bound for Rome in one of the Lycian ports (ABD, 1:80; BASHH, 133; BAFCS, 3:375). μέλλοντι pres. act. part. (adj.) μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to, w. inf. to express the immediate fut. πλεῖν pres. act. inf. πλέω (# 4434) to sail. ἀνήχθημεν aor. ind. pass. ἀνάγω (# 343) to put out to sea. ὄντος pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Gen. abs. Aristarchus, a Macedonian of Thessalonica, is called a fellow prisoner by Paul in his letter to the Colossians (VSSP, 64; s. 19:29; 20:4; Col. 4:10). ◆ 3 τῇ τε ἑτέρᾳ (# 5445; 2283) and on another (the next) (day). Dat. of time. κατήχθημεν aor. ind. pass. κατάγω (# 2864) to lead down; pass., used of ships and seafarers, to put in at a harbor (BAGD). From Caesarea to Sidon was approximately 67 miles, so they must have had a fair or at least a leading wind, probably westerly (VSSP, 64). The stop was probably to load or unload cargo (Polhill; VSSP, 64). φιλανθρώπως (# 5793) adv. humanely, kindly. χρησάμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. χράομαι (# 5968) to use, to deal w., to show to, to conduct oneself in a particular manner w. regards to some person, w. dat.(LN, 1:505). Causal or circum. part. ἐπέτρεψεν aor. ind. act. ἐπιτρέπω (# 2225) to allow, w. inf. πορευθέντι aor. pass. (dep.) part. dat. sing. πορεύομαι (# 4513) to go. Adj. part. as instr. dat. ("by coming to his friends"), or circum. part. Paul was permitted to see his friends, but probably under the watchful eye of a soldier (BAFCS, 3:270). ἐπιμέλεια (# 2149) attention, care. Although the word appears in medical writers for the care and attention for the sick (MLL, 269-70), it had a wider range of usages, including providing the material assistance for sustaining life (TLNT; BAFCS, 3:223-24). Here it may indicate that Paul obtained from them the things necessary for the voyage (Alford). τυχεῖν aor. act. inf. τυγχάνω (# 5593) to obtain, to receive, w. gen. Inf. w. vb. ◆ 4 κἀκεῖθεν (# 2796) and from there. ἀναχθέντες aor. pass. part. s.v. 2. ὑπεπλεύσαμεν aor. ind. act. ὑποπλέω (# 5709) to sail by the side of an island in such a way that the island protects the ship from the wind (BAGD). ἀνέμους acc. pl. ἄνεμος (# 449) wind. The prevailing wind through the summer months was west or northwest so the ship sailed east and north of the island (Bruce; for the various winds s. BC, 5:338-44; Colin J. Hemer, "Euraquilo and Melita," JTS 26 [1975]: 100-111; SSAW, 270-73; Pliny, NH, 2:117-31). εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί s.v. 2. Inf. w. prep. διά (# 1328) to express cause. ἐναντίος (# 1885) contrary, against. ◆ 5 πέλαγος (# 4283) open sea. διαπλεύσαντες aor. act. part. (temp.) διαπλέω (# 1386) to sail across. κατήλθομεν aor. ind. act. κατέρχομαι (# 2982) to come down. Μύρα Myra. This was a principal port for the Alexandrian grain-ships, and was precisely the place where Julius would expect to find a ship sailing to Italy in the imperial service (BASHH, 134; SSAW, 297). The Western text says that it took 15 days (δι' ἡμερῶν δεκαπέντε) (TC, 497; BC, 3:241), which is a fair estimate (Marshall). ◆ 6 κἀκεῖ (# 2795) and there. εὑρών aor. act. part. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. πλοῖον (# 4450) acc. sing. ship. For ancient ships like this one s. VSSP, 181-244; B.M. Rapske, "Acts, Travel and Shipwreck," BAFCS, 2:29-35; N. Hirschfeld, "Part I: The Ship of Saint Paul – Historical Background;" M. A. Fitzgerald, "Part II: The Ship of Saint Paul–Comparative Archaeology," BA 53 [1990]; Elisha Linder, "Excavating an Ancient Merchantman," BAR 18 [1992]: 24-35; SSAW, 157-200). πλέον pres. act. part. (adj.) acc. n. sing. s.v. 2. ἐνεβίβασεν aor. ind. act. ἐμβιβάζω (# 1837) to cause to enter, to put on board. The ship they got on seems to have been a grain ship. Egypt was the chief granary of Rome and the grain trade between Rome and Egypt was of the greatest importance (Bruce; for the important grain traffic s. Rapske, "Acts, Travel and Shipwreck," BAFCS, 2:25-29; NDIEC, 7:112-29; BBC). ◆ 7 ἱκανός (# 2653) many. βραδυπλοοῦντες pres. act. part. (temp.) βραδυπλοέω (# 1095) to sail slowly. μόλις (# 3660) w. difficulty. γενόμενοι aor. mid. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to be, to become. Temp. or circum. part. The words express the delays which a ship experiences in working windward (VSSP, 75). κατὰ τὴν Κνίδον (# 2848; 3118) down along Cndius. Cndius was a seaport on the western tip of a peninsula jutting into the Mediterranean between the islands of Cos and Rhodes (ABD, 1:1066-67). προσεῶντος pres. act. part. (causal) προσεάω (# 4661) to permit to go farther. Gen. abs. With northwest winds and a westerly current, the ship was able to slowly make its way from Myra to Cndius; when unfavorable wind did not allow them to continue sailing westward, they had to turn south and sail under Crete in the direction of Salmone (Strabo, Geography, 3:17; BASHH, 135-36; VSSP, 76-77). ὑπεπλεύσαμεν aor. ind. act. s.v. 4. ◆ 8 παραλεγόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. (circum.) παραλέγομαι (# 4162) a nautical t.t., to sail past, to coast along (BAGD). This was doubtless by hugging the shore and using every breach of land breeze that they managed to creep slowly along (LC). ἤλθομεν aor. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. καλούμενον pres. pass. part. (adj.) καλέω (# 2813) to call; pass; to be named. Λιμένας acc. pl. λιμήν (# 3348) harbor, port; here, "Fair Havens." The farthest point which an ancient ship, navigating under the lee of Crete, could reach w. northwest winds. It was a small bay protected by islands, but was not a very good winter harbor (VSSP, 81-84; Bruce; BASHH, 136; ABD, 2:744). ◆ 9 διαγενομένου aor. mid. (dep.) part. (temp.) διαγίνομαι (# 1335) to come in between, to intervene, to pass. Gen. abs. ὄντος pres. act. part. (causal) εἰμί s.v. 2. Gen. abs. ἐπισφαλής (# 2195) dangerous. πλοῦς (# 4453) voyage, navigation. The period from May 27 to September 14 was safe for sea travel; from March 10 to May 26 and from September 14 to November 11, when weather and sea conditions were quite changeable, it was considered risky. The period from November 11 to March 10 was extremely dangerous. The danger was not only storms, but also the reduced visibility of the sun and stars (which was essential for navigation) caused by persistent cloud cover in these months (Rapske, "Acts, Travel and Shipwreck," BAFCS, 2:24; Williams; NDIEC, 4:115-16). καί (# 2779) even. νηστεία (# 3763) fast. The Fast was the Day of Atonement. In A.D. 59 the Fast was on October 5th and Luke indicates travel was more dangerous than ever (Bruce; LC). This was probably just before the Feast of Tabernacles (5 days after the Fast), which the Jews considered to be the beginning of the dangerous time for sea travel (SB, 2:771-72; BASHH, 137-38). παρεληλυθέναι perf. act. inf. παρέρχομαι (# 4216) to pass by. Inf. w. διά (# 1328) to express cause. παρήνει impf. ind. act. παραινέω to warn, to offer advice, to indicate strongly to someone what he should plan to do, to advise strongly, to urge (LN, 1:422). Impf. pictures the repeated action. ◆ 10 λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Part. introduces the content of the advice. ἄνδρες voc. pl. ἀνήρ (# 467) man. θεωρῶ pres. ind. act. θεωρέω (# 2555) to see, to perceive, to come to understand as a result of perception (LN, 1:381). ὕβρις (# 5615) injury, disaster, damage caused by the elements (BAGD; TDNT). The word could be used of a loss at sea (Williams). For shipping contracts limiting liability in the case of loss by an act of God s. NDIEC, 6:83-86. ζημία (# 2422) loss. φορτίου (# 5845) gen. sing. freight, cargo. Obj. gen., "loss of cargo." καί (# 2779) also. μέλλειν pres. act. inf. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to; w. inf to express immediate fut. Inf. in indir. discourse after the vb. θεωρῶ. ἔσεσθαι fut. mid. (dep.) inf. εἰμί s.v. 2. "The voyage is going to be..." (VA, 489; MKG, 308). ◆ 11 κυβερνήτῃ dat. sing. κυβερνήτης (# 3237) pilot, a professional navigator, the officer responsible for its safe navigation and for the discipline of the crew (LC; TLNT, 2:543; SSAW, 300-302, 316). Dat. as obj. of the vb. ναύκληρος (# 3729) captain, owner, one leasing a ship, transport official; here, he could have been a merchant ship owner, who usually acted as captain of his own ship, or one who is chartering to transport grain for Rome (Bruce; PTR, 324f; TLNT; BASHH, 138-39; NDIEC, 4:116-17; SSAW, 314-21). ἐπείθετο impf. ind. mid. (dep.) πείθω (# 4275) to yield, to persuade; mid. to be persuaded, to obey, w. dat. μᾶλλον ... ἤ (# 3437; 2445) rather than. λεγομένοις pres. pass. part. s.v. 10. Adj. part. as subst.: "that which was spoken by Paul." ◆ 12 ἀνεύθετος (# 460) unsuitable. ὑπάρχοντος pres. act. part. (causal) ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to exist, to be. Gen. abs. παραχειμασία (# 4200) wintering. πλείονες comp. πολύς (# 4498) much; comp., the majority, most (BAGD, 689). ἔθεντο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to put; here "to take counsel," "to give counsel." ἀναχθῆναι aor. pass. inf. s.v. 2. Epex. inf. explaining the counsel. δύναιντο pres. opt. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. Opt. in a 4th class cond. cl. w. the idea of purp. implied (RWP; VA, 311-12). καταντήσαντες aor. act. part. καταντάω (# 2918) to come, to arrive. Part. of means ("by arriving"), or temp. ("after arriving"). Φοῖνιξ (# 5837) Phoenix. For the location of the harbor as being Phineka, on the coast of Crete a few miles farther west s. R. M. Ogilvie, "Phoenix," JTS n.s. 9 (1958): 308-14; BASHH, 139-40; Polhill; NDIEC, 4:115; Raspke, "Acts, Travel and Shipwreck," BAFCS, 2:37. παραχειμάσαι aor. act. inf. παραχειμάζω (# 4199) to spend the winter. βλέποντα pres. act. part. (adj.) βλέπω (# 1063) to see, to look. κατὰ λίβα (# 2848; 3355) southwest. κατὰ χῶρον (# 2848; 6008) northwest (BASHH, 139-40; Polhill). ◆ 13 ὑποπνεύσαντος aor. act. part. (temp.) ὑποπνέω (# 5710) to blow under, to blow softly, gently. Gen. abs. νότος (# 3803) south wind. δόξαντες aor. act. part. (circum.) δοκέω (# 1506) to suppose, to seem, to appear to, w. inf. πρόθεσις (# 4606) plan, purpose. κεκρατηκέναι perf. act. inf. κρατέω (# 3195) to seize, to obtain. The south wind was ideal for reaching Phoenix, enabling them to cling to the coast around Cape Matala, about 4 miles west, and then bear west-northwest across the bay of Mesará, some 34 miles to Phoenix (BASHH, 141; VSSP, 97-98). ἄραντες aor. act. part. (circum.) αἴρω (# 149) to lift up, to take up, to weigh anchor. ἆσσον (# 839) comp. ἄγχι until; comp., nearer, closer (BAGD). παρελέγοντο impf. ind. mid. (dep.) s.v. 8. ◆ 14 μετ' οὐ πολύ after not much time. ἔβαλεν aor. ind. act. βάλλω (# 965) to throw, to dash, to rush. Here in this context, "there rushed down from it (Crete)" (Bruce; for the use of the prep. w. gen. meaning "down from," s. RG, 606). τυφωνικός (# 5607) tempestuous. The word refers to the whirling motion of the clouds and sea caused by the meeting of opposite currents of air like a typhoon (Bruce; VSSP, 102-3). For adjs. w. this suffix meaning "pertaining to," "w. the characteristic of," s. MH, 378. Perhaps as the ship rounded Cape Matala a violent wind rushed down, striking the ship broadside (Polhill). Εὐρακύλων (# 2350) northeast wind, Euraquilo, "Northeaster," the deadly winter storm known by the sailors as the gregale (BASHH, 141-42; Colin J. Hemer, "Euraquilo and Melita," JTS 26 [1975]: 100-11; BC, 5:344; Polhill; Raspke, "Acts, Travel and Shipwreck," BAFCS, 2:38-39). ◆ 15 συναρπασθέντος aor. pass. part. (circum.) συναρπάζω (# 5275) to seize violently. It was as if the ship was seized by a great monster (RWP). Gen. abs. δυναμένου pres. mid./pass. (dep.) part. w. inf. s.v. 12. ἀντοφθαλμεῖν pres. act. inf. ἀντοφθαλμέω (# 535) to face into; lit. "facing the eye." Perhaps the origin of the phrase lay in the custom of putting an eye on each side of the bow of the ship (VSSP, 98; Williams). ἐπιδόντες aor. act. part. (circum.) ἐπιδίδωμι (# 2113) to give way to, w. dat. ἐφερόμεθα impf. ind. pass. φέρω (# 5770) to carry; here, "we were being carried," "we were being driven." Impf. pictures the continual action. ◆ 16 νησίον (# 3761) little island. For the possibility that some nouns w. this ending do not have a dimin. meaning s. MH, 340ff. ὑποδραμόντες aor. act. part. ὑποτρέχω (# 5720) to run under (for protection against the wind). The sailors knew that their only hope was in the smooth waters behind Cauda; thus they kept the ship w. its head in the wind and let it drift w. the right side towards the wind (PTR, 328). καλούμενον pres. pass. part. s.v. 8. Καῦδα (# 3007) Cauda. A small island 23 miles south of Crete. As the ship passed by the island, it gave the crew time to make some preparations for the storm (ABD, 1:878; VSSP, 95-96). ἰσχύσαμεν aor. ind. act. ἰσχύω (# 2710) to have the strength to, to be able to, w. inf. μόλις s.v. 7. περικρατὴς (# 4331) having power, bringing in command. Used here w. the inf., "to get the boat under control" (BAGD). γενέσθαι aor. mid. inf. s.v. 7. σκάφης gen. sing. σκάφη (# 5002) dinghy, a small boat which was sometimes towed or sometimes kept on deck, used for landing or for pulling the ship's head around or for unloading cargo (LC; SSAW, 330; 335-36). The Latin t.t. was scapha. The difficulty of bringing in the boat was no doubt due to its being waterlogged (BASHH, 143). Gen. w. the adj., "control over." ◆ 17 ἄραντες aor. act. part. (temp.) s.v. 13. βοηθείαις dat. pl. βοήθεια (# 1069) help; pl. helps, tackle. It means either ropes, sails, or perhaps the maneuvers dictated by the professional skill of the sailors (LC). Here it probably refers to the cables used to secure the ship (BASHH, 143). ἐχρῶντο impf. ind. mid. (dep.) χράομαι (# 5968) to use, w. dat. ὑποζωννύντες pres. act. part. ὑποζώννυμι (# 5690) to undergird, to brace. A nautical t.t. used of securing the ship. This could be done in a number of ways: (1) by placing exterior cables transversely around the bottom of the hull, called "frapping," probably the best solution; (2) by exterior cables longitudinally around the hull from bow to stern on either side; (3) transverse interior braces across the hold; (4) interior braces lengthwise across the hold (Henry J. Cadbury, "Ὑποζώματα," BC, 5:345-54; VSSP, 108-9; BASHH, 143; Polhill; SSAW, 91-92). Part. of purp. or explaining the use of the helps. One possible reason for securing the ship in this manner is that the wet grain could expand and split the ship (Raspke, "Acts, Travel and Shipwreck," BAFCS, 2:35). φοβούμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. (circum.) φοβέομαι (# 5828) to be afraid, to fear. μή (# 3590) lest, used after a vb. of fear expressing apprehension (BD, 188). τὴν Σύρτιν (# 5358) the Syrtis. This extensive zone of sandbars and quicksands of the coast of North Africa, some 400 miles south of Cauda, was notorious as a navigational hazard and often mentioned in first-century literature in this regards ("Syrtey, whose very name strikes terror," Jos., JW, 2:381; BASHH, 144; Polhill; Pliny, NH, 5:26-28). ἐκπέσωσιν aor. subj. act. ἐκπίπτω (# 1738) nautical t.t., to drift off course, to run aground (BAGD; Schneider). Subj. after a vb. of fearing. χαλάσαντες aor. act. part. (circum.) χαλάω (# 5899) to lower, to let down. σκεῦος (# 5007) acc. sing. gear. The phrase "lowering the gear" could mean either lowering the sail, dropping the sea anchor, or lowering such gear as sail, rigging, anchors, cables, etc.; that is, removing all superfluous sail and rigging (Bruce; VSSP, 111-12; BASHH, 143). ἐφέροντο impf. ind. pass. s.v. 15. Impf. pictures the continual action. ◆ 18 σφοδρῶς (# 5380) adv. very, exceedingly. χειμαζομένων pres. pass. part. χειμάζομαι (# 5928) to expose to bad weather, to toss in a storm. Gen. abs. τῇ ἐξῆς (# 2009) on the following (day). ἐκβολή (# 1678) throwing out, jettisoning. ἐποιοῦντο impf. ind. mid. (dep.) ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make. w. the subst.; as a t.t. for throwing the cargo overboard in order to save the ship (LC; Schneider). Incep. impf., "they began to throw things overboard." ◆ 19 τῇ τρίτῃ (# 5569) on the third (day) (dat. of time). αὐτόχειρες (# 901) with their own hands. This emphatic word marks a climax of precautionary operations (Bruce). σκεύη (# 5006) gear, presumably spare sails and tackle (LC; Bruce; Schneider). ἔρριψαν aor. ind. act. ῥίπτω (# 4849) to throw, to hurl. ◆ 20 ἥλιος (# 2463) sun. ἄστρων (# 843) star. The sun and stars were used in navigation. ἐπιφαινόντων pres. act. part. ἐπιφαίνω (# 2210) to appear. Gen. abs., temp. or causal. χειμών (# 5930) storm. ὀλίγου (# 3900) little, small. Used in the sense of degree: οὐκ ὀλίγος "not a small," that is, "great," "severe" (BAGD). ἐπικειμένου pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐπίκειμαι (# 2130) to lie upon. Used to describe the pressure of a violent tempest (T); gen. abs. λοιπόν (# 3370) finally. περιῃρεῖτο impf. ind. pass. περιαιρέω (# 4311) to take away, to remove. The force of the prep. compound could be local, but is perhaps better as intensive (MH, 321). Impf. implies that the situation was continually getting worse (Bruce). σῴζεσθαι pres. pass. inf. σῴζω (# 5392) to save, to rescue, to deliver. Epex. inf. explaining the hope. ◆ 21 ἀσιτία (# 826) without food. They had no appetite. For the medical use of this word, s. MLL, 276; DMTG, 82. ὑπαρχούσης pres. act. part. (temp.) s.v. 12. Gen. abs. σταθείς aor. pass. part. (circum.) ἵστημι (# 2705) to put; aor. pass., to stand, to step up or to stand to say something or make a speech (BAGD). εἶπεν aor. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἔδει impf. ind. act. δεῖ (# 1256) it is necessary, w. inf. giving a logical necessity. Impf. gives a condition which should have been, but is not (Schneider). πειθαρχήσαντας aor. act. part. (circum.) πειθαρχέω (# 4272) to listen to, to obey, w. dat. ἀνάγεσθαι pres. pass. inf. s.v. 2. κερδῆσαι aor. act. inf. κερδαίνω (# 3045) to gain. The word may have the sense of "gain by avoiding what would be detrimental," or "to incur," "to obtain" (LC). ◆ 22 παραινῶ pres. ind. act. s.v. 9. εὐθυμεῖν pres. act. inf. εὐθυμέω (# 2313) to be of good cheer, to reassure, to comfort, to regain composure. In medicine, it refers to the sick keeping up their spirits. The noun εὐθυμία means a good interior disposition, courageous good humor, an optimistic outlook that causes the heart to swell and preserves or favors the appearance of that internal equilibrium that constitutes good health (MLL, 270-80; TLNT; NDIEC, 1:132-33; MM). Inf. in indir. discourse (NSV, 81). ἀποβολή (# 613) loss. γάρ (# 1142) for, giving a causal explanation. ἔσται fut. mid. ind. εἰμί s.v. 2. πλήν (# 1142) except (s. Luke 22:21). ◆ 23 παρέστη aor. ind. act. παρίστημι (# 4225) to stand beside, to appear before. νυκτί dat. sing. νύξ night. Dat. of time. θεοῦ gen. sing. θεός (# 2536) God. Emphatic by its position. Gen. of possession or gen. of source: "a messenger (angel) from the God of...." οὗ gen. sing. rel. pron. ὅς (# 4005) Gen. of possession, "whose I am," "to whom I belong." ᾧ dat. sing. rel. pron. ὅς. Dat. as obj. of the vb. λατρεύω (# 3302) pres. ind. act. to worship, to serve, w. dat. Pres. indicates the continual, habitual service. ◆ 24 φοβοῦ pres. imp. mid. (dep.) s.v. 17. Pres. imp. used w. neg. μή (# 3590) to stop an action in progress. Παῦλε voc. sing. Παῦλος (# 4263). Καῖσαρ (# 2790) Caesar. σε acc. sing. personal pron. σύ (# 5248) Acc. as subject of the inf. δεῖ pres. ind. act., w. inf. s.v. 21. It speaks of the divine necessity (s. C.H. Cogsgrove, "The Divine ΔEI in Luke-Acts," Nov T 26 [1984]: 178). παραστῆναι aor. act. inf. s.v. 23. κεχάρισται perf. ind. mid. (dep.) χαρίζομαι (# 5919) to give, to grant, to graciously give. "God has given as a present...." (Bruce). Perf. emphasizes the lasting effects of God's giving. ◆ 25 εὐθυμεῖτε pres. imp. act. s.v. 22. Pres. imp. calls for a continual attitude. καθ' ὃν τρόπον according to the manner, in the same way as (BAGD). λελάληται perf. ind. pass. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Perf. emphasizes the abiding result of what was spoken. ◆ 26 ἐκπεσεῖν aor. act. inf. s.v. 17. Inf. w. δεῖ expressing necessity. ◆ 27 τεσσαρεσκαιδεκάτη (# 5476) fourteen. The time is probably reckoned from Cauda to Malta, some 475 miles (VSSP, 126-27; BASHH, 145). ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) s.v. 7. διαφερομένων pres. pass. part. διαφέρω (# 1422) to carry through, to drive about. The idea here is "drifting across" (LC). Gen. abs. Ἀδρίας (# 102) Adria. Not the modern Adriatic Sea, but according to the ancient writers it referred to the sea between Crete and Malta, that is, the Ionaian Sea and the north-central Mediterranean between Greece and Italy (BASHH, 145-46; Polhill). κατὰ μέσον τῆς νυκτός "along about the middle of the night." ὑπενόουν impf. ind. act. ὑπονοέω (# 5706) to think, to suspect. The prep. compound conveys the idea of thoughts making their way up into the mind (MH, 327). Incep. impf., "they began to suppose." προσάγειν pres. act. inf. προάγω (# 4642) to come near, to approach. They began to suspect that land was near (approaching) them (BAGD). The delay of three days may have been due to weather or to loading or unloading cargo (Haenchen; BASHH, 154). ◆ 13 περιελόντες aor. act. part. (temp.) περιαιρέω (# 4311) to take away, to weigh anchor (TC, 501). An alternate reading is περιελθόντες aor. act. part. περιέρχομαι (# 4320) to go around (TC, 500-501). κατηντήσαμεν aor. ind. act. καταντάω (# 2918) to arrive. Ῥήγιον (# 4836) Rhegium. It was an important harbor at the toe of Italy (Longenecker, 566) They were waiting for a southerly wind to carry them through the straits for a rapid passage to Puteoli (BASHH, 154). ἐπιγενομένου aor. mid. (dep.) part. (temp.) ἐπιγίνομαι (# 2104) to arise, to come on. Gen. abs. νότος (# 3803) south wind. δευτεραῖος (# 1308) on the 2nd. day. Ποτίολοι (# 4541) Puteoli. This was the port where the passengers were set ashore, but the cargo of grain was taken to Portus, the new harbor built by Claudia at Ostia (BASHH, 154-55; SSAW, 283-85). ◆ 14 οὗ (# 4023) where. εὑρόντες aor. act. part. (circum.) εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. παρεκλήθημεν aor. ind. pass. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to ask, to urge; "we were invited" (LC). It may be that Luke found the Christians and the centurion may have been glad to have such accommodations, rather than having to billet the party, as was the government practice (BAFCS, 3:272-75; NDIEC 1:36-45; 7:58-92; for Christians at Puteoli s. BASHH, 155). ἐπιμεῖναι aor. act. inf. s.v. 12. Inf. in indir. discourse as obj. of the vb. τὴν Ῥώμην (# 4873) Rome. The art. would denote Rome as the goal of the entire journey (BD, 137). ◆ 15 κἀκεῖθεν (# 2796) and from there. ἀκούσαντες aor. act. part. (s.v. 30). φυλάσσοντι pres. act. part. φυλάσσω (# 5875) to guard. Paul was not in prison but in the custody of a soldier detailed to guard him (LC). He was still bound to a soldier by a light chain so that he could not go in and out as he pleased (EGT; s. esp. BAFCS, 3:206-9). For conditions of a prisoner s. BAFCS, 3:195-225. Paul was probably allowed to live in rented quarters, which could have been a small room in an upper story of a house not far from the Castra Praetoria. He would have been required to provide his own food; else he received a grain ration (BAFCS, 3:227-42). The guards were taken from the Praetorian Guard, commanded at this time by Afranius Burrus. He died later in A.D. 62 during the purges by Nero (BBC). ◆ 17 ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) s.v. 6, 8. συγκαλέσασθαι aor. mid. inf. συγκαλέω (# 5157) to call together; mid., to call to one's side, to summon (BAGD). Under certain circumstances, Roman practice allowed free access to the prisoner during the day, but enforced solitude through the night (BAFCS, 3:384, 180-81). ὄντας pres. act. part. (adj.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. πρώτος (# 4755) first, leading, leaders. Josephus says that 8,000 Jews appeared against Archelaus in Rome (Jos., JW, 2:80). Modern estimates of the number of Jews at Rome in the first century range between 10,000 to 50,000 (BAFCS, 3:330-31; Schneider). συνελθόντων aor. act. part. (temp.) συνέρχομαι (# 5302) to come together, to assemble. Gen. abs. ἔλεγεν impf. ind. act. s.v. 4. Incep. impf. ἐναντίος (# 1885) contrary, hostile. ποιήσας aor. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Concessive part. ("although..."). λαῷ dat. sing. λαός (# 3295) people. Dat. of disadvantage. W. the art. it refers to his people, that is, the Jews. ἔθεσι dat. pl. ἔθος (# 1621) custom, common usage, legal rule (TLNT). Dat. of disadvantage. δέσμιος (# 1300) nom. sing. prisoner. Nom. w. pass. vb. but no art. stresses the character: "I was delivered over as a prisoner." παρεδόθην aor. ind. pass. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to deliver over. ◆ 18 οἵτινες (# 4015) nom. pl. who, used for the normal rel., esp. after part. where the rel. pron. could be confused w. the art. (BD, 153). ἀνακρίναντες aor. act. part. (temp.) ἀνακρίνω (# 373) to legally examine, to try (s. 24:8). ἐβούλοντο impf. ind. mid. βούλομαι (# 1089) to will, to want to, w. inf. Impf. indicates the desire was not realized. ἀπολῦσαι aor. act. inf. ἀπολύω (# 668) to release. ὑπάρχειν pres. act. inf. s.v. 7. Inf. w. διά (# 1328) expressing cause. ◆ 19 ἀντιλεγόντων pres. act. part. ἀντιλέγω (# 515) to speak against, to object. Gen. abs., temp. or causal. Pres. indicates the repeated action. ἠναγκάσθην aor. ind. pass. ἀναγκάζω (# 337) to compel, to force, w. inf. It refers to a logical compelling brought about by the circumstances (EDNT). ἐπικαλέσασθαι aor. mid. inf. ἐπικαλέω (# 2126) to appeal to (s. 25:11, 12). ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ὡς (# 6055) w. the part. giving the alleged reason is common in Gr. (RWP). κατηγορεῖν pres. act. inf. κατηγορέω (# 2989) to accuse, to bring an accusation against someone, w. gen. The living quarters that Paul had rented (Haenchen; s.v. 16). πλείονες comp. πολύς (# 4498) much; comp., even more, in greater numbers (BAGD). ἐξετίθετο impf. ind. mid. ἐκτίθημι (# 1758) to lay out, to set forth. Perhaps the mid. indicates that the apostle vindicates his own conduct (EGT). διαμαρτυρόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. διαμαρτύρομαι (# 1371) to testify, to bear witness. Circum. part. explaining how he set forth his message. πείθων pres. act. part. (circum.) πείθω (# 4275) to persuade. Pres. may be conative, "he was trying to persuade." πρωΐ (# 4745) early. ἑσπέρα (# 2270) evening. ◆ 24 ἐπείθοντο impf. ind. pass. s.v. 23. Impf. either pictures the repeated action or is incep., "some began to be persuaded" (RWP). λεγομένοις pres. pass. part. s.v. 4. Adj. part. as subst. Instr. dat. ἠπίστουν impf. ind. act. ἀπιστέω (# 601) to disbelieve. For the alpha as a neg. prefix s. Moorhouse 41-68. ◆ 25 ἀσύμφωνος (# 851) out of harmony, without agreement. ὄντες pres. act. part. (causal) εἰμί (# 1639). ἀπελύοντο impf. ind. mid. ἀπολύω (# 668) to dismiss; mid. to loose oneself, to depart. εἰπόντος aor. act. part. s.v. 4. Gen. abs. ἐλάλησεν aor. ind. act. s.v. 21. ◆ 26 πορεύθητι aor. imp. pass. (dep.) πορεύομαι (# 4513) to go. εἰπόν aor. imp. act. s.v. 4. ἀκοῇ (# 198) dat. sing. hearing. Dat. of manner as translation of the Heb. inf. abs. to emphatically reinforce the idea of the vb. (BG, 21). ἀκούσετε fut. ind. act. s.v. 15. συνῆτε aor. subj. act. συνίημι (# 5317) to comprehend, to understand. Subj. w. double neg. οὐ μή (# 4024; 3590) as emphatic denial. βλέποντες pres. act. part. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. Part. as translation of Heb. inf. abs. Pres. indicates the repeated action. ἀκωλύτως (# 219) adv. without hindrance. The adv. is of constant occurrence in legal documents in the papyri (MM). For the ending of the book of Acts s. BASHH, 383-87.

Romans

◆ 1 Παῦλος (# 4263) Paul. Nom. used in the address of a letter. For the form and sending of letters in the ancient world s. NDIEC, 7:1-57; DPL, 550-53; LAE, 146-215; RAC, 2:564-84; KP, 2:324-27; John Lee White, The Form and Function of the Body of the Greek Letter (Missoula, Mont.: Scholar's Press, 1972); White, The Form and Structure of the Official Petitions: A Study in Greek Epistolography (Missoula, Mont.: Scholar's Press, 1972); Chan-Hie Kim, Form and Structure of the Familiar Greek Letter of Recommendation (Missoula, Mont.: Scholar's Press, 1972); Stanley K. Stowers, Letter Writing in Greco-Roman Antiquity; vol. 5, Library of Early Christianity, Wayne A. Meeks (ed.) (Philadelphia: Westminster Press, 1986); Franz Schneider und Werner Stenger, Studien zum neutestamentlichen Briefformular (Leiden: E.J. Brill, 1978); Joseph A. Fitzmyer, "Some Notes on Aramaic Epistolography," JBL 93 (1974): 201-25; ABD, 4:290-93. δοῦλος (# 1528) slave, bondservant. The term emphasizes the bondage and the belonging to another (TDNT; Dunn; SCS, 27-46; Philemon 21). The following gens. show possession: as a slave he belonged to Christ Jesus. κλητός (# 3105) called. Verbal adj. w. this ending usually has pass. sense (BG, 47; N, 221). ἀπόστολος (# 693) apostle, one commissioned by another, who bears the authority of the one who commissions him (TLNT; TDNT; EDNT; Fitzmyer, 231-32). Pred. nom., "called to be an apostle." ἀφωρισμένος perf. part. pass. ἀφορίζω (# 928) to mark off, to separate by a boundary. Perf. suggests the continuing result of the past action. Adj. part. in apposition to ἀπόστολος (Cranfield). The absence of the article w. the words in v. 1 indicates the nature or quality (BG, 55). εὐαγγέλιον (# 2295) acc. sing. good news, gospel (TLNT; TDNT; Stuhlmacher; Wilckens, 74-75). ◆ 2 προεπηγγείλατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) προεπαγγέλλω (# 4600) to promise before, to promise previously or in advance. γραφαῖς dat. pl. γραφή (# 1210) writing, Scripture. The absence of the article throws the stress on ἁγίαις (SH). ◆ 3 περὶ τοῦ υἱοῦ αὐτοῦ. The phrase "concerning his Son" is to be connected closely w. the word εὐαγγέλιον (Lightfoot, Notes). γενομένου aor. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. The vb. indicates a change in existence and focuses on the Son of God coming into human existence (Moo). σπέρματος gen. sing. σπέρμα (# 5065) seed, descendant. According to his humanity the Messiah was a descendant of David and will ultimately fulfill the covenant promises which were made to David (Cleon L. Rogers, Jr., "The Davidic Covenant in Acts-Revelation," Bib Sac 151 [1994]: 78-79; Byrne). ◆ 4 ὁρισθέντος aor. pass. part. adj. ὁρίζω (# 3988) to mark out the boundary, to decree, to appoint, to designate (Dunn; S. Lewis Johnson, Jr., "The Jesus that Paul Preached," Bib Sac 128 [1971]: 129f; L. C. Allen, "The Old Testament Background of [προ] ὁρίζω in the New Testament," NTS 17 [1970]: 104-108; TDNT). ἁγιωσύνης (# 43) holiness. Here it indicates a spirit or disposition of holiness which characterized Christ spiritually (Johnson, 132; EDNT). ◆ 5 ἐλάβομεν aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, to receive. The pl. refers only to Paul. It is his stylistic method of avoiding the emphasize on "I" (Kuss). ἀποστολή (# 2779) apostleship, the office of the apostle. ὑπακοή (# 5633) obedience. ◆ 7 οὖσιν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Pres. describes their present location in Rome. For a study of the early Christians in Rome s. Peter Lampe, Die stadtrömischen Christen in den ersten beiden Jahrhunderten [Tübingen, 1987]; DPL, 850-55). ἀγαπητοῖς (# 28) beloved. For verbal adjs. w. this ending s.v. 1. ◆ 8 καταγγέλλεται pres. ind. pass. καταγγέλλω (# 2859) to proclaim, to report, to publicly report (Barrett). Pres. suggests continuing activity. ◆ 9 λατρεύω (# 3302) to serve, to serve for pay; then to do service for a deity (TDNT). Plutarch: "The god whom the priestess serves understands and hears" [Moralia, 512e], and others use the term in this way (NW, 2, i:1-2). ἐν τῷ πνεύματι (#1877; 4460) with (in) my spirit. It is by using spirit that Paul renders God service (Barrett). ἐν τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ (# 1877; 2295) "in the gospel." Prep. here denotes the external sphere (Lightfoot, Notes). ἀδιαλείπτως (# 90) adv., without ceasing, constantly (TLNT). The word was used for a continuous cough (MM) and Josephus used it for the incessant attacks of the Romans against Jotapatha (TJ, 127; Jos., JW, 3:155-57) or for the continual hammering of a battering ram against the walls of Jerusalem (TJ, 181; Jos., JW, 5:298-302; CCFJ, 1:24). μνεία (# 3644) remembrance, mention. ◆ 10 δεόμενος pres. mid. part. (dep.) δέομαι (1289) to pray, to make a request. Epex. part. or part of manner explaining how or what Paul prayed. Often Jews prayed several hours a day (BBC). εἴ πως (# 1623; 4803) if perhaps. By omitting the apodosis of the cond. cl. the first cl. may be taken as a wish (MT, 91). εὐοδωθήσομαι fut. ind. pass. εὐδόω (# 2338) to be led along a good road, to cause one to journey prosperously, to make one succeed (Dunn; Godet). ἐν τῷ θελήματι τοῦ θεοῦ (# 2525; 2536) in the will of God. The expression occurs often in private letters (BS, 252). A Jewish prayer for travel says, "May it be your will, Oh Lord our God, that you lead us in peace, and that you sustain us in peace that you save me from the hand of every enemy..." (b. Berakoth, 29b). ἐλθεῖν aor. inf. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Inf. expressing purp. or result. ◆ 11 ἐπιποθῶ pres. ind. act. ἐπιποθέω (# 2160) to long for. Prep. in compound marks the direction of the desire (SH). ἰδεῖν aor. inf. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Epex. inf. explaining the desire. μεταδῶ aor. subj. act. μεταδίδωμι (# 3566) to share w. someone. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) expresses the purp. of his coming. χάρισμα (# 5922) a gift freely and graciously given, a favor bestowed (BAGD; TLNT). πνευματικόν (# 4461) spiritually, pertaining to the spirit. The suffix indicates a dynamic relation to the idea involved in the root (MH, 378). στηριχθῆναι aor. inf. pass. στηρίζω (# 5114) to strengthen. Pass. indicates it is God who will strengthen (Godet). Articular inf. w. prep. εἰς (# 1650) to express purp. (MT, 143). It should be understood as modifying the impartation of the gift. Const. aor. viewing the action as a whole, not in its individual aspects. ◆ 12 συμπαρακληθῆναι aor. inf. pass. συμπαρακαλέω (# 5220) to encourage together, to encourage mutually. Here it signifies "I w. you, Christians at Rome" (Godet). Inf. to express purp. ◆ 13 ἀγνοεῖν pres. inf. act. ἀγνοέω (# 51) to be ignorant. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ἀδελφοί voc. pl. ἀδελφός (# 81) "brothers." The word was used of those who belonged to the same religious group and here makes the appeal more personal and affective (Dunn; Fitzmyer, 246; BS, 87-88; MM; NDIEC, 2:29, 50, 63; 4:56; 5:73). προεθέμην aor. ind. mid. (dep.) προτίθημι (# 4729) to place before, to purpose, to intend. ἐλθεῖν aor. inf. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ἐκωλύθην aor. ind. pass. κωλύω (# 3266) to hinder. δεῦρο (# 1306) adv., here, until now. καρπός (# 2843) fruit. σχῶ aor. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to get. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. The idea expressed is that of gathering fruit (Murray). ◆ 14 βάρβαρος (# 975) one who does not speak Gr. properly, one who speaks an unintelligible language; then applied to people who did not familiarly use Gr. and so were regarded as uncultured (Dodd; Fitzmyer, 250-51; NW, 2, i:3-6; BBC; 1 Cor. 14:11). σοφός (# 5055) wise. ἀνόητος (# 485) ignorant, not understanding. ὀφειλέτης (# 4050) one who owes a debt. For the binding obligation placed upon debtors in the ancient world s. SEH, 1:382f. ◆ 15 τὸ κατ' ἐμέ either to be taken as the subject w. the next word as the predicate, "for my part, I am all readiness" (EGT), or else the prep. is to be taken as a circumlocution for the poss. gen, "my readiness" (BD, 120). πρόθυμος (# 4609) ready, willing, eager. εὐαγγελίσασθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. εὐαγγελίζομαι (# 2294) to evangelize, to proclaim the good news. Epex. inf. to explain what he is willing to do. ◆ 16 ἐπαισχύνομαι (# 2049) pres. ind. mid. (dep.) to be ashamed. πιστεύοντι pres. act. part. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Pres. expresses continuous action."Ἕλληνι dat. sing."Ελλην (# 1818) Greek. Here it refers to anyone who is not a Jew (Gifford). ◆ 17 δικαιοσύνη θεοῦ (# 1466; 2536) righteousness of God. The phrase could mean "the righteous standing which God gives" or "the righteous character which God is" or "the righteous activity which comes from God." For a review of these meaning s. MRP, 9-14; Cranfield; Dunn; Moo; Fitzmyer, 257-63; VGG, 87-116; Wilckens, 202-33; GG, 78-84; DPL, 827-37. ἐν αὐτῷ (# 1877; 899) in it; that is, in the gospel. ἀποκαλύπτεται pres. ind. pass. ἀποκαλύπτω (# 636) to reveal. ἐκ πίστεως (# 1666; 4411) out of faith. The prep. here may indicate the source of the righteousness. For the various interpretations of his source of the righteousness s. S. Lewis Johnson, Jr., "The Gospel that Paul Preached," Bib Sac 128 (1971): 336f; Moo; Dunn. γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write. This is the faithful trust in God's promises for the future in the midst of trials (EH, 510). καταισχύνει pres. ind. act. καταισχύνω (# 2875) to put to shame. Pres. indicates a continuing action, "will never put us to shame." ὅτι (# 4022) because, giving the reason hope will not cause shame or disappointment. ἡ ἀγάπη τοῦ θεοῦ (# 27; 2536) the love of God. Subjective gen., "the love which God has for us" (Moo; Dunn; EH, 511; GGBB, 121). ἐκκέχυται perf. ind. pass. ἐκχέω (# 1772) to pour out. The word denotes both abundance and diffusion (Lightfoot, Notes). The idea of spiritual refreshment and encouragement is conveyed through the metaphor of watering. Perf. indicates a completed state or continuing results (s. 3:21 for the perf.). δοθέντος aor. pass. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Adj. part. to emphasize this as a trait. Aor. indicates a logically antecedent action. Theol. pass., indicating that God is the giver. ◆ 6 ἔτι γάρ (# 2285; 1142) if indeed. Thrall discusses the textual problem and concludes that the combination is used to introduce a fact of which one was absolutely certain (Thrall, 89f). Some opt for the reading εἰς τί γάρ and translate, "For to what purpose did Christ, while we were helpless, die at the right time for the ungodly" (Porter, "The Argument of Romans 5: Can a Rhetorical Question Make a Difference?" JBL 110 [1991]: 666). ὄντων pres. act. part. (temp.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Gen. abs. Pres. expressing contemporaneous action ("while"). ἀσθενῆς (# 820) weak, helpless (Moo). He did not wait for us to start helping ourselves, but died for us when we were altogether helpless (Cranfield). κατὰ καιρόν (# 2848; 2789) at the appropriate time, at the very time (Moo; Dunn). ὑπὲρ ἀσεβῶν (# 5642; 815) for ungodly ones. The prep. has the idea of substitution as well as benefit (Moo; Porter, "The Argument of Romans 5: Can a Rhetorical Question Make a Difference?" JBL 110 [1991]: 668; NIDNTT, 3:1196-97). ἀπέθανεν aor. ind. act. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. For a discussion of the structure of this v. s. Frederik Wisse, "The Righteous Man and the Good Man in Romans 5:7," NTS 19 (1972): 91-93. ἀποθανεῖται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. Gnomic fut. (GGBB, 571). τάχα (# 5440) perhaps, possibly, probably. τολμᾷ pres. ind. act. τολμάω (# 5528) to dare. ἀποθανεῖν aor. inf. act. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. Compl. inf. w. the vb. τολμᾷ. ◆ 8 συνίστησιν pres. ind. act. συνίστημι (# 5319) to bring together, to demonstrate. ὄντων pres. act. part. (temp.) gen. n. pl. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Gen. abs. Pres. expressing contemporaneous time. ἀπέθανεν aor. ind. act. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. ◆ 9 μᾶλλον (# 3437) more; here, "much more," an argument from the greater to the less (RWP). The point is, since God has already done the really difficult thing, justified the impious sinner, we may be absolutely confident that He will do what is by comparison very easy, namely, save from His wrath at the last those who are already righteous in His sight (Cranfield). For examples of this method of argument among the rabbis s. SB, 3:223-26; EJH, 11-12; for this in the Greek diatribe s. Porter, "The Argument of Romans 5: Can a Rhetorical Question Make a Difference?" JBL 110 (1991): 668. δικαιωθέντες aor. pass. part. (causal) δικαιόω (# 1467) to justify. Aor. points to the completed action. Theol. pass. ἐν τῷ αἵματι (# 1877; 3836; 135) in the blood (s. 3:25). Instr. use of the prep., giving the means of the justification. σωθησόμεθα fut. ind. pass. σῴζω (# 5392) to save, to rescue, to deliver. Here it means the consummation of that work of which justification is the commencement. It is a preservation from all causes of destruction and points to the final salvation (Hodge; Cranfield; TDNT). Theol. pass. indicating that God is the one who saves. ◆ 10 ἐχθρός (# 2398) enemy. ὄντες pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Concessive or temp. part. Pres. indicates contemporaneous action, "while we were enemies" or "even though we were still enemies at that time." κατηλλάγημεν aor. ind. pass. καταλλάσσω (# 2904) to exchange, to exchange enmity for friendship, to reconcile (ACP, 187; TDNT; MNTW, 102-06; V; Cilliers Breytenbach, "Versöhung, Stellvertretung und Sühne: Semantische und traditionsgeschichtliche Bemerkungen am Beispiel der paulinischen Briefe," NTS 39 [1993]: 59-79; I. Howard Marshall, "The Meaning of 'Reconciliation'," Unity and Diversity in New Testament Theology: Essays in Honor of George E. Ladd, Robert A. Guelich, ed, [Grand Rapids: Eerdmans, 1978], 153-69). The prep. compound is perfective and means "to effect a thorough change back, reconciled" (MH, 298). Aor. points to the completed action (V, 154). Theol. pass. ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. which assumes the reality of the cond. πολλῷ μᾶλλον (# 4498; 3437) by how much more (s.v. 9). καταλλαγέντες aor. pass. part. (causal) Aor. indicates antecedent action and points to a completed action. Theol. pass. σωθησόμεθα fut. ind. pass. σῴζω (# 5392) to save (s.v. 9). ◆ 11 οὐ μόνον δέ, ἀλλὰ καί (# 4024; 3667; 1254; 247; 2779) not only, but also. It indicates that for all that he has already said, he has something more to say (Dunn; Moo). καυχώμενοι pres. mid. part. (circum.) καυχάομαι to boast (# 3016) (s.v. 2). καταλλαγή (# 2903) reconciliation (s.v. 10). ἐλάβομεν aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. ◆ 12 For a study of this section s. Marty L. Reid, Augustinian and Pauline Rhetoric in Romans Five: A Study in Early Christian Rhetoric (Lewiston, N.Y.: Mellen Biblical Press, 1996). διὰ τοῦτο (# 1328; 4047) because of this. (For a discussion of the phrase as being retrospective, prospective, or illative, introducing an inference from the preceding s. Moo, 363-64; S. Lewis Johnson, Jr., "Romans 5:12: An Exercise in Exegesis and Theology," ND, 301). εἰσῆλθεν aor. ind. act. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to come into. διῆλθεν aor. ind. act. διέρχομαι (# 1451) to pass through. It contains the force of distribution: "made its way to each individual member of the race" (SH). ἐφ' ᾧ (# 2093; 4005) perhaps best understood as causal ("because") (F.W. Danker, "Romans 5:12: Sin Under Law," NTS 14 [1968]: 424-39; but s. also GI, 116f; for various ways of understanding the phrase s. Fitzmyer, 413-17; Cranfield; Johnson, ND, 303-5; GGBB, 342-43). The reason why death has come to all men is that death is universal in that sin is universal (Johnson, ND, 305). ἥμαρτον aor. ind. act. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. For the relation between Adam sinning and the sin of mankind s. Johnson, ND, 298-316, esp. 305-316; Moo. ◆ 13 ἄχρι (# 948) until w. gen. ἐλλογεῖται pres. ind. pass. ἐλλογέω (# 1824) to charge to one's account (MM). ὄντος pres. act. part. gen. n. sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 14 ἐβασίλευσεν aor. ind. act. βασιλεύω (# 996) to rule as king, to be a king, here in the sense of control or determine the destiny of. ἁμαρτήσαντας aor. act. part. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. ὁμοίωμα (# 3930) likeness. Romans 11

◆ 1 μή (# 3590) used in questions expecting the answer "no." ἀπώσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀπωθέω (# 723) to push away, to repel; mid. to push away from oneself, to reject, to repudiate. Used in the LXX where the thought of God's rejection of Israel was entertained, but with the assurance that He has not or will not reject His people (Dunn; Cranfield; GELTS, 59; DPL, 796-805). γένοιτο aor. opt. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become; used in the expression strongly denying a false conclusion; "Certainly not!" (s. Rom. 3:4). Paul emphatically, almost indignantly, rejects the false implication (Fitzmyer, 603). σπέρματος (# 5065) seed, here, nation. Gen. of family relationship. φυλή (# 5876) tribe. ◆ 2 ἀπώσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀπωθέω (# 723) to push away (s.v. 1). προέγνω aor. ind. act. 3rd. pers. sing. προγινώσκω (# 4589) to foreknow, to know beforehand (s. Murray at 8:29; DPL, 310-11). οὐκ (# 4024) neg. in a question expecting the answer "yes," "you know, don't you?" ἐν Ἠλίᾳ (# 1877; 2460) "in Elijah"; a rabbinic method of quotation denoting "in the passage of Scripture which contains the history of Elijah" (Godet; Cranfield; SB, 3:288). ἐντυγχάνει pres. ind. act. ἐντυγχάνω (# 1961) to intercede, to plead w. (w. dat). The vb. means to meet w., then to meet w. for the purposes of conversation, to have an interview w., or to accuse (SH). Hist. pers. vividly describing the action as in progress. ◆ 3 ἀπέκτειναν aor. ind. act. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. θυσιαστήριον (# 2603) altar, place of sacrifice. κατέσκαψαν aor. ind. act. κατασκόπτω (# 2940) to dig under or down, to tear down. ὑπελείφθην aor. ind. pass. ὑπολείπω (# 5699) to leave behind. ζητοῦσιν pres. ind. act. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek. ◆ 4 χρηματισμός (# 5977) oracle, divine utterance or response (NDIEC, 1:77; 4:176). The word here emphasizes the localization; the awesomeness is probably the indirectness of the divine communication (Anthony Hanson, "The Oracle in Romans 11:4," NTS 19 [1973]: 301). Josephus uses the vb. (χρηματίζω) in the sense of "to receive a response from God" (CCFJ, 4:368-69; Jos., Ant. 3:212). κατέλιπον aor. ind. act. καταλείπω (# 2901) to leave behind, to reserve. ἐμαυτῷ dat. ἐμαυτοῦ (# 1831) refl. pron., for myself. It emphasizes the thought that the remnant is preserved by God Himself for His own gracious purpose (Gifford). Perf. indicates the abiding authority of the document (MM). ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. κατανύξεως gen. sing. κατάνυξις (# 2919) stupefaction. Derived from the vb. meaning to strike or pick violently, to stun (SH; GELTS, 240). The Hebrew expression behind this denotes a spirit of deep sleep and in Isa. 29:10 it denotes a state of spiritual insensibility (Cranfield). Gen. of description, or subj. gen., "a spirit which produces stupefaction." βλέπειν pres. inf. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. Inf. of result. ἀκούειν pres. inf. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Inf. of result. In both cases the vbs. speak not of physical, but of spiritual perception. ◆ 9 γενηθήτω aor. imp. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. τράπεζα (# 5544) table. The original imagery is that a skin or cloth was spread out on the ground and the food was placed upon it, but the cloth could entangle the feet of those eating if they suddenly sprang up at the approach of danger (Cranfield; Fitzmyer, 606). παγίς (# 4075) trap, snare. θήρα (# 2560) a net used in hunting as a trap. σκάνδαλον (# 4998) trap, offense used symbolically (BAGD; TDNT; TLNT). ἀνταπόδομα (# 501) a recompense, a paying back, that which is paid back. ◆ 10 σκοτισθήτωσαν aor. imp. pass. σκοτίζω (# 5029) to darken. Ingressive aor., "become dark." βλέπειν pres. inf. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. Inf. of result. Their eyes are darkened so that they do not or cannot see. νῶτος (# 3822) back. διὰ παντός (# 1328; 4246) continually, constantly (BAGD; Cranfield). σύγκαμψον aor. imp. act. συμκάμπτω (# 5159) to bend together, to bow down, as of captives whose backs were bent under burdens (RWP). The idea is, "May their backs be always weak and feeble under the burden that they bear" (Fitzmyer, 607). ◆ 11 μή (# 3590) neg. to introduce a question expecting the answer "no." ἔπταισαν aor. ind. act. πταίω (# 4760) to stumble. πέσωσιν aor. subj. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. A man who stumbles may recover himself, or he may fall completely. The word is used here of a completely irrevocable fall–"to fall to rise no more"–as the sprawling on one's face puts a runner out of the race (SH; Dunn). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express result (Dunn). γένοιτο aor. opt. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become; used in the construction emphatically denying a false conclusion (s. 3:4). παραπτώματι dat. sing. παράπτωμα (# 4183) transgression, false step (TDNT; EDNT). 1 Corinthians

1 Corinthians 1

◆ 1 κλητός (# 3105) called. verbal adj. here w. a pass. meaning (BG, 47f). ἀπόστολος (# 693) apostle, one who is called by the Lord, commissioned by Him and carrying His authority (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT; Schrage; J. Andrew Kirk, "Apostleship Since Rengstorf: Towards a Synthesis," NTS 21 [1975]: 249-64; F.H. Agnew, "The Origin of the New Testament Apostle-Concept: A Review of Research," JBL 105 [1986]: 75-96). Nom. in apposition. Χριστοῦ Ἰησοῦ (# 5986; 2652) Gen. shows whom Paul represents as an apostle. Σωσθένης (# 5398) Sosthenes. Probably the Sosthenes of Acts 18:17. ἀδελφός (# 81) brother. The term "brother" here is probably more than the bond of brotherhood of all believers, referring to a colleague in the Christian mission; that is, one who makes the ministry his primary occupation (E. Earle Ellis, "Paul and His Co-Workers," NTS 17 [1971]: 445-52; MM; BS, 87-88). The article refers to one well-known. ◆ 2 ἐκκλησίᾳ (# 1711) dat. sing. assembly, church, a group gathered together for a common cause. Here the Christian community in Corinth (Hering; TDNT; EDNT; Matt. 16:18). Indir. obj. Dat. shows to whom the letter was sent (Schrage). τοῦ θεοῦ (# 3836; 2536) of God. Gen. is poss. and at once a protest against party spirit; "the church of God," not of any one individual (RP). οὔσῃ pres. act. part. adj. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. For the city of Corinth s. Acts 18:1; PIG, 200-51; SPC; ABD, 1:1134-39; J.B. Salmon, Wealthy Corinth: A History of the City to 338 B.C. (Oxford: Clarendon, 1984); DPL, 172-75; J. Murphy-O'Connor, St. Paul's Corinth: Texts and Archaeology, Good News Studies 6 (Wilmington, Del: Michael Glazier, 1983); "The Corinth That Paul Saw," BA 47 (1984): 147-59; J. Wiseman, The Land of the Ancient Corinthians. Studies in Mediterranean Archaeology 50 (Goeteborg, 1978); "Corinth and Rome 1: 228 B.C.–A.D. 267," ANRW 7/1 (1978): 438-548. ἡγιασμένοις perf. pass. part. ἁγιάζω (# 39) to sanctify, to consecrate, to separate from the secular for sacred use and purposes (TDNT; NIDNTT; EDNT; GELTS, 3). Perf. emphasizes the state or condition resulting from a previous action (VA, 245-59; NSV, 31-34). Theol. pass. In spite of the severe problems of the group at Corinth, they had been set apart by God for His use. Adj. part. used to emphasize quality. κλητοῖς (# 3105) called, s.v. 1; here dat. pl. ἐπικαλουμένοις pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐπικαλέω (# 2126) to call upon, to invoke. Pres. emphasizes the habitual act which characterizes their life (Hodge). αὐτῶν καὶ ἡμῶν theirs and ours. The words could refer to "place," but it is better to take them w. "Lord." Christians share in a common holiness because they share a common Lord (Barrett). ◆ 3 χάρις (# 5921) grace, the undeserved help to someone who is not worthy of the help and w. no thought of repayment (TLNT). Here it is the daily help (Rom. 5:15). εἰρήνη (# 1645) peace. The Heb. (שָׁלוֹם) word as used in greetings emphasizes wholeness and prosperity of life and personality (TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT; EDNT; NIDOTTE; Schrage). ◆ 4 εὐχαριστῶ pres. ind. act. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks. For Paul's thanksgiving in his letters s. P.T. O'Brien, "Thanksgiving and the Gospel in Paul," NTS 21 (1974): 144-55; "Thanksgiving Within the Structure of Pauline Theology," PSEB, 50-66; DPL, 728-30. Pres. indicates an habitual act. πάντοτε (# 4121) always. περί (# 4309) for, concerning, w. gen. The meaning often overlaps w. ὑπέρ (# 5642)(BD, 121). ἐπί (# 2093) because of, w. dat. It indicates the reason or basis of the thanksgiving (Hering; Fee). χάριτι (# 5921) s.v. 3; dat. sing. Here it may indicate the "grace gifts" (Fee). δοθείσῃ aor. pass. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Theol. pass. indicating that God is the giver. Aor. summarizes the giving (Schrage). The thanksgiving forms an introduction which in rhetoric was called the exordium; it compares to the prologue in poetry or the prelude in flute playing. Its purpose was to give the keynote and advance to the main subject. It often consisted of praise, blame, or exhortation (Aristotle, Rhetoric, III, iv:14 [1414b-1415a]; Quintilian, Institutio Oratoria, IV:I, 1-79; Schrage). ◆ 5 ὅτι (# 4022) that. It gives an explanation of the giving of the grace (Fee; Schrage). ἐν παντί (# 1877; 4246) in everything, in every respect (Barrett). ἐπλουτίσθητε aor. ind. pass. πλουτίζω (# 4457) to make rich, to make exceedingly rich. Josephus used it of Herod the Great who greatly enriched (ἐπὶ μέγα ἐπλούτιζε) his sister Salome in his will because she had been loyal to him (Jos., Ant., 17:147). παντί dat. sing. πᾶς (# 4246) all. It can include everything belonging, in kind, to the class designated by the noun; "every kind of," "all sorts of" (BAGD). λόγῳ dat. sing. λόγος (# 3364) speech, utterance. It refers to the gifts of utterance mentioned in 1 Cor. 12-14: knowledge, wisdom, tongues, prophecy, etc. (Fee; Schrage). γνῶσις (# 1194) knowledge. The first is the outward expression and the second the inward conviction (Lightfoot, Notes). ◆ 6 καθώς (# 2777) just as, inasmuch as. Produces not a mere parallel but rather an explanation of what precedes (RP). τὸ μαρτύριον τοῦ Χριστοῦ (# 3836; 3457; 3836; 5986) the witness of Christ. The gen. could be either obj. ("the witness about Christ") or subjective ("the witness which Christ gives") (Schrage). ἐβεβαιώθη aor. ind. pass. βεβαιόω (# 1011) to make firm, to make stable, to confirm, to authenticate, to guarantee, to verify, to prove to be true and certain (LN, 1:340; Schrage). It was used in the papyri in the sense of a legally guaranteed security (BS, 104-9; TLNT). The mystery of Christ was given legal force through the apostle (TDNT). ◆ 7 ὑστερεῖσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ὑστερέω (# 5728) to come short, to lack. Inf. w. ὥστε (# 6063) to express contemplated result (BD, 197-98). It was what was to be looked for in the Corinthians (RP). χάρισμα (# 5922) gift, that which was given out of grace. Empowerments given to the church from God or from the risen Lord (E.E. Ellis, "Spiritual Gifts in the Pauline Community," NTS 20 [1974]: 128-44; TDNT; EDNT; DPL, 340-41). ἀπεκδεχομένους pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀπεκδέχομαι (# 587) to wait eagerly but patiently for something. The double prep. in compound implies a degree of earnestness and intensity of expectation (Lightfoot; MH, 298, 310). Pres. emphasizes the continuous action and the part. expresses an attendant circumstance (Grosheide). ἀποκάλυψις (# 637) unveiling, revelation (TLNT, 2:244-50). It is here followed by the obj. gen. ◆ 8 βεβαιώσει fut. ind. act. βεβαιόω (# 1011) to make firm (s.v. 6). ἕως (# 2401) unto, until. τέλος (# 5465) end, goal. The phrase moves easily from a temp. meaning to meaning "completely" (Barrett). ἀνέγκλητος (# 441) without accusation, blameless (TDNT; MM; for the pref. expressing a neg. idea s. Moorhouse, 42-68). ◆ 9 δι' οὗ through whom. The prep. is used of the principal cause and expresses the indir. calling of God through the gospel and not by a voice from heaven (Grosheide). ἐκλήθητε aor. ind. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call. Aor. points to the beginning; the call was effective, not just an invitation (Schrage). κοινωνία (# 3126) fellowship, communion, participation. It expresses the blending of two wills into one common cause (TDNT; NIDNTT; EDNT; RAC, 9:1100-45; BBC). Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ (# 2652; 5986) of Jesus Christ. The name reoccurs in every phrase of this preface (Godet). ◆ 10 παρακαλῶ pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to entreat, to encourage. Used in the sense of a polite command (EDNT; Schrage; Conzelmann; s. Rom. 12:1). For the change a request formula makes to the body of the letter, s. John L. White, "Introductory Formulae in the Body of the Pauline Letter," JBL 90 (1971): 91-97, esp. 93-95; Wilhelm Wuellner, "Haggadic Homily Genre in I Corinthians 1-3," JBL 89 (1979): 199-204. διά w. gen., through; the instrument of the appeal (RWP). λέγητε pres. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say, to speak. The phrase "to speak the same thing" had political overtones of warring factions coming to a reconciliation (s. Jos., Ant., 18:375; Polybius, 5:140, 1; NW, 2:237), but was also used on a grave inscription of the harmonious life of a man and wife (Schrage). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in indir. discourse after a vb. of command. Pres. calls for an habitual action. ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. σχίσμα (# 5388) split, division. The word pictures the destruction of unity through force and was used of a tear in a garment or political factions engaged in a struggle for power (Weiss; Schrage; L.L. Welborn, "On the Discord in Corinth: 1 Corinthians 1-4 and Ancient Politics," JBL 106 [1987]: 86-87; NDIEC, 1:28-29). Perhaps the divisions were also caused by differences in social stratifications (BBC). ἦτε pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. κατηρτισμένοι perf. pass. part. καταρτίζω (# 2936) to put in order, to restore to its former condition, to put into proper condition. The word is used by Herodotus (5:28) for composing civil disorder (Barrett; BAGD; TDNT). Periphrastic perf. pass. part. (RWP). Perf. emphasizes the completed state or condition. νοῒ dat. sing. νοῦς (# 3808) mind, the intellect in its judging faculty (Grosheide). γνώμῃ (# 1191) dat. sing. opinion, judgment. It indicates the expressed opinion or condition (Grosheide). The former denotes the general principles, the latter the special application of those principles (Lightfoot, Notes). The terms call for harmony in the direction of the will and intentions (Schrage). ◆ 11 ἐδηλώθη aor. ind. pass. δηλόω (# 1317) to make clear, to make known. περί (# 4309) w. gen., concerning. ὑπό (# 5679) by, w. gen. giving the agent. τῶν Χλόης (# 3836; 5951) The name Chloe means "a young green sprout" (LS, 1994) or "blond" (Schrage). This probably means "by slaves belonging to Chloe's household" (RP; Schrage). ἔριδες nom. pl. ἔρις (# 2251) strife; here pl. "strifes," "contentions." The word points to quarrels and is the hot dispute, the emotional flame, that ignites whenever rivalry becomes intolerable (Morris; Welborn, JBL 106:87; TLNT). ◆ 12 δέ (# 1254) and, now. ἕκαστος (# 1667) each. λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say, to speak. Iterative pres. indicating repeated and continual action. The political parties of the ancient world were named after individuals w. the gen. of the proper name (Welborn, JBL 106:90-91). For a discussion of the various parties which probably developed because of an overemphasis on wisdom, heightened by cultural, social, and material differences, and then fostered in house churches located in various parts of the city s. Schrage, 142-52; SPC, 153-72; Welborn, JBL 106:90-111. For Peter s. DPL, 702-3; for Apollos DPL, 37-39. ◆ 13 μεμέρισται perf. ind. pass. μερίζω (# 3532) to divide, to separate, to divide up and distribute, to split up into political parties (Barrett; Welborn, JBL 106:87). Perf. pictures the completed action or state.

It means, "he has already been divided up and distributed" (Lenski). This sentence could be a question expecting the answer "no," or it could be taken as a statement of fact (Schrage; Fee; Conzelmann). μή (# 3590) introduces a question expecting a neg. answer. ἐσταυρώθη aor. ind. pass. σταυρόω (# 5090) to crucify. εἰς τὸ ὄνομα (# 1659; 3950) "into the name." This was used as a t.t. w. the meaning, "to apply to the account of someone" (Schrage). ἐβαπτίσθητε aor. ind. pass. βαπτίζω (# 966) to baptize. ◆ 14 εὐχαριστῶ pres. ind. act. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks (s.v. 4). ἐβάπτισα aor. ind. act. βαπτίζω (# 966) to baptize. εἰ μή (# 1623; 3590) except, only (BD, 221). ◆ 15 εἴπῃ aor. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) and μή to express neg. purp. ἐμόν (# 1847) my, placed before the noun for the sake of emphasis. ἐβαπτίσθητε aor. ind. pass. βαπτίζω (# 966) to baptize. ◆ 16 καί (# 2779) also. λοιπόν (# 3370) acc. sing. otherwise, besides that. Acc. of general reference, "as for anything else" (RWP). οἶδα perf. ind. act. (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning, here, to recall (Fee; s.v. 281-87). εἰ (# 1623) if. Used in an indir. question. ἐβάπτισα aor. ind. act. βαπτίζω (# 966) to baptize. ◆ 17 ἀπέστειλεν aor. ind. act. ἀποστέλλω (# 690) to send, to commission. to commission, someone to a special task and to empower him w. the authority of the one sending (TDNT; EDNT; s.v. 1). βαπτίζειν pres. act. inf. βαπτίζω (# 966) to baptize. Inf. either expresses purp. or explains the idea of sending. εὐαγγελίζεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. εὐαγγελίζομαι (# 2294) to bring good news, to preach the gospel (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT; RAC, 6:1107-60). σοφίᾳ (# 5053) dat. sing. wisdom, practical wisdom, a way of life (M.D. Goulder, "Σοφία in Corinthians," NTS 37 [1991]: 516-34; TDNT; EDNT); here, perhaps cleverness in speaking (BAGD; Welborn, JBL:106:87-101; DPL, 820-21). What is prohibited is the transformation of words into wisdom; the speech makes the wisdom attractive and effective (Schrage). Paul does not use worldly wisdom (Grosheide). He does not attempt to manipulate through his cleverly devised words and a gaudy, grandiloquent style (s. Michael A. Bullmore, St. Paul's Theology of Rhetorical Style: An Examination of 1 Corinthians 2:1-5 in the Light of First Century Graeco-Roman Rhetorical Culture [San Francisco: International Scholars Publications, 1995]). It may be, however, that Paul is rejecting the role of the human persuader and stressing his role as herald (Duane Liftin, St. Paul's Theology of Proclamation [SNTSMS 79] [Cambridge: Cambridge University, 1994]). κενωθῇ aor. subj. pass. κενόω (# 3033) to make empty, to make useless (TLNT). It indicates "to dwindle to nothing, vanish under the weight of rhetorical ornament and dialectic subtlety" (Lightfoot, Notes). σταυρός (# 5089) cross. The cross and crucifixion were a source of disdain, shame, and horror because death on a cross was for the worst of criminals (CNT, 180-269; C, DPL, 192-99). ◆ 18 γάρ (# 1142) for. It gives a causal explanation. ὁ λόγος γὰρ ὁ τοῦ σταυροῦ (# 3664; 1142; 3836; 5089) "for the word of the" cross. The repeated article is almost demonstrative (RWP). The cross occupies a central place in proclaiming the gospel. It is both the crowning point of a life of self-renunciation and also the ordained instrument of salvation (Lightfoot, Notes). ἀπολλυμένοις pres. mid./pass. part. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to ruin, to be lost. The prep. in compound is perfective. Pres. indicates that the goal is ideally reached. A complete transformation of its subjects is required to bring them out of the ruin implicit in their state (M, 114f) Part. as subst. Dat. of ref. μωρία (# 3702) blunted, dull, stupid, stupidity, foolishness, nonsense (TLNT; TDNT; EDNT). A crucified Messiah, Son of God, or God must have seemed a contradiction in terms to anyone–Jew, Greek, Roman, or barbarian–and certainly was thought offensive and foolish (C, 10). Cicero said in his defense of C. Rabirius, whose trial was instituted by Julius Caesar, "The very word 'cross' should be far removed not only from the person of a Roman citizen but from his thoughts, his eyes and his ears" (nomen ipsum crucis absit non modo a corpore civium Romanorum sed etiam a cogitatione, oculis, auribus) (Pro Rabirio, 16; C, 42; also 41-45; BBC; NW 2, i:239). σῳζομένοις pres. pass. part. σῴζω (# 5392) to save, to rescue. Dat. of this part. includes an effective relation and the idea of an effect produced (Godet; Conzelmann). Theol. pass. indicating that God is the agent. Pres. indicated the ongoing process. ◆ 19 γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Perf. expresses the authoritative character of the document, "it stands written" (MM). ἀπολῶ fut. ind. act. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to ruin, to destroy (GELTS, 53). σύνεσις (# 5304) understanding, a bringing together, the faculty of putting two and two together (MNTW, 148f; TDNT). For the DSS s. 1 QS 3:15; 4:22; 1 QH 1:8. ἀθετήσω fut. ind. act. ἀθετέω (# 119) to do away w. that which has been laid down, to set aside, to disregard, to make void, to set at naught, to repudiate, to challenge an authority (AS; GELTS, 9; TLNT). ◆ 20 ποῦ (# 4544) where? The repetition of the word introduces three rhetorical questions which expect a neg. answer (Schrage). συζητητής (# 5186) one who questions, one who disputes and discusses, debator. The three expressions–"wise," "scribe," ("expert in law"), "debator"–describe human wisdom (Schrage). οὐχί (# 4049) not; a strengthened form of οὐ used in a question which expects the answer "yes." ἐμώρανεν aor. ind. act. μωραίνω (# 3701) to regard as foolish, to make foolish, to consider as nonsense, to make dumb (TLNT; Schrage). The timeless aor. (VA, 237) indicates the completed action. ◆ 21 ἐπειδή (# 2076) since, since then, because. ἐν τῇ σοφίᾳ τοῦ θεοῦ (# 1877; 3836; 5053; 3836; 2536) in the wisdom of God. The prep. ἐν indicates the sphere or could give the circumstances under which something takes place (A.J.M. Wedderburn, "ἐν τῇ σοφίᾳ τοῦ θεοῦ–1 Kor 1:21," ZNW 64 [1973]: 132-34; DPL, 967-73). Gen. of description: "divine wisdom," "godly wisdom." ἔγνω aor. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. διὰ τῆς σοφίας (# 1328; 3836; 5053) through wisdom. εὐδόκησεν aor. ind. act. εὐδοκέω (# 2305) to please, to have pleasure in; w. a following inf. The word in Paul implies strong volition, as well as taking pleasure in (Fee). μωρίας (# 3702) gen. sing. foolishness (s.v. 18). κήρυγμα (# 3060) proclamation, preaching. σῶσαι aor. act. inf. σῴζω (# 5392) to save, to rescue. Inf. explains what is pleasing to God. πιστεύοντας pres. act. part. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Subst. part. ◆ 22 ἐπειδή (# 2076) since, because. Causal conj., but only loosely subordinating (BD, 238; Schrage). σημεῖον (# 4956) sign (DPL, 875-76). αἰτοῦσιν pres. ind. act. αἰτέω (# 160) to ask. To ask for a sign implies a refusal to take God on trust (Barrett). For the Jews demanding a sign s. SB, 1:640, 726f; for signs in the DSS s. 1 QS 10:4; 1 QH 12:8; 15:20. ζητοῦσιν pres. ind. act. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek. Both pres. vbs. show the habitual action and describe what is always done. For the Greeks seeking after knowledge s. NW 2, i:238-39; DC XII, 39; XXXVII, 26. ◆ 23 ἡμεῖς (# 1609) but we; for emphasis and contrast. κηρύσσομεν pres. ind. act. κηρύσσω (# 3062) to proclaim as a herald, to preach (TDNT; EDNT; NIDNT, 3:48-68). Pres. indicates Paul's habitual practice. ἐσταυρωμένον perf. pass. part. σταυρόω (# 3062) to crucify (TDNT; C; EDNT). Perf. emphasizes the state or condition (s. 3:21). It refers primarily to the exalted Lord who, in His exaltation, remains the Crucified One (E.E. Ellis, "'Christ Crucified,'" RH, 70). σκάνδαλον acc. sing. (# 4998) the stick which an animal stumbled over, causing the trap to shut; stumbling block, cause of stumbling, something that trips men up (Barrett; TDNT; NTW, 111-14). It indicates the occasion for guilt and the cause of destruction (Schrage). ἔθνεσιν dat. pl. ἔθνος (# 1620) Gentile. Ethical dat., "in the opinion of." μωρίαν (# 3702) acc. sing. foolishness, nonsense, that which displays a senseless act or thinking or speaking (NIDNTT; TLNT). The two nouns are in apposition to the object. ◆ 24 αὐτοῖς dat. pl. αὐτός (# 899) self. Ethical dat., "to them," or "to the called themselves" (Weiss). τε ... καί both ... and. ◆ 25 τὸ μωρὸν τοῦ θεοῦ (# 3836; 3704; 3836; 2536) "the foolish thing of God" is that work of God which the world considers foolishness (Grosheide). σοφώτερον comp. of σοφός (# 5055) wise; comp., "wiser," followed by the gen. of comp.; wiser than men w. all their strength (Godet). ἀσθενής (# 476) weak, without strength. ἰσχυρότερον comp. ἰσχυρός (# 2708) strong; comp., "stronger." The definite article refers to the salvation work of the cross (Schrage). ◆ 26 βλέπετε pres. ind. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see, to look at. γάρ (# 1142) for. It is explanatory: "you can see what I mean" (Barrett). κλῆσις (# 3104) calling. οὐ πολλοί (# 4024; 4498) not many. The term is not exclusive ("none at all!"), but is limiting. κατά (# 2848) according, according to the standard of. It speaks of wisdom gained according to the flesh; that is, according to natural and human abilities (Weiss). δυνατός (# 1543) powerful. εὐγενεῖς nom. pl. εὐγενής (# 2302) noble, well-born (TLNT, 1:95-96; NDIEC, 2:58-60). The social structure of the church at Corinth included those from all levels of society. There were those from the lower levels of society as well as some from the upper levels (Gerd Theissen, "Soziale Schichtung in der korinthischen Gemeinde. Ein Beitrag zur Soziologie des hellenistischen Urchristentums," ZNW 65 [1974]: 232-72; Dieter Sänger, "Die δυνατοί in 1 Kor 1:26," ZNW 76 [1985]: 285-91; David W.J. Gill, "Acts and the Urban Elites," BAFCS, 2:105-18, esp. 110-13; Fee). ◆ 27 ἐξ-ελέξατο aor. ind. mid. (indir. mid., "for oneself") ἐκλέγομαι (# 1721) to pick out, to select, to choose for oneself (GGBB, 421). καταισχύνῃ pres. subj. act. καταισχύνω (# 2875) to put to shame, to humiliate, to disgrace (BAGD; LN, 1:310). The prep. in compound is perfective (RWP). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 28 ἀγενῆ (# 822) not of noble birth, low, insignificant. For the neg. force of the prefix s. Rom. 1:20. ἐξουθενημένα perf. pass. part. ἐξουθενέω (# 2024) to despise, to consider as nothing. For the force of the prep. in compound and the development of this word s. MH, 310. Perf. denotes not only quality, but also that the things which were once despised will continue to be despised (Grosheide). Part. as subst. ἐξελέξατο aor. ind. mid. ἐκλέγομαι (# 1721) to pick out (s.v. 27). ὄντα pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be; μὴ ὄντα "the things which do not exist," "which are nonexistent." A more contemptible expression in Greek thinking was not possible. Being was everything (Weiss). Part. as subst. Acc. can be taken as another dir. obj. or as being in apposition to the two previous objects. καταργήσῃ aor. subj. act. καταργέω (# 2934) to put out of action, to make inactive, to reduce to nothing (TDNT; EDNT). Prep. in compound indicates an action unfavorable to its object (MH, 316). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 29 ὅπως (# 3968) w. subj. used to express intended results (BD, 196). Here it expresses neg. results. καυχήσηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) καυχάομαι (# 3016) to boast, to glory. πᾶσα σὰρξ all flesh, any flesh; w. the neg., no flesh; that is, "no one," an OT expression (Barrett). ◆ 30 ἐξ αὐτοῦ from him; that is, "you are born of him in Christ Jesus" (Lightfoot, Notes). ἐστε pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἐγενήθη aor. ind. pass. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Pass. can either denote "has been made" or "became" (Schrage; BD, 42). σοφία (# 5053) wisdom, s.v. 17. Christ is the true wisdom and union w. Him makes the believer truly wise (Hodge; for Christ as the wisdom of God s. PW; PRJ, 147-76). ἡμῖν dat. pl. ἐγώ (# 1609) I; "for us." Dat. of advantage. δικαιοσύνη (# 1466) righteousness, the status of being in the right before God (GW, 147; for the view that it means God's loving, gracious, loyal action which believers share in s. MRP, 155). ἁγιασμός (# 40) holiness, sanctification (TDNT; EDNT). ἀπολύτρωσις (# 667) redemption, release through the payment of a ransom price (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT; LDC). It was used for the release of prisoners by the payment of a price (Jos., Ant., 12:27). Perhaps here pointing to the last great day, the consummation of redemption (Morris; Schrage) or it may refer to the present passion (LDC, 185-88). The last three terms are an explanation of the word "wisdom" (Lightfoot, Notes). ◆ 31 ἵνα (# 2671) w. subj. used here in an elliptical expression: "in order that it might come to pass, work out just as" (BD, 255). γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. s.v. 19. καυχώμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. καυχάομαι (# 3016) to boast. The cond. part. used as the subject of the cl. is due to Semitic influence (Barrett). καυχάσθω pres. mid. (dep.) imp. 3rd. pers. sing. καυχάομαι. The force here is a command, not permissive (GGBB, 486).

1 Corinthians 2

◆ 1 κἀγώ (# 2743) = καὶ ἔγω "and I"; accordingly. It emphasizes the apostle's consistency w. the principles laid down in the preceding verses (RP). ἐλθών aor. act. part. (temp.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. "When I came," giving simultaneous action (GGBB, 614; 624-25). ἦλθον aor. ind. act. 1st. pers. sing. ἔρχομαι to come (# 2262). καθ' = κατά (# 2848) w. acc., according to. It can indicate the nature or characteristic of a thing or manner (BAGD). ὑπεροχή (# 5667) prominence, superiority, excellency. λόγος (# 3364) word, speech. σοφία (# 5053) wisdom. The two nouns are close together in meaning; eloquence is rational talk and wisdom is wordy cleverness (Barrett; for the role of the "persuader," s. Liftin and Bullmore as noted in 1:17). For the emphasis on oratory in education and the importance of a skilled speaker in the ancient world s. CC, 151ff; KP 4:1396-414; Aristotle, Art of Rhetoric; Quintilian (s. Liftin and Bullmore as noted in 1:17). καταγγέλλων pres. act. part. καταγγέλλω (# 2859) to proclaim, to make a solemn proclamation (NIDNTT). Pres. emphasizes the continual action and the part. is a part. of manner. In his proclamation Paul placed no reliance upon eloquence or wisdom, but it does not mean he did not employ any kind of speech or wisdom. It is just that these were not prominent in his evangelism (Barrett). μυστήριον θεοῦ (# 3457; 2536) the mystery of God, the counsel of God, unknown to man except by revelation, especially concerning His saving work and ultimate purposes in history (ZPEB, 4:327; TDNT; EDNT; DPL, 621-23; ABD, 4:941-42). Subjective gen. (Lightfoot, Notes). For the variant reading μαρτύριον ("testimony") s. TC, 545. ◆ 2 ἔκρινα aor. ind. act. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge, to decide. It emphasizes a deliberate act of the will (Lietzmann). Aor. states a fact which had come to its conclusion when Paul arrived at Corinth. He had to go on preaching Christ (Grosheide). εἰδέναι perf. act. inf. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf w. pres. meaning; "to exhibit the knowledge of, recognize" (Lightfoot, Notes). Inf. used in indir. discourse. ἐν ὑμῖν in your midst. εἰ μή (# 1623; 3590) except. καὶ τοῦτον and this one; specifies the point on which stress was laid, the effect being that of a climax (RP). ἐσταυρωμένον perf. pass. part. σταυρόω (# 5090) to crucify (s. 1:23). Adj. part. without the article emphasizes the character. Perf. indicates the abiding results. ◆ 3 κἀγώ (# 2743) s.v. 1. Here it points again to Paul's arrival at Corinth (Weiss). ἀσθενείᾳ (# 819) dat. sing. weakness. τρόμος (# 5571) trembling. The words point to the anxiety or solicitude of mind arising out of a sense of his insufficiency, and of the infinite importance of his work (Hodge). Dat. of manner explaining his manner of life among them. ἐγενόμην aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Used w. πρός (# 4639) to come to someone, to be w. someone. ◆ 4 πειθός (# 4273) persuasive. For the formation of this word s. RG, 157. Paul may be referring to the halakic and haggadic discussions current in Jewish Corinth rather than sophistic rhetoric in Hellenistic Corinth (Wilhem Wuellner, "Haggadic Homily Genre in I Corinthians 1-3," JBL 89 [1970]: 203). There may, however, be allusions to Greek rhetoric (Fee). ἀπόδειξις (# 618) demonstration, argumentation, proof (GELTS, 49). In Greek rhetoric the word indicates a compelling decision demanded by the presupposition or premises (Fascher; Fee; Quintilan 5, 10:7; for the word as used in Josephus s. CCFJ, 1:179). The following genitives are both obj. (spirit and power are manifested) and subjective (the spirit and power bring proof and conviction) (Barrett). ◆ 5 ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) expresses purp. ἐν (# 1877) in. The prep. marks the medium or sphere in which faith has its root (RP). ◆ 6 δέ (# 1254) but. Paul contrasted the wisdom which he speaks w. that of his opponents (Pearson). λαλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. λαλέω (# 4246) to speak. Pres. indicates a present action as well as a common practice. τέλειος (# 5455) having attained the end or purpose, full-grown, mature, adult (BAGD). αἰῶνος gen. sing. αἰών (# 172) age, the course and current of this world's affairs (Trench, Synonyms, 217; TDNT; EDNT; RAC, 1:193-204; NIDNTT, 3:826-33). Gen. of source, indicating the origin, or the gen. may be descriptive, explaining the kind of wisdom. ἀρχόντων pres. act. part. ἄρχω (# 807) to rule. Part. as subst. The part. refers to the human rulers of this world, the general men of authority (A.W. Carr, "The Rulers of this Age-I Cor. ii. 6-8," NTS 23 [October, 1976], 20-35; Gene Iller, "ΑΡΧΟΝΤΩΝ ΤΟΥ ΑΙΩΝΟΣ ΤΟΥΤΟΥ - A New Look at I Corinthians 2:6-8," JBL 91 [1972]: 522-28; BBC). καταργουμένων pres.

pass. part. adj. καταργέω (# 2934) to make idle, to put out of commission, to remove from power (s. 1:28). Pres. indicates a process in progress. Theol. pass. indicating that God is the one acting. ◆ 7 ἀλλά (# 247) but. It introduces the positive side again, and at the same time gives a strong neg. emphasis (Grosheide). θεοῦ gen. sing. θεός (# 2536) God. Placed before the noun for strong emphasis. Descriptive gen., "divine wisdom," or gen. of source, indicating the origin. The wisdom of God is the work of Christ in His crucifixion, as God's secret plan of redemption and the exalted Christ who presently mediates God's hidden wisdom to His people (E.E. Ellis, "'Wisdom' and 'Knowledge' in I Corinthians," TB 25 [1974]: 95). ἐν μυστηρίῳ (# 1877; 3696) in a mystery (s.v. 1). ἀποκεκρυμμένην perf. pass. part. ἀποκρύπτω (# 648) to veil, to hide. Adj. part. Perf. indicates the continuing state or condition. προώρισεν aor. ind. act. προορίζω (# 4633) to mark off w. boundaries beforehand, to predetermine, to predestinate (s. Rom 8:28-29). πρὸ τῶν αἰώνων (# 4574; 172) before the ages; that is, "before time." εἰς δόξαν ἡμῶν (# 1659; 1518; 1609) for our glory. The phrase indicates our complete salvation (RP). ◆ 8 ἔγνωκεν perf. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know, to recognize, to discern. Perf. pictures the continuing results. ἔγνωσαν aor. ind. act. Ind. w. a contrary to fact cond. cl. (BD, 182; GGBB, 683; VA, 304-5). δόξης gen. sing. δόξα (# 1518) glory. Gen. is not only a gen. of quality, but indicates that only Christ rules over glory; this is a title for God Himself (Weiss). ἐσταύρωσαν aor. ind. act. σταυρόω (# 5090) to crucify (s. 1:23). ◆ 9 ἀλλά (# 247) but. The contrast may be between the ignorance expressed in v. 8, and knowing, as expressed in an elliptical construction introduced by ἀλλά and the vb. ἔγνωσαν (v. 8), which is to be understood (Bo Frid, "The Enigmatic ΑΛΛΑ in I Corinthians 2.9," NTS 31 [1985]: 603-11; Fee). καθώς (# 2777) just as, in accordance w. γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write. The source of Paul's quotation is not known. It may be from a Jewish liturgy, or be based on Isa. 64:4 (LXX 64:3) or Isa. 52:15, or be from an Apocalypse of Elijah, or an amalgamation of OT ideas (Pearson, 35; Fee; SB, 3:327-29; Klaus Berger, "Zur Diskussion über die Herkunft von I Kor. ii.9," NTS 24 [1978]: 270-83). It is reported that one rabbi said that the prophets prophesied only in respect of the Messianic era; but as for the world to come–"the eye hath not seen, O God, besides thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him" (b. Sanh. 99b). εἶδεν aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. οὖς (# 4044) ear. ἤκουσεν aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. καρδία (# 2840) heart. The whole man is viewed from his intentionality; it is the source of the will, emotion, thoughts, and affections (PAT, 448; DPL, 768). ἀνέβη aor. ind. act. ἀναβαίνω (# 326) to go up, to arise, here "to enter into." ἡτοίμασεν aor. ind. act. ἑτοιμάζω (# 2286) to prepare. ἀγαπῶσιν pres. act. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Dat. of personal interest. ◆ 10 ἡμῖν dat. pl. (# 1609) ἐγώ I; "to us." A substantivized verbal adj. w. a pass. meaning, followed by the gen. designating the agent (MT, 234). "Not in words taught by human wisdom, but in words taught by the Spirit" (IBG, 40). ἀνθρώπινος (# 474) human. For an adj. w. this ending signifying material, origin, or kind s. MH, 359. πνευματικός (# 4461) spiritual, pertaining to the Spirit. For an adj. w. this ending s. MH, 378. The word can be n. ("spiritual things") or masc. ("spiritual persons") (RP; Barrett). For a discussion s. Birger A. Pearson, The "Pneumatikos-Psychikos" Terminology in 1 Corinthians: A Study in the Theology of the Corinthian Opponents of Paul and Its Relation to Gnosticism, SBLDS 12 (Missoula: Scholars Press, 1973). συγκρίνοντες pres. act. part. συγκρίνω (# 5173) to judge together. The vb. has various meanings which are possible in this passage: to bring together, to combine, compare, or explain, to interpret (BAGD; RP; Fee; GELTS, 446; TDNT; Schrage; for the meaning "to compare," "to measure oneself against," as used in Josephus s. CCFJ, 4:76). ◆ 14 ψυχικός (# 6035) soulish, pertaining to the soul or life, pertaining to behavior which is typical of human nature, in contrast w. that which is under the control of God's Spirit (LN, 1:509; TDNT). It describes the natural man who does not possess the Holy Spirit (TDNT; PAT, 334-46; for strong arguments rejecting the gnostic influence on Paul's use of this term s. Pearson, 7-14). δέχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) δέχομαι (# 1312) to receive. Pres. indicates the habitual action. μωρία (# 3702) foolishness, nonsense (s. 1:18). δύναται pres. ind. pass. δύναμαι (# 4024) to be able to, w. inf. It was used to refer to the authoritative character of that which stands written (MM). Paul may be referring to the Scripture passages which he has quoted or to his own teaching (Hooker, NTS 10:128ff). εἷς ὑπὲρ τοῦ ἑνὸς ... κατὰ τοῦ ἑτέρου (# 1651; 5642; 3836; 2848; 2283) each on behalf of one and against another (Barrett). φυσιοῦσθε pres. ind. pass. or pres. subj. pass., by irregular contraction (RWP) φυσιόω (# 5881) to puff up, to inflate, to blow up. ◆ 7 διακρίνει pres. ind. act. διακρίνω (# 1359) to judge between two, to make a distinction, to make different (Weiss; MH, 302; Fee). This is probably best taken as a rhetorical question (Barrett). ἔλαβες aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. καί (# 2779) It throws emphasis on the vb. and w. the cond. particle represents the insistence on what is fact (RP). καυχᾶσαι pres. ind. mid. 2nd. sing. (dep.) καυχάομαι (# 3016) to boast. λαβών aor. act. part. (cond.) λαμβάνω (# 3284). ◆ 8 κεκορεσμένοι perf. pass. part. κορέννυμι (# 3016) to satisfy w. food, to fill; pass., to be satisfied w. food, to have enough of. Used ironically: "you think you already have all the spiritual food you need" (BAGD). Part. in a periphrastic construction or as pred. adj. Perf.

emphasizes the completed state or condition. ἐπλουτήσατε aor. ind. act. πλουτέω (# 4456) to be rich. Ingressive aor., "to become rich." χωρίς (# 6006) w. gen., without. ἐβασιλεύσατε aor. ind. act. βασιλεύω (# 996) to rule, to reign as a king. ὄφελον particle derived from ὀφείλω (# 4054) to owe; expressing an impossible wish (BD, 181; MKG, 252; RG, 1003f). συμβασιλεύσωμεν aor. subj. act. συμβασιλεύω (# 996) to rule together, to be a co-ruler. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 9 δοκῶ pres. ind. act. δοκέω (# 1506) to think, to suppose, to assume. ἔσχατος (# 2274) last. ἀπέδειξεν aor. ind. act. ἀποδείκνυμι (# 617) to show, to expose to view, to exhibit. A technical word of bringing a person into the arena. The apostles were brought out to make the grand finale (Lightfoot, Notes). ἐπιθανάτιος (# 2119) condemned to die, used of criminals sentenced to death in the arena (PAM, 189). θέατρον (# 2519) theater, play, spectacle (Lightfoot, Notes). Gladiatorial games were held in Corinth as well as Rome (Schrage; RAC, 11:23-45; LLAR, 288-302). ἐγενήθημεν aor. ind. pass. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be made. Paul uses the picture to illustrate the humility and indignity to which the apostles are subjected. God is the one who set up this spectacle and uses the weakness of His servants in order to demonstrate His power and strength (PAM, 189). ◆ 10 ἡμεῖς nom. pl. ἐγώ I (# 1609) we! Emphatic and contrasted w. ὑμεῖς. μωρός (# 3704) dull, stupid, foolish, ridiculous (s. 1:18; TLNT). Pred. nom. without the article stressing the character or quality. διά (# 1328) w. acc., because, on account of. φρόνιμος (# 5861) sensible, smart. pred. nom. ἔνδοξος (# 1902) honored, distinguished, eminent. Pred. nom. ἄτιμος (# 872) without honor. Paul assumes the position of one who has been humiliated and dishonored, but his opponents consider themselves as superior in all respects and intend that their conduct should dishonor or shame others (EC, 210-11). ◆ 11 καί ... καί (# 2779) "both ... and." Paul now describes himself as a socially and economically disadvantaged person (EC, 211-13). πεινῶμεν pres. ind. act. πεινάω (# 4277) to be hungry. διψῶμεν pres. ind. act. διψάω (# 1498) to be thirsty. γυμνιτεύομεν pres. ind. act. γυμνιτεύω (# 1217) to be naked, to be scantily clothed, to be poorly clothed (Schrage). κολαφιζόμεθα pres. ind. pass. κολαφίζω (# 3139) to hit w. the fist, to beat, not simply strike w. the fist, in an insulting manner (like slaves or a condemned man) (Barrett). ἀστατοῦμεν pres. ind. act. ἀστατέω (# 841) to be homeless, to be without a roof over one's head. ◆ 12 κοπιῶμεν pres. ind. act. κοπιάω (# 3159) to toil, to labor, to do hard work, to work till one is weary or exhausted (TLNT; TDNT). ἐργαζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work. Greeks despised manual labor (NW, 2, i, 270; RAC, 1:585-90; TRE 3:622-24; EC, 212). Paul glories in it, and even the rabbis often worked to support themselves (RP; SB, 3:338). Part. of manner. χερσίν dat. pl. χείρ (# 5931) hand. Instr. dat. λοιδορούμενοι pres. pass. part. λοιδορέω (# 3366) to abuse w. words. It was a common practice of speakers and politicians to insult and abuse their opponents (TDNT; TLNT). Temp. or concessive part. (Kistemaker). εὐλογοῦμεν pres. ind. act. εὐλογέω (# 2328) to bless. διωκόμενοι pres. pass. part. διώκω (# 1503) to pursue, to hunt, to persecute. Temp. or concessive part. ἀνεχόμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀνέχομαι (# 462) to endure, to forbear. ◆ 13 δυσφημούμενοι pres. mid./pass. part. δυσφημέω (# 1555) to defame, to slander. Temp. or concessive part. παρακαλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage, to comfort. Humiliation suffered normally leads to anger, which is defined as a desire for revenge accompanied by pain and the recovering of one's own honor, but Paul instead blesses, endures, and conciliates (EC, 214). περικάθαρμα (# 4326) that which is cleansed all around, that which is removed–dirt and filth–as a result of a thorough cleansing; a base insult when applied to humans (TLNT; Jos., JW, 4:241; NW, 2, ii, 272). The word was also used of condemned criminals of the lowest class who were sacrificed as offerings for the cleansing of a city in the sense of a ransom (TDNT; Lightfoot, Notes; EGT; TLNT; GELTS, 374). ἐγενήθημεν aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) s.v. 9. περίψημα (# 4370) that which is removed by the process of cleaning dirt off, scouring, scum. The previous word indicates a rinsing, this word a scraping of a dirty vessel (TLNT). It was used in the papyri in a letter conveying the greeting; "your humble and devoted servant" (MM). It was used in the baths as an ironical form of greeting, "your offscouring," meaning "your humble servant" (LLAR, 30). ◆ 14 ἐντρέπων pres. act. part. ἐντρέπω (# 1956) to shame, to make ashamed. Pres. part. expresses purp. (MT, 157). Pres. may also be viewed as conative, "I am not trying to shame you" (Barrett). νουθετῶν pres. act. part. νουθετέω (# 3805) to admonish, to correct through admonition (TDNT; EDNT). Parents are responsible to reprimand, admonish, and correct their children (TLNT, 2:550). Part. expresses purp. Pres. expresses a continuing action. ◆ 15 ἐάν (# 1569) if, w. subj. introduces a 3rd. class cond. cl. in which the assumption is left undetermined, but there is some expectation of realization (Funk, 2:683). μυρίους masc. acc. pl. μύριοι (# 3692) ten thousand; in masc. pl., innumerable (BAGD; Kistemaker). παιδαγωγός (# 4080) child trainer, guardian, a trusted slave who was in charge of getting the children to the teacher (Fee; Schrage; s. Gal. 3:24). ἔχητε pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in cond. cl. πατέρας acc. pl. πατήρ (# 4252) father. In contrast to the guardians, the father has the authority and bears the responsibility for the children (Fee). ἐγέννησα aor. ind. act. γεννάω (# 1164) to bear, to produce. Paul describes himself as their father. The instructor acts as representative of the father, but can never take his place (Schlatter). ◆ 16 παρακαλῶ pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to urge, to exhort. μιμητής (# 3629) imitator, one who copies or mimics another, w. obj. gen. μου. Pred. nom. Children were to be like their father (DPL, 428-31). γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. Pres. imp. calls for an habitual action. ◆ 17 ἔπεμψα aor. ind. act. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. Not the epistolary aor., because Timothy had not yet reached Corinth and was not the one who delivered this letter (s. 16:10) (Lietzmann). ἀναμνήσει fut. ind. act. ἀναμιμνήσκω (# 389) to bring to memory, to remind. Fut. is used in a rel. cl. expressing purp. (RG, 960). ὁδός (# 3847) way. Here it probably refers to Paul's teachings (Weiss), or to his general manner of life. πανταχοῦ (# 4116) everywhere. ◆ 18 ἐρχομένου pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Gen. abs. expressing a neg. condition "as if I were not coming." It introduces a neg. thought of some Corinthians (Kistemaker). ἐφυσιώθησάν aor. ind. pass. φυσιόω (# 5881) to puff up (s.v. 6). Ingressive aor., "some have become arrogant" (Kistemaker). τινες nom. pl. (# 5516) τίς a certain one. "Certain ones." ◆ 19 ἐλεύσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. ταχέως (# 5441) adv. quickly, soon. θελήσῃ aor. subj. act. θέλω (# 2527) to wish, to desire. Subj. in a 3rd. class cond. in which the cond. is viewed as a possibility. γνώσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) γινώσκω (# 1182) to know, to recognize. πεφυσιωμένων perf. pass. part. φυσιόω (# 5881) to puff up (s.v. 6). Perf. emphasizes the completed state or condition (s. Rom. 3:21). ◆ 20 ἡ βασιλεία τοῦ θεοῦ (# 993; 3836; 2536) the kingdom of God; that is, God's rule. The vb. to be supplied is either "is" or "does not operate" (Barrett; DPL, 524-26). ◆ 21 ἐν (# 1877) with; instr. use of the prep. similar to the Hebraic use (BD, 117f; Lietzmann; Hering). ῥάβδος (# 4811) rod, staff, stick. The figure indicates severity and is intended as a warning (Lenski). ἔλθω aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) s.v. 19. Deliberative subj., "should I come?" πραΰτης (# 4559) meekness, gentleness, restrained patience (s. Matt. 5:5).

1 Corinthians 5

◆ 1 ὅλως (# 3914) actually (Barrett), universally, everywhere (Hering; Kistemaker). ἀκούεται pres. ind. pass. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Pres. shows contemporary action. Temp. part., "when he has a lawsuit." κρίνεσθαι pres. mid./pass. inf. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge; the permissive mid. or pass., "allow yourselves to be judged" (BD, 165, 166). Pres. indicates that the trial was being held and no decision had yet been reached. Epex. inf. as obj. of the vb. ἐπί (# 2093) w. gen. before, in the presence of (RWP). ἀδικος (# 96) unrighteous. Adj. as subst., "the unrighteous ones." These were either pagan judges or Jewish judges who tried cases in the synagogue (Albert Stein, "Wo trugen die korinthischen Christen ihre Rechtshandel aus?" ZNW 59 [1968]: 86-90; SB, 3:364); or it refers to the character of judges or the juries who pronounce verdicts in civil cases (Bruce W. Winter, "Civil Litigation in Secular Corinth and the Church: The Forensic Background to 1 Corinthians 6.1-8," NTS 37 [1991]: 559-72; esp. 562-64). The problem may have been that the upper-class believers were taking those of a lower class to court, where the ones w. a lower status were at a disadvantage (Alan C. Mitchell, "Rich and Poor in the Courts of Corinth: Litigiousness and Status in 1 Corinthians 6.1-11," NTS 39 [1993], 562-86). For the corruptness of the courts at that time s. Winter, "Civil Litigation," NTS 37 (1991): 562-66; Mitchell, "Rich and Poor," NTS 39 (1993): 580-81. ◆ 2 οὐκ (# 4042) neg. introducing a question expecting a positive answer: "you know, don't you?" οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. κρινοῦσιν fut. ind. act. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge (s. Dan. 7:22; SB, 3:363). κρίνεται pres. ind. pass. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. Futuristic pres. used in a 1st. class cond. cl. which assumes the reality of the cond. ἀνάξιος (# 396) unworthy, not equal to the task, w. gen. (For the neg. prefix s. Rom. 1:20). Pred. adj. without the article emphasizing the quality or character. κριτήριον (# 3215) law court, tribunal, lawsuit, cause, law proceeding (Weiss), legal cause (Winter, "Civil Litigation," NTS 37 [1991]: 560). For the suf. and its meaning s. MH, 343. Gen. w. the adj. ἀνάξιος which express value (BD, 98). ἐλαχίστων gen. pl. superl. μικρός (# 1788) small, insignificant; superl., smallest. 1 Cor. 6 discusses the nature of civil litigation in Corinth with brother taking brother to court for the smallest causes (Winter, "Civil Litigation," NTS 37 [1991]: 560). ◆ 3 οὐκ (# 4024) neg. introducing a question expecting a positive answer. κρινοῦμεν fut. ind. act. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. μήτιγε (# 3615) not to speak of (BD, 220). βιωτικός (# 1053) that which pertains to daily living. It means questions related to our life on earth or to the resources of life such as food, clothing, property, etc. (RP). ◆ 4 μὲν οὖν gives a contrast: "no, but" or "no, rather" (RP). ἔχητε pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Subj. in a 3rd. class cond. cl. assuming the possibility of the cond. ἐξουθενημένους perf. pass. part. ἐξουθενέω (# 2024) to consider as nothing, to despise, to reject w. contempt. It probably refers to those in the church who are little esteemed (Grosheide) rather than to those outside of the church. Paul seems to be using irony to indicate the actual high status of the Corinthian Christians (Winter, "Civil Litigation," NTS 37 [1991]: 570). καθίζετε pres. ind. or imp. act. καθίζω (# 2767) to cause to sit, to appoint. ◆ 5 ἐντροπή (# 1959) shame, a state of embarrassment resulting from what one has done or failed to do (LN, 1:310; GELTS, 155). οὕτως (# 4048) so. "Has it come to this that," "is it to such a degree true that?" (Lightfoot, Notes). ἔνι (# 1928) pres. ind. act. 3rd. sing. ἔνι shortened form of ἔνεστιν to be, to exist, to be found (BD, 49). οὐδείς (# 4029) no one, not even one. σοφός (# 5055) wise. Paul may be using irony to refer to the ones who claim wisdom but do not use it to bring peace among the parties (Schrage). They could have used their wisdom in a legal capacity as arbitrators (Winter, "Civil Litigation," NTS 37 [1991]: 568-69). δυνήσεται fut. ind. pass. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. Fut. used to designate a sort of consequence resulting from some quality, "such that" (BD, 192). διακρῖναι aor. act. inf. διακρίνω (# 1359) to judge between two, to decide. For the force of the prep. in compound s. MH, 302f. ἀνὰ μέσον (# 324; 3545) between. τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ αὐτοῦ an abridged sentence conveying a reproach "must his brothers go before strangers?" (Lightfoot, Notes). ◆ 6 ἀλλά (# 247) but in reality. κρίνεται pres. ind. mid./pass. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge (s.v. 1). καὶ τοῦτο and at that, and especially (BD, 151). Climactic force of the part. used w. acc. of general reference (RWP). ἄπιστος (# 603) unbeliever. For the neg. force of the prefix s. Rom. 1:20. Perhaps there is a slight nuance of "unfaithful," along w. the connotation of "evil." ◆ 7 ὅλως (# 3914) adv., altogether, assuredly, actually. ἥττημα (# 2488) defeat. The word was used of a judicial defeat in court (Schlatter); here used of moral and spiritual defeat (Weiss). ὑμῖν dat. pl. σύ (# 5148). Dat. of disadvantage. κρίμα (# 3210) judgment, lawsuit. μεθ' ἑαυτῶν (# 3552; 1571) w. yourselves. The reflex. pron. emphasizes the idea of corporate unity (Lightfoot, Notes). μᾶλλον (# 3437) adv., rather. ἀδικεῖσθε pres. ind. mid./pass. ἀδικέω (# 92) to wrong someone, to treat someone unjustly. ἀποστερεῖσθε pres. ind. mid./pass. ἀποστρεφέω (# 691) to defraud, to steal, to deprive, to take something from someone by means of deception or trickery (LN, 1:585; NDIEC, 2:47; 3:82). The two forms here are permissive mid. or pass. (MT, 56f; BD, 165). ◆ 8 ὑμεῖς (# 5148) you! Emphatic. ἀδικεῖτε pres. ind. act. ἀδικέω (# 92) to wrong someone (s.v. 7). Both pres. indicate actions in progress. καὶ τοῦτο and that (# 2779; 4047) (s.v. 6). ◆ 9 οὐκ neg. introducing a question expecting a positive answer. θεοῦ (# 2536) emphatic by its position. κληρονομήσουσιν fut. ind. act. κληρονομέω (# 3099) to inherit, to enter into full possession of (Morris). πλανᾶσθε pres. imp. mid./pass. πλανάω (# 4414) to lead astray, to mislead, to deceive. Permissive mid. or pass. (s.v. 1). Pres. imp. w. the neg. is used to stop an action in progress, "do not continue" (MKG, 272). εἰδω-λολάτρης (# 1629) one who serves idols, idolater. μοιχός (# 3659) adulterer. μαλακός (# 3434) soft, effeminate; a t.t. for the passive partner in homosexual relations (Barrett; Conzelmann; RAC, 4:620-50; LAE, 164). ἀρσενοκοίτης (# 780) a male who has sexual relations w. a male, homosexual (Rom. 1:26; NW 2, i:279-81; Schrage; Fee; MM; BAGD; also David E. Malick, "The Condemnation of Homosexuality in 1 Corinthians 6:9," Bib Sac 150 [1993]: 479-92; DPL, 413-14). The Jewish punishment for the sin of homosexuality was stoning (SB, 3:70-74). ◆ 10 κλέπτης (# 3095) one who steals, thief. πλεονέκτης (# 4431) one desirous of having more and seeking to fulfill his desires through all means (s. 5:10). μέθυσος (# 3500) drunkard. λοίδορος (# 3368) one who uses abusive language (s. 5:11). ἅρπαξ (# 774) robber, one who uses force and violence in stealing (BAGD). For similar lists which were used in the ancient world in a popular game s. LAE, 316. ◆ 11 καί (# 2779) and, and it is true (Godet). ταῦτα (# 4047) these things. The n. is contemptuous, "such abominations!" (EGT). τινες nom. pl. τις (# 5516) a certain one; some. Paul narrows the picture from all to some (RWP). ἦτε impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Impf. refers to their past condition. ἀλλά (# 247) but; emphasizes strongly the contrast between their past and pres. and the demand their changed moral condition makes upon them (RP). ἀπελούσασθε aor. ind. mid. ἀπολούω (# 666) to wash, to wash thoroughly. Prep. in compound points to the complete washing away and the aor. refers to a decisive action (Morris). Permissive mid., or mid. w. pass., meaning since the word in the NT only occurs in mid. (Fee). ἡγιάσθητε aor. ind. pass. ἁγιάζω (# 39) to set apart for the use of God, to sanctify, to make holy. It does not refer to the process of ethical development, but means "you were claimed by God as His own and made a member of His holy people" (Barrett). ἐδικαιώθητε aor. ind. pass. δικαιόω (# 1467) to justify, to declare righteous, to declare to be in the right (s. Rom. 2:13). ἐν (# 1877) in, w. dat. Instr. dat. ◆ 12 ἔξεστιν (# 2003) pres. ind. act. impers., it is allowed, it is permitted, w. epex. inf. Paul is evidently quoting a common saying in Corinth (Weiss; Barrett; NW 2, i:281; SB, 3:365; Schrage; TDNT). συμφέρει pres. ind. act. συμφέρω (# 5237) to bring together, to confer a benefit, to be advantageous or profitable or useful (BAGD). ἐξουσιασθήσομαι fut. ind. pass. ἐξουσιάζω (# 2027) to bring under the power of someone, to put under the authority of someone. Volitive fut. involving a decision of the will (RG, 874). Permissive pass., "I will not allow myself to be." ◆ 13 βρῶμα (# 1109) food. κοιλίᾳ (# 3120) dat. sing. stomach. Dat. of advantage. καὶ ταύτην καὶ ταῦτα both this (fem. referring to κοιλία) and these things (acc. pl. referring to βρώματα). καταργήσει fut. ind. act. καταργέω (# 2934) to make ineffective, to do away w. The organs of digestion will be changed at the resurrection and the physical constitution of the resurrected body will be different from that of the mortal body (SBT, 54). σῶμα (# 5393) body, the physical body, not a reference to the whole person w. his personality, but rather the physical body (SBT, 51-80). πορνείᾳ (# 4518) dat. sing. illicit sex, fornication, sexual immorality, prostitution (LN, 1:771; TDNT; EDNT; NIDNTT, 1:499-501; BBC). Dat. of personal interest. κυρίῳ dat. sing. κύριος (# 3261) Lord. Dat. of personal interest or dat. of ownership. σώματι dat. sing. (# 5393) Dat. of interest or advantage. The Lord is for the body in that He wants to rule it and use it as a tool for service (Schrage). ◆ 14 καὶ ... καί (# 2779) "both ... and." ἤγειρεν aor. ind. act. ἐγείρω (# 1586) to raise up. ἐξεγερεῖ fut. ind. act. ἐξεγείρω (# 1995) to raise up out of. ◆ 15 οὐκ (# 4024) neg. introducing a question expecting a positive answer, "you know, don't you?" μέλη nom. pl. μέλος (# 3517) member; used in an ecclesiastical and figurative meaning, but the figure rests on a strictly physical definition (SBT, 61). Pred. nom. ἄρας aor. act. part. αἴρω (# 149) to take away, to take. Temp. or cond. part. οὖν (# 4036) therefore draws a conclusion from the premise of the previous statement. ποιήσω aor. subj. act. (deliberative subj.), or fut. ind. act. (RWP) ποιέω (# 4472) to make. πόρνη (# 4520) prostitute. Prostitutes were often well-educated, intellectual, artistic, and jovial; they entertained not only w. their sexual services, but w. stimulating and intellectual discussions, poetry, song and dance, and witty stories. They combined both fine intellectual and sensual pleasures. In Corinth and Megara there were even schools for prostitutes. They were often in the service of a deity, called the "foals of Aphrodite" (RAC, 3:1149-1213; Lukian, Hetären Gespräche [Köln: Bund Verlag, 1983]; TDNT; DGRA, 604-6; Schrage; Iwan Bloch, Die Prostitution, [Berlin: Luis Marcus Verlagsbuchhandlung, 1912], 209-538, esp. 283-310; Rosamund Seymour, Stews and Strumpets: A Survey of Prostitution, vol. 1 Primitive, Classical and Oriental [London: MacGibbon & Kee, 1961], 44-139, esp. 63-73). Athenaeus quoting (actually misquoting) from a speech of the orator Demosthenes (which he says was actually delivered by the advocate Apollodrus!) writes, "We have harlots (ἑταίρας) for pleasure, mistresses (παλλακάς) for concubinage, but wives to produce children legitimately and to have a faithful guardian of daily affairs" (Athenaeus, Deipnosophistae, 13:573b). He goes on to describe the prostitutes of Corinth, indicating that the city held a yearly festival for them at which time the prostitutes would carouse and get drunk (Athenaeus, Deipnosophistae, 13:573c-574c). Block, Die Prostitution, 476-538, discusses the use of prostitutes in pictures and literature of the Greek and Roman culture. γένοιτο aor. opt. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, "let it not be," indicating a false conclusion (s. Rom 3:4). ◆ 16 οὐκ (# 4024) neg. introducing a question expecting a positive answer. κολλώμενος pres. mid. part. κολλάω (# 3140) to join together, to unite. Dir. mid., "to join oneself. The word refers to sexual relations or to a close and intimate relationship (Schrage). Part. as subst. πόρνῃ (# 4520) dat. sing. s.v. 15. Dat. of association. ἕν (# 1651) nom. sing. n. εἷς (# 1651) one. ἐσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. φησίν pres. ind. act. φημί (# 5774) to say (SB, 3:365-66). εἰς (# 1659) σάρκα μίαν (# 4922; 1651) one flesh. The prep. in place of the pred. nom. is due to Semitic influence (MH, 462; KVS, 63). Becoming one flesh refers to physical union through sexual intercourse (SBT, 62). ◆ 17 ἓν πνεῦμα (# 1651; 4460) one spirit. Illicit union w. a harlot effects a oneness of physical relationship which contradicts the Lord's claim over the body and creates a disparity between the body and the spirit (still united to the Lord) (SBT, 69). ◆ 18 φεύγετε pres. imp. act. φεύγω (# 5771) to flee. Pres. imp. indicates it is to be a continual and habitual fleeing. ἁμάρτημα (# 280) sin, sin as the act or result of the principle of sin. For the suf. indicating the result of an action s. MH, 355. ἐάν (# 351) used after a rel. pron. giving a generalization "whatever." ποιήσῃ aor. subj. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to make (s.v. 15). Subj. in an indef. rel. cl. ἐκτός (# 1760) w. gen., outside. εἰς (# 1659) against. Immorality arises within the body and has as its sole purpose its gratification (Grosheide). ἁμαρτάνει pres. ind. act. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. Gnomic pres. indicating a principle which is always true. ◆ 19 οὐκ (# 4024) neg. introducing a question expecting a positive answer. ναός (# 3724) temple, the dwelling place of God, the inner sanctuary itself (Lenski). An allusion either to the temple in Jerusalem or to the temple of Aphrodite near Corinth (SBT, 78). Pred. nom. οὗ gen. sing. ὅς (# 4005) who, which, what; (# 4005) rel. pron. Gen. by attraction. ἐστέ pres. ind. act. εἰμι (# 1639) to be; w. gen; in the sense of "belonging to" (MT, 231). ◆ 20 ἠγοράσθητε aor. ind. pass. ἀγοράζω (# 60) to buy, to buy at the market place. For the purchasing of slaves in the ancient world s. FCS, 37ff; for a discussion of the background of the term s. Schrage. τιμῆς gen. sing. τιμή (# 5507) price. Gen. of price; "bought w. a price." Theol. pass. δοξάσατε aor. imp. act. δοξάζω (# 1519) to cause one to have a good opinion of someone, to glorify (TLNT; TDNT). δή (# 1314) then, certainly. Used as an intensive particle in a command of exhortation indicating that the point at last is clear and may be assumed as true (RG, 1149; BD, 285). ἐν (# 1877) w. dat. Local, in. Instr., with. The physical body is man's means of concrete service for God (SBT, 244).

1 Corinthians 7

◆ 1 περί (# 4309) w. gen., concerning. The expression περὶ δέ is used to introduce the subject matter about which the church at Corinth had written to Paul (s. 7:25; 8:1; 12:1; 16:1, 12 [Fee]). For the elliptical expression w. the gen. of the personal pron., gen. by attraction s. RP). ἐγράψατε aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Paul now gives his opinion to questions the Corinthians had asked him (Grosheide). καλόν (# 2819) good, that which is useful or pleasing, that which is suitable or appropriate for a situation (T; NIDNTT; TDNT). For an analysis of the formula "better... than" s. G.F. Snyder, "The Tobspruch in the New Testament," NTS 23 [1976]: 117-20). ἅπτεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἅπτομαι (# 721) to touch, w. gen. Here it refers to sexual intercourse (Fee). Epex. inf. explaining what is καλον.

This may have been a slogan common among some at Corinth that Paul rejected (William E. Phipps, "Paul's Attitude toward Sexual Relations," NTS 28 [1982]: 125-31; Schrage; BBC). The sacral celibacy may have arisen among those who had been influenced by Egyptian religions which were prevalent in Corinth (Richard E. Oster, Jr., "Use, Misuse and Neglect of Archaeological Evidence in Some Modern Works on 1 Corinthians [1 Cor 7,1-5; 8,10; 11,2-16; 12,14-26]," ZNW 83 [1992]: 58-64). γυναικός gen. sing. γυνή (# 1222) female, woman. ◆ 2 πορνείας acc. sing. πορνεία (# 4518) fornication, illicit sex. Acc. w. prep. διά (# 1328) expressing cause. ἐχέτω pres. imp. act. 3. sing. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. The imp. is hortatory, not merely permissive (RP). For a study showing that consecrated virginity was not a customary way of life in the most primitive communities, s. J. Massyngberde Ford, "St. Paul, The Philogamist (I Corinthians VII in Early Patristic Exegesis)," NTS 11 (1965): 326-48. ◆ 3 γυναικί dat. sing. γυνή (# 1222) wife. Dat. as indir. obj. ὀφειλή (# 4051) obligation, debt, due. The specific obligation involved in the marital union and a euphemism for sexual intercourse (Lenski; Schrage). ἀποδιδότω pres. imp. act. ἀποδίδωμι (# 625) to pay back, to pay one's dues, to render. Pres. imp. indicates habitual duty (Morris). The rabbis required that the marriage partners have regular sexual relations w. one another; generally on Friday night, which was the Sabbath (SB, 3:368-71; JPB, 211). καί (# 2779) also. ἀνδρί dat. sing. ἀνήρ (# 467) male, man, husband. Dat. as indir. obj. ◆ 4 ἐξουσιάζει pres. ind. act. ἐξουσιάζω (# 2027) to exercise authority over, w. gen. Pres. emphasizes a general statement which is always true. ◆ 5 ἀποστερεῖτε pres. imp. act. ἀποστερέω (# 691) to rob, to deprive. εἰ μήτι (# 1623; 3614) except, unless in a given case, unless perhaps (M 169; BS, 204). σύμφωνος (# 5247) agreement, consent. Gen. w. ἐκ (# 1666) expressing cause. πρὸς καιρόν (# 4639; 2789) for a time, for a period (no longer) (BD, 124). The rabbis taught that abstinence from sexual intercourse was allowable for generally one to two weeks, but disciples of the law may continue abstinence for thirty days, against the will of their wives, while they occupy themselves in the study of the law (M Ketuboth, 5:6). σχολάσητε aor. subj. act. σχολάζω (# 5390) to have leisure time for, to devote oneself to something, w. dat. (Lightfoot, Notes). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) either used to express purp. (Fee) or used as an imp. (MT, 94f; IBG, 144-45). προσευχῇ (# 4666) dat. sing. prayer. πάλιν (# 4099) again. ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτό lit., for the same thing; here, be together. It refers to being sexually together as before (Lenski). ἦτε pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. ἵνα to express purp. πειράζῃ pres. subj. act. πειράζω (# 4279) to tempt, to try to bring someone to a fall. Subj. w. ἵνα and the neg. to express neg. purpose. Pres. indicates that Satan may not keep on tempting you (RWP). ἀκρασία (# 202) lack of self-control, incontinence. Here in the sense of irrepressible desire for sexual relations (Barrett; TLNT; NW 2, i:288-90). Acc. w. διά (# 1328), giving the cause or reason. ◆ 6 συγγνώμη (# 5152) concession, allowance, "I do not give this as a binding rule. I state it as what is allowable" (Lightfoot, Notes). ἐπιταγή (# 2198) command. Temporary abstinence for prayer is not a command, but a concession (Fee). ◆ 7 θέλω (# 2527) pres. ind. act. to wish, to desire, w. inf. His desire is not only that they be unmarried, but that they also be able to control themselves (Weiss). At this time Paul may have been unmarried, a widower, or his wife may have left him and returned to her family because of his conversion to Christianity (Bruce). εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. χάρισμα (# 5922) acc. sing. gift, gracious gift, a gift given out of grace. ἐκ (# 1666) w. gen., from. It gives the source of the gift. Paul's celibacy is a gift from God, not a requirement for all (Fee). ◆ 8 ἄγαμος (# 23) unmarried. Perhaps referring to widowers (Fee). For the neg. pref. s. Rom. 1:20. Indir. obj. χήραις dat. pl. χήρα (# 5939) widow. The article may suggest that Paul has in mind the members of the Corinthian church who are widows, but it may also be a generalization (Barrett). According to the Roman law Lex Papia Poppaea, which was to encourage marriage and childbearing, a widow had two years to remarry (Roy Bowen Ward, "Musonius and Paul on Marriage," NTS 36 [1990]: 282-83; RCS, 2:52). καλόν (# 2819) good. μείνωσιν aor. subj. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 351) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. in which the cond. is viewed as possible. ◆ 9 εἰ (# 1623) if, w. ind. introduces a 1st. class cond. cl. in which the cond. is assumed to be true. ἐγκρατεύονται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐγκρατεύω (# 1603) to exercise self-control, to have power over oneself (TLNT, 1:60-62). γαμησάτωσαν aor. imp. act. γαμέω (# 1138) to marry. Perhaps ingressive aor., "let them seek marriage" (Grosheide). κρεῖττον (# 3202) comp. ἀγαθός (# 19) good; comp., better. γαμῆσαι aor. act. inf. γαμέω (# 1138) to marry (DPL, 594-600; BBC). Epex. inf. explaining what is better. πυροῦσθαι pres. pass. inf. πυρόω (# 4792) to set on fire; pass. to be inflamed. It may mean "to burn w. sexual passion" (NW, 2, i:29193), but may possibly mean "to burn in Gehenna," because of falling into fornication (Bruce). In Roman society those w. erotic desires had recourse to hetairai and other prostitutes, but Paul rules this out (R. B. Ward, "Musonius and Paul on Marriage," NTS 36 [1990]: 285-86; s. also the discussion in 6:15). ◆ 10 γεγαμηκόσιν perf. act. part. γαμέω (# 1138) to marry. Perf. emphasizes a state or condition (s. Rom. 3:21). Part. as subst. Dat. as indir. obj. παραγγέλλω (# 4133) pres. ind. act. to give orders, to command, to instruct. Both Paul and the church at Corinth knew the words of Jesus, and Paul gives an additional command, expecting obedience because he receives revelations from the Lord which he can communicate to the churches (Grosheide). χωρισθῆναι aor. pass. inf. χωρίζω (# 6004) to separate, to divide; pass. may have the meaning, to allow oneself to be, w. the sense of "to divorce" (Jerome Murphy-O'Connor, "The Divorced Woman in 1 Corinthians 7:10-11," JBL 100 [1981]: 602; Schrage; BAGD; BD, 165). The wife is separated, the husband puts away. Then in the converse point of view the believing wife is said to put away and the unbelieving husband is to be separated (Bengel). Inf. in indir. discourse. ◆ 11 καί (# 2779) even, actually; "if a separation does take place" (Barrett). χωρισθῇ aor. subj. pass. χωρίζω (# 6004) to separate (s.v. 10). Perf. emphasizes the continuing results or condition (s. Rom. 3:21). ◆ 16 οἶδας perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) def. perf. w. pres. meaning, to know. εἰ (# 1623) if. Introduces a noun cl. as obj. of the vb. σώσεις fut. ind. act. σώζω (# 5392) to save, to rescue. ◆ 17 εἰ μή (# 1623; 3590) except, only. This looks back to v. 15, which contemplates the possibility of separation in certain circumstances (Barrett; BD, 191). ἑκάστῳ dat. sing. ἕκαστος (# 1667) each one. The word is the subject of the main cl. but appears in the dat. through inverse attraction to the subordinate cl. (RG, 717; BD, 151). ἐμέρισεν aor. ind. act. μερίζω (# 3532) to divide, to distribute. Some manuscripts have μεμέρικεν (perf. ind. act. [Fee]), in which case the perf. looks at the completed action in the past and the continuing results in the present: "has assigned his lot in life once for all." Here the word refers entirely to the external conditions of life (Lightfoot, Notes). κέκληκεν perf. ind. act. καλέω (# 2813) to call (s.v. 15). περιπατείτω pres. imp. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to conduct one's life. Pres. emphasizes the continual or habitual action. διατάσσω (# 1411) pres. ind. mid. to command, to ordain, to order. The word was a military term (RWP), a t.t. used in connection w. wills, as well as a general word for commanding (MM). ◆ 18 περιτετμημένος perf. pass. part. (adj.) περιτέμνω (# 4362) to circumcise. Perf. stresses the state or condition. ἐκλήθη aor. ind. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call. Theol. pass. indicating that God did the calling. ἐπισπάσθω pres. mid. (permissive mid.) imp. ἐπισπάω (# 2177) to draw to oneself; a medical t.t., "to pull over the foreskin." A method used to conceal circumcision (BAGD; BBC; SB, 4:33f; Leitzmann; 1 Macc. 1:15; Theodor Hoffner, Das Sexualleben der Griechen und Römer von den Anfängen bis ins 8. Jahrhundert nach Christus [Prag: J.G. Calve, 1938], 218-22). ἀκροβυστίᾳ (# 213) dat. sing. uncircumcision. κέκληται perf. ind. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call. Perf. emphasizes the continuing result. περιτεμνέσθω pres. imp. pass. Permissive pass., "allow himself to be circumcised." ◆ 19 τήρησις (# 5499) keeping, watching, guarding. For nouns ending w. this suff. to express action s. MH, 373f. ἐντολῶν gen. pl. ἐντολή (# 1953) commandment. For an extensive discussion of slavery in the ancient world w. the discussion of why and how a slave was set free, s. FCS, 29-125; SCS, 39-46; Buckland, 72-90; DPL, 881-83; Dale B. Martin, Slavery as Salvation: The Metaphor in Pauline Christianity (New Haven, Conn.: Yale Univ. Press, 1990). μᾶλλον (# 3437) rather, by all means. χρῆσαι aor. imp. mid. (dep.) χράομαι (# 5968) to use, to live according to. The object to be supplied could be God's calling: "by all means, live according to (your calling in Christ)." The believer's existence is no longer determined by his legal status, but if he is to be freed he is to make better use of his vocation (FCS, 175-79f; Grosheide). The obj. could also be "freedom," w. the idea being, "but if you are indeed able to become free, rather than staying a slave, take freedom" (Gregory W. Dawes, "'But If You Can Gain Your Freedom' (1 Corinthians 7:17-24)," CBQ 52 [1990]: 681-97, esp. 690; Fee; IBG, 167). ◆ 22 γάρ (# 1142) for. This introduces an explanation and further reason why they are not to worry about being in slavery (FCS, 177). κληθείς aor. pass. part. καλέω (# 2813) to call. Part. as subst. ἀπελεύθερος (# 592) freedman. The following gen. describes who had freed him and to whom he now belongs. There were certain rights and obligations that a freedman had to the one who had freed him. He bore the family name of the one providing the freedom; he lived in the house of his patron (paramone); he rendered service (operae); the patron gave him gifts (munera); and he was to render respect (obsequium) to the one freeing him. For these and the social standing of a freedman s. FCS, 72-82; Francis Lyall, "Roman Law in the Writings of Paul - The Slave and the Freedman," NTS 17 (1970): 73-79; SCS, 39-46; LLAR, 113-15. ◆ 23 τιμῆς gen. sing. (# 5507) (s. 6:20). It refers to the state or condition. ἐκλήθη aor. ind. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call. μενέτω pres. imp. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. παρά (# 4123) w. dat., alongside of, in the presence of. All secular conditions, whether of family life, caste, or service are capable of being made the expression of a Christian character (RP). ◆ 25 παρθένος (# 4221) virgin. It has been suggested that the word here refers to young widows or widowers who have only been married once and the question had been raised whether a second marriage was wrong (J.M. Ford, "Levirate Marriage in St. Paul [I Cor. VII]," NTS 10 [1964]: 361-65). Another suggestion is that it refers to engaged couples w. the meaning "fiance" and the entire section (vvs. 25-38) concerns engagement and whether couples should marry or not (J.K. Elliott, "Paul's Teaching on Marriage in I Cor.: Some Problems Considered," NTS 19 [1973]: 219-25; Schrage; Fee). Others feel that it refers to married couples who refuse to have sexual intercourse for spiritual or ascetic reasons; while others feel Paul refers to marriageable virgins (Kistemaker). ἐπιταγή (# 2198) commandment, order; that is, an expressed command, whether a directly recorded saying of our Lord (as in v. 10) or a direct intimation to the apostle by revelation (Lightfoot, Notes). γνώμη (# 1191) opinion. The words γνώμην δίδωμι indicate the giving of advice (Schrage). Though Paul is giving his own opinion, it does not mean that this section is not inspired by the Holy Spirit. ἠλεημένος perf. pass. part. ἐλεέω (# 1796) to show mercy; pass., to receive mercy. The word means to see someone in need and to have pity and compassion on him and to kindly help him out of his need (TDNT; NIDNTT, 2:593-98; Trench, Synonyms, 166-71; TLNT; EDNT). Perf. views the completed state or condition and the part. could be causal (Barrett). Theol. pass. indicating that it was God who showed mercy. πιστός (# 4412) true, faithful, trustworthy. εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Epex. inf. explaining the part., "pitied ... enough to be trustworthy" (Kistemaker). ◆ 26 νομίζω (# 3787) pres. ind. act. to suppose, to consider, to think, to be of the opinion, to regard something as presumably true, but without particular certainty (LN, 1:369). ὑπάρχειν pres. act. inf. ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to be, to exist. Inf. as obj. of the vb. and used in indir. discourse.

1 Corinthians 8

◆ 1 περί (# 4309) w. gen., concerning, about. Paul begins to treat a second point about which the Corinthians had questioned him (Grosheide). εἰδωλόθυτον (# 1628) that which was offered as a sacrifice to an idol. The word is of Jewish origin (TDNT). Various types of choice animals without blemish were offered to the gods. Part of the meat (the bones covered w. fat) was burned on the altar outside the temple, as the god's portion. Part of it was allotted the worshippers, and part of it was dedicated to the god and placed upon his special table. It could be used for a sacred banquet, w. the deity as the honored guest. What was left was sold at the marketplace (OCD, 944; Bruce; IMC, 7-66; Stirling Dow and David H. Gill, "The Greek Cult Table," AJA 69 [1965]: 103-14; David H. Gill, "Trapezomata: A Neglected Aspect of Greek Sacrifice," HTR 67 [1974]: 117-37; NDIEC, 2:36-37; 4:108; Schrage; BBC; DRU, 1:30-31; DPL, 424-26; Wendell L. Willis, Idol Meat in Corinth: The Pauline Argument in 1 Corinthians 8 and 10, SBLDS 68 [Chico, Ca.: Scholars Press, 1985]). The Jews called this meat from sacrifices for the dead "idols" (SB, 3:377). οἴδαμεν perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. Paul uses the 1st. pers. pl. to include himself w. the readers (Lietzmann). γνῶσις (# 1194) knowledge. Paul's use of knowledge is not something purely intellectual. It is knowledge which has results and leads to action, especially religious action (Grosheide). Here it is not a reference to gnosticism, which developed later (PCG, 39f; R.A. Horsley, "Gnosis in Corinth: 1 Corinthians 8. 1-6," NTS 27 [1980]: 32-51; DPL, 350-53). Paul is probably quoting a saying well known at Corinth, since the expression οἴδαμεν ὅτι ("we know that") is frequently used to introduce a well-known, generally accepted fact (BAGD, 556; IMC, 69-70; Schrage). φυσιοῖ pres. ind. act. φυσιόω (# 5881) to puff up, to blow up like a billows, to cause someone to be proud, arrogant or haughty (LN, 1:765). Gnomic pres. emphasizing a general truth. οἰκοδομεῖ pres. ind. act. οἰκοδομέω (# 3868) to build, to build up, to edify; gnomic pres. For a discussion of these terms s. IMC, 71-81. ◆ 2 δοκεῖ pres. ind. act. δοκέω (# 1506) to think, to suppose, w. inf. Paul uses the expression w. the meaning, "if anyone sets himself forth as one who ..." (IMC, 79). Ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. in which the cond. is viewed as true. ἐγνωκέναι perf. act. inf. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Perf. emphasizes an acquired knowledge that is one's possession. Inf. in indir. discourse. ἔγνω aor. ind. act. Ingressive aor., "come to know" (RWP). δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. it is necessary; impers. w. inf., giving a logical necessity. γνῶναι aor. act. inf. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. ◆ 3 ἀγαπᾷ pres. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. in which the cond. is viewed as true. ἔγνωσται perf. ind. pass. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know (s.v. 2). Perf. indicates, "he has come to be known and is still known by God" (Lenski). For the textual problem s. Fee. ◆ 4 βρῶσις (# 1111) eating. For nouns ending w. this suf. indicating action s. MH, 373. εἰδωλοθύτων gen. pl. (s.v. 1) that which was offered as a sacrifice to an idol. Obj. gen. οἴδαμεν perf. ind. act. (s.v. 1). εἴδωλον (# 1631) idol. The statues of the gods lined the marketplace of Corinth and were made from marble, copper, gold, silver, ivory, or wood, w. eyes made out of precious stones (DRU, 1:37-40). Paul calls that which the statue represents an idol (Schlatter). Paul's use of the word conforms to the Jewish use of the term (Schrage; GELTS, 130; TDNT; SB, 3:48-60; 4, i:189-207; CCFJ, 2:22; CGP, 297). οὐδείς (# 4029) no one, nobody, used as an adj. ("no"). εἰ μή (# 1623; 3590) except. εἷς (# 1651) one. ◆ 5 εἴπερ (# 1642) if indeed, if after all. Here used in a concessive sense (BD, 237). εἰσίν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Used. w. the part. in a periphrastic construction. λεγόμενοι pres. pass. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say; pass., to be called. "Those who continually are called gods" or "so-called gods" (Grosheide). ὥσπερ (# 6061) just as indeed. θεοὶ πολλοὶ καὶ κύριοι πολλοί many gods and many lords (s. Acts 17:16). ◆ 6 εἷς θεός (# 1651; 2536) one God, followed, in apposition, by ὁ πατήρ (# 3836; 4252) the Father. ἐξ οὗ from whom, indicates the origin. εἰς (# 1659) αὐτόν (# 899) unto Him, indicating the fut. goal (Schrage). εἷς κύριος (# 1659; 3251) one Lord, followed by the words in apposition Ἰησοῦς Χριστός (# 2652; 5986). Lord, a title used to indicate the deity of Jesus Christ. For a collection of the evidence proving that the Jews at the time of Christ used this term for God s. Joseph A. Fitzmyer, "Der semitische Hintergrund des neutesamentlichen Kyriostitels," Jesus Christus in Historie und Theologie, 267-98; s. also R.A. Horsley, "The Background of the Confessional Formula in 1 Kor 8:6," ZNW 69 (1978): 130-35. δι' οὗ (# 1328; 4005) through whom, indicating agency. ἡμεῖς δι' αὐτοῦ "we through Him." Like all men we are created by Christ, but we are also redeemed by Him (Grosheide). ◆ 7 ἡ γνῶσις (# 1194) the knowledge. The article points to the specific knowledge he is discussing in this context. συνηθείᾳ (# 5311) dat. sing. familiarity, custom (Schrage). Instr. dat. ἐσθίουσιν pres. ind. act. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience (s. Rom. 2:15; TDNT; TLNT; PAT, 402-446; NIDNTT 1:348-53; EDNT; J.M. Espy, "Paul's 'Robust Conscience' Re-examined," NTS 31 [1985]: 161-88; P.W. Gooch, "'Conscience' in 1 Corinthians 8 and 10," NTS 33 [1987]: 244-54; NDIEC, 3:85; Schrage). οὖσα pres. act. part. (causal) nom. fem. sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. μολύνεται pres. ind. pass. μολύνω (# 3662) to make dirty, to stain, to pollute, to contaminate, to defile. Here, in the sense of religious and moral contamination (Schrage). ◆ 8 παραστήσει fut. ind. act. παρίστημι (# 4225) to present, to present for approbation or condemnation (RP). It was a t.t. for bringing someone before a judge (Fee; Schrage). φάγωμεν aor. subj. act. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. in which the cond. is viewed as possible. ὑστερούμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep) ὑστερέω (# 5728) to fall short, to lack (s. Rom. 3:23). περισσεύομεν pres. ind. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to have an abundance. ◆ 9 βλέπετε pres. imp. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see, to see to it, to beware. μή (# 3590) lest, w. aor. subj. to express a neg. imp. (BD, 184). πρόσκομμα (# 4682) stumbling, hindrance. γένηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἀσθενέσιν dat. pl. ἀσθενής (# 822) weak. For a discussion of the weak s. IMC, 92-96; Schrage; Fee. Dat. of disadvantage. ◆ 10 ἴδῃ aor. subj. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἔχοντα pres. act. part. (adj.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. εἰδώλειον (# 1627) idol temple, idol shrine. κατακείμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. κατάκειμαι (# 2879) to lie down, to recline at the table. In many of the temples dining rooms used for the sacred meal were also used for other cultural events, such as birthdays, etc. (Richard E. Oster, "Use, Misuse and Neglect of Archaeological Evidence," ZNW 83 [1992]: 64-67; SPC, 161-67; PIG, 210-25; James Wiseman, "Corinth and Rome I: 228 B.C.-A.D. 267," ANRW, 2.7.1:438-548, esp. 509-21; Acts 18:1). It would not be uncommon to be invited to a meal in the temple, as is evident from the invitation cards found among the papyri (Bruce; IMC, 39-45; NDIEC, 1:5-9; DPL, 306-10). οὐχί (# 4049) neg. used to introduce a question which expects the answer "yes." ἀσθενοῦς gen. sing. (s.v. 9). W. part. in apposition to the personal pron. ὄντος pres. act. part. (causal) gen. sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. οἰκοδομηθήσεται fut. ind. pass. οἰκοδομέω (# 3868) to build up, to strengthen (s.v. 1). ἐσθίειν pres. act. inf. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. Articular inf. w. εἰς (# 1650) to express result or purp. (RG, 1071-72; Kistemaker). ◆ 11 ἀπόλλυται pres. ind. pass. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to ruin; that is, "to come to sin." It means not to show oneself as a Christian (Grosheide). ἀσθενῶν pres. act. part. ἀσθενέω (# 820) to be weak. Part. as subst. ἀπέθανεν aor. ind. act. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. ◆ 12 ἁμαρτάνοντες pres. act. part. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin.

Cond. or temp. part., or part. of means. εἰς w. acc., against. τύπτοντες pres. act. part. τύπτω (# 5597) to wound, to strike w. the fist, staff, or whip (RWP). Cond. or temp. part., or part. of means. ἀσθενοῦσαν pres. act. part. (adj.) ἀσθενέω (# 820) to be weak. ◆ 13 διόπερ (# 1478) therefore, for this very reason; w. ind. σκανδαλίζει pres. ind. act. σκανδαλίζω (# 4997) to cause one to stumble, to offend (TDNT; NTW, 111-14; TLNT). Ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. in which the cond. is assumed to be true. οὐ μή (# 4024; 3590) not in anywise. For the use of this strong neg. s. M 188f; GGBB, 468-69. φάγω aor. subj. act. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. σκανδαλίσω aor. subj. act. (# 4997) Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp.

1 Corinthians 9

◆ 1 οὐκ (# 4024) used in questions expecting the answer "yes." "I am free, aren't I?" ἐλεύθερος (# 1801) free; the freedom of a Christian (Morris; TDNT). ἑώρακα perf. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Having seen the Lord was one of the prerequisites for apostleship (s. 1:1; TDNT; TLNT). Perf. indicates the continuing results of having seen. ◆ 2 εἰ (# 1623) if; w. ind. used to introduce a 1st. class cond. cl. which is assumed to be true. ἄλλοις dat. pl. ἄλλος (# 257) other. "To others." Dat. of respect or relation, or ethical dat., "in the estimation of others" (Funk, 721f; MT, 238; Barrett). ἀλλά γε (# 247; 1145) but at least. A contrast used w. the emphatic article (BD, 226). σφραγίς (# 5382) seal, a confirming and guaranteeing sign as well as a sign of authority (TDNT; NIDNTT, 3:497-501; CCFJ, 4:142; EDNT; Schrage). ◆ 3 ἐμή nom. sing. ἐμός (# 1847) my, emphatic by position. ἀπολογία (# 665) defense. Used elsewhere of defense in a law court (Barrett). ἀνακρίνουσιν pres. act. part. masc. dat. pl. ἀνακρίνω (# 373) to examine, perhaps in the sense of cross-examine. Conative pres., "to those who would like to examine me" (Barrett). Dat. of personal interest. ◆ 4 μὴ οὐκ (# 3590; 4024) The first neg. is used in the question expecting the answer "no" and the second neg. negates the vb.: "you would not say that we do not have the authority, would you?" (BD, 220f; RG, 1173). φαγεῖν aor. act. inf. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. πεῖν aor. act. inf. πίνω (# 4403) to drink. Epex. infs. used to explain the content of the authority. ◆ 5 ἀδελφή (# 80) sister; that is, a sister in Christ, one who belongs to the same religious belief (NIDNTT 1:254; TDNT; EDNT). Double acc. as dir. obj. followed by a second acc; γυναικός (# 1222) wife. "A sister as wife." περιάγειν pres. act. inf. περιάγω (# 4310) to lead around. The word does not emphasize the traveling together on a journey but rather "to have constantly w. oneself"; that is, being married (Conzelmann). These were wives who would accompany their husbands on missionary trips (Schrage). Epex. inf. explaining the right or authority. ◆ 6 ἤ (# 2445) or. The word continues the question. ἐργάζεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work; that is, to do manual labor. Epex. inf. ◆ 7 στρατεύεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) στρατεύω (# 5129) to be a soldier, to do military service, to serve in the army. Gnomic pres. emphasizing a timeless truth (SMT, 8). ὀψωνίοις dat. pl. ὀψώνιον (# 4072) provisions; soldiers' pay was probably a denarius a day, out of which they had to equip themselves, secure any simple luxuries, or bribe the centurions for remissions of duties (BC, 5:428; Rom. 6:23; Schrage). Instr. dat. ποτέ (# 4537) at any time, ever. φυτεύει pres. ind. act. φυτεύω (# 5885) to plant. ἀμπελών (# 308) vineyard. For the rules governing workers eating the harvest s. SB, 3:382. ποιμαίνει pres. ind. act. ποιμαίνω (# 4477) to shepherd a flock, to tend sheep. ποίμνη (# 4479) flock. γάλακτος gen. sing. γάλα (# 1128) milk. According to Jewish custom a herdsman was allowed to drink from the milk of the herd when he was far away from home w. the herd, or when he needed food (SB, 3:381-82). ◆ 8 μή (# 3590) neg. introducing a question expecting a neg. answer (s.v. 4). καί (# 2779) also. οὐ (# 4024) neg. introducing a question expecting a positive answer. ◆ 9 γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Perf. emphasizes the standing legal authority of that which was written (MM). κημώσεις fut. ind. act. κημόω (# 3055) to muzzle. Fut. is used under Semitic influence of the legal language of the OT and expresses a categorical imp. (BG, 94). The Jewish concern for animals distinguished them from other nations (SB, 3:382). βοῦς (# 1091) ox. The ox in Scripture implied all laboring species (D. Instone Brewer, "1 Corinthians 9:9-11: A Literal Interpretation of 'Do Not Muzzle the Ox,'" NTS 38 [1992]: 554-65). ἀλοῶντα pres. act. part. ἀλοάω (# 262) to thrash, to tread or trample out. Sledges were drawn by teams of oxen and encircled the pile of grain heaped in the center of the thrashing floor (ZPEB, 5:739; IDB, 4: 637). Adj. or temp. part., "while he is thrashing." μή (# 3590) neg. used to introduce questions expecting the answer no. μέλει pres. ind. act. μέλω (# 3508) to have concern. Used impersonally followed by the dat. of interest and the gen. for thing concerned. It may be that Paul is here talking about the application of the passage without disregarding the literal meaning of the passage (Fee; OTN, 39-51; s. Walter C. Kaiser, Jr., "The Current Crisis in Exegesis and the Apostolic Use of Deuteronomy 25:4 in 1 Corinthians 9:8-10," JETS 21 [1978]: 3-18). ◆ 10 δι' ἡμᾶς (# 1328; 1609) because of us, for our sakes. Either a reference to men in general or specifically to teachers. πάντως (# 4122) adv., assuredly, entirely; that is, in every case (Grosheide). γάρ (# 1142) for. In replies it affirms what was asked, giving the reason for a tacit "yes," "to be sure," "just so" (BD, 236). ἐγράφη aor. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write. ὀφείλει pres. ind. act. ὀφείλω (# 4053) to be obligated to (ought, should). It generally shows a moral obligation. ἀρο-

τριῶν pres. act. part. ἀροτριάω (# 769) to plow. Part. as subst. ἀροτριᾶν pres. act. inf. Used to complete the main vb. showing what the obligation is. ἀλοῶν pres. act. part. ἀλοάω (# 262) to thrash (s.v. 9). Part. as subst. μετέχειν pres. act. inf. μετέχω (# 3576) to share in, to partake of. Inf. w. the vb. ὀφείλει. In the examples of sharing used by Paul there is an intrinsic connection between one's activity and one's recompense (Harry P. Nasuti, "The Woes of the Prophets and the Rights of the Apostle: The Internal Dynamics of 1 Corinthians 9," CBQ 50 [1988]: 250; DPL, 295-97). ◆ 11 ὑμῖν dat. pl. σύ (# 5148) you. Dat. of personal interest ("for your benefit") or dat. of place ("among you"). τὰ πνευματικά (# 4461) spiritual things (s. 2:13). Here w. the analogy, "spiritual seed" (Fee). ἐσπείραμεν aor. ind. act. σπείρω (# 5062) to sow, to sow seeds. Ind. w. εἰ (# 1623) introducing a 1st. class cond. cl in which the cond. is assumed to be true. μέγα (# 3489) great; "no big thing," "is this something extraordinary that we should expect this?" (Fee). τὰ σαρκικά (# 4920) fleshly things; fleshly, pertaining to the flesh. For the meaning of this suf. s. MH, 378. The word here is not identical w. "sinful." The contrast is between heavenly and earthly, or between spiritual and the material and it refers to the earthly things necessary for living (Grosheide; Schrage). θερίσομεν fut. ind. act. θερίζω (# 2545) to harvest, to reap. Fut. w. εἰ (# 1623) meaning, "if subsequently, as actually happened, we ..." (BD, 189). ◆ 12 ὑμῶν gen. pl. σύ (# 5148) you. Obj. gen., "over you" (RG, 500). ἐξουσίας gen. sing. ἐξουσία (# 2026) authority. Gen. after a vb. of sharing. μετέχουσιν pres. ind. act. μετέχω (# 3576) to share in (s.v. 10). Ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. in which the cond. is viewed as true. οὐ neg. in a question expecting a positive answer. ἐχρησάμεθα aor. ind. mid. (dep.) χράομαι (# 5968) to use, to make use of, w. obj. in dat. στέγομεν pres. ind. act. στέγω (# 5095) to cover, to protect or keep by covering, to bear up against, to endure (T). ἐγκοπή (# 1600) a cutting, hindrance. Used in the papyri in the literal sense of cutting down (a tree) (MM; TLNT). δῶμεν aor. subj. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. εὐαγγελίῳ dat. sing. εὐαγγέλιον (# 2295) good news, gospel. Indir. obj. ◆ 13 οὐκ (# 4024) neg. introducing a question which expects a positive answer. ἐργαζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work; here, to officiate in religious matters. Part. as subst. τὰ ἐκ τοῦ ἱεροῦ (# 2639) the things from the temple or holy place; that is, the altar or the sacrifice. Thus the last cl. defines the first (Grosheide). ἐσθίουσιν pres. ind. act. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. Gnomic pres. giving a general truth. θυσιαστηρίῳ dat. sing. θυσιαστήριον (# 2603) altar, place of sacrifice. The suf. indicates the location where an action takes place, "at the altar" (MH, 342-43). Dat. is pure locative (RG, 521). παρεδρεύοντες pres. act. part. παραδρεύω (# 4204) to sit constantly beside, to attend constantly (AS). In the papyri the word has a religious connotation (MM), but is also used of a young boy attending school (NDIEC, 4:33-5; Jos., JW, 1:78). Part. as subst. συμμερίζονται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) συμμερίζομαι (# 5211) to share a portion together. The customs Paul refers to were widespread in antiquity. The recompense was the eating of the temple food (H.P. Nasuti, "The Woes of the Prophets and the Rights of the Apostle," CBQ 50 [1988]: 251). Those who held sacred offices on behalf of others might reasonably expect to be provided for. This Jesus Himself recognized (Barrett). ◆ 14 οὕτως καί (# 4048; 2779) so also. διέταξεν aor. ind. act. διατάσσω (# 1411) to give an order, to command. Aor. indicates that Paul was consciously alluding to a past origin in the teaching of Jesus (JNP, 96). The reference is probably to Luke 10:7 (Fee; s. 1 Tim. 5:18). καταγγέλλουσιν pres. act. part. masc. dat. pl. καταγγέλλω (# 2859) to proclaim, to make a solemn proclamation (NIDNTT, 3:44-48; CCFJ, 2:434-35). Dat. of favor or advantage (Godet). ἐκ (# 1666) w. gen., out of, from. The prep. gives the source of income. ζῆν pres. act. inf. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Inf. in indir. speech (BD, 200; IBG, 153). ◆ 15 ἐγὼ δέ (# 1609; 1254) but I! (emphatic). The apostle now applies the principle to himself and gives a further reason for the renunciation of his undoubted rights (Hering). κέχρημαι perf. ind. mid. (dep.) χράομαι (# 5968) to use. Perf. indicates the continuing condition. The change from the aor. in v. 12 to the perf. brings it down to the pres. moment, "I have not availed myself" (RP). ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Epistolary aor., "I am writing" (Kistemaker). γένηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι to become. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) expressing purp. ἐν ἐμοί in my case (Barrett). ἀποθανεῖν aor. act. inf. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die. Epex. inf. explaining what is better. ἤ (# 2445) than. Paul breaks the construction abruptly (MT, 343; Kistemaker). καύχημα (# 3017) boasting, reason or ground for boasting. κενώσει fut. ind. act. κενόω (# 3033) to make empty, to make void. ◆ 16 εὐαγγελίζωμαι pres. subj. mid. (dep.) εὐαγγελίζομαι (# 2294) to proclaim good news, to evangelize (TDNT; NIDNTT, 1:107-15; EDNT; TLNT; MNTW, 41f). Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. in which the cond. is viewed as possible. ἀνάγκη (# 340) compulsion, necessity, distress. tribulation (GELTS, 27; BAGD; Siegfried Kreuzer, "Der Zwang des Boten–Beobachtungen zu Lk 14:23 und 1 Kor 9:16," ZNW 76 [1985]: 123-28). In the NT the word does not mean "fate" (TDNT; Gustav Stählin, "Das Schicksal im Neuen Testament und bei Josephus," JS, 321f). ἐπίκειται pres. ind. pass. ἐπίκειμαι (# 2130) to place upon, to lie upon. Pres. shows continuing relevance (Kistemaker), meaning "presses upon me" (RP). οὐαί (# 4026) woe, alas! An interjection denoting pain or displeasure (BAGD), w. dat. of disadvantage. εὐαγγελίσωμαι aor. subj. mid. (dep.)

εὐαγγελίζομαι. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in 3rd. class cond. cl. ◆ 17 ἑκών (# 1776) willingly, gladly, of one's own freewill. πράσσω (# 4556) pres. ind. act. to do, to practice. Pres. emphasizes habitual action. Ind. is used in a 1st. class cond. cl. which assumes the reality of the cond. μισθός (# 3635) payment, reward. Paul's purpose is to intimate that he does not seek his reward in the receiving of financial compensation (Grosheide). ἄκων (# 220) unwilling, not of one's own freewill. The word indicates that Paul is a mere servant w. responsibilities to his master (Schrage). For the neg. prefix s. Rom. 1:20. οἰκονομία (# 3873) stewardship, responsibility. The word indicates the task given to responsible and faithful servants who were appointed over the economy or an area of responsibility in the household. The word stresses obligation, responsibility, and faithfulness of the servant to his master in carrying out the entrusted task (TDNT; TLNT; 4:1; for the use of the word in patristic writers s. PGL). πεπίστευμαι perf. ind. pass. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe, to entrust. Perf. emphasizes the completed state or condition reaching to the pres. time. Theol. pass. indicating that God had entrusted him w. this responsibility. ◆ 18 μού (# 1609) my, emphatic by position. μισθός (# 3635) payment for services, reward. Paul's pay is that he preaches the gospel as a servant for no pay (Schrage). ἵνα (# 2671) here it does not express purpose but gives the content of the reward (BD, 202). εὐαγγελιζόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. εὐαγγελίζομαι (# 2294) to proclaim good news (s.v. 16). ἀδάπανος (# 78) adv., without expense, free of charge. θήσω fut. ind. act. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to present. καταχρήσασθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. καταχράομαι (# 2974) to make full use of, to use completely, to use to the uttermost, w. dat. Prep. in compound is perfective (RWP; s. 7:31). Articular inf. w. εἰς (# 1659) to express purp. ◆ 19 ὤν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Concessive part. ("although I am free") or causal (Schrage). ἐδούλωσα aor. ind. act. δουλόω (# 1530) to enslave, to make a slave of someone. πλείονας comp. πολύς (# 4498) more; comp., the majority, or it had the meaning "others," "even more" (BD, 127). κερδήσω aor. subj. act. or fut. ind. act. (RWP) κερδαίνω (# 3045) to win. The rabbinic equivalent means "to make proselytes," "to win over" (Schrage; NTRJ, 352-54). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 20 ἐγενόμην aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. τοῖς Ἰουδαίοις (# 3836; 2681) the individual use of the article, "the Jews w. whom I had to deal on each occasion" (BD, 137). Dat. of respect, ethical dat., or dat. of advantage (Schrage). ὑπό (# 5679) w. acc., under. The law here is the Torah, as written in the Pentateuch and expounded by orthodox Jewish rabbis (MS, 135). ◆ 21 ἄνομος (# 491) lawless, without the law; however, not in the sense of leading an unregulated and irresponsible life (MS, 135). The addition of the gen. θεοῦ indicates that the law of God is something wider and more inclusive than law, in the sense of Torah (MS, 137). ἔννομος (# 1937) legal, subject to law, obedient to the law; "under legal obligation to Christ" (Barrett). For the relation of this to the spiritual life and walk according to the precepts of Christ s. MS, 137-48. κερδάνω aor. act. subj. κερδαίνω (# 3045) to win. ◆ 22 ἐγενόμην aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. γέγονα perf. ind. act. The change from aor. to perf. is significant; this is the permanent result of this past action (RP). πάντως (# 4122) by all means; or "under any circumstance" (Schrage). σώσω fut. ind. act. σῴζω (# 5392) to rescue, to save. Fut. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in purp. cl. (MT, 100). ◆ 23 συγκοινωνός (# 5171) one who shares together, fellow partaker, fellow participant. γένωμαι aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Subj. w. ἵνα to express purp. For discussions of Paul's accommodating position s. PAL, 230-44; Peter Richardson, "Pauline Inconsistency: 1 Corinthians 9:19-23 and Galatians 2:11-14," NTS 26 (1980): 347-62. ◆ 24 οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. στάδιον (# 5084) stadium, a running track which was a long parallelogram about 200 yards long and 30 yards wide. The Isthmian Games held near Corinth form the background for this passage (OCD, 1010f; Oscar Bronner, "The Apostle Paul and the Isthmian Games," BA 25 [1962]: 1-31; A.H. Harris, Sport in Greece and Rome, 27-33; DGRA, 1055f; Schrage; BBC). τρέχοντες pres. act. part. τρέχω (# 5556) to run. Part. as subst. εἷς (# 1651) one. The point is not that just one person is the winner, but rather "to run like one who is the winner" (Schrage). λαμβάνει pres. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. Gnomic pres., indicating a general truth. βραβεῖον (# 1092) prize. The prize given to the winner of an athletic contest. The prize was generally a wreath, but the winner was also rewarded w. fame and popularity. τρέχετε pres. act. imp. (# 5556) Pres. imp. calls for a constant attitude. καταλάβητε aor. subj. act. καταλαμβάνω (# 2898) to attain, to grasp and hold. Effective aor. w. the perfective use of the prep. in compound (RWP). The example of the runners in the arena sets the stage for the theme of self-control which follows (PAM, 87; Schrage). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 25 ἀγωνιζόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀγωνίζομαι (# 76) to engage in an athletic contest, to strive. For the attitude of Greeks, Romans, and Jews toward the athletic contest s. PAM, 16-75; for the particular neg. attitude of the Jews s. SB, 4:401-405. Part. as subst. πάντα acc. πᾶς (# 4246) all; acc. of general reference, "in regards to all things." ἐγκρατεύεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐγκρατεύω (# 1603) to exercise self-control. Gnomic pres. emphasizing that which is always true. All the endeavors of the athlete are in vain if he has not trained his body and abstained from all that might in any way harm his physical condition. Paul seems to be referring to the training period during which time the athlete was under strict rules (PAM, 87; Schrage). φθαρτός (# 5778) perishable. λάβωσιν aor. act. subj. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἡμεῖς (# 1609) we! Emphatic and contrastive. ἄφθαρτος (# 915) imperishable. Paul is not speaking of agonizing for the prize of eternal life, but rather for the goal of faithfully proclaiming the gospel (PAM, 87f). ◆ 26 τοίνυν (# 5523) accordingly, therefore. It is used to draw an inference. ἀδήλως (# 85) uncertainly, aimlessly; "I do not run as one who has no fixed and certain goal" (PAM, 90; Weiss). πυκτεύω (# 4782) pres. ind. act. to fight w. the fist, to box (A.H. Harris, Sport in Greece and Rome, 22-25; DGRA, 974; Schrage). Paul turns to the picture of the boxer in order to reintroduce the principle of self-restriction and self-negation (PAM, 90). ἀέρα acc. ἀήρ (# 113) air. δέρων pres. act. part. δέρω (# 1296) to beat. The word could signify the failure of the pugilist to make his blows count or his carrying on mock contest as a shadow boxer (PAM, 90). Part. of manner, explaining how he does not box. ◆ 27 ὑπωπιάζω (# 5724) pres. ind. act. to strike under the eye, to beat black and blue (Schrage). δουλαγωγῶ pres. ind. act. δουλαγωγέω (# 1524) to lead into slavery, to make a slave or to treat one as a slave. The two vbs. give the picture of the athlete who does all to discipline himself and to keep his body under rigorous control in order that it might serve and not hinder his progress to the goal (PAM, 91). μή πως (# 3590; 4803) "lest by any means." κηρύξας aor. act. part. (temp.) κηρύσσω (# 3062) to preach, to proclaim as a herald (TDNT; EDNT). Aor. expressing antecedent time, "after I have preached." ἀδόκιμος (# 99) rejected as unusable. Used of metals and coins which were rejected for not standing the test (RWP; s. NDIEC, 1:61-62; TLNT). γένωμαι aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Paul's fear is that he will be unfaithful in carrying out his commission of preaching the gospel as expected of him (PAM, 96).

1 Corinthians 10

◆ 1 γάρ (# 1142) for. The explanatory γάρ and the voc. ἀδελφοί indicate that the present argument has close ties with the exhortation and warning that has just preceded (Fee). ἀγνοεῖν pres. act. inf. ἀγνοέω (# 51) not to know, to be ignorant. Used w. acc. as subject and supplementary to θέλω (# 2527). For the neg. force of the pref. s. Rom. 1:20. πάντες (# 4246) all. The main emphasis in vv. 1-4 rests on this word. Paul had received the same privileges (Bruce; Grosheide). ἦσαν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. διῆλθον aor. ind. act. διέρχομαι (# 1451) to go through, to pass completely through. Prep. in compound is perfective and local (MH, 301f). The OT clearly sees Israel's passing through the sea and the accompanying cloud as divine activity (Exod. 13:21; Ps. 105:39) (IMC, 129). ◆ 2 εἰς (# 1659) into. ἐβαπτίσθησαν aor. ind. pass. βαπτίζω (# 966) to baptize. It means to immerse in Moses; that is, to bring in close relationship w. Moses (Grosheide). Permissive pass., "to allow oneself to be ..." (MT, 57). A variant reading, which very well may be the best reading, is ἐβαπτίσαντο aor. ind. mid. (Fee; BD, 166). Permissive mid. ◆ 3 αὐτό (# 899) the same. πνευματικός (# 4461) spiritual, that which pertains to the spirit. The word is either "spiritual" in contrast to material, or "spiritual" in its relation to the Holy Spirit. βρῶμα (# 1109) acc. sing. food. ἔφαγον aor. ind. act. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. ◆ 4 ἔπιον aor. ind. act. πίνω (# 4403) to drink. πόμα (# 4503) acc. sing. that which one drinks, drink. ἔπινον impf. ind. act. Impf. pictures the manner of action and shows the continual access to the supernatural source of supply (RWP; BD, 169). ἀκολουθούσης pres. act. part. (adj.) gen. fem. sing. ἀκολουθέω (# 199) to follow. For the Jewish tradition of the well which followed the Israelites in the wilderness and the Rock, s. SB, 4:406-08; Tg. Onk. and Rashi at Num. 21:16-19; Schrage; Fee; IMC, 133-38; for the DSS s. CD 6:3-9; 1QH 11:15. πέτρα (# 4376) rock (s. Matt. 16:18). In the OT God is often referred to as a Rock (Ps. 18:31, 46; 42:9; 78:35; 89:26; 95:1; 144:1; G. Henton Davies, "Psalm 95," ZAW 85 [1973]: 188-90), especially in the Song of Moses (Deut. 32:4, 15, 18, 30). ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. It was not that Christ was the literal rock, but He was the spiritual rock that followed and from which Israel drank. The benefits enjoyed by the people are spiritual because they came from Christ, the source of all blessings (Grosheide; IMC, 138-42; TDNT). ◆ 5 πλείοσιν dat. pl. πλείων (nom. masc. sing.) most; comp. of πολύς (# 4498) (BAGD). As subst., the majority. εὐδόκησεν aor. ind. act. εὐδοκέω (# 2305) to be pleased w. W. the prep. ἐν (# 1877) denotes a Semitic influence (BD, 111; KVS, 262-65). κατεστρώθησαν aor. ind. pass. καταστρώννυμι (# 2954) to stretch or spread down as of a couch, to lay low, as if by a hurricane (RWP), to strike down, to annihilate (CCFJ, 2:464). ◆ 6 τύπος (# 5596) type, example. The word is used here in the sense of "an awful, warning example" (Barrett; NIDNTT, 3:903-7; TDNT; OTN, 53-57). Pred. nom. ἡμῶν gen. pl. ἐγώ (# 1609) I. Either obj. gen., "examples for us," or subjective gen., "examples of us" (Kistemaker; Fee). ἐγενήθησαν aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. Instead of the usual sing. of the vb. after a n. pl. subject, the vb. here is pl. thought the attraction of the pred. (EGT). εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Articular inf. w. εἰς (# 1659) and the neg. μή (# 3590) to express neg. purp., "that we should not be." ἐπιθυμητής (# 2122) one who lusts, one who has a strong desire. The noun is followed by the obj. gen., indicating the object of the strong desire. Words w. the ending -της indicate the agent performing an action (MH, 365-68). ἐπεθύμησαν aor. ind. act. ἐπιθυμέω (# 2121) to have strong desire, to lust after, to lust, to set one's heart upon, to long for (GELTS, 170; Exod. 20:17 LXX). Lust is strong desire of any sort, but in the NT it is more commonly used of evil passions than of good desires (Morris). Prep. in compound is directive. ◆ 7 εἰδωλολάτρης (# 1629) one who worships and serves an idol, w. γίνομαι, to take part in idol worship (BAGD). γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) s.v. 6. Pres. imp. w. the neg. μήδε (# 3593) is often used to stop an action in progress–"do not continue" (MKG, 272f)–or it forbids general conduct. γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write. The term in perf. was used of authoritative documents, "it standing written" (MM). ἐκάθισεν aor. ind. act. καθίζω (# 2767) to take one's seat, to sit. φαγεῖν aor. act. inf. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. πεῖν aor. act. inf. πίνω (# 4403) to drink. The infs. express purp. ἀνέστησαν aor. ind. act. ἀνίστημι (# 482) to rise up, to get up. παίζειν pres. act. inf. παίζω (# 4089) to play, to amuse oneself, to dance. In this context it has strong overtones of sexual play (Fee; Kistemaker; Schrage). This activity, as well as the eating and drinking, were considered by the rabbis to be committing idolatry (SB, 3:410). ◆ 8 πορνεύωμεν pres. subj. act. πορνεύω (# 4519) to engage in unlawful sexual acts, to commit fornication. Hortatory subj. ("let us not"). ἐπόρνευσαν aor. ind. act. πορνεύω (# 4519). ἔπεσαν aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. μιᾷ ἡμέρᾳ (# 1651; 2465) in one day. Dat. of time, indicating the period during which an action takes place. εἴκοσι τρεῖς χιλιάδες (# 1633; 5552; 5943) twenty-three thousand. ◆ 9 ἐκπειράζωμεν pres. subj. act. ἐκπειράζω (# 1733) to try, to put to the test (s. Matt. 4:1). Prep. in compound is perfective and might suggest the daring of the act or an effort to put to a decisive test (MH, 309). Hortatory subj. ἐπείρασαν aor. ind. act. πειράζω (# 4279) to tempt. ὄφεων gen. pl. ὄφις (# 4058) snake. ἀπώλλυντο impf. ind. mid./pass. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to be destroyed, to perish. Impf. pictures the continual and repeated action, "they continue to perish day by day" (RWP). ◆ 10 γογγύζετε pres. imp. act. γογγύζω (# 1197) to murmur, to mutter, to complain, to give audible expression to unwarranted dissatisfaction (Lenski; GELTS, 92). It contains the idea of God's judgment and condemnation of man who instead of giving God thanks and showing obedience sets himself up as a judge over God (TDNT; EDNT; Schrage). καθάπερ (# 2749) just as. ἐγόγγυσαν aor. ind. act. (# 1197). καί (# 2779) and, w. the result that (Barrett). ἀπώλοντο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to be destroyed. ὀλοθρευτής (# 3904) one who destroys, the destroyer. Perhaps a reference to the angel of destruction whom the rabbis called Mashhith (SB, 3:412-16; Jastrow, 2:851; DDD, 456-63; s. Exod. 12:23; TDNT). ◆ 11 τυπικῶς (# 5595) adv., typically (s.v. 6; Schrage). συνέβαινεν impf. ind. act. συμβαίνω (# 5201) to happen, w. dat., which indicates to whom the events happened. Impf. pictures the enumerated events in the process of happening; the sing. sums them up as one series (RP). ἐγράφη aor. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) s.v. 7. νουθεσία (# 3804) admonition, warning, instruction (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT; for the use in Jos. s. CCFJ, 3:157). τὰ τέλη τῶν αἰώνων (# 5465; 172) the ends of the ages. In Jewish writing the term means the beginning of redemption or the time of the Messiah's appearing or "the end," in general (SB, 3:416; Schrage). For the apparently general use of the term in the DSS s. 1 QS 4:16f. Paul believes he and his correspondents are living in the last days of world history before the breaking in of the Messianic Age (Barrett). κατήντηκεν perf. ind. act. καταντάω (# 2910) to come down to a meeting, to arrive at a goal, to come to. The word appears in the papyri as a t.t. for the inheritance that comes to an heir (TDNT; BAGD; MM). ◆ 12 ὥστε (# 6063) therefore, thus then. It indicates that this exhortation to watchfulness is the inference to be drawn from the foregoing examples (Godet). δοκῶν pres. act. part. δοκέω (# 1506) to seem, to be of the opinion, to think, w. inf. Part. as subst., "the one who thinks." ἑστάναι perf. act. inf. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand. βλεπέτω pres. imp. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see, to beware. Pres. imp. indicates the necessity of continual watchfulness. πέσῃ aor. subj. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall; here, perhaps to fall into sin (Weiss). Subj. w. μή (# 3590) lest, in a neg. purp. or result cl. ◆ 13 πειρασμός (# 4279) testing, trying, temptation. The vb. came to signify intentional trying w. the purpose of discovering what of good and evil, or power or weakness, was in a person or thing (Trench, Synonyms, 280; TLNT). εἴληφεν perf. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, overtake, w. the emphasis here on its lying outside their willing or doing (Fee). The words imply that there was a certain temptation which had captured the Corinthians and which subdued them (Grosheide). εἰ μή (# 1623; 3590) except. ἀνθρώπινος (# 474) human, that which is according to human strength, bearable (Weiss; BAGD). The suf. signifies material or kind (MH, 359). ἐάσει fut. ind. act. ἐάω (# 1572) to allow, w. inf. and the subject of the inf. in the acc. πειρασθῆναι aor. pass. inf. πειράζω (# 4279) to test, to tempt, to try (TLNT). Pass. indicates that the temptation is from without. ὑπέρ (# 5642) w. acc., above, beyond. ὅ (# 4005) who, which. Rel. pron. which includes the unexpressed demonstrative pron. "Beyond that which" (BD, 154). δύνασθε pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able. ποιήσει fut. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make. σύν (# 5250) w. dat., with, in connection w. It ties the two together, w. the temptation there is also the escape (Schrage). ἔκβασις (# 1676) a way out, escape (LS, 501; BAGD). In the papyri it has the meaning "end," "completion" (MM; Preisigke, 1:438; GELTS, 133). δύνασθαι pres. pass. (dep.) inf. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able. ὑπενεγκεῖν aor. act. inf. ὑποφέρω (# 5722) to carry under, to bear, to endure. ◆ 14

διόπερ (# 1478) wherefore, for which very reason, "the conclusion of this" (Barrett; DM, 245; Blomqvist, 136f). ἀγαπητοί (# 28) voc. pl. one who is loved, w. subject gen., "ones loved by me." The designation suggests that Paul's concern is motivated by genuine interest in them. φεύγετε pres. act. imp. φεύγω (# 5771) to flee, to run from. Pres. imp. calls for a constant way of life. ◆ 15 φρόνιμος (# 5861) wise, understanding, sensible, the ability to make a decision, understanding resulting from insight and wisdom (TDNT; LN, 1:384). Indir. obj. κρίνατε aor. imp. act. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. ὑμεῖς (# 5148) you yourself. ◆ 16 ποτήριον (# 4539) cup; the cup of blessing was a technical Jewish term used for the cup of wine drunk at the end of a meal. The most honored guest at the table took the cup, lifted it up, and said the benediction (Barrett; SB, 4:627ff; D. Cohn-Sherbok, "A Jewish Note on ΤΟ ΠΟΤΗΡΙΟΝ ΤΗΣ ΕΥΛΟΓΙΑΣ," NTS 27 [1981]: 704-709; Phillip Sigal, "Another Note to 1 Corinthians 10.16," NTS 29 [1983]: 134-39). εὐλογοῦμεν pres. ind. act. εὐλογέω (# 2328) to bless. Pres. views the general Christian practice without going into details (RP). οὐχί (# 4049) introduces a question expecting the answer "yes." κοινωνία (# 3126) fellowship, to have in common w. someone, common participation (Barrett; NIDNTT, 1:639-44; RAC, 9:110-45; TDNT; esp. IMC, 167-212). αἵματος τοῦ Χριστοῦ gen. sing. (# 135; 3836; 5986) obj. gen., "a participation in the blood of Christ," "participation in Christ's death"; that is, "committal to him who died for us" (RWP; IMC, 207). τὸν ἄρτον acc. sing. ἄρτος (# 788) bread. Acc. by inverse attraction to the rel. pron. (BD, 154; RG, 717f). κλῶμεν pres. ind. act. κλάω (# 3089) to break. Iterat. pres. referring to a repeated action. σώματος τοῦ Χριστοῦ (# 5393; 3638; 5986) the body of Christ. A reference to the church as the body of Christ and the fellowship among believers (Lietzmann). The fellowship means the relationship established among members of a covenant and the obligations ensuing from it (IMC, 209). ◆ 17 ὅτι (# 4022) because. οἱ πάντες (# 4246) the all; "we the whole, the whole number." These words are in apposition to the subject (RWP). μετέχομεν pres. ind. act. μετέχω (# 3576) to share w., to be partners in. ◆ 18 κατὰ σάρκα (# 2848; 4922) according to the flesh; a reference to historical Israel (Conzelmann). οὐχ (# 4024) introduces a question expecting a positive answer. ἐσθίοντες pres. act. part. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. Part. as subst. θυσία (# 2602) sacrifice. θυσιαστηρίου gen. sing. θυσιαστήριον (# 2603) altar, place of sacrifice. Obj. gen.; that is, joint participation in the sacrifice and the accompanying rites (IMC, 184-88, esp. 187). ◆ 19 οὖν (# 4036) then. It draws a consequence from v. 18 (Schrage). εἰδωλόθυτον (# 1628) that which is sacrificed to an idol (s. 8:1). τί (# 5516) anything, anything at all; that is, a real sacrifice (IMC, 189). ◆ 20 ἅ pl. ὅς (# 4005) who, which. Rel. pron. including the demonstrative pron. which is not expressed (s.v. 13). δαιμονίοις dat. pl. δαιμόνιον (# 1228) demon. Dat. of advantage, "to demons." Heathen sacrifices were sacrifices to demons (TDNT; SB, 3:51-53; RAC, 9:546-797; NW 2, i:335-36). γίνεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become (s.v. 6). Inf. completes the vb., "I do not want you to become partners with demons." This would involve becoming one with demons as well as giving tacit recognition of supernatural powers which are opposed to God (IMC, 191-92). ◆ 21 δύνασθε pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to; "you are not able." Gnomic pres. emphasizes that which is always true. ποτήριον (# 4539) cup, the common meal and the common drinking of the heathen created a close and meaningful relationship between the human partners and the god to whom they ate and drank. This was especially true when they drank from a common cup (RAC 2:41). πίνειν pres. act. inf. πίνω (# 4403) to drink (s.v. 7). τραπέζης gen. sing. τράπεζα (# 5544) table indicating a common meal (IMC, 15-17; s. 8:1). Gen. after a vb. of sharing. ◆ 22 ἢ (# 2445) or. παραζηλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. παραζηλόω (# 4143) to provoke to jealousy, to cause one to be jealous (s. Deut 32:21). For the prep. compound s. MH 320. μή (# 3590) introduces a question which expects the answer "no." ἰσχυρότεροι comp. ἰσχυρός (# 2708) strong; comp., stronger, w. gen. αὐτοῦ (# 899) as gen. of comparison, "stronger than he (is)." ◆ 23 ἔξεστιν (# 2003) pres. ind. act.; impersonal, it is lawful, it is allowed. συμφέρει pres. ind. act. (# 5237) συμφέρω to bring together, to help, to confer a benefit, to be advantageous, profitable, or useful (BAGD). Gnomic pres. indicating that which is always true. οἰκοδομεῖ pres. ind. act. οἰκοδομέω (# 3868) to build up, to edify. It means to cause to advance spiritually (Grosheide). ◆ 24 μηδείς (# 3594) no one. τὸ ἑαυτοῦ (# 1571) the thing of himself, that which is his own, his own ends (Barrett). ζητείτω pres. imp. act. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek. Pres. points to a habitual action. ◆ 25 μάκελλον (# 3425) stall or shop on the marketplace where meat and other foods were sold. Because of the nearness to the temple, it was possible that some of the meat in the marketplace had been sacrificial offerings (Lietzmann; TDNT; H.J. Cadbury, "The Macellum of Corinth," JBL 53 [1934]: 134-41; C. K. Barrett, "Things Sacrificed to Idols," NTS 11 [1965]: 144; Schrage; SPC, 32, 37; BBC). πωλούμενον pres. pass. part. (adj.) πωλέω (# 4797) to sell. A middle to lower class household in Corinth buying its supplies in the macellum would often make purchases that had no connection w. idolatry (Barrett, NTS 11 [1965]: 146). ἐσθίετε pres. imp. act. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. Imp. of permission, "you may eat" (RG, 948). For a discussion of Plutarch's arguments against eating meat s. PTW, 301-16. ἀνακρίνοντες pres. act. part. (circum.) ἀνακρίνω (# 373) to examine, to make inquiry. The word was used in a judicial sense of conducting a hearing or investigation (BAGD). Jews were only allowed to buy meat from the Gentiles if it could be established that it was not meat offered to idols (SB, 3:420-21). συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience (s. Rom. 2:15; PAT, 416-20). ◆ 26 τοῦ κυρίου (# 3261) belongs to the Lord. Emphatic by its position. πλήρωμα (# 4445) fullness, the total content. ◆ 27 εἰ (# 1623) if. It views the possibility as a reality. καλεῖ pres. ind. act. καλέω (# 2813) to call, to invite. Christians were evidently frequently invited to dinners by the unbelievers and some of these dinners may have been connected w. heathen gods. (For a study of such invitations w. examples, s. Chan-Hie Kim, "The Papyrus Invitation," JBL 94 [1975]: 391-402; IMC, 39-45). πορεύεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. πορεύομαι (# 4513) to go. Inf. w. vb. παρατιθέμενον pres. pass. part. (adj.) παρατίθημι (# 4192) to place before, here in the sense to "serve." The unbeliever places the meat before the believer. ◆ 28 εἴπῃ aor. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 351) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. in which the cond. is viewed as possible. ἱερόθυτον (# 2638) that which is sacrificed in a temple. It is different from the word in chapter 8:1; 10:19 and more appropriate on pagan lips or in pagan company (Bruce). ἐσθίετε pres. imp. act. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. μηνύσαντα aor. act. part. μηνύω (# 3606) to make known, to give information, to reveal. The word implies private communication (Fee). Part. as subst. ◆ 29 τὴν ἑαυτοῦ (# 1571) his own. ἵνατί (# 2672) why. κρίνεται pres. ind. pass. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge; pass., to be judged, to be exposed to judgment (Barrett). ◆ 30 χάριτι dat. sing. χάρις (# 5921) grace, thanksgiving. Dat. of manner: "w. thanks," "w. thanksgiving" (BD, 106). The word "grace" not only meant the gift which was given, but the thanks which was expressed for the gift (TDNT). μετέχω (# 3576) pres. ind. act. to partake. Ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. in which the cond. is assumed as actual. βλασφημοῦμαι pres. ind. pass. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to slander, to defame, to injure the reputation of someone (BAGD; TLNT). οὗ gen. ὅς (# 4005) "that which," rel. pron. used including the idea of the demonstrative pron. ◆ 31 ποιεῖτε pres. ind./imp. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. The first form, ποιεῖτε, is pres. ind. act. The second ποιεῖτε, is pres. imp. and points to a habitual action. ◆ 32 ἀπρόσκοποι (# 718) without offense, without causing others to stumble (RP). Used in the papyri in the sense of "free from hurt or harm" (MM) and "not causing injury" (Preisigke). Ἰουδαίοις dat. pl. Ἰουδαῖος (# 2681) Jew (s. Malcolm Love, "Who Were the IOUDAIOI?," NovT 18 [1976]: 101-30). Dat. of disadvantage. γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἐκκλησίᾳ (# 1711) dat. sing. church. Dat. of disadvantage. ◆ 33 πάντα acc. pl. πᾶς (# 4246) all. Acc. of general reference. σωθῶσιν aor. subj. pass. σῴζω (# 5392) to rescue, to save. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl.

