; 1 Pet. 2:5]
2 [b] Matt. 22:4 [c] Prov. 23:30 [1] arranged
4 [d] Ps. 19:7
5 [e] Song 5:1; Is. 55:1; [John 6:27]

8:22-31 The LORD possessed me. Cf. 3:19,20. Wisdom personified claims credit for everything that God created, so that wisdom was first, as God was eternally first. Christ used His eternal wisdom in creation (John 1:1-3; 1 Cor 1:24,30).

8:24-26 Note how these verses parallel the creation account. The earth (v. 23) with day one in Gen. 1:1-5; water (v. 24) with day two in Gen. 1:6-8; and land (vv. 25,26) with day three in Gen. 1:9-13.

8:27 circle on the face of the deep. The Heb. word for circle indicates that the earth is a globe; therefore the horizon is circular (cf. Is. 40:22). This "deep" that surrounds the earth is either the endless heavens or the sea, on which the circular horizon can best be seen.

8:29 sea its limit. In creation, God limited the waters on the earth (cf. Gen. 1:9; 7:11; 8:2), commanding into existence shorelines beyond which the oceans cannot go. foundations. This figuratively denotes the solid structure of the earth (cf. Job 38:4; Ps. 24:2).

8:30 master craftsman. As translated in Song 7:1 and Jer. 52:15, this term describes wisdom as competent and experienced in the craft of creation.

8:31 my delight. When God rejoiced over His creation (Gen. 1:31; Job 38:7), wisdom was also rejoicing, especially in the creation of mankind, who alone in the physical creation has the capacity to appreciate wisdom and truth.

8:36 hate me love death. Since wisdom is the source of life (see 3:18), anyone hating wisdom, so as to spurn it, is acting as if he loves death.

9:1 seven pillars. The significance of 7 is to convey the sufficiency of this house as full in size and fit for a banquet.

9:2 mixed her wine. Cf. 23:29,30. Wine was diluted with water as much as 1 to 8, to reduce its power to intoxicate. It was also mixed with spices for flavor (Song 8:20). Unmixed wine is called strong drink (cf. 20:1; 31:6; Lev. 10:9; Is. 28:7; Luke 1:15).

9:3-5 The call of wisdom is not secret, but public. See note on 1:20,21.

9:5 Come, eat...drink. Cf. God's banquet call (Is. 55:1-3; Luke 14:16-24; Rev. 22:17).

9:7-9 Wise people receive reproof and rebuke with appreciation; fools do not.

8 [f]Do not correct a scoffer, lest he hate you;
[g]Rebuke a wise man, and he will love you.
9 Give instruction to a wise man, and he will be still wiser;
Teach a just man, [h]and he will increase in learning.

10 "The[i] fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom,
And the knowledge of the Holy One is understanding.
11 [j]For by me your days will be multiplied,
And years of life will be added to you.
12 [k]If you are wise, you are wise for yourself,
And if you scoff, you will bear it alone."

The Way of Folly

13 [l]A foolish woman is [2]clamorous;
She is simple, and knows nothing.
14 For she sits at the door of her house,
On a seat [m]by the highest places of the city, 15 To call to those who pass by,
Who go straight on their way:
16 "Whoever[n] is [3]simple, let him turn in here";
And as for him who lacks understanding, she says to him,
17 "Stolen[o] water is sweet,
And bread eaten in secret is pleasant."
18 But he does not know that [p]the dead are there,
That her guests are in the depths of [4]hell.

Wise Sayings of Solomon

10 The proverbs of [a]Solomon:
[b]A wise son makes a glad father,
But a foolish son is the grief of his mother.

2 [c]Treasures of wickedness profit nothing,
[d]But righteousness delivers from death.
3 [e]The LORD will not allow the righteous soul to famish,
But He casts away the desire of the wicked.

4 [f]He who has a slack hand becomes poor,
But [g]the hand of the diligent makes rich.
5 He who gathers in [h]summer is a wise son;
He who sleeps in harvest is [i]a son who causes shame.

6 Blessings are on the head of the righteous,
But violence covers the mouth of the wicked.
7 [j]The memory of the righteous is blessed,
But the name of the wicked will rot.

8 The wise in heart will receive commands,
[k]But [1]a prating fool will [2]fall.

9:10 The fear of the LORD. See note on 1:7.

9:11 See Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes.

9:12 Every individual is responsible for his own conduct, so that the choices we make affect our own lives.

9:13-18 The feast of folly is described as offered by the foolish hostess. Note the contrast with lady wisdom in vv. 1-6 and similarities to the immoral woman in 7:6-23.

9:13 clamorous. Cf. 7:11,12.

9:17 Forbidden delights sometimes seem sweeter and more pleasant because of their risk and danger.

9:18 hell. See note on 1:12. Like the adulterer, the flattering words of folly lead to death (see 2:18,19; 5:5; 7:21-23,26,27).

10:1–22:16 This large section contains 375 of Solomon's individual proverbs. They are in no apparent order, with only occasional grouping by subject, and are often without a context to qualify their application. They are based on Solomon's inspired knowledge of the Law and the Prophets. The parallel, two line proverbs of chaps. 10–15 are mostly contrasts or opposites (antithetical), while those of chaps. 16–22 are mostly similarities or comparisons (synthetical).

10:1 grief of his mother. See note on 23:15,16. This parental grief is most deeply felt by the mother, who plays a more intimate role in raising a child.

10:2 death. The greatest of all treasures, life, is gained by righteousness.

10:3 desire of the wicked. For a while, the wicked may seem to realize their desires; in the end, God removes their accomplishments because they are evil (cf. Ps. 37:16-20).

10:4 diligent. This is in contrast to the sluggard (see notes on 6:6-11). Poverty by itself is not evil, unless it is the product of laziness.

10:5 gathers...sleeps. Cf. 6:6-11; 13:4; 15:19; 24:30-34; 28:19,20. The timing necessary in agriculture can be applied to the general laying hold of life's opportunities.

10:6 violence. See 10:13; 12:13; 14:3; 18:6,7. The violence which has gone forth from the wicked, later falls back upon his foul mouth (cf. Hab. 2:17; Mal 2:16).

10:7 memory...name. This refers to the way a righteous person is remembered by man and God after his death.

10:8 receive commands. To finish the parallelism, the wise listens and is teachable and, therefore, will be lifted up. The fool, always talking, falls because he rejects God's commands.

9 [l]He who walks with integrity walks securely,
But he who perverts his ways will become known.

10 He who winks with the eye causes trouble,
But a prating fool will fall.

11 The mouth of the righteous is a well of life,
But violence covers the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred stirs up strife,
But [m]love covers all sins.

13 Wisdom is found on the lips of him who has understanding,
But [n]a rod is for the back of him who [3]is devoid of understanding.

14 Wise people store up knowledge,
But [o]the mouth of the foolish is near destruction.

15 The [p]rich man's wealth is his strong city;
The destruction of the poor is their poverty.

16 The labor of the righteous leads to [q]life,
The wages of the wicked to sin.

17 He who keeps instruction is in the way of life,
But he who refuses correction [4]goes astray.

18 Whoever [r]hides hatred has lying lips,
And [s]whoever spreads slander is a fool.

19 [t]In the multitude of words sin is not lacking,
But [u]he who restrains his lips is wise.

20 The tongue of the righteous is choice silver;
The heart of the wicked is worth little.

21 The lips of the righteous feed many,
But fools die for lack of [5]wisdom.

22 [v]The blessing of the LORD makes one rich,
And He adds no sorrow with it.

23 [w]To do evil is like sport to a fool,
But a man of understanding has wisdom.

24 [x]The fear of the wicked will come upon him,
And [y]the desire of the righteous will be granted.

25 When the whirlwind passes by,
[z]the wicked is no more,
But [a]the righteous has an everlasting foundation.

25 [z] Ps. 37:9, 10 [a] Ps. 15:5; Prov. 12:3; Matt. 7:24, 25

10:9 Those who have integrity (who live what they believe) exist without fear of some evil being discovered, while those who are perverse and have secret wickedness will not be able to hide it. Cf. 11:3; 19:1; 20:7.

10:10 winks with the eye. See 6:13,14.

10:11 well of life. The Lord is the source of this fountain (Ps. 36:9), which then springs up in the wise man as wise speech (10:11), wise laws (13:14), the fear of the Lord (12:27), and understanding (16:22). See notes on 3:18; Ezek. 47:1-12; John 4:14; 7:38,39. violence. See note on 10:6.

10:12 love. True love seeks the highest good for another (cf. 1 Cor. 14:4-7). First Peter 4:8 quotes this verse.

10:13 rod. This first reference to corporal punishment applied to the backside (cf. 19:29; 26:3) recommends it as the most effective way of dealing with children and fools. See also 13:24; 18:6; 19:29; 22:15; 23:13,14; 26:3; 29:15.

10:14 mouth of the foolish. The loose tongue of the fool is a recurring subject in Proverbs (cf. vv. 6,8,13,18,19,31,32; 12:23; 13:3; 15:1,2,23,26,28,31-33; 17:28; 18:2,6-8). James parallels this emphasis concerning the tongue (James 1:26; 3:1-12).

10:15 rich man's...poor. While the rich man thinks he has his walled city for protection (cf. 18:11; 28:11), the poor man knows he has nothing. Both should trust in the Lord as their only protection (cf. 3:5,6; 11:4,28; 18:10,11; Ps. 20:7; Eccl. 9:11-18; James 5:1-6).

10:16 wages. The industry alone of the righteous makes him truly successful, while the earnings of the wicked provide more opportunities for sinning.

10:18 hatred...slander. Both the harboring and venting of hatred are wrong and will be punished. Slander (gossip or lies) is forbidden (cf. 25:10; also 16:28; 18:8; 20:19; 26:20,22).

10:19 Wisdom is to restrain the tongue, since much speech risks sin. Cf. Ps. 39:1; James 1:26; 3:2-8.

10:20 tongue...heart. These words are used as parallel terms because they are inseparably linked. Cf. Matt. 15:18,19. choice silver. Good words are scarce, precious, and valuable (cf. 15:23; Is. 50:4).

10:21 feed...die. Sound teaching benefits many; the fool starves himself to death spiritually by his lack of wise teaching (cf. Hos 4:6).

10:22 rich. While having more than one needs is not the object of wisdom, it is generally the result (cf. Deut. 6:11-15; 1 Kin. 3:10-14). See Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes. no sorrow. None of the sorrow that is associated with ill-gotten wealth (cf. 13:11; 15:6; 16:19; 21:6; 28:6) is associated with wealth provided by the Lord.

10:24 fear of the wicked. The righteous receive what they desire, while the wicked receive what they fear (cf. Heb. 10:26-29).

10:25 whirlwind. See 1:27; 6:15; 29:1.

So is the lazy man to those who send him.

27 [b]The fear of the LORD prolongs days,
But [c]the years of the wicked will be shortened.
28 The hope of the righteous will be gladness,
But the [d]expectation of the wicked will perish.
29 The way of the LORD is strength for the upright,
But [e]destruction will come to the workers of iniquity.

30 [f]The righteous will never be removed,
But the wicked will not inhabit the [6]earth.
31 [g]The mouth of the righteous brings forth wisdom,
But the perverse tongue will be cut out.
32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable,
But the mouth of the wicked what is perverse.

11 Dishonest[a 1] scales are an abomination to the LORD,
But a [2]just weight is His delight.

2 When pride comes, then comes [b]shame;
But with the humble is wisdom.

3 The integrity of the upright will guide [c]them,
But the perversity of the unfaithful will destroy them.
4 [d]Riches do not profit in the day of wrath,
But [e]righteousness delivers from death.
5 The righteousness of the blameless will [3]direct his way aright,
But the wicked will fall by his own [f]wickedness.
6 The righteousness of the upright will deliver them,
But the unfaithful will be caught by their lust.

7 When a wicked man dies, his expectation will [g]perish,
And the hope of the unjust perishes.
8 [h]The righteous is delivered from trouble,
And it comes to the wicked instead.
9 The hypocrite with his mouth destroys his neighbor,
But through knowledge the righteous will be delivered.
10 [i]When it goes well with the righteous, the city rejoices;
And when the wicked perish, there is jubilation.
11 By the blessing of the upright the city is [j]exalted,
But it is overthrown by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He who [4]is devoid of wisdom despises his neighbor,
But a man of understanding holds his peace.

13 [k]A talebearer reveals secrets,
But he who is of a faithful spirit [l]conceals a matter.

14 [m]Where there is no counsel, the people fall;
But in the multitude of counselors there is safety.

15 He who is [n]surety[5] for a stranger will suffer,
But one who hates [6]being surety is secure.

10:27 fear of the LORD. See note on 1:7.

10:29 The way of the LORD. This is the spiritual path in which God directs man to walk (see note on Acts 18:25).

10:30 Cf. Ps. 37:9-11.

11:1 Dishonest scales. Cf. 16:11; 20:10,23. As indicated in Lev. 19:35,36; Deut. 25:13-16; Ezek. 45:10; Amos 8:5; Mic. 6:10, God detests dishonesty.

11:2 pride. From a root meaning "to boil," or "to run over," indicating an overwhelmingly arrogant attitude or behavior. It is used of ordinary men (Deut. 17:12,13); kings (Neh. 9:10); Israel (Neh. 9:16,29); false prophets (Deut. 18:20); and murderers (Ex. 21:14). the humble. A rare word, which appears in Mic. 6:8: "walk humbly with your God." This humble and teachable spirit is first of all directed toward God (cf. 15:33; 16:18,19; 18:12; 22:4).

11:4 day of wrath. Money buys no escape from death in the day of final accounting to God, the divine Judge (cf. Is. 10:3; Ezek. 7:19; Zeph. 1:18; Luke 12:16-21).

11:11 Social influence for good or bad is in view.

11:12 despises. Lit. one who gossips, slanders, or destroys with words, in contrast to the silence of the wise. See notes on 10:14,18.

11:13 talebearer. This depicts someone who is a peddler in scandal, who speaks words deliberately intended to harm rather than merely unguarded speech (cf. Lev. 19:16).

11:14 multitude of counselors. As in 15:22; 20:18; 24:6, a good decision is made with multiple wise advisers. The more crucial the decision, the more appropriate is corporate wisdom. Note the example of David (2 Sam. 15:30–17:23).

11:15 See note on 6:1.

16 A gracious woman retains honor,
But ruthless men retain riches.
17 [o]The merciful man does good for his own soul,
But he who is cruel troubles his own flesh.
18 The wicked man does deceptive work,
But [p]he who sows righteousness will have a sure reward.
19 As righteousness leads to [q]life,
So he who pursues evil pursues it to his own [r]death.
20 Those who are of a perverse heart are an abomination to the LORD,
But the blameless in their ways are His delight.
21 [s]Though they join [7]forces, the wicked will not go unpunished;
But [t]the posterity of the righteous will be delivered.

22 As a ring of gold in a swine's snout,
So is a lovely woman who lacks [8]discretion.

23 The desire of the righteous is only good,
But the expectation of the wicked [u]is wrath.

24 There is one who [v]scatters, yet increases more;
And there is one who withholds more than is right,
But it leads to poverty.
25 [w]The generous soul will be made rich,
[x]And he who waters will also be watered himself.

CHAPTER 12

12 Whoever loves instruction loves knowledge,
But he who hates correction is stupid.

2 A good man obtains favor from the LORD,
But a man of wicked intentions He will condemn.

3 A man is not established by wickedness,
But the [a]root of the righteous cannot be moved.

3 [a] [Prov. 10:25]

11:16 gracious woman...ruthless men. While evil men may grasp at wealth, they will never attain the honor due a gracious woman (cf. 31:30).

11:18 deceptive work. The efforts of the wicked deceiver do not yield the riches his deception seeks, but the righteous receive a reward from God.

11:20 abomination. Defined throughout Scripture as attitudes, this involves words and behaviors which God hates (see 6:16).

11:21 Though they join forces. The combined power of the wicked cannot free them from just punishment, while the unaided children of the righteous find deliverance by reason of their relationship with God.

11:22 ring of gold. A nose ring was an ornament intended to beautify a woman in OT times (cf. Gen. 24:47; Is. 3:21; Ezek. 16:12). It was as out of place in a pig's nose as the lack of discretion was in a lovely lady.

11:23 desire...expectation. These terms refer to outcomes from God's perspective.

11:24-26 scatters, yet increases. The principle here is that generosity, by God's blessing, secures increase, while stinginess leads to poverty instead of expected gain. The one who gives receives far more in return (Ps. 112:9; Eccl. 11:1; John 12:24,25; Acts 20:35; 2 Cor. 9:6-9).

11:28 trusts in his riches. Cf. 23:4,5; see notes on 1 Tim. 6:17,19.

11:29 inherit the wind. The one who mismanages his house will see all he has blown away, and he will have nothing left in the end. He will serve the one who manages well (15:27).

11:30 tree of life. See note on 3:18. wins souls. Lit. "to take lives," in the sense of doing them good or influencing them with wisdom's ways (cf. Luke 5:10). The word is also used for capturing people for evil purposes as in 6:25; Ps. 31:13; Ezek. 13:18.

11:31 recompensed. God's final blessing and reward to the "righteous," and His judgment and punishment of the "ungodly and sinners" come after life on this earth has ended. But there are foretastes of both during life on the earth, as the righteous experience God's personal care and goodness, while the wicked are void of it.

12:1 stupid. From the Heb. "to graze"; he is as stupid as the brute cattle (cf. Pss. 49:20; 73:22).

12:3 root. The familiar image is of the righteous being firm like a flourishing tree (Ps. 1; Jer. 17:7,8).

4 [b]An [1]excellent wife is the crown of her husband,
But she who causes shame is [c]like rottenness in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the righteous are right,
But the counsels of the wicked are deceitful.

6 [d]The words of the wicked are, "Lie in wait for blood,"
[e]But the mouth of the upright will deliver them.

7 [f]The wicked are overthrown and are no more,
But the house of the righteous will stand.

8 A man will be commended according to his wisdom,
[g]But he who is of a perverse heart will be despised.

9 [h]Better is the one who is [2]slighted but has a servant,
Than he who honors himself but lacks bread.

10 [i]A righteous man regards the life of his animal,
But the tender mercies of the wicked are cruel.

11 [j]He who [3]tills his land will be satisfied with [k]bread,
But he who follows [4]frivolity [l]is devoid of [5]understanding.

12 The wicked covet the catch of evil men,
But the root of the righteous yields fruit.

13 [m]The wicked is ensnared by the transgression of his lips,
[n]But the righteous will come through trouble.

14 [o]A man will be satisfied with good by the fruit of his mouth,
[p]And the recompense of a man's hands will be rendered to him.

15 [q]The way of a fool is right in his own eyes,
But he who heeds counsel is wise.

16 [r]A fool's wrath is known at once,
But a prudent man covers shame.

17 [s]He who speaks truth declares righteousness,
But a false witness, deceit.

18 [t]There is one who speaks like the piercings of a sword,
But the tongue of the wise promotes health.

19 The truthful lip shall be established forever,
[u]But a lying tongue is but for a moment.

20 Deceit is in the heart of those who devise evil,
But counselors of peace have joy.

21 [v]No grave [6]trouble will overtake the righteous,
But the wicked shall be filled with evil.

22 [w]Lying lips are an abomination to the LORD,
But those who deal truthfully are His delight.

23 [x]A prudent man conceals knowledge,

22 [w] Prov. 6:17; 11:20; Rev. 22:15
23 [x] Prov. 13:16

12:4 excellent wife. See notes on 31:10; Ruth 3:11. For the opposite see 19:13; 21:9,19; 25:24; 27:15. rottenness in his bones. This speaks of suffering that is like a painful and incurable condition.

12:6 Lie in wait. See notes on 1:11,12.

12:7 house. The rewards of wise living are not only to individuals, but extend to one's household or family.

12:9 Better...than. This is the first of several proverbs which makes a distinct comparison using "better...than" (cf. 15:16,17; 16:8,19,32; 17:1,12; 19:1; 21:9,19; 25:7,24; 27:5,10; 28:6). slighted... honors himself. The obscure one of lowly rank, who can at least afford to hire a servant because of his honest gain is better than the one who falsely boasts about his prominence but is really poor.

12:10 regards...cruel. Lit. he has concern for the condition of his beast, while the wicked has no concern for people.

12:11 frivolity. Energy expended in worthless pursuits and fantasies is as useless as outright laziness. See notes on 6:6-11; 20:4; 24:30-34.

12:12 covet the catch. This refers to the desire for booty gained by the schemes of the wicked, contrasted with a simple life of obedience that produces blessing.

12:14 fruit of his mouth. This deals with the power of words; the reward of wise words is like the reward for physical labor (cf. 10:11; 15:4; 18:4).

12:16 covers shame. A model of self-control, the prudent man ignores an insult (cf. 9:7; 10:12).

12:17 speaks truth. In the court, the truthful witness promotes justice.

12:18 speaks...piercings. The contrast here is between cutting words that are "blurted out" (Ps. 106:33) and thoughtful words that bring health. Cf. Eph. 4:29,30.

12:20 Deceit. The contrasting parallel is implied, not stated. Those who plan evil by deceit have no joy because of the risks and dangers in their plan, but the righteous who lead by peace fear nothing, and thus have joy.

12:23 conceals. Unlike the fool who makes all hear his folly, the wise person is a model of restraint and humility, speaking what he knows at an appropriate time (cf. 29:11). See notes on 1:4; 10:14.

But the heart of fools proclaims foolishness.

24 [y]The hand of the diligent will rule,
But the lazy man will be put to forced labor.

25 [z]Anxiety in the heart of man causes depression,
But [a]a good word makes it glad.

26 The righteous should choose his friends carefully,
For the way of the wicked leads them astray.

27 The lazy man does not roast what he took in hunting,
But diligence is man's precious possession.

28 In the way of righteousness is life,
And in its pathway there is no
death.

13 A wise son heeds his father's instruction,
[a]But a scoffer does not listen to rebuke.

2 [b]A man shall eat well by the fruit of his mouth,
But the soul of the unfaithful feeds on violence.

3 [c]He who guards his mouth
preserves his life,
But he who opens wide his lips shall have destruction.

4 [d]The soul of a lazy man desires, and has nothing;
But the soul of the diligent shall be made rich.

5 A righteous man hates lying,
But a wicked man is loathsome and comes to shame.

7 [f]There is one who makes himself
rich, yet has nothing;
And one who makes himself poor,
yet has great riches.

8 The ransom of a man's life is his
riches,
But the poor does not hear rebuke.

9 The light of the righteous rejoices,
[g]But the lamp of the wicked will be put out.

10 By pride comes nothing but [h]strife,
But with the well-advised is
wisdom.

11 [i]Wealth gained by dishonesty will be diminished,
But he who gathers by labor will increase.

12 Hope deferred makes the heart sick,
But [j]when the desire comes, it is a tree of life.

13 He who [k]despises the word will be destroyed,
But he who fears the commandment will be rewarded.

14 [l]The law of the wise is a fountain of
life,
To turn one away from [m]the snares
of death.

15 Good understanding [1]gains [n]favor,
But the way of the unfaithful is hard.

knowledge,

16 [o] Prov. 12:23

12:24 forced labor. Unlike the hardworking people who have charge over their work, the lazy are eventually forced to go to work for the diligent to survive.

12:26 astray. Cf. 1 Cor. 15:33. This verse could be understood as saying that the righteous "guides" his friends carefully, unlike the wicked who leads his companions astray.

12:27 does not roast. The sluggard lacks commitment to make something of his opportunities (cf. vv. 11,25).

13:2,3 The parallels here are implied. A man of good words prospers, but a man of evil words (thus unfruitful to God) provokes violence against himself.

13:4 See notes on 6:6,11.

13:7 makes himself rich...makes himself poor. The same pretense is presented in two contrasting weaknesses; one pretends to be rich while the other pretends to be poor. In contrast, men should be honest and unpretentious (cf. 11:24; 2 Cor 6:10).

13:8 ransom...riches...poor...rebuke. Riches deliver some from punishment, while others suffer, because they will not heed the rebuke of laziness, which keeps them poor.

13:9 light...lamp. This image of life, prosperity, and joy is contrasted with adversity and death (cf. Job 3:20).

13:10 The proud spurn advice from others; the wise accept it.

13:11 Cf. 20:21.

13:12 tree of life. See note on 3:18.

13:13 word...commandment. These terms refer to divine revelation.

13:14 fountain of life. The same Heb. word for "well of life." See note on 10:11.

But a fool lays open his folly.

17 A wicked messenger falls into trouble,
But [p]a faithful ambassador brings health.

18 Poverty and shame will come to him who [2]disdains correction,

9 [g] Prov. 10:23 [2] Lit. guilt

13:16 lays open. The language vividly shows that a fool displays folly, like a peddler openly spreads out his wares for others to gaze upon. Cf. 12:23; 15:2.

13:19 The fool's relentless pursuit of evil and hatred of good does not ever let him taste the sweet blessings of obedience.

13:20 walks...companion. This speaks of the power of association to shape character. Cf. 1:10,18; 2:12; 4:14; 16:29; 22:24,25; 23:20; 28:7,19; Ps. 1.

13:21 This is a basic theme/general principle throughout Proverbs and is illustrated throughout the OT, which establishes that righteousness brings divine blessing and evil brings divine cursing.

13:22 leaves an inheritance. While good men's estates remain with their families, the wealth of the wicked does not. In the providence of God, it will ultimately belong to the righteous. Cf. 28:8; Job 27:16,17.

13:23 lack of justice. The contrast here is between the poor, but industrious, man who will be rewarded with provision from his efforts, and the rich man whose efforts are brought to ruin by his deeds of injustice (cf. James 5:1-6).

13:24 rod...disciplines...promptly. Early childhood teaching (see note on 22:6) requires both parental discipline, including corporal punishment (cf. 10:13; 19:18; 22:15; 29:15,17), and balanced kindness and love. There is great hope that the use of the "divine ordinance" of the rod will produce godly virtue (cf. 23:13,14) and parental joy (cf. 10:1; 15:20; 17:21; 23:15,16,24,25; 28:7; 29:1,15,17). Such discipline must have the right motivation (Heb. 12:5-11) and appropriate severity (Eph. 6:4). One who has genuine affection for his child, but withholds corporal punishment, will produce the same kind of child as a parent who hates his offspring.

13:25 This states more directly the teaching of vv. 13,18,21.

14:1 builds her house. Cf. the wise woman building her house (31:10-31) with lady wisdom building her house (9:1-6).

14:3 rod. A rare Heb. word that refers to a small shoot (see Is. 11:1). Here it is metaphoric for the proud, inflicting tongue in a fool's mouth, which destroys the fool and others (cf. 11:2; 16:18; 29:23).

14:7 Go. Avoid association with all who cannot teach you wisdom. Cf. 1 Tim 4:6,7; 6:3-5.

14:9 Fools mock at sin. While fools ridicule their impending judgment (cf. 1:26), the wise are promised favor with God (cf. Is. 1:11-20) and man (cf. 10:32; 11:27). Cf. 1 Sam. 2:26; Luke 2:40,52.

10 The heart knows its own bitterness,
And a stranger does not share its joy.

11 [h]The house of the wicked will be overthrown,
But the tent of the upright will flourish.

12 [i]There is a way that seems right to a man,
But [j]its end is the way of [k]death.

13 Even in laughter the heart may sorrow,
And [l]the end of mirth may be grief.

14 The backslider in heart will be [m]filled with his own ways,
But a good man will be satisfied [3]from [n]above.

15 The simple believes every word,
But the prudent considers well his steps.

16 [o]A wise man fears and departs from evil,
But a fool rages and is self-confident.

17 A quick-tempered man acts foolishly,
And a man of wicked intentions is hated.

18 The simple inherit folly,
But the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19 The evil will bow before the good,
And the wicked at the gates of the righteous.

23 In all labor there is profit,
But [5]idle chatter leads only to poverty.

24 The crown of the wise is their riches,

14:12 way of death. See notes on Matt. 7:13,14.

14:14 backslider in heart. This term, so often used by the prophets (Is. 57:17; Jer. 3:6,8,11,12,14,32; 8:5; 31:22; 49:4; Hos. 11:7; 14:4), is here used in such a way as to clarify who is a backslider. He belongs in the category of the fool, the wicked, and the disobedient and he is contrasted with the godly wise. It is a word that the prophets used of apostate unbelievers.

14:17 quick-tempered...wicked intentions. The contrast is between the hasty anger that is labeled as folly and the deliberate malice which produces hatred (Ps. 37:7).

14:19 evil will bow. The ancient custom was for the inferior to prostrate himself before the superior or wait humbly before the great one's gate seeking favor. Good will humble evil.

14:20 This sad-but-true picture of human nature is not given approvingly, but only as a fact.

14:24 foolishness of fools is folly. This is emphatic language, playing on the word "fool" and showing that the only reward for fools is more folly.

14:25 The truth produces justice, on which the lives of people may depend.

14:26 fear of the LORD. See note on 1:7.

14:27 fountain of life. See note on 10:11.

14:28 multitude of people. This is a truism stating that a king's honor comes from the support of his people as they increase and prosper (cf. 30:29-31).

14:29 Cf. v. 17.

14:30 sound heart...body. A healthy mind filled with wisdom is associated with a healthy body (cf. 3:5-8; 17:22). rottenness to the bones. See note on 12:4.

14:31 oppresses the poor...Maker. It offends the Creator when one neglects the poor, who are part of His creation (cf. 14:21; 17:5; 19:17; 21:13; 22:2,7; 28:8; 29:13).

But he who honors Him has mercy on the needy.

32 The wicked is banished in his wickedness,
But [z]the righteous has a refuge in his death.

33 Wisdom rests in the heart of him who has understanding,
But [a]what is in the heart of fools is made known.

34 Righteousness exalts a [b]nation,
But sin is a [8]reproach to any people.

35 [c]The king's favor is toward a wise servant,
But his wrath is against him who causes shame.

15 A [a]soft answer turns away wrath,
But [b]a harsh word stirs up anger.
2 The tongue of the wise uses knowledge rightly,
[c]But the mouth of fools pours forth foolishness.

3 [d]The eyes of the LORD are in every place,
Keeping watch on the evil and the good.

4 A [1]wholesome tongue is a tree of life,
But perverseness in it breaks the spirit.

5 [e]A fool despises his father's instruction,
[f]But he who [2]receives correction is prudent.

6 In the house of the righteous there is much treasure,
But in the revenue of the wicked is trouble.

7 The lips of the wise [3]disperse knowledge,
But the heart of the fool does not do so.

8 [g]The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination to the LORD,
But the prayer of the upright is His delight.

9 The way of the wicked is an abomination to the LORD,
But He loves him who [h]follows righteousness.

10 [i]Harsh discipline is for him who forsakes the way,
And [j]he who hates correction will die.

11 [k]Hell[4] and [5]Destruction are before the LORD;
So how much more [l]the hearts of the sons of men.

12 [m]A scoffer does not love one who corrects him,
Nor will he go to the wise.

13 [n]A merry heart makes a cheerful [6]countenance,
But [o]by sorrow of the heart the spirit is broken.

14 The heart of him who has understanding seeks knowledge,
But the mouth of fools feeds on foolishness.

15 All the days of the afflicted are evil,
[p]But he who is of a merry heart has a continual feast.

16 [q]Better is a little with the fear of the LORD,
Than great treasure with trouble.

15 [p] Prov. 17:22
16 [q] Ps. 37:16; Prov. 16:8; Eccl. 4:6; 1 Tim. 6:6

14:32 righteous...death. Cf. 23:18. Hope in death for the righteous is a central OT theme (cf. Job 19:25,26; Pss. 31:5; 49:14,15; 73:24; Eccl. 11:9; Is. 26:19; Dan. 12:1,2).

14:33 is made known. Wisdom is quietly preserved in the heart of the wise for the time of proper use, while fools are eager to blurt out their folly (cf. 12:23; 13:16; 15:2,14).

14:34 exalts. While just principles and actions preserve and even exalt a society, their absence shames a society (cf. 11:11).

14:35 causes shame. Cf. 10:5; 12:4.

15:2 See note on 14:33.

15:3 eyes of the LORD. Cf. 5:21. This refers to God's omniscience. Cf. 1 Sam 16:7; 2 Chr. 16:9; Job 24:23; Pss. 33:13-15; 139:1-16; Jer. 17:10.

15:4 tree of life. See note on 3:18. breaks the spirit. To crush or wound, thus to destroy one's morale (cf. Is. 65:14).

15:8 External acts of worship, though according to biblical prescription, are repulsive to God when the heart of the worshiper is wicked (cf. Is. 1:12-15; Amos 5:21; Mal. 1:11-14; Heb. 11:4,6).

15:10 the way. The way of truth and righteousness (see 2:13; 10:17).

15:11 Hell and Destruction. Cf. 27:20. Hell or Sheol is the place of the dead (see note on 1:12). "Destruction" refers to the experience of external punishment. Cf. Job 26:6.

15:13 Cf. v. 4.

15:15 continual feast. The joyous, inward condition of the wise man's heart (14:21) is described as a perpetual feast. Real happiness is always determined by the state of the heart (cf. Hab. 3:17,18; 1 Tim. 4:6-8).

15:16,17 See note on 12:9 for other "better...than" references.

15:16 fear of the LORD. See note on 1:7.

17 [r]Better is a dinner of [7]herbs where love is,
Than a fatted calf with hatred.

18 [s]A wrathful man stirs up strife,
But he who is slow to anger allays contention.

19 [t]The way of the lazy man is like a hedge of thorns,
But the way of the upright is a highway.

20 [u]A wise son makes a father glad,
But a foolish man despises his mother.

21 [v]Folly is joy to him who is destitute of [8]discernment,
[w]But a man of understanding walks
uprightly.

22 [x]Without counsel, plans go awry,
But in the multitude of counselors
they are established.

23 A man has joy by the answer of his
mouth,
And [y]a word spoken [9]in due season, how good it is!

24 [z]The way of life winds upward for the wise,
That he may [a]turn away from [1]hell
below.

25 [b]The LORD will destroy the house of the proud,
But [c]He will establish the boundary of the widow.

26 [d]The thoughts of the wicked are an
abomination to the LORD,
[e]But the words of the pure are pleasant.

27 [f]He who is greedy for gain troubles
his own house,
But he who hates bribes will live.

28 The heart of the righteous [g]studies
how to answer,
But the mouth of the wicked pours forth evil.

29 [h]The LORD is far from the wicked,
But [i]He hears the prayer of the righteous.

30 The light of the eyes rejoices the
heart,
And a good report makes the bones
[2]healthy.

31 The ear that hears the rebukes of life
Will abide among the wise.

32 He who disdains instruction
despises his own soul,
But he who heeds rebuke gets
understanding.

33 [j]The fear of the LORD is the instruction of wisdom,
And [k]before honor is humility.

16 The [a]preparations[1] of the heart belong to man,
[b]But the answer of the tongue is

15:17 dinner of herbs. Vegetables are in view, the typical dinner of the poor.

15:18 "Hotheads" are contrasted with "peacemakers" (cf. 14:17,29; 15:1; 28:25; 29:11,22).

15:19 thorns. He is too lazy to remove them. See notes on 6:6,11.

15:22 See note on 11:14.

15:24 hell below. See note on 1:12.

15:25 When evil men try to take the property of widows, God will intervene (cf. 22:28; 23:10,11). The most desolate (widows) who have God's help possess a more permanent dwelling place than the prosperous and self-reliant sinners.

15:27 bribes. Cf. 18:5; 24:23; 29:4; Ex. 23:8; Deut. 16:19; Ecc. 7:7; Is. 1:23.

15:28 mouth...wicked pours forth. Wicked people don't guard their words. See note on 12:23; cf. Eph. 4:29.

15:30 light of the eyes. This is a comparison, so that the "good report" defines this term. Whatever is good, sound truth and wisdom stirs the heart by relieving anxiety and producing a cheerful face (cf. 14:30; 15:13; 17:22).

15:31 ear that hears...wise. The acquiring of wisdom demands a teachable spirit.

15:33 fear of the LORD. See note on 1:7.

16:1 preparations...answer. Human responsibility is always subject to God's absolute sovereignty (cf. 3:6; 16:2,9,33; 19:21; 20:24; 21:1,30,31).

16:2 spirits. While man can be self-deceived, God determines his true motives (cf. 21:2; 24:12; 1 Sam. 16:7; 1 Cor. 4:4).

16:3 Commit. Lit. "roll upon" in the sense of both total trust (3:5-6) and submission to the will of God (Pss. 22:8; 37:5; 119:133); He will fulfill your righteous plans.

16:4 The wicked will bring glory to God in the day of their judgment and eternal punishment. See notes on Rom. 9:17-23.

[f]Yes, even the wicked for the day of [3]doom.

5 [g]Everyone proud in heart is an
abomination to the LORD;
Though they join [4]forces, none will go unpunished.

6 [h]In mercy and truth Atonement is provided for
iniquity;
And [i]by the fear of the LORD one departs from evil.

7 When a man's ways please the
LORD,
He makes even his enemies to be at peace with him.

8 [j]Better is a little with righteousness,
Than vast revenues without justice.

9 [k]A man's heart plans his way,
[l]But the LORD directs his steps.

10 Divination is on the lips of the king;
His mouth must not transgress in judgment.
11 [m]Honest weights and scales are the LORD's;
All the weights in the bag are His
[5]work.
12 It is an abomination for kings to commit wickedness,
For [n]a throne is established by
righteousness.
13 [o]Righteous lips are the delight of
kings,
And they love him who speaks
what is right.
14 As messengers of death is the king's wrath,
But a wise man will [p]appease it.
15 In the light of the king's face is life,
And his favor is like a [q]cloud of the latter rain.

16 [r]How much better to get wisdom than gold!
And to get understanding is to be chosen rather than silver.

17 The highway of the upright is to depart from evil;
He who keeps his way preserves his soul.

18 Pride goes before destruction,
And a haughty spirit before [6]a fall.
19 Better to be of a humble spirit with the lowly,
Than to divide the [7]spoil with the proud.

20 He who heeds the word wisely will find good,
And whoever [s]trusts in the LORD,
happy is he.

21 The wise in heart will be called prudent,
And sweetness of the lips increases
learning.

22 Understanding is a wellspring of life to him who has it.
But the correction of fools is folly.

23 The heart of the wise teaches his
mouth,
And adds learning to his lips.

18 [6] stumbling
19 [7] plunder
20 [s] Ps. 34:8; Jer. 17:7

16:6 By God's "mercy and truth," He affects the "atonement" or covering of sin, which for the believing sinner inclines him to depart from evil. See notes on Lev. 16:1-34; 17:11 for explanation of atonement. fear of the LORD. See note on 1:7.

16:7 This general rule does not preclude persecution from some. See note on 2 Tim. 3:12.

16:8 righteousness...justice. These words are synonyms here.

16:9 See notes on vv. 1,2. Sovereign God overrules the plans of men to fulfill His purposes. See Gen. 50:20; 1 Kin. 12:15; Ps. 119:133; Jer. 10:23; Dan. 5:23-30; 1 Cor. 3:19,20.

16:10 Divination. This does not imply any occultic practice forbidden in Lev. 19:26, but is literally a decision from divine wisdom, in the words of the king who represented God. The king was under mandate (Deut. 17:18-20) to seek out and speak God's wisdom (cf. David in 2 Sam. 14:17-20; Solomon in 1 Kin. 3:9-12; and Christ as King in Is. 11:2).

16:11 See note on 11:1.

16:12 See note on 14:34.

16:14 This points to the king's power of "life or death," which can be abused (cf. 1 Sam. 22:16-18; Esth. 7–10; Dan. 2:5) or used for good (cf. 2 Sam. 1:1-16; 4:5-12).

16:15 cloud of the latter rain. The late spring rain, which matured the crop, fell before the harvest (cf. 2 Sam. 23:3,4; Ps. 72:6) and is here compared to the king's power to grace his subjects with encouragement.

16:16 better. Cf. 3:13-16; 8:10,11,18,19.

16:17 A plain road represents the habitual course of the righteous in departing from evil. As long as he stays on it, he is safe.

16:19 The proud are those who have plundered the poor.

16:21 sweetness of the lips. "Honeyed words," which reflect intelligence, judiciousness, and discernment in speech. This refers to eloquent discourse from the wise (cf. v. 24).

16:22 wellspring of life. See note on 10:11. The advice of the understanding person brings blessing, while the correction offered by a fool is useless.

16:23 heart. See note on 4:21-23.

16:24 Pleasant words. See note on v. 21; cf. 24:13,14; Ps. 19:10.

Sweetness to the soul and health to the bones.

25 There is a way that seems right to a man,
But its end is the way of [t]death.

26 The person who labors, labors for himself,
For his hungry mouth drives [u]him on.

27 [8]An ungodly man digs up evil,
And it is on his lips like a burning [v]fire.
28 A perverse man sows strife,
And [w]a whisperer separates the best of friends.
29 A violent man entices his neighbor,
And leads him in a way that is not good.
30 He winks his eye to devise perverse things;
He [9]purses his lips and brings about evil.

31 [x]The silver-haired head is a crown of glory,
If it is found in the way of righteousness.

32 [y]He who is slow to anger is better than the mighty,
And he who rules his spirit than he who takes a city.

33 The lot is cast into the lap,
But its every decision is from the LORD.

17 Better is [a]a dry morsel with quietness,
Than a house full of [1]feasting with strife.

2 A wise servant will rule over [b]a son who causes shame,
And will share an inheritance among the brothers.

3 The refining pot is for silver and the furnace for gold,
[c]But the LORD tests the hearts.

4 An evildoer gives heed to false lips;
A liar listens eagerly to a [2]spiteful tongue.

5 [d]He who mocks the poor reproaches his Maker;
[e]He who is glad at calamity will not go unpunished.

6 [f]Children's children are the crown of old men,
And the glory of children is their father.

7 Excellent speech is not becoming to a fool,
Much less lying lips to a prince.

8 A present is a precious stone in the eyes of its possessor;
Wherever he turns, he prospers.

9 [g]He who covers a transgression seeks love,
But [h]he who repeats a matter separates friends.

10 [i]Rebuke is more effective for a wise man
Than a hundred blows on a fool.

10 [i] Prov. 10:17; [Mic. 7:9]

16:25 way of death. Cf. 14:12.

16:26 labors for himself. Labor is hard and often grievous, but necessary, even for the lazy (cf. Eccl. 6:7; Eph. 4:28; 6:7; 2 Thess. 3:10-12).

16:27 ungodly man. See note on 6:12. He literally digs a pit for his neighbor as a hunter would for prey (cf. Pss. 7:15; 62:6), and his speech is incendiary (cf. James 3:6).

16:28 sows. The same root word is used for the release of flaming foxes in the grain fields of the Philistines (Judg. 15:4,5; cf. 17:9). whisperer. A slanderer or gossip. See note on 6:14; cf. 8:8; 26:20,22 for the same Heb. term.

16:30 purses. The idea of winking or squinting the eyes and compressing one's lips was to express the posture connoting deep thought and determined purpose.

16:31 This calls for respecting elders. Cf. 20:29.

16:32 slow to anger. See notes on 14:17; 25:28. Cf. Eccl. 9:17,18; James 1:19,20.

16:33 lot. See note on 16:1. Casting lots was a method often used to reveal God's purposes in a matter (cf. Josh. 14:1,2; 1 Sam. 14:38-43; 1 Chr. 25:8-31; Jon. 1:7; Acts 1:26). The High-Priest may have carried lots in his sacred vest, along with the Urim and Thummim (see note on Ex. 28:30).

17:1 Cf. 15:17.

17:2 wise servant...inheritance. A faithful servant will rise above an unworthy son and receive an inheritance (cf. 11:29; 1 Kin. 11:26,28-38; Matt. 8:11,12).

17:3 refining pot. This was a heated crucible used to test and refine precious metal. Cf. Ps. 66:10; Is. 1:25; 48:10; Jer. 6:29; Ezek. 22:17-22; Dan 12:10; Mal. 3:3.

17:5 Cf. 14:21,31.

17:6 Children's children. Godly influence generates mutual love and respect in a family, which extends from generation to generation (cf. Ps. 90 with Ex. 20:12).

17:8 present. This refers to a bribe that brings prosperity to its recipient (v. 23; 15:27).

17:9 Cf. 16:28; 18:8.

17:10 For the theme of a teachable spirit, cf. 9:7,8; 15:31-33.

11 An evil man seeks only rebellion;
Therefore a cruel messenger will be sent against him.

12 Let a man meet [j]a bear robbed of her cubs,
Rather than a fool in his folly.

13 Whoever [k]rewards evil for good,
Evil will not depart from his house.

14 The beginning of strife is like releasing water;
Therefore [l]stop contention before a quarrel starts.

15 [m]He who justifies the wicked, and he who condemns the just,
Both of them alike are an
abomination to the LORD.

16 Why is there in the hand of a fool
the purchase price of wisdom,
Since he has no heart for it?

17 [n]A friend loves at all times,
And a brother is born for adversity.

18 [o]A man devoid of [3]understanding
[4]shakes hands in a pledge,
And becomes [5]surety for his friend.

19 He who loves transgression loves strife,
And [p]he who exalts his gate seeks destruction.

20 He who has a [6]deceitful heart finds no good,
And he who has [q]a perverse tongue falls into evil.

21 He who begets a scoffer does so to his sorrow,
And the father of a fool has no joy.

22 A [r]merry heart [7]does good, like medicine,
But a broken spirit dries the bones.

23 A wicked man accepts a bribe
[8]behind the back
To pervert the ways of justice.

24 [s]Wisdom is in the sight of him who has understanding,
But the eyes of a fool are on the ends of the earth.

25 A [t]foolish son is a grief to his father,
And bitterness to her who bore him.

26 Also, to punish the righteous is not good,
Nor to strike princes for their uprightness.

27 [u]He who has knowledge spares his
words,
And a man of understanding is of a calm spirit.

28 [v]Even a fool is counted wise when he holds his peace;
When he shuts his lips, he is considered perceptive.

18 A man who isolates himself seeks his own desire;
He rages against all [1]wise
judgment.

2 A fool has no delight in understanding,
But in expressing his [a]own heart.

CHAPTER 18

1 [1] sound wisdom
2 [a] Eccl. 10:3

17:11 Just retribution comes against people who rebel, and thus the king's messenger will have no mercy (cf. 16:14; 2 Sam. 20:1-22; 1 Kin. 2:25,29,34,46).

17:12 Fools are less rational in anger than wild bears.

17:13 evil for good. Solomon knew this proverb well since his father mistreated Uriah (cf. 2 Sam. 12:10-31). Contrast this with the man who repays evil with good (cf. 20:22; Matt. 5:43-48; 1 Pet. 3:9).

17:14 releasing water. The smallest break in the dam sets loose an uncontrollable flood force.

17:15 The unjust judge is controlled by his pride, prejudice, bribes, and passions. See note on 24:23b-25; cf. Ex. 23:7; Is. 5:23.

17:16 Even wealth cannot buy wisdom for those who do not love it. Cf. 4:7.

17:17 The difference between a friend and brother is noted here. A true friend is a constant source of love, while a brother in one's family may not be close, but is drawn near to help in trouble. Friends are closer than brothers because they are available all the time, not just in the crisis. Cf. 18:24.

17:18 See notes on 6:1,2-4.

17:19 exalts his gate. The image here is of the proud who flaunts his wealth with a huge house having a large front door and who thus invites death (cf. Jer. 22:13-19).

17:20 perverse. Cf. 10:31.

17:21 Cf. 10:1; 15:20; 17:25; 19:26.

17:22 Cf. 14:30; 15:13,30; 16:14; Job 29:24.

17:23 See note on v. 8.

17:24 ends of the earth. This refers to the fool's roving fixations in the absence of wisdom.

17:25 Cf. v. 21.

17:26 punish...strike. Here is a clear statement on political and religious injustice, focusing on the equally bad mistreatment of the innocent and the noble.

17:27 spares. Cf. 10:19; 14:29; 15:18; 16:27,32; 29:20.

17:28 fool is counted wise. This is not saying that fools show wisdom in their silence, but that silence conceals their folly.

18:1 isolates himself. This man seeks selfish gratification and accepts advice from no one.

18:2 Cf. Eccl. 10:12-14.

3 When the wicked comes, contempt comes also;
And with dishonor comes reproach.

4 [b]The words of a man's mouth are deep waters;
[c]The wellspring of wisdom is a flowing brook.

5 It is not good to show partiality to
the wicked,
Or to overthrow the righteous in [d]judgment.

6 A fool's lips enter into contention,
And his mouth calls for blows.
7 [e]A fool's mouth is his destruction,
And his lips are the snare of his [f]soul.
8 [g]The words of a [2]talebearer are like
[3]tasty trifles,
And they go down into the
[4]inmost body.

9 He who is slothful in his work
Is a brother to him who is a great destroyer.

10 The name of the LORD is a strong
[h]tower;
The righteous run to it and are [5]safe.
11 The rich man's wealth is his strong
city,
And like a high wall in his own esteem.

12 [i]Before destruction the heart of a man is haughty,
And before honor is humility.

13 He who answers a matter before he hears it,
It is folly and shame to him.

14 The spirit of a man will sustain him in sickness,
But who can bear a broken spirit?

15 The heart of the prudent acquires
knowledge,
And the ear of the wise seeks
knowledge.

16 [j]A man's gift makes room for him,
And brings him before great men.

17 The first one to plead his cause seems right,
Until his neighbor comes and examines him.

18 Casting [k]lots causes contentions to cease,
And keeps the mighty apart.

19 A brother offended is harder to win
than a strong city,
And contentions are like the bars of a castle.

20 [l]A man's stomach shall be satisfied from the fruit of his mouth;
From the produce of his lips he shall be filled.

21 [m]Death and life are in the power of the tongue,
And those who love it will eat its fruit.

22 [n]He who finds a wife finds a good thing,
And obtains favor from the LORD.

23 The poor man uses entreaties,
But the rich answers [o]roughly.

4 [b] Prov. 10:11 [c] [James 3:17]

10 [h] 2 Sam. 22:2, 3, 33; Ps. 18:2; 61:3; 91:2; 144:2 [5] secure, lit. set on high

21 [m] Prov. 12:13; 13:3; Matt. 12:37
22 [n] Gen. 2:18; [Prov. 12:4; 19:14]
23 [o] James 2:3, 6

18:3 Sin and punishment are inseparably connected, as evil produces both the feeling of contempt in others and its manifestation, reproach.

18:4 words...deep waters. Wise speech is like a deep, inexhaustible stream of blessing.

18:5 Cf. 17:26; 28:21.

18:6,7 The fool self-destructs. Cf. 12:13; 17:14,19,28; 19:29; 20:3.

18:8 tasty trifles. This comes from a Heb. word, meaning "to swallow greedily." The proverb is repeated in 26:22.

18:9 slothful...destroyer. To leave a work half done or poorly done is to destroy it. See notes on 6:1,11.

18:10 The name of the LORD. This expression, found only here in Proverbs, stands for the manifest perfections of God such as faithfulness, power, mercy, and wisdom, on which the righteous rely for security (cf. Ex. 3:15; 15:1-3; Ps. 27:4,5)

18:11 This proverb repeats 10:15 and contrasts with v. 10.

18:12 Cf. 16:18.

18:14 broken spirit. Cf. 12:25; 15:13. When the spirit is broken, people lose hope.

18:16 man's gift. This is not the word for a bribe (cf. 17:23), but rather the word for a present given to someone (cf. Jacob's gift, Gen. 32:20,21; Joseph's gift, Gen. 43:11; David's gift, 1 Sam. 17:17,18; and Abigail's gift, 1 Sam. 25:27).

18:17 See v. 13. Cross-examination avoids hasty judgment.

18:18 lots. See note on 16:33.

18:19 There are no feuds as difficult to resolve as those with relatives; no barriers are so hard to bring down. Hence, great care should be taken to avoid such conflicts. bars of a castle. Cf. Judg. 16:3; 1 Kin. 4:13; Neh. 3:3; Is. 45:2.

18:20 the produce of his lips. See notes on 12:14; 13:2,3. The consequences of one's words should produce satisfaction and fulfillment.

18:21 Death and life. The greatest good and the greatest harm are in the power of the tongue (cf. James 3:6-10).

18:22 Cf. 12:4; 19:14; 31:10-31.

18:23 The rich do not need favors from others, so they do not care how they treat people.

A man who has friends [6]must himself be friendly,
[p]But there is a friend who sticks closer than a brother.

19 Better [a]is the poor who walks in his integrity
Than one who is perverse in his lips, and is a fool.

2 Also it is not good for a soul to be without knowledge,
And he sins who hastens with his feet.

3 The foolishness of a man twists his
way,
And his heart frets against the LORD.

4 [b]Wealth makes many friends,
But the poor is separated from his friend.

5 A [c]false witness will not go
unpunished,
And he who speaks lies will not escape.

6 Many entreat the favor of the nobility,
And every man is a friend to one who gives gifts.

7 [d]All the brothers of the poor hate
him;
How much more do his friends go
[e]far from him!
He may pursue them with words,
yet they [1]abandon him.

8 He who gets [2]wisdom loves his own soul;
He who keeps understanding [f]will find good.

24 [p] Prov. 17:17; [John 15:14, 15] [6] So with Gr. mss., Syr., Tg., Vg.; MT may come to ruin

4 [b] Prov. 14:20
5 [c] Ex. 23:1; Deut. 19:16-19; Prov. 6:19; 21:28
7 [d] Prov. 14:20 [e] Ps. 38:11 [1] Lit. are not
8 [f] Prov. 16:20 [2] Lit. heart

9 A false witness will not go
unpunished,
And he who speaks lies shall perish.

10 Luxury is not fitting for a fool,
Much less [g]for a servant to rule over princes.

11 [h]The discretion of a man makes him
slow to anger,
[i]And his glory is to overlook a transgression.

12 [j]The king's wrath is like the roaring of a lion,
But his favor is [k]like dew on the grass.

13 [l]A foolish son is the ruin of his father,
[m]And the contentions of a wife are a continual [3]dripping.

14 [n]Houses and riches are an inheritance from fathers,
But [o]a prudent wife is from the
LORD.

15 [p]Laziness casts one into a deep
sleep,
And an idle person will [q]suffer hunger.

16 [r]He who keeps the commandment keeps his soul,
But he who [4]is careless of his ways
will die.

17 [s]He who has pity on the poor lends to the LORD,
And He will pay back what he has given.

16 [r] Prov. 13:13; 16:17; Luke 10:28; 11:28 [4] Is reckless, lit. despises
17 [s] Deut. 15:7, 8; Job 23:12, 13; Prov. 28:27; Eccl. 11:1; Matt. 10:42; 25:40; [2 Cor. 9:6-8]; Heb. 6:10

18:24 must himself be friendly. The best text says "may come to ruin" (see margin) and warns that the person who makes friends too easily and indiscriminately does so to his own destruction. On the other hand, a friend chosen wisely is more loyal than a brother. friend. This is a strong word meaning "one who loves" and was used of Abraham, God's friend (2 Chr. 20:7; Is. 41:8; cf. 1 Sam. 18:1; 2 Sam. 1:26).

19:1 Integrity is better than wealth. Cf. 15:16,17; 16:8.

19:2 sins. Lit. "to miss the mark." hastens with his feet. Rashness, the result of ignorance, brings trouble.

19:3 his heart frets. The fool blames God for his troubles and failures (cf. Gen. 4:5; Is. 8:21; Lam. 3:39-41).

19:4 Wealth makes. Cf. v. 7; 14:20. Lit. wealth adds new friends while poverty alienates existing friends who grow weary of the demands of the poor.

19:5,9 For the sin of perjury, cf. 6:19; 12:17; 14:5,25; 19:9; Deut. 19:18-21.

19:6 Generosity or bribery could be the issue.

19:7 See note on v. 4.

19:10 Neither are suited for possessions or responsibilities beyond their capabilities of managing wisely (cf. 30:21-23).

19:11 slow to anger. See note on 14:17.

19:12 This is a call to submit to governmental authority. Cf. Rom. 13:1-4; 1 Pet. 2:13-17.

19:13 continual dripping. An obstinate, argumentative woman is literally like a leak so unrelenting that one has to run from it or go mad. Here are two ways to devastate a man: an ungodly son and an irritating wife.

19:14 One receives inheritance as a family blessing (a result of human birth), but a wise wife (cf. 31:10-31) is a result of divine blessing. Cf. 12:4; 18:22; 31:10-31.

19:15 See notes on 6:6,11.

19:16 commandment. Wisdom is equated with God's commandments. In a sense, Proverbs contain the applications and implications of all that is in God's moral law.

19:17 See note on 14:31.

18 [t]Chasten your son while there is hope,
And do not set your heart [5]on his destruction.

19 A man of great wrath will suffer punishment;
For if you rescue him, you will have to do it again.

20 Listen to counsel and receive instruction,
That you may be wise [u]in your latter days.

21 There are many plans in a man's heart,
[v]Nevertheless the LORD's counsel—that will stand.

22 What is desired in a man is [6]kindness,
And a poor man is better than a liar.

23 [w]The fear of the LORD leads to life,
And he who has it will abide in satisfaction;
He will not be visited with evil.

24 [x]A lazy man buries his hand in the [7]bowl,
And will not so much as bring it to his mouth again.

25 Strike a scoffer, and the simple [y]will become wary;
[z]Rebuke one who has understanding, and he will discern knowledge.

26 He who mistreats his father and chases away his mother
Is [a]a son who causes shame and brings reproach.

27 Cease listening to instruction, my son,
And you will stray from the words of knowledge.

28 A [8]disreputable witness scorns justice,
And [b]the mouth of the wicked devours iniquity.

29 Judgments are prepared for scoffers,
[c]And beatings for the backs of fools.

20 Wine [a]is a mocker,
Strong drink is a brawler,
And whoever is led astray by it is not wise.

2 The [1]wrath of a king is like the roaring of a lion;
Whoever provokes him to anger sins against his own life.

3 [b]It is honorable for a man to stop striving,
Since any fool can start a quarrel.

4 [c]The lazy man will not plow because of winter;
[d]He will beg during harvest and have nothing.

5 Counsel in the heart of man is like deep water,
But a man of understanding will draw it out.

6 Most men will proclaim each his own [2]goodness,

4 [c] Prov. 10:4 [d] Prov. 19:15
6 [2] Lit. mercy

19:18 Chasten. See notes on 3:11; 13:24; 22:6.

19:19 Repeated acts of kindness are wasted on ill-natured people.

19:21 See note on 16:1.

19:22 Rich liars are not kind since their lies bring harm; a kind poor man is more desirable.

19:23 fear of the LORD. See note on 1:7.

19:24 The lazy man's lack of action to move his hand from the flat, metal food saucer up to his mouth is because he is too lazy, as explained in 26:15.

19:25 scoffer...simple...understanding. Three classes of people are noted: 1) scoffers are rebuked for learning nothing; 2) simpletons are warned by observing the rebuke of the scoffer; and 3) the understanding deepen their wisdom from any reproof.

19:26 mistreats. Cf. 10:1; 15:20; 17:21,25; 28:24. The son appears to come into possession of his father's property during his parents' lifetime, but rather than caring for them, he drives them out (cf. Ex. 20:12; 21:15,17).

19:28 disreputable witness. See note on 12:17.

19:29 See note on 10:13.

20:1 Wine...strong drink. This begins a new theme of temperance (see 23:20,21,29-35; 31:4,5). Wine was grape juice mixed with water to dilute it, but strong drink was unmixed (see note on Eph. 5:18). While the use of these beverages is not specifically condemned (Deut. 14:26), being intoxicated always is (Is. 28:7). Rulers were not to drink, so their judgment would not be clouded nor their behavior less than exemplary (see 31:4,5). See note on 1 Tim 3:3. mocker...brawler. "Mocker" is the same word as "scoffer" in 19:25,29; a brawler is violent, loud, and uncontrolled. Both words describe the personality of the drunkard.

20:2 See notes on 16:14; 19:12. Men who resist governmental authority injure themselves. See notes on Rom. 13:1-5.

20:3 Cf. 15:18; 17:14; 19:11.

20:4 lazy man. See notes on 6:6,11.

20:5 deep water. The wise man has keen discernment reaching to the deepest intentions of the heart to grasp wise counsel (cf. 18:4; Heb. 4:12).

20:6 There are a lot more people who are eager to brag about themselves than there are those who are truly faithful to testify of God's goodness.

But who can find a faithful man?

7 [e]The righteous man walks in his integrity;
[f]His children are blessed after him.

8 A king who sits on the throne of judgment
Scatters all evil with his eyes.

9 [g]Who can say, "I have made my heart clean,
I am pure from my sin"?

10 [h]Diverse weights and diverse measures,
They are both alike, an abomination to the LORD.

11 Even a child is [i]known by his deeds,
Whether what he does is pure and right.

12 [j]The hearing ear and the seeing eye,
The LORD has made them both.

13 [k]Do not love sleep, lest you come to poverty;
Open your eyes, and you will be satisfied with bread.

14 "It is [3]good for nothing," cries the buyer;
But when he has gone his way, then he boasts.

15 There is gold and a multitude of rubies,
But [l]the lips of knowledge are a precious jewel.

17 [n]Bread gained by deceit is sweet to a man,
But afterward his mouth will be filled with gravel.

18 [o]Plans are established by counsel;
[p]By wise counsel wage war.

19 [q]He who goes about as a talebearer reveals secrets;
Therefore do not associate with one [r]who flatters with his lips.

20 [s]Whoever curses his father or his mother,
[t]His lamp will be put out in deep darkness.

21 [u]An inheritance gained hastily at the beginning
[v]Will not be blessed at the end.

22 [w]Do not say, "I will [4]recompense evil";
[x]Wait for the LORD, and He will save you.

23 Diverse weights are an abomination to the LORD,

20:7 integrity. See note on 10:9.

20:8 Scatters. The king as judge lit. "winnows" or "sifts" (as in v. 26) data as he discerns evil and good (cf. Is. 11:3,4).

20:9 No one can make himself sinless. Cf. Job 14:4; Rom. 3:10,23; 1 John 1:8. Those whose sin has been forgiven are pure before God (Ps. 51:1,2,9,10).

20:10 See note on 11:1; cf. 20:23.

20:12 Because God has given man the ability to hear and see, it should be obvious that He hears and sees everything (see Ps. 94:9).

20:13 See notes on 6:6,11.

20:14 The buyer purposely undervalues the thing he is negotiating to purchase, in order to bring down the price. Afterward, he brags about his cleverness.

20:15 Wealth is a blessing when honestly gained, but wisdom is more desirable. See notes on 3:13-15; 8:10,11,18; 16:16.

20:16 See note on 6:1. Garments were common security for a loan but they always had to be returned by sundown (Ex. 22:26,27; Deut. 24:10-13). "Seductress" is more likely "foreigner." Anyone who foolishly has taken on the responsibility for the debt of a stranger or an immoral woman will likely never be paid back, so he will never pay his creditor unless his own garment is taken as security.

20:18 wise counsel. Cf. 11:14; 15:22; Luke 14:28-32.

20:19 talebearer. Those who love to spread secrets will flatter to learn them.

20:20 lamp will be put out. Cf. 13:9. This grievous sin (cf. 30:11,17; Ex. 21:17; Lev. 20:9) will result in death.

20:21 gained hastily. This implies an unjust method in gaining the inheritance, so that it will be lost by the same unjust ways or by punishment (cf. 13:11; 21:5,6; 28:20,22).

20:22 "I will recompense evil." God, not man, avenges evil (cf. Deut. 32:35; Rom. 12:17,19; Heb. 10:30) and delivers from the wicked.

20:23 Cf. v. 10; see note on 11:1.

20:24 See notes on 16:1,9,33. Since a man cannot comprehend the unfolding purposes of God's providence in his life, he has to walk in faith.

20:25 to devote rashly. To declare something sacred, i.e., promising it to God in consecration as an offering, was irreversible and,

And afterward to reconsider his vows.

26 [y]A wise king sifts out the wicked,
And brings the threshing wheel over them.

27 [z]The spirit of a man is the lamp of the LORD,
Searching all the [5]inner depths of his heart.

28 [a]Mercy and truth preserve the king,
And by [6]lovingkindness he upholds his throne.

29 The glory of young men is their strength,
And [b]the splendor of old men is their gray head.

30 Blows that hurt cleanse away evil,
As do stripes the [7]inner depths of the heart.

21 The king's heart is in the hand of the LORD,
Like the [1]rivers of water; He turns it wherever He wishes.

2 [a]Every way of a man is right in his own eyes,
[b]But the LORD weighs the hearts.

3 [c]To do righteousness and justice
Is more acceptable to the LORD than sacrifice.

4 [d]A haughty look, a proud heart,
And the [2]plowing of the wicked are sin.

7 The violence of the wicked will [4]destroy them,
Because they refuse to do justice.

8 The way of [5]a guilty man is perverse;
But as for the pure, his work is right.

9 Better to dwell in a corner of a housetop,
Than in a house shared with [g]a contentious woman.

10 [h]The soul of the wicked desires evil;
His neighbor finds no favor in his eyes.

11 When the scoffer is punished, the simple is made wise;
But when the [i]wise is instructed, he receives knowledge.

12 The righteous God wisely considers the house of the wicked,
Overthrowing the wicked for their wickedness.

13 [j]Whoever shuts his ears to the cry of the poor
Will also cry himself and not be heard.

20:30 Wise use of corporal punishment deters evil behavior. See note on 10:13.

21:1 He turns it. See notes on 16:1,9,33; cf. 19:21; 20:24. Note the examples of the divine hand of God in the cases of Artaxerxes (Ezra 7:21-23), Tiglath-Pileser (Is. 10:5-7), Cyrus (Is. 45:1-4), and Nebuchadnezzar (Dan. 4:34; 5:23-25).

21:2 See note on 16:2.

21:3 See notes on 15:8; 21:27 (cf. 1 Sam. 15:22; Is. 1:10-20; Hos. 6:6; Mic. 6:6-8).

21:4 plowing. Cf. 6:17; 30:13; Pss. 18:27; 131:1. This is best understood as the "lamp of the wicked" (see margin), "lamp" being used as a symbol for the eyes, which conveys their pride.

21:5-7 These verses address the evils of ill-gotten gain. They show 3 major defects in the way this gain is acquired: 1) hastily (v. 5; cf. 19:2; 28:20); 2) deceitfully (v. 6; cf. 13:11); and 3) violently (v. 7; cf. 12:6).

21:7 Cf. 1:18,19.

21:9 corner of a housetop. Since roofs were open like patios (cf. Deut. 22:8; 1 Sam. 9:25; 1 Kin. 4:10), a small arbor or enclosure in the corner of a flat roof was a very inconvenient place to live. contentious woman. Cf. v. 19; 19:13; 25:24; 27:15,16; see note on 19:13.

21:10 wicked desires evil. So strongly does he seek to do evil (cf. Eccl. 8:11) that he will not even spare his neighbor if he gets in his way.

21:11 See note on 19:25.

21:12 See note on 20:22; cf. 10:25; 14:11.

CHAPTER 22

1 [a] [Prov. 10:7]; Eccl. 7:1

3 [d] Prov. 27:12; Is. 26:20

21:16 This is proven in the account of the simple man who was seduced (2:18; 7:22,23; 9:18).

21:17 wine and oil. These are associated with unbridled luxury in feasting (Deut. 14:26; Neh. 8:12; Ps. 104:15; Amos 6:6; John 12:5). Costly indulgences impoverish.

21:18 By suffering the very thing they had devised for the righteous, or brought on them, the wicked became their ransom, in the sense of being a substitute in judgment.

21:19 See note on 19:13.

21:21 Those who pursue "righteousness" and "mercy" receive more than they seek (see Matt. 5:6,7; 6:33).

21:22 Cf. 24:5. Wisdom is better than strength (cf. Eccl. 7:19; 9:15).

21:26 The sin of covetousness marks the lazy man as the virtue of benevolence marks the righteous.

21:27 See note on 15:8; cf. v. 3; Is. 1:13-15.

21:28 false witness. See note on 12:17.

21:29 The wicked become obstinate, maintaining what suits them without regard for others or the truth, while good people proceed with integrity.

21:31 prepared...deliverance. This is not a condemnation of adequate preparation but rather of reliance on it for victory, instead of on the Lord (cf. Ezra 8:22; Ps. 20:7; Is. 31:1-3; Hos. 1:7).

22:3 Wise people see the approach of sin and remove themselves from it, while naive people walk right into it and suffer the consequences.

22:4 fear of the LORD. See note on 1:7.

6 [e]Train up a child in the way he should go,

7 The [f]rich rules over the poor,
And the borrower is servant to the lender.

8 He who sows iniquity will reap [g]sorrow,[2]
And the rod of his anger will fail.

9 [h]He who has a [3]generous eye will be [i]blessed,
For he gives of his bread to the poor.

10 [j]Cast out the scoffer, and contention will leave;
Yes, strife and reproach will cease.

11 [k]He who loves purity of heart
And has grace on his lips,
The king will be his friend.

12 The eyes of the LORD preserve knowledge,
But He overthrows the words of the faithless.

13 [l]The lazy man says, "There is a lion outside!
I shall be slain in the streets!"

14 [m]The mouth of an immoral woman is a deep pit;
[n]He who is abhorred by the LORD will fall there.

15 Foolishness is bound up in the heart of a child;
[o]The rod of correction will drive it far from him.

16 He who oppresses the poor to increase his riches,
And he who gives to the rich, will surely come to poverty.

Sayings of the Wise

17 Incline your ear and hear the words of the wise,
And apply your heart to my knowledge;
18 For it is a pleasant thing if you keep them within you;
Let them all be fixed upon your lips,
19 So that your trust may be in the LORD;
I have instructed you today, even you.
20 Have I not written to you excellent things
Of counsels and knowledge,
21 [p]That I may make you know the certainty of the words of truth,
[q]That you may answer words of truth
To those who [4]send to you?

22 Do not rob the [r]poor because he is poor,
Nor oppress the afflicted at the gate;
23 [s]For the LORD will plead their cause,

6 [e] Eph. 6:4; 2 Tim. 3:15 [1] Even

22:6 way he should go. There is only one right way, God's way, the way of life. That way is specified in great detail in Proverbs. Since it is axiomatic that early training secures lifelong habits, parents must insist upon this way, teaching God's Word and enforcing it with loving discipline consistently throughout the child's upbringing. See note on 13:24. Cf. Deut. 4:9; 6:6-8; 11:18-21; Josh. 24:15; Eph. 6:4.

22:7 rich rules. While this is naturally true, the Law and Prophets condemned those who were oppressive (cf. 22:22,23; Deut. 24:14-18; Is. 5:8; Jer. 34:13,17; Mic. 2:2).

22:8,9 generous eye. A reference to generosity in that he looks with a desire to give. The principle of sowing and reaping is emphasized. Cf. Job 4:8; Hos. 8:7; 10:13; 2 Cor. 9:6; Gal. 6:7-9.

22:11 Even the most powerful are drawn to the wise (cf. Eccl. 10:12).

22:12 the eyes of the LORD. See note on 15:3. God's sovereign omniscience protects the principles and possessors of divine knowledge.

22:13 a lion outside. Cf. 26:13. The lazy give lame excuses for not leaving the house to work. See notes on 6:6,11.

22:14 The flattering seductions of such a woman lure men into a pit as God makes their sin its own punishment. See note on 2:16; cf. 5:3; 7:5.

22:15 See note on 13:24.

22:16 These two vices reflect the same selfish attitude: withholding from the poor to keep what one has, and giving to the rich to induce them to give one more. Both are unacceptable to God and incur punishment.

22:17–24:34 Solomon did not author, but did compile, this collection containing 77 proverbs which were most likely spoken by godly men prior to Solomon's reign. The section begins with an introduction (22:17-21), followed by a collection of proverbs in random order, one, two or three verses each (as opposed to the one verse, two line proverbs in the previous section). This is followed by two collections of additional proverbs (22:22–24:22 and 24:23-34), which continue and enlarge upon the wisdom themes of this book.

22:17-21 This introductory section offers an exhortation, reminiscent of 2:1-5; 5:1,2, to be alert to hear and speak the wisdom of God.

22:20 excellent things. This term is lit. "chief proverbs" (cf. 8:6).

22:21 certainty. Solomon is especially concerned about accuracy so that his reader can teach others.

22:22–24:22 The first collection of words for wise men is recorded.

and legal issues to be settled (cf. 31:23). The "afflicted" were there begging or seeking justice or mercy and were to be fairly treated.

22:24,25 Cf. 12:26.

22:26,27 See note on 6:1.

22:28 landmark. This refers to stealing land by moving the boundaries. See note on 15:25; cf. Lev. 25:23; Deut. 19:14.

23:1-3 Here is a warning to exercise restraint when confronted with the luxuries of a wealthy ruler who seeks to lure you into his schemes and intrigues. Daniel is the classic illustration of one who lived by this proverb, refusing the allurements of the pagan monarch, which he knew could corrupt him (see Dan. 1:8ff.).

23:4,5 Cf. 11:28; 28:22; 1 Tim. 6:9,10,17. Rather than wearing one's self out pursuing wealth, pursue the wisdom of God and what glorifies Him, and He will bless with prosperity as He chooses. See 2:1-11; 3:5-10.

23:6-8 miser. This is the greedy one who, to be rich, hoards his riches, withholding from the poor and needy to keep and increase his own wealth. He invites someone to enjoy his courtesies, feigning generosity, while really being sickeningly hypocritical, as his real goal is to take advantage in some way so to increase his wealth at his guest's expense. Cf. 26:24-26.

23:9 This is true because fools hate wisdom (cf. 1:22; 9:8; 12:1).

23:10,11 ancient landmark. See note on 15:25; cf. 22:22,23.

23:11 Redeemer. In a normal situation the near kinsman would rescue the one who had fallen upon hard times (cf. Lev. 25:25; Ruth 2:20; 3:12,13; 4:1-12) or avenge in the case of a murder (Num. 35:19). "Redeemer" is applied to God as the Savior of His people (e.g., Gen. 48:16; Ex. 6:6; Job 19:25; Ps. 19:14; Is. 41:14; 43:14; 44:24) since the helpless had no voice.

23:13,14 correction. See notes on 13:24; 22:6. The child will survive the punishment and thus avoid an untimely or premature death due to sinful conduct (cf. Deut. 21:18-21).

23:14 hell. See note on 1:12.

23:15,16 son...wise. The result of correction (vv. 13,14) is the child's wise choices, bringing the parents joy (cf. vv. 24,25; 10:1; 15:20; 17:21; 28:7; 29:3).

16 Yes, my [5]inmost being will rejoice
When your lips speak right things.

17 [h]Do not let your heart envy sinners,
But [i]be zealous for the fear of the LORD all the day;
18 [j]For surely there is a [6]hereafter,
And your hope will not be cut off.

19 Hear, my son, and be wise;
And guide your heart in the way.
20 [k]Do not mix with winebibbers,
Or with gluttonous eaters of meat;
21 For the drunkard and the glutton will come to poverty,
And drowsiness will clothe a man with rags.

22 [l]Listen to your father who begot you,
And do not despise your mother when she is old.

23 [m]Buy the truth, and do not sell it,
Also wisdom and instruction and understanding.

24 [n]The father of the righteous will greatly rejoice,
And he who begets a wise child will delight in him.
25 Let your father and your mother be glad,
And let her who bore you rejoice.

26 My son, give me your heart,
And let your eyes observe my ways.

Who has contentions?
Who has complaints?
Who has wounds without cause?
Who [r]has redness of eyes?
30 [s]Those who linger long at the wine,
Those who go in search of [t]mixed wine.
31 Do not look on the wine when it is red,
When it sparkles in the cup,
When it [7]swirls around smoothly;
32 At the last it bites like a serpent,
And stings like a viper.
33 Your eyes will see strange things,
And your heart will utter perverse things.
34 Yes, you will be like one who lies down in the [8]midst of the sea,
Or like one who lies at the top of the mast, saying:
35 "They [u]have struck me, but I was not hurt;
They have beaten me, but I did not feel it.
When shall [v]I awake, that I may seek another drink?"

CHAPTER 24

1 [a] Ps. 1:1; 37:1; Prov. 23:17

23:16 inmost being. Lit. "the kidney," which, along with the heart (cf. 3:5; 4:21-23), are figurative expressions for the inner man or the seat of one's thoughts and feelings.

23:17 fear of the LORD. See note on 1:7.

23:18 there is a hereafter. Cf. v. 24. Anyone who might envy sinners needs to know that their prosperity is brief. They will die ("be cut off"); then there will be a time when all iniquities will be dealt with and divine justice will prevail (cf. Ps. 37:28-38). The righteous will live forever (see note on 14:32).

23:19 the way. The way of wisdom is the only right way (4:10,11).

23:20 winebibbers. Cf. vv. 29-35; Deut. 21:20.

23:22 Cf. 1:8; 2:1; 3:1; 4:1; 5:1; Eph. 6:1.

23:23 Buy the truth. Obtain the truth at all costs. See notes on 4:5-7; cf. Matt. 13:44-46. Then never relinquish it at any price (see Dan. 1:8ff.).

23:24,25 See notes on v. 15; 13:24.

23:27,28 harlot...seductress. Cf. 22:14. The terms refer to any immoral woman. See notes on 2:16; 5:3-5; 7:5-27; 9:13-18. Falling into her clutches should be as frightening as the prospect of falling into a deep pit or well, from which there is no escape.

23:29-35 This passage offers a powerful warning against drunkenness, presented as a riddle (v. 29) with its answer (v. 30). Following the riddle, come exhortations (vv. 31,32) and descriptions of the drunkard's delirious thoughts (vv. 33,35).

23:30 mixed wine. See note on 20:1. Lingering long at the wine is indicative of constant drinking, so as to induce drunkenness (cf. 1 Tim. 3:3; Titus 1:7). Searching for more to drink indicates the same pursuit.

23:31 wine when it is red. This describes wine when it is especially desirable and when it is most intoxicating, perhaps as "strong drink" or mixed with spices only and not water, as opposed to the "new wine" (3:10), which was fresh and unfermented or less fermented (cf. Hos. 4:11).

23:32 bites...stings. This recounts the hangover, but also the more than likely destructive consequences (cf. Is. 59:5; Jer. 8:17).

23:33 The delirium and distortion of reality are part of the drunkard's miserable experience (see note on 1 Cor. 6:12).

23:34 Here is the warning about the dizziness, sickness, and confusion of the drunkard, like being seasick at the top of the mast, the most agitated point on a ship in strong seas.

23:35 The drunkard's lack of sense is so severe that his first waking thought is to repeat his debauchery and dangerous sin.

24:1,2 Cf. 23:3,17.

3 Through wisdom a house is built,
And by understanding it is established;
4 By knowledge the rooms are filled
With all precious and pleasant riches.

5 [b]A wise man is strong,
Yes, a man of knowledge increases strength;
6 [c]For by wise counsel you will wage your own war,
And in a multitude of counselors there is safety.

7 [d]Wisdom is too lofty for a fool;
He does not open his mouth in the gate.

8 He who [e]plots to do evil
Will be called a [1]schemer.
9 The devising of foolishness is sin,
And the scoffer is an abomination to men.

10 If you [f]faint in the day of adversity,
Your strength is small.

11 [g]Deliver those who are drawn toward death,
And hold back those stumbling to the slaughter.
12 If you say, "Surely we did not know this,"
Does not [h]He who weighs the hearts consider it?
He who keeps your soul, does He not know it?
And will He not render to each man [i]according to his deeds?

13 My son, [j]eat honey because it is good,
And the honeycomb which is sweet to your taste;
14 [k]So shall the knowledge of wisdom be to your soul;
If you have found it, there is a [2]prospect,
And your hope will not be cut off.

15 Do not lie in wait, O wicked man, against the dwelling of the righteous;
Do not plunder his resting place;
16 [l]For a righteous man may fall seven times
And rise again,
[m]But the wicked shall fall by calamity.

17 [n]Do not rejoice when your enemy falls,
And do not let your heart be glad when he stumbles;
18 Lest the LORD see it, and [3]it displease Him,
And He turn away His wrath from him.

19 [o]Do not fret because of evildoers,
Nor be envious of the wicked;
20 For there will be no prospect for the evil man;
The lamp of the wicked will be put out.

21 My son, [p]fear the LORD and the king;
Do not associate with those given to change;
22 For their calamity will rise suddenly,
And who knows the ruin those two can bring?

18 [3] Lit. it be evil in His eyes
19 [o] Ps. 37:1
21 [p] [Rom. 13:7; 1 Pet. 2:17]

24:3,4 house is built. House can refer to a physical structure (cf. 14:1), a family (see Josh. 24:15), or even a dynasty (see 2 Sam. 7:11,12; 1 Kin 11:38; 1 Chr. 17:10).

24:5,6 Wisdom and wise counsel are associated with strength. See notes on 11:14; 13:20; cf. Eccl. 9:16-18.

24:7 the gate. See note on 22:22. Since the leading minds were there debating the issues of life, it was no place for fools.

24:11 The danger here may be from unjust treatment or violence. Deliverance can either be by giving a true testimony on their behalf, by providing what they need to survive, or by rescuing them from a fatal course.

24:12 He who weighs the hearts. See note on 16:2. God is the One who knows the truth about the motives of the heart and the excuses for failing to do what is right (cf. James 4:17). render to each man according to his deeds. Cf. v. 29; Job 34:11; Jer. 25:14; 50:29.

24:13,14 This is not a command to eat honey, but an analogy to seek the sweetness of wisdom's rewards (see note on Ps. 19:10).

24:14 hope...cut off. See note on 23:18.

24:15,16 seven times. This stands for "often" or "many" (see 26:26; Job 5:19). The plots of the wicked against the righteous, though partially and temporarily successful, shall not be ultimately successful; while the wicked will fall under God's eternal judgment and find no help or deliverance.

24:17,18 when your enemy falls. See note on 25:21,22. Gloating over a fallen enemy can be more serious than the sin the enemy committed.

24:19 Do not fret. Do not become angrily excited or envious at the apparent prosperity of the wicked. Cf. 3:31; 23:17,18; 24:1.

24:20 lamp of the wicked. See note on 13:9.

24:21 fear the LORD. See note on 1:7. the king. Loyalty to the king is proper because he is the agent of the Lord's wisdom (cf. Deut. 17:14-20; Rom. 13:1-7). That loyalty includes having no part with rebels who seek to subvert or overthrow him ("change"). Peter draws on this verse in his call to good citizenship in 1 Pet. 1:17; 2:17.

24:22 the ruin those two can bring. A reference to the retributive power of the king and the Lord (cf. Job 31:23).

Further Sayings of the Wise

23 These things also belong to the wise:

[q]It is not good to [4]show partiality in judgment.

24 [r]He who says to the wicked, "You are righteous,"
Him the people will curse;
Nations will abhor him.

25 But those who rebuke the wicked will have [s]delight,
And a good blessing will come upon them.

26 He who gives a right answer kisses the lips.

27 [t]Prepare your outside work,
Make it fit for yourself in the field;
And afterward build your house.

28 [u]Do not be a witness against your neighbor without cause,
[5]For would you deceive with your lips?

29 [v]Do not say, "I will do to him just as he has done to me;
I will render to the man according to his work."

30 I went by the field of the lazy man,
And by the vineyard of the man devoid of understanding;

31 And there it was, [w]all overgrown with thorns;
Its surface was covered with nettles;
Its stone wall was broken down.

32 When I saw it, I considered it well;
I looked on it and received instruction:

33 [x]A little sleep, a little slumber,
A little folding of the hands to rest;

34 [y]So shall your poverty come like [6]a prowler,
And your need like [7]an armed man.

Further Wise Sayings of Solomon

CHAPTER 25

25 These[a] also are proverbs of Solomon which the men of Hezekiah king of Judah copied:

2 [b]It is the glory of God to conceal a matter,
But the glory of kings is to search out a matter.

3 As the heavens for height and the earth for depth,
So the heart of kings is unsearchable.

4 [c]Take away the dross from silver,
And it will go to the silversmith for jewelry.

5 Take away the wicked from before the king,
And his throne will be established in [d]righteousness.

6 Do not exalt yourself in the presence of the king,
And do not stand in the place of the great;

7 [e]For it is better that he say to you,
"Come up here,"
Than that you should be put lower in the presence of the prince,
Whom your eyes have seen.

8 [f]Do not go hastily to [1]court;
For what will you do in the end,

1 [a] 1 Kin. 4:32
2 [b] Deut. 29:29; Rom. 11:33
4 [c] 2 Tim. 2:21
5 [d] Prov. 16:12; 20:8
7 [e] Luke 14:7-11
8 [f] Prov. 17:14; Matt. 5:25 [1] Lit. contend or bring a lawsuit

24:23a These words introduce a brief section forming an appendix of further wise sayings (vv. 23b-34) that finish the first group of proverbs compiled by Solomon to add to his own. See note on 22:17–24:34.

24:23b-25 partiality in judgment. Injustice is evil and destabilizes society. See note on 17:15.

24:26 kisses the lips. A just and righteous response is as desirable as this most intimate expression of friendship.

24:27 First, secure by diligent work and planning a good living in your fields, then build. In other words, provide a financial base so that all the necessities and contingencies are secured, then move from the tents (which were acceptable) to a house (which was desirable).

24:28,29 Avenging the evil done by one's neighbor by offering false witness (cf. 14:5; 19:5) against him is forbidden. See notes on 6:19; 20:22.

24:30-34. See notes on 6:6,11. Thorns also appear in his life in 15:19 (see note there).

25:1–29:27 Hezekiah's collection of Solomon's proverbs.

25:1 Hezekiah...copied. This collection of 137 proverbs was spoken by Solomon and most likely copied into a collection during the reign of Judah's king, Hezekiah (ca. 715–686 B.C.) over 200 years later. See Introduction: Author and Date. This is consistent with Hezekiah's efforts to bring revival to Judah (2 Chr. 29:30; 32:26), as he elevated the forgotten wisdom of David and Solomon (cf. 2 Chr. 29:31; 30:26).

25:2,3 God...kings. The roles of God and the king are compared. God, whose knowledge is above all human knowledge (cf. Ps. 92:5; Eccl. 3:11; Is. 46:10; Acts 15:18; Heb. 4:13), and whose ways are unsearchable (cf. Job 5:9; Ps. 145:3; Is. 40:28), keeps things to Himself because He needs no counsel (see Rom. 11:34). On the contrary, kings should rightly seek to know what they must know in order to rule righteously.

25:4,5 A nation is established as wisdom replaces and purifies wickedness (cf. 14:34; 16:12).

25:6,7 In the royal court as in all of life, self-seeking and pride bring one down. Do not intrude into such a place, for the elevating of the humble is honorable, but the humbling of the proud is disgraceful (cf. Luke 14:8-10; James 4:7-10).

25:8-10 go hastily to court. When conflict arises, the man with a contentious spirit is quick to go to court, but he is better off to talk it over with his neighbor than to expose himself to public shame in

When your neighbor has put you to shame?
9 [g]Debate your case with your
neighbor,
And do not disclose the secret to another;
10 Lest he who hears it expose your
shame,
And [2]your reputation be ruined.

11 A word fitly [h]spoken is like apples of gold
In settings of silver.
12 Like an earring of gold and an ornament of fine gold
Is a wise rebuker to an obedient ear.

13 [i]Like the cold of snow in time of harvest
Is a faithful messenger to those who send him,
For he refreshes the soul of his masters.

14 [j]Whoever falsely boasts of giving
Is like [k]clouds and wind without rain.

15 [l]By long forbearance a ruler is persuaded,
And a gentle tongue breaks a bone.

16 Have you found honey?
Eat only as much as you need,
Lest you be filled with it and vomit.

17 Seldom set foot in your neighbor's house,
Lest he become weary of you and hate you.

18 [m]A man who bears false witness against his neighbor
Is like a club, a sword, and a sharp arrow.

19 Confidence in an unfaithful man in time of trouble
Is like a bad tooth and a foot out of joint.

20 Like one who takes away a garment in cold weather,
And like vinegar on soda,
Is one who [n]sings songs to a heavy
heart.

21 [o]If your enemy is hungry, give him bread to eat;
And if he is thirsty, give him water
to drink;
22 For so you will heap coals of fire on his head,
[p]And the LORD will reward you.

23 The north wind brings forth rain,
And [q]a backbiting tongue an angry countenance.

24 [r]It is better to dwell in a corner of a housetop,
Than in a house shared with a contentious woman.

25 As cold water to a weary soul,
So is [s]good news from a far country.

26 A righteous man who falters before
the wicked
Is like a murky spring and a [3]polluted well.

27 It is not good to eat much honey;
So [t]to seek one's own glory is not glory.

28 [u]Whoever has no rule over his own spirit
Is like a city broken down, without walls.

court, where everything will be told.

25:11,12 The imagery of beauty describes well chosen words, including words of rebuke. Cf. 15:23; 24:26.

25:13 cold of snow. A faithful messenger (cf. v. 25; 26:6) was as refreshing as snow would be in the heat of the summer harvest.

25:15 forbearance. Patience is a mighty weapon. See 15:1; 16:32.

25:16 This may be a parable that goes with v. 17, instructing the wise not to overdo anything that may lead to disgust and rejection, including overstaying or being overbearing with a friend who may begin to resent him.

25:18 He is as destructive to reputation as those weapons are to the body.

25:20 vinegar on soda. Pouring vinegar on an alkali (e.g., baking soda) produces a reaction like boiling or turning tranquility into agitation. So is the effect of singing joyful songs without sympathy to the sorrowful. Cf. Ps. 137:3,4.

25:21,22 As metals are melted by placing fiery coals on them, so is the heart of an enemy softened by such kindness. Contrast the coals of judgment in Ps. 140:10. Paul quotes this proverb in Rom. 12:20. Cf. Matt. 5:43-48.

25:23 The theme is cause and effect; as surely as a rain cloud brings the rain, slander produces anger.

25:24 See note on 19:13; 21:9.

25:25 See note on v. 13.

25:26 murky spring. The righteous one who sins muddies the water for the wicked who see him and for whom he should serve as an example of righteousness (cf. Ps. 17:5).

25:27 Eating honey is analogous to enjoying the sweetness of your own self-glory. See notes on vv. 6,7,16.

25:28 city broken down. Such are exposed and vulnerable to the incursion of evil thoughts and successful temptations. For the opposite, see note on 16:32.

CHAPTER 26

26 As snow in summer [a] and rain in harvest,
So honor is not fitting for a fool.

2 Like a flitting sparrow, like a flying swallow,
So [b] a curse without cause shall not alight.

3 [c] A whip for the horse,
A bridle for the donkey,
And a rod for the fool's back.
4 Do not answer a fool according to his folly,
Lest you also be like him.
5 [d] Answer a fool according to his folly,
Lest he be wise in his own eyes.
6 He who sends a message by the hand of a fool
Cuts off his own feet and drinks violence.
7 Like the legs of the lame that hang limp
Is a proverb in the mouth of fools.
8 Like one who binds a stone in a sling
Is he who gives honor to a fool.
9 Like a thorn that goes into the hand of a drunkard
Is a proverb in the mouth of fools.
10 [1] The great God who formed everything
Gives the fool his hire and the transgressor his wages.
11 [e] As a dog returns to his own vomit,
[f] So a fool repeats his folly.
12 [g] Do you see a man wise in his own eyes?
There is more hope for a fool than for him.

13 The lazy man says, "There is a lion in the road!
A fierce lion is in the [2] streets!"
14 As a door turns on its hinges,
So does the lazy man on his bed.
15 The [h] lazy man buries his hand in the [3] bowl;
It wearies him to bring it back to his mouth.
16 The lazy man is wiser in his own eyes
Than seven men who can answer sensibly.

17 He who passes by and meddles in a quarrel not his own
Is like one who takes a dog by the ears.

18 Like a madman who throws firebrands, arrows, and death,
19 Is the man who deceives his neighbor,
And says, [i] "I was only joking!"

20 Where there is no wood, the fire goes out;
And where there is no [4] talebearer, strife ceases.
21 [j] As charcoal is to burning coals, and wood to fire,
So is a contentious man to kindle strife.

26:1-12 The fool is described in every verse. Most verses compare aspects of natural order that are violated with the behavior of a fool. The deteriorating nature of foolishness is seen as the description progresses from drink (v. 6) to vomit (v. 11).

26:1 These damaging incongruities of nature illustrate those in the moral realm. Cf. 17:7; 19:10.

26:2 curse without cause. A bird's aimless motion without landing is compared to a fool who utters an undeserved curse—it does not land either.

26:4,5 answer a fool. Taken together, these verses teach the appropriate way to answer a fool (e.g., an unbeliever who rejects truth). He should not be answered with agreement to his own ideas and presuppositions, or he will think he is right (v. 4), but rather he should be rebuked on the basis of his folly and shown the truth so he sees how foolish he is (v. 5).

26:6 Self-inflicted wounds come to the one who chooses to depend upon a fool (cf. 25:13).

26:7 Awkward and useless.

26:8 binds a stone. As it is nonsense to fasten a stone to a slingshot so that it will not release, so it is nonsense to honor a fool.

26:10 The Heb. language is obscure here, so as to produce many interpretations of what this is saying. Since it is impossible to know exactly what it said in the original, it is impossible to know exactly what it means. The translation might be: "Much brings forth from itself all; but the reward and the wages of the fool pass away." This could mean, reasonably, that although he who possesses much and has great ability may be able to accomplish all he wants, that is not the case when he makes use of the work of fools, who not only do not accomplish anything, but destroy everything.

26:11 Peter quotes this disgusting proverb in 2 Pet. 2:22.

26:12 wise in his own eyes. There are degrees of foolishness, with intellectual conceit being the most stupid and hard to remedy. This is applied to the lazy man in v. 16 and the rich in 28:11.

26:13-16 The lazy man. See notes on 6:6,11; 22:13.

26:16 The ignorant are ignorant of their ignorance. seven. See note on 24:16.

26:17-28 Here is a picturesque discourse on the evil speaking of fools and lazy people and its harmful effects.

