JAMES STRONG, LL.D., S.T.D.

Introduction by John R. Kohlenberger, III

The updated New Strong's® Hebrew and Greek dictionaries, plus the best of Vine's, equal the most valuable word studies ever!

Now the famous Strong's dictionaries are updated and available as a separate volume, complete with Nelson's exclusive English word index. Convenient and easy to use, The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words helps you get the full benefit of Strong's classic dictionaries in your Bible word studies.

- By incorporating the best of Vine's Complete Expository Dictionary of Old and New Testament Words, the Hebrew and Greek dictionaries now contain three times as many word study helps as ever before
- Cross-referenced to the leading lexical works: Brown-Driver-Briggs, Bauer-Arndt-Gingrich-Danker, Thayer's, and more
- The exclusive English word index shows which Hebrew and Greek words are translated into specific English words and how often each translation occurs
- Helpful introductory material shows how to use this resource for effective, in-depth Bible study—and how to get even more use out of Strong's and other concordances you may already own
- Fan-Tab™ Thumb-Index Reference System

Ideal for use with any Strong's concordance, saving you time and helping you make full use of reference materials you already have.

A powerful reference for accurate word studies, The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words helps you to get the most out of Bible study.

Dr. James Strong, formerly professor of exegetical theology at Drew Theological Seminary, spent more than thirty-five years preparing his landmark concordance. First published in 1890 with the help of more than one hundred colleagues, Strong's remains the definitive concordance compiled on the King James Version of the Bible. This dictionary enhances Strong's original Hebrew and Greek dictionaries.

How to Use The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words

Strong's unique system of numbers continues to be the bridge between the original languages of the Bible and English translations for many Bible students. The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words combines Nelson's exclusive English Index to the Biblical Languages with newly typeset, corrected, and greatly expanded print editions of Strong's Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary and Strong's Greek Dictionary to offer a unique and valuable tool for biblical word studies.

1. What the Dictionary Is

The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words is a fully integrated collection of three key Bible study tools. It is an essential companion to The New Strong's® Exhaustive Concordance or any other edition of this classic concordance. The English Index to the Biblical Languages contains every major word in the KJV in alphabetical order, with a list of every Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek word that each English word translates. This unique index shows at a glance the range of meanings of each English word and provides a key to the biblical language dictionaries. The Introduction to the English Index follows on page v. The Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary contains a wealth of information about the original languages of the Old Testament. It is keyed to the English Index by Strong's numbering system, as well as by the complete list of KJV renderings within each dictionary entry. The Introduction to The Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary appears on page 290. The Greek Dictionary contains a wealth of information about the original language of the New Testament. It is also keyed to the English Index by Strong's numbering system, as well as by the complete list of KJV renderings within each dictionary entry. The Introduction to The Greek Dictionary appears on page 900.

2. Using the Dictionary Independently

To use this dictionary, look up any KJV word in the English Index. Within each entry is a listing of every Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek word that the English word translates. Because each original language word has a concise English definition, you immediately see the range of meaning of the English words. "Earnest," for example, is used as an adjective describing sincere emotions and is also used as a noun, as in "earnest money" or "pledge." Because each original language word is keyed to the Strong's numbering system, you can find further information in the Hebrew and Aramaic and Greek Dictionaries. If the Strong's number is not italicized (e.g., 1001), consult the Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary. If the Strong's number is italicized (e.g., 1001), consult the Greek Dictionary. These dictionaries provide further definitions and explanations of the original languages. They also list every English word in the KJV that translates each original language word. These features of The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words allow it to function as a complete dictionary and thesaurus to the original biblical languages and to the KJV.

3. Using the Dictionary with The New Strong's® Exhaustive Concordance

The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words provides word meanings for the KJV and for the original biblical languages. Although its dictionaries do cite many biblical texts, it by no means replaces The New Strong's® Exhaustive Concordance as an exhaustive index to every appearance of every English word in the KJV. The English Index provides a quick and easy summary of the hundreds of thousands of contexts in Strong's Exhaustive Concordance, while the Concordance lists every context for every word of the KJV, allowing you to study the use of the word in the Bible itself. The Hebrew and Aramaic and Greek dictionaries duplicate the corrected and improved dictionaries of The New Strong's® Exhaustive Concordance, but do so in a more generous print size. Further, with both books open, you can do context research in the concordance and, without losing your place, consult the dictionaries of The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words.

The publisher trusts you will soon find The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words an invaluable and constant companion in your study of God's Word.

How to Use the English Index to the Biblical Languages

1. What the Index Is

The English Index to the Biblical Languages contains every major word in the KJV with a list of every Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek word that each English word translates. Words that are omitted from this list include words that appear in the Appendix of Articles in the classic edition of The New Strong's® Exhaustive Concordance (such as "a," "and," and "the") and words that do not directly translate a Hebrew, Aramaic, or Greek word (such as "aileth," "letting," and "shouldest"). English words are listed in alphabetical order, exactly as they are spelled in the KJV.

Under each English entry is a listing of every Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek word that the English word translates. These lists are organized in alphabetical order (which is also Strong's number order): Old Testament words first, then New Testament words. Each line has four elements: (1) the Strong's number; (2) the original language word in transliteration; (3) the total number of times the word is so translated, and (4) a brief definition. (See the enlarged example on page vi.)

(1) If the Strong's number is not italicized, it refers to an original word in the Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary. If the Strong's number and the transliterated word are italicized, it refers to an original word in the Greek Dictionary.

(2) Words are transliterated exactly as in the dictionaries, according to the schemes outlined on pages 292–93 and 902–03. If more than one Strong's number is listed on an entry line (for example, 4697+1767 under "able"), in the interest of saving space, only the first word is transliterated. The additional word(s) are transliterated in the dictionaries.

(3) The total number of occurrences is given to show patterns of KJV usage and in case you wish to study the original language words in the order of their frequency. For example, Greek word 25 (agapao) is translated "love" 70 times in the KJV and may be a more significant or interesting word than 2309 (thelo), which is translated as "love" only once.

(4) The brief definition summarizes the fuller dictionary entries in Strong's. These definitions actually function as a dictionary to the vocabulary of the KJV, informing you that a "habergeon" is a "coat of mail" or that "unction" is a "special endowment of the Holy Spirit." Sometimes these definitions update the scholarship of the KJV, as in the case of "unicorn," which is defined as "wild bull." As is the case of the frequency numbers, the definition may also point out a key Hebrew, Aramaic, or Greek word that you may want to study in more detail by referring to the dictionaries.

2. Using the Index with the Dictionaries

Because the Index lists every Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek word that is translated by any English word of the KJV, it functions as a concise dictionary and thesaurus of the biblical languages. Quickly scanning the entry for the word "love" shows that the word is used as general positive affection, deep compassion, fraternal affection, love for husbands, love for children, and greedy love of money. Reading the appropriate dictionary entries will enlarge on these definitions. Again, if a Strong's number is not italicized (e.g., 157), consult the Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary. If a Strong's number is italicized (e.g., 26), consult the Greek Dictionary. Each entry in the dictionaries also provides a complete list of KJV words that translate the original language word, following the :— symbol. Greek word 26 (agape), for example, lists four English words: charitably, charity, dear, and love. This shows the range of meaning the KJV translators assigned to agape. By returning to the Index and looking up each of these English words, you find even more original language words to study.

3. Using the Index with The New Strong's® Exhaustive Concordance

The English Index provides a quick and easily used summary of the hundreds of thousands of contexts in The New Strong's® Exhaustive Concordance, while the concordance lists every context for every word of the KJV. This allows you to study the use of the word in the Bible itself, which is the most important way to understand how a specific word is used in a specific context. Although Strong's Hebrew and Aramaic and Greek dictionaries offer definitions for each word of the original languages, these words do not have the sum total of every definition in every context. Greek word 26 (agape), for example, cannot mean "affection" and "love-feast" every time it occurs. It means "affection" in such contexts as Philemon 7 and "love-feast" in Jude 12. Similarly, the historical or etymological materials that Strong's Dictionaries often present at the beginning of an entry may show something of the origin of a word, but are not necessarily its definition in every biblical context. For example, when the Greek word 314 (anaginosko) is used in the New Testament, it means "to read," rather than "to know again," as Strong's Dictionary describes its origin.

In short, the wealth of materials contained in The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words is truly maximized in conjunction with The New Strong's® Exhaustive Concordance when carefully applied to the study of God's Word.

An Example from the English Index

Words are spelled exactly as in the King James Version

If Strong does not offer a "definition" of a proper name, the name itself is repeated as its definition

Strong's "definition" of a proper name is used instead of repeating the name itself

Transliteration of the original language word

A bold, non-italic Strong's number refers you to The Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary

A bold, non-italic Strong's number followed by (Ch.) identifies the word as Aramaic (Chaldean)

An italicized Strong's number and transliteration refers you to The Greek Dictionary

The total number of times the original language word (tapĕinŏō) is translated by this English word (ABASED) in the King James Version is listed in parentheses ( )

The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of the Words in the Hebrew Bible

with their Renderings in the King James Version and with Additional Definitions Adapted from W. E. Vine and Cross-references to Other Word Study Resources read this first!

How to Use the Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary

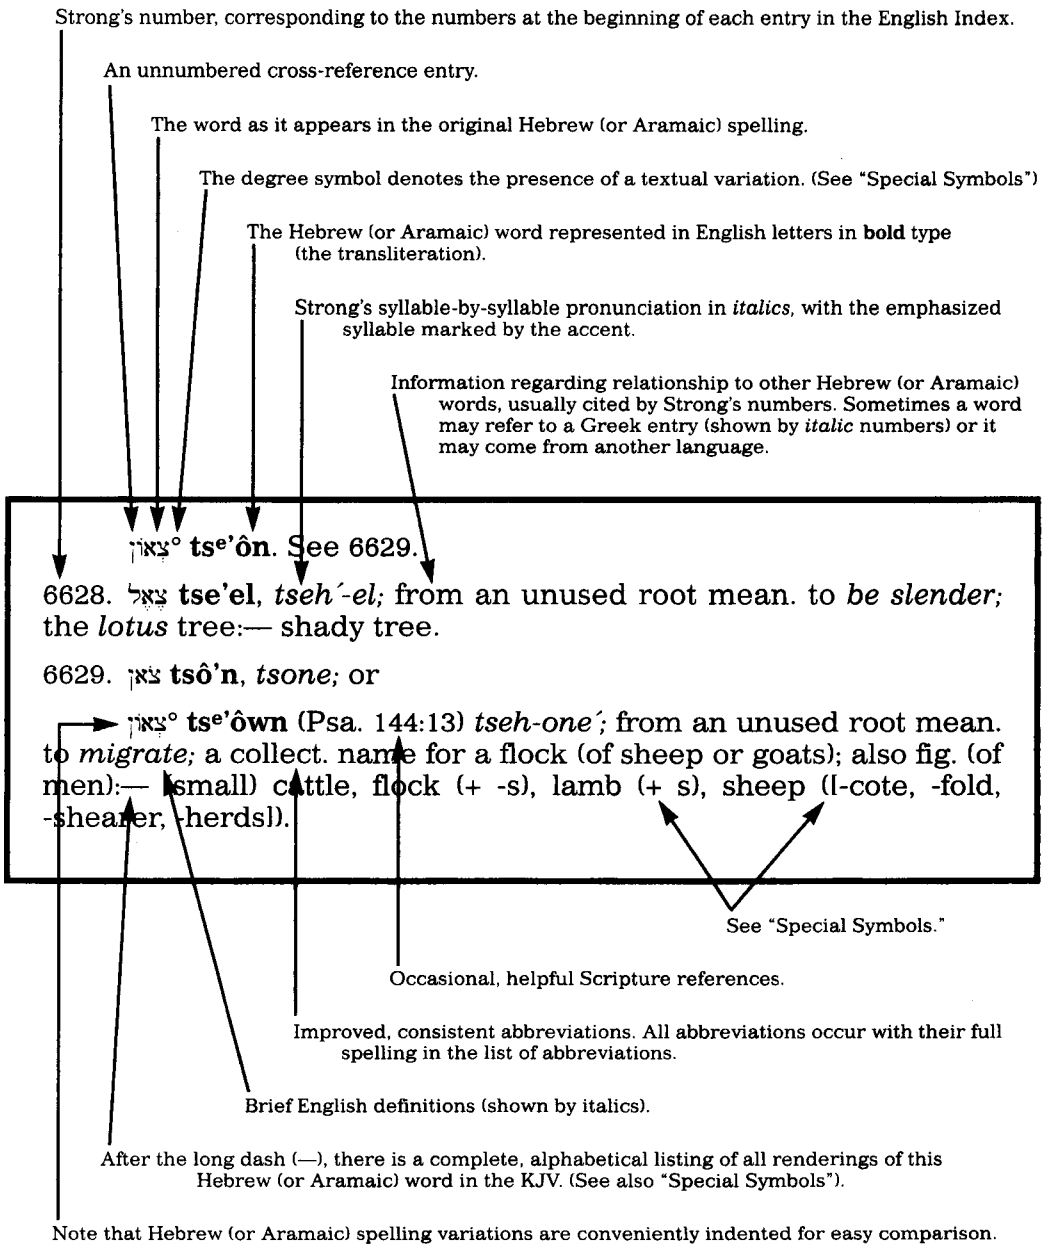
For many people Strong's unique system of numbers continues to be the bridge between the original languages of the Bible and the English of the King James Version (AV). Strong's Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary is a fully integrated companion to Strong's Concordance, and its entries contain a wealth of information about the words of the Bible in their original language. In order to enhance the strategic importance of the dictionary for Bible students, significant features have been added in this new, expanded edition.

New Features

The dictionary is designed to provide maximum information so that your word studies are enriching and satisfying. The most significant enhancement is the expanded definitions, which come from the best of the standard word-study resources: Vine's Complete Expository Dictionary of Old and New Testament Words, Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew and English Lexicon, and Girdlestone's Synonyms of the Old Testament. The expanded definitions reveal the entire range of meanings so that the user can conduct more precise and accurate word studies. In addition, they help to convey the depth and richness of Hebrew and Aramaic words.

The second item that has been added is the frequency word counts, which appear in curly brackets {}. Frequency counts are provided for both the Hebrew words and the English words used in the AV. For example, the Hebrew word ab (entry #1) has {1211x} following it. This means that this word occurs 1211 times in the Hebrew text. Then after the :— symbol, a list of English translations and their occurrences are given. For example, "chief" {2x} means that this word is used twice in the AV as a translation of the Hebrew word ab.

For those wanting to conduct more advanced word studies, a cross-reference to other lexicons is given at the end of the definition. These lexicons are the Theological Wordbook of the Old Testament, by R. Laird Harris, Gleason L. Archer, Jr., and Bruce K. Waltke (Moody, 1980); and the Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew and English Lexicon (Hendrickson, 1999). These two lexicons are abbreviated in the definitions as TWOT and BDB.



Using the Dictionary to Do Word Studies

Careful Bible students do word studies, and The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words with enhanced Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary offers unique assistance. Consider the word "love" as found in the AV. By skimming the main concordance, you find these numbers for Hebrew and Aramaic words that the King James Bible translates with the English word "love": 157, 160, 2836, 7355, 1730, 7474, 5690, and 5691. Now for any one Bible reference in this entry there is only one Hebrew word cited and you may be interested only in establishing the precise meaning for just that word in that occurrence. If so, it will be very helpful for you to observe that same Hebrew word in each of its occurrences in the Bible. In that way, you develop an idea of its possible range of meanings, and you can help clarify what is most likely the precise meaning in the specific Bible reference you are studying.

Now see the Dictionary entry 157 itself, and notice that after the symbol :— all the words and word prefixes and suffixes are listed. These show you that this one Hebrew word, 'ahab, is translated into several different but related words in the King James Bible: beloved, love, loved, lovely, lover, loving, like, befriend. This list tells you the range of uses of the one Hebrew word in the AV. This information can help you distinguish between the nuances of the meaning found where this and the other Hebrew words are translated by these same words and similar ones in the King James Bible.

These three ways of using the dictionary in conjunction with Strong's Concordance show you only a sampling of the many ways The New Strong's® Expanded Dictionary of Bible Words can enrich your study of the Bible. (See also Getting the Most from Your New Strong's® Exhaustive Bible Concordance, Nelson, 2000.) They also show why it is important that you take the time to become familiar with each feature in the dictionary as illustrated on the following page.

An Example from the Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary

Plan of the Hebrew and Aramaic Dictionary

1. All the original words are presented in alphabetical order and are numbered for easy matching between this dictionary and Strong's Concordance. Many reference books also use these numbers created by Dr. Strong.
2. The number of times a Hebrew or Aramaic word occurs in the Hebrew Old Testament is given in curly brackets {} with an "x" inside of it.
3. After each word, the exact equivalent of each sound (phoneme) is given in English characters, according to the transliteration system given below, followed by the precise pronunciation, with the proper stress mark.
4. Next follows the etymology, root meaning, and common uses of the word, along with other important related details. In the case of proper nouns, the normal English spelling is given.
5. After the colon and dash (: —), all the different ways that the word appears in the King James Bible are listed in alphabetical order. The number surrounded by curly brackets {} refers to the number of times this word is translated in the AV. When the Hebrew or Aramaic word appears in English as a phrase, the main word of the phrase is used to alphabetize it.
6. The main new feature of the dictionary is the expanded word studies. These provide the full range of meaning, and they give the student all the various nuances of the word.
7. The information following "See" at the end of each entry provides cross-references to two other word study dictionaries, the Theological Wordbook of the Old Testament (TWOT) and the Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew and English Lexicon (BDB). The number for TWOT refers to the word number assigned by TWOT. However, the number for BDB refers to the page number, followed by the quadrant (e.g., 2d means page 2, quadrant d). The schema for quadrants is as follows: A C
B D

Transliteration and Pronunciation of the Hebrew and Aramaic

The following shows how the Hebrew words are transliterated into English in this Dictionary.

1. The Hebrew and Aramaic read from right to left. Both alphabets consist of 22 letters (and their variations), which are all regarded as consonants, although four consonants (א ה ו י) sometimes indicate vowel sounds. To help enunciation, vowels are primarily indicated by certain "points" or marks, mostly beneath the letters. Hebrew and Aramaic do not use capitals, italics, etc.

2. The Hebrew and Aramaic characters are as follows:

No.	Form	Name	Transliteration and Pronunciation
1.	א	'Aleph (aw'-lef)	', silent
2.	ב	Bêyth (bayth)	b
3.	ג	Gîymel (ghee'-mel)	g hard = γ
4.	ד	Dâleth (daw'-leth)	d
5.	ה	Hê' (hay)	h, often quiescent
6.	ו	Vâv (vawv) or Wâw (waw)	v or w, quiescent
7.	ז	Zayin (zah'-yin)	z, as in zeal
8.	ח	Chêyth (khayth)	German ch = χ (nearly kh)
9.	ט	Têyth (tayth)	t = T
10.	י	Yôwd (yode)	y, often quiescent
11.	כ final ך	Kaph (caf)	k = כּ
12.	ל	Lâmed (law'-med)	l
13.	מ final ם	Mêm (mame)	m
14.	נ final ן	Nûwn (noon)	n
15.	ס	Çâmek (saw'-mek)	ç = s sharp = שׂ
16.	ע	'Ayin (ah'-yin)	' peculiar [1]
17.	פ final ף	Phê' (fay)	ph = f = φ
	פ	Pê' (pay)	p
18.	צ, final ץ	Tsâdêy (tsaw-day')	ts
19.	ק	Qôwph (cofe)	q = k = כּ
20.	ר	Rêysh (raysh)	r
21.	שׂ	Sîyn (seen)	s sharp = ס = σ
	שׁ	Shîyn (sheen)	sh
22.	ת	Thâv (thawv)	th, as in THin = θ
	ת	Tâv (tawv)	t = ט = τ

[1] The letter 'Ayin, because Westerners find it difficult to pronounce accurately (it is a deep guttural sound, like that made in gargling), is generally passed over silently in reading. We have represented it to the eye (but not exactly to the ear) by the Greek rough breathing mark (') in order to distinguish it from 'Aleph, which is likewise treated as silent, being similarly represented by the Greek smooth breathing (').

3. The vowel points are as follows:

Form [2]	Name	Transliteration and Pronunciation
בָ	Qâmêts (caw-mates')	â, as in All
בַ	Pattach (pat'-takh)	a, as in mAn
בֲ	Sheᵉvâ'-Pattach (she-vaw' pat'-takh)	ă, as in hAt
בֵ	Tsêrêy (tsay-ray')	ê, as in thEy = ɳ
בֶ	Çegôwl (seg-ole')	e, as in thEir
		e, as in mEn = ϵ
בֱ	Sheᵉvâ'-Çegôwl (she-vaw' seg-ole')	ĕ, as in mEt
בְ	Sheᵉvâ' (she-vaw') [3]	obscure, as in avErage silent, as e in madE
בִ	Chîyriq (khee'-rik)	î, as in machIne [4]
		i, as in supplIant (misery, hit)
בֹ	Chôwlem (kho'-lem) [5]	ô, as in no = ω
בָ	Short Qâmêts (caw-mates') [6]	o, as in nor = ɔ
בָ	Sheᵉvâ -Qâmêts (she-vaw' caw-mates')	ŏ, as in not
בׇ	Shûwrêq * (shoo-rake') [7]	û, as in crUel
בֻ	Qîbbûts * (kib'-boots) [7]	u, as in fUll, rude

4. A point in the heart of a letter is called Dâgêsh', and is of two kinds, which must be carefully distinguished.

a. Dâgêsh lenè occurs only in the letters בּ, גּ, דּ, כּ, פּ, תּ (technically vocalized Bᵉgad'-Kᵉphath'), when they begin a clause or sentence, or are preceded by a consonant sound; and simply has the effect of removing their aspiration. [8]

b. Dâgêsh forte may occur in any letter except א, ה, ח, ע or ר ; it is equivalent to doubling the letter, and at the same time it removes the aspiration of a Bᵉgad-Kᵉphath letter. [9]

5. The Maqqêph' (־), like a hyphen, unites words only for purposes of pronunciation (by removing the primary accent from all except the last word), but it does not affect their meaning or grammatical construction.

Special Symbols

+ (addition) denotes a rendering in the A.V. of one or more Hebrew or Aramaic words in connection with the one under consideration. For example, in 2 Kgs. 4:41, No. 1697, דָּבָר (dâbâr) is translated as "harm," in connection with No. 7451. Literally, it is "bad thing."

× (multiplication) denotes a rendering in the A.V. that results from an idiom peculiar to the Hebrew or Aramaic. For example, in Psa. 132:15, the whole Hebrew phrase in which בָּרֵךְ, bârak (1288) appears is a means of expressing a verb root emphatically, i. e. "blessing, I will bless" = "I will abundantly bless."

° (degree), attached to a Hebrew word, denotes a corrected vowel pointing which is different from the Biblical text. (This mark is set in Hebrew Bibles over syllables in which the vowels of the margin have been inserted instead of those which properly belong to the text.)

For example, see the difference between the Hebrew text and the scribes' marginal note in Ezek. 40:15 for No. 2978, translated "entrance."

( ) (parentheses), in the renderings from the A.V., denote a word or syllable which is sometimes given in connection with the principal word to which it is attached. In Num. 34:6, the only occurrence of "western" in the A. V., the underlying Hebrew word is יָם (yâm, No. 3220), which is usually translated "sea."

[ ] (brackets), in the rendering from the A.V., denote the inclusion of an additional word in the Hebrew or Aramaic. For example, No. 3117, יוֹם (yôwm), is translated as "birthday" in Gen. 40:20, along with No. 3205. So, two Hebrew words are translated by one English word.

Italics, at the end of a rendering from the A.V., denote an explanation of the variations from the usual form.

[2] The same Hebrew/Aramaic consonant (בּ) is shown here in order to show the position of the vowel points, whether below, above, or in the middle of Hebrew or Aramaic consonants.

[3] Silent Sheᵉvâ' is not represented by any mark in our method of transliteration, since it is understood whenever there is no other vowel point.

[4] Chîyriq is long only when it is followed by a quiescent yôwd (either expressed or implied).

[5] Chôwlem is written fully only over Vâv or Wâw (וֹ), which is then quiescent (w); but when used "defectively" (without the Vâv or Wâw) it may be written either over the left-hand corner of the letter to which it belongs, or over the right-hand corner of the following one.

[6] Short Qâmêts is found only in unaccented syllables ending with a consonant sound.

[7] Shûwrêq is written only in the heart of Vâv or Wâw. Sometimes it is said to be "defectively" written (without the Vâv or Wâw), and then takes the form of Qibbûts, which in such cases is called vicarious.

[8] In our system of transliteration Dâgêsh lenè is represented only in the letters ב and ת, because elsewhere it does not affect the pronunciation.

[9] A point in the heart of ה is called Mappîyq (mappeek'). It occurs only in the final vowel-less letter of a few words, and we have represented it by hh. A Dâgêsh forte in the heart of ו may easily be distinguished from the vowel Shûwrêq by noticing that in the former case the letter has a proper vowel point accompanying it.