1 Corinthians 11

◆ 1 μιμηταί nom. pl. μιμητής (# 3629) imitator, one who mimics another; w. obj. gen. indicating who is to be imitated (DPL, 428-31). It is from the vb. μιμέομαι to imitate, to mimic. The ending of the noun indicates the agent who performs an action (MH, 365). Pred. nom. γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. Pres. imp. calls for an habitual conduct. Χριστοῦ gen. sing. Χριστος (# 5986) Christ. Obj. gen. Paul's appeal to the character of Jesus of Nazareth shows Paul's interest in the earthly life of Christ (JNP, 109). ◆ 2 ἐπαινῶ pres. ind. act. ἐπαινάω (# 2046) to praise. πάντα acc. pl. πᾶς (# 4246) all. Acc. of reference, "in respect to all things. μέμνησθε perf. ind. mid. (dep.) μιμνήσκομαι (# 3630) to remember, w. obj. in gen. Perf. indicates that the Corinthians remembered continually (Grosheide). παρέδωκα aor. ind. act. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to deliver over, to pass on. Often used in the sense of a teacher passing on material which he has (TDNT; TLNT; NIDNTT, 3:772-74; EDNT; DPL, 569-75, 989-90). παράδοσις (# 4142) tradition, that which is passed on. κατέχετε pres. ind. act. κατέχω (# 2988) to hold down, to hold fast, to possess (MM). ◆ 3 εἰδέναι perf. act. inf. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. Inf. completing the vb. θέλω (# 2527) pres. ind. act., I desire. κεφαλή (# 3051) head; in its metaphorical sense it may apply to the outstanding and determining part of a whole, but also to origin. Paul does not say that the man is the Lord of the woman; he says that he is the origin of her being (Barrett; TDNT; H. Wayne House, "Should a Woman Prophesy or Preach before Men?" Bib Sac 145 [1988]: 145-48; DPL, 375-77). Paul uses the word to set forth the hierarchical, social structure in God's economy (Bruce K. Waltke, "1 Corinthians 11:2-16: An Interpretation," Bib Sac 135 [1978]: 46-57, esp. 48). For a discussion of this passage s. Craig S. Keener, Paul, Women and Wives (Peabody, Mass.: Hendrikson, 1992), 19-100. ◆ 4 προσευχόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) προσεύχομαι (# 4662) to pray. προφητεύων pres. act. part. προφητεύω (# 4736) to speak for someone, to prophecy. κατὰ κεφαλῆς (# 2848; 3051) down from the head; that is, a head covering or veil hanging down from the head (Richard E. Oster, "When Men Wore Veils to Worship: The Historical Context of I Corinthians 11.4," NTS 34 [1988]: 486; RG, 606f; MT, 268). Some feel that Paul is not referring to a head covering as such, but rather to the wearing of long, loose flowing hair, which may have been the indication of a homosexual (Schrage). ἔχων pres. act. part. (adj.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. καταισχύνει pres. ind. act. καταισχύνω (# 2875) to put to shame, to disgrace. Since the Christian man reflects the glory of Christ, were he to wear a veil concealing his head he would rob his own head of its chief function of reflecting the glory of Christ (Barrett). It was common for Roman men to wear their heads covered while performing religious duties. Numerous references by various writers attest to this, as well as statues, pictures, coins, etc. (Richard E. Oster, NTS 34 [1988]: 481-505; Richard E. Oster, "Use, Misuse and Neglect of Archaeological Evidence," ZNW 83 [1992]: 67-69; D.W.J. Gill, "The Importance of Roman Portraiture for Head-coverings in 1 Corinthians 11,2-16," TB 42 [1990]: 245-60; Cynthia L. Thompson, "Hairstyles, Head-coverings, and St. Paul: Portraits from Corinth," BA 51 [1988]: 99-115; NW, 2, i:340-43; Plutarch, "The Roman Questions," Moralia, 266 C-F). For the Jewish custom of men praying w. uncovered heads s. SB, 3:423-26. ◆ 5 προσευχομένη pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) προσεύχομαι (# 4662) to pray. ἀκατακαλύπτῳ dat. sing. ἀκατακάλυπτος (# 184) uncovered. For a Jewish woman to appear outside of the house w. an uncovered head was shameful and her husband could divorce her (SB, 3:427). The Jewish sense of a woman's head covering indicated the special hairstyle she was to wear–plaited hair held together w. bands and coverings (SB, 3:427-35). The women of Tarsus were to have their face covered when they appeared on the street. This was an old custom retained in Tarsus (DC, 33:48). It may be a reference to women wearing long, unkempt, flowing hair, as pagan women often did during the frenzied worship of some of the gods (Schrage; William J. Martin, "1 Corinthians 11:2-16: An Interpretation," AHG, 231-41). In the worship of the Greek deity Desponia, the women were not to have their hair braided, nor the men their head covered (NDIEC, 4:109-18). Dat. of manner. ἓν γάρ ἐστιν καὶ τὸ αὐτό "for it is one and the same thing" (RWP). ἐξυρημένῃ perf. pass. part. (adj.) ξυράω (# 3834) to shave. For the Jews a woman w. a shaved head was particularly ugly; a shaved head was a sign of adultery (SB, 3:434; Philo, The Special Laws, 3:36). In Cyprus a woman guilty of adultery was considered a harlot and her hair was cut off (DC, 64:3). A woman w. a shaved head was also the sign of mourning (DC, 64:16; The Syrian Goddess, 6; Barrett). Perf. indicates the state or condition. ◆ 6 κατακαλύπτεται pres. ind. mid. κατακαλύπτω (# 2877) to cover oneself; mid., to cover oneself w. a veil. It may mean, "to have the head covered w. hair" (Schrage). Pres. expresses a general principle. Ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. which assumes the reality of the cond. κειράσθω aor. imp. mid. κείρω (# 3025) to shear, to cut w. scissors (Lietzmann). Perhaps Paul in using sarcasm to indicate that when a woman will not wear a decent hairstyle, let her cut off all of her hair (Schrage). αἰσχρός (# 156) shame, disgrace, w. dat. of disadvantage, γυναικί dat. sing. γυνή (# 1222) woman. κείρασθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. κείρω (# 3025) Inf. w. the article is used as the subject of the cl. (Funk, 657). ξυρᾶσθαι pres. mid. inf. ξυράω (# 3834) to shave, to cut w. a razor (s.v. 5; Lietzmann; BAGD; MM). κατακαλυπτέσθω pres. imp. pass. κατακαλύπτω (# 2877) to cover. Pres. imp. indicates a general command. ◆ 7 ὀφείλει pres. ind. act. ὀφείλω (# 4053) to be obligated to. "One ought to," "one is obligated to," w. inf. The word indicates moral obligation. κατακαλύπτεσθαι pres. mid. inf. κατακαλύπτω (# 2877) to cover. εἰκών (# 1635) image. δόξα (# 1518) glory. ὑπάρχων pres. act. part. (causal) ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to exist, to be. ◆ 8 γυναικός gen. sing. γυνή (# 1222) s.v. 6 ἀνδρός gen. sing. ἀνήρ (# 467) male, man. ◆ 9 καὶ γάρ for even, yes, even (BD, 236). ἐκτίσθη aor. ind. pass. κτίζω (# 3231) to create. γυναῖκα acc. sing. s.v. 8. ἄνδρα acc. sing. (s.v. 8). ◆ 10 ἐξουσίαν (# 2026) authority, the right to perform an act. The covered head is the woman's authority to pray and worship since it shows her belonging and obedient to her husband (Schlatter; M.D. Hooker, "Authority on Her Head: An Examination of First Corinthians 11:10," NTS 10 [1964]: 410-16; DPL, 584-86). The statement may mean that the authority of the Corinthian woman was that she should wear a fitting hairstyle (Schrage). ἔχειν pres. act. inf. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Inf. complementary to the vb. ἐπὶ τῆς κεφαλῆς (# 3051) upon her head. It is unclear whether this is to be understood in a literal or fig. sense. διὰ τοὺς ἀγγέλους (# 1328; 34) "because of the angels." Angels were considered to be the guardians of the order of creation (Hooker, NTS 10:412f; DPL, 20-21), and present at worship services (Schlatter). The misconduct of the women would be taken as a sign of rebellion (H. Wayne House, "Should a Woman Prophesy or Preach Before Men?" Bib Sac 145 [1988]: 158; Schrage). For Qumran parallels to angels being present at a worship service and the interpretation that the lack of covering for a woman signified a physical defect which excluded one from worship s. Fitzmyer, Essays, 187-204. ◆ 11 πλήν (# 4440) however, nevertheless, in any case. It is used in an adversative and modifying sense to conclude a discussion and emphasize what is essential (BD, 234; Blomqvist, 82f). χωρίς (# 6006) w. gen., without, separated from. ἐν κυρίῳ (# 1877; 3261) in the Lord, or perhaps, in the Lord's intention; that is, that of the original creation and its restoration (Barrett). ◆ 12 διά (# 1328) w. gen., through. ἐκ τοῦ θεοῦ (# 2536) from, out of God. The man is the woman's initial cause, she is his instrumental cause, but both owe their origin to God (RP). ◆ 13 κρίνατε aor. imp. act. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge, to decide. πρέπον pres. act. part. nom. sing. πρέπω (# 4560) that which is fitting to the circumstances, that which is proper; followed by the acc. w. the inf. ἀκατακάλυπτον (# 184) uncovered (s.v. 5). προσεύχεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray. ◆ 14 οὐδέ (# 4028) used to introduce a question expecting a positive answer (RWP). ἡ φύσις αὐτή (# 3836; 5882; 899) nature herself. κομᾷ pres. subj. act. κομάω (# 3150) to have long hair, to let one's hair grow long. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which assumes the possibility of the cond. ἀτιμία (# 871) dishonor. Jewish men wore middle length hair which was usually well-groomed (SB, 3:440-42). Sometimes long hair was associated w. homosexuality (Wiess; Philo, The Special Laws, 3:37), but long hair was not uncommon for philosophers, farmers, barbarians, etc. (DC, 35:11). ◆ 15 δόξα (# 1518) glory, that which brings praise or honor (TLNT). αὐτῇ dat. sing. αὐτός (# 899) self, (her); dat. of advantage. κόμη (# 3151) long hair, the hairdo neatly held in place by means of ribbon or lace. What is required by these verses is an orderly hairdress which distinguishes a woman from a man (Grosheide; for pictures and a discussion of women's hairstyle s. Cynthia L. Thompson, "Hairstyles, Head-coverings, and St. Paul: Portraits from Corinth," BA 51 [1988]: 99-115). ἀντί (# 505) w. gen., instead of. περιβολαίου (# 4316) that which is thrown about, a wrap, a covering. Her hair is the covering (Schrage). δέδοται perf. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Perf. indicates the abiding state or condition. Perhaps the pass. is a theol. pass. ◆ 16 δοκεῖ pres. ind. act. δοκέω (# 1506) to seem to be, to seem, to intend to be. Ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. which views the cond. as true. φιλόνεικος (# 5809) strife-loving, contentious, quarrelsome. εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Compl. inf. w. the vb. συνήθεια (# 5311) custom, habit, usage. He means we have no such custom such as women praying or prophesying w. head uncovered (Morris). ◆ 17 παραγγέλλων pres. act. part. (temp.) παραγγέλλω (# 4133) to transmit a message along from one to another, to declare, to order, to charge. Used especially of the order of the military commander which is passed along the line by his subordinates (T, 343). Pres. indicating contemporaneous time, "in giving this charge." ἐπαινῶ pres. ind. act. ἐπαινέω (# 2046) to praise. κρεῖσσον (# 3202) comp. of ἀγαθός (# 19) good; comp., more prominent, preferable, more advantageous, better. ἧσσον (# 2482) functions as a comp. of κακός inferior, weaker, lesser, for the worse. For both of these words s. BAGD. συνέρχεσθε pres. ind. mid. (dep.) συνέρχομαι (# 5302) to come together. ◆ 18 πρῶτον μὲν (# 4754; 3525) first of all, in the first place. It is not formally caught up by such a companion phrase as "in the next place," unless we so regard v. 34b (Bruce). συνερχομένων pres. mid. (dep.) part. συνέρχομαι (# 5302) to come together. Gen. abs. temp. part., "when you come together." The Corinthians came together in the various homes of the believers (SPC, 153-67; BBC; Bradley Blue, "Acts and the House Church," BAFS, 119-222). σχίσμα (# 5388) division (s. 1:10). ὑπάρχειν pres. act. inf. ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to exist, to be. Inf. in indir. discourse. μέρος τι (# 3538; 5516) partly. Acc. of extent, "to some part" (RWP). ◆ 19 δεῖ pres. ind. act. δεῖ (# 1256) impersonal w. inf., it is necessary to, expressing logical necessity. γὰρ καί for also, for precisely (Kistemaker). αἵρεσις (# 146) division, different opinion (MM). εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. δόκιμος (# 1511) that which is approved after examination, genuine, tested. approved (BS, 259-62; TDNT; TLNT). φανερός (# 5745) open to sight, visible, w. reference to outward appearance, manifest as opposed to concealed (AS, 104). Pred. nom. γένωνται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) expressing purp. Divisions are not good, but they are inevitable and show those who are truly Christ's (Fee). ◆ 20 συνερχομένων pres. mid. (dep.) part. συνέρχομαι (# 5302) to come together. Gen. abs. οὖν (# 4036) therefore, then, now. The word indicates the continuation of the subject from one thought to another or the introduction of a new phase of thought (DM, 253). τὸ αὐτό (# 899) the same; here, "the same place." κυριακός (# 3258) belonging to the Lord. The word was used in the papyri in the sense of "belonging to Caesar" or "imperial" (Deissmann; BS, 217-19; LAE, 362f; TDNT; DPL, 578-79; Rev. 1:10). δεῖπνον (# 1270) dinner, the main meal. For the meal of the Greeks and the Romans s. Bengel; Lietzmann; LLAR, 35-53; PLR, 1:297-340. φαγεῖν aor. act. inf. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. Inf. of purp. ◆ 21 ἕκαστος (# 1667) each, each one for himself. It was not the Lord who was determining the celebration, but the individual (Conzelmann). προλαμβάνει pres. ind. act. προλαμβάνω (# 4624) to take before. Prep. here is temp., "each one takes it before others have theirs" (Barrett). For the examples in the papyri and the suggested weakening of the prep. in compound s. MM. φαγεῖν aor. act. inf. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. Inf. w. prep. ἐν (# 1877) to indicate the area in which some were going ahead of others. They took what they had brought along and did not permit others, the poor, to eat from their portion (Grosheide). ὃς μὲν ... ὃς δέ the one, the other. πεινᾷ pres. ind. act. πεινάω (# 4277) to be hungry. μεθύει pres. ind. act. μεθύω (# 3501) to be drunk. Pres. vividly points out the action that was in progress. It could also point to a habitual or repeated action. For a description of the common meal associated w. the Lord's Supper s. IDB, 2:53-54; DPL, 569-75, esp. 571-73; ABD, 1:90-91; 4:362-72. ◆ 22 μή (# 3590) used in a question expecting the answer "no"; "it is certainly not that you do not have houses, is it?" ἐσθίειν pres. act. inf. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. πίνειν pres. act. inf. πίνω (# 4403) to drink. Inf. w. prep. εἰς (# 1650) to express purp.; "for eating and drinking." At a Roman banquet, which was a three course meal, different qualities of food and drink were served to the different grades of guests, and the drinking sessions followed the meal (LLAR, 42-50). καταφρονεῖτε pres. ind. act. καταφρονέω (# 2969) to think down upon, to despise, w. obj. in gen. καταισχύνετε pres. ind. act. καταισχύνω (# 2875) to put to shame. G. Theissen, "Soziale Integration und sakramentales Handeln," NovT 16 [1974]: 179-206. ◆ 23 ἐγώ (# 1609) I Strongly emphasized and stands in contrast to those at Corinth. παρέλαβον aor. ind. act. παραλαμβάνω (# 4161) to receive. The word corresponds to the t.t. in the rabbinical literature, quibbel, meaning to receive tradition which has been passed on (PRJ, 248; SB, 3:444). ἀπό (# 608) from. The prep. can indicate that Paul did not receive his information directly by revelation (Grosheide). It may be, however, that he received the interpretation of the information from the Lord (Barrett). παρέδωκα aor. ind. act. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to pass on, to hand down to (TDNT; TLNT). The word corresponds to the rabbinical t.t. masar indicating the passing down of tradition. The words mean the chain of hist. tradition that Paul received goes back unbroken to the words of Jesus himself (Ladd, 389; for the use of masar in the DSS s. CD 3:3). ὅτι (# 4022) that. Introduces the content of that which was received. παρεδίδετο impf. ind. pass. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to deliver over, to betray. Impf. implies that this betrayal was at that time still going on (Grosheide). ἔλαβεν aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, to receive. ◆ 24 εὐχαριστήσας aor. act. part. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks. 1 Corinthians 12

◆ 1 πνευματικός (# 4421) spiritual. The suf. indicates that which pertains to the spirit (MH, 378f). The word can be either masc. (spiritual people) or n. spirit (spiritual things, gifts) (Pearson, 47f; Grosheide). ἀγνοεῖν pres. act. inf. ἀγνοέω (# 51) to be ignorant. Inf. complementary to the main vb. θέλω (# 2527) pres. ind. act., "I desire for you not to be ignorant." ◆ 2 ἦτε impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἄφωνος (# 936) without speech, dumb. ὡς ἄν (# 6055; 323) used w. impf. for the notion of repetition (RG, 974). ἤγεσθε impf. ind. pass. ἄγω (# 72) to lead. ἀπαγόμενοι pres. pass. part. ἀπάγω (# 552) to lead away, to carry away. It suggests moments of ecstasy experienced in heathen religion, when a human being is possessed by the supernatural (Barrett). The dangling construction is best understood by supplying ἦτε to form a periphrastic construction (Fee; Kistemaker). ◆ 3 ἐν (# 1877) w. dat., in, through, in control of. λαλῶν pres. act. part. λαλέω (# 4246) to speak. Adj. part. as subst. ἀνάθεμα (# 353) that which is set apart for a deity, that which is abandoned by the gods, a curse, cursed (Grosheide; TDNT; EDNT; GELTS, 28; RAC, 1:427-30). The reference is to demonic powers and the control of these powers over the lives of the Corinthians before they became Christians. It was possible that the demons used the gift of ecstatic speech to curse Jesus (Pearson, 49-50f; s. H. Wayne House, "Tongues and the Mystery Religions of Corinth," Bib Sac 140 [1983]: 134-50; Jouette M. Bassler, "1 Cor 12:3 - Curse and Confession in Context," JBL 101 [1982]: 415-18). δύναται pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. Pres. indicates that which is always true. εἰπεῖν aor. act. inf. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Compl. inf. to the main vb. Κύριος Ἰησοῦς (# 3261; 2652) Jesus is Lord (s. 8:6). εἰ μή (# 1623; 3590) except. For the view that Paul is primarily referring to a ruler of the synagogue who is reported to have tutored a Jewish Christian to say these words in order to save membership in the community s. J.D.M. Derrett, "Cursing Jesus (1 Cor. 13:3): The Jews as Religious 'Persecutors,'" NTS 21 (1975): 544-54. ◆ 4 διαίρεσις (# 1348) distribution, division, allotment (RP; BAGD; MM; GELTS, 103), difference, variety (Conzelmann). ◆ 5 διακονιῶν gen. pl. διακονία (# 1355) service, ministry. Gen. of description. ◆ 6 ἐνέργημα (# 1920) performance, that which was accomplished through energy. These are the results or effects of the working given by God (RP). ἐνεργῶν pres. act. part. (adj.) ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to perform, to be at work, to be effective, to produce. τὰ πάντα ἐν πᾶσιν "all things in all." The second "all" could be n. or masc. but the emphasis in the passage is on the working of God within men (Morris). ◆ 7 δίδοται pres. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Pres. points to the habitual and repeated action. Theol. pass. indicating that God is the giver. φανέρωσις (# 5748) manifestation, a making clear. συμφέρον pres. act. part. n. sing. συμφέρω (# 5237) to bring together, to confer a benefit, to be advantageous, profitable or useful (BAGD). Used here w. prep. πρός meaning "w. a view to advantage," that is, "the profit of all" (RP). Part. as subst. ◆ 8 κατὰ τὸ αὐτὸ πνεῦμα (# 2848; 3836; 899; 4460) according to the same Spirit. The prep. gives the norm or standard. ◆ 9 πίστις (# 4411) faith. Faith here is to be connected w. the miracles referred to in the next few lines (Barrett). ἴαμα (# 2611) healing. Here, pl. relates to the different classes of sicknesses to be healed (Godet). ◆ 10 διακρίσις (# 1360) a judging between things, distinguish, discerning. γλῶσσα (# 1185) tongue, language (Robert H. Gundry, "'Ecstatic Utterance' [N.E.B.]?" JTS 17 [1966], 299-307; DPL, 939-43; for lit. s. Fee). ἑρμηνεία (# 2255) interpretation. ◆ 11 ἐνεργεῖ pres. ind. act. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to work in, to energize. The word is often used of the working of the power of God in a miraculous way (MNTW, 46-54; s.v. 6). διαιροῦν pres. act. part. (adj.) διαιρέω (# 1349) to distribute (s.v. 4). ἰδίᾳ dat. ἴδιος (# 2625) individually, by oneself, privately. Dat. of advantage. καθώς (# 2777) just as, accordingly. βούλεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) βούλομαι (# 1089) to will, to determine. Pres. emphasizes the habitual or repeated action. Christ gives not according to the merit or wishes of men, but according to his own will (Hodge). ◆ 12 καθάπερ (# 2749) just as. σῶμα (# 5393) body. (For this comparison s. SBT, 235f; SPC, 165-67). μέλη nom. pl. μέλος (# 3517) member. ὄντα pres. part. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Concessive part., "although they are many." οὕτως καὶ ὁ Χριστός (# 5986) so also is Christ. Paul draws a comparison and uses the corporate rather than the solely individual person of Christ (SBT, 235). ◆ 13 καὶ γάρ (# 1609; 4246) for even, yes, even (BD, 236). ἡμεῖς πάντες we all. Paul includes himself as well as all believers (s. Samuel Byrskog, "Co-Senders, Co-Authors and Paul's Use of the First Person Plural," ZNW 87 [1996]: 230-50). εἰς ἓν σῶμα (# 1650; 1651; 5393) into one body. The prep. describes the result of the process (Barrett; Weiss). ἐβαπτίσθημεν aor. ind. pass. βαπτίζω (# 966) to baptize. Paul is not referring to water baptism but to the spiritual transformation which puts the believer in Christ, and which is the effect of receiving the gift of the Spirit at conversion (BHS, 130f). Aor. points to the event which has taken place. ἐποτίσθημεν aor. ind. pass. ποτίζω (# 4540) to cause to drink, to give to drink, to water, to irrigate (MH; BHS, 131). ◆ 14 τὸ σῶμα (# 5393) Article w. the subject ("the body") is generic, "a body" (Barrett; GGBB, 253-54). ἔστιν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be, to consist of. ◆ 15 εἴπῃ aor. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which assumes the possibility of the cond. ὅτι because. παρὰ τοῦτο because of this, alongside of this, on that score, for that reason (IBG, 51). The prep. w. acc. is causal (RG, 616). The one neg., οὐ (# 4024), is to be taken w. the prep. ("not by asserting this"), and the other neg., οὐκ (# 4024), negates the rest of the sentence ("not to be of the body") (Fee; Kistemaker). ◆ 16 εἴπῃ aor. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say (s.v. 15). οὖς (# 4044) ear. ◆ 17 εἰ (# 1623) if. Introduces a 1st. class cond. cl. which assumes the reality of the cond. for the sake of argument (VA, 294-304). ἀκοή (# 198) hearing. ὄσφρησις (# 4018) smelling. Gen. of description. ἀγάπη (# 27) love, love w. deep respect and admiration, which is full of thoughtfulness and concern and always demonstrates itself, even to those who are inferior (TLNT, 1:8-22 w. extensive bibliography, 19-22; TDNT; NIDNTT, 2:538-47; MNTW; Moffatt L, esp. 178-87; Trench, Synonyms, 41-44; EDNT; DPL, 575-78; 1 John 2:5). This was evidently a missing ingredient among many of the Corinthian believers and its lack caused many of the difficulties in the church there. γέγονα perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Perf. would indicate what a person has become and continues to be. χαλκός (# 5910) copper, brass, bronze. Used w. the following word to indicate a gong (BAGD; Conzelmann). The Copper Bowl of Dodona, at the oracle of Dodona, was said to sound (ἠχεῖν) all day long and therefore was used to describe a person who talked incessantly (NW, 2, i:369; OCD, 358). It has been suggested that the background of Paul's statement is that of acoustic vases used in the theaters to help improve the sound (W.W. Klein, "Noisy Gong or Acoustic Vase? A Note on 1 Corinthians 13:1," NTS 32 [1986]: 286-89; SPC, 76-77). Pred. adj. without the article stressing the character or quality. ἠχῶν pres. act. part. ἠχέω (# 2490) to sound, to ring, to echo, to roar. In connection w. the previous word it indicated a gong which produced a hollow, echoing, groaning noise (Weiss). ἤ or. It has been suggested that the translation should be, "If I speak ..., but do not have love, I am a dinging piece of bronze rather than a joyfully sounding cymbal" (Todd K. Sanders, "A New Approach to 1 Corinthians 13:1," NTS 36 [1990]: 614-18). κύμβαλον (# 3247) cymbal. Cymbals played a part in the Jewish worship service but an even greater role in the heathen worship of the goddess Cybele and Bacchus (TDNT; DGRA, 381f; MM; LAE, 164-66; Sanders, NTS 36 [1990]: 615). ἀλαλάζον pres. act. part. ἀλαλάζω (# 226) to sound loudly, to clash. Lit. used in the sense of "raise a war cry, shouting w. triumphant or joy" (AS; GELTS, 18; CCFJ, 1:59). ◆ 2 ἔχω pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which assumes the possibility of the cond. For a discussion of the grammar s. GGBB, 471, 698. εἰδῶ perf. subj. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. πᾶσαν τὴν γνῶσιν (# 4246; 3836; 1194) all knowledge, acc. sing. Used w. article it means, "all that there is in its entirety" (BD, 144). πᾶσαν τὴν πίστιν (# 4245; 3836; 4411) all the faith. μεθιστάναι pres. act. inf. μεθίστημι (# 3496) to remove, to transfer from one place to another. A proverbial expression meaning "to make what seems impossible" (Barrett; s. Matt. 17:20). Inf. w. ὥστε (# 6063) to express results. οὐθέν (# 4029) nothing, an absolute zero (RWP). ◆ 3 ψωμίσω aor. subj. act. ψωμίζω (# 6039) to spend everything on food, or to break into crumbs (Grosheide). The word lit. means, "I feed w. small morsels," as a child, or invalid. The meaning here is "if, for the purpose of alms giving, I divide all my property in fragments" (Barrett). ὑπάρχοντα pres. act. part. acc. pl. ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to exist. Part. in pl. as subst. means "goods," "possessions," "property." Although giving to charity was held in high esteem by the rabbis and thought to gain great merit, there were requirements prohibiting one from giving all of his goods; for example, in a year he was not to give more than 20% of his entire possessions (SB, 3:451; 4:536-58). παραδῶ aor. subj. act. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to give, to hand over. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which assumes the possibility of the cond. καυχήσωμαι aor. subj. mid. (dep.) καυχάομαι (# 3016) to boast, to glory. For a discussion of the variant reading (καυθήσομαι fut. ind. pass. καίω [# 2794] to set fire, to burn) s. TC, 536f; Barrett; Weiss; Fee; J.K. Elliott, "In Favour of καυθήσομαι at 1 Corinthians 13:3," ZNW 62 (1971): 297-98. ὠφελοῦμαι pres. ind. pass. ὠφελέω (# 6067) to profit, to be of value. The gifts are not valueless, but he is (RP). ◆ 4 μακροθυμεῖ pres. ind. act. μακροθυμέω (# 3428) to be longsuffering, to be patient. It is a long holding out of the mind before it gives room to action or passion - generally to passion (Trench, Synonyms, 196). It is the steadfast spirit which will never give in (NTW, 83; TDNT; EDNT). The idea of the word is that it takes a long time before fuming and breaking into flames. Pres. either emphasizes the continual state of action or is gnomic, indicating that which is always true. χρηστεύεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.)

χρηστεύομαι (# 5980) to be useful, to be kind and gracious, to show kindness, one who renders gracious, well-disposed service to others (EGT; TDNT; Trench, Synonyms, 323f; TLNT). In the second century, the spectacle of Christian love was so stunning for pagans that they called Christians not christiani but chrestinai, "made up of mildness or kindness" (TLNT, 3:515-16). For vbs. w. this ending, conveying the idea of being or behaving, or acting as s. MH, 400. ζηλοῖ pres. ind. act. ζηλόω (# 2420) to be fervent, to boil w. envy, to be jealous (TDNT). περπερεύεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) περπερεύομαι (# 4371) to brag, to boast. One who talks a lot and acts presumptuously, to be a windbag. Ostentation is the chief idea and ostentatious boasting leads easily to the next point (RP; TDNT; NW 2, i:373; Fee). φυσιοῦται pres. ind. mid. φυσιόω (# 5881) to puff up, to puff oneself out like a pair of bellows (RWP). ◆ 5 ἀσχημονεῖ pres. ind. act. ἀσχημονέω (# 858) to behave indecently or in a shameful manner. Love is tactful and does nothing that would raise a blush (RP). ζητεῖ pres. ind. act. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek. Pres. indicates a continual or habitual action. παροξύνεται pres. ind. pass. παροξύνω (# 4236) to irritate, to promote to anger; pass., to be irritated, to be touchy, to become indignant (CCFJ, 3:327-28). Selfishness generates the irritability (EGT). λογίζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) λογίζομαι (# 3357) to credit someone's account, to put to one's account for fut. payment. Here, "does not register (the evil)." Love stores up no resentment and bears no malice (RP; TDNT; MM). ◆ 6 χαίρει pres. ind. act. χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice. συγχαίρει pres. ind. act. συγχαίρω (# 5196) to rejoice together, to join in rejoicing. Here the rejoicing is at the truth rather than w. the truth (Barrett). ◆ 7 στέγει pres. ind. act. στέγω (# 5095) to cover (as a roof). The meaning is either to cover in the sense of to protect, as a roof, or to bear up as to support, as a roof (Barrett) or to endure, forbear, to put up w. (RP; Fee). πιστεύει pres. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Love trusts that the motives of action are pure. ἐλπίζει pres. ind. act. ἐλπίζω (# 1827) to hope. Love hopes that the motives of action are pure. ὑπομένει pres. ind. act. (# 5702) to endure, to bear up patiently (TDNT; Trench, Synonyms, 195f). Love has this indefatigable capacity to endure despite the ingratitude, bad conduct, and problems that all communal living involves, and this without complaining or becoming discouraged (TLNT, 3:420). When the motives prove to be impure, love bears it with no resentment! ◆ 8 οὐδέποτε (# 4030) never. πίπτει pres. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall, to fail. Pres. indicates a continual action, or is a gnomic pres. stating that which is always true. καταργηθήσονται fut. ind. pass. καταργέω (# 2934) to render inoperative, to make ineffective or powerless. παύσονται fut. ind. mid. παύω (# 4264) to cause to rest, to cause to cease. Possibly, "they shall make themselves cease or automatically cease of themselves" (RWP; HGS, 2, i:774-75). For the dying out and the little use of the gift of tongues in the post-apostolic church s. Cleon L. Rogers, Jr., "The Gift of Tongues in the Post-Apostolic Church," Bib Sac 122 (1965): 134-43; S.D. Currie, "'Speaking in Tongues': Early Evidence Outside the New Testament Bearing on GLOSSAIS LALEIN," Interp 19 (1965): 277-94. For a discussion of the grammar s. GGBB, 422-23. ◆ 9 ἐκ μέρους (# 1666; 3528) in part, partially. Both times the words are emphatic in this v. (RWP). ◆ 10 ἔλθῃ aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Subj. w. ὅταν (# 4020) in an indef. temp. cl. καταργηθήσεται fut. ind. pass. καταργέω (# 2934) to render inoperative (s.v. 8). ◆ 11 ἤμην impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. νήπιος (# 3758) infant, child, minor. Pred. nom. ἐλάλουν impf. ind. act. λαλέω (# 4246) to speak. Customary impf., "I used to speak." ἐφρόνουν impf. ind. act. φρονέω (# 5858) to think. It points to the thoughts, interest, and the striving of a child (Lenski). Customary impf. ἐλογιζόμην impf. ind. mid. (dep.) λογίζομαι (# 3357) to reckon (s.v. 5). γέγονα perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Not to be viewed as an aoristic perf. (BD, 177), but as a normal perf. emphasizing the resultant condition or state of the subject (M, 143f; RG, 900). κατήργηκα perf. ind. act. καταργέω (# 2934) to render inoperative. Here it has the meaning "to put aside." ◆ 12 ἄρτι (# 785) now. A contrast between this dispensation and the fut. (Grosheide). ἔσοπτρον (# 2269) mirror. In Gr. literature a mirror symbolized clarity and self-recognition (Conzelmann). Mirrors of the ancient world were generally made from polished metal and the Corinthian mirrors were famous (RP; Conzelmann; DGRA, 1052f; BBC). For the report or legend of letting a mirror down in a spring before the temple of Demeter and looking in the mirror to see if the sick person was to get well or die, s. Pausanias, Description of Greece, 7:21, 22; 8:37, 7. αἴνιγμα (# 141) riddle, an indistinct image (BAGD). πρός (# 4639) w. acc., before, facing; here, "face to face." ἐπιγνώσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπιγινώσκω (# 2105) to know, to have specific knowledge. Prep. in compound is directive (MH, 312). ἐπεγνώσθην aor. ind. pass. ἐπιγινώσκω. The words bring out the inadequacy of man's present knowledge of God in contrast w. God's knowledge of man now and the knowledge of God that man will have in the future (Barrett). Theol. pass. ◆ 13 νυνί (# 3815) now; logical not temp. μένει pres. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. μείζων comp. μεγας (# 3505) large; great. The comp. is used here to express the superl., "greatest" (GGBB, 299-300). For the contrast of Paul's treatment of love w. the ancient view of virtue, s. Gunther Bornkamm, "Der köstlichere Weg: 1 Kor. 13," Gesammelte Aufsätze, 1:93-112.

◆ 1 διώκετε pres. imp. act. διώκω (# 1503) to hunt, to pursue. Pres. imp. calls for a habitual action. ζηλοῦτε pres. imp. act. ζηλόω (# 2420) to be zealous, to earnestly desire. μᾶλλον (# 3437) adv., rather. Prep. in compound may indicate either "being a go-between," or "thoroughness." One who interprets his own words intervenes between unintelligible utterance and the hearers (RP). For the subj. w. εἰ (# 1623) s. VA, 309-11. λάβῃ aor. subj. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, to receive. Ingressive aor., "may get edification" (RWP). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express either purp. or result. ◆ 6 νῦν δέ and now. The particle is logical, not temp. (Weiss). ἔλθω aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which assumes the possibility of the cond.: "in case," "suppose I were to come." λαλῶν pres. act. part. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Part. of manner explaining how he would come to them. ὠφελήσω fut. ind. act. ὠφελέω (# 6067) to profit, to benefit; here w. acc. ἐὰν μή (# 1569; 3590) if not, except. λαλήσω aor. subj. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. ἐν (# 1877) in, by, through. Instr. use of the prep. ἀποκάλυψις (# 637) unveiling, revelation. γνῶσις (# 1194) knowledge. προφητείᾳ (# 4735) dat. sing. prophecy. The proclamation of a prophet. The revelation and knowledge are the internal gifts of which prophecy and teaching are the external manifestation (RP). ◆ 7 ὅμως (# 3940) The word could be viewed as displaced and mean "nevertheless," "all the same"; or it could be viewed as an adv. and mean "likewise" (BD, 234; MT, 337; BAGD). ἄψυχος (# 953) lifeless, inanimate. For the neg. force of the prefix s. Moorhouse, 47ff. φωνή (# 5889) voice, sound. αὐλός (# 888) flute. The word could refer to various types of wind instruments that were popular in social, religious, and military life (DGRA, 1131; RP). κιθάρα (# 3067) lyre, a stringed musical instrument resembling our guitar. It was used in education, lyric poetry, religion, and entertainment (OCD, 709; Conzelmann; KP, 3:1580). There was a large music hall (odeion) located in Corinth which would seat around 18,000 (G.E. Wright, Biblical Archaeology, 262). This, however, was constructed south of the theater in the late 1st. century (SPC, 34; James Wiseman, "Corinth and Rome 228 B.C. - A.D. 267," ANRW, 2. 7. 1:527). διαστολή (# 1405) difference, distinction. φθόγγοις dat. pl. φθόγγος (# 5782) sound, musical sound, note. Dat. of respect, "in the eyes of the speaker" (Kistemaker). βάρβαρος (# 975) barbarian. It denotes a man whose language sounds like "bar bar"; that is, whose language makes no sense (Morris). Herodotus wrote that Egyptians called those who did not speak their language "barbarians" (Herodotus, 2, 158:5; NW, 2, i:381). λαλῶν pres. act. part. λαλέω (# 4246) to speak. ἐν ἐμοί (# 1877; 1609) in my case, in my judgment (M, 103; BD, 118). ◆ 12 ἐπεί (# 2075) because, since, in the NT it is regularly causal (BD, 238). ζηλωτής (# 2421) zealot, one who is zealous for something, enthusiast. Pred. nom. without the article stresses the character. πνευμάτων gen. pl. πνεῦμα (# 4460) spirit. Obj. gen., indicating the object of the strong desire. The pl. refers to the various manifestations of the Spirit (Lenski). ζητεῖτε pres. imp. act. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek, to seek after. Pres. imp. indicates the continuing of an action in progress or the continual action which is to be habitual (MKG, 272; VANT, 327-34). περισσεύητε pres. subj. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to increase, to abound. The increase could be numerical or spiritual. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) expressing purp. ◆ 13 διό (# 1475) because of this, for this reason, therefore, drawing an inference from the previous discussion (BAGD; BD, 235). λαλῶν pres. act. part. λαλέω (# 4246) to speak. Part. as subst. προσευχέσθω pres. imp. mid. (dep.) 3rd. pers. sing. προσεύχομαι (# 4662) to pray. Pres. imp. could be iterative or habitual, giving instructions how the gift is to be used. διερμηνεύῃ pres. subj. act. διερμηνεύω (# 1450) to interpret (s.v. 5). The one who spoke in tongues evidently knew when he was going to use the gift, for he is to pray beforehand so he may interpret so that the whole church may be edified. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) giving the content of the prayer. ◆ 14 προσεύχωμαι pres. subj. mid. (dep.) προσεύχομαι (# 4662) s.v. 13. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. assuming the possibility or probability of the cond., "if I were to ...." τὸ πνεῦμά μου my spirit. It could refer to the human spirit of Paul (Barrett) the Holy Spirit, or the spiritual gift given by the Holy Spirit (Weiss; PAT, 190f). νοῦς (# 3808) mind, thinking, understanding; it is the constellation of thoughts and assumptions which make up the consciousness of the person and acts as the agent of rational discernment and communication (PAT, 450; TDNT; EDNT). ἄκαρπός (# 182) unfruitful, fruitless, sterile, profitless work. It does not mean that the mind did not function, but rather that the product of the mind did not bear fruit and did not edify. ◆ 15 τί οὖν ἐστιν What then is the result of this discussion? (RP). προσεύξομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) προσεύχομαι (# 4662) to pray. Fut. is assertive or volitive, expressing the determined decision of Paul's will (SMT, 34; M, 150; RG, 874). πνεύματι dat. sing. πνευμα (# 4460) spirit; instr. dat. νοΐ dat. sing. νους (# 3808) mind (s.v. 14). ψαλῶ fut. ind. act. ψάλλω (# 6010) to sing a hymn, to sing praises. ◆ 16 εὐλογῇς pres. subj. act. 2nd. pers. sing. εὐλογέω (# 2328) to speak well of, to praise, to bless, to give thanks. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1659) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. assuming the possibility of the cond. ἀναπληρῶν pres. act. part. ἀναπληρόω (# 405) to fill. Here, to fill up the place; that is, "he who fills the role of" (Barrett). Pres. describes action which reoccurs from time to time w. different individuals, as the iterative describes action repeated by the same agent (M, 114). καί (# 2779) also. πάντες nom. pl. πᾶς (# 4246) all. It is qualified by ἐν τῷ Χριστῷ. ζῳοποιηθήσονται fut. ind. pass. ζῳοποιέω (# 2443) to make alive. Theol. pass., indicating it is God who makes alive. ◆ 23 ἕκαστος (# 1667) each. τάγμα (# 5413) rank, order, often used in the military sense denoting a body of troops which can be disposed according to the decision of the commanding officer; or it could be applied to any sort of group and could also mean place or position (s. 14:40; Barrett). ἔπειτα (# 2083) then, after, thereafter. παρουσίᾳ (# 4242) dat. sing., presence, arrival, coming. The word was used as a technical expression for the arrival or visit of the king or emperor (LAE, 368; TLNT). It was also used for the appearance of a god (Conzelmann; TDNT). ◆ 24 εἶτα (# 1663) then, after this. The word may indicate that there is also to be an interval between his coming and the end (RP; Weiss). τέλος (# 5465) completion, end. The word was used as a technical phrase denoting the final consummation (PRJ, 295). παραδιδῷ pres. subj. act. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to give over, to turn over to someone. Pres. pictures a fut. proceeding (RWP). Subj. w. ὅταν (# 4020) ("whenever") in an indef. temp. cl. τῷ θεῷ καὶ πατρί. The definite article has here the force of demonstrative w. the meaning of a rel. pron.: "to the one who is God and Father" (Weiss). καταργήσῃ aor. subj. act. καταργέω (# 2934) to make ineffective, to abolish, to bring to an end (TDNT). ἀρχή (# 794) rule, ruler. The nouns here represent the evil powers under whose control the world has come (Barrett). ◆ 25 δεῖ pres. ind. act. (# 1256) impersonal, it is needful, w. inf. The necessity arises out of the sovereign plan of God (TDNT). βασιλεύειν pres. act. inf. βασιλεύω (# 996) to rule, to carry out the duties of a king. ἄχρι (# 948) w. gen., until. θῇ aor. subj. act. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to put. Subj. in an indef. temp. cl. ◆ 26 ἔσχατος ἐχθρός (# 2398) the last enemy. Either subject w. ὁ θάνατος (# 2505) in apposition to "death"; death as the last enemy (s. Rev. 20:14; 21:4; J. Davis McCaughey, "The Death of Death [1 Corinthians 15:26]," RH, 246-61). καταργεῖται pres. ind. pass. καταργέω (# 2934) to make ineffective (s.v. 24). Fut. pres. (VA, 230-32). ◆ 27 πάντα γάρ (# 4246; 1142) the first word is emphatic (RP) and the particle gives a causal explanation. ὑπέταξεν aor. ind. act. ὑποτάσσω (# 5718) to subject, to bring under control, to make subordinate (LN, 1:476; TLNT). εἴπῃ aor. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Used to introduce a scriptural quotation, "now when it says" (Barrett). ὑποτέτακται perf. ind. pass. ὑποτάσσω (# 5718). δῆλος (# 1316) clear, plain. ἐκτός (# 1760) outside, expect. ὑποτάξαντος aor. act. part. ὑποτάσσω. αὐτός (# 899) himself. The word is used as an intensifying pronominal adj. (Funk, 562f). ὑποταγήσεται fut. ind. pass. ὑποτάσσω (# 5718). ὑποτάξαντι aor. act. part. ὑποτάσσω (# 5718). Part. as subst. ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. ὅταν (# 4020) in a purp. cl. Paul refers neither to pantheism nor universalism, but speaks of the new heaven and new earth in which all things are in harmony w. God (Barrett; Godet). ◆ 29 ἐπεί (# 2075) since, otherwise. τί (# 5515) what. ποιήσουσιν fut. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Here it means either "what will they have recourse to?" or "what will they gain?" (RP). βαπτιζόμενοι pres. pass. part. βαπτίζω (# 966) to baptize. Part. as subst. w. the article suggests a particular group, not all Christians (Barrett). ὑπέρ w. gen., for, on behalf of, because of. Perhaps the best explanation is that the prep. is to be taken as "because of," assuming he is referring to those who have been baptized because of the witness of those who have already died (John D. Reaume, "Another Look at 1 Corinthians 15:29, 'Baptised for the Dead,'" Bib Sac 152 [1995], 457-75; for literature regarding "baptism for the dead" s. NIDNTT, 3:1197; Conzelmann; ZPEB, 1:469f; TDNT; Joel R. White, "'Baptized on Account of the Dead:' The Meaning of 1 Corinthians 15:29 in its Context," JBL 116 [1997]: 487-99; Jerome Murphy-O'Connor, "Baptized for the Dead (I Cor., XV,29): Corinthian Slogan?" RB 88 [1981]: 532-43; B.M. Acc. of time, "hourly," "all through every hour" (RWP). ◆ 31 καθ' ἡμέραν (# 2848; 2465) distributive use of the prep.: day after day, daily. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) pres. ind. act. to die. Here, "to be in danger of death," or it may mean that Paul abandons life daily, and knowing that he may die, continually prepares himself for death (Grosheide). νή (# 3755). Particle used in solemn oaths that means "truly," "yes" (RG, 1150). Followed by the acc. of the person or thing by which one swears or affirms: "yes, truly by my pride in you" (BAGD). ◆ 32 κατὰ ἄνθρωπον (# 2848; 476) in accordance w. human standards, on partly human terms (Barrett). ἐθηριομάχησα aor. ind. act. θηριομαχέω (# 2562) to fight w. wild animals. It is uncertain if Paul is speaking literally or figuratively. If figuratively, the beasts may have been the legalists or Judaizers (Robert E. Osborne, "Paul and the Wild Beasts," JBL 85 [1966]: 230; BBC). It may have been evil men whose association corrupts. If there were no resurrection of the body, his struggles at Ephesus had been in vain (Abraham J. Malherbe, "The Beasts at Ephesus," JBL 87 [1968]: 80). Ind. w. εἰ (# 1623) in a 1st. class cond. cl. assuming the truth of the cond. μοι dat. ἐγώ (# 1609) I. Aor. imp. calls for a specific action. ◆ 2 κατά (# 2848) w. acc.; the distributive use of the prep.: "on every first day of the week" (RP). μίαν σαββάτου (# 1651; 4879) a Hebraic expression for the first day of the week; that is, Sunday (Hering; Conzelmann; Fee; s. also the essays in FSLD, esp. D.R. de Lacey, "The Sabbath/Sunday Questions and the Law in the Pauline Corpus," FSLD, 159-95, esp. 184-86). τιθέτω pres. imp. act. 3rd. pers. sing. τίθημι (# 5502) to set, to lay, used w. the prepositional phrase παρ' ἑαυτῷ; that is, "in his home" (RWP). Pres. imp. could be iterative pointing to the repeated acts, or it could call for a habit of life. θησαυρίζων pres. act. part. θησαυρίζω (# 2564) to store up, to save up. Part. of means or manner explaining how each one is to lay aside. ὅ τι ἐάν whatever, the generalized rel. pron. εὐοδῶται pres. subj. pass. εὐοδόω (# 2338) to send well on one's way, to be led along a good road. It then has the meaning "to get along well," "to prosper," "to succeed," and was used of having success in business (BAGD; Lietzmann; GELTS, 188). Subj. in an indef. rel. cl. ἔλθω aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Subj. w. ὅταν ("whenever") in an indef. temp. cl. γίνωνται pres. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl. ◆ 3 παραγένωμαι aor. subj. mid. (dep.) παραγίνομαι (# 4134) to arrive. Subj. w. ὅταν (# 4020) in an indef. temp. cl., "whenever I arrive" (RWP). οὓς ἐάν (# 4005; 1569) whomever (pl.). δοκιμάσητε aor. subj. act. δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to approve after examination, to accept as proven, to approve (BAGD; TDNT; GELTS, 119; TLNT; MM; NDIEC, 1:130-31; 2:14). In an inscription the vb. is almost a t.t. for passing as fit for a public office (MM). It was also used to indicate a government approved doctor (Preisigke, 1:395; NDIEC, 2:13-14). δι' ἐπιστολῶν (# 2186) through letters, w. letters. Commendatory letters were well known in antiquity (Barrett; Conzelmann; NDIEC, 7:55, 90; s. 2 Cor. 3:1). πέμψω fut. ind. act. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. ἀπενεγκεῖν aor. act. inf. ἀποφέρω (# 708) to carry away, to take home, to bring to its destination. It was not the removal of the money from Corinth, but its being conveyed to Jerusalem that was the important point (RP). Inf. expressing purp. χάρις (# 5921) grace, generosity, favor (TDNT; Trench, Synonyms, 167; TLNT). ◆ 4 ἄξιος (# 545) that which is equal in weight, worthy, right. Paul would make the journey if circumstances were such that the work demanded him going (Grosheide). ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. assuming the probability of the cond. κἀμέ = καὶ ἐμέ acc. sing. κἀγώ (# 2743) as subject of the inf. πορεύεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. πορεύομαι (# 4513) to travel, to make a journey. Epex. inf. w. the adj. πορεύσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.). πορεύομαι (# 4513). ◆ 5 ἐλεύσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. διέλθω aor. subj. act. διέρχομαι (# 1451) to pass through. διέρχομαι pres. ind. mid. (dep.). Pres. used to express the fut., "I am going to pass through" (BD, 168). ◆ 6 πρὸς ὑμᾶς w. you. The prep. w. acc. denotes position (IBG, 52f). τυχόν aor. act. part. n. sing. τυγχάνω (# 5593) to happen, to occur. Aor. part. is used here as an adv., meaning "possibly," "perhaps" (RWP). παραμενῶ fut. ind. act. παραμένω (# 4169) to remain, to stay, to remain w. someone. The contrast is w. passing through Macedonia. παραχειμάσω fut. ind. act. παραχειμάζω (# 4199) to spend the winter. Once winter is past ships can sail again. The winter season would thus compel Paul to sojourn at Corinth (Grosheide). Land travel was generally closed from Nov. 11 to Mar. 10. Sea travel was considered very dangerous during this time (Brian Rapske, "Acts, Travel and Shipwreck," BAFCS, 2:3, 22). προπέμψητε aor. subj. act. προπέμπω (# 4636) to send forth, to help on one's journey w. food, money by arranging for companions, means of travel, etc. (BAGD). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. οὗ ἐάν wherever, w. subj. πορεύωμαι pres. subj. mid. (dep.) πορεύομαι (# 4513) to go, to travel. Subj. in indef. spatial construction. ◆ 7 πάραδος (# 4227) a passing visit; here, "in passing" (RP). ἰδεῖν aor. act. inf. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Supplementary inf. ἐπιμεῖναι aor. act. inf. ἐπιμένω (# 2152) to remain, to stay for a time. Inf. as obj. of the vb. ἐλπίζω. ἐπιτρέψῃ aor. subj. act. ἐπιτρέπω (# 2205) to allow, to permit. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. where the cond. is considered probable. ◆ 8 ἐπιμενῶ fut. ind. act. ἐπιμένω (# 2152) to remain. πεντηκοστή (# 4300). Pentecost. Paul was using the Jewish calendar. For the Jewish celebration of Pentecost s. Acts 2:1. ◆ 9 θύρα (# 2598) door. The term "door" is a metaphor for opportunity (Bruce; NW, 2, i:409-10). μοι dat. sing. ἐγώ (# 1609) I. Here, "to me," "for me." Dat. of advantage. ἀνέῳγεν perf. ind. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open; perf., to stand open. The vb. is intransitive and means "stand wide open" (RWP). ἐνεργής (# 1921) effective, active, powerful. The opening of the door promises a rich field of labor (BAGD). The word was used of a mill in working order or things or persons which were active (MM; Preisigke, 1:488; CCFJ, 2:102). ἀντικείμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) ἀντίκειμαι (# 512) to lie against someone, to oppose, to be in opposition, to resist. ◆ 10 ἔλθῃ aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. where the cond. is considered probable. ἀφόβως (# 925) without fear. Paul is not thinking about the outward dangers but about the opposition that he himself faced (Schlatter). γένηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) as obj. of the vb. ἐργάζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐργάζομαι (# 2262) to carry out, to accomplish, to work at. Pres. indicates continual and habitual action. ◆ 11 ἐξουθενήσῃ aor. subj. act. ἐξουθενέω (# 2024) to consider as nothing, to despise. Prep. in compound not only has a perfective force but it also makes the trans. idea clear (MH, 310). Subj. in a neg. command or prohibition. προπέμψατε aor. imp. act. προπέμπω (# 4636) to send on the way (s.v. 6). Aor. imp. calls for a specific action. ἔλθῃ aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to go. Subj. expressing purp. ἐκδέχομαι (# 1683) pres. ind. mid. (dep). to expect, to wait for. The idea of the prep. in compound is "to be ready for" (MH, 310). ◆ 12 περὶ δὲ Ἀπολλῶ (# 1254; 663) "now concerning Apollos." This may mean that the Corinthians in their letter had inquired about Apollos (Barrett). πολλα n. pl. (# 4498) great, much, used here as an adverb, earnestly, often. παρεκάλεσα aor. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to exhort, to encourage, to ask. ἔλθῃ aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) as. obj. of the vb. παρεκάλεσα. πάντως (# 4122) adv., at all, simply; w. the neg., not at all, wholly not (Barrett; Kistemaker). ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639). θέλημα (# 2525) wish, will. It refers to either God's will or the will or wish of Apollos (RP; Kistemaker). ἔλθῃ aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in an epex. cl. explaining θέλημα. ἐλεύσεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262). εὐκαιρήσῃ aor. subj. act. εὐκαιρέω (# 2320) to find a good time, to have opportunity. Subj. w. ὅταν (# 4020) in an indef. temp. cl. ◆ 13 γρηγορεῖτε pres. imp. act. γρηγορέω (# 1213) to watch, to stay awake, to be alert (GELTS, 93). Pres. imp. is a command for habitual action. στήκετε pres. imp. act. στήκω (# 5112) to stand, to stand fast. ἀνδρίζεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) ἀνδρίζομαι (# 437) to conduct oneself in a manly or courageous way, to be brave, to display courage (BAGD; CCFJ, 1:117). The word is common in the LXX in exhortations (Josh. 1:6, 7, 9; GELTS, 34; RP). Aristotle uses the word to indicate the display of courage which he describes as the mean between fear and confidence (Nichomachean Ethics III, VI, 1, 12; NW 2, ii:411). The word was also used in the papyri in the exhortation, "therefore do not be fainthearted, but be courageous as a man" (MM; note also ἀνδραγαθέω "to act like a good man" as used in a letter to a philosopher telling him to finish his task and not be distracted by wealth or the charm of youth, NDIEC, 4:67-70). Josephus uses the term to describe the courageous fighting of the Jewish defenders of Jotapatha (Jos., JW, 3:268), and in his description of Titus telling his troops to be courageous, but using forethought and not running personal risks (Jos., JW, 5:316). It also appears in Titus' speech of encouragement to his soldiers as they are discouraged in their siege of Jerusalem (Jos., JW, 6:50). Pres. imp. calls for an habitual action. κραταιοῦσθε pres. imp. pass. κραταιόω (# 3194) to be strong, to become strong (BAGD). In the LXX it is used

w. ἀνδρίζομαι (2 Sam. 10:12 [LXX 2 Kings]; s. 1 Sam. 4:9 [LXX 1 Kings 4:9]). ◆ 14 ἐν ἀγάπῃ (# 27) in or w. love. This was a basic, but lacking, ingredient among the believers at Corinth (s. ch. 13). γινέσθω pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ◆ 15 παρακαλῶ pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage, to urge (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) def. perf. w. a pres. meaning, to know. ἀπαρχή (# 569) firstfruit (s. 15:20). ἔταξαν aor. ind. act. τάσσω (# 5435) to appoint. They had appointed themselves to the service of their fellow Christians. It was a self-imposed duty (RP). ◆ 16 ὑποτάσσησθε pres. subj. mid. (dir. mid., "subject yourselves") ὑποτάσσω (# 6718) to subject oneself, to be in subjection, w. dat. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) as obj. of the vb. παρακαλῶ in v. 15. συνεργοῦντι pres. act. part. (adj.) συνεργέω (# 5300) to work w., to work together, to cooperate. κοπιῶντι pres. act. part. κοπιάω (# 3159) to labor, to work to the point of exhaustion (s. 15:10). ◆ 17 ἐπί (# 2093) w. the dat., over, on the occasion of. παρουσίᾳ (# 4242) dat. sing. coming, arrival. ὑστέρημα (# 5729) lack, want, that which comes short. Paul could mean that he had missed his Christian friends, and this trio had renewed his acquaintance w. the city (Morris). ἀνεπλήρωσαν aor. ind. act. ἀναπληρόω (# 405) to fill up again, to supply. ◆ 18 ἀνέπαυσαν aor. ind. act. ἀναπαύω (# 399) to give intermission from labor, to refresh (AS). ἐπιγινώσκετε pres. imp. act. ἐπιγινώσκω (# 2105) to recognize, to acknowledge. τοιοῦτος (# 5525) such a one, one belonging to this class or having this quality. ◆ 19 ἀσπάζονται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet. πολλά (# 4498) n. pl. used as an adv., heartily, s.v. 12. τῇ κατ' οἶκον αὐτῶν ἐκκλησίᾳ (# 3875; 1711) w. the church in their house. For the house church s. Bradley Blue, "Acts and the House Church," BAFCS, 2:119-222. ◆ 20 ἀσπάσασθε aor. imp. mid. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet. φίλημα (# 5799) kiss. In the ancient world it was customary to give a kiss as a greeting both at the meeting and at the departure. The kiss as symbol of love, fellowship, and thankfulness may have been at this time a liturgical act indicating the forgiveness which had been received and the willingness to partake of the Lord's Supper (William Klassen, "The Sacred Kiss in the New Testament: An Example of Social Boundary," NTS 39 [1993]: 122-35; KP, 3:381; TDNT; Conzelmann). ◆ 21 ἀσπασμός (# 833) greeting. τῇ ἐμῇ χειρὶ Παύλου (# 5931; 4263) w. my hand, Paul. This means that the letter to this point has been inscribed by someone else, probably Sosthenes, and the rest by Paul (Fee). ◆ 22 φιλεῖ pres. ind. act. φιλέω (# 5797) to love (TDNT; EDNT; TLNT). Ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. which assumes the reality of the cond. ἤτω pres. imp. act. 3rd. pers. sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἀνάθεμα (# 353) anathema, dedicated for destruction, cursed. Μαράναθα (# 3448) or to be divided as μαρὰν ἀθά an Aramaic expression. The first possible division would be a pres. imp.–"Our Lord, come!"–understood as a prayer. The second possible division–"Our Lord comes!"–is fut. ind.; as perf. ind., "Our Lord is here!" is understood as a confession (ECC, 121-24; SB, 3:493-94; AT, 525, 629-30; TDNT; Fee).

2 Corinthians

2 Corinthians 1

◆ 1 οὔσῃ pres. act. part. dat. fem. sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Rel. use of the part., "which is at Corinth." οὖσιν pres. act. part. dat. masc. pl. εἰμί. ὅλῃ dat. fem. sing. ὅλος (# 3910) whole, entire, complete. Ἀχαΐᾳ (# 938) Achaia. It refers to the Roman province which included the whole of Greece (ZPEB, 1:35f; KP, 1:32-38; Strabo 17:3.25), and included Corinth as the capital, Cenchraea (s. Acts 18:1; DNP, 1:62-69) and Athens (Windisch). ◆ 2 χάρις (# 5921) grace. God's favor to those who do not deserve it (TDNT; EDNT; CPP, 132-33; Martin; Gordon D. Fee, "ΧΑΡΙΣ in II Corinthians 1:15," NTS 24 [1977-78]: 533-38). ◆ 3 εὐλογητός (# 2329) blessed, a Jewish ascription of praise to God acknowledging Him as the source of all blessing (TDNT; TDOT; NIDNTT, 1:206; EDNT; Furnish). οἰκτιρμῶν gen. pl. οἰκτιρμός (# 3880) compassion, lament, or sorrow which arises from the pitiful state of the object; then the feeling of compassion and understanding. Used in Judaism to describe the character of God (TDNT; EDNT; SB, 3:494; Martin; Rom. 12:1). Gen. may be due to Semitic influence indicating character or attribute (BG, 14f). παράκλησις (# 4155) encouragement, consolation, comfort. It is the standing beside a person to encourage him when he is undergoing severe testing (Hughes; MNTW; CCFJ, 3:296; Furnish; SB, 3:494). ◆ 4 παρακαλῶν pres. act. part. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage, to comfort (s. Rom. 12:1). Part. as subst., "The one who encourages or stands beside to comfort." Pres. indicates a ongoing or characteristic activity. ἐπί (# 2093) w. dat., on, on the occasion of. θλίψει dat. sing. θλῖψις (# 2568) pressure, affliction, crushing (Plummer; Trench, Synonyms, 202f; Thrall; DPL, 919-21). εἰς (# 1650) followed by the acc., w. the inf. to express purp. δύνασθαι pres. pass. (dep.) inf. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. θλίψει dat. sing. θλῖψις (# 2568). Used previously w. the article it means, "all tribulation actually encountered." Here, without the article, "in any which may be encountered," or "in any kind of affliction" (BD, 114; MT, 200). ἧς gen. fem. sing. ὅς (# 4005) who, which, what; rel. pron. Gen. instead of the acc. is by attraction to the case of its antecedent (BD, 154). παρακαλούμεθα pres. ind. pass. παρακαλέω (# 4151). Pres. points to the continual action; or it is iterat. and points to the comfort received every time trouble and afflictions arise. The 1st. pers. pl. in Paul's letters may refer to himself and the recipients, or to a specific group within the community, or to Paul and his fellow-workers, or only to himself, i.e., a literary pl. For a discussion of this use, s. Thrall, 105-7; Samuel Byrskog, "Co-Senders, Co-Authors and Paul's Use of the First Person Plural," ZNW 87 (1996): 230-50. ◆ 5 περισσεύει pres. ind. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to abound, to overflow. πάθημα (# 4077) suffering. τοῦ Χριστοῦ (# 5986) to follow Christ is to follow Him into suffering. In this too disciples must expect to be identified w. the master (Hughes; Martin). ◆ 6 θλιβόμεθα pres. ind. pass. θλίβω (# 2567) pass. to be afflicted, to suffer pressure (s.v. 4). ὑπέρ w. the gen., "w. a view to" (IBG, 65). It points to that which one wants to attain (BD, 121). τῆς ὑμῶν παρακλήσεως your comfort (# 4155) obj. gen. ἐνεργουμένης pres. mid./pass. part. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to be effective; pass., is made to work by him who bestows it, to be effective (Furnish). Mid. may be better, "which makes itself felt," "takes effect" (Plummer; Barrett). ὑπομονῇ (# 5705) remaining under, patience, endurance. It was used in the endurance of that which has come upon man against his will. In classical Gr. it is used also of the ability of a plant to live under hard and unfavorable circumstances. It was later used of that quality which enabled men to die for their god. (NTW, 59f; TDNT; RAC, 9:243-94; TLNT). ὧν gen. pl. ὅς (# 4005) rel. pron. gen. pl. Gen. instead of the acc. because of attraction to the antecedent ("the same suffering"). καί (# 2779) also. πάσχομεν pres. ind. act. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. Pres. points to the continual or repeated suffering. ◆ 7 βέβαιος (# 1010) firm, certain, valid, guaranteed (TLNT; s. 1 Cor. 1:6). εἰδότες perf. act. part. (causal) οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. κοινωνός (# 3128) partner, one who has a common share w. another, common participant. Used in the papyri for a partner in business or a participant in a sacrifice (MM), w. gen. indicating the thing which is shared. Here it is the common sharing in the divine encouragement (Martin). παράκλησις (# 4155) comfort, encouragement (s.v. 3). ◆ 8 θέλομεν pres. ind. act. θέλω (# 2527) to desire. ἀγνοεῖν pres. act. inf. ἀγνοέω (# 51) to not know, to be ignorant. Paul uses this idiomatic expression to call attention to the second reason for his thanks (Martin). ὑπέρ (# 5642) w. gen., concerning (IBG, 65). γενομένης aor. mid. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to happen. Ἀσίᾳ (# 823) Asia; the Roman province whose capital was Ephesus (Barrett). Paul may be referring to the riot in Ephesus or to the breakdown of law and order resulting in danger to him as suggested by his being exposed to wild beasts (s. 1 Cor. 15:32), or to a death sentence passed by the civil courts (Martin; Hughes). καθ' ὑπερβολήν (# 2848; 5651) lit., "a throwing beyond"; then "beyond measure," "exceedingly." ὑπέρ (# 5642) w. acc., above, beyond (IBG, 64); "beyond the normal power of endurance" (Hughes). ἐβαρήθημεν aor. ind. pass. βαρέω (# 976) to weigh down; pass., to be burdened down. Used in the papyri of misfortune or injustice (BAGD; MM). ἐξαπορηθῆναι aor. pass. inf. ἐξαπορέομαι (# 1989) to be without a way out, to be in utter despair. Prep. in compound is perfective (MH, 310). Inf. to express result, "so that we were utterly without way of escape" (Plummer). ζῆν pres. act. inf. ζάω (# 2409) to live, to remain alive, to continue to live. Gen. of the inf. w. the vb. explaining the despair, "even to live" (M, 217f). ◆ 9 ἀλλά (# 247) yes indeed, certainly. The word is confirmatory or emphatic (DM, 240). ἑαυτοῖς dat. pl. ἑαυτοῦ (# 1571) himself. Here, "within ourselves." For the strengthening of the reflex., which was frequent in Attic, s. BD, 148. ἀπόκριμα (# 645) response, verdict, death sentence. A t.t. used for an official decision in answer to the petition of an embassy (Martin; Colin J. Hemer, "A Note on II Cor. 1:9," TB 23 [1972]: 104f; MM; BS, 257; TDNT). τοῦ θανάτου (# 2505) gen. sing., of death. Appositional gen. describing the content of the decree (Furnish). ἐσχήκαμεν perf. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Perf. means "having gotten, I continue to have" and indicates that though the sentence was not immediately carried out, it remained in force (K.L. McKay, "Syntax in Exegesis," TB 23 [1972]: 48; Barrett; Furnish). The action completed in the past is conceived in terms of pres. time for the sake of vividness. This vivid perf. indicates the experience was a dreadful memory to Paul (RG, 896-97). Perf. may, however, have here the force of a pluperf. referring to the past (VA, 260-63; Furnish; Martin). ἵνα (# 2671) used here to express purp. not result; expresses God's purpose (Windisch). πεποιθότες perf. act. part. πείθω (# 4275) to persuade, perf. to have been persuaded, to trust in. ὦμεν pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Used in a periphrastic construction. The neg. suggests the discontinuance of an existing condition (Barrett). ἐγείροντι pres. act. part. ἐγείρω (# 1586) to rise. Perhaps an allusion or quotation from the second prayer of the Eighteen Petition Prayer which was quoted three times a day by every Israelite (HJP, 2, ii:85-89; JPF, 2:801; M, Berakoth 4:1-7, s. especially 5:2; SB, 4:208-49). ◆ 10 τηλικοῦτος (# 5496) so great. terrible. ἐρρύσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ῥύομαι (# 4861) to rescue. The prep. seems to imply peril rather than death personified, but the use of this prep. w. the vb. is a common expression (s. Job 33:30; 2 Tim. 4:17, 18; Plummer). ῥύσεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ῥύομαι (# 4861) to rescue. ἠλπίκαμεν perf. ind. act. ἐλπίζω (# 1827) to hope. Perf. means, "towards whom we have set our hope, and continue to do so" (EGT). ◆ 11 συνυπουργούντων pres. act. part. συνυπουργέω (# 5348) to work together, to cooperate. The word could mean cooperation w. one another or cooperation w. God (Barrett). Part. in a gen. abs. which is either temp. ("while") or manner ("in that"). δέησις (# 1255) prayer, request. προσώπος (# 4725) face. Here it may have the meaning "person," "from many persons" (Plummer), or it may retain the lit. meaning "face" and be a picture of many upturned faces (RWP; Hughes). εἰς (# 1650) for, to; here in the sense of "the gracious gift for us." χάρισμα (# 5922) gracious gift; here it probably refers to his deliverance (Martin; Furnish). διὰ πολλῶν (# 1328; 4498) through many. The word may be viewed as masc., it may be taken w. following vb. ("may be thanked for by many") or w. the word χάρισμα, meaning "the gift which reached us by the agency of many" (IBG, 108). εὐχαριστηθῇ aor. subj. pass. εὐχαρίζω (# 2373) to give thanks. Subject of the pass. vb. is χάρισμα, i.e., Paul's deliverance (Bultmann) and the pass. is to be understood as "that you might give thanks for the gift" (Lietzmann, 197). ◆ 12 καύχησις (# 3018) boasting, glorying. The ending of the noun means "the act of glorying," but in v. 14 the word is "the thing boasted of" (RWP). μαρτύριον (# 3457) witness, testimony, evidence (Plummer). The word is an explanation of the previous pron. αὕτη. συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience (Rom. 2:15). ἁπλότητι (# 605) simplicity, frankness. Ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. assuming the reality of the cond. καί (# 2779) then. This word accepts the previous statement, and the question shows what a paradox it involves (Plummer). εὐφραίνων pres. act. part. εὐφραίνω (# 2370) to make happy, to make joyful, to cause one to have good thinking (RWP). Part. as subst. λυπούμενος pres. pass. part. λυπέω (# 3382). Part. as subst. ἐξ (# 1666) out of, from. The prep. may suggest "sorrow that arises from me, on my account" (Barrett). ◆ 3 ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. "I wrote." The reference may be to a lost letter that Paul wrote between 1 and 2 Cor. or it may refer to 1 Cor., particularly to 1 Cor. 16:5ff (s. Hughes for a discussion of the identity of the epistle). αὐτό (# 899) pron. 3rd. pers. sing. n. The word here may be taken in three ways: 1. in adverbial acc. ("precisely this reason"); 2. the dir. obj. to the vb.; 3. a summary of the content of the letter ("I wrote to just this effect") (Barrett; Martin). ἐλθών aor. act. part. (temp.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. "When I come." Aor. indicates a logically antecedent action. σχῶ aor. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to receive (s. 1:15). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) gives the neg. purp. of his writing. ἔδει impf. ind. act. δεῖ (# 1256) impersonal, it is necessary to, w. inf. Perf. indicates that the pain continues to be felt (Windisch). ἀπὸ μέρους (# 608; 3538) in part, to some extent, partially (Furnish). The phrase may indicate either that not quite all the Corinthians had been distressed (Plummer), or it limits the extent of the effect (Barrett). ἐπιβαρῶ pres. subj. act. ἐπιβαρέω (# 2096) to weigh down, to burden. Perhaps here w. the meaning, "in order not to heap up too great a burden of words," "to exaggerate" (BAGD; Hughes). ◆ 6 ἱκανός (# 2653) sufficient, enough. The use of n. instead of the fem. may be explained as a Latinism w. the meaning satis ("sufficient") (Hughes). τοιούτῳ dat. τοιοῦτος (# 5525) such, such a person. ἐπιτιμία (# 2204) punishment, rebuke. The word does not have here the classical meaning of "possession of political rights," but the legal sense of "penalty" (Plummer; MM). ὑπὸ τῶν πλειόνων (# 5679; 4498) by the majority, by the main body of the church (Barrett; Thrall). ◆ 7 τοὐναντίον (# 5539) on the contrary. μᾶλλον (# 3437) rather. This word may indicate that there were still some who felt that punishment was insufficient (Plummer). χαρίσασθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. χαρίζομαι (# 5919) to be friendly to someone, to be gracious to someone, to graciously bestow a favor on someone (NDIEC, 1:64-66, 111; TDNT). It occurs in the LXX w. in the meaning "to give a gift." Here it has the meaning "to forgive" (TDNT; Windisch; CCFJ, 4:347-48). παρακαλέσαι aor. act. inf. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage, to exhort, to urge on. It is the word used of the speeches of leaders urging soldiers and sailors courageously into battle (MNTW, 134; CCFJ, 3:291-94). Infs. used to express results. περισσότερος comp. περίσσος (# 4358) exceeding the usual number or size. Comp. used in the sense of superl., "greater," "even more"; here, "excessive sorrow" (BAGD), instr. dat. καταποθῇ aor. subj. pass. καταπίνω (# 2927) to swallow. The prep. is intensive, to swallow down, to swallow up completely or to engulf (Hughes). ◆ 8 παρακαλῶ pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage (s.v. 7). κυρῶσαι aor. act. inf. κυρόω (# 3263) to legally confirm, to ratify (BAGD). In the papyri the word was used before the confirmation of a sale or the ratification of an appointment (MM; NDIEC, 4:171). The call for the confirmation of love may have been a request for a formal act by the congregation to reinstate the offender in the community of the church and to assure him of their love (Hughes; Thrall). ◆ 9 ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. γνῶ

aor. subj. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. Ingressive aor., "to come to know" (RWP). δοκιμή (# 1509) approval, proof. The word indicates the results of a test (TLNT). εἰς πάντα (# 1650; 4246) in every respect, in all things. ὑπήκοος (# 5675) obedience. (dep.) χαρίζομαι (# 5919) to be friendly to someone (s.v. 7). κεχάρισμαι perf. ind. mid. (dep.) χαρίζομαι. Perf. denotes the continuing state or condition of forgiveness. εἴ τι κεχάρισμαι (# 5919) "if I have had anything to forgive." He is not suggesting doubt as to whether he has granted forgiveness, but stating a mere hypothesis (Plummer). δι' ὑμᾶς (# 1328; 5148) prep. w. the acc., because of you, on account of you. ἐν προσώπῳ Χριστοῦ (# 1877; 4725; 5986) lit., "before the face of Christ." It is a Semitic construction w. the meaning, "in the presence of" (Hughes). ◆ 11 πλεονεκτηθῶμεν aor. subj. pass. πλεονεκτέω (# 4430) to take advantage of, to outwit. The arrogant, greedy defrauding of someone, often through trickery and treacherous means (Martin; NTW; TDNT; TLNT, 3:117). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) expresses neg. purp. or result. νόημα (# 3784) thought, purpose, design; in the sinister sense "devices," "wiles," "plots," i.e., "evil schemings." The word signifies the function of the intellective faculty (Hughes). ἀγνοοῦμεν pres. ind. act. ἀγνοέω (# 51) to be ignorant, to be unknowing. For the neg. pref., s. Moorhouse, 41-66. ◆ 12 ἐλθών aor. act. part. (temp.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go; here, to arrive. Aor. indicates logically antecedent action: "When I had come...." Τρῳάς (# 5590). The article indicates, "to the Troas where we had agreed to meet." (BD, 137). For an excellent article dealing w. the history and geography of Troas as well as the NT references to this important city s. C.J. Hemer, "Alexandria Troas," TB 26 (1975): 79-112; also Furnish. θύρα (# 2598) door. Used as a symbol of missionary opportunity. ἀνεῳγμένης perf. pass. part. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open; perf. pass., to be standing open. Here was a Roman and cosmopolitan population, reinforced by temporary sojourners suffering in forced delays far from their homes in many parts of the Roman world (Hemer, TB, 26:103). ἐν κυρίῳ (# 3261) in the Lord. The Lord Christ is both the content of the apostle's message and also the sphere of his opportunity (Hughes). ◆ 13 ἔσχηκα perf. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Perf. may have the idea of an aor. (BD, 177), but Paul may have wished to accent the strain of his anxiety up to the time of the arrival of Titus (RG, 901). ἄνεσις (# 457) relief. τῷ πνεύματί μου (# 4460) in my spirit. Loc. dat. Paul writes of his inward distress through anxiousness to hear Titus's report concerning the Corinthians (SBT, 144). εὑρεῖν aor. act. inf. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. Instr. use of the inf.: "by the not finding Titus as to me" (RWP; MT, 142; GGBB, 196-97). ἀποταξάμενος aor. mid. part. ἀποτάσσω (# 698) mid., to say good-by, to bid farewell to friends (Plummer). ἐξῆλθον aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to depart. ◆ 14 χάρις (# 5921) thanks, preceded by the dat. indicating to whom thanks is given. πάντοτε (# 4121) always. θριαμβεύοντι pres. act. part. θριαμβεύω (# 2581) to lead in a triumph. Subst. part. The picture is the triumphal entry of a military hero into the city of Rome. The victorious Roman general marched into the city in a long procession preceded by the city magistrates. They were followed by trumpeters, then the spoils taken from the enemy, followed by the king of the conquered country, then officials of the victorious army and musicians dancing and playing; and at last the general himself, in whose honor the whole wonderful pageant was taking place (ELR, 115-18; DGRA, 1163-67; KP, 5:973-75; H.S. Vesnel, Triumphus [Leiden, 1970]); Rory B. Egan, "Lexical Evidence on Two Pauline Passages," NovT 19 [1977]: 22-62; Lamar Wiliamson, Jr., "Led in Triumph: Paul's Use of Treambeuo," Interp. 22 [1968]: 322; TJ, 204-9; BBC; DPL, 946-54, esp. 952-54; Furnish; Martin; Thrall). Paul represents himself as one of the victorious general's soldiers sharing in the glory of his triumph (Barrett). ὀσμή (# 4011) fragrance, sweet smell. It was customary of the triumphal processions to be accompanied by the release of sweets odors from the burning of spices in the streets (Hughes). φανεροῦντι pres. act. part. φανερόω (# 5746) to manifest. The manifestation here is not in the eschatological sense, but in the missionary sense. Pres. parts. indicate contemporaneous action. ◆ 15 εὐωδία (# 2380) aroma, fragrance. ἐσμέν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. σῳζομένοις pres. pass. part. σῴζω (# 5392) to save, to rescue. ἀπολλυμένοις pres. pass. part. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to destroy; pass., to perish, to be perishing. Parts. used as nouns to emphasize a character trait. ◆ 16 ἐκ θανάτου εἰς θάνατον (# 2505) from death unto death. The rabbis used similar words concerning the law. For some it was a medicine unto healing and to others unto death (SB, 3:498; Barrett). ἱκανός (# 2653) sufficient, adequate. "Who is sufficient for these responsibilities?" What kind of minister ought he to be who preaches a gospel which may prove fatal to those who come in contact w. it? (Plummer). ◆ 17 οἱ πολλοί (# 4498) the majority. καπηλεύοντες pres. act. part. καπηλεύω (# 2836) to peddle, to pawn off a product for gain. The word is used in the LXX in Isa. 1:22 for those who mix wine w. water in order to cheat the buyers (Plummer). It is used in papyri for a wine dealer and for the running of a junk store (MM; Preisigke, 1:736; TLNT). The word refers to those who would peddle or merchandise the Word of God for profit (TLNT; NW, 2, i:420-21). ἀλλ' = ἀλλά (# 247) but. The repetition of this word gives emphasis in an ascending scale (Plummer). κατέναντι (# 2978) before, in the presence of. ἐν Χριστῷ (# 1877; 5986) in union or fellowship w. Christ (DPL, 433-38).

2 Corinthians 3

◆ 1 ἄρχόμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) 1st. per. pl. ἄρχομαι (# 806) to begin. This is sort of an echo of the supposed criticism (Plummer). συνιστάνειν pres. act. inf. συνίστημι (# 5319) to place together, to introduce, to commend. For the form s. Pres. indicates continual reading, in an iterative sense. ὑπὸ πάντων ἀνθρώπων (# 4246) by all men. Paul is not referring to receiving the letter, but to carrying it. Like a papyrus roll, it is sealed within him to be revealed to all men when w. open heart he declares to them the Christian's faith (Baird, 170). ◆ 3 φανερούμενοι pres. pass. part. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear, to manifest. διακονηθεῖσα aor. pass. part. nom. fem. sing. διακονέω (# 1354) to serve, to minister to. The vb. is often used to mean, "to deliver a message" (BAGD). ἐγγεγραμμένη perf. pass. part. ἐγγράφω (# 1211) to write, to inscribe, to engrave. μέλανι n. dat. sing. μέλας (# 3506) black. The n. of the adj. has the meaning "ink." Ink could be blotted out or washed off (Plummer); instr. dat. For the making of ink and the use of ink by the rabbis s. SB, 3:499f; IDB, 4:918-19. ζῶντος pres. act. part. (adj.) ζάω (# 2409) to live. The Spirit of living God was the agent of the Corinthians' conversion (Barrett). πλάξ (# 4419) flat stone, tablet. Used in reference to the tablets of the law (BAGD). καρδίαις σαρκίναις fleshly hearts. Used in apposition to πλαξίν. The ending of the adj. σαρκίναις denotes the material out of which something is made (MH 378). ◆ 4 πεποίθησις (# 4301) confidence. The subst. is derived from the perf. of πείθω. The word is emphatic by its position (Meyer). ◆ 5 ἱκανός (# 2653) sufficient, qualified, capable (TLNT). λογίσασθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. λογίζομαι (# 3357) to consider, to reckon. Used here in its widest sense of carrying on any of the ordinary processes of reasoning (EGT). Inf. expresses either result or is a further explanation of ἱκανοί, "sufficient." ἱκανότης (# 2654) sufficience, capability. The adj. was sometimes used in the LXX to translate Shaddai as the name of God (TDNT; TDOT; NIDOTTE), and the thought may be "our sufficiency comes from Sufficient One" (Plummer). ◆ 6 ἱκάνωσεν aor. ind. act. ἱκανόω (# 2655) to make sufficient (TLNT; TDNT). Vbs. w. this ending are usually casual. The vb. is followed by the double acc. ("as ministers") (MT, 246f). Aor. points to the time when Paul was called to be an apostle (Plummer; NIDOTTE; 1:400-401). διάκονος (# 1356) servant, minister, messenger, envoy (OPSC, 27-32; DPL, 45-51; J.N. Collins, "Georgi's `Envoys' in 2 Cor. 11:23," JBL 93 [1974]: 88-96). διαθήκη (# 1347) covenant, agreement (s. Jer. 31:31-34; Matt. 26:28; DPL, 179-83). γράμμα (# 1207) that which was written, letter of the alphabet, letter. ἀποκτέννει pres. ind. act. ἀποκτέννω (# 650) to kill. For the form s. BAGD. The law demands perfect obedience and pronounces the sentence of death on the disobedient (Hodge; Windisch). ζῳοποιεῖ pres. ind. act. ζωοποιέω (# 2443) to make alive. The indwelling Christ has replaced the old Torah written on tablets of stones and has become a Torah written within (PRJ, 226). ◆ 7 εἰ... πῶς οὐχὶ μᾶλλον (v. 8). Here Paul uses an argument from the greater to the lesser (s. Rom 5:9). διακονία τοῦ θανάτου (# 1355; 2505) obj. gen., a ministry leading to death. ἐντετυπωμένη perf. pass. part. ἐντετυπόω (# 1963) to imprint, to engrave. For the rabbinical view of the tables engraved in stone s. SB 3:502-13. ἐγενήθη aor. ind. pass. γεννάω (# 1181) to become, to come into existence, to be. δύνασθαι pres. inf. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. Inf. expresses result. ἀτενίσαι aor. act. inf. ἀτενίζω (# 867) to gaze, to look intently. Compl. inf. to the preceding vb.; ("able to intently gaze"). The rabbis felt that the shining of Moses' face was either from the tablets of the law or from Moses' position as mediator, or even from Moses' humility (SB, 3:513-16). καταργουμένην pres. pass. part. καταργέω (# 2934) to render inoperative, to make of no effect, to do away w., to abolish. Pres. part. indicates the continual contemporary action that was taking place at that time. The glory was very transitory (Plummer). Theol. pass. ◆ 8 μᾶλλον (# 3437) rather, even more. It introduces the conclusion of the argument started in v. 7. ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. This is a logical not a chronological fut. (Barrett). ◆ 9 κατάκρισις (# 2892) condemnation, a judgment against someone. περισσεύει pres. ind. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to abound, followed by the dat., indicating the area in which the abundance is found. ◆ 10 καὶ γάρ for even. A more precise grounding of the previous statement (Meyer). δεδόξασται perf. ind. pass. δοξάζω (# 1519) to think well of, to glorify; pass., to be made glorious. δεδοξασμένον perf. pass. part. μέρος (# 3538) part. ἐν τούτῳ τῷ μέρει in this part, in respect to. εἵνεκεν = ἕνεκεν (# 1915) w. the gen., because of, on account of. ὑπερ- βαλλούσης pres. act. part. gen. fem. sing. ὑπερβάλλω (# 5650) to go above and beyond, to surpass; pres. part., surpassing, extraordinary, outstanding (BAGD). ◆ 11 εἰ γάρ for if; a continuation of the explanation and support of this argument. καταργούμενον pres. pass. part. nom. n. sing. καταργέω (# 2934) to render inoperative (s.v. 7). The neuter refers to the entire ministry of the old covenant (Furnish). μένον pres. act. part. acc. n. sing. μένω (# 3531) to remain. Here, "that which remains." Pres. emphasizes the continual existence in contrast to that which is passing away. ◆ 12 ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. παρρησίᾳ (# 4244) lit., speaking all, then speaking openly; then the further developed meanings, boldness, courage, great freedom (Barrett; TDNT; Windisch). χρώμεθα pres. mid. (dep.) subj. χράω (# 5968) to use. Hortative subj., "let us make use of." ◆ 13 καὶ οὐ Introduces an abbreviated main cl.: "we do not do as" (BD, 255). ἐτίθει impf. ind. act. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, customary impf. "used to place" (RWP). κάλυμμα (# 2749) that which covers, veil. πρός (# 4639) followed by the inf. indicates purp., "w. a view to" (MT, 144). ἀτενίσαι aor. act. inf. ἀτενίζω (# 867) to gaze (s.v. 7). εἰς τὸ τέλος "unto the end." They should not see the disappearing of the glory on Moses' face and recognize that this service was coming to an end (Schlatter; DPL, 620-21; L. Belleville, Reflections of Glory: Paul's Polemic Use of the Moses Doxa Tradition in 2 Corinthians 3:12-18 [Sheffield: Academic Press, 1991]). καταργουμένου pres. pass. part. gen. n. sing. καταργέω (# 2934) to render inoperative. ◆ 14 ἐπωρώθη aor. ind. pass. πωρόω (# 4800) to harden, to make insensitive, to cover w. thick skin, to petrify (RWP). νόημα (# 3784) mind. Here the word means "the thinking faculty" (Plummer). ἀνάγνωσις (# 342) reading. A reference to the public reading of law. For the reading of the Scriptures in the synagogue s. JPF, 2:927-33; SB, 4:154-65. παλαιός (# 4094) old. ἀνακαλυπτόμενον pres. pass. part. ἀνακαλύπτω (# 365) to unveil, to reveal. Pres. part. indicates the continual or ongoing condition. Part. refers to the veil which is not lifted. The whole sentence illustrates the deep tragedy of Judaism. They hold the law high and read it in their worship service, yet they do not see that it is the document which only pronounces their condemnation (Windisch). They do not understand that in Christ the old covenant and its ministry are being annulled (Furnish; s. Heb. 8:7-13). ὅτι (# 4022) because. καταργεῖται pres. ind. pass. καταργέω (# 2934) to render inoperative, to do away w. ◆ 15 ἡνίκα (# 2471) when followed by ἄν (# 323) w. subj. introducing an indef. temp. cl., "whenever" (RWP; BD, 237). ἀναγινώσκηται pres. subj. pass. ἀναγινώσκω (# 336) to read, to read aloud. ἐπὶ τὴν καρδίαν upon the heart. The heart is viewed as a center of man's being, the spring of will and activity, the seat of affection and understanding (Hughes). κεῖται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) κεῖμαι (# 3023) to lie. ◆ 16 ἐπιστρέψῃ aor. subj. pass. ἐπιστρέφω (# 2188) to turn; mid. and pass., to turn oneself. Prep. in compound is directive, "to turn to." The word gives a graphic parallel to the account in Exod. 34 where Moses turned from the people and went in before the Lord, thereupon removing the veil from his face. The word also involves the experience of evangelical conversion (Hughes). περιαιρεῖται pres. ind. pass. περιαιρέω (# 4311) to take away, to take away from around. The compound vb. expresses the removing of something which envelops (Plummer), but the prep. may be intensive; i.e., "to remove completely" (MH, 321; NIDNTT; TDNT). ◆ 17 οὗ (# 4023) rel. pron., where. ἐλευθερία (# 1800) freedom, liberty. The end of the dominance of the written law means liberty (Barrett; NIDNTT; TDNT). ◆ 18 πάντες nom. pl. πᾶς (# 4246) all. This stands in contrast to Moses and the old covenant. ἀνακεκαλυμμένῳ perf. pass. part. ἀνακαλύπτω (# 365) to unveil (s.v. 14). Perf. indicates the continual state resulting from a previous action. The veil, once lifted, remains lifted (Hughes). κατοπτριζόμενοι pres. part. mid. κατοπτρίζω (# 3002) to produce reflection (act.), to look at oneself in a mirror (mid.). Here, "to look at something as in a mirror, to contemplate something" (BAGD; s. esp. Thrall, excursus IV, "Mirror-Vision and Transformation," 1:290-95). The pres. part. shows that the beholding is continuous and free from interruption (Hughes). μεταμορφούμεθα pres. ind. pass. μεταμορφόω (# 3565) to transform, to change the inward reality to something else. (Trench, Synonyms, 264; TDNT; Plummer). ἀπὸ δόξης εἰς δόξαν from glory unto glory. Christians seeing in Jesus the image of God are not deified but transformed into the same image; the glory they share w. Him increasing from one stage of glory to a higher one (Barrett; DPL, 348-50). The character is continually being formed in the believer as he is conformed to the image of Christ, thus fulfilling one of the creation purposes of God (s. Gen. 1:26-28). ἀπὸ κυρίου πνεύματος from the Lord of the Spirit; i.e., from the Lord who sends the Spirit. Or it may be taken to mean, "of the Lord who is Spirit." For the varying interpretations of this phrase s. Hughes; Furnish; Thrall; Martin.

2 Corinthians 4

◆ 1 διὰ τοῦτο (# 1328; 4047) because of this. This is either a reference to the preceding (because the gospel is the good news of the glory of God), or it looks forward–because of what is said in the next cl. (Barrett). ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. Epex. part. explaining the τοῦτο; (# 4047) or causal part. καθώς (# 2777) just as, in accordance w. ἠλεήθημεν aor. ind. pass. ἐλεέω (# 1796) to show mercy; pass., to be shown mercy, to obtain mercy (Trench, Synonyms, 169; TDNT; NIDNTT, 2:594; TLNT). ἐγκακοῦμεν pres. ind. act. 1st. pl. ἐγκακέω (# 1591) to give into evil, to conduct oneself badly, to become weary, to lose heart, to lose courage (TLNT). It is the fainthearted coward (RWP). The word is also used in the papyri in the sense of treating someone badly (Preisigke, 1:411). It became a Christian t.t. expressing the unflagging pursuit of the goal of service to neighbor, or of apostolic ministry, as well as the tautness of the determined heart that does not let up or lose courage (TLNT, 1:399). ◆ 2 ἀπειπάμεθα aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀπεῖπον (# 584) to speak forth, to speak off or away from, to renounce, to disown (RWP; BAGD). Aor. is timeless and does not mean that he had previously practiced what he says that he has renounced (Plummer). κρυπτός (# 3220) hidden. αἰσχύνη (# 158) shame. κρυπτὰ τῆς αἰσχύνης hidden things of shame; i.e., the things one hides because one is ashamed of them (Lietzmann). Gen. here could be gen. of quality ("the disgraceful secret ways," "shaming secret ways"), gen. of agent ("conduct concealed by shame"), gen. of apposition ("feelings of shame") or gen. of relationship ("hidden practices belonging to the category of disgraceful conduct") (Thrall; Bultmann). περιπατοῦντες pres. act. part. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk, to conduct one's life. Part. of manner. πανουργίᾳ (πᾶν ἔργον) (# 4111) readiness to do anything. In an unfavorable sense, it has the meaning, cunning, craftiness, trickery. The man who practices this is ready to do anything, and is up to every trick (Hughes; TDNT). δολοῦντες pres. act. part. δολόω (# 1516) to use deceit, to use bait, to ensnare, to corrupt w. error, to falsify, to corrupt (RWP; T; Trench, Synonyms, 228-31). φανερώσει dat. sing. φανέρωσις (# 5748) openness, clearness, manifestation. The word is selected in opposition to "the hidden things of shame" (Plummer). Instr. dat. συνιστάνοντες pres. act. part. συνίστημι (# 5319) to place together, to introduce. συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience (s. Rom. 2:15). ◆ 3 εἰ (# 1623) if; w. the ind. assumes the reality of the cond. καί (# 2779) even, even if. With this construction there is sometimes a tone of contempt and the matter is belittled (RG, 1026). κεκαλυμμένον perf. pass. part. καλύπτω (# 2821) to veil, to hide. Perf. looks at the state or circumstance and is used w. an adj. (IBG, 18). ἀπολλυμένοις pres. pass. part. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to ruin; pass., to perish, to be lost. The durative vb. is perfective and indicates the inevitable doom and the fact that the goal is ideally reached. A complete transformation of its subjects is required to bring them out of the ruin implicit in their state (M, 114f). ◆ 4 ὁ θεός (# 2536) God. Here, "the god who is over this age" or "the god who controls this age," i.e., Satan (Martin; DPL, 862-67; DDD, 1369-80). αἰών (# 172) age. It refers to that floating mass of thoughts, opinions, maxims, speculations, hopes, impulses, aims, aspirations current in the world at any time (Trench, Synonyms, 217f; TDNT). ἐτύφλωσεν aor. ind. act. τυφλόω (# 5604) to blind. νόημα (# 3784) thought, thinking, the ability to reason (s. 2:11; 3:14). ἄπιστος (# 603) unbelieving. The fault that leads to their destruction is their own (Barrett). εἰς (# 1650) w. the inf. can express either purp. or result (IBG, 143). αὐγάσαι aor. act. inf. αὐγάζω (# 878). The vb. has two meanings: to see distinctly or to gaze upon (Furnish); or, to illumine, to beam upon. Used in Lev. 13 and 14 w. the meaning, to appear bright (Hughes). φωτισμός (# 5895) illumination followed by the gen. of origin: "light from the gospel" (MT, 218). εἰκών (# 1635) image, the resemblance of something to a prototype from which it is derived and in whose essence it shares. Christ shares in God's being and is a perfect manifestation of that being (Hughes; TDNT; NIDNTT, 2:286-88; TLNT). ◆ 5 κηρύσσομεν pres. ind. act. κηρύσσω (# 3062) to preach, to proclaim, to proclaim as a herald (TDNT; EDNT). Iterative pres., "we preach Christ again and again"; or durative pres., "we are presently preaching Christ." κύριος (# 3261) Here, double acc., "Christ Jesus as Lord." ◆ 6 ὅτι (# 4022) because. This explains why they must preach Christ and not themselves (Plummer). ὁ θεός (# 3836; 2536) the God; the Creator of the old creation is also the Creator of the new creation. εἰπών aor. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. Adj. part. as subst. Aor. points to the specific act. λάμψει fut. ind. act. λάμπω (# 3290) to shine, to shine forth (TDNT). Fut. used to express the command is a translation of the Heb. jussive (BD, 183; BG, 94; DPL, 556-57). φωτισμός (# 3290) illumination, enlightenment; followed by the gen. of origin or subj. gen.: "the illumining which the knowledge of the glory produces" (Plummer). πρόσωπον (# 5895) face, countenance, pers. (BG, 184). ◆ 7 θησαυρός (# 2565) treasure, that which is valuable and expensive. ὀστράκινος (# 4017) made of clay, earthenware, pottery. Corinthian pottery was well known in the ancient world (Strabo, Geography, 8:6.23; Martin; ABD, 1:1136); Paul may have been referring to the small pottery lamps which were cheap and fragile, or he may have referred to earthenware vases or urns. The point seems to be that the valuable treasure is contained in weak, fragile, and valueless containers (Hughes; SB, 3:516; NW, 2, ii:436-38; Thrall; Furnish). The ending of the word signifies material out of which something was made (MH, 359). σκεύεσιν dat. pl. σκεῦος (# 5007) vessel. ὑπερβολή (# 5651) excess, abundance, extraordinary quality of character (BAGD). ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) generally indicates purp., but here it may have a causal idea (BG, 140-41). ◆ 8 θλιβόμενοι pres. pass. part. θλίβω (# 2567) to subject to pressure, to afflict; that which presses upon or burdens the spirit (Trench, Synonyms, 202; TDNT). This part. and the following ones may be taken w. ἔχομεν (# 2400), explaining the circumstances of the possessing, or they may be taken as circum. and used as the ind. (Thrall). The first part. of the pair may be concessive ("although"), followed by the second part. used as the ind. οὐ (# 4024) not. The usual neg. w. the part. is μή and the use of οὐ (# 4024) may be the proper neg. for the statement of a downright fact (M, 231-32). στενοχωρούμενοι pres. pass. part. στενοχωρέω (# 1593) to pressure into a narrow place. It speaks of the narrowness of room, a confined space, and then painfulness of which this is the occasion (Trench, Synonyms, 203; TDNT). ἀπορούμενοι pres. mid. part. ἀπορέω (# 679) to be at a loss, to be in doubt, to be perplexed, to be despondent. In the papyri it was used of one who was ruined by creditors and thus at his wits' end (MM). ἐξαπορούμενοι pres. pass. (dep.) part. ἐξαπορέομαι (# 1989) to be completely baffled (Barrett). Prep. in compound is perfective and shows the despondency in its final result of despair (M, 237). ◆ 9 διωκόμενοι pres. pass. part. διώκω (# 1503) to hunt, to hunt down like an animal, to persecute. ἐγκαταλειπόμενοι pres. pass. part. ἐγκαταλείπω (# 1593) to desert, to abandon one in difficulty. The word occurs in the LXX in reference to God's promises not to forsake His own (Deut. 31:6-8; Josh. 1:5; 1 Chron. 28:20; Ps. 37:25, 28; GELTS, 126-27; Plummer; Bultmann). For a study on the background and significance of the antitheses, s. Thrall, 329-31. ◆ 10 πάντοτε (# 4121) always. νέκρωσις (# 3740) dying, the process of dying (Hughes; Martin), slaying, putting to death. It refers to Paul's constant exposure to death (Hodge). ἐν τῷ σώματι (# 5393) in the body; in the sense, in "my body." Loc. dat. describing the place of the dying. περιφέροντες pres. act. part. περιφέρω (# 4367) to carry about, to bear about. Pres. emphasizes the continual action. The missionaries were perpetually being delivered to death for Christ's sake. They were never free from peril (Plummer). φανερωθῇ aor. subj. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear, to manifest. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 11 ἀεί (# 107) always. γάρ (# 1142) for. The particle gives an explanation of the preceding. ζῶντες pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live; "the living," "we are ever a living prey" (Plummer). Part. as subst. παραδιδόμεθα pres. ind. pass. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to deliver over, to hand over. Pres. emphasizes the continual danger that is faced. διά (# 1328) w. acc., because. φανερωθῇ aor. subj. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear (s.v. 10). θνητός (# 2570) mortal, subject to death. It emphasizes the material weakness and transitoriness of the body (Meyer). ◆ 12 ὥστε (# 6063) therefore. It is used here as an inferential particle, meaning "and so, accordingly" (IBG, 144). ἐνεργεῖται pres. ind. mid./pass. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to work, to be at work. If it is a dep. mid., the meaning is, "to be at work," to be working;" if pass., the meaning is, "to be made operative" (Furnish; Thrall). ◆ 13 ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Causal part. (Thrall). τὸ αὐτὸ πνεῦμα τῆς πίστεως the same spirit, followed by the obj. gen., the spirit who engenders faith (Barrett). γεγραμμένον perf. pass. part. γράφω (# 1211) to write; perf., that which stands written. It refers to an authoritative document (MM; BS, 250). ἐπίστευσα aor. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Paul quotes Ps. 116:10 as rendered in the LXX (Hughes). ἐλάλησα aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 4246) to speak. πιστεύομεν pres. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. λαλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. ◆ 14 εἰδότες perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. The vb. expresses knowledge grasped directly or intuitively by the mind (Donald W. Burdick, "οἶδα and γινώσκω in the Pauline Epistles," ND, 344-56; VA, 281-87). ἐγείρας aor. act. part. ἐγείρω (# 1586) to raise up. Subst. use of the part. to describe a character trait. ἐγερεῖ fut. ind. act. ἐγείρω. παραστήσει fut. ind. act. παρίστημι (# 4225) to present; to present as a bride is presented to the bridegroom (Plummer). ◆ 15 πλεονάσασα aor. act. part. nom. fem. sing. πλεονάζω (# 4429) to make more through more, to expand, to become more, to increase. Perhaps the idea is increasing in number (IBG, 108). πλειόνων comp. πόλυς (# 4498) great, much; comp., more. Here, the majority, the many. εὐχαριστία (# 2374) thanksgiving. The acc. is the obj. of the vb. περισσεύσῃ aor. subj. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to increase, to cause to abound, to make extremely rich (BAGD). ◆ 16 διό (# 1475) wherefore. ἐγκακοῦμεν pres. ind. act. ἐγκακέω (# 1591) to give into evil (s.v. 1). ἀλλ' εἰ (# 247; 1623) even though. W. ind. introduces a cond. assumed to be true. ἔξω (# 2032) outward; w. the article, "the external." ἡμῶν poss. gen. ἐγώ (# 1609). For the position of the pronoun s. BD, 148. διαφθείρεται pres. ind. pass. διαφθείρω (# 1425) to decay. Pres. pictures the process of continual decay. ἔσω (# 2032) inward; w. the article, "the inward." ἀνακαινοῦται pres. ind. pass. ἀνακαινόω (# 363) to renew again. Pres. emphasizes the continual renewal. ◆ 17 παραυτίκα (# 4194) momentary. It indicates a short amount of pres. time, including the temporary; i.e., till life ends or the Lord comes (Plummer; Windisch). ἐλαφρός (# 1787) light, not heavy (Matt. 11:30). Affliction for Jesus' sake, however crushing it may seem, is in fact light, a weightless trifle (Hughes). θλίψεως gen. θλῖψις (# 2568) pressure, tribulation, affliction. ὑπερβολή (# 5651) excess (s.v. 7). εἰς ὑπερβολήν for or to excess. The two phrases, καθ' υ. and εἰς υ., form a double expression which cannot lit. be translated. The meaning is "out of all proportion" (Barrett). βάρος (# 983) weight. Paul's choice of the expression ("the weight of glory") may be influenced by the fact that in Heb. "weight" and "glory" come from the same root (Bruce). κατεργάζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) κατεργάζομαι (# 2981) to produce, to accomplish. It implies a prolonged process, a working out (Plummer). ◆ 18 σκο-πούντων pres. act. part. σκοπέω (# 5023) to fix one's gaze upon, to concentrate one's attention upon.

Part. used as a gen. abs., circum. (Hughes). βλεπόμενα pres. pass. part. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. Adj. part., "the things being seen," i.e., "visible things." πρόσκαιρος (# 4672) for a time, temporary.

2 Corinthians 5

◆ 1 οἴδαμεν perf. act. ind. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning (s. 4:14). ἐπίγειος (# 2103) upon the earth. Death involves the loss not only of physical corporeality, but also of earthly corporateness (M.J. Harris, ND, 319; DPL, 553-55). σκήνους gen. sing. σκῆνος (# 5011) tent. Gen. of apposition, "our earthly tent-dwelling," "the tent which forms our earthly house" (Harris, ND, 318). The figure of a tent picturing the human body suggests impermanence and insecurity. It is a common picture of earthly life and its setting in the body (Barrett). From a Jewish point of view the tent could be a reference to the Feast of Tabernacles, suggesting that the Christian would have to live in a booth before reaching the promised land (PRJ, 313). For other references to the figure of the tent, s. Windisch; Harris, ND, 318. καταλυθῇ aor. subj. pass. καταλύω (# 2907) to destroy. In reference to the tent metaphor it describes the act of dismantling a tent (Hughes). οἰκοδομή (# 3869) house, building. ἐκ θεοῦ from God. The phrase indicates the source of the building as contrasted w. the earthly tent. ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. For pres. w. the meaning, "to possess" s. M, 110. ἀχειροποίητος (# 942) vb. adj. (χείρ hand, ποιέω to make), not made w. hands, not handmade; i.e., not of this creation (Hughes), supernatural, spiritual (Plummer). αἰώνιος (# 173) eternal, everlasting; not in the sense of pre-existent but of indefinite durability (Plummer). ◆ 2 καὶ γάρ (# 2779; 1142) for even, yes, even (BD, 326). στενάζομεν pres. ind. act. στενάζω (# 5100) to sigh, to groan because of an undesirable circumstance (BAGD). Pres. tense emphasizes the continual groaning in this life. οἰκητήριον a place of living. It denotes a permanent abode or home (s. the discussion in Jude 6; Plummer). ἐπενδύσασθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. ἐπενδύομαι (# 2086) to put on over, to put on upon oneself (RWP). Compl. inf. to the following part. ἐπιποθοῦντες pres. ind. act. ἐπιποθέω (# 2160) to desire, to long for something. For the intermediate state s. DPL, 438-41. ◆ 3 εἴ γε (# 1145; 1623) of course if, if, indeed (Hughes; IBG, 165). ἐνδυσάμενοι aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἐνδύομαι (# 1907) to put on, to be clothed. For the variant reading, "to be unclothed" s. TC, 579f. γυμνός (# 1218) naked, unclothed. εὑρεθησόμεθα fut. ind. pass. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find; pass., to be found, to be discovered. Paul's desire not to be found naked reveals not only a characteristically Jewish horror of nakedness, but also that he does not use it in its normal Hellenistic sense (Barrett). ◆ 4 καὶ γάρ s.v. 2. ὄντες pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Part. w. the article indicates the group to which the subject belongs–"we who are in the tent," i.e., the earthly body (Barrett). στενάζομεν pres. ind. act. στενάζω (# 5100) to groan (s.v. 2). The groaning expresses the desire to put on a new body (Martin). βαρούμενοι pres. pass. part. βαρέω (# 976) to make heavy, to burden, to weigh down. Part. used adverbially, we groan as weighed down since we are under a constant depressing burden (Lenski). ἐφ' ᾧ = ἐπὶ τούτῳ ὅτι (# 2093; 4005) in view of the fact that (M, 107), because (MT, 272). θέλομεν pres. ind. act. θέλω (# 2527) to want to, to desire to, w. inf. Pres. indicates a continual and constant wish. ἐκδύσασθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. ἐκδύομαι (# 1624) to take off, to be unclothed. ἐπενδύσασθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. ἐπενδύομαι to put on (in addition) (BAGD). καταποθῇ aor. pass. subj. καταπίνω (# 2927) to drink down, to swallow down; pass., to be swallowed up. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. θνητός (# 2570) that which is mortal. It refers to our entire mortal existence (Lenski). The ending of the vb. adj. indicates "libel to death" (RG, 1097; BD, 36). ◆ 5 κατεργασάμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. κατεργάζομαι (# 2981) to produce, to prepare, to produce a condition or atmosphere, to prepare one for a circumstance (Windisch). Part. as subst. εἰς αὐτὸ τοῦτο "for this very purpose." θεός (# 2536) God. The word here is in a position of emphasis (Hughes). δούς aor. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Substantival use of part. to emphasize a defining character trait. Aor. indicates antecedent action. ἀρραβών (# 775) earnest, down payment (s. 1:22; DPL, 262; MM). ◆ 6 θαρροῦντες pres. act. part. θαρρέω (# 2509) to be of good cheer, to be of good courage, to be confident. Anacoluthon breaks the sentence structure, so the sentence begins again in v. 8 (Barrett). πάντοτε (# 4121) always; esp. in view of death. εἰδότες perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning (s. 4:14). ἐνδημοῦντες pres. act. part. (temp.) ἐνδημέω (# 1897) to be at home, to be among one's own people, to live in a place (RWP). Pres. expresses contemporaneous activity to the main vb. ἐκδημοῦμεν pres. ind. act. ἐκδημέω (# 1685) to be gone, to be away from home, to be abroad, to emigrate (Hughes). For the use of the words "be at home" and "to be abroad," "to be away from home," (MM; Preisigke, 1:441). ἀπὸ τοῦ κυρίου (# 698; 3261) "from the Lord." Paul is not saying that communion w. the Lord is nonexistent in this body, but the Christian is away from the Lord only in comparison with the prospect of seeing Him face to face (Martin). ◆ 7 διά (# 1328) w. gen., through, by means of, in the manner of, according to (Furnish). περιπατοῦμεν pres. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk, to conduct one's life. εἶδος (# 1626) appearance. The word refers to the thing seen, the form or appearance of an object (Hughes). "We conduct our lives on the basis of faith, not the appearance of things" (Barrett). ◆ 8 θαρροῦμεν pres.

ind. act. θαρρέω (# 2509) to be of good cheer. εὐδοκοῦμεν pres. ind. act. εὐδοκέω (# 2305) to be well-pleased, to consent. Here, "we wish rather," "we prefer" (BAGD). ἐκδημῆσαι aor. act. inf. ἐκδημέω (# 1685) to be gone (s.v. 6). Compl. inf. to the main vb. ◆ 9 φιλο-τιμούμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) φιλοτιμέομαι (# 5818) to love or honor; then to be ambitious, to devote oneself zealously to a cause, to be ambitious (Hughes). εὐάρεστος (# 2298) pleasing. The word is used in Titus 2:9 of slaves who give satisfaction to their masters (BAGD). εἶναι pres. inf. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Inf. to express purp., "so that we are pleasing to him." ◆ 10 πάντας acc. pl. πᾶς (# 4246) all. Used here w. the article it means "the sum total of us" (MT, 201; BG, 61). φανερωθῆναι aor. pass. inf. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear, to manifest; pass., to be made manifest. They not only have to appear, but must have their whole character made manifest (Plummer). δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. it is necessary to, w. inf. giving a logical necessity. ἔμπροσθεν (# 1869) w. the gen., before. βῆμα (# 1037) step, platform, tribunal. This was a tribunal where official decisions were given (RAC, 2:129-30); for a description of the judgment seat found at the city of Corinth s. IBD, 1:683-84; PIG, 225-27; Acts 18:12). The word was also used in the papyri in the official sense of tribunal or judgment seat (MM), suggesting here the place of judgment and reward (DPL, 516-17, 819-20). κομίσηται aor. subj. mid. κομίζω (# 3152) to bring; mid., to carry off, to get for oneself, to receive, to receive as recompense (BAGD). In the NT the mid. has the meaning, "to receive back" or "to receive what is one's own" (Hughes; MM). τὰ διὰ τοῦ σώματος the things (done) through the body. The phrase expresses personal agency in which the body acts as the subject of the doing (SBT, 187). This gives the body its positive meaning for eternity (Schlatter). ἔπραξεν aor. ind. act. πράσσω (# 4556) to do. Aor. pictures the whole life of the individual Christian seen as a unit. With the prep. the phrase means, "w. reference to what he did" (Hughes). φαῦλος (# 5765) worthless, bad, of no account, good-for-nothing. The word indicates the impossibility of any true gain ever coming forth; worthlessness is the central notion (Trench, Synonyms, 317; GELTS, 500). ◆ 11 εἰδότες perf. act. part. (causal) οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning (s. 4:14). φόβον τοῦ κυρίου (# 5832; 3261) "fear of the Lord." The fear excited by the thought of standing before the judgement seat of Christ and having one's whole life exposed and estimated (Plummer). It could, however, have reference to the OT concept of reverence or awe (Furnish; Thrall). Obj. gen. πείθομεν pres. ind. act. πείθω (# 4275) to persuade. Pres. may be conative, "we are trying to persuade" (Barrett; SMT, 8). πεφανερώμεθα perf. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to make manifest. συνείδήσις (# 5287) conscience (s. Rom. 2:15). πεφανερῶσθαι perf. pass. inf. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear (s.v. 10). Perf. indicates Paul's true and integral self has been and continues to be manifested in the conscience of the Corinthians (Hughes). Compl. inf. to the main vb. ◆ 12 συνιστάνομεν pres. ind. act. συνίστημι (# 5319) to commend ἀφορμή (# 929) occasion, basis of operation, a place to start from (Plummer). In the papyri the word was used w. the meanings, incitement, prompting, occasion, or opportunity (MM). διδόντες pres. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Circum. part. to be translated as a main vb. To be translated as a main vb. Paul is fond of continuing a construction begun w. a finite vb. by means of coordinated part. (BD, 245; IBG, 179; MT Style, 89). καύχημα (# 3017) a boast, the ground or matter of glorying (AS). ἔχητε pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. The meaning is, "in order that you may have a refutation of those who glory in appearance and not in heart" (Hughes). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 13 ἐξέστημεν aor. ind. act. ἐξίστημι (# 2014) to stand out of oneself, to be beside oneself. The word indicates mental imbalance (Windisch). θεῷ dat. θεός (# 2536) God; dat. of advantage. σωφρονοῦμεν pres. ind. act. σωφρονέω (# 5404) to be sane, to be sensible, to be in control of one's faculties (TDNT; Trench, Synonyms, 69-72; TLNT). For an example of a heathen prophetess who did not utter her prophecies in wild ecstasy, but in self-control and moderation s. DC, 1:56. ◆ 14 ἀγάπη τοῦ Χριστοῦ (# 27; 5986) either obj. gen. ("Paul's love for Christ" [Martin]), or subjective gen. ("Christ's love for Paul"). It is perhaps best taken as subjective gen., indicating the love which originates or ends w. God in Christ; i.e., Christ's love for him, which is prior to and the explanation of his love for Christ (Hughes; Barrett; RG, 499; also DPL, 575-77). Perhaps both ideas are intended (GGBB, 120). συνέχει pres. ind. act. συνέχω (# 5309) to hold together, to press together, to constrain. The vb. implies the pressure which confines, restricts, as well as controls (Plummer, Barrett). Pres. indicates the continual habit of life. κρίναντας aor. act. part. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge, to decide. Aor. may be perfective, indicating the judgment or decision which Paul had come to. The word points to a judgment formed in the past, perhaps at or soon after his conversion (Hughes). ὑπὲρ πάντων (# 5642; 4246) for all. The prep. could mean "for the benefit of" or "instead of," w. the idea of substitution, which fits the context better (Martin; Hughes; NIDNTT, 3:1196-97). ἀπέθανεν, ἀπέθανον aor. ind. act. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die. ἄρα (# 726) therefore; "that means that" (Barrett; BD, 235). οἱ πάντες (# 4246) all; w. the article the word denotes the class named is taken as a whole; i.e., "the sum total of all" (BG, 61; MT, 201). ◆ 15 ἀπέθανεν aor. ind. act. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die. ζῶντες pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Part. as subst. μηκέτι = οὐκέτι (# 3600) no longer. ἑαυτοῖς dat. 3rd. pers. pl. ἑαυτοῦ (# 1571) reflex. pron. Dat. of advantage, "to live for the advantage of oneself." ζῶσιν pres. subj. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἀποθανόντι aor. act. part. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. Part. as subst. Aor. indicates an antecedent action to the main vb. Dat. of advantage or personal interest. ἐγερθέντι aor. pass. part. ἐγείρω (# 1586) to raise; pass., to be raised. Part. as subst. ◆ 16 ὥστε (# 6063) wherefore. The word is used to draw a conclusion. κατά (# 2848) w. acc., according to, according to the standard of. Both prep. phrases (κατὰ σάρκα) in this v. are to be taken w. the vbs. and not w. the nouns. It is fleshly knowledge that Paul repudiates (Barrett). εἰ καί (# 1623; 2779) even if. The words introduce a 1st. class cond. cl., which assumes the cond. to be true. It indicates that Paul and others really did have a knowledge of the historical Jesus Christ (John W. Fraser, "Paul's Knowledge of Jesus: II Cor. 5:16 Once More," NTS 17 [1971]: 300; Martin). ἐγνώκαμεν perf. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Personal acquaintance of others is not what is meant here. Paul has a way of looking at, regarding, and understanding Christ; now he has a new way of understanding others, including Christ (Fraser, NTS 17:299). For arguments showing that Paul was not denying knowledge of the historical Jesus s. Barrett; JNP, 89ff; Hughes. νῦν οὐκέτι (# 3814; 4033) "now no longer." This does not mean that Paul had no interest in the historical Jesus, his example, teaching, and the traditions about Him. He knew about Jesus. The basic meaning is that Paul had a new, fuller understanding of the whole Christ, by the Spirit and by faith; and he sees others in a new way according to their standing w. him in the new creation (Fraser, NTS 17:312). ◆ 17 ὥστε (# 6063) wherefore. Paul draws a second conclusion. κτίσις (# 3232) creation. The one who is in Christ and has experienced the new birth is a part of the new creation. The rabbis used the term "new creature" to describe those whose sins had been forgiven (SB, 2:415; 3:519; for additional parallels w. rabbinic teaching regarding the new creation s. PRJ, 119ff; for DSS references s. Thrall). ἀρχαῖος (# 792) old, that which comes from an earlier time. παρῆλθεν aor. ind. act. παρέρχομαι (# 4216) to go by, to pass away. Perfective aor. points to the finality. γέγονεν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Perf. indicates the continuing state or condition (McKay). For a discussion of the new life in Christ s. Ladd, 479f. ◆ 18 καταλλάξαντος aor. act. part. καταλάσσω (# 2904) to effect a change, to exchange, to reconcile. Prep. in compound is perfective: "to effect a thorough change back" (MH, 298). Reconciliation indicates that Christ's death removed God's enmity against man (APC, 186-223; TDNT; NIDNTT, 3:166-69; DPL, 92-95; V; EDNT; Martin; Rom. 5:10). δόντος aor. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Aor. indicates antecedent or complete action. Adj. part. used to stress a defining trait. καταλλαγή (# 2903) reconciliation; here, gen. of description. It refers to the office and duty of announcing this reconciliation (Hodge). ◆ 19 ὡς ὅτι namely, that, how that. The force of the words is declarative of what has immediately preceded (Hughes; Alford; RG, 1033). κόσμος (# 3180) world, world of human beings. Acc. is the dir. obj. of the part. It is the world God reconciles. καταλλάσσων pres. act. part. καταλλάσσω (# 2904) to reconcile. Part. may be taken as part of a periphrastic impf. (Barrett; MT, 88). λογιζόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. λογίζομαι (# 3357) to place to one's account, to reckon. A formula used in rabbinic writing (SB, 3:121f) and a common formula in the papyri in the commercial sense of putting down to one's account (MM; Preisigke). αὐτοῖς dat. pl. αὐτός (# 899) self. "Against them"; dat. of disadvantage. The pl. pron. takes up the phrase "the world" (Barrett). παράπτωμα (# 4183) transgression, a false step, blunder (Trench, Synonyms, 245f; TDNT). θέμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to put. ◆ 20 ὑπέρ (# 5642) on behalf of, representing. Perhaps the prep. also has the idea of "in place of" (Hughes; s.v. 14). πρεσβεύομεν pres. ind. act. πρεσβεύω (# 4563) to be an ambassador, to carry out the office of an ambassador. For vbs. w. this ending, marking the exercise of a profession s. MH, 398. This was the regular word in the Greek east for envoys or the emperor's legate (MM; TDNT; LAE, 378; TLNT; Windisch; Martin; Margaret M. Mitchell, "New Testament Envoys in the Context of Greco-Roman Diplomatic and Epistolary Conventions: The Example of Timothy and Titus," JBL 111 [1992]: 644-51; NW, 2, i:451-55). ὡς (# 6055) as. Followed by the gen. abs. it gives a subjective view of that which is stated by the gen. abs., indicating that the statement is correct. It may be translated, "seeing that" (Plummer). παρακαλοῦντος pres. act. part. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to urge, to ask, to entreat. δεόμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) δέομαι (# 1289) to ask, to request, to ask for a specific thing. Pres. indicates the continual or habitual action. It could be iterative, emphasizing the repeated action. καταλλάγητε aor. imp. pass. καταλάσσω (# 2904) to reconcile. Ingressive aor., "become reconciled to God" (Plummer); s.v. 18. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. ◆ 21 γνόντα aor. act. part. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. It expresses knowledge gained by experience (D.W. Burdick, ND, 344ff). Part. could be used in a concessive sense: "although he knew no sin." ἁμαρτίαν ἐποίησεν he made to be sin. The reference may be an allusion to the scapegoat on the Day of Atonement (Windisch), or it may refer to the suffering servant of Isa. 53 w. the idea of sacrifice prominent (Bruce; Martin). God placed our sins on the sinless Jesus and as our substitute God punished Him w. death (Lietzmann). γενώμεθα aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. δικαιοσύνη θεοῦ the righteousness of God. This is the righteousness both that God requires and that He provides in justification. Paul relates being in Christ to justification (GW, 141f).

2 Corinthians 6

◆ 1 συνεργοῦντες pres. act. part. (causal) συνεργέω (# 5300) to work w. someone, to cooperate, to work together. The complement to be supplied to part. can only be "God" (Barrett; Martin). παρακαλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage, to exhort; followed by the acc. w. the inf. (TDNT; EDNT). κενός (# 3031) empty, without results, in vain, without meaningful effect (Furnish; DPL, 320-22). δέξασθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. δέχομαι (# 1312) to receive. Aor. may point to the time of conversion. Paul exhorts them not to have accepted the grace of God in vain; i.e., not to show by their behavior now that they accepted it then to no profit (Plummer). The fear is not that they would lose their salvation, but that they would not effectively carry out the ministry of reconciliation which had been committed to them (s. 5:18). ◆ 2 λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. It is used without a stated subject and it may mean either "He (God) says," or "it (Scripture) says" (Hughes). δέκτος (# 1283) acceptable, welcome, favorable (BAGD); verbal adj. καιρῷ dat. καιρός (# 2789) time, convenient time. Dat. of time, "at an acceptable time." ἐπήκουσα aor. ind. act. ἐπακούω (# 2052) to listen to, to hear. It is a t.t. for hearing prayer (Barrett) and thus answering it. ἐβοήθησα aor. ind. act. βοηθέω (# 1070) to help. εὐπρόσδεκτος (# 2347) easily acceptable, pleasant, welcome. Used of a time which is favorable for bringing God's grace to fruition (BAGD). σωτηρία (# 5401) salvation. Gen. in the phrase "day of salvation" could be gen. of direction or purp. (BD, 92): "a day for salvation," "a day for the proclamation of salvation." It would then refer again to the fulfilling of the ministry of reconciliation (s. 5:18). ◆ 3 μηδεμίαν acc. fem. sing. μηδείς (# 3594) no. A strengthened form used w. another neg. w. the meaning, "no (offense) at all" (BAGD). διδόντες pres. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Pres. points to the habitual, continual action (MT, 343); or may be conative (Barrett; Martin). Part. picks up the construction of v. 1 (Martin). προσκοπή (# 4683) a striking against, an occasion of stumbling, to do something which causes others to stumble (T; DPL, 918-19). It indicates the causing of the foot to strike and the person to stumble (Lenski). μωμηθῇ aor. subj. pass. μωμάομαι (# 3699) to find a defect, to find fault w., to blame someone (Windisch; GELTS, 312). The word often implies ridicule as well as blame, w. disgrace as a result (Plummer). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 4 ἐν παντί (# 1877; 4246) in everything, in every way. συνιστάνοντες pres. act. part. συνίστημι (# 5319) to bring together, to recommend, to commend (s. 3:1). θεοῦ διάκονοι as ministers of God. The nom. means "as God's servants we commend ourselves" (RG, 454). The word emphasizes the personal service rendered to another (TDNT; NIDNTT, 3:544-46; OPSC, 27-32). θλῖψις (# 2568) pressure, affliction (s. the discussion in 1:4; DPL, 18-20). ἀνάγκη (# 340) necessity, anguish. Here it is used in the sense of suffering; quite possibly it means "tortures" (Barrett). στενοχωρία (# 5103) narrow space, tight places (RWP), distress (s. 4:8). ◆ 5 πληγή (# 4435) stripe, wound. φυλακή (# 5871) the place of guarding, prison (BAGD; BAFCS, 3:195-392; DPL, 752-54). ἀκαταστασία (# 189) instability, often from politics (RWP), disorders. These things consist of troubles inflicted by men (Plummer). κόπος (# 3160) work, labor. The word implies toil unto fatigue, the weariness which follows the straining of all powers to the utmost (Trench, Synonyms, 379). ἀγρυπνία (# 71) without sleep, sleeplessness. It refers to the times when Paul voluntarily went without sleep or shortened his hours of rest in order to devote more time to his evangelistic work, care of all the churches, and to prayer (Hughes). νηστεία (# 3763) fasting; the voluntary foregoing of food in order to get more work done (Plummer). This triplet consists of those troubles which Paul took upon himself in the prosecution of his mission (Plummer). ◆ 6 ἁγνότητης gen. fem. sing. ἁγνότης (# 55) purity. The word probably refers to purity of life and motive in the comprehensive sense (Hughes), perhaps in the sense of "innocence" (Barrett). γνῶσις (# 1184) knowledge. μακροθυμίᾳ (# 3429) longsuffering, patience. It describes the steadfast spirit which will never give in, which can endure delay and bear suffering. It is used of God's patience toward sinful men and of the attitude which Christians are to display (NTW, 83-85; TDNT). It refers to a long holding-out of the mind before it gives room to action or passion–generally to passion (Trench, Synonyms, 196). χρηστότης (# 5983) usefulness, kindness. ἀνυπόκριτος (# 537) without hypocrisy, love that is not entirely genuine, mingled w. insincerity or self-seeking (Hughes). For the prefix used to negate the word s. Moorhouse, 47ff. ◆ 7 διά (# 1328) w. gen., through; followed by the gen. ὅπλων gen. pl. ὅπλον (# 3960) used only in the pl., weapons. δικαιοσύνη (# 1466) righteousness. The phrase refers either to the weapons provided by righteousness (subjective gen.), or to the weapons used in the defense of righteousness (Windisch; MRP, 161). δεξιός (# 1288) right; "for the right hand." ἀριστερός (# 754) left; "for the left hand." Together, then, "right hand and left hand weapons," offensive and defense armor, the shield being carried on the left arm (Plummer). ◆ 8 ἀτιμία (# 871) dishonor, disgrace. δυσφημία (# 1556) slander, evil report. εὐφημία (# 2367) praise, good report. πλάνος (# 4418) deceiver. ◆ 9 ἀγνοούμενοι pres. pass. part. ἀγνοέω (# 51) to be ignorant; pass., to be unknown. It refers to being nonentities, not worth knowing, without proper credentials

(Plummer). They did not receive recognition in the world of their day because the world, its literature, politics, and scholarship, took no notice of them. They were not the source of daily conversation and were not sought out as great orators (Windisch). ἐπιγινωσκόμενοι pres. pass. part. ἐπιγινώσκω (# 2105) to recognize, to acknowledge; pass., to be recognized. They received their recognition from God and hopefully from the Corinthians themselves (Barrett). ἀποθνῄσκοντες pres. act. part. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. "See!" "behold," suddenly and contrary to hope (Bengel). ζῶμεν pres. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live, to be alive. As an apostle, Paul was like a man under sentence of death (Barrett). παιδευόμενοι pres. pass. part. παιδεύω (# 4084) to punish, to discipline. God disciplines His servants for their good (Barrett). θανατούμενοι pres. pass. part. θανατόω (# 2506) to kill, to put to death. S. Ps. 118:18, "the Lord hath chastened me sore; but he hath not delivered me over to death." Let believers regard their afflictions not as indications of God's disapprobation, but rejoice in them as opportunities graciously afforded them to glorify His name (Hodge). For a comparison of Paul's list of difficulties w. the list of his day s. Robert Hodgson, "Paul the Apostle and the First Century Tribulation Lists," ZNW 74 [1983]: 59-80. ◆ 10 λυπούμενοι pres. pass. part. λυπέω (# 3382) to cause pain or grief; pass., to be sorry, to be grieved. χαίροντες pres. act. part. (adj.) χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice, to be glad. πτωχός (# 4777) poor, extremely poor, destitute poverty. It describes the abject poor who have lit. nothing and are in imminent danger of real starvation (NTW, 110; TDNT; DPL, 826-27). πλουτίζοντες pres. act. part. πλουτίζω (# 4457) to make rich, to make wealthy. ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to hold down, to hold as a possession. For parallel statements in the ancient world s. Lietzmann; David L. Mealand, "'As Having Nothing, and Yet Possessing Everything' II Cor. 6:10c," ZNW 67 (1976): 277-79. κατέχοντες pres. act. part. κατέχω (# 2988) to possess, to hold, to keep in one's possession (BAGD). ◆ 11 στόμα (# 5125) mouth. ἀνέῳγεν perf. ind. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open; perf., to be opened, to stand open. The phrase means, "I am speaking to you frankly, w. an open heart, hiding nothing of my life from you" (Hering). πεπλάτυνται perf. ind. pass. πλατύνω (# 4425) to make wide, to open wide; pass., to be wide open. To have the heart wide open means there are no secrets in it. Paul tells them, "there is room for you in it, and I long to have you there" (Barrett). ◆ 12 στενοχωρεῖσθε pres. ind. pass. στενοχωρέω (# 5102) to make narrow, to crowd, to restrict; pass., to be restricted. σπλάγχνον (# 5073) pl., inward parts. It properly refers to the contents of the breast–the heart, lungs, liver–and is used to describe the seat of the deepest emotions; the strongest word in Gr. for the feeling of compassion (Hughes; MNTW, 156; TDNT; TLNT). ◆ 13 ἀντιμισθία (# 521) recompense, paying back. The use of the acc. here may be an adverbial acc. (IBG, 160) , or it may be acc. in apposition to the cl. (IBG, 35; MT, 245; Martin). ὡς τέκνοις λέγω I speak as to children. It is in the nature of things that paternal love should meet w. the response of filial love (Hughes). πλατύνθητε aor. imp. pass. πλατύνω (# 4425) to make wide (s.v. 11). ◆ 14 For the connection of 2 Cor. 6:14-7:1 s. Martin; J.A. Fitzmyer, "Qumran and the Interpolated Paragraph in 2 Cor 6:14-1:1," ESB, 205-17; γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Pres. imp. w. the neg. is used either to stop an action in progress or to prohibit a habitual action (MKG, 272f). ἑτεροζυγοῦντες pres. act. part. ἑτεροζυγέω (# 2282) to yoke w. a different yoke, to draft animals that need different kinds of yokes because they are of different species (BAGD), to use a double harness (Barrett). Paul is probably referring to the prohibitions found in Deut. 22:10. For the rabbinical development of this prohibition s. M, Kilaim 8:2f; SB, 3:521; Martin. The concept of the yoke was used in relation to marriage and in relation to teachers who agreed in their doctrine. A mixed marriage or cooperation w. one who had a different doctrine was considered to be unequally yoked (Schlatter). Part. w. this vb. is sometimes used to denote the beginning of a state or condition: "do not lend yourselves to ..." (BD, 180). For a discussion of a yoke s. ABD, 6:1026-27. ἄπιστος (# 603) unbelieving, unbeliever. Here, dat. of association or accompaniment (NTGS; GGBB, 160) used in connection w. the vb. ἑτεροζυγοῦντες (Windisch). μετοχή (# 3580) having a part in, partaking, partnership. κοινωνία (# 3126) fellowship, to have things in common or together (TDNT; RAC, 9:1100-45; NIDNTT, 1:639-44; EDNT). Paul's use of the prep. πρός (# 4639) w. the word may be Semitic (s. Sir. 13:2; Fitzmyer, ESB, 209). φωτί dat. sing. φῶς (# 5890) light. Dat. of advantage or associative dat. πρὸς σκότος w. darkness. For the term "darkness," particularly in the DSS s. John 1:5; Fitzmyer, ESB, 205-17; DPL, 598. This is a rhetorical question expecting the answer "no." ◆ 15 συμφώνησις (# 5245) harmony, agreement. The vb. related to this noun was used in the papyri w. the meaning "agree w.," "agree together" (MM). βελιάρ (# 1016) a Heb. word meaning "worthless" used in Jewish writings and the DSS to describe Satan, the prince of lawlessness, and darkness (Hughes; Bruce; Barrett; TDNT; SB, 3:521-22; Fitzmyer, ESB, 211-13; DDD, 322-27; Peter von der Osten-Sacken, Gott und Belial: Traditionsgeschichtliche Untersuchungen zum Dualismus in den Texten von Qumran [Göttingen: Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, 1969]; DPL, 863-64). ◆ 16 συγκατάθεσις (# 5161) approval, accent, agreement, union. Used in the papyri of a decision arrived at by a group, an agreement (BAGD). νάος (# 3724) temple. The term was properly used of the innermost sanctuary of a temple where the divine presence was supposed to be located (Hughes; DPL, 924-25). As a community the believers constitute the temple of God; it's a concept found in the Qumran community (Fitzmyer, ESB, 213-14). ζῶντος pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. εἶπεν aor. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. ὅτι (# 4022) that. Used to introduce dir. speech and the equivalent of quotation marks (BD, 205; 246f). ἐνοικήσω fut. ind. act. ἐνοικέω (# 1940) to live in, to dwell in. ἐμπεριπατήσω fut. ind. act. ἐμπεριπατέω (# 1853) to walk about in, to walk about among. ἔσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. For Paul's use of the OT in the Pharisaic practice of putting together various Scriptures to prove a point s. BE, 115ff. ἔσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 17 ἐξέλθατε aor. imp. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. ἀφορίσθητε aor. imp. pass. ἀφορίζω (# 928) to separate; pass., to be separated. ἀκαθάρτος (# 176) unclean. ἅπτεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) ἅπτομαι (# 721) to touch, w. gen. εἰσδέξομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰσδέχομαι (# 1654) to receive, to receive w. favor (Plummer). ◆ 18 ἔσομαι, ἔσεσθε fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. The prep. εἰς (# 1650) is used in a Hebraic way to introduce the pred. nom. (BG, 10f). παντοκράτωρ (# 4120) almighty, all powerful, omnipotent (s. Rev. 1:8).

◆ 1 ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. points to the continuous possession. ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise. καθαρίσωμεν aor. subj. act. καθαρίζω (# 2751) to cleanse, to purify. For examples of this vb. used w. the prep. s. BS, 216f. Hortatory subj., "let us cleanse ourselves." Avoidance of ritual defilement was a major pre-occupation of the Essenes and affected many aspects of their life (ESB, 215; Martin; CD 6:17; 1QS 9:8-9; ABD, 2:621-625; TJ, 81-101). Aor. indicates that a complete break should be made (Hughes). μολυσμός (# 3663) that which stains, defilement, pollution. σαρκὸς καὶ πνεύματος flesh and spirit. The terms refer to the outward and inward man, both of whom would be contaminated by contact w. heathen forces (Schlatter). ἐπιτελοῦντες pres. act. part. ἐπιτελέω (# 2200) to complete, to perfect, to bring to the goal. The word can also refer to the discharging of religious duties (Barrett). The prep. in compound is directive, indicating the concentration of the vb.'s action upon some object (MH, 312). Pres. points to a continual advance in holiness (Hughes). ἁγιωσύνη (# 43) holiness (EDNT; TDNT). ἐν φόβῳ θεοῦ the fear of God. Obj. gen., God is the object of the fear or reverence. ◆ 2 χωρήσατε aor. imp. act. χωρέω (# 6003) to make room for, to provide a place for. "Make room for us in your hearts" (RWP). Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. ἠδικήσαμεν aor. ind. act. ἀδικέω (# 92) to wrong someone, to treat someone unjustly, to injure (BAGD). ἐφθείραμεν aor. ind. act. φθείρω (# 5780) to corrupt, to ruin. It may refer to money, or morals, or doctrine (Plummer). ἐπλεονεκτήσαμεν aor. ind. act. πλεονέκτω (# 4430) to take advantage of someone in order to gain something, to defraud for the purpose of gain. It refers to the selfish attitude of one who is willing to go to any length to satisfy his selfishness (TDNT; NTW; TLNT). The three aors. point back to a definite occasion (Hughes). ◆ 3 κατάκρισις (# 2892) condemnation, the rendering of a decision against someone. προείρηκα perf. ind. act. προλέγω (# 4625) to say before. Prep. in compound is temp. εἰς (# 1650) w. articular inf. to express purp. (MT, 143). συναποθανεῖν aor. act. inf. συναποθνῄσκω (# 5271) to die w. someone, to die together. συζῆν pres. act. inf. συζάω (# 5182) to live together. ◆ 4 παρρησία (# 4244) freedom in speaking, openness, boldness (s. 3:12). καύχησις (# 3018) boasting. πεπλήρωμαι perf. ind. pass. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill; pass., to be filled. Perf. indicates "I was filled then and am still" (Plummer). Dat. occurs here as instr. instead of the classical gen. (BD, 104). ὑπερπερισσεύομαι pres. ind. pass. ὑπερπερισσεύω (# 5668) to cause someone to overflow, pass. to overflow, to be overflowing (BAGD). ἐπί (# 2093) w. dat. "amid all my afflictions" (Plummer). ◆ 5 καὶ γάρ for even. ἐλθόντων aor. act. part. (temp.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. Gen. abs. Aor. indicates antecedent action. "when we had come." ἔσχηκεν perf. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. For the use of the perf. here, s. 2:13. ἄνεσις (# 457) relief. θλιβόμενοι pres. pass. part. θλίβω (# 2567) to exercise pressure on someone, to afflict. Part. used independently in the cl., and in this case w. the character of the ind. (M, 182; RG, 1135). μάχη (# 3480) battle, fight. The fights without were presumably against adversaries–Paul had many–whether Christian or non-Christian (Barrett). φόβος (# 5832) fear. The fears within were perhaps for the safety of Titus, who might have been carrying a large sum of money and was seriously overdue, and also for the success of the work in Corinth (Barrett; Windisch; Martin). ἔξωθεν... ἔσωθεν (# 2033; 2277) outward ... inward. ◆ 6 παρακαλῶν pres. act. part. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage. Pres. refers to the habitual character of the comforting God. Part. as subst. to emphasize a defining trait. ταπεινός (# 5424) humble, used here in the psychological sense of downcast, depressed (Hughes). παρεκάλεσεν aor. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to comfort, to encourage. παρουσίᾳ (# 4242) arrival. ◆ 7 παράκλησις (# 4155) comforting, consolation, comfort, encouragement. παρεκλήθη aor. ind. pass. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to comfort (s.v. 6). ἐφ' ὑμῖν over you, upon you (RWP). ἀναγγέλλων pres. act. part. ἀναγγέλλω (# 334) to report, to announce. Part. is used as a nom. abs. (Lietzmann). ἐπιπόθησις (# 2161) longing, yearning. Prep. in compound is directive indicating a longing towards (RWP). ὀδυρμός (# 3851) lamentation, mourning. Evidently the expression of regret for having saddened Paul by the disorders tolerated in the church (Meyer). ζῆλος (# 2419) zeal, intense interest. ὥστε (# 6063) so that; w. inf. and the so-called subject of the inf. expresses result. μᾶλλον (# 3437) comp., rather. It is used either in the sense "I rejoiced rather than mourning," or "I rejoiced the more" (Barrett; Windisch). χαρῆναι aor. inf. pass. χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice. ◆ 8 ὅτι (# 4022) because. εἰ καί if even, although. For this construction s. 4:3. ἐλύπησα aor. ind. act. λυπέω (# 3382) to cause pain, to make sorry. μεταμέλομαι (# 3564) pres. ind. pass. (dep.) to be sorry, to regret. The vb. indicates to change one's feelings about something (TDNT; Trench, Synonyms, 255-61; NIDNTT, 1:353-56). μετεμελόμην impf. ind. mid. (dep.) μεταμέλομαι Impf. is used in the concessive cl., w. the meaning "although I was in a regretful mood at first" (RWP). πρὸς ὥραν (# 4639; 6052) for a moment, for an hour. ◆ 9 ἐλυπήθητε aor. ind. pass. λυπέω (# 3382) to cause pain. μετάνοια (# 3567) repentance. It indicates the changing of one's thinking regarding a matter (TDNT; Windisch; NIDNTT). κατὰ θεόν (# 2848; 2536) according to God, in the way of God's will (Barrett). ζημιωθῆτε aor. subj. pass. ζημιόω (# 2423) to inflict injury or punishment; pass., to suffer damage or loss, to sustain injury. The pass. is the permissive pass. "to permit one's self to sustain loss" (BAGD). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) for purp. ἐξ = ἐκ (# 1666) from. Used here in the causal sense: "because of us" (MT, 260). ◆ 10 λύπη (# 3383) pain, sorrow. ἀμεταμέλητος (# 294) vb. adj., not to be regretted. It refers either to repentance or to salvation or to both; i.e., "repentance-unto-salvation" (Hughes; Barrett). For the prefix as a neg. s. Moorhouse, 47ff. ἐργάζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work, to produce. κατεργάζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) κατεργάζομαι (# 2981) to work out, to produce its fulfillment in. The compound is intensive and designed to emphasize the inevitability of the outworking of death in the sorrow of the world (Hughes). ◆ 11 λυπηθῆναι aor. pass. inf. λυπέω (# 3382) to sorrow. Articular inf. used as a noun (BD, 205f). πόσην acc. πόσος (# 4531) how large? κατειργάσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) κατεργάζομαι (# 2981) to work out (s.v. 10). σπουδή (# 5082) eagerness, earnestness, diligence. For the use of the word in the papyri and examples s. MM. ἀλλά but, yea. The word is used to introduce an additional point in an emphatic way (BD, 233). ἀπολογία (# 665) defense; i.e., a defense against an accusation (Barrett). ἀγανάκτησις (# 25) indignation. Here it indicates the indignation at the shame brought upon the church (Plummer). ἐπιπόθησις (# 2161) longing, yearning (s.v. 7). ζῆλον (# 2419) zeal. ἐκδίκησις (# 1689) vengeance, punishment. Perhaps it has the idea of requital, i.e., seeing that justice is done by bringing the guilty person to ecclesiastical discipline (Hughes). συνεστήσατε aor. ind. act. συνίστημι (# 5319) to commend. ἁγνόυς (# 54) pure, immaculate, without guilt. εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Inf. used here w. the vb.: "you have demonstrated yourselves to be pure." For the construction s. BD. 209. πρᾶγμα (# 4547) matter, affair. ◆ 12 ἄρα (# 726) then, so, therefore, consequently (BD, 235). ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. ἕνεκεν (# 1915) w. the gen., because of, on account of, for the sake of. ἀδικήσαντος aor. act. part. ἀδικέω (# 92) to wrong someone (s.v. 2). ἀδικηθέντος aor. pass. part. ἀδικέω pass., to be wronged. Subst. part., "the one who was wronged." The word has a strong legal flavor, w. the active voice accusing the person who was guilty and had wronged, and the pass. indicating the party against whom the crime was committed (Windisch). Followed by the gen. of the inf., for the sake of, on account of. Inf. to express purp. (IBG, 83; MT, 144). φανερωθῆναι aor. pass. inf. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear, to manifest. ἐνώπιον (# 1967) in the presence of, before. ◆ 13 παρακεκλήμεθα perf. ind. pass. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to comfort (s.v. 6). Perf. means "we have been comforted and continue to be so" (Hughes). παράκλησις (# 4151) comforting, consolation. περισσοτέρως (# 4359) adv. strengthened by μᾶλλον (# 3437); meaning, "the more exceedingly." For examples of this construction s. Hughes; BD, 129; MT, 29. ἐχάρημεν aor. ind. pass. χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice, to be glad. ἀναπέπαυται perf. ind. pass. ἀναπαύομαι (# 399) to refresh, to give rest. The compound vb. expresses a temporary relief–a truce as distinct from a peace (Plummer; MM). Perf. indicates that at the time of writing Titus was still in a state of refreshment (Hughes). ◆ 14 ὅτι (# 4022) because. W. the ind. introduces a cond. assumed to be true. κεκαύχημαι perf. ind. mid. (dep.) καύχαομαι (# 3016) to glory, to boast. Perf. brings out the fact that Paul kept up this boasting about the Corinthians when he was speaking to Titus (Lenski). κατῃσχύνθην aor. ind. pass. καταισχύνω (# 2875) to put to shame. ἐλαλήσαμεν aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 4246) to speak. ἐγενήθη aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Perfective aor., "our boasting before Titus proved to be the truth" (Barrett). ◆ 15 σπλάγχνα (# 5073) the inward parts, the affections (s. 6:12). περισσοτέρως (# 4359) abundantly. ἀναμιμνησκομένου pres. pass. part. (temp.) ἀναμιμνήσκω (# 389) to remind someone of something; pass., to remember to recall. Gen. abs. Pres. expressing contemporaneous action. τρόμος (# 5571) trembling. The phrase μετὰ φόβου καὶ τρόμου w. fear and trembling indicates a nervous anxiety to do one's duty (Plummer; however, s. Thrall). ἐδέξασθε aor. ind. mid. (dep.) δέχομαι (# 1312) to receive. ◆ 16 ἐν παντί (# 1877; 4246) in everything. θαρρῶ pres. ind. act. θαρρέω (# 2509) to be confident, to be courageous. The basic meaning of the word is "to dare," "to be bold or daring" (TDNT), but in the papyri was also used in the sense of "to have confidence in" (MM).

2 Corinthians 8

◆ 1 γνωρίζομεν pres. ind. act. γνωρίζω (# 1192) to make known, to cause to know. Here, "we draw your attention to" (Barrett). χάρις (# 5921) grace. The word here means the generous giving on the part of Christians, which is considered as a gift of thanksgiving (GNT, 174f; TDNT; NIDNTT; EDNT; CPP, 138). δεδομένην perf. pass. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. The grace of generosity was given to the churches by God (Lietzmann). Perf. emphasizes the state or condition w. ongoing results. The prep. ἐν has nearly the meaning of the dat.; i.e., "in the case of the churches" (BD, 118). Although the area of Macedonia, which included Philippi, Thessalonica, and Berea, had at one time been rich, the Romans had taken possession of the gold and silver mines and the country was like a lacerated and disjointed animal (Plummer). ◆ 2 δοκιμῇ (# 1509) proof, test as of metal (RWP). θλῖψις (# 2568) pressure, affliction. περισσεία (# 4353) abundance, superfluity, surplus (LAE, 84). κατὰ βάθους (# 2848; 958) down to depth, rock bottom. Their poverty had already reached the lowest stage (Plummer; Barrett). πτωχεία (# 4775) poverty (s. 6:10). In many parts of the Roman Empire the bulk of the urban population seems to have been very poor, probably because of high taxes, high rent, and high food prices (Jones, 38; A.M.H. Jones, The Greek City, 269; RAC, 1:698-705; DPL, 826-27; BBC). ἐπερίσσευσεν aor. ind. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to abound, to overflow. ἁπλότητος (# 605) generosity, liberality. The basic meaning of the word is "simplicity," "single-mindedness" and indicates the true openheartedness and generosity toward others in which there is no duplicity of motive (Hughes; TLNT). ◆ 3 παρά (# 4123) w. acc., beyond. αὐθαίρετος (# 882) (αὐτος + αἱρέω to choose) voluntarily, of one's own accord; i.e., spontaneously and voluntarily, out of one's own initiative, without request and without coercion (Windisch; Plummer). ◆ 4 παρακλήσεως (# 4155) beseeching, urging. δεόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. δέομαι (# 1289) to ask, to beg. κοινωνία (# 3126) fellowship, sharing (TDNT). διακονία (# 1355) ministry; here, κοινωνίαν τῆς διακονίας (relief work) was used in Greek-speaking Judaism as a t.t. for supplying the needs of the poor (Furnish; SB, 3:316; Klaus Berger, "Almosen für Israel: Zum historischen Kontext der paulinischen Kollekte," NTS 23 [1977]: 180-204; DPL, 143-47). ἁγίος (# 41) holy ones, saints. A term of honor used for the church in Jerusalem. ◆ 5 ἠλπίσαμεν aor. ind. act. ἐλπίζω (# 1827) to hope, to expect. ἔδωκαν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Not only have they given grace and a proof of fellowship, but they have altogether given their own selves (Bengel). θελήματος θεοῦ (# 2525; 2536) will of God. Everywhere in Paul's writings the impulse to faithful service is traced to God's grace (EGT). For a discussion of this collection s. DPL, 143-47. ◆ 6 εἰς (# 1650) w. articular inf.; used here to introduce results: "in such a manner that we have urged" (BD, 207; RG, 1003; IBG, 141). παρακαλέσαι aor. act. inf. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to urge, to beseech, to ask. ἵνα (# 2671) that. It introduces the content of the request (Barrett). προενήρξατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) προενάρχομαι (# 4599) to begin previously. ἐπιτελέσῃ aor. subj. act. ἐπιτελέω (# 2200) to complete, to bring to the goal. Prep. in compound is perfective (RWP). ◆ 7 περισσεύετε pres. ind. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to abound, to overflow; followed by dat. of reference, "to abound in reference to." ἵνα (# 2671) w. subj. to introduce an imp. (BD, 195f; MT, 94f; BG, 141f). ◆ 8 ἐπιταγήν (# 2198) command. διά (# 1328) w. gen., through. This gives the motive which justifies the request. γνήσιος (# 1188) genuine, sincere. The primary sense ("born in wedlock") is overshadowed by derived application (MM). δοκιμάζων pres. act. part. δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to approve by testing, to accept as proven, to approve (BAGD; TLNT). Part. expressing purp. or manner. Conative pres., "attempting to," or "trying to test" (Martin). ◆ 9 γινώσκετε pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. δι' = δία (# 1328) w. acc., because of. ἐπτώχευσεν aor. ind. act. πτωχεύω (# 4776) to be poor; ingressive aor., to become poor, to be reduced to abject poverty. Aor. makes it evident that the whole event of the Incarnation is referred to and viewed as one act (Fred. B. Craddock, "The Poverty of Christ; An Investigation of II Cor. 8:9," Interp 22 [1968]: 165ff). ὤν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Concessive part., "even though he was rich." πτωχείᾳ (# 4775) poverty (s.v. 2). πλουτήσητε aor. subj. act. πλουτέω (# 4456) to be rich. Ingressive aor., "to become rich"; i.e., w. the heavenly riches of union w. God in Christ and the assurance of eternal life (Plummer). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 10 γνώμη (# 1191) opinion, advice. δίδωμι (# 1443) pres. ind. act. to give. συμφέρει pres. ind. act. συμφέρω (# 5237) to bring together, to be advantageous, profitable or useable (BAGD). οἵτινες pl. ὅστις (# 4015) who, those who. It is used to emphasize persons belonging to a certain class and emphasizes the characteristic quality (IBG, 124; BAGD). ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make. Articular inf. used as a noun (BD, 205). θέλειν pres. inf. act. θέλω (# 2527) to desire. Inf. used as a subst. προενήρξασθε aor. ind. mid. (dep.) προενάρχομαι (# 4599) to begin previously (s.v. 6). ἀπὸ πέρυσι (# 608; 4373) last year, from last year (RWP). If Paul was writing these words in the autumn of A.D. 57, the Corinthian collection would have been initiated not less than some nine months, and up to as much as twenty-one months previously, depending on whether Paul is using the Roman or Jewish calendar (Hughes; Martin; Furnish). ◆ 11 ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Here, w. the meaning, "undertaking" (Furnish; Martin). Articular inf. used as dir. obj. of the vb. ἐπιτελέσατε aor. imp. act. ἐπιτελέω (# 2200) to finish (s.v. 6). Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. ὅπως (# 3968) in order that. προθυμία (# 4608) readiness, forwardness, eagerness (RWP). θέλειν pres. act. inf. θέλω (# 2527) to desire. The construction is probably meant to accent the ability growing out of the possession of property (RG, 1074). ◆ 12 πρόκειται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) πρόκειμαι (# 4618) to be present, to lie before one. καθὸ ἐάν (# 2771; 1569) according to whatever. The amount that a man may have is indef., therefore the subj. is used; but his not having is a definite fact, thus the ind. (Plummer; RG, 967). ἔχῃ pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. εὐπρόσ-δεκτος (# 2347) acceptable, well-received. For the same principle in Judaism s. SB, 3:523. ◆ 13 ἄνεσις (# 457) relief. ἰσότητος (# 2699) equality. Used here w. the prep. "according to equality" (Hughes; s.v. 11). ◆ 14 περίσ-σευμα (# 4354) abundance. εἰς (# 1650) for. γένηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. The expression γένηται εἰς means "to be extended to" (Hughes). ◆ 15 γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write. τὸ πολύ (# 4498) one must supply either ἔχω; i.e., "the one who has much" (RG, 1202), or the word "gathered"; i.e., "he who has gathered much." This arises from the context of the quotation from Exod. 16:18 (Hughes). ἐπλεόνασεν aor. ind. act. πλεονάζω (# 4429) to have an abundance, to have more than enough. ἠλαττόνησεν aor. ind. act. ἐλαττονέω (# 1782) to have little, to lack, to not have enough. ◆ 16 δόντι aor. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give (variant reading δίδοντι pres. act. part.). Aor. expresses antecedent action to the main vb. Adj. part. to express a defining trait. αὐτήν fem. acc. αὐτός (# 899) same; here, the same zeal that I have myself, and have now described (Barrett). σπουδή (# 5082) encouragement, exhortation. ◆ 17 ἐδέξατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) δέχομαι (# 1312) to receive, to welcome. σπουδαιότερος comp. σπουδαῖος (# 5080) zealous, eager, diligent (BAGD; TLNT). Elative comp., very zealous (BD, 127; MT, 30). ὑπάρχων pres. act. part. ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to exist, to be. αὐθαίρε-τος (# 882) of one's own accord (s.v. 3). ἐξῆλθεν aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out, to depart; epistolary aor. which views the action as past at the time the letter is read and refers to Titus' present trip (MT, 72f). πρός to, unto. ◆ 18 συνεπέμψαμεν aor. ind. act. συμπέμπω (# 5225) to send together; epistolary aor., "we are now sending" (Barret). ἔπαινος praise. ἐν (# 1877) in, in the matter of. The prep. gives the sphere in which the praise occurs and the reason for the praise. ◆ 19 χειρο-τονηθείς aor. pass. part. χειροτονέω (# 5936) to stretch out the hand, to vote by holding up the hand, to elect, to appoint (MM; for the use in Josephus s. CCFJ, 4:355). The vb. may indicate that the churches elected by voting (Lenski) or it may simply point to the selection and appointment but not refer to ordination (Hughes; NDIEC, 1:123). For the use of the part. as continuing the construction begun w. the finite vb. s. BD, 245. συνέκδη-μος (# 5292) traveling companion, one who goes out w. another. For a discussion of the identity of the person and his identification as Tychicus s. Hughes. δια-κονουμένῃ pres. pass. part. διακονέω (# 1354) to minister (TDNT). The prep. can refer either to the brother appointed to promote the glory or to the fund being ministered to promote the glory (Plummer). προθυμία (# 4608) readiness (s.v. 11). ◆ 20 στελλόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. στέλλω (# 5097) to avoid, to take precautions. Perhaps the word is used here as a nautical metaphor w. the meaning to furl or shorten the sail when coming to shore or in order to avoid danger in navigation (Hughes). For the use of the part. as an example of anacoluthon s. RG, 431. μωμήσηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) μωμέω (# 3699) to blame. Subj. to express neg. purp., "lest anyone blame us" (RWP). ἁδρότης (# 103) that which is thick or bulky, abundant wealth (Hughes). Here it refers to a large sum of money (Barrett). ◆ 21 προνοοῦμεν pres. ind. act. προνοέω (# 4629) to plan beforehand, to think of beforehand, to care for, to take into consideration. καλά pl. καλός (# 2819) good, that which suits the occasion, that which is fitted to the purp. (TDNT). ἐνώπιον (# 1967) in the presence of, before. ◆ 22 συνεπέμψαμεν aor. ind. act. συμπέμπω (# 5225) to send together (s.v. 18). ἐδοκιμάσαμεν aor. ind. act. δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to approve after testing (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). σπουδαῖος (# 5080) zealous (s.v. 17). ὄντα pres. act. part. (adj.) acc. masc. sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. πολύ n. of the adj. πολύς (# 4498) used as an adv., more. σπουδαιότερον s.v. 17. πεποίθησις (# 4301) confidence. εἰς (# 1650) in, into, toward. ◆ 23 ὑπέρ (# 5642) for, concerning, about. In whatever matter any person exhibits real courage, the apostle does not fear comparison (Plummer). τολμᾷ pres. subj. act. 3rd. pers. sing. τολμάω (# 5528) to dare. τολμῶ pres. ind. act. 1st. pers. sing. κἀγώ = καί ἐγώ I also, I too. The personal pron. is strongly emphasized. ◆ 22 ἑβραῖος (# 1578) Hebrew. The term emphasizes the pure-blooded Jew; sometimes it can emphasize a Hebrew-speaking Jew or a Jew of Palestine (TDNT; Lietzmann; Windisch; Barrett; OPSC, 41-46). Ἰσραηλίτης (# 2703) Israelite. The term emphasizes the social and religious character as well as the national promises and blessings from God (Windisch; TDNT; OPSC, 46-49). σπέρμα (# 5065) seed descendant. The emphasis here may be from a theological point of view (Barrett), particularly emphasizing the promises made by God (Windisch). ◆ 23 διάκονοι Χριστοῦ ministers of Christ. The gen. is obj. gen. those who minister or serve Christ. παραφρονῶν pres. act. part. παραφρονέω (# 4196) to be beside oneself, to be mentally deranged. "I am talking like a mad man" (MM). ὑπέρ (# 5642) over, beyond. Here used as an adv., more, to a higher degree, better (BD, 121; MT, 250). κόπος (# 3160) work, toil. The word emphasizes the weariness which follows on the straining of all of his powers to the utmost (Trench, Synonyms, 378). περισσοτέρως (# 4359) adv., comp. of περισσός (# 4356) abundant. Used here in the superl. sense as elative, very abundantly. It may mean, "more abundantly than most men" or "than you would believe" (Plummer). In the following vv. Paul describes in detail his affliction for Christ (DPL, 18-20). φυλακή (# 5871) prison, guarding. Places of confinement, both public and private, were used during the investigation as the accused awaited his trial. Most of the prisons were dark, w. very little room, no sanitary facilities, and inadequate food. For prisons in the ancient world s. BAFCS, 3:195-392; RAC, 9:318-45; DGRA, 240f; KP, 1:1053, 1496; OCD, 879, 1099; TDNT; PIP. πληγή (# 4435) strike, blow, wound, or bruise as the result of a blow (BAGD). ὑπερβαλλόντως (# 5649) adv., beyond measure, very exceedingly; built from the part. θανάτος (# 2505) death. pl., deaths; i.e., "situations in which I was in danger of death" (Barrett). πολλάκις (# 4490) often. ◆ 24 πεντάκις (# 4294) five times. τεσσαράκοντα (# 5477) forty. παρὰ μίαν (# 4123; 1651) except one. This was the Jewish method of punishment based on Deut. 25:2f. The person had his two hands bound to a pillar on either side and his garments removed so that his chest was bare. With a whip made of a strap of calf hide and two other straps of donkey hide connected to a long handle, the person received one-third of the thirty-nine stripes in front and two-thirds behind while he was bending low. During this time the reader reads over and again Deut. 28:58 (M, Makkoth; SB, 3:527-30; Sven Gallas, "'Fünfmal vierzig weniger einen...': Die an Paulus vollzogenen Synagogalstrafen nach 2 Kor 11, 24," ZNW 81 [1990]: 178-91). ἔλαβον aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. ◆ 25 τρίς (# 5565) three times. ἐραβδίσθην aor. ind. pass. ῥαβδίζω (# 4810) to beat w. rods. This refers to the Roman method of beating which was often used as police coercion (s. Acts 16:22; TDNT; RAC, 9:469-90; Furnish). In Paul's case it was probably a punishment prescribed by city magistrates (BAGD). ἅπαξ (# 562) once, one time. ἐλιθάσθην aor. ind. pass. λιθάζω (# 3342) to stone (s. the discussion in Acts 14:19). ἐναυάγησα aor. ind. act. ναυαγέω (# 3728) to suffer shipwreck. For the possible voyages during which Paul may have been involved in shipwrecks s. Hughes. νυχθήμερον (# 3819) night-day. This refers to the Heb. custom of reckoning the day of 24 hours from evening to evening. The word may be viewed as adverbial or as the dir. obj. of the vb. (Hughes). βυθός (# 1113) deep. πεποίηκα perf. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to make. Aoristic or dramatic perf. to emphasize vividness (GGBB, 579). Perf. shows that the dreadful experience is vividly before the apostle's mind, and possibly indicates that the occurrence was recent (Plummer; M, 144). ◆ 26 ὁδοιπορία (# 3845) walking journey, journey. κίνδυνος (# 3074) danger. The following gen.s tell where the danger comes from. ποταμός (# 4532) river. The rivers were sometimes difficult to cross; some changed in a moment from half-dry riverbeds to rushing torrents (Barrett; Furnish). λῃστής (# 3334) robber, bandit, one who uses weapons and violence in robbing others. For a good description of bandits and robbers in the ancient world, s. Martin Hengel, Die Zeloten (Leiden: E.J. Brill, 1976), 25-47; TDNT; DJG, 688-98. Although the main highways were well-policed and relatively free of bandits, they still posed a threat, esp. to small groups of unarmed travelers (Furnish). γένος (# 1169) generation, contemporary, those descended from a common ancestor (BAGD). Here it refers to the Jews. ἐρημία (# 2244) desert, an isolated place. ψευδάδελφος (# 6012) false brother. ◆ 27 κόπος (# 3160) work (s.v. 23). μόχθῳ (# 3677) toil, labor. The word is active indicating struggle and toil (Plummer). ἀγρυπνία (# 71) wakefulness, the inability to sleep (Martin). It refers evidently to the sleepless nights Paul spent in work and ministry (Windisch). λιμός (# 3350) hunger. δίψος (# 1499) thirst. νηστεία (# 3763) fasting. The word refers to the foregoing of meals in order that Paul's work as a minister of Christ might not be interrupted (Hughes). It refers to going without food, either voluntarily or because of a hard life (Martin). ψῦχος (# 6036) cold. γυμνότης (# 1218) nakedness. Perhaps the last two descriptions recall Paul's being thrown into prison, or drenched by rain, or stripped by brigands (Plummer). ◆ 28 χωρίς (# 6006) apart, besides. παρεκτός (# 4211) external; i.e., the outward suffering, or it may imply an exception: "apart from the things that I have not mentioned" (Hughes). ἐπίστασις (# 2180) pressure, stress. The word here probably refers to the daily pressure of responsibility (Hughes). μέριμνα (# 3533) concern, care. ◆ 29 ἀσθενεῖ pres. ind. act. ἀσθενέω (# 820) to be weak. σκανδαλίζεται pres. ind. pass. σκανδαλίζω (# 4997) to cause to stumble. The word means rather, to catch in a death trap; pass., to be caught. It refers to the moral offense that kills spiritually (Lenski). πυροῦμαι pres. ind. pass. πυρόω (# 4792) to set on fire, to enflame. When a brother stumbles, Paul is set on fire w. grief (RWP). ◆ 30 καυχᾶσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. καυχάομαι (# 3016) to boast, to glory. Compl. inf. to the following impersonal vb. δεῖ pres. ind. act. (# 1256) it is necessary, w. inf. giving a logical necessity. τὰ τῆς ἀσθενείας (# 819) things belonging to my weakness. καυχήσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) καυχάομαι. ◆ 31 οἶδεν perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. ὤν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subst. part. stressing the continual character. εὐλογητός (# 2329) blessed (s. 1:3). ψεύδομαι (# 6017) pres. ind. mid. (dep.) to lie. ◆ 32 ἐθνάρχης (# 1617) ethnarch. The term seems to refer to a representative of a subject people who has been given certain powers of control over his own people yet responsible to the foreign dominating power (TJ, 42-43; ISBE, 2:199; Furnish; Martin). For a discussion of Aretas in this passage s. Hughes; Martin; Furnish; and for the Nabateans in general s. HK, 62-68). ἐφρούρει impf. ind. act. φρουρέω (# 5864) to watch, to guard, to guard by posting sentries. Impf. pictures the continual action in the past. πιάσαι aor. act. inf. πιάζω (# 4389) to seize, to arrest. Inf. to express purp. (Barrett). Aor. points to the specific act of seizing. Perhaps Paul escaped from Damascus in A.D. 37 which would put his conversion around A.D. 34 (Hughes; Windisch). ◆ 33 θυρίδος gen. θυρίς (# 2600) window. A small opening in the wall is still shown as the little door through which St. Paul was let down (Plummer). σαργάνῃ (# 4914) basket, rope basket. ἐχαλάσθην aor. ind. pass. χαλάω (# 5899) to let down. διά (# 1328) w. gen., through. τεῖχος (# 1328) wall. ἐξέφυγον aor. ind. act. ἐκφεύγω (# 1767) to escape. Prep. in compound is perfective, indicating that the escape was successful.

2 Corinthians 12

◆ 1 καυχᾶσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. καυχάομαι (# 3016) to boast. Complementary inf. to the following impersonal vb. Pres. indicates the continuing of the action, "I must go on boasting" (Martin). δεῖ pres. ind. act. (# 1256); it is necessary. συμφέρον pres. act. part. συμφέρω (# 5237) to be expedient. In Paul's usage the word points to the welfare not of the individual but of the Christian society (Barrett). Part. used as an acc. abs. (RG, 1130). ἐλεύσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. ὀπτασία (# 3965) vision. ἀποκάλυψις (# 637) unveiling, revelation. κυρίου gen. κύριος (# 3261). Here, of the Lord. Gen. could be subj. gen. (visions and revelations from the Lord [Barrett]) or it could be the obj. gen. (visions and revelations which have the Lord as their object [Hughes]). ◆ 2 ἄνθρωπος

(# 476) man. It was part of the rabbinic style to substitute an impersonal word–"man"–for the 1st. and 2nd. person when one talked of oneself (SB, 3:530f). ἔτος (# 2291) year. δεκατέσσαρες (# 1280) fourteen. This would make the year about A.D. 44, but the incident remains unknown in Paul's life (Martin). οἶδα (# 3857) perf. ind. act. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning, to know. ἐκτός (# 1760) w. gen., out of. The possibility of separating the inner man from the body is presented in this v. (SBT, 146f). ἁρπαγέντα aor. pass. part. (adj.) ἁρπάζω (# 773) to seize, to snatch, to take by force, to catch up. For various parallels to Paul's experience s. Barrett; Windisch. τρίτου οὐρανοῦ (# 5569; 4041) the third heaven. Perhaps the expression means the highest heaven where the presence of God is. Paul was granted the sight of the glory that lies ahead and was thereby fortified to enter patiently all the suffering which awaited him (Hughes; SB, 5:531f; Martin; Furnish). ◆ 4 ἡρπάγη aor. ind. pass. ἁρπάζω (# 773) to seize (s.v. 2). παράδεισος (# 4137) paradise. The word refers to a blissful abode within the very courts of heaven itself (Hughes; Furnish; s. Luke 23:43). ἤκουσεν aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἄρρητος (# 777) verbal adj., unspeakable, unutterable. (dep.) to fear, to be afraid. μή πως (# 3590; 4803) lest, lest by any means. For the use of these words w. vbs. of fearing, s. RG, 99; SMT, 95. When followed by the subj. it indicates fear of an uncertain thing in the fut. (MT, 99). ἐλθών aor. act. part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go temp. or cond. part. οὐχ οἵους = οὐ τοιούτος + οἵους = (# 3888) not such ones as. εὑρεθῶ aor. subj. act. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. ἔρις (# 2251) strife, quarreling. ζῆλος (# 2419) jealous, envying. θύμος (# 2596) anger, sudden flare-up of burning anger (Trench, Synonyms, 130). ἐριθεία (# 2249) selfishness, intrigue (s. Phil. 2:3). καταλαλιά (# 2896) speaking against someone, backbiting. ψιθυρισμός (# 6030) whispering (s. Rom. 1:29). φυσίωσις (# 5883) inflated opinion (Barrett). ἀκαταστασία (# 189) disorder. ◆ 21 πάλιν (# 4099) again. The word could refer either to the part. or to the main vb. (Barrett; Hughes). ἐλθόντος aor. act. part. (temp.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Gen. abs., "when I come" (BD, 218). ταπεινώσῃ aor. subj. act. ταπεινόω (# 5427) to make low, to humiliate. Aor. points to a specific act. Subj. used w. μή (# 3590) in a neg. purp. cl. which goes back to the vb. φοβοῦμαι in v. 20 (RWP). πενθήσω aor. subj. act. πενθέω (# 4291) to express sorrow for one who has died, to mourn. προημαρτηκότων perf. act. part. προαρματάνω (# 4579) to sin previously. Perf. part. indicates that the sinning began early and continued, and refers to persistence in sexual sin by the members of the Corinthian church during a previous period (Barrett; Hughes). μετανοησάντων aor. act. part. μετανοέω (# 3566) to change one's thinking, to repent. Aor. in contrast to the previous perf. indicates that the repentance which might have ended the sinning did not take place (Barrett). ἀκαθαρσίᾳ (# 174) uncleanness. The word refers to sexual sins of impurity. πορνείᾳ (# 4518) fornication, illicit sexual activity (TDNT). ἀσέλγειᾳ (# 816) not bridled, unrestrained, lawless insolence, sheer animal lust. It is the vice of a man who has no more shame than an animal in the gratification of his physical desires (NTW, 27; Trench, Synonyms, 53f). ἔπραξαν aor. ind. act. πράσσω (# 4556) to do, to practice. Aor looks at all the individual actions as a whole.

◆ 1 τρίτον τοῦτο (# 5569; 4047) this third time (Hughes; Hodge). ἐπί (# 2093) w. gen., upon, on the basis of; "on the basis of the testimony." δύο ... καὶ τριῶν two or three. σταθήσεται fut. ind. pass. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand; pass., to be established. ῥῆμα (# 4839) word, matter. The matter between Paul and the Corinthians is to be brought to conclusion by the third visit, which would be in line w. this statement from Deut. 19:15 (Windisch). ◆ 2 προείρηκα perf. ind. act. προλέγω (# 4625) to say previously, to say beforehand, to tell in advance. It is possible that the idea of the word is "to warn" (Barrett). παρών pres. act. part. παρειμι (# 4205) to be present. Temp. part. expressing contemporaneous action, "while I am present." δεύτερον (# 1309) second, the second time. ἀπών pres. act. part. ἀπειμι (# 582) to be absent. προημαρτηκόσιν perf. act. part. προαμαρτάνω (# 4579) to sin beforehand (s. 12:21). ἔλθω aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. πάλιν (# 4099) again; "for another visit" (IBG, 69). φείσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) φείδομαι (# 5767) to spare. It primarily means to spare in battle–not to kill when the opportunity to do so exists. It then comes to mean "to have mercy upon" (Barrett). ◆ 3 ἐπεί (# 2075) since. Used in a causal sense ("because"). δοκιμή (# 1509) proof, that which passes an examination. ζητεῖτε pres. ind. act. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek. Gen. indicates that which was to be proven: "proof that Christ is speaking in me." λαλοῦντος pres. act. part. λαλέω (# 4246) to speak. Adj. part., "proof of Christ speaking in me." ἀσθενεῖ pres. ind. act. ἀσθενέω (# 820) to be weak. δυνατεῖ pres. ind. act. δυνατέω (# 1542) be strong, to be mighty. ◆ 4 καὶ γάρ (# 2779; 1142) for even (Hughes). ἐσταυρώθη aor. ind. pass. σταυρόω (# 5090) to crucify. ζῇ pres. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. ἐκ out of. The prep. here is used in the causal sense (MT, 259f). καὶ γάρ for also (Hughes), for indeed (Barrett). εἰς ὑμᾶς (# 1650; 5148) toward you. It is probably to be taken w. the v. ζήσομεν (Hughes). ◆ 5 ἑαυτούς acc. pl. ἑαυτοῦ (# 1571) oneself; "yourselves." πειράζετε pres. imp. act. πειράζω (# 4279) to try, to examine, here, "to discover what kind of person someone is" (BAGD; Martin; TLNT; Trench, Synonyms, 280). ἐστέ pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. δοκιμάζετε pres. imp. act. δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to test, to prove, to approve after examination. In the NT the word almost always implies proof as well as approval (Trench, Synonyms, 278; Hughes). ἐπιγινώσκετε pres. ind. act. ἐπιγινώσκω (# 2105) to recognize, to know. Prep. in compound is directive and directs the knowledge to the specific obj. (MH, 312). εἰ μήτι (# 1623; 3614) if perhaps, unless indeed. ἀδόκιμος (# 99) disapproved, rejected after examination, not usable. ◆ 6 ἐλπίζω (# 1827) pres. ind. act. to hope. γνώσεσθε fut. ind. mid. (dep.) γινώσκω (# 1182) to recognize. ◆ 7 εὐχόμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) εὔχομαι (# 2377) to pray, followed by the inf. indicating the contents of the prayer. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, used w. the neg. The subject of the inf. is not clear; either "that you may do no evil thing," or "that God may do no harm" (Barret). δόκιμος (# 1511) approved, approved after testing. φανῶμεν aor. subj. act. φαίνω (# 5743) to appear. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. or result. ποιῆτε pres. subj. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ὦμεν pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 8 ἀλήθεια (# 237) truth. The word may be used here in a general sense (Barrett). ◆ 9 ὅταν (# 4020) when, whenever. ἀσθενῶμεν pres. subj. act. ἀσθενέω (# 820) to be weak. ἦτε pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. εὐχόμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) εὔχομαι (# 2377) to pray. κατάρτισις (# 2937) perfecting, fitting together. It is used in the sense of setting bones or reconciling parties and refers here to the growth in holiness (Plummer). ◆ 10 ἀπών pres. act. part. ἀπείμι (# 582) to be absent. παρών pres. act. part. παρείμι (# 4205) to be present. ἀποτόμως (# 705) adv. cut off, curt, sharply, severely (RWP; BAGD). χρήσωμαι aor. subj. mid. (dep.) χράομαι (# 5968) to use. οἰκοδομή (# 3869) building up, edification. καθαίρεσις (# 2746) tearing down, destroying. ◆ 11 λοιπόν (# 3370) finally, acc. of the adj. used as an adv. χαίρετε pres. imp. act. χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice, used as a farewell greeting (GGBB, 493). καταρτίζεσθε pres. imp. pass. καταρτίζω (# 2936) to restore; pass., to be restored. παρακαλεῖσθε pres. imp. pass. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to exhort, to encourage (TDNT; MNTW, 134). φρονεῖτε pres. imp. act. φρονέω (# 5858) to think; here, "be of the same mind," "be harmonious in thought and aim" (Plummer). εἰρηνεύετε pres. imp. act. εἰρηνεύω (# 1644) to be peaceable, to live in peace. ἔσται fut. ind. mid. S. the discussion in 1 Cor. 16:20 concerning the holy kiss (ἁγίῳ φιλήματι). ◆ 13 ἡ κοινωνία τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος "the fellowship of the Holy Spirit."The gen. could be obj. gen. (the fellowship or participation which has the Holy Spirit as its obj.), or it could be subjective gen. (the fellowship or participation which comes from the Holy Spirit) (TDNT; Barrett).

Galatians

◆ 1 For the possible rhetorical structure of the book s. Betz; Longenecker; Walter B. Russell, "Rhetorical Analysis of the Book of Galatians: Parts 1 & 2." Bib Sac 150 [1993]: 341-58, 416-39. ἀπόστολος (# 693) apostle, one sent w. a mission to be carried out w. the authority of the one sending (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT; DPL, 45-51; Longenecker; Betz, 74-75). ἀπ' = ἀπό (# 608) from. The prep. indicates source; Paul states that his apostleship did not have a group of men (pl.) as its source. διά (# 1328) through. The prep. denotes means or agency. It points to the medium through which one would have conveyed the office of his apostleship. ἐγείραντος aor. act. part. (adj.) ἐγείρω (# 1586) to raise. Aor. indicates logically antecedent action. The context indicates that the resurrection of Christ has a special bearing on Paul's apostleship: "I was commissioned by the risen and glorified Lord: I am in all respects an apostle, a qualified witness of His resurrection, and a signal instance of His power" (Lightfoot). ◆ 2 οἱ σὺν ἐμοὶ πάντες ἀδελφοί all the brothers with me. Though they are not mentioned by name they were evidently known to the churches, and the emphatic "all" indicates that they were solidly behind him and the letter (Betz). Γαλατίᾳ (# 1130) The term could refer to the geographical area (North Galatia), or better to the Roman province Galatia (South Galatia), which included the churches founded by Paul on his first mission journey (Acts 13-14). For the arguments concerning both views s. DPL, 323-26; Bruce; Longenecker; Fung; Betz; Guthrie, New Testament Introduction, 450-57; ABD, 2:870-72; Cilliers Breytenbach, Paulus und Barnabas in der Provinz Galatia: Studien zu Apostelgeschichte 13f.; 16,6; 18,23 und den Adressaten des Galaterbriefes (Leiden: E.J. Brill, 1996); James M. Scott, Paul and the Nations: The Old Testament and Jewish Background of Paul's Mission to the Nations with Special Reference to the Destination of Galatians (Tübingen: Mohr-Siebeck, 1995). ◆ 3 ὑμῖν dat. pl. σύ (# 5148) you. Dat. of advantage: "to you," "for you." ◆ 4 δόντος aor. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give, to bestow (s. 2:20). The idea involved is a delivering up of oneself for a specific purpose (Guthrie). Aor. part. describes logically antecedent action. ἐξέληται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) ἐξαιρέω (# 1975) to take out, to remove, to deliver (GELTS, 157). It denotes a rescue from the power of (Burton). Subj. w. ὅπως (# 3968) to express purp. αἰών (# 172) age, the system of practices and standards associated w. secular society (LN, 1:508; EDNT; TDNT; NIDNTT, 3:826-33; Bruce). ἐνεστῶτος perf. act. part. ἵστημι (# 1931) to have come, to be present. The word points to the present transitory age (Lightfoot; Eadie). ◆ 5 ἀμήν (# 297) truly. Used to emphasize and substantiate a statement (TDNT; NIDNTT, 1:97-100; Matt. 5:18). ◆ 6 θαυμάζω pres. ind. act. (# 2513) to marvel, to wonder, to be astonished. The word indicates astonishment, irritation, and rebuke (Longenecker; T.Y. Mullins, "Formulas in New Testament Epistles," JBL 91 [1972]: 380), and was a rhetorical device used in law courts and politics to attack things done by the opposition party (Betz). Pres. points to the pres. continual attitude of Paul. οὕτως ταχέως (# 4048; 5441) so quickly. Paul was astonished at the speed (ταχέως [# 5441]) w. which the Galatians were responding to a counterfeit gospel (Guthrie; Mussner). μετατίθεσθε pres. ind. mid. (dep.) μετατίθημι (# 3572) to transfer, to remove, to desert, to change one's opinion. The word was used of desertion or revolt in a military or political defection and frequently had the idea of a change in religion, philosophy, or morals (Lightfoot; TDNT; Betz). καλέσαντος aor. act. part. (subst.) καλέω (# 2813) to call. Aor. points to the previous time when the Galatians received the gospel (Mussner). ἕτερον (# 2283) another. It expresses a difference in kind (Guthrie; TDNT; Lightfoot; Burton; J.K Elliot, "The Use of ἕτερος in the New Testament," ZNW 60 [1969]: 140-41). The rabbis used a similar term for those who had refused to receive traditions (Mussner). ◆ 7 εἰ μή (# 1623; 3590) except. The words limit that which went before (Ridderbos). ταράσσοντες pres. act. part. (subst.) ταράσσω (# 5429) to shake back and forth, to trouble, to disturb; used of political agitators who cause confusion and turmoil (TLNT; Longenecker). θέλοντες pres. act. part. (subst.) θέλω (# 2527) to wish, to desire, to want to, w. inf. Pres. of both parts. indicate actions still in progress; Paul hopes to be able to influence the decision of the Galatians (Betz; Burton). μεταστρέψαι aor. act. inf. μεταστρέφω (# 3570) to turn about, to change from one thing to another, to change to the opposite, to pervert (Burton; Lightfoot). It was also used as a political term, w. revolutionary action in view (Longenecker). Aor. indicates a complete and thorough change. Compl. inf. to the part. ◆ 8 εὐαγγελίζηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) εὐαγγελίζομαι

(# 2294) to proclaim good news, to preach the gospel (TDNT; EDNT; TLNT; Bruce). Aor. may point to the act of a one-time preaching of the gospel. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) expresses a 3rd. class cond. cl. which views the cond. as a possibility. εὐηγγελισάμεθα aor. ind. mid. (dep.) εὐαγγελίζομαι; an editorial "we" (GGBB, 394). ἀνάθεμα (# 353)accursed, dedicated for destruction (TDNT; GELTS, 28; Betz; RAC 8:1-29; MM). ἔστω pres. imp. act. 3rd sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 9 προειρήκαμεν perf. ind. act. προλέγω (# 4625) to say beforehand, to said previously. Perf. points to the abiding authority of that say previously. The vb. expresses the communication of authorized Christian teaching (Guthrie). παρελάβετε aor. ind. act. παραλαμβάνω (# 4161) to receive. ◆ 10 πείθω pres. ind. act. (# 4275) to persuade, to win the favor of someone (Burton). Conative pres. indicating the trying or attempting (BD, 167; RG, 880). ζητῶ pres. ind. act. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek. ἀρέσκειν pres. act. inf. ἀρέσκω (# 743) to please, to cause pleasure. Compl. inf. Gives the content of the main vb. ζητῶ. ἤρεσκον impf. ind. act. ἀρέσκω. Ind. in a contrary to fact cond. cl. Impf. indicates an incomplete action. ἤμην impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 11 γνωρίζω pres. ind. act. (# 1192) to make known, to make clear, to certify. It has the effect of suggesting a somewhat formal statement to follow (Longenecker). εὐαγγελισθέν aor. pass. part. (adj.) εὐαγγελίζομαι s.v. 8. In this section Paul seems to be asserting that the historical roots of the Pauline churches did not extend back to the community of the Torah covenant, but had an independent foundation confirmed by the Jerusalem church, thereby proving the legitimacy of Gentile salvation outside the covenant Law (Donald J. Verseput, "Paul's Gentile Mission and the Jewish Community. A Study of the Narrative in Galatians 1 and 2," NTS 39 [1993]: 36-58, 38; B. Lategan, "Is Paul Defending His Apostleship in Galatians?" NTS 34 [1988]: 411-30; DPL, 681-88; George Lyons, Pauline Autobiography: Toward a New Understanding SBLDS 73 [Atlanta: Scholars Press, 1985]). ◆ 12 οὐδέ (# 4028) not, not even. The word indicates either "even I who so naturally might have been (taught of men) did not ..."; or it might mean, "I as little as the other apostles"; i.e., I (distinctly emphatic) as little as any others did not" (Ellicott; Burton). παρέλαβον aor. ind. act. παραλαμβάνω s.v. 9. ἐδιδάχθην aor. ind. pass. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. ἀποκαλύψεως (# 637) unveiling, revelation. The word indicates that it was an opening up of what was previously secret. The following gen. is best taken not as subjective–that Christ was revealing–but as obj. gen., indicating that Christ was the object of the revelation (Guthrie). ◆ 13 ἠκούσατε aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἀναστροφή (# 419) manner of life, way of life (Matera). It refers to Paul's ethical conduct (Ridderbos). ὑπερβολή (# 5651) throwing beyond, beyond measure, in excess. ἐδίωκον impf. ind. act. διώκω (# 1503) to pursue, to hunt, to persecute. Impf. pictures the persistent and continual action in the past. ἐπόρθουν impf. ind. act. πορθέω (# 4514) to ravage, to destroy. It was used of soldiers ravaging a city (Burton). Conative impf., "I was trying to devastate it" (Matera). ◆ 14 προέκοπτον impf. ind. act. προκόπτω (# 4621) to cut forward (as in a forest), to blaze a way, to go ahead, to advance, to make progress (RWP; Longenecker; TDNT; TLNT). Customary impf. "I was continually advancing..." (GGBB, 548). Saul of Tarsus was so intent in his ambition to further the cause of Judaism that he did not hesitate to cut down all opposition and in this respect outstripped his contemporaries (Guthrie). ὑπέρ (# 5642) beyond, over, above. The prep. used w. the acc. designated that which excels or surpasses and is a type of comp. (BD, 121). συνηλικιώτης (# 5312) one of the same age, contemporary. γένει dat. γένος (# 1877) offspring, people. Here it has the connotation "of my people" (Ridderbos). περισσοτέρως (# 4359) adv., abundantly, extremely. ζηλωτής (# 2421) enthusiast, one who is zealous for a cause; followed by the gen. indicating that which one is zealous of. (For a study of the word s. TDNT; Hengel, Zeloten, 67-78; DJG, 696-97). ὑπάρχων pres. act. part. (causal) ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to be, to exist, to be by constitution (s. 2 Cor. 12:16). (Fung). πατρικός (# 4257) pertaining to a father, fatherly. For the meaning of the suf. s. MH, 378. παράδοσις (# 4142) passing on from one to another, tradition. In connection w. Judaism it refers to that body of oral teaching which was complementary to the written law and in fact possessed equal authority to the law (Guthrie; Longenecker; TLNT). ◆ 15 εὐδόκησεν aor. ind. act. εὐδοκέω (# 2305) to please, to be well-pleased, followed by the inf. ἀφορίσας aor. act. part. (subst.) ἀφορίζω (# 928) to divide w. a boundary, to mark off from others w. a boundary, to set apart. The idea here is "to set aside for special purpose" (Ridderbos). κοιλία (# 3120) body cavity, womb, i.e., "from before my birth," "before I had any impulses, any principles of my own" (Lightfoot). καλέσας aor. act. part. (subst.) καλέω (# 2813) to call. ◆ 16 ἀποκαλύψαι aor. act. inf. ἀποκαλύπτω (# 636) to unveil, to reveal. Inf. to express purp. Aor. points to a specific act. ἐν ἐμοί (# 1877; 1609) in me, to me, me. With vbs. of knowing and making known the prep. designates not only the person through whom the communication comes, but also the one who receives it (Ridderbos; BD, 118). εὐαγγελίζωμαι pres. subj. mid. εὐαγγελίζω s.v. 8. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used in a purp. cl. ἔθνεσιν pl. ἔθνος (# 1620) nation, pl. Gentiles. εὐθέως adv. immediately. προσανεθέμην aor. ind. mid. προσανατίθημι (# 4651) lit., to lay on oneself in addition. When used w. the gen. it suggests the gaining of information by communicating w. others, to consult in order to give a skilled or authoritative interpretation (Guthrie; Lightfoot; Mussner;

J.D.G. Dunn, "The Relationship between Paul and Jerusalem according to Galatians 1 and 2," NTS 28 [1982]: 110). ◆ 17 ἀνῆλθον aor. ind. act. ἀνέρχομαι (# 456) to go up. ἀπῆλθον aor. ind. act. ἀπέρχομαι (# 599) to go away. εἰς Ἀραβίαν (# 728) into Arabia. This probably refers to the Nabataean cities east of Damascus (Betz; Matera; 2 Cor. 11:32). ὑπέστρεψα aor. ind. act. ὑποστρέφω (# 5715) to return. Prep. in compound connotes "back" (MH, 327). ◆ 18 ἔπειτα (# 2083) then. The word draws particular attention to the next event in order of sequence (Guthrie). ἔτη pl. ἔτος (# 2291) year. ἀνῆλθον aor. ind. act. ἀνερχομαι (# 456) to go up. ἱστορῆσαι aor. act. inf. ἱστορέω (# 2707) to inquire, to visit places or persons, to get to know, perhaps w. the idea of finding out information (Burton; MM; Preisigke, 1:703; Otfried Hofius, "Gal 1,18: ἱστορῆσαι Κηφᾶν," ZNW 74 [1984]: 73-85; J.D.G. Dunn, "Once More - Gal 1,18: ἱστορῆσαι Κηφᾶν In Reply to Otfried Hofius," ZNW 76 [1985]: 138-39; Grave verbum, ut de re magna. Nochmals Gal 1,18: ἱστορῆσαι Κηφᾶν," ZNW 81 [1990]: 262-69; DPL, 701-3). Perhaps Paul wanted to find out about the earthly Jesus (Longenecker). Inf. to express purp. ἐπέμεινα aor. ind. act. ἐπιμένω (# 2152) to remain. For the prep. in compound s. MH, 312. ◆ 19 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. εἰ μή (# 1623; 3590) except. For the possible ways of understanding these words s. L. Paul Trudinger, "A Note on Galatians 1:19," NovT 17 (1975): 200-202. For a discussion of the various interpretations related to James, the brother of the Lord s. Eadie; Lightfoot, 252-91. ◆ 20 ψεύδομαι pres. ind. mid. (dep.) (# 6017) to lie. For a comparison of Paul's statement to the oaths offered during Roman court procedures s. J. P. Sampley, "'Before God, I Do Not Lie' (Gal. 1:20)," NTS 23 (1977): 477-82. ◆ 21 ἦλθον aor. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. κλίμα (# 3107) region, area. ◆ 22 ἤμην impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἀγνοούμενος pres. pass. part. ἀγνοέω (# 51) to be ignorant, to not know; pass., to be unknown. Pres. stresses the continuity of the state of not knowing (Guthrie). ◆ 23 ἀκού-οντες pres. act. part. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἦσαν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. διώκων pres. act. part. s.v. 13. Subst. part. used to emphasize a trait. Pres. suggests a durative notion. εὐαγγελίζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) s.v. 8. Pres. indicates the continual action. ἐπόρθει impf. ind. act. s.v. 13. ◆ 24 ἐδόξαζον impf. ind. part. δοξάζω (# 1519) to glorify, to cause one to think highly of another. Impf. indicates, "they began to glorify, and continued to do so." ἐν ἐμοί (# 1877; 1609) in me. The prep. constitutes the ground or basis of the action: "they found in me occasion and reason for praising God" (Burton).