26:17 meddles...dog by the ears. The dog was not domesticated in Palestine and thus to grab any dog was dangerous. The aggressor deserved to be bitten for his unprovoked act.

26:18,19 The serious damage done by deceit cannot be dismissed as a joke (cf. Is. 50:11).

26:20-22 talebearer. See notes on 6:14; 16:28. Slander fuels this fire.

22 The words of a [5]talebearer are like
[6]tasty trifles,
And they go down into the
[7]inmost body.

23 Fervent lips with a wicked heart
Are like earthenware covered with silver dross.

24 He who hates, disguises it with his lips,
And lays up deceit within himself;
25 [k]When [8]he speaks kindly, do not believe him,
For there are seven abominations in his heart;
26 Though his hatred is covered by deceit,
His wickedness will be revealed before the assembly.

27 [l]Whoever digs a pit will fall into it,
And he who rolls a stone will have it roll back on him.

28 A lying tongue hates those who are crushed by it,
And a flattering mouth works
[m]ruin.

27 Do[a] not boast about tomorrow,
For you do not know what a day may bring forth.

2 [b]Let another man praise you, and not your own mouth;
A stranger, and not your own lips.

3 A stone is heavy and sand is weighty,
But a fool's wrath is heavier than both of them.

4 Wrath is cruel and anger a torrent,
But [c]who is able to stand before jealousy?

5 [d]Open rebuke is better
Than love carefully concealed.

6 Faithful are the wounds of a friend,
But the kisses of an enemy are [e]deceitful.

7 A satisfied soul [1]loathes the
honeycomb,
But to a hungry soul every bitter thing is sweet.

8 Like a bird that wanders from its nest
Is a man who wanders from his place.

9 Ointment and perfume delight the
heart,
And the sweetness of a man's friend gives delight by [2]hearty counsel.

10 Do not forsake your own friend or your father's friend,
Nor go to your brother's house in the day of your calamity;
[f]Better is a neighbor nearby than a brother far away.

11 My son, be wise, and make my heart glad,
[g]That I may answer him who reproaches me.

12 A prudent man foresees evil and hides himself;
The simple pass on and are
[h]punished.

13 Take the garment of him who is surety for a stranger,
And hold it in pledge when he is surety for a seductress.

14 He who blesses his friend with a loud voice, rising early in the morning,

22 [5] gossip or slanderer [6] A Jewish tradition wounds [7] Lit. rooms of the belly

26:22 trifles. See note on 18:8.

26:23 earthenware covered. A cheap veneer of silver over a common clay pot hiding its commonness and fragility, is like the deception spoken by evil people. This thought is expanded in vv. 24-28.

26:27 The ruin intended for others will come back on the one who spoke it.

27:1 boast...tomorrow. Fools think they know the future or can affect its outcome, but the future rests with sovereign God. See notes on 16:1,9; cf. Ps. 37; James 4:13-16.

27:4 jealousy. Cf. 6:34; Song 8:6. The most uncontrollable sin.

27:5,6 Open rebuke. To genuinely love is to manifest the truth, even if it means to rebuke (cf. 28:23; Ps. 141:5; Gal. 4:16).

27:6 the kisses of an enemy. Cf. 5:3-5; 26:23,24.

27:7 The luxury and indolence of wealth make the best things tasteless, while the hard-working person who hungers finds every bitter thing sweet. This proverb extends beyond food to things in general, which means so much more to those with little.

27:8 man who wanders. Such are not only out of place, but off duty and in danger. Stay close to home.

27:10 Adhere to tried and true friends. The ties of blood may be less reliable than those of genuine friendship. See notes on 17:17; 18:24.

27:11 A wise son accredits his father and also aides him in difficulty with appropriate answers (cf. 10:1; 15:20). This proverb is true in reverse as well (cf. 17:25; 19:13; 22:21; 23:15).

27:12 Cf. 22:3.

27:13 See note on 20:16.

27:14 blesses his friend. Excessive flattery all day raises suspicion of selfishness.

It will be counted a curse to him.

15 A [i]continual dripping on a very rainy day
And a contentious woman are alike;
16 Whoever [3]restrains her restrains the wind,
And grasps oil with his right hand.

17 As iron sharpens iron,
So a man sharpens the countenance of his friend.

18 [j]Whoever [4]keeps the fig tree will eat its fruit;
So he who waits on his master will be honored.

19 As in water face reflects face,
So a man's heart reveals the man.

20 [k]Hell[5] and [6]Destruction are never full;
So [l]the eyes of man are never satisfied.

21 [m]The refining pot is for silver and the furnace for gold,
And a man is valued by what others say of him.

22 [n]Though you grind a fool in a mortar with a pestle along with crushed grain,
Yet his foolishness will not depart from him.

23 Be diligent to know the state of your [o]flocks,
And attend to your herds;
24 For riches are not forever,
Nor does a crown endure to all generations.
25 [p]When the hay is removed, and the tender grass shows itself,
And the herbs of the mountains are gathered in,
26 The lambs will provide your clothing,
And the goats the price of a field;
27 You shall have enough goats' milk for your food,
For the food of your household,
And the nourishment of your maidservants.

28 The [a]wicked flee when no one pursues,
But the righteous are bold as a lion.

2 Because of the transgression of a land, many are its princes;
But by a man of understanding and knowledge
Right will be prolonged.

3 [b]A poor man who oppresses the poor
Is like a driving rain [1]which leaves no food.

4 [c]Those who forsake the law praise the wicked,
[d]But such as keep the law contend with them.

5 [e]Evil men do not understand justice,
But [f]those who seek the LORD understand all.

6 Better is the poor who walks in his integrity
Than one perverse in his ways, though he be rich.

7 Whoever keeps the law is a discerning son,
But a companion of gluttons shames his father.

CHAPTER 28

1 [a] Lev. 26:17, 36; Ps. 53:5
3 [b] Matt. 18:28 [1] Lit. and there is no bread
4 [c] Ps. 49:18; Rom. 1:32 [d] 1 Kin. 18:18; Neh. 13:11, 15; Matt. 3:7; 14:4; Eph. 5:11
5 [e] Ps. 92:6; Is. 6:9; 44:18 [f] Ps. 119:100; Prov. 2:9; John 17:17; 1 Cor. 2:15; [1 John 2:20, 27]

27:15,16 See notes on 19:13; 21:9. This kind of woman is impossible to restrain or tame.

27:17 iron sharpens iron. The benefits of intellectual and theological discussion encourage joy through a keener mind and the improvement of good character which the face will reveal.

27:20 Hell and Destruction. Man's desires are never filled up. They are as insatiable as the place of eternal punishment which never overfills (cf. 30:15,16).

27:21 refining pot...what others say. "Value" is not the best understanding. Popularity and praise "test" rather than "value" personal character in the crucible. See note on 17:3.

27:22 mortar...pestle. A bowl and rod of stone which were used to crush solid grain into powder.

27:23-27 This portion contrasts the common shepherd's labor and God's provision with the fleeting nature of uncertain riches and power (v. 24). Since all lands reverted to the original owners every 50 years, flocks were the staple wealth. Only by care and diligence could they be perpetuated and profitable. God's providence aids this effort (cf. Ps. 65:9-13) to properly use the blessings of the land (vv. 25-27).

28:1 A guilty conscience imagines accusers everywhere (cf. Num. 32:23; Ps. 53:5), while a clear conscience has boldness to face everyone.

28:2 many are its princes. Unrighteousness in a nation produces political instability with many vying for power, thus the tenure of each leader is shortened. Wisdom promotes social order and long rule.

28:3 oppresses the poor. When the poor come to power and oppress their own, it is as bad as a destructive storm washing the fields clean instead of watering the crop.

28:7 The son who obeyed God's law would not be a glutton and shame his father. Cf. 23:19-25.

He who increases his possessions
by usury and extortion Gathers it for him who will pity the poor.

9 One who turns away his ear from hearing the law,
[g]Even his prayer is an abomination.

10 [h]Whoever causes the upright to go astray in an evil way,
He himself will fall into his own
pit;
[i]But the blameless will inherit good.

11 The rich man is wise in his own eyes,
But the poor who has understanding searches him
out.

12 When the righteous rejoice, there is great [j]glory;
But when the wicked arise, men
[2]hide themselves.

13 [k]He who covers his sins will not prosper,
But whoever confesses and forsakes them will have mercy.

14 Happy is the man who is always reverent,
But he who hardens his heart will fall into calamity.

15 [l]Like a roaring lion and a charging bear
[m]Is a wicked ruler over poor
people.

15 [l] Prov. 19:12; 1 Pet. 5:8 [m] Ex. 1:14; Prov. 29:2; Matt. 2:16

16 A ruler who lacks understanding is a great [n]oppressor,
But he who hates covetousness will prolong his days.

17 [o]A man burdened with bloodshed will flee into a pit;
Let no one help him.

18 Whoever walks blamelessly will be
[3]saved,
But he who is perverse in his ways will suddenly fall.

19 [p]He who tills his land will have plenty of bread,
But he who follows frivolity will have poverty enough!

20 A faithful man will abound with blessings,
[q]But he who hastens to be rich will not go unpunished.

21 [r]To [4]show partiality is not good,
[s]Because for a piece of bread a man will transgress.

22 A man with an evil eye hastens
after riches,
And does not consider that
[t]poverty will come upon him.

23 [u]He who rebukes a man will find more favor afterward
Than he who flatters with the tongue.

24 Whoever robs his father or his mother,
And says, "It is no transgression,"

16 [n] Eccl. 10:16; Is. 3:12

22 [t] Prov. 21:5
23 [u] Prov. 27:5, 6

28:8 usury and extortion. The law forbade the charging of interest to fellow Jews (see Deut. 23:19,20), but this was often violated (cf. Neh. 5:7,11; Ezek. 22:12). Gathers it for him. In the providence and justice of God, such wealth will be forfeited to someone who treats the poor fairly. See notes on 13:22; 14:31.

28:9 See note on 15:8.

28:10 The attempted corruption of the righteous is a wicked sin (Matt. 5:19; 18:6; 23:15). fall into his own pit. See note on 26:27.

28:11 rich man is wise in his own eyes. This contrasts the discerning poor with the rich man, who is deceived by his self-confidence. Riches are not always possessed by the unrighteous and wisdom by the poor, but, more often than not, this is the case due to the blinding nature of wealth (cf. 11:28; 18:23; Matt 19:23,24).

28:12 When wicked people come into power, the righteous "shout" (11:10), "groan" (29:2), and "hide" (28:28).

28:13 covers...confesses. Sin must not be covered but confessed. See notes on Ps. 32:1-14; 1 John 1:6-9.

28:14 hardens his heart. Cf. Ex. 7:13; 17:7; Ps. 95:8; Rom. 2:5.

28:16 great oppressor. The tyrannical leader who is covetous (implied) is foolish and short-lived.

28:17 Whoever is inwardly tormented by the murder of someone takes to ceaseless flight to escape the avenger of blood and the punishment of his crime. He flees and finds no rest until the grave receives him. The exhortation is to avoid helping a murderer with any support, refuge, or security against the vengeance which pursues him from the arm of justice.

28:20 abound with blessings. Blessings are the product of honest labor. See notes on 10:22; 11:24-26; cf. Gen. 49:25; Mal. 3:10. hastens to be rich. See note on 20:21; cf. 1 Tim. 6:9.

28:21 piece of bread. A small bribe. Cf. 15:27; 18:5; 24:23.

28:22 man with an evil eye. A miser is motivated by greed. See notes on 21:5-7.

28:23 Flattery has no value but reproof does, so it leads to gratitude. Cf. 16:13; 27:5,6.

28:24 robs his father...mother. See note on 19:26. To plunder one's own family is an unthinkable crime, but it is worse yet when denied.

The same [v] is companion to a destroyer.

25 [w] He who is of a proud heart stirs up strife,
[x] But he who trusts in the LORD will be prospered.

26 He who [y] trusts in his own heart is a fool,
But whoever walks wisely will be delivered.

27 [z] He who gives to the poor will not lack,
But he who hides his eyes will have many curses.

28 When the wicked arise, [a] men hide themselves;
But when they perish, the righteous increase.

29 He [a] who is often rebuked, and hardens his neck,
Will suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy.

2 When the righteous [1] are in authority, the [b] people rejoice;
But when a wicked man rules, [c] the people groan.

3 Whoever loves wisdom makes his father rejoice,
But a companion of harlots wastes his wealth.

4 The king establishes the land by justice,
But he who receives bribes overthrows it.

5 A man who [d] flatters his neighbor
Spreads a net for his feet.

6 By transgression an evil man is snared,
But the righteous sings and rejoices.

7 The righteous [e] considers the cause
of the poor,
But the wicked does not understand such knowledge.

8 Scoffers [f] set a city aflame,
But wise men turn away wrath.

9 If a wise man contends with a foolish man,
[g] Whether the fool rages or laughs,
there is no peace.

10 [h] The bloodthirsty hate the blameless,
But the upright seek his [2] well-being.

11 A fool vents all his [i] feelings,[3]
But a wise man holds them back.

12 If a ruler pays attention to lies,
All his servants become wicked.

13 The poor man and the oppressor have this in common:
[j] The LORD gives light to the eyes of both.

14 The king who judges the [k] poor with truth,
His throne will be established
forever.

15 The rod and rebuke give [l] wisdom,
But a child left to himself brings shame to his mother.

16 When the wicked are multiplied,
transgression increases;
But the righteous will see their [m] fall.

28:25 proud heart...strife. This is arrogance that satisfies itself at the expense of conflict with others and never knows the prosperity of humble trust in God.

28:27 hides his eyes. This refers to one who does not respond to the needs of the poor. See note on 14:31; cf. 1 John 3:16-18.

28:28 See note on v. 12.

29:1 hardens his neck. This refers to a state of increasing obstinance, along with an unteachable spirit. See note on 28:14.

29:2 righteous...wicked. See note on 28:12. This could describe the political turmoil of the northern kingdom of Israel in the time of Hezekiah, who collected these proverbs (see note on 25:1).

29:4 bribes. See note on 15:27.

29:5 Flattery is a trap. Cf. 26:28; 28:23.

29:8 These angry, arrogant men fan the flames of strife that trap a city as if engulfed in flames (cf. 26:21).

29:9 contends. A fool may respond to wisdom with anger or laughter, but in either case, no agreement can be reached. Cf. 26:4,5.

29:12 ruler pays attention to lies. A corrupt leader will draw around him corrupt people. Allow lies and you will be surrounded by liars.

29:13 gives light to the eyes. This phrase means to sustain life. God gives life to both the poor and the rich oppressor, and He holds each responsible for His truth. Cf. 22:1.

29:15 See notes on 13:24; 22:6.

29:17 Correct your son. See notes on 13:24; 22:6.

Yes, he will give delight to your soul.

18 [n]Where there is no [4]revelation, the people cast off restraint;
But [o]happy is he who keeps the law.

19 A servant will not be corrected by mere words;
For though he understands, he will not respond.

20 Do you see a man hasty in his words?
[p]There is more hope for a fool than for him.

21 He who pampers his servant from childhood
Will have him as a son in the end.

22 [q]An angry man stirs up strife,
And a furious man abounds in transgression.

23 [r]A man's pride will bring him low,
But the humble in spirit will retain honor.

24 Whoever is a partner with a thief hates his own life;
[s]He [5]swears to tell the truth, but reveals nothing.

25 [t]The fear of man brings a snare,
But whoever trusts in the LORD shall be [6]safe.

26 [u]Many seek the ruler's [7]favor,
But justice for man comes from the LORD.

27 An unjust man is an abomination to the righteous,
And he who is upright in the way is an abomination to the wicked.

The Wisdom of Agur

30 The words of Agur the son of Jakeh, his utterance. This man declared to Ithiel—to Ithiel and Ucal:

2 [a]Surely I am more stupid than any man,
And do not have the understanding of a man.
3 I neither learned wisdom
Nor have [b]knowledge of the Holy One.

4 [c]Who has ascended into heaven, or descended?
[d]Who has gathered the wind in His fists?
Who has bound the waters in a garment?
Who has established all the ends of the earth?
What is His name, and what is His Son's name,
If you know?

4 [c] [Ps. 68:18; John 3:13] [d] Job 38:4; Ps. 104:3; Is. 40:12
5 [e] Ps. 12:6; 19:8; 119:140 [f] Ps. 18:30; 84:11; 115:9-11 [1] tested, refined, found pure

29:18 no revelation. This proverb looks both to the lack of the Word (i.e., 1 Sam. 3:1) and the lack of hearing the Word (Amos 8:11, 12), which leads to lawless rebellion (cf. Ex. 32:25; Lev. 13:45; Num. 5:18). The proverb then contrasts the joy and glory of a lawful society (28:14; Mal. 4:4).

29:19 will not be corrected. This verse views the mind-set of an unprincipled and foolish slave who is unresponsive and irresponsible.

29:20 hasty in his words. See note on 10:19.

29:21 The idea is of overindulging a servant, so that the servant will ultimately want to be cared for like a son, rather than one who serves the master.

29:22 Cf. 15:18

29:23 Cf. 16:18,19.

29:24 partner with a thief. By refusing to testify with full disclosure to avoid incrimination, one commits perjury which leads to punishment.

29:26 the ruler's favor. The moral is to seek the Lord's favor, since He alone can and will exact justice.

30:1-33 The words of Agur. This is a collection of proverbs written by an unknown sage who was likely a student of wisdom at the time of Solomon (cf. 1 Kin. 4:30,31). Agur reflects humility (vv. 1-4), a deep hatred for arrogance (vv. 7-9), and a keen theological mind (vv. 5,6).

30:1 utterance. This word is often used of a prophet (cf. Zech. 9:1; Mal. 1:1) and can be translated "burden" for its weighty character as a divine word or prophecy (cf. Mal. 1:1). Ithiel and Ucal. Agur addressed his wisdom perhaps to his favorite pupils, as Luke to Theophilus (Luke 1:1-4; Acts 1:1,2).

30:2,3 more stupid...neither learned. This is a statement of humility and a recognition of the reality that, apart from divine revelation, there would be no true wisdom at all (see notes on 1:7; 9:10). This is illustrated in the pursuits of Job (Job 3:3-26) and Solomon (Eccl. 3:1-15). Agur was wise because he first admitted what he could not know (1 Cor. 2:6-16).

30:3 knowledge of the Holy One. Agur knew that he could not gain wisdom through human searching alone. Understanding is here associated with the holiness of God. Cf. 9:10; 1 Cor. 8:2.

30:4 Who...what. These questions can be answered only by revelation from God. A man can know the "what" about creative wisdom through observation of the physical world and its inner workings, but cannot know the "who." The "who" can be known only when God reveals Himself, which He has in Scripture. This is the testimony and conclusion of Job (Job 42:1-6), Solomon (Eccl. 12:1-14), Isaiah (Is. 40:12-17; 46:8-11; 66:18,19), and Paul (Rom. 8:18-39). His Son's name. Jesus Christ. Cf. John 1:1-18.

30:5,6 These verses move from the uncertainty of human speculation to the certainty of divine revelation. Agur quotes from David (2 Sam 22:31; Ps. 18:30).

30:5 pure. Lit. "tried," and found to be without dross or error. Cf. Ps. 12:6.

6 [g]Do not add to His words, Lest He rebuke you, and you be found a liar.

7 Two things I request of You (Deprive me not before I die):
8 Remove falsehood and lies far from me;
Give me neither poverty nor
riches—
[h]Feed me with the food allotted to
me;
9 [i]Lest I be full and deny You,
And say, "Who is the LORD?"
Or lest I be poor and steal,
And profane the name of my God.

10 Do not malign a servant to his master,
Lest he curse you, and you be found guilty.

11 There is a generation that curses its [j]father,
And does not bless its mother.
12 There is a generation [k]that is pure in its own eyes,
Yet is not washed from its filthiness.
13 There is a generation—oh, how
[l]lofty are their eyes!
And their eyelids are [2]lifted up.
14 [m]There is a generation whose teeth are like swords,
And whose fangs are like knives,
[n]To devour the poor from off the
earth,
And the needy from among men.

15 The leech has two daughters—
Give and Give!

There are three things that are never satisfied,
Four never say, "Enough!":
16 [o]The[3] grave,
The barren womb,
The earth that is not satisfied with water—
And the fire never says, "Enough!"

17 [p]The eye that mocks his father,
And scorns obedience to his
mother,
The ravens of the valley will pick it
out,
And the young eagles will eat it.

18 There are three things which are too wonderful for me,
Yes, four which I do not understand:
19 The way of an eagle in the air,
The way of a serpent on a rock,
The way of a ship in the [4]midst of the sea,
And the way of a man with a virgin.

20 This is the way of an adulterous woman:
She eats and wipes her mouth,
And says, "I have done no
wickedness."

21 For three things the earth is perturbed,
Yes, for four it cannot bear up:

6 [g] Deut. 4:2; 12:32; Rev. 22:18
8 [h] Job 23:12; Matt. 6:11; [Phil. 4:19]
9 [i] Deut. 8:12-14; Neh. 9:25, 26; Hos. 13:6
11 [j] Ex. 21:17; Prov. 20:20
12 [k] [Prov. 16:2]; Is. 65:5; Luke 18:11; [Titus 1:15, 16]
13 [l] Ps. 131:1; Prov. 6:17; Is. 2:11; 5:15
[2] In arrogance
14 [m] Job 29:17; Ps. 52:2 [n] Ps. 14:4; Amos 8:4
16 [o] Prov. 27:20; Hab. 2:5 [3] Or Sheol
17 [p] Gen. 9:22; Lev. 20:9; Prov. 20:20
19 [4] Lit. heart

30:6 Do not add. A powerful statement on the inspired nature of God's canonical Word to Israel. To add to God's Word is to deny God as the standard of truth (cf. Gen. 2:16,17 with 3:2,3). See notes on Deut 4:2; 12:32; Rev. 22:18,19.

30:7-9 The prayer of a true wisdom-seeker. He seeks from the Lord honesty in heart and sufficiency in Him (away from the dangers posed by the extremes of poverty or wealth). If he has too much, he could cease depending on God (see Deut. 8:11-20; 10:15; 18:11), and if he has too little, he could be tempted to be as the sluggard (6:6-11).

30:9 Who is the LORD? This is a question reflecting extreme arrogance, e.g., "Who is the Almighty, that we should serve Him?" (Job 21:14-16). Cf. Deut. 8:10-18; Luke 12:16-21.

30:11-14 There is a generation. These proverbs condemn various forms of unwise behavior and are connected with this common phrase which points to the fact that certain sins can uniquely permeate a whole society or time period.

30:11 See note on 20:20. Cf. Ex. 21:17; Pss. 14:5; 24:6.

30:12 See notes on 16:2; 20:9; cf. Matt. 23:23-26.

30:13 See notes on 6:17; 21:4.

30:14 See note on 14:31.

30:15,16 leech...Give and Give! These two blood-sucking mouths of the horse leech, which lived off the blood of its victim, are used to picture the insatiably greedy.

30:16 grave...fire. Four illustrations of the greedy are given, all of which are parasitic in nature and characterize the heart of human greed. Cf. Gen 16:2; 20:18; 30:1.

30:17 eye that mocks. This proverb vividly speaks to the tragic results of disregarding parental respect and authority and the destruction it brings. See notes on 10:1; 17:21; 29:15,17; cf. Ex. 20:12. ravens...young eagles. These birds scavenge the unburied corpse of a child who dies prematurely because of rebellion. Cf. 1 Sam. 17:44; 1 Kin. 14:11; Jer. 16:4; Ezek. 29:5; 39:7.

30:18-20 Hypocrisy is illustrated by 4 natural analogies of concealment: 1) an eagle leaves no trail in the air; 2) a slithering snake leaves no trail on the rock; 3) a ship leaves no trail in the sea; 4) a man leaves no marks after he has slept with a virgin. These actions are all concealed and thus serve to illustrate the hypocrisy of the adulterous woman who hides the evidences of her shame while professing innocence.

30:21-23 earth is perturbed. See notes on 19:10; 28:3. Society is greatly agitated when normal roles are overturned, e.g., servants reigning, fools made rich, hated women married, and maidservants becoming wives (cf. Gen. 16:1-6).

22 [q]For a servant when he reigns,
A fool when he is filled with food,
23 A [5]hateful woman when she is married,
And a maidservant who succeeds her mistress.

24 There are four things which are little on the earth,
But they are exceedingly wise:
25 [r]The ants are a people not strong,
Yet they prepare their food in the summer;
26 [s]The [6]rock badgers are a feeble folk,
Yet they make their homes in the crags;
27 The locusts have no king,
Yet they all advance in ranks;
28 The [7]spider skillfully grasps with its hands,
And it is in kings' palaces.

29 There are three things which are majestic in pace,
Yes, four which are stately in walk:
30 A lion, which is mighty among beasts
And does not turn away from any;
31 A [8]greyhound,
A male goat also,
And [9]a king whose troops are with him.

22 [q] Prov. 19:10; Eccl. 10:7
23 [5] Or hated
25 [r] Prov. 6:6
26 [s] Lev. 11:5; Ps. 104:18 [6] rock hyraxes
28 [7] Or lizard
31 [8] Or perhaps strutting rooster, lit. girded of waist [9] A Jewish tradition a king against whom there is no uprising

32 If you have been foolish in exalting yourself,
Or if you have devised evil, [t]put your hand on your mouth.
33 For as the churning of milk produces butter,
And wringing the nose produces blood,
So the forcing of wrath produces strife.

The Words of King Lemuel's Mother

31 The words of King Lemuel, the utterance which his mother taught him:

2 What, my son?
And what, son of my womb?
And what, [a]son of my vows?
3 [b]Do not give your strength to women,
Nor your ways [c]to that which destroys kings.

4 [d]It is not for kings, O Lemuel,
It is not for kings to drink wine,
Nor for princes intoxicating drink;
5 [e]Lest they drink and forget the law,
And pervert the justice of all [1]the afflicted.
6 [f]Give strong drink to him who is perishing,
And wine to those who are bitter of heart.

32 [t] Job 21:5; 40:4; Mic. 7:16

CHAPTER 31

2 [a] Is. 49:15
3 [b] Prov. 5:9 [c] Deut. 17:17; 1 Kin. 11:1; Neh. 13:26; Prov. 7:26; Hos. 4:11
4 [d] Eccl. 10:17
5 [e] Hos. 4:11 [1] Lit. sons of affliction
6 [f] Ps. 104:15

30:24-28 four things which are little. These verses picture 4 creatures which survive due to natural instinct. The wisdom seen in each of these reveals the beauty of the wise Creator and His creation (cf. Ps. 8:3-9) and becomes a model for the principle that labor, diligence, organization, planning, and resourcefulness are better than strength, thus implying the superiority of wisdom over might.

30:25 ants. These survive through planning and labor. See note on 6:6.

30:26 rock badgers. Badgers, though weak, survive by being diligent enough to climb and find sanctuary in high places. Cf. Lev. 11:5; Ps. 104:18.

30:27 locusts. These survive through careful organization.

30:28 spider. These creatures are resourceful and can crawl and set up their webs even in a palace.

30:29-31 three things...majestic in pace...four. The 3 creatures and the king all picture wise, stately, and orderly deportment. Each offers a glimpse of the Creator's power and wisdom (cf. Job 38:1–42:6) and illustrates the dignity and confidence of those who walk wisely.

30:31 greyhound. The meaning in Heb. is uncertain. Other possibilities are 1) a strutting rooster or 2) a war-horse ready for battle. Cf. Job 39:19-25. male goat. This is the he-goat that was the leader of the flock. Cf Dan. 8:5.

30:32 put your hand on your mouth. Lit. "stop your scheming and talking"—a gesture of awestruck, self-imposed silence. Cf. Job 21:5; 29:9; 40:4.

30:33 produces. The verb is the same (pressing or squeezing) in all 3 instances. These are natural causes and effects to show that anger pressed beyond certain limits produces conflict.

31:1-31 This concluding chapter contains two poems: 1) The Wise King (31:2-9) and 2) The Excellent Wife (31:10-31). Both are the teachings of a godly mother (v. 1) to King Lemuel, whom ancient Jewish tradition identified as King Solomon, but who is otherwise unknown.

31:1 utterance. See note on 30:1. mother taught him. See 1:8.

31:2-9 The godly king is addressed (v. 2) and told that his reign should be characterized by: 1) holiness (v. 3); 2) sobriety (vv. 4-7); and 3) compassion (vv. 8,9). This section is filled with succinct and solemn warnings against vices to which kings are particularly susceptible—immorality, overindulgence, unrighteous rule, and indifference to those in need.

31:2 my son. The phrase is repeated 3 times to indicate the serious passion of a mother's heart. son of my vows. Like Hannah, she had dedicated her child to the Lord (cf. 1 Sam. 1:11,27-28).

31:3 Do not give your strength to women. Multiplying foreign wives destroys a king like it did Solomon (cf. Deut. 17:17; 1 Kin. 11:1-4). See notes on 5:9-11.

31:4,5 See notes on 20:1; 23:29-35. Intoxicating drinks can weaken reason and judgment, loosen convictions, or pervert the heart. They do not suit rulers who need clear, steady minds and keen judgment.

31:6,7 Give strong drink. Such extreme situations, possibly relating to a criminal on death row or someone agonizing in pain with a terminal illness or tragic circumstance, are in utter contrast to that of the king (cf. Ps. 104:15).

7 Let him drink and forget his poverty,
And remember his misery no more.

8 [g]Open your mouth for the speechless,
In the cause of all who are [2]appointed to die.
9 Open your mouth, [h]judge righteously,
And [i]plead the cause of the poor and needy.

The Virtuous Wife

10 [j]Who[3] can find a [4]virtuous wife?
For her worth is far above rubies.
11 The heart of her husband safely trusts her;
So he will have no lack of gain.
12 She does him good and not evil
All the days of her life.
13 She seeks wool and flax,
And willingly works with her hands.
14 She is like the merchant ships,
She brings her food from afar.
15 [k]She also rises while it is yet night,
And [l]provides food for her household,
And a portion for her maidservants.
16 She considers a field and buys it;
From [5]her profits she plants a vineyard.
17 She girds herself with strength,
And strengthens her arms.
18 She perceives that her merchandise is good,
And her lamp does not go out by night.
19 She stretches out her hands to the distaff,
And her hand holds the spindle.
20 [m]She extends her hand to the poor,
Yes, she reaches out her hands to the needy.
21 She is not afraid of snow for her household,
For all her household is clothed with scarlet.
22 She makes tapestry for herself;
Her clothing is fine linen and purple.
23 [n]Her husband is known in the gates,
When he sits among the elders of the land.
24 She makes linen garments and sells them,

8 [g] Job 29:7; 5. 16; Ps. 82 [2] Lit. sons of passing away
9 [h] Lev. 19:15; Deut. 1:16 [i] Job 29:12; Is. 1:17; Jer. 22:16
10 [j] Ruth 3:11; Prov. 12:4; 19:14 [3] Vv. 10-31 are an alphabetic acrostic in Hebrew; cf. Ps. 119 [4] Lit. a wife of valor, in the sense of all forms of excellence
15 [k] Prov. 20:13; Rom. 12:11 [l] Luke 12:42
16 [5] Lit. the fruit of her hands
20 [m] Deut. 15:11; Job 31:16-20; Prov. 22:9; Rom. 12:13; Eph. 4:28; Heb. 13:16
23 [n] Prov. 12:4

31:8,9 Open your mouth. Plead for those who cannot plead their own case, namely those who are otherwise ruined by their condition of weakness. The king's duty was to righteously uphold the case of the helpless in both physical (v. 6) and material (v. 9) crises. The monarch thus mediates the compassion of God. See notes on 14:21,31.

31:10-31 This poem offers a beautiful description of the excellent wife as defined by a wife and mother (v. 1). Spiritual and practical wisdom plus moral virtues mark the character of this woman in contrast to the immoral women of v. 3. While the scene here is of a wealthy home and the customs of the ancient Near East, the principles apply to every family. They are set forth as the prayer of every mother for the future wife of her son, and literarily arranged with each of the 22 verses beginning with the 22 letters of the Hebrew alphabet in consecutive order.

31:10-12 This section describes her marriage.

31:10 Who can find. She does exist, but is very hard to find. Cf. 18:22. virtuous. Excellent. See note on 12:4; cf. Ruth 3:11.

31:11 safely trusts her. He does not maintain jealous guard over her or keep his valuables locked up so that she cannot access them as was a common ancient practice in a house of distrust. She demonstrates impeccable loyalty to her husband, and her thrift and industry will add to his wealth.

31:13-24 This section describes her behavior.

31:13 seeks wool and flax. Excellent women gathered the material for making clothes (v. 19).

31:14 like the merchant ships. Excellent women would go far to secure the best food for their families.

31:15 rises while it is yet night. In order to have the food prepared for the family each day, she had to rise before dawn to begin the work, which she would do gladly.

31:16 considers a field. She was resourceful and entrepreneurial in her investing and reinvesting.

31:17 Such women were not soft, but by virtue of rigorous work, strong.

31:18 merchandise is good. That which she produced for the family of clothing, food, and wealth was good and profitable. lamp...night. Lamp is to be understood literally (cf. v. 15). She planted the vineyard during the day (v. 16), and wove late at night (v. 19). She rose early before dawn to prepare the food (v. 15), thus keeping a before-sunrise to after-dark schedule to care for her household, which was the foremost priority of her life (cf. Titus 2:5).

31:19 distaff...spindle. These tools are used to turn wool into thread for making clothing. Cf. Ex. 35:25.

31:20-24 Her activities, driven by the priority of caring for her family, resulted in multiplied fruitfulness for: 1) the poor and needy (v. 20); 2) her own household (v. 21); 3) herself (v. 22); 4) her husband (v. 23); and 5) the merchants (v. 24).

31:21 snow. Snow indicates the cold that occurs in the high altitudes of Palestine. Her labors anticipated her family's need for warm clothing in such cold places and seasons.

31:22 fine linen and purple. The efforts she makes to honor others are rewarded to her. These silk and purple garments are expensive evidences of the blessings returned to her by God's grace.

31:23 known in the gates. This woman made a significant contribution to her husband's position in the community and to his success (vv. 10-12). His domestic comfort promoted his advancement in public honor. A man's good reputation begins with his home and thus the virtue of his wife (cf 18:22).

31:24 makes...sells them. With all her other responsibilities faithfully discharged, she took time to make items of clothing for the purposes of trade.

And supplies sashes for the merchants.
25 Strength and honor are her clothing;
She shall rejoice in time to come.
26 She opens her mouth with
wisdom,
And on her tongue is the law of kindness.
27 She watches over the ways of her household,
And does not eat the bread of idleness.
28 Her children rise up and call her blessed;
Her husband also, and he praises
her:
29 "Many daughters have done well,
But you excel them all."
30 Charm is deceitful and beauty is passing,
But a woman who fears the LORD,
she shall be praised.
31 Give her of the fruit of her hands,
And let her own works praise her in the gates.

31:25-27 This section emphasizes her character.

31:25 Strength and honor. These words describe the character of the woman who fears the Lord. Her inward clothing displays divine wisdom, giving her confidence to face the future with its unexpected challenges.

31:26 opens her mouth...law of kindness. Her teaching of wisdom and the law is tempered with mercy.

31:27 She was a skilled manager of the home. See note on Titus 2:4,5. bread of idleness. Lit. "eyes looking everywhere" as in the lazy man (cf. 6:6,9) of whom the same root word is used.

31:28,29 This section describes her family life.

31:28 rise up...call her blessed. She was greatly respected because she has earned the praise of her family. See notes on 23:25; 29:17. There can be no higher joy for a mother than for her children to grow up to praise her as the source of the wisdom that made them godly. See note on 1 Tim. 2:15.

31:29,30 you excel them all. This was her husband's superlative praise (v. 28) which was well-deserved, in which he used the same word for "excellent" found in v. 10.

31:30,31 This portion summarizes her spiritual life.

31:30 Charm...beauty. True holiness and virtue command permanent respect and affection, far more than charm and beauty of face and form. Cf. 1 Tim. 2:9,10; 1 Pet. 3:1-6. a woman who fears the LORD. Proverbs ends where it began with a reference to the fear of the Lord. See note on 1:7.

31:31 fruit...works. See vv. 10-29. While she receives material reward (v. 22), the praise and success she labored to bring to her family and community will be her praise. The result of all her efforts is her best eulogy.

The Book of ECCLESIASTES

Title

The English title, Ecclesiastes, comes from the Greek and Latin translations of Solomon's book. The LXX used the Greek term ekklēsiastēs for its title. It means "preacher," derived from the word ekklēsia, translated "assembly" or "congregation" in the NT. Both the Greek and Latin versions derive their titles from the Hebrew title, Qoheleth, which means "one who calls or gathers" the people. It refers to the one who addresses the assembly; hence, the preacher (cf. 1:1,2,12; 7:27; 12:8-10). Along with Ruth, Song of Solomon, Esther, and Lamentations, Ecclesiastes stands with the OT books of the Megilloth, or "five scrolls." Later rabbis read these books in the synagogue on 5 special occasions during the year—Ecclesiastes being read on Pentecost.

Author and Date

The autobiographical profile of the book's writer unmistakably points to Solomon. Evidence abounds such as: 1) the titles fit Solomon, "son of David, king in Jerusalem" (1:1) and "king over Israel in Jerusalem" (1:12); 2) the author's moral odyssey chronicles Solomon's life (1 Kin. 2–11); and 3) the role of one who "taught the people knowledge" and wrote "many proverbs" (12:9) corresponds to his life. All point to Solomon, the son of David, as the author.

Once Solomon is accepted as the author, the date and occasion become clear. Solomon was writing, probably in his latter years (no later than ca. 931 B.C.), primarily to warn the young people of his kingdom, without omitting others. He warned them to avoid walking through life on the path of human wisdom; he exhorted them to live by the revealed wisdom of God (12:9-14).

Background and Setting

Solomon's reputation for possessing extraordinary wisdom fits the Ecclesiastes profile. David recognized his son's wisdom (1 Kin. 2:6,9) before God gave Solomon an additional measure. After he received a "wise and understanding heart" from the Lord (1 Kin. 3:7-12), Solomon gained renown for being exceedingly wise by rendering insightful decisions (1 Kin. 3:16-28), a reputation that attracted "all the kings of the earth" to his courts (1 Kin. 4:34). In addition, he composed songs and proverbs (1 Kin. 4:32; cf. 12:9), activity befitting only the ablest of sages. Solomon's wisdom, like Job's wealth, surpassed the wisdom "of all the people of the east" (1 Kin. 4:30; Job 1:3).

The book is applicable to all who would listen and benefit, not so much from Solomon's experiences, but from the principles he drew as a result. Its aim is to answer some of life's most challenging questions, particularly where they seem contrary to Solomon's expectations. This has led some unwisely to take the view that Ecclesiastes is a book of skepticism. But in spite of amazingly unwise behavior and thinking, Solomon never let go of his faith in God (12:13,14).

Historical and Theological Themes

As is true with most biblical Wisdom literature, little historical narrative occurs in Ecclesiastes, apart from Solomon's own personal pilgrimage. The kingly sage studied life with high expectations but repeatedly bemoaned its shortcomings, which he acknowledged were due to the curse (Gen. 3:14-19). Ecclesiastes represents the painful autobiography of Solomon who, for much of his life, squandered God's blessings on his own personal pleasure rather than God's glory. He wrote to warn subsequent generations not to make the same tragic error, in much the same manner as Paul wrote to the Corinthians (cf. 1 Cor. 1:18-31; 2:13-16).

The key word is "vanity," which expresses the futile attempt to be satisfied apart from God. This word is used 37 times expressing the many things hard to understand about life. All earthly goals and ambitions when pursued as ends in themselves produce only emptiness. Paul was probably echoing Solomon's dissatisfaction when he wrote, "...the creation was subjected to futility" (Solomon's "vanity"; Rom. 8:19-21). Solomon's experience with the effects of the curse (see Gen. 3:17-19) led him to view life as "chasing after the wind."

Solomon asked, "What profit has a man from all his labor...?" (1:3), a question he repeated in 2:24 and 3:9. The wise king gave over a considerable portion of the book to addressing this dilemma. The impossibility of discovering both the inner workings of God's creation and the personal providence of God in Solomon's life were also deeply troubling to the king, as they were to Job. But the reality of judgment for all, despite many unknowns, emerged as the great certainty. In light of this judgment by God, the only fulfilled life is one lived in proper recognition of God and service to Him. Any other kind of life is frustrating and pointless.

A proper balance of the prominent "enjoy life" theme with that of "divine judgment" tethers the reader to Solomon's God with the sure chord of faith. For a time, Solomon suffered from the imbalance of trying to enjoy life without regard for the fear of Yahweh's judgment holding him on the path of obedience. In the end, he came to grasp the importance of obedience. The tragic results of Solomon's personal experience, coupled with the insight of extraordinary wisdom, make Ecclesiastes a book from which all believers can be warned and grow in their faith (cf. 2:1-26). This book shows that if one perceives each day of existence, labor, and basic provision as a gift from God, and accepts whatever God gives, then that person lives an abundant life (cf. John 10:10). However, one who looks to be satisfied apart from God will live with futility regardless of their accumulations.

Interpretive Challenges

The author's declaration that "all is vanity" envelops the primary message of the book (cf. 1:2; 12:8). The word translated "vanity" is used in at least 3 ways throughout the book. In each case, it looks at the nature of man's activity "under the sun" as: 1)"fleeting," which has in view the vapor-like (cf. James 4:14) or transitory nature of life; 2)"futile" or "meaningless," which focuses on the cursed condition of the universe and the debilitating effects it has on man's earthly experience; or 3) "incomprehensible" or "enigmatic," which gives consideration to life's unanswerable questions. Solomon draws upon all 3 meanings in Ecclesiastes.

While the context in each case will determine which meaning Solomon is focusing upon, the most recurring meaning of vanity is "incomprehensible" or "unknowable," referring to the mysteries of God's purposes. Solomon's conclusion to "fear God and keep His commandments" (12:13,14) is more than the book's summary; it is the only hope of the good life and the only reasonable response of faith and obedience to sovereign God. He precisely works out all activities under the sun, each in its time according to His perfect plan, but also discloses only as much as His perfect wisdom dictates and holds all men accountable. Those who refuse to take God and His Word seriously are doomed to lives of the severest vanity.

Outline

The book chronicles Solomon's investigations and conclusions regarding man's lifework, which combine all of his activity and its potential outcomes including limited satisfaction. The role of wisdom in experiencing success surfaces repeatedly, particularly when Solomon must acknowledge that God has not revealed all of the details. This leads Solomon to the conclusion that the primary issues of life after the Edenic fall involve divine blessings to be enjoyed and the divine judgment for which all must prepare.

CHAPTER 1

The Vanity of Life

1 The words of the Preacher, the son of David, [a]king in Jerusalem.

2 "Vanity[b] [1] of vanities," says the Preacher;
"Vanity of vanities, [c]all is vanity."

3 [d]What profit has a man from all his labor
In which he [2]toils under the sun?

4 One generation passes away, and another generation comes;
[e]But the earth abides forever.

5 [f]The sun also rises, and the sun goes down,
And [3]hastens to the place where it arose.

6 [g]The wind goes toward the south,
And turns around to the north;
The wind whirls about continually,
And comes again on its circuit.

7 [h]All the rivers run into the sea,
Yet the sea is not full;
To the place from which the rivers come,
There they return again.

8 All things are [4]full of labor;
Man cannot express it.
[i]The eye is not satisfied with seeing,
Nor the ear filled with hearing.

9 [j]That which has been is what will be,
That which is done is what will be done,
And there is nothing new under the sun.

10 Is there anything of which it may be said,
"See, this is new"?
It has already been in ancient times before us.

11 There is [k]no remembrance of former things,
Nor will there be any remembrance of things that are to come
By those who will come after.

The Grief of Wisdom

12 I, the Preacher, was king over Israel in Jerusalem. 13 And I set my heart to seek and [l]search out by wisdom concerning all that is done under heaven; [m]this burdensome task God has given to the sons of man, by which they may be [5]exercised. 14 I have seen all the works that are done under the sun; and indeed, all is vanity and grasping for the wind.

1:1 The words. The matters of the book are the crucial issues for Solomon's faith. They resemble the subject matter of Pss. 39; 49. the Preacher. The title of one who gathers the assembly together for instruction. See Introduction: Title.

1:2 Vanity of vanities. Solomon's way of saying "the greatest vanity." Cf. the discussion of "vanity" in Introduction: Interpretive Challenges.

1:3 profit. Advantage to or gain from one's labor. A very important and repeated word for Solomon (cf. 3:19; 5:9,11,16; 6:7,11; 7:11, 12; 10:10). Solomon looks at the fleeting moments of life and the seemingly small gain for man's activity under the sun. The only lasting efforts are those designed to accomplish God's purposes for eternity. labor. Labor is not just one's livelihood, but all of man's activity in life. under the sun. The phrase appears about 30 times to describe daily life.

1:4-7 These pictures from God's creation illustrate and underscore the futile repetition of human activity.

1:4 generation...earth. The essence of this comparison is permanence/impermanence without "profit" or "advantage." The observer perceives life as an endless cycle of activity which, by itself, does not bring security or meaning to man's experience.

1:8-11 This is a summary of sorts. Solomon looks at the effect of repetitious, enduring activity in God's creation over many generations as compared to the brief, comparatively profitless activity of one man which fails to produce an enduring satisfaction, and he concludes that it is wearisome. Another harsh reality comes with the realization that nothing is new and nothing will be remembered.

1:11 no remembrance. A written record or some other object which serves as a reminder of these events, people, and things will be short-lived.

1:12–6:9 This section records Solomon's ill-advised quest for greater wisdom.

1:12 king over Israel. See Introduction: Author and Date.

1:13 wisdom. Solomon's use of the term, in typical Hebrew fashion, is more practical than philosophical and implies more than knowledge. It carries notions of ability for proper behavior, success, common sense, and wit. burdensome task. Man's search to understand is at times difficult, yet God-given (cf. 2:26; 3:10; 5:16-19; 6:2; 8:11,15; 9:9; 12:11). God. The covenant name, LORD, is never used in Ecclesiastes. However, "God" is found almost 40 times. The emphasis is more on God's sovereignty in creation and providence than His covenant relationship through redemption.

1:14 grasping for the wind. One aspect of life's vanity is its fleeting character. Like the wind, much of what is desirable in life cannot be held in one's hand (cf. 1:14,17; 2:11,17,26; 4:4,6,16; 5:16; 6:9).

2.	Human effort	2:18-23
3.	Human achievement	2:26
4.	Human life	3:18-22
5.	Human rivalry	4:4
6.	Human selfish sacrifice	4:7,8
7.	Human power	4:16
8.	Human greed	5:10
9.	Human accumulation	6:1-12
10.	Human religion	8:10-14

15 [n] What is crooked cannot be made straight,
And what is lacking cannot be numbered.

16 I communed with my heart, saying, "Look, I have attained greatness, and have gained [o] more wisdom than all who were before me in Jerusalem. My heart has [6] understood great wisdom and knowledge." 17 [p] And I set my heart to know wisdom and to know madness and folly. I perceived that this also is grasping for the wind.

18 For [q] in much wisdom is much grief,
And he who increases knowledge increases sorrow.

The Vanity of Pleasure

2 I said [a] in my heart, "Come now, I will test you with [b] mirth; [1] therefore enjoy pleasure"; but surely, [c] this also was vanity. 2 I said of laughter—"Madness!"; and of mirth, "What does it accomplish?" 3 [d] I searched in my heart how [2] to gratify my flesh with wine, while guiding my heart with wisdom, and how to lay hold on folly, till I might see what was [e] good for the sons of men to do under heaven all the days of their lives.

4 I made my works great, I built myself [f] houses, and planted myself vineyards. 5 I made myself gardens and orchards, and I planted all kinds of fruit trees in them. 6 I made myself water pools from which to [3] water the growing trees of the grove. 7 I acquired male and female servants, and had [4] servants born in my house. Yes, I had greater possessions of herds and flocks than all who were in Jerusalem before me. 8 [g] I also gathered for myself silver and gold and the special treasures of kings and of the provinces. I acquired male and female singers, the delights of the sons of men, and [5] musical instruments of all kinds.

9 [h] So I became great and [6] excelled [i] more than all who were before me in Jerusalem. Also my wisdom remained with me.

10 Whatever my eyes desired I did not keep from them.
I did not withhold my heart from any pleasure,
For my heart rejoiced in all my labor;
And [j] this was my [7] reward from all my labor.
11 Then I looked on all the works that my hands had done
And on the labor in which I had toiled;
And indeed all was [k] vanity and grasping for the wind.
There was no profit under the sun.

The End of the Wise and the Fool

12 Then I turned myself to consider wisdom [l] and madness and folly;
For what can the man do who succeeds the king?—
Only what he has already [m] done.
13 Then I saw that wisdom [n] excels folly
As light excels darkness.
14 [o] The wise man's eyes are in his head,
But the fool walks in darkness.

1:15 crooked...lacking. With no necessarily moral implications being made, these words measure wisdom as the ability to resolve issues in life. In spite of man's grandest efforts, some crooked matters will remain unstraightened.

1:16 wisdom. Cf. Introduction: Background and Setting.

1:17 I set my heart to know. When Solomon depended on empirical research rather than divine revelation to understand life, he found it to be an empty experience.

1:18 wisdom...much grief. The expected outcome of wisdom is success. Success, in turn, should bring happiness. But Solomon concluded that there were no guarantees. This grieves the one who places his hope in human achievement alone.

2:1-11 Pleasure, although not necessarily evil, has its shortcomings, much like human wisdom. Solomon reflected upon his tragic experiences in attempting to draw satisfaction purely out of pleasure.

2:1,2 test. The investigation or test was crucial for Solomon. But the test was not scientific; rather it was a practical experiment to see what worked. He was interested in what a given act accomplished.

2:3 gratify. In further tests on the human level, Solomon overemphasized human gratification at the expense of God's glory.

2:4-8 Cf. 1 Kin. 4–10 for an amplified account of Solomon's riches.

2:8 musical instruments. This Heb. word occurs only here in the OT. The meaning is indicated in an early Egyptian letter that used a similar Canaanite word for "concubines." This fits Solomon's 700 wives and 300 concubines (1 Kin. 11:3). Most likely this should be translated "harem," which would refer to Solomon's many women (cf. 1 Kin. 11:3).

2:10 reward. Solomon's portion in life. This was what he received for all his activity and effort.

2:11 no profit. "Vanity" is defined in this context. The futility of the labor process is that Solomon had nothing of enduring and satisfying substance to show for it. Wisdom is no guarantee that one will achieve satisfaction, even in accomplishments comparable to Solomon's. To expend God-given resources for human accomplishment alone is empty.

2:12-17 Human wisdom suffers another crucial shortcoming—it leaves both the wise and the fool empty-handed at the threshold of death.

2:14 fool walks in darkness. The fool is not one who is mentally deficient, but is morally bankrupt. It is not that he cannot learn wisdom, but that he won't. He refuses to know, fear, and obey God.

Yet I myself perceived
That [p]the same event happens to them all.

15 So I said in my heart,
"As it happens to the fool,
It also happens to me,
And why was I then more wise?"
Then I said in my heart,
"This also is vanity."
16 For there is [q]no more remembrance of the wise than of the fool
forever,
Since all that now is will be forgotten in the days to come.
And how does a wise man die?
As the fool!

17 Therefore I hated life because the work that was done under the sun was distressing to me, for all is vanity and grasping for the wind.

18 Then I hated all my labor in which I had toiled under the sun, because [r]I must leave it to the man who will come after me. 19 And who knows whether he will be wise or a fool? Yet he will rule over all my labor in which I toiled and in which I have shown myself wise under the sun. This also is vanity. 20 Therefore I turned my heart and despaired of all the labor in which I had toiled under the sun. 21 For there is a man whose labor is with wisdom, knowledge, and skill; yet he must leave his [s]heritage to a man who has not labored for it. This also is vanity and a great evil. 22 [s]For what has man for all his labor, and for the striving of his heart with which he has toiled under the sun? 23 For all his days are [t]sorrowful, and his work burdensome; even in the night his heart takes no rest. This also is vanity.

24 [u]Nothing is better for a man than that he should eat and drink, and that his soul should enjoy good in his labor. This also, I saw, was from the hand of God. 25 For who can eat, or who can have enjoyment, [g]more than I? 26 For God gives [v]wisdom and knowledge and joy to a man who is good in His sight; but to the sinner He gives the work of gathering and collecting, that [w]he may give to him who is good before God. This also is vanity and grasping for the wind.

Everything Has Its Time

3 To everything there is a season,
A [a]time for every purpose under heaven:

2 A time [l]to be born,
And [b]a time to die;
A time to plant,
And a time to pluck what is planted;

The God-Given Task

2:17 because the work that was done. Since it had no more lasting value than the folly of a fool, Solomon viewed even the great reward of his labor as a source of pain.

2:18-22 Cf. 4:7,8

2:18 hated all my labor. Solomon left the kingdom divided to Jeroboam and his son Rehoboam, both of whom squandered their opportunities (1 Kin. 12–14).

2:21 heritage. The portion of one's life that he must leave behind at death.

2:24 Nothing is better. Even with the limitations of this present life (cf. 3:12,13,22; 5:18,19; 8:15; 9:7), humanity should rejoice in its temporal goodness. from the hand of God. Solomon's strong view of God's sovereignty brings comfort after an honest critique of what life in a cursed world entails.

2:25 more than I. Lit. "outside of Him" (i.e., God), or "without Him."

2:26 give to him who is good. The qualifier "in His sight" makes God's prerogative the standard.

3:1-8 a season, a time. Not only does God fix the standard and withhold or dispense satisfaction (2:26), but He also appoints "seasons" and "times." Earthly pursuits are good in their proper place and time, but unprofitable when pursued as the chief goal (cf. vv. 9,10).

3:9,10 Earthly pursuits (vv. 1-8) are unprofitable when considered as life's chief good, which was never intended by God.

3:11 everything. Every activity or event for which a culmination point may be fixed. beautiful. Fitting or appropriate. The phrase echoes "...and God saw that it was good" (Gen. 1:31). Even in a cursed

12 I know that nothing is [k]better for them than to rejoice, and to do good in their lives, 13 and also that [l]every man should eat and drink and enjoy the good of all his labor—it is the gift of God.

14 I know that whatever God does,

And God [2]requires an account of [3]what is past.

Injustice Seems to Prevail

16 Moreover [o]I saw under the sun:

In the place of [4]judgment,
Wickedness was there;
And in the place of righteousness,
[5]Iniquity was there.

17 I said in my heart,

[p]"God shall judge the righteous and the wicked,
For there is a time there for every [6]purpose and for every work."

18 I said in my heart, "Concerning the condition of the sons of men, God tests them, that they may see that they themselves are like animals." 19 [q]For what happens to the sons of men also happens to animals; one thing befalls them: as one dies, so dies the other. Surely, they all have one breath; man has no advantage over animals, for all is vanity. 20 All go to one place: [r]all are from the dust, and all return to dust. 21 [s]Who[7] knows the spirit of the sons of men, which goes upward, and the spirit of the animal, which goes down to the earth?

universe, activity should not be meaningless. Its futility lies in the fickle satisfaction of man and his failure to trust the wisdom of sovereign God. put eternity in their hearts. God made men for His eternal purpose, and nothing in post-Fall time can bring them complete satisfaction.

3:12 to rejoice, and to do good. These words capture the goal of Solomon's message which he echoes and elaborates on in 11:9,10 and again in 12:13,14.

3:13 enjoy the good of all his labor. In accepting everything as a gift of his Creator, even in a cursed world, man is enabled to see "good" in all his work (cf. 2:24,25; 5:19).

3:14 fear before Him. Acknowledging God's enduring and perfect work becomes grounds for reverence, worship, and meaning. Apart from God, man's works are pitifully inadequate. The theme, "the fear of God," also appears in 5:7; 8:12,13; 12:13.

3:17 God shall judge...for there is a time. The culminating issue of Solomon's "appointed time" discussion is that there is a time for judgment (cf. John 5:28,29). God's judgment is a central theme in Solomon's message for this book (cf. 11:9; 12:14). Even where the word "judgment" is absent, the greater issue of divine retribution is often pervasive.

3:18,19 what happens. The ultimate fate of man and beast is to die. Solomon isn't looking at eternal destinies, but rather at what all earthly flesh shares in common.

3:20 from the dust...to dust. Genesis 3:19 is alluded to in the broadest sense, i.e., all of living creation will die and go to the grave. Neither heaven nor hell is considered here.

3:21 the spirit. Man's breath or physical life appears on the surface to be little different than that of an animal. In reality, man's soul differs in that God has made him eternal (cf. v. 11).

Solomon Reflects on Genesis

Toward the end of his life, the penitent King Solomon pondered life in the wake of the Fall and the outworking of man's sin. Solomon drew the following conclusions, possibly from his own study of Genesis:

1. God created the heavens and earth with laws of design and regularity (Eccl. 1:2-7; 3:1-8; cf. Gen. 1:1-31; 8:22).
2. Man is created from dust and returns to dust (Eccl. 3:20; 12:7; cf. Gen. 2:7; 3:19).
3. God placed in man His life-giving breath (Eccl. 12:7; cf. Gen. 2:7).
4. As God ordained it, marriage is one of life's most enjoyable blessings (Eccl. 9:9; cf. Gen. 2:18-25).
5. Divine judgment results from the Fall (Eccl. 3:14-22; 11:9; 12:14; cf. Gen. 2:17; 3:1-19).
6. The effect of the curse on creation is "vanity," i.e., futility (Eccl. 1:5-8; cf. Gen. 3:17-19).
7. Labor after the Fall is difficult and yields little profit (Eccl. 1:3, 13; 2:3; 3:9-11; cf. Gen. 3:17-19).
8. Death overcomes all creatures after the Fall (Eccl. 8:8; 9:4,5; cf. Gen. 2:17; 3:19).
9. After the Fall, man's heart is desperately wicked (Eccl. 7:20; 7:29; 8:11; 9:3; cf. Gen. 3:22; 6:5; 8:21).
10. God withholds certain knowledge and wisdom from man for His wise, but unspoken, reasons (Eccl. 6:12; 8:17; cf. Gen. 3:22).

22 [t]So I perceived that nothing is better than that a man should rejoice in his own works, for [u]that is his [8]heritage. [v]For who can bring him to see what will happen after him?

4 Then I returned and considered all the [a]oppression that is done under the sun:

And look! The tears of the oppressed,
But they have no comforter—
[1]On the side of their oppressors there is power,
But they have no comforter.

2 [b]Therefore I praised the dead who were already dead,
More than the living who are still alive.

3 [c]Yet, better than both is he who has never existed,
Who has not seen the evil work that is done under the sun.

The Vanity of Selfish Toil

4 Again, I saw that for all toil and every skillful work a man is envied by his neighbor. This also is vanity and grasping for the wind.

5 [d]The fool folds his hands
And consumes his own flesh.

6 [e]Better a handful with quietness
Than both hands full, together with toil and grasping for the wind.

7 Then I returned, and I saw vanity under the sun:

8 There is one alone, without [2]companion:
He has neither son nor brother.
Yet there is no end to all his labors,
Nor is his [f]eye satisfied with riches.
But [g]he never asks,
"For whom do I toil and deprive myself of [h]good?"
This also is vanity and a [3]grave misfortune.

The Value of a Friend

9 Two are better than one,
Because they have a good reward for their labor.

10 For if they fall, one will lift up his companion.
But woe to him who is alone when he falls,
For he has no one to help him up.

11 Again, if two lie down together, they will keep warm;
But how can one be warm alone?

12 Though one may be overpowered by another, two can withstand him.
And a threefold cord is not quickly broken.

Popularity Passes Away

13 Better a poor and wise youth
Than an old and foolish king who will be admonished no more.

14 For he comes out of prison to be king,
Although [4]he was born poor in his kingdom.

15 I saw all the living who walk under the sun;
They were with the second youth who stands in his place.

16 There was no end of all the people
[5]over whom he was made king;
Yet those who come afterward will not rejoice in him.
Surely this also is vanity and grasping for the wind.

Fear God, Keep Your Vows

5 Walk [a]prudently when you go to the house of God; and draw near to hear rather [b]than to give the sacrifice of fools, for they do not know that they do evil.

2 Do not be [c]rash with your mouth,

3:22 after him. Once again, death becomes the overshadowing reality.

4:1-3 The oppressiveness of some lives renders death more appealing.

4:3 evil work. Earthly life can be so disheartening as to make non-existence preferable.

4:4 envied by. The lack of satisfaction with life leads some to conclude that everyone else has it better.

4:5 folds his hands...consumes his own flesh. Even the man who settles into idleness, living on what he takes from others, is self-tormented, and never satisfied (cf. Is. 9:20; 44:20).

4:7-12 The futility of labor alone without satisfaction and without any heir to experience its value is addressed (cf. 2:18-22, a complementary message). Life is better with companionship.

4:13-16 The cherished popularity of kings is precarious and short-lived.

4:15 second youth. This refers to the legitimate successor to the "old king," as opposed to the "poor youth" who rises on his ability to reign.

5:1-7 A prelude to the book's concluding admonition to approach God with reverence.

5:1 the house of God. The temple Solomon built in Jerusalem (cf. 1 Kin. 8:15-21).

And let not your heart utter anything hastily before God.
For God is in heaven, and you on
earth;
Therefore let your words [d]be few.
3 For a dream comes through much activity,
And [e]a fool's voice is known by his many words.

4 [f]When you make a vow to God, do not delay to [g]pay it;
For He has no pleasure in fools.
Pay what you have vowed—5 [h]Better not to vow than to vow and not pay.

6 Do not let your [i]mouth cause your flesh to sin, [j]nor say before the messenger of God that it was an error. Why should God be angry at your [1]excuse and destroy the work of your hands? 7 For in the multitude of dreams and many words there is also vanity. But [k]fear God.

The Vanity of Gain and Honor

8 If you [l]see the oppression of the poor, and the violent [2]perversion of justice and righteousness in a province, do not marvel at the matter; for [m]high official watches over high official, and higher officials are over them.

9 Moreover the profit of the land is for all; even the king is served from the field.

10 He who loves silver will not be satisfied with silver;
Nor he who loves abundance, with
increase.
This also is vanity.

11 When goods increase,
They increase who eat them;
So what profit have the owners
Except to see them with their eyes?

12 The sleep of a laboring man is sweet,
Whether he eats little or much;
But the abundance of the rich will not permit him to sleep.

13 [n]There is a severe evil which I have seen under the sun:
Riches kept for their owner to his hurt.
14 But those riches perish through
[3]misfortune;
When he begets a son, there is nothing in his hand.
15 [o]As he came from his mother's womb, naked shall he return,
To go as he came;
And he shall take nothing from his labor
Which he may carry away in his hand.

16 And this also is a severe evil—
Just exactly as he came, so shall he go.
And [p]what profit has he [q]who has labored for the wind?
17 All his days [r]he also eats in
darkness,
And he has much sorrow and sickness and anger.

18 Here is what I have seen: [s]It is good and fitting for one to eat and drink, and to enjoy the good of all his labor in which he toils under the sun all the days of his life which God gives him; [t]for it is his [4]heritage. 19 As for [u]every man to whom God has given riches and wealth, and given him power to eat of it, to receive his [5]heritage and rejoice in his labor—this is the [v]gift of God. 20 For he will not dwell un-

5:2 heaven...earth. Because God is in heaven and man is on earth, rash promises and arguments before Him are foolish.

5:4,5 vow and not pay. Promises made to God have serious implications. The OT background for this admonition is found in Deut. 23:21-23; Judg. 11:35. Ananias and Sapphira learned the hard way (cf. Acts 5:1-11).

5:6 mouth cause your flesh to sin. Don't vow something that your fleshly desire will cause you to break. messenger. The priest in the house of God (cf. Mal. 2:7). Both priests and prophets are called messengers, commissaries who deliver and report back messages for the Heavenly King (cf. Is. 6:1-13). Don't tell them your broken vow was a small thing.

5:7 fear God. Cf. 3:14; 8:12,13; 12:13.

5:8,9 Officials have an unfair advantage to attain wealth.

5:10 The love of money is never satisfied (cf. 1 Tim. 6:9,10).

5:11 They increase who eat them. This refers to the rich man's dependents.

5:12-17 Earthly treasures are precarious and bring disadvantages; they produce anxiety (v. 12) and pain (v. 13). They disappear through bad business (v. 14) and are left at death (v. 15). They can even produce fear (v. 17).

5:18-20 In contrast to the anxiety of those just described (vv. 12-17), for those who consider God as the source of wealth, there are pleasures, riches, and the ability to enjoy them (see 2:24).

5:18 fitting. The same word translated in 3:11 "beautiful." Once again, Solomon uses an admonition to enjoy the richness of life that God gives.

5:19 the gift of God. To understand this is to enjoy the satisfaction of His good gifts.

5:20 God keeps him busy. When a person recognizes the goodness of God, he rejoices and does not dwell unduly on the troubles detailed in the previous context.

duly on the days of his life, because God keeps him busy with the joy of his heart.

6 There[a] is an evil which I have seen under the sun, and it is common among men: 2 A man to whom God has given riches and wealth and honor, [b]so that he lacks nothing for himself of all he desires; [c]yet God does not give him power to eat of it, but a foreigner consumes it. This is vanity, and it is an evil [1]affliction.

3 If a man begets a hundred children and lives many years, so that the days of his years are many, but his soul is not satisfied with goodness, or [d]indeed he has no burial, I say that [e]a [2]stillborn child is better than he— 4 for it comes in vanity and departs in darkness, and its name is covered with darkness. 5 Though it has not seen the sun or known anything, this has more rest than that man, 6 even if he lives a thousand years twice—but has not seen goodness. Do not all go to one [f]place?

7 [g]All the labor of man is for his mouth,
And yet the soul is not satisfied.
8 For what more has the wise man than the fool?
What does the poor man have,
Who knows how to walk before the living?
9 Better is [3]the [h]sight of the eyes than the wandering of [4]desire.
This also is vanity and grasping for the wind.

10 Whatever one is, he has been named [i]already,
For it is known that he is man;
[j]And he cannot contend with Him who is mightier than he.
11 Since there are many things that increase vanity,
How is man the better?

12 For who knows what is good for man in life, [5]all the days of his [6]vain life which he passes like [k]a shadow? [l]Who can tell a man what will happen after him under the sun?

The Value of Practical Wisdom

7 A [a]good name is better than precious ointment,
And the day of death than the day of one's [b]birth;
2 Better to go to the house of mourning
Than to go to the house of feasting,
For that is the end of all men;
And the living will take it to [c]heart.
3 [1]Sorrow is better than laughter,
[d]For by a sad countenance the heart is made [2]better.
4 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning,
But the heart of fools is in the house of mirth.

5 [e]It is better to [3]hear the rebuke of the wise
Than for a man to hear the song of fools.
6 [f]For like the [4]crackling of thorns under a pot,
So is the laughter of the fool.
This also is vanity.
7 Surely oppression destroys a wise man's reason,
[g]And a bribe [5]debases the heart.

8 The end of a thing is better than its beginning;
[h]The patient in spirit is better than the proud in spirit.
9 [i]Do not hasten in your spirit to be angry,
For anger rests in the bosom of fools.
10 Do not say,
"Why were the former days better than these?"
For you do not inquire wisely concerning this.

11 Wisdom is good with an inheritance,
And profitable [j]to those who see the sun.

6:2 God does not give him power to eat. The Lord gives and takes away for His own purposes. So, the blessings of God cannot be assumed or taken for granted. But they should be enjoyed with thankfulness while they are available.

6:3-6 Not having a burial, as in the case of King Jehoiakim (Jer. 22:18,19), indicated complete disrespect and disregard for one's life. To die without mourners or honors was considered worse than being born dead, even if one had many children and a full life.

6:3 This is hyperbole.

6:7-12 Lack of soul satisfaction comes from working only for what is consumed (v. 7), seeing little difference in the end between the wise and foolish (v. 8), not knowing the future (v. 9), realizing that God alone controls everything (v. 10), and true understanding of the present and future is limited (vv. 11,12).

7:1 good name. Where a man has so lived to earn a good reputation, the day of his death can be a time of honor.

7:2-6 The point of this section is to emphasize that more is learned from adversity than from pleasure. True wisdom is developed in the crucible of life's trials, though the preacher wishes that were not the case when he writes "this is also vanity" (v. 6).

7:10 former days. In the midst of trouble and discontent, it is easy to lose touch with reality.

12 For wisdom is [6]a [k]defense as money is a defense,
But the [7]excellence of knowledge is that wisdom gives [l]life to those who have it.

13 Consider the work of God;
For [m]who can make straight what
He has made crooked?
14 [n]In the day of prosperity be joyful,
But in the day of adversity consider:
Surely God has appointed the one
[8]as well as the other,
So that man can find out nothing that will come after him.

15 I have seen everything in my days of vanity:

[o]There is a just man who perishes in his righteousness,
And there is a wicked man who prolongs life in his wickedness.

16 [p]Do not be overly righteous,
[q]Nor be overly wise:
Why should you destroy yourself?
17 Do not be overly wicked,
Nor be foolish:
[r]Why should you die before your time?
18 It is good that you grasp this,
And also not remove your hand
from the other;
For he who [s]fears God will [9]escape
them all.

19 [t]Wisdom strengthens the wise
More than ten rulers of the city.

20 [u]For there is not a just man on earth who does good
And does not sin.

21 Also do not take to heart
everything people say,
Lest you hear your servant cursing
you.
22 For many times, also, your own heart has known
That even you have cursed others.

23 All this I have [1]proved by
wisdom.
[v]I said, "I will be wise";
But it was far from me.
24 [w]As for that which is far off and [x]exceedingly deep,
Who can find it out?
25 [y]I applied my heart to know,
To search and seek out wisdom and the reason of things,
To know the wickedness of folly,
Even of foolishness and madness.
26 [z]And I find more bitter than death
The woman whose heart is snares and nets,
Whose hands are fetters.
[2]He who pleases God shall escape from her,
But the sinner shall be trapped by
her.

27 "Here is what I have found," says
[a]the Preacher,
"Adding one thing to the other to find out the reason,
28 Which my soul still seeks but I cannot find:
[b]One man among a thousand I have found,
But a woman among all these I have not found.
29 Truly, this only I have found:
[c]That God made man upright,
But [d]they have sought out many schemes."

7:12 wisdom is a defense. Wisdom is better than money because it provides the fulfilled life.

7:13 make straight what He has made crooked. Man should consider God's activity because God is sovereign, decreeing and controlling everything under the sun (cf. 1:15).

7:14 prosperity...adversity. God ordains both kinds of days and withholds knowledge of the future.

7:15-18 The focus on the nature of righteousness is made clear in the statement "For he who fears God will escape them all" (v. 18).

7:15 perishes...prolongs. The fact that some righteous men die young and some wicked men live long is enigmatic (cf. 8:11,12).

7:16 overly righteous...overly wise. Solomon has already exhorted his readers to be righteous and wise (cf. v. 19). The warning here is against being self-righteous or pharisaical.

7:19 Wisdom strengthens. The measure of wisdom is its ability to bring good outcomes in life.

7:20 does good and does not sin. Solomon gave great emphasis to the general effects of sin (cf. Gen. 3:1-24) and also pointed out the universality of personal transgressions. Paul may have recalled this passage when he wrote Rom. 3:10.

7:21,22 people say. Since you have many offensive words to be forgiven, don't keep strict accounts of other's offensive words against you.

7:23,24 "I will be wise"...Who can find it out? The already wise king resolves to be even wiser. But upon further investigation, the limitations of wisdom become apparent. Some things are unknowable. This realization quickly dampens his enthusiasm.

7:26 The woman. This is the seductress about whom Solomon warns young men in Proverbs (Prov. 2:16-19; 5:1-14; 6:24-29; 7:1-27). Elsewhere, Solomon exalts the virtues of man's lifetime companion (Eccl. 9:9; cf. Prov. 5:15-23; 31:10-31).

7:27-29 Empirical acquisition of knowledge, that is man seeking righteousness through his many schemes, fails. Only God can make man upright.

7:29 many schemes. The same word is translated "intent" and reflects the evil imaginations of all human beings since Adam and Eve.

8 Who is like a wise man?
And who knows the interpretation of a thing?
[a]A man's wisdom makes his face shine,
And [b]the [1]sternness of his face is changed.

Obey Authorities for God's Sake

2 I say, "Keep the king's commandment [c]for the sake of your oath to God. 3 [d]Do not be hasty to go from his presence. Do not take your stand for an evil thing, for he does whatever pleases him."

4 Where the word of a king is, there is power;
And [e]who may say to him, "What are you doing?"
5 He who keeps his command will experience nothing harmful;
And a wise man's heart [2]discerns both time and judgment,
6 Because [f]for every matter there is a time and judgment,
Though the misery of man [3]increases greatly.
7 [g]For he does not know what will happen;
So who can tell him when it will occur?
8 [h]No one has power over the spirit to retain the spirit,
And no one has power in the day of death.
There is [i]no release from that war,
And wickedness will not deliver those who are given to it.

9 All this I have seen, and applied my heart to every work that is done under the sun: There is a time in which one man rules over another to his own hurt.

Death Comes to All

10 Then I saw the wicked buried, who had come and gone from the place of holiness, and they were [j]forgotten[4] in the city where they had so done. This also is vanity. 11 [k]Because the sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil. 12 [l]Though a sinner does evil a hundred times, and his days are prolonged, yet I surely know that [m]it will be well with those who fear God, who fear before Him. 13 But it will not be well with the wicked; nor will he prolong his days, which are as a shadow, because he does not fear before God.

14 There is a vanity which occurs on earth, that there are just men to whom it [n]happens according to the work of the wicked; again, there are wicked men to whom it happens according to the work of the [o]righteous. I said that this also is vanity.

15 [p]So I commended enjoyment, because a man has nothing better under the sun than to eat, drink, and be merry; for this will remain with him in his labor all the days of his life which God gives him under the sun.

16 When I applied my heart to know wisdom and to see the business that is done on earth, even though one sees no sleep day or night, 17 then I saw all the work of God, that [q]a man cannot find out the work that is done under the sun. For though a man labors to discover it, yet he will not find it; moreover, though a wise man attempts to know it, he will not be able to find it.

9 For I [1]considered all this in my heart, so that I could declare it all: [a]that the righteous and the wise and their works are in the hand of God. People know neither love nor hatred by anything they see before them. 2 [b]All things come alike to all:

8:2,3 your oath to God. This refers to Israel's promises to serve King Solomon (1 Chr. 29:24).

8:5,6 time and judgment. Solomon returns to the message of 3:19 regarding a time for judgment. Knowing that God has appointed a time for judgment gives day to day living a clear purpose.

8:7 what...when. God has appointed a time for everything but man knows neither the time nor the outcome. These uncertainties can increase his misery.

8:8 spirit. "Wind" may be the better translation for the word "spirit." Death is as precarious and uncontrollable as the wind.

8:10 the place of holiness. This refers to the temple at Jerusalem (cf. 5:1). vanity. Lessons that should be gained from the death of the hypocritically wicked are quickly forgotten.

8:11 the sentence. The gracious delay of God's retribution leads to further disobedience. This delay, in actuality, in no way diminishes the certainty of final judgment.

8:12,13 those who fear God...the wicked. There is no real advantage for the wicked, although at times it might seem so (cf. 5:7; 12:13,14). Temporal patience does not eliminate eternal judgment.

8:14 vanity. Temporally speaking, God generally rewards obedience and punishes disobedience. Solomon regards the exceptions to this principle as vanity or enigmatic and discouraging (see Ps. 73).

8:15 enjoyment. In no way does Solomon commend unbridled, rampant indulgence in sin, which is implied in Christ's account of the man whose barns were full. That man may have justified his sin by quoting this passage (cf. Luke 12:19). His focus here is on the resolve to enjoy life in the face of the injustice which surrounded him (see 2:24).

8:16,17 the work of God. God's work is wonderful, but at times incomprehensible.

9:1 in the hand of God. There will be no inequities in the final judgment of the righteous or the wicked, because God remembers both in perfect detail.

One event happens to the righteous and the wicked;
To the [2]good, the clean, and the unclean;
To him who sacrifices and him who does not sacrifice.
As is the good, so is the sinner;
He who takes an oath as he who fears an oath.

3 This is an evil in all that is done under the sun: that one thing happens to all. Truly the hearts of the sons of men are full of evil; madness is in their hearts while they live, and after that they go to the dead. 4 But for him who is joined to all the living there is hope, for a living dog is better than a dead lion.

5 For the living know that they will die;
But [c]the dead know nothing,
And they have no more reward,
For [d]the memory of them is forgotten.
6 Also their love, their hatred, and their envy have now perished;
Nevermore will they have a share
In anything done under the sun.

7 Go, [e]eat your bread with joy,
And drink your wine with a merry
heart;
For God has already accepted your
works.
8 Let your garments always be white,
And let your head lack no oil.

9 [3]Live joyfully with the wife whom you love all the days of your vain life which He has given you under the sun, all your days of vanity; [f]for that is your portion in life, and in the labor which you perform under the sun.

10 [g]Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with your [h]might; for there is no work or device or knowledge or wisdom in the grave where you are going.

11 I returned [i]and saw under the sun that—

The race is not to the swift,
Nor the battle to the strong,
Nor bread to the wise,

But time and [j]chance happen to
them all.
12 For [k]man also does not know his
time:
Like fish taken in a cruel net,
Like birds caught in a snare,
So the sons of men are [l]snared in an evil time,
When it falls suddenly upon them.

Wisdom Superior to Folly

13 This wisdom I have also seen under the sun, and it seemed great to me: 14 [m]There was a little city with few men in it; and a great king came against it, besieged it, and built great [4]snares around it. 15 Now there was found in it a poor wise man, and he by his wisdom delivered the city. Yet no one remembered that same poor man.

16 Then I said:

"Wisdom is better than [n]strength.
Nevertheless [o]the poor man's wisdom is despised,
And his words are not heard.
17 Words of the wise, spoken quietly, should be heard
Rather than the shout of a ruler of
fools.
18 Wisdom is better than weapons of war;
But [p]one sinner destroys much
good."

10 Dead [1]flies [2]putrefy the perfumer's ointment,
And cause it to give off a foul odor;
So does a little folly to one respected for wisdom and honor.
2 A wise man's heart is at his right
hand,
But a fool's heart at his left.
3 Even when a fool walks along the
way,
He lacks wisdom,

1 [1] Lit. Flies of death [2] Tg., Vg. omit putrefy

9:2,3 one thing happens to all. Death because of universal depravity.

9:7 eat...drink. See notes on 2:24.

9:9 the wife. Cf. Prov. 5:15-19 and Solomon's Song.

9:11 time and chance. Wisdom cannot guarantee good outcomes because of what appear to be so many unpredictable contingencies.

9:12 his time. The time of his misfortune, especially death (cf. 11:8, "days of darkness"; 12:1, "difficult days").

9:13-15 Wisdom may not receive its due in this life.

9:16 This is true because he lacks status and position.

10:1-20 Solomon draws together assorted examples of the wisdom he has both scrutinized and touted.

10:2 right...left. This proverb is based on the fact that, commonly, the right hand is more deft than the left.

10:3 fool. See note on 2:14. walks. A person lacking wisdom will manifest that in daily conduct.

[a] And he shows everyone that he is a fool.
4 If the spirit of the ruler rises against you,
[b] Do not leave your post;
For [c] conciliation[3] pacifies great offenses.

5 There is an evil I have seen under the sun,
As an error proceeding from the ruler:
6 [d] Folly is set in [4] great dignity,
While the rich sit in a lowly place.
7 I have seen servants [e] on horses,
While princes walk on the ground like servants.

8 [f] He who digs a pit will fall into it,
And whoever breaks through a wall will be bitten by a serpent.
9 He who quarries stones may be hurt by them,
And he who splits wood may be endangered by it.
10 If the ax is dull,
And one does not sharpen the edge,
Then he must use more strength;
But wisdom [5] brings success.

11 A serpent may bite [g] when it is not charmed;
The [6] babbler is no different.
12 [h] The words of a wise man's mouth are gracious,
But [i] the lips of a fool shall swallow him up;
13 The words of his mouth begin with foolishness,
And the end of his talk is raving madness.
14 [j] A fool also multiplies words.
No man knows what is to be;
Who can tell him [k] what will be after him?
15 The labor of fools wearies them,
For they do not even know how to go to the city!

16 [l] Woe to you, O land, when your king is a child,
And your princes feast in the morning!
17 Blessed are you, O land, when your king is the son of nobles,
And your [m] princes feast at the proper time—
For strength and not for drunkenness!
18 Because of laziness the [7] building decays,
And [n] through idleness of hands the house leaks.
19 A feast is made for laughter,
And [o] wine makes merry;
But money answers everything.

20 [p] Do not curse the king, even in your thought;
Do not curse the rich, even in your bedroom;
For a bird of the air may carry your voice,
And a bird in flight may tell the matter.

In the place where the tree falls, there it shall lie.

10:5 It is a great and far-reaching evil when leaders make bad judgments.

10:6,7 the rich...princes. Life presents some strange ironies and is not, in this world, always fair.

10:8-10 digs...does not sharpen. Dangers and uncertainties abound in life.

10:10 wisdom brings success. A little wisdom will ease the efforts of life. Even though life's experiences often don't turn out the way one would have hoped, wise living usually produces a good outcome. This is a very important conclusion for Solomon's testing of wisdom.

10:12-14 words. Man demonstrates wisdom in words as well as works. Foolish words yield unfavorable outcomes.

10:15 to go to the city. A proverb for ignorance with regard to the most ordinary matters, which extends even to spiritual realities. If a fool can't find the town, how could he possibly locate God?

10:18 the building...the house. This is likely an analogy for the kingdom of a lazy monarch.

10:19 money answers everything. The partying king of v. 18 thinks he can fix all the disasters of his inept reign by raising taxes.

11:1 Cast your bread. Take a calculated and wise step forward in life, like a farmer who throws his seed on the wet or marshy ground and waits for it to grow (cf. Is. 32:20).

11:2 Give. Be generous while there is plenty, and make friends while time remains, because one never knows when he might need them to return the favor.

And he who regards the clouds will not reap.

5 As [f]you do not know what is the way of the [1]wind,

of her who is with child,
So you do not know the works of God who makes everything.
6 In the morning sow your seed,
And in the evening do not withhold your hand;
For you do not know which will prosper,
Either this or that,
Or whether both alike will be good.

7 Truly the light is sweet,
And it is pleasant for the eyes [h]to behold the sun;
8 But if a man lives many years
And [i]rejoices in them all,
Yet let him [j]remember the days of
darkness,
For they will be many.
All that is coming is vanity.

11:7–12:8 Solomon crystallizes the book's message. Death is imminent and with it comes retribution. Enjoyment and judgment, though strange partners, come together in this section because both clamor for man's deepest commitment. Surprisingly, one does not win out over the other. In a world created for enjoyment but damaged by sin, judgment and enjoyment/pleasure are held in tension. With too much pleasure, judgment stands as a threatening force; with too much judgment, enjoyment suffers. In the final analysis, both are prominent themes of life that are resolved in our relationship to God, the primary issue of life and this book.

11:3-6 The world is full of things over which one has no control including the purposes of God. There is no virtue in wishful wondering, but there is hope for those who get busy and do their work.

11:7 light. Good times in contrast to "darkness" (v. 8), meaning bad times. Cf. 12:1.

11:9 Rejoice...judgment. The two terms seem to cancel out the other. How can this be explained? Enjoy life but do not commit iniquity. The balance that is called for insures that enjoyment is not reckless, sinful abandonment. Pleasure is experienced in faith and obedience, for as Solomon has said repeatedly, one can only receive true satisfaction as a gift from God.

11:10 vanity. Enjoy childhood and youth while you can because life is fleeting.

12:1 Remember...your Creator...difficult days. Remember you are God's property, so serve Him from the start of your years, not the end of your years, when service is very limited.

12:2-6 Solomon uses the imagery of aging, incorporating elements of a dilapidated house, nature, and a funeral procession to heighten the emphasis of 11:7–12:1.

12:2 sun...moon...clouds. Youth is typically the time of dawning light, old age the time of twilight's gloom.

12:3 keepers of the house tremble. The hands and arms which protect the body, as guards do a palace, shake in old age. strong men bow down. The legs, like supporting pillars, weaken. grinders. Teeth. those that look through the windows. Eyes.

12:4 doors. Lips that do not have much to say. sound of grinding. This refers to little eating, when the sound of masticating is low. rises up. Light sleep. daughters of music. The ear and voice that once loved music.

12:5 afraid of height. For fear of falling. almond tree blossoms. A white blossoming tree among dark trees speaks of hair. mourners. The funeral is near.

12:6,7 Here are the images of death.

12:6 silver cord is loosed. Perhaps this pictures a lamp hanging

Or the golden bowl is broken,
Or the pitcher shattered at the fountain,
Or the wheel broken at the well.
7 [f]Then the dust will return to the earth as it was,
[g]And the spirit will return to God [h]who gave it.

8 "Vanity[i] of vanities," says the Preacher,
"All is vanity."

The Whole Duty of Man

9 And moreover, because the Preacher was wise, he still taught the people knowledge; yes, he pondered and sought out and [j]set[3] in order many proverbs. 10 The Preacher sought to find [4]acceptable words; and what was written was upright—words of truth. 11 The words of the wise are like goads, and the words of [5]scholars are like well-driven nails, given by one Shepherd. 12 And further, my son, be admonished by these. Of making many books there is no end, and [k]much study is wearisome to the flesh.

13 Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter:

[l]Fear God and keep His commandments,
For this is man's all.
14 For [m]God will bring every work into judgment,
Including every secret thing,
Whether good or evil.

from a silver chain, which breaks with age, smashing the lamp. Some suggest this refers to the spinal cord. golden bowl. Possibly this refers to the brain. pitcher...fountain...wheel. Wells required a wheel with a rope attached in order to lower the pitcher for water. Perhaps this pictures the fountain of blood, the heart. loosed...broken...shattered...broken. All of these actions portray death as tragic and irreversible.

12:7 dust...spirit. Solomon recalls Gen. 2:7 and 3:19 as he contemplates the end of the aging process. spirit...who gave it. The sage ends his message with the culmination of a human life. "The LORD gave and the LORD has taken away" (Job 1:21; 1 Tim. 6:7).

12:7,8 This gloomy picture of old age does not negate the truth that old age can be blessed for the godly (Prov. 16:31), but it does remind the young that they will not have the ability to enjoy that blessing of a godly old age and a life of strong service to God if they do not remember their Creator while young (v. 1).

12:9-14 Solomon's final words of advice.

12:11 goads...well-driven nails. Two shepherd's tools are in view: one used to motivate reluctant animals, the other to secure those who might otherwise wander into dangerous territory. Both goads and nails picture aspects of applied wisdom. one Shepherd. True wisdom has its source in God alone.

12:12 books. Books written on any other subject than God's revealed wisdom will only proliferate the uselessness of man's thinking.

12:13,14 Fear God. Solomon's final word on the issues raised in this book, as well as life itself, focus on one's relationship to God. All of the concern for a life under the sun, with its pleasures and uncertainties, was behind Solomon. Such things seemed comparatively irrelevant to him as he faced the end of his life. But death, in spite of the focused attention he had given to it in Ecclesiastes, was not the greatest equalizer. Judgment/retribution is the real equalizer as Solomon saw it, for God will bring every person's every act to judgment. Unbelievers will stand at the Great White Throne judgment (cf. Rev. 20:11-15) and believers before Christ at the Bema judgment (cf. 1 Cor. 3:10-15; 2 Cor. 5:9,10). When all is said and done, the certainty and finality of retribution give life the meaning for which David's oftimes foolish son had been searching. Whatever may be one's portion in life, accountability to the God, whose ways are often mysterious, is both eternal and irrevocable.

The SONG OF SOLOMON

Title

The Greek Septuagint (LXX) and Latin Vulgate (Vg.) versions follow the Hebrew (Masoretic Text) with literal translations of the first two words in 1:1—"Song of Songs." Several English versions read "The Song of Solomon," thus giving the fuller sense of 1:1. The superlative, "Song of Songs" (cf. "Holy of Holies" in Ex. 26:33,34 and "King of Kings" in Rev. 19:16), indicates that this song is the best among Solomon's 1,005 musical works (1 Kin. 4:32). The word translated "song" frequently refers to music that honors the Lord (cf. 1 Chr. 6:31,32; Pss. 33:3; 40:3; 144:9).

Author and Date

Solomon, who reigned over the united kingdom 40 years (971–931 B.C.), appears 7 times by name in this book (1:1,5; 3:7,9,11; 8:11,12). In view of his writing skills, musical giftedness (1 Kin. 4:32), and the authorial, not dedicatory, sense of 1:1, this piece of Scripture could have been penned at any time during Solomon's reign. Since cities to the N and to the S are spoken of in Solomon's descriptions and travels, both the period depicted and the time of actual writing point to the united kingdom before it divided after Solomon's reign ended. Knowing that this portion of Scripture comprises one song by one author, it is best taken as a unified piece of poetic, Wisdom literature rather than a series of love poems without a common theme or author.

Background and Setting

Two people dominate this true-life, dramatic love song. Solomon, whose kingship is mentioned 5 times (1:4,12; 3:9,11; 7:5), appears as "the beloved." The Shulamite maiden (6:13) remains obscure; most likely she was a resident of Shunem, 3 mi. N of Jezreel in lower Galilee. Some suggest she is Pharaoh's daughter (1 Kin. 3:1), although the Song provides no evidence for this conclusion. Others favor Abishag, the Shunammite who cared for King David (1 Kin. 1:1-4,15). An unknown maiden from Shunem, whose family had possibly been employed by Solomon (8:11), seems most reasonable. She would have been Solomon's first wife (Eccl. 9:9), before he sinned by adding 699 other wives and 300 concubines (1 Kin. 11:3).

Minor roles feature several different groups in this book. First, note the not infrequent commentary by "the daughters of Jerusalem" (1:5; 2:7; 3:5; 5:8,16; 8:4), who might be part of Solomon's household staff (cf. 3:10). Second, Solomon's friends join in at 3:6-11; and third, so do the Shulamite's brothers (8:8,9). The affirmation of 5:1b would most likely be God's blessing on the couple's union. One can follow the narrative by noticing the suggested parts as indicated in headings throughout the song. Where possible variations are reasonable, they will be recognized in the study notes.

The setting combines both rural and urban scenes. Portions take place in the hill country N of Jerusalem, where the Shulamite lived (6:13) and where Solomon enjoyed prominence as a vinegrower and shepherd (Eccl. 2:4-7). The city section includes the wedding and time afterward at Solomon's abode in Jerusalem (3:6–7:13).

The first spring appears in 2:11-13 and the second in 7:12. Assuming a chronology without gaps, the Song of Solomon took place over a period of time at least one year in length, but probably no longer than two years.

Historical and Theological Themes

All 117 verses in Solomon's Song have been recognized by the Jews as a part of their sacred writings. Along with Ruth, Esther, Ecclesiastes, and Lamentations, it is included among the OT books of the Megilloth, or "five scrolls." The Jews read this song at Passover, calling it "the Holy of Holies." Surprisingly, God is not mentioned explicitly except possibly in 8:6. No formal theological themes emerge. The NT never quotes Solomon's Song directly (nor Esther, Obadiah, and Nahum).

In contrast to the two distorted extremes of ascetic abstinence and lustful perversion outside of marriage, Solomon's ancient love song exalts the purity of marital affection and romance. It parallels and enhances other portions of Scripture which portray God's plan for marriage, including the beauty and sanctity of sexual intimacy between husband and wife. The Song rightfully stands alongside other classic Scripture passages which expand on this theme, e.g., Gen. 2:24; Ps. 45; Prov. 5:15-23; 1 Cor. 7:1-5; 13:1-8; Eph. 5:18-33; Col. 3:18,19; and 1 Pet. 3:1-7. Hebrews 13:4 captures the heart of this song, "Marriage is honorable among all, and the bed undefiled; but fornicators and adulterers God will judge."

Interpretive Challenges

The Song has suffered strained interpretations over the centuries by those who use the "allegorical" method of interpretation, claiming that this song has no actual historical basis, but rather that it depicts God's love for Israel and/or Christ's love for the church. The misleading idea from hymnology that Christ is the rose of Sharon and the lily of the valleys results from this method (2:1). The "typological" variation admits the historical reality, but concludes that it ultimately pictures Christ's bridegroom love for His bride the church.

A more satisfying way to approach Solomon's Song is to take it at face value and interpret it in the normal historical sense, understanding the frequent use of poetic imagery to depict reality. To do so understands that Solomon recounts 1) his own days of courtship, 2) the early days of his first marriage, followed by 3) the maturing of this royal couple through the good and bad days of life. The Song of Solomon expands on the ancient marriage instructions of Gen. 2:24, thus providing spiritual music for a lifetime of marital harmony. It is given by God to demonstrate His intention for the romance and loveliness of marriage, the most precious of human relations and "the grace of life" (1 Pet. 3:7).

THE SHULAMITE

Rightly do they love [3]you.

5 I am dark, but lovely,
O daughters of Jerusalem,
Like the tents of Kedar,
Like the curtains of Solomon.
6 Do not look upon me, because I am dark,
Because the sun has [5]tanned me.
My mother's sons were angry with me;
They made me the keeper of the vineyards,
But my own [f]vineyard I have not kept.

(TO HER BELOVED)

7 Tell me, O you whom I love,
Where you feed your flock,
Where you make it rest at noon.
For why should I be as one who [6]veils herself
By the flocks of your companions?

THE BELOVED

8 If you do not know, [g]O fairest among women,
[7]Follow in the footsteps of the flock,
And feed your little goats
Beside the shepherds' tents.

1:1 See Introduction: Title; Author and Date.