It should be noted that both kinds of Dâgêsh are often omitted in writing (being implied), but (in the case at least of Dâgêsh forte) the word is usually pronounced the same as if it were present.

[1] often indicating the direct object of an action verb

[2] part of a word which, when attached to the beginning of the word is called a prefix; if attaching within a word, an infix; and if at the end, a suffix

[3] "the" is the definite article; "a" and "an" are indefinite articles

[4] expressing or denoting causation

[5] the comparative of an adjective or adverb expresses a greater degree of an attribute, e.g. "higher"; "more slowly"

[6] a systematic array of various verbal forms

[7] the condition in Hebrew and Aramaic when two adjacent nouns are combined semantically as follows, e.g."sword" + "king" = "(the) sword of (the) king" or "(the) king's sword". These languages tend to throw the stress of the entire noun phrase toward the end of the whole expression.

[8] a shortened form of a word. It is made by omitting or combining some elements or by reducing vowels or syllables, e.g. "is not" becomes "isn't".

[9] often the indirect object of an action verb

[10] the definite article ("the")

[11] demonstrative pronouns which point (show), e.g. "this," "that"

[12] derived from a noun

[13] a grammatical form which expresses smallness and/or endearment

[14] a construction which leaves out understood words

[15] the historical origin of a word

[16] the use of a pleasant, polite, or harmless-sounding word or phrase to hide harsh, rude, or infamous truths, e.g. "to pass away" = "to die"

[17] a linguistic mechanism to make pronunciation easier, e.g. "an" before "hour" instead of "a"

[18] when a general term can denote an entire class of things

[19] speech sounds which are produced deep in the throat

[20] the mood which expresses a command

[21] used of a tense which expresses a continuous but unfinished action or state

[22] used of a verbal aspect which denotes the beginning of an action

[23] used of the mood which expresses a verbal action as actually occurring (not hypothetical)

[24] an exclamation which expresses emotion

[25] indicating a question

[26] referring to verbs which do not govern direct objects

[27] reflexive

[28] capable of multiplying or tending to multiply

[29] This shows the position or the order within a series, e.g. "second"; the corresponding cardinal number is "two".

[30] the written system of spelling in a given language

[31] a name derived from that of a paternal ancestor, often created by an affix in various languages

[32] a rearrangement

[33] lengthening a pronunciation

[34] the repetition of a letter or syllable to form a new, inflected word

[35] denoting an action by the subject upon itself

[36] expressing the highest degree of comparison of the quality indicated by an adjective or an adverb, e.g. "highest"; "most timely"

[37] expressing an action directed toward a person or a thing (the direct object)

[38] the change of one grammatical element to another

[39] switching word order

[40] an inflection which is used when one is addressing a person or a thing directly, e.g. "John, come here!"

א

1. אָב {1211x} ʾâb, awb; a prim. word; father in a lit. and immed., or fig. and remote application:—chief {2x}, (fore-{1x}) father {1205x} ([-less] {1x}), × patrimony {1x}, principal {1x}. comp. names in "Abi-".

Ab means "father; grandfather; forefather; ancestor." (1) Basically, ab relates to the familial relationship represented by the word "father." This is the word's significance in its first biblical appearance: "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife . . ." (Gen 2:24). (2) In poetical passages, the word is sometimes paralleled to em, "mother": "I have said to corruption, Thou art my father: to the worm, Thou art my mother, and my sister" (Job 17:14). The word is also used in conjunction with "mother" to represent one's parents (Lev 19:3). But unlike the word em, ab is never used of animals. (3) Ab also means "grandfather" and/or "great-grandfather," as in Gen 28:13: "I am the LORD God of Abraham thy [grand]father, and the God of Isaac. . . ." Such progenitors on one's mother's side were called "thy mother's father" (Gen 28:2).

(4) This noun may be used of any one of the entire line of men from whom a given individual is descended: "But he [Elijah] himself went a day's journey into the wilderness, and came and sat down under a juniper tree: and he requested for himself that he might die; and said, It is enough; now, O LORD, take away my life; for I am not better than my fathers" (1 Kin 19:4). In such use, the word may refer to the first man, a "forefather," (4a) a clan (Jer 35:6), (4b) a tribe (Josh. 19:47), (4c) a group with a special calling (1 Chr 24:19), (4d) a dynasty (1 Kin 15:3), or (4e) a nation (Josh 24:3). (5) Thus, "father" does not necessarily mean the man who directly sired a given individual. (6) This noun sometimes describes the adoptive relationship, especially when it is used of the "founder of a class or station," such as a trade: "And Adah bare Jabal: he was the father of such as dwell in tents, and of such as have cattle" (Gen 4:20). (7) Ab can be a title of respect, usually applied to an older person, as when David said to Saul: "Moreover, my father, see, yea, see the skirt of thy robe in my hand . . ." (1 Sa 24:11).

(8) The word is also applied to teachers: "And Elisha saw it, and he cried, My father, my father, the chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof . . ." (2 Kin 2:12). (9) In 2 Kin 6:21, the word is applied to the prophet Elisha. (10) In Judg 17:10 it is applied to a priest. (11) This word is also a title of respect when used of "one's husband": "Wilt thou not from this time cry unto me, My father, thou art the guide of my youth?" (Jer 3:4). (12) In Gen 45:8, the noun is used of an "advisor": "So now it was not you that sent me hither, but God: and he hath made me a father [advisor] to Pharaoh, and lord of all his house, and a ruler throughout all the land of Egypt." (13) In each case, the one described as "father" occupied a position or status and received the honor due to a "father." (14) In conjunction with bayit [1004 - "house"], the word ab may mean "family": "In the tenth day of this month they shall take to them every man a lamb, according to the house of their fathers . . ." (Ex 12:3). (15) Sometimes the plural of the word used by itself can represent "family": ". . . These are the heads of the fathers [households] of the Levites according to their families" (Ex 6:25).

(16) God is described as the "father" of Israel (Deut 32:6). (16a) He is the One who begot and protected them, the One they should revere and obey. (16b) Mal 2:10 tells us that God is the "father" of all people. (16c) He is especially the "protector" or "father" of the fatherless: "A father of the fatherless, and a judge of the widows, is God in his holy habitation" (Ps 68:5). (17) As the "father" of a king, God especially aligns Himself to that man and his kingdom: "I will be his father, and he shall be my son. If he commit iniquity, I will chasten him with the rod of men, and with the stripes of the children of men" (2 Sa 7:14). (17a) Not every king was a son of God—only those whom He adopted. (17b) In a special sense, the perfect King was God's adopted Son: "I will declare the decree: the LORD hath said unto me, Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee" (Ps 2:7). The extent, power, and duration of His kingdom are guaranteed by the Father's sovereignty (Ps 2:8–9). (18) On the other hand, one of the Messiah's enthronement names is "Eternal Father": ". . . And his name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace" (Is 9:6). See: TWOT—4a; BDB—1a, 3a, 1078b.

2. אָב {9x} ʾab (Aram.), ab; corresp. to 1:—father {9x}. See: TWOT—2553; BDB—1078a, b.

3. אֵב {2x} ʾêb, abe; from the same as 24; a green plant:—greenness {1x}, fruit {1x}. See: TWOT—1a; BDB—1a, 1078a.

4. אֵב {3x} ʾêb (Aram.), abe; corresp. to 3:—fruit {3x}. See: TWOT—2554; BDB—1078a, 1081b.

5. אֲבַגְתָא {1x} ʾĂbagthâ, ab-ag-thaw'; of for. or.; Abagtha, a eunuch of Xerxes:—Abagtha. BDB—1b.

6. אָבַד {184x} ʾâbad, aw-bad'; a prim. root; prop. to wander away, i.e. lose oneself; by impl. to perish (caus. destroy); :—break {1x}, destroy {62x} (-uction {1x}), + not escape {1x}, fail {2x}, lose {10x}, (cause to, make) perish {98x}, spendeth {1x}, × and surely {2x}, take {1x}, be undone {1x}, × utterly {2x}, be void of {1x}, have no way to flee {1x}.

Basically âbad represents the disappearance of someone or something. (1) In its strongest sense the word means "to die or to cease to exist" (Lev 26:38). (2) bring to non-existence (Num 33:52; Deut 12:2–3). (3) to go to ruin or to be ruined (Ex 10:7; Num 21:29–30). (4) to succumb, focuses on the process rather than the conclusion (Num 17:12–13). (5) being carried off to death or destruction by some means (Num 6:33; Deut 4:26). (6) to disappear but not be destroyed, to be lost (Deut 22:3; Jer 50:6). (7) to go astray, in the sense of wandering (Deut 26:5). (8) human qualities which are lessening or have lessened (Deut 32:28; Ps 146:4). Syn.: 2763, 7843, 8045. Summary: This word refers to the death of the righteous or the wicked; to the downfall and dissolution of nations; to the desolation of countries; to the withering away of herbage and crops; to the fading away of strength, hope, wisdom, knowledge, and wealth. Syn: See: TWOT—2; BDB—1b, 1078b.

7. אָבַד {7x} ʾăbad (Aram.), ab-ad'; corresp. to 6:—to destroy {5x}, to perish {2x}.

Basically abad represents the disappearance of someone or something. (1) In its strongest sense the word means "to die or to cease to exist." The LORD warned Israel that disobedience and godlessness would be punished by their removal from the Promised Land and death in a foreign land: "And ye shall perish among the heathen, and the land of your enemies shall eat you up" (Lev 26:38). This sense may be further heightened by the use of the intensive stem so that the verb comes to mean "utterly destroy." The stem also changes the force of the verb from intransitive to transitive. So God told Israel "to utterly destroy" ("bring to non-existence") the false gods of Canaan: "[Utterly] destroy all their pictures and [utterly] destroy all their molten images" (Num 33:52). The force of this command was further heightened when He said: "Ye shall utterly destroy all the places, wherein the nations which ye shall possess served their gods . . . and destroy the names of them out of that place" (Deut 12:2–3). This intensified sense is used of the destruction of peoples (armies), too; as for Pharaoh's army, "the LORD hath destroyed them unto this day" (Deut 11:4).

(2) A somewhat different emphasis of abad is "to go to ruin" or "to be ruined." After the second plague Pharaoh's counsellors told him to grant Israel's request to leave because the nation was in ruins: ". . . knowest thou not yet that Egypt is destroyed [ruined]?" (Ex 10:7—the first biblical occurrence). In a similar sense Moab is said "to be ruined" or laid waste: "Woe to thee, Moab! Thou art undone, O people of Chemosh. . . . We have shot at them; Heshbon is perished even unto Dibon, and we have laid them waste even unto Nophah" (Num 21:29–30). (3) Closely related to the immediately preceding emphasis is that of "to succumb." This use of abad focuses on the process rather than the conclusion. The sons of Israel spoke to Moses about the disastrous effects of everyone drawing near to God. They needed some mediators (priests) who could focus on keeping ritualistically prepared so they would not die when they approached God. They used the verb, therefore, in the sense of the nation gradually perishing, or "succumbing" to death: "Behold, we die, we perish, we all perish. Whosoever cometh any thing near unto the tabernacle of the LORD shall die: shall we be consumed with dying?" (Num 17:12–13). God responds by establishing the priesthood so "that there be no wrath any more upon the children of Israel" (Num 18:5).

(4) Abad can also speak of being carried off to death or destruction by some means. The leaders of the rebellion against the Aaronic priesthood (Korah, Dathan, and Abiram) and their families were swallowed up by the ground: ". . . and the earth closed upon them: and they perished from among the congregation" (Num 16:33). This same nuance appears when God says the people will "perish" from off the land if they do not keep the covenant: "Ye shall soon utterly perish from off the land whereunto ye go over Jordan to possess it; ye shall not prolong your days upon it, but shall utterly be destroyed" (Deut 4:26). As a nation they will be destroyed as far as the land is concerned. (5) The verb may mean to disappear but not be destroyed, in other words "to be lost." God instructs Israel concerning lost possessions: "In like manner shalt thou do with his ass; and so shalt thou do with his raiment; and with all lost things of thy brother's, which he hath lost, and thou hast found, shalt thou do likewise: thou mayest not hide thyself" (Deut 22:3). Israel is called "lost sheep" whose "shepherds have caused them to go astray" (Jer 50:6). (6) Another nuance of the verb is "to go astray" in the sense of wandering. At the dedication of the first fruits Israel is to recognize God's rights to the land, that He is the landowner and they are the temporary tenants, by confessing "a Syrian ready to perish was my father" (Deut 26:5).

(7) Finally, abad can be applied to human qualities which are lessening or have lessened: "For they are a nation void of counsel, neither is there any understanding in them" (Deut 32:28). The word can also be used of the failure of human wisdom as in Ps 146:4: as for men "his breath goeth forth, he returneth to his earth; in that very day his thoughts perish."

34. אֶבְיוֹן {35x} ʾebyôwn, eb-yone'; from 14, in the sense of want (espec. in feeling); destitute:—beggar {1x}, needy {35x}, poor {24x}, poor man {1x}.

(1) This noun refers to someone who is poor in a material sense. Such a one may have lost the land of his inheritance: "But the seventh year thou shalt let it rest and lie still; that the poor of thy people may eat: and what they leave the beasts of the field shall eat" (Ex 23:11). He has come into difficult financial straits (Job 30:25) and perhaps lacks clothing (Job 31:19) or food (Ps 132:15). (2) Secondly ebyown may refer to the lack of social standing which causes a need for protection. The first biblical occurrence bears this emphasis. God guarantees protection for such a one: "Thou shalt not wrest the judgment of thy poor in his cause" (Ex 23:6). The godly man defends the needy and defenseless: "I was a father to the poor: and the cause which I knew not I searched out" (Job 29:16; cf. Pro 31:9; Rom 3:14–15). Divine provisions are encased in the Mosaic stipulations such as the seventh year reversion of ancestral hereditary lands (Ex 23:11), cancellation of loans (Deut 15:4), and special extension of loans (Deut 15:7, 9, 11).

(3) Thirdly, this noun sometimes describes one's spiritual condition before God: "Thus saith the LORD; For three transgressions of Israel, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they sold the righteous for silver, and the poor for a pair of shoes" (Amos 2:6). In this verse ebyown is in synonymous parallelism to "righteous," which means that it describes a moral quality. Syn.: 1800, 6041. See: TWOT—3a; BDB—2d, 5b.

35. אֲבִיּוֹנָה {1x} ʾabîyôwnâh, ab-ee-yo-naw'; from 14; provocative of desire; the caper berry (from its stimulative taste):—desire {1x}. See: TWOT—3b; BDB—2d.

אַבְשָׁלוֹם ʾAbshâlôwm, ab-shaw-lome'; from 1 and 7965; father of peace (i.e. friendly); Abshalom, a son of David; also (the fuller form) a later Isr.:—Abishalom {2x} Absalom {109x}. See: BDB—5a, 8a.

54. אֲבִיתָר {30x} ʾEbyâthâr, eb-yaw-thawr'; contr. from 1 and 3498; father of abundance (i.e. liberal); Ebjathar, an Isr.:—Abiathar {30x}. See: BDB—5a.

55. אָבַךְ {1x} ʾâbak, aw-bak'; a prim. root; prob. to coil upward:—mount up {1x}. See: TWOT—5; BDB—5b.

56. אָבַל {39x} ʾâbal, aw-bal'; a prim. root; to bewail:—lament {3x}, mourn {36x}.

(1) Abal is used in the simple, active verbal form primarily in poetry, and usually in a figurative sense. When it is used of mourning for the dead in a literal sense, the word is found in prose sections and in the reflexive form, indicating action back on the subject. To mourn, lament for the dead (1) in a literal sense over the dead (Gen 37:34). (2) When used in the figurative sense, abal expresses "mourning" by gates (Is 3:26), by the land (Is 24:4), and by pastures (Amos 1:2). (3) In addition to mourning for the dead, "mourning" may be over Jerusalem (Is 66:10), over sin (Ezra 10:6), or over God's judgment (Ex 33:4). (4) One may pretend to be a mourner (2 Sa 14:2) simply by putting on mourning clothes. Syn: 5594 is more dramatic stressing wailing and tearing out the hair. See: TWOT—6; BDB—5b.

113. אָדוֹן {1x} ʾâdôwn, aw-done'; or (short.)

אָדֹן {335x} ʾâdôn, aw-done'; from an unused root (mean. to rule); sovereign, i.e. controller (human or divine):—Lord {31x}, lord {197x}, master(s) {105x}, owner {1x}, sir {1x};. comp. also names beginning with "Adoni-".

Adon (113), or adonay (136), "lord; master; Lord." The form adon appears 335 times, while the form adonay (used exclusively as a divine name) appears 439 times. (1) Basically, adon means "lord" or "master." It is distinguished from the Hebrew word ba'al, which signifies "possessor" or "owner." Adon basically describes the one who occupies the position of a "master" or "lord" over a slave or servant: "And the servant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his master" (Gen 24:9). It is used of kings and their most powerful aides. Joseph told his brothers: "So now it was not you that sent me hither, but God: and he hath made me a father [i.e., an adviser] to Pharaoh, and lord of all his house, and a ruler throughout all the land of Egypt" (Gen 45:8; cf. 42:30). Only once is this word used in the sense of "owner" or "possessor" (1 Kin 16:24). (2) Adon is often used as a term of polite address. In some cases, the one so named really occupies a position of authority. In Gen 18:12 (the first occurrence) Sarah called Abraham her "lord." On the other hand, this may be a purely honorary title by which the speaker intends to indicate his submission to the one so addressed. Jacob instructed his slaves to speak to "my lord Esau" (Gen 32:18); i.e., Jacob called his brother Esau "lord." In places where the speaker is addressing someone calling him "lord," the word virtually means "you."

(3) When applied to God, adon is used in several senses. (3a) It signifies His position as the one who has authority (like a master) over His people to reward the obedient and punish the disobedient: "Ephraim provoked him to anger most bitterly: therefore shall he leave his blood upon him, and his reproach shall his Lord return unto him" (Hos 12:14). In such contexts God is conceived as a Being who is sovereign ruler and almighty master. (3b) The word is often a title of respect, a term of direct address usually assuming a specific concrete lord-vassal or master-servant relationship (Ps 8:1). (3c) In some cases the word appears to be a title suggesting God's relationship to and position over Israel: "Three times in the year all thy males shall appear before the Lord God" (Ex 23:17). In such contexts adon is a formal divine name and should probably be transliterated if the proper emphasis is to be retained. Syn: YHWH (3068) sets forth His essential and unswerving principles of mercy and judgment, and presents Him as Father, a Friend, and a Moral Governor. Yah (3050), the shortened form of YHWH, is usually used when Yah is stressed as the One accomplishing a deed in contrast to no other. See: TWOT—27b; BDB—10d.

114. אֲדוֹן {1x} ʾAddôwn, ad-done'; prob. intens. for 113; powerful; Addon, appar. an Isr.:—Addon {1x}. See: BDB—11d.

115. אֲדוֹרַיִם {1x} ʾĂdôwrayim, ad-o-rah'-yim; dual from 142 (in the sense of eminence); double mound; Adorajim, a place in Pal.:—Adoraim {1x}. See: BDB—12a.

116. אֶדֶן {57x} ʾĕdayin (Aram.), ed-ah'-yin; of uncert. der.; then (of time):—then {55x}, now {1x}, time {1x}. See: TWOT—2558; BDB—1078c.

117. אַדִּיר {27x} ʾaddîyr, ad-deer'; from 142; wide or (Gen) large; fig. powerful:—excellent {4x}, famous {2x}, gallant {1x}, glorious {1x}, goodly {1x}, lordly {1x}, mighty (-ier, one {5x}), noble {1x}, nobles {7x}, principal {3x}, worthy {1x};

(1) As a noun, ʾaddyr is (1a) paralleled to "mighty" in Judg 5:13: "Then he made him that remaineth have dominion over the nobles among the people: the LORD made me have dominion over the mighty." The word also occurs in Jer 14:3 and Jer 30:21. (1b) In 2 Chr 23:20 ʾaddyr is paralleled to "captains and governors." (1c) The word is applied to the Messiah; the Messiah is none other than God Himself: "But there the glorious LORD will be unto us a place of broad rivers" (Is 33:21). Syn.: ʾAddîyr stresses the might of the person; whereas chor (2715) stresses rank. See: TWOT—28b; BDB—12b.

118. אֲדַלְיָא {1x} ʾĂdalyâ, ad-al-yaw'; of Pers. der.; Adalja, a son of Haman:—Adalia {1x}. See: BDB—9a.

119. אָדַם {10x} ʾâdam, aw-dam'; of unknown derivation; to show blood (in the face), i.e. flush or turn rosy:—dyed red {5x}, red {4x}, ruddy {1x}. See: TWOT—26b; BDB—10a.

120. אָדָם {552x} ʾâdâm, aw-dawm'; from 119; ruddy, i.e. a human being (an individual or the species, mankind, etc.):—Adam {13x}, + hypocrite {1x}, + common sort {1x}, × low, man {408x}, men {121x}, person(s) {8x}.

Adam means "man; mankind; people; someone (indefinite); Adam (the first man); or a city in the Jordan Valley (Josh 3:16)." (1) This noun is related to the verb adom, "to be red," and therefore probably relates to the original ruddiness of human skin. (2) The noun connotes "man" as the creature created in God's image, the crown of all creation. In its first appearance adam is used for mankind, or generic man: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness" (Gen 1:26). In Gen 2:7 the word refers to the first "man," Adam: "And the LORD God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul."

(3) Throughout Gen 2:5—5:5 there is a constant shifting and interrelationship between the generic and the individual uses. (3a) "Man" is distinguished from the rest of the creation insofar as he was created by a special and immediate act of God: he alone was created in the image of God (Gen 1:27). (3b) He consisted of two elements, the material and the nonmaterial (Gen 2:7). (3c) From the outset he occupied an exalted position over the rest of the earthly creation and was promised an even higher position (eternal life) if he obeyed God: "And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth" (Gen 1:28; cf. 2:16–17). (3d) In Gen 1 "man" is depicted as the goal and crown of creation, while in Gen 2 the world is shown to have been created as the scene of human activity. (3e) "Man" was in God's image with reference to his soul and/or spirit. (He is essentially spiritual; he has an invisible and immortal aspect which is simple or indivisible.) Other elements of this image are his mind and will, intellectual and moral integrity (he was created with true knowledge, righteousness, and holiness), his body (this was seen as a fit organ to share immortality with man's soul and the means by which dominion over the creation was exercised), and dominion over the rest of the creation.

(4) The Fall greatly affected the nature of "man," but he did not cease to be in God's image (Gen 9:6). (4a) Fallen "man" occupies a new and lower position before God: "And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually" (Gen 6:5; cf. 8:21). (4b) No longer does "man" have perfect communion with the Creator; he is now under the curse of sin and death. (4c) Original knowledge, righteousness, and holiness are destroyed. (4d) Restoration to his proper place in the creation and relationship to the Creator comes only through spiritual union with the Christ, the second Adam (Rom 5:12–21). (5) In some later passages of Scripture adam is difficult to distinguish from ish (376)—man as the counterpart of woman and/or as distinguished in his maleness.

(6) Sometimes adam identifies a limited and particular "group of men": "Behold, waters rise up out of the north, and shall be an overflowing flood, and shall overflow the land [of the Philistines], and all that is therein; the city, and them that dwell therein: then the men [used in the singular] shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howl" (Jer 47:2). (7) When used of a particular group of individual "men," the noun appears in the phrase "sons of men": "And the LORD came down to see the city and the tower, which the children of men builded" (Gen 11:5). (8) The phrase "son of man" usually connotes a particular individual: "God is not a man [ish], that he should lie; neither the son of man, that he should repent" (Num 23:19; cf. Eze 2:1). The one notable exception is the use of this term in Dan 7:13–14: "I saw in the night visions, and, behold, one like the Son of man [enosh (582)] came with the clouds of heaven. . . . His dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away." Here the phrase represents a divine being.

(9) Adam is also used in reference to any given man, or to anyone male or female: "When a man [anyone] shall have in the skin of his flesh a rising, a scab, or bright spot, and it be in the skin of his flesh like the plague of leprosy; then he shall be brought unto Aaron" (Lev 13:2). Syn.: Man is represented by four apparently inconsistent aspects: As ʾâdâm, he is of the earth, earthy; as ish (376 – {967x}), he is endued with immaterial and personal existence; as bachur (970) he is the fully developed, vigorous, unmarried man in his prime; as enosh (582 – {32x}), he is weak or incurable; and as geber (1397 – {54x}), he is mighty and noble. Syn.: ʾÂdâm connotes man as the creature created in God's image, the crown of all creation. Ish (376) is used for man as the counterpart of woman and/or as distinguished in his maleness. Geber (1397) denotes a male as an antonym of a woman, many times suggesting strength, strong man. Enosh (582) sets forth a collective idea of man suggesting the frailty, vulnerability, and finitude of man as contrasted to God. 121. אָדָם {9x} ʾÂdâm, aw-dawm'; the same as 120; Adam the name of the first man, also of a place in Pal.:—Adam {9x}. See: BDB—9c.