◆ 1 ἔπειτα then s. 1:18. ἐτῶν gen. ἔτος (# 2291) year. ἀνέβην aor. ind. act. ἀναβαίνω (# 326) to go up (BBC). μετά w. the gen., with, accompanied by. It suggests that Paul was the leader (Guthrie). συμπαραλαβών aor. act. part. συμπαραλαμβάνω (# 5221) to take along w., to take someone along as a travelling companion or helper. The word is applied to a private companion or minister who is not sent forth on the mission of an envoy, but is taken by the envoy on their authority (Ramsey; MM). ◆ 2 ἀνέβην aor. ind. act. s.v. 1. ἀποκάλυψις (# 637) unveiling, revelation. Acc. w. the prep. κατά (# 2848), "in obedience to such a revelation" (Burton). ἀνεθέμην aor. ind. act. ἀνατίθημι (# 423) to declare, to communicate, to lay before someone for consideration, to relate w. a view to consulting (BAGD; Lightfoot). κατ' ἰδίαν (# 2848) one's own; used in the idiomatic construction, "privately." δοκοῦσιν pres. act. part. δοκέω (# 1506) to seem to be, to appear. A shortened version of the construction οἱ δοκοῦντες εἶναι τι (v. 6) "those who seem to be something." It is used in the sense of "the authorities" and the word itself implies position of honor (Meyer; Guthrie), or it may be intended to be ironical (Longenecker; Betz). μή (# 3590) lest. Used w. the subj. to express a neg. purp. or to prohibit that which is feared (2 Cor. 12:20). τρέχω pres. subj. act. τρέχω (# 5556) to run. The preacher of the gospel is pictured as a runner of a race concerned about his eventual success or failure in the race. Pres. subj. expresses the fear of continuous fruitless effort into the fut. (PAM, 100f). ἔδραμον aor. ind. act. τρέχω. Ind. used of that which has already taken place or is entirely independent of the will. The fact of having run in the past is no longer dependent on the will of him who fears (BD, 188; PAM, 101; Schlier). ◆ 3 ὤν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Concessive part. ("although"). ἠναγκάσθη aor. ind. pass. ἀναγκάζω (# 337) to exert pressure on someone, to compel, to coerce. Aor. is effective or resultative, affirming that an action attempted in the past was accomplished (SMT, 42). περιτμηθῆναι aor. pass. inf. περιτέμνω (# 4362) to circumcise (Neil. J. McEleney, "Conversion, Circumcision and the Law," NTS 20 [1974]: 319-41; TDNT; EDNT). ◆ 4 δέ (# 1254) but. The structure and grammatical connection of this verse is not clear. For a discussion of the various possibilities s. Lightfoot; Burton; Mussner. παρείσακτος (# 4207) secretly brought in, smuggled in alongside of, sneaked in (BAGD). The word was used of spies or traitors who infiltrate an opposing camp (Longenecker) or it could simply mean "alien" or "foreign" (Eadie; MM). ψευδαδέλφος (# 6012) false brother. οἵτινες pl. ὅστις (# 4015) who, one who. The word specifies the class to which one belongs (Ellicott; RG, 727). παρεισῆλθον aor. ind. act. παρέρχομαι (# 4209) to come in alongside of, to slip into. The word usually implies stealth (Burton). The metaphor is that of spies or traitors introducing themselves by stealth into the enemy's camp (Lightfoot). κατασκοπῆσαι aor. act. inf. κατακοπέω (# 2945) to spy out, to examine carefully. The word is used most frequently to imply treachery (Lightfoot; s. Josh. 2:2, 3). Aor. may refer to the act done before it was detected (Eadie). Inf. is used to express purp. ἐλευθερία (# 1800) freedom. καταδουλώσουσιν fut. ind. act. καταδουλόω (# 2871) to enslave, to bring down to bondage, to completely enslave. The prep. in compound is perfective (MH, 316). Fut. ind. expressing purpose (IBG, 139; VA, 413). ◆ 5 εἴξαμεν aor. ind. act. εἴκω (# 1634) to yield, to give into, to give way, to allow. ὑποταγῇ (# 5717) submission. Dat. of reference or respect, "we did not yield w. respect to the submission." The definite article refers to the matter under discussion, circumcision (Guthrie). διαμείνῃ aor. subj. act. διαμένω (# 1373) to remain permanently, to continue throughout. The idea of firm possession is enforced by the compound vb., the past tense, and the prep. (Lightfoot). ◆ 6 δοκούντων pres. act. part. δοκέω s.v. 2. εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Compl. inf. completing the main vb. ὁποῖοί ποτε (# 3961; 4537) what kind of people they were. The general rel. pron. refers to quality (BD, 159; Schlier). διαφέρει pres. ind. act. διαφέρω (# 1422) it makes a difference, it matters. Used here w. the neg. οὐδέν (# 4029), "it makes no difference to me." δοκοῦντες pres. act. part. s.v. 2. προσανέθεντο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) προσανατίθημι (# 4707) to add something. In addition here it connotes, "to teach in addition to what I have already learned" (Burton). Paul means that no restrictions were set to, no further and extraneous requirements were laid upon the fundamental proclamation of the gospel (PAA, 146). For Paul's view of his apostleship and authoritative message in relation to the other apostles s. David M. Hay, "Paul's Indifference to Authority," JBL 88 (1969): 36-44; DPL, 45-51. ◆ 7 τοὐναντίον (# 5539) on the contrary. ἰδόντες aor. act. part. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Temp. or causal part. πεπίστευμαι perf. ind. pass. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. pass. to be entrusted w. something. ἀκροβυστίας (# 213) foreskin, uncircumcision. περιτομή (# 4364) circumcised (DPL, 137-39). ◆ 8 ἐνεργήσας aor. act. part. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to be at work, to be active, to effect, to produce results (Burton; Mussner). The vb. is followed by the dat. of advantage or instr. (GGBB, 163). εἰς (# 1650) into. The prep. points to the goal of the active working of God (Mussner). ἀποστολή (# 692) apostleship. The word is the act of fulfilling the commission, i.e., the establishment of Christian communities (PAA, 148; Robert Duncan Culver, "Apostles and the Apostolate in the New Testament," Bib Sac 134 [1977]: 131-43; s. 1:1). ἐνήργησεν aor. ind. act. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to work effectively. ◆ 9 γνόντες aor. act. part. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know, to recognize. δοθεῖσαν aor. pass. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. δοκοῦντες pres. act. part. δοκέω s.v. 2. στῦλος (# 5146) pillar. The metaphor was used by the Jews in speaking of the great teachers of the law (Bruce; Lightfoot; SB, 3:537). εἶναι pres. inf. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. δεξιός (# 1288) right, here in the sense of right hand. ἔδωκαν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. κοινωνία (# 3126) fellowship (NIDNTT, 1:639-44; TDNT; RAC, 9:1100-45). In modern parlance this means that they all shook hands to signify agreement (Guthrie). ◆ 10 μνημονεύωμεν pres. subj. act. μνημονεύω (# 3648) to remember. ἐσπούδασα aor. ind. act. σπουδάζω (# 5079) to be diligent, to be eager. αὐτὸ τοῦτο (# 899; 4047) this very thing. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ἐσπούδασα. ◆ 11 ἦλθεν aor. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. ἀντέστην aor. ind. act. ἀνίστημι (# 468) to stand against, to oppose. κατεγνωσμένος perf. pass. part. καταγινώσκω (# 2861) to condemn; pass. to be condemned. Peter was condemned either by his own contradictory actions (Lightfoot) or by his own conscience. For this view as well as examples from the papyri s. MM; Schlier. ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 12 ἐλθεῖν aor. act. inf. ἔρχομαι (# 2262). Articular inf. w. the prep. πρό (# 4574) to express previous or antecedent time ("before") (MT, 144). συνήσθιεν impf. ind. act. συνεσθίω (# 5303) to eat w. someone, to eat together. Impf. expresses the habitual action of the past: "he used to eat regularly (w. Gentiles)." ἦλθον impf. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. ὑπέστελλεν impf. ind. act. ὑποστέλλω (# 5713) to withdraw. Inceptive impf., "he began to withdraw." ἀφώριζεν impf. ind. act. ἀφορίζω (# 928) to separate. φοβούμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. φοβέομαι (# 5828) to fear, to be afraid. Causal part., "because he feared." ◆ 13 συνυπεκρίθησαν aor. ind. pass. (dep.) συνυποκρίνομαι (# 5347) to act as a hypocrite w. another. The basic meaning of the word is "to answer from under" and refers to actors who, in playing a part, spoke from under a mask. The actors hid their true selves behind the role they were playing. The word indicates the concealment of wrong feelings, character, etc., under the pretense of better ones (Burton; Guthrie; TDNT; TLNT, 3:406-13). συναπήχθη aor. ind. pass. συνάγω (# 5270) to lead away together. The pass. of the word suggests that Barnabas did not play an active part in the hypocrisy; but the meaning of the vb. implies that Barnabas was swept off his balance (Guthrie; DPL, 66-67). ◆ 14 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ὀρθοποδοῦσιν pres. ind. act. ὀρθοποδέω (# 3980) to walk correctly, to walk straight or upright. Followed by the prep., the verse means, "they were not walking on the straight path towards the truth of the gospel" (Mussner). εἶπον aor. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to speak, to say. ὑπάρχων pres. act. part. ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to exist, to be. ἐθνικῶς (# 1619) adv., in the manner of heathen. ζῇς pres. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Ind. w. εἰ (# 1623) in a 1st. class cond. cl. assumes the reality of the cond. ἀναγκάζεις pres. ind. act. ἀναγκάζω (# 337) to be necessary. ἰουδαΐζειν pres. act. inf. ἰουδαΐζω (# 2678) to live as a Jew, to adopt Jewish customs (Lightfoot; DPL, 513-16). ◆ 15 φύσις (# 5882) nature; here in the dat., "by nature," "by birth." The vb. to be supplied is to be taken as concessive: "though we are Jews by nature and not sinners of Gentile origin" (Burton; Mussner). ἁμαρτωλός (# 283) sinner. ◆ 16 εἰδότες perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) def. perf. w. the pres. meaning to know. Pres. indicates that which is always true. Pass. points to the fact that one does not justify himself but is declared righteous by another. The neg. w. pres. indicates that justification can never at any time be achieved by works of the law. ἐὰν μή (# 1569; 3590) if not, except. The expression is properly exceptive and introduces an exception related to the main vb. Here it can be translated "but only" (Burton; s. also William O. Walker, Jr., "Translation and Interpretation of ἐὰν μή in Galatians 2:16," JBL 116 [1997]:515-20). ἐπιστεύσαμεν aor. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Possibly ingressive aor., "we have come to believe" (Ribberbos). δικαιωθῶμεν aor. subj. pass. δικαιόω (# 1467) to justify (s. Rom. 2:13; DPL, 517-23)). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. Theol. pass. indicating that God is the one who makes the declaration that someone is in the right. Aor. points to the specific act which takes place. δικαιωθήσεται fut. ind. pass. δικαιόω (# 1467). Theol. pass., indicating that God is the subject. ◆ 17 ζητοῦντες pres. act. part. (temp.) ζητέω (# 2426) to seek. Pres. indicates action contemporaneous to the main vb. δικαιωθῆναι aor. inf. pass. s.v. 16. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. εὑρέθημεν aor. ind. pass. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. ἆρα (# 727) here to be taken as the interrogative particle rather than an inferential particle. It expresses bewilderment as to a possible conclusion: "is Christ then a minister of sin?" (Lightfoot; Mussner). γένοιτο aor. opt. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to be, to become. Let it not be, certainly not! This represents a characteristic Pauline refutation of an unthinkable suggestion (Guthrie). For a discussion of this phrase s. Rom. 3:4. ◆ 18 κατέλυσα aor. ind. act. καταλύω (# 2907) to tear down, to destroy, to annul, to abrogate. Perhaps the 1st person is used for vividness (GGBB, 391). οἰκοδομῶ pres. ind. act. οἰκοδομέω (# 4099) to build up. Pres. suggests a maxim which would always be true (Eadie). παραβάτης (# 4127) one who goes beyond the boundary, transgressor. συνιστάνω pres. ind. act. συνίστημι (# 5319) to constitute, to prove, Used w. the double acc. Used w. the reflex. pron. as one of the accs. It means "to prove to oneself something," "to recommend or present oneself as such" (Ridderbos). ◆ 19 ἐγώ (# 1609) I. The idea here is, "I, Paul, the natural man, the slave of the old covenant" (Lightfoot). γάρ (# 1142) for. This explicative shows how this rehabilitation of the law actually amounts to a transgression of its true principles (Ellicott). ἀπέθανον aor. ind. act. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die, followed by the dat. of reference. ζήσω aor. subj. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Followed by the dat. of advantage, "to live for God." συνεσταύρωμαι perf. ind. pass. συνσταυρόω (# 5365) to crucify together. Perf. suggests that Paul is thinking of that specific completed event which marked his identification w. Christ and which has had an enduring effect upon his life (Guthrie). ◆ 20 ζῶ pres. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. οὐκέτι (# 4033) no longer. ζῇ pres. ind. act. ζάω. ἀγαπήσαντός aor. act. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TLNT; TDNT; EDNT). Causal part. ("because he loved") or adj. part. ("who loved"). Aor. indicates action logically antecedent to the main vb. παραδόντος aor. act. part. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to give over, to give. Christ's self-giving upon the cross was a definite act of love. ◆ 21 ἀθετῶ pres. ind. act. ἀθετέω (# 119) to set aside, to reject. In the papyri it was used of loans which were repaid and cancelled and for the rejection of certain officials who were described as inefficient and incapable of doing their duty. It was also used of grain rejected by the inspector as unfit for food (MM). δωρεάν (# 1562) adv., gratuitously; "without (giving or receiving) pay" (Burton). ἀπέθανεν aor. ind. act. ἀποθνήσκω s.v. 19.

◆ 1 ἀνόητος (# 485) foolish, without thinking. It describes acting in a spirit which manifests the absence of wisdom (Eadie). Paul does not accuse them of lacking intelligence but of an inability or a refusal to recognize the real situation (Matera; Betz). ἐβάσκανεν aor. ind. act. βασκαίνω (# 1001) to bewitch, to cast a magic spell, to seek to bring damage to a person through an evil eye or a spoken word (Lightfoot; Betz; TDNT; MM; NW 2, ii:537-38). One ancient writer felt that one could ward off the evil spell by spitting three times (BAGD; for other magic texts s. GMP). Their new behavior was so strange that it appeared as if someone had put a spell on them (Bruce). προεγράφη aor. ind. pass. προγράφω (# 4592) to write before, to write up in public. The word was used to describe all public notices or proclamations and indicates a public announcement in which the validity of a particular fact or cond. is proclaimed (Lightfoot; Ridderbos; TDNT). ἐσταυρωμένος perf. pass. part. σταυρόω (# 5090) to crucify. The lack of the article stresses the character, "a crucified one." For a description of crucifixion in the ancient world s. C; TDNT. ◆ 2 μαθεῖν aor. act. inf. μανθάνω (# 3443) to learn. ἐλάβετε aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. ἀκόη (# 198) hearing. ◆ 3 ἐναρξάμενοι aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἐνάρχω (# 1887) to begin. (# 2200) ἐπιτελέω to accomplish, to complete, to finish, to come to the intended goal. ◆ 4

τοσαῦτα pl. τοσοῦτος (# 5537) so great, pl. so great things. ἐπάθετε aor. ind. act. πάσχω (# 4248) to experience. The word may mean "to experience evil" ("to suffer"), or it may be used in a neutral sense, "to experience" (Burton; Mussner). εἰκῇ (# 1632) in vain. εἴ γε καί if it be really. The phrase leaves a loophole for doubt, implying an unwillingness to believe on the part of the speaker w. some hope that the situation is not irretrievable (Lightfoot; Bruce). ◆ 5 ἐπιχορηγῶν pres. act. part. ἐπιχορηγέω (# 2220) to supply. The simple vb. means "to defray the expense of providing a chorus at the public feast" while the prep. expresses strongly the idea, "to supply abundantly" (Burton; s. 2 Cor. 9:10). Pres. implies the permanency of the action (Ellicott). ἐνεργῶν pres. act. part. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to be energetic, to work. ◆ 6 καθώς (# 2777) just as. The word indicates that Paul is drawing a parallel between Abraham's justification and present-day justification (Mussner). ἐπίστευσεν aor. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. ἐλογίσθη aor. ind. pass. λογίζομαι (# 3357) to place to one's account, to account, to reckon. Theol. pass. indicating that God is the subject (s. Achim Behrens, "Gen 15, 6 und das Vorverständnis des Paulus," ZAW 109 [1997]:327-41). For Abraham in Judaism s. Longenecker, 110-12; G. W. Hanson, Abraham in Galatians: Epistolary and Rhetorical Contexts (Sheffield: JSOT, 1989); DPL, 1-9; BCC; Betz, 139-40; Rom. 4:2. ◆ 7 γινώσκετε pres. ind. or imp. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. ἄρα (# 726) so, therefore. It is used as a particle of inference. ◆ 8 προϊδοῦσα aor. act. part. προοράω (# 4632) to see beforehand, to foresee. The word indicates that the faith element in God's method of justification is timeless (Guthrie). δικαιοῖ pres. ind. act. δικαιόω (# 1467) to justify, to declare righteous (s. Rom. 2:13). Futuristic pres. (Longenecker). ἔθνος (# 1620) nation, Gentile. προευηγγελίσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) προευαγγελίζομαι (# 4603) to proclaim the good news beforehand. ὅτι (# 4022) recitative use introducing a direct quotation is equivalent to quotation marks. ἐνευλογηθήσονται fut. ind. pass. ἐνευλογέω (# 1922) to bless. For the term "blessing," "to bless" s. Cleon Rogers, "The Covenant with Abraham and Its Historical Setting," Bib Sac 127 (1970): 241-56.; TDOT; TDNT. ◆ 9 ὥστε (# 6063) therefore. The word draws a conclusion from the previous material. εὐλογοῦνται pres. ind. pass. εὐλογέω (# 2328) to bless. ◆ 10 ὅσος (# 4012) as many as. The word indicates those belonging to the same class. κατάρα (# 2932) curse (DPL, 199-200). This was the covenant curse for disobeying the Mosaic covenant (NIDNTT, 1:416; TDNT). γέγραπται pres. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Perf. indicates that the authority of the document is binding: "it stands written" (MM). ἐπικατάρατος (# 2129) curse, cursed. For a discussion of the Heb. word "curse" as used here in the quotation from Deut. 27:26 s. TDOT, 405-18; H. C. Brichto, The Problem of "Curse" in the Hebrew Bible (Philadelphia: Society of Biblical Literature, 1968); DCH, 1:397-98). ἐμμένει pres. ind. act. ἐμμένω (# 1844) to remain in, to continue in. Pres. indicates the need for unbroken and continual observance of the whole law. γεγραμμένοις perf. pass. part. γράφω. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472). Articular inf. to express purp. Aor. indicates the complete action. ◆ 11 δικαιοῦται pres. ind. pass. s.v. 8. δῆλος (# 1316) clear, evident. ζήσεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ζάω (# 2409) to live. ◆ 12 ποιήσας aor. act. part. (subst.) ποιέω (# 2409) to do, to practice. Aor. indicates the complete action. ζήσεται fut. ind. mid. s.v. 11. ◆ 13 ἐξηγόρασεν aor. ind. act. ἐξαγοράζω (# 1973) to buy out of the marketplace, to redeem, to ransom from slavery (APC; TDNT; DPL, 784-86; ABD, 5:650-57). Prep. in compound is perfective: "to buy out," "to completely redeem." γενόμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. Part. gives the means or way in which the action of the main vb. was accomplished. Aor. portrays a logically antecedent action. γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. s.v. 10 κρεμάμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. κρεμάννυμι (# 3203) to hang. ξύλου wood, tree (s. Acts 10:39). For the view that Paul combines Deut. 21:22-23 w. a reference to Isaac in Gen. 22 s. Max Wilcox, "'Upon the Tree'–Deut. 21:22-23 in the New Testament," JBL 96 (1977): 85-99. ◆ 14 εὐλογία (# 2330) blessing. γένηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise. The following gen., τοῦ πνεύματος (# 4460), is obj. gen.; i.e., the promise which has the Spirit for its object (Eadie). λάβωμεν aor. subj. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. ◆ 15 ὅμως (# 3940) even though, nevertheless; here, part of the following possible translation, "even though it is only a man's will, nevertheless." However, it may be used to introduce a comparison and have the translation "also," "likewise" (BD, 234). κεκυρωμένην perf. pass. part. κυρόω (# 3263) to validate, to ratify. The word was used in an inscription from Ephesus for a decree which was formally ratified (NDIEC, 4:171; s. other examples of officially ratified agreements: SIG, 2:81-86, inscription # 581:5, 85, 95; 3:341, inscription # 1185:10). διαθήκη (# 1347) agreement, treaty, covenant. However, it may mean "will," "testament" (Guthrie; APC; TDNT). For a discussion of the legal background and the problems involved s. Longenecker. ἀθετεῖ pres. ind. act. ἀθετέω (# 119) to annul (s. 2:21). ἐπιδιατάσσεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπιδιατάσσομαι (# 2112) to add on to. The prep. in compound indicates "to make additional prescriptions," "to add a codicil to a testament" (Burton; Betz). Gnomic pres. here, indicating that which is always true. ◆ 16 ἐρρέθησαν aor. ind. pass. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Aor. points to a specific act. ◆ 17 τοῦτο δέ now this I say. Paul comes to his real purpose and proceeds to apply the figure of v. 15, arguing from the lesser to the greater; i.e., if this is true among human beings and their agreements it is even more true in respect to God and His promises (Ridderbos). προκεκυρωμένην perf. pass. part. προκυρόω (# 4623) to ratify beforehand, to confirm previously. Perf. points to the lasting authority of the legal ratification. ἔτη (# 2291) year. γεγονώς perf. act. part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἀκυροῖ pres. ind. act. ἀκυρόω (# 218) to make invalid, to annul either by rescinding or overriding (Burton; MM; BS, 228). καταργῆσαι aor. act. inf. καταργέω (# 2934) to render inoperative, to make of no effect. Galatians 5

◆ 1 ἐλευθερίᾳ (# 1800) freedom. For the meaning of this word s. NIDNTT; TDNT; RAC, 8:269-306; DPL, 313-16. The dat. could be instr. (Bruce) or it may be a dat. of purp. or designation (Ridderbos). ἠλευθέρωσεν aor. ind. act. ἐλευθερόω (# 1802) to free, to free from slavery. A slave was free under Gr. law, for he had freedom from seizure of property, freedom to act as his own legal person, freedom to earn his own living as he might choose, and freedom to dwell where he wished (FCS, 115). For a discussion of the ways in which a slave could be freed s. FSC, 88-120. στήκετε pres. imp. act. στήκω (# 5112) to stand fast. Pres. indicates a continual and habitual action. ζυγός (# 2433) yoke (SCS, 31-32; ABD, 6:1026-27). δουλείας (# 1525) slavery, bondage. ἐνέχεσθε pres. imp. mid. ἐνέχω (# 1923) to be had in, to be ensnared. Pres. calls for the stopping of as action in progress: "cease to be entangled" (Burton). Mid. voice could be permissive, "stop allowing yourselves to be entangled." ◆ 2 ἴδε aor. act. imp. ὁράω (# 2623) to see; imp. used to draw attention: "look!" "see!" ἐγὼ Παῦλος I Paul; very emphatic, emphasizing Paul's authority (Schlier). περιτέμνησθε pres. subj. mid. περιτέμνω (# 4362) to circumcise (DPL, 137-38). Here the mid. is permissive: to allow oneself to be circumcised. ὠφελήσει fut. ind. act. ὀφελέω (# 6067) to be of value, to profit, to be an advantage, followed by the acc. of respect: "Christ will be an advantage to you in respect to nothing." ◆ 3 περιτεμνομένῳ pres. mid. part. περιτέμνω (# 4362) s.v. 2. permissive mid. Pres. part. used to emphasize a present trait. ὀφειλέτης (# 4050) one who is morally obligated to fulfil a debt, debtor (s. Rom. 1:14). ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. (dep.) ἀπεκδέχομαι (# 587) to wait expectantly, earnestly but patiently, for someone or something. The first prep. in compound intensifies the vb. and the second one indicates, "to be receiving from a distance," "to be intently awaiting" (Burton; MM). ◆ 6 ἰσχύει pres. ind. act. ἰσχύω (# 2710) to be strong, to have power. When used of things it means "to be serviceable" (Guthrie). ἀκροβυστία (# 213) foreskin, not circumcised. ἐνεργουμένη pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to be active; mid., to demonstrate activity, to work, to work effectually. ◆ 7 ἐτρέχετε impf. ind. act. τρέχω (# 5556) to run, to run a race (s. 2:2). καλῶς (# 2822) well. ἐνέκοψεν aor. ind. act. ἐγκόπτω (# 1601) to cut in, to hinder. The word suggests a breaking into or obstruction of the Galatian Christians in their course of following the truth. The picture is that of the runner who has allowed his progress to be blocked or who is still running, but on the wrong course (PAM, 146f). πείθεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. πειθω (# 4275) to obey. The prep. is used to express results. ◆ 8 πεισμονή (# 4282) persuasion. The word can have an active or pass. sense (Mussner). καλοῦντος pres. act. part. καλέω (# 2813) to call. The one who does the calling is obviously God (Bruce). Part. emphasizes the trait of God who calls. ◆ 9 ζύμη (# 2434) yeast, leaven (s. Matt. 13:33). φύραμα (# 5878) that which is mixed, a lump or batch of dough (BAGD). ζυμοῖ pres. ind. act. ζυμόω (# 2435) to leaven, to ferment (s. 1 Cor. 5:6f). Gnomic pres. expresses the continuing truth of a proverb or saying. ◆ 10 πέποιθα perf. ind. act. πείθω (# 4275) to be persuaded, to have confidence. For the instructions employed by Paul after this vb. s. Burton. φρονήσετε fut. ind. act. φρονέω (# 5858) to think, to hold an opinion, to set one's mind on something, to have an attitude or thought. ταράσσων pres. act. part. ταράσσω (# 5429) to shake back and forth, to disturb, to trouble. βαστάσει fut. ind. act. βαστάζω (# 1002) to carry, to bear. Paul thinks of the heavy weight which will press down upon those seeking to impose a load of Judaism on these Christians (Guthrie). κρίμα (# 3210) judgment. ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 11 διώκομαι pres. ind. pass. διώκω (# 1503) to hunt, to hunt down, to persecute. ἄρα (# 726) then; "so it appears!" The word introduces a false statement or inference which is here used ironically (Lightfoot). κατήργηται perf. ind. pass. κατεργέομαι s.v. 4. σκάνδαλον (# 4998) The arm or stick on which bait was fixed in a trap, that which trips one up, offense, cause of stumbling (NTW, 111-14; DPL, 918-19; TDNT). σταυρός (# 5089) cross. The gen. here can be either gen. of explanation ("cause of offense which the cross causes") or causal ("the offence which the cross causes") (Mussner). ◆ 12 ὄφελον (# 4054) I would, oh, that, would that; a fixed form functioning as a particle to introduce unobtainable wishes (BAGD, 181f). Here it is used w. the fut. ind. for an obtainable wish, even though strictly speaking fulfillment is inconceivable and this impossibility is forgotten only for the moment (BD, 181, 194). ἀποκόψονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀποκόπτω (# 644) to cut off; here, to castrate. Paul expresses the wish that his opponents would not stop w. circumcision but would go on to emasculation (Burton; Betz; BCC). Perhaps there is also a reference to the practices of the ancient cult of Cybele (TDNT; BAGD; De Dea Syria–The Syrian Goddess, ed. Harold W. Attridge and Robert A. Oden [Missoula, Mont.: Scholars Press, 1976], 51; Strabo 13:4:14; NW, 2, ii:568-70). ἀναστατοῦντες pres. act. part. ἀναστατέω (# 415) to upset, to trouble, to disturb. It was used in the papyri in the sense of upsetting or disturbing one's mind (RWP; MM). ◆ 13 ἐκλήθητε aor. ind. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call. Theol. pass. indicating that God did the calling. ἐλευθερία (# 1800) freedom. Here, object of a vb. to be Here, gen. ("of the Spirit") indicates the source or cause of the fruit. For a study of the words used here s. FS, 63-127; DPL, 316-19. ἀγάπη (# 27) love. The word includes both love for God and love for fellowman. It is a love which holds its object in high esteem and admiration and expresses itself in a concrete fashion. It is expressed to the lovely and unlovely and seeks the best for its object (TDNT; TLNT). χαρά (# 5915) joy. In the Hellenistic world joy was related to happiness or pleasure, such as returning to one's homeland, but this joy is grounded in conscious relationship to God (TLNT; TDNT; EDNT; RAC, 8:348-418; TRE, 11:584-86; Longenecker; Burton). εἰρήνη (# 1645) peace. Perhaps the word here combines the Greek and Heb. (שָׁלוֹם shalom [DCH; TDOT; NIDOTTE]) ideas giving the meaning of a wholeness of soul which issues in a tranquil disposition regardless of outward circumstances (TLNT; TDNT; EDNT; Longenecker; FS, 83-90). μακροθυμία (# 3429) longsuffering, patient endurance under injuries inflicted by others. It describes the response of Christians towards circumstances and events, as well as God's patience endurance of the rebellion and sin of mankind (FS, 91-97; Lightfoot; NIDNTT; TDNT; s. Rom. 2:4). χρηστότης (# 5983) kindness, gentleness. It refers to a kindly disposition toward one's neighbors, showing goodness and concern towards others, sympathetic kindness (FS, 97-102; TLNT; Lightfoot). ἀγαθωσύνη (# 20) goodness. It refers to active goodness as an energetic principle; it is the generosity which springs from the heart that is kind and will always take care to obtain for others that which is useful or beneficial (Lightfoot; Trench, Synonyms, 231f; FS, 102-7; TLNT; TDNT; NIDNTT). πίστις (# 4411) faith, faithfulness, reliability, loyalty (FS, 107-111). ◆ 23 πραΰτης (# 4559) meekness, gentle submissiveness, controlled strength, the ability to bear reproaches and slights without bitterness and resentment; the ability to provide a soothing influence on someone who is in a state of anger, bitterness and resentment against life (FS, 111-21; Burton; EDNT; TDNT; TLNT; 2 Cor. 10:1). ἐγκράτεια (# 1602) self-control, the holding in of passions and appetites, self-restraint (FS, 212-27; Eadie; Burton; RAC, 5:343-65; EDNT). ◆ 24 ἐσταύρωσαν aor. ind. act. σταυρόω (# 5090) to crucify. Aor. points to a completed action in the past and most naturally refers to conversion (Guthrie). πάθημα (# 4077) passion, affections (Trench, Synonyms, 323). ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) desire, longing directed to a certain object (DNP, 2:542-44; TDNT). ◆ 25 ζῶμεν pres. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Ind. in a cond. cl. which views the cond. as real. στοιχῶμεν pres. subj. act. στοιχέω (# 5123) to stand in a row, to walk in a straight line, to behave properly. The word was used for movement in a definite line, as in military formation or dancing (Ridderbos). Here it means to walk in a straight line, to conduct oneself rightly (Burton). Pres. points to the continual and habitual action. Cohortatory subj., "let us walk." ◆ 26 γινώμεθα pres. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become; hortatory subj. used w. the neg. κενόδοξος (# 3030) empty glorying, vain glory, vain-minded. Pres. indicates the continual bearing. ◆ 18 ἀμήν (# 297) so let it be. A Hebraic word used to emphasize and confirm a statement. Paul means to add weight to his conclusion (Guthrie).

Ephesians

◆ 1 Παῦλος Paul. Nom. in the address of a letter (s. Rom. 1:1). For a defense of the Pauline authorship s. A. van Roon, The Authenticity of Ephesians (Leiden: E.J. Brill, 1974; Barth; DPL, 240-42). οὖσιν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἁγιος (# 41) saint; Dat. here indicates to whom this letter was written ("to the saints who are..."). The term "saints" means those who are cleansed by the blood of Christ and the renewal of the Holy Ghost, and thus separated from the world and consecrated to God (Hodge; TDNT; EDNT). ἐν Ἐφέσῳ (# 1877; 2387) in Ephesus. Although some manuscripts do not have this reading, because of the many personal references, such as the ref. to Paul himself, to the readers with "you" pl., to Paul's prayer request (6:19-20), and to Tychicus (6:21), there is little or no reason to consider the letter to be a circular letter sent to various cities (TC, 601; DPL, 243-45). καί (# 2779) and; epex., the "saints who are believers." ◆ 2 χάρις (# 5921) grace, the undeserved and unmerited favor of God (TDNT; NIDNTT; EDNT; CPP). εἰρήνη (# 1645) peace. Probably to be understood in terms of the Heb. shalom (שָׁלוֹם) indicating spiritual prosperity (Barth; Lincoln; TDNT; NIDNTT; NIDOTTE, 4:130-35). ◆ 3 εὐλογητός (# 2329) blessed. Verbal adjs. w. this ending indicate one who is worthy, i.e., "worthy of blessing" (Abbott; s. 2 Cor. 1:3). In the NT it is only used of God. εὐλογήσας aor. act. part. εὐλογέω (# 2328) to bless, to endow one w. the ability to succeed (TDOT, s.v. בָּרַךְ, 280-308; DCH; TDNT; NIDOTTE, 1:757-67). Aor. expresses antecedent action to the main vb. εὐλογίᾳ (# 2330) dat. blessing; instr. dat., "with every blessing." ἐπουράνιος (# 2230) heavenly; here, "in the heavenlies." The term is to be understood in a local sense, indicating the sphere of the blessings which are related to the Spirit as well as the location of the exalted Christ. The term refers to heaven as seen in relation to the new age brought about in Christ. For this reason it is so closely linked w. the Spirit of that age (A.T. Lincoln, "A Reexamination of 'The Heavenlies' in Ephesians," NTS 19 [1973]: 468-83, 471; Barth; W. Hall Harris III, "'The Heavenlies' Reconsidered: Οὐρανός and Ἐπουράνιος in Ephesians," Bib Sac 148 [1991]: 72-89; DPL, 382). ἐν Χριστῷ (# 5986) in Christ (DPL, 433-36; Lincoln; Gnilka, 66-69). ◆ 4 καθώς (# 2777) just as, because. Here the word combines the comp. and causal idea (Schlier; BD, 236). ἐξελέξατο (# 1721) aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐκλέγω to choose out, to select. The word involves three ideas; the stem of the word indicates "the telling over"; prep. in compound indicates the rejection of some and acceptance of others; and the mid. voice indicates the talking to (for) himself (Lightfoot, Notes; GGBB, 421). ἐν αὐτῷ in him; dat. of sphere. καταβολή (# 2856) throwing down, foundation. For the various usages of the word s. Barth; TDNT. "Before the foundation of the world" means from all eternity (Abbott). εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Inf. to express purp. ἄμωμος (# 320) without blame, unblemished; used of the absence of defects in sacrificial animals (BAGD; GELTS, 25). κατενώπιον (# 2979) in the presence of, prep. used w. a gen. (RG, 644). ἐν ἀγάπῃ (# 27) in love (TLNT; TDNT). The phrase is best understood as being joined w. the part. in v. 5 (Eadie); Alford understood it w. the preceding inf. ◆ 5 προορίσας aor. act. part. προορίζω (# 4633) to mark out w. a boundary beforehand, to foreordain, to predestinate (TDNT; L.C. Allen, "The Old Testament Background of (προ) ορίζω in the New Testament," NTS 17 [1970]: 104-8). Causal part. giving the reason for the election (Abbott). υἱοθεσία (# 5625) adoption (Lincoln; Rom. 8:15; ABD, 1: 76-79; DPL, 15-18). The emphasis is on being an adult son in the family (John Crook, "Patria Potestas," The Classical Quarterly 17 [1967]: 113-22; Francis Lyall, "Roman Law in the Writings of Paul–Adoption," JBL 88 [1969]: 458-66; OCD, 8-9; DNP, 1:122-24). εὐδοκία (# 2306) good pleasure, satisfaction (Schnackenburg). The election and predestination is God's absolute act of free love grounded totally in Himself; nothing apart from Him gave His will its direction (Gaugler). ◆ 6 ἔπαινος (# 2047) praise. δόξης gen. δόξα (# 1518) glory, honor, reputation (TLNT; TDNT; GELTS, 119). Obj. gen., the praise of God's excellence, nature, and activity (TLNT). χάριτος gen. sing. χάρις (# 5921) grace (s.v. 2; CPP, 134-35). Gen. could be gen. of source ("glory arising fr. His grace" [Gnilka]), or a type of obj. gen. ("glory or praise") which has His grace as the obj. (BD, 93). ἧς gen. ὅς (# 4005) who, which, rel. pron. Gen. by attraction to its antecedent (TC, 601). ἐχαρίτωσεν aor. ind. act. χαρίζω (# 5923) to bestow grace, to give grace. The word means "begracing w. grace" and indicates exclusive and abundant demonstration of grace (Barth; TDNT; EDNT; Robinson; s. Luke 1:28). ἠγαπημένῳ perf. pass. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TDNT; TLNT). Pass. part. indicates the one who is in the state or condition of being loved, "the beloved." ◆ 7 ἀπολύτρωσις (# 667) purchasing w. a price, redemption (s. Rom. 3:24; Abbott; Lightfoot, Notes; Lincoln; DPL, 784-86). ἄφεσις (# 912) releasing, forgiveness. παράπτωμα (# 4183) falling aside, transgression. The word signifies the actual and numerous results and manifestations of our sinful nature (Eadie). κατὰ τὸ πλοῦτος τῆς χάριτος according to the wealth of His grace. The term πλοῦτος (# 4458) indicates an abundance of possessions exceeding the norm of a particular society (LN, 1:561). The gen. χάριτος (# 5921) indicates the content of the wealth. ◆ 8 ἧς (# 4005) s.v. 6. Gen. by attraction rather than acc; thus it is the obj. to the following vb. ἐπερίσσευσεν aor. ind. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to cause to overflow, to cause to abound. φρόνησις (# 5860) understanding. It refers to the display of wisdom in operation (Simpson). It is the ability to discern modes of action w. a view to their results (Lightfoot, Notes). ◆ 9 γνωρίσας aor. act. part. (circum.) γνωρίζω (# 1192) to make known. Aor. describes contemporaneous action (GGBB, 625; VA, 382-85). προέθετο aor. mid. (dep.) ind. προτίθημι (# 4729) to place before. Prep. in compound can be local, i.e., "to set before oneself," "to purpose" (Abbott). ◆ 10 οἰκονομία (# 3873) household management, administration (TDNT; BAGD; TLNT). πλήρωμα (# 4445) fullness. Here, descriptive gen. ἀνακεφαλαιώσασθαι aor. pass. inf. ἀνακεφαλαιόω (# 368) to gather again under one head, to sum up, to gather up into one. For this word s. Barth; Robinson; Abbott; Lincoln. Prep. in compound refers to the prior dispersion of the elements and the noun of the vb. describes the ultimate aggregation into one; thus the whole compound involves the idea of unity brought out of diversity (Lightfoot; Notes). Epex. inf. to explain the preceding. Aor. points to a specific act. ◆ 11 ἐκληρώθημεν aor. ind. pass. κληρόω (# 3103) to appoint by lot; pass., to be appointed by lot, to be destined, to be chosen. The emphasis may either be on the concept of inheritance or more likely the concept of appointment (BAGD; MM; CCFJ, 2:506). προορισθέντες aor. pass. part. (adj.) s.v. 5. πρόθεσις (# 4606) purpose. ἐνεργοῦντος pres. act. part. ἐνεργεω (# 1919) to be effective, to be energetic, to work, to accomplish (Robinson). βουλήν (# 1087) counsel, will. It expresses counsel w. reference to action (Westcott). The word solemnly represents the almighty will as displayed in action (Ellicott). θέλημα (# 2525) will. It denotes the will in general (Westcott). ◆ 12 εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Articular inf. w. εἰς (# 1650) to express purp. προηλπικότας perf. act. part. προελπίζω (# 4598) to hope before, to hope beforehand. The prep. in compound is temp. but its significance is not clear. It could indicate the hope before the event (EGT) or the hope of the Jewish Christians prior to the conversion of the heathen (Abbott; Barth); or it could refer to the hope or belief before Christ actually came (Westcott). Perf. indicates that the hope continues. Part. is in apposition to the subject of the inf., "we." ◆ 13 ἀκούσαντες aor. act. part. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. πιστεύσαντες aor. act. part. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Temp. parts. expressing contemporaneous action to the main vb.: "when you believed," "at the time you believed" (Simpson; RG, 860-61; MT, 61, 65; GGBB, 625; VA, 383-85). ἐσφραγίσθητε aor. ind. pass. σφραγίζω (# 5381) to seal. Seals indicated not only ownership, but also were used as a guarantee of the correctness of the contents. Jars, sacks of fruit, or grain were sealed (BS; 238-39; NDIEC, 2:191; BBC). ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise. Obj. gen. here, indicating what was sealed. ◆ 14 ἀρραβών (# 775) down payment, pledge. It indicates a deposit which in itself is a guarantee that the full amount will be paid. The down payment is of the same kind as the full payment (s. 2 Cor. 1:22; Abbott; DPL, 263; Lightfoot, Notes). κληρονομία (# 3100) inheritance. ἀπολύτρωσις (# 667) redemption (s.v. 7). περιποίησις (# 4348) possessing, possession, that which is one's own (NIDNTT). ◆ 15 ἀκούσας aor. act. part. (temp.) ἀκούω s.v. 13. Aor. indicates antecedent action which is logically necessary before the action of the main vb., "after I heard." ἀγάπη (# 27) love (TLNT; TDNT). ◆ 16 παύομαι pres. ind. mid. (παύω) (# 4264) to cease. εὐχαριστῶν pres. act. part. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks. Compl. part. to complete the main vb. μνεία (# 3644) remembrance. ποιούμενος pres. mid. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to make. Used (often in mid.) w. the previous noun as a periphrasis for a verb, w. the sense "to make mention of," esp. in the sense of mentioning someone in prayer (BAGD). ◆ 17 ἵνα (# 2671) that; introduces the content of the prayer. δώῃ aor. opt. act. δίδωμι (# 3972) to give. The volitive opt. is used to express a wish or desire in prayer (RG, 939f). Perhaps an attributed gen., "spiritual revelation" (GGBB, 90-91). For the view that the form is subj. rather that opt. s. BD, 187. ἀποκαλύψεως (# 637) unveiling, revelation. ἐπίγνωσις (# 2106) recognition, knowledge. The word means knowledge directed toward a particular object: perceiving, discerning, recognizing. Gen. following the word denotes the object of the knowledge (Robinson, 254). ◆ 18 πεφωτισμένους perf. pass. part. φωτίζω (# 5894) to enlighten, to illuminate, to give light. The word was used in pagan initiation rites and also in the LXX for God's instruction (APM, 19; GELTS, 511). It refers to the ministry of the Holy Spirit who continually illuminates spiritual truth (1QS 2; Gnilka). Perf. points to the continuous process (Barth). The grammatical structure of the part. could be an anacoluthon, a third predicate of the main vb., or an acc. abs. (RWP). εἰδέναι perf. act. inf. οἶδα (# 3857) to know (ND, 344ff). Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. Inf. w. εἰς (# 1650) to express purp. κλήσεως (# 3104) calling.

◆ 19 ὑπερβάλλον pres. act. part. (adj.) ὑπερβάλλω (# 5650) to throw beyond, to exceed, to surpass. μέγεθος (# 3490) greatness. δυνάμεως (# 1539) power, ability. Here, gen. of description. πιστεύοντας pres. act. part. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Subst. part. in apposition to the preceding word–"those who believe." ἐνέργεια (# 1918) working of ability (Schlier; Robinson; TDNT). κράτος (# 3197) might, power. The word refers to strength regarded as abundantly effective in relation to an end to be gained or dominion to be exercised; to power, to overcome what stands in the way (Westcott; Lincoln; TDNT). Here, descriptive gen. or attributed gen. "surpassing greatness of his power" (GGBB, 90). ἰσχύς (# 2709) strength, strength which one has, in possession, ability; or latent power (Eadie; Schlier). ◆ 20 ἐνήργησεν aor. ind. act. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to be at work, to work effectually. ἐγείρας aor. act. part. ἐγείρω (# 1586) to raise. καθίσας aor. act. part. (temp.) καθίζω (# 2767) to cause to sit, to seat. Aor. gives a logically antecedent action. δεξιᾷ (# 1288) right, right hand. Christ seated at the right hand is His place of honor and authority (David M. Hay, Glory at the Right Hand: Psalm 110 in Early Christianity [Nashville; Abingdon, 1973]; APM, 9-22; for a critical approach to this theme s. W.R.G. Loader, "Christ at the Right Hand - Ps. CX.1 in the New Testament," NTS 24 [1978]: 199-217). ἐπουράνιος (# 2230) heaven, heavenly place (s.v. 3). ◆ 21 ὑπεράνω (# 5645) high above, far above. ἀρχή (# 794) rule, ruler. κυριότης (# 3262) lordship, dominion. In Jewish writings these terms were used to designate angelic powers and their ranks (SB, 3:581; Abbott; Barth). Ephesus was well known for its occult practice of magic (s. Acts 19:19; C.E. Arnold, Ephesians, Power and Magic: The Concept of Power in Ephesians in the Light of its Historical Setting [Cambridge: University Press, 1989]; Peter Lampe, "Acta 19 im Spiegel der ephesischen Inschriften," BZ 36 [1992]: 69-70]. ὀνομαζομένου pres. pass. part. ὀνομάζω (# 3951) to name. μέλλοντι pres. act. part. dat. sing. masc. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to, coming. ◆ 22 ὑπέταξεν aor. ind. act. ὑποτάσσω (# 5718) to subject. πόδας acc. πούς (# 4546) feet. This is a sign of total subjection. ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 3972) to give. The vb. is followed by the indirect object "he gave Him as head over all things to the church." Rather than speaking only of Christ as being the Head of the church, Paul refers to the cosmic rule of Christ and implies that Christ is the sovereign head of all things (George Howard, "The Head-Body Metaphors of Ephesians," NTS 20 [1974]: 353f; DPL, 77-82, 377-78). ◆ 23 πληρουμένου pres. mid./pass. part. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill. Part. could be pass. (Robinson), or it could also be mid.: "the one who fills for himself" (George Howard, "The Head-Body Metaphors of Ephesians," NTS 20 [1974]: 351; Abbott).

◆ 1 ὄντας pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Circum. or concessive part., "although." παράπτωμα (# 4183) transgression (s. 1:7). Here, dat. could be causal or sphere: "dead because of transgressions" or "dead in transgressions" (s. Eph. 1:7). ◆ 2 αἷς dat. fem. pl. ὅς (# 4005) who, which. Strictly speaking the antecedent of the rel. pron. is ἁμαρτίαις (# 281), but logically αἷς refers to both sins and transgressions. ποτε (# 4537) at that time, formerly. It refers to one's preconversion time. περιεπατήσατε aor. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to conduct one's life. Const. aor. views from a point the total past life in summary fashion. αἰών (# 172) age. To be taken as a synonym w. κόσμος (# 3180) to indicate both temp. and spatial aspects of fallen existence (Lincoln; s. Gal. 1:4). ἀέρος gen. ἀήρ (# 113) air, atmosphere, the realm in which the evil powers operate (Abbott; Barth; Hodge). Obj. gen., "power over the air." πνεύματος gen. πνεῦμα (# 4460) spirit. Gen. is best understood as being in apposition to the words τῆς ἐξουσίας τοῦ ἀέρος (Ellicott; for the worship of the occult in Ephesus s. Eph. 1:21), or it could be gen. of subordination: "the ruler over the spirit" (GGBB, 100, 103-4) ἀπείθεια (# 577) disobedience. The phrase "sons of disobedience" is a Hebraic expression indicating the chief characteristic is that of disobedience (BG, 16). ◆ 3 ἀνεστράφημεν aor. ind. pass. ἀναστρέφω (# 418) to conduct one's life. The word refers to the social action whereas the vb. περιεπατήσατε in v. 2 is used more of personal action (Westcott). ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) desires, strong lust (DNP, 2:542-44; EDNT). σαρκός gen. σάρξ (# 4922) flesh. Subjective gen. indicates the source of the desires. ποιοῦντες pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make. διάνοια (# 1379) understanding, intelligence, mind, disposition, thought (BAGD). ἤμεθα impf. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. φύσις (# 5882) nature. ὀργή (# 3973) wrath, anger (s. Rom. 1:18). Here, gen. of destination, "children destined for wrath" (GGBB, 101). ◆ 4 πλούσιος (# 4454) rich (s. Eph. 1:7). ὤν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639). Causal part., "because he is rich in mercy." ἐλέει dat. ἔλεος (# 1799) mercy, compassion, pity. The word indicates the emotion aroused by someone in need and the attempt to relieve the person and remove his trouble (NIDNTT; TDNT; Trench, Synonyms, 166f; TLNT). ἠγάπησεν aor. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TDNT; TLNT). ◆ 5 ὄντας pres. act. part. acc. masc. pl. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Temp. part. ("even when") (Lincoln). συνεζωοποίησεν aor. ind. act. συζωοποιέω (# 5188) to make alive together w. The word is a synonym for the vb. ἐγείρω but it can also have the meaning "to keep alive" or "to preserve life" (Barth). The words in compound w. σύν indicate the relationship between Christ and the believer, and the participation with Christ (Lincoln). σεσῳσμένοι perf. pass. part. σῴζω (# 5392) to rescue, to save. Perf. points to the completed action w. a continuing result, thus emphasizing the continual state or condition. ◆ 6 συνήγειρεν aor. ind. act. συνεγείρω (# 5283) to raise together w. Believers not only receive life, they experience a resurrection (Eadie). Aor. points to a specific event that has taken place. συνεκάθισεν aor. ind. act. συνκαθίζω (# 5154) to cause to sit down together w. another. ἐπουράνιος (# 2230) heavenly, heavenly places (s. 1:3). ◆ 7 ἐνδείξηται aor. subj. pass. ἐνδείκνυμι (# 1892) to demonstrate, to display, to put on display, to show, to prove (Schnackenburg). In the papyri it could have a quasi-legal sense of proving a petition or charge, or of proving that a charge was wrong (MM; Preisigke, 1:484). Josephus used the word to describe Herod Agrippa's display of generosity to those of other nations (Jos., Ant., 19:330; also CCFJ, 2:97-98). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. (MacArthur). ἐπερχομένοις pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐπέρχομαι (# 2088) to come upon, approaching. The times after the coming of the Lord are viewed as being already approaching (Meyer). ὑπερβάλλον pres. act. part. ὑπερβάλλω (# 5650) to throw beyond, to exceed, to surpass. Part. is used in the sense of surpassing, extraordinary, outstanding (BAGD). Adj. part., exceeding wealth. χρηστότης (# 5983) usefulness, goodness, kindness. The word involves the idea of the exercise of kindness toward another (Abbott; Trench, Synonyms, 232f; TDNT). ◆ 8 χάριτι dat. sing. χάρις (# 5921) grace. Instr. dat., "by grace." The definite article appears w. the word because it is the grace already mentioned (Abbott). σεσῳσμένοι perf. pass. part. s.v. 5. διὰ πίστεως (# 4411) through faith. The prep. indicates the channel through which salvation comes (Ellicott). Faith is not viewed as a positive work or accomplishment of the individual (Gaugler). θεοῦ (# 2536) of God. The gen. is emphasized by its position before the noun and stands in emphatic contrast w. the personal pron. ὑμῶν (Abbott). ◆ 9 ἔργων gen. pl. ἔργον (# 2240) work, deed. Gen. of source, "not out of their works." καυχήσηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) καυχάομαι (# 3016) to boast, to glory. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a neg. purp cl. ◆ 10 ποίημα (# 4473) that which is made, work. The word can also have the connotation of a "work of art," esp. a poetic product, including fiction. In the LXX it refers to God's creation work (Barth; Lincoln). κτισθέντες aor. pass. part. κτίζω (# 3231) to create. The word points to God's new creation in Christ. For this aspect of Paul's teaching against its Jewish background s. PRJ, 119ff. ἐπί (# 2093) w. the dat., for. The prep. indicates the goal or purp. It primarily designates movement ending in a definite spot (IBG, 50). ἔργοις ἀγαθοῖς (# 2240; 19) good works. W. the prep. the phrase indicates the goal (Schnackenburg). προητοίμασεν aor. ind. act. προετοιμάζω (# 4602) to prepare beforehand. Aor. points to a specific act that has taken place. The prep. refers to a period before the action described in the part. κτισθέντες, and describes the means by which the end is secured according to divine arrangement (Eadie). περιπατήσωμεν aor. subj. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl. ◆ 11 διό (# 1475) therefore. μνημονεύετε pres. act. imp. μνημονεύω (# 3648) to remember. The word calls for repentance, decision, and gratitude (Barth). ὅτι (# 4022) that, gives the content of what is to be remembered. ποτέ (# 4537) formerly. ἔθνη pl. ἔθνος (# 1620) nation; pl. Gentile, the non-Jewish world. ἐν σαρκί (# 1877; 4922) in the flesh. The words suggest the external and temporary nature of the distinction (Robinson). λεγόμενοι pres. pass. part. λέγω (# 3306) to call. ἀκροβυστία (# 213) foreskin, uncircumcision. περιτομή (# 4364) circumcision (TDNT; Barth; NIDNTT). χειροποίητος (# 5935) verbal adj. handmade. ◆ 12 ἦτε impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. καιρός (# 2789) time, season. Here, dat. of time. χωρίς (# 6006) without. ἀπηλλοτριωμένοι perf. pass. part. ἀπαλλοτριόω (# 558) to estrange, to alienate, to separate from (Lincoln). Perf. indicates the state or condition. πολιτεία (# 4486) citizenship, state, commonwealth. It indicates the government of Israel framed by God in which religion and polity were joined (Eadie). ξένος (# 3828) stranger followed by the gen of separation "strange to something" (BD, 98). διαθήκη (# 1347) covenant, treaty. ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise. ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἄθεος (# 117) without God, godless, atheist. The prefix negates the stem of the word (Moorhouse, 47ff). Thus they were separated from the Messianic covenants and redemption that was to come from God through the Jews. ◆ 13 νυνὶ δέ (# 3815; 1254) but now; introduces a contrast to their previous state. ὄντες pres. act. part. (subst.) εἰμί, s.v. 1. μακράν ... ἐγγύς (# 3426; 1584) adv. Far and near were used in rabbinical writings to indicate, among other things, non-Jew (far) and Jews (near), or those who were righteous and near God or those who were godless and far away (SB, 3:585-87). ἐγενήθητε aor. ind. pass. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. αἵμα (# 135) blood. Here, instr. dat., "through the blood." For a discussion of Eph. 2:13-17 in the light of Isa. 52:7 and 57:19 s. APM, 23-55. ◆ 14 αὐτός (# 899) He himself. The pronoun is used to strengthen the contrast. ἡ εἰρήνη (# 1645) peace. S. also DPL, 698-99. The article used w. the pred. noun presents the pres. as something well-known or which alone merits such designation; i.e., the only thing to be considered (BD, 143). ποιήσας aor. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to make. ἀμφότεροι (# 317) both; i.e., both Jews and Gentiles (Abbott). The n. is used if it is not the individual but a general quality that is to be emphasized (BD, 76). μεσότοιχον (# 3546) middle wall, dividing wall. For a discussion of the various views concerning the middle wall s. Barth; Lincoln; Schnackenburg; BBC. The context identifies the wall in four ways: it is the fact of separation between Israel and the nations; it has to do w. the law and its statutes and interpretations; it is experienced in the enmity between Jews and Gentiles; it also consists of the enmity of Jews and Gentiles alike against God (Barth). φραγμός (# 5850) fence, partition. It signified originally a fence or railing erected for protection rather than separation (Barth). λύσας aor. act. part. λύω (# 3395) to loose, to destroy, to break down. Temp. or causal part. or of means. Aor. points to the completed action. It also points to a logically antecedent action to the main vb. ἔχθρα (# 2397) enmity, hostility. σαρκί dat. sing. (# 4922) s.v. 3. It can refer either to His death on the cross or his life on earth. ◆ 15 νόμος (# 3795) law. Here it would refer to the Law of Moses. ἐντολῶν gen. pl. ἐντόλη (# 1953) commandment δόγμα (# 1504) decree. The law consisted of, was in decrees. καταργήσας aor. act. part. καταργέω (# 2934) to invalidate, to nullify, to annul, to make of no effect (Simpson). Temp. or causal part. κτίσῃ aor. subj. act. κτίζω (# 3231) to create. In rabbinic Judaism a heathen coming to know God is as though he had been newly created by whoever helped him to attain knowledge of God (APM, 42). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ποιῶν pres. act. part. (temp.) ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Part. of result (GGBB, 639). ◆ 16 ἀποκαταλλάξῃ aor. subj. act. ἀποκαταλάσσω (# 639) to change, to exchange, to turn from hostility to friendship, to reconcile. The double prep. in compound may be intensive (Abbott; Barth; V; Rom. 5:10), or there may be a hint at a restoration to a primal unity (Ellicott; s. Col. 1:20). σταύρος (# 5089) cross. The term reveals two things: Christ's death is shameful, not honorable, among men; it corresponds to death on the gallows. In addition, it is an execution which bore God's curse (Barth). ἀποκτείνας aor. act. part. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to put to death, to kill. Part. of means. Aor. expresses logically antecedent action to the main vb. ◆ 17 ἐλθών aor. act. part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Part. of means. Aor. indicates antecedent action. εὐηγγελίσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) εὐαγγελίζομαι (# 2294) to proclaim good news. ◆ 18 δι' αὐτοῦ through Him. ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. Pres. indicates continual possession. προσαγωγήν (# 4643) entrance, access. The word was used of a solemn, unhindered approach to a deity and of access to a king's presence (Simpson; Lincoln). ἀμφότεροι (# 317) s.v. 14. "We both," referring to those near and far. ◆ 19 ἄρα (# 726) therefore. The word marks the progress in the argument and has a connective sense implying a consequence. The double particles (ἄρα οὖν) in combination are intended to imply logical connection, the one simply reinforcing the other, w. both used to sum up the argument of the whole section (Thrall, 11; Eadie). οὐκέτι (# 4033) no longer. πάροικος (# 4230) one living alongside, alien. A resident alien was subject to only a part of the law of the land and enjoyed only corresponding legal protection according to the OT meaning (Barth; TDOT under גר ger; Lincoln). συμπολίτης (# 5232) fellow citizen. οἰκεῖος (# 3858) one's own household, family. When used of persons it means "of one's family," strictly of kinsmen, sometimes loosely of familiar friends (Robinson). It refers to all members regardless of social or personal position. ◆ 20 ἐποικοδομηθέντες aor. pass. part. (adj.) ἐποικοδομέω (# 2224) to build upon. For the relation of this v. to Zech. 8:16 s. APM, 88-89. ◆ 26 ὀργίζεσθε pres. imp. pass. (dep.) ὀργίζομαι (# 3974) to be angry. For a refutation of the classification of the imp. as cond. s. GGBB, 491-92. A quotation from Ps. 4:5 (LXX; s. APM, 89-90). ἁμαρτάνετε pres. imp. act. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. μή (# 3590) w. imp. forms a prohibition. ἐπιδυέτω pres. imp. act. ἐπιδύω (# 2115) to go down, to set. For the relation of this v. to Ps. 4:26b and Deut. 24:15 s. APM, 90-91. The day of anger should be the day of reconciliation (Barth). παροργισμός (# 4240) anger, angry mood; a violent irritation is meant, expressed by either hiding oneself from others or by flaming looks, harmful words, inconsiderate actions (Barth). ◆ 27 δίδοτε pres. imp. act. δίδωμι (# 3972) to give. τόπος (# 5536) place; here in the sense of place in your life or opportunity. διάβολος (# 1333) slanderer, devil (DDD, 463-73). Here, dat. indir. obj.–"an opportunity to" or "for the devil." ◆ 28 κλέπτων pres. act. part. κλεπτω (# 3096) to steal. Pres. part. indicates the continuous action, "the one stealing." Part. used as a noun, emphasizing this action as a character trait. μηκέτι (# 3600) no longer. κλεπτέτω pres. imp. act. (# 3096). Pres. imp. w. the neg. calls for the stopping of an action in progress. κοπιάτω pres. imp. act. κοπιάω (# 3159) to grow weary, to work w. effort, to labor (S). For the relation of this v. to Lev. 19:11 s. APM, 91-92. ἐργαζόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work. Pres. indicates a contemporaneous action. Temp. part. "while working." ἔχῃ pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used in a purp. cl. μεταδιδόναι pres. act. inf. μεταδίδωμι (# 3556) to give w., to share. Inf. to express purp. or result. χρεία (# 5970) need, necessity. ἔχοντι pres. act. part. dat. masc. sing. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Subst. use of the pres. part. to indicate the contemporary trait as a characteristic. For the concept of sharing among the members of the Dead Sea community s. CD, 14:12f. ◆ 29 σαπρός (# 4911) rank, foul, putrid, rotten, worthless, disgusting (Simpson; Abbott). ἐκπορευέσθω pres. mid. (dep.) imp. ἐκπορεύομαι (# 1744) to go out, to come out. οἰκοδομή (# 3869) building, edification. δῷ aor. subj. act. δίδωμι (# 3972) to give. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. χάρις (# 5921) grace. Used w. this vb. it means to confer a favor, to give pleasure or profit. The meaning is, "that it may benefit the hearers" (Hodge). ἀκούουσιν pres. act. part. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ◆ 30 λυπεῖτε pres. imp. act. λυπέω (# 3382) to cause sorrow, to grieve. Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) is used to forbid a continual and habitual action. The Spirit who makes men attest to the truth is put to shame when the saints lie to one another and utter foul talk (Barth). For the relation of this v. to Isa. 63:10 s. APM, 92-93. ἐσφραγίσθητε aor. ind. pass. σφραγίζω (# 5381) to seal (s. 1:13). ἀπολύτρωσις (# 667) release through the payment of a price, redemption (s. Rom. 3:24). ◆ 31 πικρία (# 4394) bitterness. It is a figurative term denoting that fretted and irritable state of mind that keeps a man in perpetual animosity; that inclines him to harsh and uncharitable opinions of men and things; that makes him sour, crabby, and repulsive in his general demeanor; that brings a scowl over his face and infuses the words of his tongue w. venom (Eadie). θυμός (# 2596) anger. It expresses the temporary excitement or passion (Abbott; Trench, Synonyms, 130f). ὀργή (# 3973) wrath. It refers to the more subtle and deep-flowing anger (Abbott; Trench, Synonyms, 130f; TDNT). κραυγή (# 3199) clamor, outcry, shouting. It is the cry of strife (Ellicott). βλασφημία (# 1060) slander, speaking evil of someone. It is a more enduring manifestation of inward anger that shows itself in reviling (TLNT). These two words are the outward manifestation of the foregoing vices (Ellicott). ἀρθήτω aor. imp. pass. αἴρω (# 149) to pick up and carry away, to take away, to make a clean sweep (RWP). κακίᾳ (# 2798) malice, badness. It is a generic term that seems to signify "badhardiness," the root of all those vices (Eadie). ◆ 32 γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. χρηστός (# 5982) useful, worthy, good, kind, benevolent (BAGD; TDNT; NIDNTT; Gal. 5:22). εὔσπλαγχνος (# 2359) tenderhearted, compassionate. In the lit. and physical sense, "having healthy bowels." The inward organs were considered the seat of emotion and intention (Barth; TDNT; s. 1 Peter 3:8). χαριζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. χαρίζομαι (# 5919) to forgive, to exercise grace in freely forgiving (TDNT; EDNT). καθώς (# 2777) just as. ἐχαρίσατο aor. imp. mid. (dep.) χαρίζομαι to show grace by providing undeserved help to someone unworthy (TDNT; EDNT).

◆ 1 γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Pres. imp. suggests way of life. μιμηταί pl. μιμητής (# 3629) imitator. The following gen. describes whom to imitate. ἀγαπητά pl. ἀγαπητός (# 28) beloved. ◆ 2 περιπατεῖτε pres. imp. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to conduct one's life. Pres. imp. calls for habitual action. ἐν in. καθώς (# 2777) just as. ἠγάπησεν aor. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TLNT; TDNT; s. John 3:16). παρέδωκεν aor. ind. act. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to deliver over. Vb. expresses wherein his love was shown (Abbott; TLNT). ἑαυτοῦ (# 1571) himself, a reflexive pronoun with the object and the subject being the same. προσφορά (# 4714) offering. The word generally denotes offerings which consist of products from the field and trees (Barth). θυσία (# 2602) sacrifice. The word describes the offering of animals from the flock or stable which were killed at the holy place and portions of which were burned upon the altar (Barth) ὀσμή (# 4011) smell. εὐωδία (# 2380) sweet odor, fragrance. The phrase "odor of fragrance" is a fig. designation for the acceptableness of the offering (Meyer). ◆ 3 πορνεία (# 4518) illicit sexual activity (TDNT). ἀκαθαρσία (# 174) uncleanness, impurity, filthiness (s. 4:19). πλεονεξία (# 4432) greediness (s. 4:19). μηδέ (# 3593) emphatic neg., not even. ὀνομαζέσθω pres. imp. pass. ὀνομάζω (# 3951) to name; pass., to be named. Here, "let it not even be mentioned by name" (Ellicott). πρέπει pres. ind. act. πρέπω (# 4560) to be fitting, to be proper. The standard of that which is fitting to their position as saints. ◆ 4 αἰσχρότης (# 157) shameful conduct (Abbott; Barth). μωρολογία (# 3703) foolish talk, silly talk. It is that talk of fools which is foolishness and sin together (Trench, Synonyms, 121), a mere laugh aimed at even without wit (Bengel). εὐτραπελία (# 2365) coarse jesting. It implies the dexterity of turning a discourse to wit or humor that ends in deceptive speech, so formed that the speaker easily contrives to wriggle out of its meaning or engagement (Eadie). After a banquet the guests would sit and talk making jokes; often there was a jester (scurra, coprea) who knew how to make plays on words (LLAR, 45-49; NW 2, i:627-30). Ephesus was especially known for producing facetious orators (Barth). ἀνῆκεν impf. ind. act. ἀνήκει (# 465) impersonal, it is proper, it is fitting. Impf. is used of necessity, obligation, duty and is used here in the sense of what is (really) not proper but still happens (BD, 181). μᾶλλον (# 3437) rather. εὐχαριστία (# 2374) thanksgiving. Gratitude is here singled out as the basic structural feature of the Christian's ethic (Barth). ◆ 5 ἴστε perf. ind. act./imp. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. The form is probably best understood as imp. and perhaps a Hebraism used w. the following part., w. the meaning, "know of a surety" (M, 245; MH, 222; ND, 352; Barth; Gnilka). γινώσκοντες pres. act. part. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. πόρνος (# 4521) one who practices sexual immorality, fornicator. ἀκάθαρτος (# 176) one who is unclean. πλεονέκτης (# 4431) one who is greedy (Rom. 1:29). ὅ ἐστιν that is to say. A formulaic phrase used without reference to the gender of the word explained or to that of the word which explains it (BD, 73). εἰδωλολάτρης (# 1629) one who serves an idol, idolater. κληρονομία (# 3100) inheritance. βασιλείᾳ (# 993) kingdom. The realm of Christ's and God's rule. ◆ 6 ἀπατάτω pres. imp. act. ἀπατάω (# 572) to lead astray, to mislead, to deceive. Imp. in a neg. command indicating the stopping of an action in progress, or the forbidding of a continual action. κενός (# 3031) empty, without content; empty words or words which have no inner substance or kernel of truth, hollow sophistries and apologies for sin (Trench, Synonyms, 180). Here, instr. dat. διὰ ταῦτα γάρ (# 1328; 4047; 1142) refers not only to this v. but also to the previous vss. ὀργή (# 3973) wrath. ἀπείθεια (# 577) disobedience; υἱοὺς τῆς ἀπειθείας "sons of disobedience" is a Semitic expression indicating the chief characteristic of the person as disobedience (BG, 15f). ◆ 7 γίνεσθε pres. ind./imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. συμμέτοχος (# 5212) fellow partaker, partner, one who shares together w. another. ◆ 8 ἦτε impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ποτε (# 4537) formerly. περιπατεῖτε pres. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk, to conduct one's life. ◆ 9 καρπός (# 2843) fruit; here, results. ἀγαθωσύνῃ (# 20) goodness (Gal. 5:22). ◆ 10 δοκιμάζοντες pres. act.

part. δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to approve after examination, to arrange and execute a test, to accept and heed the results of a test, to carry out a careful examination, to find out by experience (Barth; TLNT; TDNT). εὐάρεστος (# 2298) well-pleasing, acceptable, followed by the dat. of advantage. ◆ 11 συγκοινωνεῖτε pres. imp. act. συγκοινωνέω (# 5170) to join in fellowship w. someone, to have part in a thing (Abbott). Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) forbids a continual or habitual act (MKG, 272f). ἄκαρπος (# 182) unfruitful. ἐλέγχετε pres. imp. act. ἐλέγχω (# 1794) to bring to light, to expose, to reveal hidden things, to convince, to reprove, to correct, to punish, to discipline. For the various meanings, s. Barth; TDNT; Robinson. ◆ 12 κρυφῇ (# 3225) hidden, secret. γινόμενα pres. mid. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ◆ 13 ἐλεγχόμενα pres. pass. part. ἐλέγχω s.v. 11. φῶς (# 5890) light. φανεροῦται pres. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear, to make known; pass., to become visible or known, to be revealed (BAGD). ◆ 14 φανερούμενον pres. pass. part. φανερόω s.v. 13. διὸ λέγει s. 4:8. Paul evidently uses a free adaptation of Isa. 26:19 and 61:1 (RWP; Eadie; s. esp. APM, 97-116). ἔγειρε pres. imp. act. ἐγείρω (# 1586) to rise, to wake up. καθεύδων pres. act. part. καθεύδω (# 2761) to sleep, to be asleep. Subst. use of the part. ἀνάστα aor. imp. act. ἀνίστημαι (# 482) to stand up, to get up. ἐπιφαύσει fut. ind. act. ἐπιφαύσκω (# 2213) to shine upon. The means employed by the Messiah are compared to the rays of the rising sun. God's glory or light appearing over Israel exerted the life-giving power (Barth). ◆ 15 βλέπετε pres. ind. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to watch, to give heed. ἀκριβῶς (# 209) adv. answering the question how one should conduct one's life: accurately, carefully. περιπατεῖτε pres. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to conduct one's life. Pres. points to the continual action. ἄσοφος (# 831) unwise, foolish. The applying of acquired knowledge (TDNT). ◆ 16 ἐξαγοραζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐξαγοράζω (# 1973) to buy up at the market place. Either w. the meaning, "seizing the opportunity," "making your market to the full from the opportunity of this life" (Abbott); or w. the meaning, "buying back (at the expense of personal watchfulness and self-denial) the present time which is now being used for evil and godless purposes" (MM). καιρός (# 2789) time, referring to the brevity of life, or opportunity, referring to the diligent use of opportunities in life. πονηρός (# 4505) evil, active evil. ◆ 17 γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἄφρων (# 933) without understanding, senseless. The word refers to imprudence or folly in action (Abbott). συνίετε pres. imp. act. συνίημι (# 5317) to understand; the ability to bring things together and see them in relation to one another. The saints are encouraged to make use of their reasoning power (Barth). ◆ 18 καί (# 2779) not continuative but a transition from a general fact to a particular instance in daily life (Abbott; Alford). μεθύσκεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) (# 3499) μεθύσκομαι to get drunk, to be drunk. In Philo's treatise, entitled On Drunkenness, he characterizes drunkenness generally as a mark of the blind and foolish man who is a slave to the material world (NIDNTT). Others describe drunkenness as producing inability to preserve one's self-control and forcing one to commit many distasteful acts (DC, 37:55). The religious aspects of drunkenness were seen in the Bacchus festivals in the worship of Dionysus (Barth; KP, 2:77-85; OCD 352f; DGRA, 410-14; DRU, 1:96-105; Cleon Rogers, "The Dionysian Background of Ephesians 5:18," Bib Sac 146 [1979]: 249-57). The neg. w. the pres. imp. calls for discontinuation of an action in progress or prohibition of a habitual action. οἴνῳ dat. οἶνος (# 3885) wine. Instr. dat. ἀσωτία (# 861) excess. The word indicated one who himself cannot save or spare, thus one who extravagantly squanders his means. Then it chiefly denoted a dissolute, debauched, profligate manner of living (Trench, Synonyms, 54f; also Jos., JW, 4:651f; MM; TDNT). The excesses and flagrant, senseless activities connected w. the religious celebrations to Dionysus were well-known to the ancient world. The worshipers felt that they were united, indwelt, and controlled by Dionysus who gave them special powers and abilities (s. the references above; s. also H.J. Rose, Religion in Greece and Rome, [New-York: Harper and Brothers, 1959], 60f; Rogers, Bib Sac 136 [1979]: 249-57). πληροῦσθε pres. imp. pass. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill; pass., to be filled. The idea of the word is "control." The indwelling Spirit of God is the one who should continually control and dominate the life of the believer. This stands in marked contrast to the worshipers of Dionysus. The pres. calls for a habitual and continuing action. Pass. could be permissive pass.: "allow yourselves to be ..." (BD, 165). This is further supported by imp. ◆ 19 λαλοῦντες pres. act. part. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. The following four parts. indicate the outworking or practice of being filled w. the Spirit (Schlier; GGBB, 639, 650-51). ψαλμός (# 6011) song of praise, psalm. The vb. meant primarily the plucking of the strings, and the noun was used of sacred songs chanted to the accompaniment of instrumental music (Abbott; Eadie; Barth). ὕμνος (# 5631) hymn. It refers to sacred poetic compositions whose primary purpose is to praise (Eadie). ᾠδαῖς pl. ᾠδή (# 6046) song. This general word originally meant any kind of song but was specially used of lyric poetry (Abbott). ᾄδοντες pres. act. part. ᾄδω (# 106) to sing. ψάλλοντες pres. act. part. ψάλλω (# 6010) to sing (BAGD). ◆ 20 εὐχαριστοῦντες pres. act. part. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to be thankful, to give thanks. πάντοτε (# 4121) always. ◆ 21 ὑποτασσόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ὑποτάσσομαι (# 5718) to line oneself up under, to submit. Used in a military sense of soldiers submitting to their superior or slaves submitting to their masters. The word has primarily the idea of giving up one's own right or will; i.e., to subordinate oneself (RWP; TDNT; Barth). ἀλλήλοις dat. pl. ἀλλήλων (# 253) one another: "To one another." φόβος (# 5832) fear, reverence. ◆ 22 ἴδιος (# 2625) one's own. ◆ 23 κεφαλή (# 3051) head. The word speaks of authority and direction (Eadie). σωτήρ (# 5400) savior, protector. ◆ 24 ὑποτάσσεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) s.v. 21. Pres. points to the continual action or state. οὕτως (# 4048) so. ◆ 25 οἱ ἄνδρες (# 467) voc. you men. The Attic Gr. used the nom. w. the article only in addressing inferiors in a rather harsh manner. However the NT does not follow this practice and uses the nom. w. the article as the voc. sometimes under Semitic influence (BD, 81f; MT, 31f). ἀγαπᾶτε pres. imp. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). Pres. imp. calls for a continual habitual action. Love was not listed as a duty of the husband (BBC). καθώς (# 2777) just as. ἠγάπησεν aor. ind. act. (# 26). Aor. either points to the specific act of Christ giving Himself, or views His acts of love in summary fashion. παρέδωκεν aor. ind. act. s.v. 2. In a time when marriages were arranged and morals were loose, to fulfill the commands of subordination and love was not an easy task. For marriage and the home in the ancient world, including both Jewish and Gentile s. SB, 3:610-913; JPFC, 2:748-69; Barth, 655-62, 700-20; DPL, 393, 418-19, 587-89; BBC; W.K. Lacey, The Family in Classical Greek [London: Thames & Hudson, 1972]; Heinrich Greeven, "Ehe nach dem Neuen Testament," NTS 15 [1969]: 365-88. ◆ 26 ἁγιάσῃ aor. subj. act. ἁγιάζω (# 39) to sanctify, to make holy, to set apart (EDNT; TDNT). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. For the relation of this word to the marriage ceremony s. Barth. καθαρίσας aor. act. part. καθαρίζω (# 2751) to cleanse. Aor. portrays logically antecedent actions, even though they may be temporally contemporary. Part. may suggests the means of the sanctification. It may also be temp. giving the time of the sanctification. λουτρῷ dat. λουτρόν (# 3373) bath. Since a bridal bath was the practice both among Jews and Gentiles, Paul may be making allusions to this custom (SB, 1:506; DGRA, 737; NW, 2, i:638). Barth's objection that such an allusion would mean that the bridegroom would be said to have given the bride a bath is to press the allusion too far (Barth, 694). Loc. or instr. dat. ῥήμα (# 4839) word, spoken word. Perhaps the reference is to the gospel which is proclaimed. ◆ 27 παραστήσῃ aor. subj. act. παρίστημι (# 4225) to present. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἔνδοξος (# 1902) glorious, splendor (LN, 1:696). ἔχουσαν pres. act. part. acc. fem. sing. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. σπίλος (# 5070) spot, speck, fleck, stain. ῥυτίς (# 4869) wrinkle, fold on the face. The terms used here are taken from physical beauty, health, and symmetry, to denote spiritual perfection (Eadie). τοιοῦτος (# 5525) such a thing. ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἄμωμος (# 320) blameless. ◆ 28 ὀφείλουσιν pres. ind. act. ὀφειλέω (# 4053) to owe someone a debt, to be obligated, to ought to. The word indicates moral obligation (TDNT). Pres. indicates the continual existence of the obligation. ἀγαπᾶν pres. act. inf. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Compl. inf. used to complete the main vb. ἀγαπῶν pres. act. part. (# 26). Subst. part. used to describe a trait. It almost is used in a cond. sense ("if he loves"). Pres. may portray the contemporaneous action or the durative aspect: "the one who loves." ◆ 29 ἐμίσησεν aor. aor. ind. μισέω (# 3631) to hate. Gnomic aor. expressing something which is always true. ἐκτρέφει pres. ind. act. ἐκτρέφω (# 1763) to nourish, to nourish children to maturity (T). Prep. in compound is perfective. Pres. of a linear vb. denotes the whole process leading up to an attained goal (M, 114). θάλπει pres. ind. act. θάλπω (# 2499) to cherish, to show affection and tender love. καθώς (# 2777) according to, just as. The manner and the extent of the care is to be identical to that of Christ for the church. ◆ 30 μέλη nom pl. μέλος (# 3517) member. ◆ 31 ἀντὶ τούτου (# 505; 4047) because of this, for this reason. καταλείψει fut. ind. act. καταλείπω (# 2901) to leave behind. προσκολληθήσεται fut. ind. pass. προσκολλάω (# 4681) to be glued to, to be joined to. The previous word suggests the complete separation from all former ties and this word gives the forming of a new relation. ἔσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. For the relation of this v. to Gen 2:24 s. APM, 117-52. ◆ 32 μυστήριον (# 3696) mystery. The word refers to that which is incapable of being discovered by human nature but is revealed by God. Here it has to do w. the mystical union of Christ and His church (s. 3:3). ◆ 33 πλήν (# 4440) in any case, however. The word is used for breaking off discussion and emphasizing what is important (BAGD). ἀγαπάτω pres. imp. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. φοβῆται pres. subj. mid. (dep.) φοβέομαι (# 5828) to reverence, to show respect. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express an imperatival notion.

It refers to the large door-shaped shield, in contrast to the small round convex shield. The reference is to the Roman soldier's scutum which had an iron frame and sometimes a metal boss in the center at the front. Often the several layers of leather were soaked in water before the battle in order to put out the incendiary missiles of the enemy (Barth; TJ, 110). δυνήσεσθε fut. ind. mid. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. a following inf. βέλη acc. pl. βέλος (# 1018) dart, arrow. The term could be used of any type of missile (Barth). πεπυρωμένα perf. pass. part. πυρόω (# 4792) to set on fire. Perf. pass. part. indicates that the arrows were set on fire and are burning. These were arrows or spears tipped w. fabric and dipped in pitch (Barth; s. also Jos., JW, 3:173). σβέσαι aor. act. inf. σβέννυμι (# 4931) to put out, to quench. Compl. inf. ◆ 17 περικεφαλαία (# 4330) a protection around the head, helmet. The Roman soldier wore a bronze helmet equipped w. cheek pieces. The helmet was a heavy, decorative, and expensive item w. an inside lining of felt or sponge which made the weight bearable. Nothing short of an axe or hammer could pierce the heavy helmet (Barth; TDNT; TJ, 107). σωτηρίον (# 5402) salvation; here, gen. of apposition. δέξασθε aor. imp. mid. (dep.) δέχομαι (# 1312) to take, to receive. μάχαιρα (# 3479) sword. The word does not point merely to time, but to character (Abbott).

Philippians

◆ 1 For the letter form s. Rom. 1:1. δοῦλοι Χριστοῦ Ἰησοῦ (# 1528; 5986; 2652) slaves of Christ Jesus. The term may be used in the Hellenistic context of a slave who serves his master, or in the OT sense of being the servant of the Lord (Hawthorne; Silva). οὖσιν pres. act. part. (adj.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Φίλιπποι (# 5804) Philippi. The city, founded by Philip of Macedonia and the scene of the battle between Crasus and Brutus against Octavian and Anthony, was located on the Via Egnatia, the famous road between Rome and the East. It had become a Roman colony w. libertas (self-governing), immunitas (freedom from tribute and taxes), Ius Italicum (under the laws of Italy) and was the home of many retired Roman soldiers (s. Acts 16:12; NW, 2, i:653-54; PIG, 32-47; P, 1-113; PSCZP; Hawthorne; s.v. Phil. 1:27). σύν (# 5250) with, w. dat. The prep. implies close fellowship or cooperation (DM, 111). ἐπίσκοποις (# 2176) overseer, superintendent, bishop. The word was used for one who had the responsibility of oversight. It is important to note that Paul here uses the pl. and that elsewhere the term is used interchangeably w. "elder" (NIDNTT; TDNT; Lightfoot, 95-99; Gnilka; ZPEB, 1:617-20; Vincent; 1 Tim. 3:1, 8). For the view that these were local terms used in Philippi for the leaders of the "religious guilds" s. P, 140-47. ◆ 3 εὐχαριστῶ pres. ind. act. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks. Iterative pres. μνείᾳ (# 3644) remembrance, mention. Used w. the prep. to express the thought, "as often as I make mention of you (in prayer)" (BAGD; Silva). The prep. ἐπί may have a causal meaning, "I thank my God because of your every remembrance of me" (Hawthorne). ◆ 4 πάντοτε (# 4121) every time, always. δέησις (# 1255) request, petition; generally a specific petition arising from a need. ποιούμενος pres. mid. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to make. Temp. part., "while making mention." ◆ 5 κοινωνίᾳ (# 3126) fellowship, sharing. The word signifies "your cooperation toward, in aid of the gospel." The word refers not only to financial contribution, but also denotes cooperation w. the apostle in the widest sense, whether in sympathy or in suffering or in active labor (Hawthorne; Lightfoot; TDNT; NIDNTT; RAC, 9:1100-45). ◆ 6 πεποιθώς perf. act. part. πείθω (# 4275) to persuade. Perf. to be convinced, to be sure, to be certain. For the construction of the vb. followed by a noun cl. s. BD, 204. Part. may have a faint causal force (Ellicott). αὐτὸ τοῦτο (# 899; 4047) this thing, just this (and nothing else) (BD, 151). ἐναρξάμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. (subst.) ἐνάρχομαι (# 1887) to begin. Prep. in compound represents the action of the vb. as more directly concentrated on the object (Ellicott). ἔργον ἀγαθόν (# 2240; 19) good work. It may refer to God's work of salvation (Silva), or to their sharing in the advancement of the gospel (Hawthorne). ἐπιτελέσει fut. ind. act. ἐπιτελέω (# 2200) to complete, to bring to the goal. Prep. in compound is directive and the vb. indicates, "will carry it on towards completion, and finally complete" (Vincent). ἄχρι (# 948) until. ◆ 7 καθώς (# 2777) just as. The word has a slight causal sense and is often used to introduce new ideas (Gnilka). ἐστιν δίκαιον (# 1639; 1465) it is right. Although the expression may have been a daily figure of speech (Lohmeyer) the word does contain an ethical and general moral sense which has its foundation in the moral relation of man to God (Vincent; MRP, 148). φρονεῖν pres. act. inf. φρονέω (# 5858) to be minded, to think, to be concerned for, to feel. The word denotes a general disposition of mind including both feeling and thought, emotions and mind (Vincent; Hawthorne). Epex. inf. explaining what is right. ἔχειν pres. act. inf. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Articular inf. w. the prep. διά (# 1328) in a causal sense. For a discussion of the subject of the inf. s. GGBB, 196. The words form an expression of heartfelt love on the part of the apostle toward his readers (Meyer). δεσμός (# 1301) bond. ἀπολογίᾳ (# 665) defense, defense against a judicial accusation. The word may be more general, including all of Paul's efforts–whatever put forth–to defend the gospel (Vincent). βεβαίωσις (# 1012) that on which one can walk solid, firm, and durable, guarantee, confirmation, a legal t.t. for guaranteeing or furnishing security (TLNT; BAGD; BS, 104-109; MM). συγκοινωνούς (# 5171) sharers together w. someone, fellow partakers. ὄντας pres. act. part. lectively regarded as the seat of feeling. The strongest word in Gr. for the feeling of compassion (Vincent; MNTW, 156f; TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT; EDNT). ◆ 9 προσεύχομαι pres. ind. mid. (dep.) (# 4667) to pray. For the prayer words and syntactical constructions s. PIP, 173f. DPL. ἔτι (# 2285) yet. μᾶλλον (# 3437) more. The phrase "more and more" accentuates their need for unremitting progress (PIP, 209). περισσεύῃ pres. subj. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to overflow, to abound. Pres. is progressive and expresses the desire, "may continue to abound" (Vincent). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express the content of the prayer. ἐπιγνώσις (# 2106) knowledge, recognition. Prep. in compound indicates a knowledge directed toward an object. Here the word indicates a firm conception of those spiritual principles which would guide them in their relations w. one another and the world (EGT). αἴσθησις (# 151) insight, perception, discernment. The word was originally used of sense perception, but is applicable to the inner world of sensibility, referring to moral and spiritual perception related to practical applications (EGT; Lightfoot). It refers to the ability to make proper moral decisions in the midst of a vast array of differing and difficult choices (Hawthorne). ◆ 10 δοκιμάζειν pres. act. inf. δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to approve after careful testing (TDNT; TLNT). Articular inf. w. the prep. εἰς (# 1650) could express either purp. or result (MT, 143). διαφέροντα pres. act. part. διαφέρω (# 1422) to differ. Here it refers to what is worthwhile, excellent, vital (PIP, 209). εἰλικρινής (# 1637) unmixed, pure, genuine, sincere, moral integrity, perfect purity describing the mind, heart, and conduct (TLNT; Hawthorne). The etymology "tested by sunlight" is possible but uncertain (GEW, 1:459; Vincent; Lohmeyer; TDNT; TLNT). ἀπρόσκοποι (# 718) without stumbling, without offense. The word means either "not stumbling" or "not causing others to stumble" (Vincent). ◆ 11 πεπληρωμένοι perf. act. part. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill. Perf. views the completed state or condition. ἔπαινος (# 2047) praise. ◆ 12 γινώσκειν pres. act. inf. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know, to realize. Compl. inf. to the main vb. βούλομαι (# 1089) pres. ind. mid. (dep.) to desire, to want. τὰ κατ' ἐμέ the things regarding me, my affairs (Hawthorne). μᾶλλον (# 3437) rather; here, rather than the reverse, as might have been anticipated (Lightfoot). προκοπή (# 4620) cutting forward, advance, progress, furtherance (TLNT). For the vb. s. Gal. 1:14. ἐλήλυθεν perf. act. ind. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. ◆ 13 φανερός (# 5745) clear, manifest. γενέσθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Inf. used w. ὥστε (# 6063) to express actual result (BD, 197f). πραιτώριον (# 4550) praetorian guard, praetorium. The word refers either to the elite troops or to the headquarters used by such troops. They were select troops designed to guard the person of the emperor (Vincent; Lightfoot; Gnilka; ZPEB, 4:832-34; CC, 198f; KP, 4:1116-17; DGRA, 957-58). ◆ 14 πλείονας comp. πολύς (# 4498) great, many; comp. the majority (BD, 127). πεποιθότας perf. act. part. πείθω (# 4275) to encourage (s.v. 6). περισσοτέρως (# 4359) adv. comp. περισσός abundantly (s. 2 Cor. 2:4). The word indicates the ostensible reason for which a thing is done, and generally points to a false reason as opposed to the truth (MM; BAGD; TLNT; GELTS, 408). Here it is using the name of Christ as a cover or mask for personal and selfish ends (Vincent). Dat. here expresses the manner (Ellicott). καταγγέλλεται pres. ind. pass. καταγγέλλω (# 2859) to proclaim (s.v. 17). ἀλλὰ καί The two particles are combined in a progressive sense: further, what is more, moreover (Thrall, 14ff). χαρήσομαι fut. ind. mid. (BD, 42) χαίρω (# 5897) to be glad, to rejoice. Volitive fut. indicating a decision of the will (RG, 889). It is a progressive fut. which affirms that an action will be in progress in fut. time (SMT, 32). ◆ 19 οἶδα (# 3857) perf. ind. act. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning, to know. The word speaks of the possession of knowledge which is grasped directly or intuitively by the mind (ND, 344f). τοῦτο (# 4047) this; this state of things, these perplexities and annoyances (Lightfoot). ἀποβήσεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀποβαίνω (# 609) to come from, to come back, to turn out (RWP). ἐπιχορηγία (# 2221) supply (Eph. 4:16; Gal. 3:5). ◆ 20 ἀποκαραδοκία (# 638) intense expectation, earnest watching. The word is composed of the prep. "away," the noun "head," and the vb. "to watch," and indicates watching something w. the head turned away from other objects (Vincent). It indicates the concentrated intense hope which ignores other interests and strains forward as w. outstretched head (EGT; s. Rom. 8:19; Gnilka). αἰσχυνθήσομαι fut. ind. pass. αἰσχύνομαι (# 159) to be ashamed, to be put to shame. παρρησίᾳ (# 4244) speaking all things, forthrightness of speech; then more broadly, boldness, esp. the courage appropriate to the free man, which acts openly even in a hostile atmosphere (Beare). μεγαλυνθήσεται fut. ind. pass. μεγαλύνω (# 3486) to make large, to magnify. ◆ 21 ζῆν pres. act. inf. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Articular inf. is the subject of the sentence: "the act of living" (GGBB, 601). Continuous pres. (Vincent). ἀποθανεῖν aor. act. inf. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die. Articular inf. used as the subject. κέρδος (# 3046) gain, profit. The word was used of something advantageous and in the pl. sometimes refers to money (BAGD; MM; for the other examples s. Lohmeyer). For a discussion of this v. s. D. W. Palmer, "'To Die Is Gain,' Philippians 1:21," NovT 18 (1975): 203-18. ◆ 22 ζῆν pres. act. inf. ζάω (# 2409) to live. αἱρήσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) αἱρέομαι (# 145) to take, to pick; mid., to choose. For the view that Paul may have contemplated "voluntary death" s. CIC, 96-125. γνωρίζω (# 1192) pres. ind. act. to understand, to know, to declare, to make known. The latter meaning is better in this context (Lightfoot; Vincent). ◆ 23 συνέχομαι pres. ind. pass. συνέχω (# 5309) to hold together, to hem in on both sides. The idea is that of a strong pressure bearing upon him from two sides, keeping him motionless (EGT; Lightfoot). δέ (# 1254) and, now. It introduces an explanation and at the same time separates it from that which is to be explained (Vincent). ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) desire. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. ἀναλῦσαι aor. act. inf. ἀναλύω (# 386) to break up, to unloose, to undo. It is used of loosening a ship from its moorings, of breaking camp, and of death (Vincent). Epex. inf. w. the prep. εἰς (#1650) is used to supply the limits of the noun ἐπιθυμίαν (MT, 143). εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Epex. inf. μᾶλλον (# 3437) more, to a greater degree. κρεῖσσον (# 3202) comp. ἀγαθός (s. 1 Cor. 7:9); stronger, better. ◆ 24 ἐπιμένειν pres. act. inf. ἐπιμένω (# 2152) to remain, to stay. Prep. in compound implies rest in a place and hence a more protracted stay (Ellicott). Epex. inf., "It is more necessary to remain...." ἀναγκαιότερον comp. ἀναγκαῖος (# 338) necessary; comp., more necessary. δι' ὑμας for you, for your sake. ◆ 25 πεποιθώς perf. act. part. (causal) πείθω (# 4275) to be convinced, to persuade (s.v. 6). μενῶ fut. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. παραμενῶ fut. ind. act. παραμένω (# 4169) to remain w. someone, to stand by. In Koine the word often had the idea "to remain in service," "to remain at someone's disposal" (NDIEC, 4:98-99; MM; Preisigke, 2:252; Lohmeyer). ◆ 26 καύχημα (# 3017) ground or reason for boasting. Here it is their knowledge and possession of the gospel (EGT). περισσεύῃ pres. subj. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to overflow, to abound. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) is used to express purp. παρουσία (# 4242) arrival, presence. ◆ 27 ἀξίως (# 547) adv. worthily (Eph. 4:1; for examples of "acting or living worthy" of a city council, god, gods, etc. s. P, 136-37). πολιτεύεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) πολιτεύω (# 4488) to be a citizen, to conduct oneself as a citizen. Paul may be alluding to the fact that the city of Philippi had the Roman status of colonia, which meant that the city was a mini-Rome w. many Latin inscriptions (s.v. 1; DGRA, 315-20; IDB 1:657; s. also A.N. Sherwin-White, The Roman Citizenship [Oxford; Clarendon Press, 1973]; esp. P, 114-39). For vbs. w. this suf., meaning "to play the part of," "to act as," s. MH, 398-400. Pres. imp. calls for a continual and habitual action. ἐλθών aor. act. part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come; to go. ἰδών aor. act. part. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Parts. could be cond., temp., or translated as a main vb. (Vincent). ἀπών pres. act. part. ἄπειμι (# 582) to be away from, to be absent. στήκετε pres. ind. act. στήκω (# 5112) to stand, to stand firm, to hold one's ground. The word indicates the determination of a soldier who does not budge one inch from his post (Lohmeyer). ψυχῇ (# 6034) soul. It indicates the mind as the seat of sensation and desire (Vincent; TDNT; PAT). συναθλοῦντες pres. act. part. συναθλέω (# 5254) to contend or struggle along w. someone (BAGD). ◆ 28 πτυρόμενοι pres. pass. part. πτύρω (# 4769) to frighten, to startle, to terrify. The metaphor is of a timid horse (Lightfoot). Perhaps there is an allusion to Cassius who at the battle of Philippi committed suicide at the fear of defeat (CAH, 10:24). ἀντικειμένων pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀντίκειμαι (# 512) to line up against, to oppose, to be an adversary. ἥτις (# 4015) which, "seeing it is." The rel. pronoun has an explanatory force and takes its gender from the predicate, but agrees logically w. the part. in the nom. (Vincent). ἔνδειξις (# 1893) evidence, proof, w. dat. of disadvantage αὐτοῖς (GGBB, 143-44). The word was used as an Attic law term (EGT). ἀπώλεια (# 724) destruction. Here it is the destruction which consists in the loss of eternal life (Vincent; TDNT). ◆ 29 ἐχαρίσθη

aor. ind. pass. χαρίζομαι (# 5919) to give graciously. "God has granted you the high privilege of suffering for Christ; this is the surest sign that He looks upon you w. favor" (Lightfoot). πιστεύειν pres. act. inf. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. πάσχειν pres. act. inf. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. Articular inf. is used as the subject of the vb. ◆ 30 ἀγών (# 74) conflict, struggle. The word pictures Paul's apostolic life of service (RAM, 183). ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. οἷος (# 3888) which kind of. εἴδετε aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἀκούετε pres. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear.

◆ 1 παράκλησις (# 4155) comfort, consolation, exhortation, encouragement (TDNT; MNTW, 128ff). παραμύθιον (# 4172) encouragement, esp. as consolation or alleviation (BAGD). Prep. in compound may have the force of "aside"; i.e., "the converse which draws the mind aside from care" (MM). κοινωνία (# 3126) fellowship. σπλάγχνα (# 5073) tender affection, mercy (s. Phil. 1:8). οἰκτιρμός (# 3880) compassion. It signifies the manifestation of tender feelings in compassionate yearnings and action (Lightfoot). ◆ 2 πληρώσατε aor. imp. act. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill. The particle ἵνα (# 2671) (that) is used to introduce the object of the request and blends in the purpose of making it (Ellicott; s. also BD, 199f). φρονῆτε pres. subj. act. φρονέω (# 5858) to think, to hold an opinion, to have thoughts or an attitude, to be minded or disposed (BAGD). Pres. implies a continual, habitual attitude. ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. σύμψυχος (# 5249) harmonious, united in spirit (BAGD). The following words appear on the gravestone of a man and his wife: "we spoke the same things, we thought the same things, and we go the inseparable way to Hades" (Lohmeyer; BS, 256). φρονοῦντες pres. act. part. φρονέω (# 5858) to think. ◆ 3 ἐριθεία (# 2249) selfishness, selfish ambition. The word is related to a noun which originally meant "a day laborer" and was used esp. of those cutting and binding wheat or of those who were spinners or weavers. The word later denotes the attitude of those who worked for wages; particularly it denoted a self-seeking pursuit of political office by unfair means. It then came to be used of party squabbles, of the jockeying for position and the intrigue behind place and power. Finally, it meant selfish ambition, the ambition which has no conception of service but only aimed at profit and power (BAGD; TDNT; GEW, 1:558; NTW, 39ff). κενοδοξία (# 3029) empty praise, vainglory. It refers to personal vanity; it is the person who is conceited without reason, deluded, ambitious for his own reputation, challenging others to rivalry, jealous himself and willing to fight to prove his idea is right (Lightfoot; Hawthorne; s. Gal. 5:26). ταπεινοφροσύνῃ (# 5425) lowly thinking, humility. The word indicates the recognition of one's insufficiency but the powerful sufficiency of God (TDNT; NIDNTT; Gnilka). ἀλλήλους acc. pl. ἀλλήλων (# 253) one another. ἡγούμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to consider, to count as. The word implies a conscious, sure judgment resting on a careful weighing of the facts (Vincent). ὑπερέχοντας pres. act. part. ὑπερέχω (# 5660) w. the gen., to have over and beyond, to excel or surpass, to be superior (RWP; Ellicott). ◆ 4 τὰ ἑαυτῶν (# 1571) the things of others; i.e., others, different from those named. For the contrast s. BD, 161. ἕκαστος (# 1667) each, each one. σκοποῦντες pres. act. part. σκοπέω (# 5023) to look at, to consider, to regard as one's aim. Used w. the article and reflex. pron. it means to consult one's own interest (Lightfoot). ◆ 5 φρονεῖτε pres. imp. act. φρονέω (# 5858) to think (s.v. 2). ἐν ὑμῖν in you; i.e., in your community (of faith and love), in your common life (Beare). ◆ 6 μορφῇ (# 3671) form. The outward display of the inner reality or substance. Here it refers to the outward display of the divinity of the preexistent Christ, in the display of His glory as the image of the Father. For a study of this word s. Martin, 99-133; Lightfoot, esp. 127-33; TDNT; NIDNTT; T. F. Glasson, "The Notes on the Philippians' Hymn: 2:6-11," NTS 21 (1974): 133-39; Vincent, 78ff. ὑπάρχων pres. act. part. ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to be, to exist. The word expresses continuance of an antecedent state or condition (AS); concessive part. (GGBB, 634-35). ἁρπαγμός (# 772) a prize, something to hold onto. The word has either an active sense ("robbing") or a pass. sense ("prize gained through robbery"). Perhaps the meaning is that Christ did not use His equality w. God in order to snatch or gain power and dominion, riches, pleasure, or worldly glory. He did not reach out of His favored place and grasp at authority (Meyer; Martin, 152). For detailed studies on this difficult word s. Martin, 134-64; Lightfoot, 133-38; Glasson, 133-37; DPL, 106-7; TDNT. ἡγήσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to consider. For the view that the vb. in connection w. the previous noun means "to treat as a piece of good fortune," "to regard as a lucky find," "to prize highly," "to welcome eagerly," s. Martin, 143f; Lightfoot, 138. εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. For a discussion of the article s. GGBB, 220. ἴσα (# 2698) equal, exactly equal, equal in number, size, quality. The acc. pl. can be used as an adv. which in turn is used here as an adj. w. the vb. εἰμί (BAGD; BD, 224; TDNT). The acc. is used w. the articular inf. ("to be equal w. God") to form the acc. of object in a double acc. construction: "He did not regard the being equal w. God (acc. of object) as a robbing (pred. acc.)." For this construction s. BD, 86; RG, 479ff. ◆ 7 ἑαυτοῦ (# 1571) himself, reflexive pronoun. The word is emphasized by its position in the sentence. ἐκένωσεν aor. ind. act. κενόω (# 3033) to empty, to make empty, to make of no effect. The word does not mean He emptied Himself of His deity, but rather He emptied Himself of the display of His deity for personal gain (Vincent; Martin, 195; for a study of the word s. TDNT; Martin, 165-96; NIDNTT). δοῦλος (# 1528) slave. λαβών aor. act. part. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. Part. of means (GGBB, 630). ὁμοίωμα (# 3930) likeness. The phrase expresses the fact that His mode of manifestation resembled what men are. The apostle views Him solely as He could appear to men (Vincent). This, however, does not deny His true humanity. γενόμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. σχῆμα (# 5386) outward appearance. The word was used of a king who exchanges his kingly robe for sackcloth (BAGD; Lightfoot, 127-33; NIDNTT; TDNT; Martin, 207f). εὑρεθείς aor. pass. part. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. The parts. are of manner and indicate how Christ emptied Himself. ◆ 8 ἐταπείνωσεν aor. ind. act. ταπεινόω (# 5427) to make low, to humble. ὑπήκοος (# 5675) obedient. μέχρι (# 3588) until, unto. "Even unto death," i.e., to the extent of death (Vincent). δέ (# 1254) and even, yea. It introduces another and more striking detail of the humiliation and leads on to a climax–not only death but a death of suffering, shameful and accursed, the most ignominious of deaths (Vincent; Ellicott). For the horrors and the attitude of the ancient world toward the despicable death by crucifixion, a form of punishment reserved for slaves, rebels and the lowest criminals s. Blinzler; C; ABD, 1:1207-10; 1 Cor. 1:18. ◆ 9 διό (# 1475) wherefore; in consequence of this voluntary humiliation, in fulfillment of divine law which He Himself enunciated (Lightfoot; Martin, 231ff). ὑπερύψωσεν aor. ind. act. ὑπερυψόω (# 5671) to exalt, to exalt above and beyond, to highly exalt. The force of the prep. in compound is not to describe a different stage in Christ's existence in a comp. sense, but to contrast His exaltation w. the claim of other high powers, and thereby to proclaim His uniqueness and absoluteness (Martin, 241; Beare). ἐχαρίσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) χαρίζομαι (# 5919) to give out of grace, to grant graciously. Now, after a career of self-humbling and obedience, there comes to Him in the Father's good pleasure the very thing He might have grasped (Martin, 236). ◆ 10 γόνυ (# 1205) knee. κάμψῃ aor. subj. act. κάμπτω (# 2828) to bend, to bow. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. or result (GGBB, 474). ἐπουράνιος (# 2230) heavenly, heaven (s. Eph. 1:3). ἐπίγειος (# 2103) earthly, on the earth. καταχθόνιος (# 2973) under the earth. Christ is acknowledged as Lord of all angelic forces, esp. malevolent demons. They are compelled to admit that He is victor, and they show their submission by prostrating before Him (Martin, 261; for a discussion of this threefold division of the universe s. Martin 257-65). ◆ 11 γλῶσσα (# 1185) tongue. ἐξομολογήσηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) ἐξομολογέω (# 2018) to admit openly, to acknowledge, to recognize, to acclaim (Martin, 263; TDNT; Beare). Subj. w. ἵνα (from v. 10) is used to express purp. εἰς δόξαν θεοῦ πατρός for the glory of God the Father. The Lord Jesus was neither selfish nor did He seek vainglory, but even in His exaltation all praise, honor, and power finally belonged to God the Father (Martin, 273). For lit. on this passage s. Martin, 320-39; Hawthorne, 71-75. ◆ 12 ὥστε (# 6063) wherefore, so then, consequently. This particle draws a conclusion from the preceding. As Christ was perfectly obedient, therefore w. like subjection to Him the readers are to carry out their own salvation (Vincent). ἀγαπητός (# 28) beloved. καθώς (# 2777) just as. πάντοτε (# 4121) always. ὑπηκούσατε aor. ind. act. ὑπακούω (# 5634) to answer the door, to obey as a result of listening, to obey, to be obedient. Prep. in compound contains the idea of submission (MH, 327; Vincent). παρουσίᾳ (# 4242) presence. πολλῷ μᾶλλον much more. ἀπουσίᾳ (# 707) absence. τρόμος (# 5571) trembling. The expression "w. fear and trembling" indicates a nervous and trembling anxiety to do right (Lightfoot). σωτηρία (# 5401) salvation; perhaps a figure for the changed life that is produced by the inward change caused by salvation. κατεργάζεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) κατεργάζομαι (# 2981) to work out, to work on to the finish. Prep. in compound is perfective and views the linear progress down to the goal: "work on to the finish" (RWP; M, 114ff). ◆ 13 θεός (# 2536) God. The word is placed first as the subject, not as the pred.; God is the agent (Meyer). γάρ (# 1142) for. It gives the reason for the entire previous v. and supplies at once the stimulus to and the corrective of the precept in the preceding (Vincent; Lightfoot). ἐνεργῶν pres. act. part. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to work effectually and productively, to put forth power. The word describes the energy and the effective power of God Himself in action (Vincent; MNTW, 46-54). θέλειν pres. act. inf. θέλω (# 2527) to desire. ἐνεργεῖν pres. act. inf. (# 1919). The articular infs. are used as the direct obj. to the preceding part. For the syntactical difficulties here s. GGBB, 602-3. εὐδοκία (# 2306) good pleasure, satisfaction; "in fulfillment of His benevolent purpose" (Lightfoot; s. Phil. 1:15). ◆ 14 ποιεῖτε pres. imp. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. γογγυσμός (# 1198) murmuring, an expression of dissatisfaction, grumbling, muttering in a low voice. The word was used in the LXX for the murmuring of Israel against God (T; TDNT; GELTS, 92; NDIEC, 143-44; s. also 3 Bar. 8:5; 13:4). It is the kind of grumbling action that promotes ill will instead of harmony and good will (Hawthorne). διαλογισμός (# 1369) inward questioning, dispute, discussion, skeptical questioning or criticism (Vincent). It refers to the intellectual rebellion against God (Lightfoot). ◆ 15 γένησθε aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to be, to become. ἄμεμπτος (# 289) unblamed, without blame (s. Eph. 1:4; Trench, Synonyms, 379). ἀκέραιος (# 193) unmixed, unadulterated, pure, sincere. The word was used of pure wine and of unalloyed metal (Lightfoot). ἄμωμος (# 320) without spot, without blemish (Trench, Synonyms, 380). μέσον (# 3545) in the midst of, in the middle of. The n. as an adv. was used as a prep. w. the gen. (RG, 644). γενέα (# 1155) generation. σκολιός (# 5021) curved, crooked. διεστραμμένης perf. pass. part. διαστρέφω (# 1406) twisted, distorted, to twist in two. It denotes an abnormal moral cond. Perf. expresses a state or cond. consequent to an action (Vincent; Matt. 17:17). φαίνεσθε pres. ind. mid. (dep.) φαίνομαι (# 5743) to shine, to give light, to be bright; mid., to appear, to be visible, to make one's appearance, to show oneself (BAGD). Pres. points to the continual action. φωστήρ (# 5891) luminary, the light given off by heavenly bodies, mainly the sun and moon–the light or great lights (Trench, Synonyms, 164; TDNT; s. also Gen. 1:14, 16; for Qumran parallels s. also 1QS 10:3; 1QM 10:11; 1QH 1:11; 7:25; 9:26). For the Jewish teaching regarding those who shine as luminaries s. SB, 1:236; 3:621. ◆ 16 λόγον ζωῆς word of life. Gen. of source or gen. of apposition, i.e., the word which brings life and which is life. ἐπέχοντες pres. act. part. ἐπέχω (# 2091) to hold fast, to hold forth. The latter sense would be "to hold out," and the metaphor may be that of offering food or wine (Lightfoot; MM). Part. expresses means. Pres. expresses contemporaneous action. καύχημα (# 3017) reason for boasting, ground of glorying. It is not a boasting in meritorious effort, but the sign of the completion of a divinely assigned commission (PAM, 104; Lohmeyer). κενός (# 3031) empty, in vain. The word fits well into the picture of the runner and his eventual success or failure in the race (PAM, 100). ἔδραμον aor. ind. act. τρέχω (# 5556) to run. The word pictures Paul's work as an apostle spreading the gospel w. the figure of a runner. The word indicates the strenuous effort and exertion involved. Paul's fear is that his own interest might impede the gospel; or that either the threatened introduction of the law as a condition for salvation or the possibility of unfaithfulness on the part of the Philippians might make his efforts fruitless (PAM, 107). ἐκοπίασα aor. ind. act. κοπιάζω (# 3159) to work hard, to labor. This vb. is qualified by the preceding and both vbs. designate the intense labor and efforts of Paul toward the one goal (PAM, 109f). ◆ 17 καί (# 2779) even. The word refers to the whole cl. (Vincent). σπένδομαι pres. ind. σπένδω (# 5064) pass. to pour out as a drink offering. A drink offering, usually a cup of wine, was poured out on the ground to honor deity. Paul is again referring to the prospect of martyrdom which he faces, and thinks of himself–his life's blood–as a libation poured forth to God (Beare). θυσίᾳ (# 2602) sacrifice. The prep. can mean "upon the sacrifice," or "in addition to the sacrifice" (Vincent). λειτουργίᾳ (# 3311) service, religious or sacred service. For the development of this word s. Lightfoot; BS, 140f; TDNT. χαίρω (# 5897) pres. ind. act. to rejoice. συγχαίρω (# 5176) pres. ind. act. to rejoice together, to rejoice w. someone. ◆ 18 χαίρετε pres. ind. act. χαίρω (# 5867) to rejoice. συγχαίρετε pres. imp. act. συγχαίρω (# 5176) to rejoice together. ◆ 19 ἐλπίζω (# 1827) pres. ind. act. to hope. ταχέως (# 5441) quickly, soon. πέμψαι aor. act. inf. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. Compl. inf. explains the content of Paul's hope. εὐψυχῶ pres. subj. act. εὐψυχέω (# 2379) to be glad, to have courage. In the papyri the word is found in the salutation of a letter of condolence (MM). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) expresses purp. γνούς aor. act. part. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Temp. part., "when I know," "after I know." ◆ 20 ἰσόψυχος (# 2701) like-minded, having the same mind, having equal power confident (Gnilka). The word may have the meaning, "precious as life" (LS, 75). γνησίως (# 1189) adv., genuinely; legitimate, not spurious, birth (RWP). μεριμνήσει fut. ind. act. μεριμνάω (# 3534) to give one's thoughts to a matter, to be concerned (EGT). Fut. points to the time when Timothy would come to them (Ellicott). ◆ 21 πάντες nom. pl. πᾶς (# 4246) all. The article w. the adj. excludes any exception (Lohmeyer; RG, 773f). τὰ ἑαυτῶν (# 1571) their own things. This stands in stark contrast to the things of Jesus Christ. ζητοῦσιν pres. ind. act. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek. Pres. could be customary ("this is your long standing practice") or progressive ("this is your present practice"). ◆ 22 δοκιμή (# 1509) approval, acceptance after being tested (TDNT). γινώσκετε pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. ἐδούλευσεν aor. ind. act. δουλεύω (# 1526) to serve as a slave, to serve. ◆ 23 ὡς (# 6055) w. ἄν (# 323) = ὅταν whenever, as soon as. The construction is temp. and indicates the uncertainty which surrounds the whole prospect (EGT; BD, 237f). πέμψαι aor. act. inf. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. Compl. inf. gives the content of the hope. ἀφίδω aor. subj. act. ἀφοράω (# 927) to look away, to see. Prep. in compound implies looking away from the pres. circumstances to what is going to happen, which will decide the question of his sending Timothy (Vincent). ἐξαυτῆς (# 1994) at once, immediately, soon thereafter. ◆ 24 πέποιθα perf. ind. act. πείθω (# 4275) to persuade; perf. w. the pres. meaning, to be convinced, to be sure, to be certain (BAGD). Perf. expresses a state or cond.: "I am convinced" (BD, 176). ἐλεύσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. ◆ 25 ἀναγκαῖος (# 338) compelling, necessary. ἡγησάμην aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to lead, to consider. συνεργός (# 5301) fellow worker. συστρατιώτης (# 5369) fellow soldier. ἀπόστολος (# 693) missionary; not apostle in the official or technical sense, but a messenger sent on a special commission (Vincent). λειτουργός (# 3313) minister. The word was used of a public official in civil service; then it was also used for one ministering in religious ceremonies (s.v. 17; TDNT; NIDNTT). χρεία (# 5970) need. πέμψαι aor. act. inf. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. Inf. in indir. speech after the vb. ἡγησάμην. ◆ 26 ἐπειδή (# 2076) since, since then, because. It presents the reason for Paul feeling compelled to send Epaphroditus (Ellicott). ἐπιποθῶν pres. act. part. ἐπιποθέω (# 2160) to yearn after, to long for (s. 1:8). Part. used in a periphrastic impf. construction: "he was yearning after" (RWP). ἀδημονῶν pres. act. part. ἀδημονέω (# 86) to be distressed. Although the root meaning of the word is not clear (GEW, 1:20), the word describes the confused, restless, half-distracted state which is produced by physical derangement, or by mental distress like grief, shame, disappointment, etc. (Lightfoot). ἠκούσατε aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἠσθένησεν aor. ind. act. ἀσθενέω (# 820) to be without strength, to be weak, to be sick. ◆ 27 καὶ γάρ (# 2779; 1142) for even, yes, even (BD, 236). παραπλήσιον (# 4180) w. the dat., near to. ἠλέησεν aor. ind. act. ἐλεέω (# 1796) to have mercy, to show mercy. λύπη (# 3383) sorrow. σχῶ aor. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have; aor., to get, to receive (M, 110). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a neg. purp. cl. ◆ 28 σπουδαιοτέρως adv., comp. of σπουδαίως (# 5081) w. haste; comp., w. special urgency (BAGD). W. increased eagerness, on account of this circumstance (Lightfoot). ἔπεμψα aor. ind. act. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. Epistolary aor. (EGT). ἰδόντες aor. act. part. (temp.) ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Aor. gives the logically antecedent action to the main verb. πάλιν (# 4099) again. The word is to be taken w. the main vb. χαρῆτε rather than w. the part. (Vincent). χαρῆτε aor. subj. pass. (dep.) χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice. ἀλυπότερος comp. ἄλυπος (# 267) without grief, free from sorrow; comp., less sorrowful. The joy felt by the Philippians will mitigate the sorrow (in his confinement) of the sympathizing apostle (Ellicott). For the neg. character of the alpha privative s. Moorhouse, 47ff. ὦ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used in a purp. cl. ◆ 29 προσδέχεσθε pres imp. mid. (dep.) προσδέχομαι (# 4657) to receive, to receive favorably, to welcome. τοιοῦτος (# 5525) such a one, one w. such characteristics. ἔντιμος (# 1952) in honor, prized, precious; pred. acc. in a double acc. construction: "hold such ones in honor" (RWP). ◆ 30 ἤγγισεν aor. ind. act. ἐγγίζω (# 1581) to come near, to draw near, to be near. παραβολευσάμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. παραβολεύομαι (# 4129) to gamble, to play the gambler, to expose oneself to danger. The word has connotations of humbling or playing dice by which high sums were often at stake (OCD, 338f). The word was used in the papyri of one who, in the interest of friendship, had exposed himself to dangers as an advocate in legal strife by taking his client's causes, even up to emperors (MM; LAE, 88). The word was later used of merchants who, for the sake of gain, exposed themselves to death (PGL, 1008). The word was used of a fighter in the arena who exposed himself to the dangers of the arena (PGL, 1009). In the post-apostolic church a group called the paraboloni risked their lives by nursing the sick and burying the dead (Lightfoot; Vincent). For the use of the dat. w. this vb. s. M, 64. ἀναπληρώσῃ aor. subj. act. ἀναπληρόω (# 405) to fill up, to make complete, to fill a gap, to replace. Used of a person w. the gen. it means, "to make up for someone's absence or lack," "to represent one who is absent" (BAGD). ὑστέρημα (# 5729) that which is lacking, deficiency. There is no rebuke in the word, since the only deficiency is that they could not be w. him themselves, to do him service (Beare). λειτουργία (# 3311) service, ministry (s.v. 17).

◆ 1 τὸ λοιπόν (# 3370) finally. With this Paul probably intends to draw to a close the general admonitions and then takes up specific matters in the latter part of the letter (Victor Paul Furnish, "The Place and Purpose of Philippians 3," NTS 10 [1963]: 80-88). τὰ αὐτά (# 899) the same things. Paul perhaps means the same warning and directives Epaphroditus and Timothy would orally communicate when they visit the Philippians in person. (Furnish, NTS 10:86). The opponents here were those who stressed the need of circumcision and were probably from the small Jewish group in Philippi who formed a sort of Jewish commonwealth (P, 132-36, 231-34). They offered the Christians a legal religion in Judaism (P, 134-39). γράφειν pres. act. inf. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Epex. inf. is used as a noun explaining the word. ὀκνηρός (# 3891) causing fear or reluctance, troublesome (BAGD). ἀσφαλής (# 855). The word is taken from a vb. meaning "to trip up," "to overthrow," "to cause to fall or stumble." With the neg. prefix the adj. is used to describe anything which has stability and firmness enough not to be overthrown. It carries then the idea of certain, dependable knowledge (Furnish, NTS 10: 83; s. Luke 1:4). ◆ 2 βλέπετε pres. imp. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to look, to beware of, to consider, to take proper notice of, to pay attention to, to learn your lesson from (Hawthorne). Pres. imp. calls for habitual action: "continually be on the lookout for" (Vincent). κύνας acc. pl. κύων (# 3264) dog. The Jews considered dogs to be the most despised and miserable of all creatures and used this word to describe Gentiles. Perhaps the Jews used this designation because of the herds of dogs which prowled about eastern cities, without a home and without an owner, feeding on the refuge and filth of the streets, quarreling among themselves and attacking the passerby (Lightfoot; SB, 3:621; 1:722-26; TDNT; OCD, 358; KP, 2:1245-49). Paul uses the term here of those who prowl around the Christian congregations, seeking to win converts (Beare). ἐργάτης (# 2239) worker. Instead of doing good works, they do evil works. κατατομή (# 2961) incision, mutilation. Used in contrast to circumcision (RWP). ◆ 3 περιτομή

(# 4394) circumcision (s. Gal. 2:3). λατρεύοντες pres. act. part. λατρεύω (# 3302) to minister, to serve (TDNT). Subst. part., giving the character. καυχώμενοι pres. mid. part. καυχάομαι (# 3016) to boast, to glory. πεποιθότες perf. act. part. πείθω (# 4275) to persuade; perf., to be persuaded, to be confident, to have confidence (s. 2:24). ◆ 4 καίπερ (# 2788) even though, although. It is used to clarify the concessive sense of the part. (BD, 219; Blomqvist, 47). ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Concessive use of the part. πεποίθησις (# 4301) trusting, confidence. δοκεῖ pres. ind. act. δοκέω (# 1506) to suppose, to seem, to think. Here, "if anyone is disposed to think" (Vincent). πεποιθέναι perf. act. inf. πείθω (# 4275) to persuade (s.v. 3). μᾶλλον (# 3437) more, to a higher degree. ◆ 5 περιτομῇ (# 4364) circumcision. Here, dat. of respect: "w. respect to circumcision an eighth-day one" (BD, 105; often called dat. of reference s. DM, 85; MT, 238). ὀκταήμερος (# 3862) eighth day, on the eighth day. The normal procedure was circumcision on the eighth day after birth, but under certain circumstances the circumcision could be on the ninth, tenth, eleventh or twelfth day (SB, 4:23ff; M, Shabbath 19:5). φύλη (# 5876) tribe. A Roman citizen in Philippi was a "member" of the Roman "tribe of Voltinia," but Paul contrasts his citizenship by saying he was from the tribe of Benjamin (P, 122-27; RI, 24; 128, nr. 55; 226, nr. 157; 247-49, nr. 180; 181; Sherwin-White, Roman Citizenship [s. Phil. 1:27], 155-57). Ἑβραῖος (# 1578) Hebrew. The term emphasized not only the rights and privileges belonging to the Jewish nation, but also that those who lived in the Diaspora (outside of Palestine) had remained true to the religious practices and their language. Paul was trained in the use of the Heb. tongue by Heb.-speaking parents (Vincent; Lightfoot; JPFC, 1:184-225; MM). νόμος (# 3795) law. Used here without the article. It emphasizes law in the abstract, as a principle of action (Lightfoot). φαρισαῖος (# 5757) Pharisee. For a discussion of their beliefs s. TJ, 70-76. ◆ 6 ζῆλος (# 2419) zeal. διώκων pres. act. part. διώκω (# 1503) to pursue, to persecute. γενόμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἄμεμπτος (# 289) without blame (s. 2:15). ◆ 7 ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. κέρδη nom. pl. κέρδος (# 3046) profit, gain (s. 1:21). ἥγημαι perf. ind. mid. (dep.) ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to consider, to reckon, to count as (s. 2:6). Perf. indicates a completed action w. continuing results: "I have counted (and they are now to me)" (Ellicott). ζημία (# 2422) loss. Used for a loss at sea (Acts 27:10) and used in the papyri of a commercial or business loss (MM). ◆ 8 μενοῦνγε (# 3529) the presence of so many particles is clearly for the purp. of emphasis (DM, 255) and could be translated, "yes the previous is true, but more than that I also ...." εἶναι pres. inf. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ὑπερέχον pres. act. part. acc. n. sing. ὑπερέχω (# 5660) to surpass, excel. The n. sing. is used as an abstract noun followed by the gen., "the surpassing greatness" (BAGD; BD, 138; s. 2:3). γνώσεως (# 1194) knowledge. It is the personal knowledge and acquaintance w. Christ. It is the knowledge of one who loves and knows himself beloved (Bear). ἐζημιώθην aor. ind. pass. ζημιόω (# 2423) pass., to suffer loss. Aor. points to the definite period of Paul's conversion. In that great crisis he lost all his legal possessions (Vincent). σκύβαλον (# 5032) refuse. It refers to such things as a half-eaten corpse; filth, like lumps of manure or human excrement; the portion of food rejected by the body as unnourishing; or to the scraps or leavings of a feast, the food thrown away from the table (Lightfoot; Hawthorne; TDNT; TLNT; MM; NW, 2, i:701). ἡγοῦμαι pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to count, to reckon. κερδήσω aor. subj. act. κερδέω (# 3045) to gain, to win. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 9 εὑρεθῶ aor. subj. pass. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find; pass. to be found. The idea involved is a revelation of true character (EGT). Subj. w. ἵνα to express purp. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. διὰ πίστεως Χριστοῦ "through faith of Christ"; obj. gen. ("my faith in Christ") or subjective gen. ("faithfulness of Christ)" (GGBB, 114). ἐπὶ τῇ πίστει on the basis of faith, resting upon faith (Vincent). ◆ 10 γνῶναι aor. act. inf. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know, to recognize; to know personally through experience, to appropriate. The word often implies a personal relation between the knower and the known, involving the influence of the object of knowledge upon the knower (Vincent; TDNT; ND, 344ff; NIDNTT). Inf. to express purp. or perhaps intended result (Funk, 706). δύναμιν τῆς ἀναστάσεως the power of the resurrection. Gen. of means; i.e., the power which caused the resurrection. κοινωνία (# 3126) fellowship. πάθημα (# 4077) suffering. συμμορφιζόμενος pres. pass. part. συμμορφίζομαι (# 5214) to grant or invest w. the same form; pass., to be conformed to, to take on the same form as. This seems to be a reference to the kind of death Paul was to die (BAGD; Meyer). ◆ 11 εἴ πως if perhaps. The word of hope or desire (SMT, 111; BD, 191). καταντήσω aor. subj. act. καταντάω (# 2918) to reach, to arrive at a destination. ἐξανάστασις (# 1983) resurrection, rising up. ◆ 12 οὐχ ὅτι not that. The words serve to correct a false impression that might have arisen from his preceding words. ἔλαβον aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) (RWP), to receive, to obtain. Aor. points to the time of Paul's conversion; "not as though by my conversion I did once attain" (Lightfoot). τετελείωμαι perf. ind. pass. τελέω (# 5457) to reach the goal, to perfect; pass, to be perfect. The perfection referred to is moral and spiritual perfection (Vincent). Perf. describes his pres. state: "not as though I were now already perfected" (Lightfoot). διώκω pres. ind. act. (# 1503) to pursue. καταλάβω aor. subj. act. καταλαμβάνω (# 2898) to seize, to grasp, to lay hold of. Subj. w. the particle εἰ (# 1623) in a 3rd. class cond. cl., which is a sort of purp. cl. or aim (RWP; RG, 1917). ἐφ' ᾧ for which, for the reason that, because (BD, 123). The phrase can also express purp. ("whereunto") (Lightfoot). κατελήμφθην aor. ind. pass. καταλαμβάνω (# 2898) to reckon, to consider. ◆ 13 κατειληφέναι perf. act. inf. καταλαμβάνω (# 2898) to take hold of. Prep. in compound is perfective, "to grant completely" (RWP). ἓν δέ but one thing. The vb. λέγω could be supplied (Lohmeyer) or the vb. ποιέω is to be understood (Vincent). ὀπίσω (# 3958) behind. ἐπιλανθανόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐπιλανθάνομαι (# 2140) to forget. Prep. in compound is directive (MH, 312). ἐπεκτεινόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐπικτείνομαι (# 2085) to stretch oneself out for or toward. The metaphor is from the foot race. The word pictures the body of the racer bent forward, his hand outstretched toward the goal and his eye fastened upon it. (Vincent). The vb. is followed by the dat. ◆ 14 σκοπός (# 5024) a mark on which to fix the eye, goal. Paul is evidently referring to the goal of a foot race. For a description of the stadium and the foot race s. DGRA, 105f; Oscar Bronner, "The Apostle Paul and the Isthmian Games," BA 25 (1962): 1-31. The prep. has the sense of the goal (Lohmeyer; PAM, 141). βραβεῖον (# 1092) prize, a prize awarded the winner at the games. ἄνω (# 529) above, upward. The word could be an adv. telling where the calling comes from, or it could point to the direction in which the calling leads: upward, heavenward (PAM, 149). κλήσεως (# 3104) calling. ◆ 15 ὅσος (# 4012) as many as, those who. τέλειος (# 5455) perfect, mature. The word refers to grown men, as opposed to children (Lightfoot). φρονῶμεν pres. subj. act. φρονέω (# 5858) to think, to have an attitude (s. 2:2). Cohortative subj., "Let us have this attitude ..." ἑτέρως (# 2284) adv., otherwise. ἀποκαλύψει fut. ind. act. ἀποκαλύπτω (# 636) to unveil, to reveal. ◆ 16 πλήν (# 4440) nevertheless. The word is used at the conclusion of a section in order to bring out the main point of discussion: "just one thing more" (RG, 1187; Blomqvist, 75ff). ἐφθάσαμεν aor. ind. act. φθάνω (# 5777) to come to, to arrive at, to attain. Dramatic aor. used to express what has just taken place (RG, 842). στοιχεῖν pres. act. inf. στοιχέω (# 5123) to walk in line, to march in battle order. The word refers to walking according to principles of a system (Vincent; TDNT). Inf. used in the sense of an imp. This construction generally follows an imp. and the command is carried on by the inf. (RG, 943; BD, 196f; IBG, 126). ◆ 17 συμμιμητής (# 5213) fellow imitator. γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. σκοπεῖτε pres. imp. act. σκοπέω (# 5023) to look at, to fix one's attention upon, to mark. Here, to mark and follow (Lightfoot). περιπατοῦντας pres. act. part. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk, to conduct one's life. καθώς (# 2777) just as. τύπος (# 5596) that which is formed by a blow or impression, pattern, type, example (T; TDNT). ◆ 18 περιπατοῦσιν pres. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk, to conduct one's life. κλαίων pres. act. part. κλαίω (# 3081) to cry, to weep, to weep audibly. The heart of St. Paul's grief would lie in the fact that they degraded the true doctrine of liberty (Lightfoot). σταυρός (# 5069) cross. Here obj. gen., they oppose the cross. ◆ 19 ἀπώλεια (# 724) ruin, destruction. κοιλία (# 3120) stomach. For a description of the luxury of Roman eating s. DGRA, 303-309; LAE, 164f. The word may be used as a general term to include all that belongs most essentially to the bodily, fleshly life of man and therefore inevitably perishes (EGT). αἰσχύνῃ (# 158) shame. ἐπίγειος (# 2103) earthly, upon the earth. φρονοῦντες pres. act. part. φρονέω (# 5858) to think, to consider (s. 2:2). ◆ 20 πολίτευμα (# 4487) citizenship. The word means either the state, the constitution, to which as citizens we belong, or the functions which as citizens we perform (Lightfoot; Vincent; TDNT; P, 127-34; s. 1:27). ὑπάρχει pres. ind. act. ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to exist, to be (s. 2 Cor. 12:16). ἀπεκδεχόμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀπεκδέχομαι (# 587) to expect anxiously, to await eagerly. Preps. in compound indicate the eager but patient waiting (s. Gal. 5:5). The Christian "citizenship" is not connected to a fictitious "tribe," like the Roman Voltinia, but has real roots in heaven, and the Lord will soon come for His "citizens" (P, 130-31). ◆ 21 μετασχηματίσει fut. ind. act. μετασχηματίζω (# 3571) to refashion, to change, to change the outward form or appearance. The meaning of the word could be illustrated by changing a Dutch garden, not merely into an Italian garden, but by transforming it into something wholly different, like a city (Trench, Synonyms, 263; Lightfoot, 130f). ταπεινώσεως (# 5428) lowliness, humble, insignificant. σύμμορφος (# 5215) conformed; the changing of the inward and outward substance, conforming to or w. something (s. 2:6). ἐνέργεια (# 1918) working. The act. and productive power of God at work (s. 2:13; MNTW, 46-54). δύνασθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. δύναμαι (# 1410) to be able to. Epex. inf. explaining the productive power (Hawthorne). ὑποτάξαι aor. act. inf. ὑποτάσσω (# 5718) to place under, to subdue, to subject, to place under one's authority. Epex. inf. αὐτός (# 899) himself. The pron. is used here in a reflex. sense (BD, 148).

Philippians 4

◆ 1 ὥστε (# 5718) wherefore, therefore. It draws a conclusion from Phil. 3:17-21 (EGT). ἀγαπητός (# 28) beloved. ἐπιπόθητος (# 2182) longed for, desired (s. Phil. 1:8). The word is a verbal adj. (RWP; M, 221; MH, 370). στήκετε pres. imp. act. στήκω (# 5112) to stand, to stand firm (s. 1:27). ◆ 2 παρακαλῶ pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to beseech, to urge, to encourage (TDNT; MNTW, 128ff). φρονεῖν pres. act. inf. φρονέω (# 5858) to be minded, to have an attitude or disposition, to think

(s. 2:2). For the speculations regarding the two women s. Hawthorne. ◆ 3 ναί (# 3721) yes, yea. The particle is a confirmation of an assertion (Ellicott; RG, 1150). ἐρωτῶ pres. ind. act. ἐρωτάω (# 2263) to ask, to request, to ask something of someone. For examples in the papyri s. BS, 276ff; MM. γνήσιε voc. γνήσιος (# 1188) legitimately born, genuine, true, sincere (s. 2:20). σύζυγε voc. σύζυγος (# 5187) yoked together, yokefellow. Some view this as a proper name, "Synzygus" (Vincent). συλλαμβάνου pres. imp. mid. (dep.) συλλαμβάνομαι (# 5197) to take and bring together, to lay hold of, to help, to assist (MM). συνήθλησαν aor. ind. act. συναθλέω (# 5254) to fight alongside, to contend w. someone against a common enemy, to labor together. καί (# 2779) also. The word may be retrospective, referring to the true yokefellows (Lightfoot), or it may be pleonastic, i.e., superfluous (BD, 228). λοιπός (# 3370) rest. συνεργός (# 5301) fellow worker. ◆ 4 χαίρετε pres. imp. act. χαίρω (# 5897) rejoice. Pres. imp. calls for a continual and habitual action. πάντοτε (# 4121) always. ἐρῶ fut. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. ◆ 5 τὸ ἐπιεικές (# 2117) reasonableness in judging. The word signifies a humble, patient steadfastness which is able to submit to injustice, disgrace, and maltreatment without hatred and malice, trusting in God in spite of it all (Leivestad, 158; s. 2 Cor. 10:1; Trench, Synonyms, 154). γνωσθήτω aor. imp. pass. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. A pass. imp.: "let your attitude be known," "allow your attitude to be known." ἐγγύς (# 1584) near. The word could imply near in space or near in time. Here the phrase probably expresses general expectation of the speedy second coming of Christ (Vincent). ◆ 6 μεριμνᾶτε pres. imp. act. μεριμνάω (# 3534) to be anxious, to be troubled, to care for something, to be fretful (Beare). προσευχῇ (# 4666) prayer. δέησις (# 1255) request; generally a request arising from a specific need. εὐχαριστία (# 2374) thanksgiving. It expresses that which ought never to be absent from any of our devotions–namely, the grateful acknowledgement of past mercies, as distinguished from the earnest seeking of fut. (Trench, Synonyms, 191). αἴτημα (# 161) request, a thing asked for. The word in the pl. indicates the several objects of the request (Lightfoot; Trench, Synonyms, 191). γνωριζέσθω pres. imp. pass. γνωρίζω (# 1192) to make known. ◆ 7 ὑπερέχουσα pres. act. part. ὑπερέχω (# 5660) to rise above, to be superior, to surpass (Vincent; s. 2:3). φρουρήσει fut. ind. act. φρουρέω (# 5864) to guard. The word, a military term picturing soldiers standing on guard duty, refers to the guarding of the city gate from within as a control on all who went out (BAGD; EGT). Fut. preceded by an imp. and joined by καί has the character of a result cl. in a Semitic type of cond. cl.: "make your request known, then the peace of God will guard your hearts" (Beyer, 238-55; BD, 227). καρδία (# 2840) heart. The heart is the center of each person, from which thoughts and affection flow (PAT, 326). νοήμα (# 3784) thought, act of the will which issues from the heart (Vincent; PAT, 327). ◆ 8 τὸ λοιπόν (# 3370) finally. ὅσα pl. ὅσος (# 4012) whatever. ἀληθής (# 239) truth. σεμνός (# 4948) worthy of respect or honor, noble, dignified, reverent. The word implies that which is majestic and awe-inspiring (BAGD; Trench, Synonyms, 347; Lohmeyer). ἁγνός (# 54) morally pure, undefiled. In the LXX it signifies ceremonial purification (Vincent; Lohmeyer; Trench, Synonyms, 333). προσφιλής (# 4713) acceptable, pleasing, lovely. It refers to those things whose grace attracts (EGT). εὔφημος (# 2368) well-sounding, praiseworthy, attractive, appealing (BAGD). ἀρετή (# 746) virtue; the most comprehensive Gr. term for moral excellence and the central theme of Gr. ethics (Beare; TDNT; NIDNTT; Cremer; PS, 152ff; PIGC, 1:1-12). For a comparison of Paul and Stoicism, esp. Seneca, s. Lightfoot, 270-333; PS; Beare, 42f). ἔπαινος (# 2047) praise. λογίζεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) λογίζω (# 3357) to consider, to reckon, to take into account, to think on; "use your facilities upon them" (Ellicott; Vincent). Pres. calls for a continual or habitual action. ◆ 9 καί (# 2779) also. The word here is ascensive, but its other occurrences in this v. are copulative ("and") (Ellicott). ἐμάθετε aor. ind. act. μανθάνω (# 3443) to learn. παρελάβετε aor. ind. act. παραλαμβάνω (# 4161) to receive, to receive tradition or that which is passed on (TDNT). ἠκούσατε aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. εἴδετε aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. The last two vbs.–"heard and saw"–refer to Paul's personal contact w. the Philippians (Vincent). πράσσετε pres. imp. act. πράσσω (# 4556) to do, to practice. The vb. contains the idea of continuity and repeated action (Trench, Synonyms, 361). Pres. calls for a continual practicing. ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. For the construction of the imp. plus καί plus the fut., forming a type of cond. cl. w. the fut. used in a result cl., s.v. 7. ◆ 10 ἐχάρην aor. ind. pass. χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice, to be glad; epistolary aor. (Vincent). Paul intentionally places the "thank you" at the end of the letter after he had developed "their partnership in his imprisonment" (CIC, 127-47). μεγάλως (# 3487) adv., greatly. ἤδη ποτέ (# 2453; 4537) now at last. The word indicates an indef. delay, but has more the notion of culmination rather than time (RG, 1147). ἀνεθάλετε aor. ind. act. ἀναθάλλω (# 352) to sprout again, to shoot up, to blossom again, to put forth new shoots (RWP; Lightfoot). Prep. in compound probably contains a causative idea (MH, 295). φρονεῖν pres. act. inf. φρονέω (# 5858) to think (s. 2:2). Inf. as obj. of the vb. "You caused your thought for me to sprout and bloom afresh, like a tree putting out fresh shoots after the winter" (Vincent). ἐφ' ᾧ upon which, upon whom. The phrase could indicate the obj. of their thinking (Ellicott) or it could be taken as causal (BD, 123). ἐφρονεῖτε impf. ind. act. φρονέω (# 5858) to think. Impf. emphasizes the continual action in the past: "you were all along taking thought"

(Vincent). ἠκαιρεῖσθε impf. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀκαιρέομαι (# 177) to have no opportunity, to lack opportunity, to lack a convenient time. The church at Philippi had sent a monetary gift to Paul via Epaphroditus, which was perhaps to help take care of his expenses during his time in prison in Rome. This included food and rent for his accommodations, which was probably rather expensive (BAFCS, 3:227-42). For an enlightening discussion on the financial relationship between the Philippian church and Paul in the light of Roman social customs s. PSCZP, 126-224. ◆ 11 οὐχ ὅτι not that. It is used to avoid a misunderstanding, "my meaning is not..." (Meyer). ὑστέρησις (# 5730) coming short, lack. ἐγώ (# 1609) "I"; strongly emphatic. ἔμαθον aor. ind. act. μανθάνω (# 3443) to learn. Effective aor. pointing to the completion of the process. αὐτάρκης (# 895) content, self-sufficiency, having enough. The word indicates independence of external circumstances and often means the state of one who supports himself without aid from others (Lightfoot; BAGD). The word indicates an inward things (Vincent). εἶναι pres. inf. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Inf. as obj. of the vb. ἔμαθον. ◆ 12 ταπεινοῦσθαι pres. pass. inf. ταπεινόω (# 5427) to make low; pass., to be brought low. Here it has to do w. the physical rather than the moral or spiritual and is used in respect to the needs of daily life (EGT). Inf. is used as obj. of the vb. περισσεύειν pres. act. inf. περισσεύω (# 4355) to overflow, to abound. μεμύημαι perf. ind. pass. μυέω (# 3679) to initiate; pass. to be initiated, to be instructed. A t.t. of the mystery religions (BAGD). Perf. emphasizes the completed action w. a continuing state or result. χορτάζεσθαι pres. pass. inf. χοράζω (# 5963) to fill, pass. to be full. The word was used primarily of feeding and fattening animals in a stall (Vincent). πεινᾶν pres. act. inf. πεινάω (# 4277) to be hungry. Perhaps he spent days in hunger during his time in prison, even though he was entitled to the grain distribution in Rome (BAFCS, 3:242). ὑστερεῖσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ὑστερέομαι (# 5728) to come short, to fall behind, to lack, to suffer need. ◆ 13 ἰσχύω (# 2710) pres. ind. act. to be strong, to have strength, to be able. ἐνδυναμοῦντι pres. act. part. ἐνδυναμόω (# 1904) to empower, to give strength, to infuse strength into someone (Vincent). ◆ 14 πλήν (# 4440) nevertheless, however (s. 3:16). καλῶς (# 2822) well. ἐποιήσατε aor. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. συγκοινωνήσαντες pres. act. part. συγκοινωνέω (# 5170) to participate in something w. someone, to share together w. someone (s. Phil. 1:7). θλῖψις (# 2568) pressure, trouble, tribulation. ◆ 15 καί (# 2779) and. It marks the transition to his first experience of their generosity (EGT). Φιλιππήσιοι (# 5803) voc. pl. Paul evidently coined this spelling to the Latin character of the city. The normal term was Φίλιπποι (P, 116-18). ἀρχῇ (# 794) beginning. ἐξῆλθον aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. ἐκοινώνησεν aor. ind. act. κοινωνέω (# 3125) to have fellowship, to share, to be a partner. εἰς λόγον as to an account. He used a metaphor from the business world. The Philippians by their contributions had "opened an account" w. him (Vincent; for the commercial t.t. s. BAGD; LAE, 117; MM). δόσεως gen. sing. δόσις (# 1521) giving. The word is very common in financial transactions to refer to a payment or an installment (MM; Preisigke.) λήμψεως (# 3331) receiving. This was also a t.t. in the business world and meant the receiving of a payment; it was used in connection w. the word δόσεως in the sense of credit and debit (Vincent; MM; Lohmeyer; P, 147-52). ◆ 16 ἅπαξ (# 562) once. δίς (# 1489) twice. Used together in the sense of, "not merely once, but twice" (Vincent). χρεία (# 5970) need. ἐπέμψατε aor. ind. act. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. ◆ 17 ἐπιζητῶ pres. ind. act. ἐπιζητέω (# 2118) to seek after. Prep. in compound is directive, indicating the concentration of the action upon some object (MH, 312). δόμα (# 1517) that which is given, gift. πλεονάζοντα pres. act. part. πλεονάζω (# 4429) to increase, to become more, to multiply. The commercial or business metaphor continues; their earthly investment accrues heavenly dividends. Business investments were common in Rome. ◆ 18 ἀπέχω (# 600) pres. ind. act. to have in full, to receive in full. The word was also a commercial t.t., meaning "to receive a sum in full and give a receipt for it." For examples s. BAGD; MM; BS, 229; LAE, 111. πεπλήρωμαι perf. ind. pass. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill; pass., to be filled. Perf. emphasizes the continuing state. δεξάμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. δέχομαι (# 1312) to receive. Aor. part. expresses contemporaneous action: "when I received." ὀσμή (# 4011) smell. εὐωδία (# 2380) aroma, fragrance; ὀσμὴν εὐωδίας was a t.t. indicating the acceptance and pleasantness of a sacrifice (Gnilka). δεκτήν acc. sq. δεκτός (# 1283) acceptable. εὐάρεστος (# 2298) pleasing. ◆ 19 πληρώσει fut. ind. act. πληρόω (# 4444) to fulfill, to supply. ἐν δόξῃ in glory. Used here as adv., indicating the mode or manner of the fulfillment–gloriously–in such a way that His glory will be manifested (Vincent). ◆ 20 θεῷ dat. sing. θεός (# 2536). Dat. of advantage or personal interest. ◆ 21 ἀσπάσασθε aor. imp. mid. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet, to give greetings. ◆ 22 μάλιστα (# 3436) especially. οἱ ἐκ τῆς Καίσαρος οἰκίας the members of Caesar's household. Probably slave and freedmen attached to the palace (Lightfoot, esp. 171-78; DPL, 83-84). ◆ 23 χάρις (# 5921) grace. The daily unmerited help from the Lord Jesus.

Colossians

◆ 1 For the structure of ancient letters s. Rom. 1:1. Τιμόθεος (# 5512) Timothy (s. Bruce; 1 Tim. 1:1). He is mentioned not as a joint author, but to indicate that he too preaches the same true gospel (O'Brien). For a defence of the Pauline authorship of the book s. O'Brien; UTMC, 175-229. ◆ 2 ἐν Κολοσσαῖς (# 1877; 3145) in Colossae. A city of Asia Minor located on the south bank of the Lycus River in the Lycus Valley, near the neighboring towns of Laodicea and Hierapolis (ABD, 1:1089; DPL, 147-52; Dunn, 20-23). As Herodotus describes Xerxes' march westward in 480 B.C., he says, "He came to Colossae, a great city of Phrygia (πόλιν μεγάλην Φρυγίης), situated at a spot where the river Lycus plunges into a chasm and disappears. The river, after flowing underground for about five Stadia, reappears once more and empties itself into the Maeander" (Herodotus, History, 7.30; O'Brien; Bruce; NW, 2, i:714-15; ANTC, 155-61). Antiochus III (223-187 B.C.) transported about two thousand Jews from Mesopotamia to Phrygia and Lydia (Jos., Ant., 12:147-53) and some may have been Essenes who settled in the area of Colossae (TJ, 82-83). ἅγιος (# 41) holy. The adjs. can be taken w. the noun ("the holy brothers") or it can be taken as a noun indicating a definite class of people, "the holy ones" (Moule; Martin, NCB). πιστός (# 4412) The adj. can mean "believing" or "faithful." The latter sense is perhaps preferable and has the idea of trustworthy, steadfast, unswerving (Lightfoot; Dunn). ◆ 3 εὐχαριστοῦμεν pres. ind. act. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks. The pl. could be an epistolary pl. ("I thank") or a real pl., "Timothy and I thank" (Moule). The expression of congratulatory thanksgiving was a characteristic feature of ancient letter writing (Dunn). πάντοτε (# 4121) always. It could be taken either w. the part. or w. the main vb. The latter is probably more accurate (Lohse). προσευχόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray. Iterative pres. points to a repeated action. ◆ 4 ἀκούσαντες aor. act. part. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Aor. indicates antecedent action. Part. could be temp. ("after we heard") or causal, "because we heard" (Martin, NCB). He heard from Epaphras, since the apostle had no direct personal knowledge of the Colossian church (Lightfoot). ἔχετε pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ◆ 5 διά (# 1328) w. acc. because. ἐλπίδα acc. ἐλπίς (# 1828) hope (TDNT; EH). The prep. phrase can be taken either w. the main vb. as the ground of thanksgiving, or w. the words πίστιν and ἀγάπην, indicating the reason for these (Abbott; Eadie; Moule). For the psychological necessity of hope in one's life s. Basil Jackson, "Psychology, Psychiatry and the Pastor: Relationships Between Psychiatry, Psychology, and Religion," Bib Sac 132 [1975]: 3-15. ἀποκειμένην pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀπόκειμαι (# 641) to put up, to store up, to put away for one's use. As an extension of a royal Persian custom, Hellenistic rulers would store up goods for faithful servants (Lohse; TDNT). προηκούσατε aor. ind. act. προακούω (# 4578) to hear beforehand, to hear previously; i.e., they had heard the gospel before they had heard the false teaching (Moule). ἀλήθειας (# 237) truth. Here, gen. of quality belonging to λόγος, "the word of truth" (Abbott). ◆ 6 παρόντος pres. act. part. (adj.) πάρειμι (# 4205) to arrive and be present (Lohmeyer). The prep. combines the idea of the gospel being present w. the idea of the gospel coming to them (Abbott; Lightfoot). κάθως (# 2777) just as. καρποφορούμενον pres. mid. part. καρποφορέω (# 2844) to bear fruit. Mid. emphasizes that the gospel bears fruit of itself. Part. is used in a periphrastic construction emphasizing the continuity of the process (RWP). αὐξανόμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. αὐξάνω (# 889) to grow, to increase, to develop. The word refers to the outward expansion, while the previous part. refers to the personal inner working (Abbott). ἀφ' ἧς ἡμέρας (# 608; 4005; 2465) from which day. The fruitfulness and growing started on the day they received the grace of God (Lohse). ἠκούσατε aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Aor. points to the specific time when they heard the gospel. ἐπέγνωτε aor. ind. act. ἐπιγινώσκω (# 2105) to know, to recognize. It implies not so much developed knowledge as active conscience recognition, of taking knowledge of (Abbott; Dunn). Ingressive aor., "you came to know." χάρις (# 5921) grace. It refers to God's unmerited and undeserved help to someone in need, here indicating the message of salvation in the gospel (TDNT; NIDNTT; EDNT). ἐν ἀληθείᾳ (# 1877; 237) in truth; i.e., the grace of God as it truly is (Moule). ◆ 7 ἐμάθετε aor. ind. act. μανθάνω (# 3443) to learn. ἀγαπητός (# 28) one who is loved, beloved. σύνδουλος (# 5281) fellow slave. πιστός (# 4412) faithful. διάκονος (# 1356) minister, one who ministers to the needs of another (TDNT). As a native of Colossae (Col. 4:12), Epa-

phras had been the evangelist of the Lycus valley where there were now flourishing churches (O'Brien). ◆ 8 δηλώσας aor. act. part. δηλόω (# 1317) to make plain, to make clear. ἐν πνεύματι (# 1877; 4460) in the Spirit. It is to be connected w. ἀγάπη and expresses the ground of their love, which was not individual sympathy, personal acquaintance or the like, but belonged to the sphere of the Holy Spirit's influence (Abbott). ◆ 9 διὰ τοῦτο (# 1328; 4047) for this reason. καί (# 2779) also. The word is to be taken w. the main vb. (Lohse). ἠκούσαμεν aor. ind. act. s.v. 6. παυόμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) παύομαι (# 4264) to cease. For the 1st. pers. pl. s.v. 3. προσευχόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. προσεύχομαι s.v. 3. αἰτούμενοι pres. mid. part. αἰτέω (# 160) to ask, to request. Mid. indicates that one is asking something for himself. Mid. was often used in a commercial sense and also of requests addressed to God (BD, 165f; M, 160f). ἵνα (# 2671) that. W. subj. used to introduce the content of the prayer (Lohse). πληρωθῆτε aor. subj. pass. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill. Pass. is used as a substitute for God's name: "may God fill you" (Lohse). Pass. is followed here by the acc. (BD, 87). ἐπίγνωσις (# 2106) knowledge. τὴν ἐπίγνωσιν τοῦ θελήματος knowledge of the will of God. The knowledge here is not of other worlds but of the will of God (Lohse). The concept of knowledge in Colossians is related more to the concept of knowledge found in the OT and the DSS than that in the gnostic philosophy (Edwin Yamauchi, "Qumran and Colosse," Bib Sac 121 [1964]: 141-52; DPL, 352-53; for specific references in the DSS and other literature s. also NIDNTT; Dunn; Eph. 1:17). σοφίᾳ (# 5053) wisdom (DPL, 966-73). The word indicated for the Gr. the mental excellency in its highest and fullest sense (Lightfoot; Abbott). The OT concept of wisdom (חכמה) was that of applying the knowledge of God's will to life's situations (TDNT; Lohse; NIDOTTE, 2:130-34; 4:1276-85). σύνεσις (# 5304) understanding, insight. The word refers to putting together the facts and information and drawing conclusions and seeing relationships. πνευματικῇ (# 4461) spiritual. The prevailing meaning of the word in the NT is "of, or belonging to the Holy Spirit" (Eadie; for the suf. of the adj. s. MH, 378). The phrase is best taken w. the vb. πληρωθῆτε, meaning to be filled w. the knowledge of God by having spiritual knowledge and discernment (Harris). ◆ 10 περιπατῆσαι aor. act. inf. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to conduct one's life (Dunn). Inf. to express intended or potential results (IBG, 141; BD, 197f; S. Lewis Johnson, Jr., "Spiritual Knowledge and Walking Worthily of the Lord," Bib Sac 118 [1961]: 342). According to the teaching of the Dead Sea community, those who walked according to the spirit of truth will walk pleasing before God. For this teaching and the references in the DSS s. Lohse. ἀρεσκεία (# 742) pleasing. The word, often used in a neg. sense of trying to gain favor from someone, describes that cringing, subservient attitude of one who would do anything to please a benefactor (Abbott; Johnson, 342; MM; TDNT; Dunn). καρποφοροῦντες pres. act. part. καρποφορέω s.v. 6. Pres. indicates that fruit-bearing for believers is to be a continuous thing; the act. voice may point to external diffusion or it may simply direct attention away from the inherent energy of the fruit-bearing instrument, the Christian (Johnson, 342). αὐξανόμενοι pres. mid. part. αὐξάνω s.v. 6. ἐπίγνωσις (# 2106) knowledge. Dat. here could be either loc. ("growing in knowledge"), or it could be instr., "growing by knowledge." The simple instr. dat. represents the knowledge of God as the dew or the rain which nurtures the growth of the plant (Lightfoot). ◆ 11 δύναμις (# 1539) power, might. δυναμούμενοι pres. pass. (dep.) part. δυναμόω (# 1540) to make powerful, to strengthen. κράτος (# 3197) strength, might. It refers to the inherent strength which displays itself in the rule over others (TDNT; GEW, 2:8; s. Eph. 1:19). Here it refers to the might which is characteristic of His glory (Eadie; Moule) and is a Semitic construction meaning "His glorious might," w. the word "glory" indicating the awesome radiance of deity (Dunn). μακροθυμία (# 5705) patience, longsuffering. It refers to the self-restraint which does not hastily revenge a wrong (Lightfoot; TDNT; NTW, 83-85; s. Gal. 5:22; Rom.2:4). ◆ 12 εὐχαριστοῦντες pres. act. part. s.v. 3. ἱκανώσαντι aor. act. part. ἱκανόω (# 2655) to make sufficient, to qualify, to authorize. Adj. use of part. to emphasize a quality. Aor. indicates antecedent action. This is a qualification for inheritance due solely to the grace of God (Johnson, 344). For the textual problem s. TC, 620. μερίδα acc. μερίς (# 3535) part, portion. κλῆρος (# 3102) lot. The phrase is not exactly equivalent to the word κληρονομία since it designates only the allotted part. Gen. here is either apposition ("the portion which consists in the lot") or it is partitive, "to have a share in the lot" (Abbott). For the teaching of inheritance in the DSS s. Lohse. φωτί dat. φῶς (# 5890) light. The inheritance is in the light because He who is the Light dwells there and fills heaven w. His marvelous light (Johnson, 344). ◆ 13 ἐρρύσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ῥύομαι (# 4861) to rescue, to deliver. For the relation of rescuing or deliverance w. the OT and the Dead Sea community s. Lohse. ἐξουσία (# 2026) authority. The word properly means liberty of action, i.e., freedom to do something without any hindrance. In relation to others it means authority and here refers to the characteristic and ruling principle under which they dwelt before conversion to Christ (Abbott; TDNT). μετέστησεν aor. ind. act. μεθίστημι (# 3496) to remove from one place to another, to transfer. The word was often used to signify deportation of a body of men or the removal of them to form a colony (Eadie). βασιλεία (# 993) kingdom (DPL, 524-26). τοῦ υἱοῦ (# 5626) son.

Here possessive gen., "belonging to the Son." τῆς ἀγάπης (# 27) obj. gen., "the Son who is the object of His love (Abbott). ◆ 14 ἐν ᾧ (# 1877; 4047) in whom. The reference is to Christ and the rel. sentence speaks of the new life which we have received in Christ (Lohse). ἀπολύτρωσις (# 667) redemption, complete release based on the payment of a price (s. Rom. 3:24; LAE, 327; also the references to the DSS listed by Lohse). τὴν ἄφεσιν τῶν ἁμαρτιῶν forgiveness of sin, obj. gen. Epex. acc. explaining redemption (Harris). ◆ 15 εἰκών (# 1635) image, copy. In Gr. thought an image shares in reality what it represents. Christ is the perfect likeness of God. The word contains the idea of representation and manifestation (TLNT; NIDNTT; Moule; Lightfoot; TDNT; Lohse; Bruce; PGL, 410-16). The word points to His revealing the Father and His pre-existence (O'Brien). For pre-existence in Judaism s. Bruce; DPL, 743-46. ἀόρατος (# 548) not capable of being seen, invisible. It was a central point of Jewish theology that God cannot be seen (Dunn). πρωτότοκος (# 4758) firstborn. The word emphasizes the pre-existence and uniqueness of Christ as well as His superiority over creation. The term does not indicate that Christ was a creation or a created being. (For this important word s. Lohse; Lightfoot; Abbott; Moule; Martin; PRJ, 150-53; SB, 3:626; TLNT; EDNT; TDNT; NIDNTT; GELTS, 410; PGL, 1201-3; GI, 122-26; CEJC, 53f; Bruce; O'Brien.) κτίσεως (# 3232) creation. ◆ 16 ἐν αὐτῷ in Him. The prep. denotes Christ as the sphere within which the work of creation takes place (Bruce). All the laws and purposes which guide the creation and government of the universe reside in Him (Lightfoot). The prep. is possibly both instr. and local (Moule). He is not in all things, but all things are in Him, a difference that is not insignificant (Fred B. Craddock, "'All Things in Him': A Critical Note on Col. 1.15-20," NTS 12 [1965]: 78-80). ἐκτίσθη aor. ind. pass. κτίζω (# 3231) to create. ὁρατός (# 3971) visible. ἀόρατος (# 548) invisible. εἴτε ... εἴτε whether. κυριότης (# 3262) lordship. ἀρχαί fem. pl. ἀρχή (# 794) beginning, ruler. δι' αὐτοῦ through Him. The prep. w. the gen. describes Christ as the immediate instrument of creation (Abbott; Lightfoot). εἰς αὐτὸν for Him, unto Him. The prep. indicates that Christ is the goal of creation (Lohse). The rabbis taught that the world was created for the Messiah (SB, 3:626). ἔκτισται perf. ind. pass. κτίζω (# 3231) to create. Perf. emphasizes the duration and persistence of the act of creation (Ellicott). ◆ 17 αὐτός (# 899) The pron. is used emphatically–He Himself, in contrast to the created things (Abbott). Here it means "He and no other" (MT,40). πρό (# 4574) before. The prep. could refer to priority in time or in rank but here the idea of time is here more suitable. Used w. the pres. of the vb., the idea expresses immutability of existence; i.e., "His existence is before all things" (Abbott; Moule; Lightfoot). συνέστηκεν perf. ind. act. συνίστημι (# 5319) to place together, to stand together, to hold together, to cohere. God Himself is the principal of cohesion in the universe (Lightfoot), the unifying band which encompasses everything and holds it together. This applies not only to the largest things of the universe, but also to its smallest things (Lohse). ◆ 18 κεφαλή head (DPL, 377-78; BBC). ἀρχή (# 794) beginning, origin. The word refers to priority in time and to originating power (Lightfoot; Moule). γένηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. The purp. cl. means, "that He Himself in all things (material and spiritual) may come to hold the first place" (RWP). πρωτεύων pres. act. part. πρωτεύω (# 4750) to be first, to have first place, to hold the chief place. For the quotation from Meander–"Never does a house fail to come to grief, where woman takes the lead in everything"–s. MM. ◆ 19 εὐδόκησεν aor. ind. act. εὐδοκέω (# 2305) to be pleased. The subject here is God. πλήρωμα (# 4445) fullness. The word denotes completeness and was used for a ship's crew (Dunn; GELTS; DPL, 320). It could refer either to the totality of the divine powers and attributes (Lightfoot) or perhaps better to the fullness of saving grace and power which belongs to one constituted as savior (Eadie; S. Lewis Johnson, "From Enmity to Amity," Bib Sac 119 [1962]: 141-42). κατοικῆσαι aor. act. inf. κατοικέω (# 2997) to live, to dwell, to settle down. The word indicates permanent abode (Lightfoot). The aor. could be ingressive aor., "to take up one's permanent abode" (Lightfoot, 142) ◆ 20 ἀποκαταλλάξαι aor. act. inf. ἀποκαταλλάσσω (# 639) to exchange hostility for friendship, to reconcile. (Johnson, 143; TDNT; NIDNTT; V; APC, 186-233; MNTW, 10ff). Prep. in compound has the meaning "back" and implies a restitution to a state from which one has fallen. The meaning is "to effect a thorough change back" (MH, 298; Lightfoot). Inf. can be epex., explaining what was pleasing to Him, or inf. of purpose. εἰρηνοποιήσας aor. act. part. εἰρηνοποιέω (# 1647) to make peace. The part. describes the means of the reconciliation. The insertion of the part. indicates that reconciliation is not to be thought of as a cosmic miracle which merely changed the state of the universe outside of man, but shows that reconciliation is primarily concerned w. the restoration of relationships (R.P. Martin, "Reconciliation and Forgiveness in Colossians," RH, 113; O'Brien). Peace is more than an end to hostilities. It has a positive content, pointing to the presence of positive blessings and concerned w. the spiritual blessing and prosperity of the whole man (VANT, 251; DPL, 697-98). αἵμα (# 135) blood, referring to a life given up in a violent death, and in this context denoting life offered up sacrificially and voluntarily in death (Harris). σταυρός (# 5089) cross. Here gen. of reference or relationship (Harris). ◆ 21 καί (# 2779) and, also. The word indicates that this message of reconciliation is also applicable to those at the church of Colossae (Lohse). ποτε (# 4537) once, formerly. ὄντας pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἀπηλλοτριωμένους perf. pass. part. ἀπαλλοτριόω (# 558) to estrange, to alienate. Part. used in a periphrastic construction w. the perf. It expresses more forcibly the settledness of the alienation (Abbott; s. Eph. 2:12). ἐχθρός (# 2398) hostility. The adj. is act. rather than pass. (Lightfoot). διανοίᾳ (# 1379) mind. Here dat. of reference. The hostile minds of the Colossian Christians have turned into a willing and glad subservience; and the ultimate result of this interchange of attitude toward God will be perfection in sanctification (Ladd, 455). ◆ 22 νυνί (# 3815) now. ἀποκατηλλάγητε aor. ind. pass. ἀποκαταλάσσω s.v. 20. The vb. has a soteriological meaning which embraces both the overcoming of the cosmic hostility through the lordship of Christ and the restoration of sinful men to God's favor and family (Martin, RH, 114). For a discussion of the pass. as a variant reading s. TC, 621f; Lohse. παραστῆσαι aor. act. inf. παρίστημι (# 4225) to present. Inf. can express either purp. or result. The picture here may be a sacrificial metaphor (Moule). It may be a legal word indicating that one is placed before a court of justice (Lohse; Dunn). ἄμωμος (# 320) without spot, without blemish. In the LXX the word was used as a t.t. to designate the absence of anything amiss in a sacrifice, anything which would render it unworthy to be offered (Trench, Synonyms, 379; GELTS, 25). ἀνέγκλητος (# 441) without accusation, unaccused, free from any charge at all. It is a legal word indicating that there is no legal or judicial accusation which can be brought against a person (Trench, Synonyms, 381; TDNT; Abbott; Lohse; O'Brien). κατενώπιον (# 2979) before; "right down in the eye of" (RWP). ◆ 23 εἴ γε (# 1145; 1623) if, assuming that (Abbott). The particle introduces a cond. cl. which the author assumes to be true, thus expressing confidence rather than doubt (Dunn; Harris). ἐπιμένετε pres. ind. act. ἐπιμένω (# 2152) to remain, to continue. Prep. in compound adds to the force of the linear action of the pres.: "to continue and then some" (RWP). τεθεμελιωμένοι perf. pass. part. θεμελιόω (# 2530) to lay the foundation of something; pass., to be founded. Perf. emphasizes the completed state or condition. ἑδραῖος (# 1612) firm. This word refers to the firmness of the structure (Abbott). For DSS parallels to the figure of a building used to describe the people of God s. Lohse. μετακινούμενοι pres. mid./pass. part. μετακινέω (# 3560) to move from one place to another, to shift from one place to another, to move away (transitive) (BAGD; MM). Pres. stresses the "not constantly shifting" (Abbott). ἠκούσατε aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. κηρυχθέντος aor. pass. part. κηρύσσω (# 3062) to preach, to proclaim, to herald, to proclaim as a herald (TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT). ἐγενόμην aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ◆ 24 χαίρω pres. ind. act. (# 5897) to rejoice. W. the temp. νῦν (# 3814) it refers to the present condition of Paul as he was in prison (Harris). πάθημα (# 4077) that which is suffered, suffering. The suf. in the word indicates a pass. idea or the result of an action (MH, 355). ὑπὲρ ὑμῶν (# 5642; 5148) on behalf of you, for you. The prepositional phrase is to be connected w. the word παθήμασιν (Eadie). ἀνταναπληρῶ pres. ind. act. ἀνταναπληρόω (# 499) to fill up. The idea of the prep. in compound may be reciprocal or may signify that the supply comes from an opposite quarter; or it may contain the idea of substituting for that which is lacking (MH, 297; Lightfoot; Lohse; S. Lewis Johnson, "The Minister of the Mystery," Bib Sac 119 [1962]: 228ff). ὑστέρημα (# 5729) lacking, that which is lacking. θλίψεων gen. pl. θλῖψις (# 2568) pressure, tribulation, affliction. The sufferings of Paul were the afflictions of Christ, who suffered in and w. Paul because of his identification w. Christ in mystical union (Johnson, 231; for a discussion of the various interpretations s. Moule; O'Brien). σαρκί dat. σάρξ (# 4922) flesh. σώματος (# 5393) body. ἐκκλησία (# 1711) assembly, a group called together for a specific reason–church. Here it refers to the universal church composed of all believers. ◆ 25 ἐγενόμην aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. οἰκονομία (# 3873) stewardship. The word indicated the responsibility, authority, and obligation given to a household slave (s. Lohse; J. Reumann, "OIKONOMIA - Terms in Paul in Comparison with Lukian Heilsgeschichte," NTS 13 [1967]: 147-67; Bruce; O'Brien; Dunn; TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). δοθεῖσαν aor. pass. part. (adj.) δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Theol. pass. indicating God as the giver. πληρῶσαι aor. act. inf. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill, to fulfill. The word has the sense of doing fully, carrying to completion (Moule). Inf. of purp. Aor. points to the specific act. ◆ 26 μυστήριον (# 3696) mystery, that which is hidden and undiscoverable by human means, but that which has been revealed by God (Eph. 3:3; Johnson, 231f; Lohse; Moule; O'Brien; Dunn). ἀποκεκρυμμένον perf. pass. part. (adj.) ἀποκρύπτω (# 648) to hide, to veil, to conceal. Perf. part. emphasizes the state or condition. ἀπό from. The prep. is doubtless temp. (Lightfoot). αἰώνων gen. pl. αἰών (# 172) age. The pl. here indicates successive periods of time (TDNT). γενεῶν gen. pl. γενεά (# 1155) generation; an age includes many generations (Abbott). ἐφανερώθη aor. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear, to manifest. ◆ 27 ἠθέλησεν aor. ind. act. θέλω (# 2527) to desire, to want to, w. inf. γνωρίσαι aor. act. inf. γνωρίζω (# 1192) to make known. Compl. inf. to the main vb. δόξης gen. sing. δόξα (# 1518) glory. The word became a comprehensive word for God's glorious presence (Moule; NIDNTT; TDNT). ἔθνεσιν dat. pl. ἔθνος (# 1620) folk, nation, Gentile. ἐν ὑμῖν (# 1877; 5148) in you, among you. For Christ to be among the Gentiles involved being in those who believed (Johnson, 232). ◆ 28 καταγγέλλομεν pres. ind. act. καταγγέλλω (# 2859) to proclaim. The word indicates an official proclamation (Lohmeyer; NIDNTT). Pres. emphasizes the continual and habitual action. νουθετοῦντες pres. act. part. νουθετέω (# 3805) to admonish, to correct through instruction and warning (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). Part. of manner defining more nearly the manner or accompaniments of the proclamation (Ellicott). πάντα ἄνθρωπον each or every man. The threefold repetition of the phrase is for emphasis. διδάσκοντες pres. act. part. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. παραστήσωμεν aor. subj. act. s.v. 22. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. τέλειος (# 5455) perfect, mature (Lohse). ◆ 29 κοπιῶ pres. ind. act. κοπιάω (# 3159) to work, to labor, to labor w. wearisome effort, to work to exhaustion (T; TDNT). ἀγωνιζόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀγωνίζομαι (# 76) to strive, to exert effort. The athletic picture behind this word emphasizes Paul's missionary work, w. all its attendant toil, tireless exertion, and struggles against all manner of setbacks and opposition (PAM, 175). ἐνέργεια (# 1918) working, effectual working. The word is used of the effective working of God's power (MNTW, 46-54). ἐνεργουμένην pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to work effectively, to be effectual (TDNT).

◆ 1 θέλω pres. ind. act. (# 2527) to wish, to desire to, to want to, w. inf. εἰδέναι perf. act. inf. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ἡλίκον (# 2462) how great. ἀγών (# 74) struggle. The picture is that of an athletic contest which is strenuous and demanding. The struggle here is not the struggle against God, but the intense effort of the one praying as he struggles within himself and against those who oppose the gospel (PAM, 113f, 123f; BBC). ἑόρακαν perf. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. For the form of this vb. s. BD, 44. ἐν σαρκί (# 1877; 4922) in the flesh. This is to be taken w. the noun πρόσωπόνμου and implies that they had a knowledge of Him, though not a personal one (Abbott). ◆ 2 ἵνα (# 2671) that. The word introduces the purp. of the struggle. παρακληθῶσιν aor. subj. pass. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to comfort, to encourage (Phil. 2:1). συμβιβασθέντες aor. pass. part. συμβιβάζω (# 5204) to bring together, to unite, to knit together. The meaning here could be to instruct, to teach (Dibelius; Lohse; TDNT). Part. of manner. πληροφορία (# 4443) full assurance, firm conviction, confidence. The gen. is descriptive, the wealth consists of conviction (Moule). συνέσεως (# 5304) understanding, insight. ἐπίγνωσις (# 2106) knowledge. μυστήριον (# 3696) mystery. The gen. τοῦ θεοῦ (# 2536) is possessive and the next gen. Χριστοῦ (# 5986) Christ, is in apposition to the word μυστηρίον (Moule; Lightfoot). ◆ 3 θησαυρός (# 2565) storehouse, treasure. The imagery may be from Jewish apocalpytic ideas of heavenly treasures, hidden from the human eye (Dunn; 1 Enoch 18:1). γνώσεως (# 1194) knowledge. ἀπόκρυφος (# 649) hidden. It is in Christ that all the treasures of divine wisdom and knowledge have been stored up–formerly in hiding, but now are displayed to those who have come to know Christ (Bruce). ◆ 4 ἵνα (# 2671) that, in order that. The conjunction may express purp. ("I say this in order that ..."), or equally possible w. an imperatival sense: "Let no one ..." (MT, 102). παραλογίζηται pres. subj. mid. (dep.) παραλογίζομαι (# 4165) to reckon wrong, to cheat by false reasoning (T). The word was used in the papyri of a keeper of a state library who had shown a willingness to make a wrong use of certain documents. Paul uses the word here to point to drawing an erroneous conclusion from the reasoning submitted (MM; for the use in Josephus of the meaning "to deceive" s. CCFJ, 3:300). Prep. in compound has the idea of counting beside or counting aside, w. the idea of miscalculating (MH; 319; RWP). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. πιθανολογίᾳ (# 4391) dat. sing. persuasive speech. The word was used by classical writers for probable reasoning opposed to demonstration (Abbott). The word is used in the papyri in a court case of those who sought persuasive words to keep things obtained by robbery (Lohse; MM). The terminology used here is practically equivalent to our English expression, "to talk someone into something," "to use plausible sounding, but actually specious arguments," as one would hear at the marketplaces (Dunn; S. Lewis Johnson, "Beware of Philosophy," Bib Sac 119 [1962]: 304). Instr. dat. ◆ 5 γάρ (# 1142) for. The particle gives the reason why Paul, who was unknown to the Colossians and not present w. them, can give such a warning. Through the Holy Spirit he is so bound to them as though he were w. them (Dibelius). ἄπειμι pres. ind. act. (# 582) to be away from someone, to be absent. χαίρων pres. ind. act. χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice. βλέπων pres. act. part. (temp.) βλέπω (# 1063) to see. Pres. expresses contemporaneous action. "I am with you rejoicing and seeing you." τάξιν (# 5423) an orderly arrangement; used in the military sense of a rank or orderly array (Lightfoot; Lohse). στερέωμα (# 5106) that which is firm, hard, solid. For the development in meaning s. GEW 2:790f. Here it is probably a continuation of the military metaphor and means a solid front, a close phalanx (Lightfoot). ◆ 6 παρελάβετε aor. ind. act. παραλαμβάνω (# 4161) to receive, to receive through transmission, to receive through teaching; equivalent to the rabbinical terms for receiving and passing on tradition (Johnson, 305f; Lohse; TDNT). περιπατεῖτε pres. imp. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to walk, to conduct life in accord w. the truth of Paul's preaching and not in accord w. enticing words of heretics (Johnson, 306). Pres. calls for a continual and habitual action. For a brief discussion of the so called

"Colossian heresy" s. BTNT, 304-5; 400-12; DPL, 350-53, also 148-50. ◆ 7 ἐρριζωμένοι perf. pass. part. ῥιζόω (# 4845) to cause to take root; pass., to be or to become firmly rooted or fixed. The word was also used in the metaphor of the building and pictured the firm and solid foundation (BAGD; Lohse; TDNT). Perf. points to the past completed action w. continuing results or condition and pictures the settled state brought about by conversion. The following parts. in the pres. emphasize the continuing development which is always advancing (Abbott). ἐποικοδομούμενοι pres. pass. part. ἐποικοδομέω (# 2224) to build up, to build up upon (BDG). βεβαιούμενοι pres. pass. part. βεβαιόω (# 1011) to make firm, to establish, to strengthen (BAGD; TDNT; TLNT). Pres. gives the idea of being more and more established (Abbott). πίστις (# 4411) faith. The word could be used in the subjective sense so the dat. would be instr. ("by your faith"). Faith would be, as it were, the cement of the building (Lightfoot). It is, however, more probable that faith is to be taken in its obj. sense, referring to the doctrines of the Christian faith (Eadie; Johnson, 303). ἐδιδάχθητε aor. ind. pass. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. περισσεύοντες pres. act. part. περισσεύω (# 4355) to overflow, to abound. εὐχαριστίᾳ (# 2374) dat. sing. thanksgiving. ◆ 8 βλέπετε pres. imp. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to watch, to see; here, "Look out!" "Beware!" The word is normally followed by μή plus the subj., but the ind. ἔσται in this case shows that the danger is real (Lightfoot). ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. συλαγωγῶν pres. act. part. συλαγωγέω (# 5194) to carry off as booty or captive. The word meant "to kidnap" (Dibelius; Johnson, 306), and here depicts carrying someone away from the truth into the slavery of error (BAGD). φιλοσοφία (# 5814) philosophy. It was used among Jewish writers in the sense of "teaching," "an intellectual movement" (Dunn; CCFJ; BBC). κενός (# 3031) empty. ἀπάτη (# 573) deceit. παράδοσις (# 4142) tradition, that which is given over from one to another (TDNT; TLNT). ἄνθρωπος (# 476) man; man-made tradition to be contrasted w. the true, living, divine tradition just alluded to (Moule). στοιχεῖα (# 5122) component parts of a series, elementary things. The word could refer to elemental powers–cosmic spirits–or more probably to elementary teaching (Johnson, 308; Moule; Dibelius; Lohse; TDNT). For studies regarding the heresy at Colossae s. Martin, 12ff; Martin, NCB, 9-19; Andrew J. Bandstra, "Did the Colossian Errorists Need a Mediator?" ND, 329-43; NW, 21, i:722-26; also the various articles in CC; Dunn, 23-35. ◆ 9 κατοικεῖ pres. ind. act. κατοικέω (# 2997) to settle down, to be at home (s. Col. 1:19). Pres. indicates the continual state and points to the pres. reality (Lohse). πλήρωμα (# 4445) fullness (s. Col. 1:19). θεότη (# 2540) divine nature, deity. The word differs from the expression "Godhead" in Rom. 1:20 in that it emphasizes not so much divine attributes but divine nature or essence. Divine glory did not merely gild Him, lighting up His person for a season w. a splendor not His own; He was and is absolute and perfect God (Trench, Synonyms, 8; TDNT; Lightfoot; EDNT; O'Brien). σωματικῶς (# 5395) adv., bodily. The word refers to the human body of Christ (Johnson, 310), indicating also the full humanity of Jesus a humanity which was not simply a covering for His deity (Lohse; TDNT; Moule; Lohmeyer; O'Brien). ◆ 10 πεπληρωμένοι perf. pass. part. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill, to make full. Perf. is used in a periphrastic construction accentuating the abiding results of believers' completeness through union w. the exalted Lord. In Him they find their needs fully met (Johnson, 310). κεφαλή (# 3051) head. The word here probably denotes primarily supremacy, but it also emphasizes that the head is the center of vital force, the source of all energy and life (Lightfoot; DPL, 377-78). ἀρχή (# 794) beginning, principality, power. ◆ 11 περι-ετμήθητε aor. ind. pass. περιτέμνω (# 4362) to circumcise (s. Gal. 2:3). περιτομῇ (# 4364) circumcision. ἀχειροποίητος (# 942) not made w. hands. ἀπέκδυσις (# 589) putting off. Prep. in compound expresses a complete putting off and laying aside (Abbott). σάρκος gen. sing. σάρξ (# 4922) flesh. The reference here could be to putting off the fleshly nature of man, the crucifixion of the old man (S. Lewis Johnson, "The Sufficiency of Union with Christ," Bib Sac 120 [1963]: 15), or it could be a reference to the physical death or crucifixion of Christ (Moule; SBT, 41f). ◆ 12 συνταφέντες aor. pass. part. συνθάπτω (# 5313) to bury together. συνηγέρθητε aor. ind. pass. συνεγείρω (# 5283) to raise up together w. someone, to be co-resurrected. ἐνέργεια (# 1918) effective working, divine working (s. Col. 1:29). ἐγείραντος aor. act. part. ἐγείρω (# 1586) to raise up, to resurrect. The rite of baptism typified the reality of death and resurrection. Death is the neg. side, resurrection is the positive (Johnson, 16). ◆ 13 ὄντας pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Pres. part. to emphasize a continuing trait. παράπτωμα (# 4183) transgression (s. Eph. 2:1). Dat. here could be loc. or instr., describing either the circumstances (Moule) or the reason for their being dead (Lightfoot). ἀκροβυστίᾳ (# 213) foreskin, uncircumcision. συνεζωοποίησεν aor. ind. act. συζωοποιέω (# 5188) to make alive together (s. Eph. 2:5; for the usage in Jewish writings s. Dunn). χαρισάμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. χαρίζομαι (# 5919) to grant as a favor, to give graciously, to forgive out of grace (Abbott; TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT; CPP). ◆ 14 ἐξαλείψας aor. act. part. ἐξαλείφω (# 1981) to wash over, to wipe out. The word was used for wiping out the memory of an experience, or for canceling a vote, annulling a law, or canceling a charge or debt. It was also used for washing out the writing on a papyrus (NTW, 46-48; MM; Preisigke, 1:507; Moule; BBC). καθ' (# 2848) w. the gen., against. χειρόγραφον (# 5934) handwriting.