1:2–3:5 In this first of 3 major sections to the Song, 32 out of 39 verses are spoken by the Shulamite, with brief interludes by her beloved and the daughters of Jerusalem. This portion most likely represents her remembrances of past events combined with the desires of her heart to marry the king, as she anticipates his arrival to take her to Jerusalem for the wedding in 3:6 ff.

1:2,3 Four features of Solomon attracted the beloved: 1) his lips, 2) his love, 3) his lotion, and 4) his pure lifestyle. Later Solomon noticed these same features in her (4:9-11).

1:3 the virgins. The daughters of Jerusalem (v. 5).

1:4 We will run. This is better understood as spoken by the Shulamite, rather than the daughters of Jerusalem, in the sense of "let us hurry/run." The king has brought me. This is better understood as the desire of her heart—"Let the king bring me into his chambers"—rather than a statement of fact. We will remember your love. The daughters of Jerusalem affirmed the Shulamite's praise in v. 2.

1:5,6 I am dark. The Shulamite was concerned that the sun (from working outdoors) had marred her complexion (cf. vineyard, 7:12; 8:11).

1:6 my own vineyard. Speaks of herself (cf. 8:12).

1:7 veils herself. Valuing purity, she disclaimed the veil of the prostitute, unlike Tamar (Gen. 38:14-16). Rather, she would go as a shepherdess to a shepherd.

1:8 This could have been spoken by the daughters of Jerusalem. O fairest among women. The Shulamite received accolades as the best (cf. 5:9; 6:1). This is reminiscent of the Prov. 31 woman (v. 29).

Local Color in the Song of Solomon

1:5	"tents of Kedar"	nomadic tribal tents made of dark goat hair
1:5	"curtains of Solomon"	most likely the beautiful curtains of Solomon's palace
1:9	"my filly"	a young, female horse
1:12; 4:13,14	"spikenard"	an aromatic oil taken from an Indian herb
1:13; 3:6; 4:6,14; 5:1,5,13	"myrrh"	an aromatic gum from the bark of a balsam tree made into perfume in either liquid or solid form
1:14; 4:13	"henna blooms"	a common shrub whose white, spring blossoms give off a fragrant scent
1:14	"En Gedi"	a lush oasis just west of the Dead Sea
1:15; 4:1; 5:12	"dove's eyes"	beautiful, deep, smoke gray eyes of the dove

9 I have compared you, [h]my love,
[i]To my filly among Pharaoh's chariots.
10 [j]Your cheeks are lovely with ornaments,
Your neck with chains of gold.

THE DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM

11 We will make [8]you ornaments of gold
With studs of silver.

THE SHULAMITE

12 While the king is at his table,
My [9]spikenard sends forth its fragrance.
13 A bundle of myrrh is my beloved to me,
That lies all night between my breasts.
14 My beloved is to me a cluster of henna blooms
In the vineyards of En Gedi.

THE BELOVED

15 [k]Behold, you are fair, [1]my love!
Behold, you are fair!
You have dove's eyes.

THE SHULAMITE

16 Behold, you are [1]handsome, my beloved!
Yes, pleasant!
Also our [2]bed is green.
17 The beams of our houses are cedar,
And our rafters of fir.

2 I am the rose of Sharon,
And the lily of the valleys.

THE BELOVED

2 Like a lily among thorns,
So is my love among the daughters.

THE SHULAMITE

3 Like an apple tree among the trees of the woods,
So is my beloved among the sons.
I sat down in his shade with great delight,
And [a]his fruit was sweet to my taste.

THE SHULAMITE TO THE DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM

4 He brought me to the [1]banqueting house,
And his banner over me was love.
5 Sustain me with cakes of raisins,
Refresh me with apples,
For I am lovesick.

6 [b]His left hand is under my head,
And his right hand embraces me.

1:13 my beloved. The first of 24 appearances.

1:15 You are fair. Verbal affirmation fueled this romance. He used "fair" at least 10 times (1:15; 2:10,13; 4:1,7; 6:4,10; 7:6). dove's eyes. She returned the compliment in 5:12, which is best understood as beautiful eyes representing a beautiful personality.

1:16,17 Actually an outdoor setting in the forest.

2:3-6 This scene pictures the loving desire of the Shulamite rather than her actual experience.

2:4 banqueting house. The scene continues in the outdoors. This "house of wine" symbolizes the vineyard, just as the beams and rafters of 1:17 refer to the forest. his banner. As a military flag indicates location or possession, so Solomon's love flew over his beloved one (cf. Num. 1:52; Ps. 20:5).

2:7 I charge you. This refrain, which is repeated before the wedding (3:5) and also afterward (8:4), explicitly expresses her commitment to a chaste life before and during marriage. She invites

The Beloved's Request

THE SHULAMITE

8 The voice of my beloved!
Behold, he comes
Leaping upon the mountains,
Skipping upon the hills.
9 [d]My beloved is like a gazelle or a young stag.
Behold, he stands behind our wall;
He is looking through the windows,
Gazing through the lattice.

10 My beloved spoke, and said to me:
"Rise up, my love, my fair one,
And come away.
11 For lo, the winter is past,
The rain is over and gone.
12 The flowers appear on the earth;
The time of singing has come,
And the voice of the turtledove
Is heard in our land.
13 The fig tree puts forth her green figs,
And the vines with the tender grapes
Give a good smell.
Rise up, my love, my fair one,
And come away!

14 "O my [e]dove, in the cleft of the rock,
In the secret places of the cliff,
Let me see your [3]face,
[f]Let me hear your voice;
For your voice is sweet,
And your face is lovely."

A Troubled Night

THE SHULAMITE

3 By [a]night on my bed I sought the one I love;
I sought him, but I did not find him.
2 "I will rise now," I said,
"And go about the city;
In the streets and in the squares
I will seek the one I love."
I sought him, but I did not find him.
3 [b]The watchmen who go about the city found me;
I said,
"Have you seen the one I love?"

4 Scarcely had I passed by them,
When I found the one I love.

accountability to the daughters of Jerusalem.

2:11-13 Winter past, rains over, flowers appearing, and vines blooming use springtime as a picture of their robust, growing love for one another.

2:14 This is best taken as a continuation of what Solomon said as quoted by the Shulamite (vv. 10-15).

2:15 Catch us the foxes. Perhaps, as she literally did in the vineyards, Solomon wanted her to do by analogy in their relationship, i.e., to remove those things in their relationship that would spoil their blossoming love. It could also be thought of as "Let us...."

2:16 My beloved is mine, and I am his. This clearly expresses the sanctity of a monogamous relationship that is built on mutual love (cf. 6:3; 7:10).

3:1-4 As the wedding time approaches, the Shulamite's expectations grew more intense. It's best to understand this as her dream, rather than a historical remembrance.

3:1 the one I love. She repeated this phrase once in each of the first 4 verses, expressing her exclusive love for Solomon.

3:3 watchmen. This imagined encounter resembles a later real experience (cf. 5:6-8).

The Coming of Solomon

THE SHULAMITE

6 [e]Who is this coming out of the wilderness
Like pillars of smoke,
Perfumed with myrrh and frankincense,
With all the merchant's fragrant powders?
7 Behold, it is Solomon's couch,
With sixty valiant men around it,
Of the valiant of Israel.
8 They all hold swords,
Being expert in war.
Every man has his sword on his thigh
Because of fear in the night.
9 Of the wood of Lebanon
Solomon the King
Made himself a [3]palanquin:
10 He made its pillars of silver,
Its support of gold,
Its seat of purple,
Its interior paved with love
By the daughters of Jerusalem.
11 Go forth, O daughters of Zion,
And see King Solomon with the crown
With which his mother crowned him
On the day of his wedding,
The day of the gladness of his heart.

3:4 The Shulamite finds Solomon in her dreams and brings him to where she actually resides—her mother's house.

3:5 As in 2:7, the beloved knows that the intensity of her love for Solomon cannot yet be experienced until the wedding, so she invites the daughters of Jerusalem to keep her accountable regarding sexual purity. Up to this point, the escalating desire of the Shulamite for Solomon has been expressed in veiled and delicate ways as compared to the explicit and open expressions which follow, as would be totally appropriate for a married couple (cf. 4:1 ff.).

3:6–5:1 This second major section portrays the king actually coming for his bride and their return to Jerusalem (3:6-11), the wedding (4:1-7), and the couple's consummation of their union (4:8–5:1). Unlike the previous section, Solomon does a majority of the speaking (15 of 23 verses).

3:6-11 This narrative would be better understood as spoken by the daughters of Jerusalem who are also called "the daughters of Zion" (v. 11).

4:1–5:1 Until 3:11, there has been no hint of a wedding or marriage; thus the scenario of events support the idea that 1:2–3:5 refers to premarital days, while 4:1ff. rehearses the wedding and their love life that followed. Several reasons support this explanation: 1) "wedding" is not mentioned before 3:11; 2) "bride" does not appear until 4:8, and then it is mentioned 6 times from 4:8 to 5:1; and 3) prior to 4:1 the beloved has a holy preoccupation with sexual restraint (cf. 2:7; 3:5), but not afterwards in the holy bonds of matrimony.

4:1-15 Possibly Solomon speaks vv. 1-7 in public and the far more intimate words of vv. 8-15 in private as they prepare to consummate their marriage in v. 16 and 5:1.

6:4-9 and 7:1-7. He begins v. 1 and closes v. 7 with the same refrain, "you are fair my love."

4:1,3 veil. Not the veil of a prostitute (1:7), but rather the bride.

4:8 from Lebanon. This figuratively describes the distance that the couple had kept sexually, which is further described in v. 12 as an enclosed garden, a shut up spring, and a sealed fountain.

4:9 My sister. A common ancient Near Eastern term of endearment by a husband for his wife, which expresses closeness and permanence of relationship (cf. 4:10,12; 5:1,2).

4:15 a well of living waters. Solomon testified that whereas she was closed to his physical love before marriage (vv. 8,12), now she is appropriately open to it (cf. Prov. 5:15-20).

4:16 The Shulamite then portrays herself as an open garden, whereas before she was closed (4:12). She describes herself as "his garden" signifying voluntary sexual surrender (cf. 1 Cor. 7:3-5).

4 [4] opening

My [5]heart leaped up when he spoke.
[f]I sought him, but I could not find him;
I called him, but he gave me no answer.
7 [g]The watchmen who went about the city found me.
They struck me, they wounded me;
The keepers of the walls
Took my veil away from me.
8 I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
If you find my beloved,
That you tell him I am lovesick!

THE DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM

9 What is your beloved
More than another beloved,
[h]O fairest among women?
What is your beloved
More than another beloved,
That you so [6]charge us?

THE SHULAMITE

10 My beloved is white and ruddy,
[7]Chief among ten thousand.
11 His head is like the finest gold;
His locks are wavy,
And black as a raven.
12 [i]His eyes are like doves
By the rivers of waters,
Washed with milk,
And [8]fitly set.
13 His cheeks are like a bed of spices,
Banks of scented herbs.
His lips are lilies,
Dripping liquid myrrh.

14 His hands are rods of gold
Set with beryl.
His body is carved ivory
Inlaid with sapphires.
15 His legs are pillars of marble
Set on bases of fine gold.
His countenance is like Lebanon,

5:1 I have. While the guests feasted, the couple consummated their marriage (cf. Gen. 29:23; Deut. 22:13-21) and Solomon announced the blessing (cf. Gen. 2:25). Eat, O friends! Given the intimate and private nature of sexual union, it seems difficult to understand anyone but God speaking these words (cf. Prov. 5:21). This is the divine affirmation of sexual love between husband and wife as holy and beautiful.

5:2–8:14 This third major section features the couple's first argument (5:2–6:3) and their reconciliation (6:4–8:14).

5:2–6:3 Inevitable discord comes to even the most idyllic marriage. The "little foxes" of 2:15 have visited the home in this segment.

5:2 I sleep, but my heart is awake. Some have suggested the beloved dreams here, as in 3:1-4. However, she acknowledges "my heart is awake," indicating that she was not sound asleep. To make this a dream would make the rest of the book a dream, which is highly unlikely. Open for me. It appears that Solomon returned home earlier than expected and wanted to give his bride a romantic surprise.

5:3 How can I? Her groggy response to Solomon.

5:4-6 By the time she awakens fully and opens the door, Solomon has departed .

5:7 Unlike what happened in her dream (3:3), the watchmen treat her badly. Between the darkness and the unfamiliar features of the new bride, this could easily have happened.

5:9 The wise daughters of Jerusalem twice ask a question that prompts this bride to recall the superlative features of her new husband in vv. 10-16.

5:10-16 She responds that he is chief among ten thousand which is another way to say "He is the best of the best."

Excellent as the cedars.
16 His mouth is most sweet,
Yes, he is altogether lovely.
This is my beloved,
And this is my friend,
O daughters of Jerusalem!

THE DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM

6 Where has your beloved gone,
[a]O fairest among women?
Where has your beloved turned aside,
That we may seek him with you?

THE SHULAMITE

2 My beloved has gone to his [b]garden,
To the beds of spices,
To feed his flock in the gardens,
And to gather lilies.
3 [c]I am my beloved's,
And my beloved is mine.
He feeds his flock among the lilies.

Praise of the Shulamite's Beauty

THE BELOVED

4 O my love, you are as beautiful as Tirzah,
Lovely as Jerusalem,
Awesome as an army with banners!
5 Turn your eyes away from me,
For they have [1]overcome me.
Your hair is [d]like a flock of goats
Going down from Gilead.

6 Your teeth are [e]like a flock of sheep
Which have come up from the washing;
Every one bears twins,
And none is [2]barren among them.
7 [f]Like a piece of pomegranate
Are your temples behind your veil.

8 There are sixty queens
And eighty concubines,
And [g]virgins without number.
9 My dove, my [h]perfect one,
Is the only one,
The only one of her mother,
The favorite of the one who bore her.
The daughters saw her
And called her blessed,
The queens and the concubines,
And they praised her.

10 Who is she who looks forth as the morning,
Fair as the moon,
Clear as the sun,
[i]Awesome as an army with banners?

THE SHULAMITE

11 I went down to the garden of nuts
To see the verdure of the valley,
[j]To see whether the vine had budded
And the pomegranates had bloomed.

6:1 Having established why they should look (5:9), the daughters ask a second question of "where to look?"

6:2,3 She believed Solomon had gone back to the garden and reaffirmed her exclusive love (cf. 2:16; 7:10).

6:4–8:4 The couple works through their difficulties and rekindles their love.

6:4-9 Apparently a reunion has occurred, and Solomon once again assured her of his love.

6:4 Lovely as Jerusalem. The nation's capital city was known as "the perfection of beauty, the joy of the whole earth" (cf. Ps. 48:1,2; Lam. 2:15).

6:8,9 Solomon reaches new heights in telling his bride she remains the best of the best (cf. 2:2; 4:7; 5:2).

6:8 queens...concubines...virgins. Are these Solomon's other women? There is no language of ownership or relationship. The numerical progression from 60 to 80 to "without number" points to the use of various categories for effect only. Solomon tells his beloved that she stands above all women.

6:10 This is better understood as being said by the daughters of Jerusalem as the third question in a series of 3 (cf. 5:9; 6:1). This time they exalt the Shulamite as one who ranks with the great beauties of God's creation.

6:11-13 This represents the most difficult portion to interpret in the entire song.

6:11,12 This is best understood as being spoken by the beloved. Solomon acknowledges that when he left home hastily (cf. 5:2-6), he returned to agricultural (v. 11) and military (v. 12) matters.

Local Color in the Song of Solomon

5:14	"beryl"	possibly a yellowish or greenish stone such as topaz
5:14	"sapphires"	the azure-blue lapis lazuli which was abundant in the East
6:4	"Tirzah"	a site known for its natural beauty and gardens located seven miles northeast of Shechem in Samaria
6:13	"the dance of the double camp"	literally "the dance of the two companies" which is possibly a dance of unknown origin associated with the place of Mahanaim (cf. Gen. 32:2)

12 Before I was even aware,
My soul had made me
As the chariots of [3]my noble
people.

THE BELOVED AND HIS FRIENDS

13 Return, return, O Shulamite; Return, return, that we may look upon you!

THE SHULAMITE

What would you see in the Shulamite—
As it were, the dance of [4]the two camps?

Expressions of Praise

THE BELOVED

7 How beautiful are your feet in sandals,
[a]O prince's daughter!
The curves of your thighs are like jewels,
The work of the hands of a skillful workman.
2 Your navel is a rounded goblet;
It lacks no [1]blended beverage.
Your waist is a heap of wheat
Set about with lilies.
3 [b]Your two breasts are like two fawns,
Twins of a gazelle.
4 [c]Your neck is like an ivory tower,
Your eyes like the pools in Heshbon
By the gate of Bath Rabbim.
Your nose is like the tower of Lebanon
Which looks toward Damascus.
5 Your head crowns you like Mount Carmel,
And the hair of your head is like purple;
A king is held captive by your tresses.

6 How fair and how pleasant you are,
O love, with your delights!
7 This stature of yours is like a palm tree,
And your breasts like its clusters.
8 I said, "I will go up to the palm
tree,
I will take hold of its branches."
Let now your breasts be like clusters of the vine,
The fragrance of your [2]breath like apples,
9 And the roof of your mouth like the best wine.

THE SHULAMITE

The wine goes down smoothly for my beloved,
[3]Moving gently the [4]lips of sleepers.
10 [d]I am my beloved's,
And [e]his desire is toward me.

11 Come, my beloved,
Let us go forth to the field;
Let us lodge in the villages.

6:13 Return, return. This is best understood as being spoken by the daughters of Jerusalem. In effect, they beckon the bride back to the royal palace. Shulamite. A variant spelling of Shunammite, i.e., a resident of Shunem, a part of the Land allotted to Issachar (cf. Josh. 19:18). What would you see. This is best understood as being spoken by the beloved. This probably refers to some form of marital dance associated with the city of Mahanaim which would be inappropriate for anyone other than Solomon to witness.

7:1-5 It is better to understand this as the friends answering Solomon. Verses 1 and 5 fit far better this way.

7:1 O prince's daughter. She appeared by beauty and dress to be of royal lineage, although she really came from a humble background.

7:6-9a Solomon and his bride start all over again. He picked up where he left off at 5:2.

7:9b–8:4 Unlike the response in 5:3, this time Solomon's beloved one responded with reciprocal love.

7:10 I am my beloved's. She expressed her loyal love for the third time (cf. 2:16; 6:3).

Local Color in the Song of Solomon

7:4	"the pools in Heshbon"	water reservoirs in the Moabite city of Heshbon near modern Amman
7:4	"the gate of Bath Rabbim"	possibly a gate name in Heshbon
7:4	"the tower of Lebanon"	most likely refers to the white color of the mountain rather than its elevation of 10,000 feet
7:4	"Damascus"	the capital city of Syria to the east of the Lebanon mountains
7:5	"Mount Carmel"	a prominent wooded mountain in northern Israel
7:13	"mandrakes"	a pungently fragrant herb considered to be an aphrodisiac (cf. Gen. 30:14)
8:11	"Baal Hamon"	an unknown location in the hill country north of Jerusalem

12 Let us get up early to the

Let us [f]see if the vine has budded,
Whether the grape blossoms are

And the pomegranates are in

There I will give you my love.
13 The [g]mandrakes give off a fragrance,
And at our gates [h]are pleasant
fruits,
All manner, new and old,
Which I have laid up for you, my beloved.

8 Oh, that you were like my brother,
Who nursed at my mother's breasts!
If I should find you outside,
I would kiss you;
I would not be despised.
2 I would lead you and bring you
Into the [a]house of my mother,
She who used to instruct me.
I would cause you to drink of [b]spiced wine,
Of the juice of my pomegranate.

(To the Daughters of Jerusalem)

3 [c]His left hand is under my head,
And his right hand embraces me.
4 [d]I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
Do not stir up nor awaken love
Until it pleases.

Love Renewed in Lebanon

A Relative

5 [e]Who is this coming up from the
wilderness,
Leaning upon her beloved?

I awakened you under the apple
tree.
There your mother brought you
forth;
There she who bore you brought you forth.

The Shulamite to Her Beloved

6 [f]Set me as a seal upon your heart,
As a seal upon your arm;
For love is as strong as death,
[g]Jealousy as [1]cruel as [2]the grave;
Its flames are flames of fire,
[3]A most vehement flame.

7 Many waters cannot quench love,
Nor can the floods drown it.
[h]If a man would give for love
All the wealth of his house,
It would be utterly despised.

The Shulamite's Brothers

8 [i]We have a little sister,
And she has no breasts.
What shall we do for our sister
In the day when she is spoken for?
9 If she is a wall,
We will build upon her
A battlement of silver;
And if she is a door,
We will enclose her
With boards of cedar.

The Shulamite

10 I am a wall,
And my breasts like towers;
Then I became in his eyes
As one who found peace.
11 Solomon had a vineyard at Baal
Hamon;
[j]He leased the vineyard to keepers;
Everyone was to bring for its fruit
A thousand silver coins.

8:1 like my brother. This way she could have publicly bestowed her affection without embarrassment.

8:3,4 It will be just like it was when they courted (cf. 2:6,7). This time the restraint involves waiting for lovemaking until they are in private circumstances rather than public.

8:5-14 This final scene portrays the original "marriage encounter" where they reaffirm their love for one another.

8:5b I awakened you. This is better understood as being spoken by Solomon. The Shulamite's dream of 3:4 has actually been realized now in their marriage. mother. This is the sixth reference to the Shulamite's mother (cf. 1:6; 3:4; 6:9; 8:1; 8:2). In contrast, Solomon's mother Bathsheba is mentioned only once (cf. 3:11).

8:6 seal. The Shulamite is the seal and Solomon would do the sealing. This represents their publicly declared mutual love for one another.

8:6,7 For love. This represents the 1 Cor. 13:1-8 of the OT. Four qualities of love appear: 1) love is unyielding in marriage, as death is to life; 2) love is intense like the brightest flame, perhaps as bright as the glory of the Lord; 3) love is invincible or unquenchable, even when flooded by difficulty; and 4) love is so priceless that it cannot be bought, only given away.

8:8,9 The bride's brothers reminded everyone that they did their brotherly duty of keeping their sister pure before marriage (cf. the brothers of Rebekah in Gen. 24:50-60; Dinah in Gen. 34:13-27; and Tamar in 2 Sam. 13:1-22). The same standard of purity is taught in the NT (cf. 1 Thess. 4:1-8).

8:9 wall...door. Wall represents sexual purity; door portrays an openness to immorality.

8:10 wall. She reaffirmed that she lived a premarital life of a wall, successfully rebuffing all attempts on her honor. Thus her husband took great delight and contentment in her moral purity.

8:11,12 While Solomon might have leased out his real vineyard for profit, she gave the vineyard of her love to Solomon.

(To Solomon)

12 My own vineyard is before me.
You, O Solomon, may have a thousand,
And those who tend its fruit two hundred.

The Beloved

13 You who dwell in the gardens,
The companions listen for your voice—
[k]Let me hear it!

The Shulamite

14 [l]Make[4] haste, my beloved,
And [m]be like a gazelle
Or a young stag
On the mountains of spices.

8:13 The companions. These could be 1) Solomon's shepherd companions (cf. 1:7), 2) the daughters of Jerusalem (cf. 6:13), or 3) those who escorted the bride to Jerusalem (cf. 3:7).

The Book of ISAIAH

Title

The book derives its title from the author, whose name means "The LORD is salvation," and is similar to the names Joshua, Elisha, and Jesus. Isaiah is quoted directly in the NT over 65 times, far more than any other OT prophet, and mentioned by name over 20 times.

Author and Date

Isaiah, the son of Amoz, ministered in and around Jerusalem as a prophet to Judah during the reigns of 4 kings of Judah: Uzziah (called "Azariah" in 2 Kings), Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah (1:1), from ca. 739–686 B.C. He evidently came from a family of some rank, because he had easy access to the king (7:3) and intimacy with a priest (8:2). He was married and had two sons who bore symbolic names: "Shear-jashub" ("a remnant shall return," 7:3) and "Maher-shalal-hash-baz" ("hasting to the spoil, hurrying to the prey," 8:3). When called by God to prophesy, in the year of King Uzziah's death (ca. 739 B.C.), he responded with a cheerful readiness, though he knew from the beginning that his ministry would be one of fruitless warning and exhortation (6:9-13). Having been reared in Jerusalem, he was an appropriate choice as a political and religious counselor to the nation.

Isaiah was a contemporary of Hosea and Micah. His writing style has no rival in its versatility of expression, brilliance of imagery, and richness of vocabulary. The early church father Jerome likened him to Demosthenes, the legendary Greek orator. His writing features a range of 2,186 different words, compared to 1,535 in Ezekiel, 1,653 in Jeremiah, and 2,170 in the Psalms. Second Chronicles 32:32 records that he wrote a biography of King Hezekiah also. The prophet lived until at least 681 B.C. when he penned the account of Sennacherib's death (cf. 37:38). Tradition has it that he met his death under King Manasseh (ca. 695–642 B.C.) by being cut in two with a wooden saw (cf. Heb. 11:37).

Background and Setting

During Uzziah's prosperous 52 year reign (ca. 790–739 B.C.), Judah developed into a strong commercial and military state with a port for commerce on the Red Sea and the construction of walls, towers, and fortifications (2 Chr. 26:3-5,8-10,13-15). Yet the period witnessed a decline in Judah's spiritual status. Uzziah's downfall resulted from his attempt to assume the privileges of a priest and burn incense on the altar (2 Kin. 15:3,4; 2 Chr. 26:16-19). He was judged with leprosy, from which he never recovered (2 Kin. 15:5; 2 Chr 26:20,21).

His son Jotham (ca. 750–731 B.C.) had to take over the duties of king before his father's death. Assyria began to emerge as a new international power under Tiglath-Pileser (ca. 745–727 B.C.) while Jotham was king (2 Kin. 15:19). Judah also began to incur opposition from Israel and Syria to her north during his reign (2 Kin. 15:37). Jotham was a builder and a fighter like his father, but spiritual corruption still existed in the Land (2 Kin. 15:34,35; 2 Chr. 27:1,2).

Ahaz was 25 when he began to reign in Judah and he reigned until age 41 (2 Chr. 28:1,8; ca. 735–715 B.C.). Israel and Syria formed an alliance to combat the rising Assyrian threat from the E, but Ahaz refused to bring Judah into the alliance (2 Kin. 16:5; Is. 7:6). For this, the northern neighbors threatened to dethrone him, and war resulted (734 B.C.). In panic, Ahaz sent to the Assyrian king for help (2 Kin. 16:7) and the Assyrian king gladly responded, sacking Gaza, carrying all of Galilee and Gilead into captivity, and finally capturing Damascus (732 B.C.). Ahaz's alliance with Assyria led to his introduction of a heathen altar, which he set up in Solomon's temple (2 Kin. 16:10-16; 2 Chr. 28:3). During his reign (722 B.C.), Assyria captured Samaria, capital of the northern kingdom, and carried many of Israel's most capable people into captivity (2 Kin. 17:6,24).

Hezekiah began his reign over Judah in 715 B.C. and continued for 29 years to ca. 686 B.C. (2 Kin. 18:1,2). Reformation was a priority when he became king (2 Kin. 18:4,22; 2 Chr. 30:1). The threat of an Assyrian invasion forced Judah to promise heavy tribute to that eastern power. In 701 B.C. Hezekiah became very ill with a life-threatening disease, but he prayed and God graciously extended his life for 15 years (2 Kin. 20; Is. 38) until 686 B.C. The ruler of Babylon used the opportunity of his illness and recovery to send congratulations to him, probably seeking to form an alliance with Judah against Assyria at the same time (2 Kin. 20:12 ff.; Is. 39). When Assyria became weak through internal strife, Hezekiah refused to pay any further tribute to that power (2 Kin. 18:7). So in 701 B.C. Sennacherib, the Assyrian king, invaded the coastal areas of Israel, marching toward Egypt on Israel's southern flank. In the process he overran many Judean towns, looting and carrying many people back to Assyria. While besieging Lachish, he sent a contingent of forces to besiege Jerusalem (2 Kin 18:17–19:8; Is. 36:2–37:8). The side-expedition failed, however, so in a second attempt he sent messengers to Jerusalem demanding an immediate surrender of the city (2 Kin. 19:9ff.; Is. 37:9ff.). With Isaiah's encouragement, Hezekiah refused to surrender, and when Sennacherib's army fell prey to a sudden disaster, he returned to Nineveh and never threatened Judah again.

Historical and Theological Themes

Isaiah prophesied during the period of the divided kingdom, directing the major thrust of his message to the southern kingdom of Judah. He condemned the empty ritualism of his day (e.g., 1:10-15) and the idolatry into which so many of the people had fallen (e.g., 40:18-20). He foresaw the coming Babylonian captivity of Judah because of this departure from the Lord (39:6,7).

Fulfillment of some of his prophesies in his own lifetime provided his credentials for the prophetic office. Sennacherib's effort to take Jerusalem failed, just as Isaiah had said it would (37:6,7,36-38). The Lord healed Hezekiah's critical illness, as Isaiah had predicted (38:5; 2 Kin. 20:7). Long before Cyrus, king of Persia appeared on the scene, Isaiah named him as Judah's deliverer from the Babylonian captivity (44:28; 45:1). Fulfillment of his prophecies of Christ's first coming have given Isaiah further vindication (e.g., 7:14). The pattern of literal fulfillment of his already-fulfilled prophecies gives assurance that prophecies of Christ's second coming will also see literal fulfillment.

More than any other prophet, Isaiah provides data on the future day of the Lord and the time following. He details numerous aspects of Israel's future kingdom on earth not found elsewhere in the OT or NT, including changes in nature, the animal world, Jerusalem's status among the nations, the Suffering Servant's leadership, and others.

Through a literary device called "prophetic foreshortening," Isaiah predicted future events without delineating exact sequences of the events or time intervals separating them. For example, nothing in Isaiah reveals the extended period separating the two comings of the Messiah. Also, he does not provide as clear a distinction between the future temporal kingdom and the eternal kingdom as John does in Revelation 20:1-10; 21:1–22:5. In God's program of progressive revelation, details of these relationships awaited a prophetic spokesman of a later time.

Also known as the "evangelical Prophet," Isaiah spoke much about the grace of God toward Israel, particularly in his last 27 chapters. The centerpiece is Isaiah's unrivaled chap. 53, portraying Christ as the slain Lamb of God.

Interpretive Challenges

Interpretive challenges in a long and significant book such as Isaiah are numerous. The most critical of them focuses on whether Isaiah's prophecies will receive literal fulfillment or not, and on whether the Lord, in His program, has abandoned national Israel and permanently replaced the nation with the church, so that there is no future for national Israel.

On the latter issue, numerous portions of Isaiah support the position that God has not replaced ethnic Israel with an alleged "new Israel." Isaiah has too much to say about God's faithfulness to Israel, that He would not reject the people whom He has created and chosen (43:1). The nation is on the palms of His hands, and Jerusalem's walls are ever before His eyes (49:16). He is bound by His own Word to fulfill the promises He has made to bring them back to Himself and bless them in that future day (55:10-12).

On the former issue, literal fulfillment of many of Isaiah's prophecies has already occurred, as illustrated in Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes. To contend that those yet unfulfilled will see non-literal fulfillment is biblically groundless. This fact disqualifies the case for proposing that the church receives some of the promises made originally to Israel. The kingdom promised to David belongs to Israel, not the church. The future exaltation of Jerusalem will be on earth, not in heaven. Christ will reign personally on this earth as we know it, as well as in the new heavens and new earth (Rev. 22:1,3).

CHAPTER 1

1 The [a]vision of Isaiah the son of Amoz, which he saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem in the [b]days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

The Wickedness of Judah

2 [c]Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth!
For the LORD has spoken:
"I have nourished and brought up children,
And they have rebelled against Me;
3 [d]The ox knows its owner
And the donkey its master's [1]crib;
But Israel [e]does not know,
My people do not [2]consider."

4 Alas, sinful nation,
A people [3]laden with iniquity,
[f]A [4]brood of evildoers,
Children who are corrupters!
They have forsaken the LORD,
They have provoked to anger
The Holy One of Israel,
They have turned away backward.

5 [g]Why should you be stricken again?
You will revolt more and more.
The whole head is sick,
And the whole heart faints.
6 From the sole of the foot even to the head,
There is no soundness in it,
But wounds and bruises and putrefying sores;
They have not been closed or bound up,
Or soothed with ointment.

7 [h]Your country is desolate,
Your cities are burned with fire;
Strangers devour your land in your presence;
And it is desolate, as overthrown by strangers.
8 So the daughter of Zion is left [i]as a [5]booth in a vineyard,
As a hut in a garden of cucumbers,
[j]As a besieged city.
9 [k]Unless the LORD of hosts
Had left to us a very small remnant,
We would have become like [l]Sodom,
We would have been made like Gomorrah.

10 Hear the word of the LORD,
You rulers [m]of Sodom;
Give ear to the law of our God,
You people of Gomorrah:
11 "To what purpose is the multitude of your [n]sacrifices to Me?"
Says the LORD.
"I have had enough of burnt offerings of rams
And the fat of fed cattle.
I do not delight in the blood of bulls,
Or of lambs or goats.

1:1 See Introduction: Title; Author and Date.

1:2-9 This is a courtroom scene in which the Lord is the plaintiff and the nation of Israel is the defendant. Instead of responding to God's ultimate care and provision for them, these people have failed to give Him the loving obedience that is His due.

1:2 heavens...earth. God intended Israel to be a channel of blessing to the nations (19:24,25; 42:6; Gen. 12:2,3), but instead He must call the nations to look on Israel's shame. children. The physical descendants of Abraham are God's chosen people, in spite of their disobedience (cf. Gen. 18:18,19).

1:3 ox...donkey. Animals appear to have more powers of reason than God's people who break fellowship with Him.

1:4 The Holy One of Israel. This is Isaiah's special title for God, found 25 times in this book (1:4; 5:19,24; 10:20; 12:6; 17:7; 29:19; 30:11,12,15; 31:1; 37:23; 41:14,16,20; 43:3,14; 45:11; 47:4; 48:17; 49:7; 54:5; 55:5; 60:9,14), but only 6 times in the rest of the OT (2 Kin. 19:22; Pss. 71:22; 78:41; 89:18; Jer. 50:29; 51:5). Isaiah also uses "Holy One" as a title 4 times (10:17; 40:25; 43:15; 49:7) and "Holy One of Jacob" once (29:23). In many contexts the name contrasts the holiness of God with the sinfulness of Israel.

1:5 Why...stricken again? Already in ruins because of rebellion against God (vv. 7,8), the nation behaved irrationally by continuing their rebellion.

1:8 daughter of Zion. The phrase occurs 28 times in the OT, 6 of which are in Isaiah (1:8; 10:32; 16:1; 37:22; 52:2; 62:11). It is a personification of Jerusalem, standing in this case for all of Judah.

1:9 LORD of hosts. Isaiah used this title or the similar "LORD God of hosts" 60 times. It pictured God as a mighty warrior, a leader of armies, capable of conquering all of Israel's enemies and providing for her survival. remnant. Sometimes rendered "survivors," this term designated the faithful among the Israelites. Paul cited this verse to prove the ongoing existence of faithful Israelites even in his day (Rom. 9:29). Such a remnant will constitute the nucleus of returning Israelites in the nation's regathering when the Messiah returns to earth. See 10:20,22; Hos. 1:10,11. Sodom...Gomorrah. In destroying them, God rained brimstone and fire on these two Canaanite cities because of their aggravated sinfulness (Gen. 18:20; 19:24,25,28). The two thereby became a proverbial expression for the ultimate in God's temporal judgment against any people (e.g., 13:19; Deut. 29:23; Jer. 23:14; 49:18; 50:40; Amos 4:11; Zeph. 2:9; Matt. 10:15; 2 Pet. 2:6; Jude 7). Had God's grace not intervened, He would have judged Israel in the same way.

1:10-17 The prophet applied the names of the sinful cities, Sodom and Gomorrah, to Judah and Jerusalem in decrying their empty formalism in worship. God found their activities utterly repulsive when they engaged in the rituals prescribed by Moses, because when doing so they persisted in iniquity.

1:11 I have had enough...I do not delight. Cf. 1 Sam. 15:22,23. God found all sacrifices meaningless and even abhorrent if the offerer failed in obedience to His laws. Rebellion is equated to the sin of witchcraft and stubbornness to iniquity and idolatry.

12 "When you come [o]to appear before Me,
Who has required this from your hand,
To trample My courts?
13 Bring no more [p]futile[6] sacrifices;
Incense is an abomination to Me.
The New Moons, the Sabbaths, and [q]the calling of assemblies—
I cannot endure iniquity and the sacred meeting.
14 Your [r]New Moons and your [s]appointed feasts
My soul hates;
They are a trouble to Me,
I am weary of bearing them.
15 [t]When you [7]spread out your hands,
I will hide My eyes from you;
[u]Even though you make many prayers,
I will not hear.
Your hands are full of [8]blood.

16 "Wash[v] yourselves, make yourselves clean;
Put away the evil of your doings from before My eyes.
[w]Cease to do evil,
17 Learn to do good;
Seek justice,
Rebuke [9]the oppressor;
[1]Defend the fatherless,
Plead for the widow.

18 "Come now, and let us [x]reason together,"
Says the LORD,
"Though your sins are like scarlet,
[y]They shall be as white as snow;
Though they are red like crimson,
They shall be as wool.
19 If you are willing and obedient,
You shall eat the good of the land;
20 But if you refuse and rebel,
You shall be devoured by the sword";
[z]For the mouth of the LORD has spoken.

The Degenerate City

21 [a]How the faithful city has become a [2]harlot!
It was full of justice;
Righteousness lodged in it,
But now [b]murderers.
22 [c]Your silver has become dross,
Your wine mixed with water.
23 [d]Your princes are rebellious,
And [e]companions of thieves;
[f]Everyone loves bribes,
And follows after rewards.
They [g]do not defend the fatherless,
Nor does the cause of the widow come before them.

24 Therefore the Lord says,
The LORD of hosts, the Mighty One of Israel,
"Ah, [h]I will [3]rid Myself of My adversaries,
And [4]take vengeance on My enemies.
25 I will turn My hand against you,

24 [h] Deut. 28:63 [3] be relieved of [4] avenge Myself

1:13,14 The New Moons, the Sabbaths, and the calling of assemblies...appointed feasts. These were all occasions prescribed by the law of Moses (cf. Ex. 12:16; Lev. 23; Num. 10:10; 28:11–29:40; Deut. 16:1-17).

1:14 My soul hates. It is impossible to doubt the Lord's total aversion toward hypocritical religion. Other practices God hates include robbery for burnt offering (61:8), serving other gods (Jer. 44:4), harboring evil against a neighbor and love for a false oath (Zech. 8:16), divorce (Mal. 2:16), and the one who loves violence (Ps. 11:5).

1:16,17 Put away the evil...Seek justice. The outward evidence of the emptiness of Jerusalem's ritualism was the presence of evil works and the absence of good works.

1:17 the fatherless...the widow. Illustrative of good works are deeds done on behalf of those in need (v. 23; Deut. 10:17,18; 14:29; 24:17,19,20,21; 26:12,13; 27:19; James 1:27).

1:18-20 In developing His call for cleanliness in v. 16, the Lord pardoned the guilty who desire forgiveness and obedience. This section previews the last 27 chapters of Isaiah, which focus more on grace and forgiveness than on judgment.

1:18 scarlet...crimson. The two colors speak of the guilt of those whose hands were "full of blood" (v. 15). Fullness of blood speaks of extreme iniquity and perversity (cf. 59:3; Ezek. 9:9,10; 23:37,45). white as snow...as wool. Snow and wool are substances that are naturally white, and therefore portray what is clean, the blood-guilt (v. 15) having been removed (cf. Ps. 51:7). Isaiah was a prophet of grace, but forgiveness is not unconditional. It comes through repentance as v. 19 indicates.

1:19,20 willing and obedient...refuse and rebel. The prophet offered his readers the same choice God gave Moses in Deut. 28, a choice between a blessing and a curse. They may choose repentance and obedience and reap the benefits of the Land or refuse to do so and become victims of foreign oppressors. eat...be devoured. To accentuate the opposite outcomes, the Lord used the same Heb. word to depict both destinies. On one hand, they may eat the fruit of the Land; on the other, they may be eaten by conquering powers.

1:21-31 Verses 21-23 recount Jerusalem's current disobedience, with an account of God's actions to purge her in vv. 24-31.

1:21 harlot. Often in the OT, spiritual harlotry pictured the idolatry of God's people (e.g., Jer. 2:20; 3:1; Hos 2:2; 3:1; Ezek. 16:22-37). In this instance, however, Jerusalem's unfaithfulness incorporated a wider range of wrongs, including murders and general corruption (vv. 21,23). justice; righteousness. As Isaiah prophesied, ethical depravity had replaced the city's former virtues.

1:24 the Lord...the LORD of hosts, the Mighty One of Israel. The 3-fold title of God emphasized His role as the rightful judge of His sinful people. "The Mighty One of Israel" occurs only here in the Bible, though "the Mighty One of Jacob" appears 5 times (49:26; 60:16; Gen. 49:24; Ps. 132:2,5).

And [i]thoroughly[5] purge away your dross,
And take away all your alloy.
26 I will restore your judges [j]as at the first,
And your counselors as at the beginning.
Afterward [k]you shall be called the city of righteousness, the faithful city."

27 Zion shall be redeemed with justice,
And her [6]penitents with
righteousness.
28 The [l]destruction of transgressors

And those who forsake the LORD shall be consumed.

The Future House of God

CHAPTER 2

2 The word that Isaiah the son of Amoz saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem.

2 Now [a]it shall come to pass [b]in the latter days
[c]That the mountain of the LORD's house
Shall be established on the top of
the mountains,
And shall be exalted above the hills;
And all nations shall flow to it.
3 Many people shall come and say, [d]"Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD,
To the house of the God of Jacob;
He will teach us His ways,
And we shall walk in His paths."
[e]For out of Zion shall go forth the law,
And the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.
4 He shall judge between the nations,
And rebuke many people;
They shall beat their swords into plowshares,
And their spears into pruning
[1]hooks;
Nation shall not lift up sword against nation,
Neither shall they learn war anymore.

2 [a] Mic. 4:1 [b] Gen. 49:1 [c] Ps. 68:15
3 [d] Jer. 50:5; [Zech. 8:21-23; 14:16-21] [e] Luke 24:47
4 [1] knives

1:25,26 I will...thoroughly purge...I will restore. God's judgment of His people has future restoration as its goal. They were subsequently restored from the Babylonian captivity (Jer. 29:10), but this promise has in view a greater and more lasting restoration. It anticipates a complete and permanent restoration, which will make Jerusalem supreme among the nations (Jer. 3:17; Ezek. 5:5; Mic. 4:2; Zech. 8:22; 14:16). The only such purging and restoration in Scripture is that spoken of in conjunction with the yet-future "time of Jacob's trouble" (Jer. 30:6,7; i.e., Daniel's 70th week, cf. Dan. 9:24-27) and the second advent of the Messiah (Zech. 14:4).

1:27 Zion. Originally a designation for the hill Ophel, this name became a synonym for the entire city of Jerusalem. Isaiah always uses it that way. be redeemed...penitents. That remnant of the city who repented of their sins would find redemption in conjunction with God's future restoration of Israel's prosperity (cf. 59:20).

1:28 transgressors...sinners...those who forsake. Concurrent with the future blessing of the faithful remnant, the Lord will relegate the unrepentant to destruction. This is the only way Zion can become pure.

1:29 terebinth trees...gardens. These were settings where Israel practiced idolatrous worship. It is ironic that the Lord had chosen Israel while some citizens of Jerusalem have chosen the "gardens." When God calls them to account for their rebellious choice, they will be ashamed and embarrassed.

1:31 will burn...no one shall quench. Both the rebel and his works will perish. This is final judgment, not merely another captivity.

2:1–5:30 Chapters 2–5 comprise a single connected discourse.

2:1-5 The first of 3 pictures of Zion (Jerusalem) in this discourse that depicts her future exaltation.

2:2-4 The book of Micah contains this portion of Isaiah's prophecy almost word for word (Mic. 4:1-3), indicating that the younger contemporary of Isaiah may have obtained the words from him. Both passages present a prophetic picture of Zion in the future messianic kingdom when all people will recognize Jerusalem as the capital of the world.

2:2 in the latter days. The "latter (or last) days" is a time designation looking forward to the messianic era (Ezek. 38:16; Hos. 3:5; Mic. 4:1). The NT applied the expression to the period beginning with the first advent of Jesus Christ (Acts 2:17; 2 Tim. 3:1; Heb. 1:2; James 5:3; 2 Pet. 3:3). Old Testament prophets, being without a clear word regarding the time between the Messiah's two advents, linked the expression to the Messiah's return to establish His earthly kingdom, i.e., the millennial kingdom spoken about in Rev. 20:1-10. the mountain of the LORD's house. The reference is to Mt. Zion, the location of the temple in Jerusalem. The expression occurs two other times in the OT (2 Chr. 33:15; Mic. 4:1).

2:3 mountain of the LORD. Isaiah frequently calls Mt. Zion the "holy mountain" (11:9; 27:13; 56:7; 57:13; 65:11,25; 66:20).

2:4 swords into plowshares...spears into pruning hooks. With the Messiah on His throne in Jerusalem, the world will enjoy uninterrupted peaceful conditions. Warfare will continue to characterize human history until the Prince of Peace (9:6) returns to earth to put an end to it.

The Day of the LORD

5 O house of Jacob, come and let us
*f*walk
In the light of the LORD.

6 For You have forsaken Your people, the house of Jacob,
Because they are filled *g*with eastern ways;
They are *h*soothsayers like the Philistines,
*i*And they [2]are pleased with the children of foreigners.
7 *j*Their land is also full of silver and gold,
And there is no end to their treasures;
Their land is also full of horses,
And there is no end to their chariots.
8 *k*Their land is also full of idols;
They worship the work of their own hands,
That which their own fingers have made.
9 People bow down,
And each man humbles himself;
Therefore do not forgive them.

10 *l*Enter into the rock, and hide in the dust,
From the terror of the LORD
And the glory of His majesty.
11 The [3]lofty looks of man shall be
*m*humbled,
The haughtiness of men shall be
bowed down,
And the LORD alone shall be exalted *n*in that day.

12 For the day of the LORD of hosts Shall come upon everything proud and lofty,
Upon everything lifted up—
And it shall be brought low—
13 Upon all *o*the cedars of Lebanon that are high and lifted up,
And upon all the oaks of Bashan;
14 *p*Upon all the high mountains,
And upon all the hills that are lifted
up;
15 Upon every high tower,
And upon every fortified wall;
16 *q*Upon all the ships of Tarshish,
And upon all the beautiful sloops.
17 The [4]loftiness of man shall be
bowed down,
And the haughtiness of men shall be brought low;
The LORD alone will be exalted in that day,
18 But the idols [5]He shall utterly abolish.

19 They shall go into the *r*holes of the rocks,
And into the caves of the [6]earth,
*s*From the terror of the LORD
And the glory of His majesty,
When He arises *t*to shake the earth
mightily.

20 In that day a man will cast away his idols of silver
And his idols of gold,
Which they made, each for himself to worship,
To the moles and bats,
21 To go into the clefts of the rocks,
And into the crags of the rugged
rocks,
From the terror of the LORD
And the glory of His majesty,

2:6–4:1 After a glimpse of Judah's glorious future (2:1-5), the prophet returned to the present for a scathing rebuke of her idolatry and the judgment of God it evokes.

2:6-9 Isaiah stated the Lord's formal charge against the people of Jerusalem.

2:6 eastern ways. Through caravans from the E, an influx of religious superstitions had filled Jerusalem and its environs.

2:8 full of idols. Jotham and Ahaz, two of the kings under whom Isaiah prophesied, failed to remove the idolatrous high places from the Land (2 Kin. 15:35; 16:4).

2:10-22 This section pictures conditions during the future day of the Lord. Though some elements of the description could fit what Judah experienced in the Babylonian captivity, the intensity of judgment predicted here could not have found fulfillment at that time. The tribulation period before Christ's return will be the time for these judgmental horrors.

2:12 the day of the LORD. The phrase "day of the LORD," (DOL) appears 19 times in the OT (Obad. 15; Joel 1:15; 2:1,11,31; 3:14; Amos 5:18,20; Is. 2:12; 13:6,9; Zeph. 1:7,14; Ezek. 13:5; 30:3; Zech. 14:1; Mal. 4:5) and 4 times in the NT (Acts 2:20; 1 Thess. 5:2; 2 Thess 2:2; 2 Pet. 3:10) to express the time of God's extreme wrath. The DOL can refer to a near future judgment (Ezek. 13:5; 30:3) or a far future judgment (Zech. 14:1; 2 Thess. 2:2). Two DOL expressions yet remain to be fulfilled: 1) at the end of Daniel's 70th week (see Joel 3:14; Mal. 4:5; 1 Thess. 5:2) and 2) at the end of the Millennium (see 2 Pet. 3:10). The DOL can occur through providential means (Ezek. 30:3) or directly at the hand of God (2 Pet. 3:10). At times, the near fulfillment (Joel 1:15) prefigures the far fulfillment (Joel 3:14); on other occasions, both kinds of fulfillment are included in one passage (13:6,9; Zeph 1:7,14). Here Isaiah looks to the far fulfillment at the end of the time of Jacob's trouble (Jer. 30:7).

2:13 cedars of Lebanon...oaks of Bashan. The cedars and oaks were objects of great admiration to people of OT times (Pss. 92:12; 104:16; Ezek. 27:6; 31:3). Yet even these impressive created objects would face destruction because of human rebellion.

2:19 holes of the rocks...caves of the earth. Revelation 6:12,15,16 uses this passage and 2:21 to describe man's flight from the terrors of tribulation during the period before Christ's personal return to earth. This shows that the final fulfillment of this prophecy will be during Daniel's 70th week.

When He arises to shake the earth
mightily.

man,
Whose [v]breath is in his nostrils;
For [8]of what account is he?

Judgment on Judah and Jerusalem

3 For behold, the Lord, the LORD of hosts,
[a]Takes away from Jerusalem and from Judah
[b]The[1] stock and the store,
The whole supply of bread and the whole supply of water;
2 [c]The mighty man and the man of
war,
The judge and the prophet,
And the diviner and the elder;
3 The captain of fifty and the
[2]honorable man,
The counselor and the skillful artisan,
And the expert enchanter.

4 "I will give [d]children[3] to be their princes,
And [4]babes shall rule over them.
5 The people will be oppressed,
Every one by another and every one by his neighbor;
The child will be insolent toward the [5]elder,
And the [6]base toward the honorable."

6 When a man takes hold of his brother
In the house of his father, saying,
"You have clothing;
You be our ruler,
And let these ruins be under your
[7]power,"
7 In that day he will protest, saying,
"I cannot cure your ills,
For in my house is neither food nor
clothing;
Do not make me a ruler of the
people."

8 For [e]Jerusalem stumbled,
And Judah is fallen,
Because their tongue and their doings
Are against the LORD,
To provoke the eyes of His glory.
9 The look on their countenance
witnesses against them,
And they declare their sin as [f]Sodom;
They do not hide it.
Woe to their soul!
For they have brought evil upon themselves.

10 "Say to the righteous [g]that it shall be well with them,
[h]For they shall eat the fruit of their doings.
11 Woe to the wicked! [i]It shall be ill
with him,
For the reward of his hands shall be [8]given him.
12 As for My people, children are their oppressors,
And women rule over them.
O My people! [j]Those who lead you
[9]cause you to err,
And destroy the way of your paths."

Oppression and Luxury Condemned

13 The LORD stands up [k]to [1]plead,
And stands to judge the people.
14 The LORD will enter into judgment
With the elders of His people
And His princes:
"For you have [2]eaten up [l]the vineyard;
The plunder of the poor is in your houses.
15 What do you mean by [m]crushing
My people
And grinding the faces of the poor?"

2:22 Sever yourselves. This calls readers to stop depending on other humans and to trust only in God who alone is worthy.

3:1–4:1 The Lord's indictment against and judgment of Jerusalem and Judah continued.

3:1 the Lord, the LORD of hosts. Emphasizing His ultimate authority, God refers to Himself by the title Adonai ("the Lord"), the sovereign Lord of all, and by the mighty and warlike "LORD of hosts."

3:1-3 Takes away...expert enchanter. God's judgment was to include a removal of the people's leadership.

3:4,5 children...honorable. Inexperience in government was to lead to degeneration and irresponsibility at every level of national life.

3:6,7 let these ruins...ruler of the people. Conditions of anarchy were to be so bad that no one would accept a position of authority over the people.

3:8 Jerusalem...Judah. The fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. was only a partial fulfillment of this prophecy. The final fulfillment awaits the times just prior to Christ's second coming. against the LORD. The root of Zion's problem surfaces: overt rebellion against the Lord. The people sinned shamelessly; they made no effort to conceal it (3:9).

3:12 children...women. Children and women were considered ill-suited for governmental leadership, so they figuratively depicted the incompetent rulers.

3:14 vineyard. The spoiling of the vineyard by the leaders amounts to their inequities in ruling the nation. Isaiah gave a more detailed comparison of God's people to a vineyard in 5:1-7.

Says the Lord GOD of hosts.

16 Moreover the LORD says:

"Because the daughters of Zion are haughty,
And walk with [3]outstretched necks
And [4]wanton eyes,
Walking and [5]mincing as they go,
Making a jingling with their feet,
17 Therefore the Lord will strike with [n]a scab
The crown of the head of the daughters of Zion,
And the LORD will [o]uncover their secret parts."

18 In that day the Lord will take away the finery:
The jingling anklets, the [6]scarves, and the [p]crescents;
19 The pendants, the bracelets, and the veils;
20 The headdresses, the leg ornaments, and the headbands;
The perfume boxes, the charms,
21 and the rings;
The nose jewels,
22 the festal apparel, and the mantles;
The outer garments, the purses,
23 and the mirrors;
The fine linen, the turbans, and the robes.

24 And so it shall be:

Instead of a sweet smell there will be a stench;
Instead of a sash, a rope;
Instead of well-set hair, [q]baldness;
Instead of a rich robe, a girding of sackcloth;
And [7]branding instead of beauty.
25 Your men shall fall by the sword,
And your [8]mighty in the war.

26 [r]Her gates shall lament and mourn,
And she being desolate [s]shall sit on the ground.

4 And [a]in that day seven women shall take hold of one man, saying,
"We will [b]eat our own food and wear our own apparel;
Only let us be called by your name,
To take away [c]our reproach."

The Renewal of Zion

2 In that day [d]the Branch of the LORD shall be beautiful and glorious;
And the fruit of the earth shall be excellent and appealing
For those of Israel who have escaped.

3 And it shall come to pass that he who is left in Zion and remains in Jerusalem [e]will be called holy—everyone who is [f]recorded among the living in Jerusalem. 4 When [g]the Lord has washed away the filth of the daughters of Zion, and purged the [1]blood of Jerusalem from her midst, by the spirit of judgment and by the spirit of burning, 5 then the LORD will create above every dwelling place of Mount Zion, and above her assemblies, [h]a cloud and smoke by day and [i]the shining of a flaming fire by night. For over all the glory there will be a [2]covering. 6 And there will be a tabernacle for shade in the daytime from the heat, [j]for a place of refuge, and for a shelter from storm and rain.

God's Disappointing Vineyard

5 Now let me sing to my Well-beloved
A song of my Beloved [a]regarding His vineyard:

My Well-beloved has a vineyard
[1]On a very fruitful hill.

1 [a] Ps. 80:8; Jer. 2:21; Matt. 21:33; Mark 12:1; Luke 20:9 [1] Lit. In a horn, the son of fatness

3:16 daughters of Zion. When women cultivate beauty for beauty's sake, they thereby reflect the moral decay of the nations and detract from the glory of God. Rather than emphasizing outward apparel and activities (vv. 16-24), ladies should cultivate the beauty of the inner person (1 Tim. 2:9,10; 1 Pet. 3:3,4). mincing as they go. Ornamental chains about the ankles necessitated shorter steps and produced tinkling sounds to attract attention.

4:1 seven women...one man. In the day of the Lord (see note on 2:12), He will judge wicked women indirectly by allowing a slaughtering of males, thereby producing a shortage of husbands.

4:2-6 The third picture of Zion resembles the first (2:1-5): an eventual purification and prosperity in the Land.

4:2 Branch. This messianic title occurs also in Jer. 23:5; 33:15; Zech. 3:8; 6:12. The thought behind the title relates to 2 Sam. 23:5, that of growth. The life of the Branch will bear spiritual fruit (cf. John 15:4,5).

4:3 he who is left...holy. "Holy" or "set apart" is another way of describing the remnant who will inherit God's prosperity in that day (cf. 1:9,27; 3:10).

4:4 spirit of burning. For other instances of purging by burning, see 1:25; 6:6,7.

4:5,6 covering...tabernacle. The future inhabitants of Jerusalem will enjoy the Lord's protective covering over the glory on Mt. Zion. This recalls Ezekiel's prophecy of the return of the Shekinah to the temple (Ezek. 43:2-5).

5:1-30 The conclusion of the extended discourse begun at 2:1 comes by way of a comparison of God's people to a vineyard which He cultivated, but which did not bear fruit.

5:1 Well-beloved. The Lord is the friend who is well-beloved by Isaiah. The vineyard belongs to Him (5:7).

2 He dug it up and cleared out its stones,
And planted it with the choicest vine.
He built a tower in its midst,
And also [2]made a winepress in it;
[b]So He expected it to bring forth good grapes,
But it brought forth wild grapes.

3 "And now, O inhabitants of Jerusalem and men of Judah,
[c]Judge, please, between Me and My vineyard.
4 What more could have been done to My vineyard
That I have not done in [d]it?
Why then, when I expected it to bring forth good grapes,
Did it bring forth wild grapes?
5 And now, please let Me tell you what I will do to My vineyard:
[e]I will take away its hedge, and it shall be burned;
And break down its wall, and it shall be trampled down.
6 I will lay it [f]waste;
It shall not be pruned or [3]dug,
But there shall come up briers and [g]thorns.
I will also command the clouds
That they rain no rain on it."

7 For the vineyard of the LORD of hosts is the house of Israel,
And the men of Judah are His pleasant plant.
He looked for justice, but behold, oppression;
For righteousness, but behold, [4]a cry for help.

Impending Judgment on Excesses

8 Woe to those who [5]join [h]house to house;
They add field to field,
Till there is no place
Where they may dwell alone in the midst of the land!
9 [i]In my hearing the LORD of hosts said,
"Truly, many houses shall be desolate,
Great and beautiful ones, without inhabitant.
10 For ten acres of vineyard shall yield one [j]bath,[6]
And a [7]homer of seed shall yield one ephah."

11 [k]Woe to those who rise early in the morning,
That they may [8]follow intoxicating drink;
Who continue until night, till wine inflames them!
12 [l]The harp and the strings,
The tambourine and flute,
And wine are in their feasts;
But [m]they do not regard the work of the LORD,
Nor consider the operation of His hands.

13 [n]Therefore my people have gone into captivity,
Because they have no [o]knowledge;
Their honorable men are famished,
And their multitude dried up with thirst.
14 Therefore Sheol has enlarged itself
And opened its mouth beyond measure;
Their glory and their multitude and their pomp,

8 [h] Jer. 22:13-17; Mic. 2:2; Hab. 2:9-12 [5] Accumulate houses

13 [n] 2 Kin. 24:14-16 [o] Is. 1:3; 27:11; Hos. 4:6

5:2 good grapes...wild grapes. The owner made every conceivable provision for the vine's productivity and protection, illustrating the Lord's purely gracious choice of Israel. Justifiably, He expected a good yield from His investment, but the vine's produce was "sour berries," inedible and fit only for dumping.

5:5 burned...trampled down. As punishment for her unfruitfulness, Israel became desolate and accessible to any nation wishing to invade her, such as happened in the Babylonian invasion of 586 B.C., and will happen repeatedly until her national repentance at the second coming of the Messiah.

5:7 justice...oppression...righteousness...a cry. The Eng. words "equity...iniquity...right...riot" illustrate the effective play on words in the underlying Heb. behind v. 7.

5:8-23 The prophet pronounced 6 woes (judgments) against the unresponsive people of Israel.

5:8-10 The first woe was against real estate owners because of their greedy materialism.

5:8 house to house...field to field. God gave the land to the Israelites with the intention that the original allocation remain with each family (Lev. 25:23-25). By Isaiah's time, land speculators had begun putting together huge estates (Mic. 2:2,9), and the powerful rich used legal processes to deprive the poor of what was rightfully theirs (Amos 2:6,7).

5:10 one bath...one ephah. God judged the greedy rich by reducing the productivity of their land to a small fraction of what it would have been normally. One bath was roughly equivalent to 6 gallons (cf. marginal note). About one-half bushel would be produced from about 6 bushels of planted seed. Such amounts indicate famine conditions.

5:11,12 The second woe addressed the drunkards for their neglect of the Lord's work of judgment and redemption, and their devotion to pleasure.

5:14 Sheol. This term in this context pictures death as a great monster with wide-open jaws, ready to receive its victims. Such was to be the fate of those who perish in the captivity God will send to punish the people's sinfulness.

And he who is jubilant, shall descend into it.
15 People shall be brought down,
[p]Each man shall be humbled,
And the eyes of the lofty shall be humbled.
16 But the LORD of hosts shall be
[q]exalted in judgment,
And God who is holy shall be hallowed in righteousness.
17 Then the lambs shall feed in their
pasture,
And in the waste places of [r]the [9]fat ones strangers shall eat.

18 Woe to those who [1]draw iniquity with cords of [2]vanity,
And sin as if with a cart rope;
19 [s]That say, "Let Him make speed and hasten His work,
That we may see it;
And let the counsel of the Holy One of Israel draw near and come,
That we may know it."

20 Woe to those who call evil good,
and good evil;
Who put darkness for light, and light for darkness;
Who put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!

21 Woe to those who are [t]wise in their own eyes,
And prudent in their own sight!

22 Woe to men mighty at drinking wine,
Woe to men valiant for mixing intoxicating drink,
23 Who [u]justify the wicked for a bribe,
And take away justice from the righteous man!

24 Therefore, [v]as the [3]fire devours the stubble,
And the flame consumes the chaff,
So [w]their root will be as rottenness,
And their blossom will ascend like
dust;

Because they have rejected the law of the LORD of hosts,
And despised the word of the Holy
One of Israel.
25 [x]Therefore the anger of the LORD is aroused against His people;
He has stretched out His hand against them
And stricken them,
And [y]the hills trembled.
Their carcasses were as refuse in the midst of the streets.

[z]For all this His anger is not turned

But His hand is stretched out still.

26 [a]He will lift up a banner to the nations from afar,
And will [b]whistle to them from [c]the end of the earth;
Surely [d]they shall come with speed, swiftly.
27 No one will be weary or stumble
among them,
No one will slumber or sleep;
Nor [e]will the belt on their loins be loosed,
Nor the strap of their sandals be broken;
28 [f]Whose arrows are sharp,
And all their bows bent;
Their horses' hooves will [4]seem like flint,
And their wheels like a whirlwind.
29 Their roaring will be like a lion,
They will roar like young lions;
Yes, they will roar
And lay hold of the prey;
They will carry it away safely,
And no one will deliver.
30 In that day they will roar against
them
Like the roaring of the sea.
And if one [g]looks to the land,
Behold, darkness and [5]sorrow;
And the light is darkened by the clouds.

5:18,19 The third woe was against those who defied the Lord and ridiculed His prophet.

5:19 Let Him make speed. The taunting unbelievers said, "Where is the judgment of which you have spoken, Isaiah? Bring it on. We will believe it when we see it." This challenge for God to hasten His judgment represented their disbelief that the Holy One of Israel would judge the people. See Isaiah's response in the naming of his son: "Speed the spoil, Hasten the Booty" (8:1; cf. 5:26).

5:20 evil good, and good evil. The fourth woe condemned the reversal of morality which dominated the nation. They utterly confused all moral distinctions.

5:21 wise in their own eyes. The object of the fifth woe was the people's arrogance. "Pride goes before destruction..." (cf. Prov. 16:18).

5:22,23 justify the wicked. The sixth woe pointed to the unjust sentences passed by drunken and bribed judges.

5:24-30 The conclusion of the discourse announced God's action in sending a mighty army against Judah to conquer and leave the land in darkness and distress.

5:26 nations from afar. Principal among the nations God would bring against Israel were: 1) Assyria, which conquered the northern kingdom in 722 B.C., and 2) Babylon, which completed its invasion of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. and destroyed the temple.

5:30 darkness. God's wrath against the people was to eliminate light (8:22; 42:7), but His promised deliverance of the remnant will

Isaiah Called to Be a Prophet

CHAPTER 6

6 In the year that [a]King Uzziah died, I [b]saw the Lord sitting on a throne, high and lifted up, and the train of His robe filled the temple. 2 Above it stood seraphim; each one had six wings: with two he covered his face, [c]with two he covered his feet, and with two he flew. 3 And one cried to another and said:

[d]"Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts;
[e]The whole earth is full of His glory!"

4 And the posts of the door were shaken by the voice of him who cried out, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 So I said:

"Woe is me, for I am [1]undone!
Because I am a man of [f]unclean lips,
And I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips;
For my eyes have seen the King,
The LORD of hosts."

6 Then one of the seraphim flew to me, having in his hand a live coal which he had taken with the tongs from [g]the altar. 7 And he [h]touched my mouth with it, and said:

"Behold, this has touched your lips;
Your iniquity is taken away,
And your sin [2]purged."

8 Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying:

"Whom shall I send,
And who will go for [i]Us?"

Then I said, "Here am I! Send me."
9 And He said, "Go, and [j]tell this people:

'Keep on hearing, but do not understand;
Keep on seeing, but do not perceive.'

10 "Make [k]the heart of this people dull,
And their ears heavy,
And shut their eyes;
[l]Lest they see with their eyes,
And hear with their ears,
And understand with their heart,
And return and be healed."

11 Then I said, "Lord, how long?"

ultimately turn that darkness into light at the coming of the Messiah (9:2; 42:16; 58:10; 60:2).

6:1-5 In preparation for calling Isaiah to be the prophet who would proclaim the coming judgment, God gave him a vision of His majestic holiness so overwhelming that it devastated him and made him realize his own sinfulness.

6:1 King Uzziah died. After 52 years of reigning, leprosy caused the death of Uzziah in 739 B.C. (cf. 2 Chr. 26:16-23). Isaiah began his prophetic ministry that year. He received the prophecies of the first 5 chapters after his call, but at 6:1 he returns to authenticate what he has already written by describing how he was called. I saw. The prophet became unconscious of the outside world and with his inner eye saw what God revealed to him. This experience recalls the experience of John's prophetic vision in Rev. 4:1-11. high and lifted up. The throne was greatly elevated, emphasizing the Most High God. train. This refers to the hem or fringe of the Lord's glorious robe that filled the temple. temple. Though Isaiah may have been at the earthly temple, this describes a vision which transcends the earthly. The throne of God is in the heavenly temple (Rev. 4:1-6; 5:1-7; 11:19; 15:5-8).

6:2 seraphim. The seraphim are an order of angelic creatures who bear a similarity to the 4 living creatures of Rev. 4:6, which in turn resemble the cherubim of Ezek. 10:1ff. six wings. Two wings covered the faces of the seraphim because they dared not gaze directly at God's glory. Two covered their feet, acknowledging their lowliness even though engaged in divine service. With two they flew in serving the One on the throne. Thus, 4 wings related to worship, emphasizing the priority of praise.

6:3 one cried to another. The seraphs were speaking to each other in antiphonal praise. Holy, holy, holy. The primary thrust of the 3-fold repetition of God's holiness (called the trihagion) is to emphasize God's separateness from and independence of His fallen creation, though it implies secondarily that God is 3 Persons. See Rev. 4:8, where the 4 living creatures utter the trihagion. full of His glory. The earth is the worldwide display of His immeasurable glory, perfections, and attributes as seen in creation (see Rom. 1:20). Fallen man has nevertheless refused to glorify Him as God (Rom. 1:23).

6:4 shaken...smoke. The shaking and smoke symbolize God's holiness as it relates to His wrath and judgment (cf. Ex. 19:16-20; Rev. 15:8).

6:5 unclean lips. If the lips are unclean, so is the heart. This vision of God's holiness vividly reminded the prophet of his own unworthiness which deserved judgment. Job (Job 42:6) and Peter (Luke 5:8) came to the same realization about themselves when confronted with the presence of the Lord (cf. Ezek. 1:28–2:7; Rev. 1:17).

6:6-13 Isaiah's vision has made him painfully aware of his sin and has broken him (cf. 66:2,5); in this way God has prepared him for his cleansing and his commission.

6:6 coal...altar. The hot coal taken from the altar of incense in heaven (cf. Rev. 8:3-5) is emblematic of God's purifying work. Repentance is painful.

6:7 taken away...purged. Spiritual cleansing for special service to the Lord, not salvation, is in view.

6:8 Us. This plural pronoun does not prove the doctrine of the Trinity, but does strongly imply it (see Gen. 1:26). Here am I! Send me. This response evidenced the humble readiness of complete trust. Though profoundly aware of his sin, he was available.

6:9,10 do not understand...do not perceive. Isaiah's message was to be God's instrument for hiding the truth from an unreceptive people. Centuries later, Jesus' parables were to do the same (Matt. 13:14,15; Mark 4:12; Luke 8:10; cf. 29:9,10; 42:18; 43:8; Deut. 29:4; John 12:40; Acts 28:26,27; Rom. 11:8).

6:11,12 how long? Because of such rejection from his people, the prophet asked how long he should preach this message of divine

And He answered:

[m]"Until the cities are laid waste and without inhabitant,
The houses are without a man,
The land is utterly desolate,
12 [n]The LORD has removed men far
away,
And the forsaken places are many in the midst of the land.
13 But yet a tenth will be in it,
And will return and be for consuming,
As a terebinth tree or as an oak,
Whose stump remains when it is cut down.
So [o]the holy seed shall be its stump."

Isaiah Sent to King Ahaz

7 Now it came to pass in the days of [a]Ahaz the son of Jotham, the son of Uzziah, king of Judah, that Rezin king of Syria and Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, went up to Jerusalem to make war against [b]it, but could not [1]prevail against it. 2 And it was told to the house of David, saying, "Syria's forces are [2]deployed in Ephraim." So his heart and the heart of his people were moved as the trees of the woods are moved with the wind.

3 Then the LORD said to Isaiah, "Go out now to meet Ahaz, you and [3]Shear-Jashub your son, at the end of the aqueduct from the upper pool, on the highway to the Fuller's Field, 4 and say to him: [4]'Take heed, and [5]be [c]quiet; do not fear or be fainthearted for these two stubs of smoking firebrands, for the fierce anger of Rezin and Syria, and the son of Remaliah. 5 Because Syria, Ephraim, and the son of Remaliah have plotted evil against you, saying, 6 "Let us go up against Judah and [6]trouble it, and let us make a gap in its wall for ourselves, and set a king over them, the son of Tabel"— 7 thus says the Lord GOD:

[d]"It shall not stand,
Nor shall it come to pass.
8 [e]For the head of Syria is Damascus,
And the head of Damascus is Rezin.
Within sixty-five years Ephraim will be [7]broken,
So that it will not be a people.
9 The head of Ephraim is Samaria,
And the head of Samaria is Remaliah's son.
[f]If you will not believe,
Surely you shall not be established."' "

The Immanuel Prophecy

10 Moreover the LORD spoke again to Ahaz, saying, 11 [g]"Ask a sign for yourself from the LORD your God; [8]ask it either in the depth or in the height above."

12 But Ahaz said, "I will not ask, nor will I test the LORD!"

13 Then he said, "Hear now, O house of David! Is it a small thing for you to weary men, but will you weary my God also? 14 Therefore the Lord Himself will give you a sign: [h]Behold, the virgin shall conceive and bear [i]a Son, and shall call His name [j]Immanuel.[9] 15 Curds and honey He shall eat, that He may know to refuse the evil and choose the good. 16 [k]For before the judgment. God replied that it must continue until the cities are desolate (v. 11) and the people have gone into exile (v. 12).

6:13 a tenth...will return. Though most will reject God, the tenth, also called "stumps" and "holy seed," represents the faithful remnant in Israel who will be the nucleus who hear and believe.

7:1,2 An unsuccessful invasion of Judah by Syria and Israel (i.e., the northern 10 tribes) led to a continued presence of King Tiglath-Pileser's Assyrian forces in Israel. Shortly after Ahaz assumed the throne (ca. 735 B.C.), this threat to Judah's security brought great fear to the king and the people of Judah. See 2 Chr. 28:5-8,17-19.

7:2 house of David. This expression refers to the Davidic dynasty, personified in the current king, Ahaz.

7:3 Shear-Jashub. The name means "a remnant shall return." The presence of Isaiah's son is an object lesson of God's faithfulness to believers among the people.

7:4 do not fear. Isaiah's message to Ahaz is one of reassurance. The two invading kings will not prevail.

7:8 Ephraim will be broken. This tribe represented all the northern 10 tribes. The prophet predicted the coming demise because of idolatry (cf. Hos. 4:17). In 65 years they would cease to be a people, first through the captivity of most of them in 722 B.C. (2 Kin. 17:6) and then with the importation of foreign settlers into the land in ca. 670 B.C. (2 Kin. 17:24; 2 Chr. 33:11; Ezra 4:2).

7:9 not believe...not be established. The choice belonged to Ahaz. He could trust the Lord's word or fall into the enemy's hands or, even worse, experience a final heart-hardening (6:9,10).

7:11 a sign. To encourage his faith, the Lord offered Ahaz a sign, but Ahaz feigned humility in refusing the sign (v. 10).

7:13 house of David. Upon hearing Ahaz's refusal, the prophet broadened his audience beyond Ahaz (see v. 2) to include the whole faithless house of David. The nation was guilty of wearying God (1:14).

7:14 sign. Since Ahaz refused to choose a sign (vv. 11,12), the Lord chose His own sign, whose implementation would occur far beyond Ahaz's lifetime. the virgin. This prophecy reached forward to the virgin birth of the Messiah, as the NT notes (Matt. 1:23). The Heb. word refers to an unmarried woman and means "virgin" (Gen. 24:43; Prov 30:19; Song 1:3; 6:8), so the birth of Isaiah's own son (8:3) could not have fully satisified the prophecy. Cf. Gen. 3:15. Immanuel. The title, applied to Jesus in Matt. 1:23, means "God with us."

7:15 Curds and honey. Curds result from coagulated milk, something like cottage cheese. This diet indicated the scarcity of provisions which characterized the period after foreign invaders had decimated the land.

17 [m]The LORD will bring the king of Assyria upon you and your people and your father's house—days that have not come since the day that [n]Ephraim departed from Judah."

18 And it shall come to pass in that day
That the LORD [o]will whistle for the fly
That is in the farthest part of the rivers of Egypt,
And for the bee that is in the land of Assyria.
19 They will come, and all of them will rest
In the desolate valleys and in [p]the clefts of the rocks,
And on all thorns and in all pastures.

20 In the same day the Lord will shave with a [q]hired [r]razor,
With those from beyond [l]the River, with the king of Assyria,
The head and the hair of the legs,
And will also remove the beard.

21 It shall be in that day
That a man will keep alive a young cow and two sheep;
22 So it shall be, from the abundance of milk they give,
That he will eat curds;
For curds and honey everyone will eat who is left in the land.

23 It shall happen in that day,
That wherever there could be a thousand vines
Worth a thousand shekels of silver,
[s]It will be for briers and thorns.
24 With arrows and bows men will come there,
Because all the land will become
briers and thorns.

25 And to any hill which could be dug with the hoe,
You will not go there for fear of
briers and thorns;
But it will become a range for oxen
And a place for sheep to roam.

Assyria Will Invade the Land

CHAPTER 8

8 Moreover the LORD said to me, "Take a large scroll, and [a]write on it with a man's pen concerning [1]Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz. 2 And I will take for Myself faithful witnesses to record, [b]Uriah the 3 Then I went to the prophetess, and she conceived and bore a son. Then the LORD said to me, "Call his name Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz; 4 [c]for before the child [2]shall have knowledge to cry 'My father' and

'My mother,' [d]the riches of Damascus and the [3]spoil of Samaria will be taken away before the king of Assyria."

7:16 refuse the evil. Before the promised son of Isaiah was old enough to make moral choices, the kings of Syria and Ephraim were to meet their doom at the hands of the Assyrians.

7:17 bring the king of Assyria upon you. Not only did the Lord use the Assyrians to judge the northern kingdom, He also used them to invade Ahaz's domain of Judah. This coming of the Assyrian king was the beginning of the end for the nation and eventually led to her captivity in Babylon.

7:18-25 The desolation prophesied in this section began in the days of Ahaz and reached its climax when the Babylonians conquered Judah. Its results continue to the time when the Messiah will return to deliver Israel and establish His kingdom on earth.

7:18 fly...bee. Egypt was full of flies, and Assyria was a country noted for beekeeping. These insects represented the armies from the powerful countries which the Lord would summon to overrun Judah and take the people into exile.

7:19 desolate valleys...clefts of the rocks. Not even inaccessible areas of the land were free from the invading armies.

7:20 hired razor. The Assyrians were the Lord's hired blade to shave and disgrace the entire body of Judah (cf. 1:6).

7:21,22 young cow and two sheep. The foreign invasion would cause a change from an agricultural economy to a pastoral one. Not enough men would remain in the land to farm. It was to be a time of great poverty.

7:23-25 briers and thorns. The presence of these uncultivated growths was a sign of desolation, as in 5:6.

8:1 large scroll. Isaiah was to prepare a large placard for public display. Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz. Maher-Shalal told the Assyrian invaders to "speed to the spoil," with no doubt as to who was to win the battle. Hash-Baz invited them to "hasten the booty," i.e., to reap the benefits of the conquered land quickly (5:26). That placard reiterated, from another perspective, the prophecies just concluded in 7:18-25.

8:2 faithful witnesses. After the prophecy's fulfillment, the respected leaders Uriah and Zechariah verified to the people that Isaiah had spoken it on a given date before the Assyrian invasion. This verification accredited the Lord's word and upheld His honor (Deut. 18:21, 22; Jer. 28:9).

8:3 prophetess. Isaiah's wife was called a prophetess because the son to whom she gave birth was prophetic of the Assyrian conquest.

8:4 before the child. The time before the plunder of Syria and the northern kingdom of Israel began was very short. The Assyrians initiated their invasion before Isaiah's child learned to talk. That prophetic limit resembled the one set in 7:16, but there the prophecy was more far-reaching. Fulfillment of the closer prophecy verified the one relating to the distant future.

5 The LORD also spoke to me again, saying:

6 "Inasmuch as these people refused
The waters of [e]Shiloah that flow softly,
And rejoice [f]in Rezin and in Remaliah's son;
7 Now therefore, behold, the Lord brings up over them
The waters of [4]the River, strong and mighty—
The king of Assyria and all his glory;
He will [5]go up over all his channels
And go over all his banks.
8 He will pass through Judah,
He will overflow and pass over,
[g]He will reach up to the neck;
And the stretching out of his wings
Will [6]fill the breadth of Your land,
O [h]Immanuel.[7]

9 "Be[i] shattered, O you peoples, and be broken in pieces!
Give ear, all you from far countries.
Gird yourselves, but be broken in pieces;
Gird yourselves, but be broken in pieces.

Fear God, Heed His Word

11 For the LORD spoke thus to me with [9]a strong hand, and instructed me that I should not walk in the way of this people, saying:

12 "Do not say, 'A conspiracy,'
Concerning all that this people call a conspiracy,
Nor be afraid of their [1]threats, nor be [2]troubled.
13 The LORD of hosts, Him you shall hallow;
Let Him be your fear,
And let Him be your dread.
14 [m]He will be as a [3]sanctuary,
But [n]a stone of stumbling and a rock of [4]offense
To both the houses of Israel,
As a trap and a snare to the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
15 And many among them shall [o]stumble;
They shall fall and be broken,
Be snared and [5]taken."

16 Bind up the testimony,
Seal the law among my disciples.
17 And I will wait on the LORD,
Who [p]hides His face from the house of Jacob;
And I [q]will hope in Him.
18 [r]Here am I and the children whom the LORD has given me!

8:6 these people. Lit. "this people" (the Heb. is sing.). These were the people of Judah (cf. 6:9), but perhaps secondarily the whole nation of Israel. Ahaz had called on Assyria for help rather than relying on the Lord. waters of Shiloah. This was the stream from the Gihon Spring outside Jerusalem's city wall flowing to the Pool of Siloam inside the city which supplied the city's water (see 7:3). It symbolized the city's dependence on the Lord and His defense of the city, if they were to survive. First, the northern 10 tribes refused that dependence; later, King Ahaz of Judah in the S did the same.

8:7 waters of the River. In place of the waters of Shiloah, the waters of the River Euphrates were to overflow its banks and flood all the way to and including Judah. In other words, the King of Assyria was to sweep through the Land with his devastating destruction. Though outwardly Ahaz's submission to the Assyrians brought peace to Judah (2 Kin. 16:7-18), Isaiah saw the reality that David's throne was merely a hollow sham.

8:8 O Immanuel. Because of the Assyrian onslaught, the land of Immanuel (7:14) was to be stripped of all its earthly glory. What a pity that He who owns and will someday possess the land must see it in such a devastated condition!

8:9 be broken in pieces. Lest Assyria and other foreign powers think they conquered in their own strength, the prophet reminded them that they were only instruments for the Lord's use and would eventually come to nothing.

8:10 God is with us. The Heb. is Immanuel. The name of the virgin's child (7:14) guaranteed the eventual triumph of the faithful remnant of Israel.

8:11 with a strong hand. God inspired Isaiah with compelling power to speak a message that by its nature distanced him from the people he ministered to.

8:12 conspiracy. Many in Israel considered Isaiah, Jeremiah, and other prophets to be servants of the enemy when they advocated a policy of nonreliance on foreign powers and complete dependence on the Lord alone (see Jer. 37:13-15).

8:14 sanctuary...stone of stumbling. Isaiah found encouragement in the Lord as his holy place of protection from his accusers. The NT applies this verse to corporate Israel in her ongoing rejection of Jesus as Messiah (Luke 2:34; Rom. 9:32,33; 1 Pet. 2:8). both the houses of Israel. They will be collapsed until the return of the Messiah to the earth restores them.

8:15 many...shall stumble. Another prediction anticipated the stumbling of Israel, which included her rejection of her Messiah at His first advent (Luke 20:18; Rom. 9:32; cf. 28:16).

8:16 my disciples. These were God's faithful remnant, and hence disciples of Isaiah in a secondary sense. They had the responsibility of maintaining written records of his prophecies so that they could become public after the prophesied Assyrian invasion (see 8:2).

8:17 wait on...hope. The speaker is Isaiah whose disposition was to await the Lord's deliverance, the national salvation promised the faithful remnant (40:31; 49:23). See note on Heb. 2:13.

8:18 I and the children. In their historical setting, the words refer to Isaiah and his two sons, whose names had prophetic significance (i.e., as "signs and wonders"). See note on Heb. 2:13.

We [s]are for signs and wonders in Israel
From the LORD of hosts,
Who dwells in Mount Zion.

19 And when they say to you, [t]"Seek those who are mediums and wizards, [u]who whisper and mutter," should not a people seek their God? Should they [v]seek the dead on behalf of the living? 20 [w]To the law and to the testimony! If they do not speak according to this word, it is because [x]there[6] is no light in them.

21 They will pass through it hard-pressed and hungry; and it shall happen, when they are hungry, that they will be enraged and [y]curse [7]their king and their God, and look upward. 22 Then they will look to the earth, and see trouble and darkness, gloom of anguish; and they will be driven into darkness.

The Government of the Promised Son

9 Nevertheless [a]the gloom will not be upon her who is distressed,
As when at [b]first He lightly esteemed
The land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali,
And [c]afterward more heavily oppressed her,
By the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan,
In Galilee of the Gentiles.
2 [d]The people who walked in darkness
Have seen a great light;
Those who dwelt in the land of the
shadow of death,
Upon them a light has shined.

3 You have multiplied the nation
And [1]increased its joy;
They rejoice before You
According to the joy of harvest,
As men rejoice [e]when they divide the spoil.
4 For You have broken the yoke of his burden
And the staff of his shoulder,
The rod of his oppressor,
As in the day of [f]Midian.
5 For every warrior's [2]sandal from the noisy battle,
And garments rolled in blood,
[g]Will be used for burning and fuel
[3]of fire.

6 [h]For unto us a Child is born,
Unto us a [i]Son is given;
And [j]the government will be upon
His shoulder.
And His name will be called [k]Wonderful, Counselor, [l]Mighty
God,
Everlasting Father, [m]Prince of Peace.
7 Of the increase of His government and peace
[n]There will be no end,
Upon the throne of David and over
His kingdom,

8:19 seek the dead. People of Isaiah's day were using spiritualists to communicate with the dead as King Saul did through the medium at En Dor (1 Sam. 28:8-19). The law strictly forbade such consultations (Lev. 19:26; Deut. 18:10,11).

8:20 law...testimony. See 8:16. Light came through the prophecies of God's spokesman, Isaiah.

8:21,22 This is a dismal picture of those who were frustrated, desperate, and angry even to the point of cursing God, all because they refused to accept the truthfulness of what Isaiah had predicted regarding the nation's future hardships.

9:1 Zebulun...Naphtali...Galilee. Zebulun and Naphtali on the northern border in NE Galilee W of the Jordan River were the first to suffer from the invasion by the Assyrian king (2 Kin. 15:29), marking the beginning of dark days for Israel. more heavily oppressed *her. A better translation is "will glorify her." "At first" the days were to be full of gloom, but "afterward" God would transform that gloom into honor. The NT applies this prophecy of Galilee's honor to the time of Jesus Christ's first advent (Matt. 4:12-16). Matthew 4:15,16 quotes Is. 9:1,2 directly. Ultimately, its fulfillment will come at His second advent when the area is freed from the yoke of foreign invaders.

9:2 a great light...light. The coming of the Messiah is synonymous with the coming of light to remove the darkness of captivity (42:16; 49:6; 58:8; 60:1,19,20).

9:3 multiplied the nation. Once again the Lord confirmed His covenant with Abraham to multiply his physical descendants as the sands of the seashore (Gen. 22:17).

9:4 broken the yoke. Eventually the Lord will free national Israel from bondage to Assyria, Babylon, and every other foreign power that has oppressed her.

9:5 burning and fuel of fire. The world will no longer need the accessories of warfare because a time of universal peace will follow the return of Christ.

9:6 Child...Son. These terms elaborate further on Immanuel, the child to be born to the virgin (7:14). The virgin's child will also be the royal Son of David, with rights to the Davidic throne (9:7; cf. Matt. 1:21; Luke 1:31-33; 2:7,11). government. In fulfillment of this verse and Ps. 2:9, the Son will rule the nations of the world (Rev. 2:27; 19:15). Wonderful, Counselor. The remaining 3 titles consist of two words each, so the intention was probably that each pair of words indicate one title: "Wonderful Counselor." In contrast to Ahaz, this King will implement supernatural wisdom in discharging His office (cf. 2 Sam. 16:23; 1 Kin. 3:28). Mighty God. As a powerful warrior, the Messiah will accomplish the military exploits mentioned in 9:3-5 (cf. 10:21; Deut. 10:17; Neh. 9:32). Everlasting Father. The Messiah will be a Father to His people eternally. As Davidic King, He will compassionately care for and discipline them (40:11; 63:16; 64:8; Pss. 68:5,6; 103:13; Prov. 3:12). Prince of Peace. The government of Immanuel will procure and perpetuate peace among the nations of the world (2:4; 11:6-9; Mic. 4:3).

9:7 throne of David. The virgin's Son will be the rightful heir to David's throne and will inherit the promises of the Davidic Covenant (2 Sam. 7:12-16; cf. Ps. 89:1-37; Matt. 1:1).

To order it and establish it with judgment and justice
From that time forward, even forever.
The [o]zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this.

The Punishment of Samaria

8 The Lord sent a word against [p]Jacob,
And it has fallen on Israel.
9 All the people will know—
Ephraim and the inhabitant of Samaria—
Who say in pride and arrogance of heart:
10 "The bricks have fallen down,
But we will rebuild with hewn stones;
The sycamores are cut down,
But we will replace them with cedars."
11 Therefore the LORD shall set up
The adversaries of Rezin against him,
And spur his enemies on,
12 The Syrians before and the Philistines behind;
And they shall devour Israel with an open mouth.

For all this His anger is not turned away,
But His hand is [4]stretched out still.

13 For the people do not turn to Him who strikes them,
Nor do they seek the LORD of hosts.
14 Therefore the LORD will cut off head and tail from Israel,
Palm branch and bulrush [q]in one day.
15 The elder and honorable, he is the head;
The prophet who teaches lies, he is the tail.
16 For [r]the leaders of this people cause them to err,
And those who are led by them are destroyed.
17 Therefore the Lord [s]will have no joy in their young men,
Nor have mercy on their fatherless and widows;
For everyone is a hypocrite and an evildoer,
And every mouth speaks [5]folly.

[t]For all this His anger is not turned away,
But His hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickedness [u]burns as the fire;
It shall devour the briers and thorns,
And kindle in the thickets of the forest;
They shall mount up like rising smoke.
19 Through the wrath of the LORD of hosts
[v]The land is burned up,
And the people shall be as fuel for the fire;
[w]No man shall spare his brother.
20 And he shall [6]snatch on the right hand
And be hungry;
He shall devour on the left hand
[x]And not be satisfied;
[y]Every man shall eat the flesh of his own arm.
21 Manasseh shall devour Ephraim, and Ephraim Manasseh;
Together they shall be [z]against Judah.

[a]For all this His anger is not turned away,
But His hand is stretched out still.

10 "Woe to those who [a]decree unrighteous decrees,

CHAPTER 10

1 a Ps. 58:2

9:8–10:4 This poem tells of great warning calamities sent by the Lord that have gone unheeded by Israel. The same refrain recurs 4 times (9:12,17,21; 10:4), dividing it into 4 strophes.

9:9 pride and arrogance. Israel's downfall was her feeling of self-sufficiency whereby she thought she could handle any eventuality (v. 10).

9:11 adversaries of Rezin. The Syrian king's enemies were the Assyrians.

9:12 His hand is stretched out still. The outstretched hand will punish (cf. 5:25) beyond what the people had already experienced.

9:16 leaders...those who are led. The aggravated wickedness of Israel extended to all classes, even the fatherless and widows (v. 17) who often were the objects of special mercy (1:17).

9:19 No man...his brother. God's wrath allowed wickedness to cause the society to self-destruct. A senseless mutual exploitation resulted in anarchy and confusion (v. 20).

9:21 Manasseh...Ephraim...Judah. Descendants of Joseph's two sons (Manasseh and Ephraim) had engaged in civil war with one another before (see Judg. 12:4) and unite only in their opposition to Judah.

10:1,2 unrighteous decrees...rob the needy. The prophet returned to assign reasons for God's wrath again: 1) inequities in administering the laws, and 2) harsh treatment of those in need.

That widows may be their prey,
And that they may rob the fatherless.
3 [b]What will you do in [c]the day of punishment,
And in the desolation which will come from [d]afar?
To whom will you flee for help?
And where will you leave your glory?
4 Without Me they shall bow down among the [e]prisoners,
And they shall fall [1]among the slain."

[f]For all this His anger is not turned away,
But His hand is stretched out still.

Arrogant Assyria Also Judged

5 "Woe to Assyria, [g]the rod of My anger
And the staff in whose hand is My indignation.
6 I will send him against [h]an ungodly nation,
And against the people of My wrath
I will [i]give him charge,
To seize the spoil, to take the prey,
And to tread them down like the mire of the streets.
7 [j]Yet he does not mean so,
Nor does his heart think so;
But it is in his heart to destroy,
And cut off not a few nations.
8 [k]For he says,
'Are not my princes altogether kings?
9 Is not [l]Calno [m]like Carchemish?
Is not Hamath like Arpad?
Is not Samaria [n]like Damascus?
10 As my hand has found the kingdoms of the idols,
Whose carved images excelled those of Jerusalem and Samaria,
11 As I have done to Samaria and her idols, Shall I not do also to Jerusalem and her idols?' "

12 Therefore it shall come to pass, when the Lord has [2]performed all His work [o]on Mount Zion and on Jerusalem, that He will say, [p]"I will punish the fruit of the arrogant heart of the king of Assyria, and the glory of his haughty looks."
13 [q]For he says:

"By the strength of my hand I have done it,
And by my wisdom, for I am prudent;
Also I have removed the boundaries of the people,
And have robbed their treasuries;
So I have put down the inhabitants like a [3]valiant man.
14 [r]My hand has found like a nest the riches of the people,
And as one gathers eggs that are left,
I have gathered all the earth;
And there was no one who moved his wing,
Nor opened his mouth with even a peep."

15 Shall [s]the ax boast itself against him who chops with it?
Or shall the saw exalt itself against him who saws with it?
As if a rod could wield itself against those who lift it up,
Or as if a staff could lift up, as if it were not wood!
16 Therefore the Lord, the [4]Lord of hosts,
Will send leanness among his fat ones;
And under his glory
He will kindle a burning
Like the burning of a fire.

10:2 widows...fatherless. See 1:17.

10:3 day of punishment. The Assyrians were the first to invade, then Babylon and other foreign powers followed.

10:5 rod of My anger. God used Assyria as His instrument of judgment against Israel and Judah. He did the same with Babylon against Judah later on (Hab. 1:6).

10:6 an ungodly nation. "My people" (v. 2), the people of Israel and Judah.

10:7 he does not mean so. Assyria did not realize that she was the Lord's instrument, but thought her conquests were the result of her own power.

10:9 Calno...Damascus. These cities and territories all capitulated to the Assyrian invaders.