122. אָדֹם {9x} ʾâdôm, aw-dome'; from 119; rosy:—red {8x}, ruddy {1x}. See: TWOT—26b; BDB—10b.

123. אֱדֹם {100x} ʾĔdôm, ed-ome'; or (fully) אֱדוֹם ʾÊdôwm, ed-ome'; from 122; red [see Gen 25:25]; Edom, the elder twin-brother of Jacob; hence, the region (Idumæa) occupied by him:—Edom {87x}, Edomites {9x}, Idumea {4x}. See: BDB—10b.

124. אֹדֶם {3x} ʾôdem, o'-dem; from 119; redness, i.e. the ruby, garnet, or some other red gem:—sardius {3x}. See: TWOT—26c; BDB—10b.

125. אַדְמְדָם {6x} ʾădamdâm, ad-am-dawm'; redupl. from 119; reddish:—(somewhat) reddish {6x}. See: TWOT—26g; BDB—10c.

126. אַדְמָה {5x} ʾAdmâh, ad-maw'; contr. for 127; earthy; Admah, a place near the Dead Sea:—Admah {5x}. See: BDB—10a.

127. אֲדָמָה {225x} ʾădâmâh, ad-aw-maw'; from 119; soil (from its Gen redness) [the productive agent]:—country {1x}, earth {53x}, ground {43x}, husband [-man {2x}] (-ry {1x}), land(s) {125x}.

Initially this noun represents (1) arable "ground" (probably red in color) supporting water and plants (Gen 2:6); (2) source of Adam's body (Gen 2:7); (3) the actual soil itself (2 Kin 5:17); (4) ground (Ex 3:5); (5) property or possession (Zec 2:12); (6) a relationship exists between adam, "man," and the ʾădâmâh. If Adam were to remain obedient to God, the "ground" would give forth its fruit (Gen 2:6). Sin disrupted the harmony between man and the "ground," and the "ground" no longer responded to man's care. Increased human rebellion caused decreased fruitfulness of the "ground" (Gen 4:12, 14; cf. 8:21). In Abraham the promised redemption (Gen 3:15) took the form of the restoration of a proper relation between God and man and between man and the "ground" (Gen 28:14–15). Under Moses the fruitfulness of the "ground" depended on the obedience of God's people (cf. Deut 11:17). Syn.: ʾĂdâmâh, from its Gen redness is the productive agent; erets (776 – {1505x}) a territory or even the whole earth; sadeh (7704 – {7x}) a field, plot of land, or estate. See: TWOT—25b; BDB—9c.

In the form adonay the word means "Lord" par excellence or "Lord over all," even as it sometimes does in the form adon (cf. Deut 10:17, where God is called the "God of gods, and Lord of lords"; Josh 3:11, where He is called the "Lord of all the earth"). The word adonay appears in Gen 15:2: "And Abram said, Lord God, what wilt thou give me, seeing I go childless, ..." This word frequently appears in Psalms (Ps 68:17; 86:3) and Isaiah (Isa. 29:13; 40:10).

137. אֲדֹנִי־בֶזֶק {3x} ʾĂdônîy-Bezeq, ad-o''-nee-beh'-zek; from 113 and 966; lord of Bezek; Adoni-Bezek; a Canaanitish king:—Adoni-bezek {1x}. See: BDB—11d.

155. אַדֶּרֶת {12x} ʾaddereth, ad-deh'-reth; fem. of 117; something ample (as a large vine, a wide dress); also the same as 145:—mantle {5x}, garment {4x}, glory {1x}, goodly {1x}, robe {1x}.

ʾAddereth may mean "luxurious outer garment, mantle, cloak." This word appears in Gen 25:25 to mean "mantle." See: TWOT—28c; BDB—12b.

156. אָדַשׁ {1x} ʾâdash, aw-dash'; a prim. root; to tread out (grain):—thresh {1x}. See: TWOT—419; BDB—12c, 190c.

157. אָהַב {208x} ʾâhab, aw-hab'; or

אָהֵב ʾâhêb, aw-habe'; a prim. root; to have affection for (sexually or otherwise):—(be-) love {169x}, (-d) {5x}, -ly {1x}, -r(s) {19x}, -ing {1x}, like {1x}, friend(s) {12x}.

Ahab or aheb means "to love; like." Basically this verb is equivalent to the English "to love" in the sense of having a strong emotional attachment to and desire either to possess or to be in the presence of the object. (1) First, the word refers to the love a man has for a woman and a woman for a man. Such love is rooted in sexual desire, although as a rule it is desire within the bounds of lawful relationships: "And Isaac brought her into his mother Sarah's tent, and took Rebekah, and she became his wife; and he loved her" (Gen 24:67). (2) This word may refer to an erotic but legal love outside marriage. Such an emotion may be a desire to marry and care for the object of that love, as in the case of Shechem's love for Dinah (Gen 34:3). (3) In a very few instances ahab (or aheb) may signify no more than pure lust—an inordinate desire to have sexual relations with its object (cf. 2 Sa 13:1). (4) Marriage may be consummated without the presence of love for one's marriage partner (Gen 29:30). (5) Ahab (or aheb) seldom refers to making love [usually this is represented yada (3045), "to know," or by shakab (7901), "to lie with"]. (6) The word does seem to have this added meaning, however, in 1 Kin 11:1: "But King Solomon loved many strange women, together with the daughter of Pharaoh" (cf. Jer 2:25). Hosea appears to use this nuance when he writes that God told him to "go yet, love a woman beloved of her friend, yet an adulteress" (3:1). (7) This is the predominant meaning of the verb when it appears in the causative stem (as a participle). (8) In every instance except one (Zec 13:6) ahab (or aheb) signifies those with whom one has made or intends to make love: "Go up to Lebanon, and cry; and lift up thy voice in Bashan, and cry from the passages: for all thy lovers are destroyed" (Jer 22:20; cf. Eze 16:33).

(9) Ahab (or aheb) is also used of the love between parents and their children. In its first biblical appearance, the word represents Abraham's special attachment to his son Isaac: "And he said, Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest . . ." (Gen 22:2). (10) Ahab (or aheb) may refer to the family love experienced by a daughter-in-law toward her mother-in-law (Ruth 4:15). This kind of love is also represented by the word racham (7356). (11) Ahab (or aheb) sometimes depicts a special strong attachment a servant may have toward a master under whose dominance he wishes to remain: "And if the servant shall plainly say, I love my master, my wife, and my children; I will not go out free . . ." (Ex 21:5). (12) Perhaps there is an overtone here of family love; he "loves" his master as a son "loves" his father (cf. Deut 15:16). This emphasis may be in 1 Sa 16:21, where we read that Saul "loved [David] greatly." Israel came "to love" and deeply admire David so that they watched his every move with admiration (1 Sa 18:16).

(13) A special use of this word relates to an especially close attachment of friends: "The soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul" (1 Sa 18:1). In Lev 19:18: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself" (cf. Lev 19:34; Deut 10:19) ahab (or aheb) signifies this brotherly or friendly kind of love. (14) The word suggests, furthermore, that one seek to relate to his brother and all men according to what is specified in the law structure God gave to Israel. This was to be the normal state of affairs between men. (15) This verb is used politically to describe the loyalty of a vassal or a subordinate to his lord—so Hiram of Tyre "loved" David in the sense that he was completely loyal (1 Kin 5:1). (16) The strong emotional attachment and desire suggested by ahab (or aheb) may also be fixed on objects, circumstances, actions, and relationships. Syn.: 1730; 7453. See: TWOT—29; BDB—12c.

158. אָהַב {2x} ʾahab, ah'-hab; from 157; affection (in a good or a bad sense):—lovers {1x}, loving {1x}. See: TWOT—29a; BDB—13b.

159. אֹהַב {1x} ʾôhab, o'-hab; from 156; mean. the same as 158:—love {1x}. See: TWOT—29b; BDB—13b.

160. אַהֲבָה {40x} ʾahăbâh, ă-hab-aw; fem. of 158 and mean. the same:—love {40x}.

Ahabah means "love." This word represents several kinds of "love." (1) The first biblical occurrence of ahabah is in Gen 29:20; there the word deals with the "love" between man and wife as a general concept. (2) In Hos 3:1 the word is used of "love" as a sexual activity. (3) Ahabah means "love" between friends in 1 Sa 18:3: "Then Jonathan and David made a covenant because he loved him as his own soul." (4) The word refers to Solomon's "love" in 1 Kin 11:2 and (5) to God's "love" in Deut 7:8. Syn.: See 158. See: TWOT—29c; BDB—13b.

161. אֹחַד {2x} ʾÔhad, o'-had; from an unused root mean. to be united; unity; Ohad, an Isr.:—Ohad {2x}. See: BDB—13c.

162. אָהָהּ {15x} ʾăhâhh, ă-haw'; appar. a prim. word expressing pain exclamatorily; Oh!:—Ah {8x}, Alas {6x}, O {1x}. See: TWOT—30; BDB—13c.

164. אֲהוּד {9x} ʾÊhûwd, ay-hood'; from the same as 161; united; Ehud, the name of two or three Isr.:—Ehud {9x}. See: BDB—13c.

165. אֲהִי {3x} ʾĕhîy, e-hee'; appar. an orth. var. for 346; where:—will {3x}. [which is often the rendering of the same Heb. form from 1961]. See: TWOT—31; BDB—13c.

166. אָהַל {1x} ʾâhal, aw-hal'; a prim. root; to be clear:—shineth {1x}. See: TWOT—33; BDB—14c.

167. אָהַל {3x} ʾâhal, aw-hal'; a denom. from 168; to tent:—pitch tent {2x} remove a tent {1x}. See: TWOT—32; BDB—14b.

168. אֹהֶל {345x} ʾôhel, o'-hel; from 166; a tent (as clearly conspicuous from a distance):—covering {1x}, (dwelling {2x}) (place [s] {2x}), home {1x}, tabernacle {198x}, tent(s) {141x}.

Ohel (168) means "tent; home; dwelling; habitation." (1) First, this word refers to the mobile structure called a "tent." This is its meaning in Gen 4:20: "And Adah bare Jabal: he was the father of such as dwell in tents, and of such as have cattle." These are what nomadic Bedouins normally live in. (2) "Tents" can also be used as housing for animals: "They smote also the tents of cattle and carried away sheep and camels in abundance" (2 Chr 14:15). (3) Soldiers lived in "tents" during military campaigns (1 Sa 17:54). (4) A "tent" was pitched on top of a house so everyone could see that Absalom went in to his father's concubines (2 Sa 16:22). This constituted an open rejection of David's dominion and a declaration that he (Absalom) was claiming the throne. (5) The word is a synonym for "home, dwelling," and "habitation." This emphasis is especially evident in Judg 19:9: "Behold, the day groweth to an end, lodge here, that thine heart may be merry; and tomorrow get you early on your way, that thou mayest go home." This meaning appears in the phrase "to your tents": "We have no part in David, neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse: every man to his tents, O Israel" (2 Sa 20:1). The "tabernacle" ("tent") of David, therefore, is his dwelling place or palace (Is 16:5). (6) Similarly, the "tabernacle" ("tent") of the daughter of Zion is Israel's capital, or what Israel inhabits—Jerusalem (Lam 2:4).

(7) Ohel may represent those who dwell in the dwellings of a given area or who form a unit of people. Thus the "tents" of Judah are her inhabitants: "The LORD also shall save the tents of Judah first, that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem do not magnify themselves against Judah" (Zec 12:7; cf. Ps 83:6). (8) Bedouin "tents" today (as in the past) are constructed of strong black cloth of woven goat's hair. They are shaped variously. The women pitch them by stretching the cloth over poles and tying it down with cords of goat's hair or hemp. Wooden mallets are used to drive the tent pegs into the ground (Judg 4:21). Sometimes the structure is divided in order to separate families or to separate animals from people (2 Chr 14:15). The back of the "tent" is closed and the front open. The door is made by turning back the fold where the two ends of the cloth meet (Gen 18:1). The "tent" and all its contents are transported on the back of a single pack animal. Richer people cover the floor with mats of various materials. A chief or sheikh may have several "tents"—one for himself and his guest(s), another for his wives and other females in his immediate family, and still another for the animals (Gen 31:33).

(9) Before the construction of the tabernacle Moses pitched a "tent" outside the camp (Ex 33:7). There he met with God. The "tent" outside the camp persisted as a living institution for only a short period after the construction of the tabernacle and before the departure from Sinai (Num 11:16ff.; 12:4ff.). Eventually the ark of the covenant was moved into the tabernacle (Ex 40:21) where the LORD met with Moses and spoke to Israel (Ex 29:42). This structure is called the tent of meeting inasmuch as it contained the ark of the covenant and the tables of testimony (Num 9:15). As the tent of meeting it was the place where God met with His people through Moses (or the high priest) and revealed His will to them (1 Sa 2:22). Syn.: Mishkan (4908) stresses the dwelling place/residence; whereas ʾôhel stresses a specific dwelling place, a tent. See: TWOT—32a; BDB—13d.

169. אֹהֶל {1x} ʾÔhel, o'-hel; the same as 168; Ohel, an Isr.:—Ohel {1x}. See: BDB—13b.

170. אָהֳלָה {5x} ʾOhŏlâh, ŏ-hol-aw'; in form a fem. of 168, but in fact for אָהֳלָהּ ʾOhŏlâhh, ŏ-hol-aw'; from 168; her tent (i.e. idolatrous sanctuary); Oholah, a symbol. name for Samaria:—Aholah {5x}. See: TWOT—32b; BDB—14b.

171. אָהֳלִיאָב {5x} ʾOhŏlîyʾâb, ŏ''-hol-e-awb'; from 168 and 1; tent of (his) father; Oholiab, an Isr.:—Aholiab {5x}. See: BDB—14b, c.

172. אָהֳלִיבָה {6x} ʾOhŏlîybâh, ŏ''-hol-ee-baw'; (similarly with 170) for אָהֳלִיבָהּ ʾOhŏlîybâhh, ŏ''-hol-e-baw'; from 168; my tent (is) in her; Oholibah, a symb. name for Judah:—Aholibah {6x}. See: BDB—14c.

173. אָהֳלִיבָמָה {8x} ʾOhŏlîybâmâh, ŏ''-hol-ee-baw-maw'; from 168 and 1116; tent of (the) height; Oholibamah, a wife of Esau:—Aholibamah {8x}. See: BDB—14c.

174. אֲהָלִים {4x} ʾăhâlîym, ă-haw-leem'; or (fem.)

אֲהָלוֹת ʾăhâlôwth, ă-haw-loth' (only used thus in the plur.); of for. or.; aloe wood (i.e. sticks):—aloes {3x}, trees of lign aloes {1x}. See: TWOT—34; BDB—14d.

175. אַהֲרֹן {347x} ʾAhărôwn, ă-har-one'; of uncert. der.; Aharon, the brother of Moses:—Aaron {345x}, Aaronites {2x}. See: BDB—14d.

176. אוֹ {21x} ʾôw, o; presumed to be the "constr." or genitival form of אַו ʾav, av; short. for 185; desire (and so prob. in Prov 31:4); hence, (by way of alternative) or, also if:—also, and, either, if, at the least, × nor, or, otherwise, then, whether {21x}. See: TWOT—36; BDB—14d, 16b.

177. אוּאֵל {1x} ʾÛwʾêl, oo-ale'; from 176 and 410; wish of God; Uel, an Isr.:—Uel {1x}. See: BDB—15a.

178. אוֹב {17x} ʾôwb, obe; from the same as 1 (appar. through the idea of prattling a father's name); prop. a mumble, i.e. a water-skin (from its hollow sound); hence, a necromancer (ventriloquist, as from a jar):—bottle(s) {1x}, familiar spirit(s) {16x}.

Owb means "spirit (of the dead); necromancer; pit." (1) The word usually represents the troubled spirit (or spirits) of the dead. This meaning appears unquestionably in Is 29:4: "Thy voice shall be, as of one that hath a familiar spirit, out of the ground, and thy speech shall whisper out of the dust." (2) Its second meaning, "necromancer," refers to a professional who claims to summon forth such spirits when requested (or hired) to do so: "Regard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards" (Lev 19:31—first occurrence). These mediums summoned their "guides" from a hole in the ground. Saul asked the medium (witch) of Endor (1 Sa 28:8). (3) God forbade Israel to seek information by this means, which was so common among the pagans (Lev 19:31; Deut 18:11). Perhaps the pagan belief in manipulating one's basic relationship to a god (or gods) explains the relative silence of the Old Testament regarding life after death. Yet God's people believed in life after death, from early times (e.g., Gen 37:35; Is 14:15ff.)

(4) Necromancy was so contrary to God's commands that its practitioners were under the death penalty (Deut 13). (5) Necromancers' unusual experiences do not prove that they truly had power to summon the dead. For example, the medium of Endor could not snatch Samuel out of God's hands against His wishes. But in this particular incident, it seems that God rebuked Saul's apostasy, either through a revived Samuel or through a vision of Samuel. Mediums do not have power to summon the spirits of the dead, since this is reprehensible to God and contrary to His will. Syn.: 7307. TWOT—37a; BDB—15a.

179. אוֹבִיל {1x} ʾÔwbîyl, o-beel'; prob. from 56; mournful; Obil, an Ishmaelite:—Obil {1x}. See: BDB—6a.

188. אוֹי {24x} ʾôwy, ō'-ee; prob. from 183 (in the sense of crying out after); lamentation; also interj. Oh!:—woe {23x}, alas {1x}. See: TWOT—42; BDB—17a.

189. אֱוִי {2x} ʾĔvîy, ev-ee'; prob. from 183; desirous; Evi, a Midianitish chief:—Evi {2x}. See: BDB—16c.

אוֹיֵב ʾôwyêb. See 341.

190. אוֹיָה {1x} ʾôwyâh, o-yaw'; fem. of 188:—woe {1x}. See: BDB—17a.

191. אֱוִיל ʾĕvîyl, ev-eel'; from an unused root (mean. to be perverse); (fig.) silly:—fool(s) {20x}, (-ish) (man {6x}).

Primarily ʾĕvîyl describes one who (1) lacks wisdom (Prov 24:7); (2) is morally undesirable despising wisdom and discipline (Prov 1:7; 15:5); (3) mocks guilt (Prov 14:9), (4) is quarrelsome (Prov 20:3); (5) licentious (Prov 7:22); and (6) refuses instruction (Prov 16:22). Syn.: The fool's (a) only authority is himself (5034 - {94x}-Ps 14:1; 53:1); (b) twists God's ways into his own (191 - {18x}); (c) is insensitive to godly prodding (3688 - 46x); and (d) lives by his own resources, deserving pity (5528 - 8x). See: TWOT—44a; 17b; BDB—17b.

192. אֱוִיל מְרֹדָךְ {2x} ʾĔvîyl Mᵉrôdak, ev-eel' mer-o-dak'; of Aram. der. and prob. mean. soldier of Merodak; Evil-Merodak, a Bab. king:—Evil-merodach {2x}. See: BDB—17b.

193. אוּל {2x} ʾûwl, ool; from an unused root mean. to twist, i.e. (by impl.) be strong; the body (as being rolled together); also powerful:—mighty {1x}, strength {1x}. See: TWOT—45a; BDB—17c.

194. אוּלַי {11x} ʾûwlay, oo-lah'ee; or (short.)

אֻלַי ʾûlay, oo-lah'ee; from 176; if not; hence, perhaps:—if (so be), may (be), peradventure, unless = {11x}.

Ulay (194) means "peradventure; perhaps; suppose; if; less." (1) This word meaning "peradventure or perhaps" usually expresses a hope: "Behold now, the LORD hath restrained me from bearing: I pray thee, go in unto my maid; it may be that I may obtain children by her" (Gen 16:2—the first occurrence). (2) Elsewhere ulay expresses fear or doubt: "Peradventure the woman will not be willing to follow me unto this land; must I needs bring thy son again unto the land from whence thou camest?" (Gen 24:5). (3) If followed by another clause the word almost functions to introduce a protasis: "Peradventure there be fifty righteous within the city: wilt thou also destroy . . ." (Gen 18:24). (4) In Num 22:33 the word has a different force: "And the ass saw me, and turned from me these three times: unless she had turned from me, surely now also I had slain thee, and saved her alive." See: TWOT—46; BDB—19c.

195. אוּלַי {2x} ʾÛwlay, oo-lah'ee; of Pers. der.; the Ulai (or Eulæus), a river of Pers.:—Ulai {2x}. See: BDB—19c, 47a.

196. אֱוִלִי {1x} ʾĕvîlîy, ev-ee-lee'; from 191; silly, foolish; hence, (mor.) impious:—foolish {1x}. See: TWOT—44b; BDB—17c.

197. אוּלָם {34x} ʾûwlâm, oo-lawm'; or (short.)

אֻלָם ʾûlâm, oo-lawm'; from 481 (in the sense of tying); a vestibule (as bound to the building):—porch(es) {34x}. See: TWOT—45c; BDB—17c, 19d.

198. אוּלָם {4x} ʾÛwlâm, oo-lawm'; appar. from 481 (in the sense of dumbness); solitary; Ulam, the name of two Isr.:—Ulam {4x}. BDB—17d, 19d.

199. אוּלָם {19x} ʾûwlâm, oo-lawm'; appar. a var. of 194; however or on the contrary:—but {8x}, but truly {3x}, surely {2x}, very deed {2x}, howbeit {1x}, wherefore {1x}, truly {1x}, not translated {1x}. See: TWOT—47; BDB—19d, 48a.

200. אִוֶּלֶת {25x} ʾivveleth, iv-veh'-leth; from the same as 191; silliness:—folly {13x}, foolishness {10x}, foolish {1x}, foolishly {1x}.

(1) This noun can mean "foolishness" in the sense of violating God's law, or "sin" (Ps 38:5). (2) The word also describes the activities and life-style of the man who ignores the instructions of wisdom (Prov 5:23). (3) In another nuance, the noun means "thoughtless." Hence ivveleth describes the way a young person is prone to act (Pro 22:15) and the way any fool or stupid person chatters (Prov 15:2). Syn.: 5039. See: TWOT—44c; BDB—17c.

201. אוֹמָר {3x} ʾÔwmâr, o-mawr'; from 559; talkative; Omar, a grandson of Esau:—Omar {3x}. See: BDB—57b.

202. אוֹן {12x} ʾôwn, ōne; prob. from the same as 205 (in the sense of effort, but successful); ability, power, (fig.) wealth:—strength {7x}, might {2x}, force {1x}, goods {1x}, substance {1x}.

This noun generally means (1) vigour, generative power; (2) wealth; (3) physical strength (of men and behemoth). See: TWOT—49a; BDB—20b.

203. אוֹן {1x} ʾÔwn, ōne; the same as 202; On, an Isr.:—On {1x}. See: BDB—20b.

204. אוֹן {3x} ʾÔwn, ōne; or (short.);

אֹן ʾÔn, ōne; of Eg. der.; On, a city of Egypt:—On {3x}. See: BDB—20a, c, 58a.

205. אָוֶן {78x} ʾâven, aw-ven'; from an unused root perh. mean. prop. to pant (hence, to exert oneself, usually in vain; to come to naught); strictly nothingness; also trouble, vanity, wickedness; spec. an idol:—affliction {3x}, evil {1x}, false {1x}, idol {1x}, iniquity {47x}, mischief {3x}, mourners {1x} (-ing {1x}), naught {1x}, sorrow {1x}, unjust {1x}, unrighteous {2x}, vain {1x}, vanity {6x}, wicked (-ness {8x}). comp. 369.

Aven (205) means "iniquity; misfortune." (1) This noun is derived from a root meaning "to be strong." The first occurrence is in Num 23:21: "He hath not beheld iniquity in Jacob, neither hath he seen perverseness in Israel: the LORD his God is with him, and the shout of a king is among them." (2) The meaning of "misfortune" comes to expression in the devices of the wicked against the righteous. The psalmist expected "misfortune" to come upon him: "And if he come to see me, he speaketh vanity: his heart gathereth iniquity to itself; when he goeth abroad, he telleth it" (Ps 41:6). (3) Aven in this sense is synonymous with ed (343), "disaster" (Job 18:12). (4) In a real sense aven is part of human existence, and as such the word is identical with ʿamal (5999), "toil," as in Ps 90:10: "The days of our years are threescore years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be fourscore years, yet is their strength labor and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away." (5) Aven in a deeper sense characterizes the way of life of those who are without God: "For the vile person will speak villany, and his heart will work iniquity, to practice hypocrisy, and to utter error against the LORD, to make empty the soul of the hungry, and he will cause the drink of the thirsty to fail" (Is 32:6).

(6) The being of man is corrupted by "iniquity." (7) Though all of mankind is subject to aven ("toil"), there are those who delight in causing difficulties and "misfortunes" for others by scheming, lying, and acting deceptively. The psalmist puts internalized wickedness this way: "Behold, he travaileth with iniquity, and hath conceived mischief, and brought forth falsehood" (Ps 7:14; cf. Job 15:35). (8) Those who are involved in the ways of darkness are the "workers of iniquity," the doers of evil or the creators of "misfortune" and disaster. (9) Synonyms for aven with this sense are ra, "evil," and rasha, "wicked," opposed to "righteousness" and "justice." They seek the downfall of the just (Ps 141:9). Between Ps 5:5 and 141:9 there are as many as 16 references to the workers of evil (cf. "The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: thou hatest all workers of iniquity"—Ps 5:5). In the context of Ps 5, the evil spoken of is falsehood, bloodshed, and deceit (v. 6).