It was used as a t.t. for a written acknowledgment of debt. It is an I.O.U., a statement of indebtedness personally signed by the debtor (Abbott; Moule; LAE, 334). For a description of the Jewish certificate of indebtedness and for its use in Jewish apocalyptical writings refering to a book where the good and bad deeds of a person were recorded s. Dunn; SB, 3:628; Lohse. δόγμα (# 1504) decree. The word referred to a legal obligation, a binding law or edict placed in a public place for all to see (TDNT; Lohmeyer; Lohse; Martin, NCB; NDIEC, 4:146; Dunn). Here dat. of description, a document containing or consisting of decrees (IBG, 45; MT, 219). ὑπεναντίος (# 5641) opposed, against, hostile, directly opposed. It described the active hostility (Lightfoot). ἦρκεν perf. ind. act. αἴρω (# 149) to take away. Perf. stands in contrast to the aor. in this section and fixes attention on the pres. state of freedom resulting from the action which was esp. before the apostle's mind (Abbott). μέσον (# 3545) middle, combined w. the vb., a strong expression meaning "and put out of sight" (Lightfoot). προσηλώσας aor. act. part. προσηλόω (# 4669) to nail to. Modal part. describing the manner in which Christ removed the handwriting. He nailed the Mosaic Law with all its decrees to His cross and it died w. Him (Ellicott). σταυρός (# 5089) cross. ◆ 15 ἀπεκδυσάμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἀπεκδύομαι (# 588) to strip off, to put off as one puts off a garment. Christ divested Himself at the cross of the evil power which had struggled w. Him so strongly during His ministry in attempts to force Him to abandon the pathway of the cross (Johnson, 20; Dunn). ἐδειγμάτισεν aor. ind. act. δειγματίζω (# 1258) to display, to expose, to display as a victor displays his captives or trophies in a triumphal procession (Lightfoot). παρρησίᾳ (# 4244) openness, boldness, confidence (Abbott; Lightfoot). θριαμβεύσας aor. act. part. θριαμβεύω (# 2581) to lead in a triumph. It pictures a victorious general leading his prisoners in a triumphal procession (Moule; TJ, 204-9: s. 2 Cor. 2:14; also Rory B. Egan, "Lexical Evidence of Two Pauline Passages," NovT 19 [1977]: 34-62; R. Yates, "Colossians 2.15: Christ Triumphant," NTS 37 (1991): 573-91. For a study of these vs. s. Ralph P. Martin, "Reconciliation and Forgiveness in Colossians," RH, 116-24). ◆ 16 κρινέτω pres. imp. act. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge, to take one to task (Abbott). Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) calls for the stopping of an action in progress or indicates that an action should not be a habitual one (MKG, 272f). βρῶσις (# 1111) eating. πόσις (# 4530) drinking. Here it refers to indulgence in wine (Dibelius). The idea that man could serve deity or draw near to deity or prepare oneself for the reception of a revelation through ascetic living and fasting was widespread in the ancient world (Lohse). μέρος (# 3538) part. Used in the construction ἐν μέρει to mean "in respect to", "in the matter of" (Abbott). ἑορτή (# 2038) festival. Here it refers chiefly to the annual festival like the Passover, Pentecost, etc. (Lightfoot). νεομηνία (# 3741) new moon (DPL, 402-4). This describes the monthly festival and the following word σαββάτων refers to the weekly holy day (Lightfoot). ◆ 17 σκιά (# 5014) shadow. The word refers either to a shadow which in itself has no substance but indicates the existence of a body which casts the shadow (Abbott), or it indicates a dim outline, a sketch of an object in contrast w. the object itself. This would mean that the OT ritual observances were dim outlines of the NT redemptive truths (S. Lewis Johnson, "The Paralysis of Legalism," Bib Sac 120 [1963]: 112). For the use of the figure of a shadow in Josephus and rabbinical writings s. SB, 3:628. μελλόντων pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. Subst. part. Here it means "things coming." ◆ 18 καταβραβευέτω pres. imp. act. καταβραβεύω (# 2857) to decide against someone as an umpire would, to deprive of the prize, to give judgment against someone (BAGD; Abbott; Lohse; Preisigke, 1:744; Lohmeyer). θέλων pres. act. part. θέλω (# 2527) to want to, to desire to, w. inf. Vb. here followed by the prep. could be taken as a septuagintism and be translated "being bent upon" (Fred O. Francis, "Humility and Angelic Worship in Colossians 2:18," CAC, 167). ταπεινοφροσύνῃ (# 5425) lowliness, humility. The word was often used in connection w. fasting, and several Jewish Christian writings specify that the consequence of this ascetic practice is entrance into the heavenly realm (Francis, CAC, 168ff). θρησκείᾳ (# 2579) worship. The word can be used in a variety of ways but stands for the act of worship (Francis, CAC, 180). ἀγγέλος (# 34) angel. Here the word is normally taken as obj. gen. ("the worship given to angels"), but it is also possible (Dunn) that the gen. is subj. gen. and refers to the worship the angels performed (Francis, CAC, 177-80). ἑόρακεν perf. ind. act. s.v. 1. ἐμβατεύων pres. act. part. ἐμβατεύω (# 1836) to enter into, to penetrate. Perhaps the meaning here is the entering into heavenly spheres as a sort of superspiritual experience. For various contexts in which this word appears and a discussion of this interpretation s. CAC, 171-76; cf. PLG, 453; for other views s. also Abbott; Lohse; Johnson, 111; Dunn. φυσιούμενος pres. pass. part. φυσιόω (# 5881) to puff up, to blow up; pass, to be puffed up. Their profession of humility was a cloak for excessive pride (Lightfoot). νοῦς (# 3808) mind, thinking facility. ◆ 19 κρατῶν pres. act. part. κρατέω (# 3195) to hold fast to someone, to remain closely united w. someone (BAGD; Lohse). κεφαλή (# 3051) head; here the Head regarded as a title, so that a person is at once suggested, and the rel. pronoun that follows is masc. (Lightfoot). σῶμα (# 5393) body. Here it refers to the church as the body of Christ, consisting of the saints and deriving its unity and growth from Christ (SBT, 224; DPL, 76-82). ἁφῶν gen. pl. ἁφή (# 913) ligament.

The word could refer to the nerves (Meyer) or to the joints of the body as contacts between the members (Lightfoot). For a study of the word s. Eph. 4:16; Robinson; Lightfoot; O'Brien. σύνδεσμος (# 5278) band, that which binds together. Given the figure of the church being the body of Christ, these words refer to believers in the body of Christ, who are to exercise their spiritual gift in the church for the edification of the whole body (Johnson, 115). ἐπιχορηγούμενον pres. pass. part. ἐπιχορηγέω (# 2220) to furnish or provide, to support; pass., to be supported, to receive help (BAGD). συμβιβαζόμενον pres. pass. part. s.v. 2. αὔξει pres. ind. act. αὔξω (# 889) to grow. Pres. emphasizes the continual growth. αὔξησις (# 890) growth. Cognate acc. here being the acc. of the inner content used for emphasis (BD, 84f; RG, 478; DM,94). Growth does not come through a denial of certain foods, but rather growth comes from God. ◆ 20 ἀπεθάνετε aor. ind. act. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. Ind. in a 1st class cond. cl. which views the cond. as true. στοιχεῖον (# 5122) elementary teaching s.v. 8. ζῶντες pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Part. used w. ὡς (# 6055) is concessive ("as though"). The particle here gives the subjective motivation of the subject or action: w. the assertion that, on the pretext that, w. the thought that you are still living (BD, 219). δογματίζεσθε pres. ind. mid. δογματίζω (# 1505) to issue a decree. Permissive mid., "why are you allowing yourselves to be subjected to authoritative decrees?" (RG, 808; MT, 57). ◆ 21 ἅψῃ aor. subj. mid. (dep.) ἅπτομαι (# 721) to touch, to take hold of, to grasp. γεύσῃ aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γεύομαι (# 1174) to taste, to partake of, to enjoy. θίγῃς aor. subj. act. θιγγάνω (# 2566) to touch. For a comparison of the words for "touch" and the first word's use in a sexual sense s. Lightfoot; Abbott; Schweizer. The prohibition concerning purity has a strong Jewish flavor (Dunn). ◆ 22 ἀπόχρησις (# 712) consuming, consumption, using up. The prep. in compound is perfective–completely using up (MH, 299; Ellicott). ἔνταλμα (# 1945) commandment. διδασκαλία (# 1436) teaching, doctrine. ◆ 23 ἔχοντα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Part. is used w. ἐστιν to form a periphrastic pres. ind. (RWP), pointing out that the character of the precepts is such that a word of wisdom belongs to them (Abbott). ἐθελοθρησκίᾳ (# 1615) The word could mean "self-chosen worship" (Francis; CAC, 181f; MH, 290; BD, 64; BBC). ταπεινοφροσύνῃ (# 5425) lowliness; s.v. 18. ἀφειδίᾳ (# 910) unsparing, severity, hard treatment (S. Lewis Johnson, "Human Taboos and Divine Redemption," Bib Sac 120 [1963]: 210). πλησμονή (# 4447) filling up, satisfaction, gratification, but it may be used in the bad sense, indulgence of the flesh (BAGD; Lightfoot; Abbott).

◆ 1 συνηγέρθητε aor. ind. pass. συνεγείρω (# 5283) to raise up together; pass. to be co-resurrected. Ind. used in a cond. cl. which assumes the reality: "if then (as is the case) you were raised together w. Christ" (EGT). Aor. looks at the completed action. ἄνω (# 539) above; "the things above." The words are used to mean the heavenly world (Lohse; TDNT; DPL, 382). For a contrast between things above and things below in Jewish writings s. SB, 1:395, 977; 2:116, 133, 430; 3:630. ζητεῖτε pres. imp. act. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek. Pres. imp. suggests a continual and habitual action. δεξιᾷ (# 1288) right, right hand (Eph. 1:20). καθήμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. The sitting at the right hand was considered a place of honor (Schweizer). ◆ 2 φρονεῖτε pres. imp. act. φρονέω (# 5858) to think, to be minded. The vb. in this v. differs from that employed in the preceding in referring more to an inner disposition, while the former is practical pursuit (Eadie). ◆ 3 ἀπεθάνετε aor. ind. act. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. κέκρυπται perf. ind. pass. κρύπτω (# 3221) to hide. The idea of life being hidden in God suggests three thoughts: secrecy where the believer's life is nurtured by secret springs; safety, "w. Christ in God" marking a double protection; and identity, the believer being identified w. the risen Lord (Johnson, 212). Perf. views the completed state arising from a past action. ◆ 4 ὅταν (# 4020) w. subj., whenever. φανερωθῇ aor. subj. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to make plain or clear, to manifest. Here it refers to the coming of the Lord, at which time the veil will be removed so that the things now hidden from our eyes will be illuminated in a bright light (Lohse). φανερωθήσεσθε fut. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746). ◆ 5 νεκρώσατε aor. imp. act. νεκρόω (# 3739) to put to death. The meaning here, comparable to Rom. 6:11, contains the idea "reckon as dead" (Bruce). μέλη pl. μέλος (# 3517) member. The members of the body were used to carry out the desires. According to the rabbis there are as many commandments and restraints in the law as the body has members and the evil impulse is said to be king over 248 members (Schweizer); the two great passions which the evil inclination plays the most upon are idolatry and adultery (S. Schechter, Some Aspects of Rabbinic Theology, 250). πορνεία (# 4518) illicit sex, sexual activity apart from marriage. Sexual activity was often connected w. the idolatrous worship of false gods (TDNT; DPL, 871-75; Gal. 5:19). ἀκαθαρσία (# 174) uncleanness, filthiness (DPL, 776; Gal. 5:19). πάθος (# 4079) passion. The word indicates a drive or force which does not rest until it is satisfied (Trench, Synonyms, 324). ἐπιθυμίαν (# 2123) desire, lust. The word, wider in meaning than the previous word, reaches to all evil longing (Lightfoot; DNP, 2:542-44). πλεονεξία (# 4432) insatiable selfishness, greed (NTW, 97; TDNT; TLNT). εἰδωλολατρία (# 1630) idolatry. The accs. in this v. are accs. of general reference: "put to death the members in reference to ..." (DM, 93; RG, 486). ◆ 6 ἔρχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Fut. pres. used to emphasize the certainty of the fut. event. ὀργή (# 3973) wrath, anger. It refers to the deep-seated anger of God which displays itself in eternal punishment to come upon those who practice sexual sins, uncontrolled greed, and service to idols (TDNT; NIDNTT; DPL, 991-92; Lohse). ◆ 7 περιεπατήσατε aor. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to conduct one's life. The vb. used w. the prep. indicates "to take part in" (BAGD). Constative aor. summing up their whole life of the past (RWP; DM, 196; Funk, 620f). ἐζῆτε impf. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Customary impf. indicating the continual action of the past: "you used to live." ◆ 8 ἀπόθεσθε aor. imp. mid. (dep.) ἀποτίθημι (# 700) to take off from oneself, to change one's clothes, to remove one's clothes from oneself, to put off. θυμός (# 2596) anger. It refers to a burning anger which flares up and burns w. the intensity of a fire (Trench, Synonyms, 130f; TDNT). κακία (# 2798) malice. It refers to the vicious nature which is bent on doing harm to others (Lightfoot; Trench, Synonyms, 37ff; TDNT). βλασφημία (# 1060) slander. It indicates the attempt to belittle and cause someone to fall into disrepute or to receive a bad reputation (TLNT; TDNT; for examples from the DSS s. Lohse). αἰσχρολογία (# 155) filthy talk, dirty speech, abusive language (Lightfoot; MM). ◆ 9 ψεύδεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) ψεύδομαι (# 6017) to lie. Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) forbids a manner of life. ἀπεκδυσάμενοι aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἀπεκδύομαι (# 588) to take off completely, to strip off of oneself. Causal part. contains the motive for the preceding exhortation (Abbott). Paul means that if the old man really has been put off, one must not at a critical moment revert to the way one acted before his conversion. For this and a discussion of the origin of Paul's metaphor, along w. various parallel usages, s. P. W. van der Horst, "Observations on a Pauline Expression," NTS 19 (1973): 185, 181-87. παλαιός (# 4094) old. πρᾶξις (# 4552) deed. The pl. describes the individual deeds which characterized the former life. ◆ 10 ἐνδυσάμενοι aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἐνδύομαι (# 1907) to put on oneself, to cloth oneself. Causal part. (Hendriksen). νέος (# 3742) new. The word only expresses newness in point of time (Abbott; Lightfoot; Trench, Synonyms, 219f). ἀνακαινούμενον pres. pass. part. ἀνακαινόω (# 363) to make new again, to renew. The idea of "new" is that of newness in quality (s. Rom. 12:2; TDNT). The prep. in compound does not suggest the restoration of the original state, but its contrast of late (Abbott). Pres. points to the continual action: "which is ever being renewed" (Lightfoot). Pass. indicates that the action is performed by another. ἐπίγνωσις (# 2106) knowledge; thorough knowledge (Abbott; s. 1:9). εἰκόνα acc. sing. εἰκών (# 1635) image (TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT; EDNT). κτίσαντος aor. act. part. κτίζω (# 3231) to create. αὐτόν (# 899) him. The reference is to the new man rather than man in general (Ellicott). ◆ 11 ὅπου (# 3963) where. περιτομή (# 4364) circumcision. ἀκροβυστία (# 213) foreskin, uncircumcision. βάρβαρος (# 975) barbarian. The word properly denoted one who spoke an inarticulate, stammering, unintelligible language and was adopted by Gr. exclusiveness and pride to stigmatize the rest of mankind, denoting one who was not a Gr. (Lightfoot; Lohse, TDNT; BBC; Rom. 1:14). ἐλεύθερος (# 1801) free, one who had been freed from slavery. ◆ 12 ἐνδύσασθε aor. imp. mid. (dep.) s.v. 10. ἐκλεκτός (# 1723) chosen, elect. If God chose them as members of His new creation, they must fulfill the command to conduct themselves accordingly. ἠγαπημένοι perf. pass. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TLNT; TDNT; EDNT). Perf. points to a past completed action w. a continuing state or result. σπλάγχνον (# 5073) heart. It denotes esp. the nobler inward parts–heart, liver, and lungs–and figuratively refers to the seat of the emotion (Abbott; MNTW, 156; TDNT; s. Phil. 1:8). οἰκτιρμός (# 3880) compassion (s. Phil. 2:1). χρηστότης (# 5983) kindness. It is kindness expressed in attitude and deed, the friendly and helpful spirit which seeks to meet the needs of others through kind deeds (TDNT; s. Gal. 5:22). ταπεινοφροσύνη (# 5425) lowliness in thinking, humility. It is the recognizing of one's own weakness, but also the recognition of the power of God (TDNT; NIDNTT). πραΰτης (# 4559) meekness. The word indicates an obedient submissiveness to God and His will, w. unwavering faith and enduring patience displaying itself in a gentle attitude and kind acts toward others, and this often in the face of opposition. It is the restrained and obedient powers of the personality brought into subjection and submission to God's will by the Holy Spirit (s. Gal. 5:23). μακροθυμία (# 3429) longsuffering. It is a long holding out of the mind before it gives room to action or passion. It indicates the patient longsuffering in bearing injustices or unpleasant circumstances without revenge or retaliation but w. a view or hope to a final goal or betterment (Trench, Synonyms, 196; TDNT; Gal. 5:23). ◆ 13 ἀνεχόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀνέχομαι (# 462) to endure, to bear w., to put up w. someone (BAGD; Dunn). Part. describes the manner or means. Pres. emphasizes the continual action. χαριζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. χαρίζομαι (# 5919) to be gracious, to forgive (Eph. 4:32; TLNT; EDNT; CPP). ἑαυτοῖς = ἀλλήλοις. For the reflex. pron. used instead of the reciprocal pron. s. BD, 150; MT, 37f. The reflex. pron. here may suggest the performance of an act faintly resembling that of Christ, namely, of each one toward all–themselves included, Christians being members one of another (Ellicott). ἔχῃ pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have.

Pres. has the idea of "having" rather than the idea of "getting" as expressed by the aor. (M, 110). Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. where the cond. is viewed as possible. μομφή (# 3664) blame, cause for complaint. The vb. from which this noun is taken means "to find fault w. someone," "to be dissatisfied w. someone," and refers most commonly to errors of omission; so the noun here is regarded as a debt which needs to be remitted (Lightfoot; TDNT). ἐχαρίσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) χαρίζομαι (# 5019). Aor. points to the completed action. καθὼς ... οὕτως (# 2777; 4048) just as ... so. There should be the same attitude on both sides. ◆ 14 ἐπί (# 2093) w. the dat. The prep. could mean "in addition to," "on top of all the others," or it may have an elative force and mean "above all;" i.e., love is the most important moral quality in the believer's life (Moule; S. Lewis Johnson, "Christian Apparel," Bib Sac 121 [1964]: 30). σύνδεσμος (# 5278) that which binds or holds something together, bond. τελειότης (# 5456) perfection, complete maturity. Gen. here could be an obj. gen. ("the bond producing perfection" [MT, 212; Lohse]), or it could be a type of descriptive gen.: "the bond which signifies or indicates perfection." The word here refers to the full expression of the divine life in the community, devoid of bitter words and angry feelings, and freed from the ugly defects of immorality and dishonesty (Bruce). ◆ 15 βραβευέτω pres. imp. act. 3rd. pers. sing. βραβεύω (# 1093) to referee, to be an umpire, to call a decision, to decide between; then in a fig. sense to direct, to administer, to control. Either an athletic stadium or a judicial setting is the background (EDNT; TDNT; MM; Lohse; Lightfoot; O'Brien). ἐκλήθητε aor. ind. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call. εὐχάριστος (# 2375) thankful. The word indicates the obligation of being thankful to someone for a favor done. The thankfulness arises out of the grace of God and that which He has done (TDNT). γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Pres. indicates a continual action pointing to a habit of life. ◆ 16 ἐνοικείτω pres. imp. act. 3rd. pers. sing. ἐνοικέω (# 1940) to live in, to dwell in, to take up one's residence in, to make one's home among (Moule; Preisigke, 1:493). πλουσίως adv. (# 4455) extravagantly rich, richly. διδάσκοντες pres. act. part. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. This and the following parts. could be taken as impvs., or as part. of means or manner (Harris). νουθετοῦντες pres. act. part. νουθετέω (# 3805) to admonish, to correct one who is at fault through admonition (s. 1:28). ψαλμός (# 6011) psalm. It was often used of the psalms in the OT and has the idea of a song w. musical accompaniment (Trench, Synonyms, 296; Lightfoot; Lohse). ὕμνος (# 5631) hymn. The word is used of a song which is a praise to God (Trench, Synonyms, 297f; Lightfoot). ᾠδαῖς dat. pl. ᾠδή (# 6046) song. This is the general word for any kind of a song (Trench, Synonyms, 300f; Lightfoot). The three dats. are to be taken w. the part. ἄδοντες rather that w. διδάσκοντες or νουθετοῦντες. ᾄδοντες pres. act. part. ᾄδω (# 106) to sing. ◆ 17 ἐάν (# 1569) w. the subj. generalizes the object: whatever, everything whatever (RWP). ποιῆτε pres. subj. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. εὐχαριστοῦντες pres. act. part. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks. ◆ 18 ὑποτάσσεσθε pres. imp. mid. ὑποτάσσω (# 5718) mid. to be in subjection, to subject oneself. Submission for Paul is a voluntary submission based on one's own recognition of God's order (Crouch, 110; DPL, 418-19; s. Eph. 5:21). For references to the position of women in the ancient world s. Crouch, 107; Tal Ian, Jewish Women in Greco-Roman Palestine (Tübingen: J. C. B. Mohr, 1994). ἀνῆκεν impf. ind. act. ἀνήκω (# 465) it is fitting, it is proper. Impf. w. a pres. meaning in an expression of necessity, obligation, or duty (BD, 181; RG, 919f; MT, 90f). ◆ 19 ἀγαπᾶτε pres. imp. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). Pres. imp. calls for a continual attitude and positive expression. πικραίνεσθε pres. imp. pass. πικραίνω (# 4393) to make bitter, to embitter, to become bitter. The vb. has the idea of being sharp, harsh, and bitter. It speaks of friction caused by impatience and thoughtless nagging. If love is absent, such obedience will not be secured by perpetual irritation and faultfinding (TDNT; Moule; Eadie). Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) forbids a habitual action. ◆ 20 ὑπακούετε pres. imp. act. ὑπακούω (# 5634) to listen to, to obey. γονεῖς (# 1204) (pl.) parents. εὐάρεστός (# 2298) well-pleasing, commendable. The word is generally used in the Bible to mean "pleasing to God" (Moule). ◆ 21 ἐρεθίζετε pres. imp. act. ἐρεθίζω (# 2241) to excite, to provoke, to irritate (Abbott). ἀθυμῶσιν pres. subj. act. ἀθυμέω (# 126) to be without courage or spirit, to lose heart, to become spiritless; "to go about their task in a listless, moody, sullen frame of mind" (Lightfoot). A child frequently irritated by over-severity or injustice to which, nevertheless, it must submit, acquires a spirit of sullen resignation leading to despair (Abbott). ◆ 22 ὑπακούετε pres. imp. act. ὑπακούω (# 5634) to be obedient. ὀφθαλμοδουλίᾳ (# 4056) eye service. It might mean merely such service as can be seen; i.e., superficial work–not dusting behind the ornaments, not sweeping under the wardrobe; but the context suggests instead going through the outward movements of the work without a corresponding keenness of will behind them (Moule). The word could also have the idea of "when the master's eye is upon you" (S. Lewis Johnson, "The New Man in the Old," Bib Sac 121 [1964]: 113). ἀνθρωπάρεσκος (# 473) men-pleaser, one who tries to please men at the sacrifice of principle (BAGD). ἁπλότης (# 605) singleness. The phrase used here means "w. undivided service" (Lightfoot; TLNT). καρδία (# 2840) heart. Here descriptive gen. φοβούμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. φοβέομαι (# 5828) to be afraid, to fear, to fear the Lord (Christ) is the leading principle of Christian conduct (Lohse). ◆ 23 ἐάν (# 1569) w. the subj. and the rel. pron., whatever (s.v. 17). ποιῆτε pres. subj. act. s.v. 17. Subj. w. indef. rel. cl. ἐργάζεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work, to work energetically, to work diligently (Lightfoot). ◆ 24 εἰδότες perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. ἀπολήμψεσθε fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀπολαμβάνω (# 655) to receive from someone. The prep. denotes that the recompense comes immediately from Christ, its possessor (Eadie). ἀνταπόδοσις (# 502) receiving from another in return, recompensing, requital. Prep. in compound expresses the idea of full, complete return (Hendriksen). κληρονομία (# 3100) inheritance. Here gen. of apposition, the reward which consists in the inheritance. There is a special point in the word, inasmuch as slaves could not be inheritors of an earthly possession (Abbott). δουλεύετε pres. imp. or ind. act. δουλεύω (# 1526) to serve as a slave. The form could be either imp. (Lohse; Moule) or ind. (Lightfoot). Pres. in either case suggests a continuous or ongoing activity. ◆ 25 ἀδικῶν pres. act. part. ἀδικέω (# 92) to commit an unrighteous act, to wrong (TDNT). The sentence is an explanation and gives a general law applicable to all. κομίσεται fut. ind. mid. κομίζω (# 3152) to carry off; mid. to bear for oneself, to receive, to receive a recompense (AS; BAGD). ἠδίκησεν aor. ind. act. ἀδικέω (# 92). προσωπολημψία (# 4721) the accepting of one's face or person, partiality (Moule; TDNT).

◆ 1 ἰσότης (# 2699) equality, fairness. παρέχεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) παρέχομαι (# 4218) to give, to grant; mid. to show oneself to be something. Here, "exhibit on your part fairness to the slaves." The idea is reciprocation, the master's duty as corresponding to the slaves (Lightfoot; BAGD; BD, 166). ◆ 2 προσκαρτερεῖτε pres. imp. act. προσκαρτερέω (# 4674) to adhere to, to persist in, to busy oneself w., to busily engage in, to be devoted to (BAGD; TDNT; MM; TLNT). γρηγοροῦντες pres. act. part. γρηγορέω (# 1213) to be awake, to stay awake, to be watchful, to be vigilant. Perhaps Paul was reminded of the literal sleep which he had heard about in the story of the Passion or Transfiguration (Moule). ἐν αὐτῇ (# 1877; 899) in it; i.e., in prayer. εὐχαριστίᾳ (# 2374) thanksgiving. ◆ 3 προσευχόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray. ἅμα (# 275) to gather at the same time; "praying at the same time also for us" (BD, 220). ἵνα (# 2671) that; gives the content of the prayer. ἀνοίξῃ aor. subj. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671). The picture of an open door stood for opportunity. For rabbinical examples s. SB, 3:631; TDNT. θύρα (# 2598) door. Here in the sense of opportunity. λόγου (# 3364) the word; here obj. gen., "a door for preaching" (RWP). λαλῆσαι aor. act. inf. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Compl. inf. μυστήριον (# 3696) mystery (s. Col. 1:26; Eph. 3:3). δέδεμαι perf. ind. pass. δέομαι (# 1313) to bind. Perf. emphasizes the continuing state or cond. ◆ 4 φανερώσω aor. subj. act. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear, to manifest. (# 1256) δεῖ pres. ind. act. impersonal, it is necessary; w. acc. and inf. giving a logical necessity (AS; for the meaning "need," "to have a need," and earlier usages of the word s. GEW, 1:375). λαλῆσαι aor. act. inf. s.v. 3. Compl. inf. ◆ 5 περιπατεῖτε pres. imp. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to walk, to conduct one's life. ἔξω (# 2032) outside. The expression "those outside" is equivalent to the rabbinical term denoting those who belong to another religious group and is used here to denote those who are non-Christians (SB, 3:362; TDNT; Lohse). καιρός (# 2789) time, opportunity. The word does not emphasize a point of time but rather a space of time filled w. all kinds of possibilities (TDNT; Lohse). ἐξαγοραζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐξαγοράζω (# 1973) to buy at the marketplace. Prep. in compound is probably intensive and the obj. of the vb. is viewed as commodity to be eagerly bought (s. Eph. 5:16; Moule; Lightfoot). ◆ 6 πάντοτε (# 4121) always. ἅλατι dat. ἅλος (# 229) salt. ἠρτυμένος perf. pass. part. ἀρτύω (# 789) to season. The figure of speech as salt was used in the ancient world of sparkling conversation, speech dotted w. witty or clever remarks (Hendriksen; Moule; Lohse; BBC; SB, 3:631). Here it indicates speech which gives a flavor to the discourse and recommends it to the pallet as well as speech which preserves from corruption and renders wholesome (Lightfoot). εἰδέναι perf. act. inf. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. Inf. to express results. πῶς (# 4802) how? The conversation must not only be opportune in regards to time; it must also be appropriate as regards the person (Lightfoot). δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. it is necessary s.v. 4. ἀποκρίνεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἀποκρίνομαι (# 646) to answer. ◆ 7 τὰ κατ' ἐμὲ πάντα the things related to me, my affairs. γνωρίσει fut. ind. act. γνωρίζω (# 1192) to make known. ἀγαπητός (# 28) beloved. πιστός (# 4412) true, faithful. διάκονος (# 1356) minister (s. 1:23). σύνδουλος (# 5281) fellow servant. ◆ 8 ἔπεμψα aor. ind. act. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. γνῶτε aor. subj. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. παρακαλέσῃ aor. subj. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to exhort, to encourage, to comfort (TDNT; MNTW, 128ff). ◆ 9 γνωρίσουσιν fut. ind. act. γνωρίζω s.v. 7. ὧδε (# 6045) here. ◆ 10 ἀσπάζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet. συναιχμάλωτός (# 5257) fellow prisoner. The term denotes properly a prisoner of war but also occurs in the general sense (TDNT; Moule). ἀνεψιός (# 463) cousin (Lightfoot). ἐλάβετε aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. ἐντολάς acc. pl. ἐντολή

(# 1953) command. ἔλθῃ aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. δέξασθε aor. imp. mid. (dep.) δέχομαι (# 1312) to receive, to welcome. ◆ 11 λεγόμενος pres. pass. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say; pass., to be called. "W. the name." ὄντες pres. pass. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. περιτομή (# 4364) circumcision. συνεργός (# 5301) fellow worker. ἐγενήθησάν aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. παρηγορία (# 4219) encouragement, comfort. The word appears on gravestones and in one letter of condolence where it means "comfort" (MM; Lohse; Lightfoot). ◆ 12 ἐξ ὑμῶν (# 1666; 5148) one who belongs to you, who is one of you; i.e., a native or at least an inhabitant of Colossae (Lightfoot). ἀγωνιζόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀγωνίζομαι (# 76) to struggle, to agonize. It is the zeal and intensity of prayer which is emphasized (PAM, 123). σταθῆτε aor. subj. pass. ἵστημι (# 2705) to place, pass, to stand. The word conveys the idea of standing firm (Abbott). τέλειος (# 5455) perfect, mature. πεπληροφορημένοι perf. pass. part. πληροφορέω (# 4442) to fill completely, pass. to be fully convinced, to be assured through. Rich, gratifying insight into all spiritual matters is meant, understanding which not only penetrates the mind, but also fills the heart w. satisfying conviction (Hendriksen; BAGD). θέλημα (# 2525) will. ◆ 13 μαρτυρῶ pres. ind. act. μαρτυρέω (# 3455) to witness, to testify. ἔχει pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. indicates his present and continual possession. πόνος (# 4506) labor, strenuous work. It is labor that does not stop short of demanding the soul strength of a man–and this exerted to the uttermost, if he is to accomplish the task which is set before him. It is the standing word by which the labors of Hercules are expressed (Trench, Synonyms, 378). ◆ 14 ἀσπάζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet. ἰατρός (# 2620) doctor, physician. For information concerning physicians and medicine in the ancient world s. RAC, 1:720-24; OCD, 660-64; DGRA, 747-48; Preisigke, 3:123; ZPEB, 4:788f; AIA; NDIEC, 2:10-25; BBC. ἀγαπητός (# 28) beloved. ◆ 15 ἀσπάσασθε aor. imp. mid. ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet. Νύμφαν (# 3809) Numpha, personal name. The manuscript evidence is divided as to whether the name refers to a woman or a man (TC, 627; Lightfoot). τὴν κατ' οἶκον at home, at one's house. The use of the home for Christian assembly is well attested in the NT period (Martin; Lightfoot; BAFCS, 2:119-222). ◆ 16 ὅταν (# 4020) w. subj., when, whenever. ἀναγνωσθῇ aor. subj. pass. ἀναγινώσκω (# 336) to read. ποιήσατε aor. imp. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make. ἀναγνωσθῇ aor. subj. pass. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. or result. τὴν ἐκ Λαοδικείας (# 3294) the letter that is at Laodicea (BD, 225). For the suggestion that the Laodicean letter was written by Epaphras s. C.P. Anderson, "Who Wrote the 'Epistle From Laodicea'?" JBL 85 (1966): 436-40. ἀναγνῶτε aor. subj. act. ἀναγινώσκω (# 336) to read. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. or result. ◆ 17 εἴπατε aor. imp. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. βλέπε pres. imp. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see, to take heed, to keep an eye on (RWP). διακονίᾳ (# 1355) ministry, service (TDNT). παρέλαβες aor. ind. act. παραλαμβάνω (# 4161) to receive, to receive from someone. The word suggests a mediate rather than a direct reception; Archippus received the charge immediately from St. Paul, though ultimately from Christ (Lightfoot). πληροῖς pres. subj. act. πληρόω (# 4444) to fulfill. Pres. points to a continual action. It refers to a lifetime job. (RWP). ◆ 18 ἀσπασμός (# 833) greeting. μνημονεύετε pres. imp. act. μνημονεύω (# 3648) to remember. The vb. is followed by the gen. δέσμος (# 1301) bond. The chain clanked afresh as Paul took the pen to sign the salutation (RWP; also DPL, 752-54).

1 Thessalonians

1 Thessalonians 1

◆ 1 τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ Θεσσαλονικέων to the church of the Thessalonians. Dat. as indir. obj.in a letter. For the letter style, s. Rom. 1:1. For the city of Thessalonica s. Acts 17:1; PIG, 78-116; Wanamaker; Bruce; NW, 2, i:767-68; FAP, 297-317; DPL, 933-34. For a summary of the bibliography s. Jeffrey A. D. Weima and Stanley E. Porter, 1 and 2 Thessalonians: An Annotated Bibliography (Leiden: E.J. Brill, 1998). ἐν (# 1877) in. The prep. could be local, emphasizing that the church is in the atmosphere of the divine (Frame). They live in Him day by day. All their deeds are done in Him (Morris). The prep. could also be taken in an instr. sense, to mean that for the believer salvation lies in what God accomplished by Christ's life, death, and resurrection (Best; Wanamaker; Richard). For the rhetorical structure of 1 Thess., s. Wanamaker; John S. Kloppenborg, "Φιλαδελφία, θεοδίδακτος and the Dioscuri: Rhetorical Engagement in 1 Thessalonians 4.9-16," NTS 39 (1993): 265-89, w. lit. ◆ 2 εὐχαριστοῦμεν pres. ind. act. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks, to thank. Pres. stresses the continual action (DPL, 728-29). πάντοτε (# 4121) always. μνεία (# 3644) remembrance, mention. The word indicates remembrance in a special case, "the direction of the memory to some particular object" (Lightfoot, Notes). ποιούμενοι pres. mid. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to make. Used in connection w. the previous noun to mean "making mention," "remembering." For examples in the papyri and inscriptions s. Milligan. This is the first of three modal parts. describing the nature of the perpetual thanksgiving (Milligan). ἀδιαλείπτως (# 90) constantly, without interruption, unceasingly. The word was used of that which was continually and repeatedly done; e.g., the uninterrupted necessary payment of hard taxes, the continual service or ministry of an official, a continual uninterrupted cough (Presigke; MM), repeated military attacks (Jos., JW, 1:252), the continual failing of a military effort (Jos., JW, 3:241), the regular and consistent production of fruit (Jos., JW, 3:519), or the constant pounding of a battering ram against a city wall (TJ, 181; Jos., JW, 5:298-302) (s. Rom. 1:9). ◆ 3 μνημονεύοντες pres. act. part. μνημονεύω (# 3648) to remember, w. obj. in gen. The vb. regularly means to call something to mind, or to make mention of it (Moore). ὑμῶν gen. pl. σύ (# 5148) your. The word is placed emphatically at the head of three phrases and should be taken w. each (Best). ἔργον (# 2240) work. The word refers to active work (Lightfoot). The word could also involve the results of the activity, an achievement (Best). The word comprehends the whole Christian life work as it is ruled and energized by faith (Milligan). πίστεως gen. sing. πίστις (# 4411) faith, faithfulness. Subj. gen., "the work produced by faith." κόπος (# 3160) labor. The word denotes arduous, wearying toil involving sweat and fatigue (Moore); it emphasizes the weariness which follows on this straining of all of one's powers to the utmost (Trench, Synonyms, 378). ὑπομονή (# 5705) endurance. It is the spirit which bears things not simply w. resignation, but w. blazing hope. It is the spirit which bears things because it knows that these things are leading to a goal of glory (NTW, 60; TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT). The gens. here–faith, love, and hope–are subj. gen., "that which is produced by faith, hope and love" (MT, 211). ἔμπροσθεν (# 1869) in the presence of. ◆ 4 εἰδότες perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. For the meaning of this word s. ND, 344-56; VA, 281-87. ἠγαπημένοι perf. pass. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Perf. pass. part. stresses continuing love which God shows to men (Morris). ἐκλογή (# 1724) choosing, election. ◆ 5 ὅτι (# 4022) because, since. It introduces the first reason for Paul's certitude that the community has been called by God (Richard). ἐγενήθη aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to come. The word is significant as pointing to a result reached through the working of an outside force (Milligan). εἰς ὑμᾶς unto you, to you. Prep. w. the acc. is used here as an equivalent to the dat. (RG, 594). οὐκ ... ἐν λόγῳ μόνον not in word alone; i.e., "our preaching was not merely declamation, a hollow and heartless rhetoric" (Lightfoot, Notes). δύναμις (# 1539) power. The word is generally used by Paul of divine energy (Moore). πληροφορίᾳ (# 4443) dat. sing. full assurance, conviction, confidence (Lightfoot, Notes; Wanamaker; s. Col. 4:12). οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3867) to know (s.v. 4). οἷος (# 3888) what sort of, what kind of, what manner of. The qualitative pron. brings out the interest and advantage of those for whom that power was exercised (Milligan). ἐγενήθημεν aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. The sense here is "came to be," "proven to be" (Ellicott). ἐν ὑμῖν in your midst. δι' ὑμᾶς because of you, for your sake. ◆ 6 μιμηταί nom. pl. μιμητής (# 3629) imitator, one who imitates another particularly by following one's example or one's teaching (TDNT; von Dobschütz). ἐγενήθητε aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become (s.v. 5). δεξάμενοι aor. mid. part. δέχομαι (# 1312) to receive, to welcome. Part. expresses contemporaneous or identical action: "in that you welcomed" (Frame). θλίψις (# 2568) pressure, tribulation (TDNT). χαρά (# 5915) joy. Gen. following this word is a gen. of originating cause: "joy inspired by, preceding from the Holy Spirit" (Milligan). ◆ 7 ὥστε (# 6063) w. inf. used here to introduce a result cl. which expresses actual and far-reaching rather than merely contemplated results (Milligan; Funk, 707; Richard). γενέσθαι pres. mid. inf. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. τύπος (# 5596) example, type. Originally the word denoted the mark left by a blow. Then it was used in the ethical sense of a pattern of conduct; but more usually, as here, of an example to be followed (TDNT; EDNT; TLNT). πιστεύουσιν pres. act. part. dat. pl. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Indir. obj. Articular part. to stress a characterizing trait. ◆ 8 ἐξήχηται perf. ind. pass. ἐξηχέω (# 2010) to thunder, to sound forth, to sound out. The word suggests an echoing like thunder or sounding out as a trumpet (Moore; Lightfoot; Milligan; GELTS, 160). Although the metaphor is not clear, the word indicates that a sound is made and it is heard spreading out from a center (Best). Perf. denotes the continuing activity (Morris) or lasting effect. τόπῳ dat. sing. τόπος (# 5536) place. The definite article w. θεός (# 2536) God, indicates their faith in the true God and contrasts their present attitude to God w. their past pagan attitude to idols (Frame). ἐξελήλυθεν perf. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. Perf. indicates the continuing result. χρεία (# 5970) need, necessity. ἔχειν pres. act. inf. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. W. the preceding noun, "to have a need." Inf. w. ὥστε (# 6063) to express result. λαλεῖν pres. act. inf. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Compl. inf. is used to explain the need. ◆ 9 αὐτοί (# 899) they themselves; people generally (Moore). ἀπαγγέλλουσιν pres. ind. act. ἀπαγγέλλω (# 550) to report. Pres. indicates a continuous and repeated action. ὁποῖος (# 3961) what sort of. εἴσοδος (# 1658) entrance. The word indicates here the act of entering rather than the means of entering and points to the nature of the entrance–how happy and successful it was (Milligan). ἔσχομεν aor. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἐπεστρέψατε aor. ind. act. ἐπιστρέφω (# 2188) to turn oneself to or toward (BBC). Prep. in compound is directive. εἰδώλων (# 1631) idol. The worship of the Caesar was prominent in the city as well as the cults of Dionysus, Serapis, Isis, Zeus, Aphrodite, Demeter, and especially the cult of Cabirus, which had become the chief cult of Thessalonica (Charles Edson, "Cults of Thessalonica," HTR 41 [1948]: 153-204; K.P. Donfried, "The Cults of Thessalonica and the Thessalonian Correspondence," NTS 31 [1985]: 336-56; PIG, 96-99; FAP, 331-33, 336-39; NDIEC, 1:29-32; for the Cabirus worship, s. OCD, 186; GGR, 2:101-03; KP, 3:34-38; FAP, 336; Edson, HTR 41 [1948]: 188-204). δουλεύειν pres. act. inf. δουλεύω (# 1526) to serve. Inf. to express result or purp. ζῶντι pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Part. used as an adj. The living God is not merely one who is alive but one who gives life, both the life of creation and the new life of redemption (Best). ἀληθινός (# 240) genuine, true, real. Adj. w. this ending express the material out of which anything is made, therefore the word signifies "genuine," made up of that which is true and is used to distinguish the true God from idols and all other false gods (Trench, Synonyms, 27). ◆ 10 ἀναμένειν pres. act. inf. ἀναμένω (# 388) to wait, to wait for. The leading thought here seems to be to wait for one whose coming is expected, perhaps w. the added idea of patience and confidence (Milligan). The emphasis on the eschatological hope may have arisen from their former concern for life after death in the mystery religions. For example, Cabirus was thought to have been killed by his two brothers, but was expected to return again to the city and help the poor (FAP, 336, 339-40). Pres. points to the continual waiting. Inf. to express purp. or result; parallel to the inf. in v. 9. ἤγειρεν aor. ind. act. ἐγείρω (# 1586) to raise. ῥυόμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. ῥύομαι (# 4861) to rescue, to deliver. The word indicates a deliverance and the avoidance of great danger (Moore). ὀργῆς gen. sing. ὀργή (# 3973) wrath, deep-seated anger (TDNT; Morris; DPL, 991-92; BBC). ἐρχομένης pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. Part. is emphatic by position and emphasizes the approaching anger (Best). Pres. part. emphasize the contemporaneous action.

1 Thessalonians 2

◆ 1 οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. "You yourselves know." εἴσοδος (# 1658) entrance (s. 1:9). κενή nom. sing. κενός (# 3031) empty, vain. The reference is to the essential content of the apostle's preaching rather than to its results (Milligan; Marshall). The word suggests hollow, empty, wanting in purp. and earnestness (Lightfoot, Notes; Trench, Synonyms, 180). γέγονεν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Perf. indicates the lasting effects of Paul's preaching (Lightfoot, Notes; Best). ◆ 2 προπαθόντες aor. act. part. προπάσχω (# 4634) to suffer beforehand, to suffer previously. Aor. indicates antecedent action. Paul refers to the shameful treatment that he received in Philippi at the hands of the Roman officials (s. Acts 16:19-40). ὑβρισθέντες aor. pass. part. ὑβρίζω (# 5614) to abuse, to treat shamefully. The word expresses insulting and outrageous treatment, and esp. treatment which is calculated publicly to insult and openly to humiliate the person who suffers from it (MNTW, 83; TDNT). Both parts. are to be taken w. the main vb. and are either temp. ("after having suffered previously and having been shamefully treated") or concessive, "although" (Frame). οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ἐπαρρησιασάμεθα aor. ind. mid. (dep.) παρρησιάζομαι (# 4245) to speak freely, to speak all things, to be bold and courageous. The word was used in classical Gr. to signify freedom of speech or expression, often w. a political connotation (Moore; TDNT; EDNT; TLNT). λαλῆσαι aor. act. inf. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Compl. inf. to the main vb., or could be considered to be an inf. of purp. (Richard). ἀγών (# 74) conflict, effort. The word implies the intense effort and strenuous exertion in Paul's preaching of the gospel, esp. in the face of hostility and conflict w. the Jews at Thessalonia (PAM, 112-14). ◆ 3 παράκλησις (# 4155) exhortation, encouragement, appeal. The word implies an appeal, having for its object the direct benefit of those addressed, which may be either hortatory or conciliatory depending on circumstances. The word was used to encourage soldiers before going into battle and it was said that encouragement was necessary for hired soldiers; but for those who fight for life and country no exhortation is required (Milligan; MNTW, 128f; TDNT). ἐκ πλάνης (# 1666; 4415) out of error. The word is used either in the active sense of deceit, the leading astray, or in the pass. sense of error (Lightfoot, Notes; Best). ἐξ ἀκαθαρσίας (# 1666; 174) out of impurity. The word could refer to sexual or moral impurity but here it is more general and means that Paul does not preach from any impure motives: ambition, pride, greed, popularity (Best). ἐν δόλῳ (# 1877; 1515) in guile. The word meant a bait or trap, then any form of strategy (Moore; Milligan). So many wandering charlatans (γόητες) made their way about the Greek world, peddling their religious or philosophical nostrums and living at the expense of their devotees, that it was necessary for Paul and his friends to emphasize, by contrast, the purity of their motives and actions (Bruce). ◆ 4 καθώς (# 2777) The word is to be taken in connection w. οὕτως (# 4048) meaning "just as ..., so ...." δεδοκιμάσμεθα perf. ind. pass. δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to prove, to approve after examination or testing. The word was used in classical Gr. w. the technical sense to describe the passing of fit for election to a public office (Milligan; TDNT; TLNT). Perf. indicates a lasting approval and not something over and done w. (Moore). πιστευθῆναι aor. pass. inf. πιστεύω (# 4409) to entrust. Inf. is explanatory serving to define more nearly that to which the approval was directed (Ellicott). λαλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. ἀρέσκοντες pres. act. part. ἀρέσκω (# 743) to please someone. The word is found in inscriptions to people who have served their fellow citizens; it conveys the sense of service and obedience (Moore). Pres. indicates contemporaneous action. Part. of manner. δοκιμάζοντι pres. act. part. (adj.). δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to prove. Here is Paul's inner life in its totality of thought and intention which God scrutinizes (Best). ◆ 5 ποτε (# 4537) ever; here used w. the neg., never. κολακείᾳ (# 3135) flattery. The word contains the idea of deception for selfish ends. It is flattery not merely for the sake of giving pleasure to others but for the sake of self-interest. It is deception by slick eloquence, the idea being to win over the hearts in order to exploit them (Lightfoot, Notes; Moore; Frame; Milligan; TLNT; BBC). Dio Chrysostom explains in a speech before the Emperor Trajan (of whom he says, "you delight in truth and frankness [ἀληθείᾳ καὶ παρρησίᾳ] rather than flattery and guile," The Third Discourse, 2), "... even those flatterers who openly follow the business acknowledge that to play the flatterer is of all things most distasteful" (The Third Discourse, 16); then he adds, "Furthermore, flattery seems neither reputable nor honorable even when practiced to gain distinction, or from some other worthy motive. Nay, of all vices, I may say, flattery will be found to be the meanest" (αἰχίστην) (The Third Discourse, 17). For other occurrences of the word in Dio Chrysostom s. DCNT, 200f. For other ancient condemnations of flattery s. NW, 2, i:773-74, and for the word in Josephus s. CCFJ, 2, 514. ἐγενήθημεν aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become; here, to demonstrate oneself as (s. 1:5). οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. πρόφασις (# 4733) cloak, pretense. The word denotes that which one puts on for appearance, w. the definite design to color or to cloak something else. It therefore denotes pretext, the outward show (Lünemann). The import of the word may be actual motive, meaning "we did not act w. a motive of greed" (Wanamaker). πλεονεξίᾳ (# 4432) greed, selfishness. It is the disregard for the rights of others in order to meet one's own selfish desires for more and more (TDNT; NTW, 97f). Gen. shows what the material of the cloth consists of. ◆ 6 ζητοῦντες pres. act. part. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek. Pres. points to a continual and habitual action. ◆ 7 δυνάμενοι pres. pass. (dep.) part. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. Concessive part. which qualifies the fact–"we never came requiring honor"–by asserting the principle that the demand for honor inheres in their place as Christ's apostles (Frame). βάρος (# 983) weight, burden. Here the word is used in the sense of honor, authority, dignity, importance. The aspect of the word is closely related to the Heb. root kbd כבד (Milligan; Best; DCH). εἶναι pres. inf. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. ἐγενήθημεν aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἤπιος (# 2413) gentle. For the variant reading νήπιος (# 3758) infants, and the textual problem s. TC, 639f. ὡς (# 6055) used w.

the comparative particle and the subj., implying a standing contingency; i.e., "as it may be at any time" (Milligan). τροφός (# 5577) one who nourishes or feeds. nurse, wet nurse, nursing mother (Best; for a parallel in the DSS s. 1QH 7, 20f; 9, 29-32). A wet nurse in the ancient world not only had strict contractual stipulation, but often came to be a very trusted person whose influence lasted a lifetime (RAC, 1:381-85; "Engagement of a Wet Nurse"; No. 146, CPJ, 2:15-19; NDIEC, 2:7-10; A.J. Malherbe, "'Gentle as a Nurse': The Cynic Background of 1 Thes. 2," NovT 12 [1970]: 203-17; DC, Thirty-Second Discourse; NW, 2, i:771-72; BBC). θάλπῃ pres. subj. act. θάλπω (# 2499) to warm, to foster, to nourish, to cherish. In Deut. 22:6 it is used of a bird warming her eggs (Moore; Milligan; GEW, 1:651). ◆ 8 ὁμειρόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ὁμείρομαι (# 3916) to have a kindly feeling, to long for someone. The derivation of the word is uncertain (Lightfoot, Notes; Morris; MH, 251; Richard). It is used on a grave inscription describing the parents' sad yearning for their dead child and seems to indicate deep affection and great attraction (Moore; MM). εὐδοκοῦμεν pres. ind. act. εὐδοκέω (# 2305) to be well-pleased, to be gladly determined. The word draws attention to the hearty goodwill attending the writer's attitude (Milligan). Although the form is pres. ind. it is probably a case where the impf. is used without the augment (Best; BD, 37). μεταδοῦναι aor. act. inf. μεταδίδωμι (# 3556) to share. It is the giving of something by which the giver retains one part and the receiver another so that they both share in the matter (von Dobschütz). ψυχάς acc. pl. ψυχή (# 6034) soul, life. The word signifies here the life of the individual person which is shared w. another. It is the life of the individual as it is manifested in behavior and refers to the observable totality of Paul's earthly existence (PAT, 346f). διότι (# 1484) therefore, because. The word apparently always has a causal force in the NT (Milligan). ἀγαπητός (# 28) beloved, dear. ἐγενήθητε aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ◆ 9 μνημονεύετε pres. imp. act. μνημονεύω (# 3648) to remember. κόπος (# 3160) exhausting labor (s. 1:3). μόχθος (# 3677) toil. The word refers to the trouble and pain of arduous work; the leading notion is that of struggling to overcome difficulties (Moore; Lightfoot, Notes). ἐργαζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work. There were no paid teachers in Palestine. It was necessary therefore for a rabbi to have some other means of income than the gifts that might now and then be made to him (Morris; s. also the rabbinical examples quoted by Morris; Best). There was probably a high rate of unemployment in Thessalonica at that time, but Paul had found work in his trade and through his work contacts had won many to the new faith (FAP, 334; BBC; DPL, 925-27). πρός (# 4639) prep. used w. the inf. to indicate purp. (MT, 144; BG, 135). ἐπιβαρῆσαι aor. act. inf. ἐπιβαρέω (# 2096) to place a weight on someone, to be burdensome, to make demands (Moore; Milligan). ἐκηρύξαμεν aor. ind. act. κηρύσσω (# 3062) to proclaim, to preach. Although Paul does not mention it, the church at Philippi had sent him financial support several times (Bruce; Phil 4:15-16). ◆ 10 ὁσίως (# 4010) adv., piously, holy. The word describes one's duty toward God (Lightfoot, Notes; Trench, Synonyms; 328f; TDNT; NIDNTT). δικαίως (# 1469) adv., righteously. The word describes one's duties toward men but it also stresses a righteous life before God (Lightfoot, Notes; Best). ἀμέμπτως (# 290) adv., blamelessly. πιστεύουσιν pres. act. part. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Part. used to emphasize a characterizing trait. Dat. here could be dat. of reference ("in reference to you believers"), or dat. of advantage ("to the benefit of you believers") or loc. ("among you believers"). For the various views s. Best. ◆ 11 καθάπερ (# 2749) just as, in accordance w. The first part of the word marks comparison and the last part the latitude of the application. It introduces a confirmatory appeal to the individual experience of the hearers (Ellicott; Milligan). οἴδατε pres. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Defective perf. w. a pres. meaning. ◆ 12 παρακαλοῦντες pres. act. part. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to exhort, to encourage, to console. The word means to exhort to a particular line of conduct (Lightfoot, Notes; TDNT; s.v. 3). Part. of manner. παραμυθούμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. παραμυθέομαι (# 4170) to encourage. The word means to encourage to continue in a course (Milligan). Part. of manner. μαρτυρόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. μαρτυρέω (# 3458) to witness. Part. describe the content of the knowledge. Pres. describes the durative action, "continually exhorting." περιπατεῖν pres. act. inf. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk, to conduct one's life. Articular inf. w. the prep. εἰς (# 1650) to express either purp. (Morris) or the content of the command or entreaty (M, 219). ἀξίως (# 547) adv., worthily (s. Eph. 4:1). καλοῦντος pres. act. part. καλέω (# 2813) to call. Part. used as an adj. to emphasize this as a trait of God. For the variant reading of the aor. part. s. TC, 630; Best. ◆ 13 The second καί (# 2779) in the expression κ. ὑμεῖς indicates a reciprocal relation between writers and readers (Frame), and does not necessarily indicate that Paul was answering a letter from the Thessalonians (Morris; Moore). εὐχαριστοῦμεν pres. ind. act. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks. ἀδιαλείπτως (# 90) without interruption, continually, regularly (s. 1:2; Rom. 1:9). παραλαβόντες pres. act. part. παραλαμβάνω (# 4161) to receive, to receive from another; a t.t. used for the reception of tradition which was conveyed (TDNT; TLNT; s. Col. 2:6). ἀκοή (# 198) hearing, report, message (Best). παρ' ἡμῶν (# 4123; 1609) from us. The phrase is to be connected w. the part. and indicates the immediate source of the message delivered and received, while the emphatic τοῦ θεοῦ (# 2536) from God, is added to point to its real source (Milligan). The gen. "from God" is therefore a subj. gen.–"preceding from God, having God as its author"–as its emphatic position requires (Lightfoot, Notes). ἐδέξασθε aor. ind. mid. (dep.) δέχομαι (# 1312) to receive. to welcome. καθώς (# 2777) just as. ἀληθῶς (# 242) adv., truly. ἐνεργεῖται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐνεργέομαι (# 1919) to work effectually, to work efficiently and productively. The word is used to describe the energy and effective power of God Himself (MNTW, 46-54; TDNT). πιστεύουσιν pres. act. part. dat. masc. pl. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Subst. part. used to emphasize a trait. ◆ 14 μιμηταί (# 3629) imitator (s. 1:6). ἐγενήθητε aor. pass. (dep.) ind. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become (s.v. 5). οὐσῶν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἐπάθετε aor. ind. act. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. For a discussion of the suffering of the church at Thessalonica s. Wanamaker. ἴδιος (# 2625) one's own. συμφυλέτης (# 5241) countryman. This expression may be in part geographical and include Thessalonian Jews, but it points to a large Gentile element in the opposition (Morris). ◆ 15 ἀποκτεινάντων aor. act. part. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. ἐκδιωξάντων aor. act. part. (adj.) ἐκδιώκω (# 1691) to hunt down, to hunt out, to persecute. Prep. in compound may connote to drive out w. the intention of persecuting (Moore). Aor. indicates action antecedent to the main vb. ἀρεσκόντων pres. act. part. ἀρέσκω (# 743) to please (s.v. 4). Pres. indicates contemporaneous action. ἐναντίος (# 1885) opposing, contrary to, hostile toward. ◆ 16 κωλυόντων pres. act. part. κωλύω (# 3266) to hinder, to prevent, to forbid. Pres. would be conative as well as indicating a continual action: "they are continually trying to hinder." ἔθνεσιν dat. pl. ἔθνος (# 1620) nation, Gentile. λαλῆσαι aor. act. inf. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Compl. inf. to the main vb. σωθῶσιν aor. subj. pass. σώζω (# 5392) to rescue, to save. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. εἰς (# 1650) to, into. The prep. is used w. the articular inf. to express purp. (Ellicott; Morris; NT, 143). ἀναπληρῶσαι aor. act. inf. ἀναπληρόω (# 405) to fill up, to fill up to the full. The word means "to fill up the measure" of their sins, implying that the process of filling had already begun, drop after drop being poured into the cup of their guilt (Lightfoot, Notes). πάντοτε (# 4121) always. ἔφθασεν aor. ind. act. φθάνω (# 5777) to arrive, to reach. The word could have two meanings here. It could mean anger hangs over them and is just about to fall on them: or it could mean anger has fallen on them and they now experience it. For a discussion of these two meanings as well as the meaning of the aor. s. Best. ὀργή (# 3973) wrath, anger (TDNT; NIDNTT). εἰς (# 1650) to, toward. The phrase means either "at last" or "to the end" (Morris). ◆ 17 ἀπορφανισθέντες aor. pass. part. ἀπορφανίζομαι (# 682) to make one an orphan by separation. The word could be used of a parentless child, or of childless parents, and even in a general sense of any severe deprivation or desolation (Moore): "we are like children who have lost their parents" (Lightfoot, Notes; Bruce; Richard; TDNT). Pass. points out that the situation was forced (von Dobschütz). Aor. implies a single action and not a continued state (Best). καιρός (# 2789) time, period of time, space of time. προσώπῳ οὐ καρδίᾳ dat. of reference marking the true limiting power of the case, the metaphorical place to which the action is restricted (Ellicott). προσώπῳ dat. sing. πρόσωπον (# 4725) face, person, indicating what the outward connection or relationship is. καρδίᾳ (# 2840) heart, the place of the affections and of the inner connection in life (von Dobschütz). περισσοτέρως (# 4359) comp. adv. περισσός more abundantly. The adv. could have the true comp. force, "the more fervently," or it could be elative, "excessively" (Frame). ἐσπουδάσαμεν aor. ind. act. σπουδάζω (# 5079) to make haste, to endeavor. ἰδεῖν aor. act. inf. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Compl. inf. to the main vb.: "we make haste to see you." ἐπιθυμίᾳ (# 2123) desire, longing. ◆ 18 διότι (# 1484) because (s.v. 8). ἠθελήσαμεν aor. ind. act. θέλω (# 2527) to wish, to desire. The word probably points to the will which proceeds from inclination (T; Morris). ἐλθεῖν aor. act. inf. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. Compl. inf. to the main vb.: "I desire to come." ἐγώ (# 1609) I. This is the first of a number of instances where Paul speaks for himself alone in these letters (Moore). Paul's name is used to guarantee the correctness of the ἠθελήσαμεν (von Dobschütz; for a discussion of the "we" sections in the Thessalonian letters s. von Dobschütz, 67f; Milligan, 131f). ἅπαξ (# 562) once. δίς (# 1489) twice. The two words used together form an idiomatic expression meaning "and that more than once," "several times" (Morris; Best). ἐνέκοψεν aor. ind. act. ἐγκόπτω (# 1601) to cut in. The word was originally used of breaking up a road to render it impassable; later it was used in a military sense of making a break through the enemy's line. It was also used in the athletic sense of cutting in on someone during a race. The general meaning of the word is "to hinder" (Milligan; Moore; TDNT; s. Gal. 5:7). Σατανᾶς (# 4928) Satan (DDD, 1369-80; TDNT; DPL, 852-67). ◆ 19 καυχήσεως (# 3018) boasting. οὐχί (# 4049) strengthened form of οὐ used in questions expecting the answer "yes" (BD, 220f). The words "it is certainly you, isn't it?" form a rhetorical parenthesis interjected into the main sentence to draw special attention to the position of the Thessalonians (Milligan). ἔμπροσθεν (# 1869) before, in the presence of. παρουσίᾳ (# 4242) coming, presence. ◆ 20 γάρ (# 1142) yes, indeed. The particle is used to introduce the answer to a rhetorical question and in such cases it affirms what was asked, giving the reason for a tacit "yes" (BD, 236).

◆ 1 διό (# 1475) therefore, on which account: "on account of this very fervent desire, which I was unable to gratify" (Lightfoot, Notes). μηκέτι (# 3600) no longer. στέγοντες pres. act. part. στέγω (# 5095) to cover, to ward off by covering (e.g., a roof covering a house both conceals and wards off), to endure, to bear up under (Milligan; Morris; Best). Part. is either temp. or causal. εὐδοκήσαμεν aor. ind. act. εὐδοκέω (# 2305) to be well pleased, to willingly determine, to consider it good (s. 2:8). καταλειφθῆναι aor. pass. inf. καταλείπω (# 2901) to leave behind, to forsake. The idea here is "willing to be forsaken" (Moore). ◆ 2 ἐπέμψαμεν aor. ind. act. ἐμπέμπω (# 4287) to send. The vb. is used w. the prep. εἰς and the articular inf. to express purp. (Frame). τοῦ Χριστοῦ (# 5986) of Christ. Gen. is either subjective or obj. gen. or could indicate both; i.e., Christ is the author and the content of the gospel (Best). στηρίξαι aor. act. inf. στηρίσσω (# 5114) to support, to strengthen, to establish. The word has the idea of putting in a buttress as a support (Morris). Inf. to express purp. παρακαλέσαι aor. act. inf. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to exhort, to encourage (s. 2:12). ὑπέρ (# 5642) on behalf of, for the advantage of (Morris). ◆ 3 σαίνεσθαι pres. pass. inf. σαίνω (# 4883) to shake or wag; used esp. of a dog wagging the tail to allure, to fascinate, to flatter, to beguile, to draw aside from the right path (Lightfoot, Notes; Best; Milligan; Wanamaker; Bruce). The word occurs in Josephus in the sense of "to caress," "to stroke" (CCFJ, 3:8; Jos., JW, 6.336). Inf. to express purp. (Richard). θλῖψις (# 2568) pressure, tribulation (TDNT). κείμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) κεῖμαι (# 3023) to lie, to place; used as a perf. pass. of τίθημι w. the meaning "to be appointed, "to be destined" (Best; Milligan; Moore). ◆ 4 ἦμεν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. προελέγομεν impf. ind. act. προλέγω (# 4625) to say beforehand, to foretell. Prep. in compound is predictive while the impf. denotes repeated action (Frame). μέλλομεν pres. ind. act. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. The word is used w. the pres. inf. to denote a durative fut. ind. or an impending event: "we are going to ..." (MKG, 307f). θλίβεσθαι pres. pass. inf. θλίβω (# 2567) to put under pressure; pass., to suffer tribulation. καθώς (# 2777) just as. ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to happen, to come to pass. οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. ◆ 5 διὰ τοῦτο (# 1328; 4047) for this reason. κἀγώ (# 2743) I also (Morris). It could also mean "I actually sent ...," or "that is in fact why I sent ..." (IBG, 167). στέγων pres. act. part. (causal) στέγω (# 5095) to cover, to pass over in silence; fig., to endure, to stand. "Since I could bear it no longer" (BAGD; MM). Aor. indicates antecedent action to the main vb. ἔπεμψα aor. ind. act. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. εἰς (# 1650) used w. the articular inf. to express purp. γνῶναι aor. act. inf. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Ingressive aor., "to come to know" (RWP; ND, 344f). μή πως (# 3590; 4803) lest. Used to express neg. purp., particularly in an expression of apprehension. It is used w. the subj. if the anxiety is directed toward warding off something still dependent on the will, and w. the ind. if directed toward something which is entirely independent of the will. With the subj. it expresses feared results (BD, 188; RG, 988). ἐπείρασεν aor. ind. act. πειράζω (# 4279) to test, to try, to tempt. (Trench, Synonyms, 278-81; TLNT). Ind. is used to express fear regarding a pres. inevitable reality (MT, 99). πειράζων pres. act. part. (subst.) πειράζω (# 4279) κενός (# 3031) empty. γένηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to be, to become. Subj. expresses a fear of an uncertain thing in the fut. (MT, 99). κόπος (# 3160) labor, wearying work (s. 1:3). ◆ 6 ἄρτι (# 785) now, just now. ἐλθόντος aor. act. part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. Aor. indicating antecedent action to the main vb. Temp. part. gen. abs., "Now that Timothy has come." εὐαγγελισαμένου aor. mid. (dep.) part. εὐαγγελίζομαι (# 2294) to bring good news. This is the only place in the NT where the vb. is used without a full and direct reference to the gospel, which is Jesus Christ (Best; Milligan, 141-44; TDNT). μνεία (# 3644) mention, remembrance. Used w. the main vb. in the sense of "to hold," "to maintain a recollection." Here it indicates a kindly remembrance toward their former teachers (Milligan). ἐπιποθοῦντες pres. act. part. ἐπιποθέω (# 2160) to long for, to yearn after. Prep. in compound is directive (Lightfoot, Notes; s. Phil. 1:8). Part. further expands the preceding words and gives an example of their kindly remembrance (Ellicott; von Dobschutz). ἰδεῖν aor. act. inf. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Compl. inf. καθάπερ (# 2749) just as (s. 2:11). ◆ 7 διὰ τοῦτο because of this, for that reason. This is a transitional phrase taking up the preceding whole of v. 6 (Best). παρεκλήθημεν aor. ind. pass. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to comfort. ἐφ' = ἐπί (# 2093) w. the dat., because, because of. The prep. frequently denotes the basis for a state of being, action, or result, esp. w. verbs of emotion (BD, 123). ἀνάγκῃ (# 340) necessity, distress, affliction. The word is used of outward calamities or distresses (Milligan). θλῖψις (# 2568) pressure. ◆ 8 ζῶμεν pres. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live; "we live once more," i.e., in spite of this distress and affliction (Lightfoot, Notes). στήκετε pres. ind. act. στήκω (# 5112) to stand, to stand firm, to stand fast, to be steadfast (BAGD). ◆ 9 εὐχαριστία (# 2374) thanksgiving, thanks. δυνάμεθα pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able. ἀνταποδοῦναι aor. act. inf. ἀνταποδίδωμι (# 500) to render, to give back as an equivalent. Prep. in compound implies the adequacy of the return (Lightfoot, Notes; Moore). χαίρομεν pres. ind. act. χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice. Pres. denotes continual action. ἔμπροσθεν (# 1869) before, in the presence of. ◆ 10 νυκτὸς καὶ ἡμέρας (# 3816; 2779; 2465) night time and daytime, night and day, gen. of time. The emphasis is not on the duration but on the kind of time (GGBB, 123-24). ὑπερεκπερισσοῦ (# 5655) adv., more than out of bounds, overflowing all bounds, exceedingly, superabundantly (RWP; Best; s. Eph. 3:20). δεόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. δέομαι (# 1289) to make a request, to pray. The word embodies a sense of personal need and is very common in petitions addressed to ruling sovereigns as distinguished from those addressed to magistrates (Milligan; PIP, 191f). ἰδεῖν aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Compl. inf. to the main vb. Aor. points to a specific act. καταρτίσαι aor. act. inf. καταρτίζω (# 2936) to fit together, to join together, to restore, to repair, to equip. The word had a variety of usages depending upon the context. It was used to reconcile political factions; it was a surgical term for setting bones. It was used for repairing nets (s. Mark 1:19), and making military and naval preparations (Best; Lightfoot, Notes; TDNT). ὑστερήμα (# 5729) that which is lacking, deficiency. ◆ 11 For a discussion of the background and form of intercessory wish prayers, s. PIP, 22-44. αὐτὸς δέ now [God] Himself. Although this was a conventional liturgical form of address, Paul adds a new depth of meaning and invokes the august majesty and unique power of almighty God, the original creator and direct controller of events (PIP, 54; BBC). κατευθύναι aor. opt. act. κατευθύνω (# 2985) to make straight. The word refers to the leveling or removal of those obstacles which Satan has used to obscure the path (Lightfoot, Notes; Milligan). Opt. was often used to express a wish in prayers (PIP, 32f; M, 165; RG, 939f; BD, 194; GGBB, 482). ◆ 12 πλεονάσαι aor. opt. act. πλεονάζω (# 4429) to make more, to increase. περισσεύσαι aor. opt. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to cause to overflow. τῇ ἀγάπῃ (# 27) The dat. could be dat. of reference or loc. or perhaps instr. (Ellicott). ◆ 13 στηρίξαι aor. act. inf. στηρίσσω (# 5114) to establish εἰς τὸ στηρίξαι. The prep. and the aor. inf. w. the article expresses purp. For the meaning of the word "establish," s.v. 2. ἄμεμπτος (# 289) blameless. The prayer gains sublimity in that they must be prepared to stand blameless in holiness before God as judge, the searcher of the inward motives of men, who tests and tries their hearts (PIP, 62; Frame). ἁγιωσύνῃ (# 43) holiness. The word indicates the state or cond. of holiness (Lightfoot, Notes). παρουσίᾳ (# 4242) coming, arrival. The word was used as a near t.t. for the visit of a king or emperor or for the appearance of a god (MM; LAE, 370ff; TDNT).

1 Thessalonians 4

◆ 1 λοιπὸν οὖν (# 3370) finally; "as our last matter" (Best; s. Phil. 3:1). ἀδελφοί voc. pl. ἀδελφός (# 81) brother. The term is an organizing metaphor that portrays the community as a family, thus linking together people who often had no previous contact (Wanamaker). ἐρωτῶμεν pres. ind. act. ἐρωτάω (# 2263) to ask, to request. The word lays stress on the person asked rather than on the thing asked for and it conceives the request in a question form (Milligan; Morris). παρακαλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to beseech, to exhort. ἵνα (# 2671) that. The word introduces the content of the request. καθώς (# 2777) just as. παρελάβετε aor. ind. act. παραλαμβάνω (# 4161) to receive, to receive from another, to receive tradition or teaching (s. Col. 2:6). τὸ πῶς (# 4802) how. The article is used to introduce an indir. question (RWP; BD, 140). δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. it is necessary to, an impersonal expression w. inf. giving a logical necessity. περιπατεῖν pres. act. inf. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk, to walk about, to conduct one's life. Compl. inf. ἀρέσκειν pres. act. inf. ἀρέσκω (# 743) to please. Pres. emphasizes the continual or habitual action. καθώς (# 2777) just as, introducing a parenthetical cl. περιπατεῖτε pres. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to conduct one's life. περισσεύητε pres. subj. act. περισσεύω (# 4355) to overflow, to abound. ◆ 2 παραγγελία (# 4132) order, command, instruction. The word often denotes a word of command received from a superior officer that may be passed on to others. Here the pl. points to special precepts or rules of living which the writers had laid down when in Thessalonica, and in which they had referred to the Lord Jesus as the one alone through whom they could be put into effect (Milligan). ἐδώκαμεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ◆ 3 τοῦτο γάρ ἐστιν θέλημα τοῦ θεοῦ for this is the will of God. The τοῦτο is to be taken as the subj. and the θέλημα τοῦ θεοῦ is the pred. nom. (Richard; Wanamaker). The omission of the article followed by the gen. may be due to the Semitic influence of the status constructus (BD, 135). To please God is to do His will (Bruce). ἁγιασμός (# 40) sanctification. The process of becoming holy (Moore). ἀπέχεσθαι pres. mid. inf. ἀπέχω (# 600) to hold oneself from, to abstain. Inf. is explanatory, defining the neg. side of sanctification (Ellicott). πορνεία (# 4518) sexual sin, illicit sexual activity. Sex was often linked to pagan religious practice (Best; TDNT; Lightfoot, Notes) Loose morals were a continuous problem in the Greco-Roman world (J. Carcopino, Daily Life in Ancient Rome, 76-100; BBC; DPL, 871-72). ◆ 4 εἰδέναι perf. act. inf. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. The vb. was often used to describe know-how, the possession of knowledge or skill necessary to accomplish a desired goal (ND, 347). The word might mean, in this context, "to respect" (Frame). σκεῦος (# 5007) vessel. In this context the word could mean either "body," "wife," or perhaps "life" (Best; Morris; TDNT; T; Holz), or perhaps it has the sense of controlling one's sexual urge, or mastering oneself (J. Whitton, "A Neglected Meaning for Skeuos in 1 Thessalonians 4.4," NTS 28 [1982]:142-43). κτᾶσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. κτάομαι

(# 3227) to acquire. Although the perf. generally means "to possess" some examples from the papyri indicates the same meaning in the pres. (MM; Milligan; TDNT; Morris). It is possible that the word reflects a Heb. idiom and has the sense, "to possess a woman sexually" (Best; TDNT). ◆ 5 πάθει dat. πάθος (# 4079) passion. ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) lust, desire. Paul does not forbid the natural impulse of desire, but rather "passion of lust," "lustful passion," a cond. where sense has been converted into the ruling principle or into passion (Lunemann). καθάπερ (# 2749) just as (s. the discussion in 2:11). ἔθνη nom. pl. ἔθνος (# 1620) Gentile. εἰδότα perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know (s.v. 4). Adj. part. to emphasize a trait. ◆ 6 ὑπερβαίνειν pres. act. inf. ὑπερβαίνω (# 5648) to go beyond, to exceed the proper limits, to transgress. With acc. of a person the verb means "to get the better of, to override" (Lightfoot, Notes). Inf. may be used to express results or purp., or it may be used parallel to the other inf. in the section (Frame; Best). πλεονεκτεῖν pres. act. inf. πλεονεκτέω (# 4430) to claim more, to have more than one's due, to defraud, to selfishly attempt to gain more at all costs and by all means, disregarding others and their rights (Moore; TDNT; NTW, 97ff; NIDNTT; BBC). πρᾶγμα (# 4547) matter. In this case it could mean in matters of sex (TDNT; Best). ἔκδικος (# 1690) one who carries out that which is right, avenger. The word was used in the papyri for the office of an official legal representative (MM; Preisigke 1:443; 3:110; Milligan). The word may be a compound developed from a prep. phrase w. the meaning, "just as after a legal decision," and the word would thus refer to one who carries out a sentence (MH, 311). προείπαμεν aor. ind. act. προλέγω (# 4625) to say previously, to say beforehand. The word is not used here in the sense of "prophesy," "predict" (Best). διεμαρτυράμεθα aor. ind. mid. (dep.) διαμαρτύρομαι (# 1371) to solemnly declare, to warn, to insist (Wanamaker; Bruce). Prep. in compound has the idea of "thoroughly" (MH, 302). ◆ 7 ἐκάλεσεν aor. ind. act. καλέω (# 2813) to call. Consummative aor. views the completion of the action. ἀκαθαρσίᾳ (# 174) uncleanness, filthiness, impurity. The prep. used w. the noun means for the purp. of (Moore). ἐν (# 1877) in. The prep. indicates the state of holiness resulting from the calling (Frame). ◆ 8 τοιγαροῦν (# 5521) for that very reason then, therefore (BAGD; for its position in usage s. Blomqvist, 130). ἀθετῶν pres. act. part. ἀθετέω (# 119) lit., to do away w. what has been laid down; to reject, to set aside, to spurn, to despise (Milligan, Frame). Nom. part. to emphasize a trait, "the one who despises this." Pres. indicates a continuing action. ἀθετεῖ pres. ind. act. ἀθετέω (# 119). διδόντα pres. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Adj. or nominal use of part. Pres. describes the continual or the continually repeated action. ◆ 9 φιλαδελφία (# 5789) love for the brothers. χρεία (# 5970) need. ἔχετε pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. γράφειν pres. act. inf. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Compl. inf. θεοδίδακτος (# 2531) taught of God. The word points not so much to one divine communication as to divine relationship established between believers and God; hence, it is as those who have been born of God and whose hearts are in consequence filled by God's spirit that the Thessalonians for their part can no longer help loving (Milligan). For the verbal adj. w. this ending s. M, 221; MH, 370; and for the compound having an instr. sense ("God-taught") s. MH, 271. ἀγαπᾶν pres. act. inf. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Articular inf. w. εἰς (# 1650) to express purp. or result. ἀλλήλων (# 253) reciprocal pron., one another. ◆ 10 καὶ γάρ for also, for indeed. The phrase marks this statement as an advance upon the preceding one: "You are not only taught the lesson, but you also practice it" (Lightfoot, Notes). ποιεῖτε pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. παρακαλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to exhort. περισσεύειν pres. act. inf. περισσεύω (# 4355) to excel. Compl. inf. to the main vb. μᾶλλον (# 3437) more. ◆ 11 φιλοτιμεῖσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. φιλοτιμέομαι (# 5818) to make it one's ambition, to be zealous, to strive eagerly, to consider it an honor (MM; Milligan; BAGD; NDIEC, 1:87-88). The infs. in v. 11 connected by καί (# 2779) are epex., giving concrete examples of how love of others applies to daily life (Richard). ἡσυχάζειν pres. act. inf. ἡσυχάζω (# 2483) to be at rest, to be quiet, to remain silent; i.e., to live quietly. Compl. inf. to the main vb. The context suggests that Paul is speaking to those who were busybodies w. their brotherly love and he directs such people to learn to behave and quietly get on w. their own work (Moore; BBC). πράσσειν pres. act. inf. πράσσω (# 4556) to do, to practice. ἴδιος (# 2625) private, one's own. ἐργάζεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work. Compl. inf. to the main vb. Although the Gr. generally looked down on manual labor as the work of slaves, the Jews had no such attitude. The emphasis here, however, is not on manual labor opposed to some other form but upon working as opposed to idling (Moore; RAC, 1:585-90; KP, 1:490-94). Paul seems to be warning against the prevalent and popular idea of living from public or private support (FAP, 334-35, 338-39; Wanamaker). παρηγγείλαμεν aor. ind. act. παραγγέλλω (# 4133) to charge, to order, to instruct. In classical writers the word was used of the orders of military commanders, which here brings out the authority w. which the apostle spoke (Milligan). ◆ 12 περιπατῆτε pres. subj. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk, to conduct one's life. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. εὐσχημόνως (# 2361) decently, becomingly. πρός (# 4639) toward; w. an eye to (Frame). ἔξω (# 2032) outside. "Those outside" reflects a rabbinic expression and means anyone and everyone not within the Christian community (Moore). ἔχητε pres.

subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Parallel to the previous vb., w. subj. expressing purp. ◆ 13 θέλομεν pres. ind. act. θέλω (# 2527) to desire. ἀγνοεῖν pres. act. inf. ἀγνοέω (# 51) not to know, to be ignorant. Compl. inf. to the main vb.: "We desire for you not to be ignorant." κοιμωμένων pres. mid. (dep.) part. κοιμάω (# 3121) to sleep, to fall asleep. Pres. is probably timeless and denotes a class, "the sleepers" (Frame; Morris). λυπῆσθε pres. subj. pass. (dep.) λυπέω (# 3382) to grieve, to pain; pass., to become sad, to be sorrowful, to be distressed. Pres. signifies a continuing sorrow (Morris). λοιπός (# 3370) remaining; here, "the others." ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. The general hopelessness of the pagan world in the presence of death is almost too well-known to require illustration (Milligan; Lightfoot, Notes; Morris; LAE, 176-78; Gerhard Pfohl, Römische Grabinschriften [Munich: Ernst Heimeran, 1969]; G. Pfohl, Grieschische Inschriften, 11-42; FAP, 339-40). One common motif was the sorrowing parents waving good-bye to their daughter sitting in a boat, about to depart for the underworld. ἐλπίς (# 1828) hope (EH, 447-51). Here hope for a reunion in the afterlife. ◆ 14 εἰ (# 1623) if. The word introduces a cond. of the first class, assuming the death and resurrection of Jesus to be true (RWP; GGBB, 694). γάρ (# 1142) for, drawing a conclusion or inference from the cond. πιστεύομεν pres. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. ἀπέθανεν aor. ind. act. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die. ἀνέστη aor. ind. act. ἀνίστημι (# 482) to rise. κοιμηθέντας aor. pass. part. κοιμάω (# 3121) to sleep. ἄξει fut. ind. act. ἄγω (# 72) to lead, to bring. The prep. phrase is to be taken w. this vb., "God will bring through Jesus those who have fallen asleep" (Moore). ◆ 15 ζῶντες pres. act. part. (adj.) ζάω (# 2409) to live. Pres. used to stress a trait. περιλειπόμενοι pres. pass. part. περιλείπω (# 4335) to leave, to leave behind. Pres. indicates that the action is viewed as going on to the limit of time designated by the prep. εἰς (# 1650) (Frame). παρουσία (# 4242) arrival, coming (s. 3:13). οὐ μή not in anywise. φθάσωμεν aor. subj. act. φθάνω (# 5777) to precede, to go before. Aor. subj. used w. the emphatic neg. οὐ μή (# 4024; 3590) has the sense of an emphatic fut. ind. (SMT, 78; RG, 939f). κοιμηθέντας aor. pass. part. (# 3121) (s.v. 13). ◆ 16 κέλευσμα (# 3026) command, shout. The word was used in a variety of ways. It is the cry made by the ship's master to its rowers, or by a charioteer to his horses. When used w. military or naval personnel, it was a battle cry. In most places it denotes a loud, authoritative cry, often one uttered in the thick of great excitement (Morris; Lightfoot, Notes; BBC). In the Roman army, at the sound of the third trumpet a herald, standing at the right of the commander, called out three times to ask if the soldiers were ready for war; the troops shouted loud and lustily, "We are ready!" (TJ, 106; Jos., JW., 3.91-93). ἀρχάγγελος (# 791) archangel. It was a term for those of the uppermost rank (Best). σάλπιγγι dat. σάλπιγξ (# 4894) trumpet. The trumpet was used by the Jews in their festival and was associated w. theophanies, the End, and w. the resurrection of the dead (Best; TDNT; for the three trumpets in the Roman army as they broke camp s. TJ, 105-6). καταβήσεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) καταβαίνω (# 2849) to come down. ἀναστήσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀνίστημι (# 482) to rise. πρῶτον (# 4754) first. ◆ 17 ἔπειτα (# 2083) then, following. The word denotes the speedy following of the event specified upon what has gone before (Milligan; Ellicott). ζῶντες pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. περιλειπόμενοι pres. pass. part. περιλείπω (# 4335) to leave behind. ἁρπαγησόμεθα fut. ind. pass. ἁρπάζω (# 773) to snatch up, to seize, to carry off by force, to rapture. The word often denotes the emotion of a sudden swoop, and usually that of a force which cannot be resisted (Morris). ἀπάντησις (# 561) meeting. The word had a technical meaning in the Hellenistic world related to the visits of dignitaries to cities where the visitor would be formally met by the citizens, or a deputation of them, who went out from the city and would then ceremonially escort him back into the city (Best). ἀέρα acc. sing. ἀήρ (# 113) air. πάντοτε (# 4121) always. ἐσόμεθα fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 18 ὥστε (# 6063) therefore. παρακαλεῖτε pres. imp. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage.

1 Thessalonians 5

◆ 1 χρόνος (# 5989) time. The word expresses simply duration, time viewed in its extension (Milligan; Best; Morris; TDNT). καιρός (# 2789) originally the opportunity for doing, or avoiding to do, anything. It is time w. reference to both its extent and character and refers to the kind of events that are taking place (Lightfoot, Notes; Milligan; Morris; TDNT). ἔχετε pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have; here, to have need. γράφεσθαι pres. pass. inf. γράφω (# 1211) to write. ◆ 2 ἀκριβῶς (# 209) accurately, precisely, well (Moore; s. Luke 1:3). ἡμέρα κυρίου (# 2465; 3261) day of the Lord. This could refer to the day of the Lord in the OT sense (Bruce), or it could refer to the day of the Lord Jesus and be a reference to the rapture as described in 4:15-18. Note the repeated use of Lord, meaning the Lord Jesus Christ, in these verses. ◆ 3 ὅταν (# 4020) used. w. the subj., when, whenever. λέγωσιν pres. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say, to speak. ἀσφάλεια (# 854) safety. The word occurs in the papyri as a law term: bond, security (Milligan; MM). αἰφνίδιος (# 167) sudden, suddenly. The word could be an adj. ("sudden destruction comes upon them"), or it could be used as an adv., "all of a sudden" (Frame). ἐφίσταται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐφίστημι (# 2392) to approach, to appear, to come upon. It is used of misfortunes which suddenly come upon someone (BAGD). ὄλεθρος (# 3897) destruction, disaster, ruin. The word is used in the LXX, particularly in the prophets to mean an eschatological destruction (TDNT; NIDNTT). ὠδίν (# 6047) birth pain. The term was used in the pl. in the OT and Jewish writings to describe the pain, anxiety, or distress associated particularly w. divine judgment (BBC; Richard). γαστρί dat. γαστήρ (# 1143) stomach. ἐχούσῃ pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Used in the expression "to have something in the stomach," w. the meaning "to be pregnant." οὐ μή (# 4024; 3590) certainly not. ἐκφύγωσιν aor. subj. act. ἐκφύγω (# 1767) to escape, to escape completely. For the subj. w. the emphatic neg. s. 4:15. ◆ 4 ἵνα (# 2671) used w. the subj. to express result (IBG, 142; BD, 198; RG, 998; MT, 103f; BG, 122). κλέπτης (# 3095) thief; fig. to show surprise. καταλάβῃ aor. subj. act. καταλαμβάνω (# 2898) to seize, to seize w. danger for them (BAGD). ◆ 5 υἱοὶ φωτός (# 5626; 5890) sons of light. The word "son" followed by the gen. is a Semitic construction meaning "to be characterized by that thing" (Morris; BG, 15ff; BS, 161-66). For the use of the term "sons of light" in the DSS, s. 1QM; 1QS 1:9; 2:16; 3:13, 24, 25; s. also the discussion in John 1:5. νυκτός (# 3816) and σκότους (# 5030) of night, of darkness. Gen. points to the sphere to which the subjects belong (Milligan). For the term "sons of darkness" in the DSS s. 1QM; 1QS 1:10; John 1:5. ◆ 6 ἄρα (# 726) therefore, then. Paul uses this to introduce a new stage in the argument (Best). καθεύδωμεν pres. subj. act. καθεύδω (# 2761) to sleep, cohortative subj. used w. the neg. μή (3590) indicating a prohibition. γρηγορῶμεν pres. subj. act. γρηγορέω (# 1213) to stay awake, to watch, to be vigilant. The word signifies the proper attitude of the Christian (Moore). Cohortative subj. Pres. indicates a continuing attitude: "Let us continue to remain vigilant, in contrast to the others who continue to sleep." νήφωμεν pres. subj. act. νήφω (# 3768) to be sober, not to be under the influence of drink. The word points to a cond. of moral alertness, the sense of being so exercised and disciplined that all fear of sleeping again is removed (Milligan; TDNT; Best). ◆ 7 καθεύδοντες pres. act. part. καθεύδω (# 2761) to sleep. νυκτός gen. sing. νύξ (# 3816) night; gen. of time, "during the night." Gen. specifies the time within which something occurs, "nighttime action" (MT, 235; DM, 77; BD, 99f; RG, 494f). μεθυσκόμενοι pres. pass. (dep.) part. μεθύσκομαι (# 3499) to get drunk, to make drunk (s. Eph. 5:18). μεθύουσιν pres. ind. act. μεθύω (# 3501) to be drunk. Pres. points to that which generally happens. ◆ 8 ὄντες pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἐνδυσάμενοι aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἐνδύω (# 1907) to clothe oneself, to put on. Aor. part. expresses identical or contemporaneous action in relation to the main vb. (Ellicott; Frame; GGBB, 624-25). θώρακα acc. sing. θώραξ (# 2606) breastplate (s. Eph. 6:14). πίστεως (# 4411) and ἀγάπης (# 27) faith and love, are epexegetical gens. explaining the breastplate (von Dobschütz; Best). περικεφαλαίαν (# 4330) that which goes around the head, helmet (s. Eph. 6:17). ἐλπίδα acc. ἐλπίς (# 1828) hope, oppositional to περικεθαλαίαν (von Dobschütz). ◆ 9 ἔθετο aor. ind. mid. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to destine (Best; MT, 55; BD, 165). ὀργή (# 3973) wrath, anger. περιποίησις (# 4348) obtaining, acquiring (Morris; Moore). διά (# 1328) w. the gen., through. The phrase is to be taken w. π. σωτηρίας (von Dobschütz). ◆ 10 ἀποθανόντος aor. act. part. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. ὑπέρ for. For the prep. in relation to the death of Christ as compared to other prep. s. IBG, 63; M, 105; BG, 96). εἴτε (# 1664) whether. It is used as an alternative cond. of a 3rd. class cond. cl. w. the pres. subj. (RWP; RG, 1017; BD, 187). γρηγορῶμεν pres. subj. act. γρηγορέω (# 1213) to watch. καθεύδωμεν pres. subj. act. καθεύδω (# 2761) to sleep. ζήσωμεν aor. subj. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Aor. points to this life as a definite fact secured for us by the equally definite death of our Lord (Milligan). ◆ 11 διό (# 1475) therefore. παρακαλεῖτε pres. imp. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage, to comfort (s. 2:12). ἀλλήλων (# 253) one another. οἰκοδομεῖτε pres. imp. act. οἰκοδομέω (# 3868) to build up, to edify. καθώς (# 2777) just as. ποιεῖτε pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ◆ 12 ἐρωτῶμεν pres. act. ind. ἐρωτάω (# 2263) to ask, to request (s. 4:1). εἰδέναι perf. act. inf. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning (ND, 344ff). κοπιῶντας pres. act. part. κοπιάω (# 3159) to grow weary, to work w. effort. The word refers to both bodily and mental labor (Milligan; s. 1:3). προϊσταμένους pres. mid. (dep.) part. προΐστημι (# 4613) to stand before someone. The word has two possible meanings, either "to preside, lead, direct" or "to protect, to care for" (Best; TDNT; MM). νουθετοῦντας pres. act. part. νουθετέω (# 3805) to put one in mind, to advise, to warn, to admonish. The word is used for the admonition and correction of those who are in error (Moore; TDNT). ◆ 13 ἡγεῖσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to consider, to esteem (Morris; for examples in the papyri, s. MM). ὑπερεκπερισσοῦ (# 5655) adv., exceedingly, very highly (Moore; s. also 3:10). εἰρηνεύετε pres. imp. act. εἰρηνεύω (# 1644) to exercise peace, to be at peace. Vbs. w. this suf. are often causative or connote the possession of a quality that sometimes leads to action (MH, 399f). ◆ 14 παρακαλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage. (s. 2:12). νουθετεῖτε pres. imp. act. νουθετέω (# 3805) to warn, to exhort (s.v. 12; BBC). ἄτακτος (# 864) without rank, out of rank, disorderly. The word was primarily a military term used of the soldier who is out of step or rank, or of the army moving in disarray. Then it was used more generally of whatever is out of order. In this passage the special reference would seem to be the idleness and neglect of duty which characterized certain members of the Thessalonian church in view of the shortly expected parousia

(Milligan, esp. 152-54; Morris; Best; s. also 4:11). παραμυθεῖσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) παραμυθέομαι (# 4170) to encourage (s. 2:12). ὀλιγόψυχος (# 3901) fainthearted, worried, discouraged, fearful (Best). ἀντέχεσθε pres. mid. imp. ἀντέχω (# 504) to lay hold of, to hold firmly to. For this as well as examples from the papyri s. Milligan; MM. ἀσθενής (# 822) without strength, weak (Best). μακροθυμεῖτε pres. imp. act. μακροθυμέω (# 3428) to be longsuffering. It indicates not giving way to a short or quick temper toward those who fail, but being patient and considerate of them (Milligan; TDNT; NTW, 83ff; Trench, Synonyms, 195). ◆ 15 ὁρᾶτε pres. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see, to see to it. The combination of 2nd. and 3rd. pers. in this construction conveys the idea that the whole group is being held responsible for the conduct of each individual. They are not only to abstain from retaliation, but to see that none of their number retaliates (Morris; Frame). μή (# 3590) that, lest. The neg. is used in an expression of apprehension and the subj. indicates that anxiety is directed toward warding off something still dependent on the will (BD, 188; MT, 98). ἀντί (# 505) w. the gen., instead of, in return for. ἀποδῷ aor. subj. act. ἀποδίδωμι (# 625) to give back, to pay back. πάντοτε (# 4121) always. διώκετε pres. imp. act. διώκω (# 1503) to hunt, to pursue, to seek eagerly (Best). ◆ 16 χαίρετε pres. imp. act. χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice. Pres. imp. calls for a continual attitude of rejoicing. ◆ 17 ἀδιαλείπτως (# 90) adv., without interruption, unceasingly, constantly (s. 1:2; BBC). προσεύχεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray. This is the more comprehensive term for prayer and can include the other words for prayer (Morris; TDNT). ◆ 18 ἐν παντί (# 1877; 4246) in every circumstance. This includes even persecutions and trials (Milligan). εὐχαριστεῖτε pres. imp. act. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks. τοῦτο (# 4047) this. Grammatically it could refer only to the last injunction, but it is more likely that Paul means all three commands to be regarded as a unity (Moore). ◆ 19 σβέννυτε pres. imp. act. σβέννυμι (# 4931) to put out (a fire), to quench. ◆ 20 προφητεία (# 4735) prophecy. The gift of speaking for God. ἐξουθενεῖτε pres. imp. act. ἐξουθενέω (# 2024) to consider as nothing, to make absolutely nothing of, to downgrade, to despise (Morris). ◆ 21 πάντα nom. pl. πᾶς (# 4246) all; all things. Here it is unlimited and refers to "all things whatsoever" (Lightfoot, Notes). δοκιμάζετε pres. imp. act. δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to approve after testing (s. the discussion in 2:4). κατέχετε pres. imp. act. κατέχω (# 2988) to hold fast, to lay hold of, to take possession of (MM; Milligan, 155-57). ◆ 22 εἴδος (# 1626) visible form, outward show. The word could also be used in the sense of kind, species, class (Milligan). πονηρός (# 4505) evil. The word could be taken either as an adj. or a noun (Ellicott; Morris). ἀπέχεσθε pres. imp. mid. ἀπέχω (# 600) to hold oneself from, to abstain. ◆ 23 ἁγιάσαι aor. opt. act. ἁγιάζω (# 39) to sanctify. For the use of the opt. in prayers to express a wish s. PIP, 32f. ὁλοτελής (# 3911) wholly, entirely, quite completely. The word not only implies entirety but involves the further idea of completion (Lightfoot, Notes; Moore). ὁλόκληρος (# 3908) whole, complete, undamaged, intact (BAGD). The point is that no part of the Christian personality should be lacking in consecration (Frame). For the possible construction of the entire s. PIP, 39; Best. ἀμέμπτως (# 290) adv., blamelessly. παρουσία (# 4242) arrival, coming (s. 3:13). τηρηθείη aor. opt. pass. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep. The word has a sense of protecting, watching over, and guarding (Moore). ◆ 24 καλῶν pres. act. part. καλέω (# 2813) to call. ποιήσει fut. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ◆ 25 προσεύχεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray (s.v. 17). ◆ 26 ἀσπάσασθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet. φίλημα (# 5799) kiss. Here, instr. dat., "with a kiss." The kiss was used in the ancient world as a form of greeting (Best; Moore; TDNT; s. 1 Cor. 16:20). ◆ 27 ἐνορκίζω (# 1941) pres. ind. act. to adjure, to cause someone to swear by something, to put someone on their oath (BAGD; Morris). The vb. is followed by the inf. (BD, 199f.) and the one by whom the oath is sworn is in the acc. (BD, 83; RG, 483f). ἀναγνωσθῆναι aor. pass. inf. ἀναγινώσκω (# 336) to read. From the context it is clear that it is a public reading or a reading aloud (Milligan). ἐπιστολή (# 2186) letter.

2 Thessalonians

2 Thessalonians 1

◆ 1-2 For the introduction s. 1 Thess. 1:1, and for the slight differences s. Bruce. ◆ 3 εὐχαριστεῖν pres. act. inf. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks (P.T. O'Brien, "Thanksgiving and the Gospel in Paul," NTS 21 [1974]: 144-55). ὀφείλομεν pres. ind. act. ὀφείλω (# 4053) to be obligated, w. inf. The word implies a special, personal obligation rather than one arising out of the nature of things (Best); "we owe it to God" (Moore). For parallels to the necessity and propriety of giving thanks, esp. in the midst of persecution s. Roger D. Aus, "The Liturgical Background of the Necessity and Propriety of Giving Thanks According to II Thess. 1:3," JBL 92 (1973): 432-38. πάντοτε (# 4121) always. καθώς (# 2777) just as. The word is slightly causal and resumes and explains the obligation to give thanks (Frame). ἄξιον (# 545) fitting. The word indicates that this thanksgiving is also appropriate in the circumstances (Moore). ὑπεραυξάνει pres. ind. act. ὑπεραυξάνω (# 5647) to grow abundantly, to grow over and beyond. It is a figure of the tree of faith growing above measure (RWP). Prep. in compound intensifies and magnifies the normal meaning of the word (Best; Bruce; MH, 326). πλεονάζει pres. ind. act. πλεονάζω (# 4429) to increase. ἕκαστος (# 1667) each one. ἀλλήλων (# 253) one another, reflexive pron. ◆ 4 ὥστε (# 6063) used w. the inf. to express results. αὐτοὺς ἡμᾶς (# 899; 1609) we ourselves. The words are emphatic and may form a contrast. For the various interpretations s. Best; Richard. Acc. as subj. of the inf. ἐγκαυχᾶσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἐγκαυχάομαι (# 1595) to boast. Inf. w. ὥστε to express actual results. The boasting done by Paul was the result of his readers' ever increasing faith and love (Wanamaker). ἐν ταῖς ἐκκλησίαις (# 1877; 1711) in the churches. The prep. ἐν may be used for the normal dat. ("to the churches"), but it may also have its normal local meaning: "within the churches," "among the churches" (MT, 264). ὑπέρ (# 5642) concerning. ὑπομονῆ (# 5705) patience, endurance. The word indicates a remaining under, i.e., a bearing up under difficult circumstances. It is the Spirit which can bear things, not simply w. resignation but w. blazing hope. It is not the patience which grimly waits for the end, but the patience which radiantly hopes for the dawn (NTW, 60; TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT). διωγμός (# 1501) persecution. θλίψεσιν dat. pl. θλῖψις (# 2568) persecution inflicted by the enemies of the gospel; the latter is more general and denotes tribulation of any kind (Lightfoot, Notes). ἀνέχεσθε pres. ind. mid. (dep) ἀνέχομαι (# 462) to hold oneself up, to endure (MH, 295). Pres. indicates that trouble did not end for the converts w. the expulsion of the missionaries (Moore). ◆ 5 ἔνδειγμα (# 1891) evidence, proof, the means by which one knows that something is a fact (LN, 1:341). In Josephus the word is used in the sense of a denunciation, indication, or proof (CCFJ, 2:98; s. Jos., Ant., 13:306, 19:133) and the noun ἐνδείκτης is used in 2 Macc. 4:1 of an informer (GELS, 150). The ending of the word denotes a result which has been reached–a thing proved–but frequently in similar cases where the abstract gives place to the concrete the word can hardly be distinguished from evidence, the actual proof by and appeal to facts (Milligan; but for a different opinion s. Lightfoot, Notes). κρίσεως (# 3213) judging, judgment. καταξιωθῆναι aor. pass. inf. καταξιόω (# 2921) to consider or declare worthy. The strengthened form of the vb. means "to declare to be worthy," "to deem worthy" (Morris). Articular inf. w. εἰς (# 1650) to express purp. or result. ὑπέρ (# 5642) for, for the sake of which, in the name of which, in the interest of which (Moore; Morris). πάσχετε pres. ind. act. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. Pres. denotes the sufferings are still going on (Frame). ◆ 6 εἴπερ (# 1642) if on the whole, provided that. The word introduces a cond. cl. which assumes the reality of the cond. (RWP; von Dobschütz). παρά (# 4123) w. dat. The reference is to the righteous judgment of God. ἀνταποδοῦναι aor. act. inf. ἀνταποδίδωμι (# 500) to pay back again, to recompense. The prep. in compound conveys the thought of a full and due requital (Morris). θλίβουσιν pres. act. part. (subst.) dat. pl. θλίβω (# 2567) to put one under pressure, to cause tribulation, to persecute. Pres. indicates that the affliction was in process. Dat. of disadvantage. ◆ 7 θλιβομένοις pres. pass. part. θλίβω (# 2567) to put under pressure (s.v. 6). ἄνεσις (# 457) loosening, relaxing. In classical Gr. it could refer to the release of a bowstring and so comes to mean relaxation and recreation in general. It is the relaxing of the cords of endurance now tightly drawn (Moore; Milligan). Here it is the lifting of the pressure caused by their persecution (Bruce). ἀποκάλυψις (# 637) unveiling, revelation (Milligan, 149f; TDNT). ◆ 8 πῦρ (# 4786) fire. φλογός gen. φλόξ (# 5825) flame. The flaming fire emphasizes the glory of the Lord's appearance and may be a reference to judgment (Best; Lightfoot, Notes; von Dobschütz; BBC). διδόντος pres. act. part. (adj.) δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Pres. to indicate contemporaneous action to the appearing of Christ. ἐκδίκησις (# 1689) vengeance. The word indicates full, complete punishment (Milligan). εἰδόσιν perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning (ND, 344f). ὑπακούουσιν pres. act. part. ὑπακούω (# 5634) to listen to, to obey. The prep. in compound has the idea of submission (MH, 327). ◆ 9 οἵτινες nom. pl. ὅστις (# 4015) who. The rel. pron. is generic indicating ones who belong to such a class: "such people" (Best; MT, 47f; IBG, 123f; MKG, 174f). δίκη (# 1472) the standard to which a thing is to conform, right, law, judicial hearing. It then came to express the results of the lawsuit, execution of a sentence, punishment (Milligan; TDNT; GW, 99; NIDNTT; Preisigke, 1:383-85; TLNT). τίσουσιν fut. ind. act. τίνω (# 5514) to suffer, to pay a penalty. The word means to pay a price by way of recompense (Moore). ὄλεθρος (# 3897) destruction, ruination. The word does not mean annihilation, but implies the loss of all things that give worth to existence (MM; Best; TDNT; s. 1 Thess. 5:3). Acc. is in apposition to the word δίκην (RWP). αἰώνιος (# 173) eternal. The adj. lit. means agelong and everything depends on the length of the age. In the NT there is never a hint that the coming age has an end (Morris; GW, 186-89; NIDNTT; TDNT). ἰσχύς (# 2709) strength, might, power (s. Eph. 1:19). ◆ 10 ὅταν (# 4020) w. subj., when, whenever. ἔλθῃ aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. ἐνδοξασθῆναι aor. pass. inf. ἐνδοξάζω (# 1901) to glorify. The prep. in compound is repeated after the vb. and could have either a local meaning ("in"), an instr. meaning ("by means of"), or a causal meaning ("because of") (Best). The prep. is used to express purp. θαυμασθῆναι aor. pass. inf. θαυμάζω (# 2513) to marvel, to wonder; pass., to be marveled at. Inf. is to express purp. πιστεύσασιν aor. act. part. masc. pl. dat. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Aor. part. focuses attention on the past act of belief (Best). ἐπιστεύθη aor. ind. pass. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. μαρτύριον (# 3457) witness. ◆ 11 εἰς ὅ to this end, w. this in mind. The expression conveys the idea of purp. (Morris; Moore). προσευχόμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray (s. 1 Thess. 5:17). πάντοτε (# 4121) always, constantly. ἵνα (# 2671) that. The particle introduces the content of the prayer. ἀξιώσῃ aor. subj. act. ἀξιόω (# 546) to consider worthy, to reckon as worthy. Subj. w. ἵνα. κλήσεως gen. sing. κλῆσις (# 3104) calling. Gen. is used after the vb. ἀξιώσῃ. πληρώσῃ aor. subj. act. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill. Here it has the sense of accomplishing (Moore). εὐδοκία (# 2306) good pleasure, resolve, consent, desire (BAGD; TDNT). ἀγαθωσύνη (# 20) goodness. Here, obj. gen., "delight in well doing" (Lightfoot, Notes; s. Gal. 5:22). ◆ 12 ἐνδοξασθῇ aor. pass. subj. ἐνδοξάζω (# 1901) to glorify (s.v. 10). Subj. w. ὅπως (# 3968) to express purp.

◆ 1 ἐρωτῶμεν pres. ind. act. ἐρωτάω (# 2263) to ask, to request (s. the discussion in 1 Thess. 4:1). παρουσία (# 4242) arrival, coming (s. 1 Thess. 3:13). ἐπισυναγωγή (# 2093) meeting, assembling, gathering together, collection, collecting together (LAE, 103f). The prep. in compound is directive (MH, 312). The word is used in 2 Macc 2:7 indicating a fut. time when God shall gather His people together. ◆ 2 εἰς (# 1650) w. the articular inf.; is used either to express purp. (RWP) or to introduce the object of the vb. (Best; MT, 143). ταχέως (# 5441) quickly, hastily (Lightfoot, Notes). σαλευθῆναι aor. pass. inf. σαλεύω (# 4888) to shake, to cause to move to and fro, to cause to waiver; pass., to be shaken, to be make to waver or totter, like the shaking of a foundation (BAGD; Wanamaker). By aor. the suddenness of the shock is emphasized (Moore). νοῦς (# 3808) mind, understanding, the reasoning faculty, man's power of judgment (Best; TDNT). θροεῖσθαι pres. pass. inf. θροέω (# 2583) pass., to be inwardly aroused, to be disturbed, to be frightened (BAGD). Pres. points to a continued state of agitation following upon a definite shock received and describes a state of jumpiness (Milligan; Morris). πνεῦμα (# 4460) spirit. It could refer here to some type of spiritual revelation (Lightfoot, Notes). λόγος (# 3364) word. A general expression which could refer to prophecy or sermon or any verbal communication (Moore). ὡς (# 6055) before ὅτι (# 4022) to the effect that (MT, 137). ἐνέστηκεν perf. ind. act. ἐνίστημι (# 1931) to place in, to stand in; perf., to be at hand, to be pres. The word could be translated, "is now pres.," and the vb. is sometimes contrasted w. vb.s expressing the fut. idea (Morris; RWP). ◆ 3 ἐξαπατήσῃ aor. subj. act. ἐξαπατάω (# 1987) to deceive, to deceive completely, to deceive successfully (MH, 311). Subj. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) to express a prohibition. Subj. of prohibition occurs in the 3rd. pers., esp. in cls. of fear or warning (DM, 171; SMT, 76). τρόπος (# 5573) manner. Used in the expression, "in no way" (Milligan). ἔλθῃ aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. ἀποστασία (# 686) falling away, rebellion, revolt, apostasy (Best; Moore; TDNT; TDNT; BBC). ἀποκαλυφθῇ aor. subj. pass. ἀποκαλύπτω (# 636) to unveil, to reveal. The word is very significant, not only as marking the superhuman character of the one spoken of, but as placing it in mocking counterpart to the revelation of the Lord Jesus Himself (Milligan). ἀνομία (# 490) lawlessness. The word describes the condition not of one living without law, but of one who acts contrary to law (Milligan; Best; for a discussion of the Antichrist s. ZPEB, 1:179-81; DPL, 592-94; for the Jewish teaching regarding the Antichrist named Armilis who was identified w. the Christ of Christianity s. SB, 3:637-40). Gen. here is of Semitic influence and is used as an adj. describing the main quality or character (BG, 14f; MT, 208; Best). υἱός (# 5626) son. Used in a Semitic construction followed by the gen. describing the character or quality (BG, 15f; MH, 441). ἀπωλεία (# 724) ruin, doom, destruction. The Semitic construction means, "he who is destined to be destroyed" (Moore; Best). ◆ 4 ἀντικείμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀντίκειμαι (# 512) to lie against, to oppose. Pres. part. indicates a constant habitual opposing or a lifestyle. ὑπεραιρόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ὑπεραίρω (# 5643) to lift up; mid., to lift oneself up, to exalt oneself, to exalt oneself exceedingly, to exalt oneself above measure (Lightfoot, Notes). λεγόμενον pres. pass. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say, to call. σέβασμα (# 4934) an object of worship. The ending of the noun indicates a pass. idea: something which is reverenced, something which is worshiped; and the word includes anything at all that could be worshiped (MH, 355; Morris; TDNT). ὥστε (# 6063) so that. Used w. the inf. to express results. αὐτόν (# 899) himself. ναός (# 3724) temple, sanctuary, the innermost part of the temple (Best). καθίσαι aor. act. inf. καθίζω (# 2767) to sit, to take one's seat. Here, "proclaiming himself that he is God" (Milligan; Best). ἑαυτόν (# 1571) himself. ὅτι that, introducing the content of his proclamation. ◆ 5 μνημονεύετε pres. ind. act. μνημονεύω (# 3648) to remember, to call to remembrance (s. 1 Thess. 1:3). The vb. is used in a question introduced by the neg. particle which expects the answer "yes": "you remember don't you?" ὤν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἔλεγον impf. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ◆ 6 νῦν (# 3814) now. The word can be logical, introducing a new point, but it is almost certainly temp. in the pres. context (Best). κατέχον pres. act. part. κατέχω (# 2988) to hold down, to restrain. Though many explanations for the restrainer have been offered (Morris; Best; BBC; Milligan, 155-57) in light of the supernatural character of "the one holding back," the use of the masc. article in v. 7 (the n. article here is because the Gr. word for "spirit" is n.) may suggest that "the restrainer" is the Holy Spirit (TDNT; and for ancient interpretations in this regard s. PGL, 731; Milligan). ἀποκαλυφθῆναι aor. pass. inf. ἀποκαλύπτω (# 636) to reveal (s.v. 3). Articular inf. w. εἰς (# 1650) to express purp. καίρος (# 2789) time, opportunity, the moment appointed by God (Moore). ◆ 7 μυστήριον (# 3696) mystery, that which was unknown and incapable of being known by man except through a revelation of God (TDNT; ZPEB, 4:327-30; Best). ἐνεργεῖται pres. ind. mid. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to work, to work effectively. The word is often used of supernatural working (Best). μόνον (# 3667) only. ὁ κατέχων pres. act. part. κατέχω (# 2988) The masc. article may refer to the pers. of the Holy Spirit (s.v. 6). ἄρτι (# 785) until. μέσος (# 3545) midst. γένηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. The phrase means "to be removed," "to be taken away." For this meaning, as well as a discussion of the passage relating the restrainer to God, s. Roger D. Aus, "God's Plan and God's Power: Isaiah 66 and the Restraining Factor of 2 Thess. 2:6-7," JBL 96 (1977): 537-53. ◆ 8 καὶ τότε and then. ἀποκαλυφθήσεται fut. pass. ind. ἀποκαλύπτω (# 636) to unveil, to reveal (s.v. 3). ἄνομος (# 491) lawless (s.v. 3). ἀνελεῖ fut. ind. act. ἀναιρέω (# 359) to take away, to do away w., to destroy (BAGD). στόματος gen. sing. στόμα (# 5125) mouth. καταργήσει fut. ind. act. καταργέω (# 2934) to render inactive, to abolish, to bring to naught, to put out of commission. ἐπιφανείᾳ (# 2211) manifestation, glorious appearance. The word usually has some idea of striking splendor and was often used by the Greeks of a glorious manifestation of the gods (Morris; T; LAE, 373; Milligan, 148f). ◆ 9 κατ' = κατά (# 2848) according to. The prep. not only refers to the norm, but indicates the source or cause of the miracle (von Dobschütz). ἐνέργεια (# 1918) word, effective work. The word was often used of supernatural work (TDNT). τέρασιν dat. pl. τέρας (# 5469) wonder (BBC). ◆ 10 ἀπάτῃ (# 573) deception, deceitfulness. ἀδικίᾳ (# 94) unrighteousness, wrongdoing. The combination of deceit and unrighteousness is evidence here of an active, aggressive power (Milligan). ἀπολλυμένοις pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to destroy, to ruin. Pres. of the vb. perfectized by the prep. has the sense of inevitable doom, indicating that the goal is ideally reached w. a complete transformation of its subjects required to bring them out of the ruin implicit in their state (M, 114f). ἀνθ' ὧν (# 505; 4005) because (Lightfoot, Notes). ἐδέξαντο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) δέχομαι (# 1312) to receive, to receive gladly, to welcome. σωθῆναι aor. pass. inf. σῴζω (# 5392) to rescue, to save. ◆ 11 διὰ τοῦτο (# 1328; 4047) for this reason. πέμπει pres. ind. act. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. Aor. suggests antecedent action to the main vb., thus providing a cause for the judgment. Substantival use of the part. to emphasize a characterizing trait. ◆ 13 ὀφείλομεν pres. ind. act. ὀφείλω (# 4053) to be obligated, to owe a debt, ought to (s. 1:3). εὐχαριστεῖν pres. act. inf. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks (s. 1:3). Compl. inf to the main vb. ἠγαπημένοι perf. pass. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Perf. emphasizes the continual state. εἵλατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) αἱρέομαι (# 145) to choose, to elect; mid., to choose for oneself. ἀπαρχή (# 794) firstfruit. σωτηρία (# 5401) sanctification. ◆ 14 εἰς ὅ unto which, whereunto. The phrase is to be taken w. the whole of the previous expression–"salvation ... truth" (Morris). ἐκάλεσεν aor. ind. act. καλέω (# 2813) to call. περιποίησις (# 4348) possessing, obtaining. τοῦ κυρίου of the Lord; possessive gen. ◆ 15 ἄρα (# 726) therefore. The practical conclusion is drawn from what has just been said (Milligan). στήκετε pres. imp. act. στήκω (# 5112) to stand, to stand fast. κρατεῖτε pres. ind. act. κρατέω (# 3195) to hold, to hold fast. παράδοσις (# 4142) tradition, that which is passed on. Here it refers to the teaching of the apostle (TDNT; Moore; Best). ἐδιδάχθητε aor. ind. pass. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. Const. aor. focusing on the act of teaching, or consummative aor. focusing on the completion of the continuing results of the action. ◆ 16 ἀγαπήσας aor. act. part. subst. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Aor. indicates antecedent action. δούς aor. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. παράκλησις (# 4155) encouragement, comfort. Here it refers to consolation and encouragement in the present (Lightfoot, Notes). ◆ 17 παρακαλέσαι aor. opt. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage, to comfort (TDNT; BAGD; MNTW, 128). στηρίξαι aor. opt. act. στηρίσσω (# 5114) to strengthen, to support (s. 1 Thess. 3:2).

2 Thessalonians 3

◆ 1 τὸ λοιπόν (# 3370; 3836) finally, as our last matter (Best; s. also Phil. 3:1). προσεύχεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray. Pres. means "pray continually" (Morris). λόγος (# 3364) the word. Here, the word of the Lord. Gen. κυρίου could be subjective ("the word from the Lord"), or obj. ("word concerning the Lord"). τρέχῃ pres. subj. act. τρέχω (# 5556) to run. Subj. w. ἵνα to express the content of the prayer. The word was used in the LXX of the running of a warrior in battle; the picture of the word as the authorized messenger of the Lord is then further applied to the prophets as His "runners" (PAM, 49; GELTS, 480). Paul uses the word here to express his dominating concern for the free course of the gospel. The important thing here is the swift progress of the Word - if any image is intended it is that of the urgent herald (PAM, 108). δοξάζηται pres. subj. pass. δοξάζω (# 1519) to think well of, to have a good opinion of, to glorify; pass., to be glorified. The triumphant onrush of the gospel brings glory to God, and in its success His glory is seen because it is God who spreads the gospel and brings it to success or glory (Best). καθώς (# 2777) just as. πρὸς ὑμᾶς w. you, as in your case (Frame). ◆ 2 ῥυσθῶμεν aor. subj. pass. ῥύομαι (# 4861) to rescue, to deliver. To express his second request Paul uses a term which often has the idea of deliverance w. power; however, the use of the prep. here lays stress perhaps on the deliverance rather than on the power from which it is granted (Milligan; Morris). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἄτοπος (# 876) out of place, odd, unbecoming, outrageous. The word was used in the papyri in one instance to describe those who had pulled to pieces a farmer's sheaves of wheat and thrown them to the pigs; and in another incident it was used of parents who publicly announced their prodigal son's misdeeds, "lest he should insult us, or do anything else amiss" (i.e., outrageous) (MM; Preisigke, 1:234). ἡ πίστις (# 4411) the faith. The word w. the article may signify the body of Christian teaching, or it may be used in the sense of trust (Morris). ◆ 3 στηρίξει fut. ind. act. στηρίσσω (# 5114) to establish, to support, to make firm (s. 1 Thess. 3:2). φυλάξει fut. ind. act. φυλάσσω (# 5875) to guard, to protect. The Lord will also protect them from external assaults (Milligan). ◆ 4 πεποίθαμεν perf. ind. act. πείθω (# 4275) to persuade, to have been persuaded, to trust. Perf. emphasizes a state of trust (RWP; s. also Phil. 1:6). παραγγέλλομεν pres. ind. act. παραγγέλλω (# 4133) to command, to charge, to instruct. For the noun s. 1 Thess. 4:2. ποιήσετε fut. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ◆ 5 κατευθύναι pres. opt. act. κατευθύνω (# 2985) to make straight, to guide (s. 1 Thess. 3:11). ◆ 6 στέλλεσθαι pres. mid. inf. στέλλω (# 5097). The word originally meant "to get ready," "to equip," esp. in reference to equipping an army for an expedition or for sailing. Then it came to mean "to bring together" or "to gather up," as for instance one gathers or tucks up clothes. From this comes the sense of an inner gathering-up or withdrawal, and so of flinching and avoiding. Here it is withdrawal from brethren who are out of step (BAGD; Moore; Milligan). περιπατοῦντος pres. act. part. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to conduct one's life. παράδοσις (# 4142) tradition, teachings that were passed down. It refers to the authoritative teaching of the apostle (TLNT). παρελάβοσαν aor. ind. act. παραλαμβάνω (# 4123) to receive, to receive that which is passed on (TLNT; s. Col. 2:6; 1 Cor. 11:23). ◆ 7 οἴδατε pres. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Defective perf. w. a pres. meaning. δεῖ pres. ind. act. (# 1256) it is necessary to, Impersonal vb. w. inf. The word indicates a logical necessity arising from the circumstances (AS). μιμεῖσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. μιμέομαι (# 3628) to imitate, to mimic (s. 1 Thess. 1:6; BBC). ἠτακτήσαμεν aor. ind. act. ἀτακέω (# 863) to be out of rank, to be out of order, to be disorderly, to be idle, to be a loafer (s. the discussion in 1 Thess. 5:14; Best). ◆ 8 δωρεάν (# 1562) freely, without paying, gratis. One example in the papyri speaks of labor or work as gratis or at reduced wages (Milligan; MM; Moore). For the situation at Thessalonica s. 1 Thess. 4:11. ἐφάγομεν aor. ind. act. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. The phrase "to eat bread" is evidently a semitism and means "to get a living" (Morris). κόπος (# 3160) toil, working until one is weary. μόχθος (# 3677) labor, toil, hardship in working. For these two words s. 1 Thess. 2:9; AS. ἐργαζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work. ἐπιβαρῆσαι aor. act. inf. ἐπιβαρέω (# 2096) to be heavy, to be burdensome (s. 1 Thess. 2:9). ◆ 9 ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. τύπος (# 5596) type, example (s. 1 Thess. 1:7; TDNT). δῶμεν aor. subj. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. μιμεῖσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. μιμέομαι (# 3628) to imitate. Articular inf. w. εἰς (# 1650) to express purp. or result. ◆ 10 καί (# 2779) also. "Not only did we set before you our own example, but we gave you a positive precept to this effect, when at Thessalonica" (Lightfoot, Notes). ἦμεν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Impf. indicates continuing action in the past time, for Paul had repeatedly used this injunction in his preaching (Morris). παρηγγέλλομαι pres. ind. mid. (dep.) παραγγέλλω (# 4133) to command, to give orders. ὅτι recitative use equivalent to quotation marks in a direct quote (RWP). θέλει pres. ind. act. θέλω (# 2527) to desire. Iterative pres., "repeatedly desires not to work." ἐργάζεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ἐσθιέτω pres. imp. act. 3rd. sing. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat (Best; Moore). ◆ 11 ἀκούομεν pres. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. περιπατοῦντας pres. act. part. περιπατέω (# 4344) to work around, to waste one's energy, to be a busybody. Here Paul uses a play on words, "busybodies instead of busy." These people were not simply idle, they were meddling in the affairs of others (Morris; Best; Moore), either wasting time or, being troublemakers (BBC). περιεργαζομένους pres. mid. (dep.) part. περιεργάζομαι (# 4318) to do something unnecessary or useless, to be useless. ◆ 12 τοιούτοις (# 5525) such a one. παραγγέλλομεν pres. ind. act. παραγγέλλω (# 4133) to instruct, direct or command (BAGD). παρακαλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4133) to encourage, to urge, to exhort. ἡσυχία (# 2484) quietness, calmness. The expression suggests a manner of life which is to characterize an activity and signifies the calm and contentment which are the opposite of being a busybody (Moore). ἐργαζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work. ἐσθίωσιν pres. subj. act. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. ◆ 13 ἐγκακήσητε aor. subj. act. ἐγκακέω (# 1591) to behave badly in, to be cowardly, to lose courage, to faint (RWP). Aor. subj. is used w. the neg. μή (# 3590) in a prohibition to forbid a thing not yet done; the aor. is ingressive (RG, 852). καλοποιοῦντες pres. act. part. κολοποιέω (# 2818) to do good, to do the noble thing, to do the fair (honorable) thing. The word "good" carries w. it the thought not only of what is right in itself, but of what is perceived to be right and so exercises an attractive power (Milligan; MM; BAGD). ◆ 14 ὑπακούει pres. ind. act. ὑπακούω (# 5634) to listen to, to obey. σημειοῦσθε pres. imp. mid. σημειόω (# 4957) to mark, to signify, to mark out, to take note of; "put a tag on that man." Used exclusively in the mid. (RWP; Lightfoot, Notes; Moore; MM; BAGD). συναναμίγνυσθαι pres. mid. inf. συναναμίγνυμι (# 5264) to mix up together, to associate w. someone. The first prep. in compound denotes combination, and the second prep. denotes interchange (Lightfoot, Notes). Inf. used as an indirect command (RWP). ἐντραπῇ aor. subj. pass. ἐντρέπω (# 1956) to turn about, to make one turn about, pass. to put someone to shame (Moore). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 15 ἡγεῖσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to consider, to reckon. νουθετεῖτε pres. imp. act. νουθετέω (# 3805) to admonish, to correct (s. 1 Thess. 5:12). ◆ 16 δώῃ aor. opt. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Opt. is used to express a wish or desire. τρόπος (# 5573) manner, way. ◆ 17 ἀσπασμός (# 833) greeting. Paul's greeting in his own hand suggests that the autographs of these letters exhibited two hands, one in the body and the other in the subscription. Paul may have used an amanuensis (Richard N. Longenecker, "Ancient Amanuensis," ND, 290f. s. Rom. 16:22). σημεῖον (# 4956) sign, mark, token, signification; the means of authentication. This is the way he indicates that his letters are genuine (Morris; BBC).

1 Timothy

◆ 1 ἐπιταγή (# 2198) command, commission. The word connotes an order, and is used of royal commands which must be obeyed; in the papyri it occurs in commands given by a god (NDIEC, 2:86; 3:23, 68; MM; Kelly; Spicq; NIDNTT). ◆ 2 γνήσιος (# 1188) genuine, true, legitimate, born in lawful wedlock. Since Timothy's father was a Gentile and his mother a Jewess, his birth according to Jewish teaching would be illegitimate, but his relation to Paul, as son to father, was genuine (Schlatter; Kelly; s. JTJ, 275-76; Spicq; ABD, 558-60; Lea and Griffin). ἐν πίστει (# 1877; 4411) in faith, in the sphere of Christian faith. The stress is on spiritual character, faith in and loyalty to Christ (Lock; Ellicott). ἔλεος (# 1799) mercy, compassion, pity. It is the emotion aroused by affliction which comes undeservedly on someone else. It has special and immediate regard to the misery which is the consequence of sin and is the effort, which only the continued perverseness of man can hinder or defeat, to assuage and entirely remove such misery (TLNT; TDNT; NIDNTT; Trench, Synonyms, 169). ◆ 3 καθώς (# 2777) just as. Used in an elliptical construction in which the act of writing is understood as the last part of the construction; "as I urged, so now I write" (Lock; MM). παρεκάλεσα aor. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to urge, to exhort. προσμεῖναι aor. act. inf. προσμένω (# 4693) to remain, to stay on. Prep. in compound could have a locative sense: "to remain with someone" (MH, 324). Compl. inf., here as obj. of the vb. παρεκάλεσα. πορευόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. (temp.) πορεύομαι (# 4513) to journey, to travel. Pres. expresses contemporary action to the main vb. ("when or while I was going"), and may indicate that he left Timothy enroute to Ephesus and charged him to abide there (Guthrie). If Paul were not the author it would seem very strange to mention such specific geographical information and instructions. παραγγείλῃς aor. subj. act. παραγγέλλω (# 4133) to command, to charge, to instruct, to pass on commands from one to another. It is a military term meaning to give strict orders and emphasizes that the commanding was to be done authoritatively (Guthrie; Kelly; Ellicott). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἑτεροδιδασκαλεῖν pres. act. inf. ἑτεροδιδασκαλέω (# 2281) to teach another doctrine, to teach something totally different (Ellicott). Compl. inf. to the main vb. The opponents in the pastoral epistles were not gnostic, but rather Jews or Jewish Christians who were teachers of the law who taught Jewish myths and genealogies and that the Resurrection had already occurred, and who forbade marriage and enjoined abstinence from food. They may have been quite successful. ◆ 4 προσέχειν pres. act. inf. προσέχω (# 4668) to turn one's mind to, to pay attention to, to give heed to, to be concerned about, to occupy oneself w.; obj. in dat. (BAGD). Inf. parallel to the preceding inf. (s.v. 3). μῦθος (# 3680) myth, fable, legendary stories, fiction (NIDNTT, 2:643-47; TDNT; Dibelius). γενεαλογία (# 1157) genealogy, the tracing of one's ancestors or family tree. In postexilic Judaism there was a keen interest in family trees, and this played a part in controversies between Jews and Jewish Christians (Kelly; Jastrow, 1:575; M, Kidd. 4:1-14; Lea and Griffin; for a lengthy discussion of genealogies in the ancient world s. RAC, 9:1145-268). The dats. are direct objs. to the vb. ἀπέραντος (# 596) endless, unrestrained (Guthrie). ἐκζήτησις (# 1700) seeking out, speculation; out-of-the-way researches, useless speculation (Lock; BAGD). παρέχουσιν pres. ind. act. παρέχω (# 4218) to cause, to bring about, to give rise to (BAGD). Gnomic pres., "they always give rise to." μᾶλλον (# 3437) rather. οἰκονομία (# 3873) administration, the entrusting of responsibility to a trusted person, office of stewardship; they do not help to carry out the stewardship entrusted to them by God (Lock; Kelly; TLNT; TDNT). ◆ 5 δέ (# 1254) however, in contrast τέλος (# 5465) goal, purpose. παραγγελία (# 4132) instruction, command (s.v. 3). συνειδήσεως (# 5287) conscience. The word indicates self-judgment (Guthrie; s. Rom. 2:15; PAT, 458f). ἀνυπόκριτος (# 537) without hypocrisy (s. 2 Cor. 6:6). ◆ 6 ἀστοχήσαντες aor. act. part. (circum.) ἀστοχέω (# 846) to miss the mark, to swerve, to fail to aim at. The word suggests taking no pains to aim at the right path (Lock; Kelly). Josephus wrote that the Essenes seldom err (ἀστοχοῦσιν) in their predictions (Jos., JW, 2:159; CCFJ, 1:256; for other uses of the word s. NW, 2, i:819; MM; Spicq). Aor. indicates antecedent action to the main vb. Nominal use of part. to emphasize a particular trait. ἐξετράπησαν aor. ind. pass. ἐκτρέπω (# 1762) to turn or twist aside, to turn away. The word was used as a medical t.t., "to be dislocated" (BAGD: MM). ματαιολογία (# 3467) vain or useless talk, idle chatter, empty argument (Kelly; MM). ◆ 7 θέλοντες pres. act. part. θέλω (# 2527) to desire, to want. Part. could be concessive ("although they desire"), or causal ("because they desire"). Pres. expresses a contemporaneous action. εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. νομοδιδάσκαλος (# 3791) law teachers, a term from Judaism (s. Luke 5:17; Acts 5:34). They sought popularity not only in their subtle and detailed exegesis, but also in a strict legalism and ascetic demands (Jeremias), using the Law as a means to produce righteousness (LIF, 174). νοοῦντες pres. act. part. νοέω (# 3783) to understand, to comprehend. Pres. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) stresses their continuing inability to understand. Part. has a slight antithetical or perhaps even concessive force (Ellicott). λέγουσιν pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Cust. pres. describing an iterative or ongoing action. διαβεβαιοῦνται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) διαβεβαιόομαι (# 1331) to confidently affirm, to strongly affirm, to speak confidently, to insist. Cust. pres. The vb. means to make assertion, or to give one's opinion in a firm, dogmatic tone (BAGD; Fairbairn). Prep. in compound means "thoroughly" (MH, 302). ◆ 8 οἴδαμεν pres. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. καλός (# 2819) good, suitable, useful (NIDNTT; TDNT). νομίμως (# 3789) lawfully; i.e., agreeably to the design of the law (Ellicott) χρῆται pres. subj. mid. (dep.) χράομαι (# 5968) to use, to make use of, followed by the dat. as the obj. ◆ 9 εἰδώς perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. Used to express knowledge grasped directly by the mind (ND, 344; VA, 281-87). κεῖται pres. ind. pass. (dep.) κεῖμαι used as pass. of τίθημι (# 3023) to place (BAGD). Here used for the introduction or enactment of a law "to establish" (Fairbairn). ἀνυπότακτος (# 538) not made subject, independent, undisciplined, disobedient, rebellious (BAGD). ἀσεβής (# 815) ungodly, irreverent, irreligious. ἁμαρτωλός (# 283) sinful. ἀνόσιος (# 495) unholy. It speaks of one's lack of inner purity (Ellicott; NIDNTT; TDNT). βέβηλος (# 1013) that which is accessible to everybody, the opposite of inaccessible or sacred, profane (TLNT; Spicq). It speaks of irreverent and contemptuous behavior toward the things more particularly associated w. the name of God (Fairbairn). πατρολῴας (# 4260) one who kills one's father, one who smites one's father. μητρολῴας (# 3618) one who smites or strikes one's mother. The words speak of a most unnatural and shameful violation of the honor due to parents; whether or not it might issue in fatal consequences, it is considered a transgression of the fifth commandment (Fairbairn). ἀνδροφόνος (# 439) murderer. ◆ 10 πόρνος (# 4521) one who practices sexual immorality, an immoral person (BAGD; TDNT; NIDNTT). ἀρσενοκοίτης (# 780) homosexual (s. Rom. 1:26-27; 1 Cor. 6:9; DPL, 413-14). ἀνδραποδιστής (# 435) to catch a man by the foot, manstealer, kidnapper. It includes all who exploit other men and women for their own selfish ends (RWP; EGT; BBC). ψεύστης (# 6026) liar. ἐπίορκος (# 2156) one who commits perjury, perjurer. The force of the prep. in compound may be "against"; i.e., against one's oath (MH, 314f). ὑγιαινούσῃ pres. act. part. ὑγιαίνω (# 5617) to be healthy, to be sound. The word denotes the wholesomeness or healthiness of true Christian teaching (Guthrie; Kelly). διδασκαλίᾳ (# 1436) teaching. ἀντίκειται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀντίκειμαι (# 512) to sit against, to be contrary, to be opposite. ◆ 11 μακάριος (# 3421) blessed. It describes God as containing all happiness in Himself and bestowing it to men (Lock). δόξης gen. sing. δόξα (# 1518) glory. Attributive gen. describes an attribute or quality: "glorious gospel." Frequently viewed as a Semitic influence (BDF, # 165). θεοῦ (# 2536) of God. This gen. describes the source. ἐπιστεύθην aor. ind. pass. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe; pass., to be entrusted w. theol. pass. indicating God is the agent. ◆ 12 ἔχω (# 2400) pres. ind. act. to have. χάριν ἔχω "I thank." ἐνδυναμώσαντι aor. act. part. ἐνδυναμόω (# 1904) to empower, to give strength, to enable. Aor. suggests that the writer's thoughts pass back to the particular time when he received increasing inward strength (EGT). It expresses antecedent action to the main vb. There may be a causal nuance ("to him, because"). πιστός (# 4412) faithful, trustworthy. ἡγήσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to consider, to reckon, to count. Used w. a double acc., "to consider someone something." θέμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to appoint. Aor. expresses antecedent action. διακονίαν (# 1355) ministry, service (TDNT; NIDNTT). ◆ 13 πρότερον (# 4728) formerly, previously; acc. of general reference of the articular comp.: "as to the former time" (RWP). ὄντα pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Part. could be temp. ("while," "when I was") or concessive, "though I was" (Ellicott). βλάσφημος (# 1061) blasphemer, one who slanders God. In Jewish teaching they were condemned to hell (BBC). διώκτης (# 1502) one who pursues as a hunter, persecutor. ὑβριστής sadist, a violent person. The word indicates one who in pride and insolence deliberately and contemptuously mistreats, wrongs, and hurts another person just to hurt and deliberately humiliate the person. It speaks of treatment which is calculated publicly to insult and openly to humiliate the person who suffers it. The word is used in Rom. 1:30 to describe a man of arrogant insolence, and pictures one of the characteristic sins of the pagan world (MNTW, 77-85; TDNT; NIDNTT; EDNT). The LXX uses the word to translate the Heb. לִיץ, which is arrogance manifested as contempt for other people and their ideas (Michael V. Fox, "Words for Folly," ZAH 10 [1997]: 4-12, esp. 7-8). ἠλεήθην aor. ind. pass. ἐλεέω (# 1796) to show mercy, to show compassion and pity, pass. to obtain mercy, to be shown pity (TDNT; EDNT; TLNT). Theol. pass. indicating that God showed mercy. ἀγνοῶν pres. act. part. ἀγνοέω (# 51) to be ignorant. Paul is availing himself of the distinction, conventional in Judaism (Lev. 22:14; Num. 15:22-31) and also in the Qumran sect, between unwitting and presumptuous sins, linking unbelief w. his ignorance. He does not claim that as a result he was without guilt, but mentions the fact as explaining how his career prior to his conversion became the object of God's compassion rather than His wrath (Kelly). ἐποίησα aor. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make. ◆ 14 ὑπερεπλεόνασεν aor. ind. act. ὑπερεπλεονάζω (# 5670) to abound over and beyond, to be present in great abundance, to abound exceedingly. Prep. in compound means "above its usual measure" and is an attempt to express the superabundance of divine grace (Lock; Guthrie). ◆ 15 πίστος ὁ λόγος faithful saying. This is the first of the five faithful sayings in the Pastoral Epistles. For a discussion s. George Knight III, The Faithful Sayings in the Pastoral Epistles (Grand Rapids: Baker, 1979). The art. could refer back or better to the following (GGBB, 220). ἀποδοχή (# 628) reception, acceptance, approval. In Koine Greek the word indicates the acceptance and recognition which someone or something has found (Dibelius; MM). σῶσαι aor. act. inf. σῴζω (# 5392) to rescue, to save. Inf. here to express purp. Aor. looks at the whole process of salvation. πρῶτος (# 4755) first, foremost, chief. Here the word is used in the sense of greatest (Fairbairn). Pres. "I am," not "I was." The sinner remains a sinner even if forgiven; the past is always there as a stimulus to deeper penitence and service (Lock; Kelly). ◆ 16 ἠλεήθην aor. ind. pass. ἐλεέω (# 1796) to have mercy; pass., to receive mercy. ἐνδείξηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) ἐνδείκνυμι (# 1892) to point out, to demonstrate. Prep. in compound suggest a more complete demonstration than the simple vb. It is the laying of the index finger, as it were, on the object (MH, 305). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. μακροθυμία (# 1892) longsuffering, patience (s. Gal. 5:22). μελλόντων pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. Used w. inf. to express the durative fut. (MKG, 307). πιστεύειν pres. act. inf. πιστεύω (# 4409) to trust. Compl. inf. to the part. Used w. the prep. w. the dat. to mean, "to repose one's trust upon," suggesting more of the state, whereas the acc. emphasizes more the initial act of faith (M, 68; Lock). αἰώνιος (# 173) eternal, everlasting. Everlasting life emphasizes life of the age to come, containing a temp. reference, but stressing the qualitative character. Although Paul regards eternal life as predominately eschatological, he also sees it as a pres. possession of the believer, the result of the indwelling Spirit (GW, 118ff). ◆ 17 ἀφθάρτος (# 915) incorruptible; i.e., immune from decay, immortal (Kelly). ἀόρατος (# 548) not able to be seen, invisible. ◆ 18 παρατίθεμαι pres. ind. mid. (dep.) παρατίθημι (# 4192) to place beside; mid., to entrust, to pledge, to deposit w. another. The term here is a banking figure suggesting that one is depositing something valuable (RWP; MM). προαγούσας pres. act. part. προάγω (# 4575) to go before, to lead before. The phrase may be translated "relying on the prophecies once made about you," or "the prophecies which pointed me to you" (Kelly; Lock). στρατεύῃ pres. subj. act. στρατεύω (# 5129) to fight as a soldier, to war as a soldier. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. στρατεία (# 5127) military expedition, or campaign, warfare. Here, cognate acc. or acc. of content: "to fight a fight" (MT, 245; BD, 84f; RG, 477f). ◆ 19 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess (M, 110). ἀπωσάμενοι aor. mid. part. ἀπωθέω (# 723) to push away from oneself, to push aside, to reject, to repudiate. In the NT it occurs only as mid. The word implies a violent rejection (Guthrie; BAGD). ἐναυάγησαν aor. ind. act. ναυαγέω (# 3728) to make shipwreck, to suffer shipwreck. Paul himself had suffered shipwreck at least four times by the time he wrote this epistle. He had on each occasion lost everything except his life (EGT; Acts 27). ◆ 20 παρέδωκα aor. ind. act. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to deliver over to (TLNT). παιδευθῶσιν aor. subj. pass. παιδεύω (# 4084) to train through discipline. The word conveys the idea of stern punishment rather than instruction (Kelly). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. and/or result. βλασφημεῖν pres. act. inf. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to ridicule, to slander, to slander God, to blaspheme (TLNT). Inf. as obj. of the vb. παιδευθῶσιν.

◆ 1 Παρακαλῶ pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to urge, to exhort (s. Rom. 12:1). πρῶτον πάντων first of all. The words relate not to primacy of time but to primacy of importance (Guthrie). ποιεῖσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to make, to do. The word is used in a causative sense (BAGD; s. 1 Thess. 1:2). Compl. inf. to the main vb.: "I beseech you to do." δέησις (# 1255) intercession, petition. The vb. from which the noun is derived had the meaning "to chance upon"; then, "to have an audience w. a king"; to have the good fortune to be admitted to an audience, so "to present a petition." The word was a regular term for a petition to a superior and in the papyri it was constantly used of any writing addressed to the king (Lock; Guthrie; MM; BS, 121f; Preisigke; TDNT). ἔντευξις (# 1950) prayer, intercessory prayer (BAGD). εὐχαριστίας (# 2374) thanksgiving. ◆ 2 ὑπεροχῇ (# 5667) prominence, a place of prominence or authority, used of prominent officials. The word was used in Hellenistic Gr. to indicate the prominent position of a person (BAGD; MM; Dibelius; Spicq; NW, 2. i:841-42). Since Jews did not worship the Roman gods they were to pray for the emperor (BBC). ὄντων pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be.

Subst. part. to emphasize a quality. ἵνα (# 2671) introduces the result or purp. of the prayer (Lock). For references to Jewish prayers for those in authority s. Dibelius. ἤρεμος (# 2475) quiet, tranquil. ἡσύχιος (# 2485) quiet. For the desire in the ancient world to live a peaceable life, s. NW, 2. i:842-47. διάγωμεν pres. subj. act. διάγω (# 1341) to lead, to conduct. εὐσεβείᾳ (# 2354) godliness, religious devotion. It refers to the true reverence toward God which comes from knowledge. It is a right attitude to God and to God's holiness, majesty, and love (Lock; MNTW, 66-77; Trench, Synonyms, 172ff; TDNT; NIDNTT; RAC, 6:985-1052). σεμνότης (# 4949) gravity. The word denotes moral earnestness, affecting outward demeanor as well as interior intention (Kelly; Trench, Synonyms, 347f). ◆ 3 τοῦτο (# 4047) this. The word refers to the idea of universal prayer for all men (Guthrie; EGT). καλόν (# 2819) good (s. 1 Tim. 1:8; Lock, 22f). ἀπόδεκτος (# 621) acceptable. ἐνώπιον (# 1967) before, in the presence of. ◆ 4 θέλει pres. ind. act. θέλω (# 2527) to wish, to desire, w. inf. σωθῆναι aor. pass. inf. σώζω (# 5392) to save. Compl. inf. w. the vb. θέλει (Guthrie). ἐπίγνωσις (# 2106) recognition, knowledge, knowledge directed to a particular object. ἐλθεῖν aor. inf. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. Compl. inf. parallel to the preceding inf. ◆ 5 μεσίτης (# 3542) mediator, go-between (s. Gal. 3:20). ἄνθρωπος (# 476) man. The lack of the article emphasizes the character: one possessing the nature and in his work manifesting the attributes of humanity (Fairbairn). ◆ 6 δούς aor. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Aor. expresses antecedent action. Articular part. used as a noun. ἀντίλυτρον (# 519) ransom, the price paid for the release of a slave. Prep. in compound implies an exchange (EGT; s. Matt 20:28 or Mark 10:45; TDNT; I. Howard Marshall, "The Development of the Concept of Redemption in the New Testament," RH, 153-69; Dibelius). μαρτύριον (# 3457) witness. καιρός (# 2789) time, opportunity, season. The dat. here is locative: "in its due seasons" (RWP). ◆ 7 ἐτέθην aor. ind. pass. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to appoint, to commission. κῆρυξ (# 3061) herald, preacher. The herald was someone who had important news to bring. He often announced an athletic event or religious festival, or functioned as a messenger, the bringer of some news or command from the king's court. He was to have a strong voice and proclaim his message w. vigor, without lingering to discuss it. The herald's most important qualification was that he faithfully represent or report the word of the one by whom he had been sent. He was not to be original; his message was to be that of another (Victor Paul Furnish, "Prophets, Apostles, and Preachers: A Study of the Biblical Concept of Preaching," Inter. 17 [1963]: 55; TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT). For the use of the nom. in this construction, εἰς ὅ ἐτέθην, s. RG, 40. ψεύδομαι (# 6017) pres. ind. mid. (dep.) to lie. For the import of Paul's statement s. Gal. 1:20. ἐθνῶν gen. pl. ἔθνος (# 1620) nation; pl., Gentiles, non-Jews. Obj. gen. ἐν (# 1877) in. The prep. indicates the sphere in which the apostle performs his mission (Ellicott). ◆ 8 βούλομαι (# 1089) pres. ind. mid. (dep.) to purpose, to determine, to will, w. inf. The apostolic authority is represented in this expression (Bengel). προσεύχεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray. τοὺς ἄνδρας acc. pl. ἀνήρ (# 467) man, male. The word is used here to emphasize the responsibilities of the male members of the congregation. τόπος (# 5536) place. The expression is used for public worship (RW). ἐπαίροντας pres. act. part. ἐπαίρω (# 2048) to lift toward, to raise up. Pres. expresses contemporaneous action. Part. of means, "I desire all to pray by lifting up hands." The most general attitude for prayer in antiquity for pagans, Jews, and Christians alike was to stand w. hands outstretched and lifted up, the palms turned upward (Kelly; SB, 2:261; 4:645; DGRA, 16; MM). While there were specific prayer times there were also daily prayers in the home and frequent spontaneous prayers. The expectation was that God does hear and answer prayers (ABD, 5:449). ὁσίους (# 4008) holy. The word stood for what was in accord w. divine direction and providence. The word describes the pious, pure, and clean action which is in accordance w. God's command. The hands are holy which have not been given over to deeds of wicked lust (Huther; NIDNTT; Trench, Synonyms, 328; TDNT). ὀργῆ (# 3973) anger, wrath. διαλογισμός (# 1369) a thinking back and forth, deliberation. The word then came to mean doubting or disputing. In relation to prayer in this section the meaning "doubting" is possible (Guthrie); or in relation to the idea of holy hands it could have the meaning "disputing," "quarrelsomeness" (Kelly). ◆ 9 ὡσαύτως (# 6058) just as, likewise. καταστολῇ (# 2950) clothing, apparel. The word could be understood in a wider sense: demeanor, deportment (MM; Ellicott; ABD, 2:235-38). For a discussion of this passage s. Craig S. Keener, Paul, Women and Wives (Peabody, Mass: Hendrickson, 1992), 101-32. For the status of women in Judaism and the ancient world s. Tal Ilan, Jewish Women in Greco-Roman Palestine (Tübingen: J. B. C. Mohr, 1994); Eva Cantarella, The Role of Women in Greek and Roman Antiquity (Baltimore: The John Hopkins University Press, 1987); J. P. V. D. Balsdon, Roman Women: Their History and Habits (London: The Bodley Head, 1977). κόσμιος (# 3177) well-arranged, well-ordered, moderate, modest. αἰδοῦς (# 133) modesty. The word connotes fem. reserve in matters of sex. In the word is involved an innate moral repugnance to the doing of the dishonorable. It is "shamefastness" which shrinks from transgressing the limits of womanly reserve and modesty, as well as from dishonor would justly attach thereto (Kelly; Trench, Synonyms, 68; 71f). σωφροσύνη (# 5408) sobriety, self-control. It stands basically for perfect self-mastery in the physical qualities; as applied to women it too had a definitely sexual nuance. It is that habitual inner self-government, w. its constant reign on all the passions and desires (Kelly; Trench, Synonyms, 72; TDNT; TLNT; GELTS, 467). κοσμεῖν pres. act. inf. κοσμέω (# 3175) to put in order, to arrange, to adorn. Compl. inf. to the main vb. βούλομαι (s.v. 8). πλέγμα (# 4427) that which is woven or plaited. Here it refers to hairstyles; i.e., plaited hair. Instr. dat. Both Jewish and Gentile women were noted for their elaborate hairstyles (SB, 3:428ff; DGRA, 328-30; BBC). In Philo's description of pleasure coming in the guise of a prostitute, he describes such a woman as having her hair in curious and elaborate plaits, her eyes w. pencil lines, her eyebrows smothered w. paint, her costly raiment embroidered lavishly w. flowers, and w. bracelets and necklaces of gold and jewels hanging around her (Philo, The Sacrifices of Abel and Cain, 21). μαργαρίτης (# 3449) pearl. Pearls were considered to have had the top rank among valuables, worth three times the value of gold. Pearls were esp. prized by women, who used them to adorn their hair, as rings and earrings, or to decorate their garments and even their sandals (Pliny, Natural History, 9:106-23; KP, 3:1020-21; TDNT). ἱματισμός (# 2669) garment, clothing. πολυτελής (# 4500) very costly, very expensive. The best garments could cost as much as seven thousand denarii. For those of inferior quality for commoners and slaves the cost would be between eight hundred and five hundred denarii (the average wage of the working man was one denarius a day). Tarsus was an important weaving center and its garments were classified as some of the best in the ancient world. For information regarding clothes and the cloth industry in the Roman Empire s. Jones, 350-64. ◆ 10 πρέπει pres. ind. act. πρέπω (# 4560) to be clearly seen, to resemble, to be fitting or becoming, to suit (AS). ἐπαγγελλομέναις pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐπαγγέλλω (# 2040) to announce, to proclaim, to profess, to lay claim to, to give oneself out as an expert in something (BAGD). Pres. emphasizes continual action. Adj. part. emphasizes a trait. θεοσέβεια (# 2537) reverence toward God. The emphasis in this section is on the fact that true beauty and beautification is not in the outward appearance (Dibelius). ◆ 11 ἡσυχίᾳ (# 2484) quietness, silence. The word expresses quietness in general (T). For the relation of this command to the commands of Paul in 1 Cor. s. PWC, 74ff. μανθανέτω pres. imp. act. 3rd pers. sing. μανθάνω (# 3443) to learn. In that culture most women were not well educated (BBC). ὑποταγῇ (# 5717) submission (PWC, 72f). ◆ 12 διδάσκειν pres. act. inf. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ἐπιτρέπω (# 2205) pres. ind. act. to allow, to permit. Pres. emphasizes the continual action and points to an abiding attitude. It could also be a gnomic pres. (GGBB, 525). For a discussion of the passage s. Ann Bowman, "Women in Ministry: An Exegetical Study of 1 Timothy 2:11-15," Bib Sac 149 (1992): 193-213; DPL, 590-92; HSB, 665-71. αὐθεντεῖν pres. act. inf. αὐθεντέω (# 883) to act on one's own authority, to exercise authority, to have mastery, to be an autocrat, to be dominating (AS; MM; Preisigke; Dibelius; LAE, 88f; G.W. Knight, "ΑΥΘΕΝΤΕΩ in Reference to Women in 1 Tim 2:12," NTS 30 [1984]: 143-57). Compl. inf. to the main vb. εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ◆ 13 ἐπλάσθη aor. ind. pass. πλάσσω (# 4421) to form, to fashion, to mold, to create. This an argument from the chronological order of creation (BBC). ◆ 14 ἠπατήθη aor. ind. pass. ἀπατάω (# 572) to deceive, to trick, to mislead. ἐξαπατηθεῖσα aor. pass. part. ἐξαπατάω (# 1987) to deceive completely, to deceive successfully (MH, 311; A.C. Perriman, "What Eve Did, What Women Shouldn't Do," TB 44 [1993]: 143-57; BBC). παράβασις (# 4126) stepping over the boundary, transgression. γέγονεν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Perf. expresses an abiding state (Guthrie). ◆ 15 σωθήσεται fut. ind. pass. σώζω (# 5392) to save, to rescue. Rescue from the penalty of sin. τεκνογονία (# 5450) childbearing. The use of the definite article here may be a reference to the birth of the Savior (Ellicott; but also s. Guthrie). For a survey article s. Andreas J. Köstenberger, "Ascertaining Women's God-Ordained Roles: An Interpretation of 1 Timothy 2:15," Bulletin for Biblical Research 7 (1997): 107-44; R. C. and C. C. Kroeger, I Suffer Not a Woman: Rethinking 1 Timothy 2:11-15 in Light of Ancient Evidence (Grand Rapids: Baker, 1992); BBC; Lea and Griffin. ἁγιασμός (# 40) sanctification. The word is used here in the act. sense and would refer to the living of a godly life.

1 Timothy 3

◆ 1 ἐπισκοπή (# 2175) office of bishop (NIDNTT; TDNT; ABD, 2:768-69; ZPEB, 1:617-20; DPL, 131-37; BBC). ὀρέγεται pres. ind. mid. ὀρέγω (# 3977) to stretch oneself out, to aspire to, to desire. In the NT it only occurs in the mid. w. dat. (TLNT; Guthrie; BAGD). ἐπιθυμεῖ pres. ind. act. ἐπιθυμέω (# 2121) to set one's heart on, to desire (Guthrie). ◆ 2 δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. Impersonal vb., it is necessary. The word speaks of logical necessity according to the needs or circumstances (TDNT; AS). ἐπίσκοπος (# 2176) overseer, bishop, pastor. The art. here is generic (GGBB, 229). In the LXX it was used of one who watches over something or someone, guardian, supervisor, inspector (GELTS, 174; Num. 4:16, 31:14; Judg. 9:28; 2 Kings [2 Sam.] 11:15; s. also CCFJ, 2:174; JosAsen, 15:7; 21:11; for the use in the papyri s. BS, 230-31; MM). In the early Church Fathers it was used to denote function rather than the status of anyone who exercised supervision or control, as well as to denote a member of a body exercising oversight and government in a church, equivalent to πρεσβύτερος (PGL, 532-33). ἀνεπίλημπτος (# 455) not able to be taken hold of, irreproachable, beyond reproach, beyond criticism, unimpeachable (LN, 1:436; CCFJ, 1:120). The word implies not only that the man is of good report, but that he is deservedly so (AS; MM; Priesigke; Spicq). Plutarch used the word to describe the character of one who teaches children (Moralia, The Education of Children, 4b-c; 7; also NW 2, i:866-68). ἄνδρα acc. sing. ἀνήρ (# 467) man. "A husband of one wife," "one-woman man." The difficult phrase probably means that he is to have one wife at a time (Robert L. Saucy, "The Husband of One Wife," Bib Sac 131 [1974]: 229-40: SB, 3:647-50; Eldon Glasscock, "'The Husband of One Wife' Requirement in 1 Timothy 3:2," Bib Sac 140 [1983]: 255; C.E. B. Cranfield, "The Church and the Divorce and Remarriage of Divorced Persons in Light of Mark 10:1-12," The Bible and the Christian Life [Edinburgh: T. &. T. Clark, 1985], 229-34; Craig S. Keener, ...And Marries Another: Divorce and Remarriage in the Teaching of the New Testament [Peabody, Mass: Hendrickson, 1991], 83-103). The phrase could mean "faithful to his one wife" (Lea and Griffin). νηφάλιος (# 3767) sober, sober-minded, clearheaded. The word originally connotes abstinence from alcohol, but here it has a wider, metaphorical sense (Kelly). σώφρων (# 5409) self-controlled (MM; TDNT). κόσμιος (# 3177) orderly (s. 1 Tim. 2:5). It implies well-ordered demeanor, the orderly fulfillment of all duties, and the ordering of the inner life from which these spring. φιλόξενος (# 5811) hospitable. In his official capacity he has the duty of keeping open house both for delegates traveling from church and for ordinary needy members of the congregation (Kelly; BBC). διδακτικός (# 1434) able to teach, skillful in teaching. The suffix stresses the verbal force and can be either intransitive or causal; here, "apt at teaching" (MH, 379). ◆ 3 πάροινος (# 4232) one who sits long at his wine, one who is a slave of drink (RW; Kelly). πλήκτης (# 4438) not a giver of blows, not given to violence (Kelly). ἐπιεικής (# 2117) equity, lenient, kindly, forebearing (s. 2 Cor. 10:1; Phil. 4:5). ἄμαχος (# 285) without fighting, not a fighter, not contentious (RW; Guthrie). ἀφιλάργυρος (# 921) not a lover of money. ◆ 4 ἴδιος (# 2526) one's own. καλῶς (# 2822) adv., well. προϊστάμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. προΐστημι (# 4613) to stand before, to rule over, to manage. In that culture the authority of the father was exceedingly great (BBC). ἔχοντα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ὑποταγῇ (# 5717) submission. σεμνότης (# 4949) dignity, stateliness. It describes the characteristic of the one who carries himself w. the perfect blend of dignity and courtesy, independence and humility toward his fellowmen (MNTW, 143; Trench, Synonyms, 344f). The word avoids the suggestion of sternness yet retains the idea of natural respect (Guthrie). ◆ 5 προστῆναι aor. act. inf. προΐστημι (# 4613) to rule, to manage, to govern. Inf. as obj. of the vb. οἶδεν. ἐπιμελήσεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπιμελέω (# 2150) to care for, to exercise concern for. Prep. in compound is directive (RW). ◆ 6 νεόφυτος (# 3745) newly planted, recent convert. The word was used in a literal sense of newly planted trees (BS, 220f). τυφωθείς aor. pass. part. τυφόω (# 5605) to wrap in smoke, to puff up; pass., to be clouded w. pride (AS). The part. could be causal or temp. κρίμα (# 3210) judgment. ἐμπέσῃ aor. subj. act. ἐμπίπτω (# 1860) to fall into. διάβολος (# 1333) slanderer, devil (DDD, 463-73; DPL, 865). Gen. here could be obj. gen.–condemnation reserved for the devil (the judgment meted out for the sin of pride)–or subjective gen.–condemnation wrought by the devil (the condemnation brought about by the further intrigues of the devil when a man is lured into his grasp by pride). ◆ 7 ἔξωθεν (# 2033) outside; "those outside" is a term used for unbelievers (s. Col. 4:5). ὀνειδισμός (# 3944) reproach, disgrace, insult. παγίδα acc. sing. παγίς (# 4075) trap, snare. Here the gen. του διαβόλου is subjective gen. "the snare made by the devil" (Ellicott). ◆ 8 ὡσαύτως (# 6058) likewise. σεμνός (# 4948) serious, dignified, stately (s.v. 4). δίλογος (# 1474) double-tongued. The word could mean "tale-bearer," suggesting the idea of gossiper (Guthrie: Lock); or it could be "consistent in what one says"; i.e., not saying one thing while thinking another, or not saying one thing to one man and a different thing to the next (Kelly). προσέχοντας pres. act. part. προέχω (# 4668). Used w. the dat., to turn one's mind to, to occupy oneself w. Here, to be addicted to much wine (BAGD). Pres. points to an habitual action. αἰσχροκερδῆς (# 153) greedy of gain. The gain may become shameful when a man makes the acquisition of it, rather than the glory of God, his prime object (EGT; Plutarch, Moralia, On Love of Wealth). ◆ 9 τῆς πίστεως gen. πίστις (# 4411) the faith, referring to a known body of belief. Gen. gives the content or substance of the mystery; i.e., the mystery, the substance of which is Christian faith (Guthrie; Schlatter). συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience (s. Rom. 2:15; TDNT; AT, 402ff; 458f). ◆ 10 δοκιμαζέσθωσαν pres. imp. pass. 3rd. pers. pl. δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to approve after testing or examining (TDNT; MM). εἶτα (# 1663) then. διακονείτωσαν pres. imp. act. 3rd pers. pl. διακονέω (# 1354) to serve as a deacon, to minister. ἀνέγκλητος (# 441) without charge, blameless, without accusation, irreproachable. For examples of this word in the papyri s. MM; Preisigke. ὄντες pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Part. could be cond. ("if they are beyond reproach"), subst. ("those who are blameless") (GGBB, 633), or causal ("because they are beyond reproach"). In either case the qualifications are met. ◆ 11 διάβολος (# 1333) slanderous. ◆ 12 ἔστωσαν pres. imp. act. 3rd. pers. pl.

εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 13 διακονήσαντες aor. act. part. διακονέω (# 1354) to serve, to minister. βαθμός (# 957) step, base, foundation (e.g., pedestal). The word is used here in a fig. sense and may refer to standing in the sight of God; or it may refer to the reputation and influence of the deacons in the congregation (Guthrie; Kelly). περιποιοῦνται pres. ind. mid. περιποιέω (# 4347) to make besides; mid. to achieve, to gain for oneself, to acquire for oneself (RW). παρρησία (# 4244) speaking all, confidence, assurance, boldness (TDNT). ◆ 14 ἐλπίζων pres. act. part. ἐλπίζω (# 1827) to hope. Part. may be concessive, "although I hoped" (Ellicott). Pres. gives a contemporaneous action. ἐλθεῖν aor. act. inf. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. Aor. points to a specific act. τάχει dat. sing. τάχος (# 5443). ἐν τάχει means "quickly, at once without delay" (BAGD); "sooner than I at one time thought" (Fairbairn). ◆ 15 βραδύνω (# 1094) pres. subj. act. to hesitate, to delay. Subj. in a third-class cond. cl. expressing that which may be possible (RW). εἰδῇς perf. subj. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. The word was used to describe know-how; i.e., the possession of knowledge or skill necessary to accomplish a desired goal (ND, 347f). It is followed by an indirect question. ἀναστρέφεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἀναστρέφω (# 418) to conduct oneself, to behave. Compl. inf. to the impersonal δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. it is necessary, w. inf. It refers fig. to human conduct; acting or behaving in the sense of practicing certain principles. The principle is often more exactly described with a following phrase–at times w. a prep. phrase as here or in 1 Pet. 1:17 (BAGD). The word could well apply to the discharge of official duties and aptly covers conduct expected from, and the mutual relations of, all the groups discussed (Guthrie; Kelly; Lock; MM). ἥτις (# 4015) which indeed; the explanatory use of the indef. rel. (Ellicott; RG, 960). ζῶντος pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Adj. use of the part., "living God." στῦλος (# 5146) pillar. ἑδραίωμα (# 1613) foundation, buttress, bulwark. For various views related to this v. s. Guthrie; Kelly; Lock. ◆ 16 ὁμολογουμένως (# 3935) adv. confessedly, by common consent. The word is a pres. part, expressing the unanimous convictions of Christians (Kelly; ECC, 129f). εὐσέβεια (# 2354) godliness, piety, religion. The word may include the thought of doctrine as well as of life (Lock; Kelly). For a discussion of the rhythm of this hymn s. GGBB, 341-42. ἐφανερώθη aor. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to make visible, to manifest. σαρκί dat. sing. σάρξ (# 4922) flesh; He appeared on earth as a real man (Kelly). The word does not indicate the nature of natural man opposed to God, but in connection w. the OT use of the word it indicates the earthly existence of Jesus (Jeremias). ἐδικαιώθη aor. ind. pass. δικαιόω (# 1467) to justify, to declare righteous, to vindicate. If the word πνεύματι (# 4460) is taken to be parallel to σαρκί, the meaning is "declared righteous and shown to be in fact Son of God, in respect to his spiritual nature," and a reference to the Resurrection is implied. If the word πνεύματι denotes the Holy Spirit, it means "he was declared righteous through, or by means of, the Holy Spirit" (Kelly; MRP, 371f). ὤφθη aor. ind. pass. ὁράω (# 3972) to see; pass. to be seen, to appear. ἐκηρύχθη aor. ind. pass. κηρύσσω (# 3062) to reach, to proclaim as a herald. ἐπιστεύθη aor. ind. pass. πιστεύ-ω (# 4409) to believe. ἀνελήμφθη aor. ind. pass. ἀναλαμβάνω (# 377) to receive up. The vb. is used of the ascension (Acts 1:2, 11, 22). Aor. points to a specific action that is completed.

◆ 1 ῥητῶς (# 4843) adv., expressly, clearly, unmistakably; "in express terms." The word indicates that the elements of fut. events have been distinctly made known (Guthrie; Lock). ὕστερος (# 5731) later, latter, last. καιρός (# 2789) period of time, season (TDNT; Trench, Synonyms, 209; NIDNTT). ἀποστήσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀφίστημι (# 923) to go away, to withdraw, to fall away, to become apostate. Gen. τῆς πίστεως indicates that which they leave and is used in the obj. sense–Christian doctrine, sound teaching (Kelly). προσέχοντες part. act. part. προσέχω (# 4668). Used w. the dat. to give one's attention to, to devote oneself to, to give heed to (s. 1 Tim. 1:4). πνεῦμα (# 4460) spirit. Here, dat. pl. These are evidently supernatural evil spirits who work through individuals and they stand in contrast to the Spirit mentioned immediately before (Guthrie; EGT; Fairbairn). πλάνος (# 4418) leading astray, deceptive, deceiving, seducing. διδασκαλία (# 1436) teaching. δαιμόνιον (# 1228) demon. ◆ 2 ὑποκρίσει dat. ὑπόκρισις (# 5694) hypocrisy, playacting, deception (TLNT). Instr. dat. ψευδολόγος (# 6016) false speaker, a speaker of that which is not true. This word expresses perhaps more than "liar" by the notion of definite false statements. κεκαυστηριασμένων perf. pass. part. καυστηράζω (# 3013) to brand w. a red hot iron, to sear. The idea of the word may be that these are people in the service of Satan and consequently have their conscience stamped w. the brand marking his ownership (BBC; Lea and Griffin). Another possible interpretation is that their conscience has been cauterized, i.e., made insensible to the distinction between right and wrong (Kelly). Perf. looks at the completed action and its lasting effects. συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience (TLNT; TDNT; EDNT). ◆ 3 κωλυόντων pres. act. part. κωλύω (# 3266) to hinder, to forbid. γαμεῖν pres. act. inf. γαμέω (# 1138) to marry. Inf. in indir. discourse as obj. of the part.: "forbidding to marry." ἀπέχεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἀπέχω (# 600) to hold oneself apart from, to abstain from, w. gen. These people may have insisted that the new age had already been introduced by Christ, and so failed to distinguish the present times which the resurrection of Jesus had initiated from the consummation to be inaugurated by the yet fut. resurrection (William L. Lane, "First Timothy IV.1-3: An Early Instance of Over-Realized Eschatology," NTS 11 [1965]: 164-69). βρῶμα (# 1109) that which is eaten, food. ἔκτισεν aor. ind. act. κτίζω (# 3231) to create. μετάλημψις (# 3563) receiving, reception, sharing. (MH, 318). εὐχαριστία (# 2374) thanksgiving. ἐπεγνωκόσι perf. act. part. ἐπιγινώσκω (# 2105) to recognize, to know, to know thoroughly. Prep. in compound is directive. ◆ 4 κτίσμα (# 3233) creation, creature. ἀπόβλητος (# 612) to be thrown away, rejected, refused. Verbal adj. here has a pass. sense (RW). ◆ 5 πᾶν (# 4246) everything, used w. the sing. κτίσμα (# 3233) creation, created thing. This suffix refers to the product of the verbal action. λαμβανόμενον pres. pass. part. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, receive. ἁγιάζεται pres. ind. pass. ἁγιάζω (# 39) to cause to be set apart, to remove from profane or common use; to sanctify (TDNT; NIDNTT). ἔντευξις (# 1950) prayer, request (s. 2:1). ◆ 6 ὑποτιθέμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ὑποτίθημι (# 5719) to lay down something; mid., to suggest or point out something (BAGD). Part. could have a cond. force ("if you suggest" [Ellicott]) or it could be modal ("by suggesting"). ἔσῃ fut. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἐντρεφόμενος pres. pass. part. ἐντρέφω (# 1957) to nourish in. The metaphor is that of feeding, w. the idea of reading and inwardly digesting. Pres. part. suggests a continuing process (Lock; Guthrie). διδασκαλία (# 1436) teaching. παρηκολούθηκας perf. ind. act. παρακολουθέω (# 4158) to follow, to follow beside. The word combines the idea of understanding w. that of practicing perseveringly (Lock). ◆ 7 βέβηλος (# 1013) permitted to be trodden, accessible to everyone, profane, unhallowed (BAGD; AS; s. 1 Tim. 1:9). γραώδης (# 1212) characteristic of old women. It is the sarcastic epithet frequent in philosophical polemic that conveys the idea of limitless credulity (Kelly). μῦθος (# 3680) myth, tale; here such as old women tell children but quite unfit for strong young men who have been trained to discipline themselves (Lock; Spicq). παραιτοῦ pres. imp. mid. It is not the self-centered ascetic struggle of the individual for his moral and religious perfection, but the training necessary for the unhindered pursuit of God's purposes. Enemies may have accused Paul of moral laxity since he refused to follow their demands of abstention, but his exercise was a rigorous development and application of all his strength and ability to serve the glory of God w. every thought and action (AM, 174f). εὐσέβεια (# 2354) godliness, piety (TDNT; NIDNTT; MNTW, 66-77; EDNT; Spicq, 1.482-92; s. 1 Tim. 2:2). ◆ 8 σωματικός (# 5394) bodily, that which pertains to the body. γυμνασία (# 1215) exercise. Bodily exercise refers back to the errors of the heretics against which the author has been warning. It is best to see in this phrase not the Hellenistic culture of the body, but an external dualistic asceticism as propounded by the heretics and reflected in the warnings contained in v. 3 (AM, 173; TDNT; Jeremias). ὀλίγος (# 3900) little, that which is numerically small and lasts only a short time (Schlatter). ὠφέλιμος (# 6068) useful, profitable. ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise. The struggle of Paul and Timothy is not to gain eternal life, but to honor and glorify God, to proclaim and demonstrate His faithfulness to the promise of life. The promise of life to all men is the basis and motive for their life's task (AM, 175ff). ἔχουσα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. μελλούσης pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to; "the coming age" (Lane, NTS 11 [1965]: 166). ◆ 9 ἄξιος (# 545) worthy, w. a following gen. ἀποδοχή (# 628) reception, acceptance; i.e., acceptance as true. ◆ 10 κοπιῶμεν pres. ind. act. κοπιάω (# 3159) to work hard, to work until one is weary. ἀγωνιζόμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀγωνίζομαι (# 76) to struggle, to exert oneself. The two words speak of Paul's tremendous effort and exertions in the proclamation of the gospel (AM, 171-77). Pres. describes the continuous action. ἠλπίκαμεν perf. ind. act. ἐλπίζω (# 1827) to hope. Perf. implies a state of hope: "because we have fixed our hope" (Guthrie). ζῶντι pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Pres. indicates that God is living and therefore able to give life now and hereafter (Lock). μάλιστα (# 3436) especially. ◆ 11 παράγγελλε pres. imp. act. παραγγέλλω (# 4133) to transmit a message, to order, to command (s. 1 Tim. 1:3). δίδασκε pres. imp. act. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. Pres. indicates the continuation of an action and the continual, habitual carrying out of the command (Bakker; MKG, 271ff): "continue to command and to teach." ◆ 12 νεότης (# 3744) youth. καταφρονείτω pres. imp. act. 3rd sing. καταφρονέω (# 2969) to think down, to despise, to underrate. In the ancient world a person between 30 and 40 years old could be considered young (Kelly). One rabbi said that a person at 30 was fit for authority and at 40 he was fit for discernment (M, Aboth 5:21). τύπος (# 5596) type, example, thus taking the role of a father (BBC). γίνου pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἀναστροφῇ (# 419) behavior. Here dat. of sphere w. prep. ἐν ἁγνείᾳ (# 48) purity. The word covers not only chastity in matters of sex, but also the innocence and integrity of heart denoted by the related noun in 2 Cor. 6:6 (Kelly). Pres imp. could mean, "do not immediately," "do not always," "do not continue" (MKG, 272). χάρισμα (# 5922) a result of grace, free gift, grace gift. It denotes special endowment of the Spirit enabling the recipient to carry out some function in the community (Kelly; TDNT; NIDNTT; DPL, 341). ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Theol. pass. indicating that God was the giver. προφητεία (# 4735) speaking for someone, prophecy (DPL, 755-62). μετά (# 3552) with. The prep. does not express instr. or means but merely accompaniment (RWP; EGT). ἐπίθεσις (# 2120) placing upon, laying on. πρεσβυτέριον (# 4564) assembly of elders, presbytery. This may be the rendering of a Heb. t.t. which meant the leaning or the pressing on of elders, which in effect meant the leaning of elders upon someone w. the object of making him an elder or rabbi. In a Christian context it would mean elder ordination or formal ordination to an office (Kelly). ◆ 15 μελέτα pres. imp. act. μελετάω (# 3509) to take care, to practice, to cultivate, to take pains w. something, to think about, to meditate upon (BAGD). ἴσθι pres. imp. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be; "be in them." It is a construction expressing absorption in anything. The mind is to be as immersed in these pursuits as the body in the air it breathes (Guthrie). προκοπή (# 4620) advance, progress (s. Phil 1:12). The expression is a favorite word in Stoic writers of a pupil's progress in philosophy (Lock). φανερός (# 5745) clear, obvious, manifest. ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) is used to express purp. ◆ 16 ἔπεχε pres. imp. act. ἐπέχω (# 2091) to hold upon, to give heed to, to give attention to, to fix attention upon. For examples from the papyri s. MM; Preisigke. διδασκαλίᾳ (# 1436) teaching. The article may refer to Timothy's ability to teach, if the word is understood in an active sense. In the pass. sense it refers to that which is taught or a body of teaching (BAGD). ἐπίμενε pres. imp. act. ἐπιμένω (# 2152) to remain upon, to continue. Prep. in compound is directive indicating the concentration of the vb.'s action upon some object (MH, 312). ποιῶν pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to make. Pres. expressing continuing action. (dep.) part. βούλομαι (# 1089) to will, to purpose, w. inf. πλουτεῖν pres. act. inf. πλουτέω (# 4456) to be rich, to be wealthy. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. (DPL, 826-27; BBC). ἐμπίπτουσιν pres. ind. act. ἐμπίπτω (# 1860) to fall into. Pres. indicates that which always or normally happens. πειρασμός (# 4280) temptation. παγίδα sing. acc. παγίς (# 4075) snare, trap. ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) strong desire. ἀνόητος (# 485) irrational (s. Gal. 3:1). βλαβερός (# 1054) harmful, injuring. βυθίζουσιν pres. ind. act. βυθίζω (# 1112) to drag to the bottom, to submerge, to drown. The image is of drowning someone in the sea (Kelly; RW). ὄλεθρος (# 3897) destruction. ἀπώλεια (# 724) ruin. The two words are used in the sense of ruin that suggests irretrievable loss (Guthrie). ◆ 10 ῥίζα (# 4844) root. Pred. nom. without the article emphasizes the character or quality (s. John 1:1; also GGBB, 265). κακός (# 2805) evil. The pl. here emphasizes evils of all kinds (Kelly). φιλαργυρία (# 5794) love of money. The writer of The Sentences of Pseudo-Phocylides says, "Love of money is the mother of all evil (ἡ φιλοχρημοσύνη μήτηρ κακότητος ἁπάσης). Gold and silver are always a lure for men. Gold, originator of evil (κακῶν ἀρχηγέ) destroyer of life, crushing all things, would that you were not a desirable calamity to mortals! For your sake there are battles and plunderings and murders, and children become enemies of their parents and brothers (the enemies) of their kinsmen" (The Sentences of Pseudo-Phocylides, 42-45; SPP, 91; for other parallels to this proverbial saying s. Lock; Kelly; Dibelius; NW, 2, i:953-59; DCNT, 211; s. 1 Tim. 3:8). ὀρεγόμενοι pres. mid. part. ὀρέγω (# 3977) to reach out after something, to desire something. Obj. is in the gen. (dep.) part. ἐπαγγέλλω (# 2040) to announce, to proclaim, to profess. ἠστόχησαν aor. ind. act. ἀστοχέω (# 846) to miss the mark, to fail, to deviate (s. 1:6).