10:10,11 Shall I not do also. Proud Assyria warned Jerusalem that she would overcome that city just as she had been the instrument used by God against other nations.

10:12 punish...the king of Assyria. The Lord expressed His intention of punishing proud Assyria after He had finished using that nation to punish Jerusalem.

10:13,14 The prophet proved the Assyrian king's pride by reiterating his boast (cf. vv. 8-11).

10:15 ax...saw...rod...staff. Nothing more than an instrument of the Lord (vv. 5,24), Assyria had no power or wisdom of her own.

10:16-19 burning...burning...fire...flame...burn...consume. When He had finished using Assyria as His instrument, the Lord terminated the kingdom's existence (see v. 12).

17 So the Light of Israel will be for a fire,
And his Holy One for a flame;
[t]It will burn and devour
His thorns and his briers in one day.
18 And it will consume the glory of his forest and of [u]his fruitful field,
Both soul and body;
And they will be as when a sick man wastes away.
19 Then the rest of the trees of his forest
Will be so few in number
That a child may write them.

The Returning Remnant of Israel

20 And it shall come to pass in that day
That the remnant of Israel,
And such as have escaped of the house of Jacob,
[v]Will never again depend on him who [5]defeated them,
But will depend on the LORD, the Holy One of Israel, in truth.
21 The remnant will return, the remnant of Jacob,
To the [w]Mighty God.
22 [x]For though your people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea,
[y]A remnant of them will return;
The destruction decreed shall overflow with righteousness.
23 [z]For the Lord GOD of hosts
Will make a determined end
In the midst of all the land.

24 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD of hosts: "O My people, who dwell in Zion, [a]do not be afraid of the Assyrian. He shall strike you with a rod and lift up his staff against you, in the manner of [b]Egypt. 25 For yet a very little while [c]and the indignation will cease, as will My anger in their destruction." 26 And the LORD of hosts will [6]stir up [d]a scourge for him like the slaughter of [e]Midian at the rock of Oreb; as [f]His rod was on the sea, so will He lift it up in the manner of Egypt.

27 It shall come to pass in that day
That his burden will be taken away from your shoulder,
And his yoke from your neck,
And the yoke will be destroyed because of [g]the anointing oil.

28 He has come to Aiath,
He has passed Migron;
At Michmash he has attended to his equipment.
29 They have gone [7]along [h]the ridge,
They have taken up lodging at Geba.
Ramah is afraid,
[i]Gibeah of Saul has fled.
30 [8]Lift up your voice,
O daughter [j]of Gallim!
Cause it to be heard as far as [k]Laish—
[9]O poor Anathoth!
31 [l]Madmenah has fled,
The inhabitants of Gebim seek refuge.
32 As yet he will remain [m]at Nob that day;
He will [n]shake his fist at the mount of [o]the daughter of Zion,
The hill of Jerusalem.

33 Behold, the Lord,
The LORD of hosts,
Will lop off the bough with terror;
[p]Those of high stature will be hewn down,
And the haughty will be humbled.
34 He will cut down the thickets of the forest with iron,
And Lebanon will fall by the Mighty One.

10:20 the remnant of Israel. Cf. 1:9. A small nucleus of God's people, preserved by His sovereign grace, form this righteous remnant in the midst of national apostasy. There were always the obedient few who preserved, obeyed, and passed on God's law. There will always be a remnant because God will never forsake the Abrahamic Covenant (cf. Mic. 2:12,13; Rom. 9:27; 11:5).

10:22 sand of the sea. Cf. Gen. 22:17.

10:23 a determined end. They must face the wrath of God. See Paul's use of this verse in Rom. 9:28.

10:25 the indignation. The indignation covers the entire period of Israel's exile (26:20; Dan. 11:36). Here is the promise that it will end with the return of the Messiah (11:1-16).

10:26 Midian...Egypt. Isaiah selected two examples from the past to illustrate the Lord's future deliverance of Israel: Gideon's victory over the Midianites (Judg. 7:25) and the slaughter of the Egyptians who pursued the Israelites through the Red Sea (Ex. 14:16,26,27).

10:27 burden...yoke. The removal of this yoke speaks of the future freeing of Israel from compulsion to render service to foreign oppressors.

10:28-32 Isaiah visualized the Assyrian army approaching Jerusalem from the N. The place names grew closer to Jerusalem as his vision progressed.

10:33 lop off...hewn down...humbled. Though the Assyrian army reached the walls of Jerusalem, the sovereign Lord, the Lord of hosts, intervened and sent them away in defeat. Later Isaiah recorded the literal fulfillment of this prophecy (37:24,36-38; cf. 2 Kin. 19:35-37; 2 Chr. 32:21).

10:34 Lebanon. The OT equates Assyria to Lebanon (Ezek. 31:3; cf. 2:13; 37:24).

CHAPTER 11

The Reign of Jesse's Offspring

11 There [a] shall come forth a [1] Rod from the [2] stem of [b] Jesse,
And [c] a Branch shall [3] grow out of his roots.
2 [d] The Spirit of the LORD shall rest upon Him,
The Spirit of wisdom and
understanding,
The Spirit of counsel and might,
The Spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the LORD.
3 His delight is in the fear of the LORD,
And He shall not judge by the sight of His eyes,
Nor decide by the hearing of His ears;
4 But [e] with righteousness He shall judge the poor,
And decide with equity for the
meek of the earth;
He shall [f] strike the earth with the rod of His mouth,
And with the breath of His lips He shall slay the wicked.
5 Righteousness shall be the belt of
His loins,
And faithfulness the belt of His waist.
6 "The [g] wolf also shall dwell with the lamb,
The leopard shall lie down with the young goat,
The calf and the young lion and the fatling together;
And a little child shall lead them.
7 The cow and the bear shall graze;
Their young ones shall lie down
together;
And the lion shall eat straw like
the ox.
8 The nursing child shall play by the cobra's hole,
And the weaned child shall put his hand in the viper's den.
9 [h] They shall not hurt nor destroy in all My holy mountain,
For [i] the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the LORD
As the waters cover the sea.
10 "And [j] in that day [k] there shall be a
Root of Jesse,
Who shall stand as a [l] banner to the
people;
For the [m] Gentiles shall seek Him,
And His resting place shall be glorious."
11 It shall come to pass in that day
That the Lord shall set His hand again the second time
To recover the remnant of His people who are left,
[n] From Assyria and Egypt,
From Pathros and Cush,
From Elam and Shinar,
From Hamath and the [4] islands of the sea.
12 He will set up a banner for the
nations,
And will [5] assemble the outcasts of
Israel,

11:1 stem...roots. With the Babylonian captivity of 586 B.C., the Davidic dynasty appeared as decimated as the Assyrian army. A major difference between the two was the life remaining in the stump and roots of the Davidic line. That life was to manifest itself in new growth in the form of the Rod and Branch. Jesse. Jesse was David's father through whose line the messianic king was to come (Ruth 4:22; 1 Sam. 16:1,12,13). Branch. This is a title for the Messiah (see 4:2).

11:2 The Spirit of the LORD. As the Spirit of the Lord came upon David when he was anointed king (1 Sam 16:13; Ps. 51:11), so He will rest upon David's descendant, Christ, who will rule the world. Spirit...the LORD...Him. This verse refers to the 3 persons of the Holy Trinity (see 6:3). wisdom and understanding...counsel and might...knowledge and...fear of the LORD. These are Spirit-imparted qualifications that will enable the Messiah to rule justly and effectively. Compare the 7-fold Spirit in Rev. 1:4.

11:3 the sight of His eyes...the hearing of His ears. These are ordinary avenues for a king to obtain information needed to govern, but the future King will have supernatural perception beyond these usual sources.

11:4 poor...meek. The Messiah will reverse Israel's earlier dealings with the underprivileged (3:14,15; 10:2). rod of His mouth. The Branch's rule over the nations will be forceful. The NT uses equivalent terminology to describe the Warrior-King at His triumphant return to earth (Rev. 19:15; cf. 49:2; Ps. 2:9). breath of His lips. This is another figure for the Messiah's means of inflicting physical harm. Paul draws upon this to tell of the destruction of the man of lawlessness at Christ's second advent (2 Thess. 2:8).

11:5 belt...belt. The belt, which gathered the loose garments together, is figurative for the Messiah's readiness for conflict. Righteousness and faithfulness are His preparation. Cf. Eph. 6:14.

11:6-9 Conditions of peace will prevail to the extent that all enmity among men, among animals—rapacious or otherwise—and between men and animals will disappear. Such will characterize the future millennial kingdom in which the Prince of Peace (9:6) will reign.

11:9 full of the knowledge of the LORD. Everyone will know the Lord when He returns to fulfill His New Covenant with Israel (Jer. 31:34).

11:10 in that day. The time of universal peace will come in the future reign of the Lord (see note on 2:12). Gentiles shall seek Him. The Root of Jesse will also attract non-Jews who inhabit the future kingdom (49:6; 52:10; 60:3; 66:18). Paul saw God's ministry to Gentiles during the church age as an additional implication of this verse (Rom. 15:12).

11:11 second time. The first return of Israel to her Land was from Egyptian captivity (Ex. 14:26-29). The second will be from her worldwide dispersion (51:9-11; see note on 10:20).

And gather together [o]the dispersed of Judah
From the four [6]corners of the earth.
13 Also [p]the envy of Ephraim shall depart,
And the adversaries of Judah shall be cut off;
Ephraim shall not envy Judah,
And Judah shall not harass Ephraim.
14 But they shall fly down upon the shoulder of the Philistines toward the west;
Together they shall plunder the [7]people of the East;
[q]They shall lay their hand on Edom and Moab;
And the people of Ammon shall obey them.
15 The LORD [r]will utterly [8]destroy the tongue of the Sea of Egypt;
With His mighty wind He will shake His fist over [9]the River,
And strike it in the seven streams,
And make men cross over [1]dryshod.
16 [s]There will be a highway for the remnant of His people
Who will be left from Assyria,
[t]As it was for Israel
In the day that he came up from the land of Egypt.

A Hymn of Praise

12 And [a]in that day you will say:

"O LORD, I will praise You;
Though You were angry with me,
Your anger is turned away, and You comfort me.
2 Behold, God is my salvation,
I will trust and not be afraid;
[b]For [c]YAH, the LORD, is my strength and song;
He also has become my salvation.' "

3 Therefore with joy you will draw [d]water
From the wells of salvation.

4 And in that day you will say:

[e]"Praise the LORD, call upon His name;
[f]Declare His deeds among the peoples,
Make mention that His [g]name is exalted.
5 [h]Sing to the LORD,
For He has done excellent things;
This is known in all the earth.
6 [i]Cry out and shout, O inhabitant of Zion,
For great is [j]the Holy One of Israel in your midst!"

1 [a] Jer. 50; 51; Matt. 1:11; Rev. 14:8 [1] oracle, prophecy
2 [b] Is. 18:3 [c] Jer. 51:25

11:12 four corners of the earth. This figurative expression depicts the whole world (Rev. 20:8). The faithful remnant of Israel will return from a worldwide dispersion to their Land.

11:13 Ephraim...Judah. These were the two major divisions of Israel after the schism under Jeroboam (1 Kin. 12:16-20). Ephraim was the name representing the northern 10 tribes, and Judah the southern two. When the Messiah returns, they will reunite in a lasting peace.

11:14 west...East. In that day Israel will be free from all foreign oppression and will be the dominant political force.

11:15 the River. Just as He dried up the Red Sea in the deliverance from Egypt, the Lord will in the future dry up the Euphrates in connection with the final deliverance of His people. See note on Rev. 16:12.

11:16 highway. Isaiah has much to say about a way for the remnant returning to Jerusalem (35:8,9; 42:16; 43:19; 48:21; 49:11; 57:14; 62:10).

12:1-6 Two brief songs of praise (vv. 1-3,4-6) which redeemed Israel will sing at the outset of the millennial kingdom. They are the earthly counterpart to the heavenly doxology in Rev. 19:6,7.

12:1 Your anger is turned away. For the future remnant who will recognize the substitutionary death of Christ for their sins, Christ bore God's anger in their place. Otherwise, that anger against them would remain.

12:2 God is my salvation. God will deliver the faithful of Israel from both their political opponents and the spiritual consequences of their sins. YAH, the LORD. Rendered "the LORD JEHOVAH" in the original KJV, the doubling of the personal name of God serves to emphasize His role as the covenant-keeping One. my strength and song...my salvation. Moses and the Israelites sang a similar song to celebrate their deliverance from the Egyptians (Ex. 15:2; cf. Ps. 118:14).

12:3 water...wells. Isaiah's readers doubtless thought of how God satisfied the physical thirst of their ancestors in the Wilderness of Sin (Ex. 17:1-7). The same provision will apply for their descendants when the Messiah comes to deliver the nation (41:17,18; cf. 30:25; 35:6,7; 43:19; Ps. 107:35). The NT amplifies this provision to include the supply of spiritual water for the thirsty soul (John 4:10,14; 7:37; Rev. 7:16,17; 21:6; 22:17).

12:4,5 among the peoples...in all the earth. Following the future Day of the Lord, Israel will testify to the rest of the world about His greatness and majesty. This was His purpose for His earthly people from the beginning.

12:6 O inhabitant of Zion. The Heb. of this verse personifies Zion as a woman by commanding her to "cry out and shout" in celebration of the Lord's greatness.

13:1–23:18 These 11 chapters group together prophecies against foreign nations, much the same as those in Jer. 46–51 and Ezek. 25–32.

13:1–14:27 The section 13:1–14:24 deals specifically with Babylon and vv. 25-27 with Assyria, though Babylon was not yet a world power at the time of this prophecy. Isaiah foresaw a time when Babylon would overthrow the current dominant nation Assyria and be an international force.

13:1 burden. In the sense of his having heavy responsibility to

I have also called [e] My mighty ones

It is used 15 other times in the OT in superscriptions like this (14:28; 15:1; 17:1; 19:1; 21:1,11,13; 22:1; 23:1; Lam. 2:14; Nah. 1:1; Hab. 1:1; Zech. 9:1; 12:1; Mal. 1:1). Babylon...Isaiah...saw. This chapter foretold the city's destruction. Even during the Assyrian Empire the city of Babylon was formidable and stood at the head in the list of Israel's enemies to be conquered.

13:2 Lift up a banner. As in 5:26, the Lord summoned foreign armies to conquer Babylon in all her greatness.

13:3 I have commanded...called. The Lord told of His gathering of armies to overcome Babylon. My anger. God's anger had turned away from Israel (12:1) and toward this oppressive foreign power.

5 They come from a far country,
From the end of heaven—
The [h]LORD and His [3]weapons of indignation,
To destroy the whole [i]land.

6 Wail, [j]for the day of the LORD is at hand!
[k]It will come as destruction from the Almighty.
7 Therefore all hands will be limp,
Every man's heart will melt,
8 And they will be afraid.
[l]Pangs[4] and sorrows will take hold of them;
They will be in pain as a woman in childbirth;
They will be amazed at one another;
Their faces will be like flames.

9 Behold, [m]the day of the LORD comes,
Cruel, with both wrath and fierce anger,
To lay the land desolate;
And He will destroy [n]its sinners from it.
10 For the stars of heaven and their constellations
Will not give their light;
The sun will be [o]darkened in its going forth,
And the moon will not cause its light to shine.

11 "I will [p]punish the world for its evil,
And the wicked for their iniquity;
[q]I will halt the arrogance of the proud,
And will lay low the haughtiness of the [5]terrible.
12 I will make a mortal more rare than fine gold,
A man more than the golden wedge of Ophir.
13 [r]Therefore I will shake the heavens,
And the earth will move out of her place,
In the wrath of the LORD of hosts
And in [s]the day of His fierce anger.
14 It shall be as the hunted gazelle,
And as a sheep that no man [6]takes up;
[t]Every man will turn to his own people,
And everyone will flee to his own land.
15 Everyone who is found will be thrust through,
And everyone who is captured will fall by the sword.
16 Their children also will be [u]dashed to pieces before their eyes;
Their houses will be plundered
And their wives [v]ravished.

armies musters the army." See note at 1:9. This anticipated the end-time coming of the Lord to crush the final Babylon and to dash His enemies in pieces and establish a kingdom over all nations (Rev. 19:11-16).

13:5 From the end of heaven. The fall of Babylon to the Medes was merely a short-term glimpse of the ultimate fall of Babylon at the hands of the universal forces of God (Rev. 18:2).

13:6 the day of the LORD is at hand. The prophecy looked beyond the more immediate conquest of the city by the Medes to a greater day of the Lord and anticipated the final destruction of Babylon by the personal intervention of the Messiah. See note on 2:12.

13:7 heart will melt. Courage was to vanish (19:1; Ezek. 21:7; Nah. 2:10).

13:8 in pain as a woman in childbirth. The comparison of labor pains is often a figure to describe human sufferings in the period just before the final deliverance of Israel (21:3; 26:17,18; 66:7ff.; Jer. 4:31; 13:21; 22:23; Hos. 13:13; Mic. 4:10; 5:2,3; Matt. 24:8; 1 Thess. 5:3). Usually, it was the suffering of Israel, but here it pictured the misery of Babylon.

13:9 destroy its sinners. This occurs when Messiah returns in judgment of all living on earth. In this case the prophet moves forward to the Babylon which is the final evil world city to be destroyed with all its inhabitants (see Rev. 17,18).

13:10 stars...sun...moon. Scripture frequently associates cosmic upheavals with the period of tribulation just before Christ's return (24:23; Ezek. 32:7,8; Joel 2:10,30,31; Amos 8:9; Matt. 24:29; Mark 13:24,25; Luke 21:25; Rev. 6:12-14).

13:11 arrogance. The same sin of pride that led to Israel's judgment (5:21; 9:9) will cause Babylon's downfall (47:5,7,8; Rev. 18:7).

13:12 more rare. Because of this visitation human mortality will be extremely high, but not complete. God will spare a faithful remnant.

13:13 shake the heavens...earth will move. These upheavals are associated with the ones in v. 10 (Joel 2:10; Hag. 2:6; Rev. 6:12-14; cf. 2:19,21; 24:1,19,20; 34:4; 51:6).

13:14 gazelle...sheep. Humans are frightening to the shy gazelle, but indispensable to the helpless sheep. The Babylonians will find the Lord as their enemy and lose Him as their shepherd. All they can do is flee the land.

13:15,16 thrust through...captured...dashed to pieces...plundered...ravished. The prophet for the moment returned to the immediate future, when the Medes committed all those cruel atrocities in captured Babylon. For more brutal acts, see v. 18.

13:17 Medes. This people from an area SW of the Caspian Sea, N of Persia, E of Assyria, and NE of Babylon later allied themselves with the Babylonians to conquer Assyria ca. 610 B.C. and later with the Persians to cause the fall of Babylon (539 B.C.).

And they will have no pity on the fruit of the womb;
Their eye will not spare children.
19 [x]And Babylon, the glory of kingdoms,
The beauty of the Chaldeans'
pride,
Will be as when God overthrew
[y]Sodom and Gomorrah.
20 [z]It will never be inhabited,
Nor will it be settled from generation to generation;
Nor will the Arabian pitch tents
there,
Nor will the shepherds make their sheepfolds there.
21 [a]But wild beasts of the desert will lie there,
And their houses will be full of [g]owls;
Ostriches will dwell there,
And wild goats will caper there.
22 The hyenas will howl in their citadels,
And jackals in their pleasant
palaces.
[b]Her time is near to come,
And her days will not be prolonged."

Mercy on Jacob

14 For the LORD [a]will have mercy on Jacob, and [b]will still choose Israel, and settle them in their own land. [c]The strangers will be joined with them, and they will cling to the house of Jacob. 2 Then people will take them [d]and bring them to their place, and the house of Israel will possess them for servants and maids in the land of the LORD; they will take them captive whose captives they were, [e]and rule over their oppressors.

Fall of the King of Babylon

3 It shall come to pass in the day the LORD gives you rest from your sorrow, and from your fear and the hard bondage in which you were made to serve, 4 that you [f]will take up this proverb against the king of Babylon, and say:

"How the oppressor has ceased,
The [g]golden [1] city ceased!
5 The LORD has broken [h]the staff of
the wicked,
The scepter of the rulers;
6 He who struck the people in wrath with a continual stroke,
He who ruled the nations in anger,
Is persecuted and no one hinders.
7 The whole earth is at rest and quiet;
They break forth into singing.
8 [i]Indeed the cypress trees rejoice over you,
And the cedars of Lebanon,
Saying, 'Since you [2]were cut down,
No woodsman has come up against us.'

9 "Hell [j][3] from beneath is excited about you,
To meet you at your coming;
It stirs up the dead for you,
All the chief ones of the earth;

13:19-22 From the near future, Isaiah returned to the distant future. The ultimate fulfillment of these prophecies of Babylon's desolation will come in conjunction with Babylon's rebuilding and utter destruction when Christ returns (Rev. 14:8; 18:2). Obviously, Isaiah was unable to see the many centuries that separated Babylon's fall to the Medes from the destruction of the final Babylon by God (see Rev. 17,18).

13:19 Sodom and Gomorrah. God will overthrow rebuilt Babylon in the same supernatural way He did these two ancient cities (Gen. 19:24; Rev. 18:8).

13:20 never be inhabited. Though nothing like its glorious past, the site of Babylon has never been void of inhabitants. A city or town of one type or another has always existed there, so this prophecy must point toward a yet future desolation.

13:21,22 wild beasts...jackals. This is the utter devastation referred to in 21:9 and further described in Rev. 18:2 (cf. 34:11-17; Jer. 51:37).

13:22 near to come. As already noted in v. 6, once Babylon becomes great, her days are numbered.

14:1-3 While having some reference to the release from Babylonian captivity, the primary view in this chapter is identified in these opening verses. The prophet looked at the final Babylon at the end of the tribulation. The language is that which characterizes conditions during the millennial kingdom after the judgment of the final Babylon. The destruction of future Babylon is integrally connected with the deliverance of Israel from bondage. Babylon must perish so that the Lord may exalt His people. God's compassion for physical Israel receives fuller development in chaps. 40–46.

14:1 The strangers. These are Jewish proselytes who join themselves to the nation in the final earthly kingdom of Christ.

14:2 take them captive whose captives they were. Here is the great role reversal. Instead of their miserable state of captivity, endured in the tribulation under Antichrist, the Israelites will be the rulers of those nations that once dominated them.

14:3 rest. The future earthly kingdom of Messiah is in view. Cf. Acts 3:19-21.

14:4 you will take up this proverb. The prophet instructed the delivered nation to sing the song of vv. 4-21, celebrating the downfall of the king of Babylon. the king of Babylon. This could refer to the final Antichrist, who will rule Babylon, which will rule the earth (cf. Rev. 17:17,18) oppressor has ceased. The nation that made life bitter for God's people disappeared.

14:6 struck the people...ruled the nations. These picture the tyranny of the Babylonian king.

14:7 The whole earth...at rest and quiet. With the tyrant off the throne, the whole world will have peace. This has to be millennial.

14:9-11 Hell...Sheol. The two Eng. words represent the same Heb. word. Those kings of the nations already in the place of the dead stage a welcome party for the arriving king of Babylon.

It has raised up from their thrones
All the kings of the nations.
10 They all shall [k]speak and say to you:
'Have you also become as weak as we?
Have you become like us?
11 Your pomp is brought down to Sheol,
And the sound of your stringed instruments;
The maggot is spread under you,
And worms cover you.'

The Fall of Lucifer

12 "How[l] you are fallen from heaven,
O [4]Lucifer, son of the morning!
How you are cut down to the ground,
You who weakened the nations!
13 For you have said in your heart:
[m]'I will ascend into heaven,
[n]I will exalt my throne above the stars of God;
I will also sit on the [o]mount of the congregation
[p]On the farthest sides of the north;
14 I will ascend above the heights of the clouds,
[q]I will be like the Most High.'
15 Yet you [r]shall be brought down to Sheol,
To the [5]lowest depths of the Pit.

16 "Those who see you will gaze at you,
And consider you, saying:
'Is this the man who made the earth tremble,
Who shook kingdoms,
17 Who made the world as a wilderness
And destroyed its cities,
Who [6]did not open the house of his prisoners?'

18 "All the kings of the nations,
All of them, sleep in glory,
Everyone in his own house;
19 But you are cast out of your grave
Like an [7]abominable branch,
Like the garment of those who are slain,
[8]Thrust through with a sword,
Who go down to the stones of the pit,
Like a corpse trodden underfoot.
20 You will not be joined with them in burial,
Because you have destroyed your land
And slain your people.
[s]The brood of evildoers shall never be named.
21 Prepare slaughter for his children
[t]Because of the iniquity of their fathers,
Lest they rise up and possess the land,
And fill the face of the world with cities."

Babylon Destroyed

22 "For I will rise up against them,"
says the LORD of hosts,
"And cut off from Babylon [u]the name and [v]remnant,
[w]And offspring and posterity," says the LORD.
23 "I will also make it a possession for the [x]porcupine,
And marshes of muddy water;
I will sweep it with the broom of destruction," says the LORD of hosts.

14:10 Have you become like us? The kings mock the king of Babylon, reminding him that human distinctions are meaningless among the dead.

14:11 maggot. Human pride vanishes for a rotting corpse covered with worms.

14:12-14 fallen from heaven...be like the Most High. Jesus' use of v. 12 to describe Satan's fall (Luke 10:18; cf. Rev. 12:8-10) has led many to see more than a reference to the king of Babylon. Just as the Lord addressed Satan in His words to the serpent (Gen. 3:14,15), this inspired dirge speaks to the king of Babylon and to the devil who energized him. See Ezek. 28:12-17 for similar language to the king of Tyre and Satan behind him.

14:12 heaven. The scene suddenly shifts from the underworld to heaven to emphasize the unbridled pride of the king and Satan energizing him. Lucifer, son of the morning. Lit. "Lucifer" means "shining one," but translators have often rendered it "morning star." Tradition of the time saw the stars as representing gods battling among themselves for places of preeminence.

14:13,14 I will. Five "I wills" emphasize the arrogance of the king of Babylon and of Satan from whom he takes his cue.

14:13 mount of the congregation. This was a mountain in northern Syria, according to local tradition, where the Canaanite gods assembled. The human king aspired to kingship over those gods.

14:15 Sheol...the Pit. Death awaits those who try to be like God (cf. vv. 9,11; Gen. 3:5,22).

14:16-21 The final section of the dirge elaborates on the disgrace of the king, on display before all as an unburied corpse.

14:16 Is this the man...? The complete role reversal from the most powerful to utter humiliation will provoke universal amazement.

14:18 All the kings...sleep in glory. The king of Babylon is the sole exception. The rest of the kings received honorable burials.

14:19 corpse trodden underfoot. Among the ancients, this was the deepest degradation. See note on Eccl. 6:3-6.

14:20 never be named. Because the king of Babylon was an evildoer, he had no monument or posterity to keep his memory alive.

14:22 cut off. Israel will have a remnant, but not Babylon, according the Lord's promise in vv. 22,23. Cf. Rev. 18:2,21

Assyria Destroyed

24 The LORD of hosts has sworn,
saying,
"Surely, as I have thought, so it shall come to pass,
And as I have purposed, so it shall [y]stand:
25 That I will break the [z]Assyrian in My land,
And on My mountains tread him
underfoot.
Then [a]his yoke shall be removed from them,
And his burden removed from their shoulders.
26 This is the [b]purpose that is purposed against the whole
earth,
And this is the hand that is stretched out over all the nations.
27 For the LORD of hosts has
[c]purposed,
And who will annul it?
His hand is stretched out,
And who will turn it back?"

Philistia Destroyed

28 This is the [g]burden which came in the year that [d]King Ahaz died.

29 "Do not rejoice, all you of Philistia, [e]Because the rod that struck you is
broken;
For out of the serpent's roots will come forth a viper,
[f]And its offspring will be a fiery flying serpent.
30 The firstborn of the poor will feed,
And the needy will lie down in safety;
I will kill your roots with famine,
And it will slay your remnant.
31 Wail, O gate! Cry, O city!
All you of Philistia are dissolved;
For smoke will come from the north,
And no one will be alone in his [1]appointed times."

32 What will they answer the messengers of the nation?
That [g]the LORD has founded Zion,
And [h]the poor of His people shall take refuge in it.

Proclamation Against Moab

15 The [a]burden[1] against Moab.

Because in the night [b]Ar of [c]Moab is laid waste
And destroyed,
Because in the night Kir of Moab is laid waste
And destroyed,
2 He has gone up to the [2]temple and Dibon,
To the high places to weep.
Moab will wail over Nebo and over Medeba;
[d]On all their heads will be baldness,
And every beard cut off.
3 In their streets they will clothe themselves with sackcloth;
On the tops of their houses
And in their streets
Everyone will wail, [e]weeping bitterly.
4 Heshbon and Elealeh will cry out,
Their voice shall be heard as far as [f]Jahaz;
Therefore the [3]armed soldiers of
Moab will cry out;
His life will be burdensome to
him.

4 [f] Num. 21:28; 32:3; Jer. 48:34 [3] So with MT, Tg., Vg.; LXX, Syr. loins

14:26 purpose that is purposed. The scope of this judgment against the whole earth represents His final wrath against the ungodly in Israel (5:25; 9:17) and the nations (23:11).

14:28 Ahaz died. The year of Ahaz's death is uncertain. It came when Hezekiah began his reign, either 727 B.C. (2 Kin. 18:1,9,10) or 716/15 B.C. (2 Kin. 18:13).

14:29 Philistia. Israel need not think an alliance with the Philistines would save them from the Assyrians, since Assyria would conquer this neighbor of Israel too. rod...broken. The prophet pictured the Assyrian weakness, their conquest of Philistia notwithstanding.

14:30-32 poor. The poor of Judah who depend on the Lord are to find Him to be a refuge, but the Philistine oppressors are to meet their doom.

14:32 messengers. These were the Philistine envoys who sought an alliance with Israel. Isaiah's answer saw the Lord as Zion's only security.

15:1–16:14. The demise of Moab taught Israel not to depend on that nation any more than others, but to depend on the Lord.

15:1 Moab. Moab was a country about 30 mi. sq., E of the Dead Sea, S of the Arnon River, and N of the Zered River. Ar...Kir. These were the two major cities of Moab.

15:2 Dibon. Moab chose the temple of the Moabite god Chemosh—3 mi. N of the Arnon—as the place of weeping because that god had failed to deliver the nation. Nebo...Medeba. Nebo is the mountain at the N end of the Dead Sea where the Lord took Moses to view the Promised Land (Deut. 34:1). Medeba is 5 mi. SE of Nebo. baldness...every beard. Shaving heads and beards expressed disgrace and humiliation (22:12; Lev. 21:5; Jer. 41:5; 48:37).

15:3 sackcloth. Wearing of sackcloth occurs 46 times in the Bible as a sign of mourning.

15:4 Heshbon...Elealeh...Jahaz. The city Heshbon was just under 20 mi. E of the northern end of the Dead Sea in a territory claimed by both Israel and Moab (Deut. 2:32,33). Elealeh was about a mi. away from Heshbon. The location of Jahaz was over 10 mi. S of Heshbon.

5 "My[g] heart will cry out for Moab;
His fugitives shall flee to Zoar,
Like [4]a three-year-old heifer.
For [h]by the Ascent of Luhith
They will go up with weeping;
For in the way of Horonaim
They will raise up a cry of destruction,
6 For the waters [i]of Nimrim will be desolate,
For the green grass has withered away;
The grass fails, there is nothing green.
7 Therefore the abundance they have gained,
And what they have laid up,
They will carry away to the Brook of the Willows.
8 For the cry has gone all around the borders of Moab,
Its wailing to Eglaim
And its wailing to Beer Elim.
9 For the waters of [5]Dimon will be full of blood;
Because I will bring more upon [5]Dimon,
[j]Lions upon him who escapes from Moab,
And on the remnant of the land."

Moab Destroyed

16 Send [a]the lamb to the ruler of the land,
[b]From [1]Sela to the wilderness,
To the mount of the daughter of Zion.
2 For it shall be as a [c]wandering bird thrown out of the nest;
So shall be the daughters of Moab at the fords of the [d]Arnon.
3 "Take counsel, execute judgment;
Make your shadow like the night in the middle of the day;
Hide the outcasts,
Do not betray him who escapes.
4 Let My outcasts dwell with you, O Moab;
Be a shelter to them from the face of the [2]spoiler.
For the extortioner is at an end,
Devastation ceases,
The oppressors are consumed out of the land.
5 In mercy [e]the throne will be established;
And One will sit on it in truth, in the tabernacle of David,
[f]Judging and seeking justice and hastening [g]righteousness."

6 We have heard of the [h]pride of Moab—
He is very proud—
Of his haughtiness and his pride and his wrath;
[i]But his [3]lies shall not be so.
7 Therefore Moab shall [j]wail for Moab;
Everyone shall wail.
For the foundations [k]of Kir Hareseth you shall mourn;
Surely they are stricken.

8 For [l]the fields of Heshbon languish,
And [m]the vine of Sibmah;
The lords of the nations have

15:5 My heart will cry out. The prophecy expresses much greater sympathy for Moab's plight than for the other nations to be judged, even allowing for a surviving remnant (16:11,14). a three-year-old heifer. This phrase should not be translated, but rather is the proper name of "Eglath-shelishiyah," a city of unknown location. Luhith...Horonaim. These are two more cities whose location is unknown.

15:6 Nimrim. This is possibly the Wadi Numeira, the drying up of whose waters, along with the dead grass, pictures widespread devastation in Moab.

15:7 Brook of the Willows. Probably the Zered River; the refugees from Moab had to cross this to pass over into Edom to escape their invaders.

15:8 Eglaim...Beer Elim. The shouts of the fugitives reached all the way from the northern part of Edom (Eglaim) to its southern extremity (Beer Elim).

15:9 Dimon. Perhaps another spelling of "Dibon" (cf. v. 2), this religious center of heathendom is appropriate as a closing representation of the whole land of Moab. Lions. Flight from invading armies would not bring security, but new dangers from the beasts of the wilderness.

16:1 Send the lamb. This was an action showing submission to an overlord, as Mesha did to Omri, king of Israel (2 Kin. 3:4). Sela. This was a place in Edom not far from Petra (2 Kin. 14:7), from which fugitives of Moab were to send to Judah for help. mount of the daughter of Zion. This speaks figuratively of Jerusalem and her inhabitants.

16:2 fords of the Arnon. The fugitives fled to the S to escape the Assyrians entering Moab from the N.

16:3 night in the middle of the day. Moab asked Judah for shade from the wilting noonday sun, i.e., from their invaders.

16:4 My outcasts. These were likely the Moabites, the speaker being a personification of Moab. "Moab," defines who the outcasts were. Be a shelter. Moab continued its plea to Judah for refuge. Devastation ceases. The prophet anticipated the day when the oppression by the Assyrians would be no more.

16:5 throne...tabernacle of David. The Davidic king will some day sit on His throne in Zion (Amos 9:11,12), ending all injustices such as those committed by the Assyrians.

16:6 pride of Moab...very proud. Though a small nation, Moab's pride was well known (25:10,11; Jer. 48:29,42).

16:7 Kir Hareseth. This is probably the same city called Kir in 15:1.

16:8 Sibmah. Sibmah was a suburb of Heshbon (cf. Jer. 48:32).

broken down its choice plants,
Which have reached to Jazer
And wandered through the wilderness.
Her branches are stretched out,
They are gone over the [n]sea.
9 Therefore I will bewail the vine of Sibmah,
With the weeping of Jazer;
I will drench you with my tears,
[o]O Heshbon and Elealeh;
For [4]battle cries have fallen
Over your summer fruits and your harvest.

10 [p]Gladness is taken away,
And joy from the plentiful field;
In the vineyards there will be no singing,
Nor will there be shouting;
No treaders will tread out wine in the presses;
I have made their shouting cease.
11 Therefore [q]my [5]heart shall resound like a harp for Moab,
And my inner being for [6]Kir Heres.

12 And it shall come to pass,
When it is seen that Moab is weary on [r]the high place,
That he will come to his sanctuary to pray;
But he will not prevail.

13 This is the word which the LORD has spoken concerning Moab since that time. 14 But now the LORD has spoken, saying, "Within three years, [s]as the years of a hired man, the glory of Moab will be despised with all that great multitude, and the remnant will be very small and feeble."

Proclamation Against Syria and Israel

17 The [a]burden [1] against Damascus.

"Behold, Damascus will cease from being a city,
And it will be a ruinous heap.
2 [2]The cities of [b]Aroer are forsaken;
They will be for flocks
Which lie down, and [c]no one will make them afraid.
3 [d]The fortress also will cease from Ephraim,
The kingdom from Damascus,
And the remnant of Syria;
They will be as the glory of the children of Israel,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

4 "In that day it shall come to pass
That the glory of Jacob will [3]wane,
And [e]the fatness of his flesh grow lean.
5 [f]It shall be as when the harvester gathers the grain,
And reaps the heads with his arm;
It shall be as he who gathers heads of grain
In the Valley of Rephaim.
6 [g]Yet gleaning grapes will be left in it,
Like the shaking of an olive tree,
Two or three olives at the top of the uppermost bough,
Four or five in its most fruitful branches,"
Says the LORD God of Israel.

CHAPTER 17

1 [a] Gen. 14:15; 15:2; 2 Kin. 16:9; Jer. 49:23; Amos 1:3-5; Zech. 9:1; Acts 9:2 [1] oracle, prophecy

Jazer...sea. Moab's vines, rather than being on stakes, ran along the ground to Moab's extreme northern border, stretching from the desert on the E to the Dead Sea on the W. This perhaps signified the export of raisins and wine to Judah.

16:9 I will bewail. Isaiah displayed genuine emotion over the destruction of so rich an agricultural resource. This reflected the Lord's response too.

16:10 Gladness...joy. The normal celebration at harvest time is not to take place.

16:11 my heart...my inner being. The prophet and the Lord reflected deeply felt sorrow over this necessary judgment of Moab.

16:12 weary on the high place. Moab's religion had utterly failed. Rather than deliverance, the nation found weariness in their repeated rituals to their national god.

16:14 Within three years. Moab had 3 more years of "glory," perhaps till ca. 715 B.C., when the Assyrian king, Sargon, overran the country. the remnant. Assyria was not to completely obliterate Moab. Babylon received no such promise.

17:1 Damascus. This city served as the capital of Syria (sometimes called "Aram"). Its location NE of Mt. Hermon on the main land route between Mesopotamia and Egypt made it very influential. Its destruction by the Assyrians in 732 B.C. is the subject of this chapter.

17:2 Aroer. Syria's domain extended as far S as Aroer E of the Dead Sea, on the Arnon River (2 Kin. 10:32,33).

17:3 Ephraim. The northern 10 tribes, also known as "Israel," joined with Syria as objects of this oracle. They formed an alliance with Syria to combat the Assyrians, but many of their cites fell victim to the campaign in which Syria fell (see v. 1). remnant of Syria. Syria was to have a remnant, but not a kingdom, left after the Assyrian onslaught.

17:4 glory of Jacob. The waning of this glory pictured the judgment of God against the northern 10 tribes, descendants of Jacob.

17:5 Valley of Rephaim. As harvesters stripped bare that fertile valley W of Jerusalem, so God's judgment would leave nothing fruitful in the northern kingdom.

17:6 Two or three...Four or five. God's judgment against Ephraim was to leave only sparse pieces of her original abundance of olives.

7 In that day a man will [h]look to his Maker,
And his eyes will have respect for the Holy One of Israel.
8 He will not look to the altars,
The work of his hands;
He will not respect what his [i]fingers have made,
Nor the [4]wooden images nor the incense altars.

9 In that day his strong cities will be as a forsaken [5]bough
And [6]an uppermost branch,
Which they left because of the children of Israel;
And there will be desolation.

10 Because you have forgotten [j]the God of your salvation,
And have not been mindful of the Rock of your [7]stronghold,
Therefore you will plant pleasant plants
And set out foreign seedlings;
11 In the day you will make your plant to grow,
And in the morning you will make your seed to flourish;
But the harvest will be a heap of ruins
In the day of grief and desperate sorrow.

12 Woe to the multitude of many people
Who make a noise [k]like the roar of the seas,
And to the rushing of nations
That make a rushing like the rushing of mighty waters!
13 The nations will rush like the rushing of many waters;
But God will [l]rebuke them and they will flee far away,
And [m]be chased like the chaff of the mountains before the wind,
Like a rolling thing before the whirlwind.
14 Then behold, at eventide, trouble!
And before the morning, he is no more.
This is the portion of those who plunder us,
And the lot of those who rob us.

Proclamation Against Ethiopia

CHAPTER 18

18 Woe [a]to the land shadowed with buzzing wings,
Which is beyond the rivers of [1]Ethiopia,
2 Which sends ambassadors by sea,
Even in vessels of reed on the waters, saying,
"Go, swift messengers, to a nation tall and smooth of skin,
To a people terrible from their beginning onward,
A nation powerful and treading down,
Whose land the rivers divide."

3 All inhabitants of the world and dwellers on the earth:
[b]When he lifts up a banner on the mountains, you see it;
And when he blows a trumpet, you hear it.
4 For so the LORD said to me,
"I will take My rest,
And I will [2]look from My dwelling place
Like clear heat in sunshine,
Like a cloud of dew in the heat of harvest."
5 For before the harvest, when the bud is perfect
And the sour grape is ripening in the flower,

1 [a] 2 Kin. 19:9; Is. 20:4, 5; Ezek. 30:4, 5, 9; Zeph. 2:12; 3:10 [1] Heb. Cush
3 [b] Is. 5:26
4 [2] watch

17:7 look to his Maker. In the future, severe judgments are to awaken a remnant of Ephraim to their failure to depend on the Lord. Then they will repent.

17:8 work of his hands. Repentance is to lead to the forsaking of idolatry, which for so long beset the nation (see 2:6-22; 44:9-18).

17:10 forgotten the God of your salvation. Failure to remember God had left Israel unprotected.

17:11 make your plant to grow. The prophet reminded his readers of the futility of trying to meet their needs without the Lord's help.

17:12 multitude of many people. The prophet turned his attention to the coming armies of Judah's enemies and pronounced a "woe" upon them.

17:13 God will rebuke them. God's rebuke put those enemies to flight.

17:14 he is no more. When morning came, the invading force had disappeared. God protects His people.

18:1 buzzing wings. These may speak of Ethiopia's strong armada of ships. Ethiopia. "Cush" renders lit. the Heb. word for Ethiopia. The country was S of Egypt, including territory belonging to modern Ethiopia.

18:2 sea...waters...rivers. These all apparently refer to the Nile River and its tributaries.

18:3 All inhabitants...and dwellers. The prophet calls upon the whole human race to be alert for the signals that God is at work in the world.

18:4 I will take My rest. The Lord will wait patiently until the appropriate time to intervene in human affairs, until sunshine and dew have built to an opportune climactic moment.

He will both cut off the sprigs with pruning hooks
And take away and cut down the branches.
6 They will be left together for the mountain birds of prey
And for the beasts of the earth;
The birds of prey will summer on them,
And all the beasts of the earth will winter on them.

7 In that time [c]a present will be brought to the LORD of hosts
[3]From a people tall and smooth of skin,
And from a people terrible from their beginning onward,
A nation powerful and treading down,
Whose land the rivers divide—
To the place of the name of the LORD of hosts,
To Mount Zion.

Proclamation Against Egypt

19 The [a]burden[1] against Egypt.

Behold, the LORD [b]rides on a swift cloud,
And will come into Egypt;
[c]The idols of Egypt will [2]totter at His presence,
And the heart of Egypt will melt in its midst.

2 "I will [d]set Egyptians against Egyptians;
Everyone will fight against his brother,
And everyone against his neighbor,
City against city, kingdom against kingdom.
3 The spirit of Egypt will fail in its midst;
I will destroy their counsel,
And they will [e]consult the idols and the charmers,
The mediums and the sorcerers.
4 And the Egyptians I will give
[f]Into the hand of a cruel master,
And a fierce king will rule over them,"
Says the Lord, the LORD of hosts.

5 [g]The waters will fail from the sea,
And the river will be wasted and dried up.
6 The rivers will turn foul;
The brooks [h]of defense will be emptied and dried up;
The reeds and rushes will wither.
7 The papyrus reeds by [3]the River, by the mouth of the River,
And everything sown by the River,
Will wither, be driven away, and be no more.
8 The fishermen also will mourn;
All those will lament who cast hooks into the River,
And they will languish who spread nets on the waters.
9 Moreover those who work in [i]fine flax
And those who weave fine fabric will be ashamed;
10 And its foundations will be broken.
All who make wages will be troubled of soul.

11 Surely the princes of [j]Zoan are fools;

18:5 cut off...take away and cut down. As an all-wise farmer, God's pruning activity (i.e., His direct intervention) will be neither too early nor too late.

18:6 birds of prey. Dropping his metaphorical language, Isaiah describes in grotesque language the fallen carcasses of the victims of God's judgment.

18:7 place of the name of the LORD of hosts. Jerusalem was and remains the location on earth where the Lord has chosen to dwell (Deut. 12:5). Isaiah's prediction here extends to the future bringing of tribute to Jerusalem in the Messiah's kingdom.

19:1-4 Disunity and internal strife because of idolatry are to spell the end of Egypt's greatness.

19:1 rides on a swift cloud. Clouds are vehicles for the Lord's coming to execute judgment elsewhere (Pss. 18:10,11; 104:3; Dan. 7:13).

19:2 Egyptians against Egyptians. Noted for its internal strife through the centuries, the nation will experience even worse under God's judgment.

19:3 mediums...sorcerers. Internal strife will lead to disorientation and depression. With nowhere else to turn, the Egyptians will consult spiritualists. Israelites of Isaiah's day did the same (8:19).

19:4 fierce king. Egypt was subject to foreign rule beginning with the Assyrian conquest of the middle-seventh century B.C.

19:5-10 A disruption of the Nile River will wreak havoc in Egypt.

19:5,6 wasted and dried up...dried up. God will act to take away the country's only water resource, the Nile and its tributaries.

19:7 sown by the River. The alluvial deposits left by the flooding of the Nile yielded rich agricultural crops, permitting Egypt to export grain to the rest of the world.

19:8 cast hooks...spread nets. The loss of the Nile's important fishing business would mean a great loss to Egypt's population.

19:9 fine flax...fine fabric. Egypt was famous for its production of linen from flax. Both the growth of the plant and the manufacture of the cloth depended on water.

19:10 foundations. God was to remove the "pillars" on which the working class depended. The word refers either generally to the economic structure of the society or specifically to the upper class which organized the businesses of the land.

19:11-15 God's judgment was to confound Egypt's famed wisdom (cf. 1 Kin. 4:30).

Pharaoh's wise counselors give foolish counsel.
[k]How do you say to Pharaoh, "I am
the son of the wise,
The son of ancient kings?"
12 [l]Where are they?
Where are your wise men?
Let them tell you now,
And let them know what the LORD of hosts has [m]purposed against Egypt.
13 The princes of Zoan have become
fools;
[n]The princes of [4]Noph are deceived;
They have also [5]deluded Egypt,
Those who are the [6]mainstay of its tribes.
14 The LORD has mingled [o]a perverse spirit in her midst;
And they have caused Egypt to err
in all her work,
As a drunken man staggers in his vomit.
15 Neither will there be any work for Egypt,
Which [p]the head or tail,
Palm branch or bulrush, may do.

16 In that day Egypt will [q]be like women, and will be afraid and fear because of the waving of the hand of the LORD of hosts, [r]which He waves over it.
17 And the land of Judah will be a terror to Egypt; everyone who makes mention of it will be afraid in himself, because of the counsel of the LORD of hosts which He has [s]determined against it.

Egypt, Assyria, and Israel Blessed

18 In that day five cities in the land of Egypt will [t]speak the language of Canaan and [u]swear by the LORD of hosts; one will be called the City of [7]Destruction.
19 In that day [v]there will be an altar to the LORD in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar to the [w]LORD at its border.
20 And [x]it will be for a sign and for a witness to the LORD of hosts in the land of Egypt; for they will cry to the LORD because of the oppressors, and He will send them a [y]Savior and a Mighty One, and He will deliver them. 21 Then the LORD will be known to Egypt, and the Egyptians will [z]know the LORD in that day, and [a]will make sacrifice and offering; yes, they will make a vow to the LORD and perform it.
22 And the LORD will strike Egypt, He will strike and [b]heal it; they will return to the LORD, and He will be entreated by them and heal them.
23 In that day [c]there will be a highway from Egypt to Assyria, and the Assyrian will come into Egypt and the Egyptian into Assyria, and the Egyptians will [d]serve with the Assyrians.
24 In that day Israel will be one of three with Egypt and Assyria—a blessing in the 19:11 Zoan. This major city of northern Egypt E of the Nile Delta region was the first large city a Semite would encounter in traveling toward the Nile. "Tanis" was also a name of this city that was a capital of northern Egypt at one point when the country split into two parts.

19:11,12 foolish counsel. Whatever wisdom Egypt's experts may have possessed formerly, they were helpless to deal with the crisis because they were ignorant of the Lord's judgment against the Land.

19:13 Noph. Another name for Memphis, the capital of northern Egypt at one time. This city had leaders who were in a state of confusion regarding a true perspective on Egypt's crisis. mainstay of its tribes. If the cornerstones of a society suffer from delusion, they can do nothing else than delude the people they lead.

19:14,15 The LORD has mingled. The Lord had caused dizziness that resulted in a complete loss of productivity, when the invaders came.

19:16-24 Turning from Egypt's destitution just described in vv. 1-15, the prophet proceeds to describe Egypt's eventual turning to the true God, "in that day" (v. 16), referring to the time of the millennial rule of Christ. These features have not been true of Egypt yet.

19:16 women...be afraid and fear. God's judgment will immobilize mighty Egypt to the point that the nation realizes it is defenseless and helpless.

19:17 Judah...a terror to Egypt. Instead of Judah fearing Egypt, the reverse will be true. God's great power on behalf of Israel will cause this to happen (cf. Ex. 10:7; 12:33). Such will occur at Christ's second advent.

19:18 five cities. Humanly speaking, the chances of even one Egyptian city turning to the Lord were remote, but divinely speaking, there will be 5 times that many. language of Canaan. Egypt is to speak the language of Judah. Not only are they to fear Judah (v. 17), they are also to convert to Judah's form of worship. swear by the LORD of hosts. Egypt will "in that day" turn to God in a dramatic way. This prophecy anticipates the personal reign of the Davidic King on earth. City of Destruction. More probably this was the "City of the Sun," i.e., Heliopolis, which was the home of the Egyptian sun-god (see "Beth Shemesh," Jer. 43:12,13).

19:19 altar...pillar. These speak figuratively of Egypt's conversion to the Lord "in that day" of the Messiah's reign on earth (cf. Gen. 28:22).

19:20 Savior. God is to act on behalf of Egypt as He did earlier in delivering Israel (Judg. 2:18; 3:9,15; 6:7-9; 10:11,12).

19:21 know the LORD in that day. The future kingdom will be a time when everyone will know the Lord, because the New Covenant will dominate (Jer. 31:31-34; Heb. 8:11; cf. 11:9; Hab. 2:14).

19:22 strike and heal. Just as a parent disciplines a child for purposes of betterment, so the Lord had dealt and would deal with Egypt (cf. Hos. 6:1).

19:23 a highway from Egypt to Assyria. The two great warring nations of Isaiah's time are to reach a lasting peace with each other during "that day" of Christ's reign (27:13; cf. 2:2-4).

19:24 a blessing in the midst of the land. Israel "in that day" will become what God intended her to be—a blessing to the rest of the world (Gen. 12:3; 42:6; contra 1:2).

midst of the land, 25 whom the LORD of hosts shall bless, saying, "Blessed is Egypt My people, and Assyria [e]the work of My hands, and Israel My inheritance."

The Sign Against Egypt and Ethiopia

20 In the year that [a]Tartan[1] came to Ashdod, when Sargon the king of Assyria sent him, and he fought against Ashdod and took it, 2 at the same time the LORD spoke by Isaiah the son of Amoz, saying, "Go, and remove [b]the sackcloth from your [2]body, and take your sandals off your feet." And he did so, [c]walking naked and barefoot.

3 Then the LORD said, "Just as My servant Isaiah has walked naked and barefoot three years [d]for a sign and a wonder against Egypt and Ethiopia, 4 so shall the [e]king of Assyria lead away the Egyptians as prisoners and the Ethiopians as captives, young and old, naked and barefoot, [f]with their buttocks uncovered, to the shame of Egypt. 5 [g]Then they shall be afraid and ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation and Egypt their glory. 6 And the inhabitant of this territory will say in that day, 'Surely such is our expectation, wherever we flee for [h]help to be delivered from the king of Assyria; and how shall we escape?' 21 The [1]burden against the Wilderness of the Sea.

As [a]whirlwinds in the South pass through,
So it comes from the desert, from a terrible land.
2 A distressing vision is declared to me;
[b]The treacherous dealer deals treacherously,
And the plunderer plunders.
[c]Go up, O Elam!
Besiege, O Media!
All its sighing I have made to cease.

3 Therefore [d]my loins are filled with pain;
[e]Pangs have taken hold of me, like the pangs of a woman in labor.
I was [2]distressed when I heard it;
I was dismayed when I saw it.
4 My heart wavered, fearfulness frightened me;
[f]The night for which I longed He turned into fear for me.

5 [g] Jer. 51:39; Dan. 5:5

19:25 My people...the work of My hands. Elsewhere Scripture uses these epithets to speak only of Israel (10:24; 29:23; 43:6,7; 45:11; 60:21; 64:8; Pss. 100:3; 110:3; 138:8; Jer. 11:4; Hos 1:10; 2:23). In the future kingdom, Israel is to be God's instrument for drawing other nations into His fold.

20:1 Tartan. The Heb. term is probably not a proper name, but a title designating a commander in the Assyrian army. Ashdod... Sargon. Ashdod was one of the 5 largest Philistine cities, all located SW of Jerusalem. Sargon, mentioned only here in the Bible, was Sargon II, king of Assyria from ca. 722–705 B.C. took it. The Assyrians captured Ashdod in 711 B.C., and so frightened the Egyptians that they backed away, thus teaching Judah the folly of reliance on a foreign power such as Egypt for protection.

20:2 at the same time. Isaiah began his object lesson 3 years (v. 3) before his speech in vv. 3-6, which came just prior to the Assyrian attack in 711 B.C. sackcloth. This apparel may denote Isaiah's mourning (Gen. 37:34; 2 Kin. 6:30) or it may signify his prophetic office (2 Kin. 1:8; Matt. 3:4). naked and barefoot. The Lord commanded stripping off all of his outer garments as an act denoting disgrace and humiliation.

20:3 My servant. This designation places Isaiah among a select group: Others include: Abraham (Gen. 26:24); Moses (Num. 12:7,8; Josh. 1:2,7; 2 Kin. 21:8; Mal. 4:4); Caleb (Num. 14:24); David (2 Sam. 3:18; 7:5,8; 1 Kin. 11:32,34,36,38; 14:8; 2 Kin. 19:34; 20:6; 1 Chr. 17:4,7; Ps. 89:3; Is. 37:35; Jer. 33:21,22,26; Ezek. 34:23,24; Ezek. 37:24,25); Job (Job 1:8; 2:3; 42:7,8); Eliakim (22:20); the Servant of the Lord (42:1; 49:5,6,7; 52:13; 53:11; Zech. 3:8; Matt. 12:18); Israel (41:8,9; 42:19; 43:10; 44:1,2,21,26; 44:21; 45:4; 48:20; 50:10; Jer. 30:10; 46:27,28; Ezek. 28:25; 37:25); Nebuchadnezzar (Jer. 25:9; 27:6; 43:10); Zerubbabel (Hag. 2:23); and Christ's follower (John 12:26). sign...wonder. Isaiah's nakedness and bare feet symbolized the coming desolation and shame of Egypt and Ethiopia at the hands of the Assyrians (cf. 19:4).

20:4 prisoners...captives. Esarhaddon, king of Assyria, fulfilled this prophecy in 671 B.C. (cf. 37:38; 2 Kin. 19:37; Ezra 4:2). Far from being a suitable object of Judah's trust, mighty Egypt will go off in shame.

20:6 how shall we escape? "We" refers to the people of Judah. Trust in Egypt has proven itself misplaced. Is there any adequate source of help?

21:1 Wilderness of the Sea. The prophet referred to an area of southern Babylon near the Persian Gulf known for its fertility. As whirlwinds in the South. The simile drew from the suddenness with which storm winds come from the Negev and sweep through the land of Israel. So sudden is to be Babylon's overthrow.

21:2 Elam...Media. The Elamites and Medes were part of the Persian army that defeated Babylon in 539 B.C.

21:3,4 pain...pangs...fearfulness...fear. The severity of the violence about which Isaiah must prophesy caused him extreme agitation.

21:5 eat and drink...anoint the shield! This part of the oracle recalled Belshazzar's feast in Dan. 5, when amid the celebration came a call to fight the attacking enemy invading the city.

6 For thus has the Lord said to me:
"Go, set a watchman,
Let him declare what he sees."
7 And he saw a chariot with a pair of horsemen,
A chariot of donkeys, and a chariot of camels,
And he listened earnestly with great care.
8 [3]Then he cried, "A lion, my Lord!
I stand continually on the [h]watchtower in the daytime;
I have sat at my post every night.
9 And look, here comes a chariot of men with a pair of horsemen!"
Then he answered and said,
[i]"Babylon is fallen, is fallen!
And [j]all the carved images of her gods
He has broken to the ground."

10 [k]Oh, my threshing and the grain of my floor!
That which I have heard from the LORD of hosts,
The God of Israel,
I have declared to you.

Proclamation Against Arabia

13 [n]The [5]burden against Arabia.

In the forest in Arabia you will lodge,

Bring water to him who is thirsty;
With their bread they met him who fled.
15 For they fled from the swords,
from the drawn sword,
From the bent bow, and from the distress of war.

16 For thus the LORD has said to me: "Within a year, [p]according to the year of a hired man, all the glory of [q]Kedar will fail; 17 and the remainder of the number of archers, the mighty men of the people of Kedar, will be diminished; for the LORD God of Israel has spoken it."

CHAPTER 22

1 [1] oracle, prophecy

21:6 set a watchman. Isaiah stationed a watchman on the city walls.

21:7 chariot...chariot...chariot. Isaiah heard the watchman warn of an approaching military force.

21:8 he cried, "A lion, my Lord." The Dead Sea Scrolls correctly read, "the watchman cried, my LORD." The watchman whom Isaiah had stationed (v. 6) continued his report.

21:9 Babylon is fallen, is fallen! The watchman proclaimed the tragic end of mighty Babylon, which initially fell to the Assyrians in 689 B.C. and again to the Persians in 539 B.C. Yet Isaiah's prediction looked forward to the ultimate fall of the great enemy of God, as verified by John's citation of this verse in Rev. 14:8; 18:2 (cf. Jer. 50:2; 51:8,49).

21:10 my threshing and the grain of my floor! The violent threshing of grain portrayed Babylon's oppression of Israel, and the resultant grain was Israel's deliverance by God. The concise saying offered God's people hope.

21:11 Dumah. This oasis in northern Arabia stood at the intersection of two important routes, one E-W from the Persian Gulf to Petra and the other N-S between the Red Sea and Tadmor. It was about 300 mi. S of Jerusalem. Seir. Another name for Edom—located S of the Dead Sea and the home of Esau's descendants—this is the source of an inquiry directed to Isaiah. what of the night? How long was the Assyrian oppression to last?

21:12 morning...night. The prophet promises a short-lived deliverance from Assyrian oppression, but quickly added the threat of Babylonian domination to follow soon.

21:13 forest. "Thicket," referring to scrub brush, is a better rendering since Arabia has few or no forests. Dedanites. Dedan was on the route to the Red Sea about 290 mi. SE of Dumah, in the northwestern part of the Arabian desert.

21:14 Tema. Tema was on the Red Sea route about 200 mi. SE of Dumah, in the northwestern part of the Arabian desert. water... bread. The prophet indicated that those fleeing the Assyrian army will need supplies.

21:15 they fled. The interior area of Arabia was a place of refuge for fugitives fleeing from the sophisticated armament of the Assyrians.

21:16 Kedar. Kedar covers the area in the northwestern part of the Arabian desert. glory of Kedar will fail. This prophecy anticipated the conquest of the region by Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon (Jer. 49:28).

22:1 Valley of Vision. This referred to Israel, since God often revealed Himself to Jerusalem in visions. However, the unrepentant inhabitants displayed a marked lack of vision in their oblivion to the destruction that awaited them. What ails you...? The prophet reproached the people for celebrating with wild parties when they should have been in deep repentance because of their sins. Apparently he anticipated a condition that arose in conjunction with Jerusalem's fall to the Babylonians in 586 B.C. But similar incursions by the Assyrians in either 711 or 701 B.C., from which the Lord delivered the city, had prompted the revelry among the people.

A [2]tumultuous city, [a]a joyous city?
Your slain men are not slain with the sword,
Nor dead in battle.
3 All your rulers have fled together;
They are captured by the archers.
All who are found in you are bound together;
They have fled from afar.
4 Therefore I said, "Look away from me,
[b]I will weep bitterly;
Do not labor to comfort me
Because of the plundering of the daughter of my people."

5 [c]For it is a day of trouble and treading down and perplexity
[d]By the Lord GOD of hosts
In the Valley of Vision—
Breaking down the walls
And of crying to the mountain.
6 [e]Elam bore the quiver
With chariots of men and horsemen,
And [f]Kir uncovered the shield.
7 It shall come to pass that your choicest valleys
Shall be full of chariots,
And the horsemen shall set themselves in array at the gate.

8 [g]He removed the [3]protection of Judah.
You looked in that day to the armor [h]of the House of the Forest;
9 [i]You also saw the [4]damage to the city of David,
That it was great;
And you gathered together the waters of the lower pool.
10 You numbered the houses of Jerusalem,
And the houses you broke down
To fortify the wall.
11 [j]You also made a reservoir between the two walls
For the water of the old [k]pool.
But you did not look to its Maker,
Nor did you have respect for Him who fashioned it long ago.

12 And in that day the Lord GOD of hosts
[l]Called for weeping and for mourning,
[m]For baldness and for girding with sackcloth.
13 But instead, joy and gladness,
Slaying oxen and killing sheep,
Eating meat and [n]drinking wine:
[o]"Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die!"

14 [p]Then it was revealed in my hearing by the LORD of hosts,
"Surely for this iniquity there [q]will be no atonement for you,
Even to your death," says the Lord GOD of hosts.

The Judgment on Shebna

15 Thus says the Lord GOD of hosts:

"Go, proceed to this steward,

14 [p] Is. 5:9 [q] 1 Sam. 3:14; Ezek. 24:13
15 [r] 2 Kin. 18:37; Is. 36:3

22:2 sword...battle. Death came through starvation or disease as the Babylonians besieged the city.

22:3 rulers have fled. Rather than defend the city the way they ought, the leaders fled to save their own necks and in doing so, were captured (2 Kin. 25:4-7).

22:4 weep bitterly. Isaiah's pain was deep. He could not participate in the revelry because he saw the reality of the spiritual issues.

22:5 day...Lord GOD of hosts. On a former occasion when the city was about to fall, terror had reigned among the citizens. It was to occur again, leaving no room for merriment.

22:6 Elam...Kir. These lands had representatives in the Assyrian army that besieged Jerusalem.

22:7 choicest valleys. Valleys lying both in and around Jerusalem are to be full of enemy troops.

22:8 House of the Forest. Constructed by Solomon out of cedars (1 Kin. 7:2-6), the structure housed weaponry (1 Kin. 10:17) and other valuables (2 Chr. 9:20; Is. 39:2).

22:9 city of David. Jerusalem bore this name (2 Sam. 5:6,7,9). See note on 29:1. lower pool. The pool of Siloam furnished the city's water supply. Hezekiah's lengthy underground conduit fed the pool from the Gihon Spring.

22:10 fortify the wall. Hezekiah rebuilt the damaged wall (2 Chr. 32:5), but did so while trusting God. His faith contrasts with that of the people Isaiah currently addresses (v. 11b).

22:11 old pool. This refers to the Gihon Spring, which the prophet sometimes referred to as the "upper pool" (7:3; 36:2; cf. 2 Kin. 18:17). did not look to its Maker. Preparations for the city's defense were purely external. The people gave no thought to the Creator of the city, the pool, or the present crisis (cf. 31:1), against whom their physical defenses were useless.

22:12,13 sackcloth...joy and gladness. In the face of a crisis that required genuine repentance, the people responded with hilarity and self-indulgence. Contrast this spirit with the legitimate joy and gladness of God's people in 35:10; 51:11.

22:13 Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die! Paul cites the same philosophy (1 Cor. 15:32): If there is no resurrection, enjoyment in this life is all that matters. It utterly disregards God's eternal values.

22:14 no atonement. The Lord's prediction about the outcome of Isaiah's ministry (6:9,10) found fulfillment.

22:15 Shebna, who is over the house. Possibly of Egyptian extraction, this man was second in authority only to the king. Other OT references to Shebna refer to him as a "scribe" (36:22; 37:2; 2 Kin. 18:37; 19:2), his position after his demotion from steward as prophesied by Isaiah (see v. 19).

16 'What have you here, and whom have you here,
That you have hewn a sepulcher here,
As he [s]who hews himself a sepulcher on high,
Who carves a tomb for himself in a rock?
17 Indeed, the LORD will throw you away violently,
O mighty man,
[t]And will surely seize you.
18 He will surely turn violently and toss you like a ball
Into a large country;
There you shall die, and there
[u]your glorious chariots
Shall be the shame of your master's house.
19 So I will drive you out of your office,
And from your position [5]he will pull you down.

20 'Then it shall be in that day,
That I will call My servant
[v]Eliakim the son of Hilkiah;
21 I will clothe him with your robe
And strengthen him with your belt;
I will commit your responsibility into his hand.
He shall be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem
And to the house of Judah.
22 The key of the house of David
I will lay on his [w]shoulder;
So he shall [x]open, and no one shall shut;
And he shall shut, and no one shall open.
23 I will fasten him as [y]a peg in a secure place,
And he will become a glorious throne to his father's house.

24 'They will hang on him all the glory of his father's house, the offspring and the posterity, all vessels of small quantity, from the cups to all the pitchers. 25 In that day,' says the LORD of hosts, 'the peg that is fastened in the secure place will be removed and be cut down and fall, and the burden that was on it will be cut off; for the LORD has spoken.' "

Proclamation Against Tyre

23 The [a]burden[1] against Tyre.

Wail, you ships of Tarshish!
For it is laid waste,
So that there is no house, no harbor;
From the land of [2]Cyprus it is revealed to them.

2 Be still, you inhabitants of the coastland,
You merchants of Sidon,
[3]Whom those who cross the sea have filled.
3 And on great waters the grain of Shihor,

CHAPTER 23

1 [a] Jer. 25:22; 47:4; Ezek. 26–28; Amos 1:9; Zech. 9:2, 4
[1] oracle, prophecy
[2] Heb. Kittim, western lands, especially Cyprus
2 [3] So with MT, Vg.; LXX, Tg. Passing over the water; DSS Your messengers passing over the sea

22:16 hewn a sepulcher. Shebna arranged construction of a tomb fit for a king as a memorial for himself, when he should have been attending to the spiritual affairs of Judah. The prophet condemns his arrogance.

22:17 mighty man. Isaiah referred to Shebna's glorious estimate of himself.

22:18 large country...die...shame. Far from receiving a luxurious burial in Jerusalem, Shebna died a shameful death in a foreign country.

22:19 drive you out of your office. Arrogance caused Shebna's demotion from steward to scribe some time later in Hezekiah's reign but before 701 B.C. (36:1,2).

22:20 My servant Eliakim. Eliakim, who replaced Shebna as steward or prime minister, was highly honored in being called "My servant" (see note on 20:3).

22:21 father...Judah. The steward had supreme authority under the king's oversight.

22:22 key of the house of David. This authority to admit or refuse admittance into the king's presence evidenced the king's great confidence in Eliakim. Jesus applied this terminology to Himself as one who could determine who would enter His future Davidic kingdom (Rev. 3:7).

22:23 a glorious throne. The "throne" symbolized the honor Eliakim was to bring to his family.

22:24 hang on him. Returning to the figure of a peg (v. 23), Isaiah noted how Eliakim's posterity will use him to gain glory for themselves.

22:25 peg...removed. After a time of faithful service, Eliakim faltered and fell, and all "hanging" on him fell as well.

23:1 Tyre. A Phoenician seaport on the Mediterranean Sea, located about 35 mi. N of Mt. Carmel and 28 mi. W of Mt. Hermon, Tyre supplied lumber for King Solomon's temple (1 Kin. 5:1,7-12) and sailors for his navy (1 Kin. 9:26,27). ships of Tarshish. Tarshish was most likely in Spain, so "ships of Tarshish" were large trading vessels capable of making distant voyages on the open sea all the way to the port of Tyre. The OT refers to them frequently (2:16; 60:9; 1 Kin. 10:22; 22:48; Ps. 48:7; Ezek. 27:25; Jon. 1:3). laid waste. Tyre was under siege 5 times between this prophecy and 332 B.C. Only the last of these attacks (in 332 B.C., by Alexander the Great) completely leveled and subdued the city. Ezekiel prophesied this destruction in Ezek. 26:3–27:36. no house, no harbor. Weary from their long, difficult journey, sailors would find no customary haven of rest upon arrival at their destination, Tyre. Cyprus. Upon reaching this island in the eastern Mediterranean, the seamen would learn of Tyre's overthrow.

23:2 Sidon. Sidon was the other important Phoenician seaport, along with Tyre. Here it represented the rest of Phoenicia as reflecting the country's response to Tyre's overthrow.

23:3 Shihor...the River. Phoenicians carried much grain grown in Egypt—represented by "Shihor"—aboard their ships. They also bought and sold much of the commodity.

The harvest of [4]the River, is her revenue;
And [b]she is a marketplace for the nations.

4 Be ashamed, O Sidon;
For the sea has spoken,
The strength of the sea, saying,
"I do not labor, nor bring forth children;
Neither do I rear young men,
Nor bring up virgins."
5 [c]When the report reaches Egypt,
They also will be in agony at the report of Tyre.

6 Cross over to Tarshish;
Wail, you inhabitants of the coastland!
7 Is this your [d]joyous city,
Whose antiquity is from ancient days,
Whose feet carried her far off to dwell?
8 Who has taken this counsel against Tyre, [e]the crowning city,
Whose merchants are princes,
Whose traders are the honorable of the earth?
9 The LORD of hosts has [f]purposed it,
To [5]bring to dishonor the [g]pride of all glory,
To bring into contempt all the honorable of the earth.

10 Overflow through your land like [6]the River,
O daughter of Tarshish;
There is no more [7]strength.
11 He stretched out His hand over the sea,
He shook the kingdoms;
The LORD has given a commandment [h]against Canaan
To destroy its strongholds.
12 And He said, "You will rejoice no more,
O you oppressed virgin daughter of Sidon.
Arise, [i]cross over to Cyprus;
There also you will have no rest."

13 Behold, the land of the [j]Chaldeans,
This people which was not;
Assyria founded it for [k]wild beasts of the desert.
They set up its towers,
They raised up its palaces,
And brought it to ruin.

14 [l]Wail, you ships of Tarshish!
For your strength is laid waste.

15 Now it shall come to pass in that day that Tyre will be forgotten seventy years, according to the days of one king. At the end of seventy years it will happen to Tyre as in the song of the harlot:

16 "Take a harp, go about the city,
You forgotten harlot;
Make sweet melody, sing many songs,
That you may be remembered."

17 And it shall be, at the end of seventy years, that the LORD will deal with Tyre. She will return to her hire, and [m]commit fornication with all the kingdoms of the world on the face of the earth. 18 Her gain and her pay [n]will be set apart for the LORD; it will not be treasured nor laid up, for her gain will be for those who dwell before the LORD, to eat sufficiently, and for [8]fine clothing.

17 [m] Rev. 17:2

23:4 labor...bring forth children. Isaiah spoke of barrenness, labor, and childbirth frequently (7:14; 8:3; 9:6; 26:16-18; 37:3; 44:3-5; 45:10,11; 47:8; 49:21; 54:1-3; 66:9). Here the figure described Tyre, "the strength of the sea," bemoaning her desolate condition.

23:7 from ancient days. Tyre was a very old city, dating from about two millennia before Christ.

23:6,7 Tarshish...far off to dwell. Tyre's refugees had traveled throughout the Mediterranean world (see v. 1). They too lamented the city's fall.

23:8 crowning city...princes...honorable. Tyre had very high international prestige.

23:9 the pride of all glory. This furnished the reason the Lord of Hosts brought the overthrow of Tyre—their arrogance stemming from the city's prestige. They were foolish to rely on human glory.

23:10 no more strength. The oracle invited the colonies of Tyre to exercise their freedom in taking advantage of the city's fall.

23:11 the LORD has given a commandment against Canaan. The Lord had caused the downfall of the territory of Canaan, which included Tyre and Sidon.

23:12 virgin daughter of Sidon. A city once noted for its freshness and revelry (cf. v. 7) will become like a used-up old woman, piecing together what is left. God used the Assyrians to crush her (contrast the virgin daughter of Zion in 37:22).

23:13 Chaldeans...Assyria. The example of the Chaldeans, another name for the Babylonians, reminded Tyre of their hopelessness against Assyria. Assyria ravaged Babylon in 689 B.C.

23:15 seventy years. The devastation of Tyre was not permanent. A little village remains on the site of the ancient city to the present day. The time frame of the 70 years is obscure.

23:15,16 song of the harlot...forgotten...remembered. Harlots sang to draw attention to themselves, attention not so hard to obtain in ancient days. Like those harlots, the people of Tyre were invited to sing songs drawing attention to their earlier prosperity.

23:17 the LORD will deal. With God's help, the city was to return.

23:18 set apart for the LORD. Even Tyre's sinful gain was to support Judah as her colonies once supported her.

Impending Judgment on the Earth

CHAPTER 24

24 Behold, the LORD makes the earth empty and makes it waste,
Distorts its surface
And scatters abroad its inhabitants.
2 And it shall be:
As with the people, so with the [a]priest;
As with the servant, so with his master;
As with the maid, so with her mistress;
[b]As with the buyer, so with the seller;
As with the lender, so with the borrower;
As with the creditor, so with the debtor.
3 The land shall be entirely emptied and utterly plundered,
For the LORD has spoken this word.

4 The earth mourns and fades away,
The world languishes and fades away;
The [c]haughty[1] people of the earth languish.
5 [d]The earth is also defiled under its inhabitants,
Because they have [e]transgressed the laws,
Changed the ordinance,
Broken the [f]everlasting covenant.
6 Therefore [g]the curse has devoured the earth,
And those who dwell in it are [2]desolate.
Therefore the inhabitants of the earth are [h]burned,
And few men are left.
7 [i]The new wine fails, the vine languishes,
All the merry-hearted sigh.
8 The mirth [j]of the tambourine ceases,
The noise of the jubilant ends,
The joy of the harp ceases.
9 They shall not drink wine with a song;
Strong drink is bitter to those who drink it.
10 The city of confusion is broken down;
Every house is shut up, so that none may go in.
11 There is a cry for wine in the streets,
All joy is darkened,
The mirth of the land is gone.
12 In the city desolation is left,
And the gate is stricken with destruction.
13 When it shall be thus in the midst of the land among the people,
[k]It shall be like the shaking of an olive tree,
Like the gleaning of grapes when the vintage is done.

14 They shall lift up their voice, they shall sing;
For the majesty of the LORD
They shall cry aloud from the sea.
15 Therefore [l]glorify the LORD in the dawning light,
[m]The name of the LORD God of Israel in the coastlands of the sea.
16 From the ends of the earth we have heard songs:
"Glory to the righteous!"
But I said, [3]"I am ruined, ruined!
Woe to me!

15 [l] Is. 25:3 [m] Mal. 1:11
16 [3] Lit. Leanness to me, leanness to me

24:1–27:13 These 4 chapters give praise to God for His future victory over all enemies and the final deliverance of Israel in the Day of the Lord. The judgments in this chapter (24) look forward to the tribulation as described in Rev. 6ff.

24:1 empty...waste, distorts...scatters. The prophet generalized and broadened the destruction about which he had written more specifically in chaps. 13–23. The Lord is to deal with the whole earth more severely than He did at the tower of Babel or through the Noahic Flood.

24:2 people...priest...creditor...debtor. Neither rank, wealth, nor power were able to deliver from God's judgment.

24:3 the LORD has spoken. Isaiah used this expression or a comparable one 9 other times to emphasize the certainty of his predictions (1:20; 21:17; 22:25; 25:8; 37:22; 38:7; 38:15; 40:5; 58:14).

24:4 haughty people. The prophet again called attention to pride as the reason for God's judgment (cf. 23:9).

24:5 everlasting covenant. Likely, this referred to the Abrahamic Covenant, frequently referred to as "everlasting" (cf. Gen. 17:7,13,19; 1 Chr. 16:15,17; Pss. 105:8,10; 111:5,9), which contained devotion to God's moral law and salvation by faith in Him.

24:6 few men are left. This Gentile remnant differed from that of Israel. Presumably they will join in support of Israel when the Messiah returns.

24:7-9 merry-hearted sigh. The future day of judgment will terminate all merriment derived from natural sources. Cf. Rev. 18:22.

24:10 Every house. Houses normally provided security from outside harm, but they became inaccessible.

24:13 shaking of an olive tree. The same figure spoke of leanness in the judgment against Ephraim in 17:6.

24:14 lift up their voice...sing. The songs of the godly remnant (cf. v. 6), celebrating God's righteous judgment, replace the drunken music (cf. v. 9).

24:15 glorify the LORD. This call summoned all people worldwide to attribute to the Lord what was due Him.

24:16 Glory to the righteous! "Righteous" refers to God. But I. Isaiah could yet join in the celebration of God's glory because he pondered the grief and corruption in the world before that final celebration of God's victory.

[n] The treacherous dealers have dealt treacherously,
Indeed, the treacherous dealers have dealt very treacherously."

17 [o] Fear and the pit and the snare
Are upon you, O inhabitant of the earth.
18 And it shall be
That he who flees from the noise of the fear
Shall fall into the pit,
And he who comes up from the midst of the pit
Shall be [4] caught in the snare;
For [p] the windows from on high are open,
And [q] the foundations of the earth are shaken.

19 [r] The earth is violently broken,
The earth is split open,
The earth is shaken exceedingly.
20 The earth shall [s] reel [5] to and fro like a drunkard,
And shall totter like a hut;
Its transgression shall be heavy upon it,
And it will fall, and not rise again.

21 It shall come to pass in that day
That the LORD will punish on high the host of exalted ones,
And on the earth [t] the kings of the earth.
22 They will be gathered together,
As prisoners are gathered in the [6] pit,
And will be shut up in the prison;
After many days they will be punished.
23 Then the [u] moon will be disgraced
And the sun ashamed;
For the LORD of hosts will [v] reign
On [w] Mount Zion and in Jerusalem
And before His elders, gloriously.

Praise to God

25 O LORD, You are my God.
[a] I will exalt You,
I will praise Your name,
[b] For You have done wonderful things;
[c] Your counsels of old are faithfulness and truth.
2 For You have made [d] a city a ruin,
A fortified city a ruin,
A palace of foreigners to be a city no more;
It will never be rebuilt.
3 Therefore the strong people will [e] glorify You;
The city of the [1] terrible nations will fear You.
4 For You have been a strength to the poor,
A strength to the needy in his distress,
[f] A refuge from the storm,
A shade from the heat;
For the blast of the terrible ones is as a storm against the wall.
5 You will reduce the noise of aliens,
As heat in a dry place;
As heat in the shadow of a cloud,
The song of the terrible ones will be [2] diminished.

6 And in [g] this mountain

CHAPTER 25

1 [a] Ex. 15:2 [b] Ps. 98:1 [c] Num. 23:19
2 [d] Is. 21:9; 23:13; Jer. 51:37
3 [e] Is. 24:15; Rev. 11:13 [1] terrifying
4 [f] Is. 4:6
5 [2] humbled
6 [g] [Is. 2:2-4; 56:7]

24:17,18 pit...snare. The figure of an animal caught in a trap set by humans frequently symbolized the principle that life is a series of inescapable traps (2 Sam. 22:6; Job 18:8-10; 22:10; Pss. 18:5; 64:5; 106:36; 124:7; Jer. 48:43,44; Lam. 3:47; Amos 5:19).

24:18 windows from on high. In Noah's day, God judged with a flood (Gen. 7:11). He will judge again from heaven, but not with a flood. Cf. Rev. 6:13,14; 8:3-13; 16:1-21. foundations of the earth. Unparalleled earthquakes will mark the future visitation during and after the fulfillment of Daniel's 70-week prophecy (see note on 13:13; cf. Matt. 24:7; Rev. 6:12,14; 8:5; 11:19; 16:18).

24:20 drunkard...hut. Two more comparisons picture the ultimate collapse of the presumably strong and dependable planet earth: a staggering drunkard and a flimsy lean-to hut.

24:21 the host of exalted ones...kings. In the climactic phase of the Day of the Lord, He will strike against rebelling forces, both angelic (Eph. 6:12) and human. See note on 2:12.

24:22 shut up in the prison. The NT teaches more about the imprisonment of fallen angels before their final assignment to the lake of fire (2 Pet. 2:4; Jude 6; Rev. 9:2,3,11; 11:7; 17:8; 20:1-10). It does the same regarding unbelieving humans (Luke 16:19-31; Rev. 20:11-15).

24:23 moon...disgraced...sun ashamed. In the eternal state after Christ's millennial reign, the glory of God and of the Lamb will replace the sun and moon as sources of light (Rev. 21:23). reign...in Jerusalem. In Rev. 11:15-17; 19:6,16 (cf. Luke 1:31-33), John confirmed this clear prophecy of Messiah's future earthly reign in Jerusalem.

25:1 wonderful things; Your counsels of old. Isaiah responded to God's final judgment of the world (chap. 24) with praise to Him for planning His actions long before their implementation.

25:2 a city a ruin...never be rebuilt. The prophet did not stipulate which city, but a prophecy of Babylon's final destruction is in keeping with the context (21:9; cf. Jer. 51:37; Rev. 18).

25:3 strong people...terrible nations. When Christ reigns on earth, nations from the whole world will glorify and fear Him (see 24:14-16).

25:4 poor...needy. Another indicator of God's worthiness to be glorified is His upholding of the oppressed (cf. 11:4; 14:32).

25:4,5 storm...heat. Two weather extremes of Judah's climate illustrate how God will harbor the poor and needy: the sudden thunderstorm and the relentless heat.

25:6 this mountain. In the kingdom the Lord will host His great banquet on Mt. Zion for the faithful remnant (see notes on 1:27; 2:2).

[h]The LORD of hosts will make for [i]all people
A feast of [3]choice pieces,
A feast of [4]wines on the lees,
Of fat things full of marrow,
Of well-refined wines on the lees.
7 And He will destroy on this mountain
The surface of the covering cast over all people,
And [j]the veil that is spread over all nations.
8 He will [k]swallow up death forever,
And the Lord GOD will [l]wipe away tears from all faces;
The rebuke of His people
He will take away from all the earth;
For the LORD has spoken.

9 And it will be said in that day:
"Behold, this is our God;
[m]We have waited for Him, and He will save us.
This is the LORD;
We have waited for Him;
[n]We will be glad and rejoice in His salvation."

10 For on this mountain the hand of the LORD will rest,
And [o]Moab shall be trampled down under Him,
As straw is trampled down for the refuse heap.
11 And He will spread out His hands in their midst
As a swimmer reaches out to swim,
And He will bring down their [p]pride
Together with the trickery of their hands.
12 The [q]fortress of the high fort of your walls
He will bring down, lay low,
And bring to the ground, down to the dust.

A Song of Salvation

26 In [a]that day this song will be sung in the land of Judah:

"We have a strong city;
[b]God will appoint salvation for walls and bulwarks.
2 [c]Open the gates,
That the righteous nation which [1]keeps the truth may enter in.
3 You will keep him in perfect [d]peace,
Whose mind is stayed on You,
Because he trusts in You.
4 Trust in the LORD forever,
[e]For in YAH, the LORD, is [2]everlasting strength.
5 For He brings [3]down those who dwell on high,
[f]The lofty city;
He lays it low,
He lays it low to the ground,
He brings it down to the dust.
6 The foot shall [4]tread it down—
The feet of the poor
And the steps of the needy."

7 The way of the just is uprightness;
[g]O Most Upright,
You [5]weigh the path of the just.

25:7 covering...veil. God will remove the death shrouds from those in attendance at His banquet.

25:8 swallow up death. God will swallow up death, which itself functions as a swallower of human beings (5:14; Prov. 1:12). Paul notes the fulfillment of this promise in the resurrection of Christ (1 Cor. 15:54). wipe away tears. The Lord God will remove the sorrow associated with death (cf. 65:19). Revelation alludes to the tender action of this verse twice—once in 7:17 to describe the bliss of the redeemed in heaven, and once in 21:4 to describe ideal conditions in the New Jerusalem. rebuke...He will take away. Israel will be the head of the nations and no longer the tail (Deut. 28:13).

25:9 waited for Him. To wait for God entails an ultimate trust in Him, not becoming impatient when His timetable for final salvation differs from ours (cf. 26:8; 33:2; 40:31).

25:10 Moab. Moab represented the rest of the nations as does Edom elsewhere (34:5-15; 63:1-6; Obad. 1-9).

25:12 fortress...high fort...walls. Moabite cities had highly fortified and elevated walls. Even these will not withstand God's judgment.

26:1-4 The redeemed remnant will sing praise to God over their impregnable city, Jerusalem.

26:1 strong city. In contrast to the typical city of confusion (24:10; 25:2; 26:5) that was doomed, God has a future city of prominence, the millennial Jerusalem (Zech. 14:11).

26:2 Open the gates. Isaiah envisions the future Jerusalem, where only righteous Israel may enter. The redeemed remnant from other nations will come periodically to worship (Zech. 14:16-19).

26:3 perfect peace...trusts in You. A fixed disposition of trust in the Lord brings a peace that the wicked can never know (48:22; 57:21). Such reliance precludes double mindedness (James 1:6-8) and serving two masters (Matt. 6:24).

26:4 everlasting strength. Lit. the expression is "Rock of Ages," a rocky cliff where the trusting one may find shelter from attackers (cf. 12:2).

26:5,6 those who dwell on high...poor. The arrogant inhabit the lofty city during its overthrow; the humble inhabit the strong city (v. 1) in its exaltation (cf. James 1:9,10; 1 Pet. 5:5).

26:7 uprightness...weigh. The Heb. for "uprightness" means "straight," and the meaning of "weigh" is "make level." In a land of hilly, twisting roads, he spoke of a straight and level path for the feet of the poor and needy (cf. 40:3,4; 42:16; 45:13).

8 Yes, [h]in the way of Your judgments,
O LORD, we have [i]waited for You;
The desire of our soul is for Your name
And for the remembrance of You.
9 [j]With my soul I have desired You in the night,
Yes, by my spirit within me I will seek You early;
For when Your judgments are in the earth,
The inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness.

10 [k]Let grace be shown to the wicked,
Yet he will not learn righteousness;
In [l]the land of uprightness he will deal unjustly,
And will not behold the majesty of the LORD.
11 LORD, when Your hand is lifted up,
[m]they will not see.
But they will see and be ashamed
For [6]their envy of people;
Yes, the fire of Your enemies shall devour them.

12 LORD, You will establish peace for us,
For You have also done all our works [7]in us.
13 O LORD our God, [n]masters besides You
Have had dominion over us;
But by You only we make mention of Your name.
14 They are dead, they will not live;
They are deceased, they will not rise.
Therefore You have punished and destroyed them,
And made all their memory to [o]perish.

15 You have increased the nation, O LORD,
You have [p]increased the nation;
You are glorified;
You have expanded all the [8]borders of the land.

16 LORD, [q]in trouble they have visited You,
They poured out a prayer when Your chastening was upon them.
17 As [r]a woman with child
Is in pain and cries out in her [9]pangs,
When she draws near the time of her delivery,
So have we been in Your sight, O LORD.
18 We have been with child, we have been in pain;
We have, as it were, [1]brought forth wind;
We have not accomplished any deliverance in the earth,
Nor have [s]the inhabitants of the world fallen.

19 [t]Your dead shall live;
Together with [2]my dead body they shall arise.
[u]Awake and sing, you who dwell in dust;
For your dew is like the dew of herbs,
And the earth shall cast out the dead.

Take Refuge from the Coming Judgment

20 Come, my people, [v]enter your chambers,
And shut your doors behind you;
Hide yourself, as it were, [w]for a little moment,
Until the indignation is past.

26:8 waited for You. The future remnant divulges the key to its redemption—their complete dependence on the Lord, not humanly devised schemes.

26:9 in the night...early. The pious long for God at all times. judgments...learn righteousness. God's punishing hand benefits sinners in leading them to repentance.

26:10 not learn righteousness. God evidences His love and mercy toward other wicked ones, but they turn their back on it.

26:11 they will not see...they will see. The wicked, who are blind to God's authority and imminent judgment upon them, will be conscious of His compassion for His people Israel, to their own shame.

26:12 will establish peace. Though Israel's immediate future looks bleak, Isaiah expresses strong confidence that the nation will ultimately prosper.

26:13 masters besides You. Israel's history was replete with periods of foreign domination by the likes of Egypt and Assyria.

26:14 they will not rise. These foreign overlords are to be a thing of the past; they are not to appear again on the earthly scene.

26:15 have increased the nation. With prophetic certainty from the perspective of Israel's future restoration, Isaiah saw the expansion of Israel's borders as an accomplished fact.

26:16 trouble...chastening. The hard experiences of Israel's history drove her to call on God.

26:17,18 woman with child. Israel's tumultuous history is compared to a pregnant woman in labor.

26:18 not accomplished any deliverance. All the nation's effort was to no avail because they did not depend on the Lord.

26:19 dead shall live. This speaks of the raising of corporate Israel to participate in the great future banquet (cf. Ezek. 37). Daniel 12:2 speaks of the resurrection of individual OT saints.

26:20 for a little moment. Israel's final restoration was not immediately at hand. Hence she had to continue praying in solitude for that restoration until the time of God's indignation would pass.

21 For behold, the LORD [x]comes out of His place
To punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity;
The earth will also disclose her [3]blood,
And will no more cover her slain.

27 In that day the LORD with His severe sword, great and strong,
Will punish Leviathan the fleeing serpent,
[a]Leviathan that twisted serpent;
And He will slay [b]the reptile that is in the sea.

The Restoration of Israel

2 In that day [c]sing to her,
[d]"A vineyard of [1]red wine!
3 [e]I, the LORD, keep it,
I water it every moment;
Lest any hurt it,
I keep it night and day.
4 Fury is not in Me.
Who would set [f]briers and thorns
Against Me in battle?
I would go through them,
I would burn them together.
5 Or let him take hold [g]of My strength,
That he may [h]make peace with Me;
And he shall make peace with Me."

6 Those who come He shall cause [i]to take root in Jacob;
Israel shall blossom and bud,
And fill the face of the world with fruit.

7 [j]Has He struck [2]Israel as He struck those who struck him?
Or has He been slain according to the slaughter of those who were slain by Him?
8 [k]In measure, by sending it away,
You contended with it.
[l]He removes it by His rough wind
In the day of the east wind.
9 Therefore by this the iniquity of Jacob will be covered;
And this is all the fruit of taking away his sin:
When he makes all the stones of the altar
Like chalkstones that are beaten to dust,
[3]Wooden images and incense altars shall not stand.

10 Yet the fortified city will be [m]desolate,
The habitation forsaken and left like a wilderness;
There the calf will feed, and there it will lie down
And consume its branches.
11 When its boughs are withered, they will be broken off;
The women come and set them on fire.
For [n]it is a people of no understanding;
Therefore He who made them will [o]not have mercy on them,
And [p]He who formed them will show them no favor.

12 And it shall come to pass in that day
That the LORD will thresh,
From the channel of [4]the River to the Brook of Egypt;
And you will be [q]gathered one by one,
O you children of Israel.

13 [r]So it shall be in that day:
[s]The great trumpet will be blown;
They will come, who are about to perish in the land of Assyria, 26:21 disclose her blood. The innocent killed by their oppressors are to come to life (cf. v. 19) and testify against their murderers.

27:1 Leviathan. See note on Job 41:1.

27:2-6 This vineyard of the Lord contrasts sharply with the one in 5:1-7. Far from a disappointment to the vinekeeper, this one bore abundant fruit (v. 6).

27:2 vineyard. Verse 6 identifies this vineyard as Israel.

27:3 I keep it night and day. God's future provisions for restored Israel will be complete.

27:4 Fury is not in Me. The time for Israel's punishment by God will pass. briers and thorns...burn them. I.e., the enemies of His people.

27:5 make peace with Me. The enemies of Israel may make peace with God.

27:6 fill the face of the world. In the future kingdom of the Messiah, restored Israel will rule with Him and fill the earth with the fruit of righteousness and peace.

27:7 struck Israel as He struck. God has tempered His dealings with Israel, but not so with those He used to punish Israel. His compassion for the other nations has come to an end.

27:8 sending it away. The Lord sent Judah into captivity to awaken the nation to trust in Him.

27:9 iniquity...covered. Jacob atoned for his iniquity by undergoing punishment from God.

27:10 fortified city. The city symbolized Judah's oppressors (cf. 24:10; 25:2; 26:5).

27:11 will not have mercy on them. In contrast with His dealings with Israel, the Creator will deal a fatal blow to her enemies.

27:12 gathered one by one. After the judgment of her enemies at the end of Daniel's 70th week, the faithful remnant of Israelites will return to their Land (Matt. 24:31).

And they who are outcasts in the land of [t]Egypt,
And shall [u]worship the LORD in the holy mount at Jerusalem.