(10) The qualitative aspect of the word comes to the best expression in the verbs with aven. The wicked work, speak, beget, think, devise, gather, reap, and plow aven, and it is revealed ("comes forth") by the misfortune that comes upon the righteous. (11) Ultimately when Israel's religious festivals (Is 1:13) and legislation (Is 10:1) were affected by their apostate way of life, they had reduced themselves to the Gentile practices and way of life. (12) The prophetic hope lay in the period after the purification of Israel, when the messianic king would introduce a period of justice and righteousness (Is 32) and the evil men would be shown up for their folly and ungodliness. Syn.: 2398, 5771, 7451, 7561. See: TWOT—48a; BDB—19d, 58a.

206. אָוֶן {3x} ʾÂven, aw'-ven; the same as 205; idolatry; Aven, the contemptuous synonym of three places, one in Cæle-Syria, one in Egypt (On), and one in Pal. (Bethel):—Aven {3x}. See also 204, 1007. See: BDB—19d, 122b.

214. אוֹצָר {79x} ʾôwtsâr, o-tsawr'; from 686; a depository:—treasure(s) {61x}, treasury {10x}, storehouse(s) {3x}, cellars {2x}, armoury {1x}, garners {1x}, store {1x}. See: TWOT—154a; BDB—69d.

215. אוֹר {43x} ʾôwr, ore; a prim. root; to be (caus. make) luminous (lit. and metaph.):—light {19x}, shine {14x}, enlighten {5x}, break of day {1x}, fire {1x}, give {1x}, glorious {1x}, kindle {1x}.

Owr (215) means (1) "to become light" in Gen 44:3: "As soon as the morning was light, the men were sent away, they and their asses," (2) become lighted up (of daybreak), (3) to give light in Num 8:2: "the seven lamps shall give light over against the candlestick," or (4) cause light to shine. See: TWOT—52; BDB—21a.

216. אוֹר {120x} ʾôwr, ore; from 215; illumination or (concr.) luminary (in every sense, incl. lightning, happiness, etc.):—bright {1x}, clear {1x}, + day {2x}, light(s) {114x} (-ning), morning {1x}, sun {1x}.

Owr (216), the noun, means "light." (1) The first occurrence of owr is in the Creation account: "And God said, Let there be light: and there was light" (Gen 1:3). Here "light" is the opposite of "darkness." (2) The opposition of "light" and "darkness" is not a unique phenomenon. (2a) It occurs frequently as a literary device: "Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!" (Is 5:20); and "In that day they shall roar against them like the roaring of the sea: and if one look unto the land, behold darkness and sorrow, and the light is darkened in the heavens thereof" (Is 5:30). (3) In Hebrew various antonyms of owr are used in parallel constructions: "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined" (Is 9:2).

(4) The basic meaning of owr is "daylight" (Gen 1:3). (5) The "light" given by the heavenly bodies was also known as or: "Moreover the light of the moon shall be as the light of the sun, and the light of the sun shall be sevenfold, as the light of seven days, in the day that the LORD bindeth up the breach of his people, and healeth the stroke of their wound" (Is 30:26). (6) In the metaphorical use owr signifies life over against death: "For thou hast delivered my soul from death: wilt not thou deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of the living?" (Ps 56:13). (7) To walk in the "light" of the face of a superior (Prov 16:15), or of God (Ps 89:15), is an expression of a joyful, blessed life in which the quality of life is enhanced. (8) The believer is assured of God's "light," even in a period of difficulty; cf. "Rejoice not against me, O mine enemy: when I fall, I shall arise; when I sit in darkness, the LORD shall be a light unto me" (Mic 7:8; cf. Ps 23:4). Syn.: 3974; 7043. See: TWOT—52a; BDB—21c, 70b.

217. אוּר {6x} ʾûwr, oor; from 215; flame, hence, (in the plur.) the East (as being the region of light):—fire(s) {5x}, light {1x}. Syn.: See also 224. See: TWOT—52d; BDB—22a.

218. אוּר {5x} ʾÛwr, oor; the same as 217; Ur, a place in Chaldæa; also an Isr.:—Ur {5x}. See: BDB—22b, d.

223. אוּרִיָּה {39x} ʾÛwrîyâh, oo-ree-yaw'; or (prol.)

אוּרִיָּהוּ ʾÛwrîyâhûw, oo-ree-yaw'-hoo; from 217 and 3050; flame of Jah; Urijah, the name of one Hittite and five Isr.:—Uriah {39x}, Urijah {11x}. See: BDB—22c.

224. אוּרִים {7x} ʾÛwrîym, oo-reem'; plur. of 217; lights; Urim, the oracular brilliancy of the figures in the high-priest's breastplate:—Urim {7x}. See: BDB—22a, 1070d.

אוֹרְנָה ʾOwrenâh. See 728.

225. אוּת {4x} ʾûwth, ooth; a prim. root; prop. to come, i.e. (impl.) to assent:—consent {1x}. See: TWOT—53; BDB—22d.

226. אוֹת {79x} ʾôwth, ōth; prob. from 225 (in the sense of appearing); a signal (lit. or fig.), as a flag, beacon, monument, omen, prodigy, evidence, etc.:—mark {1x}, miracles {2x}, ensign(s) {2x}, sign(s) {60x}, token(s) {14x}.

Owth means "sign; mark." (1) This word represents something by which a person or group is characteristically marked. This is its emphasis in Gen 4:15: "And the LORD set a mark upon Cain, lest any finding him should kill him." (2) In Ex 8:23 God promises to "put a division between my people and thy people: tomorrow shall this sign be" (cf. Ex 12:13). (3) Num 2:2 uses owth to represent a military banner, while Job 21:29 uses the word of the identifying banners of nomadic tribes. (4) Rahab asked her Israelite guests for a trustworthy "mark" which they stipulated to be the scarlet cord by which she lowered them out of her window and outside Jericho's walls (Josh 2:12, 18).

(5) The word means "sign" as a reminder of one's duty. This usage first appears in Gen 9:12: "This [the rainbow] is the token of the covenant which I make between me and you and every living creature" (cf. vv. 4–15). (6) A reminding token is represented by owth: "And it [the observance of the Feast of Unleavened Bread] shall be for a sign unto thee upon thine hand, and for a memorial between thine eyes, that the LORD's law may be in thy mouth" (Ex 13:9). (7) A "sign" eventually showing the truth of a statement is indicated by owth: "Certainly I will be with thee; and this shall be a token unto thee, that I have sent thee: When thou hast brought forth the people out of Egypt, ye shall serve God upon this mountain" (Ex 3:12). (8) In passages such as Ex 4:8 owth represents a miraculous "sign": "And it shall come to pass, if they will not believe thee, neither hearken to the voice of the first sign, that they will believe the voice of the latter sign." (9) "Signs" are attestations of the validity of a prophetic message, but they are not the highest or final test of a prophet; he must speak in conformity to past revelation (cf. Deut 13:1–5).

(10) Several passages use owth of omens and/or indications of future events: "But if they say thus, Come up unto us; then we will go up: for the LORD hath delivered them into our hand: and this shall be a sign unto us" (1 Sa 14:10). (11) An owth can be a "warning sign": "The censers of these sinners against their own souls, let them make them broad plates for a covering of the altar: for they offered them before the LORD, therefore they are hallowed: and they shall be a sign unto the children of Israel" (Num 16:38). (12) The first occurrence of owth is in Gen 1:14. Here it refers to the stars, indicators of the time of day and seasons. Syn.: 4159. See: TWOT—41a; BDB—16d, 23a.

227. אָז {22x} ʾâz, awz; a demonstr. adv.; at that time or place; also as a conjunc., therefore:—beginning, even, for, from, hitherto, now, old, since, then, time, when, yet = {22x}. See: TWOT—54; BDB—23a.

228. אֲזָא {3x} ʾăzâʾ (Aram.), az-zaw'; or

236. אָזַל {7x} ʾăzal (Aram.), az-al'; the same as 235; to depart:—went (up) {6x}, go {1x}. See: TWOT—2565; BDB—1079b.

237. אֵזֶל {1x} ʾezel, eh'-zel; from 235; departure; Ezel, a memorial stone in Pal.:—Ezel {1x}. See: BDB—23d.

238. אָזַן {41x} ʾâzan, aw-zan'; a prim. root; prob. to expand; but used only as a denom. from 241; to broaden out the ear (with the hand), i.e. (by impl.) to listen:—give ear {31x}, hearken {6x}, hear {3x}, perceived by the ear {1x}. Syn.: 241, 6030, 7181, 8085. See: TWOT—57; BDB—24b.

239. אָזַן {1x} ʾâzan, aw-zan'; a prim. root [rather ident. with 238 through the idea of scales as if two ears]; to weigh, i.e. (fig.) ponder:—gave good heed {1x}. See: TWOT—58; BDB—24d, 1079b.

240. אָזֵן {1x} ʾâzên, aw-zane'; from 238; a spade or paddle (as having a broad end):—weapon {1x}. See: TWOT—57b; BDB—24c.

241. אֹזֶן {187x} ʾôzen, o'-zen; from 238; broadness, i.e. (concr.) the ear (from its form in man):—advertise +1540 –{1x}, audience {7x}, + displeased {1x}, ear(s) {63x}, hear {1x}, hear + 8088 {1x}, hearing {5x}, reveal +1540 – {1x}, show +1540 –{6x}, tell + 1540 –{1x}.

Ozen means "ear, audience; hearing." (1) It mainly designates a part of the body. The first occurrence is in Gen 20:8: "Abimelech rose early in the morning, and called all his servants, and told all these things in their ears: and the men were sore afraid." (2) The "ear" was the place for earrings (Gen 35:4); thus it might be pierced as a token of perpetual servitude (Ex 21:6). (3) Several verbs are found in relation to "ear": (3a) (3b) "to inform" (Eze 24:26), (3c) "to pay attention" (Ps 10:17), (3d) "to listen" (Ps 78:1), (3e) "to stop up" (Is 33:15), (3f) "to make deaf" (Is 6:10), and (3g) "to tingle" (1 Sa 3:11). (4) Animals are also said to have "ears" (Prov 26:17).

(5) God is idiomatically said to have "ears": "Hide not thy face from me in the day when I am in trouble; incline thine ear unto me; . . . when I call answer me speedily" (Ps 102:2). Elsewhere, "And Samuel heard all the words of the people, and he rehearsed them in the ears of the LORD" (1 Sa 8:21). (5a) The LORD "pierces" (i.e., opens up) ears (Ps 40:6), (5b) implants ears (Ps 94:9), and (5c) fashions ears (Prov 20:12) in order to allow man to receive direction from his Creator. (5d) As the Creator, He also is able to hear and respond to the needs of His people (Ps 94:9). (6) The LORD reveals His words to the "ears" of his prophets: "Now the LORD had told Samuel in his ear a day before Saul came, saying . . ." (1 Sa 9:15).

(7) Since the Israelites had not responded to the prophetic message, they had made themselves spiritually deaf: "Hear now this, O foolish people, and without understanding; which have eyes, and see not; which have ears, and hear not" (Jer 5:21). (8) After the Exile, the people of God were to experience a spiritual awakening and new sensitivity to God's Word which, in the words of Isaiah, is to be compared to the opening of the "ears" (Is 50:5). Syn.: 238. See: TWOT—57a; BDB—23d.

A baytree is native to the land of Israel. See: TWOT—580b; BDB—25b, 280c.

250. אֶזְרָחִי {3x} ʾEzrâchîy, ez-raw-khee'; patron. from 2246; an Ezrachite or desc. of Zerach:—Ezrahite {3x}. See: BDB—280d.

251. אָח {629x} ʾâch, awkh; a prim. word; a brother (used in the widest sense of lit. relationship and metaph. affinity or resemblance [like 1]):—another {24x}, brethren {332x}, brother {269x}(-ly {1x}), kindred {1x}, like {1x}, other {1x}. Compare also the proper names beginning with "Ah-" or "Ahi-".

Ach (251) means "brother." (1) In its basic meaning, ach represents a "male sibling," a "brother." This is its meaning in the first biblical appearance: "And she again bare his brother Abel" (Gen 4:2). This word represents a full brother or a half-brother: "And he said to him, Go, I pray thee, see whether it be well with thy brethren" (Gen 37:14). (2) In another nuance, ach can represent a "blood relative." Abram's nephew is termed his "brother": "And he brought back all the goods, and also brought again his brother Lot, and his goods, and the women also, and the people" (Gen 14:16). This passage, however, might also reflect the covenantal use of the term whereby it connotes "ally" (cf. Gen 13:8). (3) In Gen 9:25, ach clearly signifies "relative": "Cursed be Canaan; a servant of servants shall he be unto his brethren." Laban called his cousin Jacob an ʾach: "And Laban said unto Jacob, Because thou art my brother, shouldest thou therefore serve me for nought?" (Gen 29:15). Just before this, Jacob described himself as an ach of Rachel's father (Gen 29:12).

(4) Tribes may be called achim: "And [the tribe of] Judah said unto [the tribe of] Simeon his brother, Come up with me into my lot . . ." (Judg 1:3). (5) The word ach is used of a fellow tribesman: "With whomsoever thou findest thy gods, let him not live: before our brethren discern thou what is thine" (Gen 31:32). (6) Elsewhere it describes a fellow countryman: "And it came to pass in those days, when Moses was grown, that he went out unto his brethren, and looked on their burdens" (Ex 2:11).

(7) In several passages, the word ach connotes "companion" or "colleague"—that is, a brother by choice. One example is found in 2 Kin 9:2: "And when thou comest thither, look out there Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi, and go in, and make him arise up from among his brethren, and carry him to an inner chamber" (cf. Is 41:6; Num 8:26). (8) Somewhat along this line is the covenantal use of the word as a synonym for "ally": "And Lot went out at the door unto them, and shut the door after him, and said, I pray you, brethren, do not so wickedly" (Gen 19:6–7). Notice this same use in Num 20:14 and 1 Kin 9:13. (9) Ach can be a term of polite address, as it appears to be in Gen 29:4: "And Jacob said unto them [shepherds whose identity he did not know], My brethren, whence be ye?" (10) The word ach sometimes represents someone or something that simply exists alongside a given person or thing: "And surely your blood of your lives will I require; at the hand of every beast will I require it, and at the hand of . . . every man's brother will I require the life of man" (Gen 9:5–6). See: TWOT—62a; BDB—25b, 26a, 1079c.

268. אָחוֹר {41x} ʾachôwr, aw-khore'; or (short.)

אָחֹר ʾâchôr, aw-khore'; from 299; the hinder part; hence, (adv.) behind, backward; also (as facing north) the West:—back(s) {16x}, backward {11x}, behind {5x}, hinder parts {3x}, afterwards {1x}, back parts {1x}, backside {1x}, hereafter {1x}, time to come {1x}, without {1x}. Syn.: 322. See: TWOT—68d; BDB—30d.

269. אָחוֹת {114x} ʾachôwth, aw-khōth'; irreg. fem. of 251; a sister (used very widely [like 250], lit. and fig.):—(an- {6x}) other {1x}, sister(s) {106x}, together with + 802 – {1x}.

Achowth (269) means "sister." (1) The first occurrence is in Gen 4:22: "And Zillah, she also bare Tubal-cain, an instructor of every artificer in brass and iron: and the sister of Tubal-cain was Naamah." (2) The translation of "sister" for achowth is only the beginning. (2a) In Hebrew custom the word was a term employed to refer to the daughter of one's father and mother (Gen 4:22) or (2b) one's half-sister (Gen 20:12). (2c) It may also refer to one's aunt on the father's side (Lev 18:12; 20:19) or (2d) on the mother's side (Lev 18:13; 20:19).

(3) The use of achowth more generally denotes female relatives: "And they blessed Rebekah, and said unto her, Thou art our sister, be thou the mother of thousands of millions, and let thy seed possess the gate of those which hate them" (Gen 24:60). (4) This meaning lies behind the metaphorical use, where two divisions of a nation (Judah and Israel; Jer 3:7) and two cities (Sodom and Samaria; Eze 16:46) are portrayed as sisters—Hebrew names of geographical entities are feminine. (5) The more specialized meaning "beloved" is found only in Song 4:9: "Thou hast ravished my heart, my sister [or beloved], my spouse; thou hast ravished my heart with one of thine eyes, with one chain of thy neck." Here achowth is used as a term of endearment rather than a term for a blood relative. See: TWOT—62c; BDB—27d.

270. אָחַז {67x} ʾâchaz, aw-khaz'; a prim. root; to seize (often with the accessory idea of holding in possession):—- hold {31x}, take {16x}, possess {5x}, caught {3x}, fastened {3x}, misc.: be affrighted, bar, come upon, fasten, handle, portion, (have or take) possess (-ion) = {9x}.

Achaz means to seize, grasp, hold fast, bolt (a door)." (1) The verb appears in Gen 25:26: "And his hand took hold on Esau's heel" (cf. Gen 22:13). (2) The meaning of "to bolt" (a door) appears in Neh 7:3: "Let them shut and bar the doors." (3) In 2 Chr 9:18, ʾachaz means "fastened." (4) Metaphorical sense: (4a) God seized Job by the neck (Job 16:12); (4b) He holds the psalmist's hand (Ps 73:23); (4c) pain seizes Isarel's enemies (Ex 15:14–15); (4d) horror seizes people of the east (Job 18:20). Syn.: 2388; 4686. See: TWOT—64; BDB—28a.

271. אָחָז {41x} ʾÂchâz, aw-khawz'; from 270; possessor; Achaz, the name of a Jewish king and of an Isr.:—Ahaz {41x}. See: BDB—28c.

272. אֲחֻזָּה {66x} ʾăchuzzâh, akh-ooz-zaw'; fem. pass. part. from 270; something seized, i.e. a possession (espec. of land):—possession(s) {66x}.

Achuzzah (272) means "property; possession." (1) Essentially achuzzah is a legal term usually used of land, especially family holdings to be passed down to one's heirs. (1a) In Gen 17:13 Abram is promised the territory of Palestine as a familial or tribal possession until the indiscriminate future. (1b) In Gen 23:20 (cf. vv. 4, 9) the word bears a similar meaning. The difference appears to be that here no feudal responsibilities were attached to this "possession." However, the rather small lot belonged to Abraham and his descendants as a burial site: "And the field, and the cave that is therein, were made sure unto Abraham for a possession of a burying place by the sons of Heth" (Gen 23:20). (2) In Lev 25:45–46 non-Israelites could also be inheritable property, but a fellow Israelite could not. (3) The "inheritable property" of the Levites was not fields but the Lord Himself (Eze 44:28). See: TWOT—64a; BDB—28c.

304. אַחְלַי {2x} ʾAchlay, akh-lah'ee; the same as 305; wishful; Achlai, the name of an Israelitess and of an Isr.:—Ahlai {2x}. See: BDB—29a.

305. אַחֲלַי {2x} ʾachălay, akh-al-ah'ee; or אַחֲלֵי ʾachălêy, akh-al-ay'; prob. from 253 and a var. of 3863; would that!:—O that {1x}, would God {1x}. See: TWOT—67a; BDB—25b.

306. אַחְלָמָה {2x} ʾachlâmâh, akh-law'-maw; perh. from 2492 (and thus dreamstone); a gem, prob. the amethyst:—amethyst {2x}.

The identification is not certain but is a purple stone or perhaps a corundum or red or brown jasper. See: TWOT—67b; BDB—29a.

307. אַחְמְתָא {1x} ʾAchmᵉthâ, akh-me-thaw'; of Pers. der.; Achmetha (i.e. Ecbatana), the summer capital of Persia:—Achmetha {1x}. See: BDB—1079c.

308. אַחַסְבַי {1x} ʾĂchaṣbay, akh-as-bah'ee; of uncert. der.; Achasbai, an Isr.:—Ahasbai {1x}. See: BDB—29b.

309. אָחַר {17x} ʾâchar, aw-khar'; a prim. root; to loiter (i.e. be behind); by impl. to procrastinate:—continue {1x}, defer {3x}, delay {1x}, hinder {1x}, sit up late {1x}, slack {2x}, stayed there {1x}, tarry {7x}.

Achar means "to tarry (Judg 5:28), remain behind/stayed there (Gen 32:4), delay." Other words derived from this verb are: "other," "after (wards)," "backwards." ʾAchar appears in Ex 22:29 with the meaning "delay": "Thou shalt not delay to offer the first of thy ripe fruits, and of thy liquors: the firstborn of thy sons shalt thou give unto me." Syn.: 3427. See: TWOT—68; BDB—29b.

310. אַחַר {709x} ʾachar, akh-ar'; from 309; prop. the hind part; Gen used as an adv. or conjunc., after (in various senses):—after {454x}, follow {78x}, afterward(s) {46x}, behind {44x}, misc. {87x} = again, at, away from, back (from, -side), beside, by, forasmuch, from, hereafter, hinder end, + out (over) live, + persecute, posterity, pursuing, remnant, seeing, since, thence [-forth], when, with.

(1) As an adverb achar means "behind; after(wards)." (1a) One adverbial use of achar has a local-spatial emphasis that means "behind": "The singers went before, the players on instruments followed after" (Ps 68:25). (1b) Another adverbial usage has a temporal emphasis that can mean "afterwards": "And I will fetch a morsel of bread, and comfort ye your hearts; after that ye shall pass on" (Gen 18:5). (2) As a preposition achar means "behind; after." (2a) Achar as a preposition can have a local-spatial significance, such as "behind": "And the man said, They are departed hence; for I heard them say, Let us go to Dothan" (Gen 37:17). As such, it can mean "follow after": "And also the king that reigneth over you [will] continue following the LORD your God" (1 Sa 12:14). (2b) Achar can signify "after" with a temporal emphasis: "And Noah lived after the flood three hundred and fifty years" (Gen 9:28, the first biblical occurrence of the word). (2c) This same emphasis may occur when achar appears in the plural (cf. Gen 19:6—local-spatial; Gen 17:8—temporal). (3) As a conjunction achar can mean "after" with a temporal emphasis: "And the days of Adam after he had begotten Seth were eight hundred years" (Gen 5:4). Syn.: see 309. See: TWOT—68b, 68c; BDB—29d, 30c, 405b, 1079d.

311. אַחַר {3x} ʾachar (Aram.), akh-ar'; corresp. to 310; after:—hereafter {2x}, after {1x}. Ref. TWOT—2568; BDB—1079d.

312. אָחֵר {166x} ʾachêr, akh-air'; from 309; prop. hinder; Gen next, other, etc.:—other(s) {105x}, another {55x}, next {2x}, following {1x}, man's {1x}, men {1x}, strange {1x}.

Acher (312) means "following; different; other." (1) The first meaning of this word is temporal, and is seen in Gen 17:21: "But my covenant will I establish with Isaac, which Sarah shall bear unto thee at this set time in the next year" (i.e., the year "following"). (2) The first biblical occurrence of the word is in Gen 4:25: "And Adam [had relations with] his wife again; and she bare a son, and called his name Seth: For God, said she, hath appointed me another seed instead of Abel." (3) This meaning of "different" or "another" also appears in Lev 27:20: "And if he will not redeem the field, or if he have sold the field to another man, it shall not be redeemed any more." (4) In Is 28:11, acher defines tongue or language; hence it should be understood as "foreign": "For with stammering lips and another tongue will he speak to this people." (5) Finally, acher can mean "other." In this usage, the word distinguishes one thing from another without emphasizing any contrast. This is its meaning in Ex 20:3: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." Syn: 259, 310, 7453. See: TWOT—68a; BDB—29c.

313. אַחֵר {1x} ʾAchêr, akh-air'; the same as 312; Acher, an Isr.:—Aher {1x}. See: BDB—31b.

314. אַחֲרוֹן {51x} ʾachărôwn, akh-ar-one'; or (short.)

אַחֲרֹן ʾachărôn, akh-ar-one'; from 309; hinder; Gen late or last; spec. (as facing the east) western:—last {20x}, after(ward)(s) {15x}, latter {6x}, end {2x}, utmost {2x}, following {1x}, hinder {1x}, hindermost {1x}, hindmost {1x}, rereward {1x}, uttermost {1x}.

Acharon (314) means "at the back; western; later; last; future." (1) Acharon has a local-spatial meaning. Basically, it means "at the back": "And he put the handmaids and their children foremost, and Leah and her children after, and Rachel and Joseph hindermost" (Gen 33:2—the first biblical appearance). (2) When applied elsewhere, the word means "western": "Every place whereon the soles of your feet shall tread shall be yours: from the wilderness and Lebanon, from the river, the river Euphrates, even unto the uttermost [western] sea shall your coast be" (Deut 11:24).