◆ 1 κατ' (# 2848) according to. It gives the standard by which God chose him and to which his apostleship must be true (Lock). Prep. also denotes the obj. and intention of the appointment: to further, to make known, the promise of eternal life (Ellicott). ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise. ζωή (# 2437) life. Gen. here gives the content of the promise. For a study of the concept of eternal life s. GW, 163-201; TDNT; NIDNTT. ἐν (# 1877) in. Prep. indicates that the source and sphere of life is in Christ Jesus. ◆ 2 ἀγαπητός (# 28) beloved. τέκνον (# 5451) child. A term of endearment. ἔλεος (# 1799) mercy (s. 1 Tim. 1:2). ◆ 3 ἔχω pres. ind. act. (# 2400) to have. χάριν ἔχω τῷ θεῷ "I have thanks to God," "I give thanks to God." The word, indicating the gratitude of the one who receives a favor from a benefactor, was a common expression of that day (TLNT; Spicq). λατρεύω (# 3302) pres. ind. act. to serve. The word, used esp. of carrying out religious duties–particularly of a cultic nature–was used in the sense of worship (BAGD; TDNT; TLNT). Pres. emphasizes the continual unbroken habit of life: "I have been serving" (RWP). πρόγονος (# 4591) forbearer. The statement must be understood to mean that Paul thought of Judaism in such close connection w. Christianity that his present worship of God is in a sense a continuation of his own Jewish worship (Guthrie). ἐν (# 1877) in. Local prep. giving the spiritual sphere in which the worship was offered (Ellicott). συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience (s. Rom. 2:15). ἀδιάλειπτος (# 89) without interruption, unceasing (s. 1 Thess. 1:2; Josephus, Wars, 5:71; 279; 298; MM). μνεία (# 3644) remembrance, mention (s. 1 Thess. 1:2). δέησις (# 1255) request, prayer. νυκτὸς καὶ ἡμέρας (# 3816; 2779; 2465) night and day. Here gen. of time indicating within which or during which an action takes place (GGBB, 122-24). ◆ 4 ἐπιποθῶν pres. act. part. ἐπιποθέω (# 2160) to have a strong desire for, to yearn after (Spicq). Prep. in compound is directive (s. Phil. 1:8). ἰδεῖν aor. act. inf. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. μεμνημένος perf. pass. (dep.) part. μιμνήσκομαι (# 3630) to remind oneself, to recall to mind, to remember, w. gen. Perf. emphasizes the continuing state. Temp. or causal part. δάκρυον (# 1232) tear. ἵνα (# 2671) w. subj., that. Introduces the purp. of Paul wanting to see Timothy (Kelly). πληρωθῶ aor. subj. pass. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill; pass., to be filled. ◆ 5 ὑπόμνησις (# 5704) remembering, reminder. The word is used properly of an external reminder (Lock). λαβών aor. act. part. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. Aor. suggests a logically antecedent action to the main vb. The phrase, "having received a reminder," may suggest that Paul had just had news of Timothy (Guthrie). ἀνυπόκριτος (# 537) without hypocrisy, genuine. It was a genuine principle, the opposite of a hypocritical or wavering profession (Fairbairn). ἐνῴκησεν aor. ind. act. ἐνοικέω (# 1940) to live in, to dwell in (s. Col. 3:16). μάμμῃ (# 3439) grandmother. The mother and grandmother played a vital part in the early training of the young children (JTJ, 102; BBC). For the use of the names Lois and Eunice s. Spicq. πέπεισμαι perf. ind. pass. πείθω (# 4275) to persuade, to be persuaded; perf., I stand persuaded (RWP). Perf. emphasizes the continuing result. ◆ 6 αἰτία (# 162) cause, reason. ἀναμιμνήσκω (# 389) pres. ind. act. to remind, to cause to remember. Prep. in compound is causative (MH, 295). ἀναζωπυρεῖν pres. act. inf. ἀναζωπυρέω (# 351) to stir up smoldering embers into a living flame, to keep at white heat (Lock). The word means either "to kindle afresh" or "to keep a full flame" (AS; MH, 296; RWP). Paul's statement does not necessarily contain a censure since fire in the ancient world was never kept at a continual blaze, but rather kept alive through glowing coals which were then rekindled through a flame by a bellows whenever the situation demanded flame (TDNT; OCD, 439; Lev. 6:9). Compl. inf. to the preceding vb. χάρισμα (# 5922) gift, grace gift. ἐπίθεσις (# 2120) laying on. ◆ 7 ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. δειλία (# 1261) cowardice, timidity, lack of courage, faintheartedness, fear (TLNT; Spicq). σωφρονισμός (# 5406) self-discipline, the power to keep oneself in hand, free from all excitement or hesitation (Lock; TDNT; EDNT; GPT, 179-80; TLNT). It has to do with character and conduct and is the general virtue or knowledge of what to do and what to avoid (TLNT). ◆ 8 οὖν (# 4036) therefore, drawing a logical conclusion from the preceding. ἐπαισχυνθῇς aor. subj. pass. ἐπαισχύνομαι (# 2049) to be ashamed of, to experience or feel shame or disgrace, w. attention focused upon that which causes shame (LN: 310). Aor. subj. w. a neg. μή (# 3590) to form a prohibition designed to prevent an action from arising (MKG, 273). μαρτύριον (# 3457) witness, here in the sense of witness through the proclamation of the gospel leading to his imprisonment. δέσμιος (# 1300) prisoner. To show sympathy to a prisoner and to offer him help could be very dangerous since it involved one in the charges against the prisoner (BAFCS, 3:388-92). συγκακοπάθησον aor. imp. act. συγκακοπαθέω (# 5155) to suffer evil together, to take one's share of evil treatment (AS). Disciples were to share in the sufferings of the teacher (BBC). Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency (MKG, 272). ◆ 9 σώσαντος aor. act. part. σώζω (# 5392) to save, to rescue. Both parts. are logically antecedent to the governing imp. (v. 8). Both describe saving and calling as characterizing traits of God. καλέσαντος aor. act. part. καλέω (# 2813) to call. κλῆσις (# 3104) calling. ἴδιος (# 2625) one's own. πρόθεσις (# 4606) facing before, purpose. δοθεῖσαν aor. pass. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. αἰώνιος (# 173) eternal. This may be a reference to the earliest promise of triumph for the woman's seed (Gen. 3:15), or to the grace of the preexistent Christ (Guthrie). ◆ 10 φανερωθεῖσαν aor. pass. part. φανερόω (# 5746) to make visible, to make clear, to manifest. ἐπιφάνεια (# 2211) manifestation, appearing (s. 1 Tim. 6:14; 2 Thess. 2:8; TDNT; Dibelius). Here are two thoughts, the divine intervention of a Savior in an hour of need and the dawning of a new light (Lock). καταργήσαντος aor. act. part. καταργέω (# 2934) to render inoperative, to make inactive, to annul. μέν ... δέ (# 3525; 1254) on the one hand ... on the other hand. The particles indicate connection and contrast (Fairbairn). φωτίσαντος aor. act. part. φωτίζω (# 5894) to illuminate, to flood w. light, to bring to light (Kelly). The two parts. indicate the meaning or manner in which the manifestation was accomplished. ἀφθαρσία (# 914) incorruptibility, immortality. ◆ 11 ἐτέθην aor. ind. pass. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to appoint, to commission. κῆρυξ (# 3061) proclaimer, herald, preacher (s. 1 Tim. 2:7). ◆ 12 καί (# 2779) also. πάσχω (# 4248) pres. ind. act. to suffer. VA, 281-87). ᾧ dat. ὅς (# 4005) who; "whom," rel. pron. used as obj. of the vb., but the antecedent is not expressed. Paul knows Jesus Christ whom he has trusted (RWP). πεπίστευκα perf. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe, to trust in. Perf. indicates "in whom I have put my trust, and still do put it" (Ellicott). παραθήκη (# 4146) that which is committed to another, deposit. It is a legal term connoting something one person places in trust to another's keeping; e.g., money, a person, a harvest of grain, a secret. The deposit belonged to the one making it and the one receiving it was obligated to be faithful and guard it like something sacred and divine (TLNT; Kelly; BBC; Lock, 90f; Lea and Griffin; s. 1 Tim. 6:20). The word is best understood as that which God entrusted to Paul and the present vb. focuses attention on God's ability to guard (Guthrie; Kelly). φυλάξαι aor. act. inf. φυλάσσω (# 5875) to guard, to protect, to keep watch over, to keep guard. For references s. LS; TDNT. Compl. inf. to the adj. δυνατός (# 1543) able; "he is able to keep." ◆ 13 ὑποτύπωσις (# 5721) model, example. The word denotes an outline sketch or ground plan used by an artist, or in literature the rough draft forming the basis of a fuller exposition (Kelly; Spicq). ἔχε pres. imp. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to hold. ὑγιαινόντων pres. act. part. ὑγιαίνω (# 5617) to be healthy, to be sound. ἤκουσας aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἐν (# 1877) in. Compl. inf. to the main vb.: "May God give to find." ὅσος (# 4012) as many as, which one, those belonging to this class or group. διηκόνησεν aor. ind. act. διακονέω (# 1354) to minister, to serve. βέλτιον (# 1019) adv. comp. ἀγαθός good. The word can be taken as a true comp., "better than I" (RG, 165), or it can mean "well" (BAGD; BD, 127).

2 Timothy 2

◆ 1 ἐνδυναμοῦ pres. imp. pass. ἐνδυναμόω (# 1904) to empower; pass. to be strong. ἐν (# 1877) in. Prep. is probably instr., "by means of" or "in the power of" (Kelly). ◆ 2 ἤκουσας aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. παράθου aor. imp. mid. (dep.) παρατίθημι (# 4192) to place to another's trust, to entrust, to deposit, to commit for safe keeping (MM). ἱκανός (# 2653) that which reaches or arrives at a certain standard, sufficient, capable (GEW 1:719f; TDNT; LS). ἔσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. διδάξαι aor. act. inf. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. Compl. inf. to the adj. ἱκανοί.

Here w. the inf., "capable to teach." ◆ 3 συγκακοπάθησον aor. imp. act. συγκακοπαθέω (# 5155) to suffer evil together, to endure affliction together, to take one's share of rough treatment (Kelly). στρατιώτης (# 5132) soldier. The Roman soldier–always ready to faithfully obey his commander without grumbling and complaining; constantly in training whatever hardships must be endured; fighting bravely, never leaving his post even if it meant death; working with his company as a unit, carrying out his specific task-was the one who received the praise from his commander and was rewarded for his service. He was a good soldier! (TJ, 114; also DPL, 952-53). ◆ 4 στρατευόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. στρατεύομαι (# 5129) to be a soldier. For a description of the life, training, and discipline of Roman soldiers s. Jos. JW, 3:70-109; TJ, 101-14. This emphasizes the total commitment required of a follower (BBC). ἐμπλέκεται pres. ind. mid. ἐμπλέκω (# 1861) to entangle; mid., to entangle oneself. Lit. of sheep; fig. of worldly pursuits (BAGD). The word pictures a soldier's weapon entrammelled in his cloak (Guthrie). πραγματεία (# 4548) affair, pursuit. The soldier does not let himself get involved in the preoccupations of civil life (Kelly). As applied to ministers this command requires wholehearted devotion to their work (Lock). στρατολογήσαντι aor. act. part. (subst.) στρατολογέω (# 5133) to enlist soldiers. Aor. expresses logically antecedent action. It was the general's duty to see that his soldiers were well equipped and provided w. food and shelter (DC, 3:67f). ἀρέσῃ aor. subj. act. ἀρέσκω (# 743) to please. The Christian soldier has only one goal and purpose–wholehearted devotion to the given task, the effort to please his Lord (PAM, 169). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used in a purp. cl. ◆ 5 ἀθλῇ pres. subj. act. ἀθλέω (# 123) to compete in a contest. Subj. in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which assumes the possibility or probability of the cond. στεφανοῦται pres. ind. pass. στεφανόω (# 5110) to crown one w. a victor's crown. νομίμως (# 3789) adv., lawfully. The athlete's adherence to the laws of the contest was mandatory; he was not allowed to lighten his struggle by bypassing the rules. When applied to Timothy this meant that he as an athlete of Christ must also be prepared to suffer. The word also suggests the rejection of the heretics who do not contend lawfully (PAM, 170f). The training period could last 10 months out of a year (BBC). ἀθλήσῃ aor. subj. act. ἀθλέω (# 123) to compete in a contest. Subj. in a 3rd. clas cond. cl. ◆ 6 κοπιῶντα pres. act. part. κοπιάω (# 3159) to work, to work until one is exhausted. It denotes a hostility that allows no truce (Guthrie). The word denotes a man who cannot bring himself to come to terms w. other people (Kelly; Trench, Synonyms, 193f). διάβολος (# 1333) slanderous (s. 1 Tim. 3:11). Those who promote quarrels in hope that they may gain from them (Lock). ἀκρατής (# 203) without power, without self-control, w. respect to tongue, appetite, and everything else. ἀνήμερος (# 466) not tamed, uncivilized fear, savage. ἀφιλάγαθος (# 920) without laws for good, haters of good. ◆ 4 προδότης (# 4595) traitor, betrayer. The word was used of one who is a traitor to his oath or one who abandons another in danger (LS; MH, 323). προπετής (# 4637) one who falls before or ahead, hasty, reckless, one who is ready to precipitate matters by hasty speech or action (Fairbairn; Lock). It indicates lack of control or quickness, whether good or bad; and with respect to action it refers to those who are impulsive, who get carried away (hotheads!) like a bolting horse; people who make themselves known by their violence, who wreck everything, who take wild chances (TLNT). τετυφωμένοι perf. pass. part. τυφόω (# 5605) to fill with smoke, to be conceited (s. 1 Tim. 6:4; BAGD; MM). φιλήδονος (# 5798) pleasure-lover. μᾶλλον (# 3437) rather. φιλόθεος (# 5806) God-lover. ◆ 5 ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. μόρφωσις (# 3673) shaping, bringing into shape, embodiment, outline, outward form, resemblance (Phil. 2:6; LS; BAGD; TDNT; EDNT). εὐσέβεια (# 2354) reverence of God, godliness (s. 1 Tim. 2:2). ἠρνημένοι perf. mid. (dep.) part. ἀρνέομαι (# 766) to deny. The word involves always more than an act of the mind; it means putting into practice (EGT). καί (# 2779) and; the word here seems to retain its proper force by specifying those in particular who were to be avoided (Ellicott). ἀποτρέπου pres. imp. mid. ἀποτρέπω (# 706) to turn from, to turn oneself away from. The vb. is a strong one, implying that Timothy is to avoid them w. horror (Kelly). Pres. imp. indicates that this should be a continual habit of life. ◆ 6 ἐνδύνοντες pres. act. part. ἐνδύνω (# 1905) to enter in, to creep in, to run one's way in. The word implies insidious methods (Guthrie). αἰχμαλωτίζοντες pres. act. part. αἰχμαλωτίζω (# 170) to take captive at spear point, to make a prisoner of war, to capture. The word here denotes getting complete possession of (Huther). γυναικάριον (# 1220) little woman, silly or idle woman. Perhaps since women in that culture were often uneducated, they were easy prey for false teachers (BBC). The word is a diminutive and expresses contempt (Fairbairn). σεσωρευμένα perf. pass. part. σωρεύω (# 5397) to heap or pile up, to overwhelm. Perf. emphasizes the continual state or condition. ἀγόμενα pres. pass. part. ἄγω (# 72) to lead, to drive. ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) strong desire, lust. The term τὰ ἱερὰ γράμματα is the name for the Holy Scriptures of OT used among Greek-speaking Jews (Dibelius; but s. also Guthrie; Lock). δυνάμενα pres. pass. part. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able, w. inf. ("which are able to"). Adj. part. used as a subst. σοφίσαι aor. act. inf. σοφίζω (# 5054) to impart wisdom, to make wise. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. ◆ 16 γραφή (# 1210) writing, Scripture (TDNT; Schlatter; Guthrie; Lea and Griffin). θεόπνευστος (# 2535) God-breathed, breathed into by God, inspired. The rabbinical teaching was that the Spirit of God rested on and in the prophets and spoke through them, so that their words did not come from themselves but from the mouth of God; they spoke and wrote in the Holy Spirit (Lea and Griffin). The early church was in entire agreement with this view (Kelly; SB, 4:435-51; ZPEB, 2:286-93; TDNT; Schlatter; Gerhard Delling, "Die biblische Prophetie bei Josephus," JS, 109-21; TLNT). Pred. adj. without the art. indicating the character: "every Scripture is inspired and profitable" (GGBB, 313-14; Daniel B. Wallace, "The Relation of Adjective to Noun in Anarthrous Constructions in the New Testament," NovT 26 [1984]: 128-67). ὠφέλιμος (# 6068) profitable. ἐλεγμός (# 1791) proving, convicting, reproof; i.e., for refuting error and rebuking sin (Kelly; Lock). ἐπανόρθωσις (# 2061) setting up straight in addition, setting right, correction. It is the setting upright on their feet (Lock; for examples in the papyri s. MM; Preisigke). παιδεία (# 4082) training, instruction, discipline. ◆ 17 ἄρτιος (# 787) fit, complete, capable, sufficient; i.e., able to meet all demands (BAGD). ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἐξηρτισμένος perf. pass. part. ἐξαρτίζω (# 1192) to completely outfit, fully furnish, fully equip or supply. The word was used of documents–or of a wagon or rescue boat–which were completely outfitted, or of a machine sold in good condition; i.e., capable of performing the service expected of it (MM; Preisigke; LS; TLNT). Prep. in compound is effective (MH, 308ff).

Not "begin to preach," but "preach as your first priority" (GGBB, 721). ἐπίστηθι aor. imp. pass. ἐφίστημι (# 2392) to take one's stand, to stand by, to be at hand. The word was also used in a military sense–to stay at one's post–but here it means to be at one's task and indicates that the Christian minister must always be on duty (Kelly; Guthrie). εὐκαίρως (# 2323) adv., well-timed, suitably, conveniently; i.e., when it is convenient (BAGD). ἀκαίρως (# 178) not well-timed, inconveniently; i.e., when it is inconvenient (BAGD). ἔλεγξον aor. imp. act. ἐλέγχω (# 1794) to prove w. demonstrative evidence, to convict, to reprove. It is so to rebuke another, w. such effectual feeling of the victorious arms of the truth, as to bring one if not always to a confession, yet at least to a conviction of sin (Trench, Synonyms, 13; TDNT; EDNT). ἐπιτίμησον aor. imp. act. ἐπιτιμάω (# 2203) to rebuke. The word denotes in the NT usage the idea of censure and sharp rebuke (Guthrie; Trench, Synonyms, 13; TDNT). παρακάλεσον aor. imp. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to urge, to encourage, to exhort, to admonish (s. Rom. 12:1). μακροθυμίᾳ (# 3429) longsuffering, patient endurance (s. 2 Tim. 3:10). ◆ 3 ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. καιρός (# 2789) season, period of time. ὑγιαινούσης pres. act. part. ὑγιαίνω (# 5617) to be well, to be in good health, to be sound. διδασκαλία (# 1436) teaching, doctrine. ἀνέξονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀνέχω (# 462) to bear up, to endure, to put up w. ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) strong desire, lust. ἐπισωρεύσουσιν fut. ind. act. ἐπισωρεύω (# 2197) to pile upon, to heap upon. κνηθόμενοι pres. mid. part. κνήθομαι (# 3117) to tickle, to scratch, to itch; pass., to feel an itching. It is used fig. of curiosity that looks for interesting and spicy bits of information. This itching is relieved by the message of the new teachers (BAGD; MM). ἀκοή (# 198) hearing, ear. Here, acc. of general reference: being tickled in reference to the hearing (Kelly). ◆ 4 ἀποστρέψουσιν fut. ind. act. ἀποστρέφω (# 695) to turn away from. μῦθος (# 3680) myth (s. 1 Tim. 1:4). ἐκτραπήσονται fut. ind. mid. ἐκτρέπω (# 1762) to turn away from, to turn aside from (s. 1 Tim. 1:6). ◆ 5 νῆφε pres. imp. act. νήφω (# 3768) to be sober; i.e., to be in a vigilant, wakeful, considerate frame of mind, taking heed of what is happening and pursuing a course w. calm and steady aim (Fairbairn). κακοπάθησον aor. imp. act. κακοπαθέω (# 2802) to suffer evil, to suffer hardship (s. 2 Tim. 1:8). ἔργον (# 2240) work, activity. ποίησον aor. imp. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. εὐαγγελιστής (# 2296) one who proclaims the good news, evangelist. The word was found on a non-Christian inscription w. the meaning, "a proclaimer of oracle" (TDNT). The word, however, occurs primarily of those who preach the gospel (TDNT; PGL; TLNT). διακονία (# 1355) ministry, service. πληροφόρησον aor. imp. act. πληροφορέω (# 4442) to carry full, to make full, to fulfill, to accomplish (LAE, 86f). Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. ◆ 6 σπένδομαι pres. ind. pass. (# 5064) to offer, to pour out as a drink offering (Phil. 2:17; Kelly). Pres. points to an action in progress. ἀναλύσεως gen. ἀναλυσις (# 385) lifting up, departure. The word is used as a euphemism for death and evokes the picture of a ship weighing anchor, or of a soldier or traveler striking camp (Kelly). Departure after a meaningful and fruitful life (BAGD). Gen. of description. ἐφέστηκεν perf. ind. act. ἐφίστημι (# 2392) to be present, to be at hand (s.v. 2). ◆ 7 ἀγών (# 74) struggle, fight. ἠγώνισμαι perf. ind. mid. (dep.) διατάσσω (# 1411) to give orders to, to appoint, to arrange, to ordain. ◆ 6 ἀνέγκλητος (# 441) without indictment, unchangeable, above reproach. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. κατηγορία (# 2990) accusation. ἀσωτία (# 861) inability to save, one who wastes his money often, w. the implication of wasting it on pleasures and so ruining himself; luxurious living, extravagant squandering of means (Lock; Trench, Synonyms, 53f; TDNT; Eph. 5:18). ἀνυπότακος (# 538) independent, unruly, insubordinate. ◆ 7 δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. it is necessary to, w. inf. giving a logical necessity. ἐπίσκοπος (# 2176) overseer, bishop (1 Tim. 3:1, 2). ἀνέγκλητος (# 441) blameless, irreproachable (BAGD; MM; 1 Tim. 3:10). εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Compl. inf. to the impersonal vb. δεῖ. οἰκονόμος (# 3874) manager of household or family, steward. The word emphasizes the commitment of a task and its responsibility to someone. It is a metaphor drawn from contemporary life and pictures the manager of a household or estate (Guthrie; TDNT; HOG; 1 Cor. 4:1; Gal. 4:2). αὐθάδης (# 881) self-willed, obstinate in one's own opinion, arrogant, refusing to listen to others. It is the man who obstinately maintains his own opinion or asserts his own rights and is reckless of the rights, feelings, and interests of others (Lock; Trench, Synonyms, 349f; MM; TDNT; TLNT). Theophrastus describes such a person as one who, when asked a question, answers, "Leave me alone!"; or when he is greeted, he expresses no thank you; or when he sells something, he does not give the price but says, "What do I get?"; or when he stumbles on the street, he curses the stones; he is not willing to wait for anyone and is even capable of not once praying to the gods (Theophrastus, Characters, 15:1-11; NW, 2, ii:1013-14). ὀργίλος (# 3975) inclined to anger, quick-tempered (BAGD). Words w. this ending often denote habit or custom (Ellicott). πάροινος (# 4232) given to drink, heavy drinker (Kelly; 1 Tim. 3:3). Dionysus' drunken worship was well known on Crete. A leader in the church should not be confused w. a worshiper of this pagan god (BBC). πλήκτης (# 4438) one who strikes, fighter. The word could be quite literal: "not hasty to strike an opponent" (Lock; 1 Tim. 3:3). αἰσχροκερδής (# 153) greedy of shameful gain; i.e., making money discreditable, adopting one's teaching to the hearers in hope of getting more from them; or perhaps it refers to engaging in discreditable trade (Lock; 1 Tim. 3:8). ◆ 8 φιλόξενος (# 5811) lover of strangers, hospitable (BBC: ABD, 3:299-301). φιλάγαθος (# 5787) lover of that which is good. It denotes devotion to all that is best (Kelly). ὅσιος (# 4008) devout, holy (1 Tim. 2:8). σώφρονα (# 5409) holy, devout (1 Tim. 2:8). ἐγκρατής (# 1604) control over oneself. It means complete self-mastery, controlling all passionate impulses and keeping the will loyal to the will of God (Lock, esp. 148; Gal. 5:23). ◆ 9 ἀντεχόμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀντέχω (# 504) to hold on to, to hold fast. Prep. in compound appears to involve a faint idea of holding out against something hostile or opposing. This, however, passes into steadfast application (Ellicott). It could also mean to take an interest in, to pay attention to (BAGD; MM). πίστος (# 4412) reliable, trustworthy (Guthrie). δυνατός (# 1543) able. ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl. παρακαλεῖν pres. act. inf. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to exhort, to urge. Compl. inf. to preceding verbal adj. δυνατός, "to be able to exhort." (Rom. 12:1). διδασκαλίᾳ (# 1436) teaching, doctrine. Here, instr. dat. ὑγιαινούσῃ pres. act. part. ὑγιαίνω (# 5617) to be well, to be healthy, to be sound. ἀντιλέγοντας pres. act. part. ἀντιλέγω (# 515) to speak against, to oppose, to object. Subst. part., "those who speak against." ἐλέγχειν pres. act. inf. ἐλέγχω (# 1794) to convict, to reprove (2 Tim. 4:2). Compl. inf. parallel to the preceding inf. ◆ 10 εἰσίν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. γάρ (# 1142) "for" giving the reason for the necessary traits. ματαιολόγοι (# 3468) worthless words, evil talkers; i.e., using impressive language w. little or no solid content of truth (Kelly; 2 Tim. 2:16). φρεναπάτης (# 5855) deceiver of the mind, deceiver of thinking, deceiver, seducer. μάλιστα (# 3436) especially. περιτομή (# 4364) circumcision. ◆ 11 ἐπιστομίζειν pres. act. inf. ἐπιστομίζω (# 2187) to put something on the mouth, to muzzle, to silence. Compl. inf. to the impersonal vb. δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. "It is necessary to muzzle them." ἀνατρέπουσιν pres. ind. act. ἀνατρέπω (# 426) to turn upside down, to upset (2 Tim. 2:18). διδάσκοντες pres. act. part. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. Part. gives the means or manner. αἰσχρός (# 156) shameful, ugly, dishonest (BAGD). κέρδος (# 3046) gain, profit. ◆ 12 ἐξ αὐτῶν from them. Paul quotes from Epimenides of Cnossus, in Crete, a religious teacher and worker of wonders of the sixth century B.C. (ABD, 1:1206; Kelly; Lock; Dibelius; OCD, 399; KP, 2:319). ἴδιος αὐτῶν προφήτης one of their own prophets. Epimenides, a famous figure of Crete, was considered a prophet. Because a well-known Cretian condemns his own people, the apostle cannot be charged w. censoriousness for his exposures (Guthrie). For the character of the Cretan as seen by ancient writers s. NW, 2, ii:1017-27; Callimachus, Jov. 8; BBC; ABD, 1:1206. ψεῦσται (# 6026) liar. θηρίον (# 2563) wild animal, beast. γαστέρες pl. γαστήρ (# 1143) stomach. ἀργαί pl. ἀργός (# 734) inactive, lazy. The expression "lazy belly" describes their uncontrolled greed (Guthrie; for gluttony in the ancient world s. RAC, 9:345-90). ◆ 13 αἰτία (# 162) reason, cause. ἔλεγχε pres. imp. act. ἐλέγχω (# 1794) to reprove (2 Tim. 4:2). ἀποτόμως (# 705) adv., severely, sharply. ὑγιαίνωσιν pres. subj. act. ὑγιαίνω (# 5617) to be well, to be healthy, to be sound. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 14 προσέχοντες pres. act. part. προσέχω (# 4668) to give heed to, to devote oneself to (1 Tim. 1:4). μῦθος (# 3680) myth (1 Tim. 1:4). ἐντολαῖς dat. pl. ἐντολή (# 1953) command, rule. ἀποστρεφομένων pres. mid. part. ἀποστρέφω (# 695) to turn away; mid., to turn oneself from something, to reject; to repudiate (BAGD). ◆ 15 μεμιαμμένοις perf. pass. part. μιαίνω (# 3620) to stain, to defile, to pollute. Perf. points to a past completed action w. a continuing result, state or condition. νοῦς (# 3808) mind, understanding. συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience. ◆ 16 ὁμολογοῦσιν pres. ind. act. ὁμολογέω (# 3933) to confess, to profess. εἰδέναι perf. act. inf. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. Compl. inf. to the preceding vb. ἀρνοῦνται pres. mid. (dep.) ind. ἀρνέομαι (# 766) to deny. βδελυκτός (# 1008) detestable, abominable. The word has a technical meaning: "to practice a profession" (RWP; Kelly). Compl. inf. to the preceding vb. πεπιστευκότες perf. act. part. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. ὠφέλιμος (# 6068) useful, profitable, serviceable. ◆ 9 μωρός (# 3704) dull, stupid, foolish (AS). ζήτησις (# 2428) questioning, speculation (1 Tim. 1:4). γενεαλογία (# 1157) genealogy (1 Tim. 1:4). ἔρις (# 2251) strife. μάχας acc. pl. μάχη (# 3480) fight, controversy. νομικός (# 3788) pertaining to law, legal. The word here refers to the Mosaic Law (Guthrie). περιΐστασο pres. imp. mid. 2nd. pers. sing. περιΐστημι (# 4325) act, to place around; mid., to go around so as to avoid; to step around, to stand aside, to turn oneself about; to avoid, to shun (RWP; MM; 2 Tim. 2:16). ἀνωφελής (# 543) useless, unprofitable. μάταιος (# 3469) futile. ◆ 10 αἱρετικός (# 148) heresy, heretical; having the power of choice, a self-chosen party, sect, or faction. δεύτερος (# 1311) second. νουθεσία (# 3804) admonition, warning. It is the attempt to cause a person to correct his wrong by warning or counsel (TDNT; 1 Cor. 10:11; Eph. 6:4). παραιτοῦ pres. imp. mid. (dep.) παραιτέομαι (# 4148) to ask from, to beg off, to avoid (RWP; 1 Tim. 4:7; 5:11). ◆ 11 εἰδώς perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ἐξέστραπται perf. ind. mid. ἐκστρέφω (# 1750) to turn from, to turn inside out, to twist, to divert (RWP). τοιοῦτος (# 5525) such a one. ἁμαρτάνει pres. ind. act. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. ὤν pres. act. part. nom. masc. sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. αὐτοκατάκριτος (# 896) condemnation of oneself, self-condemned; he is condemned by his own action (Lock). ◆ 12 ὅταν (# 4020) used w. the subj., when, whenever. πέμψω aor. subj. act. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. σπούδασον aor. imp. act. σπουδάζω (# 5079) to hurry, to endeavor, to do one's best (Kelly). Nicopolis was on the Greek side of the Adriatic coast, 200 miles east of Italy (BBC; ABD, 4:1108). ἐλθεῖν aor. act. inf. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to go. Compl. inf. to the main vb., "Hurry to come!" κέκρικα perf. ind. act. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge, to determine, to decide. Perf. looks at the settled decisions already reached. παραχειμάσαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. παραχειμάζω (# 4199) to spend the winter (BAGD; MM). Inf. in indir. speech as obj. of the vb. Const. aor. views the action in its totality. ◆ 13 νομικός (# 3788) pertaining to the law, lawyer. The word may be used of an expert in either Heb. or Roman law. Here it probably refers to a Roman lawyer (ABD, 6:1074-75; LAW, 3:2532-59). If one did not know the laws of a city, he consulted a lawyer (Guthrie; TDNT; MM; Preisigke). σπουδαίως (# 5081) speedily, hurriedly, earnestly, diligently. πρόπεμψον aor. imp. act. προπέμπω (# 4636) to send forth, to send on. The word often had the idea of supplying one w. money for material needs for a trip (Rom. 15:24; 1 Cor. 16:6). λείπῃ pres. subj. act. λείπω (# 3309) to leave behind, to lack. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) expresses result. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832). φιλοῦντας pres. act. part. φιλέω (# 5797) to love.

Philemon

◆ 1 δέσμιος (# 1300) prisoner (CIC). Χριστοῦ Ἰησοῦ "of Jesus Christ." Gen. could be gen. of cause, gen. of purpose, or gen. of possesion (CIC, 151-57). Poss. gen. expresses to whom Paul belonged and indicates that the writing is not simply to be looked at as a private letter, but w. a message which those who receive it are obligated to obey (Lohse). It also indicates that Paul was a "willing prisoner," who gave up his freedom voluntarily (CIC, 155-57). ἀγαπητός (# 28) beloved. συνεργός (# 5301) fellow worker. The term is a frequent name given to Paul's colleagues in the work of the gospel. Just how Philemon had labored w. Paul in missionary service is unclear (Martin, NCB). ◆ 2 ἀδελφῇ (# 80) sister. Since at that time the women had to do w. the business of the house, it was important to her what Paul had to say about the slave Onesimus (Stuhlmacher; Lohse; s. Titus 2:5; DPL, 881-83). συστρατιώτῃ (# 5369) fellow soldier; one who engaged in the same conflicts, faced the same dangers, fought for the same goals, and was loyal, refusing to desert his post, regardless of the consequences he might face (CIC, 164-70, 172-74; TDNT). τῇ κατ' οἶκόν σου ἐκκλησίᾳ to the church in your house. For the house church s. Col. 4:15; Harris; Stuhlmacher, 70-75. ◆ 3 χάρις (# 5921) grace (EDNT; CPP); the undeserved help from God. ὑμῖν dat. pl. σύ (# 5148) you; here, "to you." Dat of advantage. ◆ 4 εὐχαριστῶ pres. ind. act. εὐχαριστέω (# 2373) to give thanks. It was a common feature of Hellenistic letters that the sender praised the gods for the health and well-being of his addressees, and assured them of his prayers on their behalf. Paul gives a distinctly Christian content to the formula by the way in which he goes on to describe the reason for his thankfulness (Martin, NCB; Lohse; LAE, 184f; P.T. O'Brien, Introductory Thanksgivings in the Letters of Paul [Leiden: E.J. Brill, 1977]). πάντοτε (# 4121) always. μνεία (# 3644) mention, remembrance. ποιούμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ποιέω (# 4472) to make. The construction means "to make mention in prayer" (Moule; s. 1 Thess. 1:2). ◆ 5 ἀκούων pres. act. part. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Part. could be causal ("because I hear"), and indicates the cause of Paul's giving thanks (Vincent; O'Brien). πίστις (# 4411) faith, faithfulness, loyalty (Bruce). ἔχεις pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. indicates the present continuing possession. πρός (# 4639) toward. The prep. signifies direction: forward to, toward. Here it is used of faith which aspires toward Christ (Lightfoot; Vincent; Ellicott). εἰς πάντας τοὺς ἁγίους unto all the saints. The prep. denotes arrival and so contact (Lightfoot, but s. also MT, 256). ◆ 6 ὅπως (# 3968) that, in order that. The particle introduces either the aim and purpose of Paul's prayer (Lightfoot) or else simply gives the content of Paul's prayer (Lohse; Bruce; O'Brien). κοινωνία (# 3126) fellowship, sharing. The word could mean generosity or participation; the main idea is that Philemon's faith is to show itself in loving service (Martin, NCB; TDNT; NIDNTT; RAC, 9:1100-45). πίστεώς (# 4411) faith. Gen. here can be an obj. gen. For a discussion of the various problems and interpretations s. Moule; Stuhlmacher. ἐνεργής (# 1921) active, effective, productive. (TDNT; MNTW, 46-54). γένηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἐπίγνωσις (# 2106) recognition, acknowledgment, knowledge. παντὸς ἀγαθοῦ (# 4246; 19) of every good. The words may refer to that which is God's will and generally refers to something which is done or performed (Moule; Stuhlmacher). ◆ 7 ἔσχον aor. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, aor. to get, to receive (M, 110). Aor. expresses forcibly the moment of joy which Paul experienced when he heard this good news about Philemon (EGT). παράκλησις (# 4155) encouragement, comfort. σπλάγχνον (# 5073) the inner organs, heart. The term is used here to denote the total person and his personality at the deepest level (Martin, NCB; Lohse; TLNT; TDNT). ἀναπέπαυται perf. mid. (dep.) inf. ἀναπαύομαι (# 399) to cause to rest, to refresh. The word implies relaxation, and refreshment as a preparation for the renewal of labor or suffering (Lightfoot). Hospitality was a necessary virtue (BBC). ἀδελφέ voc. ἀδελφός (# 81) brother. The place of the word here makes it emphatic (EGT). ◆ 8 διό (# 1475) therefore. παρρησία (# 4244) speaking all things, openness, boldness, frankness, candor (TLNT; TDNT; O'Brien). ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Concessive part., "although" (IBG, 102). ἐπιτάσσειν pres. act. inf. ἐπιτάσσω (# 2195) to command. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. When a slave ran away, he could be sought through a wanted list, and if anyone recognized him and caught him he was to bring him back to his owner, who could punish the slave as he wished. In such a case it was also possible for one to intercede w. the master for the slave. For examples and references s. Lohse; s. also John M.G. Barclay, "Paul, Philemon and the Dilemma of Christian Slave-Ownership," NTS 37 (1991): 161-86. For a text describing two runaway slaves s. Moule, 34ff; and for two similar letters written in behalf of a slave s. NW, 2, ii:1059-60; Pliny, Letters, 9:21; 24. For texts concerning the crucifixion of a slave, a curse against a fugitive slave, and the government's pursuit of runaway slaves s. NDIEC, 8:1-46. For a text much similar to Paul's letter to Philemon, except the slave is to be caught, bound hand and foot and returned to the owner s. NDIEC, 8:24-26. It could be, however, that Onesimus was not a runaway slave (fugitivus), but someone who appealed to Paul as a friend of his master (amicus domini), asking for intersession on his behalf (Peter Lampe, "Keine 'Sklavenflucht' des Onesimus," ZNW 76 [1985]: 135-37; Brian M. Rapske, "The Prisoner Paul in the Eyes of Onesimus," NTS 37 [1991]: 187-203; s. also Dunn; Sara C. Winter, "Paul's Letter to Philemon," NTS 33 [1987]: 1-15). ἀνῆκον pres. act. part. ἀνήκω (# 465) to come up to, to pertain to; that which is required, that which is fitting, i.e. one's duty (Martin, NCB). ◆ 9 μᾶλλον (# 3437) rather. παρακαλῶ pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to urge, to beseech. The vb. contains the idea of a request (TDNT; Lohse). τοιοῦτος (# 5525) such a one. For the construction of this section s. Lightfoot; O'Brien; Harris. ὤν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Causal part., "because I am." πρεσβύτης (# 4566) old man, ambassador. The sense requires Paul's invoking his authority as an ambassador (Martin, NCB; O'Brien; Bruce; Harris), or he may appeal to his position as an "old man," who would be dependent on others, as well as have a right to demand respect and honor (CIC, 157-64). νυνί (# 3815) now. δέσμιος (# 1300) prisoner. ◆ 10 παρακαλῶ pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to beseech. Used w. the prep. here in the sense of making a request on behalf of someone (Lohse; Stuhlmacher). ἐγέννησα aor. ind. act. γεννάω (# 1164) to bear, to give birth. Here it is the metaphor of fatherhood: "of whose conversion I was the instrument" (Vincent; Moule). For references to the DSS and rabbinical literature concerning the metaphor of spiritual parenthood s. Stuhlmacher; SB, 3:340f; TDNT; BBC. ◆ 11 ποτέ (# 4537) formerly. ἄχρηστος (# 947) useless, unserviceable. εὔχρηστος (# 2378) useful, serviceable, profitable. Perhaps a word play on the Latin name Onesimus. ◆ 12 ἀνέπεμψα aor. ind. act. ἀναπέμπω (# 402) to send again, to send back (BAGD; Moule). Epistolary aor., which is translated by the pres. in English. It indicates that Onesimus carried the letter (Lightfoot; Stuhlmacher; BD, 172). σπλάγχνον (# 5073) inward organs, heart, "my very heart" (Lightfoot; s.v. 7; s. Phil 2:1). ◆ 13 ἐβουλόμην impf. ind. mid. (dep.) βούλομαι (# 1086) to desire, to wish. The word involves the idea of purpose, deliberation, desire, mind (Lightfoot; TDNT). κατέχειν pres. act. inf. κατέχω (# 2988) to retain, to keep. Although the word is capable of several meanings, the idea in this construction is "to keep w. me" (Lohse; LAE, 331; TDNT; Stuhlmacher). διακονῇ pres. subj. act. διακονέω (# 1354) to wait on, to minister to, to minister (TDNT). εὐαγγέλιον (# 2295) good news, gospel. Gen. here may be subjective, indicating that his bonds arise from the gospel (Lohmeyer), or it may mean "my imprisonment for the gospel" (Moule). ◆ 14 χωρίς (# 6006) w. the gen., without. γνώμῃ (# 1191) opinion, consent. The word was used often in the papyri in this sense (Stuhlmacher; Dibelius; Priesigke; MM). ἠθέλησα aor. ind. act. θέλω (# 2527) to wish, to desire. Aor. describes a definite completed action (Lightfoot; EGT). ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ἀνάγκη (# 340) pressure, necessity, compulsion. ἀγαθόν σου (# 19; 5148) (the benefit arising from you; i.e., the good I should get from the continued presence of Onesimus, which would be owing to you (Lightfoot). ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἑκούσιος (# 1730) voluntary. Used here w the prep.: "of one's own free will" (BAGD; GELTS, 139). ◆ 15 τάχα (# 5440) perhaps. ἐχωρίσθη aor. ind. pass. χωρίζω (# 6004) to separate, to depart (by escaping). Pass. may be a divine pass, in Heb. a mode of expression to denote the hidden action of God (Martin, NCB). αἰώνιος (# 173) eternal. In this context it appears to mean permanently, for good (Moule). ἀπέχῃς pres. subj. act. ἀπέχω (# 600) to have. The word was a commercial t.t. meaning to receive a sum in full and give a receipt for it. Here the idea is "to keep," "to keep for oneself" (BAGD; Ellicott). ◆ 16 οὐκέτι (# 4033) no longer. ὑπὲρ δοῦλον (# 1528) beyond a slave, more than a slave (RWP). ἀγαπητός (# 28) beloved (s.v. 1). μάλιστα (# 3436) especially. πόσῳ δὲ μᾶλλον (# 4531; 1254; 3437) how much rather. Having first said "most of all to me," he goes a step further: "more than most of all to thee" (Lightfoot). ἐν σαρκί (# 1877; 4922) in the flesh; i.e., "as a man" (Martin, NCB). ◆ 17 ἔχεις pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Ind. is used in a first class cond. cl. which assumes the cond. as a reality. κοινωνός (# 3128) sharer, partner. The word denotes those who have common interest, common feelings, and common work (Lightfoot; s.v. 6). προσλαβοῦ aor. mid. imp. προσλαμβάνω (# 4689) mid., to take to oneself, to receive or accept into one's society, home, or circle of acquaintances (BAGD). ◆ 18 ἠδίκησέν aor. ind. act. ἀδικέω (# 92) to act unjustly, to wrong someone, to injure. ὀφείλει pres. ind. act. ὀφειλέω (# 4053) to owe someone a debt. ἐλλόγα pres. imp. act. ἐλλογάω (# 1823) to place on someone's account. Imp. is a polite request. The word was a commercial t.t. meaning, "to charge to someone's account" (MM; Preisigke; BAGD; Dibelius; Lohse; O'Brien; BBC). ◆ 19 ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 4211) to write. Epistolary aor. ("I am writing"). ἀποτίσω fut. ind. act. ἀποτίθημι (# 702) to repay, to pay back. The word is a legal t.t. and appears in promissory notes (Lohse; LAE, 331f). λέγω (# 3306) pres. subj. act. to say. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. προσοφείλεις pres. ind. act. προσοφειλέω (# 4695) to owe a debt beside, to owe in addition to (Ellicott). ◆ 20 ναί (# 3721) yes. ὀναίμην aor. opt. mid. (dep.) ὀνίνημι (# 3949) to benefit, to profit. Opt. here to express a wish; it was used in the formula "may I have joy, profit or benefit" and w. the gen. of the person or thing that is the source of the joy or profit (BAGD; MM). ἀνάπαυσον pres. imp. act. (# 399) (s.v. 7). ◆ 21 πεποιθώς perf. act. part. (causal) πείθω (# 4275) to persuade, perf. to be persuaded, to have confidence (Dunn; s. Phil. 1:6). ὑπακοῇ (# 5633) listening to, obedient. ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. εἰδώς perf. act. part. (causal) οἶδα (# 3856) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. (Harris). ποιήσεις fut. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. For general discussions of slavery in the ancient world, and esp. of slaves obtaining their freedom s. FCS; Lohse; Stuhlmacher, 42-48; DC, 1-15; Seneca, Letters to Lucilus, 47; DGRA, 1034-42; KP, 5:230-34; CC, 109-112; SCA, 27-46; also 1 Cor. 7:21). ◆ 22 ἅμα (# 275) at the same time, besides. ἑτοίμαζε pres. imp. act. ἑτοιμάζω (# 2286) to prepare, to prepare a guest room (Stuhlmacher). It may denote quarters in an inn or a room in a private house (Lightfoot). ἐλπίζω (# 1827) pres. ind. act. to hope. χαρισθήσομαι fut. ind. pass. χαρίζομαι (# 5919) to give graciously, to grant somebody to someone (Lightfoot; Moule). Pass. suggests that it is God alone who can secure Paul's release, though Paul relies on the prayers of the community to entreat God for this favor (Martin, NCB). ◆ 23 ἀσπάζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet. συναιχμάλωτός (# 5257) fellow captive. ◆ 24 συνεργός (# 5301) fellow worker (s.v. 1). For a discussion of churches in homes in the ancient Christian world s.v. 2.

Hebrews

Hebrews 1

◆ 1 πολυμερῶς (# 4495) adv., in many ways, in many parts. The word points to the fragmentary character of former revelation; it came in multiple segments or portions (Attridge; Weiss). The revelation of God was essentially progressive (EGT). πολυτρόπως (# 4502) adv. in many ways, in various manners. It could refer both to the various geographical locations of the revelation as well as to the various methods of disclosure–direct revelation, dreams, visions, etc.–thus stressing the diversity of God's Word (Buchanan; Westcott; Michel; Attridge). πάλαι (# 4093) formerly, of time. The word describes something completed in the past. Here the thought is of the ancient teachings long since sealed (Westcott). The alliteration of the words w. π is difficult to reproduce in translation, but alliteration was a common practice of that time (Attridge; Lane; Braun). λαλήσας aor. act. part. (temp.) λαλέω (# 3281) to speak; w. dat., to speak to. Aor. indicating antecedent time, "after he had spoken." Aor. points to a completed act. πατράσιν dat. pl. πατήρ (# 4252) father; here, "to the fathers." ἐν τοῖς προφήταις (#1877; 4737) by means of the prophets. The prep. is instr. and could refer to the teaching of inspiration which viewed the prophets as being indwelt by the Holy Spirit (Michel; Westcott). The prep. could also be taken as local, indicating that God spoke in the prophets as His authorized speakers (Weiss). ◆ 2 ἐπ' ἐσχάτου (#2093; 2274)at the end. ἐπ' ἐσχάτου τῶν ἡμερῶν τούτων the last of these days. The rabbinic term indicated the time of the Messiah (SB, 3:617; Buchanan; Hughes; Lane; Attridge). ἐλάλησεν aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Aor. used both of God speaking by the prophets and also His speaking by Christ, indicates that God has finished speaking in both cases (Hughes). Christ is the ultimate Word of God (BBC; s. also DLNT, 111-15). ἐν υἱῷ (#1877; 5626) in one who is a son. The absence of the article fixes attention upon the nature and not upon the personality of the mediator of a new revelation. God spoke to us in one who has this character–that He is Son (Westcott; GGBB, 245). For other examples of this in Heb. s. 3:6; 5:8. ἔθηκεν aor. ind. act. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to appoint. κληρονόμος (# 3101) heir. The word is derived from the term "lot" and referred to a situation in which lots were drawn to divide property or select a winner; the one who drew the lot was the heir. The word came to be used for dividing the property that a father left to his children when he died. Only one son meant only one heir. Christ is the heir of all things precisely because God has only one Son, so only one heir (Buchanan; Hughes; TDNT). ἐποίησεν aor. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to make, to create. αἰών (# 172) age. According to rabbinical use, the word refers not only to the periods of time, but also to the content of the world (Michel; SB, 3:671f; Bruce). ◆ 3 ὤν pres. act. part. (circum.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. The word refers to the absolute and timeless existence (RWP). ἀπαύγασμα (# 575) radiance. The active meaning has the idea of emitting brightness, so it means that the shekinah glory of God radiated from Him. Pass. idea is not so much that of reflection, but rather the radiation through the source of the light. It is as the sun radiates its rays of light (RWP; Hughes; Michel; Westcott; Attridge; Weiss; TDNT). δόξα (# 1518) glory. Here, obj. gen. or gen. of content. It refers to the brilliant radiancy from the person of God (TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT; DLNT, 396-98). χαρακτήρ (# 5917) impression, stamp. It refers to an engraved character or impress made by a die or a seal. It also indicates the characteristic trait or distinctive mark. It was used w. special reference to any distinguishing peculiarity and hence indicated an exact reproduction (Hughes; BAGD; MM; TDNT; GELTS, 513). ὑπόστασις (# 5712) essence, substance, nature, reality (Grässer; s. 11:1; GELTS, 495). Here, gen. of description: "the exact representation of his substance." φέρων pres. act. part. (circum.) φέρω (# 5770) to carry. "He carries all things continually." The concept is dynamic and not static. The Son's work of upholding involves not only support, but also movement. He is the One who carries all things forward on their appointed course (Hughes; Bruce; Michel). Pres. indicates continual action (Attridge). τὰ πάντα (# 4246)all things. ῥήματι dat. sing. ῥῆμα (# 4839) word, spoken word. Dat. of instr., "by means of His word." καθαρισμός (# 2752) cleansing, purification. ποιησάμενος aor. mid. part. (temp.) ποιέω (# 4472) to make. The use of the mid. suggests that Christ Himself in His own person made the purification (Westcott). Aor. points to the completed action. Aor. expresses action which occurred before the main vb. ἐκάθισεν aor. ind. act. καθίζω (# 2767) to sit down, to take one's seat. This indicates that his work is finished. δεξιά (# 1288) right, w. prep. ἐν in a local sense:

"on the right hand." For the concept of Christ sitting at the right hand, s. Eph. 1:20. For a discussion of Christ's exaltation s. DLNT 360-61; BBC; Kistemaker; Hughes; ABD, 5:724. μεγαλωσύνη (# 3488) majesty. ἐν ὑψηλοῖς pl. (# 1877; 5734) high; equivalent to the term "in heaven" (Michel). ◆ 4 τοσοῦτος (# 5537) so great, so much. Dat. of instr. used w. the comp., "by how much more" (RWP). κρείττων (# 3202) comp. ἀγαθός good; comp., better, superior. The word is characteristic of this epistle (13 times) and the idea is superiority in dignity, worth, or advantage, the fundamental idea being power and not goodness (Westcott; Grässer). The following gen. is the object to which the comparison is made–"greater than angels." γενόμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. Part. could be causal. ὅσῳ dat. ὅσος (# 4012) as great, how great, as much, how much. Used as a correlative w. the comp. in the sense, "by as much ... as" (BAGD; RWP). ἄγγελος (# 34) angel. Angels and demons played a significant part in Judaism (AVB, 62-73; DDD, 81-96; Moore, Judaism, 1:401-13; TS, 135-83; TDNT; EDNT; NIDNTT; RAC, 5:53-258; TRE, 9:580-615; Attridge; Grässer; 1 Enoch 40; 64-69; Jub. 2:2; 10:1-14; 1QS 3:20, 21, 24; 4:12; 1QSb 4:25-26; GCDSS, 397). διαφορώτερον comp. διάφορος (# 1427) different; comp. excellent, more excellent. παρ' = παρά (# 4123) than. Prep. w. acc. after a comp. (MT, 251; IBG, 51). κεκληρονόμηκεν perf. ind. act. κληρονομέω (# 3099) to inherit, perf. to have inherited, to be an heir (Buchanan; Michel; TDNT). For a discussion of a ring structure beginning and ending with the Son's exaltation s. John P. Meier, "Structure and Theology in Heb. 1:1-14," Biblica 66 (1985): 168-89. ◆ 5 εἶπεν aor. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. ποτε (# 4537) ever. εἰ pres. ind. act. 2nd. pers. sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. σύ (# 5148) you, emphatic. σήμερον (# 4958) today. A quotation from Ps. 2:7. The day spoken of here is the day of His glorious victory and vindication. The resurrection, ascension, and glorification should be viewed as forming a unity, each one contributing to the exaltation of the Son to transcendental heights of power and dignity (Hughes) For a discussion of the OT quotes, probably from the LXX s. EJH, 121-47; DLNT, 841-50; Leonhard Goppelt, Typos: The Typological Interpretation of the Old Testament in the New (Grand Rapids: Eerdmans, 1982), 161-97. γεγέννηκα perf. ind. act. γεννάω (# 1164) to give birth to, to bear. This begetting is the begetting of the incarnate Son that marks the completion and acceptance of His redeeming mission to our world (Hughes). ἔσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.). (# 1639) The vb. εἰμί w. the prep. εἰς (# 1650) can have the idea of "to serve as ...." (KVS, 65). ◆ 6 ὅταν (# 4020) when, whenever. εἰσαγάγῃ aor. subj. act. εἰσάγω (# 1652) to lead into. The word is probably a Hebraism w. the meaning, "to bring something into the world," referring either to a birth or to the entrance into the fut. world. Here it refers either to the Incarnation or to the enthronement (Michel; Riggenbach). πρωτότοκος (# 4758) firstborn. In this context the word is a title of honor expressing priority in rank (Lane; Michel; TDNT; Hughes; Weiss; TLNT; BBC). οἰκουμένη (# 3876) world, inhabited world. The context requires the word to be understood as the heavenly world of eschatological salvation into which the Son entered at His ascension (Lane). προσκυνησάτωσαν aor. imp. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to fall on the knees before someone, to worship, w. the dat. (TDNT; NIDNTT). ◆ 7 πρός (# 4637) w. acc., to. ποιῶν pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Part. as subst. πνεῦμα (# 4460) wind. λειτουργός (# 3313) minister. The description here may be understood in two ways, either as personification, as when the wind storm and fire do His word, or as referring to real persons; i.e., the angels can take the form of wind or fire (Delitzsch; Hughes; SB, 3:678-79). πῦρ (# 4786) fire. φλόγα acc. sing. φλόξ (# 5825) flame. There are two points the writer makes: (1) angels are changeable and temporal, but the Son is eternal and unchangeable; (2) angels are servants, but the Son is Master (Grässer). In Jewish lit. "angels" serve the Creator, here they serve the Son (EJH, 225; BBC). ◆ 8 ὁ θεός (# 2436) voc., O God. The art. w. the voc. is due to Semitic influence (BG, 11; MT, 34). The Son is called "God" by God (EJH, 228; BTNT, 376) αἰών (# 172) age. Used here in the expression to mean eternal (TDNT). ῥάβδος (# 4811) scepter. εὐθύτης (# 2319) strictness, uprightness. ◆ 9 ἠγάπησας aor. ind. act. 2nd. pers. sing. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. δικαιοσύνη righteousness. (# 1466) ἐμίσησας aor. ind. act. 2nd. per. sing. μισέω (# 3631) to hate. Aor. could apply to the life and ministry of the incarnate Son on earth (Westcott; Hughes; Riggenbach). ἀνομία (# 490) lawlessness. διὰ τοῦτο because of this. ἔχρισεν aor. ind. act. χρίω (# 5987) to anoint. The idea is the crowning of the sovereign w. joy as at the royal banquet (Westcott; TDNT). ἔλαιον (# 1778) oil. ἀγαλλίασις (# 21) joy, gladness. Here, gen. of description indicating the oil which was used on occasions of gladness. παρά (# 4123) more than, above, used in a comp. μέτοχος (# 3581) partner, comrade, colleague. The reference here is not to angels but to believers who will share His reign in the age to come (Kent). ◆ 10 κατ' ἀρχάς (# 2848) at the beginning, in the beginning. ἐθεμελίωσας aor. ind. act. 2nd. pers. sing. θεμελιόω (# 2530) to lay a foundation. εἰσιν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. For the OT quotation s. Heb. 1:10-12. Indirectly predictive "Messianic Prophecy," OTN, 81-94, 106-8. ◆ 11 ἀπολοῦνται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to perish. διαμένεις pres. ind. act. διαμένω (# 1373) to remain, to continue throughout. Pres. w. prep. in compound emphasizes the permanent continual existence (MH, 301f). ἱμάτιον (# 2668) garment. παλαιωθήσονται fut. ind. pass. παλαιόω (# 4096) pass., to grow old, to become old, frequently in the sense of becoming useless (BAGD). ◆ 12 ὡσεί (# 6059) just as. περιβόλαιον (# 4316) that which one wraps around oneself, cloak. The word suggests a costly robe (Westcott). ἑλίξεις fut. ind. act. ἑλίσσω (# 1813) to roll up, to fold together. ἀλλαγήσονται fut. ind. pass. ἀλλάσσω (# 248) to change, to change clothes. εἶ pres. ind. act. 2nd. pers. sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Used in the sense of "remain"; i.e., "but you remain (are) the same." ἔτη nom. pl. ἔτος (# 2291) year. ἐκλείψουσιν fut. ind. act. ἐκλείπω (# 1722) to leave off, to fail. For the prep. in compound s. MH, 309. ◆ 13 εἴρηκεν perf. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. κάθου pres. imp. mid. (dep.) καθίζω s.v. 3. Imp. as an invitation. δεξιός (# 1288) right, right hand; here, "on the right (hand)." The right hand was a place of privileged honor (s. Eph. 1:20; Heb. 1:3). θῶ aor. subj. act. τίθημι (# 5502) to set, to place. ἐχθρός (# 2398) one who actively hates, enemy. ὑποπόδιον (# 5711) footstool, double acc. used w. the vb. (Michel). ποδῶν gen. pl. πούς (# 4546) foot. The figure arose from the oriental custom of the victor putting his foot on the neck of the defeated enemy (N. Lightfoot). ◆ 14 λειτουργικός (# 3312) ministering. The suf. of the word suggests belonging to, pertaining to, w. the characteristic of (MH, 378). διακονία (# 1355) service (TDNT). The rabbinical term, "angel of service or ministry," was used of angels who protected or accompanied a person (SB, 3:608f). ἀποστελλόμενα pres. pass. part. ἀποστέλλω (# 690) to send out, to commission, to send as an authoritative representative (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). διά (# 1328) w. the acc., because of. μέλλοντας pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. The word is used w. the inf. to express the fut. (MKG, 307f). κληρονομεῖν pres. act. inf. κληρονομέω (# 3099) to inherit. Angels ministered on behalf of the one who inherited a greater name ("for those who inherit salvation"). There was a common concept of guardians assigned to the righteous by God (BBC). σωτηρία (# 5401) salvation. Here it is salvation in its ultimate and broadest sense (Michel; TDNT; NIDNTT; NTW, 114f). For the use of the OT by the author of Hebrews s. Lightfoot, 63; BE; Weiss, 171-81; Lane, cxii-cxxiv; esp. EJH; DLNT, 1072-75.

◆ 1 δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. impersonal, it is necessary, used w. the acc. and the inf. The word marks the logical necessity ("we must" [Westcott]). περισσοτέρως (# 4359) adv., more abundantly, more earnestly (BD, 33). The word here could have almost an elative sense, "w. extreme care" (Moffatt). προσέχειν pres. act. inf. προσέχω (# 4668) to give heed to, to give attention to, w. dat. Compl. inf. to the impersonal vb. The word is commonly used of bringing a ship to land (EGT), or to mean "to remain on course" (Weiss). ἀκουσθεῖσιν aor. pass. part. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. παραρυῶμεν aor. pass. subj. παραρρέω (# 4184) to flow by. The word was used to describe a river that flows by a place or flows aside from its normal channel, flooding or escaping it. It was used of something slipping from one's memory, of a ring slipping from one's finger, or of a crumb going down the wrong way. It also indicated a ship drifting away (Hughes; Buchanan; Moffatt; Michel; Westcott; Weiss; BAGD; MM). In Prov. 3:21 (LXX) it means to lose sight of advice and wisdom (Lane). Pass. means to get or to find oneself in a state of flowing or passing by; i.e., referring to an object that requires close attention (Delitzsch). Subj. w. μήποτε (# 3607) in a neg. purp. cl. to express anxiety or apprehension and to ward off something still dependent on the will (BD, 188; GGBB, 676). ◆ 2 λαληθείς aor. pass. part. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Subst. part., "that which was spoken." It refers to the Law of Moses which was given through angels (Weiss; s. Gal. 3:19; Acts 7:38, 53). ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. assuming the reality of the cond. βέβαιος (# 1010) firm, dependable, reliable, guaranteed. The word was used in the papyri in a technical sense for a legal guarantee (BS, 107; BAGD; TDNT; TLNT; s. 1 Cor. 1:6). παράβασις (# 4126) stepping beside, transgression, infringement (Lane). παρακοή (# 4157) hearing beside, disobedience. It implies an unwillingness to listen to the voice of God and relates to the hearing mentioned in v. 1 (Lane). Both expressions here involve an expressed rejection of the divine will (Riggenbach). ἔλαβεν aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. Ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. assuming the reality of the cond. ἔνδικος (# 1899) just, that which conforms to the right. Prep. in compound indicates that the word stands in antithesis to the term ἄδικος (MH, 307). μισθαποδοσία (# 3632) giving back w. payment, a paying back, recompense, retribution. The word indicates a full recompense as punishment (Riggenbach). ◆ 3 ἐκφευξόμεθα fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐκφεύγομαι (# 1767) to flee from, to escape. The rhetorical question used in the apodosis involves an a fortiori argument: "If the earlier message of God is such a serious matter, then how can the readers avoid their just desserts for neglecting what was delivered by the Son?" (Attridge). τηλικαύτης gen. πηλικοῦτος (# 5496) so great, so large, so important. ἀμελήσαντες aor. act. part. ἀμελέω (# 288) to be unconcerned about, to neglect, not to put oneself out, to be indifferent to, to lose interest in, w. gen. (TLNT). Cond. part., "if we neglect." Aor. indicates a logically antecedent action. σωτηρία (# 5401) salvation s. Heb. 1:14. λαβοῦσα aor. act. part. nom. fem. sing. λαμβάνω (# 3281) to take. λαλεῖσθαι pres. pass. inf. λαλέω (# 3284) to speak. Epex. inf. describing the beginning. Pass. here is the divine pass, implying that it is God who spoke (Hughes). ἀρχὴν λαβοῦσα λαλεῖσθαι lit., having received a beginning to be spoken, "having begun to be spoken" (RWP). ἀκουσάντων aor. act. part. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. This came to the author and his contemporaries from those who heard, and probably means that they received it from the ear and eyewitnesses, those who saw and heard the very words of Jesus (Buchanan). This information plainly rules out the possibility of any firsthand apostle or disciple as the writer of our epistle (Hughes). ἐβεβαιώθη aor. pass. ind. βεβαιόω (# 1011) to make firm, to confirm, to guarantee. A t.t. indicating legal security and validity (s.v. 2; TLNT; MM). ◆ 4 συνεπιμαρτυροῦντος pres. act. part. (temp.) συνεπιμαρτυρέω (# 5296) to witness together w. someone, to join in giving additional testimony. Gen. abs. Pres. indicating contemporaneous action, "while God endorsed their witness" (RWP; Lane). σημεῖον (# 4956) sign. The word indicates that the event is not an empty ostentation of power; it is significant in pointing beyond itself to the reality of the mighty hand of God in operation (Hughes; DPL, 875-77; DLNT, 1093-95). τέρας (# 5469) wonder. ποικίλος (# 4476) various, variegated, manifold. δύναμις (# 1539) power, miracle. The word emphasizes the dynamic character of the event, w. particular regard to its outcome or effect (Hughes). μερισμός (# 3536) dividing, distribution. The following gen. could be a subjective gen. ("distribution which the Holy Spirit gives"), or perhaps better obj. gen. ("distribution of the Holy Spirit"); the reference is God's distribution of spiritual gifts to His people (Bruce). κατά (# 2848) w. acc., according to, in accordance w. θέλησις (# 2526) will, willing. The word describes the active exercise of will (Westcott). ◆ 5 ὑπέταξεν aor. ind. act. ὑποτάσσω (# 5718) to subordinate, to subject to one's authority. οἰκουμένη (# 3876) inhabited earth. μέλλουσαν pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. The world to come was considered by the rabbis to be the age of Messiah, the time when the Messiah would rule as king from His throne at Jerusalem (Buchanan; SB, 5:799-976; Michel). The term refers to the coming age, when Christ at His return shall establish His rule as the promised Davidic king (Kent). λαλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Pres. indicates the action in progress, i.e., the subject matter about which he is writing. ◆ 6 διεμαρτύρατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) διαμαρτύρομαι (# 1371) to testify, to solemnly testify, to solemnly declare (MH, 302). For a discussion of the quotations showing the inadequacy of the old order s. George B. Caird, "The Exegetical Method of the Epistle to the Hebrews,"Canadian Journal of Theology 5 (1959): 47ff. πού (# 4543) where, somewhere. It is characteristic of the author that he is not concerned to provide a precise identification of the sources from which he quotes. It is sufficient for him that he is quoting from Holy Scripture, whose inspiration and authority he accepts without question (Hughes). τις (# 5516) someone. μιμνήσκῃ pres. ind. mid. (dep.) 2nd. pers. sing. μιμνήσκομαι (# 3630) to remember, w. gen. ἐπισκέπτῃ pres. ind. mid. (dep.) 2nd. pers. sing. ἐπισκέπτομαι (# 2170) to look upon, to visit, to consider, to watch over. The word is used almost exclusively in the LXX, as in the NT, of a visitation for good (Westcott; GELTS, 174; Attridge). ◆ 7 ἠλάττωσας aor. ind. act. ἐλαττόω (# 1783) to make less, to make lower, to reduce in rank (Buchanan). It could mean to make lower than God, or as the LXX takes it, "lower than the angels, or heavenly beings" (Lane; Donald R. Glenn, "Psalm 8 and Hebrews 2: A Case Study in Biblical Hermeneutics and Biblical Theology," in Walvoord: A Tribute, ed. Donald K. Campbell [Chicago: Moody Press, 1982], 46-47). βραχύς (# 1099) a little. The word could have a temp. force, "for a little while" (Bruce; Grässer). παρ' = παρά (# 4123) w. the acc., than. For the prep. used in a comp. construction, s. 1:4, 9. δόξα (# 1518) glory (TDNT; TLNT). Here instr. dat. ἐστεφάνωσας aor. ind. act. στεφανόω (# 5110) to crown. ◆ 8 ὑπέταξας aor. ind. act. ὑποτάσσω s.v. 5. ὑποκάτω (# 5691) under. ὑποτάξαι aor. act. inf. ὑποτάσσω s.v. 5. Articular inf. is used w. a prep. to express time ("when"). Although the aor. inf. w. the prep. ἐν (# 1877) generally expresses antecedent time, while the pres. inf. expresses contemporaneous time, the context must decide; here it could be translated, "putting everything in subjection" (MT, 145; GGBB, 595). ἀφῆκεν aor. ind. act. ἀφίημι (# 918) to leave out, to omit. ἀνυπότακτος (# 538) not subjected. The verbal adj. here has a pass. sense and can indicate a possibility as well as a reality (Attridge; RWP). οὔπω (# 4037) not yet. The phrase indicates that there will come a time when this is a reality. ὁρῶμεν pres. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ὑποτεταγμένα perf. pass. part. ὑποτάσσω s.v. 5. Compl. part. w. vb. ὁρῶμεν. Perf. emphasizes the completed state or cond. ◆ 9 βραχύ (# 1099) temp., a little while (s.v. 7). παρ' = παρά s.v. 7. ἠλαττωμένον perf. pass. part. ἐλαττόω (# 1783) to make less (s.v. 7). Perf. emphasizes the completed state or condition and that the human nature Christ assumed He still retains (Westcott). βλέπομεν pres. ind. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. πάθημα (# 4077) suffering. δόξα (# 1518) glory (s. 1:3). ἐστεφανωμένον perf. pass. part. στεφανόω s.v. 7. ὅπως (# 3968) in order that. Particle introduces a purp. cl. which is to be taken w. πάθημα (Moffatt; Bruce). χάριτι θεοῦ by the grace of God, instr. dat. For a discussion of the textual variant, χωρὶς θ., s. Michel; TC, 664. ὑπέρ (# 5642) w. the gen., for, for the benefit of. γεύσηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γεύομαι (# 1174) to taste, to taste of, w. gen. The vb. is used in this common idiomatic sense to mean, "to experience something to the full" (Hughes). ◆ 10 ἔπρεπεν impf. ind. act. πρέπω (# 4560) used impersonally, it is fitting, it is appropriate, w. inf. It was appropriate that action taken to help man should include suffering, since suffering is mankind's common lot (Montefiore; Westcott). δι' = διά (# 1328) w. the acc., because of. δι' = διά (# 1328) w. the gen., through. The phrases indicate that the sufferings and death of Jesus are not accidental; they form part of the eternal world purpose of God (Moffatt). ἀγαγόντα (# 72) aor. act. part. ἄγω to lead. Part. could refer to Christ who leads sons into glory, or it could refer to the subject of the inf.: God the Father who leads sons into glory (Hughes, 101f; Michel). Aor. part. could express coincident action ("by bringing in" [MT, 80]), or it could be explained as a proleptic aor. which envisages the work of Christ and its consequences for mankind as a unit (Hughes, 102). ἀρχηγός (# 795) leader, pioneer. In Gr. writings it was used of a hero who founded a city, gave it its name, and became its guardian. It also denoted one who was head of a family or founder of a philosophic school. The term also had a distinct military connotation referring to a commander of an army who went ahead of his men and blazed the trail for them. The idea here is of a leader who opens up a new way (N. Lightfoot; TDNT; EDNT; GELTS, 64; MM; Preisigke; Michel; Weiss; Lane; Attridge; Grässer; J. Julius Scott, "Archegos in the Salvation History of the Epistle to the Hebrews," JETS 29 [1986]: 47-54; George Johnston, "Christ as Archegos," NTS 27 [1980/81]: 381-85; BBC). Acc. is to be taken as the obj. of the inf. τελειῶσαι aor. act. inf. τελειόω (# 5457) to complete, to initiate, to perfect, to qualify. To make Jesus fully qualified as the pioneer of their salvation required passing through suffering (Buchanan; Michel; Weiss; Attridge; Lane; TDNT; EDNT). Christ's perfection may be understood as a vocational process by which He is made complete or fit for His office (Attridge; Moisés Silva, "Perfection and Eschatology in Hebrews," WTJ 39 [1976]: 60-62). ◆ 11 ἁγιάζων pres. act. part. ἁγιάζω (# 39) to sanctify, to consecrate (TDNT; EDNT; NIDNTT). ἁγιαζόμενοι pres. pass. part. ἁγιάζω. With the double use of the vb. there is an emphasis on the action of both the sanctifier and the sanctified. ἑνός gen. εἷς (# 1651) one. ἐξ ἑνός from one, from one source. The one could refer to God, indicating that He is the source (Bruce); or it could refer to Abraham or Adam, indicating the humanity of Christ (Hughes). αἰτία (# 162) cause, reason. δι' ἣν αἰτίαν for this reason, because, since. ἐπαισχύνεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπαισχύνομαι (# 2049) to be ashamed. ◆ 12 ἀπαγγελῶ fut. ind. act. ἀπαγγέλλω (# 550) to proclaim, to announce (NIDNTT). μέσος (# 3545) middle. ἐκκλησία (# 1711) assembly, congregation. In the OT context of Ps. 22:22, it was not the church but the community of friends invited to share in the thanksgiving meal. ὑμνήσω fut. ind. act. ὑμνέω (# 5630) to praise, to sing the praise of someone (AS). The fut. is a Semitic impf. expressing confidence. The psalmist is confident that God will deliver him and promises to recount this deliverance before his friends at a banquet. ◆ 13 ἔσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. πεποιθώς perf. act. part. πείθω (# 4275) to persuade; perf., to be persuaded, to be convinced (s. Phil. 1:6). Perf. part. is used in a periphrastic fut perf. construction (RWP). παιδίον (# 4086) child, little child. ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ◆ 14 ἐπεί (# 2075) since. παιδία pl. (# 4086) children (s.v. 13). It refers to men and women, creatures of flesh and blood (Bruce). κεκοινώνηκεν perf. ind. act. κοινωνέω (# 3125) to share in, w. gen. Perf. describes the constant human situation (Hughes; Westcott). αἵμα (# 135) blood. σαρκός gen. σάρξ (# 4922) flesh. The expression "flesh and blood" was the post-biblical Heb. designation for men or human beings (Delitzsch). παραπλησίως (# 4181) adv., coming near, nearly, resembling, in like manner, likewise (Attridge). μετέσχεν aor. ind. act. μετέχω (# 3576) to have a part in, to share (TLNT; TDNT). Aor. points to the historical event of the Incarnation, when the Son of God assumed this human nature and thus Himself became truly man and so truly one w. mankind (Hughes; VANT, 136-40). αὐτῶν gen. αὐτός (# 899) self; here gen. used as obj. of the vb., referring to flesh and blood. καταργήσῃ aor. subj. act. καταργέω (# 2934) to render inoperative, to nullify, to make idle or ineffective, to render impotent as though no longer existing (Hewitt). The depiction of Jesus as champion (ὁ ἀρχηγός) who crushed the tyrant, who possessed the power of death in order to rescue those whom he had enslaved, may call to mind the exploits of Hercules (Lane). κράτος (# 3197) power, control (TDNT; s. Eph. 1:19). ἔχοντα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. For rabbinical teaching regarding Satan and his angels and their power over death s. Michel; SB 1:144f; Buchanan. Here is a paradox–Jesus suffered and overcame death; the devil, wielding death in his hand, succumbed (Bengel). διάβολος (# 1333) adversary, devil (DDD, 463-73; Grässer). ◆ 15 ἀπαλλάξῃ aor. subj. act. ἀπαλλάσσω (# 557) to change from, to set free from (Grässer). The word was used in the papyri for the release from a position of responsibility; e.g., a marriage contract, the superintendence of land under lease, the release from a municipal office, or the release of a slave (MM; Preisigke; CCFJ, 1:159-61; Weiss. ὅσος (# 4012) as many as (BAGD). φόβῳ dat. sing. φόβος (# 5832) fear. Instr. dat. (RWP). θάνατος (# 2505) death. Here, obj. gen., "fear of death." Dio Chrysostom speaks of the fear of death as being so intense that many have anticipated it, and that tyrants constantly live in this fear (DC, 6:42-45). Epictetus asks, "Where can I go to escape death?" and answers by saying, "I cannot avoid death" (Epictetus, Discourses, 24, 28:9). Seneca says, "When death is feared, the fear is always there" (Ita si timenda mors est, semper timenda est) (Seneca, Epistles, 30:17). For other views of the fear of death in the ancient world s. NW, 2, ii:1084-88; DRU, 1:68-76; Attridge. ζῆν pres. act. inf. ζάω (# 2409) to live.

Inf. as subst. διὰ παντὸς τοῦ ζῆν through the whole of life, all through the living. For the prep. and the inf. here s. IBG, 56; RWP; MT, 144; Attridge. ἔνοχος (# 1944) held in, subject to. ἦσαν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. δουλεία (# 1525) slavery, bondage. ◆ 16 δήπου (# 1327) certainly, surely. ἐπιλαμβάνεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπιλαμβάνομαι (# 2138) to take hold of, to seize, to take to oneself. The word may have in this context the sense of, to help, to assist, to draw someone to oneself to help, to take hold of to help (Bruce; Moffatt; Lane; TDNT; for a discussion of the various meanings and implications of the word s. Hughes). ◆ 17 ὅθεν (# 3854) from there, therefore, wherefore. This seems to be a favorite word of the writer of this epistle (Riggenbach). ὤφειλεν impf. ind. act. ὀφείλω (# 4063) to be obligated ("one must"). The word often implies moral necessity (AS; TDNT). κατὰ πάντα (# 2848; 4246) in every respect. ὁμοιωθῆναι aor. pass. inf. ὁμοιόω (# 3929) to make like; pass., to become like. This likeness is nothing less than complete identification–assimilation, not simulation (Hughes). ἐλεήμων (# 1798) merciful, sympathetic (TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT). γένηται aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. The vb. suggests the notion of a result reached through the action of what we regard as a law (Westcott). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἀρχιερεύς (# 797) high priest. For the term in Judaism s. Michel, 165f; Westcott, 137-41; Attridge, 97-103; SB, 3:696-700; TDNT; NIDNTT; Mikeal C. Parsons, "Son and High Priest: A Study in the Christology of Hebrews," Evangelical Quarterly 60 (1988): 200-208; William R. Loader, Sohn und Hoherpriester: Eine traditionsgeschichtliche Untersuchung zur Christologie des Hebräerbriefes (Neukirchen-Vluyn: Neukirchner Verlag, 1981). τὰ πρὸς τὸν θεόν w. reference to the things that pertain to God; acc. of reference. The expression points to all man's relations towards God (Westcott; Riggenbach). εἰς (# 1650) used w. the articular inf. to express purp. ἱλάσκεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἱλάσκομαι (# 2661) to satisfy, to render well disposed, to conciliate, to propitiate (Hughes; APC, 125-85; TDNT; NIDNTT; Riggenbach). ◆ 18 πέπονθεν perf. ind. act. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. Perf. serves to emphasize that though the temptation Christ suffered in the flesh is a thing of the past, yet its effect–compassion and understanding as He aids us in the hour of our temptation–is permanent (Hughes). πειρασθείς aor. pass. part. πειράζω (# 4279) to test, to tempt (TLNT). Part. describes the manner in which the suffering took place (Moffatt). Aor. points to the completion of the action. δύναται pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. πειραζομένοις pres. pass. part. πειράζω (# 4279) to tempt. Pres. part. points to the continuous action taking place at the time. Part. as subst. Ind. obj. of the following vb. βοηθῆσαι aor. act. inf. βοάω (# 1070) to help, to help someone in need (Michel). Compl. to the main vb., "He is able to help."

Hebrews 3

◆ 1 ὅθεν (# 3854) wherefore, therefore; lit., from which, meaning that the following argument could be deduced from the conclusion reached above (Buchanan). κλῆσις (# 3104) calling. Here gen. w. the word μέτοχοι. Emphatic by its position. ἐπουράνιος (# 2230) heavenly (s. Eph. 1:3). μέτοχος (# 3581) one who shares, partner, associate (TLNT; TDNT; Grässer; RAC, 10:142-52). κατανοήσατε aor. imp. act. κατανοέω (# 2917) to put the mind down on a thing, to fix the mind on something, to consider. The word expresses attention and continuous observation and regard (RWP; Westcott). Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. ἀπόστολος (# 693) one who is commissioned as an authoritative representative, apostle (s. 1 Cor. 1:1; TLNT; EDNT; TDNT; Hughes; Michel; Lane). ἀρχιερέα acc. ἀρχιερεύς (# 797) high priest (s. 2:17). ὁμολογία (# 3934) confession, contract, agreement. It denotes a binding expression of obligation and commitment, the response of faith to the action of God (Lane; Attridge; ECC; Weiss; TDNT; EDNT). ◆ 2 ὄντα pres. act. part. (adj.) masc. acc. sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ποιήσαντι aor. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make. Here the word has the idea, "to appoint." The word could be used of action that one undertakes or states of being that one brings about (BAGD: Hughes; Moffatt). Part. as subst. Dat. of personal interest after the adj. πιστὸν. ◆ 3 πλείονος comp., πολύς (# 4498) great; comp., greater, followed by the gen. of comparison. δόξα (# 1518) glory. παρά (# 4123) than. For the prep. used in a comp. construction s. Heb. 1:4. ἠξίωται perf. ind. pass. ἀξιόω (# 546) to consider worthy. Perf. looks at the state or condition. Pass. could be a theol. pass. indicating that God is the agent. ὅσος (# 4012) how much, as much as. Used in a comp. expression denoting measure and degree (AS). καθ' = κατά (# 2848) according to. Used in the comp. construction w. the meaning, "as much more ... as" (BAGD). πλείονα comp. (# 4498). τιμή (# 5507) honor. οἶκος (# 3875) house, dwelling; here gen. of comp., "than the house." κατασκευάσας aor. act. part. (subst.) κατασκευάζω (# 2941) to equip, to make ready, to construct, to furnish. The word expresses more than the mere construction of the house. It includes the supply of all necessary furniture and equipment and was used of God's creative activity (Westcott; Michel; Attridge; Mary Rose D'Angelo, Moses in the Letter to the Hebrews, SBL Dissertation Series #2 [Missoula, Mont.: Scholars, 1976], 164-77; MM). ◆ 4 κατασκευάζεται pres. ind. pass. κατασκευάζω (# 2941) (s.v. 3). Gnomic pres. indicating that which, as a general rule, always occurs (SMT, 8). θεός (# 2536) God. pred. nom. ("... is God"). The lack of the article w. the pred. nom. emphasizes character or quality (s. John 1:1). ◆ 5 θεράπων (# 2544) server, minister. The word suggests a personal service freely rendered. It denotes both the willing service rendered as well as the relationship between the one serving and the one served. It also emphasizes an honorable and dignified office. In this case it may have been taken over from the LXX as a translation of the Heb. word "servant" (עבד 'ebed) (TDNT; EGT; Hughes; Riggenbach; NIDOTTE, 3:304-9; BBC; DLNT, 777-82). λαληθησομένων fut. pass. part. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. The word indicates that the position of Moses pointed beyond itself to a future and higher revelation (Moffatt; Michel). ◆ 6 Χριστός (# 5986) Anointed One, Messiah, Christ. Subject of the unexpressed pres. vb. "is faithful" (Westcott). ἐσμεν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἡμεῖς nom. pl. ἐγώ (# 1609) we. Emphatic and contrastive. παρρησία (# 4244) saying all, freedom of speech, boldness, confident (Michel; Grässer; Lane; TDNT; TLNT; S.B. Morrow, "Παρρησία and the New Testament," CBQ 44 [1982]: 431-46; GELTS, 361). Because Jesus is a faithful high priest in the service of God, Christians have the right to approach God and can openly acknowledge their faith as the basis of an unshakable hope (Lane). καύχημα (# 3017) boasting. The following gen. ἐλπίδος may be described as a gen. of content or definition. The Christian's hope described is the theme of our boasting or glorying (Hughes). μέχρι (# 3588) w. gen., until. βέβαιος (# 1010) firm; here adverbial acc., firmly. For the variant readings and textual problem here s. TC, 665. κατάσχωμεν aor. subj. act. κατέχω (# 2988) to hold down, to hold fast to. ◆ 7 διό (# 1475) wherefore, therefore. The particle introducing the quotation looks backward as well as forward (Michel). λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἀκούσητε aor. subj. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. where the cond. is considered as possible. ◆ 8 σκληρύνητε pres./aor. subj. act. σκληρύνω (# 5020) to dry out, to dry up, to make hard, to harden (Michel). Both pres. and aor. forms are the same. παραπικρασμός (# 4177) embittering, exasperation, rebellion. The word is a translation of the Heb. name Meribah which in Heb. means "conflict" or "rebellion." κατά (# 2848) w. the acc. used in a temp. sense, at (IBG, 58). πειρασμός (# 4280) test, trial. It is a translation of the Heb. name Massah meaning "tempting" or "testing" (Buchanan; Montefiore; Hughes). ◆ 9 οὗ (# 4023) where, adv. of place. ἐπείρασαν aor. ind. act. πειράζω (# 4279) to try to test, to tempt (TLNT). πατέρες nom. pl. πάτηρ (# 4252) father. Used here to establish a close identity w. the readers. ἐν δοκιμασίᾳ (# 1877; 1508) by temptation, proof, testing; instr. use of the prep. The word implies a testing which is intended to bring out the good (TDNT). εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ◆ 10 τεσσαράκοντα (# 5477) forty. ἔτη acc. pl. ἔτος (# 2291) year, acc. of time. The words "forty years" could be taken either w. what precedes ("your fathers put me to the test and saw my works for forty years"), or it could be taken w. what follows ("for forty years I was provoked") (Hughes). προσώχθισα aor. ind. act. προσωχθίζω (# 4696) to loath, to be burdened down, to be laden w. grief, to be exhausted, to be indignant (Buchanan). The vb. is followed by the dat. πλανῶνται pres. ind. pass. πλανάω (# 4414) to lead astray; pass., to go astray, to wander astray. Iterative pres., "They repeatedly err." ἔγνωσαν aor. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. The word here is not so much the understanding of the revelatory acts of God and His leading as it is obedience to God's command (Riggenbach). ὁδός (# 3847) way; here in the sense of God's demands. ◆ 11 ὡς (# 6055) as, according as. ὤμοσα aor. ind. act. ὀμνύω (# 3923) to swear. ὀργῇ (# 3973) wrath, anger. εἰ (# 1623) if. The word is the translation of the Heb. particle and the equivalent of a strong neg. (MT, 333; MH, 468). This construction is in accord w. the Semitic idiom used in the taking of an oath (Buchanan; Michel; Attridge). εἰσελεύσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to go into. κατάπαυσις (# 2923) rest (TDNT; Michel, 183f; Weiss, 268-73; O. Hofius, Katapausis. Die Vorstellung vom endzeitlichen Ruheort im Hebräerbrief [Tübingen, 1970]; GELTS, 241; Kaiser, 153-75). μου gen. ἐγώ (# 1609) I. Subjective gen., "the rest which I provide." ◆ 12 βλέπετε pres. imp. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see, to see to it, to beware. When the word is followed by the neg. μήποτε (# 3607) and ind., it expresses a warning and fear regarding a pres. inevitable reality, indicating the warning should be taken very seriously (MT, 99; Riggenbach). ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. πονηρός (# 4505) evil, wicked. ἀπιστία (# 602) unbelief; here gen. of quality, indicating that unbelief characterizes the evil heart (Westcott). ἀποστῆναι aor. act. inf. ἀφίστημι (# 923) to fall away, to depart, to leave, to step aside from. Articular inf. w. the prep. ἐν (# 1877) is used here epexegetically to indicate the content of an evil heart (MT, 146; RG, 1073). ζῶντος pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. The construction without the article fixes attention upon the character (Westcott). Pres. part. indicates the unending existence of God. ◆ 13 παρακαλεῖτε pres. imp. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage, to beseech (Attridge; s. Rom. 12:1). Pres. imp. calls for a repeated or continual action. ἑαυτούς acc. pl. ἑαυτοῦ (# 1571) oneself. The reflex. pron. is deliberately used here instead of the reciprocal pron. ἀλλήλων w. the purp. of emphasizing the close unity of the Christian body (Westcott), but it may be that the two pron. are used interchangeably (Hughes). καθ = κατά (# 2848) w. the acc. used distributively. καθ' ἑκάστην ἡμέραν at each day; i.e., every day, daily (IBG, 59; Westcott; Hughes). ἄχρις οὗ (# 948; 4005) as long as, while (RWP). καλεῖται pres. ind. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call. σκληρυνθῇ aor. subj. pass. σκληρύνω (# 5020) to harden (s.v. 8). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a neg. purp. cl. Pass. could perhaps be understood as a pass. of permission ("allow or permit oneself to be hardened"). ἀπάτῃ (# 573) deceitfulness. Here dat. of means used w. a pass. vb. ◆ 14 μέτοχος (# 3581) partner, sharer, partaker. For a discussion of this phrase s. Hughes; Michel. γεγόναμεν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Perf. signifies that the readers have become and consequently now are partakers of Christ (Hughes). ἐάνπερ (# 1570) if at least (Westcott). ὑπόστασις (# 5712) that which underlies, ground, basis. The word then means confidence, assurance, conviction and refers to the reality, essence, or nature of something; or to the groundwork or basis of hope (Bruce; Buchanan; Grässer; Attridge). Here it is the foundation of the Christian's assurance of faith (Weiss). κατάσχωμεν aor. subj. act. κατέχω (# 2988) to hold down, to hold fast. ◆ 15 λέγεσθαι pres. pass. inf. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. Articular inf. w. the prep. ἐν (# 1877) could be temp. or causal (MT, 146). ἀκούσητε pres. subj. act. ἀκούω (# 291) to hear. σκληρύνητε pres./aor. subj. act. σκληρύνω (# 5020) to harden. ◆ 16 τίνες nom. pl. τίς (# 5515) who? Interrogative pron. introducing a rhetorical question. ἀκούσαντες aor. act. part. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Part. could be concessive: "although they had heard." Aor. describes antecedent action. παρεπίκραναν aor. ind. act. παραπικραίνω (# 4176) to provoke, to exasperate, to be disobedient, to rebel (BAGD). ἐξελθόντες aor. act. part. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. ◆ 17 προσώχθισεν aor. ind. act. προσωχθίζω (# 4696) to loathe (s.v. 10). ἁμαρτήσασιν aor. act. part. masc. pl. dat. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. κῶλον (# 3265) body, corpse. ἔπεσεν aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. Const. aor. looking at the process over forty years. ἐρήμῳ dat. sing. ἔρημος (# 2245) desert. Loc. dat. ◆ 18 ὤμοσεν aor. act. ind. ὄμνυμι (# 3923) to swear. εἰσελεύσεσθαι fut. mid. (dep.) inf. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to enter. Inf. in indir. discourse; used in an abbreviated Semitic cond. cl. expressing an oath: "If they shall enter ..." i.e., "they shall surely not enter into...." ἀπειθήσασιν aor. act. part. ἀπείθω (# 578) to be disobedient; unbelief passed into action (Westcott). ◆ 19 βλέπομεν pres. ind. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to watch. ἠδυνήθησαν aor. ind. pass. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. Their exclusion from Canaan was not only a fact but a moral necessity (Westcott). εἰσελθεῖν aor. act. inf. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to enter. ἀπιστία (# 602) unbelief. Used w. the prep. δι' = διά (# 1328) and the acc.: "because of disbelief."

◆ 1 φοβηθῶμεν aor. subj. pass. (dep.) φοβέομαι (# 5828) to be afraid, to fear. Cohortative subj. is used to express a command or excitation in the 1st. pers.: "let us fear." οὖν (# 4036) therefore, drawing the logical implication from the preceding. μήποτε (# 3607) lest. Used after a vb. of fear expressing anxiety, and w. subj. indicating fear of an uncertain thing (MT, 99). καταλειπομένης pres. pass. part. καταλείπω (# 2901) to leave behind; pass., to be left behind. Here the sense is of being left open (Bruce). Gen. abs. Part. could express cause or could be concessive (Riggenbach). ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise (TDNT; NIDNTT; Michel). εἰσελθεῖν aor. act. inf. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to enter, to go into. The word could also have a forensic idea, "to be found" (Michel; Riggenbach). Subj. in a cl. of fear (GGBB, 477). ὑστερηκέναι perf. act. inf. ὑστερέω (# 5728) to fall short, to be late, to come behind, to fall behind. The vb. pictures someone in a company marching together w. others who march faster than he can. He cannot keep up, so he falls behind. Falling behind in religious matters means not being able to fulfill all the demands or commandments, being negligent, failing to qualify or measure up (Buchanan). Perf. marks not only a present or past defeat, but an abiding failure (Westcott). ◆ 2 ἐσμεν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. εὐηγγελισμένοι perf. pass. part. εὐαγγελίζομαι (# 2294) to proclaim good news; pass, to have good news proclaimed to someone. Part. is used to form the periphrastic perf. ind. pass. Perf. emphasizes the completeness of the evangelization that has taken place, and thus leaves no room for any excuse that evangelization had been inadequate or deficient (Hughes). καθάπερ (# 2749) just as. κάκεῖνοι = καὶ ἐκεῖνοι (# 2797) those also. ὠφέλησεν aor. ind. act. ὠφελέω (# 6067) to profit, to be profitable. ἀκοή (# 198) hearing. Here descriptive gen. emphasizes that the word or message is associated w. hearing; the implication is that the message is intended for people to hear and so must be proclaimed (Hughes). συγκεκερασμένους perf. pass. part. συνκεράννυμι (# 5166) to mix together, to blend, to unite. For the textual problem here s. PC; TC, 665; Hughes. ἀκούσασιν aor. act. part. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Aor. part. describes antecedent action. Subst. part. used as ind. obj.: "to those who have heard." ◆ 3 εἰσερχόμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to enter. Although pres. could be used as a futuristic pres., it is better to take it as an expression of a pres. fact (Westcott). Pres. could express the idea, "we are already in process of entering" (Montefiore). πιστεύσαντες aor. act. part. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. εἴρηκεν perf. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. ὤμοσα aor. ind. act. ὄμνυμι (# 3923) to swear, to take an oath. ὀργή (# 3973) anger, wrath. εἰσελεύσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656). For the Semitic expression of the oath implying a strong negative s. 3:11. κατάπαυσις (# 2923) rest. s.v. 3:11. καίτοι (# 2792) used w. the part. expressing a concessive idea: although. καταβολή (# 2856) laying down, foundation. γενηθέντων aor. pass.

Aor. subj. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) to express a prohibition. ◆ 8 Ἰησοῦς (# 2652) Joshua. κατέπαυσεν aor. ind. act. καταπαύω (# 2924) to give rest. Ind. is used here in a 2nd. class cond. cl. expressing that which is contrary to fact. ἐλάλει impf. ind. act. λαλέω (# 4246) to speak. "He would not speak," "he would not be speaking" (RWP). ◆ 9 ἄρα (# 726) so then. The word draws a conclusion from the preceding argument. ἀπολείπεται pres. ind. pass. ἀπολείπω s.v. 6. σαββατισμός (# 4878) sabbath rest. The term stresses the special aspect of festivity and joy, expressed in the adoration and praise of God (Lane; s. also the various essays on the Sabbath in FSLD). λαῷ dat. λαός (# 3295) people. Dat. ind. obj., "for the people of God." ◆ 10 εἰσελθών aor. act. part. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to enter. κατέπαυσεν aor. ind. act. καταπαύω (# 2924) to rest, to cease. ἴδιος (# 2625) one's own. ◆ 11 σπουδάσωμεν aor. subj. act. σπουδάζω (# 5079) to be in a hurry, to make haste, to be in earnest, to concentrate one's energies on the achievement of a goal, to endeavor (Hughes). Subj. is hortatory expressing a command ("let us"). οὖν (# 4036) therefore, drawing a logical conclusion from the preceding. εἰσελθεῖν aor. act. inf. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to enter. Compl. inf. to the preceding main vb., "let us endeavor to enter." ὑπόδειγμα (# 5682) example. The word is used here in the sense of a warning sign (Michel). The word refers not to an example of disobedience, but to an example of falling into destruction as a result of disobedience (BAGD). πέσῃ aor. subj. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἀπείθεια disobedience s.v. 6. ◆ 12 ζῶν pres. act. part. (adj.) ζάω (# 2409) to be alive, living; without the art. expressing the quality. The word is emphatic by its position. ἐνεργής (# 1921) energetic, active, productive. The word is used of activity that produces results and often for divine activity that produces results (MNTW, 46ff; TDNT). τομώτερος comp. τομός (# 5533) sharp; comp., sharper. ὑπέρ (# 5642) than. The word is used in a comp. construction: sharper beyond, sharper than. μάχαιρα (# 3479) sword (s. Eph. 6:17). πᾶσαν acc. sing. πᾶς (# 4246) any; pl., all. δίστομος (# 1492) double-edged, two-edged. διϊκνούμενος pres. mid. part. διϊκνέομαι (# 1459) to pass through, to pierce, to penetrate (cf. Exod. 26:28; LXX). μερισμός (# 3536) dividing. ἁρμός (# 765) joint. μυελός (# 3678) marrow. The expressions serve to convey effectively the notion of the extreme penetrative power of the word of God, to the very core of one's being (Hughes; Lane). κριτικός (# 3217) capable of making a decision, discerning, able to judge, followed by the obj. gen. ἐνθύμησις (# 1927) thought, reflection, feelings, idea (BAGD). The word refers to the action of the affections and is related to the will (Westcott; Michel). ἔννοια (# 1936) thought, intent. The word refers to the action of reason (Westcott). ◆ 13 κτίσις (# 3232) creature. ἀφανής (# 905) hidden, not manifest. γυμνός (# 1218) naked, open. τετραχηλισμένα perf. pass. part. τραχηλίζω (# 5548) to lay bear, to expose. The figure of speech behind the word is not clear. It has been suggested that it refers to bending back the neck of a sacrificial victim to make ready for the final stroke; or it may refer to the wrestler's art of seizing one by the throat, rendering him limp and powerless. For these suggestions w. references to usage s. Riggenbach; Michel; Hughes; Bruce; Delitzsch; Grässer; Weiss; Attridge. πρὸς ὃν ἡμῖν ὁ λόγος w. whom our matter is, w. whom our final reckoning has to be made (Bruce). For the meaning, "w. reference to which our message applies," "which word applies to us," as well as a discussion of other interpretations s. Buchanan. ◆ 14 ἔχοντες pres. act. part. (causal) ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. Pres. indicates contemporaneous action to the main vb. ἀρχιερεύς (# 797) high priest. This could be a contrast w. the high priest of the OT, or w. the high priest of Judaism at the time of writing (BBC; DLNT, 962-67). μέγας (# 3489) great, indicating might (Grässer). διεληλυθότα perf. act. part. διέρχομαι (# 1451) to pass through, to go through. Perf. indicates that he has passed through the heavens and is still there. κρατῶμεν pres. subj. act. κρατέω (# 3195) to be in control of, to exercise power over, to hold to, to hold fast, followed by the gen. ὁμολογία (# 3934) confession, profession. ◆ 15 ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. δυνάμενον pres.

mid. (dep.) part. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. συμπαθῆσαι aor. act. inf. συμπαθέω (# 5217) to share the experience of someone, to sympathize w. someone. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. The word is not to be understood in a psychological, but in an existential sense. The exalted one suffers together w. the weakness of the one tempted (Michel). ἀσθένεια (# 819) weakness. πεπειρασμένον perf. pass. part. πειράζω (# 4279) to tempt, to test, to try. Perf. emphasizes the completed state and continuing results. ὁμοιότης (# 3928) likeness. The word emphasizes exact correspondence (Michel; GELTS, 332; TDNT). ◆ 16 προσερχώμεθα pres. subj. mid. (dep.) προσέρχομαι (# 4665) to come to, to draw near. The word was used in the LXX for the priestly approach to God in service (Westcott; GELTS, 400). Cohortative subj., "let us always come near." Pres. emphasizes that the privilege is always available. παρρησία (# 4244) speaking all things, boldness, confidence, assurance (s. 3:6; TLNT). τῷ θρόνῳ τῆς χάριτος throne of grace; i.e., a throne characterized by grace. λάβωμεν aor. subj. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. Subj. used to express purp. ἔλεος (# 1799) mercy, compassion, compassionate help (TDNT; TLNT; s. 1 Tim. 1:2). εὕρωμεν aor. subj. act. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. εὔκαιρος (# 2322) convenient, good time, well timed; at the right time, at the right moment (Delitzsch; Michel; Preisigke; MM; TLNT; GELTS, 186; Luke 22:6). Josephus uses the word of Herod the Great waiting for the right time to talk to his sons about who would succeed him (Jos., Ant. 16:80; for other examples s. CCFJ, 2:232). βοήθεια (# 1069) help, help given to one in need (s. 2:18).

◆ 1 γάρ (# 1142) for. It introduces the grounds for the preceding and gives an explanation of how Christ was tried (Attridge). λαμβανόμενος pres. pass. part. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. καθίσταται pres. ind. pass. καθίστημι (# 2770) to constitute, to appoint. Pass. implies that he does not appoint himself (Hughes). Adj. part. without the art. stresses the character. Gnomic pres. referring to that which is always true. τὰ πρὸς τὸν θεόν in reference to things pertaining to God, in reference to things in relation to God. προσφέρῃ pres. subj. act. προσφέρω (# 4712) to carry to, to offer. The word was used in a religious sense of bringing an offering or sacrifice to God. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 1142) to express purp. δῶρον (# 1565) gift. θυσία (# 2602) sacrifice. The expressions are best understood here as a general description of the offerings over which the high priest officiated (Hughes; DLNT, 1069-72). ◆ 2 μετριοπαθεῖν pres. act. inf. μετριοπαθέω (# 3584) to moderate one's feelings, to have feelings in the right measure. The word was used in Aristotelian philosophical tradition in the sense of moderating one's feelings or passions so as to avoid excess, either of enthusiasm or impassivity. The word indicates that an earthly high priest is not to pass over the sin of his passion and pity for the sinner but rather to have a controlled feeling of sympathy (Michel; Buchanan; Hughes). It indicates that compassion or sympathy is innate to the priest's nature (TLNT). Compl. inf. to the following part. δυνάμενος pres. mid. (dep) part. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. Adj. part. used to describe the character of one who is taken or appointed to be a high priest. ἀγνοοῦσιν pres. act. part. dat. masc. pl. ἀγνοέω (# 51) to be without understanding, to be ignorant. πλανωμένοις pres. pass. part. πλανάω (# 4414) to go astray, to wander (BAGD). The two parts. used w. a single article refer to a single class or category of those sinning; i.e., those who erred through ignorance (N. Lightfoot; Monteriore; Westcott). περίκειται pres. ind. pass. περίκειμαι (# 4329) to be surrounded by, to be encompassed by. It is like a millstone around his neck (Mark 9:42; Luke 17:2), or like a chain around him (Acts 28:20) (RWP). ἀσθένεια (# 819) weakness. ◆ 3 ὀφείλει pres. ind. act. ὀφείλω (# 4053) to be obligated. The word speaks of moral obligation; i.e., "he must," "he is bound" in the very nature of things, in virtue of his constitution and of his office (Westcott). Gnomic pres., indicating that which is always true (SMT, 8). καθώς (# 2777) just as, as. προσφέρειν pres. act. inf. προσφέρω (# 4712) to offer (s.v. 1). ◆ 4 τιμή (# 5507) honor. The word was used in Josephus to describe the honor of the office of high priest (Josephus, Ant., 3:188; Michel). καλούμενος pres. pass. part. καλέω (# 2813) to call. καθώσπερ (# 2778) just as. The author may have had in mind the leading sacerdotal families of Jerusalem in his day, who were not descendants of Aaron but had sought for themselves the high priestly office and been elevated to it by Herod the Great. Such men, though approved by the state, were not approved by God (Hughes). ◆ 5 ἐδόξασεν aor. ind. act. δοξάζω (# 1519) to glorify. γενηθῆναι aor. pass. (dep.) inf. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Inf. may be epex. explaining the main vb.; i.e., "Christ did not take for Himself the honor of becoming high priest." Or it may be used to express result, "that He might become a high priest" (IBG, 127). λαλήσας aor. act. part. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Part. as subst. Aor. indicates the completed action of the event. εἶ pres. act. ind. 2nd. pers. sing. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. γεγέννηκα perf. ind. act. γεννάω (# 1164) to beget, to become the father of. Perf. indicates the state or condition. ◆ 6 ἐν ἑτέρῳ (# 1877; 2283) in another place. λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. τάξις (# 5423) rank, order. ◆ 7 δέησις (# 1255) prayer. ἱκετηρία (# 2656) supplication, petition. The word properly denotes an olive branch entwined w. wool borne by suppliants. The olive branch was the sign of the suppliant (Westcott; BAGD; MM; Attridge; TDNT). δυνάμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able. σῴζειν pres. act.

inf. σώζω (# 5392) to save. δάκρυον (# 1232) tear. Later rabbinic piety identified three kinds of prayers; i.e., entreaty, crying, and tears. It is said that entreaty is offered in a quiet voice, crying w. a raised voice, but tears are higher than all (Moffatt). προσενέγκας aor. act. part. (adj.) προσφέρω to offer s.v. 1. εἰσακουσθείς aor. pass. part. (adj.) εἰσακούω (# 1653) to hear, to answer; pass., to be heard. ἀπό (# 608) from; to be understood here in the sense of "arising from," "as the result of" (Hughes). εὐλάβεια (# 2325) godly fear. The word marks that careful and watchful reverence that pays regard to every circumstance (Westcott; Michel; for various interpretations of the passage s. Hughes; Bruce). ◆ 8 καίπερ (# 2788) w. the part., although. ὤν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Concessive part. υἱός (# 5626) son; the honored position as the heir and future owner (s. Heb 1:2). ἔμαθεν aor. ind. act. μανθάνω (# 3443) to learn. Discipline–even physical–was an essential part of Greek education (BBC). ἀφ' ὧν = ἀπὸ τούτων ἅ from these things which. ἔπαθεν aor. ind. act. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. ὑπακοή (# 5633) obedience. The article indicates the particular obedience required of him in the days of his flesh (EGT). ◆ 9 τελειωθείς aor. pass. part. τελειόω (# 5457) to complete, to perfect. Part. could be temp. or causal. His perfection consisted in the retention of his integrity in the face of every kind of assault, thereby establishing his integrity (Hughes; for a study of this word and its contextual backgrounds s. Michel; TDNT; A. Wikgren, "Patterns of Perfection in the Epistle to the Hebrews," NTS 6 [1960]: 159-67). ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ὑπακούουσιν pres. act. part. ὑπακούω (# 5634) to obey, to be obedient. αἴτιος (# 165) cause, reason, author. For various examples of the word esp. from Philo s. Bruce; N. Lightfoot; Westcott; Attridge; NW, 2, ii:1105-6. ◆ 10 προσαγορευθείς aor. pass. part. προσαγορεύω (# 4641) to designate, to greet, to salute, to hail. The word contains the idea of a formal and solemn ascription of a title (BAGD; MM; EGT; Westcott; for a milder sense of the word–"mention" or "greet"–s. NDIEC, 1:61-62; 64-66; 4:245-50). κατὰ τὴν τάξιν after the order of. ◆ 11 περὶ οὗ (# 4309; 4005) concerning whom, concerning which. The author refers to the priesthood of Christ in the order of Melchizedek (Hughes). For a discussion s. BTNT, 380-93; ABD 4:684-88; DDD, 1047-53; DLNT, 729-31. ἡμῖν dat. pl. ἐγώ (# 1609) I. Here, "to us," "for us." Dat. indicates the obligation, what it is incumbent on us to undertake (EGT). δυσερμήνευτος (# 1549) difficult to explain, difficult to interpret, hard to explain (Moffatt; Michel; EGT). λέγειν pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Epex. inf. explaining the adj. νωθρός (# 3821) dull, slow, sluggish. The word was used of the numbed limbs of a sick lion (EGT). In the LXX it is used of one who is lazy (GELTS, 320; Prov. 22:29; TLNT). In the papyri the corresponding vb. is used of sickness (MM). γεγόνατε perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. It is not a question of what they are by nature, but of what they have become by default, the implication being that this was not the case w. them originally (Hughes). Perf. signifies the state or condition. ἀκοαῖς dat. pl. ἀκοή (# 198) hearing; dat. of reference, "in reference to hearing." ◆ 12 ὀφείλοντες pres. act. part. ὀφείλω (# 4053) to be obligated, one must. Concessive part., "although you are obligated." εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. διὰ τὸν χρόνον (# 1328; 5989) because of the time. Because of the length of time that they had been believers, they should have made progress in their religious condition (Grässer). χρείαν ἔχετε you have need. διδάσκειν pres. act. inf. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. Articular inf. w. gen., indicating the area of need: "you have need that someone teach you." στοιχεῖον (# 5122) basic element (Michel; TDNT). ἀρχή (# 794) beginning. Here, gen. of definition (Bruce) or descriptive gen. ("original elements"). Here it denotes the foundational teaching (Spicq; EGT). τῶν λογίων τοῦ θεοῦ the oracles of God. The phrase might refer to the new revelation given by Christ to His apostles; but it more naturally seems to refer to the collected writings of the OT (Westcott). γεγόνατε perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. χρείαν ἔχοντες having need. The following gen. indicates the area of need. γάλα (# 1128) milk. The word can be compared to the rabbinical term "suckling," referring to young students (EGT; Spicq; TDNT; DLNT, 736-38). στερεός (# 5104) solid. τροφή (# 5575) food. ◆ 13 μετέχων pres. act. part. μετέχω (# 3576) to partake of, to partake, followed by the gen. Used here of eating and drinking (BAGD). Subst. use of the part. w. πᾶς (# 4246) to emphasize a defining trait: "any one who partakes." ἄπειρος (# 586) unskilled. It describes a person who lacks experience, is untried, or ignorant (Buchanan). λόγου δικαιοσύνης word of righteousness. The phrase has been taken to refer to an infant's inability to speak correctly (Riggenbach), or in the sense of the righteousness of Christ imputed to the believer (Hughes). ◆ 14 τέλειος (# 5455) perfect, mature. It refers to those who should assume adult responsibilities. The author is using terms of human development to describe the readers' development in faith (Buchanan; BBC; for a parallel in the DSS s. 1QS 1:10-11). ἕξις (# 2011) habit. It refers to a habit of body or mind indicating not the process but the result; the condition, produced by past exercise, is now habitual, the disposition of character (EGT; Westcott; Spicq; Attridge). It could be taken as referring to the ability gained through exercise (Weiss). αἰσθητήριον (# 152) faculty, sense organ like seeing, tasting, smelling, hearing (Attridge; NW, 2, ii:1110-11). Used here of spiritual sensitivity (Hughes). γεγυμνασμένα perf. pass. part. γυμνάζω (# 1214) to exercise, to train by exercise. The word gives an athletic image of exercising naked (Attridge). ἐχόντων pres. act. part. (adj.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. διάκρισις (# 1360) distinguishing, deciding, making a judgment between two things. The goal of the training is distinguishing good and evil (Attridge). For the force of the prep. in compound s. MH, 303. Because the readers had been believers for a time, they should have known that to return to Judaism was a bad choice–they would not be able to go on to maturity! S. Barnabas Lindars, "The Rhetorical Structure of Hebrews," NTS 35 (1989): 382-406; esp. 384-90.

◆ 1 διό (# 1475) therefore. ἀφέντες aor. act. part. ἀφίημι (# 918) to leave. The part. could be means, "in that we leave." The leaving does not mean to despise or abandon the elementary doctrines. The point is that the beginning is not a stopping place; it is the door to progress and the springboard to achievement (Hughes). τὸν ... τοῦ Χριστοῦ λόγον the word of the beginning of Christ. The gen. τοῦ Χριστοῦ could be subjective gen.; i.e., Christ's initial teachings (Buchanan; Hughes; J.C. Adam, "Exegesis of Hebrews 6:1f," NTS 13 [1967]: 378-85). τῆς ἀρχῆς (# 794) of the beginning, elementary. τελειότης (# 5456) perfection, maturity (s. 5:14). The word goes back to the motif of babes and adults (5:12-14), and denotes that maturity of thought and commitment the writer attempts to inculcate in the addressees (Attridge). φερώμεθα pres. subj. pass. φέρω (# 5770) to carry; pass., to be carried. Cohortative subj., "let us be carried." The pass. gives the thought of personal surrender to an active influence (Westcott). It is not a matter of the learners being carried by their instructors, but of both being carried forward together by God. It is a divine pass. implying the agency of God (Hughes; BG, 76). θεμέλιον (# 2529) foundation, basis. καταβαλλόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. καταβάλλω (# 2850) to cast down; mid., to lay a foundation. μετάνοια (# 3567) change of mind, repentance. Here, gen. of description or gen. of apposition. νεκρός (# 3738) dead. ἔργον (# 2240) work, deed. ◆ 2 βαπτισμῶν (# 968) washing. The pl. here evidently refers to the various washing to be found in Judaism (BBC). For this as well as evidence that the matters here refer primarily to Judaism s. J.C. Adam cited in v. 1; Lane; for various interpretations of the pl. s. Hughes. διδαχή (# 1439) teaching. ἐπίθεσις (# 2120) placing upon, laying on. For the Jewish teaching regarding the laying on the hands s. SB, 2:647f; TDNT. ἀνάστασις (# 414) resurrection. κρίμα (# 3210) judgment. ◆ 3 ποιήσομεν fut. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ἐάνπερ (# 351) if. The 2nd. particle used w. the cond. particle emphasizes that the action is in spite of opposition: "if, in spite of opposition, God permits," if indeed, if after all (RG, 1154; BD, 237). ἐπιτρέπῃ pres. subj. act. ἐπιτρέπω (# 2205) to allow, to permit. ◆ 4 ἀδύνατος (# 105) impossible. The word is forceful, emphatic, and the affirmation is unequivocal (Attridge; TLNT; Spicq). The adj. is used w. the inf. that occurs in v. 6. ἅπαξ (# 562) once, once for all. φωτισθέντας aor. pass. part. φωτίζω (# 5894) to enlighten, to illuminate. Aor. looks at the completed event. Illumination indicates that God gives understanding and spiritual light (Michel; Hughes; BBC; HSB s. for the different options BTNT). Temp. part. ("after"). γευσαμένους aor. mid. (dep.) part. γεύομαι (# 1174) to taste of, to taste, w. gen. The vb. expresses a real and conscious enjoyment of the blessings apprehended in their true character (Westcott; Hughes). Temp. part. ("after"). δωρεά (# 1561) gift. ἐπουράνιος (# 2230) heavenly (s. Eph. 1:3). μέτοχος (# 3581) sharer, participant. γενηθέντας aor. pass. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Temp. part. ("after"). ◆ 5 γευσαμένους aor. mid. (dep.) part. γεύομαι to taste of (s.v. 4). ῥῆμα (# 4839) that which is spoken, word. μέλλοντος pres. act. part. adj. μέλλω (# 3516) to about to, coming. ◆ 6 παραπεσόντας aor. act. part. (cond.) παραπίπτω (# 4178) to fall beside, to go astray, to miss; later in a theological use, to fall away, to commit apostasy (BAGD; GELTS, 355). It implies nothing of their previous spiritual condition. It only suggests that they are going astray or missing what Christ has provided (Hughes; BBC; DLNT, 73-76). This is parallel to all the preceding parts. It could refer to those who might turn back to Judaism and try to make a "new start" in order to avoid persecution. ἀνακαινίζειν pres. act. inf. ἀνακαινίζω (# 362) to renew again, to make new again. Epex. inf. explaining what is impossible. εἰς (# 1650) unto. Prep. gives the direction or the goal. ἀνασταυροῦντας pres. act. part. acc. masc. pl. ἀνασταυρόω (# 416) to crucify again, to lift up on a cross. Causal part. indicates why it is impossible for such people to repent and make a new beginning (Hughes; Bruce). For the force of the prep. in compound, meaning "again" s. MH, 295; (or perhaps better "up," in the sense of "to put up on a stake" [Lindars, "The Rhetorical Structure of Hebrews," NTS 35 (1989): 37; Braun; Weiss; CCFJ, 1:109]). ἑαυτοῖς dat. pl. ἑαυτός (# 1571) oneself; dat. of advantage, "for themselves." παραδειγματίζοντας pres. act. part. παραδειγματίζω (# 4136) to expose publicly, to make a public example of, to expose to disgrace (RWP; BAGD; Weiss). If the readers were to return again to Judaism, no possibility existed for them to begin their spiritual life anew. This would require a recrucifixion of Christ, putting Him to open shame. For this reason they must continue toward maturity despite the difficulties, problems, and persecutions that attend their walk. ◆ 7 πιοῦσα aor. act. part. (adj.) πίνω (# 4403) to drink. Gnomic aor. ἐρχόμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. Iterat. pers. ὑετός (# 5624) rain. τίκτουσα pres. act. part. τίκτω (# 5503) to bear, to bring forth, to produce. βοτάνη (# 1083) vegetation, green plants. εὔθετος (# 2310) well-suited, conveniently placed, suitable, useable (BAGD). δι' = δία (# 1328) w. acc., because of, on whose account. The owners are intended or it refers to those whom the owners meant to supply (EGT). γεωργεῖται pres. ind. pass. γεωργέω (# 1175) to cultivate. μεταλαμβάνει pres. ind. act. μεταλαμβάνω (# 3561) to receive w. someone, to partake, to share in. Gnomic. pres. ◆ 8 ἐκφέρουσα pres. act. part. ἐκφέρω (# 1766) to carry out, to bring forth, to produce. Part. could be cond., "if it produces." ἄκανθα (# 180) thorn. τρίβολος (# 5560) thistle; lit., "three-pointed." For the use of these terms in the LXX s. EGT; GELTS, 480; GELRS, 295. ἀδόκιμος (# 99) disapproved, rejected after examination (s. 1 Cor. 9:27). κατάρα (# 2932) curse. ἐγγύς (# 1584) near; "nigh unto a curse," in Gen. 3:17ff. Thorns and thistles follow the cursing of the land for man's sake (Bruce). καῦσις (# 3011) burning. ◆ 9 πεπείσμεθα perf. ind. pass. πείθω (# 4275) to persuade; pass., to be persuaded; perf., to have confidence (s. Phil. 1:6). κρείσσονα (# 3202) pl. comp. ἀγαθός good; comp., better. "Better things." ἐχόμενα pres. mid. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Mid. to hold oneself fast, to belong to, to accompany. The mid. is used of inner belonging and close association; the "to" of belonging and the "w." of association are expressed by the gen. (BAGD). εἰ καί (# 1623; 2779) if also, although. The words introduce a concessive condition of the 1st. class (RWP). λαλοῦμεν pres. ind. act. λαλέω (# 4246) to speak. ◆ 10 ἐπιλαθέσθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. ἐπιλανθάνομαι (# 2140) to forget, w. the gen. Epex. inf. explaining the word ἄδικος. ἐνεδείξασθε aor. ind. mid. ἐνδείκνυμι (# 1892) to demonstrate. The prep. in compound suggests more than the simplest demonstration–laying the index finger, as it were, on the object (MH, 305). εἰς (# 1650) for. This implies that their coming to the assistance of their brethren is evidence of their willingness to identify themselves w. the stigma attached to the name of Jesus, and thus of the genuineness of their love for Him (Hughes). διακονήσαντες aor. act. part. διακονέω (# 1354) to minister, to serve, perhaps to offer financial help (BBC). διακονοῦντες pres. act. part. διακονέω. Pres. part. emphasizes the continuous action going on at the pres. time. ◆ 11 ἐπιθυμοῦμεν pres. ind. act. ἐπιθυμέω (# 2121) to long for, to yearn for, to give a strong desire (Attridge). ἕκαστος (# 1667) each one. αὐτός (# 899) the same. σπουδή (# 5082) earnestness, endeavor, diligence, great zeal (Attridge). ἐνδείκνυσθαι pres. mid. inf. ἐνδείκνυμι s.v. 10. Inf. expresses the object of what is desired. πληροφορία (# 4443) fullness, full assurance (TLNT; MM; Michel). ◆ 12 νωθρός (# 3821) dull (s. 5:11). γένησθε aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. Subj. in a neg. purp. cl. μιμητής (# 3629) imitator. διά (# 1328) w. gen., through. μακροθυμία (# 3429) longsuffering, patience, patient endurance (s. Gal. 5:22; Rom. 2:4). κληρονομούντων pres. act. part. κληρονομέω (# 3099) to inherit. Part. as subst. ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise. ◆ 13 ἐπαγγειλάμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἐπαγγέλομαι (# 2040) to promise, to make a promise. Temp. part., contemporaneous action, "when God promised." For this concept s. DLNT, 967-70; C. Rose, "Verheissung und Erfüllung: Zum Verständnis von ἐπαγγελία im Hebräerbrief,"Biblische Zeitschrift 33 (1989): 178-91; R. Worley, "God's Faithfulness to Promise: The Hortatory Use of Commisive Language in Hebrews," (Ph. D. dissertation, Yale University, 1981). ἐπεί (# 2075) since, because. εἶχεν aor. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have μείζων (# 3505) greater. ὀμόσαι aor. act. inf. ὀμνύω (# 3923) to swear by followed by the prep. καθ' = κατά (# 2848) w. the gen. ὤμοσεν aor. ind. act. (# 3505) The fact that God swore by Himself indicates that He binds Himself to His word by His eternal person (Cleon Rogers, "The Covenant with Abraham and Its Historical Setting," Bib Sac 127 [1970]: 214-56; Michel; Buchanan; Attridge; Philo, The Sacrifices of Abel and Cain, 91-94; BBC). Concerning God's oath Philo says, "And it is so that while with us the oath gives warrant for our sincerity, it is itself guaranteed by God. For the oath does not make God trustworthy; it is God that assures the oath. Why then did it seem well ... to represent God as binding Himself by an oath? It was to convince created man of his weakness and to accompany conviction with help and comfort" (Philo, The Sacrifices of Abel and Cain, 93-94). ◆ 14 λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Used as quotation marks for dir. discourse. μήν (# 3605) surely. εὐλογῶν pres. act. part. εὐλογέω (# 2328) to bless. εὐλογήσω fut. ind. act. εὐλογέω. Part. and the finite vb. are used as a translation of the Heb. inf. abs., giving emphasis and certainty to the expression; "I shall certainly bless you" (BG, 128; BD, 218). πληθύνων pres. act. part. πληθύνω (# 4437) to increase, to multiply. πληθυνῶ fut. ind. act. πληθύνω. ◆ 15 μακροθυμήσας aor. act. part. μακροθυμέω (# 3428) to endure patiently, to be longsuffering (s. Gal. 5:22). ἐπέτυχεν aor. ind. act. ἐπιτυγχάνω (# 2209) w. gen., to arrive at, to obtain. ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise. ◆ 16 ὀμνύουσιν pres. ind. act. ὀμνύω (# 3923) to swear. Gnomic pres. ἀντιλογία (# 517) controversy, dispute, contradiction (EGT). πέρας (# 4306) end, boundary; "(as) an end of all disputing" (BAGD). βεβαίωσις (# 1012) confirming, confirmation, legal guarantee. The word was a technical expression for a legal guarantee (BS, 104-9; TDNT; MM; Hughes). ὁ ὅρκος (# 3992) oath. W. the article the oath just mentioned, the oath God swore to Abraham. ◆ 17 ἐν ᾧ (# 1877; 4005) in which, wherefore, wherein, i.e., in this method of appeal to remove all doubt and gainsaying (Westcott; EGT). περισσότερον (# 4358) adv., more abundantly, more convincingly. It is probably best to take the adv. in its emphatic and elative sense,

"especially" (Hughes). βουλόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. βούλομαι (# 1086) to purpose, to will, w. inf. ἐπιδεῖξαι aor. act. inf. ἐπιδείκνυμι (# 2109) to point out, to demonstrate. Compl. inf. to the preceding part.: "desiring to demonstrate." Prep. in compound may be directive (MH, 312), or it may suggest, "to show in addition" (RWP). κληρονόμοις dat. pl. κληρονόμος (# 3101) heir. Here, dat. ind. obj. ἀμετάθετος (# 292) not able to be removed, unchangeable, immutable. The word belongs to the legal terminology of the time and signifies a ruling or contract incapable of being set aside or annulled. Here it refers to God's irrevocable purpose as expressed in the promise and confirmed by the oath (Hughes). ἐμεσίτευσεν aor. ind. act. μεσιτεύω (# 3541) to intervene, to act as a mediator, sponsor, or surety. Intransitively it is used to pledge oneself as surety (RWP; Riggenbach; Michel). ὅρκος (# 3992) oath (BBC). ◆ 18 πρᾶγμα (# 4547) thing, matter. ἀμετάθετος unchangeable. ἀδύνατος (# 105) impossible. ψεύσασθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. ψεύδομαι (# 6017) to lie. ἔχωμεν pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl. καταφυγόντες aor. act. part. καταφύγω (# 2966) to flee, to flee for refuge. In the LXX (Deut. 4:42; 19:5; Josh. 20:9) used for fleeing from the avenger to the asylum of the cities of refuge (EGT). κρατῆσαι aor. act. inf. κρατέω (# 3195) to hold fast, to seize. The idea is to lay hold on and cling to that which has been taken (Westcott). Inf. expresses either purp. or result. The obj. of the vb. is in the gen. ἐλπίδος (# 1828) hope (TDNT; EH). προκειμένης pres. mid. (dep.) part. πρόκειμαι (# 4618) to set before, to lie before. ◆ 19 ἄγκυρα (# 46) anchor (SSAW, 250-58). In the Gr. Hellenistic world the anchor represented hope (Moffatt; EGT; Michel; RAC, 1:440-43; BBC). ἀσφαλής (# 855) safe. The word indicates what is outwardly safe (Michel). βεβαίαν fem. acc. βέβαιος (# 1010) firm, established, steadfast. The word indicates what is firm within itself (Michel; TLNT). εἰσερχομένην pres. mid. (dep.) part. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to go into. ἐσώτερον (# 2278) within, inside of. καταπέτασμα (# 2925) curtain, veil. The reference is to the Holy of Holies (Hughes; Michel; Weiss). Clearly the veil is understood primarily as enclosing the presence of God (Attridge). ◆ 20 ὅπου (# 3963) where. πρόδρομος (# 4596) one who runs before, forerunner. The word was used esp. of the men or troops which were sent to explore in advance of an army or firstfruits (Westcott; Bruce; Spicq; BBC). εἰσῆλθεν aor. ind. act. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to go into. τάξις (# 5423) order. For literature and a discussion of the priesthood of Melchizedek, s. Hughes; Lane; Weiss; Attridge; ABD, 4:684-86; Bruce Demarest, A History of Interpretation of Hebrews 7:1-10 from the Reformation to the Present (Tübingen: Mohr, 1976); NIDOTTE, 4:934-36; DLNT, 129-31.

◆ 1 οὗτος (# 4047) this one. ὕψιστος (# 5736) superl., highest, most high. In this case, the most high God was not the title of some heathen deity, but the same sovereign God whom Abraham worshipped; used in the LXX of God (Hughes; Attridge; Lane). συναντήσας aor. act. part. (subst.) συναντάω (# 5267) to meet. ὑποστρέφοντι pres. act. part. (temp.) ὑποστρέφω (# 5715) to return. Dat. here is used because the vb. συναντήσας takes its object in the dat. κοπή (# 3158) slaughter; here defeat or defeating (BAGD; Bruce; EGT). εὐλογήσας aor. act. part. (subst.) εὐλογέω (# 2328) to bless. ◆ 2 ᾧ καί to whom also. δεκάτη (# 1281) tenth. The offering of a tithe of the spoils to the gods was a custom of antiquity (EGT; Grässer; NW, 2, ii:1126-30). In the Testament of Levi it is reported that as Jacob had a vision and made Levi a priest, he paid a tenth of all he had (T. Levi 9:1-4; 1Q21:14-22; AT, 196-97). ἐμέρισεν aor. ind. act. μερίζω (# 3532) to divide. ἑρμηνευόμενος pres. pass. part. (adj.) ἑρμηνεύω (# 2257) to interpret. δικαιοσύνη (# 1466) righteousness. Josephus also interprets the name of Melchizedek, the founder of Jerusalem, as Righteous King, and adds, "in virtue thereof he was the first to officiate as priest of God" (Jos., JW., 6:438; Ant., 1:180). ἔπειτα (# 2083) then. Σαλήμ (# 4889) Salem. The word refer to the city of Jerusalem (Riggenbach; Bruce; Jos., Ant., 1:180). βασιλεὺς εἰρήνης (# 995; 1645) King of Peace. Philo has the same view: "Melchizedek, too, has God made both king of peace, for that is the meaning of `Salem,' and His own priest (Philo, Allegorical Interpretation, 79; SB, 3:692-93). ◆ 3 ἀπάτωρ (# 574) without a father. ἀμήτωρ (# 298) without a mother. The words indicate that father and mother were unknown (Riggenbach; NDIEC, 1:90-91). In rabbinical writings such expressions could mean that the father and mother had died and the child was an orphan (SB, 3:693). ἀγενεαλόγητος (# 37) without genealogy. The fact that his genealogy was not known would have disqualified him for a Levitical priesthood (SB, 3:693). The argument from silence plays an important part in rabbinical interpretation of Scripture where, for exegetical purposes, nothing must be regarded as having existed before the time of its first biblical mention (Bruce; SB, 3:694; BBC). μήτε ... μήτε (# 3612) neither ... nor. ἀρχή (# 794) beginning. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀφωμοιωμένος perf. pass. part. ἀφομοιόω (# 926) to make like, to produce a facsimile or copy. The likeness is in the picture from Genesis, not in the man himself (RWP). μένει pres. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain, to continue. διηνεκής (# 1457) without interruption, continually. In referring to a dynasty this word means that the family would never fail to have a male heir to rule (Buchanan). ◆ 4 θεωρεῖτε pres. imp. act. θεωρέω (# 2555) to see, to observe, to consider. The word expresses the regard of attentive contemplation (Westcott). Although the form of the vb. can be ind. or imp., the imp. would be stronger in this context (Hughes). πηλίκος (# 4383) how great. δεκάτη (# 1281) tenth. ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ἀκροθίνιον (# 215) the top of the heap, spoils, the best part of the spoils. After a victory the Greeks gathered the spoils in a heap and the top or the best part of the heap was presented to the gods (EGT; Riggenbach; NW, 2, ii:1138-39). πατριάρχης (# 4256) the one who ruled a tribe, patriarch. The definite article used w. the word contains the sense of the great patriarch or our great patriarch (Hughes). ◆ 5 ἱερατεία (# 2632) priesthood. The word emphasize the worth or honor of the office (Michel; TDNT; Lane; DLNT, 963-67). λαμβάνοντες pres. act. part. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. ἐντολή (# 1953) command, commandment. ἔχουσιν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀποδεκατοῦν pres. act. inf. ἀποδεκατόω (# 620) to take a tenth from someone, to receive a tithe. Used in Gen. 28:22; Matt. 23:23; Lk. 11:42. Epex. inf. to explain the content of the command. κατά (# 2848) w. acc., according to, in accord w. the standard of. νόμος (# 3795) law. It refers to the Law as the sum of the commandments (Lane; DLNT, 646-47). καίπερ (# 2788) although. ἐξεληλυθότας perf. act. part. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out, to descend from. ὀσφύς (# 4019) waist, hip, loins. The Hebrews considered this the place of the reproductive organs and the expression, "to go forth from someone's loins," means to be someone's son or descendant (BAGD; GELTS, 341; T). ◆ 6 γενεαλογούμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. γενεαλογέομαι (# 1156) to trace one's genealogical descent, to have one's genealogical descent from someone, to count or reckon someone's genealogy from another (EGT). δεδεκάτωκεν perf. ind. act. δεκατόω (# 1282) to take or receive the tithe. ἔχοντα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise. εὐλόγηκεν perf. ind. act. εὐλογέω (# 2328) to bless (s.v. 1). That this higher status is permanent may be indicated by the two perfs. here in v. 6. (Bruce). For the so-called perf. of allegory, used of a past but still relevant event s. IBG, 15ff; GGBB, 582. ◆ 7 χωρίς (# 6006) w. gen., without. ἀντιλογίας (# 517) contradiction, opposition, quarrel (MM). ἔλαττον (# 1781) comp. μικρός little; comp., lesser, inferior. κρείττονος (# 3202) comp., (s. 6:9); better, superior. εὐλογεῖται pres. ind. pass. εὐλογέω to bless (s.v. 1). ◆ 8 ἀποθνήσκοντες pres. act. part. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die. Anarthrous part. is used as an attributive and emphasizes the character; "mortal men" (RG, 1105f; Hughes). Pres. indicates an action that occurs repeatedly. λαμβάνουσιν pres. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. μαρτυρούμενος pres. pass. part. (adj.) μαρτυρέω (# 3455) to witness; pass., to be witnessed, to be reported (BS, 265; BD, 164). ζῇ pres. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. ◆ 9 εἰπεῖν aor. act. inf. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. ὡς ἔπος εἰπεῖν so to speak; an idiomatic expression often found in Philo. Here it could mean, "one might almost say" or "to use just the right word" (BAGD). The phrase is used to limit a startling statement and the inf. could express conceived result (RWP); or it could be an example of the so-called inf. abs. (MT, 136). λαμβάνων pres. act. part. (subst.) λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. δεδεκάτωται perf. ind. pass. δεκατόω (# 1282) to collect, to receive tithes; pass., to pay a tenth. ◆ 10 ὀσφῦς (# 4019) loins. ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. συνήντησεν aor. ind. act. συναντάω (# 5267) to meet (s.v. 1). ◆ 11 τελείωσις (# 5459) perfection, reaching the goal. The OT law and the Levitical system could not produce forgiveness or an eschatological completion or the holiness of heart demanded by God (Michel; TDNT). ἱερωσύνη (# 2648) priesthood. αὐτῆς (# 899) "on the basis of it," i.e., "the Levitical priesthood" "in association w. it" (Hughes). ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Ind. in a 2nd. class cond. cl. which is contrary to fact (Attridge). νενομοθέτηται perf. ind. pass. νομοθετέομαι (# 3793) to enact a law, to furnish w. law (RWP; BAGD). ἀνίστασθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἀνίστημι (# 482) to rise up. Mid. is used intransitively (RWP). If the form is taken as pass., the meaning of the vb. is trans.: "to be raised up" (BAGD). λέγεσθαι pres. pass. inf. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ◆ 12 μετατιθεμένης pres. pass. part. μετατίθημι (# 3572) to change, to transfer. For the idea of change involved in the compound prep. s. MH, 318. Gen. abs., either cond. or temp. ἀνάγκη (# 340) necessity. καί (# 2779) also. μετάθεσις (# 3557) changing, transfer, change. γίνεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ◆ 13 ἐφ' = ἐπί (# 2093) upon, concerning, w. reference to (EGT). λέγεται pres. ind. pass. λέγω (# 3306) to say. φυλή (# 5876) tribe. μετέσχηκεν perf. ind. act. μετέχω (# 3576) to share w., to be a partaker of, to belong to, w. gen. The choice of this word points to the voluntary assumption of humanity by the Lord. It is not said simply that He was born of another tribe: He was born that way of His own will (Westcott; s. 2:14). The perf. expresses a condition of fact, both historic and official; undoubtedly it is intended to accentuate the abs. incompatibility, resulting from His birth, between Christ and the priesthood as far as the O.T. requirements were concerned (Spicq; Hughes). προσέσχηκεν perf. ind. act. προσέχω (# 4668) w. dat., to give attention to, to attend to, to serve at. θυσιαστήριον (# 2603) the place of sacrifice, altar. ◆ 14 πρόδηλος (# 4593) before all, obvious. It is an intensified adj. which means "it is perfectly obvious" (Hughes). ἀνατέταλκεν perf. ind. act. ἀνατέλλω (# 422) to spring up, to arise. The word refers to rising as the sun, moon, and stars arise, and is also used to describe the sprouting or growing of plants, hair, and disease; it was used metaphorically where the imagery reflects the rising or growth of stellar bodies or planets, the idea being that the subjects would arise or had arisen to prominence or prosperity, and would increase in prominence. For this reason the word easily applied to a king or to the expected Messiah (Buchanan; Michel). The Messiah arose from the tribe of Judah, not from Levi (s. references to the Jewish lit. in Weiss; Braun; Gen 49:10). εἰς (# 1650) to, unto, concerning. The prep. is applied to the direction of the thought (EGT). ἐλάλησεν aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3282) to speak. ◆ 15 περισσότερον (# 4358) comp. περισσός (# 4356) more; comp., especially. κατάδηλος (# 2867) quite clear, evident. Prep. in compound is perfective. ὁμοιότης (# 3928) likeness. ἀνίσταται pres. ind. mid./pass. ἀνίστημι (# 482) to rise up (s.v. 11). ◆ 16 σάρκινος (# 4921) fleshly. Adjs. w. this ending signify material, origin, or kind (MH, 359). The enactment was fleshly inasmuch as it had to do only w. the flesh. It caused the priesthood to be implicated w. and dependent on fleshly descent (EGT; Michel). γέγονεν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to be, to become. ἀκατάλυτος (# 186) not able to be destroyed, indestructible. ◆ 17 μαρτυρεῖται pres. ind. pass. μαρτυρέω (# 3455) to bear witness, to testify. Pass. may be the divine or theol. pass. used to imply God as the subject (BG, 76). ὅτι (# 4022) used as quotation marks to introduce dir. discourse. ◆ 18 ἀθέτησις (# 120) setting aside, annulling, cancellation. The word was a legal term used in the papyri for the cancellation or annulment of a legal enactment. Here it suggests cancellation has taken place (BS, 228f; Preisigke; MM; Hughes; Bruce). γίνεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. προαγούσης pres. act. part. προάγω (# 4575) to go before, to precede. Part. used in an adjectival sense to mean "former." ἐντολή (# 1953) commandment. ἀνωφελής (# 543) uselessness, without profit. The commandment was useless in that it was unable to help men draw near to God or to effect the justification of sinners before God (EGT; Hughes). ◆ 19 ἐτελείωσεν aor. ind. act. τελειόω (# 5457) to perfect, to bring to perfection, to bring to the goal. ἐπεισαγωγή (# 2081) bringing in, introduction. The word was used in Josephus w. the idea of "replacement." It is said that King Artaxerxes would quell his love for his former wife by replacing (ἐπεισαγώγῃ) her with another (Jos., Ant., 11:196; Moffatt). Prep. in compound connotes "in addition to," "over and beyond"; i.e., a bringing in, in addition to (Bruce). κρείττονος gen. sing. κρείττων (# 3202) comp., better. κρείττονος ἐλπίδος better hope, obj. gen. ἐγγίζομεν pres. ind. act. ἐγγίζω (# 1581) to come near, to draw near. Pres. indicates that which is continually possible. ◆ 20 καθ' ὅσον (# 2848; 4012) according to, how much, inasmuch as. ὁρκωμοσία (# 3993) taking of an oath. εἰσίν ... γεγονότες. Perf. act. part. of γίνομαι (# 1181) is used in a periphrastic perf. act. construction. The periphrasis marks the possession as well as the impartment of the office: they have been made priests and they act as priests (Westcott). ◆ 21 διὰ τοῦ λέγοντος (# 1328) through the one who said. ὤμοσεν aor. ind. act. ὀμνύω (# 3923) to swear, to take an oath. μεταμεληθήσεται fut. ind. pass. (dep.) μεταμέλομαι (# 3564) to be sorry, to repent out of sorrow (EGT; Trench, Synonyms, 241; TDNT). ◆ 22 κατὰ τοσοῦτο (# 2848; 5537) "according to so much," "by so much." κρείττονος (# 3202) better (s.v. 19). διαθήκης (# 1347) contract, covenant, agreement, testament (Michel; TDNT; NIDNTT). γέγονεν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἔγγυος (# 1583) surety, guarantee. The word means a bond, bail, collateral, or some kind of guarantee that a promise will be fulfilled. The word was used in the papyri in legal and promissory documents to designate a guarantor or one who stands security. Jesus Himself is our security that there will be no annulment of this new and better covenant (Buchanan; Bruce; TDNT; TLNT; Spicq; Michel, MM; BBC). ◆ 23 πλείονες comp. pl. πολύς (# 4498) many, many in number–not many at one and the same time but many in succession (EGT). εἰσίν γεγονότες (s.v. 20). διά (# 1328) used w. the acc. of the inf. to express cause. θανάτῳ dat. sing. θάνατος (# 2505) death; instr. dat., "by death." παραμένειν pres. act. inf. παραμένω (# 4169) to remain alongside of, to continue, to remain in office or serve (Moffatt; for its use in the papyri s. MM; NDIEC, 4:98-99). Epex. inf. explaining what was prevented. κωλύεσθαι pres. pass. inf. κωλύω (# 3266) to hinder, to prevent. ◆ 24 μένειν pres. act. inf. μένω (# 3531) to remain, to continue. Pres. indicates the unending and continuing action or state. Articular inf. is used w. prep. διά (# 1328) to express cause or reason. ἀπαράβατος (# 563) not able to be passed on to another, intransmittable, nontransferable. The priesthood of Christ does not pass to another precisely because it is a perpetual priesthood (Hughes; Bruce; Moffatt). ἱερωσύνη (# 2648) priesthood. ◆ 25 ὅθεν (# 3854) therefore. καί (# 2779)also. σῴζειν pres. act. inf. σῴζω (# 5392) to rescue (TDNT; EDNT; TLNT). Compl. inf. to the main vb. παντελής (# 4117) complete. The phrase εἰς τὸ παντελές ("unto completeness") can have a temp. sense ("for all time"), a qualitative sense that emphasizes full completeness ("fully and completely"); or both ideas may be contained and expressed in the phrase (Hughes; Michel; Attridge). δύναται pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. προσερχομένους pres. mid. (dep.) part. προσέρχομαι (# 4665) to approach, to come to, w. dat. Part. as subst. Pres. emphasizes the continual activity. πάντοτε (# 4121) always. ζῶν pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Causal part. w. pres. indicating a continued action, "because He continually lives." εἰς (# 1650) w. articular inf. to express purp. ἐντυγχάνειν pres. act. inf. ἐντυγχάνω (# 1961) to make intercession, to intercede for another. It was sometimes used of bringing a petition before a king on behalf of another (EGT; Hughes; TDNT; MNTW, 54-56). Pres. indicates a continual action; or it is iterative indicating a repeated action. Since rabbinical scholars assigned an intercessory function to the angels, it may be that the readers were tempted to worship angels as intercessors. Therefore the writer makes it perfectly plain that Christ is the sole mediator and intercessor. To rely upon angels or saints or any other finite being for intercession is not only futile, but also betrays a failure of confidence in the adequacy of Christ as our intercessor (Hughes). ◆ 26 τοιοῦτος (# 5525) such a one; "such a high priest." The word refers to what preceded, indicating the one who is absolute in power and eternal in being (Westcott). καί (# 2779) indeed. The word emphasizes the thought: "Such a high priest exactly befitted us" (Hughes; Westcott). ἔπρεπεν impf. ind. act. πρέπω (# 4560) w. the dat., to be suited for, to be fit for. ἀρχιερεύς (# 797) high priest. ὅσιος (# 4008) holy, pious (TDNT; NIDNTT). ἄκακος (# 179) without evil. The word describes the absence of all that is bad and wrong (Hughes). ἀμίαντος (# 299) without defilement, stainless, untainted. The word implies not merely ritual purity, but real ethical cleanliness (RWP; BBC). κεχωρισμένος perf. pass. part. χωρίζω (# 6004) to separate. The separation is due to His perfect qualities; he is separated in a class separate from sinners. Perf. suggests that He is permanently separated from them (Hewitt). ὑψηλότερος comp. of ὑψηλός (# 5734) high, lofty; comp., higher, followed by the gen. of comparison. γενόμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ◆ 27 ἔχει pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. καθ' ἡμέραν (# 2465; 2848) daily. ἀνάγκη (# 340) necessity. πρότερον (# 4728) first, first of all. The adv. is used for comparison between two things (RWP). ἴδιος (# 2625) one's own. ἀναφέρειν pres. act. inf. ἀναφέρω (# 429) to bring up, to offer. Epex. inf. explaining the necessity. The high priest does not offer the daily sacrifices personally, but he is responsible (BBC). ἔπειτα (# 2083) then; "after that." ἐποίησεν aor. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Aor. points here to the one-time completed action. ἐφάπαξ (# 2384) once for all. ἀνενέγκας aor. act. part. ἀναφέρω (# 429) to offer up, to sacrifice. Temp. part., aor. indicating logically antecedent action ("after"). Aor. points to a specific and complete act. ◆ 28 καθίστησιν pres. ind. act. καθίστημι (# 2770) to constitute, to appoint. Pres. indicates that at the same time this epistle was being written the Levitical priesthood was still functioning, w. the implication that the Jerusalem temple was still standing (Hughes). ἀρχιερεύς (# 797) high priest. Here acc. pl. in a double acc. construction: "appoint men as high priests." ἔχοντας pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀσθένεια (# 819) weakness. ὁρκωμοσία (# 3993) oath, taking of an oath, oath taking (Westcott). μετά (# 3552)w. the acc., after. υἱός (# 5626) son. The lack of the article emphasizes the character or quality: one who is a son; s. Heb 1:2. τετελειωμένον perf. pass. part. τελειόω (# 5457) to perfect, to make perfect, to bring to the goal (s. 5:9).

◆ 1 κεφάλαιον (# 3049) pertaining to the head. The word can refer to the sum, as of numbers added up from below to the head of the column, where the result is set down as the summary or synopsis. However, the word could also mean the chief point, as of a capstone or capital of a pillar, and thus mean main thing, main point (Buchanan; EGT; Michel; BAGD; Westcott; Lane; NTNT, 227-28). ἐπί (# 2093) w. dat., in the matter of (RWP). λεγομένος pres. pass. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say; here, "that which is being discussed," "the things being talked about." τοιοῦτον (# 5525) such a one. Adj. looks forward, but is also retrospective (Attridge). ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. points to the continual possession. ἐκάθισεν aor. ind. act. καθίζω (# 2767) to take one's seat, to sit down. For the concept of sitting at the right hand s. Eph. 1:20. δεξιᾷ (# 1288) right; "on the right hand," the place of honor (also s. Heb. 1:13). μεγαλωσύνη (# 3488) majesty. ◆ 2 τῶν ἁγίων (# 41) n. gen. pl., the holy things; i.e., the sanctuary (Hughes; Michel). λειτουργός (# 3313) minister, one who ministers in religious matters; a word used in the LXX and Jewish lit. for the priest (TDNT; TLNT; Grässer; Attridge). σκηνή (# 5008) tent, tabernacle. The word is used in the fourth gospel in contrast not to what is false, but to what is symbolic (EGT; for an extended discussion of this v. in relation to Heb. 9:11 s. Hughes, 283-90). ἔπηξεν aor. ind. act. πήγνυμι (# 4381) to fix, to fasten as the pegs of a tent, to pitch a tent (RWP). κύριος (# 3261) Lord. ◆ 3 εἰς (# 1650) w. the articular inf. to express purp. προσφέρειν pres. act. inf. προσφέρω (# 4712) to bring to, to offer. Pres. emphasizes an action repeatedly done. καθίσταται pres. ind. pass. καθίστημι (# 2770) to appoint. Gnomic pres. ὅθεν (# 3854) whereafter, and so. ἀναγκαῖος (# 338) necessity, necessary. ἔχειν pres. act. inf. ἔχω (# 2400)to have. The so-called subject of the inf. in the acc. case is τοῦτον (# 4047) this one (this priest), and refers to Christ. καί (# 2779) also. προσενέγκῃ aor. subj. act. προσφέρω (# 4712) to offer, to bring to. Aor. emphasizes that Christ's offering was once for all, consistent w. the author's repeated emphasis on the singularity of Christ's sacrifice offered (Bruce; Spicq; Hughes). Subj. in an indef. rel. cl. ◆ 4 ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Ind. in a 2nd. class cond. cl. expresses here a contrary-to-fact statement. ὄντων pres. act. part. (causal) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Gen. abs. ("Since there are") προσφερόντων pres. act. part. προσφέρω to offer (s.v. 3). Substantival use of part. to emphasize their actions as priests offering sacrifices. Iterat. pres. κατά (# 2848) w. the acc., according to, according to the standard of. It was the law which regulated all that concerns the earthly priesthood, and by this law Christ is excluded from priestly office, not being of the tribe of Levi (EGT). ◆ 5 οἵτινες (# 4015) which one; i.e., those belonging to this class. The qualitative rel. pronoun emphasizes the character of the Levitical priesthood (Westcott). ὑπόδειγμα (# 5682) pattern, copy (Grässer; Attridge; Lane). σκιᾷ (# 5014) shadow. It could be taken w. the preceding dat. as a hendiadys: a shadowy outline, a shadowy reflection, or a shadowy suggestion (Lane). λατρεύουσιν pres. ind. act. λατρεύω (# 3302) to minister, to perform religious service. ἐπουράνιος (# 2230) heavenly; here, "the heavenly things" (s. Eph. 1:3). καθώς (# 2777) just as. κεχρημάτισται perf. ind. pass. χρηματίζω (# 5976) to warn, to instruct. The word used in the papyri of official pronouncements by magistrates and of a royal reply to a petition as well as an answer of an oracle. In the NT it is used of divine communications (AS; BS, 122; MM). μέλλων pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to, w. inf. Part. used to express an imp. It is a future under Semitic influence and a translation of the Heb. imp. The word refers to the decay of old age (RWP). ἐγγύς (# 1584) near. ἀφανισμός (# 907) disappearing, vanishing away. The word is suggestive of utter destruction and abolition and was used in the LXX of God destroying the enemies in the Promised Land (Deut. 7:2) (EGT; GELTS, 72; HR, 1:182). Josephus used the word of cities that disappeared by destruction (Jos., Ant., 17:306) or of attempts to destroy ("cause to disappear") the ancestry or heritage of the Jews (Jos., Ant., 19:174; CCFJ, 1:275).

◆ 1 εἶχε impf. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. πρώτη (# 4755) first. The word is to be understood as modifying the unexpressed word διαθήκη (Hughes). δικαίωμα (# 1468) that which is demanded by righteousness, regulation, ordinance (Westcott; Michel; Lane). λατρεία (# 3301) worship, ministry, religious service. Rather than the acc. pl. ("regulations for cultic worship"), the word is to be understood as a gen. sing. modifying the word δικαιώματα (Hughes; Riggenbach; Lane). ἅγιος (# 41) holy place, sanctuary. For a study contrasting the old order w. the work of Christ s. Norman H. Young, "The Gospel according to Hebrews 9," NTS 27 (1980/81): 198-210. κοσμικός (# 3176) pertaining to the world, earthly. Here the word could mean mundane or material (Bruce). ◆ 2 σκηνή (# 5008) tent, tabernacle. κατεσκευάσθη aor. ind. pass. κατασκευάζω (# 2941) to outfit w. vessels, to equip, to prepare, to furnish (s. 3:3). ᾗ fem. dat. sing. ὅς (# 4005) rel. pron., which; "in which." λυχνία (# 3393) lampstand. It refers to the menorah placed at the south side of the Holy Place; it was made of gold, w. three branches springing from either side of the main stem; the main stem and all six branches each supported a flower-shaped lamp holder (Exod. 25:31ff; 37:17ff; Bruce; ND, 708; SB, 3:705-18; ABD, 4:141-43). τράπεζα (# 5544) table (SB, 3:718-19). πρόθεσις (# 4606) placing before, setting out. ἄρτος (# 788) bread. The expression lit. means "the setting out of the bread (loaves)"; "the bread set forth in two rows" (Lightfoot; for a discussion of the regulations concerning the showbread s. SB, 3:719-28). ἅγια n. pl. ἅγιος (# 41) holy. The Holy Place (Hughes). ◆ 3 μετά (# 3552) w. the acc. The word has also been understood to mean the censer, or incense shovel, and some have thought to connect the altar of incense to the Holy Place in a theol. sense and point out a special doctrinal association between the altar of incense and the Holy of Holies. For a discussion of this problem s. Hughes; SB, 3:728ff; Lane. κιβωτός (# 3066) box, chest, ark (EGT). διαθήκη (# 1347) covenant. Here gen. of content: "box which contained the covenant" (SB, 3:737-41). περικεκαλυμμένην perf. part. pass. περικαλύπτω (# 4328) to cover, to cover on all sides. πάντοθεν (# 4119) all around. χρυσίον (# 5991) gold. Here, instr. dat.: "covered on all sides w. gold." στάμνος (# 5085) pitcher, jar. The rabbis believed that in the fut. Elijah would restore to Israel the container of manna, the flask of sprinkling water, and the jar of anointing oil (Buchanan). ῥάβδος (# 4811) stick, staff. βλαστήσασα aor. act. part. βλαστάνω (# 1056) to sprout, to bud. Aor. part. indicating antecedent action. πλάκες nom. pl. πλάξ (# 4419) flat stone, tablet. ◆ 5 ὑπεράνω (# 5645) w. gen., above. Χερούβ (# 5938) cherub. The cherubim are the carriers of the divine glory and shekinah. (Michel; SB, 3:168f; TDNT; NIDOTTE, 2:717; DDD, 362-67; ABD, 1: 899-900). The cherubim were two figures made of beaten gold standing at either end of the mercy seat, with which they were integrally connected, and facing inward toward each other, their wings stretched out and overarching the mercy seat (Exod. 25:17ff; Hughes). κατασκιάζοντα pres. act. part. κατασκιάζω (# 2944) to overshadow. ἱλαστήριον (# 2663) place of propitiation (s. Rom. 3:25); mercy seat. The mercy seat was a slab of pure gold, two and one-half cubits long by one and a half cubits wide, which fit exactly over the top of the ark of the covenant (Hughes; Bruce; SB, 3:165-85). περὶ ὧν (# 4309; 4005) concerning which things. κατὰ μέρος (# 2848; 3538) in detail; the distributive use of the prep. (RWP). ◆ 6 κατεσκευασμένων perf. pass. part. κατασκευάζω (# 2941) to prepare, to make ready; here in the (temp.) sense of furnish, equip (BAGD). Gen. abs. Perf. indicates the resulting condition or state. διὰ παντός (# 1328; 4246) through all, i.e., continually. The phrase seems to express the continuous, unbroken permanence of a characteristic habit (Westcott). εἰσίασιν pres. ind. act. 3rd. pers. pl. εἴσειμι (# 1655) to go into. λατρεία (# 3301) religious service (s.v. 1; TDNT; TLNT). ἐπιτελοῦντες pres. part. act. ἐπιτελέω (# 2200) to bring to conclusion, to complete, to fulfill, to perform. The vb. is used by various writers for the accomplishing of religious services (EGT). ◆ 7 δεύτερος (# 1311) second; i.e., the second tent or the Holy of Holies. ἅπαξ (# 562) once. ἐνιαυτός (# 1929) year. Here gen. of time: "once for each year" (RWP). χωρίς (# 6006) w. gen., without. ὅ nom. sin. ὅς (# 4005) which, referring to the word αἵματος. προσφέρει pres. ind. act. προσφέρω (# 4712) to bring to, to offer, to offer a sacrifice, to sacrifice. Pres. customary or iterat., indicating what continually happened year after year. ὑπέρ (# 5642) w. gen., on behalf of. ἀγνόημα (# 52) ignorance, sin of ignorance, error. The word refers to those sins committed inadvertently or in ignorance, unintentionally or through human frailty (Lev. 4:1f; 5:17f), as distinct from those who sin in deliberate and rebellious defiance of God and His law (Hughes; Michel; Moffatt; SB, 3:176-78; Attridge). ◆ 8 δηλοῦντος pres. act. part. δηλόω (# 1317) to make clear. Gen. abs. Used here to express attendant circumstance ("and thus"). μήπω (# 3609) not yet. πεφανερῶσθαι perf. pass. inf. φανερόω (# 5746) to make plain, to manifest. Inf. is used in indir. discourse explaining the part. of the gen. abs. τῶν ἁγίων (# 41) sanctuary. Here the word is used to comprise the Holy Place and the Holy of Holies together (Bruce). ἐχούσης pres. act. part. (temp.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Gen. abs. expressing contemporaneous action, "while the outer tabernacle is standing." στάσις (# 5087) standing. Used w. the previous part., the phrase means "retaining its status" (Bruce; Westcott). ◆ 9 παραβολή (# 4130) parable, symbol, figure (TDNT). εἰς (# 1650) unto (Riggenbach). καιρός (# 2789) time, time period. ἐνεστηκότα perf. part. act. ἐνίστημι (# 1931) to be present. καθ'ἣν (# 2848; 4005) according to which. The rel. pron. refers to the word παραβολή (# 4130). It is in accordance w. the parabolic significance of the tabernacle and its arrangements that gifts and sacrifices were offered which could purge only the flesh, not the conscience (EGT). προσφέρονται pres. ind. pass. προσφέρω to offer. Pres. implies that the temple ritual has not yet been discontinued (Hughes). δυνάμεναι pres. pass. (dep.) part. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. Adj. part. used to emphasize a particular trait. Pres. stresses the continual inability. συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience (s. Rom. 2:15; 1 Cor. 8:7). A defiled conscience is an obstacle to worhsip that the Aaronic priesthood could not overcome (DLNT, 242). τελειῶσαι aor. act. inf. τελειόω (# 5457) to perfect (s. 5:9). Compl. inf. to the preceding part. Aor. indicates the total inability to reach the intended goal. λατρεύοντα pres. act. part. λατρεύω (# 3302) to worship, to perform religious services (TDNT). ◆ 10 μόνον (# 3667) only. ἐπί (# 2093) w. dat., in the matter of (RWP). βρῶμα (# 1109) food. πόμα (# 4503) drink. διάφορος (# 1427) different. The expression "meats and drink" denotes food laws in general (Bruce; Moffatt; JBP, 214-17). βαπτισμός (# 968) washing. δικαίωμα regulation s.v. 1. μέχρι (# 3588) w. gen., until. διόρθωσις (# 1451) setting straight, restoring that which is out of line, improvement, reformation, new order (Hughes; BAGD). ἐπικείμενα pres. part. mid. (dep.) or pass. ἐπίκειμαι (# 2130) to lay upon, to impose (RWP). ◆ 11 παραγενόμενος aor. part. mid. (dep.) παραγίνομαι (# 4134) to come, to appear (Hughes; Westcott). Temp. part., "when Christ appeared." Aor. suggests logically necessary activity preceding the main vb. ἀρχιερεύς (# 797) high priest. Pred. nom. ("in his role as"). γενομένων aor. mid. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. ἀγαθός (# 19) good. διά (# 1328) w. gen., through. The prep. is best understood not in the local sense, but in the instr. sense ("by means of" [EGT]). μείζονος comp. μεγας (# 3489) great; comp., greater. τελειοτέρας comp. τέλειος (# 5455) perfect; comp., more perfect. χειροποιήτος (# 5935) made w. hands, thus pure, perfect, changeless (BBC). κτίσις (# 3232) creation. Here gen. of source or origin. ◆ 12 τράγος (# 5543) goat, male goat, he-goat. μόσχος (# 3675) calf. The goat was used for the people's sacrifice. The calf was used for the sacrifice for the high priest and his house (Michel; Grässer; Attridge; SB, 3:175-78; Lev. 16; M, Yoma, 3-7; b Yoma, 61a; BBC). δέ (# 1254) but, adversative. ἴδιος (# 2625) one's own, own. εἰσῆλθεν aor. ind. act. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to go in. ἐφάπαξ (# 2384) once for all. The prep. in compound gives a directive strengthening (MH, 315). ἅγια sanctuary (s.v. 8). αἰώνιος (# 173) eternal. λύτρωσις (# 3391) redeeming, releasing by the payment of a price (s. Rom 3:24; Bruce; Hughes). εὑράμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find, to obtain, to secure. Aor. part. means that Christ entered into the heavenly sanctuary after He had secured an eternal redemption; the securing of our eternal redemption took place at the cross and was followed by His entry into heaven (Hughes). ◆ 13 ταῦρος (# 5436) steer, young bull. Here gen. of source ("blood coming from"). σποδός (# 5075) ashes. δάμαλις (# 1239) young female calf, heifer. ῥαντίζουσα pres. act. part. (adj.) ῥαντίζω (# 4822) to sprinkle. The ashes of a heifer were obtained by burning a red heifer outside of the camp according to a specially prescribed process. The ashes were mixed w. water, as necessity arose, to be sprinkled on persons who had become defiled by touching a corpse or being in a tent where there was a corpse (Num. 19). This ceremonial impurity disqualified one for intercourse w. men or God (Buchanan; Moffat; Lane; Grässer; ABD, 3:115-16; J. Bowman, "Did the Qumran Sect Burn the Red Heifer?" RQ 1 [1958]: 73-74; D.P. Wright, "Purification from Corpse Contamination in Numbers 31:19-24 ," VT 35 [1985]: 213-33; M Para). κεκοινωμένους perf. part. pass. κοινόω (# 3124) to make common, to defile. Perf. part. looks at the state or condition. ἁγιάζει pres. ind. act. ἁγιάζω (# 39) to sanctify, to set apart, to remove from the common or profane, thus qualifying the person again for worshipping God (EGT; EDNT; TDNT). Gnomic ("always cleanses") or iterative ("cleanses repeatedly"). πρός (# 4639) w. acc., w. a view to, for. καθαρότης (# 2755) purity, cleanliness. ◆ 14 μᾶλλον (# 3437) more. For this type of rabbinical argument (from the lesser to the greater) s. Rom. 5:9; Attridge; Lane. προσήνεγκεν aor. ind. act. προσφέρω (# 4712) to bring a sacrifice. ἄμωμος (# 320) unblemished, without blemish (Hughes; s. Col. 1:22). The word was used of the Levitical sacrifices, but now has an ethical significance explaining how the blood of Christ should not merely furnish ceremonial cleansing (EGT). καθαριεῖ fut. ind. act. καθαρίζω (# 2751) to cleanse. The word marks what the object is itself–clean, ceremonially or morally (Westcott). Logical fut. used in this type argument (Riggenbach; Buchanan). The word was used in the papyri for religious cleansing (BS 216f). συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience. ἀπὸ νεκρῶν ἔργων (# 608; 3738; 2240) from dead works; i.e., "from works that lead to death" (Lane). λατρεύειν pres. act. inf. λατρεύω (# 3302) to serve, to do religious service, to minister (TLNT; TDNT; EDNT; AS, 226). Articular inf. w. the prep. εἰς (# 1650) to express purp. ζῶντι pres. act. part. (adj.) ζάω (# 2409) to live. Dat. follows the vb. λατρεύειν. For the use of the ashes of a heifer in relation to the death of Christ s. v. 13; Hughes, 326ff. ◆ 15 διὰ τοῦτο (# 1328; 4047) because of this. It refers to Christ's effectiveness in offering sacrifice and cleansing from sin so that the believer might worship the living God (Buchanan). μεσίτης (# 3542) mediator. ὅπως (# 3968) w. subj. to express purp. (MT, 105). γενομένου aor. mid. (dep.) part. (causal) γίνομαι (# 1181) to be, to become. Gen. abs., "because death has occurred." ἀπολύτρωσις (# 667) a releasing by the payment of a price, redemption (s. Rom. 3:24). ἐπί (# 2093) w. dat, upon; here, by, under. παράβασις (# 4126) transgression. Here, gen. (ablative) expresses the idea of separation (Riggenbach). λάβωσιν aor. subj. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. Subj. w. ὅπως (# 3968) to express purp. or result. κεκλημένοι perf. part. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call. Perf. indicates the completed state or condition. κληρονομία (# 3100) inheritance. Gen. here is to be taken w. the word ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise, giving a further definition or content of the promise (Westcott). ◆ 16 ἀνάγκη (# 340) necessity. φέρεσθαι pres. pass. inf. φέρω (# 5770) to bring; pass., to be brought. Compl. inf., "it is necessary to be brought." The word is probably used here in the legal technical sense: to be registered or to be publicly known (Bruce; Michel; MM; TDNT). διαθεμένου aor. mid. (dep.) part. διατίθημι (# 1416) to make a covenant, to make a testament. For a detailed discussion of the meaning of the word διαθήκη here s. Hughes; Bruce; Lane; Buchanan; Attridge. ◆ 17 βέβαιος (# 1010) firm, guaranteed. Used here in the legal sense of valid (BAGD; TLNT; Riggenbach). ἐπεί (# 2075) since, because. μήποτε (# 3607) never. ἰσχύει pres. ind. act. ἰσχύω (# 2710) to have strength, to be in force. For the legal term s. Michel; Riggenbach; Hughes. ζῇ pres. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. The presents here are gnomic, indicating what is always true. ◆ 18 ὅθεν (# 3854) wherefore. χωρίς (# 6006) w. gen., without. ἐγκεκαίνισται perf. ind. pass. ἐγκαινίζω (# 1590) to renew, to inaugurate. The idea of the word is to introduce something new, to initiate, w. the concepts of inauguration and dedication closely related (Hughes). Perf. not in an aoristic sense, but rather to describe what stands written in Scripture–a marked feature of the author's style (M, 142; Michel; Riggenbach). ◆ 19 λαληθείσης aor. pass. part. (temp.) λαλέω (# 3281) to say, to speak. Gen. abs. Aor. indicating antecedent time ("after"). ἐντολή (# 1953) commandment. κατά (# 2848) w. acc., according to. λαβών aor. act. part. λαμβανω (# 3284) to take. μόσχος (# 3675) calf (GELTS, 310). The Heb. term "oxen" (בָּקָר) used in Exod. 24:5 is applicable to bovine animals of any age (Hughes; NIDOTTE, 3:670-72). The related word is used in the Ugaritic language w. the meaning "young cow" (Joseph Aisleitner, Wörterbuch der Ugaritischen Sprache, 259f; Cyrus H. Gordon, Ugaritic Textbook, #2122, prr III; 3:471). τράγος (# 5543) goat. The text is unclear. Despite an impressive combination of witnesses, many manuscripts omit this word. To omit is probably the best reading (Hughes; Bruce; TC, 668-69). If the omission is original, there is an imitation of v. 12. If the omission is not original there is either an accidental omission through a homeoteleuton or a deliberate omission in order to conform to Exod. 24:5. μετά (# 3552) w. gen. with. ἔριον (# 2250) wool. κόκκινος (# 3132) scarlet. ὕσσωπος (# 5727) hyssop, marjoram. The hyssop was apparently tied w. the scarlet wool to a cedar stick, thus forming a sprinkling implement which was dipped in the blood diluted with water. Although water and scarlet wool and hyssop are not mentioned in the Exodus account, there is no reason why this common method of sprinkling should not have been used by Moses in the procedure described in Exod. 24 (Hughes; Delitzsch; POB, 160-62; PB, 96-97; NIDOTTE, 1:334-35). ἐράντισεν aor. ind. act. ῥαντίζω (# 4822) to sprinkle (SB, 3:742). ◆ 20 ἐνετείλατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐντέλλομαι (# 1948) to command. ◆ 21 σκεῦος (# 5007) vessel. λειτουργία (# 3311) ministry, worship service (TLNT). τῷ αἵματι (# 135) w. the blood, dat. of instr. ὁμοίως (# 3931) adv., likewise. ἐράντισεν aor. ind. act. ῥαντίζω (# 4822) to sprinkle. ◆ 22 σχεδόν (# 5385) almost. καθαρίζεται pres. ind. pass. καθαρίζω (# 2751) to purify (s.v. 14). Gnomic pres., indicating what is always true. αἱματεκχυσία (# 136) blood shedding, shedding of blood. The word may have been coined by the author, but is related to the expressions ἐκχεῖν αἷμα (to pour out blood) and ἔκχυσις αἵματος (the pouring out of blood), which appear in the LXX (Bruce; Michel; Grässer; DLNT, 274-78). γίνεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Gnomic pres. indicating what is always true. ἄφεσις (# 912) releasing, forgiving, forgiveness. The expression here may have been a proverbial expression since it occurs in the rabbinical writings; i.e., "does not atonement come through the blood?" or "surely atonement can be made only w. the blood" (Bruce; Buchanan). ◆ 23 ἀνάγκη (# 340) necessity, necessary. ὑποδείγμα (# 5682) pattern, copy. τούτοις dat. pl. οὗτος (# 4047) instr. dat., "by these things." By these rites or by the different materials of cleansing depicted from Heb. 9:19ff. (Hughes; Michel). καθαρίζεσθαι pres. pass. inf. καθαρίζω (# 2751) to cleanse. Epex. inf. describing ἀνάγκη. ἐπουράνος (# 2230) heavenly; here pl., "the heavenly things." κρείττοσιν dat. pl. (# 3202) comp. ἀγαθός good; comp., better. παρά (# 4123) used in the comp. sense, than. ◆ 24 χειροποίητος (# 5935) made w. hands. εἰσῆλθεν aor. ind. act. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to enter. ἅγια sanctuary s.v. 2. ἀντίτυπος (# 531) copy, antitype. The word lit. means "answering to the type" and here means a counterpart of reality (Moffatt). ἀληθινός (# 240) true, genuine. ἐμφανισθῆναι aor. pass. inf. ἐμφανίζω (# 1872) to make visible; pass., to become visible, to appear to someone. Prep. in compound is local: "to appear in the presence of." Inf. to express purp. πρόσωπον (# 4725) face, presence. ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν (# 5642; 1609) for us, on our behalf. For Christ's appearing in the presence of God s. Hughes, 329-54, esp. 349f. ◆ 25 προσφέρῃ pres. subj. act. προσφέρω (# 4712) to bring to, to offer a sacrifice. (s.v. 7). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a neg. purp. cl. Pres. emphasizes the continuous action and may be viewed here as iterat: "to offer Himself over and over again." ὥσπερ (# 6061) as, just as. εἰσέρχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to enter. ἐνιαυτός (# 1929) yearly; the distributive use of the prep–"year after year," "every year the same thing." ἀλλότριος (# 259) belonging to another, not one's own. The blood provided by our high priest for the atonement of mankind was human blood–moreover, His own blood (Hughes). ◆ 26 ἐπεί (# 2075) since, since in that case (Westcott). The word introduces causal cls. (MT, 318). ἔδει impf. ind. act. δεῖ (# 1256) it is necessary; impf., it would have been necessary. The construction is a 2nd-class cond. cl. (contrary to fact) w. the cond. omitted in an elliptical construction: "since, if that were true, it would be necessary for Him to suffer often" (RWP; RG, 963). παθεῖν aor. act. inf. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. Inf. is used to explain the necessity. καταβολή (# 2856) foundation. κόσμος (# 3180) world, here in the sense of creation. ἅπαξ (# 562) once for all. συντελείᾳ (# 5333) completion, consummation (Grässer; s. 5:9). ἀθέτησις (# 120) putting away (s. 7:18). ἁμαρτία (# 281) sin. Here obj. gen. Prep. εἰς (# 1650) indicates the aim, goal, or purpose. πεφανέρωται perf. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to appear. The vb. indicates a public manifestation and appearance of Christ before the world similar to the emergence of the high priest out of the sanctuary (Michel; BBC). Perf. emphasizes the completed action w. continuing results. ◆ 27 καθ' = κατά (# 2846) according to so much; i.e., inasmuch as, just as. ἀπόκειται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀπόκειμαι (# 641) to be put away, to appoint, to reserve for someone, to destine (BAGD). It was used on a tombstone which reads, "After a good life I departed home, where a place of piety has been reserved for me" (NDIEC, 4:23). Pres. indicates a truth which is continually true. ἅπαξ (# 562) once, one time. ἀποθανεῖν aor. act. inf. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. Epex. inf. explaining what is appointed. Aor. points to the fact of death as a conclusive act. μετά (# 3552) w. the acc., after. κρίσις (# 3213) judging, judgment. The rabbis taught that those born are appointed to die and those who die to live again and those who live again to be judged (Michel; Buchanan; M, Aboth 4:11, 22). ◆ 28 οὕτως (# 4048) so. The comparison extends to both terms, the dying once and the judgment. The results of Christ's life are settled. In Christ's case the result is that He appears a second time without sin unto salvation, the sin having been destroyed by His death (EGT). προσενεχθείς aor. pass. part. προσφέρω s.v. 7. Temp. part. ("after"). ἀνενεγκεῖν aor. act. inf. ἀναφέρω (# 429) to take up and carry away, to take away. Articular inf. w. εἰς (# 1651) to express purp. ἐκ δευτέρου (# 1666; 1311) a second time. Prep. is used temporarily (IBG, 72f). χωρίς (# 6006) without; i.e., "without any further sin laid upon Him," or "unburdened further by any sin" (Delitzsch). ὀφθήσεται fut. ind. pass. ὁράω (# 3972) to see; pass., to appear. ἀπεκδεχομένοις pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀπεκδέχομαι (# 587) to eagerly but patiently expect or await (s. Phil. 3:20). The word is used in the NT to refer to a fut. manifestation of the glory of Christ (Westcott).

Hebrews 10

◆ 1 σκιά (# 5014) shadow. It refers to the outline or shadow cast by the object which is the reality (Grässer; Riggenbach; Michel; BBC). ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Part. could be taken as causal. μελλόντων pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. Part. is used as a substitutive: "the future things," "the things about to come." εἰκόνα acc. sing. εἰκών (# 1635) image. The image is the real object that casts the law's shadow (Buchanan; Hughes; Michel). πράγμα (# 4547) that which is done, matter, thing; i.e., the real object. It expresses the good things which are coming so far as they were embodied (Westcott). κατ' ἐνιαυτόν (# 2846; 1929) yearly (s. 9:25). προσφέρουσιν pres. ind. act. προσφέρω (# 4712) to bring a sacrifice, to offer. Pres. points to the continually repeated sacrifices. εἰς τὸ διηνεκές (# 1457) continually, without interruption (s. Heb. 7:3). δύναται pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to. προσερχομένους pres. mid. (dep.) part. προσέρχομαι (# 4665) to come to, to approach. Part. is used as a substitutive: "those approaching," "those who continually draw near" (s. 4:16). τελειῶσαι aor. act. inf. τελέω (# 5457) to perfect, to complete, to bring to the goal (s. Heb. 5:9). Compl. inf. w. vb. δύναται. ◆ 2 ἐπεί (# 2075) since, for otherwise. Used in an elliptical construction of a contrary to fact cond. cl. (s. 9:26; BD, 238f). ἐπαύσαντο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) παύομαι (# 4264) to cease. προσφερόμεναι pres. pass. part. προσφέρω s.v. 1. Part. is used supplementarily to complete the action of the vb. ἐπαύσαντο. This sentence should be taken as a question: "For if it were otherwise, would they have not cease to be offered?" (Bruce). διά (# 1328) used w. acc. of the articular inf. to express cause. ἔχειν pres. act. inf. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. μηδεμία (# 3594) not one, no. The word is to be taken as negating the noun συνείδησιν. ἔτι (# 2285) yet, any longer. Used in the neg. expression meaning "more"; i.e., "no more." συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience, consciousness. The expression connotes the Hebrews sense of a burdened, smitten heart, which became most pronounced on the Day of Atonement (Lane). λατρεύοντας pres. act. part. λατρεύω (# 3302) to worship (TLNT; TDNT). Part. is used as a substitutive and is the so-called subject of the inf. ἅπαξ (# 562) once for all. κεκαθαρισμένους perf. pass. part. καθαρίζω (# 2751) to cleanse. Part. could be cond. or causal. Perf. suggests a cleansing that is permanent (Hughes). ◆ 3 ἐν αὐταῖς (# 1877; 899) in these; i.e., "in the sacrifices." ἀνάμνησις (# 390) remembering, reminder. The word means a calling to mind of sins whereby men are put in remembrance of them by a divine institution (Westcott). ◆ 4 ἀδύνατος (# 105) impossible. αἷμα (# 135) blood. ταύρος (# 5436) steer, bull. τράγος (# 5543) goat, male goat. ἀφαιρεῖν pres. act. inf. ἀφαιρέω (# 904) to take away from, to take away, to remove. Pres. points to a continual action and emphasizes what is always true. ◆ 5 διό (# 1475) wherefore. εἰσερχόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to enter, to go into. The expression in Jewish lit. could refer to one's birth (Michel; Attridge; Braun). Temp. part., w. pres. indicating contemporaneous time: "when He came." The words are considered prophetic, depicting beforehand the mind of Christ regarding OT sacrifice and His own mission (EGT). λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Christ Himself speaks from Ps. 40:6-8 (Hewitt). θυσία (# 2602) offering. It refers to the Heb. non-bloody offering–the meal offering (EGT). προσφορά (# 4714) offering. ἠθέλησας aor. ind. act. θέλω (# 2527) to desire. κατηρτίσω aor. ind. mid. 2nd. pers. sing. καταρτίζω (# 2936) to prepare. The words, "a body you have prepared for me," were evidently taken from the LXX and are an interpretative paraphrase of the Heb. text. The Gr. translators could have regarded the Heb. word as an instance of a part for the whole; the digging or hollowing-out of the ears is part of the total work of fashioning a human body (Bruce). Or the ears may have been taken as a symbol of obedience as the organ that receives the divine will w. the body the organ that fulfills the divine will (Riggenbach). Perhaps there is an illusion to the custom of piercing a slave's ears, the sign he had voluntarily refused his liberty and was willing and ready to hear and execute God's command (s. Exod. 21:1-6; Deut. 15:17; Hughes; Attridge; TLNT: GELTS, 243; Walter C. Kaiser, Jr. "The Abolition of the Old Order and Establishment of the New: Ps. 40:6-8 and Hebrews 10:5-10," in Tradition and Testament: Essays in Honor of Charles Lee Feinberg, ed. John S. and Paul D. Feinberg [Chicago: Moody, 1981], 19-37). For a very good study of this passage from a typological view, w. a discussion of the textual problems s. OTN, 53-67. ◆ 6 ὁλοκαύτωμα (# 3906) total or whole offering, burnt offering. περὶ ἁμαρτίας (# 4309; 281) concerning sin; i.e., sin offering. The phrase occurs frequently in Lev. to denote sin offering (EGT). εὐδόκησας aor. ind. act. 2nd. pers. sing. εὐδοκέω (# 2305) w. the acc. to be pleased w. ◆ 7 εἶπον aor. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 2627) to see. Here in the sense of "behold!," "look!" ἥκω pres. ind. act. (# 2457) The vb. has the meaning of a perfect: "I have come," "I am present" (BAGD; Westcott). κεφαλίδι dat. sing. κεφαλίς (# 3053) roll, diminutive of the word κεφαλη. It points to the head or knob of the rod around which the scroll was wound (Bruce; Attridge; Grässer). For various interpretations regarding the literal meaning of the word s. Hughes; Michel. The words κεφαλίδι βιβλίου signify the books of Moses in which the will of God and the way of obedience were written (Hughes). γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write; perf., it stands written. Perf. signifies the legal binding authority of a document (MM). περὶ ἐμοῦ (# 4309; 1609) concerning me. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Articular inf. is used to express purp. It indicates that which is closely connected w. the action as its motive (Westcott, 342). θέλημά (# 2525) will. ◆ 8 ἀνώτερον (# 542) adv., higher up. Here it means, "in the former part of the quotation" (EGT). λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ὅτι (# 4022) used to introduce a direct quotation and the equivalent of quotation marks. κατά (# 2848) w. acc., according to, according to the standard of. προσφέρονται pres. ind. pass. προσφέρω s.v. 1. ◆ 9 εἴρηκεν perf. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. Perf. expresses completed action, indicating that what the speaker said stands henceforth on permanent record (Bruce). ἰδού aor. ind. act. (s.v. 7). ἥκω pres. ind. act. to come s.v. 7. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to accomplish. Articular inf. to express purp.: "I have come to do your will." ἀναιρεῖ pres. ind. act. ἀναιρέω (# 359) to lift up, to take away, to remove, to abolish. The word was used in classical Gr.

of the destruction, abolition, or repeal of laws, governments, customs, etc. (EGT; Westcott; Michel; Weiss; Grässer). πρῶτος (# 4755) first. δεύτερος (# 1311) second. στήσῃ aor. subj. act. ἵστημι (# 2705)to place, to establish. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 10 ἐν (# 1877) in, by. Instr. use of the prep. can also have a causal tinge (BD, 118). ᾧ dat. sing. ὅς (# 4005) rel. pron., who, which. "By which will" means by the will of God thus fulfilled by Christ (Bruce). ἡγιασμένοι perf. pass. part. ἁγιάζω (# 1639) to set apart, to sanctify (TDNT; EDNT). Part. is used in a perf. pass. periphrastic construction emphasizing the completed state or condition (RWP). ἐσμέν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. προσφορά (# 4714) offering. ἐφάπαξ (# 2384) once for all. Prep. in compound gives a directive strengthening force (MH, 315). The word is found in the papyri where the context may suggest a meaning, "at one time" (MM; Preisigke). ◆ 11 πᾶς (# 4246) every. ἕστηκεν perf. ind. act. ἵστημι (# 2705) perf. to stand. The idea of standing is of a work still to be done, of service still to be rendered (Westcott). καθ' ἡμέραν (# 2846; 2465) daily. λειτουργῶν pres. act. part. λειτουργέω (# 3310) to perform religious service. The word was used in classical Gr. to mean, "to supply public offices at one's own cost"; then generally, "to serve the state," "to do a service." It was then used of service done by a priest and indicated the fulfillment of an office. The word has a definite representative character and corresponds to the function to be discharged (AS; NTW, 72f; BS, 140; TDNT; TLNT; Westcott, 230-33). Part. of manner. τὰς αὐτάς the same. πολλάκις (# 4490) frequently, time after time. προσφέρων pres. act. part. προσφέρω (# 4712) to offer. Pres. suggests contemporary action to the main vb. The action of presenting the sacrifice is continually repeated. αἵτινες fem. pl. ὅστις (# 4015) which, which one. Rel. pron. properly indicates the class or kind to which an object belongs (RG, 727). οὐδέποτε (# 4030) never. δύνανται pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. περιελεῖν aor. act. inf. περιαιρέω (# 4311) to take from around, to remove utterly (RWP). Aor. expresses finality. ◆ 12 προσενέγκας aor. act. part. προσφέρω (# 4712) to sacrifice. Temp. part. ("after"). εἰς τὸ διηνεκές (# 1457) continually, unbroken, perpetually, forever (s. 7:3; AS). ἐκάθισεν aor. ind. act. καθίζω (# 2767) to take one's seat. δεξιᾷ dat. sing. δεξιός (# 1288) right; here, "on the right." This is the position of honor (s. Eph. 1:20; SB, 4, i:452-65). His place in heaven, enabling Him to exercise the ministry of the new covenant, is the basis of the assurance that the community now possesses full access to God (Lane). ◆ 13 τὸ λοιπόν (# 3370) henceforth; i.e., "for the rest," "for the future"–all the remaining time till the end of the pres. world. Here, acc. of the extent of time (Delitzsch; RWP). ἐκδεχόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐκδέχομαι (# 1683) to await, to wait for. Prep. in compound has a perfective idea, indicating that one is ready and prepared to deal with the situation when it arrives (MH, 310). Temp. part. ("while He waits"). τεθῶσιν aor. subj. pass. (dep.) τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to put. Subj. in a purp. and indef. temp. cl. (RWP). ὑποπόδιον (# 5711) footstool (Jam. 2:3; Isa. 66:1). Here fig., to subject him to the other, so that the other can put his foot on the subject's neck (BAGD; MM). Here it is the death and atoning sacrifice of the high priest that enables victory, not the death or defeat of the enemy. ◆ 14 μιᾷ προσφορᾷ (# 1651; 4714) by one offering; dat. of instr. τετελείωκεν perf. ind. act. τελειόω (# 5457) to complete, to perfect (s. Heb. 5:9). Perf. indicates a one-time event w. a continuing result completed in the process depicted by the part. (Michel). ἁγιαζομένους pres. pass. part. ἁγιάζω to sanctify (s.v. 10). ◆ 15 μαρτυρεῖ pres. ind. act. μαρτυρέω (# 3455) to witness, to bear witness. For the writer of Hebrews the truth of one kind of testimony required confirmation by another; in this case, by the testimony of the Scriptures. The testimony of the Scripture is the testimony of God (NTCW, 218, 221). εἰρηκέναι perf. act. inf. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Inf. w. μετά (# 3552) expressing time ("after"). For the significance of the perf. s.v. 9. ◆ 16 αὕτη nom. fem. οὗτος (# 4047) this. The vb. εἰμί must be supplied; i.e., "this is the covenant." διαθήκη (# 1347) covenant. διαθήσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) διατίθημι (# 1416) to make an agreement, to make a treaty, to make a covenant. πρός (# 4639) w. acc., with. μετά (# 3552) w. acc., after. λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. διδούς pres. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Part. could be temp. or it could express means or manner. ἐπί w. the acc., upon. νόμος (# 3795) law. δίανοια (# 1379) mind (s. 8:10). ἐπιγράψω fut. act. ind. ἐπιγράφω (# 2108) to write upon. αὐτός (# 899) oneself; them (the laws). It is not just the writing but the inner ability to know and obey the laws. ◆ 17 ἁμαρτία (# 281) sin. ἀνομία (# 490) lawlessness, iniquity. μνησθήσομαι fut. ind. pass. μιμνήσκω (# 3630) w. the gen., to remember. Fut. is used here instead of the subj. of the LXX and 8:12 because the writer emphasizes the extension of the forgetting to all futurity (EGT). It is not just forgetting in the sense of not remembering, but in the sense of not holding the sins against the believer. Thus there is no need to atone for sin. οὐ μή ... ἔτι no longer, no more. ◆ 18 ὅπου (# 3963) where. ἄφεσις (# 912) forgiveness. οὐκέτι (# 4033) no longer. προσφορά (# 4714) offering. περί (# 4309) w. gen., concerning, for. ◆ 19 ἔχοντες pres. act. part. (causal) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. indicates a continual possession. παρρησία (# 4244) boldness, confidence, assurance (s. 3:6). εἴσοδος (# 1658) entrance. τῶν ἁγίων (# 41) sanctuary (s. 9:1). The expression designates the innermost sanctuary of the Holy of Holies into which, under the old dispensation, the people were forbidden to enter (Hughes). ἐν (# 1877) by. ◆ 20 ἣν fem. acc. ὅς (# 4005) rel. pron., which, referring to the entrance. ἐνεκαίνισεν aor. ind. act. ἐγκαινίζω (# 1590) to inaugurate, to dedicate. The word is used in the LXX of the inauguration or dedication of the altar, of the temple, of the kingdom (1 Sam. 11:14), or of a house (Deut. 20:5) (GELTS, 126; TLNT; Grässer; Westcott; Heb. 9:18). πρόσφατος (# 4710) freshly slaughtered, fresh, new, recent. The word means not only newly fresh, but also retaining a freshness that cannot grow old (Grässer; Westcott; Buchanan; GELTS, 406). ζῶσαν pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. It is living as a way of being in fellowship w. a person (Westcott; Michel). καταπέτασμα (# 2925) that which falls down, curtain, veil. ◆ 21 ἱερέα acc. sing. ἱερεύς (# 2636) priest. μέγας (# 3489) great. Great in position as the Son of God and in his effective sacrifice that atones completely. ἐπί (# 2093) w. acc., over. οἶκος (# 3875) house, household; referring here to the worshipping community. ◆ 22 προσερχώμεθα pres. subj. mid. (dep.) προσέρχομαι (# 4665) to come to, to draw near (s. 4:16). Cohortative subj., "let us draw near." ἀληθινός (# 240) truthful, in the sense of sincere. πληροφορία (# 4443) full assurance. ῥεραντισένοι perf. pass. part. ῥαντίζω (# 4822) to sprinkle, to cleanse. Some would see this going back to the cleansing through the red heifer (Num. 19; BAGD; Attridge). The word occurs in Lev. 6:27; Ps. 51:7; 2 Kings 9:33 (4 Kings 9:33 LXX), each time associated w. blood (HR, 2:1248). In the first two references it refers to blood in the sacrificial system for the cleaning of sin; in the latter it refers to Jezebel's blood splattered on the wall. Perf. indicates a completed state or condition. λελουσμένοι perf. pass. part. λούω (# 3374) to wash. The parts. do not express conditions of approach to God yet to be achieved, but conditions already possessed (EGT). ὕδατι (# 5623) dat. sing. ὕδωρ water. Instr. dat., "w. water." ◆ 23 κατέχωμεν pres. subj. act. κατέχω (# 2988) to hold down, to hold fast. Cohortatory subj. ὁμολογία (# 3934) confession, agreement (ECC; TDNT). ἀκλινής (# 195) unwavering, not leaning (RWP). ἐπαγγειλάμενος aor. mid. Aor. indicates antecedent action. ◆ 24 κατανοῶμεν pres. subj. act. κατανοέω (# 2917) to place the mind down upon, to consider, to consider thoughtfully (s. Heb. 3:1). Hortatory subj. ("let us"). ἀλλήλους acc. pl. ἀλλήλων (# 253) one another, refl. pron. παροξυσμός (# 4237) irritating, inciting, stimulation (EGT; RWP; Michel). ἀγάπη (# 27) love. Here, obj. gen. καλῶν ἔργων (# 2819; 2240) good works. Here, obj. gen. This is to be the result of the stimulation. ◆ 25 ἐγκαταλείποντες pres. act. part. ἐγκαταλείπω (# 1593) to leave in the lurch, to forsake. Part. of manner describing the main vb. κατανοῶμεν. ἐπισυναγωγή (# 2191) a gathering together, assembly. Prep. in compound indicates the common responsibility (Michel). The term here should be understood as simply the regular gathering together of Christian believers for worship and exhortation in a particular place (Hughes; BBC). Part. of manner or part. as imp. Customary pres. indicates an habit of life (GGBB, 521-22). ἔθος (# 1621) custom, habit. τισίν dat. pl. τις (# 5516) someone, some (pl.). The dat. may be possession ("the custom of some") or dat. of reference ("the custom in reference to some"). παρακαλοῦντες pres. act. part. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage, to entreat (s. Rom. 12:1). τοσούτῳ dat. τοσοῦτος (# 5537) so much. Used in the expression μᾶλλον ὅσῳ (# 3437; 4012) meaning, "by so much more." It is a instr. dat. or dat. of measure or degree: "by so much the more as" (RWP). βλέπετε pres. ind. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. ἐγγίζουσαν pres. act. part. ἐγγίζω (# 1581) to draw near, to come near. ◆ 26 ἑκουσίως (# 1731) adv. willingly, voluntarily, deliberately, intentionally. ἁμαρτανόντων pres. act. part. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. Gen. abs. used to express a cond. λαβεῖν aor. inf. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, receive, to obtain. Inf. w. prep. μετά (# 3552) w. a temp. meaning ("after"). ἐπίγνωσις (# 2106) knowledge, recognition. ἀλήθεια (# 237) truth. Here obj. gen., "knowledge of the truth"; the truth that is known. ἀπολείπεται pres. ind. pass. ἀπολείπω (# 657) to leave off, to leave behind; pass., to be left behind, to remain. The concept of a willful sin without a sacrifice is an OT teaching also reflected in Judaism (s. Num 15:31; Michel; Moffat; Hughes). ◆ 27 φοβερός (# 5829) fearful. ἐκδοχή (# 1693) expectation. ζῆλος (# 2419) zeal. The phrase may be translated, "zeal of fire" or "fiery zeal" (Hughes). ἐσθίειν pres. act. inf. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. Compl. inf. w. the following part. to express the fut. μέλλοντος pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about. ὑπεναντίος (# 5641) one who opposes, adversary. ◆ 28 ἀθετήσας aor. act. part. ἀθετέω (# 119) to place aside, to reject, to annul. τις (# 5516) anyone. χωρίς (# 6006) w. gen., without. οἰκτιρμός (# 3880) compassionate mercy, heartfelt mercy (s. Used here in the expression, "we do not belong to those who are timid" (BAGD). ἀπώλεια (# 724) ruin, destruction. περιποίησις (# 4348) possession. The term indicates what one makes one's own, either by keeping or by gaining (Hughes).