Woe to Ephraim and Jerusalem

28 Woe to the crown of pride, to the drunkards of Ephraim,
Whose glorious beauty is a fading flower
Which is at the head of the [1]verdant valleys,
To those who are overcome with wine!
2 Behold, the Lord has a mighty and strong one,
[a]Like a tempest of hail and a destroying storm,
Like a flood of mighty waters overflowing,
Who will bring them down to the earth with His hand.
3 The crown of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim,
Will be trampled underfoot;
4 And the glorious beauty is a fading flower
Which is at the head of the [2]verdant valley,
Like the first fruit before the summer,
Which an observer sees;
He eats it up while it is still in his hand.

5 In that day the LORD of hosts will be
For a crown of glory and a diadem of beauty
To the remnant of His people,
6 For a spirit of justice to him who sits in judgment,
And for strength to those who turn back the battle at the gate.

7 But they also [b]have erred through wine,
And through intoxicating drink are out of the way;
[c]The priest and the prophet have erred through intoxicating drink,
They are swallowed up by wine,
They are out of the way through intoxicating drink;
They err in vision, they stumble in judgment.
8 For all tables are full of vomit and filth;
No place is clean.

9 "Whom[d] will he teach knowledge?
And whom will he make to understand the message?
Those just weaned from milk?
Those just drawn from the breasts?
10 [e]For precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept,
Line upon line, line upon line,
Here a little, there a little."

11 For with [f]stammering lips and another tongue
He will speak to this people, 12 To whom He said, "This is the [g]rest with which You may cause the weary to rest,"

12 [g] Is. 30:15; Jer. 6:16; [Matt. 11:28, 29]

27:13 worship the LORD...at Jerusalem. The prophet reiterates one of his great themes: future worship of regathered Israel on Mt. Zion (24:23; 25:6,7,10).

28:1 Woe. The prominent thought in this word is impending disaster. crown. The walls of Samaria were the "crown" of a beautiful hill overlooking a lush valley leading toward the Mediterranean coast. Ephraim. The northern kingdom of Israel had fallen to the Assyrians, leaving a lesson for Jerusalem under similar circumstances to learn about foreign alliances. overcome with wine. Licentious living prevailed in Ephraim before her fall (vv. 3,7; Amos 4:1; 6:1,6).

28:2 a flood of mighty waters. Isaiah drew on forceful figures of speech to wake his readers from their lethargy in the face of the awfulness of an impending Assyrian invasion.

28:4 first fruit before the summer. Figs ripened before the end-of-summer harvest were devoured immediately. So the Assyrian conquest of Ephraim would be rapid.

28:5 crown of glory. The true crown will replace the fraudulent "crown of pride" (v. 1). remnant of His people. Isaiah again sounded the note of a faithful remnant in the Day of the Lord (cf. 10:20-22; 11:11,16; 37:31,32; 46:3).

28:6 spirit of justice. In that day of Messiah's reign, the empowering Spirit will prevail in bringing justice to the world (cf. 11:2).

28:7 priest...prophet...err. Drunkenness had infected even the religious leadership of the nation, resulting in false spiritual guidance of the people.

28:8 no place is clean. When leaders wallowed in filth, what hope did the nation have?

28:9 weaned from milk. The drunken leaders resented it when Isaiah and other true prophets treated them as toddlers, by reminding them of elementary truths of right and wrong.

28:10 precept upon precept...there a little. This is the drunkard's sarcastically mocking response to corrective advice from the prophet. Transliterated, the Hebrew monosyllables are Sav lasav, sav lasav, Kav lakav, kav lakav, Ze'er sham, ze'er sham. These imitations of a young child's babbling ridicule Isaiah's preaching.

28:11 another tongue. Since the drunkards would not listen to God's prophet, He responded to them by predicting their subservience to Assyrian taskmasters, who would give them instructions in a foreign language. The NT divulges an additional meaning of this verse that anticipates God's use of the miraculous gift of tongues as a credential of His NT messengers (see note on 1 Cor. 14:21,22; cf. Deut. 28:49; Jer. 5:15; 2 Cor. 12:12).

28:12 the rest...the refreshing...not hear. In simple language they could understand, God offered them relief from their oppressors, but they would not listen.

And, "This is the refreshing";
Yet they would not hear.
13 But the word of the LORD was to them,
"Precept upon precept, precept upon precept,
Line upon line, line upon line,
Here a little, there a little,"
That they might go and fall backward, and be broken
And snared and caught.

14 Therefore hear the word of the LORD, you scornful men,
Who rule this people who are in Jerusalem,
15 Because you have said, "We have made a covenant with death,
And with Sheol we are in agreement.
When the overflowing scourge passes through,
It will not come to us,
[h]For we have made lies our refuge,
And under falsehood we have hidden ourselves."

A Cornerstone in Zion

16 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

"Behold, I lay in Zion [i]a stone for a foundation,
A tried stone, a precious cornerstone, a sure foundation;
Whoever believes will not act hastily.
17 Also I will make justice the measuring line,
And righteousness the plummet;
The hail will sweep away the refuge of lies,
And the waters will overflow the hiding place.
18 Your covenant with death will be annulled,
And your agreement with Sheol will not stand;
When the overflowing scourge passes through,
Then you will be trampled down by it.
19 As often as it goes out it will take you;
For morning by morning it will pass over,
And by day and by night;
It will be a terror just to understand the report."

20 For the bed is too short to stretch out on,
And the covering so narrow that one cannot wrap himself in it.
21 For the LORD will rise up as at Mount [j]Perazim,
He will be angry as in the Valley of [k]Gibeon—
That He may do His work, [l]His awesome work,
And bring to pass His act, His [3]unusual act.
22 Now therefore, do not be mockers,
Lest your bonds be made strong;
For I have heard from the Lord GOD of hosts,
[m]A [4]destruction determined even upon the whole earth.

15 [h] Is. 9:15; Ezek. 13:22; Amos 2:4
16 [i] Gen. 49:24; Ps. 118:22; Is. 8:14, 15; Matt. 21:42; Mark 12:10; Luke 20:17; Acts 4:11; Rom. 9:33; 10:11; Eph. 2:20; 1 Pet. 2:6-8
21 [j] 2 Sam. 5:20; 1 Chr. 14:11 [k] Josh. 10:10, 12; 2 Sam. 5:25; 1 Chr. 14:16 [l] [Lam. 3:33; Luke 19:41-44] [3] Lit. foreign
22 [m] Is. 10:22; Dan. 9:27 [4] Lit. complete end

28:13 Precept upon precept...there a little. In light of their rejection, the Lord imitated the mockery of the drunkards in jabber they could not understand (see v. 10).

28:14 Therefore. In light of the tragedies that had befallen Ephraim (vv. 1-13), the scornful leaders in Jerusalem needed to steer a course different from relying on foreign powers for deliverance.

28:15 covenant with death. Scornful leaders in Jerusalem had made an agreement with Egypt to help defend themselves against the Assyrians. overflowing scourge. Combining images of an overflowing river and a whip, the people bragged about their invincibility to foreign invasion. lies...falsehood. Jerusalem's leaders yielded to expediency for the sake of security. Without directly admitting it, they had taken refuge in deceit and falsehood.

28:16 stone for a foundation...a sure foundation. The Lord God contrasted the only sure refuge with the false refuge of relying on foreigners (v. 15). This directly prophesied the coming of the Messiah (Matt. 21:42; Mark 12:10; Luke 20:17; Acts 4:11; Rom. 9:33; Eph. 2:20; 1 Pet. 2:6-8; cf. 8:14,15; Ps. 118:22). will not act hastily. The Greek OT interprets this Hebrew verb for "hurry" in the sense of "put to shame," furnishing the basis of the NT citations of this verse (Rom. 9:33; 10:11; 1 Pet. 2:6).

28:17 justice the measuring line. When the Messiah rules His kingdom, the system of justice will contrast strongly with the refuge of lies in which Jerusalem's leaders engaged (see v. 15).

28:18 covenant with death...will not stand. Trusting in foreign deliverers will utterly fail (see. v. 15).

28:19 morning by morning. The Assyrians repeatedly plundered the area around Jerusalem, provoking great terror among the city's inhabitants.

28:20 bed is too short...the covering so narrow. A proverbial expression about short beds and narrow sheets, telling Jerusalem that foreign alliances are inadequate preparations for the defense of the city.

28:21 Mount Perazim...Valley of Gibeon. Just as the Lord defeated the Philistines at Mt. Perazim (2 Sam. 5:19,20; 1 Chr. 14:10,11) and the Canaanites in the Valley of Gibeon (Josh. 10:6-11), He will do so against any who mock Him, even Jerusalemites.

28:22 destruction determined. God had decreed something unusual (v. 21), the destruction of His own wicked people. Yet, they could escape if they repented.

Listen to the Teaching of God

23 Give ear and hear my voice,
Listen and hear my speech.
24 Does the plowman keep plowing
all day to sow?
Does he keep turning his soil and breaking the clods?
25 When he has leveled its surface,
Does he not sow the black cummin
And scatter the cummin,
Plant the wheat in rows,
The barley in the appointed place,
And the [5]spelt in its place?
26 For He instructs him in right
judgment,
His God teaches him.

27 For the black cummin is not threshed with a threshing
sledge,
Nor is a cartwheel rolled over the cummin;
But the black cummin is beaten out with a stick,
And the cummin with a rod.
28 Bread flour must be ground;
Therefore he does not thresh it
forever,
Break it with his cartwheel,
Or crush it with his horsemen.
29 This also comes from the LORD of
hosts,
[n]Who is wonderful in counsel and excellent in [6]guidance.

Woe to Jerusalem

29 "Woe [a]to [l]Ariel, to Ariel, the city
[b]where David dwelt!
Add year to year;
Let feasts come around.
2 Yet I will distress Ariel;
There shall be heaviness and sorrow,
And it shall be to Me as Ariel.
3 I will encamp against you all around,
I will lay siege against you with a mound,
And I will raise siegeworks against
you.
4 You shall be brought down,
You shall speak out of the ground;
Your speech shall be low, out of the dust;
Your voice shall be like a medium's, [c]out of the ground;
And your speech shall whisper out of the dust.

5 "Moreover the multitude of your [d]foes
Shall be like fine dust,
And the multitude of the terrible ones
Like [e]chaff that passes away;
Yes, it shall be [f]in an instant,
suddenly.
6 [g]You will be punished by the LORD of hosts
With thunder and [h]earthquake and great noise,
With storm and tempest
And the flame of devouring fire.

7 [i] Is. 37:36; Mic. 4:11, 12; Zech. 12:9 [2] Jerusalem

28:23 Give ear. The parable of a farmer underlined the lessons of judgment threats in vv. 18-22. As the farmer does his different tasks, each in the right season and proportion, so God adopts His measures to His purposes: now mercy, then judgment; punishing sooner, then later. His purpose was not to destroy His people, any more than the farmer's object in his threshing or plowing is to destroy his crop.

28:24 keep plowing...keep turning. No ordinary farmer plows and turns the soil endlessly. He sows also in accord with what is proper.

28:25 sow...scatter...plant. After preparing the soil, the farmer carefully places the seed.

28:26 God teaches him. Farming intelligently is a God-given instinct.

28:27,28 God-given understanding prevails in the threshing of various types of grain.

28:29 excellent in guidance. If God's way in the physical realm of farming is best, why did Jerusalem persist in refusing to accept His spiritual guidance?

29:1 Ariel. The word means "lion of God," referring to the city's strength, and perhaps "hearth of God," referring to the place where the altar of God always burns. Verses 7,8 show this to be a name for Jerusalem, and the chapter looks to the invasion of Jerusalem because of unbelief. where* David dwelt. David named Jerusalem "the city of David" (22:9; 2 Sam. 5:7,9; cf. 2 Sam. 6:10,12,16; 1 Kin. 2:10; 3:1; 8:1; 9:24; 14:31; 15:8; 2 Kin. 8:24; 9:28; 12:21; 14:20; 15:7,38; 16:20; 1 Chr. 11:5,7; 13:13; 15:1,29; 2 Chr. 5:2; 8:11; 12:16; 14:1; 16:14; 21:1,20; 24:16,25; 27:9; 32:5,30; 33:14; Neh. 3:15; 12:37; Luke 2:4,11). feasts. Jerusalem's cycle of religious ceremonies were meaningless to God.

29:3 lay siege. God encamped against Jerusalem through His instruments, first the Assyrians (701 B.C.) and then the Babylonians (586 B.C.).

29:4 out of the ground...out of the dust. Jerusalem will be like a captive, humbled to the dust. Her voice will come from the earth like that of a medium spirit, like the voice of the dead was supposed to be. This would be fitting for her sins of necromancy.

29:5-8 In God's time, after Jerusalem's punishment, those who fought against the city will themselves come under God's judgment.

29:5 in an instant, suddenly. God's demolition of Israel's enemies will be very abrupt, as was the repulsion of the Assyrians from Jerusalem in 701 B.C.

29:6 thunder and earthquake and great noise. This terminology points to the storm theophany marking the termination of the seals, trumpets, and bowls in Revelation (Rev. 8:5; 11:19; 16:18).

And distress her,
Shall be [j]as a dream of a night vision.
8 [k]It shall even be as when a hungry man dreams,
And look—he eats;
But he awakes, and his soul is still empty;
Or as when a thirsty man dreams,
And look—he drinks;
But he awakes, and indeed he is faint,
And his soul still craves:
So the multitude of all the nations shall be,
Who fight against Mount Zion."

The Blindness of Disobedience

9 Pause and wonder!
Blind yourselves and be blind!
[l]They are drunk, [m]but not with wine;
They stagger, but not with intoxicating drink.
10 For [n]the LORD has poured out on you
The spirit of deep sleep,
And has [o]closed your eyes, namely, the prophets;
And He has covered your heads, namely, [p]the seers.

11 The whole vision has become to you like the words of a [3]book [q]that is sealed, which men deliver to one who is literate, saying, "Read this, please."
[r]And he says, "I cannot, for it is sealed."
12 Then the book is delivered to one who [4]is illiterate, saying, "Read this, please."
And he says, "I am not literate."
13 Therefore the Lord said:

"Inasmuch as these people draw near with their mouths
And honor Me [t]with their lips,
But have removed their hearts far from Me,
And their fear toward Me is taught by the commandment of men, 14 [u]Therefore, behold, I will again do a marvelous work
Among this people,
A marvelous work and a wonder;
[v]For the wisdom of their wise men shall perish,
And the understanding of their prudent men shall be hidden."

15 [w]Woe to those who seek deep to hide their counsel far from the LORD,
And their works are in the dark;
[x]They say, "Who sees us?" and, "Who knows us?"
16 Surely you have things turned around!
Shall the potter be esteemed as the clay;
For shall the [y]thing made say of him who made it,
"He did not make me"?
Or shall the thing formed say of him who formed it,
"He has no understanding"?

Future Recovery of Wisdom

17 Is it not yet a very little while
Till [z]Lebanon shall be turned into a fruitful field,
And the fruitful field be esteemed as a forest?

13 [s] Ps. 78:36; Ezek. 33:31; Matt. 15:8, 9; Mark 7:6, 7 [t] Col. 2:22
14 [u] Is. 6:9, 10; 28:21; Hab. 1:5 [v] Is. 44:25; Jer. 49:7; Obad. 8; 1 Cor. 1:19
15 [w] Is. 30:1 [x] Ps. 10:11; 94:7; Is. 47:10; Ezek. 8:12; Mal. 2:17
16 [y] Is. 45:9; Jer. 18:1-6; [Rom. 9:19-21]
17 [z] Is. 32:15

29:7 dream. All the threat to the city from enemy nations will fade like a bad dream when one awakens.

29:8 empty...faint. Jerusalem's attackers will frustrate themselves, as a dreamer who has the illusion that he eats and drinks, but awakens to find himself still hungry and thirsty.

29:9-14 The prophet returned to the theme of the blindness of mechanical religion.

29:9 blind...drunk. The blindness and drunkenness came from the people's inability to comprehend Isaiah's message about trusting God instead of Egypt.

29:10 spirit of deep sleep. Because Israel refused to hear her true prophets initially, their ability to hear has been impaired. God gave them up judicially to their own hardness of heart. Paul applied this verse specifically to the general condition of Israel's blindness during the age of the church (Rom. 11:8). prophets...seers. False prophets and seers have blinded their listeners with their false prophecies.

29:11 one who is literate. Those with ability to read could not do so because they had surrendered their spiritual sensitivity (cf. 6:9,10; Matt. 13:10-17).

29:12 one who is illiterate. The uneducated had two reasons for not knowing the book's contents: 1) the book was sealed, and 2) he could not read it even if it were not. It is deplorable when no one is capable of receiving God's rich revelation.

29:13 hearts far from Me. Empty ritualism does not bring closeness to God. Jesus used this verse to describe the Judaism of His day (Matt. 15:7-9; Mark 7:6,7).

29:14 wisdom...perish...understanding...hidden. The principle of resorting to human wisdom rather than divine wisdom was the spiritual plague of Jerusalem. The same principle was the downfall of the Greek world in Paul's day (1 Cor. 1:19).

29:15 hide...from the LORD. The prophet probably referred to a secret plan of the leaders to join with Egypt to combat the Assyrians. The Lord had counseled otherwise, so they hid their strategy from Him.

29:16 He did not make me. For man to make plans on his own without God is a rejection of God as Creator. Paul reasons that it is also a questioning of the sovereignty of God (Rom. 9:19-21). Does the clay think itself equal to the potter?

29:17 fruitful field...a forest. In the future, a reversal of roles between the mighty and the weak will transpire, when God intervenes to bless Jerusalem. The moral change in the Jewish nation will be as great as if the usually forested Lebanon were turned into a field and vice versa.

18 [a]In that day the deaf shall hear the words of the book,
And the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity and out of
darkness.
19 [b]The humble also shall increase their
joy in the LORD,
And [c]the poor among men shall rejoice
In the Holy One of Israel.
20 For the [5]terrible one is brought to nothing,
[d]The scornful one is consumed,
And all who [e]watch for iniquity are cut off—
21 Who make a man an offender by a word,
And [f]lay a snare for him who
reproves in the gate,
And turn aside the just [g]by empty
words.

22 Therefore thus says the LORD, [h]who redeemed Abraham, concerning the house of Jacob:

"Jacob shall not now be [i]ashamed,
Nor shall his face now grow pale;
23 But when he sees his children,
[j]The work of My hands, in his midst,
They will hallow My name,
And hallow the Holy One of Jacob,
And fear the God of Israel.
24 These also [k]who erred in spirit will come to understanding,
And those who complained will learn doctrine."

Futile Confidence in Egypt

30 "Woe to the rebellious children,"
says the LORD,
[a]"Who take counsel, but not of Me,
And who [1]devise plans, but not of
My Spirit,
[b]That they may add sin to sin;
2 [c]Who walk to go down to Egypt,
And [d]have not asked My advice,
To strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh,
And to trust in the shadow of Egypt!
3 [e]Therefore the strength of Pharaoh
Shall be your shame,
And trust in the shadow of Egypt
Shall be your humiliation.
4 For his princes were at [f]Zoan,
And his ambassadors came to Hanes.
5 [g]They were all ashamed of a people who could not benefit them,
Or be help or benefit,
But a shame and also a reproach."

6 [h]The [2]burden against the beasts of the South.

Through a land of trouble and anguish,
From which came the lioness and lion,
[i]The viper and fiery flying serpent,
They will carry their riches on the backs of young donkeys,
And their treasures on the humps
of camels,
To a people who shall not profit;
7 [j]For the Egyptians shall help in vain and to no purpose.

CHAPTER 30

7 [j] Jer. 37:7

29:18 deaf shall hear...blind shall see. The spiritual blindness of Israel will no longer exist. Jesus gives the words an additional meaning, applying it to His ministry of physical healing for the deaf and blind (Matt. 11:5; cf. 35:5).

29:19,20 increase their joy...cut off. The future messianic age will bring a reversal of status. Rejoicing will replace the hardships of the oppressed; the oppressors' dominance will end.

29:21 make a man an offender...turn aside the just. Those with political and judicial authority are no longer to misuse their power to oppress.

29:22 redeemed Abraham. God delivered Abraham from his pagan background when He brought him from beyond the Euphrates River into the land of Canaan (Josh. 24:2,3). Paul elaborates on this theme in Rom. 4:1-22. not now be ashamed. Israel in her history had frequently suffered disgrace, but the personal presence of the Messiah is to change that (45:17; 49:23; 50:7; 54:4). After the salvation of Israel in the end time, the children of Jacob will no longer cause their forefathers to blush over their wickedness.

29:23 hallow...hallow...fear. Jacob's descendants will marvel at the strong deliverance of the Lord and set Him apart as the only one worthy of utmost respect. God will cleanse Israel (cf. 54:13,14).

29:24 erred...complained. With their newfound respect for God, the formerly wayward ones were to gain the capacity for spiritual perception.

30:1 not of Me...not of My Spirit. Hezekiah's advisers urged him to turn to the Egyptians, not to God, for help against the invading Assyrians. Isaiah denounced this reliance on Egypt rather than God, who had forbidden such alliances.

30:2 not asked My advice. They had failed to consult God's prophet. Egypt...Pharaoh...Egypt. The Lord had warned Israel against returning to Egypt (Deut. 17:16). Now He warns them against an alliance with Egypt (31:1). Note the similar advice from the Assyrian Rabshakeh, while laying siege to Jerusalem (36:9).

30:3 shame...humiliation. The Assyrians had already defeated the Egyptian army only 100 mi. from the Egyptian border.

30:4 Zoan...Hanes. Judah's emissaries had penetrated from Zoan in the NE of Egypt to Hanes fifty mi. S of Memphis.

30:6 land of trouble and anguish...humps of camels. Isaiah pictured a rich caravan, trudging slowly through rugged territory fraught with dangers, on its way to Egypt to purchase assistance.

30:7 help in vain...Rahab-Hem-Shebeth. Egypt was unwilling to help so the prophet calls the powerful Egypt "Rahab," meaning

Therefore I have called her
[3]Rahab-Hem-Shebeth.

A Rebellious People

8 Now go, [k]write it before them on a tablet,
And note it on a scroll,
That it may be for time to come,
Forever and ever:
9 That [l]this is a rebellious people,
Lying children,
Children who will not hear the law of the LORD;
10 [m]Who say to the seers, "Do not see,"
And to the prophets, "Do not prophesy to us right things; [n]Speak to us smooth things, prophesy deceits.
11 Get out of the way,
Turn aside from the path,
Cause the Holy One of Israel
To cease from before us."

12 Therefore thus says the Holy One of Israel:

"Because you [o]despise this word,
And trust in oppression and perversity,
And rely on them,
13 Therefore this iniquity shall be to you
[p]Like a breach ready to fall,
A bulge in a high wall,
Whose breaking [q]comes suddenly, in an instant.
14 And [r]He shall break it like the breaking of the potter's vessel,
Which is broken in pieces;
He shall not spare.
So there shall not be found among its fragments
[4]A shard to take fire from the hearth,
Or to take water from the cistern."

15 For thus says the Lord GOD, the Holy One of Israel:

[s]"In returning and rest you shall be saved;
In quietness and confidence shall be your strength."
[t]But you would not,
16 And you said, "No, for we will flee on horses"—
Therefore you shall flee!
And, "We will ride on swift horses"—
Therefore those who pursue you shall be swift!

17 [u]One thousand shall flee at the threat of one,
At the threat of five you shall flee,
Till you are left as a [5]pole on top of a mountain
And as a banner on a hill.

God Will Be Gracious

18 Therefore the LORD will wait, that He may be [v]gracious to you;
And therefore He will be exalted, that He may have mercy on you.
For the LORD is a God of justice;
[w]Blessed are all those who [x]wait for Him.

19 For the people [y]shall dwell in Zion at Jerusalem;
You shall [z]weep no more.
He will be very gracious to you at the sound of your cry;
When He hears it, He will [a]answer you.

"strength," or "sitting idle" (Hebrew). "Rahab" is used of Egypt in Pss. 87:4; 89:10.

30:8 for time to come. The Lord's instruction to Isaiah was to make a permanent written record so that future generations could learn Israel's folly of trusting in Egypt instead of in the Lord.

30:9 rebellious people, lying children. The people's unwillingness to obey the Lord necessitated the keeping of a permanent record of their misdeeds.

30:10,11 prophesy deceits...turn aside from the path. Isaiah's listeners tired of hearing counsel that was contrary to the path they desired to follow and wanted him to change his message to accommodate them.

30:12-14 Since the people opted not to hear the word of the Lord's prophet, they will hear from the Lord's judgment.

30:12 this word. The reference is to the instruction of the Lord through Isaiah.

30:13,14 high wall...potter's vessel. Two comparisons portrayed the coming sudden disaster to befall the rebels, a high wall that collapses suddenly and a clay jug that shatters into many pieces when dropped.

30:15 rest...confidence. The Israelite rebels refused the true avenue of salvation and strength, i.e., resting and confidence in the Lord.

30:16 horses...swift horses. The people put their trust in Egypt's horses instead of the Lord. No horse could deliver them from their God-appointed oppressors (cf. Deut. 17:16; Pss. 33:17; 147:10).

30:17 One thousand...one. Similar figures elsewhere describe Israel's victories (Lev. 26:36; Josh. 23:10) and defeats (Deut. 32:30).

30:18 the LORD will wait. Since Judah would not wait on the Lord to deliver (25:9; 26:8; 33:2; cf. 30:15), He must wait to be gracious to the nation.

30:19 dwell in Zion at Jerusalem. The prophet emphatically pointed to a result of God's grace toward Israel—the survival of the city of Jerusalem as the center of her domain (65:9; Ezek. 37:25,28).

20 And though the Lord gives you [b]The bread of adversity and the water of [c]affliction,
Yet [d]your teachers will not be moved into a corner anymore,
But your eyes shall see your teachers.
21 Your ears shall hear a word behind you, saying,
"This is the way, walk in it,"
Whenever you [e]turn to the right
hand
Or whenever you turn to the left.
22 [f]You will also defile the covering of your images of silver,
And the ornament of your molded images of gold.
You will throw them away as an unclean thing;
[g]You will say to them, "Get away!"

23 [h]Then He will give the rain for your seed
With which you sow the ground,
And bread of the increase of the
earth;
It will be [i]fat and plentiful.
In that day your cattle will feed
In large pastures.
24 Likewise the oxen and the young donkeys that work the ground
Will eat cured fodder,
Which has been winnowed with the shovel and fan.
25 There will be [j]on every high mountain
And on every high hill
Rivers and streams of waters,
In the day of the [k]great slaughter,
When the towers fall.
26 Moreover [l]the light of the moon will be as the light of the sun,
And the light of the sun will be sevenfold,
As the light of seven days,
In the day that the LORD binds up the bruise of His people
And heals the stroke of their wound.

Judgment on Assyria

27 Behold, the name of the LORD comes from afar,
Burning with His anger,
And His burden is heavy;
His lips are full of indignation,
And His tongue like a devouring
fire.
28 [m]His breath is like an overflowing stream,
[n]Which reaches up to the neck,
To sift the nations with the sieve of futility;
And there shall be [o]a bridle in the jaws of the people,
Causing them to err.

29 You shall have a song
As in the night when a holy festival is kept,
And gladness of heart as when one goes with a flute,
To come into [p]the mountain of the
LORD,
To [q]the Mighty One of Israel.
30 [r]The LORD will cause His glorious voice to be heard,
And show the descent of His arm,
With the indignation of His anger
And the flame of a devouring fire,
With scattering, tempest, [s]and hailstones.
31 For [t]through the voice of the LORD
Assyria will be [u]beaten down,
As He strikes with the [v]rod.
32 And in every place where the staff of punishment passes,
Which the LORD lays on him,

31 [t] Is. 14:25; 37:36 [u] Is. 10:5, 24 [v] Lit. shattered

30:20 eyes shall see. After their period of judgment because of disobedience, God is to open Israel's eyes to the soundness of the message of His prophets (29:24).

30:21 a word behind you. The teachers will be near and the pupils sensitive to the Lord's prophets, in strong contrast to the callousness formerly manifest (29:10,11).

30:22 throw them away. The Babylonian captivity rid Israel of her idolatry in fulfillment of this prophecy.

30:23-25 In the messianic kingdom of that future day, agriculture, cattle raising, food production, and water resources will prosper. The prophet predicted the redemption of nature (cf. Rom. 8:19-21).

30:25 towers fall. Powerful nations that oppress Israel will come to an end (contr. 29:17).

30:26 light of the moon...light of the sun. The benefits from the natural bodies of light will be much greater. Increase in the intensity of their light will work to people's advantage (60:19,20), not to their detriment as in Rev. 16:8,9.

30:27-33 Isaiah followed the promise of Judah's redemption (vv. 19-26) with a promise of Assyria's destruction.

30:27 the name of the LORD. His name focuses particularly on His revealed character as Sovereign and Savior (Deut. 12:5).

30:27,28 comes from afar...overflowing stream. The Lord will come suddenly upon His enemies as a great storm with its accompanying flood, to overwhelm them.

30:29 song...holy festival. While God's judgment devastated the Assyrians, the people of Jerusalem conducted a time of joyful celebration as at one of their feasts, perhaps a Passover.

30:30,31 Assyria...beaten down. Assyria in particular, but in the long range, any enemy of God's people will fall victim to divine storm and flood (vv. 27,28).

30:32 staff of punishment...tambourines and harps. With each blow of punishment against the Assyrians will come joyful celebration in Jerusalem.

It will be with tambourines and harps;
And in battles of [s]brandishing He will fight with it.
33 [t]For Tophet was established of old,
Yes, for the king it is prepared.
He has made it deep and large;
Its pyre is fire with much wood;
The breath of the LORD, like a stream of brimstone,
Kindles it.

The Folly of Not Trusting God

31 Woe to those [a]who go down to Egypt for help,
And [b]rely on horses,
Who trust in chariots because they are many,
And in horsemen because they are very strong,
But who do not look to the Holy
One of Israel,
[c]Nor seek the LORD!
2 Yet He also is wise and will bring disaster,
And [d]will not [l]call back His
words,
But will arise against the house of
evildoers,
And against the help of those who work iniquity.
3 Now the Egyptians are men, and not God;
And their horses are flesh, and not
spirit.
When the LORD stretches out His
hand,
Both he who helps will fall,
And he who is helped will fall
down;
They all will perish [e]together.

God Will Deliver Jerusalem

4 For thus the LORD has spoken to me:

[f]"As a lion roars,
And a young lion over his prey (When a multitude of shepherds is summoned against him,
He will not be afraid of their voice
Nor be disturbed by their noise),
So the LORD of hosts will come down
To fight for Mount Zion and for its hill.
5 [g]Like birds flying about,
So will the LORD of hosts defend
Jerusalem.
Defending, He will also deliver it;
Passing over, He will preserve it."

6 Return to Him against whom the children of Israel have [h]deeply revolted. 7 For in that day every man shall [i]throw away his idols of silver and his idols of gold—[j]sin, which your own hands have made for yourselves.

8 "Then Assyria shall [k]fall by a sword not of man,
And a sword not of mankind shall [l]devour him.
But he shall flee from the sword,
And his young men shall become
forced labor.
9 [m]He shall cross over to his stronghold for fear,
And his princes shall be afraid of the banner,"
Says the LORD,
Whose fire is in Zion
And whose furnace is in Jerusalem.

9 [m] Is. 37:37

30:33 Tophet. Lit. a place of abomination. Idolatrous Israel had burned to death human victims in this valley just S of Jerusalem, an area sometimes called the Valley of Hinnom (2 Kin. 23:10; see note on Jer. 19:6). Later it became known as Gehenna, the place of refuse for the city, with constantly burning fires, symbolizing hell. The defeat was to be so complete that the fire burns continually.

31:1 horses...chariots. Egypt's horses and chariots were numerous (1 Kin. 10:28,29). Its flat topography was well suited for chariotry. They were be useful to Israel against the Assyrian cavalry. Nor seek the LORD. What made Israel's turning to Egypt most despicable was her accompanying turning away from the Lord.

31:2 He also is wise. Sarcastically, Isaiah countered the unwise royal counselors who had advised dependence on Egypt. will not call back His words. The implied exception is, of course, when the sinful nation repented, as in the case of Nineveh (Jon. 3:5-10).

31:3 flesh...spirit. For example, Hezekiah wisely chose to rely on the Lord, not on the arm of flesh (2 Chr. 32:8).

31:4 not be afraid...nor be disturbed. In His defense of Jerusalem, the Lord is to be like a strong and determined lion, unafraid of shepherds summoned against him.

31:5 birds flying about. The Lord is like a hovering mother bird with a strong attachment to her little ones and a willingness to do whatever is necessary for their safety.

31:6 Return to Him. The prophet called rebellious Israel to repent in light of God's gracious dealings with them (vv. 4,5; cf. 30:18, 19).

31:7 throw away his idols. The obvious helplessness of the idols to deliver rendered them completely useless.

31:8 Assyria shall fall. The defeat of Assyria by other-than-human means matched this prophecy well (see 37:36,37), but other such foreign oppressors meet the same fate in the distant future of Israel, during the time of Jacob's trouble (cf. Jer. 30:7).

31:9 fire is in Zion...furnace is in Jerusalem. Both in Isaiah's near future and in the distant future, Jerusalem was God's headquarters for bringing judgment on foreign nations. God Himself is the fire, waiting for all the enemies who attack Jerusalem.

CHAPTER 32

A Reign of Righteousness

32 Behold, [a]a king will reign in
righteousness,
And princes will rule with justice.
2 A man will be as a hiding place from the wind,
And [b]a [1]cover from the tempest,
As rivers of water in a dry place,
As the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.
3 [c]The eyes of those who see will not be dim,
And the ears of those who hear will listen.
4 Also the heart of the [2]rash will
[d]understand knowledge,
And the tongue of the stammerers will be ready to speak plainly.

5 The foolish person will no longer be called [3]generous,
Nor the miser said to be bountiful;
6 For the foolish person will speak
foolishness,
And his heart will work [e]iniquity:
To practice ungodliness,
To utter error against the LORD,
To keep the hungry unsatisfied,
And he will cause the drink of the thirsty to fail.
7 Also the schemes of the schemer are evil;
He devises wicked plans
To destroy the poor with [f]lying words,
Even when the needy speaks
justice.
8 But a [4]generous man devises generous things,
And by generosity he shall stand.

Consequences of Complacency

9 Rise up, you women [g]who are at ease,
Hear my voice;
You complacent daughters,
Give ear to my speech.
10 In a year and some days
You will be troubled, you complacent women;
For the vintage will fail,
The gathering will not come.
11 Tremble, you women who are at ease;
Be troubled, you complacent ones;
Strip yourselves, make yourselves bare,
And gird sackcloth on your waists.

12 People shall mourn upon their breasts
For the pleasant fields, for the fruitful vine.
13 [h]On the land of my people will come up thorns and briers,
Yes, on all the happy homes in [i]the joyous city;
14 [j]Because the palaces will be forsaken,
The bustling city will be deserted.
The forts and towers will become lairs forever,
A joy of wild donkeys, a pasture of flocks—
15 Until [k]the Spirit is poured upon us from on high,
And [l]the wilderness becomes a fruitful field,
And the fruitful field is counted as a forest.

9 [g] Is. 47:8; Amos 6:1; Zeph. 2:15

15 [k] [Is. 11:2]; Ezek. 39:29; [Joel 2:28] [l] Ps. 107:35; Is. 29:17

32:1 a king...princes. In contrast to bad leaders already discussed (e.g., 28:14,15; 29:15), the prophet turned to the messianic king and His governmental assistants during the future day of righteousness. These will be the apostles (Luke 22:30) and the saints (1 Cor. 6:2; 2 Tim. 2:12; Rev. 2:26,27; 3:21).

32:2 shadow...land. During the millennial reign of Christ, leaders will provide protection like "the shadow of a mighty rock within a weary land," instead of posing threats to the people's well-being.

32:3 eyes...not...dim...ears...listen. A future generation of Israelites will experience a reversal of receptivity compared to Isaiah's generation (6:9,10; cf. 29:18,24; 30:20).

32:4 stammerers. The stammerers were former drunkards who uttered nonsense in their drunken stupor (28:7,8; 29:9).

32:5 foolish person...generous...miser...bountiful. In the future earthly kingdom envisioned by Isaiah, false appraisals of leadership qualities will be impossible, because everyone will see and speak clearly.

32:6-8 foolish person...generous man. An unwillingness to care for the needy reflects the character of a fool, but the generous person in dependence on God provides for the poor. These qualities will be evident to all in the age to come.

32:9-14 The prophet warns the women of Judah against complacency (cf. 3:16–4:1). God's eventual blessing on their nation gave no excuse for business as usual, i.e., dependence on Egypt instead of God.

32:9 at ease...complacent. "At ease" translates the word rendered "quiet" or "complacent" the word rendered "secure" in v. 18. The difference between the bad senses here and the good senses in v. 18 is the object of trust, Egypt or God. Ease and security in God are proper.

32:10 year and some days. Perhaps specifying a time when the Assyrian army came and pillaged the land, the prophet warned of how God's coming judgment was to spoil agricultural production.

32:11,12 Tremble...mourn. Present satisfaction with the status quo shortly gave way to an entirely different set of emotions.

32:13 thorns...briers. Without harmony with God, the land of God's people became just as desolate as any other forsaken territory (1:7; 5:6; 7:23).

32:14 bustling city. Jerusalem too was to become desolate through the Lord's purging judgments of the nation (Luke 21:24).

32:15-20 The promised kingdom was to eventually come to Israel with its accompanying fruitfulness, peace, and security.

32:15 the Spirit is poured upon us. The infusion of God's Spirit was to transform the land into productive fruitfulness (Joel 2:28–3:1).

The Peace of God's Reign

16 Then justice will dwell in the wilderness,
And righteousness remain in the fruitful field.
17 [m]The work of righteousness will be peace,
And the effect of righteousness, quietness and assurance forever.
18 My people will dwell in a peaceful habitation,
In secure dwellings, and in quiet [n]resting places,
19 [o]Though hail comes down [p]on the forest,
And the city is brought low in humiliation.

20 Blessed are you who sow beside all waters,
Who send out freely the feet of [q]the ox and the donkey.

A Prayer in Deep Distress

33 Woe to you [a]who plunder, though you have not been plundered;
And you who deal treacherously, though they have not dealt treacherously with you!
[b]When you cease plundering,
You will be [c]plundered;
When you make an end of dealing treacherously,
They will deal treacherously with you.

2 O LORD, be gracious to us;
[d]We have waited for You.
Be [1]their arm every morning,
Our salvation also in the time of trouble.

3 At the noise of the tumult the people [e]shall flee;
When You lift Yourself up, the nations shall be scattered;
4 And Your plunder shall be gathered
Like the gathering of the caterpillar;
As the running to and fro of locusts,
He shall run upon them.

5 [f]The LORD is exalted, for He dwells on high;
He has filled Zion with justice and righteousness.
6 Wisdom and knowledge will be the stability of your times,
And the strength of salvation;
The fear of the LORD is His treasure.

7 Surely their valiant ones shall cry outside,
[g]The ambassadors of peace shall weep bitterly.
8 [h]The highways lie waste,
The traveling man ceases.
[i]He has broken the covenant,
[2]He has despised the [3]cities,
He regards no man.
9 [j]The earth mourns and languishes,
Lebanon is shamed and shriveled;
Sharon is like a wilderness,
And Bashan and Carmel shake off their fruits.

Impending Judgment on Zion

10 "Now [k]I will rise," says the LORD;
"Now I will be exalted,
Now I will lift Myself up.
11 [l]You shall conceive chaff,
You shall bring forth stubble;

11 [l] [Ps. 7:14; Is. 26:18; 59:4; James 1:15]

32:16 justice...righteousness. Noble spiritual values were to thrive in the future messianic reign.

32:18 My people...peaceful...secure...quiet. The people of Israel will enjoy lasting security with the Messiah personally present to ensure peace.

32:19 city is brought low. Jerusalem must learn humility before the prophesied ideal conditions can become reality.

32:20 Blessed. As with the beatitudes of Christ (Matt. 5:3-12), Isaiah pronounced the blessedness of those who participate in the future glory of Christ's kingdom.

33:1 you who plunder. Though the immediate reference is to Assyria (2 Kin. 18:13-16; 19:32-37), the prophecy looks beyond Assyria to any power that sets itself against Israel.

33:2 We have waited for You. Israel refused to do this earlier (30:15; 31:6), but had repented (25:9; 26:8; 33:2).

33:3,4 Just as Sennacherib took flight suddenly (cf. 37:37; 2 Chr. 32:21), so the nations will scatter before the Lord, leaving their spoils behind.

33:6 fear of the LORD. The same Spirit-imparted qualification possessed by the Messiah (11:2) will belong to His people when He returns.

33:7-9 From the vision of future glory, Isaiah returns to the disastrous present. Jerusalem's situation was hopeless when in 701 B.C. the Assyrian army had the city surrounded and was ready to move in.

33:7 valiant ones...ambassadors. Both men of war and diplomats had failed in their attempts to thwart the invaders.

33:8 highways lie waste. The enemy surrounding the city had cut off all travel and trade with the outside world.

33:9 Lebanon...Sharon...Bashan...Carmel. The enemy had spoiled places renowned for their lush fertility.

33:10 Now I will rise. When the oppressor's power had reached its zenith, the time had arrived for the Lord to assert Himself in judging the plunderer, in Isaiah's case the Assyrian troops.

33:11 chaff...stubble. References to Assyria, these reaffirm that the plunderer is to be plundered (v. 1).

Your breath, as fire, shall devour you.
12 And the people shall be like the burnings of lime;
[m] Like thorns cut up they shall be burned in the fire.
13 Hear, [n] you who are afar off, what I have done;
And you who are near, acknowledge My might."

14 The sinners in Zion are afraid;
Fearfulness has seized the hypocrites:
"Who among us shall dwell with the devouring [o] fire?
Who among us shall dwell with everlasting burnings?"
15 He who [p] walks righteously and speaks uprightly,
He who despises the gain of oppressions,
Who gestures with his hands, refusing bribes,
Who stops his ears from hearing of bloodshed,
And [q] shuts his eyes from seeing evil:
16 He will dwell on [4] high;
His place of defense will be the fortress of rocks;
Bread will be given him,
His water will be sure.

The Land of the Majestic King

17 Your eyes will see the King in His [r] beauty;
They will see the land that is very far off.
18 Your heart will meditate on terror:

Where is he who weighs?
Where is he who counts the towers?"

Of a [5] stammering tongue that you cannot understand.

20 [v] Look upon Zion, the city of our appointed feasts;
Your eyes will see [w] Jerusalem, a quiet home,
A tabernacle that will not be taken down;
[x] Not one of [y] its stakes will ever be removed,
Nor will any of its cords be broken.
21 But there the majestic LORD will be for us
A place of broad rivers and streams,
In which no [6] galley with oars will sail,
Nor majestic ships pass by 22 (For the LORD is our [z] Judge,
The LORD is our [a] Lawgiver,
[b] The LORD is our King;
He will save us);
23 Your tackle is loosed,
They could not strengthen their mast,
They could not spread the sail.

Then the prey of great plunder is divided;
The lame take the prey.

Judgment on the Nations

CHAPTER 34

34 Come [a] near, you nations, to hear;
And heed, you people!
[b] Let the earth hear, and all that is in it,

1 [a] Ps. 49:1; Is. 41:1; 43:9 [b] Deut. 32:1; Is. 1:2

33:12 lime...thorns. Burned limestone became dust; thorn bushes burned rapidly.

33:13 afar off...near. When God puts down the final enemies of Israel, He will receive worldwide acknowledgment of His might.

33:14 afraid; fearfulness. When sinners (false professors among the elect) comprehend the might of God, fear takes hold of their lives (Acts 5:11; Heb. 12:29).

33:15 righteously...uprightly. The only survivors in the presence of mighty God will be the righteous (Pss. 15:1-5; 24:3,4).

33:16 place of defense...bread...water. Those who are right with God will enjoy perfect security and ample provisions (32:15, 17,18).

33:17 King in His beauty. The prophecy moves beyond Hezekiah in his sackcloth, oppressed by his enemy, to Messiah in His beauty. Seeing Him in glory is another reward of the righteous. The near-future deliverance from Sennacherib anticipates a more distant wonder when the Messiah will sit on His throne.

33:18,19 In that future day God's people will remember past hardships under foreign domination.

33:20 tabernacle...not be taken down. God's presence is to permanently inhabit restored Jerusalem in the millennial kingdom.

33:21 broad rivers and streams. God is to restore wide rivers and streams as a means of defending the city.

33:22 He will save us. In explicit language, God, not the surrounding nations, is to deliver Israel.

33:23 tackle is loosed. In her own strength, Jerusalem is as helpless to defend herself as a ship deprived of its ropes and pulleys, that cannot sail.

33:23 lame take the prey. The weak city defeats the invaders with the Lord's enablement.

33:24 not say, "I am sick"...forgiven their iniquity. When Christ returns to rule, Jerusalem will be free of physical and spiritual problems.

34:1 Come near. Isaiah invited the nations to approach to hear God's sentence of judgment against them.

The world and all things that come forth from it.
2 For the indignation of the LORD is against all nations,
And His fury against all their armies;
He has utterly destroyed them,
He has given them over to the [c]slaughter.
3 Also their slain shall be thrown out;
[d]Their stench shall rise from their corpses,
And the mountains shall be melted with their blood.
4 [e]All the host of heaven shall be dissolved,
And the heavens shall be rolled up like a scroll;
[f]All their host shall fall down
As the leaf falls from the vine,
And as [g]fruit falling from a fig tree.

5 "For [h]My sword shall be bathed in heaven;
Indeed it [i]shall come down on Edom,
And on the people of My curse, for judgment.
6 The [j]sword of the LORD is filled with blood,
It is made [1]overflowing with fatness,
With the blood of lambs and goats,
With the fat of the kidneys of rams.
For [k]the LORD has a sacrifice in Bozrah,
And a great slaughter in the land of Edom.
7 The wild oxen shall come down with them,
And the young bulls with the mighty bulls;
Their land shall be soaked with blood,
And their dust [2]saturated with fatness."

8 For it is the day of the LORD's [l]vengeance,
The year of recompense for the cause of Zion.
9 [m]Its streams shall be turned into pitch,
And its dust into brimstone;
Its land shall become burning pitch.
10 It shall not be quenched night or day;
[n]Its smoke shall ascend forever.
[o]From generation to generation it shall lie waste;
No one shall pass through it forever and ever.
11 [p]But the [3]pelican and the [4]porcupine shall possess it,
Also the owl and the raven shall dwell in it.
And [q]He shall stretch out over it
The line of confusion and the stones of emptiness.
12 They shall call its nobles to the kingdom,
But none shall be there, and all its princes shall be nothing.

13 And [r]thorns shall come up in its palaces,
Nettles and brambles in its fortresses;
[s]It shall be a habitation of jackals,
A courtyard for ostriches.
14 The wild beasts of the desert shall also meet with the [5]jackals,
And the wild goat shall bleat to its companion;

34:3 Their stench. Prolonged exposure of dead corpses was and is repulsive and disgraceful (see 14:19).

34:4 heavens...scroll. Not even the heavens are to escape the effects of God's wrath. Revelation 6:14 affirms the future fulfillment of this prophecy during Daniel's 70th week (see 2:19; 13:10).

34:5 Edom. The prophet selects Edom as a representative of the rest of the nations (cf. 63:1; Gen. 25:23; Num. 20:14-21; Ezek. 35:1-15; Obad. 1-14; Mal. 1:2,3; cf. 25:10). people of My curse. Lit. "devoted people." The expression's negative connotation stems from their involuntary devotion to God.

34:6,7 lambs and goats...rams...wild oxen...bulls. Since the nations had not repented and obeyed God's way of sacrifice for sins, they became the sacrificial penalty for their own sins.

34:6 Bozrah. A chief city of Edom located about 20 mi. SE of the southern end of the Dead Sea.

34:8 day of the LORD's vengeance. See note on 2:10-22. God's day of vengeance on Edom (63:4) will be the same as on the rest of the nations (59:17,18; 61:2).

34:9,10 God's judgment is to reduce the nations to a state of perpetual volcanic waste.

34:9 brimstone...burning pitch. Genesis 19:24,28 describes Sodom in similar terms (cf. 30:33; Deut. 29:23; Ps. 11:6; Jer. 49:18; Ezek. 38:22).

34:10 smoke shall ascend forever. Revelation forecasts this destiny for final Babylon, the great end-time world empire (Rev. 14:10,11; 18:18; 19:3).

34:11-15 Various forms of animal and bird life symbolize the depopulated condition into which the nations fall after God's judgment upon them (13:21,22; 14:23).

34:11,13 pelican...owl...raven...ostriches. The presence of unclean birds was a sign of desolation and wilderness. Similar symbolism portrays the final state of Babylon in the future (Rev. 18:2; cf. 13:21; Jer. 50:39; Zeph. 2:13,14).

Also [6]the night creature shall rest there,
And find for herself a place of rest.
15 There the arrow snake shall make her nest and lay eggs
And hatch, and gather them under her shadow;
There also shall the hawks be gathered,
Every one with her mate.

16 "Search from [t]the book of the LORD, and read:
Not one of these shall fail;
Not one shall lack her mate.
For My mouth has commanded it, and His Spirit has gathered them.
17 He has cast the lot for them,
And His hand has divided it among them with a measuring line.
They shall possess it forever;
From generation to generation they shall dwell in it."

The Future Glory of Zion

35 The [a]wilderness and the [1]waste-land shall be glad for them,
And the [b]desert[2] shall rejoice and blossom as the rose;
2 [c]It shall blossom abundantly and rejoice,
Even with joy and singing.
The glory of Lebanon shall be given to it,
The excellence of Carmel and Sharon.
They shall see the [d]glory of the LORD,
The excellency of our God.
3 [e]Strengthen the [3]weak hands,
And make firm the [4]feeble knees.
4 Say to those who are fearful-hearted,
"Be strong, do not fear!
Behold, your God will come with [f]vengeance,
With the recompense of God;
He will come and [g]save you."

5 Then the [h]eyes of the blind shall be opened,
And [i]the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped.
6 Then the [j]lame shall leap like a deer,
And the [k]tongue of the dumb sing.
For [l]waters shall burst forth in the wilderness,
And streams in the desert.
7 The parched ground shall become a pool,
And the thirsty land springs of water;
In [m]the habitation of jackals, where each lay,
There shall be grass with reeds and rushes.

8 A [n]highway shall be there, and a road,
And it shall be called the Highway of Holiness.
[o]The unclean shall not pass over it,
But it shall be for others.
Whoever walks the road, although a fool,
Shall not go astray.
9 [p]No lion shall be there,
Nor shall any ravenous beast go up on it;

34:16 My mouth has commanded. The prophecies against the nation in vv. 1-15 were just as certain as God's sovereign command through His prophet.

34:17 divided it...with a measuring line. God had partitioned off Edom just as He once did Canaan (Num. 26:55,56; Josh. 18:4-6) and allotted it to the wild animals listed in vv. 11-15.

35:1-4 In contrast to luxuriant Edom that is to become a desert (34:1-17), during Messiah's reign on earth the whole world is to become a flourishing garden and this will offer encouragement to the weak.

35:1 desert...as the rose. Dramatic changes in the land are to come during the messianic age (see 30:23-25; 32:15-20).

35:2 Lebanon...Carmel and Sharon. Areas near the sea noted for their agricultural fertility. They shall see. Israel is to recognize the earth's newfound fruitfulness as coming from the Lord and attribute to Him the appropriate credit.

35:3 weak hands...feeble knees. The future change in Israel's international role is to serve to encourage the discouraged among the people. The writer of Hebrews gave an additional application of this verse to strengthen endurance among Christians suffering persecution for their faith (Heb. 12:12).

35:4 vengeance...save you. The vengeance of God (34:8) is to furnish the means to redeem His long-oppressed people of Israel.

35:5 eyes...opened...ears...unstopped. This is to reverse the spiritual condition of the immediate objects of Isaiah's ministry (see 29:18; 32:3).

35:6 lame...sing. God's restoration in the millennial age is to include physical restoration to the afflicted. Jesus' first coming gave a foretaste of that future day (Matt. 11:5; 12:22; Mark 7:37; Luke 7:21; Acts 3:8).

35:6,7 streams in the desert...springs of water. Water was and is a precious commodity in Israel (41:18). In the Millennium, there will be no scarcity.

35:7 habitation of jackals. The rocky crags normally inhabited by jackals (34:13) are to become splashy meadows.

35:8 Highway of Holiness. This refers to the way leading the redeemed back to Jerusalem, the throne of Messiah, literally and spiritually. Christ Himself is to be the leader on that way, called in 40:3, the "way of the LORD."

35:9 lion...ravenous beast. No ferocious beasts are to threaten the safety of those traveling the Highway of Holiness. the redeemed. Mentioned only rarely in chaps. 1–39 (1:27; 29:22) whose

It shall not be found there.

And [r]sorrow and sighing shall flee

Sennacherib Boasts Against the LORD

36 Now [a]it came to pass in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah that Sennacherib king of Assyria came up against all the fortified cities of Judah and took them. 2 Then the king of Assyria sent the [1]Rabshakeh with a great army from Lachish to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. And he stood by the aqueduct from the upper pool, on the highway to the Fuller's Field. 3 And [b]Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, [c]Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came out to him.

4 [d]Then the Rabshakeh said to them, "Say now to Hezekiah, 'Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria: "What confidence is this in which you trust? 5 I say you speak of having plans and power for war; but they are [2]mere words. Now in whom do you trust, that you rebel against me? 6 Look! You are trusting in the [e]staff of this broken reed, Egypt, on which if a man leans, it will go into his hand and pierce it. So is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who [f]trust in him.

7 "But if you say to me, 'We trust in the LORD our God,' is it not He whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah has taken away, and said to Judah and Jerusalem, 'You shall worship before this altar'?" ' 8 Now therefore, I urge you, give a pledge to my master the king of Assyria, and I will give you two thousand horses—if you are able on your part to put riders on them! 9 How then will you repel one captain of the least of my master's servants, and put your trust in Egypt for chariots and horsemen? 10 Have I now come up without the LORD against this land to destroy it? The LORD said to me, 'Go up against this land, and destroy it.' "

11 Then Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah said to the Rabshakeh, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic, for we understand it; and do not speak to us in [3]Hebrew in the hearing of the people who are on the wall."

theme is judgment; terms for redemption occur frequently in chaps. 40–66.

35:10 the ransomed...flee away. See 51:11 where the words occur again. Gladness is to replace sadness across the board in the day of Israel's restoration.

36:1–39:8 The 4 chapters duplicate almost verbatim 2 Kin. 18:13–20:19 (cf. 2 Chr. 32:1-23). See 2 Kings notes for amplification. Isaiah added this material to make the references to Assyria more understandable. It is most probable that Isaiah is the author of this section, since 2 Chr. 32:32 says Isaiah also wrote the acts of Hezekiah. Isaiah's record was incorporated into 2 Kings by the author of that record. These chapters form the transition closing the first division of Isaiah's prophecy. Chapters 36,37 are the historical consummation of chaps. 1–35—Jerusalem's deliverance from Assyria—and chaps. 38,39 the historical basis for chaps. 40–66—a preview of the Babylonian captivity.

36:1 fourteenth year of King Hezekiah. Since Sennacherib's attack came in 701 B.C., this places the beginning of Hezekiah's reign in 715 B.C. But since 2 Kin. 18:1 says he began to reign in the third year of Hoshea, ca. 729 B.C., Hezekiah served as co-regent with Ahaz (ca. 729–716 B.C.) before assuming the throne exclusively. It was customary for the later kings of Israel to assume their sons into partnership in the government during their lives. Sennacherib. The king of Assyria (ca. 705 to 681 B.C.). fortified cities. The discovery of the ancient Annals of Sennacherib reveals the cities he conquered in his campaign southward from Sidon on the Mediterranean coast.

36:2 Rabshakeh. The spokesman for Sennacherib's 3 highest officials, who represented the king against Jerusalem on this occasion, according to 2 Kin. 18:17. great army. This was a token force of the main army (37:36), with which Sennacherib hoped to bluff Judah into submitting. Lachish. A city about 25 mi. SW of Jerusalem. Sennacherib's conquest of this city was in its closing phase when he sent the messengers. aqueduct from the upper pool. Isaiah met Ahaz at the same spot to try unsuccessfully to dissuade him from trusting in foreign powers (7:3).

36:3 Eliakim...Shebna. See notes on 22:19-22. Joah...the recorder. The position was that of an intermediary between the king and the people.

36:4-10 Rabshakeh's logic was twofold: (1) Egypt was to be unable to deliver Jerusalem (vv. 4-6,8,9), and (2) the Lord had called on the Assyrians to destroy Judah (vv. 7,10).

36:4 great king, the king of Assyria. The self-appropriated title of Assyrian kings. In contrast, Rabshakeh rudely omitted any title for Hezekiah (vv. 4,14,15,16).

36:5 mere words. Words amounted to nothing when it came to warfare. In other words, Judah was defenseless.

36:6 broken reed, Egypt. The Assyrian's advice strongly resembled that of Isaiah (19:14-16; 30:7; 31:3).

36:7 He whose high places and whose altars. Rabshakeh mistakenly thought Hezekiah's reforms in removing idols (2 Kin. 18:4; 2 Chr. 31:1) had removed opportunities to worship the Lord. this altar. That all worship should center in Solomon's temple, was utterly foreign to the polytheistic Assyrians.

36:8,9 Rabshakeh taunted and minimized Judah's best defensive efforts, even with Egypt's help.

36:10 The LORD said. Rabshakeh's boastful claim of the authority from Judah's God for his mission may have been a ploy on his part to get a surrender, but it aligned with Isaiah's prophecy that the Assyrians would be His instrument to punish His people (8:7,8; 10:5,6). The Assyrians may have heard this from partisans or may not have known this, but Judah did.

36:11 Aramaic...Hebrew. Hezekiah's representatives, aware of the alarm created by the suggestion that the Lord was on the Assyrian side, asked Rabshekah to change from Hebrew to Aramaic, the language of diplomacy, so the people on the wall could not understand his words and be terrified.

12 But the Rabshakeh said, "Has my master sent me to your master and to you to speak these words, and not to the men who sit on the wall, who will eat and drink their own waste with you?"

13 Then the Rabshakeh stood and called out with a loud voice in Hebrew, and said, "Hear the words of the great king, the king of Assyria! 14 Thus says the king: 'Do not let Hezekiah deceive you, for he will not be able to deliver you; 15 nor let Hezekiah make you trust in the LORD, saying, "The LORD will surely deliver us; this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria." ' 16 Do not listen to Hezekiah; for thus says the king of Assyria: 'Make peace with me by a present and come out to me; [g]and every one of you eat from his own vine and every one from his own fig tree, and every one of you drink the waters of his own cistern; 17 until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards. 18 Beware lest Hezekiah persuade you, saying, "The LORD will deliver us." Has any one of the [h]gods of the nations delivered its land from the hand of the king of Assyria? 19 Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Indeed, have they delivered [i]Samaria from my hand? 20 Who among all the gods of these lands have delivered their countries from my hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem from my hand?' "

21 But they [4]held their peace and answered him not a word; for the king's commandment was, "Do not answer him." 22 Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes torn, and told him the words of the Rabshakeh.

Isaiah Assures Deliverance

37 And [a]so it was, when King Hezekiah heard it, that he tore his clothes, covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the LORD. 2 Then he sent Eliakim, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz. 3 And they said to him, "Thus says Hezekiah: 'This day is a day of [b]trouble and rebuke and [1]blasphemy; for the children have come to birth, but there is no strength to bring them forth. 4 It may be that the LORD your God will hear the words of the Rabshakeh, whom his master the king of Assyria has sent to [c]reproach the living God, and will rebuke the words which the LORD your God has heard. Therefore lift up your prayer for the remnant that is left.' "

5 So the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah. 6 And Isaiah said to them, "Thus you shall say to your master, 'Thus says the LORD: "Do not be afraid of the words which you have heard, with which the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed Me. 7 Surely I will send a spirit upon him, and he shall hear a rumor and return to his own land; and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land." Sennacherib's Threat and Hezekiah's Prayer

8 Then the Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah, for he heard that he had departed

36:12 men...on the wall. The foreign emissary continued his efforts to damage the city's morale by speaking of the horrors of famine that a long siege would entail.

36:13-17 Rabshakeh spoke longer and louder, suggesting that Hezekiah could not save the city, but the great king, the king of Assyria, would fill the people with abundance (vv. 16,17).

36:16 Make...present. Lit. "Make a blessing with me." The official invited the people to make a covenant with Assyria by surrendering.

36:17 take you away. Rabshakeh did not hide Assyria's well-known practice of deporting conquered peoples to distant places.

36:18-20 In Rabshakeh's eyes, the Lord was one of the many gods worshiped by nations conquered by the Assyrians (cf. 10:8-11).

36:21 held their peace. Hezekiah had apparently anticipated the ultimatum of the Assyrians and had told his representatives and the men on the wall not to respond.

36:22 clothes torn. The king's representatives reported to him in a state of grief and shock at the blasphemy they thought they had heard.

37:1 tore...sackcloth. A reaction that symbolized Hezekiah's grief, repentance and contrition. The nation was to repent and the king was to lead the way. house of the LORD. God designated the temple as His "house of prayer" (56:7; Matt. 21:13; Mark 11:17; Luke 19:46), so it was the proper place to go to confess sins and seek forgiveness (cf. Ps. 73:16,17).

37:2 elders of the priests. Senior religious leaders in Israel.

37:3 come to birth...no strength. Hezekiah compared his dilemma with a mother in labor unable to deliver her child. Jerusalem had to be delivered, but he was helpless to make it happen.

37:4 reproach the living God. Hezekiah received a report of Rabshakeh's belittling of the Lord by equating Him with other gods and points out the distinction between God who is living and gods who are lifeless and helpless (40:18-20; 46:5-7). remnant that is left. Only Jerusalem remained unconquered. Hezekiah asked Isaiah's prayer for the city.

37:6 Do not be afraid. The same assurance Isaiah had given Ahaz (7:4).

37:7 spirit. The Lord promised to incline Sennacherib's attitude in such a way that he would leave Jerusalem unharmed and return home.

37:8 Libnah. After conquering Lachish, Sennacherib moved on to this smaller town to the N of Lachish.

from Lachish. 9 And the king heard concerning Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, "He has come out to make war with you." So when he heard it, he sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, 10 "Thus you shall speak to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying: 'Do not let your God in whom you trust deceive you, saying, "Jerusalem shall not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria." 11 Look! You have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands by utterly destroying them; and shall you be delivered? 12 Have the [d]gods of the nations delivered those whom my fathers have destroyed, Gozan and Haran and Rezeph, and the people of Eden who were in Telassar? 13 Where is the king of [e]Hamath, the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah?' "

14 And Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the messengers, and read it; and Hezekiah went up to the house of the LORD, and spread it before the LORD. 15 Then Hezekiah prayed to the LORD, saying: 16 "O LORD of hosts, God of Israel, the One who dwells between the cherubim, You are God, You [f]alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth. You have made heaven and earth. 17 [g]Incline Your ear, O LORD, and hear; open Your eyes, O LORD, and see; and [h]hear all the words of Sennacherib, which he has sent to reproach the living God. 18 Truly, LORD, the kings of Assyria have laid waste all the nations and their [i]lands, 19 and have cast their gods into the fire; for they were [j]not gods, but the work of men's hands—wood and stone. Therefore they destroyed them. 20 Now therefore, O LORD our God, [k]save us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may [l]know that You are the LORD, You alone."

The Word of the LORD Concerning Sennacherib

21 Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, 'Because you have prayed to Me against Sennacherib king of Assyria, 22 this is the word which the LORD has spoken concerning him:

"The virgin, the daughter of Zion,
Has despised you, laughed you to scorn;
The daughter of Jerusalem
Has shaken her head behind your back!

23 "Whom have you reproached and blasphemed?
Against whom have you raised your voice,
And lifted up your eyes on high?
Against the Holy One of Israel.
24 By your servants you have reproached the Lord,
And said, 'By the multitude of my chariots
I have come up to the height of the mountains,
To the limits of Lebanon;
I will cut down its tall cedars
And its choice cypress trees;
I will enter its farthest height,
To its fruitful forest.
25 I have dug and drunk water,
And with the soles of my feet I have dried up
All the brooks of [2]defense.'

26 "Did you not hear [m]long ago
How I made it,
From ancient times that I formed it?

25 [2] Or perhaps Egypt
26 [m] Is. 25:1; 40:21; 45:21

37:9 Tirhakah king of Ethiopia. Tirhakah did not become king of Ethiopia (and Egypt) until 11 years after the 701 B.C. siege, so Isaiah's use of "king" anticipates his future title. At that moment, however, he represented a threat to Sennacherib from the S that caused him to renew his call for Jerusalem's surrender to the N.

37:10-13 The king of Assyria sent messengers to summarize the arguments given in Rabshakeh's ultimatum of 36:4-19.

37:10 deceive. The accusation of deception was first against Hezekiah (36:14), then against the Lord.

37:11-13 The threat repeats the thrust of 36:18-20.

37:12 The conquered cities mentioned here lay between the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers in Mesopotamia.

37:13 These were cities of Syria that had fallen to the Assyrians recently.

37:14 house of the LORD. Godly Hezekiah returned to the house of the Lord (cf. v. 1) as he should have, in contrast to Ahab, who in a similar crisis refused even to ask a sign from the Lord (7:11,12).

37:16 the One who dwells...heaven and earth. The basis for Hezekiah's plea was God's role as the Sovereign and Creator of the universe, not Judah's worthiness to be delivered.

37:17 hear...see...hear. In contrast to the gods of other nations (Ps. 115:4-7), the God of Israel heard and saw all.

37:18,19 Hezekiah exploded the Assyrian theory that the Lord was no different from gods of the other nations that could not deliver their worshipers.

37:20 You alone. Hezekiah displayed the highest motivation of all in requesting the salvation of Jerusalem: that the world may know that the Lord alone is God (cf. Dan. 9:16-19).

37:21 Isaiah the son of Amoz. Immediately upon the conclusion of Hezekiah's prayer, Isaiah had a response from the Lord.

37:22 laughed you to scorn. Jerusalem, portrayed as a virgin helpless before a would-be rapist, had the "last laugh" against Sennacherib.

37:23 you reproached and blasphemed. The Lord had heard Sennacherib's reproach against Him (37:17).

37:24,25 Even the servants of Sennacherib had bragged about Assyria's being unstoppable.

Now I have brought it to pass,
That you should be
For crushing fortified cities into heaps of ruins.
27 Therefore their inhabitants had little power;
They were dismayed and confounded;
They were as the grass of the field
And the green herb,
As the grass on the housetops
And grain blighted before it is grown.

28 "But I know your dwelling place,
Your going out and your coming in,
And your rage against Me.
29 Because your rage against Me and your tumult
Have come up to My ears, Therefore [n]I will put My hook in your nose
And My bridle in your lips,
And I will [o]turn you back
By the way which you came." '

30 "This shall be a sign to you:

You shall eat this year such as grows of itself,
And the second year what springs
from the same;
Also in the third year sow and reap,
Plant vineyards and eat the fruit of
them.

29 [n] 2 Kin. 19:35-37; 2 Chr. 32:21; Is. 30:28; Ezek. 38:4 [o] Ezek. 38:4; 39:2

31 And the remnant who have escaped of the house of Judah
Shall again take root downward,
And bear fruit upward.
32 For out of Jerusalem shall go a remnant,
And those who escape from Mount
Zion.
The [p]zeal of the LORD of hosts will do this.

33 "Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria:

'He shall not come into this city,
Nor shoot an arrow there,
Nor come before it with shield,
Nor build a siege mound against it.
34 By the way that he came,
By the same shall he return;
And he shall not come into this

Says the LORD.

Sennacherib's Defeat and Death

36 Then the [s]angel[3] of the LORD went out, and [4]killed in the camp of the Assyrians one hundred and eighty-five thousand; and when people arose early in the morning, there were the corpses—all dead. 37 So Sennacherib king of Assyria departed and went away, returned home, and remained at Nineveh. 38 Now it came to pass, as he was worshiping in the house of 37:26 I have brought it to pass. God corrected Sennacherib's vanity; he conquered nothing on his own, but was a mere instrument in the Lord's hand.

37:27 They were dismayed. Assyria had utterly overwhelmed populations included in their conquests.

37:28 your rage against Me. Sennacherib's ignorance of being a mere tool in the Lord's hand was bad, but his belittling of God, the source of his life, was far worse.

37:29 hook in your nose...bridle in your lips. In judging Sennacherib, the Lord treated him as a obstinate animal with a ring in his nose and/or a bridle in his mouth. Some ancient sources indicate that captives were led before a king by a cord attached to a hook or ring through the upper lip and nose. Thus, he was to be brought back to his own country.

37:30 sign. The two years in which they were sustained by the growth of the crops were the two in which Sennacherib ravaged them (cf. 32:10). He left immediately after the deliverance (37:37), so in the third year, the people left could plant again.

37:31,32 remnant...remnant. From the remnant of survivors in Jerusalem came descendants who covered the Land once again (1:9,27; 3:10; 4:3; 6:13; 8:16,17; 10:20,22; 11:12,16; 26:1-4,8; 27:12; 28:5; 37:4).

37:32 zeal of the LORD of hosts. The same confirmation of God's promise in 9:7 assured the future establishment of the messianic kingdom. Deliverance from Sennacherib in Hezekiah's day was a down payment on the literal, final restoration of Israel.

37:33 shall not come...build a siege mound. God promised that the Assyrians would not even pose a physical threat to Jerusalem. He came near, but never engaged in a true siege of the city.

37:34 shall he return. In contrast with his arrival in Judah as an overbearing, invincible monarch, he returned to Assyria as a defeated, dejected "has been." In his own Annals he claimed only to have "shut up" Jerusalem, not to have conquered it.

37:35 For My own sake. Since Sennacherib had directly challenged the Lord's faithfulness to His word (v. 10), the faithfulness of God was at stake in this contest with the Assyrians (cf. Ezek. 36:22, 23). for My servant David's sake. God pledged to perpetuate David's line on his throne (2 Sam. 7:16; cf. 9:6,7; 11:1; 55:3).

37:36 the angel of the LORD. This was Isaiah's only use of a title that is frequent in the OT, one referring to the Lord Himself. For identification, see note on Ex. 3:2. killed. Secular records also mention this massive slaughter of Assyrian troops, without noting its supernatural nature, of course (cf. Ex. 12:12,29).

37:37 Nineveh. The capital of Assyria.

Nisroch his god, that his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer struck him down with the sword; and they escaped into the land of Ararat. Then [t]Esarhaddon his son reigned in his place.

Hezekiah's Life Extended

38 In [a]those days Hezekiah was sick and near death. And Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, went to him and said to him, "Thus says the LORD: [b]'Set your house in order, for you shall die and not live.' "

2 Then Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall, and prayed to the LORD, 3 and said, [c]"Remember now, O LORD, I pray, how I have walked before You in truth and with a [1]loyal heart, and have done what is good in Your [d]sight." And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

4 And the word of the LORD came to Isaiah, saying, 5 "Go and tell Hezekiah, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father: "I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears; surely I will add to your days fifteen years. 6 I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria, and [e]I will defend this city." ' 7 And this is [f]the sign to you from the LORD, that the LORD will do this thing which He has spoken: 8 Behold, I will bring the shadow on the sundial, which has gone down with the sun on the sundial of Ahaz, ten degrees backward." So the sun returned ten degrees on the dial by which it had gone down.

9 This is the writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, when he had been sick and had recovered from his sickness:

10 I said,
"In the prime of my life
I shall go to the gates of Sheol;
I am deprived of the remainder of my years."
11 I said,
"I shall not see [2]YAH,
The LORD [g]in the land of the living;
I shall observe man no more
[3]among the inhabitants of [4]the world.
12 [h]My life span is gone,
Taken from me like a shepherd's tent;
I have cut off my life like a weaver.
He cuts me off from the loom;
From day until night You make an end of me.
13 I have considered until morning—
Like a lion,
So He breaks all my bones;
From day until night You make an end of me.
14 Like a crane or a swallow, so I chattered;
[i]I mourned like a dove;
My eyes fail from looking upward.
O [5]LORD, I am oppressed;
[6]Undertake for me!

15 "What shall I say?
[7]He has both spoken to me,
And He Himself has done it.
I shall walk carefully all my years
[j]In the bitterness of my soul.

37:38 his god. The place of Sennacherib's death (ca. 681 B.C.) recalled the impotence of his god, Nisroch, compared with the omnipotence of Hezekiah's God. struck him down. Sennacherib's pitiful death came 20 years after his confrontation with the Lord regarding the fate of Jerusalem. Ararat. Mountain region N of Israel, W of Assyria (cf. Gen. 8:4; 2 Kin. 19:37; Jer. 51:27). Esarhaddon. Successor to Sennacherib (ca. 681–669 B.C.).

38:1 In those days...sick. Hezekiah's sickness occurred before the Assyrian siege of Jerusalem described in chaps. 36,37. Isaiah placed the description of that illness here, along with chap. 39, to introduce chaps. 40–66. See note on 2 Kin. 20:1. Set your house in order. An instruction telling Hezekiah to make his final will known to his family (cf. 2 Sam. 17:23; 1 Kin. 2:1-9). you shall die and not live. The prediction sounded final, but Hezekiah knew God was willing to hear his appeal (cf. Ex. 32:7-14).

38:2,3 prayed...wept bitterly. See note on 2 Kin. 20:2,3.

38:3 loyal heart. Hezekiah's based his implied request for an extension of his life on an undivided desire to please the Lord.

38:5 fifteen years. The Lord's immediate (2 Kin. 20:4) response granted the king's request. Having to reverse a prophecy so quickly did not alarm Isaiah as it did Jonah later on (Jon. 4:2,3). Isaiah resembled Nathan in this respect (2 Sam. 7:3-6).

38:6 I will deliver...this city. The deliverance described in the previous chapter.

38:7,8 sign...ten degrees backward. Here is the first biblical mention of any means of marking time. According to 2 Kin. 20:8-10, Hezekiah requested this sign to confirm the Lord's promise of healing.

38:9 writing of Hezekiah. In response to his healing, Hezekiah wrote the record of his helplessness when facing death (vv. 10-14) and told of God's response to His condition (vv. 15-20). This poetry is missing from the parallel account in 2 Kings.

38:10 In the prime of my life. The king was probably in his thirties or forties when he fell sick.

38:11 I shall not see. Hezekiah feared that death would terminate his fellowship with the Lord. YAH. The Heb. repeats the name: "YAH, YAH." The KJV rendered it, "LORD, even the LORD." See 12:2; 26:4 for other such repetitions.

38:12 shepherd's tent...a weaver. Two comparisons with transient articles illustrate how death removes in a moment what may have seemed so permanent.

38:14 I mourned...Undertake for me! In his helplessness, Hezekiah pleaded with God to deliver him from impending death.

38:15 He Himself has done it. The king had complete confidence in God.

16 O Lord, by these things men live;
And in all these things is the life of my spirit;
So You will restore me and make me live.
17 Indeed it was for my own peace
That I had great bitterness;
But You have lovingly delivered my soul from the pit of corruption,
For You have cast all my sins behind Your back.
18 For [k]Sheol cannot thank You,
Death cannot praise You;
Those who go down to the pit cannot hope for Your truth.
19 The living, the living man, he shall praise You,
As I do this day;
[l]The father shall make known Your truth to the children.

20 "The LORD was ready to save me;
Therefore we will sing my songs with stringed instruments
All the days of our life, in the house of the LORD."

21 Now [m]Isaiah had said, "Let them take a lump of figs, and apply it as a poultice on the boil, and he shall recover."

22 And [n]Hezekiah had said, "What is the sign that I shall go up to the house of the LORD?"

The Babylonian Envoys

39 At [a]that time [1]Merodach-Baladan the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah, for he heard that he had been sick and had recovered. 2 [b]And Hezekiah was pleased with them, and showed them the house of his treasures—the silver and gold, the spices and precious ointment, and all his armory—all that was found among his treasures. There was nothing in his house or in all his dominion that Hezekiah did not show them.

3 Then Isaiah the prophet went to King Hezekiah, and said to him, "What did these men say, and from where did they come to you?"

So Hezekiah said, "They came to me from a [c]far country, from Babylon."

4 And he said, "What have they seen in your house?"

So Hezekiah answered, "They have seen all that is in my house; there is nothing among my treasures that I have not shown them."

5 Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD of hosts: 6 'Behold, the days are coming [d]when all that is in your house, and what your fathers have accumulated until this day, shall be carried to Babylon; nothing shall be left,' says the LORD. 7 'And they shall take away some of your [e]sons who will descend from you, whom you will beget; and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.' "

8 So Hezekiah said to Isaiah, [f]"The word of the LORD which you have spoken is 38:16 restore me and make me live. The king's survival was God's accomplishment.

38:17 sins behind Your back. Hezekiah felt his sickness was somehow related to his sinfulness. To be rid of the latter was to be rid of the former also.

38:18 cannot hope. Hezekiah's understanding of the resurrection of believers was incomplete. The same was true of others throughout much of the OT. But he was right in recognizing that death ended his opportunity for earthly praise and worship in the presence of men.

38:19 father...children. Word about God's faithfulness passed from generation to generation (Deut. 4:9; 6:7; Ps. 78:3,4). If Hezekiah at this point had no heir, he had another reason for frustration over dying in the prime of life.

38:20 sing...in the house of the LORD. Hezekiah was so overwhelmed with gratitude to God that he felt compelled to express it appropriately throughout the 15 years he had left on earth.

38:21,22 These two verses furnish background details of the account in vv. 1-8.

38:21 poultice on the boil. The medicine for healing the king's sickness (2 Kin. 20:7).

38:22 sign. Hezekiah's request explained why the Lord gave him a sign that he would be healed (v. 7; cf. 2 Kin. 20:8). the house of the LORD. Hezekiah went to the temple (v. 20) as Isaiah had instructed him to do (2 Kin. 20:5,8).

39:1 At that time. Just after Hezekiah's sickness and recovery. Merodach-Baladan. See note on 2 Kin. 20:12.

39:2 Hezekiah was pleased. The text does not say whether it was because of flattery or of a desire for help against the increasing Assyrian threat. Cf. "attentive" in 2 Kin. 20:13. treasures...treasures. Doubtless to try and impress his visitors (2 Chr. 32:25), Hezekiah showed all he could contribute in an alliance against the Assyrians.

39:3 Isaiah the prophet went. God's spokesman showed up without being invited to confront the king, as often happened (e.g., 7:3; 2 Sam. 12:1; 1 Kin. 13:1; 18:16,17).

39:5,6 word of the LORD...carried to Babylon. Isaiah predicted the Babylonian captivity that would come over a century later (586 B.C.), another prophecy historically fulfilled in all of its expected detail.

39:6 nothing shall be left. Hezekiah's sin of parading his wealth before the visitors backfired, though this sin was only symptomatic of the ultimate reason for the captivity. The major cause was the corrupt leadership of Manasseh, Hezekiah's son (2 Kin. 21:11-15).

39:7 sons who will descend from you. To a king without an heir, this was good news (that he would have one some day) and bad news (that his sons must go into captivity). See 2 Kin. 24:12-16; 2 Chr. 33:11; Dan. 1:3,4,6 for the prophecy's fulfillment.

39:8 word of the LORD...good. A surprising response to the negative prophecy of vv. 5-7! It perhaps acknowledged Isaiah as good!" For he said, "At least there will be peace and truth in my days."

God's People Are Comforted

CHAPTER 40

40 "Comfort, yes, comfort My people!"
Says your God.
2 "Speak [1]comfort to Jerusalem, and

That her iniquity is pardoned;

LORD's hand
Double for all her sins."

4 Every valley shall be exalted
And every mountain and hill

[e]The crooked places shall be made
[3]straight
And the rough places smooth;
5 The [f]glory of the LORD shall be

And all flesh shall see it together;
For the mouth of the LORD has spoken."

9 O Zion,

And [i]His arm shall rule for Him;
Behold, [j]His reward is with Him,

God's faithful messenger. peace and truth in my days. Hezekiah perhaps reacted selfishly, or perhaps he looked for a bright spot to lighten the gloomy fate of his descendants.

40:1–66:24 The prophecies of chaps. 1–39 addressed Judah in her situation during Isaiah's ministry (739 B.C. until ca. 686 B.C.). The prophecies of chaps. 40–66 address Judah as though the prophesied Babylonian captivity (39:5-7) were already a present reality, though that captivity did not begin until 605–586 B.C. The words "'There is no peace,' says the LORD, 'for the wicked'" (48:22; 57:21) signal the divisions of this section into three parts: chaps. 40–48, chaps. 49–57, and chaps. 58–66.

40:1–48:22 This section looks at the hope and comfort of a blessed future subsequent to God's judgment in the forthcoming Babylonian captivity.

40:1,2 Comfort...comfort. The prophecy addressed God's prophets, instructing them to emphasize the theme of comfort to a captive people in a foreign land many mi. from their home city of Jerusalem. God has good plans for great blessing to Israel in the future because they are His covenant people, who are never to be permanently cast away (cf. Rom. 11:2).

40:2 iniquity is pardoned...double for all her sins. Cruel slaughter and captivity at the hands of the Babylonians was sufficient payment for past sins; so someday after worldwide dispersion, Israel will return to her land in peace and in the glory of Messiah's kingdom.

40:3-5 A prophetic exhortation told Israel to prepare for the revelation of the Lord's glory at the arrival of Messiah. Scripture sees John the Baptist in this role (Matt. 3:3; Mark; 1:3; Luke 3:4-6; John 1:23). It likewise sees the future forerunner who is to be like Elijah preparing for Christ's second coming (Mal. 3:1; 4:5,6).

40:3,4 Prepare the way. The remnant of Israel could remove obstacles from the coming Messiah's path through repentance from their sins. John the Baptist reminded his listeners of this necessity (Matt. 3:2), as did Jesus (Matt. 4:17; Mark 1:15). These verses reflect the custom of some eastern monarchs to send heralds before them to clear away obstacles, make causeways, straighten crooked roads and valleys, and level hills (cf. 45:1,2). John had the task of getting people ready for Messiah's arrival.

40:5 glory of the LORD...revealed. Jerusalem's misery is to end and the Lord's glory to replace it, so comfort will come to the city (v. 2), and every person will see God's glorious salvation (cf. 52:10) in Messiah's future kingdom (Hab. 2:14; Rev. 21:23; cf. 11:9). mouth of the LORD has spoken. Used for confirmations also in 1:20; 58:14; 62:2.

40:6-8 All flesh...flower fades. Isaiah elaborated on how transitory humanity is: here today, gone tomorrow. People pass away like plants under the hot breath of the withering E wind. James used this illustration to teach the folly of trusting in material wealth (James 1:10,11). Peter used it to illustrate the passing nature of everything related to humanity (1 Pet. 1:24,25).

40:8 the word of our God stands forever. The permanence of God's word guarantees against any deviation from the divine plan (55:11). He has promised Jerusalem's deliverance (v. 2) through His coming (vv. 3-5), so it must happen that way (cf. Matt. 5:18; Luke 16:17).

40:9 Zion...good tidings...Jerusalem...good tidings. Like a messenger on a mountain, to be seen and heard by all, the prophet called on the city to proclaim loudly to the rest of Judah's cities the good news of God's presence there (cf. 2:3). "Behold, your God!" The restoration of Israel to the Land is to include the resumption of God's presence in Jerusalem after many centuries (Ezek. 43:1-7; Rev. 21:22,23; cf. Ezek. 11:22,23).

40:10 the Lord God shall come with a strong hand. At His second coming, Christ returns with power to defeat His enemies and gather the dispersed of Israel to their Land (Matt. 24:31; Rev. 19:11-21).

11 He will [k]feed His flock like a shepherd;
He will gather the lambs with His arm,
And carry them in His bosom,
And gently lead those who are with young.

12 [l]Who has measured the [7]waters in the hollow of His hand,
Measured heaven with a [8]span
And calculated the dust of the earth in a measure?
Weighed the mountains in scales
And the hills in a balance?
13 [m]Who has directed the Spirit of the LORD,
Or as His counselor has taught Him?
14 With whom did He take counsel, and who instructed Him,
And [n]taught Him in the path of justice?
Who taught Him knowledge,
And showed Him the way of understanding?

15 Behold, the nations are as a drop in a bucket,
And are counted as the small dust on the scales;
Look, He lifts up the isles as a very little thing.
16 And Lebanon is not sufficient to burn,
Nor its beasts sufficient for a burnt offering.
17 All nations before Him are as [o]nothing,
And [p]they are counted by Him less than nothing and worthless.

18 To whom then will you [q]liken God?
Or what likeness will you compare to Him?
19 [r]The workman molds an image,
The goldsmith overspreads it with gold,
And the silversmith casts silver chains.
20 Whoever is too impoverished for such [9]a contribution
Chooses a tree that will not rot;
He seeks for himself a skillful workman
[s]To prepare a carved image that will not totter.

21 [t]Have you not known?
Have you not heard?
Has it not been told you from the beginning?
Have you not understood from the foundations of the earth?
22 It is He who sits above the circle of the earth,
And its inhabitants are like grasshoppers,
Who [u]stretches out the heavens like a curtain,
And spreads them out like a [v]tent to dwell in.

40:11 His arm. A picture of God's omnipotence. The same arm that powerfully scatters the Jews all over the earth in judgment is to overcome Israel's oppressors (v. 10) and to tenderly feed and lead His flock (Ps. 23:1,2; Jer. 31:10; Ezek. 34:11-16; Mic. 2:12).

40:12-14 By a series of questions, to which the implied answer is "no one," the prophet emphasized the omnipotence and omniscience of God, the God whose coming is to bring comfort to Israel according to vv. 1-11.

40:12 Who has measured...in a balance. God alone has power to create the physical universe and the earth in perfect balance, weighing mountains and seas perfectly, so that the earth moves perfectly in space. This matter of the amazing balance of our planet is called the science of isostasy.

40:13,14 directed the Spirit of the LORD. Isaiah pointed to the incomparable wisdom of God. Paul alluded to this verse in connection with God's wisdom in dealing with Jews and Gentiles (Rom. 11:34) and with God's impartation of wisdom to the spiritual believer (1 Cor. 2:16).

40:15-17 Since the surrounding nations who had oppressed Israel were utterly insignificant in comparison to the Lord's greatness and power, they could not prevent His purposes from being accomplished. His deliverance of Israel was certain.

40:16 burn...burnt offering. God is so great and worthy of so much worship, that even the large wood and animal resources of Lebanon were insufficient for appropriate offerings to Him.

40:18-20 The prophet sarcastically indicated the futility of trying to portray the immensity of God—His power, wisdom, and resources—in the form of a man-made idol, no matter how ornate, durable, and immovable.

40:21-31 Isaiah extolled God as Creator, in whom the Jews were to put their full trust.

40:21 told you...understood. Throughout human history people had heard by special revelation from God that the Lord, not idols, created all things. They had also understood it from natural revelation as reason looks at creation (cf. Rom. 1:20).

40:22 sits above the circle of the earth. The word "circle" is applicable to the spherical form of the earth, above which He sits. This implies that God upholds and maintains His creation on a continuing basis (Col. 1:17; Heb. 1:3). As He looks down, men seem like insects to the One who has stretched and spread out the universal heavens.

40:23 princes...judges. God disposes of human leaders according to His will (34:12; Job 12:17-21; Ps. 107:40; Dan. 2:21). Verse 24 expands on how suddenly God removes them.

Scarcely shall they be sown,
Scarcely shall their stock take root in the earth,
When He will also blow on them,
And they will wither,
And the whirlwind will take them away like stubble.

25 "To[x] whom then will you liken Me,
Or to whom shall I be equal?" says the Holy One.
26 Lift up your eyes on high,
And see who has created these things,
Who brings out their host by number;
[y]He calls them all by name,
By the greatness of His might
And the strength of His power;
Not one is missing.

27 [z]Why do you say, O Jacob,
And speak, O Israel:
"My way is hidden from the LORD,
And my just claim is passed over by my God"?
28 Have you not known?
Have you not heard?
The everlasting God, the LORD,
The Creator of the ends of the earth,
Neither faints nor is weary.
[a]His understanding is unsearchable.
29 He gives power to the weak,
And to those who have no might He increases strength.
30 Even the youths shall faint and be weary,
And the young men shall utterly fall,
31 But those who [b]wait on the LORD
[c]Shall renew their strength;
They shall mount up with wings like eagles,
They shall run and not be weary,
They shall walk and not faint.

Israel Assured of God's Help

CHAPTER 41

41 "Keep [a]silence before Me, O coastlands,
And let the people renew their strength!
Let them come near, then let them speak;
Let us [b]come near together for judgment.

2 "Who raised up one [c]from the east?
Who in righteousness called him to His feet?
Who [d]gave the nations before him,
And made him rule over kings?
Who gave them as the dust to his sword,
As driven stubble to his bow?
3 Who pursued them, and passed [1]safely
By the way that he had not gone with his feet?
4 [e]Who has performed and done it,
Calling the generations from the beginning?
'I, the LORD, am [f]the first;
And with the last I am [g]He.' "

1 [a] Hab. 2:20; Zech. 2:13 [b] Is. 1:18
2 [c] Is. 46:11 [d] Gen. 14:14; Is. 45:1, 13
3 [1] Lit. in peace
4 [e] Is. 41:26 [f] Rev. 1:8, 17; 22:13 [g] Is. 43:10; 44:6

40:25 liken...be equal. Israel was foolish to compare such a sovereign, almighty Lord with the gods of their Babylonian captors (see v. 18).

40:26 created these things. Rather than worshiping the stars (47:13; Deut. 4:19; Jer. 7:18; 8:2; 44:17), Israel should have seen in them the evidence of God's creatorship (Ps. 19:1). As innumerable as the stars are, He knows every one and named each. Not one of the stars runs astray, but all are held by the forces with which He has endowed the universe to keep them in their orbit and place.

40:27-31 The prophet applied the comforting truths in vv. 1-26 about God to Israel's situation in Babylon during the coming captivity.

40:27 Why do you say...? In light of who God is, how could His people in exile have thought He had forgotten them or was ignorant of their condition?

40:28 Neither faints nor is weary. God was not too weak to act on their behalf, nor was fatigue an obstacle for the Creator in caring for His people (cf. vv. 29,30). Though even the young and strong become tired and fall, the Ancient of Days never does. unsearchable. To the human mind, God's wisdom is not fully comprehensible in how He chooses to fulfill His promises to deliver Israel. Paul saw a further illustration of this truth in God's plan for the final restoration of Israel (Rom. 11:33; see Is. 40:13).

40:31 wait on the LORD. See 8:17; 49:23. There is a general principle here that patient, praying believers are blessed by God with strength in their trials (cf. 2 Cor. 12:8-10). The Lord also expected His people to be patient and await His coming in glory at the end to fulfill the promises of national deliverance, when believing Israel would become stronger than they had ever been.

41:1 coastlands. The coasts of lands around the Mediterranean Sea and the islands represent the nations. renew their strength. The Lord challenged the nations that refused to wait on Him to be silent in awe and then move to renew their strength (cf. 40:31), meaning to collect their best arguments to plead their cause before Him.

41:2 one from the east. The Lord anointed Cyrus the Great, king of Persia, to accomplish His righteous will by conquering Babylon in 539 B.C. and allowing some of the Jewish exiles to return to Jerusalem (cf. 41:25; 44:28; 45:1). He founded the Persian Empire and ruled from ca. 550 to 530 B.C.

41:3 pursued...not gone with his feet. Cyrus accomplished his conquests with great ease in territories he had never before visited.

41:4 first...last. He existed before history and will exist after it (cf. 44:6; 48:12; Rev. 1:17; 2:8; 22:13). I am* He. It is legitimate to translate the two Heb. words thus represented by "I am" (see also 42:8; 43:10,13; 46:4), a messianic title appropriated by Jesus frequently as explicit testimony to His deity (e.g., Mark 13:6; 14:62; Luke 21:8; John 8:28,58; 13:19). The title comes originally from the Lord's self-revelation to Moses in Ex. 3:14.

5 The coastlands saw it and feared,
The ends of the earth were afraid;
They drew near and came.
6 [h]Everyone helped his neighbor,
And said to his brother,
[2]"Be of good courage!"
7 [i]So the craftsman encouraged the [j]goldsmith;[3]
He who smooths with the hammer inspired him who strikes the anvil, Saying, [4]"It is ready for the soldering";
Then he fastened it with pegs,
[k]That it might not totter.

8 "But you, Israel, are My servant,
Jacob whom I have [l]chosen,
The descendants of Abraham My
[m]friend.
9 You whom I have taken from the ends of the earth,
And called from its farthest regions,
And said to you,
'You are My servant,
I have chosen you and have not cast you away:
10 [n]Fear not, [o]for I am with you;
Be not dismayed, for I am your
God.
I will strengthen you,
Yes, I will help you,
I will uphold you with My righteous right hand.'

11 "Behold, all those who were incensed against you
Shall be [p]ashamed and disgraced;
They shall be as nothing,
And those who strive with you shall perish.
12 You shall seek them and not find
them—
[5]Those who contended with you.
Those who war against you
Shall be as nothing,
As a nonexistent thing.
13 For I, the LORD your God, will hold your right hand,
Saying to you, 'Fear not, I will help
you.'

14 "Fear not, you [q]worm Jacob,
You men of Israel!
I will help you," says the LORD
And your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel.
15 "Behold, [r]I will make you into a new threshing sledge with sharp teeth;
You shall thresh the mountains and beat them small,
And make the hills like chaff.
16 You shall [s]winnow them, the wind shall carry them away,
And the whirlwind shall scatter
them;
You shall rejoice in the LORD,
And [t]glory in the Holy One of Israel.