(3) Used temporally, acharon has several nuances. (3a) First, it means "last" as contrasted to the first of two things: "And it shall come to pass, if they will not believe thee, neither hearken to the voice of the first sign, that they will believe the voice of the latter sign" (Ex 4:8). (3b) Second, it can represent the "last" in a series of things or people: "Ye are my brethren, ye are my bones and my flesh: wherefore then are ye the last to bring back the king?" (2 Sa 19:12). (3c) The word also connotes "later on" and/or "afterwards": "But thou shalt surely kill him; thine hand shall be first upon him to put him to death, and afterwards the hand of all the people" (Deut 13:9). (4) Next the emphasis can be on the finality or concluding characteristic of a given thing: "Now these be the last words of David" (2 Sa 23:1). (5) Acharon connotes "future," or something that is yet to come: "So that the generation to come of your children that shall rise up after you, and the stranger that shall come from a far land, shall say, when they see the plagues of that land . . ." (Deut 29:22).

(6) The combination of "first" and "last" is (6a) an idiom of completeness: "Now the rest of the acts of Solomon, first and last, are they not written in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of Iddo the seer against Jeroboam the son of Nebat?" (2 Chr 9:29). (6b) Likewise the phrase expresses the sufficiency of the LORD, since He is said to include within Himself the "first" as well as the "last": "Thus saith the LORD the King of Israel, and his Redeemer the LORD of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God" (Is 44:6; cf. 48:12). These verses affirm that there is no other God, because all exists in Him. See: TWOT—68e; BDB—30d.

315. אַחְרַח {1x} ʾAchrach, akh-rakh'; from 310 and 251; after (his) brother; Achrach, an Isr.:—Aharah {1x}. See: BDB—31b.

316. אַחַרְחֵל {1x} ʾĂcharchêl, akh-ar-kale'; from 310 and 2426; behind (the) intrenchment (i.e. safe); Acharchel, an Isr.:—Aharhel {1x}. See: BDB—31c.

317. אָחֳרֵי {6x} ʾochŏrîy (Aram.), okh-or-ee'; from 311; other:—another {5x}, other {1x}. Syn.: 259, 312. See: TWOT—2568a; BDB—1079d.

318. אָחֳרֵין {1x} ʾochŏrêyn (Aram.), okh-or-ane'; or (short.)

אָחֳרֶן ʾochŏrên (Aram.), okh-or-ane'; from 317; last:—last one {1x}. See: TWOT—2568c; BDB—1079d.

319. אַחֲרִית {61x} ʾachărîyth, akh-ar-eeth'; from 310; the last or end, hence, the future; also posterity:—end {31x}, latter {12x}, last {7x}, posterity {3x}, reward {2x}, hindermost {1x}, misc. {5x}.

Achariyth (319) means "hind-part; end; issue; outcome; posterity." (1) Used spatially, the word identifies the "remotest and most distant part of something": "If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea . . ." (Ps 139:9). (2) The most frequent emphasis of the word is "end," "issue," or "outcome." (2a) This nuance is applied to time in a superlative or final sense: "The eyes of the LORD thy God are always upon it, from the beginning of the year even unto the end of the year" (Deut 11:12). (2b) A slight shift of meaning occurs in Dan 8:23, where achariyth is applied to time in a relative or comparative sense: "And in the latter time of their kingdom, when the transgressors are come to the full, a king of fierce countenance, and understanding dark sentences, shall stand up." Here the word refers to a "last period," but not necessarily the "end" of history.

(3) In a different nuance, the word can mean "latter" or "what comes afterward": "O that they were wise, that they understood this, that they would consider their latter end!" (Deut 32:29). (4) In some passages, achariyth represents the "ultimate outcome" of a person's life. Num 23:10 speaks thus of death: "Who can count the dust of Jacob, and the number of the fourth part of Israel? Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his!" (5) In other passages, achariyth refers to "all that comes afterwards." Passages such as Jer 31:17 use the word of one's "descendants" or "posterity" (KJV, "children"). In view of the parallelism suggested in this passage, the first line should be translated "and there is hope for your posterity." (6) In Amos 9:1, achariyth is used of the "rest" (remainder) of one's fellows.

(7) Both conclusion and result are apparent in passages such as Is 41:22, where the word represents the "end" or "result" of a matter: "Let them bring them forth, and show us what shall happen: let them show the former things what they be, that we may consider them, and know the latter end of them; or declare us things for to come." (8) Achariyth indicates the "last" or the "least in importance": "Your mother shall be sore confounded; she that bare you shall be ashamed: behold. the hindermost of the nations shall be a wilderness, a dry land, and a desert" (Jer 50:12).

(9) The fact that achariyth used with "day" or "years" may signify either "a point at the end of time" or "a period of the end time" has created considerable debate on fourteen Old Testament passages. Some scholars view this use of the word as non-eschatological—that it merely means "in the day which follows" or "in the future." This seems to be its meaning in Gen 49:1 (its first occurrence in the Bible): "Gather yourselves together, that I may tell you that which shall befall you in the last days." Here the word refers to the entire period to follow. (10) On the other hand, Is 2:2 uses the word more absolutely of the "last period of time": "In the last days, . . . the mountain of the LORD's house shall be established [as the chief of the mountains]." (11) Some scholars believe the phrase sometimes is used of the "very end of time": "Now I am come to make thee understand what shall befall thy people in the latter days: for yet the vision is for many days" (Dan 10:14). This point, however, is much debated. Syn.: 3615; 7093; 7097. See: TWOT—68f; BDB—31a.

335. אַי {16x} ʾay, ah'ee; perh. from 370; where? hence, how?:—where {9x}, what {3x}, whence {4x}. See: TWOT—75; BDB—32a, 58b.

336. אִי {1x} ʾîy, ee; prob. ident. with 335 (through the idea of a query); not:—island {1x}. (Job 22:30). See: TWOT—77; BDB—33a.

337. אִי {2x} ʾîy, ee; short. from 188; alas!:—woe {2x}. See: TWOT—76; BDB—33a.

338. אִי {3x} ʾîy, ee; prob. ident. with 337 (through the idea of a doleful sound); a howler (used only in the plur.), i.e. any solitary wild creature:—wild beasts of the islands {3x}. See: TWOT—43a; BDB—17b.

339. אִי {36x} ʾîy, ee; from 183; prop. a habitable spot (as desirable); dry land, a coast, an island:—isle(s) {30x}, islands {5x}, country {1x}. See: TWOT—39a; BDB—15d, 33b.

340. אָיַב {1x} ʾâyab, aw-yab'; a prim. root; to hate (as one of an opposite tribe or party); hence, to be hostile:—enemy {1x}. See: TWOT—78; BDB—33b.

341. אֹיֵב {282x} ʾôyêb, o-yabe'; or (fully)

אוֹיֵב ʾôwyêb, o-yabe'; act. part. of 340; hating; an adversary:—enemy(s) {280x}, foes {2x}.

Oyeb means "enemy." In form, the word is an active infinitive (or more precisely, a verbal noun). (1) This word means "enemy," and is used in at least one reference to both individuals and nations: "In blessing I will bless thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy seed as the stars of the heaven, and as the sand which is upon the sea shore; and thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies" (Gen 22:17—the first occurrence). (2) "Personal foes" may be represented by this word: "If thou meet thine enemy's ox or his ass going astray, thou shalt surely bring it back to him again" (Ex 23:4). This idea includes "those who show hostility toward me": "But mine enemies are lively, and they are strong; and they that hate me wrongfully are multiplied" (Ps 38:19). (3) One might be an "enemy" of God: "The LORD will take vengeance on his adversaries, and he reserveth wrath for his enemies" (Nah 1:2). (4) God is the "enemy" of all who refuse to submit to His lordship: "But they rebelled, and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore he was turned to be their enemy" (Is 63:10). Syn.: Tsar (6862) is the general designation for enemy; ʾôwyêb is specific; sone (8130) stresses hatred; and rodep (7291) stresses persecution. Syn.: 6862, 6887, 8324. See: TWOT—78; BDB—33b.

342. אֵיבָה {5x} ʾêybâh, ay-baw'; from 340; hostility:—enmity {3x}, hatred {2x}. See: TWOT—78a; BDB—33c.

343. אִיד {24x} ʾêyd, ade; from the same as 181 (in the sense of bending down); oppression; by impl. misfortune, ruin:—calamity {17x}, destruction {7x}.

(1) This word signifies a "disaster" or "calamity" befalling a nation or individual. When used of a nation, it represents a "political or military event": "To me belongeth vengeance, and recompense; their foot shall slide in due time: for the day of their calamity is at hand, and the things that shall come upon them make haste" (Deut 32:35—first occurrence). The prophets tend to use ʾeyd in the sense of national "disaster," while Wisdom writers use it for "personal tragedy." Syn.: 3589, 4288, 7667, 7701. See: TWOT—38c; BDB—15c, 33d.

344. אַיָּה {3x} ʾayâh, ah-yaw'; perh. from 337; the screamer, i.e. a hawk:—kite {2x}, vulture {1x}. See: TWOT—43b; BDB—17b, 33d.

345. אַיָּה {6x} ʾAyâh, ah-yaw'; the same as 344; Ajah, the name of two Isr.:—Aiah {5x}, Ajah {1x}. See: BDB—17b.

346. אַיֵּה {2x} ʾayêh, ah-yay'; prol. from 335; where?:—where {2x}. See: TWOT—75a; BDB—32c, 33d.

347. אִיּוֹב {58x} ʾÎyôwb, ee-yobe'; from 340; hated (i.e. persecuted); Ijob, the patriarch famous for his patience:—Job {58x}. See: BDB—33c.

348. אִיזֶבֶל {22x} ʾÎyzebel, ee-zeh'-bel; from 336 and 2083; chaste; Izebel, the wife of king Ahab:—Jezebel {22x}. See: BDB—33b.

349. אֵיךְ {10x} ʾêyk, ake; also

אֵיכָה ʾêykâh, ay-kaw'; and אֵיכָכָה ʾêykâkâh, ay-kaw'-kah; prol. from 335; how? or how!; also where:—how, what, where = {10x}. See: TWOT—75b, c, d, e; BDB—32c, 32d, 33d.

350. אִי־כָבוֹד {2x} Îy-kâbôwd, ee-kaw-bode'; from 336 and 3519; (there is) no glory, i.e. inglorious; Ikabod, a son of Phineas:—I-chabod {2x}. See: BDB—33b.

351. אֵיכָה {1x} ʾêykôh, ay-kō; prob. a var. for 349, but not as an interrogative; where:—where {1x}. TWOT—75d; BDB—33d.

אֵיכָה ʾêykâh;

אֵיכָכָה ʾêykâkâh. See 349.

352. אַיִל {185x} ʾayîl, ah'-yil; from the same as 193; prop. strength; hence, anything strong; spec. a chief (politically); also a ram (from his strength); a pilaster (as a strong support); an oak or other strong tree:—ram(s) {156x}, post(s) {21x}, mighty (men) {4x}, trees {2x}, lintel {1x}, oaks {1x}.

The basic meaning of ʾayîl is strength; hence, also ayil means "ram." (1) Ayil represents a male sheep or "ram." The word first appears in Gen 15:9, where God told Abram: "Take me a heifer of three years old, and a she goat of three years old, and a ram of three years old, and a turtledove, and a young pigeon." (2) These animals were often used in sacrificing (cf. Gen 22:13). (3) They were eaten (Gen 31:38), and the wool used to make clothing (cf. 2 Kin 3:4). (4) Consequently, as highly valuable animals, such "rams" were selected by Jacob to be part of a peace present sent to Esau (Gen 32:14).

(5) Many passages use ayil as a figure of despots or mighty men: "Then the dukes of Edom shall be amazed; the mighty men of Moab, trembling shall take hold upon them" (Ex 15:15). The king of Babylon deported Judah's kings, princes, and the "mighty of the land" (Eze 17:13). (6) In the first instance the word represents chiefs in the sense of head political figures, whereas in the second use it appears to signify lesser figures. An even more powerful figure is in view in Eze 31:11, where ayil represents a central, powerful, earthly figure who will ruthlessly destroy Assyria: "I have therefore delivered him into the hand of the mighty one of the heathen; he shall surely deal with him: I have driven him out for his wickedness." Syn.: ʾAyîl is the support upon which the rafters rest; whereas mashshebah (4676 – {32x}) refers to a "pillar" as (1) a personal memorial (2 Sa 18:18); (2) a monument (Gen 28:18); or (3) sacred stones or pillars (Ex 24:4). See also: 1368, 2389, 4676. See: TWOT d, e, f, g; BDB—17d, 18a, 18b, 33d.

353. אָיִל {1x} ʾĕyâl, eh-yawl'; a var. of 352; strength:—strength {1x}. See: TWOT—79; BDB—33d.

354. אַיָּל {11x} ʾayâl, ah-yawl'; an intens. form of 352 (in the sense of ram); a stag or male deer:—hart(s) {11x}. See: TWOT—45k; BDB—19d.

375. אֵיפֹה {10x} ʾêyphôh, ay-fō'; from 335 and 6311; what place?; also (of time) when?; or (of means) how?:—where {9x}, what {1x}. See: TWOT—75h; BDB—33a, 35c.

376. אִישׁ {1639x} ʾîysh, eesh; contr. for 582 [or perh. rather from an unused root mean. to be extant]; a man as an individual or a male person; often used as an adjunct to a more def. term (and in such cases frequently not expressed in translation):—man {1002x}, men {210x}, one {188x}, husband {69x}, any {27x}, misc.: also, another, a certain, + champion, consent, each, every (one), fellow, he, high (degree), him (that is, man [-kind], + none, people, person, + steward, what (man) soever, whoso = {143x}.

Iysh means "man; husband; mate; human being; human; somebody; each; every." The plural of this noun is usually anashim (582). (1) Basically, this word signifies "man" in correspondence to woman; a "man" is a person who is distinguished by maleness. This emphasis is in Gen 2:24 (the first biblical occurrence): "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife." Sometimes the phrase "man and woman" signifies anyone whatsoever, including children: "If an ox gore a man or a woman, that they die: then the ox shall be surely stoned" (Ex 21:28). (2) This phrase can also connote an inclusive group, including children: "And they utterly destroyed all that was in the city, both man and woman, young and old, and ox, and sheep, and ass, with the edge of the sword" (Josh 6:21). This idea is sometimes more explicitly expressed by the word series "men, women, and children": "Gather the people together, men, and women, and children, and thy stranger that is within thy gates" (Deut 31:12).

(3) Iysh is often used in marriage contexts (cf. Gen 2:24) meaning "husband" or "mate": "Take ye wives, and beget sons and daughters; and take wives for your sons, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear sons and daughters" (Jer 29:6). A virgin is described as a lass who has not known a "man" ("husband"): "And she went with her companions, and bewailed her virginity upon the mountains. And it came to pass at the end of two months, that she returned unto her father, who did with her according to his vow which he had vowed: and she knew no man" (Judg 11:38–39). (4) The sense "mate" appears in Gen 7:2, where the word represents male animals: "Of every clean beast thou shalt take to thee by sevens, the male and his female."

(5) One special nuance of iysh appears in passages such as Gen 3:6, where it means "husband," or one responsible for a wife or woman and revered by her: "[And she] gave also unto her husband with her: and he did eat." This emphasis is in Hos 2:16 where it is applied to God. (6) Sometimes this word connotes that the one so identified is a "man" par excellence. As such he is strong, influential, and knowledgeable in battle: "Be strong, and quit yourselves like men, O ye Philistines, that ye be not servants unto the Hebrews" (1 Sa 4:9). (7) In a few places iysh is used as a synonym of "father": "We are all sons of one man . . ." (Gen 42:11). (8) In other passages the word is applied to a son (cf. Gen 2:24). (9) In the plural the word can be applied to groups of men who serve or obey a superior. Pharaoh's men escorted Abraham: "And Pharaoh commanded his men concerning him: and they sent him away" (Gen 12:20). (10) In a similar but more general sense, the word may identify people who belong to someone or something: "For all these abominations have the men of the land done, which were before you, and the land is defiled" (Lev 18:27). (11) Infrequently (and in later historical literature) this word is used as a collective noun referring to an entire group: "And his servant said, . . . Should I set this before a hundred men?" (2 Kin 4:43).

(12) Many passages use iysh in the more general or generic sense of "man," a human being: "He that smiteth a man, so that he die, shall be surely put to death" (Ex 21:12). Even if one strikes a woman or child and he or she dies, the attacker should be put to death. Again, notice Deut 27:15: "Cursed be the man that maketh any graven or molten image." (12a) This is the sense of the word when it is contrasted with animals: "But against any of the children of Israel shall not a dog move his tongue, against man or beast . . ." (Ex 11:7). (12b) The same nuance appears when man over against God is in view: "God is not a man, that he should lie . . ." (Num 23:19).

(13) Sometimes iysh is indefinite, meaning "somebody" or "someone" ("they"): "And I will make thy seed as the dust of the earth: so that if a man can number the dust of the earth, then shall thy seed also be numbered" (Gen 13:16). (14) In other passages the word suggests the meaning "each" (Gen 40:5). (15) Closely related to the previous nuance is the connotation "every" (Jer 23:35). comp. 802. Syn.: ʾAdam (120) connotes man as the creature created in God's image, the crown of all creation. Iysh (376) is used for man as the counterpart of woman and/or as distinguished in his maleness. Geber (1397) denotes a male as an antonym of a woman, many times suggesting strength, strong man. Enosh (582) sets forth a collective idea of man suggesting the frailty, vulnerability, and finitude of man as contrasted to God. Bachur (970) signifies the fully developed, vigorous, unmarried man is in his prime. 397. אָכִישׁ {21x} ʾÂkîysh, aw-keesh'; of uncert. der.; Akish, a Philistine king:—Achish {21x}. See: BDB—37a.

398. אָכַל {810} ʾâkal, aw-kal'; a prim. root; to eat (lit. or fig.):—eat (-er, up) {604x}, devour (-er, up), {111x}, consume {32x}, misc. {63x}.

Akal means "to eat, feed, consume, devour." (1) Essentially, this root refers to the "consumption of food by man or animals." In Gen 3:6, we read that Eve took of the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil and "ate" it. (2) The function of eating is presented along with seeing, hearing, and smelling as one of the basic functions of living (Deut 4:28). (3) "Eating," as every other act of life, is under God's control; He stipulates what may or may not be eaten (Gen 1:29). (3a) After the Flood, man was allowed to "eat" meat (Gen 9:3). (3b) But under the Mosaic covenant, God stipulated that certain foods were not to be "eaten" (Lev 11; Deut 14) while others were permissible. This distinction is certainly not new, inasmuch as it is mentioned prior to the Flood (Gen 7:2; cf. Gen 6:19). A comparison of these two passages demonstrates how the Bible can speak in general terms, with the understanding that certain limitations are included. Hence, Noah was commanded to bring into the ark two of every kind (Gen 6:19), while the Bible tells us that this meant two of every unclean and fourteen of every clean animal (Gen 7:2). Thus, Gen 9:3 implies that man could "eat" only the clean animals.

(4) This verb is often used figuratively with overtones of destroying something or someone. (4a) So the sword, fire, and forest are said to "consume" men. (4b) The things "consumed" may include such various things as land (Gen 3:17), fields (Is 1:7), offerings (Deut 18:1), and a bride's purchase price (Gen 31:15). (5) Akal might also connote bearing the results of an action (Is 3:10). (6) The word can refer not only (6a) to "eating" but (6b) to the entire concept "room and board" (2 Sa 9:11, 13), (6c) the special act of "feasting" (Eccl 10:16), or (6d) the entire activity of "earning a living" (Amos 7:12; cf. Gen 3:19). (7) In Dan 3:8 and 6:24, "to eat one's pieces" is to charge someone maliciously. (8) "To eat another's flesh," used figuratively, (8a) refers to tearing him to pieces or "killing him" (Ps 27:2), although akal may also be used literally, (8b) as when one "eats" human beings in times of serious famine (Lev 26:29). (9) Eccl 4:5 uses the expression, "eat one's own flesh," for allowing oneself to waste away.

(10) Abstinence from eating may indicate deep emotional upset, like that which overcame Hannah before the birth of Samuel (1 Sa 1:7). (11) It may also indicate the religious self-denial seen in fasting. (12) Unlike the pagan deities (Deut 32:37–38) God "eats" no food (Ps 50:13); although as a "consuming" fire (Deut 4:24), He is ready to defend His own honor and glory. (13) He "consumes" evil and the sinner. (14) He will also "consume" the wicked like a lion (Hos 13:8). (15) There is one case in which God literally "consumed" food—when He appeared to Abraham in the form of three "strangers" (Gen 18:8). (16) God provides many good things to eat, (16a) such as manna to the Israelites (Ex 16:32) and (16b) all manner of food to those who delight in the LORD (Is 58:14), (16c) even the finest food (Ps 81:16). (17) He puts the Word of God into one's mouth; by "consuming" it, it is taken into one's very being (Eze 3:2). Syn.: 1104. See: TWOT—85; v. BDB—37a, 1080b.

Okel means "food." (1) Okel appears twice in Gen 41:35 with the sense of "food supply": "And let them gather all the food of those good years that come, and lay up corn under the hand of Pharaoh, and let them keep food in the cities." (2) The word refers to the "food" of wild animals in Ps 104:21: "The young lions roar after their prey, and seek their meat from God." (3) Okel is used for "food" given by God in Ps 145:15. (4) The word may also be used for "food" as an offering, as in Mal 1:12. Syn.: 3899, 6720. See: TWOT—85a; BDB—38a.

410. אֵל {245x} ʾêl, ale; short. from 352; strength; as adj. mighty; espec. the Almighty (but used also of any deity):—God {213x}, god {16x}, power {4x}, mighty {5x}, goodly {1x}, great {1x}, idols {1x}, Immanuel + 6005 – {2x}, might {1x}, strong {1x}. comp. names in "-el."

El (410) means "god." (1) This term was the most common general designation of deity in the ancient Near East. (2) While it frequently occurred alone, el was also combined with other words to constitute a compound term for deity, or to identify the nature and functions of the "god" in some manner. Thus the expression "God, the God of Israel" (Gen 33:20) identified the specific activities of Israel's God. (3) In the ancient world, knowledge of a person's name was believed to give one power over that person. A knowledge of the character and attributes of pagan "gods" was thought to enable the worshipers to manipulate or influence the deities in a more effective way than they could have if the deity's name remained unknown. To that extent, the vagueness of the term el frustrated persons who hoped to obtain some sort of power over the deity, since the name gave little or no indication of the god's character. This was particularly true for El, the chief Canaanite god. The ancient Semites stood in mortal dread of the superior powers exercised by the gods and attempted to propitiate them accordingly. They commonly associated deity with the manifestation and use of enormous power. Perhaps this is reflected in the curious Hebrew phrase, "the power [ʾel] of my hand" (Gen 31:29; cf. Deut 28:32).

(4) Some Hebrew phrases in the Psalms associated el with impressive natural features, such as the cedar trees of Lebanon (Ps 80:10) or mountains (Ps 36:6). In these instances, el conveys a clear impression of grandeur or majesty. (5) Names with el as one of their components were common in the Near East in the second millennium B.C. The names Methusael (Gen 4:18) and Ishmael (Gen 16:11) come from a very early period. (6) In the Mosaic period, el was synonymous with the LORD who delivered the Israelites from bondage in Egypt and made them victorious in battle (Num 24:8). (7) This tradition of the Hebrew el as a "God" who revealed Himself in power and entered into a covenant relationship with His people was prominent in both poetry (Ps 7:11; 85:8) and prophecy (Is 43:12; 46:9). (8) The name of el was commonly used by the Israelites to denote supernatural provision or power. This was both normal and legitimate, since the covenant between "God" and Israel assured an obedient and holy people that the creative forces of the universe would sustain and protect at all times. Equally, if they became disobedient and apostate, these same forces would punish them severely. Syn.: 410 + 7706, 426, 430, 433, 3069. See: TWOT—93a; BDB—41d, 42b, 769b.

אֵל שַׁדַּי El shadday (410, 7706) means "God Almighty." (1) This combination of el with a qualifying term represents a religious tradition among the Israelites that was probably in existence by the third millennium B.C. (2) A few centuries later, shadday appeared in Hebrew personal names such as Zurishaddai (Num 1:6) and Ammishaddai (Num 1:12). (3) The earliest Old Testament appearance of the appellation as a title of deity ("God Almighty") is in Gen 17:1, where "God" identifies Himself in this way to Abraham. Unfortunately, the name is not explained in any manner; and even the directions "walk before me, and be thou perfect" throw no light on the meaning of shadday.