◆ 1 ἔστιν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. The emphatic position of the word may suggest a definition style (Michel). πίστις (# 4411) faith. It is the holding fast, in patient waiting, to what Christ has done as high priest, and it refers retrospectively to Heb. 10:39 where the context gave the nuance of steadfast faithfulness to God and His word of promise (Weiss; Lane; Attridge; Dieter Lührmann, "Pistis im Judentum," ZNW 64 (1973): 19-38; DLNT, 364-65; BBC). ἐλπιζομένων pres. pass. part. ἐλπίζω (# 1827) to hope (EH, 628-32). Subst. part., "things hoped for." ὑπόστασις (# 5712) assurance. The word has a number of connotations and usages: essence, reality, substance, foundation, or confidant assurance, hope or guarantee, attestation, as in documents that attest or provide evidence of ownership. For these meanings as well as other references s. Hughes; Michel; Attridge; Grässer; TDNT; TLNT; MM; GELTS, 495; GELRS, 303. πρᾶγμα (# 4547) matter, thing. ἔλεγχος (# 1793) evidence, proof. The word was used in the papyri of legal proofs of an accusation (MM; Preisigke; TDNT). Faith offers the full certainty of proof for what is not seen (Grässer). βλεπομένων pres. pass. part. (subst.) βλέπω (# 4063) to see. ◆ 2 ἐν (# 1877) by. Instr. prep. ταύτῃ (# 4047) this, i.e., faith. ἐμαρτυρήθησαν aor. ind. pass. μαρτυρέω (# 3455) to bear witness. Pass. may be the so-called theol. pass., indicating that it is God who bears witness concerning the elders (BG, 76). πρεσβύτερος (# 4565) elder. These were the men and women of old who received the divine commendation for faith of this kind (Bruce; DLNT, 38-40). Josephus tells of Judas Maccabaeus, who saw his troops shrinking from the battle because of their small number, and encouraged them w. the example of their forefathers, "who because of their righteousness and their struggles on behalf of their own laws and children had many times defeated many tens of thousands" (Jos., Ant., 12:290-91). ◆ 3 πίστει dat. sing. πίστις (# 4411) faith (s.v. 1). Dat. of instr., "by faith." The use of this word in the chapter will serve as an introductory or a transition marker. νοοῦμεν pres. ind. act. νοέω (# 3783) to understand. The word expresses a mental perception in distinction from a sensuous perception (Westcott). κατηρτίσθαι pres. pass. inf. καταρτίζω (# 2936) to outfit, to perfect. The word expresses the manifoldness and the unity of all creation. The tense suggests that the original lesson of creation remains for abiding use and application (Westcott). The word was used in Hellenistic literature to describe the act of creation and in this sense has a solemn tone (Michel). Inf. is used in indir. disc. αἰών (# 172) age, world (TDNT). ῥῆμα (# 4839) that which is spoken, word. Here instr. dat. φαινομένων pres. mid. (dep.) part. φαίνομαι (# 5743) to appear, to be visible. βλεπόμενον pres. pass. part. βλέπω (# 4063) to see. γεγονέναι perf. inf. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Inf. to express results (RG, 1003; BD, 207f). The neg. should be taken w. inf. so the translation would be, "so that what is seen has not come into being from things which appear" (Hughes). ◆ 4 πλείονα comp. πολύς (# 4498) much, great; comp., better. παρά (# 4123) than. For the prep. used in a comp. construction s. 1:4. προσήνεγκεν aor. ind. act. προσφέρω (# 4712) to bring to, to offer, to sacrifice. τῷ θεῷ (# 2536) to God, dat. ind. obj. (dep.) ὀρεγομαι (# 3977) to stretch oneself out for; fig., to desire, to aspire, to strive for, to yearn for (RWP; BAGD; s. 1 Tim. 3:1). Present vbs. in this context indicate the continual habitual attitude of life. ἐπουράνιος (# 2230) heavenly (s. Eph. 1:3). ἐπαισχύνεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπαισχύνομαι (# 2049) to be ashamed. ἐπικαλεῖσθαι pres. mid./pass. inf. ἐπικαλέω (# 2126) to call upon, to name. If the vb. is taken as mid., the meaning is, "God is not ashamed of them to call Himself their God." If pass., "God is not ashamed of them to be called their God." Epex. inf. explaining the main vb. ἡτοίμασεν aor. ind. act. ἑτοιμάζω (# 2286) to prepare, to make ready.

◆ 17 προσενήνοχεν perf. ind. act. προσφέρω (# 4712) to offer, to offer as a sacrifice. Perf. indicates this as an abiding example (BD, 177). πειραζόμενος pres. pass. part. πειράζω (# 4279) to try, to examine, to test (TLNT; TDNT). Pass. is divine pass. indicating that Abraham was tested by God (Hughes; BG, 76). μονογενής (# 3666) unique, only one of the kind, only (TDNT; NIDNTT). προσέφερεν aor. ind. act. προσφέρω (# 4712) to offer. ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise. Here, w. the def. art., "the well-known promises." ἀναδεξάμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἀναδέχομαι (# 346) to receive, to gladly receive. Temp. or causal part. Aor. indicates logically antecedent action. The idea suggested here seems to be of welcoming and cherishing a divine charge that involves a noble responsibility (Westcott). "After having received the promises," or "because he had received the promises"; or adj. part., "who received...." ◆ 18 ἐλαλήθη aor. ind. pass. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. κληθήσεται fut. ind. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call. σπέρμα (# 5065) seed. ◆ 19 λογισάμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. λογίζομαι (# 3357) to consider, to reckon. Vb. is used by Paul in the sense of calculating or reckoning on the basis of firm evidence. The word denotes inward conviction, persuasion, not simply a more or less reliable opinion (Hughes). Part. could be used to express the cause or reason and explains why Abraham had the courage to sacrifice Isaac, even though the action seemed certain to ruin the fulfillment of God's promise (Moffatt). ἐγείρειν pres. act. inf. ἐγείρω (# 1586) to raise. Compl. inf. to the following adj. δυνατός (# 1543) capable, able; "that God was able to raise." ὅθεν (# 3854) wherefore. παραβολῇ (# 4130) dat. parable, analogy; used here adverbially–"figuratively speaking" (Hughes; Michel; Westcott). ἐκομίσατο aor. ind. mid. κομίζω (# 3152) to obtain or get, to receive. ◆ 20 περί (# 4309) concerning. μελλόντων pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. (dep.) part. δέχομαι (# 1312) to welcome, to receive. κατάσκοπος (# 2946) spy. ◆ 32 λέγω (# 3306) pres. ind. act. to say. Pres. suggests continuous activity: "Why do I still speak?" The form could be taken as pres. subj. and be deliberative (Attridge). ἐπιλείψει fut. ind. act. ἐπιλείπω (# 2142) to fall upon, to fail. διηγούμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. διηγέομαι (# 1455) to narrate, to tell about, to carry a discussion through. The words are lit., "will leave me telling about" (RWP). This is a common rhetorical device, allowing the author to summarize (BBC). Part. could be cond., "If I were to tell about"(GGBB, 633). Pres. indicates incomplete action. ◆ 33 κατηγωνίσαντο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) κατηγωνίζω (# 2865) to struggle against, to overcome, to subdue. Prep. in compound not only carries the idea of "against," but also that the action is unfavorable to an object (MH, 316). Aor. in a narrative pointing to the completed action. εἰργάσαντο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work effectively. The vb. is used w. the noun δικαιοσύνην in the LXX to mean "to practice justice" (Ps. 15:2), and is used of doing what is right in reference to personal integrity (Hughes). ἐπέτυχον aor. ind. act. ἐπιτυγχάνω (# 2209) to obtain, to receive, w. gen. ἔφραξαν aor. ind. act. φράσσω (# 5852) to fence in, to block up, to stop (RWP). στόμα (# 5125) mouth. ◆ 34 ἔσβεσαν aor. ind. act. σβέννυμι (# 4931) to quench, to put out a fire. ἔφυγον aor. ind. act. φεύγω (# 5771) to flee. Perfective aor. indicates the success in fleeing; i.e., "to escape." στόματα mouth, edge (s.v. 33). μάχαιρα (# 3479) sword. ἐδυναμώθησαν aor. ind. pass. δυναμόω (# 1540) to make strong, to be strong. Ingressive aor., "to become strong," "they became mighty." ἀσθένεια (# 819) weakness. ἐγενήθησαν aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. πολέμῳ dat. sing. πόλεμος (# 4483) war, battle. παρεμβολάς acc. pl. παρεμβολή (# 4213) encampment, barracks, armies in a battle line, army (RWP). ἔκλιναν aor. ind. act. κλίνω (# 3111) to make to bend, to bow, to turn to flight (AS). ἀλλότριος (# 259) foreign. ◆ 35 ἔλαβον aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, to receive. ἀνάστασις (# 414) resurrection. ἐτυμπανίσθησαν aor. ind. pass. τυμπανίζω (# 5594) to torture. The root meaning of the word is "to beat," "to strike," or "to pound." A related noun means a kettle drum w. a skin stretched taut for striking. Those who were tortured might either be beaten directly or stretched over a wheel and whirled while being afflicted w. rods to break their limbs until they died (Buchanan; Westcott; Attridge; Michel; BBC; BAGD). προσδεξάμενοι aor. mid. (dep.) part. προσδέχομαι (# 4657) to accept, to receive. ἀπολύτρωσις (# 667) release by the payment of a price, release (s. James

◆ 1 Ἰάκωβος (# 2610) James. This James was the half-brother of Jesus (s. Mark 6:3-5; Mayor; Martin, xxxi-lxix; JMM; DLNT, 545-47). He grew up in a poor family w. at least 7 children, but before the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, he was not a believer (John 7:5; 1 Cor. 15:7). He was evidently small in stature (Mark 15:40) and led a very austere life (Eusebius, Church History, 2:23). After his conversion he became a leader in the church at Jerusalem (Gal. 2:9; Acts 15). He was called "the righteous (Just) one" and it was said of him that "his knees grew hard like a camel's because of his constant worship of God, kneeling and asking forgiveness for his people" (Eusebius, Church History, 2:23). While Ananus (Annas) was the high priest, just after the death of Porcius Festus, James was killed for his faith by being thrown down from the pinnacle of the temple in Jerusalem, then stoned and hit in the head with a club. As he was being stoned, he cried out, "I beseech thee, O Lord, God and Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do!" One of the priest called out, "Stop! What are you doing? The Just (ὁ δίκαιος) is praying for you" (Eusebius, Church History, 2:23; Jos., Ant., 20:197-207). He was a man of righteousness, faith, patience, obedience, and prayer, as reflected in his life and letter. For a summary of the theology of the book s. Davids, 35-57; Martin, lxxvii-xcviii). θεοῦ καὶ κυρίου Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ of God and the Lord Jesus Christ. Emphatic by the position. Gen. indicating ownership of the slave. He calls his half-brother "Lord." δοῦλος (# 1528) slave, one owned by another who stands in service to his master (DLNT, 1098-1102). Here he does not call himself "righteous" ("just") (δίκαιος), as others had, but rather "slave" (δοῦλος). Without the art. the character is stressed. δώδεκα (# 1557) twelve. φυλαῖς dat. pl. φυλή (# 5876) tribe. διασπορᾷ (# 1420) scattering, dispersion, diaspora. The term indicates one living in a foreign country (Mussner; Dibelius; s. 1 Pet. 1:1). The term could refer to Jewish Christians living outside of Palestine (Mayor; Martin; Ropes; DLNT, 287-300). The article is used here since the dispersion, though not mentioned earlier, is well known (GGBB, 225). χαίρειν pres. act. inf. χαίρω (# 5897) to greet. Independent use of inf. noun according to the letter style of the day: "greetings!" Perhaps there is a play on the words χαρεῖν and χαράν forming a transition to the body of the letter w. a new subject (Davids; Martin). ◆ 2 χάρα (# 5915) joy. This is not the detachment of the Greek philosopher, but the eschatological joy of those expecting the intervention of God at the end of the age (Davids; TLNT; GELTS, 513; Adamson, 88-89). ἡγήσασθε aor. imp. mid. ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to consider, to deem as, to reckon as. Obj. of vb. is placed first for emphasis (Mussner). Aor. is perhaps used because the writer is thinking of each special case of temptation (Ropes; Mayor). It could be ingressive aor., "begin to consider ..." (GGBB, 720). ἀδελφοί μου (# 81; 1609) "my brothers"; a term of affection and inclusion. ὅταν (# 4020) w. subj., whenever, indicating an indef. temp. cl. πειρασμός (# 4280) trial, temptation. Sometimes the word is used regarding outward trials and inward temptations (Tasker; Mayor; TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT). περιπέσητε aor. subj. act. περιπίπτω (# 4346) to fall into, to encounter; usually of misfortunes, robbers, tortures, sickness; here, "become involved in various kinds of trials" (BAGD; Martin). Subj. w. ὅταν (# 4020) in an indef. temp. cl. indicating that the trails may occur at any time. ποικίλος (# 4476) many-colored, variegated, various, varied. ◆ 3 γινώσκοντες pres. act. part. (causal) γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Pres. describes contemporaneous action. The content of the knowledge is given in the following ὅτι (# 4022) cl. δοκίμιον (# 1510) trying, testing, proving, means of testing (Davids; Mayor). Pass. has the idea of "approved after testing," "tested and approved," "the genuine part" (BS, 259ff; IBG, 96; Ropes; Dibelius; BTNT, 418; TLNT). κατεργάζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) κατεργάζομαι (# 2981) to accomplish, to bring about, to produce, to create (BAGD). Epictetus wrote, "It is difficulties (περιστάσεις) that show what men are" (Epictetus, 1:24). Gnomic pres. indicating a general truth, or iterative pres. indicating that this happens repeatedly. ὑπομονή (# 5705) patience, faithful endurance (Martin; s. Heb. 10:36; TLNT). ◆ 4 τέλειον (# 5455) perfection. Here James continues the OT idea of perfection as a right relationship w. God expressed in undivided obedience and unblemished life (Adamson; Martin). ἐχέτω pres. imp. act. 3rd. pers. sing. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. imp. calls for the continuation of an action in progress. ἦτε pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ὁλόκληρος (# 3908) complete in all its parts, entire; used of sacrificial animals without any defect, or of good health

(TLNT; CCFJ, 3:196; NDIEC, 1:132-35; 4:161-62; MM). The word indicates the entirety of all the Christian virtues (Mussner). λειπόμενοι pres. mid. part. λείπω (# 3309) to be left behind, to lack. Circum. part., perhaps indicating the result. ◆ 5 λείπεται pres. ind. pass. λείπω (# 3309) s.v. 4. It picks up the part. of v. 4 to form a transition (Davids). Ind. w. εἰ (# 1623) in a 1st. class cond. cl. which presupposes a standing fact (Martin). αἰτείτω pres. imp. act. 3rd. pers. sing. αἰτέω (# 160) to ask, to petition. Imp. as a command, "He must ask God" (GGBB, 486). διδόντος pres. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Adj. part. "God who gives freely." Iterat. pres. suggests that He gives over and over again. ἁπλῶς (# 607) adv., simply, unconditionally, without bargaining. Here the word could possibly mean "generously," derived from the noun meaning "liberality," from the idea of frankness and open-heartedness (Mayor). Perhaps the best translation here is "freely" (Adamson), or perhaps "purely and simply," emphasizing that it is a pure gift (TLNT, 1:172-73); for the meaning "simplicity" used in a text concerning worshippers of men who approach him "in simplicity" s. NDIEC, 3:20-21. πᾶσιν dat. pl. πᾶς (# 4246) all. Dat. indir. obj., "to all"; anyone can ask, wisdom will be given to all who ask. ὀνειδίζοντος pres. act. part. ὀνειδίζω (# 3943) to rebuke, to reprove, to reproach, to insult. δοθήσεται fut. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Pass. would be the divine pass., indicating that God is the giver (BG, 236). ◆ 6 αἰτείτω pres. imp. act. 3rd. pers. sing. αἰτέω (# 160) to ask (s.v. 5). πίστις (# 4411) faith. Here it does not denote constancy in the Christian religion as in v. 3. Here it means confidence in prayer–the petitioner's faith, his belief and trust that God will heed his prayer and grant it, or only in His superior wisdom deny it (Adamson; Ropes). For the grammatical structure of the cond. cl. followed by the imp. s. Mussner; Beyer, 238. διακρινόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. διακρίνω (# 1359) to divide, to be at variance w. oneself, to waver, to doubt (Ropes). ἔοικεν perf. ind. act. w. pres. meaning ἔοικα (# 2036) to be like, to resemble, w. dat. (BAGD; MM). κλύδων (# 3114) wave; i.e., "the surge of the sea," "the billowing sea" (Ropes). θαλάσσης gen. sing. θάλασσα (# 2498) sea. Gen. of description. ἀνεμιζομένῳ pres. pass. part. (adj.) ἀνεμίζω (# 448) to drive w. the wind (Dibelius). ῥιπιζομένῳ pres. pass. part. (adj.) ῥιπίζω (# 4847) to fan, most often of fanning a flame (Mayor); here, to toss (Dibelius). ◆ 7 οἰέσθω pres. imp. mid. (dep.) 3rd. pers. sing. οἴομαι (# 3887) to suppose. The word is often used in a neg. sense, indicating wrong judgment or conceit (Ropes). λήμψεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. ◆ 8 ἀνήρ (# 467) male, man. The word is used here in the sense of a person (Dibelius). δίψυχος (# 1500) double-souled, double-minded; i.e., "w. soul divided between faith and the world" (Ropes; Adamson; Oscar S. J. Seitz, "Antecedents and Significance of the Term Dipsychos," JBL 66 [1947]: 215). ἀκατάστατος (# 190) not having stability, unsettled, unstable. Polybius uses it both of political disturbance and of individual character (Mayor). The word indicates vacillation in all activity and conduct (Dibelius). ὁδός (# 3847) ways, here manner of life, conduct. ◆ 9 καυχάσθω pres. imp. mid. (dep.) καυχάομαι (# 3016) to boast, to boast over a privilege or possession. The word is used in the OT of any proud and exulting joy (Ropes). ταπεινός (# 5424) low, low degree, humble position. The word is used in the LXX to translate the Heb. word עָנִי for "poor," "without possessions" (Dibelius; GELTS, 468; TLNT). There were many poor people in Jerusalem at that time and a large section of the population lived chiefly or entirely on charity or relief. Many begged in order to survive (JTJ, 11-12, 109-19). ὕψει dat. sing. ὕψος (# 5737) height, exaltation. It refers to the pres. spiritual status which, by virtue of his relation to Christ, the Christian now enjoys (Adamson). ◆ 10 πλούσιος (# 4454) rich, very rich, wealthy. There were some very rich people in Jerusalem at that time as evidenced by their elaborate homes, clothing, slaves, banquets, etc. This was especially true among some of the religious leaders, such as the Sadducees in line to be high priest (JTJ, 87-99; JMM, 230-58). The family of Ananus, the high priest at the time of James' death, was very rich, but ruthless (Jos., Ant., 20:207). ταπείνωσις (# 5428) lowliness, humiliation. ἄνθος (# 470) flower. χόρτος (# 5965) grass. παρελεύσεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) παρέχομαι (# 4216) to pass along the side of, to pass away, to disappear (Ropes). ◆ 11 ἀνέτειλεν aor. ind. act. ἀνατέλλω (# 422) to rise up, to rise. Gnomic aor., indicating that which generally happens (Ropes). καύσων (# 3014) burning heat. The word may refer to the blistering east wind called Sirocco (Mayor; Ropes; Adamson). This wind came out of the eastern desert, scorching all plant life in its way. Frequently the Hebrew equivalent קָדִים occurs as a sign of divine judgment (Ezek 27:26; NIDOTTE, 3:872; GELTS, 251). ἐξήρανεν aor. ind. act. ξηραίνω (# 3830) to dry, to dry out, to wither. ἐξέπεσεν aor. ind. act. ἐκπίπτω (# 1738) to fall off. The word was used in the LXX of flowers falling from the stem (Mayor). εὐπρέπεια (# 2346) outward beauty. The word is used to suggest fitness between the object and its relations, sometimes gaining a stateliness or majesty (Ropes). ἀπώλετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to ruin, to come to ruin, to be destroyed. πορεία (# 4512) way. The word could be used in the sense of business journey, but here it refers to the rich man's whole way of life (Dibelius). μαρανθήσεται fut. ind. pass. μαρανθέω (# 3447) to wither, to waste away. The picture of the rich withering continues the simile of the fading flower; the picturesque vb. may depict the dying of a flower or the decaying of plants like roses or ears of corn (Adamson; Ropes). The reference is to the loss of riches and earthly prosperity, not to eternal destiny (Ropes). ◆ 12 μακάριος (# 3421) blessed, happy (TDNT; TLNT; GELTS, 286). The idea expressed here is familiar in Judaism: "Happy is the man who can withstand the test, for there is none whom God does not prove" (Adamson; s. for example Prov. 8:32, 34; TDOT 1:445-48; also Matt. 5:3). ὑπομένει pres. ind. act. ὑπομένω (# 5702) to endure, to patiently and triumphantly endure, to show constancy under (Ropes). It is not the patience that can sit down and bow its head, letting things descend upon it in passive endurance until the storm is passed. It is the spirit that can bear things, not simply w. resignation, but w. blazing hope (NTW, 60). πειρασμός (# 4280) trial. δόκιμος (# 1511) approved after testing (s.v. 3). γενόμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Temp. part. ("after being approved"), not cond. (Dibelius; Ropes). λήμψεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. στέφανον τῆς ζωῆς (# 5109; 2437) crown of life. The crown spoken of here, a head wreath or circlet, was the victor's prize in the Gr. games; it might also be given to someone the public wished to honor and worn in religious and secular feasts (Adamson; Ropes; TDNT). Gen. here could be descriptive (a living crown), in contrast to a perishable crown, or it could be an appositional gen. (the crown is life). For a discussion of the various possibilities s. Dibelius; Mayor. ἐπηγγείλατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπαγγέλλω (# 2040) to promise. ἀγαπῶσιν pres. act. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). Part. used as a noun to emphasize the verbal notion as a trait. Little did James know as he wrote these words that he too would soon be a martyr. ◆ 13 πειραζόμενος pres. pass. part. (temp.) πειράζω (# 4279) to try, to tempt (TDNT; TLNT). Here the word is used to mean, "temptation to sin" (Ropes). Pres. indicates a contemporaneous action, "while in the temptation." λεγέτω pres. imp. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ὅτι (# 4022) that, used as quotation marks to introduce a dir. quotation. ἀπὸ θεοῦ (# 608; 2536) from God. The prep. expresses the remoter rather than the nearer cause (Mayor). πειράζομαι pres. ind. mid. (dep.) πειράζω (# 4279) to tempt. Gnomic or iterative pres., indicating that which generally happens or happens over and over. ἀπείραστος (# 585) not able to be tempted; invincible to assault of evils (Ropes; Peter H. Davids, "The Meaning of Apeirastos in James 1:13," NTS 24 [1978]: 386-92). κακῶν gen. pl. κακός (# 2805) evil thing. Subjective gen., "not tempted by evil things"; or gen. of means, indicating the means by which God is tempted (GGBB, 125). πειράζει pres. ind. act. πειράζω (# 4279) to tempt. Gnomic pres. αὐτός (# 899) he, himself; used to strengthen the contrast. ◆ 14 ἕκαστος (# 1667) each. πειράζεται pres. ind. pass. πειράζω (# 4279) to tempt. ἴδιος (# 2625) one's own. ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) desire, strong desire directed toward an object, lust (TDNT; DNP, 2:542-44). ἐξελκόμενος pres. pass. part. ἐξέλκω (# 1999) to draw out, to draw away, to lure. δελεαζόμενος pres. pass. part. δελεάζω (# 1284) to entice or catch by the use of bait. These words were applied to the hunter or, esp., the fisherman who lures his prey from its retreat and entices it by bait into his trap, hook, or net (Ropes; Adamson). In like manner the first effect of lust is to draw the man out of his original repose, the second to allure him to a definite bait (Mayor). For the comparison of James' teaching regarding lust and desire w. the Jewish teaching regarding the "evil inclination" s. Mussner; SB, 4:466-83; PRJ, 17-35. ◆ 15 εἶτα (# 1663) then. The word introduces the practical result of the temptation arising from lust (Ropes). συλλαβοῦσα aor. act. part. (temp.) συλλαμβάνω (# 5197) to become pregnant, to conceive. If the previous words refer to the enticement of a prostitute, then this word pictures the result of yielding to her seductive temptations (Mussner). Aor. indicates logically antecedent action. τίκτει pres. ind. act. τίκτω (# 5503) to give birth, to bear. Gnomic pres. ἀποτελεσθεῖσα aor. pass. part. ἀποτελέω (# 699) to come to completion, to come to maturity, to be fully grown. The word connotes completeness in parts and function accompanying full growth as opposed to a rudimentary or otherwise incomplete state (Adamson; Ropes). ἀποκύει pres. ind. act. ἀποκύω (# 652) to cease being pregnant, to give birth to. The word is frequently used of animals; otherwise it is a medical rather than a literary word (Ropes). Prep. in compound denotes cessation (Mayor; MH, 298). ◆ 16 πλανᾶσθε pres. imp. mid./pass. πλανάω (# 4414) to lead astray, to deceive. Mid. or pass. could be permissive: "Don't allow yourselves to be deceived." ἀγαπητός (# 28) beloved, a term of endearment. ◆ 17 δόσις (# 1521) giving. δώρημα (# 1564) that which is given, gift. τέλειος (# 5455) perfect, in the sense of complete. ἄνωθεν (# 540) from above. καταβαῖνον pres. act. part. καταβαίνω (# 2849) to come down. The part. can be adj. or periphrastic (GGBB, 648). Pres. is gnomic or pictures an action that is repeated. πατρός gen. sing. πατήρ (# 4252) father. φώτων gen. pl. φῶς (# 5890) light. The word generally refers to the light given heavenly bodies; and it describes God as the cosmic Father and Creator of the heavenly bodies (Mayor; Ropes; Dibelius; Martin; BBC). ἔνι = ἔνειμι (# 1928) pres. ind. act. to be in, to be present (on this contracted form, which also may be considered a strengthened form of the prep. s. BAGD; BD, 49; MH, 306; RG, 313). It is not just the fact that is negated but also the possibility (Mayor). παραλλαγή (# 4164) variation. It is used in Gr. for the setting of the teeth in a saw, for stones set alternately, or for a sequence of beacons or seasons; generally it denotes some regularity or system in change (Adamson). τροπή (# 5572) turning. Here gen. of definition, "a variation consisting in turning." ἀποσκίασμα (# 684) shadow. The word can mean the shadow cast by an object, as in an eclipse, or the act of overshadowing; or it can mean a reflected image (Adamson; Dibelius; Mayor; Ropes). God's benevolence is like a light that cannot be extinguished, eclipsed, or "shadowed out" in any way at all. Nothing can block God's light, interrupt the flow of His goodness, or put us "in shadow" so that we are out of the reach of His radiance (Adamson). ◆ 18 βουληθείς aor. pass. part. βούλομαι (# 1089) to counsel, to decide after counsel, to will. Here it refers to the free sovereign, creative will or decision, decree of God (Mussner; TDNT). Temp. part. ("after deciding"), or causal ("because he decided"). Aor. indicates a logically antecedent action. ἀπεκύησεν aor. ind. act. ἀποκυέω = ἀποκύω (# 652) to give birth, to bear (s.v. 15). Although the contract vb. generally refers to birth through a woman, it is used here in reference to God giving birth (Mussner; Adamson). εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Articular inf. w. εἰς (# 1650) used to express purp. or result. ἀπαρχή (# 569) firstfruit. Collective noun referring to the group (Martin). Pred. acc. in with the inf., "that we should be firstfruits." τινα acc. sing. τις (# 5516) as it were, so to say, a kind of (BD, 158). κτίσμα (# 3233) creation. Here partitive gen., "which is a part of His creatures" (GGBB, 85-86). ◆ 19 ἴστε pres. imp. act. 2nd. pers. pl. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ἔστω pres. imp. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ταχύς (# 5444) quick, swift, fast. ἀκοῦσαι aor. act. inf. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Articular inf. w. the prep. εἰς (# 1650) can express purp. or result, or it can mean, "w. reference to hearing" (Ropes). βραδύς (# 1096) slow. λαλῆσαι aor. act. inf. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Articular inf. w. the prep. εἰς (# 1650) in the sense of "w. reference to" (Ropes). ὀργή (# 3973) anger, wrath. It refers to deep-seated anger (TDNT). ◆ 20 θεοῦ gen. sing. θεός (# 2536) God. Here the gen., "God's righteousness," refers not to the righteousness that is part of His character, but to the way of life, in deed and thought, that He requires in us (Adamson; Lenski). ἐργάζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work, to do, to practice (Ropes). Pres. indicates what is continually true. ◆ 21 διό (# 1475) therefore. ἀποθέμενοι aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἀποτίθημι (# 700) to put off, to strip off. It is a metaphor for the putting off of clothes (Mayor). ῥυπαρία (# 4864) dirtiness, filthiness. The word was used of dirty clothes and moral defilement (Mayor; Ropes). περισσείαν (# 4353) overabundance, excess. κακία (# 2798) evil, wickedness. Here gen. of apposition. The phrase calls attention to the fact that wickedness is in reality an excrescence on character, not a normal part of it (Ropes). πραΰτης (# 4559) meekness, mildness, gentleness. It is the humble and gentle attitude expressing itself in a patient submissiveness to offense, free from malice and desire for revenge. The word stands in contrast to the term ὀργή (Mussner; Gal. 5:23; 2 Cor. 10:1; Matt. 5:5). δέξασθε aor. imp. mid. (dep.) δέχομαι (# 1312) to receive, to accept. ἔμφυτος (# 1875) implanted. It is the word for an implanting not at birth, but later in life. It is used metaphorically for what is sent into a man to be, or for what he grows to be, a part of his nature (Adamson, 98-100). δυνάμενον pres. pass. (dep.) part. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. σῶσαι aor. act. inf. σῴζω (# 5392) to rescue, to save. ◆ 22 γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Pres. indicating continual action calls for a habit of life; thus, "become and continue to be ...." ποιηταί nom. pl. ποιητής (# 4475) one who performs an action, one who does something, doer. The expression would be the same as the Semitic phrase "to do the law," meaning to observe the law or to fulfill the law. For examples s. Dibelius. ἀκροατής (# 212) one who hears. In the Jewish home, the education process, and in the synagogue worship, the hearing of the Law read aloud played an important part in Jewish life (JPFC, 2:800f, 945-77; Dibelius). The rabbis also stressed very strongly the necessity of keeping the Law (M, Aboth 1,17; 5:14; for other examples s. Mussner; SB, 3:84-88, 753). παραλογιζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. παραλογίζομαι (# 4165) to reason beside the point, to misjudge, to miscalculate, to deceive oneself, to cheat in reckoning, to deceive through fallacious reasoning (MM; MH, 319; GELTS, 354). ◆ 23 ἔοικεν perf. act. ind. ἔοικα (# 2036) to be like (s.v. 6). κατανοοῦντι pres. act. part. κατανοέω (# 2917) to put the mind down upon, to consider attentively, to take note of, to look at (RWP; Ropes). πρόσωπον (# 4725) face. γένεσις (# 1161) birth, origin, natural, mortal. The word indicates the face one received at birth and the gen. here is either gen. of attribute or perhaps of source (Mussner; Adamson; Ropes). ἔσοπτρον (# 2269) mirror. Mirrors were generally highly polished metal, frequently w. an ivory or bone handle as well as with a decorated covering (s. 1 Cor. 13:12; Mayor; BBC; LAW, 2859). For the "mirror of remembrance" s. DLNT, 815-16. ◆ 24 κατενόησεν aor. ind. act. κατανοέω (# 2917) to consider attentively (s.v. 23). ἀπελήλυθεν perf. ind. act. ἀπέρχομαι (# 599) to go away. The force of the perf. here is to express an immediate, a swift result (Adamson; Ropes). εὐθέως (# 2311) adv., immediately. ἐπελάθετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπιλανθάνομαι (# 2140) to forget. ὁποῖος (# 3961) what sort of, what kind of. ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 25 παρακύψας aor. act. part. παρακύπτω (# 4160) to stoop down and look into in order to see something exactly and recognize (Mussner). Here it means "bending over the mirror in order to examine it more minutely," "hearing into it" (Mayor). τέλειον (# 5455) perfect. ἐλευθερία (# 1800) freedom (Adams, 33f). Here gen. of attribute (Mussner). παραμείνας pres. act. part. παραμένω (# 4169) to stay beside, to remain, to continue (s. Phil.

1:25). ἐπιλησμονή (# 2144) forgetfulness. γενόμενος aor. mid. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. ποιητής (# 4475) doer. ἔργον (# 2240) work. Gen. here is a certain emphasis, "a doer who does" (Ropes). ποίησις (# 4472) doing. ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 26 δοκεῖ pres. ind. act. δοκέω (# 1506) to seem. θρησκός (# 2580) religious, pious. The word denotes the scrupulous observance of religious exercise–in action or words–sincerely or hypocritically performed in the guise of devout religion. The word describes one who stands in awe of the gods and is tremendously scrupulous in regard to them (Adamson; Mayor; Ropes; TDNT). εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. χαλιναγωγῶν pres. act. part. χαλιναγωγέω (# 5902) to lead w. a bridle, to bridle. The picture is that of a man putting the bridle in his own mouth, not in that of another (RWP). ἀπατῶν pres. act. part. ἀπατάω (# 572) to deceive. μάταιος (# 3469) vain, empty, nonproductive, useless, dead (Mussner; TDNT). θρησκεία (# 2579) piety, religious worship. The word expresses the worship of God, religion, especially expressed in religious service or cult (BAGD; MM; s. also the adj. in this v.). ◆ 27 ἀμίαντος (# 299) without defilement, undefiled, free from contamination (AS). ἐπισκέπτεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἐπισκέπτομαι (# 2170) to look upon, to visit, to provide help for. The word often was used for the visiting of the sick (Mayor; Ropes). ὀρφανός (# 4003) orphan. χήρα (# 5939) widow. For the needs of the orphans and widows particularly in Judaism s. Mussner; Mayor; JPFC, 2:78ff; DLNT, 1220-21. θλῖψις (# 2568) stress, pressure, affliction. ἄσπιλος (# 834) without a spot, unstained. τηρεῖν pres. act. inf. τηρέω (# 5498) to observe, to keep, to guard. Epex. inf. explaining the nature of true piety or worship. κόσμος (# 3180) world system (TDNT; NIDNTT).

◆ 1 προσωπολημψία (# 4721) the receiving of one's face, partiality (s. Rom. 2:11; Davids; Mayor). ἔχετε pres. imp. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) could call for the stopping of a habit or an action in progress. δόξης gen. sing. δόξα (# 1518) glory. Gen. has been variously interpreted as having an obj., a subjective, or a qualitative force and has been connected to the various substitutives in the sentence. For various interpretations s. Mayor; Adamson; Dibelius; Ropes; Davids; Martin. ◆ 2 εἰσέλθῃ aor. subj. act. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to come into. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. indicating the possibility or probability of the cond. συναγωγή (# 5252) gathering, assembly meeting (Davids; Martin). χρυσοδακτύλιος (# 5993) w. a golden ring on the finger. It was common to wear rings in the ancient world either as a signet ring or as a piece of jewelry for adornment. Sometimes more than one ring was worn, and the social status of a person could be noted by the quality of his ring (DGRA, 95-97; M, Kelim 11:8, 12:1; Pliny, NH, 33:24-25; NW 2, ii:1276-81). ἐσθής (# 2264) garment, clothes. λαμπρός (# 3287) shining. Some robes were said to have been made from silver that would glisten in the sunlight (s. Acts 12:21). The word here could refer to elegant and luxurious clothes or of fresh and clean clothes without any reference to costliness (Ropes). εἰσέλθῃ aor. subj. act. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to come. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. expressing probability. πτωχός (# 4777) poor, abject poverty, poor as a beggar (NTW, 109-11; BAGD; TDNT; s. 1:9). ῥυπαρός (# 4865) filthy, dirty. The normal toga of the Romans was white, as was the robe of the Jews, and political candidates wore even brighter white produced by rubbing the garment with chalk. The white toga had to be cleaned and when this was neglected the Romans called it sordida, and those who wore such garments sordidati s. DGRA, 1137; Mayor; Mussner. ◆ 3 ἐπιβλέψητε aor. subj. act. ἐπιβλέπω (# 2098) to look upon, to direct one's attention to, to look w. attention or interest or respect or favor (Adamson). φοροῦντα pres. act. part. This could have been something like what was found in a synagogue of the 2nd. or 3rd. century–a stone bench running along the walls, w. a lower tier for the feet of those sitting on the bench (Adamson). ◆ 4 διεκρίθητε aor. ind. pass. διακρίνω (# 1359) to judge between two, to face both ways, to be divided against oneself, to waiver, to distinguish. The vb. has numerous meanings; here the best seems to be "to make a distinction," "to make differences." The neg. οὐ (# 4024),

"not," used in the question expects the answer "yes" and the words could be translated, "You have made differences, haven't you?" ἐν ἑαυτοῖς (# 1877; 1571) "in (among) yourselves"; can mean either distinctions between church members or the subjective opinion one makes within himself (Mussner; Adamson; Dibelius; MM). ἐγένεσθε aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. κριταί nom. pl. κριτής (# 3216) judge. διαλογισμός (# 1369) reasoning. The word includes purpose as well as deliberation, and the gen. here is gen. of quality, "judges w. evil thoughts" (Ropes). ◆ 5 ἀκούσατε aor. imp. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἐξελέξατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐκλέγομαι (# 1721) to pick out, to choose out; mid. to choose for oneself. πτωχός (# 4777) poor, poor as a beggar. τῷ κόσμῳ (# 3180) world. Dat. could be locative indicating the place ("in the world"), dat. of respect ("those poor in respect to worldly goods") [Dibelius; GGBB, 145-46]), or it could be an ethical dat. ("poor in the opinion of the world," i.e., in the world's judgment [Mayor; BD, 103; MT, 239; Martin]). πλούσιος (# 4454) rich, wealthy. ἐν πίστει (# 1877; 4411) in faith. The phrase could mean "abounding in faith" (Mayor) or "in virtue of faith" or better "in the realm of faith" (Ropes; Adamson). κληρονόμος (# 3101) heir. βασιλείας (# 993) kingdom. Gen. here gives content of the inheritance. ἐπηγγείλατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπαγγέλομαι (# 2040) to promise. ἀγαπῶσιν pres. act. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Adj. part. as subst. Dat. of personal interest. ◆ 6 ἠτιμάσατε aor. ind. act. ἀτιμάζω (# 869) to treat without honor, to dishonor. τὸν πτωχόν (# 4777) the poor. The art. could point to a specific person or used w. the adj. to stress the quality, not simply generic (GGBB, 233; RG, 408; Ropes; Martin). καταδυναστεύουσιν pres. ind. act. καταδυναστεύω (# 2872) to exercise power against someone, to oppress. For a description of the wealthy class as well as the middle class and poor class in Jerusalem (to which the teachers of the law or the scribes often belonged) at this time s. JTJ, 87-119. ἕλκουσιν pres. ind. act. ἕλκω (# 1816) to drag. κριτήριον (# 3215) place where cases are judged, tribunal, law court, court of justice. ◆ 7 αὐτοί nom. pl. αὐτός (# 899) self; "they themselves"; perhaps for emphasis. βλασφημοῦσιν pres. ind. act. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to slander, to blaspheme. ἐπικληθέν aor. pass. part. ἐπικαλέω (# 2126) to call upon; pass., to be called upon, to be named. ◆ 8 μέντοι (# 3530) indeed. The particle has both an adversative meaning (but, nevertheless, however) and an affirmative meaning (verily, really) (Ropes; Adamson). τελεῖτε pres. ind. act. τελέω (# 5464) to fulfill, to keep. βασιλικός (# 997) pertaining to a king, royal, sovereign, excellent, supreme, an imperial edict. For various interpretations of this word s. Adamson; Mayor; Ropes; Dibelius; Davids. ἀγαπήσεις fut. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). Fut. under Semitic influence is used as a categorical imp. (BG, 94). πλησίον (# 4446) neighbor. καλῶς (# 2822) adv. well, acceptable, morally good, pleasing to God, unobjectionable (BAGD). ποιεῖτε pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Pres. indicates a practice in progress. ◆ 9 προσωπολημπτεῖτε pres. ind. act. προσωπολημπτέω (# 4719) to show partiality (s.v. 1 for the noun). Ind. is used in a 1st. class cond. assuming the reality of the cond. It is possible to sin in other ways than by showing partiality (GGBB, 686). ἐργάζεσθε pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work, to do. ἐλεγχόμενοι pres. pass. part. ἐλέγχω (# 1794) to convict, to convince w. overwhelming evidence. παραβάτης (# 4127) transgressor, one who steps across a boundary (TDNT). ◆ 10 ὅστις (# 4015) w. subj., whoever. For this use w. subj. s. RG, 956f; BD, 192. τηρήσῃ aor. subj. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to guard, to keep. πταίσῃ aor. subj. act. πταίω (# 4760) to stumble, to trip. Stumbling means to make a mistake, to go astray, to sin (BAGD). ἐν ἑνί (# 1877; 1651) in one point. The word is n. since νόμον is not used of single precepts (Ropes). γέγονεν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Perf. indicates the continuing results of the action ("he has become guilty of all points"), ever remaining so (Lenski). ἔνοχος (# 1944) in the power of, guilty, liable to the penalty (BAGD; Martin). Here the following gen. indicates the authority or law against which one has transgressed (Dibelius; Mayor). Stricter rabbis taught that the Torah, even in its separate statutes, is immutable and indivisible (Adamson; SB, 3:755). ◆ 11 εἰπών aor. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. Part. as a subst. μοιχεύσῃς aor. subj. act. μοιχεύω (# 3658) to commit adultery. φονεύσῃς aor. subj. act. φονεύω (# 5839) to murder. For εἰ ... οὐ (# 1623; 4024) s. M, 171. The sense of the expression may be concessive ("although") (SNT, 179f). γέγονας perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ◆ 12 λαλεῖτε pres. imp. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. ποιεῖτε pres. imp. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ἐλευθερίας (# 1800) freedom, liberty. Here gen. of description. The prep. διά (# 1328) here indicates the state or condition in which one does or suffers something; i.e., "under the law of liberty" (Ropes). μέλλοντες pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to, w. inf. describing a certain fut. action (Martin). κρίνεσθαι pres. pass. inf. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. Part. w. the inf. means "those who are going to be judged by the law of liberty," signifying not just a fut. event but a deliberate choice of the law of liberty (and mercy) in preference to the old ruthless rigor of the Law (Adamson). ◆ 13 κρίσις (# 3213) judgment. ἀνέλεος (# 447) without mercy, merciless (on the form s. Mayor; MM). ποιήσαντι aor. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do; here, to show mercy. ἔλεος (# 1799) mercy, pity (TLNT; TDNT; EDNT). κατακαυχᾶται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) κατακαυχάομαι (# 2878) to boast against someone, to triumph over (Mayor; Dibelius; Mussner). For rabbinical parallels and Jewish emphasis on mercy and pity s. Adamson; SB, 1:203. ◆ 14 ὄφελος (# 4055) profit, use, advantage. The expression was commonly used to introduce a rhetorical dialogue (Davids; Martin). λέγῃ pres. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. It is used in presenting this one's claim to be approved of men and of God (Ropes). Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. indicating the possibility of the cond. Pres. stresses the continual claim, "if a person keeps on saying he or she has faith but keeps on having no works" (Martin). ἔχειν pres. act. inf. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Inf. in indir. discourse. ἔργα acc. pl. ἔργον (# 2240) work. The word seems here to be a recognized term for good works (Ropes; Mayor; Adamson, 34-38). For discussions on faith and works in this section s. Martin, 82-84; Davids; HSB, 696-99; DPL, 457-61; JMM, 195-227. ἔχῃ pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. δύναται pres. ind. mid. (dep). δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to. ἡ πίστις (# 4411) the faith. The art. could be the art. of previous reference meaning, "the previously mentioned faith" (IBG, 111). σῶσαι aor. act. inf. σώζω (# 5392) to rescue, to save. Compl. inf. to the main vb., "is not able to save." Aor. signifies ... "achieve salvation for him" (Adamson). ◆ 15 ἀδελφή (# 80) sister. γυμνός (# 1218) naked. The term does not necessarily imply absolute nakedness; it was used of a person wearing only an undertunic and meant someone poorly clad (Mayor). ὑπάρχωσιν pres. subj. act. ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to exist, to be. λειπόμενοι pres. pass. part. λείπω (# 3309) to lack; pass., to be lacking (followed by the gen.). ἐφήμερος (# 2390) for the day. The phrase implies food for the day or the day's supply of food (MM; for examples s. Dibelius). ◆ 16 εἴπῃ aor. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ὑπάγετε pres. imp. act. ὑπάγω (# 5632) to go away, to depart. ἐν εἰρήνῃ (# 1877; 1645) "in peace." The expression "go in peace" is a Jewish expression for good-by and as an address to beggars; the Hebrew expression may still be heard today in the streets of Jerusalem w. the same effect. It signals the end of the encounter (Ropes; Adamson). θερμαίνεσθε pres. imp. mid./pass. θερμαίνω (# 2548) to warm oneself, to be warm. The word was commonly used of the effect of warm clothes (Ropes). χορτάζεσθε pres. imp. pass. χορτάζω (# 5963) to feed until one is full; pass., to be filled. The word has the general meaning of satisfying hunger (Mayor; MM). δῶτε aor. subj. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Subj. in a 3rd. class cond. cl. dependent on the ἐάν (# 1569) in v. 15 (Martin). ἐπιτήδεια acc. pl. ἐπιτήδειος (# 2201) necessity; pl., the necessities of the body, the necessaries of life (RWP). σῶμα (# 5393) body. Here, obj. gen. ("for the body") or gen. of description ("bodily needs"). ὄφελος (# 4055) benefit, good; here, "what good does it do?" (BAGD; s.v. 14). The expected answer to this rhetorical question is negative–there is no benefit in simple words. ◆ 17 οὕτως (# 4048) likewise. This is used in making the application (Ropes). καθ' ἑαυτήν (# 2848; 1571) in itself, in reference to itself, inwardly (Dibelius; Mayor; Adamson). ◆ 18 ἐρεῖ fut. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. A common way to introduce the opinion of an imaginary opponent (BBC). ἔχεις pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. indicates the present possession. δεῖξον aor. imp. act. δείκνυμι (# 1259) to show. For a discussion concerning the ones referred to here by the personal prons. Σὺ, κἀγώ "you and I"; s. Ropes; Adamson; Martin. δείξω fut. ind. act. δείκνυμι. (# 1259). Aor. imp w.fut. used as a type of Semitic cond. cl. (Beyer, 238-55). ◆ 19 πιστεύεις pres. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Pres. indicates the condition or state of belief. ὅτι (# 4022) that, giving the content of the belief and used w. the vb. here to suggest this is not a call to personal trust in God, but simply a belief that God exists (Martin). ποιεῖς pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. καλῶς ποιεῖς idiomatic expression meaning, "you do well"; "that is good." δαιμόνιον (# 1228) demon, evil spirit. πιστεύουσιν pres. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. φρίσσουσιν pres. ind. act. φρίσσω (# 5857) to bristle. It was used of the physical signs of terror, esp. of the hair standing on end. The word often expresses only a high degree of awe or terror (Mayor; GELTS, 507-8). The demons go even further than the one who makes the claim concerning his faith. Gnomic pres. indicates what is always true. ◆ 20 θέλεις pres. ind. act. θέλω (# 2527) to desire. γνῶναι aor. act. inf. γινώσκω (# 1162) to know. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ἄνθρωπε voc. sing. ἄνθρωπος (# 476) man. The term is used here in a derogatory sense. κενέ voc. sing. κενός (# 3031) empty, deficient. The word is used of a man who cannot be depended upon, whose deeds do not correspond to his words; hence, of boasters and impostors (Mayor). ἀργή fem. nom. ἀργός (# 734) inactive, barren, unprofitable, unproductive of salvation (Ropes). ◆ 21 ἐδικαιώθη aor. ind. pass. δικαιόω (# 1467) to declare righteous, to pronounce to be in the right, to justify (TDNT; Rom. 2:13; Bengel; Lenski). ἀνενέγκας aor. act. part. ἀναφέρω (# 429) to offer up, to sacrifice. θυσιαστήριον (# 2603) place of sacrifice, altar. ◆ 22 συνήργει impf. ind. act. συνεργέω (# 5300) to cooperate, to work together. ἐτελειώθη aor. ind. pass. τελειόω (# 5457) to bring to completion, to bring to maturity, to perfect, to consummate. As the tree is perfected by its fruits, so faith is by its works (Mayor). Works do not animate faith; but faith produces works, and works perfect faith. Faith itself is perfected; i.e., shown to be true, by works (Bengel). ◆ 23 ἐπληρώθη aor. ind. pass. πληρόω (# 4444) to make full, to fulfill. λέγουσα pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἐπίστευσεν aor. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. ἐλογίσθη aor. ind. pass. λογίζομαι (# 3357) to place to one's account, to reckon. Aor. points to a specific act. ἐκλήθη aor. ind. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call. ◆ 24 ἐξ ἔργων (# 1666; 2240) from works. Though neither ignored nor belittled, faith is regarded as complementing works, w. which it must be combined. The contrast is between faith minus works, and works minus faith–not between faith and works (Adamson). δικαιοῦται pres. ind. pass. δικαιόω (# 1467) to justify. ◆ 25 ὁμοίως (# 3931) adv., in like manner. πόρνη (# 4520) whore, prostitute. For the view that Rahab (Josh. 2:1-21) provided lodging for strangers or travelers s. D.J. Wiseman, "Rahab of Jericho," TB 14 (1964): 8-11; for the Jewish views on Rahab s. Adamson; Davids; SB, 1:20-23. ἐδικαιώθη aor. ind. pass. δικαιόω (# 1467) to justify. ὑποδεξαμένη pres. mid. (dep.) part. ὑποδέχομαι (# 5685) to receive, to welcome, to entertain as a guest. ἐκβαλοῦσα pres. act. part. ἐκβάλλω (# 1675) to send out, to lead out without the connotation of force (BAGD). The part. could be causal or circum. ◆ 26 γάρ (# 1142) for. The particle is used to introduce the supporting argument. The relationship between vs. 25 and 26 is this: Rahab was justified by works; she could not have been justified in any other way, for without works faith is dead. Therefore, the faith of Rahab is presupposed (Dibelius). πνεῦμα (# 4460) spirit, breath. The word refers to the vital principle by which the body is animated (Ropes). A dead faith is like a corpse and therefore cannot save (Mussner).

◆ 1 διδάσκαλος (# 1437) teacher. The word is used perhaps in the sense of rabbi, indicating one who had studied the law and its application to life and was engaged in teaching others (TDNT; Adamson; Herschel Shanks, "Is the Title 'Rabbi' Anachronistic in the Gospels?" JQR 53 [1963]: 337-45). γίνεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. εἰδότες perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) def. perf. w. pres. meaning, to know. Causal part., "because you know ...." μεῖζον comp. μέγας (# 3489) great; comp., greater. κρίμα (# 3210) judgment, results of a judicial decision, condemnation, sentence of punishment (Dibelius). The teacher's condemnation is greater than that of others because having, or professing to have, clear and full knowledge of duty, he is the more bound to obey it (Ropes). λημψόμεθα fut. ind. mid. (dep.) λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. James uses the 1st. pers. pl. because he himself is a teacher in the church and knows that he must some day give account to the divine Judge for his teaching (Mussner). ◆ 2 πολλά acc. pl. πολύς (# 4498) great, much; "many." This may be acc. of general reference, "in reference to many things" (RWP). πταίομεν pres. ind. act. πταίω (# 4760) to stumble, to offend (s. 2:10). Pres. could be iterat., indicating an action that occurs over and again. οὗτος (# 4047) this one. τέλειος (# 5455) perfect, mature. δυνατός (# 1543) able to. χαλιναγωγῆσαι aor. act. inf. χαλιναγωγέω (# 5902) to bridle (s. 1:26). Compl. inf. to the preceding verbal adj. ◆ 3 ἵππος (# 2691) horse. The gen. here is dependent on the word χαλινούς but is put first because it contains the new emphatic idea (Ropes). χαλινός (# 5903) bridle, bit. The word is used of the bridle proper (or reins), the bit, and, as perhaps here, of the whole bridle, including both (Ropes). For a description of bridles and bits in the ancient world s. DGRA, 548. The word used here was also used of a particular type of rope connected to sails of a ship (DGRA, 790). πείθεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. πείθω (# 4275) to obey. Articular inf. w. prep. εἰς (# 1650) to express purp. μετάγομεν pres. ind. act. μετάγω (# 3555) to change the direction, to guide (RWP). Pres. used to express what is always true. ◆ 4 ἰδού pres. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. It calls attention to the following. πλοῖον (# 4450) ship. τηλικαῦτα nom. pl. τηλικοῦτος (# 5496) so great. ὄντα pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1637) to be. ὑπό (# 5679) w. gen., by. The frequent use of the prep. in connection w. the word ἀνέμων and similar words suggest that here it retains something of its local force, not simply "by," but "under" (Mayor). ἄνεμος (# 449) wind. σκληρός (# 5017) harsh, stiff, strong (Ropes). ἐλαυνόμενα pres. pass. part. ἐλαύνω (# 1785) to drive. The word is used of wind or of sailors rowing or sailing a boat (AS). μετάγεται pres. ind. pass. μετάγω (# 3555) to steer. ἐλάχιστος (# 1788) The superl. of μικρός (small) is used in an elative sense, "very small" (BAGD; BD, 33). πηδάλιον (# 4382) rudder. The rudder of an ancient ship was like an oar w. a very broad blade; ships generally had two rudders placed on each side of the stern, not at the ship's extremity. Both rudders were managed by the same steersman to prevent confusion (DGRA, 788-89; Pliny, NH, 7:57; SSAW, 224-28). ὁρμή (# 3995) impetus, impulse. The word was used of the origin of motion either moral or physical. The word could mean here either the pressure or touch of the steersman or it could refer to his impulse (Mayor; TDNT; MM). εὐθύνοντος pres. act. part. εὐθύνω (# 2316) to direct, to guide, to steer. βούλεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) βούλομαι (# 1089) to decide, to will. For examples of the use of the two figures of the control of a horse and a ship s. Dibelius; Ropes; Martin; NW, 2, ii:1302-3. ◆ 5 οὕτως (# 4048) so, thus. The word introduces the application of the examples. γλῶσσα (# 1185) tongue. μικρός (# 3625) small. μέλος (# 3517) member. μεγάλα nom. pl. μέγας (# 3489) great, great thing. Sometimes the adj. is written in connection w. the following vb. αὐχεῖ pres. ind. act. αὐχέω (# 902) to boast. The phrase is used here in the sense not of an empty boast, but of a justified, though haughty, sense of importance (Ropes; Dibelius; Mussner). ἰδού pres. imp. act. ὁράω (# 2627) to see. ἡλίκος (# 2462) what size. In this context the n. means "how small" and the fem. "how much," "how large" (Ropes; Mayor). πῦρ (# 4786) fire. ὕλη (# 5627) woods, forest. It has been suggested that the word means thicket or brush (L.E. Elliott-Binns, "The Meaning of ὕλη in James III.5," NTS

2 [1956]: 48-50; Dibelius). For examples paralleling James' illustration of fire s. Dibelius; Ropes. ἀνάπτει pres. act. ind. ἀνάπτω (# 409) to set on fire, to ignite. ◆ 6 γλῶσσα (# 1185) tongue. κόσμος (# 3180) world, here followed by the gen. τῆς ἀδικίας (# 94) (world) of injustice. For the various interpretations of this phrase s. Mayor; Ropes; Dibelius; Davids. καθίσταται pres. ind. mid. or pass. καθίστημι (# 2770) to place, to set. Pass. means "is constituted" and the mid. means "presents itself" (RWP; Mayor). σπιλοῦσα pres. act. part. σπιλόω (# 5071) to stain, to defile. φλογίζουσα pres. act. part. φλογίζω (# 5824) to set in flames, to inflame, to set on fire. τροχός (# 5580) wheel, cycle, circle (GELTS, 482). γένεσις (# 1161) origin, birth. The phrase has been variously interpreted; e.g., "the cycle of the coming," signifying little more than life (Dibelius), the whole circle of life (Mussner). Others see the phrase as eschatological, signifying the course (of time) ordained by God for the present era, now in its last days, so the phrase means "sets afire all that revolving time brings to birth" (Adamson). For examples s. Ropes; Mayor; Martin; Dibelius; SB, 1:820. φλογιζομένη pres. pass. part. φλογίζω (# 5824). γεέννης gen. sing. γέεννα (# 1147) (Heb.) the valley of Henna, Gehenna, hell. The valley of Henna just outside Jerusalem was the city garbage dump used as a picture of hell, the place of punishment for the wicked (TDNT; s. Mk. 9:43; Luke 12:5). ◆ 7 φύσις (# 5882) nature. θηριόν (# 2563) wild animal. πετεινόν (# 4374) bird. ἑρπετόν (# 2260) crawling animal, reptile. ἐνάλιος (# 1879) sea creature (Adamson). δαμάζεται pres. ind. pass. δαμάζω (# 1238) to tame, gnomic pres. Pres. points to the continual possibility of taming wild animals. δεδάμασται perf. pass. inf. δαμάζω (# 1238). Perf. points to the completed action and the two tenses could be translated, "is from time to time, and has actually been, tamed" (Ropes). φύσις (# 5882) nature. Dat. here is used in the sense of "in subjection to," and the term itself here denotes "humankind" (Ropes). Both pagan and Heb. was proud of man's lordship over the animal world (Adamson). ἀνθρώπινος (# 474) human. ◆ 8 δαμάσαι aor. act. inf. δαμάζω (# 1238) to tame. Compl. inf. to the main vb. δύναται pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. ἀκατάστατος (# 190) restless, not quiet, like the least tameable beasts (Mayor). μεστή fem. nom. μεστός (# 3550) w. gen., full. ἰοῦ gen. sing. ἰός (# 2675) poison. θανατηφόρος (# 2504) death bearing. ◆ 9 εὐλογοῦμεν pres. act. inf. εὐλογέω (# 2328) to bless. Pres. is customary, indicating what one usually does (s. Eph. 1:3). καταρώμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) καταρόω (# 2933) to curse. ὁμοίωσις (# 3932) likeness. θεοῦ gen. θεός (# 2536) God. Attributed gen., "(likeness) of God." γεγονότας perf. act. part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. Perf. looks at the completed action or state of man being in the image of God. ◆ 10 ἐξέρχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. κατάρα (# 2932) curse. χρή (# 5973) pres. ind. act. impersonal vb., it is necessary, it ought to be, there is a need. Followed by inf.; occurs only here in the NT (BAGD; BD, 181; MM). The necessity expressed by this word signifies a need resulting from time or circumstances or from the fitness of things (AS; T; Mayor). Here it denotes the incongruity of blessing and cursing coming out of the same mouth (RWP). γίνεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ◆ 11 μήτι (# 3614) Particle used in a question which expects the answer "no" (Mussner). πηγή (# 4380) spring, fountain, well. The word is used w. the definite article; it is suggested that among country folk the spring or well has a prominent individuality (Adamson). ὀπή (# 3956) opening. The word is used elsewhere of a cleft in a rock (Mayor; s. Heb. 11:38). βρύει pres. ind. act. βρύω (# 1108) to gush forth. The word, meaning "to teem," "full of bursting," is ordinarily used of the swelling buds of plants and so figuratively of various kinds of fullness. Here the thought is of the gushing forth of water (Ropes; Mayor). γλυκύς (# 1184) sweet. πικρός (# 4395) bitter. Here the word may suggest a case where a salty source above the outlet has contaminated the good water (Adamson). ◆ 12 δύναται pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to. συκῆ (# 5190) fig, fig tree. ἐλαία (# 1777) olive. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to produce. ἄμπελος (# 306) vine, grapevine. These three fruits–fig, olive, and grape–found all over the Near East, are particularly associated w. Palestine (Adamson; Martin). ἁλυκός (# 266) salty. ◆ 13 σοφός (# 5055) wise. A t.t. for the teacher; in Jewish usage one who has a knowledge of practical moral wisdom resting on a knowledge of God (Ropes). By contrast, the Gr. philosophical term meant theoretical wisdom (GPT, 179). ἐπιστήμων (# 2184) understanding. The word implies expert or professional knowledge (Tasker). The use of the interrogative is a Semitic construction taking the place of a condition (Mayor; Mussner; Beyer, 167). δειξάτω aor. imp. act. δείκνυμι (# 1259) to show, to demonstrate. ἀναστροφή (# 419) manner of life, conduct. πραΰτης (# 4559) meekness, gentleness. The opposite of arrogance, it indicates the submissiveness to offense that is free from malice and desire for revenge (Matt. 5:5; 2 Cor. 10:1; Gal. 5:23). ◆ 14 ζῆλος (# 2419) zeal, envy, jealousy, resentment, a particularly strong feeling of resentment and jealousy against someone (LN, 1:760). The idea is of a fierce desire to promote one's own opinion to the exclusion of others (Ropes). πικρός (# 4395) bitter, embittered, harsh. ἔχετε pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have; to have bitter jealousy in one's heart (BAGD). ἐριθεία (# 2249) selfish ambition. The word suggests the vice of a leader who creates a party for his own pride: it is partly ambition, partly rivalry (Dibelius; NTW, 39f; TDNT; Phil.

2:3). κατακαυχᾶσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) κατακαυχάομαι (# 2878) to boast against, to boast arrogantly. The word is used sometimes w. the gen. to denote the triumph of one principle over another. Prep. in compound is either intensive or indicates an unfavorable action (Mayor; MH, 316). Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) indicates either the stopping of an action in progress or prohibits the habitual action. ψεύδεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) ψεύδομαι (# 6017) to lie. ◆ 15 σοφία (# 5053) wisdom. ἄνωθεν (# 540) from above. κατερχομένη pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) κατέρχομαι (# 2982) to come down. ἐπίγειος (# 2103) earthly, on the earth (Adamson). ψυχικός (# 6035) natural; i.e., pertaining to the natural life of men and animals alike; unspiritual (Ropes; Adamson). δαιμονιώδης (# 1229) demonic (Adamson). ◆ 16 ἀκαταστασία (# 189) disorder, disturbance, trouble, instability. The word sometime had political associations in the meaning "anarchy." Here it would refer to the disorder caused by those who w. their false wisdom trouble the group of believers by demanding their own rights and exercising a party spirit (Ropes; Adamson; Mussner). φαῦλος (# 5765) bad, foul, vile. πρᾶγμα (# 4547) matter, thing. ◆ 17 ἁγνή fem. nom. ἁγνός (# 54) pure. The word implies sincere, moral and spiritual integrity (Adamson). εἰρηνικός (# 1646) peaceable, loving, and promoting peace. ἐπιεικής (# 2117) gentle, reasonable in judging. The word signifies a humble patience, a steadfastness able to submit to injustice, disgrace, and maltreatment without hatred and malice, trusting in God in spite of all of it (s. 2 Cor. 10:1; NTW, 38f). εὐπειθής (# 2340) easily persuaded, willing to yield, compliant. The opposite of the word is "disobedient." The word is used of submission to military discipline and for observance of legal and moral standards in ordinary life; i.e., one who willingly submits to a fatherly will (MM; Adamson; Mayor). μεστή nom. fem. μεστός (# 3550) full. Full in the sense that it is characterized by what follows. ἐλέους (# 1799) merciful. ἀδιάκριτος (# 88) undivided, unwavering, wholehearted w. reference to the evil situation described in vs. 9 and 10 (Ropes). ἀνυπόκριτος (# 537) without hypocrisy, not hypocritical. ◆ 18 δικαιοσύνη (# 1466) righteousness. The gen. here could be gen. of definition or apposition, indicating that the fruit is righteousness (Mayor). Some view it as a subjective gen. or gen. of source, indicating that fruit is the product of righteousness and the source of the fruit (Ropes). σπείρεται pres. ind. pass. σπείρω (# 5062) to sow (Dibelius). ποιοῦσιν pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. The dat. is either dat. of agency ("sown by those who do peace" [Mussner]) or it is dat. of advantage ("for peaceable people" [Dibelius; Mayor; Martin]).

◆ 1 πόθεν (# 4470) where, from where. πόλεμος (# 4483) war. μάχαι nom. pl. μάχη (# 3480) battle, fight. The first word pictures the chronic state or campaign of war while the second presents the separate conflicts or battles of the war (RWP). ἐντεῦθεν (# 1949) from here. It is used to indicates the reason or source (BAGD). ἡδονῶν gen. pl. ἡδονή (# 2454) lust, pleasure. Although the word has a strong philosophical flavor (GPT, 75-78; TDNT), it is to be taken here in a practical and bad sense (Adamson; Mussner). στρατευομένων pres. mid. (dep.) part. στρατεύομαι (# 5129) to carry on a campaign, to fight a military battle. μέλεσιν dat. pl. μέλος (# 3517) member. Ingressive aor., "take one's stand against." Aor. imp. calls for urgent action (RWP). διάβολος (# 1333) slanderer, devil. φεύξεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) φεύγομαι (# 5771) to flee. The use of the imp. followed by the fut. forms a Semitic cond. cl.: "When you take your stand against the devil, then he will flee from you" (Beyer, 253; Mussner). ◆ 8 ἐγγίσατε aor. imp. act. ἐγγίζω (# 1581) to come near, to draw near. ἐγγιεῖ fut. ind. act. ἐγγίζω. For the construction of an imp. followed by the fut., building a type of cond. cl. s.v. 7. καθαρίσατε aor. imp. act. καθαρίζω (# 2751) to cleanse, to purify. ἁμαρτωλός (# 283) sinful, sinner. ἁγνίσατε aor. imp. act. ἁγνίζω (# 49) to purify, to make pure. δίψυχος (# 1500) doubleminded (s. 1:8). ◆ 9 ταλαιπωρήσατε aor. imp. act. ταλαιπωρέω (# 5415) to undergo hardship, to endure misery. Here it is used intransitively–be miserable, feel miserable–and refers to the inner attitude of repentance (Mayor; Dibelius; Mussner; Adamson). πενθήσατε aor. imp. act. πενθέω (# 4291) to mourn. The word expresses a self-contained grief, never violent in its manifestation (Ropes). The word is often connected w. κλαίω and describes the mourning that cannot be hidden. It describes not only a grief bringing ache to the heart, but also a grief bringing tears to the eyes (MNTW, 137; Mussner). κλαύσατε aor. imp. act. κλαίω (# 3081) to cry, to weep. γέλως (# 1152) laughter. The word indicates the leisurely laughter of gods and men in their pleasures. It is the laughter of a fool who believes in his own autonomy and who rejects God as the one determining reality (Mussner; TDNT). πένθος (# 4292) sorrow, mourning. μετατραπήτω aor. pass. imp. 3rd. pers. sing. μετατρέπω (# 3573) to turn about, to turn into. Prep. in compound has the idea of change (MH, 318). κατήφεια (# 2993) dejection, downcast, dismay. It describes the condition of one w. eyes cast down like the publican in Luke 18:13 (Mayor; Adamson). ◆ 10 ταπεινώθητε aor. imp. pass. ταπεινόω (# 5427) to make low, to humble. The form is pass. but the meaning is reflex., "to humble oneself" (Adamson). ὑψώσει fut. ind. act. ὑψόω (# 5738) to make high, to exalt, to make high, to lift up. Imp. followed by the fut. is a Semitic cond. construction (Beyer, 252f). ◆ 11 καταλαλεῖτε pres. imp. act. καταλαλέω (# 2895) to talk against, to defame, to speak evil of. It usually is applied to harsh words about the person who is absent (Ropes). καταλαλῶν pres. act. part. καταλαλέω. Part. as subst. κρίνων pres. act. part. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. καταλαλεῖ pres. ind. act. καταλαλέω (# 2895). κρίνει pres. ind. act. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. εἶ pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ποιητής (# 4475) one who performs an act, doer. The construction ποιητὴς νόμου means "lawgiver" (Ropes). ◆ 12 εἷς (# 1651) one, used emphatically. νομοθέτης (# 3794) lawgiver, one who makes a law. δυνάμενος pres. pass. (dep.) part. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. σῶσαι aor. act. inf. σῴζω (# 5392) to rescue, to save. ἀπολέσαι aor. act. inf. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to destroy, to ruin. εἶ pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. κρίνων pres. act. part. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. πλησίον (# 4446) the next one, neighbor. ◆ 13 ἄγε pres. imp. act. ἄγω (# 72) to lead. "see here!" and a somewhat brusque address (Mayor; Ropes). λέγοντες pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. σήμερον (# 4958) today. ἤ (# 2445) or. The word indicates the choice in planning. αὔριον (# 892) tomorrow. πορευσόμεθα fut. ind. mid. (dep.) πορεύομαι (# 4513) to travel, to go on a journey. There were three kinds of merchants: the old Hellenistic mariners, sea and caravan traders, and those who combined domestic w. foreign trade (Adamson). εἰς τήνδε τὴν πόλιν into this city. The old demonstrative form τήνδε (# 3840) this has the force of the particular as opposed to the general–"we will go to this city"–pointing it out on the map (Mayor). ποιήσομεν fut. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to spend time. ἐνιαυτός (# 1929) year. ἐμπορευσόμεθα fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐμπορεύομαι (# 1864) to conduct business, to carry on business as a merchant. κερδήσομεν fut. ind. act. κερδέω (# 3045) to make a profit, to profit, to gain. ◆ 14 ἐπίστασθε pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπίστημι (# 2179) to know, to understand. ποῖος (# 4481) of what character; is it secure or precarious? (Ropes). ἀτμίς

(# 874) vapor, steam, smoke. The word was used of steam from a kettle or of smoke the wind carried away; it graphically depicts the transience of life (Adamson; Mussner; Mayor). ἐστε pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. φαινομένη pres. mid./pass. part. φαίνω (# 5743) to show. Mid. to show oneself; pass. to be shown, to reveal. Here it is used in the sense, to appear. ἀφανιζομένη pres. pass. part. ἀφανίζω (# 906) to render invisible or unrecognizable. ◆ 15 λέγειν pres. act. inf. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἀντὶ τοῦ λέγειν ὑμᾶς instead of your saying. The thought of v. 13 is resumed (Adamson; Dibelius). θελήσῃ aor. subj. act. θέλω (# 2527) to will. ζήσομεν fut. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. ποιήσομεν fut. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ◆ 16 νῦν δέ (# 3814; 1254) but now, but actually, in point of fact; in contrast to what they ought to do (Ropes). καυχᾶσθε pres. ind. mid. (dep.) καυχάομαι (# 3016) to boast, to glory. ἀλαζονεία (# 224) bragging, pretentious, arrogant, arrogant words. The word refers to empty boasting that seeks to impress. It is extravagant claims which one cannot fulfill (BAGD; MNTW, 38-42; TDNT). καύχησις (# 3018) boasting. ◆ 17 εἰδότι perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ποιεῖν pres. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Inf. explains the knowledge, "He knows to do." ποιοῦντι pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do; here in the sense of practice. The dat. is dat. of disadvantage and indicates that such a one is guilty of sin (Mayor). Pres. indicates a habit of life.

◆ 1 ἄγε pres. imp. act. ἄγω (# 72) to lead; here, come now! (s. 4:13). πλούσιοι voc. pl. πλούσιος (# 4454) rich (s. 1:10). Adj. as subst. κλαύσατε aor. imp. act. κλαίω (# 3081) to cry, to weep. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. ὀλολύζοντες pres. act. part. ὀλολύζω (# 3909) to howl, to cry aloud. The word is used in the LXX as the expression of violent grief (Mayor; Joel 1:5, 13; Isa. 13:6; 14:31; 15:3; 16:7; Jer. 4:8; Mussner; TDNT; NIDOTTE, 1:976-77; 4:866-84; BTNT, 434-35). Part. of manner describing the crying. ταλαιπωρία (# 5416) misery. ἐπερχομέναις pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) ἐπέρχομαι (# 2088) to come upon. Fut. pres. showing the certainty of a fut. event, or progressive pres. picturing the action in progress. ◆ 2 σέσηπεν perf. ind. act. σήπω (# 4960) to be rotten. Perf. indicates the state or condition: "is rotten" (Ropes). ἱμάτιον (# 2668) garment. The wealth of the rich was often evident in their type of clothes (s. James 1:10). σητόβρωτος (# 4963) moth-eaten. The word occurs in a papyrus that refers to moth-eaten files (NDIEC, 1:77). γέγονεν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. The perfs. are of prophetic anticipation rather than historical record (Adamson; Martin). ◆ 3 χρυσός (# 5996) gold. ἄργυρος (# 738) silver. κατίωται perf. ind. pass. κατιόω (# 2995) to rust, to rust out, to rust through, of gold and silver tarnished, corroded (BAGD; s. Strabo 16, 2, 42; Epictetus 4, 6, 14; NW, 2, ii:1336-39). Prep. in compound is perfective, "to rust through down to the bottom" (RWP). ἰός (# 2675) poison, rust (Mayor). ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. φάγεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. ἐθησαυρίσατε aor. act. ind. θησαυρίζω (# 2564) to treasure up, to store up. For rabbinical and DSS parallels of fire being God's judgment s. Mussner; SB, 4:866f. ἐσχάταις ἡμέραις (# 2274; 2465) last days. There may be irony here, for the treasure in mind is not their riches, but the misery that awaits them (Martin; Davids) ◆ 4 ἰδού pres. imp. act. ὁράω (# 2627) to see. μισθός (# 3635) wage, pay. ἐργατῶν gen. pl. ἐργάτης (# 2239) one who works, worker. ἀμησάντων aor. act. part. (adj.) ἀμάω (# 286) to reap, to mow. Aor. points to the specific act which they do. χώρα (# 6001) field. ἀπεστερημένος perf. pass. part. ἀποστερέω (# 691) steal, to hold back. The vb. indicates not just delay, but complete default (Adamson; RWP). Perf. looks at the completed state or condition. ἀφ' ὑμῶν (# 608; 5148) from you, by you. κράζει pres. ind. act. κράζω (# 3189) to cry out. Pres. indicates the continual crying out. Both the OT (Lev. 19:13; Deut. 24:14) and rabbinic teaching required that the workers be paid at the end of the day (SB, 1:832; Matt. 20:87). The withholding of wages is one of the four sins that are said to cry to heaven (Mayor; Adamson). βοαί nom. pl. βοή (# 1068) cry. θερισάντων aor. act. part. θερίζω (# 2545) to reap, to harvest. ὦτα acc. pl. οὖς (# 4044) ear. σαβαώθ (# 4877)(Heb.) armies, hosts (TWOT; TDOT; NIDOTTE, 4:1297-98). εἰσεληλύθασιν perf. ind. act. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to come into. Perf. emphasizes that the cries that come to the ears of the Lord remain, so that He does not forget and they are not in vain. ◆ 5 ἐτρυφήσατε aor. ind. act. τρυφάω (# 5587) to live in luxury. The word literally means "to break down" and denotes soft luxury, not necessarily wanton vice (Ropes). Const. aor. summarizes their total life (M, 109). ἐσπαταλήσατε aor. ind. act. σπαταλάω (# 5059) to give oneself to pleasure. The prominent idea is that of self-indulgence without distinct reference to squandering (Mayor; s. 1 Tim. 5:6). ἐθρέψατε aor. ind. act. τρέφω (# 5555) to feed, to fatten, to nourish. καρδία (# 2840) heart. Here heart refers to stomach; cf. Ernst Lerle, "Καρδία als Bezeichnung für den Mageneingang," ZNW 76 (1985): 292-94. σφαγή (# 5375) slaughter. The imagery of the slaughter of the rich is found in 1 Enoch 94:7-9: 1QH 15:17-18; 1QS 10:19; 1QM 1:9-12; CD 19:15, 19; Martin; Davids. ◆ 6 κατεδικάσατε aor. ind. act. καταδικάω (# 2868) to give a sentence against someone, to condemn. ἐφονεύσατε aor. ind. act. φονεύω (# 5839) to kill, to murder. ἀντιτάσσεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀντιτάσσω (# 530) to stand against, to oppose. Pres. brings the action before our eyes and makes us dwell upon this, as the central point, in contrast w. the accompanying circumstances (Mayor). ◆ 7 μακροθυμήσατε aor. imp. act. μακροθυμέω (# 3428) to patiently endure. The word describes the attitude that can endure delay, bear suffering, and never give in (NTW, 84; TDNT; Gal. 5:22). Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. παρουσία (# 4242) arrival, coming. The word was used of the appearance of a god, or the arrival of someone of high rank (BAGD; TLNT; LAE, 372). γεωργός (# 1177) farmer. ἐκδέχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐκδέχομαι (# 1683) to wait for something or someone. Gnomic pres. indicating what is common to farmers. τίμιος (# 5508) precious, valuable. καρπός (# 2843) fruit. γῆ (# 1178) earth. μακροθυμῶν pres. act. part. μακροθυμέω (# 3428) to be patient. λάβῃ aor. subj. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. Subj. in an indef. temp. cl. πρόϊμος (# 4611) early. ὄψιμος (# 4069) late. The early rain normally begins in Palestine late October or early November, and is anxiously awaited because, as a necessity for the germination of seed, it is the signal for sowing. In the spring the maturing of the grain depends on the late rain, light showers that fall in April and May. Without these even heavy winter rains will not prevent failure of crops (Ropes; Mayor; Martin; GB, 41-66; SB, 3:758-59; BBC; ABD, 5:119, 122-25). ◆ 8 μακροθυμήσατε aor. imp. act. μακροθυμέω (# 3428) to patiently endure. στηρίξατε aor. imp. act. στηρίζω (# 5114) to strengthen, to make stable. ἤγγικεν perf. ind. act. ἐγγίζω (# 1581) to come near, to draw near. ◆ 9 στενάζετε pres. imp. act. στενάζω (# 5100) to groan. Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) calls for the discontinuing of a action in progress or prohibits habitual action. κριθῆτε aor. subj. act. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a neg. purp. cl. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972)to see. ἕστηκεν perf. ind. act. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand. ◆ 10 ὑπόδειγμα (# 5682) example. λάβετε aor. imp. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. κακοπάθεια (# 2801) suffering, hardship, suffering evil. μακροθυμία (# 3429) patient endurance. ἐλάλησαν aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. ὀνόματι κυρίου (# 3590; 3261) "in the name of the Lord." The prophets were messengers of the Lord and consequently had to face suffering; yet they waited patiently and expectantly (Martin). ◆ 11 ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. μακαρίζομεν pres. ind. act. μακαρίζω (# 3420) to consider happy, to consider blessed. The word refers to the prevalent habit of considering constancy worthwhile (Ropes). ὑπομείναντας aor. act. part. ὑπομένω (# 5702) to remain under, to be patient in adverse circumstances (NTW, 60; TDNT; NIDNTT; Heb. 10:36). ἠκούσατε aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. τέλος (# 5465) goal, purpose, outcome, result. τέλος κυρίου the conclusion wrought by the Lord to his trouble (Rope; Adamson; s. Job 42:12-17). εἴδετε aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. πολύσπλαγχνος (# 4499) very kind, very pitiful, very sympathetic, extremely compassionate (Mayor; MNTW, 156f; TDNT; Davids). οἰκτίρμων (# 3881) compassion. Both words stand in sharp contrast to the normal reaction of someone undergoing trials similar to Job's. ◆ 12 ὀμνύετε pres. imp. act. ὀμνύω (# 3923) to swear. ὅρκος oath (s. Matt. 5:33). Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) prohibits an habitual action. ἦτω pres. imp. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. πέσητε aor. subj. act. πίπτω (# 5679) to fall; here used in a fig. sense, to come under condemnation (BAGD) and thus face ruin. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a neg. purp. cl. ◆ 13 κακοπαθεῖ pres. ind. act. κακοπαθέω (# 2802) to suffer misfortune, to suffer trouble. προσευχέσθω pres. imp. mid. (dep.) προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray. Pres. imp. calls for an habitual action. εὐθυμεῖ pres. ind. act. εὐθυμέω (# 2313) to be happy, to feel good. ψαλλέτω pres. imp. act. ψάλλω (# 6010) to sing, to sing praises, to play on a harp (Adamson). ◆ 14 ἀσθενεῖ pres. ind. act. ἀσθενέω (# 820) to be weak, to be sick. προσκαλεσάσθω aor. imp. mid. προσκαλέω (# 4673) to call one alongside, to summon. mid., to call to one's side. For a discussion s. BTNT, 433-34. προσευξάσθωσαν aor. imp. mid. (dep.) προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. ἀλείψαντες aor. act. part. ἀλείφω (# 230) to anoint. The word is used basically for an outward anointing of the body (TDNT; Martin). Aor. part. can express antecedent time ("after anointing pray"), or it can express contemporaneous time and be a circum. part in the sense of an imp. ("anoint and pray") (Mussner; BG, 129f; Martin; DLNT, 48-50). ἔλαιον (# 1778) oil, olive oil. Generally, oil was used as a curative by the ancients, including the rabbis (Adamson; TDNT; Mayor, Ropes; SB, 4:553; Martin). ◆ 15 εὐχή (# 2376) prayer. πίστεως gen. sing. πίστις (# 4411) faith. Gen. of description. σώσει fut. ind. act. σῴζω (# 5392) to rescue, to save, to heal. Here the word has the idea, "to restore to health" (Ropes). κάμνοντα pres. act. part. (subst.) acc. masc. sing. κάμνω (# 2827) to be ill. ἐγερεῖ fut. ind. act. ἐγείρω (# 1586) to raise. The word means, "raise from the bed of sickness to health" (Ropes). κἄν (# 2829) = καὶ ἄν and if, and. ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. πεποιηκώς perf. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Perf. part. is used in a periphrastic perf. subj. act. in a condition of 3rd. class, which indicates the possibility of sin being related to the sickness (RWP). ἀφεθήσεται fut. ind. pass. ἀφίημι (# 918) to forgive. The pass. is the so-called theol. or divine pass., indicating that God is the one who forgives (BG, 76). ◆ 16 ἐξομολογεῖσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) ἐξομολογέω (# 2018) to openly agree to, to confess. The confession is to be not only to the elders but to one another, i.e., probably to those they have wronged (Adamson). εὔχεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) εὔχομαι (# 2377) to pray. ἰαθῆτε aor. subj. pass. ἰάομαι (# 2615) to heal. Theol. pass. indicating that God is the one who heals (s.v. 15). Subj. w. ὅπως (# 3968) may give the content of the prayer, or express purp. ἰσχύει pres. ind. act. ἰσχύω (# 2710) to be strong, to be powerful, to have power, to be competent, to be able (BAGD). δέησις (# 1255) request, prayer. ἐνεργουμένη pres. mid./pass. part. ἐνεργέω (# 1919) to be effective, to produce (MNTW, 46; TDNT). For a discussion of whether the form is mid. or pass., and the suggested translation–"the prayer of a righteous man is very powerful in its operation" s. Adamson 205-10; Mayor; Ropes; Martin; Davids). ◆ 17 ὁμοιοπαθής (# 3926) like feelings, of similar feelings, circumstances, experiences w. the same nature as someone (BAGD). The word indicates that the power of Elijah's prayer lay not in his supernatural greatness, but rather in his humanity–the prophet was only a human being like we are (Mussner; s. 1 Kings 17:1; 18:41-45); for references to Elijah in Judaism, s. Davids; ABD, 2:465-66. προσευχῇ (# 4666) prayer. Here instr. dat. προσηύξατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray. βρέξαι aor. act. inf. βρέχω (# 1101) to rain. Inf. in indir. disc. indicating the content of the prayer. ἔβρεξεν aor. ind. act. βρέχω (# 1101). ἐνιαυτός year (# 1929). μήν (# 3604) month. ◆ 18 προσηύξατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray. ὑετός (# 5624) rain. ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ἐβλάστησεν aor. ind. act. βλαστέω (# 1056) to sprout, to bring forth. ◆ 19 πλανηθῇ aor. subj. pass. πλανάω (# 4414) to go astray. ἐπιστρέψῃ aor. subj. act. ἐπιστρέφω (# 2188) to turn around, to turn to convert. Aor. points to a specific act. The two subjs. are in a 3rd. class cond. cl. assuming the possibility of the cond. ◆ 20 γινωσκέτω pres. imp. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know, to recognize. ἐπιστρέψας aor. act. part. ἐπιστρέφω (# 2188) to turn away. Aor. points to a specific act. πλάνη error (# 4415). σώσει fut. ind. act. σῴζω (# 5392) to save. καλύψει fut. ind. act. καλύπτω (# 2821) to cover, to hide, to veil. πλῆθος (# 4436) a great number, multitude; many. ἁμαρτιῶν gen. pl. ἁμαρτία (# 281) sin. Gen. of content, "a multitude of sins." This suggests the extent of the forgiveness (Davids; Martin).

1 Peter

1 Peter 1

◆ 1 ἀπόστολος (# 693) apostle, an official representative who was appointed and authorized by the one sending (TDNT; Best; TLNT; EDNT; 1 Cor. 1:1). For the omission of the article, w. all of the substantives in this v. indicating a stereotype epistolary introduction s. BD, 137. ἐκλεκτός (# 1723) elect. Verbal adj. from the vb. ἐκλέκτω meaning "to pick out, to select" (RWP). The word was used in the papyri in our sense of the word: select, choice (Beare). παρεπίδημος (# 4215) one who lives alongside of, sojourner, foreigner temporarily living in a place; staying for a while in a strange place (BAGD; TLNT; GELTS, 358). The word is used of temporary residents, not permanent settlers who have a deep attachment and a higher allegiance in another sphere (Beare). The word emphasizes both alien nationality and temporary residents (Stibbs; Hort, 154-56; BS, 149; NIDNTT; TDNT; TLNT; TDOT, 2:443-48, DCH, 2:372-73; NIDOTTE, 1:836-39; ZPEB, 2:119-22). διασπορά (# 1402) dispersion, scattering, diaspora. The Jewish diaspora came about through deportation and voluntary movement to a foreign land. The people generally lived in their own settlement or quarters in a foreign land but were still vitally joined to the land of Palestine and the city of Jerusalem w. her temple. There was always the hope for the eschatological regathering of those who had been scattered. Peter uses the term for believers who are scattered throughout the world, yet have a heavenly fatherland and a hope of one day being gathered in to this land (Goppelt; SB, 2:490; TDNT; RAC, 3:972-82; DLNT, 287-300; JPF, 1:177-215; HJP, 3, i:1-176; BAFCS, 5). Πόντου, Γαλατίας, Καππαδοκίας, Ἀσίας, καὶ Βιθυνίας Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia. These were all Roman provinces in Asia Minor and the order of the listing here may have been the route of the one who delivered the letter (Hort; Davids; Michaels; GAM, 89-426; DNP, 2:698-702; ABD, 1:750-53; 1:870-71; 2:870-72; 5:401-2). Years after Peter had written this letter, Pliny the Younger was put in charge of Bithynia and wrote to the Emperor Trajan concerning the Christians (Christiani). He tried to make them recant by force and have them acknowledge the pagan gods, bow down before the image of the emperor, and curse (maledixerunt) Christ. Some did, others did not, so Pliny asked for advice. He writes, "It seems to me to be necessary to get advice, because many in every age group, every status of life, and both male and female are now in danger and will be in the future. This plague of superstition has spread over cities and over the fields and villages, but I believe that its advance can be stopped" (Pliny the Younger, Letters, Book 10, Letter 16) ◆ 2 πρόγνωσις (# 4590) knowing beforehand, foreknowledge. God's foreknowledge is much more than knowing what will happen in the future; it includes, as reflected in the language of LXX (s. the LXX w. the aor. ind. act. "He knows (knew)..." in Num. 16:5; Judg. 9:6; Amos 3:2), His effective choice (Kelly; Michaels; Rom. 8:28-29). ἁγιασμός (# 40) holiness, sanctification. W. the prep. ἐν (# 1877) as instr. πνεῦμα (# 4460) spirit. The word could refer to the human spirit, but by the analogy of the other cls., it refers to the Holy Spirit (Hort). Subjective gen. here indicates that the Spirit produces the sanctification (Michaels). ὑπακοή (# 5633) obedience. ῥαντισμόν (# 4823) sprinkling. It is probably a reference to Exod. 24:3-8 (Best). πληθυνθείη aor. opt. pass. πληθύνω (# 4437) to multiply. Opt. to express a wish or desire (MT, 120f). Peter prays for the multiplication of grace and peace that the trials through which the Asiatic Christians are about to pass may result in a manifold increase of grace and peace (Hort). ◆ 3 εὐλογητός (# 2329) blessed (s. Eph. 1:3). ἀναγεννήσας aor. act. part. ἀναγεννάω (# 335) to regenerate, to cause to be born again. The idea of a new beginning through a new birth w. the infusion of divine life was a widespread idea in the ancient world. It was present in the mystery religions and in Judaism. A proselyte to Judaism was regarded as a newborn baby (Best; RAC, 9:153-55; Schelkle; Goppelt; SB, 3:763; for a parallel in the DSS s. 1QH3, 19-23). Part. gives the reason why God is blessed (Schelkle). ζῶσαν pres. act. part. (adj.) ζάω (# 2409) to live. Life is a quality or characteristic of the hope here spoken of, not its obj. (Hort). Pres. indicates an abiding quality. A living hope is never extinguished by untold circumstances, just as living waters flow fresh from a perennial spring (Selwyn). ◆ 4 κληρονομία (# 3100) inheritance. The word can mean a property already received as well as one that is expected. But here the inheritance is kept for the believer, not on earth but in heaven, and is another name for that salvation which is ready to be revealed (Bigg; Hort; Kelly). ἄφθαρτος (# 915) imperishable, not corruptible, not liable to pass away (Beare). It has been suggested that the main idea of the word is "to injure, to spoil," and the chief idea in mind is the ravaging of a land by a hostile army (Hort). ἀμίαντος (# 299) unstained, undefiled; here, being unstained by evil (Beare). ἀμάραντος (# 278) unfading. The word was used of flowers and suggests a supernatural beauty that time does not impair. The three verbal adjs. indicate that the inheritance is untouched by death, unstained by evil, unimpaired by time. It is composed of immortality, purity, and beauty (Beare). τετηρημένην perf. pass. part. (adj.) τηρέω (# 5498) to guard, to keep, to take care of, to reserve. Perf. indicates the state or condition and underlines the fact that the inheritance already exists and is being preserved for those who are now being guarded (v. 5) (Best). ◆ 5 φρουρουμένους pres. pass. part. φρουρέω (# 5864) to guard, to watch over. The term is a military term indicating the guarding done by soldiers. Pres. emphasizes our need for continual protection in the unending struggle of the soul. They are being guarded by God's power, the guarantee of the final victory (Beare; Stibbs; Grudem). σωτηρία (# 5401) salvation. The word indicates deliverance or preservation bestowed by God, more specifically deliverance from His wrath at the final judgment (Kelly). The term here suggests salvation in its broadest sense (TDNT; NIDNTT). ἕτοιμος (# 2289) ready, prepared. ἀποκαλυφθῆναι aor. pass. inf. ἀποκαλύπτω (# 636) to unveil, to reveal. (BAGD). Pass. would be the theol. or divine pass., indicating that God is the one who does the action. Inf. to express purp. Aor. points to a specific event. καιρῷ ἐσχάτῳ (# 2798; 2274) in the last time. The word καιρῷ indicates the fit or appointed time or moment (Bigg). The word ἐσχάτῳ ("last") means simply "last in order of time" (Bigg). ◆ 6 ἐν ᾧ (# 1877; 4005) in which, in which circumstance, wherefore. For a discussion of the antecedent of the rel. pron. s. Selwyn; Brox; Michaels. ἀγαλλιᾶσθε pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀγαλλιάομαι (# 22) to rejoice, to be glad. This vb. appears to be used always w. the connotation of a religious joy, a joy that springs from the contemplation of God or God's salvation (Beare; TDNT; Hort; Kelly). ὀλίγος (# 3900) a little, a little while, a short while (Kelly). δέον pres. act. part. δεῖ (# 1256) it is necessary. Part. is used w. the cond. particle εἰ (# 1623), which can be taken as a concessive cl. ("although" [Beare]), or it can be taken as a 1st-class cond. cl. bordering on a causal cl. ("since" [BD, 189; Kelly]). λυπηθέντες aor. pass. part. λυπέω (# 3382) to cause pain, to cause sorrow, to put to grief. The word expresses not suffering but the mental effect of suffering (Hort). Part. could be concessive, "although." ποικίλος (# 4476) various, diversified, manifold, different kinds. πειρασμός (# 4280) trial. The word here could mean the undeserved suffering from without (Bigg). For a discussion of persecution s. DLNT, 907-15. ◆ 7 δοκίμιον (# 1507) tried, approved after trial, genuineness. The genuine element in their faith was proven by a process similar to that of metal refining and is found to be something more precious than these precious metals (Selwyn; s. also Jam. 1:3; BS, 259f; TLNT). πίστις (# 4411) faith. Obj. gen. here, denoting the obj. of the process of testing (Michaels), or it could be an attributed gen., "genuine faith" (GGBB, 90). πολυτιμότερον comp. πολύτιμος (# 4501) costly, precious; comp., more precious, of greater price. χρυσίον (# 5992) gold. In the ancient world gold was considered the most expensive and rarest of all metals. It was used in the worship of the gods, and was very prominent in the temple of Jerusalem, where the true God was worshipped. Emperors and heros were known for their lavish use of gold. Under Augustus and Nero the price of the Roman gold coin, the aureus, was worth 45 denarii (a Roman soldier got 225 denarii a year and one denarius was considered to be a day's wage (RAC, 11:895-930; KP, 2:841-42; RE, 190-227; Pliny, NH, 33:4-94; NW, 2, ii:1343-49). All of this indicates that a tried, genuine faith is extremely valuable! The known quantity in this statement is the preciousness of gold–a genuine faith is much more precious than that (GGBB, 112). Gen. of comparison. ἀπολλυμένου pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to destroy, to ruin, to perish. πῦρ (# 4796) fire. Pliny describes how metals are mined, cleaned, fired, and ground to a powder, then put in a smelting furnace. The slag (scoria) from gold was pounded again and fired a second time; "the crucibles for this are made of tasconium, which is a white earth resembling clay. No other earth can stand the blast of air, the fire, or the intensely hot material" (Pliny, NH, 33:69). δοκιμαζομένου pres. pass. part. δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to approve after examination (TLNT). εὑρεθῇ aor. subj. pass. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used to express purp. ἀποκάλυψις (# 637) unveiling, revelation. W. the prep. ἐν (# 1877) used in a temp. sense, "at the revelation of Jesus Christ." Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ (# 2652; 5986) of Jesus Christ, gen. sing. Obj. gen. indicating that He will be revealed. ◆ 8 ἰδόντες aor. act. part. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. For the variant reading s. TC, 687. Aor. indicates a completed action, but logically antecedent to the main vb. Part. is concessive ("although"). The word here refers to physical or eyesight (Selwyn). ἀγαπᾶτε pres. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). Pres. indicates the continual and contemporary action. ὁρῶντες pres. act. part. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Pres. indicates the continual action. Concessive part. ("although"). The first statement (ἰδόντες) indicates that Christ and the salvation he brings are hidden until his revelation; the second statement (ὁρῶντες) focuses more on the various ordeals now confronting Peter and his readers (Michaels). πιστεύοντες pres. act. part. (circum.) πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. The neg. μή (# 3590) used w. the part. here is introduced as it were hypothetical, merely to bring out the full force of believing (Hort; Selwyn). ἀγαλλιᾶσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) ἀγαλλιάομαι (# 22) to rejoice (s.v. 6). χαρᾷ (# 5915) joy. Here instr. dat. ἀνεκλάλητος (# 443) unspeakable, inexpressible, ineffable, vb. adj. The word contains the sense of a divine mystery exceeding the powers of speech and thought (Beare; Davids). This joy defies all human efforts at understanding or explanation (Michaels). The joy is based on the expectation of future deliverance. δεδοξασμένῃ perf. pass. part. δοξάζω (# 1519) to glorify; pass., to be glorified. Here the idea is to be endowed w. glory from above (Selwyn, 253-58; TDNT; NIDNTT; EDNT; TLNT). ◆ 9 κομιζόμενοι pres. mid. part. κομίζω (# 3152). mid., to receive, to obtain. τέλος (# 5465) goal. ψυχῶν gen. pl. ψυχή (# 6034) soul. Obj. gen., "salvation of your souls." This is not a special part of man's structure, but is man as a whole; it is a Jewish rather than a Gr. or modern usage of the word (Best). ◆ 10 ἐξεζήτησαν aor. ind. act. ἐκζητέω (# 1699) to seek out. Prep. in compound is intensive. ἐξηραύνησαν aor. ind. act. ἐξεραυνάω (# 2001) to search out. Prep. in compound is intensive. "Seeking out" is the more general term, "searching out" the minute and sedulous process of thought and investigation which subserve the seeking (Hort). The two vbs. taken together give emphatic expressing to the earnestness w. which enlightenment was sought (Beare; MH, 310). προφητεύσαντες aor. act. part. (adj.) προφητεύω (# 4736) to speak for, to speak forth, to prophesy (TDNT; EDNT; DLNT, 670-76). ◆ 11 ἐραυνῶντες pres. act. part. ἐραυνάω (# 2236) to search. Part. of manner. τίνα acc. sing. τίς (# 5515) what? ποῖος (# 4481) what sort of. Indef. pron. suggests a definite period, almost a date to be fixed, while this word suggests the general outward circumstances to be expected (Beare; BS, 155). For the view that the words should be translated "what person or time" s. Grudem. ἐδήλου impf. ind. act. δηλόω (# 1317) to make clear, to make plain. Though the word is often used of declarations through articulate language, it is still more often used of any indirect kind of communication (Hort). Impf. indicates continual action in the past time. προμαρτυρόμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. προμαρτύρομαι (# 4626) to testify beforehand (Selwyn). τὰ εἰς Χριστὸν παθήματα (# 1650; 5986; 4077) the sufferings to Christ; i.e., the sufferings in store for Christ (Kelly). It is quite possible that we have a reference to the words recorded in Luke 24:26-27 (Bigg). For a discussion of the passages in 1 Peter that point to the words of Christ and support Petrine authorship of the epistle and the authenticity of the gospel passages s. R.H. Gundry, "'Verba Christi' in 1 Peter: Their Implications Concerning the Authorship of 1 Peter and the Authenticity of the Gospel Tradition," NTS 13 (1967): 336-50; R.H. Gundry, "Further Verba on `Verba Christi' in 1 Peter," Bib 55 [1974]: 211-32. πάθημα (# 4077) suffering. For suffering as a theme in 1 Peter s. DLNT, 1135-38. δόξα (# 1518) glory; pl., glorious deeds, triumphs (Selwyn). ◆ 12 ἀπεκαλύφθη aor. ind. pass. ἀποκαλύπτω (# 636) to reveal, to unveil (Selwyn, 250ff). Theol. pass. indicating that God did the revealing. διηκόνουν impf. ind. act. διακονέω (# 1354) to serve, to minister to, to render service to, to help by performing certain duties (LN, 1:460). It was used of delivering a message (Michaelis). Impf. points to the continual or customary action in the past. ἀνηγγέλη aor. ind. pass. ἀναγέλλω (# 334) to report, to set forth, to tell, to declare, to proclaim (Selwyn; NIDNTT). εὐαγγελισαμένων aor. mid. part. εὐαγγελλίζω (# 2294) to proclaim good news, to evangelize, to preach the gospel (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). ἀποσταλέντι aor. pass. part. (subst.) dat. sing. ἀποστέλλω (# 690) to send, to send as an official authoritative representative of the one sending (TDNT; NIDNTT; EDNT; TLNT). ἐπιθυμοῦσιν pres. ind. act. ἐπιθυμέω (# 2121) to desire, to long for, to eagerly desire. The vb. is fairly strong and consistent w. a longing not yet fulfilled (Kelly). Pres. indicates the continual action that has not reached fulfillment. ἄγγελος (# 34) angel, heavenly messenger, heavenly being. παρακύψαι aor. act. inf. παρακύπτω (# 4160) to stretch forward the head, esp. through a window or door, sometimes inward, more often outward. When used figuratively, it commonly implies a rapid and cursory glance. The word means to bend down to look and often suggests a fleeting glance; i.e., "to peep," "to catch a glimpse of" (Hort; Kelly). The main idea here rests on their intense interest in what has taken place and on the limitations of their power and knowledge (Michaels). ◆ 13 διό (# 1475) therefore. This is the usual particle when an author passes from statement to inference (Selwyn). ἀναζωσάμενοι aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἀναζώννυμι (# 350) to bind up, to gather up, to gird up. The word refers to the habit of the Orientals, who quickly gather up their loose robes w. a girdle or belt when in a hurry or at the start of a journey because the easterners' long flowing robes would impede physical activity unless tucked under the belt (RWP; Best; BBC; Michaels). One worker describes tavern keepers who worked in front of their taverns w. their tunics belted high (DC, 72:2). ὀσφύας acc. pl. ὀσφῦς (# 4019) hip. διάνοια (# 1379) mind. More than mere intellectual faculties, the word indicates that which guides and directs conduct (Best). This is a call for the readers to be alert and ready in their whole spiritual and mental attitude (Kelly). νήφοντες pres. act. part. νήφω (# 3768) to be sober. In the NT the word generally denotes self-control and the clarity of mind which goes w. it (Kelly; s. 2 Tim. 4:5; 1 Thess. 5:6). τελείως (# 5458) adv., perfectly, unreservedly. The adv. is best taken w. the main vb. ἐλπίσατε (Selwyn). ἐλπίσατε aor. imp. act. ἐλπίζω (# 1827) to hope, to set one's hope upon something. φερομένην pres. pass. part. φέρω (# 5770) to carry, to bear, to bring. Pres. part. pictures the process, "that is being brought" (RWP). Although a pres. part. can have a fut. force, it is used here in keeping w. the writer's conviction that the object of their hope is already virtually within his readers' grasp (Kelly). χάρις (# 5921) grace (TDNT; EDNT). The word is used here concretely of the eschatological consummation (Beare). ἀποκαλύψει Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ (# 637; 2652; 5986) at the revelation of Jesus Christ (s.v. 7). ◆ 14 ὑπακοή (# 5633) obedient hearing, obedience (Brox). Gen. of description, "obedient children," a trait highly valued (BBC). συσχηματιζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. συσχηματίζομαι (# 5372) to form together, to conform (s. Rom. 12:2). The mid. could be is a direct mid., "do not fashion yourselves" (RWP). Mid. could also be a permissive mid., "do not allow yourselves to be fashioned." Part. is used to convey a command and conforms to the rabbinic Heb. practice of using part. to express rules of conduct and even religious precepts (Kelly; for this use of the part. w. imp. sense s. David Daube in Selwyn, 467-88; GI, 165-68; MT Style, 128f; VANT, 386). πρότερον (# 4728) former, previous. ἄγνοια (# 53) ignorance; it is a moral and religious defect, nothing less than rebellion against God (Hort; Michaels). ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) strong desire, lust (TDNT; DNP, 2:542-44). ◆ 15 κατά (# 2848) according to, prep. w. acc. καλέσαντα aor. act. part. καλέω (# 2813) to call. ἅγιος (# 41) separate, marked off, holy. The word indicates the display of the character of God whose perfect attributes separate Him from His creation (Kelly; NIDNTT; TDNT). Pred. adj. used in the cl., "just as the one who called you is holy." πᾶς (# 4246) every, each. All inclusive here, referring to all aspects of life. ἀναστροφή (# 419) conduct, active life. The word is used of public activity, life in relation to others. Being holy as members of a holy people, they were to show themselves holy in every kind of dealing w. other men (Beare; Hort; BS, 194). γενήθητε aor. imp. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Aor. may be taken as ingressive: began to be, become (Beare; RWP). ◆ 16 διότι (# 1484) therefore. γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Perf. emphasizes the continuing results, "it stands written." The word was used of legal documents whose validity continued (MM). ἔσεσθε fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. The fut. here is volitive and is used like an imp. (RWP; BG, 94). ὅτι (# 4022) causal, because. ἅγιος (# 41) holy. This trait of God should also characterize the believer's life. ◆ 17 ἐπικαλεῖσθε pres. ind. mid. ἐπικαλέω (# 2126) to call, to call upon, to invoke, to appeal to (Selwyn). ἀπροσωπολήμπτως (# 719) adv., impartially, without showing respect or favoritism, (Bigg). κρίνοντα pres. act. part. (adj.) κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. Without the article the character is stressed. ἔργον (# 2240) work, here deed. παροικία (# 4229) temporary residency, temporary stay. The word denotes residence in a place without taking out or being granted citizen rights (Kelly; Hort; s. 1:1; TDNT; EDNT; GELTS, 360). ἀναστράφητε aor. imp. pass. ἀναστρέφω (# 418) to conduct one's life (s.v. 15). ◆ 18 εἰδότες perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. Part. may be causal. Christian reverence rests upon the knowledge of redemption, four aspects of which are now enumerated; (1) its cost in the death of Christ, (2) its transcendent origin, (3) its certification in Christ's resurrection, (4) its fruit in the church's faith and hope in God (Selwyn). φθαρτός (# 5778) subject to decay, corruptible. ἀργύριον (# 736) silver; here instr. dat. or dat. of means (Beare). χρυσίον (# 5992) gold; instr. dat. or dat. of means. Silver and gold were used as money to set slaves free (BAGD; RWP). The price of a slave in the Roman Empire ran from 700,000 to 200 sesertii (a worker in Rome could earn 3 sesertrii a day) (ERE, 348-50, 354). ἐλυτρώθητε aor. ind. pass. λυτρόω (# 3390) to release, to procure a release by a ransom, to deliver by the payment of a price, to redeem. For the Jews the picture of redemption would be God's deliverance from Egypt. For the Gentiles it would be the picture of a slave whose freedom was purchased w. a price (Hort; Beare; TDNT; NIDNTT; GW, 70f; APC; NTW, 76-83; LAE, 319-27; NTRJ, 268-84; LDC; ABD, 6:71-72; TLNT; NDIEC, 3:72-75; GELTS, 286). μάταιος (# 3469) vain, vanity. The idea is that which lacks reality (Beare). ἀναστροφή (# 419) manner of life (s.v. 15). πατροπαράδοτος (# 4261) that which is passed on from fathers, inherited. ◆ 19 τίμιος (# 5508) valuable, precious, costly. ἀμνός (# 303) lamb. ἄμωμος (# 320) blameless. ἄσπιλος (# 834) spotless, without stain. Perhaps Peter has the Passover lamb in mind (Hort). It was required to be without blemish. ◆ 20 προεγνωσμένου perf. pass. part. adj. προγινώσκω (# 4589) to know beforehand, to foreknow (s. 1:2). καταβολή (# 2856) foundation. κόσμος (# 3180) world. φανερωθέντος aor. pass. part. (adj.) φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear, to make plain, to manifest. ἐπ' ἐσχάτου τῶν χρόνων (# 2093; 2274; 5989) in the last times. δι' ὑμᾶς (# 1328; 5148) because of you, for your sake. ◆ 21 ἐγείραντα aor. act. part. (adj.) ἐγείρω (# 1586) to raise up. Aor. points to a specific act that is complete. δόντα aor. act. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give, to grant. ὥστε (# 6063) w. inf. can express intended or contemplated results (Selwyn; BD, 197). Since the book deals w. the believer's pilgrim life and persecution on earth, w. emphasis on faith and eschatological hope, it is felt that this cl. is a sort of climax to the whole passage (William J. Dalton, "'So That Your Faith May also Be Your Hope,'" RH, 262-74; s. esp. 272f). τὴν πίστιν ὑμῶν καὶ ἐλπίδα your faith and hope; could be taken as the subject to the inf. ("so that your faith and hope may be in God"), or the word ἐλπίδα may be considered as the pred. ("so that your faith may also be your hope in God") (Dalton, RH, 272). εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Inf. is used to express intended results. ◆ 22 ἡγνικότες perf. act. part. ἁγνίζω (# 49) to make pure, to purify, to cleanse. In the LXX the word generally has a ceremonial reference, but it can also have the sense of moral purification (GELTS, 4; TDNT; EDNT). Perf. emphasizes the completed state or condition (Selwyn; Beare). ὑπακοή (# 5633) obedient. Dat. w. ἐν (# 1877) expresses sphere of the purification, or better, it is instr., giving the means. ἀληθεία (# 237) truth. Here obj. gen., "obedient to the truth." φιλαδελφία (# 5789) brotherly love. ἀνυπόκριτος (# 537) unhypocritical, without hypocrisy. ἀγαπήσατε aor. imp. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TLNT; TDNT). Aor. imp. calls for a specific action w. a note of urgency. ἐκτενῶς (# 1757) adv., earnestly. The fundamental idea is earnestness, zealousness (doing a thing not lightly and perfunctorily, but, straining, as it were) (Hort; TLNT). ◆ 23 ἀναγεγεννημένοι perf. pass. part. ἀναγεννάω (# 335) to regenerate (s.v. 3). σπορά (# 5076) seed. The contrast is between human seed that produces mortal human life and divine seed that produces eternal life (Best). φθαρτός (# 5778) perishable, subject to decay and destruction (BAGD). ἄφθαρτος (# 915) incorruptible (s.v. 4). ζῶντος pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live (s.v. 3). μένοντος pres. act. part. μένω (# 3531) to remain. ◆ 24 χόρτος (# 5965) grass. ἄνθος (# 470) flower. ἐξηράνθη aor. ind. pass. ξηραίνω (# 3830) to dry up; pass., to be withered. ἐξέπεσεν aor. ind. act. ἐκπίπτω (# 1738) to fall off. Aor. vividly expresses the rapid blooming and fading of herbage (Kelly). ◆ 25 εὐαγγελισθέν aor. pass. part. εὐαγγελίζω (# 2294) to proclaim the good news.

◆ 1 ἀποθέμενοι aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἀποτίθημι (# 700) to put off, to put away. The part. shares the imp. force of the governing vb. (Beare; s. 1:14). The word is applied to any kind of rejection, esp. of what is in any way connected w. the person, body, or mind, whether clothing or hair (Hort). κακία (# 2798) wickedness. The word is an all-inclusive term (Kelly). δόλος (# 1515) cunning, deceit by using trickery and treachery (LN, 1:759). It comes from a vb. meaning, "to catch w. bait" (RWP). ὑπόκρισις (# 5694) hypocrisy, pretense. φθόνος (# 5784) envy. The vb. was used often in secular Gr. to express the envy that makes one man begrudge another something he himself desires but does not possess. It is sadness occasioned by the thought of another's good and aggression in seeking to do harm, at least through slander (NIDNTT; TLNT). καταλαλιά (# 2896) speaking against someone. The vb. means "to run down," "to disparage," and was used by Aristophanes of a slave who blabs his master's secrets (Selwyn; Bigg). ◆ 2 ἀρτιγέννητος (# 786) recently born, newborn. βρέφος (# 1100) baby, infant. The word is used of a nursing baby (Goppelt). λογικός (# 3358) that which pertains to a word. There are three possible renderings of this word: (1) of the word; (2) reasonable, rational; (3) spiritual (Best; TDNT; Michaels). However, it seems hardly creditable that he is not also consciously referring back to God's Word, about which he was so concerned in 1:22-25 (Kelly). ἄδολος (# 100) without deceit, pure, unadulterated, uncontaminated. The word is commonly used in this sense of corn, wheat, barley, oil, wine, and farm products (Beare; Kelly; MM; BBC; DLNT, 737-38). γάλα (# 1128) milk. The many-breasted goddesses of the heathen religions who were to sustain and nourish life were widespread in the ancient world. The rabbis also compared the Law to milk (Goppelt; Beare; TDNT; Montefiore, 163f; Selwyn, esp. 308; RAC, 2:657-64). ἐπιποθήσατε aor. imp. act. ἐπιποθέω (# 2160) to long for, to desire, to crave. Prep. in compound indicates intensive desire directed toward an object (s. Ps. 42:1). αὐξηθῆτε aor. subj. pass. αὐξηθέω (# 889) to cause to grow; pass., to grow. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 3 ἐγεύσασθε aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γεύομαι (# 1174) to taste. The ind. is used in a cond. cl. of the 1st class which accepts the reality of the cond. χρηστός (# 5982) useful, good, gracious. ◆ 4 προσερχόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. προσέρχομαι (# 4665) to come to. Pres. part. is used because stones keep coming, one after another (Bigg). ζῶντα pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. For the figure of a living stone s. Beare; Selwyn. ἀποδεδοκιμασμένον perf. pass. part. ἀποδοκιμάζω (# 627) to reject after examination, to examine and deem useless. παρὰ θεῷ (# 4123; 2536) by the side of God, who looks at it, in contrast w. the rejection by men (RWP). ἐκλεκτός (# 1723) chose, choice, select, elect (s. 1:1; Hort). ἔντιμος (# 1952) precious, costly, expensive, valuable, highly valued (Hort; GELTS, 155). ◆ 5 αὐτοὶ ὡς λίθοι (# 899; 6055) you also are yourselves like living stones (Kelly; Hort). ζῶντες pres. act. part. (adj.) ζάω (# 2409) to live. οἰκοδομεῖσθε pres. ind. pass. οἰκοδομέω (# 3868) to build, to erect a building. πνευματικός (# 4461) spiritual, pertaining to the Spirit; "suited for the Spirit." ἱεράτευμα (# 2633) priesthood. ἀνενέγκαι aor. act. inf. ἀναφέρω (# 429) to bring up, to offer, to offer sacrifice. πνευματικὰς θυσίας spiritual sacrifices. These are sacrifices which consist of praise and thanksgiving, charity and mutual sharing, and which are inspired by the Spirit (Kelly). εὐπρόσδεκτος (# 2347) acceptable. ◆ 6 διότι (# 1484) therefore. περιέχει pres. ind. act. περιέχω (# 4321) impersonal, it is included. The word was used in the papyri concerning a will, as "in the will as it stands written" (MM; Beare). γραφῇ (# 1210) writing, Scripture. ἰδού pres. imp. mid. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Imp. used to draw attention. τίθημι (# 5502) pres. ind. act. to lay. ἀκρογωνιαῖος (# 214) lying at the extreme corner. λίθον ἀκρογωνιαῖον foundation stone, cornerstone, chief cornerstone, capstone. The word refers either to a massive cornerstone placed at the upper corner of the building in order to bind the walls firmly together, or to the keystone in the middle of an archway (Beare; TDNT). πιστεύων pres. act. part. subst. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. οὐ μή (# 3590; 4024) not at all. The two negatives form a strong denial (M, 187ff). καταισχυνθῇ aor. subj. pass. καταισχύνω (# 2875) to put to shame. Subj. w. the double neg. ◆ 7 ἡ τιμή (# 5507) the honor. The honor includes their privileged status here and now as well as triumph over their mocking assailants and their salvation on the last day (Kelly). For a discussion of the grammatical difficulties and various interpretations s. Hort; Michaels. πιστεύουσιν pres. act. part. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe; "to you who are believing." Part. is in apposition to the personal pron. ὑμιν dat. pl. σύ (# 5148) you. Dat. is personal advantage or possession. ἀπιστοῦσιν pres. act. part. ἀπιστεύω (# 601) to be unbelieving. ἀπεδοκίμασαν aor. ind. act. ἀποδοκιμάζω (# 627) to reject after examination (s.v. 4). οἰκοδομοῦντες pres. act. part. οἰκοδομέω (# 3868) to build. Subst. part., "the builders." ἐγενήθη aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. γωνία (# 1224) corner. ◆ 8 πρόσκομμα (# 4682) stumbling. The stone of stumbling is the loose stone lying in the way against which the traveler strikes his foot (Hort). προσκόπτουσιν pres. ind. act. προσκόπτω (# 4684) to cut against, to stumble. ἀπειθοῦντες pres. act. part. ἀπειθέω (# 578) to disobey. The word carries a strong sense of refusal to believe (Kelly). εἰς ὅ (# 1650; 4005) unto which. ἐτέθησαν aor. ind. pass. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to put, to appoint. ◆ 9 γένος (# 1169) generation, race. βασίλειος (# 994) kingly, royal. The word could be taken as an adj. modifying ἱεράτευμα, or it can be taken as a substantive, either w. the meaning royal house, palace, or a group of kings (Best; Kelly; Goppelt; J.H. Elliott, The Elect and Holy. An Exegetical Examination of I Peter 2:4-10 [Leiden: E.J. Brill, 1966]). ἱεράτευμα (# 2633) priesthood (E. Best, "Spiritual Sacrifice: General Priesthood in the New Testament," Interp. 14 [1960]: 273-99). περιποίησις (# 4348) possession, private possession (TLNT; GELTS, 371) . ἀρετάς acc. pl. ἀρετή (# 746) virtue, the ability to do heroic deeds. When the word is applied to deity it does not denote virtues or intrinsic qualities, but the manifestations of divine power; i.e., His mighty and glorious deeds, the virtue needed when virtue was called for (TDNT; Goppelt; Kelly; Hort; Beare; BS, 95f; MM; NDIEC, 4:67-69; PIGC, 1:1-2). ἐξαγγείλητε aor. subj. act. ἐξαγγέλλω (# 1972) to tell out, to tell forth. The word often has the additional force of declaring things unknown (Hort). In the LXX the word is used w. the sense of cultic proclamation, or the rehearsal in adoring language of God's righteousness and praises (Kelly). Subj. w. ὅπως (# 3968) to express purp. καλέσαντος aor. act. part. (subst.) καλέω (# 2813) to call. The word refers to the effective call of God. θαυμαστός (# 2515) wonderful, marvelous. The marvelous light could refer to the future revelation of the glory at the coming of Jesus Christ (Michaels). ◆ 10 ποτε (# 4537) then, at that time, formerly. ἠλεημένοι perf. pass. part. ἐλεέω (# 1796) to be merciful; pass., to obtain mercy, to have mercy and pity showed upon one. Perf. emphasizes the completed state or cond. The contrast of the perf. w. the following aor. stresses the contrast between the long antecedent state and the single event of conversion that ended it (Hort). ἐλεηθέντες aor. pass. part. ἐλεέω (# 1796). ◆ 11 ἀγαπητός (# 28) verbal adj. loved one, beloved. παρακαλῶ pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to urge, to encourage, to beseech (s. Rom. 12:1). πάροικος (# 4230) alien. It denotes a man who lives in a foreign country (Kelly). παρεπίδημος (# 4215) foreigner, stranger, temporary sojourner. This word suggests a visitor making a brief stay (Kelly; s. 1:1). As long as we are in this world, our lives as Christians should display a certain detachment (Stibbs). ἀπέχεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἀπέχομαι (# 600) to hold oneself away from, to abstain. Inf. in indir. disc. after the main vb. The obj. of the vb. is in gen., indicating what one is not to indulge in (Beare). σαρκικός (# 4920) fleshly, that which pertains to the flesh; i.e., the impulses belonging to the selfish and lower side of human nature (Selwyn). For the significance of the suf. s. MH, 378f. ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) strong desire, lust. στρατεύονται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) στρατεύομαι (# 5129) to fight, to carry on a military campaign, to wage war. Pres. emphasizes the continual warfare. ◆ 12 ἀναστροφή (# 419) manner of life, conduct, behavior (s. 1:15). ἔθνεσιν pl. ἔθνος (# 1620) nation; pl. heathen–those who have no knowledge of the true God, Gentiles. ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. indicates the continual possession and could have an imp. force (Beare). καταλαλοῦσιν pres. ind. act. καταλαλέω (# 2895) to speak evil of (Hort). κακοποιός (# 2804) evildoer. It denotes the doing of mischief or injury, either to a specific person or object, or else absolutely. It is a wicked man who does evil in such a way that he is liable for punishment from the magistrate (Hort; Bigg). ἐποπτεύοντες pres. act. part. ἐποπτεύω (# 2227) to look upon, to observe, to be a spectator, to view carefully, to watch over a period of time. Pres. indicates a longer period of time and includes the observer's memory and reflection upon the deeds. The thought is of spiritual insight to be gained in the future, through the influence of the good works (RWP; Selwyn; Beare). Part. could be temp. ("when") or causal ("because they observe"). δοξάσωσιν aor. subj. act. δοξάζω (# 1519) to hold a high opinion of, to glorify. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) is used to express purp. ἐπισκοπή (# 2175) visitation. The word is used in the OT either in the sense of visit, or a visitation for blessing (GELTS, 175); here, however, the visitation must be one of judgment (Hort; Best). ◆ 13 ὑποτάγητε aor. imp. pass. ὑποτάσσω (# 5718) to be in subjection, to submit oneself, to be subject to. The believer is to submit to civil authority (DLNT, 230-33). ἀνθρώπινος (# 474) human, that which is made by human beings, that which proceeds from men. For the suf. of the word s. MH, 378f. κτίσις (# 3232) creation, institution. The word may refer to institutions men have created (Best), or to creation by God, w. the previous adj. having the force "among man," so that the phrase means, "to every (divine) institution among men" (Hort). διὰ τὸν κύριον because of the Lord, for the Lord's sake (Kelly). βασιλεῖ dat. sing. βασιλεύς (# 995) king, emperor (Beare). ὑπερέχοντι pres. act. part. ὑπερέχω (# 5660) to send out above, to have it over, to be supreme. The word refers to the head of public administration, not deity (Beare). ◆ 14 ἡγεμόσιν dat. pl. ἡγεμών (# 2450) governor. The word has various applications but was specially applied about this time to governors of provinces, or proconsuls, whether appointed by the emperor or the senate (Hort; Best; BBC). πεμπομένοις pres. pass. part. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. Gnomic pres. stating a general truth. ἐκδίκησις (# 1689) punishment, legal punishment, avenging (Bigg). κακοποιῶν (# 2804) evildoer (s.v. 12). obj. gen., "punishment for evildoers." ἔπαινος (# 2047) praise. Governors demanded order in the home because many thought that the house is like a small city, and insubordination in one led to insubordination in the other (Balch, 94). ἀγαθοποιός (# 18) doing good, upright, one who does right as opposed to an evildoer (BAGD). Here, obj. gen., "praise for those who do good." ◆ 15 ἀγαθοποιοῦντας pres. act. part. ἀγαθοποιέω (# 18) to do good, to do right. Part. further defines the will of God and gives the manner or means "by showing yourselves to be good subjects," "by active beneficence" (Beare). φιμοῦν pres. act. inf. φιμόω (# 5821) to muzzle, to put to silence, to gag, to restrain (Hort). Epex. inf. explaining the will of God. ἄφρων (# 933) foolish, without reason, those who are senseless in what they are prone to say about Christianity (Stibbs). Here, gen. of description. ἀγνωσία (# 57) ignorant. The word suggests culpable ignorance rather than mere lack of knowledge (Best). ◆ 16 ἐλεύθερος (# 1801) free, freedman. To describe the ideal life in terms of freedom meant much for the ancient world because of its clear distinction between the slave and free man. The freedman could live with the family of the one freeing him, take the family name, and even receive his part of the inheritance, but he was always indebted to the one freeing him and was to always show respect (Best; LLAR, 114-15; ABD, 2:855-59; DPL, 881; A.M. Duff, Freedmen in the Early Roman Empire, Oxford, 1928). ἐπικάλυμμα (# 2127) that which covers over, veil, cloak. Here it signifies "pretext" (Hort). ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Circum. part., perhaps w. imp. force. κακία (# 2798) evil. Obj. gen. here, indicating that which is covered up. ἐλευθερία (# 1800) freedom, liberty. θεοῦ δοῦλοι slaves to God. A freedman could become the slave of the one freeing him (DLNT, 1086-87). ◆ 17 τιμήσατε aor. imp. act. τιμάω (# 5506) to honor. Const. aor. denotes the total action w. special emphasis on carrying it to its final point (RWP; VANT, 375-77), but it may be better to view the aor. imp. as expressing a more urgent and authoritative force than the pres. (VANT, 374-75; Hort). ἀδελφότης (# 82) brotherhood. The word has the concrete sense of a band of brothers (Hort; RAC, 2:631-40; TDNT; NIDNTT; DC, 38:15; NW, 2, ii:1357). ἀγαπᾶτε pres. imp. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. φοβεῖσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) φοβέομαι (# 5828) to fear, to be afraid. τιμᾶτε pres. imp. act. τιμάω (# 5506) to honor. Pres. imp. calls for a continual attitude. ◆ 18 οἰκέται voc. pl. οἰκέτης (# 3860) household servant. The word denotes household slaves, many of whom might be well-educated and hold responsible positions in their households (Best; Goppelt; s. Philemon). The nom. w. the article is used as a voc. (Beare; M, 70). ὑποτασσόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ὑποτάσσω (# 5718) to submit. Part. is used as an imp. (Selwyn; Daube in Selwyn, 467-88). παντί (# 4246) used w. φόβῳ (# 5832) in all fear. Not fear of the masters to whom they are subject, but fear of God. It is the spirit of reverence toward Him that induces respect and faithfulness to duty in the sphere of human relationships (Beare). δεσπότης (# 1305) master, ruler, one who has complete authority. ἐπιεικέσιν dat. pl. ἐπιεικής (# 2117) mild, gentle (s. Phil. 4:5). καί (# 2779) even. σκολιός (# 5021) bent, crooked, severe, hard to deal w., harsh (Kelly; Selwyn; Phil. 2:15). ◆ 19 χάρις (# 5921) grace, thanks, excellence. The word is used here in the sense of that which is admirable, enhancing the esteem in which those who display it are held (Beare; TDNT). συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience (s. Rom. 2:15; RAC, 10:1025-107). ὑποφέρει pres. ind. act. ὑποφέρω (# 5722) to bear up under, to endure, to put up w. (Kelly; Goppelt). λύπας acc. pl. λύπη (# 3383) pain, sorrow. πάσχων pres. act. part. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. Part. could be temp. Mere endurance is no cause for pride. Slaves, like school boys, sometimes vied w. one another in the ability to endure corporal punishment without flinching. If the beating is deserved, there is no glory in bearing it; but to show patience in the face of injustice is true evidence of Christian character (Beare). ἀδίκως (# 97) adv., unjustly. ◆ 20 ποῖος (# 4481) what kind of, what sort of. κλέος (# 3094) reputation, prestige, glory, credit (Kelly; Selwyn). ἁμαρτάνοντες pres. act. part. (temp.) ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin, to do wrong (Bigg). κολαφιζόμενοι pres. pass. part. κολαφίζω (# 3139) to strike w. the fist, to beat, to treat roughly. Since the word was used of Christ and His suffering (s. Matt. 26:67; Mark 14:65), Peter may be comparing the beating of a slave to the suffering Christ endured (Selwyn; Schelkle; TDNT). Temp. or circum. part. ὑπομενεῖτε fut. ind. act. ὑπομένω (# 5702) to endure, to patiently endure. ἀγαθοποιοῦντες pres. act. part. ἀγαθοποιέω (# 16) to do good, to do that which is right. πάσχοντες pres. act. part. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. Both temp. parts. Pres. indicates an action in progress. ◆ 21 τοῦτο (# 4047) this; i.e., the patient and cheerful endurance of maltreatment when you least deserve it (Kelly). ἐκλήθητε aor. ind. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call. The divine pass. indicates that it is God who calls. In calling us "to his eternal glory" (5:10), "out of darkness into his marvelous light" (2:9), God also calls us to the exercise of this patient endurance of suffering that we have done nothing to deserve. In this very respect, Christ has given us a model of Christian conduct (Beare). ἔπαθεν aor. ind. act. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. ὑπολιμπάνων pres. act. part. ὑπολιμπάνω (# 5701) to leave behind. ὑπογραμμός (# 5681) copy, example. The word is used in 2 Macc. 2:28 of the outlines of a sketch the artist fills in w. detail. It is also used as the model of handwriting to be copied by the school boy, then fig. of a model of conduct for imitation (Bigg; Beare). ἐπακολουθήσητε aor. subj. act. ἐπακολουθέω (# 2051) to follow after, to follow upon, to follow closely (RWP). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) is used to express purp. (RWP). or the cl. is epex. explaining the pattern or example (Beare). ἴχνεσιν dat. pl. ἴχνος (# 2717) footprint. In the pl. it means the line of footprints. To follow a man's footprints is to move in the direction he is going (Kelly). ◆ 22 ἁμαρτία (# 281) sin. ἐποίησεν aor. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. The phrase ἁμαρτίαν ἐποίησεν ("to do sin") means to sin. εὑρέθη aor. ind. pass. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. δόλος deceit (s.v. 1). στόμα (# 5125) mouth. ◆ 23 λοιδορούμενος pres. pass. part. λοιδορέω (# 3366) to abuse, to revile, to use vile and abusive language against someone, to heap abuse upon someone, to insult (TLNT; TDNT; T; GELTS, 284). Pres. part. indicates something done over and over. Part. could be concessive ("although he was repeatedly being ridiculed"), or it could be temp. ("while he was continually being ridiculed"). ἀντελοιδόρει impf. ind. act. ἀντιλοιδορέω (# 518) to return abuse, to give back abusive language in return. For the prep. in compound indicating reciprocal action s. MH, 297. Impf. is used for repeated incidence (RWP). πάσχων pres. act. part. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. ἠπείλει impf. ind. act. ἀπείλω (# 580) to threaten. Impf. is either inchoative ("he did not begin to threaten") or iterative, emphasizing the repeated action (RWP). παρεδίδου impf. ind. act. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to deliver over, to give over to, to entrust, to commit. κρίνοντι pres. act. part. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. δικαίως (# 1469) adv., righteously, according to justice. Christ accepted without rebellion the unjust treatment meted out to Him, confident of vindication before God (Beare). ◆ 24 αὐτός (# 899) himself. ἀνήνεγκεν aor. ind. act. ἀναφέρω (# 429) to bear up, to bear away. Peter stresses the redemptive significance of Jesus' death by his use of OT sacrificial language (Best; Selwyn). ξύλον (# 3833) wood, tree. This is referring to His death on the cross (TDNT; Gal. 3:13). ἀπογενόμενοι aor. mid. (dep.) part. ἀπογίνομαι (# 614) to get away from, to die, to depart. The word is followed by the dat. of reference; i.e., to die in reference to sin (Selwyn; RWP). ζήσωμεν aor. subj. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. μώλωπι dat. sing. μώλωψ (# 3698) whelp, bruise, wound caused by blows. The word denotes the welt or discolored swelling left by a blow from a fist or whip. The word strictly means a cut that bleeds; he thinks here of the lashing that draws blood (BAGD; Kelly; Beare). Instr. dat. ἰάθητε aor. ind. pass. ἰάομαι (# 2615) to heal. Peter, like Isaiah, uses physical healing as a metaphor for religious conversion; s. v. 25 (Michaels). ◆ 25 ἦτε impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. πρόβατον (# 4585) sheep, echoing perhaps Isa. 53:6. πλανώμενοι pres. pass. (dep.) part. πλανάω (# 4414) to wander, to wander away, to go astray. Part. is used in periphrastic construction emphasizing the continual action in the past: "you were going astray" (Beare). ἐπεστράφητε aor. ind. pass. ἐπιστρέφω (# 2188) to turn, to return. ποιμένα acc. sing. ποιμήν (# 4478) shepherd (TDNT). ἐπίσκοπος (# 2176) overseer, guardian, bishop (Best; Kelly; TDNT; NIDNTT; DLNT, 224-25; 1 Tim. 3:1). The word interprets the metaphor of shepherd, combining the ideas of God's close and tireless scrutiny of the human heart w. the protecting care of His people (Michaels).

◆ 1 ὁμοίως (# 3931) adv., likewise, in like manner, referring to the passage on slaves. ὑποτασσόμεναι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ὑποτάσσομαι (# 5718) to be in subjection, to subject oneself. Circum. part. as imp. (s. 1:14; Balch, 97-98). Submission of wives to their husbands should be viewed in the light of the society of that day, esp. in the light of the wild activities of women in the worship of Dionysus (Lat. Bacchus) and Isis (Balch, 63-80; DDD, 855-60; NP, 3:651-64). ἴδιος (# 2625) one's own. ἀνδράσιν dat. pl. ἀνήρ (# 467) husband. Alexander the Great told his mother that it is proper for the wife to be submissive to her own husband; and Plutarch says that wives are to subordinate themselves, and the man is to exercise control "as the soul controls the body, by entering into her feelings and being knit to her through goodwill" (Balch, 98-99; s. Col. 3:18). ἵνα (# 2671) w. fut. (BD, 186-87). ἀπειθοῦσιν pres. ind. act. ἀπειθέω (# 578) to be disobedient, to disobey (s. 2:8). The ind. is used in a 1st. class cond. cl. assuming the reality of the cond. This reference to pagan husbands should be understood against the social background in which a wife was expected to accept the customs and religious rites of her husband (Balch, 99). ἀναστροφή (# 419) conduct, behavior; proper relations w. associates (Balch, 100; BBC; s. 1:15; Tal Ilan, Jewish Women in Greco-Roman Palestine, [Tübingen: J. C. B. Mohr: 1994], 59-61, 128-29; Tal Ilan, "How Women Differed," BAR 24 [1998]: 38-39, 68). ἄνευ (# 459) w. gen., without. There is a play on the word λόγος. The wives are to remain silent–"without a word"–so that the husbands disobedient to "the word" may be converted (Balch, 99). κερδηθήσονται fut. ind. pass. κερδέω (# 3045) to win, to gain. Here the vb. means to win over to a point of view (Selwyn; TDNT; Goppelt; David Daube, "Κερδαίνω as a Missionary Term," HTR 40 [1947]: 109-20; Balch, 99-100). ◆ 2 ἐποπτεύσαντες aor. act. part. ἐποπτεύω (# 2227) to look at, to observe (s. 2:12). Temp. or causal part. ἁγνήν acc. sing. ἁγνός (# 54) pure, clean, chaste. Here it indicates the irreproachable conduct of the wife (Kelly). ◆ 3 ἔστω pres. imp. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἔξωθεν (# 2033) outward. ἐμπλοκή (# 1862) plaited, braiding. τριχῶν gen. pl. θρίξ, τριχός (# 2582) hair. The braiding of the hair, along with bright clothes, was important in the cult of Artemis of Ephesus and the cult of Isis (Balch, 101-2). περίθεσις (# 4324) placing around, wearing. χρυσίον (# 5992) gold, gold jewelry. For references of writers in the ancient world who also spoke against the superficial preoccupation of women w. dress, jewelry, etc., s. Kelly; Goppelt; Selwyn, 432-39; Balch, 101f. ἔνδυσις (# 1906) putting on. ἱμάτιον (# 2668) garment, clothes. ◆ 4 κρυπτός (# 3220) hidden. ἄφθαρτος (# 915) incorruptible (s. 1:4). πραέως gen. sing. πραΰς (# 4558) meek, gentle, controlled strength. The word refers to the humble and gentle attitude that expresses itself in a patient submissiveness; it could be used in the context of a meek and quiet spirit as a response to slander (Balch, 102-3; s. Matt. 5:5; Gal. 5:23). ἡσύχιος (# 2485) quiet. πνεῦμα (# 4460) spirit, disposition (Selwyn). Here gen. of definition (Beare). ἐνώπιον τοῦ θεοῦ (# 1967; 2536) in the presence of God. This stands in sharp contrast to the normal human experience. πολυτελής (# 4500) very valuable, costly. ◆ 5 οὕτως (# 4048) so, thus, in this way. ποτε (# 4537) at that time, formerly. ἅγιαι nom. pl. ἅγιος (# 41) holy. ἐλπίζουσαι pres. act. part. (adj.) nom. fem. pl. ἐλπίζω (# 1827) to hope. ἐκόσμουν impf. ind. act. κοσμέω (# 3175) to put in order, to adorn. Here it refers to the correctness of a well-fitted garment, in no way outlandish or provocative. Christian women should dress themselves in good taste, appropriately (TLNT, 2:322; Col 3:18). For clothing in the ancient world s. ABD, 2: 235-38. Impf. indicates customary action, "they used to adorn themselves" (RWP). ὑποτασσόμεναι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ὑποτάσσομαι (# 5718) to submit. Part. of manner indicating how they adorned themselves. ◆ 6 Σάρρα (# 4925) Sarah. Sarah is used as an example of this adorning w. a quiet spirit and of submission to her husband (Balch, 103). ὑπήκουσεν aor. ind. act. ὑπακούω (# 5634) to listen to, to obey. καλοῦσα pres. act. part. καλέω (# 2813) to call. Temp. part. ("when she called him"), but it also gives an explanation of her obedience. For the example of Sarah calling Abraham lord in Jewish lit. s. Balch, 103-5; Michaels. ἐγενήθητε aor. ind. pass. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. The vb. γίνομαι insinuates that they were formerly pagans (Kelly). Aor. points to a one-time act (Goppelt). ἀγαθοποιοῦσαι pres. act. part. ἀγαθοποιέω (# 16) to do good. φοβούμεναι pres. mid. (dep.) part. φοβέομαι (# 5828) to be afraid, to have fear. Parts. provide proof that they have become Sarah's children, "in that you do good and are not a prey to terror" (Beare; Goppelt). πτόησις (# 4766) frightening, terrifying. The word means fluttering, excitement, perturbation of spirit caused by any passion, but more esp. by fear (Bigg). The acc. seems to be used as a cognate acc. (Beare). Wives must fear God and not be terrified of those in house or city who oppose their faith (Balch, 105). ◆ 7 συνοικοῦντες pres. act. part. συνοικέω (# 5324) to live together. Part. used as an imp. (Selwyn). γνῶσις (# 1194) understanding. Here it means Christian insight and tact, a conscious sensitivity to God's will (Kelly; Beare). ἀσθενεστέρῳ comp. ἀσθενής (# 822) weak; comp., weaker. Here it may be weaker in the physical sense (Selwyn; Best; Beare; BBC). σκεῦος (# 5007) vessel, jar, instrument. The word may refer to the physical body (Selwyn; Schelkle). Dat. here could be the obj. of the part. συνοικοῦντες or be taken w. the part. ἀπονέμοντες (Michaels). γυναικεῖος (# 1221) female, woman. The n. adj. is used w. the article to denote an abstract noun (Selwyn). ἀπονέμοντες pres. act. part. ἀπονέμω (# 671) to assign, to show, to pay respect. Used here in the sense of showing honor to someone (BAGD). Used in the papyri in the sense of rendering one his dues, or showing gratitude (MM; NDIEC, 1:61-62; Preisigke, 1:190). Josephus uses the word to describe the honors Titus paid his troops after the destruction of Jerusalem (Jos., JW, 7:15; for other uses in Josephus s. CCFJ, 1:201). συγκληρονόμος (# 5169) fellow heir, joint heir; followed by the obj. gen., "fellow heirs of the grace of life," i.e., God's gracious gift of eternal life (Bigg). ἐγκόπτεσθαι pres. pass. inf. ἐγκόπτω (# 1601) to cut in on, to hinder (s. Gal. 5:7; 1 Thess. 2:18; TDNT; NIDNTT). Articular inf. w. the prep. εἰς (# 1650) to express purp. (RWP). προσευχάς acc. pl. προσευχή (# 4666) prayer. ◆ 8 τὸ τέλος (# 5465) used adverbially, finally. In this adverbial sense the word always seems to introduce a fresh point, not simply summarize what has gone before. Here it affects the transition from specific ethical duties to a general statement of Christian character (Selwyn). ὁμόφρων (# 3939) like-minded; i.e., of that inward unity of attitude in spiritual things which make schism unthinkable (Beare); peace in all relations at home (BBC).

συμπαθής (# 5218) full of sympathy, sharing in feeling. The word denoted a readiness to enter into and share the feelings of others and to unite alike in sorrow and in joy (Kelly; Beare). φιλάδελφος (# 5790) love of brother, brotherly love. εὔσπλαγχνος (# 2359) compassionate, compassionate tenderness (s. Eph. 4:32; TDNT; MNTW, 156f). ταπεινόφρων (# 5426) humble minded (s. Phil. 2:3; TDNT; TLNT). ◆ 9 ἀποδιδόντες pres. act. part. ἀποδίδωμι (# 625) to give back, to pay back. Part. is used as an imp. λοιδορία (# 3367) railing, abuse, insult. τοὐναντίον (# 5539) = τὸ ἐναντίον on the contrary (RWP). εὐλογοῦντες pres. act. part. εὐλογέω (# 2328) to bless. Part. of manner. ἐκλήθητε aor. ind. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call (s. 2:21). Const. aor. w. the emphasis on the event and no reference to time. εἰς τοῦτο (# 1650; 4047) for, unto this. It could refer to the previous context, or look forward to the inheritance of a blessing (Davids). κληρονομήσητε aor. subj. act. κληρονομέω (# 3099) to inherit. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. The idea here is of an inheritance as a free gift that comes, unmerited, to the recipient (Kelly). ◆ 10 θέλων pres. act. part. (subst.) θέλω (# 2527) to desire to, w. inf. ἀγαπᾶν aor. act. inf. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. ἰδεῖν aor. act. inf. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. παυσάτω aor. imp. act. παύω (# 4264) to cease, to stop. Here, to keep the tongue from evil (BAGD). For the change from the 2nd. pers. imp. of the LXX to the 3rd. pers. s. Selwyn. λαλῆσαι aor. act. inf. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Compl. inf. to the preceding vb. δόλος (# 1515) deceit (s. 2:1). ◆ 11 ἐκκλινάτω aor. imp. act. 3rd. pers. sing. ἐκκλίνω (# 1712) to turn from, to turn away from. ποιησάτω aor. imp. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ζητησάτω aor. imp. act. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek. διωξάτω aor. imp. act. διώκω (# 1503) to hunt, to pursue. The words enjoin the same active and persistent effort on behalf of peace as enjoined in the beatitude in Matt. 5:9 (Selwyn). ◆ 12 ὀφθαλμός (# 4057) eye. ὦτα nom. pl. οὖς (# 4044) ear. δέησις (# 1255) request, prayer. ποιοῦντας pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Pres. emphasizes the continual doing of something. Subst. part. without the art. stresses the character. ◆ 13 καί (# 2779) besides. After the quotation from Psalm 34, the resumption is rapid and effects a swift and easy entrance into the new theme (Selwyn). κακώσων fut. act. part. (subst.) κακόω (# 2805) to do evil to someone, to harm someone. The fut. part. has the idea, "who is going to harm you?" (Kelly). ζηλωτής (# 2421) zealot, enthusiast, one who exercises zeal for an object (Selwyn; Best; DJG, 696-97). γένησθε aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which views the cond. as possible. ◆ 14 πάσχοιτε pres. opt. act. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. The opt. is used in a cond. of the 4th class to imply that there is no certainty of fulfillment of the condition, "if perchance" (RWP; Best; BD, 195; BG, 111). There is no contradiction between this statement and 1 Peter 4:12ff, and no evidence that the letter should be divided into different writings. For arguments against viewing 1 Peter 4:12ff as a separate writing s. Kelly. μακάριος (# 3421) happy, blessed, fortunate (TDNT; BAGD; NIDNTT). φοβηθῆτε aor. subj. pass. (dep.) φοβέομαι (# 5828) to be afraid, to fear. Subj. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) used to form a prohibition. ταραχθῆτε aor. subj. pass. ταράσσω (# 5429) to shake, to disturb, to trouble. ◆ 15 ἁγιάσατε aor. imp. act. ἁγιάζω (# 39) to sanctify; to venerate and adore Him, thus dispelling all fear of man (Beare). ἕτοιμος (# 2289) ready, prepared. ἀεί (# 107) always. ἀπολογία (# 665) defense. The word was often used of the argument for the defense in a court of a law, and though the word may have the idea of a judicial interrogation in which one is called to answer for the manner in which he has exercised his responsibility (Beare), the word can also mean an informal explanation or defense of one's position. The word would aptly describe giving an answer to the skeptical, abusive, or derisive inquiries of ill-disposed neighbors (Kelly). αἰτοῦντι pres. act. part. αἰτέω (# 160) to ask. Pres. would be iterative, "every time someone asks." Part. as subst., "the one asking." λόγος (# 3364) account, a rational account of (Selwyn). ἐλπίδος gen. sing. ἐλπίς (# 1828) hope (EH). In this letter hope is used almost as an equivalent for faith (s. 1:21; Best). ◆ 16 ἀλλά (# 247) but, however. πραΰτης (# 4559) meekness, gentleness. συνείδησις (# 5287) conscience. ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. can mean to possess, to maintain. Part. is used as an imp. (Beare). καταλαλεῖσθε pres. ind. pass. καταλαλέω (# 2895) to speak evil against. Pres. could be iterat., indicating an action that occurred repeatedly: "every time you are slandered." καταισχυνθῶσιν aor. subj. pass. καταισχύνω (# 2875) to put to shame. Perhaps Peter was thinking of his personal experience at Pentecost, when the Jews first scoffed but then were pierced to the heart (Acts 2:13, 37) (Hort). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl. ἐπηρεάζοντες pres. act. part. ἐπηρεάζω (# 2092) to threaten, to mistreat, to abuse, to insult, to treat wrongfully, to deal despitefully w. someone. For examples from the papyri s. MM. ἀναστροφή (# 419) behavior, conduct (s. 1:15). ◆ 17 κρεῖττον (# 3202) n. comp. ἀγαθός good; comp., better. ἀγαθοποιοῦντας pres. act. part. ἀγαθοποιέω (# 16) to do good. Part. is acc. pl., agreeing w. the subj. of the inf.; and causal, giving the reason for suffering. θέλοι pres. opt. act. θέλω (# 2527) to desire. Opt. is used in a 4th class cond. cl. (s.v. 14). πάσχειν pres. act. inf. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. Compl. inf. to main vb. κακοποιοῦντας pres. act. part. (causal) κακοποιέω (# 2803) to do evil, to do wrong. For interpretation of this v. as referring to eschatological judgment s. J.R. Michaels, "Eschatology in 1 Peter 3:17," NTS 13 [1967]: 394-401. ◆ 18 ὅτι καὶ Χριστός because Christ also. This introduces a new application of the imitation of Christ–we pass from the patient Christ to the victorious Christ (Selwyn). ἀπέθανεν aor. ind. act. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die. For the variant reading ἔπαθεν aor. ind. act. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer s. TC, 692f; Selwyn; Kelly; Goppelt. προσαγάγῃ aor. subj. act. προσφέρω (# 4642) to lead or bring to, to introduce, to provide access for, to bring about a right relationship. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. or result. The word had various usages. It could denote the bringing of a person before a tribunal or presenting him at a royal court; it also denoted the ritual act of bringing a sacrifice to God or the consecration of persons to God's service (Kelly; TDNT; Eph. 2:18). θανατωθείς aor. pass. part. (circum.) θανατόω (# 2506) to put to death. σαρκί dat. sing. σάρξ (# 4922) flesh. The expression refers to the reality of Christ's physical death; the dat. is dat of reference (Selwyn). ζῳοποιηθείς aor. pass. part. ζῳοποιέω (# 2443) to make alive. The expression "in reference to spirit" could refer either to the Holy Spirit or to the spirit of Christ (Best). ◆ 19 ἐν ᾧ (# 1877; 4005) in which. The rel. pron. could refer to the word πνεύματι or it can refer to the state or circumstances (Selwyn, 315f; Reicke, 138; Best). φυλακῇ (# 5871) prison. πνεῦμα (# 4460) spirit. For a discussion of the identity s. DLNT, 1118-19. πορευθείς aor. pass. (dep.) part. πορεύομαι (# 4513) to go. ἐκήρυξεν aor. ind. act. κηρύσσω (# 3062) to proclaim, to preach. For various discussions and literature on this difficult passage s. Goppelt; Best; Selwyn, 314-62; Sherman E. Johnson, "The Preaching to the Dead," JBL 79 [1960]: 48-51; Bo Reicke, The Disobedient Spirit and Christian Baptism (Copenhagen, 1946); W.J. Dalton, Christ's Proclamation to the Spirits (Rome, 1965); Michaels; Davids; Brox; Grudem. ◆ 20 ἀπειθήσασιν aor. act. part. ἀπείθέω (# 578) to be disobedient (s. 2:8). ἀπεξεδέχετο impf. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀπεκδέχομαι (# 587) to earnestly and eagerly await w. expectancy, to wait out the time (Beare; Gal. 5:5). μακροθυμία (# 3429) longsuffering, patience (s. Rom. 2:4; Gal. 5:22). κατασκευαζομένης pres. pass. part. (temp.) κατασκευάζω (# 2941) to make ready, to build, to construct. Gen. abs. Pres. expressing contemporaneous time. κιβωτός (# 3066) box, ark. διεσώθησαν aor. ind. pass. διασῴζω (# 1407) to save through, to bring safe through (RWP; Acts 27:43). δι' ὕδατος (# 1328; 5623) through water. Prep. could be taken in a local sense–"they were brought to safety by passing through water"–or it could be taken in an instr. sense (Kelly). ◆ 21 ἀντίτυπος (# 531) antitype, n. adj. used as a noun (Goppelt). The word connotes the exactness of correspondence between the stamp and the die (Sewlyn; MM; Heb. 9:24). σῴζει pres. ind. act. σῴζω (# 5392) to save, to rescue. The saving by baptism Peter mentions here is symbolic not actual, as Peter hastens to explain (RWP). Baptism is the occasion and sign of transition from an old way of life to another that is marked by a new ethic. In accepting baptism the person is affirming willingness to share in the known experience of baptized persons–suffering and treatment w. suspicion and hostility. This indicates that the main theme of 1 Peter is not baptism, but rather suffering (David Hill, "On Suffering and Baptism in 1 Peter," Nov T 17 [1976]: 181-89; for those who attempt to make this v. the key to 1 Peter and view the book as a baptismal instructional sermon s. Oscar S. Brooks, "I Peter 3:21-The Clue to the Literary Structure of the Epistle," Nov T 16 [1974]: 290-305; for Jewish parallels related to baptismal catechism for Jewish proselytes s. NTRJ, 106-40). ἀπόθεσις (# 629) putting off, putting away. ῥύπος (# 4866) filth, dirt. ἐπερώτημα (# 2090) question, inquiry, pledge, declaration of commitment. In the papyri there is evidence that this word was a t.t. in making a contract, denoting the pledge or undertaking given by one of the parties in answer to formal questions. The word then implies the registering of agreement to conditions or demands. Baptism is a response or commitment to God (DLNT, 117-19). Here the pledge is an assent to certain conditions; it may imply a confession of faith as well as the willingness to accept the new duties (David Hill, NovT 17, 187f; Reicke; Kelly; Michaels; TLNT; MM; Preisigke, 1:538). δι' ἀναστάσεως (# 1328; 414) through the resurrection. Baptism is a symbolic picture of the resurrection of Christ as well as our own spiritual renewal (RWP). ◆ 22 δεξιός (# 1288) right hand. For the meaning of being on the right hand s. Eph. 1:20. πορευθείς aor. pass. (dep.) part. πορεύομαι (# 4513) to go. Temp. part., "after he went." ὑποταγέντων aor. pass. part. (circum.) ὑποτάσσω (# 5718) to subject, to be in subjection, w. dat. Gen abs. ἀγγέλων καὶ ἐξουσιῶν καὶ δυνάμεων angels and authorities and powers. The designations embrace all ranks of spiritual beings (Beare; TDNT).

◆ 1 οὖν (# 4036) therefore. This word introduces the main lesson to be drawn from 3:18-22 (Bigg). παθόντος aor. act. part. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. Gen. abs., circum. or temp. ἔννοια (# 1936) thought, principle, counsel, mind, resolve. The principle of thought and feeling here referred to is the dying life voluntarily accepted and put on as armor, and finding expression in the meek and courageous pursuit of the spiritual life (Selwyn; Bigg). For the philosophical meaning of the word s. GPT 57. ὁπλίσασθε aor. imp. mid. (dep.) ὁπλίζομαι (# 3959) to arm oneself w. weapons. The idea of the word is, "put on as your armor" (Selwyn), "arm yourselves w. the same insight" (Goppelt). παθών aor. act. part. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. Part. used here as a noun, "the one who has suffered." For a discussion of this as a reference to Christ s. Michaels. πέπαυται perf. ind. mid. (dep.) παύομαι (# 4264) to cease. The word seem to have been a proverbial expression related to

Romans 6:7 w. the suffering taken to mean dying in the sense of dying to sin (Best; Beare; Stibbs). Perf. stresses the cond. or state. ◆ 2 εἰς τό in order that. The words introduce a purp. cl. (RWP). μηκέτι (# 3600) no longer. ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) strong desire, lust, passion. θέλημα (# 2525) will. Here dat. of advantage, indicating personal interest. These two dat. could also express the rules by which man shapes his life (Bigg). ἐπίλοιπος (# 2145) remaining. βιῶσαι aor. act. inf. βιόω (# 1051) to live. ◆ 3 ἀρκετός (# 757) sufficient. The sense of the word is "more than sufficient," "far too much" (Beare). The word may be used ironically to mean "more than enough" (Kelly; Goppelt). παρεληλυθώς perf. act. part. παρέρχομαι (# 4216) to go by, to pass by. One after another, the three perfs. in this v. emphasize the thought that this past of theirs is a closed chapter; that part of the story is over and done w. (Beare). βούλημα (# 1088) will, wish. κατειργάσθαι perf. mid. (dep.) inf. κατεργάζομαι (# 2981) to produce, to work, to accomplish. πεπορευμένους perf. mid. (dep.) part. πορεύομαι (# 4513) to go. The word is used here in sense of the Hebrew word הלך ("to walk," "to conduct one's life") (Bigg; Selwyn; TDNT; TDOT, 3:391-92). ἀσέλγεια (# 816) unbridled and unrestrained living. The word describes the spirit that knows no restraints and dares whatever caprice and wanton insolence suggest (NTW 26; TDNT; Gal. 5:19). ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) lust, passion. οἰνοφλυγία (# 3886) wine bubbling up, drunkenness. The context shows that the word means habitual drunkards (RWP; Selwyn). κῶμος (# 3269) drunken party, reveling. The word originally referred to a band of friends who accompanied home a victor in the games. They rejoiced and sang his praises. But the word degenerated until it came to mean a carousal, a band of drunken revellers swaying and singing their way through the streets (NTW, 27; BBC; LLAR, 49-51). The public parties and revelings were associated w. the cult of certain gods, esp. Dionysus (Selwyn; DDD, 480-90; s. Eph. 5:18). πότος (# 4542) drinking, drinking parties. ἀθέμιτος (# 116) abominable, unrighteous, lawless. εἰδωλολατρία (# 1630) worship of idols, idolatry. The prominence here is on sexual and alcoholic excess, w. the stress on idolatry (Kelly). ◆ 4 ἐν ᾧ in which thing, wherein, in which manner of life (Bigg). ξενίζονται pres. ind. pass. ξενίζω (# 3826) to entertain, to entertain strangers, to astonish, to surprise; pass., to be entertained as a guest (BAGD). The word has the idea of being surprised or entertained by the novelty of a thing or being surprised or upset at a new turn of events (Selwyn). The word also includes the thought of taking offense, as ignorant people often feel an unreasonable resentment at anything that does not fit into the pattern of life familiar to them. The matter of this resentful astonishment is expressed by the gen. abs. that follows (Beare). συντρεχόντων pres. act. part. συντρέχω (# 5340) to run together. The metaphor suggests joining in a mad race (Beare). Gen. abs. describes that which is considered to be thought strange. ἀσωτία (# 861) wasteful, riotous living, dissipation (TDNT; s. Eph. 5:18). ἀνάχυσις (# 431) pouring forth. The word was used of the rock pools filled up by the sea at high tide (Selwyn), or of a swamp formed by the pouring of waters. Here it has the active verbal sense followed by the obj. gen. ("outpouring of profligacy"), w. the thought of the life of paganism as a feverish pursuit of evil wherein men vie to pour forth profligate living (Beare). βλασφημοῦντες pres. act. part. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to defame someone, to injure the reputation of someone, to blaspheme (BAGD). Circum. part. to be translated as a main vb., "they consider it strange and defame you." ◆ 5 ἀποδώσουσιν fut. ind. act. ἀποδίδωμι (# 625) to pay back, to give account. ἑτοίμως (# 2290) adv., ready. ἔχοντι pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Dat. here indicates to whom account is rendered, "to the one who stands ready." For this construction s. Kelly; RWP; Acts 21:13. κρῖναι aor. act. inf. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. Inf. is epex. explaining the readiness. ζῶντας pres. act. part. (subst.) ζάω (# 2409) to live. νεκρός (# 3738) dead. The phrase, "the living and the dead" means "all men" (Best). ◆ 6 νεκροῖς dat. pl. (# 3738) s.v. 5 "to the dead." The reference may be to those who are spiritually dead, but it seems better to understand the term as referring to those to whom the gospel was preached and have since died (Stibbs). εὐηγγελίσθη aor. ind. pass. εὐαγγελίζω (# 2294) to proclaim the good news, to evangelize, to preach the gospel. κριθῶσι aor. subj. pass. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) is used in a purp. cl. ζῶσι pres. subj. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. For the omission of the moveable nu (ν) s. GGP, 1:114. κατὰ θεόν (# 2848; 2536) according to God. The phrase either could mean "in the eyes of God" (Kelly) or "in God's likeness," "as God lives," i.e., eternally (Selwyn). ◆ 7 ἤγγικεν perf. ind. act. ἐγγίζω (# 1581) to come near; perf., to be at hand. σωφρονήσατε aor. imp. act. σωφρονέω (# 5404) to be sound in mind. The word connotes the cool head and balanced mind to exercise self-control or moderation (Beare; Selwyn; GPT, 179f; TDNT; TLNT). νήψατε aor. imp. act. νήπω (# 3768) to be sober, to keep a clear head (Kelly). ◆ 8 πρὸ πάντων (# 4574; 4246) before all things, above all. ἐκτενής (# 1756) strenuous, intense (s. 1:22). ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to find. καλύπτει pres. ind. act. καλύπτω (# 2821) to cover, to hide. The proverbial expression may be a quotation or adaptation of Prov. 10:12 (Best; Beare). Gnomic pres., indicating that which is constantly true. πλῆθος (# 4436) multitude. ◆ 9 φιλόξενος (# 5811) hospitality, entertaining of strangers. The lack of a network of decent hotels for ordinary people resulted in a readiness to provide board and lodging for friends and other suitable sponsored travelers that was more highly esteemed than it is today (Kelly; for Jewish parallels s. SB, 3:297; and in general RAC, 8:1061-123; TDNT). γογγυσμός (# 1198) murmuring, complaining, grumbling. These words add a sharp twang of realism. Then as now guests could overstay or otherwise abuse their host's welcome; it is a good reminder that hospitality can be an exasperating chore, to be shouldered cheerfully if it is to be worthwhile (Kelly). ◆ 10 ἕκαστος (# 1667) each one. καθώς (# 2777) just as. ἔλαβεν aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. χάρισμα (# 5922) gift, gracious gift, grace gift (s. 1 Cor. 1:7; DPL, 339-47; TDNT; NIDNTT). διακονοῦντες pres. act. part. διακονέω (# 1354) to minister, to serve. οἰκονόμος (# 3874) steward. The word denotes a slave who was responsible for managing his master's property or household and for distributing wages, food, etc. to its members (Kelly; s. 1 Cor. 4:1; TDNT; TLNT). ποικίλος (# 4476) many-colored, manifold, variegated. ◆ 11 λαλεῖ pres. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Ind. in a 1st. class cond. assuming the truth of the cond. λόγον (# 3359) utterance, oracle. The word sometimes means "Scripture," and in classical Gr. it means any divine utterance (Selwyn). διακονεῖ pres. ind. act. διακονέω (# 1354) to serve. ἰσχύς (# 2709) strength, might. χορηγεῖ pres. ind. act. χορηγέω (# 5961) to supply. The word originally meant to be in a chorus. Then it meant "to supply a chorus" and so produce a play at one's own risk. Finally it simply meant to furnish or supply anything (Selwyn). δοξάζηται pres. subj. pass. δοξάζω (# 1519) to glorify. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used to express purp. ◆ 12 ἀγαπητός (# 28) one loved, beloved. ξενίζεσθε pres. imp. pass. ξενίζω (# 3826) to entertain, to entertain strangers (s.v. 4). πύρωσις (# 4796) burning, fiery. The word was often used in the sense of a purifying or refining fire (Goppelt). πειρασμός (# 4280) trial, ordeal. γινομένῃ pres. mid. (dep.) part. (subst.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ξένος (# 3828) strange, foreign. συμβαίνοντος pres. act. part. (temp.) συμβαίνω (# 5201) to happen, to occur. Gen. abs. ◆ 13 καθό (# 2771) insofar; far as, according to which thing (RWP). κοινωνεῖτε pres. ind. act. κοινωνέω (# 3125) to share in, to have fellowship. πάθημα (# 4077) suffering. χαίρετε pres. imp. act. χαίρω (# 5897) to be happy, to rejoice. Pres. imp. calls for continual rejoicing. ἀποκάλυψις (# 637) revelation. χαρῆτε aor. subj. act. χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl. ἀγαλλιώμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀγαλλιόομαι (# 22) to be exuberantly happy (s. 1:6). Part. w. the imp. is emphatic, "rejoice w. rapture" (Selwyn). ◆ 14 ὀνειδίζεσθε pres. ind. pass. ὀνειδίζω (# 3943) to revile, to insult. The word, used in the LXX for reproaches heaped on God and His saints by the wicked, in the NT becomes associated w. the indignities and maltreatment Christ had to endure (Kelly). ἀναπαύεται pres. ind. mid. ἀναπαύω (# 399) to give rest, to refresh. ◆ 15 πασχέτω pres. imp. act. 3rd. sing. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. φονεύς (# 5838) murder. κλέπτης (# 3095) thief. κακοποιός (# 2804) evildoer. ἀλλοτριεπίσκοπος (# 258) one who looks after the affairs of another, agitator, mischief maker, meddling in domestic affairs (Kelly; Best; Michaels; Balch, 93-94). ◆ 16 αἰσχυνέσθω pres. imp. pass. αἰσχύνω (# 159) to put to shame; pass., to be put to shame. δοξαζέτω pres. imp. act. δοξάζω (# 1519) to glorify. ◆ 17 ἄρξασθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἄρχομαι (# 806) to begin. The construction of the inf. is unusual and may be in apposition or epex. (RWP). ἀπειθούντων pres. act. part. ἀπειθέω (# 578) to be disobedient (s. 2:8). ◆ 18 μόλις (# 3660) w. difficulty, scarcely. The words do not imply doubt about the salvation of Christians, but emphasize the greatness of God's effort in saving them (Best). σῴζεται pres. ind. pass. σῴζω (# 5392) to save. ἀσεβής (# 815) ungodly. ἁμαρτωλός (# 283) sinner. φανεῖται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) φαίνομαι (# 5743) to appear. ◆ 19 ὥστε (# 6063) therefore, wherefore. The word sums up the thought of the entire paragraph (Beare). καί (# 2779) also. The word introduces a new thought; the certainty of divine justice is a call to a complete serenity of faith in God (Selwyn). πάσχοντες pres. act. part. (subst.) πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. κτίστῃ (# 3234) creator. παρατιθέσθωσαν pres. imp. pass. παρατίθημι (# 4192) to deliver over to, to entrust, to entrust for safe keeping. ἀγαθοποιΐᾳ (# 17) active well-doing (Kelly).

◆ 1 παρακαλῶ pres. ind. act. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to beseech, to encourage (Rom. 12:1). συμπρεσβύτερος (# 5236) fellow elder. Here the word πρεσβύτερος (# 4565) elder, denotes the officials who acted as pastoral leader of the congregations (Kelly; TDNT; Michaels; BBC; DLNT, 1090-93). μάρτυς (# 3459) witness. παθημάτων gen. pl. πάθημα (# 4077) suffering. μελλούσης pres. act. part. (subst.) μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. ἀποκαλύπτεσθαι pres. pass. inf. ἀποκαλύπτω (# 636) to reveal. Compl. inf. to the preceding part. κοινωνός (# 3128) partner, sharer. ◆ 2 ποιμάνατε aor. imp. act. ποιμαίνω (# 4477) to shepherd. Aor. may be ingressive ("take up the task of shepherding" [Beare]), or it may call for a specific act w. a note of urgency (VANT, 371-79). ἐπισκοποῦντες pres. act. part. ἐπισκοπέω (# 2174) to oversee (s. 1 Tim. 3:1). ἀναγκαστῶς (# 339) forced, constrained. ἑκουσίως (# 1731) willingly. αἰσχροκερδῶς (# 154) adv., shameful gain, shamefully greedy (LN, 1:292; TLNT). προθύμως (# 4610) zealously, eagerly. The word is extremely strong and expresses enthusiasm and devoted zeal (Kelly). ◆ 3 κατακυριεύοντες pres. act. part. κατακυριεύω (# 2894) to lord it over someone, to domineer, to exercise complete control. Prep. in compound indicates that the action is unfavorable to an object (MH, 316). κλῆρος (# 3102) lot, charge. The word probably refers to the flock or those who were put in charge of the flock (Best; Beare). τύπος (# 5596) pattern, example. γινόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ◆ 4 φανερωθέντος aor. pass. part. φανερόω (# 5746) to appear. ἀρχιποίμην (# 799) chief shepherd, master shepherd. The designation on a wooden mummy label, as well as in other writings, indicates it was not an uncommon designation (LAE, 99-101; Michaels). κομιεῖσθε fut. ind. mid. (indir. mid) κομίζω (# 3152) to bring; mid., to get for oneself, to receive, to obtain (BAGD). ἀμαράντινος (# 277) unfading (s. 1 Pet. 1:4). ◆ 5 ὁμοίως (# 3931) adv., likewise. νεώτεροι voc. pl. comp. νέος (# 3742) new, young; comp., younger. Adj. as subst., "young men." ὑποτάγητε aor. imp. pass. (dep.) ὑποτάσσομαι (# 5718) to submit, to be in subjection. ταπεινοφροσύνη (# 5425) lowly thinking, humility (TDNT; TLNT). ἐγκομβώσασθε aor. imp. mid. (dep. or dir. mid.) ἐγκομβόομαι (# 1599) to tie or fasten something on oneself firmly w. a clasp, knot, or bow. The word was also used of a slave who tied on an apron; then the idea may be that of wearing humility as a slave's apron (TLNT; Selwyn; Beare). ὑπερήφανος (# 5662) showing oneself above others, proud, arrogant (AS). The proud person has a heart that is puffed up, who compares himself to others and, reckoning he is above them, scorns them (TLNT). ἀντιτάσσεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀντιτάσσω (# 530) to line up against, to oppose, to resist. ταπεινός (# 5424) lowly, humble. ◆ 6 ταπεινώθητε aor. imp. pass. ταπεινόω (# 5427) to make low, to humble; pass., to humble oneself, to humble (TLNT; TDNT; EDNT; DLNT, 961-63). Aor. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. κραταιός (# 3193) strong, mighty (Eph. 1:19). ὑψώσῃ aor. subj. act. ὑψόω (# 5738) to exalt, to lift up, to make high. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. or result. Aor. points to the event. ◆ 7 πᾶσαν τὴν μέριμναν ὑμῶν (# 4246; 3533; 5148) your total care. The adj. πᾶς w. noun and its art. stresses the total aspect of the noun (BAGD). The word μέριμναν indicates worry, anxiety. It is the translation for the Heb. יהב (yehab) in Ps. 54:23 (LXX) (55:23 Heb.), where the meaning of the Heb. is uncertain. The meaning would be, "a burden, load of trouble that comes from our lot in life." The meaning of the word "care" is uncertain and may mean, "casting all your troubles that come from your lot in life on the Lord" (BDB; Marvin Tate, Psalms 51-100, Word Biblical Commentary [Dallas: Word, 1990]. Note the Vulgate translation of the Heb. in Ps. 54:23, curam tuam ["your trouble"].) The words are emphatic by their position in the cl. ἐπιρίψαντες aor. act. part. ἐπιρίπτω (# 2166) to throw at, to throw something upon something else; e.g., to throw clothes on an animal for riding (Luke 19:35); to throw a mantle on someone (Jos., Ant., 8:353 [Elijah throws his mantle on Elisha]; BAGD; for the LXX s. GELTS, 173). Part. is to be closely connected w. the imp. ταπεινώθητε (either as imp., or as part. of manner), showing that the true Christian attitude is not neg. self-abandonment or resignation, but involves as the expression of one's self-humbling the trusting of oneself and one's troubles to God (Kelly). This is probably a quotation from Ps. 55:22 (54:23 LXX; 55:23 Heb.). The aor. imp. of the LXX ἐπίρριψον (Heb. הַשְׁלֵךְ), is the part. ἐπιρίψαντες in Peter and the word "all" (πᾶσαν) has been added. μέλει (# 3508) pres. ind. act. to have concern, to have a care, impersonally w. the dat. (BAGD). αὐτῷ dat. sing. αὐτός (# 899) self; "(there is constant care and concern) to him." ◆ 8 νήψατε aor. imp. act. νήφω (# 3768) to be sober. γρηγορήσατε aor. imp. act. γρηγορέω (# 1213) to stay awake, to be watchful, to be on the alert. Aor. imp. rings sharply: "be alert!" Confidence in God must not lead to slackness; the spiritual warfare that they wage demands vigilance (Beare). ἀντίδικος (# 508) legal adversary, opponent in a law suit. The word then denotes an enemy in general (Kelly). διάβολος (# 1333) slanderer, devil (TDNT; DDD). λέων (# 3329) lion, the most ferocious animal (BBC). ὠρυόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) ὠρύομαι (# 6054) to roar. Pres. pictures the continual roaring of Satan as a lion. περιπατεῖ pres. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about. ζητῶν pres. act. part. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek, to look for. καταπιεῖν aor. act. inf. καταπίνω (# 2927) to swallow down, to eat up, to devour. The word lit. means "to drink down," but it can be used of an animal swallowing its prey (Jonah 2:1; Kelly). Epex. inf. explaining his seeking, or it could express purp. ◆ 9 ἀντίστητε aor. imp. act. ἀντίστημι (# 468) to stand up against, to withstand, to resist. Aor. could be ingressive, "take your stand against." στερεός (# 5104) compact, solid, firm, steadfast (Selwyn; Kelly). εἰδότες perf. act. part. (causal) οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ἀδελφότης (# 82) brotherhood (s. 2:17; MM). ἐπιτελεῖσθαι pres. mid./pass. inf. ἐπιτελέω (# 2200) to complete, to perform, to lay something upon someone (BAGD); mid. the meaning can be, "is required," "to pay in full" (MT, 55), w. the idea of knowing how to pay "the same tax of suffering" (Bigg). The mid. could also mean "to fulfill a religious duty," "to perform the obligations of piety." The gen. παθημάτων would be a gen. of definition and the meaning would be "to make the same fulfillment (of duty toward God) of sufferings" (Beare). If the pass. is adopted, the phrase might be translated, "knowing that the same tax of suffering will be paid by our brotherhood" (Best). The inf. is used as the obj. of the vb. εἰδότες. ◆ 10 καλέσας aor. act. part. (subst.) καλέω (# 2813) to call. Aor. points to a completed action. παθόντας aor. act. part. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. Temp. part., "after you have suffered." καταρτίσει fut. ind. act. καταρτίζω (# 2936) to put in order, to mend, to reestablish, to make whole. The word could be used in a medical sense of setting a broken bone, or of repairing and refitting a damaged vessel (Sewlyn; Beare; TDNT; Gal. 6:1). στηρίξει fut. ind. act. στηρίξω (# 5114) to set up, to fix firmly, to establish, to strengthen (BAGD; MM). σθενώσει fut. ind. act. σθενόω (# 4964) to strengthen, to make strong (Kelly; BAGD). θεμελιώσει fut. ind. act. θεμελιόω (# 2530) to make a foundation, to provide a solid foundation, to ground firmly (Goppelt). ◆ 12 λογίζομαι (# 3357) pres. ind. act. to reckon, to count as, to regard. This does not imply that others have doubted the ability of Silvanus, but it emphasizes Peter's confidence in his fidelity (Best; Michaels). ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write; epistolary aor., "I am writing" (Beare). παρακαλῶν pres. act. part. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to encourage (s.v. 1). ἐπιμαρτυρῶν pres. act. part. ἐπιμαρτυρέω (# 2148) to testify, to affirm, to supply evidence that, to confirm that fact by evidence (Selwyn; Goppelt). εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Inf. in indir. discourse. στῆτε aor. imp. act. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand; ingressive aor., "take your stand" (RWP). For the structure of the v. s. Michaels. ◆ 13 ἀσπάζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet. Βαβυλών (# 956) Babylon. This could be the literal city of Babylon, a designation for the city of Rome, or a metaphor for both the actual city (Rome) and for an experience of alienation not necessarily linked to any place (Michaels; Davids; Brox; DLNT, 111-12). συνεκλεκτή (# 5293) fem. adj., fellow elect. The fem. could refer to the local church from which the letter was written (Kelly). Μᾶρκος (# 3453) Mark. John Mark is intended, but was not the physical son but rather the spiritual son of Peter (Best). ◆ 14 ἀσπάσασθε aor. imp. mid. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet. φίλημα (# 5799) kiss (s. 1 Cor. 16:20). ἀγάπη (# 27) love. Here gen. of description.