17 "The poor and needy seek water,
but there is none,
Their tongues fail for thirst.
I, the LORD, will hear them;
I, the God of Israel, will not [u]forsake them.
18 I will open [v]rivers in desolate
heights,

41:5-7 Instead of turning to the Lord when they saw His anointed one, Cyrus, approaching, the nations turned to one another for help and made more idols. See 40:18-20 regarding Isaiah's description of idols and their makers.

41:8 Israel...My servant. The faithful of the nation receive the honored corporate designation as the servant of the Lord (see note on 20:3). As His servant, they stood in bold contrast to the rest of the nations (vv. 5-7). Cf. Israel as the servant in 42:18-25. Abraham My friend. "Friend" is an even higher designation than "servant" (John 15:14,15; cf. 2 Chr. 20:7; James 2:23) and speaks of a greater faithfulness.

41:9 taken from the ends of the earth. In the last days, God will regather Israel from her worldwide dispersion as He did from Egypt and Babylon because Israel is God's chosen nation (cf. 45:4; Amos 3:2).

41:10 Fear not. Israel need not fear God's destructive judgment, as the rest of the nations do (vv. 5,13,14; 43:1,5), because He is their God and faithful to His promise to restore the nation.

41:11-13 Through the Lord's help, the enemies of Israel were to be weakened and vanish (60:12; Zech. 12:3) while God strengthened Israel.

41:14 worm. This refers to the contempt of Israel by the ungodly nations, and the same term is used similarly of the Messiah on the cross (Ps. 22:6). Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel. The Heb. for "Redeemer" refers to a near relative who has the opportunity and responsibility to buy back what a relative has lost (see note on Ruth 2:20). The term occurs 5 more times in connection with the title "Holy One of Israel." (See notes on 43:14; 47:4; 48:17; 49:7; 54:5). As the Lord purchased His people from the bondage of Egypt by the blood of the Passover Lamb, He is to do the same from their worldwide exile by the blood of the True Lamb, Jesus Christ, when they turn to Him in faith (cf. Zech. 12:10–13:1).

41:15,16 mountains...hills. Figurative representations of foreign nations, whom Israel is to grind into nothingness in the time of her kingdom, when the Lord Jesus sets Himself up as King in Jerusalem.

41:17,18 poor and needy. Israel in her deprived state as a captive of foreign nations is spoken of as thirsty for blessing and joy. In the Messiah's future kingdom, the land of Israel will be well-watered (cf. 12:2,3; 35:6,7; 43:19-20; 44:3,4; 48:20-21), a real physical blessing, but symbolizing here the spiritual quenching that will be Israel's in the Millennium.

And fountains in the midst of the valleys;
I will make the [w]wilderness a pool of water,
And the dry land springs of water.
19 I will plant in the wilderness the cedar and the acacia tree,
The myrtle and the oil tree;
I will set in the [x]desert the cypress tree and the pine
And the box tree together,
20 [y]That they may see and know,
And consider and understand together,
That the hand of the LORD has done this,
And the Holy One of Israel has created it.

The Futility of Idols

21 "Present your case," says the LORD.
"Bring forth your strong reasons," says the [z]King of Jacob.
22 "Let[a] them bring forth and show us what will happen;
Let them show the [b]former things, what they were,
That we may [6]consider them,
And know the latter end of them;
Or declare to us things to come.
23 [c]Show the things that are to come hereafter,
That we may know that you are gods;
Yes, [d]do good or do evil,
That we may be dismayed and see it together.
24 Indeed [e]you are nothing,
And your work is nothing;
He who chooses you is an abomination.

The Servant of the LORD

CHAPTER 42

1 [a] Is. 43:10; 49:3, 6; Matt. 12:18; [Phil. 2:7] [b] Matt. 3:17; 17:5; Mark 1:11; Luke 3:22; Eph. 1:6 [c] [Is. 11:2]; Matt. 3:16; [Luke 4:18, 19, 21]; John 3:34 [1] Chosen

42 "Behold! [a]My Servant whom I uphold,
My [1]Elect One in whom My soul [b]delights!
[c]I have put My Spirit upon Him;
He will bring forth justice to the Gentiles.
2 He will not cry out, nor raise His voice,

41:19 myrtle...oil tree...cypress tree...pine...box tree. Luxuriant vegetation will enrich the land when God redeems His creation (35:1,2,7; Rom. 8:19-21).

41:22,23 what will happen...come hereafter. God challenged the idols to prove their competence by predicting future events, as the Lord has done regarding "the former things," i.e., the raising of Cyrus (v. 2), the repulsion of the Assyrians from Jerusalem (chaps. 36,37), and the healing of Hezekiah (chap. 38).

41:23 do good or do evil. God invited the idols to proclaim and execute either deliverance or judgment, as He had done.

41:24 nothing...nothing. The idols were not what humans claimed they were, because they could not predict the future, nor could they judge or deliver. They were useless (44:9; Ps. 115:2-8; 1 Cor. 8:4; 10:19; Gal. 4:8).

41:25 from the north...from the rising of the sun. Cyrus, king of Persia, a land E of Babylon, approached Babylon from the N where he had conquered Media before coming to Babylon. call on My name. Apparently fulfilled by Cyrus' proclamation in Ezra 1:1-4.

41:26 no one. No soothsayer had predicted future happenings as the Lord had.

41:27-29 Idols were helpless in giving "good tidings" of future events (v. 27) and counsel to people (v. 28), and thus were useless.

42:1-9 This is the first of 4 Servant-Songs referring to Messiah (cf. 49:1-13; 50:4-11; 52:13–53:12). They speak of the Servant's gentle manner and worldwide mission. Verses 1-3 are applied to Jesus Christ at His first coming in Matt. 12:18-20.

42:1 My Servant. Others deserve the title "my servant" (see note on 20:3), but this personal Servant of the Lord is the Messiah, who was chosen (Luke 9:35; 1 Pet. 1:20; Rev. 13:8) because the Lord delights in Him (Matt. 3:17; 17:5) and puts His Spirit upon Him (11:2; 59:21; Matt. 3:16; Luke 4:18). justice to the Gentiles. At His second coming, Christ will rule over a kingdom in which justice prevails throughout the world. The millennial kingdom is not for Israel alone, though the Messiah will reign on the throne of David in Jerusalem, and Israel will be the glorious people. In fact, all the nations of the world will experience the righteousness and justice of the Messiah King.

42:2 not cry out...in the street. The quiet and submissive demeanor of Christ at His first advent fulfilled this prophecy (Matt. 11:28-30; 1 Pet. 2:23).

Nor cause His voice to be heard in the street.
3 A bruised reed He will not break,
And [2]smoking flax He will not [3]quench;
He will bring forth justice for truth.
4 He will not fail nor be discouraged,
Till He has established justice in the earth;
[d]And the coastlands shall wait for His law."

5 Thus says God the LORD,
[e]Who created the heavens and stretched them out,
Who spread forth the earth and that which comes from it,
[f]Who gives breath to the people on it,
And spirit to those who walk on it:
6 "I,[g] the LORD, have called You in righteousness,
And will hold Your hand;
I will keep You [h]and give You as a covenant to the people,
As [i]a light to the Gentiles,
7 [j]To open blind eyes,
To [k]bring out prisoners from the prison,
Those who sit in [l]darkness from the prison house.
8 I am the LORD, that is My name;
And My [m]glory I will not give to another,
Nor My praise to carved images.
9 Behold, the former things have come to pass,
And new things I declare;
Before they spring forth I tell you of them."

Praise to the LORD

10 [n]Sing to the LORD a new song,
And His praise from the ends of the earth,
[o]You who go down to the sea, and [4]all that is in it,
You coastlands and you inhabitants of them!
11 Let the wilderness and its cities lift up their voice,
The villages that Kedar inhabits.
Let the inhabitants of Sela sing,
Let them shout from the top of the mountains.
12 Let them give glory to the LORD,
And declare His praise in the coastlands.
13 The LORD shall go forth like a mighty man;
He shall stir up His zeal like a man of war.
He shall cry out, [p]yes, shout aloud;
He shall prevail against His enemies.

Promise of the LORD's Help

14 "I have held My peace a long time,
I have been still and restrained Myself.

3 [2] Or dimly burning [3] Or extinguish
4 [a] [Gen. 49:10]

10 [n] Ps. 33:3; 40:3; 98:1 [o] Ps. 107:23 [4] Lit. its fullness
13 [p] Is. 31:4

42:3 bruised reed...smoking flax. The Servant will bring comfort and encouragement to the weak and oppressed. Cf. 40:11; 50:4; 61:1 and see notes on Matt. 12:18-20.

42:4 justice in the earth. Isaiah looked beyond the first coming of Christ to His second coming. Jesus fulfilled vv. 1a,2,3 at His first coming and will fulfill vv. 1b,4 at His second coming, when He rules the earth in perfect justice with "a rod of iron" (Ps. 2:8,9; Rev. 2:27).

42:5 Thus says God the LORD, who created...walk on it. Here God spoke directly to the Messiah, identified as "You" (v. 6). God's role as Creator of the universe (cf. 40:21,22) is the basis of certainty for the fulfilling of His will by His Servant the Messiah.

42:6 I, the LORD. Beginning with 41:13, the Lord's self-identification is frequent (41:13; 42:6,8; 43:3,11,15; 45:5,6,7,18; 48:17; 49:23; 51:15). His personal name is the one He explained to Moses as specially symbolic of the unique relationship He bore to Israel (Ex. 3:15; 6:3). Here that covenant name guarantees His ministry through the Messiah-Servant. covenant to the people. The Servant is a covenant in that He personifies and provides the blessings of salvation to God's people Israel. He is the Mediator of a better covenant than the one with Moses, i.e., the New Covenant (Jer. 31:31-34; Heb. 8:6,10-12). See note on 49:8. light to the Gentiles. Simeon saw the beginning of this fulfillment at Christ's first coming (Luke 2:32). He came as the Messiah of Israel, yet the Savior of the world, who revealed Himself to a non-Jewish immoral woman by the well in Samaria (cf. John 4:25,26) and commanded His followers to preach the gospel of salvation to everyone in the world (Matt. 28:19,20). Certainly the church, made up mostly of Gentiles grafted into the trunk of blessing (cf. Rom. 9:24-30; 11:11-24), fulfills this promise, as does the future kingdom on earth when the Servant will use Israel to shine and enlighten all the nations of the earth (49:6; cf. 19:24).

42:7 open blind eyes...bring out prisoners. Jesus fulfilled these words (9:1,2; Matt. 4:13-16) when He applied them to miracles of physical healing and freedom from spiritual bondage during His incarnation (Matt. 11:5; Luke 4:18). Under the Servant's millennial reign on earth, spiritual perception will replace Israel's spiritual blindness and her captives will receive their freedom (29:18; 32:3; 35:5; 61:1).

42:9 former things...new things. The "former things" are already fulfilled or about to be fulfilled prophecies of Isaiah (cf. 41:22). The "new things" pertain to the future accomplishments of the Lord through His Messiah-Servant when He comes.

42:10 new song, and His praise. This "new song" never before sung, called for by new manifestations of God's grace, will match the newness of conditions created by the Servant's work of redemption in the kingdom, for which earth's inhabitants will also sing "His praise." Cf. 2:2; 26:1; Rev. 4:11; 5:9.

42:11 Kedar...Sela. See 16:1 and 21:16.

42:13 mighty man...man of war. As a mighty warrior, the Lord will work through His Servant to overcome all enemies (40:10; cf. 9:7; 37:32; 59:17).

42:14 held My peace...been still and restrained Myself. From the beginning of creation God remained silent, until the time was ripe to intervene in human affairs. He has not been indifferent to wickedness in the world, but will send His Servant in "the fullness of the time" (Gal. 4:4).

Now I will cry like a woman in
[5]labor,
I will pant and gasp at once.
15 I will lay waste the mountains and
hills,
And dry up all their vegetation;
I will make the rivers coastlands,
And I will dry up the pools.
16 I will bring the blind by a way they did not know;
I will lead them in paths they have not known.
I will make darkness light before
them,
And crooked places straight.
These things I will do for them,
And not forsake them.
17 They shall be [q]turned back,
They shall be greatly ashamed,
Who trust in carved images,
Who say to the molded images,
'You are our gods.'

18 "Hear, you deaf;
And look, you blind, that you may 19 [r]Who is blind but My servant,

Israel's Obstinate Disobedience

21 The LORD is well pleased for His righteousness' sake;
He will exalt the law and make it
honorable.
22 But this is a people robbed and plundered;
All of them are [6]snared in holes,
And they are hidden in prison
houses;
They are for prey, and no one delivers;
For plunder, and no one says,
"Restore!"

23 Who among you will give ear to
this?
Who will listen and hear for the time to come?
24 Who gave Jacob for plunder, and Israel to the robbers?
Was it not the LORD,
He against whom we have sinned?
[t]For they would not walk in His ways,
Nor were they obedient to His law.
25 Therefore He has poured on him
the fury of His anger
And the strength of battle;
[u]It has set him on fire all around,
[v]Yet he did not know;
And it burned him,
Yet he did not take it to [w]heart.

The Redeemer of Israel

43 But now, thus says the LORD, who created you, O Jacob,
And He who formed you, O Israel:

42:15 lay waste...dry up...dry up. God's judgment through His Servant will wreak devastation on the earth (cf. Rev. 6–19). The reverse of that will be His blessing through the same Messiah subsequently in the millennial kingdom (see 35:1-4; 41:18).

42:16 I will bring...lead...make...do. God's sovereignty will be evident to all as He guides the blind over previously uncharted courses (cf. Ex. 13:21,22). The spiritually blind (9:1,2) will see the way (see 42:7). Cf. Eph. 5:8.

42:17 carved images...molded images. God will utterly repudiate idolaters (cf. Ex. 32:4).

42:18-24 The Lord charged Israel, His servant, with unfaithfulness. In an important comparison, positive qualities of the Servant (42:1-7) are personified into an individual, the Messiah, but terms of reproach toward God's servant (42:18,19,22-24) are personified in the nation, Israel.

42:18-20 deaf...blind. Though they are called "My servant" (v. 19; 41:8; 44:21) and "My messenger" and were perfectly fitted with the truth, Isaiah's commission to prophesy highlighted the spiritual deafness and blindness of Israel (6:9,10; cf. 22:14; 29:11; 32:3). They were deaf to the voice of God and blind to spiritual reality and duty.

42:21 His righteousness' sake. In spite of Israel's deafness, blindness, and defective righteousness (v. 24), God will staunchly uphold His principles of righteousness. Cf. 59:14-17.

42:22 robbed and plundered...snared...hidden. Exiled and dispersed, Israel was like a caravan in the desert, attacked unmercifully by bandits and imprisoned in caves or dungeons, so that no human deliverer could restore them (cf. 63:5).

42:24 Was it not the LORD. The nation went into Babylonian exile and worldwide dispersion as punishment by God for their rebellion against Him (30:15; 57:17; 65:2).

42:25 the fury of His anger. The fall of Jerusalem to Babylon in 586 B.C. did not result from the strength of Babylon. Rather, Israel had to taste the wrath of God because they paid no attention to the Lord (1:3; 5:13; 29:13; 47:7; 51:1; Hos. 7:9). set him on fire. Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, burned Jerusalem when he conquered the city (2 Kin. 25:8,9).

43:1 created...formed. The only explanation for the ongoing existence of the nation of Israel is God's sovereign grace, which brought her into existence from nothing (cf. Deut. 7:6-11) and sustains her. Since she was God's creation, she could find comfort in knowing that no one or nothing can destroy her, not even her own wickedness (cf. 43:18-25; Rom. 11:1,2,25-27). Jacob...Israel. This double designation (cf. Gen. 32:28) for God's chosen nation is used by Isaiah 21 times, 16 of them in chaps. 40–49 (9:8; 10:20; 14:1; 27:6; 29:23; 40:27; 41:8,14; 42:24; 43:1,22,28; 44:1,21,23; 45:4; 46:3; 48:1,12; 49:5,6). This speaks of the Lord's special attachment to Abraham's "Fear not, [a]for I have redeemed you;

[b]I have called you by your name;
You are Mine.
2 [c]When you pass through the waters, [d]I will be with you;
And through the rivers, they shall not overflow you.
When you [e]walk through the fire, you shall not be burned,
Nor shall the flame scorch you.
3 For I am the LORD your God,
The Holy One of Israel, your Savior;
[f]I gave Egypt for your ransom,
Ethiopia and Seba in your place.
4 Since you were precious in My sight,
You have been honored,
And I have [g]loved you;
Therefore I will give men for you,
And people for your life.
5 [h]Fear not, for I am with you;
I will bring your descendants from the east,
And [i]gather you from the west;
6 I will say to the [j]north, 'Give them up!'
And to the south, 'Do not keep them back!'

And My daughters from the ends of the earth—

And let the people be assembled.
[o]Who among them can declare this,
And show us former things?
Let them bring out their witnesses, that they may be justified;
Or let them hear and say, "It is truth."
10 "You[p] are My witnesses," says the LORD, physical seed. Fear not. The Lord repeated His word, relieving Israel's fear (35:4; 41:10,13,14; cf. 7:4). redeemed. God's redemption of His people from exile is not to be complete until His Servant returns to reign over the faithful remnant in the land of Israel who have believed on Jesus Christ (cf. Zech. 12:10–13:1; Rom. 11:25-27; Rev. 11:13). The limited return from Babylon only typified the final return. See note on 43:14.

43:2 waters...rivers...fire...flame. Many perils symbolized by these words have confronted the Israelites through the centuries and will continue to do so until the nation's final redemption, but the Lord promises the nation survival through them all. The passage of Moses' and Joshua's generations through the Red Sea (Ex. 14:21,22) and the Jordan River (Josh. 3:14-17) and the preservation of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego in the fiery furnace illustrate His care for Israel.

43:3 your Savior. God is by nature a Savior (v. 11; 45:21), both temporally and eternally (see note on 1 Tim. 4:10; cf. Titus 1:3; 2:10; 3:4). God delivered Israel from Egypt and will deliver her from Babylon and all future exiles, as well as bring her to spiritual salvation (Zech. 12:10–13:1; Rom. 11:25-27). Ethiopia. See 18:1. Seba. A country either in southern Arabia or across the Red Sea in NE Africa, near Ethiopia. Egypt, Ethiopia, and Seba became a vicarious compensation so that God could spare Israel. "Sabeans" is another name for the inhabitants of Seba (cf. 45:14).

43:5,6 east...west...north...south...ends of the earth. The Lord will regather to the land of Israel the faithful remnant of His people from their worldwide dispersion in conjunction with the institution of the Messiah's kingdom on earth (cf. 11:12).

43:7 called by My name...created for My glory. The faithful remnant of Israel will bear the Lord's name and exist for one primary purpose: to glorify Him (44:23).

43:8 blind...have eyes...deaf...have ears. Restored Israel (vv. 5-7) will have their spiritual eyesight and hearing restored (29:18; contra. 42:18,19).

43:9 their witnesses. Who among the idolatrous soothsayers could predict Cyrus would deliver Israel from Babylon, or make prophecies of any kind that already were fulfilled? The gods of the nations showed no ability to reveal accurately "the former things" (41:21-23) as the Lord had. So the nations had no witnesses to accredit that their gods could speak prophetic truth.

43:10 You are My witnesses...My servant. Israel's God repeatedly predicted the future accurately, enabling Israel to witness to His truthful accuracy (v. 13), and thus the reality that He was the only eternal, living God. This witnessing they will do again in the millennial kingdom (cf. Joel 2:28-32).

43:12 declared and saved...proclaimed. As in the deliverance from Egypt (Ex. 3,4), God declared in advance how He would redeem Israel from their captivity. Then came the actual events of the saving process, followed by the Lord's proclamation of that deliverance by way of reminder. The people, on the basis of such omniscience and omnipotence, gave testimony to the true and only living God.

43:13 before the day was. Before the first day of creation when time began and throughout all periods of history, God exists and

And there is no one who can deliver out of My hand;
I work, and who will [w]reverse it?"

14 Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer,
The Holy One of Israel:
"For your sake I will send to Babylon,
And bring them all down as fugitives—
The Chaldeans, who rejoice in their ships.
15 I am the LORD, your Holy One,
The Creator of Israel, your [x]King."

16 Thus says the LORD, who [y]makes a way in the sea
And a [z]path through the mighty waters,
17 Who [a]brings forth the chariot and horse,
The army and the power
(They shall lie down together, they shall not rise;
They are extinguished, they are quenched like a wick):
18 "Do[b] not remember the former
things,
Nor consider the things of old.
19 Behold, I will do a [c]new thing,
Now it shall spring forth;
Shall you not know it?
[d]I will even make a road in the wilderness
And rivers in the desert.
20 The beast of the field will honor
Me,
The jackals and the ostriches,
Because [e]I give waters in the wilderness
And rivers in the desert,
To give drink to My people, My chosen.
21 [f]This people I have formed for Myself;
They shall declare My [g]praise.

Pleading with Unfaithful Israel

26 [1] justified

manifests His will and purpose. no one...My hand. The Heb. behind this clause is identical with the comparable clause in Deut. 32:39. God's actions are irreversible and can never end in frustration.

43:14 Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel. The former title characterizes the Lord's role in the salvation of His people in chaps. 40–66 (41:14; 43:14; 44:6,24; 47:4; 48:17; 49:7,26; 54:5,8; 59:20; 60:16; 63:16). The latter title represents his holiness throughout the book (see note at 1:4). The Lord's Servant retains His holiness in implementing His redemption of Israel. Chaldeans...their ships. When God sent a conqueror against Babylon (i.e., Cyrus, 45:1), the proud Babylonian fleet provided a means of flight for the country's fugitives. Babylon was accessible by ship through the Persian Gulf and the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers.

43:15 your King. The Lord was King over Israel from her inception, but the people asked for a human king instead (1 Sam. 8:4-7). The restoration will put Him back on the throne in the Person of His Servant the Messiah (Luke 1:31-33; cf. 6:1; 41:21).

43:16,17 sea...mighty waters...chariot and horse. To bring assurance of the greater future deliverance He will bring through His Servant, the Lord reminded Isaiah's readers of His deliverance of their ancestors from Egypt (Ex. 14:16,21,26-28; Josh. 3:13).

43:18,19 former things...things of old...new thing. Deliverances of the nation in the past will pale into insignificance in comparison with the future deliverance the Lord will give His people (42:9; 48:6; Jer. 16:14-15).

43:19,20 rivers...waters...rivers. In the Messiah's future kingdom, the barren places of Israel will be well-watered (41:18) and will supply refreshment for God's chosen people (43:1).

43:21 declare My praise. In the messianic age, Israel will finally give the Lord the credit that is due Him (contra. Jer. 13:11).

43:22-24 Even though the Lord has chosen Israel, Israel throughout her history has not chosen Him. Rather, they have wearied Him with their iniquities and empty ritualism (1:11-15).

43:25 I, even I...not remember your sins. This verse is probably the high point of grace in the OT. In spite of Israel's utter unworthiness, the Lord in His grace has devised a way that He can forgive their sins and grant righteousness (see note on 61:10), without compromising His holiness. This He would accomplish through the work of His Servant (53:6). In spite of her failures, Israel will always be God's chosen people.

43:26 State your case. God gives the nation opportunity to come into the court and plead her case. The strongest plea is not to claim personal worthiness, but to confess their sin and repent, thus pleading for mercy and forgiveness based on God's gracious promise in v. 25 and based on what Jesus Christ would do on the cross (cf. 55:6,7; Rom 3:21-26).

27 Your first father sinned,
And your [2]mediators have transgressed against Me.
28 Therefore I will profane the princes of the sanctuary;
[n]I will give Jacob to the curse,
And Israel to reproaches.

God's Blessing on Israel

44 "Yet hear me now, O Jacob My servant,
And Israel whom I have chosen.
2 Thus says the LORD who made you
And formed you from the womb, who will help you:
'Fear not, O Jacob My servant;
And you, Jeshurun, whom I have chosen.
3 For I will pour water on him who is thirsty,
And floods on the dry ground;
I will pour My Spirit on your descendants,
And My blessing on your offspring;
4 They will spring up among the grass
Like willows by the watercourses.'
5 One will say, 'I am the LORD's'; Another will call himself by the name of Jacob;
Another will write with his hand,
'The LORD's,'
And name himself by the name of Israel.

There Is No Other God

6 "Thus says the LORD, the King of
Israel,
And his Redeemer, the LORD of
hosts:
[a]'I am the First and I am the Last;
Besides Me there is no God.
7 And [b]who can proclaim as I do?
Then let him declare it and set it in order for Me,
Since I appointed the ancient
people.
And the things that are coming and shall come,
Let them show these to them.
8 Do not fear, nor be afraid;
[c]Have I not told you from that time,
and declared it?
[d]You are My witnesses.
Is there a God besides Me?
Indeed [e]there is no other Rock;
I know not one.' "

Idolatry Is Foolishness

9 [f]Those who make an image, all of them are useless,
And their precious things shall not profit;
They are their own witnesses;
[g]They neither see nor know, that they may be ashamed.
10 Who would form a god or mold an image
[h]That profits him nothing?
11 Surely all his companions would be [i]ashamed;
And the workmen, they are mere men.
Let them all be gathered together,
Let them stand up;
Yet they shall fear,
They shall be ashamed together.

43:27 first father...mediators. Sins of even the respected patriarchal ancestors of the Jewish race, like Abraham, kept them from claiming personal merit (e.g., Gen. 12:11-13; 20:2). Even such honored intermediaries between God and Israel as the priests needed cleansing from sin (6:5-7).

43:28 Jacob to the curse...Israel to reproaches. Even though God will forgive the nation in the messianic age, she still must suffer in the intervening interval.

44:1-5 Under the shadow of more punishment to come (43:26-28), the prophet spoke of abundant blessing that was to be the nation's portion during the Millennium.

44:1,2 My servant...whom I have chosen...made you...formed you. God has chosen His servant Israel to be His own eternally (43:1,21,25), and they need not fear abandonment.

44:2 Jeshurun. An honored name for Israel whose root meaning is "right" or "straight," in contrast to the root of "Jacob" which means "over-reacher" or "deceiver" (cf. Deut. 32:15).

44:3 water...floods. The extensive blessing of physical conditions will favor the nation in the coming kingdom age (43:19,20); they were also symbolic of spiritual refreshment from the Holy Spirit and God Himself (32:15; Joel 2:28,29).

44:5 the LORD's...name of Jacob...The LORD's...name of Israel. In the future golden age of Israel, belonging to the Lord and belonging to God's chosen people will be synonymous, and it will be a badge of honor gladly worn without fear.

44:6 King...Redeemer...LORD of hosts...First...Last. The Lord identified Himself as Israel's King (43:15), Redeemer (43:14), Champion in battle (1:9), and Eternal One (41:4; cf. 48:12). Jesus, in a direct affirmation of His deity, called Himself the First and the Last (cf. Rev. 1:17; 2:8; 22:13). Besides Me...no God. God's exclusive claim to deity prepared the way for another challenge to false gods in vv. 7-20 (cf. 43:10).

44:7 let him declare...Let them show. If idols can foretell "the things that are coming and shall come," let them predict accurately, as the Lord has. Since the Jews have had predictions of the future ever since God chose them as His people, they are qualified to be His witnesses (v. 8).

44:9-11 ashamed...ashamed...ashamed. The workmen who manufactured idols were mere men and could make nothing as good as or greater than man. They and others who put their trust in idols had ample reason to fear and be ashamed of such folly (v. 11; contra. v. 8).

12 [j]The blacksmith with the tongs works one in the coals,
Fashions it with hammers,
And works it with the strength of his arms.
Even so, he is hungry, and his strength fails;
He drinks no water and is faint.

13 The craftsman stretches out his rule,
He marks one out with chalk;
He fashions it with a plane,
He marks it out with the compass,
And makes it like the figure of a
man,
According to the beauty of a man, that it may remain in the house.
14 He cuts down cedars for himself,
And takes the cypress and the oak;
He [l]secures it for himself among the trees of the forest.
He plants a pine, and the rain nourishes it.

15 Then it shall be for a man to burn,
For he will take some of it and warm himself;
Yes, he kindles it and bakes bread;
Indeed he makes a god and worships it;
He makes it a carved image, and falls down to it.
16 He burns half of it in the fire;
With this half he eats meat;
He roasts a roast, and is satisfied.
He even warms himself and says,
"Ah! I am warm,
I have seen the fire."
17 And the rest of it he makes into a
god,
His carved image.
He falls down before it and
worships it,
Prays to it and says,
"Deliver me, for you are my god!"

18 [k]They do not know nor understand;
For [l]He has [2]shut their eyes, so that they cannot see,
And their hearts, so that they cannot [m]understand.
19 And no one [n]considers in his heart,
Nor is there knowledge nor understanding to say,
"I have burned half of it in the fire,
Yes, I have also baked bread on its coals;
I have roasted meat and eaten it;
And shall I make the rest of it an abomination?
Shall I fall down before a block of wood?"
20 He feeds on ashes;
[o]A deceived heart has turned him
aside;
And he cannot deliver his soul,
Nor say, "Is there not a [p]lie in my

Israel Is Not Forgotten

21 "Remember these, O Jacob,
And Israel, for you are My servant;
I have formed you, you are My
servant;
O Israel, you will not be [q]forgotten
by Me!
22 [r]I have blotted out, like a thick
cloud, your transgressions,
And like a cloud, your sins.
Return to Me, for [s]I have redeemed
you."

23 [t]Sing, O heavens, for the LORD has done it!
Shout, you lower parts of the earth;
Break forth into singing, you
mountains,
O forest, and every tree in it!
For the LORD has redeemed Jacob,
And [u]glorified Himself in Israel.

44:12-19 Human workers expended all their energy to produce a beautiful idol, but the best they could make was the likeness of a man (Deut. 4:15-18; Rom. 1:23), and that could not renew their strength. Yet they who wait on the Lord will renew their strength (40:28-31). The same humanly nurtured trees used as fuel for fires to furnish warmth and to cook also provides wood for people to make idols, which they worship and to which they entrust their prayers and themselves. Nothing could be more foolish than worshiping as deity a piece of wood, while burning the same wood in a fire to keep warm. Idol-makers cannot comprehend the idiocy of creating gods from materials used for the most trivial domestic purposes. Cf. 6:9,10; Deut. 27:15.

44:20 deceived heart...lie. Like eating ashes, which provide no nourishment, idolatry is a deception, from which the sinner gets nothing but judgment (cf. Prov. 15:14; Hos. 12:1).

44:22 blotted out...your sins. Further reassurances of God's sovereign grace at work on behalf of Israel were given (43:25). God had blotted out their sins written in His book against them (cf. Rev. 20:12). As a person can't see what is ahead because it is blocked by a "thick cloud," so God obliterated the sins of those He redeemed. Return to Me. God has already provided for redemption, even before the cross, but based on it alone. For those who turn from sin and return to Him, there is redemption (because the purchase price for the sinner was paid by the sacrifice of Christ). The Lord calls on His people to repent so they may receive the promised redemption (cf. Neh. 1:9; Jer 4:1; 24:7; Joel 2:12; Zech. 1:3; Mal. 3:7; Matt. 3:2; 4:17; Rom. 3:25,26; Heb. 9:15).

44:23 heavens...every tree...redeemed Jacob. The national redemption of Israel at Christ's second coming entails also the redemption of all nature (Rom. 8:19-22), so the prophet calls on the whole creation to rejoice.

Judah Will Be Restored

24 Thus says the LORD, [t]your Redeemer,
And [w]He who formed you from the womb:
"I am the LORD, who makes all things,
[x]Who stretches out the heavens [3]all alone,
Who spreads abroad the earth by Myself;
25 Who [y]frustrates the signs [z]of the babblers,
And drives diviners mad;
Who turns wise men backward,
[a]And makes their knowledge foolishness;
26 [b]Who confirms the word of His servant,
And performs the counsel of His messengers;
Who says to Jerusalem, 'You shall be inhabited,'
To the cities of Judah, 'You shall be built,'
And I will raise up her waste places;
27 [c]Who says to the deep, 'Be dry!
And I will dry up your rivers';
28 Who says of [d]Cyrus, 'He is My shepherd,
And he shall perform all My pleasure,
Saying to Jerusalem, [e]"You shall be built,"
And to the temple, "Your foundation shall be laid." '

Cyrus, God's Instrument

45 "Thus says the LORD to His anointed,
To [a]Cyrus, whose [b]right hand I have [1]held—
[c]To subdue nations before him
And [d]loose the armor of kings,
To open before him the double doors,
So that the gates will not be shut:
2 'I will go before you
[e]And [2]make the [3]crooked places straight;
[f]I will break in pieces the gates of bronze
And cut the bars of iron.
3 I will give you the treasures of darkness
And hidden riches of secret places,
[g]That you may know that I, the LORD,
Who [h]call you by your name,
Am the God of Israel.
4 For [i]Jacob My servant's sake,
And Israel My elect,
I have even called you by your name;
I have named you, though you have not known Me.
5 I [j]am the LORD, and [k]there is no other;
There is no God besides Me.
[l]I will gird you, though you have not known Me,

44:25 babblers...diviners. False prophets must suffer the consequences of their deceptive counsel (47:12-14; Deut. 13:1-5; Josh. 13:22; Jer. 27:9; 29:8; 50:36; Mic. 3:7).

44:26 His servant...His messengers. In contrast with His breaking the word of false prophets (v. 25), the Lord confirmed the word of His true prophets such as of Isaiah (Zech. 1:6). Most specially, God confirmed the Word of the Messiah, who is the consummate embodiment of all the prophets and messengers of God (Mal. 3:1; Matt. 21:34,36,37). raise up her waste places. The fall of Jerusalem came in 586 B.C. when the Babylonians invaded the Land. God promised to restore the Land to prosperity, the foretaste of restoration coming after 70 years with the help of the Persians (41:2), but the greater restoration to come in Messiah's kingdom.

44:27 Be dry! The Lord demonstrated His power by drying up the Red Sea and the Jordan River when delivering His people from Egypt (43:2).

44:28 Cyrus...My shepherd. The prophecy—given a century and a half before Cyrus lived and became king of Persia—predicted God's use of the Persian king to gather the faithful remnant of Israel back to the Land. In this role, Cyrus prefigured the Lord's Servant, who will shepherd the sheep of Israel in their final regathering (Mic. 5:4). The title "shepherd" applied to kings as leaders of God's people (2 Sam. 5:2; Jer. 3:15). In Acts 13:22, Paul compares David to the standard of Cyrus' obedience. Jerusalem...the temple. In 538 B.C. Cyrus decreed the rebuilding of the temple (Ezra 1:1,2; 6:3), thus fulfilling Isaiah's prophecy. The returning Jews completed the work in 516 B.C. (Ezra 6:15).

45:1 His anointed. This word is the one translated from the Heb. by the transliteration—"Messiah." It is the word used for the messianic Redeemer King in Ps. 2:2 and Dan. 9:25,26, but here refers to Cyrus, as the king set apart by God's providence for divine purposes. Though not a worshiper of the Lord, the Persian monarch played an unusual role as Israel's shepherd (44:28) and God's anointed judge on nations.

45:1,2 double doors...gates...gates of bronze. Probably this was a reference to the many gates in the city wall of Babylon which Cyrus entered with relative ease. The inner gates leading from the river to the city were left open, as were the palace doors. Herodotus, the Greek historian, reported that the openness of the city was so great that the Persians were taking prisoners as they moved to the palace in the center.

45:3 That you may know. God intended Cyrus to be aware that the God of the Jews was giving him victorious conquests. According to Josephus, the Jewish historian, who indicated that Daniel influenced Cyrus with the prophecy of Isaiah, the king did know that the God of Israel was with him.

45:4 For Jacob...have not known Me. For His servant Israel's sake, the Lord raised up Cyrus, calling him by name, even though Cyrus did not have a personal relationship to Him. At some point, Cyrus certainly became aware of the true God and His sovereign control over human affairs, perhaps through the influence of Daniel (cf. Ezra 1:1-4).

6 [m]That they may [n]know from the rising of the sun to its setting
That there is none besides Me.
I am the LORD, and there is no other;
7 I form the light and create darkness,
I make peace and [o]create calamity;
I, the LORD, do all these things.'

8 "Rain[p] down, you heavens, from above,
And let the skies pour down righteousness;
Let the earth open, let them bring forth salvation,
And let righteousness spring up together.
I, the LORD, have created it.

9 "Woe to him who strives with [q]his Maker!
Let the potsherd strive with the potsherds of the earth!
[r]Shall the clay say to him who forms it, 'What are you making?'
Or shall your handiwork say, 'He has no hands'?
10 Woe to him who says to his father, 'What are you begetting?'
Or to the woman, 'What have you brought forth?' "

11 Thus says the LORD,
The Holy One of Israel, and his Maker:
[s]"Ask Me of things to come concerning [t]My sons;
And concerning [u]the work of My hands, you command Me.
12 [v]I have made the earth,
And [w]created man on it.
I—My hands—stretched out the heavens,
And [x]all their host I have commanded.
13 [y]I have raised him up in righteousness,
And I will [4]direct all his ways;
He shall [z]build My city
And let My exiles go free,
[a]Not for price nor reward,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

The LORD, the Only Savior

14 Thus says the LORD:

[b]"The labor of Egypt and merchandise of Cush
And of the Sabeans, men of stature,
Shall come over to you, and they shall be yours;
They shall walk behind you,
They shall come over [c]in chains;
And they shall bow down to you.
They will make supplication to you, saying, [d]'Surely God is in you,
And there is no other;
[e]There is no other God.' "

15 Truly You are God, [f]who hide Yourself,
O God of Israel, the Savior!
16 They shall be [g]ashamed
And also disgraced, all of them;
They shall go in confusion together,
Who are makers of idols.
17 [h]But Israel shall be saved by the LORD
With an [i]everlasting salvation;
You shall not be ashamed or [j]disgraced
Forever and ever.

18 For thus says the LORD,
[k]Who created the heavens,

17 [h] Is. 26:4; [Rom. 11:26] [i] Is. 51:6 [j] Is. 29:22
18 [k] Is. 42:5

45:6 from the rising of the sun to its setting. This expression, meaning the whole earth, points to the fact that through the eventual, final regathering of Israel (of which Cyrus' exploits were a foretaste), the whole earth will know the Lord alone is God (cf. 43:10; 44:6).

45:8 righteousness...salvation...righteousness. Eventually the Lord will cause righteous goodness to prevail throughout the world, just as He has promised Israel that it would (v. 13; Hos. 10:12).

45:9,10 Woe...Woe. Figures of the potter and the clay and of parent and child show how absurd it is to contend with God over His plans for the future. This anticipated the objections by the Jews against 1) their captivity and restoration by a pagan king, and 2) ultimately God's sovereign plan to redeem Gentiles as well as Jews worldwide (cf. Rom. 9:20-24).

45:11 Ask Me of things to come. The Lord commands Israel to seek information about what He will do for the nation in the future, for He will reveal it.

45:12,13 I have made...He shall build My city. As the omnipotent Creator, God can save the nation through Cyrus as He has promised.

45:14 Egypt...Cush...Sabeans. Three countries to the S (cf. 43:3) illustrate the worldwide submission to Israel that will prevail during the messianic kingdom age. Surely God is in you. All nations will acknowledge the presence of the one true God among His people Israel (49:23; 60:14). Paul the apostle found a fuller sense in these words when he advised the Corinthians on exercising prophecy rather than tongues in their meetings. This brought an acknowledgment from visitors of God's presence among them (1 Cor. 14:25).

45:15 hide Yourself. The contemporary situation hid God's purposes of mercy toward Israel, i.e., that they would repent and He would eventually regather them and make Jerusalem the center of world attention (cf. 8:17; 54:8; 57:17; Ps. 44:24).

45:16,17 Israel shall be saved. Makers of idols are to find disillusionment because of the failure of their gods to deliver, but Israel is to find eternal salvation in the Lord (44:9-11; Rom. 11:25-27).

Who is God,
Who formed the earth and made it,
Who has established it,
Who did not create it [5]in vain,
Who formed it to be [l]inhabited:
[m]"I am the LORD, and there is no other.
19 I have not spoken in [n]secret,
In a dark place of the earth;
I did not say to the seed of Jacob,
'Seek Me [6]in vain';
[o]I, the LORD, speak righteousness,
I declare things that are right.

20 "Assemble yourselves and come;

Dead Idols and the Living God

46 Bel [a]bows down, Nebo stoops;
Their idols were on the beasts and on the cattle.
Your carriages were heavily loaded,
[b]A burden to the weary beast.
2 They stoop, they bow down together;

[c]But have themselves gone into captivity.

4 [e] Mal. 3:6 [f] Ps. 48:14

45:19 not spoken in secret. Unlike mysterious utterances of the false gods (8:19; 29:4), God's revelations through His true prophets are open and accessible.

45:21 Who has declared this from ancient time? The Lord's case to prove He is the only true God is unanswerable; only He foretold the captivity of Judah and the deliverance from that captivity, as well as other future events that happened just as He had predicted.

45:21 there is no other...There is none. The Lord restated the truth expressed by Moses in Deut. 4:35 (cf. 43:10; 44:6; 45:6). The scribe who asked Jesus about the greatest commandment cited this same principle in agreeing with Jesus' answer to his question (Mark 12:32).

45:22 be saved, all you ends of the earth! When the Messiah sits on His throne in Jerusalem, all people will enjoy His temporal salvation in the physical blessings of the millennial earth and will have opportunity for spiritual salvation (49:6).

45:23 every knee shall bow. In the kingdom age, all nations will worship the one true God of Israel. A further meaning, justified by the NT, applies this verse to believers' accountability to God when He evaluates their works (Rom. 14:11). In assigning the words another meaning, Paul relates the words to the coming universal acknowledgment that "Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father" (Phil. 2:10,11).

45:25 all the descendants of Israel. Physical descent from Abraham alone cannot bring justification. Only the faithful remnant of Israel will be saved (v. 17; Rom. 11:25-27). "Justified" means to be declared righteous, to be treated as if one is not sinful, but holy through the application of Christ's righteousness to the one who believes (cf. 61:10; 2 Cor. 5:21).

46:1 Bel...Nebo. The two most prominent gods in Babylon. "Bel" is another spelling for "Baal," the Phoenician chief god of Babylon. That "Nebo" was extensively worshiped is shown by the proper names compounded from his: Nebuchadnezzar, Nabopolassar, and Nebuzaradan.

46:2 gone into captivity. When Cyrus came, even the gods were taken into exile. These idols couldn't save themselves from being laid down on the backs of beasts and hauled away, let alone save the people who worshiped them.

46:3,4 all the remnant of the house of Israel. The God of Israel is not helpless like idols. In His strength He has sustained and will sustain helpless Israel through every circumstance. In v. 4, the Lord uses the first person pronoun 5 times to emphasize His personal involvement in delivering Israel.

5 "To[g] whom will you liken Me, and make Me equal
And compare Me, that we should be alike?
6 [h]They lavish gold out of the bag,
And weigh silver on the scales;
They hire a [i]goldsmith, and he makes it a god;
They prostrate themselves, yes, they worship.
7 [j]They bear it on the shoulder, they carry it
And set it in its place, and it stands;
From its place it shall not move.
Though [k]one cries out to it, yet it cannot answer
Nor save him out of his trouble.

8 "Remember this, and [2]show yourselves men;
[l]Recall to mind, O you transgressors.
9 [m]Remember the former things of old,
For I am God, and [n]there is no other;
I am God, and there is none like Me,
10 [o]Declaring the end from the beginning,
And from ancient times things that are not yet done,
Saying, [p]'My counsel shall stand,
And I will do all My pleasure,'
11 Calling a bird of prey [q]from the east,
The man [r]who executes My counsel, from a far country.
Indeed [s]I have spoken it;
I will also bring it to pass.
I have purposed it;
I will also do it.

12 "Listen to Me, you [t]stubborn-hearted,
[u]Who are far from righteousness:
13 [v]I bring My righteousness near, it shall not be far off;
My salvation [w]shall not [3]linger.
And I will place [x]salvation in Zion,
For Israel My glory.

The Humiliation of Babylon

47 "Come [a]down and [b]sit in the dust,
O virgin daughter of [c]Babylon;
Sit on the ground without a throne,
O daughter of the Chaldeans!
For you shall no more be called
Tender and [1]delicate.
2 [d]Take the millstones and grind meal.
Remove your veil,
Take off the skirt,
Uncover the thigh,
Pass through the rivers.
3 [e]Your nakedness shall be uncovered,
Yes, your shame will be seen;
[f]I will take vengeance,
And I will not arbitrate with a man."

4 As for [g]our Redeemer, the LORD of hosts is His name,
The Holy One of Israel.

5 "Sit in [h]silence, and go into darkness,
O daughter of the Chaldeans;
[i]For you shall no longer be called
The Lady of Kingdoms.
6 [j]I was angry with My people;
[k]I have profaned My inheritance,
And given them into your hand.
You showed them no mercy;

46:5-8 The human origin and utter impotence of idols renders them unfit for comparison with the God of Israel (40:18-20). In v. 8, the prophet calls on the readers to recall the impotence of the idols they worship in transgression of God's law.

46:9 Remember the former things of old. The readers are to recall: 1) all the past history of fulfilled prophecies, as well as 2) miraculous deliverances such as that from Egypt, and 3) providential blessings Israel has experienced. All of these are ample evidence that He alone is God.

46:11 man...from a far country. Cyrus was this man whom God summoned to conquer Babylon and return a remnant of Israel to end the 70 year captivity a century and a half after Isaiah wrote this prophecy (44:28; 45:1).

46:13 righteousness...salvation in Zion. At God's appointed time, the salvation of Israel will become reality and result in the Messiah's righteous kingdom (61:3; 62:11; Joel 3:17; Zech. 12:10–13:1; Rom. 11:25-27).

47:1-3 O virgin daughter of Babylon. The prophet depicted Babylon as a virgin in the sense of never before having been captured. Babylon sat like a royal virgin in the dust, experiencing complete humiliation. The "throne" was gone, taken by Persian power, and the empire never recovered from being robbed of its power, its people, and its name. The former royal virgin is depicted as a slave woman forced to exchange royal garments for working clothes, who must lift her garment to wade through the water as she serves like a slave traversing the river in her duties. Such duties in the E belonged to women of low rank, fitting imagery for Babylon's fall into degradation.

47:5 Lady of Kingdoms. The title continues the analogy of v. 1 and speaks of the exalted position from which Babylon was to fall. She was mistress of the world, but would later become a slave woman (cf. v. 7), degraded by pride and false security (v. 8).

47:6 showed them no mercy. Though God was punishing Israel in captivity, Babylon's cruel oppression of the captive Israelites was cause for the kingdom's overthrow. Cf. Jer. 50:17,18; 51:33-40; Zech. 1:15.

47:7-9 In Rev. 18:7,8,10,16,19, John alludes to these verses in describing the downfall of Babylon just before Christ's return. Compare "a lady forever" with 18:7, "am no widow" with 18:7, and "in one day" with 18:8.

So that you did not [n] take these things to heart,
[o] Nor remember the latter end of them.

8 "Therefore hear this now, you who are given to pleasures,
Who dwell securely,
Who say in your heart, 'I am, and there is no one else besides me;
I shall not sit as a widow,
Nor shall I know the loss of children';
9 But these two things shall come to you
[p] In a moment, in one day:
The loss of children, and widowhood.
They shall come upon you in their fullness
Because of the multitude of your sorceries,
For the great abundance of your enchantments.

10 "For you have trusted in your wickedness;
You have said, 'No one [q] sees me';
Your wisdom and your knowledge have [2] warped you;
And you have said in your heart,
'I am, and there is no one else besides me.'
11 Therefore evil shall come upon you;
You shall not know from where it arises.
And trouble shall fall upon you;
You will not be able [3] to put it off.
And [r] desolation shall come upon you [s] suddenly,
Which you shall not know.

12 "Stand now with your enchantments
And the multitude of your sorceries,
In which you have labored from your youth—
Perhaps you will be able to profit,
Perhaps you will prevail.
13 [t] You are wearied in the multitude of your counsels;
Let now [u] the [4] astrologers, the stargazers,
And [5] the monthly prognosticators
Stand up and save you
From what shall come upon you.
14 Behold, they shall be [v] as stubble,
The fire shall [w] burn them;
They shall not deliver themselves
From the power of the flame;
It shall not be a coal to be warmed by,
Nor a fire to sit before!
15 Thus shall they be to you
With whom you have labored,
[x] Your merchants from your youth;
They shall wander each one to his [6] quarter.
No one shall save you.

Israel Refined for God's Glory

48 "Hear this, O house of Jacob,
Who are called by the name of Israel,
And have come forth from the wellsprings of Judah;

7 [n] s. 42:25; 43:8 [o] Deut. 32:29; Jer. 5:31; Ezek. 7:2, 3
9 [p] Ps. 73:19; 1 Thess. 5:3; Rev. 18:8
10 [q] Is. 29:15; Ezek. 8:12; 9:9 [2] led you astray
11 [3] Lit. to cover it or atone for it
[r] Is. 13:6; Jer. 51:8, 43; Luke 17:27; 1 Thess. 5:3 [s] Is. 29:5
13 [t] Is. 57:10 [u] Is. 8:19; 44:25; 47:9; Dan. 2:2, 10 [4] Lit. viewers of the heavens [5] Lit. those giving knowledge for new moons
14 [v] Is. 5:24; Nah. 1:10; Mal. 4:1 [w] [Is. 10:17]; Jer. 51:58
15 [x] Rev. 18:11 [6] own side or way

47:8 no one else besides me. This pinnacle of Babylon's pride was mockery of the true God in its frivolous presumption of deity (v. 10; cf. 44:6).

47:9 In a moment, in one day. Babylon did not decay slowly, but went from being the wealthy lady, the unconquered virgin, the proud, invincible mother of many to a degraded, slave woman in the dust, who lost her throne, her children, and her very life. It happened in one night, suddenly and unexpectedly, when Cyrus and the Persian army entered the city (cf. Dan. 5:28,30). loss of children, and widowhood. Babylon did lose its inhabitants, many of whom were killed and taken captive under Cyrus. This prophecy was fulfilled again when Babylon revolted against Darius; and in order to hold out in the siege, each man chose one woman of his family and strangled the rest to save provisions. Darius impaled 3,000 of the revolters.

47:10 Sinners foolishly think they are safe, and there is none to judge them. Cf. Pss. 10:11; 94:7.

47:11 evil...trouble...desolation. The Persians under Cyrus suddenly initiated (cf. v. 9) the visitation that ultimately obliterated Babylon. Its culmination is to come in conjunction with the destruction of a revived Babylon, the world headquarters of evil at the second coming of Christ (51:8; Rev. 18:2-24).

47:12 enchantments...sorceries. The magical practices of Babylon, designed to aid against enemies (also v. 9), will characterize the Babylon of the future also (Rev. 18:23).

47:13 Let now the astrologers...save you. Babylon relied heavily on those who looked for combinations of stars, who watched conjunctions of heavenly bodies, who made much of months of birth, and who relied on the movements of stars to predict the future (Dan. 2:2,10). The prophet sarcastically points out the futility of such trust. This ancient deception is still popular today in the widespread use of horoscopes.

47:14 They shall not deliver themselves. The astrologers were helpless to save themselves, much less the Babylonians who depended on them, or anyone else. The divine fire that came was not to be a fire to warm them, but to consume them.

47:15 No one shall save you. When judgment comes, the astrologers with whom the people trafficked and spent their money, will run to their homes, unable to save themselves or anyone else.

48:1,2 swear by the name of the LORD...not in truth. The people were nominally Israelites, but their hearts were far from God. This hypocrisy was common all through Israel's history, even to the time of the Lord Jesus. Cf. Matt. 23:3,13-39.

Who swear by the name of the LORD,
And make mention of the God of Israel,
But [a]not in truth or in righteousness;
2 For they call themselves [b]after the holy city,
And [c]lean on the God of Israel;
The LORD of hosts is His name:

3 "I have [d]declared the former things from the beginning;
They went forth from My mouth, and I caused them to hear it.
Suddenly I did them, [e]and they came to pass.
4 Because I knew that you were [1]obstinate,
And [f]your neck was an iron sinew,
And your brow bronze,
5 Even from the beginning I have declared it to you;
Before it came to pass I proclaimed it to you,
Lest you should say, 'My idol has done them,
And my carved image and my molded image
Have commanded them.'

6 "You have heard;
See all this.
And will you not declare it?
I have made you hear new things from this time,
Even hidden things, and you did not know them.
7 They are created now and not from the beginning;
And before this day you have not heard them,
Lest you should say, 'Of course I knew them.'

8 Surely you did not hear,
Surely you did not know;
Surely from long ago your ear was not opened.
For I knew that you would deal very treacherously,
And were called [g]a transgressor from the womb.

9 "For[h] My name's sake [i]I will [2]defer My anger,
And for My praise I will restrain it from you,
So that I do not cut you off.
10 Behold, [j]I have refined you, but not as silver;
I have tested you in the [k]furnace of affliction.
11 For My own sake, for My own sake, I will do it;
For [l]how should My name be profaned?
And [m]I will not give My glory to another.

God's Ancient Plan to Redeem Israel

12 "Listen to Me, O Jacob,
And Israel, My called:
I am He, [n]I am the [o]First,
I am also the Last.
13 Indeed [p]My hand has laid the foundation of the earth,
And My right hand has stretched out the heavens;
When [q]I call to them,
They stand up together.

14 "All of you, assemble yourselves, and hear!
Who among them has declared these things?
[r]The LORD loves him;
[s]He shall do His pleasure on Babylon,

9 [h] Ps. 79:9; 106:8; Is. 43:25; Ezek. 20:9, 14, 22, 44 [i] [Neh. 9:30, 31]; Ps. 78:38; Is. 30:18; 65:8 [2] delay

14 [r] Is. 45:1 [s] Is. 44:28; 47:1-15

48:3-5 The Lord predicted events that have happened as He predicted them (41:2-4; 46:10), so the people would not ascribe these events to other gods.

48:3 former things. See note on 46:9.

48:6 new things. From this point onward, the prophecies of Messiah's first and second coming and the restoration of Israel have a new distinctiveness. Babylon becomes the Babylon of Revelation (v. 20), and God uses Isaiah to communicate truths about the messianic kingdom on earth and the new heavens and new earth that follow it (e.g., 11:1-5; 65:17). Verse 7 indicates that God had never before revealed these features about the future.

48:9 For My name's sake. The nation Israel had no merit to prompt God's favor toward them (v. 8). They deserved wrath and death, but His mercy toward them originates in His desire to be glorified and His desire to display the integrity of His own name.

48:10,11 refined...tested. Since Isaiah's time, Israel's testings have included the Babylonian captivity and present worldwide dispersion from her Land; unlike silver purged in the furnace, the purging of Israel is not complete, and they are not refined. But God keeps up the afflictions until they are, so His name is not defamed through the destruction of Israel. The nation will be purged (cf. Zech. 13:1). God's plan is such that He alone, not man or man-made idols, will receive credit for Israel's salvation (42:8; cf. Rom. 11:25-27,33-36). The adversaries of God are never to be given legitimate reasons for scoffing at God and His work.

48:14,15 him; He...His arm...him...him...his way. Beginning with v. 6, the prophet began to write of the new things. Babylon is the final one of Rev. 18, and the instrument of God's judgment is Messiah. The pronouns refer to Jesus Christ whom the Lord will anoint to defeat the final Babylon at His second coming and bring Israel to her land and kingdom. That it is not Cyrus is also clear from the statement, "The LORD loves him," which is too strong to apply to the pagan king—but not to God's Beloved, the Lord Jesus.

And His arm shall be against the Chaldeans.

15 I, even I, have spoken;
Yes, [t]I have called him,
I have brought him, and his way will prosper.

16 "Come near to Me, hear this:
[u]I have not spoken in secret from the beginning;
From the time that it was, I was there.
And now [v]the Lord GOD and His Spirit
[3]Have sent Me."

17 Thus says [w]the LORD, your Redeemer,
The Holy One of Israel:
"I am the LORD your God,
Who teaches you to profit,
[x]Who leads you by the way you should go.

18 [y]Oh, that you had heeded My commandments!
[z]Then your peace would have been like a river,
And your righteousness like the waves of the sea.

19 [a]Your descendants also would have been like the sand,
And the offspring of your body like the grains of sand;
His name would not have been cut off
Nor destroyed from before Me."

20 [b]Go forth from Babylon!
Flee from the Chaldeans!
With a voice of singing,
Declare, proclaim this,
Utter it to the end of the earth;
Say, "The LORD has [c]redeemed His servant Jacob!"

21 And they [d]did not thirst
When He led them through the deserts;
He [e]caused the waters to flow from the rock for them;
He also split the rock, and the waters gushed out.

22 "There[f] is no peace," says the LORD, "for the wicked."

The Servant, the Light to the Gentiles

49 "Listen, [a]O coastlands, to Me,
And take heed, you peoples from afar!
[b]The LORD has called Me from the womb;
From the [1]matrix of My mother He has made mention of My name.

2 And He has made [c]My mouth like a sharp sword;

CHAPTER 49

1 [a] Is. 41:1 [b] Jer. 1:5; Matt. 1:20; Luke 1:35; John 1:14; 10:36 [1] Lit. inward parts
2 [c] Is. 11:4; Hos. 6:5; [Heb. 4:12]; Rev. 1:16; 2:12

48:16 sent Me. Here it was not the prophet who spoke, but the Messiah, the Servant of the Lord whom the Lord God and the Holy Spirit will send for the final regathering of Israel and establishment of His kingdom as described in 61:1-7.

48:17-19 Chastisements of Israel by the Redeemer and Holy One of Israel are for discipline (42:18–43:13; cf. Heb. 12:10). Some day they will end, when Israel heeds the Lord's commandments and God's punishments will turn to prosperity. A future generation will do so and enjoy the refreshment of a continuous stream of God's peace and righteousness that rolls over them like the relentless sea (65:18).

48:19 like the sand...like the grains of sand. Because of Israel's disobedience, God's promise to Abraham to multiply his descendants (Gen. 22:17) has not yet been finally fulfilled. Even though the nation was temporarily set aside during the Babylonian captivity and during the dispersion before 1948 A.D., and will suffer deadly assaults in the coming time of Jacob's trouble (cf. Jer. 30:7), God will be true to His promise.

48:20 Go forth from Babylon! The worldwide proclamation of deliverance, along with the statement that "the LORD has redeemed...Jacob" shows that it is not the return of a meager 50,000 Jews from historic Babylon while most stayed in that pagan land, but the final redemption of the nation as Zechariah spoke of it in Zech. 12:10–13:1 and Paul in Rom. 11:1,2,25-27. A redeemed Israel is to make a complete separation from the final Babylon and its wicked system, and proclaim to the world the Lord's grace toward the nation. John repeats this command in Rev. 18:4.

48:21 they did not thirst. Isaiah pointed to the way that God miraculously provided for Moses' generation, after He delivered them from Egypt (Ex. 17:6; cf. Is. 41:17,18), as an illustration of how He will provide for redeemed Israel when they escape the final world empire of Babylon.

48:22 no peace...for the wicked. Cf. 57:21. Not every Israelite will enjoy the Lord's salvation, but only the faithful remnant who have turned from their wicked ways. The wicked will be purged out before the kingdom of peace is established (cf. Zech. 13:7-9).

49:1–57:21 This section defines the Messiah/Servant's prophetic and priestly functions, His equipment for His task, His sufferings and humiliation, and His final exaltation. The word "servant" occurs about 20 times in this portion, which magnifies Jesus Christ as the Lamb of God who was slain to redeem God's elect.

49:1-13 The second of 4 Servant-songs (cf. 42:1-9; 50:4-11; 52:13–53:12). This one tells of the Servant's mission and spiritual success.

49:1 from the womb; from the matrix of My mother. The whole world, including Gentiles ("coastlands," "people from afar") are called to recognize two significant points: (1) the Messiah/Servant will be a human being, born as others are of a woman, yet virgin born (cf. 7:14; Luke 1:30-33), and (2) He will be an individual as distinct from a personified group such as the nation of Israel, which has also been called the Lord's servant (41:8,9; 42:19; 43:10; 44:1,2,21,26; 45:4; 48:20; 50:10).

49:2 My mouth like a sharp sword. The Lord has given power to His Servant to speak effectively and thereby to conquer His enemies (11:4; cf. Ps. 2:9; Rev. 1:16; 2:12,16; 19:15). His Word is always

[d] In the shadow of His hand He has hidden Me,
And made Me [e] a polished shaft;
In His quiver He has hidden Me."

3 "And He said to me,
[f] "You are My servant, O Israel,
[g] In whom I will be glorified.'
4 [h] Then I said, 'I have labored in vain,
I have spent my strength for nothing and in vain;
Yet surely my [2] just reward is with
the LORD,
And my [3] work with my God.' "

5 "And now the LORD says,
Who formed Me from the womb to be His Servant,
To bring Jacob back to Him,
So that Israel [i] is [4] gathered to Him (For I shall be glorious in the eyes of the LORD,
And My God shall be My strength),
6 Indeed He says,
'It is too small a thing that You should be My Servant
To raise up the tribes of Jacob,
And to restore the preserved ones
of Israel;
I will also give You as a [j] light to
the Gentiles,
That You should be My salvation to the ends of the earth.' "

7 Thus says the LORD,

The Redeemer of Israel, [5] their Holy One,
[k] To Him [6] whom man despises,
To Him whom the nation abhors,
To the Servant of rulers:
[l] "Kings shall see and arise,
Princes also shall worship,
Because of the LORD who is faithful,
The Holy One of Israel;
And He has chosen You."

8 Thus says the LORD:

"In an [m] acceptable [7] time I have heard You,
And in the day of salvation I have helped You;
I will [8] preserve You [n] and give You
As a covenant to the people,
To restore the earth,
To cause them to inherit the desolate [9] heritages;
9 That You may say [o] to the prisoners, 'Go forth,'
To those who are in darkness,
'Show yourselves.'

"They shall feed along the roads,
And their pastures shall be on all desolate heights.
10 They shall neither [p] hunger nor thirst,
[q] Neither heat nor sun shall strike
them;

effective (55:11; Eph. 6:17; Heb. 4:12) hidden Me. Messiah, before His appearing, was hidden with God, ready to be drawn out at the precise moment (cf. Gal. 4:4,5).

49:3 You are my servant, O Israel. That the Lord's use of the name Israel refers here to Messiah (42:1; 49:5,6,7; 52:13; 53:11) is explainable through the intimate relationship that exists between the nation and her King.

49:4 in vain...for nothing and in vain. At His first coming, the Servant met with rejection by His nation. It may have appeared to some that His mission was a failure because of the suffering and rejection He endured (cf. John 1:9-11). The last two Servant-songs also emphasize the Servant's suffering (50:4-11; 52:13–53:12). But, though rejected by men, the Servant expresses His strong assurance that He is doing God's work and will be rewarded with complete success.

49:5 back to Him...gathered to Him. The Servant's mission will include the priority of bringing Israel to the Lord. Cf. Matt. 10:5,6; 15:24; Rom. 1:16; 11:25-27. He will complete this at His second advent (cf. Zech. 12:10–13:1).

49:6 raise up the tribes of Jacob...My salvation to the ends of the earth. The Servant's goal is the salvation and restoration of Israel for the fulfillment of the covenant promise. But not limited to Israel, He is to function as a light bringing salvation to the Gentiles. Israel's mission had always been to bring the nations to God (19:24; 42:6). This she will finally do very effectively in the tribulation after the conversion of the 144,000 witnesses (Rev. 7:1-10; 14:1-5) and when she is restored to her Land at the Servant's return to earth. Cf. 9:2; 11:10; 42:6; 45:22; Luke 2:32. Paul applied this verse to his ministry to the Gentiles on his first missionary journey (Acts 13:47).

49:7 man despises...nation abhors. This speaks to the humiliating treatment of the Servant at His first advent, a theme emphasized by Isaiah (50:6-9; 52:14,15; 53:3). The "nation" is used collectively for all who reject Him, particularly Gentiles, who are the rulers, kings, and princes referred to as someday giving exalted treatment to the Servant at His second advent. Former oppressors will bow down to Him as in 52:15, because of the salvation of Israel.

49:8 acceptable time...day of salvation. Messiah is represented as asking for the grace of God to be given to sinners. God gives His favorable answer in a time of grace (cf. 61:1) when salvation's day comes to the world (cf. Gal. 4:4,5; Heb. 4:7). At His appointed time in the future, the Lord will, by His Servant, accomplish the final deliverance of Israel. Paul applied these words to his ministry of proclaiming the gospel of God's grace to all people (2 Cor. 6:2). a covenant to the people. See note at 42:6. When the Lord saves and regathers Israel, they will return to the Land, to which Joshua brought their ancestors after their exit from Egypt, now restored and glorious (44:26; Josh. 13:1-8).

49:9,10 prisoners...darkness...feed...pastures. At the Messiah's second advent, Israel's condition will change from captivity and oppression to contentment and prosperity such as that enjoyed by a well-fed, protected, and watered flock of sheep. These ideal conditions will be enjoyed by the faithful remnant returning for their kingdom in Israel. John reveals that this condition is a foretaste of heaven (Rev. 7:16,17).

For He who has mercy on them
[r]will lead them,
Even by the springs of water He will guide them.
11 [s]I will make each of My mountains a road,
And My highways shall be elevated.
12 Surely [t]these shall come from afar;
Look! Those from the north and the west,
And these from the land of Sinim."

13 [u]Sing, O heavens!
Be joyful, O earth!
And break out in singing, O mountains!
For the LORD has comforted His people,
And will have mercy on His afflicted.

God Will Remember Zion

14 [v]But Zion said, "The LORD has forsaken me,
And my Lord has forgotten me."

15 "Can[w] a woman forget her nursing child,
[1]And not have compassion on the son of her womb?
Surely they may forget,
[x]Yet I will not forget you.
16 See, [y]I have inscribed you on the palms of My hands;
Your walls are continually before Me.
17 Your [2]sons shall make haste;
Your destroyers and those who laid you waste
Shall go away from you.
18 [z]Lift up your eyes, look around and see;
All these gather together and come to you.
As I live," says the LORD,
"You shall surely clothe yourselves with them all [a]as an ornament,
And bind them on you as a bride does.

19 "For your waste and desolate places,
And the land of your destruction,
[b]Will even now be too small for the inhabitants;
And those who swallowed you up will be far away.
20 [c]The children you will have,
[d]After you have lost the others,
Will say again in your ears,
'The place is too small for me;
Give me a place where I may dwell.'
21 Then you will say in your heart,
'Who has begotten these for me,
Since I have lost my children and am desolate,
A captive, and wandering to and fro?
And who has brought these up?
There I was, left alone;
But these, where were they?' "

22 [e]Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Behold, I will lift My hand in an oath to the nations,
And set up My [3]standard for the peoples;
They shall bring your sons in their [4]arms,
And your daughters shall be carried on their shoulders;
23 [f]Kings shall be your foster fathers,
And their queens your nursing mothers;
They shall bow down to you with their faces to the earth,
And [g]lick up the dust of your feet.
Then you will know that I am the LORD,
[h]For they shall not be ashamed who wait for Me."

49:12 come from afar. Israel's regathering will be from a worldwide exile (43:5,6), even far away places like Sinim, probably an ancient name for what is China.

49:13 Cf. Rev. 12:12.

49:14 Here is the summary of the history of lament by the nation during its long period of suffering. Verses 15-23 follow with words of assurance responding to the despondency.

49:16 The Lord is referring here to the Jews' custom, perhaps drawn from Ex. 13:9, of puncturing their hands with a symbol of their city and temple, as a sign of devotion (cf. Song 8:6).

49:17,18 Your sons...bind them on you. Zion's sons will return as the city's destroyers depart and will adorn the city. Israel will be the means of the conversion of the nations in the end (cf. Rom 11:11,12,15).

49:19-21 After the faithful remnant is regathered in salvation, and Gentiles come to faith in the kingdom through Jewish witnesses, millennial Jerusalem will not be large enough to contain all her inhabitants.

49:22 nations...shall bring your sons...and your daughters. The promise will find literal fulfillment as the nations of the world assist the faithful remnant of Israel to their land (14:2; 43:6; 60:4; 66:20). At the outset of the kingdom, when this regathering takes place, all the Gentiles will be believers in Jesus Christ who, by faith, escaped the wrath of the Lamb on the Day of the Lord and entered the kingdom (see notes on Matt. 25:31-46). Nations and leaders, that in history oppressed Israel, will humble themselves before the redeemed people of God's covenant, and Israel will know that waiting on the Lord will not disappoint (8:17; 40:31).

24 [i]Shall the prey be taken from the mighty,
Or the captives [5]of the righteous be delivered?

25 But thus says the LORD:

"Even the captives of the mighty shall be taken away,
And the prey of the terrible be delivered;
For I will contend with him who contends with you,
And I will save your children.
26 I will [j]feed those who oppress you with their own flesh,
And they shall be drunk with their own [k]blood as with sweet wine.
All flesh [l]shall know
That I, the LORD, am your Savior,
And your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob."

The Servant, Israel's Hope

50 Thus says the LORD:

"Where is [a]the certificate of your mother's divorce,
Whom I have put away?
Or which of My [b]creditors is it to whom I have sold you?
For your iniquities [c]you have sold yourselves,
And for your transgressions your mother has been put away.
2 Why, when I came, was there no man?
Why, when I called, was there none to answer?
Is My hand shortened at all that it cannot redeem?
Or have I no power to deliver?
Indeed with My [d]rebuke I dry up the sea,
I make the rivers a wilderness;
Their fish stink because there is no water,
And die of thirst.
3 [e]I clothe the heavens with blackness,
[f]And I make sackcloth their covering."

4 "The [g]Lord GOD has given Me
The tongue of the learned,
That I should know how to speak
A word in season to him who is [h]weary.
He awakens Me morning by morning,
He awakens My ear
To hear as the learned.
5 The Lord GOD [i]has opened My ear;
And I was not [j]rebellious,
Nor did I turn away.
6 [k]I gave My back to those who struck Me,
And [l]My cheeks to those who plucked out the beard;
I did not hide My face from shame and [m]spitting.

7 "For the Lord GOD will help Me;
Therefore I will not be disgraced;
Therefore [n]I have set My face like a flint,
And I know that I will not be ashamed.

49:24 prey be taken...captives...be delivered. As in v. 14, Isaiah speaks of Zion again expressing her despondency over her captivity and wondering about deliverance. The Lord replies again with encouraging words in vv. 25,26.

49:25,26 feed...with their own flesh...drunk with their own blood. Strong language against Israel's enemies reassures her of eventual deliverance from her exile. The angel of the waters draws on this terminology in celebrating the third bowl judgment in Rev. 16:6. The destruction of Israel's enemies, led by Satan in the tribulation (cf. Rev. 12:15,16), also fulfills this pledge.

49:26 All flesh shall know. God's deliverance of Israel will be so dramatic that the world will recognize that the Lord, the Savior, Redeemer, and Mighty One of Israel is the true God (11:9; 45:6; Ezek. 39:7; Hab. 2:14).

50:1 certificate of your mother's divorce...My creditors. Though the sufferings of Judah were the necessary result of sin, no certificate of divorce or sale to creditors occurred because Zion's separation from the Lord was only temporary. In fact, God gave the non-Davidic northern kingdom a certificate of divorce (see note on Jer. 3:8). However, the unconditional promises of the Davidic Covenant (2 Sam. 7) precluded such a divorce for Judah, although there would be a time of separation (cf. 54:6,7).

50:2 Why...? God asked why no one was willing to believe and obey Him, even after all had seen His redemptive power in Egypt, when He dried up the Red Sea (Ex. 14:21), opened the river Jordan by turning it into dry land (Josh. 4:23), and killed the fish in Egypt (Ex. 7:18-21). The Lord's power to redeem was indisputable (59:1). He proved it by His deliverance from Egypt (43:16,17; 44:27; 46:9; 48:3,21).

50:4-11 This is the third of 4 Servant-songs (cf. 42:1-9; 49:1-13; 52:13–53:12), and it is Messiah's soliloquy about being perfected through obedience (vv. 4,5) and sufferings (v. 6). The Apostle John writes much about Jesus' obedience to God in fulfilling His will (cf. John 5:19,36; 6:38; 7:16,29; 12:49,50). Cf. Phil. 2:8; Heb. 5:8; 10:7.

50:6 My back...My cheeks...My face. The Servant remained obedient though provoked to rebel by excessively vile treatment. Jesus fulfilled this prophecy by remaining submissive to the Father's will (Matt. 26:67; 27:26,30; Mark 14:65; 15:19; Luke 22:63; John 18:22).

50:7 set My face like a flint. So sure was He of the Lord God's help that He resolutely determined to remain unswayed by whatever hardship might await Him (cf. Ezek. 3:8,9). Jesus demonstrated this determination in setting His face to go to Jerusalem to be crucified (Luke 9:51).

8 [o]He is near who justifies Me;
Who will contend with Me?
Let us stand together.
Who is [1]My adversary?
Let him come near Me.
9 Surely the Lord GOD will help Me;
Who is he who will condemn Me?
[p]Indeed they will all grow old like a garment;
[q]The moth will eat them up.

10 "Who among you fears the LORD?
Who obeys the voice of His Servant?
Who [r]walks in darkness
And has no light?
[s]Let him trust in the name of the LORD
And rely upon his God.
11 Look, all you who kindle a fire,
Who encircle yourselves with sparks:
Walk in the light of your fire and in the sparks you have kindled—
[t]This you shall have from My hand:
You shall lie down [u]in torment.

The LORD Comforts Zion

51 "Listen to Me, [a]you who [1]follow after righteousness,
You who seek the LORD:
Look to the rock from which you were hewn,
And to the hole of the pit from which you were dug.
2 [b]Look to Abraham your father,
And to Sarah who bore you;
[c]For I called him alone,
And [d]blessed him and increased him."

3 For the LORD will [e]comfort Zion,
He will comfort all her waste places;
He will make her wilderness like Eden,
And her desert [f]like the garden of the LORD;
Joy and gladness will be found in it,
Thanksgiving and the voice of melody.

4 "Listen to Me, My people;
And give ear to Me, O My nation:
[g]For law will proceed from Me,
And I will make My justice rest
[h]As a light of the peoples.
5 [i]My righteousness is near,
My salvation has gone forth,
[j]And My arms will judge the peoples;
[k]The coastlands will wait upon Me,
And [l]on My arm they will trust.
6 [m]Lift up your eyes to the heavens,
And look on the earth beneath.
For [n]the heavens will vanish away like smoke,
[o]The earth will grow old like a garment,
And those who dwell in it will die in like manner;
But My salvation will be [p]forever,
And My righteousness will not be [2]abolished.

7 "Listen to Me, you who know righteousness,
You people [q]in whose heart is My law:
[r]Do not fear the reproach of men,
Nor be afraid of their insults.

8 [s] Is. 50:9

50:8,9 No matter how He was mistreated, mocked, and repudiated, the Servant has full confidence of the Lord God's support, so He welcomed an adversary to come.

50:10,11 Here was a call to the unconverted to believe and be saved, along with a warning that those who tried to escape moral, spiritual darkness by lighting their own fire (man-made religion, works righteousness) were to end up in eternal torment.

51:1,2 The prophet assured the nation of deliverance by pointing to God's past covenant with Abraham (Gen. 12:13), who was the rock in the quarry from which they were hewn as a people. Originally, Abraham was but one person, but God multiplied his descendants as He had promised (Gen. 13:16; 15:5; 17:5; 22:17).

51:3 waste places...Eden...desert...garden of the LORD. The same God whose power fulfilled His promises to Abraham is to transform Israel's desolation into a primeval paradise, both nationally and spiritually, causing joy and songs of thanksgiving to ring from it.

51:4 law...justice...light of the peoples. The Servant's rule over Israel's earthly kingdom is to cause righteousness to prevail for the benefit of all nations.

51:5 near...gone forth. The Servant's power to restore His people and bring justice, righteousness, and salvation to the world was at work, but God's perspective differs from man's reckoning of time. Though near by God's reckoning in timeless eternity, the fruition of His deliverance was yet many centuries from Isaiah's day. The nations who survive judgment will trust in Him and enter His kingdom.

51:6 heavens will vanish...earth will grow old. This begins to take place in the time of tribulation (cf. Rev. 6:12-14; 8:12,13; 16:8-10,21), setting the stage, along with the earthly judgments on land, sea, and fresh water (cf. Rev. 6:14; 8:6-11; 16:3-5), for a renewed earth during the Millennium. The actual "uncreation" or destruction of the present universe, of which Peter wrote (2 Pet. 3:10-13), occurs at the end of Christ's millennial reign on the earth, when a new heavens and a new earth will replace the present creation (2 Pet. 3:10; Rev. 21:1).

51:7,8 Israel's enemies will perish, but the Servant's salvation will be permanent.

And the worm will eat them like wool;
But My righteousness will be forever,
And My salvation from generation to generation."

9 [t]Awake, awake, [u]put on strength,
O arm of the LORD!
Awake [v]as in the ancient days,
In the generations of old.
[w]Are You not the arm that cut [x]Rahab apart,
And wounded the [y]serpent?

10 Are You not the One who [z]dried up the sea,
The waters of the great deep;
That made the depths of the sea a road
For the redeemed to cross over?
11 So [a]the ransomed of the LORD shall return,
And come to Zion with singing,
With everlasting joy on their heads.
They shall obtain joy and gladness;
Sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

12 "I, even I, am He [b]who comforts you.
Who are you that you should be afraid
[c]Of a man who will die,
And of the son of a man who will be made [d]like grass?
13 And [e]you forget the LORD your Maker,
[f]Who stretched out the heavens
And laid the foundations of the earth;
You have feared continually every day
Because of the fury of the oppressor,
When he has prepared to destroy.
[g]And where is the fury of the oppressor?
14 The captive exile hastens, that he may be loosed,
[h]That he should not die in the pit,
And that his bread should not fail.
15 But I am the LORD your God,
Who [i]divided the sea whose waves roared—
The LORD of hosts is His name.
16 And [j]I have put My words in your mouth;
[k]I have covered you with the shadow of My hand,
[l]That I may [3]plant the heavens,
Lay the foundations of the earth,
And say to Zion, 'You are My people.' "

God's Fury Removed

17 [m]Awake, awake!
Stand up, O Jerusalem,
You who [n]have drunk at the hand of the LORD
The cup of His fury;
You have drunk the dregs of the cup of trembling,
And drained it out.
18 There is no one to guide her
Among all the sons she has brought forth;
Nor is there any who takes her by the hand
Among all the sons she has brought up.
19 [o]These two things have come to you;
Who will be sorry for you?—
Desolation and destruction, famine and sword—
[p]By whom will I comfort you?
20 [q]Your sons have fainted,
They lie at the head of all the streets,
Like an antelope in a net;
They are full of the fury of the LORD,
The rebuke of your God.

21 Therefore please hear this, you afflicted,
And drunk [r]but not with wine.

51:9,10 This prayer for deliverance in the future was based on times past when the Lord overcame Rahab, which was a term widely used to refer to things that wreak havoc, often, as in this case, Egypt (see Ps. 87:4).

51:11-16 Again, Isaiah summarized a constant theme, that instead of hearing dying men (v. 12), Israel should trust the Creator of all things. He had delivered Israel in the past and is to do so permanently in the future before the nations can be destroyed (v. 14), so they have no need to fear oppressors. The blessing of restored Israel will be evidenced in the joy of v. 11.

51:16 My words in your mouth. Israel had been the unfaithful depository of divine revelation (cf. Rom. 9:1-5), but the time is coming when God will put words into the mouths of His future faithful remnant (59:21) when He sets up the kingdom of Messiah in Zion on a renewed earth. Cf. 51:6; 65:17; 66:22.

51:17,18 Jerusalem, you who have drunk. Jerusalem experienced the Lord's anger through her extended subservience to foreign powers with no human to deliver her (v. 18), but the punishment will end (v. 22; 40:1,2; cf. 29:9). On the other hand, Babylon will drink from the cup of His anger forever (Rev. 14:8-11; 16:19).

51:19 two things. The city of Jerusalem (v. 17) had suffered the twofold loss of property ("desolation and destruction") and human life ("famine and sword").

51:20 Your sons have fainted. The city's inhabitants lay helpless in the streets, having expended all their strength in fighting unsuccessfully against the Lord's fury (40:30).

51:21,22 drunk but not with wine. Jerusalem was drunk through drinking the cup of God's wrath (63:6). But, in contrast to

22 Thus says your Lord,

God Redeems Jerusalem

52 Awake, awake!
Put on your strength, O Zion;
Put on your beautiful garments,
O Jerusalem, the holy city!
For the uncircumcised [a]and the unclean
Shall no longer come to you.
2 [b]Shake yourself from the dust, arise;
Sit down, O Jerusalem!
[c]Loose yourself from the bonds of your neck,
O captive daughter of Zion!

3 For thus says the LORD:

[d]"You have sold yourselves for
nothing,
And you shall be redeemed
[e]without money."

4 For thus says the Lord GOD:

4 [f] Gen. 46:6 [1] As resident aliens
5 [g] Ezek. 36:20, 23; Rom. 2:24 [2] DSS Mock; LXX Marvel and wail; Tg. Boast themselves; Vg. Treat them unjustly
7 [h] Is. 40:9; 61:1; Nah. 1:15; Rom. 10:15; Eph. 6:15 [i] Ps. 93:1; Is. 24:23

"My people went down at first
Into [1]Egypt to [1]dwell there;
Then the Assyrian oppressed them without cause.
5 Now therefore, what have I here,"
says the LORD,
"That My people are taken away for
nothing?
Those who rule over them
[2]Make them wail," says the LORD,
"And My name is [g]blasphemed continually every day.
6 Therefore My people shall know
My name;
Therefore they shall know in that
day
That I am He who speaks:
'Behold, it is I.' "

7 [h]How beautiful upon the mountains
Are the feet of him who brings good news,
Who proclaims peace,
Who brings glad tidings of good things,
Who proclaims salvation,
Who says to Zion,
[i]"Your God reigns!"
8 Your watchmen shall lift up their voices,
With their voices they shall sing
together;
For they shall see eye to eye
When the LORD brings back Zion.
9 Break forth into joy, sing together,
You waste places of Jerusalem!
For the LORD has comforted His
people,
He has redeemed Jerusalem.

Babylon, which drank the fury of God's wrath to the last drop (v. 17; Rev. 18:6), Israel will have the cup removed before all the wrath is consumed. It will be handed to Israel's oppressors for them to drink the full fury (49:26; Jer. 25:15,26,28; Zech. 12:2).

52:1,2 your strength...beautiful garments. A call is given for Zion to awake from drunkenness and clothe herself in garments of honor and dignity provided by the Lord. Foreign invaders will no longer control the city at the time of her final restoration.

52:3 sold yourselves for nothing...redeemed without money. The Jews became the servants of their foreign conquerors, who paid nothing for Israel, so the Lord will redeem Israel gratuitously from sin (45:13; 55:1).

52:5 Those who rule over them. A reference to the Babylonians and their cruelty to captive Israelites. My name is blasphemed. Foreign rulers despised the God of Israel as long as His people were in bondage. God delivered His people, not for their goodness, but for the sake of His holy name—to prove He was truthful, faithful, and powerful (Ezek. 20:9,14). Paul cited the blasphemy to Israel's God that resulted from the hypocrisy of first-century Jews not applying to themselves the standards of God that they knew and taught others (Rom. 2:24).

52:6 in that day that I am He. After the Day of the Lord, when Israel experiences deliverance from her worldwide dispersion, she will recognize the fulfillment of prophecies through Isaiah and others and enjoy full assurance that the Lord had spoken and fulfilled His promises of deliverance. They will connect these events with the great "I AM" (43:11; Ex. 3:13-15).

52:7 How beautiful...good news. Messengers will traverse the mountains around Jerusalem to spread the good news of the return of redeemed Israel to the Land (40:9; 61:1; Nah. 1:15). Paul broadened this millennial reference to the preaching of the gospel in the kingdom to include spreading the gospel of God's grace from the time of Jesus Christ on (Rom. 10:15; cf. Eph. 6:15). good things...salvation..."Your God reigns!" The good news pertains to the ideal conditions of Israel's golden age, during which Christ will reign personally over His kingdom (24:23; Ps. 93:1).

52:8 eye to eye. See Num 14:14. This Heb. expression portrayed two people so close to each other that they can look into one another's eyes. The point is that the messengers of the truth ("watchmen") will see the Lord return to Zion (a better translation) as vividly as they see each other looking eye to eye.

52:9,10 comforted...redeemed. The ruined city will respond to the call to sing for joy because the Lord has provided comfort (40:1,2; 49:13; 51:12) and redemption (41:14; 43:1,12,14; 44:6,23,24; 47:4).

10 [j]The LORD has [3]made bare His holy arm
In the eyes of [k]all the nations;
And all the ends of the earth shall see
The salvation of our God.

11 [l]Depart! Depart! Go out from there,
Touch no unclean thing;
Go out from the midst of her,
[m]Be clean,
You who bear the vessels of the LORD.
12 For [n]you shall not go out with haste,
Nor go by flight;
[o]For the LORD will go before you,
[p]And the God of Israel will be your rear guard.

The Sin-Bearing Servant

13 Behold, [q]My Servant shall [4]deal prudently;
[r]He shall be exalted and [5]extolled and be very high.
14 Just as many were astonished at you,
So His [s]visage[6] was marred more than any man,
And His form more than the sons of men;
15 [t]So shall He [7]sprinkle many nations.
Kings shall shut their mouths at Him;
For [u]what had not been told them they shall see,
And what they had not heard they shall consider.

53 Who [a]has believed our report?
And to whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed?
2 For He shall grow up before Him as a tender plant,
And as a root out of dry ground.
He has no [1]form or [2]comeliness;
And when we see Him,
There is no [3]beauty that we should desire Him.
3 [b]He is despised and [4]rejected by men,
A Man of [5]sorrows and [c]acquainted with [6]grief.
And we hid, as it were, our faces from Him;
He was despised, and [d]we did not esteem Him.

52:11 Depart! Depart! The prophet commands the Israelites to leave the lands of their exiles to return to Jerusalem (48:20; Jer. 50:8; Zech. 2:6,7; Rev. 18:4). Under Cyrus there was only a limited return (50,000), but the final fulfillment in view here is in the future. Touch no unclean thing...be clean. Returning exiles were not to defile themselves by taking property home from their exile (cf. Josh. 6:18; 7:1). The NT gave these prophetic words an application in principle by using them as an exhortation forbidding Christians to involve themselves with spiritual ties to forces of heathendom (2 Cor. 6:17).

52:12 not...with haste. Delivered captives will not have to hurry in their return to Jerusalem, as their ancestors did when delivered from Egypt (Ex. 12:11,33,39; Deut. 16:3). They can move deliberately and safely, with the Messiah in front and God in back. Cf. 58:8.

52:13–53:12 This is the last and most memorable of the 4 Messiah/Servant songs (cf. 42:1-9; 49:1-13; 50:4-11). This section contains unarguable, incontrovertible proof that God is the author of Scripture and Jesus the fulfillment of messianic prophecy. The details are so minute that no human could have predicted them by accident and no imposter fulfilled them by cunning. Clearly this refers to Messiah Jesus, as the NT attests (cf. Matt 8:17; Mark 15:28; Luke 22:37; John 12:38; Acts 8:28-35; Rom. 10:16; 1 Pet. 2:21-25). It is often alluded to without being quoted (cf. Mark 9:12; Rom. 4:25; 1 Cor. 15:3; 2 Cor. 5:21; 1 Pet. 1:19; 1 John 3:5).

52:13-15 Here is a summary and preview of the humiliation and exaltation of the Servant, described in more detail in 53:1-12. The details cover the work of Christ in His substitutionary death, His burial, His resurrection, His saving of sinners, His intercession, and His kingdom.

52:13 exalted...extolled...very high. Ultimately, when the Servant rules over His kingdom, He will receive international recognition for the effectiveness of His reign (cf. Phil 2:9).

52:14 His visage was marred. The Servant must undergo inhuman cruelty to the point that He no longer looks like a human being. His appearance is so awful that people look at Him in astonishment (53:2,3; Ps. 22:6; Matt. 26:67; 27:30; John 19:3).

52:15 sprinkle many nations. In His disfigured state, the Servant will perform a priestly work of cleansing not just Israel, but many outside the nation (Ex. 29:21; Lev. 4:6; 8:11; 14:7; Num. 8:7; 19:18,19; Heb. 9:13). shut their mouths. At His exaltation, human leaders in the highest places will be speechless and in awe before the once-despised Servant (cf. Ps. 2). When He takes His throne, they will see the unfolding of power and glory such as they have never heard. Paul applied the principle in this verse to his apostolic mission of preaching the gospel of Christ where Christ was yet unknown (Rom. 15:21).

53:1 Who has believed our report? The question implied that, in spite of these and other prophecies, only a few would recognize the Servant when He appeared. This anticipation found literal fulfillment at Christ's first advent. Israel did not welcome Him at His first advent (John 1:9-11; 12:38). Paul applied the same prophecy to the world at large (Rom. 10:16). the arm of the LORD. At His first coming, the nation did not recognize the mighty, incarnate power of God in the person of Jesus, their Deliverer.

53:2 before Him. Though unrecognized by the world (v. 1), Messiah Jesus was observed carefully by God, who ordered every minute circumstance of His life. dry ground...no beauty that we should desire Him. The Servant will arise in lowly conditions and wear none of the usual emblems of royalty, making His true identity visible only to the discerning eye of faith.

53:3 despised...rejected...despised. The prophet foresees the hatred and rejection by mankind toward the Messiah/Servant, who suffered not only external abuse, but also internal grief over the lack of response from those He came to save (e.g., Matt. 23:37; Luke 13:34). we hid...we did not esteem. By using the first person, the prophet spoke for his unbelieving nation's aversion to a crucified Messiah and their lack of respect for the incarnate Son of God.

4 Surely [e]He has borne our [7]griefs
And carried our [8]sorrows;
Yet we [9]esteemed Him stricken,
[1]Smitten by God, and afflicted.
5 But He was [f]wounded[2] for our transgressions,
He was [3]bruised for our iniquities;
The chastisement for our peace was upon Him,
And by His [g]stripes[4] we are healed.
6 All we like sheep have gone astray;
We have turned, every one, to his own way;
And the LORD [5]has laid on Him the iniquity of us all.

7 He was oppressed and He was afflicted,
Yet [h]He opened not His mouth;
[i]He was led as a lamb to the slaughter,
And as a sheep before its shearers is silent,
So He opened not His mouth.
8 He was [j]taken from [6]prison and from judgment,
And who will declare His generation?
For [k]He was cut off from the land of the living;
For the transgressions of My people He was stricken.
9 [l]And [7]they made His grave with the wicked—
But with the rich at His death,
Because He had done no violence,
Nor was any [m]deceit in His mouth.

10 Yet it pleased the LORD to [8]bruise Him;
He has put Him to grief.
When You make His soul [n]an offering for sin,
He shall see His seed, He shall prolong His days,
And the pleasure of the LORD shall prosper in His hand.
11 [9]He shall see the labor of His soul, and be satisfied.
By His knowledge [o]My righteous [p]Servant shall [q]justify many,
For He shall bear their iniquities.

53:4 borne...carried. Cf. vv. 11,12. Even though the verbs are past tense, they predict happenings future to Isaiah's time, i.e., "prophetic perfects" in Heb. here and elsewhere in this Servant-song. Isaiah was saying that the Messiah would bear the consequences of the sins of men, namely the griefs and sorrows of life, though incredibly the Jews who watched Him die thought He was being punished by God for His own sins. Matthew found an analogical fulfillment of these words in Jesus' healing ministry (see notes on Matt. 8:16,17), because sickness results from sin for which the Servant paid with His life (vv. 7,8; cf. 1 Pet. 2:24). In eternity, all sickness will be removed, so ultimately it is included in the benefits of the atonement.

53:5 wounded for our transgressions...bruised for our iniquities. This verse is filled with the language of substitution. The Servant suffered not for His own sin, since He was sinless (cf. Heb. 4:15; 7:26), but as the substitute for sinners. The emphasis here is on Christ being the substitute recipient of God's wrath on sinners (cf. 2 Cor. 5:21; Gal. 1:3,4; Heb. 10:9,10). chastisement for our peace. He suffered the chastisement of God in order to procure our peace with God. by His stripes we are healed. The stripe (the Heb. noun is singular) that caused His death has brought salvation to those for whose sins He died. Peter confirms this in 1 Pet. 2:24.

53:6 All we...every one...us all. Every person has sinned (Rom. 3:9,23), but the Servant has sufficiently shouldered the consequences of sin and the righteous wrath deserved by sinners (cf. 1 Tim. 2:5,6; 4:10; 1 John 2:2). The manner in which God laid our iniquity on Him was that God treated Him as if He had committed every sin ever committed by every person who would ever believe, though He was perfectly innocent of any sin. God did so to Him, so that wrath being spent and justice satisfied, God could then give to the account of sinners who believe, the righteousness of Christ, treating them as if they had done only the righteous acts of Christ. In both cases, this is substitution. See notes on 2 Cor. 5:21.

53:7,8 This is the portion of Scripture read by the Ethiopian eunuch and subsequently explained to him by Philip as referring to Jesus (Acts 8:32,33).

53:7 opened not His mouth. The Servant will utter no protest and will be utterly submissive to those who oppress Him. Jesus fulfilled this (Matt. 26:63; 27:12-14; Mark 14:61; 15:5; Luke 23:9; John 19:9; 1 Pet. 2:23). lamb to the slaughter. The Servant was to assume the role of a sacrificial lamb (Ex. 12:3,6). Jesus fulfilled this figurative role literally (John 1:29; 1 Pet. 1:18,19; Rev. 5:6).