(4) Scholars have attempted to understand the word relating it to the Akkadian shadu ("mountain"), as though "God" had either revealed His mighty power in association with mountain phenomena such as volcanic eruptions or that He was regarded as strong and immutable, like the "everlasting hills" of the blessing of Jacob (Gen 49:26). (5) Certainly the associating of deity with mountains was an important part of Mesopotamian religion. The "gods" were believed to favor mountaintop dwellings, and the Sumerians constructed their staged temple-towers or ziggurats as artificial mountains for worship. It was customary to erect a small shrine on the uppermost stage of the ziggurat so that the patron deity could descend from heaven and inhabit the temple. The Hebrews began their own tradition of mountain revelation just after the Exodus, but by this time the name el shadday had been replaced by the tetragrammaton of Yahweh (Ex 3:15, 6:3). (6) El shadday served as the patriarchs' covenant name for "God," and continued as such until the time of Moses, when a further revelation took place (Ex 6:3). (7) The Abrahamic covenant was marked by a degree of closeness between "God" and the human participants that was distinctive in Hebrew history.

(8) "God Almighty" revealed Himself as a powerful deity who was able to perform whatever He asserted. But the degree of intimacy between el shadday and the patriarchs at various stages shows that the covenant involved God's care and love for this growing family that He had chosen, protected, and prospered. He led the covenant family from place to place, being obviously present with them at all times. His covenant formulations show that He was not preoccupied with cultic rites or orgiastic celebrations. Instead, He demanded a degree of obedience that would enable Abraham and his descendants to walk in His presence, and live blameless moral and spiritual lives (Gen 17:1). (9) The true covenantal service of el shadday, therefore, was not cultic or ritualistic, but moral and ethical in character. (10) In the early Mosaic era, the new redemptive name of "God" and the formulation of the Sinai covenant made el shadday largely obsolete as a designation of deity. Subsequently, the name occurs about 35 times in the Old Testament, most of which are in the Book of Job. (11) Occasionally, the name is used synonymously with the tetragrammaton of Yahweh (Ruth 1:21; Ps 91:1–2), to emphasize the power and might of "God" in characteristic fashion.

אֵל עוֹלָם El olam (410, 5769) means "God of eternity; God the everlasting; God for ever." (1) The word olam has related forms in various ancient Near Eastern languages, all of which describe lengthy duration or distant time. The idea seems to be quantitative rather than metaphysical, expressing a period of time that could not be measured other than as lengthy duration. (2) Only in rare poetic passages such as Ps 90:2 are temporal categories regarded inadequate to describe the nature of God's existence as el olam. In such an instance, the Creator is deemed to have been "from everlasting to everlasting"; but even this use of olam expresses the idea of continued, measurable existence rather than a state of being independent of temporal considerations.

(3) The name el olam was associated predominantly with Beer-sheba (Gen 21:25–34). The settlement of Beer-sheba means "well of the oath" (Gen 21:31). But it could also mean "well of the seven"—i.e., the seven lambs that were set apart as witnesses of the oath. Abraham planted a commemorative tree in Beer-sheba and invoked the name of the LORD as el olam. The fact that Abraham subsequently stayed many days in the land of the Philistines seems to imply that he associated continuity and stability with el olam, who was not touched by the vicissitudes of time. Although Beer-sheba may have been a place where the Canaanites worshiped originally, the area later became associated with the veneration of the God of Abraham. (4) At a subsequent period, Jacob journeyed to Beer-sheba and offered sacrifices to the God of Isaac his father. He did not offer sacrifices to el olam by name, however; and although he saw a visionary manifestation of God, he received no revelation that this was the God Abraham had venerated at Beer-sheba. Indeed, God omitted any mention of Abraham, stating that He was the God of Jacob's father. (5) Gen 21:33 is the only place in the Old Testament where the title el olam occurs. Is 40:28 is the only other instance where olam is used in conjunction with a noun meaning God.

422. אָלָה {6x} ʾâlâh, aw-law'; a prim. root; prop. to adjure, i.e. (usually in a bad sense) imprecate:—swear {4x}, curse {1x}, adjure {1x}. See: TWOT—94; BDB—46c, 1060d.

423. אָלָה {36x} ʾâlâh, aw-law'; from 422; an imprecation:—curse {18x}, oath {14x}, execration {2x}, swearing {2x}.

Alah means "curse; oath." (1) In distinction from arar (779) ["to curse by laying an anathema on someone or something") and qalal (7043) ["to curse by abusing or by belittling"], alah basically refers to "the execution of a proper oath to legalize a covenant or agreement." (2) As a noun, alah refers to the "oath" itself: "Then shalt thou be clear from this my oath, when thou comest to my kindred; and if they give not thee one, thou shalt be clear from my oath" (Gen 24:41—the first occurrence). (3) The "oath" was a "curse" on the head of the one who broke the agreement. (4) This same sense appears in Lev 5:1, referring to a general "curse" against anyone who would give false testimony in a court case. (5) So alah functions as a "curse" sanctioning a pledge or commission, and it can close an agreement or covenant. (6) On the other hand, the word sometimes represents a "curse" against someone else, whether his identity is known or not. Syn.: Arar (779 – {63x}) - to curse by laying an anathema on someone or something; qalal (7043 – {83x} and 7045 – {33x}) to curse by abusing or by belittling. See: TWOT—91a; BDB—46d.

424. אֵלָה {13x} ʾêlâh, ay-law'; fem. of 352; an oak or other strong tree:—oak {11x}, elm {1x}, teil tree {1x}. See: TWOT—45h; BDB—18c.

425. אֵלָה {16x} ʾÊlâh, ay-law'; the same as 424; Elah, the name of an Edomite, of four Isr., and also of a place in Pal.:—Elah {16x}. See: BDB—18d.

426. אֱלָהּ {95x} ʾĕlâhh (Aram.), el-aw'; corresp. to 433; God:—God {79x}, god {16x}.

Elahh means "god." (1) This Aramaic word is the equivalent of the Hebrew eloahh (433). It is a general term for "God" in the Aramaic passages of the Old Testament, and it is a cognate form of the word allah, the designation of deity used by the Arabs. The word was used widely in the Book of Ezra, occurring no fewer than 43 times between Ezra 4:24 and 7:26. On each occasion, the reference is to the "God" of the Jewish people, whether the speaker or writer was himself Jewish or not. Thus the governor of the province "Beyond the River" (i.e., west of the river Euphrates) spoke to King Darius of the "house of the great God" (Ezra 5:8). So also Cyrus instructed Sheshbazzar, the governor, that the "house of God be builded" in Jerusalem (Ezra 5:15). (2) While the Persians were certainly not worshipers of the "God" of Israel, they accorded Him the dignity that befitted a "God of heaven" (Ezra 6:10). This was done partly through superstition; but the pluralistic nature of the newly-won Persian empire also required them to honor the gods of conquered peoples, in the interests of peace and social harmony.

(3) When Ezra himself used the word elahh, he frequently specified the God of the Jews. Thus he spoke of the "God of Israel" (5:1; 6:14), the "God of heaven" (5:12; 6:9) and "God of Jerusalem" (7:19); he also associated "God" with His house in Jerusalem (5:17; 6:3). (4) In the decree of Artaxerxes, Ezra was described as "the priest, the scribe of the God of heaven" (7:12, 21). This designation would have sounded strange coming from a pagan Persian ruler, had it not been for the policy of religious toleration exercised by the Achaemenid regime. (5) Elsewhere in Ezra, elahh is associated with the temple, both when it was about to be rebuilt (5:2, 13) and as a finished edifice, consecrated for divine worship (6:16). (6) In the only verse in the Book of Jeremiah that was written in Aramaic (10:11), the word elahh appears in plural form to describe "gods" that had not participated in the creation of the universe. Although such false "gods" were being worshiped by pagan nations (and perhaps worshiped by some of the Hebrews who were in exile in Babylonia), these deities would ultimately perish because they were not eternal in nature.

(7) In the Book of Daniel, elahh was used both of heathen "gods" and the one true "God" of heaven. (7a) The Chaldean priests told Nebuchadnezzar: "And it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can show it before the king, except the gods, whose dwelling is not with flesh" (Dan 2:11). The Chaldeans referred to such "gods" when reporting that Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego refused to participate in idol worship on the plain of Dura (Dan 3:12). The "gods" were enumerated by Daniel when he condemned Nebuchadnezzar's neglect of the worship of Israel's one true "God" (Dan 5:23). In Dan 3:25, the word refers to a divine being or messenger sent to protect the three Hebrews (Dan 3:28). In Dan 4:8–9, 18; and 5:11, the phrase "the spirit of the holy gods" appears. (7b) Elsewhere the references to elahh are to the living "God" whom Daniel worshiped. Syn.: 410 + 7706, 426, 430, 433, 3069. See: TWOT—2576; n.m. BDB—1080c.

427. אָלָה {1x} ʾallâh, al-law'; a var. of 424:—oak {1x}. See: TWOT—100a; BDB—47c.

428. אֵלֶּה {20x} ʾêl-leh, ale'-leh; prol. from 411; these or those:—these, those, this, thus, who, so, such, some, same, other, which, another, whom, they, them = {20x}. See: TWOT—92; BDB—41c, 1080d.

429. אֵלֶּה {1x} ʾêlleh (Aram.), ale'-leh; corresp. to 428:—these {1x}. See: TWOT—2577; BDB—1080c.

אֱלוֹהַּ ʾĕlôahh. See 433.

430. אֱלֹהִים {2606x} ʾĕlôhîym, el-o-heem'; plur. of 433; gods in the ordinary sense; but spec. used (in the plur. thus, espec. with the art.) of the supreme God; occasionally applied by way of deference to magistrates; and sometimes as a superlative:—God {2346x}, god {244x}, judge {5x}, GOD {1x}, goddess {2x}, great {2x}, mighty {2x}, angels {1x}, exceeding {1x}, Godward + 4136 –{1x}, godly {1x}.

Plural in number refers to (1) rulers, judges, either as divine, representatives at sacred places or as reflecting divine majesty and power; (2) divine, ones, superhuman beings including God and angels; (3) angels; cf. the sons of God, or sons of gods = angels; (4) gods, goddess. Syn.: See 410. See: TWOT—93c; BDB—43b, 218d, 238a.

431. אָלוּ {5x} ʾălûw (Aram.), al-oo'; prob. prol. from 412; lo!:—behold {5x}. See: TWOT—2578; BDB—1080d, 1082d.

432. אִלּוּ {2x} ʾillûw, il-loo'; prob. from 408; nay, i.e. (softened) if:—but if {1x}, yea though {1x}. See: TWOT—96; BDB—47a.

433. אֱלוֹהַּ {57x} ʾĕlôwahh, el-o'-ah; rarely (short.)

אֱלֹהַּ ʾĕlôahh, el-o'-ah; prob. prol. (emphat.) from 410; a deity or the Deity:—God {52x}, god {5x}.

Eloahh (433) means "god." (1) This Hebrew name for "God" corresponds to the Aramaic elahh (426). The origin of the term is unknown, and it is used rarely in Scripture as a designation of deity. (2) Eloahh occurs 40 times in the Book of Job between 3:4 and 40:2, while in the remainder of the Old Testament it is used no more than 15 times. (3) Certain scholars regard the word as being a singular version of the common plural form elohim (430), a plural of majesty. (4) Eloahh is commonly thought to be vocative in nature, meaning "O God." But it is not clear why a special form for the vocative in an address to God should be needed, since the plural elohim is frequently translated as a vocative when the worshiper is speaking directly to God, as in Ps 79:1. There is an obvious general linguistic relationship between eloahh and elohim, but determining its precise nature is difficult.

(5) The word eloahh is predominant in poetry rather than prose literature, and this is especially true of the Book of Job. Some scholars have suggested that the author of Job deliberately chose a description for godhead that avoided the historical associations found in a phrase such as "the God of Bethel" (Gen 31:13) or "God of Israel" (Ex 24:10). But even the Book of Job is by no means historically neutral, since places and peoples are mentioned in introducing the narrative (cf. Job 1:1, 15, 17). Perhaps the author considered eloahh a suitable term for poetry and used it accordingly with consistency. (6) This is also apparently the case in Ps 18:31, where eloahh is found instead of el, as in the parallel passage of 2 Sa 22:32. Eloahh also appears as a term for God in Ps 50:22; 139:19; and Prov 30:5. (7) Although eloahh as a divine name is rarely used outside Job, its literary history extends from at least the second millennium B.C. (as in Deut 32:15) to the fifth century B.C. (as in Neh 9:17). Syn.: See 430. See: TWOT—93b; BDB—43a, 1080c.

434. אָלוּל {1x} ʾĕlûwl, el-ool'; for 457; good for nothing:—thing of nought {1x}. See: TWOT—99a; BDB—47b.

435. אֱלוּל {1x} ʾĔlûwl, el-ool'; prob. of for. der.; Elul, the sixth Jewish month:—Elul {1x}. See: TWOT—97; BDB—47a.

436. אֵלוֹן {9x} ʾêlôwn, ay-lone'; prol. from 352; an oak or other strong tree:—plain {9x}.

This word means "large tree," usually an isolated tree in relation to places of worship. It may well be that these were all ancient cultic sites.

Hebrew

The word does not represent a particular genus or species of tree but, like the noun to which it is related, simply a "big tree": "Gaal spoke again and said, Look, men are coming down from the center of the land, and one company is coming from the direction of the Meonenim ["diviner's oak"]" (Judg 9:37). Judg 9:6 speaks of the "plain of the pillar" in Shechem where the men of Shechem and Beth-millo made Abimelech king. Syn.: See 356. See: TWOT—45i; BDB—18d.

אֱלִיהוּא ʾÊlîyhûwʾ, el-ee-hoo'; from 410 and 1931; God of him; Elihu, the name of one of Job's friends, and of three Isr.:—Elihu {11x}. See: BDB—45b.

454. אֱלְיְהוֹעֵינַי {9x} ʾElyᵉhôwʿêynay, el-ye-ho-ay-nah'ee; or (short.)

אֱלְיוֹעֵינַי ʾElyôwʿêynay, el-yo-ay-nah'ee; from 413 and 3068 and 5869; toward Jehovah (are) my eyes; Eljehoenai or Eljoenai, the name of seven Isr.:—Elihoenai {1x}, Elionai {8x}. See: BDB—41b.

455. אֱלִיחָבָא {2x} ʾElyachbâʾ, el-yakh-baw'; from 410 and 2244; God will hide; Eljachba, an Isr.:—Eliahbah {2x}. See: BDB—45b.

456. אֱלִיחֹרֶף {1x} ʾĔlîychôreph, el-ee-kho'-ref; from 410 and 2779; God of autumn; Elichoreph, an Isr.:—Elihoreph {1x}. See: BDB—45b.

457. אֱלִיל {20x} ʾĕlîyl, el-eel'; appar. from 408; good for nothing, by anal. vain or vanity; spec. an idol:—- idol {17x}, image {1x}, no value {1x}, things of nought {1x}.

Eliyl means "idol; gods; nought; vain." (1)

This disdainful word signifies an "idol" or "false god." (2) Eliyl first appears in Lev 19:4: "Turn ye not unto idols, nor make to yourselves molten gods." (3) In Lev 26:1 the elilim are what Israel is forbidden to make: "Ye shall make you no idols." The irony of this is biting not only with respect to the usual meaning of this word but also in view of its similarity to the usual word for God (elohim; cf. Ps 96:5): "For all the gods [elohim] of the people are idols [elilim] . . ." (1 Chr 16:26). (4) This word can mean "nought" or "vain." 1 Chr 16:26 might well be rendered: "For all the gods of the people are nought." This nuance appears clearly in Job 13:4: "But ye are forgers of lies; ye are all physicians of no value [physicians of vanity]." Jeremiah told Israel that their prophets were "prophesy [ing] unto you a false vision and divination, and a thing of nought . . .".

Gillulim (1544), "idols." (5) Of the 48 occurrences of this word, all but 9 appear in Ezekiel. This word for "idols" is a disdainful word and may originally have meant "dung pellets": "And I will destroy your high places, and cut down your images, and cast your carcases upon the carcases of your idols, and my soul shall abhor you" (Lev 26:30). Syn: This word and others for "idol" exhibit the horror and scorn that biblical writers felt toward them. In passages such as Is 66:3 the word for "idol," awen (205), means "uncanny or wickedness." Jer 50:38 evidences the word emim (367), which means "fright or horror." The word elil appears for "idol" in Lev 19:4; it means "nothingness or feeble." 1 Kin 15:13 uses the Hebrew word, mipletset (4656), meaning a "horrible thing, a cause of trembling." A root signifying to make an image or to shape something, tsb (6091) [a homonym of the root meaning "sorrow and grief"] is used in several passages (cf. 1Sa 31:9). See: TWOT—99a; BDB—47b.

Almanah means "widow." (1) The word represents a woman who, because of the death of her husband, has lost her social and economic position. The gravity of her situation was increased if she had no children. In such a circumstance she returned to her father's home and was subjected to the Levirate rule whereby a close male relative surviving her husband was to produce a child through her in her husband's behalf: "Then said Judah to Tamar his daughter-in-law, Remain a widow at thy father's house, till Shelah my son be grown" (Gen 38:11 the first occurrence of the word). These words constitute a promise to Tamar that the disgrace of being without both husband and child would be removed when Shelah was old enough to marry.

(2) Even if children had been born before her husband's death, a widow's lot was not a happy one (2 Sa 14:5). (3) Israel was admonished to treat "widows" and other socially disadvantaged people with justice, God Himself standing as their protector (Ex 22:21–24). (4) Wives whose husbands shut them away from themselves are sometimes called "widows": "And David came to his house at Jerusalem; and the king took the ten women his concubines, whom he had left to keep the house, and put them in ward, and fed them, but went not in unto them. So they were shut up unto the day of their death, living in widowhood" (2 Sa 20:3). (5) Destroyed, plundered Jerusalem is called a "widow" (Lam 1:1). Syn.: See also 489, 491. 517. אֵם {220x} ʾêm, ame; a prim. word; a mother (as the bond of the family); in a wide sense (both lit. and fig. [like 1]:—mother {214x}, dam {5x}, parting {1x}.

Em (517) means "mother; grandmother; stepmother." (1) The basic meaning of the word has to do with the physical relationship of the individual called "mother." This emphasis of the word is in Gen 2:24 (the first biblical appearance): "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife." (2) Em sometimes represents an animal "mother": "Likewise shalt thou do with thine oxen, and with thy sheep: seven days it shall be with its [mother]; on the eighth day thou shalt give it me" (Ex 22:30). (3) The phrase "father and mother" is the biblical phrase for parents: "And he brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther, his uncle's daughter: for she had neither father nor mother [living]" (Est 2:7). (4) The "son of one's mother" is his brother (Gen 43:29), just as the "daughter of one's mother" is his sister (Gen 20:12). These phrases usually emphasize that the persons so represented are whole brothers or sisters, whereas the Hebrew words ach, (251 - "brother") and achot, (269 - "sister") meaning both whole and half siblings, leave the issue unclear.

(5) On the other hand, in Gen 27:29 this phrase appears to mean peoples more distantly related: "Let people serve thee, and nations bow down to thee: be lord over thy brethren, and let thy mother's sons bow down to thee: cursed be every one that curseth thee, and blessed be he that blesseth thee." (6) Em can represent blood relatives further removed than one's mother. In 1 Kin 15:10 the word means "grandmother": "And forty and one years reigned he in Jerusalem. And his [grand]mother's name was Maachah, the daughter of Abishalom." (7) This word can also mean "stepmother." When Joseph told his dream to his family, "his father rebuked him, and said unto him, What is this dream that thou hast dreamed? Shall I and thy [step]mother and thy brethren indeed come to bow down ourselves to thee to the earth?" (Gen 37:10; cf. 35:16ff., where we read that Rachel died). (8) The word can signify a mother-in-law, or the mother of one's wife: "And if a man take a wife and her mother, it is wickedness" (Lev 20:14).

(9) The woman through whom a nation originated is called its "mother"; she is the first or tribal "mother," an ancestress: "Thus saith the LORD God unto Jerusalem; Thy birth and thy nativity is of the land of Canaan; thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother a Hittite" (Eze 16:3). Even further removed physically is Eve, "the mother of all living" (Gen 3:20). (10) Em can represent all one's female forebears: "Let the iniquity of his fathers be remembered with the LORD; and let not the sin of his mother be blotted out" (Ps 109:14). (11) A group of people, a people, or a city may be personified and called a "mother." Hosea calls the priests (probably) the "mother" of Israel: "And the prophet also shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother" (Hos 4:5).

(12) The people of Israel, the northern kingdom, are the "mother" of Judah: "Where is the bill of your mother's divorcement, whom I have put away? or which of my creditors is it to whom I have sold you? Behold, for your iniquities have ye sold yourselves, and for your transgressions is your mother put away" (Is 50:1; cf. Hos 2:4, 7). (13) An important city may be called a "mother" of its citizens: "Thou seekest to destroy a city and a mother in Israel" (2 Sa 20:19). (14) The title "mother in Israel" was a title of respect in Deborah's day (Judg 5:7). (15) "The mother of a way" is the starting point for roads: "For the king of Babylon stood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two ways, to use divination" (Eze 21:21). Syn.: 2545. See: TWOT—115a; BDB—51a, 51c.

518. אִם {43x} ʾîm, eem; a prim. particle; used very widely as demonstr., lo!; interrog., whether?; or conditional, if, although; also Oh that!, when; hence, as a neg., not:—if, not, or, when, whether, surely, doubtless, while, neither, saving, verily = {43x}. 519. אָמָה {55x} ʾâmâh, aw-maw'; appar. a prim. word; a maid-servant or female slave:—handmaid {22x}, maidservant {19x}, maid {8x}, bondwoman {4x}, bondmaids {2x}. See: TWOT—112; BDB—51a, 1046c.

אֵמָה ʾêmâh. See 367.

520. אַמָּה {245x} ʾammâh, am-maw'; prol. from 517; prop. a mother (i.e. unit of measure, or the fore-arm (below the elbow), i.e. a cubit; also a door-base (as a bond of the entrance):—cubit {242x}, measure {1x}, post {1x}, not translated {1x}.

Ammah (520) means "cubit." (1) It appears about 245 times in biblical Hebrew and in all periods, but especially in Ex 25—27; 37–38 (specifications of the tabernacle); 1 Kin 6—7 (the specifications of Solomon's temple and palace); and Eze 40—43 (the specifications of Ezekiel's temple). (2) In one passage, ammah means "pivot": "And the posts [literally, "sockets"] of the door moved at the voice of him that cried" (Is 6:4). (3) In almost every other occurrence, the word means "cubit," the primary unit of linear measurement in the Old Testament. (4) A "cubit" ordinarily was the distance from one's elbow to the tip of the middle finger. Since this distance varied from individual to individual, the "cubit" was a rather imprecise measurement. Yet the first appearance of ammah (Gen 6:15) refers to the measurement of Noah's ark, which implies that the word must refer to a more precise length than the ordinary "cubit." Syn.: 3967, 4060. See: TWOT—115c; BDB—51a, 52a, 52c, 1081a.

521. אַמָּה {4x} ʾammâh (Aram.), am-maw'; corresp. to 520:—cubit {4x}. See: TWOT—2582; BDB—51a, 1081a.

522. אַמָּה {1x} ʾAmmâh, am-maw'; the same as 520; Ammah, a hill in Pal.:—Ammah {1x}. See: BDB—51a, 52a, 52c.

523. אֻמָּה {3x} ʾummâh, oom-maw'; from the same as 517; a collection, i.e. community of persons:—people {2x}, nation {1x}. See: TWOT—115e; BDB—52c, 1081a.

524. אֻמָּה {8x} ʾummâh (Aram.), oom-maw'; corresp. to 523:—nation {8x}. See: TWOT—2583; BDB—1081a.

525. אָמוֹן {1x} ʾâmôwn, aw-mone'; from 539, prob. in the sense of training; skilled, i.e. an architect [like 542]:—one brought up {1x}. See: TWOT—116L; BDB—54c.

526. אָמוֹן {17x} ʾÂmôwn, aw-mone'; the same as 525; Amon, the name of three Isr.:—Amon {17x}. See: BDB—51b, 54c.

527. אָמוֹן {3x} ʾâmôwn, aw-mone'; a var. for 1995; a throng of people:—multitude {2x}, populous {1x}. See: TWOT—116L; BDB—54c.

528. אָמוֹן {2x} ʾÂmôwn, aw-mone'; of Eg. der.; Amon (i.e. Ammon or Amn), a deity of Egypt (used only as an adjunct of 4996):—not translated {2x}. See: BDB—51b.

529. אֵמוּן {5x} ʾêmûwn, ay-moon'; from 539; established, i.e. (fig.) trusty; also (abstr.) trustworthiness:—faithful {3x}, truth {1x}, faith {1x}. See: TWOT—116d; BDB—53c.

530. אֱמוּנָה {49x} ʾĕmûwnâh, em-oo-naw'; or (short.)

אֱמֻנָה ʾĕmûnâh, em-oo-naw'; fem. of 529; lit. firmness; fig. security; mor. fidelity:—faithfulness {18x}, truth {13x}, faithfully {5x}, office {5x}, faithful {3x}, faith {1x}, stability {1x}, steady {1x}, truly {1x}, verily {1x}.