2 Peter

2 Peter 1

◆ 1 ἀπόστολος (# 693) apostle, one appointed by another to carry out a task on behalf of, in the name of, and with the authority of the one who appoints (TDNT; EDNT; TLNT; s. Rom. 1:1). Nom. in apposition to Simon Peter and without the art. stresses the character. ἰσότιμος (# 2700) w. the same honor, equal in value, equal in privilege, status or rank in civil life. Here the word could have the meaning "equal privilege" or "equally privileged"; i.e., a faith that carries equal privileges (Mayor), or equal in status or rank (Bauckham; Grundmann). ἡμῖν dat. pl. ἐγώ (# 1609) I; "w. us." The contrast could be between Jews and Gentiles who have equal privileges; but it is almost certainly between the apostles, who had been eyewitnesses of the original revelation (cf. 2 Pet. 1:16), and the Christians of the second or even third generation (Kelly; Bigg). λαχοῦσιν aor. act. part. λαγχάνω (# 3275) to obtain by lot, to obtain. The word implies a gift of favor, and God gives to all Christians equal privileges in His city (Bigg). πίστις (# 4411) faith. Here it is not the faith as a body of doctrine, but the faith or God-given capacity to trust Him that brings a man salvation (Green). δικαιοσύνῃ (# 1466) righteousness. τοῦ θεοῦ (# 2536) of God. Subjective gen., God is the one who dispenses righteousness. The one definite art. governing the two nouns θεοῦ, Ἰησοῦ indicates that they are the same person, thus stressing the deity of Jesus (GGBB, 270-77). ◆ 2 πληθυνθείη aor. opt. pass. πληθύνω (# 4437) to multiply, to increase; pass., to be multiplied, to grow, to increase as here–"may grace and peace be yours in ever greater measure" (BAGD). Opt. is used to express a wish or desire (RWP; GGBB, 483; s. 1 Peter 1:2). ἐπίγνωσις (# 2106) knowledge directed toward a particular object which can imply a more detailed or fuller knowledge (Mayor, 171-74; Bauckham). ◆ 3 θείας gen. sing. θεῖος (# 2521) godly, divine. The term "divine power" was a phrase used for God. A parallel expression is found in the decree of Stratonicea, an inscription in honor of Zeus and Hekate (BS, 460-68; MM). δυνάμεως gen. sing δύναμις (# 1539) power. Gen. as subject of the part. δεδωρημένης. εὐσέβεια (# 2354) godliness, true religion that displays itself in reverence before what is majestic and divine in worship, and in a life of active obedience which befits that reverence (MNTW, 67ff; TDNT; NIDNTT; s. 1 Tim. 2:2). δεδωρημένης perf. mid. (dep.) part. δωρέομαι (# 1563) to give as a gift, to grant, to bestow (BAGD; GELTS, 124; MM). Gen. abs., circum. part. translated as a main vb. Perf. emphasizes the continuing nature of what was given. καλέσαντος aor. act. part. καλέω (# 2813) to call. ἀρετῇ (# 746) virtue, excellence, the display of divine power and divine acts (s. 1 Peter 2:9). Dat. here could be either instr. ("by") or dat. of advantage ("to," "for") (RWP). ◆ 4 δι' ὧν (# 1328; 4005) through which things. The antecedent of the rel. pron. would be the words δόξῃ and ἀρετῇ (Bigg). τίμιος (# 5508) honorable, precious, valuable. μέγιστος (# 3492) greatest, magnificent; elative superl., very great. ἐπάγγελμα (# 2041) that which was promised, promise. δεδώρηται perf. ind. mid. (dep.) δωρέομαι (# 1563) to give as a gift (s.v. 3). γένησθε aor. subj. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) is used to express purp. κοινωνός (# 3128) partner, sharer, partaker (TDNT; EDNT). φύσις (# 5882) nature. Peter does not mean that man is absorbed into deity but rather that they who partake of Christ will partake of the glory to be revealed (Green; Kelly). ἀποφυγόντες aor. act. part. ἀποφεύγω (# 709) to escape, to escape completely. ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) strong desire, lust, passion (DNP, 2:542-44). φθορά (# 5785) corruption. The basic meaning of the word denotes not a sudden destruction owing to external violence, but a dissolution brought on by means of internal decay–"rottenness" (Mayor, 175-79). ◆ 5 σπουδή (# 5082) haste, effort (TLNT; Bauckham). παρεισενέγκαντες aor. act. part. παρεισφέρω (# 4210) to bring in alongside of. Used idiomatically w. the word σπουδήν to express the idea of bringing in every effort. We are to bring into this relationship, alongside what God has done, every ounce of determination we can muster (Green; Bigg; Kelly; Mayor; BS, 361). ἐπιχορηγήσατε aor. imp. act. ἐπιχορηγέω (# 2220) to supply in addition to, to outfit the chorus w. additional (complete) supplies (RWP). Aor. imp. calls for a specific action w. a note of urgency. Prep. in compound seems to have an accumulative force: "to add further supplies," "to provide more than was expected or could be demanded" (Mayor), "to give lavishly, w. generosity" (Kelly; Green; Bigg; s. Gal. 3:5; 1 Peter 4:11). ἐν (# 1877) w. dat., in. The sense is: since you have faith, let it not be wanting in virtue, etc. (Huther). πίστις (# 4411) faith. Here it is to be understood subjectively of loyal adhesion to Christian teaching rather than that teaching itself (Kelly). ἀρετή (# 746) virtue, moral energy. In classical times the word meant the god-given power or ability to perform heroic deeds–whether military, athletic, or artistic accomplishments or the conducting of one's life. This ability needed to be demonstrated again in each situation that presents a challenge. The basic meaning of the word indicates the quality by which one stands out as being excellent. In ethics Aristotle held that it was the right behavior, or mean, between two extremes. The Stoics connected it w. nature, teaching that the excellency of virtue was living harmoniously w. nature (Mayor; TDNT; BBC; GPR, 25; KP, 1:530-31). γνῶσις (# 1194) knowing, knowledge. ◆ 6 ἐγκράτεια (# 1602) self-control; lit., "holding himself in" (RWP; Gal. 5:23). ◆ 7 φιλαδελφία (# 5789) brotherly love, affection for one's fellow believer in Christ. In the NT the term has acquired a highly specialized meaning which restricts the range of reference to fellow believers (LN, 1:292; for references to the word φιλάδελφος from Bithynia in a non-Christian context s. NDIEC, 2:103; 3:87). ◆ 8 ταῦτα nom. pl. οὗτος (# 4047) this; "these things;" i.e., "the possession of these qualities and their continued increase" (Mayor). ὑπάρχοντα pres. act. part. ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to be, to exist. πλεονάζοντα pres. act. part. πλεονάζω (# 4429) to abound, to increase. In the classical writers the word is a term of disparagement implying excess–to be or to have more than enough, to exaggerate. But to fervent Christianity there can be no excess of good (Mayor). Pres. emphasizes the continual action. ἀργός (# 734) not active, inactive, idle. ἄκαρπος (# 182) not fruitful, unfruitful. καθίστησιν pres. ind. act. καθίστημι (# 2770) to bring a person to a place, to make (Bigg). ◆ 9 πάρεστιν pres. ind. act. πάρειμι (# 4205) to be by, to be present. τυφλός (# 5603) blind. μυωπάζων pres. act. part. μυωπάζω (# 3697) to be short-sighted. The word refers to the involuntary contraction of the half-closed eyes of a short-sighted man; the word may be a correction or limitation of the idea of being blind (Mayor; for eye diseases s. DNP, 2:277-79). On the other hand, the meaning may be "shutting the eyes to the truth," the intention being to emphasize the responsibility of the believer (Kelly; NW, 2, ii:1387; Bauckham). λήθη (# 3330) forgetfulness. λαβών aor. act. part. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, to receive. Used in the expression, "having received forgetfulness," i.e., "to forget." Part. could be causal, "because he has forgotten" (Bigg). καθαρισμός (# 2752) cleansing, purifying. πάλαι (# 4093) old. ◆ 10 διὸ μᾶλλον (# 1475; 3437) wherefore the more (Bigg). σπουδάσατε aor. imp. act. σπουδάζω (# 5079) to be in a hurry, to give diligence, to exert effort, to apply oneself to, to actively involve oneself w. (TLNT). The word stresses the urgency of his plea that they should determine to live for God (Green). Aor. imp. calls for a specific action w. a note of urgency. βέβαιος (# 1010) firm, secure. Used w. inf. in the sense of, to make firm, to certify, to confirm, to attest. In the papyri the word was a t.t. for a legal guarantee (Mayor; BS, 107; TDNT; TLNT; s. 1 Cor. 1:6). κλῆσις (# 3104) calling. ἐκλογή (# 1724) selection, election, choosing. ποιεῖσθαι pres. mid. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make. Mid. could indicate "to make," or "to do something for or of oneself" (BAGD). Used w. the adj. in the sense of "to make certain," "to give a guarantee." The holy life is the guarantee demonstrating one's calling and election to others. The inf. is epex. or compl. explaining the vb. σπουδάσατε. ποιοῦντες pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to make. Part. could be means ("by doing this") or cond. ("if you continually do this"). οὐ μή (# 4024; 3590) never in any wise. πταίσητε aor. subj. act. πταίω (# 4760) to stumble. Subj. w. double neg. for a strong negation. ποτε (# 4537) ever; after οὐ μή not ever, never. ◆ 11 πλουσίως (# 4455) adv., richly. ἐπιχορηγηθήσεται fut. ind. pass. ἐπιχορέω (# 2220) to supply in addition to (s.v. 5). εἴσοδος (# 1658) the way in, entrance. βασιλεία (# 993) kingdom. ◆ 12 μελλήσω fut. act. ind. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to, to be on the point of doing something. The vb. is used w. the inf. to express the idea, "I shall take care to remind you." This thought of the duty of reminding his readers appears again in verses 13 and 15, and in 3:1 (Mayor; RWP). ἀεί (# 107) always, ever. The word implies a prospect of frequent communication between them (Mayor). ὑπομιμνῆσκειν pres. act. inf. ὑπομιμνήσκω (# 5703) to remember. καίπερ (# 2788) although. Used w. the part. to express concession. εἰδότας perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know (ND, 344f). Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. ἐστηριγμένους perf. pass. part. στηρίζω (# 5114) to set up, to formally establish, to strengthen. Perf. indicates the settled state or condition. Part. is used to express concession. παρούσῃ pres. act. part. πάρειμι (# 4205) to be present. ◆ 13 ἡγοῦμαι pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to consider, to think. ἐφ' ὅσον (# 2093; 4012) for as long as. σκήνωμα (# 5013) tent. For the concept of the tent picturing the body s. 2 Cor. 5:1; Mayor. διεγείρειν pres. act. inf. διεγείρω (# 1444) to wake out of sleep, to stir up. Prep. in compound is perfective: to stir up or wake up thoroughly (RWP; Mayor). Epex. inf. to explain that which Peter considers to be right. ὑπόμνησις (# 5704) remembering, reminder. ◆ 14 εἰδώς perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. Causal part., "because I know." ταχινός (# 5442) speedy, soon, swiftly. The word here could mean either suddenly or soon (Bigg). ἀπόθεσις (# 629) putting off. The word could be used for the idea of putting off clothing (Bigg; Kelly; TDNT). ἐδήλωσέν aor. ind. act. δηλόω (# 1317) to reveal, to make clear (BAGD). For a discussion of the prophecy to which he refers s. Bauckham. ◆ 15 σπουδάσω fut. ind. act. σπουδάζω (# 5079) to give diligence (s.v. 10). καί (# 2779) even. Here he speaks of making provision for them after his death (Mayor). ἑκάστοτε (# 1668) every time, on each occasion; i.e., whenever there is need (Mayor). ἔξοδος (# 2016) departure, exodus. The word is used to indicates death (Bigg; Green). ποιεῖσθαι pres. mid. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make. Used w. the noun μνήμη (# 3647) remembering, w. the meaning, to recall, to remember. Inf. is used to complete the idea of the main vb., "to make an effort to recall." ◆ 16 σεσοφισμένοις perf. pass. part. (adj.) σοφίζω (# 5054) to make wise, to be wise, to behave wisely, to cleverly contrive, to concoct subtly, to reason out subtly (Mayor; Kelly; BAGD). Here in the sense of cleverly devised, calculated to manipulate. Perf. indicates a state or condition. μῦθος (# 3680) myth, fable. The word stood for mythical stories about gods, the creation of the world, miraculous happenings, etc. (Kelly; NIDNTT; TDNT; Bigg; Mayor; GPT, 120f). Apparently the mockers of 2 Pet. 3:3 said the Christian hope of the glories to come rested on factitious prophecies (Mayor). ἐξακολουθήσαντες aor. act. part. ἐξακολουθέω (# 1979) to follow after, to follow out, to rest upon, w. dat. Josephus uses the word to indicate that Moses did not give the Law like others did who followed myths (τοῖς μύθοις ἐξακολουθήσαντες) (Jos., Ant., 1:21-23; NW, 2. ii:1389-91; for the papyri usages s. MM). Aor. indicates that the action was not done at all. ἐγνωρίσαμεν aor. ind. act. γνωρίζω (# 1192) to make known. Aor. points to a completed action. παρουσία (# 4242) coming. The word was often used as a term for the appearance of a god or arrival of a king or ruler (Schelkle; TDNT; TLNT; 1 Thess. 3:13). ἐπόπτης (# 2228) one who sees w. his eyes, eyewitness (s. Luke 1:2). γενηθέντες aor. act. part. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. Aor. points to the specific event. μεγαλειότης (# 3484) majesty. The word means divine majesty and is used here to express it as revealed in the transfiguration of Jesus (Green). ◆ 17 λαβών aor. act. part. (temp.) λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, to receive. Aor. points to the completed event. τιμή (# 5507) honor. Here the word denotes the exalted status which the proclamation of sonship implies, while δόξαν points to the ethereal radiance of the transfigured Jesus, a participation in that splendor of light which according to OT conceptions belongs to God's very being (Kelly; Mayor). ἐνεχθείσης aor. pass. part. φέρω (# 5770) to bring, to bear. The sense of the word is to make a word, speech, announcement, charge, and it is used of a divine proclamation, whether dir. or indir. (BAGD). τοιόσδε (# 5524) such, such as this, of this kind. The word refers to what follows as so unique (BAGD). μεγαλοπρεπής (# 3485) magnificent, sublime, majestic. The word was used in the papyri as a term of honor and respect for political personalities. As preparations were made for the reception of a Roman senator in Egypt the instructions were, "let him be received w. special magnificence" (MM; Mayor; TLNT; NDIEC, 2:108-9). It was common for the Jews to use such statements when referring to God Himself (Schelkle; Bauckham). δόξης gen. sing. δόξα (# 1518) glory. Gen. of description. ἀγαπητός (# 28) one who is loved, beloved. εὐδόκησα aor. ind. act. εὐδοκέω (# 2305) to be well-pleased, to be satisfied w. The word suggests the good pleasure of the Father alighting and remaining on Jesus (Green). ◆ 18 ἠκούσαμεν aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear, to listen to. ἐνεχθεῖσαν aor. pass. part. φέρω (# 5770) to carry, to take. Temp. part., "when we were taken." ὄντες pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Temp. part., "when (while) we were on the holy mountain." Pres. points to the event as taking place at the same time as the main vb. ◆ 19 ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. βεβαιότερον comp. βέβαιος (# 1010) firm, certain; comp., more certain, more sure. For this word, s.v. 10. Peter is saying that the Holy Scriptures are more certain than experience. He is saying, "If you don't believe me, go to the Scriptures" (Green). προφητικός (# 4738) prophetic, that which pertains to the message of a prophet. The prophetic word was a current expression embracing the OT as a whole and not simply the prophets proper (Kelly). καλῶς (# 2822) adv., well. ποιεῖτε pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. προσέχοντες pres. act. part. προσέχω (# 4668) to hold the mind on something, to give heed to (RWP). The part. could be understood either as cond. ("if you give heed"), or it could express the manner or means of doing well ("by giving heed to"). λύχνῳ dat. sing. λύχνος (# 3394) lamp. φαίνοντι pres. act. part. φαίνω (# 5743) to shine. Pres. emphasizes the continual shining. αὐχμηρός (# 903) dry and parched, dirty, dark, murky. The word does not imply absolute darkness, but dingy and dusky obscurity, in contrast to the brightness of Messiah's rising (Isa. 60:3; Rom. 13:12; Mayor; BBC; RWP; MM). The word may also connote "dirty" since that which is dirty is destitute of brightness; thus light shows up the dirt and makes possible its removal (T; Green). τόπος (# 5536) place. The phrase αὐχμηρῷ τόπῳ describes the world as it at exists at present, which in the NT is regularly characterized as darkness (Kelly). ἕως οὗ (# 2401; 4005) until, until which time. Temp. conjunction w. subj. is a normal construction for fut. (RWP; Mayor). διαυγάσῃ aor. subj. act. διαυγάζω (# 1419) to shine through, to break, to dawn (BAGD). The word is used of the first streaks of dawn breaking through the darkness (Mayor). Subj. in an indef. temp. cl. φωσφόρος (# 5892) light bringing, light bringer, the morning star; i.e., the planet Venus. The imagery lay ready at hand, for the famous prophecy in Num. 24:17–"there shall come a star out of Jacob"–was understood in Judaism to point to the Messiah (Kelly); the coming of the Messiah is also compared to the dawn in Malachi 4:2 (Mayor). For the eschatological and messianic interpretation of Num. 24:17 in the DSS

s. 1 QM11, 6-7f. In Greek and Roman times the term was applied not only to the morning star (Venus), but also to royal and divine persons (Green; KP, 5:1179-80; MM). ἀνατείλῃ aor. subj. act. ἀνατέλλω (# 422) to rise, to arise. ἐν ταῖς καρδίαις in your hearts. This phrase could possibly be connected w. the part. of v. 20 to mean, "knowing this first and foremost in your hearts." Or the rising of the morning star in Christian hearts at the dawning of the day may mean the glow of anticipation in Christian hearts when "the finds of the approaching Day are manifest to Christians" (Green; Mayor). ◆ 20 γινώσκοντες pres. act. part. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Part. could be causal, or else continues the construction of v. 19 ("you do well giving heed"), defining the spirit and feeling w. which the Scriptures should be read: "recognizing this truth first of all..." (Mayor). Pres. indicates a continuing knowledge. πᾶσα nom. sing. πᾶς (# 4246) all. Used w. the neg. οὐ (# 4024) in the sense of "not even one" (BG, 151; RG, 753). In the sing. the word πᾶς without the article means "every," in a distributive sense: "every single one" (BG, 61). προφητεία (# 4735) the message of a prophet, prophecy. γραφή (# 1210) writing, Scripture. Normally in the NT the word denotes the OT (Kelly). ἴδιος (# 2625) one's own. It was the mark of a false prophet to speak "his own thing" of from himself (Mayor). ἐπίλυσις (# 2146) releasing, solving, explaining, interpreting. The word almost comes to mean inspiration (Green; Mayor; MM). The gen. (ablative) here indicates source. Peter is talking about the divine origin of Scripture, not about its proper interpretation (Green). γίνεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ◆ 21 θελήμα (# 2525) will. Here instr. dat. ἠνέχθη aor. ind. pass. φέρω (# 5770) to bear. The word was used of bearing, conveying, or uttering a divine proclamation and it could also have the sense of "to produce," "to bring forth" (BAGD; T). Aor. indicates the completed action. φερόμενοι pres. pass. part. φέρω (# 5770) to carry; pass., to be carried, to be borne along. Pres. describes the action as it was in progress. The word was used of a ship carried along by the wind (s. Acts 27:15, 17). The metaphor here is of prophets raising their sails, the Holy Spirit filling them and carrying their craft along in the direction He wished. Men spoke; God spoke (Green). The part. expresses contemporaneous time. ἐλάλησαν aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. For references to the inspiration of the Scripture s. 2 Tim. 3:16.

◆ 1 ἐγένοντο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to appear, to arise. καί (# 2779) also, too. In addition to the holy men who spoke the inspired Word of God there were also some in Israel–now history was repeating itself (Green). ψευδοπροφήτης (# 6021) false prophet. The compound in the word may either mean falsely named–a sham or counterfeit–or it may mean falsely doing the work implied–to speak falsely, and either meaning would suit the word, for to prophesy falsely in the narrow sense was one of the marks of a pretender prophet (Mayor). ἔσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ψευδοδιδάσκαλος (# 6015) false teacher (Mayor, CLXII-CLXXX). They are the antithesis of the apostles, teaching a false message of human invention rather than the apostolic message based on the divine words (Bauckham). οἵτινες nom. pl. ὅστις (# 4015) whoever; who belongs to a particular class or group. παρεισάξουσιν fut. ind. act. παρεισάγω (# 4206) to bring into alongside of, to smuggle in. The word may signify to bring in secretly, w. the 1st prep. in compound giving the idea of creeping along under some sort of cover (Bigg; s. Gal. 2:4). αἱρεσις (# 146) heresy, false teaching. The term was used for a school of thought and could designate the particular teaching of such a school (Bauckham). ἀπώλεια (# 724) destruction. Here gen. of product, indicating what the teachings produce (GGBB, 106-7). ἀγοράσαντα aor. act. part. (adj.) ἀγοράζω (# 60) to buy at the marketplace, to buy, to purchase, to redeem, to pay a price for buying (TDNT; TLNT; DLNT, 1001-4). The price of their redemption had been paid, but they had not taken it by faith (Blum). δεσπότης (# 1305) lord, master, one who holds authority over another. ἀρνούμενοι pres. pass. part. (adj.) ἀρνέω (# 766) to deny. ἐπάγοντες pres. act. part. ἐπάγω (# 2042) to bring upon. ταχινός (# 5442) quick, sudden, soon. ◆ 2 ἐξακολουθήσουσιν fut. ind. act. ἐξακολουθέω (# 1979) to follow, to follow after. αὐτῶν gen. pl. αὐτός (# 899) self; "their." The pron. refers to the false teachers, whose bad example will be largely followed (Mayor). ἀσέλγεια (# 816) unbridled living. The pl. may denote either different forms or repeated habitual acts of lasciviousness (Bigg; s. 1 Peter 4:3; Gal. 5:19). δι' οὕς (# 1328; 4005) because of whom. The reference is clearly to the many backsliders (Kelly). ἡ ὁδὸς τῆς ἀληθείας (# 3847; 237) the way of truth. The phrase refers to the teaching of the truth, the correct teaching, the correct religion (Schelkle). Here the expression denotes the Christian message and way of life that are inevitably brought into discredit when their adherents identify themselves w. patently immoral courses (Kelly). Gen. of description. βλασφημηθήσεται fut. ind. pass. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to injure the reputation of someone, to defame, to blaspheme (TDNT; TLNT). ◆ 3 πλεονεξίᾳ (# 4432) uncontrolled greed, insatiable greed (TDNT; NTW, 97; Rom. 1:29; 2 Cor. 9:5; 1 Thess. 2:5). πλαστός (# 4422) made up, factitious. The word was used in the papyri of a forged contract (MM; Mayor), and Josephus uses the word for falsified documents or writings (Jos., Life, 177, 337; CCFJ, 3:419). ἐμπορεύσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐμπορεύομαι (# 1864)

to travel as a merchant, to travel on business, to carry on business, to trade in, to cheat, to make a gain of, to exploit (Kelly; Mayor). κρίμα (# 3210) the decision of a judgment, verdict, condemnation, judgment. ἔκπαλαι (# 1732) for a long time, from of old. ἀργεῖ pres. ind. act. ἀργέω (# 733) to be not working, to be idle. The judgment is not idle, but already active in the punishment of others, and gathering up for these false teachers (Mayor). νυστάζει pres. ind. act. νυστάζω (# 3818) to nod, to sleep, to nap. The word was used of God's judgement which would come on the unrighteous (Isa. 5:27 LXX; Bauckham). Pres. points to an action in progress, "their destruction is not napping." In the OT, implicit in the phrase "God slumbers" is a disbelief in his existence (Jerome H. Neyrey, "The Form and Background of the Polemic in 2 Peter," JBL 99 [1980]: 415). ◆ 4 ἁμαρτησάντων aor. act. part. (adj.) ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. ἐφείσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) φείδομαι (# 5767) w. gen. to spare. Ind. is used in a 1st. class cond. cl. which assumes the reality of the cond. σειρά (# 4937) chain, rope. The variant σιρός (# 4987) is properly a pit for the storage of grain, but was used for a large bin that held edible roots or for a pit made for trapping a wolf (Mayor). ζόφος (# 2432) dark, darkness. ταρταρώσας aor. act. part. ταρταρόω (# 5434) to confine in Tartarus. Tartarus was the name in classical mythology for the subterranean abyss in which rebellious gods and other such beings, like the Titans, were punished. The word, however, was taken over into Hellenistic Judaism and used in the book of Enoch (1 Enoch 20:2) in connection w. fallen angels; it is the angel Uriel who rules Tartarus (Kelly; Mayor; Bigg; KP, 5:530-31; NW, 2, ii:1399-1403; DLNT, 459-62; GELTS, 469). παρέδωκεν aor. ind. act. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to deliver over, to hand over, to confine. κρίσις (# 3213) judging. τηρουμένους pres. pass. part. (adj.) τηρέω (# 5498) to keep. ◆ 5 ἀρχαῖος (# 792) ancient. Here, gen. as obj. of the vb. φείδομαι. ἐφείσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) φείδομαι (# 5767) to spare. ὄγδοος (# 3838) eighth; Noah w. seven others, he being the eighth (BD, 130). δικαιοσύνη (# 1466) righteousness. The word denotes here the just or upright moral behavior (Kelly). κήρυκα acc. sing. κῆρυξ (# 3061) preacher, herald (s. 1 Tim. 2:7). ἐφύλαξεν aor. ind. act. φυλάσσω (# 5875) to guard, to watch over, to protect. κατακλυσμός (# 2886) flood, deluge. Often as a judgment (BBC). ἀσεβῆς (# 815) ungodly, impious (s. Rom. 4:5). ἐπάξας aor. act. part. ἐπάγω (# 2042) to bring upon. Temp. part., expressing contemporaneous action. ◆ 6 Σοδόμων καὶ Γομόρρας (# 5047; 2779; 1202) of Sodom and Gomorrah; gen. of apposition (BD, 92; Mayor; GGBB, 97; ABD, 6: 99-103). τεφρώσας aor. act. part. τεφρόω (# 5491) to reduce to ashes; or perhaps here, better, to cover w. ashes (Mayor). The Roman historian Dio Cassius used the word to describe the inner part of Mount Vesuvius that was constantly growing brittle and being reduced to ashes so that the center section over time settled and became concave (Dio Cassius, Roman History, 66:21, 2). καταστροφῇ (# 2953) overturning, destruction. Here, instr. dat. κατέκρινεν aor. ind. act. κατακρίνω (# 2891) to pronounce a verdict against someone, to sentence to punishment, to condemn. The vb. continues the cond. of the 1st. cond. cl., beginning w. v. 4, which assumes the reality of the cond. (RWP). ὑπόδειγμα (# 5682) pattern, example. μελλόντων pres. act. part. (adj.) μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. used w. the inf. to form the fut. ἀσεβεῖν pres. act. inf. ἀσεβέω (# 814) to live ungodly, to be impious; to commit impious deeds (s.v. 5; BAGD). For the variant reading ἀσεβῆς (# 815) ungodly; here, "ungodly men," which would give the sense, "unto ungodly men of things about to be," i.e., of things in store for them s. RWP; TC, 702. τεθεικώς perf. act. part. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to make, to constitute. Perf. emphasizes that the example still has lasting validity. ◆ 7 δίκαιος (# 1465) righteous. Jewish tradition interpreted Abraham's plea on behalf of the righteous in Sodom to refer to Lot and so could speak of him as a righteous man (Bauckham; SB, 3:769-71). καταπονούμενον pres. pass. part. καταπονέω (# 2930) to wear down through exhausting work, to trouble greatly. ἄθεσμος (# 118) lawless. It pictures them as being rebels against the law of nature and conscience, not Moses' Law (Bigg). ἀσέλγεια (# 816) licentiousness, unbridled living; here, "in unbridled living" (s.v. 2). Prep. phrase (ἐν ἀσελγείᾳ) indicates the sphere in which their conduct displayed itself. ἀναστροφῇ (# 419) behavior, conduct (s. 1 Peter 1:15). ἐρρύσατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ῥύομαι (# 4861) to rescue. ◆ 8 βλέμμα (# 1062) sight. The word is generally subjective, in that the eye reveals to outsiders the inner feeling of man. The idea would be, "the righteousness of man showed itself in his shrinking from the sights and sounds which met him on every side"; lit., "righteous in look and in hearing he tortured himself at their lawless deeds while he lived among them" (Mayor). Here instr. dat. ἀκοῇ (# 198) hearing. Here instr. dat. ἐγκατοικῶν pres. act. part. (temp.) ἐγκατοικέω (# 1594) to live or dwell among. Pres. describes contemporary action. ἄνομος (# 491) lawless. ἔργοις dat. pl. ἔργον (# 2240) work, deed. ἐβασάνιζεν impf. ind. act. βασανίζω (# 989) to torture, to torment. Impf. pictures the continual action of the past time. The rabbis generally viewed Lot as one who despised God and was given over to immorality (SB, 3:769-71). Compare, however, the statements recorded in the Genesis Apocryphon (1 Qap Gen, XXI 5-7): "pasturing his herds he (Lot) reached Sodom and he bought himself a house in Sodom and settled in it. But I remained in the hill country of Bethel, and it grieved me that my nephew Lot had parted from me" (Aramaic Text from Qumran with Translations and Annotations by B. Jongeling, C.J. Labuschagne, A.S. Van Der Voude [Leiden: E.J.Brill, 1976], 105; AT, 165-87; MPAT, 100-127). ◆ 9 οἶδεν perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. εὐσεβῆς (# 2356) God-fearing, godly, devout (s. 1:3). ῥύεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ῥύομαι (# 4861) to punish. Epex. inf. to the main vb., "He knows how to save." The original sense of the word was "to cut short" and was used of pruning a tree; later it took on the meaning "to correct" and then "to punish" and was used of the punishment of slaves as well as divine punishment (BAGD; MM; Kelly). κολαζομένους pres. pass. part. κολάζω (# 3134) to punish. Pres. part could be contemporaneous, describing the punishment before the last judgement, or it could be a futuristic pres. and refer to the final judgement (Bauckham). τηρεῖν pres. act. inf. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep. Vs. 4-9 present a list of biblical figures who could not hide from God and did not escape divine judgement, thus indicating that God's past judgement are grounds for His future action (Jerome H. Neyrey, "The Form and Background of the Polemic in 2 Peter," JBL 99 [1980]: 427-28). ◆ 10 μάλιστα (# 3436) especially. ὀπίσω (# 3958) w. gen., after. The phrase τοὺς ὀπίσω σαρκὸς "them (that walk) after the flesh" suggests sodomy (Green). ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) strong desire, lust, passion. μιασμός (# 3622) pollution. The gen. here could be obj. gen. ("in their hankering after pollution"), but if it is subjective it would mean "in lust which pollutes" (Kelly). πορευομένους pres. mid. (dep.) part. πορεύομαι (# 4513) to walk, to go. κυριότη (# 3262) lordship. καταφρονοῦντας pres. act. part. καταφρονέω (# 2969) to think down upon, to despise. The false teachers despised the power and majesty of the Lord (Bigg). τολμητής (# 5532) one who dares, one who is brazen; headstrong daredevils, shameless and headstrong. The word smacks of the reckless daring that defies God and man (Mayor; Green). αὐθάδης (# 881) self-pleasing, arrogant. The word is used for an obstinate fellow determined to please himself at all costs (Green; RWP; s. Titus 1:7). δόξα (# 1518) glory; here, "glorious ones." The word could refer to angelic beings, either those heavenly beings in God's service or celestial beings, probably the fallen angels (Kelly; HSB, 727-29). τρέμουσιν pres. ind. act. τρέμω (# 5554) to tremble, to be afraid to (GELTS, 479). The vb. is completed by the compl. part. rather than by an inf. (RWP). Pres. indicates a continual action. οὐ (# 4024) βλασφημοῦντες pres. act. part. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to defame, blaspheme (TLNT; TDNT). ◆ 11 ὅπου (# 3963) where, in a case in which, whereas, seeing that (Mayor). ἰσχύς (# 2709) strength, indwelling strength (RWP; s. Eph. 1:19). μείζονες (# 3505) comp. μέγας great; comp., greater, superior. ὄντες pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Concessive part. ("although"). φέρουσιν pres. ind. act. φέρω (# 5770) to bear, to bring. Pres. emphasizes a continual attitude which is negated by the neg. particle οὐ (# 4024). βλάσφημος (# 1061) defamation, railing, blaspheming (TLNT). ◆ 12 ἄλογος (# 263) without reason, irrational. They have physical but not intellectual life; they are not better than the brutes that perish (Bigg). ζῷα nom. pl. ζῷον (# 2442) living creature, animal, beast. γεγεννημένα perf. pass. part. (adj.) γεννάω (# 1164) to bear; pass. to be born. Perf. emphasizing the continuing state of life after birth. φυσικός (# 5879) natural, pertaining to nature, in accordance w. nature; here used in the sense of "mere creatures of instinct, born to be caught and killed" (BAGD). ἅλωσις (# 274) capture. φθορά (# 5785) corruption, destruction. The combination of the vb. w. the noun makes it almost certain that destruction is meant (Bigg). ἀγνοοῦσιν pres. ind. act. ἀγνοέω (# 51) to be without knowledge, to be ignorant. These have no more knowledge than brute beasts would have (Kelly). βλασφημοῦντες pres. act. part. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to blaspheme. φθαρήσονται fut. ind. pass. φθείρω (# 5780) to corrupt, to decay, to destroy, to devastate (Mayor, 175ff; s. 1:4). ◆ 13 ἀδικούμενοι pres. mid./pass. part. ἀδικέω (# 92) to commit injustice, to do wrong; mid. or pass., to suffer injustice, to be damaged, to be harmed (Kelly). The phrase "being defrauded of the wages of fraud" has been vindicated by a parallel example from the papyri, which reads, "when this has been done [in the context, 'when a receipt has been given'], we shall not be defrauded" (Green). It could also mean that they suffer recompense for their wrongdoing (Bauckham). μισθός (# 3635) wage, recompense. ἀδικία (# 94) unrighteousness, fraud. ἡδονή (# 2454) pleasure. In the NT the word always means sensual gratification (Bigg). ἡγούμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to consider, to reckon, to count. τρυφή (# 5588) indulgence, reveling. Daytime debauchery was frowned on even in degenerate Roman society (Green; Kelly). Dio Chrysostom quotes Alexander the Great as saying that other men "had all been well-nigh ruined in soul by luxury and idleness and were slaves of money and pleasure" (DC 4:6). σπίλος (# 5070) spot, blot, a disfiguring spot (Bigg). μῶμος (# 3700) blemish. The accusation is one of riotous misbehavior at banquets, and since the correspondents participated in these it would seem to be some kind of community celebration (Kelly) ἐντρυφῶντες pres. act. part. ἐντρυφάω (# 1960) to live in luxury, to revel (for the wild parties, and banqueting s. LLAR, 33-53; Petronius, Satyrica; Athenaeus, The Deipnosophists). ἀπάτη (# 573) deception. Perhaps the meaning here is dissipations, so the transition from guile or deception to sinful pleasure was natural and easy (Kelly). συνευωχούμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. συνευωχέομαι (# 5307) to feed well, to feed abundantly, to eat together, to feast w. (RWP). Part. denotes the circumstances of the preceding action (Mayor). ◆ 14 ἔχοντες pres. act. part. (adj.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. μεστός (# 3550) full. This is a vivid expression which means that their eyes are always looking for a woman with whom to commit adultery (Bauckham). Plutarch, in discussing compliance says, "And so, as the orator said that the shameless man (ἀναίσχυντον) had harlots (πόρνας), not maidens (κόρας the word can also mean "pupils of the eyes), in his eyes, so the compliant man ...." (Plutarch, "On Compliancy," Moralia, 528, E; NW, 2, ii:1406-07; Bauckham). μοιχαλίδος (# 3655) adulteress. The connotation is probable more general, w. the meaning "loose woman" (Kelly; DJG, 643; DPL, 871-75). ἀκατάπαυστος (# 188) without succession, not pausing; unable to stop (RWP). δελεάζοντες pres. act. part. δελεάζω (# 1284) to trap by using bait, to ensnare. ἀστήρικτος (# 844) without firmness, unstable. They lack a firm foundation in faith and discipline and so are liable to be unsettled by scandalous conduct or erroneous teaching (Kelly; Green). γεγυμνασμένην perf. pass. part. γυμνάζω (# 1214) to exercise, to do bodily exercise, to be familiar w. Lit., to exercise naked. Here, "a heart trained in greed" (BAGD). Gen. used after the part. denotes familiarity w. anything (Bigg). πλεονεξία (# 4432) greediness, avarice, unsuitableness (TLNT). ἔχοντες pres. act. part. (adj.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. κατάρα (# 2932) curse. The Hebraic expression "children of curse" meant "accursed creatures" (Kelly; Bigg); i.e., "God's curse on them." These men rest under the curse of God, as do all who fail to trust in Christ, who bore man's curse (Green). ◆ 15 καταλείποντες pres. act. part. καταλείπω (# 2901) to leave off, to abandon. εὐθεῖαν acc. sing. εὐθύς (# 2318) straight. Upright conduct is pictured in the Bible as a straight path (Kelly). ἐπλανήθησαν aor. ind. pass. πλανάω (# 4414) to go astray, to follow the wrong path. ἐξακολουθήσαντες aor. act. part. ἐξακουθέω (# 1979) to follow after (s. 1:16). Part. of means ("by following after") or causal ("because they followed after"). Βαλαὰμ τοῦ Βοσόρ (# 962; 1082) Balaam son of Bosor. Perhaps there is a play on the name Bosor and the Heb. word for flesh (בָּשָׂר bsr), indicating Balaam's immoral character (Bauckham; BBC; ABD, 1: 569-72). ἀδικία (# 94) unrighteousness, fraud. Gen. here could be subjective or obj. gen., either reward prompted by fraud or reward which has fraud or unrighteousness as its object. ἠγάπησεν aor. act. ind. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. ◆ 16 ἔλεγξις (# 1792) rebuke. ἔσχεν aor. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have; aor., to get. παρανομία (# 4175) beyond the law, transgression. The word indicates not a general defiance of law, but rather a breech of a particular law (Mayor). ὑποζύγιον (# 5689) being under a yoke. The term was used for a beast of burden, specifically for a donkey (BS, 160f; ABD, 6: 1026-27). ἄφωνος (# 936) not having a sound, speechless, dumb. φθεγξάμενον aor. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) φθέγγομαι (# 5779) to make a sound, to speak. The vb. is esp. used of a portentous prophetic utterance (Bigg). ἐκώλυσεν aor. ind. act. κωλύω (# 3266) to hinder. παραφρονία (# 4197) beyond understanding, madness. It is being beside one's wits (RWP). The v. suggests that he who was bribed by Balak to curse Israel was rebuked for his own disobedience by the disobedience of the ass and thus hindered from receiving the promised reward (Mayor). ◆ 17 εἰσιν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. πηγαί nom. pl. πηγή (# 4380) spring. ἄνυδρος (# 536) waterless. ὁμίχλη (# 3920) fog, mist. λαίλαπος gen. λαίλαψ (# 3278) storm, squall (s. Mark 4:37; Luke 8:23). ἐλαυνόμεναι pres. pass. part. (adj.) ἐλαύνομαι (# 1785) to drive, to blow. ζόφος (# 2432) darkness, gloom. τετήρηται perf. ind. pass. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep. ◆ 18 ὑπέρογκος (# 5665) swelling, inflated. The word means unnaturally swollen. They used big, ponderous words in their discourses. Ostentatious verbosity was their weapon to ensnare the unwary and licentiousness was the bait on their hook (Green). ματαιότη (# 3470) vanity, futility. Their words amount to nothing of significance, w. the gen. a descriptive gen. (Green). φθεγγόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. φθέγγομαι (# 5779) to make a sound, to speak. (s.v. 16). δελεάζουσιν pres. ind. act. δελεάζω (# 1284) to bait, to entice. ὀλίγως (# 3903) adv., very recently, in a small degree; slightly, a little (Kelly; Mayor). ἀσελγείαις dat. pl. ἀσέλγεια (# 816) unrestraint greed. unbridled desire. Here instr. dat. ἀποφεύγοντας pres. act. part. ἀποφεύγω (# 709) to escape from. πλάνῃ (# 4415) error. The word stands specifically for idolatry or paganism (Kelly; TDNT). ἀναστρεφομένους pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀναστρέφομαι (# 418) to conduct one's life, to live. ◆ 19 ἐλευθερία (# 1800) freedom, liberty. ἐπαγγελλόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐπαγγέλλομαι (# 2040) to promise. ὑπάρχοντες pres. act. part. ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to be, to exist. The word denotes continuance of an antecedent state or condition (AS; s. 2 Cor. 12:16). φθορά (# 5785) corruption, destruction. ἥττηται perf. ind. pass. ἡττάομαι (# 2487) to be inferior, to be defeated, to be overcome. δεδούλωται perf. ind. pass. δουλόω (# 1530) to enslave. The imagery derives directly from the ancient practice of enslaving an enemy defeated in battle as a prisoner (Kelly). Perf. indicates the continuing condition of being a slave. ◆ 20 ἀποφυγόντες aor. act. part. ἀποφεύγω (# 709) to escape from. μιάσμα (# 3621) pollution. ἐπίγνωσις (# 2106) recognition, knowledge. ἐμπλακέντες aor. act. part. ἐμπλέκω (# 1861) to unweave, to entangle. ἥττῶνται pres. ind. pass. ἡττάομαι (# 2487) to be inferior (s.v. 19). γέγονεν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. χείρονα (# 5937) worse. They are worse off at the end than they were at the beginning; the reference is to a lost apostate (Blum). ◆ 21 κρεῖττον (# 3202) comp. ἀγαθός good; comp., better. ἐπεγνωκέναι perf. act. inf. ἐπιγινώσκω (# 2105) to know. Inf. is used epexegetically to explain that which is better. ἐπιγνοῦσιν aor. act. part. ἐπιγινώσκω (# 2105) to know. Dat. pl. agrees w. the pron. αὐτοῖς (RWP). ὑποστρέψαι aor. act. inf. ὑποστρέφω (# 5715)

to turn back. παραδοθείσης aor. pass. part. παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to deliver over, to commit. The word was almost a t.t. for the passing on of tradition (TDNT). ◆ 22 συμβέβηκεν perf. ind. act. συμβαίνω (# 5201) to happen. The dramatic perf. treats what is certain to befall as already accomplished (Kelly). παροιμία (# 4231) proverb. κύων (# 3264) dog. ἐπιστρέψας aor. act. part. ἐπιστρέφω (# 2188) to turn to. The part. needs to be translated as a finite vb. (GGBB, 55). ἐξέραμα (# 2000) that which is thrown out, vomit (s. Prov. 26:11). ὗς (# 5725) pig, hog. Both are unclean animals. λουσαμένη aor. mid. part. λούω (# 3374) to wash oneself. Temp. part., "after having been washed." The word means "having bathed itself in mud" (Bigg). κυλισμός (# 3243) wallowing. βόρβορος (# 1079) mud, mire, filth, slime (BAGD). Epictetus says of those who refuse to keep themselves clean, "go and talk to a pig, that he may wallow no more in mud!" (Epictetus, 4: 11, 29; Bauckham).

◆ 1 δεύτερος (# 1311) second. γράφω (# 1211) pres. ind. act. to write. διεγείρω (# 1444) pres. ind. act. to awaken, to stir up (s. 1:13). ὑπόμνησις (# 5704) remembering, reminder. εἰλικρινής (# 1637) pure, unmixed, sincere. The word was used of things unmixed, air as well as ethical purity (Mayor; s. Phil. 1:10). διάνοια (# 1379) thinking, understanding. The phrase was used by Plato to mean pure reason, uncontaminated by the seductive influence of the senses (Green; GPT, 37). ◆ 2 μνησθῆναι aor. pass. inf. μιμνήσκομαι (# 3630) to remind. Inf. to express purp., here the purp. of his writing. Inf. could also be taken as epex. defining the vb. διεγείρω (Mayor). προειρημένων perf. pass. part. προλέγω (# 4625) to say before. ῥῆμα (# 4839) word. ἐντολής (# 1953) commandment. The construction of the gen. τῆς τῶν ἀποστόλων ὑμῶν ἐντολῆς τοῦ κυρίου is not entirely clear, but probably could be translated, "of the commandment of the Lord transmitted by the apostles" (BD, 93). ◆ 3 γινώσκοντες pres. act. part. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Part. could be understood here as having the force of an imp. (Mayor). ἐλεύσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. ἐσχάτων τῶν ἡμερῶν (# 2274; 2465) last days. ἐμπαιγμονῇ (# 1848) scoffing, making fun of through mockery. ἐμπαίκτης (# 1851) one who makes fun through mockery, mocker, scoffer. The phrase "mockers w. (in) mockery," i.e., "scoffers shall come w. scoffing" reflects a strong Hebraic influence on the analogy of the Heb. inf. abs. (Bigg; MT, Style, 142f). ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) strong desire, lust, passion. πορευόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) πορεύομαι (# 4513) to walk, to come. ◆ 4 λέγοντες pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ποῦ (# 4544) where? "what has become of?" This is a traditional formula for expressing skepticism (Kelly). ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) promise. παρουσία (# 4242) coming (s. 1:16). Obj. gen. gives the content of the promise. ἐκοιμήθησαν aor. ind. pass. (dep.) κοιμάομαι (# 3121) to sleep, to fall asleep. The term is used as a metaphor for dying (Kelly). διαμένει pres. ind. act. διαμένω (# 1373) to remain, to remain through, to continue. Pres. emphasizes the continual unbroken action: "All things continue as they have." ἀρχή (# 794) beginning. κτίσεως gen. sing. κτίσις (# 3232) creation. They maintain that God's promise is unreliable and God's universe a stable, unchanging system where events like the parousia just do not happen (Green). Gen. of description. ◆ 5 λανθάνει pres. ind. act. λανθάνω (# 3291) to escape notice of, to be hidden from; "for they shut their eyes to this fact that..." (Mayor; RWP; Kelly). θέλοντας pres. act. part. θέλω (# 2527) to desire, to wish. The part. has here almost an adverbial sense (RWP). ἦσαν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἔκπαλαι (# 1732) for a long time, long ago. συνεστῶσα perf. act. part. συνίστημι (# 5319) to consist (s. Col. 1:17). λόγος (# 3364) word. Here dat. of means or instr. ◆ 6 κατακλυσθείς aor. pass. part. κατακλύζω (# 2885) to surge over completely, to inundate, to flood. Part. of means or manner explaining how the world was destroyed. ἀπώλετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to ruin, to destroy. ◆ 7 νῦν (# 3814) now, present. τεθησαυρισμένοι perf. pass. part. θησαυρίζω (# 2564) to treasure up, to store up, to reserve. The sense of the metaphor here is "to set apart for," "destined for" (Mayor). Perf. emphasizes the completed state or condition. εἰσίν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. τηρούμενοι pres. pass. part. τηρέω (# 5498) to guard, to watch. κρίσις (# 3213) judging. ἀπώλεια (# 724) ruin, destruction. ἀσεβής (# 815) ungodly, impious. ◆ 8 λανθανέτω pres. imp. act. 3rd pers. sing. λανθάνω (# 3291) to escape notice (s.v. 5). ἔτη nom. pl. ἔτος (# 2291) year. This is a quotation from Ps. 90:4. The idea is that in God's eyes a long period may appear short. God does not reckon time as man does (BBC; Bauckham; also his discussion of the Jewish background and the various interpretations). ◆ 9 βραδύνει pres. ind. act. βραδύνω (# 1094) to be slow, to delay. For examples in the papyri s. MM. βραδύτης (# 1097) slowness, delay. ἡγοῦνται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to consider, to think, to count (as if delay sprang from impotence or unwillingness to perform [Bigg]). μακροθυμεῖ pres. ind. act. μακροθυμέω (# 3428) to be longsuffering and patient. It is the Spirit who could take revenge, but who utterly refuses to do so (NTW, 84; TDNT; Rom. 2:4). The delay of punishment rests on God's long-suffering, which had an extensive history in Jewish tradition and was not unknown in Greek thinking (Jerome H. Neyrey, "The Form and Background of the Polemic in 2 Peter," JBL 99 [1980] : 424-27). βουλόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. βούλομαι (# 1089) to wish, to desire, to want to, w. inf.

ἀπολέσθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to perish. μετάνοια (# 3567) change of thinking, repentance (s. Matt. 3:2). χωρῆσαι aor. act. inf. χωρέω (# 6003) to make room, to have room for. The apparent delay of God is rooted in God's desire that all have room, i.e., opportunity for repentance. ◆ 10 ἥξει fut. ind. act. ἥκω (# 2457) to come. The vb. is placed for strong emphasis at the beginning of the sentence (Kelly). ῥοιζηδόν (# 4853) adv., w. a hissing or crackling sound. The word is onomatopoeic, expressing the whizzing sound produced by rapid motion through the air of shrill rushing sounds–the hissing of a snake, the whirl of a bird's wings, the hurtling of an arrow–and then is used for the rushing movement itself or the accompanying crash or roar. Here probably the roaring of flame is meant (Bigg; Mayor; Jos. JW, 3:248). παρελεύσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) παρέρχομαι (# 4216) to pass by, to go away, to pass away. στοιχεῖον (# 5122) an element. Things arranged in a row: the letters of the alphabet, or the elements of nature. Here it clearly means physical elements (Bigg). It could refer to the elements of earth, air, fire, and water or the heavenly bodies such as sun, moon, and stars (Green); or it may refer to the atomic particles that are the basic structure of nature. καυσούμενα pres. mid. (dep.) part. καυσόομαι (# 3012) to burn, to melt. The word was employed by medical writers to express feverish heat. It may be intended to denote a conflagration arising from internal heat, such as a volcano (Mayor). λυθήσεται fut. ind. pass. λύω (# 3395) to loosen, to disintegrate. The word is used of breaking up a structure, as well as of dissolving a compound into its elements (Mayor). εὑρεθήσεται fut. ind. pass. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find; here, will be found. The meaning here may be that the earth and man's achievements will be discovered and exposed to divine judgment (Kelly; Mayor). ◆ 11 λυομένων pres. pass. part. (causal) λύω (# 3395) to loosen. Gen. abs. Pres. is either the futuristic pres., or else the process of dissolution is pictured (RWP). ποταπός (# 4534) what sort of, what kind of. In the context the word hints that great things are expected of the readers; "how outstandingly excellent" (Kelly). δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. it is necessary, used w. the acc. and the inf. ὑπάρχειν pres. act. inf. ὑπάρχω (# 5639) to be, to exist as (s. 2:19). ἀναστροφή (# 419) walk, life's practice, manner of living, way of life. εὐσέβεια (# 2354) godliness, a life of piety, respect, and reverence. ◆ 12 προσδοκῶντας pres. act. part. προσδοκέω (# 4659) to await expectantly, to look forward to. σπεύδοντας pres. act. part. σπεύδω (# 5067) to hasten, to accelerate, to desire, to be eager for (Mayor; Kelly; Bigg; HSB, 731-32). δι' ἣν (# 1328; 4005) because of which. The destruction takes place because God's day has arrived (Green). πυρούμενοι pres. pass. part. πυρέω (# 4792) to set on fire; pass., to be on fire, to burn. λυθήσονται fut. ind. pass. λύω (# 3395) to loose. καυσούμενα pres. pass. part. καυσόω (# 3012) pass., to be consumed by heat, to burn up. Circum. or temp. part., describing what is taking place at the time of the action of the main vb. τήκεται pres. ind. pass. τήκω (# 5494) to melt, to make liquid; pass., to be melted. Pres. is futuristic (Bigg). ◆ 13 ἐπάγγελμα (# 2041) that which was promised, promise. προσδοκῶμεν pres. ind. act. προσδοκέω (# 4659) to await; to look forward to. Inclusive "we" (GGBB, 398). κατοικεῖ pres. ind. act. κατοικέω (# 2997) to settle down, to dwell, to be at home at (s. Rev. 21:1). ◆ 14 ταῦτα (# 4047) (s. 1:8); "these things," i.e., a freshly created heaven and earth where God's will is paramount (Kelly). προσδοκῶντες pres. act. part. προσδοκέω (# 4659) to earnestly await, to expect (s.v. 12). σπουδάσατε aor. imp. act. σπουδάζω (# 5079) to give diligence, to make an effort (s. 1:10). ἄσπιλος (# 834) spotless. ἀμώμητος (# 318) blameless. αὐτῷ dat. sing. αὐτός (# 899) self; "him." The dat. may be taken w. the adj. ("spotless and blameless in His sight"), or w. the inf. ("to be found by Him") (Bigg). εὑρεθῆναι aor. pass. inf. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. The inf. is used to complete the vb. σπουδάσατε. ἐν εἰρήνῃ (# 1877; 1645) in peace. This describes the state of reconciliation w. God the restored sinner enjoys (Kelly). ◆ 15 μακροθυμία (# 3429) long-suffering, patient endurance (s. Gal. 5:22; RAC, 9:254f). ἡγεῖσθε pres. mid. (dep.) imp. ἡγέομαι (# 2451) to consider, to count, followed by the double acc. ὁ ἀγαπητὸς ἡμῶν ἀδελφός (# 28; 1609; 81) "our beloved brother." The phrase refers not simply to a fellow Christian, but in this case to a fellow apostle (Kelly). δοθεῖσαν aor. pass. part. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. The pass. is a theol. or divine pass. indicating that God is the subject (BG, 76). ἔγραψεν aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Peter may be referring to Paul's letter to the Romans, or he may be alluding simply to Paul's constant teaching in all his letters (Green). ◆ 16 λαλῶν pres. act. part. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. δυσνόητος (# 1554) difficult to understand, hard to understand. ἀμαθής (# 276) untaught. The word brings out the moral value of teaching, trained habits of reflection, and disciplined good sense (Bigg). ἀστήρικτος (# 844) unstable. στρεβλοῦσιν pres. ind. act. στρεβλόω (# 5137) to twist, to torture. The fig. sense seems to flow from the notion of twisting or warping rather than that of torturing on the rack. The result is then false and distorted (Mayor; Bauckham; BAGD). λοιπός (# 3370) rest. γραφάς acc. pl. γραφή (# 1210) Scripture, referring to the inspired, authoritative writings (Bauckham). Peter gives a very high place to Paul's writings. They are included in "the other scriptures" (Green; Bauckham; Blum). ἀπώλεια (# 724) destruction. ◆ 17 προγινώσκοντες pres. act. part. προγινώσκω (# 4589) to know beforehand, to know in advance. Part. could be causal. φυλάσσεσθε pres. imp. mid. (dep.) φυλάσσω (# 5875) to guard, to keep watch; mid. to guard oneself. Pres. imp. calls for a continual action. ἄθεσμος (# 118) lawless (s. 2:7). πλάνῃ (# 4415) error. συναπαχθέντες aor. pass. part. συναπάγω (# 5270) to lead away together, to carry away together. ἐκπέσητε aor. subj. act. ἐκπίπτω (# 1738) to fall out of, to dislodge. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) is used in a neg. purp. cl. στηριγμός (# 5113) fixedness, firmness, steadfastness, firm stance. It connotes fixity as opposed to movement, and is used in conscious contrast to ἀστήρικτοι above, the characteristic of heretics and their dupes. Stability, or being firmly established in the faith, is clearly a quality he greatly esteems (Kelly). ◆ 18 αὐξάνετε pres. imp. act. αὐξάνω (# 889) to grow, to advance. ἐν in. Prep. could express either the sphere of growth or the means by which one grows. γνώσει dat. sing. γνῶσις (# 1194) knowledge. τοῦ κυρίου (# 3261) of the Lord. Gen. could be obj. ("knowledge about...") or subjective ("knowledge from...").

◆ 1 ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἀρχή (# 794) beginning. The beginning here could refer to the beginning of creation, or beginning in the abs. sense; word emphasizes the preexistence and divine character, or beginning of the Christian preaching, or the beginning of Jesus' ministry (Schnackenburg; Marshall; Brown; Klauck; Smalley; Strecker). ἀκηκόαμεν perf. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἑωράκαμεν perf. act. ind. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. The perfs. express an act in the past w. lasting results. It indicates that a revelation has been made in terms men can understand and the results are abiding (Marshall; Brooke; JG, 344). The 1st pers. pl. "we" could mean the writer of the epistle and his companions, but it more probably means "we all," "we disciples of Christ" (JG, 311; Schnackenburg, 52-58; Brown; Klauck, 73-78). ὀφθαλμός (# 4057) eye. Instr. dat. here, "w. our eyes." ἐθεασάμεθα aor. ind. mid. (dep.) θεάομαι (# 2517) to look at, to behold. The vb. expresses the calm, intentional continuous contemplation of an object (Westcott; s. John 1:14). ἐψηλάφησαν aor. act. ind. ψηλαφέω (# 6027) to grope or feel after in order to find, like one blind or in the dark; hence, "to handle, to touch." The idea of searching sometimes disappears altogether; here it naturally suggest all the evidence available for sense perception other than hearing and sight. The author is claiming a physical contact w. Jesus (Brooke; Brown; Klauck). Perhaps this is to combat a type of Docetism (DLNT, 306-9). ζωῆς gen. sing. ζωή (# 2437) life (Strecker; Klauck). Gen. could indicate the content of the word or, as gen. of quality could indicate "the living word"; it could indicate the object ("the life-giving word"), or it could be an epex. gen. ("the word which is life") (Stott; Marshall; Brown). ◆ 2 ἐφανερώθη aor. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear, to manifest; pass., to be revealed. The vb. is used of the revelation of the Lord at His first coming, the Incarnation (Westcott; Schnackenburg; Klauck). ἑωράκαμεν perf. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. μαρτυροῦμεν pres. ind. act. μαρτυρέω (# 3455) to be a witness, to testify. Pres. indicates the continuing action. ἀπαγγέλλομεν pres. ind. act. ἀπαγγέλλω (# 550) to report, to declare, to report w. reference to the eyewitness source of a message (Bultmann). V. 2 forms a parenthesis the writer inserted to make clear beyond all possible mistake that the life to which John bears witness was revealed by God in the historical person of Jesus (Marshall). ἐφανερώθη aor. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to be revealed. ◆ 3 ἑωράκαμεν perf. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἀκηκόαμεν perf. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἀπαγγέλλομεν pres. ind. act. ἀπαγγέλλω (# 550) to report (s.v. 2). This is the main vb. of the sentence began in v. 1. κοινωνία (# 3126) fellowship. The word indicates the setting aside of private interest and desire and the joining in w. another or others for common purposes (TDNT; NIDNTT; RAC, 9:1100-45; Smalley; Klauck; DLNT, 373-74; NDIEC, 3:19; GELTS, 261). ἔχητε pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 4 ταῦτα nom. pl. οὗτος (# 4047) this; "these things." The reference is to the entire contents of the letter (Brooke; Marshall), or to the apostolic message in vv. 1-3 (Westcott). γράφομεν pres. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Pres. used w. the emphatic personal pron. ἡμεῖς (# 1609) (for the text variant s. TC, 709) means the writer is writing the letter in solidarity w. all the representatives of orthodoxy in the church (Smalley). In v. 5 the "we" refers to the author and other ministers, while in v. 6 it is inclusive (the author and audience) (GGBB, 396). ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be, used w. part. πεπληρωμένη perf. pass. part. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill, to make full. Part. in a periphrastic perf. pass. subj. construction stressing the state of completion in the purp. cl. (RWP). The assurance of knowing that they possess eternal life would make their joy full, so he writes to the group and presents certain criteria for them to know that they have this life. The ones who keep themselves from habitual sin and idols can know that they have eternal life. ◆ 5 ἀγγελία (# 32) report, message. The word may suggest that the message contains a conception of God men could not have formed without His help. It is a revelation and not a discovery (Brooke). ἀκηκόαμεν perf. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Perf. indicates the abiding results of the hearing. ἀναγγέλλομεν pres. ind. act. ἀναγγέλλω (# 334) to announce. Prep. in compound has the additional idea of bringing the tidings up to or back to the person receiving them. It is the recipient who is prominent in this vb. (Westcott). Pres. indicates the action in progress. ὅτι (# 4022) that. This conj. introduces the content of the announcement. φῶς (# 5890) light and σκοτία (# 5028) darkness. That God is light is a penetrating description of the being and nature of God, indicating that He is absolute in His glory, truth, and holiness (Smalley; Klauck; Strecker, 76-83; DLNT, 657-59). ◆ 6 ἐάν (# 1569) if. The five cond. cls. introduced by this word are followed by the aor. subj. or pres. subj. In each case the cond. is a supposition that is possible: "if this should happen" (JG, 371-74; Marshall). εἴπωμεν aor. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. "If we should say." In vv. 6, 8, and 10, the phrase introduces three statements of false doctrine (JG, 372). ἔχομεν pres ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. περιπατῶμεν pres. subj. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to conduct one's life. The word is comparable to the Heb. word הלך, "to walk" (TDOT; NIDOTTE), and is used in the sense of practical, ethical dealing (Schnackenburg). Pres. indicates an habitual manner of life–"to live habitually in darkness"–an attitude of mind issuing in specific acts of wrongdoing, as well as a determination to choose sin (darkness) rather that God (light) as one's constant sphere of existence (Smalley). ψευδόμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ψεύδομαι (# 6017) to lie. ποιοῦμεν pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to practice. In Jewish writings "to do the truth" indicated doing right, or being faithful, esp. concerning truth as revealed in the Law; but for Christians Christ has replaced the Law (Brown; Klauck). ◆ 7 περιπατῶμεν pres. subj. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to conduct one's life (s.v. 6). The cond. cls. in vv. 7 and 9 introduce the hypothesis of pres. and continuous Christian life–"on the supposition that we are walking or confessing" (JG, 372)–involving a present general reality (GGBB, 663). "Walking in the light" is the conscious and sustained endeavor to live a life in conformity w. the revelation of God who is light, esp. as that revelation has been made finally and completely in Jesus Christ. And this is the necessary condition of fellowship (Brooke). κοινωνία (# 3126) fellowship (s.v. 3). ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. μετ' = μετά (# 3552) with. ἀλλήλων (# 253) one another; "w. one another." Although the phrase could mean fellowship between God and man, John's general use indicates that he takes the fellowship of Christians as the visible sign of fellowship w. God (Westcott; Schnackenburg). αἷμα (# 135) blood. For a study of the term "blood" in the Scripture s. APC, 108-124; BBC; A.M. Stibbs, The Meaning of the Word "Blood" in Scripture [London: The Tyndale Press, 1962]. καθαρίζει pres. ind. act. καθαρίζω (# 2751) to cleanse. The vbs. suggest that God does more than forgive; He erases the stain of sin. Pres. suggests it is a continuous process (Stott). ◆ 8 εἴπωμεν aor. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say (s.v. 6). ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres., "to possess." To have no sin is the equivalent of a sinless character or disposition (Smalley). πλανῶμεν pres. ind. act. πλανάω (# 4414) to lead astray, to cause to wander, to mislead, to deceive (BAGD). To deceive or lead ourselves astray is either to deceive oneself, or to deceive those in the Christian community (Brown). ◆ 9 ὁμολογῶμεν pres. subj. act. ὁμολογέω (# 3933) to say the same thing, to agree, to concede, to admit, to confess, to acknowledge (ECC, 13-20; TDNT; EDNT; GELTS, 332). Iterative pres., indicating a repeated acknowledgment of sin. Subj. may suggest implicit uncertainty or a generalization of the "we" (GGBB, 698). πιστός (# 4412) faithful. It refers here to God's fidelity or reliability in the keeping of His word (Brown). δίκαιος (# 1465) righteous, just. God acts according to the standard of His holiness and can forgive sin because its penalty has been paid by the death of Christ. ἀφῇ aor. subj. act. ἀφίημι (# 918) to release, to forgive (TDNT; NIDNTT). The subject cl. indicates the way in which God expresses His faithfulness and justice and is equivalent to an inf. of result (Marshall; BD, 198). καθαρίσῃ aor. subj. act. καθαρίζω (# 2751) to purify, to cleanse. Perhaps John thought of the words of Jesus as He responded to Peter's request to be completely washed: "A person who has had a bath needs only to wash his feet; his whole body is clean" (John 13:10 NIV). ἀδικία (# 94) unrighteousness. ◆ 10 εἴπωμεν aor. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say; here in the sense "to claim." ἡμαρτήκαμεν perf. ind. act. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. Perf. points to the abiding results of a past action (GGBB, 577). For a discussion of sin in 1 John 5:16 s. DLNT, 1095-97. ψεύστης (# 6026) one who lies, liar. ποιοῦμεν pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to make; here, "to make someone a liar" (Smalley; Brown).

◆ 1 τεκνία voc. pl. τεκνίον (# 5448) little child, small child. The dim. form is used for affection: "dear children" (Marshall). γράφω (# 1211) pres. ind. act. to write. Pres. indicates the writing of this letter. ἁμάρτητε aor. subj. act. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. Aor. indicates a single act, not a state, of sin (Westcott). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) is used in a neg. purp. cl. (GGBB, 472). ἁμάρτῃ aor. subj. act. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. Subj. in an 3rd. class cond. cl. which assumes the possibility of the cond. παράκλητος (# 4156) helper. In rabbinical literature the word could indicate one who offers legal aid or who intercedes on behalf of someone else; in the pres. context the word undoubtedly signifies a legal advocate or counsel for the defense (Marshall; Schnackenburg; Brooke; Klauck; BBC; TDNT; John 14:16). ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. indicates continual possession. πρός (# 4639) to, with, by. Prep. denotes both presence with and a relationship towards: "in the presence of the Father" (Brown; NIDNTT, 3:1204-6). ◆ 2 ἱλασμός (# 2662) satisfaction, propitiation. Since the idea is to placate the wrath of God, the pres. passage means that Jesus propitiates w. respect to our sins (Marshall; Stott; Brown; Smalley; Rom. 3:25). περί concerning, for. The phrase περὶ τῶν ἁμαρτιῶν (# 4309; 281) could refer to sin offering as in the OT, or mean "in reference to sin" (NIDNTT, 3:1203). ◆ 3 γινώσκομεν pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. ἐγνώκαμεν perf. act. ind. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. The tenses here are significant; we learn to perceive more and more clearly that our knowledge is genuine through its abiding results in a growing willingness to obey (Brooke). ἐντολάς acc. pl. ἐντολή (# 1953) commandment. τηρῶμεν pres. subj. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to guard, to keep. The word has the idea of observing or holding something fast in memory (Schnackenburg). Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) is used in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which views the cond. as a possibility. ◆ 4 λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Subst. part., to emphasize a defining character trait. The change from the pl. to the sing. suggests that the principle is being applied and tested in the life of the individual believer (Smalley). ἔγνωκα perf. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Perf. stresses the abiding state or cond. τηρῶν pres. act. part. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep. Concessive use of part. Pres. indicates a continual action. ψεύστης (# 6026) one who lies, liar. ◆ 5 τηρῇ pres. subj. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep. Subj. w. the generalized or indef. rel. pron. ὅς ἄν, meaning "whoever keeps." ἀληθῶς (# 242) adv., truly. ἡ ἀγάπη τοῦ θεοῦ the love of God. The gen. could be subjective gen. ("God's love for man"), obj. gen. ("man's love for God"), or gen. of quality ("God's kind of love") (Marshall). For the meaning of the term "love," s. 1 Cor. 13:1; Oda Wischmeyer, "Agape in der ausserchristlichen Antike," ZNW 69 [1978]: 212-38; TLNT; TDNT; EDNT. τετελείωται perf. ind. pass. τελειόω (# 5457) to bring to the goal, to perfect. Proleptic perf. used to refer to a state resulting from an antecedent action yet to come (GGBB, 581). True love for God is expressed not in sentimental language or mystical experience, but in moral obedience. The proof of love is loyalty. Such love is perfected (Stott). γινώσκομεν pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. ἐσμεν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 6 λέγων pres. act. part. (subst.) λέγω (# 3306) to say. μένειν pres. act. inf. μένω (# 3531) to remain. The pres. of this vb. indicates a continual abiding in Him (s. John 15:4; Schnackenburg, 105-10). Inf. is used as indir. disc. after the part. ὀφείλει pres. ind. act. ὀφείλω (# 4053) to be morally obligated; "he ought to," w. inf. καθώς (# 2777) just as. ἐκεῖνος (# 1697) that one, i.e. Christ. περιεπάτησεν aor. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk, to conduct one's life (s. 1:6). Aor. sums up the total life of Jesus. οὕτως (# 4048) so, in like manner. περιπατεῖν pres. act. inf. περιπατέω (# 4344). Inf. as obj. or complementary to the vb. ὀφείλει. Pres. indicates a continual action. ◆ 7 ἀγαπητοί voc. pl. ἀγαπητός (# 28) one who is loved, beloved. καινήν acc. sing. καινός (# 2785) new, novel, new in kind (RWP; Trench, Synonyms, 219-25; Schnackenburg; John 13:34). παλαιός (# 4094) old, ancient; i.e., old in time. For example Deut. 6:5; Lev. 19:18. εἴχετε aor. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἠκούσατε aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ◆ 8 ἀληθής (# 239) true, genuine. The word expresses not only the truth of the logical content; it says the newness of the commandment to love was actually manifested in Christ and in those who received the letter (Schnackenburg). ὅτι (# 4022) that. It could be epex., explaining the new commandment ("namely, that the darkness is passing away"), causal ("because the darkness is passing away"); or perhaps both ideas are intended (Brown). παράγεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) παράγομαι (# 4135) to pass away. Pres. indicates that the process has already begun and the darkness is passing away (Brooke). φῶς (# 5890) light. ἀληθινός (# 240) true, genuine. φαίνει pres. ind. act. φαίνω (# 5743) to shine. Customary pres., indicating that this is an ongoing state (GGBB, 522). ◆ 9 λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Subst. part. to emphasize a defining trait. εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Inf. in indir. discourse. μισῶν pres. act. part. μισέω (# 3631) to hate. Subst. part. to emphasize a defining trait. ἄρτι (# 785) now, at the pres. time. ◆ 10 ἀγαπῶν pres. act. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (s.v. 5). Subst. part. to emphasize a defining trait, "the one who continually expresses loves." μένει pres. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain (s.v. 6). σκάνδαλον (# 4998) stumbling. ◆ 11 μισῶν pres. act. part. μισέω (# 3631) to hate. περιπατεῖ pres. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to conduct one's life. Pres. pictures the pres. continual action, "he is walking about." οἶδεν perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. ὑπάγει pres. ind. act. ὑπάγω (# 5632) to go. The idea is not that of preceding to a definite point, but of leaving the pres. scene (Westcott). ἐτύφλωσεν aor. ind. act. τυφλόω (# 5604) to make blind, to cause to be blind, to blind. ◆ 12 γράφω (# 1211) pres. ind. act. to write. Pres. could indicate the letter that John is now writing, stressing the progressive writing, "I am writing." ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω to write. The aor. could be an epistolary aor., referring to the present writing but stressing the completed action as they read the letter; or it could refer to another letter written in the past. For a discussion of the views regarding the tenses of the vb. γράφω s. Marshall; Schnackenburg; Plummer; Brown; Smalley. ὅτι (# 4022) that. This particle is used six times in vv. 12-14. They could be causal ("because") or they could indicate the content of that which John is writing. ἀφέωνται perf. ind. pass. ἀφίημι (# 918) to release, to forgive. Perf. indicates that the sins have been and remain forgiven (Scott). Pass. could be the theol. pass., indicating that God is the one who forgives the sins. διά (# 1328) w. acc., because; "because God is the one who forgives the sins." ◆ 13 ἐγνώκατε perf. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Perf. indicates the continuing results of the knowledge. τὸν ἀπ' ἀρχῆς (# 608; 794) the one who was from the beginning. Art. used with a prep. phrase. νεανίσκος (# 3734) young man. The word could indicates either someone young in the faith or physically young. νενικήκατε perf. act. ind. νικάω (# 3771) to bring about a victory, to achieve the victory, to conquer. Perf. indicates the pres. consequence of a past event (Stott). τὸν πονηρόν (# 4505) the evil one. It is a clear reference to the devil (Brown). ◆ 14 ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Aor. could be epistolary aor., referring to the pres. letter; or it could indicates a previous writing (s.v. 12). ἐγνώκατε perf. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. μένει pres. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain (s.v. 6). νενικήκατε perf. ind. act. νικάω (# 3771) to conquer (s.v. 13). ◆ 15 ἀγαπᾶτε pres. imp. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Pres. imp. commonly used to forbid an action or attitude of life (GGBB, 487). κόσμος (# 3180) world, world system. The word can signify mankind organized in rebellion against God (Marshall; Schnackenburg, 133-37; TDNT; HSB, 733-34). ἡ ἀγάπη τοῦ πατρός the love of the Father. The gen. could be subjective gen. ("the love from the Father"), obj. gen. ("the love for the Father"), or descriptive ("fatherly love"). ◆ 16 ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) strong desire, lust, passion (TDNT; DNP, 2:542-44). σαρκός gen. sing. σάρξ (# 4922) flesh. The word here could refer to the fallen human nature in general, to a disposition of hostility toward God (Smalley; Brown). Gen. could be gen. of source ("desires arising fr. the fallen human nature") or gen. of description ("fleshly desire"). ὀφθαλμῶν gen. pl. ὀφθαλμός (# 4057) eye. Gen. of source or subjective gen, indicating that the eyes are the agent of the desires (Smalley). ἀλαζονεία (# 224) pride, boasting arrogance. It means the braggadocio who exaggerates what he possesses in order to impress other people. Such a person stood on the pier and told his friends how much he had invested in shipping; then sent his boy to the bank although he has only one drachma in his account! (Marshall; MNTW, 38-42; Trench, Synonyms, 98-102f; TLNT; Klauck). βίος (# 1050) life, life substances or goods, possessions. Obj. gen. here, indicating the boasting about one's goods or livelihood. ◆ 17 παράγεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) παράγομαι (# 4135) to pass away (s.v. 8). ποιῶν pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Subst. part. to emphasize a defining trait. θέλημα (# 2525) will. μένει pres. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain (s.v. 6). ◆ 18 παιδίον (# 4086) little child, dear child (s.v. 1). ἐσχάτη ὥρα (# 2274; 6052) last hour. ἠκούσατε aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἀντίχριστος (# 532) Antichrist. Prep. could refer either to one who comes instead of Christ or one who opposes Christ. The lack of the art. stresses the category or quality (Schnackenburg; MT, 132; DLNT, 50-53). ἔρχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come; "he is coming." γεγόνασιν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Here, "to have come to be," "to have arisen" (Brooke). ὅθεν (# 3854) therefore, for this reason. γινώσκομεν perf. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know, to recognize. ◆ 19 ἐξῆλθαν aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. They either left the doctrine or left the fellowship. For a discussion of the problem in the community and the purpose of the letter to address these s. DLNT, 587-99. ἦσαν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Ind. in a contrary to fact cond. cl. μεμενήκεισαν plperf. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain (s.v. 6). Plperf. expresses the continuance of the contingent results up to the time of speaking (M, 148). The plperf. often lacks the augment in Koine (BD, 36). φανερωθῶσιν aor. pass. subj. φανερόω (# 5746) to manifest, to bring to light, to reveal. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl. Possibly an imperatival ἵνα (GGBB, 476-77). John not only relates the fact of their departure from the fellowship, but discerns a purpose in it. The heretics left of their own volition, but behind the secession was the divine purp. that they should be made manifest. Their departing was their unmasking. What is counterfeit cannot remain forever hidden (Stott). ἐξ ἡμῶν (# 1666; 1609) of us. ◆ 20 καί (# 2779) and yet. The word has here an adversative force ("but") (Marshall; BD, 227; JG, 135f). χρῖσμα (# 5984) anointing. The word, which expresses not the act of anointing, but that w. which it is performed, marks the connection of Christians w. their Head and refers to the Holy Spirit (Westcott; TDNT; Marshall; Smalley; DLNT, 48-50). οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. ◆ 21 ἔγραψα aor. act. ind. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Epistolary aor., "I am writing." ὅτι (# 4022) that. οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ψεῦδος (# 6022) liar. ◆ 22 ψεῦδος (# 6022) liar. εἰ μή (# 1623; 3590) if not, except. ἀρνούμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. (subst.) ἀρνέομαι (# 667) to say no to, to deny. τὸν πατέρα καὶ τὸν υἱόν the Father and the Son. Art. is par excellence (GGBB, 233). The one who rejects the Son also rejects the Father (Smalley). ◆ 23 ἀρνούμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀρνέομαι (# 667) to say no to, to deny. ὁμολογῶν pres. act. part. ὁμολογέω (# 3933) to agree, to confess (s. 1:9). Subst. part. w. art. to indicate a defining trait. ἔχει pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Gnomic pres. (GGBB, 522). ◆ 24 ἠκούσατε aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear and accept what has been heard. μενέτω pres. imp. act. 3rd. pers. sing. μένω (# 3531) to remain (s.v. 6). μείνῃ aor. subj. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which views the cond. as possible (s. 1:6). ἠκούσατε aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to express. μενεῖτε fut. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. It is significant that μένω expresses a continuing relationship (Marshall). ◆ 25 ἐπαγγελία (# 2039) announcement, promise, pledge (BAGD; Schnackenburg). ἐπηγγείλατο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπαγγέλομαι (# 2040) to promise, to pledge, to pledge oneself to do something. ◆ 26 ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. πλανώντων pres. act. part. πλανάω (# 4414) to lead astray, to deceive. Part. has a conative force, "trying to deceive" (Marshall). Pres. indicates an unfulfilled attempt. ◆ 27 ἐλάβετε aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive, to accept. μένει pres. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. ἔχετε pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. διδάσκῃ pres. subj. act. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used epexegetically to explain what the need is. ἐδίδαξεν aor. ind. act. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. μένετε pres. imp. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. ◆ 28 μένετε pres. imp. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. φανερωθῇ aor. subj. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to appear (s.v. 19). Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. and a clear reference to the second coming of Christ at any time (RWP). σχῶμεν aor. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl. παρρησία (# 4244) speaking everything, openness, boldness, confidence. The word originated from the political scene and meant openness in speaking. It was soon taken into the ethical area and closely connected w. the concept of friendship. Philo used the word regarding a slave whose good conscience gave him openness and confidence w. his master. The person who has been cleansed from sin and continues in love also has freedom of speech w. his Master who rules the whole world (Schnackenburg; TLNT; TDNT; GELTS, 361; Heb. 3:6). αἰσχυνθῶμεν aor. subj. pass. αἰσχύνω (# 159) to shame; pass., to be put to shame, to be made ashamed. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a neg. purp. cl. παρουσίᾳ (# 5746) presence, coming (s. 1 Thess. 3:13). ◆ 29 εἰδῆτε perf. subj. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. Subj. in a 3rd. class cond. cl., normally meaning that the cond. is viewed as possible. Here the intention may not be to question the certainty that He is just, but to turn the audience toward self-interrogation: Have they realized that He is just? (Brown). γινώσκετε pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. ποιῶν pres. act. part. (subst.) ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Pres. indicates a continual action. γεγέννηται perf. ind. pass. γεννάω (# 1164) to bear; pass., to be born. The child exhibits the parents' character because he shares the parents' nature (Stott). Perf. indicates the abiding result.

◆ 1 ἴδετε aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. The vb. is followed by an indir. statement as a means of arousing the readers' attention (Marshall). He invites his readers to contemplate the same truth as presented before them in an intelligent shape (Westcott). ποταπήν acc. sing. ποταπός (# 4534) what kind of. The word is used often of something admirable in character (Brooke). The word meant originally "of what country," and seems always to imply astonishment (Scott; Plummer). δέδωκεν perf. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. The word signifies an unearned gift. Perf. indicates that what they had received is permanent and abiding (Brooke; Schnackenburg). τέκνα nom. pl. τέκνον (# 5451) child. Nom. w. vb. of calling. It was a great privilege to be the child of a kind, loving father. Because the child had the nature of his father, he should behave like his father (BBC; DLNT, 1115-17). κληθῶμεν aor. subj. pass. καλέω (# 2813) to call; pass., to be named. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) could be used here to express either purp. (Westcott) or results (RWP). ἐσμέν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. γινώσκει pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Pres. indicates a continual action. ἔγνω aor. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. ◆ 2 οὔπω (# 4037) not yet. ἐφανερώθη aor. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear, to manifest, to reveal. ἐσόμεθα fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. οἴδαμεν perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. φανερωθῇ aor. subj. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to appear. The subject of the vb. could be either Jesus Himself or it could refer to τί ἐσόμεθα (Marshall; Schnackenburg; Westcott). ὅμοιος (# 3927) like. This likeness of man redeemed and perfected to God is the likeness of the creature reflecting the glory of the Creator (Westcott). ἐσόμεθα fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ὀψόμεθα fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ὁράω (# 3972) to see. For the ambiguous construction s. Marshall; Brown; Smalley. ◆ 3 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. Subst. part., "the one having hope." ἐλπίδα acc. sing. ἐλπίς (# 1828) hope; here in the sense of confidence, is the confident expectation that the believer will share fully in God's eternal life (Smalley; EH). ἁγνίζει pres. ind. act. ἁγνίζω (# 49) to purify. The word originally had a cultic meaning, indicating withdrawal from the profane and dedication to God–to make ceremonially ready. The term, however, also took on an ethical character (Schnackenburg; TDNT; EDNT; Smalley). The hope of appearing before God's presence, and of seeing Christ as He is, necessarily inspires its recipients w. the desire of putting away every defilement that clouds the vision of God (Brooke). ἑαυτοῦ (# 1571) refl. pron., himself. καθώς (# 2777) just as. ◆ 4 ποιῶν pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to continue to do, to practice. Subst. part., "the one practicing." ἀνομία (# 281) that which is without the law, lawlessness. ποιεῖ pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ◆ 5 οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. ὅτι (# 4022) that, giving the content of the knowledge. ἐφανερώθη aor. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to appear. ἄρῃ aor. subj. act. αἴρω (# 149) to lift up, to take away, to remove completely. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used in a purp. cl. ◆ 6 μένων pres. act. part. (subst.) μένω (# 3531) to remain. Pres. indicates continual action. ἁμαρτάνει pres. ind. act. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. Pres. indicates habitual action. It has been suggested that here John intends a potential view, that the one remaining in Him should not live in sin (Smalley). ἁμαρτάνων pres. act. part. ἁμαρτάνω

(# 279) to sin. ἑώρακεν perf. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Perf. means to see and to experience the continual results of having seen. ἔγνωκεν perf. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. The vb. ὁράω lays stress on the obj., which appears and is grasped by the mental vision; the vb. γινώσκω stresses the subsequent subjective apprehension of what is grasped in the vision, or unfolded gradually in experience (Brooke). ◆ 7 πλανάτω pres. imp. act. πλανάω (# 4414) to lead astray, to deceive. ποιῶν pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to practice. Subst. part. indicates habitual action. ◆ 8 ποιῶν pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. διάβολος (# 1333) devil, adversary (DDD, 464-73). ἁμαρτάνει pres. ind. act. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. Pres. indicates continual, habitual action. It began in the past but continues in the pres. (GGBB, 519-20). ἐφανερώθη aor. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to appear. λύσῃ aor. subj. act. λύω (# 3395) to loose, to destroy. The word suggests destruction by undoing or dissolving that which forms the bond of cohesion (Brooke). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl. ◆ 9 γεγεννημένος perf. pass. part. γεννάω (# 1164) to bear; pass., to be born (s. 2:29). ποιεῖ pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. μένει pres. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. δύναται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able. ἁμαρτάνειν pres. act. inf. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. For a discussion of the use of the pres. here s. GGBB, 522, 524; S. Kubo, "I John 3:9: Absolute or Habitual?," AUSS 7 (1969): 47-56. γεγέννηται perf. ind. pass. γεννάω (# 1164) to be born. Perf. marks not only the single act of birth, but the continuous presence of its efficacy (Westcott). The v. indicates the abiding influence of His seed within everyone who is born of God, as that which enables John to affirm without fear of contradiction that one cannot go on living in sin. Indeed, "if he should thus continue in sin, it would indicate that he has never been born again" (Stott); for a discussion of this v. w. various viewpoints s. Marshall; Smalley; Brown; HSB, 736-39. ◆ 10 φανερός (# 5745) clear, evident, conspicuous (MM). ποιῶν pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ἀγαπῶν pres. act. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. ◆ 11 ἀγγελία (# 32) report, message (s. 1:5). ἠκούσατε aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἀγαπῶμεν pres. subj. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a cl. explaining ἀγγελία (RWP; GGBB, 476). Pres. would indicate a continual, habitual attitude of love. ἀλλήλους acc. pl. ἀλλήλων (# 253) one another, reciprocal pron. ◆ 12 ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. χάριν τίνος (# 5515; 5920) for the sake of what? wherefore? (RWP). ἔσφαξεν aor. ind. act. σφάζω (# 5377) to slaughter, to kill, to butcher, to murder. Although the word was used often of the slaying of animals, particularly for sacrifice, this is not the sense here. It is used here of violent killing (Schnackenburg; Marshall; RWP). Cain is used here as a typical OT example of wickedness. The heretical group may have been vegetarian, so John may be deliberately pointing to the fact that Cain worked the soil (Smalley). ◆ 13 θαυμάζετε pres. imp. act. θαυμάζω (# 2513) to be amazed, to wonder, to marvel. Aor. would emphasize the immediate feeling aroused by a particular thought, or action (s. 3:7). Here the pres. is used of the continuous feeling stirred up by the whole temper of men (Westcott; Brooke). The vb. is followed by the particle εἰ (# 1623) ("if," "that") (BD, 237). μισεῖ pres. ind. act. μισέω (# 3631) to hate. ◆ 14 οἴδαμεν pref. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. μεταβεβήκαμεν perf. ind. act. μεταβαίνω (# 3553) to pass over from one place to another, to transfer, to migrate (RWP). Perf. indicates the permanency of the step of salvation (Schnackenburg). ἀγαπῶμεν pres. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Pres. indicates habitual action. ἀγαπῶν pres. act. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Subst. part., "the one (not) loving." Pres. indicates a habit of life. μένει pres. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. ◆ 15 μισῶν pres. act. part. μισέω (# 3631) to hate. ἀνθρωποκτόνος (# 475) one who kills a human being, murderer. οἴδατε perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ἔχει pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. Pres. points to possession. μένουσαν pres. act. part. (adj.) acc. fem. sing. μένω (# 3531) to remain. Pres. stresses continuing action. ◆ 16 ἐγνώκαμεν perf. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know (s.v. 6). ἔθηκεν aor. ind. act. τίθημι (# 5502) to place. Used here in the Semitic sense of, "to lay down one's life," "to give one's life" (Marshall; Brooke; Bultmann; Gaugler). ὀφείλομεν pres. ind. act. ὀφείλω (# 4053) to be morally obligated. θεῖναι aor. act. inf. τίθημι (# 5502) to lay down. Compl. inf. to the main vb. Aor. involves a single action of giving up one's life. The variant reading of the pres. τιθέναι would indicate a continuing willingness to do so out of love (Brown). ◆ 17 ἔχῃ pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. βίος (# 1050) life; i.e., things pertaining to life, like possessions or wealth (Houlden; Schnackenburg). θεωρῇ pres. subj. act. θεωρέω (# 2555) to see. ἔχοντα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. κλείσῃ aor. subj. act. κλείω (# 3091) to shut up, to lock. The word perhaps suggests that a barrier raised against the natural human feelings is exposed by the contemplation of such cases (Brooke). σπλάγχνον (# 5073) the inward organs, tender mercy, strong compassion (s. Phil. 1:8; TDNT; MNTW, 156; TLNT). ἡ ἀγάπη τοῦ θεοῦ the love of God; God's own love, which comes and dwells in the genuine believer and is the source of the love in the believing community (Holden). μένει pres. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. ◆ 18 ἀγαπῶμεν pres. subj. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Hortatory subj., "let us love." γλώσσα (# 1185) tongue, language, speech; w. mere outward expression as opposed to the genuine movement of our whole being (Westcott). ◆ 19 γνωσόμεθα fut. ind. mid. (dep.)

γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. ἐκ τῆς ἀληθείας ἐσμέν we are from the truth; i.e., "we draw the power of our being from the Truth as its source" (Westcott). This is the origin of our belief. ἔμπροσθεν (# 1869) before. πείσομεν fut. ind. act. πείθω (# 4275) to persuade, to reassure, to set at rest, to appease (Marshall; Stott). καρδία (# 2840) heart. The word is used here in the sense of conscience (Marshall). ◆ 20 καταγινώσκῃ pres. subj. act. καταγινώσκω (# 2861) to know something against someone, to condemn. Subj. w. ὅτι ἐάν (# 4022; 1569) viewed as a generalizing rel., in a 3rd. class cond. cl. w. the cond. viewed as possible (Smalley). μείζων (# 3505) comp. μέγας great; comp., greater. W. the gen., "greater than." Our conscience is by no means infallible; its condemnation may often be unjust. We can, therefore, appeal from our conscience to God who is greater and more knowledgeable. Indeed He knows all things, including our secret motives and deepest resolves, and, it is implied, He will be more merciful toward us than our own heart (Stott). γινώσκει pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Pres. indicates God's knowledge is continual. ◆ 21 καταγινώσκῃ pres. subj. act. καταγινώσκω (# 2861) to condemn. παρρησία (# 4244) openness, confidence, assurance (s. 2:28). ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ◆ 22 αἰτῶμεν pres. subj. act. αἰτέω (# 160) to ask, to request. Subj. in an indef. rel. cl. λαμβάνομεν pres. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. τηροῦμεν pres. ind. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to guard, to keep, to obey. ἀρεστός (# 744) pleasing, vb. adj. Here, "the things pleasing." ποιοῦμεν pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ◆ 23 πιστεύσωμεν aor. subj. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used in an epex. cl. explaining what His commandment is. ἀγαπῶμεν pres. subj. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Parallel to the previous vb. ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ◆ 24 τηρῶν pres. act. part. τηρέω (# 5498) to observe, to hold, to obey. μένει pres. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. γινώσκομεν pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. οὗ gen. sing. ὅς (# 4005) who, which; rel. pron. gen. because it is attracted to the case of πνεύματος (# 4460). ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give.

◆ 1 πιστεύετε pres. imp. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Pres. imp. w. μή (# 3590) could call for the stopping of an action in progress. ἀλλά (# 247) but, rather. δοκιμάζετε pres. imp. act. δοκιμάζω (# 1507) to prove by trial, to test (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). τὰ πνεύματα (# 4460) the spirits. Pl. may indicate the spirit of error and spirit of truth, or the Holy Spirit and the evil spirit (Smalley, Brown; s. 1 Cor. 12:10). For a treatment of the word πνεῦμα in 1 John s. Schnackenburg, 209-15. ψευδοπροφῆτης (# 6021) false prophet. ἐξελήλυθασιν perf. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out from. Perf. expresses the continued agency, not the single fact, of their departure (Westcott). ◆ 2 γινώσκετε pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. The vb. is to be taken as ind. rather than imp. (Marshall). ὁμολογεῖ pres. ind. act. ὁμολογέω (# 3933) to agree, to confess. ἐληλυθότα perf. act. part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Predicated acc. of the part. used after the vb. ὁμολογεῖ (RWP; for this construction s. Stott; Marshall). Perf. indicates that the coming of Christ in the flesh was well-known; the effects of the Incarnation were lasting (Schnackenburg; Brooke; McKay). ◆ 3 ὁμολογεῖ pres. ind. act. ὁμολογέω (# 3933) to confess. ἀκηκόατε perf. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἔρχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. Pres. here also has a fut. implication. ◆ 4 νενικήκατε perf. ind. act. νικάω (# 3771) to conquer, to be victorious. μείζων (# 3505) s.v. 20. κόσμος (# 3180) world. In v. 3 the word means more the area inhabited by man, in v. 4 it refers to sinful mankind, and in v. 5 the stress is more on the sinful principle found in such people (Marshall; TDNT). ◆ 5 διὰ τοῦτο (# 1328; 4047) because of this. λαλοῦσιν pres. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. ἀκούει pres. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Followed by the gen., "to listen to," "to hear." The world recognizes its own people and listens to a message originating in its own circle. This explains their popularity (Stott). ◆ 6 ἐσμεν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. γινώσκων pres. act. part. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. πλάνη (# 4415) error. Descriptive gen. or obj. gen. The word here can have the meaning, "cause of error." For this and other parallels to the spirits of truth and perversity s. Marshall; Schnackenburg, 211f; TDNT; NIDNTT. ◆ 7 ἀγαπῶμεν pres. subj. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Hortatory subj., "let us love." ἀγαπῶν pres. act. part. ἀγαπάω. γεγέννηται perf. ind. pass. γεννάω (# 1164) to bear; pass., to be born. Perf. emphasizes the continuing results of the new birth. γινώσκει pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Pres. indicates continual knowledge. ◆ 8 ἀγαπῶν pres. act. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. God has the quality of love (GGBB, 45, 245, 264). For the term "love" and its relation to the person and nature of God s. 2:5; Schnackenburg, 231-39; Marshall. ◆ 9 ἐφανερώθη aor. ind. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to make clear, to make evident, to reveal. The word conveys the thought of the manifestation of what was previously hidden (Marshall). μονογενής (# 3666) only one of its kind, single one, only, unique (Marshall; Smalley; Brown; s. John 3:16). ἀπέσταλκεν perf. ind. act. ἀποστέλλω (# 690) to send, to send an official authoritative representative to do a specific task (TNDT). Perf. indicates that God the Father sent Him and we now enjoy the blessings of the mission (Westcott). ζήσωμεν aor. subj. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used in a purp. cl. ◆ 10 ἀγάπη (# 27) love; here, the quality of true love. True love is selfless (Brooke). For a discussion of the meaning of love s. DLNT, 694-700. ἠγαπήκαμεν perf.

ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. The use of the perf. perhaps stresses that it is not our continuing love for God which should be central, but the love revealed historically to us in Jesus (Marshall). ἠγάπησεν aor. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. The change from the perf. to the aor. stresses the historic manifestation of the love rather than the continuing effect of God's act (Marshall). ἀπέστειλεν aor. ind. act. ἀποστέλλω (# 690) to send. ἱλασμός (# 2662) satisfaction, propitiation (s. 2:2). ◆ 11 ἠγάπησεν aor. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. ὀφείλομεν pres. ind. act. ὀφείλω (# 4053) to be morally obligated, to owe a debt that must be paid, to have to do something; "we must, ought." ἀγαπᾶν pres. act. inf. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ◆ 12 πώποτε (# 4799) at any time, ever. τεθέαται perf. ind. mid. (dep.) θεάομαι (# 2517) to see, to behold (s. 1:1). Here the thought is of the continuous beholding that answers to abiding fellowship (Westcott). ἀγαπῶμεν pres. subj. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) is used in a 3rd.-class cond. cl. which views the cond. as possible. μένει pres. ind. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. τετελειωμένη perf. pass. part. τελειόω (# 5457) to bring to completion, to bring to the goal, to perfect (s. 2:5). ◆ 13 γινώσκομεν pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. ἐκ τοῦ πνεύματος αὐτοῦ from His Spirit. The possession of the Spirit indicates that the believer is in Him. δέδωκεν perf. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Perf. emphasizes the completed action w. the continuing results. ◆ 14 τεθεάμεθα perf. ind. mid. (dep.) θεάομαι (# 2517) to see (s.v. 12). μαρτυροῦμεν pres. ind. act. μαρτυρέω (# 3455) to witness. ἀπέσταλκεν perf. ind. act. ἀποστέλλω (# 690) to send (s.v. 9). σωτῆρ (# 5400) savior; here, double acc., "He sent the Son as Savior of the world." κόσμος (# 3180) world. Obj. gen. here. ◆ 15 ὁμολογήσῃ aor. subj. act. ὁμολογέω (# 3933) to confess. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) to express cond. Aor. points to a specific action. ◆ 16 ἐγνώκαμεν perf. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Perf. indicates we have come to know and still know (Marshall). πεπιστεύκαμεν perf. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Perf. indicates that the recognition of the love of God is considered to be a lasting and settled conviction (Schnackenburg). ἔχει pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. μένων pres. act. part. μένω (# 3531) to remain. μένει pres. ind. act. ◆ 17 τετελείωται perf. ind. pass. τελειόω (# 5457) to bring to completion (s.v. 12). παρρησία (# 4244) openness, confidence, assurance (s. 2:28). ἔχωμεν pres. subj. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Subj. used either as in a purp. cl. or in apposition to ἐν τούτῳ or w. the ὅτι cl., the latter of which would make this cl. a parenthesis (RWP; Westcott). κρίσεως (# 3213) judging, judgment. ἐσμεν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 18 φόβος (# 5832) fear. τελεία fem. nom. τέλειος (# 5455) perfect. ἔξω (# 2032) outside, out. βάλλει pres. ind. act. βάλλω (# 965) to cast out, to drive out, to turn out of doors (RWP). κόλασις (# 3136) punishment. The word indicates the disciplinary chastisement of the wrongdoer (Westcott). φοβούμενος pres. mid. part. φοβέομαι (# 5828) to be afraid, to have fear. τετελείωται perf. ind. pass. τελέω (# 5457) to perfect. ◆ 19 ἀγαπῶμεν pres. subj. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Cohortatory subj., "let us love." πρῶτος (# 4755) first. ἠγάπησεν aor. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Aor. may point to a specific act of love. ◆ 20 εἴπῃ aor. subj. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) is used in a 3rd. class cond. cl. viewing the cond. as a possibility. ἀγαπῶ pres. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. μισῇ pres. subj. act. μισέω (# 3631) to hate. ψεύστης (# 6026) liar. ἀγαπῶν pres. act. part. ἀγαπάω. ἑώρακεν perf. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. δύναται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to. ἀγαπᾶν pres. act. inf. ἀγαπάω. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ◆ 21 ἐντολή (# 1953) command. ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀγαπῶν pres. act. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. ἀγαπᾷ pres. subj. act. ἀγαπάω. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) gives the content of the command. This concept was common in the Greek world (BBC).

◆ 1 πιστεύων pres. act. part. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. ὅτι (# 4022) that. The particle introduces the content of what is believed. γεγέννηται perf. ind. pass. γεννάω (# 1164) to bear; pass., to be born (s.1 John 2:29; RAC, 9:43-171). ἀγαπῶν pres. act. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. γεννήσαντα aor. act. part. γεννάω. ἀγαπᾷ pres. subj. act. ἀγαπάω. γεγεννημένον perf. pass. part. γεννάω. This new birth, which brings us into believing recognition of the eternal Son, also involves us in a loving relationship w. the Father and His other children. The part. here refers to every child of God (Stott). Perf. indicates the continuing state. ◆ 2 γινώσκομεν pres. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. ὅταν (# 4020) w. subj., whenever. ἀγαπῶμεν pres. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (following ὅτι). ἀγαπῶμεν pres. subj. act. ἀγαπάω. ποιῶμεν pres. subj. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Subjs. are used in an indef. temp. cl. (RWP; Schnackenburg). ◆ 3 ἡ ἀγάπη τοῦ θεοῦ love of God. Obj. gen., love which has God as the object. The main idea here may be that our love for God must find expression in keeping the commandment to love one another (Brown). τηρῶμεν pres. subj. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep, to observe, to obey. For a discussion of the commandments s. DLNT, 238-41. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used in an explanatory cl. defining our love for God. βαρεῖαι nom. pl. βαρύς (# 987) heavy, burdensome. The word suggests the idea of a heavy and oppressive burden (Brooke). ◆ 4 γεγεννημένον perf. pass. part. n. nom. sing. γεννάω (# 1164) to be born. πᾶν τὸ γεγεννημένον ἐκ τοῦ θεοῦ everyone who has been born of God. The n. phrase is possibly meant in a generalizing sense or the use may be influenced by the fact that the Gr. words for "child" are n. (Marshall). νικᾷ pres. ind. act. νικάω (# 3771) to conquer, to gain a victory, to overcome. νικήσασα aor. act. part. νικάω. Aor. could point to a definite act or fact (Brooke). πίστις (# 4411) faith. ἡ πίστις ἡμῶν our faith. Our faith enables us to overcome the world. It acts as a weapon of war, and its force consists in the fact that its content is the true nature of Jesus (Houlden). ◆ 5 νικῶν pres. act. part. νικάω (# 3771) to conquer. εἰ μή (# 1623; 3590) except, if not. πιστεύων pres. act. part. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. ◆ 6 ἐλθών aor. act. part. (subst.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. αἵμα (# 135) blood. Perhaps the best explanation of the meaning of the term here is that it refers to the bloody death upon the cross (Plummer; Westcott; Marshall; Brooke; for various explanations of vv. 6-8 s. Brown; Smalley; Ben Witherington III, "The Waters of Birth: John 3:5 and 1 John 5:6-6," NTS 35 [1989]: 155-60; HSB, 739-40). μαρτυροῦν pres. act. part. μαρτυρέω (# 3455) to be a witness, to testify. ◆ 7 τρεῖς (# 552) three. μαρτυροῦντες pres. act. part. (# 3455) μαρτυρέω to witness. On sale documents often several witnesses signed (BBC). For a discussion of the textual problem in vs. 7 and 8 s. TC, 716-18. ◆ 9 λαμβάνομεν pres. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. μείζων (# 3505) comp. μέγας greater (s. 3:20). In John 5:36 the word indicates the greater credence; in this v. it indicates the stronger, obligating power of the divine witness (Schnackenburg). μεμαρτύρηκεν perf. ind. act. μαρτυρέω (# 3456) to be a witness, to bear witness, to testify. ◆ 10 πιστεύων pres. act. part. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. The vb. constructed w. dat. usually expresses acceptance of the statement rather than surrender to the person (Brooke). πεποίηκεν perf. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. πεπίστευκεν perf. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Perf. indicates the abiding affects. μεμαρτύρηκεν perf. ind. act. μαρτυρέω (# 3456) to witness. Perf. stresses the continuing results. ◆ 11 ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ◆ 12 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. Pres. of the vb. indicates continual possession (M, 110). The word is used to describe our personal possession of the Father through confessing the Son (Stott). ἔχει pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ◆ 13 ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. The word could be epistolary aor., referring to the whole epistle, or it could refer to the immediately preceding section, either vv. 1-12 or vv. 5-12 (Marshall). εἰδῆτε perf. subj. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl. ὅτι (# 4022) that, giving the content of the knowledge. πιστεύουσιν pres. ind. act. πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. ◆ 14 παρρησία (# 4244) openness, confidence (s. 1 John 2:28). ἔχομεν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἐάν τι (# 1569; 5516) whatever, if anything. The particle introduces a 3rd. class cond. cl. (RWP). αἰτώμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) αἰτέομαι (# 160) mid., to ask for oneself, to request. ἀκούει pres. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ◆ 15 ἐάν (# 1569) if. Particle used w. the ind. in a 1st. class cond. cl. has almost a causal sense (BD, 189; MT 115f; RWP). αἰτώμεθα pres. ind. mid. (dep.) αἰτέομαι (# 160) to ask. Mid. suggests asking for oneself. Subj. in an indef. rel. cl. αἴτημα (# 161) that which is asked, request. ᾐτήκαμεν perf. ind. act. αἰτέομαι (# 160) to ask, to request. Perf. indicates the results of asking. ◆ 16 ἴδῃ aor. subj. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) is used in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which views the condition as a possibility. ἁμαρτάνοντα pres. act. part. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. For a discussion of the sin unto death s. Stott; Westcott; Marshall; Smalley; Brown; HSB, 742-44; DNLT, 1095-97. αἰτήσει fut. ind. act. αἰτέω (# 160) to ask. δώσει fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ἁμαρτάνουσιν pres. act. part. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. ἐρωτήσῃ aor. subj. act. ἐρωτάω (# 2263) to ask about, to request information about (Westcott). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) as obj. of the vb. λέγω. ◆ 17 ἀδικία (# 94) unrighteousness. ◆ 18 οἴδαμεν perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. γεγεννημένος perf. pass. part. γεννάω (# 1164) to give birth. ἁμαρτάνει pres. ind. act. ἁμαρτάνω (# 279) to sin. γεννηθείς aor. pass. part. γεννάω (# 1164) to be born. τηρεῖ pres. ind. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep. πονηρός (# 4505) evil, mean. The word refers to active evil (TDNT; Trench, Synonyms, 315f). ἅπτεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἅπτομαι (# 721) to touch, w. gen. The vb. means to lay hold of someone in order to harm him (Marshall). ◆ 19 οἴδαμεν perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ὅλος (# 3910) whole, total. κεῖται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) κεῖμαι (# 3023) to lie (RWP). ◆ 20 οἴδαμεν perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ἥκει pres. ind. act. ἥκω (# 2457) to have come. Perf. pres., "the Son of God has come." δέδωκεν perf. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. διάνοια (# 1379) knowing, understanding. The faculty of knowing or discerning the ability to reason correctly used in Gr. philosophy of syllogistic reasoning (Brooke; Westcott; GPT, 37). γινώσκωμεν pres. subj. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a purp. cl. ἀληθινός (# 240) true, genuine. οὗτος (# 4047) this one. The pron. clearly refers to Jesus (Marshall; s. also GGBB, 326-27). ◆ 21 φυλάξατε aor. imp. act. φυλάσσω (# 5875) to guard, to keep. The use of the act. w. the reflex. pron. may be regarded as emphasizing the duty of personal effort (Westcott). εἰδώλων (# 1631) image, idol, false god. The presence of idols in the ancient world is witnessed to not only by the geographical description of Strabo and Pausanias, but also in literature, art, theater, music, and the various archaeological discoveries (s. Acts 17:16; DPL, 424-26).

2 John

◆ 1 πρεσβύτερος (# 4565) old, elder. John may indicate by the term that he was a vernerated old man in the community, or better that he was an elder, or leader in the church (Smalley; Brown; TDNT; EDNT; NIDNTT; DLNT, 219-26). The art. indicates that he was well known. ἐκλεκτός (# 1723) chosen, selected (s. 1 Peter 1:1). The phrase "to the elect lady" could refer to a specific person or it could be a personification indicating some local church (Stott; Westcott; Marshall; Brown; Smalley; HSB, 745-46). τέκνοις dat. pl. τέκνον (# 5451) child. τοῖς τέκνοις αὐτῆς to her children. This would refer to the members of the church (Marshall). ἀγαπῶ pres. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Pres. expresses a continuing love. ἐγνωκότες perf. act. part. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Perf. emphasizes the continuing results of having known. For a rhetorical analysis s. Duane F. Watson, "A Rhetorical Analysis of 2 John according to Greco-Roman Convention," NTS 35 (1989): 104-30. ◆ 2 ἀλήθεια (# 237) truth. Here the word refers to the divine reality and signifies what is ultimately real; namely, God himself. Hence, it can refer to the expression of God in His incarnate Son and in the Christian message (Schnackenburg; Marshall). μένουσαν pres. act. part. (adj.) μένω (# 3531) to remain. Pres. indicates the permanant character of the truth. ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα (# 1650; 172) forever. ◆ 3 χάρις (# 5921) grace (EDNT; TLNT; TDNT). ἔλεος (# 1799) mercy (s. 1 Tim. 1:2). ◆ 4 ἐχάρην aor. ind. pass. χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice, to be glad. Aor. is not epistolary, but refers back to the time when the elder met the members of the church (Marshall). λίαν (# 3336) greatly, very much, very. ὅτι (# 4022) that. The word gives not only the content of the rejoicing but also the reason for rejoicing (Bultmann). εὕρηκα perf. ind. act. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. Perf. strongly suggests personal experience (Marshall). τεκνον (# 5451) child. περιπατοῦντας pres. act. part. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to conduct one's life. καθώς (# 2777) just as. The sentence introduced by this word explains how the walk of these church members can be called a walk in the truth (Schnackenburg). ἐντολή (# 1953) commandment (DLNT, 238-41). ἐλάβομεν aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. ◆ 5 ἐρωτῶ pres. ind. act. ἐρωτάω (# 2263) to ask, to request. γράφων pres. act. part. (circum.) γράφω (# 1211) to write. For letters and their form s. DLNT, 649-54. εἴχομεν impf. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀγαπῶμεν pres. subj. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a cl. describing the content of the request. ἀλλήλων (# 253) reciprocal pron., one another. ◆ 6 ἀγάπη (# 27) love (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). Love means living according to the Father's commands (Marshall). περιπατῶμεν pres. subj. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to conduct one's life. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in a cl. explaining what the commandment is. ἠκούσατε aor. act. ind. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. περιπατῆτε pres. subj. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express the content of the command. ◆ 7 πλάνος (# 4418) deceiver, one who leads not only to wrong opinion but also to wrong action (Westcott). ἐξῆλθον aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. ὁμολογοῦντες pres. act. part. (subst.) ὁμολογέω (# 3033) to agree to, to profess. The vb. is used w. the double acc. and has to do w. the messianic character of Jesus; John uses the word in order to correct faulty or inadequate messianic ideas current in his time (ECC, 105). ἐρχόμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. Here indir. discourse is suggested by the part. (GGBB, 646). ὁ πλάνος καὶ ὁ ἀντίχριστος "the deceiver and the Antichrist." Pred. nom. w. art. indicates that the nouns are the same as the subject, οὗτος (# 4047) this one; a generic force here, "such a person is..." (GGBB, 332). John identifies the heretical members w. the deceiver and the antichrist (Smalley; Brown). ◆ 8 βλέπετε pres. imp. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see, to beware, to watch out. ἀπολέσητε aor. subj. act. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to lose, to suffer loss. Subj. w. μή (# 3590) in a neg. purp. cl. For a discussion of the textual problem s. TC. εἰργασάμεθα aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work. μισθός (# 3635) pay. The metaphor seems to be taken from the payment of labor, since this word refers to a workman's wage (Stott). πλήρης (# 4441) full, complete. ἀπολάβητε aor. subj. act. ἀπολαμβάνω (# 655) to take away, to receive. The word was used in the papyri of receiving what is due (MM). ◆ 9 προάγων pres. act. part. προάγω (# 4575) to go before, to run ahead. Perhaps this is a sarcastic reference to the way in which the false teachers themselves proudly claim to be offering advanced teaching; the elder claims that they have advanced beyond the boundaries of true Christian belief (Marshall). μένων pres. act. part. μένω (# 3531) to remain. ἐν τῇ διδαχῇ τοῦ

Χριστοῦ in the teaching of Christ. Gen. subj. ("the teaching from Christ") or better, obj. gen. ("the teaching about Christ"). ἔχει pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. indicates a present possession. ◆ 10 ἔρχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. φέρει pres. ind. act. φέρω to carry. λαμβάνετε pres. imp. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive, to show hospitality to. Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) could call for the stopping of an action in progress, or call for a continual or habitual action (GGBB, 725). It was common in the ancient world to receive traveling teachers in the home and offer them shelter and lodging (BBC; DLNT, 501-7). χαίρειν pres. act. inf. χαίρω (# 5897) to give greeting. The giving of greetings indicates entering into fellowship w. the one greeted, and to welcome a false teacher was to express solidarity w. them (Schackenburg; Marshall). Inf. is used in indir. discourse as the obj. of the vb. λέγετε pres. imp. act. λέγω (# 3306) to speak, to say. Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) could call for the stopping of an action in progress, or call for a continual or habitual action. Used here in connection w. the inf., meaning "to give greeting." John's instruction may relate not only to an official visit of false teachers, but to extending them an official welcome rather than merely private hospitality (Stott). ◆ 11 λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say; here, "the one saying," "the one who says." χαίρειν pres. act. inf. χαίρω (# 5897) to rejoice. κοινωνεῖ pres. ind. act. κοινωνέω (# 3125) to have fellowship, to share in. Housing an apostate was seen as collaborating with him (BBC). ◆ 12 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Concessive part., "although I have." γράφειν pres. act. inf. γράφω (# 1211) to write. ἐβουλήθην aor. ind. pass. (dep.) βούλομαι (# 1086) to will, to want to. χάρτου gen. sing. χάρτης (# 5925) paper. A leaf of papyrus was prepared for writing by cutting the pith into stripes and pasting together (RWP). μέλας (# 3506) black, black ink (s. 3 John 13). ἐλπίζω (# 1827) pres. ind. act. to hope. γενέσθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. γίνομαι (# 1182) to become. Inf. to present the content of the hope. λαλῆσαι aor. act. inf. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Compl. inf. to the main vb. πεπληρωμένη perf. pass. part. πληρόω (# 4444) to make full, to fulfill, to complete. ᾖ pres. subj. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subj. w. perf. part. to form the perf. subj. pass. ◆ 13 ἀσπάζεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet.

3 John

◆ 1 πρεσβύτερος (# 4565) old, older one, elder comp. of πρέσβυς (s. 2 John 1). The use of the article indicates he is well known or familiar (GGBB, 225). ἀγαπητός (# 28) one who is loved, beloved. The name "Gaius" was very prominent in the Roman Empire and occurs several times in the NT (Acts 19:29; 1 Cor. 1:14) (Plummer; Brooke; Brown). It is not known who this Gaius was, but it is clear from the terms in which John writes that he occupied a position of responsibility and leadership in the local church (Stott; Smalley; Klauck; ABD, 2:869). ἐν ἀληθείᾳ (# 1877; 237) in truth. Dat. w. prep. ἐν could be used as an adv. ("truly"), or here it may be theological, since belief in Christ as the truth makes one a child of God and constitutes the basis of love (Brown). ◆ 2 ἀγαπητέ voc. sing. ἀγαπητός (# 28) beloved. περὶ πάντων (# 4309; 4246) in all respects (Marshall). The phrase is to be taken w. the inf. εὐοδοῦσθαι. The writer prays for the prosperity of Gaius in all respects. The thought may be of the public and social work of Gaius as well as his personal health (Brooke; Westcott). εὔχομαι (# 2377) pres. ind. mid. (dep.) to pray, to wish (Marshall; Strecker; DLNT, 941-48). σε acc. sing. σύ (# 5148) you, used as the subject of the inf. εὐοδοῦσθαι pres. pass. inf. εὐοδόω (# 2338) pass., to be led along a good road, to get along well, to prosper, to succeed (BAGD; MM). Inf. in indir. discourse as obj. of the vb. εὔχομαι. ὑγιαίνειν pres. act. inf. ὑγιαίνω (# 5617) to be well, to be in good health. It was a common greeting and desire expressed in letters for the recipient to be in good health (LAE, 187f; Schnackenburg; Strecker; MM; NIDNTT; TDNT; for the general concept of health and well-being in the ancient world s. RAC, 10:902-45). καθώς (# 2777) just as. The wish is that Gaius' outward prosperity may correspond to the condition of his soul (Schnackenburg). ◆ 3 ἐχάρην aor. ind. pass. (dep.) χαίρω (# 5897) to be happy, to rejoice, to be glad. The vb. occurs in letters of that day (Klauck). ἐρχομένων pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Gen. abs. temp. part., "when the brothers came." Pres. indicates repetition and shows that several visits had been paid to the elder, possibly by different groups of Christians (Marshall; Brown). μαρτυρούντων pres. act. part. μαρτυρέω (# 3455) to bear witness to, to testify about, w. dat. (DLNT, 1204-5) ἀληθεία (# 237) truth (s. 2 John 2). They confirmed the fact that Gaius was faithful to the truth of the Christain gospel (Smalley). The identity of the brothers is not clear. They may have returned to the elder w. a report, or they may have been a group from another area (Brown). καθώς (# 2777) as, just as, how, that. The word may introduce the content of the report ("how," "as"), or it may be a statement of the elder's assurance ("indeed") (Smalley; Marshall; Brown). περιπατεῖς pres. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about, to conduct one's life. Pres. indicates continual or habitual action. ◆ 4 μειζοτέραν (# 3504) greater comp. ending on the comp. μείζων fr. μέγας large, great. Used w. gen. to mean "greater than." The Koine Greek has a number of the popular new formations of double comp. and double superl. (BD, 33f; M, 236; Brown). τούτων gen. pl. οὗτος (# 4047) this; Pl., "these things," is a gen. of comparison. The τοῦτων refers to the content of the ἵνα (# 2671) cl. and would normally be sing. (GGBB, 331-33). περιπατοῦντα pres. act. part. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about. Pres. indicates the continual habitual conducting of one's life. Compl. part. completing the vb. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ◆ 5 ἀγαπητέ (# 28) beloved (s.v. 2). ποιεῖς pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to practice; w. πιστόν (# 4412) faithful; "to act faithfully." Pres. may be a futuristic pres., "you will demonstrate fidelity," implying that Gaius is being encouraged to offer hospitality to a group that includes missionaries employed by the Elder (Brown). ἐργάσῃ aor. subj. mid. (dep.) 2nd. pers. sing. ἐργάζομαι (# 2237) to work. The use of the indef. rel. pron. ὅ (# 4005) w. the subj. implies an unspecified number of ways or occasions of helping the brothers (Marshall). ξένος (# 3828) stranger, guest (TLNT). The fact that brethren who were strangers were helped is emphasized by the use of the acc. of general reference: "and that too," "especially" (RWP; Westcott; Plummer; Smalley; DLNT, 501-507; J. Koenig, New Testament Hospitality: Partnership with Strangers as Promise and Mission [Philadelphia: Fortress, 1985]). ◆ 6 ἐμαρτύρησαν aor. ind. act. μαρτυρέω (# 3455) to witness. The dat. that follows is used to express the obj. of the witness, the thing to which one testifies. Aor. may indicate a single instance of testimony or it may be complexive, covering a series of testimonies (Brown). ἐνώπιον (# 1967) w. gen., in the presence of. The absence of the art. w. the word ἐκκλησίας denotes a meeting of the church at which the witness was borne (Brooke), or it may simply indicate the church in general (Smalley). καλῶς (# 2822) adv., well. ποιήσεις fut. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. The expression καλῶς ποιήσεις is an idiom that means "please," "kindly," and was used often in the papyri to express a polite request (MM; Marshall; Brown; Strecker). προπέμψας aor. act. part. προπέμπω (# 4636) to send forth, to send someone on their way. The sending of missionaries on their way involved providing for their journey–supplying them w. food and money to pay for their expenses, washing their clothes and generally helping them to travel as comfortably as possible (Marshall; Brown; Strecker; BAGD). For a study regarding the support of wandering ministers and missionaries in the early church s. Gerd Theissen, "Legitimation und Lebensunterhalt: Ein Beitrag zur Soziologie Urchristlicher Missionare," NTS 21 (1975): 192-221; DLNT, 392-93, 769-70. Part. used epex. explaining the "doing well." ἀξίως (# 547) adv. w. gen., worthily; here, "worthily of God"; i.e., worthily of their dedication to the service of God (Westcott). ◆ 7 ὑπέρ (# 5642) for, on behalf of, concerning. These went out in the service or name (ὄναμα) of Christ (SB, 3:779; Klauck; Brown) to make Him known (Smalley). ἐξῆλθον aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out; to go out from the church (or from God) into the world, regarded as a field for evangelism (Marshall). λαμβάνοντες pres. act. part. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, to receive. Pres. indicates habitual and customary action. It was their custom to carry out the spirit of the commission of the Twelve (Matt. 10:5ff) and of the tradition established by Paul. They had, therefore, a special claim on hospitality and help of the churches in places through which they had to pass (Brooke; Westcott). ἐθνικός (# 1618) pagan, heathen, unbeliever (Smalley). That these missionaries were supported by fellow Christians stands in marked contrast both to the wandering philosophers of the day and to the beggar priests of the Syrian goddess, who went out on behalf of the goddess and returned triumphantly boasting that "each journey brought in seventy bags" (LAE, 109; Bultmann; Schnackenburg; Klauck; BBC). ◆ 8 ἡμεῖς nom. pl. ἐγώ (# 1609) I; "we." Emphatic pers. pron. Pl. includes the writer, readers and believers in general. οὖν (# 4036) therefore, drawing a conclusion from the previous. ὀφείλομεν pres. ind. act. ὀφείλω (# 4053) to be morally obligated, to owe a debt; w. inf., giving the moral obligation. Pres. indicates a continual obligation. ὑπολαμβάνειν pres. act. inf. ὑπολαμβάνω (# 5696) to take up under in order to raise up, to bear on high, to take up and carry away, to receive hospitality, to welcome, to support. The word is often used in the sense of receiving w. hospitality, and esp. of supporting (T; Brooke). The related noun ὑπόλημψις was used in the papyri for that which was given to a worker for taking over a job (Preisigke, 2:665). Christians should finance Christian enterprises which the world will not, or should not be asked to, support. Indeed, Christians have a moral obligation to do so. They must support their brethren to whom the world should not be asked to contribute. τοιοῦτος (# 5525) such a one; here, "of such a kind" (Brown). συνεργός (# 5301) fellow worker. As sharers in the truth themselves, they must prove to be fellow workers in practice, working together w. the missionaries for the benefit of the truth (Marshall). γινώμεθα pres. subj. mid. (dep) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. An inclusive "we" to include both the author and the readers. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἀληθεία (# 237) truth. Dat. here w. the noun συνεργοί could mean either "fellow-workers w. the truth" or "on behalf of, for the truth," or "in cooperation w." (Schnackenburg; Brown). ◆ 9 ἔγραψα aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Aor. is not the epistolary aor., but refers to a previous letter (Smalley; Brown). John had probably written to the church where Diotrephes was and requested support for the itinerant missionaries; Diotrephes rejects him and his request (Smalley; Brown; BBC). For a discussion of the disagreement over polity and over doctrine between John and Diotrephes s. Smalley. φιλοπρωτεύων pres. act. part. φιλοπρωτεύω (# 5812) to be fond of the first position, to wish to be first, to like to be the leader, w. gen. The word expresses ambition, the desire to have the first place in everything (BAGD; Brooke). Adj. part., "the-liking-to-be-first Diotrephes" (Brown). Pres. indicates the continual and habitual attitude. αὐτῶν gen. pl. αὐτός (# 899) self. Gen. w. the part., "to be first over them." Pl. is according to sense and refers to the church (Smalley; Brown). Διοτρέφης (# 1485) Diotrephes. The name was not overly common, but was a name for kings and those of noble birth and means "Zeus-nurtured," "Come from Zeus" (Brown; Klauck; for views as to who he was s. Klauck, 106-10; Strecker, 365-68). ἐπιδέχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπιδέχομαι (# 2110) to accept, to receive gladly (Klauck; GELTS, 169; 1 Macc. 12:8). The word can mean either "to accept the authority of" or "to welcome." The pl. ἡμᾶς will refer to the elder and his associates (Marshall). Pres. indicates a continuing attitude. ◆ 10 ἔλθω aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. assuming the possibility of the cond. ὑπομνήσω fut. ind. act. ὑπομιμνήσκω (# 5703) to call to memory, to remind, to bring up (Brown). John will remind either the congregation or Diotrephes of the deeds, since the deeds reveal the character. ποιεῖ pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Pres. points to an action in progress. λόγοις πονηροῖς (# 3364; 4505) with evil words, instr. dat. φλυαρῶν pres. act. part. φλυαρέω (# 5826) to talk nonsense (about), to babble, to bring unjustified charges against. It was used in polemic debate to denounce the inaneness of an argument: "O

Cleon, stop spouting silliness" (Ω Κλέων, παῦσαι φλυαρῶν) (TLNT, 3:466). The word emphasizes the emptiness of the charges (BAGD; MM; Brooke; 1 Tim. 5:13). Temp. part., "when he spreads nonsense about us w. evil words." ἀρκούμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀρκέω (# 758) to be enough, to be satisfied, to be content. Part. could be causal, "because he is not satisfied w. that." αὐτός (# 899) he, himself. ἐπιδέχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπιδέχομαι (# 2110) to accept (s.v. 9). Pres. points to a continual or repeated action. βουλομένους pres. mid. (dep.) part. (subst.) βούλομαι (# 1086) to want to, to desire to. Pres. points to the continual desire. κωλύει pres. ind. act. κωλύω (# 3266) to forbid. Pres. may be iterative and point to a repeated action. ἐκβάλλει pres. ind. act. ἐκβάλλω (# 1675) to throw out, to put out. The vbs. in the pres. here may be conative, "he is trying to" (Westcott; but s. Marshall; Schnackenburg). ◆ 11 μιμοῦ pres. imp. mid. (dep.) μιμέομαι (# 3628) to mimic, to imitate. Pres. imp. calls for a continual action, "keep on or continue imitating." ἀγαθοποιῶν pres. act. part. ἀγαθοποιέω (# 16) to do good, to practice what is right (Smalley). Part. as subst. κακοποιῶν pres. act. part. κακοποιέω (# 2803) to do evil. Part. as subst. ἑώρακεν perf. act. ind. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Perf. stresses the state, condition, or continual outworking of having seen. ◆ 12 Δημήτριος (# 1320) Demetrius. The name means "belonging to Demeter," the Greek goddess of fruits and crops, and indicates this Demetrius was of pagan background (Smalley; Strecker). He may have been in the church with Diotrephes or a travelling missionary (Smalley; Brown: Klauck). Here, dat. of advantage w. the vb. μεμαρτύρηται perf. ind. pass. μαρτυρέω (# 3455). Perf. implies that the testimony to Demetrius had been given over a period of time and was still effective (Smalley). ◆ 13 εἶχον impf. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. γράψαι aor. act. inf. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Aor. expresses the writing of a single letter containing what the writer felt obliged to say. Pres. inf. indicates the continuation of the pres. letter (Marshall). Inf. as obj. of the main vb. εἶχον. μέλανος gen. sing. μέλας (# 3506) black, ink. The ink used was a writing fluid whose chief ingredient was soot or black carbon. It was mixed w. gum or oil for use on parchment, or w. a metallic substance for use on papyrus (ZPEB, 2:279). κάλαμος (# 2812) reed, reed pen used for writing (Marshall; Brooke). ◆ 14 εὐθέως (# 2311) immediately, soon. ἰδεῖν aor. act. inf. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Inf. as obj. of the vb. ἐλπίζω. στόμα (# 5125) mouth. Here used in the expession "face to face." Perhaps John feared that Diotrephes would intercept the letter and learn the strategy based on Demetrius, and this may be the reason why he did not want to write any more (Brown). λαλήσομεν fut. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to say, to speak. ◆ 15 ἀσπάζονται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀσπάζομαι (# 832) to greet. ἀσπάζου pres. imp. mid. (dep.) Pres. imp. may be iterative: "greet each one." For the form of 2 and 3 John in relation to ancient letter writing s. Robert W. Funk, "The Form and Structure of Second and Third John," JBL 86 (1967): 424-30; Joseph A. Fitzmyer, "Some Notes on Aramaic Epistolography," JBL 93 (1974): 201-25.

Jude

Jude

◆ 1 δοῦλος (# 1528) slave, sevant. ἀδελφὸς Ἰακώβου brother of James. This makes him the half brother of Jesus (DLNT, 611-21, 1004-6). ἠγαπημένοις perf. pass. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). Perf. suggests that they were not only once but continued to be the objects of God's love and care (Kelly). τετηρημένοις perf. pass. part. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep safe, to guard, to watch over. The vb. used in a friendly sense means, "to keep safe from harm," "to preserve." It expresses the watchful care given to someone (Mayor). Perf. emphasizes the continuing watchful care. κλητός (# 3105) vb. adj., called. ◆ 2 ἔλεος (# 1799) mercy, pity (s. 1 Tim. 1:2). εἰρήνη (# 1645) peace. πληθυνθείη aor. opt. pass. πληθύνω (# 4437) to multiply, to increase. Opt. is used to express a wish (s. 1 Pet. 1:2), "May ... be multiplied." ◆ 3 σπουδή (# 5082) haste, diligence, effort, earnestness. ποιούμενος pres. mid. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to make, to do. The vb. was used in connection w. a noun to build the verbal idea found in the noun (M, 159). γράφειν pres. act. inf. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Compl. inf. to the main vb. κοινός (# 3123) common, that which all believers share commonly. σωτηρία (# 5401) salvation. ἀνάγκη (# 340) compulsion, necessity. ἔσχον aor. act. ind. ἔχω (# 2400) to have; aor., to receive. For the distinction between the pres. and the aor. s. M, 110; Kelly. γράψαι aor. act. inf. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Aor. contrasted w. the preceding pres. inf. implies that the new epistle had to be written at once and could not be prepared for at leisure, like the one he had previously contemplated (Mayor). Epex. inf. to explain the necessity. παρακαλῶν pres. act. part. παρακαλέω (# 4151) to urge, to encourage, to beseech. It is the word used of speeches of leaders and soldiers who urge each other on. It is used of words that sent fearful and hesitant soldiers and sailors courageously into battle (MNTW, 134). ἐπαγωνίζεσθαι pres. mid. (dep.) inf. ἐπαγωνίζω (# 2043) to struggle for, to contend for, to exercise great effort and exertion for something. The word was used of athletic contests and the struggle and effort for the athletes in their games (Kelly; 1 Cor. 9:24-27). Prep. in compound denotes direction (MH, 312), and the word following in the dat. denotes the cause on behalf of which one fights (Kelly). Inf. is used as the obj. of the vb. παρακαλῶν. ἅπαξ (# 562) once for all (Mayor). παραδοθείσῃ aor. pass. part. (adj.) παραδίδωμι (# 4140) to deliver over, to hand down, to commit and entrust (TDNT; TLNT). The word is used for handing down authorized tradition in Israel (s. 1 Cor. 15:1-3). Jude is therefore saying that the Christian apostolic tradition is normative for the people of God (Green). πίστις (# 4411) faith. The word here indicates the body or truth. The dat. here is to be related to the vb. ἐπαγωνίζεσθαι (Kelly). ◆ 4 παρεισέδυσαν aor. ind. act. παρεισδύω (# 4208) to slip in alongside of secretly. (For this sinister and secretive word s. Green; Gal. 2:4; 2 Pet. 2:1.) πάλαι (# 4093) long ago. προγεγραμμένοι perf. pass. part. προγράφω (# 4592) to write down beforehand, to write down previously, i.e., "written before (in God's book of judgment)." The word is intended to show that they are already doomed to punishment as enemies of God (Mayor; Kelly; SB, 2:173). Perf. indicates the continuing authority of that which was written (MM). κρίμα (# 3210) that which was decided upon, judgment. ἀσεβῆς (# 815) ungodly, impious (s. 2 Pet. 2:5). μετατιθέντες pres. act. part. μετατίθημι (# 3572) to transpose, to change from one place to another, to transfer. Pres. could be conative, "they are trying to change." ἀσέλγεια (# 816) unbridled living. δεσπότης (# 1305) lord, master. ἀρνούμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἀρνέομαι (# 766) to say no to, to deny. ◆ 5 ὑπομνῆσαι aor. act. inf. ὑπομιμνήσκω (# 5703) to cause someone to remember, to remind. Compl. inf. to the main vb. βούλομαι (# 1089) pres. ind. mid. (dep.) to desire. εἰδότας perf. act. part. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. Part. could be concessive, "although you know," and justifying the reminder. They only need to be reminded of truths already known, so that it is unnecessary to write at length. λαός (# 3295) a people, nation. The word is used without the article–"a people"–indicating that not all the ones who left Egypt were believers (Green). σώσας aor. act. part. σῴζω (# 5392) to rescue, to deliver, to save. Temp. part., "after he saved." δεύτερος (# 1309) the second time. The phrase could mean "the next time" or be an adverbial acc., "afterwards." Here the word marks a strong contrast and sharpens the point of the warning (Bigg; Green; RWP; Kelly). πιστεύσαντας aor. act. part. (subst.) πιστεύω (# 4409) to believe. Aor. points to the completed action. ἀπώλεσεν aor. act. ind. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to ruin, to destroy. ◆ 6 τηρήσαντας aor. act. part. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep, to guard (s.v. 1). ἀρχή (# 794) dominion, office, authority. The word could indicate either the office of the angels or their domain, sphere of rule; or it could indicate the spiritual state in which they were created–they were made different from humanity but forfeited this original state when they left their own habitation (Kelly; Mayor; Green). ἀπολιπόντας aor. act. part. ἀπολείπω (# 657) to leave, to desert, to leave behind, to forsake. οἰκητήριον (# 3863) place of living, dwelling place. The ending of the word indicates the place of action (MH, 343; RG, 154). κρίσις (# 3213) judging. μεγάλης acc. pl. μέγας (# 3489) great. δεσμός (# 1301) band, bond, chain. Chains signified shame and humiliation (CIC, 48; BAFCS, 3:206-9). ἀϊδίοις dat. pl. ἀΐδιος (# 132) eternal, everlasting. ζόφος (# 2432) darkness, gloom (BAFCS, 3:199-202; CIC, 33-35; DLNT, 459-62, 657-59; Cicero, Against Verres, 2, 5:160). τετήρηκεν perf. ind. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to guard, to keep. Extensive perf. emphasizing the completed action or process from which a present state is the result (GGBB, 577). The word is used here in a neg. sense w. a punitive meaning, "to keep in custody" (s.v. 1; Mayor). Prisoners were generally kept in a prison until the final sentence was carried out (BAFCS, 3; CIC). ◆ 7 ὅμοιος (# 3927) like, similar. τρόπος (# 5573) manner. The phrase is a vb. acc. meaning "likewise," "in like manner." τούτοις masc. dat. pl. οὗτος (# 4047) this; "to these," "w. these." Since the word is masc. it cannot refer to the cities Sodom and Gomorrah (Kelly) and evidently refers to the angels of v. 6. It was a common understanding among many of the Jewish rabbis that the beings referred to in Gen. 6 were angelic beings (1 Enoch 6:24; Jubilees 5:1; DSS 1Qap Gen. 2:1; CD 2:17-19; BBC; SB, 3:780). For more discussion of this passage and its relatioinship to Gen. 6:1-4 s. DDD, 1499-510; particularly Claus Westermann, Genesis 1-11: A Continental Commentary (Minneapolis: Fortress, 1994), 363-83. ἐκπορνεύσασαι aor. act. part. ἐκπορνεύω (# 1745) to indulge in excessive immorality. Prep. in compound may be intensive (T) or it may suggest that this immorality was against the course of nature (Green; DLNT, 1088-90). ἀπελθοῦσαι aor. act. part. ἀπέρχομαι (# 599) to go after. ὀπίσω (# 3958) behind, after. The participial phrase would emphasize their bent and determination for unnatural sexual acts. Prep. in compound indicates the turning aside from the right way (Huther). πρόκειν-ται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) πρόκειμαι (# 4618) to lie before, to be exposed to public view. The word was used of a corpse lying in state (BAGD). δεῖγμα (# 1257) example, sample. The word was used in the papyri of samples of corn or wheat (MM). These are laid out before all as a sample or warning of judgment (Bigg). πῦρ (# 4786) fire. αἰώνιος (# 173) eternal, everlasting. Pres. of the vb. plus this adj. are intended to impress on readers that the appalling effects of the catastrophe are still visible for all to see and note w. dread (Kelly). δίκη (# 1472) punishment. Here it would indicate a judicial sentence passed by a judge (MM). ὑπέχουσαι pres. act. part. (adj.) ὑπέχω (# 5674) to undergo punishment (BAGD; MM). ◆ 8 ὁμοίως (# 3931) adv., likewise. This introduces the comparison between examples that they knew about and the spiritual spies about whom he is writing. μέντοι (# 3530) notwithstanding; in spite of the dreadful fate of the three groups just mentioned (Kelly). ἐνυπνιαζόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐνυπνιάζω (# 1965) to dream. The word may indicates that in the false teachers' delusion and blindness, they take the real for the unreal and the unreal for the real (Mayor; BBC), which would emphasize their false source of revelation. But the word may also stress the fact that they are asleep to God's judgment and entertained by the temp. allusive and imaginary character of the pleasures of their lusts. μιαίνουσιν pres. ind. act. μιαίνω (# 3620) to stain, to defile. The word often is used of moral defilement or pollution (Kelly). Pres. part. indicates a continual habitual action. κυριότης (# 3262) lordship, authority. The word indicates the majestic power that a lord uses in ruling (BAGD). ἀθετοῦσιν pres. ind. act. ἀθετέω (# 119) to set aside, to do away w., to nullify, to not recognize as valid, to despise (Mayor; s. Gal. 2:21). δόξα (# 1518) glory; here, "glorious ones." The word refers here to angelic beings. They are the angels, whom these persons blaspheme by supposing that they had created the world in opposition to the will of the true God (Mayor; Kelly). βλασφημοῦσιν pres. act. ind. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to revile, to defame, to blaspheme (TLNT; TDNT). ◆ 9 ἀρχάγγελος (# 791) archangel. The Jews considered Michael to be the highest among the angels and to be the representative of God (SB, 3:831; ABD, 1:253-55; DDD, 150-53). διάβολος (# 1333) devil (DDD, 463-73). διακρινόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. διακρίνομαι (# 1359) to take issue w., to dispute. διελέγετο impf. ind. mid. (dep.) διαλέγομαι (# 1363) to argue, to dispute. Impf. pictures the continuous action in the past time. ἐτόλμησεν aor. ind. act. τολμάω (# 5528) to dare. ἐπενεγκεῖν aor. act. inf. ἐπιφέρω (# 2214) to bring upon, to pronounce. βλασφημία (# 1060) railing, blasphemy. Michael did not dare pronounce a judgment of reproach upon Satan. εἶπεν aor. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἐπιτιμήσαι aor. opt. act. ἐπιτιμάω (# 2203) to rebuke. This was a word of command used by Jesus that brought the hostile powers under control (s. Matt. 17:18). Opt. is used in a wish. ◆ 10 ὅσος (# 4012) how much, how great, which things. οἴδασιν perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning. βλασφημοῦσιν pres. ind. act. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to blaspheme. Pres. indicates a continual or repeated action that has become a habit of life. For an example s. BBC. φυσικῶς (# 5880) naturally, by instinct. ἄλογα (# 263) without reason, without rationality. ζῷα (# 2442) living creature, animal (for all three words s. 2 Pet. 2:12). ἐπίστανται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐπίστημι (# 2179) to understand. φθείρονται pres. ind. pass. φθείρω (# 5780) to corrupt, to ruin, to destroy. The natural antithesis here would have been "these things they admire and delight in." For this Jude substitutes, by a stern irony, "these things are their ruin" (Mayor; s. 2 Peter 1:4). ◆ 11 οὐαί (# 4026) woe. The word is an imprecation of doom also found in 1 Cor. 9:16, frequently in the gospels, and repeatedly in 1 Enoch 94-100 (Kelly; DJG, 80-81). ἐπορεύθησαν aor. ind. pass. (dep.) πορεύομαι (# 4513) to go, to travel along. The word is used to indicates a manner of life. πλάνῃ (# 4415) error, wandering (s. 1 John 1:8). μισθός (# 3635) wage, reward, pay. Here gen. of price, "for pay or gain." Like Balaam they were greedy for money (Green). ἐξεχύθησαν aor. ind. pass. ἐκχέω (# 1772) to pour out. Pass. used to express either the outward sweeping movement of a great crowd, or the surrender to an overwhelming motive on the part of an individual (Mayor). ἀντιλογίᾳ (# 517) speaking against, hostility, rebellion. ἀπώλοντο aor. ind. mid. ἀπόλλυμι (# 660) to perish. Aor. is a dramatic way of saying that their fate is already settled (Kelly). So in these three pictures from the OT we see three leading characteristics of the errorists. Like Cain they were devoid of love. Like Balaam they were prepared in return for money to teach others that sin did not matter, leaders in sin. Like Korah they were careless of the ordinances of God and insubordinate to church leaders (Green; BBC). ◆ 12 οὗτος (# 4047) this, this one. The same phrase ("these are") reoccurs in vs. 16 and 19 to signal the beginning of an independent description of the false teachers. In v. 16 the statement is balanced by something said on the other side, introduced w. a conj. "but" (Green; Alford). σπιλάδες nom. pl. σπιλάς (# 5069) spot (s. 2 Peter 2:13). The better meaning here is "hidden rocks." The word was used to denote rocks in the sea close to shore and covered w. water and so were dangerous to vessels (Kelly; Mayor). συνευωχούμενοι pres. mid. part. συνεύχομαι (# 5310) to come together to have a feast, to eat a feast together (s. 2 Peter 2:13). The meaning here is that at these meals the false teachers are liable to undermine the faith and decent comportment of their fellow Christians, much as submerged reefs can wreck ships (Kelly). ἀφόβως (# 925) adv., without fear, fearless, without respect. ποιμαίνοντες pres. act. part. ποιμαίνω (# 4477) to shepherd, to care for as a shepherd. Here the sense is "to fatten, to indulge" (Mayor). νεφέλαι nom. pl. νεφέλη (# 3749) cloud. ἄνυδρος (# 536) waterless, without water. ἄνεμος (# 449) wind. παραφερόμεναι pres. pass. part. παραφέρω (# 4195) to carry by. The picture here is that of clouds being blown by and passing on without bringing the long hoped-for and refreshing rains. The suggestion is that the errorists are all show and no substance; they have nothing to give to those foolish enough to listen to them (Kelly). δένδρον (# 1285) tree; used here fig. of people. φθινοπωρινός (# 5781) belonging to late autumn. The word describes trees as they are at the close of autumn–dry, leafless, without fruit, w. bare branches and all growth sapped at the approach of winter (T; Kelly). ἄκαρπος (# 182) without fruit, fruitless; late autumn would be toward the end of the harvest, and the image here is of the harvest come and almost gone, yet these trees have no fruit on them. They are worthless and disappointing. δίς (# 1489) twice. ἀποθανόντα aor. act. part. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die, to be dead. The trees were twice dead, in the sense of being sterile and then of being actually lifeless (Kelly). ἐκριζωθέντα aor. pass. part. ἐκριζόω (# 1748) to uproot. Such trees were commonly torn up by the roots and disposed of by burning; the uprooting of trees is a favorite OT metaphor of judgment (Ps. 52:5; Prov. 2:22; Kelly; Green). ◆ 13 κῦμα (# 3246) wave. ἄγριος (# 67) untamed, wild. θαλάσσης gen. sing. θάλασσα (# 2498) sea. Descriptive gen. ἐπαφρίζοντα pres. act. part. ἐπαφρίζω (# 2072) to foam up, to cause to splash like foam. The word refer to the seaweed and other refuse borne on the crest of the waves and thrown up on the beach, to which is compared the overflowing of ungodliness (Mayor; s. Isa. 57:20). αἰσχύνη (# 158) shame. ἀστέρες nom. pl. ἀστήρ (# 843) star. πλανήτης (# 4417) wandering. The figure of the wandering star is used in the Book of Enoch (1 Enoch 43, 44, 48, etc.), and describes shooting stars that fall out of the sky to be engulfed in darkness (Mayor; Green). ζόφος τοῦ σκότους (# 2432; 5030) black darkness. The darkness of ancient prisons was well-known (BAFCS, 3; CIC; s.v. 6). τετήρηται perf. ind. pass. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep. ◆ 14 προεφήτευσεν aor. act. ind. προφητεύω (# 4736) to deliver the message of a prophet, to speak forth, to prophesy. ἕβδομος (# 1575) the seventh. In Gen. 5:21 Enoch is listed as the seventh after Adam and is designated as the seventh from Adam in Enoch 60:8; 93:3; Jub 7:39 (Mayor; Green; HSB, 754-56). λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Used here to introduce dir. discourse ἰδού aor. imp. mid. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Imp. used here to call attention. ἦλθεν aor. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to go. For a discussion s. DLNT, 867. μυριάς (# 3689) myriad, ten thousand. This refers to the angels who accompany God, esp. in judgment (Kelly). ◆ 15 ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. This vb. is used w. the noun κρίσις (# 3213) to form a vb. idea contained in the noun; lit. "to make judgment," "to do judgment." Inf. is used to express purp. ἐλέγξαι aor. act. inf. ἐλέγχω (# 1794) to convict w. proof. ἀσέβεια (# 815) godless, irreverence (s.v. 4). ἠσέβησαν aor. ind. act. ἀσεβέω (# 814) to conduct an irreligious life, to be ungodly. σκληρός (# 5017) hard, harsh. The word always conveys a grave reproach; it indicates a character harshly inhumane and uncivil (Trench, Synonyms, 48). ἐλάλη- σαν aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. ἁμαρτωλός (# 283) sinful, sinner. Jude's quotation from Enoch (Enoch 1:9) does not mean that the Book of Enoch was regarded as inspired or equal w. Scripture. An inspired man might well use contemporary ideas that were not contrary to revelation (Green, 49); for a study of the comparison between Enoch 1:9 and the quotation in Jude s. Carroll D. Osborne, "The Christological Use of I Enoch I.9 in Jude 14,15," NTS 23 (1977): 334-41. ◆ 16 γογγυστής (# 1199) one who grumbles, one who murmurs and complains (s. 1 Cor. 10:10; Phil. 2:14). μεμψίμοιρος (# 3523) complaining of one's lot, grumbling about one's condition in life. The word was used to describe a standard Gr. character: "You're satisfied by nothing that befalls you; you complain at everything. You don't want what you have got; you long for what you haven't got. In winter you wish it were summer, and in summer that it were winter. You are like the sick folk, hard to please, and one who complains about his lot in life" (s. Green's quotation from Lucian, Cynic, XVII). The word indicates one who complained against the God who has appointed each man his fate (TDNT; MM). ἐπιθυμία (# 2123) strong desire, lust, passion (DNP, 2:542-44; TDNT; EDNT). πορευόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. πορεύομαι (# 4513) to go (s.v. 11). ὑπέρογκος (# 5665) excessive size, puffed up, swollen. The word is generally used of great or even excessive size, and in later writers it is also used of big words and arrogant speech and demeanor (Mayor; GELTS, 490). θαυμάζοντες pres. act. part. θαυμάζω (# 2513) to marvel, to wonder, to admire. The expression is used to translate the Heb. idiom, "to take, or raise, a man's countenance," i.e., to do honor or show favor to him. The formula had its origin in the oriental custom of making one to rise from the ground as a token of welcome. This imagery soon disappeared and the expression meant "to show favoritism toward" or "to curry favor w." (Kelly). ὠφέλεια (# 6066) profit, gain, advantage. χάριν (# 5920) w. gen., on account of, for the sake of. ◆ 17 μνήσθητε aor. imp. pass. μιμνήσκομαι (# 3630) to remember, to recall to memory. προειρημένων perf. pass. part. προλέγω (# 4625) to say beforehand, to speak prior to the events predicted, to foretell (Kelly). Perf. indicates the lasting result of the prediction. ◆ 18 ἔλεγον impf. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Impf. is customary ("they used to say"), or it pictures the interaction ("they continued to say from time to time"). ἔσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἐμπαίκτης (# 1851) one who makes fun by mocking, mocker, scoffer. πορευόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. πορεύομαι (# 4513) to go (s.v. 11). ἀσέβεια (# 813) godlessness. ◆ 19 ἀποδιορίζοντες pres. act. part. ἀποδιορίζω (# 626) to make a boundary between someone and to separate from this one, to make a distinction, to make a division, to cause division. The word would indicate divisive distinctions made between themselves and other people (Green). It could also mean that by their ungodly living they divide those in the assembly, w. some being or about to be taken by their error. ψυχικός (# 6035) worldly-minded. The word implies that these men follow their natural lusts and appetites without restraint or control. ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. These do not have the Spirit of God and therefore live unrestrained lives. ◆ 20 ἐποικοδομοῦντες pres. act. part. ἐποικοδομέω (# 2224) to build up, to edify. The part. could express the means or the manner of guarding oneself and expresses contemporaneous time. ἁγιωτάτῃ superl. ἅγιος (# 41) holy; superl.; most holy, holiest. The superl. is used w. an elative force, "very holy" (MT, 31). The most holy faith would be the body of truth or faith that has been once delivered to the saints (s.v. 3), upon which one is to build his life. προσευχόμενοι pres. mid. part. (dep.) προσεύχομαι (# 4667) to pray. The Christian must not only study the Scripture if he is to grow in the faith and be of use to others, but he must also pray in the Spirit; for the battle against false teaching is not won by argument (Green). ◆ 21 τηρήσατε aor. imp. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep (s.v.1). προσδεχόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. προσδέχομαι (# 4657) to earnestly expect, to look forward to, to wait for. Pres. part. expresses contemporary action and could be temp.: "while you are awaiting." ἔλεος (# 1799) mercy. ◆ 22 ἐλεᾶτε pres. imp. act. ἐλεάω (# 1796) to show pity, to be merciful, to see someone in dire need and to have compassion and try to help them (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). For the textual problems in vv. 22 and 23 s. TC, 727ff. διακρινομένους pres. mid. part. διακρίνω (# 1359) to dispute. The word may also have the meaning "to doubt," "to waiver," and the meaning might be "to show pity on the waiverers" (Green). ◆ 23 σῴζετε pres. imp. act. σῴζω (# 5392) to rescue, to save. ἁρπάζοντες pres. act. part. ἁρπάζω (# 773) to seize, to snatch. The figure of snatching them from fire may have been suggested by the allusion to the punishment of Sodom and Gomorrah (Mayor). ἐλεᾶτε pres. imp. act. ἐλεάω (# 1796) to show mercy. μισοῦντες pres. act. part. μισέω (# 3631) to hate. ἐσπιλωμένον perf. pass. part. ἐσπιλόω (# 5971) to stain, to defile, to contaminate. Perf. emphasizes the state or result. χιτών (# 5945) the garment worn next to the body, i.e., undergarment. Then it referred to any garment. The idea seems to be that they are so corrupt that their very clothes are defiled (Green). ◆ 24 δυναμένῳ pres. mid. (dep.) part. δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. Subst. part., "the one who is able." φυλάξαι aor. act. inf. φυλάσσω (# 5875) to guard, to protect w. guards. The idea of protection and safety seems to be prominent here (T). ἄπταιστος (# 720) without stumbling, not falling. The word is used of a sure-footed horse that does not stumble or of a good man who does not make moral lapses (Green). This would be the stumbling into the grievous sins of the spiritual spies. στῆσαι aor. act. inf. ἵστημι (# 2705) to place, to present. κατενώπιον (# 2979) before the face of, in the presence of. ἄμωμος (# 320) without blame. ἀγαλλίασις (# 21) rejoicing, exaltation. The word has special eschatological overtones denoting the jubilation of God's chosen people at His final manifestation (Kelly; s. 1 Peter 1:6). ◆ 25 μεγαλωσύνη (# 3488) greatness, majesty. ἀμήν (# 297) truly, amen. The word regularly closes doxologies and sets a seal on this confident attribution of glory to the One to whom it belongs–the God who is able! (Green). For general remarks regarding the book of Jude s. D.J. Rowstone, "The Most Neglected Book in the New Testament," NTS 21 [1975]: 554-63).

Revelation

Revelation 1

◆ 1 Robert L. Muse, The Book of Revelation : An Annotated Bibliography (Books of the Bible, vol. 2), 1996; ABD, 5:694-708; DLNT, 1025-38; Stanley J. Grenz, The Millenial Maze (Downers Grove, Ill.: InterVarsity, 1972). ἀποκάλυψις (# 637) the act of uncovering, unveiling, revealing, revelation (TLNT; DLNT, 1024; Hort; Swete). The word is often used to describe a type of Jewish lit. of the first century B.C., which arose under persecution. It used many symbols and was published under the name of an important OT person (TRE, 3:189-289; OTP, 1:3-4; W.G. Rollins, "The New Testament and Apocalyptic," NTS 17 [1971]: 454-76; James Kallas, "The Apocalypse - An Apocalyptic Book?" JBL 86 [1967]: 69-80; Bruce W. James, "More about the Apocalypse as Apocalyptic," JBL 87 [1968]: 325-27; Allen Dwight Callahan, "The Language of Apocalypse," HTR 88 [1995]: 453-70; Stephen H. Travis, "The Value of Apocalyptic," TB 30 [1979]: 53-76; David E. Aune, The New Testament in Its Literary Environment [Philadelphia: Westminster Press, 1987], 226-52; J.J. Collins, "Apocalyptic in Literature" in Early Judaism and Its Modern Interpreters edited by Robert Kraft and George W.E. Nickelsburg (Atlanta: Scholars Press, 1986), 345-70; ABD, 1:279-92; 5:703-4; Thomas; Charles; Mounce). The book of Revelation does not fit all of the characteristics of the apocalyptic lit. of the time, but its subject matter and symbols must be viewed in the light of the OT, especially the book of Daniel (G.K. Beale, "The Influence of Daniel upon the Structure and Theology of John's Apocalypse," JETS 27 [1984]: 413-23). The nom. could be viewed as a title of the book. Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ (# 2652; 5986) Jesus Christ. Gen. here could be either obj. ("a revelation of Jesus Christ"), w. Him as the object; or it could be subjective gen., which fits better here–Jesus Christ is the One who received the revelation and is passing it on to John (Charles; Bousset; Aune; GGBB, 120-21). The subjective gen. is supported by the context as well as other uses in titles like The Apocalypse of Ezra (Gr. text); The Apocalypse of Baruch (Gr. text); The Apocalypse of Abraham,. ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. αὐτῷ dat. sing. αὐτός (# 899) dat. sing. self; "to Him." It refers to Jesus Christ, who received the revelation. Dat. as in;gdir. obj. δεῖξαι aor. act. inf. δείκνυμι (# 1259) to show. This word is characteristic of our author when it means to communicate a divine revelation by means of visions (Charles). Aor. points to a specific act and summarizes the total action. Inf. of purp. δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. it is necessary, w. inf. giving a logical necessity. The word denotes the sure fulfillment of the purpose of God revealed by the prophets (Swete). γενέσθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. γίνομαι (# 1181) to happen, to come to pass. Inf. w. vb. δεῖ. Culmative aor. summing up the various events and looking at them as a total. τάχει dat. sing. τάχος (# 5443) speed, swiftness. W. prep. used as adv. quickly, suddenly, soon. The word indicates rapidity of execution (Walvoord). The cl., "the things which are about to happen suddenly" indicates a detailed account of events that must transpire in God's program to replace other earthly, temporary kingdoms w. the everlasting kingdom. This is the goal toward which this book moves (Thomas). καί (# 2779) and. Under Semitic influence it can be translated as a rel. "which He made known through signs" (AASS, 91; for general studies on the language of the Apocalypse s. Aune, clx-ccvii; MKG; AASS; Daryl D. Schmidt, "Semitisms and Septuagintalisms in the Book of Revelation," NTS 37 [1991]: 592-603; Stanley E. Porter, "The Language of the Apocalypse in Recent Discussion," NTS 35 [1989]: 582-603; Allen Dwight Callahan, "The Language of Apocalypse," HTR 88 [1995]: 453-70; VA, 111-61; MT, Style, 145-59; Charles; S. Thompson, The Apocalypse and Semitic Syntax (Cambridge, 1985). ἐσήμανεν aor. ind. act. σημαίνω (# 4955) to signify. The word strictly means to show by some sort of sign, and it is esp. used of any intimation given by the gods to men, esp. concerning the fut. (Hort; Aune). ἀποστείλας aor. act. part. ἀποστέλλω (# 690) to send, to send a commissioned authoritative representative on a specific mission (TDNT; EDNT; TLNT). Circum. part. or part. of means. ◆ 2 ἐμαρτύρησεν aor. ind. act. μαρτυρέω (# 3455) to testify to, to bear witness, to provide information about a person or event concerning which the speaker has direct knowledge (LN, 1:418; DLNT, 1204-5). Aor. could be const., referring either to John's past testimony or summarizing the events of the book of Revelation; or it could be an epistolary aor. (Thomas; AASS, 40). εἶδεν aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Const. aor. summing up the things which he saw. ◆ 3 μακάριος (# 3421) happy, blessed (s. Matt. 5:3). ἀναγινώσκων pres. act. part. (subst.) ἀναγινώσκω (# 336) to read, to read aloud. This is not the private student, but the public reader (Charles; Swete; Aune; Paul J. Achtemeier, "Omne verbum sonat: The New Testament and the Oral Environment of Late Western Antiquity," JBL 109 [1990]: 3-27; M. Slusser, "Reading Silently in Antiquity," JBL 111 [1992]: 499). Iterat. pres., "at the various times of reading." ἀκούοντες pres. act. part. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear, to listen to. Subst. part., "the ones who hear." The public reading of Scripture, taken over from Jewish practice, was a necessity since manuscripts were not readily available (Mounce; Thomas; Aune; s. Acts 13:15; M, Megilla 4:1-4; Justin Martyr, Apog. 1:67; for reading silently s. Frank D. Gilliard, "More Silent Reading in Antiquity: Non Omne Verbum Sonabat," JBL 112 [1993]: 689-94). προφητεία (# 4735) the message of a prophet, prophecy. Descriptive gen., indicating the nature of John's writing (Thomas), or gen. of apposition, "the words of the prophecy" (GGBB, 99). The use of the art. is deitic (GGBB, 221). τηροῦντες pres. act. part. (subst.) τηρέω (# 5498) to keep, to observe. The two parts. governed by the one article indicate one group, those who hear are to keep the things written (GGBB, 270-90). It could be that καί (# 2779) and, is to be understood as epex. to the part. ἀκούντες, meaning, "those who hear, that is those who obey." This would be a common explanation of the Heb. word שָׁמַע ("to hear"), for it means not only to hear with the ears but to hear in the sense of "to obey." γεγραμμένα perf. pass. part. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Perf. stresses the state or condition and often the authority of a legal document (MM). ἐγγύς (# 1584) near. ◆ 4 ταῖς ἑπτὰ ἐκκλησίαις ταῖς ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ (# 2231; 1711; 1877; 823) "to the seven churches in Asia." These churches were chosen as typical assemblies with regard to their histories and spiritual states (Thomas; for the view that the seven churches depict periods of church history s. Thomas, 505-15; SCA, 231-50; for each city s. the vs. in Rev. 2-3; NDIEC, 3:51-58). ἀπό (# 608) from. The prep. is normally followed by the gen. Here the names of God are to be treated as an undeclinable noun and as such are probably intended to be treated as a paraphrase of the tetragrammaton, Y-H-W-H, "He who is" (Aune; Ford; Mounce; Swete; GGBB, 62-64). ὢν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Subst. part. w. the art., "The One who is." Pres. part. indicates the Eternal One, who exists forever. ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Impf. ind. is used to indicate continual existence in the past (Thomas). ἐρχόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. (subst.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Pres. used to express fut., "He who is already on His way may arrive at any moment" (Thomas). In the Gr. world similar titles for the gods are found. In the oracle of the Peleiae (doves) at Dodona it is said, "Zeus who was, Zeus who is, and Zeus who will be" (Ζεὺς ἦν, Ζευγς ἐστίν, Ζεὺς ἔσται) (Pausanias, Description of Greece, 10, 12:10; Charles; for other examples s. NW, 2, ii:1455-57). πνεῦμα (# 4460) spirit. The expression "the seven Spirits before His throne" goes back to Zech. 4:1-10 and refers to the Holy Spirit and His activity in the world (Thomas; Mounce; Aune). ◆ 5 ὁ μάρτυς ὁ πιστός (# 3459; 4412) the faithful witness. Nom. in apposition to Jesus Christ, though in Greek it is in the gen. (GGBB, 62). This evidently is a reference to Ps. 89:37 (BBC) and indicates that Jesus Christ is the seed of David and will sit on the throne of David that will endure forever as the sun (Ps. 89:36; Thomas). The use of the art. is par excellence. He is the preeminent one deserving praise (GGBB, 223). πρωτότοκος (# 4758) firstborn, indicating a place of prominence and privilege (TLNT; GELTS, 410; Aune; s. Col. 1:15). Nom. is in apposition to Jesus Christ. ἄρχων pres. act. part. (subst.) ἄρχω (# 807) to be at the beginning; part., ruler, prince. The resurrection carried w. it the potential lordship over all humanity and the words, "the ruler of the kings of the earth," stand appropriately at the head of a book representing the glorified Christ as presiding over the destinies of nations (Swete). Pres. indicates continual action. ἀγαπῶντι pres. act. part. (subst.) dat. masc. sing. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. Pres. indicates the continual love. Dat. of personal interest. λύσαντι aor. act. part. (subst.) λύω (# 3395) to loose, to release. Aor. points to the completed act. The one art. w. two subst. parts. indicates that the same person is intended. For the variant reading λούσαντι (aor. act. part. λούω (# 3374) to wash) s. TC, 731. αἵματι dat. sing. αἷμα (# 135) blood. Instr. dat. w. prep. ἐν (# 1877) "by His blood" (Ford). The blood speaks of the sacrificed life as the ransom or payment for release (Swete; s. 1 Pet. 1:18-19). ◆ 6 ἐποίησεν aor. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to make, to constitute. Aor. looks at the completed work of Christ and sums up the application of this to each believer as they believe. βασιλεία (# 993) kingdom. This is a collective designation for all believers in Christ (Thomas). Double acc., "to make us a kingdom" (GGBB, 181-89). ἱερεύς (# 2636) priest. This is the individual appointment of the believer as priest to serve God. It is a kingdom of subjects with direct priestly access to God (Thomas; Aune). τῷ θεῷ (# 2536) dat. sing. θεός (# 2536) God. "to, for God." Dat. of personal interest (cf. Exod. 19:5-6). ἀμήν (# 297) amen. Hebrew אָמֵן (amen) meaning truly. The word was used in affirmation of other words and is an acknowledgment of that which is valid (DCH, 1:317-18; GELTS, 24; RAC-Supplement, 310-23). In the synagogue it is the response of the community to the prayers uttered by the leader (Ford; DJGE, 493; also 21, 28, 37, 59, 94-96). In the DSS it is said that those entering into the covenant shall repeat after the priest, saying "amen, amen" (אמן אמן) (1QS, 1:20; 2:10, 18). The Aramaic expression was used as a formal conclusion of an inscription as well as occurring on "magic bowels" (AT, 513). ◆ 7 ἔρχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to go. Futuristic pres. in a prophetic pronouncement indicating vividness and confident assertion (VANT, 225; GGBB, 535-37; for a discussion of the parousia s. DLNT, 856-75, particularly 869-72). νεφελῶν gen. pl. νεφέλη (# 3749) cloud. Not simply that He has a surrounding of clouds, but that He compels all the clouds into His retinue (Hort). It may be that the clouds are not the ordinary clouds of nature, but clouds in heaven seen in the vision around the throne of God. In any case the cloud in Heb. thought is commonly associated w. the divine presence (Exod. 13:21; 16:10; Matt. 17:5; Acts 1:9) (Aune; Mounce; Dan. 7:13; Jastrow, 2:1095; SB, 1:956; 1QM 12:9). ὄψεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ὁράω (# 3972) to see. πᾶς ὀφθαλμός (# 4246; 4057) every eye. This is all-inclusive and indicates those at the time of His coming. καί (# 2779) and. It could be ascensive, "even," "also." οἵτινες nom. pl. ὅστις (# 4015) who, indicating those belonging to a class or group (BAGD; GGBB, 343-45; JG, 303). This would refer the Jewish nation as indicated in Zech. 12:10, a part of those who will see Him. The statement of remorse by the nation of Israel as they see Him is Isa. 53. ἐξεκέντησαν aor. ind. act. ἐκκεντέω (# 1708) to pierce. The word is used in John 19:37, where there they looked to Him in amazement. They will look to Him for forgiveness and salvation (JG, 247). In the gospel the main reference is to the crucifixion, whereas here it is eschatological (Charles). κόψονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) κόπτομαι (# 3164) to smite the chest in sorrow as a sign of mourning or remorse. φυλαί nom. pl. φυλή (# 5876) tribe. The whole world joins in the remorseful mourning as stated in Zech. 12:12. ναί (# 3721) yes. This is the Greek statement of confirmation and approval followed by the Heb. "amen" (s.v. 6), thus forming an expression of vigorous approval (Mounce). ◆ 8 ἐγώ (# 1609) I; emphatic, "I and no other!" Ἄλφα (# 270) alpha; the first letter of the Gr. alphabet. The art. τό w. the pred. nom. indicates that the subject and pred. are the same and interchangeable (GGBB, 41-42). Ὦ (# 6042) omega; the last letter of the Gr. alphabet. The phrase "A...Ω" is seen to express not only eternity, but infinitude, the boundless life embracing all while transcending all (Swete). The phrase A...Ω was often used in magic texts to indicate eternity or the name of a deity (GMP, 106-07, 194, 299; David E. Aune, "The Apocalypse Of John and Greco-Roman Revelatory Magic," NTS 33 [1987]: 481-501; esp. 489-91; RAC, 1:1-4; Aune). A parallel construction was used in Hebrew: the aleph and the tau, meaning "from the beginning to the end" (SB, 3:789). ὤν pres. act. part. εἰμί (# 1639) to be (s.v. 4). ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἐρχόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to go. παντοκράτωρ (# 4120) the almighty, the omnipotent. It is a title expressing the rule and dominion God has over all. The word stresses God's supremacy over all things more than the related idea of divine omnipotence, without denying His omnipotence (SCA). It emphasizes that He is creator and sustainer of the universe (s. esp. Hildebrecht Hommel, "Pantokrator: Schöfer und Erhalter," Sebasmata: Studien zur antiken Religionsgeschichte und zum frühen Christentum, [Tübingen: J.C.B Mohr (Paul Siebeck), 1983] 1:131-77). The word was used in secular literature to describe the attributes of the gods and is probably used here in contrast to the Roman emperor's self-designation as αὐτοκράτωρ (autokrator), a designation that appears on numerous Roman milestones along the Roman roads of Asia Minor (D.H. French, "The Roman Road-System of Asia Minor," ANRW, 2, 7.2:714-20; Mounce; Ford; TDNT; MM; DDD, 35-41). The word is used in the LXX to translate צְבָאוֹת (Seba'oth, army, heavenly army KB^3, 934-35; TDOT; GELTS, 349) and שַׁדַּי (Shaddai, almighty, TDOT). Kenneth L. Barker, "YHWH SABAOTH: The Lord Almighty," The NIV: The Making of a Contemporary Translation ed. Kenneth L. Barker (Grand Rapids: Zondervan, 1986), 109-10; ABD, 4:1005, 1008. It was used in apocalyptic lit. as a designation of the God of Israel (T. Abraham 8:3; 15:12; 3 Bar. 1:3; Letter of Aristeas, 185). ◆ 9 συγκοινωνός (# 5171) fellow partaker, one who shares together. θλίψει dat. sing. θλῖψις (# 2568) pressure, trouble, distress, tribulation (TDNT; Trench, Synonyms, 202; MM; NDIEC, 84). The use of the article suggests that both suffering and glory unite those who suffer w. the kingdom (GGBB, 287). ὑπομονῇ (# 5705) patience, patient endurance, bearing up under pressure (TLNT; TDNT). ἐγενόμην aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. νήσῳ dat. sing. νῆσος (# 3762) island. καλουμένῃ pres. pass. part. καλέω (# 2813) to call, to name. The island of Patmos was a small, rocky island about 8 miles long and 5 miles wide, located in the Aegean Sea some 40 miles southwest of Miletus. It may have been a penal settlement to which the Roman authorities sent offenders (LSC, 82-92; LSCA, 27-30; KP, 4:549; IBD, 3:677; ABD, 5:178-79; Charles; Swete; Mounce; Caird; Thomas; BBC). διά (# 1328) w. acc., because of. John was sent to Patmos as a prisoner because of his preaching of the gospel in Ephesus and the rest of Asia (Thomas; LSCA, 28-29; ABD, 5:179). ◆ 10 ἐγενόμην aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἐν πνεύματι (# 1877; 4460) in the Spirit. The phrase denotes the prophet under inspiration, but not in the sense of ecstatic frenzy (Swete; Richard L. Jeske, "Spirit and Community in the Johannine Apocalypse," NTS 31 [1985]: 452-66). κυριακός (# 3258) pertaining to the Lord, the Lord's Day. This could be a reference to Sunday, or it could be an eschatological reference to the Day of the Lord so that the prophet was stationed as a spectator amid the very scenes of the great judgment itself (Seiss; W. Stott, "A Note on the Word KURIAKE in Revelation I. 10," NTS 12 [1965]: 70-75; K.A. Strand, "Another Look at `Lord's Day' in the Early Church and in Revelation I.10," NTS

13 [1967]: 174-81; R.J. Bauckham, "The Lord's Day," FSLD, 221-50; Aune; BBC; DLNT, 679-86). ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ὀπίσω (# 3958) behind, w. gen. σάλπιγγος gen. sing. σάλπιγξ (# 4894) trumpet. Gen. of description, indicating a sound as loud and clear as a trumpet's blast, signaling the necessity to submit to whatever is commanded (Thomas). ◆ 11 λεγούσης pres. act. part. (adj.) gen. fem. sing. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. The part. agrees w. the dependent gen. σάλπιγγος rather than the noun φωνὴν (Mounce). βλέπεις pres. ind. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. Pres. vividly describes the vision he is seeing at that time. γράψον aor. imp. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. βιβλίον (# 1046) book, a papyrus scroll (Harrington). πέμψον aor. imp. act. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. (For the writing and sending of letters in the ancient world s. NDIEC, 7:1-57; LSC 1-49; RAC, 2:564-85; KP, 2:324-27; for Roman roads in the province of Asia s. GAM, 164-79; D.H. French, "The Roman Road-system of Asia Minor," ANRW, 2, 7.2:698-729; ABD, 4:290-93.) The messenger would arrive in Ephesus first (BBC). ◆ 12 ἐπέστρεψα aor. ind. act. ἐπιστρέφω (# 2188) to turn around, to turn toward. βλέπειν pres. act. inf. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. Inf. of purp., "in order to see." ἐλάλει impf. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Impf. emphasizes the continual action in the past time. ἐπιστρέψας aor. act. part. ἐπιστρέφω (# 2188). Temp. part. expressing contemporaneous action. Since it is related to an aor. main vb. the action is contemporaneous, though the turning around is logically antecedent. εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. λυχνία (# 3393) lampstand. The Mosaic lampstand for the Tabernacle, that which stood (one or more) in the later temples and in the vision of Zech. 6:2, had seven branches, but here we have seven distinct lampstands, each w. its one light. It has nothing to do w. candlesticks but is a kind of lamp w. a wick and oil (Hort; Mounce; Swete). χρυσοῦς (# 5991) golden, made of gold (BAGD). The very precious metal was often used in connection w. the heavenly or divine (SCA). Note Enoch's vision described in 1 Enoch 14. ◆ 13 μέσῳ dat. sing. μέσον (# 3545) middle. ὅμοιος (# 3927) like. ἐνδεδυμένον perf. pass. part. (adj.) ἐνδύω (# 1907) to put on; pass., to be clothed. ποδήρη (# 4468) reaching to the foot. The word is used in Exod. 28:4 for the blue-purple outward robe of the high priest that reached down to his feet (Bousset; Mounce; GELTS, 383). The word is also used in Ezek. 9:2 where it is applied to the man charged w. setting a mark upon some of the Jerusalemites before the destruction of the city. Of the two possible emphases–a priestly ministry or one of dignity and mercy in the face of impending judgment–the latter is more likely the choice, since nowhere else in the book does Christ appear in a priestly capacity (Robert L. Thomas, "The Glorified Christ on Patmos," Bib Sac 122 [1965]: 243; Thomas). περιεζωσμένον perf. pass. part. περιζώννυμι (# 4322) to be girded round about, to wear a wide belt around oneself. μαστός (# 3466) breast. The ordinary girding for one actively engaged was at the loins, but the Levitical priests were girded higher up–about the breast–favoring a calmer, more majestic movement. Josephus writes, "This robe is a tunic descending to the ankles, enveloping the body and with long sleeves tightly laced round the arms; they gird it at the breast, winding to a little above the armpits the sash, which is of a breadth of about four fingers and has an open texture giving the appearance of a serpent's skin. Therein are interwoven flowers of diverse hues, of crimson and purple, blue and fine linen, but the warp is purely of fine linen" (Jos., Ant., 3:153-54; JPB, 92-102; for descriptions of the priestly garments s. Philo, The Life of Moses, 2:117-18; On the Special Laws I, 84-85; NW 2, ii:1460-62). In like manner the angels who carry out the judgment of God have their breasts girded w. golden girdles (s. 15:6). ζώνη (# 2438) girdle, belt. The girdle or wide belt is often considered the symbol of strength and activity (SCA; Swete). ◆ 14 τρίχες nom. pl. θρίξ (# 2582) hair. λευκαί nom. pl. λευκός (# 3328) white. ἔριον (# 2250) wool. χιών (# 5946) snow. In Dan. 7:9 the Ancient of Days is described as having hair like pure wool and raiment white as snow. The ascriptions of the titles and attributes of God to Christ is an indication of the exalted Christology of the Apocalypse. The hoary head was worthy of honor and conveyed the idea of wisdom, dignity (Lev. 19:32; Prov. 16:31), and longevity (SCA; Mounce; Thomas). φλόξ (# 5825) flame. πυρός gen. sing. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. Descriptive gen. The eyes as a flame of fire indicated the penetrating glance that flashed w. quick intelligence and, when need arose, w. righteous wrath (Swete; SCA; for examples from the ancient world s. NW, 2, ii:1463-67). ◆ 15 χαλκολίβανον (# 5909) gold ore, fine brass or bronze. The meaning of the word is somewhat uncertain, but it is best understood as an alloy of gold or fine brass. In any case the shining bronze-like feet portray strength and stability (Mounce; Swete; BAGD; Ford). κάμινος (# 2825) oven. πεπυρωμένης perf. pass. part. (adj.) πυρόω (# 4792) to set on fire, to burn. Perf. emphasizes the completed state or results, "having been burned," "having been refined." The idea may be "glowing," indicating that the metal is not only the finest and brightest, but also aglow as if still in the crucible (Swete). φωνῇ (# 5889) sound, voice. Within John's hearing, waves of the Aegean Sea pounded endlessly on the shores of Patmos; the expression "as the sound of many waters" suggests a powerful force, as in Ps. 93:4; Isa. 17:13 (Thomas). ◆ 16 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Adj. part., "holding seven stars." Independent use of the part. (GGBB, 653). δεξιᾷ dat.sing. δεξιός (# 1288) right. χείρ (# 5931) hand. ἀστέρας acc. pl. ἀστήρ (# 843) star.

The idea of Him holding the seven stars in His right hand may symbolize Christ's absolute authority over the churches, or that he keeps them safe (Charles; Thomas). στόμα (# 5125) mouth. ῥομθαία (# 4855) sword. This is properly the long and heavy broad sword w. which the Thracians and other barbarous nations were armed; it symbolizes the irresistible power of divine judgment (SCA; Mounce). δίστομος (# 1492) two-edged, double-edged, w. a cutting edge on both sides. ὀξεῖα fem. noun ὀξύς (# 3955) sharp. ἐκπορευομένη pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) ἐκπορεύομαι (# 1744) to go out. ὄψις (# 4071) appearance, outward appearance, face. In the context its primary reference is to the face but should not be limited to that alone (Mounce). φαίνει pres. ind. act. φαίνω (# 5743) to shine; "as the sun shines in His might" (Swete). Gnomic pres. This may be a reference to the Shekinah glory of the OT and Judaism (TS, 37-65; s. Enoch's vision of one whose robe was "shining more brightly than the sun, it was whiter than any snow" 1 Enoch 14:20). ◆ 17 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἔπεσα aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. Enoch too fell down in fear (1 Enoch 14:24) ἔθηκεν aor. ind. act. τίθημι to place. λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Pleonastic or redundant part. used as the Heb. לאמר (l'mr), for an introductory formula that could be translated, "with these words," "thus" (AASS, 69-70; but s. VA, 138-39). φοβοῦ pres. imp. mid. (dep.) φοβέομαι (# 5828) to be afraid. Pres. imp. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) indicates the stopping of an act in progress: "stop being afraid," given that the appearance of an angelic being is often a source of apprehension. ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ ἔσχατος (# 4755; 2779; 2274) the first and the last. The expression "I am the first and the last" is the expression of absolute Godhead (s. Isa. 41:4; 44:6; 48:12; SCA; Ford). Pred. nom. w. art. indicates the subject and the pred. are the same. ◆ 18 ζῶν pres. act. part. (subst.) ζάω (# 2409) to live. Pres. indicates continual unending life. ἐγενόμην aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. κλείς (# 3090) key. ᾅδου gen. sing. ᾅδης (# 87) Hades, death, the place of the dead (TDNT; NIDNTT; SB, 4:1016-65; DLNT, 459-62; DDD, 726-27). Descriptive gen. To have the keys of death and of Hades is to possess authority over their domain. The claim to possess potentially the key of death is made by Christ Himself in John 5:28; the Apocalypse connects the actual possession of the keys w. His victory over death. They are from that moment in His keeping (Swete). Pluto, Greek god of the underworld, was thought to have the key to Hades, which he would lock up so no one could get out (Pausanias, Description of Greece, 5, 20:3; NW, 2, ii:1468-70). In Greek and Roman mythology Charon, the old, ugly, stubble-bearded ferryman, waited with his blue boat to let the dead who had been buried get in for their trip to the underworld, from which they never returned (DNP, 2:1107-8; RAC, 2:1040-61). What a contrast w. the One who was dead but now is alive and holds the key to Hades! ◆ 19 γράψον aor imp. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. οὖν (# 4036) therefore. It draws a conclusion from the preceding. εἶδες aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. εἰσίν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. μέλλει pres. ind. act. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to, w. the inf. to express the fut. γενέσθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to happen. The wording may be based on Isa. 48:6 or Dan. 2:29 (Daryl D. Schmidt, "Semitisms and Septuagintalisms in the Book of Revelation," NTS 37 [1991]: 599; Swete). This v. gives the threefold division of the book of Revelation: (1) "the things which you saw" refer to the vision of the glorified Christ, esp. vv. 11-18; (2) "the things which are" refer to the letters to the churches in chapters 2 and 3; (3) and "the things which will happen, come to pass after these things" refer to the events described in 4-22 (Charles; Lohse; Walvoord; Govett; Scott; Bousset; Robert L. Thomas, "John's Apocalyptic Outline," Bib Sac 123 [1966]: 334-41; Thomas; for the view that this v. gives the narrative structure of the book s. J. Ramsey Michaels, "Revelation 1:19 and the Narrative Voices of the Apocalypse," NTS 37 [1991]: 604-20). ◆ 20 μυστήριον (# 3696) mystery (TDNT; EDNT; DLNT, 782-84). Here acc. of respect or general ref. (GGBB, 204). εἶδες aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἄγγελος (# 34) messenger, angel. The word could refer to heavenly beings who are guardians of the churches, or to the churches personified as messengers, or to human beings as messengers of God (Thomas; Mounce; Swete; Charles; LSCA, 32-34; Aune; BBC).