53:8 cut off...for the transgressions of My people. The Servant lost His life to be the substitute object of wrath in the place of the Jews, who by that substitution will receive salvation and the righteousness of God imputed to them. Similar terminology applies to the Messiah in Dan. 9:26.

53:9 with the wicked...with the rich. Because of His disgraceful death, the Jews intended the Servant to have a disgraceful burial along with the thieves (cf. John 19:31), but instead He was buried with "the rich" in an honorable burial through the donated tomb of rich Joseph of Arimathea (Matt. 27:57-60; Mark 15:42-46; Luke 23:50-53; John 19:38-40). no violence, nor...deceit. The Servant's innocence meant that His execution was totally undeserved. Peter notes the fulfillment of this in 1 Pet. 2:22.

53:10 it pleased the LORD. Though the Servant did not deserve to die, it was the Lord's will for Him to do so (Matt. 26:39; Luke 22:42; John 12:27; Acts 2:23). an offering for sin. Fulfilled by the Servant as the lamb of God (v. 7; John 1:29). Christ is the Christian's Passover (1 Cor. 5:7). This conclusively eliminates the error that Christ's atonement provides present day healing for those who pray in faith. His death was an atonement for sin, not sickness. See note on 53:4. see His seed...prolong His days. To see His seed, the Servant must rise from the dead. He will do this and live to reign forever (2 Sam. 7:13,16; Pss. 21:4; 89:4; 132:12).

53:11 He shall...be satisfied. The one sacrifice of the Servant will provide complete satisfaction in settling the sin issue (1 John 2:2; cf. 1:11). By His knowledge. The Servant knew exactly what needed to be done to solve the sin problem. justify many. Through the divine "knowledge" of how to justify sinners, the plan was accomplished that by His one sacrifice He declared many righteous before God (Rom. 5:19; 2 Cor. 5:21).

12 [r]Therefore I will divide Him a portion with the great,
[s]And He shall divide the [1]spoil with the strong,
Because He [t]poured out His soul unto death,
And He was [u]numbered with the transgressors,
And He bore the sin of many,
And [v]made intercession for the transgressors.

A Perpetual Covenant of Peace

54 "Sing, O [a]barren,
You who have not borne!
Break forth into singing, and cry aloud,
You who have not labored with child!
For more are the children of the desolate
Than the children of the married woman," says the LORD.
2 "Enlarge[b] the place of your tent,
And let them stretch out the curtains of your dwellings;
Do not spare;
Lengthen your cords,
And strengthen your stakes.
3 For you shall expand to the right and to the left,
And your descendants will [c]inherit the nations,
And make the desolate cities inhabited.

4 "Do[d] not fear, for you will not be ashamed;
Neither be disgraced, for you will not be put to shame;
For you will forget the shame of your youth,
And will not remember the reproach of your widowhood anymore.
5 [e]For your Maker is your husband,
The LORD of hosts is His name;
And your Redeemer is the Holy One of Israel;
He is called [f]the God of the whole earth.
6 For the LORD [g]has called you
Like a woman forsaken and grieved in spirit,
Like a youthful wife when you were refused,"
Says your God.
7 "For[h] a mere moment I have forsaken you,
But with great mercies [i]I will gather you.
8 With a little wrath I hid My face from you for a moment;
[j]But with everlasting kindness I will have mercy on you,"
Says the LORD, your Redeemer.

9 "For this is like the waters of [k]Noah to Me;
For as I have sworn
That the waters of Noah would no longer cover the earth,
So have I sworn
That I would not be angry with [l]you, nor rebuke you.
10 For [m]the mountains shall depart
And the hills be removed,
[n]But My kindness shall not depart from you,
Nor shall My covenant of peace be removed,"

53:12 portion with the great...spoil with the strong. The Servant's reward for His work will be to enjoy the "spoils" of His spiritual victories during His millennial reign. numbered with the transgressors. The Servant assumes a role among sinful human beings, fulfilled by Jesus when He was crucified between two criminals (Luke 22:37). made intercession for the transgressors. This speaks of the office of intercessory High-Priest, which began on the cross (Luke 23:34) and continues in heaven (cf. Heb. 7:25; 9:24).

54:1 barren...have not borne...have not labored...desolate. In her exile and dispersion, Israel has been destitute, disgraced as a woman who had borne no children (49:21). The prophet calls for singing, however, because of the Lord's promise of future fruitfulness for the nation (49:19,20). The NT supplies an additional application of the principle in this verse, citing it as evidence that the Jerusalem above, mother of the children of promise through Sarah, will enjoy great fruitfulness (Gal. 4:27).

54:2 Enlarge...stretch out...Lengthen. The prophet commanded barren Israel to prepare for the day when her numerous inhabitants will require larger space to dwell in (26:15; 49:19,20).

54:3 expand...inherit the nations. The Messiah's future kingdom is to be worldwide, far greater in extent than the former kingdoms of David and Solomon.

54:4 shame of your youth...reproach of your widowhood. Israel's sins brought on the Egyptian captivity, the Babylonian exile, and her current dispersion, but the glories of the future kingdom will be so great that they will overshadow past failures.

54:5 husband...Redeemer. The basis for forgetting past failures is Israel's relationship to the Lord as her husband (62:4,5) and Redeemer (41:14).

54:6-8 forsaken...grieved...refused. Israel in exile and dispersion has been like a wife whose husband has rejected her. But this is only for a brief time compared to the everlasting kindness she will enjoy when the Messiah returns to gather the woeful wife (26:20).

54:9 waters of Noah. Just as God swore He would never again judge the whole earth with a flood (Gen. 8:21; 9:11), so He has taken an oath never to be angry with His people again. He will fulfill this promise after their final restoration.

54:10 mountains...hills...My kindness...My covenant. In the Millennium (48:6,7; 51:6,16) topography will change (see Ezek. 38:20; Mic. 1:4; Zech. 14:4,10), but not God's pledge of well-being for Israel as a result of the New Covenant (55:3; 59:21; 61:8).

Says the LORD, who has mercy on you.

11 "O you afflicted one,
Tossed with tempest, and not comforted,
Behold, I will lay your stones with [o]colorful gems,
And lay your foundations with sapphires.
12 I will make your pinnacles of rubies,
Your gates of crystal,
And all your walls of precious stones.
13 All your children shall be [p]taught by the LORD,
And [q]great shall be the peace of your children.
14 In righteousness you shall be established;
You shall be far from oppression, for you shall not fear;
And from terror, for it shall not come near you.
15 Indeed they shall surely assemble, but not because of Me.
Whoever assembles against you shall [r]fall for your sake.

16 "Behold, I have created the blacksmith

An Invitation to Abundant Life

CHAPTER 55

55 "Ho! [a]Everyone who thirsts,
Come to the waters;
And you who have no money,
[b]Come, buy and eat.
Yes, come, buy wine and milk
Without money and without price.
2 Why do you [1]spend money for what is not bread,
And your wages for what does not satisfy?
Listen carefully to Me, and eat what is good,
And let your soul delight itself in abundance.
3 Incline your ear, and [c]come to Me.
Hear, and your soul shall live;
[d]And I will make an everlasting covenant with you—
The [e]sure mercies of David.
4 Indeed I have given him as [f]a witness to the people,
[g]A leader and commander for the people.
5 [h]Surely you shall call a nation you do not know,
[i]And nations who do not know you shall run to you,
Because of the LORD your God,
And the Holy One of Israel;
[j]For He has glorified you."

54:11,12 colorful gems...sapphires...rubies...crystal...precious stones. The elaborate ornamentation will outfit Jerusalem to be the center of the future, eternal messianic reign following the Millennium (Rev. 21:18-21). As magnificent as this is, it is not as important as the spiritual richness of the kingdom, when truth and peace (v. 13) prevail along with righteousness (v. 14). The Lord Himself will teach everyone during the messianic kingdom, so everyone will know His righteousness (11:9; Jer. 31:34). Jesus gave this verse an additional focus, applying it to those with spiritual insight to come to Him during His first advent (John 6:45).

54:15-17 Whoever assembles against you shall fall. In the millennial kingdom this will occur, as prophesied by John in Rev. 20:7-9. The Lord will burn up all Israel's enemies The heritage of the Lord's servants in the Messiah's kingdom will include His protection from would-be conquerors. It should be noted that after the Servant-song of Isaiah 53, Israel is always referrred to as God's "servants" (plural) rather than His servant (54:17; 56:6; 63:17; 65:8,9,13,14,15; 66:14).

55:1 Everyone. The Servant's redemptive work and glorious kingdom is for the benefit of all who are willing to come (53:6). The prophet invites his readers to participate in the benefits obtained by the suffering of the Servant in chap. 53 and described in chap. 54. no money...without money and without price. Benefits in the Servant's kingdom will be free because of His redemptive work (53:6,8,11; Eph. 2:8,9). wine and milk. Symbols for abundance, satisfaction, and prosperity (Song 5:1; Joel 3:18).

55:2 not bread. This is the "bread of deceit" (Prov. 20:17) and not the "bread of life" (John 6:32-35).

55:3 everlasting covenant. The New Covenant that God will give to Israel (54:8; 61:8; Jer. 31:31-34; 32:40; 50:5; Ezek. 16:60; 37:26; Heb. 13:20). sure mercies of David. The Davidic Covenant promised David that his seed would be ruler over Israel in an everlasting kingdom (2 Sam. 7:8,16; Ps. 89:27-29). Paul connected the resurrection of Christ with this promise (Acts 13:34), since it was an essential event in fulfilling this promise. If He had not fully satisfied God by His atoning death, He would not have risen; if He had not risen from the dead, He could not eventually sit on David's earthly throne. But He did rise and will fulfill the kingly role (v. 4). Cf. Jer. 30:9; Ezek. 34:23,24; 37:24,25; Dan. 9:25; Hos. 3:5; Mic. 5:2. The whole world will come to Him as the Great King (v. 5).

55:6,7 Here is one of the clearest OT invitations to salvation now and kingdom blessing later. It gives an excellent example of how

Call upon Him while He is near.
7 [m]Let the [2]wicked forsake his way,
And the unrighteous man [n]his thoughts;
Let him return to the LORD,
[o]And He will have mercy on him;
And to our God,
For He will abundantly pardon.

8 "For[p] My thoughts are not your thoughts,
Nor are your ways My ways," says the LORD.
9 "For[q] as the heavens are higher than the earth,
So are My ways higher than your ways,
And My thoughts than your thoughts.

10 "For [r]as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven,
And do not return there,
But water the earth,
And make it bring forth and bud,
That it may give seed to the sower
And bread to the eater,
11 [s]So shall My word be that goes forth from My mouth;
It shall not return to Me [3]void,
But it shall accomplish what I please,
And it shall [t]prosper in the thing for which I sent it.

12 "For[u] you shall go out with joy,
And be led out with peace;
The mountains and the hills
Shall [v]break forth into singing before you,
And [w]all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.
13 [x]Instead of [y]the thorn shall come up the cypress tree,
And instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle tree;
And it shall be to the LORD [z]for a name,
For an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off."

Salvation for the Gentiles

56 Thus says the LORD:
"Keep justice, and do righteousness,
[a]For My salvation is about to come,
And My righteousness to be revealed.
2 Blessed is the man who does this,
And the son of man who lays hold on it;
[b]Who keeps from defiling the Sabbath,
And keeps his hand from doing any evil."

3 Do not let [c]the son of the foreigner
Who has joined himself to the LORD
Speak, saying,
"The LORD has utterly separated me from His people";
Nor let the [d]eunuch say,
"Here I am, a dry tree."
4 For thus says the LORD:
"To the eunuchs who keep My Sabbaths,
And choose what pleases Me,
And hold fast My covenant, people were saved during the OT period. Salvation grace and mercy were available to the soul that was willing to 1) seek the Lord (Deut. 4:29; 2 Chr. 15:4) and 2) call on Him while He is still available (65:1; Ps. 32:6; Prov. 8:17; Matt. 25:1-13; John 7:34; 8:21; 2 Cor. 6:2; Heb. 2:3; 3:13,15). Such true seeking in faith is accompanied by repentance, which is described as forsaking ways and thoughts and turning from sinful living to the Lord. A sinner must come, believing in God, recognizing his sin and desiring forgiveness and deliverance from that sin. At the same time he must recognize his own inability to be righteous or to satisfy God and cast himself on God's mercy. It is then that he receives a complete pardon. His sin has been covered by the substitution of the Messiah in his place (chap. 53). This OT pattern of salvation is illustrated in Luke 18:9-14.

55:7 forsake. An integral part of seeking the Lord (v. 6) is a turning from sin (1:16).

55:8,9 My thoughts...My ways. Some may doubt such willingness as is described in v. 7, but God's grace is far beyond human comprehension, especially as manifested toward Israel.

55:10,11 rain...snow...My word. Moisture from heaven invariably accomplishes its intended purpose in helping meet human physical needs. The Word of God will likewise produce its intended results in fulfilling God's spiritual purposes, especially the establishment of the Davidic kingdom on earth (vv. 1-5).

55:12 go out with joy...led out with peace. Exiled Israel will return from her dispersion rejoicing in her deliverance and unbothered by her enemies.

55:13 Instead of the thorn...myrtle tree. In the Davidic kingdom positive changes in nature, including the reverse of the curse (Gen. 3:17), will be an ongoing testimony to the Lord's redemption of His people (44:23; Rom. 8:19-23).

56:1 about to come...to be revealed. Incentives to comply with 55:6,7 include the nearness of God's kingdom of salvation and righteousness (51:5).

56:2 keeps from defiling the Sabbath. Sabbath observance, established after the deliverance from Egypt (Ex. 20:8-11), became a sign of fulfilling the covenant God made with Moses (Ex. 31:13-17).

56:3 foreigner...eunuch. Such individuals, excluded from Israel by the law (Ex. 12:43; Deut. 23:1,3,7,8), will find in the coming of the messianic kingdom the removal of such exclusions.

56:4,5 hold fast My covenant...an everlasting name. Eunuchs with hearts inclined to comply with the Mosaic Covenant may anticipate an endless posterity. It is never works that save (cf. Rom. 3:20; Eph. 2:8,9); rather, obeying God's law, doing what pleases Him or

5 Even to them I will give in [e]My house
And within My walls a place [f]and a name
Better than that of sons and daughters;
I will give [1]them an everlasting name
That shall not be cut off.

6 "Also the sons of the foreigner
Who join themselves to the LORD, to serve Him,
And to love the name of the LORD, to be His servants—
Everyone who keeps from defiling the Sabbath,
And holds fast My covenant—
7 Even them I will [g]bring to My holy mountain,
And make them joyful in My [h]house of prayer.
[i]Their burnt offerings and their sacrifices
Will be [j]accepted on My altar;
For [k]My house shall be called a house of prayer [l]for all nations."
8 The Lord GOD, [m]who gathers the outcasts of Israel, says, [n]"Yet I will gather to him
Others besides those who are gathered to him."

Israel's Irresponsible Leaders

9 [o]All you beasts of the field, come to devour,
All you beasts in the forest.
10 His watchmen are [p]blind,
They are all ignorant;
[q]They are all dumb dogs,
They cannot bark;
[2]Sleeping, lying down, loving to slumber.
11 Yes, they are [r]greedy[3] dogs
Which [s]never[4] have enough.
And they are shepherds
Who cannot understand;
They all look to their own way,
Every one for his own gain,
From his own territory.
12 "Come," one says, "I will bring wine,
And we will fill ourselves with intoxicating [t]drink;
[u]Tomorrow will be [v]as today,
And much more abundant."

Israel's Futile Idolatry

And no man takes it to heart;
[a]Merciful men are taken away,
[b]While no one considers
That the righteous is taken away from [1]evil.

Each one walking in his uprightness.

3 "But come here,
[d]You sons of the sorceress,
You offspring of the adulterer and the harlot!
4 Whom do you ridicule?
Against whom do you make a wide mouth
And stick out the tongue?
Are you not children of transgression, desiring to keep the promises of obedience are the evidences that one has been saved, and will thus enjoy all salvation blessings.

56:6,7 holds fast My covenant...accepted on My altar. The sacrifices of a foreigner who loves God, whose heart is inclined to serve Him and obey the Mosaic law, will find his sacrifices welcome, in the coming kingdom as well.

56:7 My house...for all nations. In the kingdom of the Messiah, the Jerusalem temple will be the focal point for worship of the Lord by people of all ethnic backgrounds. Jesus cited a violation of this anticipation by His contemporaries in His second cleansing of the temple: Jewish leaders had made the temple a commercial venture (Matt. 21:13; Mark 11:17; Luke 19:46).

56:8 Others besides those...gathered. Besides gathering Israel's exiles into His kingdom, the Lord will bring in non-Jews also (49:6).

56:9-12 A commentary on Israel's false prophets and irresponsible leaders who led them astray.

56:9-11 beasts...watchmen...shepherds. These titles identify the wicked; other prophets refer to Israel's enemies as beasts (Jer. 12:9; Ezek. 34:5,8). Prophets, who should have been watchmen and warned Israel to repent, ignored their responsibility (cf. Ezek. 3:17). Priests also failed to lead Israel in paths of righteousness (Ezek. 34:1-6; Zech. 11:15-17).

56:12 wine...intoxicating drink. This is indicative of the self-indulgent irresponsibility of the leaders. Drunkenness completely obliterated any concern that leaders had for their people. See notes on Prov. 31:4-7.

57:1,2 In contrast to the evil leaders, who were engaged in debauchery and self-indulgence, were the righteous who were removed from impending divine judgments. The righteous do suffer by oppression and distress at what is going on around them, but they die in faith and enjoy their eternal reward.

57:3 sorceress...adulterer...harlot. Sorcery and adultery were figurative designations for idolatry. God summoned the wicked to give an account.

57:4 stick out the tongue. The ungodly blatantly ridiculed God's messengers (e.g., 28:9,10).

57:5,6 These verses feature elements of idolatry such as child sacrifice, which were a part of worshiping the Ammonite god Molech (Jer. 32:35; Ezek. 20:26,31). In response to Israel's offerings to idols,

[f]Slaying the children in the valleys,
Under the clefts of the rocks?

Is your portion;
They, they, are your lot!
Even to them you have poured a drink offering,
You have offered a grain offering.

7 "On[i] a lofty and high mountain
You have set [j]your bed;
Even there you went up
To offer sacrifice.
8 Also behind the doors and their posts
You have set up your remembrance;
For you have uncovered yourself to those other than Me,
And have gone up to them;
You have enlarged your bed
And [2]made a covenant with them;
[k]You have loved their bed,
Where you saw their [3]nudity.
9 [l]You went to the king with ointment,
And increased your perfumes;
You sent your [m]messengers far off,
And even descended to Sheol.
10 You are wearied in the length of your way;
[n]Yet you did not say, 'There is no hope.'
You have found the life of your hand;
Therefore you were not grieved.

11 "And [o]of whom have you been afraid, or feared,
That you have lied
And not remembered Me,
Nor taken it to your heart?
Is it not because [p]I have [4]held My peace from of old
That you do not fear Me?

Healing for the Backslider

14 And one shall say,
[q]"Heap it up! Heap it up!
Prepare the way,
Take the stumbling block out of the way of My people."

15 For thus says the High and Lofty One Who inhabits eternity, [r]whose name is Holy:
[s]"I dwell in the high and holy place,
[t]With him who has a contrite and humble spirit,
[u]To revive the spirit of the humble,
And to revive the heart of the contrite ones.
16 [v]For I will not contend forever,
Nor will I always be angry;
For the spirit would fail before Me,
And the souls [w]which I have made.
17 For the iniquity of [x]his covetousness
I was angry and struck him;
[y]I hid and was angry,
[z]And he went on [5]backsliding in the way of his heart.
18 I have seen his ways, and [a]will heal him;
I will also lead him,
And restore comforts to him
And to [b]his mourners.

18 [a] Jer. 3:22 [b] Is. 61:2

what was the Lord's appropriate response—to be satisfied or to take vengeance? Jeremiah had the answer (Jer. 5:9,29; 9:9).

57:7,8 The location of idol altars where Israel committed spiritual adultery in offering sacrifices (Jer. 3:6; Ezek. 16:16) to Baal and Astarte.

57:9 went to the king. An example of this was Ahaz, who called on the king of Assyria for help and spared no expense in copying the idolatry of Assyria (2 Kin. 16:7-18).

57:10 found the life of your hand. Rather than recognizing the hopelessness of idolatry, and in spite of the weariness of idol worship, the Israelites found renewed strength to pursue their idolatrous course.

57:11 you have lied. These wicked people feared false gods more than the true God to whom they played the hypocrite, trading on God's patience.

57:12,13 I will declare your righteousness. God will break His silence by elaborating on Israel's sham righteousness, a sarcastic way of saying they have no real righteousness. The folly of such devotion to non-existent gods will show up when judgment comes and they all are blown away, while the worshipers of the true God enjoy the blessings of the kingdom. See Ps. 37:11; Matt. 5:5.

57:14-20 In contrast with the threats of judgment for idolatry (vv. 3-13), vv. 14-20 give promises of blessing.

57:14 Take the stumbling block. The command is to remove all barriers to prepare the way for God's people to return to Him (62:10).

57:15,18 revive the spirit...revive the heart. The Lord sends true revival, which comes to the humble and contrite (61:1-3; contra. v. 10). After all the years of Israel's sin and backsliding, and of Israel's punishment, God's grace will prevail (43:25) and spiritual healing and restoration will come.

57:17 backsliding. See note on Prov. 14:14.

19 "I create [c] the fruit of the lips:
Peace, peace [a] to him who is far off and to him who is near,"
Says the LORD,
"And I will heal him."
20 [e] But the wicked are like the troubled sea,
When it cannot rest,
Whose waters cast up mire and dirt.

21 "There is no peace,"
Says my God, "for the wicked."

Fasting that Pleases God

58 "Cry aloud, [1] spare not;
Lift up your voice like a trumpet;
[a] Tell My people their transgression,
And the house of Jacob their sins.
2 Yet they seek Me daily,
And delight to know My ways,
As a nation that did righteousness,
And did not forsake the ordinance of their God.
They ask of Me the ordinances of justice;
They take delight in approaching God.
3 'Why [b] have we fasted,' they say,
'and You have not seen?
Why have we [c] afflicted our souls,
and You take no notice?'

"In fact, in the day of your fast you find pleasure,
And [2] exploit all your laborers.
4 [d] Indeed you fast for strife and debate,
And to strike with the fist of wickedness.
You will not fast as you do this day,
To make your voice heard on high.
5 Is [e] it a fast that I have chosen,
[f] A day for a man to afflict his soul?
Is it to bow down his head like a bulrush,
And [g] to spread out sackcloth and ashes?
Would you call this a fast,
And an acceptable day to the LORD?

6 "Is this not the fast that I have chosen:
To [h] loose the bonds of wickedness,
[i] To undo the [3] heavy burdens,
[j] To let the oppressed go free,
And that you break every yoke?
7 Is it not [k] to share your bread with the hungry,
And that you bring to your house the poor who are [4] cast out;
[l] When you see the naked, that you cover him,
And not hide yourself from [m] your own flesh?
8 [n] Then your light shall break forth like the morning,
Your healing shall spring forth speedily,
And your righteousness shall go before you;
[o] The glory of the LORD shall be your rear guard.
9 Then you shall call, and the LORD will answer;
You shall cry, and He will say,
'Here I am.'

"If you take away the yoke from your midst,
The [5] pointing of the finger, and [p] speaking wickedness,
10 If you extend your soul to the hungry
And satisfy the afflicted soul,
Then your light shall dawn in the darkness,

57:19 fruit of the lips. According to Heb. 13:15, this phrase refers to praising and thanking God. Cf. Hos. 14:2. In this context, it is the voice crying "peace, peace" in a call to people far and near to come to the Lord and receive spiritual healing.

57:20,21 like the troubled sea. In contrast to those in v. 19, the wicked enjoy anything but peace (Jude 13). Cf. 48:22.

58:1–66:24 This section describes the future glory for God's people Israel.

58:1-5 A description of religious formalism that manifests itself in improper fasting.

58:1 Cry aloud. The prophet was to tell the people of Israel in plain language those areas of their behavior with which the Lord was displeased.

58:2 take delight in approaching God. Israel was merely "going through the motions." Their appearance of righteousness was mere pretense (1:11).

58:3-7 Why. The people complained when God did not recognize their religious actions, but God responded that their fastings had been only half-hearted. Hypocritical fasting resulted in contention, quarreling, and pretense, excluding the possibility of genuine prayer to God. Fasting consisted of more than just an outward ritual and a mock repentance, it involved penitence over sin and consequent humility, disconnecting from sin and oppression of others, feeding the hungry, and acting humanely toward those in need.

58:8 your righteousness...rear guard. When Israel learned the proper way to fast, she would enjoy the blessings of salvation and the Messiah's kingdom (52:12).

58:9 Here I am. See 65:1. In contrast with the complaint of v. 3, a time will come when the Lord will be completely responsive to the prayers of His people (65:24). This will be done when they are converted and giving evidence of the transformation in the kind of works that reflect a truly repentant heart (vv. 9,10). At the time of Christ's return, Israel will demonstrate true repentance and the fullness of blessing will be poured out (vv. 10b,11).

And your [6]darkness shall be as the noonday.
11 The LORD will guide you continually,
And satisfy your soul in drought,
And strengthen your bones;
You shall be like a watered garden,
And like a spring of water, whose waters do not fail.
12 Those from among you
[q]Shall build the old waste places;
You shall raise up the foundations of many generations;
And you shall be called the Repairer of the Breach,
The Restorer of [7]Streets to Dwell In.

13 "If [r]you turn away your foot from the Sabbath,
From doing your pleasure on My holy day,
And call the Sabbath a delight,
The holy day of the LORD honorable,
And shall honor Him, not doing your own ways,
Nor finding your own pleasure,
Nor speaking your own words,
14 [s]Then you shall delight yourself in the LORD;
And I will cause you to [t]ride on the high hills of the earth,
And feed you with the heritage of Jacob your father.
[u]The mouth of the LORD has spoken."

Separated from God

59 Behold, the LORD's hand is not [a]shortened,
That it cannot save;
Nor His ear heavy,
That it cannot hear.
2 But your iniquities have separated you from your God;
And your sins have hidden His face from you,
So that He will [b]not hear.
3 For [c]your hands are defiled with [1]blood,
And your fingers with iniquity;
Your lips have spoken lies,
Your tongue has muttered perversity.

4 No one calls for justice,
Nor does any plead for truth.
They trust in [d]empty words and speak lies;
[e]They conceive [2]evil and bring forth iniquity.
5 They hatch vipers' eggs and weave the spider's web;
He who eats of their eggs dies,
And from that which is crushed a viper breaks out.

6 [f]Their webs will not become garments,
Nor will they cover themselves with their works;
Their works are works of iniquity,
And the act of violence is in their hands.
7 [g]Their feet run to evil,
And they make haste to shed [h]innocent blood;
[i]Their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity;
Wasting and [j]destruction are in their paths.
8 The way of [k]peace they have not known,
And there is no justice in their ways;
[l]They have made themselves crooked paths;
Whoever takes that way shall not know peace.

Sin Confessed

58:12 build the old waste places. In view here is the final restoration of the millennial Jerusalem, of which Nehemiah's rebuilding of the walls (Neh. 2:17) was only a foretaste (61:4; Amos 9:11).

58:13 turn away your foot from the Sabbath. The Sabbath was holy ground on which no one should walk. Keeping the Sabbath was symbolic of obedience to all the law of Moses (56:2). For the setting aside of Sabbath law in the NT, see notes on Rom. 14:5,6 and Col. 2:16,17.

58:14 delight yourself in the LORD. Repentant ones walking in fellowship with the Lord experience satisfaction of soul (Ps. 37:4). Their satisfaction will not come from material goods (contra. 55:2).

59:1 LORD's hand...His ear. The Lord's strength is more than adequate to bring deliverance to captive Israel (50:2). His ear is attuned to the call of His repentant people (58:9; 65:24).

59:2 iniquities...sins. Abraham's physical lineage had not yet experienced the Lord's deliverance because of the barrier created by their wrong-doing. This is a universal truth applying to all men—sin separates people from God (cf. Rom 3:23).

59:5 vipers' eggs...spider's web. It is sad when persons do evil, but even sadder when they delight in poisoning or ensnaring others with their evil habits (Rom. 1:32). Israel had reached this latter state.

59:6 webs...works. Just as spiders' webs are too flimsy to serve as clothing, so were Israel's evil works. Spiritually, they did not suffice.

59:7,8 Their feet...shall not know peace. From Isaiah's pen, the words focused on the national depravity of Israel that stood in the way of God's deliverance. Paul showed that what was true of sinful Israel is indicative of the depravity of all mankind, (Rom. 3:15-17).

[m] We look for light, but there is darkness!
For brightness, but we walk in blackness!
10 [n] We grope for the wall like the blind,
And we grope as if we had no eyes;
We stumble at noonday as at twilight;
We are as dead men in desolate places.
11 We all growl like bears,
And [o] moan sadly like doves;
We look for justice, but there is none;
For salvation, but it is far from us.
12 For our [p] transgressions are multiplied before You,
And our sins testify against us;
For our transgressions are with us,
And as for our iniquities, we know them:
13 In transgressing and lying against the LORD,
And departing from our God,
Speaking oppression and revolt,
Conceiving and uttering [q] from the heart words of falsehood.
14 Justice is turned back,
And righteousness stands afar off;
For truth is fallen in the street,
And equity cannot enter.
15 So truth fails,
And he who departs from evil makes himself a [r] prey.

The Redeemer of Zion

Then the LORD saw it, and [3] it displeased Him
That there was no justice.
16 [s] He saw that there was no man,
And [t] wondered that there was no intercessor;
[u] Therefore His own arm brought salvation for Him;
And His own righteousness, it sustained Him.
17 [v] For He put on righteousness as a breastplate,
And a helmet of salvation on His head;
He put on the garments of vengeance for clothing,
And was clad with zeal as a cloak.
18 [w] According to their deeds, accordingly He will repay,
Fury to His adversaries,
Recompense to His enemies;
The coastlands He will fully repay.
19 [x] So shall they fear
The name of the LORD from the west,
And His glory from the rising of the sun;
When the enemy comes in [y] like a flood,
The Spirit of the LORD will lift up a standard against him.

20 "The [z] Redeemer will come to Zion,
And to those who turn from transgression in Jacob,"
Says the LORD.

21 "As [a] for Me," says the LORD, "this is My covenant with them: My Spirit who is upon you, and My words which I have put in your mouth, shall not depart from your mouth, nor from the mouth of your descendants, nor from the mouth of your descendants' descendants," says the LORD, "from this time and forevermore."

59:10,11 grope...stumble. Here is a picture of men seeking unsuccessfully to escape their depraved condition through their own strength. They wind up growling and lamenting their inability to gain salvation (Deut. 28:29).

59:12-14 transgressions...sins. The prophet supplies the answer to the nation's frustrations: their sins and transgressions remain as an obstacle to God's deliverance. Though their external rituals may be proper, the hindrance of impure motives remains between God and His people (Matt. 12:34; Mark 7:21,22). The presence of iniquity eliminates righteousness.

59:15 makes himself a prey. In an environment where evil prevailed, anyone who departed from it became a victim of his environment because he did not fit in.

59:15,16 the LORD saw...no intercessor. The Lord was aware of Israel's tragic condition and of the absence of anyone to intervene on His behalf. The Lord took it on Himself to change Israel's condition through the intervention of His Suffering Servant (53:12).

59:17 righteousness as a breastplate...helmet of salvation. Figuratively speaking, the Lord armed Himself for the deliverance of His people and for taking vengeance on enemies who would seek His destruction. Paul drew on this terminology in describing a believer's spiritual preparation for warding off the attacks of Satan (Eph. 6:14,17; 1 Thess. 5:8).

59:17,18 garments of vengeance...Recompense to His enemies. In the process of delivering the faithful remnant of Israel, the Lord executes decisive judgment against all rebellious nations ("coastlands") as well as the wicked Israelites (63:1-6).

59:19 shall they fear. All surviving peoples throughout the world are to have added reason to worship the Lord, seeing how He defeated all enemies by the power of His Spirit in bringing salvation to His people Israel. All over the earth, submission to Him is to be the only path to survival in the coming kingdom.

59:20,21 The Redeemer will come. The Messiah, the Suffering Servant, will redeem Zion and all faithful Israelites. This unalterable promise to the nation was the basis for Paul's reassurance of the future salvation of Israel (Rom. 11:26,27).

59:21 My covenant...forevermore. Because God's New Covenant with Israel is "everlasting" (55:3; cf. Jer. 31:31-34), God's Spirit and His words are to remain objects of their attention continually.

The Gentiles Bless Zion

CHAPTER 60

60 Arise, [a]shine;
For your light has come!
And [b]the glory of the LORD is risen upon you.
2 For behold, the darkness shall cover the earth,
And deep darkness the people;
But the LORD will arise over you,
And His glory will be seen upon you.
3 The [c]Gentiles shall come to your light,
And kings to the brightness of your rising.

4 "Lift[d] up your eyes all around, and see:
They all gather together, [e]they come to you;
Your sons shall come from afar,
And your daughters shall be nursed at your side.
5 Then you shall see and become radiant,
And your heart shall swell with joy;
Because [f]the abundance of the sea shall be turned to you,
The wealth of the Gentiles shall come to you.
6 The multitude of camels shall cover your land,
The dromedaries of Midian and [g]Ephah;
All those from [h]Sheba shall come;
They shall bring [i]gold and incense,
And they shall proclaim the praises of the LORD.
7 All the flocks of [j]Kedar shall be gathered together to you,
The rams of Nebaioth shall minister to you;
They shall ascend with [k]acceptance on My altar,
And [l]I will glorify the house of My glory.

8 "Who are these who fly like a cloud,
And like doves to their roosts?
9 [m]Surely the coastlands shall wait for Me;
And the ships of Tarshish will come first,
[n]To bring your sons from afar,
[o]Their silver and their gold with them,
To the name of the LORD your God,
And to the Holy One of Israel,
[p]Because He has glorified you.

10 "The[q] sons of foreigners shall build up your walls,
[r]And their kings shall minister to you;
For [s]in My wrath I struck you,
[t]But in My favor I have had mercy on you.
11 Therefore your gates [u]shall be open continually;
They shall not be shut day or night,
That men may bring to you the wealth of the Gentiles,
And their kings in procession.
12 [v]For the nation and kingdom which will not serve you shall perish,

12 [v] Is. 14:2; Zech. 14:17; Matt. 21:44

60:1,2 glory of the LORD...darkness...deep darkness...His glory. Addressing Zion (59:20; 60:14), Isaiah told the city and thus the nation Israel that her light has come, putting her in contrast with the rest of the darkened world. This expressed the glory of Jerusalem during the millennial kingdom.

60:3 Gentiles shall come. Jerusalem's light will attract other nations seeking relief from their darkness (2:3). Only believing Jews and Gentiles will enter the earthly kingdom after the Day of the Lord, but as the 1,000 years goes along children will be born and nations will become populated by those who reject Jesus Christ. The glory of the King in Jerusalem, and His mighty power will draw those Gentiles to His light.

60:4 gather...sons...daughters. Another promise of the regathering of Israel's faithful remnant (49:18,22).

60:5 joy...wealth. Two more benefits of Israel's future kingdom will be rejoicing and an abundance of material possessions as symbolized in vv. 6,7 (23:18; 24:14; 61:6).

60:6 Midian...Ephah...Sheba. The descendants of Midian, Abraham's son through Keturah (Gen. 25:1,2), inhabited the desert areas E of the Jordan River. Ephah was one of the sons of Midian (Gen. 25:4) whose ancestors settled on the E coast of the Elanitic Gulf. Sheba was a district in Arabia noted for its wealth (1 Kin. 10:1,2).

60:7 Kedar...Nebaioth. The descendants of Kedar, a son of Ishmael (Gen. 25:13), lived in the desert between Syria and Mesopotamia. The Nabateans, inhabitants of the Arabian city Petra, were probably the descendants of Nebaioth, the oldest son of Ishmael (Gen. 25:13). acceptance on My altar. Animal sacrifices brought by other nations during the millennial kingdom will glorify the house of God's glory even more (v. 13). See notes on Ezek. 40–48 for the description of the operation of sacrifices in the millennial temple.

60:8 fly like a cloud...doves. Figurative language to describe the rapid influx of Gentiles into Jerusalem.

60:9 coastlands...ships of Tarshish...your sons...silver ...gold. Because of the Lord's favor toward Zion, the city will attract worldwide attention (23:1; 41:1). Trading vessels will return Israel's faithful remnant as they bring rich treasures to Jerusalem.

60:10 build up your walls. The rebuilding of Jerusalem's walls, helped by Persian kings, was merely a foretaste of the final rebuilding of the city assisted by Gentiles when Christ returns to earth. in My wrath...in My favor. God's past dealings with Israel have been largely in wrath, but His future merciful work will demonstrate His favor.

60:11 gates...open continually. Unrestricted access to Jerusalem will prevail in the future kingdom (26:2; 62:10; Rev. 21:25,26).

60:12 nation...perish. Survival in the future kingdom will be impossible for those nations who do not come to terms with Israel (11:13,14; 14:2; 49:23). The Lord will rule the nations with a rod of iron (cf. Ps. 2:7-12).

And those nations shall be utterly ruined.

13 "The[w] glory of Lebanon shall come to you,
The cypress, the pine, and the box tree together,
To beautify the place of My sanctuary;
And I will make [x]the place of My feet glorious.
14 Also the sons of those who afflicted you
Shall come [y]bowing to you,
And all those who despised you shall [z]fall prostrate at the soles of your feet;
And they shall call you The City of the LORD,
[a]Zion of the Holy One of Israel.

15 "Whereas you have been forsaken and hated,
So that no one went through you,
I will make you an eternal excellence,
A joy of many generations.
16 You shall drink the milk of the Gentiles,
[b]And milk the breast of kings;
You shall know that [c]I, the LORD, am your Savior
And your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

17 "Instead of bronze I will bring gold,
Instead of iron I will bring silver,
Instead of wood, bronze,
And instead of stones, iron.
I will also make your officers peace,
And your magistrates righteousness.
18 Violence shall no longer be heard in your land,
Neither [1]wasting nor destruction within your borders;
But you shall call [d]your walls Salvation,
And your gates Praise.

God the Glory of His People

19 "The [e]sun shall no longer be your light by day,
Nor for brightness shall the moon give light to you;
But the LORD will be to you an everlasting light,
And [f]your God your glory.
20 [g]Your sun shall no longer go down,
Nor shall your moon withdraw itself;
For the LORD will be your everlasting light,
And the days of your mourning shall be ended.
21 [h]Also your people shall all be righteous;
[i]They shall inherit the land forever,
[j]The branch of My planting,
[k]The work of My hands,
That I may be glorified.
22 [l]A little one shall become a thousand,
And a small one a strong nation.
I, the LORD, will hasten it in its time."

60:13 glory of Lebanon. Timber was Lebanon's claim to fame. As in Solomon's temple (1 Kin. 5:10,18), but even more so, the timber taken from Lebanon's forests will enrich the Lord's temple in Jerusalem.

60:14 The City of the LORD. Nations which formerly were oppressors of Israel will acknowledge Zion's supremacy as the city that belongs to the Lord.

60:15 forsaken and hated...eternal excellence. Jerusalem will switch roles from having been despised to being exalted forever.

60:16 milk...milk. As a mother feeds her infant, so Gentiles and kings will provide wealth and power to Zion. The city will recognize the Lord as her Savior and Redeemer, "the Mighty One of Jacob," as will "all flesh" (49:26).

60:17 gold...silver...peace...righteousness. Jerusalem in the future kingdom will be a place of beauty and peace where right will prevail.

60:18 Salvation...Praise. The walls and gates of the city that will take on those names refer to the divine protection the Lord provides from any form of violence or destruction.

60:19 sun shall no longer...everlasting light. Isaiah, looking beyond the millennial kingdom, sees a view of the new Jerusalem following the Millennium (Rev. 21:23; 22:5). His prophetic perspective did not allow him to distinguish the eternal phase of the future kingdom from the temporal one, just as the OT prophets could not distinguish between the first and second advent of Christ (cf. 1 Pet. 1:10,11).

60:20 mourning...ended. In the eternal kingdom of the new creation, subjects will shed no more tears (Rev. 21:4).

60:21 inherit the land forever. Israel will inherit the land promised to Abraham (Gen. 12:1,7; 13:15; 15:18). During the millennial kingdom, that will be the land of Israel as we know it today. In the eternal kingdom, it will be the New Jerusalem, capital of the new creation. I may be glorified. The ultimate mission of Israel is to glorify the Lord (49:3; 61:3).

60:22 little one...strong nation. Israel's great increase in numbers and power resulting from the Lord's working will bring them into never before experienced world prominence.

61:1,2a The Spirit...acceptable year of the LORD. The Servant of the Lord (42:1) will be the ultimate Preacher and the Redeemer of

To preach good tidings to the poor;
He has sent Me [c] to [1] heal the brokenhearted,
To proclaim [d] liberty to the captives,
And the opening of the prison to those who are bound;
2 [e] To proclaim the acceptable year of
the LORD,
And [f] the day of vengeance of our
God;
[g] To comfort all who mourn,
3 To [2] console those who mourn in
Zion,
[h] To give them beauty for ashes,
The oil of joy for mourning,
The garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness;
That they may be called trees of
righteousness,
[i] The planting of the LORD, [j] that He may be glorified."

4 And they shall [k] rebuild the old ruins,
They shall raise up the former
desolations,
And they shall repair the ruined
cities,
The desolations of many generations.
5 [l] Strangers shall stand and feed your flocks,
And the sons of the foreigner
Shall be your plowmen and your vinedressers.
6 [m] But you shall be named the priests
of the LORD,
They shall call you the servants of our God.
[n] You shall eat the riches of the Gentiles,
And in their glory you shall boast.
7 [o] Instead of your shame you shall have double honor,
And instead of confusion they shall rejoice in their portion.
Therefore in their land they shall possess double;
Everlasting joy shall be theirs.

8 "For [p] I, the LORD, love justice;
[q] I hate robbery [3] for burnt offering;
I will direct their work in truth,
[r] And will make with them an everlasting covenant.
9 Their descendants shall be known among the Gentiles,
And their offspring among the
people.
All who see them shall acknowledge them,
[s] That they are the posterity whom the LORD has blessed."

10 [t] I will greatly rejoice in the LORD,
My soul shall be joyful in my God;
For [u] He has clothed me with the garments of salvation,
He has covered me with the robe
of righteousness,
[v] As a bridegroom decks himself with ornaments,
And as a bride adorns herself with her jewels.
11 For as the earth brings forth its bud,
As the garden causes the things that are sown in it to spring
forth,
So the Lord GOD will cause [w] righteousness and [x] praise to spring forth before all the nations.

Israel who rescues them. Jesus speaks of the initial fulfillment of this promise, referring it to His ministry of providing salvation's comfort to the spiritually oppressed (Luke 4:18,19). He says specifically, "Today this Scripture is fulfilled in your hearing" (Luke 4:21). The Jews that were saved during Christ's ministry, and those being saved during this church age, still do not fulfill the promise of the salvation of the nation to come in the end time (cf. Zech. 12:10–13:1; Rom. 11:25-27).

61:1 Spirit...Lord God...Me. The 3 persons of the Holy Trinity function together in this verse (6:8; cf. Matt. 3:16,17). liberty to the captives. The "captives" are Israelites remaining in the dispersion following the Babylonian captivity (42:7).

61:2 acceptable year. The same as "the day of salvation" (49:8) and "the year of My redeemed" (63:4). This is where Jesus stopped reading in the synagogue (Luke 4:19), indicating that the subsequent writing in the rest of the chapter (vv. 3-11) awaited the second coming of Christ. day of vengeance. As part of His deliverance of Israel, the Lord will pour out wrath on all who oppose Him (59:17-18). Cf. Rev. 6–19.

61:3 console...glorified. The purpose of the Lord's consolation of the mourners after centuries of suffering (60:20) will be to glorify Himself (60:21).

61:4 rebuild. The rebuilding of Israel's cities is part of God's future plan for the nation (49:8; 58:12; 60:10).

61:6 priests of the LORD. In fulfillment of Ex. 19:6, Israel will be a kingdom of priests when Christ establishes His kingdom. In the meantime, Peter applied the same terminology to the church (1 Pet. 2:9).

61:7 double honor. Israel will receive double portions of blessing to replace the double punishment of her exile (40:2).

61:8 everlasting covenant. This refers to the New Covenant. See note on 55:3.

61:10 clothed me...covered me. Here is the OT picture of imputed righteousness, the essential heart of the New Covenant. When a penitent sinner recognizes he can't achieve his own righteousness by works (see notes on Rom. 3:19-22; 2 Cor. 5:21; Phil. 3:8,9), and repents and calls on the mercy of God, the Lord covers him with His own divine righteousness by grace through his faith.

Assurance of Zion's Salvation

CHAPTER 62

62 For Zion's sake I will not [1]hold My peace,
And for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest,
Until her righteousness goes forth as brightness,
And her salvation as a lamp that burns.

2 [a]The Gentiles shall see your righteousness,
And all [b]kings your glory.
[c]You shall be called by a new name,
Which the mouth of the LORD will name.

3 You shall also be [d]a crown of glory
In the hand of the LORD,
And a royal diadem
In the hand of your God.

4 [e]You shall no longer be termed
[f]Forsaken,[2]
Nor shall your land any more be termed [g]Desolate;[3]
But you shall be called
[4]Hephzibah, and your land
[5]Beulah;
For the LORD delights in you,
And your land shall be married.

5 For as a young man marries a virgin,
So shall your sons marry you;
And as the bridegroom rejoices over the bride,
[h]So shall your God rejoice over you.

6 [i]I have set watchmen on your walls, O Jerusalem;
They shall [6]never hold their peace day or night.
You who [7]make mention of the LORD, do not keep silent,

7 And give Him no rest till He establishes
And till He makes Jerusalem [j]a praise in the earth.

8 The LORD has sworn by His right hand
And by the arm of His strength:
"Surely I will no longer [k]give your grain
As food for your enemies;
And the sons of the foreigner shall not drink your new wine,
For which you have labored.

9 But those who have gathered it shall eat it,
And praise the LORD;
Those who have brought it together shall drink it [l]in My holy courts."

10 Go through,
Go through the gates!
[m]Prepare the way for the people;
Build up,
Build up the highway!
Take out the stones,
[n]Lift up a banner for the peoples!

11 Indeed the LORD has proclaimed
To the end of the world:
[o]"Say to the daughter of Zion,
'Surely your salvation is coming;
Behold, His [p]reward is with Him,
And His [8]work before Him.' "

12 And they shall call them The Holy People,
The Redeemed of the LORD;
And you shall be called Sought Out,
A City Not Forsaken.

The LORD in Judgment and Salvation

CHAPTER 63

63 Who is this who comes from Edom,
With dyed garments from Bozrah,
This One who is [1]glorious in His apparel,

1 [1] Or adorned

62:1 not hold My peace...not rest. The Lord expresses His determination to make Jerusalem a lighthouse for the world (58:8; 60:1-3).

62:2 new name. Jerusalem's new name will reflect Israel's new favored status (vv. 4,12; 65:15).

62:4 Hephzibah...Beulah. The terms mean "My delight is in her" and "Married," reflecting a full restored relationship with the Lord.

62:5 sons marry you. "Marry" in the sense of occupying and possessing the city.

62:6,7 never hold their peace...do not keep silent...give Him no rest. The prophets of Israel issued constant warnings about lurking enemies and prayed for Jerusalem to be "a praise" (60:18; 61:11). There will be more prophets in the kingdom who continually proclaim the honor of the Lord.

62:8,9 The LORD has sworn. The end of foreign domination over Jerusalem is as certain as the oath of God.

62:9 My holy courts. This refers to the millennial temple (cf. Ezek. 40–46).

62:10 Prepare. This and the accompanying commands prepare the people for the exaltation of Zion and the manifestation of her salvation (11:12; 40:3; 57:14).

62:11 Say to the daughter...Behold. Matthew may also have alluded to these words when he was quoting from Zech. 9:9 as it related to Jesus' triumphal entry into Jerusalem (see Matt. 21:5). His reward...His work. See 40:9,10.

62:12 A City Not Forsaken. See v. 4 and cf. Zion's complaint in 49:14.

63:1 Edom...Bozrah. Edom represents a God-hating world (34:5). Bozrah was a capital city in Edom at one time (34:6). Messiah, coming as the avenger approaching Jerusalem to reign after having avenged His people on His and their enemies, is presented in imagery taken from the destruction of Edom, the representative in this picture of the last and most bitter foes of God and His people. He alone is "mighty to save."

Traveling in the greatness of His strength?—

"I who speak in righteousness, mighty to save."

2 Why [a]is Your apparel red,
And Your garments like one who treads in the winepress?

3 "I have [b]trodden the winepress alone,
And from the peoples no one was with Me.
For I have trodden them in My anger,
And trampled them in My fury;
Their blood is sprinkled upon My garments,
And I have stained all My robes.
4 For the [c]day of vengeance is in My heart,
And the year of My redeemed has come.
5 [d]I looked, but [e]there was no one to help,
And I wondered
That there was no one to uphold;
Therefore My own [f]arm brought salvation for Me;
And My own fury, it sustained Me.
6 I have trodden down the peoples in My anger,
Made them drunk in My fury,
And brought down their strength to the earth."

God's Mercy Remembered

7 I will mention the lovingkindnesses of the LORD
And the praises of the LORD,
According to all that the LORD has bestowed on us,
And the great goodness toward the house of Israel,
Which He has bestowed on them according to His mercies,
According to the multitude of His lovingkindnesses.
8 For He said, "Surely they are My people,
Children who will not lie."
So He became their Savior.
9 [g]In all their affliction He was [2]afflicted,
[h]And the Angel of His Presence saved them;
[i]In His love and in His pity He redeemed them;
And [j]He bore them and carried them
All the days of old.
10 But they [k]rebelled and [l]grieved His Holy Spirit;
[m]So He turned Himself against them as an enemy,
And He fought against them.

11 Then he [n]remembered the days of old,
Moses and his people, saying:
"Where is He who [o]brought them up out of the sea

9 [g] Judg. 10:16 [h] Ex. 14:19 [i] Deut. 7:7 [j] Ex. 19:4 [2] Kt., LXX, Syr. not afflicted

11 [n] Ps. 106:44, 45 [o] Ex. 14:30

63:3 anger...fury...blood. The Savior explains the red coloring of His clothing (v. 2) as resulting from His judgmental activity against Israel's enemies (61:2). The splattered grape juice staining His clothing is, in reality, "blood" from those destroyed in judgment. John alludes to vv. 1-3 in describing the second coming of Christ, the Warrior-King. See notes on Rev. 19:13,15.

63:4 day of vengeance...year of My redeemed. The Messiah's future reckoning with the wicked will coincide with His redemption of Israel (61:2).

63:5 no one to help...My own arm. The future salvation of Israel will be a single-handed accomplishment of the Lord (v. 3; 59:15,16).

63:6 Made them drunk. See 51:17,21-23. Revelation compares God's wrath to wine several times (e.g., Rev. 14:10,19; 16:19; 19:15). "Brought down their strength" is lit. saying "spilled their blood."

63:7–64:12 As one of Israel's watchmen, Isaiah, on behalf of the faithful remnant, prays this penitential confession and prayer for Israel's restoration (cf. 62:6,7).

63:7-14 The prayer reviews God's compassionate acts toward His people in spite of their unfaithfulness to Him.

63:7,8 lovingkindnesses...lovingkindnesses. All the plurals in this verse imply that language is inadequate to recite all the goodness and undeserved mercies God has showered on the nation time after time because of His everlasting covenant with them. By His elective choice, they became His people and He their Savior (43:1,3); this guarantees that they will not always be false ("lie"), but someday true and faithful to God because of His sovereign election of them. Cf. Eph. 1:3,4.

63:9 Angel of His Presence. The angel, who delivered the Israelites from Egypt, was none other than the Lord Himself (Ex. 14:19; 23:20-23; 33:12,14,15; Num. 20:16). He is sometimes identified as the Angel of the Lord. He was close enough to His people that He felt their afflictions as if they were His own. See note on Ex. 3:2.

63:10 rebelled and grieved His Holy Spirit. In spite of the Lord's loving choice and sympathy, Israel continually turned their backs on Him and spurned His lovingkindnesses toward them (Num. 20:10; Pss. 78:40; 106:33; Acts 7:51; cf. Eph. 4:30). Here is an illustration of the reality that the Holy Spirit is a Person, since only a person can be grieved.

63:11-13 he remembered...might not stumble. The Lord, in spite of their perversity, did not forget His covenant nor fully forsake them (Lev. 26:40-45; Ps. 106:45,46). In contrasting their present state of destitution with that of blessing experienced by Moses' generation, the people of Israel lamented the loss of God's mighty works on their behalf and pleaded with the Lord that He would not forsake them. brought them up out of the sea...put His Holy Spirit within them...Dividing the water. Typical mighty works of God were letting the people pass through the sea as on dry ground (Ex. 14:29,30) and the ministry of the Holy Spirit among them (Num. 11:17,25,29). "Within" does not refer to individual indwelling but rather would best be translated with a corporate sense of "among" or "in the midst." Another reference is made to the miracle of the Red Sea (Ex 14:21,22).

With the [3]shepherd of His flock?
[p]Where is He who put His Holy Spirit within them,
12 Who led them by the right hand of Moses,
[q]With His glorious arm,
[r]Dividing the water before them
To make for Himself an everlasting name,
13 [s]Who led them through the deep,
As a horse in the wilderness,
That they might not stumble?"

14 As a beast goes down into the valley,
And the Spirit of the LORD causes him to rest,
So You lead Your people,
[t]To make Yourself a glorious name.

A Prayer of Penitence

15 [u]Look down from heaven,
And see [v]from Your habitation, holy and glorious.
Where are Your zeal and Your strength,
The yearning [w]of Your heart and Your mercies toward me?
Are they restrained?
16 [x]Doubtless You are our Father,
Though Abraham [y]was ignorant of us,
And Israel does not acknowledge us.
You, O LORD, are our Father;
Our Redeemer from Everlasting is Your name.
17 O LORD, why have You [z]made us stray from Your ways,
And hardened our heart from Your fear?
Return for Your servants' sake,
The tribes of Your inheritance.
18 [a]Your holy people have possessed it but a little while;
[b]Our adversaries have trodden down Your sanctuary.
19 We have become like those of old, over whom You never ruled,
Those who were never called by Your name.

64 Oh, that You would [1]rend the heavens!
That You would come down!
That the mountains might shake at Your [a]presence—
2 As fire burns brushwood,
As fire causes water to boil—
To make Your name known to Your adversaries,
That the nations may tremble at Your presence!
3 When [b]You did awesome things for which we did not look,
You came down,
The mountains shook at Your presence.
4 For since the beginning of the world
[c]Men have not heard nor perceived by the ear,
Nor has the eye seen any God besides You,
Who acts for the one who waits for Him.
5 You meet him who rejoices and does righteousness,
Who remembers You in Your ways.

3 [b] Ex. 34:10
4 [c] Ps. 31:19

63:14 make Yourself a glorious name. The Lord's purpose for Israel was and is to make them great so as to magnify His name in the world. Cf. v. 12.

63:15-19 After having extolled God's goodness (vv. 7-9) and rehearsed God's past faithfulness to Israel for the sake of His glory (vv. 11-13), the prophet offered a prayer of repentance by the nation in its desolate condition.

63:15 Where...Your mercies toward me? On behalf of the people, Isaiah asked if God had changed how He felt about Israel and prayed for new mercies such as He had exhibited toward the nation in the past.

63:16 Abraham...Israel. The nation's physical ancestors, Abraham and Jacob (Israel) played a crucial role in Jewish thinking. It had been the besetting temptation and sin of the Jews to rest on the mere privilege of descent from Abraham and Jacob (cf. Matt. 3:9; John 4:12; 8:39), but at last they renounce that to trust God alone as Father.

63:17 made us stray...hardened our heart. The sense is that God allowed them to stray and be burdened in their hearts. They were not denying their own guilt, but confessing that because of it, God gave them up to the consequences of their iniquitous choices. Cf. 6:9,10; Ps. 81:11,12; Hos. 4:17; Rom. 1:24-28.

63:18 trodden down Your sanctuary. The Babylonians, among others, had possessed the land given to Israel and desecrated God's sanctuary (Ps. 74:3-7).

63:19 never...never. Israel's complaint was that her desolate condition was comparable to that of nations who had no unique relationship with the Lord.

64:1-5 A plea for the Lord to demonstrate His power as He did in earlier days.

64:1,2 rend the heavens...shake at Your presence. Israel's response to her own complaint (63:19) was a plea that God would burst forth to execute vengeance suddenly on His people's foes (cf. Pss. 18:7-9; 144:5; Hab. 3:5,6), manifesting Himself in judgment again as He did at Mt. Sinai (Ex. 19:18; Judg. 5:5; Ps. 68:8; Heb. 12:18-20). As God's name is to receive glory through His redemption of Israel (63:14), it also is to have widespread recognition because of His judgment against Israel's enemies (Ps. 99:1).

64:3 awesome things. Another reference to God's acts at Sinai (Deut. 10:21).

64:4 ear...eye. God's judgmental manifestations are unique. No one has witnessed the likes of His awesome works on behalf of His own. Paul adapts words from this verse to speak of direct revelation of God imparted to His apostles and prophets and pertaining to mysteries hidden from mankind before the birth of the church (1 Cor. 2:9).

You are indeed angry, for we have sinned—
[d]In these ways we continue;
And we need to be saved.

6 But we are all like an unclean thing,
And all [e]our righteousnesses are like [2]filthy rags;
We all [f]fade as a leaf,
And our iniquities, like the wind,
Have taken us away.
7 And there is no one who calls on Your name,
Who stirs himself up to take hold of You;
For You have hidden Your face from us,
And have [3]consumed us because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O LORD,
You are our Father;
We are the clay, and You our [g]potter;
And all we are the work of Your hand.
9 Do not be furious, O LORD,
Nor remember iniquity forever;
Indeed, please look—we all are Your people!
10 Your holy cities are a wilderness,
Zion is a wilderness,
Jerusalem a desolation.
11 Our holy and beautiful [4]temple,
Where our fathers praised You,
Is burned up with fire;
And all [h]our pleasant things [5]are laid waste.
12 [i]Will You restrain Yourself because of these things, O LORD?
[j]Will You [6]hold Your peace, and afflict us very severely?

The Righteousness of God's Judgment

65 "I was [a]sought by those who did not ask for Me;
I was found by those who did not seek Me.
I said, 'Here I am, here I am,'
To a nation that [b]was not called by My name.
2 [c]I have stretched out My hands all day long to a [d]rebellious people,
Who [e]walk in a way that is not good,
According to their own thoughts;
3 A people [f]who provoke Me to anger continually to My face;
[g]Who sacrifice in gardens,
And burn incense on altars of brick;
4 [h]Who sit among the graves,
And spend the night in the tombs;
[i]Who eat swine's flesh,
And the broth of [1]abominable things is in their vessels;
5 [j]Who say, 'Keep to yourself,
Do not come near me,
For I am holier than you!'
These [2]are smoke in My nostrils,
A fire that burns all the day.

6 [k] Deut. 32:34 [l] Ps. 50:3 [m] Ps. 79:12

64:5 we need to be saved. Direct exposure to the awesome character of God's judgment brings a realization of sinners' need of salvation (cf. Acts 16:26-30).

64:6 unclean thing...filthy rags. As in 53:6, the prophet included himself among those confessing their utter unworthiness to be in God's presence. Isaiah employed the imagery of menstrual cloths used during a woman's period to picture uncleanness (cf. Lev. 15:19-24). This is true of the best behavior of unbelievers (cf. Phil. 3:5-8).

64:7-9 no one who calls. The prophet finds no exception among a people whose iniquities had separated them from God. See notes on Rom. 3:10-18. Such seeking and calling on the Lord as Isaiah describes in 55:6,7 cannot occur apart from the powerful conviction and awakening of the sinful heart by the Holy Spirit. Thus the prayer recognizes God as a potter in control of clay and pleads for Him to do a saving work (v. 8). Cf. 45:9,10; 60:21; 63:16. Such a work is what God promised to end His fury (54:7,8) and His memory of sin (v. 9; 43:25).

64:11 burned up with fire...laid waste. Through prophetic revelation Isaiah uttered these words many years before the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of the temple in 586 B.C. Yet, he lamented over the fallen state as though it had already occurred. God's people were in desperate straits and their prayers urgent and persistent: "How can You stand by when Your people and Your land are so barren?"

65:1-7 In response to the prayer of 63:7–64:12, the Lord repeated the warnings of His judgment.

65:1 not ask...not seek...not called. Though Israel sought the Lord, they did so only superficially. They did not genuinely seek Him. The NT assigns an additional sense to the words in Rom. 10:20, applying them to Gentiles who find Him through the work of His sovereign grace.

65:2 I have stretched out...rebellious people. God had continually taken the initiative in inviting His people Israel to walk in His ways, but time after time they rebuffed Him. Using this verse, Paul concurred in citing the rebelliousness of his fellow Jews (Rom. 10:21).

65:3,4 Here Isaiah gave more references to Israel's sin, such as defiance in practicing idolatry, communing with the spirits of the dead (a forbidden practice according to Deut. 18:10,11), eating in ways forbidden by the Mosaic law (Lev. 11:7,8), consuming food connected with "abominable" idol sacrifices, and the arrogance of self-righteousness (cf. Matt. 9:11; Luke 5:30; 18:11).

65:5 smoke in My nostrils. This alluded to the smoke of their self-righteous sacrifices, an endless irritation to God who responds in judgment.

65:6 I will not keep silence. The Lord's response to the prayer asking Him not to restrain Himself in granting deliverance (64:12) was that He will act in judgment, not deliverance, to punish sin (v. 7).

Even repay into their bosom—
7 Your iniquities and [n]the iniquities of your fathers together,"
Says the LORD,
[o]"Who have burned incense on the mountains
[p]And blasphemed Me on the hills;
Therefore I will measure their former work into their bosom."

8 Thus says the LORD:

"As the new wine is found in the cluster,
And one says, 'Do not destroy it,
For [q]a blessing is in it,'
So will I do for My servants' sake,
That I may not destroy them [r]all.
9 I will bring forth descendants from
Jacob,
And from Judah an heir of My
mountains;
My [s]elect shall inherit it,
And My servants shall dwell there.
10 [t]Sharon shall be a fold of flocks,
And [u]the Valley of Achor a place for herds to lie down,
For My people who have [v]sought
Me.

11 "But you are those who forsake the
LORD,
Who forget [w]My holy mountain,
Who prepare [x]a table for [3]Gad,
And who furnish a drink offering for [4]Meni.
12 Therefore I will number you for the sword,
And you shall all bow down to the slaughter;

[y]Because, when I called, you did not

13 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

"Behold, My servants shall eat,
But you shall be hungry;
Behold, My servants shall drink,
But you shall be thirsty;
Behold, My servants shall rejoice,
But you shall be ashamed;
14 Behold, My servants shall sing for joy of heart,
But you shall cry for sorrow of

And [z]wail for [5]grief of spirit.
15 You shall leave your name [a]as a

For the Lord GOD will slay you,
And [c]call His servants by another

16 [d]So that he who blesses himself in Shall bless himself in the God of truth;

And [e]he who swears in the earth
Shall swear by the God of truth;
Because the former troubles are forgotten,
And because they are hidden from
My eyes.

The Glorious New Creation

17 "For behold, I create [f]new heavens and a new earth;

65:8-10 In the midst of the final fury of judgment when the time of Jacob's trouble comes (cf. Jer. 30:7) and God purges out the rebels in Israel (cf. Ezek. 20:38), there will also be the restoration of the faithful remnant to the Land. Though judgment comes to the nation as a whole, God will spare and save (cf. Zech. 12:10–13:1; Rom. 11:25-27) the faithful remnant, "My servants" (1:9), in the future kingdom. This will include a physical return of God's elect, believing Jews, to the land of Israel (57:13).

65:10 Sharon...Valley of Achor. Sharon was the western fertile territory on the Mediterranean coast, S of Mt. Carmel (35:2). The eastern Valley of Achor was near Jericho and the Jordan River (Josh. 7:24,26). Together they represented the whole land.

65:11,12 Another pronouncement of judgment was given on the rebellious Israelites, who resorted to the worship of pagan gods, like "Gad" and "Meni," and had no one to blame but themselves for the sword of damnation that fell on them.

65:13,14 Continuing to address the rebel idolaters, the Lord Himself gave contrasts between the faithful and unfaithful of Israel.

65:15 your name as a curse...another name. Israel's new name was to reflect her favored status among the nations (62:2-4). Delinquent Israelites, on the other hand, were to endure the reproach of men, so that the very name "Jew" would be disclaimed.

65:16 God of truth. Lit. this is "God of Amen," referring to the very God, the True God, who will honor His promises to Israel, thus vindicating Himself in the eyes of all people. Someday the rebels will be purged out and the redeemed remnant will be left. In that time, all blessing and swearing will be by the one and only True God, because all idols will be vanquished and forgotten in the glory of the kingdom of Messiah.

65:17-25 The blessings of faithful Israel in the coming kingdom are described.

65:17 new heavens and a new earth. Israel's future kingdom will include a temporal kingdom of a thousand years (see notes on Rev. 20:1-10) and an eternal kingdom in God's new creation (51:6,16; 54:10; 66:22; cf. Rev. 21:1-8). The prophet uses the eternal kingdom here as a reference point for both. Isaiah's prophecy does not make clear the relationship between the kingdom's two aspects as does later prophecy (Rev. 20:1–21:8). This is similar to the compression of Christ's first and second advents, so that in places they are indistinguishable (cf. 61:1,2).

And the former shall not be remembered or [6]come to mind.
18 But be glad and rejoice forever in what I create;
For behold, I create Jerusalem as a rejoicing,
And her people a joy.
19 [g]I will rejoice in Jerusalem,
And joy in My people;
The [h]voice of weeping shall no longer be heard in her,
Nor the voice of crying.
20 "No more shall an infant from there live but a few days,
Nor an old man who has not fulfilled his days;
For the child shall die one hundred years old,
[i]But the sinner being one hundred years old shall be accursed.
21 [j]They shall build houses and inhabit them;
They shall plant vineyards and eat their fruit.

17 [6] Lit. come upon the heart
19 [g] Is. 62:4, 5 [h] Is. 35:10; 51:11; Rev. 7:17; 21:4
20 [i] Eccl. 8:12, 13; Is. 3:11; 22:14
21 [j] Ezek. 28:26; 45:4; Hos. 11:11; Amos 9:14

65:20 No more shall an infant...Nor an old man. Long life will prevail in the millennial kingdom. In the temporal phase of the kingdom, death will happen, but not nearly so early as in the time of Isaiah. sinner...accursed. In the millennial phase of Israel's kingdom, a sinful person may die at age 100, but will be considered a mere youth at the time of his premature death. Having died an untimely death at such a youthful time, it will be assumed that God has taken his life for sin. The curse will be reversed in the Millennium, but it will not be removed until the eternal state (cf. Rev. 22:3).

65:21,22 build...inhabit...plant...eat. Social justice will prevail in Israel's kingdom. No enemies will deprive people of what is rightfully theirs (contra. Deut. 28:30).

Isaiah's Description of Israel's Future Kingdom

Description	Isaiah passages
1. The Lord will restore the faithful remnant of Israel to the Land to inhabit the kingdom at its beginning.	1:9,25-27; 3:10; 4:3; 6:13; 8:10; 9:1; 10:20,22,25,27; 11:11,12, 16; 14:1,2; 14:22,26; 26:1-4; 27:12; 28:5; 35:9; 37:4,31,32; 40:2,3; 41:9; 43:5,6; 46:3,4; 49:5,8; 49:12,22; 51:11; 54:7-10; 55:12; 57:13,18; 60:4,9; 61:1-4,7; 65:8-10; 66:8,9,19
2. As the Lord defeats Israel's enemies, He will provide protection for His people.	4:5,6; 9:1,4; 12:1-6; 13:4; 14:2; 21:9; 26:4,5; 27:1-4; 30:30,31; 32:2; 33:16,22; 35:4; 99:8,9; 49:17,18; 52:6; 54:9,10; 55:10,11; 58:12; 60:10,12,18; 62:9; 66:16
3. In her kingdom, Israel will enjoy great prosperity of many kinds.	26:15,19; 27:2,13; 29:18-20; 22:22,23; 30:20; 32:3; 32:15-20; 33:6,24; 35:3,5,6,8-10; 40:11; 42:6,7,16; 43:5,6,8,10,21; 44:5,14; 46:13; 48:6; 49:10; 52:9; 54:2,3; 55:1,12; 58:9,14; 60:5,16,21; 61:4,6-10; 62:5; 65:13-15,18,24; 66:21,22
4. The city of Jerusalem will rise to world preeminence in the kingdom.	2:2-4; 18:7; 25:6; 40:5,9; 49:19-21; 60:1-5,13-15,17; 62:3,4
5. Israel will be the center of world attention in the kingdom.	23:18; 54:1-3; 55:5; 56:6-8; 60:5-9; 66:18-21
6. Israel's mission in the kingdom will be to glorify the Lord.	60:21; 61:3
7. Gentiles in the kingdom will receive blessing through the channel of faithful Israel.	11:10; 19:18,24,25; 42:6; 45:22,23; 49:6; 51:5; 56:3,6-8; 60:3,7,8; 61:5; 66:19
8. Worldwide peace will prevail in the kingdom under the rule of the Prince of Peace.	2:4; 9:5,6; 11:10; 19:23; 26:12; 32:18; 54:14; 57:19; 66:12
9. Moral and spiritual conditions in the kingdom will reach their highest plane since the Fall of Adam.	27:6; 28:6,17; 32:16; 42:7; 44:3; 45:8; 51:4; 61:11; 65:21,22
10. Governmental leadership in the kingdom will be superlative with the Messiah heading it up.	9:6,7; 11:2,3; 16:5; 24:23; 25:3; 32:1; 32:5; 33:22; 42:1,4; 43:15; 52:13; 53:12; 55:3-5
11. Humans will enjoy long life in the kingdom.	65:20,22
12. Knowledge of the Lord will be universal in the kingdom.	11:9; 19:21; 33:13; 40:5; 41:20; 45:6,14; 49:26; 52:10,13,15; 54:13; 66:23
13. The world of nature will enjoy a great renewal in the kingdom.	12:3; 30:23-26; 32:15; 35:1-4,6,7; 41:18,19; 43:19,20; 44:3,23; 55:1,2,13; 58:10,11
14. "Wild" animals will be tame in the kingdom.	11:6-9; 35:9; 65:25
15. Sorrow and mourning will not exist in the kingdom.	25:8; 60:20
16. An eternal kingdom, as a part of God's new creation, will follow the millennial kingdom.	24:23; 51:6; 51:16; 54:11,12; 60:11,19; 65:17
17. The King will judge overt sin in the kingdom.	66:24

22 They shall not build and another inhabit;
They shall not plant and [k]another eat;
For [l]as the days of a tree, so shall be the days of My people,
And [m]My elect shall long enjoy the work of their hands.
23 They shall not labor in vain,
[n]Nor bring forth children for trouble;
For [o]they shall be the descendants of the blessed of the LORD,
And their offspring with them.

24 "It shall come to pass
That [p]before they call, I will answer;
And while they are still speaking, I will [q]hear.
25 The [r]wolf and the lamb shall feed together,
The lion shall eat straw like the ox,
[s]And dust shall be the serpent's food.
They shall not hurt nor destroy in all My holy mountain,"
Says the LORD.

True Worship and False

66 Thus says the LORD:

[a]"Heaven is My throne,
And earth is My footstool.
Where is the house that you will build Me?
And where is the place of My rest?
2 For all those things My hand has made,
And all those things exist,"
Says the LORD.
[b]"But on this one will I look:
[c]On him who is poor and of a contrite spirit,
And who trembles at My word.

3 "He[d] who kills a bull is as if he slays a man;
He who sacrifices a lamb, as if he [e]breaks a dog's neck;
He who offers a grain offering, as if he offers swine's blood;
He who burns incense, as if he blesses an idol.
Just as they have chosen their own ways,
And their soul delights in their abominations,
4 So will I choose their delusions,
And bring their fears on them;
[f]Because, when I called, no one answered,
When I spoke they did not hear;
But they did evil before My eyes,
And chose that in which I do not delight."

The LORD Vindicates Zion

5 Hear the word of the LORD,
You who tremble at His word:
"Your brethren who [g]hated you,
Who cast you out for My name's sake, said,
[h]'Let the LORD be glorified,
That [i]we may see your joy.'
But they shall be ashamed."

6 The sound of noise from the city!
A voice from the temple!
The voice of the LORD,
Who fully repays His enemies!

65:23 Nor...for trouble. Lit. this means "for sudden death." Subjects in the kingdom will enjoy freedom from ordinary misfortunes related to premature death of infants. There will be the lowest infant mortality rate ever. Along with longer life (v. 20), this means the earth will be greatly populated at an exponential rate of reproduction. Cf. Rev. 20:7-9 for the massive collection of people at the end of the kingdom who come against Christ.

65:24 before they call...while they are still speaking. Relationship with the Lord will be so close that He will anticipate and provide for every need (58:9).

65:25 wolf...lamb...lion...ox...serpent's. Dangers from the animal world will be nonexistent during the reign of the Servant of the Lord (11:6-9).

66:1,2 Isaiah began the final summary of his prophecy with a reminder that God is not looking for a temple of stone, since as Creator of all things, the whole universe is His dwelling place. Stephen cited this passage before the Sanhedrin to point out their error in limiting God to a temple made with hands (Acts 7:49,50). On the contrary, God is looking for a heart to dwell in, a heart that is tender and broken, not one concerned with the externalities of religion (cf. Matt. 5:3-9). God is looking to dwell in the heart of a person who takes His Word seriously (cf. 66:5; John 14:23).

66:3 as if he slays a man. God loathes even the sacrifices of the wicked (cf. Prov. 15:8; 28:9). They often killed children to offer in sacrifice (cf. Ezek. 23:39). Some of the Jews were offering bulls as sacrifices with the same empty heartedness as the pagans offering "a man" on the altar. breaks a dog's neck. This refers to offering dogs in sacrifice, which, as unclean (Jer. 15:3; cf. 56:10,11), are associated with swine (Matt. 7:6; 2 Pet. 2:22). To sacrifice a lamb with an attitude no different than if it were a dog betrayed the empty heartedness of the offerer. All of these images are meant to illustrate the shallow hypocrisy of one who makes an offering to God, but with no more heartbrokenness than a pagan who kills a child, offers a dog, sacrifices pig's blood, blesses an idol, and loves such abominations. God will judge such (v. 4).

66:5 Your brethren who hated you. The apostate Israelites intensified their rivalry with the faithful remnant (65:11-15) and blasphemously said, "Let the LORD be glorified," words uttered in the sarcastic spirit of 5:19 by these apostates. In the end, "they shall be ashamed" because God's judgment will fall.

7 "Before she was in labor, she gave birth;
Before her pain came,
She delivered a male child.
8 Who has heard such a thing?
Who has seen such things?
Shall the earth be made to give birth in one day?
Or shall a nation be born at once?
For as soon as Zion was in labor,
She gave birth to her children.
9 Shall I bring to the time of birth, and not cause delivery?" says the LORD.
"Shall I who cause delivery shut up the womb?" says your God.
10 "Rejoice with Jerusalem,
And be glad with her, all you who love her;
Rejoice for joy with her, all you who mourn for her;
11 That you may feed and be satisfied
With the consolation of her bosom,
That you may drink deeply and be delighted
With the abundance of her glory."

12 For thus says the LORD:

"Behold, [i]I will extend peace to her like a river,
And the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing stream.
Then you shall [k]feed;
On her sides shall you be [l]carried,
And be dandled on her knees.
13 As one whom his mother comforts,
So I will [m]comfort you;
And you shall be comforted in Jerusalem."

The Reign and Indignation of God

14 When you see this, your heart shall rejoice,
And [n]your bones shall flourish like grass;
The hand of the LORD shall be known to His servants,
And His indignation to His enemies.
15 [o]For behold, the LORD will come with fire
And with His chariots, like a whirlwind,
To render His anger with fury,
And His rebuke with flames of fire.
16 For by fire and by [p]His sword
The LORD will judge all flesh;
And the slain of the LORD shall be [q]many.

17 "Those[r] who sanctify themselves and purify themselves,
To go to the gardens
[1]After an idol in the midst,
Eating swine's flesh and the abomination and the mouse,
Shall [2]be consumed together," says the LORD.

18 "For I know their works and their [s]thoughts. It shall be that I will [t]gather all nations and tongues; and they shall come and see My glory. 19 [u]I will set a sign among them; and those among them who escape I will send to the nations: to Tarshish and [3]Pul and Lud, who draw the bow, and Tubal and Javan, to the coastlands afar off who have not heard My fame nor seen My glory. [v]And they shall declare My glory among the Gentiles. 20 Then they shall [w]bring all your brethren [x]for an offering to the LORD out of all nations, on horses and in chariots and in litters, on mules 66:7-9 Here is another comparison with the human birth process (see 13:8), this time to teach two lessons: 1) no birth can come until labor pains have occurred (vv. 7,8); and 2) when labor occurs, birth will surely follow (v. 9). Cf. Jer. 30:6,7; Matt. 24:8; 1 Thess. 5:3. The point is that Israel's suffering will end with a delivery! The Lord will not impose travail on the remnant without bringing them to the kingdom (v. 10).

66:11 feed and be satisfied. The prophet compares Jerusalem to a nursing mother.

66:12 peace...like a river. The picture is of abundant peace that compares to a wadi filled with a rushing torrent of water.

66:14 to His servants...to His enemies. Prosperity will belong to the faithful remnant, but wrath to those who oppose the Lord.

66:15 whirlwind...flames of fire. That the wrath of God will come to the rebels is expressed in language describing the end-time judgment (cf. 29:6).

66:16 the slain...many. The many who fight against the Lord when He comes to establish His kingdom will die (34:6,7; Rev. 19:21).

66:17 sanctify themselves and purify themselves. Sanctification and purification for right purposes are right, but when done for purposes of idol worship, will draw judgment from the one true God.

66:18 their works and their thoughts. The Lord was aware of the motivations behind the actions of apostate Israelites (v. 17). gather all nations and tongues. See 2:2-4. Jerusalem will be the center of world attention because of the presence of the Messiah there.

66:19 those...who escape. The faithful remnant of Israel are in view, who had escaped both the persecutions of their enemies and the judgment of God against those enemies (v. 16). Tarshish and Pul and Lud...Tubal and Javan. Tarshish was possibly in Spain, Pul and Lud in North Africa, Tubal in NE Asia Minor, and Javan in Greece. These were representative Gentile populations that will hear of God's glory through the faithful remnant.

66:20 bring all your brethren. As their offering to the Lord, the Gentiles who hear of God's glory will expedite the return of Israel's faithful remnant (43:6; 49:22).

and on camels, to My holy mountain Jerusalem," says the LORD, "as the children of Israel bring an offering in a clean vessel into the house of the LORD. 21 And I will also take some of them for [y]priests and Levites," says the LORD.

22 "For as [z]the new heavens and the new earth
Which I will make shall remain before Me," says the LORD,
"So shall your descendants and your name remain.
23 And [a]it shall come to pass
That from one New Moon to another,
And from one Sabbath to another,
[b]All flesh shall come to worship before Me," says the LORD.

24 "And they shall go forth and look
Upon the corpses of the men
Who have transgressed against Me.
For their [c]worm does not die,
And their fire is not quenched.
They shall be an abhorrence to all flesh."

22 [z] Is. 65:17; Heb. 12:26, 27; 2 Pet. 3:13; Rev. 21:1
23 [a] Zech. 14:16
[b] Zech. 14:17-21
24 [c] Is. 14:11; Mark 9:44, 46, 48

66:21 priests and Levites. Some of the returning remnant will function in these specialized roles in the services of the millennial temple and memorial sacrifices (cf. Ezek. 44–46).

66:22 your descendants...remain. National Israel will have a never-ending existence through the Millennium, and on into the new heavens and the new earth throughout eternity.

66:23 All flesh...worship before Me. All humanity will participate in worshiping the Lord at stipulated times during the temporal phase of the messianic kingdom.

66:24 worm does not die...fire is not quenched. The corpses of those enduring everlasting torment will serve as a vivid reminder to all of the grievous nature and terrible consequences of rebellion against God. In referring to this verse, Jesus referred to the Valley of Hinnom—i.e., Gehenna—where a continually burning trash-heap pictured the never-ending pain of the lost (Mark 9:47,48). See note on Jer. 19:6.

The Book of JEREMIAH

Title

This book gains its title from the human author, who begins with "the words of Jeremiah..." (1:1). Jeremiah recounts more of his own life than any other prophet, telling of his ministry, the reactions of his audiences, testings, and his personal feelings. His name means "Jehovah throws," in the sense of laying down a foundation, or "Jehovah establishes, appoints, or sends."

Seven other Jeremiahs appear in Scripture (2 Kin. 23:31; 1 Chr. 5:24; 1 Chr. 12:4; 1 Chr. 12:10; 1 Chr. 12:13; Neh. 10:2; Neh. 12:1), and Jeremiah the prophet is named at least 9 times outside of his book (cf. 2 Chr. 35:25; 36:12; 36:21,22; Dan. 9:2; Ezra 1:1; Matt. 2:17; 16:14; 27:9). The Old and New Testaments quote Jeremiah at least 7 times: 1) Dan. 9:2 (25:11,12; 29:10); 2) Matt. 2:18 (31:15); 3) Matt. 27:9 (18:2; 19:2,11; 32:6-9); 4) 1 Cor. 1:31 (9:24); 5) 2 Cor. 10:17 (9:24); 6) Heb. 8:8-12 (31:31-34); and 7) Heb. 10:16,17 (31:33,34).

Author and Date

Jeremiah, who served as both a priest and a prophet, was the son of a priest named Hilkiah (not the High-Priest of 2 Kin. 22:8 who discovered the book of the law). He was from the small village of Anathoth (1:1), today called Anata, about 3 mi. NE of Jerusalem in Benjamin's tribal inheritance. As an object lesson to Judah, Jeremiah remained unmarried (16:1-4). He was assisted in ministry by a scribe, named Baruch, to whom Jeremiah dictated and who copied and had custody over the writings compiled from the prophet's messages (36:4,32; 45:1). Jeremiah has been known as "the weeping prophet" (cf. 9:1; 13:17; 14:17), living a life of conflict because of his predictions of judgment by the invading Babylonians. He was threatened, tried for his life, put in stocks, forced to flee from Jehoiakim, publicly humiliated by a false prophet, and thrown into a pit.

Jeremiah carried out a ministry directed mostly to his own people in Judah, but which expanded to other nations at times. He appealed to his countrymen to repent and avoid God's judgment via an invader (chaps. 7,26). Once invasion was certain after Judah refused to repent, he pled with them not to resist the Babylonian conqueror in order to prevent total destruction (chap. 27). He also called on delegates of other nations to heed his counsel and submit to Babylon (chap. 27), and he predicted judgments from God on various nations (25:12-38; chaps. 46–51).

The dates of his ministry, which spanned 5 decades, are from the Judean king Josiah's 13th year, noted in 1:2 (627 B.C.), to beyond the fall of Jerusalem to Babylon in 586 B.C. (Jer. 39,40,52). After 586 B.C., Jeremiah was forced to go with a fleeing remnant of Judah to Egypt (Jer. 43,44). He was possibly still ministering in 570 B.C. (see note on 44:30). A rabbinic note claims that when Babylon invaded Egypt in 568/67 B.C. Jeremiah was taken captive to Babylon. He could have lived even to pen the book's closing scene ca. 561 B.C. in Babylon, when Judah's king Jehoiachin, captive in Babylon since 597 B.C., was allowed liberties in his last days (52:31-34). Jeremiah, if still alive at that time, was between 85 and 90 years old.

Background and Setting

Background details of Jeremiah's times are portrayed in 2 Kin. 22–25 and 2 Chr. 34–36. Jeremiah's messages paint pictures of: 1) his people's sin; 2) the invader God would send; 3) the rigors of siege; and 4) calamities of destruction. Jeremiah's message of impending judgment for idolatry and other sins was preached over a period of 40 years (ca. 627–586 B.C. and beyond). His prophecy took place during the reigns of Judah's final 5 kings (Josiah 640–609 B.C., Jehoahaz 609 B.C., Jehoiakim 609–598 B.C., Jehoiachin 598–597 B.C., and Zedekiah 597–586 B.C.).

The spiritual condition of Judah was one of flagrant idol worship (cf. chap. 2). King Ahaz, preceding his son Hezekiah long before Jeremiah in Isaiah's day, had set up a system of sacrificing children to the god Molech in the Valley of Hinnom just outside Jerusalem (735–715 B.C.). Hezekiah led in reforms and clean-up (Is. 36:7), but his son Manasseh continued to foster child sacrifice along with gross idolatry, which continued into Jeremiah's time (7:31; 19:5; 32:35). Many also worshiped the "queen of heaven" (7:18; 44:19). Josiah's reforms, reaching their apex in 622 B.C., forced a repressing of the worst practices outwardly, but the deadly cancer of sin was deep and flourished quickly again after a shallow revival.

Religious insincerity, dishonesty, adultery, injustice, tyranny against the helpless, and slander prevailed as the norm not the exception.

Politically momentous events occurred in Jeremiah's day. Assyria saw its power wane gradually; then Ashurbanipal died in 626 B.C. Assyria grew so feeble that in 612 B.C. her seemingly invincible capital, Nineveh, was destroyed (cf. the book of Nahum). The Neo-Babylonian empire under Nabopolassar (625–605 B.C.) became dominant militarily with victories against Assyria (612 B.C.), Egypt (609–605 B.C.), and Israel in 3 phases (605 B.C., as in Dan. 1; 597 B.C., as in 2 Kin. 24:10-16; and 586 B.C., as in Jer. 39,40,52).

While Joel and Micah had earlier prophesied of Judah's judgment, during Josiah's reign, God's leading prophets were Jeremiah, Habakkuk, and Zephaniah. Later, Jeremiah's contemporaries, Ezekiel and Daniel, played prominent prophetic roles.

Historical and Theological Themes

The main theme of Jeremiah is judgment upon Judah (chaps. 1–29) with restoration in the future messianic kingdom (23:3-8; 30–33). Whereas Isaiah devoted many chapters to a future glory for Israel (Is. 40–66), Jeremiah gave far less space to this subject. Since God's judgment was imminent he concentrated on current problems as he sought to turn the nation back from the point of no return.

A secondary theme is God's willingness to spare and bless the nation only if the people repent. Though this is a frequent emphasis, it is most graphically portrayed at the potter's shop (18:1-11). A further focus is God's plan for Jeremiah's life, both in his proclamation of God's message and in his commitment to fulfill all of His will (1:5-19; 15:19-21). Other themes include: 1) God's longing for Israel to be tender toward Him, as in the days of first love (2:1-3); 2) Jeremiah's servant tears, as "the weeping prophet" (9:1; 14:17); 3) the close, intimate relationship God had with Israel and that He yearned to keep (13:11); 4) suffering, as in Jeremiah's trials (11:18-23; 20:1-18) and God's sufficiency in all trouble (20:11-13); 5) the vital role that God's Word can play in life (15:16); 6) the place of faith in expecting restoration from the God for whom nothing is too difficult (chap. 32, especially vv. 17,27); and 7) prayer for the coordination of God's will with God's action in restoring Israel to its land (33:3,6-18).

Interpretive Challenges

A number of questions arise, such as: 1) How can one explain God's forbidding prayer for the Jews (7:16) and saying that even Moses' and Samuel's advocacy could not avert judgment (15:1)? 2) Did Jeremiah make an actual trek of several hundred miles to the Euphrates River, or did he bury his loin cloth nearby (13:4-7)? 3) How could he utter such severe things about the man who announced his birth (20:14-18)? 4) Does the curse on Jeconiah's kingly line relate to Christ (22:30)? 5) How is one to interpret the promises of Israel's return to its ancient land (chaps. 30–33)? and 6) How will God fulfill the New Covenant in relation to Israel and the church (31:31-34)? The answers to these will be included in the study notes at the appropriate passages.

A frequent challenge is to understand the prophet's messages in their right time setting, since the book of Jeremiah is not always chronological, but loosely arranged, moving back and forth in time for thematic effect. Ezekiel, by contrast, usually places his material in chronological order.

CHAPTER 1

1 The words of Jeremiah the son of Hilkiah, of the priests who were [a]in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin, 2 to whom the word of the LORD came in the days of [b]Josiah the son of Amon, king of Judah, [c]in the thirteenth year of his reign. 3 It came also in the days of [d]Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, [e]until the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah the son of Josiah, king of Judah, [f]until the carrying away of Jerusalem captive [g]in the fifth month.

The Prophet Is Called

4 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying:

5 "Before I [h]formed you in the womb
[i]I knew you;
Before you were born I [j]sanctified [1]you;
I [2]ordained you a prophet to the nations."

6 Then said I:

[k]"Ah, Lord GOD!
Behold, I cannot speak, for I am a youth."

7 But the LORD said to me:

"Do not say, 'I am a youth,'
For you shall go to all to whom I send you,
And [l]whatever I command you, you shall speak.
8 [m]Do not be afraid of their faces,
For [n]I am with you to deliver you," says the LORD.

9 Then the LORD put forth His hand and [o]touched my mouth, and the LORD said to me:

"Behold, I have [p]put My words in your mouth.
10 [q]See, I have this day set you over the nations and over the kingdoms,
To [r]root out and to pull down,
To destroy and to throw down,
To build and to plant."

11 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, "Jeremiah, what do you see?"

And I said, "I see a [3]branch of an almond tree."

12 Then the LORD said to me, "You have seen well, for I am [4]ready to perform My word."

Illustrations of God's Judgment

An Almond Branch (1:11,12)
A Boiling Caldron (1:13-16)
Lions (2:15, 4:7, 5:6, 50:17).
A Scorching Storm Wind (4:11,12, 18:17, 23:19, 25:32)
Wolf (5:6)
Leopard (5:6)
Stripping Away Judah's Branches (5:10)
Fire (5:14)
Making This House (Worship Center) like Shiloh (7:14)
Serpents, Adders (8:17)
Destroying Olive Branches (11:16-17)
Uprooting (12:17)
Linen Sash Made Worthless (13:1-11)
Bottles Filled with Wine and Dashed Against One Another (13:12-14)
A Potter's Jar Shattered (19:10,11; cf. 22:28)
A Hammer [God's Word] Crushing a Rock (23:29)
A Cup of Wrath (25:15)
Zion Plowed as a Field (26:18)
Wearing Yokes of Wood and Iron (27:2; 28:13)
A Hammer [Babylon] (50:23)
A Mountain of Destruction [Babylon] (51:25)

1:1 Anathoth. A town in the territory of Benjamin, 3 mi. N of Jerusalem, assigned to the Levites (cf. Josh. 21:18) where Abiathar had once lived (1 Kin. 2:26).

1:2 in the days of. Jeremiah's ministry spanned at least 5 decades—from Judah's king Josiah (13th year, 627 B.C.) to the final king, Zedekiah, in his last year (586 B.C.).

1:3 fifth month. Babylonian conquerors began deporting Judeans into captivity in the Heb. month Ab (July–Aug.) in 586 B.C. (52:12; 2 Kin. 25:8-11), shortly after breaking into Jerusalem on the fourth month and ninth day (39:2; 52:6).

1:5 Before I formed you... This is not reincarnation; it is God's all-knowing cognizance of Jeremiah and sovereign plan for him before he was conceived (cf. Paul's similar realization, Gal. 1:15).

1:6 Jeremiah's response points out his inability and his inexperience. If as a young man he was 20–25 years old in 626 B.C., he was 60–65 in 586 B.C. when Jerusalem fell (chap. 39), and 85–90 if he lived to the time of 52:31-34 (ca. 561 B.C.).

1:7-10 The power backing Jeremiah's service was God's presence and provision (cf. 2 Cor. 3:5).

1:9 My words in your mouth. God used him as His mouthpiece, speaking His message (15:19); thus, Jeremiah's fitting response was to receive God's Word (15:16).

1:10 set you over. Because God spoke through Jeremiah, the message has divine authority.

1:11-16 Illustrations of God's charge were twofold. First, there was the sign of the almond rod. The almond tree was literally "the wakeful tree," because it awakened from the sleep of winter earlier than the other trees, blooming in Jan. It was a symbol of God's early judgment, as Jeremiah announced (605–586 B.C.). Second, the boiling cauldron pictured the Babylonian invaders bringing judgment on Judah (cf. 20:4).

13 And the word of the LORD came to me
the second time, saying, "What do you see?"

And I said, "I see [s]a boiling pot, and it is facing away from the north."

14 Then the LORD said to me:

"Out of the [t]north calamity shall break forth
On all the inhabitants of the land.
15 For behold, I am [u]calling
All the families of the kingdoms of the north," says the LORD;
"They shall come and [v]each one set his throne
At the entrance of the gates of Jerusalem,
Against all its walls all around,
And against all the cities of Judah.
16 I will utter My judgments Against them concerning all their wickedness,
Because [w]they have forsaken Me,
Burned [x]incense to other gods,
And worshiped the works of their own [y]hands.

17 "Therefore [z]prepare yourself and arise,
And speak to them all that I command you.
[a]Do not be dismayed before their faces,
Lest I dismay you before them.
18 For behold, I have made you this
day
[b]A fortified city and an iron pillar,
And bronze walls against the whole land—
Against the kings of Judah,
Against its princes,
Against its priests,
And against the people of the land.
19 They will fight against you,
But they shall not prevail against
you.
For I am with you," says the LORD,
"to deliver you."