Emunah (530) means "firmness; faithfulness; truth; honesty; official obligation." (1) In Ex 17:12 (the first biblical occurrence), the word means "to remain in one place": "And his [Moses'] hands were steady until the going down of the sun." (2) Closely related to this use is that in Is 33:6: "And wisdom and knowledge shall be the stability of thy times." (3) In passages such as 1 Chr 9:22, emunah appears to function as a technical term meaning "a fixed position" or "enduring office": "All these which were chosen to be porters in the gates were two hundred and twelve. These were reckoned by their genealogy in their villages, whom David and Samuel the seer did ordain in their set [i.e., established] office." (4) The most frequent sense of emunah is "faithfulness," as illustrated by 1 Sa 26:23: "The LORD render to every man his righteousness and his faithfulness." The LORD repays the one who demonstrates that he does what God demands.

(5) Quite often, this word means "truthfulness," as when it is contrasted to false swearing, lying, and so on: "Run ye to and fro through the streets of Jerusalem, and see now, and know, and seek in the broad places thereof, if ye can find a man, if there be any that executeth judgment, that seeketh the truth [i.e., honesty]" (Jer 5:1; cf. Jer 5:2). Here emunah signifies the condition of being faithful to God's covenant, practicing truth, or doing righteousness. (6) On the other hand, the word can represent the abstract idea of "truth": "This is a nation that obeyeth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiveth correction: truth [emunah] is perished, and is cut off from their mouth" (Jer 7:28). These quotations demonstrate the two senses in which emunah means "true"—the personal sense, which identifies a subject as honest, trustworthy, faithful, truthful (Prov 12:22); and the factual sense, which identifies a subject as being factually true (cf. Prov 12:27), as opposed to that which is false.

(7) The essential meaning of emunah is "established" or "lasting," "continuing," "certain." (7a) So God says, "And in mercy shall the throne be established: and he shall sit upon it in truth in the tabernacle of David, judging, and seeking judgment, and hasting righteousness" (cf. 2 Sa 7:16; Is 16:5). (7b) Thus, the phrase frequently rendered "with lovingkindness and truth" should be rendered "with perpetual (faithful) lovingkindness" (cf. Josh 2:14). He who sows righteousness earns a "true" or "lasting" reward (Prov 11:18), a reward on which he can rely.

(8) In other contexts, emunah embraces other aspects of the concept of truth: "[The Lord] hath remembered his mercy and his truth toward the house of Israel" (Ps 98:3). Here the word does not describe the endurance of God but His "truthfulness"; that which He once said He has maintained. The emphasis here is on truth as a subjective quality, defined personally. (9) In a similar sense, one can both practice (Gen 47:29) and speak the "truth" (2 Sa 7:28). In such cases, it is not a person's dependability (i.e., others can act on the basis of it) but his reliability (conformity to what is true) that is considered. The first emphasis is subjective and the second objective. It is not always possible to discern which emphasis is intended by a given passage. See: TWOT—116e; BDB—53c.

531. אָמוֹץ {13x} ʾÂmôwts, aw-mohts'; from 553; strong; Amots, an Isr.:—Amoz {13x}. See: BDB—55b.

537. אֲמֻלָל {1x} ʾămêlâl, am-ay-lawl'; from 535; languid:—feeble {1x}. See: TWOT—114a; BDB—51c.

538. אֲמָם {1x} ʾĂmâm, am-awm'; from 517; gathering-spot; Amam, a place in Pal.:—Amam {1x}. See: BDB—52c.

539. אָמַן {108x} ʾâman, aw-man'; a prim. root; prop. to build up or support; to foster as a parent or nurse; fig. to render (or be) firm or faithful, to trust or believe, to be permanent or quiet; mor. to be true or certain; once (Is 30:21; interch. for 541) to go to the right hand:—believe {44x}, assurance {1x}, faithful {20x}, sure {11x}, established {7x}, trust {5x}, verified {3x}, steadfast {2x}, continuance {2x}, father {2x}, bring up {4x}, nurse {2x}, be nursed {1x}, surely be {1x}, stand fast {1x}, fail {1x}, trusty {1x}.

Aman means "to be firm, endure, be faithful, be true, stand fast, trust, have belief, believe." (1) It appears in all periods of biblical Hebrew (about 96 times) and only in the causative and passive stems. (2) In the passive stem, aman has several emphases: (2a) it indicates that a subject is "lasting" or "enduring," which is its meaning in Deut 28:59: "Then the LORD will make thy plagues wonderful, and the plagues of thy seed, even great plagues, and of long continuance, and sore sicknesses, and of long continuance." It also signifies the element of being "firm" or "trustworthy." (2b) In Is 22:23, aman refers to a "firm" place, a place into which a peg will be driven so that it will be immovable. The peg will remain firmly anchored, even though it is pushed so hard that it breaks off at the point of entry (Is 22:25). (3) The Bible also speaks of "faithful" people who fulfill their obligations (cf. 1 Sa 22:14; Prov 25:13). (4) The nuance meaning "trustworthy" also occurs: "He that is of a faithful spirit concealeth the matter" (Prov 11:13; cf. Is 8:2).

(5) An officebearer may be conceived as an "entrusted one": "He removeth away the speech of the trusty [entrusted ones], and taketh away the understanding of the aged" (Job 12:20). In this passage, aman is synonymously parallel (therefore equivalent in meaning) to "elders" or "officebearers." Thus, it should be rendered "entrusted ones" or "those who have been given a certain responsibility (trust)." Before receiving the trust, they are men "worthy of trust" or "trustworthy" (cf. 1 Sa 2:35; Neh 13:13). (6) In Gen 42:20 (the first biblical appearance of this word in this stem), Joseph requests that his brothers bring Benjamin to him; "so shall your words be verified," or "be shown to be true" (cf. 1 Kin 8:26; Hos 5:9). (7) In Hos 11:12, aman contrasts Judah's actions ("faithful") with those of Ephraim and Israel ("deceit"). So here aman represents both "truthfulness" and "faithfulness" (cf. Ps 78:37; Jer 15:18). (8) The word may be rendered "true" in several passages (1 Kin 8:26; 2 Chr 1:9; 6:17).

(9) A different nuance of aman is seen in Deut 7:9: "the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy. . . ." There is a good reason here to understand the word aman as referring to what God has done ("faithfulness"), rather than what He will do ("trustworthy"), because He has already proved Himself faithful by keeping the covenant. Therefore, the translation would become, "faithful God who has kept His covenant and faithfulness, those who love Him kept . . ." (cf. Is 47:7). (10) In the causative stem, aman means "to stand fast," or "be fixed in one spot," which is demonstrated by Job 39:24: "He [a war horse] swalloweth the ground with fierceness and rage: neither believeth he that it is the sound of the trumpet." (11) Even more often, this stem connotes a psychological or mental certainty, as in Job 29:24: "If I laughed on them, they believed it not."

(12) Considering something to be trustworthy is an act of full trusting or believing. This is the emphasis in the first biblical occurrence of aman: "And [Abram] believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness" (Gen 15:6). The meaning here is that Abram was full of trust and confidence in God, and that he did not fear Him (v. 1). It was not primarily in God's words that he believed, but in God Himself. Nor does the text tell us that Abram believed God so as to accept what He said as "true" and "trustworthy" (cf. Gen 45:26), but simply that he believed in God. In other words, Abram came to experience a personal relationship to God rather than an impersonal relationship with His promises. (13) Thus, in Ex 4:9 the meaning is, "if they do not believe in view of the two signs," rather than, "if they do not believe these two signs." The focus is on the act of believing, not on the trustworthiness of the signs. (14) A more precise sense of aman does appear sometimes: "That they may believe that the LORD . . . hath appeared unto thee" (Ex 4:5; cf. 1 Kin 10:7). (15) In other instances, aman has a cultic use, by which the worshiping community affirms its identity with what the worship leader says (1 Chr 16:32). The "God of the amen" (2 Chr 20:20; Is 65:16) is the God who always accomplishes what He says; He is a "God who is faithful." Syn.: 529, 530, 982. See: TWOT—116; BDB—52d, 1081a.

540. אָמַן {3x} ʾăman (Aram.), am-an'; corresp. to 539:—believe {1x}, sure {1x}, faithful {1x}. See: TWOT—2584; BDB—1081a.

541. אָמַן {1x} ʾâman, aw-man'; denom. from 3225; to take the right hand road:—turn to the right {1x}. Syn.: See 539. See: TWOT—872; BDB—54d, 411c, 412b.

542. אָמָן {1x} ʾâmân, aw-mawn'; from 539 (in the sense of training); an expert:—cunning workman {1x}. See: TWOT—116c; BDB—53b.

543. אֱמֶן {30x} ʾâmên, aw-mane'; from 539; sure; abstr. faithfulness; adv. truly:—amen {27x}; truly {2x}, so be it {1x}.

Amen (543), an adverb, means "truly; genuinely; amen; so be it." (1) This Hebrew word usually appears as a response to a curse that has been pronounced upon someone, as the one accursed accepts the curse upon himself. By so doing, he binds himself to fulfill certain conditions or else be subject to the terms of the curse (cf. Deut 29:15–26). (2) Although signifying a voluntary acceptance of the conditions of a covenant, the amen was sometimes pronounced with coercion. Even in these circumstances, the one who did not pronounce it received the punishment embodied in the curse. (3) So the amen was an affirmation of a covenant, which is the significance of the word in Num 5:22, its first biblical occurrence. (4) Later generations or individuals might reaffirm the covenant by voicing their amen (Neh 5:1–13; Jer 18:6). (5) In 1 Kin 1:36, amen is noncovenantal. It functions as an assertion of a person's agreement with the intent of a speech just delivered: "And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king, and said, Amen: the LORD God of my lord the king say so too." However, the context shows that Benaiah meant to give more than just verbal assent; his amen committed him to carry out the wishes of King David. It was a statement whereby he obligated himself to do what David had indirectly requested of him (cf. Neh 8:6). Syn.: 539. See: TWOT—116b; BDB—53b.

557. אַמְצִי {2x} ʾAmtsîy, am-tsee'; from 553; strong; Amtsi, an Isr.:—Amzi {2x}. See: BDB—55c.

558. אֲמַצְיָה {40x} ʾĂmatsyâh, am-ats-yaw'; or אֲמַצְיָהוּ ʾĂmatsyâhûw, am-ats-yaw'-hoo; from 553 and 3050; strength of Jah; Amatsjah, the name of four Isr.:—Amaziah {40x}. See: BDB—55c.

559. אָמַר {5308x} ʾâmar, aw-mar'; a prim. root; to say (used with great latitude):—said {4874x}, speak {179x}, answer {99x}, command {30x}, tell {29x}, call {7x}, promised {6x}, misc. {84x} = appoint, avouch, bid, boast self, certify, challenge, charge, commandment, commune, consider, declare, demand, × desire, determine, × expressly, × indeed, × intend, name, × plainly, publish, report, require, × still, × suppose, talk, term, × that is, × think, use [speech], utter, × verily, × yet.

Amar means "to say, speak, tell, command, answer." (1) Amar refers to the simple act of communicating with the spoken word. Usually the word is used of direct speech ("say"), although it may be used of indirect speech as well ("speak"). (2) The usual subject of this verb is some self-conscious personality—man (Gen 2:23) or God (Gen 1:3—the first occurrence of the word). (3) Infrequently animals (Gen 3:1) or, in figures of speech such as personification, inanimate objects "say" something (Judg 9:8ff.). (4) This verb bears many connotations and in some passages is better translated accordingly. The KJV renders this verb "answer" 98 times ("say as a response").

(5) God speaks in Gen 9:8; 22:2; Ex 8:27. The force of God's speaking is more than merely making a statement: It is authoritative. (6) In addition to these frequently occurring connotations, amar is rendered with many words representing various aspects of spoken communication, such as (6a) "appoint" or "assign" (1 Kin 11:18), (6b) "mention" or "name" (Gen 43:27), (6c) "call" (Is 5:20), and (6d) "promise" (2 Kin 8:19). (7) Although not always so translated, this word can imply the act of thinking within oneself (Gen 44:28) and the intention to do something (Ex 2:14). (8) When used of divine speaking, this verb may refer to simple communication (Gen 1:26). (9) Often, however, there is a much fuller sense where God's saying effects the thing spoken (cf. Gen 1). (10) The phrase "thus says the Lord," so frequent in the prophets, has been analyzed as a message-formula. The Bible recognizes that behind the divine speaking is divine authority and power. Syn.: 1696, 5002. See: TWOT—118; BDB—59c, 1081a.

560. אֲמַר {71x} ʾămar (Aram.), am-ar'; corresp. to 559:—say {45x}, commanded {12x}, speak {4x}, tell {9x}, declare {1x}. Syn.: 1697, 4405. See 559. See: TWOT—2585; BDB—1081a.

561. אֵמֶר {49x} ʾêmer, ay'-mer; from 559; something said:—words {43x}, speeches {2x}, sayings {2x}, appointed {1x}, answer {1x}.

This noun appears 48 times. ʾEmer refers to "words" in Prov 2:1: "My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee." Syn: Several other nouns are related to the verb ʾamar. ʾImrah (565) also means "word, speech," and it occurs 37 times. One occurrence of ʾimrah is in 2 Sa 22:31 (cf. Ps 18:30). The noun ʾomer (562) is found 6 times and means "word, speech, promise" (Ps 68:11; Hab 3:9). Maʾamar (3982) and meʾmar (3983) mean "word, command." Maʾamar occurs 3 times (Est 1:15; 2:22; 9:32), and meʾmar occurs twice (Ezra 6:9; Dan 4:17). ʿEmer simply refers to "words." Syn.: 373, 4405. See: TWOT—118a; BDB—57a.

562. אֹמֶר {6x} ʾômer, o'-mer; the same as 561:—word {2x}, speech {2x}, thing {1x}, promise {1x}. See: TWOT—118a; BDB—56d, 1051c.

582. אֱנוֹשׁ {564x} ʾĕnôwsh, en-oshe'; from 605; prop. a mortal (and thus differing from the more dignified 120); hence, a man in Gen (singly or collect.). It is often unexpressed in the English Version, espec. when used in apposition with another word.:—man {520x}, certain {10x}, husbands {3x}, some {3x}, merchantmen {2x}, persons {2x}, misc.: another, chap [-man], people, person, servant, some (× of them), + stranger, those – {24x}.

Enowsh means "man." (1) It occurs 25 times in biblical Aramaic and 42 times in biblical Hebrew. (2) Hebrew uses enowsh exclusively in poetical passages. The only apparent exception is 2 Chr 14:11, but this is a prayer and, therefore uses poetical words. (3) Enowsh never appears with the definite article and at all times except once (Ps 144:3) sets forth a collective idea, "man." (4) In most cases where the word occurs in Job and the Psalms it suggests the frailty, vulnerability, and finitude of "man" as contrasted to God: "As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth" (Ps 103:15). As such "man" cannot be righteous or holy before God: "Shall mortal man be more just than God? Shall a man be more pure than his Maker?" (Job 4:17). (5) In the Psalms this word is used to indicate the enemy: "Arise, O LORD; let not man prevail: let the heathen be judged in thy sight" (Ps 9:19). Here the parallelism shows that enowsh is synonymous with "nations," or the enemy. They are, therefore, presented as weak, vulnerable, and finite: "Put them in fear, O LORD: that the nations may know themselves to be but men" (Ps 9:20).

(6) Enowsh may connote "men" as weak but not necessarily morally weak: "Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the son of man that layeth hold of it" (Is 56:2). In this passage the enowsh is blessed because he has been morally strong. (7) In a few places the word bears no moral overtones and represents "man" in a sense parallel to Hebrew adam. (8) He is finite as contrasted to the infinite God: "I said, I would scatter them into corners, I would make the remembrance of them to cease from among men" (Deut. 32:26—the first biblical occurrence). Syn.: Adam (120) connotes man as the creature created in God's image, the crown of all creation. Iysh (376) is used for man as the counterpart of woman and/or as distinguished in his maleness. Geber (1397) denotes a male as an antonym of a woman, many times suggesting strength, strong man. ʾĔnôwsh (582) sets forth a collective idea of man suggesting the insignificance, frailty, vulnerability, and finitude of man as contrasted to God. Bachur (970) signifies the fully developed, vigorous, unmarried man is in his prime. Acaph means "to gather, gather in, take away." (1) Basically, acaph refers to "bringing objects to a common point." This may mean to "gather" or "collect" something such as food. The first occurrence is when God told Noah to "gather" food to himself (Gen 6:21). Eventually, the food was to go into the ark. (2) This verb can also refer to "gathering" food at harvest time, or "harvesting": "And six years thou shalt sow thy land, and shalt gather in the fruits thereof" (Ex 23:10). (3) Second Kings 22:4 refers not to a process of going out and getting something together, but to standing still as someone brings money to one. (4) Also notice Gen 29:22: "And Laban gathered together all the men of the place, and made a feast"; this verse similarly focuses on the end product of gathering. But here the "gatherer" does not physically handle what is "gathered." He is simply the impetus or active cause for a congregating of all those men. (5) God may "gather" a man to his fathers—i.e., cause him to die (2 Kin 22:20). Here the emphasis is on the end product, and God as the agent who "gathers."

(6) Acaph may represent not only the process of bringing things to a common location; the word may also represent "bringing" things to oneself. After the harvest is brought ("gathered") in from the threshing floor and wine vat, the Feast of Booths is to be celebrated (Deut 16:13). (7) In Deut 22:2, a man is to "gather" into his home (bring home and care for) a lost animal whose owner cannot be found. (8) In this manner, God "gathers" to Himself those abandoned by their family (Ps 27:10). (9) A special application of this nuance is to "receive hospitality": "When he went in he sat him down in a street of the city: for there was no man that took them into his house to lodging" (Judg 19:15). (10) "To gather in" also may mean "to be consumed by"—God promises that His people "shall be no more consumed with hunger" (Eze 34:29). (11) It is used in this way the verb can mean "to bring into," as when Jacob "gathered up his feet into the bed" (Gen 49:33).

(12) Acaph can emphasize "withdrawal" or "removal" of something; the action is viewed from the perspective of one who loses something because someone has taken it ("gathered it in"). In Ps 85:3, the "gathering" represents this sort of "withdrawal away from" the speaker. Thus, anger "disappears": "Thou hast taken away all thy wrath." Compare also Rachel's statement at the birth of Joseph: "God hath taken away my reproach" (Gen 30:23). In this case, Rachel speaks of the "destruction" of her reproach. (13) "To gather one's soul" is "to lose" one's life (Judg 18:25). (14) God can also be the agent who "gathers" or "takes away" a soul: "Gather not my soul with sinners . . ." (Ps 26:9). (15) In this sense, acaph can mean "being cured" of a disease; "Would God my lord were with the prophet that is in Samaria! for he would recover him of his leprosy" (2 Kin 5:3). Syn.: ʾÂçaph is a near synonym to qabats (6908 – {136x}), differing by having a more extensive range of meanings. ʾÂçaph, duplicates all the meanings of qabats. See: TWOT—140; BDB—62a.

Acar means"to bind, imprison, tie, gird, to harness." (1) The first use of acar in the Hebrew text is in Gen 39:20, which tells how Joseph was "imprisoned" after being wrongfully accused by Potiphar's wife. (2) The common word for "tying up" for security and safety, acar is often used to indicate the tying up of horses and donkeys (2 Kin 7:10). (3) Similarly, oxen are "harnessed" to carts (1 Sa 6:7, 10). (4) Frequently, acar is used to describe the "binding" of prisoners with cords and various fetters (Gen 42:24; Judg 15:10, 12–13). (5) Samson misled Delilah as she probed for the secret of his strength, telling her to "bind" him with bowstrings (Judg 16:7) and new ropes (Judg 16:11), none of which could hold him. (6) Used in an abstract sense, acar refers (6a) to those who are spiritually "bound" (Ps 146:7; Is 49:9; 61:1) or (6b) a man who is emotionally "captivated" by a woman's hair (Song 7:5). (7) Strangely, the figurative use of the term in the sense of obligation or "binding" to a vow or an oath is found only in Num 30, but it is used there a number of times (vv. 3, 5–6, 8–9, 11–12). See: TWOT—141; BDB—63c, 1082a.

637. אַף {17x} ʾaph, af; a prim. particle; mean. accession (used as an adv. or conjunc.); also or yea; adversatively though:—also, even, yet, moreover, yea, with, low, therefore, much = {17x}. This is a conjunction denoting addition, especially of something greater. See: TWOT—142; BDB—64d, 210b, 1082b.

638. אַף {4x} ʾaph (Aram.), af; corresp. to 637:—also {4x}. See: TWOT—2597; BDB—1082b.

639. אַף {276} ʾaph, af; from 599; prop. the nose or nostril; hence, the face, and occasionally a person; also (from the rapid breathing in passion) ire:—anger {172x}, wrath {42x}, face {22x}, nostrils {13x}, nose {12x}, angry {4x}, longsuffering + 750 {4x}, before {2x}, countenance {1x}, forbearing {1x}, forehead {1x}, snout {1x}, worthy {1x}.

Aph (639) means "nose; nostrils; face; wrath; anger." (1) The fundamental meaning of the word is "nose," as a literal part of the body. Aph bears this meaning in the singular, while the dual refers to the "nostrils" through which air passes in and out: "And the LORD God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life" (Gen 2:7—the first biblical occurrence). (2) In other contexts aph in the dual represents the "entire face." God cursed Adam saying: "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground" (Gen 3:19). (3) This emphasis appears often with the phrase "to bow one's face to the ground": "And Joseph's brethren came, and bowed down themselves before him with their faces to the earth" (Gen 42:6). (4) The words "length of face or nostrils" constitute an idiom meaning "longsuffering" or "slow to anger." (4a) It is used both of God and of man: "The LORD, The LORD God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth" (Ex 34:6). (4b) The contrasting idiom, meaning "quick to anger," might literally mean "short of face/nostrils." It implies a changeable countenance, a capricious disposition.

(5) Prov 14:17 uses this idiom with a little stronger emphasis: "He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly: and a man of wicked devices is hated." The accuracy of this translation is supported by the parallelism of the phrase and "a man of evil devices." (6) Clearly aph must mean something evil in God's sight. (7) Finally, the dual form can mean "wrath" (only in 4 passages): "Surely the churning of milk bringeth forth butter, and the wringing of the nose bringeth forth blood: so the forcing of wrath bringeth forth strife" (Prov 30:33; cf. Ex 15:8). (8) The singular form means "nose" about 25 times. In Num 11:19–20 the word represents a human nose: "You [Israel] shall . . . eat [the meat God will supply] . . . a whole month, until it comes out of your nostrils and becomes loathsome to you." (9) Is 2:22 makes it clear that the word represents the place where the breath is: "Cease ye from man, whose breath of life is in his nostrils. (10) Aph is applied also to the "nose" of animals. In Job 40:24, God speaks of a large water animal: "He taketh it with his eyes: his nose pierceth through snares."

(11) The word can be used anthropomorphically of God. Certainly passages such as Deut 4:15–19 make it clear that God is a Spirit (cf. Jn 4:24) and has not a body like men. Yet, speaking figuratively, it may be said: "They shall teach Jacob thy judgments, and Israel thy law: they shall put incense before thee [literally, "in thy nostrils"], and whole burnt sacrifice upon thine altar" (Deut 33:10; cf. Ps 18:8, 15). (12) The idiom "high of nose" means "haughty" (cf. the English idiom "to have one's nose in the air"): "The wicked, through the pride of his countenance, will not seek after God" (Ps 10:4). (13) The singular form often means "anger" or "wrath." This meaning first appears in Gen 30:2: "And Jacob's anger was kindled against Rachel. . . ." (14) This meaning is applied to God as a figure of speech (anthropopathism) whereby He is attributed human emotions. Since God is infinite, eternal, and unchangeable and since anger is an emotion representing a change in one's reaction (cf. Num 25:4), God does not really become angry, He only appears to do so in the eyes of men (cf. Prov 29:8). (15) The Spirit of God can seize a man and move him to a holy "anger" (Judg 14:19; 1 Sa 11:6). Syn.: 3707. See: TWOT—133a; BDB—60a, 64d, 1081d.

640. אָפַד {2x} ʾâphad, aw-fad'; a prim. root [rather a denom. from 646]; to gird on (the ephod):—bind {1x}, gird {1x}. See: TWOT—142.1; BDB—65d.

אֵפוֹד ʾêphôd. See 646.

641. אֶפֹד {1x} ʾÊphôd, ay-fode'; the same as 646 short.; Ephod, an Isr.:—Ephod {1x}. See: BDB—65d.

642. אֵפֻדָּה {3x} ʾêphuddâh, ay-food-daw'; fem. of 646; a girding on (of the ephod); hence, Gen a plating (of metal):—ephod {2x}, ornament {1x}.

Ephuddah means "ephod; covering." This word is a feminine form of epod (or ephod). The word occurs 3 times, first in Ex 28:8: "And the curious girdle of the ephod, which is upon it, shall be of . . . gold, of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen." See: 142.1b; BDB—65d.

643. אַפְדָּן {1x} ʾappeden, ap-peh'-den; appar. of for. der.; a pavilion or palace-tent:—palace {1x}. See: TWOT—142.2; BDB—66a.

אֶפָה ʾêphâh. See 374.