Revelation 2

◆ 1 ἄγγελος (# 34) angel, messenger (s. 1:20). Ἔφεσος (# 2387) Ephesus. For a survey of the seven churches s. ABD, 5:1143-44. For the city of Ephesus s. Acts 18:19; G.H.R. Horsley, "The Inscriptions of Ephesus and the New Testament," Nov T 34 (1992): 105-68; Steven Friesen, "The Cult of the Roman Emperors in Ephesus: Temple Wardens, City Titles, and the Interpretation of the Revelation of John," Ephesus–Metropolis of Asia: An Interdisciplinary Approach to its Archaeology, Religion, and Culture, Helmut Koester, ed.; HTS 41 (Valley Forge, Pa.: Trinity Press, 1996), 229-50; Steven J. Friesen, "Revelation, Realia, and Religion: Archaeology in the Interpretation of the Apocalypse," Harvard Theological Review 88 (1995): 291-314; DNP, 3:1078-85; Aune; ABD, 2:542-49; RI, 153; DLNT, 146-47. γράψον aor. imp. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. The writings to the seven churches may have been a type of royal or imperial edict in the mode of a prophetic message or wake-up call (Weckruf) included in the whole book rather than individual letters sent separately to the individual churches (Robert L. Muse, "Revelation 2-3: A Critical Analysis of Seven Prophetic Messages," JETS 29 [1986]: 147-61; Wiard Popkes, "Die Funktion der Sendschreiben in der Johannes-Apokalypse. Zugleich ein Beitrag zur Spätgeschichte der neutestamentlichen Gleichnisse," ZNW 74 [1983]: 90-107; David E. Aune, "The Form and Function of the Proclamations to the Seven Churches [Revelation 2-3]," NTS 36 [1990]: 182-204; Aune). τάδε n. pl. acc. of the demonstrative pronoun ὅδε (# 3840) was obsolete in Koine Greek and similar to the obsolete English phrase "thus saith." It was used to introduce with great solemnness a prophetic message or a royal letter or edict (Aune; Aune, "The Form and Function of the Proclamations to the Seven Churches [Revelation 2-3]," NTS 36 [1990]: 187-89; GGBB, 328). They seem to be similar to covenant lawsuits (BBC). λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. κρατῶν pres. act. part. (subst.) κρατέω (# 3195) to have power over, to hold, to grasp, to hold fast; the opposite of "to let go" (Ford; Thomas). ἀστέρας (# 843) star (s. 1:16). δεξιᾷ (# 1288) right (s. 1:16); here "right hand." περιπατῶν pres. act. part. (subst.) περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about. The Lord patrols the ground and is ever there when needed; His presence is not localized but coextensive w. the church (Swete). Pres. indicates the continual action. μέσῳ (# 3545) middle (s. 1:13). λυχνία (# 3393) lampstand. χρυσῶν gen. pl. χρυσοῦς (# 5991) golden. ◆ 2 οἶδα (# 3857) perf. ind. act. to know. Def. perf. w. a pres. meaning (VA, 281-87). The οἶδα cl. introduces the narratio, i.e., a description of the situation of each community that serves as the basis for the dispositio, or response, that immediately following (Aune, "The Form and Function of the Proclamations to the Seven Churches (Revelation 2-3)," NTS 36 [1990]: 190). κόπος (# 3160) laborious work, toil. The word signifies not merely labor, but labor unto weariness, or to the point of exhaustion (Hort; SCA; TLNT; Trench, Synonyms, 378; s. 1 Thess. 2:9). ὑπομονή (# 5705) patience, endurance under difficult circumstances (TLNT; TDNT). δύνῃ pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. βαστάσαι aor. act. inf. βαστάζω (# 1002) to take up, to carry, to bear; fig., to bear, to endure (BAGD). ἐπείρασας aor. ind. act. πειράζω (# 4279) to try, to examine. λέγοντας pres. act. part. (subst.) λέγω (# 3306) to say; here in the sense "to claim." ἀπόστολος (# 693) one sent or commissioned to carry out a duty w. the authority of the one sending (TDNT; EDNT; TLNT). For a discussion as to who these might be s. Thomas; LSCA, 39-41. οὐκ εἰσίν (# 4024; 1639) "and they are not." The words are a Hebraism, for "not being" (Charles). εὗρες aor. ind. act. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find, to discover. ψευδεῖς (# 6014) lying, liars. ◆ 3 ἔχεις pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἐβάστασας aor. ind. act. βαστάζω (# 1002) to take up (s.v. 2). κεκοπίακες perf. ind. act. κοπιάω (# 3159) to be weary, to work and labor to the point of weariness. The word implies strenuous and exhausting labor. Here it could mean weary morally; i.e., to allow oneself to become weary (Hort; SCA; TLNT). Perf. looks at the continuing results of the labor. ◆ 4 ἔχω (# 2400) pres. ind. act. to have. ὅτι (# 4022) that, used to introduce a dir. obj. cl. (GGBB, 454). κατά (# 2848) against. ἀφῆκες aor. ind. act. ἀφίημι (# 918) to leave, to forsake. ◆ 5 μνημόνευε pres. imp. act. μνημονεύω (# 3648) to remember, to call to remembrance. οὖν (# 4036) now, therefore. πόθεν (# 4470) from where. πέπτωκας perf. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. μετανόησον aor. imp. act. μετανοέω (# 3566) to change one's thinking, to think differently, to repent (TDNT; TLNT). Pres. imp. ("repent!") stands in contrast to the aor. imp. ("repent!"), and suggests a continuing attitude over against a decisive break. "Bear in mind the loving relationships you once enjoyed and make a clean break w. your present manner of life!" (Mounce). ποίησον aor. imp. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) pres. ind. mid. (dep.) to come. Pres. describes a fut. event that will happen w. certainty. σοι dat. sing. σύ (# 5148) you; "to you." The dat. could be taken as dat. of disadvantage (Swete) or dat. of destination (GGBB, 148). κινήσω fut. ind. act. κινέω (# 3075) to move. τόπος (# 5536) place. μετανοήσῃς aor. subj. act. μετανοέω (# 3566) to repent. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) is used in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which assumes that the cond. is possible, but is not sure whether it will be fulfilled. ◆ 6 ἔχεις pres. ind. act. 2nd sing. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. μισεῖς pres. ind. act. 2nd. sing. μισέω (# 3631) to hate. μισῶ pres. ind. act. Νικολαϊτῶν (# 3774) Nicolaitan. For a discussion of the identity of the Nicolaitans s. Mounce; Ford; Swete; Thomas; LSCA, 87-94; Roman Heiligenthal, "Wer waren die `Nikolaiten'? Ein Beitrag zur Theologiegeschichte des frühen Christentums," ZNW 82 (1991): 133-37; HSB, 759-61. ◆ 7 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. οὖς (# 4044) ear. ἀκουσάτω aor. imp. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. The "hearing formula" is intended as an encouragement and a call to those who have remained faithful and stood firm in spite of the problems (Anne-Marit Enroth, "The Hearing Formula in the Book of Revelation," NTS 36 [1990]: 598-608, esp. 604). Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. νικῶντι pres. act. part. (subst.) dat. masc. sing. νικάω (# 3771) to be victor, to gain a victory, to be victorious. This seems to be a term applicable to all believers rather than to a limited or special group (Thomas). Dat. of respect ("in respect to the one who is victorious") or dat. as indir. obj., followed by the resumptive pron. αὐτῷ dat. sing. αὐτός (# 899) " to him." δώσω fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give; here in the sense "to allow." φαγεῖν aor. act. inf. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. Inf. of purp. ξύλου τῆς ζωῆς (# 3833;

2437) tree of life. There may be a reference to a tree of life in the OT and Jewish writings (Gen. 3; The Life of Adam and Eve, 19:2; 22:4; 28:4; 1 Enoch 24-25; T. Levi, 18:10-11; Pss. Sol. 14:3); or there may be an allusion to the wood of life, that is, the cross of Christ which brings life (LSCA, 42-44; RAC, 2:25-26). It may refer to Artemis; a date palm and a tree were often associated w. her and her worship (LSCA, 41-47; LSC, 248-49; DNP, 2:53-58; 2:506; DDD, 167-80; Aune). παραδείσῳ dat. sing. παράδεισος (# 4137) paradise, a Persian word meaning a park or enclosed garden. According to rabbinical teaching there was a threefold paradise: the paradise of Adam where the tree of life stood; the paradise of the souls in heaven which was the abode of the redeemed between death and the resurrection; and the eschatological paradise where the souls of the righteous would be. The eschatological paradise was considered the paradise of Adam restored w. the tree of life (SB, 3:792f; 4:1144-65; Ford; Aune; ABD, 5:154-55; GELTS, 351; s. Luke 23:43). The reference may also be to the asylum that was available in the Temple of Artemis in Ephesus (LSCA, 48-52). ◆ 8 γράψον aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Σμύρνα (# 5044) Smyrna. The word means "myrrh." The myths and local traditions suggest a city of suffering (LSCA, 58-59; Thomas; ABD, 6:73-75). The city was also noted for its faithfulness to its political rulers. Cicero called Smyrna "where our most faithful and oldest allies are" (Cicero, The Eleventh Philippian Oration, 5; LSC, 254-55; LSCA, 70). The city was also known for its beauty, w. its stone-paved streets, lovely trees and the hill Pagos, which w. its buildings was like a crown in the city (LSC, 256-60; LSCA, 59-60, 73; Thomas; NW, 2, ii:1472-74; Bean, 20-30; ANTC, 55-62; Aune). The builders, however, had made a grave error in not placing canals under the paved streets and the sewage often filled the streets, especially after a heavy rain (Strabo, Description of Greece, 14 i:36-37). The city was also a place of learning and considered the birthplace of Homer (Thomas; LSCA, 57). Cybele was its patron goddess (LSC, 264-65; Thomas). It was also the city where the aged bishop Polycarp was martyred as he uttered the immortal words, "Eighty-six years I have been His servant, and He has done me no wrong. How can I blaspheme my King who saved me?" (ὀγδοήκοντα καὶ ἓξ ἔτη ἔχω δουλεύων αὐτῷ, καὶ οὐδέν με ἠδίκησεν; καὶ πῶς δύναμαι βλασφημῆσαι τὸν βασιλέα μου, τὸν σώσαντά με; (The Mart. Pol., 8:3; Beasley-Murray; Johannes Bapt. Bauer, Die Polykarpbriefe. Kommentar zu den Apostolischen Vätern, ed. N. Brox, G. Kretschmar und K. Niederwimmer [Göttingen: Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, 1995]; Gerd Buschmann, Das Martyrium des Polykarp: Kommentar zu den Apostolischen Vätern [Göttingen: Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, 1998]). The city's destruction was prophesied in the Sibylline Oracles (Sib. Or., 3:340, 365; 5:122-23). λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say, to speak. ἔσχατος (# 2274) last (s. 1:17). ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to be. ἔζησεν aor. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Ingressive aor. "He was dead, but He became alive." The purpose of this statement is to fix attention upon the fact of the resurrection. As the Lord rose, so will His martyrs triumph over death (Swete). ◆ 9 οἶδα (# 3857) perf. ind. act. to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. θλῖψις (# 2568) pressure, trouble, tribulation (s. 1:9). πτωχεία (# 4775) poverty, extreme and abject poverty (s. 2 Cor. 8:2; NTW, 109-111). πλούσιος (# 4454) rich, very rich, wealthy. Here there is a parenthesis in thought: "I know your trial and your poverty (yet you are [in reality] rich)" (GGBB, 53-54). εἶ pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. βλασφημία (# 1060) slander, railing, blasphemy (TLNT). λεγόντων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say, to make a claim. Subst. part. w. the prep. ἐκ (# 1666), indicating the source of the accusations. εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Inf. in indir. discourse. These were evidently Jews in the physical sense, but w. no spiritual relation to God (LSCA, 6; Thomas). συναγωγή (# 5252) synagogue, gathering. Σατανᾶ gen. sing. Σατανᾶς (# 4928). Satan. Gen. of description indicating the character of the assembly. The reference is not to a building, but to the people who gather there and plan their assault on the church, putting themselves at the disposal of the devil to carry out his will (Thomas; also Aune, Excursus 2B: "Anatolian Jewish Communities and Synagogues," 1:168-72; BBC). ◆ 10 φοβοῦ pres. imp. mid. (dep.) φοβέομαι (# 5828) to be afraid. Pres. imp. w. neg. μηδέν (# 3594) can indicate the stopping of an action in progress, or call for a constant attitude. μέλλεις pres. ind. act. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to, w. the inf. to express the immediate fut. πάσχειν pres. act. inf. πάσχω (# 4248) to suffer. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. The word directs special attention to the announcement and signals a declaration that is oracular in nature (Thomas). βάλλειν pres. act. inf. βάλλω (# 965) to throw, to cast. Inf. w. μέλλει to express immediate fut. διάβολος (# 1333) devil. (DDD, 463-73) φυλακή (# 5871) prison. In the ancient world prisons were the place where the accused awaited sentencing, either of execution or banishment (BBC; Mounce; BAFCS, 3). πειρασθῆτε aor. pass. subj. πειράζω (# 4879) to tempt, to try. The word can indicate a trial of virtue by means of affliction or adversity by Satan's intervention (TLNT, 2:82). Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ἕξετε fut. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἡμερῶν gen. pl. ἡμέρα (# 2465) day. Gen. of description, "a ten-day tribulation." The ten days should probably be seen as a limited, intermediate period of suffering, expected to terminate in judgement and death (LSCA, 70; also Thomas). γίνου pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become; to "prove thyself loyal and true, to the extent of being ready to die for my sake" (Swete). Pres.

imp. calls for a continual attitude. ἄχρι (# 948) w. gen., unto; "up to and including" (LSCA, 71). δώσω fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. στέφανος (# 5109) crown. This evidently refers to a wreath given to a victorious athlete or worn by a pagan priest or priestly magistrate of a city, or given to officials at the arrival of a dignitary; or it could be an illusion to the physical appearance of the city of Smyrna (Swete, Hort, LSC, 256-60; LSCA, 72-77; Thomas). ζωῆς gen. sing. ζωή (# 2437) life. Epex. gen. or gen. of apposition, indicating what the wreath is. In this regards it seems that the crown of life refers to the wreath given in victory (Thomas; LSCA, 76-77; Aune, Excursus 2C: "Ancient Wreath and Crown Imagery," 1:172-75). ◆ 11 ἔχων pres. act. part. (subst.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀκουσάτω aor. imp. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear (s.v. 7). νικῶν (# 3771) pres. act. part. to overcome (s.v. 7). Subst. part. w. a generic art. describing a distinguishing trait (GGBB, 230). ἀδικηθῇ aor. subj. pass. ἀδικέω (# 92) to harm, to injure. Subj. w. the double neg. οὐ μή (# 4024; 3590) in an emphatic denial. This is the strongest way to negate something in Greek (GGBB, 468). θανάτου τοῦ δευτέρου (# 2505; 1311) second death. It refers to an unending punishment (Thomas; SB, 3:830-31). ◆ 12 Πέργαμος (# 4307) Pergamum. The name of the city probably means "mountain," given its location some 1,300 feet between two tributaries of the Caicus River. In 133 BC Attalus III left the city to the Romans, who made it the original capital of the province of Asia. It was a wealthy and important city known for its impressive library rivalling the famous library in Alexandria. Because the king of Pergamum was not able to get papyrus, he developed the use of animal skins. That led to the making of books in a codex form. The library was finally given to Cleopatra by Anthony and moves to Alexandria. Pergamum was the home of the famous physician Galen. The city of Pergamum was a stronghold of idolatry. It was famous for the great altar to Zeus which had a frieze around the base of the altar depicting the gods of Greece in victorious combat against the giants of the earth (symbolizing the triumph of civilization over barbarianism) (Werner Müller, Der Pergamon-Altar [Leipzig: Veb E.A. Seemann Buch-und Kunstverlag, 1978]). The shrine of Asklepios, the god of healing, attracted people from all over the world (DNP, 2:94-100; RAC, 1:795-99; BBC; GLH, 83-101). Of greatest import for the Christians living in Pergamum was the fact that it was the official center in Asia for the imperial cult (Lily Ross Taylor, The Divinity of the Roman Emperor [Middletown, Conn.: American Philological Association, 1931]; DDD, 1342-52; P. Herz, "Bibliographie zum römischen Kaiserkult [1955-1975]," ANRW 2, 16, 2:833-910; GGR, 2:177-85; 384-95; RAC, 14:1047-93; S.F.R. Price, Rituals and Power: The Roman Imperial Cult in Asia Minor [Cambridge: University Press, 1984]; S.F.R. Price, "Gods and Emperors: The Greek Language of the Imperial Cult," JHS 104 [1984]: 79-95); Aune; Thomas; LSC, 281-315; LSCA, 78-105; Bean, 45-69; KP, 4:626-32; ANTC, 30-49; DRU, 2:17-74; Strabo, Geography of Greece, 13, 4:1-4; NW, 2, ii:1481-86; ABD, 5:228-30. In A. D. 74 Vespasian provided special privileges for physicians and teachers, but in A.D. 93/94 Domitian passed a law prohibiting the misuse of these privileges through greed (RI, 102-4; DLNT, 320-26). γράψον aor. imp. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write (s.v. 1). λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ῥομθαία (# 4855) sword (s. 1:16). δίστομος (# 1492) two-edged. ὀξεῖαν acc. sing. ὀξύς (# 3955) sharp. The sword was the symbol of absolute authority, invested w. the power of life and death (LSC, 291). ◆ 13 οἶδα (# 3857) perf. ind. act. to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. κατοικεῖς pres. ind. act. κατοικέω (# 2997) to settle down, to live. Pres. indicates continual action. Prep. in compound (κατά "down") is perfective, indicating "to dwell permanently." ὁ θρόνος τοῦ Σατανᾶ (# 2585; 4928) the throne of Satan. This may refer to the large hill or acropolis seen as one approaches the city (Charles), or it could refer to the tremendous and influential idol worship in the city (s.v. 12), w. special stress on emperor worship (Thomas; LSCA, 84-87; LAE, 346-47, w. two inscriptions from Pergamum; NW, 2, ii:1486; Aune; HSB, 757-58; DDD, 1379). Society was permeated w. pagan religion that determined the holidays and dominated everything from sports to everyday life. κρατεῖς pres. ind. act. κρατέω (# 3195) to hold, to grasp, to hold fast (s.v. 1). Pres. indicates the continual action. ὄνομα (# 3950) name. The term indicates one's person, and in this context "to hold My name" indicates to be faithful (Thomas). ἠρνήσω aor. ind. act. ἀρνέω (# 766) to say no, to deny. Aor. points to a specific example of how they were holding His name and the idea of a completed action stresses that they had not at all been unfaithful. For the resistance of Jews and the early Christians to the worship of the emperor s. LAE, 338-46; LSCA, 86-87; RAC, 14:1077-90. ἀπεκτάνθη aor. pass. ind. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. The person of Antipas is unknown, but as the aor. suggests this was a specific incident (LSCA, 86). κατοικεῖ pres. ind. act. κατοικέω (# 2997) to dwell. ◆ 14 ἔχω (# 2400) pres. ind. act. to have. ἔχεις pres. ind. act. (s.v. 6). κρατοῦντας pres. act. part. (subst.) κρατέω (# 3195) to hold to. Βαλαάμ (# 962) Balaam. The meaning of the name has been explained as, "without a people," "because he destroyed the people," or "because he swallowed up the people" (SB, 3:793; Thomas). In later Jewish writings the name may have been a reference to Jesus, but in general Balaam was used as a type of a magician or deceiver who misuses the gift of prophecy for material gain and attempts through syncretistic religion to cause the people of God to sin (b Sahn 106a; JNTU, 68-103; BBC; ABD, 1:571-72; also Jos., Ant., 4:129-30; Aune). ἐδίδασκεν impf. ind. act. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. βαλεῖν aor. act. inf. βάλλω (# 965) to throw. Inf. as obj. of the vb. ἐδίδασκεν. σκάνδαλον (# 4998) lit., trap; enticement to sin (LN, 1:775). Here, "to entice the sons of Israel to sin" (BAGD). φαγεῖν aor. act. inf. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. εἰδωλόθυτον (# 1628) sacrifices offered to idols, that which is slain for a sacrifice (SCA). There may be a reference here to the sacrifices and festivals of the pagan religion at Pergamum (LSCA, 90; DLNT, 528-30; Aune, Excursus 2D: "Eating Food Sacrificed to Idols," 1:191-94). πορνεῦσαι aor. act. inf. πορνεύω (# 4519) to engage in sexual activities. The infs. are used after the vb. ἐδίδασκεν, or could be viewed as epex., explaining how he enticed the people to sin. ◆ 15 οὕτως (# 4048) so, thus. The application and parallel is now drawn. ἔχεις pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. καί (# 2779) also. κρατοῦντας pres. act. part. (subst.) κρατέω (# 3195) to hold. Some have viewed those holding the teaching of Balaam and those holding the teaching of the Nicolaitans as being the same (LSCA, 87-94), but it seems better to view them as two groups (Thomas). This teaching could have been an antinomian movement and may have been connected w. the special pressures of emperor worship and pagan society (LSCA, 94; s. Aune, Excursus 2A: "The Nicolaitans," 1:148-49; HSB, 759-61). ◆ 16 μετανόησον aor. imp. act. μετανοέω (# 3566) to repent (s.v. 5). ἔρχομαι (# 2262) pres. ind. mid. (dep.) to come. Pres. used to describe a certain fut. event. ταχύς (# 5444) adv., quickly, soon. πολεμήσω fut. ind. act. πολεμέω (# 4482) to wage war, to fight against. ῥομφαία τοῦ στόματός (# 4855; 5125) sword of (my) mouth. Instr. dat. w. prep. ἐν (# 1877). ◆ 17 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀκουσάτω aor. imp. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. νικῶντι pres. act. part. νικάω (# 3771) to overcome. δώσω fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. μάννα (# 3445) manna (ABD, 4:511; TDNT; GELTS, 290). κεκρυμμένου perf. pass. part. κρύπτω (# 3221) to hide. It was a Jewish teaching that in the messianic time the Messiah would send manna from heaven, and in the future age manna would be the food of the righteous (SB, 3:793-94; Mounce; LSCA, 94-95; Aune). In the context here the hidden manna alludes to the proper and heavenly food in contrast to the unclean food supplied by the Balaamites. While the promise is primarily eschatological, it is not without immediate application for a persecuted people (Mounce). δώσω fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ψῆφος (# 6029) stone. λευκός (# 3328) white. There were various usages of a white stone in the ancient world; e.g., a jewel, the judicial calculus Minervae, the casting vote of acquittal, a token of admission, membership or recognition, an amulet, a token of gladiatorial discharge (LSCA, 96-102). Perhaps in the context it is best to take the white stone as a token of admission to a banquet. Many such tokens were little tablets of wood, metal, or stone distributed to the poor in Rome by the emperors to insure a regular supply of corn. Or they were given to the victor at games and to gladiators who won the admiration of the public and had been allowed to retire from further combat. Here the white stone as a symbol of the triumph of faith would be considered a token for admission to the messianic feast (Mounce; LSC, 39ff; Thomas; Aune; BBC). γεγραμμένον perf. pass. part. γράφω (# 1211) to write. οἶδεν perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know (s.v. 2). Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. λαμβάνων pres. act. part. (subst.) λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. The new name symbolizes the individual's entry into a new life, status, or personality (LSCA, 103); for the use of amulets w. names in the magic texts s. Aune. ◆ 18 Θυάτειρα (# 2587) Thyatira. The not so important city founded by Seleucus I as a defense against Lysimachus was located about 35 miles inland southeast of Pergamum. The city had various trade guilds or unions, such as unions for clothiers, bakers, tanners, potters, linen workers, wool merchants, slave traders, coppersmiths and dyers (s. Acts 16:14; LAC, 316-53; LSCA, 106-11; ANTC, 51-62; Thomas; Charles; Swete; BBC; Aune; ABD, 6:546). γράψον aor. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say, to speak. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ὀφθαλμός (# 4057) eye. φλόγα acc. sing. φλόξ (# 5825) flame. πυρός gen. πύρ (# 4786) fire. χαλκολίβανον (# 5909) something like gold ore, fine brass or bronze (BAGD; s. 1:15). Dat. here due to the preceding adj. ὅμοιος (# 3927) like; "like unto fine brass."It has been suggested that the metal here is an alloy of copper w. metallic zinc and was made in Thyatira (LSCA, 111-17). ◆ 19 διακονία (# 1355) ministry. ὑπομονή (# 5705) patience endurance, perseverance (TLNT; TDNT). πλείονα comp. πολύς (# 4498) great, much; comp., more than. πρώτων gen. pl. πρῶτος (# 4755) first. Gen. of comparison, "than the first one." ◆ 20 ἀφεῖς pres. ind. act. ἀφίημι (# 918) to allow, to tolerate. λέγουσα pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to call; here, "to claim to be." προφῆτις (# 4739) prophetess. The "prophetess" Jezebel is considered a prominent woman claiming the gift of divine prophecy and leading many in pagan worship and pagan feasts that often led to sexual promiscuity. She may have been connected w. the cult of Sibyl or Jewish magic and been influential in the trade guilds of the city. She apparently taught that a Christian could join a guild and participate in its feasts (LSCA, 117-23; Thomas; Mounce; DLNT, 1210-11; BBC). διδάσκει pres. ind. act. διδάσκω (# 1438) to teach. πλανᾷ pres. ind. act. πλανάω (#4414) to lead astray, to deceive. πορνεῦσαι aor. act. inf. πορνεύω (# 4519) to commit adultery. Inf. to show result, "she taught so that they commit adultery and eat." φαγεῖν aor. act. inf. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. εἰδωλόθυτα (# 1628) sacrifice offered to an idol (s.v. 14). ◆ 21 ἔδωκα aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. μετανοήσῃ aor. subj. act. μετανοέω (# 3566) to repent. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. θέλει pres. ind. act. θέλω (# 2527) to desire. Potential ind., "yet she does not want to repent" (GG-BB, 452). μετανοῆσαι aor. act. inf. μετανοέω (# 3566) to repent. πορνεία (# 4518) immorality. The word here means wanton behavior, including fornication (Joseph Jenses, "Does Porneia Mean Fornication? A Critique of Bruce Malina," Nov T 20 [1978]: 168-84; DLNT, 1088-90). ◆ 22 ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. βάλλω (# 965) pres. ind. act. to throw, to cast. Pres. used to describe a fut. event that is certain. κλίνη (# 3109) bed. The bed is not a funeral bier or a dining couch of the guild feast, but a bed of sickness or pain. Disease as a punishment for sin was an accepted view (Mounce; Thomas). μοιχεύοντας pres. act. part. μοιχεύω (# 3658) to commit adultery (DLNT, 714-17). μετανοήσωσιν aor. subj. act. μετανοέω (# 3566) to repent. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which assumes the probability of the cond. ◆ 23 ἀποκτενῶ fut. ind. act. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. γνώσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. ἐραυνῶν pres. act. part. ἐραύνω (# 2236) to search. Pres. indicates habitual and continual action. νεφρός (# 3752) kidney. Kidneys were regarded as the seat of the emotions, just as the heart was the seat of the intelligence or will. Hence, the speaker w. divine omniscience will prove that no deceit or sophistry of any kind can escape him (Ford). δώσω fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ◆ 24 λοιπός (# 3370) rest, remaining. ἔχουσιν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἔγνωσαν aor. ind. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. βαθέα acc. pl. βαθύς (# 960) deep, depth. λέγουσιν pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. βάλλω (# 965) pres. ind. act. to throw. βάρος (# 983) burden (s. Acts 15:28, 29). ◆ 25 πλήν (# 4440) except, only. ἔχετε pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. κρατήσατε aor. imp. act. κρατέω (# 3195) to hold (s.v. 1). ἄχρι[ς] (# 948) until, until which time. ἥξω fut. ind. act. ἥκω (# 2457) to come. Used in an indef. temp. cl. The form can be either fut. ind. act. or aor. subj. act. (RWP). ◆ 26 νικῶν pres. act. part. νικάω (# 3771) to overcome (s.v. 7). τηρῶν pres. act. part. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep, to guard, to observe. δώσω fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ◆ 27 ποιμανεῖ fut. ind. act. ποιμαίνω (# 4477) to shepherd. The word should be taken here in the sense of wheeling the shepherd's staff or club to ward off attacks of marauding beasts (Mounce). ῥάβδος (# 4811) stick, staff. σιδηροῦς (# 4971) iron. σκεύη (# 5007) vessel. κεραμικός (# 3039) pottery, earthenware. συντρίβεται pres. ind. pass. συντρίβω (# 5341) to crush together, to smash (s. Ps. 2:9). ◆ 28 εἴληφα perf. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. δώσω fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ἀστέρα acc. sing. ἀστήρ (# 843) star. πρωϊνός (# 4748) morning (GELTS, 409); ἀστέρα πρωϊνόν, morning star. For extra biblical references to morning star s. Aune. In addition to authority over the nations the overcomer is promised the morning star, perhaps a symbol of sovereignty among the Romans (BBC). No completely satisfactory answer for this symbol has been offered (Mounce; s. also his listing of various possibilities). ◆ 29 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀκουσάτω aor. imp. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear (s.v. 7).

Revelation 3

◆ 1 Σάρδεις (# 4915) Sardis. Viewed as one of the great cites of primitive history, and in the Greek view long considered the greatest of all cities, Sardis was located 45 miles east of Smyrna in the Hermus River valley. It was founded about 700 B.C. and was the ancient capital of Lydia and because of its location was considered to be invincible. Under the rule of King Croesus (560-46 B.C.), famous for his riches–especially his gold (s. C.J. Hemer, "The Sardis Letter and the Croesus Tradition," NTS 19 [1972]: 94-97)–the city was defeated by Cyrus of Persia due to the city guards' failed caution. Herodotus relates how the city was fortified except for one area w. a sheer cliff. As one of the Persian soldiers observed a guard of the city retrieving his dropped helmet, the Persian figured he too could climb up the cliff; along with others he did, and took the city by surprise attack (Herodotus, 1:84). Polybius describes the fall of the city to Antiochus III in 214 B.C. occurring similarly from careless negligence. At an unguarded point in the wall, considered impossible to take, some brave and cunning soldiers put ladders against that spot one night and at dawn entered the city as the main force struck at the city's main gate (Polybius, 7:15-18). When the city was rebuilt in the time of Alexander the Great, it was dedicated to a local Asiatic goddess Cybele, who was worshipped along with Artemis and Attis, among others (NDIEC, 1:21-23). There was also an active Jewish population in the city (LSCA, 134-38; Helga Bottermann, "Die Synagoge von Sardis: Eine Synagoge aus dem 4. Jahrhundert?" ZNW [1990]: 103-21). The city and eleven others were destroyed by a tremendous surprise earthquake in A.D. 17 in the middle of the night (LSCA, 134; Pliny, NH, 2, 86:200; Tacitus, Annals, 2, 47:1-3). But Sardis was rebuilt (ANTC, 63-78; LSCA, 127-52; LSC, 354-90; Bean, 217-29; NW, 2, ii:1492-93; Thomas; Mounce; Aune; ABD, 6:73-75; BBC). γράψον aor. imp. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀστέρας (# 843) star (s. 2:28). οἶδά (# 3857) perf. ind. act. to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ὄνομα (# 3950) name, used here in the sense of reputation (LSCA, 143). ἔχεις pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ζῇς pres. ind. act. ζάω (# 2400) to live. Cybele and Attis were worshipped through the taurobolium, a rite by which the worshipper was rejuvenated w. the life force of a bull slain over him and by bathing in its blood. Cybele and Attis were also the guardians of the grave, and the afterlife was originally seen as a reunion w. the Earth Mother. The serpents associated w. the goddess Cybele were seen emerging from the earth to shed their skin, a sign they possessed the power of rejuvenation (LSCA, 138-40; Mounce; LSC, 363-65f; DDD, 405-6; DNP, 2:247-48; GGR, 2:640-57; RAC, 1:889-99; DRU, 1:110-11). εἶ pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 2 γίνου pres. imp. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. Pres. imp. calls for a continual attitude as a habit of life. γρηγορῶν pres. act. part. γρηγορέω (# 1213) to be awake, to be watchful, be alert. Adj. part. used as pred. nom. (AASS, 52; VA, 491). Although the city of Sardis was considered to be a natural citadel and incapable of capture, there were several times in the city's history that the city fell because of self-confidence and failure to watch (s.v. 1; LSC, 354-62; Mounce; C.J. Hemer, "The Sardis Letter and the Croesus Tradition," NTS 19 [1972]: 94-97). The earthquake of A.D. 17 surprised the city in the middle of the night (s.v. 1). στήρισον aor. imp. act. στηρίζω (# 5114) to make firm, to strengthen, to establish. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. τὰ λοιπά n. acc. pl. λοιπός (# 3370) rest, remaining. Though the words are n., they should be translated as "those who remain," "the rest," referring to those who are not yet dead, but who may be at the point of death (LSC, 166; Thomas). ἔμελλον impf. ind. act. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. Used w. inf. to express the fut. Impf. w. inf. expresses futurity or intention reckoned from a moment in the past (MKG, 307). ἀποθανεῖν aor. act. inf. ἀποθνῄσκω (# 633) to die. Aor. points to the act of dying. εὕρηκα perf. ind. act. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. Perf. indicates the continuing results. πεπληρωμένα perf. pass. part. (adj.) πληρόω (# 4444) to fill, to be filled. Their works have not measured up to God's standard (RWP). Perf. stresses the abiding condition. ἐνώπιον (# 1967) before. ◆ 3 μνημόνευε pres. imp. act. μνημονεύω (# 3648) to remember. εἴληφας perf. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. The word represents the faith as a trust. Perf. calls attention to the abiding responsibility of the trust received (Swete). ἤκουσας aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Aor. looks back to the moment when faith came by hearing (Swete). τήρει pres. imp. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep, to watch, to guard. Pres. calls for a continual watchful attitude. μετανόησον aor. imp. act. μετανοέω (# 3566) to change one's thinking, to repent (s. 2:5). γρηγορήσῃς aor. subj. act. γρηγορέω (# 1213) to be watchful. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) is used in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which views the cond. as a possibility. ἥξω fut. ind. act. ἥκω (# 2457) to come (note the history of the city alluded to, s. vs. 1-2). οὐ μή (# 4024; 3590) not in any wise. γνῷς aor. subj. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know. Subj. w. double neg. for strong denial. ποίαν acc. sing. ποῖος (# 4481) what kind of. The acc. here is acc. of time but looks more at a point of time rather than a long duration (RG, 470f; RWP; Mounce). ◆ 4 ἔχεις pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἐμόλυναν aor. ind. act. μολύνω (# 3662) to soil. The language recalls the inscription found in Asia Minor announcing that soiled garments disqualified the worshiper and dishonored the god (Ford). It is also often noted that since the manufacture and dying of woolen goods was a principle trade in Sardis, an allusion to defiled garments would be immediately recognized. It is unlikely, however, that any more than a general reference to the danger of contaminating the Christian witness by accommodation to the prevailing standards of a pagan city is in mind (Mounce). περιπατήσουσιν fut. ind. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about. λευκός (# 3328) white. The raiment here spoken of is the heavenly raiment or else the symbol of inner purity (Charles; Ford). The priest who served in the temple at Jerusalem wore black clothes and veiled himself in black if he had a blemish; but if he had no blemish, he wore white and was allowed to serve (M, Middoth, 5:4). For the views regarding the white garments and the possibility they refer here to the white-clad attendants of the conqueror walking in his triumphal procession s. LSC, 386-88; LSCA, 147). ◆ 5 νικῶν pres. act. part. (subst.) νικάω (# 3771) to win a victory, to be victorious, to overcome. περιβαλεῖται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) περιβάλλω (# 4314) to throw clothes around oneself, to clothe oneself. οὐ μή in no way (s.v. 3). ἐξαλείψω fut. ind. act. ἐξαλείφω (# 1981) to wipe out, to blot out. The OT book of life was a register of all who held citizenship in the theocratic community of Israel. The idea was also common in the secular world, where all Gr. and Roman cities of that time kept a list of citizens according to their class or tribe in which new citizens were entered and from which degraded citizens were expunged (Mounce; Ford; LSC, 385-86; LSCA, 148-50; BBC). Fut. w. the double neg. οὐ μή (# 4024; 3590) forms a strong denial as to what will not happen. The promise here is positive, that these will not in any way have their names blotted out (Thomas). ὁμολογήσω fut. ind. act. ὁμολογέω (# 3933) to confess, to acknowledge, to profess. ◆ 6 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀκουσάτω aor. imp. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. For this formula s. Rev. 2:7. λέγει pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to speak. ◆ 7 Φιλαδέλφει (# 5788) Philadelphia. The city was located on an important trade route, but its founding is somewhat uncertain. The city was destroyed by the great earthquake of A.D. 17 (s.v. 1), and even though it was rebuilt w. generous aid from Tiberius people often lived outside the city in the open for protection (LSC, 401-12; LSCA, 153-77; Aune; Thomas; Strabo, Geography, 12, 8:18; 13, 4:8). γράψον aor. imp. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. ἀληθινός (# 240) true, genuine. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. κλεῖν acc. sing. κλεῖς (# 3090) key. κλεῖν Δαυίδ. The key of David is a metaphorical expression indicating complete control over the royal household (Thomas; Mounce; Swete). ἀνοίγων pres. act. part. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. κλείσει fut. ind. act. κλείω (# 3091) to shut, to lock. κλείων pres. act. part. κλείω (# 3091) to shut. For a description of keys and locks in the ancient world and how they worked and were used as a symbol of power s. OCD, 573; KP, 5:18f; TDNT. ◆ 8 οἶδα (# 3857) perf. ind. act. to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ἰδού aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. δέδωκα perf. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ἠνεῳγμένην perf. pass. part. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. Perf. indicates the continuing condition, "a door standing open." The metaphor of the open door indicated the opportunity for preaching the gospel (Swete; SCA; LSCA, 162; s. 1 Cor. 16:9). δύναται pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. κλεῖσαι aor. act. inf. κλείω (# 3091) to shut. ἔχεις pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. ἐτήρησας aor. ind. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep (s.v. 3). ἠρνήσω aor. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀρνέομαι (# 766) to say no, to deny. The aor. forms refer to some distinct occasions in the past when, being put to the test, they had proved themselves faithful to Him (SCA). ◆ 9 ἰδού aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. διδῶ pres. ind. act. A late omega form for δίδωμι (# 1443) to give (RWP). The word could be understood as having a Heb. meaning w. a causative idea, "I will make," and pres. indicating fut. (AASS, 13; 34; Thomas; Charles; LSCA, 163). λεγόντων pres. act. part. (subst.) λέγω (# 3306) to say, to claim. εἶναι pres. act. inf. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Inf. in indir. discourse. ψεύδονται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ψεύδομαι (# 6017) to lie. Pres. indicates an habitual action. ποιήσω fut. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ἥξουσιν fut. ind. act. ἥκω (# 2457) to come. προσκυνήσουσιν fut. ind. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. γνῶσιν aor. subj. act. γινώσκω (# 1182) to know; here, "to acknowledge." ὅτι (# 4022) that; gives the content of the knowledge. ἠγάπησα aor. ind. act. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. The use of the personal pronoun ἐγώ (# 1609) focuses the attention on the subject. Perhaps some doubted Christ's love for the church (GGBB, 323). ◆ 10 ἐτήρησας aor. ind. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep. ὑπομονή (# 5705) remaining under, patient endurance. It is the spirit which can bear things not simply w. resignation, but w. blazing hope (NTW, 60; TDNT; NIDNTT; RAC, 9:255ff). τηρήσω fut. ind. act. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep. πειρασμός (# 4280) testing, temptation. Descriptive gen. here, indicating the nature of the hour. It could be a reference to a local persecution, but it is more in keeping w. the context and nature of Revelation to view this as the period of tribulation preceding the coming of Christ to the earth. The prep. ἐκ (# 1666) means that these would be kept from entering this period (Thomas). μελλούσης pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. The word is used w. inf. to express fut. ἔρχεσθαι pres. pass. inf. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. οἰκουμένης pres. pass. (subst.) part. οἰκέω (# 3876) to live. The word is used for the inhabited earth. πειράσαι aor. act. inf. πειράζω (# 4279) to try. κατοικοῦντας pres. act. (subst.) part. κατοικέω (# 2997) to dwell, to live on the earth. ◆ 11 ἔρχομαι (# 2262) pres. ind. mid. (dep.) to come. Pres. used to describe a fut. event w. great certainty. ταχύς (# 5444) quickly, soon. κράτει pres. imp. act. κρατέω (# 3195) to hold fast, to grasp. ἔχεις pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. λάβῃ aor. subj. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) is used in a neg. purp. cl. στέφανος (# 5109) crown; here as a symbol of reward (DLNT, 1040). ◆ 12 νικῶν pres. act. part. νικάω (# 3771) to be victorious. ποιήσω fut. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. στῦλος (# 5146) pillar. The metaphor of being a pillar in a temple is current in most languages and conveys the idea of stability and permanence (Mounce). The background may be that of the coronation of a king, which connects the believer w. the symbol of royal stability (Richard H. Wilkinson, "The ΣΤΥΛΟΣ of Revelation 3:12 and Ancient Coronation Rites," JBL 107 [1988]: 498-501). ἐξέλθῃ aor. subj. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. To a city that had experienced devastating earthquakes so that people fled into the countryside to establish temporary dwellings there, the promise of permanence within the New Jerusalem would have a special meaning (Mounce; LSC, 396f). Aor. subj. w. the double neg. οὐ μή (# 4024; 3590) stressing a strong denial (GGBB, 468). γράψω fut. ind. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. καταβαίνουσα pres. act. part. (adj.) καταβαίνω (# 2849) to come down. For the New Jerusalem s. Rev. 21:2. ◆ 13 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have, to possess. ἀκουσάτω aor. imp. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. The hopelessness of those who have no promise of an heavenly city is well illustrated by an inscription from a Philadelphia cemetery dated towards the end of the first century A.D. It reads, "Lysimachos made this grave for the lovely Antiochis, who died too early. Be of good cheer, for this is the same end (τὸ τέλος) for everyone" (GIZ, 25-26). ◆ 14 Λαοδίκει (# 3293) Laodicea. It was the most important city in the Lycus Valley and was located on an main trade route not far from Hierapolis and Colossae. It was named by Antioch II (261-46 B.C.) for his wife Laodice. An affluent Jewish population is attested by Cicero in his defense of the governor Flaccus, who seized 20 pounds of gold the Jews were going to send to Jerusalem (Cicero, Pro Flacco, 68; LSCA, 182-84; ANTC, 137; LSC, 420-22; Aune). The city was also a rich banking center and a manufacturing center, especially noted for its fine soft black wool which brought in much revenue (Strabo, Geography, 12, 8:16). It was also famous for its medical school where Demosthenes (surnamed Philalethes), a well-known ophthalmologist had studied (LSCA, 198; KP, 1:1487;

KGH, 2:431-33). There must have been a sizable and influential Jewish community in the city (LSCA, 182-86). Strabo relates how the whole area was constantly in danger of earthquakes; in the nearby village of Carura, where there were fountains of "boiling-hot waters" (ζεστῶν ὑδάτων), a brothel keeper and a large number of women were staying in the inns of the village when an earthquake struck at night and he and all of the women disappeared from sight (Strabo, Geography, 12, 8:16-17). γράψον aor. imp. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. ὁ Ἀμήν (# 297) the amen. The word conveys the idea of firmness, stability, and credibility (s. 1:6, 7). It has been suggested that the word goes back to Prov. 8:30 and is a transliteration of אמן ('amon), master workman, architect (Lou H. Silberman, "Farewell to O AMHN," JBL 82 [1963]: 213-15; LSCA, 185; for a study of the word and its use in Prov. 8:30 s. Cleon L. Rogers III, "The Meaning and Significance of the Hebrew Word אמון in Proverbs 8,30," ZAW 109 [1997]: 208-21). ὁ μάρτυς ὁ πιστὸς καὶ ἀληθινός (# 4412; 2779; 240) The faithful (trustworthy, reliable) and true (genuine) witness. This element in the character of Christ contrasts strongly w. the faithlessness and inconsistency of the Laodiceans in relation to the faith they professed (Beasley-Murray). ἀρχή (# 794) beginning, first, originator, initiator. The word here does not refer to time, but to the source of creation (Thomas; s. Col. 1:18). κτίσεως gen. sing. κτίσις (# 3232) creation. Obj. gen.: "He is the one who began creation!" ◆ 15 οἶδα (# 3857) perf. ind. act. to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. ψυχρός (# 6037) cold. εἶ pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ζεστός (# 2412) boiling, hot. ὄφελον (# 4054) Particle used to express an unattainable wish about the pres.: "I would that you were..." (RWP; BD, 37; 181-82). ἦς impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Cold water was useful as well as water that was boiling hot. The hot springs here may be those of Hierapolis (Strabo, Geography, 13, 4:14), some six miles from Laodicea, and the cold water may be that of Colossae (LSCA, 186-88). ◆ 16 χλιαρός (# 5950) warm, lukewarm. The contrast here is between the hot medicinal waters of Hierapolis and the cold, pure waters of Colossae. As the hot water flowed to Laodicea through pipes, it cooled and was probably only lukewarm when it arrived (LSCA, 188-91; Stanley E. Porter, "Why the Laodiceans Received Lukewarm Water [Revelation 3:15-18]," TB 38 [1987]: 143-49). Thus, the church in Laodicea was providing neither refreshment for its spiritual weary nor healing for the spiritual sick. It was totally ineffective and thus distasteful to the Lord (Mounce; BBC; Ford). μέλλω (# 3516) pres. ind. act. to be about to. ἐμέσαι aor. act. inf. ἐμέω (# 1840) to vomit, to reject w. disgust (RWP; SCA). ◆ 17 λέγεις pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say, to claim. ὅτι (# 4022) Used after the vb. λέγεις to introduce dir. speech and equivalent to quotation marks. πλούσιος (# 4454) rich, wealthy. For a discussion of poverty and wealth s. DLNT, 1051-53; DJG, 701-10; M. Hengel, Property and Riches in the Early Church (Philadelphia: Fortress, 1974). πεπλούτηκα perf. ind. act. πλουτέω (# 4456) to become rich, to be rich; my wealth is due to my own exertion (Swete). The city of Laodicea was known for its wealth (Ford; LSC, 416ff; Mounce). Perf. indicates the continuing state. ἔχω (# 2400) pres. ind. act. to have. χρείαν ἔχω "I have no need." οἶδας (# 3857) perf. ind. act. οἶδα to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. εἶ pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ταλαίπωρος (# 5417) miserable, wretched, unfortunate. The vb. and noun are used in the LXX to refer to ravaged lands, devastated countries, and pillaging and ravaging (Mic. 2:4; Joel 1:10; Jer.4:20; Zech. 11:2-3; GELTS, 468); here the adj. refers to the misery associated w. suffering and deprivation (TLNT; s. Rom. 7:24; for the word in Josephus s. CCFJ, 4:155). ἐλεεινός (# 1795) pitiable, miserable. The word indicates one set forth as an object of extreme pity; it is the feeling of one who is moved by the sight of another's suffering and in a way shares in it–compassion (TLNT; TDNT; SCA). πτωχός (# 4777) poor, extremely poor, poor as a beggar. τυφλός (# 5603) blind. Laodicea was widely known for its medical school and particularly famous for an eye salve made from Phrygian powder mixed w. oil (Mounce; LSC, 419f; Ford; KP, 1:733-34; DNP, 2:277-79; R.P. Jackson, "Eye Medicine in the Roman Empire," ANRW, 2, 37, 3:2226-51; LSCA, 196-99; OCD, 752; s.v 14, 18). γυμνός (# 1218) naked. The city was famous for its garments of glossy black wool (Ford; LSC, 416; LSCA, 199-201). To be poor, destitute, and blind in the ancient world–or in any society–is to be at one's wits end, without hope, destitute and in dire need! ◆ 18 συμβουλεύω (# 5205) pres. ind. act. to give counsel, to advise. ἀγοράσαι aor. act. inf. ἀγοράζω (# 60) to buy, to buy at the market. Compl. inf. explaining the content of the counsel. πεπυρωμένον perf. pass. part. πύροω (# 4792) to burn; pass., to be refined. πλουτήσῃς aor. subj. act. πλουτέω (# 4456) to be rich. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. περιβάλῃ aor. subj. mid. (dir. mid., "to clothe oneself") περιβάλλω (# 4314) to clothe. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. φανερωθῇ aor. subj. pass. φανερόω (# 5746) to make known, to make clear; pass., to be manifest, to be revealed. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) and μή (# 3590) to express neg. purp. αἰσχύνη (# 158) shame. γυμνότη (# 1219) nakedness. In the biblical world nakedness was a symbol of judgment and humiliation (Mounce). κολλούριον (# 3141) salve, eye salve. The word was used of a yellow salve to treat discharges, wounds, bruises, and weals (Oxyrhynchus Papyri, 8:110-15, # 1088); but it was also used for eye salve (DMTG, 207; KP, 3:272; RAC, 1:972-75; KGH, 2:432-33; NDIEC, 3:56-57; LSCA, 196-99; LSC, 419, 429; Pliny, NH, 34:105-6). An inscription mentions four types of eye salve, such as myrrh and nardensalve (RI, 298). The Phrygian powder was apparently applied to the eyes in the form of a doughy paste (Mounce; s.v. 17). ἐγχρῖσαι aor. act. inf. ἐγχρίζω (# 1608) to anoint w. salve. In an inscription from Melitus the account is given of a blind man who is told to mix blood from a white rooster w. honey and apply it as eye salve for 3 days, after which he was able to see again (κολλύριον συντρῖψαι ... ἐπιχρεῖσαι ... ἀνέβλεψεν) (SIG, 3:322-33 # 1173). Compl. inf. w. vb. συμβουλεύω βλέπῃς pres. subj. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. or intended result. The local facts of the city are used to present Christ as the source of the remedy for the church's hidden needs of spiritual wealth, vision, and holiness (LSCA, 2001). ◆ 19 ὅσος (# 4012) how many; those belonging to the same class or group (BAGD). φιλῶ pres. subj. act. φιλέω (# 5797) to be fond of, to love. The word refers to affection, pure and simple–attachment, sympathy, and good will–always marked by a kindly attitude; and here it is a tenderer word than ἀγαπᾶν (TLNT, 1:10; SC). In the case of the Philadelphian church, He esteemed (ἠγάπησε) it; in the case of the Laodicean, He loves it (φιλεῖ). The former is w. His judgment; the latter w. gratuitous affection (Bengel). ἐλέγχω (# 1794) pres. ind. act. to rebuke, to state that someone has done wrong, w. the implication that there is adequate proof of such wrongdoing and the person is convinced and brought to the acknowledgement of his fault (LN, 1:436; SC). παιδεύω (# 4084) pres. ind. act. to discipline, to train as a child (TDNT; PIGC). Customary pres. indicating that which He habitually does. ζήλευε pres. imp. act. ζηλεύω (# 2418) to be zealous. μετανόησον aor. imp. act. μετανοέω (# 3566) to repent (s. 2:5). ◆ 20 ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἕστηκα perf. ind. act. ἵστημι (# 2705) to place; perf., to stand. κρούω (# 3218) pres. ind. act. to knock. No one dared to enter a house without first knocking and being invited to enter. Perhaps the people were accustomed to having travellers knock at their door, or they may have recalled the Romans forcing their way into houses demanding food and lodging (SB, 3:798; LSCA, 201-5). Pres. indicates the continual knocking. ἀκούσῃ aor. subj. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) is used in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which assumes the cond. to be possible. ἀνοίξῃ aor. subj. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. εἰσελεύσομαι fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰέρχομαι (# 1656) to come in; to come in toward a person (GGBB, 380-82). δειπνήσω fut. ind. act. δειπνέω (# 1268) to eat, to eat a meal, to partake of a banquet. The word refers to the meal at the end of the day, the principal meal and the usual occasion for hospitality (Swete). For a description of a Jewish banquet s. SB, 4, ii:611-39; for a Hellenistic or Greek eating and drinking and dinner (δεῖπνον) s. KGH, 2:42-69; DGRA, 303-6; for a Roman dinner (coena) s. DGRA, 306-9; LLAR, 32-53;DJG, 796-800. The reference may be to the eschatological banquet of the Messiah or may simply indicate close friendship and fellowship. ◆ 21 νικῶν pres. act. part. (subst.) νικάω (# 3771) to overcome. δώσω fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. καθίσαι aor. act. inf. καθίζω (# 2767) to sit, to cause to sit. Inf. of purp. or result. For a discussion of sitting at the right hand in light of Ps. 110:1 s. David M. Hay, Glory at the Right Hand: Psalm 110 in Early Christianity (Nashville: Abingdon Press, 1973) in general, particularly, 80-81. ἐνίκησα aor. ind. act. νικάω (# 3771) to overcome. ἐκάθισα aor. ind. act. καθίζω. ◆ 22 ἔχων pres. act. part. (subst.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀκουσάτω aor. imp. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear (s.v. 6).

◆ 1 μετὰ ταῦτα (# 3552; 4047) after these things. This transition marker marks the beginning of a new vision and the change is from the church on earth to a vision of heaven's court (Thomas). εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. The phrase εἶδον, καὶ ἰδού ("I saw and behold") serves to introduce a new vision of special importance (Swete; Charles). ἠνεῳγμένη perf. pass. part. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. Perf. could suggest that the door had been opened and left that way for John's arrival (Mounce). ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. σάλπιγγος gen. sing. σάλπιγξ (# 4894) trumpet. For a discussion of the trumpet voice and visions s. DLNT, 1182-84. λαλούσης pres. act. part. (adj.) λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Pleonastic part. under Semitic influence (s. 1:17). ἀνάβα aor. imp. act. ἀναβαίνω (# 326) to go up. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. δείξω fut. ind. act. δείκνυμι (# 1259) to show, to exhibit. δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. it is necessary, w. inf. The vision that follows in an anticipation of a fut. yet to be accomplished a prophecy of the things to take place after the present time, as described in Revelation 2-3. V. 1 signals a decisive turn to the fut. (Swete; Bousset; Harrington; 1:19). γενέσθαι aor. mid. (dep.) inf. γίνομαι (# 1181) to happen. ◆ 2 εὐθέως (# 2311) adv., immediately. ἐγενόμην aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to happen. ἰδού aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἔκειτο impf. ind. mid. (dep.) κεῖμαι (# 3023) to lie, to stand. The vb. is used as the pass. of the vb. τίθημι (RWP; Swete). καθήμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. John is allowed to see the throne room of the heavenly palace where his eyes fall first on the ruler's throne, the kind used by kings and presiding judges. The one enthroned in heaven can only be the King of all kings who ruled and Judge of the whole world (Lohse). ◆ 3 καθήμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ὁράσει dat. sing. ὅρασις (# 3970) sight, appearance. Dat. of reference or respect, "in reference to appearance." ἰάσπιδι dat. sing. ἴασπις (# 2618) jasper stone. Perhaps this ancient stone was a translucent rock crystal found in a variety of colors (Pliny, NH, 37:115-17); or perhaps a diamond, suggesting such qualities as majesty, holiness, or purity (BAGD; Mounce). Dat. after the adj. ὅμοιος (# 3927) similar, like. σάρδιον (# 4917) carnelian, sardius stone. This was a blood-red stone said to be named after Sardis, near where it was found, and one of the most commonly used gems in the ancient world (Pliny, NH, 37:105-7). The stone may be interpreted as wrath or judgment (Mounce). ἶρις (# 2692) rainbow, rainbow-colored. The word may indicate the halo of emerald encircling the throne (Swete). κυκλόθεν (# 3239) w. gen., encircling. σμαράγδινος (# 5039) made of emerald. Pliny writes that there are twelve kinds of smaragdus, or emeralds, and he gives a description of each (Pliny, NH, 37:62-75). If the rainbow that surrounded the throne was a halo, then the emerald is usually pictured as green; otherwise it is a colorless crystal that would refract a rainbow of prismatic colors and speak of God's mercy (Mounce; Ford). ◆ 4 καθημένους pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. περιβεβλημένους perf. pass. part. (adj.) περιβάλλω (# 4314) to throw around; pass., to be clothed. λευκός (# 3328) white. κεφαλάς acc. pl. κεφαλή (# 3051) head. χρυσοῦς (# 5991) golden. The 24 elders clothed in white robes w. golden crowns could represent the church (Seiss; Walvoord; Scott), or the faithful of all ages (Charles). Others would interpret them as being an exalted angelic order who serve and adore God as an angelic priesthood (Mounce; Govett; Thomas; Aune, Excursus 4A: "The Twenty-Four Elders," 287-92). ◆ 5 ἐκπορεύονται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐκπορεύομαι (# 1744) to go out from, to proceed from. Pres. vividly describes the action of the vision in progress. ἀστραπή (# 847) lightning. βροντή (# 1103) thunder. The thunderstorm is in Heb. poetry a familiar symbol of the divine power and glory (Swete). λαμπάδες nom. pl. λαμπάς (# 3286) torch (s. Exod. 20:18 LXX: καὶ πᾶς λαὸς ἑώρα τὴν φωνὴν καὶ τὰς λαμπάδας; s. also Charles). πυρός gen. sing. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. Descriptive gen. καιόμεναι pres. pass. part. (adj.) καίομαι (# 2794) to burn; pass. to be burning. ◆ 6 ὑάλινος (# 5612) made of glass. κρύσταλλος (# 3223) crystal. It was a pavement of glass resembling an expanse of water clear as rock crystal (Swete; ABD, 5:1059). μέσος (# 3545) middle. κύκλος (# 3241) circle, encircling, around. It is an adv. in the loc. used here as a prep. This seems to mean that one of the four living creatures was on each of the four sides of the throne, either stationary or moving rapidly around (RWP). The exact location is a bit uncertain but "in the midst" apparently means in the immediate vicinity. Thus, they surround the throne as an inner circle (Mounce). The vision may be that of the mercy seat so the living creatures form a part of the throne; they are in the midst of the throne as constituents of it and the Lamb is in the midst of the throne as its occupant (Robert G. Hall, "Living Creatures in the Midst of the Throne: Another Look at Revelation 4.6," NTS 36 [1990]: 614-18). ζῷα nom. pl. ζῷον (# 2442) living, that which is alive, living creature. It refers to beings that are not human and yet not really animals of the usual kind (BAGD). Josephus uses the word for earthly animals (CCFJ, 2:280), but also for the cherubim on the mercy seat whom he says were winged creatures (ζῷα δέ ἐστι πετεινά) in a form unlike any man's eyes have seen (Jos., Ant., 1:137; R. Hall, NTS 36 [1990]: 610-11). For a comparison to Ezekiel's vision s. SB, 3:799-800; for a discussion of their identity s. Thomas; Mounce. γέμοντα pres. act. part. γέμω (# 1154) to be full of. ἔμπροσθεν (# 1869) in front. ὄπισθεν (# 3957) behind, in back of. ◆ 7 λέοντι dat. sing. λέων (# 3329) lion. μόσχος (# 3675) a young steer, calf. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. πρόσωπον (# 4725) face. ἀετός (# 108) eagle. The four forms suggest the noblest, strongest, wisest, and swiftest in the animal world (Swete). The beings here are heavenly creatures who serve and worship God. πετομένῳ pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) πέτομαι (# 4375) to fly. ◆ 8 ἓν καθ' ἓν αὐτῶν one by one of them, one after the other (BAGD). ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀνά (# 324) each one, one by one, the distributive use of the prep. (BAGD). πτέρυγας acc. pl. πτέρυξ (# 4763) wing. ἕξ (# 1971) six. κυκλόθεν (# 3239) all around, from all sides. ἔσωθεν (# 2277) within. γέμουσιν pres. ind. act. γέμω (# 1154) to be full of. ἀνάπαυσις (# 398) ceasing, pause, rest. ἔχουσιν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἡμέρας καὶ νυκτός (# 2465; 2779; 3816) day and night. Gen. of time, describing the time in which the action took place (GGBB, 122-23); in this case, "continually, in the nighttime and in the daytime." λέγοντες pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. παντοκράτωρ (# 4120) almighty (s. Rev. 1:8). ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be (s. 1:4). ὢν pres. mid. part. εἰμί. ἐρχόμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. ◆ 9 ὅταν (# 4020) when, whenever. δώσουσιν fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. εὐχαριστία (# 2374) thanksgiving. καθημένῳ pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ζῶντι pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. ◆ 10 πεσοῦνται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) πίπτω (# 4406) to fall, to fall down. καθημένου pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. προσκυνήσουσιν fut. ind. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. ζῶντι pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. βαλοῦσιν fut. ind. act. βάλλω (# 965) to throw. λέγοντες pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ◆ 11 εἶ pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. λαβεῖν aor. act. inf. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, to receive. Inf. is used in explaining the adj. ἄξιος (# 545) worthy. ἔκτισας aor. ind. act. κτίζω (# 3231) to create. ἦσαν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. Impf. views the state of creation, i.e., creation's existence, and the following aor. pass. looks at the fact of the beginning of its existence (Thomas; Ladd). ἐκτίσθησαν aor. ind. pass. κτίζω (# 3231) to create. Theol. pass. indicates God was the agent.

Revelation 5

◆ 1 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. δεξιός (# 1288) right. καθημένου pres. mid. (dep.) part. (subst.) κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. βιβλίον (# 1046) book, scroll, document. This is a term used for writing material of papyrus, leather, skin, or parchment (Ford). γεγραμμένον perf. pass. part. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Perf. indicates the completed action and was often used of legal authoritative documents whose authority continued (MM; TDNT). ἔσωθεν (# 2277) within. ὄπισθεν (# 3957) on the back. That the scroll is also written on the back indicates how extensive and comprehensive are the decrees of God (Mounce). κατεσφραγισμένον perf. pass. part. κατασφραγίζομαι (# 2958) to seal, to seal up, to seal completely and securely (Swete). σφραγίς (# 5382) seal. Seals were used as a stamping device in place of signatures to validate a document. The impression was normally made on clay, wax, or some other soft material (Ford; TDNT; Max Kaser, Roman Private Law [Durban, South Africa: Butterworths, 1968], 42-43; LAW, 1094-98, 2795; DLNT, 1084-86; BBC; DGRA, 95-96). According to Roman law a testament or will was sealed w. seven seals by seven witnesses (Bousset; Emmet Russell, "A Roman Law Parallel to Rev. V," Bib Sac 115 [1958]: 258-64; Buckland, 238f). The testimony of witnesses not present at a trial was also sealed, then opened by the court and read aloud (s. Max Kaser, Das römische Zivilpozessrecht [München: Verlag C.H. Beck, 1966], 283). The book spoken of here seems to be the book of God's decrees containing the full account of what God in His sovereign will has determined as the destiny of the world (Mounce; Bousset; Thomas; Roland Bergmeier, "Die Buchrolle und das Lamm [Apk 5 und 10]," ZNW 76 [1985]: 225-42). Note also the Greek style "double document," where a summary is attached to the top of the longer form of the document (Anthony J. Saldarini, "Babatha's," BAR 24 [1998]: 36). ◆ 2 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἰσχυρός (# 2708) strong. κηρύσσοντα pres. act. part. (adj.) κηρύσσω (# 3062) to proclaim, to cry out as a herald (TDNT; EDNT). ἀνοῖξαι aor. act. inf. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. λῦσαι aor. act. inf. λύω (# 3395) to loose, to remove. Epex. infs. explaining the adj. ἄξιος (# 545) worthy. Aor. points to a specific act. ◆ 3 ἐδύνατο impf. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. ὑποκάτω (# 5691) down under, underneath. ἀνοῖξαι aor. act. inf. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. Compl. inf. to the main vb. βλέπειν pres. act. inf. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ◆ 4 ἔκλαιον impf. ind. act. κλαίω (# 3081) to cry, to weep aloud, to wail. The word is frequently used to mean professional mourning (Ford). Impf. pictures the continual action. εὑρέθη aor. ind. pass. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. ἀνοῖξαι aor. act. inf. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. Epex. inf. explaining the adj. ἄξιος (# 545) worthy. βλέπειν pres. act. inf. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. ◆ 5 εἷς (# 1651) one. κλαῖε pres. imp. act. κλαίω (# 3081) to cry. Pres. imp. w. neg. μή (# 3590) calls for the stopping of an action in progress. ἰδού aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἐνίκησεν aor. ind. act. νικάω (# 3771) to win a victory, to be victor, to overcome. Consummative aor. stressing the cessation or completion of the act (GGBB, 559-60). λέων (# 3329) lion. The lion, an emblem of strength, majesty, courage, authority, and menace, as well as symbolic of intellectual excellence, was often applied to the Messiah as the national ruler from the tribe of David (Ford; Cleon L. Rogers, Jr., "The Davidic Covenant in Acts-Revelation," Bib Sac 151 [1994]: 83; TDOT; SB, 3:801; Charles; BBC. φυλή (# 5876) tribe. ῥίζα (# 4844) root. The word suggests a stump of a tree that has been cut down, out of which develops a "root" that eventually becomes a tree again (s. Isa 11:1; s. the DSS text 6Q8, 2 where the sons of Noah are referred to as "roots" which will produce again; s. AT, 265; MPAT, 78-79). The connotation here is that the nation of Israel has been cut down, but now One from the dynasty of David has the right to rule so that the tree will flourish again (Cleon L. Rogers, Jr., "The Davidic Covenant in Acts-Revelation," Bib Sac 151 [1994]: 83; Kenneth E. Pomykala, The Davidic Dynasty Tradition in Early Judaism: Its History and Significance for Messianism [Atlanta, Ga.: Scholars Press, 1995]). ἀνοῖξαι aor. act. inf. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. The word is used of unrolling a book (Charles). Inf. to express purp. or result. ◆ 6 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. μέσος (# 3545) in the middle. ζῷον (# 2442) living creature. ἀρνίον (# 768) lamb, little lamb (s. John 1:29; Donald Guthrie, "The Lamb in the Structure of the Book of Revelation," Vox Evangelica 12 [1981]: 64-71; Aune, Excursus 5A: "Christ as Lamb," 1:367-73; BTNT, 193-94; DLNT, 641-44; DJG, 432-34). This word for lamb is used exclusively in Rev. of the resurrected and victorious Christ, the crucified Messiah (Mounce; Bergmeier, "Die Buchrolle und das Lamm [Apk 5 und 10]," ZNW 76 [1985]: 230-35). ἑστηκός perf. act. part. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand. ἐσφαγμένον perf. past. part. σφάζω (# 5377) to slaughter, to slaughter a sacrifice. Perf. indicates the lasting effects. The Lamb has been offered, yet it stands erect and alive in the sight of heaven (Swete). ἔχων pres. act. part. (adj.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Some have felt that the use of the part. shows Semitic or LXX influence and is like the prep. ל (l^{e}) denoting possession (AASS, 109-10; Daryl D. Schmidt, "Semitisms and Septuagintalisms in the Book of Revelation," NTS 37 [1991]: 603; but s. Beyer, 208-9). κέρας (# 3043) horn. The horn is proverbially a symbol of courage, strength, and might (Ford; TDNT; SB, 2:110-11; Rogers, "Davidic Covenant in the Gospels," Bib Sac

150 [1993]: 467). ὀφθαλμός (# 4057) eye. The seven horns stress that He is omnipotent and the seven eyes stress that He is omniscient (Thomas). John sees a lamb w. seven horns and seven eyes bearing the wounds of sacrificial slaughter, yet standing in readiness for action. In one brilliant stroke John portrays his central theme of NT; revelation–victory through sacrifice (Mounce; s. also DLNT, 283-84). ἀπεσταλμένοι perf. pass. part. ἀποστέλλω (# 690) to send, to send as an official representative (EDNT; TDNT). The vb. has reference to the mission of the Spirit (Swete). ◆ 7 ἦλθεν aor. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. εἴληφεν perf. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive, to take. Rather than being an aoristic, perf., here the perf. is like a highly dramatic historical pres. (K.L. McKay, "Syntax in Exegesis," TB 23 [1972]: 54; NSV, 50). καθημένου pres. mid. (dep.) part. (subst.) κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ◆ 8 ἔλαβεν aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive, to take. ἔπεσαν aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall; here, to fall down in worship. ἔχοντες pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. κιθάρα (# 3067) harp. This is the general term for a kind of harp or lyre (Ford; Thomas; s. 1 Cor. 14:7). φιάλας acc. pl. φιάλη (# 5786) bowl. This was a flat, shallow cup or bowl for drinking or libations (Mounce). χρυσᾶς acc. pl. χρυσοῦς (# 5991) golden. γεμούσας aor. act. part. γέμω (# 1154) to be full of. θυμίαμα (# 2592) incense. In Judaism the angels were considered to be the carriers of the prayers of men (SB, 3:807-8). Incense was used to produce fragrant perfumes both in secular and liturgical life (Ford; s. Matt. 2:11). ◆ 9 ᾄδουσιν pres. ind. act. ᾄδω (# 106) to sing. During the Hellenistic period a new kind of music was introduced to the Greek world. Concerts in great amphitheaters w. huge choirs and professional singers accompanied by instrumental music played on stringed instruments, flutes, percussion instruments and even a water organ, were staged. Large choirs made up of virgins sang at weddings and the singers in the temples of worship were often under special protection of the king (KGH, 2:622-43). ᾠδή (# 6046) song. The idea of a new song grows out of the use of the expression in the Psalms. Every new act of mercy calls forth a new song of gratitude and praise (Mounce). Judaism taught that Israel will first sing a new song in the days of the Messiah as a song of praise for the miracle of deliverance (SB, 3:801-2). The hymns were to encourage those undergoing persecution (DLNT, 524-25). ἄξιος (# 545) worthy. εἶ pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. λαβεῖν aor. act. inf. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. The inf. is used to explain the adj. ἄξιος. ἀνοῖξαι aor. act. inf. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. ἐσφάγης aor. ind. pass. σφάζω (# 5377) to slaughter. ἠγόρασας aor. ind. act. ἀγοράζω (# 60) to buy at the marketplace, to redeem. γλώσσης gen. sing. γλῶσσα (# 1185) tongue, language. ◆ 10 ἐποίησας aor. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make, to constitute. βασιλεύσουσιν fut. ind. act. βασιλεύω (# 996) to be a king, to rule as king, to reign. ◆ 11 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. κύκλῳ (# 3241) encircling, round about. ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἀριθμός (# 750) number. Now it is the innumerable host of angels who lift their voices in a great doxology of praise. Their number is an apocalyptic symbol for countless thousands (Mounce). μυριάδες nom. pl. μυριας (# 3689) sing., myriad, 10,000; pl., a very large undefined number (BAGD). This is the largest single number used in Greek. The double use refers to an innumerable number (BBC). ◆ 12 λέγοντες pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἐσφαγμένον perf. pass. part. σφάζω (# 5377) to slaughter. Perf. indicates the abiding effects. λαβεῖν aor. act. inf. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. Inf. explaining the adj. ἄξιον (# 545) worthy. δύναμις (# 1539) power. ἰσχύς (# 2709) strength, might (s. Eph. 1:19). εὐλογία (# 2330) praise (Bousset). ◆ 13 κτίσμα (# 3233) that which is created, creation. ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λέγοντας pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ◆ 14 ἔλεγον impf. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Inceptive impf., "they began to say," or iterat. impf., "they said over and over again." ἔπεσαν aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. προσεκύνησαν aor. ind. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. For worship in Rev. s. DLNT, 1235-38.

Revelation 6

◆ 1 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἤνοιξεν aor. ind. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open, to break the seal. With the opening of the first seal the beginning of the seven-year tribulation period is described. The Jews considered this a time of unprecedented trouble and judgment that preceded the messianic salvation. This time of judgment for Israel and for the whole world was called the "birth pains of the Messiah," indicating ever increasing severity of judgement until the Messiah appears (s. Matt. 24:8; esp. SB, 4:858-80, 976-1015; Moore, Judaism, 2:360-63; b. Sanh., 98a-97a; b. Shab., 118a; M, Sota 9:15). ἀρνίον (# 768) lamb (s. 5:6). It is the lamb who controls the world's destiny and pours out his wrath upon the world. σφραγίδων gen. pl. σφραγίς (# 5382) seal (s. 5:1). ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ζῷον (# 2442) living creature. λέγοντος pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. βροντή (# 1103) thunder. Here gen. of description. ἔρχου pres. imp. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. Imp. as invitation. Pres. imp. is often used w. a vb. of motion (VANT, 341-45). ◆ 2 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἵππος (# 2691) horse. The rabbis believed the appearance of a white horse was a favorable sign. In the later rabbinic writings the coming of the Messiah was associated w. the sight of a horse. Perhaps war horses were associated w. the messianic woes, i.e., the suffering that would precede the advent of the Messiah (Ford). λευκός (# 3328) white. καθήμενος pres. mid. part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ἔχων pres. act. part. (adj.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have (s. 5:6). τόξον (# 5534) bow. The bow is not only the weapon of the Parthians, the most feared enemies of the Romans, but in general a weapon of attack all nations feared. It is part of the typical cavalry equipment of all Oriental armies and the particular weapon of the king (Mathias Rissi, "The Rider on the White Horse," Interp. 18 [1964]: 414; BBC). In the OT this was a sign of divine judgment. ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. στέφανος (# 5109) crown. ἐξῆλθεν aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. νικῶν pres. act. part. νικάω (# 3771) to conquer. Part. of manner describing his going out. Pres. may be conative, "trying to conquer." νικήσῃ aor. subj. act. νικάω (# 3771) to be the victor, to overcome, to conquer. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used in a purp. cl. Some have felt that the rider on the white horse is Christ himself (Zane Hodges, "The First Horseman of the Apocalypse," Bib Sac 119 [1962]: 324-34), or the Antichrist–the "man of sin" (Rissi, Inter. 18:407-18; Mounce; Walvoord; Ford); or else not specific individual but a peace movement that can only offer a temporary peace (Thomas). ◆ 3 ἤνοιξεν aor. ind. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λέγοντος pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἔρχου pres. imp. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. ◆ 4 ἐξῆλθεν aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to come out. πυρρός (# 4794) fiery, red. The color represents bloodshed and sin (Ford). καθημένῳ pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. λαβεῖν aor. act. inf. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. Epex. inf. explaining that which was given. σφάξουσιν fut. ind. act. σφάξω (# 5377) to slaughter. The term indicates death by violence. Fut. ind. is used here in an epex. explanatory purp. cl. (RWP). For the use here of the ind. rather than the subj. s. MT, 100. ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. μάχαιρα (# 3479) sword. This was the short Roman sword symbolic of violent death, war, and the power of the authorities to punish evildoers (Mounce; Ford). ◆ 5 ἤνοιξεν aor. ind. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λέγοντος pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἔρχου pres. imp. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come (s.v. 1). ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. μέλας (# 3506) black. This color is symbolic of mourning, affliction, or famine (Ford; Mounce). καθήμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ζυγός (# 2433) scales. The beam of a pair of scales (Swete). This suggests rationing or famine (BBC). ◆ 6 ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λέγουσαν aor. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Χοῖνιξ (# 5955) quart. This was a dry measure of about a quart, approximately 1.92 pints. One of these was a man's daily ration (Ford). σῖτος (# 4992) grain. Grain was the mainstay of daily food. Here gen. of content. δηνάριον (# 1324) denarius (DGRA, 393-94). This Roman silver coin equivalent to one day's wages indicates here that enough wheat to feed one man for one day cost a full day's wages. The cost of wheat here is five to twelve times its normal price, indicating famine (Ford; Mounce). Gen. of price here in a distributive sense, "per denarius" (MKG, 189; GGBB, 122). κριθῶν gen. pl. κριθή (# 3208) barley. Barley, primarily the food of the poor, was relatively cheaper than wheat (Swete). For a discussion of prices for wheat and barley, especially in Rome–and grain shortages s. ERE, 120-237, 345-47; BAFCS, 2:59-78; JTJ, 120-23. ἔλαιον (# 1778) oil, olive oil. ἀδικήσῃς aor. subj. act. ἀδικέω (# 92) to injure, to do harm to. Subj. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) is used to express a prohibition or neg. command. Ingressive aor., "do not begin to hurt" (Thomas). ◆ 7 ἤνοιξεν aor. ind. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λέγοντος pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἔρχου pres. imp. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come (s.v. 1). ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ◆ 8 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. χλωρός (# 5952) green, pale. The word means a yellowish green, but refers here to the color of a corpse or the blanched appearance of a person struck w. terror (Ford; Mounce). καθήμενος pres. mid. (dep.) κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ἐπάνω (# 2062) upon, on. ᾅδης (# 87) Hades, the place of the dead, the underworld (s. Rev. 1:18). ἠκολούθει impf. ind. act. ἀκολουθέω (# 199) to follow after, to follow. ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ἀποκτεῖναι aor. act. inf. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. Epex. inf. to explain ἐξουσία (# 2026) the authority that was given. ῥομφαίᾳ (# 4855) sword. This was the sword w. the large blade (s. Rev. 1:16). The word is used w. prep. ἐν (# 1877) in an instr. sense, "w. the sword." λιμός (# 3350) hunger. θάνατος (# 2505) death; here, plague. θηρίον (# 2563) wild animal, wild beast. Death by wild beasts would be expected in a land decimated by war and famine (Mounce). ◆ 9 ἤνοιξεν aor. ind. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ὑποκάτω (# 5691) under, underneath. θυσιαστήριον (# 2603) place of offering, altar. ἐσφαγμένων perf. pass. part. σφάζω (# 5377) to slaughter, to slay. The souls of the slaughtered ones are seen under the altar because in the Levitical rite the blood was poured out at the foot of the altar (Swete). For a discussion of persecution s. DLNT, 908-14. εἶχον impf. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ◆ 10 ἔκραξαν aor. ind. act. κράζω (# 3189) to scream out, to cry. λέγοντες pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἕως πότε (# 2401; 4536) until when?, how long? These words echo through the OT: Ps. 6:3; 13:1-2; 35:17; 74:9-10; Isa. 6:11; Jer. 47:6; Zech. 1:12 (Harrington). 1 Enoch gives a description of those who cry out to the Almighty God for vengeance (1 Enoch 9:3-11). δεσπότης (# 1305) lord, master, ruler, one who exercises absolute authority.

ἀληθινός (# 240) true, genuine. κρίνεις pres. ind. act. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. ἐκδικεῖς pres. ind. act. ἐκδικέω (# 1688) to avenge, to revenge, to execute vengeance. For a study of the imprecatory prayers in Rev. s. Thomas, 1:517-24. κατοικούντων pres. act. part. (subst.) κατοικέω (# 2997) to reside, to dwell. ◆ 11 ἐδόθη aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. στολή (# 5124) robe. The word refers to any stately robe and as long, sweeping garments they eminently would have this stateliness about them. Always or almost always it refers to a garment reaching to the feet, or else train-like, sweeping the ground (Trench, Synonyms, 186). ἐρρέθη aor. ind. pass. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Pass. is the divine or theol. pass. indicating that God is the one who does the action (BG, 76). ἀναπαύσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀναπαύομαι (# 399) to cease, to pause, to rest. Fut. mid. used in the subfinal cl. is to be preferred rather than the aor. mid. subj. (RWP). πληρωθῶσιν aor. subj. pass. πληρόω (# 4444) to fill, to fulfill. σύνδουλος (# 5281) fellow slave. μέλλοντες pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. The vb. is used w. the inf. to express the immediate fut. ἀποκτέννεσθαι pres. pass. inf. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. ◆ 12 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἤνοιξεν aor. ind. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. σεισμός (# 4939) earthquake. Earthquakes were often used to introduce God's judgment (s. Richard Bauckham, "The Eschatological Earthquake in the Apocalypse of John," Nov T 19 [1977]: 224-33; Amos Nur and Hagai Ron, "Earthquake! Inspiration for Armageddon," BAR 23 [1997]: 48-55; Isa. 24:17-23; also Rev. 3:7, 14 for earthquakes in Asia Minor). ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to happen, to occur, to be. σάκκος (# 4884) sackcloth. It was the rough cloth made from the hair of a black goat and worn in times of mourning (Mounce). τρίχινος (# 5570) made of hair. σελήνη (# 4943) moon. ◆ 13 ἀστέρες nom. pl. ἀστήρ (# 843) star. ἔπεσαν aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. γῆ (# 1178) earth. συκῆ (# 5190) fig tree. βάλλει pres. ind. act. βάλλω (# 965) to throw, to cast. Gnomic pres. picturing that which is always true. ὄλυνθος (# 3913) fig, unripe fig. The word means the green figs that appear in winter and of which, though some ripen, many drop off in spring (Swete). ἄνεμος (# 449) wind. σειομένη pres. pass. part. σείω (# 4940) to shake. The world and its well-being depend on the faithfulness w. which the heavenly luminaries fulfill their roles. When the sun, moon, and stars forsake this order, the end of the world is at hand (Charles). ◆ 14 ἀπεχωρίσθη aor. ind. pass. ἀποχωρίζω (# 714) to tear apart, to rip apart. βιβλίον (# 1046) book, scroll, roll. ἑλισσόμενον pres. pass. part. ἑλίσσω (# 1813) to roll up. The image is of a rent papyrus, whereupon the divided portions curl and form a roll on either side (Charles). ὄρος (# 4001) mountain. νῆσος (# 3762) island. ἐκινήθησαν aor. ind. pass. κινέω (# 3075) to move. ◆ 15 μεγιστάν (# 3491) great one, mighty one, magistrate, the civil official in authority (Swete). χιλίαρχος (# 5941) leaders of a thousand soldiers, tribune. The term was commonly used of the military tribune no matter how many he commanded. The word refers to the military authorities (Ford; Swete). πλούσιοι (# 4454) rich, wealthy. ἰσχυρός (# 2708) powerful. δοῦλος (# 1528) slave. ἐλεύθερος (# 1801) freeman, free, those who were no longer slaves. The seven conditions of life are named, covering the whole fabric of society from the emperor down to the meanest slave (Swete). ἔκρυψαν aor. ind. act. κρύπτω (# 3221) to hide. σπήλαιον (# 5068) cave. ◆ 16 λέγουσιν pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. πέσετε aor. imp. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. κρύψατε aor. imp. act. κρύπτω (# 3221) to hide. πρόσωπον (# 4725) face. καθημένου pres. mid. (dep.) κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ὀργή (# 3973) wrath, anger. ὀργῆς τοῦ ἀρνίου wrath of the lamb. The "wrath of the lamb" is a deliberate paradox by which John intends to goad his readers into theological alertness (Caird; DLNT, 1238-41). ◆ 17 ἦλθεν aor. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. δύναται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to able to. σταθῆναι aor. pass. inf. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand, to hold one's ground (Swete). Compl. inf. to the main vb.

Revelation 7

◆ 1 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. μετὰ τοῦτο εἶδον "after this I saw." The phrase introduces another part of the vision (s. Rev. 4:1). The vision he now describes, between the opening of the sixth and seventh seal, contrasts the preparedness of God's people w. the unbeliever's unreadiness (Swete; Thomas). ἑστῶτας perf. act. part. (adj.) ἵστημι (# 2705) perf., to stand. γωνία (# 1224) corner. κρατοῦντας pres. act. part. (adj.) κρατέω (# 3195) to hold, to grasp, to have power over. ἄνεμος (# 449) wind. πνέῃ pres. subj. act. πνέω (# 4463) to blow. The subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) is used in a neg. purp. cl. (RWP). μήτε (# 3612) neither. The four winds as destructive agents of God are a regular feature in apocalyptic literature (Mounce; Charles). Enoch sees three gates: through one the winds blow good things on the earth, but through the other two the winds blow violence and sorrow upon the earth (1 Enoch 34:2-3; note 1 Enoch 76 where he describes the easterly winds, the southerly winds, the northly winds, and the westerly winds; for Pliny's description of the four winds s. Pliny, NH, 2:119-21). ◆ 2 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἀναβαίνοντα pres. act. part. ἀναβαίνω (# 326) to come down. ἀνατολή (# 242) rising; the rising of the sun indicates the east. ἔχοντα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. σφραγίς (# 5382) seal. To the prophet's contemporaries, a seal would have suggested the branding of cattle or the tattooing of slaves and soldiers, esp. those in the service of the emperor who could be recognized by this mark if they deserted; the marking of a soldier or the member of a guild on the hand, brow, or neck to seal him as a religious devotee, i.e., a member of a sacred militia. The mark in this case was a sign of consecration to the deity; it could refer to the mark prophets might have worn on their forehead, either painted or tattooed; or it could refer to the phylactery worn on the forehead and hand (Ford). In describing the worship at Heiropolis, it is said that all of the worshippers are marked (στίζονται "tattooed"), some on their wrist and some on their necks (s. De Dea Syria, 59). The idea of a seal would be to mark one's property and show ownership as well as protection (Swete; Thomas). ζῶντος pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. ἔκραξεν aor. ind. act. κράζω (# 3189) to scream, to cry out. οἷς ἐδόθη αὐτοῖς to whom it was given to them. This may reflect the Hebraic construction of the resumptive pron. (MH, 434f; PAPC, 41; AASS, 111-12). ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. The theol. or divine pass. indicates God is the subject of the action. ἀδικῆσαι aor. act. inf. ἀδικέω (# 92) to harm, to injure. Inf. to explain that which was given. ◆ 3 λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say (for the use of the pleonastic part. s. Rev. 1:17). ἀδικήσητε aor. subj. act. ἀδικέω (# 92) to harm. Subj. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) to form a prohibition or neg. command. σφραγίσωμεν aor. subj. act. σφραγίζω (# 5381) to seal. Aor. subj. in a temp. cl. of indefinite action for the fut. (RWP). μέτωπον (# 3587) between the eyes, forehead. ◆ 4 ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἀριθμός (# 750) number. τεσσεράκοντα τέσσαρες χιλιάδες (# 5475; 5477; 5942) 144,000. It seems best to view the number as literal, since it is difficult to find any objective meaning for a symbolical interpretation. This select group from Israel were to spread the Word of God during the tribulation (Thomas). It was a hope of the Jews that the tribes of Israel would be gathered again (HSB, 761-63; Albert Geyser, "The Twelve Tribes in Revelation: Judean and Judeo Christian Apocalypticism," NTS 28 [1982]: 388-99; Ezek. 37; Hos. 3:4-5; Sirach 33:1; Tob. 13:10, 13; 2 Macc. 1:27; Jubil. 1:15; 1 Enoch 90:23). ἐσφραγισμένων perf. pass. part. σφραγίζω (# 5381) to seal. φυλή (# 5876) tribe. The tribes are to be taken as members of the literal nation of Israel (Thomas). The names of Dan and Ephraim are not found in the following list, perhaps because of their connection w. idolatry (SB, 3:804-5; Thomas). ◆ 9 μετὰ ταῦτα (# 3552; 4047) after these things. It marks a new vision. εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἀριθμῆσαι aor. act. inf. ἀριθμέω (# 749) to count; pass. to be counted. Compl. inf. to the main vb. ἐδύνατο impf. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. γλῶσσαν (# 5876) tongue, speech. ἑστῶτες perf. act. part. ἵστημι (# 2705) perf., to stand. ἀρνίον (# 768) lamb (cf. Rev. 5:6). περιβεβλημένους perf. pass. part. περιβάλλω (# 4314) to cast around; pass., to be clothed. στολάς acc. pl. (# 5124) robe (s. 6:11). λευκός (# 3328) white. φοίνικες nom. pl. φοῖνιξ (# 5836) palm branch. The palm is a sign of festive joy. One inscription describes how, out of gratitude to the gods, the inhabitants of a city decreed that thirty boys should daily sing prescribed hymns as they were "clothed in white and crowned w. a twig, likewise holding a twig in their hands" (BS, 370). ◆ 10 κρά-ζουσιν pres. ind. act. κράζω (# 3189) to call. Pres. indicates a continual or repeated action. λέγοντες pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say (s. 1:17). σωτηρία (# 5401) salvation. θεῷ dat. sing. θεός (# 2536) God. Dat. of possession: salvation belongs to Him as the victor. ἡμῶν gen. pl. ἐγώ (# 1609) I; our. καθημένῳ pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ◆ 11 εἱστήκεισαν plperf. ind. act. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand. The plperf. is used like an impf. (RWP). κύκλῳ dat. sing. κύλος (# 3241) encircling, in a circle, round about. Dat. of place used as adv. explaining where they were standing. ζῴων gen. pl. ζῷον (# 2442) living creature. ἔπεσαν aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall, to fall down. προσεκύνησαν aor. ind. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. ◆ 12 λέγοντες pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. εὐλογία (# 2330) blessing. εὐχαριστία (# 2374) thanksgiving. ἰσχύς (# 2709) strength, might (s. Eph. 1:19). ◆ 13 ἀπεκρίθη aor. ind. pass. (dep.) ἀποκρίνομαι (# 646) to answer. περιβεβλημένοι perf. pass. part. περιβάλλω (# 4314) to cast around; pass., to be clothed. πόθεν (# 4470) from where? ἦλθον aor. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. πόθεν ἦλθον "where have they come from?" ◆ 14 εἴρηκα perf. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Aoristic perf. used as a simple past tense without concern for present consequences (GGBB, 578). οἶδας perf. ind. act. οἶδα (# 3857) to know. Def. perf. w. pres. meaning. εἶπεν aor. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἐρχόμενοι pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. θλῖψις (# 2568) tribulation. For a discusiion s. DLNT, 1179-82; BBC. ἔπλυναν aor. ind. act. πλύνω (# 4459) to wash. ἐλεύκαναν aor. ind. act. λευκαίνω (# 3326) to whiten, to make white (GELTS, 280). The idea of making robes white by washing them in blood is a striking paradox. It is the sacrifice of the lamb upon the cross that supplies white garments for the saints (Mounce; s. M, Middoth 5:4). ◆ 15 εἰσιν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. λατρεύουσιν pres. ind. act. λατρεύω (# 3302) to perform worshipful service (TDNT). ἡμέρας καὶ νυκτός (#2465; 2779; 3816) gen. of time, day and night (s. 4:8). ναῷ dat. sing. ναός (# 3724) temple, sanctuary. καθήμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. σκηνώσει fut. ind. act. σκηνεύω (# 5012) to live in a tent, to tabernacle (John 1:14). The setting may be the Feast of Tabernacles (Thomas). ◆ 16 πεινάσουσιν fut. ind. act. πεινάω (# 4277) to be hungry. διψήσουσιν fut. ind. act. διψόω (# 1498) to be thirsty. πέσῃ aor. subj. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. καῦμα (# 3008) burning, scorching. ◆ 17 μέσος (# 3545) middle. Used in the phrase ἀνὰ μέσον between, amongst (Swete). ποιμανεῖ fut. ind. act. ποιμαίνω (# 4477) to shepherd (DLNT, 1090-93). ὁδηγήσει fut. ind. act. ὁδηγέω (# 3842) to lead along the way, to guide, to lead. πηγάς gen. sing. πηγή (# 4380) spring. The word order in the phrase emphasizes life–"to life's water springs" (Swete). ἐξαλείψει fut. ind. act. ἐξαλείφω (# 1981) to wipe away. δάκρυον (# 1232) tear; here, "every single tear."

Revelation 8

◆ 1 ὅταν (# 4020) when. Temp. particle is not used here in the indef. sense ("whenever"); rather, as was common in the Koine, writers used this particle w. the aor. ind. for a definite occurrence (RG, 973). ἤνοιξεν aor. ind. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open, to break a seal. σφραγῖς (# 5382) seal. ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to be. σιγή (# 4968) silence. οὐρανός (# 4041) heaven. ἡμιώριον (# 2469) half an hour. The silence is a dramatic pause that makes even more impressive the judgment about to fall upon the earth. Although a thirty-minute period is a relatively short period, it would form an impressive break in such a rapidly moving drama (Mounce; Seiss). It could be silence so that the prayers of the saints on earth may be heard (Charles), or silence out of reverence just before the judgement of God falls (Lohse; Thomas; s. Zech. 2:13; Zeph. 1:7-8; 1QpHab 13:2-4). ◆ 2 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἑστήκασιν aor. ind. act. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand. Enoch lists the names of the archangels as Sur'el (Uriel), Raphael, Raguel, Michael, Saraqa'el and Gabriel (1 Enoch 20; SB, 3:805-807). ἐδόθησαν aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Theol. pass. indicates that God is the one who gives. ◆ 3 ἦλθεν aor. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. ἐστάθη aor. ind. pass. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand. Ingressive aor., "he took his place" (RWP). θυσιαστήριον (# 2603) a place for sacrifices, altar. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. λιβανωτός (# 3338) golden censer or fire pan. The word usually means incense but here it appears to signify a censer (Ford). χρυσοῦς (# 5991) golden. ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give (s.v. 2). θυμίαμα (# 2592) incense (s. 5:8). δώσει fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give, to add. The fut. is used in a purp. cl. (MT, 100). ◆ 4 ἀνέβη aor. ind. act. ἀναβαίνω (# 326) to go up. καπνός (# 2837) smoke. The meeting of the incense and the hot coals produces the fragrant smoke cloud, the symbol of divine acceptance (Swete). ◆ 5 εἴληφεν perf. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. For the use of the perf. s. 5:7. ἐγέμισεν aor. ind. act. γεμίζω (# 1153) to fill, to make full of, to fill up. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. ἔβαλεν aor. ind. act. βάλλω (# 965) to throw. ἐγένοντο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to be. βροντή (# 1103) thunder. ἀστραπή (# 847) lightning. σεισμός (# 4939) earthquake (s. 6:12). ◆ 6 ἔχοντες pres. act. part. (adj.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. (s. 5:6). ἡτοίμασαν aor. ind. act. ἑτοιμάζω (# 2286) to prepare. σαλπίσωσιν aor. subj. act. σαλπίζω (# 4895) to blow the trumpet. For various used of trumpets in the OT and in an eschatological sense s. Ford. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 7 ἐσάλπισεν aor. ind. act. σαλπίζω (# 4895) to blow the trumpet. ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to be. χάλαζα (# 5898) hail. μεμιγμένα perf. pass. part. μείγνυμι (# 3502) to mix: ἐβλήθη aor. ind. pass. βάλλω (# 965) to throw. The syntax of the v. suggests that the blood-red storm appeared in heaven before it was cast upon the earth (Mounce). κατεκάη aor. ind. pass. κατακαίω (# 2876) to burn down, to burn up. Prep. in compound is perfective, "to burn down," "to burn up completely." χόρτος (# 5965) grass. χλωρός (# 5952) green. Only one-third of the land and its vegetation is devastated by fire. The fraction would indicate that although God is bringing punishment upon the earth, it is not yet complete and final (Mounce). ◆ 8 ἐσάλπισεν aor. ind. act. σαλπίζω (# 4895) to blow the trumpet. This plague could suggest war or contamination of the water supply (BBC). καιόμενον pres. pass. part. καίω (# 2794) to set on fire; pass., to be burning, to burn. ἐβλήθη aor. ind. pass. βάλλω (# 965) to throw. ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ◆ 9 ἀπέθανεν aor. ind. act. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die. ἔχοντα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. διεφθάρησαν aor. ind. pass. διαφθείρω (# 1425) to corrupt, to destroy. Prep. in compound is perfective. ◆ 10 ἐσάλπισεν aor. ind. act. σαλπίζω (# 4895) to blow the trumpet. ἔπεσεν aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. ἀστήρ (# 843) star. καιόμενος pres. pass. part. καίω (# 2794) to burn. λαμπάς (# 3286) torch. ποταμός (# 4532) river. πηγή (# 4380) spring. Now the fresh water supply is smitten (Swete). ◆ 11 λέγεται pres. ind. pass. λέγω (# 3306) to say; pass., to be called. ἄψινθος (# 952) wormwood. The word is used among medical writers (DMTG, 88). It is called wormwood after the strong bitter taste of the plant of that name. Wormwood symbolizes God's punishment; or bitterness, suffering, and sorrow (EDNT; Mounce; FFB, 198; ZPEB, 5:969; WTM, 2:517; ABD, 6:973). ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἐπικράνθησαν aor. ind. pass. πικραίνω (# 4393) to make bitter, to cause to be bitter. ◆ 12 ἐσάλπισεν aor. ind. act. σαλπίζω (# 4895) to blow the trumpet. ἐπλήγη aor. ind. pass. πλήσσω (# 4448) to strike, to smite. σελήνη (# 4943) moon. σκοτισθῇ aor. subj. pass. σκοτίζω (# 5029) to blacken, to darken. φάνῃ aor. subj. act. φαίνω (# 5743) to shine. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used in purp. cls. ◆ 13 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ἀετός (# 108) eagle. The word may also be used for a vulture, which in this context would symbolize impending doom. The vulture hovers in mid-heaven, visible to all, and cries out in a great voice so that none will fail to hear (Mounce). πετομένου pres. mid. (dep.) part. πέτομαι (# 4375) to fly. μεσουράνημα (# 3547) at the zenith, in the meridian, i.e., in mid-heaven (Ford; Swete). λέγοντος pres. act. part. (subst.) λέγω (# 3306) to say. κατοικοῦντας pres. act. part. κατοικέω (# 2997) to dwell, to inhabit, to live. μελλόντων pres. act. part. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. It is used w. the inf. to express the immediate fut. σαλπίζειν pres. act. inf. σαλπίζω (# 4895) to blow a trumpet.

Revelation 9

◆ 1 ἐσάλπισεν aor. ind. act. σαλπίζω (# 4895) to blow the trumpet. εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἀστήρ (# 843) star (s. 1 Enoch 21). πεπτωκότα perf. act. part. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. Dramatic perf. (s. Rev. 5:7; DM, 204; Mounce). ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. The theol. or divine pass. indicates that God is the one who gives. κλείς (# 3090) key (s. Rev. 1:18; 3:7). φρέατος (# 5853) pit, well, shaft (Ford; esp. the references to the DSS: 1 QS 9:16, 22; 10:19). ἄβυσσος (# 12) bottomless, abyss; lit., unfathomable deep. It is a place of imprisonment for disobedient spirits and according to rabbinic thought it was the entrance to Gehenna, narrow at the top but wide as one went down (Ford; Swete; Charles; SB, 3:809; 4, ii:1083-93; HSB, 763-65; DLNT, 459-61). ◆ 2 ἤνοιξεν aor. ind. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. ἀνέβη aor. ind. act. ἀναβαίνω (# 326) to go up, to ascend. καπνός (# 2837) smoke. φρέατος (# 5853) furnace. κάμινος (# 2825) furnace, kiln, fiery oven (BAGD; ABD, 4:38-39). ἐσκοτώθη aor. ind. pass. σκοτόω (# 5031) to darken. As the smoke rises it blots out the sun and darkens the atmosphere of the earth (Mounce). ◆ 3 ἐξῆλθον aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to come out. ἀκρίδες (# 210) locust, grasshopper. Throughout the OT the locust is a symbol of destruction, and among the ancients the locust plague was viewed as a sign of the wrath of the gods (deorun irae pestis ea intellegitur); for locusts "are seen of exceptional size, and also they fly w. such a noise of wings that they are believed to be birds, and they obscure the sun, making the nations gaze upward in anxiety lest they should settle over all their lands" (Pliny, NH, 11:104). Bred in the desert, they invade cultivated areas in search of food. They may travel in a column a hundred feet deep and up to four miles long, leaving the land stripped bare of all vegetation (Mounce; FFB, 53; ZPEB, 3:948-50; Pliny, NH, 11:101-8). These are probably demons or fallen angels who assume a locust-like form (Thomas; BTNT, 173-74). ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ἔχουσιν pres ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. σκορπίος (# 5026) scorpion; a lobster-like vermin some four or five inches long, it had a claw on the end of the tail that secreted a poison on contact. It should be noted that the demonic locusts of the first woe have the power rather than the appearance of scorpions (Mounce; FFB, 70; ZPEB, 5:297; NW, 2, ii:1521-23; Pliny, NH, 11:86-91). ◆ 4 ἐρρέθη aor. ind. pass. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἀδικήσουσιν fut. ind. act. ἀδικέω (# 92) to injure, to harm. χόρτος (# 5965) grass. χλωρός (# 5952) green. εἰ μή (# 1673; 3590) except. ἔχουσι pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. σφραγίς (# 5382) seal. μέτωπον (# 3587) forehead. ◆ 5 ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ἀποκτείνωσιν pres./aor. subj. act. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. βασανισθήσονται fut. ind. pass. βασανίζω (# 989) to torment, to torture. Fut. w. ἵνα (# 2671) expressing purp. (GGBB, 571; VA, 415). μῆνας acc. pl. μήν (# 3604) month. Acc. of time describing the extent of time. It is best to see this as a literal space of five months (Thomas). βασανισμός (# 990) torturing, torture. The word has the idea of punishment (Mounce). σκορπίος (# 5026) scorpion (s.v. 3). Here gen. of description. Pliny says that the poisonous wound of a scorpion is a slow, torturous death and almost always fatal to women and children–but to men only in the morning before the poison has been warmed by the sun (Pliny, NH, 11:86-89). παίσῃ aor. subj. act. παίω (# 4091) to strike. Subj. w. ὅταν (# 4020) in an indef. temp. cl., whenever. ◆ 6 ζητήσουσιν fut. ind. act. ζητέω (# 2426) to seek, to look for. εὑρήσουσιν fut. ind. act. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. ἐπιθυμήσουσιν fut. ind. act. ἐπιθυμέω (# 2121) to long for, to yearn after. ἀποθανεῖν aor. act. inf. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die. Inf. is used as the obj. of the vb. ἐπιθυμήσουσιν. φεύγει pres. ind. act. φεύγω (# 5771) to flee, to escape. Pres. could perhaps be designated an historical pres. in the fut. ("death keeps fleeing from them"), or it could be an iterat. pres. indicating a repeated action. ◆ 7 ὁμοίωμα (# 3930) likeness, shape (Swete). ἵπποις dat. pl. ἵππος (# 2691) horse. Dat. w. adj. ὅμοια. ἡτοιμασμένοις perf. pass. part. (adj.) ἑτοιμάζω (# 2286) to prepare. Perf. stresses the state or condition, "in a state of readiness." πόλεμος (# 4483) war. ◆ 8 εἶχον impf. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. τρίχας acc. pl. θρίξ (# 2582) hair. ὀδόντες nom. pl. ὀδούς (# 3848) teeth. λεόντων gen. pl. λέων (# 3329) lion. ἦσαν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 9 θώρακας acc. pl. θώραξ (# 2606) chest, breastplate. σιδηρός (# 4969) iron, of iron, made of iron. The scaly backs and flanks of the insects resembled iron coats of mail. The word points to the material of which such armor was ordinarily made, and at the same time indicates the hopelessness of any effort to destroy assailants so well-protected (Swete). πτερύγων gen. pl. πτέρυξ (# 4763) wing. ἁρμάτων gen. pl. ἅρμα (# 761) wagon, chariot. τρεχόντων pres. act. part. τρέχω (# 5556) to run. For Pliny's view of this type of plague s.v. 3. ◆ 10 ἔχουσιν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. οὐρά (# 4038) tail. Perhaps a reference to the rearward archery of the Parthians (BBC). κέντρον (# 3034) goad for an ox, sting. ἀδικῆσαι aor. act. inf. ἀδικέω (# 92) to injure, to harm. In Italy the swarms of locusts were so bad that a law declared that war should be made upon them three times a year by crushing the eggs, then the grubs, and at last the fully grown insects. The law had the penalty of a deserter for the man who held back (Pliny, NH, 11:105). Epex. inf. explaining the authority or power that they have. μῆνας acc. pl. (# 3604) Acc. of time (s.v. 5). ◆ 11 ἔχουσιν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Ἑβραϊστί (# 1580) in Hebrew. Ἀβαδδών (# 3) Abaddon. The Heb. word אבדן (abaddon), from אבד, means "destruction" and is used to refer to death or to the abode of the dead and can be parallel to Sheol (SB, 3:810; DCH, 1:101; s. also 1QH 3:19, 32; 1QM 18:17). In 4Q 286 (Berakot^2 frag. 3, col. 2. line 7), the text gives the curses issued by the Community Counsel of Belial and says "And [cursed be ... an]gel of the pit (חשׁת) and the sp[irit of des]truction (ורוח האבדון) in all the designs of your [guilty] inclination" (DSST, 435; DSSE, 160; Robert Eisenmann and Michael Wise, The Dead Sea Scrolls Uncovered [Dorset, England: Element Books Ltd, 1992], 222-30; ABD, 1:6; DDD, 1; TDOT, 1:23). Ἀπολλύων (# 661) Destroyer. The title or name does not necessarily refer to Satan, but to the demonic leader of the locust (Thomas). ◆ 12 οὐαί (# 4026) woe, alas. Interjection denoting pain or displeasure, here used as a subst. (BAGD). The last three of the seven trumpets are looked upon as three woes because of their terrible destructive power (Ladd). ἀπῆλθεν aor. ind. act. ἀπέρχομαι (# 599) to go out, to go forth, to go away. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἔρχεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. ◆ 13 ἐσάλπισεν aor. ind. act. σαλπίζω (# 4895) to sound a trumpet. ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. μίαν acc. sing. εἷς (# 1651) one. Here it means a single or solitary voice (Mounce). κεράτων gen.pl. κέρας (# 3043) horn. The horns on the altar were the symbol of God's power (Ford). θυσιαστήριον (# 2603) place where sacrifices are made, altar. χρυσοῦς (# 5991) golden. ◆ 14 λέγοντα pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. λῦσον aor. imp. act. λύω (# 3395) to loose, to release. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. δεδεμένους perf. pass. part. (adj.) δέω (# 1313) to bind. Perf. emphasizes the state or condition. ποταμός (# 4532) river. ◆ 15 ἐλύθησαν aor. ind. pass. λύω (# 3395) to release. ἡτοιμασμένοι perf. pass. part. ἑτοιμάζω (# 2286) to prepare (s.v. 7). μήν (# 3604) month. ἐνιαυτός (# 1929) year. ἀποκτείνωσιν pres. subj. act. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) to express purp. ◆ 16 ἀριθμός (# 750) number. στράτευμα (# 5128) army. ἱππικός (# 2690) pertaining to a horse, horseman. The army consisted of cavalry (Swete). ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ◆ 17 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἵππος (# 2690) horse. ὅρασις (# 3970) appearance, vision. καθημένους pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. θώρακας (# 2606) breastplate (s.v. 9). πύρινος (# 4791) fiery, made of fire (Swete). ὑακίνθινος (# 5610) hyacinth-colored, i.e., dark blue, a dusky blue color as of sulphurous smoke (BAGD; MM). θειώδης (# 2523) sulphur, sulphur-colored, hence, yellow. Today brimstone is known as sulphur. It is difficult to determine whether the breastplates were of three colors each or whether each breastplate was of a single color; i.e., some red, some blue, some yellow (Mounce). λέων (# 3329) lion. στόμα (# 5125) mouth. ἐκπορεύεται pres. ind. mid. ἐκπορεύομαι (# 1744) to go out, to come out. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. καπνός (# 2837) smoke. θεῖον (# 2520) brimstone, sulphur. ◆ 18 πληγῶν gen. pl. πληγή (# 4435) stripe, wound, calamity, plague (AS). ἀπεκτάνθησαν aor. ind. pass. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. ἐκπορευομένου pres. mid. (dep.) part. ἐκπορεύομαι (# 1744) to go out. ◆ 19 οὐρά (# 4038) tail. ὄφεσιν dat. pl. ὄφις (# 4058) snake. Dat. w. adj. ἔχουσαι pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Adj. part., "having heads (which) ...." ἀδι-κοῦσιν pres. ind. act. ἀδικέω (# 92) to injure, to harm. ◆ 20 λοιπός (# 3370) rest. ἀπεκτάνθησαν aor. ind. pass. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. μετενόησαν aor. ind. act. μετανοέω (# 3566) to change one's mind, to change one's thinking, to repent. προσκυνήσουσιν fut. ind. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. Fut. ind. could be used here to express result rather than purp. (RG, 992). δαιμόνιον (# 1228) demon (DDD, 445-55). εἴδωλον (# 1631) idol, false god (DLNT, 528-30). χρυσᾶ nom. pl. χρυσοῦς (# 5991) made of gold. ἀργυροῦς (# 735) silver. χαλκοῦς (# 5905) brass. λίθινος (# 3343) made of stone. ξύλινος (# 3832) wooden, made of wood. δύνανται pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. βλέπειν pres. act. inf. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. ἀκούειν pres. act. inf. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. περιπατεῖν pres. act. inf. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about. ◆ 21 μετενόησαν aor. ind. act. μετανοέω (# 3566) to change one's mind. φόνος (# 5840) murder. φάρμακον (# 5760) magic art, sorcery. The use of drugs either for divination or for healing (BAGD; MM; DLNT, 701-5; Ford; DMTG, 324-30; s. Gal. 5:20). It is suggested that here the word has the special sense of magic spells inciting to illicit lust (EGT). Pliny describes the use of many superstitious and magical practices to bring about healing (Pliny, NH, 28), one being "that snake bites and scorpion stings are relieved by intercourse, but the act does harm to the woman" (Pliny, NH, 28:44); for further remedies against snake bites and scorpion stings s. Pliny, NH, 28: 149-55. πορνεία (# 4518) unlawful sexual intercourse, immorality (s. 2:21). κλέμμα (# 3092) stealing, theft.

Revelation 10

◆ 1 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἰσχυρός (# 2708) strong, powerful. καταβαίνοντα pres. act. part. (adj.) καταβαίνω (# 2849) to come down, to descend. περιβεβλημένον perf. pass. part. (adj.) περιβάλλω (# 4314) to cast about, to be clothed, to be enveloped. This word is used of encircling or throwing an embankment around a city, or clothing someone; in this context it indicates that the angel is encircled by a cloud (Ford). νεφέλη (# 3749) cloud (s. Rev. 1:7). ἶρις (# 2692) rainbow (s. 4:3). Here the word refers to the ordinary rainbow of many colors connected w. the cloud, due in this instance to the shining of the angel's face (Swete). στῦλος (# 5146) pillar. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. Some have taken this other angel as being Christ himself (Seiss; Scott), but others regard him as a true angelic being (Mounce; Thomas). ◆ 2 ἔχων pres. act. part. (adj.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. βιβλαρίδιον (# 1044) little book, a very small book. ἠνεῳγμένον perf. pass. part. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. Perf. pass. part. means having been opened and remaining so, i.e., "standing open." ἔθηκεν aor. ind. act. τίθημι (# 5502) to place, to put. δεξιός (# 1288) right. εὐώνυμος (# 2381) left. ◆ 3 ἔκραξεν aor. ind. act. κράζω (# 3189) to cry out in a loud voice. λέων (# 3329) lion. μυκᾶται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) μυκάομαι (# 3681) to roar. The word is used of a low, deep sound like the lowing of an ox or the growl of thunder. The word may have been preferred here to indicate that the voice of the angel had not only volume but depth, at once compelling attention and inspiring awe (Swete). ἐλάλησαν aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. βροντή (# 1103) thunder. ◆ 4 ἐλάλησαν aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. ἤμελλον impf. ind. act. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. The word is used w. inf. to express the immediate fut. Impf. here is inchoative, meaning "I was on the point of beginning to write" (RWP). γράφειν pres. inf. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λέγουσαν pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. σφράγισον aor. imp. act. σφραγίζω (# 5381) to seal, to seal up (s. Rev. 5:1). ἐλάλησαν aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to say. γράψῃς aor. subj. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Subj. w. the neg. μή (# 3590) is a prohibition or neg. command: "do not start to write." ◆ 5 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἑστῶτα perf. act. part. ἵστημι (# 2705) perf., to stand. ἦρεν aor. ind. act. αἴρω (# 149) to lift up. This is the typical Hebrew expression for swearing an oath. ◆ 6 ὤμοσεν aor. ind. act. ὄμνυμι (# 3923) to take an oath, to swear. ζῶντι pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. ἔκτισεν aor. ind. act. κτίζω (# 3231) to create. χρόνος (# 5989) time. The word here means "delay"–"there shall be delay no longer." Now nothing stands in the way of the final dramatic period of human history (Mounce). οὐκέτι (# 4033) no longer. ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 7 ὅταν (# 4020) w. subj., whenever. μέλλῃ pres. subj. act. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to, w. inf. to express the immediate fut. Subj. w. ὅταν (# 4020) used in an indef. temp. cl. σαλπίζειν pres. act. inf. σαλπίζω (# 4895) to blow the trumpet. ἐτελέσθη aor. ind. pass. τελέω (# 5464) to bring to the goal, to complete, to bring to completion. The proleptic use of the aor., as here, occurs in vivacious speech of that which is annunciated as a consequence of a cond. and expressed as already came to pass., the cond. regarded as fulfilled, "whenever he sounds the trumpet" (BG, 84f). εὐηγγέλισεν aor. ind. act. εὐαγγελίζω (# 2294) to proclaim the good news, to deliver good news (TDNT; TLNT; EDNT). ◆ 8 ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λαλοῦσαν pres. act. part. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. λέγουσαν pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ὕπαγε pres. imp. act. ὑπάγω (# 5632) to go; "go now." This is a Hebraic construction (Charles). λάβε aor. imp. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. βιβλίον (# 1046) book, small book. ἠνεῳγμένον perf. pass. part. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open (s.v. 2). ◆ 9 ἀπῆλθα aor. ind. act. ἀπέρχομαι (# 599) to go out, to go away from. John left his position by the door and went to the angel (RWP). λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. δοῦναι aor. act. inf. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Inf. used in indir. discourse after the vb. λέγων to express a command (RWP). λάβε aor. imp. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. κατάφαγε aor. imp. act. κατεσθίω (# 2983) to eat down, to eat up completely. πικραίνω fut. ind. act. πικρανέω (# 4393) to make bitter. Imp. followed by the fut. is a Hebraic form of a cond. cl. in which the fut. expresses the result of having filled the command. For the construction s. Phil. 4:7; Beyer, 238-55. κοιλία (# 3120) stomach. ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. γλυκύς (# 1184) sweet. μέλι (# 3510) honey. ◆ 10 ἔλαβον aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. κατέφαγον aor. ind. act. κατεσθίω (# 2983) to eat down. ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἔφαγον aor. ind. act. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. The effective use of the aor., "after I had finished eating." ἐπικράνθη aor. ind. pass. πικραίνω (# 4393) to make bitter. Ingressive aor., "my stomach became bitter." If he would be admitted into part of God's secrets, the seer must be prepared for very mixed sensations; the first joy of fuller knowledge would be followed by sorrow deeper and more bitter than those of ordinary men (Swete). ◆ 11 λέγουσιν pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. "They say to me." It is best to take the expression as an indefinite pl. or the equivalent of the pass., "it was said" (Mounce). δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind act. it is necessary, w. acc. and the inf., expressing a logical necessity. προφητεῦσαι aor. act. inf. προφητεύω (# 4736) to speak forth, to prophesy. Inf. used to explain what is necessary. ἐπί (# 2093) about, concerning (Mounce). ἔθνεσιν dat. pl. ἔθνος (# 1620) nation. γλῶσσα (# 1185) tongue, speech, language.

Revelation 11

◆ 1 ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. κάλαμος (# 2812) reed. This served as a surveyor's rule or measuring rod and it might have been the cane growing along the Jordan valley which was known as the "giant reed" of Mediterranean lands. It grows in swampy areas and sometimes may reach twelve, fifteen, or even twenty feet in height (Ford; FFB, 171).

ῥάβδος (# 4811) staff. λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Pleonastic use of the part. ἔγειρε pres. imp. act. ἐγείρω (# 1586) to rise, to get up. For the idiomatic use of the pres. imp. of this vb. s. VANT, 348-49. μέτρησον aor. imp. act. μετρέω (# 3582) to measure. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. Measuring the courts was a way of praising the building's magnificence (BBC). ναός (# 3724) temple, sanctuary. θυσιαστήριον (# 2603) place where offerings or sacrifices are made, altar. προσκυνοῦντας pres. act. part. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. ◆ 2 αὐλή (# 885) court. ἔξωθεν (# 2033) outside. The outer court of the temple in Jerusalem is called the Court of the Gentiles (Ford; JTJ, 23-24). ἔκβαλε aor. imp. act. ἐκβάλλω (# 1675) to throw out, to cast out. The word is used here in the sense of exclusion–exclude it from the sanctuary though the other courts are included (Swete). μετρήσῃς aor. subj. act. μετρέω (# 3582) to measure. Revelation 12

◆ 1 ὤφθη aor. ind. pass. ὁράω (# 3972) to see; pass., to be seen, to appear. περιβεβλημένη perf. pass. part. περιβάλλω (# 4314) to cast about, to clothe; pass., to be clothed. σελήνη (# 4943) moon. ὑποκάτω (# 5691) w. gen., under. στέφανος (# 5109) crown. ἀστέρων gen. pl. ἀστήρ (# 843) star. δώδεκα (# 1557) twelve. Of all the various interpretations of the woman the most fitting is to view her as representing the nation Israel. In the OT the image of a woman is a classic symbol for Zion, Jerusalem, and Israel (Ford; Scott; Bousset; SB, 3:574-75, 812; Thomas; DLNT, 1209-10; HSB, 767-68). The twelve stars may be an allusion to the twelve tribes of Israel (Mounce). ◆ 2 ἔχουσα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἐν γαστρὶ ἔχουσα to have something in the stomach, i.e., to be pregnant. κράζει pres. ind. act. κράζω (# 3189) to scream, to cry out w. a loud voice. Adj. or causal part., indicating why she was screaming. βασανιζομένη pres. pass. part. βασανίζω (# 989) to torment, to be in pain. Adj. or causal part. τεκεῖν aor. act. inf. τίκτω (# 5503) to bear a child, to give birth. Epex. inf. explaining the pain of the woman. For the relation of this to Israel and the OT, as well as to Jewish lit. s. Roger D. Aus, "The Relevance of Isaiah 66,7 to Revelation 12 and 2 Thessalonians 1," ZNW 67 (1976): 252-68; Thomas. ◆ 3 ὤφθη aor. ind. pass. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. δράκων (# 1532) dragon, monster, serpent. The word was used often in the magic papyri (MM). Both Josephus and the LXX use the term to describe the snake that Moses' staff turned into and the snake that the Egyptian magicians produced (Jos. Ant., 2:272, 285, 287; Exod. 7:9, 10, 12; GELTS, 121; DDD, 504-509; 1404-12; DLNT, 127-29). It also occurs in Isa. 27:1 for the Leviathan who will be killed by God when He delivers His people. John does not leave us in doubt as to the identity of this monster–he is "the old serpent, he that is called the Devil and Satan" (v. 9; Mounce; cf. 20:2). πυρρός (# 4794) fiery, red. ἔχων pres. act. part. (adj.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have; here in the sense of to possess. κέρατα acc. pl. κέρας (# 3043) horn. The horn was a symbol of strength. διάδημα (# 1343) diadem, a royal crown. Revelation 13

◆ 1 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. θαλάσσα (# 2498) sea. The sea is an apt symbol of the agitated surface of unregenerate humanity and esp. of the seething cauldron of national and social life, out of which the great historical movements of the world arise (Swete). The term, however, may be understood as the abyss–the source–of the satanic forces (Johnson; Thomas; Mounce). θηρίον (# 2563) beast, monster, wild animal, esp. of the ones hunted, hostile, and odious to man (LS, 800). Herodotus uses the word for birds, pigs, cats, as well as for wild animals such as sharks (LTH, 167-68; Herodotus, 6:44). The word describes the qualities of the dangerous person who is vicious, cruel, cunning, to be feared and unpredictable in his actions. This is the monstrous person in whom the political power of the world is finally concentrated as represented in Daniel 7 and as "the man of sin" in 2 Thess. 2:3 (Walvoord; Seiss; ZPEB, 1:180f; Johnson; Thomas). ἀναβαῖνον pres. act. part. (adj.) ἀναβαίνω (# 326) to go up, to arise, to ascend. ἔχον pres. act. part. (adj.). ἔχω (# 2400) to have. For the use of this vb. in Rev. s. Rev. 5:6. κέρας (# 3043) horn. διάδημα (# 1343) diadem, royal crown. These two figures represent the mighty political power and also stand for kings and their kingdom, as in Daniel 7 (Walvoord; Thomas). βλασφημία (# 1060) speaking evil of some one, blasphemy (TLNT; TDNT). ◆ 2 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. παρδάλει dat. sing. πάρδαλις (# 4230) leopard. Dat. w. adj. ἄρκος (# 759) bear. λέων (# 3329) lion. This beast combines the characteristics of Daniel's beasts, in which the leopard (or panther) indicates agility, cat-like vigilance, craft, and fierce cruelty, while the feet of the bear indicate the slow strength and power to crush. The lion blends massive strength w. feline dexterity, as a power follows up a stealthy and perhaps unobserved policy of repression w. the sudden terrors of a hostile edict (Swete). ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. δράκων (# 1532) dragon. The great political leader receives his power, rule and leadership directly from Satan. ◆ 3 μίαν ἐκ τῶν κεφαλῶν (# 1651; 1666; 3051) one of the heads. This takes up the narrative of v. 1 and the vb., to be supplied, is εἶδον (Swete). ἐσφαγμένην perf. pass. part. σφαγίζω (# 5377) to slay, to slaughter, to kill. The use of this word indicates that the deadly wound was like that of the slain Lamb (Bousset; Swete). Perf. indicates the condition. πληγή (# 4435) blow, wound. W. the following gen. τοῦ θανάτου (# 2505) it is descriptive; death wound, lethal wound (Ford). ἐθεραπεύθη aor. ind. pass. θεραπεύω (# 2543) to heal. Here there is the political death and resurrection of the beast (Scott). ἐθαυμάσθη aor. ind. pass. θαυμάζω (# 2513) to cause someone to wonder, to cause to marvel. ὀπίσω (# 3958) behind, after. W. the pregnant use of the prep. it means, "all the earth wondered at and followed the beast" (RWP). ◆ 4 προσεκύνησαν aor. ind. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. προσεκύνησαν aor. ind. act. προσκυνέω. λέγοντες pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. δύναται pres. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. πολεμῆσαι aor. act. inf. πολεμέω (# 4482) to wage war, to fight against. ◆ 5 ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. λαλοῦν pres. act. part. (adj.) λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do; here, to carry out his work. During the forty-two months the beast actively carries out the will of the dragon (Mounce; Swete). Epex. inf. explaining the authority or power. μῆνας acc. pl. μήν (# 3604) month. Acc. of time, "for forty two months." It indicates the last three and one-half years of the Tribulation. ◆ 6 ἤνοιξεν aor. ind. act. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. Const. aor. includes the whole career of the wild animal (RWP; Thomas). στόμα (# 5125) mouth. βλασφημῆσαι aor. act. inf. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to ridicule, to slander, to blaspheme (TLNT; TDNT; EDNT). Inf. of purp. Aor. points to a specific act. σκηνή (# 5008) tent, habitation, dwelling place, tabernacle. To blaspheme the name of God is to speak evil of all that He is and stands for. The name sums up the person. His tabernacle is His dwelling place (Mounce). σκηνοῦντας pres. act. part. (subst.) σκηνόω (# 5012) to live in a tent, to tabernacle, to dwell. ◆ 7 ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to make. πόλεμος (# 4483) war. νικῆσαι aor. act. inf. νικάω (# 3771) to win a victory, to conquer, to overcome. ◆ 8 προσκυνήσουσιν fut. ind. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. αὐτός (# 899) him. The masc. pronoun indicates that the beast is a person. κατοικοῦντες pres. act. part. κατοικέω (# 2997) to live, to dwell, to reside. γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write. Perf. indicates the continuing results and binding authority of what is written (MM). βιβλίῳ dat. sing. βιβλίον (# 1046) book, little book. ἀρνίον (# 768) lamb. ἐσφαγμένου perf. pass. part. σφαγίζω (# 5377) to slay, to slaughter. Perf. indicate the abiding condition. καταβολή (# 2856) foundation, laying of a foundation. The foundation of the world refers to the creation of the visible order (Mounce; s. Eph. 1:4). ◆ 9 ἀκουσάτω aor. imp. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. ◆ 10 αἰχμαλωσία (# 168) one taken captive at spear point, captivity. ὑπάγει pres. ind. act. ὑπάγω (# 5632) to go forth. Gnomic pres. indicating the statement of a general truth. The proverbial style of the v. could be translated, "if any man leads into captivity, into captivity he goes." Thus, the v. would stress that the enemies of God's people would be requited for their persecution of believers in the same form they employed (captivity for captivity, sword for sword) (Mounce). μάχαιρα (# 3479) sword. ἀποκτανθῆναι aor. pass. inf. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. "it is necessary," w. acc. and inf., indicating a logical necessity. ἀποκτανθῆναι aor. pass. inf. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. ◆ 11 θηρίον (# 2563) wild beast, beast, monster (s.v. 1). lamb. The second beast is a pseudochrist, a religious antichrist promoting the worship of the first beast (Swete; Thomas; Ladd). ἐλάλει impf. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Impf. pictures the customary action. δράκων (# 1532) dragon. ◆ 12 ποιεῖ pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. κατοικοῦντας pres. act. part. κατοικέω (# 2997) to dwell, to live. Subst. part., "those who live on the earth." προσκυνήσουσιν fut. ind. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. The false prophet, who is a religious leader also inspired of Satan, causes the world to worship the man of sin who has set himself up as God (s. 2 Thess. 2:4f). ἐθεραπεύθη aor. ind. pass. θεραπεύω (# 2543) to heal. ◆ 13 ποιεῖ pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make. ποιῇ pres. subj. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to make, to cause. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) could either be a purp. or result cl. (RWP). καταβαίνειν pres. act. inf. καταβαίνω (# 2849) to come down. Inf. used to complete the vb. ποιῇ. ◆ 14 πλανᾷ pres. ind. act. πλανάω (# 4414) to lead astray, to deceive. κατοικοῦντας pres. act. part. (subst.) κατοικέω (# 4686) to dwell. ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Epex. inf. explaining what was given, or it could be taken as the subject of the vb. λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Pleonastic part. s. 1:17. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to make. Inf. in indir. discourse after the part. λέγων. εἰκών (# 1635) image. ἔζησεν aor ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to live. ◆ 15 ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. δοῦναι aor. act. inf. δίδωμι. Epex. inf. explaining what was given, or it could be taken as the subject of the vb. λαλήσῃ aor. subj. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) expressing purp. or result. ποιήσῃ aor. subj. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. The second beast is given the power to animate the image of the first beast. He gives to it the breath of life and the image speaks (Mounce). προσκυνήσωσιν aor. subj. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. Subj. w. ἐάν (# 1569) is used in a 3rd. class cond. cl. which views the cond. as a possibility. ἀποκτανθῶσιν aor. subj. pass. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. ◆ 16 ποιεῖ pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. πλούσιος (# 4454) rich, wealthy. πτωχός (# 4777) poor, poor as a beggar. ἐλεύθερος (# 1801) free; those who had been set free from slavery. δῶσιν aor. subj. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. χάραγμα (# 5916) brand, mark. For various usages of the brand in the ancient world, such as the branding of a slave, a soldier, a worshiper s. Rev. 7:2; Mounce; BS 242; LAE, 341f; Ford, TDNT; BBC. ◆ 17 δύνηται pres. subj. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) is in a purp. cl. or the cl. is the obj. of the vb. ἀγοράσαι aor. act. inf. ἀγοράζω (# 60) to buy. πωλῆσαι aor. act. inf. πωλέω (# 4797) to sell. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ◆ 18 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. νοῦς (# 3808) understanding, comprehension. ψηφισάτω aor. imp. act. ψηφίζω (# 6028) to count up, to calculate; lit., to count w. pebbles, to reckon (MM). ἑξακόσιοι ἑξήκοντα ἕξ (# 1971, 1980, 2008) six hundred sixty-six. For the use of numbers and their meaning s. NW 2, ii:1570-71. The actual meaning of the number remains a mystery. For suggestions s. Thomas; Mounce; Johnson; HSB, 773-74.

◆ 1 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω. The words εἶδον καὶ ἰδού, "and I saw and behold," introduce a new and dramatic part of the vision (s. Rev. 4:1; 6:2; Mounce). ἀρνίον (# 768) lamb (s. 5:6). ἑστός perf. act. part. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand. That the lamb is standing forms a contrast w. the beast who are rising. It indicates being established, standing firm, holding one's ground (Ford). ἔχουσαι pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. γεγραμμένον perf. pass. part. (adj.) γράφω (# 1211) to write, to inscribe. Perf. indicates the continuing result of the authoritative writing. The seal consists in the name of God inscribed on the brow. This inscription declares that the person so inscribed is God's own possession (Charles). The scene is an obvious contrast to the beast of chapter 13 whose followers are stamped w. his mark on the right hand or forehead (Mounce). Adj. part. μετώπων (# 3587) forehead, brow. ◆ 2 ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. βροντή (# 1103) thunder. κιθαρῳδός (# 3069) one who plays on a harp, harpist. κιθαριζόντων pres. act. part. κιθαρίζω (# 3068) to play the harp. κιθάρα (# 3067) harp (Rev. 5:8). ◆ 3 ᾄδουσιν pres. ind. act. ᾄδω (# 106) to sing (s. Rev. 5:9). ᾠδή (# 6046) song (s. Rev. 5:9). ζῷον (# 2442) living creature. ἐδύνατο impf. ind. pass. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1538) to be able to, w. inf. Impf. used of unfulfilled action. μαθεῖν aor. act. inf. μανθάνω (# 3443) to learn. εἰ μή (# 1623; 3590) except. ἠγορασμένοι perf. pass. part. ἀγοράζω (# 60) to buy, to redeem, to purchase (APC, 50f; TDNT). ◆ 4 ἐμολύνθησαν aor. ind. pass. μολύνω (# 3662) to defile, to soil, to stain. παρθένος (# 4221) virgin. It seems best to take this description of chastity in a fig. sense, indicating that they have kept themselves pure from all defiling relationships w. the pagan world. They have resisted the seduction of the great harlot, Rome, w. whom the kings of the earth have committed fornication (Mounce). ἀκολουθοῦντες pres. act. part. (subst.) ἀκολουθέω (# 199) to follow, to follow after, to be a disciple of someone, w. dat. ὅπου ἄν (# 3963; 323) w. subj., wherever. ὑπάγῃ pres. subj. act. ὑπάγω (# 5632) to go forth, to go. Subj. w. ἄν (# 323) in an indef. spatial cl. ἠγοράσθησαν aor. ind. pass. ἀγοράζω (# 60) to buy at the marketplace, to purchase, to redeem. ἀπὸ τῶν ἀνθρώπων (# 608; 476) from men, from among men. Prep. here denotes not separation but extraction (Swete). ἀπαρχή (# 569) firstfruits. In the OT until the firstfruits of harvest or flock were offered to God the rest of the crop could not be put to profane or secular use (Ford; s. 1 Cor. 15:20). ◆ 5 στόμα (# 5125) mouth. εὑρέθη aor. ind. pass. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. ἄμωμος (# 320) unblemished. This Levitical sacrificial term means unspoiled by any flaw. If unblemished continues the metaphor of the firstfruits, it would refer to flock rather than crop and Lamb (Ford). ◆ 6 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. πετόμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. (adj.) πέτομαι (# 4375) to fly. μεσουράνημα (# 3547) mid-heaven (s. 8:13). ἔχοντα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. εὐαγγέλιον (# 2295) good news, good tidings. It is not the gospel of God's redeeming grace in Christ Jesus but, as the following vv. show, a summons to fear, honor, and worship the creator (Mounce). εὐαγγελίσαι aor. act. inf. εὐαγγελίζω (# 2294) to proclaim good news. Inf. expresses purp.; or it could also be epex., explaining what the angel has (RWP; Swete). καθημένους pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. For the variant reading κατοικοῦντες ("the ones dwelling on the earth") rather than "the ones sitting on the earth" s. Charles. ἔθνος (# 1620) nation. φυλή (# 5876) tribe. γλῶσσα (# 1185) tongue, language. ◆ 7 λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. φοβήθητε aor. imp. pass. (dep.) φοβέομαι (# 5828) to fear, to show respect, to show reverence. Aor. imp. calls for a specific act w. a note of urgency. δότε aor. imp. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ἦλθεν aor. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. κρίσεως gen. sing. κρίσις (# 3213) judging, judgment. προσκυνήσατε aor. imp. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship, w. dat. The eternal gospel calls upon men to fear and honor the creator, for the hour of judgment is at hand. God has revealed himself in nature so that men are without excuse (Mounce). ποιήσαντι aor. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to create, to make. Adj. part. as subst. πηγή (# 4380) spring. ◆ 8 ἠκολούθησεν aor. ind. act. ἀκολουθέω (# 199) to follow. ἔπεσεν aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall. The ancient Mesopotamian city of Babylon had become the political and religious capital of a world empire renowned for its luxury and moral corruption. Above all it was the great enemy of the people of God. For the early church, Rome was a contemporary Babylon (Mounce), but it is probably better to view this as the literal city of Babylon (Thomas; DLNT, 111-12, 1067). θυμοῦ gen. sing. θυμός (# 2596) anger, burning anger. Gen. explaining what the οἴνου is. πορνεία (# 4518) immorality, illicit sexual activity. πεπότικεν perf. ind. act. ποτίζω (# 4540) to give to drink, to cause to drink. The drinking of the wine indicates the intoxicating influence of Babylon's vices (Ford). Perf. indicates the lasting result. ◆ 9 ἠκολούθησεν aor. ind. act. ἀκολουθέω (# 199) to follow, w. dat. λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. Pleonastic part. (s. Rev. 1:17). θηρίον (# 2563) wild beast, monster (s. Rev. 13:1). εἰκών (# 1635) image. λαμβάνει pres. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. χάραγμα (# 5916) brand, mark. ◆ 10 πίεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) πίνω (# 4403) to drink. The pron. αὐτός (# 899) emphasizes the person who worships the beast, and not anyone else. The author probably means that one cannot drink one cup and not the other; the two are linked. The consequence of drinking Babylon's cup is the inescapable necessity of drinking the Lord's (Ford). κεκερασμένου perf. pass. part. κεράννυμι (# 3042) to mix. The word was used of the preparation of wine by the addition of various spices; the word later came to mean "properly prepared" (Mounce; Charles). ἄκρατος (# 204) full strength, unmixed, undiluted, not diluted w. water. The words mean that those who worship the image will drink the wine of God's wrath poured out in full strength, untempered by God's mercy and grace (Mounce). ποτήριον (# 4539) cup. ὀργή (# 3973) wrath, anger. This word refers more to the settled feeling of righteous indignation, whereas the word θυμός (s. vv. 8, 10) refers to the white heat of God's anger (Mounce; Swete; Trench, Synonyms, 131ff). βασανισθήσεται fut. ind. pass. βασανίζω (# 989) to torment, to torture. θείῳ dat. θεῖον (# 2520) sulphur. ◆ 11 καπνός (# 2837) smoke. βασανισμός (# 990) torturing pain, suffering. ἀναβαίνει pres. ind. act. ἀναβαίνω (# 326) to go up, to ascend. Pres. connected w. the temp. designation "forever" indicates a continual unbroken action. ἔχουσιν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἀνάπαυσις (# 398) stopping, resting, ceasing, relief. The word was used in the papyri w. the idea of relief from public duties; the word contains the idea of temporary rest as a preparation for fut. toil (MM). ἡμέρας καὶ νυκτός (# 2465; 2779; 3816) day and night. The time indicator is gen. of time indicating the kind of time within which something takes place (RG, 495; MT, 235; DM, 77; BD, 99f; GGBB, 155-57). προσκυνοῦντες pres. act. part. (subst.) προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. λαμβάνει pres. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive. ◆ 12 τηροῦντες pres. act. part. (subst.) τηρέω (# 5498) to keep, to observe. πίστιν Ἰησοῦ (# 4411; 2652) faith of Jesus. Obj. gen., "faith in Jesus." ◆ 13 ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λεγούσης pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. γράψον aor. imp. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. μακάριος (# 3421) happy, blessed (s. Matt. 5:3). ἀποθνήσκοντες pres. act. part. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die. ἵνα (# 2671) w. subj., possibly an imperatival use of ἵνα (GGBB, 477). The word here passes into the meaning "in that" rather than "in order that" (Swete). ἀναπαήσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἀναπαύομαι (# 399) to have relief, to cease, to rest. κόπος (# 3160) toil, labor, hard work that produces weariness (s. Rev. 2:2). ἀκολουθεῖ pres. ind. act. ἀκολουθέω (# 199) to follow. ◆ 14 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. εἶδον καὶ ἰδού "and I saw and behold" (s.v. 1). νεφέλη (# 3749) cloud (s. Rev. 1:7). λευκή (# 3328) white. καθήμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. This is none other than the risen Christ (Mounce). ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. χρυσοῦς (# 5991) golden. The crown or wreath given to a victor was golden; this designates the Messiah as the one who has conquered and thereby won the right to act in judgment (Mounce; Trench, Synonym, 78-81; esp. NIDNTT). δρέπανον (# 1535) sickle. ὀξύς (# 3955) sharp. ◆ 15 ἐξῆλθεν aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to come out. ναός (# 3724) temple, sanctuary. The angel that delivers the divine command to commence the harvest comes out from the temple, that most holy place of the presence of God. Judgment upon sin is a necessary function of righteousness (Mounce). κράζων pres. act. part. κράζω (# 3189) to scream. καθημένῳ pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. πέμψον aor. imp. act. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. Ingressive aor., "start at once." θέρισον aor. imp. act. θερίζω (# 2545) to harvest. Ingressive aor., "begin at once." ἦλθεν aor. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come. θερίσαι aor. act. inf. θερίζω. Epex. inf. explaining the word ὥρα. The classical image of reaping to symbolize death and destruction is very common (EGT). ἐξηράνθη aor. ind. pass. ξηραίνω (# 3830) to dry, to be dry. Here the word indicates perfect ripeness (Swete). θερισμός (# 2546) harvest. ◆ 16 ἔβαλεν aor. ind. act. βάλλω (# 965) to cast, to throw. ἐθερίσθη aor. ind. pass. θερίζω (# 2545) to harvest. ◆ 17 ἐξῆλθεν aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ◆ 18 θυσιαστήριον (# 2603) altar. ἐφώνησεν aor. ind. act. φωνέω (# 5888) to make a sound, to call out. ἔχοντι pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. πέμψον aor. imp. act. πέμπω (# 4287) to send. τρύγησον aor. imp. act. τρυγάω (# 5582) to gather ripe fruit, esp. to pick grapes (BAGD). βότρυς (# 1084) grapes, bunch of grapes. ἀμπέλος (# 306) grape vine. ἤκμασαν aor. ind. act. ἀκμάζω (# 196) to be ripe, to be in the prime, to be at the peak. (GEW, 1:53; Mounce). σταφυλή (# 5091) the ripe, grape cluster (Swete). ◆ 19 ἔβαλεν aor. ind. act. βάλλω (# 965) to throw. ἐτρύγησεν aor. ind. act. τρυγάω (# 5582) to gather ripe fruit (s.v. 18). ληνός (# 3332) trough, vat, wine press (AS; s. Matt. 21:33). ◆ 20 ἐπατήθη aor. ind. pass. πατέω (# 4251) to walk, to walk on, to trample. In biblical days grapes were trampled in a trough, which had a duct leading to a lower basin where the juice collected. The treading of grapes was a familiar figure for the execution of divine wrath upon the enemies of God (Mounce; Isa. 63:3) since crushed grapes and their juice look like spilled blood (BBC). ληνός (# 3332) winepress. ἔξωθεν w. gen., outside. ἐξῆλθεν aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. χαλινός (# 5903) bridle. ἵππος (# 2691) horse. στάδιον (# 5084) stadion. A stadion measures 670 feet so that the distance here would be approximately 184 miles (Mounce). When Jerusalem was taken by Titus, Josephus says that the Roman soldiers slew all they met and made the whole city run w. blood so much so that the fire of many houses was quenched w. these men's blood (Govett; BBC; Jos., JW., 6:406).

Revelation 15

◆ 1 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἄλλο (# 257) another. The robes of linen, pure and shiny, denote the noble and sacred nature of their office (Mounce). περιεζωσμένοι perf. pass. part. (adj.) περιζώννυμι (# 4322) to be girded around, to wear a wide belt which held up the long flowing garments. στῆθος (# 5111) breast, chest. ζώνας acc. pl. ζώνη (# 2438) wide belt, girdle. χρυσοῦ (# 5991) golden. The golden girdles are symbolic of royal and priestly functions (Mounce; s. Rev. 1:13). ◆ 7 ζῷον (# 2442) living creature. ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. φιάλη (# 5786) bowl. This was a wide shallow bowl like a deep saucer (Mounce; T; NBD, 1310). γεμούσας pres. act. part. (adj.) γέμω (# 1154) to be full, to be full of. ζῶντος pres. act. part. (adj.) ζάω (# 2409) to live. ◆ 8 ἐγεμίσθη aor. ind. pass. γεμίζω (# 1153) to fill up, to make full. καπνός (# 2837) smoke. ἐδύνατο impf. ind. mid. (dep.) δύναμαι (# 1539) to be able to. εἰσελθεῖν aor. act. inf. εἰσέρχομαι (# 1656) to go into. τελεσθῶσιν aor. subj. pass. τελέω (# 5464) to complete. Subj. used in an indef. temp. cl.

Revelation 16

◆ 1 ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λεγούσης pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ναός (# 3724) temple, sanctuary. ὑπάγετε pres. imp. act. ὑπάγω (# 5632) to go forth. Pres. imp. w. a vb. of motion. ἐκχέετε pres. imp. act. ἐκχέω (# 1772) to pour out, to empty out. φιάλας acc. pl. (# 5786) bowl (s. Rev. 15:7). For a discussion of this series of judgment s. DLNT, 132-33. θυμός (# 2596) anger, burning, blistering anger (s. Rev. 14:8, 10). ◆ 2 ἀπῆλθεν aor. ind. act. ἀπέρχομαι (# 599) to go forth, to go out. ἐξέχεεν aor. ind. act. ἐκχέω (# 1772) to pour out. ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to happen, to come to pass. ἕλκος (# 1814) sore, abscess, boil. This is the word used in the LXX of the boils w. which God smote the Egyptians (Ford; Mounce; GELTS, 144). For Pliny's description of the treatment of boils and carbuncles s. Pliny, NH, 30:107-108; DMTG, 147-48. ἔχοντας pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. χάραγμα (# 5916) brand, mark. θηρίον (# 2563) beast, monster. προσκυνοῦντας pres. act. part. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. εἰκών (# 1635) image. ◆ 3 ἐξέχεεν aor. ind. act. ἐκχέω (# 1772) to pour out. ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to happen. ἀπέθανεν aor. ind. act. ἀποθνήσκω (# 633) to die. ◆ 4 ἐξέχεεν aor. ind. act. ἐκχέω (# 1772) to pour out. ποταμός (# 4532) river. πηγή (# 4380) spring. ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become, to happen. ◆ 5 ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λέγοντος pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. εἶ pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ὤν pres. act. part. εἰμί. ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί. ὅσιος (# 4008) pure, holy (s. Rev. 15:4). ἔκρινας aor. ind. act. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. ◆ 6 ἐξέχεεν aor. ind. act. ἐκχέω (# 1772) to pour out. [δ]έδωκας perf. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. πιεῖν aor. act. inf. πίνω (# 4403) to drink. Epex. inf. after the vb. δέδωκας (RWP). ἄξιοί εἰσιν (# 514; 1639) they are worthy; i.e., it is what they deserve (Mounce). ◆ 7 ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. θυσιαστηρίου (# 2603) place of sacrifice, altar. ναί (# 3721) yes, yea. παντοκράτωρ (# 4120) almighty (s. Rev. 1:8). ἀληθινός (# 240) true, genuine. δίκαιος (# 1465) just, righteous. κρίσις (# 3213) judging, judgment. ◆ 8 ἐξέχεεν aor. ind. act. ἐκχέω (# 1772) to pour out. ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. The vb. is used in the sense of, "he was given authority," "he was allowed." καυματίσαι aor. act. inf. καυματίζω (# 3009) to burn, to scorch (Ford; Swete). Epex. inf. ◆ 9 ἐκαυματίσθησαν aor. ind. pass. καυματίζω (# 3009) to burn. καῦμα (# 3008) heat, scorching. The cognate acc. retained w. a pass. vb. (RWP). ἐβλασφήμησαν aor. ind. act. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to speak evil of, to blaspheme (TLNT; TDNT). ἔχοντος pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. πληγάς (# 4435) blow, wound, plague (s. Rev. 15:1). μετενόησαν aor. ind. act. μετανοέω (# 3566) to change one's mind, to change one's thinking, to repent. δοῦναι aor. act. inf. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. Inf. to express actual or realized results. ◆ 10 πέμπτος (# 4286) fifth. ἐξέχεεν aor. ind. act. ἐκχέω (# 1772) to pour out. ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. ἐσκοτωμένη perf. pass. part. (adj.) σκοτόω (# 5031) to make dark, to darken. Perf. indicates the condition. ἐμασῶντο perf. ind. mid. (dep.) μασάομαι (# 3460) to chew, to gnaw. The word indicates that the pain caused by the scorching heat of the fourth plague and the malignant sores of the first was such that men chewed their tongues in agony. The phrase was used as an indication of intolerable pain (Swete; s. Matt. 8:12). γλῶσσα (# 1185) tongue. πόνος (# 4506) pain, agony. ◆ 11 ἐβλασφήμησαν aor. ind. act. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to speak evil of, to blaspheme (TLNT; TDNT). πόνος (# 4506) pain. ἑλκῶν gen. pl. (# 1814) boils, sores (s.v. 2). μετενόησαν aor. ind. act. μετανοέω (# 3566) to change one's mind, to change one's thinking, to repent. ◆ 12 ἐξέχεεν aor. ind. act. ἐκχέω (# 1772) to pour out. ἐξηράνθη aor. ind. pass. ξηραίνω (# 3830) to dry, to dry up. ἑτοιμασθῇ aor. subj. pass. ἑτοιμάζω (# 2286) to prepare, to make ready. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) in purp. cl. ἀνατολή (# 424) rising, ἀνατολῆς ἡλίου (# 2463) rising of the sun, i.e., the east (s. Matt. 2:1). ◆ 13 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. στόμα (# 5125) mouth. δράκων (# 1532) dragon. θηρίον (# 2436) beast. ψευδοπροφήτης (# 6021) false prophet. ἀκάθαρτος impure, unclean. βάτραχος (# 1005) frog. The frog was classified as an unclean animal, an abomination (Lev. 11:10, 41; Ford; FFB, 33). The unclean spirits proceed from the mouths of the unholy triumvirate, suggesting the persuasive and deceptive propaganda that in the last days will lead men to commit unconditionally to the cause of evil (Mounce). ◆ 14 εἰσίν pres. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ποιοῦντα pres. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do, to perform. ἐκπορεύεται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐκπορεύομαι (# 1744) to go out, to proceed from. συναγαγεῖν aor. act. inf. συνάγω (# 5251) to lead together, to gather together, to assemble. Inf. to express purp. πόλεμος (# 4438) war. ◆ 15 ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἔρχομαι

(# 2262) pres. ind. mid. (dep.) to come. κλέπτης (# 3095) thief. The emphasis is on the unexpected coming. μακάριος (# 3421) blessed, happy. γρηγορῶν pres. act. part. (subst.) γρηγορέω (# 1213) to be awake, to watch. τηρῶν pres. act. part. τηρέω (# 5498) to keep, to protect. γυμνός (# 1218) naked. For Jewish abhorrence s. BBC. περιπατῇ pres. subj. act. περιπατέω (# 4344) to walk about. As the priest kept watch in the temple, so an officer of the temple went around every watch w. a lighted torch before him. If any watch did not stand up and say to him, "O officer of the Temple Mount, peace be to thee!" and it was manifest that he was asleep, he would beat him w. his staff and he had the right to burn his raiment (M, Middoth, 1:2). βλέπωσιν pres. subj. act. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. The pl. used impersonally gives the vb. the force of a pass., "his shame is seen." ἀσχημοσύνη (# 859) shamefulness, indecency. The word is probably an euphemism for private parts (Mounce; BAGD).

◆ 16 συνήγαγεν aor. ind. act. συνάγω (# 5251) to gather together, to lead together, to assemble. καλούμενον pres. pass. part. καλέω (# 2813) to call. ◆ 17 ἐξέχεεν aor. ind. act. ἐκχέω (# 1772) to pour out. ἀέρα acc. sing. ἀήρ (# 113) air. ἐξῆλθεν aor. ind. act. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out, to come out of. λέγουσα pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. γέγονεν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to be, to become. Perf. could be translated, "it is done," "it has come to pass." The voice is esp. appropriate in this connection, since these plagues are the last; there remain no further manifestations of this kind (Swete). ◆ 18 ἐγένοντο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to be, to become. ἀστραπή (# 847) lightning. βροντή (# 1103) thunder. σεισμός (# 4939) earthquake. οἷος (# 3888) of such a kind. ἀφ' οὗ (# 608; 4005) from when, ever since. τηλικοῦτος (# 5496) so large, so great. ◆ 19 μέρη acc. pl. μέρος (# 3538) part, section. Here used with γίνομαι the idea is that the city split into three parts. ἔπεσαν aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall, to fall down. ἐμνήσθη aor. ind. pass. μιμνήσκομαι (# 3630) to remember; pass., to be remembered. δοῦναι aor. act. inf. δίδωμι (# 3937) to give. Inf. expressing result. ποτήριον (# 4539) cup. ὀργή (# 2596) wrath, anger (s. Rev. 14:10). θυμοῦ τῆς ὀργῆς (# 2596; 3937) fierce wrath. Descriptive gen. ◆ 20 νῆσος (# 3762) island. ἔφυγεν aor. ind. act. φεύγω (# 5771) to flee. εὑρέθησαν aor. ind. pass. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. ◆ 21 χάλαζα (# 5898) hail. ταλαντιαῖος (# 5418) talent. The talent varied in weight among different peoples at different times. The range seems to be from about sixty pounds to over a hundred (Mounce). καταβαίνει pres. ind. act. καταβαίνω (# 2849) to go down, to descend. ἐβλασφήμησαν aor. ind. act. βλασφημέω (# 1059) to speak evil of, to blaspheme (TLNT; TDNT). σφόδρα (# 5379) very much, extremely, greatly, very.

◆ 1 ἦλθεν pres. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to go. ἐχόντων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. φιάλη (# 5786) bowl (s. Rev. 15:7). ἐλάλησεν aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. δεῦρο (# 1306) come here! δείξω fut. ind. act. δείκνυμι (# 1259) to show. κρίμα (# 3210) sentence, judgment. πόρνη (# 4520) prostitute, whore. In the Old Testament and prophetic literature prostitution and adultery were equal to idolatry and denoted religious apostasy (Hos. 1:2; Ford; Mounce). The harlot here is Rome, denoting the corrupt apostate religious system headed by the false prophet who is the second beast of Rev. 13. Some, however, consider a literal Babylon as the center of idol worship (Thomas). καθημένης pres. mid. part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ἐπὶ ὑδάτων πολλῶν (# 2093; 5623; 4498) upon many waters (s. Rev. 13:1). ◆ 2 ἐπόρνευσαν aor. ind. act. πορνεύω (# 4519) to engage in immoral acts, to engage in unlawful sex. Again the picture is one of religious apostasy. ἐμεθύσθησαν aor. ind. pass. μεθύσκω (# 3499) to be drunk; pass. to be made drunk. Aor. could be ingressive: to enter in the state of drunkenness, to get drunk. The figure indicates the intoxicating and controlling aspects of the false religion. κατοικοῦντες pres. act. part. κατοικέω (# 2997) to live, to reside, to dwell. πορνεία (# 4518) immorality, unlawful sexual activity (s. 2:21). Here gen. of definition, explaining the word οἴνου. ◆ 3 ἀπήνεγκεν aor. ind. act. ἀναφέρω (# 708) to carry off. ἔρημος (# 2245) desert. εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. καθημένην pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. θηρίον (# 2563) wild animal, beast. κόκκινος (# 3132) scarlet, crimson. The color, popular in the Roman Empire, indicated luxurious and haughty splendor (EGT; TDNT). γέμον[τα] pres. act. part. γέμω (# 1154) to be full. βλασφημία (# 1060) blasphemy. ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. κέρας (# 3043) horn. The image suggests the close union of the political and religious powers in the last days. ◆ 4 ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. περιβεβλημένη perf. pass. part. περιβάλλω (# 4314) to cast about, to be clothed. πορφυροῦς (# 4526) purple. κόκκινος (# 3132) scarlet. Purple was often used of royal garments and scarlet was a color of magnificence (Mounce; ABD, 5:556-60; L. B. Jensen, "Royal Purple of Tyre," Journal of Ancient Near Eastern Society 22 [1963]: 104-18). κεχρυσωμένη perf. pass. part. χρυσόω (# 5998) to inlay w. gold, to cover w. gold. μαργαρίτης (# 3449) pearl (s. 1 Tim. 2:9). ἔχουσα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ποτήριον (# 4539) cup. χρυσοῦς (# 5992) golden. βδέλυγμα (# 1007) that which stinks, abomination, that which is detestable. The word is used in the LXX of the moral and ceremonial impurity connected w. idolatrous practices (Mounce). ἀκάθαρτος (# 176) impure, unclean. πορνεία (# 4518) immoral sexual acts. Either gen. of source explaining the source of the impurity, or descriptive gen. indicating the kind of impurity–sexual impurity. ◆ 5 μέτωπον (# 3587) forehead, brow. γεγραμμένον perf. pass. part. γράφω (# 1211) to write, to inscribe. ◆ 6 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. μεθύουσαν pres. act. part. μεθύω (# 3501) to get drunk. The metaphor of getting drunk on the blood of the saints and the blood of the witnesses of Jesus portrays the wanton slaughter of a great number of believers, along w. the intoxicating effect it produced upon the murderous harlot (Mounce). This depicts the tremendous persecution of true believers by the apostate religion of the last days (DLNT, 907-14). ἐθαύμασα aor. ind. act. θαυμάζω (# 2513) to be amazed, to wonder. ἰδών aor. act. part. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. θαῦμα (# 2512) wonderment. ◆ 7 ἐθαύμασας aor. ind. act. θαυμάζω (# 2513) to be amazed. ἐρῶ fut. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to tell. βαστάζοντος pres. act. part. βαστάζω (# 1002) to carry, to bear. ἔχοντος pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ◆ 8 εἶδες aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ἦν καὶ οὐκ ἔστιν καὶ μέλλει ἀναβαίνειν "who was and is not and is about to arise." This phrase is perhaps an intentional antithesis to Rev. 1:4, "the one who was and is" (Swete). μέλλει pres. ind. act. μέλλω (# 3516) to be about to. Used w. inf. to express the fut. ἀναβαίνειν pres. act. inf. ἀναβαίνω (# 326) to go up, to ascend. ἀβ-ύσσος (# 12) bottomless pit, abyss (s. 9:1). ἀπώλεια (# 724) destruction, ruin. ὑπάγει pres. ind. act. ὑπάγω (# 5632) to go forth. θαυμασθήσονται fut. ind. pass. θαυμάζω (# 2513) to be amazed, to wonder w. the amazement of a horrible surprise; the world will still wonder and admire (Swete). κατοικοῦντες pres. act. part. κατοικέω (# 2997) to live, to dwell. γέγραπται perf. ind. pass. γράφω (# 1211) to write. καταβολή (# 2856) foundation (s. Rev. 13:8). βλεπόντων pres. act. part. βλέπω (# 1063) to see. Temp. part., "when they see." The gen. pl. agrees w. the gen. pl. of the rel. pron ὧν. (RWP). ἦν impf. ind. act. εἰμί (# 1639) to be. παρέσται fut. ind. act. παρειμί (# 4205) to be present, to come. ◆ 9 νοῦς (# 3808) mind, understanding. The formula is a call to vigilance and close attention (Swete). ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ὅπου (# 3963) where. κάθηται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. βασιλεύς (# 995) king. The reference is either to seven world empires (Seiss) or to seven emperors of the Roman Empire (Govett; Mounce; Ford). Others have viewed this as various forms of government of the Roman Empire (Scott). ◆ 10 ἔπεσαν aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall, to fall down. οὔπω (# 4037) not yet. ὅταν (# 4020) w. subj., whenever. ἔλθῃ aor. subj. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to go, to come. Subj. used in an indef. temp. cl. δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. it is necessary, w. acc. and inf. μεῖναι aor. inf. act. μένω (# 3531) to remain. ◆ 11 ὄγδοός (# 3838) eight. The beast himself is an eighth king and at the same time one of the seven. He is Antichrist, not simply another Roman emperor. His period of hegemony is the Great Tribulation preceding the return of the Messiah (Mounce). ὑπάγει pres. ind. act. ὑπάγω (# 5632) to go on. ◆ 12 εἶδες aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἔλαβον aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take. The ten kings who are yet to receive their power refer to the European kingdoms of a revived Roman Empire. The political beast of Revelation 13 will be one of these leaders (Scott). ◆ 13 γνώμη (# 1191) opinion, purpose. The unity of the ten appears in their support of the beast (Swete). ἔχουσιν pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. Pres. to describe the certainty of a fut. event. διδόασιν pres. ind. act. 3rd pl. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ◆ 14 ἀρνίον (# 768) lamb. πολεμήσουσιν fut. ind. act. πολεμέω (# 4482) to wage war. νικήσει fut. ind. act. νικάω (# 3771) to gain the victory, to be victor, to overcome, to conquer. κύριος κυρίων (# 3261) Lord of lords. Gen. may be gen. of ruling, "He is the Lord who rules over lords." Perhaps this is a circumlocation for the superlative (GGBB, 298). The word or root κύριος is used 22 times in Rev. to show Christ as the true ruler. For the parallel passage in Daniel s. G.K. Beale, "The Origin of the Title 'King of Kings and Lord of Lords' in Revelation 17:14," NTS 31 (1985): 618-20. κλητός (# 3105) called. ἐκλεκτός (# 1723) chosen, elect. ◆ 15 εἶδες aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. οὗ (# 4023) where. κάθηται pres. ind. mid. (dep.) κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ὄχλος (# 4063) crowd, multitudes. ἔθνη nom. pl. ἔθνος (# 1620) nation. γλῶσσα (# 1185) tongue, language. The fourfold groupings stresses universality (Mounce). For the fig. of the sea representing people and nations s. Rev. 13:1. ◆ 16 εἶδες aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. μισήσουσιν fut. ind. act. μισέω (# 3631) to hate. ἠρημωμένην perf. pass. part. ἐρημόω (# 2246) to desolate, to make into a desert or desolate place. ποιήσουσιν fut ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to make. φάγονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. κατακαύσουσιν fut. ind. act. κατακαύομαι (# 2876) to burn down, to burn up, to completely destroy by fire. The political forces will turn against the false religious system and completely destroy it. ◆ 17 ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to make. δοῦναι aor. act. inf. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. τελεσθήσονται fut. ind. pass. τελέω (# 5464) to bring, to the goal, to complete. ◆ 18 εἶδες aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἔχουσα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have.

Revelation 18

◆ 1 μετὰ ταῦτα (# 3552; 4047) after these things. εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. καταβαίνοντα pres. act. part. καταβαίνω (# 2849) to come down, to descend. ἔχοντα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἐφωτίσθη aor. ind. pass. φωτίζω (# 5894) to light up, to illuminate. So recently has he come from the Presence that in passing he flings a broad belt of light across the dark earth (Swete). ◆ 2 ἔκραξεν aor. ind. act. κράζω

(# 3189) to cry, to scream, to cry out w. a loud voice. ἔπεσεν aor. ind. act. πίπτω (# 4406) to fall (s. Rev. 14:8; Isa. 21:9). The proleptic aors. are repeated like a solemn dirge or lament of the damned (RWP). ἐγένετο aor. ind. mid. (dep.) γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. κατοικητήριον (# 2999) place of living, habitation. φυλακή (# 5871) prison, place of banishment. ὄρνεον (# 3997) bird. ἀκάθαρτος (# 176) unclean. μεμισημένου perf. pass. part. μισέω (# 3631) to hate. ◆ 3 θυμός (# 2596) anger, wrath, burning anger (s. 14:8, 10). πορνεία (# 4518) immortality, unlawful sexual acts. The figure is also used for apostasy and idolatry (s. Rev. 17:1). πέπωκαν perf. ind. act. πίνω (# 4540) to drink. (Charles). ποιμανεῖ fut. ind. act. ποιμαίνω (# 4477) to shepherd, to rule, to govern. ῥάβδος (# 4811) stick, staff, scepter. σιδηροῦς (# 4971) iron. The Messiah's rod is a rod of iron; it is strong and unyielding in its mission of judgment (Mounce). πατεῖ pres. ind. act. πατέω (# 4251) to tread. ληνός (# 3332) trough, winepress. οἴνος (# 3885) wine. θυμός (# 2596) anger, burning anger. ὀργή (# 3973) wrath, deep-seated, righteous wrath. It shows the futility of resistance. παντοκράτωρ (# 4120) almighty (s. 1:8). ◆ 16 ἔχει pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. μηρός (# 3611) thigh. γεγραμμένον perf. pass. part. γράφω (# 1211) to write. The inscription βασιλεὺς βασιλέων καὶ κύριος κυρίων (# 995; 2779; 3261) "King of kings, and Lord of lords" was probably the name written on that part of the garment that fell open across the thigh (Mounce). ◆ 17 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἑστῶτα perf. act. part. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand. ἔκραξεν aor. ind. act. κράζω (# 3189) to scream, to cry out w. a loud voice. λέγων pres. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ὄρνεον (# 3997) bird. πετομένοις pres. mid. (dep.) part. πέτομαι (# 4375) to fly. μεσουράνημα (# 3547) midheaven (s. 8:13). δεῦτε (# 1307) come here. συνάχθητε aor. imp. pass. συνάγω (# 5251) to gather together, to lead together, to assemble. δεῖπνον (# 1270) feast, banquet. θεοῦ (# 2536) of God; it is the supper of God in the sense that God will provide it (Mounce). ◆ 18 φάγητε aor. subj. act. ἐσθίω (# 2266) to eat. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) used in a purp. cl. σάρκας acc. pl. σάρξ (# 4922) flesh; pl. pieces of flesh (RWP). χιλίαρχος (# 5941) commander of a thousand (s. Rev. 6:15; Mark 6:21). καθημένων pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ◆ 19 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. θηρίον (# 2563) wild animal, beast. στράτευμα (# 5128) army. συνηγμένα perf. pass. part. συνάγω (# 5251) to gather together, to assemble. Perf. pass. part. indicates to be assembled, to stand assembled. ποιῆσαι aor. act. inf. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. Inf. to express purp. πόλεμος (# 4483) war. The political leader described in Rev. 13 as the first beast assembles his forces for war and the battle takes place at Armageddon, the hill (mountain) of Meggido overlooking the fertile valley of Jezreel. Meggido was the important stronghold guarding not only the valley, but also the famous trade route, Via Maris, from Egypt to Damascus. ◆ 20 ἐπιάσθη aor. ind. pass. πιάζω (# 4389) to seize, to take hold of. The word was used of arresting someone and taking him into custody and of catching animals (BAGD). ψευδοπροφήτης (# 6021) false prophet. The religious leader who is the second beast of Rev. 13. ποιήσας aor. act. part. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. ἐπλάνησεν aor. ind. act. πλανάω (# 4414) to lead in the wrong way, to lead astray, to deceive. λαβόντας aor. act. part. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to receive, to take. χάραγμα (# 5916) brand, mark. προσκυνοῦντας pres. act. part. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. εἰκών (# 1635) image. ζῶντες pres. act. part. ζάω (# 2409) to live. Pres. describes contemporary action, "while still alive." ἐβλήθησαν aor. ind. pass. βάλλω (# 965) to throw, to cast. λίμνη (# 3349) lake. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. καιομένης pres. pass. part. καίω (# 2794) to burn; pass., to be burning. θεῖον (# 2520) brimstone, sulphur. ◆ 21 ἀπεκτάνθησαν aor. ind. pass. ἀποκτείνω (# 650) to kill. ῥομφαίᾳ (# 4855) sword (s. 1:16). καθημένου pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ἐξελθούσῃ aor. act. part. ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. ἐχορτάσθησαν aor. ind. pass. χορτάζω (# 5963) to feed, to fatten; pass., to be filled, to be satisfied. The supper of God is ready, and the vultures gorge themselves on the flesh of the wicked (Mounce).

Revelation 20

◆ 1 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. καταβαίνοντα pres. act. part. καταβαίνω (# 2849) to come down, to descend. ἔχοντα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. κλείς (# 3090) key. The key symbolized the authority over a place (s. Rev. 1:18; 3:7). ἄβυσσος (# 12) bottomless pit, abyss (s. 9:1). The abyss stands here in sharp contrast w. the lake (19:20); the locked dungeon w. its black and bottomless depths forms an antithesis to the open shallow pool of fire (Swete). ἅλυσις (# 268) chain. ◆ 2 ἐκράτησεν aor. ind. act. κρατέω (# 3195) to exercise power, to take into custody, to arrest (BAGD; Mounce). δράκων (# 1532) dragon. ὄφις (# 4058) snake. ἀρχαῖος (# 792) old, ancient. ἔδησεν aor. ind. act. δέω (# 1313) to bind. Aor. points to the completed action. χίλιοι (# 5943) thousand. ἔτη acc. pl. ἔτος (# 2291) year. Acc. of time indicating the extent of time, "for a thousand years." to lock. Aor. points to the completed action. ἐσφράγισεν aor. ind. act. σφραγίζω (# 5381) to seal. The sealing would indicate the authoritative placing of a seal so that no one is allowed in or out (Matt. 27:66). The purp. of sealing the entrance to a prison was to prevent any attempt at escape or rescue passing unobserved (Swete). The activity of Satan is completely removed from the earth a thousand years (Walvoord). πλανήσῃ aor. subj. act. πλανάω (# 4414) to lead astray, to deceive. Subj. w. ἵνα (# 2671) could be used either in a purp. or result cl. τελεσθῇ aor. subj. pass. τελέω (# 5464) to complete. Subj. in a temp. cl. δεῖ (# 1256) pres. ind. act. it is necessary, impersonal w. acc. and inf., expressing a logical necessity. λυθῆναι aor. pass. inf. λύω (# 3395) to loose, to release. The release will be brief in comparison w. the captivity (Swete). This indicates the completion of the 1000 years. ◆ 4 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἐκάθισαν aor. ind. act. καθίζω (# 2767) to take one's seat, to sit. κρίμα (# 3210) judgment. ἐδόθη aor. ind. pass. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give, to grant. Theol. pass. indicating that God is the one who gave. πεπελεκισμένων perf. pass. part. (subst.) πελεκίζω (# 4282) to cut one's head off w. a double-edge ax, to behead. The ax was the instrument of execution in the Roman republic (Mounce). προσεκύνησαν aor. ind. act. προσκυνέω (# 4686) to worship. θηρίον (# 2536) wild beast, monster (s. 13:1). εἰκών (# 1635) image. ἔλαβον aor. ind. act. λαμβάνω (# 3284) to take, to receive. χάραγμα (# 5916) brand, mark. μέτωπον (# 3587) forehead, brow. ἔζησαν aor. ind. act. ζάω (# 2509) to come to live. ἐβασίλευσαν aor. ind. act. βασιλεύω (# 996) to be king, to rule, to reign. Aor. could be ingressive aor., "they began to reign." The rabbis made a distinction between the days of the Messiah and the eternal kingdom, and debated the length of the days of the Messiah. Some said 600 years, others said 1000 years, others 2000 or 7000 years; but a very old tradition going back to Rabbi Eliezer Hyrkanus (ca. A.D. 90) or earlier, taught that the rule of the Messiah was 1000 years (SB, 3:824-27; Lohse; TS, 681; b. Sanh. 99a). ◆ 5 λοιπός (# 3370) rest. These were the wicked who did not have a part in the first resurrection (Thomas). ἔζησαν aor. ind. act. ζάω (# 2409) to come to live. τελεσθῇ aor. subj. pass. τελέω (# 5464) to complete. ἡ ἀνάστασις ἡ πρώτη (# 414; 4755) the first resurrection. Jewish teaching claimed there would be a resurrection of those in the land of Israel, and after that a general resurrection for the Last Judgement (SB, 3:827-30). The idea here seems to correspond, to some extent, to the Jewish view, where the first resurrection refers to the resurrection of the righteous (Thomas; Johnson; DLNT, 1015-20). ◆ 6 μακάριος (# 3421) happy, blessed. ἔχων pres. act. part. (subst.) ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ὁ δεύτερος θάνατος (# 1311; 2505) the second death. The second death may be spiritual death beyond physical death (Thomas). Rabbinical teaching said some would be excluded from the resurrection and be delivered over to eternal destruction, which amounted to the second death (SB, 3:830-31). ἔχει pres. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. ἔσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. βασιλεύσουσιν fut. ind. act. βασιλεύω (# 996) to rule (s.v. 4). ◆ 7 ὅταν (# 4020) w. subj., when. τελεσθῇ aor. subj. pass. τελέω (# 5464) to complete. Subj. in an indef. temp. cl. λυθήσεται fut. ind. pass. λύω (# 3395) to loosen (s.v. 3). ◆ 8 ἐξελεύσεται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) ἐξέρχομαι (# 2002) to go out. πλανῆσαι aor. act. inf. πλανάω (# 4414) to lead astray, to deceive. Inf. used to express purp. γωνία (# 1224) corner. τὸν Γὼγ καὶ Μαγώγ (# 1223; 2779; 3408) Gog and Magog. It seems that the designations refer to the enemies of God (Thomas). For a discussion of Jewish views of the names Gog and Magog and the activity before, during, and after the days of the Messiah s. SB, 3:813-40; ABD, 2:1056; DDD, 708-11, 999-1001. συναγαγεῖν aor. act. inf. συνάγω (# 5251) to lead together, to gather, to assemble. Inf. to express purp. πόλεμος (# 4483) war. ἀριθμός (# 750) number. ἄμμος (# 302) sand. ◆ 9 ἀνέβησαν aor. ind. act. ἀναβαίνω (# 326) to go up, to ascend. πλάτος (# 4424) breadth. ἐκύκλευσαν aor. ind. act. κυκλεύω (# 3238) to encircle. παρεμβολή (# 4213) camp. The word signifies either a camp or an army marching or engaged in battle (Swete). ἠγαπημένην perf. pass. part. ἀγαπάω (# 26) to love. κατέβη aor. ind. act. καταβαίνω (# 2849) to come down. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. κατέφαγεν aor. ind. act. κατεσθίω (# 2983) to eat up, to consume completely. Prep. in compound is perfective. ◆ 10 διάβολος (# 1333) devil (DDD, 463-73). πλανῶν pres. act. part. πλανάω (# 4414) to deceive. Part. is used here as a noun: "the deceiver," "the one who deceives them." ἐβλήθη aor. ind. pass. βάλλω (# 965) to throw, to cast. λίμνη (# 3349) lake. πυρός gen. sing. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. Gen. of description. θεῖον (# 2520) brimstone, sulphur. ὅπου (# 3963) where? Here it is used as a rel. pron. ψευδοπροφήτης (# 6021) false prophet. βασανισθήσονται fut. ind. pass. βασανίζω (# 989) to torment, to torture, to cause pain. ◆ 11 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. λευκός (# 3328) white. The great white throne marks the final judgment of the unbeliever and takes the place after the millennial reign of Christ and the judgement of Satan. The absolute purity of this supreme court is symbolized by the color of the throne (Swete). καθήμενον pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ἔφυγεν aor. ind. act. φεύγω (# 5771) to flee. Earth and heaven flee away before the awesome grandeur of God seated upon the throne of judgment (Mounce). εὑρέθη aor. ind. pass. εὑρίσκω (# 2351) to find. ◆ 12 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἑστῶτας perf. act. part. ἵστημι (# 2705) to stand. βιβλία (# 1046) nom. pl. βιβλίον book. ἠνοίχθησαν aor. ind. pass. ἀνοίγω (# 487) to open. ἐκρίθησαν aor. ind. pass. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. γεγραμμένων perf. pass. part. γράφω (# 1211) to write.

Perf. indicates "that which stands written." The sentence of the judge is not arbitrary; it rests upon written evidence; the books that were opened contain, so it seems, a record of the deeds of every human being who came up for judgment (Swete). ◆ 13 ἔδωκεν aor. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. ᾅδης (# 87) Hades, the grave, the underworld as the place of the dead (s. Rev. 1:18). ἐκρίθησαν aor. ind. pass. κρίνω (# 3212) to judge. ἕκαστος (# 1667) each one. ◆ 14 ἐβλήθησαν aor. ind. pass. βάλλω (# 965) to throw. λίμνη (# 3349) lake. πυρός gen. sing. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. Enoch sees a place that was burning and flaming and was a pain to look at. He was told that this was the prison house of the angels (1 Enoch 21:7-10).

Revelation 21

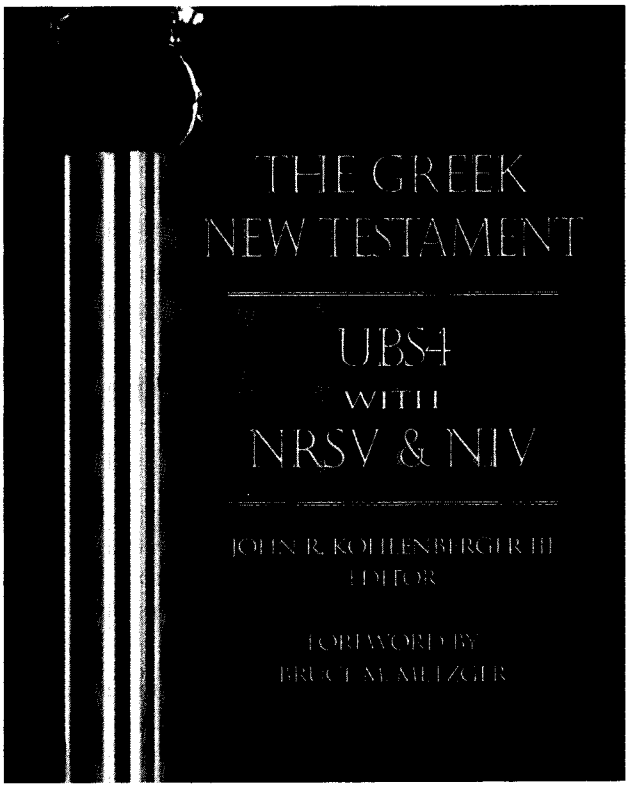
◆ 1 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ἀπῆλθαν aor. ind. act. ἀπέρχομαι (# 599) to go away, to depart, to pass away. In rabbinical literature some taught that the world would be renovated and made new so that it would return to its original state after creation, cleansed from sin and evil. Others taught that the earth would return to the original chaos and would then be recreated w. a new existence. Others taught that the earth would be completely destroyed and the new heaven and new earth would be a totally new creation (SB, 3:842-47; Moore, Judaism, 2:338ff). At this time the purpose and plan of God's creating mankind will be fulfilled through redemption. Created in the image of God, mankind is to have unbroken fellowship w. God, to rule the earth, and to be God's representative on earth. Sin, however, did not allow these purposes to be completely realized; but the Messiah came as the Redeemer (גּאֵל, go'el, s. TDOT; NIDOTTE), and paid the price for the release from the slavery of sin to restore the broken fellowship. Now He has defeated the enemies of God and restored the earth to God's complete possession and provided for mankind to be the true representative of God on the new earth. ◆ 2 εἶδον aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. Ἰερουσαλὴμ καινήν (# 2647; 2785) New Jerusalem. For the Jewish writing found in the DSS describing the New Jerusalem or heavenly Jerusalem s. DSST, 129-35; AT, 214-22; MPAT, 46-65. καταβαίνουσαν pres. act. part. (adj.) καταβαίνω (# 2849) to come down, to descend. ἡτοιμασμένην perf. pass. part. ἑτοιμάζω (# 2286) to prepare. Perf. pass. part. indicates "to have been prepared and to stand ready." νύμφη (# 3811) bride. κεκοσμημένην perf. pass. part. κοσμέω (# 3175) to make orderly, to put in order, to adorn, to decorate, to make beautiful or attractive (BAGD). In preparation for the marriage and the arrival of the groom the bride was bathed and oiled, perfumed, her hair was fixed, and she was adorned w. her wedding garment. For marriage preparations s. JPF, 2:752-60; SB, 1:500-517; 2:373-99. ◆ 3 ἤκουσα aor. ind. act. ἀκούω (# 201) to hear. λεγούσης pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. ἰδού aor. ind. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. σκηνή (# 5008) tent, tabernacle. σκηνώσει fut. ind. act. σκηνόω (# 5012) to live in a tent, to tabernacle. The word indicates the abiding presence of God (Mounce). ἔσονται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 4 ἐξαλείψει fut. ind. act. ἐξαλείφω (# 1981) to wipe away, to wipe out. Predictive fut. giving a promise. δάκρυον (# 1232) tear. πᾶν δάκρυον every individual single tear. This would be tears of sorrow, not tears of joy. ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. πένθος (# 4292) sorrow, mourning. κραυγή (# 3199) shouting, outcry, crying in grief or anxiety (MM). πόνος (# 4506) pain. ἀπῆλθαν aor. ind. act. ἀπέρχομαι (# 599) to go away, to pass away. Aor. w. prep. in compound is perfective, "completely gone." ◆ 5 εἶπεν aor. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. καθήμενος pres. mid. (dep.) part. κάθημαι (# 2764) to sit. ἰδού aor. imp. act. ὁράω (# 3972) to see. ποιῶ pres. ind. act. ποιέω (# 4472) to do. γράψον aor. imp. act. γράφω (# 1211) to write. ◆ 6 εἶπεν aor. ind. act. λέγω (# 3306) to say. γέγοναν perf. ind. act. γίνομαι (# 1181) to become. "They have come to pass." Not only are the sayings mentioned in v. 5 faithful and true, but they have come to pass and their results continue on in the fut. ἀρχή (# 794) beginning. τέλος (# 5465) end. διψῶντι pres. act. part. (subst.) διψάω (# 1498) to thirst, to be thirsty. δώσω fut. ind. act. δίδωμι (# 1443) to give. πηγή (# 4380) spring, fountain. δωρεάν (# 1562) freely, without cost. In the arid climate of Palestine a spring of cool water would be a vivid symbol of refreshment and satisfaction (Mounce). ◆ 7 νικῶν pres. act. part. (subst.) νικάω (# 3771) to be a victor, to conquer, to overcome. κληρονομήσει fut. ind. act. κληρονομέω (# 3099) to inherit. ἔσται fut. ind. mid. (dep.) εἰμί (# 1639) to be. ◆ 8 δειλός (# 1264) cowardly. ἄπιστος (# 603) unfaithful, unbelieving. ἐβδελυγμένοις perf. pass. part. (subst.) βδελύσσομαι (# 1009) to pollute, to defile, to make detestable, to commit abomination; perf. pass. part., "to be detestable." The word indicates persons whose very natures have been saturated w. the abominations they practiced in their lifetime. The context suggests that in this case the abominations are not merely idolatrous acts, but the monstrous and unnatural vices of heathendom (Swete). φονεύς (# 5838) murderer. πόρνος (# 4521) immoral person, one who practices sexual immorality. φαρμακός (# 5761) one who mixes and uses drugs either for sorcery or magic practices (s. 9:21). εἰδωλολάτρης (# 1629) one who worships idols, idolater. ψευδέσιν dat. pl. ψευδής (# 6014) liar. The dat. pls. are indir. objs., dependant on the vb. δώσω in v. 6; or they are dat. of disadvantage. μέρος (# 3538) part. λίμνη (# 3349) lake. καιομένῃ pres. pass. part. καίομαι (# 2794) to burn; pass., to be burning. πυρί dat. sing. πῦρ (# 4786) fire. θεῖον (# 2520) brimstone, sulphur. Enoch saw a similar fearful place, a great burning fire and Ura'el, one of the holy angels asked him why he was so afraid. Enoch responds, "I am frightened because of this terrible place and the spectacle of this painful place"; and the angel replies, "This place is a prison house of the angels; they are detained here forever" (1 Enoch 21:7-10). ◆ 9 ἦλθεν aor. ind. act. ἔρχομαι (# 2262) to come, to go. ἐχόντων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. φιάλη (# 5786) bowl. γεμόντων pres. act. part. γέμω (# 1154) to be full of. πληγή (# 4435) blow, wound, plague. ἔσχατος (# 2274) last. ἐλάλησεν aor. ind. act. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. λέγων pres. act. part. λέγω (# 3306) to say. δεῦρο (# 1306) come here. δείξω fut. ind. act. δείκνυμι (# 1259) to show. νύμφη (# 3811) bride. ἀρνίον (# 768) lamb. ◆ 10 ἀπήνεγκέν aor. ind. act. ἀποφέρω (# 708) to carry away. ἔδειξέν aor. ind. act. δείκνυμι (# 1259) to show. καταβαίνουσαν aor. act. part. καταβαίνω (# 2849) to descend, to come down. ◆ 11 ἔχουσαν pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. δόξα (# 1518) glory, brilliance. The word refers to the shining radiance coming from the presence and glory of God–the Shekinah (Mounce; TDNT; NIDNTT; TLNT; TS, 37-65). φωστήρ (# 5891) radiance, luminary. The word means something in which light is concentrated and from there radiates (Swete). τιμιωτάτῳ superl. τίμιος (# 5508) precious, costly; superl., extremely expensive, very expensive. ἰάσπιδι dat. sing. ἴασπις (# 2618) jasper. In antiquity the designation "jasper" was used for any opaque precious stone. The point of the comparison is the brilliance and sparkle of a gem, and the reference could be to a diamond (Mounce). κρυσταλλίζοντι pres. act. part. (adj.) κρυσταλλίζω (# 3222) to sparkle and shimmer like a crystal. ◆ 12 ἔχουσα pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. τεῖχος (# 5446) wall. μέγας (# 3489) great, mighty. πυλών (# 4784) gate. ἐπιγεγραμμένα perf. pass. part. (adj.) ἐπιγράφω (# 2108) to write upon, to inscribe upon. φυλή (# 5876) tribe. ◆ 13 ἀνατολή (# 424) rising, east (s. Matt. 2:1). βορρᾶς (# 1080) north wind, north. νότος (# 3803) south, south wind. δυσμός (# 1553) going down, west. ◆ 14 ἔχων pres. act. part. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. θεμέλιος (# 2529) foundation. Each foundation was probably a stout oblong block like the stones that may still be seen in the lower rows of the Herodian masonry in Jerusalem (Ford). ◆ 15 λαλῶν pres. act. part. λαλέω (# 3281) to speak. εἶχεν impf. ind. act. ἔχω (# 2400) to have. μέτρον (# 3586) measure. κάλαμος (# 2812) reed, rod (s. 11:1). χρυσοῦς (# 5991) golden. μετρήσῃ aor. subj. act. μετρέω (# 3582) to measure. THE GREEK NEW TESTAMENT UBS4 WITH NRSV AND NIV

John R. Kohlenberger III



Students with a working knowledge of Greek can compare the translation methods of two widely used and critically acclaimed contemporary English versions of the New Testament, using this three-column parallel presentation of the United Bible Society's Fourth Edition Greek text (UBS4) alongside the New Revised Standard Version (NRSV) and the New International Version (NIV) New Testaments.

The Greek New Testament UBS4 with NRSV and NIV provides an object lesson in modern Bible translation, letting readers see the difference between the verbum ad verbum (word for word) technique of the NRSV and the sensum ad sensum (idea for idea) technique of the NIV.

Both the NRSV and NIV footnotes appear in their entirety. The editor's notes to the UBS4 point out where this text differs from the Greek texts used for the NRSV and the NIV.

Basics of Biblical Greek

Grammar and Workbook

William D. Mounce

Basics of Biblical Greek takes an integrated approach to teaching and learning New Testament Greek. Students immediately start working with verses from the New Testament, tying the lessons directly to the biblical text. It makes learning Greek a natural process and shows from the very beginning how an understanding of Greek helps in understanding the New Testament. Written from the student's perspective, this approach combines the best of the deductive and inductive methods. The workbook features a parsing section and is usefully perforated with hole-punched pages for loose-leaf binders.

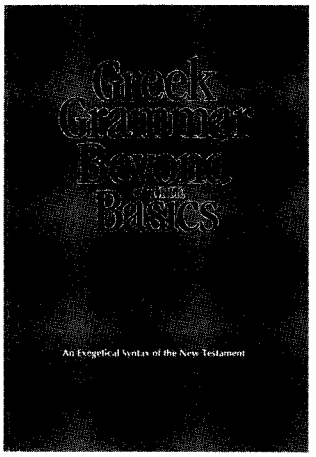
Greek Grammar Beyond the Basics

An Exegetical Syntax of the New Testament

Daniel B. Wallace



Depth, accuracy, relevancy, and up-to-date presentation make this intermediate Greek grammar the finest available—equipping students of the New Testament with the skills they need to do biblical exegesis. Written by a world-class authority on Greek grammar, it links grammar and exegesis to provide today's student, expositor, or professor with solid exegetical and linguistic foundations.

Greek Grammar Beyond the Basics integrates the technical requirements for proper Greek interpretation with the actual interests and needs of Bible students. It is the first truly exegetical syntax in which the author constantly has an eye on the role of syntax in exegesis.

A Graded Reader of Biblical Greek

Companion to Basics of Biblical Greek and Greek Grammar Beyond the Basics

William D. Mounce

This multipurpose volume serves as a companion to Basics of Biblical Greek, Greek Grammar Beyond the Basics, and Biblical Greek Exegesis. It contains annotated readings from the New Testament designed for second-year Greek students. Sections from the Greek New Testament are presented in order of increasing difficulty, and unfamiliar forms and constructions are annotated.

Biblical Greek Exegesis

A Graded Approach to Learning Intermediate and Advanced Greek

George H. Guthrie and J. Scott Duvall

Biblical Greek Exegesis teaches syntax and exegesis using examples from the New Testament text rather than from textbook sentence constructions. This real-world approach retains student interest by relating their Greek training directly to their future ministry.

Using the first nine New Testament sections of William D. Mounce's Graded Reader of Biblical Greek, the first section of Biblical Greek Exegesis asks the student to translate, identify syntactical elements in the text, and diagram the text. The second part of the book takes the student through a twelve-step process of exegesis, based largely on a grammatical and semantic analysis of the text, and concludes by helping students prepare preaching/teaching outlines on the various New Testament passages.

The Morphology of Biblical Greek

A Companion to Basics of Biblical Greek and An Analytical Lexicon to the Greek New Testament

William D. Mounce

The Morphology of Biblical Greek shows how Greek word forms (even the most "irregular" ones) are derived by means of a limited set of rules. It explains why Greek words "do what they do" in a way that second-year Greek students can understand. It also includes paradigms, principal parts, and an index of all words in the New Testament with their morphological category.

The Student's Complete Vocabulary Guide to the Greek New Testament

Complete Frequency Lists, Cognate Groupings, and Principal Parts

Warren C. Trenchard

The Student's Complete Vocabulary Guide to the Greek New Testament is the most complete book of its kind. Designed for both reference and study, it covers the entire vocabulary of the Greek New Testament—not just the words that occur most frequently. Words are arranged by frequency and in a separate section by cognates. Principal parts for all verbs found in the New Testament are also listed. A new revised edition being published October 1998 adds the Goodrick-Kohlenberger numbers to the index.