God's Case Against Israel

2 Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 2 "Go and cry in the hearing of Jerusalem, saying, 'Thus says
the LORD:

"I remember you,
The kindness of your [a]youth,
The love of your betrothal,
[b]When you [1]went after Me in the
wilderness,
In a land not sown.
3 [c]Israel was holiness to the LORD,
[d]The firstfruits of His increase.
[e]All that devour him will offend;
Disaster will [f]come upon them,"
says the LORD.' "

4 Hear the word of the LORD, O house of Jacob and all the families of the house of Israel. 5 Thus says the LORD:

[g]"What injustice have your fathers found in Me,
That they have gone far from Me,
[h]Have followed [2]idols,
And have become idolaters?
6 Neither did they say, 'Where is the
LORD,
Who [i]brought us up out of the land of Egypt,
Who led us through [j]the
wilderness,
Through a land of deserts and pits,
Through a land of drought and the
shadow of death,
Through a land that no one crossed
And where no one dwelt?'

1:17-19 Jeremiah's part was proclamation, as God's mouthpiece (v. 17); God's part was preservation in defending the prophet (vv. 18, 19). God did protect him often, e.g., 11:18-23; 20:1ff., and 38:7-13.

2:1-3 Jerusalem...Israel. Jeremiah pointed to the sensitivity of the Lord and His care for them in the early history (v. 21). After centuries, many were: 1) far from God, whom they had forsaken (vv. 5,31); 2) deep in idolatry (vv. 11,27,28); and 3) without true salvation (as v. 8; 5:10a).

2:3 firstfruits. Israel was first to worship the true God (Ex. 19:5,6) through His covenant with Abraham (Gen. 12:1-3), which also assured His intent to bless peoples from all nations (16:19-21; Dan. 7:27).

Major Trials of Jeremiah

1. Trial By Death Threats (11:18-23)
2. Trial By Isolation (15:15-21)
3. Trial By Stocks (19:14–20:18)
4. Trial By Arrest (26:7-24)
5. Trial By Challenge (28:10-16)
6. Trial By Destruction (36:1-32)
7. Trial By Violence and Imprisonment (37:15)
8. Trial By Starvation (38:1-6)
9. Trial By Chains (40:1)
10. Trial By Rejection (42:1–43:4)

Jeremiah faced life-threatening trials throughout his ministry as a prophet of the Lord.

7 I brought you into [k]a bountiful country,
To eat its fruit and its goodness.
But when you entered, you [l]defiled My land
And made My heritage an abomination.
8 The priests did not say, 'Where is the LORD?'
And those who handle the [m]law did not know Me;
The rulers also transgressed against Me;
[n]The prophets prophesied by Baal,
And walked after things that do not profit.

9 "Therefore [o]I will yet [3]bring charges against you," says the LORD,
"And against your children's children I will bring charges.
10 For pass beyond the coasts of [4]Cyprus and see,
Send to [5]Kedar and consider diligently,
And see if there has been such a [p]thing.
11 [q]Has a nation changed its gods,
Which are [r]not gods?
[s]But My people have changed their Glory
For what does not profit.
12 Be astonished, O heavens, at this,
And be horribly afraid;
Be very desolate," says the LORD.
13 "For My people have committed two evils:
They have forsaken Me, the [t]fountain of living waters,
And hewn themselves cisterns—broken cisterns that can hold no water.

14 "Is Israel [u]a servant?
Is he a homeborn slave?
Why is he plundered?
15 [v]The young lions roared at him, and growled;
They made his land waste;
His cities are burned, without inhabitant.
16 Also the people of [6]Noph and [w]Tahpanhes
Have [7]broken the crown of your head.
17 [x]Have you not brought this on yourself,
In that you have forsaken the LORD your God
When [y]He led you in the way?
18 And now why take [z]the road to Egypt,
To drink the waters of [a]Sihor?
Or why take the road to [b]Assyria,
To drink the waters of [8]the River?
19 Your own wickedness will [c]correct you,
And your backslidings will rebuke you.
Know therefore and see that it is an evil and bitter thing
That you have forsaken the LORD your God,
And the [9]fear of Me is not in you,"
Says the Lord GOD of hosts.

20 "For of old I have [d]broken your yoke and burst your bonds;
And [e]you said, 'I will not [1]transgress,'
When [f]on every high hill and under every green tree
You lay down, [g]playing the harlot.
21 Yet I had [h]planted you a noble vine, a seed of highest quality.
How then have you turned before Me
Into [i]the degenerate plant of an alien vine?
22 For though you wash yourself with lye, and use much soap,
Yet your iniquity is [j]marked[2] before Me," says the Lord GOD.

23 "How[k] can you say, 'I am not [3]polluted,
I have not gone after the Baals'?
See your way in the valley;

2:8 priests...prophets. Leaders, who did not really know the Lord, set the idolatrous pattern for others (cf. Hos. 4:6).

2:13 two evils. First, Israel had abandoned the Lord, the source of spiritual salvation and sustenance (cf. 17:8; Ps. 36:9; John 4:14). Second, Israel turned to idolatrous objects of trust; Jeremiah compared these with underground water storage devices for rainwater, which were broken and let water seep out, thus proving useless.

2:14 How is it that a people under God's special care are left at the mercy of an enemy, like a worthless slave?

2:15 young lions. The figure represents invading soldiers that burned cities (cf. 4:7), perhaps a reference to the disaster from the Babylonians during Jehoiakim's fourth year, and again 3 years later when he relied on Egypt (cf. 20:4; 46:2; 2 Kin. 24:1,2).

2:16 Noph...Tahpanhes. These two cities in Egypt stood for the country itself.

2:18 Dependence on alliances with Egypt and Assyria was part of national undoing, a source of shame (vv. 36,37). Sihor. Refers to the Nile River.

2:19 backslidings. Cf. 3:6,8,11,12,14,22; 8:5; 31:22; 49:4; Is. 57:17; Hos. 11:7; 14:4. For clarification of the meaning, see note on Prov. 14:14.

2:23 the Baals. An inclusive term referring collectively to false

Know what you have done:
You are a swift dromedary breaking loose in her ways,
24 A wild donkey used to the wilderness,
That sniffs at the wind in her desire;
In her time of mating, who can turn her away?
All those who seek her will not weary themselves;
In her month they will find her.
25 Withhold your foot from being unshod, and your throat from thirst.
But you said, [l]'There is no hope.
No! For I have loved [m]aliens, and after them I will go.'

26 "As the thief is ashamed when he is found out,
So is the house of Israel ashamed;
They and their kings and their princes, and their priests and their [n]prophets,
27 Saying to a tree, 'You are my father,'
And to a [o]stone, 'You gave birth to me.'
For they have turned their back to Me, and not their face.
But in the time of their [p]trouble
They will say, 'Arise and save us.'
28 But [q]where are your gods that you have made for yourselves?
Let them arise,
If they [r]can save you in the time of your [4]trouble;
For [s]according to the number of your cities
Are your gods, O Judah.

29 "Why will you plead with Me?
You all have transgressed against Me," says the LORD.
30 "In vain I have [t]chastened your children;
They [u]received no correction.
Your sword has [v]devoured your prophets
Like a destroying lion.

31 "O generation, see the word of the LORD!
Have I been a wilderness to Israel,
Or a land of darkness?
Why do My people say, 'We [5]are lords;
[w]We will come no more to You'?
32 Can a virgin forget her ornaments,
Or a bride her attire?
Yet My people [x]have forgotten Me days without number.

33 "Why do you beautify your way to seek love?
Therefore you have also taught
The wicked women your ways.
34 Also on your skirts is found
[y]The blood of the lives of the poor innocents.
I have not found it by [6]secret search,
But plainly on all these things.
35 [z]Yet you say, 'Because I am innocent,
Surely His anger shall turn from me.'
Behold, [a]I will plead My case against you,
[b]Because you say, 'I have not sinned.'
36 [c]Why do you gad about so much to change your way?
Also [d]you shall be ashamed of Egypt [e]as you were ashamed of Assyria.
37 Indeed you will go forth from him
With your hands on [f]your head;
For the LORD has rejected your trusted allies,
And you will [g]not prosper by them.

Israel Is Shameless

3 "They say, 'If a man divorces his wife,
And she goes from him
And becomes another man's,
[a]May he return to her again?'
Would not that [b]land be greatly polluted?
But you have [c]played the harlot with many lovers;
[d]Yet return to Me," says the LORD.

2 "Lift up your eyes to [e]the desolate heights and see:
Where have you not [1]lain with men?
[f]By the road you have sat for them
Like an Arabian in the wilderness;

deities. dromedary. The nation, in chasing other idols, is depicted as a female camel pursuing its instinct, and as a wild ass in heat sniffing the wind to find a mate, craving to attract others of its kind. Other pictures of Israel are that of a thief, who is ashamed when exposed (v. 26), and that of a maid or a bride who forgets what beautifies her (v. 32).

3:1 If a man divorces. Such a man was not to take that woman as his wife again, for this would defile her (Deut. 24:4) and be a scandal. Jeremiah used this analogy to picture Israel as a harlot in the spiritual realm, with many lovers, i.e., nations (2:18,25) and idols (2:23-25; 3:2,6-9). Yet, the Lord would graciously receive Israel or Judah back as His wife if she would repent (3:12-14).

[g] And you have polluted the land
With your harlotries and your wickedness.
3 Therefore the [h] showers have been withheld,
And there has been no latter rain.
You have had a [i] harlot's forehead;
You refuse to be ashamed.
4 Will you not from this time cry to Me,
'My Father, You are [j] the guide of [k] my youth?
5 [l] Will He remain angry forever?
Will He keep it to the end?'
Behold, you have spoken and done evil things,
As you were able."

A Call to Repentance

6 The LORD said also to me in the days of Josiah the king: "Have you seen what [m] backsliding Israel has done? She has [n] gone up on every high mountain and under every green tree, and there played the harlot. 7 [o] And I said, after she had done all these things, 'Return to Me.' But she did not return. And her treacherous [p] sister Judah saw it. 8 Then I saw that [q] for all the causes for which backsliding Israel had committed adultery, I had [r] put her away and given her a certificate of divorce; [s] yet her treacherous sister Judah did not fear, but went and played the harlot also. 9 So it came to pass, through her casual harlotry, that she [t] defiled the land and committed adultery with [u] stones and trees. 10 And yet for all this her treacherous sister Judah has not turned to Me [v] with her whole heart, but in pretense," says the LORD.

11 Then the LORD said to me, [w] "Backsliding Israel has shown herself more righteous than treacherous Judah. 12 Go and proclaim these words toward [x] the north, and say:

'Return, backsliding Israel,' says the LORD;
'I will not cause My anger to fall on you.
For I am [y] merciful,' says the LORD;
'I will not remain angry forever.
13 [z] Only acknowledge your iniquity,
That you have transgressed against the LORD your God,
And have [a] scattered your [2] charms
To [b] alien deities [c] under every green tree,
And you have not obeyed My voice,' says the LORD.

14 "Return, O backsliding children," says the LORD; [d] "for I am married to you. I will take you, [e] one from a city and two from a family, and I will bring you to [f] Zion. 15 And I will give you [g] shepherds according to My heart, who will [h] feed you with knowledge and understanding.

16 "Then it shall come to pass, when you are multiplied and [i] increased in the land in those days," says the LORD, "that they will say no more, 'The ark of the covenant of the LORD.' [j] It shall not come to mind, nor shall they remember it, nor shall they visit it, nor shall it be made anymore.

17 "At that time Jerusalem shall be called The Throne of the LORD, and all the nations shall be gathered to it, [k] to the name of the LORD, to Jerusalem. No more shall they [l] follow [3] the dictates of their evil hearts.

18 "In those days [m] the house of Judah shall walk with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of [n] the north to [o] the land that I have given as an inheritance to your fathers.

19 "But I said:

'How can I put you among the children
And give you [p] a pleasant land,
A beautiful heritage of the hosts of nations?'

"And I said:

'You shall call Me, [q] "My Father,"
And not turn away from Me.'

3:6 backsliding. Also 3:8,11,12,14. See note on Prov. 14:14.

3:8 I had put her away and given her a certificate of divorce. Though God hates divorce (Mal. 2:16), it is tolerated for unrepentant adultery (see notes on Matt. 5:32; 19:8,9), as indicated by this analogy of God's divorcing Israel for that continual sin in the spiritual realm. God had divorced Israel but not yet Judah (cf. Is. 50:1). Cf. Ezra 10:3, where divorce is the right action of God's people to separate from idolatrous wives.

3:14 I am married to you. God pictured His covenant relationship with Israel as a marriage, and pleaded with mercy for Judah to repent and return. He will take her back. Cf. Hosea's restoration of Gomer as a picture of God taking back His wicked, adulterous people.

3:16-18 it shall come to pass...in those days. When Israel repents (vv. 13,14,22), which has not happened, but will in the millennial era of God's restoration that the prophets often describe (Jer. 23:5,6; 30–33; Ezek. 36), God will bring these blessings: 1) shepherds to teach them the truth; 2) His own immediate presence on the throne in Jerusalem, not just the ark of His covenant; 3) allegiance even of Gentile nations; 4) righteousness; 5) genuineness in worship; 6) unity of Israel (north) and Judah (south) into one kingdom; and 7) reestablishment in their own Promised Land.

3:19 put you among the children. Here is a reference to adoption into God's family, when the people turn back from idols to acknowledge Him as "Father."

20 Surely, as a wife treacherously departs from her [4]husband,
So [r]have you dealt treacherously with Me,
O house of Israel," says the LORD.

21 A voice was heard on [s]the desolate
heights,
Weeping and supplications of the children of Israel.
For they have perverted their way;
They have forgotten the LORD their
God.

22 "Return, you backsliding children,
And I will [t]heal your backslidings."

"Indeed we do come to You,
For You are the LORD our God.
23 [u]Truly, in vain is salvation hoped for
from the hills,
And from the multitude of
mountains;
[v]Truly, in the LORD our God
Is the salvation of Israel.
24 [w]For shame has devoured
The labor of our fathers from our youth—
Their flocks and their herds,
Their sons and their daughters.
25 We lie down in our shame,
And our [5]reproach covers us.
[x]For we have sinned against the LORD our God,
We and our fathers,
From our youth even to this day,
And [y]have not obeyed the voice of
the LORD our God."

4 "If you will return, O Israel," says
the LORD,
[a]"Return to Me;
And if you will put away your abominations out of My sight,
Then you shall not be moved.
2 [b]And you shall swear, 'The LORD
lives,'
[c]In truth, in [1]judgment, and in
righteousness;
[d]The nations shall bless themselves
in Him,
And in Him they shall [e]glory."

3 For thus says the LORD to the men of Judah and Jerusalem:

[f]"Break up your [2]fallow ground,
And [g]do not sow among thorns.
4 [h]Circumcise yourselves to the LORD,
And take away the foreskins of your hearts,
You men of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem,
Lest My fury come forth like fire,
And burn so that no one can quench it,
Because of the evil of your doings."

An Imminent Invasion

5 Declare in Judah and proclaim in Jerusalem, and say:

[i]"Blow the trumpet in the land;
Cry, 'Gather together,'
And say, [j]'Assemble yourselves,
And let us go into the fortified
cities.'
6 Set up the [3]standard toward Zion.
Take refuge! Do not delay!
For I will bring disaster from the [k]north,
And great destruction."

7 [l]The lion has come up from his thicket,
And [m]the destroyer of nations is on his way.
He has gone forth from his place
[n]To make your land desolate.
Your cities will be laid waste,
Without inhabitant.
8 For this, [o]clothe yourself with
sackcloth,

3:20 a wife treacherously departs. Hosea had earlier used this same imagery (ca. 755–710 B.C.). Thus God had given the divorce because the spiritual adultery was unrepentant. But when repentance comes, He will take Israel back (cf. 3:1). O...Israel. Since the irretrievable dispersion of Israel in the N (722 B.C.) Judah alone was left to be called by the name Israel, as Jeremiah sometimes chose to do (i.e., 3:20-23).

4:3 "Break up..." Jeremiah appealed for a spiritual turnabout from sinful, wasteful lives. He pictured this as the plowing of ground, formerly hard and unproductive due to weeds, in order to make it useful for sowing (cf. Matt. 13:18-23).

4:4 Circumcise. This surgery (Gen. 17:10-14) was to cut away flesh that could hold disease in its folds and could pass the disease on to wives. It was important for the preservation of God's people physically. But it was also a symbol of the need for the heart to be cleansed from sin's deadly disease. The really essential surgery needed to happen on the inside, where God calls for taking away fleshly things that keep the heart from being spiritually devoted to Him and from true faith in Him and His will. Jeremiah later expanded on this theme (31:31-34; cf. Deut. 10:16; 30:6; Rom. 2:29). God selected the reproductive organ as the location of the symbol for man's need of cleansing for sin, because it is the instrument most indicative of his depravity, since by it he reproduces generations of sinners.

4:6,7 disaster from the north. This evil is Babylon's army, which would invade from that direction. The "lion" on the prowl fit Babylon because of its conquering power, and Babylon was symbolized by the winged lions guarding its royal court. Babylon is later identified in 20:4. Many details in chap. 4 graphically depict warriors in conquest (vv. 7,13,29).

Lament and wail.
For the fierce anger of the LORD
Has not turned back from us.

9 "And it shall come to pass in that day," says the LORD,
"That the heart of the king shall perish,
And the heart of the princes;
The priests shall be astonished,
And the prophets shall wonder."

10 Then I said, "Ah, Lord GOD!
[p]Surely You have greatly deceived this people and Jerusalem,
[q]Saying, 'You shall have peace,'
Whereas the sword reaches to the [4]heart."

11 At that time it will be said
To this people and to Jerusalem,
[r]"A dry wind of the desolate heights blows in the wilderness
Toward the daughter of My people—
Not to fan or to cleanse—
12 A wind too strong for these will come for Me;
Now [s]I will also speak judgment against them."

13 "Behold, he shall come up like clouds,
And [t]his chariots like a whirlwind.
[u]His horses are swifter than eagles.
Woe to us, for we are plundered!"

14 O Jerusalem, [v]wash your heart from wickedness,
That you may be saved.
How long shall your evil thoughts lodge within you?
15 For a voice declares [w]from Dan
And proclaims [5]affliction from Mount Ephraim:
16 "Make mention to the nations,
Yes, proclaim against Jerusalem,
That watchers come from a [x]far country
And raise their voice against the cities of Judah.

Sorrow for the Doomed Nation

19 O my [a]soul, my soul!
I am pained in my very heart!
My heart makes a noise in me;
I cannot hold my peace,
Because you have heard, O my soul,
The sound of the trumpet,
The alarm of war.
20 [b]Destruction upon destruction is cried,
For the whole land is plundered.
Suddenly [c]my tents are plundered,
And my curtains in a moment.
21 How long will I see the [6]standard,
And hear the sound of the trumpet?

22 "For My people are foolish,
They have not known Me.
They are [7]silly children,
And they have no understanding.
[d]They are wise to do evil,
But to do good they have no knowledge."

23 [e]I beheld the earth, and indeed it was [f]without form, and void;
And the heavens, they had no light.
24 [g]I beheld the mountains, and indeed they trembled,
And all the hills moved back and forth.
25 I beheld, and indeed there was no man,
And [h]all the birds of the heavens had fled.
26 I beheld, and indeed the fruitful land was a [i]wilderness,
And all its cities were broken down

4:10 deceived. Like Habakkuk (1:12-17), Jeremiah was horrified at these words of judgment, contrasting the prevailing hope of peace. God is sometimes described as if doing a thing He merely permits, such as allowing false prophets who delude themselves to also deceive a sinful people into thinking peace would follow (cf. 6:14; 8:11; 1 Kin. 22:21-24). God sees how people insist on their delusions, and lets it happen.

4:14 wash. Jeremiah continued to appeal for a dealing with sin so that national destruction might be averted (v. 20), while there was still time to repent (cf. chaps. 7,26).

4:22 wise to do evil. Israelites were wise in doing evil but were dull in knowing to do the good, i.e., God's will. Paul, applying the principle but turning it to the positive, wanted the believers at Rome to be wise to do good but unlearned in the skill of doing evil (Rom. 16:19).

4:23 without form. Jeremiah may be borrowing the language, but the description in its context is not of creation in Gen. 1:2, but of judgment on the land of Israel and its cities (v. 20). The invader left it desolate of the previous form and void of inhabitants due to slaying and flight (v. 25). The heavens gave no light, possibly due to smoke from fires that were destroying cities (vv. 7,20).

At the presence of the LORD,
By His fierce anger.

27 For thus says the LORD:

"The whole land shall be desolate;
[j]Yet I will not make a full end.
28 For this [k]shall the earth mourn,
And [l]the heavens above be black,
Because I have spoken.
I have [m]purposed and [n]will not relent,
Nor will I turn back from it.
29 The whole city shall flee from the noise of the horsemen and bowmen.
They shall go into thickets and climb up on the rocks.
Every city shall be forsaken,
And not a man shall dwell in it.

30 "And when you are plundered,
What will you do?
Though you clothe yourself with crimson,
Though you adorn yourself with ornaments of gold,
[o]Though you enlarge your eyes with paint,
In vain you will make yourself fair;
[p]Your lovers will despise you;
They will seek your life.

31 "For I have heard a voice as of a woman in [8]labor,
The anguish as of her who brings forth her first child,
The voice of the daughter of Zion bewailing herself;
She [q]spreads her hands, saying,
'Woe is me now, for my soul is [9]weary
Because of murderers!'

The Justice of God's Judgment

5 "Run to and fro through the streets of Jerusalem;
See now and know;
And seek in her open places
[a]If you can find a man,
[b]If there is anyone who executes [1]judgment,
Who seeks the truth,
[c]And I will pardon her.

CHAPTER 5

1 [a] Ezek. 22:30 [b] Gen. 18:23-32 [c] Gen. 18:26 [1] justice

2 [d] Though they say, 'As [e]the LORD lives,' Surely they [f]swear falsely."

3 O LORD, are not [g]Your eyes on the truth?
You have [h]stricken them,
But they have not grieved;
You have consumed them,
But [i]they have refused to receive correction.
They have made their faces harder than rock;
They have refused to return.

4 Therefore I said, "Surely these are poor.
They are foolish;
For [j]they do not know the way of the LORD,
The judgment of their God.
5 I will go to the great men and speak to them,
For [k]they have known the way of the LORD,
The judgment of their God."

But these have altogether [l]broken the yoke
And burst the bonds.
6 Therefore [m]a lion from the forest shall slay them,
[n]A wolf of the deserts shall destroy them;
[o]A leopard will watch over their cities.
Everyone who goes out from there shall be torn in pieces,
Because their transgressions are many;
Their backslidings have increased.

7 "How shall I pardon you for this?
Your children have forsaken Me
And [p]sworn by those [q]that are not gods.
[r]When I had fed them to the full,
Then they committed adultery
And assembled themselves by troops in the harlots' houses.
8 [s]They were like well-fed lusty stallions;
Every one neighed after his neighbor's wife.

5:1 find a man. The city was too sinful to have even one man who, by truth and justice, could qualify to be an advocate to secure pardon for Judah. Refusal to repent was the norm (v. 3) for the common people (v. 4) and for the leaders (v. 5).

5:6 lion. Three animals which tear and eat their victims represented the invader: the lion (see note on 4:6,7), the wolf, and the leopard, picturing vicious judgment on both poor (v. 4) and rich (v. 5).

5:7 adultery. Often the idea of adultery is figurative for idolatry or political alliances (see note on 3:1), but the language here refers to physical adultery by men seeking out a harlot or going to neighbors' wives (v. 8), thus violating the seventh commandment (Ex. 20:14).

9 Shall I not punish them for these things?" says the LORD.
"And shall I not [t]avenge Myself on such a nation as this?

10 "Go up on her walls and destroy,
But do not [2]make a [u]complete end.
Take away her branches,
For they are not the LORD's.
11 For [v]the house of Israel and the house of Judah
Have dealt very treacherously with Me," says the LORD.

12 [w]They have lied about the LORD,
And said, [x]"It is not He.
[y]Neither will [3]evil come upon us,
Nor shall we see sword or famine.
13 And the prophets become wind,
For the word is not in them.
Thus shall it be done to them."

14 Therefore thus says the LORD God of hosts:

"Because you speak this word,
[z]Behold, I will make My words in your mouth fire,
And this people wood,
And it shall devour them.
15 Behold, I will bring a [a]nation against you [b]from afar,
O house of Israel," says the LORD.
"It is a mighty nation,
It is an ancient nation,
A nation whose language you do not know,
Nor can you understand what they say.
16 Their quiver is like an open tomb;
They are all mighty men.
17 And they shall eat up your [c]harvest and your bread,
Which your sons and daughters should eat.
They shall eat up your flocks and your herds;
They shall eat up your vines and your fig trees;
They shall destroy your fortified cities,
In which you trust, with the sword.

20 "Declare this in the house of Jacob
And proclaim it in Judah, saying,
21 'Hear this now, O [h]foolish people,
Without [5]understanding,
Who have eyes and see not,
And who have ears and hear not:
22 [i]Do you not fear Me?' says the LORD.
'Will you not tremble at My presence,
Who have placed the sand as the [j]bound of the sea,
By a perpetual decree, that it cannot pass beyond it?
And though its waves toss to and fro,
Yet they cannot prevail;
Though they roar, yet they cannot pass over it.
23 But this people has a defiant and rebellious heart;
They have revolted and departed.
24 They do not say in their heart,
"Let us now fear the LORD our God,
[k]Who gives rain, both the [l]former and the latter, in its season.
[m]He reserves for us the appointed weeks of the harvest."
25 [n]Your iniquities have turned these things away,
And your sins have withheld good from you.

26 'For among My people are found wicked men;
They [o]lie in wait as one who sets snares;
They set a trap;
They catch men.

So their houses are full of deceit.
Therefore they have become great and grown rich.

5:10 not the LORD's. The people, depicted as vine branches to be destroyed (cf. 11:16,17), did not genuinely know the Lord in a saving relationship, but had forsaken Him and given allegiance to other gods. The description of having eyes but not seeing, and ears but not hearing (v. 21) is used by Isaiah (6:9) and Jesus Christ (Matt. 13:13) for such false professors as these branches. Jesus also referred to false branches in John 15:2,6 which were burned.

5:14 My words...fire. The judgment of Judah prophesied in God's Word by Jeremiah will bring destruction, but not elimination (v. 18), to the nation, cf. 23:29.

5:22 sand...of the sea. God's providential acts in the natural world such as 1) creating the seashore to prevent flooding, 2) giving rain at the appropriate times (v. 24), and 3) providing time for harvest (v. 24) are witness enough to the Lord's reality and grace. As the nation turns away from God, He will take these unappreciated gifts away (v. 25).

28 They have grown [p]fat, they are sleek;
Yes, they [6]surpass the deeds of the wicked;
They do not plead [q]the cause,
The cause of the fatherless;
[r]Yet they prosper,
And the right of the needy they do not defend.
29 [s]Shall I not punish them for these things?' says the LORD.
'Shall I not avenge Myself on such a nation as this?'

30 "An astonishing and [t]horrible thing
Has been committed in the land:
31 The prophets prophesy [u]falsely,
And the priests rule by their own power;
And My people [v]love to have it so.
But what will you do in the end?

Impending Destruction from the North

6 "O you children of Benjamin,
Gather yourselves to flee from the midst of Jerusalem!
Blow the trumpet in Tekoa,
And set up a signal-fire in [a]Beth Haccerem;
[b]For disaster appears out of the north,
And great destruction.
2 I have likened the daughter of Zion
To a lovely and delicate woman.
3 The [c]shepherds with their flocks shall come to her.
They shall pitch their tents against her all around.
Each one shall pasture in his own place."

4 "Prepare[d] war against her;
Arise, and let us go up [e]at noon.
Woe to us, for the day goes away,
For the shadows of the evening are lengthening.
5 Arise, and let us go by night,
And let us destroy her palaces."

6 For thus has the LORD of hosts said:

"Cut down trees,
And build a mound against Jerusalem.
This is the city to be punished.
She is full of oppression in her midst.
7 [f]As a fountain [1]wells up with water,
So she wells up with her wickedness.
[g]Violence and plundering are heard in her.
Before Me continually are [2]grief and wounds.
8 Be instructed, O Jerusalem,
Lest [h]My soul depart from you;
Lest I make you desolate,
A land not inhabited."

9 Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"They shall thoroughly glean as a vine the remnant of Israel;
As a grape-gatherer, put your hand back into the branches."

10 To whom shall I speak and give warning,
That they may hear?
Indeed their [i]ear is uncircumcised,
And they cannot give heed.
Behold, [j]the word of the LORD is a reproach to them;
They have no delight in it.
11 Therefore I am full of the fury of the LORD.
[k]I am weary of holding it in.
"I will pour it out [l]on the children outside,
And on the assembly of young men together;
For even the husband shall be taken with the wife,
The aged with him who is full of days.
12 And [m]their houses shall be turned over to others,
Fields and wives together;
For I will stretch out My hand
Against the inhabitants of the land," says the LORD.
13 "Because from the least of them even to the greatest of them,
Everyone is given to [n]covetousness;
And from the prophet even to the [o]priest,
Everyone deals falsely.

5:31 prophesy falsely. These included prophets with bogus messages, priests who asserted their own authority, and also followers who indulged such falseness. All are guilty before God.

6:1 Tekoa...Beth Haccerem. Tekoa, the home of Amos, is 6 mi. S of Bethlehem. The location of Beth Haccerem ("vineyard house") is unknown, but probably near Tekoa. As the enemy came from the N, the people would flee S. north. See note on 4:6,7.

6:3 shepherds. These were hostile leaders of the invading Babylonians, whose soldiers were compared with flocks.

6:6 Cut down trees. A besieging tactic is described in which trees were used to build up ramps against the city walls.

6:9 thoroughly glean. Unlike the benevolent practice of leaving food in the field for the poor to glean (Lev. 19:9,10; Ruth 2:5-18), the Babylonians will leave no one when they "harvest" Judah.

14 They have also [p]healed the [3]hurt of
My people [4]slightly,
[q]Saying, 'Peace, peace!'
When there is no peace.
15 Were they [r]ashamed when they
had committed abomination?
No! They were not at all ashamed;
Nor did they know how to blush.
Therefore they shall fall among those who fall;
At the time I punish them,
They shall be cast down," says the
LORD.

16 Thus says the LORD:

"Stand in the ways and see,
And ask for the [s]old paths, where the good way is,
And walk in it;
Then you will find [t]rest for your souls.
But they said, 'We will not walk *in
it.*'
17 Also, I set [u]watchmen over you,
saying,
[v]'Listen to the sound of the trumpet!'
But they said, 'We will not listen.'
18 Therefore hear, you nations,
And know, O congregation, what is
among them.
19 [w]Hear, O earth!
Behold, I will certainly bring
[x]calamity on this people—
[y]The fruit of their thoughts,
Because they have not heeded My
words
Nor My law, but rejected it.
20 [z]For what purpose to Me
Comes frankincense [a]from Sheba,
And [b]sweet cane from a far
country?
[c]Your burnt offerings are not acceptable,
Nor your sacrifices sweet to Me."

21 Therefore thus says the LORD:

"Behold, I will lay stumbling blocks
before this people,
And the fathers and the sons together shall fall on them.
The neighbor and his friend shall perish."

22 Thus says the LORD:

"Behold, a people comes from the [d]north country,
And a great nation will be raised from the farthest parts of the
earth.
23 They will lay hold on bow and spear;
They are cruel and have no mercy;
Their voice [e]roars like the sea;
And they ride on horses,
As men of war set in array against you, O daughter of Zion."

24 We have heard the report of it;
Our hands grow feeble.
[f]Anguish has taken hold of us,
Pain as of a woman in [5]labor.
25 Do not go out into the field,
Nor walk by the way.
Because of the sword of the enemy,
Fear is on every side.
26 O daughter of my people,
[g] Dress in sackcloth
[h]And roll about in ashes!
[i]Make mourning as for an only son,
most bitter lamentation;
For the plunderer will suddenly come upon us.

27 "I have set you as an assayer and [j]a fortress among My people,
That you may know and test their way.
28 [k]They are all stubborn rebels,
[l]walking as slanderers.
They are [m]bronze and iron,
They are all corrupters;
29 The bellows blow fiercely,
The lead is consumed by the fire;
The smelter refines in vain,
For the wicked are not drawn off.
30 People will call them [n]rejected
silver,
Because the LORD has rejected
them."

6:14 'Peace, peace!' Wicked leaders among the prophets and priests (v. 13) proclaimed peace falsely and gave weak and brief comfort. They provided no true healing from the spiritual wound, not having discernment to deal with the sin and its effects (v. 15). The need was to return to obedience (v. 16). Cf. 8:11.

6:16 Here is the image of travelers who are lost, stopping to inquire about the right way they once knew before they wandered so far off it.

6:17 watchmen. Prophets.

6:20 not acceptable. Using imported fragrances in their offerings did not make them sweetly acceptable to God when the worshipers rejected His word (v. 19).

6:21 stumbling blocks. Cf. Matt. 21:44; Is. 8:14; 1 Pet. 2:8.

6:22,23 A description of the Babylonians.

6:27-30 I have set you. God placed Jeremiah as a kind of assayer to test the people's obedience. He also was a "fortress," meaning a "tester" who works with metals. Their sin prevented them from being pure silver, but rather they were bronze, iron, lead, even impure silver, so that they failed the test.

Trusting in Lying Words

CHAPTER 7

7 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying, 2 [a]"Stand in the gate of the LORD's house, and proclaim there this word, and say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, all you of Judah who enter in at these gates to worship the LORD!' " 3 Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: [b]"Amend your ways and your doings, and I will cause you to dwell in this place. 4 [c]Do not trust in these lying words, saying, 'The temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD are these.'

5 "For if you thoroughly amend your ways and your doings, if you thoroughly [d]execute [l]judgment between a man and his neighbor, 6 if you do not oppress the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow, and do not shed innocent blood in this place, [e]or walk after other gods to your hurt, 7 [f]then I will cause you to dwell in this place, in [g]the land that I gave to your fathers forever and ever.

8 "Behold, you trust in [h]lying words that cannot profit. 9 [i]Will you steal, murder, commit adultery, swear falsely, burn incense to Baal, and [j]walk after other gods whom you do not know, 10 [k]and then come and stand before Me in this house [l]which is called by My name, and say, 'We are delivered to do all these abominations'? 11 Has [m]this house, which is called by My name, become a [n]den of thieves in your eyes? Behold, I, even I, have seen it," says the LORD.

12 "But go now to [o]My place which was in Shiloh, [p]where I set My name at the first, and see [q]what I did to it because of the wickedness of My people Israel. 13 And now, because you have done all these works," says the LORD, "and I spoke to you, [r]rising up early and speaking, but you did not hear, and I [s]called you, but you did not answer, 14 therefore I will do to the house which is called by My name, in which you trust, and to this place which I gave to you and your fathers, as I have done to [t]Shiloh. 15 And I will cast you out of My sight, [u]as I have cast out all your brethren—[v]the whole posterity of Ephraim.

16 "Therefore [w]do not pray for this people, nor lift up a cry or prayer for them, nor make intercession to Me; [x]for I will not hear you. 17 Do you not see what they do in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? 18 [y]The children gather wood, the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead dough, to make cakes for the queen of heaven; and they [z]pour out drink offerings to other gods, that they may provoke Me to anger. 19 [a]Do they provoke Me to anger?" says the LORD. "Do they not provoke themselves, to the shame of their own faces?"

20 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, My anger and My fury will be poured out on this place—on man and on beast, on the trees of the field and on the fruit of the ground. And it will burn and not be quenched."

21 Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: [b]"Add your burnt offerings to your sacrifices and eat meat. 22 [c]For I did not speak to your fathers, or command them in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings or sacrifices. 23 But this is what I commanded them, saying, [d]'Obey My voice, and [e]I will be your God, and you shall be My people. And walk in all the ways that I have commanded you, that it may be well with you.' 24 [f]Yet they did not obey or in-

24 [f] Ps. 81:11; Jer. 11:8

7:1 The word that came. This was Jeremiah's first temple sermon (v. 2); another is found in chap. 26. God was aroused against the sins He names (vv. 6,19), especially at His temple becoming a den of thieves (v. 11). The point of this message, however, was that if Israel would repent, even at this late hour, God would still keep the conqueror from coming (vv. 3,7). They must reject lies such as the false hope that peace is certain, based on the reasoning that the Lord would never bring calamity on His own temple (v. 4). They must turn from their sins (v. 3,5,9), and end their hypocrisy (v. 10).

7:7 the land...I gave...forever. God refers to the unconditional element of the land promise in the Abrahamic Covenant (Gen. 12,15,17,22).

7:12 go...to...Shiloh. God calls them to return to Shiloh where the tabernacle dwelt along with the ark of the covenant. He permitted the Philistines to devastate that place (1 Sam. 4), and He is ready to do similarly with Jerusalem, the place of His temple (vv. 13,14).

7:13 rising up early. This refers to the daily ministry of the prophets (cf. v. 25).

7:15 as I have cast out...Ephraim. Ephraim represents the northern kingdom of Israel, since it was the leading tribe (cf. 2 Kin. 17:23). As God exiled them to Assyria (ca. 722 B.C.), though they were more in number and power, so He will do to the southern kingdom.

7:16 do not pray. God told His spokesman not to pray for the people (cf. 11:14). He did not find Judah inclined to repent. Instead, He found the glib use of self-deluding slogans, such as in 7:4, and flagrant idol worship in v. 18 from a people insistent on not hearing (v. 27; 19:15). Cf. 1 John 5:16.

7:18 the queen of heaven. Cf. 44:17-19,25. The Jews were worshiping Ishtar, an Assyrian and Babylonian goddess also called Ashtoreth and Astarte, the wife of Baal or Molech. Because these deities symbolized generative power, their worship involved prostitution.

7:22 I did not...command. Bible writers sometimes use apparent negation to make a comparative emphasis. What God commanded His people at the Exodus was not so much the offerings, as it was the heart obedience which prompted the offerings. See this comparative sense used elsewhere (Deut. 5:3; Hos. 6:6; 1 John 3:18).

7:22,23 offerings...sacrifices...Obey. Here is a crucial emphasis on internal obedience. Cf. Josh. 1:8; 1 Sam. 15:22; Prov. 15:8; 21:3; Is. 1:11-17; Hos. 6:6; Matt. 9:13.

cline their ear, but [g]followed[2] the counsels and the [3]dictates of their evil hearts, and [h]went[4] backward and not forward. 25 Since the day that your fathers came out of the land of Egypt until this day, I have even [i]sent to you all My servants the prophets, daily rising up early and sending them. 26 [j]Yet they did not obey Me or incline their ear, but [k]stiffened their neck. [l]They did worse than their fathers.

27 "Therefore [m]you shall speak all these words to them, but they will not obey you. You shall also call to them, but they will not answer you.

Judgment on Obscene Religion

28 "So you shall say to them, 'This is a nation that does not obey the voice of the LORD their God [n]nor receive correction. [o]Truth has perished and has been cut off from their mouth. 29 [p]Cut off your hair and cast it away, and take up a lamentation on the desolate heights; for the LORD has rejected and forsaken the generation of His wrath.' 30 For the children of Judah have done evil in My sight," says the LORD. [q]"They have set their abominations in the house which is called by My name, to [5]pollute it. 31 And they have built the [r]high places of Tophet, which is in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, to [s]burn their sons and their daughters in the fire, [t]which I did not command, nor did it come into My heart.

32 "Therefore behold, [u]the days are coming," says the LORD, "when it will no more be called Tophet, or the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, but the Valley of Slaughter; [v]for they will bury in Tophet until there is no room. 33 The [w]corpses of this people will be food for the birds of the heaven and for the beasts of the earth. And no one will frighten them away. 34 Then I will cause to [x]cease from the cities of Judah and from the streets of Jerusalem the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride. For [y]the land shall be desolate.

8 "At that time," says the LORD, "they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of its princes, and the bones of the priests, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, out of their graves. 2 They shall spread them before the sun and the moon and all the host of heaven, which they have loved and which they have served and after which they have walked, which they have sought and [a]which they have worshiped. They shall not be gathered [b]nor buried; they shall be like refuse on the face of the earth. 3 Then [c]death shall be chosen rather than life by all the [1]residue of those who remain of this evil family, who remain in all the places where I have driven them," says the LORD of hosts.

The Peril of False Teaching

4 "Moreover you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD:

"Will they fall and not rise?
Will one turn away and not return?
5 Why has this people [d]slidden back,
Jerusalem, in a perpetual backsliding?
[e]They hold fast to deceit,
[f]They refuse to return.
6 [g]I listened and heard,
But they do not speak aright.
[h]No man repented of his wickedness,
Saying, 'What have I done?'
Everyone turned to his own course,
As the horse rushes into the battle.

7 "Even [i]the stork in the heavens
Knows her appointed times;
And the turtledove, the swift, and the swallow
Observe the time of their coming.
But [j]My people do not know the judgment of the LORD.

8 "How can you say, 'We are wise,
[k]And the law of the LORD is with us'?
Look, the false pen of the scribe certainly works falsehood.

7:29 Cut off your hair. This is a sign depicting God's cutting the nation off and casting them into exile. Ezekiel used a similar illustration by cutting his hair (Ezek. 5:1-4). God never casts away the genuinely saved from spiritual salvation (John 6:37; 10:28,29).

7:31 burn their sons. Though God forbade this atrocity (Lev. 18:21; 20:2-5; Deut. 12:31), Israelites still offered babies as sacrifices at the high places of idol worship (Tophet) in the valley of Hinnom (S end of Jerusalem). They offered them to the fire god Molech, under the delusion that this god would reward them. See note on 19:6.

7:32 Valley of Slaughter. God renamed the place because great carnage would be forthcoming in the Babylonian invasion.

8:1 bring out the bones. Conquerors would ransack all the tombs to gain treasures and then humiliate the Jews by scattering the bones of the rich and honored in open spaces as a tribute to the superiority of their gods (v. 2).

8:4 Jeremiah spoke of the natural instinct of one who falls, to get up, and one who leaves, to return, but Judah did not possess this instinct.

8:5 backsliding. See note on 2:19.

8:7 The instinct of the migratory birds leads them with unfailing regularity to return every spring from their winter homes. But God's people will not return, though the winter of divine wrath is arriving.

9 [l]The wise men are ashamed,
They are dismayed and taken.
Behold, they have rejected the word of the LORD;
So [m]what wisdom do they have?
10 Therefore [n]I will give their wives to others,
And their fields to those who will inherit them;
Because from the least even to the greatest
Everyone is given to [o]covetousness;
From the prophet even to the priest
Everyone deals falsely.
11 For they have [p]healed the hurt of the daughter of My people
[2]slightly,
Saying, [q]'Peace, peace!'
When there is no peace.
12 Were they [r]ashamed when they
had committed abomination?
No! They were not at all ashamed,
Nor did they know how to blush.
Therefore they shall fall among
those who fall;
In the time of their punishment
They shall be cast down," says the
LORD.

13 "I will surely [3]consume them," says
the LORD.
"No grapes shall be [s]on the vine,
Nor figs on the [t]fig tree,
And the leaf shall fade;
And the things I have given them shall [u]pass away from
them.'" "

14 "Why do we sit still?
[v]Assemble yourselves,
And let us enter the fortified cities,
And let us be silent there.
For the LORD our God has put us to silence
And given us [w]water[4] of gall to drink,
Because we have sinned against
the LORD.

15 "We [x]looked for peace, but no good came;
And for a time of health, and there was trouble!
16 The snorting of His horses was heard from [y]Dan.
The whole land trembled at the sound of the neighing of His [z]strong ones;
For they have come and devoured
the land and all that is in it,
The city and those who dwell in it."

17 "For behold, I will send serpents among you,
Vipers which cannot be [a]charmed,
And they shall bite you," says the
LORD.

The Prophet Mourns for the People

18 I would comfort myself in sorrow;
My heart is faint in me.
19 Listen! The voice,
The cry of the daughter of my
people
From [b]a far country:
"Is not the LORD in Zion?
Is not her King in her?"

"Why have they provoked Me to anger
With their carved images—
With foreign idols?"

20 "The harvest is past,
The summer is ended,
And we are not saved!"

21 [c]For the hurt of the daughter of my people I am hurt.
I am [d]mourning;
Astonishment has taken hold of me.
22 Is there no [e]balm in Gilead,
Is there no physician there?
Why then is there no recovery
For the health of the daughter of
my people?

9 Oh, [a]that my head were waters,
And my eyes a fountain of tears,
That I might weep day and night
For the slain of the daughter of my people!

CHAPTER 9

1 [a] Is. 22:4; Jer. 10:19; Lam. 2:18

8:11 Cf. 4:10; 6:14.

8:16 Dan. The territory of this tribe was on the northern border of the land, where the invasion would begin and sweep S.

8:17 send serpents. This is a figurative picture of the Babylonian victors.

8:19 far country. This is the cry of the exiled Jews that will come after they are taken captive into Babylon. They will wonder why God would let this happen to His land and people.

8:20-22 we are not saved! The coming devastation is compared with the hopeless anguish when harvest time has passed but people are still in desperate need. Jeremiah identified with his people's suffering (v. 21) as a man of tears (cf. 9:1), but saw a doom so pronounced that there was no remedy to soothe. There was no healing balm, the kind in abundance in Gilead (E of the Sea of Galilee), and no physician to cure (cf. Gen. 37:25; 43:11).

9:1 waters...tears. Jeremiah cared so greatly that he longed for the relief of flooding tears or a place of retreat to be free of the burden of Judah's sins for a while.

2 Oh, that I had in the wilderness
A lodging place for travelers;
That I might leave my people,
And go from them!
For [b]they are all adulterers,
An assembly of treacherous men.

3 "And like their bow [c]they have bent their tongues for lies.
They are not valiant for the truth
on the earth.
For they proceed from [d]evil to evil,
And they [e]do not know Me," says
the LORD.
4 "Everyone[f] take heed to his
[1]neighbor,
And do not trust any brother;
For every brother will utterly supplant,
And every neighbor will [g]walk with slanderers.
5 Everyone will [h]deceive his
neighbor,
And will not speak the truth;
They have taught their tongue to speak lies;
They weary themselves to commit
iniquity.
6 Your dwelling place is in the midst of deceit;
Through deceit they refuse to know Me," says the LORD.

7 Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Behold, [i]I will refine them and [2]try
them;
[j]For how shall I deal with the daughter of My people?
8 Their tongue is an arrow shot out;
It speaks [k]deceit;
One speaks [l]peaceably to his neighbor with his mouth,
But [3]in his heart he [4]lies in wait.
9 [m]Shall I not punish them for these things?" says the LORD.
"Shall I not avenge Myself on such a nation as this?"

10 I will take up a weeping and wailing for the mountains,
And [n]for the [5]dwelling places of the wilderness a lamentation,
Because they are burned up,
So that no one can pass through;
Nor can men hear the voice of the cattle.
[o]Both the birds of the heavens and the beasts have fled;
They are gone.

11 "I will make Jerusalem [p]a heap of ruins, [q]a den of jackals.
I will make the cities of Judah desolate, without an inhabitant."

12 [r]Who is the wise man who may understand this? And who is he to whom the mouth of the LORD has spoken, that he may declare it? Why does the land perish and burn up like a wilderness, so that no one can pass through?

13 And the LORD said, "Because they have forsaken My law which I set before them, and have [s]not obeyed My voice, nor walked according to it, 14 but they have [t]walked according to the [6]dictates of their own hearts and after the Baals, [u]which their fathers taught them," 15 therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Behold, I will [v]feed them, this people, [w]with wormwood, and give them [7]water of gall to drink. 16 I will [x]scatter them also among the Gentiles, whom neither they nor their fathers have known. [y]And I will send a sword after them until I have consumed them."

The People Mourn in Judgment

17 Thus says the LORD of hosts:

"Consider and call for [z]the mourning women,
That they may come;
And send for skillful wailing women,
That they may come.
18 Let them make haste
And take up a wailing for us,
That [a]our eyes may run with tears,
And our eyelids gush with water.
19 For a voice of wailing is heard from Zion:
'How we are plundered!
We are greatly ashamed,
Because we have forsaken the land,
Because we have been cast out of [b]our dwellings.' "

9:2 A lodging place for travelers. Simple square buildings with an open court were built in remote areas to accommodate caravans. Though it would be lonely and filthy in the wilderness, Jeremiah preferred it to Jerusalem so as to be removed from the moral pollution of the people, which he described in vv. 3-8.

9:3 do not know Me. See note on 5:10.

9:15 wormwood. The Lord pictured the awful suffering of the judgment as wormwood, which had very bitter leaves. Their food would be bitterness, and their water as foul as gall, a poisonous herb.

20 Yet hear the word of the LORD,
O women,
And let your ear receive the word of His mouth;
Teach your daughters wailing,
And everyone her neighbor a lamentation.
21 For death has come through our windows,
Has entered our palaces,
To kill off [c]the children—[8]no longer
to be outside!
And the young men—[9]no longer on the streets!

22 Speak, "Thus says the LORD:

'Even the carcasses of men shall fall
[d]as refuse on the open field,
Like cuttings after the harvester,
And no one shall gather them.' "

23 Thus says the LORD:

wisdom,
Let not the mighty man glory in his [f]might,
Nor let the rich man glory in his riches;

this,
That he understands and knows
Me,
That I am the LORD, exercising lovingkindness, [1]judgment, and righteousness in the [h]For in these I delight," says the

LORD.

25 "Behold, the days are coming," says the LORD, "that [i]I will punish all who are circumcised with the uncircumcised—
26 Egypt, Judah, Edom, the people of Ammon, Moab, and all who are in the [j]farthest corners, who dwell in the wilderness. For all these nations are uncircumcised, and all the house of Israel are [k]uncircumcised in the heart."

Idols and the True God

10 Hear the word which the LORD speaks to you, O house of Israel.
2 Thus says the LORD:

[a]"Do not learn the way of the Gentiles;
Do not be dismayed at the signs of
heaven,
For the Gentiles are dismayed at
them.
3 For the customs of the peoples are
[1]futile;
For [b]one cuts a tree from the forest,
The work of the hands of the workman, with the ax.
4 They decorate it with silver and
gold;
They [c]fasten it with nails and hammers
So that it will not topple.
5 They are upright, like a palm tree,
And [d]they cannot speak;
They must be [e]carried,
Because they cannot go by
themselves.
Do not be afraid of them,
For [f]they cannot do evil,
Nor can they do any good."

6 Inasmuch as there is none [g]like You,
O LORD
(You are great, and Your name is great in might),
7 [h]Who would not fear You, O King of the nations?
For this is Your rightful due.
For [i]among all the wise men of the nations,
And in all their kingdoms,
There is none like You.
8 But they are altogether [j]dull-hearted and foolish;
A wooden idol is a [2]worthless doctrine.
9 Silver is beaten into plates;
It is brought from Tarshish,
And [k]gold from Uphaz,
The work of the craftsman
And of the hands of the metalsmith;

9:22 How galling to the Jews to hear that their carcasses will be trampled contemptuously.

9:24 understands and knows Me. Nothing but a true knowledge of God can save the nation. Paul refers to this passage twice (cf. 1 Cor. 1:31; 2 Cor. 10:17).

9:26 Egypt...wilderness. A preview of God's judgment of the nations detailed in chaps. 46–51. uncircumcised...heart. See note on 4:4.

10:2 the signs of heaven. Gentiles worshiped celestial bodies, including the sun, moon, and stars.

10:4 decorate. Idols were often carved from wood (v. 3) and ornamented with gold or silver (cf. v. 9). Some were molded from clay (Judg. 18:17; Is. 42:17). The context points out the impossibility (vv. 3-5) of such non-existent gods punishing or rewarding humans.

10:7 King. God, who sovereignly created and controls all things (cf. vv. 12,16; Deut. 4:35), is alone the eternal, living God (cf. Pss. 47, 145) worthy of trust. By contrast, earthly idols have to be fashioned by men (v. 9), and will perish (v. 15).

10:9 Tarshish. Possibly a commercial port in southern Spain or on the island of Sardinia. Cf. Jon. 1:3. Uphaz. Location is uncertain.

Blue and purple are their clothing;
They are all [j]the work of skillful men.

10 But the LORD is the true God;
He is [m]the living God and the [n]everlasting King.
At His wrath the earth will tremble,
And the nations will not be able to endure His indignation.

11 Thus you shall say to them: [o]"The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth [p]shall perish from the earth and from under these heavens."

12 He [q]has made the earth by His power,
He has [r]established the world by His wisdom,
And [s]has stretched out the heavens at His discretion.
13 [t]When He utters His voice,
There is a [3]multitude of waters in the heavens:
[u]"And He causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth.
He makes lightning for the rain,
He brings the wind out of His treasuries."

14 [v]Everyone is [w]dull-hearted, without knowledge;
[x]Every metalsmith is put to shame by an image;
[y]For his molded image is falsehood,
And there is no breath in them.
15 They are futile, a work of errors;
In the time of their punishment they shall perish.
16 [z]The Portion of Jacob is not like them,
For He is the Maker of all things,
And [a]Israel is the tribe of His inheritance;
[b]The LORD of hosts is His name.

22 Behold, the noise of the report has come,
And a great commotion out of the [l]north country,
To make the cities of Judah desolate, a [m]den of jackals.

10:11-16 The true and living Creator God is again contrasted with dead idols.

10:16 Portion of Jacob. God is the all sufficient source for His people (Num. 18:20), and He will not fail them as idols do (11:12). Israel is the tribe of His inheritance. To this nation, God gave His inheritance in covenant love.

10:20 My tent is plundered. Jeremiah, using a nomadic metaphor, shifted into words that Israelites will speak when the invaders attack. They will feel "woe" due to their "wound," and cry out over their homes being plundered and their children being slain or scattered to exile.

10:23 the way...is not in himself. Man is incapable of guiding his own life adequately. This prayer shifts to his need of God (Prov. 3:5,6; 16:9), who had a plan for Jeremiah before he was even born (1:5).

10:24,25 Jeremiah saw himself ("correct me") in solidarity with his people (cf. Dan. 9:1ff.) and understood the nation must be punished, but desired some mercy and moderation; he prayed that God's full fury be poured on the nations that induced the Jews into idolatry.

The Broken Covenant

11 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying, 2 "Hear the words of this covenant, and speak to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem; 3 and say to them, 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: [a]"Cursed is the man who does not obey the words of this covenant 4 which I commanded your fathers in the day I brought them out of the land of Egypt, [b]from the iron furnace, saying, [c]'Obey My voice, and do according to all that I command you; so shall you be My people, and I will be your God,' 5 that I may establish the [d]oath which I have sworn to your fathers, to give them [e]'a land flowing with milk and honey,' as it is this day." ' "

And I answered and said, [1]"So be it,
LORD."

6 Then the LORD said to me, "Proclaim all these words in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, saying: 'Hear the words of this covenant [f]and do them. 7 For
I earnestly exhorted your fathers in the day
I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, until this day, [g]rising early and exhorting, saying, "Obey My voice." 8 [h]Yet they did not obey or incline their ear, but [i]everyone [2]followed the dictates of his evil heart;
therefore I will bring upon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but which they have not done.' "

9 And the LORD said to me, [j]"A conspiracy has been found among the men of Judah and among the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 10 They have turned back to [k]the iniquities of their forefathers who refused to hear My words, and they have gone after other gods to serve them; the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken
My covenant which I made with their fathers."

11 Therefore thus says the LORD: "Behold, I will surely bring calamity on them which they will not be able to [3]escape; and [l]though they cry out to Me, I will not listen to them. 12 Then the cities of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem will go and [m]cry out to the gods to whom they offer incense, but they will not save them at all in the time of their trouble. 13 For according to the number of your [n]cities were your gods, O Judah; and according to the number of the streets of Jerusalem you have set up altars to that shameful thing, altars to burn incense to Baal.

14 "So [o]do not pray for this people, or lift up a cry or prayer for them; for I will not hear them in the time that they cry out to Me because of their trouble.

15 "What[p] has My beloved to do in My

And [r]the holy flesh has passed from you.
When you do evil, then you

16 The LORD called your name,

With the noise of a great tumult
He has kindled fire on it,
And its branches are broken.

17 "For the LORD of hosts, [u]who planted you, has pronounced doom against you for the evil of the house of Israel and of the house of Judah, which they have done against themselves to provoke Me to anger in offering incense to Baal."

11:2 this covenant. The reference is to God's covenant, summarized in vv. 3-5, which promised curses for disobeying and blessings for obeying (cf. Deut. 27:26–28:68).

11:4 the iron furnace. A metaphor for the hardship of Egyptian bondage hundreds of years earlier (cf. Ex. 1:8-14).

11:9 A conspiracy. This refers to a deliberate resisting of God's appeals for repentance and an insistence upon trusting their own "peace" message and idols.

11:13 Judah was so filled with idolatry that there were false deities for every city and a polluted altar on every street.

11:14 do not pray. Cf. 7:16 and see note there. Their own prayers, as long as they rejected God, could not gain the answer they desired (v. 11; Ps. 66:18), and the same was true of another's prayers for them.

11:15 My beloved. A phrase showing God's sensitive regard for His relationship to Israel as a nation (cf. 2:2; 12:7). It does not carry the assumption, however, that every individual is spiritually saved (cf. 5:10a). lewd deeds. Shameful idolatry that defiled all that befits true temple worship, such as the examples in Ezek. 8:6-13. These were gross violations of the first 3 commandments (cf. Ex. 20:2-7). holy flesh. In some way, they corrupted the animal sacrifices by committing sin which they enjoyed (cf. 7:10).

11:16,17 Green Olive Tree. Israel was pictured as a grapevine (2:21), then an olive tree meant to bear good fruit. However, they produced fruit that calls only for the fire of judgment (as 5:10).

11:18-23 You showed me. Jeremiah's fellow townsmen from Anathoth, one of the 48 cities throughout the land dedicated to the Levites, plotted his death. Their words, "Let us destroy the tree...," indicate their desire to silence Jeremiah by murder.

[w]the land of the living, that his name may be remembered no more."

20 But, O LORD of hosts,
You who judge righteously,
[x]Testing the [4]mind and the heart,
Let me see Your [y]vengeance on them,
For to You I have revealed my cause.

21 "Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the men of [z]Anathoth who seek your life, saying, [a]'Do not prophesy in the name of the LORD, lest you die by our hand'— 22 therefore thus says the LORD of hosts: 'Behold, I will punish them. The young men shall die by the sword, their sons and their daughters shall [b]die by famine; 23 and there shall be no remnant of them, for I will bring catastrophe on the men of Anathoth, even [c]the year of their punishment.' "

Jeremiah's Question

12 Righteous [a]are You, O LORD, when I plead with You;
Yet let me talk with You about Your judgments.
[b]Why does the way of the wicked prosper?
Why are those happy who deal so treacherously?

2 You have planted them, yes, they have taken root;
They grow, yes, they bear fruit.
[c]You are near in their mouth
But far from their [1]mind.

3 But You, O LORD, [d]know me;
You have seen me,
And You have [e]tested my heart toward You.
Pull them out like sheep for the slaughter,
And prepare them for [f]the day of slaughter.

4 How long will [g]the land mourn,
And the herbs of every field wither?
[h]The beasts and birds are consumed,
[i]For the wickedness of those who dwell there,
Because they said, "He will not see our final end."

The LORD Answers Jeremiah

5 "If you have run with the footmen, and they have wearied you,
Then how can you contend with horses?
And if in the land of peace,
In which you trusted, they wearied you,
Then how will you do in [j]the [2]floodplain of the Jordan?

6 For even [k]your brothers, the house of your father,
Even they have dealt treacherously with you;
Yes, they have called [3]a multitude after you.
[l]Do not believe them,
Even though they speak [4]smooth words to you.

7 "I have forsaken My house, I have left My heritage;
I have given the dearly beloved of My soul into the hand of her enemies.

8 My heritage is to Me like a lion in the forest;
It cries out against Me;
Therefore I have [m]hated it.

11:20 Let me see Your vengeance. Jeremiah pleaded for God's defense on his behalf, actually guaranteed in 1:8,18,19.

12:1 Why. The issue of why the wicked escape for a time unscathed has often been raised by God's people (cf. Ps. 73; Hab. 1:2-4).

12:3 Pull them out...for the slaughter. The prophet here turned from the sadness of pleading for his people to calling on God to punish them. Such imprecatory prayers are similar to prayers throughout the Psalms.

12:4 He will not see our final end. Here is the foolish idea that Jeremiah was wrong and didn't know how things would happen.

12:5 If you have run. The Lord replied to Jeremiah telling him that if he grew faint with lesser trials and felt like quitting, what would he do when the battle got even harder? floodplain of the Jordan. The river in flood stage overflowed its banks into a plain that grew up as a thicket. The point is that Jeremiah needed to be ready to deal with tougher testings, pictured by the invader's overwhelming the land like a flood, or posing high danger as in the Jordan thicket where concealed wild animals could terrify a person.

12:6 even your brothers. Jeremiah met antagonism not only from fellow townsmen (cf. 11:18-23 and see note there), but from his own family! He was separated from them (v. 7).

12:8 like a lion. Jeremiah's own people collectively are like a lion acting ferociously against him.

12:9 a speckled vulture. God's people, speckled with sin and compromise, are opposed by other vultures, i.e., enemy nations.

They have [q]trodden My portion
underfoot;
They have made My [7]pleasant portion a desolate wilderness.
11 They have made it [r]desolate;
Desolate, it mourns to Me;
The whole land is made desolate,
Because [s]no one takes it to heart.
12 The plunderers have come
On all the desolate heights in the wilderness,
For the sword of the LORD shall devour
From one end of the land to the other end of the land;
No flesh shall have peace.
13 [t]They have sown wheat but reaped thorns;
They have [8]put themselves to pain
but do not profit.
But be ashamed of your harvest
Because of the fierce anger of the
LORD."

14 Thus says the LORD: "Against all My evil neighbors who [u]touch the inheritance which I have caused My people Israel to inherit—behold, I will [v]pluck them out of their land and pluck out the house of Judah from among them. 15 [w]Then it shall be, after I have plucked them out, that I will return and have compassion on them [x]and bring them back, everyone to his heritage and everyone to his land. 16 And it shall be, if they will learn carefully the ways of My people, [y]to swear by My name, 'As the LORD lives,' as they taught My people to swear by Baal, then they shall be [z]established in the midst of My people. 17 But if they do not [a]obey, I will utterly pluck up and destroy that nation," says the LORD.

Symbol of the Linen Sash

13 Thus the LORD said to me: "Go and get yourself a linen sash, and put it [1]around your waist, but do not put it in water." 2 So I got a [2]sash according to the word of the LORD, and put it around my waist.

3 And the word of the LORD came to me the second time, saying, 4 "Take the [3]sash that you acquired, which is [4]around your waist, and arise, go to the [5]Euphrates, and hide it there in a hole in the rock." 5 So I went and hid it by the Euphrates, as the LORD commanded me.

6 Now it came to pass after many days that the LORD said to me, "Arise, go to the Euphrates, and take from there the sash which I commanded you to hide there." 7 Then I went to the Euphrates and dug, and I took the [6]sash from the place where I had hidden it; and there was the sash, ruined. It was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying, 9 "Thus says the LORD: 'In this manner [a]I will ruin the pride of Judah and the great [b]pride of Jerusalem. 10 This evil people, who [c]refuse to hear My words, who [d]follow[7] the dictates of their hearts, and walk after other gods to serve them and worship them, shall be just like this sash which is profitable for nothing. 11 For as the sash clings to the waist of a man, so I have caused the whole house of Israel and the whole house of Judah to cling to Me,' says the LORD, 'that [e]they may become My people, [f]for renown, for praise, and for [g]glory; but they would [h]not hear.'

Symbol of the Wine Bottles

12 "Therefore you shall speak to them this word: 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel: "Every bottle shall be filled with wine." '

"And they will say to you, 'Do we not certainly know that every bottle will be filled with wine?'

13 "Then you shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD: "Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land—even the kings who sit on David's throne, the priests, the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem—[i]with drunkenness! 14 And [j]I will dash them [8]one against another, even the 12:12 sword of the LORD. God's strength can be for defending (cf. 47:6; Judg. 7:20) or in this case, condemning. The Babylonians were God's sword doing His will.

12:14 evil neighbors. Other nations which hurt Israel will, in their turn, also receive judgment from the Lord (cf. 9:26; 25:14-32; chaps. 46–51).

12:15 bring them back. God will restore His people to the land of Israel in a future millennial day, as indicated in chaps. 30–33.

13:1 a linen sash. One of several signs Jeremiah enacted to illustrate God's message (cf. Introduction) involved putting a linen sash (generally the inner garment against the skin) around his waist. This depicted Israel's close intimacy with God in the covenant, so that they could glorify Him (v. 11). do not put it in water. Signified the moral filth of the nation. Buried and allowed time to rot (v. 7), the sash pictured Israel as useless to God due to sin (v. 10). Hiding it by the Euphrates (v. 6) pointed to the land of Babylon, where God would exile Israel to deal with her pride (cf. v. 9).

13:4 Euphrates. This refers literally to a site on the Euphrates River because: 1) the Euphrates is the area of exile (20:4); 2) "many days" fits the round trip of well over 1,000 mi. (v. 6); and 3) the ruining of the nation's pride (v. 9) relates to judgment by Babylon (vv. 10,11).

13:12-14 Every bottle. God pictured inhabitants of Israel in Babylon's invasion as bottles or skins of wine. As wine causes drunkenness, they will be dazed, stumbling in darkness (cf. v. 16), out of control, and victims of destruction (v. 14).

Pride Precedes Captivity

15 Hear and give ear:
Do not be proud,
For the LORD has spoken.
16 [k]Give glory to the LORD your God
Before He causes [l]darkness,
And before your feet stumble
On the dark mountains,
And while you are [m]looking for light,
He turns it into [n]the shadow of death
And makes it dense darkness.
17 But if you will not hear it,
My soul will [o]weep in secret for your pride;
My eyes will weep bitterly
And run down with tears,
Because the LORD's flock has been taken captive.

18 Say to [p]the king and to the queen mother,
"Humble yourselves;
Sit down,
For your rule shall collapse, the crown of your glory."
19 The cities of the South shall be shut up,
And no one shall open them;
Judah shall be carried away captive, all of it;
It shall be wholly carried away captive.

20 Lift up your eyes and see
Those who come from the [q]north.
Where is the flock that was given to you,
Your beautiful sheep?

For you have taught them
To be chieftains, to be head over you.
Will not [r]pangs seize you,
Like a woman in [g]labor?
22 And if you say in your heart,
[s]"Why have these things come upon me?"
For the greatness of your iniquity
[t]Your skirts have been uncovered,
Your heels [l]made bare.
23 Can the Ethiopian change his skin or the leopard its spots?
Then may you also do good who are accustomed to do evil.

24 "Therefore I will [u]scatter them [v]like stubble
That passes away by the wind of the wilderness.
25 [w]This is your lot,
The portion of your measures from Me," says the LORD,
"Because you have forgotten Me
And trusted in [x]falsehood.
26 Therefore [y]I will uncover your skirts over your face,
That your shame may appear.
27 I have seen your adulteries
And your lustful [z]neighings,

Sword, Famine, and Pestilence

CHAPTER 14

14 The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah concerning the droughts.

2 "Judah mourns,
And [a]her gates languish;
They [b]mourn for the land,

2 [a] 2 Kin. 25:3; Is. 3:26 [b] Jer. 8:21

13:16 Give glory to the LORD. Show by repentance and obedience to God that you respect His majesty.

13:18 king...queen mother. Jehoiachin and Nehushta, ca. 597 B.C. (cf. 22:24-26; 29:2; 2 Kin. 24:8-17). Because the king was only 18 years old, she held the real power.

13:19 wholly carried away. "All" and "wholly" do not require absolutely every individual, for Jeremiah elsewhere explains that some were to be slain and a remnant left in the land or fleeing to Egypt (chaps. 39–44).

13:23 Ethiopian...leopard. The vivid analogy assumes that sinners cannot change their sinful natures (cf. "incurably sick," 17:9, marginal note). Only God can change the heart (31:18,31-34).

13:26 uncover your skirts over your face. This was done to shame captive women and prostitutes (cf. Nah. 3:5).

13:27 lustful neighings. Refers to desire at an animal level, without conscience.

14:1 droughts. Jeremiah seems to actually give the prophecy of this chapter during a drought in Judah (vv. 2-6).

14:2 gates languish. The "gates" were the place of public concourse, which during drought and consequent famine were empty or occupied by mourners.

Object Lessons

The Linen Sash (13:1-11)
The Vessel Marred and Remade (18:1-11)
The Vessel Dashed upon the Rocks (19:10-11)
Two Baskets of Figs (24:1-10)
The Wooden and Iron Yokes (chaps. 27, 28)
The Purchase of Land (32:6-44)
The Stones in Egypt (43:8-10)

And [c]the cry of Jerusalem has gone up.
3 Their nobles have sent their lads for water;
They went to the cisterns and found no water.
They returned with their vessels empty;
They were [d]ashamed and confounded
[e]And covered their heads.
4 Because the ground is parched,
For there was [f]no rain in the land,
The plowmen were ashamed;
They covered their heads.
5 Yes, the deer also gave birth in the field,
But [1]left because there was no grass.
6 And [g]the wild donkeys stood in the desolate heights;
They sniffed at the wind like jackals;
Their eyes failed because there was no grass."

7 O LORD, though our iniquities testify against us,
Do it [h]for Your name's sake;
For our backslidings are many,
We have sinned against You.
8 [i]O the Hope of Israel, his Savior in time of trouble,
Why should You be like a stranger in the land,
And like a traveler who turns aside to tarry for a night?
9 Why should You be like a man astonished,
Like a mighty one [j]who cannot save?
Yet You, O LORD, [k]are in our midst,
And we are called by Your name;
Do not leave us!

10 Thus says the LORD to this people:

[l]"Thus they have loved to wander;
They have not restrained their feet.
Therefore the LORD does not accept them;
[m]He will remember their iniquity now,
And punish their sins."

11 Then the LORD said to me, [n]"Do not pray for this people, for their good.
12 [o]When they fast, I will not hear their cry; and [p]when they offer burnt offering and grain offering, I will not accept them. But [q]I will consume them by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence."
13 [r]Then I said, "Ah, Lord GOD! Behold, the prophets say to them, 'You shall not see the sword, nor shall you have famine, but I will give you [2]assured [s]peace in this place.' "
14 And the LORD said to me, [t]"The prophets prophesy lies in My name. [u]I have not sent them, commanded them, nor spoken to them; they prophesy to you a false vision, [3]divination, a worthless thing, and the [v]deceit of their heart. 15 Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the prophets who prophesy in My name, whom I did not send, [w]and who say, 'Sword and famine shall not be in this land'—'By sword and famine those prophets shall be consumed! 16 And the people to whom they prophesy shall be cast out in the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine and the sword; [x]they will have no one to bury them—them nor their wives, their sons nor their daughters—for I will pour their wickedness on them.'
17 "Therefore you shall say this word to them:

[y]'Let my eyes flow with tears night and day,
And let them not cease;
[z]For the virgin daughter of my people
Has been broken with a mighty stroke, with a very severe blow.
18 If I go out to [a]the field,
Then behold, those slain with the sword!

14:7 O LORD. Jeremiah from 14:7–15:21, pursues a series of prayers in which he dialogues with the Lord, who hears and responds (as 1:7; 12:5-17, etc.). Five rounds or exchanges occur (14:7-12; 14:13-18; 14:19–15:9; 15:10-14; 15:15-21).

14:7-9 our backslidings. The prophet confesses Judah's guilt but reminds God that His reputation is tied up with what happens to His people (vv. 7,9). He asks that the Lord be not indifferent as a foreigner or overnight visitor (v. 8).

14:10-12 God responded in this first exchange that 1) He must judge Judah for chronic sinfulness, and 2) Jeremiah is not to pray for the sparing of Judah nor will He respond to their prayers since unrepentance must be punished (cf. 11:14, and see note there).

14:13 the prophets say. Jeremiah seemed to put forth the excuse that the people cannot help it since the false prophets deluded them with lying assurances of peace.

14:14-18 The excuse was not valid. These were deceits spawned from the prophets' lying hearts. The prophets would suffer for their own sins (vv. 14,15), but so would the people for "their wickedness" (vv. 16-18; 5:31).

14:17 virgin daughter. Judah is so called, having never before been under foreign bondage.

And if I enter the city,
Then behold, those sick from famine!
Yes, both prophet and [b]priest go about in a land they do not know.' "

The People Plead for Mercy

19 [c]Have You utterly rejected Judah?
Has Your soul loathed Zion?
Why have You stricken us so that
[d]there is no healing for us?
[e]We looked for peace, but there was no good;
And for the time of healing, and there was trouble.
20 We acknowledge, O LORD, our wickedness
And the iniquity of our [f]fathers,
For [g]we have sinned against You.
21 Do not abhor us, for Your name's sake;
Do not disgrace the throne of Your glory.
[h]Remember, do not break Your covenant with us.
22 [i]Are there any among [j]the idols of the nations that can cause [k]rain?
Or can the heavens give showers?
[l]Are You not He, O LORD our God?
Therefore we will wait for You,
Since You have made all these.

The LORD Will Not Relent

15 Then the LORD said to me, [a]"Even if [b]Moses and [c]Samuel stood before Me, My [1]mind would not be favorable toward this people. Cast them out of My sight, and let them go forth. 2 And it shall be, if they say to you, 'Where should we go?' then you shall tell them, 'Thus says the LORD:

[d]"Such as are for death, to death;
And such as are for the sword, to the sword;

5 "For who will have pity on you, O Jerusalem?
Or who will bemoan you?
Or who will turn aside to ask how you are doing?
6 [j]You have forsaken Me," says the LORD,
"You have [k]gone backward.
Therefore I will stretch out My hand against you and destroy you;
[l]I am [2]weary of relenting!
7 And I will winnow them with a winnowing fan in the gates of the land;
I will [m]bereave them of children;
I will destroy My people,

Against the mother of the young men,
A plunderer at noonday;
I will cause anguish and terror to fall on them [o]suddenly.

9 "She[p] languishes who has borne seven;
She has breathed her last;
[q]Her sun has gone down
While it was yet day;
She has been ashamed and confounded.
And the remnant of them I will deliver to the sword
Before their enemies," says the LORD.

14:18 a land they do not know. Babylon.

14:19,20 Have You utterly rejected Judah? Lest the Lord be casting Judah off forever, the prophet in deep contrition confesses the nation's sin (cf. Dan. 9:4ff.).

14:21 the throne of Your glory. Jerusalem, place of the temple.

15:1-9 It was ineffective at this point to intercede for the nation. Even prayers by Moses (cf. Num. 14:11-25) and Samuel (cf. 1 Sam. 12:19-25), eminent in intercession, would not defer judgment, where unrepentance persists (cf. 18:8; 26:3). Chief among things provoking judgment was the intense sin of King Manasseh (695–642 B.C.). Noted in v. 4., this provocation is recounted in 2 Kin. 21:1-18, cf. 2 Kin. 23:26, which says the Lord did not relent from His anger because of this (see also 2 Kin. 24:3,4).

15:6 I am weary of relenting! God often withholds the judgment He threatens (cf. 26:19; Ex. 32:14; 1 Chr. 21:15), sparing men so that His patience might lead them to repentance (cf. Rom. 2:4,5; 3:25).

15:9 sun...gone down while...yet day. Young mothers die in youth and their children are killed.

Jeremiah's Dejection

10 [r]Woe is me, my mother,
That you have borne me,
A man of strife and a man of contention to the whole [3]earth!
I have neither lent for interest,
Nor have men lent to me for interest.
Every one of them curses me.

11 The LORD said:

"Surely it will be well with your remnant;
Surely I will cause [s]the enemy to intercede with you
In the time of adversity and in the time of affliction.
12 Can anyone break iron,
The northern iron and the bronze?
13 Your wealth and your treasures
I will give as [t]plunder without price,
Because of all your sins,
Throughout your territories.
14 And I will [4]make you cross over with your enemies
[u]Into a land which you do not know;
For a [v]fire is kindled in My anger,
Which shall burn upon you."

15 O LORD, [w]You know;
Remember me and [5]visit me,
And [x]take vengeance for me on my persecutors.
In Your enduring patience, do not take me away.
Know that [y]for Your sake I have suffered rebuke.
16 Your words were found, and I [z]ate
them,
And [a]Your word was to me the joy and rejoicing of my heart;
For I am called by Your name,
O LORD God of hosts.

17 [b]I did not sit in the assembly of the mockers,
Nor did I rejoice;
I sat alone because of Your hand,
For You have filled me with indignation.
18 Why is my [c]pain perpetual
And my wound incurable,
Which refuses to be healed?
Will You surely be to me [d]like an unreliable stream,
As waters that [6]fail?

The LORD Reassures Jeremiah

19 Therefore thus says the LORD:

[e]"If you return,
Then I will bring you back;
You shall [f]stand before Me;
If you [g]take out the precious from the vile,
You shall be as My mouth.
Let them return to you,
But you must not return to them.
20 And I will make you to this people
a fortified bronze [h]wall;
And they will fight against you,
But [i]they shall not prevail against
you;
For I am with you to save you
And deliver you," says the LORD.
21 "I will deliver you from the hand of
the wicked,
And I will redeem you from the grip of the terrible."

Jeremiah's Life-Style and Message

16 The word of the LORD also came to me, saying, 2 "You shall not take a wife, nor shall you have sons or daughters in this place." 3 For thus says the LORD concerning the sons and daughters who are born in this place, and concerning their mothers who bore them and their fathers who begot them in this land: 4 "They shall

15:10 Woe is me. Overcome by grief (cf. 9:1), Jeremiah wished that he had not been born (as 20:14-18). He had not been a bad or disagreeable creditor or debtor, either of whom kindle hatred. Yet his people cursed him, and he felt the sting.

15:11-14 In the midst of judgment, the Lord promised protection for the obedient remnant in Judah (cf. Mal. 3:16,17). The Babylonians permitted some to stay in the land when they departed (40:5-7). Jeremiah personally received kind treatment from the invader (40:1-6), and his enemies in Judah would later appeal to him (21:1-6; 37:3; 42:1-6). Ultimately, a band of renegade Judeans took Jeremiah to Egypt against God's will (cf. 43:1-7).

15:15-18 O LORD, You know. Jeremiah, in a mood of self-pity, reminded the Lord of his faithfulness in bearing reproach, his love for His word, and his separation from evil men to stand alone.

15:18 an unreliable stream. He asked that the Lord not fail him like a wadi that has dried up (v. 18). The answer to this concern is in 2:13 (the Lord is his fountain), 15:19-21, and 17:5-8.

15:19 The Lord reprimanded Jeremiah for self-pity and impatience. He had to have the proper posture before God and repent. If he did so, he would discern true values ("take out the precious," a figure drawn from removing pure metal from dross), and have the further privilege of being God's mouthpiece. Let sinners change to his values, but let him never compromise to theirs. As a man who is to assay and test others (6:27-30), he must first assay himself (cf. Moses, in Ex. 4:22-26).

15:20,21 When Jeremiah repents, God will protect him (vv. 20,21, as 1:18,19).

16:2 You shall not take a wife. Since destruction and exile are soon to fall on Judah, the prophet must not have a wife and family. God's kindness will keep him from anxiety over them in the awful situation of suffering and death (v. 4). Cf. 15:9 and 1 Cor. 7:26.

die [a]gruesome deaths; they shall not be [b]lamented nor shall they be [c]buried, but they shall be [d]like refuse on the face of the earth. They shall be consumed by the sword and by famine, and their [e]corpses shall be meat for the birds of heaven and for the beasts of the earth."

5 For thus says the LORD: [f]"Do not enter the house of mourning, nor go to lament or bemoan them; for I have taken away My peace from this people," says the LORD, "lovingkindness and mercies. 6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land. They shall not be buried; [g]neither shall men lament for them, [h]cut themselves, nor [i]make themselves bald for them. 7 Nor shall men break bread in mourning for them, to comfort them for the dead; nor shall men give them the cup of consolation to [j]drink for their father or their mother. 8 Also you shall not go into the house of feasting to sit with them, to eat and drink."

9 For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Behold, [k]I will cause to cease from this place, before your eyes and in your days, the voice of [l]mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride.

10 "And it shall be, when you show this people all these words, and they say to you, [l]'Why has the LORD pronounced all this great disaster against us? Or what is our iniquity? Or what is our sin that we have committed against the LORD our God?' 11 then you shall say to them, [m]'Because your fathers have forsaken Me,' says the LORD; 'they have walked after other gods and have served them and worshiped them, and have forsaken Me and not kept My law. 12 And you have done [n]worse than your fathers, for behold, [o]each one [2]follows the dictates of his own evil heart, so that no one listens to Me. 13 [p]Therefore I will cast you out of this land [q]into a land that you do not know, neither you nor your fathers; and there you shall serve other gods day and night, where I will not show you favor.'

CHAPTER 17

1 [a] Jer. 2:22 [b] Job 19:24 [c] Prov. 3:3; 7:3; Is. 49:16; 2 Cor. 3:3

God Will Restore Israel

14 "Therefore behold, the [r]days are coming," says the LORD, "that it shall no more be said, 'The LORD lives who brought up the children of Israel from the land of Egypt,' 15 but, 'The LORD lives who brought up the children of Israel from the land of the [s]north and from all the lands where He had driven them.' For [t]I will bring them back into their land which I gave to their fathers.

16 "Behold, I will send for many [u]fishermen," says the LORD, "and they shall fish them; and afterward I will send for many hunters, and they shall hunt them from every mountain and every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks. 17 For My [v]eyes are on all their ways; they are not hidden from My face, nor is their iniquity hidden from My eyes. 18 And first I will repay [w]double for their iniquity and their sin, because [x]they have defiled My land; they have filled My inheritance with the carcasses of their detestable and abominable idols."

19 O LORD, [y]my strength and my fortress,
[z]My refuge in the day of affliction,
The Gentiles shall come to You
From the ends of the earth and say,
"Surely our fathers have inherited lies,
Worthlessness and [a]unprofitable things."
20 Will a man make gods for himself,
[b]Which are not gods?

21 "Therefore behold, I will this once cause them to know,
I will cause them to know
My hand and My might;
And they shall know that [c]My name is the LORD.

Judah's Sin and Punishment

With the point of a diamond it is [c]engraved

16:5 house of mourning. This was a home where friends prepared a meal for a bereaved family. Don't mourn with them or rejoice, he is told (cf. v. 8).

16:6 cut...bald. These acts indicated extreme grief.

16:10-13 Why...? Jeremiah was to explain the reason for the judgment, i.e., their forsaking God and worshiping false gods (v. 11; 2:13). They would get their fill of idols in Babylon (v. 13).

16:14,15 no more be said. In view of the Lord's promise of restoration from Babylon, the proof of God's redemptive power and faithfulness in the deliverance from Egypt would give way to a greater demonstration in the deliverance of His people from Babylon. That bondage was to be so severe that deliverance from Babylon was a greater relief than from Egypt.

16:15 all the lands. This reference is extensive enough to be fully realized only in the final gathering into Messiah's earthly kingdom.

16:16 many fishermen...hunters. These are references to Babylonian soldiers, who were doing God's judgment work (v. 17).

16:18 repay double. The word for "double" signified "full or complete," a fitting punishment for such severe sins.

16:19-21 The result of God's judgment on the Jews will be the end of idolatry; even some Gentiles, witnessing the severity, will renounce idols. After the return from Babylon, this was partly fulfilled as the Jews entirely and permanently renounced idols, and many Gentiles turned from their idols to Jehovah. However, the complete fulfillment will come in the final restoration of Israel (cf. Is. 2:1-4; 49:6; 60:3).

17:1 The sin of Judah. Reasons for the judgment (chap. 16) con-

On the tablet of their heart,
And on the horns of your altars,
2 While their children remember
Their altars and their [d]wooden[1] images
By the green trees on the high hills.
3 O My mountain in the field,
I will give as plunder your wealth, all your treasures,
And your high places of sin within all your borders.
4 And you, even yourself,
Shall let go of your heritage which I gave you;
And I will cause you to serve your enemies
In [e]the land which you do not know;
For [f]you have kindled a fire in My anger which shall burn forever."

5 Thus says the LORD:

[g]"Cursed is the man who trusts in man
And makes [h]flesh his [2]strength,
Whose heart departs from the LORD.
6 For he shall be [i]like a shrub in the desert,
And [j]shall not see when good comes,
But shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness,
[k]In a salt land which is not inhabited.

7 "Blessed[1] is the man who trusts in the LORD,
And whose hope is the LORD.
8 For he shall be [m]like a tree planted by the waters,
Which spreads out its roots by the river,
And will not [3]fear when heat comes;
But its leaf will be green,
And will not be anxious in the year of drought,
Nor will cease from yielding fruit.

9 "The [n]heart is deceitful above all things,
And [4]desperately wicked;
Who can know it?
10 I, the LORD, [o]search the heart,
I test the [5]mind,
[p]Even to give every man according to his ways,
According to the fruit of his doings.

11 "As a partridge that [6]broods but does not hatch,
So is he who gets riches, but not by right;
It [q]will leave him in the midst of his days,
And at his end he will be [r]a fool."

12 A glorious high throne from the beginning
Is the place of our sanctuary.
13 O LORD, [s]the hope of Israel,
[t]All who forsake You shall be ashamed.

"Those who depart from Me
Shall be [u]written in the earth,
Because they have forsaken the LORD,
The [v]fountain of living waters."

Jeremiah Prays for Deliverance

Save me, and I shall be saved,
For [w]You are my praise.

Let it come now!"

tinue here: 1) idolatry (vv. 1-4), 2) relying on the flesh (v. 5), and 3) dishonesty in amassing wealth (v. 11). pen of iron. The names of idols were engraved on the horns of their altars with such a tool. The idea is that Judah's sin was permanent, etched in them as if into stone. How much different to have God's word written on the heart (31:33).

17:3 My mountain in the field. Jerusalem in Judah.

17:4 land...you do not know. Babylon.

17:5-8 Cursed is the man. Jeremiah contrasted the person who experiences barrenness (vv. 5,6) with the one who receives blessing (vv. 7,8). The difference in attitude is in "trust" placed in man or "trust" vested in the Lord (vv. 5,7). And the contrast in vitality is between being like a parched dwarf juniper in the desert (v. 6) or a tree drawing sustenance from a stream to bear fruit (v. 8; cf. Ps. 1:1-3).

17:10 I...search the heart. For the sin of man (vv. 1-4), for the barren man (vv. 5,6), or the blessed man (vv. 7,8), God is the final Judge and renders His judgment for their works (cf. Rev. 20:11-15). By Him, actions are weighed (1 Sam. 2:3).

17:11 a partridge. This referred to a sand grouse which invaded and brooded over a nest not its own, but was forced to leave before the eggs hatched. It depicted a person who unjustly took possession of things he had no right to take and couldn't enjoy the benefits, despite all the effort.

17:14-18 Jeremiah voiced the prayerful cry that God would deliver him from his enemies (v. 14). Surrounded by ungodly people (vv. 1-6,11,13), he showed qualities of godliness: 1) God was his praise (v. 14); 2) he had a shepherd's heart to follow God (v. 16); 3) he was a man of prayer open to God's examination (v. 16); 4) God was his hope (v. 17); and 5) he trusted God's delivering faithfulness even in judgment (v. 18).

16 As for me, [v]I have not hurried away from being a shepherd who follows You,
Nor have I desired the woeful day;
You know what came out of my
lips;
It was right there before You.
17 Do not be a terror to me;
[z]You are my hope in the day of doom.
18 [a]Let them be ashamed who persecute me,
But [b]do not let me be put to shame;
Let them be dismayed,
But do not let me be dismayed.
Bring on them the day of doom,
And [c]destroy[7] them with double destruction!

Hallow the Sabbath Day

19 Thus the LORD said to me: "Go and stand in the gate of the children of the people, by which the kings of Judah come in and by which they go out, and in all the gates of Jerusalem; 20 and say to them, [d]'Hear the word of the LORD, you kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, who enter by these gates. 21 Thus says the LORD: [e]"Take heed to yourselves, and bear no burden on the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Jerusalem; 22 nor carry a burden out of your houses on the Sabbath day, nor do any work, but hallow the Sabbath day, as I [f]commanded your fathers. 23 [g]But they did not obey nor incline their ear, but [8]made their neck stiff, that they might not hear nor receive instruction.

24 "And it shall be, [h]if you heed Me carefully," says the LORD, "to bring no burden through the gates of this city on the [i]Sabbath day, but hallow the Sabbath day, to do no work in it, 25 [j]then shall enter the gates of this city kings and princes sitting on the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horses, they and their princes, accompanied by the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and this city shall remain forever. 26 And they shall come from the cities of Judah and from [k]the places around Jerusalem, from the land of Benjamin and from [l]the [9]lowland, from the mountains and from [m]the [1]South, bringing burnt offerings and sacrifices, grain offerings and incense, bringing [n]sacrifices of praise to the house of the LORD.

27 "But if you will not heed Me to hallow the Sabbath day, such as not carrying a burden when entering the gates of Jerusalem on the Sabbath day, then [o]I will kindle a fire in its gates, [p]and it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem, and it shall not be [q]quenched." ' "

The Potter and the Clay

CHAPTER 18

18 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying: 2 "Arise and go down to the potter's house, and there I will cause you to hear My words." 3 Then I went down to the potter's house, and there he was, making something at the [1]wheel. 4 And the vessel that he [2]made of clay was [3]marred in the hand of the potter; so he made it again into another vessel, as it seemed good to the potter to make.

5 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying: 6 "O house of Israel, [a]can I not do with you as this potter?" says the LORD. "Look, [b]as the clay is in the potter's hand, so are you in My hand, O house of Israel! 7 The instant I speak concerning a nation and concerning a kingdom, to [c]pluck up, to pull down, and to destroy it, 8 [d]if that nation against whom I have spoken turns from its evil, [e]I will relent of the disaster that I thought to bring upon it. 9 And the instant I speak concerning a nation and concerning a kingdom, to build and to plant it, 10 if it does evil in My sight so that it does not obey My voice, then I will relent concerning the good with which I said I would benefit it.

11 "Now therefore, speak to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem,

17:21-24 Sabbath day. Not only had the Jews failed to observe Sabbath days, but also the required Sabbath year of rest for the Land (Lev. 25:1-7) was regularly violated. God had warned that such disobedience would bring judgment (Lev. 26:34,35,43; 2 Chr. 36:20,21). The 70 year captivity was correlated to the 490 years from Saul to the captivity, which included 70 Sabbath years. When the Jews were restored from captivity, special stress was placed on Sabbath faithfulness (cf. Neh. 13:19).

17:25-27 For obedience, God would assure the dynasty of David perpetual rule in Jerusalem, safety for the city, and worship at the temple (vv. 25,26). Continued disobedience would meet with destruction of the city (v. 27).

18:1–20:18 A close link exists between chap. 17 and chaps. 18–20. Destruction is in view (chap. 17), but repentance can yet prevent that (18:7,8). However, repentance was not present (18:12), so Jeremiah's shattered flask illustrated God's dashing Israel in judgment (chap. 19). Then the rejection spirit (cf. 19:15) led to persecution against God's mouthpiece (chap. 20).

18:2-6 potter's house. God sent Jeremiah to a potter, who gave him an illustration by shaping a vessel. The prophet secured a vessel and used it for his own illustration (19:1ff.). Jeremiah watched the potter at his wheel. The soft clay became misshapen, but the potter shaped it back into a good vessel. God will so do with Judah if she repents.

18:8-10 Though He had announced impending judgment, the "marred" nation can be restored as a good vessel by God, who will hold off the judgment (vv. 8,11). By contrast, if the nation followed sin, He would not bring the blessing desired (vv. 9,10).

saying, 'Thus says the LORD: "Behold, I am fashioning a disaster and devising a plan against you. [f]Return now every one from his evil way, and make your ways and your doings [g]good." ' "

God's Warning Rejected

12 And they said, [h]"That is hopeless! So we will walk according to our own plans, and we will every one [4]obey the [i]dictates[5] of his evil heart."

13 Therefore thus says the LORD:

[j]"Ask now among the Gentiles,
Who has heard such things?
The virgin of Israel has done [k]a very horrible thing.

14 Will a man [6]leave the snow water of Lebanon,
Which comes from the rock of the field?
Will the cold flowing waters be forsaken for strange waters?

15 "Because My people have forgotten [l]Me,
They have burned incense to worthless idols.
And they have caused themselves to stumble in their ways,
From the [m]ancient paths,
To walk in pathways and not on a highway,

16 To make their land [n]desolate and a perpetual [o]hissing;
Everyone who passes by it will be astonished
And shake his head.

17 [p]I will scatter them [q]as with an east wind before the enemy;
[r]I will [7]show them the back and not the face
In the day of their calamity."

Jeremiah Persecuted

18 Then they said, [s]"Come and let us devise plans against Jeremiah; [t]for the law shall not perish from the priest, nor counsel from the wise, nor the word from the prophet. Come and let us attack him with the tongue, and let us not give heed to any of his words."

19 Give heed to me, O LORD,
And listen to the voice of those who contend with me!

20 [u]Shall evil be repaid for good?
For they have [v]dug a pit for my life.
Remember that I [w]stood before You
To speak good [8]for them,
To turn away Your wrath from them.

21 Therefore [x]deliver up their children to the famine,
And pour out their blood
By the force of the sword;
Let their wives become widows
And [y]bereaved of their children.
Let their men be put to death,
Their young men be slain
By the sword in battle.

22 Let a cry be heard from their houses,
When You bring a troop suddenly upon them;
For they have dug a pit to take me,
And hidden snares for my feet.

23 Yet, LORD, You know all their counsel
Which is against me, to slay me.
[z]Provide no atonement for their iniquity,
Nor blot out their sin from Your sight;
But let them be overthrown before You.
Deal thus with them
In the time of Your [a]anger.