645. אֵפוֹ {15x} ʾêphôw, ay-fo'; or

אֵפוֹא ʾêphôwʾ, ay-fo'; from 6311; strictly a demonstr. particle, here; but used of time, now or then:—now {10x}, where {4x}, here {1x}. See: TWOT—144; BDB—66b.

646. אֵפוֹד {49x} ʾêphôwd, ay-fode'; rarely

אֵפֹד ʾêphôd, ay-fode'; prob. of for. der.; a girdle; spec. the ephod or high-priest's shoulder-piece; also Gen an image:—ephod {49x}.

Ephod is transliterated as "ephod." (1) This word represents a close-fitting outer garment associated with worship. (1a) It was a kind of long vest, generally reaching to the thighs. (1b) The "ephod" of the high priest was fastened with a beautifully woven girdle (Ex 28:27–28) and had shoulder straps set in onyx stones, on which were engraved the names of the twelve tribes. (1c) Over the chest of the high priest was the breastplate, also containing twelve stones engraved with the tribal names. (1d) Rings attached it to the "ephod." (1e) The Urim and Thummin were also linked to the breastplate. (2) Apparently, this "ephod" and attachments were prominently displayed in the sanctuary. David consulted the "ephod" to learn whether the people of Keilah would betray him to Saul (1 Sa 23:9–12); no doubt the Urim and Thummim were used. (3) The first biblical occurrence of the word refers to this high priestly ephod: "Onyx stones, and stones to be set in the ephod, and in the breastplate" (Ex 25:7). (4) So venerated was this "ephod" that replicas were sometimes made (Judg 8:27; 17:1–5) and even worshiped. (5) Lesser priests (1 Sa 2:28) and priestly trainees wore less elaborate "ephods" made of linen whenever they appeared before the altar. See: TWOT—142.1a; BDB—65b.

647. אֲפִיחַ {1x} ʾĂphîyach, af-ee'-akh; perh. from 6315; breeze; Aphiach, an Isr.:—Aphiah {1x}. See: BDB—66c.

656. אָפֵס {5x} ʾâphêç, aw-face'; a prim. root; to disappear, i.e. cease:—fail {2x}, gone {1x}, end {1x}, brought to nought {1x}. See: TWOT—147; BDB—67a.

657. אֶפֶס {43x} ʾepheç, eh'-fes; from 656; cessation, i.e. an end (espec. of the earth); often used adv. no further; also (like 6466) the ankle (in the dual), as being the extremity of the leg or foot:—ends {13x}, no {4x}, none {3x}, not {3x}, nothing {2x}, without {2x}, else {2x}, beside {1x}, but {1x}, cause {1x}, howbeit {1x}, misc. {10x}.

Ephec means "end; not; nothing; only." (1) Basically, the noun indicates that a thing "comes to an end" and "is no more." (2) The idea of the "far reaches" of a thing is seen in passages such as Prov 30:4: "Who hath gathered the wind in his fists? Who hath bound the waters in a garment? Who hath established all the ends [boundaries] of the earth?" (cf. Ps 72:8). (3) In other contexts, ephec means the "territory" of the nations other than Israel: "With them he shall push the people together to the ends of the earth" (Deut 33:17). (4) More often, this word represents the peoples who live outside the territory of Israel: "Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the [very ends] of the earth for thy possession" (Ps 2:8). (5) In Ps 22:27, the phrase, "the ends of the world," is synonymously parallel to "all the [families] of the nations." Therefore, "the ends of the earth" in such contexts represents all the peoples of the earth besides Israel.

(6) Ephec is used to express "non-existence" primarily in poetry, where it appears chiefly as a synonym of ayin ("none, nothing"). (7) In one instance, ephec is used expressing the "non-existence" of a person or thing and is translated "not" or "no": "Is there not yet any of the house of Saul, that I may show the kindness of God unto him?" (2 Sa 9:3). (8) In Is 45:6, the word means "none" or "no one": "That they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none beside me" (cf. v. 9). (10) In a few passages, ephec used as a particle of negation means "at an end" or "nothing": "And all her princes shall be nothing," or "unimportant" and "not exalted" to kingship (Is 34:12). (11) The force of this word in Is 41:12 is on the "non-existence" of those so described: "They that war against thee shall be as nothing, and as a thing of nought."

(12) This word can also mean "nothing" in the sense of "powerlessness" and "worthlessness": "All nations before him are as nothing; and they are counted to him less than nothing, and [meaningless]" (Is 40:17). (13) In Num 22:35 ephec means "nothing other than" or "only": "Go with the men: but only the word that I shall speak unto thee, that thou shall speak" (cf. Num 23:13). In such passages, ephec (with the Hebrew particle ki) qualifies the preceding phrase. (14) In 2 Sa 12:14, a special nuance of the word is represented by the English "howbeit." (15) In Is 52:4 ephec preceded by the preposition be ("by; because of") means "without cause": "And the Assyrian oppressed them without cause." Syn.: 319, 3615, 7093, 7097, 7098. See: TWOT—147a; BDB—67a, 67b.

727. אָרוֹן {202x} ʾârôwn, aw-rone'; or

אָרֹן ʾârôn, aw-rone'; from 717 (in the sense of gathering); a box:—ark {195x}, chest {6x}, coffin {1x}.

Aron (727)means "ark; coffin; chest; box." (1) In Gen 50:26, this word represents a coffin or sarcophagus: "So Joseph died, being a hundred and ten years old: and they embalmed him, and he was put in a coffin in Egypt." This coffin was probably quite elaborate and similar to those found in ancient Egyptian tombs. (2) During the reign of Joash (or Jehoash), when the temple was repaired, money for the work was deposited in a "chest" with a hole in its lid. The high priest Jehoida prepared this chest and put it at the threshold to the temple (2 Kin 12:9). (3) In most occurrences, aron refers to the "ark of the covenant." (3a) This piece of furniture functioned primarily as a container. (3b) As such the word is often modified by divine names or attributes. (3b1) The divine name first modifies aron in 1 Sa 3:3: "And ere the lamp of God went out in the temple of the LORD, where the ark of God was, and Samuel was laid down to sleep. . . ." (3b2) Aron is first modified by God's covenant name, Yahweh, in Josh 4:5. (3b3) Judg 20:27 is the first appearance of the "ark" as the ark of the covenant of Elohim. (3b4) First Samuel 5:11 uses the phrase "the ark of the God [elohim] of Israel," and 1 Chr 15:12 employs "the ark of the LORD [Yahweh] God [elohim] of Israel."

(4) Sometimes divine attributes replace the divine name: "Arise, O LORD, into thy rest; thou, and the ark of thy strength" (Ps 132:8). (5) Another group of modifiers focuses on divine redemption (cf. Heb. 8:5). Thus aron is often described as the "ark of the covenant" (Josh 3:6) or "the ark of the covenant of the LORD" (Num 10:33). (6) As such, the ark contained the memorials of God's great redemptive acts—the tablets upon which were inscribed the Ten Commandments, an omer or two quarts of manna, and Aaron's rod. (7) By Solomon's day, only the stone tablets remained in the ark (1 Kin 8:9). This chest was also called "the ark of the testimony" (Ex 25:22), which indicates that the two tablets were evidence of divine redemption. (8) Ex 25:10–22 tells us that this ark was made of acacia wood and measured 3¾ feet by 2¼ feet by 2¼ feet. It was gold-plated inside and outside, with a molding of gold. Each of its four feet had a golden ring at its top, through which passed unremovable golden carrying poles. The golden cover or mercy seat (place of propitiatory atonement) had the same dimensions as the top of the ark. Two golden cherubim sat on this cover facing each other, representing the heavenly majesty (Eze 1:10) that surrounds the living God.

(9) In addition to containing memorials of divine redemption, the ark represented the presence of God. To be before it was to be in God's presence (Num 10:35), although His presence was not limited to the ark (cf. 1 Sa 4:3–11; 7:2, 6). The ark ceased to have this sacramental function when Israel began to regard it as a magical box with sacred power (a palladium). (10) God promised to meet Moses at the ark (Ex 25:22). Thus, the ark functioned as a place where divine revelation was received (Lev 1:1; 16:2; Num 7:89). (11) The ark served as an instrument through which God guided and defended Israel during the wilderness wandering (Num 10:11). (12) Finally, it was upon this ark that the highest of Israel's sacraments, the blood of atonement, was presented and received (Lev 16:2ff.). See: TWOT—166a; BDB—75b.

733. אָרַח {4x} ʾÂrach, aw-rakh'; from 732; way-faring; Arach, the name of three Isr.:—Arah {4x}. See: BDB—73b.

734. אֹרַח {58x} ʾôrach, o'-rakh; from 732; a well-trodden road (lit. or fig.); also a caravan:—way {26x}, path {25x}, highway {1x}, wayfaring man + 5674 08802 {1x}, manner {1x}, race {1x}, ranks {1x}, traveller {1x}, troops {1x}.

Orach means "way; path; course; conduct; manner." In meaning this word parallels Hebrew derek (1870), which it often synonymously parallels. (1) Orach means "path" or "way" conceived as a marked-out, well-traveled course: "Dan shall be a serpent by the way, an adder in the path, that biteth the horse heels" (Gen 49:17). (2) In Judg 5:6 the word means "highway": "In the days of Shamgar . . . the highways were unoccupied, and the travelers walked through byways." (3) When the sun is likened to a "strong man" who rejoices "to run a race" (Ps 19:5), orach represents a race course rather than a highway or a primitive, snake-laden path.

(4) The man who makes his path straight goes directly on his journey, not turning aside for the beckoning harlot (Prov 9:15). So here the word represents the "course" one follows between his departure and arrival conceived in terms of small units, almost step by step. (5) In Ps. 8:8 the word represents the ocean currents: "The fowl of the air and the fish of the sea, and whatsoever passeth through the paths of the seas." (6) Orach signifies the ground itself as the path upon which one treads: "He pursued them, and passed safely; even by the way that he had not gone with his feet" (Is 41:3). (7) In Job 30:12 the word seems to represent an obstruction or dam: "They push away my feet, and they raise up against me the ways of their destruction."

(8) The word can refer to a recurring life event typical of an individual or a group. (8a) In its first biblical occurrence (Gen 18:11) it is used of "the manner of women" (menstruation). (8b) Job 16:22 mentions the "way whence I shall not return," or death, (8c) while other passages speak of life actions (Job 34:11; literally, "conduct") or life-style (Prov. 15:10: "Correction is grievous unto him that forsaketh the way"—prescribed life-style; Prov. 5:6: "Lest thou shouldest ponder the path [which is typified by] life"). (8d) Thus, orach sometimes figures a proper course of action or proceeding within a given realm—"the path of judgment" (Is 40:14). (9) The noun orchah, which occurs 3 times, represents a "wandering company" or a "caravan" (Gen 37:25). Syn.: 1870, 5410. See: TWOT—161a; BDB—73a.

(1) The word represents a "full-grown lion." (2) This word should be compared to: (2a) gur (1482- Gen 49:9), a suckling lion; (2b) shachal (7826- Hos 5:14), a young lion which no longer is a suckling; and (2c) kepir (3715- Judg 14:5), a young lion which no longer is a suckling and which hunts for its food independently. (3) The "lion" was a much-feared beast (Amos 3:12) found mostly in the Trans-jordan (Jer 49:19) and in the mountainous areas (Song 4:8). (4) The various characteristics of the "lion" make it a frequent figure (4a) of strength and power (Judg 14:18), (4b) of plundering (Gen 49:9), and (4c) of malicious scheming (Ps 10:9). 773. אַרְעִית {1x} ʾarʿîyth (Aram.), arh-eeth'; fem. of 772; the bottom:—bottom {1x}. See: TWOT—2611; BDB—1083a.

774. אַרְפָּד {6x} ʾArpâd, ar-pawd'; from 7502; spread out; Arpad, a place in Syria:—Arpad {4x}, Arphad {2x}. See: BDB—75d, 951c.

775. אַרְפַּכְשַׁד {9x} ʾArpakshad, ar-pak-shad'; prob. of for. or.; Arpakshad, a son of Noah; also the region settled by him:—Arphaxad {9x}. See: BDB—75d.

776. אֶרֶץ {2504x} ʾerets, eh'-rets; from an unused root prob. mean. to be firm; the earth (at large, or partitively a land):—land {1543x}, earth {712x}, country {140x}, ground {98x}, world {4x}, way {3x}, common {1x}, field {1x}, nations {1x}, wilderness + 4057 {1x}.

Erets (776) means "earth; land." (1) Erets may be translated "earth," the temporal scene of human activity, experience, and history. (2) The material world had a beginning when God "made the earth by His power," "formed it," and "spread it out" (Is 40:28; 42:5; 45:12, 18; Jer 27:5; 51:15). (2a) Because He did so, it follows that "the earth is the LORD's" (Ps 24:1; Deut 10:1; Ex 9:29; Neh 9:6). (2b) No part of it is independent of Him, for "the very ends of the earth are His possession," including "the mountains," "the seas," "the dry land," "the depths of the earth" (Ps 2:8; 95:4–5; Amos 4:13; Jonah 1:9). (2c) God formed the earth to be inhabited (Is 45:18). (2d) Having "authority over the earth" by virtue of being its Maker, He decreed to "let the earth sprout vegetation: of every kind" (Job 34:13; Gen 1:11). (2e) It was never to stop its productivity, for "while the earth stands, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease" (Gen 8:22). "The earth is full of God's riches" and mankind can "multiply and fill the earth and subdue it" (Ps 104:24; Gen 1:28; 9:1). (2f) Let no one think that the earth is an independent, self-contained mechanism, for "the LORD reigns" as He "sits on the vault of the earth" from where "He sends rain on the earth" (Ps 97:1; Is 40:22; 1 Kin 17:14; Ps 104:4).

(3) As "the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the earth," He sees that "there is not a just man on earth" (Eccl 7:20). At an early stage, God endeavored to "blot out man . . . from the face of the earth" (Gen 6:5–7). (3a) Though He relented and promised to "destroy never again all flesh on the earth," we can be sure that "He is coming to judge the earth" (Gen 7:16f.; Ps 96:13). (3b) At that time, "the earth shall be completely laid waste" so that "the exalted people of the earth fade away" (Jer 10:10; Joel 2:10; Is 33:3–6; Ps 75:8). (3c) But He also provides a way of escape for all who heed His promise: "Turn to me and be saved, all the ends of the earth" (Is 45:22). (4) What the Creator formed "in the beginning" is also to have an end, for He will "create a new heaven and a new earth" (Is 65:17; 66:22). (5) The Hebrew word erets also occurs frequently in the phrase "heaven and earth" or "earth and heaven." (5a) In other words, the Scriptures teach that our terrestrial planet is a part of an all-embracing cosmological framework which we call the universe. (5b) Not the result of accident or innate forces, the unfathomed reaches of space and its uncounted components owe their origin to the LORD "who made heaven and earth" (Ps 121:2; 124:8; 134:3).

(6) Because God is "the possessor of heaven and earth," the whole universe is to reverberate in the praise of His glory, which is "above heaven and earth" (Gen 14:19, 22; Ps 148:13). "Shout, O heavens and rejoice, O earth": "let the heavens be glad and let the earth rejoice" (Ps 49:13; 96:11). Such adoration is always appropriate, for "whatever the LORD pleases, He does in heaven and in earth, in the seas and in all deeps" (Ps 135:6). (7) Erets does not only denote the entire terrestrial planet, but is also used of some of the earth's component parts. English words like land, country, ground, and soil transfer its meaning into our language. (7a) Quite frequently, it refers to an area occupied by a nation or tribe. So we read of "the land of Egypt," "the land of the Philistines," "the land of Israel," "the land of Benjamin," and so on (Gen 47:13; Zec 2:5; 2 Kin 5:2, 4; Judg 21:21). (7b) Israel is said to live "in the land of the LORD" (Lev 25:33f.; Hos 9:13). When the people arrived at its border, Moses reminded them that it would be theirs only because the LORD drove out the other nations to "give you their land for an inheritance" (Deut 4:38). (7c) Moses promised that God would make its soil productive, for "He will give rain for your land" so that it would be "a fruitful land," "a land flowing with milk and honey, a land of wheat and barley" (Deut 11:13–15; 8:7–9; Jer 2:7). (8) The Hebrew noun may also be translated "the ground" (Job 2:13; Amos 3:5; Gen 24:52; Eze 43:14). Syn.: 127, 1471. See: TWOT—167; BDB—75d, 1083a.

777. אַרְצָא {1x} ʾartsâ, ar-tsaw'; from 776; earthiness; Artsa, an Isr.:—Arza {1x}. See: BDB—76c.

778. אַרַק {1x} ʾâraq (Aram.), ar-ak'; by transm. for 772; the earth:—earth {1x}. See: TWOT—2612; BDB—1083a.

779. אָרַר {63x} ʾârar, aw-rar'; a prim. root; to execrate:—curse {62x}, bitterly {1x}.

Arar (779) means "to curse." (1) The first occurrence is in Gen 3:14: "Thou [the serpent] art cursed above all cattle," and Gen 3:17: "Cursed is the ground for thy [Adam's] sake." (2) This form accounts for more than half of the occurrences. It is a pronouncement of judgment on those who break covenant, as: "Cursed is the man who . . ." (twelve times in Deut 27:15–26). (3) "Curse" is usually parallel with "bless." The two "curses" in Gen 3 are in bold contrast to the two blessings ("And God blessed them . . .") in Gen 1. (4) The covenant with Abraham includes: "I will bless them that bless thee, and curse [different root] him that curseth thee . . ." (Gen 12:3). (5) Compare Jeremiah's "Cursed be the man that trusteth in man" and "Blessed is the man that trusteth in the LORD" (17:5, 7). (6) Pagans used the power of "cursing" to deal with their enemies, as when Balak sent for Balaam: "Come . . . , curse me this people" (Num 22:6). Israel had the ceremonial "water that causeth the curse" (Num 5:18ff.).

(7) God alone truly "curses." It is a revelation of His justice, in support of His claim to absolute obedience. Men may claim God's "curses" by committing their grievances to God and trusting in His righteous judgment (cf. Ps 109:26–31). (8) "Curse" in the Old Testament is summed up in the statement: "Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this covenant" (Jer 11:3). (9) The New Testament responds: "Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree" (Gal 3:13). Syn.: 423, 6895, 7045. See: TWOT—168; BDB—76c.

780. אֲרָרָט {4x} ʾĂrârat, ar-aw-rat'; of for. or.; Ararat (or rather Armenia):—Ararat {2x}, Armenia {2x}. See: BDB—76d.

781. אָרַשׂ {11x} ʾâras, aw-ras'; a prim. root; to engage for matrimony:—betroth {10x}, espouse {1x}. See: TWOT—170; BDB—76d.

782. אֲרֵשֶׁת {1x} ʾăresheth, ar-eh'-sheth; from 781 (in the sense of desiring to possess); a longing for:—request {1x}. See: TWOT—171a; BDB—77a.

783. אַרְתַּחְשַׁשְׂתָּא {15x} ʾArtachshastâ' (Aram.), ar-takh-shas-taw'; or אַרְתַּחְשַׁשְׂתְּא ʾArtachshast' (Aram.), ar-takh-shast'; or by perm.

אַרְתַּחְשַׁסְתְּא ʾArtachshaṣt' (Aram.), ar-takh-shast'; of for. or.; Artachshasta (or Artaxerxes), a title (rather than name) of several Pers. kings:—Artaxerxes {15x}. See: BDB—77a, 1083a.

784. אֵשׁ {379x} ʾêsh, aysh; a prim. word; fire (lit. or fig.):—fire {373x}, burning {1x}, fiery {1x}, untranslated variant {1x}, fire + 800 {1x}, flaming {1x}, hot {1x}.

Esh (784) means "fire." (1) In its first biblical appearance this word, esh represents God's presence as "a torch of fire": "And it came to pass, that, when the sun went down, and it was dark, behold a smoking furnace, and a [flaming torch]" (Gen 15:17). (2) "Fire" was the instrument by which an offering was transformed into smoke, whose ascending heavenward symbolized God's reception of the offering (Lev 9:24). (3) God also consumed people with the "fire of judgment" (Num 11:1; Ps 89:46). (4) Various things were to be burnt as a sign of total destruction and divine judgment (Ex 32:20). (5) "Fire" often attended God's presence in theophanies (Ex 3:2). (6) Thus He is sometimes called a "consuming fire" (Ex 24:17). See: TWOT—172; BDB—77b, 1083b.

785. אֵשׁ {1x} ʾêsh (Aram.), aysh; corresp. to 784:—flame {1x}. See: TWOT—2614; BDB—1083b.

799. אֶשְׁדָּת {1x} ʾeshdâth, esh-dawth'; from 784 and 1881; a fire-law:—fiery {1x}. See: TWOT—174b; BDB—77d.

800. אֶשָּׁה {1x} ʾeshshâh, esh-shaw'; fem. of 784; fire:—fire {1x}. See: TWOT—172; BDB—77d.

801. אִשֶּׁה {65x} ʾishshâh, ish-shaw'; the same as 800, but used in a liturgical sense; prop. a burnt-offering; but occasionally of any sacrifice:—(offering, sacrifice), (made) by fire {65x}.

Ishshah means "fire offering." (1) Sixty-three of the 65 appearances of this word occur in the sacramental prescriptions of Exodus-Deuteronomy. The other two occurrences (Josh 13:14; 1 Sa 2:28) bear the same meaning and sacramental context. (2) All legitimate sacrifices had to be presented before God at His altar, and all of them involved burning to some degree. Thus they may all be called fire offerings (Ex 29:18). (3) The word ishshah first occurs in Ex 29:18: "And thou shalt burn the whole ram upon the altar: it is a burnt offering unto the LORD: it is a sweet savor, an offering made by fire unto the LORD." Syn.: 817, 4503, 5927, 5930, 7133, 8641. See: TWOT—172a; BDB—77d.

802. אִשָּׁה {780x} ʾishshâh, ish-shaw'; fem. of 376 or 582; irreg. plur.

נָשִׁים nâshîym, naw-sheem'; a woman (used in the same wide sense as 582) [Often unexpressed in English.]:—wife {425x}, woman {324x}, one {10x}, married {5x}, female {2x}, misc.: [adulter]ess, each, every, × many, + none, + together = {14x}.

Ishshah (802) means "woman; wife; betrothed one; bride; each." (1) This noun connotes one who is a female human being regardless of her age or virginity. (1a) Therefore, it appears in correlation to "man" (376 - ish): "She shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man" (Gen 2:23). (1b) This is its meaning in its first biblical usage: "And the rib, which the LORD God had taken from man [120 - adam], made he a woman, and brought her unto the man" (Gen 2:22). (1c) The stress here is on identification of womanhood rather than a family role. (2) The stress on the family role of a "wife" appears in passages such as Gen 8:16: "Go forth of the ark, thou, and thy wife, and thy sons, and thy sons' wives with thee."

(3) In one special nuance the word connotes "wife" in the sense of a woman who is under a man's authority and protection; the emphasis is on the family relationship considered as a legal and social entity: "And Abram took Sarai his wife and Lot his brother's son, and all their substance that they had gathered . . ." (Gen 12:5). (4) In Lam 2:20 ishshah is a synonym for "mother": "Shall the women eat their [offspring, the little ones who were born healthy]?" (5) In Gen 29:21 (cf. Deut 22:24) it appears to connote "bride" or "betrothed one": "And Jacob said unto Laban, Give me my wife, for my days are fulfilled, that I may go in unto her." (6) Eccl 7:26 uses the word generically of "woman" conceived in general, or womanhood: "And I find more bitter than death the woman, whose heart is snares and nets" (cf. Gen 31:35).

(7) This word is used only infrequently of animals: "Of every clean beast thou shalt take to thee by sevens, the male and his female: and of beasts that are not clean by two, the male and his female" (Gen 7:2). (8) This word can also be used figuratively describing foreign warriors and/or heroes as "women," in other words as weak, unmanly, and cowardly: "In that day shall Egypt be like unto women: and it shall be afraid and fear because of the shaking of the hand of the LORD of hosts" (Is 19:16). (9) In a few passages ishshah means "each" or "every": "But every woman shall borrow of her neighbor, and of her that sojourneth in her house" (Ex 3:22; cf. Amos 4:3). (10) A special use of this nuance occurs in passages such as Jer 9:20, where in conjunction with reuwth (7468 -"neighbor") it means "one" (female): "Yet hear the word of the LORD, O ye women, and let your ear receive the word of his mouth, and teach your daughters wailing, and every one her neighbor lamentation." See: TWOT—137a; BDB—61a, 78c, 84b, 1081d.

803. אֲשׁוּיָה {1x} ʾăshûwyâh, ash-oo-yah'; fem. pass. part. from an unused root mean. to found; foundation:—foundation {1x}. See: TWOT—175a; BDB—78c.

804. אַשּׁוּר {151x} ʾAshshûwr, ash-shoor'; or

אַשֻּׁר ʾAshshûr, ash-shoor'; appar. from 833 (in the sense of successful); Ashshur, the second son of Shem; also his desc. and the country occupied by them (i.e. Assyria), its region and its empire:—Assyria
